C. B. McCarty Rites Friday Morning

Funeral services were conducted in the Bandera Cemetery last Friday morning at 11 o'clock for C. B. McCarty, pioneer citizen, who passed away Thursday at 3 p. m. at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Montague. J. Marvin Hunter and Judge J. A. Eames delivered eulogies at the graveside, and Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the Bandera Baptist Church, gave the scripture reading and offered prayer.

The pallbearers were W. H. Burns, Louis Postert, Frank H. Mansfield, Raymond Hicks, Raymond Batts and

C. B. McCarty was born near Hico, Texas, February 4, 1870, and died at Bandera, Texas, June 4, 1942, at the age of 72 years and 4 months. He was married to Miss Laura Batts on November 14, 1895, and came to Bandera where he made his home until death called him hence. Besides his widow he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Frank M. Montague and four grandsons, Frank Montague, Jr., Charles Montague, Bruce Montague and George Montague.

After locating here Mr. McCarty engaged in the occupation of farming, and led a quiet, unobtrusive life, restricted by poor health most of the time, but in spite of ill health he did the best he could, and was in a measure successful.

He joined the Baptist church early in life and lived a consistent Christian life. Tolerant of all churches he did not open himself with any denomination. He believed in God, the Bible, tried to read the Bible for himself, formed a code of rules as his religion, and lived up to those rules faithfully.

One foster son, William McCarty, an orphan boy taken into the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCarty, who bestowed upon him all of the love and affection, and gave to him of their own child, and this lad grew up to become a good man under their care and training, and today he is a member of the police force in New York City. Another boy has held with distinction for a number of years.

Mr. McCarty was a man of great determination and force of character, possessed of lofty ideals, and an indomitable determination to do only that which was right, but with all the force and will-power possessed by a man of a kindly, sympathetic and retiring disposition, charitable, honorable in his dealings with his fellow, forgiving, and he performed many acts of charity which only the recipients of these acts knew about. His kindness to his friends and his neighbors was shown to them, even at personal sacrifices to himself, have made them feel more kindly for him. He was devoted to his wife, and during the forty-seven years of their wedded life, she was first in his affections, and they traveled happily together the primrose pathway of married life. Though there were times when adversity shadowed them, and misfortune hovered about them, they were always cheerful and hopeful of a better day.

He was genial and kind in his intercourse with his fellowmen, always candid, but kindly, as much in evidence were these splendid traits of character that it can be truthfully said that he had the confidence and esteem of everyone who knew him.

Bandera County, in the death of Bruce McCarty, loses one of her best citizens, who will be missed more and more as the years roll on. Loved, honored and loved; died, regretted and mourned, and by an honest conscientious life won for himself that bliss that awaits only the good.

He is gone from us,
Yet shall we meet again in heaven.
To sing the song of festal joy,
Where none shall bid our gladness cease,
And none our fellowship destroy.
There hand in hand, faith linked at last,
And heart to heart enfolded all,
We'll smile at pain's banished past,
And wonder why we wept at all."

Large Crowds Attended Jubilee

The fourteenth annual reunion of the old settlers of Bandera County, held on Saturday in the grounds of Frontier Times Museum, was probably one of the greatest, if not the greatest that have enjoyed. About 2,000 people were in attendance. The big event started with a big street parade at 10 a. m. No motor driven vehicles were in the parade, only horseback riders, hacks and buggies and bicycles. Ed Mansfield was marshall and Bill Burns and E. L. (Slats) McKay were flag bearers. We did not learn how many horseback riders participated, but it has been variously estimated there were between 200 and 300. The Bandera High School Band, directed by Leo Mansfield, marched afoot and played marching airs all the occupation, wended its way through the main street, and the line has received much praise for the splendid manner in which he directed the band in the absence of the regular director, Rankin Conwill, who left last week for Alpine to attend summer school. Governor R. B. Stevenson was not able to get here for the Jubilee, being detained at Austin on account of former Governor James V. Allred and Judge O. C. Fisher were here and spoke in the afternoon.

Immediately following the parade memorial services were held in Frontier Park, honoring those who have died in Bandera County during the past year. Rev. W. A. Bowen, pastor of the Bandera Baptist Church, delivered the eulogy. The list of names of those departed, which was read, all tablet, encircled by a beautiful wreath of flowers. The list contained sixty-two names.

Following the memorial service a reception was given for the distinguished visitors, former Governor James V. Allred of Houston, Judge O. C. Fisher of San Angelo, the pretty little Fleenor twins, Eva Loyce and Eva Joyce, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Fleenor, each tossed a rope over the audience and one caught Governor

FLAG DAY

June 14, 1777, was a great day in the United States' history, for on that date 165 years ago the Continental congress of the United States passed a resolution establishing the American flag according to the design as accepted today, 48 stars and stripes. The event marked a long step forward in our national history. On July 4th of the previous year the American colonies had shown some unity by declaring their independence. Probably the majority of the people in those colonies still thought of themselves as little independent states, which were merely cooperating temporarily.

The adoption of one flag was a recognition that they had become a nation, and several allegiances to one government, and henceforth would face the world with a united front.

A flag may be only a piece of cloth as seen by unimaginative persons, but the sense of certain colors and design creates a picture which represents the past and the aspirations of the country over which it waves. Men and women see in the flag and tears fill their eyes as they think of what the nation back of the flag has done, and how much they love the soil over which that flag waves.

Countless soldiers fighting wearily on the field of battle have felt new force flowing into their exhausted bodies, and new hope in their hearts, as they caught a glimpse of that proud flag waving in glory. They have been lifted up by the bright stars and shining stripes to attempt new deeds of daring, and saved from the spirit of fatigue that would destroy it.

The flag has given cheer and courage to countless people in differently in foreign lands, who have felt that the nation that maintained that flag would protect its sons and daughters, and finally have said that that glorious emblem should never be tarnished or defeated.

COUNTY SALVAGE COMMITTEE APPOINTED

Judge A. V. Pue has appointed a County Salvage Committee to work with the W. P. A. in a project to collect scrap iron, steel and other metals. The W. P. A. will furnish the labor to dismantle and collect the scrap. The committee is composed of Arthur Pugh, chairman, C. R. Mansfield, J. F. Langford, and B. G. Wiemers of Bandera; C. O. Burks, L. Collins and B. H. LeStourgeon of Medina; Dan Buck, L. J. Edwards and J. O. Bunker of Pipe Creek; Ike Evans, M. L. Hausler and Bill Blackwell of Tarpley; Pete Porter and Henry Fisher of the Taylor community; Bob King and Joe Leighton of Vanderpool. Each farmer and rancher will be notified when the collection will be made from his place and all inquiries should be made to Mr. Pugh.

WPA trucks and labor will be utilized to assemble scrap for shipping to point where it can be fed into America's war production machines. Farmers may donate or sell scrap to the WPA collectors, Hazeltine explained. The Government will pay 25 cents per hundred pounds for any kind of scrap metal and half a cent a pound for rubber.

Cards are being mailed to farmers on which they may reply to a letter which has been mailed over the signature of WPB Chief Donald M. Nelson, inquiring what amount of iron and steel and other metals and scrap rubber can be collected, from their farms. The cards, advising the approximate amount of materials available and whether or not equipment will be necessary to move it, may be returned postage-free to WPA.

FAVORITE CARTOON HERO IN SMASHING DRAMA

Out of the cartoon feature, adventure books and radio programs, the dramatic and blood curdling tale of "Don Winslow of the Navy," comes to the screen of the Palace Theater, starting Friday and Saturday when Chapter One of the 12-episode Universal chapter play will be shown.

Don Terry, husky action star, interprets the famous character created by Lt. Commander Frank V. Martinek, USNR, (Retired).

Other well-known personages of the cartoon strip are portrayed by John Litel, Claire Dodd, Anne Nagel and Samuel S. Hinds.

Winslow's film adventures take him to the South Seas where the navy is supposedly attempting to establish a base.

The serial was filmed under supervision of Henry MacRae, associate Producer. Co-directors were Ford Beebe and Ray Taylor.

Chapter One—The Human Torpedo.

Agents of a ruthless spy master, seeking to halt construction of an intended Navy base on a south Pacific island, attack a supply ship and bring the forces of the U.-S. Navy Intelligence Department into action in the opening installment of Universal's "Don Winslow of the Navy," 12-episode chapter play coming Friday and Saturday to the Palace Theater.

John Litel, as Martin, chief aide to the Scorpion (Kurt Katch), learns that the supply freighter Barstavia is bound for Tangier Island where the spy agents undersea hideout is located. Martin orders a human torpedo, operated from inside by a Scorpion agent, fired at the freighter. Winslow (Don Terry), discovers the plot, goes out in a mosquito boat with his sidekick, Red Pennington (Walter Sande), to ruin the lethal instrument down. Ordering Red to jump, Winslow, in a breathless burst of speed, sends the mosquito boat into a collision with the torpedo.

A few weeks ago, I had occasion to visit some friends of mine in Nebraska.

Nebraska certainly is a great farming state. Like Nebraska. It has some of the finest corn I've ever seen, and wheat that seem to stretch from horizon to horizon. (Plenty of wheatfields in Nebraska, too.)

But the thing that interests me most about Nebraska right now is the very important social experiment they have going there.

Beer itself is naturally a beverage of moderation. In fact, they're not allowed to control retailers. But the brewing industry wanted a place by which it cooperates with the public authorities to eliminate conditions in the minority of places whose conduct would reflect on the law-abiding majority.

Every time you throw a piece of paper in the street, somebody has to work to pick it up. If it makes you feel good to litter, it helps create an impression of disorder and neglect.

The beer people urge preservation of retail places to conduct their properly and to obey the law. To help maintain order in these places, ask the public generally to report law violations to the authorities. They send agents to investigate failures and if conditions are not corrected will take the case with the authorities. Nobody wants authorities and the public here to come like an added tax burden building respect for law and law

That program is now operating in many states — and with the help of retailers, brewing industry organizations cooperate with the and military authorities to maintain good conditions in beer districts around the army camps and navy stations.

Somehow, to me, that's a mighty important, public-spirited effort. I don't remember anything I've ever having been tried before, people really help this brewery with that program they'll be doing a great thing for the country.

SUMMER SESSION AT SCHREINER OPENS JUNE 11

Kerrville, June 1, 1942—Plans for the 1942 summer session at Schreiner Institute have been completed and information concerning this session are now available to students, it was announced in an early this week by President J. J. Delaney.

The summer session will open on June 11, 1942, and will close on August 18. Academic work will be offered in both preparatory and junior college departments. The full facilities of the Institute will be available for the term, including the college dining hall, dormitories and library.

The summer session is co-educational in high school and college departments. No military training will be given.

Full credit is given for all academic work satisfactorily completed in the high school or college departments. Senior college juniors and seniors may, by special arrangement with their college, receive credit for freshman and sophomore courses in Schreiner Institute.

The nine weeks' summer session is planned to harmonize with the semester system used by Schreiner Institute, and at the same time, offer those students who wish to accelerate their progress because of uncertain war conditions the opportunity to concentrate their college work into a shorter period of time.

In the college department, the student may enroll for as many as three courses, and may complete four with the eleven hours of credit, depending upon the value of the courses. (Certain science courses, notably physics and chemistry, have a value of four semester hours for each semester's work, while other courses are on a three-hour basis).

Members of the summer school faculty are available during office hours at the Library Building for consultation with those who are interested in taking summer work.

JUBILEE—

Alfred and the other caught Judge Fisher and led them up on the platform, and then a pageant depicting the early and present day history of Bandera was presented for their review. This nicely arranged pageant, arranged by Mrs. Knowles Witcher Teel and Mrs. H. F. Schmeltekopf, portrayed the Indian life, the coming of the first settlers, the arrival of Major Lyman Wight and his colony of Mormons in 1854, the coming of the Polish families in 1855, the other settlers, and finally Bandera and the finde raech life of today. It was a very appropriate and well presented pageant, and received much applause.

Next came the reception for the couples who had been married fifty years or longer. These couples were seated at two long tables and were served by the following young ladies, who had been selected as maids-in-waiting to the Governor: Miss Maurine Jacobs, Bandera; Miss Dorothy Clark, East Verde; Miss Darlene Crowell, Middle Verde; Miss Margaret Short, West Verde; Miss Bobbie Hubby, Myrtle Creek; Miss Rosalie Haby, Medina; Miss Lois Marjorie Lewis, Medina; Miss Sarah Mae Freeman, Bluff; Miss Mary Schlumpberger, Vanderpool; Miss Johnnie Mae Thompson, Taylor. Seated at the tables were former Governor Alfred and Judge Fisher, as honor guests, and the following who had been married fifty years or longer: Mr. and Mrs. C. Y. Billings, Mr. and Mrs. Joe G. Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Collins, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Coffey, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Faris, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Garrigus, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Graham, Mr. and Mrs. George Hinds, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Hargis, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huffmeyer, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Kindla, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Kirkham, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Lindner, Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Newcomer, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Postert, Mr. and Mrs. D. Shipman, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Vawter, Mr. and Mrs. George Edwards, Mrs. A. D. Sandstead and Mrs. Jack Olliff. Mr. and Mrs. Adolphe Huffmeyer were honored as the oldest married couple present, they having been married in Bandera sixty-two years ago. The Golden Wedding couple were the guests of J. Marvin Hunter at the Jubilee.

The large crowd present enjoyed a fine barbecue dinner at 12 o'clock. Choice barbecued mutton, beans, pickles, coffee and stew, bread and coffee made up the menu. The meats were barbecued by Beth Clark and John and Albert Gass, and was pronounced to be the finest ever served at a barbecue here. Tom Robison, an expert cowboy culinary artist, prepared the stew which met with instant favor, particularly from those visitors who had never eaten any of this delectable cowboy dish. Tom also cooked the frijoles cowboy style, and it is significant that, although there had been a plenty prepared, the beans and the stew played out before the dinner was over, many of the crowd came back for more.

At 1:30 Rogner Governor James V. Allred, who is a candidate for the United States Senate, made a fine address, and who followed by Judge O. C. Fisher, candidate for Congress from this district; Hon. Julius Real of Kerrville, preceded these speakers, and made a splendid address. Senator Real was once a Bandera County boy, and old settlers' reunion, and his many friends were glad to hear him on this occasion.

After the speaking Bettye Jeane Stevens, ten years old, and her brother, Ray Merle Stevens, eight years old, son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forest Stevens of Bandera Peak, entertained the crowd with several selections on the violin and guitar, and were heartily applauded. Ray Merle plays the violin and Bettye Jeane picks the guitar and their performance was wonderful.

Then the old fiddlers' contest brought forth the fiddlers: G. H. Massey, Lee Cravey, John Adams, Claude Graham, Elbert Adams, Jim Bob Cooke, and Connie and Lee Rivvia. In this contest the judges awarded first prize to Buddy Cooke, the second prize to Claude Graham and the third prize to John Adams. J. D. Billingham and his brother, W. W. Dillingham of Austin, were present and Mr. Dillingham brought along his old Ben Thompson banjo, and played it while he sang the famous old time song. The famous banjo was also used in accompanying several of the fiddlers.

Bruce Montague, Bandera's pope artist, gave an exhibition of rope spinning, and Mr. Dillingham was also to do some rope stunts, but a shower of rain interrupted this part of the program. Prof. Carl Lux, physical director of the Recreation Center in San Antonio, and several of his pupils gave a fine exhibition in tumbling and body control, such as picking a handkerchief off the floor with the mouth while in a plane of strength developed by Prof. Lux's training.

Apart from the all-day program that was fully enjoyed the old settlers were delighted to meet so many of their friends and visit home with her Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Leighton were shopping in Bandera on last week.

Mrs. Norton Cheek visited friends at Station C last Friday.

Leslie Duke and Hardy Moore, who are employed in Austin, spent the week-end with homefolks.

Miss Naomi Thompson has returned home after attending college at Kingsville the past winter.

Robert Mazurek hitched two horses to a buggy and it was wrecked when the horses became frightened at the Hill Top Supply store here in a long time.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Mazurek and children, Robert Lee, Billy Ray and son, Milton were in San Antonio on May 30th to attend the graduation exercises of Miss Helene Mazurek as a nurse. Two more of Mr. and Mrs. Mazurek's children graduated this year, Eris Beryl from high school and Nina Jean from grammar school.

Mrs. Anna Tampke and grandson, Jean Boafur, are visiting relatives in Houston this week.

Bud Thompson, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Curley Thompson, had the misfortune to get his left eye socket come off while he was riding. He fell under the horse and it stepped on him. He was carried to a doctor and at present is getting along fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Thompson's little son got his arm broken while swinging at Uvalde.

Bill Dodd died in San Antonio and was laid to rest in the Utopia Cemetery. Bill Dodd has many years ago and after he sold his ranch to J. J. Leighton they moved to San Antonio. He had been in bad health for several years. We extend sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Nation-Wide Rubber Salvage Campaign

President Roosevelt last Friday announced that a rubber salvage program would be started on Monday, June 15th and close Tuesday, June 30th. All filling stations are to be collection points and they will buy rubber at a penny a pound. The oil companies are bearing the cost of collection and bulk transportation and any profits are to go to war relief agencies. It is very important that as much rubber as possible be collected in this two-week period. The rubber is urgently needed and every man and woman, boy and girl can do his or her part by finding all the rubber they can and bringing it to filling stations.

County Agent H. F. Schlemmer reported that up to noon yesterday service stations in Bandera had received a total of four tires weighing over 29,000 pounds of rubber and it was still coming in fast. All service stations in the county are cooperating in the rubber salvage campaign. If Bexar County collected four tires in the same ratio as Bandera it would have over 2,000,000 pounds. It is hoped that such a big job can be done. It was also found that it will be unnecessary to institute nation-wide gasoline rationing.

ROPING CLUB TO DONATE PROFITS TO THE U. S. O.

Slats McKay, secretary-treasurer of the Bandera Roping Club, reports that the Roping Club decided that all profits above expenses are to be donated to the U. S. O.

The Brahma calves which the Club secured for their Saturday night ropings again proved hard to rope. They are fast and really give the cowboys a chance to show his ability. A good sized crowd was present to enjoy the evening. Results were as follows:

Breakaway, beginners—1st Felix Kindla, 44.5 sec.; 2nd Bennie Kindla with 51 seconds and Charlie Walker with 7 seconds were the only ones out of 14 ropers to make time.

Tiedown, advanced—1st Leon Mitchell, 29 sec.; 2nd Slats McKay, 42.4 sec.

In the advanced breakaway contest Mitchell was the only one to catch out of seven ropers.

In the matched roping between Slats McKay and Charlie Walker, Mr. McKay was winner.

Slats McKay and Felix Kindla are to rope against Lee Mansfield and Roland Brittain next Saturday night.

There will be another roping Saturday night.

THE ASSET OF BEAUTY

Many communities have made a special effort to develop beauty, by planting trees wherever needed by the property owners, by public park spaces, by cultivation of flowers on a great scale, and by special efforts to keep public grounds attractive. The usual motive is the pure love of beauty. A application of people to surround themselves with a pleasing environment.

They are rewarded in more ways than the satisfaction of the love for beauty. Property is more valuable in such a community. Houses sell for more on a street that is beautified. Homes thus adorned bring a higher price. Beauty is a fine investment, even considered from the money view alone.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

An automobile moves when fuel is burned inside it to make its machinery go. In the same way, when the fire of enthusiasm burns the fuel of the energy of the people goes to progress.

A town is the stores of which are and soul patronized by the townspeople is something like a bird who keeps always being crippled. The bird won't fly far, and the towns that are like it will not get far ahead.

Don't Blame Mailman
Postal officials say that when a letter is delivered several years late it's a 99-1 chance that a careless patron, not the mailman, was at fault.

MEDINA GIRLS CONTINUE HOMEMAKING COURSE

Twenty two girls of the Medina Homemaking Department are continuing their work during the summer by carrying a summer project under the supervision of their instructor, Miss Ruth Hamilton.

Each girl has selected work based upon her individual ability and interest. Her project should be both instructive and beneficial to herself and her family. The piece of work undertaken will require at least one hundred hours of work to complete. Before the girl will keep an accurate record book of her experiences and if she has completed satisfactory work at the end of the summer she will be given one half credit. Each girl will have spent at least one year in the Homemaking Department during the regular session of school before she is eligible for a summer project. She may earn one credit in summer work. The summer credits do not take the place of the regular Homemaking course offered during the regular session but are an additional credit in Homemaking and may take the place of an elective course.

Girls are encouraged to enroll for summer courses for the interest that the girl is in much stronger student in the long term courses. The projects undertaken are always worthwhile to the entire family as you will notice from some of the topics chosen by girls this summer. Some of the projects which are under progress now are: Care and improvement of my summer wardrobe, making clothing for myself and my family, preparing nutritious meals for my family that will meet the Texas Food Standard, making our kitchen more convenient and attractive, decorating our porch furniture, beautifying yard, canning the surplus of fruits and vegetables, caring for our victory garden and the care of our chickens and garden.

Besides the individual project girls will also work toward a group project at school. The girls are planning on doing some improvements in the cottage bedroom for their group work.

Girls enrolled in this summer's course are Mildred Hinds, Ewell Miller, Anita Reed, Ruth Walker, Marjorie Lewis, Lavee Inglis, Gerald Lewis, Bertha Lee, Geraldine Norton, Opie Stokes, Lola Brown, Hoyoon Fee, Loretta Taylor, Gladys Sutherland, Ida Moffett, Marjorie Lewis, Laura Mae Patton, Doris Fee, Lewell Carmack, Mona Adams and Ida Adams.

pension, all of the stone in the present parochial school was quarried. When this was done Kasper came to the building site and took up the work of sawing the rocky and any other work that was needed until the school was completed. During the eleven months of his continuous work, he drew only forty dollars. From that month on, always insisting on those who made the building a success, he either asked for or accepted no pay for work as they would do only for the worthy cause.

Kasper was elected County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Bandera and a term as Justice of the Peace.

At the time of his passing he was 80 years, 9 months and 7 days old.

Funeral services were held at 4 o'clock p. m. on the 30, Friday, at Saints Cathedral Church with Rev. Father J. Strieder officiating at the services. Pall Bearers were Messrs. Alex Anderwald, C. M. Dupont, Peter F. Frisk, Andrew Frisk, Joseph Frisk and Ben Frisk. Interment was made in the Bandera Cemetery where he was covered with beautiful floral offerings attesting to the esteem in which he was held.

He was a living example that there is always a way in this great country for a man to make his own way even though you may be the victim of some accident that would handicap for your entire life. But always been said of him that with his one arm, he could do more work and better work than any other person following suit. We will miss him and we know he is at rest and with God. We believe, all of him a kindly memory of his passing and extend our condolence to his widow and children. May his soul rest in peace.

Mrs. Ducker was born in the Bandera community on the 9th of January, 1862.

ber and more stable income for farmers, and many of the wage earners in the lower income brackets.

All of the above have since been enacted into law, as a result of which many of our people are enjoying a higher standard of living.

South has consistently urged better and more economical methods of unjust differentials in freight rates, which force people living in the South to pay excessive freight charges.

Recently Congress has been made forward a fair adjustment of this problem so vital to the prosperity and development of our immediate section, and more will undoubtedly be considered the fight to continue.

I do not feel satisfied in becoming my wife here in Washington, as I expect to engage in an extensive campaign at this time. If possible as I expect to spend several days in the district later on, at which time I propose to discuss the issues of the day fully, as I have always done.

I take the record which I have made in Congress, and I rely upon my ability and desire to continue to serve you honestly and faithfully, and I solicit your continued confidence and support, the coming campaign.

Thomas Wortham, officer in Charge of the Navy Recruiting Station at San Antonio. The new ruling, which is effective tonight, and also for the number of teeth, have both been lowered, and will make it possible for many more men to enlist. Heretofore, the requirements for either of these vacancies and still want to enlist, they should report to any Navy Recruiting Station for a physical check. SCHREINER INSTITUTE TO PARTICIPATE IN NEW ATC PROGRAM

A-Civilian Pilot Training Program as revised in line with recommendations of the War and Navy Departments will begin soon after July 1, and applications are being accepted at Schreiner Institute, according to T. M. Hammond, Coordinator.

The Caa program will be utilized by the Army during the coming year to train large numbers of flying "specialists—instructors, glider pilots, co-pilots, liason and service pilots. This training will be available to men who have reached the age of 18 but are not 37, who pass CAA medical and physical tests, and is open to thousands of applicants for Army aviation cadet training who have been similarly tested and found physical requirements of the Army for combat pilots.

Due to the urgency of the war effort, the original plan and policy for pre-flight training in Civilian Pilot Training and enrollment in the Air Corps Enlisted Reserve Corps of selected male and female trainees who have taken Civilian Pilot Training and been enlisted will be called to active duty at an early date.

The enrollees in the new Program of Civilian Pilot Training will pass a mental test and the CAA commercial examination will be enlisted in the reserve corps in a new category whereby specific numbers will be called at completion of certain courses for prescribed duties in the Army. The others will remain in civilian status as civilian instructors, airline pilots, and co-pilots.

The new training courses will be of six kinds, each stage lasting 8 weeks. All will be conducted on a "full time" basis with substitence, health and accident insurance provided. The trainees will be housed in dormitories of colleges giving ground instruction, and flight training will be given concurrently at a nearby field. Schreiner is designated as one of 600 such flight centers to carry on the program. The Kerrville Flying Service will cooperate in the program giving the regular CPT flight course at the Louis Schreiner Airport.

Approximately 50 per cent of all trainees will be taken through at least four courses, and up to 40 weeks from initial flight will be eligible for jobs as civilian instructors, service pilots or airline co-pilots. The six courses are elementary, secondary, cross country, Link-instrument, instructor and flight officer.

Application blanks and full information may be secured by contacting T. M. Hammond, Coordinator of CPT, Schreiner Institute, Kerrville, Texas. Those who cannot be accomodated in the first class will be given priority in later classes starting each eight weeks.

BENEFITS FROM THE PAST

When you read or hear the history of a town like Bandera, you are impressed with the enormous amount of work the old timers put in to build up the community. There were no short hours of labor in the old days. People used to work at their jobs for 10 to 12 hours a day, and then they would spend a good many evenings working in their church and local organizations, and in developing their home places. We owe them a great debt for the services they rendered, and the benefits they passed on.

We should want to see our home town continue to make progress, and to maintain high standards in business and the care of homes. People should be anxious to make their home places as attractive as possible so that Bandera will continue to grow more finished and beautiful, and impress every visitor as a wonderful fine town to live in.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Some people say they are too tired to work. Maybe so, only if they get tired too easily from the things they should get tired of hiring them.

The progress of the modern world is largely due to the distribution of knowledge and information by the printed page. When you invest in the home town newspaper, you take advantage of that truth, and share in modern progress.

The stores of your home town do more than buy and sell goods. They support all movements for the betterment of town life, and by your patronage, when you buy at home, you help the force that is pushing the home town ahead.

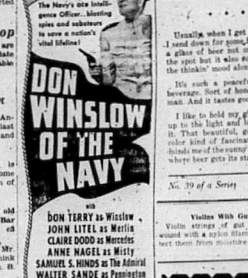
DEADLY INTRIGUE! SMASHING ACTION! TITANIC THRILLS!



3. "Weapons of Horror"

The crushing collision of a freighter and a submarine set the stirring pace for the spectacular action presented in the third of the twelve episodes in Universal's chapter play adventure drama, "Don Winslow of the Navy," playing at the Bantex Theater every Friday and Saturday.

Diving from the cliff into the sea when the spy-agent's blazing automobile collides with his car, Winslow escapes serious injury. Back in Rondana, the navy officer learns of a plot to torpedo the Taglio Navy supply ship. Boarding the freighter, Winslow sends out sg S. O. S. for the Destroyer Ess. The Tarlton, taken over by Scorpion agents, draws the fire of the destroyer while other agents bring a submarine into action.

MAYBE I shouldn't admit it, but there are a few things about this writing job I really like.

Printstance, I like the part where I get all the credit and the routine is done . . . I just set back and think about things in general. Oh, yes, that's part of the job, too.

Doesn't matter much what—I think about. Sometimes I concentrate on one thing. Sometimes I think of lots of things, one right after the other.

Well, here I am . . . I'm all set and thinking. Probably could go hours. That's the way I like it. I set back and get in a real good thinking mood.

And by the way, taking and "just thinking" is fun, sometime . . . quiet and a little like.

MAYBE I shouldn't admit it, but I think about it . . . beer is natural thing. I read somewhere that all it's made of is pure, some farm grains and water, little yeast . . . with lots of Nature's process of fermentation and the age-old art of it. (Oh, yes, that's part of the job, too.)

I guess that's why beer is wholesome. It really is the spice of moderation. You can imagine anybody getting into drinking a few glasses of . . . spirit and trouble like.

Well, here I am . . . and on thinking and talking beer. Probably could pick a glass of beer not only inches the spot but it also sort of helps me thinkin' mood along.

It's such a peaceful, friendly beverage. Sort of honest and human. And it tastes good.

I like to fold my glass of beer up to the light and look through it. That beautiful, golden-amber color kind of fascinates me. Reminds me of the sunny barley fields where beer gets its start.

And by the way, talking about "just thinkin'" is fun sometimes . . . quiet and restful like.

Doesn't matter much what—I think about. Sometimes I concentrate on one thing. Sometimes I think of lots of things, one right after the other.

Usually, when I get to thinkin', I tend down for some beer. Seems like I probably could pick up a glass of beer not only inches the spot but it also sort of helps me thinkin' mood along.

And by the way, talking about "just thinkin'" is fun sometimes . . . quiet and restful like.

REWARDS FOR COOPERATION

When people are asked to take on some kind of work in some organization or home town movement, they often dread to accept these responsibilities. It looks like work, and they are afraid they will get little thanks from their neighbors.

Almost invariably when people carry out these forms of work, they have a good time doing so, and they feel well rewarded for the effort when they get through. They are mighty glad they did not miss the experience. While doing these forms of work, they make new friends, they have many personal contacts, and they get valuable training that helps them in their occupations. You won't regret it if you take hold and work for home town progress.

SEVEN CHARGED IN WOOL THEFT FROM RAIL CAR

Two persons, a woman and a youth, were charged in the Kerr County jail Wednesday, three men were in the Kendall County jail in Boerne and one was held in security on bail in connection with the theft of 3,000 pounds of wool from a rail car at Comfort. The theft is alleged to have occurred about the middle of May but was not discovered until the car reached its destination in Boston. Information leading to investigation that resulted in recovery of 1,000 pounds of the stolen wool at a San Antonio address Sunday. Part of the wool was found at a house in Kerr County and some of it was sold to wool dealers here and in Menard. The round-up of the seven suspects began Sunday after two of them made a statement to the officers.

Assisting in the investigation were Sheriff Sid Edge of Boerne, Sheriff Frank Moore of Kerrville, State Ranger Tilley Crockett of Junction and railway special agents.

Charges of theft of over $50 have been filed in Kendall County against five of the suspects, all receiving bail totalling $6,000 on property against two others. All are being held for grand jury action. One of the suspects now lives in San Antonio, four are from Comfort and two from Kerrville.

The wool shipped from the railroad car was valued at $1,200.—Kerrville Times.

The F. B. I. announced the arrest of 8 saboteurs last Saturday. Four of them were landed on the Florida coast and four of them on Long Island, N. Y. The F. B. I. uncovered caches of explosives and funds in the sandy dunes where they were landed from submarines. They planned to blow up widely scattered cities and had about $170,000 in cash as well as forged social security cards and other identification. Since then other accomplices have been arrested and they have told the location of places they were to destroy.

NAVY NEEDS BINOCULARS

Texans were urged this week to respond to the Navy's immediate need for binoculars by loaning them to the war forces for use in the war effort.

Because of the lack of facilities and of highly trained personnel necessary for the manufactury of these precision instruments, the maximum production of binoculars remains insufficient for the Navy's requirements.

Acceptable for the Navy's purpose are 6x30 and 7x50 binoculars manufactured by either Bausch & Lomb, Hensoldt, Wetzlar, Leitz, Zeiss, Japanese, Bushnell or Universal.

Those who have such binoculars and who desire to lend them to the Navy for the duration of the war have been requested to pack them carefully and ship them to the Naval Observatory, Washington, D. C. "ATTENTION" tag bearing the name and address of the sender, should be fastened securely to each instrument.

Mrs. Esther Herrera Died June 20th

Death closed an eventful career Saturday at 6 p. m. when Mrs. Esther Herrera, 84, native of Bandera County and a lifelong resident of the Hill Country, succumbed to a heart attack at the home of a daughter in San Antonio. She had made her home in Kerrville for the past 34 years. Funeral rites were held Monday morning from Metro Dance Chapel, with Rev. Father Kemper officiating. Burial was in the Harper-Road Cemetery, under direction of Smith Funeral Home.

Mrs. Herrera was born in 1858 in the Privilege community, Bandera County, where her father, Roberto Trevino, settled a few years after the Texas Revolution. Her father came to Texas as a Confederate army during the War Between the States. During her girlhood the family homestead was subjected to frequent Indian raids. Her husband, Jose M. Herrera, who died in 1930, during his youth was a soldier under Benito Juarez and assisted in the defeat of Emperor Maximilian. After his execution in 1867 ended a French attempt to conquer Mexico, Herrera came to Texas, locating in Bandera County, and for many years was a local stock raiser and worker for the late Capt. Chas. Schreiner.

Surviving the pioneer woman are two daughters, Mrs. Ilias Torres of San Antonio and Mrs. R. J. Caulfield of Kerrville, two sons, Rafael Herrera of Bandera County and Joe Herrera of Kerrville; one brother, Mrs. Antonio Musgrave of Dallas. Twenty-one grandchildren and 29 great grandchildren also survive.—Kerrville Times.

STEVENSON NEEDED IN CONGRESS NOW

With conditions as they are now it is more important than ever that we have experienced, well headed man be elected governor. Gov. Coke Stevenson has proved that he knows how to get things done and we feel sure that Banders County will give him a hearty vote in the coming primary. Gov. Stevenson served this district for seven years as representative and two terms he served as speaker of the house. He was elected lieutenant governor in 1938 and again in 1940 and became governor when W. Lee O'Daniel was elected senator.

LOVE OF COUNTRY

If you ask people why they observe July Fourth, they may say they do so to obtain a needed day of rest and recreation. We should love our country enough, so that we should want to do all in some way to make our nation stronger than before, and induce the people to give more liberally and more generously to its service.

If the July Fourth observance is to have more significance for our people more deeply attached to their country, it seems to us that more than ever the people be so influenced to love their country.

It is well to point out to the young folks, that American life and principles give people the opportunity of free education, for work, for success and for enjoyment. Now they could find many of them over the world. In most countries, if they are born in a humble position, they would have little chance to rise and obtain a comfortable living. America is the land of opportunity for all doers, and those who show special ability or eagerness get many opportunities and higher education and take prominent positions in life.

American freedom has given the masses of the people far more in the way of comfort than is true anywhere else. The flock of automobiles around the shops and factories should be a reminder to all of our people ride to work in their own machines, and this is only one of the comforts they enjoy.

The story of the deeds of the men and women who founded and developed this country should constantly be retold, so that our people will thrill in admiration of their courage and their hearts should be so full of gratitude to all who have handed to us this rich heritage. That true love of America should be one of the deepest emotions of our life.

VICTORY OVER OBSTACLES

It gives one confidence, as he looks at the war situation, to consider how the American people have had a marvelous record of victory over obstacles, if they saw obstacles in the way. It has been their normal habit to say that these obstacles should and could be conquered.

Our ancestors came to this country in most cases because they decided not to accept unsatisfactory conditions in their former homes, and they saw better opportunities in the new country. They could see great difficulties in the way of settling in a new and undeveloped land, but they did not let those difficulties scare them. They suffered horribly in many cases, and it took heroism and endurance to stand all the troubles they met. Yet they persevered through all hard experiences, and came out glorious victors.

The peoples of Europe are in the main descended from families who thought it better to put up with the troubles they had at home, rather than strike out in some new and untried country, where they developed many people of power and endurance, they do not have the same training and development and triumph over obstacles that were handed down to our sons and women.

It would seem that the average American should have greater power, greater ability to endure hardship, greater ability to get over obstacles, than the average European.

The quality of American manhood was abundantly shown when our boys went into action in the first world war. They captured positions that looked impregnable. It did not seem as if anything could stop them. The German front began to break, hope when they got going. Soon the Germans were running for home. It should be the same now. Our people see obstacles in the way of victory, but they are determined to conquer them.

NAVY NEEDS MORE MEN

Admiral Chester Nimitz, Navy needs a big lot of men. The armed sea forces are expanding fast.' A great fleet of new warships, new marine chasers, and patrol boats, is being developed. There is great tasks to be performed. It is stated that unless 62,000 men a month can be enrolled in the Navy the strength to increase the strength of the navy, it may be necessary to turn to the selective service for draftees.

One would think service in the navy should be attractive to many men who are selected to enter the armed forces. Many young men would prefer to be a sailor than a soldier. The work of many activities Good pay in factories has drawn many men to the war plants. Many have sailed the sea in ships. But the attractions of a seafaring life still exist. Many men and women the world's a well known old slogan. It still is combat. Many of those who have made their share of danger and combat. Most of those vessels should form the Navy's fighting safely. If they are put to work on convoy duty, they are still subject enough to ward off attack. The airplanes that accompany the naval fleets are constantly are a wonderful protection.

The men of the navy have always highly been trained and very commanded by very fine types of officers. The work should be healthful and made the men hardy and vigorous, and ship to return to civilian life after the war in excellent condition.

BASCOM GILES CANDIDATE FOR RE-ELECTION

Bascom Giles, Commissioner of the General Land Office, made his formal announcement for re-election. In reporting on his conduct of that important constitutional office, he stressed his continued honest, efficient, and faithful service to the people.

Mr. Giles as Land Commissioner of the General Land Office, Mr. Giles submitted a number of accomplishments. Chief of these was the law that he had advocated in his campaign, which body put into effect the present law. His outstanding accomplishments are the passage and administration of the law to curb vacancy racketeering and title clouding and gave much good title clearing. He also strongly prior right to purchase the land when a vacancy is discovered. He also set up the Public School Land Board to administer the public school lands of Texas. The commissioner is a member of this board and 6 member of the Board for Lease of University lands. Under this service there has not been a dissenting vote on any matter. He has served on the School Land Board with two Texas governors and one attorney general.

The commissioner Giles secured the passage of a law to increase the lease payment on new mineral leases of school lands from one-fortieth to one-fifth. Another law he advocated and secured extended until 1951, of the payment of principal on lands that had been previously sold, thus assuring the school fund a long-time steady income. The laws passed on his recommendation have made it possible for Commissioner Giles to increase the public school fund to more than $75,000,000.

Commissioner Giles has completed two other school volumes for publication, the first time since 1875 and instead of the usual four volumes of 400,000 titles are compiled into eight compact volumes, each one complete for a district of the state.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

The Commissioners Court met in regular session Monday with all members present. Routine business was transacted including the examination and approval of the tax collector's report and the approval of justices of the peace of Prec. No. 1 and No. 3.

TO THE VOTERS OF PREC. 1

I have announced my candidacy of Commissioner of Prec. No. 1 in previous issues of this paper. Due to the restriction on tires, it may become impossible to visit and reach to see so many voters as I would like to, so I will be glad to have anyone call on me.

I am not a stranger in this county. I have lived in Bandera seven years and have paid my poll tax payer for the same period of time. As to the construction and supervising of roads and bridges, I have had many years of experience.

I am a veteran of World War I. To win this war we must practice public economy with greater efficiency. Consequently, if elected to this office, I will see that every penny must be spent wisely and economically for the improvement of good efficient government. All matters of equipment must be closely supervised. I do not intend to make any campaign speeches but will be glad to call on the voters personally to be elected solely on my merits. Truth and honesty all the foundation of my platform.

—Ernest Lindner.

FRED C. GOETH APPOINTED DIRECTOR FOR THIS DISTRICT

The appointment of Fred C. Goeth of San Antonio as Defense Rental Area Director has been announced by Price Administrator Leon Henderson, Washington.

Mr. Goeth, a life-long resident of San Antonio, is a member of San Antonio Board of Realty associations, and is widely experienced in legal and real estate matters.

As Area Rent Director, Mr. Goeth will administer Federal rent control in eight counties—Bexar, Atascosa, Medina, Kendall, Bandera, Kerr, Gillespie and Guadalupe. He will assume his new duties Monday.

Price Director Mr. Goeth asserted that the maximum rent regulations would be administered fairly and impartially and that complaints by either landlords or tenants would be given prompt attention.

"This is not a punitive law aimed at any group or class of people," he said. "It is designed to keep down living costs and assure adequate housing in available housing facilities. March 1, 1942, has been chosen as the basic rental date, and rents will be set after careful study. In general, tenants may pay no more rent than the highest rental on that date for the same accommodations, and landlords may charge no more. Rent control, prices for housing accommodations in congested areas and defense industry areas." Not only would property values be jeopardized, but the cost of living would soar, he said.

The Area Rent Director's office is at 304 Majestic Building.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

When you speak words of praise for your home town, your recommendation adds to the affection and loyalty which people feel for the town in which they live, and helps get support for good local causes.

People are apt to forget their errands unless they make a list of things to be done. So people fore-get the good chances they have to buy goods at home, unless they are constantly reminded of them by advertising.

Judge Harry Graves

Judge Harry N. Graves was elected four years ago to fill the unexpired term of the late Judge
O. S. Lattimore as a member of the Court of Criminal Appeals of Texas. He has actively participated in the work of the Court since that time, and has written his share of their opinions.

This Court has disposed of the cases submitted to it, and is up with its docket, and he requests a second term at the hands of the voters.

Would it be wise to change the personnel of this Court at the present time?

FAT SAVING CAMPAIGN

It is expected that American housewives will soon be asked to save cooking fats and greases, which will be used in manufacturing nitroglycerine. Housewives will be asked to pour a minimum of 1,500,000,000 pounds of fat and grease into the garbage pails or down the kitchen sink each year.

People who do not like fat meat will be glad to give the government the fats they use, but need to say there should be a fat meat hole under the dinner table, down which fats could be poured. Fats are a great part in the human organization, and they provide a large share of the heat energy that is indispensable to animal life. European countries were supposed to have suffered severely in the first World War, due to the shortage of fats. The people should conserve these vital substances now to aid munitions production and probably after the war there should be more efforts to save them.

Remember Pearl Harbor. Buy
Defense Bonds and Stamps.

FISHER LEADS IN CONGRESSIONAL RACE

San Angelo, July 27.—Vigorous, straight talking O. C. Fisher who announced his candidacy before Pearl Harbor and drove to leadership in the first Democratic primary on an "all-out war and a non-appeasement peace" platform today held a lead of 2,500 votes over the incumbent, Rep. Charles L. South, in the 21st district congressional race.

Fisher, now 51st district attorney, had rolled up a total of 22,753 votes as against 19,798 for Rep. South and 6,321 for Harry Knox in the second round.

Carrying 19 of the 27 counties—including Sterling County by 84 per cent of the total vote—Fisher's two-to-one over both opponents in his home county of Tom Green —Fisher said here today:

"I appreciate the vote of confidence given me by the people of all the 21st district in Saturday's primary, but apparently that wasn't quite enough. I resumed my campaign Monday morning and I'm going to keep it up until the last Saturday in August, if that wouldn't be a 'too little and too late' in this campaign.

"Most of all, I further declared, 'we must have uninterrupted production of armies, navies, air forces and tanks. We have to make them effective—including uninterrupted production of war materials. I pledge you my best congressman, will I overlook the needs of the agricultural interests of the 21st district of the great Southwest Texas district. The interests of the farmers, the stock raisers, and of the people, are my interests now and after the election as well."

Fisher was the only congressional candidate in the whole state to lead an incumbent in the voting Saturday. He has won every election he has entered the last 13 years, two terms as county attorney, one as state representative, and three as district attorney.

The Home Demonstration Clubs held their Annual Camp picnic the 22 and 23 of Liberty Pa's beautiful camp site on the Medina river.

Members from several clubs attended. The various committees were to be commended in the way they carried out their programs.

The fine patriotic program, the swimming and the delicious meals will long be remembered by those who were present.

Mrs. Dora Barnes, clothing specialist from College Station, brought many hand made articles with demonstrations such as aprons, shoes, hat patterns, suggestions for hand made accessories, which were simple and inexpensive yet most effective, when used in planning a wardrobe.

Mrs. Medina was voted in the last afternoon in the interest of a Health Nursing Course being planned for Bandera County.

The H. D. Council also held its meeting in the last afternoon.

Miss Pfluger, our Club Agent, told us she would be transferred to Waco in August 1st. She has done an excellent work among us and all the clubs will miss her splendid help. We are sure our loss will be Cuero's gain.

Below are a few of the things that were discussed during camp.

Did you attend our H. D. Clubs? You really should help some one this way.

Miss Pfluger taught us useful things

In such a pleasant way

How to care for the sick,

How to make the bed,

How to bathe the baby,

How they should be fed;

Where to put the clothes?

And the way it is made,

How to arrange shelves,

So cans could nicely arrayed.

Where to put the frame garden,

Be sure its in a sunny place

With the soil well spaded

And the plants well spaced.

How to raise poultry.

Is a way to make it pay

With milk, water mashes and grains

To make the auld hen lay.

How to kill insects,

That infest gardens and poultry, too,

That attack our gardens and fruit

And are a nuisance it's true.

A long life for your mattress

Using mattress ticking and instructions

Fruit varieties for your orchard

Reading for our production

Pork pointers, culling hens, bed bugs comfort

Wholesome milk, making kraut

Starring tomatoes, canning meat

Some of the things we learned about.

How to grow lovely roses

How to plant a shade tree

With the charm of color

Placed with proper care

Among your home and baby

Think of the health as well as the food

Books for useful articles

For all these things are good.

Around the dining table

Each one in their place

Making the meal a happy occasion

With memory of Club Agent

Let's thank God for Bandera

For its blessings everyone enjoys

Thinking of tomorrow

YET PILOT AT 25, KELLY INSTRUCTOR

Gallantry of American youth, meeting a challenge fostered by war, is reflected in the story of a San Antonio youth, who is typical of the thousands of pilots who have completed their course at the Kelly Field pilot's school.

A veteran flier at 23, Capt. Daniel B. Depmore, is commander of one of Kelly Field's hard flying squadrons, rose to the rank of captain four weeks ago.

Rated one of the finest pilots on "the line," Captain Depmore has 1500 hours to his credit since he first climbed into an army cockpit back in 1939. Student at San Antonio public schools, graduate of the Vocational and Technical school, he left St. Mary's University after two years, starting his aerial training at Dallas aviation school in 1939.

He received his basic wings at Randolph Field and completed his schooling at Kelly Field in August, 1940. During the same month he married a San Antonio girl, Miss Margaret Fitzgerald.

His rating as an excellent pilot is based on a background of hours spent in long practice missions, many of them conducted at altitudes of 20,000 feet. He has flown at 25,000 feet, is well conversed with oxygen equipment at that level.

Captain Depmore is a twin-engine pilot, flies long missions for the Kelly Field base at Kelly Field, taking one instructor, three students, an engineer, and two gunners and neighboring States. As a result of his cadet training in single engine ships and his long experience with multi-engine craft in bombardier and navigation training, he is considered an extremely valuable instructor.

The Depmore abode at 819 Cotton Street. The captain is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Depmore, 2626 Houston Street. —San Antonio Light.

Captain Depmore is a son-in-law of Mrs. M. M. Fitzgerald of this city.

NEW INSTRUCTIONS IN FIGHTING FIRE BOMBS

New instructions in fighting fire bombs have been announced as a result of extensive research by technicians in the United States and England, it is reported by Marvel Hall, State Fire Defense Coordinator.

In a communication to Fire Chief Frank H. Mansfield, Mr. Hall stated, "All civilians should become familiar with the new and safer method of fighting incendiary bombs, described in the latest instructions released by OCD. These are the result of extensive experiments by OCD technicians and the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army. The new method has already been adopted in England and New Zealand."

Chief Mansfield said that the most important change in technique is that which calls for the use of a jet of water instead of a spray. A speedy attack on the bomb with a jet of water will knock the bomb out in less than one minute, thus saving valuable time which can be used in attacking other bombs nearby before they can start serious fires. Sand is not to be used except where water is not available or where the glare of the bomb can be seen by enemy flyers, he said.

Briefly, the latest instructions are:

1. Bring your fire fighting equipment to the scene at once.

2. Shoot a jet of water directly at the bomb without delay, to put it out of action quickly.

3. Then use the jet, quickly, to quench the fragments and the remains of the bombs, and any fires that might have been started.

4. Be absolutely sure all the fire is out before you leave the scene.

5. Use a course spray only where scattering of metal must be avoided.

6. Use sand only if a bomb falls where it is hot likely to start a fire, or if water is not available.

Chief Mansfield pointed out that the desirable jet of water can be obtained from a garden hose, any type of water fire extinguisher, a pump-tank extinguisher, or a stirrup pump.

If we really care for our home town, we shall be so interested in its business enterprises, that we shall hate to pass by the home stores and buy elsewhere.

If a home store does not advertise as the public knows what it has to sell and what things cost, it can have no great complaint if people often buy elsewhere.

BANDERA CADET TO ADVANCED FIELD

Goodfellow Field, San Angelo, Tex., Aug. 1.—With his graduation from this basic flying school, Aviation Cadet Wayne H. Chipman, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Chipman of Bandera, this week enters the last lap of his flight training before being commissioned as a flying lieutenant in the fighting Army Air Corps.

Cadet Chipman now moves on to an advanced flying school where he will learn to handle the faster, more powerful warships of America's growing sky armada. After completing the advanced course he will be assigned to a combat unit or will become an instructor.

At Goodfellow Field they call it "Say it With Flyers," he received his first instruction in aerodatics, instrument formation, cross country and night flying. In ground school he was drilled in radio code, weather, and military law.

Typical of the Air Corps' newest wartime training centers, Goodfellow Field, operating under a greatly stepped-up pilot training program, is turning out an ever increasing number of fighting air men.

HONDO BOYS KILL ALLIGATOR AT MEDINA LAKE

An alligator measuring seven and one-half feet in length was killed at Medina Lake last Wednesday by two Hondo youths, according to an announcement by State Game Warden W. C. Kountz of Hondo. The alligator, which weighed 90 pounds, died after being shot in the head with a .22 rifle.

Kay and Odie Gilliam, sons of A. C. Gilliam of Hondo, found the alligator in Anton Hallow at the lake and shot it with the rifle. The shot went through one of the reptile's eyes.

It is believed the alligator must be at least 18 or 20 years old. In attempting to discover how it got to Medina Lake, Warden Kountz learned that someone lost a pet alligator near Medina City 18 or 20 years ago and it is believed that the alligator killed by the two boys recently is the one which was lost years ago.—Hondo Anvil-Herald.

We are sorry to learn B. F. Farris is still critically ill in a San Antonio hospital.

A report was given on the financial standing and activities for the year 1941 together with reports of all officers, directors and committees. Nine directors were elected to represent the nine districts of the cooperative for the ensuing year, as follows:

District No. 1—A. H. Schott.
District No. 2—D. H. Quirl, Jr.
District No. 3—Raymond Hicks.
District No. 4—Thos. P. Grant.
District No. 5—J. J. Leighton.
District No. 6—Mack Crenshaw.
District No. 7—C. D. Askew.
District No. 8—P. L. Garrison.
District No. 9—Aug. B. Fultz.

Each member present was satisfied by letter the number of the district in which he or she had been placed.

Immediately following the annual meeting of the members a meeting of the Board of Directors was held to elect officers whereby Raymond Hicks was elected president, D. H. Quirl Jr. Askew, secretary-treasurer and A. H. Schott was re-elected as secretary-treasurer.

The Bandera Electric Co-operative, Inc. was organized in 1938 and has enjoyed a splendid growth. At the beginning there were 100 made on March 11, 1939, was all secured in the form of loans as development needed and was followed by a supplementary allotment of $50,000 on August 24, 1939 which was also used in total. On February 8, 1941, a third allotment of $100,000 was authorized by the Rural Electrification Administration, which advanced $44,110.54 was utilized. This allotment is completed and used by the co-op. A final allotment of $10,000 was approved on May 5, 1941, upon which no advances have as yet been made. From its very small beginning the co-op has grown to a system of 340 energized miles of line serving a total of 1,146 consumers.

MAKING RUBBER LAST

Now that this nation's enemies control 90 per cent of the world's area where rubber can be grown, the current shortage is far greater than many people think.

Lester Smith, specialist in home management, explains that "our biggest stock of rubber is in tires on the roads, streets and highways," so taking care of tires is one of the best ways of prolonging their life.

"When you drive," she says, "hold your speed under 40 miles an hour. Avoid sudden stops. Look out for bumps, holes and curbs. Turn in page, too, to start and stop the car easily."

Garage attendants can help keep tires in shape, she said, see that the brakes are properly adjusted. They can assist also in keeping the correct amount of air in the tires, repairing the tires properly and checking the valves frequently. Even the last little life of a set of tires is to put the rear tires on the opposite front wheels, so that the tires which the spare should be rotated, too, if it's in good condition.

Other rubber tips, the specialist urges car owners to use their cars as little as possible, and to form car pools when possible, to save rubber and to "share and swap" rides and hauls with every chance.

Former Medina Boys Making Good

A letter from Mrs. H. W. Harris, former resident of Medina, in answer to a subscription regarding the whereabouts of her two boys, who grew up at Medina and finished high school there, gives the following interesting information.

Lewis Harris enlisted in the army about January 15, 1941. Soon after entering the army he qualified as expert machine gunner and later he qualified with rifle and pistol. He was made a corporal in August and went from Camp Bowie to Louisiana on maneuvers with the 36th Division. After the maneuvers he returned to Camp Bowie and then was sent to Camp Blanding, Fla., on March 15th. There he was put in a training battalion and he was promoted to sergeant. In the middle of April he went to Camp Wheeler, Ga. to an officers training school which he finished July 14th with a second Lieutenant's commission. He is now taking a course as parachute jumper and is to qualify in four weeks. In his test as a sharpshooter he got 279 out of a possible 300.

Leslie Harris is now a flying instructor at Victorville, Calif. He finished his training and advanced flying in June. After finishing a nine-day leave he went back to instruct others. He is now working hard to turn out new fliers as fast as possible.

Mrs. Harris also deserve lots of credit for their accomplishments. They have studied hard and have worked hard to keep up with little or no financial assistance after they finished high school in Medina.—Record.

JACKS AND STALLIONS NOW AVAILABLE

Austin, Aug. 1.—In order to help meet the growing demand for saddle and draft horses and mules, Texas farmers and ranchers who need a stallion or jack should make application immediately to the Jack and Stallion Division of the State Department of Agriculture, Austin.

Application blanks are available at the County Agent's office.

The department issued the statement today with the announcement that there are now a total of 174 jacks, jennets and stallions available. The stallions include Belgian, percheron and saddle types.

The animals may be leased by stockmen or farmers for $20 yearly, with the proceeds being pledged from breeding fees. The fee limit is $10. The animals will be delivered to the lessee free of charge by the department.

Curtailment of supplies of rubber and gasoline is expected to bring about a greater demand for horses and mules, and thereby increase the demand for the services of the state-owned jacks and stallions. It is estimated that the state animals have already increased the wealth of the state by about $3,000,000, and with the increase in 1934, the Jack and Stallion Division has saved each the people of the state a penny for its upkeep and administration.

Mohair Specialist Is Employed

Appointment of Walter Garth, Jr., of Sanford, Marcy and post, specialist in mohair and wool has been announced by Director H. H. Williamson of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. He is employed jointly on a full time basis by the Extension Service and the Texas Mohair Grading committee. He will work with W. H. Nisbet, extension marketing and post, specialist, toward establishing mohair grades and assisting growers in perfecting an active program. With Nisbet, he will meet with the grading committee at Sonora springs on August 7 to lay plans for the season's work. Buster Hallmark of Sonora is chairman of the committee.

The Angora Goat Raisers of Texas, Sonora, have conducted several seasons have been developing a program designed to promote grading and marketing of mohair on its merits. Producers have asked Garth to conduct grading in the fall of 1940, and again in the spring of 1941, but hereafter he will devote his full time to mohair and wool marketing work.

"Approximately 17,500,000 lbs. of mohair—medium grades, as well as—normally finds its way into clothing, upholstery, drapery, carpet and other uses," Director Williamson said in indicating the scope of Garth's work. "Mohair is a textile fibre of unusual quality, and its production should remain the basis of an important industry in Texas.

"An aggressive marketing program is essential to safeguarding its present position, as well as to finding new uses for the fibre."

SCRAP METAL DRIVE

In answer to the President's call for the saving hoarded fibres, all persons living in unincorporated towns and in rural areas are urged to collect and turn in all scrap metal from their properties and deposit it on the right-of-way of state highways. After it will be picked up by State Highway Department trucks as they return to their warehouses and yards and then will be made available to the war-production equipment to mills. The scrap should be that which can be picked up without digging. Such scrap should not include old tractors, auto's, etc.

All District Engineers of the Highway Department have been instructed by State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist to assist personnel in the field throughout the State cooperate with the members of the Victory Farm Volunteer Program organization in order to make the drive as effective as quickly as possible. The scrap will be turned over to the Red Cross and the U. S. Boy Scouts in each area, which organizations will make it available to the Government.

It is expected that the campaign in this State will result in a large amount of this much needed scrap, which otherwise can not be readily obtained from outlying districts, except by automobile and other properties.

There is no doubt but that a great many tons of steel scrap can be collected in Texas in this manner, and the State Department workers in the field will be on the lookout for the scrap metal debris along the right-of-way lines of highways by citizens and will collect it in Highway trucks for transportation to the next central point in each area.

War Production Board points out the following scrap equivalents, as essential in the manufacture of Ammunition:

5 pounds, 4 hand grenades
420 pounds, 210 rifles (.30 cal.)
2,000 pounds, 100 light machine guns.
2 tons, 8 anti-tank guns (.37 MM)
15 tons, 1 tank
18,000 tons, 1 battleship.

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins' had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large — but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window during baseball, or start the 3rd trick. Kept Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting and dinner table.

He told them he was tired of checking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to check up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry believes itself perfectly all right . . . but every now and then, I guess, a retailer or two reaches a point in a place that isn't up to scratch . . . sort of like a wayward child.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities "lean on or close up" offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

From where I sit, that's a fine thing for the brewers to do . . . particularly when you realize that after all they're really not responsible for retailing conditions.

A Joint Resolution

Proposing an Amendment to Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas by adding a new section thereto to be known as Section 49a, requiring all bills passed by the Legislature on and after January 1, 1943, appropriating money for any purpose, to be sent to the Governor of the State for his approval; and fixing the duties of the Governor with reference thereto; authorizing the Legislature to provide for the issuance and sale of certain serial bonds, equal in principal to the total outstanding obligations owing by the General Revenue Fund of the State; providing for the submission of this amendment to the voters of the State; prescribing the form of ballot; prescribing the proclamation and publication thereof; and providing for the necessary appropriation to defray necessary expenses for the submission of this amendment.

Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding a new section thereto, immediately after Section 49, a section to be known as Section 49a, to read as follows:

"Section 49a. It shall be the duty of the Comptroller of Public Accounts in advance of each Regular Session of the Legislature to prepare and submit to the Governor, and for the Legislature upon its convening, a statement showing exactly the total of the financial condition of the State Treasury as of the close of the last fiscal period and an estimate of the probable receipts and disbursements during the current fiscal year. There shall also be contained in said statement the estimated amount of the anticipated revenue based on the laws then in force and effective for the next fiscal year, and for the State from all sources showing the condition of the several funds during the succeeding biennium and said statement shall also contain such other information as may be required by law. Supplemental statements may be submitted at any Special Session of the Legislature and at each Regular Session it shall be necessary to show probable changes.

"From and after January 1, 1943, no law of emergency and imperative public necessity shall be passed except by the vote of a total membership of each House, no appropriation in excess of the then estimated revenue of the State for the ensuing fiscal year, and the funds from which such appropriation is to be made shall be specified. From and after January 1, 1943, no bill making such appropriation shall be passed or be sent to the Governor for consideration until and unless the Comptroller of Public Accounts certifies that sufficient funds known to both the House of Representatives and the Senate and the necessary steps shall be taken to bring such appropriation within the revenue either by providing additional revenue or reducing the appropriation.

"For the purpose of financing the outstanding obligations of the General Revenue Fund, the Legislature is authorized to issue bonds and pledge the faith and credits on a cash basis in favor of the State, which is hereby authorized to issue the bonds; to provide for the issuance, sale, and exchange of Serial bonds, and to provide for the total outstanding and approved obligations, by said fund on September 1, 1943, provided such bonds do not bear interest at more than two (2) per cent per annum, payable with twenty (20) years.

Sec. 2. The foregoing Constitutional Amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the electors of the State at the next general election held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, being November 3, 1942, for the purpose of voting upon the proposed amendment, and the same be printed, or have printed, on ballots the words:

"For the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, requiring appropriations passed by the Legislature presented to and certified by Comptroller of Public Accounts to available funds therefor, limiting appropriations to the total of such available funds, providing for issuance of bonds to pay off State obligations existing on September 1, 1943, and providing for the duties of the Legislature and Comptroller of Public Accounts with reference thereto."

"Those opposed to said Amendment shall vote a ballot printed on their ballots the words:

"Against the Amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas, requiring appropriations passed by the Legislature presented to and certified by Comptroller of Public Accounts to available funds therefor, limiting appropriations to the total of such funds, providing for issuance of bonds to pay off State outstanding September 1, 1943, and providing for the duties of the Legislature and Comptroller of Public Accounts with reference thereto."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State of Texas is hereby authorized to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of the same published as required by the Constitution for amendments thereto.

Sec. 4. The sum of Fifty Thousand Dollars ($5,000.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas, not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

James Y. Allred and W. Lee O'Daniel have been campaigning for the post of U. S. Senator. Harold Beck and John Lee Smith are in the race for Lieutenant Governor, Jesse James and W. Gregory Hatcher for State Treasurer and Beauford H. Jester and Pierce, P. Brooks for Railroad Commissioner, general term.

Eleven absentee votes were cast.

SCOUT CAMP ENJOYED

Troops No. 146 and No. 3146 met at the court house 28 strong on the morning of Aug. 12 to be journeyed three miles above Medina on the West Prong and set up camp. It was an unusual experience for most of the boys, as only seven had camped before. After parents had left beds were set up and positions assigned, then the night program was started. The first regular period was swimming which was the favorite period of time of the camp. Other periods were: study, free, rest; there being a free and study period also. Lights out at 10:00 o'clock were 8, 1, and 7:30 each day. In the evening games were played. During free periods mountain climbing and fishing were indulged in. Charley Farrer being the leader.

Sunday morning at 6 o'clock was a beautiful morning after a heavy shower of rain that continued for several hours. Since there is nothing as pretty as pleasant than wet bedding and wet camping grounds with other unpleasantries of life, under such conditions it was decided to break camp until a later date. Before breakfast the week-end camp is planned.

Those interested writing the city time of the camp is the Scoutmaster who is suffering from an attack of poison ivy.

JESTER'S CAMPAIGN FOR RAIL BOARD HITS
STATE SPARKS

Corsicana, Aug. 17.—Predicting victory because of general approval of his record as chairman of the Texas Railroad Commission, Beauford Jester this morning launched through the final phase of his first campaign for public office.

The Corsicana native and farmer whose friends term him, "a war veteran for a war job," declared he is daily receiving letters of support from all sections which indicate he will lead the balloting in a wide open primary.

Jester stated that he would turn the full energies of the railroad commission to the efficient functioning of production of oil and the maintenance of transportation.

He again called attention to his platform pledge to administer the office in the interest of a group whose problems he knows because of his own participation.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark honored their son, A. J. Clark with a birthday party and he received many nice presents. Punch and coffee were served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold L. College, recently won second place in the calf poultry class at Houston, and took place in the cutting contest at the Aggie Rodeo. He made the third highest average. Miss Doodie Bug Teich, who is a great favorite here hit roping events, made a big hit and thrilled the audience with her excellent achievement of calf roping at the Aggie Rodeo.

Mesdames Chas. Rickhart, J. A. Bachman, Laura Wallace and C. Marvin Hunter were hostesses to the members of the Birthday Club Tuesday evening. A most enjoyable time was spent.

Charlie Wiemers returned to San Diego, Calif. Monday, after spending a few days leave from the Navy, with his mother, Mrs. John Wiemers and other relatives.

W. P. B. LIFTS BAN ON USE OF MOHAIR

Washington, Aug. 13.—The War Production Board today authorized unrestricted civilian use of mohair.

Mohair, the hair of the Angora goat, has been under virtually the same restriction applicable to new wool.

Production of all mohair used in the United States is produced in Texas. Stocks now total 19,000,000 pounds, with an estimated 6,000,000 pounds to be shorn soon.

Kenneth Marriner, chief of the W. P. B. wool section, said restrictions were removed from civilian use of mohair to encourage manufacturers to use a larger quantity in civilian fabrics. He added its military use had not developed as rapidly as anticipated.

Free Picture Show
Tomorrow Night

A free picture show, including a "History of the War" and other pictures will be shown tomorrow (Friday) at 8:30 p. m. at the Bandera High school building. Every one is urged to attend. It is important that the people of Bandera County support in the Emergency Medical Service work and if everyone will cooperate the work can be done without hardship on anyone. The citizens have shown a wonderful spirit in the matter of War Savings Bonds and we feel sure that they will do their part in other lines of defense. It is discouraging when the leaders of vital defense work must do all of the work in a show out and help. Show your appreciation of what the boys in the Army, Navy and Air Force are doing and help on the home front.

It is imperative that Bandera establish an emergency service where casualties can be cared for. This will be by donations and help of materials by the people. Come out tomorrow night and help make it. If you understand what is needed what must be done you will want to do your part. If you feel that you cannot help, come out anyway and show that you are interested.

WELCOME RAIN FELL

The much needed rain came here Sunday morning when 1 1-8 inches of rain fell. Early Monday morning another 1-4 inch fell making a total of two inches this week. More rain is needed to put a good showing in the ground for fall crops and winter range.

ALLIES MAKE HEAVY RAID ON FRANCE

British, Canadian and American troops made a surprise attack on the French Port of Dieppe and after causing considerable damage to the defenses withdrew from there. The British admitted the loss of 98 air planes and reported 100 Nazi planes downed. It was thought by some to be the long awaited second front but British radio stations warned the French that it was merely a raid information was gained that will be valuable when the actual second front is started. Officials believed that the invasion time was near.

American Marines" established landings on the Solomon Islands and are consolidating those positions. The battle has been in progress about two weeks and it is believed that dislodging the enemy may be a long and hard fight.

Admiral Darlan general was put in charge of the fighting in Egypt and it is believed that he will try to push the Nazis out of Egypt and possibly out of Africa.

The Russians are still being pushed back by superior Nazi forces in the Stalingrad sector. The Russians claim to be holding all field but destroyed the oil wells before withdrawing.

EFFECTIVE SALVAGE CAMPAIGN NEEDED

With war reaching a higher tempo than ever before the need for scrap metals is bigger than ever before. Some mills are reported operating in production of steel on account of the lack of scrap metals. A scrap metal drive was held earlier in the year but there is still a lot of scrap laying about that should be brought in as soon as possible. An advertising campaign to call attention to the need of scrap is being sponsored all over the country by leading industrial concerns and the first advertisement appears on page three of this issue. Read the ad and then go to work.

The Salvage Committee of which Ashley Rugh is Chairman and the local U. D. C. Women are helping in making the drive a success. A junk dealer from Hondo has been in town if you notify the County Agent's office.

Much date to be announced later the junk man will call at every home in Bandera and it is not too early to start gathering up the scrap.

SCOUT CAMP ENJOYED

Troops No. 146 and No. 2146 met at the court house for a stong on the morning of Aug. 12. We journeyed three miles above Medina on the West Prong and set up camp. It was an unusual experience for most of the boys, as only seven had camped before. After parents had left beds were set up and pots and pans unpacked the canip program was outlined. The first regular period was conducted by Mr. Hatfield in the past time of the camp. Other periods were: study, free, relaxation, swim, study, study, relief each half day. Meal times were 8, 1, and 6:30 each day. In the evening games were played. During free periods mountain climbing and hiking was indulged in. Charley Farrey being the leader.

Sunday morning at 6 o'clock we were abruptly awakened by a heavy shower of rain that continued for about an hour. Then there is nothing any more unpleasant than wet bedding. We were camped on a hill with other unpleasantries that accompany such conditions. We decided to return home until a later date when a two-day week-end camp is planned.

At present writing the only victim of the camp is the Scoutmaster, who is suffering from an attack of poison ivy.

A free picture show including a "History of the War" and other pictures, will be shown tomorrow (Friday) at 8:30 p. m. at the Bandera high school building. Every one is urged to attend. It is important that the people of Bandera become interested in the Emergency Medical service work and if everyone will cooperate the work can be done without hardship on anyone. The citizens have shown a wonderful spirit in the matter of War Savings Bonds and we feel sure that they will do their duty in other lines of defense. It is discouraging when the leaders of vital defense work must do all of the work so come out and help. Show your appreciation of what the boys in the Army, Navy and Air Force are doing and help on the home front.

It is important that Bandera establish an emergency station. Where could this be cared for. This will be by donations and loans of materials by the people. Come out tomorrow night and learn more about it. If you understand what is needed and what must be done you will want to do your part. Even if you feel that you cannot help, come out tomorrow and show that you are interested.

EFFECTIVE SALVAGE CAMPAIGN NEEDED

With war reaching a higher tempo than ever before the need for scrap metals is bigger than ever before. Some mills are reported slowing down in production of steel on account of the lack of scrap metals. A scrap metal drive was held earlier in the year but there is still a lot of scrap lying around that needs to be brought in as soon as possible. An advertising campaign to call attention to the need of scrap is being sponsored all over the country by leading industrial concerns and the first advertisement appears on page three of this issue. Read the ad and then go to work. The local Salvage Committee of which Ashley Bush is Chairman and the local U. S. D. A. War Board are leading the drive in this drive a success. A junk dealer will be glad to call at your place if you notify the County Agent's office.

At a date to be announced later the junk man will call at every home in Bandera and it is not too early to start gathering up the scrap.

SCOUT CAMP ENJOYED

Troops No. 146 and No. 3146 met at the court house 28 strong on the morning of Aug. 12. We journeyed three miles above Medina on the West Prong and set up camp. It was an unusual experience for most of the boys, as only seven had camped before. After parents had left beds were set up and positions assigned, then the camp program was outlined. The first regular period was swimming which was the favorite past time of the camp. Other periods were: study, free, rest there being a free and study period each half day. Meal times were 8, 1, and 7:30 each day. In the evenings games were played. During free periods mountain climbing and fishing were indulged in. Charley Farrer being the leader.

Sunday morning at 6 o'clock we were abruptly awakened by a heavy shower of rain that continued for several hours. Since there is nothing any more unpleasant than wet bedding and wet camping grounds with other unpleasantries that accompany such conditions it was decided to break camp until a later date when a two-day week-end camp is planned.

At present writing the only victim of the camp is the Scoutmaster who is suffering from an attack of poison ivy.

JESTER'S CAMPAIGN FOR RAIL BOARD HITS HIGH SPEED

Corsicana, Aug. 17.—Predicting victory because of general approval of his win-the-war program at the Texas Railroad Commission, Beauford Jester this week swept through the final phase of his first campaign for public office.

The Corsicana lawyer and farmer whose friends term him, "a war veteran for a war job," declared he is daily receiving words of support from all sections which indicate he will lead the balloting by 2nd wide margin Saturday.

Jester stated that he would turn the full energies of the railroad commission to the proper functioning of production of oil and the maintenance of transportation.

He again called attention to his platform plank for farmers, written in the interest of a group whose problems he knows because of his own participation.

Show your appreciation of what the boys in the Army, Navy and Air Force are doing and help on the home front.

It is imperative that Bandera establish an emergency station where casualties can be cared for. This will be by donations and loans of materials by the people. Come out tomorrow night and learn more about it. If you understand what is needed and what must be done you will want to do your part. Even, if you feel that you cannot help, come out anyway and show that you are interested.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

WHENEVER I hear about anybody having a big family I think of Dad and Ma Hoskins. The Hoskins had thirteen children.

They weren't a bad bunch of kids, by and large—but it seemed one or the other of them would always be having a fuss with the neighbors, or would break a window playing baseball, or some other kid trick. Keep Dad and Ma mighty busy all the time.

One day Dad got a bright idea. He called the whole family together for a special meeting at the dinner table.

He told them he was tired of clocking up on them all the time. He said he thought they were old enough now to clock up on themselves. The older children would watch the younger ones. They would have meetings every so often and hand out rewards or punishments.

Well, it was a crazy idea but the kids liked it and they started behaving better than they ever had before. The idea worked and Dad finally did get a little time for himself.

No. 41 of a Series Copyright, 1942, Brewing Industry Foundation

I mention this story about Dad Hoskins because it's something like what I understand the beer industry is doing to regulate itself.

As I see it, most of the beer industry behaves itself perfectly all right . . . but every now and then, I guess, a retailer comes along who runs a place that isn't up to scratch . . . sort of like a wayward kid.

So like Dad Hoskins' family, the brewers and beer distributors have united together in an industry self-regulation program to help the proper authorities clean up or close up offending retail places.

The brewers, who want to protect Beer's good name, cooperate wisely with the authorities who enforce the laws.

From where I sit, this's a fine thing for the brewers to do . . . particularly when you realize that after all they're not responsible for retailing conditions.

Unwelcome Visitors for Herr Rommel

The huge M-4 tanks, built at Hammond, Ind., and said to be the most formidable fighting machine in the world, are shown lined up on flat cars inside the plant awaiting final inspection. This huge tank carries a 75-mm. cannon on a revolving turret which enables the gunner to swing in a complete circle. Just to look at them is most reassuring.

FISHING AND HUNTING LICENSES EXPIRE AUG. 31

All hunting, fishing and trapping licenses, including commercial fishing licenses and licenses issued to persons who make a living off wildlife resources, such as fish dealers and fur traders, will expire the end of this month at the close of the State's fiscal year, the Executive Secretary of the Game Department has announced.

Hunters and fishermen and all others interested were advised to purchase their new 1942-43 licenses as soon as possible.

The open season on mourning and white-winged doves in the South Zone will open Sept. 16 and last through Oct. 27.

Remember—the bag limit this year is 10 and not 12, as it was last year. This is the result of a conflict between State laws passed by the Legislature and Federal regulations governing migratory birds and waterfowl, which are issued each year by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

PREVENT FARM FIRES AND HELP WIN THE WAR

It is estimated that every year about 250 people lose their lives in fires on farms and in rural communities. We find that all 1-3 per cent of the dead are children under ten years of age. How think of the homes, barns, hold goods, farms, feed, machinery and livestock that are lost each year and the fifty to six hundred one half million dollars worth of farm property is destroyed by fire each year.

At the present time when we are at war, preventable waste is unpatriotic. The lumber, roofing, hardware and labor used to repair farm buildings could be better used constructing army camps, munition factories and other war time buildings. Many farm fires before they start by forming the habit of thinking and regarding fires, hunt out danger points by frequent inspection and remove all fire hazards immediately. Visitors on fire prevention may be obtained at the County Agent's or Home Demonstration Agent's offices.

Mrs. Hay, nee Lizzie Gibbons, was born in Medina County on Oct. 24, 1865. On Nov. 21, 1886 she was married to George A. Hay and they had lived in Medina for the past 29 years. Mr. Hay became ill about two years ago and she had been nursing him when stricken. She was a member of the Methodist Methodist Church for more than 50 years. FALL GARDENS

How to Prepare the Soil

It is still time to get your fall garden started. Now is the time to kill the weeds from the garden before you start to plow your garden. If you have considerable moulding and heating takes place which dries out the soil and prevents good cultivation.

The soil for the fall garden should be plowed to a depth of four or five inches. After the garden has been plowed, spread a coating one to three inches thick of trampled manure over the soil, cut over the surface. Then rebreak or dig the soil before until the manure is well mixed into the soil.

Tomatoes, peppers or egg plant that have survived the summer may be stimulated into new fall growth and bear crops by applying a tablespoonful of nitrate of soda around each plant. Dig fertilizer into the soil about five to twelve inches from the body of the plant for best results.

Planting the Fall Garden

In purchasing seed for the fall garden it is advisable to secure one-fourth more seed for fall planting than for the spring plant. Seeds germinate more slowly as the season is poor, consequently the extra quantity of seed will probably be necessary to secure a good stand.

Seed with a hard seed coat, such as beans, peas, etc. will stand in warm water over night before planting. It is also a good plan to press the seed down the seed at the time of planting.

Irish potatoes can be made to come up more evenly by covering the potatoes with damp sacks or straw for several days until they have sprouted, then cut into seed pieces and plant." Following "we give vegetables, variety, distance in row and distance apart and depth in rows; pinto beans, pinto, 2 in., 3 to 3 feet; Irish potatoes, Bliss Triumph, 12 in., 2 ft.; cabbage, Charleston Wakefield, 18 in., 3 ft.; Turnips, Shogoin, 3 in., 1½ ft.; radish, White Icicle, 2 in., 1 ft.; broccoli, Green Sprouting, 2 feet, 3 feet.

English Peas, Thomas Laxton, 2 in., 1½ ft.; carrots, Danver's Half Long, 1 in., 1½ ft.; Beans, (bush), Stringless Green Pod, 3 in., 2 ft.

The young plants must be shaded until cool weather begins. A covering of burlap bags or branches from trees will do.

Dr. Elizabeth Heisler will again be at her office in Bandera every week day.

J. T. Akin Rites Held at Medina

News of the death of J. T. Akin, who passed away at St. Mary's Hospital in Port Arthur Tuesday, Aug. 18th, brought sorrow to many homes in Medina. Mr. Akin had been in poor health for some time and all that loving hands could do for him was of no avail.

J. T. Akin was born on Jan. 29, 1859 at Kaufman, Texas and completed his life's journey in 83 years, six months and twenty-eight days. On Dec. 14, 1884 he married Miss Margaret Jane Wilson at Kirby, Texas. They passed away July 6, 1902 and of the four children born to this union only Virgil Akin of Port Arthur is surviving. On Dec. 24, 1903 he married Miss Lura Akin and two children were born to this union one preceded the father in death they Buddie Akin of Port Arthur survives.

The deceased was a beloved pioneer citizen and was interesting life. He came to Kerr County and settled near Center Point in 1890. He drove the stage coach from Center Point to Medina in 1890, '91 and '92 and then moved to Medina where he bought his home. He remained there until recently when he went to Port Arthur.

He became a member of the Baptist Church at the age of 16 years of age and lived a devout Christian life. He was superintendent of the Sunday School for many years and was active in church affairs until his health made it impossible. He left his friends with a smile and was gracious to everyone with whom he came in contact. Medina loses a man of sterling worth by the passing of Mr. Akin.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at the Methodist Church in Medina with Rev. Breihan officiating. Pallbearers were Joe Newcomer, A. Hall, Ben Akin, Ed Akin, Harold Hammond and C. S. Childs. Interment was in the Oak Rest Cemetery.

The New Era joins in extending sincere sympathy to those bereaved in grief.

Junk Collection Day Set for Saturday

Next Saturday, Aug. 29th, has been set aside for the collection of scrap. A junk dealer will call at every home and it is suggested that the scrap be placed in front of the property or where it will be readily accessible. Every home has some scrap and it is important that the scrap metals be sent to the factories so that more munitions and war gear be made for the soldiers. In order it is important that each home on Saturday it will be collected as quickly as possible after that.

MRS. AL PLUMMER ELECTED CHAIRMAN FRIDAY NIGHT

At a meeting at the Bandera High School building Friday night, called by Dr. W. G. Rymer, Chairman of the Emergency Health and Medical Service, the organization of the Bandera Emergency First Aid Casualty Station was effected and Mrs. Al Plummer was elected chairman by acclamation.

Plans were shown depicting the destruction of places by bombs and the large number of casualties. We are grateful to Mr. Schlemsner and Belknap Talcott for showing the pictures. "About 100 persons were present and enjoyed the show.

It is necessary every citizen to get behind Mrs. Plummer and make the first aid station a success and be completely prepared.

You can do this by seeing Mrs. Plummer or calling her by phone and telling her what you can donate in the way of material; beds, bedding, cots, bowls, etc. to make up 20 units. In case of a disaster we need them we will have them ready.

To the ladies of district No. 1. we ask you to call Mrs. Plummer and let her know whether in any way you can to complete the assembling of these units. We have already had four complete units donated by Mrs. L. L. Bright and Mrs. C. I. Miller. Mrs. Fred Mansfield, Calif., nine grandchildren and two great grandchildren.

Mrs. Fred Mansfield has donated a bed. Who'll be next to donate a unit? Anybody that is able to donate to this would be useful towards making up a unit will be appreciated.

Mrs. Plummer has given the prices what ir most needed and if you have any thing that you can donate, I'm sure it will be a treasure. Mrs. Plummer will be glad to hear from you and if you can help her in this war work with your whole soul and body, pick up the telephone or write a card and say so, for she is going to need your help.

Each article will be stamped and marked from donor with her or his name and will be returned to them when the war is over part of the war. Will you help?

NUMBER AND SIZE OF ASSISTANCE CHECKS INCREASED

Austin, Aug. 13—The State Department of Public Welfare will distribute this month $4,571,-721 to 177,822 Old Age Assistance recipients. This is $71,721 above the ceiling that county political aspirants charged the 47th Legislature with placing upon the amount which could be expended in any one month. Expenditures are now in excess of current income, this being authorized by the State Comptroller in compliance with a recent ruling of the Attorney General to the effect that no ceiling on expenditures exists so long as the funds are made available through the month's allocation or $1,750,000 out of state funds.

The assistance rolls made a net gain of 1,409 and cost increase of $66,556 over the previous month. The average grant jumped from $19.87 to $20.09.

The welfare department reinvestigated 7,266 cases during July which resulted in a $6.27 average raise to 6,232 recipients. Grants of 777 recipients totaling $3,881.81 were sustained without change and 425 had their grants lowered an average of $4.22. Only 165 of all reinvestigated cases were found to be currently ineligible.

REMOVING STAINS FROM CLOTHING

Fruit stains ruin the looks of many table cloths and dresses especially children's clothing.

Fresh fruits to eat—vitamin rich and full of refreshment, are one of the pleasures of summer time, but these fruits often leave a telltale mark on table linens, cuptowels and clothes. If possible, get after these stains while still fresh and before they dry. If you let a stain dry it is much harder to remove.

Simple remedies will take out most stains. Sometimes warm water or water just from the faucet will take out fresh stains from white or color fast cotton and linen. If that does not remove it, try boiling water.

Stretch the stained material over a bowl and fasten it with a string. Then pour the boiling water from a height so that it strikes the stain with force. If the stain is hard to get out, rub it and pour on more boiling water. Continue this method until the stain is completely removed.

Sometimes just a few ounce of oxalic acid crystals dissolved in one pint of water. You can make up a small amount and bottle it. Remember that it is poison. Label it poison and keep it away from children. You may use this solution after you boil it.

To apply, place the stained material over a bowl and pour water through the stain. With a medicine dropper apply a little oxalic solution directly on the stain. Then pour water through the spot and then acid solution. Repeat until stain is removed. Then rinse the material thoroughly to remove all acid. If acid is allowed to dry on material it will rot, holes will appear.

For peach stains, moisten the spot and apply powdered borax, until a thick paste is made over the spot. Let stand a few minutes and then wash.

Merritt Case Being Tried in Uvalde

The trial of Deputy Sheriff Vernon Merritt, charged with murder without malice in the killing of Lt. Charles A. Smith on July 4th, began in Uvalde Monday. Judge K. K. Woodley is presiding and District Attorney Ralph J. Noonan is being assisted by Major J. Franklin Spears, special prosecutor. The defense counsel is headed by Will A. Morris Sr. of San Antonio.

The jury was selected Monday and includes the following: Henry Culp, W. C. Reagan, Louis Friday, Clarence W. Mogford, Clifford Gee, Gates Stott, E. E. Cranston, Jack Carper, Bob Allen, Sam T. Mitchell, Roland A. Byars and John Ware.

The State rested its case Tuesday after a number of witnesses had testified. The defense expected to rest its case yesterday evening and the State has a number of witnesses for rebuttal.

COLLECTION OF SCRAP STARTED SATURDAY

The collection of scrap in Bandera started Saturday morning when Jack Majzeks working under the direction and with the assistance of the County Salvage Committee and the U. S. D. A. War Board. A house to house pick-up was made and many of the citizens had their scrap piled up and ready for collection. Records are being maintained and the weight of all donated iron was added up and, "Mission Accomplished" was reported to the U. S. O. Fund. The collection was continued on Tuesday and by noon Wednesday 1,000 pounds of scrap had been sent to Pearsall scrap yards and $21.30 in donations had been turned in to Judge A. V. Pue for the U. S. O. Fund.

If there are no further interruptions the town collection will be discontinued (Thursday). Those who have iron ready should be patient as the collectors will be there as soon as possible. If any one was missed and they have scrap, call number 22 immediately.

Donations ranged from 2 to 500 pounds. Items collected include bonnet-shaped hoods, fenders, branding irons, 12 or 15 iron beds including one which weighed over 100 pounds, a sewing machine, farm tools, tyaps, water heaters, stoves, and quite an interesting collection from Frontier Times Museum.

J. C. Webb is now County Salvage Chairman and will hereafter be in charge of the work.

Reports from Medwood Victory leaders who contacted their neighbors indicate that there are around 100,000 pounds of scrap left in the County.

BEAUTIFUL WALL PAPER THIS COMING YEAR

Our home demonstration agent says, "Wallpaper to be marketed this coming year will by far be the finest and most beautiful wallpaper produced over a long period of years." The War Production Board has eliminated or reduced the use of many colors and chemicals normally used in the manufacture of wallpaper. Instead of reducing the attractiveness of papers, the restrictions have been accepted as a challenge to the ingenuity of our factories and as a result of the new limitations a marvellous new development in color technique has taken place.

Frank R. Anderwald Another Call Issued for Scrap

"Word has just been received that in order to keep steel mills open, several hundred thousand tons of scrap metal must be put into industrial channels immediately. A recent survey shows thousands of pounds of scrap piling idle on Texas farms. This is a call to every citizen in the United States to immediately sell or donate every available pound of scrap metal. Do not delay! This is urgent! Every man guilty of holding or hoarding scrap metal is directly helping the Axis powers in their battle against all free nations. In other words, any person hoarding scrap metal is lining himself up with Hitler, Mussolini and Tojo. There are a number of ways in which scrap metal may be put into useful channels. It can be hauled to the nearest junk yard and sold, if desired it can be donated to some local agency. The County Salvage Committee, of which Jake Webb is now chairman, can help you in this matter. Every member in your community. The members of this committee were published in the New Era about two weeks ago and includes about three members from each community in each town. Or you may call or write the County Agent's office or the A. A. A. office in Bandera, and a committee will be sent by a fair price will call at your home to get your scrap iron. If you decide to donate your scrap this can be arranged for very readily by calling the above. The main thing is to get in your scrap immediately. It is badly needed to defend our democracy and to help keep our country from coming under the rule of some foreign dictator."

USE V-MAIL WHEN WRITING TO BOYS OVERSEAS

The Post Office Department has announced that the V-Mail Service, inaugurated on June 15, 1942, is now past the experimental stage with such wide success that large increases in the number of letters mailed to American soldiers occurred.

The War Department has increased its facilities to handle the increase, the volume expected in the future.

Facilities for photographing and reproducing letters at the front in the United States and the Pacific Isles, Australia, India, Hawaii and other points are now in operation. A similar service is being planned for Iceland and other points where large forces are stationed.

Pointing out that V-Mail provides a safe means of communication between members of the Armed Forces, the Post Office Department gave assurance that the film (upon which the communications are reproduced) are given preference over expeditious dispatch available. Because of the limited space taken up by the rolls of film, letters can be carried on ferry planes or bombers.

In an effort to insure delivery of mail to as many men as possible at overseas destinations where space is limited, the War and Navy Departments have directed that V-Mail be given priority in transit over all other classes—including air mail—and that transportation facilities under control

THE AIMS OF LIFE

Some philosophers say that people can usually get about what they want in life, provided they resolutely determine to attain it and work persistently. Many people would say that they want to get rich, but have never been able to do so. The philosophers would say that their aims have to be practical, and they have to show real intelligence in the way they seek after those aims.

If people achieve only mediocre results, the trouble is often that they do not concentrate on their aims, and do not work hard enough. They are satisfied just to get by and do as well as the average. They do not feel it worth while to attract attention by superior work.

There are many aims that are beyond the reach of the average person. Only a limited number can manage some big business, or win distinguished success in golf or armament or sport. It is a good idea not to set our minds on things far beyond reach. But if one works hard, and tries to learn everything possible about the kind of work he is doing, he will find many rewards in life.

People respect the work and achievements of such a person. Not merely does he usually earn a fair living, but the people who do good work command a good position in the community and they make friends. Their company is valued, they have opportunities for enjoyment, and life is rewarding.

The way is open to such people to form pleasant associations. The members of their home town are open to them, they can join organizations by the set of their face, and they provide many pleasant pastimes as they go along. If doesn't do any person's character much harm to work hard, but if you reach for a fine red apple on the top you can usually find a ladder long enough to get it.

NIGHT LIFE

The old timers complain that the young people stay out very late at night. The young crowd frequently get back from dances during about 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning, perhaps later. The old folks can't see why a party could not begin at 9 o'clock, and let everyone quit at midnight at the latest.

To youth there seems something fascinating about the hours of midnight and later. Some of them realize that late at night people have a way of letting themselves go, and taking more freely, and that life takes on a new spirit of jollity as the small hours of the morning grow a little large.

It is hard for old people to understand the mind of youth. Young people have had plenty to worry about in these times with the difficulties they had for 10 years in finding work, and the war throws clouds of uncertainty over their lives. Tolerance should be felt for them, when they kick at their bevis and forget their troubles.

It is well for the youngsters to consider that the thing they want most is success, ability to hold good jobs, earn money and enjoy the good things of life. To accomplish these things, they have to be wide awake in working hours and full of pep and energy.

If as the result of being out nearly all night, they are dopey in his sleepy the next day on the job, it won't help them a particle. They might miss some chance that would go to more alert persons who had their sleep.

If it could become fashionable to modify the hours of night life a bit, so they should begin and end at an hour that would not interfere with work and study the next day, it would seem a reasonable attitude which would appeal to persons of all ages.

At one visiting in a house for the first time, found that his host was the father of three well children. The latter made so much noise that the visitor found it difficult to hear a word that was said.

One child was busy ripping the upholstery out of a second-hand divan. A second lad was driving nails into an expensive table, and the third was swinging gaily from a chandelier.

The bewildered guest eyed the youngster who was driving nails into the furniture. He turned to his host.

"I say," he said, pointing to the boy with the hammer, "don't you find it rather expensive to let your children play like that?"

The host smiled proudly.

"Not at all," he replied cheerfully. "I get the nails wholesale!"

THE AGE OF RETIREMENT

When should people retire from active work? The idea prevailing among many in former years was that when a man became 60 or 65 years of age, it was time for him to quit and enjoy life. If he had not saved enough money to live on, most people have not at that age, he should expect him by his relatives and support him, or else that an old age pension should care for his wants.

An increasing point of view was expressed some time ago by an aged man of 90 years, that 60 was the proper age to for retirement. "Never," he said, "When you retire, you're through." A feeling was derived from contemplation of some men who had quit work after a life spent in their occupations, and who were restless and unhappy. Some people rust out by quitting before quitting time has come.

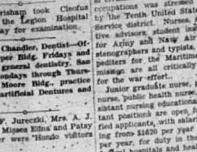
"PERILS OF NYORA" NEW SERIAL AT RIALTO



Lorna Gray and Kay Aldridge in a scene from the new serial, "Perils of Nyoka."

"Perils of Nyoka," Republic tran serial whose initial episode will show at the Bantex Theatre today and Saturday, utilizes many more situation that could possibly be contrived by the human mind, bearing out our contention that serial writers are craftsmen of super resourcefulness and genius.

When Republic made "Jungle Girl," and presented Frances Gifford as the first "serial queen" fond as the thrill, the idea captured the public fancy with amazing profitable results.

Perils of Nyoka," the inevitable follow-up, has luscious Kay Aldridge in the title role and Lorna Gray, another beauty, in the role of villainess Captain Clayton. All of the male lead and supporting roles are in the hands of such players as Clayton Moore, Forbes Murray, George Pembroke, Tristram Coffin, Ken Duncan, Gomez, Arvon Dale, Kenneth Georges Lewis, Art Du Pont and Hampton and Emil Sa.

The opening chapter, "Intrigue," started off with a bang, plunging it once directly into the most intriguing situation. The daughter of a missing archaeologist, is living with a friend of his, and comes to the aid of her father, who dies while seeking an ancient treasure. The purpose of gaining this, if given instruction finding the Tablets of Fate, which divulge all the knowledge of the ancient "Vultura," a cold-blooded villainess. Gray, is determined to secure the tablets and the rare treasure hidden with them, and employs ingenious means to thwart Nyoka and her friends.

THE GET TOGETHER SPIRIT

One of the marked features of life for some years in many cities has been the habit of getting the business people together for meetings of luncheon clubs. The men gather at regular dates for a meal, after which they hear some speaker. They exchange their opinions about public affairs, and they make friends among their business associates. The result is a great addition to the cooperative spirit of the community.

The people thus assembled suggest many good ideas for the improvement of the town, and many of these ideas are carried out. The town rivalries disappear, and the men learn to work together and accomplish far more than they ever could by ruthlessly competition.

INCREASE THE LIFE OF CLOTHING

Let's all remember that every Victory Demonstrator has pledged to repair and make clothing last as long as possible. Here are a few tips on how to stick to the pledge.

DECORATION OR PATCHING ADDS LIFE TO YOUR CLOTHES: Almost any part of your clothing can be repaired to wear longer by a few tricks of ripping, turning, reinforcing and applying, and you can make old dresses and other garments into new ones by changing the lines a little, making new collars and cuffs for dresses and suits, or by adding a decorative patch or two. Make the patch a part of the design of the garment and no one will know that you covered a hole.

IF YOU ARE COMING OUT AT THE SLEEVES: There are several ways you can remedy this problem. If the sleeves are thin at the elbow, rip inside seam and put a piece of material around the sleeve, catching it in at the seam, then blind stitching to sleeve across the top and bottom of the piece. Worn sleeves at the elbow always can be made into short sleeves. Cuffs can hide a sleeve ripped at the wrist or the edge of the sleeve can be bound. Insert put in from the shoulder to cuff or from under arm to cuff will make sleeves larger, if the old ones are small or binding. A piece of leather or some heavy woolen material is recommended for reinforcing elbows of woolen garments, just in case you want to be different and really give the entire dress a new touch. Applique hearts, diamonds, flowers, or stripes of material on the sleeves.

If the neck of your skirt is getting thin, you can rip it at the seams and put in a piece of material, cutting it at the proper angle, then blind stitching over the worn spot.

Children love patches, if they are in the form of flowers, animals and birds. Cut the patches out of gay colors. They will hide the worn spots, add color to an old garment, and make the kiddies love to wear it.

Dresses worn under the arms can be turned into jumpers or jumpers are made into sleeveless dresses by putting a ruffle in the arms eye.

'Shall Not Pass'

Although the Suez canal's average width is about 250 feet, ships going through it are not allowed to pass each other in motion between the Mediterranean and the Bitter Lakes, or over about three-quarters of the 100-mile course. The ship facing the tide, which flows for seven hours and ebbs for five, is obliged to lie up while the other passes, for fear too much backwater will loosen the sandy banks.

Students in the New Era led State Press to write the following in the Dallas News.

HONOR SYSTEM

The Bandera New Era is authority for the fact that electric light and power users in Bandera are now allowed to read their own meters, sending the reading to the company's office. Here is one of the most striking tributes to corporate trust in the honesty of the average citizen that has come along in several months. It is the honor system applied in a new and important field. Mr. Pyeal recently had the privilege of reading his own light meter for the company which supplies his household with illumination. The paid meter reader, it seems, had been unable to get into the house when he called. Put thus to his mettle, State Press attempted to mark the disks properly on the post card just as the dials on the meter showed. Even if he had been off a mind in that however, he doubts if he could. The meter is plain enough for the layman to know how to juggle the figures. Down in Bandera the rural customers have been allowed to read their meters for a long time, but it is a new experience for city folks. This is welcome testimony that urban dwellers are now regarded as being fully as honest as their country cousins.

MOVING TO MAHOMET

The Bandera New Era reports that J. Marvin Hunter, founder and owner of the Frontier Times museum in Bandera, will take over the Corpus Christi Memorial Museum in the coast city on Oct. 1, Mr. Hunter will make Mahomet the famous museum at Bandera, but he has found that war conditions and life restrictions have caused a very serious drop in the patronage of the Bandera show place. In Corpus Christi he will build up an equally famous display, sponsored by a board of representative citizens, backed by the city administration. Here is an example of the old saying that if Mahomet cannot go to the mountain, the mountain can be moved to Mahomet. It is said proof that the civic and political leaders of Corpus Christi are up and coming folks to grab the high value of historical museums in war times.

V-MAIL

of these departments are used.

V-Mail letter sheets have been distributed at all post offices; and have been provided all military and naval personnel at overseas points through Army and Navy post offices and military channels.

Private firms and individuals have also been permitted by the Post Office Department to reproduce the letter sheets. The sheets also will be available soon at all stores selling stationery.

V-Mail service provides for the use by patrons of a special letter sheet form which is a combination letter and envelope of uniform size and design. The patron writes his message, completes the name and address of the addressee and the return card in the space provided, folds seals, and mails the letter in the usual manner. Patrons are warned that only the inner or letter side of V-Mail letters are photographed, and should be careful to show the complete address of the person to whom the message is sent in the space provided therefor above the space for the message. It is preferable to print the address in large letters. Enclosures must not be placed in the letters.

V-Mail letters are photographed on micro-film by automatic machines at the rate of 2,000 to 3,000 per hour and the film rolls containing 1,500 letters each are transmitted to destinations. Reproductions are then made by other automatic machines and delivered to the addressee in individual sealed window penalty envelopes.

When V-Mail letters are addressed to places where microfilm equipment is not in operation, the letters are transmitted in the form in original form by the most expeditious means available. Delivery of such letters may be delayed, however, as routings to weight and space are accomplished since there are approximately 97 V-Mail letters to a pound, whereas, ordinary letters average 40 per pound.

The War, Navy and Post Office Departments all cooperated in developing this Service, largely with a view of increasing the facilities of mail to be carried overseas and providing an expeditious service.

The public is urged to use it at every opportunity.

WILL WE BE ABLE TO BUY WINDOW SHADES?

Window shade rollers are going to be very difficult to get for the duration of the war. This is particularly due to a shortage of spring wire which is used to make the spring inside the roller. Due to this shortage, everyone must cooperate by using their present rollers where possible and buying only the shade cloth necessary for replacement. Most of the retail stores will carry on hand window shades made up in various sizes, without rollers, which can easily be installed on the customer's rollers.

HOUSEWIVES URGED TO SAVE ALL FATS

J. C. Webb, Chairman of the Bandera Salvage Committee, announced today that collection of fats is very urgent as the war in the Pacific has greatly increased the demand for valuable fats from the Far East. Don't throw away a single drop of cooking fat, bacon grease, meat drippings, frying fats, every kind you use. After you have rendered it, wash it good from them, pour them through a kitchen strainer into a clean container and cool. Keep in a cool, dark place. Do not use glass containers. When you have saved a pound or two take them to your meat dealer. He will pay you for your waste fats and they will go on their way to the war industries. It will help him if you can deliver your fats early in the day.

AID CHECKS SMALLER DUE TO LARGER ROLLS

Austin, Sept. 3.—Cutting Aid to Dependent Children checks by $1,000,000 a month, the State Department of Public Welfare announced today that September Aid checks would total, totalling $217,662 and averaging $10.61, for 20,504 recipients. Reduction in the total from the sharp cut in grants is due to the fact that only $250,000 a month was available and in most cases were added to the rolls forcing the cut in individual checks.

The state will distribute $2,635,440 this month to 178,942 Old Age Assistance recipients while 20,504 out of 1,120 recipients. The September total is $63,719 above the previous month, with the average grant jumping from $20.90 to $20.32.

Miss Ruth Blind rolls made a net gain of 150 cases during August, 3,599 blind persons receiving a total of $35,754 in September. The average blind grant dropped from $23 to $22.90.

Dove Season Opens Next Wednesday

The open season on doves begins next Wednesday, Sept. 16th. The bag limit on mourning and white-winged doves is given as 12 in the printed matter on the reverse of the new 1942-43 State hunting licenses, but the actual limits are 10 per day and 10 in possession at any one time, the Executive Secretary of the Game Commission cautioned today.

The inconsistency is the result of new Federal regulations which conflict with State laws. A note to sportsmen warning them to check the latest Digest of Game Laws for any changes is printed on the reverse of the licenses as a further warning to sportsmen.

RUSSIANS STILL HOLDING OUT AT STALINGRAD

Russians have been holding Stalingrad against terrific odds. The civilities there is regarded as critical as the Russians have been falling back for several days. The Germans reported Sunday that they had taken the port of Novorossisk but the Russians reported that they were still fighting there in spite of a break through by the Germans.

In the Egyptian area Rommel was forced back to his original position with heavy losses. Allied planes continued Sunday bombing enemy bases and supply lines.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH REVIVAL

In spite of the inclemency of the weather, the interest continues to grow in the revival meeting which is being conducted each night at the Christian Church by the local minister, Mr. J. C. Welch, assisted by Howard T. House of Des Moines, Iowa, singing evangelist. Many admiring comments are being heard about the musical numbers rendered by Mr. House and Mr. Welch are not only intensely interesting to young and old alike, but they are clear, significant and as some have been heard to say, "they make the Bible plain."

Mr. House is proving himself not only a very fine Gospel song leader but a very able attending crayon artist. His beautiful colored pictures cannot be told, at a glance, but they are quickly makes before the audience with odd shaped pieces of material of many different colors. Tuesday night, assisted by Mrs. McIver at the piano, a rag picture was made illustrating "I Stand in the Garden." The Bible stories, illustrated with magic slates are also among the popular features of the meeting.

The children's Bible drills are very interesting and much immediately after school. Tuesday night at the regular services, a short gift was presented which was given by Gene Hutzler. Another gift will be given by the public drill will be given Thursday night at the Sunday night. This program will be free to the public and will be in addition to the regular services.

THREE YEARS OF WAR

On September 1, 1939, Germany declared war on Poland. On September 3 following, Great Britain and France declared war on Germany. Then began the terrible three years of war that have followed, the most devastating conflict in the history of the human race.

Wars result from misconceptions, the inability of human beings to get a clear perception of the truth. The warriors find they have entertained misleading conceptions. Germany believed it could soon wallop Poland thoroughly and that no one would darey interfere. They had threatened war many times and done so many warlike things, that the appearance of great nations was strained beyond the limit, and those countries were ready to fight to stop these outrages.

Then Germany entertained the conception that the United States would not fight, and would keep its hands out of the mess. Our people did not want to get into it, but they were not going to refuse to send aid to democratic nations fighting for freedom. This aid brought this country into the war.

One of the greatest mistakes of the Germans was" their feeling that they could lick Russia in a short time, probably two or three months. The war with Russia has lasted more than 14 months, and is far from being over.

The Japanese government thought it a treacherous stroke could so wipe out American forces in the Pacific, that our country would be powerless in that area. The hard blows they have received, in spite of their demoralizing "low" blow" on that point.

The American people have had their misconceptions. They did not realize how many of their ships would be sunk by the pirates of submarine attack. Four hundred and fifty or more of these vessels at the bottom of the Atlantic ocean are eloquent testimony to this misconception.

Every week gives our people a clearer view of the real situation, and strengthens American power to put an end, with the aid of the allies, to the terrorism that now masters about half the world.

FOUNDATION OF THE GOVERNMENT

On September 17, 1787, the constitutional convention completed the constitution of the United States. On that day there was laid the foundation for the most successful system of popular government ever conceived.

Those old founders had studied the experiments previously made in democratic government, and tried to see why previous efforts failed, and they attempted to establish a government free of these weaknesses.

Its success in standing so many strains for more than a century and a half may be ascribed largely to two causes. They gave to the people a large degree of control over public affairs, while coming under a strong central government. And they gave the people power to make changes in their government whenever experiment indicated it was necessary. A system so practical and flexible satisfies the aspirations which mankind has felt for thousands of years. It should last many centuries more.

HOME IS THE BEST

When people return from vacations and travels, they almost always say that the home burg looks better to them than the places they have visited. They have probably seen greater cities, and places where there is more wealth and display. But when they get home they recognize the value of the friendships and personal and business ties they have made.

It is a pleasant thing to have your townspeople welcome you, and say they have missed you, and that they are glad to see you back. That close tie to the home town is one of the best things in life. It is something money cannot buy, and which is obtained only by living in a friendly way among good people. A town like Bandera grows a lot of good folks, and it is a satisfaction to live among them.

MAKE MEAT GO FARTHER

"Over here, Wickard's announcement that the country will experience meat rationing within a few months will mean fair sharing of the nation's supply and should not bring hardships to anyone.

"We'll be on shorter meat rations because we have been recently but we have enough meat and other protein foods to keep America families well nourished," says Louise Bryant, specialist in home economics for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

"To make meat go farther, she suggests that homemakers use more of foods which are plentiful and less beef and pork. Fortunately, there's an abundant supply of protein foods. Supplies of cheese are at an all time high and there are more chickens than ever before. Although beans are not an exact substitute for meat, they make a good nourishing dish, the specialist says. Beans, too, are plentiful.

"If every American family has a cheese dish instead of pork chops more often than usual, or chicken instead of steak, the pressure on beef and pork supplies will not be so great," Miss Bryant suggests.

Other ways of making meat go farther include serving meat stews and hashes. It is a good idea, too, to save all trimmings both of fat and well-flavored bits. Meat bones may be saved for making soup. Here are other helps: Always keep meat clean and cold so none will go to waste from spoilage or poor [illegible]. Cook meat according to cut and fatness, and with moderate heat. Finally, allow different seasonings in meat dishes for variety.

WOOL BLANKETS

(By Sylvia Ann Hajek, Extension Worker, County Home Demonstration Agent)

The government stopped the manufacture of "all-wool" blankets last March, and limited to 80 per cent the amount of wool used in a blanket.

A new type of wool blanket is on the market. It is an all wool filled blanket with a cotton warp. As all the wool is in the filling, it is as warm as all wool.

I mean the way the human race has worked out a whole set of cut-an'-dried alibis for its misdeeds and shortcomings.

LEARNING NEW THINGS

Wartime conditions throw many persons out of work temporarily. People have more money to spend than in recent years, they are buying largely and it takes plenty of help to produce and handle all these goods. The drafting of millions of men for the army makes many vacancies.

A great body of people can get work if they can learn to do new things. Some men who had a business job may say they couldn't learn to handle tools. Some men who lack any special skill may feel helpless if put behind a counter or machine.

The majority of people can learn more things than they think they can. They should listen and remember every word of instruction, and observe every motion in any mechanical process they are asked to perform. Ability to learn new things is usually a basic condition of success.

WOOL BLANKETS

(By Sylvia Ann Hajek, Extension Worker, County Home Demonstration Agent)

The government stopped the manufacture of "all-wool" blankets last March, and limited to 80 per cent the amount of wool used in a blanket.

A new type of wool blanket is on the market. It is an all wool filled blanket with a cotton warp. As all the wool is in the filling, it is as warm as all wool.

REMINDERS ARE NECESSARY

When a man starts out to do errands for his wife and family, he is apt to have a list of the things he needs to buy. If he does not have one, he is likely to forget some of his errands. The human memory is not good, and it needs constant reminders.

That is one of many reasons why advertising is an essential feature of business. People forget things unless they are constantly reminded. A store may carry an excellent line, but many people forget it unless they are constantly reminded by advertising. Many good people in retail trade do not make any great success, because they fail to constantly remind folks of the goods they offer.

Remember Pearl Harbor, Buy Defense Bonds and Stamps.

FIGHTING ON THE HOME FRONT

The Bandera County Agricultural Victory Council Takes Its War Jobs Seriously

(By Lewis Lane In "The Extensioner")

If every county in the United States had proportionately as many men bearing arms as Bandera County, Texas, this country would now have an army of more than five million men. Bandera County has contributed about 20 pounds of scrap rubber per capita to the government's salvage campaign; the nation's average is three and one-half pounds per person.

That ought to give you an idea of the kind of patriotism I found when I went to the county in mid-July with District Agents R. C. Martin and Max Belle Smith, and H. H. Weatherby, assistant extension poultry husbandman. At the county seat I saw flags everywhere and this seemed appropriate, for banders is Spanish for flag.

Make no mistake about it. The Bandera County Agricultural Council has put its war-time objectives above all others. It's fighting the war on the home front.

H. F. Schlemmer and Myrtle H. Krueger, the county extension agents, told me that the county is sub-divided into five communities and 51 neighborhoods. Home neighborhood Victory leaders have only four farm and ranch families on their lists; some have as many as 15. In this way, they believe, that 80 per cent of the families in Bandera County have telephone calls and every one of the community and neighborhood Victory leaders has that means of communication.

Too, every leader has a card showing the names of the families for which he or she is responsible. When I was in Bandera County

CHILD WELFARE PLANS MADE BY COMMITTEE

Austin, Aug. 25.—(Special)—Moving to strengthen laws for the punishment of adults who contribute to the delinquency of children, the State Advisory Committee on Child Welfare Monday set forth a five-point program in sessions held in the Driskill Hotel, Austin. Dr. M. E. Sadler, former Austin pastor and president of Texas Christian University, Fort Worth, presided as chairman of the committee composed of representatives of Texas clubs and agencies interested in child welfare.

The committee decided to work for broadening of the Aid to Dependent Children program by removal of constitutional restrictions now imposed upon the number of children who can be aided and the amount of money that can be expended. Other recommendations concerned the enactment of a juvenile court law, the establishment of a reporting system by district courts to child welfare agencies on all cases where a parent, sentenced to imprisonment, has children unprovided for, and inauguration of a program for the study of child adoption problems.

WINANS CREEK H. D. CLUB

On Aug. 18th four of our members met to welcome our new agent, Miss Hajek.

Due to the tire situation we voted to have only one meeting per month, that being each first Wednesday.

Miss Hajek talked of various things, giving out defense pledge cards which we signed.

She then discussed the value and uses of grape jelce, giving a demonstration on making and canning same.

On Sept. 2nd we met with ten present. Mrs. Kitner gave the Council report in which it was advised that the adjoining clubs to Bandera have a joint meeting there on a Saturday afternoon to care for the second monthly meeting, which our club favored.

Next discussion it was found that four or five of our ladies were anxious to attend the nurses course if transportation can be arranged.

Mrs. MacNaughton gave an interesting report of the Fort Worth meeting and we all felt we, too, had been there.

We also made a talk on value of eggs and milk in our diet, giving out a number of bulletins for other things. She then gave a demonstration of making lemon egg....

HOW DO RAYON STOCKINGS WEAR?

(By Sylvia Ann Hajek, County Home Demonstration Agent)

It is only a short time before the only type stockings available will be of rayon or lisle. Most people know something of lisle but very few people have had experience with rayon.

The higher in pressure go in the manufacture of rayon yarn, the better the quality that is bought, the longer the wear to be expected and more wear features are found.

Today, rayon stockings can be produced in a fabric that actually looks as sheer as silk. Rayon yarns can be highly twisted to give it greater elasticity and strength. New higher twist yarns almost eliminates the basement formerly so common at the knee and ankles and finally, rayon fiber being machine made, the stockings will never show rings or shadows.

Although rayon stockings wash and dry, are sturdy, rayons when wet, are weaker than silk. Care must be taken in washing and extra care in handling is necessary when rain has made them damp. In view of the care that must be taken of rayon hose, especially through the period of drying, the best possible tip to be given any purchaser is that they buy not less, than two pair of the same quality and shade, and that these be worn alternately.

SAN BENITO SCHOOL TEACHER RESIGNS, SAYS PLACE INCLUDE TRIP TO TOKYO

San Benito—The educational aspects of receiving training as a selectee in the United States Army were stressed in a humorous letter to Superintendent R. V. Neely in which Private W. Miller Jordan presented his resignation from the local school faculty. The letter was read at the meeting of the board of trustees Monday night and Pvt. Jordan, who had for the past seven years been a faculty member at Fred Booth School here, was granted a leave of absence for the duration.

The former elementary school principal wrote his superintendent: "This is to notify you that my plans for the summer include an extensive educational tour instead of summer school. I plan to go to Tokyo and Yokohama via Australia and the Philippines.

This trip will mean much more to me than a summer at the University, because I expect to get a liberal education in such subjects as Americanism, Geography and Physical Education. I plan to take an excellent course in distribution of American munitions to the Japanese. As a result of the tour I expect to get a V. P. W. degree and if I am successful I expect to do some post-graduate work in Berlin."

Jordan, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Jordan Sr., of Weslaco, and brother of Frank Jordan of Brownsville, entered the army June 19th. He is one of seven local faculty members granted leaves of absence for the duration. The others have been in the Army for more than a year and all are now commissioned. They include Lieutenants H. G. Chaffin, Jim Bone, Charley Ricks and J. C. Hall.

Employable Persons Go-off Rolls

Austin, Sept. 19.—The State Department of Public Welfare announced today that all employable persons now receiving federal surplus commodities or food stamps will be taken off the rolls if the jobs can be made by the War Manpower Board and the County Commissioners' Courts.

Commissioners' Courts in a number of counties have reported labor shortages developing and have felt that the availability of surplus commodities discourages acceptance of farm employment. Many of the families now receiving surplus commodities have no member physically able to work. The only way the war has affected such families is to expand their living costs and to push them back into the category of the forgotten man.

There is a widespread demand in all counties to continue the Free School Lunch Program. The hungry school child is more noticeable to the public. In these families there is little or no property or income to be expanded by inflation.

The fire department is more important than ever before. When property is destroyed by fire it is hard to get material to re-build as a great many building materials are diverted to every effort should be made to prevent fires. All men who possibly can should join the Volunteer Fire Department and assist the chief in every way they can.

The next meeting will be held on Tuesday, Oct. 6th.

FRESH APPLES ARE THE VICTORY SPECIAL NOW

(Sylvia Ann Hajek, C. H. D. A. Extension Service, A. and M. College)

A good part of the apples now coming onto the markets are Red Jonathan and Grimes Golden varieties for purpose fruits that are good eaten out of hand, yet stand under baking and cook tender in the short time that apple sauce and apple pies require.

Speaking of pies, have you ever tried crusting the crust with melted cheese? The latter is then even more subtly than when a nibble of cheese is taken now and then. You wait until after the pie is baked then cover the top with American cheese, thin sliced or grated, and put the pie back in a moderate oven (300 to 325 degrees F.) until the cheese is melted. A high temperature will cause the cheese to be tough and like leather. Be sure to serve while the cheese is still warm.

Apple turnovers, apple dumplings, apple upside-down cake — a hard-list to choose from; but I want to try them all, one of these times when apples are a Victory food special.

Turnovers are easy to make. If you can make a good pastry dough. You just roll the dough in rounds about the size of a tea saucer. On one half of the pastry round, arrange layers of thinly sliced apples, sprinkle with a mixture of sugar, cinnamon and a little salt and dot with butter. Moisten the over rim of the pie, try bring the other part over it, press the two edges firmly together with the tines of a fork and prick the crust. If the steam can escape, bake in a moderately hot oven (375 to 400 degrees F.) for twenty minutes. Smell that cinnamon-sweet, "apply" aroma?

Now it's another day and time for that upside-down cake. You get out that bowl and beat a cream 1-4 cup of butter or other fat with 1-2 cup of sugar, a well-beaten egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 vanilla. Sift 1 1-2 cups of soft wheat flour, 2 teaspoons of baking powder and 1-4 teaspoon of soda together and add it, alternately with 1-2 cup of milk, to the creamed mixture. Coat the bottom and sides of a glass baking dish or a very heavy pan with fat, spread thick. Spread thin slices of firm-fleshed apples in an overlapping layer on the bottom of the baking dish and sprinkle with a cinnamon and sugar mixture. Now pour the thick batter mixture in and smooth out the top with a knife. Bake in a very moderate oven (350 to 325 degrees F.) for 45 minutes. Loosen the sides of the cake, turn it out upside down and serve, the cool top will be covered with a neat layer of apples; you'll like it even through. Serve hot with hard sauce (if you have enough left!) or whipped cream.

Apple rings with pork chops — or even with bacon for breakfast. Tart apples diced, cubes and all, with chopped celery and chopped nuts for Waldorf salad. Chopped apples of any kind to give added taste, an added zest to any salad —it's good to have apples as a Victory Food Special.

Remember, an apple a day will keep the doctor away.

FARMERS PAYING OFF

The federal land bank commissioner reports that farmers paid $238,000,000 to the land banks in the year ending June 30, and that they borrowed only $97,000,000 in the same period. Apparently the farmers will avoid most of the disasters that overwhelmed so many in the past.

The high prices for farm products that prevailed in the first World War produced an excessive rise in the price of farms in many states. Very many people paid too high for such properties. When the prices of farm products dropped, many farmers could not make payments on their mortgages and a wave of ruin brought many to grief. If the same thrift now shown by farmers also can be exercised by those who have bought city and town homes on mortgages, one of the causes of former misfortunes will become less threatening.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

The students win victories for their athletic teams by the enthusiasm with which they root at the games, and shout "Rah, Rah, Rah." So the home town can win its games of business and progress, if its people consistently shout for it with enthusiasm.

The birds win their mates by singing. It is a kind of advertising, and if a bird refuses to sing, he might not win any mate. So in the business world, advertising is the thing that draws attention and greatly increases success.

Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Wiemers have received word from their son, Willie, that he arrived safely at his overseas station.

Summer heat and sun are never kind to hair. They sparkle and glean into your dull, drab and lifeless hair by getting hair conditioned. Think little of danger. To some war may be a kind of game, and they may enjoy nature grand of it, the struggle of wits to defeat the enemy, the pride of their own strength and skill with weapons, and in their cunning.

The spirit of adventure in civilian life frequently gets people into difficulty. They take too many risks, they disregard the advice of wiser and more prudent heads.

When war comes, these men with fearless hearts and the spirit of adventure make wonderful fighters. The country owes a deep debt to them. Their courage communicates itself to their comrades. Men hate to show fear when there are among them so many who know no apprehension, and are out to win the game at the peril of all. America is descended from a race of men who feared the perils of the wilderness, but had adventure spirit, and their descendants are likely to show a similar dauntless feeling.

ADVENTURE SPIRIT IN WAR

"The majority of cautious older people look at war with horror, as the greatest folly of the human race. They admit that it is necessary when a nation is attacked, but it should defend itself, and not let the warmakers rule the world. If they were drafted for a fight, they would, no doubt go out of patriotic duty, and to support a good cause, but they would not enjoy the horrible thing.

There have always been many young men who were rather fond of fighting to war. Back in the ancient times of chivalry, when men roamed the world to fight, seeking to redress wrongs and rescue the oppressed, they departed for the wars with a great spirit of adventure, according to the stories of history.

Many young men seem to have that spirit today. The spirit of adventure is strong in their hearts. They are very ready to and think little of danger. To

—H. D. CONVENTION—

Farmers by nature are optimistic. They have to be. Finally, one thing we have not learned the others who have not learned the lessons of efficiency and high morale.

Our Southerland's rules make every individual more keenly aware of the fact that he must change the whole outlook today. His own selfish plans have no part in the picture. Catastrophic changes have upon him, and others in the offing, demand a new approach to living.

Once the individual gains that approach, the war and its problems do not bear down upon him so heavily. Naturally one must feel bound to much. This is a world for sturdy folk who refuse "take it" and at the same time lend courage to others who are afraid.

Dr. Southerland urged the club women to give the more unfortunate, the "shirtless" in their communities a chance, pointing out that ambition is not an automatic something that comes to all, but is something inspired by cultural and ambitious surroundings. He was severely against, however, a "holier than thou" attitude, and stressed the importance of developing subtlety in drawing these families into community participation. He said he had been told, that the greatest limitation to the war effort is morale. We all can be built up in peaceloves and desires. A self inventory is a splendid way to begin the building.

Wednesday evening a banquet was held in the Blackstone Hotel at which Mrs. W. G. Kennedy, president, presided. Places of honor had for more than 200 guests were marked by corsages. Lovely centerpieces were formed of fruits and vegetables. A delicious medley of fruit cocktail, marashino flavor, saltine crackers broiled steak, snowy white potatoes, diced carrots and June peas in butter, baked fresh potatoes, hot rolls, fruit salad, cottage cheese, hot biscuits, hot tea, ice cream, assorted cakes, and coffee formed the banquet menu.

Mrs. Dr. Southerland, Mrs. Bess Edwards, assistant home demonstration agent, Miss Edwards, in her summary, pointed out how the fundamental needs of man—work, play, love and worship—had been felt at the convention.

Texas Home Demonstration women left their conference with renewed pledges to produce and preserve food for the United Nations. The association itself has made another contribution to the war effort. Members do not pay dues to the state association, but they contribute a nickel annually. From the reserve funds accumulated thus, the association already has bought more than $2,000 worth of bonds.

Mrs. Howard Denson and children moved to the North cottage last week.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

In the square of a little village not far from here I came on the prettiest flower garden you ever saw.

It was a lot of flowers all mixed up—hundreds of different kinds, I guess. So I asked a passerby if he could tell me about it.

"Well," he says, "in this town whenever anybody plants a flower garden and has any seeds left, they scatter them over this plot."

Then he leans over and pulls out a couple of weeds. "We all have to help pull out the weeds too," he tells me. "That way the village has a flower garden to be proud of."

That's about as pretty an illustration of co-operation as I ever come across. But there's plenty of examples of co-operation and civic spirit these days.

We were talking just yesterday about how the brewers and the beer distributors are working together and co-operating with law enforcement authorities.

You see a lot of friendship and fine old customs have grown up around beer. But the brewers they've got to keep it.

Everybody has to pull and the brewing industry is sensible enough to realize that. And it's doing something about it.

"Well," he says, "in this town whenever anybody plants a flower garden and has any seeds left, they scatter them over this plot."

The brewers don't want beer sold in the wrong places, and so they're asking the authorities to help regulation practices that they like" beer retailers to close up," as they say.

From what I read, I'm working out mighty well in a number of states, and it's not all talk, either.

From where I sit, it looks like a fine idea . . . a mighty good example of how business can work out to the benefit of one—the brewers, the retailers, and the public. And it's another good example of co-operation and civic spirit we've been talking about here in Bandera.

FIGHTING ON THE HOME FRONT

(By Laura Lane in "The Express")

The county's Food For Freedom goals were presented, folks were urged to cooperate in the scrap metal collection, and the Texas Food Standard was explained and distributed to the group. One entertainment feature was the showing of a movie, "History of a War," which was provided by Mr. Talcott. The picture showed the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the evacuation of Dupkerk, submarine activity in the Atlantic, and pictures of our mechanized army. It's not surprising that its meetings drew large crowds.

Last year the members of the land use planning committee were elected at the same time that AAA committeemen were elected — three members from each of the five communities. Such a committee proved entirely feasible, so much of the work has been done by sub-committees composed of two or three members. There have been sub-committees working on the community victory launch, program, the cotton matter, demonstration program, the Tenant-Purchase program, the rural electric, and other interests.

The committee has an interesting way of getting cooperation. Chairman Capt. Thomas P. Grant, told me. It's represented on every other important committee in the county — a sort of interlocking directorate. Some members of the County Agricultural Victory Council are also members of the County ACA committee, the REA county board of directors, the County USDA War Board, the county home demonstration council, the Texas Extension and other FSA committees, the county War Savings Bonds and Stamps Association committee, the committee on boys' 4-H Club shows, and the board of directors of the National Farm Loan Association.

Among the most loyal and enthusiastic participants in the county land use planning committee have been A. M. Cooper, farm supervisor, and Irene Hanna, home supervisor of the Farm Security Administration. Their headquarters are in Kerrville. Their FSA borrowers' co-op, known as the Kerr-Bandera County Purchasing and Marketing Association, is worthy a story of its own.

I mentioned some of the previous sub-committees earlier. One of them has been interested in adequate school lunches for children in the county's five schools. While Bandera County schools don't have what we ordinarily call the community school lunch program, at least three schools obtain food under the surplus commodity distribution program. This is used to supplement the lunches children bring from home. Recently I dined at one of these schools, the Medina school, which requires little preparation. I found out the lunch pail meals. Miss Pfluger told me.

The sub-committee on the county's fair can be dignified for the time being. There won't be a Bandera Fair this year, for authorities of the county in accordance with the suggestion of the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington.

During 1940 and 1941 the county land use planning committee sponsored the cotton mattress demonstration program. Five cotton mattresses set up and 364 mattresses were made. I learned from Miss Pfluger that Bandera County was one of the few counties in the state where all supervision was provided on a volunteer basis, since the planning committee voted to operate the program that way. Out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clark in the East Verde community I saw one of the state-approved grading services. W. R. Nisbet, extension animal husbandman, Harley Sewell, the F. Association employs Texas-only full-time grader for the fully cooperative associations, has graded between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds of mohair per year and around 1,000,000 pounds of wool. For more than 700 customer growers.

Entomologists from the experiment station at Sonora came over last year for two land use planning community meetings on the control of insects and external parasites of sheep and goats. Dr. Boughton or Dr. Hardy of the Sonora Experiment Station have attended several meetings. In 1941 the county 10,000 dips from stomach worms. No estimates are yet available on 1942 results. Agent Schlemmer mya there's been a big decrease. Bales of cotton produced in the county are fig per cent above last year, local merchants say.

Organized, Bandera County was a full one, for we saw several members of the County Agricultural Victory Council at work on some of their enterprises. I mentioned earlier the MacNaughton family. Mrs. MacNaughton, 4-H president and former chairman of the county home demonstration council, showed us her chickens. Later we went to the crowd where we found Mr. MacNaughton a picture of Margie MacNaughton.

Later we went on to the Fred Starnes place 9 miles northeast of Bandera where 4-H poultry production demonstrations have been carried on for more than two decades. Here I saw the lighting, spreader dams, reservoirs, pasture terracing and ridging, and sub-soiling as well as evidences of deferred grazing. Most amazing, though, is a chain of lakes that dot what is a dry gulch and now serves as a water reservoir. The lakes are fed by rain water and are maintained by a series of dams. When the tanks are full there is enough to run out of water on the ranch. This means of water conservation cost about $35 per lake. And Mr. Thalmann's AAA payments help defray a part of the cost of construction. While we were there we got a picture of the ranch foreman, Finis Collins, who was enjoying a little fishing.

Before lunch we stopped by to see Conservationist and Mrs. Alvey Pugh. I especially wanted a picture of their Victory garden which was fertilized with the guano and revealed luxuriant growth. Miss Pfluger lent a hand with the dusting when I took the picture.

We spent most of a delightful afternoon (until our films got low) at the A. W. Clark farm in the East Verde community. There was much to see there — a fine cotton crop, approximately 900 trees, peaches, pears, pecans and apples on the hillside, which, the family and neighbors enjoy — a huge Victory garden — 42 Victory pigs and a few deer — 60 hens and 100 fryers — and green beans drying in the back yard on window screens.

I was convinced that Mrs. Clark, a member of the County Agricultural Victory Council, is a practice what she advocates for others. She seemed especially interested in the food bank. Earlier when fresh beans were not in production the family had to depend on canned goods. Often they'd open a can and two rams would butt their heads through it. Now, registered Delaine Merinos which came from George Johanson at Brady, Capt. Grant was particularly proud of them for he'd been active in promoting the import of registered stock.

In Bandera we visited the headquarters of the Bandera Ranchers and Farmers Association which has cooperated with the land use planning committee in all the programs of interest to sheep and goat raisers. There I took a picture of Assistant Manager Ray Wyatt, Manager Ben Hall was not absent at the time). Ike Evans, a ranchman, and County Agent Schlemmer.

The quarter-century-old Bandera County R. and F. Association, as it's called, is worthy of a story of its own. Three hundred growers in the county own the stock company, no banker or merchant or other non-producer is allowed to own stock. The warehouse provides a year 'round daily market on wool and mohair and was one of the first in the state to offer grading services. W. R. Nisbet, extension animal husbandman, Harley Sewell, the F. Association employs Texas-only full-time grader for the fully cooperative associations, has graded between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds of mohair per year and around 1,000,000 pounds of wool. REPORTS FOR INDUCTION; FINDS IT'S ALL MISTAKE

Tom Boyle, city weights and measures inspector, was told Thursday by his draft board he would not be called until next year, if when he reported for army duty. He told Mayor C. K. Quin earlier in the week of his being called into the service.

Boyle went through the physical tests and qualified in every way.

The notice to report for Army duty, it developed, had been sent through error. He reported to the mayor it will not be necessary to fill his place in the official family.—San Antonio Express.

FIGHTING ON THE HOME FRONT

(By Laura Lane in "The Entensioner")

The county's Food For Freedom goals were presented, folks were urged to cooperate in the scrap metal collection, and the Texas Food Standard was explained and distributed to the group. One entertainment feature was the showing of a movie, "History of the War," which was provided by Mr. Talcott. The picture showed the bombing of Pearl Harbor, the evacuation of Dunkirk, submarine activity in the Atlantic, and pictures of our mechanized army. It's not surprising that its meetings drew large crowds.

Last year the members of the land use planning committee were elected at the same time that AAA committeemen were elected. Three members were elected from each of the five communities. Such a committee proved entirely too large, and the work has been done by sub-committees composed of two or three members. There have been sub-committees working on the community school, health, program, the cotton maintenance demonstration program, the Tenant-Purchase program, or national defense, and other interests.

The committee has an interesting way of getting cooperation. The chairman, Capt. Thomas P. Grant, told me. It's represented on every other important committee in the county — a sort of interlocking directorate. Some members of the County Agricultural Victory Council are also members of the County ACA committee, the REA co-op board of directors, the County URDA War Board, the county home demonstration council, the Purchase committee, the county Farmers and Stamps, tallying committee, the committee on boys' 4-H Club shows, and the board of directors of the National Bank of Commerce.

Among the most loyal and enthusiastic supporters of the National Land use planning committee have been A. M. Cooper, farm supervisor, and Irene Hanna, home supervisor of the Farm Security Administration. Their headquarters are in Pleasanton. Their FSA borrowers' co-op, known as the Kerr-Bandera County Purchasing and Marketing Association, is worthy a story of its own.

I mentioned some of the previous planning sub-committees earlier. One of them has been interested in adequate school lunches for children in the county's five public schools. While Bandera County has not had what we ordinarily call the community school lunch program, at least three school districts feed under the surplus commodity distribution program.

The sub-committee on the county fair can be digested for the time being. That won't be a Bandera Fair, this year, for authorities will call it off in accordance with the suggestion of the Office of Defense Transportation in Washington.

During 1940 and 1941 the county land use planning committee perfected the cotton mattress demonstration program. Five centers were set up and 36 mattresses were made. I learned from Miss Pfluger that Bandera County was one of the few counties in the state where all supervision was provided on a volunteer basis since the planning committee voted to operate the program that way. Out at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Clark in the East Verde community I saw one of the mattresses made in Bandera County.

picture of cows and two rams — registered Delaine Merino sheep came from George Johnson at Brady. Capt. Grant was particularly proud of them for he's been active in promoting the import of registered stock.

In Bandera we visited the headquarters of the Bandera Rangers and Farmers Association, which has cooperated with the land use planning committee in all the programs of interest to sheep and goat raisers. There I took a picture of Assistant Manager Ray Wyatt (Manager Jesse Hamilton was absent at the time). Mrs. Evans, a ranchman, and County Agent Schlemmer.

The quarter-century-old Bandera County R. and F. Association is, as it's name implies, worthy of a story of its own. Three hundred growers in the county own the stock company. No banker or merchant or other non-producer is allowed to own stock. The warehouse provides a year 'round daily market on wool and mohair and was one of the first in the state offering grading service. W. R. Nisbet, extension animal husbandman at the A. & M. College, employs Texas only full-time grader for the Bandera Association. The association handles between 600,000 and 700,000 pounds of mohair per year and around 500,000 pounds of wool for more than 700 customers growers.

Entomologists from the experiment station at Menard came over last year for two land use planning conservation meetings, one on control of internal and external parasites of sheep and goats. Dr. Boughton and Dr. Hale of the Menard Experiment Station have attended several meetings. In 1941 the county had a loss of 10,000 head from stomach worms. No estimates are yet available for this year's losses but County Agent Schlemmer says there's been a big decrease. Sales of worming preparations in the county are up per cent above last year, local merchants say.

Incidentally, Bandera County won a full one, for we saw several members of the County Agricultural Victory Council at work as some of their enterprises. I mentioned earlier the Coffee family. Mrs. MacNaughton, chief president and former chairman of the county home demonstration council, showed us her chickens. Later we went to the Fred Schmeer ranch where we obtained a picture of Margie MacNaughton.

Later we went on to the Fred Schmeer ranch where soil conservation demonstrations have been carried on for more than three years. You can see three terracing, spreader dams, reservoirs, pasture terracing and rolling-stalk-cutting, as well as evidences of deferred grazing. Most amazing, perhaps, is the dry land farm which once was a dry gulch and now serves as a water reservoir. Check dams have been built, rain water and are maintained by a series of dams. When the tanks are full there is enough to irrigate 10 acres of water on the ranch. This results of water conservation cost $20 per acre. Mrs. Ann and Mr. Thalmann's AAA payments help defray a part of the cost of construction. While we were there we got a picture of the ranch foreman, Price Collins, who was enjoying a little fishing.

Before lunch we stopped by to see Ferdinand Schmeer at Medina Rugh. I especially wanted a picture of their Victory garden which is terraced with the terraces and revealed luxuriant growth. Miss Pfluger lent a hand with the picture. Miss Collins, who was enjoying a little fishing.

We spent most of a delightful afternoon (until our films ran out) at the J. W. Clark home in the East Verde community. There was much to see. There's a check orchards containing approximately 900 trees, peaches, pears, pecans and apples; a barbecue pit which the family and neighbors enjoy . . . a huge Victory garden . . . 42 Victory hogs and 12 deer . . . 60 hens and 100 fryers . . . and green beans drying in the back yard on a window screen.

I was convinced that Mrs. Clark, a member of the County Agricultural Victory Council, puts into practice what she advocates for others. She answered my question as to treated in the dried beans. Earlier when fresh beans were not in pro-

AMERICA'S FIRE LOSS

The annual Fire Prevention Week, observed this year October 4-10, should start people to thinking about the destruction of property fire is in the United States, which is probably worse than anywhere else in the world. Our principle claim to be the most progressive. This progress should pervade the nation to guard better against the enormous fire losses from which they suffer each year.

Our country has a most admirable system of fire insurance which distributes the loss. That is for reason why anyone should be careless about the fire hazards on his own property. Proper care would so greatly the hazard of a fire loss that they would study all the possible causes of fires. If carelessness is widespread and a kind of national habit, all insured property will have to pay the cost when buildings burn down.

Fire Prevention Week suggests that every home and business owner should look over his property and see if any condition in his premises threatens fire. Firemen will tell people to clean out waste in sheds and cellars, for it is so easy for a blaze to start when some careless person drops a lighted match or burning cigaret in these messes.

People should remember the dangers of spontaneous combustion, and take care of the oily wastes which they often find left to wooden boxes. Hot ashes in wooden barrels have caused many a building to go in smoke.

Heaters may start fires where the flues and smoke pipes are defective, and there hot surfaces come too close to woodwork. It is a distressing experience for anyone to lose his home or business property by a fire, and people should guard against this misfortune.

PARENTS AND SOLDIER BOYS

It is a hard thing for parents to see their sons go off to military service, if these youths are called on to do any actual fighting, or enter scenes of danger. Many parents of parents will suffer deep anxiety until the war is over, and their loved boys come safely home again. It is a special strain when these boys are not heard from for many weeks, and the folks at home have no idea where they are, and what fate may have overtaken them.

For all that, the parents of our soldiers and sailors and men are doing a wonderful job of endurance and acceptance of the situation. It is rare to hear complaints. Very few will say the war is not necessary, and that measures should now be taken to bring it to a prompt ending, even if that means allowing our enemies to be the victors.

There is a general realization that there are times when people just have to stand up and fight the forces of evil, and that it is up to the youth of the land to take this hard duty and often dangerous work. The parents have reason to feel very proud of their offspring who are showing such splendid spirit.

The common attitude of parents is that this is the clear call to duty, and they want their boys to do their share, and take whatever part their qualifications mark out for them. Parents can take comfort in the thought that the present war is largely one of mechanized fighting. The side that has the best machines will win, and it will not lose so many men.

The Russians have suffered heavy casualties, mainly because they had inferior mechanical equipment. Our boys are going to battle with a mechanized power far better than their enemies have. This will greatly reduce the casualty lists. The hearts of America go out to all parents whose sons are sent out of the country. There is the most ardent hope that they will soon return with victory accomplished.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

What hurts your home town hurts you. Some people do not realize that truth when they send away to buy goods that could be bought just as well at home.

It takes energy to build up a business or support a family. That energy has to be devoted to maintaining its organization and promoting movements for its betterment.

Advertising reduces the cost of goods, because it increases the volume of sales, so that the cost per article of making a sale is cut down.

Citizens should place the winning of the war above anything else.

Let the United States government, your last hope in a winner of the war, handle the business of establishing ceiling prices and method of procuring scrap for the duration.

If we can't trust our fellow man in this war—and that includes your postman—we're in a helluva fix.

That's what we're fighting for.

THE WELL KEPT HOME.

Many families start out with enthusiasm in the spring to improve their homes. They clean, dispose of old refuse, they trim up their shrubs and trees, they clean out weed and grass patches, refertilize their lawns, and the place looks fine. Everybody who has just had a bath, and been fixed up with nice new clothes.

And then some of these, familiar to the most casual passer, lose some of this interest. The weeds invade the lawn and the garden, the flower beds look ragged, and they may be careless about regular mowing. Well dressed people take constant care of their clothes. The grounds about the house are the garments of that home. There should be constant care about the face the home puts up to the world.

Don't wait until the government takes your scrap! Sell it now.

PORK MUST BE SUFFICIENTLY COOKED

Because of the present emergency thousands of American families will be added this autumn to the many who are accustomed to the home-preparation and storage of meats for their own use. This is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who has issued a timely warning against carelessness that might cause illness.

Trichinosis, Dr. Cox explained, is caused by a microscopic organism called trichina, commonly known as "pork measles" or "pork worm". This parasite develops in the human body whenever infested pork is eaten, if it has not been sufficiently cooked. The young worms, known as larvae, are found in the muscles of infected pigs. When this type of meat is eaten these or undeveloped worms grow in the intestines into adult worms which are carried by the lymphatic tissues and blood stream to the muscles where they become encysted. This period of invasion gives rise to the symptoms of the disease. The severity of the illness is dependent upon the number of trichinea originally consumed.

"While the adult parasites are in the human intestine they may cause acute diarrhea," Dr. Cox said, "which at first can be mistaken for bilious fever and ptomaine poisoning. This may start anywhere from the first to the fourth day after eating the infected pork and may last one to several days. Later, stiffness and pain in the joints appear together with various degrees of pain in the muscles, particularly those of the eyes, of the leg, the upper arm, the shoulders and the jaws."

Dr. Cox declared that since no treatment is known, prevention is very important. The worms cannot live in cold. Therefore, every inspection of pork cannot be depended upon to protect from the last type of trichinosis. The sure safeguard is to be certain that all pork is sufficiently cooked, thoroughly cooked, whether processed at home or purchased. Many of the recent serious and fatal cases have been traced to eating raw smoked sausage or raw pork pudding.

Since it has been estimated that approximately five per cent of all swine are infected with trichinae, it is being emphasized that the invariable rule before consuming any pork or pork product is to see that it is cooked until all natural color is gone and no evidence of blood can be detected. This is the only safe rule to follow, according to the State Health Officer.

STORIES OF SUCCESS

The American people like to read stories of success. They like to hear about people who have done hard things, who have overcome difficulties, and acquired fame and fortune.

There are stories of success all the time right in our home town. They tell of people who have made good in business, who have been able to sell good goods for a fair price, a number are invested concerns that are an honor to the town and a convenience to the people. Lots of people who have made successes as workers, who have rendered faithful service, who have made their work valuable, and who have drawn new business by fidelity and intelligence. We should value all these many people who have created these stories of success.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

I NOTICED getting my hair cut this morning on account of the scrap collection.

When I climbed into the barber chair, Ray says to me:

"Sorry, Joe. Ain't got time for you today. We're closing up this morning a lot late."

And then I remembered. Like ever'body else, I'd been working hard to do my part in the scrap collection. Like ever'body else, I'd been digging around the house and garage, trying to find every scrap of metal we could spare.

Yes sir, the drugstore, the grocery store, Sam Abernethy's general store—every place in town where Democracy is working to crack a whip, you can bet they're all working hard to get the job done for Uncle Sam.

Because from here on out, what we're fighting for is work together. That's the only way we're going to get the job done, to relax a little.

And you ought to see the result piled up in front of the fire house. One hundred and fifty tons of metal that had been lying around in attics, cellars and back yards of our town since Charlie Jenkins' great-grandfather joined up with the Texas Rangers.

That's almost 200 lbs. of metal for every man, woman and child in our town. Just shows what free American citizens go out to do a job for Uncle Sam they do it right.

PEACE OFFICERS TO MEET AT JUNCTION OCTOBER 11

San Antonio, Sept. 28.—Peace officers of Kimbel, Gillespie, Kendall, Kerr, Real and Bandera Counties will meet in a quarterly conference on October 21 at Junction. Such war-time problems as espionage, sabotage and control of alien enemies will be discussed.

Among the prominent speakers to appear on the program at the meeting will be Ben F. Foster, United States Attorney for the Western District of Texas. Newest decisions and Federal laws affecting arrests and prosecution of suspects in war-time will be outlined by Mr. Foster.

M. W. Acers, Special Agent in Charge of the San Antonio FBI Office, has just returned to San Antonio after making a study of these problems in other states and obtained latest information gathered from all over the nation on new ideas and schemes being tried by spies, saboteurs and alien enemies.

Keen interest has been shown in the meetings by sheriffs, chiefs of police and other officers, it was said.

PORK MUST BE SUFFICIENTLY COOKED

Because of the present emergency thousands of American families will be added this autumn to the many who are accustomed to the home-preparation and storage of meats for their own use. This is the opinion of Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, who has issued a timely warning against carelessness that might cause illness.

Trichinosis, Dr. Cox explained, is caused by a microscopic organism called the trichina or muscle worm. This parasite develops in the human intestines after raw pork is eaten, if it has not been sufficiently cooked. The young worms, known as larvae, are found in the muscles of infected pigs, rats, bears and other animals eaten raw or undercooked, the larvae grow in the intestines into adult worms which are carried by the lymphatic tissue and blood stream to the muscles where they become encysted. This period of invasion gives rise to the symptoms of the disease. The severity of the illness is dependent upon the number of trichinea originally consumed.

"While the adult parasites are in the human intestines they may cause acute diarrhea," Dr. Cox said, "which at first can be mistaken for typhoid fever or dysentery. This may start anywhere from the first to the fourth day after eating the infested pork and may last one to several days. Later a puffiness of the eyes may appear together with various degrees of pain in the muscles, particularly those of the calf of the leg, the upper arm, the shoulders and the jaws."

Dr. Cox declared that since no treatment is known, prevention is very important. The worms cannot be seen by the unaided eye, so inspection of pork cannot be relied upon to protect from this type of infection. The only sure safeguard is to be certain that all pork and pork products are thoroughly cooked, whether prepared in home or purchased. Many of the more serious and fatal cases have been traced to eating raw smoked sausage or raw pork pudding.

Since it has been estimated that approximately five per cent of all swine are infested with trichinae, it is being emphasized that the invariable rule before consuming any pork or pork product is to see that it is cooked until all natural color is gone and no evidence of blood can be detected. This is the only safe rule to follow, according to the State Health Officer.

STORIES OF SUCCESS

The American people like to read stories of success. They like to hear about people who have done hard things, who have overcome difficulties, and acquired fame and fortune.

There are stories of success all the time right in our home town. They tell of people who have made good in business, who have been able to sell good goods for a fair price, and who have created concerns that are an honor to the town and a convenience to the people. Also of people who have made successes as workers, who have rendered faithful service, who have made their work valuable, and who have drawn new business by fidelity and intelligence. We should value all these many people who have created these stories of success.

Don't wait until the government takes your scrap! Sell it now.

RUBBER RATIONING

Because of the serious rubber shortage, certificate rationing of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes has been ordered by the Office of Price Administration to insure necessary supplies of these items for men working on jobs essential to the war effort in the public health and safety, W. H. Fletcher Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board announced today.

Mr. Fletcher said this action was taken at the direction of the War Production Board.

Effective at midnight September 29, Mr. Fletcher said the OPA ordered all sales and shipments of six types of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes frozen to prevent a buyers' "run" on the stocks now on hand and also to give dealers time to take inventory.

All retailers, wholesalers, and manufacturers of the rationed footwear are required to obtain OPA inventory forms from their local War Prices and Rationing Board on either Thursday, Friday or Saturday of this week.

The "freeze" period will end on Monday, Oct. 5, when rationing and consumer purchasing agents who need certificates entitling them to buy the rationed footwear, Mr. Fletcher said.

"To get a certificate," Mr. Fletcher explained, "the applicant must fill out two copies of a form that will be available at the local War Price and Rationing Board. These can be obtained by calling to the board in person, writing for them, or sending a representative.

"In filling out this form, an applicant must establish the fact that the actual work he performs is essential and he must specify the type of rationing rubber footwear needed and the conditions that make it necessary for him to have them. He also must show proof of his identity, such as his selective service registration, social security number, drivers license or similar identification. He must further establish that he has no available rubber footwear suitable for use in his job, and he must agree to turn in for salvage any unserviceable rubber footwear he owns."

"On receiving this application," Mr. Fletcher said, "the board will determine whether the applicant is entitled to get a certificate to buy any type of rationed footwear, and if so the board will authorize him to acquire the lightest weight and shortest type that will adequately serve his purpose.

"If the certificate holder buys from a local retailer he is required to present his certificate, identify himself, surrender any worn rubber footwear as agreed, and get a retailer's signature on a specified part of the certificate as evidence that he has made the required turn-in.

"Women shoppers are made by mail order, the turn-in of old rubber footwear is made to a local board designated by the local board. For this reason the customer sends only two parts of the certificate to the mail order house. On the third part he gets a receipt by a representative of the salvage agency to which he surrendered his worn out rubber footwear. Purchasers are required to keep this receipt part of the certificate for six months.

"All sellers of rationed rubber footwear — retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers—are required to take inventory on OPA forms as of midnight next Saturday, Oct. 3. The following specific types of men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes require a high crude rubber content and therefore are included under the rationing order: (1) hip-height rubber boots, including all boots of hip, body, and thigh heights. (2) over-the-knee rubber boots, including Storm King height; (3) all heavy short rubber boots; (4) all lightweight short rubber boots; (5) rubber pacs and hunters' boots 10 or more in height. (6) rubber pacs, hunters and work shoes less than 10 inches in height. All variations in style and design within these six broad classifications are included," Mr. Fletcher added that most types of rubber footwear necessary for ordinary use can be made mostly from reclaimed rubber and therefore are not rationed but can be purchased as usual. "In this non-rationed class," he said, "are men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes smaller than size six, lumbermen's overs which are leather boots with rubber feet, men's arctics, gaiters, work and dress rubbers, and women's and children's rubber boots, rubber work shoes, arctics, gaiters and rubbers. Although these types are not being rationed, Mr. Fletcher said, "the rubber conservation program depends on the cooperation of the public in not buying any more of these ordinary rubber items than urgent necessity demands."

He emphasized that OPA has reasserted some of the rationed footwear because it is pressed on one hand by the same rubber shortage that has restricted the sale of tires, and on the other by a demand for men's rubber boots and rubber work shoes that grows as wartime, agricultural and industrial activity increases.

FROM THE TEXAS H. D. CONVENTION

(By Mrs. J. B. MacNaughton)

The necessity for community recreation was felt by each woman attending the Convention, especially after hearing the report of the recreation committee.

It has been said that the human life is made up of four elements: Love, Worship, Work and Play. Too often a life becomes shorted in one of these fields, neglecting the others, thereby failing to grow into a balanced life. Dr. Richard Cabot has said, "Play is as necessary in proper proportion as love, worship and work."

The word "recreation" is heard today on every hand. Yet widely different meanings are attributed to it. Recreation is applied to a great variety of activities.

Recreation is not a static thing but a vital force influencing the lives of people. It is essential to happiness of the individual. It is security that comes from knowing they are loved and closely united to those for whom they work, play, laugh and talk together in the family group. Let's keep our children mentally strong. Let's give them that sense of

LETTER OF INTEREST FROM SOLDIERS AND COUNTY MUSICIANS

Sept. 30, 1942

Mrs. F. P. Layton,
County Music Week Chairman
Medina, Texas

Dear Mrs. Layton:

Last spring when you sent us your score scrapbook of clippings, photographs and other materials describing the Music Week observations in the State of Texas, however you said you would like to have it back in the fall. We made a request in return to you that it be mailed, but we are wondering if you would be willing to let us keep it for early December and then return it.

The Music Week scrapbooks we have seen during our visits to the country have been seen by a number of people who have visited our Music Week Office. It has been shown at meetings of various interested groups. Many Music Teachers have looked over the books consider yours the of the most attractive from the standpoint of smaller size cities, and also unique in many ways in illustrating different angles to the observances, and the different groups of the public who participate in some way in the Music Week Program.

If this is not satisfactory to you, why not keep it? Let us know, and we will return it without further delay.

Sincerely yours,
C. M. Tremaine
Secretary
National Music Week Committee

Bandera Defeated Poteet 7 to 6

The Bandera Bulldogs have accomplished their goal this year in defeating Somerset and Poteet. Those that witnessed last week's game at Somerset, saw a game from the start. Both teams were fairly evenly matched. Poteet's backfield outweighed Bandera's, but the Bulldog's line was heavier than the Poteet line. The breaks went against Bandera, but in football a team makes its breaks. Two goal line stands on the part of the Bandera team were magnificent. Bandera was determined to win and had the handicap of having to come from behind a 6 point lead in the second half. Poteet was just as determined to hold that lead. Three times the Bulldogs were turned back. Early in the 4th period Bandera went through right tackle, found his man blocked out for him and cut to the left; he then side-stepped three men he had for down field blocking but they were there; the try for extra point was good and the score ended 7 to 6, Bandera. It was a great game.

Bandera seems to have a good chance to win the conference championship this year. We have only one more conference game, which is with Edgewood here, on October 16th, and if it is 0 and since Bandera defeated Poteet 7 to 6 the Bulldogs should win the game and the championship.

Bandera's other scheduled game with Poteet is a non-conference game and will have no bearing on the championship.

Starting for Bandera were: ends, Jergensen and Berg; tackles, J. Anderson and Mauritz; guards, Dugush (C) and Hay; center, Leonard Edwards; backs, G. Anderwald, Kellam, Mauritz and Estes. Manning, Martin and Hillman also saw lots of service.

The Bandera Bulldogs were quite surprised last Friday morning on being informed by the school gal for a chance to do something in the way of football. All players reported at the Junction; tackles, Billy Brient and Sprott; guards, Skinner and Anderwald; center, James; backs, Martin, Pickens, Lonnie Edwards and Gordon Edwards. Substitutes led for Pickens and J. Anderwald subbed for Kalka. Score 12-6. Bulldogs.

Our next game in Bandera is Oct. 16th at 8 p. m. We invite our friends out to the game in Bandera. The team goes to Center Point this Friday afternoon at 3:30 p. m. Bandera will win.

Following is the schedule for the remainder of the season.

Oct. 9—Center Point at Center Point.
Oct. 16—Boerne at Bandera.
Oct. 23—Open.
Oct. 30—Poteet at Poteet.
Nov. 6—Tentative with T. M. I.
Nov. 13—Edgewood at Bandera.
Nov. 20—Center Point at Bandera.

RUSSIANS STILL HOLDING STALINGRAD

In one of the bloodiest battles in the history of the world, the Russians are still holding Stalingrad against constant fresh re-inforcements by the Nazis. The battle has been raging for 45 days and the Russians are reported to be making gains in the northern flanks. In the southern Caucasus the Russians were driven back.

UNEMPLOYABLES ONLY ONES RECEIVING AID

Austin, Oct. 2.—Commenting on agitation of the East Texas Chamber of Commerce, which is seeking to persuade the various county commissioners' courts to withdraw support of relief activities, J. S. Murchison, executive director of the State Department of Public Welfare today issued the following statement:

"That East Texas Chamber spokesmen, its board of directors, It does not speak for the people. The resolution passed by the board is not the action of the people. ...This resolution pledged the West Texas commissioners' courts to economy in one sense but to accept essential relief functions as an inescapable responsibility. It is a resolution of war as well as in time of peace.

It is silly to charge that this farm relief furnishes has been caused by food stamps, surplus commodities, old age assistance, aid to the blind or aid to dependent children.

"I hold no brief for any recipient of assistance down work that he is able to perform. If there is such a person in the state, he will not be permitted to receive governmental aid. The able-bodied persons who are out of work will engage government aid to work, represent less than one per cent of compulsory unemployment. We loan our standard practice to cut off all such persons when work is available. Selfish groups are urging courts to cut off the only source of bread the helpless have left, in the name of patriotism. The people will recognize such attempts as an unworthy attack upon the humanitarian responsibilities of enlightened government.

S. M. E.-HARDIN SIMMONS GAME SATURDAY NIGHT

San Antonio, Oct. 6.—In a major intersectional grid battle, the Southern Methodist Mustangs of Dallas and the Hardin-Simmons Cowboys of Abilene clash at 8 p. m. Saturday night in Alamo Stadium in San Antonio.

From every angle the game promises to be a colorful and hard fought contest, and a near capacity crowd is expected to fill the fine new stadium located near the edge of Brackenridge Park.

The rampaging Hardin-Simmons Cowboys, fresh from decisive victories on successive weekends over Baylor and North Texas State, are set to open up with plenty of power and deception against the Mustangs. The Cowboys toppled the Baylor Bears in a clear-cut 13 to 6 victory last Saturday ago, and last week-end they handed North Texas Teachers College a 34 to 6 defeat.

Southern Methodist, in its game against North Texas Teachers, registered a 26 to 7 win. The Mustangs, favored this year with an excellent aggregation of sophomores, should have their traditional serial fireworks and razzle-dazzle type of football working to perfection when they come up against the Hardin-Simmons eleven.

Tickets for the game will be on sale in San Antonio at the Municipal Auditorium, Kress Drug, Potchepicki's and Tankersley's, until 6 p. m. Saturday, at which time all remaining tickets will go on sale at the Alamo Stadium box office. Reserved seats are $2.50 and $1.65. General admission seats to civilians are $1.10, and to members of the armed forces, 50 cents.

The famed 100 piece Hardin-Simmons Cowboy Band will be on hand to lend added color to the game. Accompanying the band will be twenty-five Cowgirls and their six beautifully trained white horses to provide between halves entertainment.

The Tax Assessors office reports that valuations for 1942 were increased [illegible] last year. Valuations this year totaled $13,-028,280 while last year they were $12,956,297.30.

FOR COLUMBUS DAY

On October 12 the nation remembers the man who first revealed America to the world. For countless centuries our wonderful land, with all its rich possibilities, was hidden to the world. A dark curtain of mystery veiled it from The other countries of the few people even dreamed such a place existed.

Then came this great discoverer, and reached the conclusion through his voyages and studies that beyond those seemingly impenetrable distances and ocean spaces there lay an unknown land. With dauntless heroism he staked his belief against the judgment of the whole world of his time.

His faith was rewarded by the most astonishing discovery of history. From that time the current of world life changed. The new land made possible grand new opportunities; the country which his discovery made possible has filled our lives with blessings. We should never forget the man who first lifted this veil.

THE SOLDIER'S WORRY

The many letters from young men serving in the armed forces are giving a good picture of the soldier mind. Apparently the thing that gives the most anxiety to the men of the army, navy, and air force, is not the peril they may have to meet in the line of service. And it is not whatever hardship, discomfort, or distress they are having to take as part of their service. The thing that troubles most is how the folks at home are going to take it. They worry because they can read between the lines of the letters how much that the parents or the wife is anxious and disturbed.

The more anxiety the home folks show, the harder it becomes for the soldier. He can't get the thought out of his mind or the people at home, who live under this constant shadow of fear.

The letters from the boys seem to show that they take the dangers of their service in a very philosophical way. It would appear that they rarely talk about the experiences they are likely to meet, or the sufferings they may have to undergo. Apparently they talk mostly about their own personal experiences, the labors and enjoyments of their home town, their friends at home and the things they have done in their various jobs.

They seem to take a very normal view of their military service. They take it as a matter of course that they have certain duties, and that they are going to do their best to cut those duties down.

It is up to the folks at home not to add to their anxieties by any hint of cheerful letters. Let the home folks make light of their own fears and tell the home town news and all the little doings of their existence. In that way the boy far from home will feel that life is going well back there, and he can face the future without apprehension.

GETTING COOPERATION

Very many good ideas and excellent projects fail of success because the originators of these plans fail to get cooperation. They point out this or that useful thing that could be done in their home town that would benefit everybody. Frequently they meet only with indifference and inertia, and they can't get people to take hold with them and accomplish these results.

To promote home town progress, it is necessary to get cooperation. People should be willing to go to meetings, serve on committees, solicit support, and persuade the general public to help. There are plenty of people who have good ideas for home town progress. If they could get the public to support these ideas, if they could secure the aid of those who would help do the work on these programs, they could make many gains for their local community.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

The man who talks in a very low voice may not convince many folks, if they can't hear what he says. Business concerns also need to use the clear voice of advertising to impress themselves on the people.

If the dam that holds the water in the reservoir is full of leaks, there is a great loss of power in that water. It is the same with the town where a lot of money leaks out, spent in purchases away from home. A good part of the business power of that community is lost.

HOW TO WARD OFF COLDS CONTROL COLDS

With the advent of fall and colds becoming prevelent, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, has issued the following directions as to ways by which those seasonal illnesses may be warded off, or at least may be gotten under control before they do any great damage.

Keep as fit as possible. Dress according to the weather, indoors and out of doors. Put on a heavier suit when a cold snap comes. Use a raincoat, overshoes and umbrella on rainy days. Change as quickly, as possible, into dry clothes if you are caught in a drenching downpour.

With a shortage of fuel facing all of us, our homes are going to be cooler than usual during the early fall months. Look up your supply of sweaters and have them ready for use on these first chilly days. Get out some other heavy clothing and warm bed coverings at the same time.

Eat plenty of simple nourishing food. Eat regular meals at regular hours. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise out of doors, every day. Get the necessary amount of rest.

If you are caught in the cluthes of a cold, unawares, don't treat it lightly. It may turn into something more serious if neglected. The quickest way to get over a cold, or to bring it under control, is to go to bed, keep warm, eat lightly, drink plenty of water and fruit juices, and at the slightest sign of fever, send for your doctor and stay in bed until he feels that it is safe for you to get up and get out again.

And remember, colds are very contagious. Cold-spreading germs are scattered far and wide whenever the victim of a cold coughs or sneezes. They are likely to be found on anything the victim touches. If you are the victim, keep your germs to yourself. Have your own towels and wash cloths, your own drinking glass and dishes—and be sure that they are adequately sterilized with hot —very hot—water and soap after you have used them. Keep well supplied with paper handkerchiefs; dispose of them promptly after they have been used.

EMPLOYMENT CUTS COMMODITY ROLLS

Cuts in Texas farm commodity rolls have been cut over 19 per cent this year, J. S. Murchison, executive vice president and president of Public Welfare, announced today. During August 1941 with 201 persons were receiving rolls of commodities as compared with 53,478 families receiving the benefits of the program during August, 1942.

Murchison pointed out the drastic cut was attributed to persons finding work on Texas farms and in defense industries. Commodity rolls are now mainly confined to families who are unable to secure employment because of physical handicaps.

Food purchased by the United States Department of Agriculture under the price stabilizing program is donated to the States. The food is redistributed through two outlets: the commodity distribution program and the community school lunch program. Both programs are operated by the state as one unit.

"Texas farmers are doing a magnificent job under the Food for Freedom' campaign. Production goals this year will reach a new high. The commodity school lunch and commodity distribution programs are part of our Government's 'all out' food requirements program. These programs assure the government and Texas farmers a steady and continuous outlet for this record food crop. In this way we would be assured that waste precious food, the school lunch and commodity distribution programs see that food is not wasted," Murchison explained.

The business concern that shows "push" and enterprise is likely to be successful. So a town needs to be constantly pushing for new development.

An Irish soldier on duty in Egypt received a letter from his wife saying that wasn't an absolutely man, left, and she was going to do the garden herself.

Pat wrote at the beginning of his next letter: "Bridget, please don't do the garden; that's where the guns are."

The letter was duly censored, and in a short time a merry-load of men in khaki arrived at Pat's house and dug up the garden from end to end.

Bridget wrote to Pat in desperation, saying she didn't know what to do, as the soldiers had got the garden dug up, every bit of it.

Pat's reply was short and to the point: "Put in the spuds."

First Draftee: You know, I feel like I'd like to punch that hard-boiled sergeant in the nose again.

Second Draftee: Again?

First Draftee: Yes, I felt like it yesterday!

Herbert: Well, Art, I can tell you're a married man, all right. No hole in your sock any more.

Arthur; No. One of the first things my wife taught me was how to darn 'em.

THE FOOTBALL EXPERIENCE

It is remarked, frequently, that on the football field helps make a young man a good soldier. The football field is one of prominent contention. It calls for ability to stand hard knocks. A good football player has no self-control him. Anyone who has faced a line-up of husky players should be full of vigor in soldier life.

Many parents have hesitated to let their boys play football, feeling it was too hard and rough a game. Educators have generally felt that the sport has value in developing human character. So they have allowed football to be a great source of interest in the student program. The hearts of millions of youth are stirred by the emotions and rivalries of the game.

When you see the determination with which those football giants push their way through a strong line-up, you will feel they have growing up to be men who will make their way through many obstacles. It is a power that will make itself felt on the battlefield, or in the stress and strain of ordinary civilian life.

The ability to take hard knocks of a physical nature gives a man endurance, so that he should stand better the troubles and disappointments of his working experience.

What would the youth of America do if it was suddenly decided that football should be abolished? Perhaps some boys who have been devoting too many hours of thought and practice to football would study a little better. Some fellows would not use the time so well, and might find a substitute in undesirable occupations. Young life is full of bursting energy and desire to do large things. Football gives a great outlet for these longings, and the educators will say it does the boys good to work off their steam in this way.

The English are chuckling over a "Last Will and Testament" of Hitler. Here's a taster: "I give and bequeath all of my German people who believe in me to the Dumb People's League. I return my mustache to Charles Chaplin from whom I annexed it. On my death I proclaim the annexation of Hades which I had tried to give to my German people."

Customer: These cigars seem shorter than they used to be.

A portly woman had, by mistake, taken a seat in a railway coach reserved for smokers. With unconcealed indignation she saw the man next to her fill his pipe.

"Sir," she said in frigid tones, "smoking always makes me ill."

They Met the Enemy—and He Was Theirs

Up to the time this picture was made, U. S. Flying Fortresses had made 100 daylight raids on Europe without the loss of a plane. This one was attacked by a flock of German Focke-Wulf 190's while returning from an assignment. A cannon shell hit the ship, killing the co-pilot. Two of the engines were put out of action, but the ship came home safely. Crew members here examine the rear turret.

Hitler's visit to the German lunatic asylum. All the inmates lined up and, as soon as the Dictator appeared, stood smartly to attention and gave the Nazi salute. All, that is, except one man at the end of the line. "Hi!" screamed Adolf. "Why aren't you saluting?"

"Don't be silly!" said the man. "I'm one of the guards here, not one of the inmates."

Nazis Cross River in Embattled Russia

This picture and caption are from a German source and were copied from a German publication which was received in the United States through a neutral country. Grim and unhappy German soldiers are shown stepping from a rubber boat, wearing raincoats and carrying shovels and guns, about to establish a Russian bridgehead. Meanwhile, the Russian defenders of Stalingrad in one of the greatest battles of history had fought valiantly in the rubble-filled streets of the Volga city to stave off the German offensive.

LIONS CLUB NEWS

The Bandera Lions Club, meeting in regular session last Thursday night, Oct. 9, heard Capt. Joe E. Grammler, Co. Commander of "B" Company, Texas Defense Guard, on the subject of organizing a unit of the Guard in Bandera. Capt. Grammler explained the procedure and method of organizing a company, and the subject was discussed at length among the more than 20 members present.

At the close of the discussion, a committee of three was appointed by the Chairman, with directions to contact the citizens of Bandera about this matter and get their reaction to such organization. The committee was directed to report back at the next meeting, which will be Thursday, Oct. 16, 1942.

It was explained that no single club, group, or body could sponsor this Texas Defense Guard unit in our town. It must be undertaken by the many citizens, with the cooperation of the clubs or groups that may be organized. This takes in the Lions Club, the American Legion, the Chamber of Commerce, the Rotarians, or others that are present, if they would have the approval of the several county officials. It must also be known that there is financial backing to the extent of $1,000. This amount can be raised by public subscription, or by the individual citizens and the business establishments of the community.

A company must have an enlistment of at least 65 men. They will be limited to the ages of 17 and 65. Of this number, 12 will act as supervisory positions. Drill will be held once a week.

At the meeting, as a starter for this movement, more than $200 was subscribed by the members. About 21 of the members signified their intentions of joining or remaining in the unit in the event it was organized.

It is sincerely hoped that every person in this community will get behind this movement and cooperate to their fullest to help get the unit properly organized. The need for it is apparent. You will probably be contacted by some person interested in this work asking for your opinion. Will you help?

ABSENTEE VOTES BEGAN YESTERDAY

Absentee voting for the general election on Nov. 3 began yesterday and will close Oct. 31st. A sample ballot is printed on page three. In order to conserve space only the wording of the two amendments to be voted on is used. In the Democratic column will be found the names of candidates for county and precinct offices and in the sample all four precinct offices are shown. On the official ballot only the names applying to that precinct will appear. We hope that all voters read the amendments when they were printed in August so that they will know how to vote on them. We believe that only one amendment warrants an affirmative vote and that is the second to pay for the building at John Tarleton College.

ABOUSING THE VOTERS

An election is to be held all over the country on November 3, and members of congress and state officials will be elected. Political committees are organizing to arouse the voters. Soon the country will be heard in countless meeting places, and various speakers will fill the air with eloquence. While national unity is specially desirable now, the right to vote is one most cherished American privilege. If we value that right we should exercise it.

If there was no system of political organization, and no general program for arousing the voters, a good part of them, perhaps the majority, would stay away from the polls on election day. It seems to take a great upsurge of political excitement and a host of orators and vast amounts of printed matter, to get the multitudes of argument by the printed word, to arouse the American people, and stir the apathetic enough to induce them to go to the polls and vote.

The people are all partners in a great business organization, the purpose of which is to provide for the national defense, and manage the financial operations of the government.

If people are partners in a business echoern in their home town, and are greatly affected by the way that company is managed, they may individually be invited to come out to the meetings where the managers are chosen. They may hear that many cases that if they absent themselves mistakes may be made which will affect them under the law unprofitable.

It could be wished that the whole American people would feel equally keenly the importance of electing the best people to public office, and that they would go to the polls and exercise their best judgment without any great system of organization to stir them to action. A great distribution of the names and record of the candidates, should then be enough to drive out a full vote.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Young people often ask how they can make money. The answer is, to render some service or a good to others. The world will make something that the world wants and do that under a little better than competitors.

If you fear some friend criticized and blasted, you will probably speak warmly in defense of that friend. So if you hear your home town criticised and blamed, your friendship for that community will should lead you to speak enthusiastically in its defense.

The school children of Bandera joined children all over the Nation in the scrap drive and were dismissed last Monday afternoon from 2 to 4 to make a house of house canvass. They brought in a surprising amount of scrap and while we have no figures on the amount it is considerable.

From where I sit

HAPPENED to me only yesterday. I was on the starter of my car. I step on the starter of my car. Engine turns over O. K. but she won't start.

So I look under the hood just as if I know what's the matter. Top a few things with a wrench. While I'm standin' there, wondering what to do next, a young soldier steps along and—

"Need some help?" he asks.

"Get her almost fixed," I says. "But still she won't start."

"Looks like your carburetor's loaded," he says. "Got a screw driver handy?"

That young soldier knew what he was doin' all right. Went to work just like a professional.

"She'll do O.K. now," he says, straightenin' up and smilin'.

Boy's face looked sort of familiar. And around that soldier's young Charlie Jenkins from Elm Street. Used to be a round-faced kid—one of those jitterbugs you hear about. Say! You wouldn't know him after six months, in the Army. Fifteen pounds heavier—straight and real sure of himself. Army's done a lot for him. Made a man out of him. I guess that goes for lots of young fellows, too.

The other day I read in the papers where a soldier was "havin' a glass of beer" with them. Well, after some of the stuff I don't think there's much people to fret.

Just like Charlie says, you can trust us with guns and tanks, I guess you can us with a glass of beer once in a while, if we happen to want it.

And I know the boys in co-operating with the Army-Navy-Government effort that beer is sold in pretty decent places.

From where I sit, this beer issue's a fuss over nothing. Our boys have behaved lot of men that are in uniform today . . . Tra-la-la-la . . . Oh, I'm just a-singin' 'em!

by Joe Marsh

HAPPENED in me only yesterday. Stop on the starter of my car. Engine turns over O. K. but she won't start.

So I look under the hood just as if I know what's the matter. Tap a few things with a wrench. While I'm standin' there, wondering what to do next, a young soldier steps up and—

"Need some help?" he asks.

"Got her almost fixed," I says. "But still she won't start."

"Looks like your carburetor's flooded," he says. "Got a screw loose handy?"

That young soldier knew what he was doin' all right. Went to work just like a professional.

"She'll do O.K. now," he says, straightenin' up and smilin'.

He's face looked out-of familiar. And darned if that soldier wasn't young Charlie Jenkins from Elm Street. Used to be a round-shouldered kid—one of those jitter bugs you hear about. Say! You wouldn't know him after six months in the Army. Fifteen pounds heavier—straight and real sure of himself. Army's done a lot for Made a man out of him, I guess that goes for lots young fellows, too.

The other day I read folks worry about the sayin' a glass of beer then: Well, after seein don't think there's much people to fret.

Just like Charlie says trust in with you and tasks. I guess you with a glass of beer while, if we happen to

And I know the boy is co-operating with the in uniform today . . . I'm about 'em.

130 Years Old, but Joins Scrap

Rejoycemtion is in store for these cannon, which last saw service in 1812. The antiquated cannon, part of a ship's ballast, have already been turned into the scrap heap and they may see action once again as barrels of new machine or anti-aircraft guns. The ancient guns were found in the hold of a wreck in Brooklyn.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL MEETING HELD MONDAY

A meeting was held at the Library Auditorium on Monday night to discuss plans for the emergency hospital. It was decided to use the auditorium and by storing the cots, etc. in the downstairs room the auditorium will be available for public meetings as before until such time as it becomes imperative to use it. Mrs. E. Short was appointed chairman of supplies.

The question was raised as to whether Bandera people were patriotic as their were only a few present at this important meeting. It is hoped that it will never be necessary to use the auditorium as a hospital but when and if that occasion arises it will take the combined work of all citizens to care for the wounded or sick.

Plans were discussed to raise money for the project and it was decided to hold a "Womanless Wedding" on Nov 7. Watch for further details and a meeting will be called. You will enjoy it and all be having a worthy cause.

All those who have parts in the Womanless Wedding are requested to meet at the Auditorium next Saturday at 8:30 p. m. for rehearsal.

Let's Do It Again!

When people make up their minds to support that which they believe is right, and show that belief by votes and vote, they can overcome any force that sets out to ignore or override their wishes.

We conducted a write-in campaign in July to find out what the good citizens of this county thought in regard to conditions as they now stand. From this campaign we find that a great part of you favored a change in law enforcement methods in this county. We appreciated the vote of confidence you gave us in our efforts to better conditions so that we might be able to have the disgrace of all "Army Ban" lifted from us. This "Ban" is still in force and is likely to remain so until the citizens of this county change it by vote. Our streets are still being patrolled by military police.

We are asking you again to go to the polls and declare your intentions by supporting a man each and everyone of you know to be an upright, law abiding citizen, fair and honest in his treatment of his fellowman, and always eager to work for the upbuilding of his county. Write in the name of O. O. ADAMS.

We thank you.

BANDERA BULLDOGS TIED BOERNE 18 TO 13

The Bandera Bullogs are yet undefeated, untied and unscored on dogs gave them a hard time last Friday night. After battling the game the score stood at 13 to 13 deadlock. Since if was not a conference game, yardage, downs and penetrations did not count, but it would have been close on that basis. It was interesting to note that Boerne got her 13 points in the first few minutes of the first quarter, and Bandera netted in the first few minutes of the third quarter. Davis and Newton scored for Bandera; Chisham scored for Bandera.

Starting for Bandera were: ends, Berg and Jorgensen; tackles, J. Anderwald and Mazurek; guards, Dugger and Hay; center, Leonard Edwards. Backs, G. Anderwald, Callahan, Bates and Davis. Ends, Edwards, Hillman and Manning also saw service.

The next game is tomorrow (Friday) night with Pleasanton at Pleasanton. This is a non-conference game and everyone of you know to be more home games, Nov. 13 and Nov. 20 with Edgewood and Center Point.

Following is the schedule for the remainder of the season.

Oct. 30—Poteet at Poteet.
Nov. 6—Tentative with T. M. I. Nov. 13—Edgewood at Bandera.
Nov. 20—Center Point at Bandera.
Nov. 25—Boerne at Boerne.

The secretary called the roll and each member present answered with something she would like to can in the year book for next year. Business was then discussed, and it was decided to have the Mason Club party around the first of December. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Hajek who gave very useful instructions on first aid. After delicious refreshments were served, the club adjourned to meet Nov. 2nd at 9:30 in the home of Mrs. Hoy Causey.

SCHOOLS TO REPORT AMOUNT OF SCRAP TO WAR PUB

All schools in the county are requested to report the amount collected during the drive to County Superintendent, J. B. Hays as soon as possible. This is necessary as the schools are requested to send in his report by Nov. 1st. The school children have been doing a fine job in the scrap drive and if these reports are sent in promptly Bandera County should have a good report.

Blick Jones, who is stationed at Patterson Field, Fairfield, Ohio, is spending a 7-day furlough with relatives and friends here.

Misses Lois Estelle Billings and Ouida Lee Hooker visited their homefolks over the week-end.

Truck Registration Starts This Week

Almost all owners of pickups and farm trucks have received registration questionaires from the Office of Defense Transportation this week. Through the State USDA War Board, 6 County Defense Transportation Committee has been set up and is now functioning, according to H. P. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent, and will be ready to assist farmers and ranchmen in filling out the questionnaires.

The questionaires are exceedingly difficult to fill out and few ranchmen will be able to fill out their own questionaires, Schlemmer said, so arrangements have been made, at the direction of the War Board, to assist in this registration. The following committeemen members and other volunteers will assist at the places listed:

Precinct 3—at Stokes Store, K. Henry Stokes—John Fee and others.

Precinct 1—at County Agent's office, W. B. Joiner, J. B. Masters, Harold Hayes and others.

It was pointed out by the County Agent that Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, Oct. 22nd, 23rd, 24th, have been designated as truck registration days by the committee and that farmers will not be allowed to complete the registration on those days. The questionaires must be sent in as soon as possible so that a certificate of necessity may be issued to each owner of a truck. After Nov. 15th owners of trucks will not be allowed to buy gasoline for trucks unless the "certificate" is presented at the time of purchase. Nov. 15th will be designated by the Transportation committee announced yesterday that farm trucks would be the first to be registered.

Mr. Schott also pointed out that recipients of the questionnaires should be careful not to make erasures on the questionaires nor make changes in any way, as each one is serially numbered and must be accounted for. Those who do not get questionaires for registration should apply immediately to the committee for further instructions, so that their certificate will not be delayed.

Total number of trucks to be registered in the county is more than 340, and it is estimated that two hours work will be required to fill out each questionnaire.

EMERGENCY HOSPITAL MEETING HELD MONDAY

A meeting was held at the Library Auditorium Monday night to discuss plans for the emergency hospital. It was decided to use the auditorium and by storing the cots, etc. in the downstairs room the auditorium will be available for public meetings as before until such time as it becomes necessitative to use it. Mrs. L. E. Short was appointed chairman of supplies.

The question was raised as to whether Bandera people were patriotic as there were only a few present at this important meeting. It is hoped that it will never be necessary to use the auditorium as a hospital but when and if that occasion arises it, will take the combined work of all citizens to care for the wounded; if not change it by vote. Our streets are still being patrolled by military police.

We are asking you again to go to the polls and declare your intentions by supporting a man each and everyone of you know to be an upright, law abiding citizen, fair and honest in his treatment of his fellowman, and always eager to work for the upbuilding of his county. Let's Do It Again!

When people make up their minds to support that which they believe is right, and show that belief by voice and vote, they can overcome any force that sets out to ignore or override their wishes.

We conducted a written campaign in July to find out what the good citizens of this county thought in regard to conditions as they now stand. From this campaign we find that a great part of you favored a change in law enforcement methods in this county. We appreciated the vote of confidence you gave us in our efforts to better conditions so that we might be able to have the disgrace of all "Army Bars" lifted from us. This "Ban" is still in force and is likely to remain so, to care for the wounded; it can change it by vote. Our streets are still being patrolled by military police.

We are asking you again to go to the polls and declare your intentions by supporting a man each and everyone of you know to be an upright, law abiding citizen, fair and honest in his treatment of his fellowman, and always eager to work for the upbuilding of his county. Write in the name of O. O. ADAMS.

BANDERA BULLDOGS TIED BOERNE 12 TO 13

The Bandera Bulldogs are yet undefeated, but the Boerne Bulldogs gave them a hard time last Friday night. After battling the game the score ended a 13 to 13 deadlock. Since it was not a conference game, yardage, downs and penetrations did not count, but it would have been close on that basis. It was interesting to note that Boerne got her 13 points in the first few minutes of the first quarter, and Bandera repeated in the first few minutes of the third quarter. Davis and Newton scored for Boerne; Callahan scored for Bandera.

Starting for Bandera were: ends, Berg and Jergesen; tackles, Underwald and Magurski; guards, Dugosh and Hay; center, Leonard Edwards; backs, G. Underwald, Callahan, Estes and Martin. Boyle, Lonnie Edwards, Hillman and Manning also saw service.

The next game is tomorrow (Friday) night with Pleasanton at Pleasanton. This is a non-conference game. They have two more home games, Nov. 13 and Nov. 20 with Edgewood and Center Point.

Following is the schedule for the remainder of the season.

Oct. 30—Poteet at Poteet.
Nov. 6—Tentative with T. M. I.
Nov. 13—Edgewood at Bandera.
Nov. 20—Center Point at Bandera.
Nov. 25—Boerne at Boerne.

Business was then discussed, and it was decided to have the Christmas Club party around the first of December. The meeting was then turned over to Miss Hajek who gave very useful instructions on first aid. After delicious refreshments were served, the club adjourned to meet Nov. 2nd at 2:30 in the home of Mrs. Bud Causey.

SCHOOLS TO REPORT AMOUNT OF SCRAP TO JUDGE A. V. PUE

All schools in the county are requested to report the amount of scrap gathered in the drive to County Superintendent A. V. Pue as soon as possible. This is necessary as Mr. Pue has been requested to send in his report by Nov. 1st. The school children have done a good job in their scrap drive and if these reports are sent in promptly Bandera County should have a good report.

Slick Jones, who is stationed at Patterson Field, Fairfield, Ohio, is spending a 7-day furlough with relatives and friends here.

Misses Lois Estelle Billings and Onella Adams of Hondo visited homefolks over the week-end.

Truck Registration Starts This Week

Almost all owners of pickups and farm trucks have received registration questionnaires from the Office of Defense Transportation this week. Through the State USDA War Board, a County Defense Transportation Committee has been set up and is now functioning, according to H. F. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent, and will be ready to assist farmers and ranchmen in filling out the questionnaires.

The questionnaires are exceedingly difficult to fill out and few ranchmen will be able to fill out their own questionnaires, Schlemmer said, so arrangements have been made, at the direction of the War Board, to assist in this registration. The following committee members and other volunteers will assist at the places listed:

Precinct 5—at Stokes Store, K. Henry Stokes, John Fee and others.

Precinct 1—at County Agent's office, W. B. Jones, F. A. Masters, Harold Hayes and others.

Precinct 2—at Schott's Store, A. H. Schott, Walter Skinner, W. V. Gross and others.

Precinct 4—Leighton's Store, J. J. Leighton, J. V. Porter and others.

It was pointed out by the County Agent that Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week, Oct. 22nd, 23rd and 24th, have been designated as truck registration days by the committee and that every effort will be made to complete the registration on those days. The questionnaires must be sent in as soon as possible, so that a certificate of necessity may be issued to the owner of the truck. After Nov. 15th owners of trucks will not be allowed to buy gasoline, tires, nor repair parts for trucks unless the certificate is presented at the time of purchase.

Mr. A. H. Schott, chairman of the Transportation committee announced yesterday that farm trailers need not be registered.

Mr. Schott also pointed out that recipients of the questionnaires should be very careful not to make erasures on the questionnaires nor deface them in any way, as each one is carefully numbered and must be accounted for. Those who do not get questionnaires for registration should apply immediately to the committee for further instructions, so that their certificate will not be delayed.

Total number of trucks to be registered in the county is more than 340, and it is estimated that two hours work will be required to fill out each questionnaire.

THE GOOD SOLDIER

What qualities are most essential to make a good soldier? It would seem that the qualities that make a man a good athlete will go a long way.

The football player, for instance, has to have the power of very quick and alert thought. When he starts to run with the ball, he will have a certain path in mind as the best one to follow. But when an opposing player suddenly turns up in the space where he meant to go, his mind registers that fact with the speed of lightning. His quick co-ordination of mind and body instantaneously changes his course, and he runs in a less difficult direction. Naturally the quality would be of tremendous value in any battle where the enemy makes sudden and unexpected moves.

The success or failure of an athletic team depends partly on the spirit and courage of its players. If they get their heads down and feel they can't defeat some dreaded opponent, they probably won't beat it.

One or two men with a spleen did courage may transform the feeling of the whole team. They tell the boys they can win, that they are better than these opponents, and their confidence is communicated to the whole team. One can't doubt that the same situation exists on battlefronts. And that a few men of dauntless resolution can infect a whole company with their will to win.

The intelligence of American young men with marbles will be a help to them. The countless youths who have become skilful by handling automobiles will be some of that skill carrying over into the management of the machines of war. One boy says he is sure he would make a good tank driver, as he has been driving an automobile in his old car that no tank could be any worse.

The American boys have a grand advantage in the coming test of strength, in the training they have given them, and their experience with mechanical problems.

ATTACK ON THE TRUTH

One reason why the American people appear determined to fight the present war is because they feel that no treaty made with the present Axis governments is worth anything whatever. It is generally believed in this country that any treaty so made would be violated by those governments, whenever they felt a desire to break it.

Here is an astonishingly open and unconcealed attempt to destroy the power of truth in human relations. Nations have often violated their treaties, and the governments that have won popular support have usually felt it necessary to adhere to their agreements fairly well. They felt that a government that violated its treaties would be regarded with such distrust and fear, that it would be the loser by such violations.

The whole system of civilized society is built on regard for truth. If people can't be trusted to adhere to their agreements, the world degenerates into a kind of chaos. Our ordinary life is built on the regard for truth. Men and women get married because they believe their wedded mates will keep their agreements. People enter into business deals and invest money in securities because they have confidence in the agreements that such actions on the part of individuals show some decent regard for agreements and treaties.

The American people are fighting today very largely to teach the violators of international agreements that such attacks on truth do not prove profitable.

DON'T ever argue with Grandma Hoskins about American history unless you know what you're talking about. Because when Grandma states a fact, it really is a fact.

The other day we got to talking about George Washington — who besides being a great general, was also a surveyor, a successful farmer, and a wise statesman.

"And he made mighty good beer, too," says Grandma.

Then came problems. Seventeen dark years that followed the crime. Grandma says there was something thought-provoking about George Washington that those other early Americans knew all along — that law ever takes the place of restraint and moderation.

That's why they were so beer and made moderation the cornerstone of American life. They were right about things — Washington, Jefferson and Penn. And from what they certainly were right about moderation, too.

DRY KEIFFER PEARS

(Sylvia Ann Hajek, C. H. D. A. Bandera County Extension)

Kieffer pears, now abundant are suitable for drying.

Pears that are going to be dried should finish ripening off the tree for at least 10 days to two weeks. Pick when ripe, clean it in a pan, cool, dark well-ventilated place. When the pears are ripe, remove from the trees and wash them them. The smaller the piece the more quickly it dries. The thicker the piece, the more food value, flavor, and texture are conserved. Then remove the core and blossom end to the center of the pear.

The next step is to sulphur the fruit. This helps to preserve the fruit over a longer period, helps prevent discoloring with fermenting, kills insects away, and speeds up the drying process.

Here is the drying process. Cut. Do it out of doors. Place one teaspoon of sulphur per pound of prepared fruit into a thickness of paper, roll it loosely, and twist the ends. Then place it in a pan. Place the pan in the tray or trays of cut fruit so they will not come in contact with burning sulphur. Cover the pan. Then quickly place a tight box or barrel over the trays and the pan. The smoking should be tight enough to prevent loss of fumes. Sulphur for 2 pears for three hours. A home-made stove dryer is best for dehydrating pears, since the temperature can be controlled. The process should be started at 130 degrees F and finished at 175 degrees F. Pears should be dried until they are rubbery or clastic, but not sticky. They should be of light and brittle. Twenty-five pounds of fresh pears will yield from 3½ to 6 pounds of dried fruit.

Grace: I don't see Charlie nearly as much as I used to.

Mary: Well, you should have married him when he wanted you to.

Grace: I did.

SPOTS OF ROMANCE

What are the most dangerous spots? A cynical friend in Paris answers: "Any spot in Paris, any spot in Pop's day, and for that matter, Grandpop's, longer spots where the most frequently got engaged and married.

Darkness seems to lend magic, and every Paris park is more deeply tangled than a friend when they met in the Bois de Boulogne. Many a Parisian has married the girl he met in the Bois and married him. If he had that courtship lady and a bright daylight, it is very best thing to do. But if he met her in the infamous moonlight and darkness of the question when he intended to do so before, he is too hasty. It might be to decide and the tremendous questions in plain daylight.

FISHER APPOINTED HILL AS SECRETARY

San Angelo, Oct. 8.—Preparing to assume duties as 21st district congressman the first of the year, Rep.-Elect O. C. Fisher of San Angelo today announced appointment of Grady Hill, managing editor of the San Angelo Standard as his secretary.

Hill, a native of Christoval, attended the University of Texas and joined the Statesman staff in 1929. He specialized in interpretive writing on agriculture, industries, and governmental and public service news.

"He knows West Texas and its industries—wool and mohair, for example—" Fisher said.

Rep.-Elect Fisher, assured of election as Texas' only new congressman defeating an incumbent in the summer primaries when Rep. Charles L. South of Coleman withdrew from the runoff, plans to go to Washington about the middle of December.

"Well, Donald," said the latter, "Are ye goin' to have a new paper?"

"Na, na," replied Donald, "Ah'm moving."

Son: But, mom, Shakespeare used them.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To: Bert Coleman, whose residence is unknown, and Sam Coleman, whose residence is unknown.

Greeting: You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's First Amended Original petition at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation, the same being Monday the 23rd day of November, A. D., 1942, at or before 10 o'clock A. M. before the Honorable District Court of Bandera County, at the Court House in Bandera, Texas.

Said plaintiff's First Amended Original petition was filed on the 9th day of February, 1942. (Plaintiff's original petition having been filed on December 31, 1941), the file number of said suit being No. 1255 and styled The First National Bank of Bandera vs Bert Coleman et al. The names of the parties in said suit are:

The First National Bank of Bandera, Texas as Plaintiff, and Bert Coleman, R. R. Coleman, Jesse National Bank, Erwin Woerner, Minnie Bauerlein, T. J. Bauerlein, H. R. Bauerlein, Bert Coleman, Jr. and Sam Coleman as Defendants. The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit:

Suit for debt as evidenced by the hereinafter described note and for foreclosure of chattel mortgage lien and for judgment against Defendant Erwin Woerner for damages for conversion of certain wool, and asking that receivership be continued.

Plaintiff alleges that on or about the 15th day of October, 1941, Defendant Bert Coleman executed and delivered to Plaintiff a note, payable to the order of Plaintiff, dated October 18th, 1941, and due according to its terms on April 18, 1942, in the principal sum of Sixteen Hundred Twenty-five and 45/100 Dollars ($1625.00), with interest from maturity at the rate of 10% per annum; said note being payable at the office of Plaintiff in Bandera County, Texas, and at the same time, said Bert Coleman, to secure the payment of said note, executed a chattel mortgage, a copy of which is attached to Plaintiff's said petition, dated October 18, 1941, conveying to Plaintiff, its successors and assigns, certain personal property then located and situated in the Counties of Bandera and Kerr, Texas; said property being described in said mortgage as follows:

"The following described personal property, now located and situated in the County of Bandera, State of Texas, to-wit:—My entire flock of sheep, numbering 450 or more, with the wool and increase from same. Some of these sheep bought from John McHaney, some from Terry Stokes, some from Mrs. Minnie Bauerlein, and some I brought to this County when I came here. There are several different ear marks, crop and split each on the ear, being one of the main marks. Also my entire flock of 300 or more goats, with the wool and increase from said goats. About 100 of the goats bought from Mrs. M. Bauerlein, others I brought to this County. Some marked crop left, swallowfork right and various other marks. Branded Y Cross. Also a grey cow and 2 year old heifer, and 6 work and saddle horses. All located on my lease place about 8 miles from Medina, Texas, on Kerrville Road, together with all the increase of, from and to the above described property prior to the full payment of the indebtedness hereinafter referred to; also all other cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, and other live stock situated in said county afterward, now or that may thereafter be acquired by said Mortgagor, until this mortgage is released in full."

Plaintiff alleges that said chattel mortgage provides that it was given to secure the payment of the indebtedness described then or thereafter due and, owing to Plaintiff, whether evidenced by note, overdraft or otherwise, and all such indebtedness should bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum from date of accrual until paid, and that it recites and Defendant Bert Coleman stated, that he was the full owner of the above described property and had a right to mortgage the same and that said property was of the aggregate reasonable cash value of $3400.00. Plaintiff further alleges that said mortgage and note provides that in the event they were placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, an attorney's fee in addition to the principal and interest of the indebtedness remaining unpaid, should be paid by the mortgagor and that the Plaintiff placed the same in the hands of its attorneys and agreed to pay them said attorney's fees, for which said Defendant Bert Coleman became liable to pay, and that the value of the property covered by said mortgage is in excess of $1,000.00 and that on or about the 31st day of December, 1941, the Defendant Bert Coleman, without the knowledge or consent of the Plaintiff, began and attempted to remove the property described in said mortgage from the place where it was located, and did in fact remove a portion of the same from such premises and from said Kerr and Bandera Counties, and the agents of Plaintiff the property had been neglected and handled by Defendant Bert Coleman in such a manner as to impair the Plaintiff's security and render the Plaintiff insecure, and that by virtue thereof, as authorized by said mortgage, Plaintiff has declared all of the indebtedness above referred to immediately due and payable, but that said Defendant has failed and refused and still fails and refuses to pay said indebtedness; that said chattel mortgage was filed for record in the offices of the County Clerk of Bandera County, and the County Clerk of Kerr County, on November 15, 1941, and December 15, 1941, respectively. Plaintiff further alleges that the Defendants T. J. Bauerlein, The National Bank, Erwin Woerner, Minnie Bauerlein, T. J. Bauerlein, Bert Coleman, Jr., Sam Coleman and H. R. Bauerlein are claiming an interest in the above described property, the exact nature of which is unknown to Plaintiff but which interest is inferior to the lien of the Plaintiff and that the Defendant Erwin Woerner, at a time subsequent to the date Plaintiff's said mortgage was filed for record in Bandera County, and without the consent or knowledge of Plaintiff, purchased or attempted to purchase from Bert Coleman, 831 pounds of wool from the sheep covered by said mortgage, and that Defendant Erwin Woerner had failed and refused to deliver over said wool to the Plaintiff and has converted the same to his own use, and that the reasonable market value of the wool so converted, at the time of the conversion, was worth 32c a pound and was of the value of $265.92. Plaintiff further alleges that at the time said suit was filed the property described in said chattel mortgage, which was then in the possession of the Defendant Bert Coleman, was wholly insufficient to discharge the mortgage debt and was in danger of being removed and materially injured.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against the Defendant Bert Coleman for its debt, principal, interest and attorney's fees, and against all of the defendants for foreclosure of its chattel mortgage lien; for judgment against the Defendant Erwin Woerner for the sum of $265.92 as damages for the aforesaid conversion of the wool and that the Receiver continue to remain in possession of said property with the authority heretofore granted him by the Court until the further order of the court, and for such other and further relief, general or special, which Plaintiff may be entitled to in law or in equity, all as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's First Amended Original Petition on file in this cause.

This citation shall be served by the Sheriff or any Constable of any county of the State of Texas, by having the same published in a newspaper published in Bandera County, Texas, once each week for four (4) consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least twenty-eight (28) days before the return day of the citation, and said affidavit shall state the date, but make due return as the law directs.

Issued this the 9th day of October, 1942. Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Bandera, Texas, this the 9th day of October A. D., 1942.

FIREPROOF COTTON

MATERIALS—

College Station, Oct. 19.—Fireproofing clothing, curtains, and other household fabrics is quite simple.

Mrs. Beatrice Claylor, specialist in home improvement for the A. and M. College Extension Service, says the prevention-wise homemaker can fireproof any cotton fabrics which water will not damage. This is done by dipping them in a solution of borax and boric acid and water. It is necessary to re-dip the cloth whenever it is laundered, because the solution washes out.

"Make a solution of seven ounces of borax, three ounces of boric acid, and two quarts of hot water," the specialist directs. "Keep stirring it until the water looks clear. Then dip the article you want to fireproof into the solution just as if you were rinsing it in water. Wring it out, hang it up to dry, and press it the usual way with a warm iron."

Here is one caution the specialist offers. The cloth must be dry when it is dipped for otherwise the solution will be diluted and much less effective.

It is practical to fireproof such things as a man's work suit that is worn over the curtains for the kitchen, a cotton rug which lies in front of the living room fire, cloth for children's toys and even boards covers or cottonocaulaire, Mrs. Claylor says. She adds that it is also possible to fireproof many kinds of cloth such as upholstery and drapery of larger rugs by spraying the solution on them.

The sailor was recounting his experiences to a dear old lady when she interrupted him. "But what took did you hold?" she asked.

"Ship's optician, lady," was the reply.

"Ship's optician! I never knew there was such a rank in the navy."

"Scraping the eyes out of potatoes," was the sailor's reply.

BANDERA DEFEATED PLEASANTON 7 TO 6

The Bandera Bulldogs journeyed to Pleasanton last Friday and engaged the Eagles in a football game. The Eagles in the past have taken to the air, but this time they stayed on the ground. They had two fast backs that covered plenty of ground. During the first half the two teams deadlocked in a scoreless tie. Late in the third period Pleasanton gained the 19 yard line, and on a swift cutback went for a score, but failed to convert. Three minutes before the game was over Boyle grabbed a pass in the left flat and managed to elude tacklers and galloped for a score, Callahan plunging for the extra point. Two times before Bandera had failed to go over after having been close. At the end of the game they were in a few yards of another score.

Starting for Bandera were: ends Jergens and Berg; tackles, J. Anderwald and James; guards, Lonnie Edwards and Dugosh; center, Leonard Edwards; backs G. Anderwald, Callahan, Estes and Martin. Others seeing service were Manning, Manurek, Hoy, Boyle and Hillman. J. C. Dugosh was field captain.

Others making the trip were A. Anderwald, J. Anderwald, Goodenough, Kalka and Skinner. Friday we go to Poteet to engage them in a game which has no bearing on the district race.

Following is the schedule for the remainder of the season.

Nov. 6—Tentative with T. M. I.

Nov. 13—Edgewood at Bandera.

Nov. 20—Center Point at Bandera.

Nov. 25—Boerne at Boerne.

NEW FEATURE INAUGURATED AT BANTEX THEATRE

Next March Lowell's first issue, The F. B. I. Front, will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, commencing at 2:00 p. m. and feature "Jackass Mail" starring Wallace Beery and Marjorie Main. Also appearing in the new release of "March of Time." The F. B. I. Front, the Bantex Theatre will show four days instead of three weeks. This is in addition to the regular feature but the admission will be reduced to 10c and 25c at all days.

"The F. B. I. Front," is a well prepared documentation of the activities of the F. B. I. in rounding up fifth columnists, spies or other aliens who follow the Hitler line in this country. A German Bund leader, Fritz Kuhn, gets himself scrutinized by the F. B. I. and the Hoover men clamp down on the dastardly plans. Information on the whole gang. The F. B. I. let him operate for many weeks in the organization, with the kind of evidence that will put them away as enemy agents against the U. S. A. can be told dramatically in reinactment with emphasis on various methods assumed by the Nazi power organization. This is the kind of stuff that the American audiences want and will see at this time.

MILAGE RATIONING REGISTRATION NOV. 12, 13, 14

Registration for mileage rationing in Bandera County will be conducted on Nov. 12, 13 and 14, W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board announced that actual rationing of gasoline will begin Dec. 1.

"We have been advised that Washington expects to have the mileage rationing program by Nov. 7," Mr. Fletcher said, "but everyone should watch the newspapers for our announcement when these applications forms are available. We will try to see that it is as convenient as possible. Tire inspection stations where every passenger car owner can obtain an application form conveniently."

He said each motorist should fill out the form listing the serial number on each tire. Then on one of the registration days the motorist should present this application form at the school house and receive in return a book issued a basic "A" ration book for gasoline. Any motorist who is away from home on the registration day should register wherever he is on one of those three days—Nov. 12, 13 or 14.

School officials have been requested by the County War Price and Rationing Board to cooperate in the registration as was done in the sugar rationing registration recently.

Mr. Fletcher said the Board has not completed setting up a final mileage ration for filling applications and other matters which the mileage rationing program will involve.

"Those who feel they are entitled to a supplemental ration provided by the "B" or "C" books should obtain another application form for that at the time of registration where the "A" book is issued," Mr. Fletcher explained.

"Applications for a truck or passenger car owner must sell to the Government, before Nov. 12 all tires except the five tires on the car.

"That means," he explained, "that the car owner is allowed only the four tires mounted and one spare for the car. A registrar can not issue more than a basic rationing book for that car if he owns tires in excess of that number."

For that reason excess tires should be turned in before Nov. 12 to the Railway Express Agency which will tag the tire and the seller will receive a check for the tire purchased, if he chooses, the Government will pay him in War Stamps or War Bonds for the tires he turns in.

Commercial vehicles, trucks and farm trucks must obtain a Certificate of War Necessity from the Office of Defense Transportation before they are registered. Applications may be made with the local War Price and Rationing Board. Persons who have not received these application forms may get them at the County Agent's office. As soon as the form is received it should be mailed back to the Office in time for the applicant to receive a Certificate of War Necessity by Nov. 15 when it will become mandatory that every commercial vehicle and truck carry one of these certificates at all times.

WHY ALL SHOULD VOTE

Many folks have almost forgotten that there is an election this year, from present indications there will be a light vote. This will be unfortunate, as at all times the people should gather on election day, and express an intelligent opinion as to who shall manage the affairs of, and govern our government.

Partisan politics has largely dropped out of sight this year, which is a good idea. The thought of the people should be concentrated on winning the war and accomplishing the most for war production, and the support of our military forces and aid to our allies.

People should still hold intelligent opinions as to what candidates or what groups of people can do the most to bring about this victory. They should express those opinions at the polls.

Democratic government is based on the belief that the people will value the privilege of creating and selecting their own government, and will devote time and thought to it. If they fail to take this time and thought, it would seem as if one of the objectives of democratic government had failed.

The founders of the republic made great sacrifices to win and follow this privilege of free government on the people. Many of them gave up their lives in the effort to secure this sacred right. They would have disapproved of it if they could have foreseen that many people of this age would forget to vote, or fail to exercise that privilege.

If people want the best and most efficient government, they can't expect to get it if they stay at home on election day. If they will not take the trouble to vote, they are in no position to complain if mistakes are made by the government. If the war is prolonged, or the cost of it proves too burdensome.

SOMETHING TO THINK ABOUT

The Public condemns a soldier
When he takes a drink or two.
But does the soldier condemn you
When you have a dozen or two?
If you followed a soldier
Thru the days in training-camps;
The way he drills and marches
Would open up your lamps.
And nights out on the march
When the rain is falling down
Pup tents "aint" much shelter
But the morale can't let down.
The Government picks its soldiers
From the millions far and wide.
And the very troops that you sneer at
From the neighbors by your side.
When the soldier goes to battle
You cheer him on his way;
You say he is a hero
When in his grave he lays;
But the hardest battle ever
Is in the time of peace;
When the people mock and scorn him
And treat him like a beast.
And with these lines we close, sir,
We hope we don't offend.
But when you meet a soldier
Please treat him like a friend.

FOOD RETAILERS TO MAKE PRICE ADJUSTMENTS

Grocers and all merchants handling food at retail may now obtain a printed bulletin explaining how to apply the new Office of Price Administration formula for determining the new legal ceiling prices, according to W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board.

"Beginning Oct. 15," Mr. Fletcher explained, "all food retailers were allowed to apply this formula in pricing eleven groups of foods where present mark-ups may be abnormally low."

He added that the period for making adjustments under this new formula expires at midnight, Dec. 31, 1942, so it is important that all food merchants obtain copies of this Food Retailers Bulletin No. 2 by calling at the Bandera County War-Price and Rationing Board.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

Last Saturday night we were settlin' around Jeb Crowell's house, and from upstairs we hear the squawkin' of Crowell youngsters put up while their Ma was dunkin' 'em in soap and water. Causes Jeb to comment.

"Just shows how times change. Used to be a law here in Average that nobody could take a bath without a doctor's prescription!"

Then we got talking about the funny laws some people have put through in this country—like the state where they made it against the law to wake a man up if he's sleeping on the railroad tracks.

"Railroad law I once heard about," says Basil Strube, the stationmaster, "said when taxi-training meet at an intersection, neither can proceed until the other one has gone ahead."

"How could that be a law?" asks Pete Swanson. "That just don't make sense."

"Lots of laws don't make sense," says Jeb. "Why don't we let 'We's livin' in a land where most folks hold for tolerance, and yet it was only a few years ago that we had a law if you crossed the county line, you had to get a passport for that, if you did.

Well, he had a point. In America—where we have a right to have a beer or a store on sunday if we please, or even to go fishing without a doctor's prescription!—we do have a lot of laws that, on the face of it, don't make sense. Now that we've stopped to realize how people have passed a few laws like that, we see how they did.

From where I sit, I say that every right to have a glass of beer when we're thirsty, or quench his thirst with a drink. It's a drink of water, too. And most folks will tell you that don't drink laws are tolerant enough to respect the right of others.

I reckon Jeb was right when he said others might not see it that way in this country.

MORE ABOUT THE SHERIFF'S RACE

Let us review the facts of the situation since July 4, 1942 when a soldier in uniform was shot down in Bandera by a man who was then a deputy sheriff. Instead of speedy justice in form of arrest, charge filed, or hearing held in connection with this case, Bandera County has had no sheriff. Did our Sheriff do his duty? If not, why not until July 4th, four days later, when staff officers of the U. S. Army and a representative of the Texas Department of Public Safety came to our county that anyone knew about it.

We cannot believe that these facts are to be idly passed aside by the voters. By so doing it would seem to the outside world that we thoroughly approve such unpatriotic conduct. We know that the good citizens of this county will not ignore this point, but will demonstrate by their patriotism too plainly by going over the top in every War Bond drive, every scrap rubber and iron drive, every aluminum drive, and every drive to keep the United U. S.-O. We have a display of flags on our streets. We ARE and MUST be at all times patriotic in the eyes of the world under present conditions! We have had two War Bond drives and by Nov. 6th there will be 280 of our boys in service. Then on 30th day there will be another. Let these good and patriotic deeds be the one that stands out patriotic! Must our boys, when they come home on furlough, have to hide in this country? Must these boys how their heads in shame when they see the name Bandera? Let us say "Two tough towns on the West Coast and Bandera are the only ones on that list. Do you like that? Please forget business and money once and think of self-respect and soldiers in our armed forces.

A Wife: I see by this paper that in certain parts of India a wife can be bought for two dollars. Isn't that perfectly awful?

Husband: Well, I don't know! A good wife would be worth that.

TE! VOTE! VOTE!

You true, law-abiding citizens of Bandera County go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for O. O. Adams for Sheriff, and be sure to scratch out the name of W. H. Burns. If you do not scratch out his name, your vote will be known out. The people should no longer tolerate the abuse and mistreatment of citizens. We should awake to the fact that we are free and equal, and have a right to expect justice for all. Help us elect a fair-minded, law-abiding, native son, to the sheriff's office, and restore the good name of our county, and this reign of terror and lawlessness and peace back to our County. These things desired by all fair-minded citizens; a sane, sober, quiet, liberal attitude toward all, TRUTH AND JUSTICE toward all.

Vote for O. O. Adams for Sheriff. We have 196 boys from Bandera County who are in service and by Nov. 30th there will be 280.

The best youth of our Community, County, State are now in our Nation's Army and Navy. They are welcomed almost anywhere except in Bandera. Why are they not in Bandera? You good, public citizens know WHY. Do you think that condition continued? Do you want YOUR boy to become an outcast in the home community as soon as he is on the uniform of his Country? Then you are not to blame for this, are you? If you wish to remove this stain from your Community, if you want your son to be welcomed home, though he be a soldier, vote that way; write the name of your native-born citizen, O. O. Adams, in for Sheriff, next Tuesday, and be sure to mark out the name of W. H. Burns, for that office.

From where I sit

by Joe Marsh

Last Saturday night we were settin' around Judy Crowell's house, and from upstairs we hear the squawks those Crowell youngsters put up while their Ma was washin' 'em in soap and water. Causes Jeb to comment:

"Just shows how times change. Used to be a law here in America that nobody could take a bath without a doctor's prescription!"

Then we got talking about the funny laws some people have put through in this country—like the state where they made it against the law to wake a man up if he's sleeping on the railroad tracks.

Or flustrated law I once heard about," says Basil Strabe, the state-about-town, "that when two cars meet at an intersection, neither can proceed until the other one has gone ahead."

"How could that be a law?" asks Pete Swanson. "That just don't make sense."

"Lots of laws don't make sense," says Jeb. "Why just think! We're livin' in a land where most folks hold for tolerance and liberty. And yet it was only a few years ago we had a law of 3/5 count for that, if you remember.

Well, he had a point. In America—"the land of the free and the home of the brave"—we're kind of touchy on the subject of view-points and freedom. Now that it's all over, we realize how people in Europe and Asia have lived all their lives, and how they did.

From where I sit, every right I enjoy is the direct result of the sacrifices made by the gallant men and women in the service of their country. Every privilege I have is the direct result of the sacrifices made by the gallant men and women in the service of their country. Every liberty I cherish is the direct result of the sacrifices made by the gallant men and women in the service of their country.

VOTE! VOTE! VOTE!

You true, law-abiding citizens of Bandera County go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for O. O. Adams for Sheriff, and be sure to scratch out the name of W. H. Burns. If you do not scratch out his name, your vote will be thrown out. The people should no longer tolerate the abuse and mistreatment of our citizens. We should awake to the fact that we are free and equal, and have a right to expect justice for all.

Help us elect a fair-minded, law-abiding, native son, to the sheriff's office, and restore the good name of our County, end this reign of terror and bring peace back to our County. These things desired by all fair-minded citizens; a sane, sober, quiet, liberal attitude toward all, TRUTH AND JUSTICE toward all.

Vote for O. O. Adams for Sheriff.

We have 196 boys from Bandera County who are in service and by Nov. 1 there will be 230.

The best youth of our Community, County, State are now in our Nation's Army and Navy. They are welcomed most anywhere except in Bandera. Why not in Bandera? You good, patriotic citizens know WHY. Do you think that condition continued? Do you want YOUR boy to become an outcast in the home community as soon as he is on the uniform of his Country? If you are not to blame for this, are you? If you wish to remove this stain from our Community, if you want your son to be welcomed home, though he be a private, your native-born citizen, O. O. Adams, in for Sheriff, next Tuesday, and be sure to mark out the name of W. H. Burns, for that office.

MORE ABOUT THE SHERIFF'S RACE

Let us face the facts of the situation since July 4, 1942 when a soldier in uniform was shot down in Bandera by a man who was then a deputy sheriff. Instead of speedy justice in form of arrest, charge filed, or hearing had in connection with this case, NOTHING was done. Did our Sheriff do his duty? It was not on July 4th, four days later, when staff officers of the U. S. Army and a representative of the Texas Department of Public Safety came to our county that anything was done.

We cannot believe that these facts are to be idly pushed aside and ignored. By so doing it would seem to the outside world that we thoroughly approve such lax methods of procedure. We know that the good citizens of this county will not ignore this point. They must show again how her patriotism too plainly by going over the top in every War Bond drive, every scrap rubber and iron drive, every aluminum drive, every call from the Red Cross and U. S. O. We have a display of flags on our streets. We ARE patriotic. But do we seem patriotic in the eyes of the world when we ignore conditions? We have now 196 boys in uniform and by Nov. 6th there will be 230 of our boys in service. Then on election day can we cancel all these good and patriotic deeds with one that brands us unpatriotic? Must our boys, when they come home on furlough, dodge the M. P.'s and not walk with as much freedom in their home town as they can in other places in this country? Must those boys bow their heads in shame when they see the name Bandera on the "ban list?" They fought bravely on the West Coast and Bandera are the only ones on that list. Do you like that? Please forget business and money once and think of self-respect. Can you hold your head proudly up and still set your stamp of approval on our present sheriff's administration? If you want a change, write in O. O. ADAMS or simply Adams or O. L. Adams or Olif Adams but O. O. ADAMS, a man who will see that justice is done by both civilians and soldiers in our armed forces.

POEM BY FRED MAASS, JR.

This poem was composed by Fred Maass Jr., who is in the U. S. Navy, one rainy day in New Orleans, La.

Little drops of water fall from up above
To our divine creator we owe our eternal devotion.
For the little drops of water
Keeps our souls in motion.
Little drops of water so wet, so soft and tender,
Fall upon the earth endowed by life's eternal sender.

. . . And What Free Man Would Do That?

Determined to answer the challenge contained in the slogan (top) over the shipyard gate, the skilled craftsmen employed inside the construction department of the naval dockyards, somewhere in Canada, are racing with time to repair the heavy guns. These, too, have to be thoroughly overhauled, checked, and reinstalled in perfect firing condition. The shipyard is playing a major role in overhauling naval and cargo ships of the Allies.

BULLDOGS DEFEATED BY POTEET 12 TO 7

The Bandera Bulldogs went to Poteet last Friday to play the return game with the Aggies and suffered their first defeat of the season. The game was close all the way, and the ball see-sawed back and forth from one goal to the other. Breaks went against the Bulldogs, but on two scoring occasions the Aggies made the breaks that won them the touchdowns. Bandera's line, led by Jimmy Arendell, was outstanding; threw the Aggies for losses on three downs early in the fourth period, and then Jimmy broke through to block a punt which rolled out of bounds near the goal line. Callahan carried over the goal line for the score, and then later plunged for extra point. At the close of the game Bandera was hammering dangerously near the Aggie goal line. On two other occasions Poteet held in the pinches. Poteet also threatened three times when the Bulldogs held them on downs. This was a non-conference game and if the Bulldogs win from Edgewood on Friday night of attraction and the sack race, ladies' nail polish race and the egg race race brought much amusement. In the sack race Arthur Mata Jr. won over Jack Hall in the field and Mrs. Ray Wyatt were awarded the prize money in the ladies soft ball game came to an end with the fate winning over the Bachelors 11 to 10. Mrs. Bernice Bailey was captain of the fats and Mrs. Ray Wyatt captain of the bachelors.

The officers of the P. T. A. wish to thank everyone for their help in making Hallowe'en night the Eagles in another game. An honest effort was made to secure a game for Bandera this Friday night, but after five contacts it was given up as a failure. A considerable amount of athletic equipment had to be bought this year, and it is necessary that they play somewhere in order to raise the money to pay this sum. On Nov. 13th and 20th they have games with Edgewood and Center Point. At these games they hope to round out the year to pay for the debt for equipment and have some money left over to add to the sweater fund. The football team wishes to thank everyone that went to Poteet last week. The music of the band and note of the pep squad was great.

Following C. C. Sch. for the remainder of the season.

Gas Registration Next Week

Application forms on which passenger car owners may register under the mileage rationing program have now been received for Bandera County, W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board announced today.

"Automobile owners may obtain these forms at our office, at Bandera or at the inspection stations and authorized garages and filling stations." Mr. Fletcher said.

These forms also will be available at tire inspection stations in Medina, Pipe Creek, Tarpley and Vanderpool."

In order to obtain gasoline rations for a passenger car or motorcycle not classed as a commercial vehicle, Mr. Fletcher said each applicant should sign one of these blanks, Form R-534 for the "A" or "D" ration books with the tire inspection certificate attached.

"It is necessary for each motorist to execute this application and the inspection record," Mr. Fletcher explained, "and particularly the applicant should fill in the serial number of the passenger tires he wants to keep. The tire inspection form which the motorist must take to the garage at the schoolhouse nearest home on Nov. 13, 14 or 15."

Registration will be held at the Bandera, Medina, Pipe Creek, Tarpley and Vanderpool garages.

Mr. Fletcher emphasized that the motorist should sell all more than five passenger tires to the Government through the nearest Railway Express Agency office.

"Any applicant who has that five passenger tires for his car," he said, "gasoline rations will have to be denied. The three tires an applicant should present the executed form to a registrar who will determine that it is properly executed. The passenger car inspection record will be carefully filled out will receive the basic "A" book and the motorcyclist a "D" book. Under the mileage rationing plan each passenger car owner who receives the basic "A" book will be allowed a maximum mileage of 240 miles per month

In elections in other states the Republican Party made considerable gains in governorships, congressional seats and in the senatorial races. Thomas Dewey was elected New York's first Republican governor in 20 years and he carried his entire ticket into office with him. About 40 Republican Congressmen and between 8 and 10 Republican Senators were added by the balloting.

In Texas all amendments were apparently carrying. All state Democratic candidates were receiving overwhelming majorities over their opponents.

SECOND MONTH OF SCHOOL ENDS

The second month of the Bandera Public Schools ended Oct. 30th. There is an attitude of sincerity among the student body that is very noticeable and the patrons of the school seem to be thoroughly interested in the success and progress of the children. I feel that there is a very wholesome "good neighbor" spirit among the fathers and mothers toward education and that their cooperation is one of the most greatest possible results.

I am taking this opportunity to express my appreciation of the splendid work done by the citizens of this community in making definite progress in the school building and the soldier a wish for the best of luck.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION

Some persons remark that the results which the world thought it had achieved on Armistice day of 1918 proved not to have been achieved at all. They may say there has been great suffering and bloodshed in this world since then, but the fact remains that the world has turned its face away from the horrors of war and is now devoting its energies to the arts of peace. Whether this attitude will last or not, it is a fact that the world is not now engaged in war, and that is something to be thankful for. Armistice day is a day of thanksgiving for that reason, if for no other.

That day concluded a national effort almost unparalleled at that time in the history of mankind. Our people had moved an army of around 2,000,000 men across the Atlantic Ocean, they had provided it with vast supplies and equipment. They had taken young men who expected only lives of peace and quiet industry, and turned them into soldiers, whose grand deeds astonished the world.

Our enemies in that war originally had little fear of America. They thought this country was soft, not accustomed to hardship, dependent on luxurious living. All at once, as steeped in money making and the search for peace, there had no powerful war lever could be stirred to action ashore. So they thought they could safely defy American sentiment.

When they ran up against those indomitable American boys on the field of battle, they found they had a wholly wrong idea about American character. They learned that the American youth is capable of extremely heroic action, and that it has a grand capacity for patriotic devotion and that it does not quit until it gets the results it is seeking.

The American people as a whole did a grand job in that war. What was previously they has been torn by political, sectional, and class divisions, when war came they forgot those conflicts and toiled and sacrificed for the glorious old flag, and the ideas of liberty and democracy.

The first World War was a superb demonstration of what a free people can do. It gives us courage to feel that they will do far greater things in the more menacing dangers that the present war has brought to our doors.

THE AMERICAN DOUGHBOY

Gen. Douglas MacArthur, who has grand achievements are so warmly admired, recently paid a glowing tribute to the American doughboy, telling how the soldier plods and groans and sweats and suffers and he does he does so without complaining, and with a prayer for victory. The general said that those who knew him were and bless the name of "doughboy."

There is something very wonderful about the way these American men and boys fight in a war. The Germans found that out in 1918. They had thought the Americans were soft, and peace loving to do hard fighting. But when those American boys went through roughly fortified lines that had seemed impregnable for years of fighting, the world saw a new power.

The reason appears to be that the American boy hates the idea of quitting. He hates to give up and say he can't do a thing. He doesn't like to seem less courageous or resourceful than his mates. So if he sets out in time of warfare to do certain things he is not satisfied unless he does them, and he keeps on and on.

The young Nazis have been brought up with a fanatical desire to obey and follow their Fuehrer. He has made them willing to die on many battlefields. But when they see that their Fuehrer has not been able to do the things he expected, that many of his hopes have proved only dreams, when they see the war going on year after year, where their leaders promised them quick victory, that fanatical faith is likely to be weakened.

The American soldier is not brought up in any fanatical faith. He just wants to win every game he plays by law, but he puts that added dogged determination into the dreadful game of war that he does into his football or baseball. That makes him a terrific force, as the Nazis will find out.

CARD OF THANKS

I am unable to employ words to express my deepest thanks to those who so loyally supported me in the race for Sheriff, Assessor and Tax Collector of this county; but I want you all to know that I am grateful. I feel that the people's verdict at the polls last Tuesday is the verdict of the good people of this county who favor law and order and who condemn underhanded methods of those who seek to discredit and defeat the will of the voters as expressed in the July primaries. The methods employed by the opposition do not do credit to the ones who circulated the false reports and I am sorry such methods were resorted to in the attempt to defeat me for re-election, but the election is over now and I hope all bitterness will be forgotten and that the friendships which have been strained and the ill feelings that have been engendered will be forgotten, and that all will work in harmony in these trying times, to the end that better conditions will maintain in this county. I hope to continue to merit the confidence and good will of the best citizenship of the best county in Texas by giving my duty as your Sheriff, Assessor and Tax Collector to the very best of my ability, and I thank the most sensational performance in the history of this most sensational organization.

ARMY AIR FORCES SAFER, MORE EFFICIENT

FOR TECHNICIANS

Technicians enlisting in the Army Air Forces today will find it a vastly different, safer and more efficient place than it was, even as recently as eight years ago—and for that you may take the word, of Lt. Roland W. Reitzer, engineering officer of the 61st School Squadron at Kelly Field.

Lt. Reitzer knows what airplanes and Kelly Field were right years ago—having spent the years intervening. He knows a lot about the progress of both planes and technicians during those years, Lt. Reitzer enlisted at Kelly Field in May, 1934, as a private, and has risen from the ranks.

Prior to 1937 the 61st School Squadron was the 43d Pursuit Squadron, equipped with Boeing P-12 and Curtiss P-1 pursuit planes. Lt. Reitzer has served with it since he began his career.

The P-12 was the first supercharged fighting plane that the Army employed, and Lt. Reitzer remembers that airplane maintenance in those days was an entirely different system than it is now.

The only mechanical inspection of the planes then were the 20-hour and 40-hour inspections. Spark plugs were changed "when they missed," fire. Today they are changed regardless of condition at every 100-hour inspection.

Valves were checked every 40 hours. On modern aircraft engines they must be checked the first 25 hours after the engine is changed and again after the next 300 hours of accumulated time.

Navigation has changed since the days of flying by the sun. In a ship, back in 1934, was an ordinary floating compass. But pursuit ships now are equipped with radio instruments, so they can be flown "blind" at any time or place.

Engines were changed, in those days, after 100 hours of flying time. But the lifetime of the greater horsepower engines of today is 300 hours. Also, a 10-per cent extension included if the engine is running smoothly and the oil consumption is not too great. —San Antonio Evening News, Friday, Oct. 30.

Lt. Reitzer is a native son of Bandera County. His many friends and relatives in this county and especially the East Verde community, where he was reared are justly proud of him. His career in the army has not been one of ease, but rather quick and study to acquire the knowledge and experience to reach the rank he has attained.

MERCY

"Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn!"

My mind has recently been directed to this thought so beautifully expressed by the philosopher-poet, by the treatment accorded a widow, a stranger among strangers, who, coming into a new neighborhood, was branded by some heartless person as an immoral woman. The sanctimonious pack of human wolves began immediately to gather and take up the trail with the purpose of running this helpless one to her social death. No investigation of the truth or falsehood of the report, but without delay, with the taste of human blood upon their lips, they pursued a relentless fight for life death of this helpless person.

There was no Christ to come to the rescue as one to suggest that false without the shout of the first stones, but without mercy by man an assault upon the name of this helpless creature, shutting their ears to all words of defense or the possibility of a mistake.

"He who steals my purse steals trash but he who robs me from my good name robs me of that which enriches him not and leaves me poor indeed." So wrote another great poet. No more despicable deed was ever done by man or woman than committed in the sight of God than that of striking down the good name of a fellowbeing. No one came to this community needing the assistance of the good people of the community, but the so called Christians were the first to assail this helpless one and the most uncharitable in their denunciation.

The days of martyrs are still with us; the lives of innocent women and children are still being offered up to gratify the vicious thirst for the blood of our fellow-creatures, and it is not confined to Germany, Japan or other non-Christian countries, but exists in America, in Texas, in Bandera.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION THE STATE OF TEXAS

To: Bert Coleman, whose residence is unknown, and Sam Coleman, whose residence is unknown.

Greeting: You are commanded to appear and answer the plaintiff's First Amended Original petition filed at or before 10 o'clock A. M. of the first Monday after the expiration of 42 days from the date of issuance of this Citation; the same being Monday the 23rd day of November, A. D., 1942, at or before 10 o'clock A. M., before the Honorable District Court of Bandera County, at the Court House in Bandera, Texas.

Said plaintiff's First Amended Original petition was filed on the 9th day of February, 1942. (Plaintiff's original petition having been filed on December 31, 1941), the file number of said suit being No. 1255 and styled The First National Bank of Bandera vs. Bert Coleman, et al. The names of the parties in said suit are:

The First National Bank of Bandera, Texas as Plaintiff, and Bert Coleman, R. H. Coleman, Bandera National Bank, Erwin Woerner, Minnie Bauerlein, T. J. Bauerlein, H. R. Bauerlein, Bert Coleman, Jr. and Sam Coleman as Defendants. The nature of said suit being substantially as follows, to wit:

Suit for debt as evidenced by the hereinafter described note and for foreclosure of chattel mortgage lien and for judgment against Defendant Erwin Woerner for the amount due thereon, consisting of certain wool, and asking that same be foreclosed.

Plaintiff alleges that on or about the 18th day of October, 1941, Defendant Bert Coleman executed and delivered to Plaintiff his note, payable to the order of Plaintiff, dated October 18th, 1941, and due according to its terms, on April 15, 1942, in the principal sum of Sixteen Hundred Twenty-five and 11/100 ($1625.00) Dollars, with interest from maturity at the rate of 10% per annum; said note being payable at the office of Plaintiff in Bandera County, Texas; that to secure said Bert Coleman, to secure the payment of said note, executed a chattel mortgage, a copy of which is attached to Plaintiff's said petition, dated October 18, 1941, conveying to Plaintiff, its successors and assigns, certain personal property then located and situated in the Counties of Bandera and Kerr, Texas; said property being described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit:

"The following described personal property, now located and situated in the County of Bandera, State of Texas, to-wit:

"All yearling flock of sheep, numbering 450 or more, with the wool and increase thereof, same being of these sheep bought from John McHaney, more than Twenty Dollars Stoker, some from Mrs. Minnie Bauerlein, and some I brought to this County when I came here. There are several different ear marks, a crop, crop and half crop, being one of the main marks. Also my entire flock of 500 or more goats with mohair and increase from said goats. About 100 of these goats bought from Mrs. M. Bauerlein, others I brought to this County. Some marked crop left, swallowfork right and various other marks. Branded Y Cross. Also 4 grey cows and 2 yearlings, and 6 work and saddle horses. All located on my leased place about 8 miles from Medina, Texas, on Kerrville Road, together with all the increase of, from and to the above described property prior to the full payment of the indebtedness hereinafter referred to, also all other cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, and other live stock situated in said county aforesaid, now owned or that may be hereafter acquired by said mortgagor, until the said mortgage is released in full."

Plaintiff alleges that said chattel mortgage provides that it was given to secure the payment of all other indebtedness that thereafter due and owing to Plaintiff, whether evidenced by note, overdraft or otherwise, and that the same should bear interest at the rate of 10% per annum from date of, accrual until paid, and that it further provided that Defendant Bert Coleman stated, that he was the full owner of the above described property and had a right to mortgage the same and that said property was of the aggregate reasonable cash value of $2,000.00; Plaintiff further alleges that said mortgage and note provides that in the event they were placed in the hands of an attorney for collection, an attorney's fee in amount of principal and interest of the indebtedness remaining unpaid, should be paid by the mortgagor, and that the plaintiff placed the same in the hands of its attorneys and agreed to pay them said attorney's fees, for which said Defendant Bert Coleman became liable and bound to pay, and that the value of the property delivered by said mortgage is in excess of $1,000.00 and that on or about the 21st day of December, 1941, the Defendant Bert Coleman, without the knowledge or consent of the Plaintiff, began and attempted to remove the property described in said mortgage from the place where it was located, and did on a few occasions a portion of the same from such premises and from such Kerr and Bandera Counties, and that in violation of Plaintiff the property had been removed from the State of Texas.

Defendant Bert Coleman in such manner as to impair Plaintiff's security and render the Plaintiff insecure, and that by reason thereof, the indebtedness said mortgage. Plaintiff had declared all of the indebtedness above referred to immediately due and payable, but that said Defendant failed and refused and does and still fails and refuses, to pay said indebtedness. That said chattel mortgage was filed in the offices of the County Clerk of Bandera County, and the County Clerk of Kerr County, on November 19, 1941, respectively. Plaintiff further alleges that the Defendants R. R. Coleman, Blanco National Bank, Erwin Woerner, Minnie Bauerlein, T. J. Bauerlein, Bert Colemin, Jr., Sam Coleman and Bandera County claim some right, interest in the above described property, the exact nature of which is unknown to plaintiff, but which interest is inferior to the rights of Plaintiff and that the Defendant Erwin Woerner, at a time subsequent to the Plaintiff's mortgage was filed for record in Bandera County, and without the consent knowledge of Plaintiff, purchased or attempted to purchase from Bert Coleman, 831 pounds of wool from the sheep covered by said mortgage, and that Defendant Erwin Woerner had failed and refused to deliver over said wool to the Plaintiff and has converted the same to his own use and that the reasonable market value of the wool so converted, at the time of the conversion was worth 32c a pound and was of the total market value of $265.92. Plaintiff further alleges that at the time said suit was filed Defendant Bert Coleman was indebted to said chattel mortgage, which was the possession of the Defendant Erwin Woerner, Plaintiff was probably insolvent to the extent of the mortgage debt and was in danger of being removed and materially injured.

Plaintiff prays for judgment against the Defendant Bert Coleman, for the debt, principal, interest and attorney's fees, and against all of the defendants for foreclosure of its chattel mortgage lien, for judgment against the defendant Erwin Woerner for said sum of $265.92 as damages for the aforesaid conversion of the wool and that the Receiver convey to purchaser all the above said property with the authority thereto are granted him by the Court until the further order of the court, and for such other and further relief, general or special, which Plaintiff may be entitled to in law or in equity, all as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's First Amended, Original Petition on file in this cause.

This citation shall be served by the Sheriff or any Constable of any county of the State of Texas by having the same published in a newspaper published in Bandera County, Texas, once each week for four (4) consecutive weeks, the first publication to be at least twenty-eight, (28) days before the return day of this citation, and said officer shall hereon fail how he shall execute the same.

Issued this the 9th day of October, 1942. Given under my hand and seal of said Court, at office in Bandera, Texas, this the 9th day of October A. D., 1942.

APPLICATIONS AVAILABLE FOR TIRE ALLOTMENTS

Under the regulations which are part of the Government's rubber conservation program dealers may obtain from their stocks of passenger car tires so as to be ready to make consumer sales when the by-mileage rationing program becomes effective November 22. W. B. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board has announced.

Dealers may acquire stocks of new tires made of reclaimed rubber as well as scrapped and used tires for sale to motorists who receive rationing certificates from the War Price and Rationing Board.

Proofs on which dealers may apply for their allotments are now available at the local War Price and Rationing Board office, Bandera, Texas.

Many dealers, Mr. Fletcher explained, do not now have adequate stocks of tires of this kind which are defined as Grade III tires in the rationing regulations. Before this change in the regulations, there was no way for them to increase the size of their inventory by purchases from regular suppliers because for every tire they bought they had to turn over the replenishment portion of a rationing certificate which had been taken in from a purchaser.

Don't wait until the government takes your scrap! Sell it now.

GAS RATIONING

Subsequently or necessary additional gasoline rations may be allowed by the Board for certain purposes upon proof of need, Mr. Fletcher added. Should an applicant believe he is entitled to more than the basic "A" book, he should ask the registrar, at the time he receives his basic "A" book for the supplemental ration application form, but this should not be done at the schoolhouse. This supplemental application must be filled out and forwarded by the local mailed or delivered by the local Board.

"After this program goes into effect on Nov. 22 we will try to get more gasoline as a unit of mileage," Mr. Fletcher explained, such for that reason the Board will have to determine the applicant's necessary or essential mileage and then give him a gas book for exactly that essential mileage and the kind of a tire he must his essential needs as set forth in the regulations."

Mr. Fletcher said application blanks for those who need gasoline rations for trucks and commercial vehicles will be mailed or delivered at the local Board office or the authorized tire inspection stations. This blank, known as Form R-536, is for the "T" ration book. Mr. Fletcher emphasized that the truck or commercial vehicle owner should not try to register at the schoolhouse where passenger car applications are to be made, but should apply directly at the office of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board. Applicants also a Certification of War Necessity executed by the Office of Defense Transportation.

Applicants for gasoline rations for non-highway purposes such as tractors, stationary engines used with machinery or motor lawn mowers may obtain their application forms at the local Board office of tire inspection stations, but these completed forms must be presented directly to the local Board office and not at one of the tire registration places. This non-highway purpose registration blank is known as Form R-537 and it calls for an "E" or an "R" gasoline ration.

Womanless Wedding Draws Great Success

The "Womanless Wedding" given last Saturday night at the Library Auditorium was a great success. Every seat was taken and those who arrived late had to stand. Gross receipts amounted to $120.15 and after a few small bills are paid a very nice sum will be on hand to carry out the program of the Emergency Hospitalization committee.

The program opened with music by the Bandera orchestra. Rose E. F. Kluck gave the invocation. Music by the Bandera orchestra. The audience sang "America."

W. O. Patton, pianist for the Womanless Wedding, was the first "lady" to enter and was greeted by loud cheers. As the "bride" played the wedding march the mother and sister of the bride, W. P. Grisham and Louis Poetert, entered together followed by the mother of the groom, Mrs. Jake Braden and the weeping old maid, L. E. Short. Next came the preacher, Thomas Gray Jr.

The bridesmaids, Frank Mansfield, Erle Mansfield, Raymond Hicks, James Harwell, Marvin Robison and Rhea Mansfield came next in single file. When Rhea Mansfield, the last "lady" came on the stage, Raymond Hicks stepped forward to sing the nuptial song. As he stepped back to join the others the wedding march was resumed with the bride and groom, Lanford and the matron of honor, A. Plummer came in to take their places. Rev. R. A. Rusch read the single flower girls, L. L. Bright and Bruce Mansfield who preceded the bride and groom to the "altar." The other, Herman Thalmann. The best man, T. E. Negley, had quite a time of trouble in getting the groom, W. T. Cook to the stage and even after he got on the stage he tried desperately to escape. Billy Burns was the ring bearer and carried the large ring on a pillow on a silver tray. Following the "ceremony" the bride and groom left the reception line.

The program closed with the benediction by Rev. W. A. Bowen.

The committee wishes to thank all those who took part in the program and the following: Mrs. Jake Braden for getting tickets and publicity, Mrs. Jake Webb for use of public address system, Mrs. Bruce Mansfield for her faithful work in contacting members of cast and work decorating auditorium, Mrs. Marshall Mansfield for her work selling tickets and decorating auditorium, Mrs. Les Short for her work decorating auditorium and directing play, W. O. Patton for his fine music and for their help at the auditorium, E. L. McKay for installing public address system, Mrs. Ben Humphries for theatrical making-up, school children for selling tickets, Mrs. A. N. Preeding and Ann Lynch sold 23 tickets, Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Bowen for donating lamps and Mrs. Bandera Hardaway members and a car carrying the gold star mothers paraded from the Alamo Lumber Co. corner through town and back to the court house.

After the crowd gathered at the monument the school band played the Star Spangled Banner. The flag was raised and lowered to half mast for the rest of the ceremony. Bandera Plays Edgewood Friday

The Bandera Bulldogs went back to Pleasanton last Friday and gave them another beating this time to the tune of 19-6. Feathers from the Eagle's nest decorate the Bulldog kennel. On the first play a pass netted thirty yards; two stabs at the left were not very successful, but a strong side to the right with Martin carrying the ball netted a touchdown. Callahan plunged for the extra point. Again in the third quarter the ball was carried to the goal line on the first play in the second quarter. Callahan went over for the touchdown; attempt to kick extra point failed. During the third quarter Pleasanton passed for a score. In the last quarter Callahan cut back for a score. Everyone that made the trip played.

Blasting for Bandera were ends, Berg and Jergesen; tackles, Anderwald and Mazurek; guards, Ford and Dugan; center, Edmund Edwards; backs, G. Anderwald, Callahan, Estes and Martin. Substitutes were Hicks, Mansfield, Edwards, Hillman, James and Sprott.

This week we play Edgewood here. It will be a dandy and very important. It will be a good game, and the Bulldogs will be out there to win. Conference championship is within their grasp. We invite our friends out to see us play.

SCHOOL NIGHT PROGRAM PRESENTED SUNDAY NIGHT

The program closed with the singing of the Star Spangled Banner. Mrs. Bandera Hardaway's collection was taken up for the football fund and the offering amounted to $7.65.

ONLY FIVE TIRES PER CAR ALLOWED IN RATIONING

Bandera County autoists who fail to dispose at once of any tires they own in excess of the permissible five, per car face the inconvenience of a delay in getting their gasoline ration, W. P. Fletcher, Chairman of the local war price and rationing board, warned today.

Passenger car owners showing on their applications that they own more than five tires per car will not be issued basic gasoline rations when they register at school houses on November 19, 20 and 21. It is a penal offense for any person at all concerned to sell the tires in advance of registration.

Disposal of surplus of those tires before the registration period ends, they will have to go to the Railway Express Agency, who must wait, however, until after rationing actually begins. Because of delay to be made in connection with issuing all other war rationing books, no basic war rationing board will be unable to consider applications for supplemental rations, if, under an applicant shows some good reason why he shouldn't be made to wait until he is ready to apply, he will have to present proof that he has disposed of the excess tires he reported on his application form.

A receipt showing that he has turned them over to the Railway Express Agency will be acceptable proof, Fletcher said, and will show that he has turned in unserviceable tires for scrap.

Passenger car owners, scrap tires, must be disposed of under the Government's Idle Tire Purchase Plan, which is handled by the Railway Express Agency will collect all serviceable tires, and will pay the owner the price he will send a check later covering the price of the tire or tires. Tires beyond repair should be disposed of through a local scrap dealer or salvage committee.

SHARE YOUR MEAT WITH OTHERS

(Sylvia Ann Hajek, C. H. D. A., Extension Service, A. M. College)

The Government is sponsoring a share-the-meat campaign which is a voluntary program for consumers at the present time. Meat rationing is not expected until early 1943. However, now is the time individual should limit himself to fifty pounds of meat per week.

The 2½ pounds of beef, lamb and pork allowed per adult per week is sufficient for a normal diet, provided other necessary foods are included.

The housewives need to make greater use of liver, tongue, kidney, brains, heart and poultry because these will not be rationed and they are very high in nutritive value.

Homemakers need to become more thrifty with left-over meats and prepare the meals so that they spread the flavor of meat. Meat dishes prepared with cereal or vegetables will certainly help in stretching the meat allowance.

SAFETY SUGGESTIONS FOR HUNTERS

Austin, Texs, Nov. 7, 1942—As the hunting season opens, precaution in handling fire arms is urged.

Texas State Department of Health suggests the following safety suggestions in handling guns:

Handle carefully to see that the loaded gun is on safety until ready to fire. Never shoot without seeing your target clearly. Never crawl through a fence carrying a loaded gun. If hunting with a companion stay close to him. Do not strike the ground or breakable with the butt of a loaded gun. Never scuffle while holding a loaded gun or point it at a person. Use care in loading. Unload a gun before attempting to clean it. Always unload guns before taking them into the home. All guns should be carefully put away in the home out of the reach of small children.

Grayton Faris, who recently joined the army, was sent to an army camp in Oregon last week.

Gas Registration Dates Changed

Dates for registration for rationing have been changed from Nov. 12, 13, 14 to Nov. 19, 20, 21.

Bandera County motorists, registering for basic rations at the school house registration sites on November 19, 20 and 21 must take along their applications forms, listing serial numbers of their tires, and their car registration cards. W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board, said today.

"The application forms are now available at service stations, garages and other conveniently located places throughout Bandera County and should be picked up at once by any owner of a passenger car or motorcycle who does not already have one," Mr. Fletcher said.

"This form is simple. Most of the information can be obtained from the vehicle registration card. The most important information needed to fill out the application, however, is the list of serial numbers on every tire which you or any relative living in your house now has on a car.

The serial numbers are indented or embossed on the tire-walls. They are not to be confused with any raised numbers appearing on the tires. In case the serial numbers have been obliterated only a branch name of the tire need be listed.

The rationing board chairman urged car owners with more than five tires to make a speedy effort to dispose of these excess tire at once, since the school house registrar will not issue a ration book to any applicant who lists more than five tires. Excess tires can be sold to a dealer approved through the local office of the Railway Express Agency.

Only basic ration books will be issued by the school house registrars. Supplemental gasoline rationing cards and properly filled out application forms will be issued by the local board for the 749 miles of driving a month. Motorcycle owners will get "D" books, good for similar mileage.

No supplemental rations will be issued at this registration time, so that must be registered for any. However, anyone who feels he has grounds for more mileage than the basic book provides may ask the registrar for an application form for a supplemental ration.

The form is to be filled out later and presented to a local war price and rationing board. The board will issue a supplemental ration only after a careful examination of the applicant's need for additional mileage and his plans for car sharing.

Applications for basic rations should go to the school house registration site nearest their home. Bandera and Medina Pipe Creek Tarpley and Vanderpool.

U. S. TROOPS TAKE OFFENSIVE AGAINST

The second front was opened Saturday when U. S. troops were landed in several north African coast towns. Algiers fell in a short time and Oran surrendered after a brief fight. On Thursday after considerable fighting, American losses were reported to be light at that time. Contact was not met. General Rommel's shattered Afrika Army was attempting to flee before the British 8th Army and about 100,000 Germans and Italians had been captured leaving an estimated 30,000 dead in the troops.

While Americans attempting to hit Rommel from the west and the British closing in on the east troops there, In New Guinea the Japs have been driven back to the coast by Australian troops and a decisive battle is expected to take place there.

AFTER ELECTION THOUGHTS

The American people have at times have a way of getting excited and emotional over politics. Marsh and bitter things are often said in political campaigns. Opponents are denounced in strong terms. All is customary and a part of many orators to warn the people of great disasters if their opponents win the election. The ordinary run of people get more or less stirred up over these alarming statements, and some view with great misgivings the possibility of defeat.

In former times these feelings were even more acute. There were strong prejudices in the minds of many persons against members of the opposite party, as if they represented lower standards of intelligence or less patriotism and lunger sympathy. Some families thought it disgraceful if members of their household supported the opposite party.

These political feelings have not been nearly so strong in recent years. People number members of the opposite party among their close friends. If they can't agree on politics they set those questions aside, but do not think any less of those associated on the account.

While the competitions of candidates stirred up considerable excitement this year, there has been little real bitterness. Most people having expressed their thought as to who and which party will be the best to serve the war, have gone back to their absorbed interest in military, and production problems. Everybody heartily support any idea or progress that will advance the day of victory and bring home our boys sooner.

SHARE IN PUBLIC EFFORT

It is a principle of daily life, that people should take their fair share of the effort for the success of their joint enterprises. If you go on a picnic and fail to do your share of the work of that occasion, it looks a bit selfish. People usually realize this and are keen to take their full share of such efforts.

We should all want to take our fair share of the efforts to advance the prosperity and advantages and development of our home town. That usually means a willingness to do some work in the organizations which promote such advantages. It means doing one's best to make one's home look attractive, so that it presents a favorable picture to the world, and helps give the home town a pleasing appearance.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

"If you don't see what you want, ask for it," was the motto that made success for many a place of entertainment. It also counts in business. If you don't see all the customers you want in your store, ask for them by advertising.

SUPPLEMENTAL GAS RATION AVAILABLE WHERE NEEDED

Supplemental rations of gasoline for supplemental rationed vehicles when the drive to and from work should make plans now to share rides with other essential workers pertaining to their jobs, W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board, said today.

"Car sharing has been made an integral part of the rationing of gasoline program because it is the most effective means of providing essential mileage from a limited amount of rubber," said Mr. Fletcher. "The get more than the basic "A" ration, all must participate in a car-sharing club and agree to carry at least three other persons to and from work or prove that he cannot do so."

The rationing board chairman suggested that car owners get together with their neighbors on some car sharing plan, or with fellow-workers at the plant or office. If two or more cars are to be used in the club, members may divide up the use of those cars to suit their convenience. Supplemental rations will then be issued through them in the car club agreement.

Supplemental applications are not to be presented registrars at school houses on Nov. 19, 20 and 21. These registrars will be authorized to issue only the basic ration books.—"A" books for passenger cars and "D" books for motorcyclists.

However, vehicle operators who do not receive their "A" ration but than the basic books provide may ask the registrar for a supplemental application which will be filled out later and sent to the local war price and rationing Board.

The basic books will provide mileage for 240 miles per month. The number to whom the ration is issued intends to use his car for driving to work, to and from his work, he will be expected to consider 150 miles a month of the 240 miles allowed for such driving. The remaining 90 miles a month may be reserved for such essential travel as taking children to school, or sick persons to the doctor, etc.

Applicants for supplemental rations will first need to prove that they need more than the 150 miles per month basic provided in the "A" book. Secondly they will need to show that they have only a car club. If they do not form such a club, they must prove they cannot do so and that alternate means of transportation are inadequate.

All applicants for a supplemental ration will use the same form. The board will decide whether the ration granted should be in the form of a "B" or a "C" book. The "B" book, in addition to the "A" book mileage, is a maximum of 470 miles of occupational driving a month. Mileage in excess of 470 miles per month requires a "C" book. But only drivers performing services regarded as essential to the war effort or the public welfare will be eligible for "C" rations.

Those drivers entitled to preferred mileage through "C" rations can meet the car sharing requirements, the same as other applicants for supplemental rations.

When I drop into Sam Abernethy's store, I usually come away with something worth remembering.

Sam's our town's most successful storekeeper and he's not one to do things rashly; unless he figures he's really got something to say.

"Lorenia" he said plenty.

Stranger was in the store. And Ben Ryder, Homer Bentley and some others were talkin' about the scrap collection when this feller sort of horned in . . .

"I hear there's scrap collections are a lot a bunk," he says. "Fact of the matter is, this junk they're gathering ain't no use for makin' steel. Just a waste of time gettin' it together . . ."

At that point Sam steps in,

"Seet a minute," he says, fixing him with a cold eye. "Seems to me "May I inquire where you got them so-called facts?"

The stranger hems and haws, and Sam advances on him grim and unsmilin'.

"Name your authority, sir," he says. And he wasn't kiddin'! "Tell us, where did you get your side, private information?"

Well, sir, I never so mad since Len Kesler chased the cats into the yard. And I guess I never seen such out of a plain, fellow did.

"Listening" he said plenty.

"Thinking" it over, I came to the conclusion got the real system in folks who throw facts around free and easy like sort of horned in . . .

KEEP THE HOME FIRES BURNING

Keep the home fires burning but do it in the correct way. Stop and think about the following points:

1. If you have a gas stove, it should be free from leaks. It may be wise to have it inspected.

2. If you have a wood stove it should stand on a metal floor covering which extends at least 18 inches in front of the stove. The stove and stovepipes should be placed at least 18 inches from the woodwork or protected by metal. The stovepipe should be in good condition. Be sure that both the and stovepipes are clean. Do not use a large quantity of kerosene for building the fire. If you must use kerosene pour it into a small can and use this to pour on your kindling. A safe way to use kerosene is to put ashes in a can and pour kerosene over the ashes and use the damp ashes to start the fire.

3. If you have an oil stove, be sure it is kept clean and that it is properly adjusted.

Never leave the house for any length of time when the stove has a fire in it.

IN MEMORIAM

Miss Annie Reitzer
Born Sept. 30, 1872
Died Nov. 6, 1942

Like a lamp her love has gone before us,
To light our pathway to that other shore,
And we trust in God's mercy.

On Nov. 6th, 1942, at 20 minutes till one o'clock in the morning, God, in His infinite wisdom, took from us a beloved friend. Her beautiful life will be a memorial. Her loyalty to her loved ones and friends was never questioned and a cherished memory remains. Flower blooms and then they wither. Cheeks are bright, then fade and die.
Shapes of light are wafted hither.
Then like visions hurry by.
Quick as clouds at evening driven
Over the autumnal moon.
Years are bearing us to Heaven,
Home of happiness and rest.
So it is that we must know that God is picking His bouquet and that each life He chooses should make us live closer to our living God and strive harder to do His will because we never know but what we will be the next flower to be gathered.

Annie Reitzer was born in Quihi and lived a part of her life in San Antonio as a seamstress till she moved to Bandera 42 Bandera and has lived here the past fifteen years.

She was a member of the Christian Church and the Red Cross, always doing her part for the needy cause. She has many friends and loved ones who will miss seeing her smiling kind face, but in our memory will always remain.

Mrs. J. W. Sasthoff

OLD AGE ASSISTANCE CHECKS CUT

The State Department of Public Welfare has announced that a flat cut of $1 will be made in each Old Age Assistance grant when checks are written in November. An estimated 182,000 aged persons will be affected. The notice to be mailed with each old age assistance check states:

"Effective November, 1942, and until further notice, your Old Age Assistance check will be for $1 less than your certified grant. The monthly cost of Old Age Assistance is now in excess of income. Under the law eligible applicants must continue to be added to the rolls, which will make less money per recipient.

"The Welfare Department has no control over its income. Old Age Assistance financing provides that the State law provides an appropriation of $1,750,000 monthly to the Old Age Assistance Fund. All money now being disbursed in excess of this amount comes from federal grants to the state."

EXPERIENCED REALTOR SAYS BANDERA COUNTY HAS GREAT FUTURE

A realtor of national experience thinks that Bandera and Bandera County has the greatest future of any section of the State. He has had vast experience in handling the development of other parts of the U. S. A., having had an important part in the development of the South of Texas when he colonized five large ranches into farm lands near Lamesa in 1948 and in being a pioneer in the development of the cities of McAllen, Mercedes and La Feria in the Valley, together with wide experience in the boom days in California and Florida.

This gentleman is Chas. D. Lovelace, sole owner of the Bandera Realty Co., who bought a business site and office in Bandera, across the street from the Magnolia Filling Station last January, and who has been very active in the sale of ranches and city property in this hill country since that time. Lovelace in an interview with the editor of the New Era this week said: "From my experience in the development of other sections of the U. S. A., I believe that Bandera, Medina City and Bandera County has the brightest future of any other locality. I have watched its development since the paved highway 16 was finished and the growth in popularity and increase in values of property, especially the ranch land, has been more healthy, sound and steady than any section I have had anything to do with. This country was not known and could not, grow until Highway 16, the most scenic and beautiful in Texas, was finished. No other country, regardless of its merits, can develop without means of communication. This is the only country that I have seen wherein the people come to without solicitation and without a large campaign of advertising. They simply buy property here without being urged to do so. In my opinion property in this country will steadily increase in value until those who are here today will be astounded in the future.

"Judging not only from the sales made by the Bandera Realty Co., but also by those made by other realtors, the type of buyers are such as to warrant the most sanguin hopes and expectations for the future. They are not only financially strong and able to help in a material way to develop and stabilize this country, but they are of the very type citizens from their respective countries, morally, socially and religiously. They are the salt of the earth and any community can well be proud of their coming.

"A few of our recent sales are as follows: Mr. Sam McLain and his father of Grand Saline bought a 640-acre ranch of 1280 acres located on the North Fork of the Medina River above Medina. A. J. Wright of San Antonio bought the Ben Baker 1200-acre ranch located on the West Fork of the Medina River above Medina. We later sold him the Jeff Keese ranch on the West Fork of the Medina River and the property of W. W. LeStourgeon and Fred Waterous adjoining the Keese ranch. We sold the Justice Estate located one mile East of Medina, and fronting Highway 16 and the Medina River for Mr. Emmerson of Corpus Christi. Gene Shaffer of the Alamo Grain Co. of San Antonio, bought a beautiful site and nice new cottage from Lewis Caton located on Highway 16 and fronting the Medina River and adjoining the Justice Estate. We sold Mr. Cottingham of Corpus Christi the ranch of Jim Chamberlain located 4 miles North of Bandera on the Bandera-Hondo road. Mr. Bayette of Laredo bought Mrs. Louise Pickett's ranch 7 miles north of Pipe Creek. F. L. Lattig of the same city bought from us the ranch of Mrs. Hazel Chambers located on the San Julian Creek 4 miles east of Bandera. We sold Mr. Morrison of San Antonio the Ryan ranch of 500 acres 2 miles south of Bandera and Mr. Anderson of Kerrville the John Anderwald old homestead ranch 2 miles south of Bandera on the Bandera-Hondo road. Space will not allow the mentioning of more at this time. All of these people have begun improving their ranches and making needed and substantial improvements in many instances, all of which is of decided benefit to this county."

Lovelace is not only selling this great country to investors but believes in it by doing his own medicine and he is improving his own property at Highland Waters on Highway 16 just west of Medina on the Medina River. He is building some of the best fences in the country right now. Those fences are, poultry and stock-proof wire and 6-feet high. He has recently completed some attractive and insulated poultry houses and has the foundation poured for a large hatching plant for his pullets. He will soon build hollow tile houses for his fancy-registered and pedigreed turkeys.

Lovelace says that he has "gone into" and expects to make this his permanent home and "stay out west and grow up with the country."

THE GHOST AT FANNIN MANSION

Mignon Farsite was at the east wing of her three story mansion with her lawyer, James Hall, and writing her will at her deathbed. The time was 1892.

The time is 1943 and her grandaughter, Constance has just learned of her inheritance of the mansion. She will be taken there by her grandmother's old lawyer on the night Constance spent Wednesday at Atlanta, Ga., 10 miles from the mansion. Thursday they start for the mansion and on the way to the mansion they hear that several people have been murdered in the mansion. Constance Long advised Constance not to go there but she is determined to find out why the people never came back. She goes to the front door to find it open. The furniture is dusty and unused but there are fresh fingerprints on a chair. There are small red spots on the carpet. Constance recognized to be blood. She goes to the back of the house to find the door open. As she goes in the door she hears water dripping from the faucet. She hears footsteps and steps into a closet and as she hears someone she will it slides open and Constance falls into a dark cellar. When she looks around she sees human bones in a corner. She hear beside them a long case. Being curious she walks over to them to find that the case is a mummy case. She opens it to find a child about 9-years old and gagged. She unties the child "and finds that he is her younger cousin, Royce. Royce begins tells Constance that he had been there three days. He said that his teacher and there were no such things as ghosts but he believed her so he came to find out for himself, but a wonderful imitation put him in the mummy case. They try to find a way out and Royce happens to push a board and it ends on a stairway to the master bedroom. They go up and find the door unlocked. They open it—there is a ghost staring at them. He makes a dive for Constance but she runs into the bedroom and locks the door. Remembering Royce she unlocks the door to find Royce and the ghost both gone. She runs into the cellar looking for Royce but finds only their Royce or the ghost is there. She walks down and up the stairs again and again but when she finally goes up the last time the ghost is at the head of the stairs. She screams and falls down the stairs but the ghost comes after her. The ghost picks her up and carries her up the stairs until they have climbed many stairs. Then the ghost takes her into a small dark chamber. Constance gives up all hope of ever getting away but she wants to see if the ghost will talk to her. She says, "How did you get here and what do you want with me?" The ghost does not reply so she says it again and the ghost says, "I have been here since 1886, and you're only a kid 12 years. My mistress did not die a natural death. She was poisoned by her husband and I saw it all. I swore that I would kill everyone I found in this house except for the one that inherited this mansion and you are the one." Constance finds out that she was Rosie Rockwell. Royce said that he saw a small dead cat in the hall. Constance screamed but the small red spots she saw on the carpet was the cat's blood. Royce also said that he had found a few finger prints on the chair. Beast served Constance faithfully until the end of her days.

MILEAGE RATIONING FOR TRUCKS

Operators of trucks, buses and taxis must have their certificates of war necessity before applying to the local war price and rationing board for their mileage rations, W. R. Fletcher, Chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board announced today.

Certificates of war necessity, issued by the Office of Defense Transportation, form the basis for issuance of transport rations to commercial vehicles. When applicants go to the board they must bring with them these certificates, which states the number of miles the vehicle for which the certificate is issued will be allowed to travel during a 6-month period, and also states the number of gallons of gasoline needed to cover this mileage.

The rationing board will determine the amount of transport rations to be issued for the vehicle on the basis of the mileage allowed in the certificate. In no case is the board permitted to allow more gasoline than is stipulated in the certificate.

The "T" books will be tattered to the allowable mileage by tearing out coupons.

Human Prints

Fingerprints of two scapegoats and a chimpanzee were taken recently at the Philadelphia zoo, and they showed the same whorls and arches as human prints.

CATTLE GRUB CONTROL PROGRAM

An intensive drive to control the ravages of cattle grubs is being instituted by the Department of Agriculture, according to instructions received by H. F. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent of this county, and Mr. Culpepper, Extension Service. Every effort will be made to get as many ranchers as possible to treat their herds for grubs at least twice during November and December, Schlemmer said.

The purpose of the program is to get cattle clear of grubs in the early spring so that they can be clear of holes and the loss of meat, said to be as high as 20 per cent would be eliminated. The program is timely, because of the favorable weather at present. If ranchmen are urged to treat their cattle to cut down next year's infestation, they will get more to be shipped to market should be treated well in advance of the shipping season. Cattle should be treated by the grubs time to heal.

Treatment, according to the County Agricultural Agent, is easy and effective. The backs of the cattle are simply sprayed or dusted with a spray or dust applicator, rotenone dip or are dipped in the same solution in a vat. With the use of a spray, the cost of the material should not be more than 4 to 1 cent each. Complete directions can be had from the County Agent's office.

CURING VENISON

Sportsmen's guns are booming, the deer season is on and there is more serious purpose than in many years because the meat they bring in will probably constitute a limited supply of beef, veal, lamb, pork and mutton available for civilian consumption this year. Accordingly, says Roy W. Snyder of the A. and M. College Extension Service, venison should be cured, or cut into pieces ready for cooking before it is frozen.

Snyder, who is Extension animal industries specialist, says that when properly prepared the deer is table meat of a very delicious meat. The first step is to cool the carcass immediately to a temperature of 36 to 38 degrees F. four to seven days. If the weather is warm it is also considerable distance it may be kept better if frozen solid before shipping. The carcass should be skinned out and used as soon as possible after thawing.

Deer can be cured successfully, but the thicker, plumper muscles—the rounds—are best. Loins also are good, but ribs and Boneless pieces are preferable. A good cure mixture is 1½ pounds of salt, ½ pound sugar, and 1 ounce saltpeter dissolved in one gallon of water. The meat should be weighted down in the container so that all will be covered by the brine. A satisfactory cure is obtained if the meat in brine is kept in cold storage at 36 to 38 degrees F. during curing. Curing will take the curing should be done only in cold weather.

After being in brine for two days to the pound per piece the meat can be removed, eaten immediately or smoked with hickory, pecan or other hardwoods. After being properly cured and smoked the meat can be kept almost anywhere and under most conditions, except that it will have a tendency to spoil in a moist, hot climate.

The best way to be sure that the meat is properly cured is to put in a lard can and cover it with refined cottonseed oil.

Born to Pfc. and Mrs. A. C. Schneider at Santa Rosa Hospital Tuesday at 1:40 a. m., a 6¾-lb. girl. She was named Cynthia Ann. Mrs. Schneider is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kasper Mauirck. Mother and baby are doing well. Pvt. Schneider has been granted a 10-day furlough.

Bandera Bulldogs District Champions

The Bandera Bulldogs had little trouble in defeating the Edgewood team of San Antonio in the last district game of the season. The final score was 47-0. The Bulldogs took the air, and passes were grabbed from all positions.

This game cinched the district title for the Bulldogs. This is the first time Bandera has had a championship. It was a harder task this year, because of transportation difficulties. The Bulldogs have been praised by opponents and officials for every game, as being a heads-up team, and a group of scrappers. The conditions have not affected from the achievement, but have added to it. There will be a bi-district game played somewhere if it can possibly be arranged.

Starting the Bandera were: ends, Jergesen and Berg; tackles, Dugosh and Mauzeck; guards, A. Anderwald and Jergesen; center, Leonard Edwards; backs, G. Anderwald, Estes, Hillman and Martin. Others seeing service were Boyle, Billy Brint, J. Anderwald, Goodenough, Kalka, Manning, Pickens, Shelton. Coaches had Thatcher, Callahan, Lonnie Edwards and Donald Hay were not in suits.

This week-end Bandera plays Comfort. Come out and watch the champions play. The Athletic Department promises a good game for your own equipment. No tax money is used to buy suits and other equipment. This year we had to buy lots of new material, and still lack quite a sum of money. The price for the game is 50 cents and you will help a good cause if you buy one. The Band will be on sale Thursday and Friday, and if you are approached, buy one. The Bulldogs will appreciate it; come out and enjoy the show.

BRIDAL SHOWERS

One of the prettiest bridal showers of the season was given in the home of Mrs. Ruby Fee on Nov. 14th in the Home Economics Cottage at Medina.

Decorations of wild ferns and chrysanthemums were artistically arranged by Mrs. Robt. Smith, a professional decorator from Houston.

Miss Ruby received many beautiful gifts from friends in both Medina and Bandera friends.

Delicious refreshments were prepared by Mesdames Floyd Mayfield, Geo. Whitehead, Ben Adams, Who Forman, J. E. Richland, Beulah Lewis, Stanley Keese, B. H. Leiltungeon, Clarence Whitehead, Ross Cowsert, Jr., Marvin Hatfield, Wallace LeBlourgeon and Mrs. F. P. Layton.

On Nov. 24 a wedding will become the bride of Mr. Larry Ball, a prominent rancher of Bexar County.

KLUGE - CLARK

Miss Geraldine Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Zack Clark, became the bride of Staff Sergeant John Kluge last Saturday night in a ceremony performed by Rev. Father Ryan in the Bride Built Church of Sch Antonio. Sgt. Kluge is stationed at the Navigation School at Kelly Field.

Make their home in San Antonio.

The New Era extends congratulations and best wishes.

TEXAS 4-H CLUB GIRLS ARE BUSY

(Sylvia Ann Hajek, C. H. D. A., Extension Service, A. and M. College.)

Size and age does not keep 4-H Club girls from doing their part in the war effort. Texas 4-H Club girls have collected enough scrap rubber for seven battleships, 72 26-ton tanks, 36 bombers or 36 bomber thrown in. They salvaged enough steel for 738 light tanks and enough waste paper to make more than 291,000 cartons for sanitation use. With the fats and stamps they bought, Uncle Sam can buy more than 700 machine guns with 10 rounds of ammunition each.

The 4-H Club girls have grown and preserved enough food for one blue pie enough food to supply 1,700 soldiers for a whole year. The girls are on the job today—plowing, gathering crops, caring for chickens or livestock, or doing other farm jobs.

Thomas Mauzeck of the U. S. Naval Air Station, Seattle, Wash. has been promoted again, now being Pharmacist Mate, 2nd class and in charge of that office. He has made a rating every four months since he has been in the Navy.

THANKSGIVING IN WARTIME

In the minds of very many people, perhaps the majority, Thanksgiving is mostly the time of a big feed, when they expect to eat more than usual of a mighty fine feast of the best eatables. It is very fine to see these people having a good time with their nice oats. The Lord does not begrudge us any pleasure we get from the satisfaction of the physical hunger with which He has endowed us, provided we do not hurt ourselves by over-eating.

This occasion was established for real thanksgiving to God. The Pilgrim Fathers felt thankful in their hard conditions when after a good harvest they felt reasonably secure for the winter. Their experience would seem incredibly difficult to us in our comfortable homes. Yet their thoughts overflowed into this holiday of gratitude and praise. Let us still think how greatly our country and our lives have been blessed.

Many people may say that with the country involved in a terrible war sons and husbands exposed to the terrors of battle, with taxes and debts piling up, they have little to be thankful for.

Life was never meant to be wholly happy and care free. If we were spared all troubles, we might lack something of the experience for humanity needs to grow strong and vigorous.

"I trace the rainbow through the rain,
And feel the promise is not in vain."

That more shall fearless be," says one beautiful hymn sung in our churches.

So life goes through its harder periods and comes out stronger and better able to take shocks, and to find contentment and happiness even in times when clouds gather. Let us gather around our Thanksgiving table with hearts full of gratitude, looking on the bright rather than the clouds, and satisfied that life on the whole is very good.

IF MANY THINGS ARE SCARCE

The American people are told that there will be scarcities of many things before the war ends. The production of war supplies will be so enormous, they tell us, that it will be impossible for the factories to turn out all the civilian merchandise we want.

The American people, in their prosperity and great production, have had a way of discarding things when they get a little shabby, big ways and completely worn out. They feel more comfortable and confident when they are wearing good clothes. Their homes become more attractive when they keep their belongings up to date. But on a plain, if goods are scarce, they can get along without some of these things.

Clothes may be made to last longer by careful mending. You may put up with an old style garment, if you are under obligation to buy a war bond.

Some authorities fear a shortage of food, due partly to shortage of labor on the farms. The American people, with all their fertile lands and abundant machinery, should be able to raise enough food to feed themselves and make up for shortages among their allies.

If people can't buy all the household equipment they want, they will have to make the old stuff go. It may be hard on young married couples who want to start housekeeping. But amounts of second hand stuff can be had if new goods are not on sale.

It would seem excellent judgment, when people really need certain things in the near future, to buy them now. They should study the newspaper advertisements to see what is offered. The first duty is to buy war bonds as liberally as possible. Even if the shortages of goods become more serious, our people will have far more of the comforts of life than are possessed outside North America.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

People who throw litter into the streets would probably say sharp things, if someone threw similar refuse over their own home grounds. The streets are the city's home grounds.

If you feel unable to give your time to organizing movements to benefit your home town, at least help those who do promote these efforts by your hearty applause and encouragement, and by attending meetings designed to promote good causes.

Don't wait until the government takes your scrap! Sell it now.

WARTIME LESSONS

Wartimes teach us lessons about how success is attained. Armies win victories because they act as a unit, and the soldiers obey orders. The American people value their privilege of independent action in civilian life and are inclined to do as they please. With out sacrificing the rights of individual freedom they could act more as a unit than they do.

We propose to express our views about what should be done and how things should be handled for our home towns. Bitter controversies, excessive rivalries between competitors, failure to recognize useful public movements destroy the unity that is needed to bring progress to communities. Let us have a well united town here in Bandera, and all labor hard and work for home town progress.

TOWNS THAT SLEEP

It is frequently remarked about this or that community, that it is a good town, but pretty sleepy. There are good folks in such a place, but they often fail to realize that the world is moving, and they have to keep moving with it. So frequently they miss chances to make improvements, to extend their trade and business, and they gradually fall behind in the competitive race.

Let us hope that no one thinks that Bandera is such a sleepy town. With our industrial activity, our keen interest in war activity, our keen interest in war production, and all possible aid to our military forces, there is no fear of our people falling asleep. We should all be awake to the necessity of keeping up with the times. We progress either through the natural effort of producing everything we can that will help the world, or through the chances, even in wartime, to make home town improvements and get new business.

ENERGY AND INTELLIGENCE

The development of the South depends largely upon the energy and intelligence of people who have built up, and who still possess, that energetic persona. They are afraid of hard work, traditional for generations. They need their brains and their labor in observing the world and the necessities of the people, and in thinking out ways for public.

It also takes energy and intelligence to build up and keep them going. If people don't have the energy to work for home improvement, their towns will surely go ahead very fast. Instead when their public adopt modern ideas and provide the institutions and improvements of progressive communities are

Discovery Schedule

One of the most important of chance discoveries was made in 1844 by Goodyear, inventor of Idaho, where an extensive deposit of asbestos of high commercial value was found in the course of testing low-grade antimony. Scheelite is a source of tungsten, so important a metal in defense that it has been placed under full priority control by the Office of Production Management. Tungsten-content steel is used almost exclusively in construction of machine tools because it retains its cutting qualities under extreme temperatures.

REV. E. B. POSTERT, MCCARTHY SPEAKER AT CONVENTION

The many persons who have come to know Rev. Edward B. Postert, O. M. I. through his priestly work as assistant at St. Louis Cathedral, and by his highly beautiful efforts in the cause of Catholic Scouting in the New Orleans archdiocese, will congratulate him upon his appointment to the pastorate of St. Mary Star of the Sea church, Ballinger, Texas. At the same time, will deeply regret that his energy and talents will be devoted to labors in a distant part of the Lord's vineyard and his personality will no longer radiate its friendly charm in the New Orleans field.

The transfer order came from Rev. Walter Arnold, O. M. I., provincial of the Oblates of Mary Immaculate, San Antonio.

Father Postert was assigned by Most Rev. Joseph F. Rummel, Archbishop of New Orleans, to the task of directing Catholic Boy Scout activities in the archdiocese. It is in this phase of his activities that he became known to every pastor and most of the Catholic laymen and women of the New Orleans archdiocese. Testimony to the effectiveness of his work is given by the organization of troops and spiritual director of Troop No. 90, of the Cathedral parish.

Last summer, Father Postert was one of the projects nearest to the heart of Archbishop Rummel when his Excellency the Archbishop dedicated, with the impressive ceremonies, the Catholic chapel for Boy Scouts at Camp Salmen.

Father Postert took a personal and direct interest in matters pertaining to the general welfare of the Cathedral, or the Cathedral school, at 832 Dumaine Street. He was organizer of the Cathedral Knights, a group of boys trained to perfection in the serving of the Mass, all of which he inspired with an intense pride in the part they were permitted to take in the liturgy of the Church.

Father Postert has been assigned at the Cathedral since May 7, 1936.—Catholic Action of the South.

Sleeping on Top Blanket

Mattresses are cold. An expensive hair mattress is coldest of all, and innerspring mattress is slightly less frigid. In winter-time, consequently, the part of the body that is next to the mattress is chilled, and rapid burning over is caused by unconscious efforts to get the cooler part of the body up under the warm blankets. A wool blanket should be put under the bottom sheet shortly after Labor day to keep the downside of the body comfortable.

MANY NEW SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS ISSUED

From January to October 31, 1942, a total of 21,399 new workers entered employment in the San Antonio area of the Social Security Board. The area includes Bexar County and 20 surrounding counties. These figures are based on the number of new social security account numbers issued by the San Antonio office of the Board, according to a statement by F. J. McCarthy, Jr.; manager.

The great majority of the new account numbers were issued to workers in and near San Antonio. However, it was explained, this number does not represent the total of new workers in those areas, since many workers employed already had account numbers.

In addition to the issuance of almost 21,399 account numbers to new employees within the 1-year month period, San Antonio's office handled a total of 6,394 duplicate account number cards to workers who, through carelessness or by accident, had lost their original cards.

It costs the Social Security Board money to issue duplicate account number cards than to issue original cards since the application forms for duplicate cards must be carefully checked against the original records. This action is necessary to prevent the use of wages received by the individual for one set of social security account. Workers should realize the importance of their account number cards and avoid misplacing them because it costs the Government time and money to replace them. In addition, it causes many workers to lose time that is greatly needed in the war effort.

McCarthy urged each worker to show his social security account number to each employer for whom he works, regardless of the length of time during which he is employed. He also emphasized the fact that the more a wage earner receives in wages the more his insurance checks will be when he retires.

EAST VERDE H. D. CLUB

The East Verde Home Demonstration Club met Nov. 13 with Mrs. Arthur Hayes. The meeting was called to order a little early as this was to be a birthday party honoring Mrs. Miss Eckhart. The minutes were read and approved.

Mrs. Hayes gave an interesting report of the last Council meeting, which was followed by a discussion concerning the Christmas party. It was decided to have a party Dec. 11 at the East Verde school house for all the members and their families.

The new officers for the following year are as follows: Mrs. Alvin Clark, chairman; Mrs. B. C. Fleener, vice chairman; Mrs. Ivo Thomas, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Council delegate.

Refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Arthur Hayes.

"DO YOU?

Do you ever think of the harm you can do

When you utter a word that's unkind;

Or how much good it would do you

If you'd think of the heart

Ere you speak that is cruelly designed?

It isn't so hard to be careful of speech,

In showing how well you are bred;

When tempted to torture a sensitive heart,

Just leave words that worry unsaid.

Reducing Thick Ankles

Among new methods for care of the feet is a method for reducing the thick ankles which some women have to live with, and suffer from, all their lives. There are several reasons for thick ankles and one kind is caused by lymph fluid in the tissues of the ankle. Frequently this edema (as it is called) comes after a hard day of shopping on hard pavements. The basic cause of this variety of thick ankles is a chronic, untreated ankle sprain.

They also visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sachtleben and children on the Kallison ranch, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Stein and Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Anderwald and children at Bandera and in the Bill Zumwalt home on Winans Creek.
Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zumwalt and daughter and Mrs. Nettie Phillips spent Sunday in the J. W. Zumwalt home.
Henry Zumwalt killed an 8-point buck Monday and Loyd Anderson killed a 6-point buck, also on Monday. There are a good many hunters here now.
Carl Wheeler, Jr., who is in the army at San Antonio is spending a few days on the ranch with his brother, Elbert.
Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Anderson and Mrs. Lula Anderson took their turkeys to San Antonio Tuesday.
W. O. Hatfield and some friends hunted Monday on the A. L. Freeman ranch.

Diversion Schedule

One of the most important of chassis discoveries was made in the yellow pine district of central Idaho, where an extensive deposit of schedule of high commercial value was found in the course of testing low-grade antimony. Schedule is a source of tungsten, so important a metal in defense that it has been placed under full priority control by the Office of Production Management. Tunsten-content steel is used almost exclusively in construction of machine tools because it retains its cutting qualities under extreme temperatures.

Sleeping on Top Blanket

Mattresses are cold. An expensive hair mattress is colder of all, an innerspring mattress is slightly less frigid. In winter-time, consequently, the part of the body that is next to the mattress is chilled, and which turning ever is caused by unconscious efforts to get the cooler part of the body up under the warm blankets. A wool blanket should be put under the bottom sheet shortly after Labor day to keep the down-side of the body comfortable.

MANY NEW SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS ISSUED

From January 1st, to October 31, 1492, a total of 31,289 new workers entered employment in the San Antonio area of the Social Security Board. The area includes Bexar County and 20 surrounding counties. These figures are based on the number of new social security account numbers issued by the San Antonio office of the Board, according to a statement by F. J. McCarthy, Jr. manager.
The great majority of the new accounts recently issued to workers in and near San Antonio, however, it was explained, this number does not represent the total of new employees in defense plants since many workers employed already had account numbers issued.
In addition to the issuance of almost 31,289 account numbers to new employees within the ten-month period, San Antonio's office issued a total of 6,204 duplicate account number cards to workers who, through carelessness or by accident, had lost their original cards.
It costs the Social Security Board more to issue duplicate account number cards than to issue original cards since the application for a duplicate number must be carefully checked against the original records. This action is necessary to insure that all wages received by the individual are posted at the same account. Workers should realize the importance of their account number cards and avoid replacing them because it costs the Government time and money to replace them. In addition, it causes many workers to lose time that is greatly needed in the war effort.

EAST VERDE H. D. CLUB

The East Verde Home Demonstration Club met Nov. 13 with Mrs. Arthur Hayes. The meeting was called to order a little early as this was to be a birthday party honoring Mrs. John Eckhart. The minutes were read and approved.
Mrs. Hayes gave an interesting report of the last Council meeting, which was followed by a discussion concerning the Christmas party. It was decided to have a party Dec. 11 at the East Verde school house for all the members and their families.
The new officers for the following year are: Mrs. Alvin Clark, chairman; Mrs. R. C. Pfeener, vice chairman; Mrs. Dee Chipman, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, Council delegate.
As there was no further business, the meeting was turned over to Miss Hajek. She showed us some lovely aprons and pillow cases made of feed sacks, luncheon cloths were also made of white sacks, mittens and purse of corduroy, hat rack and shoe trees. She also showed us how to make necklaces of cantaloup and ghua berry seeds and how to rig and varnish them.
Games were played and then the honoree, Mrs. Eckhart, cut her birthday cake and it was served with hot chocolate to Mesdames Eckhart, Jeff Hardy, Alvin Clark, Dee Chipman, Arthur Hayes, R. C. Pfeener and Misses Hajek and Pearl Duke.

DO YOU?

Ever think of the harm you can do
When you utter a word that's unkind?
Ever think of the heart
That may ache
From a speech that is cruelly designed?
It isn't so hard to be careful of speech,
In showing how well you are bred,
When tempted to torture a sensitive heart,
Just leave words that worry unsaid.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

Thanksgiving Day services are held by the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and its branches throughout the world. The order of service includes the reading of a Lesson-Sermon on the topic of "Thanksgiving." Opportunity is also accorded those present to give testimonies of gratitude appropriate to the occasion.
The Golden Text is: "I will praise the name of God with a song, and will magnify him with thanksgiving." (Psalms 69:30).
Anyng the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Give thanks unto the Lord, call upon his name, make known his deeds among the people . . . Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come before him: worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness" (I Chronicles 16:8,29).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Gratitude is much more than the verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech" (page 3).

MAIL DELIVERIES MATTER EARLY

The Post Office Department is starting the most gigantic task in its history—the movement of millions of Christmas parcels, cards and letters while maintaining the regular flow of millions of pieces of mail daily to and from our armed forces all over the world.
Indications are that the volume of Christmas mail will be the largest on record. Already in September, latest month for which figures are available, retail sales had reached a level second only to the record month of December, 1941, according to the Department of Commerce. And sales are rising. Such heavy purchases always presage heavy mailings.
If thousands of our soldiers, sailors, marines and civilian friends are not to be disappointed at Christmas time, the public must cooperate by mailing earlier than ever before and by addressing letters and parcels properly. The best efforts of the Post Office Department alone cannot be enough, in view of wartime difficulties faced by the postal system. The public must assist.
About 25,000 experienced postal workers already have been taken by the war services. Arrangements are under way to add thousands of temporary personnel to postal staffs, but this man power is hard to find and is inexperienced. Facilities of railroad and airlines are heavily taxed by shipments of huge quantities of war materials and personnel. Extra trucks are almost impossible to obtain. Winter weather, hampering transportation, is beginning.
The free mailing privileges granted to members of the armed forces has raised their mailings some 20 per cent, it is estimated. Expansion of those forces also is adding rapidly to the postal burden.
The deadline already is past for mailing gifts to Army and Navy personnel overseas with assurance that the parcels will arrive by Christmas. The New York post office reports that in late October, 2,000,000 such parcels were handled daily in that office alone.
The Post Office Department is making strenuous efforts to avoid such a terrific jam as it faced in 1918 under similar conditions, during the First World war. It can succeed in those efforts—and avoid many heartaches for its patrons—if the public will cooperate by mailing early.

Record War Bond Sales Is Goal Of Women At War Week Nov. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's women in the cities and on the farms—in war factories and in offices—are invited to make Women At War Week the greatest War Bond selling effort since Pearl Harbor.
Mrs. Fyvilla D. Barnwell, secretary of the treasury of the Treasury Department's Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28, with an appeal to women to save on "little things" to provide extra money for War Bonds.
"We women want to work hard, we want to be a part of this strenuous period because unless we are, we will not be able to face the men when they return and claim our share of the future responsibility for building a peaceful world," the First Lady declared.
The overall direction of Women At War Week rests with the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff under the leadership of Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit.
From coast to coast in every community have made plans for luncheons, parades, fashion shows, teas, rallies, store window displays, Stamp and Bond booths, pageants, civic songs, bells and mardi gras. In each locality administration of the one week drive rests with the local War Savings Committee which has worked out activities adapted to their areas.
Mrs. Morgenthau, in a special message for Women At War Week, declared that the spirit of America's pioneer women lives today more strongly than ever.
"The average American woman began to rise to new heights on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941," Mrs. Morgenthau said. "This winter the average American woman will be spending less in order to save more to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. She will not, please God, ever have to fire a gun or fly a bomber. But she will, please God, always do everything she can to help buy anything—and the best of everything—that fires or flies or floats in this terrible war."

Deputy Women At War Week volunteer War Bond Stamp saleswoman will wear an armband similar to the one being attached to the sleeve of Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., by Miss Harriet Elliott.

WOMEN AT WAR—Overalls, wrenches and drills replace liveries as these war workers in an Army Arsenal march to task regalia shops. Note the determination on their faces. These women are typical of hundreds of thousands who are working in war factories and investing part of their earnings in War Bonds.

CHRISTMAS BUYING

Christmas will be on us before we know it, and there are special reasons this year why people should be prompt in buying and sending away their holiday gifts and greetings. The people have more money to spend than they ever had before, and consequently the stores, post offices and express companies are unreasonable, and makes plenty of trouble.

It would be a fine thing if every one could do their Christmas business done, and people should get right after it as soon as they can.

Some of the stores may be short handed, as labor in many lines is scarce. People would do well to get their shopping done early, and avoid that grand rush that will probably be worse than ever this year.

The custom of buying Christmas gifts is a wonderful expression of affection and kindness. It should always be encouraged, but as it turns out it has an unreasonable aspects. The idea that these throngs of people are going to jam the stores and stand in lines at post offices for about two weeks previous to the holidays, seems unreasonable, and makes plenty of trouble.

It would be well for store people, many of whom have to keep jumping all day to wait on the wants customers. Many people feel just about exhausted when Christmas comes, and in more of a mood to go to some nice quiet rather than enjoy the care free happiness and jollity of the day.

The workers of the postal system, too, undergo great strain through the days. They are trying to keep going at a high speed, as the lines crowd up to the windows, and all are in a hurry to get their packages weighed and stamped. The strain of the rush could be great alleviated, if only more people could form the sensible and kind habit of buying their Christmas stuff early, and get it out of the way before the rush comes.

AXIS PLANES

When the Nazis invaded the Low Countries and France, their airplanes took a terrific toll of life. It seemed impossible for the Allies to do anything against the rain of death from the skies. The British and French planes were far inferior in numbers. Even this year, scouts of planes were a big feature of the German advance into Southern Russia, and they helped enormously to push the Soviet forces back.

Axis planes have been lost on a feature in Russia in recent weeks. In the retreat of Rommel's armies in Egypt and Libya, the Nazis were pushed steadily by the British and American planes, which met with little opposition.

Something seems wrong with Nazi air power. Shortage of gasoline and oil seems the likely explanation. The Allies are probably building twice as many planes as the Axis, perhaps three times as many. The change will make a big difference when the Americans land on the southern shores of Europe.

WOMAN'S POWER OF TALK

The newspaper jokester says that women are supposed to talk more than men, but that they really have to, since there are so many men who can't think of anything to say.

Women are social artists to a greater extent than men. They affirmably attend more social affairs, and they obtain practice in the art of conversation. That is nothing against them, as it is a fine art to be able to talk pleasantly and gracefully. The good talker is more likely to get along well in the world than the man who can't think what to say. Many men need to cultivate this art a little more, and they would not appear so shy and awkward if they did. The lady conversationalist should not practice her art on comfantly at home, that the husband falls asleep, or rushes out to some place or other.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Are you something like a motor, pushing your home town ahead by your cooperation with progress? Or are you like a dead weight, which has to be carried by the efforts of someone else?

Advertising increases business, because it gives people what they know why they should buy of the advertised stores. They are attracted by this information, and they carry off big quantities of these advertised goods.

Your home town is like a football team. If the people show team work, they win the game of progress and improvement. If they lack such team work, the community usually stands still.

HOME TOWN PATRIOTISM

It is a satisfaction, as one goes about our home town, to see how nearly the people feel about the necessity for hearty support of the government. For making of all possible sacrifices, for giving their best energies to win victory, and bring the soldier boys back home. We have a grand American town here in Bandera, peopled low grade, and they will do anything necessary to bring about success to our cause, and establish American principles on a firm basis.

Our public sentiment says that our country is very dear to us, that we reverence its institutions, and that our flag and its principles and purpose to do our utmost to maintain those ideal and show the world the power of America.

READY FOR THE WINTER?

Have you driven over your farm grounds as you should to make them look trim and neat for the winter? Dead grass, manure piles people have, but perhaps some people have not gotten around to raking up all their trash which may be swirling around their premises. Some people may even onto the neighbors and giving an impression of disorder.
Now is the time to do with the leaves is to rake them up around your shrubs and thus give the protection against winter's biting temperatures. A few sticks or boards put over them will keep them from blowing away. A heap of leaves around a rice bush will deposit some fertilizer in the soil and the winter rains will leach through it, and thus help the shrubs grow and blossom more freely.

THE GOOD TOWN

If you hear people talking about the places they have lived in or visited, that they were good towns such and such a place is "a good town," and that such and such certain places are not so good.
Reputation are a good town is created by several factors, environment among which are business enterprises, civic pride, public service ideas, and the standards of entertainment. A town may have not like to be surpassed by competing cities. If it learns of some new improvement introduced elsewhere, it is likely to investigate the scheme and try it out. It hold the ideal of a "Spotlesstown." It is considered up to everyplay to make his place shine, and create an impression of refinement and progress. It is a mighty paying proposition to create the reputation that a place is a "good town."

WHAT ADVERTISING DOES

Some people argue that advertising increases the cost of goods. On the contrary, it reduces their cost. It does so because it increases the volume of business done by the advertised store. A typical way of advertising qualities to double the sales of almost any article and frequently to multiply sales several or many times.
If you double the sales of a store you do not necessarily double its cost of doing business. You will probably make a small addition to these expenses. The store is able to do this buying and transporting its goods in bigger quantities, so it should buy them at lower prices. Everything the store should reduce its selling cost. Its rent, taxes, light and get its goods for less money. These gains far exceed the cost of the advertising and permit sales at lower figures.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT ENDORSES XMAS SEALS

Washington, Nov. 24.—A warning that tuberculosis is increasing alarmingly in warring countries was sounded by President Roosevelt in endorsing the 36th annual Christmas Seal Campaign of the National, State and Local Tuberculosis Associations, which started Monday.
President Roosevelt said that it will take the greatest effort possible on the part of the people to hold the disease in check in this country. In endorsing the Christmas Seal Campaign, President Roosevelt said:
"The unholy alliance between tuberculosis and disease is particularly powerful in the case of tuberculosis. Tuberculosis has increased during the past year. The disease is increasing alarmingly in many warring European and Asiatic countries.
"In the United States tuberculosis is now at the lowest rate in our history. The control of this disease in check during wartime still demand the greatest effort possible on the part of the people, the medical profession, the tuberculosis associations and the official agencies. Any relaxation in prevention of all people is the fight against tuberculosis is imperative.
"The tuberculosis associations are well under way in their intensive drive for the wartime campaign. I have full confidence that the American people will generously support the Christmas Seals, the main support of the National Tuberculosis Association and the many hundred affiliated associations, to their many other wartime activities."

AGGIE-COUGAR GAME AT ALAMO STADIUM

The Texas A. and M.-Washington State football game in Alamo Stadium on Saturday, Dec. 5, promises to be one of the outstanding events of the Southwest this season, with the definite possibility that the Aggies may be meeting the Pacific Coast's Rose Bowl representative.
Arrangements are being made with A. and M. College to have at least one hundred and fifty members of the popular Aggie band present for the Alamo Bowl game. The music and intricate parading between halves of this fine military band is a show in itself.
Constituting a formidable cheering section for the Washington State team will be the famous Jefferson High School band and the Lasso Girls' Drill Team. Girls and the band are preparing to render official Washington State pep songs, featuring the new number by the alma mater song, "Washington, My Washington."
The Cougar's record includes wins over Stanford, Oregon, Montana, Oregon State, Michigan State and Idaho.
The Aggie-Washington State game will be a resumption of relations which last fall in Pullman, Washington, when the Aggies won out with a 7 to 6 victory.
Ticket now are on sale at the Municipal Auditorium, Pothergill-Smith Hardware Store and Woolsey's in San Antonio. Mail reservations can be made by sending check to the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, Insurance Building.
Regular Southwest Conference prices prevail, with reserved seats priced at $2.50 and $1.65, and gallery admission to civilians, $1.10 and to members of the armed forces 50c.

LIVING OUR OWN LIVES

When parents offer their children advice after those having people feel they are old enough to make their own decisions, the young folks frequently say, "I want to live my own life." It would be well anybody to listen to good advice.
Many boys and girls have gotten into serious difficulties because they were so keen to live their own lives without interference from their families. The parents' authorities would have something to say about that.
Married people sometimes say they want to live their own lives, and will not defer to their wedded mates. As a result many marriages have gone to smash. People who live independently just as they want to, are apt to run into a head-on collision with somebody who also is trying to live his own life.

PATIENTS LIKE NEW CLINIC PLAN

Dr. W. O. Brymer has instituted a new service for obstetrical cases at his clinic. Due to the crowded conditions he will no longer be able to go out on obstetrical cases and expects to be compelled to send his services for such a case should see him as soon as possible. Patients will still have to remain at the clinic more than 24 to 48 hours and are permitted to go home in the ambulance.

The plan is neg in Bandera but those patients who have taken advantage of it like it fine. It is almost impossible to get rooms in San Antonio hospitals as they are badly overcrowded and more and more patients will find this new plan of great advantage to them.

War Savings Sales Successful

It is very gratifying to report the splendid results of the recent special drive of Bond Sales for last week.

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking the Bandera members and others who so ably assisted in this drive. Especially do I wish to thank Miss Kathryn McBryde, Chairman of the ladies division, for her untiring efforts in the Medina community. It was through her enthusiastic solicitation and cooperation of the Medina school children that the Medina district made such an enviable record. We were hampered to a great extent by the intervening Thanksgiving holidays. Throughout the County the schools dismissed on Wednesday, last, and both banks were closed on Thanksgiving Day.

Mrs. Floyd Price, the new committee member of the Bandera Creek community deserves much credit for her excellent work and sales. Her most of the credit goes to you fine Americans, who are showing your undying confidence in your country, government by buying - "til it hurts." I know that you will all continue this attitude during the war, and will not wait for "drives" folks to urge your buying. Keep it in mind day, every week, every month, with purchases of stamps and bonds. Remember, it is the pennies to spare. It's a grand investment friends for the perpetuation of our Way of Life now and the good old "American Way of Life". Thank you one and all for your splendid cooperation. CHRISTMAS GIFT HOME TOWN

Make your home town a nice Christmas present by buying everything you can in your own home. Most people can do that for all or practically all their purchases. Even if you are a whole fellow that policy, they will keep circulating at home a large amount of money that would go elsewhere if they had not conceived that idea.

The result of the policy will be as important as if some philanthropist had given some large sum of money to the town as a holiday gift. The money spent at home will help business conditions enough more help, assist them to pay their taxes and rent and meet all expenses, and help to make improvements on their property, and will promote prosperity in the home town. Do not forget to spend the home town on your Christmas list.

The Texas A. and M. College Forest Service has announced that Bandera Co. is in the area which scientists have recommended as one in which cork oak seedlings are most likely to succeed. Farmers who would like to try tree planting are asked to contact their county agents.

Bulldogs Had Successful Season

The Bandera football team has completed the best season in football since the beginning of that sport in the school. We won nine out of ten of our games. This was done under very adverse conditions as many times we did not know just how we were going to get to the games.

We were fortunate in having reserve strength this year. In our Tuesday afternoon workouts the boys who did not get into the regular games, gave the regulars good practice and got valuable experience toward being regulars themselves in the future.

The following were recommended for letters: ends, Wallace Jackson and Freddie Berg; tackles, Jimmy Anderwald, Charlie Manning and Joseph Matlock; guards, Billy Dugosh (C), Lonnie Edwards and Donald Hay; centers, Lonnie Edwards and Leslie James; backs, Gilbert Aldredge, Johnny Boyd, Stanley Callahan (C), Teddy Bates, Avery Hillman, and Hughey Martin.

Reserve letters were given to: Wayne Wharton and Charlie Kalka; end Tuesday evening, Jack; Alfred Anderwald and Sidney Skinner, guards; and Gene Goodrum, center.

Other squadmen that stuck all year's yeoman service deserve credit because all the fun they could expect was the daily grind, were: Billy Burns, Billy Burns, Billy Brent, Wiley D'Spain, John J. Kindla, Robert Miller and Lafayette Pickens.

This year it was decided to invest something in boys lower than the high school. Work was also bought for 8th grade boys who wanted to start their football training. Great results began this work, and the following finished: Jimmy Sonny Dugosh, Bumper James, Glen Searcy, Roger Stevens and Jimmy Word.

Besides the arm saving thirteen of our letter men, our reserves will furnish enough material for the team for next year, providing circumstances will permit the continuance of the program.

The year's football has decided to keep the election of football queen in their organization. Tuesday afternoon the play period was used for this purpose. Candidates from each school were nominated. After a close count Connie emerged winner.

Material and all the Bulldogs will observe their annual banquet. The boys will furnish the material and all the Bulldog Homemakers will prepare it. All squadmen are eligible to attend. It will be a delightful affair and the boys will be permitted to dress as they please.

ONE YEAR OF WAR

On Dec. 7 the American people observe that most tragic anniversary, the attack on Pearl Harbor, which aroused the nation to the most furious indignation, and determination to resist with all its might the warmakers responsible for this dastardly action.

In previous wars of the United States there were large minorities who felt that our country was to some extent in the wrong, and that it should have kept out of the conflict in which it became engaged. In this war it was made clear that the United States was deliberately and treacherously attacked, and that there was nothing else to do but to defend itself and give its attackers such a severe punishment that in future years no nation would dare commit such an outrage against a peaceful country.

Some people have felt that if the United States had pursued a more conciliatory course, it could have avoided being drawn into this war. To have satisfied the Nazis and Japs who started the conflict no one would have had to refuse financial aid to nations that were in danger of being crushed by the tyrants and aggressors. Our people had too keen sympathies for that. Briefly aside, and let the warmakers overrun half the earth without any sign of opposition on our part.

So our people are united in this war, as they never were before in any such conflict. They have accomplished all they hoped in the production of weapons and war materials. They have tremendously increased that production. The military power of our people many times itself just as quickly as it gets the weapons and materials with which to fight. Grand victories in Africa and in the Pacific are revealing what Uncle Sam can do when he gets thoroughly mad, and is determined to stop the outrages from which he and many innocent nations have suffered.

PROFITABLE REPUTATION

A reputation for doing exceptionally good work is a highly profitable thing for an individual or a city or a locality. The business concern that gets a superior reputation will sell more goods, and the individual who gets such a reputation is likely to get a better job.

Many cities and towns have acquired a specially high reputation for producing certain lines of goods. People come to such places from a long distance to buy. Many farm districts acquire a similar reputation for producing specially good products in various lines. Many towns get a reputation for having specially good stores, and customers show a strong preference for such places. Everyone who tries to do superior work in his business or job helps create such a reputation.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

Many nations have gone down to defeat because of internal conflict. Internal controversy, the inability of different elements to work together in a cooperative way, has also caused the decline of prosperity in many communities.

People who talk well have exceptional power to influence the public. Also stores that constantly talk through advertising about the reasons why people should buy goods in those stores, have exceptional power to draw trade and win new customers.

One good way to conserve resources in wartime is to buy of the home stores, and thus save the use of gasoline and tires, and the cost of traveling elsewhere on shopping trips.

THE "INVINCIBLE" AXIS

The Axis obtained considerable currency early in the war, that the Axis nations are so strong and well organized for war that they cannot be beaten.

Germany still has a very powerful army, Japan is controlled a wonderful industrial development, and it has conquered a big part of Europe. It has put millions of conquered people to work toiling for the benefit of their conquerors, which greatly increases its power to support its armies. It has robbed the conquered lands of rich resources, which greatly increases its military power.

Germany and its conquered lands do not provide all materials necessary for successful war. Their weakness was shown when the Axis armies in Egypt were given such a complete licking. That came about largely because the Axis armies were so poorly protected by air-power. That lack of protection proved that the Axis it short of oil or planes, or both. The Allied Nations now control all Africa, except small areas in Tunis and Libya still occupied by their enemies. Thus a great flow of materials essential for power, which has been pouring into Germany, is cut off.

When the American boys made their grand attack on the German lines in 1918, they showed themselves to be superior, man for man, to their foes. They will make an equal showing this time. This time they have a better protection than the boys of 1918 enjoyed. A great umbrella of air support places overhead, and our death dealing tanks, will show those "invincible" Nazis some things they never learned in 1918.

There is nothing invincible about those Nazis. They simply are getting ready for war for years, while the free nations were preparing for peace. The mechanical equipment beat everything in sight until the Allies produced something better. Nazis now invincible Nazis has been buried for good.

LONG WINTER EVENINGS

If you see the old timers what they used to do on the long winter evenings, many of them would say there was often a lack of active occupation in their youth. Things might be naught in their home towns that they had many evenings when there was nothing to do but sit down under the evening lamp and read. They acquired thereby a heap of useful knowledge.

Today the long winter evenings are full of activity in the average city. Dancing is popular, Tickets shake with financing stoppers. Bowling alleys ring with the sound of falling pins, athletic echo cheers of basketball and so on. Many people in this finds left for study or improvement. There are some chinks of time left over, people can sit under the lamp and learn more of the world.

LARGE CROWD EXPECTED AT AGGIE-COUGAR GAME

San Antonio, Dec. 1.—The largest crowd in the history of Alamo Stadium is expected to view the major intersectional football game between Texas A. and M. College and Washington State at 2:30 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 5, in San Antonio.

The Cougars have marked up wins over Stanford, Oregon, Montana and Idaho State. Although the Washington State Cougars have tumbled through a winning season, marred by only one defeat at the hands of Southern California, the Pacific Coast team will not feel all is in order until it has had a try at sweeping sectional honor by defeating A. and M.

The Aggies are equally determined to send Washington State back from San Antonio with the knowledge that the Southwest Conference brand of football is the country's top quality.

Regular Southwest Conference prices prevail, with reserved seats priced at $2.40 and $1.65, and general admission to civilians, $1.10 and to members of the armed forces 50 cents.

This man is not dead. He is just sleeping. And sleeping a little more soundly, perhaps, because there are still many Americans who are not putting at least 10% of their pay into War Bonds on a regular, Payroll Savings Plan. How about you joining a lot of other fellows in getting this good sleeper a rude awakening? How about you signing up with a Payroll Savings Plan today . . . to the tune of not 6%, or 7% or 8%, but 10% and more if you can? LET'S TOP THAT 10% BY NEW YEARS.

WHAT YOU SHOULD DO:
If you are . . .
1. Already investing 10% of your pay in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan boost that 10% if you can.
2. Working in a plant where the Plan is installed, but haven't signed up yet—sign up tomorrow.
3. Working in a plant where the Payroll Savings Plan hasn't been installed talk to your union head, foreman, or plant manager—and see if it can't be installed right away. The local bank will be glad to help.
4. Unable to get in on the Payroll Savings Plan for any reason, go to your local bank, or wherever Bonds are sold. They will be glad to help you start a Plan of your own.

Police Discover Loot Chest

The disappearance of a collapsible pipe organ, from a neighborhood theater in Philadelphia, baffled Sergeants but not police. The manager, Oscar Forman, reported the organ, mysteriously the advent of sound movies, had been in the loft of the Byrd theater when he last looked five months ago. After sleuthing for a few days, Detectives Edward Carey and Albert Jones announced the arrest of a 17-year-old usher who they said had admitted hauling the 424-pound organ piece-by piece—since last November with the help of two friends.

Seal in Boy's Arm

Remember the nursery rhyme about little boys being made of "snips and snails and puppy dog tails?" A physician lanced a lump on a boy's arm in Ocala, N. C., and found there a live seal—shell and all. He said the snail apparently had been there for years but wouldn't hazard a guess on how it got there.

Praying Mantis

When the praying mantis lays her eggs she immediately encases them in a frothy mass of bubbles so durable that the bubbles last until the eggs are hatched. She does this to insulate the eggs and protect them against varying changes in temperature.

Janey

Janey closed the bedroom door and locked it. Alone at last! She threw back her head and heaved a deep sigh. Then she peeked out of the corner of her eye at the mirror to see if her sister Rose was such a pig about. She was, with beautiful gradiosquez. "Dear Mr. Morgenthau," she said and held her head back to admire this effort of the best pupil in penmanship class.

"Here are my stamps for a bond, $18.75. I started them Christmas when I got $2.00. Not counting $5 cash, I have earned all the rest, working one or more days a week in the local grocery store, and I'm quite proud that I worked hard to get it."

Janey stood at the window at Peterson's house and beyond at the big yard where the girls were playing football. She held her pen suspended in air.

Sitting here looking out the window, I see a beautiful little town, and I wonder how the world can be in such a turmoil and the people of this world can have such hate for their fellow men. So I'm proud to send these stamps because I know I'm helping to make the whole world peaceful again like our little-town."

She signed her name with an important flourish, not forgetting a compliment, "Dear," in front of the "Janey." After she had sealed the letter she went on standing out of the window. It really was awfully peaceful. Overhead she heard a plane go humming by through the sunny afternoon air.

Then the voice of her best friend, Betty, called from outdoors. "Janey, oh Janey!" In an instant Janey was on her feet and tearing downstairs and out. She was not Hedy LaMarr nor a deep philosopher nor a nurse, but exactly twelve years old.

Over the Top by New Year's Is the Plea of Secretary Morgenthau

November 13, 1942

As of today twenty-one million American workers are investing eight per cent of their salary—every pay day—in United States Savings Bonds. This is a very remarkable tribute to our armed forces who are fighting this war. But this job is only two-thirds accomplished.

There are still one million additional American workers who are not investing in War Bonds every pay day.

This appeal is directed to two groups of Americans:

First—the twenty-one million people who are investing eight per cent of their wages. We ask them to increase their investment to ten per cent or more.

Second—the other-nine million who we ask to join the Payroll Savings Plan and to invest ten per cent or more of their earnings.

It is our earnest hope here at the Treasury Department that by New Year's Day thirty million Americans will be investing ten per cent or more of their wages in War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Henry Morgenthau Jr.
SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

18% OF HER PAY GOES INTO WAR BONDS

War Plant Worker Buys Bonds for Warrior Husband

Although she has title children to support on her wages as a power press operator at a war plant, Mrs. Mabel W. uses 18% of her pay every week into War Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan, Mrs. W. thinks of every bond she buys in terms of what it can do for her soldier husband out in Australia. "Already," she says, "I've bought Jim a Garand rifle and a gas mask in War Bonds. I feel I'm helping to bring him back safe and sound."

You Can Spare 10%!

Maybe you can't save as much as 10% of your salary in War Bonds. But you can stretch yourself a bit more—make a few "sacrifices"—and reach Uncle Sam's goal of 10% for War Bonds every payday! Sign up today with the Payroll Savings Plan where you work!

Some mosquitoes go into A. and M. College Extension Service.

Plastics made by the weak and taking war-time adjustments into consideration will increase the housemaker's efficiency the specialist believes. She predicts that before the end of 1941 housewives may make their soap at home or buy it at her neighborhood grocery store and take it home in a jar or can bucket. Manufacture of canned soups has been curtailed because of uneconomical use of tin cans.

Miss Bryant says eliminating the frills in packaged foods and other manufactured articles may be expected, too. Soap will have fewer wrappings, and there will not be so many types and sizes of containers on the grocer's shelves.

Looking at adjustments in the clothing field, Miss Bryant says consumers should not expect many major changes in 1942, but there may offer many problems. In the year ahead housemakers will find fewer cottons on the market. Less rayon and wool goods, and more "blends" of wool and synthetic fabrics. Articles such as galoshes must be "duration goods" that is, they must last for the duration.

"There are some new mixtures, fibers and articles on the market," Miss Bryant says, "but they are still in the experimental stage, so don't believe all the claims made for new articles and materials on the market."

MEAT RATIONING ON THE FARM

Self-rationing of meat to two and one-half pounds weekly for each person isn't such a hardship when the total for the year's homeraised hogs, Hay W. Snyder of the A. and M. College Extension Service. He's the extension animal husbandman specialist. The full quota would give one person 130 pounds each 12 months. The average consumption of meat in the United States in 1941 was 146 pounds.

Snyder suggests that the difference of 16 pounds—less than five ounces weekly—readily be offset by good management in the home. Poultry and fish, along with liver and other portions of meat animals are not subject to restriction. Used a little more freely these foods would provide satisfying substitutes for beef, veal, pork, lamb and mutton.

As the self-imposed rationing applies to farm families, Snyder says they can kill the meat they need to supply two and one-half pounds weekly for each adult. A fat 225 pound pig will cut out about 100 pounds of meat which can be cured. In addition, there will be about 50 pounds of spare ribs and five pounds of sausage.

To avoid the usual congestion of meat at hog butchering time, Snyder suggests staggering the slaughtering program. Where two or three families have been killed and cured for the year's meat supply, he recommends butchering them at intervals of three or four weeks. This would reduce the amount of meat which ordinarily must be consumed as fresh. This includes the liver, the head when properly cleaned and trimmed, some of the bone meat, and feet, especially the portion below the knees and hocks.

The family who wishes to help all it can in the emergency can cure all the parts suitable for such treatment," Snyder counsels.

1942 WILL BRING CHANGES

During 1943 homemakers can expect to buy many foods in bulk which they formerly bought in more convenient cake. Sugar, bread is one food, for example, which likely will be sold only in bulk during the year just ahead, says Louie Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Packaging made by the weak and taking war-time adjustments into consideration will increase the housemaker's efficiency the specialist believes. She predicts that before the end of 1941 housewives may make their soap at home or buy it at her neighborhood grocery store and take it home in a jar or can bucket. WHEN JOBS ARE PLENTIFUL

It is remarked that jobs and opportunities are far more plentiful than usual. What effort does this have on the individual worker? Are some people tempted to be flutterers and triflers on the idea that they are not likely to lose their jobs since the employer might not be able to fill their places?

It is to be hoped that few people will take that attitude. For the present time is one in which fidelity is keenly valued. Employers are struggling with difficult conditions, and they appreciate those who do good faithful work. Those who try to come as near 100 per cent as is humanly possible, are viewed with high favor. When times of slack employment come, those who perform high grade services are the ones who are favored.

"Women are open books to me," claims a psychologist. But he can't shut them up!

OUT INTO THE ROUGH WORLD

It is with feelings of tenderness and sympathy that parents see apt to see their boys go off to join the armed services. The thought comes that is is hard on these young fellows to have to go out into the rough and cruel world, and take a chance of being knocked out by ruthless enemies. "Why could not the world have gone on peacefully, without calling its millions of youths to this hard service?" is the question asked by many.

Many of these young fellows have had life fairly easy and comfortable up to now. Their wants were provided for until they were old enough to earn a living. In due time they usually found work, and were able to earn the necessities of life. Now they go out to meet enemies who hate them, and take a chance against the most deadly machines the world has been able to invent.

We have to take the world as we find it, and stand its wrongs and roughness, and take our fair share of efforts to make it a better one. Parents have to learn to see their boys go to war, but they would not want those boys to fail to take their out of the burden. There is a satisfaction in feeling they are showing loyalty to their country, willingness to give up fair hopes for a time, and take the dreaded risks of death or injury.

There have been periods when the country moved forward in steady progress. But that has proved impossible to make those periods last. The world is made up of conflicting ambitions and full of discontent. Sometimes these emotions reach such a height intensity that they can be controlled only by force. Those who are young and strong have to take in the job of mastering destructive elements.

Even if a beloved boy loses his life in this awful struggle, his family can have consoling thoughts. He has covered his life with glory, he answered the highest call, and his memory is ever revered. At least his life is complete in grand and triumphant success, while something.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS
Actual experience on the world's first war has proved the collapsible boat an essential safety feature for both Naval and land based planes. They are made of rubberized material, easily inflated.

At the Battle of Midway an Army Lieutenant, after his plane was shot down, was forced to bail out of his bomber. He was able to get a "fish eye" view of the entire battle from his collapsible boat and was later picked up by an American plane. Your purchase of War Bonds with at least ten percent of your income every pay day will help protect the lives of men who are flying for you. Get behind them, today. U. S. Treasury Department

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

If you want, your home town to prosper, do your share toward that prosperity by buying at home.

Time spent on community activities is like money put into a bank. It comes back to you some day in the form of wider acquaintance, the friendship of very many people, and experienced in handling community affairs.

Opportunity is said to knock once at every man's door. She keeps knocking at many doors nowadays, when so many things are needed in the war effort.

If she wants a holiday—transmitter.

If she talks too much—interrupter.

If she wants a date—meter.

If she wants to call—receiver.

If she wants an escort—conductor.

If she's narrow in her views—barrier.

If she goes up in the air—tender.

If she's hungry—feeder.

If she's a poor cook—discharger.

If she eats too much—reducer.

Archibald Percival Reginald Cholmondeley ended an evening to call on his girl.

Together they talked of their "wife and their kin."

He said, "May I kith you," and she said, "You kin."

THE SHORTNESS OF LIFE

The casualty lists in the armed services, and losses by death in ship sinkings, deaths in fire and various tragedies, keep bringing us from time to time a reminder of the shortness of life and its uncertainties. "In the midst of life we are in death," were the mournful words of the burial service in the "Book of Common Prayer." "The grass withereth, the flower fadeth," said the prophet Isaiah in the Bible. These words are constantly being verified, and life sometimes seems as transient as grass and flowers.

The country feels deep sympathy with all who have sudden death on the field of battle or in civilian activities, and with sorrowing relatives and friends who find the deepest ties of life so suddenly snapped.

The religious leaders of former days used to dwell frequently on the idea of the shortness and the uncertainty of life. People were constantly reminded that they knew not what a day might bring forth, and that the morning that dawned with the fairest hopes might be the terrible avenue and tragedy. The people were told to prepare for death as something that might come any time. This was a powerful influence on human conduct.

In recent years the emphasis has been different. The feeling has grown that it is not healthful or normal to be constantly thinking about death. That people should try to do right and live the best lives they can. Then if death comes suddenly, they will be prepared to meet it with a calm mind.

It is not well to forget the fact that life is short. That perils lie across all our ways. People should so live that they are ready for the unexpected, and that if they are suddenly called away their families will not suffer too seriously.

GRAND CHRISTMAS STOCKS

The people of Bandera are greatly pleased as they look over the stocks of goods which our merchants have provided for the holidays. Our business people have been considering the holiday demand for many months. They have foreseen that many articles might be scarce. Also they have seen that the incomes of the people have increased, so the public is able to buy more. Hence the stores have laid in heavy stocks of useful and beautiful articles. Come to people can find what they want right here at home.

Many of the things now being sold can not be duplicated for a long time after these stocks are sold. It may be the last chance to get many of these things while the war lasts, and for some time after the war closes. The purchase of wholesale articles which now is not likely to be regretted.

The young swindler was asked which he thought were happier, people who were married or people who were not.

"Well, I don't know," he replied, "because I think there is as many as is that ain't, as ain't that is."

TIMELY TIPS ON COFFEE

Arguments that coffee taken black is "better for you" than coffee with cream and sugar has no basis in fact. Plus coffee is not a food. It can neither build and repair the tissues of the body nor provide energy for the body to run on.

The cream in coffee is food, and the sugar is food, but coffee itself, says Hazel Phipps, specialist in food preparation for A. and M. College Extension Service. She says rationing will cause many people to change their food habits, and they may as well change them for the better.

For some, to "stretch" their coffee allowance, many people may want to try their coffee the French way—half hot coffee and half hot milk. This is a good beverage for making coffee go farther and for getting more milk into the diet. Miss Phipps says, too, that coffee and chocolate are flavors which blend well together. So for a change she suggests a cup of hot chocolate or cocoa with a dash of coffee in it, instead of a cup of coffee.

Homemakers who have any left-over coffee, can make excellent use of it, provided they put it in the refrigerator. It can be used as a flavoring, especially in desserts.

The specialist also suggests serving beverages which fill in the gaps where coffee formerly was served. At lunch or dinner a cup of steaming fruit or vegetable broth is good. "The fragrance of that hot cup should give your appetite a lift," says Miss Phipps says. With desserts, try a hot spiced fruit juice. Hot grape juice spiced with cloves or stick cinnamon, or hot spiced cider go well with many sugar saving desserts.

Bandera County's Most Complete Food Store

RECORDS OF FOODS SERVED MUST BE KEPT DURING DEC.

Records of virtually all foods served in boarding houses, restaurants, hotels, clubs, hospitals and institutions in the month of December must be kept for later use by the Office of Price Administration, W. R. Fletcher, chairman of the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board announced today.

Such establishments should have registered with the Bandera County War Price and Rationing Board on Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday, Nov. 23, 24, or 25 to obtain their coffee allotments for the period ending Jan. 31, 1943 Mr. Fletcher said.

The Board has no records of specific instructions as to the records which such institutional users of foods must keep in December, and reports based on the facts thus recorded will be required of each boarding house, restaurant, hotel, club, hospital and other institutional user after Dec. 31.

The OPA has explained that the facts are necessary so it may have accurate information as to the effect of the current rationing programs on the service of meals and on the use of other foods that are not rationed," Mr. Fletcher pointed out. "It is expected that valuable information especially will be provided on the present coffee and, sugar rationing programs."

The exact information that such users are requested to keep during December included:

1. The number of persons served during December, with each person counted separately every time he eats a meal.

2. The gross dollar revenue from the service of food and nonalcoholic beverages.

3. The quantity of each of a number of specified foods used during December.

4. The number of each of the specified foods that is on hand at the close of business on December 31.

Foods for which records are to be kept in total pounds used are: sugar, coffee, butter, poultry, meats, including canned and edible parts and organ meats and lard oil; canned soup; canned fruits and vegetables; canned fruit and vegetable juices; commercially frozen fruits and vegetables; dried or dehydrated fruits; dried peas and beans; canned evaporated and condensed milk.

Foods for which records must be kept in gallons are: fresh milk; fresh cream; and ice cream.

The weight of canned foods can be the weight given on the labels. Canned fruits and vegetables will include all the fruit, juice, jars or bottles. Catsup and chili sauce should be included, but not olives, pickles, jams, jellies or relish.

Christmas Program At P. T. A. Meeting

A very entertaining Christmas program was presented at the P. T. A. meeting Tuesday night at the high school. The auditorium was decorated with a Christmas tree, poinsetta plants and red candles. The program opened with the singing of Christmas carols by the group and led by Pashia Evans. Mrs. Louie Goodwin accompanied. The invocation was given by W. O. Patton. Special music by the Bandera Orchestra composed of Mrs. W. P. Graham, Mrs. Goodwin, Missa Irene Dawson and Billie Marie Davenport, T. E. Connell Jr., J. H. George and Billy Graham was greatly enjoyed. Mrs. R. H. Teel read two of her original poems, "When Chase Nears Detroit" and "All Is Well." The High School Chorus then sang Christmas carols a cappella. Rev. W. A. Bowen was the speaker of the evening and brought an inspiring message on "Fellowship."

A brief business session was held to determine the winner of the attendance award and the fourth and sixth grades tied. Mrs. Clark spoke about the lunch program and asked for volunteers to head and serve the lunches.

A social hour followed and Mrs. A. Hayes, Mrs. Ted Neeley and Miss Pearl Rogers, members of the social committee, assisted by girls from the Homemaking Department served delicious refreshments of cherry and lime jello, carrying out the Christmas colors. Sandwiches, cookies and punch.

Implement Rationing Instructions Received

Complete instructions on the new farm implement rationing order have been received at the County Agricultural Agent's office and all necessary forms are available there, according to H. F. Schlemmer, Bandera Co. Agent. Copies of all information have been sent to dealers throughout the county, and applications may be made at the dealers' place of business. No county quotas have yet been set, but they are expected shortly. State quotas indicate that county quotas will be very small.

No quotas at all have been set for some items, but a permit to purchase is necessary, Schlemmer said. The items included in this list are well supplies and windmills, hydraulic rams, pumps, netting, wire fencing of all kinds, milk cans, power pumps and hay balers. Neither have quotas been set on other items now in the hands of the dealers, but permits will be necessary before they may be sold. Many other items, such as horse drawn equipment, may be purchased without a permit.

SAYING GOOD BY

It is an emotional moment when parents bid their sons, daughters and sweethearts say "Good by" to the men they love, when they leave for camp or other military service. Some of them may not be able to control their emotions, and taking a great separation casually, and acting as if those things were an every day affair. This is the best way to take partings. Foreboding thoughts do no good. The boy in uniform will come back, and be all the better for the new experience. He will be welcomed by hearty send-offs from crowds of their fellow citizens, and it promotes hope and courage in the days when lows, and we are mighty proud of their spirit.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM AT BAPTIST CHURCH

VOLUNTEER BAN EASED

Washington, Dec. 15.—Arrangements to draft men for the army, marines and coast guard will not be completed for about six weeks after the December 18 through 24 draft volunteer for those services through their local selective service boards, excluding agriculture.

The local boards, an official said, have been advised this temporary procedure will be followed to prevent the three services competing for manpower.

No one will be permitted to apply to his board for the right to volunteer after he has been ordered to report for induction into the army, the spokesman said, and drafting of men for the army will continue without change.

If the navy, marines or coast guard rejects the applicant, his board will treat him the same as it was before he volunteered and he will remain subject to induction.

Earlier orders forbidding selective service boards to defer skilled workers, as essential in the shipbuilding, farming, and, aircraft industries will continue in effect, the spokesman said.

W. P. B. Asks For Heavy Scrap

The War Production Board has announced that in spite of the success of the recent scrap drive there is need for heavy scrap to mix with the lighter scrap. Rural areas have been active in scrap collections but it is hoped that more heavy scrap from rural areas can be collected.

Farm work at this time of year is at its lowest ebb and will give the farmer an opportunity to give whole-hearted attention to this drive.

OUTDOOR DECORATIVE LIGHTING BANNED

The War Production Board has asked utility officials, civic clubs, chambers of commerce, merchants and citizens generally to dispense with outdoor decorative lighting this Christmas.

WPB pointed out that Christmas lighting requires the use of critical materials, electricity, and manpower and is not in line with general conservation programs already under way.

The attitude of WPB toward Christmas lighting was considered because of numerous inquiries that have already been received from city officials, chambers of commerce and civic clubs asking what the War Board thinks. Christmas lighting is estimated to save 50,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, enough to meet the lighting and power requirements of a city of 50,000 for a year.

WPB is not asking that indoor Christmas lighting, whether in the home or in stores, be eliminated. It is not asking that indoor lighting, such as festooned store fronts and decorated streets, must be discontinued in war time.

Although the electricity saving and the resultant fuel saving may appear small, as compared with the total annual useage, nevertheless the elimination of outdoor Christmas lighting is estimated to save 50,000,000 kilowatt hours of electricity, enough to meet the lighting and power requirements of a city of 50,000 for a year.

On Monday Allied troops captured Buna in New Guinea, which had been under siege for some time. BUSINESS IN '43

The old custom of making good resolutions had many advantages. If people had only kept the resolutions they made we should have a better record in the world. Business can well make its good resolutions. Here are a number which resolutions that might be suggested.

First, to cooperate heartily with the business community and all competition in plans for advancement of the home town.

Second, to give some amount of time if possible to aid projects designed to make the town more attractive to the people who live there.

Third, to buy all goods and supplies in the home town so far as possible.

Fourth, to attend meetings so far as possible that are called to consider matters of interest to the town and community.

Fifth, to find a way to keep optimism in the human spirit leads us to believe that it will be a better year than 1942 has been or is gone. It is fortunate that human nature is such that thoughts outlook for the future. Solomon reported authoritatively to be suffering severely from starvation and disease, with food supplies for about six weeks. Governor Dwight H. Green of Selective Service Director, Colonel Craft Guard officer, who was in charge of the naval operations during the emergency until Nov. 5, said in a press conference at the Navy Department that they accomplished the change in the personnel of the draft "right under the noses of the enemy all they can do to contact starvation and disease. let them have to worry about that little bit of hell the Marines are giving them."

RUSSIANS EVACUATE IMPORTANT CITY

A British source said Tuesday night that Russian capture of Rostov-on-Don presaged evacuation of the oil- and coal-rich Donetz basin and the remainder of the Caucasus by the Germans and Italians.

The Russian advance inflicted what British sources termed an "enormous defeat" for the retreating Germans. Kotelnikovski is a key town on the Stalingrad-Krasnodar railroad about 90 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

The capture of Kotelnikovski is a most significant success which even the German radio admits is a "set-back," said the British military source.

The capture means the extermination of Col. Gen. Hermann von Hoth's 4th Army, or what is left of its 22 divisions, surrounded near Stalingrad, Moscow said. Also the Germans had lost the only chance for the Germans to launch an effective attempt to release 200,000 of their troops trapped between the Don and the Volga River. It is a point which Hitler said Germany would not give up at all costs.

Germans fled before the Russian advance along a highway—the only one of six traversing the town which the Russians had not cut—leaving behind a trailband of tanks and 17 planes.

NEW YEAR THOUGHTS

A feeling of mystery and anticipation pervades the world at New Year's day. We are like the audience in a darkened theater, awaiting the spectacle to be presented on the stage before. Behind that curtain we have little idea what we shall see. We can expect that it hides joys and sorrows that we have experienced. One looks with anticipation and hope for the lifting of that curtain.

Let us be grateful for what New Year with a great sentiment of good will. A feeling of fundamental optimism in the human spirit leads us to believe that it will be a better year than 1942 has been or is gone. It is fortunate that human nature is such that thoughts outlook for the future. Solomon reported authoritatively to be suffering severely from starvation and disease, with food supplies for about six weeks. Governor Dwight H. 1942 IN HISTORY

As the world looks back at the year 1942, as historians mull over its story, and youngsters study about it in school, what will they say about it?

A hasty go down through the ages as perhaps the most terrible year the world had ever experienced up to that time. A year in which up to the end of the year a group of free nations not well prepared for war, which only partly with all their might to contend with countries that had been preparing for war and treacherous plans for years, and which had developed war equipment and organization far better than ever before in world history.

A year of struggle, like a bunch of amateurs trying to play against a team of well trained professionals.

It will go down as a year of barbarism, of Satanism, of Satanism, with governments forcing poor and vanquished people to toil for their conquerors, with record will tell of great numbers of innocent people put to death by the tyrants of this time.

The year will tell of how the free nations gradually strengthened their resistance to this tyrannical power, of how they concentrated their resources in war production, how they got their differences settled all over the world to attack the conquerors.

And of the great events of 1942 will always be the amazing expedition of American forces that landed in Africa a few weeks ago. How that enormous task was done, carrying men and weapons and supplies, suddenly showed up and landed on those shores and quickly obtained possession of an enormous slice of African soil, will always be one of America's grand achievements.

The year 1942 has been like a ship, that is passing through a terrible storm, and the end of the year finds lifting a little, and the waves rounding 1943 fiercely against this strong and sturdy craft.

Mrs. Joe Louis Davis of San Antonio visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. E. Adamietz during the holidays.

Sears makes this as a war contribution to help increase the production of food by the farming forces; to introduce better breeding stock; to encourage thrift and gifts should be given to the chairman, Mrs. Parris.

This is a very commendable work and will give the soldiers a chance to enjoy hams off during the winter.

We hope to be able to make a good report when the Council meets again on Jan. 31.

GOOD COMEDY AT BANTEX

Entertainment values run high in "The Talk of the Town," which plays Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the Bantex Theatre. It is a cleverly conceived and directed story about a girl who finds herself with an escaped and falsely accused arsonist living in her attic and the Judge who convicted him living downstairs. Jean Arthur and Cary Grant try to convince the unlucky jurist, played by Ronald Coleman, of Grant's innocence. In order to do so, they must pose as the gardner, and the pair endeavor to humanize Coleman. Donald Ogden Stewart story base, "The Talk of the Town" is a fine comedy and an extremely good one.

HOW LONG THE WAR?

The newspaper man is sometimes asked: That an editor of a paper is supposed to know everything. So one of the newspaper men is at it how long the war is going to last. Free to say, we thank the editor will be special purchase of information. If ghost could be had to such special purpose. But we'll say this: It will be years to reach victory we should be able to force our enemies beaten to their knees. Then we will have many people are able to imagine.

The great foolish of the situation is, we should have had a war plan that would be the greatest of all time, and we should have had it all of Africa. It may be possible that by the time some other people have finished with Britain will be firmly established at a number of points in Europe, and the Germans will be defeated in France.

The prospect is invading South America, and the Japanese will be in the United States. The Germans have the Panama Canal, and the Japanese will be in the United States. The Germans will be in the United States. The Germans will be in the United States. The Germans will be in the United States.

WHAT IS INCOME TAX?

The federal income tax, as is the name implies a tax levied upon incomes, and it is payable in relation to the amount of income. Income, for federal income tax purposes means in general any compensation for one's services, whether the compensation be in money or in goods or other services; it includes also the net valued received for the product of one's labor, as farm produce in the case of a farmer; income from investments; profit from business operations; and other gains from sales and exchanges of goods and property. Certain limited categories of income are, however, tax exempt, and to the extent of such exemption are excluded in computing the tax.

Because of exemptions from the tax given to persons having less than certain stated amounts of income, as well as because of various deductions and credits allowable, only a small proportion of the number of persons receiving income have until recently been subject to the tax. Thus, of the estimated 55 million persons in this country who received income in one form or another during the calendar year 1941, only some 26 million persons were required to file federal income tax returns for that year, while of these some 26 million, more than 9 million were not taxable due to credits and deductions allowable.

As a result of the lowering of exemptions, many more persons are now subject to the federal income tax than before, and for the calendar year 1942 it is estimated that more than 53 million persons will file federal income tax returns. To the large number of persons required to file federal income tax, who have never reported income before for Federal tax purposes, an understanding of the law and applicable regulations is of prime importance.

The U. S. W. Claytons received a letter from their son, James saying that he was in North Africa.

Mr. and Mrs. Billie Cornelius received word from their son, William that he had safely arrived at the seas. Collie Snow had also sailed and Raleigh Snow is in England. Also Jesse is in the army.

We are sorry to report Rob Ryan is still very ill.

Elton Moore spent the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Moore in Laredo.

SGT. McKAY SEES BROTHER PERFORM

Dallas, Aug. 1.—Sgt. Clayton McKay came to see yesterday's Cotton Bowl game.

You see his brother Roy Mc-Kinley is the star of the game and the sergeant never had withdrawn Roy in order to see the game.

So Sgt. McKay scrambled all the way from Camp Polk, La., to Dallas.

In Dallas he needed transportation to the field. So he used the same method to get there as emergency transport in Dallas. He stuck out his thumb.

Along came a military car and the sergeant gave the signal. He almost fainted when the automobile stopped and looking him squarely in the face was the biggest white star he had ever seen—an insignia meaning that no less than a brigadier general aboard.

"Get in son," the general said.

He was Maj. Gen. Richard Donovan, commanding officer of the 8th Service Command.

Sgt. McKay, still a little jittery, arrived at the field in style. He saw his brother lead Texas to a 14-7 victory over Georgia Tech.

Roy T. and Clay McKay are brothers of E. L. McKay of Bandera.

Barl Hicks of Tarpley, Bandera County, is the winner of a "Daily Award of Merit" for his prize-winning pen and ink drawing in the sale of his stamp lodged the best of 1,403 drawings submitted and received at Sears Raw Fur Receiving Station in Dallas, Tuesday last. Mrs. Hicks received certificates Hicks to consideration for one of the major awards, including a $50 War Bond, in the final judging to be held in April.

Correct pelt preparation—the prime purpose of the Fur Shows—has proved to be of vital importance to trappers due to the fact that millions of dollars were formerly wasted through carcass butchering, stretching and drying of furs—dollars which could readily have gone into the trappers pockets instead of being cast to the winds. Well-prepared furs bring higher prices by far than poorly handled ones—thus increasing not alone the earning of the trapper but the nation's wealth. Through various natural resources bears Fur Show was established by Sears Roebuck and Co. to encourage correct pelt handling. Awards—and the total $4,000 awards—have been increased to $7,500.00 in cash, comprising 606 awards ranging from $5.00 daily $2.00 awards, ten major awards amounting to $1,950.00—topped by the Grand Award—plus another $1,000.00 First Award—plus twelve section-al awards for complete fur shipments. Specialty and Special awards are for handling of pelts only, not kind of animal. Next year, 1943, Sears Roebuck, during the term of the Fur Show, is automatically instituted Sears Roebuck Wartime Fur Centers for buying furs in the 1942-43 edition of the Fur Show. Complete details of the book may be obtained by writing Sears Raw Fur Marketing Service, Dallas, Texas.

President Roosevelt Addressed Congress

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt today told the new congress today that he saw 1943 as a year-of "very substantial advances" toward Berlin, Rome and Tokyo, and he said a "miracle of production" at home was helping the country's 7,000,000 fighting men.

"I do not prophesy when this war will end," the commander-in-chief said, but elsewhere in a thunderously-applauded speech he declared:

"The Axis powers know that they must win the war in 1942—or eventually lose everything.

"I tell you it is within the realm of possibility that this seventy-eighth congress may have the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

Speaking from the platform of the house chamber of the guarded capitol, Mr. Roosevelt summed up progress so far toward victory called the United Nations "the mightiest military coalition in history" and said united they must stamp out any attempt after the peace to rearm in Germany, Italy, Japan, or any other nation which seeks to violate the tenth commandment—thou shalt not covet."

Loud cheers and yells punctuated his aggressive passages.

Mr. Roosevelt was reporting on the state of the world as well as the state of the union and sitting in front of him as he talked were commanders of the United States armed forces, whose lives abroad, the president said, already total 1,500,000.

Beyond Halifax, the British ambassador, sat listening intently, hand to chin, as Mr. Roosevelt praised Prime Minister Mr. Joseph Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek. The applause was greater at the mention of the "Chinese generalissimo" name.

Mr. Roosevelt called on congress to put aside bickering over economic measures, and to strive to contribute to national unity.

Rationing Mixup

The OPA and the censors, hereof found themselves at loggerheads over the 191 pencils of green coffee bought by Mrs. Aubrey Ramon at a customs sale in Seattle, for $11. The OPA wanted her there was some question whether she could take delivery of the coffee due to rationing regulations against the green coffee. The customs office told her to take the coffee. But Mrs. Ramon decided to leave it in the warehouse until she hears from the OPA again. Here she is looking over her coffee purchase.

Tire Inspection Time Changed

Washington, Jan. 12.—Because motorists are taking better care of their tires, the Office of Price Administration Tuesday postponed the deadline for the first official inspection, and reduced the required number of subsequent examinations.

Instead of the original Jan. 31 deadline, OPA established a staggerr system which gives holders of the basic "A" ration until the end of March for their initial tire inspection; and holders of "B" and "C" supplementary books until the end of February.

At the same time, Joseph B. Eastman, director of Defense Transportation, postponed the deadline for the first tire inspection for commercial vehicles from Jan. 15 to Feb. 28.

After the first inspection, motorists holding "A" books must have their tires examined once in each six-month period, instead of the original requirement of once every four months. Holders of "B" and "C" books must have subsequent inspection every three months, instead of every two months. After the first inspection, commercial vehicles must have tire inspections every 60 days or every 5,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

DEADLINE DAY LOOMS FOR ADDITIONAL MILEAGE

College Station, Jan. 11.—Texans for the first time will be able to obtain gasoline rations in excess of the basic quantity from any designated filling station, garage and fabricators, President Franklin Farrar announced today. Farrar urged that motorists needing additional gasoline for purposes listed in the January 15 and 16 rationing boards to make application coupons before the Jan. 21 deadline.

Appeals for more mileage are made to local county farm war-tation committees and if approved presented to ODT for consideration. County farm transportation committees will study the appeal-with sufficient appeal forms to handle county mileage problems, Farrar said.

Temporary rations can be issued under the following circumstances: where certificate of war necessity clearly does not exist but applicant has shown that war necessity exists and has not been denied; (2) where applicant has been denied certificate of war necessity and has not been denied; (3) where applicant has been denied certificate of war necessity and has not been denied.

This is a simple matter, Farrar said, for the farmer who makes application for a certificate of need of from 1049 by certain months whose gross income from farming was derived at this income comes from one or more of the following: salaries, wages or annuities. In this form it is necessary for the applicant to show the amount of income derived from each of the sources listed, and to sign the statement of applicant with one's personal signature on the reverse of the form. There is no entries required to be made in the form as applied to the tax-payer in order to avoid the extra work of the Government, and the convenience to the taxpayer of subsequent check and audit.

Each return form is a set of supporting instructions, and applications should be made at the county tax-payer before the deadline.

Farrar said that for the calendar year 1942 to be filed by March 15, 1943, the net farm income must be at least $5,000 and the gross income must be at least $25,000. Net income is defined as the total income derived from farming operations, including rentals received from others for the use of farm land, buildings, machinery, livestock, and other farm property, but not including any gain from the sale of farm property, capital assets, or any profit from the operation of any business not connected with farming conducted on the farm.

More Red Cross Home Nursing books have been ordered and should arrive in a few days. If anyone wishes to buy a book they may do so even if they will not be able to attend the classes. The books have much valuable information and every home should have one of them.

President Roosevelt Addressed Congress

Washington, Jan. 7.—President Roosevelt confidently told the new congress today that he saw 1943 as a year of "very substantial advance" toward Berlin, Rome and Tokyo, and he said a "miracle of production" at home was helping the country's 7,000,000 fighting men.

"I do not prophesy when this war will end," the commander-in-chief said, but elsewhere in a thunderously-applauded speech he declared:

"The Axis powers knew that they started the war in 1942 . . . or eventually lose everything.

"I tell you it is within the realm of possibility that this seventy-eighth congress may have the historic privilege of helping greatly to save the world from future fear."

Speaking from the platform of the house chamber of the guarded capitol, Mr. Roosevelt summed up progress so far toward victory, called the United Nations "the mightiest military coalition in history" and said still united, they must stamp out any attempt after the peace to rearm in Germany, Italy, Japan, "or any other nation which seeks to violate the tenth commandment—Thou shalt not covet."

Loud cheers and yells punctuated his aggressive passages.

Mr. Roosevelt was reporting on the state of the world as well as the state of the union and sitting in front of him as he talked were commanders of the United States armed forces, whose men abroad, the president said, already total 1,500,000.

Lord Halifax, the British ambassador, sat listening intently, hand to chin, as Mr. Roosevelt praised Winston Churchill, Joseph Stalin and Chiang Kai-Shek. The applause was greater at the mention of the Chinese generalissimo's name.

Mr. Roosevelt called on congress to put aside bickering over economic measures, and to strive to contribute to national unity.

Rationing Mixup

The OPA and the customs, horses found themselves at loggerheads after the 195 pounds of green coffee bought by Mrs. Aubrey Ramon at a customs sale in Seattle, for $18. The OPA ruled her there was some question whether she could take delivery of the coffee due to rationing regulations against sale of green coffee. The customs office told her to take the coffee. "Fine," Mrs. Ramon decided to leave it in the warehouse until she hears from the OPA again. Here she is looking over her coffee purchase.

Tire Inspection Time Changed

Washington, Jan. 12.—Because motorists are taking better care of their tires, the Office of Price Administration Tuesday postponed the deadline for the first official inspection, and reduced the required number of subsequent examinations.

Instead of the original Jan. 31 deadline, O.P.A. established a "stagger system which gives holders of the basic "A" ration until the end of March for their initial tire inspection, and "B" and "C" supplementary books until the end of February.

At the same time, Joseph B. Eastman, director of Defense Transportation, announced the deadline for the first tire inspection for commercial vehicles, from Jan. 15 to Feb. 28.

After the first inspection, motorists with "A" books must have their tires examined once in each six-month period, instead of every quarterly assignment of once every four months. Holders of "B" and "C" books must have subsequent inspections every three months, instead of every two months. After the first inspection, commercial vehicles must have tire inspections every 60 days or every 5,000 miles, whichever occurs first.

SPECIAL COURSES PLANNED AT SWTSC

San Marcos, Jan. 12.—In order to prepare needy-needed war workers, Southwest Texas State Teachers College will inaugurate special 18-week pre-employment courses in six fields beginning Jan. 26, President J. G. Flowers has announced.

The new program will feature practical, intensified courses in industrial shop, office work, processing, quantity cookery, sciences (to train laboratory technicians), and pre-aviation.

"These courses are designed to qualify students to step into government jobs of high salaries at the end of the 18-week period," President Flowers said.

Dr. Flowers stated that the regular college program would not be affected by this new set-up, since the present teaching function will certainly be continued since labor shortages are acute, he asserted.

CUMMINS - WESTON

The Diamond Up Guest Ranch was the scene of a lovely wedding last Saturday at 4 p. m. when Miss Dorothy Cummins, daughter of Lt. Charles Cummins of the Navigation School at Hondo, became the bride of Lt. Weston with glamour and tall white candles burned in their holders. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. F. Black, pastor of the Methodist Church. The bride was given in marriage by Capt. Baker of Foster Field Victoria, and Mrs. Baker was the maid of honor. Lt. Milton Bromegar, also of the Navigation School at Hondo, served as best man. The bride wore a blue suit with blue accessories and a gardenia corsage.

A wedding supper was served following the ceremony. The couple left for a wedding trip to Dallas after which they will be at home here.

The New Era extends congratulations and best wishes.

WOODMEN CIRCLE NOTICE

The Woodmen Circle will meet Monday, Jan. 18 at the W. O. W. Hall for the election and installation of officers. All members are urged to attend.

TO PATRONS OF BANDERA COUNTY WATER CONTROL & IMPROVEMENT DIST. NO. 1

I felt it my duty to do my share in the national defense program and signed up for the duration and possibly six months thereafter as aircraft engine mechanic at Duncan Field which will require me to be away from Bandera daily except Monday from 4 a. m. to 5 p. m. During my absence my wife will collect water bills and assist you in any way possible if you will call her at home.

It has come to my attention that some few customers misunderstand the two rates that we have in order to give everyone the same amount of water for the same price as nearly as possible.

Our first and original rate was established at $1.50 minimum allowing 2,000 gallons to be used with an extra charge for all over 2,000 gallons.

We have several customers who have no piping or fixtures in the house and only a hydrant in the yard and only use from 200 to 1,000 gallons of water per month, where those with water in the house usually use 2,000 gallons or more, so we made a special rate of $1.00 minimum allowing 1,500 gallons of water to those few customers.

I accepted the books and rates established by the W. P. A. engineers upon completion of the water works system and find that some users are on the $1.00 rate and have letter-tied on to their own system running water in the house or have extended their line from hydrant into house without my knowledge and are still being charged only $1.00.

If you are one of these please notify me at once so that I may change my books accordingly.

A MILLION OVERSEAS

The stupendous job of moving great armies across the oceans, and across our country as they travel to the embarkation points, is performed by the trains, mostly in silence and mystery, which is highly fortunate, as it helps account those movements from the ever present enemy". Silently and quietly the men leave their camps and journey unheralded to the shipping points, and they drop out of sight, while our hearts go with them.

The United States Navy has done a magnificent job in transporting these men so safely and securely to foreign soil. Very few of them have suffered any mishap. It indicates wonderful discipline and efficiency and establishment on the protective vessels that ever guard them. Submarines may be lurking on their trail, but our watchful gunners are so alert that few attacks are made.

Gus H. Mauermann was named mayor of San Antonio to succeed former Mayor C. K. Quin, who became judge of the Fifty-seventh District Court on Friday.

Don Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fabian Hicks, finished his Navy radio course at Indianapolis, Ind. on Jan. 4. He is now radio man third class and will be transferred to a new station.

DOUBLE WEDDING

In the Rectory of St. Peter's Church, Roswell, N. M., Jan. 4, 1943, was solemnized a double wedding that will be of interest to a great many people in Bandera, Bexar and Medina Counties. Two of the contracting parties were Miss Lola Ryle and brother, Boyd Ryle of Tarpley. Lola was united in marriage to Loyd Jones of Sulphur Springs, Texas. Boyd was united in marriage to Miss Helena Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Jackson of Ruidosa, N. M. Each couple acted as attendants to the others. After a dinner to celebrate the occasion, the young people left for a brief honeymoon in which they will fly it in the Ryle home at Tarpley and in the home of Mr. Jones at Sulphur Springs. After this they will return to Roswell, where they are all engaged in defense work. Typical of the youth of the times, those young people are cheerfully doing whatever is assigned them to help win the war, at the same time accepting whatever life offers that is sweet and good, facing the future cheerfully and unafraid. The Ryle young people are both graduates of Bandera High School after which Miss Lola attended beauty school and was a successful operator in Hondo, San Antonio and Uvalde.

Boyd established a cabinet shop in Bandera and was very successful. He was also widely known through his musical activities and has played with various orchestras over a wide area in San Antonio and surrounding territory.

When war was declared he went at once into defense work. Later he was transferred to Roswell and his sister went with him and both have been engaged in defense work since.

They have many friends who are wishing for them the best that life has to offer.

F.S.A. FUNDS AVAILABLE

Farmers all over the coulitry are responding with patriotic enthusiasm to the appeal of President Roosevelt and the rest of the nation to increase their production of food with which to fight and win the war and win the peace.

Many are doing it by enlarging their acreage, their herds and their operating equipment. Some are able to use their own resources or funds borrowed from private lenders.

For those who cannot increase production because of credit limitations, the Farm Security Administration is able to provide funds at low interest rates on carefully worked out plans.

A. M. Cooper, FSA Supervisor in Bandera County, stated today that the one aim of this agency is the increased production of food, and that funds are still being lent to farmers for the purpose of enlarging their operations, as one means of making more food available for the nation's war and post-war needs.

Loans for the purchase of farms as well as for farm enlargement are still available for farmers who can qualify.

"Farmers who own their land, or are buying it, almost invariably can use it more efficiently," Mr. Cooper declared. "The pride of ownership usually makes a big difference.

"Farmers who are not able to finance the purchase or enlargement of farms any other way are invited to apply for FSA loans," he explained.

BANK DEPOSITS UP SUBSTANTIALLY OVER '42

Comparing the statements of the two banks for 1942 and 1943 we notice that deposits are $185,582.18 more in 1943 than in 1942. Total deposits for 1943 are $777,552.30 while in 1942 the total was $591,970.12. This same tendency seems to prevail in banks in other portions of the state.

FRIENDSHIP BETWEEN NATIONS

The statesmen and the diplomats may make the wisest possible plans after the war for world peace. But if the nations hate foreign countries and cherish aversion toward the people of foreign nations the plans may shoot again.

What is needed is such a spirit of friendship between nations that there will be no desire to fight. There are no ifs or systems of government aimed to prevent the United States and Canada from entering into mortal combat but there is not the least danger that they will start a war between themselves as friendship draws these countries closer.

The general attitude in most countries toward foreign nations is one of dislike and suspicion. Most people are no worse than the best of the world but many of them have developed considerable dislike for the nations of Europe and Asia. Prejudice is also held by people in Europe with dislikes often become stirred fears and out of fears grow hatreds and wars.

Travel in foreign countries by the people of different countries tends to break down prejudices. People who have lived in foreign countries, and have learned to know the good qualities of inhabitants of the countries, if attachments to the people they have met. The great objection by of people here to live and stay at home in their own lands, so friendship is hardly formed between people with contacts.

The more people read and know about foreign lands, the more friendly they usually feel toward them. If our constantly told about how three foreign people hate had to struggle against difficulties, and how they are industrious and well meaning folks in their home life, hostile feelings usually vanish. Greater developments could be promoted among the nations of the world, the war peril would be lessped.

LOOKING FOR FORTUNE

One phase of human emotion usually felt as people enter a New Year is a buoyant feeling of happiness and hope, in expectation that the new period of time is going to bring many fortunate and perfect strokes of fortune, better opportunities, and so on. There is always a feeling that many people are undergoing hope that with a clean slate will come a change for the better.

These feelings may be illogical, as there is no reason for expecting better fortune merely because the figure on dates has changed. It is fortunate that people do cherish such hopes and look forward to the future with anticipation.

It is a hope that keeps people going, that enables them to stand discomforts and misfortunes. The good deeds have largely been performed by optimistic people who take a hopeful view, who believe that things can be done. The pessimists who keep saying that the world is not to going are not very hopeful friends, and are not so likely to accomplish grand results.

Every year many people should set apart their own personal change of look or habit of more thinking and more doing. What they set in 1943 will depend mostly on what they deserve to get, what they are prepared by the excellence of their performance. If they start out going to fresh goals for each through a past year in faithful and efficient work, they will have a right to expect some reward in the shape of better opportunity.

There are many people who look for strokes of luck, some turn of fortune's wheel that shall bring them more prosperity or happiness. Things do not come that way. Our prospects for 1943 depend mainly on the war situation. We can at least be confident that the mighty power of the United States will soon bring about a better situation in the war, which will lessen our burdens, and make 1943 a brighter year.

BUSINESS FUNDAMENTALS

Business men who understand that the success in his line, it was necessary to buy well to produce well, and to sell well. The retail trade it is necessary to buy well, to serve the public well and to sell well.

The selling end of it is very important. A concern may offer splendid goods at fair prices, and serve the public courteously and efficiently. But if the public is not well informed by advertising as to what is being sold, and what things cost, there is some lack in the selling end of that game which needs correction.

POULTRY PAYS

A substantial profit and capital intact was the record when Mary Ann McGuire balanced accounts on her fourth year as a poultry producer. A total profit of more than $875 was shown after deducting feed costs, raising chicks and providing eggs and fryers for home use. Her capital comprised 326 laying hens.

Mary Ann is a member of the Vern Girls' 4-H Club of Knox County and the youngest of a family of six. Four years ago she joined forces with a brother, also a 4-H Club member, to make more profitable their club demonstrations. She took charge of the poultry while he fed out calves. In the four years she has raised 950 chickens. Some home-grown grain was used but she charged it to the poultry enterprise at market price. In addition the brother and sister spent their spare time gardening. About one year ago the brother began working away from home and Mary Ann expanded her activities to raising pigs. The profit from their sale went into a fund to pay college expenses. Her father died 17 years ago.

A Texas farm girl being versatile, Mary Ann naturally assumed a more active part in the management of the farm and helping with the work. Along with the duties of her mother in the house and together they reared 260 containers of fruit, vegetables and meats during the year.

Fellow members recognizing her qualities of leadership and out of the club, chose her as their representative in the Knox County 4-H girls' council, where she served one year as council reporter. From her club training she developed poise and ability to do her own thinking and to improve the comforts of the home. She demonstrated her interest in community activities by taking an active part in plays and public entertainments. USO programs assisting in planting trees in the school grounds and singing regularly in the church choir.

Mary Ann has kept accurate records of costs, sales and profits of her various demonstrations.

IMPORTANCE OF RECORDS INCREASES

There is no better time than early in the calendar year for rural families to "get their money problems straight." This year, more than ever before, it is important for farm and ranch people to keep exact records of their earnings and spendings, because of income tax laws and price control regulations affecting the sale of farm products.

Louise Bryant, specialist in home management for the A. and M. College Extension Service, suggests that a family conference on finances will help everyone to spend less, buy wisely, and save more. She believes it is a good idea for one person to keep the family accounts, but the plans for spending and saving should be made by the group as a whole.

Here are some questions the family might confider at its first-of-the-year conference: How many more dollags are we going to save this year than last year? How much of these savings shall we put into war bonds? How soon can we pay off our debts? What are the essential things we must buy this year for the health of the family? What products can we grow or make at home? What can be done by the children, allowance and how much should they save?

Miss Bryant believes that in spite of war-time circumstances it is especially a good idea this year to keep a record of home-produced food products eaten by the family and their value, as well as a record of products sold. She suggests that the Victory Food Demonstration — production and conservation — offers the basis for investments in war bonds and cooperation with war-time programs and offers the basis for a sound family economy. Hit and miss spending has become unpatriotic as well as bad business, she says.

FOOD PRESERVATION PREDICTIONS

Secretary Wickard's recent announcement that canned, dried, and frozen foods will be rationed, and fruit juices are to be rationed, will result in an increase in the production of these products, Extension Service products Director M. L. Wilson predicts. Wilson is also the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Short rationing of several items, ranging from gasoline to shoes, is one way to keep prices will reasonable for the average family available for civilian use, by administrative machinery. Likely there will be rationing of fresh fruits and vegetables, cereals, or bread, but orders covering these and dairy products have been protected in Washington.

In his announcement, Secretary Wickard stressed that the present season of home-canned foods will be considered hoarding. This and the other rationing of foods available for home canning are necessary in order to keep canning supplies in home canning supplies, Director Wilson says.

He explains that rationing of these foods is directed toward assuring that America's fair and equitable share of canned fruits and vegetable supplies. Additional supplies will be given the consumer as a result of the increased OPA order making grade labeling mandatory on all 1943 commercial pack of canned fruits and vegetables.

Because there is likely to be a greater shortage of pressure cookers, cooker and sealer parts, containers, and other supplies in 1943 than last year, Miss Jones urges rural families to begin now to prepare for the busy season ahead.

TAXES AFTER THE WAR

It seems fairly likely that the government of the United States will collect more in taxes in the next few years than it has ever collected in any similar period. It was on her generous income that Rosebud laid the taxes in the shorts that Mommy had bought for her and the taxes on the whole of the vanity bottle with the fancy stopper that she would throw through other cases for "throw it away" day.

On her small desk Rosebud is usually imaginative even if a mere child. She wrote a letter to Santa Claus telling him that she wanted a new doll buggy, a new doll, a doll house, a doll bed, a doll bureau, a doll chair, a doll rocking chair, a doll table, a doll dish set, a doll tea set, a doll sewing machine, a doll wash tub, a doll clothes rack, a doll clothes basket, a doll clothes line, a doll clothes pin bag, a doll clothes iron, a doll ironing board, a doll clothes tub, a doll clothes wringer, a doll clothes bench, a doll clothes horse, a doll clothes bag, a doll clothes hanger

THE INCOME TAX JOB

Many millions of Americans face this year the job of making out an annual income tax report to the federal government. The number required to do so will be increased this year. If they have been getting regular pay weekly or monthly, their figures are easily compiled. But their employers have varied from week to week, they need an accurately kept account book and faithful copying.

For many folks the tax return job is confusing, too. The transactions of business are elaborate, and it will take a heap of bookkeeping and analysis of records to determine what many individuals shall pay. If one has to consider such items as property losses, depreciation, bad debts, etc., he may do some hair tearing before he gets through, and perhaps utter language that does not look well in print.

The income tax assumes that people should pay according to their ability to support the government that protects them. The rich will pay more and they expect to do so. The poor are largely relieved of this obligation, but when anyone pays something to support the government, he feels a greater interest in the success of that government, and a greater ethority he have in its management.

If some are inclined to kick about the tax, they should reflect that the American people have every great privilege, and should be glad to support them. Their situation is decidedly better than that of the people of Europe, where millions are poorly fed, and many subjected to cruel governmental exactions. In many countries if they complain any dissatisfaction with the government, they are thrown into jail on a conviction, and forfeit their lives if there are rebellions against them.

Here's glad to be worth a heap of money. The income tax is a large share of the price we pay for it.

WHY WE NOW SUFFER

The American people are now suffering great losses and taking on many unnecessary burdens. They should ask themselves why and how this has happened, how it could have been avoided, and how they can keep from getting into any such mess again.

There is no excuse to have come because our people did not fully see the menaces and threats rising against them. They remained engrossed in their own cares, troubles and pleasures. They did not foresee the awful explosion which would finally blow up our old world.

Part of the mistake came from a too generous and idealistic hope that wars could be averted by a policy of friendship and conciliation. This noble aspiration did not avert the gods' will and adversity of all who entertained it, but it did not allow for the fierce fanaticism and the ruthless greed of the men who have made this war.

When men set out to rule the world by force, and to subject weaker nations to tyranny, the lovers of freedom have to meet this threat in a realistic way, and get ready to meet force with force.

Our people should make it clear in the future that they are going to be so amply prepared for war and so far stronger than nations that threaten war, that those aggressors will see the prudence of keeping quiet.

The more people read and think about the affairs of the nation, the less likely they are to be caught unprepared when these world storms threaten us. And the people must be prepared for war, the present conflict might never have started. Axis powers banked on the supposed unwillingness of our people to fight, and their failure to do so thoroughly ready for fighting.

WHY TOWNS EXIST

The majority of people live in cities, towns, and villages, rather than out in the open country. They often pay more for land as they can live in cities and towns, and sometimes endure other inconveniences about town living. Yet on the whole the majority seem to like town life.

They like towns largely because they feel that by massing near their neighbors, they can obtain certain advantages. To make these towns successful and get the advantages that people seek, they need prosperous business. It is hard to build up prosperous retail trade in a community, unless the people of that town form the habit of buying their goods at home. Patronizing the home store is then one of the chief foundations of home town prosperity and advantages.

CHURCH SUPPERS

Follow with the church suppers some old fashioned ones of war? In countless church buildings, the women are ordinarily cooking appetizing eats, during the glorious contributed pies and the steaming coffee. With many people busy on war work, many men away for military services, scarcity of some materials, there are difficulties in the way of these favorite occasions.

The people will miss any omitted church supper. People are not always so eager as they should be in supporting religious meetings, but they have had a way of cooperating with church work by eating the suppers. These events resounded with happy laughter, they broke down social divisions, and they helped people make friends. It is to be hoped they still flourish, in spite of war troubles.

INTERESTING THE PEOPLE

A Sunday School superintendent once remarked that it was not difficult to teach a class in addition to a class, as all the teacher had to do was to "interest his pupils." Many teachers would say that is easier said than done.

A famous author once said, that if a man flashes a better mousetrap, the world will beat a path to his door, even though he lives in the woods. That is a suggestion that the opportunity is the thing that most interests the people. If a group of men are very expert in supporting religious meetings, but they have had a way of cooperating with church work by eating the suppers. These events resounded with happy laughter, they broke down social divisions, and they helped people make friends. It is to be hoped they still flourish, in spite of war troubles.

Sharks Aid War
Australia's most important fish—the shark — has been literally pressed into service to the war effort. Shark oil is being used to replace the 80,000 gallons of cod liver oil which was annually imported before the war. The Council of Scientific and Industrial Research has announced that shark is 50 times richer in vitamin A than codfish's cooling oil.

YOUR FIRST AID CABINET

The U. S. Department of Agriculture recently asked the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service to conduct a farm safety campaign in the interest of conserving available manpower on Texas farms.

Safety first now means better farm production and better operations in war activities, says Louise Bryant, extension specialist in home management. In addition to preventing farm accidents, farm people should prepare for emergencies, she says, in case of an accident. Proper first aid measures reduce suffering and many times save a life, and many Texans have learned since the Texas Home Demonstration Association began promoting first aid training more than two years ago.

Miss Bryant suggests that a first aid kit, or cabinet might well be placed in the kitchen. It might include: A Red Cross first aid text book, three-inch squares of sterile gauze; sterile gauze and assorted sterile bandage compresses in individual packages, one and one-half inch adhesive bandage, roller bandages, triangular bandages, roll of adhesive tape, picric acid for burns, scissors, a tweezers, eye dropper and scissors.

The contents should be packed in a box which can be opened quickly without unpacking the entire kit. Miss Bryant says medicines should be avoided, but unused bandages and the like do not become soiled from handling.

FOOD PRODUCTIONS' FOR 1943

Sylvia Ann Hajek, C. H. D. A., Extension Service, A. and M. College of Texas.

What food rations civilians are going to have to do without is largely dependent on the weather, on farmers' ability to get machinery, labor and fertilizer, and on the complex processing and transportation industries.

For that reason homemakers everywhere need to grow as much of the family's food supply as possible.

For example, the supply of cereals—flour and grain foods—is fairly good. For civilians the supply of fats and oils will be short and will be used largely in meals in 1943 will include less fried foods, gravies and oily dressings, more boiled dinners and shorter, too, because of the transportation situation.

Homemakers can expect larger quantities of sweet potatoes and dried beans and peas in 1943. Whether the carryover of white potatoes is not as large as usual. The Colorado potato beetle movement was waiting. The boss shut down on them.

"I've just seen the greatest single picture of the year. The boss said. "Listen, if you want to hear what's happening to your money, listen to my actual report in films of the Treasury Department."
