Editorials . . .

The fellow who griped about the muddy weather last week should hear one of our old timers tell about the mud he used to have to contend with before good roads were built in this country. We have a photograph of Bandera Main Street, taken in 1910, when mud on that street was three-month deep. In the picture is shown an ox-team used to pull a mud-mired wagon out of the mire. Count the tire of our old timers tell us that a three-weeks' wet spell would make the road from San Antonio to Bandera absolutely impassable, and the town was threatened with famine because supplies could not be hauled in. Lee Hildreth, veteran Bandera grocery store, sent a man on horseback to Kerr or Medina county (San Antonio, Hamilton, a range,) to bring a wagon load of groceries that were over from Center Point in his buggy. The old negro used two weeks of each fall to look three days to make the distance of forty miles. Now Bandera business has good graded and paved streets in all weather and no interfere, with general traffic.

NO SUBSTITUTE FOR WORK

J. J. Newberry, head of the nation-wide chain store system that bears his name, recently told a group of business executives throughout the country that increasing the work load, in plain language, fundamental truths that have guided all.

He wrote: "The person who does not like to work, who wants anything in his life other than what he gets by his family, and who has common sense enough to apply to his job, is only wasting his time and energy by not working."

"Those readers will be the people who have such enthusiasm for their work that they would rather stay on the job and see that

Looking Backward

From the Bandera New Era, January 15, 1938:

The total number of poll taxes paid in the fifteen precincts of the county given in the following: Bandera, 435; Pipe Creek, 135; Medina, 46; Lake, 46; Tarpley, 95; Taylor, 80; Vanderpool, 88; Mico, 44; Medina, 11; Polly, 13. Total, 1,217.

Ben Lehmann shipped a couple of carloads of baby beeves to the Fort Worth market. They sold at top prices. Mr. Thal Lehmann has been in the cattle business for several weeks and they have been handled satisfactorily.

District Court is in session at Kerrville this week. A number of cases from Bandera will be tried. State vs. Charles Merritt, charged with burglary of the First National Bank of Bandera, went to trial Monday morning. Judge Cage was called from trial yester-day to Kerrville. The case was transferred from Bandera to Kerr county for the use and benefit of the county.
—Crockett Courier.

TRUMAN DUE TO RACK DOWN

Washington, Feb. 8—President Truman may move to appease rebellious Southern Democrats by modifying his controversial civil rights program, it was learned in Senate source and Sunday. This Senator said Mr. Truman is under quest for bans on racial segregation in interstate transportation was the chief factor in the South-ern blowup at the party caucus, but when called for the defend-ant was charged and bond was declared forfeited. He was to serve a prison in Kansas and extradited, and the other Black and men implicated in the blowing up of the Johnny Odell, was tried in Ban-dera county and given five years in penitentiary. His case is now on appeal to the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals.

Sheriff McMillan, died in San Anto-nio just a few days ago.

F. A. Masters was in to see us yesterday and said the new bridge at Ranger Crossing will be ready for traffic next week and cars will be allowed to cross. The bridge was opened to traffic in about three weeks ago, but was closed up until it was finished. The formal opening will probably be celebrated soon.

The First State Bank of Ban-dera has been designated as county depository by the com-missioners court, and the bank of the institution being $.66 1-3% on county funds deposited.

Warren Hunter's radio station KTSA broadcast the school auditorium will be the first radio concert ever given in Bandera.

Mrs. Mildred Hunter and Mrs. Warren has perfected his power-ful station and now broadcasts it with necessary attachments to reach Bandera with power strong enough to be heard a block away.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Calaham and family moved to their ranch below Pipe Creek yester-day. Mr. Calaham resigned his office with an appreciated vote of confidence by their community, and left for the ranch to take up the more prosperous sections of the coun-try. It is said that Mr. Calaham that during 1922 more than 1,000 bales of cotton and 500 cords were marketed from Pipe Creek. He also raised chickens and turkeys, and this year prom-ises to be more productive than ever.

The new work on the new two-story building at the corner of school was finished yes-terday and satisfactorily completed the workmen to a feast of fried chicken at the Presidio Hotel. H. E. Blunt, the local banker, is the owner of the building and he pro-vided the feast.

Work on new business houses are to be erected in Bandera during the next few months, we understand.

With the coming of the spring and summer months Bandera will get hundreds of tourists and outing visitors. The word has gone forth that Bandera is locat-ed in the midst of a wonderful picturesque region, and people who come here always go away with good words for our delight-ful region.

Mrs. F. A. Mansfield left San-urday for Corpus Christi to spend awhile with her sister.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. John Langford, February 14, a girl.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Tschirhart and Albert Heilmann of San Antonio were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Villemain of Pipe Creek one day last week.

Mrs. Marfield, of Medina, blew in upon us Friday and Saturday in with a smile and a half to keep the little old town guessing. He came down from the prosperous city above with his son, D. M. Mayfield, and E. J. Smith, the Medina garage man. Bruce spreads good cheer wherever he goes.

Tait are at-tending court in Kerrville as witnesses in the case of the State vs. Charles Merritt, charg-ed with burglary of the First National Bank of Bandera.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schott and children and W. J. Leibold were from the Schott ranch Saturday. Mr. Schott informs us that John Hutson has finish-ed a good well for him, securing plenty of water at a depth of 185 feet. There was a trace of oil found when the water sand was encountered in the well.

Misses Flora and Alice Johnson, of Medina, were the guests of the Baptist parsonage in Bandera last Thursday. Rev. J. Scott officiating. Both the bride and bridegroom are favor-ably known in the community, and we join their many friends in wishing them happiness and prosperity through life.

What a change has come over your husband Zeke since we per-suaded him to join the church," ex-claimed a preacher in the hill-billy country. "Have you noticed it?"

"Sure have," agreed Zeke's wife. "Before, when he went visitin' on Sunday he carried a jug o' corn whiskey on his shoulder. Now he totes it under his coat."

Tell me not in mournful numbers
Life is but an empty dream,
And the dead should count
slumbers,
And things are not what they seem.

Life is real, Life is earnest
And the grave is not the goal.
Dust thou art, to dust returneth,
Was not spoken of the Soul.

And may his Soul forever rest in Peace.

EROSION IN THE GROCERY STORE

If the local grocery store were to move in, sending the jars, boxes and racks of food swirling into the river, the people de-pending on that store for food would be very excited about it. But when the soil which pro-duces the food goes down the river in large quantities, of course, with this simple ana-logy, Hubert Bandy, FFA chairman, calls attention to what is happening to the public.

News of a carload of potatoes going out of several hundred cases of eggs spoiling makes the local people sit up and take notice out. But when potential pro-duction goes under the bridge in the form of eroded soil, it is viewed as just so much muddy water.

"If, in the flood swollen river, we could see barrels of flour, cases of eggs, truck loads of potatoes, bushels of fruits, and carloads of potatoes, beans, corn, milk, beef, butter, apples, and strawberries, instead of so much muddy water, more people would realize what is taking place in this country," the chair-man declared.

"Experts estimate that when the first settlers landed in this country we had an average of 9 inches of topsoil. Now

Will's Proud of His Big Ears

Will Dudley's mighty proud of his big ears! Best crop of corn he's grown since '39. And Will, like so many other farmers, has plenty of reason to be proud of what he raises.

The farmer has always been a keystone in our economic life, and he's the key to our national well-being. But from where I sit, he's more important now than ever. He's not only feeding America—but friends of American freedom all over the world will for this country at a time when friendship for democracy is good important.

And farmers have willingly shouldered that responsibility. Will operates extra hours in his cornfield . . . comes home tired to a tempt-ate glass of beer and early bed, to be ready for the next day's work.

From where I sit, America can be mighty grateful for her five mil-lion farmers . . . for their produc-tivity, hard work, and temperate living—of which Will's moderate glass of beer is proof!

DRUGS
A FRONTIER DOCTOR

In the early days doctors traveled by horseback many miles every year to visit the sick folks in their territory. In those days, some 45 years ago, Dr. J. O. Butler, one of the best known doctors in this section, started practicing medicine in this county. He took care of the sick during the epidemics of typhoid fever and diphtheria and all the other ills that were prevalent then. It was one of the first to use anti-toxin for diphtheria when it came into use and was one of the outstanding doctors in the fight against croup, as its use was to us now that many doctors were skeptical of its use. Dr. Butler was for one time an official of the state and his value to the medical profession in curing that dreaded disease and saving lives is on the records. Dr. Butler's son has gone about his profession bringing children into the world and taking care of the sick in this county. Her husband. He has grown to be one of the most beloved figures in this section.

For those cold days, that are so prevalent during the bad winter and spring months come to our store for your needs.

SENATE VOTES $2½ BILLION TAX CUT

Washington, Feb. 18—The Senate voted today to cut President Truman's 1948 fiscal budget nearly $2,500,000,000, leaving an estimated $10,000,000,000 for tax cuts and, debt reduction. The proposal was adopted by a unanimous voice vote after a debate that lasted two hours. Republicans felt in the proposed cut of $2,500,000,000 to cut to $5,000,000,000 can be made.

Democrats made no effort to block the proposed reductions which had been recommended by the House-Senate budget committee, but they did oppose the action. Even then, it is not expected to result in a cut by congressional goal.

The budget decision Wednesday ignored a plan adopted by the Senate Finance relations committee Tuesday to finance a $4,000,000,000 five years Europeans recovery program from a trust fund created out of this year's budget surplus. While the trust fund was not considered in the congressional budget spokesmen intended that the proposed cut of $2,500,000,000 in Mr. Truman's budget would be used in addition to the $5,000,000,000 item. Hence if the trust fund plan is followed and the congressional budget estimates are realized, the amount available for tax and debt reduction in fiscal 1949 would exceed $12,000,000,000. The vote came after these developments:

1. Chairman Hays Bridges (R-N.H.) of the joint budget committee, said that the proposed cut taxes this year only if government spending for foreign aid is reduced by the amount.

2. Sen. Walter F. George, (D-Ga.), proposed that government spending for foreign aid be financed by a $4,000,000,000 bond issue of upwards of $20,000,000,000, maturing in 25 to 30 years. Foreign aid items then would be removed from the annual budget. No action was taken on the idea.

3. Senate Democratic Leader Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky announced that Republicans were "shooting in the dark" in the budget-cutting plan.

FROCKS MADE FROM PEANUTS

Washington, Feb. 17 — The time is coming when you can purchase fabric made from peanuts, Uncle Sam said Tuesday.

Dewey D. Lee of New Orleans the Southern regional research laboratory of the U. S. Department of Agriculture has dug into the possibilities of peanuts and come up with a sackful of predictions about products that stores may be selling in a year or two.

Peanut paint is the newest discovery. It is reported to have good flowing, spreading and drying qualities, and to dry thoroughly in damp weather. Peanut paper was reported suitable for books and magazines. The laboratory men said synthetic peanut fiber first developed several years ago, will be made into cloth before long. Three companies now are installing equipment to handle it.

Lee's research group said that: Peanut frocks will be warm as wool and feel like a combination of wool and silk. They will wash well, we are told, if fiber is cream colored before it's made into cloth but the cloth can be dyed just like wool.

METHODIST CHURCH

Next Sunday all Methodist churches will observe Laymen's Day. Everyone is invited to attend the services of the Methodist Sunday school, 10 a. m. Morning worship, 11 a. m. Evening worship, 6:45. Evening worship, 7:45. Only rehearsal Thursday night, 8 p. m. The morning worship will be in charge of selection of the laymen of the church.

To Hold Roundup of University Execs

The Exes of Texas Are Upon You, and those of Bandera will be, too, if you are a University of Texas ex-student. Hundreds of Texas ex-students are visiting in or around Bandera. Traditionally, on March 2nd of each year, the Longhorns and students gather together all over the state of Texas to honor the memories of the "40 Acres" and share mutual experiences of their college days. This year, Bandera is to have its round-up meeting in the form of a luncheon at the O. B. Cafe. Meeting time will be called for 12 noon. Tuesday, March 2nd, at all University of Texas exes to be there and bring their wives, husbands or sweethearts if they wish, or just come.

The planning committee for the luncheon meeting is Frank Billings, Charlie Thalmann, and Mrs. Bob Huebner. It is not necessary to make a reservation to attend the luncheon; however, if possible, ex-students who attend are asked to contact Charlie Thalmann at the Bandera Drug Store, in order that the committee might be better able to formulate plans.

MOTHER CRITICALLY ILL

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Simon are at the bedside of Mr. Simon's mother in Houston. Mrs. Simon, who is critically ill in the Hutts Bona hospital in San Antonio. Also with her are two daughters, Mrs. Mike Hunt of San Antonio, and Mrs. Oscar Strong of Bandera, and her granddaughter, Mrs. Edmund Adickes, of Houston. Mrs. Simon's mother was 83 years old on last Sunday. We hope she will recover from her present illness and be fully restored to health.

BIG HOTEL RAPIDLY ASSUMING PROPORTIONS

Bandera's big tourist hotel is rapidly assuming proportions. Workmen are very busy and the agreeable weather of the past three weeks is a big aid to progress. This fine structure is being built by the contracting firm by Harwell & Harwell, contractors, and is located on the Main Street, a block west of the court house. It is hoped to have the building ready for occupancy by the first of April.

BANDERA P. T. A.

The Bandera P. T. A. met Tuesday night at 7:30 in the High School auditorium with a splendid meeting and educational program being rendered with W. O. Patton as leader, invocation by Mrs. R. B. Mrs. Alvin Clark and Mr. Patton made most interesting comments about the progress and advantages of the American form of government. Mrs. Clark gave a very interesting report of a visit to the Business session held in San Antonio. Mrs. Huebner gave a report of the library books. The business session was presided over by Mrs. E. H. Hayes Jr., president, Mrs. W. C. Fleetor, treasurer, and Mrs W. G. Bryner Jr., acting secretary, in the absence of Mrs. Arthur Hayes. The nominating committee for officers for the coming year, were Mrs. J. C. Davis, chairman, Mrs Ashley Rugh, Mrs. Fred Mansfield.

The 12th grade won the attendance prize. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Fox as chairman, assisted by Mesdames McGinnis and Mullinax.

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

In the 1880's there was established in Texas a newspaper known as SIFTINGS. It was published by a man named Harry O. Wilson, who was a practicing physician and surgeon. Dr. Wilson's publication was a humorous one, and created a large following. Many of the quips and comments published by Dr. Wilson are as timely today as they were when they were originally published. The following will be typical humor regular from time to time in the Bulletin.

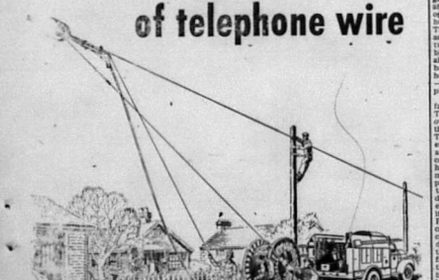
A MILLION MILES of telephone wire



PROGRESS REPORT ON TELEPHONE SERVICE

This year we will install a million miles of wire in telephone cables in the Southwest.

These cables will connect telephones to switching equipment in the telephone office. Inside the lead cable sheath are hundreds of tiny wires, and it takes one pair of those wires for each telephone line.

Most telephone cables are full today. All wires are in use serving as many people as possible. New applications keep coming in almost as fast as we can install new cables to connect telephones. That's why we need more cables in practically all telephone exchanges.

Even a million miles of wire in cables won't be enough. We need to continue asking people to take party-line service —so that one pair of wires may serve as many as four families.

If you're one of those waiting, you may be sure that we're working hard to get and place cables to connect your telephone as soon as we can. We don't like to keep anyone waiting for telephone service.

TALK ON "FOOLS"

The lecturer was a celebrated Doctor of Law, and his talk was to be on "Fools." He began by asking who was something of a humorist, stood up to lecture. He said:

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "We are going to have a lecture on fools by one—he paused and there was loud laughter before he resumed—of the wisest men in the country."

The lecturer then rose to speak: "Ladies and gentlemen," he said. "I'm not half so big a fool as the chairman"—he paused, and again there was loud laughter—"would have you suppose!"

Free Ride For You— on the Freedom Train!

We had a real thrill in Our Town just the other day—when the Freedom Train stopped by!

You've heard about it, of course—so dinged that's burning the country to remind us again what true Democracy means. It carries such inheritance as the Declaration of Independence, the Bill of Rights, and other immortal documents that guarantee every citizen his liberty.

A great idea! And from what I oh, we're all riding along with that Freedom Train—right now—by living in a country that protects our individual liberties—whether they apply to our right to vote, to choose our church, to speak our minds, or enjoy a glass of beer with friends.

Only thing is—we've got to prove ourselves worthy of the ride by preserving and protecting with whatever forms of intolerance encroach upon our American concepts of live-and-let-live, in a free and strong Democracy!

REDS RECRUIT U. S. YOUTHS

Washington, Feb. 14—Attorney General Clark said Saturday night that Communists are now concentrating among American children—the younger, the better. In an address prepared for delivery before the National Federation of Temple Brotherhoods, members of Jewish synagogues, Clark asserted:

Howard Hyman, of the Federal bureau of investigation, in testimony before a Senate committee, said: "Communists in this country have start a campaign among American children to their ideology. The younger they are, the better. They are more impressionable, as Hitler did, that if they get the children, they will get the adults of the nation tomorrow."

The Attorney General did not elaborate on the F.B.I. report. However his references to the Red spread an announcement of Commissioner P. V. Grisso of Education for a nation-wide emphasis in classroom work on the American way of life as contrasted with totalitarian forms of government.

The education officer's official statement followed Attorney General Clark's address, accused Russia of using "all the resources of the state to train the young Russian mind against the democratic way of life."

"In the Communist war grads are skilled disturbers in nearly ones other man's countries, to foment revolutions for them are rarely American," declared Grisso. "But our teachers can prepare the skilled soldiers of democracy for their wars."

The publication was devoted to "the cold war for American democracy" complains in school systems of "the shortage of teachers and lack of classroom facilities and conditions not only are tragic, they provide the soil in which dangerous ideologies can grow and flourish."

Be said.

Meanwhile, the National Education Association said Saturday that it would call "the early curse" for inequities in the public school system.

OFFICERS OF BANDERA COUNTY

Bandera county was organized in 1856. The first county officials were O. B. Miller, Chief Justice; James P. O'Neil, county and district clerk; William Curtis, sheriff, and P. D. Saner was assessor and collector.

William O'Neil Daly, who came to Bandera with Elder Lyman Wight's colony of Mormons in 1854. He made a splendid peace officer, but when the Civil War broke out, Mr. Curtis, being from the North, expressed his sentiments pretty freely, and left with these Texas folks, who were Southern born, and a committee waited on the sheriff and told him that it was time for him to wind up his affairs and depart from Bandera. He acted wisely and promptly. He went to San Bernardino county, California, where Mr. Curtis died and died there in 1912.

JESTER REFUSES SPECIAL SESSION OF LEGISLATURE

Austin, Feb. 17—Gov. Beauford H. Jester today killed hopes of teachers in rural-aid districts for a special legislative session to insure payment of salary increases in this school year.

Jester refused to "call a special session."

Rural-aid schools are approximately $5,000,000 short of enough money to finish the nine-month school year without going in debt on their current operating expenses, without cutting teachers' salaries.

Jester suggested that school boards borrow from local banks to meet current expenses for the rest of the year, and that problem of the financial shortage be given an overdue matter when the 51st Legislature meets next January.

SOUTH MAY DICTATE TRUMAN'S RUNNING MATE

Washington, Feb. 17—Southern governors may demand the Democratic presidential nomination next Truman's running mate and threaten to bolt the party unless chosen from the South as the price of party peace, it was reported Tuesday.

A delegation of the governors, headed by Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, is due here Monday night to confer with Democratic National Chairman Howard McGrath and other party workers on the party split over President Truman's civil rights push. Southern congressional sources in touch with the governors' plans said they will insist that a prominent Southerner like Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.), or Postmaster Secretary of State James F. Byrnes be named the Democratic vice-presidential nominee.

Any other name might also ask for a "real southern" gubernatorial.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Where Does Your Money Go?

Read the other day where country folks and farmers spend more money, proportionately, on their homes than city dwellers do.

Doesn't seem hard to believe when you think it over. Take the folks in our town, for instance. They're home-loving people—who'd rather spend an evening by the fire with a mellow glass of beer than go out in search of entertainment or diversion.

So it's only natural they put more into what means most to them and to their children: their homes. They may not have too much to spend—but it goes for those permanent, abiding comforts that make home a nicer place to be.

And from where I sit, that budget calls for some of the nicest of home life now—like cider and popcorn for the kids from time to time, and a friendly game of beer for Mom and Dad . . . things that belong with what we mean when we say "Home."

Editorials . . .

The Bulletin rejoices to announce that Bandera is to manufacture a Frontier Days frolic some time in May. The date is to be announced later. The annual editor's past experience in arranging and managing the Old Settler's Jubilee in the years that have passed, has fully convinced us that such a celebration flaunts much to Bandera, and will bring thousands of people to our town for the big event. In the meantime we should last week Mike Robinson, president of the chamber of commerce, of the committee to arrange and direct the Frontier Days, if it may be called by that name. The selection of Mike Robinson to head the committee for this affair was a very wise move, and we predict that he will put it over in a big way, just like he has done with the other undertakings. He is full of plans and ideas and enthusiasm, and before the meeting adjourned last Thursday night he had injected an much optimism into the meeting that more than $3,000 was raised right there on the spot toward the undertaking. You are going to hear a lot more from us about this big celebration. We're for it one hundred per cent, and we know what it means to Bandera.

An old timer said to us the other day: "There's a lot of 'promoting' around here, but not 'nothin' to signs. When a feller begins to talk to you first about what he can do for you, then gradually leads up to county politics by and by announces that he thinks his chances would be if he took a notion to run for office, you can just bet your bottom dollar that that feller is wastin' no time encouragement to run for the office—the first thing you know his lightnin' rod will be up and ready to be struck when the political storm breaks. There's some 'medicine men' a goin' on, too, that the general public is not supposed to know anything about, but it's like the bottle of Jiquor which the fellow had in the other man's grip—it ain't leaked out yet. It seems to leak out pretty soon, though, so get your suit ready for some surprises."

The vacant spaces on Bandera's Main Street are fill ing up. Within another year or two new business houses will occupy those lots that now are vacant spaces. We know of a few more that will be built which are to soon be under construction by the time Spring arrives.

The big loads of lumber and building material now arriving to stock Bandera's lumber yards indicate that these concerns are getting ready for the increased building boom which is anticipated to come this Spring. Local contractors are preparing, too, for the many jobs that will be let in this town. Old Bandera has awakened.

Bandera county's young people are doing their part to call the attention of the world to Bandera county's superior attractions and advantages. Our 4-H Club boys and girls have won honors and prizes at the Houston Livestock Show, and at the Cowboy Livestock Show. And our High School Band of 41 pieces participated in the big parade at Laredo's Washington's Birthday celebration last Monday. It's fine that these boys and girls are from home to town in uniform, and at the same time give our county publicity that no other agency could. Those boys and girls are the citizens of tomorrow, and the citizens of today were the boys and girls of yesterday. These boys are naturally imbued with the spirit of civic pride, and enterprise.

The expanding service of the Bandera Electric Co-Operative, Inc., is doing more for the development of Bandera county than any other one agency. Electric current is now available for all parts of the county, and it is possible for ranchmen and farmers to enjoy their homes and farms with the modern conveniences and comforts denied them because of lack of electricity. Power pumping, feed grinding, washing machines, refrigerators, radios, and all other electrical conveniences are now theirs. Only a few years ago such electricity was not to be had, but huge all communities are being developed and established by the Bandera Electric Co-op. The other day this public utility concern was granted a loan of $695,000 by the Rural Electrification Administration for further expansion and improvement. Through the untiring efforts of W. Cardwell, manager of the Bandera Electric Co-op, and his associates, these things are being brought to pass, and Bandera county should be eagerly proud of the service that is being given.

Some Early Bandera County History

By J. Marvin Hunter

Settler Lockhart, one of the mountain country of Bandera county hunting that he had killed 40 deer before. Mr. Click saw his brother's blood in the spot, and shaping up his horse said to Weaver, "Pitt, I'm going to get that murderer." About that time, however, Weaver noticed a bowie knife in the road, and he dismounted and picked it up. Examining it, he recognized his brother. This discovery made the Indians get busy, and a hasty search for the grass was high, revealed the body, the trail and the trail where it had been dragged. Officers were soon notified, and an inquest was held by the grave, after which it was taken back and buried in the Bandera cemetery. Later the Indians also got the quilt and the saddle.

25 Years Ago

—From the Bandera New Era, March 2, 1923.

A telegram was received Monday announcing the death of Mrs. Tobey at Mackeyett, Dallas, occurred at Junction Tuesday. Mr. Tobey was a brother of W. A. Tobey of Medina.

Mrs. Frank Hartgard, pioneer citizen of Bandera, passed away at the home Wednesday shortly after noon, after an illness of several days. Death was caused by pneumonia. Mrs. Langford, Sr., was born in California, and was 70 years old. She came to Bandera with her parents in 1881. She grew up in Bandera, went to school here, and was married to Miss Langford in 1869. Eight children were born to the union, three girls and five boys. They are Mrs. Ella Click, Bandera; Mrs. Leah Matthews of Beaumont, Edwin P. Langford of Bandera, George H. Langford of Beaumont, Alvin F. Langford of Beaumont, R. L. Langford of Kendy, Mrs. Roby Barnett of El Rio, and John F. Langford of Bandera.

A farmer visiting a state mental hospital was strolling about the grounds when he came upon an inmate sprawled restfully under the shade of a tree. After a word of greeting the man sat up and eyed his visitor with interest.

"What do you do for a living?" he finally asked.

"I'm a farmer."

"Farmer, huh! I used to be a farmer. Darned hard work."

"Sure is," agreed the visitor.

"Ever get crops crazy?"

"Why no," the shocked farmer replied.

"You ought to try it some time," declared the inmate, as he again relaxed in the cool grass. "Darn fun."

DRUGS

BANDERA

Boy Fought Indians With Rocks

The courage of the boys and girls of the early days was remarkable. Ernest Huff, 12 years old, lived on Turtle Creek, southeast of Bandera, in the 1860's. One day his mother, Mrs. Jane Huff, went out to look for some horses and was attacked by two Indians. He was captured, but broke away from his captors and kept them dodging until his sister at the house discovered his peril and ran to his aid with a shotgun, when the Indians ran off. Grabbing a rock, Ernest pursued one and, one penetrating his arm, another his thigh, and a third struck him in the small of the back. The spike in his thigh remained in the bone, and was removed three years later by Dr. Dieff of San Antonio. He finally recovered, and married a daughter of Mose Hoit.

For those cold days that are so prevalent during the bad winter and spring months come to our store for your needs.

Getting Ready for Big Celebration

The Bandera Tourist Association is busy making plans for the Cowboy Reunion in mind for the publication of the Cowboy Reunion Edition, and this issue is to hold if spring festival, May 21 and 22. Similar events of this sort are held in Wyoming, Arizona, and many other states of the west. The type of publicity has always paid big dividends in bringing people to an area, not only for the few days' celebration, but as prospective business, enhancing property evaluations, and in creating other growth, which is the thing for which we who live in Bandera, are striving.

The festival as yet has no name. It is being left open as a contest, to everyone in Bandera county. The name must mention Bandera. For example, "Bandera Buckaroo Days" than "Bandera Frontier Days," or some name of this type. Any one who wishes to send in a name to be used in our spring issue may do so by sending this, or her choice to the Bandera Tourist Association, Box 561 Bandera, Texas. The one who submits the name that is eventually used will be given free admissions to the Bandera Theatre.

The Bandera Tourist Association feels that the Cowboy Reunion and Jamboree," with horse racing, rodeos, parades, and the most beautiful cowgirl in the southwest, etc. The cowgirl will be from the county at large, area, and the winner of the contest will be judged by a group of chosen judges and by several Hollywood stars who will be on hand to be chaperoned to Hollywood, where she will be given a screen test. A facsimile of the Judge Roy Bean store will be built on the Main Street in Bandera. Small stores, such as the one that sells fish, will be built, and all the many plans afoot.

Just a few of the highlights of the festival will be a stage coach race, a parade of the cowboys and cowgirls of the surrounding Bandera county that will travel through all parts of Bandera county, a calf roping contest, a 100 miles advertising the event, an airplane will be used to take two of our beautiful Bandera cowgirls to several large cities to advertise the event, the mayor of the respective city to come to Bandera with his cowgirl to face for these Bandera Days.

In the near future a meeting of the new committee will contact everyone in the county to take a pledge to carry through this program. Give till it hurts, be sure what makes Bandera, makes each and every one of us.

MIKE ROBINSON,
General Chairman
Bandera Tourist Association

New Coffee Shop to Be De Luxe

Banderans are to have the finest coffee shop in the South, and that is saying a whole lot, when you remember that some of the finest coffee shops are to be seen in New Orleans and other cities of the south. We mean just what we say when we herald to the world that the coffee shop which Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stodghill will install in Bandera's Frontier Hotel will be complete in every detail, and will be up to the inventory of the equipment, and well informed on that no expense is being spared to make it the finest and most attractive coffee shop in the state. Bandera and its readers will be given more details later. Mr. and Mrs. Stodghill were in from their ranch near Turtle Creek Friday and called to place an order for printed matter for their new business.

LIONS CLEAN STREETS

The Lions met last Thursday night did not do the fine thing by the citizens of Bandera, nothing Bandera citizens were proud of with nice clean streets. This move as most good moves from the Lions club was sponsored by the Lions, or a group of them and was put over by Jimmy Jordan, Bradley Brown, Burke D'Spain, Nesting Bros., Bandera Motor, and Bandera Hardware. Those who made purchases, Burris, E. Mansfield, Jr., Bob Mansfield, Jr., Bill Smith and C. Thallman, worked with the Lions and helped in the clean up campaign. Many others in the morning getting this fine job done. Incidentally, it was a work well done. Incidentally, Bandera's president Mac Hammond had office business elsewhere in different pursuits, however.

LAPHAMS ENTERTAIN

Colonel and Mrs. Jack Laphams entertained Dr. Phinney Baxter President of Williams College, Williamstown, Massachusetts, with a cocktail and dinner party at the Flying L. Ranch on Wednesday, February 25th. The table was very unique in a typical ranch setting, the centre piece being a wooden cowboy drawn cart which held a profusion of ranunculus, sweet peas, daffodils and narcissus. Favors were miniature cowboys holding cigarettes and book matches. The menu was served on small pieces of wood, burned with the brand of the Flying L Ranch and the names of the following guests, who were alumni of Williams College: Dr. Phinney Baxter, president Williams College, Class of 1914; Webster Atwell, Attorney, Williams College, Class 1921; Gilbert Thorne, Production department of the Texas Company, San Antonio, Class 1919; Wallace Carnahan Jr., Ainsworth & Carnahan Company, San Antonio, Class 1938; Arthur Muir, trust officer First National Bank, San Antonio, Class 1904; Tracy A. Fine Arts Club Observes Texas Day

Tuesday afternoon when the Fine Arts Club met at the W. O. W. hall for their regular monthly meeting a most unique and interesting Texas Day program was carried out with Mrs. Ben Wilson as program leader for the afternoon. The hall was beautifully decked with the pioneers of Texas' and the progress was depicted in photographs of Bandera county. The relics on display were loaned for the occasion by Mrs. Marvin Hunter of Frontier Times Museum. Oh the display was a miniature horse and buggy brought back the mode of travel in this county in the early days. Photographs showed the very first school house, aerial views of interesting places and the breeding of the cattle, sheep and goats and 4-H Club life in the county. A table set for a tea party was burned brightly and refreshments were served from an old fashion tea room in the 80's complete in tin cups, apple sauce and cookies. Delicious and tasty refreshments. Mrs. John Merrell, the very efficient county clerk some of her beautiful red velvet dresses and hats and they adorned the speaker's table. Mrs. Luther Urquhart was serving table and a flower decked bread tray formed the table center. Mrs. Luther Urquhart was chairman for the after program which was assisted by Mrs. Preston Brown, Mrs. A. Mrs. Neal Matthews, Mrs. J. H. Hicks, Mrs. J. E. Mowery, Mrs. D. O. Tallman, Mrs. Homer Wilson, Mrs. Ben Wilson, Mrs. Wilbry Meadows and Mrs. Will Lewis. Mrs. Brown gave a recitation and those who took part on the program were cute little boys and girls dressed in costumes that were most attractive. In the absence of the president Mrs. Ben Wilson presided over the business session. Mrs. Ben Wilson reported that the club had been added to them or not. Mrs. Wilson stated that two-thirds of the votes cast in favor of the creation of the district, before the State Board can consider the new law, for the operation of the proposed district is practicable. This does not mean that two-thirds of the voters in the county must vote in favor of the district, but that two-thirds of those who vote must be in favor. However, if an interest is shown next year to set up a district, then may not approve the district.

GOLF SHOTS

Lt. Joe Simmons earned first place in the weekly sweepstakes by shooting a 64. Joe Simmons is a beginner at golf, and this second attempt this week a beginner has won the tournament. The golf course is busy the last week.

T. Thurman was Simmons' nearest competitor, registering 74.

H. Philo, of the Mayan Ranch, has been playing golf for some time, because Mrs. Philo does not care to play golf, but will be in a while.

We would like to see a four-some composed of Mrs. Philo, Mrs. Simmons, Mrs. Jack Lapham and Mrs. Robinson as they would be a good four and would surely have a swell time trying to beat the men.

When are the Medina men going to come and play in our tournaments? Perhaps we could arrange team matches between the two clubs.

Remember anyone that plays golf is welcome at the club and to try out is invited and welcomed to play at the Lost Valley golf course. Beginners do not need clubs, just see O'Brien.

Burglary Charged Against Two Men

Jimmy Jordan and Arthur Ellington of New York were taken to the Bexar county jail for safe keeping last Friday after being arraigned before Justice Ben Gray on a routine search at the hook up with the county jail. The young men had been working near Medina when Alice Lorna rang and several private cabins were burglarized. They gave bond over to the grand jury, which convenes next Monday.

The operation is to be performed this week, and Mr. Horsman's many friends here hope he will hook for well.

THE TEXAS ANT

There are several kinds of ants in Texas, but the one that comes most into public notice is the little red ant. Although this ant is of a very irascible temper, when angry, the little red ant knows no bounds to its rage, and respects no person as a part of a person. It shows its temper most as picnics, when it finds the kinkets in bite a good little boy on his way to the watermelon patch, as quick as the wasp, the red ant is the most active insect on earth.

There are a great many different kinds of ants, each one specialized in its habits, and manufactured to suit the different conditions of environment, but the sting of the smallest of them is large enough to satisfy a full grown person, and the small boy who gets stung is usually willing, in the last of the moment, to swear that it is as large as a rattlesnake. The most common and unpopular kind of ant is the little black ant, found between extremes. Although he is small, he has his nest in the busy haunts of men, he is disposed to be rather familiar with the food of the first end of the ant, he has two feelers growing out of the bumps of his head, and he is a confirmed quarrel just, the red ant is doubly armed, having for his armament a pincers that will bite off the corners of an old boot, and a powerful sting filled with formidable fluid

How to Put Up with Women's Styles

When Will Dudley's silence finally cave in to the new-style longer skirts. Will was mighty critical at first. Allowed as how women were a slave to fashion . . . ought to dress to please their husbands and not style designers.

Sue finally reminded Will of his habit of sitting by the radio Saturday afternoons in shirt sleeves and old slippers, listening to the sportcasts with a mellow glass of beer. Suggested that maybe Will was a slave to comfort.

And Will admitted she was right.

Perhaps the way somebody dresses isn't always to our taste—just as Will's glass of beer may be another person's cider.

But from where I sit, these little differences aren't important—so long as we're free to choose them as we please, we're not out of step. Joe Marsh

Editorials . . .

Scarcely a day passes but that the Bulletin receives through the mail or in person items of very definitely matter from various reporters over the country, every thing from canned editorials to reports of students' work in college, all of which we turn over to you as the items were sent to us. Often these contributions would have to run 16 pages a week. Much of this tendered matter which turns up in this office is not worth a second look, the editor hopes to get in all the good stuff that is in the mail of every weekly newspaper, and some of the brother editors owe it to fill up their columns. We have no free space to give, away; it is money to keep the paper coming and if we have any space that is not paid for we will be given to our own community and not to some publication that never spends a cent in Bandera. Sometimes these free gift articles are send mats or stereotype plates ready to insert in the paper. We get a lot of them, but we have no time and trouble of setting the type but if it fills our vacant space—that some space which we have to buy—advertisements at 50c to 60c per inch. Those publishers can be the expense of having their stuff mimeographed, hectographed, stereotype plates but they do not want to spend a nickel to get it printed, trusting to the postoffice to run it free. Every day our screaming waste basket receives its full measure of this kind of advertisement, and every day there is a heavily laden mail sack to carry from this stuff, some of which is not fit to line the stove with kerosene. But we get rid of it. Now if we could only get them to quit sending it we would not very much relished.

The beautiful Springdale cabin that was destroyed by fire caused to have an investigation of what was left of it. Found several people using the building for a picnic resort, drinking—or perhaps they were singing words to go fish by.

Bandera could buy what, $1,000 of his grandmother's money in his hands and have a successful future ahead of him as a newspaper man.

The Bulletin received several items this week through the mail, from different sources. As these communications were not signed by the writers they will be omitted, as we would like to print them. Those who send them in that we cannot publish the items unless we know who they are. Again let us impress upon our many patrons that no item will be published unless the name of the writer is known to the editor, but we must know who he is, the name will be withheld if he desires. By the fact that we have been imposed upon several times by unsigned communications we have been reported, and your communications or put your name on the envelope with them, and they will get prompt attention.

If you have an article for sale, want to sell or trade, put it in our want column. It will do the work.

Looking Backward

25 Years Ago

(From the Bandera News Era, March 8, 1923.)

Charles Grubaugh, LeSueur son died at his home Wednesday, Monday, March 5. He was the fifth son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed LeSueur, and was 12 years old. Graham had been sick about a week with influenza. The family have our sympathy in their bereavement. Those who came up from San Antonio to attend the funeral were Mrs. E. LeSueur, son and daughter, Mrs. Guy LeSueur, Mrs. Lina Hamilton, Mrs. Jack Moore, Messrs. Frank Neale and George McDonald. The floral offerings were spoken by J. E. Browning. Grubaugh was a student of Bandera High School, in the fourth grade, and he will be greatly missed by his school-mates.

Richard Stevens returned from San Antonio Monday, where he joined a league contract with the Galveston baseball club and will leave next Thursday for Galveston to begin training in the Texas League. Richard is a fine all around ball and his many friends here are predicting that he will "clean up" in baseball circles and become a national favorite in due time.

The funeral of R. F. Langford Sr., who died February 28, was held at the family residence last Thursday, Rev. J. T. Venable of Medina conducting the services in place of Rev. F. A. Potts, pastor of the Methodist church here, who was unable to conduct it on account of illness. Interment was made in Bandera cemetery in the presence of a large and sorrowing relatives and friends. The pall bearers were Judge A. L. Mansfield, Tom Haynes, Felix Kuehne, Tom Hays, Joe Chisum and Frank Hay.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wollschlaeger and daughter, accompanied by Mr. Tuff of Comfort, spent Sunday with Mrs. Wollschlaeger's brother, Alfred Reinagel.

J. E. Crist was down from Medina Monday on business, says he is mighty well pleased with the abundance of moisture.

We are pleased to report Mrs. A. B. Langford, who has been seriously ill, is reported much improved and on the high road to recovery.

Joe O'Bryant and Jess Stormo have returned to their homes at Utopia after spending a days assisting the family of W. B. Fletcher, who were all stricken with influenza. The boys performed their assumed household and nursing duties well, and Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher are duly grateful to them for the timely assistance.

Mrs. J. F. Tait has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Eisinger, in San Antonio the past three weeks.

F. V. Huffmeyer and family of San Antonio were visitors at the City Hotel last Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stein were here from San Antonio Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Stein's grandfather, R. F. Langford, Sr.

Miss Hughie Mayfield, the obliging "hello girl" at the Southwestern telephone office, was a victim of influenza several days last week, and her place at the switchboard was ably filled, by Miss Edna Stevens.

Judge Joe G. Montague returned from Austin last Sunday where he had been on business. While in the state capital he looked in on the Legislature and met quite a number of his old friends there, and later was called upon to preside as special judge in a case tried at the State University.

Some Early Bandera County History

By J. Marvin Hunter

In 1867 Rufus Click, another brother, while coming from Kerrville to Bandera, was attacked by Indians at the Bandera Pass. He had a pack mule with him when they got into the pass the dog raised his hair and barked and hind Mr. Click. This looked suspicious, but being on foot he had to be rode on, and was soon fired on both with bullets and arrows. The frontiersman leaned forward on the horse's neck and the race was on. Mr. Click says that the two parties of Indians, some on both sides of the road, tried to run the gauntlet between them. A bullet hit Mr. Click in the neck above the windpipe, and an arrow struck him in the left shoulder blade and ranged up as he was leaning forward. The speed of his nag saved him, and he made it to the home of John A. Jones, three miles distant. He had to be assisted into the house, and a runner was sent to Bandera after Dr. Fitz Gibbon. He came and found Mr. Click who was shot with a poisoned arrow, and he applied the usual strychnine to counteract it, as it was the only medicine at hand. He got well but was never shot again. The dog was killed by a rattlesnake. The Indians afterwards made a raid and stole the horses of the brother editors now left in the county. We have no live space to give, away; it is money to keep the paper coming and if we have any space that is not paid for we will be given to our own community and not to some publication that never spends a cent in Bandera. THE LARGEST COTTONWOOD TREE ON MEDINA RIVER

Without any question of doubt, the largest cottonwood tree on the Medina river is the tall tree near the crossing of the river on the road to the Mayan Ranch. This tree, which is now about 75 feet in height and about four feet in diameter, was planted as a switch in 1906, by the late Joe Anderwald, and is now more than fifty-two years old. Uncle Joe Anderwald, as he was familiarly known, died in this city about six years ago at the age of 85. He was just a boy of 13 years at the time he stuck a green cottonwood switch in the ground on the bank of the Medina river. The switch took root and grew into a giant of the forest, and as a monument to that insignificant act, the tree very few know that it is a living memorial to one of our fine old pioneer citizens.

GOLF SHOTS

Three new golfers made their appearance last week at the Last Valley golf course, they were Mr. and Mrs. George Proffer of the Circle J Ranch, Mrs. Proffer and M. M. Fitzgerald of Bandera. All three of them made their first day of golf. Rumor has it that Mrs. Proffer made a challenge Rankin Conwill to a game.

Charlie Sachs will gladly trade his hook for a club, he is a real operator and is slowly but surely rising each time he hits a wood.

Incidentally, Sachs is invited to the Lapham, Marshall match this coming Sunday, don't back out! Everybody turn out this week-end and see how many players can participate in the weekly sweepstakes.

CONTEST FOR SELECTION OF COWGIRLS

Bandera's beaus may grow hoarse but the Bandera belles will take the stage as beautiful cowgirls, or shall we say "cowbelles"?

Part of the publicity program for the spring festival sponsored by the Lions PTA, is the selection of two of the most attractive cowgirls in Bandera county, whose selection by popular acclaim will entitle them to attend as guests of honor the airplane to various large cities in the Southwest area as representatives of Bandera county, and as special envoys of good will to invite the people of these cities to attend our Bandera jamboree May 21 and 22. Any young lady who wishes to represent Bandera county in connection with this publicity plan, is invited to enter the contest sponsored by the Bandera Tourist Association. If any local citizen knows a qualified entrant but for some reason cannot enter on application, the Association urges that friend to rope the belle and bring her in. We want every attractive girl in Bandera county entered in the contest. Of all the contest entrants, two will be chosen by popular vote at the Bantex Theater at a date to be announced.

This stunt of having two beautiful Bandera county cowgirls as airplane envoys will be one of the most unusual publicity devices planned for the building up the fine celebration of Bandera county. Bring in our beautiful cowgirls.

T. U. EXES RENEW ANNUAL AT ROUND-UP

The traditional March 2nd round-up of University of Texas students was held Tuesday of last week at 12 o'clock in the form of a luncheon at the O. S. T. Cafe and ex-students present reviewed the memories of their college days which they had mutually shared. A number of all Texas exes in the vicinity, both present and past, were present, and Bandera has more than a dozen University of Texas ex-students and graduates. Talk centered about the matter in cost of college education now and as in the "good old days." One prominent Texas ex had paid a total of $29,000 for monthly expenses, while the average hard-boiled today are reported to be about $80. It was announced that it is the aim of the ex's present to try to have the luncheon as an annual event. The luncheon table was appropriately decorated with a Texas flag and burnt orange and white streamers. Those attending the luncheon were Mrs. A. V. Pue, Mrs. R. T. Huebner, Charlie Thalmann, and Mr. and Mrs. P. C. Billings. The occasion was also Mr. Billings' birthday.

BARKING FROGS BEING STALKED IN HILL COUNTRY

Austin, March 5.—The University of Texas wants some barking frogs. The kind that barking frogs eat dogs. He was Dr. W. J. Brandon, who is a zoologist, not a psychiatrist. Dr. Blair says this rare type of frog is sometimes found in the Edwards Plateau Hills Country of Texas. Children in search of pollywogs sometimes bring specimens which Dr. Blair wants to take with him to a meeting of the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists at New Orleans March 29-30. Dr. Blair said the barking frogs come out only in the spring and usually live around limestone holes.

Folks there really barking frogs in Bandera county—no fooling. The bark of these frogs is often heard at night by people living in the hills and resembles that of a dog. Some people say they are "barking lizards," but this is a mistake. They are frogs and specimens we have sent resemble the cane toad, but they are more slender, although fully as large. Several are: say J. A. Hicks of the Utopia region. Recently in a couple of those "barking frogs" and one of 275 per cent of the state. The conservation treatment has included such measures as range seeding, water development, contours, planting cotton on farmers, strip cropping, and planting cover crops. "Practical farmers' Soil Conservation Association which deals with each important subject of land according to its needs and capabilities—benefits people on the land, business and professional people in town, our schools and churches, and the state and nation," Dr. Bennett concluded.

The club was requested to write a resolution on farming kings. The following gem came from atf 14-year-old boy:

"The most powerful king on earth is working, the laziest is shirking, the wittiest is no king. KING, the quietest is thinking, the surest is walking, and the wisest is talking."

REDUCES SIGN OF SPRING IN BANDERA

Spring has come to Bandera! The green oats and grain fields, the budding trees, baby lambs, kids and calves and the blossoming fruit trees bear out that statement. There are signs in the flower-covered hillsides in wild profusion they may well draw the eyes of the passing motorist from his high-way duties. A recent trip to Lost Maples is to use native trees and shrubs and certainly the redbud on this section may well be used for the more formal grouping around residences and buildings, for in its near replica selling their clear skies and warm sun as the best place for a winter vacation. Previously this ramblings was considered a summer time vacation, but now the "dudes" are flocking down in the winter months to make it a year 'round business.

Three of the top ranches in the area are the Circle H, the Flying L and Lost Valley. Daily rates range from $9.50 to $15 per person. This price includes everything the ranches have to offer in the way of amusement such as horses, swimming pools, picnics, pack trips, etc. The dude can figure that since he pays his weekly bill, incidentals such as smokes, refreshments and perhaps some cowboy clothes will be his only additional expenditures.

Circle H Ranch offers the typical Texas ranch—right in the country—but on a ranch built of native cedar and an atmosphere of solid comfort. Rooms are served ranch style with all the food you want to eat and the quality is excellent. Informality and friendliness are the rule here. An airstrip on the ranch awaits those private planes that may fly in and quite a few do.

Lost Valley is more the resort type of dude ranch and is for those who like their luxury when they "rough it." Beautifully laid out, this ranch has have the Palm Springs' aura and meals are served by white coated waiters. A swimming pool tones the ranch appeal to many.

The Flying L Ranch offers luxurious cabins built on Frank Lloyd Wright lines and also features an airstrip. The ranch has its own fleet of planes and offers flying instructions as well as trips to the border towns.

All of the ranches have their own swimming pools and these usually are crowded during the hot months of summer. Bandera has an excellent climate. The new discovery that dude ranching can be a most pleasure in the winter as in the summer has made the ranch operators happy.

As in other resorts throughout the country, business got off to a slow start after Christmas. Now the season is getting well under way and most of the ranches are booked up for the next 60 per cent capacity from March until fall.

"To what do you attribute your baby life?" the reporter asked the centenarian.

"I don' rightly know yet," replied the old gentleman, puffing lazily at his pipe, "I'm still dickering with two breakfast-food companies."

LUXURY, FUN, LURE DUDES TO TEXAS RANGES

The following great story, written by Gail Compton, appeared in the Chicago Daily Tribune on Wednesday, March 3, and will be read by many people in this section. Bandera is being talked about in the North and East.

Bandera, Texas, March ——. A newly gilt in a short black skirt, a "new look" blouse, wearing cowboy boots stamps out "Cotton Eyed Joe" with a gangling cowboy for a partner in the fiddler scraps.

This scene in a little cabaret in Bandera is only one of the fabulous sights in this Texas dude ranch country. Ranch owners, for the first time are selling their clear skies and warm sun as the best place for a winter vacation. Previously dude ranching was considered a summer time vacation, but now the "dudes" are flocking down in the winter months to make it a year 'round business.

SCHOOL CENSUS TAKEN IN MARCH

Arrangements for taking the annual school census in Bandera county this month are rapidly shaping up, according to Judge Pat Taylor, county school superintendent. Mrs. Bonnie Polk Creek, Tarpley and Elm Creek communities complete this work for their sections, Mrs. Ruth Hunter Thomas reporting later for Medina, and the census taker for Bandera has not yet been appointed. This is an important activity for all citizens of Bandera county because upon it depends how much money the Bandera county school system will receive from the state and county tax funds, according to Judge Pat. Full cooperation is urged, in order that not a single school age child may be missed in the taking of the census. This is usually to work primarily among the schools with children sent home for the parents to enroll. Children between the ages of 6 and 18 on September 1 of this year are considered of school age and should be on the county school rolls for 1948. All should be found and should attend public or parochial school. Each child missed costs $38.90 less for school financing in the area the Circle H, the Flying L and Lost Valley. Daily rates range from $9.50 to $15 per person. This price includes everything the ranches have to offer in the way of amusement such as horses, swimming pools, picnics, pack trips, etc. The dude can figure that since he pays his weekly bill, incidentals such as smokes, refreshments and perhaps some cowboy clothes will be his only additional expenditures.

TARPLEY H. D. CLUB MEETING

The Tarpley Home Demonstration Club met March 4th at 2 p. m. in the home of Mrs. R. D. Sandidge. There were eleven members present. Mrs. Bonnie Polk Creek, Tarpley and Elm Creek communities complete this work for their sections, Mrs. Ruth Hunter Thomas reporting later for Medina, and the census taker for Bandera has not yet been appointed. This is an important activity for all citizens of Bandera county because upon it depends how much money the Bandera county school system will receive from the state and county tax funds, according to Judge Pat. KEEPING PACE
WITH BANDERA'S PROGRESS

The Bandera Bulletin is keeping pace with Bandera's progress. Bandera and Bandera County have made rapid strides during the past four years, and steady growth is now in full swing. New homes are being built, new business firms are being established, new citizens are flocking in. At the rate Bandera is growing it is freely predicted that the town will have a population of 5,000 within the next three years. Real estate is advancing in value, and small homes and ranches are in demand. Every week reports come in of land deals being made.

Bandera is becoming famous as the foremost guest ranch region of the State. More than fifty thousand tourists and guests were accommodated here during the past summer; and it is expected that nearly as many visitors will come here through the winter months. All this makes for Bandera's progress.

The Bandera Bulletin is now the only newspaper published in Bandera County. While it is comparatively a new publication—being only a little more than two years old, its publishers are old timers here, and know how to turn out a newspaper that people want. That it is recognized as a live newspaper and is liked by the people is evidenced by the splendid circulation it is getting. Starting out twenty-six months ago without a subscriber, the Bulletin now boasts a circulation of 1,650 bona fide subscribers, and they are still coming in. Running on an average of 800 inches of advertising per week, it has been proven as a good advertising medium.

The Bulletin is now located in its new building away up on Main Street, and we are prepared to do all kinds of commercial and job printing. Our force of experienced printers know how to do high class work, so let us figure on your next printing order.

BANDERA RANCH HANDS' BALL CLUB MEETS

A meeting planning for Bandera's baseball team, the Bandera Ranch Hands, got under way Tuesday night at a meeting at the American Legion Memorial Hall when 25 interested members got together to look over the prospects for the 1948 team and to make arrangements for the season's opener. Top-ranger, Charlie Suche, set the first practice session for Wednesday, March 17 at 3 o'clock, at the Ranch Hands baseball park. It was also noted that all who are interested turn out for the practice sessions. All have some good prospects if we can get the best out of some of these boys and their baseball shoes on and the Bandera American Legion is sponsoring all financial arrangements for the team this year, including concessions at all home games. The team is to have a new grandstand up for the opening game of the season, which will be on Sunday, April 17, when the Ranch Hands will play a team of the enlisted men of the San Antonio Missions, that team being selected by another club for that date. The season opening will run through September, with games being scheduled for the season, develops. Bandera is not to play this year with the Junior Baseball League, but rather will play independent ball clubs from San Antonio, Boerne, Comfort and nearby towns who are also not in any league. This will enable the local group to have more home games and better competition. Officials of the Ranch Hands baseball club are Charlie Suche, manager; W. T. Embree, business manager; Jack Taylor, field captain; Gene Gorski, chief scorekeeper; and Bill Billings, chief umpire. Players from the newly organized team will report for their first afternoon workouts of the Ranch Hands and will thus report to Charlie Suche, who is a former member of the Cleveland Indians and has had experience in other baseball clubs.

Hunter Miller, prominent young business man of Boerne, was a visitor in Bandera Monday. Mr. Miller is the district salesman for Falstaff beer, and was in the interest of that beverage.

BARKING FROGS BEING STALKED IN HILL COUNTRY

Austin, March 3.—The University of Texas wants some barking frogs. The rules said barking frogs not dogs. He was Dr. W. Frank Blair, who is a zoologist, not a psychiatrist. Dr. Blair says this rare type of frog is sometimes found in the Edwards Plateau (Hill Country of Texas. Students in seven county are looking for specimens which Dr. Blair wants to take with him to a meeting of the American Society of Ichthyologists and Herpetologists at New Orleans March 28-29. Dr. Blair said the barking frogs come out only in the spring and usually live around limestone bluffs.

Folks there's really barking frogs in Bandera county—no fooling. The lack of these frogs is often heard at night by people living in the hills, and resembles that of a dog. Some people call them "barking lizards," but this is a mistake. They are frogs, and specimens we have seen resemble the odd warty toad, but they are more slender, although fully as large. Several years ago J. A. Hicks of the Utopia region brought in a couple of these "barking frogs" and they were on display for some time in Frontier Times Museum.

REGULUS MAKES ITS SPRING TO TEXAS RANGES

The following good story, written by Gail Compton, appeared in the Chicago Daily Tribune, on Wednesday, March 3, and will give our home people an idea of how Bandera is being talked about in the North and East:

Bandera, Tex., March 29.—A pretty girl in a smart black dress with the new look and matching cowboy boots stamps out "Cotton Eyed Joe" with a cowboy for a partner

SOIL CONSERVATION IN THE 21ST DISTRICT

"We find ourselves all too close to the danger line with respect to our supply of agricultural land," is the warning of Dr. Hugh H. Bennett, Chief of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service.

In a radio interview with Congressman O. C. Fisher last week Dr. Bennett—known as the father of soil conservation—said that about 85 per cent of our crop and grazing land which is still subject to impoverishing erosion is still lacking the protection of effective soil conservation treatment. Referring to conditions in Texas, Dr. Bennett commented: "Erosion surveys by the Soil Conservation Service show that something like half of both the cropland and grazing land of Texas has been previously attacked by erosion."

Dr. Bennett expressed satisfaction at the progress in water and soil conservation during the past 11 years, which, he said, has been "better than I ever expected to see."

Representative Fisher, in speaking of the fight against erosion, pointed out that in the 21st Congressional District there are now 13 conservation districts which take in nearly 9 million acres. This covers all or portions of 22 of the 21 counties.

The Soil Conservation chief reminded that in Texas alone there are now 145 districts, including about 127 million acres or 175 per cent of the state. The conservation treatment has included such measures as range seeding, water development, contour planting, construction of terraces, strip cropping, and on planting cover crops. "Practical scientific soil conservation—which deals with each important part of land according to its needs and capabilities—benefits people on the land, business and professional people in town, our schools and churches and the state and nation," Dr. Bennett concluded.

Tiffin Glass was requested to write a composition on famous kings. The following gem came from an 11-year-old boy:

"The most powerful king on earth is working, the laziest is working, the smartest is working, the quietest is thinking; all the stupid is working; and the noisiest is talking."

SCHOOL TAX ASSESSMENTS DUE

Mrs. Millie Moore, special clerk in the county tax office, requests that school tax assessments be made at the county court house if at all possible. April 1st Mrs. Moore reported that only about one-half of the assessments have been made to date based on taxes paid from the last year's tax rolls and that she is anxious to complete assessments for school taxes during March. Assessments of property for state and county taxes may be made at the same time. The deadline for these is May 1st, according to W. H. Burns, tax collector and assessor. In assessing property for state taxes, homestead exemptions up to $3,000 valuation on 200 acres may be claimed. If taxes are assessed and this exemption is claimed before May 1st, the deduction is allowed when taxes are paid in December, otherwise the full state taxes must be paid.

The Bulletin retails for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

LINDNER ANNOUNCES FOR COMMISSIONER

Ernst Lindner announces this week for re-election to the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 1, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries July 24th. Mr Lindner has faithfully served the people in the capacity of commissioner for the past several years. He has been very active in the improvement of the roads of this precinct, and despite the many hardships with which he had to contend during the war period, shortages of equipment, scarcity of material and adverse conditions, he has succeeded in doing some splendid work in the precinct. If re-elected to this office he will continue to give his best service to the upbuilding and development of Precinct No. 1, and to the affairs of the county. He will appreciate your vote and support in his race.

H. I. PORTER FOR COMMISSIONER, PREC. 3

In our announcement column this week will be found the name of H. I. Porter of Medina, who is seeking re-election to the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 3. He is grateful to his constituents for all favors in the past, and will appreciate your vote and support in his race.

Citizen: "Look here, what's the idea of parading down Market Street with a gun? You haven't been elected sheriff."

Guard: "No, but I only got one Christmas card, and if that's all the friends I have, I'll need a gun."

JIM S. EDWARDS FOR COMMISSIONER, PRECINCT 2

Two years ago Jim S. Edwards was prevailed upon by the people of the Pipe Creek community to accept the office of County Commissioner, Precinct No. 2. He entered upon his duties with the determination to give the very best service possible, and he has made a splendid county official. He announces this week as a candidate for re-election to the office, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries. For many years the late lamented John L. Edwards, Jim's father, faithfully served as commissioner for that precinct; then after his death Lawrence Edwards, Jim's brother, held the office and upon his retirement Jim S. Edwards was elected to carry on the good work. He has proven himself equal to the trusts for a good, active and energetic official, and his friends rejoice that he is now asking for re-election. He will appreciate your vote and support in the race.

FISHERMAN'S LUCK

Last August 23, W. T. Embrey, "Garwood" McCabe, and T. W. Rudwick went fishing at Rockport. Result: 1 fish hook in the left eye of W. T. Embrey, loss of sight in same, 17 days in hospital, separation of offended one from lots of "holding stuff," and an avowal to do no more fishing. However, on February 28 these same two so-called gentlemen came to Bandera and enticed the same victim away from his usual "strenuous" labors to Medina Lake for more fishing. Result: 1 overturned boat, 3 wet fishermen, $250 worth of fishing tackle lost, and a $350 outboard motor in the bottom of the Lake. Embrey says he is undecided whether to quit fishing or change fishing partners. Fisherman's luck is not always so bad, however. Last week, on Wednesday, Charlie Thalmann and a friend from San Antonio left Bandera at 3 p. m. for Medina Lake. They arrived back here at 8 p. m. the same evening hale and hearty and with 20 nice croppie and white bass. They reported that the fish were biting on minnows and that they had had no trouble at all in catching them.

O. L. TAMPKE FOR COMMISSIONER, PREC. 4

Commissioners' Precinct No. 4 includes the Vanderpool, Utopia, and Taylor communities, over on the west side of Bandera county. O. L. Tampke is the present commissioner, and is now serving his second term. This week Mr. Tampke announces himself as a candidate for re-election to the office, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries, July 24th. Mr. Tampke has had the same conditions to contend with that all of the other county commissioners in Texas have had to worry with during the war period. As everybody knows, equipment has been unobtainable, and labor scarce but he has made a good record despite these conditions, and has been successful in improving the roads in that precinct. Now that equipment and machinery is becoming available he hopes to be re-elected, be in a position to do much more, and will do his very best to serve his constituents efficiently and satisfactorily. He will appreciate your vote and support in the race.

Judge: So you say the defendant stole your money from your stocking.

Plaintiff: Yes your honor.

Judge: Then why didn't you resist?

Plaintiff (pouting): Well, how did I know he was after my money?

Ben's Bride Gets Chickenhearted

Ben Ryder was mighty proud of his young bride when she offered to care for his new flock of baby chicks. "Just like a mother with her brood," he boasts.

Then came market time for fryers—and the trials! Ben simply wouldn't let Ben near her chickens with an axe. She'd rained them as babes . . . she'd named them . . . they were her very own!

Ben poured himself a glass of beer, to think over sensibly. He hated to lose the price on fryers . . . but he figured she had put up with his peculiarities, he guessed he could put up with her fondness for the chickens.

So now Ben has the nicest brood of laying hens in town, and from where I sit, one of the most successful marriages, too. All because he "lived-and-let-live"—literally. And whenever he wants fried chicken, he takes his bride over to Andy's Garden Tavern for a crisp wing and a glass of beer.

IT'S RED CROSS TIME

Home Service during the new National Seal program of the Red Cross. Carl Lunn, who as Red Cross collected whole blood from men getting the war to our armed forces, and now they are undertaking the same work in peacetime, Bandera might well ask, what is the need for blood and the services that we are at peace? Based on experiences in World War II, the blood is used for treatment of sick and injured and for proper standard procedure. The plan is still in its infancy, and it may take as long as three years to complete arrangements and establish blood banks at all points. The program has been approved by the American Medical Association, the U. S. Public Health Service, Veterans Administration, the Army, the Navy, and a number of State health services. The Blood Program is one of the national projects that will be financed by the 1948 Fund campaign. It will be some time before the local Red Cross chapter will enter into the program, but they now have the services operating, assisting with procurement, projects for hospitalized service men and veterans at Legion, Brooke Medical Center, and sta-tions at Randolph Field and Lackland air base. Each month they send out thousands of books, popular records, sheet music, and other aid for all of the fifty small articles, such as razor blades, soap, shampoo, etc., we sent from the U. S. and which the station hospital at Randolph in addition to other aid. They asked for used Western, Adventure, and Detective magazines. If you have any, leave them in the Red Cross and they will be sent to Randolph in time to pass the time.

SOIL CONSERVATION

TAKEN BY LAND BANK

Inasmuch as an election is to be held in Bandera county on March 20th which will be of vi-tal importance to the people of this county, we are glad to give space to the following excerpt from a report by Dan Steward, Director of the Federal Land Bank of Houston:

"After all, the greatest profit in farming comes not from the rising or falling price period, nor from the occasional good soils the farmers of this state, as in all the industries which depend on farmers, will be the better and no worse off than the rest of the business security. For a long period the trend has been forth in quality through the use of much of our best soils. Because of the awakening interest we now have in soil building practices, it is believed that in the future will be much better than the past in the regard. Here and there the tide of loss has been stopped and turned in the opposite direction. In some places where areas are on the verge of soil depleting. We must find ways and means of conserving these storage to the end that credit and good will shall be tied together in the forward progress of the people and particularly the agricultural economy of this state. Our best hope will be dedicated to this purpose."

CREATIVE ARTS FESTIVAL HOUSTON

Over Texas talent during the four days the Festival is in session. On March 12, at 10:30 a.m. Arthur Dar, and all artists are being invited to meet on this date the works of Texas authors will be displayed at the Houston Public Library and at 2:30 p.m. Houston authors will act as hosts and hostesses at the luncheon, direction and program of talks. "Honey," said the colored soldier-man, "we gits married you ain't gwine to give up dad good job you has workin' for de white folks, is you?"

"But ain't we gwine to have a honeymoon an' take a trip on the train somewhere?"

"One of us might go, honey. Dey ain't a thing holding me, but you's got responsibility."

CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Charles L. South, Sisman, arriving in Bandera last Thursday afternoon, formally announced his candidacy for Congress from the 21st congressional district of Texas, subject to the Democratic primary of March 4, 1950.

South, who was elected in Congress from the 21st district of Texas for eight consecutive years. During the four years of his service, he was a member of the Agriculture Committee and the Rivers Committee of the House, formerly presided over by Hon. Sam Rayburn of Bonham, which gave him an opportunity to effectively support legislation of particular value to the 21st district, including the Taft-Hartley Act, passed in 1940; the Wool Act, which was sponsored by Senator Tom Connally; the equalization of freight rates; the cedar eradication program; and the farm purchase program, which has enabled thousands of deserving farmers to purchase farms at a low rate of interest.

South supported and now advocates a soil conservation program, providing for soil conservation, storing of flood waters and underground water, and the guaranteeing of a fair price for farm and ranch products in keeping with prices which the farmer has to pay for articles which he buys; the construction and expansion of our Rural Electrification Program, which makes light and power available to the farm and ranch, making labor as well as capital fully responsible for its contracts, and the outlawing of jurisdictional, and industry strikes, which are used in order for labor to be entitled to a fair and adequate wage which it should and must have, labor must give in return an honest and efficient day's work.

Our federal government has gone on a spending binge which is unsound in national business, and, I suspect, in national politics, if not suspect, in national politics. Despite the fact that our national debt now exceeds $250,000,000 for every man, woman and child in the nation, Congress is appropriating money at an annual rate equal to $1,000.00 for every American family of four persons. Equal, also, to the total value of crops, livestock, poultry and eggs raised and produced in the entire United States for the four years, 1936 to 1939, inclusive. It should be remembered that it is not the amount of our resources which makes and will keep us strong, but the manner in which such resources are used and conserved. It is also to talk about any substantial reduction of our tax burden, until government expenditures are reduced under some semblance of control.

"I strongly favor that provision of the tax reduction bill advocated by the Democratic leaders in Congress which would levy an excess profits tax on corporations after they have earned a fair return on their investments, thereby preventing the further skyrocketing of prices on many articles which we all have to buy.

"We must ever be on guard against the growth of Communism, Fascism, and all other foreign doctrines which seek the overthrow of our government. I am vigorously opposed to any policy tending to appease Russia or any other nation or government seeking to spread revolutionary control.

"We must continue to keep a strong Army, Navy and Air Force, with special emphasis on scientific research and air power, so long as doubt, fear and distrust exist. I do not favor the giving away of our military secrets the atomic bomb for instance. At the same time we must not lose sight of the fact that the only thing which can ever bring true happiness and lasting progress to the human race in world peace, toward which we must constantly strive.

"The manner in which our Federal government has mishandled the veteran's housing problem is both disgraceful and inexcusable. Long after they were ended, and while hundreds of thousands of returned veterans were being forced to live apart from their wives and children, and others forced to live crowd in with relatives who were not prepared for their proper care of them, thousands of prefabricated houses, by the billions, and vast quantities of other building materials, were being shipped abroad without cost to the countries receiving them. I am opposed to sending more out of this country until every returned veteran has had an opportunity to acquire a comfortable home for himself and for his family."

A woman was mailing the old family bible to her brother in a distant city. The postal clerk examined the heavy package carefully and enquired if it contained anything breakable. "Nothing but the Ten Commandments," was the quick reply.

Last night I held a lovely hand,
A hand so fine and neat,
Thought my heart would burst with joy
So wildly did it beat.
No other hand unto my heart,
Could greater solace bring
Than the dear hand I held last night,
Four aces and a king.

Looking Backward

25 Years Ago

(From the Bandera New Era, March 15, 1923.)

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Stovall, Mrs. Stovall's son, Addison, and Louie Jurecki were guests in San Antonio over Sunday night.

"INFAIRS" WERE POPULAR IN THE OLD DAYS

If you mention an "infair" to the young people of today they will not know what you are talking about. But fifty or sixty years ago infairs were just about as big an event as a wedding. The infair was the dinner given by the groom on which followed a wedding, and was attended by the whole countryside. The late Immanuel Kant Dodd, a pioneer related the following account of an infair over in the Sabinal Canyon in 1866.

"One day in 1866, while I was in school at Bandera, Hugh Bandy, came to my school and asked the teacher if he could speak to me. I went to him and he said, "Mattie, Pap sent me over to tell you all that my brother, Jim Bandy and Mandy Roland are going to get married over at Utopia, and the whole school including the teacher, is invited to the infair at our place. If you all ain't got a way to come, Pap will send a wagon for you." And sure enough, Mr. Bandy sent a big ox wagon to haul us over there, and about twenty of us, including the teacher, went to the infair, where a big supper awaited us, and we danced until sunrise the next morning."

Bandera to Get Power-Line Carrier

Rural telephone service which is now underway in this section of Texas since was inaugurated in Texas on a regular commercial basis last year, known to engineers as "power-line carrier," is the modern use of high frequency electronic waves so that high-voltage power lines can carry telephone calls and electric power simultaneously, it was explained by Jack Williamson, district manager.

The new system is a part of a rural telephone construction program now being carried on throughout Texas. In some cases, where a line is to be built, using a new high-strength steel wire, spans of 600 to 700 feet between poles. Where feasible, the power-line carrier system will be used, and in such case, the quality of service will be the same.

To families who use the service the operation of the system will be simple enough. In outward appearance the equipment in the home usually is a modern-type handset telephone instrument, and it is not necessary to turn a crank to signal the operator. Telephones will be connected directly to the Bandera switchboard. There will be a maximum of eight parties on a line, and due to the small number of users, it means only three rings in addition to one's own.

A small box, containing electronic tubes and other parts, also produces a high frequency current which carries the telephone conversation over the power wires. In addition to the voice currents to "pitch-hike" on the high-voltage power current, there is also the line.

A device known as a "coupler," which is a part of the telephone customer's home, allows this high-frequency current to enter the power line, but prevents the power current from entering the telephone instrument. Thus, the two currents are harmonious. It is safe to be an ordinary telephone subscriber to receive service on the power line in no way interferes with a customer's electric service, according to W. W. Cardwell, manager of the Bandera Electric Cooperative. Over such a system, a person can call anyone on the line, or even on another carrier system, or on the regular telephone network, in short, he can call any other telephone anywhere. The type of service has been made possible by the co-operation of the Bandera electric co-operative here and the telephone company. Using the poles and rights-of-way of the co-operative, telephones are installed and connected in the homes by telephone installers. The job of connecting the telephone equipment directly to the power line is done, through an agreement, by the co-operative's linemen.

"We are sure that telephone users here will like the new service," S. L. Miller, telephone company district manager, said. "It is a part of the telephone company's program to provide good telephone service to anyone who wants it in the towns and rural districts here in Texas. We are working as hard as we can toward that goal, with the helpful co-operation of the electric companies in areas where lines whose poles and wire in many cases make the new service possible.

"With the completion of rural service a new Bandera telephone directory will be published," Miller said, "showing the new telephone numbers of the more than 240 rural families who will receive the new or improved rural service."

SCHOOL HOLIDAYS TODAY AND FRIDAY

The school did not play hookey from school today, nor will he next Friday when he fails to appear at school, according to J. C. Alvis, school superintendent. Today, March 19th, and next Friday, March 26th, have been officially designated as school holidays. The holiday today is due to the fact that the Atlanta District Teachers' meeting is being held in San Antonio and Bandera teachers plan to attend. Next Friday will be Good Friday, and has been announced as a holiday for public and Catholic schools as well.

Mrs. W. H. Hackler and daughter, Miss Loretta, plan to leave next Monday for Arabia to join Mr. Hackler, who has been there for some time.

Civil Conservation Election Tomorrow

Voting in Pipe Creek, Bandera, Medina, and Tarpley on the creation of a soil conservation district in this area will be held tomorrow according to F. M. Montague, polling superintendent. There are about 1,000 eligible voters for this election and about 100 families living within the district. Eligible voters are resident and land owners and their wives who hold title to enough land to sell property independently from their land. Creation of the soil conservation district would give immediate two benefits to this area through terracing and irrigation, resulting from seeding of pastures for better grazing, and farming. Lasting benefits would include the diversification of crops, conservation of water for irrigation and washing and water control.

The district, if set up tomorrow by the election, would give a permanent set-up similar to 150 districts already in operation in various parts of Texas. A board of five supervisors would be established with a soil conservationist in charge who would give definite assistance and support in making land analyses, topping, planning, laying off of terraces, and the like. Each farmer would be free to the individual landowner and carrying out of the improvements would be mandatory. Although the landowner would give service in support of such work on his own land, the maintenance of this service would be the responsibility of the district supervisors, assisted and the federal department of agriculture.

Mr. Schlemmer said that the district, if set up, would act as a legal entity with powers to buy property such as machinery for services which could be used cooperatively, to receive gifts of property, federal or state agencies, or of work projects similar to the WPA and CCC up again, the district would be empowered to use their services for soil conservation in this area. Expenses incurred in the set-up would be directed by a 5-member board of supervisors composed of local people who would be elected at large annually and arrange together with state and local agencies to work out complete plans. Two members of this board would be appointed by the State Soil Conservation Board and three would be elected by the same voters who are to vote tomorrow on the setting up of the district. Seventy-five years ago this area was wonderful grazing country, with grass waist or stirrup high and no mesquite, oak, and little timber. The solid conservation district program is designed to return the land to this type of country, Mr. Schlemmer informed.

Poll tax receipts carry voting privileges, and must be shown at the corner.

Precinct 3 votes at the Medina School.

Precinct 5 votes at the Tarpley School.

The vote will be open from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Two-thirds of persons voting in the election tomorrow favor creation of the district and if sufficient votes are cast, the Bandera Soil Conservation district will likely approve the project and the district will be set up by this area. The election therefore constitutes a test of the interest of the people concerned in this area and the approval or disapproval of the movement for promotion of it. The outcome will be watched with interest by everyone in this vicinity.

Mrs. Gretchen Brewer Awarded Kitchen Planning Certificate

Mrs. Gretchen Brewer, of the Alamo Lumber Company, Bandera, has just returned from San Antonio where she attended a complete two-day school in modern home planning. The school, which was conducted by E. R. Jobe, kitchen planning specialist for Theo-Winslow Company, Universal Kitchen distributor for Southwest Texas, was attended by all managers and employees of the Alamo Lumber Company. Mrs. Brewer and other graduates of the school have been awarded a Kitchen Specialist certificate. Among the subjects studied were the correct positioning of sinks and cabinets, the effect of kitchen color schemes on work, convenient kitchen work areas, and the most modern kitchen units and equipment. Mrs. Brewer and other graduates of the school have been authorized to use the services of the Universal Kitchen Bureau in San Antonio in the planning of new kitchens or remodeling of old ones. Mrs. Brewer says that with the help of a new Universal Kitchen Planning Kit, which is a plastic board with scale models, she can now plan a modern kitchen to fit any home, and can even be arranged correctly in a matter of minutes. This housewife is then able to see what her new kitchen will look like in her own home, before it is built. Moreover, this big step in modern kitchen planning makes it possible for anyone to have a kitchen planned to suit their needs, no matter how small or how large their budget.

BLIZZARD DAMAGE NOT EXTENSIVE

Crop and cattle damage in Bandera county from the re cent blizzard have not been nearly so severe as was at first anticipated, according to H. F. Schlemmer, county agent. Oats, spelts and wheat crops were affected only slightly, and a good crop is anticipated if satisfactory rainfall is received. As to fruit, the peach trees which were not entirely blossomed out will bear all probability. Good seed was received on the peach crop from the Alvin Clark orchard on the Bronko road. Mr. Clark thinks that the peaches were not much affected and that the crop will be all right. Few vegetables had been planted to this area, and hence will not be affected. Strawberry, blackberry crops will not be affected, Mr. Schlemmer said. Some were prematurely ungiftie and not out of line for this season of the year.

GOLF SHOTS

The weekly Bandera county cowwonders war won by E. H. Koontz by shooting a 74 on the Seguest competitor was R. Trevino Hodges with a net 72. Men's par for the course is 72. Hankin Caswell shot a very good 76 which is unusual, as it is only his third game. O. O. Cowell is expected to join him as if he were a stranger, Melvin Fitzgerald and Herb Phillips are two other beginners that are getting a lot sharp. W. W. Carmichael and Jim Simmons should get together as they're both beginners and both have the same lowest course for nine holes. Mrs. Hankin Cowell has threatened to come out each Sunday and really start playing, so that she can take on her sister, Mrs. D. E. Ogilvie.

The Lost Valley golf course is open to anyone who desires to play or take up golf. All you need is the urge as the equipment may be rented at the pro shop. Call Mrs. Ogilvie and get acquainted. Golf's fun!

FAIR SEX TO WEAR WESTERN STYLE CLOTHES

If Bandera men are growing whiskers to add interest to the cattle drive, the ladies have planned by the Bandera Tourist Association to show that the women of the town do that is in the matter of dress. Contradictions? That was one of the issues discussed at the last association meeting. Wearing suits of levis and the regulation sombrero of another days received the disapproval of the majority present at the meeting. However the wearing of ordinary street clothes at all times was voted the new look models. The association decided that ladies should only wear ender, glamor and informal dress during the round up, or ranch-style, coming to the Bandera county fair and on all occasions between now and then. Ladies are asked to begin preparations for when traveling to San Antonio or other places.

FIRE CRANKS

There are a number of stereotyped characters in the human species. When you get up in the night, for example, and go out to the kitchen to get a drink of water, you find them congregated in the dark, around the refrigerator. Artemus Ward said about the same thing of heaven—up to then that subject had been considered by many as a ladder, he likes to climb up the water pipes. This may at the risk of his life, break open some of the windows, jump out into the air in, and give the fire department a bad name. And if he thinks there is any chance of it, he'll telephone the fire department not only time to address some words to him. Very prominent in the crowd at every fire is the man who was the first to see it—there are usually about forty of him. He tells how—and he very particularly explains details—he was standing talking to a friend, in the sidewalk about two blocks away when he noticed a flicker, then a column of smoke, etc., etc., but everybody knows all this. Many suffered from his exhaustive narratives, and he will, therefore, dismiss him about as he left the fire. The most effective fire theory regarding the origin of fires is that of the man with the incendiary theory.

TEXAS YOUNG DEMOCRATS CONDEMN TRUMAN

Mrs. Marvin Jones—Committeemen of the Texas Young Democrats have gone on record as condemning party chiefs in Texas for not supporting the state's anti-poll tax program. National Democratic Committeeman Jesse Grath and federal claims to office holds. The session of the state convention was marked by a thoroughly frequent clashes.

The group also voted North vs. Fort Worth as national Young Democrat convention city, and Roy Baker of Sherman, new national president.

Harlingen was selected for the state convention to be held April 24.

A resolution by Larry Bridewell of Houston, asking that former General Eisenhower be drafted as Democratic candidate for president, was killed in committee.

Asked that the "two-third rule" be abolished at the national convention.

Condemned the Republicans in Congress.

Asked that the Texas Democratic delegation to the national convention be instructed to vote for endorsed universal military training.

Endorsed the Gossett bill which would raise the direct election of the United States Senate.

Editorials . . .

A certain good lady, now a resident of Bandera, told a group of us a few years ago about the Fine Arts Club that some years ago, when she was living in Old Kerrville, the first thing she knew of Bandera's existence was a dust cloud that came rolling down the canyons, pushing them up, and setting them to pestering people as tourists and visitors to this city. There's also a story going the rounds that this same individual crossed the lightning rod with the honey bee to enable the latter to work night and day at the sticky honey . . . and another to the effect that he claimed he could smell the milkweed within the egg plant and provide readymade custard. We are sure the public has not taken these claims seriously, for they are without reason. But it is a fact that, though he is not a native, the transfer of Bandera's great museum from the old courthouse to the primordial with the modern he produced a city, building the town, which, by rapidly taking its place as the outstanding dude center of the United States.

It won't be long now until Bandera will herald forth to a waiting world that she has the tallest hotel in Texas. Workmen are rushing completion Mike Robinson's Frontier Hotel on Main Street and its opening date will soon be announced. It may not be the biggest hotel in the country, but it will be the finest in all of its appointments and will carry the western spirit throughout. Bandera will be mighty proud of this fine hotel, which covers almost a whole block and will contain forty rooms besides a row of shops and quaint bar, and a swimming pool. Mike Robinson and his associates have given the Bandera forward move than fifty years.

Among the worthwhile things which have fallen into Bandera's lap during the past three years are a fine hospital, a great airport, a big rodeo, and a beautiful American Legion home, a greater theater, a modern locker plant, an up-to-date bakery, a new Ford garage, an enlarged and modernized grocery store, an up-to-date laundry, fifteen new business establishments, twenty-two new business homes, four new churches, several air tourist courts, and at least seventy-five new residences. Folks, Bandera is growing up.

INTO THE SUNSET

Into the Sunset, whose colors we know so well and could describe so wondrously, passed Lt. Colonel Mirabeau Buonaparte Slator at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening. Some of these days I shall take off into the Sunset, I shall follow the sagging of Old Trail Drivers, who founded this country with the Old Chisholm Trail. I shall follow those old Freighters, rolling long strack of the whip to the lead horses was music in the dusks of the days when there were no radios, with its eerie bedding in the twilight, and that which grew from their smiling feet, shall be the cut worm, and the locust will be the plague of the many bells which will be the signal for horses to their sleeping hooves . . . and another to the effect that he claimed he could smell the milkweed within the egg plant and provide readymade custard. We are sure the public has not taken these claims seriously, for they are without reason. But it is a fact that, though he is not a native, the transfer of Bandera's great museum from the old courthouse to the primordial with the modern he produced a city, building the town, which, by rapidly taking its place as the outstanding dude center of the United States.

BANDERA COUNTY MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

A group of ministers met at the Baptist parsonage in Bandera last Monday and organized the Bandera County Ministerial Association, with the purpose of this organization to promote Christian fellowship and righteousness and to unite against any and all sexual, political or otherwise, that tend to weaken or destroy things Christ-like. The association will meet the Monday following the first Sunday of each month and the alternate between Bandera and Medina. The next regular meeting will be held at noon, April 5th, at Medina, all ministers retired or active, are invited to attend these meetings and to become members. Officers of the association are, Rev. Dangus, pastor at Medina, president; H. T. Arnold, Baptist pastor at Medina, vice-president and publicity chairman; Gordon Bird of Bandera's Herald, secretary-treasurer; E. C. Carson, Baptist pastor at Medina, secretary.

LIONS CLUB MEMBERS GROW "MANES"

That "S'o'clock shadow" was a bit more than visible, on the faces of several of the Lions at their regular meeting last Thursday night, as competition among the members for longest and rankest whiskers for the western celebration being sponsored by the Bandera Tourist Association on April 21 and 22 got under way. April 2 will be the last day for the Lions to shave and the men are looking forward to comparing progress on the "whisker forest" at their regular weekly meetings. Fifteen members attended the meeting.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to thank our many friends who in a thousand cares to our assistance in the dark hours of our bereavement. Your reverement over the death of our beloved mother, Mrs. Edith D. Evans. For every act and deed of kindness, for every spoken word, and all expressions of sympathy, contained in cards, letters and flowers from the depths of our hearts.—The Evans Family.

filled with kindness, are most so youthful and his laugh so contagious, that it is impossible to make him a man of his years. Some people are born old and he was simply born young. In moments of dignity, "Colonel Mirabeau" has put on a mantle of his rare visits to town he would stand, with a twinkle in his eye and invariably say, "I thought I would come down today so that you folks here won't forget what a handsome man you have like."

His friendly criticism, his kindly advice, his knowledge, his wealth of information, his sympathy for those in distress, and his understanding of all human nature, have endeared him to the hearts and minds of those who were privileged to call him friend. We shall miss him, each of him, as he wrote in his story, "Across the Guadalupe," more than forty years ago.

I'm a smokin' and a dreamin' of the days of long ago,
When life was grand an' pleasant an' the wan't no grief nor woe.

Ain't no past, ain't no future, I'm a-settin' in the breeze,
A whittlin' an' a-smokin' through the wavin' cypress trees.

A mockin' bird's a singin' in ah-
ook across the water,
The crimson gold of sunset marks the end of day.
That's been mighty happy, plum full of laughter, joy
That took me back to childhood, to the days when I've a big boy.

KEEPING PACE WITH BANDERA'S PROGRESS

The Bandera Bulletin is keeping pace with Bandera's progress. Bandera and Bandera County have made rapid strides during the past four years, and steady growth is now in full swing. New homes are being built, new business firms are being established, new citizens are flocking in. At the rate Bandera is growing it is freely predicted that the town will have a population of 5,000 within the next three years. Real estate is advancing in value, and small homes and ranches are in demand. Every week reports come in of land deals being made.

Bandera is becoming famous as the foremost guest ranch region of the State. More than fifty thousand tourists and guests were accommodated here during the past summer; and it is expected that nearly as many visitors will come here through the winter months. All this makes for Bandera's progress.

The Bandera Bulletin is now the only newspaper published in Bandera County. While it is comparatively a new publication—being now almost three years old, its publishers are old timers here, and know how to turn out a newspaper that people want. That it is recognized as a live newspaper and is liked by the people is evidenced by the splendid circulation it is getting. Starting out twenty-six months ago without a subscriber, the Bulletin now boasts a circulation of 1,650 bona fide subscribers, and they are still coming in. Running on an average of 800 inches of advertising per week, it has been proven as a good advertising medium.

The Bulletin is now located in its new building away up on Main Street, and we are prepared to do all kinds of commercial and job printing. Our force of experienced printers know how to do high class work, so let us figure on your next printing order.

BLONDE MUST RETURN GIFTS VALUED AT $100,000

Dorothy Burke, 23-year-old blonde valued at $100,000,* testified in Superior Court yesterday that the pretty blonde Dorothy Burke former 23-a was experiencing marriage woe, ordered returned to him Friday. Norman, who gave her the gifts, alleged Mrs. Burke now has designs on another man. Her love for the latter was responsible for her decision to "break up" and take the gifts, Norman testified they had long been estranged.

A superior court judge ruled Friday Norman must return a $40,000 home, together with a $15,000 limousine, a $12,000 car and $1,500 built-in radio set and a string valued at $13,500, and the home's expensive furnishings, or pay Norman $100,000 in money damages.

Attorney Clyde Rifel Mrs. Stoner ran off with personal belongings, such as clothing.

Mrs. Stoner testified she married Norman after separating from him. Norman, however, denied he was going to divorce her. She said he "never gave me a definite answer."

The British mermaid was a flirt, and when the corporal went past she gave him the "glad eye" look invitingly and leaned over the rail to watch the ship proceed. Further back, however, the sergeant looked around the empty room, and, finding no one observing him, promptly drank the corporal's beer.

A little girl about six years old went into a bank and asked to see the president. A smiling clerk showed her into the private office. She explained solemnly that her girl's club was raising funds and would be pleased to contribute.

The banker laid a dollar bill and a dime on the desk and said, "I'll take whichever one you want."

She picked up the dime and said, My mother always taught me to take the smaller amount because you never receive your creator's due."

The banker ruled Mrs. Stoner ran off with personal belongings, such as clothing.

Mrs. Stoner testified she married Norman after separating from him. Norman, however, denied he was going to divorce her. She said he "never gave me a definite answer."

"What did you think of the lady prize fight last night?"

"I'll say it was a draw! She put on a show like that the kids would have loved us!"

"London's big shots were shaken. They thought the risk was not worth it and agreed to call it peace. Scotland Yard's effort at 'preventive' detention has succeeded for the time being.

"But the Sirens and the grenades are recking. A spark to the dry tinder of the crowds, the vanity and hair-trigger tempers may yet mean a declaration of war."

The London gunfighters' operating methods and code of conduct are known to all. Gun battles between teams in large cities are only too frequent.

Their racket is not thieving, but 'Blacking,' by which they mean extorting 'protection' money from any night club proprietary and race-course bookmaker.

A bookmaker refusing to pay for protection cannot hope for a 'happy' race-course stand. If he does, his defiance he would be beaten senseless. But as soon as he pays he can rely completely on an invisible bodyguard. His safety is the gang's care.

Similarly the owner of a night club would have his premises wrecked if he refused the free run of his place to a gang that demanded it. But he may be asked for 'protection' money. He is safe from all rival gangs if he agrees.

"For the first law of the gangs is that they must not poach on each other's 'territory.' If they do, then it's war—hitherto a war of razors aimed at the throat, but in the future should it break out, a battle between armed motor-car companies.

"The average strength of a gang is five men, but a tender may be asked to augment his force can do so by hiring toughs ready to strike at nothing. A man who 'welches' on what may be paid as much as 20 pounds for one night's services.

"The second cardinal rule is that in no circumstances may a gangster 'squeal.' If it comes to a fight and a man is hurt then the gang will look after him. If he goes to the hospital he must be primed with a story

Bandit Signs Receipt for $7 At Saleswoman's Bidding

CHICAGO.—Mrs. Clora Vestin is a methodical woman who refuses to be robbed without getting a receipt.

So she kept her head when a bandit she was busily at work as a clerk in a candy shop, when a man entered—and paid in his pocket, the other holding a note. The note read:

"Turn over all your money, and keep quiet."

"Now see here," said Mrs. Vestin slowly, "I'm busy taking inventory today. The money is all in the safe, but I can't open it unless I get it if I could open the safe, you see, though."

"You've got money in that safe, regular," argued the bandit.

"Only about $7," said Mrs. Vestin.

"Lemme," said the bandit. "I gotta have something for my labor."

"I need money for change," Mrs. Vestin pointed out. "Now suppose you take $7 and leave me the other $5 for change."

That seemed agreeable, and Mrs. Vestin handed over $7, most of it in silver.

Then, just a minute," said Mrs. Vestin. "I'm working for a chain store company, and I'm taking inventory. This $7 loss is going to make the books all wrong. You'll have to sign a receipt."

By this time the bandit was too much at ease, and Mrs. Vestin wrote: "Received, $7."

The intruder looked it over, added just one word, and departed. She signed it "Joe," before he departed.

Mrs. Vestin kept the receipt and called Woodlawn police.

'Fountain Pen' Wounds Girl As Brother Demonstrates

CHICAGO. — Seven-year-old Otis Drake III, wanted to show his little brother, Thomas, 5, how it happens, works.

He climbed on Sharon's crib and reached for the mantelpiece, where his father had left a "pen."

He climbed back to show it to Sharon, and pulled off the top as the pen would flow out. When nothing happened, he pressed on the pocket clip on the side.

There was a loud bang and a flash of fire. Sharon fell back wounded and unconscious.

Mrs. Azalea Drake, the children's mother, rushed from the kitchen as she called a taxi and took Sharon to a hospital. Physicians said the child had a fractured skull and gave her an even chance to recover.

The father, Otis Drake Jr. a factory worker, said the "pen" was a .22 caliber fountain novelty pistol given him as a present five years ago.

"I thought it was out of the reach of the children," he said.

Higher Farm Wage Cost Met by Better Methods

Farm wage rates have increased 300 per cent since the 1910-14 period, according to the U. S. department of agriculture. Wages averaged $19.50 a month with board at the start of this season.

These high farm incomes can be traced to the new soil conservation and parity payment program, which pays farmers cents per acre of a lower soil crop, the Middle West Soil Improvement committee points out.

Such a program should be followed by better methods of farming and good management practices. Included should be tiling and the return of humus to the soil through green manure. Included also should be deep-rooted legumes and the application of commercial fertilizers containing nitrogen, phosphorus and potash as needed on various farms, even where necessary.

Higher crop yields to balance tighter labor costs can be produced on acids which have been limed by such conservation measures. Working together, these measures will build up the nation's fertility supply, so necessary to vigorous plant growth, the committee says. A plant food drained away by years of overcropping. They will restore and protect plant nutrients. They will fit it to soak up more water and slow down runoff, cutting losses of topsoil and plant food.

Electric Made Steel

Steels of the highest quality, including stainless steel and many alloy steels, generally are produced in electric furnaces where melting and refining can be most closely controlled. Electric furnaces of the type most widely used are steel shells, lined with heat resisting brick. Large sticks of carbon, called electrodes, extend down through the roof of the furnace to within a few inches of the metal in the furnace. When the power is turned on, electric arcs, similar to those in the arc lights used on city street lighting or in home "sun lamps," are struck between the electrodes and the charge of metal, providing the necessary heat for melting. The charge is refined by the differing impurities, largely through chemical action, from the metal to be cast.

Steel Ingot Molds

That all steel begins in the ingot is a traditional script in the steel industry. It means that practically every steel product and article in industry, whether its plate, wire or a heavy girder, was at one time a part of an ingot—the first solid form which steel takes. Ingots can be of many sizes and shapes, but in general they are large rectangular blocks. A typical open hearth steel ingot may weigh five tons, but Bessemer and electric furnace steels usually are cast into smaller ingots.

The molds generally are made of cast iron and are open at both ends. When they are ready to be filled they rest on heavy, cast iron plates called stools, which in turn are mounted on small railroad cars for easy transportation.

Renewal of Patents

Patents may be renewed only by act of congress, a thing practically unheard of. Patenting of an improvement does not extend the life of a patent. At the end of 17 years after grant of a patent, its invention passes into public domain and may be made, used or sold by anyone, incorporating every feature claimed in the patent. Only five to 15 per cent of the functional components of the modern motor vehicle have originated with independent inventors and are made complete by independent smaller manufacturers.

Rapid Growth of Guernsey

Animals with characteristic engaging appeal, the Guernsey breed of cattle, originated on the island of Guernsey off the coast of France. Its number has developed a population of registered Guernseys now estimated at a half million. Registration of calves each year is more than 15 times the total number of cattle imported.

Hurry, May Be Too Late

The first advertisement for a petroleum product was printed in the middle 1850s. It urged prospective buyers to hurry before the wonderful product is depleted from nature's laboratory." Yet, despite similarly pessimistic predictions ever since then, reserves of crude petroleum and condensates were increased last year by more than one billion barrels.

South Africa Diamonds

South African diamond fields are the most famous in the world. While diamonds formerly were mined in Arkansas, there are no mines now producing there. United States is the leading consumer of diamonds, securing most of them from South Africa and Brazil. These diamonds are 25 times harder than any other gem.

Farm Market

There is a total farm market for manufactured products of 25 billion dollars according to an estimate of Cornell university. The increase in the market over previous estimates results from a rise of 40 per cent in farm production over prewar levels and more money being received for agricultural products.

Cobblers' Feast Days

In the past Monday was humorously constituted as "St. Monday," the festival of cobblers. Cobblers were supposed not to know on which day the feast of St. Crispin, their patron saint, fell, except that it should be a Monday. Thus they celebrated the patron's feast every Monday.

First Boys' Camp

In 1861 Frederick W. Gunn established the first boys' camp in this country, Camp Gunnery, on the shores of Lake Waramaug, Conn. This camp was near Washington, Conn., the first town in the United States to be named, after George Washington. The town was incorporated in 1779.

How to Keep 'Em Down On the Farm

The other day Pete Swanson's nephew, Bud, allowed as how he was fed up with farm and country life and was going to the city where there was a lot more opportunity and excitement.

Some folks might have tried to stop him. But not Pete. He even financed Bud partare for the trip — figured that when he'd had a good look around, he'd come back where he belonged.

And what happened? After seven days of big lights and excitement, Bud was back behind the wheel of a tractor, with color in his cheeks again. And he'd traded the night life of the city for a quiet place of honor with Dad.

From where I sit, that's how it goes. Try to prevent some one from getting what he thinks he wants—and he'll go on wanting it. But give him his head, and he'll settle for the sensible thing—whether it's country life, or a temporale glass of beer!

Scotland Yard Plans to Stop Gang Warfare

Feud Leaders Are Warned To Call Off Impending Battles in Streets.

LONDON.—In an effort to put a stop to gang warfare in London, Scotland Yard is trying a new tactic—but is causing no little astonishment to peaceable citizens it is the duty of the police to protect.

London's lawless gangs, it appears, take whatever weapons come to hand in their battles. Knives, razors, iron pipes are used in rubber, revolvers and even sten guns and hand grenades.

The police, mindful of this, of which there had been warning, a call went out to all forces for the arrest of the gangs who were "invited" to the yard.

Many by use they took their places on the mat in Whitehall. They listened to the warning from the "warden" talk from high police officials and departed. They left the yard evidently what they faced if they allowed their men to begin shooting.

Lions to Roam

"London's big shots were shaken. They thought the risk was not worth it and agreed to call it peace. Scotland Yard's effort at 'preventive' detention has succeeded for the time being.

"But the Sirens and the grenades are reeling. A spark to the dry tinder of the crowds, the vanity and hair-trigger tempers may yet mean a declaration of war."

The London gunfighters' operating methods and code of conduct are known to all. Gun battles between teams in large cities are only too frequent.

Their racket is not thieving, but 'Blacking,' by which they mean extorting 'protection' money from any night club proprietary and race-course bookmaker.

Looking Backward

25 Years Ago

From the Bandera New Era, March 22, 1915.

South Wright, who has been confined to his home with a severe attack of rheumatism, was able to be out last week, and fractured his left leg above the knee. The little fellow was brought to town and placed under the care of Dr. Wilson, and is now getting along fine.

Warren Hubbell's radio broke up in the meeting and Sam Gregg drove a medium sized crowd, and Hubbell's radio was brought in and installed in the Gregg automobile and the concert was heard all over the town.

Mrs. Ed Mountain and H. S. Fuller were up from San Antonio Thursday.

Early Monday morning F. H. Hamilton and family left for Kerrville in a hasting start, so little bedroom and then went back to bed. In a short time the house was afire. In short, Orange Grove Jones, who was sleeping near the stove and got too close, was the first to get out. He was covered his cutting nightgown on the hind legs and was making time in dances. Mrs. Wickmanstein jumped out of bed and grabbed a pair of pantaloons on mind caught him on the fly and put on a few records and with desperate strength tore the blanket from the bed, and throwing things in the room had become ignited after it, the shooting record-is as if the house would explode. Mrs. Wickmanstein was painfully burned about the body and face, but is getting along nicely and relieved by noon.

Marriage license was issued on Saturday to Miss Cenia Lee Cook, of Leona—and Miss Nell Jurecek, of Medina. Rev. A. Addison here to spend the week with her parents, Judge and Mrs. J. E. Jurecek.

DRUGS
BANDERA

In the period preceding the Civil War and for some years afterward, Bandera was quite notedas a lumber and shingle-making center. Besides other sawmill operators, John James and Charles or Montel operated a sawmill and shingle-making machine here, sawing thousands of feet of fine cypress lumber and many thousands of thousands of shingles. Their product was marketed in San Antonio mostly, but much of it was hauled by ox-wagons to other sections throughout Western Texas and used in the buildings of frontier forts, such as Fort McKavett, Fort Concho, Fort Griffin, Fort Belknap and Fort Lamasette. All of these old forts are now in ruins, except some of the buildings in old Fort Concho at San Angelo, which have been restored. Some of the heavy timbers and dimension stuff, as well as finishing lumber and shingles were cut and sawed right here in Bandera, and wherever found among the old ruins today the lumbers are sound and solid, despite their great age—from 75 to 90 years.

For those colds that are so prevalent during the bad winter and spring months come to our store for your needs.

COWBOY ZEKE PROCLAIMS "THE FREE STATE OF BANDERA"

In 1861 because the people of the South did not think they were getting a square deal from the administration at Washington, they revolted and set up the Confederate government, and it took the Federal Government four long years and a bloody war to get them back into the Union. In 1836 the people of Texas revolted from Mexican rule and set up the Republic of Texas. After nine years as an independent republic, Texas joined the Union, but in joining a reservation was made that at any time in the future Texas could be divided into four states if the people should wish to do so. Now comes a crisis. Old Uncle Zeke, the Bandera cowboy, feeling that as everybody else but the cowboy has been signally honored by having days set aside for him, has very kindly asked that the president declare a National holiday in honor of the Texas cowboy to celebrate in the old time way. He asked Harry to declare this holiday for May 21st and 22nd. His request has been ignored, and as Zeke is very much peeved. He has raised the flag of stompede, and all of his friends have joined him in a great stompede. Zeke has set up a provisional government and has declared the Free State of Bandera to be in existence now. A Consultation has been held, laws promulgated, citizenship in the new state defined, regulations passed, edicts issued, and all loyal citizens are called upon to participate in the Bandera Stompede. All males will be required to let their whiskers grow until May 23rd as a protest against the indifference of the head of the nation who has refused to recognize the cowboy as an individual worthy of having a holiday decreed in his honor; the women, too, of the Free State of Bandera are called upon to join in the protest by wearing blue jeans britches and cowboy garb. Mothers of future cowboys are advised to raise their babes on cow's milk, mare's milk, or burro milk during this period of revolt. Zeke proclaims it, and it must be done. The big Stompede is coming, and will hit Bandera May 21 and 22. Get ready for it.

Zeke's Letter Causes Sensation

Old Uncle Zeke, the Bandera cowboy, wrote a letter to the president the other day, asking that May 21 and 22 be declared a national holiday in honor of the cowboy. He got the letter in the mail, and it seems to have caused a sensation, because as it has been published in the papers it has been discussed throughout the country. The President has not responded to acknowledge receipt of Zeke's letter, and as a result there is going to be the widest Stompede that ever took place. Zeke has written another letter to the President which probably has been received at destination at this time, but when it gets there it will be explained. All of the cowboys are backing old Zeke in the request, and the stage is big Stompede sure. On May 21 and 22, Zeke's letter is as follows:

Bandera, Texas
Seeing as how we got Mamie Eisenhower Pink Lady, Turkey Day, Decoration Day, July 4, Labor Day, Sweetie's Day (Feb. 14), Rosh Hashanah, Yom Kippur, and a lot of Jasper holidays, long the rustlers, Pecos Bill, Billy the Kid, Coronado, Cortez and Santa Anna, hoisted Teodore Roosevelt's Big Stick, I think it's time he took over Tokio en Berlin.

Reckon he's been about as busy as a one-eyed cat peeping in this country on dashboard holidays that he ain't got time to spend here. I'm seeing as how we're fixing to have a holiday where all good cowboys can celebrate in the old time cowboy style that you proclaimin May 21 and 22, and I'm invoking Amerca's temperate man power.

We know your kinds busy with them there Russkies; else we sho don't figger you'd declare reptile, least not terrible long. Reckon you'll get the word from you by sundown terrible then we know you ain't in favor of bothering cowboys and we're gone STOMPEDE.

Your frien
ZEKE

ZEKE WRITES ANOTHER LETTER TO HARRY

Now, old Zeke is sure enough "hot." Yesterday, May 21st, he got not a reply from Harry, and so he wrote another letter to him, announcing that Bandera was declared a free state by the "Free State of Bandera." For a copy of the letter he sent to President last Tuesday.

Bandera, Texas
May 20th, 1948
Hon. Harry Truman, Esq.
White House
Washington, D. C., U. S. A.

Dear Harry:
I'm sure you are grately to bring to your ulterior attention the fact that there is a stompede that is here now. People is gitten from all over the hills on accounts there ain't been no holiday for us cowboys in America's most undeserving man, and I reckon you'll be here with most generous in agiving you a celebration that's to kinds get them Rushians stumped over an answer our epistle.

Now, what I wanta be mean about this thing but seeing as how I'm a cowboy I remain respectfully,
ZEKE

HIGHLAND WATERS HOMES DEALS LAST WEEK

Chas. D. Lovelace reports the sale of a beautiful lodge in Highland Waters to Glenn A. Shull. Price and consideration of $11,500 and a lot in the same subdivision to Mrs. Gladden for $5,000.

Mr. Lovelace also made the deal whereby Dr. C. Bell purchased the Becker Food Market. He reports that several other big deals are pending.

Joske's to Give Bandera Publicity

Joske's of Texas, the big San Antonio department store, is stoging for a big Bandera Stompede and is going to help to advertise it in a big way. From May 18th to May 29th, the big show windows of the Joske store in San Antonio and Houston will be adorned with scenes depicting Bandera's activities for the past three quarters of a century, showing pioneer and modern life here; on May 16th pages of space in San Antonio newspapers telling about the big Stompede will be used by Joske's and for several days before the frontier Pete radio broadcasts will be sponsored by the leading store of Texas. A deck will be provided in the Joske auditorium where information about our resort country will be given out and reservations can be made by visitors to San Antonio who go to Bandera to spend their vacation with us. Joske's Bandera Stompede promises the finest publicity Jockey's will give Bandera.

THE BULLETIN GETS LARGER NEWSPAPER PRESS

The Bulletin's new press was established July 13, 1945, it was printing as a small 4-page weekly press. A short time later we added a 6-page press, then a 12-page press, but because of increasing demands for printing patronage we have been greatly handicapped for press facilities. Last week we added a large four-page 8-column press, which is the Model 14 Duplex Potdo Post at Fredericksburg and will make the paper much larger each week-end. This press will be used for several years. Recently we added a Linotype machine to our equipment, as well as a Superjunior proof press and a Miehle cylinder press. We hope to receive our new Linotype and stone within a year. The new building the Bulletin erected on Upper Main Street last summer is already growing too small, which calls for an expansment before many months.

Vanns Sell Joleta Guest Ranch

A recent real estate transfer of interest to people of Bandera was the sale of Joleta Guest Ranch during March. Transfer of the ranch was made the first of April from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Vann to Mr. and Mrs. Allen J. Gardner of Corpus Christi. Mr. Gardner plans to take over this month and operate the ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner and daughter, Miss Jo Ann, are from Corpus Christi; until the close of school in order that Marilyn may complete her graduation activities. Mr. and Mrs. L. Vann and Mrs. Arthur Kitzman and small daughter left Sunday for their home, where Mr. and Mrs. Vann plan to make their home in their former residence. Mr. and Mrs. Kitzman have bought property in the Center Point area and will also plan to build a home soon. Mr. Vann will leave during the coming week for Brownsville. The Vanns have resided here for the past twelve or fifteen years, and during this time have endeared to themselves the people of Bandera, and it is with genuine regret we announce their departure.

DISTRICT COURT IN SESSION THIS WEEK

District Court convened in Bandera Monday morning, with Judge K. K. Woodley presiding. The grand jury met and returned eight bills of indictment against two men, charged with burglary on four counts each. Two of the cases were heard Tuesday, the defendants plead guilty and each received a sentence of three years in the penitentiary. They were Arthur Elderkin, 18, and James T. Jordan, both of New York, and were charged with the burglary of a ranch near Medina a short time ago.

PRESS ASSOCIATION REPRESENTATIVE HERE

Virgie Smith of Dallas, manager of the Texas Press Association, was here Sunday and Monday to get details of the entertainment which Bandera will provide for the members of that organization who will make a side trip to Bandera when the Texas Press Association holds its annual convention in San Antonio June 17, 18 19. The entertainment has been offered by the Bandera Tourist Association, and Mr. Smith was here to co-ordinate plans to fit in with the San Antonio program. There are about 400 or 500 newspaper editors who will attend the big convention and if they all come to Bandera to be our guests at a barbecue, rodeo and frolic, they will give Bandera the most wonderful boost and plenty of publicity in their newspapers.

TOURIST ASSOCIATION MEETING POSTPONED

Because of the many committee meetings being called by the members of the Association and townsfolk who are working on the plans for the Bandera Stompede, to be held May 21 and 22, the next general meeting, which would normally be held next Monday, will be postponed until further notice.

Many items crowded out of the Bulletin this week will appear in our next issue.

Flying L Hatches Big Easter Rodeo

The Flying L Easter Rodeo to be held Saturday and Sunday, March 27th and 28th, the Flying L Ranch will present one of the most fabulous bodeos of the season. Colonel and Mrs. Jack Lewis, owners of the Flying L Ranch, have engaged Frank Hudson and Nicholas, well known ranchmen and rodeo producers from West Columbia, Texas, to manage the rodeo. Mr. Hudson is owner of the Hudson Ranch in West Columbia and is well known for his interest in rodeos. Frank has been putting on rodeos since he was a boy in Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana. His shows have played in the Houston, the Harris Stadium in Galveston, and in each other big outdoor stadiums throughout the Southern States.

The Flying L Easter Rodeo will begin promptly at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and Sunday afternoon. There will be a grand parade of contestants, cowboys, cowgirls, bronic riding, calf roping, bull riding, wild horse race by Bruce Montague, bulldogging by Carl Dickson, and trick riding by Jeff Rawlin, whip exhibition by Frank Hudson, and wild bull riding.

Colonel Lapham became so enthused over the prospect of putting on a rodeo that he immediately joined the Rodeo Cowboy Association of America and has their membership card and button.

The Flying L has built a large number of roping calves, steers and bulls, and he has organized a large group of cowboys for the big bulls, and he has organized a large group of cowboys for the big bull riding. Among those will be Slats McKay, Benny Hammond, Hamilton Hicks, Bob Field Autrey, and many other local professional cowboys.

After the Saturday and Sunday afternoon performances, viewed by the rodeo committee in the presence of Sheriff Jones and Attorney Roberts to assure a fair judging of the contests, there will be a board placed in the lobby of the Rustic Theater with the list of names of the girls who will be selected to ride in the show. You are advised to keep a check on this list to see if the girl of your choice has been entered in the contest. These ballots will be distributed at the theater on Monday, March 29th, and each good cowboy and cowgirl contestants will be assured that all of their trip expenses will be paid by the Rustic Association. Late Flash: The Rustic Association has asked to contribute a complete Frontier suit to each of the winners of the contests at the Flying Cowgirl contest. PRICE DROP PREDICTED

Cortland, N. Y., March 21.—A drop of 25 per cent in food prices generally within six to 15 months was predicted Monday by J. Frank Grimes of Cortland, president of the Independent Grocers' Alliance.

Grimes spoke to 650 Central New York representatives. He based his prediction on these three factors:

1—The situation has reached a point where 65 per cent of buyers have stopped purchasing some items, because they no longer can afford them.

2—Many families have exhausted savings and are living solely on current income. They have become price conscious and no longer are reckless in buying.

3—Europe has manpower and the acreage to produce food and, despite a lack of machinery, will raise enough crops to cause a serious food surplus in this country.

U. S. TO MOBILIZE MEN

Washington, March 22.—A large majority of the Senate armed services committee was reported convinced Monday that quick adoption of both Universal Military Training and a temporary draft is a national necessity.

Chairman Gurney (R.S.D.) made the statement of sentiment after a closed-door session of 10 committeemen with Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of Defense Forrestal and Secretary of the Army Royall. The full membership is only 13. Gurney told reporters he was sure those who attended were convinced of the "absolute necessity for quick passage."

The secret talks with the defense chiefs closed out a day in which the committee heard

Testimony from former Supreme Court Justice Owen J. Roberts that America fell for a Communist trick when it sped postwar demobilization, and that the same forces which engineered that coup are the "organized core" of opposition to U. M. T.

A statement from Dr. Karl Compton that U M T. is "freedom insurance and a draft is an urgent need to protect us until the police plan into force.

Roberts told the Senators that the "freedom the American people cherish" are now imperiled. And Compton asserted that "time is running out."

THE HOTEL WAITER

The hotel waiter is a man whose business is to make you wait. He proposed to wait on me first time I ever ate in a hotel. The hotel waiter, in the South, is a man who can make time more slowly than any other country in the earth. Like the waiter that he was, he was slow on the uptake, but he was black and polished. He was also a man of the first-mentioned waiter, it makes me hot to think how he used to forget everything ordered except a cup of coffee, mutton potatoes, and rose bowl, but that is seldom his fault, the food took passing pains to let them inadvertently with the rest of the goods. If you want roast beef your best chance is to order fried tripe or pig's feet, and if you want tripe you had better not order it at all. The only way to get in conjunction with them is to order up all the vegetables, relishes, and dishes in the house, and then you have the satisfaction of finding that you only place in town to find them is in the bill of fare. You get on some figures of vital interest, you see him in the most interesting mood and graceful attitude, and if you do not get your food then, on the pretext of having a letter to send off on the north am mail, you will positively, have your mind seriously injured in trying to finish the argument that England's supremacy is on the wane. The waiter, however, is not to be blamed for this. He is a victim of certain customs, prevailing in the South, that could each have a Bible and Dwight's Moral Philosophy in their door, with the amount of knowledge displayed by some of the waiters. He will tell you many things regarding the small number of cockroaches that will be likely to use the money saved from sugar, and where to find the pup with the bowwow, or the kitten with the mew, in the vocabulary of the heathen.

But usually private himself on having a good memory equal to that of Magliabechi, and when he shuts his eye and opens his mouth, finger while he goes down into the mysteries of the fat mantal pigeon-holes to find the day of the month that you landed on Mount Arrarat, and then he will rattle off a list of

The banner line across the title page of the Bulletin last week, "Bandera completes its census," published, created a wide interest, and a number of people called our attention to a typographical error in the big line. They thought it should be "Stampede" incorrectly, by adding Webster as their authority that it should have been spelled "stampede." That is the way Webster spells the word, all right, but Mr. Webster never heard of Bandera nor of the Bandera Stampede. In the dictionary the word is defined, "Sham-pede: the flight of cattle or horses in fright." Here in Bandera we do not have cattle run, but when we do the cattle or horses do a lot of jumping, and in the big show in the little we are going to have a lot of jumping and a good deal stamping will be the earth for three nights. So it will be the Bandera Stampede, and when you speak of it, call it the Stampede, and in writing to your friends about it, spell it "stampede." The word was selected by Bandera's first graduate class.

Mike Robinson and George Proffitt went down to San Antonio the other day, both of them growing a full crop of whiskers for the big Stampede here in May. Mike's whiskers are very suggestive of Horace Greeley's style. In the lobby of the Gunter Hotel they met one of Mike's friends, who gazed at him in wonder, and then suddenly he asked, "Say, pardner, from his pocket and handed it to Mike and said, "Go and get a shave. A little while later they met another friend on the street, and he too was astonished and said, "Mike, you sure need a shave. Here is a half dollar, now trot around to the barber shop and get rid of what you've unpolished." Mike pocketed the four bits, with a knowing grin and came home richer by six bits.

All roads the cedar growers of the Hill Country are registering a protest about the hardships men abusing their whiskers to grow until May 22nd as an advertising feature of the big Bandera Stampede. They fear that if wearing these scrubs will be so abundant that it will affect the price of cedar. Certain cedar brushes individual has advocated that he will pay $100 a piece for the entire clip. He has already engaged one of the most haunted trucks to convey the hawk whiskers to Gatesville for shipment to an eastern scouring mill. A New England firm has agreed to take the whole output, to be used in the manufacture of expensive material for automobile seats, parlor chairs, and bed mattresses. A representative of the factory was here last week looking into the matter, and says he and all of the executives of his firm are coming to the Bandera Stampede May 21-22.

Contour Improvement

There is plenty of evidence that there is more pasture improvement work going on in Bandera county right now than ever before in the county's history. Interest stems from the PMA program which is giving to pasture improvement of some kind, with special emphasis on cedar control, brush control, tank building, and pasture reseeding. Labor has been more plentiful and available and as a result, large acreages of cedar are being cleared on various parts of the county. We have been watching the work on the W. E. Taylor ranch with a lot of interest, where the pasture planning the Lake Area Soil Conservation District has cleared from that pasture last year, and recently had Preston Wedgworth rake up the timber and pile it for burning. He has also applied phosphate fertilizer to the pasture in front of the house. We think this will be one of the best small pastures in the county when the work is completed. Others who are doing cedar and brush eradication work on this place are Graham Brothers on the Tarpley ranch, L. Hicks at Tarpley, Roy Bell on the Northrup ranch at Pipe Creek, A. H. Schott at Pipe Creek, S. Tschirhardt, Eddie Lebold, Anton Liebold Arnold Hoffman and H. A. Hamilton all down on Medina Lake. Eradication of pest oak and blackjack has started on Charlie Zwanzig's place at Medina, and F. B. Doane has started on oak eradication work on his place near Bandera.

Mrs. Wedgworth has started building a pond on the Tarpley place on what is known as the old Fritz place. Hubert Hamilton is having a big dam built on his ranch about two and 2/2nd miles Tarnpike his. Paul Reddin's out for building a dam on the side of the house on the Tarnpike ranch on Verde Creek. Mr. McKee is moving a lot of dirt building a dam for irrigation on the lower "stompede." The word was selected by Bandera's first graduate class.

Bandera's Popular Majorette Goes to Arabia

Loretta Hackler, 14, band majorette with the Bandera School band, and popular daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Hackler, left the past week with her mother for Abadan, Iran, to go to Awali, Bahrein Island, which is a part of Arabia, and is located in the Persian Gulf. Mrs. Hackler and Loretta are to join Mr. Hackler, who has been employed with International Bechtel, Inc., in oil field refinery construction work in Arabia for more than a year. They planned to visit Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Hackler in Stillwater, Oklahoma, for about a week and then leave by plane for New York and Arabia. The Hacklers expect to remain in Awali for at least two years, and Loretta, who is in the ninth grade here, will continue her schooling in either Switzerland or India. She is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Caldwell of the Lazy H Ranch, and the Caldwells as well as their host of friends in Bandera, will anxiously expect to receive word of their trip and safe arrival sometime next month.

WHISPERS AND WHISKERS

Springtime has come again in all its glory,
Happy and joyful are the little birds and bees,
Youthful hearts are whispering the age old story,
And sweet fragrance rides upon the morning breeze.

Corn and cane and wheat and potatoes,
In great abundance grow and thrive,
And with beans and squash and big red tomatoes,
Keep the nations of the earth alive,

But what will make a feller's whiskers grow?
And where can we obtain the seed?
We all must wear them, you should know,
Down at Bandera's big Stompede.

A. LONGFELLER

Here and There

We have a new bulletin on the control of external parasites of cattle—the latest dope on DDT etc. You can get a copy at the county agent's office. * * * Mack Jobber is going in for registered horn cows, again. We told off a contour line for Mack on the Frio on the road to Pipe Creek. He could plant his corn on the contour. * * * Gen. Evans had about 40 buffalo beans on the ground and is going to be taking orders for fall delivery for bulk seed. * * * E. I. Barley from Midland has bought the old Riley place above Medina. He is the newest member of the Bandera County A. & M. Club. Harvey organized there in 1925. He started originally in the county in 1923 with Lee Short. * * * * If you get a chance, take a look at the Australian oil stills on the J. B. Rayner place above Medina. They say it pays to oil, so it has furnished comfortable quarters for cattle, all winter. * * * * Raymond Hicks has a new windbreaker outfit with a tree pusher bar in front of the dozer. * * * * O & H Enterprises have installed a new 300-horsepower engine at their Stearman plane place with a new type propeller, so that they can carry more grass seed on each trip. * * * * Charles and Billy Farrer were the first in the country to use the new chlorinated camphene cattle spray for control of ticks, flies, and horn flies all at the same time. They sprayed their cattle on March 19th.

Bandera Post 8174 Elects

The Veterans of Foreign Wars Bandera Post 8174 elected new officers for the ensuing year at a lively meeting held last week in the Bandera County Library through the courtesy of Wansley Gustafson, owner and V. F. W. member. The officers elected for 1948 will succeed those who have served during 1947. They are: Commander, succeed Jack Goetz; Senior vice-commander, to succeed R. T. Hudson; junior vice-commander, to succeed Charlie Sueltz; Chaplain, Charlie Buchler, to succeed John B. MacNaughton; W. R. Parks, reappointed to succeed Charles Hutcheson; and Sixth Sergeant and Historian, Guy Gustafson, trustees, to succeed Elmer Bain and Leo Bain. The local V. F. W. post is Bandera's newest veteran's organization, having been chartered only a year ago in March. For a new post, much has been accomplished during the time it has been activated, including setting up of a blood donor unit with the local physicians, the First National bank and Bandera's first G. I. Santa Claus, which furnished toys, clothing, office work, and technical training of a number of veterans, whether or disabled or not, when an opening occurs.

Dr. Dudley estimates that one-fifth of the total population of Bandera county is made up of veterans from the Spanish American War and World War I and II. This is considered a high average for counties of this size and speaks well for the part which our boys have played in the defense of their country. Enrollment for the school program, which accounts for the $10,000 monthly check to ranch county farming and this program should continue to be held here for 2 or 3 more years according to Mr. Brown.

The total figure as quoted does not include payments to veterans from this county who are attending college under the G. I. Bill of Rights, or those receiving money medically retired officers, widows, and children of service men, said Brownie. And the $10,000 monthly check for months total even higher. One veteran, who lives near Medina, has received approximately $1,000 in subsistence paid for by the government, while another is available to veterans who have designs on a farm. Some veterans have a high priority and are being trained through a Boerne agency and others in the interior to get ahead when it would be otherwise impossible for him to do so.

The Veterans Service Office in Bandera county is located in the J. A. & B. Finance Co. building in Bandera and handles any and all services pertaining to veterans and their dependents.

KEEPING PACE
WITH BANDERA'S PROGRESS

The Bandera Bulletin is keeping pace with Bandera's progress. Bandera and Bandera County have made rapid strides during the past four years, and steady growth is now in full swing. New homes are being built, new business firms are being established, new citizens are flocking in. At the rate Bandera is growing it is freely predicted that the town will have a population of 5,000 within the next three years. Real estate is advancing in value, and small homes and ranches are in demand. Every week reports come in of land deals being made.

Bandera is becoming famous as the foremost guest ranch region of the State. More than fifty thousand tourists and guests were accommodated here during the past summer; and it is expected that nearly as many visitors will come here through the winter months. All this makes for Bandera's progress.

The Bandera Bulletin is now the only newspaper published in Bandera County. While it is comparatively a new publication—being now almost three years old, its publishers are old timers here, and know how to turn out a newspaper that people want. That it is recognized as a live newspaper and is liked by the people is evidenced by the splendid circulation it is getting. Starting out twenty-six months ago without a subscriber, the Bulletin now boasts a circulation of 1,650 bona fide subscribers, and they are still coming in. Running on an average of 800 inches of advertising per week, it has been proven as a good advertising medium.

The Bulletin is now located in its new building away up on Main Street, and we are prepared to do all kinds of commercial and job printing. Our force of experienced printers know how to do high class work, so let us figure on your next printing order.

We met a lot of the town folks and the Jaycees handle wheat country, who use a lot of sorghums in their business. It took us just one hour and fifteen minutes to get to Boerne from Bandera by College Station in Tex's new Navion.

Bandera's
Most Interesting Place

Bandera is indeed fortunate to have a museum that would be a credit to a city of 200,000 population. More than 30,000 relics and curios of the frontier, of early days. Besides the frontier relics there are many items from foreign countries. You can easily spend hours in this great museum and not see all there is to see.

The admission charge is only 20c, with federal tax added, making a total of 25c per person. When you have visitors, bring them to Frontier Times Museum; they will appreciate the courtesy. Open every weekday from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. Sundays from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Bandera Boy Making Marksmanship Record

SAMMY STEVENS WINS IN MARKSMANSHIP

Sammy Stevens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Stevens of Bandera, has been making leading scores in rifle team matches in the John Tarleton Agricultural College at Stephenville. The young man is a graduate of Bandera High School, and entered John Tarleton this past year. He has been a rifle team member for two years, and is soon to participate in the Fourth Army Intercollegiate Match here. Individual badges are issued individual .22 caliber rifles, and the bearer is a tagged close friend of the target. Sammy is a "sure" shot, and for his aim. The rifles are always the "calling of perfect pitch" and are adjusted with windage and elevation over many adjustments. While squeezing the trigger, the shooter exerts a slight jerk that will throw the bullet off the bullseye. If the jerk is off by more than so many degrees to the left or right he is calling the shot. The instructor always emphasizes the "calling of shots" and of Tarleton's most conditioned marksmen is Sammy Stevens, freshman, and John Oden, senior.

There's a good reason for it, too. Ringing off (one turn of the ringer handle) tells the operator you're through talking. Then she can clear your line at once for the next call.

WEEK OF APRIL 15

San Antonio—For the fifty-third year, San Antonio, home of the Alamo is making ready for a week-long observance of Texas Independence Day, April 21. This year's event will be the most all-inclusive and ever-growing list of events, beginning with the Battle of Flowers parade on Saturday, April 15. The week-end climaxed on Sunday, April 16, with the 24th annual art show to be held in Alamo Plaza and the Texas Confetti Jamboree at Municipal Auditorium.

Staged as a tribute to the pioneer who won Texas for independence, the week-long event is by turns solemn and festive. The event is officially staged by the week in which the day April 21 falls. This anniversary of Sam Houston's victory over Santa Anna at San Jacinto is appropriately, the fiesta opens with various ceremonies including pilgrimage to the procession of floats, a parade of mounted military leaders, cowboys, old-time military regiments from other states, war veterans, patriotic societies, and school children on the theme "Shrine of Texas Liberty," carnival officially opens on the same evening, the festive aspects of Fiesta Week are also marked by arrival of King Antonio, ruler of the fiesta, for the over the week's activities. During the week there are four parades, the coronation of the Fiesta Queen, a free-night rodeo, a fiesta at La Villita, a flower show, band festival, military review and numerous social events.

This year the Fiesta San Jacinto Association has provided a beautifully illustrated booklet describing all aspects of the fiesta, a copy may be obtained without charge by writing to the Fiesta San Jacinto Association, 609 Insurance Building, San Antonio.

Some Early Bandera County History

By J. Marvin Hunter

"The following chapter is taken from a history of Bandera county, written by Augustus Kerr, and published in 1910 in a small pamphlet. Mr. Kerr was for years a freighting contractor and merchant in Bandera.—Editor.

My father always showed a strong attention for the sand I often accompanied him on his trips to the coast, and I am inclined to think that my early freighting preparations in connection with the cattle business associations when he first settled in Bandera, and my frequent trips to Port Lavaca with the freight for the mercantile business of my father and Sid Antonio. I was not his only employee, but sometimes on such occasions, but I made myself useful in many ways, and was able to do many things that were appreciated.

My father had contracted with a party in San Antonio to haul a load of pine lumber from a mill near Bastrop, on the Colorado river, and as I was going to Bastrop was then a small village with a few residences, stores and the night we camped in the open air which I attempt to describe as a recollection of what it was about. This was the first political speech I ever heard, and I can assure you that there was no lack of enthusiasm in the crowd. Although the task was not as easy as I expected, on the way home, I remember that we camped one night and had some left with which to make breakfast and dinner the next day, and I could get nine knots for the whole day's work, which was all the time the next day in coming to the end of the journey. GOLF SHOTS

The Bandera - County Sweepstakes were won this week by Ira Wilson, with a net 64. The official doctor also is a golfer and during the week turned in another fine score at 68.

Saddest story of the week was about Gene Gerald, who shot the finest 18 holer of his life, and then failed to win the sweepstakes with the lowest net score—68. Gene, which usually wins quite easily, this time was quite happy about the improvement in his game.

New faces at the Lost Valley golf course were Miss Hodo Stockdale, Mrs. Rankin Conwill, George Slazer Jr., R. B. Autery, Glendon Roberts, Mrs. Wilhelm and Perry Wall. Convalescents who were welcomed back to the fold were Mrs. Herb Pipilo and F. A. Maguirel.

Six Kerrville golfers tried out our course Sunday and all were amazed at the fine condition of such a new course. The group was headed by Frank Ward, promoter at the Kerrville Golf Club, Chester Hauser, one of Texas' finest amateur golfers, Vernon Stevens, F. Richards, L. Kensing, and M. Wilson, all fine golfers. They all stopped by for a back Sunday and are planning to bring their friends with them.

Hottest news of the week is the pro-amateur golf tournament to be held Sunday, March 28th, at 9 o'clock. This tournament is held in this manner. All players are shooting between 70 and 80 scores, a players and all players between 80 and 90 are 8 players. Players between 90 and 100 are C players, while players shooting over 100 are D players. The A's names are put in one box; the B's names in another, the C's in another, and the D's in another box. A drawing is held and a foursome composed of one A, one B, one C, and one D is then formed. This foursome plays together and tries to beat the other foursomes. No handicaps are given and the lowest net score made by any of the foursomes is the winner. Each player with the birdie put can try to make a putt for eagle and each player with the birdie putt can try to make a putt for birdie on the next three putting. The winning foursome gets the prize equally between the four players. Should there be a tie, there will be extra to warrant, second and third prizes will be awarded. All prizes are in merchandise.

Mrs. Maurice Witt and daughter, Joyce, and Hayden Mansfield of Uvalde, Mrs. Jack Mansfield and children, Gerald and Loretta, and Robert Ferrell of San Antonio, are week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mansfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph de la Montagne and son, John, of Kerrville visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Haynes last week.

L. J. Searcy has sold a new home building on the lot just west of Bandera Realty Co. on Main Street, and will use it for a real estate office.

Mrs. Essie Johnson of Levelland, who is now visiting her daughter Mrs. Milton Parle, of Bandera, spent a week recently with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Johnson of Medina.

Mrs. Ruby Shaw left last week for her home in San Antonio after visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Jones Witt. Mr. and Mrs. James Shaw at Bandera.

DRUGS
DROWNINGS IN THE EARLY DAYS

In 1881 Joseph Winfield, a highly respected citizen of Bandera, was drowning on Julian Creek, two miles east of Bandera. Mr. Winfield was hauling hay using a four-horse team. The day before his death he and a young man named Will Hamilton had crossed Julian Creek when it was dry, going out to get the hay. During the night it came a heavy rain, and when they were returning to town with their loads they found the creek rushing, but it did not seem to be very deep. Hamilton drove into it and made it across all right, but when Winfield's team reached the main current, they became unruly. He was riding the wheel horse and dismounted in midstream for some reason or other, and was drowned. The Medina river was on a big rise at the time and it was up several days, so that Mr. Winfield's body was hurried near where he was drowned. Four years later it was removed to the Catholic cemetery here in Bandera. A young man named Hasmonds helped to dig the first grave. The following Sunday after the burial Hasmonds attempted to cross the Medina river, where the low bridge is now at the end of Main Street, and was drowned before he could be rescued.

ZEKE IS HIGH CONSTIBULE OF "THE FREE STATE OF BANDERA"

A few nights ago a secret meeting was held in a cedar brake just south of town, and plans were made for carrying on the big rebellious movement started two weeks ago by Zeke and his cowboy friends, who have set up a provisional government for the Free State of Bandera, to provide a two days holiday for the forgotten cowboy. At this secret meeting Zeke, the fearless, outstanding cowboy, was elected to the office of High Constibule, and now wears the badge of that high office with becoming dignity. As the proceedings of the meeting were secret the Bulletin cannot give a detailed report of all that was done, but we can say that a severe penalty was fixed for violations of the laws of the newly created Free State of Bandera, particularly the law covering the growth of whiskers. Any individual found guilty of limiting his growth of hair to the upper lip only and coming forth with a small "cootie catcher" of adolph hitler style, will be summarily dealt with, by being bent across a barrel and his posterior treated to leggins sauce with tar trimmings.

Col. Sam Montague was officially designated as Zeke's ambassador and has gone on a tour of major cities in the Southwest to inform mayors of those communities of the drastic move made and to invite them to join in the fight. In a few days two of Bandera's fairest cowgirls will fly to those towns and present those mayors with honorary citizenship in the Free State of Bandera.

As previously stated, the official date when the "Stompede" will actually take place has been set for May 21-22, at which time the cowboy will come into his own, and for two days the Free State of Bandera, joined by all other sympathetic citizens from the neighboring countries, the United States and Mexico, will pay tribute to this unsung hero.

ROSCOE REDUS INJURED IN CAR WRECK

Roscoe Redus was seriously injured Sunday night when his car left the highway and plunged into Geronimo Creek at the Castle Park on the San Antonio Road. The car failed to negotiate the highway at one of the small bridge this side of Rustic Park and turned over several times. Mr. Redus was severely injured and rushed in the pro gress in a side-trip to Bandera one day a week. The Bandera Tourist Association has attended an invitation for those interested to go to Houston and see how Bandera deals out true Frontier hospitality. For their entertainment a barbecue and a dance will be given and will probably be arranged, when the brides and grooms will be taken off the visitors and they will be given the freedom of the town. And when they go back home they will write up columns of good stuff about the glories of Bandera.

NEW TYPE FLOORING MATERIAL AVAILABLE

A revoultionary new type flooring material called Cedar Lamite Tile or Cedarasmic cement has just become available to persons in the Bandera vicinity through the G. and H. Enterprises, Inc. The main feature of this flooring is that it can be installed on wood or concrete subfloors and that it is said to repel roaches and kill roaches although it contains no poison or insecticide. The material will be popular for kitchen floors or drainboards or bathroom walls or floors because of its waterproof and easy to maintain characteristics and resilient qualities.

Press Association to Visit Bandera

On June 17, 18 and 19 next, the Texas Press Association will hold its annual convention in San Antonio. This association has been invited to visit Bandera on one day of the convention and to be guests of the San Antonio Tourist Association at a barbecue and dance at Bandera. Plans are being made for the entertainment of the visitors and they will be given the freedom of the town. And when they go back home they will write up columns of good stuff about the glories of Bandera.

Winners in Flying Cowgirl Contest

With a banning desire to show the United States of America that the "Free State of Bandera" actually intend to fulfill the terms of the ultimatum to the President and the citizens of this new state turned out, en masse, to the Bandera theatre last Monday night, and selected three of their prettiest cowgirls to go forth, and with the Mayors of fifteen major cities in the South west to attend the Bandera Stompede, May 21 and 22.

Ten of the fairest cowgirls Bandera county had been entered in the contest, and they presented quite a difficult decision for the people of Bandera to make. Each of them got off and received a rousing round of applause when she was presented to the theater audience. The intent of the contestants in the contest was identical, and their personalities, while not of the usual baseball interest, that when the final count of the ballots had been made, with Sheriff Bills Burns and Judge Ben Woods, attorney, officiating, it was decided to declare another round contest, and declare these girls co winners, and a number of them made all of them in the trip itinerary. This appointment was made by the Mayor as was evidenced by their hearty acquiescence when this announcement was made to the audience.

Misses Mary Louise (Doodle Bug) Davenport, Dorothy Wise and Gloria Shiner were each presented with a beautiful cowgirl hat, valued at $100 each, presented by the Promise Company, Dallas. Each hat is a work of art, constructed by Jan Olmsted of Dallas, and is a creation of beauty and delightful lightness. Each hat is also made with the delightful idea that it is today, but will mark the opening of the rodeo season at Mansfield park this year. The opening of the rodeo each year is eagerly looked forward to by Texas and the opening of the dude ranch season and the regular cowgirls' contest night performances are an integral part of the program of activities throughout the season. The events at the Mansfield park rodeos are RCA approved and only top-notch stock used in all events, a fact which assures a genuinely thrilling performance each time the show goes on. Bob Mansfield, Mansfield Autrey, and Bill Mansfield are to be in charge of the rodeos at the park this year and these names insure the rest "cowboy type" rodeos in the state. Mansfield park is famous whenever rodeos are mentioned.

Editorials . . .

Write and tell your friends about the Bandera Bulletin which is to take place here May 21st and 22nd. Mr. Stickers and all letters you send out. The stickers carry pictures of Zeke, and can be obtained from the Bandera Tourist Association.

The new fad which has been promulgated in the Big Band of Bandera, that of the state paper which recently boasted a subscription over the county. Some of the county seat are printing humorous appendages that are very attractive—and surprising. Of course, the subscription rates are doubtless hidden by the lucrative growth of advertisers, while others remind us of the "county" will end the game. Some of the local papers are also publishing sensation which seems to handle the growth of subscribers is almost unbelievable. We might call attention to the above statement of Bill Martin, the barber, who announces that he has a new supply of face powder for those who let their beard "grow wild."

The nation-wide publicity that is being given Bandera at this time is attracting many letters and messages of inquiry. Since a campaign of advertising was inaugurated for the Bandera Stompede, which is to be held May 21st and 22nd, letters from over the United States are beginning to pour into the Bandera town, in the Hill Country of Texas. Many inquiries are also telling about Zeke the Bandera cowboy. Up to President Harry Truman asking for a two days national holiday for the 21st and 22nd, in honor of the cowboy and because the President did not reply to Zeke's letter—ignored Zeke, Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Oxford and has set up a government of his own, calling it the True State of Bandera. The newspapers of the country are laying on the stompede and commenting editorially on Zeke's request, and the loyalty of his friends, who, in protest to the President's ignoring of Zeke's request, are joining the stompede. Taxes . . .

Property owners who want to figure out what their taxes will be in December can now get out their pencil and paper and start figuring. The county tax rate was set in February by the commissioners and the various local and county school boards recently their trustees have set the school tax, so your total taxes are well in effect also. All are based on 100 assessed valuation. The total county tax rate for this year was set at 65¢ for the commissioners' court, as follows: Precincts 1 or 3, and 15c for road tax. The school tax for Bandera, Medina, Utopia, and Tarpley, Precincts 2, 27 and 29 respectively, were set at the maximum allowed, which is $1.00. Also Precincts 24 and Pipe Creek, Precincts 24 and 25 respectively were set at $1.00, which is the maximum allowed for that area for school tax. So if you live in Bandera County you will pay $1.65 per $100 valuation. To this add the state tax, which was 35c last year. Oh yes, if you live in the town of Bandera add $1.00 per $100 for water rate and then figure your taxes by how much your valuation for which your property was assessed. The state tax rate may be more or less than it was last year. This is set in July of this year.

HOW TAX BILL WOULD WORK

Here is how the tax cutting would work.

Present personal exemptions from $500 to $600.

Apply the community property principle to all states allowing husbands and wives to divide the family's income for tax reporting purposes and thereby get lower rates. Eight states now have this principle in effect.

After taxes have been computed on this basis at the present schedule of rates, percentage reductions would be effected—10 per cent on the first $2,000 or income after deductions and exemptions, 7.5 per cent on that part of income above $2,000 and not over $4,000, and 5 per cent on income above $4,000.

An additional reduction would be granted persons 65 years or over bringing their personal exemption to $1,200. Estimated cost of the reductions for 1948 are increased.

The bill also adjusts estate and gift taxes.

AMERICA'S CRIMINAL ELEMENT

J. Edgar Hoover's crime situation, John Edgar Hoover, Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, shows in analyzing the figures and statistics of the 1947 crime report, the outlook for a bright future. The report shows a total of 1,960,000 crimes committed during the year, with several qualifications. Some of the figures reveal a 7.5 per cent increase in total crimes and 4.1 per cent decrease in crimes, which is about normal. Total automobile thefts for 1947 were 912,846, another rate ran 15 per cent, and 1948 will probably run 20 per cent, up to 50.5 per cent above the 1946 average.

The crime rapidly set glaringly from that record. Life is the hardest for the people in this country. An identical increase for those from 1947 to 1948 is predicted. Of the accident toll, which ran close to 36,000, approximately one-third of the victims were killed in cars not for the purchase of the war, when contacted by the Bandera Bulletin, stated that had been lost in the war bonds which he invested in years before, from her. Mrs. Emberton has volunteered for Red Cross service in the 1948 membership drive which is now in progress.

ARMY MAN NO DIPLOMAT IN CHARGE

Washington, March 26—Expressing criticism Kenneth S. Wells said Sunday that Gen. George C. Marshall must be ousted as secretary of state if the world is to avert war. The Minnesota chairman of the House war investigating committee, has long been critical of administration foreign policy. He declared Marshall has been a "complete failure" as secretary of state and described him as "pompous and ignorant" and "confused in the extreme, vacillating and unpredictable."

The statement was made in an editorial Knutson wrote for his weekly newspaper the Wadena, Minn., Pioneer Journal. He said:

"These are critical times all over the world, and yet we have no fixed foreign policy. We are drifting from pillar to post and if we would avert war Marshall must be replaced without delay.

"It is tragic that the foreign affairs of our government are in the hands of two incompetents—Truman and Marshall.

Knutson, in handing a copy of his editorial to a reporter said he intends to vote against the $6,205,000,000 foreign aid program that comes to a show down in the House this week.

His editorial said Marshall has failed in all his diplomatic assignments—in China, in his effort to iron out differences between Russia and the United States, and in the handling of the Palestine question.

"General Marshall may be a great soldier," Knutson said, "but he is not a diplomat. In the field of diplomacy he must be ranked a complete failure."

Secretary Marshall left for South America Sunday night with the chances at least even that he will have to return here ahead of schedule because of some new crisis in the relations between Russia and the Western powers.

Marshall is flying to Bogota, Colombia, to head the United States delegation to the inter-American conference opening Tuesday. The conference is expected to last about six weeks.

Marshall is going to Bogota to stay the full time if possible, aides said today.

At least three critical developments are in prospect for the month ahead. (1) The April 18 general election in Italy. (2) The forthcoming showdown between Helsinki and Moscow over the proposed Soviet-Finnish defense treaty, and (3) possible Russian demands on Norway.

PRIVILEGE H. D. CLUB

The Privilege Home Demonstration Club met on Thursday, Jan. 18, in the home of Mrs. J. C. Flocke, in the absence of the secretary, Mrs. Calvin Adler. Mrs. Flocke and Mrs. Langford were asked to call the roll and read the minutes of the preceding meeting. Since the club had no mite box the February meeting because of illness among the members Mrs. Lester Kinney gave the report of the council meetings for the club to be held in the county. Plans were made to hold council dues and paid for the postage on the exhibit sent to the Texas State Library. These books were displayed among the members. The club expressed its doubts as to the advisability of creating a "cooperative market" in Bandera because of the scarcity of produce to be sold and the great amount of work involved in owner and regulations involved. Mrs. Lester Holton was elected as a delegate to attend the district H. D. A. meeting in Uvalde on May 15th. Mrs. Ed. Wan Vawter and Mrs. Lone Langford were appointed to attend the special baking demonstration that will precede the regular club baking contest. The club members expressed appreciation for receipt of recipes from Betty Brookfield's KTSA "Women's Hour," sponsored by the Pioneer Flour Mills. Miss Brogan gave interesting demonstration on landscaping and on propagating the various shrubs that grow well in this vicinity.

O. S. T. GETS WESTERN LOOK
The Old Settler Tavern shows in the new "Western look" which the Longhorn Cafe has assumed this week. The O. S. T. is in mid-town and is one of the best known eating and gathering spots in Bandera. In its mid-town dress it is the "Western look" by erecting a sidewalk awning of native-color posts topped by a center gable. Over the door the word "Katie," for Mrs. Katie D. Love, owner and manager of the cafe. Visitors who were in town for the Easter week-end were immediately attracted by the unusual appearance of the establishment and came inside to find a real Bandera welcome. Pictures have been taken of the attractive exterior and some of the more interested in Bandera first citizens added the Western look touch of new whiskers to further carry out the western theme. These pictures are being used to publicize the forthcoming Bandera Stompede on May 21 and 22 and it is hoped that the visitors desk will be given to other establishments along Bandera's main streets in the near future.

Leslie Bill Short and Marvin Hay students in Sul Ross College at Alpine, spent last week-end here with homefolks.

Keith Hillmon, who is attending John Tarleton College at Stephenville, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hillman.

J. Marvin Hunter, Jr., and children, Jack and Dolores, came down from Baird Saturday, March 27th, to meet Mrs. Hunter's mother, Mrs. Tom Powers. Jack and Dolores remained over Saturday night and accompanied their grandmother back to Baird. J. Marvin Hunter Sr., is Mason County's efficient and dedicated county clerk.

HOUSTON GIVES BANDERA'S FLYING COWGIRLS GREAT OVATION

Grant never took Richmond the way the Flying Cowgirls from the Free State of Bandera took Houston. Turning on their full western charm, Dorothy West, Gloria Shiner, and Mary Louise (Doodlebug) Teich completely captivated the Southwest's largest community.

Greeted by Mayor Pro-Tem Edwin Bailey upon their arrival at the Municipal Airport at 11 a. m., the girls were interviewed over the air by Radio Station KLEE. From there they were whisked to the downtown business district in sleek convertible automobiles, where they were paraded before thousands of persons to the tune of screaming sirens and blowing horns. The parade wound up at the City Hall, where the Mayor and the Commission Council were presented with Honorary Citizenships in the Free State of Bandera.

At 1:30 p. m., the girls were featured on a 15-minute broadcast over Radio Station KLEE, and then made a tour of the frontier shops of the leading department stores in the city. They were also photographed by the Houston newspapers.

Taking a few minutes for a rest they were again on the air at 6:30 p. m., and went immediately to the Empire Room of the Rice Hotel, where they were entertained at dinner and were introduced to the audience during the floor show. From there they went to the Municipal Auditorium and were presented to the crowd of over 8,000 persons. They were also photographed in the arena with the champion heavyweight wrestler of Texas, Danny McShane.

At 10:30 p. m. the Flying Cowgirls appeared before 1200 loyal Houston subjects of the Free State of Bandera, at the Annual Round-Up at the End of Main. From there they went to the Atomic Club and were again in the spot light during the floor show there. The tour finally wound up at midnight.

The Flying Cowgirls are making a tour of the leading cities of the Southwest to help publicize the Bandera Stompede, to be held here May 21-22, 1948. They have already visited Houston and San Antonio, and this week are traveling to Dallas, Ft. Worth, Waco, and Austin.

Woody Boyd Burned to Death When Fire Destroys Electric Shop

Tragedy struck in Bandera Friday afternoon at about 2:30 p. m., when fire practically destroyed the Electric Shop and Radio shop in the downtown area, and Woody Boyd, owner, perished in the flames building in the rear. The fire, which apparently started on the roof of the building, evidently originated in the west section of the building, about the midsection, where the metal and rock front portion, from a gable of leaves and pitches, and the rear portion, which is a frame building. Flames were driving through town and the fire siren sounded the alarm. Charlie Wiemers, Tom Mansfield and others responded to the scene and tried to rescue Boyd, through the front entrance, but were repelled by the flames. Harry Boyd, Woody's brother, Frank Mansfield, fire chief, an Mrs. Fay Hamilton, owner of the building, made similar attempts. They then forced the rear door of the building, but were driven back by the smoke and flames. Efforts were then made to attempt to rescue Boyd through the front window, but were driven back by the smoke and flames. Boyd's body was later found. He was rushed to Bandera's only fire hose.

Boyd was a partner in the business with Fay Hamilton, who came to Bandera about a year ago from Houston. The Electric Shop was located in the building between the Diamond T Trading Post and Erie Magnolia Electric Appliance shop, and was owned by D. E. and Fay Hamilton. Fire insurance was in effect on both buildings and stock and Mr. Boyd had also taken out insurance on his indemnity his insurance. A fairly strong wind blew the fire from the building to an adjoining shed on the Mansfield property and this shed was smoked and damaged by fire also. Relatives surviving Boyd include his mother, Mrs. Mary Boyd, Hondo; and four brothers and three sisters. Funeral arrangements are incomplete pending the arrival of relatives.

Mr. Boyd made many friends in Bandera during the time he had resided here. Mr. Boyd made many friends in Bandera during the time he had resided here. Mr. Boyd made many friends in Bandera during the time he had resided here.

Bandera Flying Cowgirls Start On Swing Around the Circle

Joe Kinnear, 72, of Corpus Christi, was killed in a car wreck about 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening on the new highway to Uvalde Lake, about three miles west of a mile from Adolph Harris' place. The car driven by Kinnear went out of control and turned end over end and onto its side in the road and through a wire fence. Justice of the Peace L. L. Bright, sheriff Smith Burns, Slats McKay, and Dr. Harry Wilson rushed to the scene and Mr. Kinnear was given medical aid upon their arrival. A verdict of death by accident was returned by Justice Bright. E. E. Joelecke witnessed the accident and took a lady companion to San Antonio where an ambulance and attendant were summoned to the scene. Kinnear is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Raymond Bell, of Corpus Christi.

His wife died several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eckhart, Mrs. Adamietz' nearest and dearest friends, were notified by phone, and made many trips to the country.

Mr. Adamietz had reached the age of 74 years, and spent his entire life in Bandera. He had many friends throughout this region, and was highly respected for his friendly disposition and his ability to deal honestly with all.

Funeral rites were held Monday morning at the Catholic church for Alexis Adamietz, who passed away early Saturday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eckhart, interment following in the Catholic cemetery. Mr. Adamietz had been in failing health for several years, but spent some time at Medina Lake and at Hondo, and had returned here only last week. Deceased was born in Bandera July 27, 1873, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adamietz, who came to Bandera from the Polish colonists in 1855. He is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Mary Kinsha of Bandera, Mrs. Ferguson Rugg and Miss Alice Dickinson of San Antonio; one brother, I. E. Nine good bouts are scheduled for Friday night when the Bandera Boxing Club presents its regular bi-monthly fight fracture at the Legion Hall. Ten bouts are promised when H. E. Adams and Sid Alamanza meet in the feature bout of the big open-ring. Due to the steadily increasing attendance, a slight raise in the admission charge for this has been made necessary; the price now being $1.25, which includes the tax. Mansfield Autry will be arena director, and Mansfield will be ring manager. The rookies are fully O. C. A. approved, and the public can look forward to plenty of action and spills during the coming season. See the list of entry fees and added purses in the advertisement elsewhere in the Bulletin.

Bob Mansfield dropped in Tuesday to tell us that the rodeo season at Mansfield Park will open April 17. He says the Bandera Rodeo Corporation has secured a fine lot of roping stock, and all is now set for the big opening. Due to the steadily increasing attendance, a slight raise in the admission charge for this has been made necessary; the price now being $1.25, which includes the tax. During the past week they won a 20-1 decision over the bands of Yancey, last year's district champions, by a 12-2 decision from the fast last Friday. A return game with the Yancey nine will be played at Castroville 8 and Bandera 4, boys who are playing with the high school team include Teddy Nesky, James Bland, Lawrence Lindner, Jimmie Teel, Victor Hillman, Leroy Haynes, Ervin Lindner, Lester Buck, Harold Batsell, Warren Hood, Jerry Mansfield, Jerry Hood, Jerry Greene, Edward Brown, Rudolph Schott, Ed Merle Stevens, Joe Langford, Arthur Browne, Kenneth Anderson, and Amado Herrera.

SHEARING DEMONSTRATION AT SCHUTTGAST RANCH
A. C. Warner, representative of the Chicago Flexible Shaft Company, will be on hand at the ranch all day Friday, April 16, to demonstrate the methods of sheep shearing and wool preparation. He will be assisted by the Extension Service of A. & M. College. Mr. Warner will spend the entire day demonstrating care of shearing equipment, proper methods of shearing sheep, with special emphasis on preparation of 12 months wool. The program will start at about 9 o'clock in the morning, with all members of the Veterans agricultural adjustment schools in attendance. In the afternoon all interested ranchmen and ranchers are invited to attend to see the complete exhibit and watch shearing and wool tying demonstrations.

The program has been prepared by D. W. Hicks, county agricultural school co-ordinator and H. F. Schlemmer, county agent, and is of especial interest at this time because of the larger than usual amount of twelve months wool to be shown this year. All ranchmen are urged to attend the afternoon session starting at 1:30. W. R. Nesbit, sheep and goat specialist of A. and M. College Extension service will be present and assist with the program.

BANDERA MERCANTILE TO MAKE SOUVENIR RECORDS
Next Tuesday evening at 7:15 starting at 10 o'clock in the morning, W. A. Allen of the Bandera Mercantile Co. will be at the Bandera Mercantile Co. to make records of interesting events, songs, which will be given to visitors to the store. Mr. Allen is a factory expert who will demonstrate the various features of the Recordio machine, which is a combination radio and recording device with manual or automatic record changing, and which will record anything or recordings from radio programs and may be used as a public address system. On the same day Cal C. Straughn, Fay Wasson, Bandera's factory representative, will demonstrate the dual superimposition of the Easy Spindry machine. This machine washes, rinses and dries 27 pounds of clothes in less than an hour. The "spin-dry" feature eliminates the wringer operation in the busy process.

ERECTING NEW BUILDING
The large new building which is being constructed between the Bandera Mercantile Co. and Bandera Bulletin building is to be occupied by Hall & Hall Enterprises, owned and operated by Mrs. Lucile Hall and Dr. George Strickhausen, local veterinarian. Dr. Strickhausen is to have a complete veterinarian clinic and supply store, with necessary surgical equipment for a complete animal service for this area, including housing facilities for small animals in the rear section of the building. The remainder of the 60x40 foot building will be a modern business office for the expanded business. "H & H, started as an insecticide dusting, seeding, and fertilizing project with two planes when it would operate all over the state. We are now expanding to include the handling of feeds and seeds of all kinds and plan to handle the new "need-" said Mr. Floyd. The new business will handle Red Chain Universal Mills feeds and Du Pont insecticides, fungicides and germicides. They plan also to buy crops locally and grind and mix feeds to meet local needs. They have arranged to handle and distribute phosphate direct from a Houston plant and this is available now, although the new warehouse will not be in operation until about May 1st.

"THE GREAT STAMPEDE" MAY BE FILMED HERE

We were given the privilege for a screen play, "The Great Stampede," by N. L. Hunburg, famous movie writer, which may be produced by a leading motion picture corporation. "The Great Stampede" deals with the outbreak of the hoof and mouth disease, and is now receiving much concern along the Mexican border and if Mr. Hunburg's story is filmed it will be one of the most interesting pictures ever made. Mr. Gunburg has written or contributed to such famous pictures as "Hunchback of Notre Dame," "Sister Kenny," "Story of the Three Caps," Walt Disney's unreleased picture "Wonderful World" and other productions. Since the necessary cattle and dairy properties will be necessary to the filming of "The Great Stampede," Mrs. Hazel Sharp suggested that consideration be given to visit Bandera with this in mind. Once the movie people discover Bandera as suitable for their locations.

NO HALF-WAY MEASURES

Congress is moving slowly toward final decision on the reenactment of selective service or universal military training, and the matter of re-arming. Last week's issue of the Bulletin had published some remarks about the exact status of the present situation and its dangers and partly because public opinion back home has not yet crystalized.

There is one thing for all of us to remember, however and the word crusher is a fine one as the administration at Washington has been telling us then this is no time for half-way measures. It is no time for a second or third class army, navy or air force in the United States. We must have a first class defense organization, no matter what the cost, no matter what the sacrifice. Anything less than that is playing with dynamite.

Furthermore, armed might alone is not sufficient in itself to play the role we have assumed in a world leadership. We must have behind our national defense arm a united people, in a nation torn by internal strife and disunion. If we are to tell the world that democracy is the best guaranty of freedom and security, we must show that democracy work right here at home. Not all of us can go off to boat, or fire a gun, or pilot a plane. But every last one of us can be 100 per cent Americans. We may be old-fashioned and mossbungy patriotism but, Horry Walker notwithstanding, we still believe with Stephen Decatur: "My country, may she always be in the right. But my country, right or wrong."

ELECTRIC CO-OP CLAIMS SCHEME TO DEFRAUD IT

Entering into litigation involving the sale of San Antonio Public Electrical Co-Operative, Inc., filed suit in Judge S. G. Tayle's 45th District Court Monday, seeking more than $1,000,000 from the city. In his petition of intervention, the co-operative company alleges that the city has received net profits "in excess of $1,000,000" through the operations of certain rural electrification systems, and charges that the city and rural communities are conspiring to bury the system, are engaged in "a scheme to defraud this public electric cooperative of its rights under the contract which it holds."

Monday suit follows close upon the heels of a suit brought by the city on March 18 in an attempt to release the electrical property in the seven counties, Bandera, Kendall, Guadalupe, Caldwell, Wilson, Medina and Uvalde, for the sum of $680,000. The prior suit for declaratory relief asked the court to construe certain provisions of a trust indenture, dated June 1, 1942. The trust was entered into between the board of trustees of San Antonio Gas and Electrical System and the Harris Trust & Savings Bank of Chicago, in the matter of intervention filed Monday, the co-operative claims ownership of the contracts covering all of the systems, except the Medina system.—San Antonio Evening News.

(SEAL) ROSCOE L. HAYES

I Hereby Certify that the foregoing is a true copy of the original Writ now in my possession.

W. H. BURNS
Sheriff Bandera County

One of the city's best known grocery clerks is a 6-ft. 6-inch beauty. Before waiting on a customer asked if he was sick. "Nope, he don't work here any more," replied the store owner. "That boy didn't leave no vacancy."

would require an occasional United States minister to torture Indian captives. Mr. Stevenson has been described as being made up principally of black coffee and tobacco. He, however, would feel more at home if he were furnished with an occasional "dose of an infidel" to put to the sword as suggested by Koran. It is not unlikely that the South Sea Islander's dream of bliss includes a tender young missionary for culinary purposes among the attractions of his heaven. Besides having a heaven fixed up to their own liking, most persons have another place they look forward to as the permanent abode of those who do not worship in the same church with them. The latter he proposes using whatever it may be necessary to cut his way through the jungle, or when fate may put it in his way, to make himself beautiful pale-face maiden from Texas, reclining on the floor, rehearsed the thing so often in his mind, that he knows exactly how the incident will appear to other in rapid succession—how he will steal up on the unsuspecting some of the forest as they are preparing to torture captive, bore, and, with his trusty knife pile up a cord of "fire" wood behind them. He will seize the captive maiden—the beautiful fleet de Gonzalez daughter of Montezuma—and, vaulting on the back of a fleet steed, gallop away.

He tells the boys at home what he is going to do, and the scalps, wampum, wigwams, Indian wounds—and other brick-a-brac and proceeds to show his friends as momentoes of his prowess. Most of the boys he gives in Texas he is disgusted to find schools, fore-banks, newspapers, church wanted, and other evidences of civilization. In the first man who will bet he sells some of his revolvers, and secretly drop his buck-knife in his pocket. This is the unkindest cut of all. Instead of the only desperado Texas can now lay claim to. Before the end of the first night of his return home, he asks his mother to let him go a-fishing in the creek on the sidewalk, after he will try to borrow an old fish-pole of a neighbor. He is so accustomed to sleeping on the ground that he cannot bear the close confinement of a house. When the boys call around to see him, he looks at them with pity, for he knows that they cannot even tell a scalp from a buffalo robe. Instead of telling them how he lost, in a border foray, a large quantity of trunk filled with scalps, and a shock packed full of wampum and wampum, he tells them how he killed a buffalo on account of a prairie fire, and how he saved his life by creeping into the carcass of a buffalo he had slain, until the fire passed over and exhausted itself. And this he recounts a desperate encounter he had with a wild bull, and gives a detailed and hair-curdling description of a race at a breakneck speed to get the drop on the crown, and rescued the doomed man. He entertains them with pen family, and is saturated with gore. Texas, he tells them, has been among the chivalrous Mexicans and the Indians. The latter he describes as being treacherous, and the former as cowards. Indeed wounds and things that he pronounced to be scars in Texas, he tells them how he got, in a border foray, a large quantity of trunk filled with scalps, and a shock packed full of wampum and wampum, and how he killed a buffalo on account of a prairie fire, and how he saved his life by creeping into the carcass of a buffalo he had slain, until the fire passed over and exhausted itself. The Battle of San Jacinto
By J. Marvin Hunter

As the 121th anniversary of the battle of San Jacinto is near, and with it an opportune time to pause to refresh the memory of all Texans, and particularly the school children of this state, to recount the particulars of this great battle, which gave to Texas her "independence and freedom from the Mexican yoke." The best account of this great event is given in the report of General Thomas J. Rusk, Secretary of War, who was on the battlefield and made his report to President David G. Burnet the next day after the battle. Genera Rusk's report is as follows:

War Department, Headquarters Army of Texas,
San Jacinto River April 22, 1836
To His Excellency David G. Burnet,
President of Texas.
Sir:

I have the honor to communicate to you a brief account of a general engagement of the Army of Santa Anna, at this place on the 21st. Instant, the army under the command of General Houston, arrived here on the 20th instant. The enemy, during the afternoon of the 19th, approved of our arrival, commenced a cannonade upon his private property, and continued their line of march to this point. They were themselves on our approach until our standard was planted on the banks of the river Jacinto. Our position was a commanding one for battle, on the noon of the 20th, the appearance of our foe was highly animating. Both parties were eager for the conflict, the enemy manifested good order and took a position in front of our encampment, on an eminence about three hundred yards distant, planted their only piece of artillery, a brass six-pounder, and then arrayed their cavalry and infantry in the most imposing order, right, under the shelter of a skirt of woods in the rear of their encamped firing upon us, their cannon in front, and their cavalry on the left, and their cavalry charging their position on the right. A charge was made on the left of our camp by their infantry which was handsomely repulsed by a few shots from our lines. This charge was gallantly led on by the brave Mexican veterans, and was the most formidable one they made. Their cavalry, under the command of Colonel Almonte, formed the attack on our right. At the command to charge, our whole line rushed forward in good order and high spirits. On arriving within reach of their cannon, a heavy fire was opened, first with their artillery, and our cavalry. A general rout and flight then ensued. Orders were given to charge. Colonel Sherman's regiment was the first to storm the enemy from the woods occupied by them on their right flank. The conflict was severe and slaughter, the other, Col. Neill, of the artillery, not fatally.

The attack ceased, the enemy retired and formed in two skirts of timber, and remained in that position, occasionally opening their fire upon us, until just before sunset when they attempted to draw off their forces in order, but were charged upon, theirs, consisting of upward of one hundred and fifty regulars, under the command of Gen. Cos, were taken prisoners. Gen. Santa Anna, Gen. Castrillon, Almonte, Filisola, Minister of War, Secretary of War, Colonels Delgado, Batres, Caro, Quintanilla, Cos, Duque, Romero, Bringas, Ferrera, Trevino, Lieutenant Colonels Bringas, Ramirez, Sesma, Cortina, Majors Negrete, Sanchez, Delgado, Tenorio, Ampudia, Morales, Pacheco, Adjutants Nicolas Flores, Jose Maria Flores, Ortega, Captains Landero, Hermosa, Barragan, Ruiz, Alcorta, Arrietta, Zapata,

LIONS CLUB HAS LADIES' NIGHT

The Lions Club meeting last Thursday night was featured by the ladies being present, and by the fact that the meeting was otherwise "men only" club. About 50 persons were present at the dinner meeting at the D. T. cafe and the interesting feature of the ladies by their first names was the cause of much merriment. It was decided that May 13th should be another "Ladies' Night at the club and that everyone was to come dressed in western attire and that pictures would be taken at that time. DRUGS
BANDERA
WHEN PRISONERS WERE CHAINED IN BANDERA
Bandera's first jail was a small rock building, which stood just across the street from the present court house, on about the same ground now occupied by the fire station. The little building was about 14x24 feet in size and its walls were about fifteen feet high. It had one door, set high up on one side, with stone steps leading up for several feet. There were one or two small openings near the top for ventilation. The main feature of said iron, and in the center of the floor was a large iron ring firmly anchored, to which the prisoners were chained with leg irons. There was no escape from that jail. T. C. Rice was the sheriff in those days, and when he had more prisoners than he could accommodate in the little jail, he had a blacksmith named Ramsey to make additional leg irons and chained the extra prisoners to trees close by the jail. A new jail was built in 1881, near the present ice plant. It was a beautiful stone building, and still stands being occupied today by a furniture factory.

BANDERA'S FLYING COWGIRLS CAPTURE NORTH TEXAS CITIES

With all the acclaim accorded Bandera's diplomatic envoys, and ambassadors, the Flying Cowgirls and Cowboys Ambassadors were met at the municipal airports of Dallas and Fort Worth last week. Batteries of newspaper reporters and photographers jammed the runaways as the plane rolled in to a stop in front of the terminal buildings. Flash bulbs burst and questions literally flew at the men of the rodeo sought to outmaneuver each other in getting first to the press and hogs for their respective papers. The overseas tidbits from the Free State of Bandera have exceeded even Tex Ritter and Gene Autry.

The group of 'Westerners' left the throngs at first filled the ramps to the street as they piled aboard with a 1948 model Cadillac, Packard or Buick convertible, route Then, from Love Field to the Dallas police escort swung this strange cavalcade on the streets of Dallas, leading into the downtown district. Here the visitors were joined the curbs waiting for a glimpse of the famous Bandera ladies who are becoming so much in demand in the cities of this area here. In the Southwest. Arriving at the Adolphus hotel in Dallas, the girls had to be escorted into the hotel by the police from the curb, and the mobbing of the cheering crowds. The girls were then taken to their rooms immediately, and no one but the bell hops, and the press and radio men, who were on hand to interview the visitors.

The girls were then taken to the Mural Room of the Baker Hotel, where they were entertained at luncheon by the Chamber of Commerce of Dallas, and Fort Worth in little entertainment of their own, when they were in order to entertain the visitors and left the people of Dallas why they were in Dallas. Following the Baker the girls were provided to the City Auditorium in Fort Worth with an Honorary City Fort Worth Certificate to the Free State of Bandera." After a very full day, reception at the Mayor's office, they were then taken to Fair Park for a 15-minute interview over Radio Station WBAP. That night they were presented to the crowds gathered at the sportatorium to view the wrestling matches being held there. After leaving there, the girls were escorted to the swanky Variety Club in the Adolphus hotel, where they mingled with the society of Dallas, and two wandering cowboys stars from Hollywood who were all slightly amazed that such unusual beauty as the Flying Cowgirls possess, should be existant in the wearing of the jeans." The Flying Cowgirls were presented a Texas Ranger badge.

The same story goes for "Cowtown" Ft. Worth. The young cycle policemen to the city hall, where they were met by Mayor Bomb with his Citizenship Certificate. These Cowgirls' photographers again filled the air with flash bulbs, as they took all the news for the people of Fort Worth. The girls were then taken to Radio Station KFJZ, where they were interviewed by Radio Station Manager of Chuck Wagon Charlie on his regular program over the station. Then they were taken to the Skyliner Supper Club where they were feted with a banquet in honor of that exclusive spot. Following the banquet the girls were hurried to the studios of Radio Station WBAP, where they were introduced to the people of Fort Worth over the air by Tex Ritter, program originating from the Hotten Continuing a three minute broadcast, the girls bid the citizens of Fort Worth adieu and left for Dallas, where they were to them to be the guests of the Texas Centennial. On May 21st at the Stonepole. Leaving the Fort Worth airport, the girls were taken to the airport to depart for the State Capitol in Austin. Next week will find the Flying Cowgirls entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Perkins of Bandera at the Governor Mansion. Mr. Perkins, over All-American football player of the University of Texas, was served with Dr. Drain in the Texas Legislature, and Mrs. Perkins was attached to the staff of Governor Coke Stevenson. Governor Stevenson has indeed a treasured collection of pictures of the former Bandera Governor, Birmingham, Alabama.

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

In the 1890's there was published in Texas a humorous weekly newspaper, TEXAS SIFTINGS. It was edited by Alex Sweet and J. Armoy Knox, who were known throughout the state as "Sweet and Knox." Their office was in the upper story of the publishing building, over Shumard's drug store, on the corner of Congress Avenue and Pecan Street, in the city of Austin. Their office was also the office of publication of the paper.

THE COYOTE

The coyote is about two-thirds the size of a timber wolf. He looks like a second-hand wolf in reduced circumstances. He is always hungry, and he never gets enough to eat. He is a prowler, and a thief, and a coward. He has no conscience, and no principle. He is a sneak. He does to the eagle, or that a chicken thief does to a money-bank cashier. He has a perpetual appetite for something he can't get, or of something he has got. He is a thief, and a robber by nature, and he is never satisfied with anything he gets honestly. He is a natural-born coward, and he is always afraid that he will get caught at something. He is a thief, and a robber by nature, and he is never satisfied with anything he gets honestly. He is a natural-born coward, and he is always afraid that he will get caught at something.

THE MEDINA RIVER

OFFERS FREEDOM

August Zimmerman, Texas Game Warden, sends out the following letter from T. U. Rohr, of the State Game, Fish and Oyster Commission, which answers some questions asked by Mr. Zimmerman:

Mr. Zimmerman:

The writer recently made an inspection of the Medina River and found a large number of cabins above and below the town of Bandera and for the purpose of determining the rights of a fisherman along the banks. A recent decision by the Supreme Court holding that a riparian owner is the owner of the bed of the stream and the fish therein, and that the public has no right to fish in such waters, and to use the portion of the bank which belongs to the owner. My visit was to ascertain the boundary of the river and how far the riparian rights extend. The Medina River is navigable and open to the public over its entire reach until about a mile above Bandera, but the survey lines begin to cross the river.

To facilitate a study of the boundary and the rights of the fishermen, I asked our game warden, August Zimmerman, of Hondo to go on the ground and I am indebted to him for the following report. He says that a river boundary must include the knowledge of the pattern of a river which must be gone into carefully before the boundary can be established. The Medina River does not interest the average reader, but it does have a bearing on arguments in the future as to whether a fisherman may use a court and river data are here set forth.

The Medina river is unique. It is a beautiful river and I like it. The court decree defining the boundary of a public highway is based on the meander of most Texas streams, but the Medina River is not of that kind. The Medina differs from most Texas streams in that its banks bear flood deposits build up through the years, and are covered with heavy vegetation or trees. Medina River does not have definite banks; it runs from shore to shore. Where it is a shallow river there can not be a great deal of water, and where it is deep it does not overflow its banks or hardly any silt deposited so that it is generally the case in most rivers.

Under the related bottom that the court had in mind when it made the decree, there is not enough to overtop the adjacent land, and the water of the river-built upland bottoms along the portion of the river is not "the bed." The "subbank" is supposed to reach to the top of the lowest uplands and we found no satisfactory example of the upland which would fit the language of the court. The Medina River has a tight loot we tried to make it fit, but failed.

About the river generally there is a gradual rise of the terrain from the water's edge to the hills. Where the river cuts into the hills it certainly leaves the fisherman no room to walk, but where the river has a broad bottom, there is room enough for the fisherman to walk on the land, except where the land is cultivated. Looking Backward

From the Bandera New Era, 1923, published by J. M. Hunter:

Old Dame Nature, as old as she is, can't keep the snow away from the hills in her garb of green, and is still covered with the white mantle.

W. E. Schoenrock has been quite sick for several days down in the Medina Creek.

Mrs. Alvina Batts is attending the Grand Lodge of Texas, I. O. O. F., in San Antonio for a few days.

Last Friday Perry Poe, 501 Hackberry, killed a big wolf in the Medina River bottom. Mr. Poe first shot the wolf, merely creasing it with a bullet, and when it revived the animal was turned loose on the dogs and after a lively chase followed, resulting in the capture and annihilation.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stewart, on a Kerrville ranch, last Thursday, April 12, 1923 a daughter.

Austin Coffee, son of the local merchant, has purchased a new Ford roadster. The machine is equipped with a new speaker, and we would like to see it in his hands. Austin is a good driver and will not abuse the machine.

The High School will close on Friday, May 18, with appropriate commencement exercises. The graduating class consists of fourteen boys and girls as follows: Howard Eckhardt, Ruth Krause, Alvina Krause, Warren Hunter, Roscoe Hayes, Rose Mary Stevens, Lora Thalmann, Myra Jeanette Hunter, Aurelia Pyka, Mattie Lee Hunter, Ruby Malone, Ethridge Mabel Thalmann, Annie Glover.

Glover Hallsdale, Surveyor, has been hired to make a survey of the proposed work on fixing the bed of the Hondo Creek, between the town of Medina and the corner of the Medina Baptist church. The work is to be done under supervision of the State Highway Commission, and will cost $4,000 per mile. An appropriation of $12,000 will be made for it to be expended on the three miles.

J. E. Chisum returned Tuesday from business and pleasure trip to Long Beach, California. Mr. Chisum was delighted with his trip and says he met many old friends while on the beach, among them being Jeff A. Thompson, formerly a citizen of the National Canyon who is now engaged in the oil business at the Long Beach oil fields.

A big fish fry was enjoyed Sunday at the Medina Dam on Medina Lake yesterday, which was participated in by the following happy crowd: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Kruse, Mr. and Mrs. Marc Faris, Mr. and Mrs. H. Harwood, Mr. and Mrs. Bush and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Lee or Mrs. Ed Adolph, Sabolt, and Eddie Sabolt. The fish were caught and fried by the ladies of the party. Mr. Kruse's summer cottage afforded a place for all of the fish to be fried and eaten, and by the time it was discovered that there was still the rest of the fish were conspicuous by their absence, they had disappeared when dinner was served. However, it is said that Lee de Shield got a bone in his throat and had to be taken home in order to get it out. Every member of the party enjoyed the outing, and we do not reckon to go again when the next fish fry takes place.

A railroad line has been chartered to run from San Antonio to San Angelo, via Medina Lake, a distance of approximately 125 miles. The incorporators of the company are Paul Heinen, D. J. Lucas, W. L. Williams, and a number of others. Mr. Williams, president of the company states that the route as surveyed would go by Medina Lake, and that the line would run through Uvalde, Real, Bandera, Kerr, Edwards and Sutton counties.

"STRANGER IN THE NIGHT," LIBRARY AUDITORIUM TONIGHT

Bandera's big, fine new hotel is nearing completion. It is a beautiful structure, of the old Spanish type of architecture, and really opens the finer part of Bandera's tourist trade. Rooms and the associate plan is big because it will be operated on the hotel plan, with room for guests who want to eat there. It will be one of the outstanding features of the summer and delightful surroundings.

All of it, by the way. If we don't say this directly, we pay for it indirectly. Every time a Bandera man tells a visitor that he could find 1000 times better you pick up that visitor and carry him on the member. There are 728 ball players in the world. You can't put on a pair of overalls, 142 on a pair of pants, 1000 on a shirt, or 5000 on gasoline. The average American spends 1000 times as much of every dollar he earns for recreation as he does for religion, but he gets only 18 cents worth of religion for every dollar he spends. That represents hidden taxes. Now we're not going to tax you 18 cents of every dollar you earn to insure. Government takes care of that.

With the Great Stompede only six weeks away, some of the boys have begun to think about pulling their whiskers in order to be ready for the big day. Prizes for the longest whiskers is $25, ring contest, $10; and the Bandera Ranch Hand Band, which has gained quite a reputation, will be on hand. Parade will be the second feature. There's going to be a lot of bearded brigade as well as beautiful bathing girls at the Stompede, and now when Bandera men visit other cities they'll have to be careful how they stand or salute as walking, shaking hands, or even sitting down. Stompede is in full swing and everybody is getting ready for the big doings on May 21-22. Remember, Bandera Stompede is the real thing. Frank M. Montague is most at present, and Grandma Brandon, F. B. Reed could easily pass for a right husky whiskered man. Fred Fry looks like a typical Texas rancher. Charlie Facio bears a striking resemblance to a long buyer, but don't let that fool you any longer and H. E. Cornish is sporting a chin growth that will knock 'em dead. Even Judge Ed reaches his waist line. That but Stompede will prove to be a hair-raising event.

ASSESS NOW FOR HOMESTEAD EXEMPTIONS

Only two more weeks remain in which tax homeowners may be filed if homestead exemptions for 1948 are to be allowed. Those declarations for exemptions of homesteads in county and state homesteads must be made in person each year either by making in the assessment form signed or by coming to the tax assessor's office in the Bandera county court house. This applies in case property was acquired this year for a homestead or to case property which was previously owned and used for this need and is now claimed as a homestead, as well as to property which has been occupied in previous years and assessed as a homestead. If the assessment is made by April 30, state law says the first $3,000 or the first $3,000 valuation of a homestead is exempt. If the homestead exemptions are not claimed each year the law does not apply in December. This applies to all property owned by you now on property which they own, whether it be town or rural, according to the State tax assessor's office.

The Bulletin reads for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

SHEARING DEMONSTRATION SCHEDULED AT BANDERA

A shearing and wool tying demonstration to be held at the F. M. Montague ranch today (Friday), April 16th, according to information received from H. P. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent of Bandera county. A. R. Warner of Chicago, Illinois, and W. H. Nabet of the A & M College Extension Service will be in charge of the demonstration and especial emphasis will be placed on preparation of twelve months wool.

We have several reasons for putting on this demonstration at this particular time," Schlemmer said. "The present market on staple two wool is better and it has been in a long time and ranchers will find it highly profitable to do a good job of tying their wool and preparing it as it should be done. Furthermore, there will be more twelve months wool shorn this year than there has been in a long time. Comparatively few Australian wools is getting tougher each year and every attempt is being made by the Extension Service to assist ranchmen in doing a good job of preparation of their clips."

All members of the Bandera county Veterans' Vocation Agricultural training class will start shearing at 9:30 this morning. Local ranchmen are invited to attend the meeting after noon, which is slated at 1:30 p. m. Proper shearing methods, and care of shearing equipment will be demonstrated by Mr. Nabet, and Mr. Warner will demonstrate proper wool tying methods. Sheep shearing has begun in the Edgewood section and should be in full swing by May 1st, so the demonstration will be timed to be held at the beginning of the season. Hutchison is the host rancher and all ranchmen are invited and urged to attend the meeting.

POSTAL RECEIPTS ON INCREASE

A 10 per cent increase in the postal receipts for the Bandera postoffice is recorded for the first quarter of the same period with the quarter ending with March 31st, according to Postmaster Hubert Ruckser, and a 56 per cent increase over 1945.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO PLUG DUDE RANCHES

Dude ranches in the ranch and boys' and girls' camps within a 5 miles of Bandera will be featured by the chamber of commerce, Sam Caldwell, chairman of the news and publications committee announced Tuesday.

The committee, meeting in the chamber of commerce offices, adopted a program to widen the publicity coverage of the city.

Jack Stokes, publicity manager, reported that he and Bob Akin, conventions secretary, had attended a conference with managers of all of the 30 tourist and dude ranches in Bandera county.

He said: "They have raised $10,000 among themselves and are seeking an additional $15,000 for their May 21-22 Stompede. This is the most aggressive drive for summer trade that has been attempted."

Ernest Koss, manager of the St. Anthony hotel, recommended the Chamber should give publicity to Bandera "and all other county resorts."

E. C. Sullivan, chairman of the tourist committee, presented a program which will begin before the directors at their weekly meeting in the St. Anthony.

The board must approve the suggested production of a $10,000 sound-color motion picture of San Antonio to be shown throughout the nation to advertise the city.—San Antonio Light.

REDUCTIONS IN INCOME TAXES

...Americans ... income tax ... incomes is the federal ... taxes this year. The Republican-sponsored income tax reduction bill, enacted by congress in spite of a veto by President Truman, is retroactive to January 1, 1948. It reduces payments on 1948 income for all 52,000,000 taxpayers. It frees an estimated 7,400,000 those with low incomes from any tax at all. Dependents ... exemptions, which have never been changed ... years, are increased to $600. The special deduction allowed the blind is raised from $500 to $600. And persons more than 65 years old receive an additional $600 exemption. Other forms of relief provided by the bill include:

The percentage of tax applied to taxable income is reduced on a scale ranging from 12.6 per cent in the lowest bracket to 17 per cent in the top brackets.

Maximum standard deductions, for contributions, state, and local taxes, and the like, are increased from $500 to $1,000.

Estate and gift taxes are cut.

Although the general tax reduction dates back to January 1 of this year, withholding taxes will not be reduced until May 1. The January to May retroactive cut will be given to taxpayers in the form of refunds in January, 1949. The new tax rates are on this basis: Incomes of $2,000 or less after deductions and exemptions, 12.6 per cent; incomes between $2,000 and $106,700, 12.6 per cent on the first $2,000 and 7.4 per cent on the next; larger incomes, 12.6 per cent on the first $2,000, 7.4 per cent on the next $134,700 and 3 per cent on the balance.

Chased by Indians Through Bandera Pass

By J. Marvin Hunter

From that excellent book, "Our Indian Neighbors," published in 1883, we take the following account of an experience Colonel Dodge had with Indians in this section. Colonel Dodge, in 1845, was stationed at Fort Lincoln on near D'Hanis, and this experience took place when he was stationed at that frontier post. His narrative follows:

"A hazardous, second lieutenant of the army. I was stationed in Texas on the frontier, exposed to the wiles and machinations of the most treacherous, artful of all the United States Indians, the Comanches. We had not so easily bloodthirsty savages other tribes—prefer to surprise their silent stealthy and cunning, and making an expert horse-thief above the dashing warrior—the Comanches are at night the most dangerous of all. I was out with dog, gun and bridle, well in his element for sleeping men, whom one can surprise, is hopelessly lost forever. But woe betide the unfortunate Indian who ventures to attempts to interfere with his favorite sport. Such instances are ever ready. A shot or quick plunge of his knife, and the darkness he vanishes like a ghost leaving death behind him.

"For months after the establishment of the post, I was scarce a quadrupedian attempt, which I did not participate in. The sentinels soon learned their duty. Their lives depended upon it. Unaided and unattended by any other than my dog, I would scour the chaparral around and about the post, for days at a time. How often, which exposed in such a way, I would be fired into by every clump and cover, have I been compelled to put on great speed to escape a shower of arrows. The distance is a danger. Though I hunted faithfully many months, I had but few opportunities to fire a shot, which, under the circumstances, would be heard in camp on the headwaters of the Perdinales, promising not only an attack, chance of those "little birds" for which they had no special manner but also of quadrupeds turkeys). The offer was too tempting to be refused, returning to the post, I stated the case to the commanding officer, and obtained his permission to be absent.

"Two days after, mounted on a good horse, accompanied by one soldier, who led a pack-mule laden with our tents and supplies, I started with the Indians for their main camp. Arriving there I pitched my tent in a pretty clump of trees near the village, and for nearly a week had a most delightful time, hunting great quantities of small game. The Indians, as a rule, kept aloof from me, which I attributed to the difficulties of intercourse; our only means of communication being a mere smattering of very bad Indian on both sides. One day the chief came, to me, and told me that he had heard of some of his young men had "bad hearts" towards white men. Thanking him for his hospitality and warning, I was soon packed on my D'Hanis, and this experience took place when he was stationed at that frontier post. His narrative follows:

"Within two weeks after my return, information was brought to me that these very Indians had broken out, and were murdering settlers right and left. It afterwards transpired that the outbreak had been determined upon some time before, and the visit of the chief to the post was for the purpose of obtaining information as to the numbers and characters of troops that could be put into the field, and that my invitation to visit his camp was to ward off any suspicion of their intent until all arrangements had been completed.

"Not very long after this I had another experience differing much from all the others. I was returning to the post, and had reached the camp of my command, and as I never could overcome the ridicule that would attach to me were it known that I had a horse to sleeping men, whom one can surprise, is hopelessly lost forever. But woe betide the unfortunate Indian who ventures to attempts to interfere with his favorite sport. Such instances are ever ready. A shot or quick plunge of his knife, and the darkness he vanishes like a ghost leaving death behind him.

"For months after the establishment of the post, I was scarce a quadrupedian attempt, which I did not participate in. The sentinels soon learned their duty. Their lives depended upon it. Unaided and unattended by any other than my dog, I would scour the chaparral around and about the post, for days at a time. How often, which exposed in such a way, I would be fired into by every clump and cover, have I been compelled to put on great speed to escape a shower of arrows. The distance is a danger. Though I hunted faithfully many months, I had but few opportunities to fire a shot, which, under the circumstances, would be heard in camp

By J. Marvin Hunter

Frijin that excellent book, "Our Wild Indians," Colonel Dodge has given many deeds of daring, and hair-breadth escapes, but the one I like the best is the account of "an experience Colonel Dodge had with a party of Indians," section. Colonel Dodge, in 1849, was stationed at old Fort Lincoln near Frijin, and in the report of the book place when he was chasing the Indians farther west. His official letter follows:

A boundless scenic botanical for the past year, and the Texas at a little campground Texas Rangers, and the Texas and examinations of the quest Texas Rangers, and the Texas artist of all the United States Texas Rangers, and the Texas so coldly bloodthirsty as Texas Rangers, and the Texas selves upon their silent stealth Texas Rangers, and the Texas expert horse that above the dash Texas Rangers, and the Texas at night the most dangerous of all Indians. Trusting into camp Texas Rangers, and the Texas sorts at their harmlessly pass Texas Rangers, and the Texas blow of his knife might silence Texas Rangers, and the Texas fortunate who discovers him, or Texas Rangers, and the Texas favorite pastime. The weapons Texas Rangers, and the Texas plunge of his knife, and, in the Texas Rangers, and the Texas silence like a ghost, leaving death Texas Rangers, and the Texas Pass to their enemy retreats.

The [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas of the [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas was not made on our picket line Texas Rangers, and the Texas lessen, and taking themselves Texas Rangers, and the Texas from the [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas every unusual sight. On each Texas Rangers, and the Texas officer required the officer of the Texas Rangers, and the Texas to be present at the [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas dispose of as themselves, and Texas Rangers, and the Texas in the vicinity of the camp Texas Rangers, and the Texas [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas duty, thinking, and very Texas Rangers, and the Texas [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas from the fate of the Texas Rangers, and the Texas people, and sadly declined Texas Rangers, and the Texas more enterprising as part of the Texas Rangers, and the Texas the blacksmith—an excellent man Texas Rangers, and the Texas over a crawling Indian, was shot Texas Rangers, and the Texas [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas [illegible] Texas Rangers, and the Texas [illegible]

AGED MAN DIES FROM RATTLESNAKE BITE

There is a lonely grave on the bank of Myrtle Creek, about seven miles from Bandera, on the ranch of Quill Stevens. No, baker of no stone marks the spot underneath the mound. But it is said to be the last resting place of an old man, a Mexican, who died 70 years ago from the bite of a rattlesnake. He was a prospector who spent his time searching for gold. Climbing up a hillside one day he placed his hands on a ledge and was struck on the top of the hand by a rattlesnake. He returned to his camp and applied simple remedies, but without success, and died in great agony the next day. Another found him too late to be of much assistance, and he was buried near his camp by Andy Jones, and other ranchers of the community. His name has been forgotten. No one can remember the incident.

JIM NUGENT ANOUNCES FOR REPRESENTATIVE

Jim Nugent, a prominent University of Texas graduate and Navy veteran of Kerrville, announced his candidacy for congressman from the 21st district, subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. Nugent was born in San Angelo and attended the Schreiner Institute, in Kerrville for two years. He entered the University of Texas in 1942, volunteered for naval service in 1944, and was graduated this education in 1946 University at the end of the war in Europe.

This is my formal announcement to a candidate for State Representative from the 88th District, subject to the democratic primaries of next summer. I am a 25 year old veteran and native son of San Angelo and Kerrville all of my life with the exception of seven years spent in the Navy and at school. Though I have not previously served in the Texas Legislature I believe my experience and training have well fitted me for the job I am seeking. Twenty-two of these months were spent overseas and legislators were my own ages during the last seven years and having friends in the Legislature will allow me to better safeguard the interest of this district. Following are some of my basic beliefs and attitudes toward certain current issues:

"Since tax money is subtracted from what is available for living expenses and business expansion, I will lend my efforts to see that all state agencies practice economy in the use of your tax dollar. A sound state government in Texas on a business basis.

"I believe that Communism is a vile and atheistic foreign doctrine that aims at the overthrow of our free institutions and government. Reports of collusion and communistic teachings in some of our Texas colleges and higher learning have properly alarmed and aroused many of our citizens. I intend, expect, to work to eliminate from tax supported educational agencies all those who cannot subscribe to true and advocate such subversive ideas.

"Since ranchmen and farmers are the backbone of our state and nation their problems will receive my full attention if elected I intend to do all I can to see that this section receives plenty of all weather roads so that the ranchman and farmer can get market his livestock and produce, his children can get to school every day, and this will can shop in town whenever she chooses.

"Realizing that the future of our district and state depends to a large extent on the education given our children I pledge, if elected, on working for first class public schools, with the interest to those schools in every settled area. I will also explain that I think we should see that our teachers receive an adequate living wage.

"Veterans of this area may depend on me to take an active interest in legislation affecting their welfare and to assist them in any dealings with administrative agencies, particularly the American Legion, of which I am a member. I have kept in touch with the over all situation.

"The plight of the down-trodden old people of our district and state, with high prices, is a challenge to a state that is enjoying the greatest prosperity and highest income in history. If elected I will do what I can to see that these old people receive enough to enable them to live in decency and comfort for the rest of their years.

"With respect to the game laws in this section I am exceedingly interested in the deer and turkey problems and if elected, I will be glad to confer at all times with sportsmen and others interested in these matters.

"Finally if elected I will represent the wishes of the people of this district as I know them. Having grown up among you, we will never be very far apart. I will not be the tool of any special group or faction, but will represent the will of the majority. I seek only to serve you in Austin. Your interest and support will be greatly appreciated."

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

[Editor's Note: Following are excerpts from "Texas Siftings," published in Texas in 1881 by Alex E. Sweet and J. Armoy Knox, and known now as the "Father of Texas Humor." Sweet was a newspaperman and Knox was a lawyer. Both were from New York, and when the Texas Siftings ceased publication in 1884 they returned to the East.]

THAT TYPICAL TEXAN

The man, whose head was rude—probably ourselves—has been filled from infancy with hating an blood Southerner, who has invented that phrase. We have been hating ish "dead Yankee" ever since we were existed, and the Americans generally had been worshiping an idol. Indians who never existed, except in Fenimore Cooper's novels. We may add to the list of mythical personages an ideal Texan, who figures so largely in the Northern mind and other novels, but otherwise is as hard to find as Charley Ross. The typical Texan is a large-sized gentleman, a hairy kind of gorilla, who is supposed to reside on a horse. He is a half alligator, half human, who eats raw buffalo meat, and slays out on the prairie. He is expected to carry his six-shooters at his belt, as if he were afraid that the Rocky Mountains might crack. He also carries a large bowie-knife instead of a razor, and it is believed that a Texan is in the habit of using it to drink a mint julep. He is supposed to kick a can of tomatoes for a mule, and the typical Texan is supposed to be fond of mules. He has a habit of shooting all his friends, and can find no other amusement in time of peace. It is also the belief in the North that all Texans are typical Texans. We have often been mistaken for a Texan to be anything but a typical Texan. Now, we suppose, to knock this typical Texan, who is unknown in reality, particularly numerous in West Texas, right here in this pious way, we are required to prove a complete alibi for him. We will show that the typical Texan is as mild as a pecan lemonade. It will be remembered that stage robbing had been carried on for some time in Western Texas. There are only nine stage robbers in all in San Antonio now, and the Lord knows how many on the outside. Why let one time, the infuriated public became so accustomed to stage robbing that small coin was issues that they complained to the stage company if they came through unmolested. Being robbed twice a week became a fashionable habit. On one occasion the stage driver happened to stop his horses right in front of the jail where that sacred Thespian had in now being used for more than mileage and potatoes in, right in the heart of San Antonio, and the whole of the salaried police, in order to give a man on horseback a fight for his money, and the passengers tumbled out, yelled, ran, fell down, hiding in the tall grass, and called out for help.

The point is this: Nobody standing on the place was robbed so often when there were typical Texans in it as when there was only one of them visible the jail by Thorington's office. Nobody ever even said: Why, Colonel, you're a typical Texan. Nobody probably mistonates from the Testament where it required the murdered party who had been robbed of his purse to pull out his pants, and tender them also to the party in front of him, or he would be seen at once that good Christian people do not do such things. There is, however, a world of difference in the life in Missouri, where three crops of mortifies and bushwhackers are annually raised, and a bonus Jesse James and a few Younger brothers into a whole crop. There is also much solid comfort in Texas from the fact that in Arkansas where the Arkansaw traveler is born, he was no sooner born than he was a mortal duel with somebody. Nobody ever heard of a duel in Texas, except Governor Roberts, who fought one with a bowie-knife, and even then the stage robbers were not present to see it. Where an officer of the law comes across a man who wants to fight a duel, "Oh, wake up, William Penn," he says, "and don't be a fool." Then immediately drops his fists and goes along with him.

THE EMOTIONAL HORSE

The emotional horse is quite common, and can be found in every grade of society. He is not always a race horse, but any large, but, in an humorous sense, he is a horse. He is emotional. He is sensitive that—I tell you he's sensitive. He is high-strung, and he does it with ease; he has the finest feelings of any animal. He thoughts just coursed in his own mind, and he knows what they are. He is great. Trade horse. He will gravely tell you how good-natured he is, and he does it with ease; he has the finest feelings of any animal. He cannot conceive whether to laugh or cry when he hears you say so. He is great. He agitates always a little more than he appears to be his force. Yes, yes," he will exclaim, "I am well-bred, very good for a goat in his calibre," and then lower over his upper lip and looks up at you like refuge in a way that says he plainly he would recall, "Lord knows you, you should see how I could be true."

As egotist is, always selfish, and does a large business on a very small capital by borrowing, and by exhibiting an calm of genuine gough, what are only empty hopes. Some first class egotists only used two fingers when shaking hands, but the most exasperating characteristic in that, in conversation—if a crowded interview can be called conversation—he will say this or says no Need to what you say, and when he pauses and you straightening out for the start on your account, he interrupts you by repeating at the word he left off. You may continue your remarks, but that does not stop him. When he does get through a sentence he feels you can see that he is not paying attention to what you have been saying. While you were talking he was thinking of what he would say when you got through.

A wonderful thing about the egotist is that he never suspects that he is an egotist, and he will talk to you about the evidences of egotism in a mutual friend, and you can't expect an idiot to know good man should be so afflicted.

Some egotists are amusing, some exasperating, and some should be spread out at the bottom of a deep hole and have filtered iron piled on top of them.

If all the egotists in the world were shot at, very few of us would escape being at least winged by a spent ball.

FRONTIER BEAUTY SHOP

The Frontier Beauty Shop located in the Frontier Hotel has been leased by Mrs. Ruthella Kamerling and is now in business. It will be located at the west wing of the hotel in the patio and swimming pool. There are two entrances, one from the patio, and one from the Sycamore street entrance. Equipment and furnishings will combine to produce the last word in the modern beauty world, a blending of comfort, modernity, femininity and freshness. The shop's location on the patio suggests the decorative key-note, that of a garden-like quality in colors, textures and design. Two experienced operators of quality training will be ready to welcome patrons about May 15.

GAVE HIS LIFE FOR THE BANDERA STAMPEDE

The faithful old 28-year-old horse belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stewart of the Twin Elm ranch, was a very prominent feature in the Bandera parade in San Antonio Tuesday. He was brought from the Stewart ranch and fell and broke his leg, and had to be shot. The horse was Zeke's favorite animal, and the high esteem in which he was held in Bandera has elicited a 30-day period of mourning for the friend who gave his life for the Bandera stampede.

DEANKEY MEETING

Members of the Bandera St. Stanislaus Catholic church were entertained with the presence of members of the parishes of the Fredericksburg Deanery. Miss Tule Kirk, president of the Women's Deanery, was in charge of the session. Three guests were present. They were Rev. Truru, moderator, who gave a talk on the state and school organization of women; Miss Combs of Kerrville encouraged a Catholic organization to entertain the veterans in the Legion hospital; Miss Barclay, president of the archdiocese of Catholic women, gave a very interesting talk on the first retreat made by Christ upon to study the perfect dedication of the blessed Sacrament followed the meeting in church, after which refreshments were served in about 100 guests. Minutes present were Rev. Truru of San Antonio, Rev. Krausz of Boerne; Rev. Kemper of Kerrville, Monsignor Wolf and Rev. Coleman of Fredericksburg and Rev. School of Bandera.

O. A. Keese, of Menard, spent a few days with his brothers, W. R. Keese and S. A. Keese, of Medina and his sister, Mrs. W. A. Tobey, here in Bandera.

BULLDOGS PLAY UTOPIA

The Bandera Bulldogs went over the hill to Utopia last Friday night to play the Utopia team. Both teams played heads of ball, and the Bandera Bulldogs went on a wild streak. The Bandera pitching staff took care of the inning was over. Errors in the infield, outfield, on the part of the catcher, and wildness on the part of the pitcher caused the disaster. Lindner relieved Hall at the beginning and yield ed 2 runs and 3 hits in two innings. Off Hand in the last innings 3 hits, two walks, and one batter hit. Hand struck out seven men, but catcher missed two strike on four, and in each instance the men scored a run. All of them being in the last part of the third inning, when the melee of errors occured. The round marked the first half of the season with the Bulldogs winless, but with a credit of one game due to forfeiture on the part of Little those dates were filled with Castroville. Today they go to Natalia, next week, Tuesday and Friday, they play La Coste and Yancey respectively.

TRENKELBACH INFANT DIES

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 in the Medina cemetery for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Trenkelbach, who passed away in the Baptist Memorial hospital in San Antonio Tuesday. Harry Clyde, the infant, had reached the age of 1 month and twenty days at the time of his death. Rev. J. C. Campbell of the Medina Methodist church conducted the service for the little one, who had gone to rest. Besides the parents left to mourn his departure is one sister Janet. Mr. and Mrs. Trenkelbach have the sympathy of all who know them in their hour of sorrow.

ARE YOU A POTENTIAL KILLER?

We are supposing the name is Henry Smith, just for the purpose of this article, and that he lives in or near the town of Bandera and owns some livestock which he turns out of the pen at night to graze on the common. This Henry Smith's horses or cows or sheep, wanders about the streets and along the highway and are a menace to human life because speeding cars constantly have to turn aside to avoid them on the highways and an animal struck by one of these speeding automobiles not only gets killed itself, but some of the occupants in the car get killed, too. By turning your livestock out on the streets you become a potential derelict.

2,234 GAIN CAUGHT OUT OF MEDINA LAKE

Gene Worsley, Asst. Timberman informs us that since Medina lake has fallen to such a low level that the population has taken 2,234 gar and destroyed them. Several requests for this have been made, and Mr. Timberman informs the Bulletin the following letter:

Hondo, Texas, April 19, 1948
Editor Bandera Bulletin:

I have had several requests the last, few days from Bandera citizens to put some fish into Medina Lake into the river, near Bandera. The Game Department is not going to drain the lake or seine it. In fact, the lake has been, and will not, since the gates were cut off April 11th. The Department has not and will not set for the purpose of taking and stocking the lake. April 17th, 2,394 gar had been removed. This is the only fish that are caught in a gill cannot be released to the river because the chance of survival is slim and in the event the fish does live it may cause diseases from a foreign stock that may prove from injury. Three hundred and fifty thousand (350,000) bass from the Medina hatchery have been placed in the Medina distance from Medina City. In the event that the lake does not get sufficient water in it by September, several hundred thousand fingerling bass will be placed in the Medina river.

Yours very truly,
AUG TIMMERMAN
Game and Fish Warden

Shearing Demonstration

About 145 Bandera and Medina county ranchmen attended the shearing demonstration at the Stewart ranch on Friday, April 16th. Four Veterans Agriculture students attended the demonstration was put on by Ed Warner of the Sanderson Corporation, makers of the Stewart shearing equipment. Mr. Warner was assisted by Mr. Hunter of the same company. In his demonstration, Mr. Warner stressed the necessity of taking the fleece off the sheep in one piece, where the sheep was carrying twelve months wool, so that it could be properly tied and prepared for market. He demonstrated the Australian method of shearing and said each sheep was shorn as it was rolled and tied. Some of the fleeces were partially skirted, others were properly prepared by removing the sweat locks. Some of the sheep sheared took part in the demonstration and showed that they could also do a good job of shearing. Other visitors at the demonstration were R. S. Miller, district agent of the A. & M. College Extension Service, Bill Shumette of Radio Station WOAI, Mr. Lawrence of Swift, Roebuck & Co., and Mr. Herbster of San Antonio. After the demonstration the visitors were taken to lunch at the Bandera Hotel.

Attend Kerrville Meeting

Five Bandera County 4-H Club boys attended the district contestorial Kerrville on Thursday, April 15th. Four of the boys have not yet been published, but the Bandera men both the sheep judging team and the meat judging team. Victor's score on sheep judging was 540 out of a possible 600, and his score on meat judging was 540 out of a possible 600. All members who took part did a good job and we think they deserve credit for their work. Members of the sheep judging team were Victor Montague, Jimmy Hausch, Ernest Hillman. Those in the meat judging team were Victor Montague, Jimmy Hausch, Ernest Hillman. Those in the meat judging team were Victor Montague, Jimmy Hausch, Ernest Hillman. Those in the meat judging team were Victor Montague, Jimmy Hausch, Ernest Hillman.

Efficient Poultry House

Mrs. Ruth Mathews lives on the old Anderwald place on the Hondo road. Mrs. Mathews is very much interested in this poultry house has been built with efficiency in mind. It is equipped with ventilation. The floor is concrete, thus making it possible to ventilate the house thoroughly, or close it up completely on three sides. We have been watching as we go by on the road, and noticed on most days the ventilators are closed and on hot days they are open. Make the hens comfortable and they will lay. Too often a badly designed house is the cause of lack of sickness in poultry flocks. We have this farm on the list to be visited before any time soon.

Pecan Spraying, May 1st

On or about May 1st is the time to spray those pecan trees to kill the case bearer. If you have not already, they will be out of hibernation, if you wait until a week later the little worms will be in the pecans and the whole pecan will soon drop off. Lead arsenate is the rate of six pounds to 100 gallons of water should be used. To make a complete spray, add one pint of bicycline sulfate, two pounds of zinc sulfate, and three quarts of summer oil. The oil is to make the spray stick. Another formula that has given excellent results is as follows: three pounds of 50 per cent wettable DDT powder and six pounds of wettable sulfur to 100 gallons of water. This will be safer in pecan orchards where livestock is grazing.

Sales and Trades

Gus Evatn went over to Uvalde the other day and bought some mighty good registered Suffolk sheep from Louie McMains. Twenty-five grown sheep were involved in the trade and some lambs. O. B. Petty, whose ranch is up above Medina, bought 13 head of registered Suffolks from Donald Goss, 4-H member from Medina. He turned four head over to Scott Petty, his son, for a 4-H demonstration. In the same trade, Steve Hudgins, 4-H member, got five head.

Joe Morris of San Antonio has bought the Waller ranch, which is known as the Charlie Eckhart place, of about 1,200 acres. To some this is known as the Flanagan ranch, as it was purchased from Mr. Eckhart by Mr. Flanagan, who built extensive improvements on the place, including a large rock house and tile barn.

O. & H. Enterprises of Bandera is delivering two cars of superphosphate to folks in Bandera county this week. About 15 tons were sent to A. Pfeffer and distributed by airplane five tons to W. E. Tedford, five to F. B. Deane, ten tons to C. D. McCollister at Utopia, 10 tons to Frank Jones, 17 tons to Mr. Thrasher, 10 tons to Tom Bounds and three tons to the Gilliam ranch, all at Utopia. Most of this fertilizer will be used on pasture land.

Dam Building

Folks over around Vanderpool had quite a scare the other day. One of the creeks dried up completely—something that had never happened before. Joe Leighton went up the creek to investigate and found Paul Dobbin building a big dam for W. F. Stalzer, right across a running creek. The pond will be spring fed and is already more than ten feet deep and gaining at the rate of more than two inches a day.

E. Lindner has completed a dam on the White ranch, which is known as the Homer Stevens place. They have dammed up the gully that comes out of McHugo's and Lost Valley. Took more than 3,000 yards of dirt.

Here and There

Ida Fay Porter, 4-H member from Utopia, has a good start toward again winning the championship in the beef calf class at the Uvalde junior show. Ida Fay has a lady calf on feed that she bought and one of the baby calves ever started on feed in this country. The calf came from the T. J. Lee ranch at Bandera. It was a Hereford Shorthorn cross. Chacolata cattle at the H. Langford ranch. The other day — and they really have some good ones. Tex Anderson is moving into a house on the Circle R Ranch owned by the A Bar A Ranch and is building a big garage for several families. Say they don't make much fruit there is, but Charlie Clark certainly really looks good from the road — all plowed out and ready to plant. Melvin Fitzgerald has rigged up a water tank on a trailer and is using it to water his garden — and he's got a good garden, too. I think maybe other folks will be wanting to have their water delivered to them. Mrs. Fitzgerald has the other night was good to Kerr county, but as far as we can find out, not a drop fell in Bandera county. Looks also as if it will rain right on the county line. We heard that it rained right up to the fence on Les Short's place on the divide.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

Little Christa Gail Walker celebrated her fourth birthday with a party last Thursday, April 15, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Walker. Various games were played by the little folks present, and all of the tots were interested in taking their turns riding down a play ground slide. The birthday cake with four tiers candles was decorated with pink, blue and yellow sweetpeas, and served with ice cream. FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

After about three months the controversy about Bandera's football district for next year has been settled. We are in district 28 B and our district is composed of Bandera, Brackettville, Dilley, Cotulla, La Coste, San Felipe, and Somerset. We are divided into two sets. East and West. East Zone is composed of Bandera, La Coste, Dilley, Somerset. West Zone Brackettville, Dilley, San Felipe, and Cotulla. The winners of each zone will contest for district championship. Bandera's schedule: Sept. 17, Hot Wells at Bandera; Oct. 1, Cotulla at Bandera; Oct. 8, Boerne at Bandera; Oct. 15, La Coste at La Coste; Oct. 22, Somerset at Bandera; Oct. 29, Dilley at Bandera; Nov. 5, Open date; Nov. 12, Schertz-Cibolo at Bandera; Nov. 19, San Marcos at Bandera. All our district left open for next year's schedule being the district winner. Interscholastic League rules prevent a team entering no more than 10 games before their regular season ends, unless 20 going further in Interscholastic League competition games are forbidden after Thanksgiving. Wanted, some firm to take this schedule, and make about three thousand pocketbook size schedules.

A LETTER TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC

In answer to the numerous inquiries and to repeat-ed requests, Mr. and Mrs. Langford have decided to reopen my radio shop in Bandera.

For the immediate present I will be open for business in the building with the Bicycle Sales and Repair Shop, operated by Messrs. Joe Harvey and Joe Goodenough in the new location directly across from the Delightful Hill flower shop. I have all the latest equipment and parts having just returned from the factory and am now in a position to repair radios, electrical appliances and bicycles. A good stock of parts for most radios are on hand, or if you prefer we can completely rebuild your old ones.

We plan to build custom-built radios for your new ranch home, and will have one on display in the near future.

To my old customers I need no introduction, and to them I am as always grateful for their loyalty and patronage in the past. To those of you whom I have not had the pleasure of serving yet, I hope I may become better acquainted and that you will become a satisfied customer. I have serviced the radios and electrical appliances of the good people of Bandera since 1936 and for many years, and the best recommendation as to my ability in their request that I re-open my shop. The next time you want radio or electric appliance repairs, may I be of service to you?

Homer Does Some "Back-Seat Sewing!"

Homer Bentley's chinless was getting on her nerves while machine, when Homer comes in, drawn up a chair, and starts talking: "Don't you think you're running too fast?" he says. "Slow down! Watch out! Be careful!"

When the pieces finally turn out lumpy and wrinkled, Homer says good-naturedly: "I thought you might like a little help, dear—like you help me drive the car."

The misses can't help but burst out laughing—and they settle what might have been a quarrel over a friendly glass of beer. The minute Homer starts to give up the next darning and nagging Homer about ashes on the rug. Homer agrees to quit criticizing Sarah's table for flowery hats and parsley salad.

From where I sit, the key to getting to agreement is to stop every issue half way—and overlooking any petty differences in tastes—whether these tastes apply to beer or flowery-looking hats!

FLOODS IN THE MEDINA RIVER

In 1870 a great flood swept the Medina Valley. Heavy rains rushed the Medina river and its tributaries to get out of banks, the angry waters carrying away livestock, crops and small cabins. At Bandera homes in the lowlands were washed away, among those being the store of J. P. Heinen Sr., which was located just under the hill near the present wool warehouse. In 1900 a still greater flood was witnessed, much damage being done around Medina City. This was on August 3, 1900. Other floods have occurred in recent years, but none so disastrous as that of 1900. In 1901 much damage was done to growing crops by a flood, and in September, 1920 the river got on a rampage, and at Bandera the water was several feet in the Ardrey cottage and in the old Hudspeth homestead.

Comfort Outlasts Bandera, 8 to 4

Comfort scored in the first and three earned runs in the first two innings, the Comfort Bears took the lead that the fighting Bandera lads were never able to overcome, and the Bears went down to defeat by the score of 8 to 4. Bandera's scoring was started in the box for the Hatch Bandits when Chas. Eckhart drew very keen and lacadaisical support from the Comfort batsmen, coupled with wildness on his own part. Perhaps some of the lack of spirit was due to the absence of manager Shorty at the helm, but he was later informed that when game time neared around, Charlie asked the manager of the Comfort team for permission to use the telephone post near Comfort, which was granted, and he used the second inning and relieved Brainy and put out the fire that was threatening to burn the game under control. Comfort's first run came coming in the 8th being unearned.

Bandera's rally was the first flame of baseball that young Bandera baseball fans saw and he went down to defeat in the 4th inning, and it is predicted that he will find himself before the season is very much older and that Charlie will be back for the Ranch Hands. He is expected to join the local fielding line cores ball, and as soon as he does Bandera will be due to do to beat.

Bandera started the game in the box for Comfort and pitched fine ball, but was relieved by some of the most spectacular fielding ever seen on the local diamond, when Bandera's mates in the Bandera boys were turned back by Comfort fielders and the Comfort team, which did not have a single error to their credit, the entire game whereas the Bandera boys had five errors and all but one had a bearing on the final score.

Next Sunday the Ranch Hands will meet the Bandera Bears of San Antonio at Cowboy Park and endeavor to get back into the winning column.

ST. JOSEPH'S SCHOOL PRESENTS PROGRAM

"Splendid, but all too short," was the general opinion of the large group that filled St. Joseph's School auditorium after a two-hour entertainment on last Monday evening. The auditorium was filled to capacity, and an atmosphere of culture was felt by all present. The performers, from the first to the last of the grades, did their parts delightfully, and each one was a real entertainment. The primary grades, whole-heartedly entered into the spirit of their wonderful dialogues, surely gladdened the heart of every parent in the large audience. The mischief-loving characters in the dialogues drew many hearty laughs. "That was the best entertainment for an adult world," could be heard from many of the parents present. The girls, in their endeavor to contrast the good and the great (Saint Stanley Mahon Dudley), in all her dignity, Barbara Ann Hall, portraying the fair Constance, who outwitted the British officer, displayed talent in their roles both as living members and inanimate objects. The dialogue of Dudley family, Sir Rustace Graffenried, his Niece Constance, and Howland gained everyone's sympathy and admiration. Howland Winthrop and the lewd Elizabeth Ann Bayley, portrayed by one of the groups of little dancers added much to the charm of the evening. Much credit, too, could be given to the pianists who so faithfully furnished the music of the program. A great hope and belief in a successful future for Bandera!

The sisters wish to thank the kind patrons who, by their presence and generosity, helped on the occasion; and also to those who by their gifts furnished prizes for the auditorium; and last, but not least, to the parents of the children who helped to make the program such a success.

TOPSOIL WASHED INTO WATER LAKES

If Millions of tons of rich topsoil are washed off of the cultivated ranch fields—from the watershed of the Medina River—annually, available from the test of Medina Lake and similar ones are taken to prevent damage to the land for use by future generations, the Soil Conservation Service, Bandera County, has been told.

W. W. Hurd, in charge of the Conservation service field, at work here, told the Bulletin that it will be in charge of work for the U. S. C. S. for the Medina area.

Emptying of waters from Medina Lake into other lakes is necessary to be made, disclosing that the rich soil washed down from thousands of acres of land has been deposited in the form of the mineral-dry lake. This silt, Hurd explained, has been used to fertilize the crops of Medina does now completed.

Farming is already being done in the 50 years since the dam was completed, and the results several generations to refurbish the land that has been washed away.

"It has been in the landowners' favor that most of this silt has come from pasture lands," Hurd asserted. "Had a large percentage of the silt-laden been in tillable land, the

A check answer time between deposits in the bottom of the lake, may be gained every two or three days to several feet. It is believed by the head of the lake, where waters from the watershed first enter the lake, deposits are thought to be much heavier.

Under normal conditions, when the lake is full, Hurd explained, the length is about 10 miles and the width ranges from a few hundred yards to two and three miles. Considerable silting over and the damage has been done to land on the watershed.

Soil conservation practices are much needed, Hurd said, to check this erosion to a halt. Hurd said, "If proper measures in getting a grass covering on the ground. Cedar and other trees should be eradicated if necessary to accomplish this. Overgrazing which will destroy grasses an opportunity to get established. This is highly necessary. Furrows should be carried on the contour land and check dams on feeder streams to prevent gullying of extreme water. Deferred grazing should be practiced during fall months when grasses reach seed stage.

"If a program is conducted as it should be," Hurd declared, "when rains do come enough of the water will get into the lake to fill it without taking topsoil with it.

LET'S MAKE TEXAS' SETBOARDS

[illegible] Old-timers [illegible] mounted is urging a park which will pay the name of every town in Texas on at least one road sign.

As you may know, the subject of our marking is gaining prominence here in many of the states. Need for these air markers is being given more attention by the public. As a recent proclamation issued by Governor Jester [illegible] attention to the need of air safety experts that air markers would virtually eliminate all air accidents attributable to pilots becoming lost.

Although many counties have plans are being presented to signpaint the country's airport, the State Commission feels that the cost of some of these is prohibitive to smaller communities. It is to those towns and communities who have not received that assisting the air marking movement because they believe the some reason, they can't conform that the information is directed to.

Actually, the air marker is one of the simplest and best of preserve aids to air navigation. There are no absolute rules about how an air marker shall be painted, except we shall be responsible for the installation or even where it shall be painted, but the most pressing need at present is to get the name of your town displayed where it will be discernible from the air. To that pilot such a display sign is invaluable in helping to locate his position. It may even be responsible for saving his life.

A fully standard CAA marker—with name of town, symbol giving distance and direction to nearest airport, true North arrow, and letters and background of contrasting color—is desirable, if your town can install it for a complete job, but getting at least your name displayed is important.

We suggest, in order to get your town going, that a small committee to undertake air marking be set up to study the marking. The following resources may be of help to you:

1. Get some community enthusiasm to undertake the project. 2. Number of volunteers. Local Club, Jaycees, Commerce, Rotary or other civic group for help. 3. Local organization to take over the program in your town. 4. There will be their responsibility to secure the building and obtain the materials. It takes only about one gallon of paint to cover approximately 400 square feet of marker area on a hard surface. 5. The sponsoring group, in addition, if the members don't wish to obtain their own paint, can usually enlist the aid of the local Boy Scouts, 4-H boys or members of high school clubs to paint the marker.

For information on how to lay out the marker, type of paint most suitable and other suggestions applicable to your specific location, send a letter or postal to Texas Aeronautics Commission, Austin, Texas. We will see that complete data is furnished you.

We appreciated a nice visit Tuesday from John A. Puriech of Dove Creek. Mr. Puriech is reasoning over the nice rains which fell on his place the past week. He says he received nearly four inches in all.

PROPRIETIES FREED FOR SALE IN ELECTRIC SYSTEMS

After the Bandera Electric Co-operative has completed purchase of properties of the Texas Power & Light Co. in Medina county from the San Antonio Loan & Trust Co., trustee for utilities and organizations in the area involved had been released from the lien of a mortgage to secure $6,000,000 in bonds issued by the Houston Lighting & Power Co. to the San Antonio Savings Bank of Chicago to release the properties.

The Judge's ruling terminated a suit filed here March 31 by trustees of the system to construe certain provisions of a trust indenture, dated Aug. 1, 1942, between the bond and the Chicago bank.

The bank had agreed to sell the properties for $680,304.62, but the bank had refused to agree, contending that a two-year time limit for disposition of the properties set up in the trust indenture, had expired.

The board argued that the two-year limit failed to apply because the properties were held up by litigation which was finally resolved in April, 1947.

In his ruling, Judge Finch decreed that the board of trustees is authorized to sell and dispose of property owned by the trust indenture in accordance with the contracts and consents described in their petition.

Properties scheduled for sale, and purchasers, are: to the Bandera Electric Co-operative, Inc., properties in Kendall and Bandera counties for $78,845.98 to the Guadalupe Valley Electric Co-operative, Inc., properties in Guadalupe, Caldwell, and Wilson counties, $477,402.60; to the Medina Electric Co-operative, Inc., properties in Medina and Uvalde counties, $91,261.53; to the City of Castroville, properties in Medina county for $19,727.74; to the City of Floresville, properties in Wilson county for $7,561.65, and to the City of Hondo, properties in Medina county for $3,133.33, plus all materials and supplies used in the cases of contract.—San Antonio Light.

SENIORS ENJOY DANCE

Highlighting the activities of the Bandera High School Senior Class was the Senior dance given on Tuesday night at the Arnold-son Legion Memorial hall by the junior class members. The Interscholastic Institute Orchestra played for the occasion. The hall was beautifully decorated with blue and white larkspurs. The refreshment table was laid with a white cloth with a panel of silver across the center. The table was centered with a large punch bowl. Two silver baskets of blue daisies and crystal candle holders trimmed with silver and silver candles were on each side of the punch bowl. A lovely cake decorated with blue flowers and the word Seniors written on it was the cake.

Elder and Mrs. Z. Z. Renfro of San Antonio, will conduct a revival meeting here the next few days, planning arrangements for the holding of the Latter Day Saints' reunion, which is to be held here in June.

The Bulletin's circulation does not stop at San Marcos or any other near by place, as is evidenced by a letter received by Charley Chipman a few days ago from a gentleman in New York, who said he had seen Charley's ad in the Bulletin and as a result he requested three order blanks for one of Charley's merchandise. Sam's Hens Wear Spectacles!

Yes, it's a fact! Sam's brood of two dozen hens are wearing spectacles—which he bought from a mail-order house in Capital City.

Sam says it works (and big poultry raisers say so, too). The hens see each other through soft colored glasses, and instead of fighting and picking at each other, they go around placidly, gain weight, and lay more eggs.

Makes me almost wish we could have rose-colored glasses for human beings, too. So that instead of quarreling and criticizing, like we do so much of the time, we'd live and let live in contentment.

From where I sit I see a lot of folks wrangling over minor issues ... whether a man should drink beer or cider ... whether a woman should wear slacks or skirts ... instead of seeing each other through "spectacles" of tolerance that, enable us to live-and-let-live like Sam's brood of chickens.

HIGH CONSTIBULE ZEKE GETS RECOGNITION IN WASHINGTON

Zeke, High Constibule of the Free State of Bandera, has received the first communique from his official ambassador to Washington, Senator Tom Connally. The Senator's letter reads as follows:

ZEKE
Care Frank M Montague
The First National Bank
Bandera, Texas

Dear Zeke:—This will acknowledge your letter of September 15 to which I have not been able to make an earlier reply because of a very painful and annoying attack of shingles which has confined me to my home for about three weeks. Herewith I am handing you a copy of letter which I have written to my dear friend, Frank Montague, about the invitation extended to me by you and him.

I have noted your letters to the President and also of the visit that you placed the matter before him in the strongest possible light. There is so much of importance pending in Washington that I feel that the President will find it difficult to leave here in the immediate future.

The cowboy is a picturesque and heroic figure. I am always glad to do him honor. I think it particularly appropriate that Bandera which is so typical of the ranch country, should set aside this occasion to honor and commemorate the achievements of the cowboy. He was a real pioneer and a gallant soldier in the conquest and settlement of our magnificent territories.

Last Sunday, Mr. J. H. Lapham of Sanderf called on me and awarded me a handsome leather medal certifying my appointment as Good Will Ambassador for Bandera. I accepted the responsibility with a sense of appreciation and shall be glad to do all that I possibly can to promote the interests of your celebration. With personal thanks for your agency in this matter, and with all good wishes, I am,

Sincerely,
Signed) TOM CONNALLY

Members of his responsibility to his fellow cowmen Zeke is personally seeing to it that preparations be made for the event to be held in Bandera May 21-22 are completed in a fail sped and that all loyal cowboys and cowgirls at large will be assured of a full time when they get to Bandera.

Ranch Hands Win Sunday's Game

Wins Ranch Hands 5 to 4 hit ball, the Ranch Handr overcame an early attack of the jitters and bunged out twelve solid blows to score 10 runs and defeat the visiting Lost Hills club 10 to 4.

The game started out very raggedly with both teams gunning for errors in the first few innings which allowed 7 unearned runs to cross the plate, three for the V. F. W. Post and four for the locals. The visitors scored their only earned run in the 5th, which deadlocked the game at 4 to 4. In the 7th and 8th frames the Ranch Hands found their batting eyes and knocked out seven hits to push across 6 tallies. Click and Strickhausen each banged out two hits, Click driving in three runs during the pushing two across the counting column.

Bradley starting his second game for Bandera seemed to grow stronger with every inning pitched holding the opposition to one hit after the first inning. He fanned 9 striking out fourteen men in all. Four of the strikeout victims walked to the bench in order to allow the plate while holding their bats in the customary manner.

We wish to take this opportunity to comment on the fine sportsmanship of the crowd present last Sunday. They accepted the umpiring decisions in school question and played the game for the very best American tradition. We will welcome you back to Bandera at any time that they look for another game.

Next Sunday the Ranch Hands will take on the strong Hunsucker nine from Lost Hills, manager Charlie Sachs, fully recovered from the Comfort game will probably take the mound for the locals.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT APPROVED

The formation of a soil conservation district in Precincts 1, 2, and 3 of Bandera county has been approved, according to a letter received from A. L. Liles of the board by Frank Montague of Bandera. The letter said in part: "The results of the election held among your proposed soil conservation district indicate that more than two-thirds of those voting were for the creation of the district. Acknowledging the expressed wishes of the land owners of your district, the State Soil Conservation Board has passed an order that there is need for the creation of a district in this particular area, and that since the majority expressed in the votes meets the requirements of the law, the action has the full approval of the board."

According to a tabulation made by H. F. Schlemmer, County Agricultural agent of Bandera county, the vote was 113 for and 2 against.

A proposed division of the district into five subdivisions is now being made up by the supervisors named and will be forwarded to the State Board. It is proposed that these divisions be as follows:

No. 1—Bandera, Myrtle Creek, Medina Creek, Indian Creek and the Lone Star school district area.

No. 2—Pipe Creek, Elm Creek and Privilege Creek areas.

No. 3—Flat Creek, Verde, Middle Verde and Tarpley areas.

CAPTURES THE VALLEY

The three Flying Cowgirls horsified with the charming personalities of Bandera, were retrieved and returned safely to the fair ambassadors of the Bandera Stompede on their trip to, the at Corpus Christi they were greeted by a representative of the Chamber of Commerce, the mayor, radio station officials, a large group of Corpus Christi enthusiasts. Immediately after broadcasting over Station KRIS they were driven to the Hotel Morocco Room, of the beautiful Driftwood Hotel, where, as escort, since screaming they were escorted through the down town section of Corpus Christi. A large department store set up there window throughout the show makes where Zeke's ambassadors inviting the populace and employees to come to Bandera for the big Stompede. After the broadcast they were guests of the Mayor and Doc Mason at the Dragon Grill, where they again made a broadcast over the local radio station. Then on to Brownsville, where they were taken on a tour of the city, where they extended a cordial invitation to the people of Brownsville, to come to the Stompede. After several more broadcasts, ending the beauties of the Valley's hills to Valley residents they were flown, with an escort of the nearby city of Harlingen, where they were royally received by the mayor and all the public officials. On the 6th leg of the journey they flew to Alpine, and broadcasting the advantages of coming to Bandera for the Stompede. Approximately 4000 people in the Valley were taken care to the broadcasts and many donations collected in that section. The Valley, like ourselves, is highly excited over and was most cooperative during the entire journey. Next week they will be guests of the mayor and all the public officials of the 6th leg of the journey they flew to Alpine, and broadcasting the advantages of coming to Bandera for the Stompede. Approximately 4000 people in the Valley were taken care to the broadcasts and many donations collected in that section. The Valley, like ourselves, is highly excited over and was most cooperative during the entire journey. Next week they will be guests of the Brahma Pep Squad. These medals will be awarded and will be placed in the windows of the Corner Drug Store. Both the girls made in the races and the two squad performed very creditably and Bandera is justly proud of them.

CORRECTION

The Bandera Bulletin would like to make the following corrections to a story which was in last week announcing the program for the Bandera Stompede. The shooting exhibit which was announced as being held at Mansfield Park is to be held at the Bandera Ball Park, and there is no dance being sponsored by the Bandera Tourist Association, as was stated in the story. All dances are being held by private enterprise and will be held at one of the usual places. These errors were unintentional and the Bandera Bulletin regrets their occurrence. The Bulletin further requests that all here and girls from the ages of 6 to 17 years please endeavor to capture an armadillo to enter in the armadillo race to be held during the Stompede on Saturday morning, May 22, at 10 a. m. Several cash prizes will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Doc Chapman had as their guests last week Miss Maggie and Miss Roland Buitter of the Almonte and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Fowler.

FARM AGENT DENIES CHARGE

"Good cultural practices are the rule rather than the exception" and, as a result, Bandera county soil is not contributing to any siltation of Medina Lake, according to H. F. Schlemmer, Bandera county agricultural agent. Upper reaches of the Medina river watershed lie in Bandera county and a part of Medina Lake is situated in the southeastern corner of the county, Schlemmer minimizes silting of the lake as being a problem, commenting that "Medina Lake was started in 1911 and the lake has been there for at least 36 years. The amount of silt in the lake bed seems to most of us to be relatively small, considering the length of time the lake has been there."

He attributes the vast amount of soil conservation work which has been done in Bandera county to being the road map as to why the county's topsoil has not been washed into the lake.

"It is our idea," he comments, "that the small amount of silt in the lake is due to the fact that only about 6 per cent of this county is cultivated and good cultural practices are the rule rather than the exception. The county contains about 550,000 acres, with about 30,000 acres in cultivation. Most of the cultivated land is planted in crops each year and, as a result, generally has a good cover crop during the rainy season. A majority of the fields in the county have a diversion ditch around the upper side that keeps the soluble water from washing the field away—and there simply isn't too much erosion from fields. As a recent statement, William W. Byrd, work unit conservationist for the Alamo Soil Conservation District, pointed out that land owners in the Medina river watershed would be thankful that most of their land was in pastures, else erosion would have been much greater. The most critical time is in September, when the land has been plowed in preparation for fall planting of oats. We occasionally get a heavy rain in September and plow a lot of cleanup, but, this happens only about once every 10 years."

Schlemmer points out that some Bandera county ranchmen began practicing soil conservation and taking steps to prevent erosion so far back as 30 years ago. He cites that one place in the county where perhaps more such work has been done than on any other land is the Fred Thalmann ranch, six miles west of Bandera, on the Medina river. Thalmann began terracing his 200 acres of cultivated land in 1918. He built one and one-half miles of terraces at that time. In 1925 he built more terraces and in 1938 the last of the needed terraces were completed. He also built several dams on the place. One of these dams forms a lake which covers about 15 acres and has furnished a good water supply for livestock, game and fish. It also has furnished water for neighbors downstream in what was once a dry gully.

In addition to the soil-saving structures, Schlemmer states Thalmann has cleared all the cedar off the place and is now clearing much of the oak. This, more than anything else, has made the place more productive because it has helped the grass to grow. We think a lot more of grass crops up here than our field crops and we think that acre-to-acre, a good cedar-free pasture will produce two or more times as much beef as a cedar-infested one or more than doubles the growth of grass."

Other places on which the owners have more or less progressed in soil saving and where terraces have worked well are listed by Schlemmer as the Hudson place on Hwy. 16, near Bandera, the Ratcliffe ranch on Julian Creek, the Montague ranch on the Ridgeroute near Bandera, and the Reisser place on the river South of Bandera.—H. G Jordan in San Antonio Express.

H. D. COUNCIL MEETING

The Bandera County Home Demonstration Council held its regular meeting Saturday, April 24 at 2 o'clock p. m. in the agent's office. Seven clubs were represented with fourteen members and the agent present. Those in attendance were Mrs. H. L. Bruce, Mrs. R. T. Huebner, Mrs. A. Kotzer, Mrs. J. H. MacNaughton, Mrs. E. A. Johnson, Mrs. Charlie Stein, Mrs. Gus Evans, Mrs. A. Hayes, Mrs. Guy Stroup, Mrs. Benno Pankratz, Mrs. Paul Garrison, Mrs. Jim Edwards, Mrs. John Stone, Mrs. G. M. Merritt, and the agent, Miss Hoge. There was further discussion of the concession to be held during the Stompede. Suggested time that each club would work was given by the chairman. A report on the Reporters Training School, which was held in Kerrville was turned in by Mrs. G. M. Merritt.

A number of the ladies signed up for the Reading certificates since they had qualified for them by reading three of the books on the Texas Home Demonstration Association reading list. All club members who have read books are urged to keep a list of them and turn them in to your own club president so that you may get the certificate.

All library books, which were ordered by the Council, should be turned in to the agent's office by May 12th, so that they can be returned to the State Library by the date due.

There will be a called Council meeting at 2:30 p. m. May 17, in the agent's office. Every member is urged to attend.

Mrs. E. A. Johnson, recreation chairman, sponsored a very interesting and educational game.

Look who gets squeezed!

Union leaders representing less than one-tenth of railroad employes reject recommendations of President's Emergency board—refuse to negotiate except on their own terms—threaten to paralyze nation by strike!

THE LEADERS of three railroad unions, representing less than one-tenth of all railroad employees, have called a railroad strike that would paralyze the nation.

These leaders refuse to accept a 15½ cents an hour wage increase retroactive to November 1, 1947. This increase was recommended by an impartial Emergency Board appointed by President Truman.

This increase of 15½ cents already has been accepted by the 19 other railroad unions. But the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, and the Switchmen's Union of North America won't accept what more than 90% of all railroad employes have accepted. They have called a strike to get more!

Unions refuse rules discussion

Certain rules changes demanded by these union leaders—which would increase wages still further—were recommended by the Board. But the union leaders want nevertheless that the railroads put into effect ALL the changes they asked for, including those the Board felt should be denied.

On top of this, they insist that certain rules changes proposed by the railroads be withdrawn—in spite of the fact that the Board recommended them! These union leaders have refused to negotiate except upon these arbitrary terms.

Greater wage increase not justified

Engineers and firemen are among the highest paid of all employes in America, as figures in the box show. This strike threat doesn't justify giving a greater increase than other railroad workers received.

Emergency Boards are a means provided by the Railway Labor Act in the public interest to avoid strikes. The President's Board, after hearing evidence for 33 days, made recommendations based on all the facts in the case. The railroads have accepted these recommendations.

Who's to blame?

Although they deplored so large an extra cost burden, the railroads accepted the report of the Board because they felt it was in the public interest to uphold the spirit and intent of the Railway Labor Act.

In contrast, the small group of railroad union leaders are attempting to flout the intent and spirit of the Railway Labor Act, and dictate their own terms.

They have dictated a paralyzing railroad strike.

You will be the victim!

How long will the American public stand for the obstreperous, arbitrary, and abusive use of the right to strike and the disregard of the obligation to provide transportation? How long can the American people permit a few dictatorial union leaders to defy the processes provided for peaceful settlement of disputes?

Force seldom produces settlements that are either fair or lasting. Moreover, a point is often reached when personal interests must be held subordinate to the greater public welfare. That is why the railroads have accepted the Emergency Board recommendations. That is also why the leaders of these three unions should reconsider their decision to call a paralyzing strike.

Compare these wages with what you make!

Here is a comparison of average annual earnings of engineers and firemen for 1939 (pre-war) and 1941. Also shown is what 1941 earnings would have been if the 15½ cents per hour increase, offered by the railroads and rejected by the union leaders, had been in effect throughout the year—the wage-peak year of 1945.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"What's Your Opinion, Mister?"

Sometimes folks from one of those public opinion polls march into Andy's Garden Tavern, quarrying Andy's pitcher on everything from that "new look" to the next election.

And it occurred to me that there's nothing more typically American than collecting other folks' opinions, as well as giving out with one's own. And from where I sit, it's a mighty healthy habit.

So long as people can discuss both sides of a question that comes up—whether it concerns short skirts versus long, beer compared with cider, or the larger issues of world versus world—we're sure of the traditional liberties that make this country great.

For it isn't differences of opinion that matter. The important thing is tolerance for differences of opinion—whether they affect the right of an individual to vote, to speak his mind, or enjoy a glass of beer. They're all parts of the freedom that we cherish!

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

"What's Your Opinion, Mister?"

Overheard from one of those police cars parked in front of Uncle Ezra's Eatery, querying Andy's puzzled on everything from that "new look" to the next election.

And I answered to me that there's nothing more typically American than collecting other folks' opinions, as well as giving out ugh one's own. And from where I sit, it's a mighty healthy habit.

So long as people can discuss both sides of a question that comes up—whether it concerns short skirts, veteran long, beer compared with cider, or the latest horses of the day—there's little chance of the kind of thing that's happened in this country great.

For it isn't differences of opinion that matter. The important thing is tolerance for differences of opinion—whether they affect the right of an individual to vote, to speak his mind, or enjoy a glass of beer. They're all parts of the freedom that we cherish!

DRUGS
BANDERA

Druggists who established themselves long ago as discoverers of new medicines, now are to become educators. Twelve months a year they will aid in spreading information about community health and disease control. Ten million persons visit corner drug stores every day. Thus the druggist is in an excellent position to spread the gospel of keeping well. This year druggists co-operate with the American Cancer Society in helping to teach the danger signals of cancer. Doctors will prepare bulletins and druggists will tack them on the walls and the pharmacists will be able to give sound advice on early symptoms. There will be counter displays and take home literature as well. Some 17,500 of the nation's 50,000 drug stores are taking part in the cancer drive for education. Most of these druggists have started up for the year-round program.

The Corner Drug Store is prepared to serve you at all times with the purest and best drugs, and courteous service.

The next day San Antonio will hold its pro-amateur here at Lost Valley and an even larger field is expected.

Last Sunday six players from San Marcos, three from San Antonio, and two from Corpus Christi played the course. Low net scores of the day were shot by Dr. Rose of San Antonio, Lightning Bennett of San Marcos, Raymond Parker of Corpus Christi and the local pro, Jimmy O'Brien, all four players had 34's. The day was perfect for golf and the course was in excellent shape. We are urged to turn out Sunday and Monday and see just how a field can be had for these tournaments.

ZEKE'S OFFER SETTLES RAILWAY STRIKE

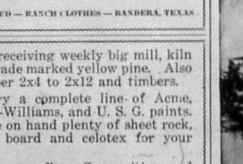
Cowboy Zeke, the High Commander of the Free State of Bandera heard that a nation-wide railway strike had been called for Tuesday May 11 and that the transportation facilities would be paralyzed. He was gravely concerned over this threat to the Nation's commerce, and on Monday he sent President Harry S. Truman a telegram, offering to haul the mails in the old time way. As a result of Zeke's wire the great strike which was threatened was immediately called off. Zeke's telegram to the President was as follows:

President Harry S. Truman,
Washington, D. C.

"I knowed when I first seen them horses the railroad wasn't here to stay, and iffen them stingy critters don't want to cooperate with your government, and strikes, you can call on all us good cowboys around here in the Free State of Bandera, and we will haul the mails for you like we used to, Pony Express.

ZEKE
High Commander

Want ads in the Bulletin are result getters.



Well folks at last I've turned around
Thought it by now you all had found
That country wild and cowboys meek
When all's said en done there's just one Zeke.
Not Pickett mixed, nor Autry neither
Why everyone knows I'm out of this world
You read our letters, wore my face on your clothes
And my two dales everyone knows
On the twenty-first and twenty-second of May
My place is unique says the R. T. A.
Now some of you grandpas but what do you know?
The winner's that party lit blond at the show
Mmmm Webb was first to be on the alert
To the Bandera Stampede he ran wear that shirt.
As for me I think this game's been grand
Now let's make this Stompede the best in the land.

Kaufman's Store Boosting Stompede

Kaufman's Department Store in San Antonio is actively cooperating in boosting Bandera's big Stompede. This well known store has very appropriately arranged a Bandera display in three of its big windows on South Flores Street, featuring the Bandera cowboys and cowgirls, and displaying real cowboy and western wear, adorned with Zeke badges. Many comments have been heard from those that have seen and admired the splendid display at Kaufman's. For those Bandera people who trade in San Antonio we have made Kaufman's their headquarters when in the city, and we all appreciate the friendly gesture of the big store in helping to advertise Bandera's first annual Stompede. For the past two weeks Kaufman's have been handing out literature telling of this big rodeo-dance event and urging everybody to attend.

RANCH HANDS SWAMP BLANCO, 12 TO 9

A handicapped Blanco team fell before the Ranch Hand outfit on the short end of a 12 to 0 score. Taking advantage of numerous errors by the visitors' port, the locals banged out a hit, Chick Fussell, Chick and Fausett and double by P. Jenecke and Strickhausen, each netted two runs. Victory Blanco, though handicapped by the absence of their regular pitcher, played a fine game, but the field and were still trying when the last out was made. The two outstanding fielding plays of the game were both made by the Blanco second baseman, Voight, who robbed the Ranch Hands of a hit by making impossible stops on the shortstop side of second and retiring the batter.

Manager Suche used every available player after the locals had run up an 11 to 0 lead in the fourth inning and the second stringers gave a good account of themselves through the final frames. Braley opened in the Ranch Hand box and pitched seven innings, allowing two hits and fanning twelve. The other two frames were pitched by "Tombstone" Rossman, who relinquished his return to the mound ways by holding the visitors scoreless and allowing only one in each inning. Rossman is strictly a curve ball chunker and will prove a very valuable action as the season progresses.

Next Sunday the Ranch Hands will tangle with the strong Alamo Heights outfit of San Antonio. Alamo Heights currently boasts of one of the strongest teams in the San Antonio area, and our boys are going to have their job cut out for them to come in with the winning score. The game will start at 3 p. m. and all local fans are urged to come out and see the boys face their strongest competition to date.

FITE NIGHT WELL ATTENDED

Fite Nite at the American Legion Hall last Friday night was well attended and six lively bouts were reported. A real card is promised for the next Fite Nite. Due to lack of space the Bulletin is unable to give the details of last Friday night's bouts.

Completing Plans for Stompede

Monday evening the Bandera Tourist Association held a mass meeting at the Bandera Library Auditorium to complete plans for the big Stompede. Ned Pilkes president of the association, opened the meeting and Tom Bullock Robinson presided at the business session. Directors who were elected for the ensuing term are Mike Robinson, Jack Carter, Frank Montague, J. Marvin Hunter, Glendon Roberts, Jack McShane, and Ned Pillow. Mr. Robinson introduced Membership chairman of the Stompede, Ed Mansfield and Judge Roy Braley. Judge Braley, depicting Judge Roy Bean, the Law West of the Medina, was there in all his glory, wearing the leather shield which Eckhart & Woody made for the occasion. The Flying Cowgirls, Gloria Shiner, Doodlang Tech, and Dorothy West, were presented and given a big hand for their splendid help in advertising the Stompede.

Mr. Robinson, in his address to the gathering, gave a resume of the association for the up building of the town and erection of schools, playgrounds for the children, and Bandera's cleanness, in fact, all the good things for Bandera that are waiting for us. He read the entire program for the Stompede and told of the work being done in promoting and advertising it.

This week-end, a group composed of Ned Pilkes, Tex Andrews, Roy Fly, Dave Sadler and Mrs. Tex Andrews, will go to Dallas, where they will spend the date in a parade. The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce president and a delegation will go to Bandera Friday (today) to meet with the Bandera Tourist Association, and a large group of Banderans will go to Houston to attend the Houston Bandera Day celebration on Saturday. The Flying Cowgirls will lead the parade there.

The Tourist Association is now a full fledged organization and has received their charter the past week.

Among the features presented at this meeting were the recordings of the Corpus Christi national hook-up radio stations in Dallas recently. According to Col. Sam Montague a television broadcast and also a national broadcast of Radio Station KABC of San Antonio will be held at Bandera during the big Stompede, and from being brought Bandera will receive national publicity and national fame. Col. Montague point-ed out the beauties of the Hill Country and what can be done with the proper advertising and cooperation of the people to make it one of the most outstanding resorts of the world.

The meeting was well attended and enthusiasm was running high for making the Stompede a mighty success.

LION'S CLUB SPONSORING "CLEAN UP"

Today (Friday) The Lion's Club is sponsoring a clean up of the city. Every one is asked to cooperate in cleaning up the town. Trucks will call for your trash so please have it ready. The streets will be cleaned and Banders will look lovely for the big Stompede.

Two Days Celebrating Fill the Program for the Big Stompede

At long last the cowboy, who for years has been one of America's most colorful but unsung figures, is coming into his own. On May 22, from the Free State of Bandera, Bandera, Texas, the nation, over any NBC coast to coast radio program at 12:15 p. m. Central Standard Time, will pay tribute to this most deserving individual. Jeb Had the Folks in Stitches!

At the Friday Night dwefat, Jeb Crowell had the audience in stitches—doing a take-off on the, blustering cattleman who believes everybody and everything that isn't from his own home town.

Well, we can laugh at that sort of character because from where I sit, Americans are just the opposite. We like to boast a bit perhaps, about the paint job on the new barn, or the missus' style of cooking—but we actually like most of people who don't think or act exactly the same way we do.

"In our town, teh instance: Some folks like band concerts, others don't—some families serve beer with dinner, others lemonade—and in so far politics, there's plenty of healthy disagreement.

But when it comes to denying folks the right to think or act as they choose . . . sp, we're like you — we don't believe in it, whether it goes for serving beer, or speaking one's mind on public affairs.

An Unusual Exhibit of Wood Carving

The world's most unusual exhibit of wood sculpture, "Ort's Wood Sculpture Museum," will be shown here during the Bandera Stompede. This unique exhibit attractively presented in a beautiful trailer, is in reality an art gallery on wheels. Ludwig Ort, the artist, has preserved the spirit of the Old West in the beautiful warm colors of wood and wood only, for the exhibit is completely hand carved in 50 kinds of wood in their natural colors. The soil of the land scapes, the grass and shrubbery are made of wood, so are the ropes, the bridle reins, the saddles, rocks, even a cigarette paper which a cowboy holds in his hand. A patchwork quilt on the bed in the pioneer log cabin is made of 67 different kinds of wood. There are 52 figures of men, women, children and animals in the scenes, and in the "Frontier Parade" alone there are 256 items. For one tree, the artist carved 3,000 tiny leaves from seven kinds of wood. Ludwig Ort has pictured the great frontier as faithfully in his medium of wood as Frederic Remington did in his oils and watercolors. The beauty and naturalness of the individual figures, and the technique of Ort's wood sculpture are absolutely indescribable. The Ludwig Ort Wood Sculpture Museum will be located next to D'Spain's Motor Co., May 20-21-22. Admission 12c and 25c.

A new member of a certain government bureau made life miserable for his associates by pretending to be absolute infallibility. One day, however, he startled his coworkers by admitting that once he had been wrong.

"Yes, wrong," exclaimed one of his listeners.

"Yes," replied the infallible man. "Once, I thought I was wrong when I wasn't."

Asylum warden: So you think you're sane now. If I let you go will you leave liquor and women alone?

Inmate: I sure will.

Warden: You'd better stay—you are still crazy.

The Story of Judge Roy Bean, the Law West of the Pecos

By J. Marvin Hunter

Hangmith as a replica of the Roy Bean court house at Langtry has been built, and a Judge Roy Bean court is now held in Bandera. Judge Bean, of Pecos, Texas, Mompers here May 19 and 20, we think it quite appropriate at this time to give Bulletin readers an account of this colorful western character, who ruled the land beyond the Pecos as a justice of the peace for more than twenty years. He has been praised and maligned by writers in song and story, many fictitious stories have been told about him as well as many true ones. The story of Roy Bean, the Law West of the Pecos, is a strange one, to say the least. Take it, preferably with a grain of salt, for Judge Bean has been dead for more than forty years, and Texans enthroider their legends frequently with the passing of the years. But take it, anyway, for it exemplifies exactly the American wickness for the fellow who can flout the law in a picturesque and picaresque way.

For nearly a quarter of a century this stock little fellow, not a gun man nor an imposing figure at all, was the undisputed law of an empire in West Texas as large as the New England States, outside of Texas. The Law West of the Pecos was Roy Bean, and the only law. Between San Antonio, 200 miles to the east, and El Paso, 300 miles northwest was the first town of Langtry, where he presided at the bar of justice and the bar of mahogany. He dispensed medical and matrimony, whiskey and county practical jokes and piratical jurisprudence. He was both saloon and saloon keeper, mixing politics and potations in the standard old American formula. Some unofficial historians of the upper Rio Grande country say he appointed himself for the first ten years; that finding a demand for law and order, he mercy volunteered to provide it. Later he was regularly elected and three times reelected.

Following the natural course of folklore the legend of Judge Bean in time will invest him with the wisdom of Solomon, the magnanimity of a King Arthur, and the sympathies of a Robin Hood. He had some of those qualities. Looked at coldly, he was a roving rustic who came a saloon keeper in a frontier town, craftily turning the vicissitudes of law and order that remained in his neighbors to his own profit. He had a saving sense of humor, or of the grotesque, that tickled the fancy of a community which chief craving was for amusement and escape from harsh reality. But his legend is a mighty one in Texas, where the two most frequently told Bean stories are those of the Chinese and of the man who fell off the Pecos Bridge.

The Chinese had led a hard life at a ranch where he was cook. A real cowboy, off his horse and loafing around the corrals, uses his brain mostly to think up practical jokes. The poor China boy was a miserable butt for the ranch wit. Both his ears had been punctured by bullets from the sixshooters of a couple of Willam Tells trying to see how near they could come to his head without killing him. He had a screwy and permanent limp, he had been lassoed and dragged across the prairie. He protested once too often. One of the hands, Black Pete, all but and bothered, shot the complaining cook dead. "to shut him up." Pete was hauled up before Judge Bean. The cowboys stood around in respectful silence as the judge took down his library and thumbed it over. It was his only law book. Finally the court looked up over his steel-rimmed specs:

"I don't believe in here what to see that make it a crime for a white man to kill a chink," he said tersely. "The said defendant Peter Johnson, otherwise known as Black Pete, is hereby acquitted."

The Judge arose suited off his Prince Albert, coat, restored the statute book to its place on the shelf and went behind the bar. Black Pete bought for the house.

The bridge over the gorge of the Pecos River just below Langtry was for years the highest in the world. During its construction a workman fell or to the eastern bank of the Pecos. Sent out of Judge Bean's jurisdiction. The judge ordered some Mexicans to bring the body to him and, as coroner, rendered a verdict of accidental death.

Some one searched the dead man's pockets and found $40 and a six-shooter. Instantly the bad e leaped into the injured. After due deliberation and some sounding of the statute book he found the dead man guilty of carrying a concealed weapon, confiscated $20 of the fee for himself, the dead man, $25 and costs, total $46. Bailiff Bean, acting for the honorable court, collected the fine.

Judge Bean ran a Reno all his own. His fee for marrying a was $5, and for unmarrying the same, doubtless, the lowest divorce rate ever quoted in America. Let this be said in his favor he did not cater to soldiers. He had a certain respect for the bonds of matrimony he refused to divorce any but couples he had married with his own hand and seal. His logic on the divorce question would have delighted the most radical free thinker of fifty years later. Whom man hath joined together, man can put asunder, according to Judge Bean.

Once he performed a double ceremony, marrying two Mexican cowboy wranglers to two buxom young virgins of Mexico. After the ceremony, when all had pocketed ten silver dollars, four newly wedds embraced all around. Perhaps that started the trouble. Within a month the two couples came back to see the judge. "We wish to change ladies," the spokesman informed the court in Spanish. Judge Bean inquired carefully. Each bridegroom said each bride assured him he was sure of double trial marriage had convinced the four that all would be happier if the exchange could be made.

"All right," said the court, getting the Prince Albert down from its peg on the wall. "Stand up there and join hands. By the authority under which I thee wed, I hereby declare you divorced. Ten dollars."

The two bridegrooms dug out the silver from the tight pants' loons. The four, smiling broadly, set forth into the dawn of a new day. The judge suddenly recalled that he had forgotten something.

"Come back here. You can't go off and live together without bein married proper. It ain't lawful. Stand up—join hands. Do you, Juan, take her, Emelia, to be your lawful wife . . . Do you, Jesus, take her, Concepcion, to be your lawful wife . . . Ten dollars. Once again."

It was after that extraordinary ceremony, the story of which penetrated in a few weeks as far as El Paso, that the district judge in that quaintly Puritanical center of culture, cautious gambling hells and gutmen sent down word to Judge Bean that no further of the peace could grant divorces and get away with it.

"You tell that homore," Bean replied to the emissary, "that I run my court on common sense lines and he can run his the same way. If a justice of the peace has got the right to marry people he's got the right to unmarry them, nolle prosequi or tertium quid. This court don't give no advice and don't aim to take any word of it."

When duty called him to vene court and duty did not have to speak above a whisper—a cause forth from behind the bar, donned his rusty Prince Albert coat, his robe of justice, seated himself on a beer keg behind a plank table and called the court to order. If he needed ed a deputy there was always a thirsty cowboy hoasting around. If he needed extra help there were extra cowboys with dry throats. The code of court actions were customarily paid in liquid currency.

For sixty years he has been a glamorous figure for Texans to tell strangers about. Since he died, in 1902, the stories have been growing broader in the telling as most Western stories do. Boiled down to essentials and trimmed to fit the requirements of the men who know him and saw him hold court, the yarns are still worth enough.

The most credible history of Roy Bean begins shortly after the Republic of Texas had decided to join the Union, in 1845. Bean had left his native Kentucky on a steamer for New Orleans. On board he got into a fight and feared he had killed his opponent. Texas was a haven for people who were subject to and headed west. In San Antonio he contracted a debt, but that was too much. He pushed on to the gold fields in '49.

In California he did not find gold, but he did find romance. He gallantly rescued a Mexican girl from an abductor, a Mexican officer, disliking the manner in which Bean had interfered, maltreated him in a duel. The Mexican wanted to fight with lances, Roy Bean knew nothing of lances, but he shot a pistol pretty well. At the challenger's party he chose pistols. He killed the officer; the Mexican authorities sentenced him to be hanged. The story has it that he actually was strung up and that his friends cut him down. He would never discuss this but there was a livid line around his neck, and he carried his head in a strained position, although he felt the hangman's knot under the left ear.

He drifted back to Texas and when the Civil War began became a Confederate blockade runner on ships carrying cotton to England. After the war he carted merchandise from San Antonio west to Fort Stockton, 400 miles, by wagon train. When the Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio Railroad threw the point of Southern Pacific Rhine west [illegible] toward El Paso, a the Pecos [illegible] Bean followed the main [illegible] reached the Pecos river [illegible] ment camp was established to build the bridge across the canyon.

Bean stayed there. The town on the west bank of the Pecos, a few miles north of where it empties into the Rio Grande, was called, Vinegaroon. The railroad station on the river is now called Viaduct. Three stations up the road toward El Paso is Langtry, where Roy Bean set up his last saloon, the next flag stop is now called Bean, in his honor.

The territory Judge Bean claimed as his jurisdiction ran 300 miles west from the Pecos river, and 125 miles north from the Rio Grande. The district court at El Paso claimed the same area.

Much has been said about how Langtry got its name. One version is that Roy Bean named the place for Lily Langtry, the famous English actress, who [illegible] Prince of Wales. The real truth of the matter is that the station was laid out by railroad folks and called Langtry in honor of one of the officials. The station was named before Roy Bean established a saloon there. But he called his place "The Jersey Lilly," in defense of the glittering stage beauty. An accomplished painter believed a large sign for the barroom "The Jersey Lilly" by Judge Bean's cash drawer. Billiard Hall Ice Cold Beer."

Transcontinental trains stopped at Langtry to take on water, and passengers trainmen tarried. As the passengers on the long trek across Texas their legs and take in the sights. The only sights were the Jersey Lilly Saloon and Bean, Only occasionally grew out on the cushion cut of it [illegible] Bean's dictate for [illegible] on strolls.

One of those gentlemen strolled into the bar one day and called sharply for a bottle of beer. "Ice cold, my friend, with collarette with a glass," suggested the customer.

"I think it will of the bottle or leave it alone." Bean countered, in no mistake. And the stranger ordered the bottle. He cast a quizzical look over the cut-glass mirror, "the Cold Beer" and asked, "How near the ice do you keep this beer?"

Bean snorted. Whoever heard of ice in the summer time?"

The visitor dropped a $20 gold piece on the bar. Bean clinched it into the cash drawer.

"My change?" the gentleman queried.

"You don't get no change. Any time that comes into my barroom and pays down a $20 gold piece and expects to get change back ought to have a guardian."

"But my good man, that's robbery!" protested the eastern man.

"There no law in this country."

"I'm the law," said the judge firmly. He took off his hat specially [illegible] his judicial gavel and mounted the chair of state.

"I find you guilty of disorder conduct and fine you $10 and costs. The costs will be $5 and you are adjourned."

The judge descended from the bench and became the bailiff.

"With the dollar you owed me for the fine that makes $20 which has already been paid into the treasury of the honorable court," he explained. "The court is discharged, and you'd better run for that train you're about to pull out and we don't aim to harbor no disorder in persons in this town."

The young man ran. The story was worth many times $20 to him before he died, as an anecdote to tell every Texas he met always ending triumphantly "And you call that a civilized state!"

Not all of his Eastern victims took his little peculiarities with such good grace, however. There was the tramp of the pet bear [illegible] some cowboy had loosed a bear cub and brought it to Bean. Bean kept a small menagerie. The judge had the bear chained to a post between the saloon and the station. Visitors bought beer at a dollar a bottle to see the [illegible] Bean's cash drawer purchased on the fare. The tragic end of the animal was one of the crimes contributing to Bean's distrust of the Eastern "dudes."

One of these had smarted under a classic Bean decision while on his way to the West coast. Some months later he came back through Langtry and bought the saloon. It happened that Bean was in San Antonio on one of his rare excursions. The Easterner sent him a telegram saying the bear had died, and what should they do with it? After the train had departed, a telegram from the judge came to his Mexican assistant.

Wonderful, but knowing better than to delay in carrying out any order, the Mexican walked out to where the bear was chained, took careful aim, and shot it between the eyes. Sadly he set about the task of skinning it. When the Judge returned he gazed grimly at the brown hide stretched to dry on the side of the saloon.

"You had," he sighed. "Sure still miss the old boy."

"Yes," agreed the assistant barkeeper. "But why you want him killed?"

History is perhaps wisely silent on the details of the execution. Nor is there any record of a third visit made to the Jersey Lilly by the Easterner [illegible] he drank as much of the [illegible] wisdom, as he thought good for his health.

Judge Bean had no delusions of grandeur. For twenty years he ruled his domain and had a succession good time at it. It was a joke he played with a straight face. The most colorful figure in all that vast stretch of [illegible] he was anything but prepossessing in person. Squat, powerfully built, he had reddish hair and a crinkly, sandy-red chin beard. He had a keen wit and a thorough appreciation of his own picturesque qualities. Men who knew him and who saw him hold court were impressed alike by his utter fearlessness and his resourcefulness.

Once finally a "I'm Roy Bean, the law west of the Pecos, and I want to shake hands with you. Won't you get out and say howdy?"

Mr. Gould, Dr. Munn, his personal physician, and two young women, one of whom Mr. Tulman believes was Helen Gould, descended from the car. Bean invited them over to his saloon. They stayed so long that a frantic train dispatcher at El Paso almost lost his reason. The Langtry station agent, when the train sweep past his window, had reported it on its way. Then he had become so interested in the meeting between Bean and Gould that he had forgotten to amend his message. He had been invited to share Bean's ceremonial champagne.

The Gould party, after a considerable time, boarded the train and sped away. As the agent fell [illegible] toward the station, the uproar of the telegraph instrument brought the agent to his senses.

"Where hell you been? What hell matter? Gould special passed you two hours ago. Hasn't you heard Comstock from be ditched. May have fallen off high bridge. For God sake get section crew and find out. Reported Gould killed in wreck. Stock Exchange wild. Wil fire you quick as can get relief man. Trains piled up all over division. Answer quick."

The agent ticked off:

Langtry was founded about 1885. In 1902 the judge was defeated in the Democratic July primary by a Mexican dark horse candidate he had given too sure of his power. This humiliated the old man, than past seventy. Before the November election he campaigned for W. H. Dodd, an independent candidate and visited every ranch in the county electioneering. He elected his man. Mr. Dodd held the office for seventeen years. almost as long as Bean had, and died in Langtry some ten years ago. But the old judge died shortly after his downfall.

He died, with the customary irony of such characters, in his bed. Several of his old friends were gathered about His favorite mountain lion and an eagle were in the room; the skin of that ill-fated bear was on the floor. He was smiling as he resigned for all time the judgeship of his Pecos domain, enjoying, perhaps, to the end the little joke he had kept up with a straight face, for twenty years.

Two years after his death Lily Langtry passed through the namesake town. The train halted long enough for her to visit the old saloon, which still bore its flamboyant name. The famous beauty took away as momentos a few poker chips and one of the judge's old six-shooters. She gave the Langtry school $50 to repair its roof, as a sort of Roy Bean memorial. Until she died on the Riviera about twenty years ago, she never forgot Judge Bean nor wearied of telling about him.

Of Roy Bean nothing remains but a tradition; the picturesque court house and saloon has been torn down.

ANNUAL MEETING

Plans are well under way for the big convention of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio June 18 and 19. It will be a two day affair this year—not five days. The convention officially opens on Thursday evening, June 17 with a board of directors meeting. Business sessions begin early Friday morning, June 18 and run through Saturday night, June 19. One of the highlight entertainment features will be a trip to Bandera as guests of the Bandera Tourist Association—where the newspaper men will be taken on a tour of the dude ranches, treated with a Bandera barbeque dinner, and enjoy a Western-style dance with all the colorful trimmings. Additional entertainment will be provided by the San Antonio newspapers, including a dinner and dance.

BODY OF INFANT FOUND BURNED

Kerrville, May 7—Sheriff Frank Moore reported Friday that he and the Department of Public Safety in Austin were investigating the finding of a buried infant's body in a barbecue pit in Kerrville State Park Thursday.

The park superintendent discovered the burned body in the pit, Moore said. It apparently had been covered with kerosene or gasoline before being set afire, officers declared.

Dr. Donze Packard, county health officer, said he believed the infant had lived, but that it was dead when it had been set afire. It was estimated to have weighed about 8 pounds, and to have been burned shortly after birth. The child was believed to have been white, Sheriff Moore said.

"I hear Janet is just back from two years of study in Paris."
"Yes, she's a real Parisite now."

Realizing the need for better education for their children, Texans are taxing themselves more and more through local assessment.

Of the 977 independent school districts in the state, 4th, or 87 per cent, had a tax levy of $1 or more per $100 assessed valuation during 1947, the survey announced Wednesday by the Texas State Teachers Association reveals.

Eighty-two per cent of the 1,131,999 students in the 977 independent school districts are living in the districts taxing the levy $1 or more. That is a total of 847,170 children.

"The misconception has prevailed for years in some circles that the school districts are depending too much upon state aid to finance their institutions," Charles H. Tennyson, public relation director for the teachers' association, said Wednesday.

"This survey disproves that, I believe.

"Not only do practically all of the independent districts have a high tax levy, but hundreds of them have greatly increased their property valuations during the past few years.

"Assessments of 75 per cent of the real value of the property is the regular practice now rather than the unusual.

"The State Teachers Association is grateful that Texans are taking such an interest in the education of their children." Tennyson continued. "It has resulted in a climb in our schools' standing comparison with those of other states."

A total of 559 independent districts, 65 per cent, with 268,153 scholastics, had a tax rate of $1 during the present school year. Two hundred and, ninety schools had a rate in excess of $1. Those schools had more scholastics than the 559 districts levying $1. Their total was 579,017 students.

Fifty districts, or only nine-tenths of one per cent, having a total of 11,672 students, levied a rate of from 51 to 75 cents. Fifteen districts, with only 3,198 scholastics, had a tax of from 1 to 50 cents. Only seven districts or but one-half of one per cent, which are not composed of state or charitable schools, imposed no local tax. All of the four largest cities in the state have a tax rate of $1 or more. Houston has a levy of $1.25, San Antonio, $1.08, Fort Worth, $1.16, and Dallas recently voted an increase in their tax rate to $1.25.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. James of Los Angeles, California were visitors in the home of Mrs. Mattie Long and her daughter, Mrs. Sallie McGinnis, last week. Mr. James is a brother of Mrs. Long

BODY OF INFANT FOUND BURNED

Kerrville, May 7—Sheriff Frank Moore reported Friday that he and the Department of Public Safety in Austin were investigating the finding of a buried infant's body in a barbecue pit in Kerrville State Park Thursday.

The park superintendent discovered the burned body in the pit, Moore said. It apparently had been covered with kerosene and gasoline before being set afire, officers declared.

Dr. Juanita Packard, county health officer, said he believed the infant had lived, but that it was dead when it had been set afire. It was estimated to have weighed about 8 pounds, and to have been burned shortly after birth. The child was believed to have been white, Sheriff Moore said.

"I hear Janet is just back from two years of study in Paris."

"Yes, she's a real Parisite now."

TEXAS STATE TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

Realizing the need for better education for their children, Texans are taxing themselves more and more through local assessment.

Of the 977 independent school districts in the state, 549, or 57 per cent, had a tax levy of $1 or more per $100 assessed valuation during 1947-48, a survey announced Wednesday by the Texas State Teachers Association reveals.

Figures the from the records of the state superintendent of public instruction, said.

Eighty-two per cent of the 1,151,999 students in the 977 independent school districts are living in the districts making the levy $1 or more. That is a total of 947,170 children.

"The misconception has prevailed for years in some circles that the school districts are depending too much upon state aid to finance their institutions," Charles H. Tenyson, public relations director for the teachers' association, said Wednesday.

"This survey disproves that, I believe.

"Not only do practically all of the independent districts have a high tax levy, but hundreds of them have greatly increased their property valuations during the past few years.

"Assessments of 75 per cent of the real value of the property is the regular practice now rather than the unusual.

"The State Teachers Association is grateful that Texans are taking such an interest in the education of their children," Tenyson continued, "It has resulted in a climb in our schools' standing comparison with those of other states."

A total of 559 independent districts, 61 per cent, with 368,153 scholastics, had a tax rate of $1 during the present school year. Two hundred and ninety schools had a rate in excess of $1. Those schools had more scholastics than the 559 districts levying $1. Their total was 579,017 students.

Fifty districts, or only nine tenths of one per cent, levied a total of 11,672 students, levied a rate of from 31 to 75 cents. Fifteen districts, with only 3,185 scholastics, had a tax of from 1 to 30 cents. Only seven districts or but one-half of one per cent, which are not composed of state or charitable schools, imposed no local tax. All of the four largest cities in the state have a tax rate of $1 or more. Houston has a levy of $1.25. San Antonio $1.08, Fort Worth, $1.16, and Dallas recently voted an increase in their tax rate to $1.25.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. James of Los Angeles, California were visitors in the home of Mrs. Mattie Long and her daughter, Mrs. Sallie McGinnis, last week. Mr. James is a brother of Mrs. Long

SWIMMING CLASS STAFF ANNOUNCED

Beginning May 31st, and closing on June 4th, there will be swimming classes under Red Cross supervision, held in the pool at Wagon Wheel Ranch, from 1 to 2:30 p. m. each day. Mrs. R. T. Harbour and Mrs. James Langham will be in charge of the instruction, assisted by Mrs. F. B. Dunn, Ellen Louise Brient and Gerry Browne.

The local Red Cross Chapter is happy to be able to offer these classes in swimming to the children of school age in Bandera county, and is proud of the fact that all instructors and assistants are local people, trained under Red Cross supervision. The classes are the result of a recent course offered by Robert H. Lewis, Field Representative, American Red Cross headquarters, St. Louis. The local program was planned during Mr. Lanes's stay in Bandera.

Pool facilities for the classes are used through the courtesy of Mrs. Justine Ellington who also allowed use of the pool during Mr. Lanes's work here. The Bandera Bulletin is cooperating on the publicity, and last week's issue contained, on the second page, a registration blank for the swimming classes, which should have been filled out and sent in as soon as possible by those interested in participating. Blanks should be mailed to the American Red Cross, Box 308 Bandera.

The third and fourth grades wish to thank the school board, the parents and others who helped to make the trip possible.

THE THUNDERING STOMPEDE IS ON

The big Stompede will start off this morning with a bang, bang, as the cowboys shoot up the town in their annual touch of the old days. Old Zeke, the high constable, who revolt- ed when President Truman failed to designate May 21-22 as a National holiday in honor of cowboy, will be very much in evidence throughout the occasion, making everybody welcome and directing the affairs of the Free State of Bandera to accommodate the great crowds that are now coming in. There will be many notable and distinguished visitors here to enjoy the great event, and all will be given the glad hand. There is another town in the world just like Bandera. It has always been a hospitable city, always friendly, and neighborly, where the cowboy reigns supreme. And with the unbridled visitors, who will be on the program will be Hilary Kleberg of Kingsville, owner of the famous King ranch down near Brownsville. His every address will be broadcast over the radio, and he will be heard by millions of people over the nation, when he tells them how the great empire was founded and thrived in Texas.

Old Judge Roy Bean-it's all set to convene court this morning in the west "set of justice" on Main Street, just across from the county court house. He already has a number of "culprits" confined in the calaboose, and will proceed to mete out punishment with unbridled fury and heinousness of their crimes. Judge Nathan V. Straley of Mc- Millan, a former resident and ex- ice of the peace, is playing the part of Judge Roy Bean. The court is going to be plenty colorful, and there'll probably be wailing and gnashing of teeth, but there'll be no appeal from the Judge's decisions, as this hard- ing to do is to plead guilty and "save time" and get it over with.

At 11 o'clock this morning the old fiddlers' contest will be held on the Dance Hall stage. This promises to be a big feature of the Stompede, and a number of old time fiddlers are expected to be on hand. Old John Adams, now pert near ninety years old, is bringing his old fiddle and will render a very fine selection, and will make all the dogs howl for miles around; and Old Charlie Walker is also on hand, who has fiddled for dances all over this region and knows how to play all of the old tunes. It is said that he made Corbin Evans Joe and Sadie Hawkins dance, and claims they were the best set of Hawkins Dancers that Cravey is another of the old timers who is going to make the "Uncle Sugar" turn in his old fiddle and tickle the ivories when he tunes up his old fiddle and tickles the ivories when he tunes up his old fiddle and tickles the ivories when he tunes up his old fiddle and tickles

On the 1887's there was published in Texas a humorous weekly newspaper, TEXAS SIFTINGS, edited by Shannon Ayres Sweet. Here are a few items from the columns of that paper. The humor will be appreciated by those who remember the days when the items were first published.

THE CONFIDENTIAL DRUNK MAN

The man who gets confidential when he becomes drunk, is one of the most interesting of the different varieties of men who look into Barry's when it is flavored with lemon peel. He may be a very tactless man in his total abstinence moods, but when he gets under the influence of a succession of cocktails he can tell all he knows, and his bursts of confidence are really painful to his friends and acquaintances. He not only tells all that he knows, but much that he does not know familiarly enough to talk about with certainty. When in an inebriated condition, he will stretch his imagination until you can hear it crack and ravel at the edges, and he will tell marvelous stories that are about the extent of his business. The colossal influence he has in politics, his intimacy with great men, and such matters. It is not what he says but the manner in which he says it, that makes his outbursts of confidential to leave him then, and if he can secure the man who does not sit down in a chair and talk himself until he goes to sleep. The person who drinks with the rest of the party will get notes of peculiar interest and thrilling proceedings of the confidential drunk man. Sometimes the confidences are only personal, and sometimes they are of a public character, strictly injurious, "one of the boys" order.

LATE RALLY WINS FOR RANCH HANDS

Overcoming a five run lead in the final three frames the Ranch Hands came back in the last frame to win 10 to 9 in a ten inning game at the baseball park Sunday. Braley catted on the box for the locals and was touched for only three hits in the nine innings he worked. However 7 bases on balls and 3 batters who were hit by pitched balls, who pitched all the way for Alamo Heights was batting very telling until the last of the 6th, when the Ranch Hands succeeded in getting seven runs in the final three frames and see the game out. He had allowed only two hits through the first five innings and appeared to be easy for a win.

Next Sunday at Cowden Park the Bandera boys will match with the always tough boys from Boerne who are determined to avenge the defeat suffered here last year. The Ranch Hands are just as determined to win and a great battle is assured for the fans.

APPRECIATION

I wish to express appreciation for the work done along the Medina river in Bandera recently, and personally for the work done on my property there from the river. Mr. Wedgworth and his help were doing some splendid work there last week, and you should go down there and see for yourself what a beautiful possession we have in this river. I own a river-front midway of that fine bathing pool, known of the Catholic property here put in and am putting in improvements for the best, most beautiful natural playground here, it to be and remain your river property open free to the public. It will be your playground, and help boost life and property in and help boost this section. Thanks Mr. Wedgworth, for your splendid help toward this end.

NOTICE FLYERS

Private flyers who will attend the Hondo-Bandera Homesite May 21 and 22 are requested not to fly over the town on Saturday, May 22, between 11 a. m. and 12:30 p. m. During this period there will be a western parade involving a great deal of horseback and if frightened they might cause unnecessary injury to the crowd of spectators. There will also be a coast-to-coast broadcast at this time and much noise of the planes would interfere with the radio transmission.

Mother—Dorothy, you've also obeyed your father and mother and making all that noise. Now you don't have that piece of candy.

Father entering a few minutes later—Why, you've got candy, Dorothy—I've been fixed to spendin'.

A guest at a hotel was complaining to the proprietor. "Your lunch today was terrible. I nearly lost my appetite."

"No? What was the matter?"

"Well, I found a hair in the ice cream, a hair in the honey, and a hair in the applesauce."

"You did? Well, that's funny. I can understand how the hair got in the ice cream. It came from shaving the ice. And the hair in the honey probably came from the comb. But what was me is the hair in the applesauce. I bought the apples myself and they were baldwins."

The Washington Biological Survey, which puts metal bands on wild birds to study their migratory habits, recently ordered new bands with different wording. They now read: "Notify Fish and Wildlife Services, Washington, D. C." Formerly the bands said simply, "Notify Wash. Biol. Surv." Unofficial explanation for change: An irate taxpayer's letter complained, "Sirs: I shot one of your pet crows and followed your instructions. I washed it, I boiled it, and stirred it. It was terrible. Stop fooling the people."

AIR MARKING MAKES FOR AIR SAFETY

What are air markers? Any sign laid out or painted on the earth which is discernible from the air and points out the identification or location of a ground landmark is considered an air marker—an "aerial road sign."

There are nine types of air markers recommended as helpful to the pilot in identifying his location. They are: (1) the painted roof town marker, (2) painted highway marker, (3) illuminated day and night marker, (4) baked enamel or porcelain raised marker, (5) raised metal marker, (6) raised wood marker, (7) crushed stone or concrete marker, (8) painted marker for sides of buildings and water tanks and (9) landscape marker for parks and along highways.

Why the need for air markers? One of the chief hazards of "contact flying" (flying without the aid of radio, advanced instruments, radar and other advanced navigational aids) is the danger of becoming lost. Just as motorists need road signs to keep them traveling on the correct highway so do pilots need signs to keep them traveling on the correct aerial routes.

Without adequate landmarks even the old pioneer driver of the slow-moving covered wagon would sometimes get lost until he came to the end of food and water and would then die. The pilot of today is just as badly in need of some means of identifying his position as he flits through the air or he can also become lost, running out of gasoline and also die.

Before airways were built and road signs installed, the old pioneers had to resort to prominent landmarks in order to get from one place to another. In spite of the great advancement of the scientific world today which has speeded up our transportation facilities and hitched us into the flying age, our pilots are still forced to use the crude position finders which their forefathers used in identifying their position. If a pilot knows a prominent mountain, river, lake or other landmark shows up pretty well from the air, it may frequently look just like another mountain, river or lake farther along the route. Unless the pilot can definitely identify his landmarks he can become lost.

However, it is flyer can overcome the effect of snowstorm and orient himself merely by looking down and reading a sign so he knows over a town or city. Air hazards connected with flying are almost considerably and the dangers connected with becoming lost on a flight are veritably eliminated.

What is being done to air mark the country? A skyway—for the benefit of private flyers is being planned from Los Angeles through Tarlac to Washington, D. C. Ground markers placed at towns and cities along this route will tell the pilot where he is and direct him to the nearest airport on his coast to coast air trip. The proposed markers will be in conformity with CAA standard specifications. More than 3,500 cities along route will benefit with the expected increase of air traffic in their localities.

However in spite of this elaborate program to mark towns along this special route, the Texas Aeronautics Commission is urging a program for Texas, which will get air identification in all the towns in the State so that point to point navigation will be possible in any direction.

The more people can fly from one point to another in almost as casual a manner as driving an automobile, the more enjoyable flying will become.

The young clergyman, during a parochial call, noticed the little daughter of the hostess was busy with her slate while seeing him closely from time to time. "And what are you doing, Clare?" he asked.

"I'm drawing a picture of you."

The clergyman was very still to facilitate the work of the artist, but presently Clare shook her head in discouragement.

"I don't like it much," she confessed. "I guess I'll put a tail on it and call it a pig."

"SHOOTING UP" BANDERA IN THE OLD DAYS

Shooting up the town was a favorite pastime of Bandera's early cowboys. Bloodless as it was in comparison to the more extreme frontier. When cowboys and rancheros came to town they would ride their horses into the saloon, company, and after a few drinks of fiery liquor that was established to make a jack rabbit reel up and down a bulldozer's eye and dare him to fight, these cowpoys would unbridle their stallions and ride them into the saloon. Occasionally somebody would get shot and the local undertaker would have to make a trip to the cemetery, but there are several graves in the old part of the Bandera cemetery that "died with their boots on". There were rollerskate days in the old town. We've civilized now and when you hear the "shooting up the town" the week just remember blank cartridges are being used.

Bandera's First Annual Stompede Brings in Thousands of Visitors

Bandera's big Stompede has come and gone with about 30,000 people attending the celebration, which will be Bandera's First Annual Stompede. The program was interesting and entertaining and much interest is being made on the completeness of the west-ern atmosphere. The two days were chock full of fun and re-laxation from Friday morning when festivities started with the shooting up of the town, until the last tone was played saturday night. The program consisted of an old fashioned contest, a broad cast by the Texas Top Hands, horse races at Bennie's U-Bar Ranch, Wild Cow Milking, Wes-cott dancing Bruce Montague singing cowboy songs, and the mammoth roping between Tod Mansfield, world champion bull roper, and Tom Powers of Onona, shooting at all places of amuse-ment, and the Fiddlers' Contest, a big Western parade HOOLINGS, Rodeo, Fiddlers' Contest, beard contest, Elmo New-comb and Boys, Western music at Institute Hall, Bandera Ranch Band, square dance exhibition by Daughters of the Trail Drivers and aerial fireworks.

Albert Lee, owner of the Fat Stock Show in Houston was also a visitor in Bandera for the Stompede. He stated that competition as one of the nicest that he had ever attended, and that the Bandera Ranch Band was one of the best he had ever listened to, and anything he had ever had the pleasure to hear.

FIDDLERS' CONTEST

The fiddlers' contest on Friday morning at the Stompede was quite an event. Those musicians who won prizes were as follows: In the second series, ages from 60 to 84, J. L. Price of Medina, first prize; H. L. Williams, 78, of San Antonio, second prize; and Fred McKinney, 61, of Mellica, third prize. In the first series, ages 85 to 100, "Western Bob", a $15 Western shirt, and a $10 Western hat, donated by the Bandera Texas Store, was in the second section, ages from 10 to 59, Bobby Williams of San Antonio, first prize; Jim Edwards of Five Creek, second prize; and Bill Cravey of Tarpley, third prize. Those from Friday morning had but a $15 Western buckle set and a $10 Western shirt, donated by the Bandera Texas Store, as first prize.

In the third section of the contest, ages from 16 to 20, the first prize, a $15 Western shirt, went to Clyde Jones, second, and Ray Marie Stevens, third. The fourth section, ages 21 to 30, was won by Jack Hoppe, a $15 Western shirt and a $10 Western hat, donated by the Bandera Texas Store. Rodeo-ers and Ready-to-Wear Shop, and a $10 Western shirt and a $5 Western hat, donated by Tom Rogers store.

The last of the fiddlers' contest were Chas. D. Lovelace, Walter Buck, and Charlie Moore. Another participants were Archie Graham of Natrona, A. B. Cooper of San Antonio, T. H. Whitworth of Boerne, and Tom Gray of Bandera, all of whom did fine.

THE BIG PARADE

The big colorful Western Parade for the Stompede was Saturday morning. It was more than two miles long. It was grandly different from any kind of a parade we've witnessed in this section. There were cowboys and cow-girls, Indians, Mexicans, mounted old settlers, dude ranch guests, wagons, buggies, hacks, two old stage coaches carrying Daugh-ters of the Trail Drivers, some old time horse-and-buggy rigs carrying the contestants in the Cowbelle contest, and every imagin-able kind of horse that can be used in a parade worth seeing, and re-sembling the old days. It was fun to watch it as it wound it's way along the streets of Bandera.

THE ARMADILLO RACE

The Armadillo race attracted places were Margie Moseley, first place; Carolyn Sue Wier, second place, and Floyd McKinney, third place. Other entries were Loy Ed John-son, Jimmie Fowler, Jerry Stokes, Cedar Crest, David Nun-ley, Dick Blondi, Jo Ann Garri-son, Lacy Cunningham, Jr., Mary Moseley, Richard Carr, Pat Wil-liams, Marvin D. Bandera cowgirl served with glory last Friday and Saturday when the town played host to her guests, and the hostess gave way from 10,000 to 20,000. The big Stampede, the 50th of the kind ever held in the Free State of Bandera, was truly a rip roaring, ruckus, thunderous celebration, staged in honor of the Texas cowgirl. Everybody who came enjoyed it everybody went home tickled with the contented Bandera's praises. Despite the fact the first attempt on the part of the of the Bandera Trade Extension to manage such a big undertaking, the event went off over without a hitch, and every feature was carried out well. Not but one or two minor accidents happened, everybody was taken care of and all went well. Next year when the Stompede is repeated greater crowds will come, for Bandera's fame is now a matter of history, has gone forth, to the four corners of the world, and every citizen of the community is entitled to much credit for the fine spirit of co-operation that let Mike Robinson, Ned Pitner, Cal Sam Montague, Tom Anderson, and the other leaders in the celebration get their wonderful work for the amusement of the town. They put it over in the biggest kind of a way.

Washington, May 24—The nation's youth between 18 and 20 years old will not be drafted this year. The Senate armed services committee, beating opponents to the end, blocked the draft of 18-year-olds for universal military training" (UMT) in military conscription bill. The clause called for induction, of about 161,000 "youths" of age in the first year's training in this country.

Senator Millard Tydings, had refused to include any such program in their straight conscription draft bill, and Senator Robert A. Taft, (R.-Ohio) and others had announced they were ready to fight the plan when it came before the Senate. It will probably take two weeks. Having decisions battle which might have been given the eighth page of the page of any draft legislation as the Senate armed services committee, personally introduced the measure on the Senate floor. The Senate passed the bill after the House-voted bill, substantially the one-year victims within the continental United States. There is at present no such provision in the law of the land, which is still necessary for clearance from the ruling committee.

A high-ranking House Republican leader predicted today that the draft bill will be passed by strong opposition, even without the amendment of the term of service. He believes the measure eventually will be passed, but he for Bandera's fame is a matter of able cowboy town, has gone forth, to the four corners of the world, and every citizen of the community is entitled to much credit for the fine spirit of co-operation that let Mike Robinson, Ned Pitner, Cal Sam Montague, Tom Anderson, and the other leaders in the celebration get their wonderful work for the amusement of the town. They put it over in the biggest kind of a way.

Mr. Bradley makes these fans at his home in Dallas, and has been very successful in selling them. Many dollars worth of free advertising, and the fans are giving splendid dividends to everyone put to every institution in this area. Mr. Bradley has a wide acquaintance and communities, a year-round market and increasing business. This campaign should be waged immediately to follow up and take advantage of the good start already made by our successful business men in the matter of advertising given us. It. Funds are greatly needed now for the work. It is a community project, and everyone is urged to make financial contribution to the Association. Those who have already made pledges of definite amounts and of 10 per cent of their gross receipts for May 21 and 22, as well as all others are urgently requested to make their contributions to the Bandera Tourist Association, located in the Lodge Bros. Boot Court.

GLENDON ROBERTS
President, Bandera Tourist Association.

O. & H. ENTERPRISES, INC. NOW DOING BUSINESS

The new building recently completed by O. & H. Enterprises, Inc., is now open and this new business is getting off to a fine. The concern specializes in service and machinery and farmers in stock remedies, seeds, fertilizers, crop duster, spraying and weeding, vicinary supplies.

William Wrigley Jr. the chewing-gum king, was riding in an elevator one day, when a stranger said, "I just can't understand why you spend such vast sums of millions of dollars every year into advertising when everyone is already aware of your brand name."

Wrigley pondered briefly, then asked, "How fast would you say this plane is traveling?"

"About two hundred miles an hour," was the answer.

Then, answered Wrigley "should the motors go dead the plane will travel only a mile or two on its own momentum after that it will crash. So it is with advertising. You stop advertising and you crash."

A city boy and a country lad were walking down a street, coming toward them was a group of the county parties—consisting of a man, woman and a dreadnaught completion and gaudy dress.

"Now what do you think of that?" asked the city boy.

The farm boy looked carefully and observed: "Speaking as a farmer, I should say that a road hose been mighty poor soil to require so much top-dressing."

DUDE RANCHES IN THE HILL COUNTRY

by William B. Atkinson, in Texas Parade

The Bandera Tourist Association is a pretty frank outfit. The members exponents of the famed Hill Country of Texas, readily admit there are some things you won't find in their part of the country. Says a letter from the association to prospective dude ranch guests:

"We can't get none of them Florida beaches or ferns of them Alpine Mountains. We can't get no movie actors or California society. We've plenty rattlesnakes, but not having none of them fork cheerers or rich widders available, cannot guarantee to get your kinds treatment not getting any of them for before to kill folks what we ain't got."

Despite Texas' shortcomings, the dude ranch business is still right along. Thirty-odd ranches reported a total of 40,000 guests through the war and thereafter. Few persons have read about it's on the range without yearning to smell trail dust and saddle leather, to eat hot biscuits and beef strips at the chuckwagon. The romance of the old west, packaged with most of the comforts of home, and many vacationers go to dude ranches. Ain't TV-cattle rustlers welcome that guarantee to merely as another cash crop, but also because they like "company." The hospitality of most dude ranches guests ranches were on the Hill Country long before it was famous. Most were to products of loneliness in the home whose children had grown and gone their own ways. The old folks were happy to offer their spare rooms to city visitors who brought cheer to the fireside. The Bruns Guest Ranch near Bandera started when Mrs. Bruns in the results used to invite their neighbors home for suppers with. Long after the girls finished school the Bruns' hospitality continued to draw friends and some Lawyers Welcome though the price was right, and presently exceeded demand, so they began to charge for rest. The visitors continued to arrive. Next result is that the Bruns now make a business of their guests to supplement the general ranch activity. Gradually, perhaps these have been added to the ranch headquarters, and the ranch-ers view with fear the Hereford cattle in the back pasture as a recreation feature of the ranch.

The Mayan Ranch, one of the older and more elaborate in the Bandera section provides individual cottages, a swimming pool, Friday, and scenic views are to be found at other ranches. The Lost Valley Ranch is typical of these ranches. Built to the comfort of visitors, Room service, pools fountain, well stocked library and spacious lounge. Chefs of nationwide fame apply their skills to food from the range: beef from white-faced herds, choice poultry and eggs with plenty of cream, milk and butter from the ranch dairy. Ranch products of course are supplemented by other foods from the best markets.

Seven of the better class Texas dude ranches have a combined capital investment amounting to more than $10,000,000.

Advertising in the Texas dude ranch industry has been steeped in corny jive and hokum. Vacational memories are more spare nowadays than ever before to Hybridal inches, groups and associations. Nearly every ranch offers a pamphlet setting out its virtues in detail.

The Bandera Tourist Association has not only the Hill Country's weaknesses, but itself in mind. Whether it succeeds there ain't a darn thing can be done about it. If you don't it, you put it. If you don't you just ain't. And cite pointer.

FUN FOR EVERYONE

Out in the wide open spaces of Western Kansas the wind blows hard, and one day a stranger noticed a log chain hanging from a limb near one of the railroad company's buildings. Needless to ask, further investigation revealed the fact that the chain was put there for a purpose, and that purpose was to hold the engine and hang it to a tree during the night. In the morning I perk through a crack in the cabin and take a look at that there chain. It is a hangin' down, everything is all right and peaceful like. But the chain is a-tickin' and a-tockin' and a-squawk and balk and jar straight out from that there and jerk and rumble and jumble limb. I figger it's too windy for me to work.

A gentleman who lived near the railroad and had been annoyed by the noise made by a switch engine, wrote this masterpiece and sent it to the railroad company:

"Gentlemen: Why is it that the switch engine has to disturb the entire neighborhood at all hours of the night? Why cannot the engine and hang and bang and rant and howl and yowl and snort and chuff and chuck and hoot and toot and flash and crash and gasp and rasp and whistle and wheeze and sqhawk and balk and jar and jerk and rumble and jumble and clatter, and clutter and quiver and shiver all night long."

JOHN GUTHRIE AND THE BANDERA BUGLE

Many present day citizens of Bandera hold to the belief that the Bandera Enterprise was Bandera's first newspaper. The Bandera Bugle was the first newspaper published here. It was established December 2, 1882, by [illegible] & Ward. [illegible] later [illegible] a cattle ranch. In February, 1886, [illegible] was purchased by William Hudspeth, a lawyer, and a Methodist minister named Chambers. For several years Bandera had two live, wat-like newspapers, but finally John Guthrie moved his plant over to Boerne and established the Boerne Post. Guthrie was a real type of the frontier journalist, and never hesitated to call a spade a spade. He had a fine family, and was a real booster for Bandera and the Hill Country. Under the heading of his paper he carried a line: "He that loveth not his own born the same shall not be loosed." One of his sons, Will Guthrie, became a very prominent citizen of Angely, and died there some thirty-five years ago. One of his daughters still live in San Antonio. The good work done by John Guthrie for the glorious Hill Country is today bearing fruit.

Tourist Association Plans Ad. Campaign

In the following letter sent by President Glendon Roberts, all Bandera Tourist Association members were urged to cooperate to carry on the publicity started by Jay Stumpde, and Roberts asked for advertising in their association for the coming year. Dues are three dollars per cent of their gross intake on May 21-22, or paying in proportion to their business ability:

The Bandera Stompede was a great success, thanks to the whole-hearted efforts of the community and to the financial support given by many of the businessmen, guest ranches, and individuals. The Bandera Tourist Association spent approximately $7,000 to put on our First Annual Association and Advertise Bandera and vicinity. Our efforts and expenditure have thus far paid dividends to every business man in the county as a whole. In addition to large financial returns to many businessmen, it is estimated that Bandera and vicinity have received a quarter of a million dollars' worth of free advertising, which in this year will pay handsome dividends to every one and to every institution in this area. For this reason we feel that approximately $35.00 worth of free advertising for every dollar spent by the Tourist Association for the least money available anywhere.

The Bandera Tourist Association is your community advertising agency. It is the only means of advertising available. No private advertising can be paid and can compare with the Association in results obtained for the money expended. It is you in this advertising project. Its great success depends on the fact that this organization is a civic enterprise, a community project, and by your support we are able to get, without charge, the full cooperation of the press, radio, chambers of commerce and other means of free advertising which are not available to individuals or private advertising agencies, therefore, every dollar spent by you in this project multiplies pays not only for one dollar's worth of good advertising, but in addition, you get many dollars' worth of free advertising, which is the best part of its existence. Front page advertising by way of news items is the best advertising in existence and cannot be bought for any price. But it is available to a community enterprise.

There were some who made no money out of the Stompede, but the main purpose of the Stompede was not to make money, but a couple of days. Its object was much more far-reaching than two days of extra business to many. Tremendous advertising which Bandera and vicinity received from the Stompede is worth many times as much to this community as the money which was actually brought to Bandera on those two days. The Stompede is merely one step in the long pull which is to make Bandera and vicinity, including all ranches, towns and communities, a prosperous year 'round tourist and recreational center. This can be increased business every day not just for two days. Our ultimate aim is a permanent benefit not only to business, but also to schools, churches, public parks, playgrounds for children and all other worthwhile civic enterprises. What is good for the community is good for each individual in it.

The Association has plans for an extensive advertising campaign, which will be started immediately to follow up and take advantage of the good start already made by the Jay Stumpde and the successful advertising given to it. Funds are greatly needed for this work. Everyone is urged to buy as much advertising in the Association as his sound business judgment dictates. This is a sound business proposition and the benefit of all, and everyone should put his shoulder to the wheel and with his money and effort help us to put this thing over in a big way. Bandera quarter horse and guest ranches pledged 10 per cent of their gross receipts for May 21 and 22, as their advertising investment for the coming year. Those who had no definite financial receipts on those days are requested to invest on this advertising fund in proportion to their ability and business to help finance this advertising project for the coming year. Those who have not paid their pledge to the special Stompede committee are requested to pay same promptly. Those paying dues are urged to do so promptly so that the [illegible] great purpose.

The Young People's class of the First Baptist church held their quarterly business meeting Tuesday night at the church as per-sec and decided to have a hoe-hack riding party on Friday, June 18, honoring June Risinger and Odie Stubble, whose birthdays fall in June. Refreshments were served.

Tourist Association Plans Ad. Campaign

In the following letter signed by President Theodore Roberts all Bandera Tourist Association members were requested to respond to carry on the publicity started by the Stompede, and were asked to buy advertising in their association for the coming year, in order to pay for the payment of their gross intake on May 21-22, or paying in proportion to their business profits.

The Bandera Stompede was a great success, thanks to the whole-hearted support of the community and to the financial support given by the many businessmen, guest ranches, and individuals. The Bandera Tourist Association spent approximately $7,000 to put on our First Annual Stompede and Rodeo, which paid for dirt and vicinity. Our efforts and expenditure have thus far met great favor with the entire county as a whole. In addition to large financial returns to many businesses, it is estimated that Bandera and vicinity have received a quarter of a million dollars' worth of free advertising, which in time will pay substantial dividends to the city and also to every institution in this area. This free advertising was approximately $35.00 worth of free advertising for every dollar spent. This is the most outstanding and the least money available anywhere.

The Bandera Tourist Association is your community advertising agency. It is the only means of advertising available. No private advertising agency, radio station or publication has the Association in results obtained from the money invested by you in this advertising project. Its great success depends on the full cooperation of every civic enterprise, a community project, and by the fact that we are able to get, without charge, the full cooperation of the press, radio stations, chambers of commerce and other means of free advertising which are not available to individuals or private advertising agencies, therefore, every dollar that is spent by the Association pays not only for one dollar's worth of good advertising, but in addition to that many dollars' worth of free advertising, which in the future will not be existence. Front page advertising by way of news items is the best advertising of all and which cannot be bought for any price, and it is available to a community enterprise.

There were some who made no money out of the Stompede, but the main purpose of the Stompede was not to make money for a county of Bandera's size, but much more far-reaching than two days of extra business. The tremendous advertising which Bandera and vicinity received out of the Stompede will be worth many times as much to this community if everyone will do his part and have brought to Bandera on these two days. The Stompede is merely the one step in the reaching out to make Bandera and vicinity, including all surrounding towns and communities, a prosperous year 'round tourist and recreational center. Such can be increased business every day, not just for two days. Our ultimate aim is to make Bandera not only to business, but also to schools, churches, public parks, playgrounds for children, and all other worthwhile civic enterprises. What is good for the community is good for each individual in it.

The Association has plans for an extensive advertising campaign, which should be waged immediately in order to not only take advantage of the good start already made with the Stompede and the successful advertising given to it. Funds are greatly needed and must be had. Everyone is urged to buy as much advertising in this Association as his sound business judgment dictates. This is a sound business proposition for the benefit of all, and everyone should put his shoulder to the wheel with his money and effort help us to put this thing over in a big way. Your business and guest ranches pledged 18 per cent of their gross receipts for May 21 and 22, in addition to existing investment for the coming year. Those who have not paid their pledge to the special Stompede project are requested to pay same promptly. Those participants in the Stompede are reminded that the

The Young People's class of the First Baptist church held their monthly business meeting Tuesday night in the church and decided to have a hot-dog-back riding party on Friday, June 18, honoring June Hilbert and Odie Stubblefield, whose birthdays fall in June. Refreshments were served.

The business will be run in a short metal shop and the other two buildings to be used as business houses. Later in the evening they made a trip to the river, where a weenie roast was served with fresh strawberries and pineapple pre-served by Mrs. Bob Mansfield. All Charles a fond farewell were Mrs. Hallie Fawley, Ellen Wright, Janelle Akin, Jo Nell Denson, June Risinger, Eugene Risinger, Mrs. Ellen Wright, Frank Brooks, James Bell, Billie Mack Clark, and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dearmike.—Reporters.

PREPARING FOR OLYMPIC TRYOUTS

Tonight promises to be one of the most rough and tumble nights Bandera has ever seen, as fighters from all the neighboring counties will flock into the ring to decide who will continue the Olympics contest starting in San Antonio June 15th. The best attendance of the evening, will probably be when R. E. Adams puts on an exhibition of a return bout with Augustine Bustos. If, it has been requesting that return bout for over a month now. Adams will battle with Jesse Herrera; W. T. Hatfield with either Max Cohen 180 pounds, or Jack Contreras, 200 pounds; Louis Masurek vs. Tom Finney; Clinton Smith vs. Bill Lane; Johnny Hayes unmatched as yet. The most polished bout of the evening will be when Lee Sylvester clashes with Wintner Stevens. Bruises will not only be administered to men but beast and foul will suffer a heavy loss. Jack Hatfield will kings of separate flocks of chickens, will settle a grudge.

Schertz Torn Off By Ranch Hands

Although held to seven hits of his scratch variety, the Ranch Hands took advantage of every break and coasted to a one run, 8 to 1 victory over the visitors from Schertz last Sunday afternoon. It was the inability of the Schertz boys to handle the perfect bunts of the locals, coupled with some alert and heavy base running by the Ranch Hands that spelled defeat for the visitors.

Manager Suche revamped his lineup by inserting Lee Ayrhart short, George Flood at second, and placing Jimmy Fussett in left field, and all of the boys playing their new positions came through with flying colors. Only one blobble was committed by the Bandera lads, and this one error was in the nature of a rule book error. Doc Strickhausen in tagging a Schertz runner coming to first had the ball knocked out of his hand and was charged with the only miscue.

Roland Walton, pitching his first game of the season, pitched fine ball until he tired in the 7th inning and was relieved by Jimmy Fussett, who put out the fire and held the opposition scoreless in the final two frames.

Next Sunday afternoon the Cowboy Park the Hitch Hands will tangle with one of the fast clubs in the San Antonio area the Fort Sam Houston Warriors who boast of a hard hitting and experienced ball club. A fine game is assured for the fans and fans who have so splendidly supported the team this summer

Construction of Highway Begins

Construction of the new highway from Bandera to Kerrville, a distance of 23 miles, got under way Monday morning, when grading started at the edge of Bandera near the cemetery. Excavating, grubbing, and surfacing of the road is being done by contractors W. E. Bailey of San Marcos. The route will follow the old road through Bandera and into Kerrville. And when it is completed it will be one of the best built roads in this section, as the entire route is to be made permanent some years ago by the government when the test fleet was in operation. While it is listed as a farm to market project now in time it will be designated as a State highway in a link of the great North and South highway that will run from Red River on the north to Laredo on the South. It will be continued from Bandera to Hondo and from there on to the Mexican border.

ENTERTAIN HUSBANDS AT CLUB MEETING

The members of the Friendly Neighbors Club entertained their husbands at the beautiful lake home of Mrs. Kerrville Jimmie Lampis on last Wednesday evening. The usual business meeting, knitting and such, was dispensed with for the evening and contests, games and dominoes enjoyed by those present. The members of this club meet every Wednesday afternoon, and it was decided at last meeting that they would have two parties each year and invite the husbands, however, all the men present had such a good time that so enjoyed their's, food, that they handed in their dues of the club be increased to enable at least one party a month, to include the men, and not to be decided upon at a later date.

The table was placed on the lovely lawn of the home and delicious charcoal broiled steaks, a meal long to be remembered by those present, were served, along with baked potatoes, tossed vegetable salad, hot rolls, banana cake, chocolate cake iced tea and coffee. A most delightful evening was spent by all, and the members departed with high praises for the delightful entertained by the Lampis' at some date in the not too distant future. Those present in addition to the host and hostess, were Mr. and Mrs. John Allen, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Walton, and Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Autery, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Burke, Miss Berniece Holt, and Miss Lucille Lampis of San Antonio, and Ham Chipman and Jo Johnnie Lampis and Miss Lila Baker.

PIPELINE WILL START IN FALLEN

Washington, May 31 — Construction of a pipeline to carry natural gas from the southwest to New York City and the Middle Atlantic area had the conditional approval of the Federal Power Commission Monday.

The line is to be built by Trans-Continental Gas Pipeline Company, of Tarpaley Texas. Its cost is estimated at $151,000,000 to $180,000,000. The company says it would begin to start operations in the fall of 1950.

The decision in the grant ing of a certificate was that the company makes a further study of the possibilities for storing ground storages of gas in off-peak periods and report on this within two years.

The commission said the company also would start construction of the line within one year and complete the project within 28 months after a certificate is granted.

Other conditions were that the company submit its final estimated cost of the project and that, at least six months before starting operations, the company submit a satisfactory rate schedule.

The commission said the line will have a sales capacity of 325 million cubic feet of gas daily in the summer and of 740 million cubic feet in the winter.

Most of the gas will be sold to distributing companies as a substitute for coal and other fuels now used in the production of manufactured gas.

Chairman Philip Mcnamee said the $180 million line would start from fields in the Rogers Lake territory Mercedes, Hidalgo County, Texas, and traverse the states of Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York.

FORD WAGE INCREASE AHEAD

Detroit, May 31.—The automobile industry paused in its wage contract talks Monday but only to await a third chapter's out come.

As General Motors and Chrysler settlements headed toward anticipated rank and file approval, the C.I.O.United Auto Workers were well prepared to get down to business.

The union's 400 strike committee of factory reps from the 200,000 in the "Big Three" the auto industry.

For talks between Ford and the union, formally set to start June 14, but they began earlier. Management has asked for a preliminary chart session.

In the meantime, the U. A. W.-C. I. O. 60 Chrysler local officers on hour notice for 75,000 workers as certain of approval in a general membership ratification vote.

The same is promised for the 31 cents' hike tacked on the cost of living which affects 225,000 Ford and Motors employees.

Chrysler, which had been closed by a strike for 17 days, expects to get the auto full production next week.

Doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but no one else does.

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

In the 1300's there were published in Texas a humorous weekly newspaper, TEXAS SIFTINGS. It was edited by Alex E. Sweet and J. Armoy Knox, and became one of the most widely circulated papers in the state. Sweet & Knox moved their headquarters to New York, and made the Texas Siftings the leading humorous paper of the country. Here are some of the items published:

MALARIAL INTOXICATION.—Is that produced by chills and fever, etc. Since it has been customary for many years past to punish weekly mortuary reports for the purpose of informing those inhabitants who are ignorant of the names of those who have died, and what diseases carried they died of, in order to bring this information within the reach of all who can read, the Latin and Greek names of the diseases are given. This is an excellent idea. If a member of the family dies, it is consoling to the survivors to read in the mortuary report that it was not pneumonia, but lienteric aestion that killed him. Nobody could reasonably expect to survive all that. Or when we read that he is astonished that the patient died at all, but only ordinary impingition of the cerebrum, superinduced by chlaasma ephelis." If the other party does not succumb to "grave brain fever" we will not ask if that is the barber's fich, for it is not. Although it is somewhat similar, being rather in the nature of lung jupiter.

We have compared more than ten Antonio people educated themselves up to talking about their proper names that nothing is more common than to hear even colored people conversing somewhat in the following style: "Dat nigger, Sam Jones, how's yer chile comin' on? I heered yuh chile had de measles, but I 'spect he wusseist kind ob peretonitis ob de mucus membrane ob de brain chrahnious, an' erysipelas an' a misery in re chist." To which Sam Jones responds: "De chile has done got ober all dat, but dis mornin' hit was all broke out in de epidermis, but I has strong hopes ob bits gittin' well, for I has dun prescribed fer it, an' I has a fack dat my self ob de rheumatismus paralyzed de whole ob my left leg, but I jes knocked the stiffness out ob it wid angle worm oil."

These technical terms may not be correct, but they answer the purpose just as well as any others.

Not long since, in glancing over the San Antonio papers, we were surprised to read that some body, for the first time in many years, had died of an intelligible malady. It was stated that "Mr. Blank, aged 36, malarial intoxication." Now, that's plain enough. Mr. Blank, while suffering from malaria, tried to cure it with some of Sam C. Bennett's sour mash whiskey, and between the malaria and the whiskey the poor man failed to survive. It was a great source of satisfaction for us to know precisely in what one person in San Antonio actually died of. It was not too much gastrostaxia subacrulia, or even a haematemesis, of cattis podagricus, or any of those ordinary modes of shuffling off the mortal coil, but simply malarial intoxication. Our satisfaction that people over at San Antonio had refused to be old-fashioned diseases was of short duration. In the next issue of the paper we was riveted to its socket by the following card from Dr. Menger. See the physician in the San Antonio Evening Light.

San Antonio, Jan. 25, 1882

Editors Evening Light.—In regard to the term "malarial intoxication," as certified in his death certificate, by the attending physician, and in my weekly mortuary report, I noticed in your yesterday's Light that this term is to be a mistake, and that it should have been "malarial toxicosis." Now allow me to mention that although I was aware of the mistake in the term "malarial intoxication" I considered it in my weekly report as one of the common terms in the science of mortuary. His ears—or the few rags and tatters of them that the dogs have left—are furled back with a knowing snaboolish air. His tail has no more life in it than a hangs at law as a wet dish-rag hung out of a sailor's window to dry. The hog-fat peak of his cornuptet back is six inches above the level of the rest of his body, and the hair on his back with the slow and stately step of the patrician Berkshire, but usually goes in a lively trot. He leaves the impression that he was late starting in the morning and is making up for lost time; or that he is hoping about on the payment on that check, and is hurrying to get it cashed before the bank closes.

The country razor-back hog grows around in the woods and lives on acorns, pecan nuts and roots; when he can spare time he climbs under his owner's fence and assists in harvesting the crop. His respect for law is neighborly to a fault, and when his duty to his owner's crop will not permit, he will cheerfully turn in and assist the neighbors, even working at night rather than see the crop spoil for want of attention.

He does not know the luxury of a sty. He never gets fat, and runs the race with both nerves three times two years roll into eternity before he is big enough to kill.

Crossing the razor-back with the blue-blooded stock makes but little improvement. The only effective way to improve him is to cross him with a railroad train. He then becomes symmetrical, Berkshire or Poland-China in shape, and his flesh takes on that delicate flavor that makes the train off the track, the railroad company pay him at least the rate of one dollar a pound, for which the yare allowed the mournful privilege of shoveling the remains off the track.

The fame of the razor-back is more juicy than the hind leg of an iron fire-dog, but not quite so fat as a pine knot.

The city razor-back differs from his country relatives only in the matter of the quality of his food and the length of his tail. The city species they go the roots of tropical plants and other garden luxuries instead of which better thank you. It was not the regular ——— nature at all, but only ordinary impingition, aided, no doubt, by a little with mammalia chlaasma ephelis." If the other party does not succumb to "grave brain fever" we will not ask if that is the barber's fich, for it is not. Although it is somewhat similar, being rather in the nature of lung jupiter.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, June 7, 1923, published by J. M. Hunter.)

John Saathoff, a well known citizen of this county, died last Tuesday at Hondo, after a few days illness, and was buried at Quihi yesterday afternoon. Deceased was born June 16, 1861, in Medina county, and had resided in Medina and Bandera counties all of his life. He was a man of good reputation and liked by all who knew him. Honest and upright in all his dealings, and to his pastings the county loses a good citizen and loyal friend. Mr. Saathoff is survived by five brothers: M. L. Saathoff, Tarpley; Henry Saathoff of Bandera, Jacob Saathoff of Quihi, William Saathoff of Hondo, and Solomon Saathoff of Quihi. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Misses Florence Fyfer and Thelma Richards came in last week from San Marcos, where they have been attending school. They were delighted with the school and visit.

Governor Neff has signed the bill for the electrocution of all persons condemned to death in Texas, and it will become effect ive 90 days after adjournment of the present session of the legislature. The new law will cause all legal deaths in the carrying out of judicial action to be within the walls of the State penitentiary at Huntsville.

Miss Ruby Lewis, a former Bandera girl, was married to Pete Jones of Sabinal last Tuesday night. The wedding took place in San Antonio. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Lewis and was raised here, where she like a host of friends who wish her much happiness. The groom is an energetic young business man of Sabinal. The Era joins in congratulations and best wishes.

Lt. G. Montague leaves this week for Fort Stockton, Texas where he will engage in the practice of law. It is with keen regret that we chronicle this fact for we have lost a citizen who is well known and likes Joe Montague. He was born and raised in this county, and for several years has successfully practiced law here. He is seeking a broader field in which to follow his chosen profession and Fort Stockton offers that field. Some years ago Joe's brother, Bolan Montague, lived in Alpine and has built up a good law practice and is now district attorney out there. While realizing our great loss and regretting the departure of this excellent citizen and model young man, everybody wishes Joe the best of success and a glorious career in West Texas.

Clarence Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Brown of this city died suddenly at his home Wednesday night of last week and was buried Thursday afternoon, the funeral being conducted by Rev. M. J. Scott. The young man had been in ill health for several months, but during the past few weeks seemed to be getting better. He was about 25 years of age and was well liked by all who knew him. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Frances Rupe, our postmaster, returned Tuesday from San Antonio, where she went several days under the care of a specialist. She has been afflicted with an ear trouble for some time, but is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Habenicht and daughter, Miss Annie, went to San Antonio yesterday.

Frank Ross and little son, Curtis, were here Saturday and Saturday guests of his father, John H. Ross. Frank now operates a garage and store at Stockdale and is doing a good business.

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Evans, of Lima, were in the city Monday, returning from a trip to Uvalde. They called and spent a brief time with us, and Mr. Evans says he is going to go on a camping trip for the benefit of his health. He recently suffered a sick spell and believes a camping trip will complete his recovery.

Archibald and Everett Briggs were in to see us Tuesday. They were returning to their home at Medina after a visit to Dilley and Pearsall.

Misses Lossie Padgett, Thelma Richards and Florence Fries returned Friday from Ft. Mavon, where they have been attending school.

Dwight Eckhart entertained a number of his friends, including a number of the graduating class, last Saturday night with an enjoyable ice cream party at his home on Main Verde. A heavy downpour of rain occurred and the young folks who went from town in a truck were compelled to stay all night at the ranch, but they greatly enjoyed the party and the hospitality of the Eckhart home.

Three Mighty Important Ideas

Maybe you read, where a great encyclopedia has sorted all basic ideas into a few select groups. Under the letter "T" they have:

Temperance - Truth - Tyranny.

Sounds like a funny combination, and to philosophize a little, notice that Truth is in the center—before Tyranny and Temperance.

Now and then you hear folks criticise temperate people who enjoy a moderate glass of beer . . . who talk about "two beers" getting some one into trouble, and claim: "There ought to be a law!"

Then Truth steps in between, and points out that two beers never got anybody into trouble—and that somebody's trying to distort the facts. No, there shouldn't be a law —there should be Truth.

From where I sit, those ideas are arranged just right. Temperance in one side, Tyranny on the other—and Truth in the middle—seeing that Tyranny never encroaches upon Temperance.

The vacant spaces on Bandera's Broadway are filling up. This week construction of three new store buildings started on the corner of Oak Street and Main, just across from the new Frontier Hotel. Three new business concerns will occupy these new buildings. Bandera continues to grow.

Bandera has about recovered from the flood since the big one of May 23-22, and is now busily engaged in preparation for the many tourists and visitors who are expected to come to this delightful region during the vacation period. Splendid accommodations will be obtained at the various guest ranches in and near Bandera town, and plenty of recreation and outdoor pleasures may be enjoyed. The world is hearing about Bandera, and this world is besting a path to our doors.

Construction work started this week on the Kerrville to Bandera highway, which will come through Bandera Pass. The contract for the building of this highway, a distance of 23 miles, was recently let to B. F. Raby of San Marcos. It is designated as a farm-to-market project but eventually it will become one of the State's great arteries of commerce, as the road North and South highway will be put through, leading from Red River on the North to Laredo on the South. The road from Kerrville through Bandera Pass to Bandera is but a link in the proposed highway. The next stage will be to extend it from Bandera on to Hondo and this will probably be done before many months pass.

Mrs. Ruth Wyatt has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Ben Hall, and family in Houston. Mrs. Wyatt reports that Mrs. Hall is getting along nicely following her recent operation.

Fertilizer

We don't have any definite figures yet on the yield of oats on Heidt that have been fertilized look pretty good in spots. Wept out to Frank Kalka's place to see Gene Burns try out his new combine and as far as we could tell the fertilized oats were making about 20 bushels to the acre. Frank says that he will make better than 500 bushels on 25 acres. And that's a lot better than we expected for a while.

We could very definitely vet a difference in the fertilized and unfertilized corn over at Tarpley on Willie Schmidt's place. The corn on the area that was phosphoiased year before last is a lot darker green and is much taller than on the unfertilized plat.

We'll have some definite yield figures on the fertilized plots later on. In the meantime we think Buck Joiner's corn field is one of the best in the county—even though it hasn't had any fertilizer. However, the land was bedded and rebedded before planting, and the corn was planted on the contour so that each row would catch and hold the rainfall. And that can be a big asset an inch of rain on that patch the other night—and that many is a lot.

Fred Burchfiel all the asgies we have seen have made agricultural practices such as deep, early plowing and keeping the land free of weeds to pay off in the end as fertilizer. A combination of the two will just can't be beat.

4-H News

The judging team that will go to the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show had been selected and will be given some extra training before long. We found out that they wouldn't let us bring but three and maybe an alternate. So the team that has been selected to go are Victor Hillman, Thomas Keese, Jr., and Harold Baroch, with Lester Buck as an alternate. They will leave on June 15th, be at Sonora on the 16th and 17th. They will judge sheep, goats, wool and mohair. While there they will be the guests of the Sonora Lions Club.

Oscar Tanpkar was down from over on Little Creek the other day. Went up to Mr. Rayzar's place to get a meter calf for his daughter, Martha Lee. Got a good one, too. That calf will be fed and fitted for the Uvalde Junior Livestock Show. Bandera County 4-H members have the habit of winning the Uvalde county show, and we are going to try again this year.

Several 4-H members are making plans to attend the Texas Angora Goat Raisers Show and Sale which will be held in Uvalde during the first week in August. They are also getting ready for the State Junior Rio Grande and Sale which will be held in Kerrville probably during the second week in August. Both club members have some mighty good yearling billies that will be for sale. Anybody who's interested some billie goats this year would do well to visit the sales auctions and buy what they need from the club members. Most of the billies are registered but there are also a few flat lock goats in the bunch. All carry considerable quality and would be good sires in any bunch. They were originally selected from some of the best registered bunches in the state, including those of Brooks Sawtelle at Rocksprings, Buzz Halbert at Sonora, C. A. Pepper at San Antonio, H. E. Padgett at Tarpley, and some home-raised ones.

Registered Rams

We have been trying to fix it so that Bandera County ranchmen can buy their registered rams in the county—by encouraging local ranchmen to raise a little registered stock among their stock. Making some progress too. Talked to W. C. Randle the other day and he said he had another nice bunch of Corriedale bucks for this year, and I heard this should be ready for light use next fall. As we have mentioned before, there are now several good bunches of Suffolks in the county and also still plenty of good Delaines. If we keep on it will be possible for ranchmen in this county to buy all his purebred sires right here. Of course, the old thing that "A prophet is without honor in his own backyard" out words to that effect) holds true in this kind of a business—it seems that a lot of people prefer to go somewhere else to buy their bucks and billies. So for those who prefer to do that, we expect to have another real Ram and Buck Sale again this year. Anyway, it will save driving your pickup all over the country looking for the stuff. In the end, though, your satisfaction probably has what you want, and in the first place.

Here and There

Bill Shumette, farm editor of Radio Station WOAI, was here to see us the other day. Bill has a new camera and took some pictures out on the Tedford ranch—some of the pasture-variation work that is being done out there and some of the ranch house. Also got a shot of the 70 or more pigs out in the pen. Bill said it sure looked to him like Mr. Tedford was in the hog business. • • • • Allie Allsup of Medina and A. H. Schott of Pipe Creek were recommended for the position of temporary supervisors of the new soil conservation district, to hold the district election for permanent supervisors. The State Board will no doubt call that election before long, so folks had better be thinking about whom they want or that board in this district. It will be required, under state law, that five supervisors be elected, one for each of the five subdivisions. • • • • Seems to rain more every time we turn around anywhere else. Capt. Reed said he got about two inches out of this last shower and they often it rained three inches and more at the Lacken Hicks ranch. Hondo Creek sure got on a rear. • • • • Other reports of an inch or more of rain came from Mr. T. F. Stevens, C. C. Adams, Raymond Lather and several others—I didn't lay the dust out on the Julian. • • • • We guessed Gus Kvasz got a field of corn—65 bushels. Charlie Stein said he wouldn't make half as much on his twelve hundred acres. Anyway, we saw anyone as busy as Shorty Chamblee which he is harvesting oats—and then he admits that he still has 300 bushels left over from last year! • • • • Lace Lamykine said he thought Doc Strickhausen must have been sick last Saturday, said he saw him coming through town making not over 15 miles a hour. Lace said he never saw Doc drive that slow before.

Misses Lucy and Blanche Culten, of Myrtle Point, Oregon, spent several days here the past week, looking over old scenes of their childhood. These ladies left Bandera county many years ago when they were small children and this is their first visit back to Bandera. Their father owned a ranch on East Verde Creek, and was one of the early settlers there.

Last Friday the senior editor of the Bulletin and his sister, Mrs. Alice Hunter McMahan, visited Junction and Mason, and saw may old childhood scenes. Mrs. McMahan is here from San Diego, California, on a short visit. They returned to Bandera Friday afternoon, accompanied by another sister, Mrs. Cora Rickenbach of Mason, who spent Saturday and Sunday here.

Henry and Sherrill Schaefer went to San Antonio Friday afternoon and accompanied their father, Fred Schaefer, and their half-brother, Frank Schaefer and family of San Antonio to Corpus Christi for a fish trip. The fish were not biting good, though. Henry and Sherrill returned late Sunday night to Bandera and brought back a few "angel" fish and two flounders.

Miss Eva Thallman, who spent the past year here, left last week for Boston, where she has accepted a position with a large hotel company. Miss Thallman, who is a sister to Mrs. Charles Eckhart of this city, was reared in Bandera, but left here about twenty-five years ago to become chief dietician in the General Hospital in Boston, which position she held for some years, afterwards going to New York. She returned to Bandera last year. Her many friends here regret that she has decided again to make her home in the North

WHEN POTATO BARNES LOST HIS GOLD

Back in the late 1850's an eccentric character named Barnes took up his domicile in a cave over in the Hondo Canyon, near Tarpley. He lived at the bluff on the creek still known as Barnes' Bluff, and irrigated a little patch of ground with waters taken from the creek, raising vegetables, which he carried to old Fort Lincoln, near D'Hanis, and sold to the soldiers stationed there. He was usually paid in gold coin, and it is related by old timers who knew him that he secured a large cypress log and bored holes here and there with a two-inch auger. He would place his $10 and $20 gold pieces in these holes and when a hole was nearly filled he would close it up with a wooden peg and seal it so close that it was difficult to locate the hole. The log, containing the coin, was placed in front of his cave, and no one suspected that it contained a rich hoard of the pieces. One night a flood came down the creek which Barnes slept and washed the log away. He enlisted the aid of several men to search for it, and it was found about a week later stranded on a drift several miles below his place. He was called "Potato Barnes" because he raised potatoes and sold them to the troops at Fort Lincoln.

"As we stood gazing at the Medina River below us, at the village of Bandera, and the blue hills beyond, we suddenly saiified the quiet of the town from the country chickies drifting through the air. Talking about food—we ordering from an amazing menu, with delicious Texas specialties. City steaks, home made pies, and a host of other fine foods that the Silver Spur is prepared to serve. Silver Spur's own special chef . . .

"Yes, sir, friends, you sit down, rear back, and watch the show that takes place at the band stand with the music and the song of the Texas Hillbilies, or better still, you can take part in the fun and frolic and the folk dancing on that big dance floor built to accommodate twelve hundred people. Those Hillbilies have to play that Western music Bandera's style up there every Wednesday, Friday and Saturday nights. Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph, owner of Mount Rugh, and Jack Walton, co-partner of the Silver Spur Room, have booked some big name Western bands, which will add variety to the summer's entertainment. They also invite you to listen to the Silver Spur's special broadcast every Saturday from 12 noon to 12:30 over radio station KABC, and especially invite you to send dedications to your Bondera friends and folks at the various guest ranches."

Formal Opening of The Silver Spur

The beautiful Silver Spur is formally opened on Friday and Saturday nights, June 18 and 19, by Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph owner of Mt. Rugh, and Jack Walton, co-partner of the Silver Spur Room. One of Bandera's most glamorous night spots, the formal opening has been looked forward to for many weeks by pleasure seekers all over the state.

Have you ever peeked into a real Western wonderland? That is just what you will find when you visit the beautiful Silver Spur Room. Lots of happy folks, lots of good food and music and song, all, right there.

The Silver Spur Room will celebrate its grand opening next Friday and Saturday. This anniversary celebration will continue for sixteen years it has been traditional with the Rudolph family, and the tourists, to visit Mt. Rugh and enjoy the scenery and the food and music. They believe it or not, that scenery is more beautiful than ever this season and the food has been unusual. You can step up to elevated platforms in the beautiful dining floor and bug your eyes through picture windows at Bandera's mountains or at Hill Country scenery. It is a great building—big enough to be cool and well ordered, and it's completely Western in its decoration and atmosphere. And yet, the owner of this structure has not forgotten that all love the great out doors the feeling of space and freedom, so have made an elevated dancing patio overlooking the valley. This new location is magnificent. Truly you've got to see it to believe it!

The reception lobby will double as a special dining room where folks can dine when they don't care to dance. That way they don't have to pay the cover charge required for dancing in the dance floor. And when regular dances and conventions are held on the main floor, folks can still be served from the reception lobby.

1949 Fords Will Be Unveiled June 18

Unveiling of the 1949 Ford will take place at D'Spain Motors on Friday, June 18. The 1949 Ford sets new standards for beauty, comfort, performance and safety in the low-priced automobile field. It reveals a radical departure from traditional Ford styling and engineering. Styling of the new Ford definitely establishes it as the car of the year. To develop and produce the 1949 Ford passenger cars, Ford Motor Company has expended more than $37,400,000 in tools, dies, jigs, and engineering.

The modern design has been molded along functional lines, resulting in a long, low, sweeping silhouette. Comfort has been one of the primary objectives in the new Ford. There is more room in the "lounge car" interior than in many cars with much larger over-all dimensions.

Economy of operation has been increased up to 20 per cent by improvement in gasoline mileage in the new Ford Six engine and the extensively redesigned V-8. Both are offered in power ratings in a new high-compression cylinder head. Comfort has been one of the primary objectives in the new Ford. Interior styling is colorful and practical. Traditional, neutral toned automobile fabrics have been discarded in favor of new Broadcloths and mohairs which retain the dignity of Ford quality usage. Hardware is massive and attractive.

The Silver Dollar Offers Floor Show

The Silver Dollar has this week added a most interesting attraction, Tiptop Tinkle over Today (Friday), Saturday, and Sunday, Shorty Hamilton, cowboy pianist, player, will put on a show in the afternoon beginning at 3 and lasting until 5, and will be back again in the evening at 8 o'clock to entertain the public. Beginning this week-end he will on two shows a day, matinee and he on six days a week, putting evening. Have you met Shorty Hamilton? Shorty, who is aptly named, calls himself the "Texas Champion Cowboy Piano Player," and then goes on to prove his claim.Joe the title by pounding the keries in 29 different styles. He plays blind-folded, standing on his head, with a blanket covering the keys, with either or both feet busily engaged in cowboy boots, and just any way you want him to play. Just sit back and scratch your head figuring out a new way. Shorty will please you, and if you don't like the type ballads sung by Shorty, he will play them in his traditional fashion, and in the style you will be "meat on the table" for Shorty.

The only place in the city offering a floor show, the Silver Dollar popular resort is not making a cover charge.

BOY MAKES HISTORY IN FALL FROM TREE

Five weeks ago a Corpus Christi youth slipped from a tree and landed into the pages of medical history. Noel Leon Hervo, a green-eyed, olive-skinned boy of 11, survived an amazing ordeal. Look what happened. A thin cedar tree, straight and strong, was underneath the big tree he first climbed. Noel plunged. He fell on the little tree. It drove into his abdomen and emerged at the shoulder. Impaled by, the tree, he dangled in the air, screaming, his feet a dozen inches from the ground. Across the street in her home, his mother, Mrs. George Hervo, heard the agonized cries, like rats in the scene and then her screams for help blended with those of her son.

"People heard me for two blocks," she said.

A man came with a hatchet but his blows against the trunk of the tree were too much for the boy to stand. Someone fetched a saw, sawed through the slender trunk and Noel was lowered to the ground.

With the tree trunk extending from his body a foot or so in each direction, he was rushed to Corpus Christi's Memorial hospital, where a number of physicians were holding a meeting. Dr. Gordon Heaney, husky, amiable veteran of the Second World War, was called from the meeting to the hospital's emergency room.

"I hurriedly dropped in my trucks when I saw that boy," Dr. Heaney said. "We gave him plasma immediately and by the time he had had two bottles of blood, blood was ready and transfusions were started. He got three pints before he left the operating table."

When the plasma was started, Dr. Heaney picked up an anaesthetic mask and said: "Want a big whiff of ether, Noel?" "It'll make you feel better?"

"I don't want that," said Noel. "Just get that tree out of me."

The tree had entered the right upper quadrant of the abdomen, beneath the lower rib. It had been through the liver and had broken off the lower lobe of the right lung upward. It had pierced the diaphragm and the upper lobe of the right lung and had come out through the shoulder and the neck," just to back of the collar bone. At the abdomen, it was three inches in diameter, but at the point of the abdomen, it measured two inches.

"It was a tight fit at both openings," Dr. Heaney said.

That was a life saver—blood filled the pleural cavity and could not escape and the pressure built up inside the cavity halted the further loss of blood. Hervo was put to sleep. With Dr. Heaney were several of the top part of the tree. Rush with the boy's shoulder. Then the physicians took out the patient's seventh rib, in order to have room to work for vision and action during the dangerous process of withdrawing the tree. The tree was lifted with physicians who had been attending the operation. One had a muscle rancra, filming every step of the procedure.

Then they began withdrawing the tree, pulling it from the shoulder. The tree was lifted with by ich. As this was done, Dr. Heaney worked feverishly, putting the abdominal wall, the blood vessels and then tying them off. Clamp and tie, clamp and tie. Through a tube pushed down Noel's windpipe, air was forced into the injured lung, expanding it and making it possible for the physician to repair the damage. In ten minutes the tree was pulled and the tree was completely out.

"I've seen battle casualties in Africa, Italy, France and Germany with comparable injuries," Dr. Heaney said. "They didn't live."

Noel lived. A few days ago he went back to school. He feels fine. But he's steering clear of trees.

BOOM IN STORE SEEN IN UTOPIA

Utopia, Tex.—The sight of new building material going up in Utopia is a pretty sight to see more as many homes are going up or have just been completed.

C. D. McCollister's home is going fast. The material for the Frank Mobley's new home is being placed on their land and building will begin any day now. Hiton Miller will soon have the floor in his new home. The Russell Estes's are very busy painting the inside of their new home. Ira Reavis has poured the foundation of their home.

Lorky people who are already in possession of their new homes are Mrs. Berry and the Elton Boultinghouses.

Others have plans for the building fever.

TWO NEGROES BULLET VICTIMS

Kerrville, June 2—Ada Jackson, and her husband, Jesse Jackson, Negroes, were shot to death here Monday night in what officers reported was a slaying and a suicide.

Ada Jackson was shot six times with a .38 calibre pistol, and killed instantly, according to Deputy Sheriff Erwin Parks. Jackson died with one shot in his head.

No motive was known for the deaths. Jackson had been a patient at the Kerrville State Sanatorium for Negroes and was to have been readmitted. Sheriff Frank Moore said. Moore said the gun used was new, having been purchased Monday.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, June 7t, 1923, published by J. M. Hunter.)

Dr. John H. Erwin, Herbarger and Doc. White have put their heads together and claim to have perfected a wonderful invention for the catching of the biggest bass in the river. The big thing consisted in the brain of Dr. Erwin, and the devices consists of a toy balloon in which a live mouse is harnessed. The mouse is of such weight that the balloon cannot raise it, but when in operation the balloon cannot be sunk in water by the largest bass. When ready for use the mouse is harnessed up and put in the river, the balloon indicating developments. Mr. Bass comes along and swallows the mouse and rushes away, but he can't get away from that balloon and Doc White is then sent into the river to get the boss and the balloon while Dr. Erwin and Herman Harper remain on the bank to argue as to the probable size of the fish. It's bound to be a success. Dr. Erwin proposes to operate the apparatus, Herman Harper is to furnish the mice and Doc White is to take the fish from the device. It's all a great secret, but one day next week the trio plans to take away to a secluded spot on the Medina river to give the invention a try out.

Heard a fellow kicking the other day about the rocky streets of this town. Now, that's nothing to kick about. It wakes us feel proud to know that Bandera is the only town in the state that has rocky streets. It's something to be different.

Murray Seeks Aid For Butane Users

Testifying before a joint meeting of the U.S. Senate's Banking and Currency Committee and the steel industry's advisory council, Murray, a gradu ate petroleum engineer, said "People in Texas will be cold again next winter unless we get more steel with which to store butane during summer months."

Murray's appearance before the steel-use conference last week was in support of an interim schedule for Texas representation at the hearing sent to Gov. Jester by Sen. Kenneth Wherry, senate committee

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Who is this Man?

Now and then, in the pages of the Clarion, I run a biographical quiz, under the heading of "Who Is This Man?" For instance . . .

"He was one of the earliest lovers in American history. . . .

"And yet he was too shy to court a woman outright . . .

"He came to the New World on the Mayflower . . .

"A cooper to repair the beer barrels accompanying the Pilgrims . . .

"Who is this man?"

I thought that everybody was stumped. But not Ma Hoskins, who returned the clipping to me with "John Alden" on it. She recognized all the clues—including that reference to "beer" and "cooper."

For Ma—who's read her history, from cover to cover, in the leverage of moderation, is as old in this land of ours as the never-ending American search for tolerance which brought the Pilgrims over to this country in the first place.

Editorials . . .

On Saturday, June 19, Bandera will be host to several hundred newspaper editors, who will come here that afternoon to be guests of the Bandera Tourist Association. This annual meeting of the Texas Press Association will be held in San Antonio Friday and Saturday, June 18-19. An elaborate program has been arranged by the Alamo City for the entertainment of the visitors, and Bandera extended an invitation to them to come on to Bandera Town and enjoy the hospitality of Bandera. A barbecue supper by the Tourist Association, a rodeo and dance at Mansfield Park, will be among the features planned for the visitors. In the group is to be a noted English journalist, Gavin Astor, son of Colonel John Jacob Astor, one of the owners of the London Times. Gavin Astor will be accompanied by his wife, Lady Irene Astor, daughter of the late Sir Douglas Haig, the first Earl of Haig, who was the supreme commander of all British forces during World War I. The London newspaper man and his wife are interested in Texas affairs and will be present throughout the entire program, including the tour of the Bandera dude ranches on Saturday afternoon.

The Bible is the world's oldest book. Millions of copies have been printed in many languages, and it is the greatest seller of any book ever published. It is shallow enough that the most timid swimmer may enjoy its waters without fear; it is deep enough for the most expert swimmer to enjoy without touching the bottom. Its critics have been legion, but it still lives, they are gone. It is the root of good civil law and good practice. It has comforted millions as no other book can comfort, and still continues to do so. When nations ignored its teachings they died. When nations ignored its teachings they suffered. When nations ignored its teachings they became weak. It still what was, what is, and what will be—an epitome of life from the cradle to the grave, and thru beyond. It is God's vital and inspired word, and can never be set aside.

LOCAL V. F. W. HELPS FLOOD STRICKEN G. I.'s

Responding to an appeal from national headquarters, the Bandera Post 9176, in their regular monthly business, Tuesday night of this week, sponsored a picnic supper and dance at Mansfield Park, will be among the beneficiaries of this event. In the group is to be a needy veteran in the flood stricken Oregon area. The welfare fund was set up following the recent Buddy Poppy sale held in Bandera by the V. F. W. and pledged to "honor the dead by helping the living." Besides rendering welfare matters for the post, a report of the Buddy Poppy sale was given and final instructions to attend church services, Ernest Marvin Hillman remained to lend a singing school being held in that city.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hillman and Mrs. Ted went to Sabinal Sunday to attend church services. Ernest Marvin Hillman remained to lend a singing school being held in that city.

PUBLIC CONFUSED ON OLD AGE ASSISTANCE

The Texas Employment Commission reports confusion still exists concerning who is entitled to benefits under the state public assistance security program.

The program provides a monthly income for the aged and blind who are unable to support themselves and have no other means of support and for children deprived of parental support, the commission explained.

Funds are provided by appropriations from the state Legislature and the Texas Department of Public Welfare is charged with administering the state assistance.

Basic requirement for public assistance is that a person must be in need of assistance. Needy persons who meet certain other requirements.

Those who can qualify are the needy aged 65 years of age or more, the needy blind 21 years of age and the needy children under the age of 14 who have been deprived of parental support because of the death, continued absence or mental incapacity of a parent. Texas citizenship and residence requirements for eligibility.

Who gets payments for old-age assistance and aid to the needy blind? Payments are made directly to the eligible person or to his legal guardian. Payments for persons ineligible for aid to dependent children are made to the responsible parent or to the relative with whom the child lives. Payments are made in the form of checks, which are mailed monthly from the state office of the Department of Public Welfare in Austin.

How much are these payments? How long may they be received? Within limitations fixed by state and federal law, amounts of payments are based entirely on need. Need is determined by careful investigation of the income and other resources of the applicant. The monthly amount of an applicant's resources is then deducted from the amount required to maintain in decency and health, and the difference is made up by a monthly payment.

TEXAS POLL TAX LAW UNREPEALED BY DRAFT

Washington, June 9—Sen. Tom Connally says the basic poll tax law in Texas will be little affected by anti-poll tax provisions in the draft bill.

He told reporters Tuesday that an amendment sponsored by Sen. Langer (R. N. D.) and Senator Tobe (he message "simply means that a man inducted into the armed forces under the draft bill can vote for federal officials without paying a poll tax."

The Texan said the amendment in no way removed the prohibition in his state's constitution, against regular Army and Navy members voting.

He said it did not void state limitations on ages for voting.

"It does not free anyone except draftees and volunteers under this bill from paying poll tax," Connally said.

TEXAS DISPLAYED IN WASHINGTON

Jack Rutledge, former Brownsville newspaperman, who was transferred here from the Dallas office of the Associated Press, is responsible.

He and his wife have conspired, with the help of science, to see that the youngsters living near them get properly grounded in Texas folk lore and atmosphere. They have a television set, and every evening they have several youthful visitors who come to see a Western movie.

After the televised movie, the kids browse through Texas books, pictures, and miscellaneous items the Rutledges have on hand furnished and decorated in Western ranch style. They play from a large album of cowboy musical records. Incidentally, the apartment development is McLean Gardens, owned and operated by Dallas business interests.

A member of the British Parliament is paid 600 pounds a year—approximately $2,500. He also gets a travel allowance.

THERE'S GOOD AND BAD IN ALL OF US

A man was overheard the other day talking about his neighbor. A good many things seemed to be wrong with the people he should know. This one was lazy, that one was selfish, another was foolhardy, still another wasn't kind to his family, a fifth had a few pegs too many in his head. And so it went. Anybody listening to that talk might have imagined that those people were particularly a bad lot. Yet it is a thousand to one that they were just average people, about as good and as bad as most of us. But on the whole with a good many more good in them than bad. The whole story lay in the mind of the man who was talking. For some inscrutable reason he prefers to see evil and to magnify evil, when he might as easily see good and magnify good and be happy.

The person who overheard the talk didn't know the man who did the talking, and he didn't want to. But that man didn't look happy. He looked rather miserable. And how in the world, when he wanted to dwell on evil and magnify it, could he be happy? Happiness is a by-product. A betty witness, reporting on those same people, no doubt would have pictured them as that the hearer would want to know them all.

So people and in situations and in neighborhoods and communities there seems to be a good deal of evil, if you want to hunt it up. But in the same people and situations and neighborhoods and communities there is also a great deal of good—undeniably more good than evil—if you want to look for that. Each of us has a free choice. We can look for evil and dwell upon and magnify it and make ourselves miserable—and probably those around us, too. Or we can look for good and dwell upon it and magnify it and make ourselves and those about us happy.

There are some queer and utterly inscrutable things about human nature, and one of them is the habit of letting evil overcome good when there is great wisdom in the biblical instruction to "overcome evil with good." It is the nature for an anguished mortal to overlook a thousand blessings a thousand things he ought to be glad about and thankful for, and to fasten his whole attention on one or two things that seem bad. That way be lets the one or two bad things wipe out the thousand good things, for of course he isn't getting any good from the things unless he is using them and being glad and thankful about them.

HOW TO CURE WARTS REVEALED

London—The "Medical Press," British scientific journal, wasn't impressed by America's and England's tradition on the removal of warts. It commented after a brief review:

"But whatever incomprehensible postifical utterances roll in unctuous polysyllabic obfuscation from the lips of the electric cognoscenti, all the vulgar know full well that warts are cured either by pulling them out with adhesive strapping or by burning them with fuming nitric acid or better, by the charms of witches, or, best of all, by the magic of wizards."

MASON COUNTY ALL SET FOR HOMECOMING

Mason, June 9—Early arrivals for the Roundup and Homecoming Friday and Saturday have been registering at the Chamber of Commerce since last Thursday, indicating the greatest return of old-timers to Mason county in many years.

This year's program represents a departure from the professional shows heretofore attempted. The talent will be recruited from the immediate area on the theory that Mason county residents will get a bigger kick out of seeing each other perform than a group of strangers.

Judging on strictly an amateur basis will be open to anyone in that class and will include Show 'n' prize money. A cowgirl queen will be crowned Saturday afternoon. Steer riding, calf scramble, children's calf-roping class, and the local contest and rodeo dances are some of the other events on the program.

The show opens with a parade Friday afternoon in which all entries have been registered, followed by a supper and the first show Friday evening. The second show will be held Saturday afternoon, and the Roundup will conclude Saturday night with a historical pageant, featuring an address by Coke Stevenson, who was a former Mason county resident.

Governor Beauford Jester Is Honored With Square Dance Album

Governor Beauford Jester is the recipient of employees who could not attend the festivities. It is said that they stole the shoes and dashed off to town.

Gotcher, believing that anything can be adapted to square dance, is the only caller to dance to the tune of the whine of an ice show, has a set of Paloma horses and their riders dancing a square, and has Fernando Valley, and is designing a wheel dance for amputees at a servicemen's hospital. He also has the smallest group in the world, and five feet apart, who did the first television dance in the world, thus earning him the name of world's champion caller. He says that square dancing was the first dance brought to America and is as American as the National anthem. It takes in every age group, and is the only known

BONES OF DINOSAUR DUG BELOW LAKE WACO DAM

Waco, June 9—The bones of a dinosaur which roamed Texas 100,000,000 to 100,000,000 years ago were dug out of the shale below Lake Waco dam Monday.

Zoologists said it was a plesiosaurus, a member of the dinosaur family which swam in the shallow seas which then covered the Baylor Museum, and Rich ard L. Brobaugh, zoology professor, had scraped the shale from enough of the ancient reptile to show the bones he stood on to be sharp - ended against the blue shale.

They plan to make a plaster cast of the exposed part of the 20-foot plesiosaurus, which apparently curled up in agony and settled its side on the bottom of the Mesozoic era sea, to be preserved for the 26th century explorers of Upland shale.

Baylor experts do not plan to take the reptile out as a skeleton, but were cutting out a large square block of the shale when it will contain the partly exposed skeleton. The square of former mud will be moved to the museum.

The reptile which lived in this area during the upper cretaceous period of the Mesozoic era would be about 20 feet long if part of his tail, which is missing could be found. The scientists say an average of about 35 feet.

She was a devoted wife and mother, whose passing will not only be mourned by her family, but by hundreds of friends throughout the state.

On Wednesday of last week the Wilson's Creek Home Demonstration club met in the home of Mrs. E. I. Adolphsen. Plans were made for an ice cream supper on April 2nd for members and their families, at George Fee's Camp on Sunday, July 4 at 7:30. All are urged to come. Miss Beegan demonstrated how to prepare a chicken dinner. Those present for the event club members preserve this year, 26 demonstrations were made. Mrs. J. Marvin Hunter, Jr., of Uvalde, Texas, and Miss Vera Bowers of Corpus Christi. There is one grandchild, Carlie Sue Powers of Laredo. She was a devoted wife and mother, whose passing will not only be mourned by her family, but by hundreds of friends throughout the state.

Lee, an ex-Texan, was born in Hondero county but has his home in Hollywood, where he directs the movie sequences dealing with square dancing, having been scouted by the motion picture industry during their hunt for the most authentic caller, with the most recordable voice, coupled with expert teaching ability.

Recently he taught the now well known set in Bandera in three short sessions, and presented them as an intricate exhibition dance right in the big rotunda of the state capitol during the festival. This was for the benefit of employees who could not attend the festivities and several hundred onlookers. It is said that they stole the show at Austin and at George town.

Gotcher, believing that anything can be adapted to square dance, is the only caller to design a dance for the silver blades of an ice show, has a set of Palomino horses and their riders dancing a square in San Fernando Valley, and is designing a wheel figure for amputees at a convalescent hospital. He also has the smallest group in the world, nine five to eight, who did the first television dance in the world, thus earning him the name of world's champion caller. He says that square dancing was the first dance brought to America and is as American as the National anthem. It takes in every age group, and is the only known rage to sweep America that does. Many churches have taken it up. Classes are being taught in Uvalde, Garner Park, Brackettville, Cactus Springs, and are starting in Bandera. There will be only one series, however, as C. P. MacGregor has ordered the champ back, and several major studios have set his time limit for visiting his home state at July 15. Lee will appear in Bandera on six consecutive nights at the dance studio of Mrs. Onise Troilo, and teach. The dancers will not be left high and dry for a caller after his return to Hollywood, suppose he is working on a young local fellow who seems to be a natural and his brother, Russ, band leader in this territory, will have the band. After that he will probably return yearly for special events.

BONES OF DINOSAUR DUG FROM BED OF LAKE WACO DAM

Waco, June 6 — The bones of a dinosaur which roamed Texas 6,000,000 to 100,000,000 years ago were dug out of the slide below Lake Waco dam Monday.

Zoologists said it was a plesiosaurus, a member of the dinosaur family which existed in the New seas which then existed.

By night a battalion of geologists and zoology students, directed by R. C. Brown, in charge of the Baylor University museum, and A. L. Romaugh, zoology professor, has scraped the slide front enough to the ancient reptile to allow the bones to stand out in sharp relief against the blue shale.

They plan to make a plaster cast of the exposed part of the 60-foot plesiosaurus, which apparently curled up in agony and settled on its side on the bottom of the Mesozoic era sea to be preserved for the 20th century by layers of Eagleford shale.

Baylor experts do not plan to take the reptile out as a whole but will carve cutting out a large square block of the shale which will contain the partly exposed skeleton. The square of former sea mud will be moved to the museum.

The reptile which lived in this area during the upper cretaceous period of the Mesozoic era would be about 20 feet long if part of his tail, which is missing could be found. The zoologists to an average of about 35 feet.

BRITISHER READY FOR TEXAS INDIANS

New York, June 6 — A tall, red-haired Britisher with visions of Texas, arrived in New York Monday wearing a 10-gallon hat and armed with a bow and arrow.

Tom D. Abbinett, a former black-smith, who arrived on the Queen Mary, said he wants to see cowboys and Indians. His wife, Lucy, gained a Mashantucket ancestress and gasped, "Hiltogether too clever like this."

The couple said they will meet their daughter Yvonne, 21, stationed at Arnold Capt. Jean, expert in the art of living off Others, Pa., then go to Bandera, Texas.

Mrs. William Edwards of Pine Creek was a visitor in the city Wednesday.

DRIVER CAUGHT NAPPING

It all came about when Asst. Dist. Atty. Bert Thompson and investigator Bert Kidwell, cruising on the highway, noticed that the truck was loaded with gaming and machines in full view. They stopped to investigate and found the driver sleeping in the cab of the truck. He refused to say where the machines were being taken, where he was being escorted to the county jail to be charged with the possessing of gaming devices. The machines were confiscated.—San Antonio Express.

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

In the 1880's there was published in Texas a humorous weekly newspaper, TEXAS SIFTINGS. It was edited by Mr. Shearn Moody, famous Texas writer, known as one of the funniest newspapers of that period, and circulation running into thousands. Many of the articles published in TEXAS SIFTINGS were written by well known Texas humorists and newspaper men. The following will be a few extracts from that old paper.

A YANKEE DESPERADO

It is very surprising what a big business some men can do on a credit basis, where there is little or no capital invested.

As any of the old inhabitants of San Antonio will remember, about the year 1851, the most influential man in that city was an alleged desperado named Bob Augustine. Bob came to San Antonio with a fearful record. He enjoyed the reputation of having killed a dozen men, and was respected accordingly. While he was in San Antonio he did not reduce the census at all, but that was not his fault. He had a seductive way of drawing his 18-inch Arkansas tooth-pick, and examining it critically with a sinister smile, while humbly requesting the temporary loan of $5. The people were very kind to him. They took into consideration that he was an influential stranger, and they honored his whims and caprices to the extent of their means. They were anxious that he should not be unfavorably impressed with the people, or that it should not be said such an influential stranger had been treated with discourtesy. Bob did his very best to subdue the leading citizens to furnish him with some incentive to squander their gore, but in vain. If he asked a rich man to execute the Highland Fling, rather than injure the future prospects of the place he would do so, and then insist on paying Bob money without exacting security. Thus it was that Bob went about acquiring friends, and when personal friends but evening no funerals. There were some rumors that Bob was playing a bluff, but they originated after he had moved away.

It was during the reign of Bob Augustine "The long-ranged Roarer of Calaveras Canyon," as he was familiarly called himself, that a young man from Boston, named John Winthrop, came to San Antonio, presumably in search of health, as he brought very little with him. He was far gone in consumption, and nothing but the fact that he had but a short time to live, unless the climate of Western Texas saved him, induced him to come to San Antonio. As everybody carried a pistol, Winthrop did not care to insult public decency by going unarmed. Besides, such a course might as seriously interfere with his restoration to health as putting on a clean shirt. His Puritan training caused him to revolt at the idea of carrying fire-arms, so he resorted to artifice. He wore a holster, but instead of keeping a pistol in it, he had his cash funds stored away in it, and nobody was the wiser for it. On the contrary, Winthrop was looked upon by the best citizens just the same as if he was loaded down with deadly weapons. Of course everybody tried to make the stranger from Massachusetts feel as comfortable as if he were at home, so he was told about Bob Augustine, the long-ranged roarer, at least ten times a day, and he was advised not to be particular in asking security for the debt in case the roarer wanted to borrow a small, temporary loan—unless he, Winthrop, did not want to regain his health.

As might have been expected, the long-ranged roarer called on Winthrop to collect his usual assessment on strangers. Winthrop was of the opinion that he he saved his life and lost all his money he would be doing unusually well. The long ranged roarer's idea was to chase the blue-blooded Yankee around the room a time or so, collect $5 or $10, and perhaps make some remarks, a la Whittaker, so he could leave him in a crowd if he should need him again.

The long-ranged roarer swaggered into Winthrop's room at the hotel, but before the desperado could open his mouth or draw a weapon, the unfortunate Yankee threw back his coat, and with trembling fingers turned at his pistol holster to get at his money to appease the would-be assassin. On the other hand, as soon as the Roarer saw Winthrop trying to get out his pistol, he turned as pale as a ghost. The alleged desperado's knees knocked together, the cold sweat bedewed all over him, and he extended his hand and said, in trembling accents:

"Don't draw, good Mr. Yankee! I was only trying to fool you. My bold Arkansaw heart beats for you, my boy, and wouldn't to harm you a lesson. Never let your darned colonel get the drop on you. If anybody insults you, just tell them that Bob Augustine, the Roarer, is your friend."

Winthrop, who was worse scared, if possible, than the Roarer, replied: "Oh, I'll give you what you want," and kept tugging at the holster, which came unbuckled.

With a yell of disdain the desperado pointed out through the window, carrying off the sash, and ran down Commerce Street the principal thoroughfare, with the cash in his hook, howling "Police! Police!" closely pursued by Winthrop, who kept on tugging at his holster, trying to get out his money, he believing that the desperado was running to his room to procure a six-gun with which to commit murder. All that afternoon Winthrop kept on hunting the Roarer to purchase peace on any terms, and the Roarer hid himself to avoid the pistol of the Boston man. Next morning the long-ranged Roarer of the Calaveras Canyon was missing, while Winthrop was the lion of the day for having run off the terror of the Alamo City.

Now for the sequel. Winthrop afterward moved to Galveston, and is now one of the merchant princes of the Island City. Lately as he was coming down to his place of business, a decrepit old beggar on crutches held out his hand. Col. Winthrop thought he recognized the man, and he asked of:

"Don't you remember trying to borrow five dollars from me in San Antonio about thirty years ago? Ain't you the long-ranged Roarer of the Calaveras Canyon?"

The aged mendicant gave a look of mortal terror, and tried to run on his crutches, but his old would-be benefactor pressed the five dollars into his hand and, of course there was an affecting scene on the sidewalk.

It has been rumored that the citizens of San Antonio, finding out that Bob Augustine, the Roarer, was a fraud, hung him to a China tree on the military plaza for contempt of court or disorderly conduct.

It was also rumored that Bob Augustine made his escape from San Antonio, reformed, changed his name, and is now an other than Mr. Moody, the great revivalist. All these rumors are now definitely set at rest by the fact that the Roarer is now an aged cripple in Galveston, but in very reduced circumstances.

No telling how long Methuselah might have lived if his appendix and tonsils had been removed and if he had used the right kind of toothpaste, gargled with listerine, and smelled cough-less, soothing cigarettes.

CONGRESSIONAL HANDLING OF THE DRAFT ISSUE

With more imagined than real political risk, Republican congressional leadership in joint caucus have shrunk the compromise draft on the "most" legislation list for passage before the scheduled June 19 adjournment. Senator Taft (Ohio), Republican Policy Committee chairman, announced the "disappointingly short list after a top party conference in the office of Speaker Martin (Massachusetts). Reciprocal trade extension and displaced persons entry are the other worthily "purposed acts pledged.

Certainly Congress would be foolish to approve a 14-billion dollar rearmament program and then fail to privide the additional 400,000 men prescribed by that level of material. A gun is useless without a man behind it, or a plane without a pilot and ground crew.

Momentarily eased world tension is highly suspect. It is authoritatively viewed as communist propaganda strategy designed to soften American security plans in advance of some new move of Soviet Union expansionism. On the other hand, if just the threat of preparedness has achieved any real aggression-discouraging result, the completed program should prove even more effective for world peace enforcement.

As the draft bills now stand, selective service would take men aged 19 through 25 for two years service, with registration for those 18 through 25 or 30 (Senate and House versions respectively). Both measures would begin conscription immediately.

The House Armed Services Committee plans to amend the draft to postpone induction for at least 75 days after passage—to begin only when the President shall decide that the armed forces cannot obtain the necessary manpower through voluntary enlistments. Experience during past months indicates that 400,000 additional men can be obtained in time and the President would not have requested the draft had he not in good faith used that tactic, however, would shift consideration to the Senate, where a possible political responsibility to the Truman Administration near the November election deadline.

The political strategists should remember that majority popular opinion favors compulsory military service to the degree essential to national security. Strength-ening America in the face of threats to world peace promises political credit, as well as responsibility.—San Antonio Express.

HUBERT HORSMAN IMPROVING

Mrs. Hubert Horsman and son, Eddie Lee Nixon, came up from Houston Sunday to spend a day or two at home. They returned to Houston on Tuesday. Mrs. Horsman informs us that Mr. Horsman, who is under the care of a specialist in Houston, is improving, but will have to remain there for some weeks longer. He recently underwent two or three plastic surgery operations, and may have to have one or two more such operations before he can come home. His many friends here will be pleased to learn that he is regaining his weight, after getting down to 117 pounds, and is now able to walk about. We'll all be glad when he has fully recovered from his terrible affliction.

CONGRESSIONAL HANDLING OF THE DRAFT ISSUE
With more imagined than real political risk, Republican congressional leaders' joint counsels have decided to sidestep the draft issue on the most legislation can be passed before the scheduled November elections, when Senator Taft (ORe), Republican Policy Committee chairman, announced the "disappointingly short list" after a top party conference in Washington. Although the Republicans in Massachusetts Reciprocal trade agreements act should be allowed to expire, and many are the other worthwhile purposes on which pledged.
Many Republicans would be foolish to approve a 16-billion-dollar appropriation bill and then fail to prefix the additional $10,000,000 prescribed by that servel of matching it in less or less without a man behind it, to health as putting on a clean shirt. His Puritan training caused him to revolt at the idea of carrying five cents out to be sorted to artifice. He wore a bolster, but instead of keeping a pistol in it, he had his cash funds stored away in it, and no body was the wiser for it. On the contrary. Winthrop was loud up to by the best citizens of the same as if he was loaded down with deadly weapons. Of course everybody tried to make the stranger from Massachusetts feel as comfortable as if he were at home, so he was told about Bob Augustine, and what a desperado rorer, at least ten times a day, and he was advised not to be particular in asking credit for the debt in case the rorer wanted to borrow a hundred dollars, unless he. Winthrop, did not want to engaging his health.
As might have been expected, the long-ranged rorer called on Winthrop to "touch" him for an assessment on strangers. Winthrop was of the opinion that he saved his life and lost all his money he would be doing no more than his duty. The rorer's idea was to chase the blue-bellied Yankee around the room a time or so, collect $5 or $10, and perhaps make some earmarks, and then leave. He would know him in a crowd if he should meet him again.
The long-ranged rorer strutted into Winthrop's room at the hotel, and told the proprietor he should open his mouth or draw a weapon, the rorer would let his three hook his coat, and with his disengaged hand put his pistol holster to get out the money to appease the would-be assassin. The other hand, as the rorer's desperado's knees knocked together, the cold sweat broke out all over him, and he extended his hand and said in trembling accents:
"Don't draw, good Mr. Yankee! I was only trying to test you. Mr. Bold Athanase heart beats for such as you are. I just wished to know if you would have in the least degree ruffled either yer the drop on me, or psychoed me out, but I see you are not to be. That settles it. Bob Augustine is your friend and said in trembling accents:
Winthrop, who was more scared, if possible, than the rorer, replied: "Oh, I knew you would not shoot me, and you couldn't unbuckle it."
With a sort of dazed air the desperado passed out through the window, carrying off the sorb, and ran down the street to tell the principal thoroughfare, with the shell on his back, howling "Police! Police!" closely pursued by Winthrop, who kept on running after his holster, trying to get out his money, he believing that the desperado was endeavoring to his room to procure a six-shooter with which to wreak vengeance. All that afternoon Winthrop was on his hunting the Rorer to purchase peace or any terms and the Rorer hid himself to avoid the pleas of the Boston man. Next morning the long-ranged Rorer of the Calaveras Canyon was missing while Winthrop was the lion of the day for having cut off the terror of the Alamo City.
Now for the sequel. Winthrop afterward moved to Galveston, and is now one of the merchant princes of the Island City. Lately he was coming down to his place of business a decrepit old beggar on crutches held out his hand. Col. Winthrop thought he recognized the man, and he asked:
"Don't you remember trying to borrow five dollars from me in San Antonio about thirty years ago? Ain't you the long-ranged Rorer of the Calaveras Canyon?"
The aged mendicant gave a look of mortal terror, and tried to run on his crutches, but the old would-be benefactor pressed the five dollars into his hand, and sort of gourse there was an affecting scene on the sidewalk.
It has been rumored that the citizens of San Antonio, finding out that Bob Augustine, the Rorer, was a fraud, hung him in a China tree on the military plats for contempt of court and disorderly conduct.
It was also rumored that Bob Augustine made his escape from San Antonio, reformed, changed his name, and he went to Texas where Mr. Mosely. The great revivalist, All these rumors are now definitely set at rest by the fact that the Rorer is now an aged cripple in Clarendon, but in very softened circumstances.
No telling how long Methuselah might have lived if his appendix and tonsils had been removed and if he had used the right kind of toothpaste, purged with listerine, and smoked cough-less, soothing cigarettes.

5,000 Expected Here on July 4th

For over thirty years St. Stanislaus' parish has success- fully staged a combination rodeo and barbecue in a gala celebra- tion on July 4th. This year parish leaders are preparing the biggest Independence Day festi- vity ever launched in Bandera with an expected crowd of 5000 to attend.

Scene of the action-packed rodeo, approved by the Rodeo Cowboys of America, under the supervision of Bob Mansfield and associates, and barbecue will be Mansfield Park. All proceeds of the affair will be turned over for the benefit of St. Joseph's school. Slated to begin at 10 o'clock in the morning, the cele- bration will last through the day with dancing in the evening.

Music for the dances will be furnished by the famous Texas Top Hands, noted recording, radio, screen, and stage perform- ers, who recently were appear- ing on the Texas Theater bill in San Antonio. The Top Hands ban- dera's own band, The Stompeders, will furnish music.

According to I. E. Adamietz, committee chairman, 1,000 per- sons are the smallest crowd to draw in a speeded-up systematic serving program. The dinner will include barbecued meat, pickles, beans, cole slaw, and black coffee, recalling the days of savory meals on the open range.

The rodeo's program is showing 40 cattle, bulldogging and flag races by professionals, members of the Rodeo Cowboys of America, set to excite the ex- pected crowds with $450.00 added money for prizes in the various events, promises to be as good a show as one can see anywhere.

The price of tickets has been set for $1.50 for adults and 75c for children, which includes barbecue dinner, rodeos, and tax. They will also adhere to past reasonable charge for soft drinks, Beer and sandwiches. Proceeds, except for dancing, go to St. Joseph's school.

WILSON HOSPITAL TO BE ENLARGED

Construction will begin soon on an addition to the Wilson hospi- tal. Several large private rooms will be added as well as much needed rooms. The hospi- tal, under the ownership and supervision of Dr. Harry Wilson is growing by leaps and bounds and is one of Bandera's most needed institutions.

Texas Editors in Bandera Tomorrow

Publishers of Texas daily and weekly newspapers will stress the newspapers' appeal to the public through editorial policy, classified and display advertising and circulation while attending the 69th annual convention of the Texas Press Association in San Antonio June 18-19. Program of prominent figures in the news- paper industry set to address the convention includes Gavin Astor, assistant to the publisher of the Times of London. Astor, son of Col. John Jacob Astor, chairman of the board of Orleans will dis- cuss "Problems of Newspaper Publishing in England."

Lady Irene Astor, daughter of the Earl of Haig, who, as General Haig, was Commander- in-Chief of all British forces during World War I, will ac- company her husband to the convention.

"It will be both interesting and beneficial to Texas news- papermen to hear about the publishing problems in Eng- land today and get a first-hand report from one of the best in the world," declared Paul M. Fulks, publisher of the Cuero Daily Record and president of the Texas Press Association.

Other convention speakers plan discussions on many topics of interest to the Fourth Estate. Carl Byoir of New York will name Ralph Nicholson, publisher of the Corpus Christi Caller-Times, to discuss editorial policy, and Walker Saussy, head of one of the largest Texas advertising agencies, planning to speak on modern advertising.

Readership studies under- taken at Northwestern Uni- versity, Evanston, Ill., will be explained by Kenneth Olson of Wisconsin, University School of Journalism on that campus.

Classified advertising and newspaper circulation will be discussed respectively by W. H. Conrad, publisher of the Mon- roe Star-News, Wisconsin, and E. J. Pierce, publisher of the Jasper, Ala., Mountain Eagle.

Conditions in the Texas prison system will be told by Bert A. Shuffhelen, president of the First National Bank, Grand Saline, and member of the Texas Prison Board.

First day of the convention schedule will be concluded with a buffet supper and program for publishers sponsored by the San Antonio Express and Eve- ning News on the fifth floor of the Express Publishing Co. building.

Last this time, M. M. Harris, editor, San Antonio Express, will welcome the group. Later, contest awards will be presented by Prof. Olin E. Hinkle, of the University of Texas Department of Journalism.

Other entertainments include a breakfast, opening the con- vention, at the Gunter Hotel, co-sponsored by the association and the Light Publishing Co.

Round-table discussions for daily and weekly newspaper groups are planned on the sec- ond convention day, bat after- noon golf, and a tour of the Alamo. That evening, guests of the Bandera Tourist Association, a barbecue supper is planned at Bandera, followed by a rodeo and dance.—San Antonio Express.

MT. HUGH CELEBRATING SIXTEENTH ANNIVERSARY

The sixteenth anniversary of Mt. Hugh, the beautiful resort atop the hill across the river from Bandera, is being celebrated tonight and tomorrow night, with two grand dances. This celebra- tion will also formally open the Silver Spur Room, Bandera's newest "place of fun" with glitter and glamour, with music by the Texas Hill Billies and the Kerrville Schuller Orchestra. Leo Gotcher, the famous dance caller, will give an exhibition of square dance tcams. It will be the big- gest event of its kind ever enjoy- ed in Bandera. Watch for adver- tisement elsewhere in the Bulletin, and make your plans to be there each night.

BANDERA IS SPRAYED

The Bandera Lions Club, ever active in looking after the town's health and welfare, sponsored the movement to thoroughly spray the city with D. D. T. last Monday night, to destroy flies, mosquitos, bugs, and other pests that breed pestilence. Funds for this purpose were raised by popular subscription, and the Flood piloted by Chas. Hall did the spraying. This procedure will go a long way in pre- venting polio, which is also breaking out in several sections of Texas, and the Lions Club is to be highly commended for their action.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Teich an- nounce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Allen Edwin Hofmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Holloway of Hous- ton. The marriage will be an event of early June. The bride- elect attended St. Mary's school in San Antonio and graduated from Bandera High School. She attended A. and I. COMFORT HORSE COLLARS RANCH HANDS

With Comfort holding the Ban- dera boys to four widely scatter- ed singles, the Comfort Cowboys coasted to an easy 7 to 0 win over the Ranch Hands at Comfort last Sunday. Wilton started on the ball for Bandera and had trouble, locating the plate, walking five batters and hitting four. Inas- much as Walton is a curve ball pitcher who depends on hitting the corners, this wildness caused him to ease up in order to get the ball over. This resulted in the result that Comfort had little difficulty relying on offerings by and piling up an early lead which grew larger as the game pro- gressed. Jimmy Hunt relieved Walton in the fifth, with bases loaded, and one away and he too touched for a single before re- tiring the side. From then on the Broncos of Comfort had no trouble in managed only three scratch hits the remainder of the way.

Although the game was hope- lessly lost, the Bandera rooters present had the pleasure of see- as they witnessed the birth of a fine young pitcher, who is des- tined to win many games for the Ranch Hands during the remainder of the season. Next Sunday afternoon, at Bandera, the Ranch Hands will tangle with the Kerrville Schuller Cowboys to- mato, and Jimmie is certain to draw the starting assignment in the box based on his fine show- ing against the hard hitting Com- fort Broncos.

Objectives of the Tourist Association

In a letter to the members of the Finance Committee of the Bandera Tourist Association, the following objectives of the Asso- ciation were outlined by Glendon Roberts, President of the Asso- ciation:

(1) The Bandera Tourist Asso- ciation is a community project for the purpose of advertising Bandera and vicinity.

(2) The ultimate objective of the Association is to promote Bandera and vicinity as a year- round tourist and recreational center, as well as a delightful place for permanent residence.

(4) The money paid into the Association is to be used for operating the office, and for ad- vertising Bandera in many ways, such as the issuing and distribu- tion of a brochure advertising in an attractive manner the various guest ranches, natural beauty of the Hill Country, the climatic conditions, the outstanding and other means of recreation and depicting the western atmos- phere of the downtown section, as well as of the country-side, etc.; entertaining delegations, such as the 600 members of the Texas Press Association, who will be on June 19th for a tour of the various points of interest in this community, and Chamber of Commerce delega- tions and similar groups from other towns; road signs all over the state advertising Bandera; newspaper, magazine, and radio

TARPLEY BOY WINS HONORS

With the closing of school this year four Seniors of Boulder City (Nev.) High School were honored in various ways for achievement.

Warren Stratton was awarded a $400 Smith-Hudson scholarship to University of Oregon.

Mary Ann Babcock was awarded a $450 scholarship to Laguna Honda School of Nursing.

Most outstanding in one respect was the award to Adams. He is not a citizen of the United States. His father and mother are British subjects who live in Brazil. He and his sister Phyllis came here in December, 1946 to study because high school accreditation in this country is necessary for college entrance.

Both Howard and Phyllis have earned grades above average, and Phyllis has shown originality and talent in art work. Howard has coached other students in panel discussions; he served as president of the Spanish Club; he designed and made by hand silver and turquoise pins for honor students in Spanish; he played in the band; he designed and constructed the setting for the music group's presentation in the May Festival; and he assisted the faculty in many ways.

The award was conceived several months ago by the faculty members wanted to honor the student who should best demonstrate those qualities of citizenship, to choose the "best citizen of Boulder City."

Warren Stratton will be enabled by his scholarship to attend the University of Oregon for one of ninety years every year by Harold Judy's Club of Reno. Every high school in Nevada shares in this scholarship. Warren was awarded it on merit both this year, he is a son of Mrs. Jessie Skelton.

Mary Ann Babcock will receive $412.50 toward her tuition each year. She is a graduate of Reno. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Babcock.

Phyllis Stulberg is the second beneficiary of the Dwayne B. Carpenter Memorial Fund. Last year was last year, Dennis Whalen.

This fund was set up by friends of young Laugherty, who lost his life in a highway accident two years ago. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. David M. Laugherty. Stulberg is a son of Mrs. Phyllis Stulberg.

The Adams award was made at the annual honor assembly. The others were made during commencement exercises in the high school auditorium.—Boulder City (Nev.) News.

Warren Stratton" is a grandson of Mrs. Granville Wright of Bandera, and Pat Coffey, and Misses Mollie and Roxy Coffey of Tarpley. He is the son of the late Marcus Shelton, veteran of World War I, and his mother is Mrs. Foster of Tarpley. He is a good boy and has made his way in the death of his father, who was killed in an accident when the boy was about 13 years of age.

VETERAN INHERITS $185,000 ESTATE

Galveston, June 8—A 35-year-old veteran who was killed in a morning mortred he is $185,000 richer than he thought he was Thursday. A decision was taken by surprise when Walter Deutchle, St. Louis attorney, filed a petition that an uncle in Illinois had left him an estate of $185,000 in property. Abney, whose wife is a French war bride, is operator of a service station here.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

How to Live Longer

Someone asked Puppy Miller last week how he stayed so spry at ninety. Puppy told him:

"Well, sir—when I work, I work hard. When I set, I set loose. When I think, I go to sleep."

According to Doc Hollister, that formula isn't far amiss. "Hard work," says Doc, "never wore out anyone before his time, providing he knew how and when to relax."

Doc himself works overtime, with his daytime patients at the office, and his evening calls. And when he gets home he takes it easy with a mellow glass of beer and chats with the missus until it's time to go to bed.

From where I sit, relaxing is a fine art—especially in these tense, fast-moving times. And there's nothing like a temperate glass of beer—enjoyed with pleasant company—to restore that easy frame of mind that one needs after a hard day's work.

LET'S HAVE A PILGRIMAGE

Every Bandera citizen should determine in his heart that he will learn more about his home town and county. There are people here who have lived here most of their lives, or at least for several years, who know very little about the advantages and possibilities of Bandera as a recreational center. Many know very little about the wonderful resources of the surrounding country, one very lacking in knowledge of developments which have taken place within the past few years. It has been suggested that a "pilgrimage" be arranged for the local people to make a tour of the town and surrounding country, in order that they may become acquainted with the community in which they live. Let the Tourist Association, or the Chamber of Commerce set aside a day for the "pilgrimage," make it a gala day for everybody, and let everybody turn out at a given point in town and at a certain hour start en masse on a "tour of inspection," of the many interesting spots in the town and surrounding country. Let the "natives" learn for Lost Valley Ranch and see what has been done there the past three years. Then visit Joseta and Cross Canyon Ranches. Continue on to Pipe Creek, Lacoste, Vanderpool and then to the Frio. Then to Uvalde, to the Little Dolle Ranch; and back to the Silver Spur stop of Monte Rudy, then to the Mayan Ranch; to the Twin Egg, Bennett's Dude Ranch, the new one on Medina, the beautiful R. E. A. home, out to the Highland Winery, Peaceful Valley, up to the Circle B, Hi-Do Ranch, Castle Rock, Bird's Ranch, Camp Bandera, Flying L, and

JUDGE JAMES P. HART MAKING ACTIVE CANVASS

Austin, June 15.—For a "week-end campaigner," Associate Justice James P. Hart, of the Texas Supreme Court, has been covering a lot of ground these last three months. Hustling for his first State office and his first elective term on the Supreme Court, Judge Hart has campaigned in more than 85 counties and made speeches in some 25 Texas cities. Meanwhile he has attended every formal session of the Supreme Court, when arguments are heard and decisions handed down. Since his appointment to the bench last October.

Among the counties in which Judge Hart has visited are the following: Anderson, Angelina, Bailey, Bastrop, Bell, Bexar, Brazos, Brown, Burleson, Burnet, Caldwell, Cameron, Collin, Colorado, Comal, Dallas, Deaf Smith, Delta, Denton, DeWitt, Ellis, El Paso, Erath, Falls, Fannin, Fayette, Franklin, Galveston, Gaza, Gonzalez, Grayson, Gregg, Guadalupe, Grimes, Harris, Harrison, Hill, Hopkins, Houston, Howard, Hunt, Jack, Jefferson, Johnson, Kaufman, Lamar, Lee, Leon, Liberty, Limestone, Llano, Lubbock, McCulloch, McLennan, Madison, Maison, Matagorda, Midland, Milam, Mills, Montague, Morris, Nacogdoches, Navarro, Nolan, Nueces, Orange, Palo Pinto, Panola, Parker, Polk, Potter, Red River, Robertson, Rusk, Shelby, Smith, Starr, Sterling, Tarrant, Taylor, Tom Green, Trinity, Walker, Washington, Webb, Wichita, Willacy, and Wise.

A woman was driving downtown when she was hailed by a traffic cop. "Hey you!" he shouted, "pull over." She did. The next day the judge fined her $10 for speeding. She was astonished. "But judge," she protested, "I was only doing what the officer told me to do." "Yes," replied the judge, "but you were going too fast to do it."

ANOTHER MYSTERY EXPLAINED

You can see it down here in Texas already, and in a short time it will make its appearance all over the United States. Like prickly heat and boils, it comes and regularly, every spring. We refer to the spectre of the frost bite. Perhaps the reader does not quite comprehend our meaning. We refer to the woman who plants shrubbery and grubs about generally early every spring, in her front yard—the woman's front yard, of course, not the spring. Spring has not got any front yard of her own.

Early in spring the average woman, rich or poor, dresses herself in a faded calico dress, disguises herself in a big polka bonnet, armed with a garden hoe, goes prowling about like a scarecrow on wheels, a rake with watering-pot potentially bringing up the rear of the procession.

The question arises: Why does the average female strive to make herself so hideous as to fill a dead man with distrust. It is here to walk past. When does the only returns her trouble are a $40 rheumatic pain in her back, and a suspicion from her husband that she has a wagon and go around selling vegetables. The reason why women's will persist in fixing up a garden is simply because they cannot help themselves. They are from ancestors. As Gunnery Sergeant Grimes would say, they are inspired to act as they do. We will try to explain what we mean.

Why do English sailors strip to the waist when the ships are cleared for action, and why is it that when two Englishmen fight, the first thing they do is pull off their coats? It is because their ancestors did the same thing before them. Julius Caesar says that when he landed on the coast of Britain, the natives greeted them by stripping off their clothing before they rushed into the water to meet the Roman delegates. Perhaps the ancient Britons, like the modern ones, only had one suit, and did not care to put it wet.

Why the shedding of today brand calves that do not belong to them, and gobble up mavericks generally? Because it is their nature to do so. The first stock man we read of, Jacob, played sharp tricks on Laban, his partner in the cattle-raising business.

Why, in the spring of the year, do plexies become epidemic, and old and young, rich and poor, rush off into the woods to eat their lunch under trees, and be fed on by ticks and mosquitoes? It is simply because for tens of thousands of years man was in a nomadic condition. He wandered about with his family in the woods, living on berries and being annoyed by insects, and although man has become civilized, and lives in a house, yet, nevertheless, about once a year an irresistable desire to return to his old vagabond life comes over him, and he just has to go on a picnic, after which he could down for the rest of the year, and pass sweet, oil on the tick lilies.

Just as it is with women garden-ing. Until quite recently we had to do all the hard work in the field. She had to dig up the ground, plant the crop and father it, until, it became second nature to her. Her husband was kind enough to encourage her to keep on by shaking a stick at her when she wanted to sit down and rest, but it was quite beyond his ability to weed. Such was the condition of woman from the beginning of time. It will be remembered that Adam was too lazy to gather in the apples, so Eve had to do it for him. Of course all this is changed now. All that man wishes do in the way of hard work is to dress up and go to parties. But every spring she cannot resist the impulse to put on her worst clothes and come out with a hoe out in the front yard as her ancestors used to do thousands of years ago.

THE TEXAS CLIMATE

The climate of Texas is an undecided one, and we would be doing it an injustice if we did not devote some space to it in this guide.

When the pious old Spanish missionaries first came to Western Texas to convert the Indians and everything else they could lay their hands on, to their own use, they mentioned the extreme balminess of the atmosphere, the gorgeous Italian sunsets, and the superior quality of the climate. They were surprised that the Creator would waste so much good climate on the wicked heathen. Back where they came from, where all the folks were good Catholics and observed 211 holy days in the year, they couldn't raise as much climate per annum as they could harvest in Western Texas in one short week.

In the early days of the Republic of Texas, and even after annexation, many of the white men who came to Western Texas from all parts of the United States had strong sanitary reasons for preferring a change of climate. To be more explicit, the most of the invalids had been threatened with throat disease. So sudden and dangerous is this disease that the slightest delay in moving to a new and milder climate is apt to be fatal. the sufferer dying of dislocation of the spinal vertebra at the end of a few minutes and a rope. A great many men, in some cases heads of Western families, left their homes in Alabama, Indiana, and other states—right immediately, between two days—the necessity for their departure being so urgent that they were obliged to borrow the horses they rode to Texas on. All of these invalids recovered on reaching Austin. In fact, they began to feel better, and considered themselves out of danger as soon as they crossed the Brazos river. Some of those who could not have lived twenty-four hours longer if they had not left their old homes, reached a great old age in Western Texas, and, by carefully abolishing the causes that led to their former disease, were never again in any danger of the bronchial affection already referred to. As soon as it was discovered that the climate of Western Texas was favorably disposed to invalids, a large number of these cases of undertakers came to Austin. Many well authenticated cases of recoveries are recorded. Men have been known to come to Austin in the prime of consumption, and far sooner as to be able to run for office within a year, and in a fearfully short time after elected by a large and respectable majority, all owing to the atmosphere and the proximity of the other candidate.

There is very little winter in Western Texas. That for the Northern Austin doesn't have any. Austin is situated on the same parallel of latitude as Cairo, in Egypt, where they have crops all the year around. As it is there is seldom any frost, although it is not an unusual thing for crops of ice several inches thick to be found in hollows, in those who go to market in the early morning. Occasionally New Year's cake are made in which the ice, split and not dissolved, is used. Spring begins very early in February. The forest trees put on their leaves in March, and the rural districts are clothed in green by the middle of April, but after the middle of March there is no danger of the mosquito stage being reached. Early in March the shorts oil up their stomach pumps, for the green mulberry ripens, about that time, and has to be removed from the schoolgirl.

Towards the middle of April the early peach appears, and all nature—and the druggists—smiles, ushering in the long and lingering summer time when the low tension festivals of the church of the Holy Embarmment march from one end of fair old sunny Texas to the other. Such is a short synopsis of the saving features of the Texas climate.

Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Price returned from San Antonio Saturday, where Sister Price has been under the treatment of a doctor. Brother Price dropped into the office Tuesday morning for one of our periodical chats, and he informs us that Sister Price's health is considerably improved.

We feel it our duty to inform the public that a deep dark conspiracy is gradually being formulated by and between Rev. Price and J. O. McManus, and if some immediate and drastic steps are not taken to circumvent this scheme, we may hear of a great tragedy in the vicinity of the Lander pool and Brother Price's back yard. I am not going to insinuate anything, but it is with regard to some chickens getting into Brother Price's yard. Don't say anything about it, bear in mind the fact that they need watching.

We are in receipt of a card from Brother Price again this week. He is still in San Antonio and says Sister Price is doing fine, but he is very anxious to get back home. Every day to day he longs for the beauty and peace of the old Bandera hills and the company and association of his many dear friends in old Medina. We are glad to hear in his cheerful face, his friendly greeting, and the clasp of the hand each morning, and will welcome him home with outstretched arms in the early future return, which we hope will be real soon.

PIPE CREEK

MRS. T. A. LEWIS Reporter.

Letcher-Osborn Rites

St. Stanislaus Catholic church of Bandera was beautifully decorated with ferns and white gladiolus for the marriage of Miss Estelle Rose Letcher daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Letcher of Medina Lake, and Harley R. Osborn, of San Antonio, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Odom of Pipe Creek. Rev. Fr. Ed Schmidt performed the double ring ceremony and officed the nuptial mass. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She was lovely in a gown of white satin, prettily trimmed with lace. The bodice had a sweetheart neckline and was trimmed with lace insertions, as was the long train which was also edged with lace. Her bouquet was made of white satin bow and white satin streamers with orange blossoms. For something old she wore a pearl ornament which had adorned her mother's wedding dress. The attendants' dresses were of rayon dotted swiss, made with tight fitted bodices and full skirts. They also wore hats made of the same material, with bows in the back and white roses trimming the brims. They carried variegated colonial bouquets with white satin streamers. Mrs. Henry Braasch, matron of honor, was in light green; Mrs. Alton Stein, maid of honor, was in orchid. The bride's maids were Mrs. Ed Talley in pink, Miss Edwina Boyle in yellow, Mrs. Lloyd Hill in light blue, and Miss Eva Mae Haas in aqua. Little Rose Rita Brauchle was flower girl. Arthur Haby was best man and the groomsmen were Olen Karm, Stanley Tschirhart, Louie Odem and Lee Tyson. An all day reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The dining room was beautifully decorated with gladiolis in baskets and cut flowers while a huge three-tiered wedding cake adorned the table. Late in the evening the newly weds left for a short trip to Corpus Christi and Mexico. For traveling the bride chose a blue suit with red accessories and a corsage of red roses. Upon their return, they will make their home in San Antonio at 211 Goodrich Ave. The groom is employed by the Standard Electric Co. Fourth of July to Be Gala Event

Preparations for a record crowd is now underway by the St. Stanislaus Parish for their annual observance of July celebration, which will be held as usual at Mansfield Park. The celebration, a combination rodeo and barbecue affair, will be a gala event. For more than thirty years St. Stanislaus Parish has successfully staged a celebration on the Fourth of July, and each year new attractions are added and each year larger crowds attend. The people of the Hill Country always look forward to the Fourth of July celebration in Bandera with great anticipation. They can hardly wait for the time to roll around.

According to I. E. Adamietz, committee chairman, 1000 persons can be served every half hour in a speeded-up systematic serving program. The dinner will consist of delicious barbecue, meat, potatoes, beans, cole slaw, and block coffee. Recalling days on the range, the dinner will be served cowboys fashion. The day's program includes the barbecue dinner at 12 O.-k. rodeo under the direction of Bob Mansfield, and dancing in the evening at the Park. The packed rodeo put on by local and professional rodeo performers will be full of the old thrilling entertainment. The rodeo program includes roping contests, bareback and saddle bronc, $450 added purse for prizes in each event. Other features of the events more interesting and the show will be one of the outstanding features of the entire day.

Dancing in the hall and on the platform will be held for the entertainment of dance lovers. In the hall music will be furnished by Bandera's own band. The stompedeers, under the direction of Frank Montagne, Jr., the famous Texas Playboys, Hands will play for dances on the open air platform.

The price of tickets has been set at $1.50 for adults and 75c for children. This includes barbecue dinner, rodeos and taxi fare. Some concessions will be on soft drinks, beer, and sandwiches will be made. Proceeds from the rodeo and barbecue will go for the benefit of St. Joseph's School.

O. E. Morgenstern was up from Pipe Creek yesterday morning and reported that about 2 inches of rain fell at his place Wednesday night.

Western Wedding at The Wagon Wheel

Guests assembled in the patio of the U-shaped ranch house at the Wagon Wheel dude ranch on Thursday evening, June 17, at 7 o'clock for a real western wedding when Peggy Hall became the bride of Houston and formerly of Bandera, and Perry Wall of Bandera were united in marriage. Rev. Walter C. Probst of Kerrville officiated at this unique wedding. Miss Marcille Hook of Houston was maid of honor and Miss Ann Hall was bridesmaid for her best man. The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Clifton Ellington of the Wagon Wheel.

The groom and best man arrived at the ranch early in a covered wagon drawn by two horses, and the bride came from a side wing of the ranch house in a buggy. The couple were married in the patio in front of an altar made of three large wheels, a large one in the center flanked by two smaller ones. Greenery and white daisies, oak leaves and chiffon dance. The bride and maid of honor were attired in identical dresses of ranch gingham made in old fashioned style with full skirts and poke bustle. The bride wore white Mexican dahlias in her hair and carried a bouquet of daisies. The groom and best man were dressed in the traditional Texas cowboy white western shirts, and brown rec kerchief. Many of the guests were dressed in western attire, while the women members of the wedding party wore long cotton dresses in the style of the old fashioned western theme. Fruit punch was served to the guests after the ceremony in the dining room. A big copper kettle, the traditional wedding punch bowl of the days which was usually put to use at a barbecue for a big crowd of cowboys, was filled with punch. The long dining table had as a center piece a large wagon wheel covered with black oak, white fever few and white daisies. Under the wagon wheel on the table held the kettle full of punch and the other end of the wedding cake. The Texas Top Hands orchestra of San Antonio played the background music for during part of the ceremony. The bride and groom rode away in the covered wagon after the festivities.

Chevrolet Truck and Equipment Exhibit

Final arrangements have been completed for the opening of the big 1948 Chevrolet Truck and Special Equipment Exhibit on Tuesday, June 29, in San Antonio, "Under the Big Tent," at the Fair Grounds, Speedway on the Austin Highway, according to E. L. Slater McKay, of the Hartshorn Chevrolet Co., local Chevrolet dealer. The exhibit will be open each day from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. and will be continued through Saturday, July 3rd.

Truck owners and operators will thus have five full days in which to see a variety of modern special truck equipment units designed to make efficient use of the powerful Chevrolet Advance-Design Truck Chassis. Among the special trucks to be displayed will be local delivery units, buses and ambulances, refrigerator and pickup trucks, park and service delivery, heavy duty tractor and trailer combinations, dump trucks, school busses and others—all completely set up with a wide variety of special accessories and auxiliary equipment.

In announcing the exhibit, Mr. McKay pointed out that over 90 per cent of all hauling requirements can be handled by Chevrolet commercial and truck chassis. The exhibit is being staged to show owners and operators typical applications of highly-specialized equipment to the Chevrolet truck which has for so many years been America's "work horse."

Bob Hinds Wins in Tie-Down

Bob Hinde won the tie-down roping contest last Saturday night at Mansfield Park, when the Bandera Rodeo Association staged a very fine show for the entertainment of the Texas Press Convention delegates. Lost Valley Reeder Ranch, and Rockhaven Tennis Club; another of the Mayan Ranch; the Silver Spur, Cedar Crest, Frontier Times another to the Bar Double U, Bar L, and the Half Circle Courts; and another to Twin Elms, Bell Top U Bar, the Y O Ranch and Bruce's Bar S Ranch.

Musgrave of the Frontier Hotel.

At 6:30 p. m. all groups had assembled at Mansfield Park, where a 5 o'clock barbecue supper was waiting, and there in that beautiful grove under the moonlight visitors were served with barbecued meats, beans, potato salad, cole slaw, hot corn bread, and soft drinks. After the feast they were the guests of the Bandera Rodeo Association at an exciting and thrill ing rodeo. A few introductions were taken to the various dance ing resorts, and enjoyed dancing until 11 o'clock when they were reluctantly had to depart for San Antonio.

In the brief time they were here they were given entertainment and a reception that will never before experienced, and all were thrilled and pleased with the way things were handled in the Free State of Bandera, and many of them expressed the intention of returning to Bandera for a longer stay.

As the Bandera Tourist Association has offered attractive prizes for the best editorial, the best photos published by the visitors, many of the guests will undoubtedly feature this trip in their news and editorial columns. The prizes offered include a three-piece western outfit donated by Mac D. Hunter, a $5 Blending Oil donation in San Antonio last Friday and Saturday, suspended its proceedings when Friday night's session was over, and moved en masse to Bandera, where they were entertained by members of the Bandera Tourist Association and formerly of Bandera, and Perry Wall of Bandera were united in marriage. He was a cowboy many fifty years ago. Here the deceased grew up to manhood and has remained a citizen of this county until his death. Stokes-Neal Rites at Medina

A beautiful and impressive marriage ceremony was performed last Sunday at 4 p. m. at the Medina Baptist church, when Miss La Nell Neal became the bride of B. H. Stokes, Jr. Rev. W. H. Price, in his kindly, fatherly and solemn manner, performed the beautiful double ring ceremony, which bound this worthy young couple in the bonds of holy wedlock.

The bride was lovely in beautiful white crepe two-piece suit and the flowers she wore were miniature orchids. She was given in marriage by her step-father, Floyd Merfield, Victor Kelley served as best man, and Otho Hatfield and Walter McGrew served as ushers and as groomsmen.

Immediately after the ceremony approximately two hundred friends and relatives gathered at the new home of Mr. and Mrs. George Strickhausen of the O. & H. Ex-terprises served invitations only. They secured and delivered the DDT; both of them worked at the job, and when the work was finished the plane, piloted by Mr. Flood without any charge at all. Such public spirit will make any community grow, and this contribution by these two good men is certainly appreciated.

Houston Capitalist Purchases the Lost Valley Guest Ranch

A deal was consumated this week whereby George D. Sterrett, of Houston, became sole owner of the Lost Valley Guest Ranch, three miles east of Bandera. Mr. Stevens, a well known geologist and oilman, is married and has one son. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens like the Hill Country so well that they plan to spend their summers at Lost Valley. George Proffitt, new general managing of popular guest ranch, has already assumed his duties there, and states that the same basic operations that have been maintained in the past will be kept up and visitors will be welcome at all times.

Lost Valley, built about three years ago by Mike Robinson, is one of the most elaborate and beautiful guest ranches in the South. Through the far-sighted-ness and keen judgment of Mr. Robinson, it was equipped and equipped for the future. It has everything to make the guests comfortable and happy, from a fine swimming pool to one of the finest golf courses in Texas. It has won national fame as a guest resort hotel and draws a large number of its guests from far and over the world. The Bulletin welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Stevens, the new owners, to our community.

COMMENDABLE WORK

In the recent spraying of Bandera with DDT, which was sponsored by the Lions Club, two very important contributors were not mentioned. It was taken for granted that Lions would work, and several persons worked at the job. Two Bandera citizens, however, who are not Lions, did a very creditable piece of work. Eddy Flood and Dr. George Strickhausen of the O. & H. Enterprises served invaluable service. They secured and delivered the DDT; both of them worked at the job, and when the work was finished the plane, piloted by Mr. Flood without any charge at all. Sonora Wool Show.

Last week we took three Bandera County 4-H Club members to the Sonora Wool Show. We didn't take any fleeces to show, but took a judging team and the boys entered in the shearing contest. Club members who attended were Victor Hillman, Tobe Keese Jr., and Harold Bassett. Victor spaced seventh in the mohair judging and in the total, the judging team placed fifth. There were 21 teams entered in the contest. The boys judged two classes of goats, six classes of sheep, 20 fleeces of mohair, and 20 fleeces of wool. Victor and Harold entered the shearing contest but some 4-H boys from "way out in West Texas showed them how to really shear in a hurry.

The Sonora wool show is operated by the Sonora Lions Club. This year a total of 79 club members entered the contests from 19 counties. The event was held at the Bonner warehouse on June 16th and 17th.

We think the boys from Bandera county did a good job—placing fifth in team total—fourth place was won by the Kerr County FFA chapter, who won the contest last year. Individually, Victor Hillman Club fed us while we were there—Rusty Vilbert was chief cook, and we certainly had lots of good food.

Other Events

4-H members are getting ready for a lot of other events this summer. Next on the calendar is the District 4-H encampment to be held at Camp Waldemar on Guy Saints reunion grounds on the river at the George Ranch. Some 150 members will be held on July 15, 16, and 17. We already have reports that 17 members to attend that camp.

Warren and Bruce Hyde, Richard and Russell Koontz, Jr., Lester Buck and Bobby Pad-gett are the members of the Texas Angora Goat Raisers' Association who have been selected to attend the Angora Goat Raisers' Short Course which will be held at Uvalde on August 13th, 14th, and 15th. They will take some of the yearling billies that they have raised this year.

All of the members who have Angora goats will go to the State Junior Angora Show and Sale at Harperville on August 2nd. This includes Lester Buck, Joe Hunter Short, Jr., Jimmie Wayne Keese, Bruce and Warren Hyde, Russell Koontz, Jr., Jon and Bobby Padgett, Richard Thillman, and Bobby Padgett.

Ranchers and small ranchers will have an opportunity to see a lot of good Delaine sheep when the Kerrville Delaine Sale is held on annual show and sale. This sale will be held at Kerrville on July 21st and 22nd. Our old friend from Boerne, Lester Lon-man, is in charge of the sale. Lester has told us that there should be a real nice lot of Delaines at that show. They have not yet decided whether or not they will have an evening fat

They Let the Wives In!

The ex-GI's of our town entertained their wives the other night at one of their "feeds" of hamburger sandwiches and ice cold beer. (The girls had hinted that they'd like to see what went on when their husbands got together.)

Being wary, the boys provided chicken sandwiches and cake and cider—for those wives who might have other tastes. But though they were grateful for the choice, most of the wives agreed that hamburger sandwiches and beer were a mighty pleasant combination.

After the "feed" the husbands took their wives on at a game of darts, and later they played "Indians." The party broke up around ten, with the boys agreeing that it was mighty successful.

From where I sit, it's this companionship among young couples today, and their moderation in a sensible beverage like beer, that's won the younger generation such a wholesome reputation.

Editorial . . .

The brief visit of some three hundred editors, members of the Texas Press Association, to Bandera last Saturday, will afford a lot of very favorable publicity. The friendly hospitality and entertainment the newspaper men will not be forgotten by them. They were brought here by the Bandera Tourist Association, and shown just how Bandera entertains and loves. They were taken on tours and shown how our guests are welcomed. They were given a fine barbecue supper, and were guests at one of our splendid rodeos and taken to the various pleasure resorts and shown how to "Put Your Little Foot," and introduced to "Cotton Eyed Joe." And they were treated royally by the citizens of Bandera. Those editors will all write glowing descriptions of our favored region, and tell their readers how beautiful Bandera is, what wonderful opportunities it offers . . . vacation retreat. Bandera was indeed fortunate in igniting them to come, and the Tourist Association is to be congratulated on the manner in which the visit was entertained.

"That's strange," the Northerner remarked. "On my way into town I passed a funeral procession."

DRAFT TO START AUGUST 15

Washington, June 25.—Selective Service officials said Wednesday it's a safe guess that draft calls will start around August 15.

Actual drafting of men 19 through 25 may begin early in October, officials estimated. By that time, Selective Service officials anticipate we have fairly well digested 21 months of the draft law.

The draft bill itself has not been signed by President Truman. Passed by Congress Saturday, it has not reached the White House. He has ten days to act after he gets it.

Meanwhile, a good flood of enlistments of draft-age men in the National Guard is pushing the enrollment of the nation well beyond its quota fixed a few days ago.

Spokesmen said Wednesday that Guard enrollment may reach 375,000 by the end of the week. The earlier ceiling was 360,000. The present high strength in 1952 is 682,000.

FROM THE TEXAS SIFTINGS

In the 1880's there was published in Texas a humorous weekly newspaper, TEXAS SIFTINGS. It was edited by Alex E. Sweet and J. Armoy Knox, who were also members of the famous newspapers of that period, by circulation running into thousands. Sweet and Knox gained a reputation from New York, and many of their Texas sketches rated publication . . . and they did.

THE RECKLESS LOCAL REPORTER

The yearnings of American editors after titles has often been very properly ridiculed. If a man has never been on the bench since he was a school boy unless it was the mourner's bench in the recorder's court for being drunk and disorderly, he is in more danger than almost anybody else of being called "judge." If a man had been gifted with sufficient strategic ability to keep out of the late attempt to destroy the United States government, that gift is sure to go through life with "colonel" or "major" in front of his name. The best way would be to make the laws apply to everybody who forges complimentary titles. For this nonsense the press is largely responsible. There is a disposition on the part of local reporters to write down every man "honorable" who happens to brighten up the reportorial horizon with a cheap cigar or a bottle of sour wine. The readers take their cue from the newspaper, and the consequence is that when men are sentenced to the penitentiary or arrested for taking off a chicken fine, the judge and the constable address them as "general," "colonel," "judge," or whatever may be the stigma that attaches to their names.

The Texas papers, in particular, have suffered bad habit, the night advantageously shuffle off. If a little one horse corner grocery finds favor in the eyes of the faber-pusher, he is denounced through the press as a benevolent prince. It is more than probable that reporters who are so liberal in conferring princely titles have a very much muddled-up idea as to what kind of coffee-mill a prince really is. A real prince never stops a reporter on the street and says: Mr. Jones, or Mr. Smith, or whatever other name his sponsors in baptism have bestowed upon him, "A fellow like you never sits in his shirt sleeves in front of his store with a cheap tobacco juice through his front teeth. A real prince is always dressed in a most gorgeous military uniform, with a big silver cuirass as big as a saucer on his breast, to let people know that he is the prince, and no mistake. A prince is always calm, reserved, dignified, and surrounded by a glittering staff. If a newspaper man were to run in that kind of a prince and ask him for a pound of cheese and crackers, on ninety days credit, half a dozen dukes, counts, earls, and the small fry would telephone to a policeman to show the journalist the road to the lunatic asylum. There is no such thing as a merchant prince.

The Texas journalist also persists in calling every cattle king who brands all the calves in his neighborhood a cattle king. No real king ever put on a gold absorbent hat and lived on cornbread and coffee. The real king sits upon a glittering throne, such as you see in circus processions, holding a golden sceptre like a policeman's club, in his hand, and a royal crown on his head. The kind of diamonds is a pretty fair likeness of a highborn sovereign. Now, what is there about an alleged cattle potentate that justifies the reporter in dubbing him with the title of king?

But the most serious charge we have to make against the average reporter is the kind of marriage notice that is sprung on the unfortunate reader by the local reporter. It is an undeniable fact that what are called society people, like the angels in Heaven, are neither married nor given in marriage. There is a great deal of jigger riding but comparatively little pushing about of baby carriages. There is no end to picnicking, moonlight rambles, but very few bridal tours among fashionable people. There is a great deal of skirmishing around the line, but no regular engagement. And all this hesitancy is occasioned by the dread of the cheerful send-off by the local reporter.

We once knew a local reporter in a Texas city, who materially reduced the average of the advertising marriage notices. He was not satisfied with the usual headline about "The fair and lovely bride," "the noble-looking groom," and the high contracting parties, but he would invariably wind up the notice with a few verses of poetry. It did not make a particle of difference to him what kind of poetry it was. He had a number of old poetical quotations at hand, and would chop off a piece at random. Occasionally it fitted, but sometimes the verse reminded one of Sandy Pumpkin's proverb dragged in backward by the tail. On the occasion of the nuptials of a well known doctor, he wound up the notice with Longfellow's familiar verse beginning:

"There is a reaper, whose name is Death."

The doctor came very near gathering in that local reporter's body, and scattering his ashes to the winds. Another reporter, a young man, who had been very fast, reformed and got married, and the editor selected the strongest of classical quotations and made him happy with the verse from Gray's Elegy in a Country Church Yard, beginning:

"No further seek his frailties to disclose."

Such marriage notices kept people from entering their necks with the marriage yoke. It was useless to attempt to modify the zeal. Men about to get married would see him with tears in their eyes and treat them with silent contempt, but as soon as the wine and cake began to tell on his reportorial stomach, in one wild outburst of gratitude, he would perpetrate half a column of inspired idiocy, occasionally some desperate man would fail to send the cake and wine, and then was startled to read that the bride's mother was a servant girl but rose to her present position by industry and saving, and that the bridegroom's father is the only one of four brothers who escaped the penitentiary.

There can be no doubt but that the recklessness with which the newspaper man writes up marriage notices has much to do with the unwillingness of fashionable young men and maidens to get married. Some people say that the real cause is the inability of the fashionable young wife to get along with an expensive colored cook lady, a colored wash lady and perhaps a nurse lady, not to speak of her "ma." We nearly overlooked that veritable obstacle. Then, too, there's say fashionable hats, and cotton, and paints cost like the very mischief. These depressing influences may have some effect in discouraging matrimony, but the real Josiah is the reckless local reporter.

(From the Bandera New Era, June 28, 1928, published by J. Andrew Hamilton.)

Splicing telephone cable

TO SERVE WAITING CUSTOMERS

"I'm a cable splicer for the telephone company.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL TELEPHONE CO.

"All of us cable splicers are busy these days helping put new cables into service so that people waiting can get telephones.

"Cable and wire tie together the parts of the telephone system. To serve a new customer we need not only a telephone instrument and room on the switchboard, but also there must be a pair of wires to connect the two. Right now, most of the wires in telephone cables are in use.

"That's why we're putting in new cables as fast as the factories can deliver them—and the factories are turning out twice as much as they did before the war.

"To you people waiting: We want you to know that we're doing everything we can to get you a telephone—just as soon as we can."

BANDERA GETS EXCITED OVER OIL DISCOVERY

That oil will some day be found in this region is the general belief of many oil experts. Thus far very little effort has been made to find oil, only two or three test wells having been drilled. In the Bandera New Era, of June 10, 1920, the following item appeared:

"Considerable excitement was caused by a report in Monday's Express that a flowing oil well had been struck here. The facts in regard to this well, as far as the writer can learn, are these. E. F. Peters and John Higgins have been drilling an artesian water well for Elvious Hicks on his place two miles west of town. They are now down 700 feet. Last week after passing through some sand they discovered oil on top of water baled out of the well. Mr. Chas. Beasley, head driller for the Rex Co., and an old driller, was invited out to see the well. He told this writer that he examined this sand and made careful tests, which convinced him that a five-barrel oil well could be brought in at that depth if the exact location of the sand could be found and the well plugged and screened in at that point."

The Corner Drug Store is ready to serve you at all times with purest drugs, medicines, toilet articles, etc. Physicians' prescriptions carefully and accurately compounded.

BANDERA GETS EXCITED OVER OIL DISCOVERY

That oil will some day be found in this region is the general belief of many oil experts. Thus far very little effort has been made to find oil, only two or three test wells having been drilled. In the Bandera New Era, of June 10, 1926, the following item appeared:

"Considerable excitement was caused by a report in Monday's Express that a flowing oil well had been struck here. The facts in regard to this well, as far as the writer can learn, are these: E. T. Peters and John Hollins have been drilling an artesian water well for Elmore Hicks on his place two miles west of town. They are now down 700 feet. Last week after passing through some sand they discovered oil on top of water boiled out of the well. Mr. Chas. Beasley, head driller for the Rex Co., and an oil driller was invited out to see the well. He told this writer that he examined this sand and made careful tests, which convinced him that a five-barrel oil well could be brought in at that depth if the exact location of the sand could be found and the well plugged and screened in at that point."

BANDERA, TEXAS

In the coming July election there are three men bidding for your vote for county commissioner. Since the voters are the only people who can decide such an issue I have decided to hold over a few facts about myself not advertised and would care to, you can check these statements.

I was born in the town of Uvalde, Texas. When I was three years old my parents moved to Arizona. When I was 18 years old I was appointed deputy sheriff in my home community, for 10 years.

When I was 28 years old I was appointed maintenance man for county roads in Maricopa County, Arizona. I served in this capacity for five years.

While I lived in Arizona I did business with the Buckeye Valley Bank of Buckeye, Arizona for 25 years. I did business with Mr. Jack Cureton of the Buckeye Feed and Seed Store and Mr. Jack Summers Hardware and Contractors Co., the O. S. Stapley Hardware and Contractors Co. at Buckeye and Phoenix, Arizona, for 25 years. I spent at Buckeye and Phoenix, Arizona, for 25 years. I spent more than $75,000.00 with them in the last 5 years of operations, several Furnaces and three combines.

In 1934 I began doing business with the First State Bank in Bandera, Texas and I am still doing business with them. I began trading with Jess McNeel of the Jess McNeel Machinery Co. in 1935. I have bought several thousand dollars worth of heavy equipment from him.

I have never been arrested or put in jail. If I were elected your commissioner and a war started the next day, I would still manage to keep your roads and streets passable in some way.

"I do not think your tax rate will have to be raised in order to keep good roads and streets. I live on Bandera and home 10 miles southwest of Bandera. I own 1000 acres of land and a number of cattle and goats. If elected I will live here always.

I have traded with and worked for the following people in Bandera County: Mr. John Lindsey, O. O. Adams, Tom Boyle, Eddie Ryan, Charles Lovelace, John F. Merrick, Joe Hensley, George Parker, Frank Ross, Dr. C. H. Harper, Frank Langford, Howard G. Hay, Medina County, W. E. Telford, Earl Weed, Henry Bausch, Jack Wallace.

I hope that you will take my candidacy into serious consideration and vote for me as your county commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Bandera County, at the July 5th election. I promise to give you honest efficient service.

Sincerely yours,

PRESTON WEDGWORTH

RECRUITING ENDS FOR GUARD; DRAFT IS NEXT

Washington, June 28—Enlistments of men for the National Guard and ordered stopped immediately Friday, governors and leaders begin to co-ordinate policies under the new draft law.

Army Secretary Royall telegraphed all state adjutants generals to halt recruiting. He explained that there isn't enough money to pay more men, and Congress will not favor extra appropriations.

The budget for the fiscal year provides for a total Army strength of 351,000 men. The number of volunteers this week nearly draft age men seeking to avoid the draft, pushed it to strength near 275,000.

Under provisions of the draft bill that President Truman made law when he signed it Thursday, men who were not in the guard or other organized reserves by last midnight are subject to the draft, defense officials said.

NEWS of County Agricultural Agent

Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

Bandera 4-H Member wins A & M College Scholarship

Wayne Keese of Bandera, member of the Bandera 4-H Club, and valedictorian of the 1948 Bandera High School graduating class, received a telegram last Friday from J. A. & M. College of Texas that he had won a $300.00 scholarship to A & M. Wayne is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Keese of the Middle Verde Ranch near Bandera, and was an outstanding student in high school.

Three hundred outstanding high school students took competitive examinations at A & M College for the scholarships. Fifty scholarships were given, each being worth about $300. Wayne will enter A & M this fall and will take Agricultural Engineering.

Certificate Issued

The Bandera Soil Conservation District became a reality when the Secretary of State of Texas issued a certificate of organization for the district on June 22, according to H. F. Schimmer, county agricultural agent, signed by Kirk R. Mallory, Assistant Secretary of State of the State of Texas. The certificate with the seal of the State of Texas on it, which reached here last week by A. H. Sloth, of Pipe Creek, one of the supervisors of the district. The other supervisors are Allie Allsup of Medina.

As the law requires that the district have five supervisors, it will now be necessary to elect additional supervisors from Medina, Tarpley, and Bandera. These additional supervisors will be elected at conventions held in the subdivisions of the district. Any land owner in the district meeting pieces will be announced at the meetings. It is expected that the meetings will be held some time in July.

RUNGE EDITOR PRAISES BANDERA

A part of the newspaper editors who visited Bandera by air while in route to Corpus Christi, wrote glowingly of the things they saw in Bandera, by the Bandera Tourist Association. Mr. and Mrs. Air B. Schroeder of the Runge Courier were among those at Bange, were among the visitors and in writing of their trip Mr. Schroeder says:

"On Saturday afternoon, after spending some more than half day of exchanging ideas with the speakers and fellow newspaper publishers of Texas, we were loaded for the hill country. Upon arrival at Bandera a short stop for refreshments and then on a tour of various world famous dude ranches. The first was the Mayan Ranch, with W. D. Moran, owner in charge. Here we saw a beautiful rock ranch home, pens and riding horses, complete with swimming pool, many tourist cottages. Then to the Silver Spur with a large emerald dance floor and open air pavilion large enough for more than a hundred couples. The Cedar Crest dude ranch, Marvin Hunter's Frontier Times greatest privately owned museum in the world, where one could spend several days viewing at the interesting collection of thousands of old relics. Next a visit to the Middleton ranch with its private swimming pool, cisterns, and unique white wash of cedar posts. Last but not least is Mansfield Park, a well kept up city park owned by the city, where a rodeo was staged and followed by a fish dinner at the outdoor pavilion. The Bandera Hill Country with its elaborate ranches is truly a sportsman's paradise, where one may hunt, fish, or ride, or loaf in the shade and for a week-end of fun or relaxation is truly you would remember always."

WOULDN'T STAND FOR IT

A darky named Sam borrowed $25 from Tom and when it came time to pay the amount. Time went on and the note became due and past due. One day Tom met Sam on the street and Tom with a look of disgust said:

"Look heah, man, when you gonta to pay dat note?"

"I ain't got no money now," replied Sam, "but am going to pay it soon as I kin."

"You been saying dat for months," retorted Tom, "but it don't get me no money. I don't pay dat money right now, I'll know what I'm going to do. I'm goin' to bring yer old note; den who'll you be at?"

"Tom, you will, yas sir, will. Sam chunked, "Jes' fo' horn dat note I'll owe you $50 an' I'll invoice on to you."

"I'll just wait on de Bullets to read by next Sun. I'll be dere each week. If you have any thing for sale, try a small want ad.

MEDINA LAKE GETS SOME DROUGHT RELIEF

Scattered, but heavy rains, totaling 3 to 6½ inches, fell last Wednesday, and over the ranch country between and west of San Antonio will revive pastures and feed crops.

The moisture has come in time to benefit, virtually to make, the area's cotton, but a big acreage devoted to that crop is ineligible. Excepting the late, planted "grandfather" varieties, cotton was already lost. On the other hand prospects are now and produce ample harvests of the quick growing grain sorghums, corn and other summer legumes. The South Texas farmer may count himself fortunate to have his eggs in so many different baskets.

For the region as a whole, including San Antonio, perhaps the most welcome news concerns Medina Lake. One day and night of rain on the watershed had raised the water-level at the dam by 30 feet. Moreover, that measurement was taken before the run-off from Medina City's 6-inch rain had poured into the Lake. At best, however, it will take some time to get Medina Lake to normal. The water-level is still 105 feet below the spillway, it will need more rain than the ranch country is likely to get for some time to fill the Lake.

Meanwhile the lessons which the water famine and consequent crop-loss have to teach should not be lost on the people. By latest accounts, the management of pumping leaks in the diversion lake, which reportedly had been repaired twice so much water went onto the irrigated fields and gardens, and in domestic use.

Taking the longer view—as H. F. Schimmer, Bandera County agent, recently assured this newspaper—farmers and ranchers on the watershed are doing their best, with the resources at their command, to speed up the restoration of Medina Lake. Those landowners are fighting erosion which pours silt into the lake-bed by terracing their hillside land, and, what counts more, by substituting permanent grass for cotton, controlled grazing for cedar brakes.

Such development of the watershed should greatly increase Medina Lake's usefulness and value, will certainly not, by itself, provide all remedy to solve the problem of how to keep Medina Lake full. That is something that rains will come—San Antonio Express.

SAN ANTONIO GROUP VISITS BANDERA

A delightful group of young people of the Grove Avenue Church of Christ, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Melton and Mr. and Mrs. Loyd N. Rutledge, came up to attend services of the Bandera Church of Christ and enjoy a picnic dinner at Hunter Crossing. Bro. Melton delivered an able discourse at the church service. Among the group were Janet Rutledge, Charles Glass, Margie Anderson, Bobbie Jenkins, Gus Simmons, Sam Lanford, June Simmons, Billy Vogel, Edna F. Riley, Mrs. Mercedes Friedrich, Charlotte Kerr, A. A. Friedrich, Merle Melton, Mrs. Loretta Anderson, Joe Frank McCall, Tobie Merrell, Lorena Anderson, Victor Weiss, David Hulbert, Arvel Langley, and Charles Salsa. Before returning to San Antonio the group visited Frontier Times Museum.

Porcelain faucet handles are a practical danger to bathroom water installations. Porcelain faucet handles often break when bone turned on or off, inflicting severe cuts on the hand of the person using them. When porcelain faucet handles split, as they often do, they have a razor-sharp edge. The news citation instance of a Topeka, Kansas, girl, upon reading in the morning paper that water rates had been increased 30 per cent, remarked that she guessed she would shut off the leaky bathroom faucet. The porcelain handle split under pressure of her hand, and cut a cut that required twenty one stitches to close.

Pampered Farmers

If the folks in our town were less tolerant, they'd be really burned up over that nationally circulated article on "pampered farmers," describing them as living off the fat of the land.

From where I sit the farmer is anything but "pampered." If he's better off today than twenty years ago it's because he's worked hard to improve the quality and quantity of his production.

Take Bert Childers, for example. Bert is up at four in the morning, to get the milking finished—and ploughing or harvesting, depending on the season, until sundown. In the evening he finally relaxes with the missus over a moderate glass of beer.

And the farmer today's not only twice-rents in his habits, like Bert's evening glass of beer ... but tolerant to his opinions. So he'll probably say of that article, "somebody got the facts wrong," and just let it go at that.

Editorial . . .

This week the Bulletin completes its first year of existence in the growing city of Bandera and next week the paper will enter upon its second year. Start-ing on a shoe-string July 9, 1947, with a single assistant, myself, a little room in Frontier Hotel Lobby, and a borrowed typewriter, the task of getting out the first issue was a formidable one. But I was determined to succeed, and I wanted to become the only news-paper in Bandera county, and after starting the paper we had to purchase a press, and then we had to set it up, first, our growing circulation and steadily increasing advertising patronage made it necessary to enlarge the Bulletin to its present size of nine columns to the page. The need for a still larger and faster press was keenly felt by July, 1947, a handsome site building was erected on Upper Main Street and we moved the paper into it. Last spring we purchased a four-page Scott press, with folder attachment, to get the paper out each week. We have added other equipment to our plant, recently we installed an automatic type-setting machine, a Model 31, direct from the factory, so the Bulletin plans to keep right up with the times. Our circulation is now 1,800, and advertising is good. Here is supposed to be a Scott, Mary Ellen Hudson, Mrs. Ruby Hudson, and I, Marvell Hunter, Sr., manager of the paper, but Bandera people don't bother us very much. We have a lot of fun running the paper, and we hope to continue to publish a good newspaper for the people of Texas.

JAROSEWSKI-MATZUK

Virgie Neoline Jarosewski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hilary Jarosewski of San Antonio, became the bride of Leslie Edward Matzuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Matzuk of Cuero in a double ring ceremony read at 8 o'clock in the Faith Evangelical Lutheran church in San Antonio Saturday afternoon, June 19th. Wedding vows were exchanged before the altar decorated in white gladiolus. Preceding the ceremony Gloria Hotchkiss sang "The Promise Me," sung by Gloria and Eddie Schaefer. The bride was given in marriage by the groom's parents. Miss Jean Matzuk, sister of the groom, was maid of honor, and Mrs. Edwin Johnson and Miss Mary Ann Matzuk, sister of the bridesmaids. Charlotte Jean Jarosewski acted as flower girl and wore the same blue organdy as the bridesmaids. All carried colonial bouquets of yellow gladioli. Hubert Matzuk was his brother's best man and Milton Padgett, Bruno Jarosewski and Marvin Jarosewski were groomsmen. Charles Matzuk, Cuero bridegroom was ringbearer. Serving as ushers were Ewald Jarosewski and Alfred Hoffmeister. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed the ceremony. Assisting in serving about 150 guests were Mesdames Bruno Jarosewski, Louis Runge, and Ruben Jarosewski. Mrs. Milton Padgett was in charge of the bride's book. After the reception the couple left on a wedding trip to Houston and other points. Mr. and Mrs. Matzuk will make their home in San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Short returned from Temple Friday, where they had been at the bedside of Joe Short, who underwent a major operation; there a few days before. They report him doing good recovery and that he will be able to return home soon.

Mrs. C. L. Horseman returned Tuesday from Houston, where she spent the past month with her son Hubert Horseman, who is slowly but surely improving in a hospital there. We will be pleased to see Hubert well and at home again soon.

Miss Margaret Montague of San Antonio is spending a while here on her home. She had as her guests last week-end Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Cutchins of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. S. Bostic of Edinburg. While here they were plan guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montague and family.

Scooter Fries and His Quarter Colt

Scooter Fries, 10-year-old Hallettsville rodeo, but by most eighth grader from W. Jones' ranch, is shown the swelling had been reduced, and he entered up for the 440 yard dash. Scooter was a bit handicapped by having had his foot seriously injured a day or two before the opening day of the calf roper.

Miss Mary Karger, of San Antonio, and Paul Moody, of Norfolk, Oklahoma, were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Scott Bobb. Miss Karger and Mr. Moody are employed by the foreign department of the Petty Geophysical Company, of San Antonio.

Mrs. Ella Hawkes, who recently purchased the Harry Davis ranch near the highway between Bandera and Medina, was a visitor in the city Wednesday, and informed the Bulletin that she has made some changes and fitted the place up as a guest ranch. She is now prepared to accommodate anyone desiring a nice quiet homelike place in which to spend their vacation.

Planning a career for himself, Jim T. Kinnis, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Kinnis, of Bandera, has joined up in the U. S. Air Force at San Antonio to learn the mechanical trade during his three year enlistment.

Out-of-town people who attended the funeral of Verda Masters last Saturday morning were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Williams of Three Rivers; Mrs. Edna Smith of Austin; J. S. Masters and family of Port Neches; Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Masters of Long Beach, California; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Masters of Fontana, California; W. A. Masters of Houston; Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Stanolind all of San Marcos and Mr. and Mrs. H. A. McNess of San Antonio.

CIRCUS COURT ACTION AGAINST BANDERA LAKE

Forging ahead as he believes to be a danger to San Antonio's water system, Dr. Frederick H. Whipple, president of the San Antonio Anglers' Club, has wired Attorney Gen. Price Daniel, at Austin asking the attorney general to institute Lake Bandera, Inc., in injunction suits against 36 oil companies and individual producers in the Lake Bandera and Flat Field.

Western telegram to Daniel read: "In your fight against salt water pollution, the sportsmen of this area, urgently request that you include Lake Bandera, Inc., contributing to pollution of water lake on the dry south fork of the Medina river and filled through drilling pipeline. This lake will be a potential source of dangerous pollution to the San Antonio river, Medina Lake, Medina irrigation canal and the water supply of San Antonio."

The attorney general filed suit in Judge Roy C. Archer's Travis County District Court Thursday, and a hearing was set for July 6 for the 28 oil companies and individual producers named in the petition.

The state's petition in the suit set forth that the chloride content of the water in the Guadalupe and San Marcos rivers had increased during the past 30 days. No immediate restraining order was asked by the state.

Seven Bexar county defendants, including the Lake Bandera Inc., Lake Weston referred to in his telegram to Daniel, are alleged to be including in Daniel's fight was reported to be opened by the Bandera Waterproof, during the Bandera earthquake in May. It was also to be constructed through 200 of two abandoned oil pipelines and it was reported that $50,000 had been pooled for the project. The lake is eventually to be stocked with 1,500 bass, 1,500 bream and 1,500 catfish, it was stated.

Although it has not yet been definitely determined whether the water pumped is to come from West Texas oil fields or from the Gulf itself, Judge Marion Toole, chief aquatic biologist for the state game department in Austin, and Atty. Lester Whipple admitted the possibility of getting salt water in proposed inland salt water lakes.

Toole said he had corresponded with Bandera, Inc. and had offered to them any studies as fish that would live in the water if it were not too salty. Atty. Whipple says that the purpose of the lake is in the dark because if no fish will live there.

Whipple thinks that the lake, free from algae, will be ideal for swimming, salt deposits in the Medina area that would prevent the water, he said, San Antonio and surrounding neighborhoods.

Toole intimated Tuesday that the Bandera Lake suit was an attempt to "shake down" the oil companies for money, but that conflict said water would be harmful to fish and chemicals including ionics that kill fish.—San Antonio Evening News.

ARMY PLANNING TO INDUCT

Army officials are planning to induct 25,000 to 28,000 men during the Army experts to induct 1949, under the new peacetime draft law and inductions probably will start, on a small scale, about September 22 at which time about 30,000 a month is to be inducted. Inductions will start in October, he drafters; nonessential youths 19 through 25, will serve for 21 months of active duty, followed by 3 months of basic training they can either be stationed in the United States or overseas.

Local boards probably will begin registering all males between 18 through 25 on August 16. Youths of 18 can escape the 21 months hitch by volunteering for a year's training and enlisting for six years in an active reserve.

Boyd outlined the draft plan at a news conference in which he announced that the Army's "total war" expansion from 542,000 to 837,000 officers and men, will be brought fully up to its new strength, he said, "we will be ready to organize for the first time since the days of bootlitting."

The Army Chief of Staff said in reply to a question that the Army has no intention of selecting students who claim they are Communists.

The Act automatically exempts conscientious objectors and a President Truman to set up special exemptions for members of religious sects, then with dependents, and essential workers.

Boyd said the draft is designed to provide the Army with "adequate trained reserves" for fighting a war. Army became the Navy and Air Force are expected to meet their manpower requirements through voluntary enlistments.

ANSWERS GIVEN ON TRAINING PLANS

Washington, June 28—Here are some questions the Army has been asked about the draft and Army's answers in whole or in part:

Q. Will the draft apply to members of the regular Army? A. Selective service officials encourage to enlist in the regular military establishment at any time after he had entered service by that method. Other phases should be on securing enlistment for the longest term possible.

Are selectees going to be assigned specific, or are they going to be mixed together with the regular outfits? Selectees will not be trained separately, but will be trained with and in the same manner as volunteers.

How long will men be trained before they are sent overseas? It is anticipated that no enlisted personnel will be sent overseas without having a minimum of eight weeks' basic training.

Will primary emphasis be on training for fighting or for occupation duty? Fighting. The whole training doctrine of the Army is to develop a trained soldier capable of performing effectively his primary mission of combat.

Will the selectees be trained in accordance with universal military training plan or will they be volunteers? A comprehensive act is not approved a unit plan, prepared by the Army Staff. The selectee will be trained like the regular army volunteer. However, the present plan contemplates an eight weeks' basic training course temporarily until units of the Army have been properly filled after which the course will be of 13 weeks program will obtain. Furthermore, some of the principles developed in the experimental unit at Fort Knox have been and will be incorporated in regular Army training programs.

Will women be drafted? No. Will Army drafters be able to transfer to the Air Force or Navy if the want to? No, and vice versa.

Will we have a "breakstick" Army? No. Adequate material to available to train personnel.

Is adequate housing available? Mobilization type World War II buildings will be untilized to house troops. We have relatively few funds with which to dress them up, but by concentrating our expenditures on the

Will Commissits be drafted? There is no provision in the law for excluding Communists.

What about the courtmartial system? The present system is the courtmartial system applicable to the industrial. They will be subject to the articles of war as are all other members of the military establishment.

Will selectees be entitled to veterans benefits as the GI Bill provided for World Warr II vets? The "GI Bill" does not apply to those entering the Army after 25 July 1947. Under present legislation, the selectee who has completed his term of service in a satisfactory manner will be entitled to very liberal reemployment benefits.

What about race segregation? Our policy must continue to be the employment of negro troops units of appropriate size and conformation in the best interests of overall efficiency. There will be equality of opportunity and lack of discrimination between races.

Will industries be given airborne training at centers where there are airborne divisions? soldiers will be given airborne training at centers where there is service in an airborne unit.

The Bulletin retails for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

BRADY EDITOR ENJOYS BIRDING TRIP

The editor of the Brady Standard, Mrs. Fern Fraser Andrews, who is also president of the Texas Press Association, with Mrs. Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Schaefer and Mrs. Alice Schaefer spent the week-end in Bandera on a bird watching trip. They were guests of the Frontier Times Museum and Ranch Association and were taken on a tour of the museum and ranch. Saturday afternoon the Bandera Tourist Association entertained the publishers and guests, in the Silver Spur Cafe, and showed them the Old Mission of Bandera, familiarly called the Cowboy Capital of the World.

This fellow Roberts, who is also county attorney, proved a swell host at the barbecue and rodeo that followed. He and other members of the Bandera Tourist Association were dressed in boots and ranch-style clothes and that nothing was left undone for the entertainment of their guests. Following the barbecue, the newspaper men and women attended the rodeo and numerous dances in town and at the dude ranches.

Two buses carried guests from the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio to Bandera, with the editor making the trip in private cars. Upon arrival in Bandera the passengers on the buses were taken on a tour of the dude ranches, with Mr. Hunter as the conductor. First stop upon reaching the city deep in the hills was the Jersey Lilly, where refreshments were served the group.

Bandera, with the other ranches, was then visited, and every view in a picture and every guest a friend." An attractive souvenir pamphlet was given each of us as we were shown through the Frontier Museum, the sunkissed patio of the native rock clubhouse, one has an inspiring view of the bright valley below. What a blissful place to while away a few hours, away with a refreshing dip awaiting you in the crystal pool and then by riding the range with the cowboys and cowgirls, enjoying the finest to-the-minute roundups and ranch routines . . . and the west is a beautiful place, where the home of "Cotton Eyed Joe," "Ten Pretty Girls," and "Old Joe Clark," and other original cowboy tunes.

But we didn't have time to linger and dream. We were on a tour, and after "drinks on the house" Mr. Hunter drove to another resort, this time the Silver Spur. Once again we saw the happy hours away, with dancing nightly for fun and recreation and relaxation. The drinks were

G. O. P. RETURNS TO 1856 STYLE IN NOMINEES

Washington, June 25—The Republican party has picked in Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Earl Warren of California its first East-West, coast to coast Presidential ticket since its first party convention in 1856.

It established a precedent by giving Dewey a second nomination after having lost his Presidential bid in 1944.

But along with these "firsts" and "near firsts," the G. O. P. adhered to the time-honored custom of selecting standard bearers who will hail from states with big electoral votes.

If Dewey and Warren can show next November the vote pulling power they demonstrated in their gubernatorial re-election campaigns in 1946 they will have corraled more than one-fourth of the electoral votes required for victory.

New York has 47 and California 25 electoral votes for a total of 72. A total of 266 is needed to win.

But, back in history:

It was in Philadelphia, too, that the Republicans nominated their first cross-country ticket before the Civil War. They chose John C. Fremont of California and William L. Dayton of New Jersey in a one-day convention. They were defeated by James Buchanan of Pennsylvania and John C. Breckenridge of Kentucky.

A pilot who had bailed out over Miami, Florida, was coming down, and was amazed to see another man going up.

"Hi, there!" he shouted. "What's happening to you?"

"It's all right, old man," came the reply. "Mine's a test! It's just another hurricane!"—Labor.

BANDERA

Now that fishing time is here, and some good catches are being made by local anglers, fish stories are rife and mostly unbelievable. There have been big fish caught out of the Medina river, above and below Bandera. Lake Gray and Frank Ross always bring in the big ones. A year or two ago W. P. Rhodes caught a 50-pound yellow cat in a small hole on the Loop, using cheese and cotton for bait; three small boys caught a 58-pound yellow cat in the large hole just above Ranger Crossing, which was supposed to have been fished out by campers there. Even the women catch big ones, too. Several years ago Mrs. Clara Stevens O'Connell caught a 97-pound yellow cat in Medina Lake, and Mrs. Edna Wheat Beam, who ranches on the river several miles below Bandera, frequently catches big catfish weighing from 40 to 60 pounds.

The Corner Drug Store handles fishing tackle and other supplies. It's time to try your luck. You may catch the biggest fish yet.

Scooter Fries Wins at Big Spring

Scooter Fries was lucky again at the Big Spring Junior Championship Boys and Girl's Rodeo, which was held at the Big Spring rodeo grounds on July 3. The rodeo, open to boys and girls up to and including eighteen years of age, was a three day affair among the main features of entertainment was junior calf roping, break-away, junior bull riding, ribbon roping, girls' clover race, and boys' and girls' trick riders.

Scooter won the tie-down calf roping with a time of 15.7. He was awarded a beautiful Texas saddle, bridle and blanket by the Big Spring Sheriff's Posse, a $50 pair of boots, and a pair of Toots Mansfield roping spurs. These were given as prizes for the best all around average of the rodeo. In the ribbon roping he tied with Perry Walker of Big Spring with a time of 17.5 for each. The boys roped off on the tie and Scooter won the decision, which carried a purse of $35.

The last event of the show was a matched roping between Scooter and a team of Big Spring. The boys were given four calves each, and the time for Scooter on his four was 37.6. Big Spring for his four calves was 53.5, giving him a slight win over Scooter.

The Bandera Bulletin

To the Voters of Precinct No. 1

In entering the race for Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1, Bandera county, I have done so at the urgent solicitation of a number of my friends, and in asking the support of the voters of this precinct I feel that they should know something of my aims and qualifications.

I have lived in Texas more than fifty years, and started paying taxes in Bandera county in 1924, and have been operating in and around Bandera since that time. I have sold several ranches in this county, besides other real estate transactions. For the past three years I have been engaged in the manufacture and repair of ranch house furniture, thereby making extensive acquaintance with the people of this county. I feel that I am fully qualified to discharge the duties of Justice of the Peace, having had two years in law training, and served as deputy county clerk of Bexar county, having charge of the central filing office, handling the filing of cases in both the civil and criminal courts of that county. Should the voters of Bandera and Tarpley elect me to the office of Justice of the Peace, Precinct No. 1, I pledge myself to do my full duty as such to the very best of my ability, without fear or favor. On this basis I solicit your vote in the Democratic primaries on Saturday, July 24th, assuring you of my appreciation for favors shown me.

RELICS FROM A PIONEER

J. E. Bandy of El Centro, California, sent to Frontier Times, Bandera county paper, a few watches, one of them used by his father, J. E. Bandy, and the other by J. F. Bandy, both of whom formerly lived here. John J. Bandy now owns the pioneer's tax assessor of Bandera county, but left here many years ago. He also stated that he would send us an enlarged portrait of his father to hang in our gallery of Bandera county pioneers. We very much appreciate Mr. Bandy's interest and donation he has made to our museum.

A PIONEER COOK BOOK

Some years ago we published a cook book giving recipes used by the pioneers of this section. The edition being since been exhausted, and as there is still a demand for this book, we are now reprinting it with many recipes added. It will be off the press soon, and will be on sale at Frontier Times office.

FISH IN ALPINE WELL

Alpine, June 26. (SC)—Alpine might become known as a town of mystery. First it was a skull colt. Now it's six-inch perch and myriads of fingerlings in a local well. The perch and fishing places are some 50 miles distant.

Since early days the well which supplies water for the swimming pool and shade flower garden on the property of Cas Edwards, local poet laureate and author of "Cowboy Philosophy," has been regarded as one of the purest, most powerful and inexhaustable in Alpine.

Since recent showers, however, it has been covered with fish, some large enough to fry.

About 35 feet deep, the well is under cover and protected against intrusion of surface water. Edwards is convinced the fish didn't "rain down" because none fell on surrounding land. His guess is that they entered the well through some underground channel carrying a large vein of water from a mountain spring.

The fish disappear into the depths of the well each time he tries to net them. Pumping the well dry would prove difficult and costly because of its rapid intake.

One good point is that when Edwards irrigates his flower garden his two tom cats manage to keep full without the usual costly canned fish.

This from an exchange: A friend of ours told us the other day that he was having a home built. There were four carpenters employed on the job and the wage bill was $60 a day. It was estimated the labor would run around $6,000. Our friend wasn't building a mansion, it was just a small home for a working man and his family to live in. This might be one of the reasons why more homes are not being built and why rents are so high. The theory that one should get while the getting is good is something hard on the fellow who has to pay the bill.

Will's Hospitality Isn't "Cracked" !

Ever since January, Will Dudley planned to give his living room that "new look"—plan: To carefully refinish the woodwork and replaster the walls.

Every time Will got out the putty to start filling in the cracks, a neighbor stopped by to pass the time of day—and first thing you knew, there was a group of us helping Will do the job up right. After Will called a halt to the evening's work, we'd sit around the fire enjoying a friendly argument and a sparkling glass of mellow beer.

So Will's living room doesn't look like it did a year ago—but it's by far the most "livable" living room I know! A place you can always drop in for good talk, good beer, and a warm welcome.

From where I sit, so long as Will puts that atmosphere of hospitality and good fellowship ahead of everything else, we'll all be happy to help Will change the looks of his living room any time he wants.

Mary Louise Teich

A beautiful wedding was solemnized in the Methodist church last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, when Miss Mary Louise Teich, daughter of Mrs. Holloway were united in marriage to Mr. Jack James Streckhorst, of San Antonio, Texas. The vows were exchanged before the altar, which was beautifully decorated and surrounded with white flowers, daisies and palms. Mrs. Hosea Eckhart played the nuptial music and the church was filled with the strains of Rosini No. One and No. Two, the Wedding Prelude by Rosinli, and Ave Marie by Nicoli Montani. During communion Mrs. Eckhart played "Jesus For Thee I Live," "Jesus, Come to Me," and "Jesus My Lord, My God." Mr. Ed Father E. Arndt assisted Father Eustace in the service.

The bride entered the church and was given in marriage by her father, Henry Teich. She was beautifully gowned in ivory duchess satin designed with a low V neck and edged with delicate ruffle of lace. Long sleeves buttoned to points over her hands, and a cap fell over her shoulder from her bodice. The bodice was fitted tight moulded to her waist and ended in a curve below her waistline. A princess panel extended down the front and the

In a beautiful candle light service the marriage of Miss Bobby Walker and Walter McGrew Jr. was solemnized at the Church of Christ in Medina on Thursday evening, July 1. The church was sweet with flowers and candles when Brother Dan B. Pence of Ingram, used the impressive double ring service to unite them in marriage.

Mrs. Lewis Caton played the traditional wedding march from Lohengrin, and Miss Zada Jo Maier, of San Angelo, sang "I Love You Truly" and "Because," accompanied by Mrs. Caton.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, Johnny Walker. She was gowned in white duchess satin and marquisette, floor length, respective sets and veil pearls. The dress was fashioned with Queen Elizabeth collar, fitted bodice and long sleeves that pointed over the hands. The full skirt of a ballerina ruby yoke was four length with a short train. Her finger tip veil of illusion was caught to her head with orange flowers with clusters of lilies. She carried a small white bible and white lilies, the gift of the bride's bridal indeed.

Miss Betty Dean, of Tarpley, maid of honor, carried a pink daisy bouquet, and her dress was a light blue formal. Karen Caton, flower bearer, carried blue daisies. Loretta Taylor and Janice Keese, candlelighters, were gowned in pink taffeta and blue marquisette, floor length, respectively.

Mrs. Dorothy Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Ferguson, became the bride of Willis Ashley Hatfield, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Odrie Hatfield Sr., of Medina, Sunday, June 27, in the Medina Baptist church, in a lovely and impressive candlelight ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Rev. Ben Thompson, of Kerrville, officiated at the double ring ceremony, and Miss Adele Kirsch of Kerrville sang the nuptial music, accompanied by Miss Flora Ann Adams. Mrs. R. B. Sproul of San Antonio, aunt of the bride, was matron of honor, and Mrs. R. H. Stokes, Jr., of Medina, and Miss Jo Ann Freeman of San Antonio, served as bridesmaids. R. E. Adams, cousin of the bridegroom, served as best man. R. H. Stokes Jr., and Jack Jackson ushers. The bride then wore a white gabardine suit and Medina.

A white picture hat. She carried a white prayer book and her corsage was orchids.

A reception was held in the Medina Youth Center. Mrs. M. L. Apfel and Mrs. Orville Wiedenfeld were servers, and Miss Junie Whitehead was in charge of the bride's book. More than 200 friends and relatives of the bride and groom attended the marriage.

The bride is a graduate of Medina High School and had attended Schreiner Institute. She is a graduate of Draughon's Business College in San Antonio. The groom is a graduate of Medina High School and had attended Schreiner Institute at Kerrville. A. & M. College and Southwest Texas State College, San Marcos.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico, Arizona, and Colorado, they will make their home in Medina.

A notorious rabble-rouser once complained to Benjamin Franklin that the Constitution of the United States was a mockery. "Where is all the happiness it's supposed to guarantee us?" he demanded.

"Ah," the Constitution guarantees only the pursuit of happiness," he said. "You have to catch up with it yourself."

Catharine came down the stairs holding a very damp kitten in her arms and announced that she had been giving it a bath. Her mother looked up and asked crossly: "What towel did you use to dry that kitten?"

To which Catherine replied: "I didn't use any towel. I wrung him!"

Mrs. and Mrs. Tom Finney, mother of the bride, were gowned in yellow and black, and a corsage of gladiolus.

POLITICS WARMING UP

The big fight is on. The Republicans have nominated Dewey and Warren for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency, and next week the democrats will hold their convention to nominate the party's standard-bearers. It may be Mr. Truman or it may be some body else, for the Presidency. Then it will be up to the voters of the country to decide at the polls who shall be the next President and Vice-President of this nation. The average voter is confused, to say the least in recent years there have been "blind leaders of the blind," with the result that the United States has come perilously near to falling into the ditch. The whole world is upset, and it is up to America to take the lead and bring order out of chaos. Politicians in this country are making capital of the distressing condition of affairs, not only in this country, but elsewhere as well. They would have us to believe that the United States is on the verge of war; that we must keep a large standing army; that we must reinstate the draft; and that the nigger is an equal—and other rot that detract the public mind from the real issues. The Golden Rule seems to have been forgotten altogether in the government's foreign policy. So the fight is on, and politics will be warmer than the campaign progresses. But keep your shirt on, neighbor. The country is not going to the bow-wows and most of the politicians would have you believe. The November elections there'll come a period of peace and prosperity, and business enterprise will feel safe to go forward without fear of government interference.

GATES TIRES

Extra Safety on curves. Extra traction for safe, quick stops, even on wet, slippery roads. Extra pulling power in sand, mud and snow.

BANDERA

A Bandera dude asked a newshickered old citizen: "What is an old timer?" Old Hair and Bristles replied: "My dear young miss, an old timer is one who was here when sidesaddles were in style; who thought the wagon circus and Punch and Judy were the only shows; when sideburns and long sluggy mustaches were all the rage; when plush backed photo albums were found in every parlor; when every fiddler could play 'Cotton-Eyed Joe' to perfection; when muzzle-loader guns were in use, when the village barber shop had a wall case full of shaving mugs, each bearing the owner's name in resplendent gold letters; when a $40 broadcloth suit was in style five years; and buckboards, rawhide bottom chairs, gourd dippers and irons were found in every home. Yes, my dear Miss Fewtothen, there are still several old timers gallivanting around hereabouts that can tell you the old timer has seen more in his day than you will ever see if you live to be as old as Methuselah. We've seen the ox-wagon, the auto, and the airplane, the telegraph and the radio. What have you seen, gal?"

...J. W. Essary, 78, Died Friday

Funeral services were conducted at the graveside last Saturday afternoon for Mr. J. W. Essary, aged 78 years, who passed away in the Wilson hospital on Friday. Services were conducted by Rev. H. T. Arnold, pastor of the Methodist church. The pall bearers were Allie Thalmann, Stanley Gordon, Lester Gordon, Kenneth Howard, Ed Eckhart, and Wayne Moore. Interment was in Bandera cemetery. Survivors are her two children, Ross Essary and Miss Dora Essary. Her husband, J. W. Essary passed away several years ago. Mrs. Essary had lived in Bandera county for thirty-seven years, her home being in the Middle Verde community. She was a devoted wife and mother, and her death is deeply mourned by all who knew her. The Bulletin extends sympathy and condolence to the bereaved son and daughter.

All of Bandera deeply mourns the passing of Mrs. Lee Patton, veteran teacher, who died last Saturday morning in the Nelson hospital. His death was due to cerebral hemorrhage which crept a position in Bandera High School and had served on the faculty of this school for thirteen years, occupying various positions in the school. He was a great leader in boys' activities, was a councilmember, and an outstanding lay leader in the Methodist church, giving his full energies to the training of the boys of this community and in recognition of his service he was honored by the members from this district in electing him as their representative in the Legislature at all of its meetings.

Such a useful citizen as Mr. Patton will be sadly missed by his many friends. His faults were few and his virtues many, and though the friendly touch of his leadership has been withdrawn from the community and the sound of his beloved voice is stilled, the good deeds he performed in this life and the inspiration he shall will be remembered and felt for many years.

Mrs. Patton was born at Leesville, in Gonzales county, Texas, February 26, 1899, being at the time of his death 49 years, 4 months, 15 days old. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Henry Daniels, of Taverna Park, Maryland; and three brothers, Harrison, Atkins and Clifton Patton, of Leesville.

Funeral services were conducted from the First Baptist church. The officiating minister was Rev. W. H. Bowen, of Devine, assisted by Rev. H. T. Arnold, pastor of the Bandera Baptist church. The active pall bearers were Allen Lanham, A. Arnold, Ted Hillman, O. O. Adams, Al Pfluger, Reskin Gunnels, D. E. Cowell, W. W. Browne, H. V. O'Bryant, John F. Lanford, L. L. Bright, Robert Nichols. His faithful wife, Mrs. Lee Patton, and his sister, Mrs. Ella Mae Patton, will be fully missed by the entire community. For his many virtues, many, and though the friendly touch of his leadership has been withdrawn from the community and the sound of his beloved voice is stilled, the good deeds he performed in this life and the inspiration he shall will be remembered and felt for many years.

Bandera will be carried into countless homes, from Alaska to Alabama for the third straight week this Saturday night when the "Jersey Lilly Show" is again broadcast from the patio of the Jersey Lilly in Bandera. The show, which is broadcast over the network facilities of the Texas Broadcasting System, has already become widely recognized in the Southwest as one of the best shows of its kind on the air. It has received favorable comment in almost every major newspaper in Texas.

Red Ford, Cowboy Comedian

The Jersey Lilly Show was originated by the Texas Broadcast system in an effort to give gone to the country one good western show that actually is broadcast from the west. Most such shows are now broadcast from New York, Chicago, Nashville, and Los Angeles. A sponsor is being sought for the show, and it is understood that an option has been taken this past week by a well known national sponsor. At present the show is piped direct to KTRH in Houston, the parent station on the show, and is then available from there to all T. B. S. stations with T. B. S. officials in an effort to keep it for Bandera.

The show is broadcast during the regular Saturday night dance from 9:30 to 10:30. There is no extra charge for the broadcast.

RANCH HANDS TAKE SEVEN VICTORY OF SEASON

With the first three men in the batting order coming through with hits, the Ranch Hands took a two-run lead in the first inning and cruised to a 7 to 1 win over VFW Post 4703, of San Antonio, last Sunday. Jimmie Hand was in fine form and let the visitors down with three hits, two of which, coupled with an error in the 5th, enabled the Vets to score their lone run. Although Hand walked seven, three fast double plays by the locals kept the opposition away from the scoring station. Jim also fanned thirteen, retiring the side on strikes in the first, eighth and ninth innings.

From the standpoint of batting and good hitting, the Ranch Hands probably played their best game of the season. Arthur Hilder at short was a bulwark on defense, fielding his position in fine shape, and participating in two of the twin killings engineered by the locals. The Ranch Hands rapped out 13 solid blows and all but one of their runs were earned.

After the game the men, their families, and a number of guests were treated to a barbecue feed at Jack Jones' Longhorn Cafe.

Next Sunday on the local diamond, the Ranch Hands will play a second game of the season with the Hot Wells team. Bandera defeated the Wells in their opening game by the score of 8 to 6, however, since that time, the Hot Wells team has been greatly reinforced, having defeated Boerne and Comfort on the last two Sundays. The Ranch Hands will have to hustle all right to win from this high flying team, determined to avenge their early season setback.

Sheep Breeders Plan Show and Sale

Final details are being worked out for the annual show and sale of the Texas Delaine Sheep Breeders Assn., which will be held at Bandera on July 21 and 22. Full information on the show and sale has been received from Lester Lohmann, of Boerne by H. F. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent of Bandera County. Lohmann is a member of the association and chairman of the 1948 show committee.

J. M. Jones, sheep specialist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will judge the entries on Wednesday, July 21st, and the sheep will be offered for sale on Thursday, July 22. The show and sale will be held at Mansfield Park, near Bandera, according to Lohmann. All sales will be at private treaty and no auction sale will be held. This was decided upon by the show committee of the Association, as it will give prospective buyers a better chance to examine the animals they are purchasing and pick the type they want.

Reservations for hotel rooms for the event are already being received by local hotels and tourist courts, and about 125 members are expected to attend On Wednesday night, July 21, business men, local ranchmen, and the Bandera County Registered Livestock Association will barbecue for the members and the annual business session will be held at Mansfield Park after the barbecue. The barbecue will be served by the Bandera County Home Demonstration Council members.

MANSFIELD AUTRY TAKES A WIFE

A wedding of much interest to friends in the Hill Country was solemnized on Tuesday, July 6, at Kerrville, when Mansfield Autry and Mrs. Valerie Reaves were united in marriage. Judge John S. Atkins, county judge of Kerr county officiated at the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mrs. Laura Merritt, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mansfield, of this city. He is one of the owners of the Bandera Rodeo Corporation, and is a very popular young man, having been raised in this community, and grew to manhood here. He served with the U. S. Army during World War II, and on his return from the service, settled down here to continue to live in his home town. The bride is also the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Savage, of San Antonio, and is quite a talked rodeo performer in her own right. The couple will make their home here. They are receiving the congratulations and good wishes of all who know them.

CONGRESSMAN FISHER TO BANDERA

Congressman O. C. Fisher was in Bandera Monday, greeting friends, and looking after his political fences. He recently returned from Washington, where he has been "right on the job" for the past several months. He is now making a canvass of the district, seeking re-election to the office he now holds.

School Tax Rate Election to Be Held Tomorrow, Saturday, 17th

Tomorrow (Saturday, July 17), the voters of the Bandera Rural High School District will go to the polls to vote on the proposal of a sufficient maintenance tax to operate the schools.

The decline for good schools is rapidly gaining momentum. The people of this community realize as never before that good schools are essential if the community is to progress. It is realized that school costs have advanced like all other costs and added revenue is necessary if the schools are to be maintained.

There are two methods by which added revenue can be obtained.

One of these methods is to raise the tax rate. The other is to have the valuation of property raised.

By raising the tax rate to $1.50 per $100 valuation rather than to double the valuation of property for tax purposes, the tax payer will pay far less taxes for the same service. Of each $100 valuation of property at the present valuation the tax payer will pay $1.50. One dollar will go directly to the school, while 50c on each $100 valuation will be credited to equalization. Thus, if the equalization division of the state says the equalization paid for the Bandera school is $5.00, the school district would have 50c credited to equalization and the state would send $4.50. Therefore the school could receive $4.50 from the state and 50c from local taxes. $1.00 would remain in the district in order to raise the same amount of revenue which $1.50 would bring.

In order to raise the same amount of revenue, the present valuation of $2,000,000 would have to be doubled. Therefore the property that is now valued at $100 for school tax purposes would have to be raised to $200 if the tax rate is to remain the same. Then the tax payer would pay $2.00 in taxes rather than $1.50. Fifty cents on the $100 valuation would be credited to the equalization division of $1.00 would go to the credit of equalization and on the same $5.00 basis the state would send only $4.00 as $1.00 has already been credited to equalization.

Under the $1.50 tax rate the tax payers will pay 50c less on each $100 based on the present valuation than will be necessary with a $1.00 tax rate with the valuations doubled in order to raise the same amount of revenue for school purposes.

The State Legislature realized that many schools can no longer operate on the old tax rate and wisely enacted legislation which enables the school to raise the tax rate rather than the valuation. Up until the time the last legislative met, Bandera schools, such as the Bandera school, were being discriminated against in comparison with the Independent school districts, Independent districts have had the privilege of raising the tax rate, therefore Bandera was therefore they were permitted to

Extra Safety on curves. Extra traction for safe, quick stops, even on wet, slippery roads. Extra pulling power in sand, mud and snow.

WHEN YOU BUY TIRES — BUY GATES FOR SAFETY, DURABILITY AND SERVICE

Salute!

to TBS

Bandera extends its thanks to the officials of the Texas Broadcasting System and to Radio Station, KTBH in Houston for the faith they show in Bandera in broadcasting their weekly western radio program, "The Jersey Lilly Show," from our town. We believe they are correct in their feeling that a good network western radio show should come from the heart of the west and not from places like New York. Such a big-time show with the stars they have secured is bound to succeed and will help Bandera and all of Texas. Bandera is all for it.

Our thanks, too, to Bill Bell and Roy Fly, who were instrumental in having the broadcast brought to Bandera.

... more school money, reminds one of the story of the white man and an Indian going on hunt together, killing a thousand and turkey. As they returned, the white man said to the Indian, "Now do you want to divide our game? If it suits you, I'll take the turkey and you take the buzzard, but if that is not satisfactory with you, you can take the buzzard and I'll take the turkey." Indian replied: "Hugh, you no say turkey to me either time."

By this article, you taxpayers are to get the buzzard either way you take, as it doesn't "Say Turkey" to you.

About three years ago, they had you vote a debt on yourselves, assuring you it would not add to your taxes; later they want out and took in a large strip of valuable taxable property to add to their spending money, not being content at that, they took over the assessments of your property and raised the valuations thereof for their taxing purposes. You had very little to do with any of that, although this school belongs to you, you have to foot the bills.

The tax-eters are always on the job; they never creep, new means of adding to the public footpads can always be found by the hungry horde, but the taxpayers go about trying to make a living, let the taxeters play their own game, and foot the bill.

IS YOUR school, do you think it really needs more and more money year after year, as they would have you believe, or should the people demand their money's worth for what it costs now?

You see and know how it works. Are you going to have a flood in it, or let the "Smart Guys" run it to suit themselves? Do you like TURKEY, or the buzzard?

Every patriot is for the school and the children, but not every grab a loitering crook can think of to screw him. What do they propose to do with your money? They have not told you that.

Ask did you become a party to that gamble "RAFFLE" when they had schoolchildren peddling tickets to a car last year? Read Article 650, Penal Code, prohibiting such permits contracted therewith should be fined not less than $100.00, nor more than $1,000.00. THAT'S YOUR SCHOOL!

Hope those children did not know, or have reason to believe the winner of that car was known beforehand, that they had no knowledge even, that each of them was openly violating the criminal statutes.

Looking Backward

From the Bandera New Era, July 19, 1923, published by Marvin Hunter:

Fred Mansfield has purchased the Stevens' meat market and will take possession next Monday. Fred is on the ground five hours per day, this week, and will keep the market up to its excellent standard. Mr. Stevens will open a barbecue and hamburger stand in a building now being erected.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Phar Dugas, July 17, a boy.

The New Era plant was moved last Friday to new quarters in the Opera House Basement. Frank G. Anderwald, Ernest Haby, Rudolph Schoels, directed by M. F. Johnston, moved the heavy machinery without a break or mishap, although it was Friday, the thirteenth. The black cat failed to show up until next day, when it came strolling into the new sanctum as an omen of good luck.

Joe Holt, Jr., and Miss Ida Marquis were married in Tarpley yesterday. Rev. B. L. Ray officiating. They left immediately for Arizona on a visit. The worthy young people and have a host of friends who wish them much joy and happiness through life.

A big barbecue was pulled off at Harper yesterday, and a number of our people went over to attend it. The Bandera baseball team played a game at Harper with the Fredericksburg team, losing by a score of 6 to 3.

The passing of Mrs. Mary Hudspeth, mention of whose death was made in last week's New Era, leaves a vacancy that can never be filled. She was one of the true type of Southern womanhood, and for sixty years had been a resident of Bandera, coming here shortly after her marriage to William Hudspeth. Although she was childless she "mothered" a number of orphan children, among them being Hon. Claude Hudspeth, now Congressman from this district. She was loyal ad faithful to her friends and the weather was never too stormy or the night too dark for her to heed the call of distress. Ever ready to respond when sickness invaded the homes of her neighbors, her tender ministrations were given in homes all over this town and in the surrounding communities. Gentle, kind and cheerful always, Aunt Mary's presence was a blessing to all with whom she came in contact. She fondled the baby that came cooing from its mother's arms to her own; she watched its growth to a healthy, robust youngster, and saw it enter upon manhood's or womanhood's estate; she was there when the marriage ceremony was performed, and saw it assume the responsibilities of fatherhood and motherhood, and when the love of spring came to ... Blythe, and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Watson, all of Corpus Christi, were vacationing at the Billings Tourist Courts last week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Cosgrove, and Mrs. R. L. Cosgrove, and Mrs. L. H. Parsons, of Hondo, and Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Bradner, of Ontario, California, were here Wednesday.

Tom Hall, Jr., of Galveston, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fly on the Reeder Ranch this week. Tommy has a number of friends here who are always glad to see him come to visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kimberly moved this week to their pretty new home in Bandera Estates. The home is located near the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eckhart, and will be completed soon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shaw Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Olesnicka and children, Edwin, Daisy, and Frankie Olesnicka, and Mrs. Furr, of San Antonio, visited the J. E. Shaw Jr., ranch Sunday, where they spent the day picnicking.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bolster and family are new residents of Bandera, having moved to the city the past week. They come from Dever, Connecticut, and plan to buy a home here. Mrs. Bolster is the sister of Bob Kimberly. In a recent visit to Bandera the Bolster family fell in love with our fair city and have come to stay. Mr. Bolster was by profession an electrical engineer until his retirement. The Bolsters are staying at Billings Courts at present.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Taylor returned last week from a visit to their daughter, Mrs. Carrie Garrett, and her husband, at Monahans. While there they visited points of interest in West Texas and the Carlsbad Caverns and report a most interesting trip. Mr. Taylor reports that good rains have fallen over most of that section.

THE LOG CABINS OF THE PIONEERS
The early settlers of Bandera county lived in log cabins. Most of these houses were what the old timers called "double-log houses". They were built of hewn logs, two rooms, with a hallway between these rooms. In the end of each room as constructed a stone fireplace and chimney. One room was used as a kitchen and dining room. Generally these cabins had only a dirt floor, but some of them had puncheon floors (unfinished slabs of split timber). The windows were without glass, but had a shutter. The doors were equipped with a "latch string." If the latch string was hanging outside you were welcome to enter, whether anybody was at home or not, but if the latchstring was not hanging outside, you were not privileged to enter. There are two or three of these old log cabins still standing in Bandera, built more than eighty years ago, and still serviceable. In 1906 J. A. V. Poe came to Bandera county and built a log cabin on Hicks Creek. He served as county judge during the reconstruction after the civil war. The old log cabin has been moved to Bandera from its original location on Hicks Creek, and now occupies a portion of the residence property of his son, Judge A. V. Poe, our present county judge, who plans to restore it to its former livable condition.

Bandera will be carried into countless homes from Arizona to Alabama for the third straight week this Saturday night when the "Jersey Lilly Show" is again broadcast from the patio of the Jersey Lilly in Bandera. The show, which is broadcast over the network facilities of the large Texas Broadcasting System, has already become widely recognized in the Southwest as one of the best shows of its kind on the air. It has received glowing comment in almost every major newspaper in the state.

Red Ford, Cowboy Comedian

The Jersey Lilly Show was originated by the Texas Broadcasting System in an effort to give to the country one good western show that actually is broadcast in the west. Most such shows are now broadcast from New York, Chicago, Nashville, and Los Angeles. A sponsor is being sought for the show, and it is understood that an option has been taken this past week by a well known national sponsor. At present the show is piped direct to KTRH in Houston, the parent station on the show, and is then available from there to all Texas stations on a sustaining basis.

Red Ford, the star comedian of the broadcast, is one of the nation's top western comedians and has previously worked on such national radio shows as "Grand Old Opry," "Saturday Barn Dance," and the "Chuck Wagon Show." His antics on the first two broadcasts have proved hilariously funny to local persons who have watched the show broadcasts here in Bandera.

Also starred in the show with Red Ford is Leon Merritt, sensational young western singing star who has had great success during the past year on Columbia Broadcasting System. He was formerly here from California, although he is a native Texan.

Featured girl singer on the show is Florence Wernlee, known as the "Ozark Nightingale of the Prairie." She joined the show after a national tour with the Red Foley, Cowboy Copas and Hoosier Hot Shots.

Besides these stars the "Jersey Lilly Show" features 14 other entertainers, some of whom are the Corny Coyotes, Little Tofuna Jean, the Old Wrangler, the Texas Cowbellies, Buck Buchanan, Ted Nabors, and Smiley Whitley's new western band formed especially for this radio show.

The show is on the air for one half hour, perhaps and possibly Bandera are mentioned throughout the program, thus allowing good advertising to be gotten free to the businesses of the town.

Since the show began broadcasting from here it has added some local people to its list of entertainers. This person is Patti Long, popular young Bandera girl who does a comic part with Red Ford. Ford thanks he shows much promise in radio.

Roy Fry and Billy Bell, of the Jersey Lilly, were instrumental in getting the broadcast brought to Bandera, and have worked closely with T. R. S. officials in an effort to keep it for Bandera.

The show is broadcast during the regular Saturday night dance from 9:30 to 10:30. There is no charge for the broadcast.

Sheep Breeders Plan Show and Sale

Final details are being worked out for the annual show and sale of the Texas Delaine Sheep Breeders Assn., which will be held at Bandera on July 21 and 22. Full information on the show and sale has been received from Lester Lohmann of Boerne by H. F. Schleimer, County Agricultural Agent of Bandera County. Lohmann is a member of the association and chairman of the 1948 show committee.

J. M. Jones, sheep specialist of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will judge the entries on Wednesday, July 21st, and the sheep will be offered for sale on Thursday, July 22. The show and sale will be held at the Mansfield Park, near Bandera, according to Lohmann. All sales will be at private treaty and no auction sale will be held. This was decided upon by the show committee of the Association, as it will give prospective buyers a better chance to examine the animals they are purchasing and pick the type they want.

Reservations for hotel rooms for the event are already being received by local hotels and tourist courts, and about 125 members are expected to attend. On Wednesday night, July 21, business men, local ranchmen and the Bandera County Registered Livestock Assn. will give a barbecue for the members and the general public is invited to be held at Mansfield Park after the barbecue will be served by the Bandera County Home Demonstration Council members.

MANSFIELD AUTRY TAKES A WIFE

A wedding of much interest to friends of the Hill Country was solemnized on Tuesday, July 6, at Kerrville, when Mansfield Autry and Mrs. Valerie Daniel were united in marriage. Judge John B. Allison, county judge of Kerr county officiated at the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mrs. Laura Merritt, and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mansfield, of this city. He is one of the owners of the famous Rodeo Corporation, and is a very popular young man, having been raised in this community. He grew to manhood here. He was with the U. S. Army during World War II, and on his return from the service, settled down here to continue to live in his native county. He is a rated rodeo performer in her own right. The young couple will make their home here. They are receiving the congratulations and good wishes of all who know them.

CONGRESSMAN FISHER VISITS BANDERA

Congressman O. C. Fisher was in Bandera Monday, greeting friends, and looking after his official duties. He recently returned from Washington, where he has been "right on the job" for the past several months. He is now making a canvass of the district, seeking reelection to the office he now holds.

RANCH HANDS TAKE NINTH VICTORY OF SEASON

With the first three men in the batting order coming through for him, the Ranch Hands took a two-run lead in the first inning and coasted to a 7 to 1 win over the Boerne Dodgers, 4-H team, last Sunday. Jimmie Tyler was in the fray from start to finish, and let the visitors down with three hits, two of which coupled with an error in the 5th, enabled the Vets to score their lone run. Although Hand walked seven, three fast double plays by the local kept the opposition away from the scoring station. Jimmie fanned thirteen, retiring the side on strikes in the first, eighth and ninth innings.

From the standpoint of hustle and good hitting, the Ranch Hands probably played their game of the season. Arthur Haner at short was a bulwark on defense, fielding his position in fine shape, and participating in two of the twin killings registered by the locals. The Ranch Hands rapped out 13 solid blows and all but one of their runs were earned.

After the game the team, their families, and a number of guests were treated to a barbecue feed at Jack Jones' Longhorn Cafe.

Next Sunday on the local diamond, the Ranch Hands will play their second game of the season with the Hot Wells team. Bandera defeated the Wells in their opening game by the score of 8 to 4, however, since that time, the Hot Wells team has been greatly reinforced, having defeated Boerne and Comfort on the last two Sundays. The locals will have to hustle all the way to win from this high flying team, determined to avenge their early season setback.

School Tax Rate Election to Be Held Tomorrow, Saturday, 17th

Tomorrow (Saturday, July 17), the voters of the Bandera Rural High School District will go to the polls to vote on the proposal of a sufficient maintenance tax to operate the schools.

The desire for good schools is rapidly gaining momentum. The people of this comfortable realize as never before that good schools are essential if the community is to progress. It is realized that school costs have advanced like all other costs and added revenue is necessary if the schools are to be maintained.

There are two methods by which added revenue can be obtained.

One of these methods is to raise the tax rate. The other is to have the valuation of property raised.

By raising the tax rate to $1.50 per $100 valuation rather than to double the valuation of property for tax purposes, the tax payer will pay far less taxes to obtain the same amount of revenue. On each $100 valuation of property at the present valuation the tax payer will pay $1.50. One dollar will go directly to the school, while 50c on each $100 valuation will be credited to equalization. This if the equalization division of the state says the equalization need for the Bandera school is $3.00, then the school would have 50c credited to equalization and the State would have $1.50. Therefore the school would receive $4.50 from the state and 50c from local taxes. $1.00 would remain in

Information Wanted

Information wanted concerning the whereabouts of Boerne Lohmann, of Boerne, chairman of the Association state committee. For the first instance several years, Delaine breeders have an opportunity to get rams at private treaty, several extra good two, three, and four year olds and yearling rams on display. Delivered Thurs. Lohmann said. Dupuis for the Delaine flock is expected to be better than it has in several years, because of the record increase in the price of wool. Highest prices received for wool this year has been for light shrink. Now the wool of 60s fineness or better, and as a result many growers are again in the market for rams with more quality and fineness than before. Lohmann said. It has also been reported that several of the breeders, have already sold out their crop of yearling rams and that good yearling rams will be scarce later on. As a result, the show committee of the Association expects an active demand for the rams offered at the sale.

GATES TIRES

Extra Safety on curves. Extra traction for safe, quick stops, even on wet, slippery roads. Extra pulling power in sand, mud and snow.

Mrs. Ben Ellis and daughter, Mrs. Ann Archer, Michigan, some from California, and from almost all parts of Texas. It was a most enjoyable day in which many relatives, who had not met before became acquainted and formed friendships which perhaps will never be broken.

It was voted to gather again next year at the same place for the same purpose. Elder D. S. Palmer had charge of the program, which was very brief, in which he called to memory many of the scenes of former days, then introduced N. V. Braley, who made a fitte very brief remarks, after which they all began to disperse and return to their homes a happy and contented people.

A recession is a period in which you tighten up your belt. In a depression you have no belt to tighten up—and when you have no pants to hold up, it's a panic.

Slim sees in a service station: "We require a deposit of 50 per cent from customers we don't know, and 100 per cent from some we do know."

A girl in a Missouri home reads: "The world place in the world to live is just beyond your horizon."

The smugged article in last week's local paper, announcing an auction in this school district, to whether or not the taxpayers want to be bled for more school money, reminds one of the old story of the Indian going on a hunt together, while making a buzzard and turkey. As they returned, the white man said to the Indian, "Indian, you want to divide our game? If it suits you, I'll take the turkey and you take the buzzard, but if that is not satisfactory with you, you can take the buzzard and I'll take the turkey." Indian replied: "Hugh, you no say turkey is an eating buzzard."

By this article, you taxpayers are to get the buzzard either way you take, as it doesn't "Say Turkey" to you.

About three years ago, they bid you vote a debt on yourselves, assuring you it would not add to your taxes; later they went out and took in a large strip of property to add to their spending; stated at that time, they took over the property, not being content at that, they took over the assessments of our property and raised the valuations thereof for their taxing purposes. You had very little to say about it, and although this school belongs to you, you have to foot the bills.

The tax-eaters are always on the job; they never sleep; new means of making in the public footpads can always be found by the hungry horde, but the taxpayers go about trying to make a living; let the taxeaters play their own game, and foot the bill.

It's YOUR school, do you think it really needs more and more money year after year, as they would have you believe; or should the people demand their money's worth for what it costs now?

You see and know how it works. Are you going to have a hand in it, or let the "Smart Guys" run it, to suit their fancies? Do you like TURKEY, or the buzzard?

Every patriot is for the school and the children, but not every patriot is a fit to even run think of to "Save his." What do they propose to do with your money? They have not told you that.

And, did you become a party to that gamble "RAFFLE" when they had school-children peddling tickets to a car last year? Penal Article 655, Penal Code, providing each person connected therewith should be fined not less than $100.00, nor more than $1,000.00. THAT'S YOUR SCHOOL!

Hope those children did not know, or have reason to believe, the winner of that car was known beforehand, that they had knowledge that each of them was openly violating the criminal statutes.

BANDERA
THE LOG CABINS OF THE PIONEERS

The early settlers of Bandera county lived in log cabins. Most of these houses were what the old timers called "double-log houses". They were built of two logs, two rooms, with a hallway between these rooms. In the end of each room an opening was placed for a window. The window was used as a kitchen and dining room. Generally these cabins had one puncheon floor, and that floor was a puncheon floor, those puncheons, consisted of slabs of split timber. The windows were without glass, but had a shutter. The doors were equipped with a "latch string." If the latch string was hanging outside you were welcome to enter, but if anybody was at home or not, but if the latchstring was not hanging outside, you were not privileged to enter. There are now only three of these old log cabins still standing in Bandera, built more than eighty years ago, and still serviceable. In 1860 J. A. Poe came to Bandera county and built a log cabin on Hicks Creek. He served as county judge during the reconstruction after the war. That old log cabin has been moved to Bandera from its original location on Hicks Creek, and now occupies a portion of the residence property of his son, Judge A. V. Poe, our present county judge, who plans to restore it to its former livable condition.

Fred B. Thalmann, Prominent Ranchman, Died Sunday Night

Fred B. Thalmann, aged 54, passed away at the Nix hospital in San Antonio Sunday night, after a lingering illness of several months duration. Funeral services were held at the Baptist church in Bandera Tuesday at 4 p. m. by Rev. W. A. Bowen, of Devine. The pall bearers were W. F. Fletcher, Ray Wyatt, Earl Weed, Leslie E. Short, and Frank M. Montague Sr.

Deceased was born in Bandera August 13, 1893, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herma Thalmann, early settlers here. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Lila Thalmann, and one son, Robert Thalmann, his mother, Mrs. Louise Thalmann of McAllen, four sisters, Mrs. H. S. Jones, of Mooreville, Mrs. T. M. Hammond of Kerrville, Mrs. Frank Jones, of McAllen, and Mrs. R. C. Kupper, of San Antonio, and one brother, V. W. Thalmann, of Honolulu, Hawaii.

A host of friends throughout this section of the state mourn the passing of this splendid citizen, and a fine man and good citizen, who will be missed by everyone.

In every community and city there are men who stand out among their fellowmen for their civic progress, community development, religious advancement, social activities, and general attainment. Some times these outstanding citizens occupy high stations in life, sometimes they are just plain, ordinary citizens, who do not seek notoriety or praise for the work they do or the efforts they put forth in behalf of their community. Such a man was Fred Thalmann. Quiet, unassuming, a man of the highest of life, with keen acumen and discernment, taking active interest in everything that was for the good of Bandera. There was no fan-fare, no boastfulness or boldness in his actions, but rather a conservative, quiet reasoning on the matter that affected his community. He was always ready to take the lead and promote anything that was for the upbuilding of the county's best interests, and just as firmly and quietly opposed anything that was a detriment to the welfare of the county. He had lived here, secretary-treasurer for the Bandera County Ranchmen and Farmers Association, an active organization of the farmers and ranchmen of this section, and as the manager of the association's warehouses here and at Center Point, he had built up a wide and lucrative marketing organization for handling the wool and mohair of Bandera county growers. Under his assumed management of the concern no dividends were being paid, but within two or three years the shareholders began to receive a 10 per cent dividend and the value of the shares have steadily risen. Under his management the association has been enabled to benefit to the county.

Mr. Thalmann was engaged in ranching himself and knew the needs of the ranchmen. He made contact with the greatest eastern buyers of wool and mohair, and successfully negotiated the wool and mohair sales of the concern to bring best prices for the Bandera county growers.

He believed in improvement of livestock breeds, and encouraged the importing of higher grade sheep, goats, cattle, horses, hogs, and other livestock. He was a pioneer breeder for market, and also was a pioneer in the movement for the conservation, and the development of range crops. A few years ago he had created a demand for wild Spanish plum seed, and he also carried a white prayer book together with the rosary and crucifix.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vaughn, on Delightful refreshments were served, adorned with a miniature bride and groom was served each guest. Mrs. T. A. Caffall served the punch and Mrs. Eph Caffall cut the cake.

After a short wedding trip the newlyweds will be at home here. Mrs. Thalmann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Caffall, of this city, and has been employed in the First State Bank. She is a charming young lady and has a host of friends here. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Langford and is a graduate of A. & M. College, having received his degree from that college at the end of the spring semester. He is popular with the young folks of Bandera, too. The young couple are receiving the congratulations and best wishes of a host of friends.

Clinton Langford Weds Rena Caffall

The Bandera Methodist church was the scene of a pretty wedding last Saturday evening at 8 o'clock, when Miss Lorena Caffall became the bride of Clinton Langford, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. Lewis, pastor of the Methodist church, of Hunt, officiating. The impressive double ring service was used, and the nuptial vows were exchanged before a small group of relatives and friends. The church was decorated in white gladiolus and asters. Tall tapers in white holders formed the background for the altar. Melvin Rossman, sang "Because" and "I Love You Truly," accompanied by Mrs. Rossman at the piano. Mrs. Rossman played the traditional Wedding March from Lohengrin. The bride was given in marriage by her father, T. H. Caffall, and her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Melvin King, who served as matron of honor. Johnny Langford served as best man, and Lynda Gay King and Susan Rossman, as flower girls. Charles Emmitt Wyatt and Melvin King were ushers.

The bride wore ivory in a suit of white waffle weave pique with white accessories. She wore white and gold, and she carried a white prayer book topped with a white orchid.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held on the lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Vaughn, on Delightful refreshments were served, adorned with a miniature bride and groom was served each guest. Mrs. T. A. Caffall served the punch and Mrs. Eph Caffall cut the cake.

To Remodel the Grammar School

The proposed maintenance tax rate for the Bandera Rural High School district which was voted upon last Saturday, carried by a majority of 34 votes. Two hundred and nine votes were cast, 121 five voted against it.

This is evidence that the majority of people in this community are interested in good schools and are willing to co-operate in every way possible to see that adequate funds are furnished.

It is understood that a part of the revenue which will be derived from the revenue of this tax will be used to recondition and remodel the present grammar school building. However, in order to do this, it will be necessary for the voters to vote on the proposition. It appears certain that such a proposal will carry by a large majority, as no added revenue will be necessary to carry out this project.

A careful study is now being made of the repairs necessary in order to make the grammar school safe, and at the same time a study is being made to ascertain the amount of extra space needed to take care of the increased enrollment. At the present time it seems probable that a new building will be built, a dormitory will be needed and the present buildings will have new floors replaced. Also, some work will be done on the walls and blackboards will be necessary. An additional two acres of land will be purchased to enlarge the present fire escape in the present plans. Also, the working over of the present ways leading to the second floor of the building will be done in preference to an overhauling, as it is a very serious fire hazard in the present condition. Of course, water should be piped to the building and facilities provided for its use. Repairs will have access to washing facilities.

The engineer who is to complete and the needs determined a proposal will be presented to the voters for their approval or disapproval.

BOXING CLUB TO ORGANIZE

The results of the re-organization of the Boxing Club will be determined tonight. Gib Gray promises to punish Ed Vargas in a bout as he published Stretch Howell last winter. Paul Long will make his first appearance, and says he will knock out Vargas before the final gong.

Gray is also trying to provide Jr. of Hondo, Jack Fricke, with a better boxig shown with more experienced talent. Bobby Landry of Medina, has been setting an example for the entire club in his gentlemanly little ability. Gray is still suffering from his burn, but will attempt to enter the ring next month against Landry.

Lloyd Jones, Sanchez. If Alvin Allen has his arm and streak of luck that used him to victory so many times last winter he will floor Alfred Gomez. Tom Hall has three rounds; Leo Sylvester, ex fly-weight champion of the British Isles, will defend his laurels against Lloyd Jones.

SPECIAL ADDED ATTRACTION

There will be five bouts vs. Alvin Allen, Sanchez and the B. G. Club. Joe Ramon, who is the Golden Glove champion of San Antonio, will Fight Charlie Miller, who is the Texas State A. A. U. champion. Howard Lewis, who is one of the outstanding boxers of this section, will be featured on this fight card.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wolford were here from San Antonio Saturday. Mr. Wolford has held a position with the San Antonio Light for many years. Mrs. Wolford, the former Rena Carroll, is a native of San Antonio's outstanding pig women.

CARL WHEELER, JR., TO WED

Friends are receiving invitations to the marriage of Miss Sarah Anne Burch and Carl Foster Wheeler, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Wheeler, of Mathis. The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lucius Lyon Burch, of Alice, and the marriage will take place on Saturday, August 7, at 8 o'clock in the evening at the Park Congregational Church, Grand Rapids, Michigan.

MRS. ROSALIE McDERMAND KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Rosalie McDermand, 42-year-old Gulf States Utilities company employee and wife of Lieutenant Marvin Jolly Mcdermand, was almost instantly killed in an automobile crash which occurred within two blocks of her home at Neone about 7:30 a. m. Friday. Two other persons, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frenzel, both 24, residents of Neone, were injured in the accident, but they were released from the hospital following emergency treatment.

"At the time of the accident Mrs. McDermand was en route to Beaumont to her work. She was employed as a file clerk in the purchasing department of the Gulf States Utilities, where she had worked for four years. Highway patrolmen had not completed an investigation of the accident, but Justice of the Peace Horace Blader, who held the inquest after Mrs. McDermand's body was brought to Hotel Dieu here and the Frenzels told him that they could not tell how the tragedy occurred. He said that both the car which Mrs. McDermand was driving and the one in which the Frenzels were riding were badly damaged.

Justice of the Peace Blader returned a verdict of 'death due to accidental injuries' in Mrs. McDermand's death. He said the woman had apparently suffered internal hurts but that she also might have suffered broken bones. Mrs. McDermand was well known throughout this area. She had moved some time ago back to the old McDermand home at Neone, where she resided alone. Her husband had been dead for about 15 years, and her son, Melvin, is residing in Houston, where he is a student at the University of Houston. Mrs. McDermand was active in the Neone Baptist church, and taught a Sunday school class there. She was a native of Hondo. Surviving besides the son are three sisters, Mrs. H. S. Neff, of this city; Mrs. Effie Wallace, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Gertrude Alexander, of Bryan; a brother, K. C. Thallman, of Beaumont, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dave Thallman, of Chisk."

FLY CONTROL WITH DDT IS INDIVIDUAL JOB

Complete control of house flies is an impossible job unless each property owner in town sprays his own premises, according to H. F. Schlemmer, County Agricultural Agent. Spraying and dusting of the town from the air is only a part of the job that must be done to get rid of all flies, and everyone who lives in Bandera is urged to assist in the work by locating fly breeding places and keeping them impregnated with DDT. According to Schlemmer, flies will lay their eggs and hatch out maggots wherever moisture and organic matter is present. Either DDT dust or spray may be dusted once a week. All forms of DDT are available from feed merchants, and the choice of the type to use is entirely up to the individual. If flies are breeding in inaccessible places, all screens and other resting places should be painted with a 25 per cent DDT solution. If this is done to every screen in town, millions of flies would be killed, even if they hatched out. Likely breeding grounds are trash piles, dump grounds, manure piles, and out door toilets. The Bandera Lions Club is sponsoring the drive and is urging every one who lives in town to check over their premises and spray the places where maggots are found.

WHY LABOR BOSSES ENDORSE THE OPPONENT OF . . .
JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS
Candidate for Associate Justice
Supreme Court of Texas

JUDGE JOHN A. RAWLINS

★ It is recorded May 9, 1945, in 138 S.W. Reporter, page 276, that Junius F. Hart, opponent of Judge Rawlins, was one of the attorneys for the labor unions in their unsuccessful and ill-advised attempt to enjoin the State Officials from enforcing the Texas law regulating labor unions, which was passed with the view of protecting public interest.

★ The Appellate Court, in upholding the law forbidding the unions from collecting union permit fees from non-union employees, recognized the policy expressed by the Legislature in the preamble to the Act: "The right to work is the right to live."

★ Judge John Rawlins is under no obligation to either labor or capital. He is now completing 20 years of service as a State Trial Judge. He is a family man, a World War veteran, and a church worker. He has the endorsement of the Dallas Bar Association and is interested only in administering the law fairly and impartially in the interest of the public at large. He is a graduate of Texas University and Texas Christian University.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hinds announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Texas Jo Garland Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fletcher, of Raymondville. The marriage will take place soon.

CARD OF THANKS

It is with the deepest of gratitude that we wish to thank all our many friends for their many acts of kindness and kind words of sympathy shown us during the loss of our dear mother, Mrs. Effie V. Embry. Our grief seemed more than we could bear, but all the kindness from all our friends made the burden easier to carry. Especially do we wish to thank Dr. Wilson and his nurses for their untiring efforts to lessen her suffering as much as medicine could do. God bless all our dear friends for all they did for our loving mother.

"There's a shile among ye taking notes, an' faith he'll prent 'em."

Scott Stevens left early Saturday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Megraw.
Mrs. Fred Hoffman, of Kerrville, and Mrs. Melissa Saturday visiting her son, James E. Kinney.
W. E. Merfeld is building a large addition to his residence and will move from town.
Mrs. J. H. Russell Sr. had as her guest this week—at Stubblefield, Ia., a Kerrville hospital. We hope he recovers very soon.
Hugh Adcox has returned to Carlsbad New Mexico, after three weeks vacation visit with his brothers, O. L. and J. R. Adcox.
Jim Freeman, from the A. & M. College, is spending his summer vacation in the Mrs. Hagan ranch with his college mate, Norval Jackson.
Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Juhlin and little daughter, Bettye Gail, of San Antonio, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Justice over the week-end.
Russell Chiodo and Honorable Walter Tynan, of San Antonio, were in Medina Saturday in the interest of Mr. Tynan's campaign for State Senator.
Colgin Graham, of Junction, dropped into our sanctum for a short visit Wednesday. He was in Medina in the interest of his candidacy for Representative of this district.
Mrs. C. O. Nesting has just returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pickens, in Galveston. She was born and raised in Bandera and her present home is at San Antonio. She came down to be present, at the May reunion which occurred on July 11th. She will return to her home after a few days.
Mrs. Ann Alcock, of Mission, mother of Mrs. G. W. Wheeler, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Thomas Pickens, is taking an extended vacation on the Wheeler ranch at the head of Walker Creek. This is the third summer vacation for them in this great Hill Country, and they expect themselves as being very much delighted with both the country and the climate, and expect to take their vacations here from now on.
Mr. and Mrs. Ben Adams and two children, Flora Ann and Thomas Jeff, left Monday for a two weeks' vacation. It is not definitely known just where the vacationist will take place, as Ben left the impression that they might go through California, Colorado, and on into parts of Canada before their return. Owing to the slight acquaintance of about nineteen years with Ben, we would be willing to venture a slight wager that Old Ben brings back some kind of a trophy with him.
Many items crowded out of the Bulletin this week will appear in our next issue.

Famous economy cars... Ford products made in England ... now available for prompt delivery
Now, for the first time, selected Ford Dealers bring you the Anglia and the Prefect—in England, the most widely sold cars in their price class.
It's easy to see why they're so much in demand. While their traditionally shorter English wheelbase in no way detracts from their riding comfort (plenty of leg- and head-room) it does make them delightfully easy to handle in traffic or to park, and it results in amazing gasoline and oil economy.
The Anglia and the Prefect are made with typical English craftsmanship and the traditional Ford dependability. They are built to last. They are designed especially for American requirements, with left-hand drive, standard gearshift, chrome trim and other features.
See these distinctive cars today and you'll see why during this postwar period, the Anglia and the Prefect are the largest selling low-priced cars in England.
The Thames Trade—now available to satisfy an increasing American demand. ¼ ton and ½ ton. Built in England.

WHEN LUMBER WAS MADE IN BANDERA

Not many people know that Bandera was once a thriving sawmill town. John James and Charles de Montel operated a sawmill on the site where the Ted Nasky residence now stands, and turned out thousands of feet of cypress lumber, which was purchased by the government and used in the construction of buildings on the outposts of Fort McKavett, Fort Territ, Fort Concho, and Fort Griffin. The lumber was hauled by ox-teams, and was shipped by river to the mouth of the Rio Grande, from where it was transferred by ocean vessels to Indianola. Shingle-making was also a great industry here for many years, and provided employment for the citizens of the community. Most of these shingles were made by hand, and were the best shingles to be found anywhere. They were packed in bundles of 500 to 1,000, and brought an average price of $4.00 per thousand. Remnants of large cypress trees still to be seen along the Medina river and Camp Verde creek are mute reminders of the early day industry, which thrived here for many years.

Topping of New Highway Starts

Crews started early this week spreading the asphalt topping on the new highway between Bandera and Medina. Highway Engineer Xaviers Holmes announces that the grading is nearing completion, and construction work is being pushed to the limit for early completion. It is expected that the 23.4-mile highway will be finished by early September. Holmes says he's not sure yet that in order to save their automobiles, traffic should be routed from Bandera to Medina by way 16 through Medina to Kerrville during the time the prime oil coating is being spread on the new highway base. The oil operators will take about a week, Holmes says.

The new highway comes into Bandera on the old Center Point road this side of the cemetery, and turns at the Wilson hospital on Thirteenth Street to go south for two blocks for an intersection with Main and Hackberry. The reason for this offset is a matter of engineering, and the new road being taken to continue the parallel of Thirteenth Street to its intersection with Highway 16, misses the residence of Mrs. Lee Rushing. Mrs. Rushing, it is said, thinks this paving to be done at the expense of the property owners in front of her home.

JUSTICE COURT GRINDS EXCEEDINGLY FINE

Judge L. L. Bright's court was in session Monday and handed down twelve or fourteen cases, assessing fines and verdicts with a few exceptions. Those charged for disturbing the peace and such received a fine which with costs totaled $28.50. Four were fined for drunkenness, the fines totaling $115. Six were fined for reckless driving, $14 to $65, and one was fined $25 for a law violation.

MARRIED

Thelma Arnold and Frances Marie Miller were united in marriage at Bandera Saturday, July 24, with Rev. Roy Rita officiating. Marriage license were issued to them here on July 22.

Runoff in Race For Commissioner

In Saturday's democratic primaries held in Bandera county, Ernst Fisher led the ticket for Congress, with Chas. L. South second, and Howell E. Cobb third. Capt. R. Stevenson led the ticket for United States Senator, carrying the county over Lyndon Johnson, and George Peddy third in the race. In the congressional race Fisher received 761 votes, South 142, and Cobb 57, and in the U. S. Senatorial race Stevenson received 687 votes over the Johnson 152, and Peddy 135. In the race for the Texas Senate, Walter Tynan won the nomination over Pat Dwyer and Red Berry, Tynan leading his two opponents here in Bandera county more than two to one. Report comes that Clifton Graham, of Junction, defeated Jim Nugent for State representative by about 600 votes over the district. Nugent carried Bandera county by about thirty votes.

In the commissioner's race Ernst Lindner led the field for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, and Justice of the Peace in Precinct No. 1, when Preston Wedgworth outdistanced Ben Hall, Jr., and Ben Hall, Sr., by a plurality of forty votes. Wedgworth received 329 votes, Lindner 289, and Justice Anderson 64 votes. This race will be decided by a runoff on August 28th. L. L. Bright defeated Marshall Tipton for Justice of the Peace by a majority of 21 votes, 342 for Bright and 207 for Tipton. Mack Chipman was elected constable of Precinct No. 1, by a large majority over Gib Lewis.

Seventy-six percentage of the votes was 40.42 Johnson's 33.21 and Peddy's 18.88.

Dessie Lee Hall voted with 521,169, or 51.91 per cent of the votes, and Tynan with 221,540 votes, a percentage of 21.75, and Cason March 154,199, or a percentage of 16.48.

New Teachers Employed

O. D. Adair, formerly principal at Hallettsville, has accepted the position as principal in the Bandera Elementary school. He succeeds Mrs. Adair will teach commercial work in the high school. Mr. Adair is a young man, married, has had experience both as a teacher and as a principal. He comes very highly recommended. Mrs. Adair is also an experienced teacher. They have a daughter, Sondra Kay, who will be in the second grade.

James Otho Love, formerly a teacher in the Corpus Todaysville school system, has accepted the position of high school principal. Mr. Love is a young man with wide experience in school and civic work. He is married, and has a baby daughter.

The coaching job has not been filled. However, the record of several prominent coaches are being investigated.

KERR COUNTY ELECTS NEW OFFICIALS

Report comes that in the Kerr county primaries last Saturday Jim Woodruff was elected Sheriff, Atkins for county judge, Lawrence Stephens defeated John E. Leavell for county attorney, and Earl Garrett defeated A. F. Moore for sheriff. This sweep was quite a turn over, as the three defeated candidates had been in office for several terms.

Burke, Jackson Burnes and Mrs. Edwins Boyle, and the host and hostess, of Bandera.

Peddy Bows His Way Out of Race

George Peddy bowed out of the race for U. S. Senate Sunday with the statement to Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson "that he would not support either in the runoff." The Houston man, who ran third in the 11-man race, said that the people of Texas are capable of making up their own mind on how to vote" in the second primary August 28.

He said in a statement at Houston that "I shall not publicly announce my position or do anything that could be construed as an effort to influence the votes of the fine, independent Texas citizens who honored me with their confidence and support."

Stevenson said he would conduct his hand-shaking style of campaign in the runoff election. "I am grateful for the support of so many people without an attraction of any side shows, with the exception of the 'Old Scout,'" he said.

Stevenson and Johnson found themselves in a political situation both had confidently predicted they would be contesting a runoff race for the U. S. Senate.

The Texas election returned Tuesday showed Truman the vote of 9,180,000 polled in the general race in 1940 would be shattered.

In returns posted at 8 p. m. Tuesday with 2,215,000 votes in, Stevenson was out in front with 1,031,611 votes, Johnson with 331,837 and Peddy third with 196,033.

Ranch Hands Win Again

With timely hitting overcoming their own loose fielding, the Ranch Hand Band pounded out a 7 to 5, victory over the visiting Brooke General team, at Cowboy Park last Sunday. Brooke General got off to a two run lead in the first inning when, with two out and two on, both Haner and Fausett fumbled the ball hit by Dobbs. The home boys tied the score in the second, when Strickhausen was hit by a pitched ball. Haner singled to right, Floyd fanned, Hand walked and Fausett came through with a line single to center field, scoring Strick, and Haner. Two more runs were made by the Ranch Hands in the third. Nixon walked and was forced at second by Walton. Taylor then came through with the first of his two triples, and scored when Clark bounced out second to first. In the sixth Haner led off with a single, and Floyd second. Floyd fanned and Hubert flew out to center. Haner hobbled second, Fausett received a slam in the slats and took first. Nixon walked on a nine-to pitch and Walton then drilled a single through third, scoring Haner and Fausett. The final Ranch Hand tally came in the 7th, when Strick, the first batter walked on four pitches, was sacrificed to second by Haner, and by some daring and spectacular base running scored while Hubert was being out on fielder's choice.

Hand, who started in the box for Bandera, did not seem to be in the best of form, and was relieved in the sixth inning with two outs and the bases loaded, and allowed only one hit the remainder of the game. Brooke hospital scored their final run in the 7th inning on a triple by Stevens, a base on balls to Keck, and two Bandera errors.

Next Sunday the Ranch Hands will journey to Boerne and endeavor to avenge an early season defeat by that club. Jimmie Hand will be fully recovered from his slight indisposition and will be ready to work for the Bandera-ites. A tough game is anticipated and the Bandera boys will be counting on the support of all fans who are able to make the trip to Boerne. On the following Sunday the Ranch Hands will tangle with Dan's Cafe on the local diamond.

Papa Bullfrog Still Selling the Earth

1,000 acres, formerly the Schmidtke property, sold for P. W. Lockin to O. Long, of San Antonio, price $25,600.00. Mr. Long has been a substantial merchant in San Antonio for many years and has decided to retire to the beautiful Bandera Hills Country on the ranch he bought from Mr. Lockin. We are glad to welcome Mr. Long and his family to Bandera, and hope they have a long and happy stay with us here.

Bandera Realty Company also sold P. W. Lockin a nice home-site nestled back against the hills and on the pavement in the High and Faris ranch about six miles from Bandera. This homesite consists of 20 or 25 acres, upon which Mr. Lockin is preparing to build a nice modern home in the next 60 days. We are glad indeed that although Mr. Lockin sold out his big ranch, he will still be a good Bandera citizen.

Bandera Realty Company reports that they have sold the O. W. Pipe Creek to Col. Wyrick, of Kerrville, for a consideration of $19,000.00. Colonel Wyrick is a retired army officer, and while he has a fine home in Alamo Heights in San Antonio, still the beauty of the Hill Country is so enticing that he has decided to make this ranch his permanent home. The Wyrick's have a nice family, consisting of his wife, married daughter and her lovely grandchildren, who will enjoy the ranch with him.

Mrs. Olive Pulley, to whom the company sold the Sun Down cottages, has just returned from a delightful vacation trip to California, and has taken over the management of the noted fishing resort. She is making extensive improvements on the property and will soon have its mere modernized.

Mr. Loveless says that Bandera is fortunate indeed to add these new, substantial citizens to her community, and that he expects to see Bandera grow to be a nice city before many years.

Smoke was rising attracted an audience of 2,000 horrified persons in the street below. Mrs. Dexter, down from the window. Samuel Sanders, crowd, grabbed her by the legs. Mrs. Dexter, remembered her days as a circus performer, did a neat flip through the window. Samuel Sanders, crowd, caught her. Mrs. Dexter, Sanders, Joseph and Samuel Sanders all left for home

Friday, July 30, 1948

Beginning this week the Bulletin publishes the eight constitutional amendments to be voted on next November. We urge our readers to carefully read each of these amendments and learn how to vote intelligently on them, for some of them should be amended under so deep that they can never be resurrected. We'll have more to say about them later.

The primaries are over, and the smoke of battle has partly cleared away, revealing a lot of disappointments and blasted hopes in the rear, and a re-arranging of battle lines for the run-off contests in August. Loudly they will be let our neighbor that no person Preston Wedgworth and Ernest Lindsay, in the race for county commissioner, Precinct No 3. But in the race for United States Senator, the scrap between Coke R. Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson promises to wax plenty warm. Mr. Johnson's campaign strategy for Coke Stevenson, and will hold its fire in the August run-off.

A school of instruction should be taught here in Bandera at least a month before the holding of each election. It is better that voters may learn how to mark up their ballots. In the recent primaries it was proven that at least 25 per cent of the voters did not understand how to mark their ticket. Particularly was this true of the young men and young women who were voting for the first time. But even older heads made mistakes, too, by just a cast few sufficient guarantee and it's owners take this opportunity to show their appreciation for the hearty response given by the citizens of Bandera to their ad in last week's Bulletin, and to further assure the Bandera citizens — and the traveling public — that the best food at the lowest possible prices will continue to be served.

IN THE FRONTIER HOTEL

Once upon a time Bandera boasted of a splendid public library, housed in a beautiful, modern building with a large auditorium. But alas! it seems that interest and pride in that very necessary and needful institution has died down to a very small flame that so little attention has been given to this worthwhile institution which the community several years ago put forth so much effort to achieve. But it will be restored now, and saved for future generations to enjoy. The trustees of the library and auditorium have met and are taking steps to place restrictions on the library building and prevent further abuse of it. The benches, which have been carried away for use of public functions are being gathered up and repaired, and no more will they be allowed to leave the building for any purpose whatsoever. The library room will be cleaned up and put in order, and the services of a librarian will be secured to keep the library open at least two afternoons a week. The auditorium is to be restored to its former state of usefulness in order. The curfews indicated will be enforced in every instance when the need arises, and no one found foul him will be allowed to use the auditorium after the hour of 10 o'clock. Could only every one of our citizens realize the part of those who use the library and the library and the auditorium should be kept in order, how much more they would use and enjoy them!

EIGHT MEN HUNG TO ONE TREE

There is a lone tree standing, out on the Julian Creek, nine miles south of Bandera, on the ranch of which eight men were swung into eternity during the days of the Civil War. The story of this tragedy was related in the 1905 eight men and a boy left Williamson county to go to Mexico. Their route took them through Bandera, and a few days furlough, and decided that they had had enough of the civil strife. They started back for Texas on horses and stopped here long enough to buy some supplies. Confederate Judge Gallagher, then holding court in Bandera, issued a writ for them to a point below Hondo, where they were arrested at daylight and brought back to the Julian Creek, where they were hung, one man at a time, with a lariat rope. Major Alexander directed the hanging of these men, without trial or any semblance of a court proceeding. The only explanation ever given was that they were "Yankee sympathizers." Which Alexander was in command of Confederate guerrillas. The day citizens of Bandera went out and buried the bodies in the grave. The lone pine tree was spared. A stone marks the grave, and on it is inscribed the following names: J. Sawyer, W. M. Hamilton, Jack Thurman, William Shumake, Jack Whitmire, Jack Kyle, John Smart, Mr. Van Winkle. Died July 25, 1865. In Fireside Tipton Museum in Bandera is a picture of the gravestone, and a number of interesting documents concerning the hanging, and three of the pioneer citizens of Bandera who helped to bury the bodies. There was just one of the many terrible tragedies of war which were enacted in the Hill Country during those wild days.

Jake Webb Sells Bantex Theater

A deal was consummated this week whereby Jake Webbs sold the Bantex Theater to Charles Knaul, of Morris, Oklahoma. We do not understand the consideration, but we understand it is a very good round figure. The new owner has taken possession of the motion picture show, and will personally manage the business. The Bulletin extends to him and his family a cordial welcome to Bandera, and to the building in which the Bantex Theatre is located was partially destroyed by fire, and the scarcity of build ing material, and labor during the war they went right ahead with the erection of the present theatre building on Main Street, and have enjoyed an ever increasing patronage since. They have become a part of Bandera and have a host of friends. We hope that will be lasting.

TO INSPECT GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING

Word was received by the school board of the Bandera Public Schools from Arnold Wittman, director, School Plant and Structural Safety Division of the State Board of Education, to the effect that he will make a personal inspection of the grammar school building on August 13, to see that the best and most economical repairs and improvements can be made into a safe and suitable building that will meet with the requirements of the State Department of Education. Mr. Wittman has been given a special invitation to inspect the building by the board in order that no money will be wasted in remodeling it. The board feels that it is better to do it right before any work is done in order to insure that all rules and regulations of the State Department are being carried out.

Local Draft Board Named

Selective Service Board, Local No. 6, composed of Bandera and Bexar counties, was named by Governor Beauford Jester last week, and is composed of the following gentlemen: Dr. A. Berchelmann, Wilks Berchelmann, Jack Pitluk, A. E. Richey, George Southall, of San Antonio; and L. E. Admietz, of Bandera. It is estimated that between 500,000 and 600,000 persons will be registered during the registration period, which begins with 25-year-olds on August 30, and ends with registration of 18-year-olds on September 17 to 18. As soon as word went forth that the draft act had passed, a tentative board of R. Lee Walker, John F. Langford, and L. E. Admietz was set up for Bandera county, but in consolidating this county with Bexar county, the names of the consolidated board were announced as given above. K. L. Berry, of Alamo, is State Selective Service director.

JACK CARTER HITS UPON A NOVEL IDEA

The Bulletin printing department is turning out several novel and phonograph record albums for Jack Carter, who operates the Cedar Crest Dude Ranch. Jack conceived the idea that a set of albums of popular Bandera folk dances would appeal to our then crowds of tourists and visitors, so he has assembled five of the popular dance selections, "Pot Your Little Foot," "Cotton Eyed Joe," "Ten Pretty Girls," "Little Brown Jug," and a schottische, to fill the fifth album, which is now being manufactured, with the cover being printed in four colors, yellow, red, blue and brown. The cover was designed by Warren Hunter, and shows couples dressed in cowboy costumes dancing to music furnished by cowboy musicians. Inside the cover is a list of the various guest ranches, hotels, tourist courts, eating places, pleasure resorts, and places of attractions in Bandera, and inside the back page are pictures showing early Bandera scenes and historical notes. It is a beautiful bit of work, and was executed by the Bulletin printers. Mr. Carter has already received many orders for his record albums and as soon as it is ready for distribution, we predict its sale will far exceed expectations.

24 DISTRICT VOTES IN BAG

The Democrats counted 24 electoral votes in the bag Tuesday in their bid to thwart the presidential election into the House of Representatives when the South casts its 128 votes in a stand.

Mississippi electors are the latest to pledge their support to the states' rights ticket of Governor Strom Thurmond of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding Wright of Mississippi. The state nine votes.

The Dixiecrats are hoping to get 127 electoral votes in the South and 43 in the border states. If they can deprive President Truman of South's votes, he and if the Republicrats fail to get a majority of the 531 ballots then the House would decide the issue.

In addition to Mississippi's nine votes, the Dixiecrats have been assured of 11 from Alabama, and at least four from Florida. They are counting on support, too, from South Carolina (14), and Louisiana (10).

The Dixiecrat strategy is to get state conventions called in recovene and name new slates of presidential electors pledged to the Thurmond-Wright ticket.

Thurmond will formally open his campaign a week from Wednesday, at Houston, Texas. After that, he and his running mate will speak all over the South, as well as in some Northern and Midwestern states.

RANCH HANDS WILL TANGLE WITH DAN'S CAFE

Rained out at Boerne last Sunday, the Ranch Hands are busily diligently to get in the best shape possible for next Sunday's game with Dan's Cafe, of San Antonio. J. T. O'Daniel, the owner of Dan's team, has for many years maintained one of the strongest and most outstanding teams in the Alamo City. They are known as the Travelers and their independent ball, making trips to all parts of Texas, and have appeared several times in Mexico. This will be their first time in Bandera, and Manager Burbe will have his strongest lineup ready to face the invaders and fans are promised a dandy battle from start to finish.

Livestock Sale on Labor Day

Tentative plans for a livestock show and sale on Labor Day at Bandera were drawn up at recent meeting of the Bandera county Registered Livestock Association. Emphasis will be placed on the show and sale of registered Angora bucks, but a quarter horse show and a bull show will be added attractions. The entire event, including a barbecue dinner, will be held at Mansfield Park, near Bandera, according to H. F. Schlemmer, county agricultural agent.

The sheep and goat show will be for rams and bucks only, and will include yearling and aged animals only. Only registered animals will be allowed in the sheep and sale, under tentative regulations made up at the meeting. Entries will be limited to two in each class in the show, but exhibitors may bring any number of sales animals. Classes in the sheep division will be split according to breeds, and in the goat division according to M, D type.

Breeders of registered animals are invited to bring their sales stock to this event. No auction sale will be held, and all sales will be at private treaty. This will be the third annual sale at Bandera and this yeah for the first time a show will be held in connection with the sale. The event is held each year to give local breeders an opportunity to show their livestock and to give local ranchmen an opportunity to select breeding stock from the clocks of out of county breeders.

Based on results of the sale this year, it is estimated that there will be about 250 sheep and goats at the sale. The Association is making plans to expand the event each year and possibly to have a complete county fair with all the "trimmings" each year later on.

Judges for the various classes have not yet been selected, and will be announced later on. Breeding stock that will be for sale and already entered includes Delaine rams, Cortlelale rams, Suffolk rams, Angora bucks, Hereford bulls and registered quarter horses. Ranchmen who have not yet purchased their breeding stock are urged to wait for this event, where they can make their selections from some of the best flocks and herds in this part of the state.

KERRVILLE LIONS

"A bull fight, the newest sport in this section of the state, was staged by the Kerrville Lions Club last Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, at the Kerrville Municipal Auditorium. The program, directed by L. H. Hyatt, was a feature of the Underprivileged Children program of the club. John Stephens, president, stated that the contract had been signed by Hyatt and Bro. Alfredo Flores, and the event was staged under the approval of the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Charles W. Henry was the chairman of the committee on arrangements and the street parades were a feature of the affair. Bands from Kerrville and Ingram had appeared but twice in the United States, at San Antonio, La., and later in Pennsylvania. From Kerrville they were scheduled to go to Harlingen to-night for benefit programs.

LOCAL BREEDER BUYS CORRIEDALES

W. H. Cunningham, of San Antonio, owner of the Rocking Chair ranch on Indian Creek, purchased 100 registered ewes and two registered rams at the Corriedale sale held at Kerrville and Ingram, according to H. F. Schlemmer county agricultural agent of Kerrville. The animals have been added to the flock of about 50 head of purebred sheep on the ranch, which were purchased two years ago from Louis Jungmichel.

Mr. Cunningham recently purchased the Corriedale flock of Mrs. Ella Mae Hall, and will have good type of fine wool Corriedale flock on the ranch at all times. He is specializing on a fine wool type of Corriedale sheep and is adding to his flock from time to time. John Adams, manager of the Rocking Chair ranch at the ranch. Few Corriedale sales have been available in recent years, and several ranchmen have had to go out of the county to buy Corriedales. The establishment of this flock should be of value to the sheep industry in this section, as the Corriedale is the finest breeding stock at better medium of breed to drive for both wool and mutton.

"There are always fewer votes cast in a runoff primary than in the first primary, and no doubt, this will be the case on Saturday, August 28th, when there is only one local contest, and it only one candidate's name appears on the ballot. It is duty you owe to your state and county to vote to put only the best men in office, so don't neglect that duty.

Jake Webb has sold his picture show in Bandera. We don't know what Jake's plans are, but we are hoping he will remain in this town, for he has been a good worker and an enthusiastic booster for Bandera ever since he came here fifteen or sixteen years ago. He and his fine little wife, built the beautiful Ranger Theater, and have given this town higher, nicer shows. Should Jake leave, their departure will be regretted by everyone.

Friday Night Fight Card Set

Charles D. Lovelace, owner of the Bingham Ranch Co., says his herd of registered Hereford cattle now wear the same brand across the lake as tradition. He also stopped a car load to bear in the following remarks: "Lovelace will be right."

Lovelace sold R. J. Beene's ranch to Mr. Anderson for $30,000. Mr. Anderson, a Texas judge at Pampa, Texas, is an old friend of Judge Beene's, and, but after seeing the beautiful Bandera hills decided that the is the nicest place to live and spend in which to make a permanent home. He is preparing to move to the ranch he bought from Mr. Beene, six miles north of Bandera. He has 1,000 cattle, 300 or 400 acres of wheat land in the Pampa area, but, tired of the cold winters and wind storms and dust in that country and is delighted to get into the Bandera Hills, where everything is pretty and green.

Lovelace also, sold Mr. Whitley's 200 acre ranch bordering the English Crossing to Mr. McGinnis, a metallurgist for a big mining company in Mexico. Mr. McGinnis' wife is a former resident of San Antonio and Mr. McGinnis, who spent his boyhood days in the Bandera hills, says he is delighted to be able to bring his clothes back home and settle down in old Bandera.

Lovelace also sold to W. J. Goddin another small ranch for all cash, which adjoins the $45,000 ranch which he recently bought from Bob Graham.

Lovelace also reports the following sales at Bandera Falls tracts: A $1,000 lot to Bernice Cabbel, of San Antonio; a $2,000 lot to Jack Dillard, of San Antonio; a $3,000 lot to Mr. Schoeller of San Antonio; a $650 lot to R. D. Trawick, of Galveston; a $750 lot to W. H. Gilchrist, of San Antonio; an $850 lot to Mrs. E. V. Lethurgeon, of San Antonio; a $750 lot to Charles A. Miller, of San Antonio, and a $1,000 lot to W. O. Wagner, of San Antonio.

Pappa Bully Frog Sings Again

Charles D. Lovelace, owner of the Bingham Ranch Co., says his herd of registered Hereford cattle now wear the same brand across the lake as tradition. He also stopped a car load to bear in the following remarks: "Lovelace will be right."

Lovelace sold R. J. Beene's ranch to Mr. Anderson for $30,000. Mr. Anderson, a Texas judge at Pampa, Texas, is an old friend of Judge Beene's, and, but after seeing the beautiful Bandera Hills decided that the is the nicest place to live and spend in which to make a permanent home. He is preparing to move to the ranch he bought from Mr. Beene, six miles north of Bandera. He has 1,000 cattle, 300 or 400 acres of wheat land in the Pampa area, but, tired of the cold winters and wind storms and dust in that country and is delighted to get into the Bandera Hills, where everything is pretty and green.

Lovelace also, sold Mr. Whitley's 200 acre ranch bordering the English Crossing to Mr. McGinnis, a metallurgist for a big mining company in Mexico. Mr. McGinnis' wife is a former resident of San Antonio and Mr. McGinnis, who spent his boyhood days in the Bandera hills, says he is delighted to be able to bring his clothes back home and settle down in old Bandera.

Lovelace also sold to W. J. Goddin another small ranch for all cash, which adjoins the $45,000 ranch which he recently bought from Bob Graham.

Lovelace also reports the following sales at Bandera Falls tracts: A $1,000 lot to Bernice Cabbel, of San Antonio; a $2,000 lot to Jack Dillard, of San Antonio; a $3,000 lot to Mr. Schoeller of San Antonio; a $650 lot to R. D. Trawick, of Galveston; a $750 lot to W. H. Gilchrist, of San Antonio; an $850 lot to Mrs. E. V. Lethurgeon, of San Antonio; a $750 lot to Charles A. Miller, of San Antonio, and a $1,000 lot to W. O. Wagner, of San Antonio.

Names of Prospective Candidates Go On Ticket

Names of Democratic candidates for county offices in the August 28th primary election will be placed on the official ballot, it was announced this week by Mrs. Roy Word, county clerk.

Names of Texas electors will disappear from the ballot, also for the first time, the story goes for people who vote for presidential candidates would automatically elect electors of their choice.

It will be the first use of a law which was passed enacted in 1943, the story goes.

"The national democratic committee has formally certified the names of President Harry S. Truman and Sen. Alben Barkley as the democratic national candidates and they will go on the ballot," Mrs. Brown said. "So the certificate is in order."

"No certificates have been received from the Republicans or from the Wallaceites."

The story says the act of 1945 may force the Dixiecrats to file the names of their candidates in Texas to get them on the official ballot—especially if the presidential referendum is not placed on the ticket by the state committee at its session in Austin next Monday. It quotes article 2980 as saying that when "presidential electors are to be voted on their names shall not appear on the official ballot," but the names of the candidates for president and vice-president, respectively, of the political parties so defined in the law, shall appear on the ballot, and the voters for presidential electors of the various political parties named in their respective tickets; and the votes for presidential electors of the various political parties so named in their tickets shall be counted for the candidates for president and vice-president, respectively, of the political party so named."

Sullivan said Dukker also served a person form to obtain his name with a $1,000 bond in Philippine criminal district court of the party. Another Texas Democrat who has been subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury is Robert Sullivan, Houston attorney and national committeeman. The subpoena was issued by District Attorney Frank Hogan.

Mrs. Dukker, Wooley, Hutchinson, society columnist, and she had no idea candidates was going to be involved in the alleged over-billing of the Air Force contracts, when she typed the letters.

The list of guests mentioned by Miss Dukker situation read as a society register of the city. There was socialite Jocelyn Lykes Lovett, former night club operator and agent Chuck Farmer, wealthy oil dealer W. Belford Sharpe, a cousin of Howard Hughes, plane maker and movie magnate; Jerry Giesler, defense lawyer at the El Morocco Actor Dean Martin.

A Coming Lawyer

Here is a coming young public servant. Jim Nugent, young University law graduate left school the first of June to run for State Representative of the 86th district. He was virtually a stranger in his home town of Kerrville. having been away eight years, and was completely unknown in none of the ten counties of the 86th district. In six weeks by dint of hard work and shoe leather, he drove 5,000 miles and visited every town in the district at least twice. In his frank and straightforward manner, he convinced 70 per cent of his home county and 61 per cent of the voters of the district that he was the man for the job. Truly this is a "boy wonder" in your eyes on.

"I'm pleased and proud of the wonderful support given me by so many people of the district, and I would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of you for the consideration and support which you gave me," said Jim Nugent.

To his supporters he added "If we can do that in six weeks, what can we do in two years?"

Miss Janice Jonas, of San Antonio, is spending her vacation here with her aunt and uncle Mr. and Mrs. Eli Hillman, and family.

Taft Gets Set to Address Congress

Washington, Aug. 3—Senator Robert A. Taft's GOP policy committee agreed Tuesday to wind up the special session of Congress on Saturday after only a few days of debate.

President Truman's anti-inflation program.

The policy chieftains agreed it would be "absolutely impossible" to break the four-day old Southern filibuster against the Senate's anti-poll tax bill and a compromise, or the politically hot civil rights issue appeared certain.

The plan now is to surrender and offer the Southerners a consolidated amendment to outlaw the poll tax. The Dixie bloc would accept that because it would require two thirds of the states to ratify it to make it operative and there are enough Southern states to keep it from becoming law.

Along with bank credit controls and a modified housing set, that is just about all the business planned before adjournment. Mr. Truman had asked for an 11-point program, including the Taft-Ellender-Wagner housing act.

Returns from 4,000 Mile Trip

Rev. J. C. Turner returned this week from his 4,000 mile vacation trip, which he made in a Ford V-8 car. He was accompanied by his wife and children. He left Bandera on June 15th, and visited Mexico City, Monterrey, Laredo, Corpus Christi, Houston, Galveston, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Orange, Lake Charles, Shreveport, Texarkana, Dallas, Fort Worth, Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Spring, Midland, Odessa, Pecos, El Paso, Carlsbad, Roswell, Albuquerque, Santa Fe, Las Vegas, Trinidad, Pueblo, Colorado Springs, Denver, Cheyenne, Scottsbluff, Omaha, Des Moines, Minneapolis, Fargo, Grand Forks, Winnipeg, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, Seattle, Portland, Crater Lake, Redding, Sacramento, San Francisco, Los Angeles, Phoenix, Tucson, Deming, Las Cruces, Alamogordo, Roswell, Clovis, Amarillo, Childress, Vernon, Wichita Falls, Gainesville, Denison, Sherman, Paris, Texarkana, Longview, Tyler, Jacksonville, Palestine, Corsicana, Waco, Temple, Austin, Aug. 1—You don't have to understand English to vote in Texas, The ballot will be printed in Spanish, Czech, German and Negro dialect, if necessary, it was announced by the attorney general's office today.

But an illiterate must speak his ballot aloud. The provision, judges say, is designed to discourage illiterates from voting.

Ballots also must be printed in alphabetical order, with the name of each candidate preceded by a square in which voters may cast their ballots.

Picnic on the River

About twenty-five young people came up from the Grove Addition congregation in San Antonio, to attend services at the Church of Christ in Bandera last Sunday morning. Bro. Harry Merjon preached a splendid sermon, after which the entire congregation and the visitors enjoyed a fine barbecue dinner at Ranger Crossing, on the river. But as the crowd was through eating, a rain came up, and those who failed to get into their cars in time were pretty well soaked by the rain. It was a glorious occasion all around, and fully enjoyed by everyone.

Outlook Appears Dismal Despite Moscow Talks

Washington, Aug. 3—Mr. Marshall, one of the very few men in the world who know where we now with these matters, was unable to discuss that situation, stating he never discusses directly or indirectly, touching on the meetings in Moscow. He had to reply "No" comment."

He stated that a large group of correspondents, who assembled in the Senate Foreign Relations room at the State Department, did not attempt to press him. So nothing was said, or the matter. The secretary was very grave, however. His manner reflected none of that cheerfulness and high good humor that was reported to have been existing in the faces of the three Western diplomats who recently saw Premier Stalin. If anything," Mr. Marshall appeared to be more serious—in fact, preoccupied—than he has been on other occasions when the Russian situation was under discussion with correspondents.

The apparent absence of optimism on the part of the secretary is pretty generally evident throughout Washington. Neither in diplomatic nor military circles has there been any marked change of sentiment, or attitude about the outlook, since the meeting between Stalin and the American, British and French representatives. The shadings of opinion have not changed.

That is, some officials believe war can still be headed off, others that it can but that the odds are somewhat weighted against avoidance, and still others who feel it is inevitable.

Where there is a considerable degree of agreement in this point.

That we may, now, be passing through the period of greatest danger. That the issue of peace or war may be in the balance.

It is agreed that Russia soon or later will be forced, by time and the river of events, to make a sharp and definite decision. What decision would be whether, in terms of Communist objectives, the present policies can be continued, or whether nothing less than direct action would advance them.

A new law in Boston requires that employers furnish free shoes to all workers receiving less than $46.00 a month. The decree does not permit the employer to give money instead of shoes. Workers forfeit their right to the new pair if they do not personally wear the shoes. Shoe factories furnish such shoes at cost. A fine of from $20 to $500 is imposed upon the employer who fails to comply with the provision of the law. The purpose of the law is to force barefoot workers to wear shoes.

"So you want a divorce from your wife," said the judge. "Aren't your relations pleasant?"

"Mine are," came the reply, "but hers are simply terrific."

A small boy watched a telephone repairman climb a pole and collect a bell art. The boy rushed into the house and shouted:

"Mama, come out here. There's a man up a telephone pole collecting every woman who has a dark spot she knows every man who is inclined to be "stuck" in fact there's a secret beneath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl told all that she knows, it would turn half our friends to bitterest foes; she could now a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she could let go a story which gaining in force would cause half our wives to sue for a divorce; she could get all our churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing; in fact she could keep the whole town in a stew if she'd tell a tenth of the things she knew. Oh, brother, now doesn't it make your head whirl, when you think what one owes to the telephone girl"—Exchange.

"The telephone girl sits in her booth and listens to voices from everywhere; she hears all the gossip, she hears all the news, she knows who is happy and who has the blues; she knows all our joys, she knows every girl who is chasing the boys; she knows of our every trouble, she knows of our strife; she knows every man who talks mean to his wife; she knows every time we are out with "the boys," she hears the remarks each fellow employs; she knows every woman who has a dark spot; she knows every man who is inclined to be "stuck" in fact there's a secret beneath each saucy curl of that quiet, demure looking telephone girl. If the telephone girl told all that she knows, it would turn half our friends to bitterest foes; she could now a small wind that would soon be a gale, engulf us in trouble and land us in jail; she could let go a story which gaining in force would cause half our wives to sue for a divorce; she could get all our churches mixed up in a fight and turn all our days into sorrowing; in fact she could keep the whole town in a stew if she'd tell a tenth of the things she knew. DRUGS
The writer of the ads which fill this space every week, made a grevious error two weeks ago, when he stated that the log cabin now occupying a place on the premises of Judge A. V. Poe, in Bandera, is the original cabin which J. A. V. Poe built on Hicks Creek in 1868. Miss Nannie Poe informs us that her father's old log cabin is still standing on its original location, where it has stood for 82 years, and has recently been repaired. The log cabin which is now on Judge Poe's property was built here in 1902 and has remained on its original location some months ago. Not knowing this, but knowing that J. A. V. Poe built the old log cabin in 1868, and raised his family therein, the writer, when he saw the log cabin on Judge Poe's property, but jumped to the conclusion that it had been moved in from the Poe ranch to be given a suitable location in Bandera. We are glad to correct the error. These old log cabins are treasures of a past age, and should be preserved as monuments to the hardy pioneers who built them.

$10,000 Needed to Meet Budget

The Bandera Tourist Association, in its regular meeting Monday night, approved the budget of income and expenses, based on the following report:
100 members, at $5 per month per member, $6,000.
Income from seven dances, based on previous expense ch dances in San Antonio and Houston, $4,000. Total estimated income, $1,000.
Advertising and expenses: Cost of advertising dances in newspaper ads, $2,000; postage, plus mimeograph, folders and maps, $1,800; 94 road signs, $1,692; 7 large Packer signs at $20 per month per sign, $2,500; advertising in magazine "This Week in San Antonio," full page one year, $1,000; amount set aside for entertainment of visiting schools in 1948, Total expenses, $10,000.
The budget submitted seems to meet with general approval, and all firms in Bandera are urged to send cards now being mailed to them, agreeing to pay $5.00 or more per month, for which it is hoped to raise the $10,000 estimated to meet this expense. Of course, there will be other expenses such as office, stationery, telephone, etc., which are not included, but which will be taken care of through regular channels. It is hoped that the proceeds to the call for pledges the sum asked for and that the $10,000 may be judiciously spent in advertising Bandera as the most attractive spot in Texas.

Among the many guests at the Dixie Dude Ranch during the past week were Colonel and Mrs. Ray Hayward and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Zahel, of Houston. He and Mrs. Hayward will probably return for a longer stay at the Dixie Dude Ranch.

GLORIA SHINER WILL GO TO MANSFIELD PARK

Miss Gloria Shiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cot Shiner, will go to Mansfield Park next week for a four weeks' show as a sponsor girl for Gene Autry's rodeo. Miss Shiner was selected at the Mansfield rodeo which was won by Gene Autry's talent scouts who said there will go to Boston for a two weeks' show. BANDERA SCHOOLS OPEN SEPTEMBER 7

The Bandera schools will open in Bandera on Tuesday, September 7.

Saturday Hand in Hearst Game

Jimmy Hand, a slender lefty from Bandera whose pitching ability has baffled scholastic batters all year, again hitters alike, has been chosen as the second pitcher to be sent to Randolph Field, Hearst All-American baseball classic at San Antonio Lights.

He joins George Farrell Essey, the husky Bandera backstop who was a member of the All-American squad that will play the best from Texas, Oklahoma, New York in the Polo Grounds, home of the New York Giants, on the night of August 26.

Jimmy wasn't setting any records as a first baseman, although he was holding down that position on the Bandera High School team this spring when Coach W. O. Patton sent out an urgent call for a pitcher. He was immediately solved the problem, because his fast ball was the kind scholastic batters like to

NEW YORK BOUND—Jimmy Hand, 16-year-old Bandera lefty, has been selected as Texas' second representative for the Hearst All-American baseball game at New York on August 26. He will accompany George Essey, Bandera American Legion team mate.

His pitching debut went down as a defeat even though he pitched 2 hits.

When the high school season ended Jimmy joined the baseball team of Chesley Seattle, a former pitcher for Cleveland and Washington, managing the Bandera Ranch Bandits ace aggregation.

Twenty Hot Wells Lodges batted some back to Jim Atchison that Hand was throwing Motorpedo ball, but Jimmy fooled them with a little change of pace and control that he will use against Jimmie Foster in the Hearst game.

Next Sunday on the local ball park the Ranch Hands will play on the St. Joseph's Day baseball Parish league, in San Antonio. St. Joseph's boasts a good baseball club, and the game should be a thriller from start to finish.

throw, and he was soon relieved of the pitching duties.

On two occasions Jimmy had to fan five men in an inning, when batters reached first base on catcher muffled the third strike.

Ranch Hands Rout Dan's Cafe, 8 to 1

Exploding for eight big runs in the second inning, the Ranch Hands coasted to an 8 to 1 win over the highly favored Dan's Cafe team, of San Antonio, last Sunday at Cowboy Park. Jimmie Hand pitching for the locals held the hard hitting visitors to two scattered hits and pitched to only 15 men during the nine innings. Dan's Cafe scored their only run in the fourth on a walk to Wilson, a wild pitch and Carrola's hard smash over second, which was the second and hit made off Hand.

Strickhausen started the fateful second by walking on a 3-2 pitch. Walker laid down a perfect bunt, which was fielded by Livingston, and threw high in an effort to force Strick at second, both runners being safe. Hand, batting for Fausset, who was removed from the game due to an arm injury sustained in the first inning, when he was hit by batted ball, then laid down a bunt past the pitcher's box, and the attempted effort to get Hand at second by Livingston ended in a slow roller to second baseman Carrola, who threw Strickhausen out at third. Hand then stole second and scored on Taylor's single to center, scoring Walker and Hand. Then a throw home from the outfield was cut off by Rudes at first base, and second in an attempt to nail Walker and Strick scored the eighth and final run. Applegate flew out to second to end the biggest inning the Ranch Hands have enjoyed this season. The Ranch Hands never threatened again as Carrola, Hand and Livingston in the second, allowed only three Bandera batters to reach base in the final five frames, a hit by Walker, and walks to Carrola and Hand.

In turning in one of the finest pitching performances of the season, Hand limited the visitors to five expert hits and struck out seven. He was one of the two boys to go to the Hearst All-American baseball game at New York on August 26 at the Polo Grounds, the home of the New York Giants, in which game boys from all over the United States are gilted against the cream of the players from the New York Metropolitan area.

Hand will go with Jimmie, and we feel confident that he will pitch through with the same brand of baseball that has made him the outstanding schoolboy pitcher in Texas this season.

Carrying 140 pounds spread over 5 foot 10 inches of frame, Hand is big enough to throw with much speed. But Roche reports "He's got good control, a good curve, and a cuteness that is rare among boys his age."

Hal Henry, who calculates for Texas 694 in the City Water Board, has compiled information about a neat trick of pitching all runners while in the stretch position. He discourages one pickoff a game.

Preston Hand, Jimmy's father, began teaching the boy to throw when he was just big enough to hold a ball—although admitting that he tried to make a right-hander out of him. Since then Jimmie has played everything with "left" in it.

Eye men on the Bandera football and basket ball teams but they say the eyeglasses didn't help to avoid possible injury in his better type.

This marks the first time The Light's committee, headed by Hank Cresswell, Bandera Record, has selected a boy outside the city for the big trip. Last year Jimmy Hand and Irene Urbanovich were the selections.

Reverend who watched Hand work twice this year, said: "I don't know of a prep player that could fill the bill any better than Hand. I'm sure he will give a creditable performance, for he has good control and good stuff on the ball."

A LEAK OF THE PAST

While remodeling the clerk's office recently, it was found necessary to installing a large vault in the old back room for the floor, and has been presented to Frontier Times Museum. The old vault was used as a bodcarrier in carrying mortar up the stone-layers when the court house was built in 1870. It is in a fair state of preservation, and is a real reminder of the manual labor done in the building industry of half a century ago.

BANDERA

The writer of the ads which fill this space every week, made a grievous error two weeks ago, when he stated that the log cabin now occupying a place on the premises of Judge A. V. Poe in Bandera, is the original cabin which J. A. V. Poe built on Medina Creek in 1906. Miss Nannie Poe informs us that her father's old log cabin is still standing on its original location, where it has stood for 42 years, and has recently been repaired. The log cabin which is now on Judge Poe's property was built here in town and was moved from its original location some months ago. Not knowing this, but knowing that J. A. V. Poe built the old log cabin in 1906, and raised his family therein, the writer, when he saw the log cabin on Judge Poe's property, just jumped to the conclusion that it had been moved in from the Poe ranch to be given a suitable location in Bandera. We are glad to correct the error. These old log cabins are treasures of a past age, and should be preserved as monuments to the hardy pioneers who built them.

The Corner Drug Store invites you to drop in when you are in town. Our fountain serves cold drinks and the best of everything during those hot days. Our supply of drugs and druggists' sundries is complete.

Jimmy Hand in Heart Game

Jimmy Hand, a slender lefty from Bandera whose fanning 15 batters has baffled schoolboy catchers and grownup hitters alike, has been chosen as the second pitcher to be sent to the William Randolph Hearst All-American baseball classic at New York by the San Antonio Lions. He will be backed by Jimmy Lowry, the husky Burbank infielder, on the roster of the All-American squad that will play the best team from metropolitan New York in the Yankee Stadium, home of the New York Giants, on the night of August 26.

Jimmy's setting any records as a first-baseman, although he was holding down that position on the Bandera High School team this spring when Coach W. O. Patton sent an urgent call for a pitcher. But Jimmy only partially solved the problem, for his best ball was too hot for the schoolboy catcher to handle.

On two occasions Jimmy had to retire the side after the first two batters reaching base as the catcher muffed the third strike.

KING KONG BOUND—Jimmy Hand, Bandera southpaw pitcher, has been chosen by Texas' sandlot representative in the Hearst All-American baseball game at New York city. He will accompany Coach W. O. Patton, Legion team infielder.

His pitching debut went down in a defeat even though he fanned 24.

When the high school season ended Hand got under the guidance of Charley Schmidt, the former Brownwood and the Border Bruins, who managed the Bandera Tigers this year, to further club.

Twenty Hot Wells Lodges but Hand came back to San Antonio after the July 4 game muster-in and pitched baseball for the Bandera baseballs.

Four other clubs competed for Hand's services, but Schmidt, with the slants of the Bandera baseball, easily outdistanced the sixteenth birthday.

Carrying 140 pounds spread over 5 ft. 10 inches, Jimmy appears too slight to throw with such speed that Scribe reports:

"He's got everything—speed, good curve, and a coolness that he never seems to lose. Also a fine head."

His brother, Henry, who catches for him on the Bandera Major League, supplied further information about a neat trick of picking off runners which Jimmy learned this summer. He averages one pickoff a game.

Preston Hand, Jimmy's father, began teaching the boy to throw when he was just big enough to hold a ball—although admitting that he was never a pitcher himself. Jimmy has played everything but first base.

He was on the Bandera food, ball and basket ball teams, but baseball is the game he prefers this fall to avoid possible injury in his senior year.

This marks the first time The Lion's combo has landed in Hank Feuerel, the Boston Red Sox scout, has selected a boy outside the city for the big leagues. Last year Jimmy Elsner and Rene Urbanowich were the selections.

Several who watched Hand pitch "knew this year, sair."

"I don't know of any young player that could fill the bill better than Hand. I've seen he'll give a creditable performance, for he has good control and good stuff on the ball."

Ranch Hands Rout Dan's Cafe, 8 to 7

Exploding for eight big runs in the second inning, the Ranch Hands coasted to an 8 to 7 victory over the highly favored Dan's Cafe team, of San Antonio, last Sunday at Cowboy Park. The Ranch Hand pitching for the locals held the hard hitting Travelers to two scattered hits and pitched no-hit, no-run during the last five innings. Dan's Cafe scored their only run in the fifth inning on a walk to Wilson, a wild pitch and Carrola's hard smash over second baseman with the second and last hit made off Hand.

Strickhausen started the fateful second by walking on a 3-2 pitch. Walker laid down a perfect bunt, which was fielded by Livingston, and thrown high in an effort to force Strickhausen. Both runners being safe, Applegate fanned, but Hand came through with a two-base hit, loading the bases. Bill Flood, batting for Fausett, who was removed from the game due to an arm injury sustained in the first inning, when he was hit by a pitched ball, then pushed a bunt past the pitcher's box and the attempted effort to force Hand at second was late leaving the catcher's hands, Flood being safe. Nixson fanned, but Walton drove a long fly through the left field, into center field, scoring Walker and Hand, and sending Flood to third. Taylor singled again loading the bases, and Click walked to force Flood home with the second run for the second time in this inning. Ashworth hit to deep left, which Sarro fielded nicely, but in making the toss to second Taylor was hit by the runner in the back, and all hands were safe, as Walton scored. Hand then singled to center, scoring Taylor and Click. The three runs from the second inning were all by Rodeo, who threw wild to second in an attempt to get Walker out, and Strickhausen scored the eighth and final run. Applegate led off the second inning with a single, but was forced out at second on a fielder's choice by Livingston in the next play, and only three Bandera batters got to reach base in the final five frames, as Hand struck out two, walks to Click and Strickhausen.

In turning in the best pitching performances seen on the local diamond, Jimmie Hand and Ben Davis, Jr., were the stars of the experts who have selected him as one of the two best pitchers in this area to go to New York and appear in the all star game on August 26 in the Yankee Stadium. Hand, one of the New York Giants, in which game boys from all over the United States are pitted against the cream of the players from the 16 major and Metropolitan areas. Our best wishes will go with Jimmie, and we are confident that he will come through with flying colors.

Next Sunday on the local ball field Hand, the Ranch Hand hurler, will take on the St. Joseph's team, of the San Antonio Parochial League. St. Joseph's boasts a young and talented ball club, and the game should be a thriller from start to finish.

A RELIC OF THE PAST

We have received for our files a relic in the county court house preparatory to moving into larger quarters, an old hod was found under the floor, and has been presented to Frontier Times Museum. The old hod was used by a hod-carrier in carrying mortar to the stone-layers when the county court house was built in 1890-91. It is a relic of the past preservation, and is a most appropriate addition to the museum in the building industry of half a century ago.

V. F. W. TO MANAGE LIBRARY AUDITORIUM

A contract has been recently been completed between the Board of Trustees of the Public Library Auditorium and the Bandera Veterans of Foreign Wars Post, which will be known as the V. F. W. post is to operate the Public Library Auditorium.

The V. F. W. members, all of whom have seen war service overseas, are to be responsible for all costs involved in keeping the building in running order and available for public use at all times. A charge is to be made for its use, the rate of which in the future is partially offset these running expenses. Arrangements for its use in this manner may be made by contacting W. C. Lux, president of the Bandera Association, or the V. F. W. post commander, Jack Hunter.

The building is one of the finest of its kind in the state of Texas, and each month. Much work has already been done by the V. F. W. members on the way of cleaning, repair of plumber, reinstatement of water and lights, and other straightening up of the books in the library are being made. The C. C. Lux is to turn the management of the library over to the new auditorium, and letters to that effect will be sent out soon.

It is the desire of the post to rehabilitate this building and make it a credit to the county in which it was intended, said H. E. Huebner, commander, and Alden E. Ramsey, adjutant of the local V. F. W. post, who completed arrangements for the contract.

Jordan T. Lasker and sister, Miss Ruth Lasker, of Castroville, were in Bandera last month and visited Frontier Times Museum.

DIXIECRATS Bow TO PARTY LOYALTY

Austin, Aug. 10.—Texas Dixiecrats, after their expected beating from the State Democratic Executive Committee Monday, picked up their marbles, and walked off in the direction of Bismarck. They will, 42 to 18, in an attempt to [illegible] on the Democratic party ticket, permitting Texas Democrats to support Truman-Barkley and the Truman-Wright tickets for president and vice-president.

At Houston Wednesday night Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina and Gov. Fielding Wright, of Mississippi, formally accepted their respective nominations as president and vice-president by the Southern states' rights Democrats.

Defeat of the Dixiecrats at the hands of the executive committee does not mean the fight within the party is finished. Monday's clash was only a rehearsal for the battle on top of the state Democratic convention in Fort Worth, September 14. There the Dixiecrats will make their final effort to overturn the regular party forces and wrest control in behalf of the Thurmond-Wright movement by means of picking their own slate of electors.

The struggle before the executive committee in the chamber of the House of Representatives was neither as loud nor as bitter as had been anticipated. Dixiecrats knew they were beaten on the referendum issue before they ever got their resolution into the hopper, and they took full advantage of the opportunity to air their case and aim stinging criticism at Gov. Beauford Jester for his refusal to support the referendum movement. Two of their sharpest-tongued spokesmen, former state Sen. Lloyd Price, of Fort Worth, and Joe Hill, of Austin, delivered the Dixiecrats' challenge.

In one southern town, there are two churches across the street from each other.

"Couldn't those churches be consolidated?" a visitor asked.

"Not very well," was the reply. "That church over there says 'There ain't no hell,'" and this one says, 'The hell there ain't.'"

METHODIST CHURCH REPORT

On Monday night the board of stewards of the Methodist church met and had a very interesting meeting with discussion regarding the religious census held under way. Also being discussed was the "Every Member Canvas" to be conducted by the MYF under the direction of the board of stewards. This meeting had some fine reports given by a group of these young folks and added a few pertinent information regarding talks and schools offered. The meeting has been very successfully conducted in other churches where the MYF have had a great success here, too. "The faithful few" Nova Fleming, Jaunyla Clark, Thelmarie Clark, Ellen Louise Isbell, JoAnn Lynch, Jo Ed Langford, Emma Jean Stafford, Mary Lou Lynch if they have not called upon you they will in the near future.

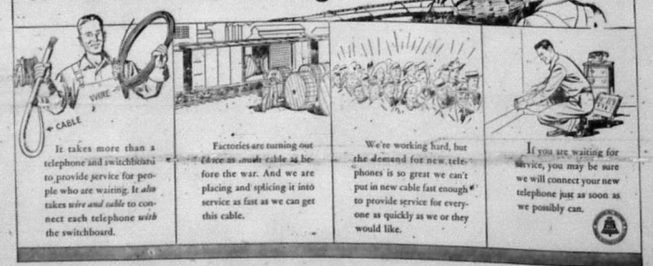
MORE TELEPHONE CABLE COMING IN
to serve those waiting



It takes more than a telephone and switchboard to provide service for people who are waiting. It also takes wire and cable to connect each telephone with the switchboard.

Factories are turning out cable as much cable as before the war. And we are placing and splicing it into service as fast as we can get this cable.

We're working hard, but the demand for new telephones is so great we can't put in new cable fast enough to provide service for everyone as quickly as we or they would like.

If you are waiting for service, you may be sure we will connect your new telephone just as soon as we possibly can.

WHEN ELECTRICITY CAME TO BANDERA

Did you know that less than twenty-five years ago Bandera was without electricity and other conveniences? At that time the kerosene lamp and the wood-burning cook stove supplied household needs, and gasoline engines provided motive power on the farms and ranches. It was in 1927 that the Central Power & Light Co. put in a power plant here, using a steam boiler and diesel engine for generating electricity. The plant was installed in a building next to Tom Scott's ice factory, and supplied current only locally. The installation was inadequate, and proved a drawback to Bandera's development, for from that date forward Bandera has remained in the slow growth category. Later the Central Power & Light Co. built a high line over to Comfort, and when the Rural Electrification administration began to string rural lines through the county, the ranchmen and farmers were served the opportunity to get electrical current. The Bandera Electric Cooperative was organized, and some years ago bought out the Central Power & Light Co., and the expansion program is still in progress. Today Bandera has nearly current for all purposes. Utilities for the home, such as refrigerators, ranges, washing machines, electric irons, radios, lights, etc., are in common everywhere, enabling new firms to supply such appliances and electrical devices and conveniences, but enlarging the business opportunities on every hand.

The Corner Drug Store invites you to drop in when you are in town. Our fountain serves cold drinks and the best of everything during those hot days. Our supply of drugs and druggists' sundries is complete.

The fatal shooting of Bink West by his former business partner, Vance West, was termed "accidental" by a Bandera County jury here yesterday afternoon, who was present at the Silver Dollar cafe when the shooting occurred at the time of the incident. According to Mrs. Bink West, the cafe was a three-way partnership affair with the two Wests and Marvin Hays, who left the Bandera Ranch, each having a third interest in the business. Trouble is said on the night of the shooting. Bink West had told his part of the business to Vance West, who was arrested by Taylor who took him to the Bandera County jail. MILLION MORE MEN NEEDED FOR ARMY

Washington, Aug. 14—The government needs a million more soldiers, and military service is ordered by June 30, 1941. That's the estimate made Saturday by Robert C. Goodwin, the nation's top employment specialist, in a review of draft and military supply.

To the expanding defense program, Goodwin added, will be added already tight labor market. Spot shortages already exist, in many localities, particularly for skilled technical and clerical workers.

Goodwin's figure is at odds with 61,000,000 persons now working or seeking jobs.

Goodwin, director of the U. S. Employment Service, said in his report, however, that the nation's new draft and military supply program needs can be met without disrupting the civilian manufacturing and farm economy.

Probably around 62,200,000 persons will be employed by next summer, he said. This is the same figure Goodwin used in last summer-peak can be licked without draining civilian production.

"Some will become available as a result of seasonal factors, and normal increases in the civil labor forces. Others will have to be recruited from outside the labor force.

"While no over all shortages of workers are anticipated, labor shortages will continue in certain areas of the country and new ones may develop in others.

"The manpower problem is one of recruitment and placement on a large scale. This recreation movement of hundreds of thousands of workers, expanding industrial centers, safeguarding of skills vital to further expansion, training of workers to specific needed skills, establishment of reserves and absenteeism at low rates, and provision of adequate housing, feeding and community facilities. Expiring enlistments in the armed forces will add to the labor supply too, as younger men are drafted, Goodwin said.

Editorial . . .

Mainly those eight constitutional amendments which are to be voted upon in the general election in November. Senate Joint Resolution No. 2 provides for a bond to apportion the state into senatorial and representative districts in the event the Legislature fails to make such apportionment. This amendment should carry. House Joint Resolution No. 7 provides for succession to the governor-elect in the event of his death or disqualification before taking the office. It would be well to adopt this amendment. House Joint Resolution No. 9 provides for the creation of farm and home development districts, to be governed by boards of five members, to be elected by the qualified voters of the district. Such districts may be created by petition of 5 per cent of the qualified voters, and after approval by the voters, may issue bonds to the amount of 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the district. Such districts may also levy taxes not to exceed 15 cents on the $100 valuation. Senate Joint Resolution No. 10 provides for the creation of Water Improvement Districts, to be governed by boards of five members, to be elected by the qualified voters of the district. Such districts may be created by petition of 5 per cent of the qualified voters, and after approval by the voters, may issue bonds to the amount of 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the district. Such districts may also levy taxes not to exceed 15 cents on the $100 valuation. Senate Joint Resolution No. 11 provides for certain purposes, providing for a $3,000 homestead exemption. This amendment should be defeated. Some features of this amendment are good, but there may be a "string in the woodpile," so study it carefully. House Joint Resolution No. 20 provides for succession to the governor-elect in the event of his death or disqualification before taking the office. It would be well to adopt this amendment. House Joint Resolution No. 35 provides for the creation of farm and home development districts, to be governed by boards of five members, to be elected by the qualified voters of the district. Such districts may be created by petition of 5 per cent of the qualified voters, and after approval by the voters, may issue bonds to the amount of 10 per cent of the assessed valuation of property in the district. GILLESPIE COUNTY WAR ROOSTERS HERE

Gillespie county's war roosters are by the fifth annual Gillespie County Fair, which is to be held Thursday, Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, August 19, 20, 21, and 22, which is to begin last Friday to extend cordial invitation to citizens of Bandera county to visit this great fair, which, incidentally, is the largest county fair in Texas. Accompanied by a small band of musicians, which is to be here any while here, the Fredericksburg group distributed invitations cards and other advertising and extended personal invitations to visit the fair.

Many new features and a revival of attractions of years ago are highlights of the 1948 fair, the group said on their visit here. Among these are outstanding exhibits of livestock and agricultural products, and fine displays in the ladies' divisions, the fair is equally famous for its entertainment. The amusement programs are topped by a three day and night rodeo with six rides daily, the derby on Sunday, and daily games of baseball, pitting the Fredericksburg Giants against Goldthwaite, Hondo, and a San Antonio city league team.

Revival of old customs will include the ever popular horse and family contest, most freckled boy, the pass of watermelon parting contests and other nostalgic memories of former fairs.

The Bexar County Sheriff's Posse will appear in the colorful parade, which will officially open the parade on Friday morning. More than 30 entries, including a number of floats and cars, will be in the parade. The Sheriff's Posse will present a program of trick horsemanship on the arena Saturday afternoon.

The Don Franklin Carnival shows will be on the grounds with their glittering midway. The famous Fredericksburg Centennial Band will play all three days, and a dance in the exhibition hall on Sunday night with the Texas Top Hands will officially close the fair.

Seats for spectators will be the most numerous ever provided, with many bleacher seats to be added to the 3,000-seat grandstand. Comfortable seats are being arranged for old folks of gather in reunions.

Gilbert Halford was reported very ill last week-end. We hope he makes a speedy recovery.

VOTE FOR COKE STEVENSON
For United States Senator
Remember the Date:
SATURDAY, AUGUST 28, 1948
He has proven his loyalty to the Hill Country. For ten years he was this district's representative in the Legislature, and for four years was Speaker of the House. He was Lieutenant Governor for three years, and then became Governor of Texas, which office he ably filled for five years. He has proven his ability as a lawmaker and an executive, and will faithfully represent Texas in the United States Senate.
What Others Say About Coke Stevenson
Texas' Oldest and Largest Newspaper
EDITORIAL COMMENT
THE DALLAS MORNING NEWS
Tuesday, July 27, 1948
Stevenson Wins Voters' Tribute
On the more than a million votes cast in the first Democratic primary Saturday, almost 60 per cent agreed with The News that former Governor Coke Stevenson, of Junction, and Col. George Peddy, of Houston, were the best men to select for the forthcoming runoff primary in the junior Texas seat in the Federal Senate. Of those approximately 900,000 Texans Democrats preferred the wide administrative experience and proven regional acquaintance of Mr. Stevenson, a tested and splendid tribune of the thoughtful and constructive gentleman who has had more continued legislative and administrative experience than any man in Texas public life today and who has served longer as Governor than any man in the state's history.
Looking forward to the second primary, which Colonel Peddy no doubt will enter in the field, The News has no hesitation in reaffirming its position in advance of the first primary and recommending Coke Stevenson as the finest candidate now left in the race. On July 11, The News said:
"Texans in selecting a Senator want, of course, a man fitted to promote that a senatorial leader in public affairs. They want a man in the senate of his own who can think and act practically, effectively and with full knowledge of the problems clearly and in the choice about to be made. They want a man on foreign affairs, not at subservient party servants. On the record, Stevenson and Peddy meet these requirements.
"Coke Stevenson, on the basis of his long legislative and executive experience, would take to Washington an intimate knowledge of governmental thinking of all Texas, whose confidence he has already won and justified regionally. Not an opportunist, he is schooled in government decision, based on clearly thinking things for both. Texas has learned to respect the consistency of a man who is not a 'weather vane' one day and a left-wingster the next, knowing hot and cold with the vote in many different controversies with bird in policy, business, industry and labor. We have voted to elect the wisest Governor as a stable influence in the delegation of the state's six votes in Texas' senatorial contingent. Coke Stevenson can be counted on to make private service a public cost in return for favors. Texas knows by now that the quiet gentleman from Junction will make a Senator of the same cut as his predecessor as Governor.
The 400,000 Texas voters who gave Coke Stevenson 134,000 more than 40 per cent of the vote for eleven candidates paid him a well-earned compliment. On his record he can hardly fail to appeal to a substantial majority of the 500,000 Texans who in August will make their second choice."

We're For Coke, Of Course
The Eagle has been for Coke Stevenson every time he ran for office. This year is no exception.
We think he ought to be elected to the United States Senate. We think he will be.
Here in the Hill Country, Coke will get a good record of the good things he has done all his life, and folks know him. They know he made a good governor and a good governor they hope he made all the people of Texas a good governor, not just a few favored ones. They know how well made a good senator.
Coke is our friend, and neighbor. That would be enough to insure him every support over this section, the fact that he has shown himself to be an excellent public official as well makes it not only a pleasure but a duty for his friends here to help send him to the Senate.
Coke is a dependable Everybody knows he can depend on him. And he can depend on us, too.
Kimble County will be proud when Coke Stevenson walks onto the floor of the United States Senate and starts working for the people.

AMARILLO NEWS
AMARILLO, TEXAS
July 20, 1948
The Senate Race
Coke R. Stevenson proved to be the most popular candidate in the race for the U. S. Senate from Texas, and this was not surprising. The strength of youthful Lyndon Johnson, the run-up strength was not surprising; almost the exact total of his vote, estimated several days before the primary. The most surprising thing about the outcome was the tremendous strength of George Peddy, of Houston. Thousands and thousands of voters stuck by George Peddy, though it must have been apparent that his schance was shoddier. But the voters stuck because they thought Mr. Peddy was made of the right stuff for an effective senator. There is no doubt that these voters were correct.
Mr. Peddy ran a good race, a clean, dignified one. He received a big vote, which was probably smaller than he expected. After the votes were counted, Mr. Peddy announced that he would not try to influence the people who voted for him when the second primary comes up. This was a fine, honest and commendable decision. Mr. Peddy permits the people who voted for him to make up their own minds in the second primary.
The votes of Mr. Peddy are at stake in the runoff; they are not delinquent votes. The voters indicated by their Peddy ballots that they wanted a sincere, honest, thinking man to be Senator.
There is no doubt that many of those citizens will now turn to Coke Stevenson as the best available and informed candidate. They know that Coke Stevenson is a man of experience and with good records.
Not once during the campaign has Coke Stevenson's integrity or his character, honesty and sincerity been questioned. He has shown that Stevenson is a dependable man, that he will not go off on any fantastic tangent, that he is not impulsive, that he will not court favor and raise false issues. He will be united by using a high public office to build up personal favors. Therefore Peddy never did attack Stevenson's character, and the people saw his record as a public servant.
If there ever was a time when an expert dependable leadership is needed, it is now. We are in the midst of the deep-seated fundamentals, and we must continue to have what we could run to. We do not want impulsiveness, we do not want reckless action, we want a man of proven experience.
This is the first time Coke Stevenson has ever been defeated for public office. He has never been defeated in the people's choice.
At the recent runoff campaign, Coke Stevenson's more than the votes of the people who know his fairness, honesty, and capability in public office. He has the support of voters who are deeply interested in the welfare of the state and of the country. He has workers should go to every voter and remind him that Coke Stevenson's record is unquestionably little money" the campaign this time. There is no doubt that he will have to contend big money, but an army of voters who want nothing less than a completely dependable man can go out and garner the votes for Coke in the August 28 run-off primary.

SOCIAL LIFE IN BANDERA SIXTY YEARS AGO

There's quite a contrast between the social life of Bandera in the 1880's and the present day. The programs of the Bandera Enterprise, now in Frontier Times Museum, give much information on the subject. The programs of the Literary Society, the United Friends of Temperance, the dances, the picnics, the campmeetings, etc. The gatherings of people who made up Bandera society in those days included such names as Hudspeth, Chambers, Huffmeyer, Wilson, Carr, Cunningham, Weldon, Carmichael, Hay, Hamilton, Langford, Hirt, Ryan, Chipman, Mayfield, Maxwell, Lyon, Mauritz, Jones, Stevens, Poe, Thalmann, Rose, Burk, Newcomer, Ardrey, and others. In 1884 a portion of the United Friends of Temperance was organized in Bandera with the following charter members: Mrs. E. M. Hudspeth, Mrs. Ella Hudspeth, Mrs. Lizzie Hudspeth, Mrs. J. W. Hamilton, William Hudspeth, Alex Hay, N. B. Hudspeth, Mrs. Mary Hudspeth, Mrs. Sallie Hudspeth, Mrs. Street Hudspeth, S. F. Chambers, Mrs. Florence Rose, Angus Hudspeth, Hattie Hudspeth, F. C. Hudspeth, Hugh Hudspeth, Maude Ruth, Annie E. Hudspeth, J. Wing, Ida Hamilton, Matilda Ruth, F. L. Taylor, Grace A. Taylor, M. E. Peacock, Mary Ann Bandemehl, I. W. Cunningham, Mrs. Mary Langford, Sarah Harris, Jennett Bell, Aranthia Langford, Mollie Hudspeth, Alice Bell, Minnie Armstrong, Mrs. Adolph Huffmeyer, of San Antonio, is probably the only charter member of the Bandera county society living. She was Miss Mattie Ruth. Descendants of the group of Bandera pioneers banded together and made up a good part of Bandera's social life today.

STATE OFFICIAL DEFENDS STEVENSSON'S RECORD

Austin, Aug. 24—Figures quoted in full detail on Coke Stevenson's pardons and paroles record as governor were called misleading and "patently unfair" Tuesday by State Auditor C. H. Sullivan. The statement which was made in a letter to T. N. Carswell, chairman of the Board of the Texas Prison Board, who questioned the accuracy of statistics cited by H. Ward Wyatt, of San Antonio, former prison board chairman. A speech by Wyatt last week was highly critical of the former governor's administration of the Texas prison system. Sullivan's statement, which it was published through the headquarters of Lyndon Johnson, Democratic opponent in the runoff campaign for the Democratic nomination as U. S. Senator.

Carswell replied to a letter by Wyatt concerning the Ruffin talk to the effect that Governor Stevenson had granted 5,200 in an 18-month period, and denied that the record reflected any such figures.

"Personally," the state auditor said, "I try to keep myself and my office out of political campaigns—but I'm sure this is proper. The 5,200 pardons and paroles mentioned is so patently unfair, inaccurate and misleading I have my permission to quote this letter if you wish." Wyatt had charged that 8,500 convicts were released from prison during the Stevenson administration. 3,200 of them during one 18-month period.

REVIVAL MEETING AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

A revival meeting, which started at the Baptist church last Sunday, is being well attended, and much interest is being manifested. Evangelist Perman R. Hayes, of Fort Worth, is doing the preaching, assisted by the local pastor, Rev. H. T. Arnold, and Tommy Hunter, of Castell, Texas. Singing is in the direction of music and is led by Rev. Hunter.

The meeting will be held at 10 a. m. and 8:15 p. m. daily.

WAR FILMS TO BE SHOWN

Beginning next Wednesday night, September 1, and each first Wednesday night thereafter, actual war films will be shown at the American Legion Memorial Hall in Bandera, following each monthly meeting of the Legion Post Commander Sterling Burke. These sound films are provided the local post from the film library at Fort San Houston. Bandera Post American Legion meets at 8 p. m. the first Wednesday night in each month, and the films will be shown immediately following the meeting. The public is invited to attend the showing of these films, which drag actual war events, particularly those of the invasion of San Pietro, in Italy, and other war scenes. Remember the dates and be sure to come.

ATTENTION ALL P. T. A. MEMBERS

All members, both parents and teachers, of the Bandera High School P. T. A. are urged to attend an all day school of instruction, August 31, 1948, at the Medina High School auditorium. Our instructors will be Mrs. Roy Zesch, 7th District President, and Mrs. A. J. Loehr, Bandera county vice president. The meeting will be called to order at 9:30 a. m. and will adjourn about 4 p. m.

All persons desiring lunch will be taken care of.

Mrs. Ivy Hegarty Dies in San Antonio

Funeral services were held at the Plummer Funeral Home here last Friday for Mrs. Annie Eliza-beth Hegarty, who passed away in a San Antonio hospital on Wednesday, August 18. Interment was made in the Pipe Creek cemetery immediately following the services here. Mrs. McCarthy was born on October 25, 1870, and is survived by her husband, F. J. McCarthy, of Pipe Creek; four sons, George W. McCarthy, of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Claude McCarthy, of Poteet, Virgil McCarthy, of San Antonio, and Orville McCarthy, of San Antonio; two daughters, Mrs. T. J. Peters, of San Antonio, and Mrs. Edgar Pickens, of Pipe Creek; one sister, Mrs. Maggie Fox, of Los Angeles, California; two brothers, Wesley Edwards, of Fort Worth, and George Edwards, of Pipe Creek; sixteen grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Rev. Donald Heuser, of the Methodist church, officiated.

The death of this good woman is deeply mourned by all who knew her. She and her family lived at Pipe Creek many years, and were known to the older residents of the Bandera section as friends, neighbors and sympathetic helpers in times of sorrow.

Honolulu, Aug. 25—Sixteen of 20 crew members on an Okinawa-bound B-29 were killed Tuesday night when the plane burst into flames and crashed in flames at Hickam Field, it was announced today. Four survivors were rescued from the flaming wreck-age and taken to the Army's nearby Tripler Hospital. The crew included 16 enlisted men and four officers, whose names said the Superfortress exploded and burned in a field in a mass of skid, scattering wreckage for a quarter of a mile and smashing two power poles.

The plane was one of a group making a non-stop flight to the Philippines. Its striking point was believed to have been Spokane, Washington. Names of the dead will be released later.

Witnesses said the Superfortress lost an engine after taking off from Barber's Point Naval Air Station on Oahu. It tried to make an emergency landing at Honolulu airport but overshot the field. The pilot tried to climb but was unsuccessful. The Superfortress plunged to the ground, hitting a taxi strip adjoining Hickam Field and skidding for 600 yards. The plane burst into flames when it hit. Tile is a most worthy unoccupied C-47 transport parked on the strip.

Honolulu, worst in Hawaii aviation history, occurred within eight minutes after the plane took off for Kwajalein.

Air Force personnel were under the impression four of the crew survived the crash. They were wrong when it was learned two of the survivors were even found walking after the crash. They were believed to have either jumped from the escape doors a split second before the plane hit or been thrown clear of the flames. The only piece of the plane found left intact was the towering tail section.

WINTER COVER CROP FRACTIERS APPROVED

Fracticers for winter cover crops were approved by the Bandera County Soil Conservation district supervisors at their meeting held in the district office on Thursday, August 19. Fracticers approved were for the planting of oats and rye grass; rye grass receive assistance through the local PMA office, as the soil conservation district is not operating during this year. Seeding must be carried out in accordance with the specifications set forth in the fracticer agreement and adequate growth must be obtained and not be grazed by livestock before December 1, 1948. Phosphate and lime may be applied at a rate of not to exceed the equivalent of 200 pounds of 20 per cent superphosphate per acre except on land where there has been an application of phosphate to some prior year.

Rye grass must be seeded in the fall on land that has been allowed to become well settled after being plowed, or it may be seeded on land that has not been disturbed following the harvest of corn, maize, or other crops. The crop must not be harvested for hay. The crop may be grazed provided a good protective cover is maintained at all times. Seed may be harvested. There is no better way of building and maintaining soil fertility than through the planting of legumes. A good cover crop of legumes properly inoculated can put over a hundred pounds of nitrogen in the soil. This is the latest matter which helps to hold and conserve moisture and helps prevent erosion. Since 1937 when the first addition considerable winter grazing is provided.

The PMA program is administered through a county committee of three members. The present committee members are A. H. Schott, of Pipe Creek, F. E. Adams, Medina, and C. D. McCollister, Utopia. The county office is located in the old court house building, is open Monday through Friday. Those who are interested in planting a winter crop are invited to come by the office and discuss the matter further. For 1949 are now available for this practice.

To the Voters of

Bandera County

In the coming August 28th election there are two men bidding for your vote for county commissioner. Since I, voters are the only people who can decide who will have decided to tell you a few facts about myself. If you are interested and would care to, you can check these statements.

I was born in the town of Uvalde, Texas. When I was three years old my parents moved to Arkansas. When I was 18 years old I was appointed deputy sheriff and I served as deputy sheriff, in my home community, for 12 years.

When I was 28 years old I was appointed maintenance man for county roads in Maricopa County, Arizona. I served in this capacity for five years.

While I lived in Arizona I did business with the Buckeye Valley Bank, at Buckeye, Arizona. For a time I did business with Mr. Jack Correyn of the Buckeye Food and Land Co. The G. S. Stapley Hardware and Machinery Company at Buckeye and Phoenix, Arizona for 25 years. I spent more than $75,000.00 with them as I bought 8 crawler tractors, several farmalls and three combines.

In 1934 I began doing business with the First State Bank in Bandera, Texas, and I am still doing business with them. I began trading with Jess McNeel, of the Jess McNeel Machinery Co., in 1935. I have bought several thousand dollars worth of my equipment from him.

I have never been arrested or put in jail. If I were elected your commissioner and a war started the next day, I would still manage to keep your roads and bridges passable in some way.

I do not think your tax rate will have to be raised in order to keep good roads. I own 1000 acres of land and a home 10 miles northwest of Bandera. I am a Bandera and the Bandera people support me here always.

I am not a political man. If I am elected, I will be glad to have the support of both left and right politicians, as I would like to do as much as is humanly possible for all of you. If you have any suggestions to make, I will do my best to help you. If anybody tells you that I have been unfair to them and they can prove their case, I will give you $5.00.

Your vote will be sincerely appreciated. Where there is a will there is a way, and I have the will.

I hope that you will take my candidacy into serious consideration and vote for me as your county commissioner of Precinct No. 1, Bandera County, in the August 28th election. I promise to give you honest, efficient service.

Sincerely yours,
Preston Wedgworth

TAR-HEEL W. B. CLUB

The Tarpley Home Demonstration club met Thursday, August 19, in the home of Mrs. Brooks Tee-Hondo, with fifteen members present, and three visitors, Mrs. Purkrat, called the meeting to order and regular business was attended to. A motion was made to have a sewing for Red Cross. Those chosen to be on the committee were Mrs. Ruth Billings, and Mrs. Bill Coffey gave talks and plans on how to make aprons and pot holders, cutter, sacks, and pot holders.

Your ad in the Bulletin will bring results.

Notice to Long Distance Telephone Users

Certain changes in charges and practices pertaining to long distance calls within the State of Texas will be made effective September 1.

Report Charges

Report charges applied to person-to-person calls under certain conditions since 1919, will be discontinued beginning September 1.

Basic Station-to-Station Day Rates

In 74 of the 600 air line mileage distances, rates will be increased 5 cents. These involve about half of the distances in Texas. Short rates for longer distances are not affected.

Person-to-Person Day Rates

Person-to-person rates are based on the station-to-station rates. The differential between rates for station-to-station service and for person-to-person service has varied from a minimum of 10 cents per call under 51 miles to an average of over 43 per cent on calls between 51 miles and 150 miles and an average of 35 per cent on calls over 150 miles. The differential will be established with a minimum of 15 cents per call under 41 miles and a uniform differential of about 40 per cent on all other calls. Report charges will be discontinued.

Night and Sunday Rates

A discount of approximately 20 per cent from the station-to-station day rate will apply to all station-to-station calls between 8:30 p. m. and 4:30 a. m. the next morning and all day Sunday. The night and Sunday discount on person-to-person calls generally will result in amount the difference in station-to-station calls between the same points.

The principal changes to be made are described above. More detailed information may be obtained at any company business office.

CHURCHES IN BANDERA ARE GROWING

Bandera now boasts of five religious bodies that have houses of worship, namely: Catholic, Methodist, Baptist, Christian, and Latter Day Saints. Two other houses of worship are soon to be built: those of the Church of Christ and Episcopal children. Both of these buildings are to be erected on Bynumeus Street on Delightful Hill, near the Wilson hospital. The Church of Christ purchased two beautiful lots on the corner of Sycamore and Thirteenth Boulevard several months ago from A. F. Haynes, and a few days ago the Episcopal congregation purchased two splendid lots in the same block on the corner of Fourteenth and Sycamore, from Mr. Haynes, and are planning early construction on an edifice. In a recent issue of Bandera's churches a couple of weeks ago in an editorial in the Bulletin, the Catholic church was inadvertantly left out of the list, which we regret. Bandera is justly proud of her seven churches, which are wielding an influence in the city's religious life.

TELEPHONE WIRES DAMAGED BY HUNTERS

Hunters not only shot birds last year, but also managed to knock down 2,600 telephone wires in Southwestern Bell Telephone territory, S. L. Miller, district manager for the company, said today. "With the 1948 hunting season about to open, the company urges hunters to use care in shooting if, or near its pole lines," he said.

"What we probably need," Miller said, "is to broadcast hints that can duck bird-shot. But, what we have if pole lines and wires that can't dodge. The problem is pretty serious. Last year, about one-fourth of all cases of trouble on our open wire long distance telephone lines was traced to gun shot damage."

Even good shots miss occasionally, Miller said, and a shot at a bird on a telephone line, or flying in front of it, may cut a wire and interrupt telephone service. Until the company can get men out to repair the damage, important messages may be delayed. In asking that hunters think twice and pass up "fat" shots around telephone lines, Miller said, "Care and thoughtfulness on the part of hunters now go a long way toward protecting the community's vital long distance telephone service."

PRESIDENT LINCOLN'S BIRTHPLACE

President Lincoln was nominated by John Wilkes Booth on April 14, 1865. The first attempt on President Lincoln's life occurred while he was enroute to Washington in 1861. Two days before he was assassinated, President Lincoln had a dream in which he saw coffin in the East Room of the White House and heard a voice crying "The President has been assassinated."

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, August 16, 1923, published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Mrs. H. B. Masters and son, of Tucson, Arizona, returned to their home after visiting for several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Smith, and other relatives.

Mrs. A. E. Berger and children, after spending nearly two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Rindle, has returned to her home in San Antonio.

Mrs. James Cox, Miss Myrtle Sanders Hunter, Miss Lora Lange ford, Miss Gladys Holloway and Hubert Risinger went to Junction Tuesday to attend the Highway picnic near that place. They were accompanied home by Miss Edna Stevens, who had been visiting relatives at Junction for several weeks.

Miss Ruth Mumaw, of Beasley, Texas, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Frank Billings, several days this week.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Tom Finney, August 29, a girl.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mansfield, August 24, a boy.

Miss Suzie A. Ripley, of Mason Creek, spent several days with Miss Hughie Mayfield the past week.

Miss Annie Rumble has been employed to teach the Mason Creek school, and Miss Irene Curl will teach the Myrtle Creek school.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Schott and children, Rudolph and Lorene, were in town Friday from their ranch near Pipe Creek.

Howard Eckhart, Allie Thallman, and Harold Mansfield have returned from a month's stay at the Citizens' Military Training Camp at San Antonio. Howard informs us that he made a good record as a marksman, getting a gold medal for his shooting.

Frank Billings is wondering why people don't call things by their proper name. The other day an elderly lady went into the drug store and said to him: "I want a box of canine pills." Frank asked her: "What is the matter with the dog?" Whereupon she became very indignant and said: "I want you to understand that my husband is a gentleman." In profound silence Frank put up some quinine pills.

the largest private collection of its kind in the state of this kind in the United States open for the public. Flying L Ranch, as reservations are pouring in by the hundreds from San Antonio and throughout the state. Invitations have been sent to the governor and all state dignitaries and city officials in Texas, but owing to the small size of the ranch does not have to cater to an invitation to go, as the public is invited. The art show opens at 4:30 p/ m. with Sadye Harris fashion show featuring Jack Tolar's country club swimmers as well as "pool" pergola, administered. 5:45 p. m. exhibition of original paintings and objects of art, and musical attendance. Other entertainment beginning at 7:30 p. m. barbecue dinner, ranch style, tariff $1.25 per plate; 8:30 to 11:30 p.m., hangar dance and floor show, $1.00 per person; and his orchestra, $1.25 per person.

Artist members of the National Society of Arts and Letters have hung their pictures on the ranch's lounge and recreation room. Many artists have donated their original paintings to be auctioned. A large number of writers will be represented with their new books—Green Peyton, Ora Pate Stewart, Margaret Hussey, Lelia McAnally Batie, Em Emery, poet laureate of Louisiana, and others. Oscar J. Fox has donated several records of "Hills of Home," and this number will be sung by Miss Marjorie McClung several times each night. Hollywood and New York have accepted an invitation to attend. One of the most famous "Flying Ls" in the United States, Antonio Sherba, has composed "The Band of the San Antonio Rives," especially for the occasion. Mrs. Sherba is now conducting a two week refresher course at the Sherba Art Studios. Backstage, Park's swimming pools, and like so many other artists, they have found San Antonio the ideal "art center" and expects to maintain a studio there permanently.

Margaret Hasslocher, president of the San Antonio Chapter of the National Society of Arts and Letters will serve as general chairman of events. Others playing important roles in the formation of the plans include Mrs. Jack Lapham, co-chairman, Mrs. William King Alter Naylor, Lelia Schwerer, Bertha Bennett, Mrs. Alex Adams, Mrs. Chester A. Slimp, and others.

The illustrations, programs and posters are in themselves works of art, the design is an original theme by the late Jack Wilson, Sadye Harris has chosen a number of beautiful models to display the beautiful creations designed especially for this event by Chas. Porter, Tina de Kaverete, and other designers, of New York.

DALLAS PLAN RALLY TUESDAY

Dallas, Aug. 29.—The Texas Democrats were preparing Thursday to bring their presidential candidate, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, of South Carolina, to Dallas for an early September rally.

The plan was announced after a conference of States' Rights Democratic leaders here Wednesday.

Palmer Bradley, Houston attorney, said chairmen of the states' rights advisory committee in Texas, and the rally will be "soon after September 1." Dixiecrats will come here from North and East Texas, he said. He said Governor Thurmond's presence would precede Texas' big rally of the year—the state Democratic convention at Fort Worth September 14.

Bradley said the Thurmond Rights ers will control the convention "if the duly elected States' Rights delegates are seated."

Truman Loyalists have given notice that they will contest the election of the three Dixiecrat delegations — those elected in Dallas, Harris and Tarrant counties.

Bradley said "We promise the people that they will in any event be given the opportunity to vote for Strom Thurmond and Fielding Wright (Dixiecrat candidate for vice-president) at the November general election.

Asked if that means the Dixiecrats will set up an independent party in Texas, Bradley replied, "The statement speaks for itself."

The Dixiecrat conference here was attended by Mrs. R. A. Shelton, Dallas, national committeewoman of the State Democratic committee, Mrs. Jack Porter, Jr., Jester and Calvert on the Truman issue.

Others here were former State Sen. Joe Hill, Austin, and Bowden Hall, Temple, state committeeman from the 24th district.

Blazing away at a bird on a telephone wire may break the wire and interrupt important long distance calls.

Last year stray shots put 2,300 telephone wires out of action. That's why we ask:

I help farmers to farm FASTER

I'll show you how to farm faster . . . and better, too . . . if you'll let me demonstrate a new Ford Tractor right on your farm. I'll prove that, with a Ford Tractor, you can keep gaining on your work instead of getting behind. You have no idea how much time you save with Hydraulic Touch Control of implements, new 7-speed transmission and a lot of other advantages this new Ford Tractor has. And, my service is the best. So how about telling me to bring out a Tractor and put on a demonstration? There's no obligation.

Ford TRACTORS

Edens Implement Co.

Center Point, Texas

Mr. Voter . . .

Who are you going to vote for Saturday — a man with a house and lot paying $25 to $40 a year taxes, or a man with 1800 acres and a home who paid $630 taxes to your county last year? Sure, we have to pay taxes, but let's be reasonable. We can't afford an election every month to get a little road and street work done. Elections cost money, and costs are paid by raising taxes. Let's cut down costs and save taxes. Let's be a little more efficient and economical and get more out of the tax dollars we are now paying. Elect a man Saturday with twenty years road experience with heavy machinery. Or do you want to elect a man that cannot start or operate a tractor?

If elected Saturday I will be your commissioner. I won't have some contractor coach me. I won't appoint a contractor to equalize your taxes, and raise them, as was done two years ago.

If elected Saturday I will have equipment on your roads and streets in less than thirty days after I take office, and I will continue to do so each month when necessary.

If elected should I use my tractor and save you taxes, or hire some contractor's equipment at a much higher rate?

BANDERA
THE LURE OF THE VACATIONIST

There's a road that winds over hill and glade where the meadow and woodland are, it is checkered with fleeting sun and shade, and it's calling me from afar. It is calling me still from the walks of men, from the pave of the highway calling "Come into Nature's arms again" where her great heart throbs and beats. Come along with the endless stream of the road and it will lead to the Mecca where the ranks of the vacation can who are met with the morning mists. They are lined in the dusky air, the shadowy soft, they are kissed by the breeze at night, as they go on a journey full of fun, in the gleam of the silvery light. Oh, I long to go from the stifling town, on the road that is calling me, through the fields of wildflowers and waving grass, so I start my car with glee. Then I buy more gas and I oil the wheels that can make the finest time, for I love the love a wanderer feels, and I yearn for the wind and sun, I am stirred by the shade of the forest glen, for the harvest's golden gleam, for a glimpse of far horizon's rim, for the song of the mountain stream. I would turn to the simple life again, to the ways of the early man; I would thrill to the homage of wood and stream, with the ranching caravan! Oh, the lure of the road is sweet and strong, and I start on my way with joy, for I'm on my way to Bandera land, to pleasure without alloy.

THE WEDDING PARTY

By Johnny Fielder

Beginning Sunday, August 22, through Saturday, August 28, the astrologists would find that Slim Stevens was in the house of love and good luck, for during that period "Lover Boy Slim" Stevens met Eunice "Tiny" McClure. They followed each a breathtaking, fast-moving romance that if you would read the story in history, he would probably send it back and say, "I don't believe it."

For the past few years, the sleepy little cowboy town of Bandera, U. S. A., has watched one of its favorite citizens grow into one of the most popular persons in the Southwest. Slim Lover Boy Stevens is the most unforgettable character that any person has ever met.

Slim Stevens was born in Bandera on June 7, 1914. He was raised on his mother's ranch. Mrs. Rose Stevens was the mother of three other children, Smith, Owen, and Ethel Mae.

His mother nicknamed him Slim, and the guests at the Mayan said, "Lover Boy." He is 6 feet 6 inches tall, weighs two hundred pounds, has hazel eyes, is 30 inches in the waist and has an arm length of 23 inches. He is quiet, neat, spoken, slow, easy going typical cowboy. All of the local cowboys had a healthy respect for Slim, and the story goes that he once bet a mule with his brother and the mule went down for the count. It is here, say that Slim never gets excited or mad about anything.

About May 1 of this year, Mr. Bill Morse, owner of the Mayan Ranch, hired Slim Stevens as a dude wrangler and cowboy. One of Slim's duties was to drive the Mayan Ranch wagon into town for the dances. All of the people of Bandera would see Slim drive the Mayan's beautiful team of gray horses down the main street of town every morning. On Sunday, August 22, Slim walked into the Corner Drug Store, which is also the bus station, and said in his Gary Cooper style "Anybody going to the Mayan?" Four young ladies looked up in amazement as they saw Slim, tall, lanky, blue jeans, half-worn out boots, and his Lover Boy floppy Stetson hat. These four young ladies were Miss Bertice Stone, Mrs. Jerry McCullough, Miss Mary Lou Stevenson, and Miss Eunice McClure, all from Houston. According to Slim, it was love at first sight when he looked down at those hot brown eyes of Eunice "Tiny" McClure. He said, "Something just sort of got me."

Eunice "Tiny" McClure is twenty-four years old, and is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton McClure, at 2239 Jackson Street, Houston, Texas. She is employed as a stenographer at the Carman Company in Houston, and was graduated from San Jacinto High School. According to Beatrice Stone McClure's girl friend, Slim first asked Eunice for a date to go to Mansfield Park for the Tuesday night dance. Miss Stone stated that they seemed to be getting along very well and on the following Wednesday they started talking about getting married, but no one seemed to take either of them very seriously. By Friday night, however, the situation seemed to be getting out of hand, and Saturday morning, Slim announced at the breakfast table that he wanted the day off so they could go down into the grocery business. Johnny Fielder, manager of the Mayan Ranch, questioned them and told them that he thought they should wait awhile, especially since they had only known each other for four days, and also until Eunice could have Mrs. Stevens to introduce Slim to her family. However, by ten o'clock Slim had found the Justice of the Peace, Mrs. Johnnie Fleming presented them with a silver service, and Charles H. Leviker gave them a $1,500 tract of land in Bandera Pass. The Pretty Beauty Shop did the bride and matron of honor's free hair-do, and the Bandera Beauty Shop gave us some of a permanent and the groom a haircut. Bill Williams also presented the couple a case of eggs and went to work on the chicken business. Friends were working Monday to raise enough money to buy building material and secure the services of J. L. Harwell, contractor, to build with congratulations and their first of land.

The Western Union lines and telephone lines have been overloaded with congratulations, and the postoffice is trying to lease extra space to take care of the gifts that are coming in from all over the State of Texas and the Southwest.

The Mayan Ranch gave the bride and groom a honeymoon cottage and at this writing we understand the bride and groom are both doing well.

THE AMERICAN LEGION MEMORIAL HOME

Shortly after the United States entered World War II, Ted Nesky, at that time commander of the Bandera American Legion Post, [illegible] suggested the idea of building a Living Memorial in Bandera as a meeting place for the boys who came back from the service, in memory of those who would not return. At that time the American Legion Post had no definite place to meet, and that group of Legionnaires banded together to "make some kind of a place for the boys who would return from World War II and to preserve the memory of those who failed to come back."

A committee was formed to seek donations for this Memorial building, and under the leadership of Ted Nesky, cash donations totaling $3,896.54 were collected and the Bandera County Ranchmen and Farmers Association gave the local post of the American Legion their choice of two valuable lots, and the present site of the Memorial home was selected by the committee. Then the local Post and its Ladies' Auxiliary went to work to raise additional money by giving dances, rodeos, auctions, an ad show and various other kinds of entertainments, and after the fund had gotten to somewhere over $7,500 the Legionnaires voted to go ahead with the building, doing as much as they could with the funds available, and going into debt if necessary so that the Memorial Home would become a reality, and with the idea in mind of having various kinds of entertainments to raise money to pay off their debt. In January, 1948, the Memorial Home was completed and dedicated on January 28. Since then [illegible] has been added and the total cash outlay for construction to date has been $48,506.19, and their remains yet $787.25 in bills for materials to be paid. In addition to the cash outlay and the lot which was donated, there were numerous donations of labor and material, time and effort, all of which is greatly appreciated. In addition to the cash paid by the Legion Post, the Ladies' Auxiliary provided drapes for the windows of the Memorial Home, a stove, sink and steam table for the kitchen, and paid a substantial payment on chairs used in the auditorium. The value of the Memorial Home and annex at this time could be conservatively fixed at $25,000.

The total post and auxiliary have already raised and paid in cash $7,100.35, but they still owe a $5,500 mortgage to the bank and 787.75 in unpaid construction bills. In order to pay these debts, a program committee composed of Wm. E. Cleveland, chairman; John Buchanan, Jack Carter, Ham Chipman, N. B. Coulter, Casey Faris, Eddie Floyd, Frank Montague, E. Marshall Tipton, and Jack Wallace for the Legion, and Mrs. Wallace Browne, chairman; Mrs. Vip Walker, Mrs. Clyde Jones and Mrs. Chas. Hutchinson, for the Auxiliary, has met several times and worked out the following schedule of events for the remainder of this year. They plan to have one dance each month, staggering the dance nights, so as not to have them conflict too often with other local dance nights.

The members of the American Legion Post want to pay off their debt in a business way, earn the money as they go along and not asking for any further donations from the people of the county. The public is welcome at the Memorial Home and its annex at all times. Any other organization, club or private party may use the building by checking the date with Commander Sterling C. Burke, and paying a small charge for utilities and janitor fees.

Your patronage is asked so that the debt can be paid off and this lovely building will always stand for the purpose for which it was intended. Everybody is [illegible]

ENJOY PRESS CONVENTION

The prize winning editorial awarded third prize by the Texas Tourist Association is given below. It was written by Ait-B. Editor and Mrs. Ait B. Schutze have attended the 60th Annual Convention of the Texas Press Association held in San Antonio Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Nearly five hundred newspaper editors, publishers, and their wives registered for the meetings which were in reality refresher courses on how to build a better business, and to produce a better newspaper. Speakers were there from all over the country—Wisconsin, Alabama, Louisiana, Illinois, etc—even one from England—to give their ideas on the various subjects, which were most interesting and instructive.

R. Stanfielbene, Grand Prairie banker and member of the Texas Prison Board was in attendance of the sessions and told the newspaper men about the deplorable conditions that exist in our state penal institutions. He is crusading for $4,200,00 improvement program in the Texas Prison System. He reported on conditions which have bred brutality, self mutilation, sex perversion, and degredation on the various farm units.

Entertainment features consisted of a breakfast, luncheon and buffet supper by the Express Publishing Co. and on Saturday afternoon after spending one full and one half day of exchanging ideas with the speakers, and fellow newspaper publishers of Texas, we threw caution aside and became Dude for the evening high in the hills of Bandera on the Dude Ranches as guests of the Bandera Tourist Association where we were served a barbecue supper, saw a western rodeo and dance. Leaving convention headquarters at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio in char-

ROAD IS PAVED AT LAST!

The longest of the Bandera Road has been completed, and only the erection of the highway signs need to be added before the contractors are ready to turn the farm-to-market road over to the State Highway Department.

The 22 miles of new roadway will open a territory that has long been partially closed, due to rough and dusty roads. The beautiful drive through Bandera Pass is one worthy of travel, and it is expected that many tourists will make the scenic drive from San Antonio through Kerrville, and on to Bandera and San Antonio. The highway in Kerr county has been widened and given a great deal of straightaway, but in Bandera county it is much the same. The stretch of roadway, which made a double S turn on account of the deep ravines, has just been given a topping, and nothing done to straighten the crookedness of the drive. Bowden and Ruby, of San Marcos were the contractors.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

The Decalration of Independence was signed by fifty-six persons, which included twenty-four lawyers, fourteen farmers, nine merchants, four doctors, and one tanner. John Hancock was the first signer, and the second signer was Josiah Bartlett, a New Hampshire physician, who had gained much fame by curing fever with apple cider. The oldest signer of the Declaration of Independence was Benjamin Franklin, who was 70 years of age. The youngest signer was Edward Rutledge of South Carolina, 27 years of age. The last signer was Thomas McKean, of Delaware, who did not add his signature until 1781. The average of all the signatures is that of Button Gwinnett, of Georgia. He was killed in a duel soon after he signed it. This signature of Button Gwinnett, once sold for $51,000.

For a small-town concert, the village blacksmith greeted, and as a compliment to the choir chorus sang "The Village Blacksmith," naturally to enthusiastic applause.

As they got up to respond with an encore, Mr. Longfellow stepped to the leader. "When you sing that again, would you mind pounding in a verse about me repairing bicycles?"

The Bulletin retails for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

Bepse Jackson was painfully injured Saturday when a horse fell with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Brice S. Mayfield and son, Oscar were in San Antonio Monday.

Little Gaylon Coe Wier is sick with scarlet fever as a result of a vaccination for whitlepox.

W. A. Pinnion, of Bandera, was up Tuesday attending a meeting of the Medina Barbecue Club.

Mrs. Bessie Belly Jean Kuhlser and Ethel Kalka, two of the winners in the 4-H Club dress revue, modeled their dresses and were presented with the blue ribbon awards. Twelve girls participated.

Ted stepped out of uniform in May, 1945, and immediately began studying the educational provisions of the G. I. Bill of Rights. He enrolled in a photographic school which was located on Olive street in San Antonio and learned the fundamentals of quite it, "from the darkroom floor up."

After graduating, Ted surveyed the field. The big cities, he observed, had a surplus of photographers and studios already. Competition was keen, prices seemed too low for the investment required. So Ted checked on the situation in a number of small towns. Many of these he found without photographers, but the populations did not warrant the required investment.

The ideal set-up, Ted realized, would be portable equipment. This would permit him to travel from town to town, setting up and moving the studio as required. So Ted bought a Twin Coach transit-type bus, 23 feet long and eight feet wide, and refitted the interior. After that was through clearing out the inside of that bus, there was room for a grin, "nothing remained but the driver's seat."

By careful planning and building, the San Antonio man built a studio on wheels with the darkroom (built large enough for two operators to work in efficiently, a waiting room and loading film, a small waiting room, and a big display cubicle.

This 33-year-old ex-G. I. is particularly proud of his mobile processing laboratory. Because the blacked-out rear portion of the bus, the darkroom has a work bench against the walls on three sides. Equipment includes an enlarger, developing tanks, print driers, and a sink supplied by an outside hose connection. Electricity is likewise "piped" into the photo-studio-on-wheels.

The camera in use has a lens that will permit Ted's taking full-length pictures within the confines of the small studio. Calling his business the "Texas Western Photo Company," Ted hits the road when the spirit moves him, going from town to town, setting up shop and staying in each community as long as he can get customers.

As a growing boy in Texas, Ted went through the usual Boy Brownnie stage. Then, later, as an engineering student at the University of Texas, he further sharpened his interest in photography with the study of the physics laboratory.

He says the acid test of his photographic inventiveness came when he was stationed in Manila. "I inherited a home-made contact printing box, some outdated printing paper, and an assortment of chemicals," he recounts. "In time I built three enlargers from Japanese gunsights and other assorted junk. Then the fun began. From all sides I was bombarded with work. When orders came for me to ship out, I was making pictures for the whole battalion and the near-by Red Cross clubs."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert (Talney) Towns, of Waco, visited Mr. and Mrs. Karl Kutzer and children Tuesday and Wednesday of last week.

Working on the theory that if the customer won't come to the photo studio, one of the educational studios should go to tehe customer, L. M. "Ted" Gary—a San Antonio, Texas ex-G. I. Club dress revue, modeled their dresses and were presented with the blue ribbon awards. Twelve girls participated.

Mrs. E. A. Johnson was elected as county T. H. D. A. chairman. She will attend the State T. H. D. A. meeting in Temple October 14-16. The other delegate to attend is Mrs. Paul Garrison, with Mrs. Gus Evans as alternate, and Mrs. Jack Graham as second alternate.

The group voted to send $10.00 to help pay for printing an adopt. of T. H. D. A. song book.

Mrs. E. A. Johnson, recreation chairman, conducted the recreation, Mrs. Paul Garrison being the winner of the afternoon.

The meeting automatically adjourned.—Reporter.

DRUGS
WHEN LINCOLN & HART SUPPLIED DRUGS

Citizens of Bandera, back in the 1880's bought their drugs from Lincoln & Hart's drug store on the corner of Tenth and Cedar Streets. You could drop into that early day apothecary shop and buy Lydia E. Pinkham's pink pills or Humford's Acid Phosphate. You could get Cardui, Black Draught, Alcock's Porous Plasters, quinine, sarsaparilla, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Buckley's Arnica Salve, and Hell for Screen Worms. You could get compound your prescriptions or sell you patent medicines, and on the other side of the house you could buy cigars, smoking tobacco, or candy and chewing gum. No ice cold drinks, no air-cooled quarters, or electric fans. But you did get service with a smile and just now your friends are starting to swap community gossip. The old Lincoln & Hart establishment was a real asset to Bandera in those days.

The Corner Drug Store invites you to drop in when you are in town. Our fountain serves cold drinks and the best of everything during these hot days. Our supply of drugs and druggists' sundries is complete.

Ranch Hands Again Corral Broncos

Sunday before a large crowd of approximately 400 Bandera Ranch Hands spotted the Comfort Broncs a two run lead in the first two innings and then battled back to slug out twelve hits and defeat the visitors by the score of 9 to 6. Jimmie Hand, though troubled by wildness, held the hard hitting Broncos to six hits, fanned 12 and allowed two earned runs. From the press box it appeared that Jimmie had more stuff than he has displayed any time this season, and, lacking a fine game, Hand was extremely active in the fielding department, throwing out six batters at first on ground balls. An unusual feature of the game was the fact that only two Ban-dera fielders were credited with any assists, they being Hand and Pitcher Bill Boechert.

Comfort tallied one in the first inning on four hits. Skeeter Par-ris walked, stole second while Hand was fanning Jimmie Hen-drix, and scored on Curtis Hen-drix' single.

Bandera came back in the sec-ond with a walk, was sacrificed to second by Hand and then scored on Parker Bell's single. Parris singled to left and Bell scored on the left fielder fumbling the ball. Hand to third, both runners moving up a base on a wild throw by Walton. Jimmie Hen-drix struck out, but Hand scored on the left fielder fumbling the ball. Parris stole second and Bell scored on Curtis Hendrix' single to left field, which the left fielder touched after a terrific fly to left field, which the left fielder touched after a terrific fly to left field, which the left fielder touched after a terrific fly

Thanks!

For Your Kind Patronage, Friends!

Each week I have had the pleasure of greeting many more of my old customers. Also a number of new ones.

By the way, what about those broken tools and items around the house that you have been putting off having repaired or broken appliances and radios that you have been putting off having fixed? How about that lawn mower, or lack of power on any other appliance that has gone sick?

Due to other activities I do not stay in the shop all the time. But if you have any of the above items that you want repaired, just leave them there and phone me at home, or at the Longhorn Cafe, and I will be glad to come and get them. I am always glad to do business either at home or in the shop. If you desire to deliver what is going to be repaired to my home, I will be glad to do it. If you desire me to call and get it, just get in touch with me before I do so.

Try those of you who do not know where I am—come by the old Hugh Matlock home, directly between the Highway Service Station on the north and the Longhorn Cafe on the south. I live across the street from the garage.

CONTEST LIKELY AS CUPP SENATE RACE RESULT

Speculation mushroomed Monday after Senator Lyndon Cupp's nomination for Governor would be contested, and that Governor would not immediately resign to campaign. Governor Beauford Jester Monday whether former Gov. Coke R. Stevenson would go to Washington. The Democratic state executive committee meets at Fort Worth a week and certify the winner of Texas' most dramatic election in history.

With that meeting approaching in unofficial tabulations, only 162 votes separated Cupp and Stevenson, these was more and more speculation in political circles that the committee's tabulation would not be accepted as final by the latter.

That, apparently, would be Stevenson. Johnson had the 162-vote margin in the Texas Election Bureau's final tabulation, issued Saturday night. It was an unofficial report, but it was based on returns from all counties, and more than 163 of them were figures reported by the bureau as official.

Both candidates had conferred with Gov. Beauford H. Jester. None of them—Jester, Johnson, or Stevenson—would supply any details. A spokesman for the governor said Jester was interested, but "just listening" now.

LADIES' LEARN TO SWIM CLASS CLOSES

The Red Cross supervised lessons for ladies' swimming class on Friday, August 30th. Tabs were given Freida Crowell and certificates were awarded to Mrs. Don Callahan, Mrs. Bernice Hall, Mrs. Ben Graham, Jr., and Miss Anna Belle Taylor.Mrs. Bonnie Hall assisted Gene George in the saving and water safety, and will receive that certificate and bluefish from headquarters in St. Louis.—Miss Taylor will receive the senior lifesaving and water safety certificate as soon as she has completed more hours under Red Cross rules.

After the close of the work, the ladies complimented the class with coffee and cake in honor of Mrs. and Mrs. Hoyt, and in appreciation of their kindness and help in allowing the use of Oakwood Courts pool. Cake was in charge of Mrs. R. T. Huebner and Mrs. James Langham, with Misses Ellen Louise Brent and Nancy Dine Browne assisting.

The local chapter, American Red Cross, is very pleased with the fact that the class just closing has enjoyed the swimming instruction personnel materially, as both Miss Anna Belle Taylor and Mrs John Buchanan, Jr., are now qualified to take an instructor's course, and will be ready to the first such class held by Red Cross in this vicinity, probably either at Kerrville or San Antonio. The chapter desires to thank those who so kindly assisted in making the class such a success.

WOMAN KILLED AT BOERNE

Eddie Brown was fatally apprehended by the sheriff's posse after being arrested for the shooting of Mrs. Eddie Brown, 11, miles east of Boerne. He was captured near where the shooting occurred, 11 miles east of Boerne. Mrs. Brown, who was shot through the neck with a 32 caliber rifle bullet while sitting in her windpipe, was rushed to Boerne, where she received medical attention, the highway patrol reported. She died later that night.

Sheriff Wilbur Edge, and Hwy. Patrolmen J. C. Cooper and G. W. Burnup, of Boerne, and Ranger Clinton D. Peoples, of Austin, began combing the underbrush in the vicinity of the shooting. They found the suspect in a brush covered pasture, and called to him to surrender. He fussed a .32 caliber foreign-manufactured automatic into the hands of Sheriff Edge said, without hesitation. Sheriff Edge said, Brown is being held in the Kendall county jail and we are informed a murder charge will be filed against him.

The all-night manhunt began shortly after Mrs. Brown was shot, when the highway patrol in Boerne and rushed to Boerne for emergency treatment. Unable to obtain blood hounds Kendall county Sheriff William B. Edge, and Hwy. Patrolmen J. C. Cooper and G. W. Burnup, of Boerne, and Ranger Clinton D. Peoples, of Austin, began combing the underbrush in the vicinity of the shooting. They found the suspect in a brush covered pasture, and called to him to surrender. He fussed a .32 caliber foreign-manufactured automatic into the hands of Sheriff Edge said, without hesitation. Sheriff Edge said, Brown is being held in the Kendall county jail and we are informed a murder charge will be filed against him.

NUDE WOMAN TAKES SUN BATH ON CAPITOL

Washington, Sept. 3—Willet Linnett is a bookbinder in the Senate library and a calm man. So he didn't lose his head when a well-stacked nude climbed out on the capitol roof in front of his office window at 7:30 this morning and stripped down to her skin. He asked her what she was doing. She said she wanted to rest and take a sun bath.

Linnett, an elderly man, then said she couldn't do that. The brunette—he said she looked about 30—replied that she'd do it.

The bookbinder crawled out on the roof and tried to persuade her to put her clothes on. She refused, but she did pick up her vanity case and lipstick and carefully retouched her make-up. While they talked, the brunette took her pocketbook, walked to the railing and started tossing its contents to the steps of the capitol, 100 feet below. She then stretched out on the roof and basked nonchalantly in the sun. Linnett pleaded. She ignored him. By now a large crowd of brunette had had about an hour of sun bathing and the bookbinder's problem was wearing thin. He telephoned to capitol police for reinforcements.

"There's a woman up here who's acting suspicious," he informed the law. Later, he confided to reporters:

"I didn't take my eyes from her the whole time. I was afraid she might jump."

It took a little while for two patrolmen to arrive. They peered over the railing and finally coaxed the woman to get back inside the capitol. But they had no more luck than the book binder in getting her to dress. They were still brooding over the problem when a painter who had been working in the corridor came along. He took one brunette and put her in her pocket. The patrolmen removed her to Gallinger hospital for observation. But they said she seemed perfectly rational and apparently had no intention of jumping off the roof. They said she gave her name as Dorothy P. Smith, Malone, N. Y., and that she came here to work for the government.

Doing business without advertising is like winking at a girl in the dark. You know what you are doing, but no one else does.

Friday, September 10, 1948

There's going to be a row up at Fort Worth next week when the Democratic Convention is held. The States Rights wing will contend for their rights, and the members will try to bend the party back to the old basis for States rights and against the Federal encroachment. We are first, last, and all the time for States rights.

For more than a quarter of a century the entire of the Bulletin has been gathering, and publishing the history of Bandera county. We regret to note that certain individuals have been "garbling and distorting some of the historical material we have published in our program, and some cynical jester finds much humor in the mistakes and the misinformation.

Recently it was discovered that a man had been passed out from Bandera county as a veteran of the Texas Revolution. He was not even born in Texas, and he was not in the Texas Revolution. We want to warn historians who are in the future to be careful in checking that record to observe the name and birth date of the person being served. Several mistakes have occurred within the past week—all of which have been caught before the press started.

The county commissioners should provide a room outside the politics for the voting booth. It is a crying shame that aged people, or cripples, have to stand in the heat while others are in the shade per story to cast their vote on the ballot. The room should be large enough to seat distance markers. Thermometers should be placed, the state convention of States Rights Democrats will be held in Dallas, Texas, on an almost voting place. Every effort should be made to facilitate the voting. And if possible a polling booth should be placed in each of the four school districts in the county. Then the people would not have to run to or be driven to the county seat to vote. They could vote at the school where they now cast their ballots. It's a matter your government should be handled as near to the people as possible. That is one of the principles of democracy. There are many drawbacks to the present system of a polling place and the county commissioners have the authority to so decide. Let's get after them. The election shall be held.

STATES' RIGHTERS MEET AT DALLAS

Texas Governor Jim Allred, former governor, presidential candidate of the States' Rights Democrats, arrived in Dallas last Sunday, declaring victory for his party in the November election is assured.

Thurmond came to Dallas for the state convention of States' Rights Democrats which opened at 1:30 p. m. in Fair Park Auditorium. That one of the purposes of providing juice is called open to consider two cheers with a bullet was the main order of business.

Thurmond said "we have had enough of the bunk of the politicians who have been selling out the bonds of the polling place, but think we will vote at the polls. We States and possibly Indiana will be the only states to go for Thurmond," he said.

Allred declared confidently that the party's state of Thurmond will be President and the Dallas Wright of Mississippi Vice President will be on the general ticket. Allred is a southern democrat, and a few others.

Located up on Delightful Hill, at the edge north of the county court house in Bandera, is Frontier Times Museum, open every day in the week, except Sunday mornings, where to our town may see the greatest collection of relics of the frontier, articles, antiques, and other interesting things. In this museum there are more than 30,000 items,-gathered from many sections, but mostly from Texas. In the collection are relics from South America, relics from India, relics from far corners of the earth, but most interesting of all are the relics of early Texas. Frontier Times is without question the greatest museum in the South, privately owned. The hundreds of visitors there are amazed to find in this little Cowboy Town of Bandera the wonderful array of interesting things that greet them on every hand. Frontier Times Museum, built of native Fieldstone at a cost of $25,000, fronts 100 feet on Thirteenth Street and 60 feet on Pecan Street, and contains about 4,000 square feet of floor space. There are three large rooms full of relics, conveniently arranged for inspection. Among these interesting things will be found a beautifully carved chair, four hundred years old, from the Doge's Palace in Venice, Italy; a reincarnation plate from the great temple to Krishna, built in 1529 B. C., in Benares, India; a Persian tray of hand-hammered brass, more than 500 years old; a collection of 400 bells from many lands; a shrunken human head from Ecuador; old typewriters, phonographs, music boxes, ox-yokes, trundle beds, guns, pistols, swords, candle molds, churns, spinning wheel, shaving horse, mounted birds, flint arrows, garden tools, photographs of outlaws, Texas Rangers, Indians, frontier characters; and many other subjects. No matter whether you are interested in archaeology, geology, ornithology, botany, or whatever you may fancy, you will find it in Frontier Times Museum.

JUSTICE DEPARTMENT TO PLAY PRIMARY POLITICS

Austin, Sept. 9.—The Dallas News says Atty. Gen. Tom Clark's investigation of charges of improper political influence in the Democratic primary election in Texas, "Can" well after receiving reports from Houston and other points in the state." The News says in a story from Washington by Walter C. Hurlbutt of its Washington Bureau.

"The investigation will be the first step in determining whether a federal grand jury should be convened to consider possible indictments of the persons involved, the News says.

Atty. Gen. Alexander Campbell, head of the criminal division, said an immediate study of complaints will be made by the election fraud section, headed by Abbott Rossen.

"Messages received by Clark mentioned Duvall, Cain, Wade Ellis, and Eastland as counties where checks should be made," Campbell said there were other counties listed.

"Among the signers of telegraphic complaints were the Houston Chronicle; Lama Fleming, Jr., J. Leonard Davidson, and Andrew Jackson Gray, all of Houston, Clark said.

"After receiving a report from his election fraud section, Campbell said he will instruct the United States attorneys of the districts in which the counties involved are located to make a thorough but speedy investigation.

"After the United States attorneys report, I will determine whether to present the matter to a federal grand jury, Campbell said.

"Clark and Campbell both expressed hope that determination whether sufficient evidence exists to warrant a grand jury probe. They pointed out that the federal government can not bring criminal actions except in cases of conspiracy to violate the election laws.

Lyndon Johnson, representative from the 10th Texas Congressional district, and run for Gov. Coke Stevenson were opponents in the Senate race.

With but three precincts to be reau stopped its unofficial tabulations, Johnson was leading Stevenson by 162 votes.

The state Democratic executive committee is to canvass the election vote officially in Fort Worth September 15.

STATES' RIGHTS DEMOCRATS ORGANIZE TEXAS PARTY

Dallas, Sept. 9.—Texas' States' Rights Democrats organized the Texas States' Rights party of Texas Wednesday, and named Gov. Jim Allred, Houston, as its presidential candidate. They nominated Gov. Fielding L. Wright, Mississippi, for vice president. They flamed 23 electors pledged by a loyalty pledge to the States' Rights party. Curtis Douglass, of Pampa, was elected registrar of the new party's state executive committee. Mrs. Beth Smith, of Cameron, was named vice-chairman, and Bowden Bond, of Fairfield, secretary. The convention adjourned, by acclamation an eight-point declaration of principles as the party's platform.

Clinton Winn, of Dallas, nominated Thurmond for president. Charles T. Thompson, of McAllen, a former Mississippian, nominated Wright. The convention directed that all things legal be done to certify to the secretary of state of the new party's list of electors.

A committee to direct the Thurmond-Wright campaign in Texas was named. On it are Marion Church, of Dallas, Doug Allen, Palmer Bradley Jr., of Houston, Joe Wheeler, of Jacksonville, and Sidney Van Zandt, of Fort Worth.

The States Rights nominees are the same to whom States' Rights Democrats are giving allegiance elsewhere.

Dudley Hanson attorney called the statewide convention of Texas States' Rights Democrats to order at 2 p. m., 30 minutes later than scheduled.

He read the call for the meeting for the convention. He delivered the keynote speech, saying the convention purpose was to see that Texas voters had a chance to vote for Thurmond and Wright.

"We seek no cheap political advantage. All we want is that the people shall have the right to speak something the powers of Texas has refused to let them do," said Bradley.

He said "If we lose the right to govern ourselves all else thinks into insignificance.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
One Great American Trait
I always think it does a newspaper editor good to get out from behind his desk and see how folks in other parts of America look, and think, and act.
And that's what I've been doing these past weeks, touring the country from Michigan to Texas, California to Maine. It's a mighty encouraging experience. Not only because of the different points of view you run into—but because of the tolerance which reconciles these different points of view.
I mean the tolerance of a Pennsylvania farmer for the habits of his city cousin; the tolerance of folks who vote one way towards those who vote another; the tolerance of those who prefer spring water towards those who enjoy a moderate beverage like beer.
From where I sit, it's that great American trait of tolerance—respect for individual tastes and liberties—that makes this country strong. Let's never lose it!

HOLIDAY TOLL REACHES 336

Chicago, sept. 6—The death toll from holiday accidents soared today as numbers of Americans packed up their vacation equipment and headed for home.

A United Press survey showed that 256 persons have been killed since Friday night in the midsummertime fling over the Labor Day weekend. The total included 220 traffic deaths, 16 drownings and 20 deaths from miscellaneous mishaps.

Traffic deaths made the sharpest gains and safety officials feared the toll would spurt in the late parts of homeward traffic.

Last year the Labor Day holiday claimed 456 lives, including 272 in traffic, 70 drownings and 214 in miscellaneous accidents.

Texas led the states with 30 dead, followed by California with 29 and North Carolina with 25. They were followed by New York state with 19 and Michigan with 18.

Holiday week-end accidents and violence cost the lives of at least 31 Texans by Monday night, a United Press survey showed.

Of the total, 11 died in highway mishaps. Seven persons died in shootings. A plane crash at San Antonio killed three, as did a roominghouse fire at Wichita Falls.

Two persons drowned and the remainder of the holiday victims died in miscellaneous accidents and suicides.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY MET

The American Legion Auxiliary met Wednesday, September 1, for their regular monthly meeting. There were 17 members present. Plans were made for the November 11th celebration, which will include Bazaar, fishing pond, bingo, fortune telling booths, needlework booths, home cooked cakes and pies booth, dance and barbecue. Plans for the September 21st dance were discussed, after which the meeting adjourned, the Auxiliary joined the Legion in the main Hall, and the entire group immensely enjoyed two films distributed by the War Department—one on San Pietro and the other on Casino.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, September 18, 1922, published by Mrs. Zerelda Hunter.)

Bandera High School opened Monday morning with a full faculty present. Mrs. Barker of San Antonio is principal and Miss Donna Frickberg, Miss Evelyn Collins, Miss Hallie Pruckner and Miss Laura Mae Thetford are assistants. School starts off with a very encouraging prospect, and it is freely predicted that the term will be successful in every way.

Howard Eckhart will leave next week for College Station, where he will enter the A. & M. College.

Roscoe Hayes has gone to Pleasanton to enter school at that place.

Delbert Hicks and sister, Mrs. Lee Mansfield, went to San Antonio, Sunday, returning Monday.

Will Hatfield of Medina, has accepted the principalship of the Turpley school and entered upon his duties there Monday.

Miss Jennie Kirkland and Miss Mary Moore, popular school marms of the Medina community, were here Friday, returning home from the teachers' institute at San Antonio.

W. B. Fletcher and son, Claude, made a business trip to Melvin last week. While there they were the guests of John Smith, a former citizen of this county.

Master John and Marion Smith left this county several years ago and resided at Melvin, where they have prospered.

Miss Sue Carpenter, of Tuff, Miss., arrived in point of time to visit Miss Mildred Rouse of San Antonio, were visitors at the New Era sanctum Monday. These young ladies were on their way to San Antonio, where Miss Sue Carpenter will probably secure a position as a telephone operator. Miss Anna Carpenter is telephone operator in the Uvalde office.

Mrs. Francis Rogers, our post mistress, returned yesterday from San Antonio, where she had been in a hospital for three weeks following an operation. She has fully recovered and will resume her duties at the postoffice, which during her absence has been conducted by her assistant, Joe Jurecshi.

HOLIDAY TOLL REACHES 236

Chicago, sept. 6.—The death toll from holiday accidents warned Monday assumions of Americans packed up their vacation, equipment and headed for home.

A United Press survey showed that 236 persons have been killed since Friday night in the last summertime fling over the labor day week-end. That total included 220 traffic fatalities.

Drownings and burns from miscellaneous mishaps.

Traffic deaths made the sharpest gains, and safety officials feared the toll would spurt in the periods of homeward traffic.

Last year the Labor Day holiday claimed 410 victims, including 272 in traffic, 70 drownings and 114 in miscellaneous accidents.

Texas led the states with 30 killed, followed by California with 29 and North Carolina with 25. They were followed by New York, state with 19 and Michigan with 15.

Holiday week-end accidents and violence rose the lives of at least 51 Texans by Monday night, a United Press survey showed.

Of the total, 11 died in highway mishaps. Seven persons died in shootings. A plane crash at San Antonio killed three, and did a roomninghouse fire at Wichita Falls.

Two persons drowned and the remainder of the holiday victims died in miscellaneous accidents and suicides.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY MET

The American Legion Auxiliary met Wednesday night, September 7, for their regular monthly meeting. There were 9 members present. Plans were made for the November 11th celebration, which will include Dunlap, fish, pig pond, bingo, fortune telling booths, needlework booths, home cooked cakes and pies booth, dance and barbecue. Plans for the September 21st dance were also discussed. After the meeting adjourned, the Auxiliary joined the Legion in the main Hall, and the entire group immensely enjoyed two films showing scenes of the War Department—one on San Pietro and the other on Cassino.

BANDERA'S FIRST WATERWORKS SYSTEM

The paving of some of Bandera's streets is a long step forward in this city's progress. It is hoped that it will continue until all of our streets are put in excellent condition. As Bandera grows the demand for paving increases. Just picture if you can, what these streets were in the days when all traffic moved along roads which were not graded streets, without waterworks, sewage disposal system, or any other utilities. Our present water supply system was obtained from the river, when water was hauled in barrels on carts and peddled to the householders. Then some genius, a man named Noll, who put in a waterworks system, the reservoir being a dirt tank near the school house, and the water mains were made of cement and extended over the town. But because many of the portions would not, or did not, function properly, by the end of 1939 month, the system was a failure, and often today when conversations are made bits of these old cement water mains are dug up and displayed as a great curiosity.

Bulldogs and Hot Wells in Opener

Friday night at 8 o'clock Coach Otho Love will trot out his 22 man squad when the strong Hot Wells team, of San Antonio, Coach Leon Gregston, sets the ball. He has been working his boys hard and long for more than three weeks, and the 1948 Bulldog team bids fair to give a good account of itself. Coach Love has been faced with a tough task in this his first year at Bandera. Not only has he had to build from his material, but the boys were not familiar with the type of play. However if team spirit and hard work are any indication, the fate of Bandera will see a hard fighting, aggressive and hustling ball club this season, a team that will get stronger as the season progresses and will win its share of the games.

The school band, under the direction of Bandy Carroll, will be on hand to make its first appearance of the season, together with the pep squad and majorettes.

A. & M. Club to Sponsor Game

All proceeds from the last baseball game to be played by the Bandera Hands this year, will be added to the A. & M. Club Scholarship fund, it was announced Wednesday by members of the team and the A. & M. Club. The game, which will be played on next Sunday afternoon, September 19, will be with the Union 694 team, of San Antonio, one of the best teams in Texas. Last year this club played only in the finals by a Dallas team, Charlie Gaebe has announced that Jimmie Hand will pitch for the Bandera Hands. Game time is 2:30 p. m. Cowboy Baseball Park.

Through arrangements made with the team and the American Legion Post, all the proceeds from the game will be added to the A. & M. Club Scholarship fund. Local fans are assured of one of the best games of the season.

Tourist Association Met at O. S. T.

Mrs. Katie Love, owner of the O. S. T. Cafe, was hostess to the members of the Bandera Tourist Association Monday night. The routine of a regular business meeting was broken by the serving of refreshments during the evening, and by the serving of coffee and sweet rolls at the termination of the business session.

Final plans were made for the big Bandera Round-Up Dance to be held at the Olmos Club in San Antonio on Friday.

Gloria Shiner, our Bandera girl who has been chosen Bandera Girl for the Gene Autry Rodeo at Madison Square Garden, and Scoop Price, our Bandera boy who has earned the State Championship in roping, were present at the meeting. The Association members know that Bandera is in good fortune in having two such attractive and talented young people as consorts of Santa Claus, and feel that with such "breaks" as this, the part of all Bandera will earn its fame as a cowboy and cowgirl center, and as a vacationland.

Gloria Shiner Selected "Ranch Girl" for Madison Square Garden

If that is a tear in her horse's eye, we don't blame him. We'd be sad, too, at parting from such an attractive partner as Gloria Shiner. We presume that Gloria is telling "Hot Rod" goodbye — but goodbye is not forever, and that she really isn't a Crying Cowgirl anymore.

Last spring Gloria was one of three Bandera cowgirls chosen to be "Flying" Cowgirls, representing the Frog State of Bandera (Texas), at Cowtown, when Bill Hanley's cowtown "stampeded" in the form of the Texas Centennial. Last week President Truman chose to approve a cowboy's request that the state reserve a holiday for the long deserving and unrecognized cowboy "Zeke" being the cowboy who made himself a public figure in trying to do something worthwhile for struggling youth — the fellow cowboys. Gloria and the three other beautiful Bandera cowgirls, who were chosen by popular vote, toured the country in Zeke's plane, piloted by Zeke's wife, spreading good will among Mayors and their citizens to come join in the fun at the Bandera Stampede and Rodeo. Now another signal honor has come to Gloria in having been selected as one of three girls in the United States to be "Ranch Girls" at the Gene Autry's World's Championship Rodeo at Madison Square Garden, New York, September 25 through October 3. "Hill Billy" will not accompany Gloria because Gene Autry's associates, producers of the Garden Rodeo, furnish horses — once the end farewell. The Free State of Bandera doesn't care whether Gloria uses plane, train, or burro, as long as she comes back to Zeke and the other citizens of this stampeding populace, after she has distinguished the beautiful Texas girls can also do.

361 Pupils Enrolled in Bandera School

The Bandera Public Schools are in full swing with the largest enrollment in its history. 361 pupils are enrolled and meeting classes regularly. Several new subjects have been added to the course of study. Bandera is being taught to all pupils from the third grade through the eighth. MRS. TOM [illegible] BURIED SUNDAY
Mrs. Tom [illegible] Sunday afternoon at the First Methodist church, for Mrs. Tom Holdsworth, 75, who died late Saturday night at her home on the Fredericksburg Road. Rev. Harvey Jones, pastor of the Bandera church, assisted. Mrs. Tom Brabham, pastor of the Methodist church in Comfort, conducted the services. Burial was in Glen Rest, under the direction of the Smith Funeral Home.

She was a native of Hay . . . county, age at the time a young lady had moved to Crystal City. She was born Ovilla Rose until her marriage to Mr. Holdsworth, which was solemnized in Crystal City. The family moved to Kerrville 36 years ago, and established their home on the Fredericksburg Road.

A quiet, gentle woman, she was devoted to her family and her home, and by her gracious hospitality, her keen insight, and her genuine interest in other people, she won an admiring wife and mother and a beloved friend. She was apelete in her choice of friends, and enjoyed reading with her grandchildren and their playmates as much as discussing her favorite poems and the classics with the older people. She joined the Methodist church in early childhood and remained staunch in her faith and loyalty to its creeds as long as she lived.

A few years ago her vision became impaired so that she was not able to read as she had done for many years, but she quickly readjusted her life to this handicap, and but few intimate friends and members of her family realized the change. She was possibly the best read woman in this section of the country, and her choice of books and reading matter was varied and interesting. It was a pleasure for friends to discuss current literature with her.

Special music for the services Sunday afternoon was a solo, "Abide With Me," sung by her grandson, Howard Butt, Jr., of San Antonio. "The Lord's Prayer," by Malott, which was sung by Gerald Langford, of Bandera, and the quartet "Lead Kindly Light," sung by Mrs. C. M. Pfeiffer, Mrs. Howard E. Butt, Mrs. Francis Sample, and John Lenard. Mrs. Otis Seth served as the organist.

The massed of beautiful flowers which had been sent by friends and rance. were silent tributes of the love and esteem in which she was held in the hearts of her friends. The last concourse of cars which wended its way to Glen Rest, many of whom had come from long distances, were another tribute of the love and esteem with which this good woman was held.

She is survived by six children, Kirk and Robert Holdsworth, of Mid city; Mrs. Roy Hollar, Abilene; Mrs. Howard E. Butt, Corpus Christi; Miss Willie Mae, of Fort worth, Austin, and Mrs. Dean Wilson, Beeville; one brother, Sam Ross, of Arkansas; and one mother, Mrs. William Ottenhouse, of Batesville; one sister, Mrs. J. C. Day, Crystal City; and nine grandchildren also survive.

The pallbearers were grandsons and nephews, and were Howard E. Butt, Jr., Robert Holdsworth, Jr., Kirk Holdsworth, IV, Burt Holdsworth, J. O. Garrett, Fort Worth; James Day and John Holdsworth, Crystal City.

Out-of-town relatives and friends who were here for the rites were Mrs. A. B. Langford, Gerald Langford, Mrs. R. F. Langford, Jr., and Frank Braden, Jr., Hardeman; Mr. and Mrs. Morris Steed and children, Mrs. Leroy Cohen and Alice Jo Cohen, Victoria; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Armbrust, Mrs. Felix McBeyBobstown; Mrs. Felix McBeyGoldsmith, Beaumont; Carl Brunner and Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Garrett, Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Gardner and family, Corpus Christi; Natalie, Misses Ann, Louise and Jimmy Paysinger, of Beeville; Mrs. E. Holdsworth, Miss Evelyn Holdsworth, Ernest and John Holdsworth, Mrs. J. C. Day and James R. Day, of Crystal City; Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Carr, Brady; Mrs. Dallas Jordan, Dallas; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Elder, Laredo; Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Eden, Dr. James Knight, Miss Ellen Knight, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Pfluger, Austin; Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Everitt, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hoffman, Mr. and Miss Ernest Hoffman, Elston Langford, San Antonio, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McCrocky, Mr. and Mrs. John Wood, M. H. Reasoner, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ault, all of Corpus Christi.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

The visitors who was examining the claw asked: "Can any little boy tell me what a full set is made of?"

One boy jumped to his feet eagerly. "Yes, ma'am," he volunteered. "It's made of a lot of little holes tied together with a string."

STATE FAIR AT DALLAS
Dallas, Sept. 15—Heading like a barometer of good times and tidy attendance records of the State Fair of Texas are a true reflection of the continued growth and prosperity of the Southwest over the last three decades.

A 47-day State Fair season has announced that nine times since 1918 State Fair attendance has exceeded the one million mark. These years were 1919, 1920, 1927, 1928, 1939, 1940, 1941, 1946, and 1947. These figures do not include 1935-37, the years of the Centennial and Pan American Exposition. No Fair was held during the war years of 1918, and 1942 through 1945.

Texas' greatest rise in attendance figures since the dark depression days of 1930 came only 473,327 visited the Fair, until the record breaking total of 1,736,921 last year, indicates that the State Fair this year might well establish a new million mark for the first time in its 63-year history.

Foreseeing this possibility officials and directors of the State Fair have spent $3,000,000 to improve and expand facilities to accommodate the record breaking throngs.

High on the list of improvements in the Fair's new $800,000 Automobile, Aviation and Recreation Building, where the largest automobile show ever to be held in the South will open October 9.

Also on that date, the $1,280,000 reconstruction and enlargement job on the famous Cotton Bowl will be unveiled to spectators at the University of Texas vs. University of Oklahoma football game.

Texas youngsters will flock to the new $75,000 Kiddie Town, a junior sized railway for children's delight. Visitors everywhere will find the 187-acre exposition grounds expanded and improved. Increased rest room facilities, parking areas, lighting and benches have been provided for the comfort of the huge crowds expected during the Fair, a record-breaking year of business in the South-west.

A number of special days for children have been included on the Fair's calendar for the big Fair of Texas, October 9-24. David Lipscomb, famous movie juvenile star of the Fair, has announced.

For the benefit of the crippled children of Texas, Thursday, October 14, has been designated as Crippled Children's Day," Mr. Mims said.

Thousands of school children will flock to the Fair on Grammar School Day, Friday, October 15. Arrangements are being made with school officials and superintendents to release students from their classes on this day to visit the Fair.

High school youth throughout the state will be honored Friday, October 22. Highlight of this event will be a Cotton Bowl gridiron clash between Wichita Falls and Highland Park high teams.

Some 60,000 4-H Club boys and girls, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers will meet at the Fair Saturday, October 16, to celebrate the annual Youth Day in State Fair History. State Fair Honor Awards will be presented 50 outstanding boys and girls at a special luncheon to be held on this day.

Crippled Negro children of Dallas county have been invited to attend the Fall on Grammar School Day, October 15.

The Junior Negro Achievement Day program will be held Monday, October 11, with a parade, numerous contests and musical concerts scheduled. A football game between Lincoln and Houston Negro high schools will be played in the Cotton Bowl at 8 p. m.

Negro Rural Youth Day will be Monday, October 18. Honor Awards will be presented during ceremonies to be held at 6 p. m. at the Hall of Negro Life. Cotton Bowl football games are scheduled, Washington vs. Lincoln, at 2 p. m., and Prairie View vs. Wiley College at 8 p. m.

Queen Victoria was visiting an English town one day on a tour of inspection with the Princess of Battenberg. They were accompanied by the local mayor and his young wife. When they were asked to sign the visitor's book, as one of their stops, as was her custom, the Queen wrote in the one word, Victoria. The Princess followed with Beatrice. The mayor's wife hesitated the merest part of a second, then she wrote Jane.

Friday, September 17, 1948

Some thirty-five years ago, there was a song which became very popular under the title of "Let the Women Do It." The theme seems to have taken hold, for today the women are doing the work in many professions, particularly in the newspaper field. Here in the Hill Country three outstanding newspapers are owned and operated by women: The Kerrville Mountain Sun, by Mrs. Lloyd Hall; the Comfort News, by Mrs. George Bellows, and the Bandera Bulletin, by Mrs. John Cutler. We people with pride to the excellence of these three weeklies, and hold them up as three of Texas' best newspapers.

The Hondo Anvil-Herald operates on a semi-weekly basis, but only because the county seat is not a daily city. It calls attention to the fact that $1250 will appropriated for the county judge and by commissioners' court for expenses to the Judges and County Attorneys' convention at Rogers April 22-23, 1948, and that $200 was appropriated, and $300 for another convention at Laredo in June, and $200 for expenses to a convention at Corpus Christi last May, making a total of $1000 spent or going to conventions during the year. The Hondo Anvil-Herald pertinently asks its Medina county readers: "What were your taxes last year?"

BANDERA'S BIG ATTRACTION

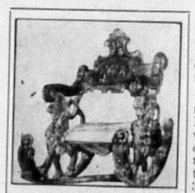
For many years we have gathered historical relics and material. "Taking records of the past out of Time's careless keeping" and bringing them to your recollection is what this great museum is doing, thus preserving history that would otherwise be lost.

30,000 Relics and Curios Are On Display

Relics of Texas and the West, of South America, of Europe and the Orient, assembled here for you to see. A priceless collection gathered from many lands.

FRONTIER TIMES MUSEUM IN BANDERA

The Greatest Museum in the South



406-year old chair from the Doge's Palace. In Frontier Times Museum

In this Cowboy Town of Bandera there is plenty of recreation and enjoyment for all who come to spend a vacation at our dude ranches. Horseback riding, swimming, boating, hiking, rodeos, barbecues, dancing, and all of the pleasures that visitors may desire.

Located up on Delightful Hill, just two blocks north of the county court house in Bandera, is Frontier Times Museum, open every day in the week, except Sunday mornings, where visitors to our town may see the greatest collection of relics of the frontier, curios, antiques, and other interesting things. In this museum there are more than 30,000 items, gathered from many sections, but mostly from Texas. In the collection are relics from South America, relics from India, relics from far corners of the earth, but most interesting of all are the relics of early Texas. Frontier Times is without question the greatest museum in the South, privately owned. The hundreds of visitors there are amazed to find in this little Cowboy Town of Bandera the wonderful array of interesting things that greet them on every hand. Frontier Times Museum, built of native fieldstone at a cost of $25,000, fronts 100 feet on Thirteenth Street and 60 feet on Pecan Street, and contains about 4,000 square feet of floor space. There are three large rooms full of relics, conveniently arranged for inspection. Among these interesting things will be found a beautifully carved chair, four hundred years old, from the Doge's Palace in Venice, Italy; a reincarnation plate from the great temple to Krishna, built in 1529 B. C., in Benares, India; a Persian tray of hand-hammered brass, more than 500 years old; a collection of 400 bells from many lands; a shrunken human head from Ecuador; old typewriters, phonographs, music boxes, ox-yokes, trundle beds, guns, pistols, swords, candle molds, churns, spinning wheel, shaving horse, mounted birds, flint arrows, garden tools, photographs of outlaws, Texas Rangers, Indians, frontier characters; and many other objects. No matter whether you are interested in archaeology, zoology, ornithology, botany, or whatever you may fancy, you will find it in Frontier Times Museum.

CONVENTION USES THE STEAM ROLLER

... of Fort Worth, Sept. 7-9, ... Texas Democratic convention ... with full ... of the state Democratic convention in Fort Worth Tuesday, and most of the complete recap ... a ballot ... Ringe from ... a powerful coalition of forces backing Gov. Beauford H. Jester for other party nominees, which often have opposed the governor in the past that brought about the complete victory. Three county delegations with its 97 votes, was a strong factor.

The coalition formed for the purpose of fending off the Dixiecrat challenge and send the regular party organization down the line for an Democratic victory, by no means could be regarded as a permanent combination. Signs were clear as the convention moved over its first heavy stumbling block. That many developments not entirely pleasing to the governor were in the immediate offing before eventual adjournment.

Three major contested delegations, from Harris, Dallas and Tarrant counties, chose to walk out of the convention after it was made plain they would be thrown out. Another contested group from Harrison county also walked out, and spokesmen who said they represented delegations from Gregg, Rusk, Shelby and Colorado counties announced their groups were leaving.

The battle on the contested delegations developed into a shakiest another showdown in the convention between Governor Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson for the Democratic nomination as U. S. senator. Stevenson forces, nosed out, again Monday by a vote of 29 to 28 in their effort to have the state executive committee go beyond the official returns of the county election and ... off primary vote were printed and ready to carry on the fight on the convention floor.

The Stevenson-Johnson issue was due to take the center of the stage before the convention grinds wearily to its conclusion, which may not come before some time Wednesday. Delegates already were worn by long arguments and tedious roll calls in the Dixiecrat dispute.

There was no doubt, however, that the ordeal of the senatorial race would have to be carried on before the convention before it ... promises is finally certified. It was the final by guess of a minority report from the executive committee in Stevenson's behalf that was expected to be presented by Josh S. Grece, Bexar county members of the committee.

Two former governors were busy at the convention on opposite sides in the Stevenson-Johnson feud. Former Gov. Dan Moody, of Austin, is slated to offer the main argument, for the Stevenson forces. Former Gov. James V. Allred, of Houston, was playing a part just as important in the Johnson strategy movements.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley DeGroff, of near Hondo, were visitors in the Bulletin office yesterday.

Looking Backward -

(From the Bandera New Era, September 29, 1923. Published by L. Maverick Hunter.)

Mr. Bonnie H. Bills and Miss Betty Hughes were united in marriage at 9 o'clock this morning at the City Hotel, the ceremony being performed by Rev. E. A. Potts, pastor of the Methodist church. It was a quiet home wedding, only a few friends and the immediate family being present. After the ceremony the newly married couple "departed for Sabinal where they will reside. The groom is a prosperous young business man of Sabinal and the bride is one of Bandera's best girls. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Bush, was born and raised here, and is loved by all who know her.

Great gobs of profanity have been poured out this week on that awful three-mile stretch of road through Medina County on the Highway to San Antonio. The ruins have made that portion almost impassable. It is said that the mud is all the way from a foot to three feet deep in places, and it takes powerful motors to get through. It is a crying shame that the work of repairing that three miles of road-way is being delayed. We don't know who is to blame. Come on Bandera to id blame to some extent. It is said that the money necessary to build the three miles of road is available and ready to be expended. Some time ago the State Highway officials came to Bandera and gave out the information that the work would soon be done. If funds are lacking to complete the work, or if some thing is needed to meet the requirements, our citizens should find it out and get busy and push the work to a rapid completion. Every day that piece of road remains in its present condition adds that much much smaller our town.

J. P. Hinds and little son, and G. G. Hinds and son, Pete, were down from Lima Saturday on business.

Lennie to visit were joined last night by Mrs. Gladys Parents.

Then Stein and son, Robert, went to San Antonio yesterday where Robert, who is suffering with rheumatism, will take the last supreme turns in hope of securing relief.

Jake Short leaves today for Austin to enter the State University, where he will take a law course.

F. A. Masters was in from Wilson's Creek Tuesday, registering over the fine rains.

Tom Adamietz, son of Mrs. Louis Adamietz, recently underwent an operation at a hospital in San Antonio. It is pleasing to learn that he is getting along nicely and will soon be able to return home.

The Medina river came down Tuesday on a ten-foot cascade by heavy rains at the head of the river, and on the divide above The Grotto-lope at Kerrville and Center Point was also on a big rise.

EIGHT AMENDMENTS TO GO ON STATE BALLOTS

Austin—The order in which eight constitutional amendments will appear on the November election was determined by drawing recently.

Sec. of State Paul Brown drew the amendments from a hat, the order in which they were drawn and will appear on the ballot is as follows:

1. H.J.R. No. 30—Proposing that counties provide workmen's compensation insurance for county employees and permitting counties to set up their own insurance plan.

2. S.J.R. No. 2—Proposing that a board composed of the lieutenant governor, speaker of the House, land commissioner, attorney general and comptroller to redistrict the state for legislative purposes after each federal census of the Legislature fails to do so.

3. H.J.R. No. 15—Proposing that communities property of husband and wife may be divided before death to avoid federal inheritance "double taxation" in event of either's death.

4. H.J.R. No. 7—Proposing that the Legislature may provide by law the line of gubernatorial succession when not specified by the constitution.

5. H.J.R. No. 35—Correcting an oversight to preserve the $1,000 homestead exemption in another proposed constitutional amendment that would abolish the state general ad valorem tax and permit counties to levy the tax for flood control and farm road use.

6. H.J.R. No. 36—Proposing abolishment of the fee system for paying county officials and constitution, and substituting in lieu on a salary basis to be set by county commissioners courts.

7. H.J.R. No. 24—Proposing the abolishment of the general ad valorem tax for road purposes and permitting counties to levy the tax for flood control and farm road use.

8. H.J.R. No. 28—Proposing the establishment of a judicial retirement system.

Kids are sure funny. Not so much funny; ha, ha, as they are funny peculiar. Now I had this thought who was patiently sitting with me, and then kid, even the smallest one, was there. We ever wantin' to be older'n me. I can hear her to this day when she'd hear of the age of me. Why, almost sing-song fashion "I'm 12 years old in June, I'm just 10 years old in March."

Now she was a slim dainty little thing, but certainly I don't ever remember weighin' less than a hundred pounds—and when I was 12 my mother decided she'd better try to do something to give me a little shape. So she got this catalog down and orders a good, sturdy, corset and told me to put it on an' wear it. Just like that and I was then supposed to gradually be molded into a figger I guess.

It was torture, but as the old sayin' goes, you kin get used to bein' ill if you hang long enough, and so it was with that thing. And I finally got used to the dingbed thing. Then one fine morning this cousin sets up a holler that I'd gained 10 pounds to wear a corset when she is too young to play with, so I took this satin thing that had cost me $2 and told her she could wear it to school that day. Well, that was suffice.

In spite of it being about two sizes too small for her I finally got her laced up in the middle of the strings tied in a good hard knot. Got to giggling and I will say she was fine, until about 20 minutes after the student asked her a question. She started to answer him instead, in a little squeak and fainted dead away. Being as I was the kindfolks, I was sent for right home for the time I got there she'd already had a few gallons of water thrown in her face and they had her laid out on the floor in the bend down between her knees, with her head on her knees. The poor kid couldn't get over it that tight laced corset on, so I had to cut it to loosen her up a bit. Everbody thought I was crazy for who ever heard of a growing little 12 year old girl wearing a corset any way. Finally got her to her self and quit crying, and she started cotin' to me. The teachers and me home with her and I got to school as soon as I got there and she got home when she got to feelin' better.

DRUGS
PEDDLED VENISON ON THE STREETS

In the 1880's, before game laws were passed, it was no uncommon sight to see wild game being peddled on the streets of Bandera. The Bandera Recorder in 1881 stated that deer meat were plentiful at 5c each, and wild turkeys were offered for 25c each. Bandera county also had plenty of bears in those days, and bear meat was quite common. It is said that Seco Smith, who lived in the western part of the county, killed 75 black bears in one year. Deer and turkey are still plentiful in the Bandera hills, but the bear have all long since disappeared. Frequently the hoots and howls of bear are found in cities in this section.

Bandera Bulldogs Chewed Up

The fat was kicked out of the Bandera bulldogs' pre football season last Friday night, when the powerful Hot Wells Bulldogs broke their leashes and literally mangled and tore the Bandera team to shreds in the first quarter, to gain a 13 to 0 lead. The Bandera team gritted its teeth and held the Hot Wells team scoreless in the second quarter, but the Hot Wells team came back in the third period with blood in their eyes and came out for more fresh meat, and scored two more touchdowns, running the score up to 26 to 0, nothing before the Bandera team woke up to the fact that it was supposed to play football. Once the Bandera team realized that it had eleven men on the field the same as Hot Wells, and that it could be just as ferocious as the Hot Wells team, the game turned into a great exhibition of a modern football game, which it doesn't seem a thing to the determined Bandera team that it was going to lose the game to win.

The Bandera team is not schooled well enough in football as yet to go to Sabinal on the night of October 1, but the game with Sabinal here, Saturday night, October 8, promises to draw the largest crowd of the season, and it is going to be a great game. Sabinal has a fine team, and the Bandera team deserves and needs the support of the people from all over the county. Mr. and Mrs. Miller will keep up the good work of the service and will be grateful for your support.

JOHNSON IS LOSER IN BALLOT CASE

Fort Worth, Sept. 22.—Judge T. Whitfield Davidson granted an injunction order keeping Lyndon B. Johnson off the Democratic general election ballot pending an investigation of south Texas election returns in the second Democratic primary. The federal district judge issued the order after several counties appointed to examine alleged frauds and irregularities in the July 23 primary election returned conflicting results. Johnson's attorneys argued that the court had no authority to intervene in the matter since no notice of appeal from the state executive committee's decision had been filed with the U. S. 5th circuit court of appeals in New Orleans immediately following the primary election Thursday.

Johnson's loser by 87 votes in the run-off race for the second Democratic primary, according to count announced by the state Democratic convention, filed an application for injunction Wednesday. On that date Judge Davidson granted a temporary restraining order to prevent printing a name on the general election ballot.

A parade of witnesses from Jim Wells and Zapata counties testified to voting irregularities in the second primary. In this application for an injunction, Stevenson had alleged similar fraud in those counties. Earlier, the judge assigned jurisdiction for his court in the case.

"Even if there was no statute on the books, this court observes none would still have an equitable hearing in this court," the judge said at noon in overruling a motion by Johnson's attorneys to dismiss the case for lack of jurisdiction. Judge Davidson said he would enter judgment in a few days and set a hearing for both sides in federal district court at Dallas Thursday.

John H. Crooker, of Houston, attorney for Johnson, said the case would be appealed before the ruling. "We will welcome a ruling, whether even a temporary injunction, in order that we may proceed with this case."

A few minutes earlier, James Alfred, also a Johnson attorney, said Judge Davidson "We earnestly and sincerely request a ruling as soon as possible. Speed is essential."

Crooker indicated that the appeal is the "cardinal interest of the Johnson attorneys, saying "Your Honor, a definite ruling is what we are after. I don't know about all this talk of someone going down into Texas counties to examine things. What we are interested in is getting a ruling."

Johnson himself was in Houston for a "mop-up" meeting of his campaign workers there three days for the master of masters to make their examinations and report their findings, it was learned here, reportedly, will be held in Fort Worth in this court room.

Soil Conservation Meeting in Bandera Draws Large Crowd

The most enthusiastic meeting ever held in Bandera was the gathering of the men and women on the various committees for the Soil Conservation District program held at the court house last Monday night. It is estimated that at least 250 men and women from all parts of the county were present to hear H. H. Goss, of the State Soil Conservation Board explain the details of the program of work to be done in this county. This program will be written at once by the various committees, who were given full instructions as to how to proceed. The members of each committee were given a printed form of the subjects to be covered in the program of work, and after Mr. Goss' splendid talk and clear explanation of the work, each committee got together with its chairman and set a date for the meeting of each committee, and date and place of meeting was agreed upon, and is given below with the names of the members of each committee. All of the members of these committees are notified to report back to the Board of Supervisors at their office in the court house, Saturday, October 22, at 2 o'clock.

Everything is all set for the many big jobs ahead. The machinery has been set in motion, the farmers and ranchers are enthusiastic, the committees are functioning, and the work ahead will result to Bandera county from the undertaking of Soil Conservation District. MARRIED IN FORT WORTH

Mrs. Joyce Sutton and Howard Baker, prominent rodeo performer of Fort Worth, were united in marriage at Fort Worth, last Saturday. Following the ceremony they attended the rodeo at the Cowtown where the groom was one of the judges in the show. After the rodeo a Reception was held in Fort Worth, which was attended by several hundred rodeo fans and performers. The bride and groom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Neal Gay, best man and matron of honor. Dusty Sutton, the bride's daughter, of Bandera, and Dude Hardin, of Beaumont. The bride is well known here in Bandera, having resided in this city for several years. The groom is a resident of rodeo performers in the saddle and bulldicker events. The happy couple will live here for awhile and then go to Arizona for the winter.

STATES RIGHTS MAY BE STEVENSON ISSUE

Even if the Democratic party of Texas should certify Republican Johnson as "the party nominee" of the Democratic party, there is every reason to believe that Johnson might have to wage a real fight, if the ballots with former Governor Coke Stevenson, in November.

Stevenson announced the "States Rights Democrats" This possibility, he said Monday, is the result of action taken May 9 by San Antonio officials of the Texas Hights party.

"Democrats who have broken with the New Deal over the issue of state's rights," Two major problems confront those advocating the naming of Stevenson as their party choice (1) obtaining approval of States Rights leaders throughout the state, (2) getting Stevenson's consent to run as their candidate.

"We like Stevenson's philosophy of government," one local leader of the States Rights organization commented. "His statement about returning the government to the country counties is certainly an expression of what we believe in. Our main objection to the New Deal party is its insistence on eliminating states' rights and centralizing all government in Washington."

As long as Johnson refused all the Stevenson campaign, interviewed on the possibility, said: "It certainly sounds good."

He explained, however, that he did not know what the former Governor's reactions to the States Rights plan was, and had believed nothing should be done until the federal court has had its opportunity to rule on the injunction now pending in the Duval county election.

Meanwhile other political observers pointed out that even if Johnson should be defeated, and was elected in November, he might face a Republican opposition.

The Republican candidate, in one of the Senate seats up for November, could bring a contest in the Democratic primary, on the theory that Johnson was not entitled to be on the ticket because of action taken by him in the Democratic primary.

This, they said, could result in the defeat of the Republican standard bearer, paving the way for Johnson, or the Republican party could refuse to seat either the Texas Senate post would be left vacant until 1949, when another election could be held. The governor could appoint a senator pro-tempore to serve until the seat could be filled by election.

Those observers predict that a special election in 1949 resulting from the injunction would be a real Texas free-for-all.—San Antonio Evening News.

CREDIT CONTROL ON MANY DEALS BACK MONDAY

Washington, Sept. 20.—Installment buying returned to Federal control Monday. Down payments and length of time to pay will be governed. Ordinary charge accounts won't. Most consumer goods costing $50 to $5,000 are covered. Easy payment loans are time-limited.

It is an anti-inflation step taken by President Truman. Mr. Truman said it is only a "tiny part" of what is needed.

The Federal reserve board made the rules. There are exceptions and they are flexible. It also has the power to put a blanket end of credit business.

Here are the terms:

After down payment, 15 months to pay if the balance exceeds $1,000, 15 months if $1,000 or less.

One-third down on automobiles.

Twenty per cent down on cookstoves, dishwashers, ironers, refrigerators washing machines, air conditioners, radios, phonographs, television sets sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, furniture and rugs.

Personal loans of lending houses must be repaid within 15 or 18 months, depending on the size.

BRITAIN REARMS.

London, Sept. 14—The grave state of the world has forced Great Britain to delay mobilization, stop jet recruiting, improvise civilian defenses and double the output of fighter planes. Herbert Morrison, lord president of the council, told a startled Commons today.

Speaking for Prime Minister Attlee, who is ill, Morrison said the government had "no choice but to take certain precautionary measures." But, he added, there is no cause for panic.

Morrison said all servicemen would be held three months beyond their scheduled release dates, which will add 50,000 men to the strength that had been planned for the armed forces for the end of the year.

The traditional "slow march" performed by guards of Buckingham Palace is said to have originated in the days of Charles II, who used this test to determine whether or not all the guards were sober.

STATE LEGISLATOR TOM MARTIN SUCCUMBS

Fredericksburg, Sept. 22.—Little Tom Martin, 67, died at 2:30 p. m. Thursday afternoon.

Martin, a hero of World War I, was a lawyer and newspaper columnist and was widely known for his humorous stories.

The legislator died at 4:30. He had been ill four months and had been in a coma for the last two weeks. His death was attributed to a heart ailment. He was 56 years old. During the early days Martin was editor of the Fredericksburg Standard and served as mayor of that city before he came here to make his home and had reclaimed a resident of Fredericksburg for that time. Completion of funeral arrangements await arrival of his son, Channing who lives in California. Other survivors are his widow and his mother, Mrs. Clarence Martin, of Stonewall.

BAPTIST ASSOCIATION MEETS IN BANDERA

The annual meeting of the Medina River Baptist Association began at the Bandera Baptist church Tuesday morning with Dr. J. Howard Williams, state executive secretary of the Texas Baptist convention, presented by the group. Dr. Lloyd Cornett and other prominent leaders and grants ever launched by Texas Baptists. He stressed particularly the importance of every church responding to the call during the ten-million-dollar budget adopted recently by the executive board of the convention. Representatives from the churches are to report on the progress of various organizations and departments during the past year and their plans for the coming months. Dr. Williams urged the association to work for a 100 per church membership of over 1,000 to give emphasis to the mission study program being conducted throughout the state this fall. He also displayed the new literature offered to the churches for use in the current campaign.

WRPB IN DRIVE FOR PERRY FORECAST

Austin, Sept. 20—A statewide campaign for George Peddy, of Houston, in the event no Democratic nominee for U. S. Senator is primaried effectively over the November 2 general election ballot was launched Monday. But Peddy, speaking for himself from Houston, made it clear he would not consent to such a campaign only if the federal government between Coke Stevenson and Lyndon Johnson for the Democratic nomination leaves the ballot, without a Democratic nominee.

The Stevenson-Johnson issue will be heard Tuesday by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson in Fort Worth. If a retrial or long order obtained by Stevenson against the certification of Johnson on the ballot is continued long enough to hear and determine charges of election irregularities in Jim Wells and Zapata counties, there may not be sufficient time to print the name if and when an official finding is determined.

"There has been lots of talk in Houston, Fort Worth, and Austin," Peddy said. "But I am not actively contemplating a write-in campaign. If there is a Democratic nominee on the general election ballot, I will not be a write-in candidate, of course.

"However, if there is no nominee, it's going to be a mad scramble. In that event, I might be a candidate. I'm just going to wait and see how business goes."

Peddy ran third in the first Democratic primary in July. His friends have pointed out that neither Stevenson nor Johnson made a concentration on each of the 254 counties. Had they done so, they would have received much more votes, they contend.

Peddy's campaign manager, Bob Hall, declined to say whether Peddy would be a candidate for the Senate, even if the nomination were left vacant. Until 1949, when another election could be held, the governor could appoint a senator pro-tempore to serve until the seat could be filled by election.

Those observers predict that a special election in 1949, resulting from the injunction would be a real Texas free-for-all.—San Antonio Evening News.

RANCH HANDS RALLY TO DEFEAT UNION 694

Ranch hands rallied from a 5-0 deficit in the fifth inning to defeat Union 694 in the ninth, fanned 10 batters and stole seven bases. Henry Suche then blasted a terrific bat to deep left center which rolled back to score home for the Applegate, however, was off with the count, and the bat, and running as we have never seen him run before, managed a leaping one-handed catch to retire Suche. Coach Rock, who had been all set to relieve Suche, back to keep from being doubled up. At this juncture Bland lost his control and walked Lenz and Simon to load the bases. With two out and the bases loaded Charlie Suche took over in the box. His first pitch to Koehler was a sharp breaking curve, forcing Koehler to top the ball, hitting the ball on the bounce to Walton, who easily threw him out at first, ending one of the most thrilling games ever played in Bandera.

In addition to the magnificent catch by Applegate, the defensive work of Hut Monaco playing third for the Ranch Hands was particularly outstanding. In the second inning he robbed Henry Suche of an extra base hit by jumping high in the air and turning Suche's line drive into the third and eighth innings Monaco took hard smashes with men on first and second to execute two double plays and push across a run each time. Monaco who lives in San Antonio, started in 1936 with the Bandera team while in 1934 with Fargo-Moorhead in the Northern League. This season he played with the Kansas City club of the American Association. His play last Sunday should be an inspiration to all ball players. He hustled and was on the ball every minute he was in the game for the decisive game in a championship pennant race. He has always been a favorite with the fans of all Bandera fans. We thank you, Hut, and sincerely trust that you will come again to see the many friends you have made here in Bandera.

With this game the home boys completed a most successful season, winning 15 out of 20 games. In addition to the Bandera Ranch on Legion Post plans to expand the grandstand facilities of the ball park and to improve the outfield with a fence. New uniforms were ordered and the uniforms used during the past two years have been presented to the school team, who this spring was forced to play without uniforms.

President Truman left Washington last Friday on his "swing around the circle," which includes most of the western states, with the avowed intention of giving the Republican "hate" one big kick. He is scheduled to reach San Antonio early Sunday morning, and will spend the day there.

Every week several editorials similar to the following appear. We have inaugurated a system of mailing each issue of the paper to our subscribers as a reminder to them of their subscription are due. If you have received one of these notices and have overlooked sending in your subscription, please give it your attention at once. The postage has gone up, and the purchase of newsprint makes it necessary that we keep up with our list of subscriptions.

There's been some talk of putting up street signs in Bandera, numbering the houses and asking for city delivery of mail. It's good to hear of such progressive things, but before we can have them, Banders will have to insist that the streets are named in the proper manner, and particularly city mail delivery. Bandera is rapidly growing and it is only a matter of time until our streets will have to be named and the houses numbered. When these things come to us, Banders will take on real city airs.

In the hearing of the Stevenson-Johnson case at Fort Worth last Tuesday, Federal Judge Whit Davidson, of the record, announced that the names of both Johnson and Stevenson for United States Senator, as well as the general election ballot, and let the people decide the matter. Stevenson expressed willingness to such a solution, but Johnson rejected the proposition. Well, thousands of people all over Texas stand ready to write Coke Stevenson's name on the ticket if it is necessary.

The citizens of Medina are making an effort to secure a highway from Medina to Station C and on to Leakey, and especially ask the State Highway Commission for a farm-to-market project. Some twelve or fifteen years ago a highway was designated to follow the proposed route from Medina to Leakey, but somehow it never lagged, and it is possible that the designation was cancelled. However, we are glad to see interest in the project being revived, for such a route would be of untold benefit, not only to Medina, but to all of the ranchmen and dwellers of the great divide country.

WATCH OUT FOR FAKE SOLICITORS

Merchants and other citizens of Bandera country are warned against persons soliciting advertising, subscriptions or any donation of value in behalf of any publication, unless such solicitor has in his possession credentials or fully establishes his identity and right to make such solicitations. It is truly amazing to learn the credulity of people all over Bandera county, hard-headed business men, when some person comes into their business place and asks for a donation for this or that, and the business man never heard of the cause, either. In most cases they just shell out. In all too many instances. And the same warning is given to guard against agents who come into our midst to take orders for magazines, Christmas cards, rugs, linoleum, or canvassing for church programs, and the like. Better be cautious, and make sure before you buy or pay for service offered you before handing over any money to any solicitors, regardless of how wonderful an offer they make you.

BATS THREATEN TO TAKE OVER BORDER STATION

Laredo, Sept. 21.—The ducks and geese come south in winter, by the millions of bats from all parts of the country gather from the cold. The new $400,000 U. S. Border Station at the international bridge here, which is the mecca for thousands of winter sightseers, seems to be one of the unfortunate few basic and is carrying the fight to them and drive them away alive instead of killing them. Several swarms of bats have already arrived here and surveyed the roomy tile roof of the new station, and after thanking with a view to selecting quarters in which to spend the winter months, proceeded to shambling on the roof and the ledges of the tower. During the hot summer months bats live scarce in Laredo, as they generally fly low for a few months here when the mercury crawls above the degree mark, but in winter they find the climate suitable.

Precautionary measures to prevent bat infestation of the border station building have been selected by Collector of Customs A. R. Kahn, at Laredo headquarters of the treasury department, at present mailing out calls for sealed bids to be opened at the office of the district engineer of the Public Building Administration in Dallas on October 5, for the eradication of, repelling of bats, who are pressing to take possession of the space between the sheathing and the Spanish tile roofing of the building.

The call for bids for chemicals, etc., that will repel the bats instead of killing them on the spot, thereby creating a real nuisance and menace. It is planned to get some kind of chemical with a strong odor that will be used along the outer lined of the large roof which the bats will scent and find unable to overcome and make their getaway instead of dying.

18,500,000 IN UNITED STATES OWN HOMES

Washington, Sept. 22—If you're paying the national week's wages for one month's rent, then it's costing you twice the average rent-payer's outlay, a government report shows.

Some 17,000,000 Americans were paying out an average of 12 per cent of their monthly income for rent at the start of the year, the Federal Reserve Board said. The median rent was $30—which means half the nation's renters paid more than that, the other half less.

The reserve board also disclosed that the number of home-owners has risen to a record 23,000,000 total. And it indicated that many of these wish they were renters instead.

Since the shortage of rental units has no doubt forced many families to buy homes, often at inflated prices and somewhat beyond their means, simply in order to obtain shelter," the report said.

The survey, which did not cover couples who own or rent farms, also showed:

1. Some 2,000,000 families were sharing other families' quarters rent-free.

2. Families with low income paid out a bigger slice for rent with a top of 21 per cent for those with incomes under $1,000. Families earning $5,000 or more averaged only 8 per cent for rental payments.

3. "Two-person families with no children tend to have paid somewhat higher rents than any of those with children." And families with only a child usually paid more rent than did those with two or more children."

PENSION PARTY SUES FOR NAME ON BALLOT

Fort Worth, Sept. 22—The Texas Pension party went to court in an effort to get its candidates' names on the November election ballot.

The party Tuesday filed a petition in Federal District Court seeking to force Sec. of State Ed H. Brown to include the candidates on the ballot.

The party's action was in the form of an injunction suit.

V. E. Kaufman, chairman, and D. B. Jamerson, co-chairman, of the Pension party allege in the petition that Brown refused to certify their candidates on the grounds "it does not appear that the Texas Pension party was organized by any authorized or proper procedure."

DINNER GUESTS

-Last Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hopelin and three small daughters had as their guests at dinner Mrs. Della Hoopelin, Mrs. Lucille Herman, Henry and Sherrill Schaefer, and Mrs. Alice Schaefer. It was Mrs. Schaefer's 65th birthday. The dinner consisted of fried and dumplings, fried potatoes, tomato and lettuce salad, chocolate and banana cream pies, ice cream, lemonade and coffee. All present wished Mrs. Schaefer a happy birthday, and all had an enjoyable day.

15,000 DRAFTEES TO BE CALLED UP IN DECEMBER

Washington, Sept. 22—The Army Wednesday called on Selective Service for 15,000 additional draftees in December, making a total of 25,000 young men to be inducted by the end of this year under the new peacetime draft law.

The December draftees will be called up during the first 30 days of the month to avoid induction during the Christmas holidays. They will be drawn almost entirely from the pool of 2½ and 19-year-olds who have registered for military service, roughly half from each age group.

When Henry J. Kaiser was 15 minutes late in keeping an appointment because he had to wait for a taxi, a friend exclaimed: "15 minutes! Why in the devil don't you build one?"

Storm in Florida blew a young boy out of bed. But there are some brothers who would appreciate such storms every morning.

The man down the street says that while our divorce rate may indicate that this is the land of free love, our increasingly marriage groves it is still the home of the brave.

WATCH OUT FOR FAKE SOLICITORS

Merchants and other citizens of Bandera country are warned against persons soliciting advertising, subscriptions or any donation of value in behalf of any publication, unless such solicitor has in his possession credentials or fully establishes his identity and right to make such solicitations. It is truly amazing to learn the credulity of people all over Bandera county, hard-headed business men, when some person comes into their business place and asks for a donation for this or that, and the business man never heard of the cause, either. In most cases they just shell out. In all too many instances. And the same warning is given to guard against agents who come into our midst to take orders for magazines, Christmas cards, rugs, linoleum, or canvassing for church programs, and the like. Better be cautious, and make sure before you buy or pay for service offered you before handing over any money to any solicitors, regardless of how wonderful an offer they make you.

BATS THREATEN TO TAKE OVER BORDER STATION

Laredo, Sept. 21—The ducks and geese come south in winter, by the millions of bats from all parts of the country gather from the cold. The new $400,000 U. S. Border Station at the international bridge here, which is the mecca for thousands of winter sightseers, seems to be one of the unfortunate few basic and is carrying the fight to them and drive them away alive instead of killing them. Several swarms of bats have already arrived here and surveyed the roomy tile roof of the new station, and after thanking with a view to selecting quarters in which to spend the winter months, proceeded to shambling on the roof and the ledges of the tower. During the hot summer months bats live scarce in Laredo, as they generally fly low for a few months here when the mercury crawls above the degree mark, but in winter they find the climate suitable.

Precautionary measures to prevent bat infestation of the border station building have been selected by Collector of Customs A. R. Kahn, at Laredo headquarters of the treasury department, at present mailing out calls for sealed bids to be opened at the office of the district engineer of the Public Building Administration in Dallas on October 5, for the eradication of, repelling of bats, who are pressing to take possession of the space between the sheathing and the Spanish tile roofing of the building.

The call for bids for chemicals, etc., that will repel the bats instead of killing them on the spot, thereby creating a real nuisance and menace. It is planned to get some kind of chemical with a strong odor that will be used along the outer lined of the large roof which the bats will scent and find unable to overcome and make their getaway instead of dying.

OLD FRIENDS VISIT US

Mrs. J. E. Rhodes, of Ponca City, accompanied by her husband, O. L. White, and daughter, Miss Louise White, of Alice, Montana, were here Sunday and visited old friends. Mrs. R. P. Faris, Mrs. Rhodes and Mr. White are old friends of the senior editor of the Bulletin, and we rejoiced to see them again, and were pleased to visit to us was so brief. In our boyhood fifty years ago we operated at Idaho, and the White household was like home to us. To meet up with old friends of those days calls up happy memories. Mrs. Rhodes, formerly Ida White, has lived in Oklahoma for many years, and her brother, Ollie White, has been a successful citizen of Montana for a long time. His daughter, Miss Louise, will remain in Texas to attend the Southern Methodist University, at Dallas.

DRUGS
THE NEGRO CEMETERY IN BANDERA

Fifty years ago Bandera's population included several negro families, some of them lived in town and others across the river west of town. These negroes were a quiet, law abiding people, and as they died were buried here in those days they were mostly employed in the cattle industry on the Medina valley ranches. Today Bandera's negro population is limited to one or more than a dozen individuals, and they are mostly working on an irrigated farm on the Medina river. In the old days, however, the negro population was large enough to support a negro school for a time, and there was a negro preacher or two in the community who conducted church services in a cabin in the negro community. Now and then a negro would die in the community, so a plot of ground was donated by Chas Montague on that part of the Montague land now embraced in Bandera Garden. The negro cemetery has been set apart from other lots there. The last negro to be buried there was Mr. W. D. Leonard, a faithful old Southern darkey, who died some five years ago. There are probably a dozen graves in the lonely little cemetery, which is located on the old Medina road, near John Deter's wood yard.

The community was shocked and saddened last Friday morning when they learned of the death of Fred Adamietz, who passed away suddenly that Friday day night at his home, from a heart attack. MARRIED

Vernon S. Faris and Miss Mary Elizabeth Hand, of San Antonio, were united in matrimony at Boerne, Texas, last Saturday, September 18. Vernon is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Faris, here in this city and was born and reared in this county. He attended school here and was with the armed forces in the Pacific area. The young couple will make their home on a ranch which is located on the Ridge Route. They have many warm friends in which their many friends join in wishing them much happiness and prosperity in their journey through life.

Medina's First Football Game

The first football game ever played on the Medina gridiron was held on last Friday night between Medina and Comfort, and judging from the interest taken by the enthusiasts demonstrating by all who attended, it is an event that will constitute an epoch in the history of Medina, to be handed down from father to son for generations. As fancy we can see some of the members of both teams strutting around in the forests many years hence relating to their sons and grandsons, the details of the first football game ever played in Medina. It was a game in which both sides may justly be proud. Both teams were well supported with rooters and boosters, and long before we reached the grounds and before the game started, we could hear the shouts and cheers and the singing of pep squads, each boosting their own respective team.

Promptly at the hour of eight, Referee Jack Hall of Bandera walked out to the center of the field and the entire assembly of players, each bearing flag, lined with deep reverence to the strains of the "Star Spangled Banner," as it was played by the band. Then the game began.

We are not sufficiently familiar with the game to inform our readers as to the respective qualifications of the players, but we do know that it was a battle royal from start to finish. They see-sawed back and forth across the field, and much ground was made, but Medina, by the very hardest kind of a struggle, was able to hold the ball for the fiercest of battling held what they had, and at the end of the little until the conclusion of the game, which resulted in a score of 13 to 0 in favor of the Medina team. The Medina boys should be very much pleased with themselves because they had an excellent team. Their success is to be attributed to the expert coaching of Professor Ben Thompson, the efficient coach, assisted by E. H. Mayrant, who is very efficient in football tactics. It is certainly a football victory, as eight hundred people were present, and the attendance receipts were $240. All parties were well satisfied with the result of the game, and it is to be hoped other similar homes happen. The Medina team will go to Fredericksburg next Friday night for the skill of a team of that place.

Many Going to Houston Today

The people in Houston and Galveston are going to be very much pleased with the Bandera Round-up dances sponsored by the Bandera Texas Association. A huge crowd of Houston friends is expected to attend the dance being held Friday night, at the Eado-Main hall. Many are going down from here early enough to take part in, or view, the style show being put on by Jan Olmsted at the Dude Ranch. Mrs. Bonnie Stevenson was far from ready to accept this series of dances as final, but has requested an earlier statement from Alice.

Alice's figure out something of course. I'm not going to let anyone else get ahead of me as long as there is any remedy anywhere."

What remedy the former governor and his attorneys might find to overcome the decision will be known Wednesday night. It might be an appeal to the state supreme court, or an appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court. Or it might be a motion for a new trial. Whatever action is taken in the case, it is expected that it will be carried to the highest court in the land.

Printing Johnson's name on the ballot and the subsequent expensive investigation of the three border county ballot boxes by the Ballot and Election Board in Washington by U. S. Supreme Court Justice Hugo Black, who order stayed a temporary injunction issued by Judge Ben Rice, Jr., of Austin, restraining Johnson's name from appearing on the ballot. Justice Black ruled in effect that Johnson's name could go on the ballot.

At Austin Johnson's attorneys filed a motion asking that the state supreme court, in placing Lyndon Johnson's name on the ballot be specified that his stay of injunction would hold only until the Supreme Court could consider the case. The court's next meeting is October 4.

On that date, also, the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals, meeting at Atlanta is to consider the Texas appellate, following a ruling by Judge Allen B. Hannay, Jr., refusing to stay the injunction granted previously by Federal District Court Judge T. W. Davidson at Dallas, until the Circuit court could meet and pass on the matter.

Meanwhile, at Austin, Texas stay, the secretary of state mailed out sample ballots to all 254 Texas counties, with the space for the senatorial candidates left blank.

At Alice, federal examiners named by Judge Davidson started their investigation into the voting in Jim Wells, Duval and Zapata. Examiner W. R. Smith, in charge of the Jim Wells investigation, was told by an election official that when the election tally lists and the poll tax lists of Precinct 13, Alice, have disappeared.

Earlier, Mrs. Tom Donald, wife of the chairman of the county Democratic committee, said her husband was in Norvelt, Kansas when what he heard from him Monday night. A subpoena was sent to Donald.

Coke Stevenson, informed of the ruling by Justice Black, said "We'll figure out something, of course. I'll not be anyone else get ahead of me as long as there is any remedy, anywhere."

Johnson's Name Will Go on Ballot

Austin, Sept. 30—The cross-fire of battle for the Democratic nomination as U. S. senator reached another temporary lull late Wednesday, but by no means did that signify the last word. Today Lyndon Johnson had come out on top over Coke Stevenson, at least for the time being, in the fight to have his name certified and printed on the Nov. 2 general election ballot as the Democratic nominee.

Johnson won, at this point, his contention against the jurisdiction of Federal Judge Ben Rice Davidson to conduct an investigation in Jim Wells, Duval and Zapata counties.

Attorneys for the tenth district congressman are ready to go on with an attempt to put another clincher on the case in asking permission to file a mandamus proceeding with the Texas Supreme Court, set for consideration at 9 a. m. Thursday. But Stevenson was far from ready to accept this series of setbacks as final, but has requested an earlier statement from Alice.

"We'll figure out something, of course. I'm not going to let anyone else get ahead of me as long as there is any remedy anywhere."

The Texas Democratic Senate race became more complicated over Tuesday with a series of developments increasing doubt as to which, if either, of the two contenders would appear on the November ballot. At Washington, Justice Hugo Black, of the U. S. Supreme Court, stayed an injunction granted Coke Stevenson in Texas, which would have had the effect of keeping Johnson off the ballot. Justice Black ruled in effect that Johnson's name could go on the ballot.

Improved Phone Service Soon

Improved long distance telephone service, with 26 new lines between Bandera and Medina, with Bandera and Turner, will soon be available to telephone users at these locations, S. E. Miller, district manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, announced today.

Construction of the new lines is underway now, Miller said. The job involves placing about 250 poles to provide some 16 miles of all new pole line, with copper construction utilizing high-strength wire. About 40 miles of this wire will be needed to provide the necessary circuits. The work is entitated to require a gross expenditure of at least $20,000. Exact service date for the new facilities is not yet known, but if present schedules are met, it will be soon, Miller said.

Affecting the same general section, Miller also said that effective June 1, 1948, charges for long distance calls between Bandera and Pipe Creek, which were temporarily discontinued at the time the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company converted to dial, have been reestablished. Rates for station-to-station calls between Bandera and Pipe Creek will be 10 cents for the first 5 minutes, while person-to-person calls will cost 25 cents for the first 5 minutes. These rates are for day, night, and Sunday calls.

TWO BANDERA COUNTY RANCHES SOLD

The other two ranches were sold for profit to Rev. Thompson, but Rev. Thompson says that this 3 day last ranch he buys that he is going to buy, the reason being that this ranch is so pretty that he is going to make it his permanent home. Rev. Thompson's son and wife will live on the ranch with him, and in fact they will be partners. We certainly enjoy having as a neighbor a pastor of the Christian faith. Mr. Thompson coming in to our community. Rev. Thompson is pastor of the Beacon Hill Baptist church in San Antonio. He is now building a new $75,000 church building in San Antonio, on Beacon Hill.

Mr. Lovelace said the Joe B. Crossnoe ranch but week, consisting of 1,000 acres, to Mr. Hillendahl, from Corpus Christi, for consideration of $75,000. Mr. Hillendahl is a substantial oil man from Corpus Christi, and has made an addition to our community. He has a grown daughter and son, who will live on the ranch. Mr. Hillendahl says that he is very much pleased to get into the beautiful Bandera Hills country, on account of it being such a pleasant place in which to live, and he expects the wealth of his family to be much better for it.

Library Week and Reopening Dates

The week of October 15th to October 22nd, has been designated by the Bandera County Home Demonstration Council as Library Week. During this time everyone in the county is urged to participate in the reopening of the Bandera public library by bringing books, which they are willing to donate, to collection points in order to get the library off to a good start by getting up-to-date material. Collection points will be announced soon and will be in central location in Bandera, Medina and Turgley. Home Demonstration clubs throughout the county are planning to sponsor the library this year and in addition to the book collection drive, have named Saturday, October 23, as the first day on which the library will be officially re-opened. The plan now is to have the library open only on Saturday afternoons, as this seems to be the time when most persons will be in town to visit the library. Persons willing to donate reading material are asked to wrap or tie books or magazines together and mark plainly on the outside in order that suitable acknowledgment may be made. All types of books, both fiction and new or old, are requested. Discarded fiction and reference material of all types are particularly needed. Complete yearly collections of newspapers and magazines which would be of local interest to the library, the library room is located in the rear of the Bandera Library Auditorium in Bandera. The home demonstration clubs are working with the librarian, Mrs. Ruth Hall, in preparing at the request of the Bandera Veterans of Foreign Wars Post 9178, which has recently taken over the management of the library, and the library drive and reopening is headed by the extension and Bandera County Home Demonstration Council. Members of this committee are Mrs. Perry Stem, chairman, Mrs. Robert Huebner and Mrs. Guy Stroup. Different home demonstration clubs throughout the county will have charge of the library in turn throughout the year.

GIRLS' DORMITORY FOR UNIVERSITY

Abilene, Texas, Sept. 25—Dr. Robert N. Richardson, president of Hardin-Simmons University announced Saturday the presentation of a dormitory after the military from the American petroleum industry in tribute to the late Judge Hunter. Richardson said the gift would be formally presented at a ceremony on the campus.

Judge Hunter, a prominent Abilene church and civic leader at the time of his death, November 11, 1945, was president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association an organization of petroleum men operating throughout the middle portion of the United States, before he was chairman of the board of trustees.

"This gift from the nation's pioneer school Judge Hunter served so well, carries the spirit of the University's building program which he envisioned while serving as chairman of our board of trustees," Dr. Richardson said.

One of the main objectives of Judge Hunter's building program the combination of a science and chemistry, Dr. Richardson said. Judge Hunter died before the building was completed. Death came while he was returning to Abilene from a wartime oil meeting in Washington, where he served four years on the Petroleum Industry War Council.

The building, which will be called Hunter Memorial Hall, when completed recently but the gift, authorized by major oil and independent oil operators alike, will pay for the structure, Dr. Richardson stated. The fund for the building was originally financed through a bank loan, which will be repaid by the cash contribution.

Trustees of the memorial fund: Frank M. Porter, Oklahoma City, president of the Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Association, and E. R. Boyd, Jr., New York, President of the American Petroleum Institute, notified Dr. Richardson of the gift. The notification from the memorial fund trustees was made in part:

"Oil men of the nation subscribed generously to this fund honoring the beloved Judge Hunter. The trustees of the fund were directed to select an appropriate memorial. We have chosen Hardin-Simmons University as a recipient of this memorial because of the great regard Judge Hunter had for the work being done there. We feel friends know that Judge Hunter had an everlasting interest in the school's expanded influence in the education of future generations of American citizens."

Commenting on the gift, Dr. Richardson said Judge Hunter's school has benefited in numerous ways from the generosity of individual oil and cattle men. I know of no other instance in Texas education when so many men so widely scattered have joined in a memorial of this kind."

LITTLE OREGON TOWN OUT IN FRONT

"Fewer than 1,000 persons live in the tiny logging community of Drain, Oregon," Ripley says.

But it has built a war memorial that some cities many times its size could envy.

One night think that such a little town might be lucky to erect a statue, Drain did. It raised for the war memorial that stands there today $200,000, and did it without taxation. Instead, borrowing and without any public money, Drain and other small nearby communities have one of the finest recreation centers in Southwestern Oregon."

The materials alone cost $100,000, the cost of the completed project would have been more if it hadn't been that hundreds of hours of donated labor. The North Douglas County Living War Memorial comprises a concrete tennis court, a baseball diamond with the finest turf in the region, lighting used in professional ball parks, and a $75,000 swimming pool and bathhouse.

"We decided to build the best," said Judge Wingate, president of the memorial committee. "When you want to do a good job for your country, you are giving the best you have. It would be an insult to the dead, and to our community, to build anything short of the best possible."

The idea for a living war memorial came to Drain during the war days, but there were soldiers who dismissed the thought with a shrug and declared that might be displayed toward a tax-supported project intended to be president of the United States.

But the people of Douglas county wouldn't admit that they were broke, and by the end of the war they had the money to do. They began saving money by conducting war-time scrap metal and food drives and other benefit shows. They banded together and raised funds which, paid off, or $2,000, and they thought up a number of original money making schemes.

For instance, they built a bridge across the river, and charged motorists a toll. The $700 they netted went into the fund. To get consent for the swimming pool, the town set up a nowsoke's wagon and sold hundreds of dollar memberships. school pupils sold 450 coupons in one afternoon.

The biggest money-maker was "Donation Day." All the lumber companies in the area donated funds for the project. Mills donated their logs, and workmen donated their time. "Donation Day" turned out to be one of the busiest days of 1946, but the work was done. The big Auction Day netted $30,000. It took two weeks, but the citizens went to work and raised it. Then, for fun, was big enough to complete the project.

FIRST HILL COUNTRY APPEARANCE

SEE THE HOME OF TOMORROW

The home senator Joseph Scudog Johnson and former governor Coke Stevenson, top Democratic U. S. senatorial delegation ranked Saturday to-night with Gov. Beauford Jester with these developments:

Tuesday, Oct. 2—Senator Whitfield Davidson sets Oct. 2 as the date for a final hearing on a temporary injunction which is keeping the name of Johnson, the certified party nominee, from the ballot for the November 2 general election. He ordered two investigators to Stevenson's charges of frauds in three South Texas counties in the August 28 runoff primary and report back to him.

Johnson applies to the U. S. Circuit Court in New Orleans for a writ of prohibition to appeal the temporary injunction, granted by Judge Davidson Wednesday.

The October 2 date for the hearing before Judge Davidson in Fort Worth is one day before the legal deadline for the placing of nominees' names on Texas ballots for the general election. It is two days in advance of the date set Friday by the U. S. Circuit Court for a hearing at Atlanta on Johnson's appeal from Judge Davidson's order.

Judge J. C. Hutcheson, Jr., presiding officer of the circuit court, refused Friday at Houston to interfere with Judge Davidson's order. Although Johnson's attorneys protested that the October 4 date would be too late, Judge Hutcheson said the full court would hear Johnson's appeal at that time.

The application for a writ of prohibition, filed in New Orleans last April 1 by Luther Jones of Corpus Christi, an attorney for Johnson, was in line with a suggestion made Friday by Judge Hutcheson. There was no indication that it would result in an earlier hearing of the case.

Judge Davidson's latest order, filed at Fort Worth on Saturday, instructed W. R. Fletcher and J. W. Short, Austin San Antonio lawyers, as special masters, appointed by the court, to supervise the "printing, folding and mailing" of ballots.

Judge Davidson empowered the two men to "take process by corpus attendance of witnesses and the production of evidence at the hearings," and "if requested, shall make copies of such papers, evidence and impound originals for use upon trial."

Smith and Burnett would make no announcement of their plans in San Antonio Saturday, pending arrival of their letters of instruction. Certified copies of the appointments and the court instructions were mailed from Fort Worth Saturday by Allen Coker, Fort Worth attorney and campaign manager for Stevenson. Judge Davidson has said that should the matter fail to find evidence of fraud, he would dismiss the temporary injunction.

GOV. JESTER THUMAY

Austin, Sept. 28—Governor Beauford Jester and his family followed calm on the rhythm of the Texas swing classes by President Truman, Monday to offer a prayer and an ovation on the steps of the capitol, Monday, October 1, along with these developments:

YOUNG PEOPLE'S CLASS

The young people's class of the local Baptist church held their regular meeting on Monday night at the Hill Top with 25 present. Games, directed by Betty Jane Stevens, Bonnie Lou Smith and Lynn Hale, were played and furnished some lively music. Sandwiches, hot cocoa, potato chips, fruit punch and chocolate cake were served. This social gathering was held for the installing of class officers for the coming year. The incoming officers were: Jane Marie Clark, vice president; Jessie Lou Hall, secretary; James Bell, treasurer; Sally Bolster, social chairman; Reuben Bolster, Jr., reporter. Gifts from the class were presented to those of the class having birthdays in September, and a special gift of appreciation was given to the outgoing president, Frank Braden, Jr. After the business was taken care of the group enjoyed an interesting exhibition of strength and weight-lifting by Bob Dalton and Sherrill Schaefer. The thanks of the class goes to Sara Dalton for allowing them to go to the picture show for this party.

This class of young people is a very active group, and the adult church has a great interest in their every undertaking. A hearty invitation is extended to all young people in the community, not already organized in a church, to attend this rapidly growing class.—Reporter.

TEXAS TEACHERS LURED AWAY TO OTHER STATES

Austin, Sept. 28—Less than one out of ten of the public school teachers employed in Texas this year could be supplied by colleges and universities of the state, it was reported Saturday by the Texas State Teachers Association on the basis of a survey which showed only 1,065 placements in a total demand for 12,727 new teachers.

Southwest Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos, for instance, had calls for 3,000 teachers and was able to supply only the report noted. Similar conditions prevailed in other institutions over the state.

The teaching profession must, in order to maintain the quality of its service or our school systems will suffer even more than they have in the past, Charles H. Terrell, public relations director for the teachers who made the survey, because of a teacher who cannot become of economic conditions.

The report quoted E. H. Farrington, director of the teacher placement bureau of North Texas State Teachers College at Denton. Other states, he said, are hiring graduates of Texas colleges with higher pay.

San Marcos is an excellent example," Farrington observed. "That small state, with a minimum of $2,640 a year for teachers as compared with $2,160 for Texas, is making big inroads upon our teachers, both the newly qualified and the experienced instructors."

Sam Houston State Teachers College at Huntsville had the largest number of graduates this year with requests for more than 1,000 and placement of only 120. Baylor University could have placed 971 but had only 113 available. Southern Methodist University was asked for 402 and provided 36. Texas Technological College filled 87 of 814 requests, and Texas State College for Women had a demand of 1,517 and a supply of 189.

Report comes from Austin, the capital of Texas, that a "gang" has asked a housewife there for a drink of water. She gave him a glassful drawn from a hydrant in the yard. He tasted it, and then poured the water around, saying the tramp was poisoned. The tramp was arrested and taken to jail, when it was learned that it was the first time he had tasted water that had been chlorinated in the city purification plant.

The fellow who argues that advertising does not pay, should be told about the experience of some of the publicity campaigns of Texas cities. Recently a chamber of commerce visitor, G. A. R. Cowan, stopped at the Worth standing at the information office to tell the publicity chairman there that he had read one of the booklets advertising Waco and decided to drive to Texas to investigate. Cowan, an attorney of Ontario, Canada, said he had driven 1,800 miles to investigate the business possibilities in Waco, and that he probably would move to that city soon.

President Truman made a trip through Texas the first of the week, and received rousing receptions at every stop. He didn't tell Texans about his civil rights program, but he openly endorsed Lyndon Johnson in the senatorial squabble during his campaign swing through Texas. Coke Stevenson's friends will keep this in mind.

BAPTIST FELLOWSHIP CLASS ENTERTAINED

The Baptist Fellowship Class enjoyed a buffet supper in the home of Mrs. Fred Thalmann last Saturday night. Those present at the supper and Mrs. John Mac Naughton, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bell and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Watts and sons, Mrs. Tom Schnelly, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Mayhall and son, Mrs. Tom Schnelly, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thalmann and son, Robert. After the supper the regular business meeting of the class was held.

CONTINUATION OF DROP IN FOOD PRICES

Chicago, Sept. 29—The presidents of two large grocery chains said Wednesday most food prices driving prices into a steady decline, which probably will last until early 1949.

Franklin Lundberg, president of Jewel Tea Co., said that although there are many factors affecting various food items, in general, "we have seen the peak in food prices and a downward trend is obvious."

Lundberg cited the Dun & Bradstreet monthly index showing 31 of 11 basic food items. The index showed that wholesale food prices dropped an average of 12 cents during the past week. The index sank to its low level since last March 9.

Butter showed the most spectacular drop in the general decline. Wholesale butter prices plunged to their lowest level in nearly a year at sixty points. They were 11 cents lower than a week ago at Milwaukee, where the slump was the longest since the Farmers Butter Board cut four cents in Kansas City Wednesday. The Milwaukee butter prices at the Chicago and New York markets appeared checked, at least temporarily.

An ensign had been living a certain blonde the once-over about a dozen times at a party. Finally he moved over close to her.

"Pardon me," he said, "I'm with the United States Navy, whom are you with?"

"SITTING PRETTY" HAILED AS GAY MASTERPIECE

Wide critical showings of Sitting Pretty," the word out of Hollywood is that Twentieth Century-Fox has succeeded in achieving the miracle of another smash screen comedy in the once-in-a-lifetime tradition of "Miracle on 34th Street," "Sitting Pretty," starring Maureen O'Hara and Clifton Webb, the picture, scheduled to open Sunday at the Bantes Theater, is one of the grandest laugh bonanzas in years.

A comedy that goes beyond hilarity and into the realm of laughter that can come only from 2 warm, joyful human personages, "Sitting Pretty" stars as its "springboard" one of today's most timely and workable gag subjects: the problem of the baby-sitter with hilarious complications and farcical fun for every young couple. As such, the picture provides a field day with what is said to be the most unusual and delightful roles of their careers.

The story of "Sitting Pretty" is that of a reasonably successful young couple, Harry and Tacey King, whose recurring difficulties in finding baby-sitters for their three shutterbug offspring, finally inspire them to advertise for a resident sitter. The result, you'll agree with this farcical fun, is the ad is answered by a sophisticated gentleman, Mr. Belvedere, who immediately takes over the entire household—completely and with devastating results.

The new baby-sitter, wondrously efficient in a startling sort of way, is also a man of mystery. He is surrounded by secret and odd extra-curricular activities, and the episodes with which he involves himself into the family life, that leads to one of the most uproariously original "sitter" situations in which one of Hollywood's top comedy teams has ever been spotted.

As Tacey King, the harassed wife whose life takes an exciting turn with the arrival of her new "baby-sitter," Maureen O'Hara has her best role to date in a career that has included such successes as "How Green Was My Valley," and "Miracle on 34th Street." With the sensational success of the latter film in mind, Miss O'Hara was again happy to switch from the period costumes of the "stately princess" type of role to the modern clothes and manner of a typical American housewife.

Clifton Webb has what many believe to be the prize comedy role of the year. He is Belvedere, the mystery man whose curious background equips him for everything from changing locks to changing baby's diapers, and dancing the rhumba.

DREAMER IS PUT IN JAIL IN TIME

Los Angeles, Sept. 29—John Parrott couldn't sleep for dreaming, so he walked into Wilshire police station and — said Det. John Tabor — told the desk sergeant:

"I dreamed I was burglarizing a house and police shot me. So I thought I'd come down and let you lock me up before it's real."

It wasn't just something he ate, apparently. Officers said Parrott, 25, gave information which indicated complicity in five recent burglaries. He's confined dreamer was booked on suspicion of burglary.

Soft soap was used for cleaning by early Americans, same as it is now.

8-SHI,963 REGISTER FOR PEACETIME DRAFT

Washington, Sept. 29—Selective service headquarters said Wednesday 8,943,963 men 18 through 25 years of age registered for the peacetime draft between August 30 and September 18.

Of these, 2,147,813 are single, non-veteran, draft age men (19 through 25) who will form the pool from which the army will get its new manpower.

Selective service said it has no idea as to the number of draftage men who deliberately avoided registration, but it believes the number is small. However, the Department of Justice said "quite a few" cases of apparent draft-dodging are being investigated by the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

The total registration figure for the U. S. and territories is about 1,000,000 less than preregistration estimates. Part of the difference is due to the enlistment of more than 100,000 men in the Army between July 1 and September 24. How many of these are of draft age is not known. Enlistment figures for the Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps for the same period are not available.

EGGS HURLED AT WALLACE $43,000 VIOLIN TO BE BURIED WITH OWNER

Houston, Sept. 29—Eggs and tomatoes sputtered radio station KTRH in front of Henry A. Wallace tonight as he went before an unsegregated crowd of more than 5,500 to assert that his Progressive Party had proved that racial discrimination could be routed in the south.

Wallace paid no attention to the missiles as he put on his glasses, pulled his manuscript from his pocket, and began reading his prepared speech.

Although he was greeted by scattered boos as well as eggs and tomatoes as he stepped to the microphone, his audience was heavily pro-Wallace.

The granddaughter said Mrs. Dubois, who played in an international competition at Milan, Italy, when she was 18.

Los Angeles, Sept. 29—John Parrott couldn't sleep for dreaming. So he went to the police station and told Det. John Tabor of his dream.

"I dreamed I was burglarizing a house and police shot me," he said. "So to keep from getting shot, I let you lock me up before it happens."

It wasn't just something he ate, apparently. Tabor said Parrott, a former convict, was under suspicion of burglary.

What is happening to our teachers? Where are the prospective tastes? It would be difficult to know all the reasons, but other than the fact that graduates of Texas colleges with high pay, there is an excellent example in pre. New Mexico, with a minimum salary of $2,640 for teachers, and expenditure with $2,000 for those with bachelor's degrees in Texas, is making big inroads upon our own teachers, both newly qualified and the experienced instructor. Other states are also seeking graduates qualified to fill offer more lucrative positions.

SCHOOLS ARE HAMPERED BY TEACHER SHORTAGE

The various city and county Public Schools ran into a number of their school and its exception- ally well qualified, teaching and supervising the grave shortage of teachers, principals, and superintendents, training only a small portion as many teachers as there are pupils. Dallas, October 9-24. Dallas Public Schools.

Superintendents found extreme difficulty in filling vacancies with college-trained teachers, the Texas State Teachers Association announced some Saturday, after making a survey of 14 institutions in the state which train teachers.

Reports from teachers made to teacher colleges, denominational and other colleges for the present school year totaled 12,727. Only 1,068 placements were possible. The Texas schools have a demand for 6,000 more trained teachers than the 11,000 qualified teachers this year. Contrary to the situation in the past, elementary teachers are the most scarce. There still exists a critical shortage in English, music, mathematics, and coaching; however, the situation in other fields is a little more favorable.

Here are a few examples of the impossibility of colleges to supply the demand: Sam Houston State Teachers College had a demand for more than 4,000 teachers, but had only 120 available. South-west Texas State Teachers was asked for 900 teachers, but could supply 230. Baylor University was asked for 600 teachers, but had only 123. Southern Methodist was asked for 602 and provided 114. Texas Tech was asked for 814, but had only 87. Texas State College for Women placed 100, but had a demand for 1,517.

What is happening to our teachers? Where are the prospective tastes? It would be difficult to know all the reasons, but other than the fact that graduates of Texas colleges with high pay, there is an excellent example in pre. New Mexico, with a minimum salary of $2,640 for teachers, and expenditure with $2,000 for those with bachelor's degrees in Texas, is making big inroads upon our own teachers, both newly qualified and the experienced instructor. Other states are also seeking graduates qualified to fill offer more lucrative positions.

PARENT-TEACHERS CLUB MEETING

The Parent Teachers Club of the First Baptist Church met Tuesday evening at 7:30. The meeting was called to order by Mrs. How-ard Richard, president, and opened with a prayer by Rev. Langford Schiel. The minutes from the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Henry Juncker, secretary, and also read a report on the meeting of the Federation of Clubs in San Antonio, which was attended by Mrs. Howard Rickhart, Mrs. Floyd Price, and Mrs. Frank Anderwald last Wednesday. A motion by the chairman's hearing, which the Federation wants to buy, was discussed and voted on. It was unanimously voted to help the Federation buy the machine. The club voted to buy floor cover-ing for the dormitory in the Sis-ter convent. All present also agreed to having a Halloween party for both young and old. The club will provide transportation for some members to attend the Federation of Clubs meeting in San Antonio. In the absence of the treasurer, reports on the income and expenses were read by the secretary. The election of officers was held and all the old officers were reelected except Mrs. Hans Teich and Mrs. Karl Kutner were elected vice-president and secretary respectively. They were installed. First Friday breakfast will be served by the second grade mothers. Miss Vo-rnon Anderwald was the at-tendance prize for members pre-sent. The attendance prize was won by the first and second grade room. This year the club will use a circulating prize. The Sisters were given a grocery shower. They received a total of groceries. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served. —Reporter.

PORTER IS FOR STATE HIGHWAY

Weatherford, Sept. 29—Jack Porter opened his bid for election to the U. S. Senate from Texas on the Republican ticket in his old hometown Tuesday night, out-lined a 12-point campaign plat-form, and promised to discuss from time to time "the dire need for two-party government in Texas."

He expressed opposition to any civil rights program or any similar program proposed to either the Democratic or Repub-lican administration. "These matters," he said, must be handled by the states individ-ually," he said. This included opposition to the enactment by Congress of a law creating a National Fair Employment Prac-tices Commission. Porter called the legislation "communistic and socialistic."

RUSSIANS EXPECTED EARLY VICTORY

Washington, Sept. 29—Informed observers said today that Russian officials convinced officials of the western allies would end in "the greatest American diplomatic compromise in history."

reports reaching here said the Soviet Union's armies are confident that in early August they pass all the word quietly to editors in the Communist satellite states to "stand by" for news of a sweeping Russian propaganda victory.

The editors reportedly were ordered to jump on for joy as it is before and to explode it to the limit as an American defeat.

Highly placed informants who accept these intelligence reports as true advanced this theory as to why the "Soviet victory" was expected and it never came:

Soviet over-confidence — Premier Josef Stalin was con-vinced he held all the aces while the conferences started and the Western powers would be squeezed out of Berlin if Russia refused to lift her block-ade.

Soviet strategy — Russia planned to lift the blockade only if the Western powers post-poned their arrangements for establishment a Western German government.

Soviet miscalculations — the Kremlin did not reckon on the ability of the allied air lift to supply Berlin through the winter, the unity of the United States, Britain and France, or the willingness of the people of Berlin to undergo hardship.

These informants said that Stalin and Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov were rebuffed during their conferences on their demand for abandonment of plans for the Western German government.

Late in August, it became ap-parent to the Kremlin that the Western powers were not going to yield on that point. The Soviets gave up their hope for an American "humiliation" but decided to drag on the negotia-tions and force the Western powers to break them off.

Russia then tried to salvage a negative propaganda victory blaming the Western powers for failure to reach agree-ment, the United Press inform-ants said. That is the line now being taken by Communist newspapers in Europe.

Selective service said it has no data on the number of draft-age men who deliberately avoided registration, but it be-lieves the number is small. How-ever, the department of Justice said "quite a few" cases of op-parent draft-dodging are being investigated by the Federal Bu-reau of Investigation.

The total registration figure for the U. S. and territories is about 17,000,000 less than pre-registration estimates. Part of the difference is due to the en-listment of more than 100,000 men in the Army between July 1 and September 24. How much of the new draft age is not known.

The Killing in the Melon Patch

By J. Marvin Hunter

(NOTE—The following fact story was published in Frontier Times for February, 1934. Later Frontier Times, ceased publication, revamped the story, with my permission, and it was used in the Reader's Digest. I have received several replies to it, proving the story as it appeared in Frontier Times, and here it is.)

It has always been my honest belief that "the sheerest and best watermelons raised anywhere in Texas are those raised in Mason county. I have lived in other counties where good watermelons are raised, but I have never yet found any melons that could equal in flavor, as well as size, those raised by Uncle Gainey Westbrook, of the Honey Creek region, or Uncle Tax Saunders, south of Mason, or Uncle Frank Hubbard, north of Mason, or Uncle Bill Hubbard, west of Mason, and just a few of the farmers who had the good fortune to be born on a boy, and whose patches were well known to the "peach orchard" country. There the old saying that it is a lot of iron in the rich soil of Mason county, which seems to give watermelons a superior flavor, and though I have travel-ed for more than forty-seven years days, I have never found water-melons anywhere that were as sweet and good as those grown in Mason county. I do not mean to infer that I made a practice of raiding watermelon patches and peach orchards in those days, nor do I claim absolute innocence, as I was one of those "good little boys" who stayed home at night, always told the truth, obeyed my parents, answered "Yes, sir," and "Yes, ma'am" when spoken to by elderly people, and went to Sun-day school every Sunday, as my father and mother wished. How-ever, there were times, when, while on my way home I was soundly sleeping after a hard day's work, I "walked in my sleep" in order to walk on the side I would have to crawl through a barbwire fence. Those "walks" usually led me to where my chums were waiting, and we would go to Lone Bridge orchard, or out to the nearest watermelon patch. Some time in the early hours of the morning, before the gray streaks of dawn appeared in the east, we would crawl back through my window and into bed without disturbing my sleeping parents. And at the breakfast table I would be the embodiment of innocence when my father would remark that I looked mighty drowsy and sleepy. My good mother would lay it to that fact that "a growing boy is always drowsy and sleepy."

One of the most amusing inci-dents in connection with water-melon patch raiding occurred in the summer of 1896, in which Uncle Taz Saunders was made the victim of a hoax that blew through the fence and went over to nine o'clock the next morning. I was awakened by a neighbor, who told me that Uncle Taz had found a man dead in his melon patch, and that he had shot him with his shotgun. He had come to my house to get me to go with him to the scene of the killing, as he wanted me to help him bury the dead man. I was scared stiff, and asked the neighbor what he was going to do with me, and he replied that he was going to have me arrested as an accomplice. I begged him not to do that, and told him that I would go with him to the scene of the killing, and help him bury the dead man, but that I would not be responsible for what I might do with the corpse after I got there. He laughed at my fears, and told me that I would be all right, as I had not killed the man.

When I arrived at the scene of the killing, I found Uncle Taz sitting on a log, with his shotgun across his knees, and a crowd of men standing around. I was afraid to look at the dead man, but finally got up enough courage to do so. I found that the dead man was a stranger to me, and I was relieved to that extent. I asked Uncle Taz how he killed the man, and he told me that he had shot him with his shotgun. I asked him why he had killed the man, and he replied that he had found him in his melon patch, and had shot him to keep him from stealing his melons. I asked him if he had any other reason for killing the man, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to steal his melons, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm him, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his property, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his family, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his friends, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his enemies, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his neighbors, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his community, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his country, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his world, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his universe, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his God, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his soul, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his eternal salvation, and he replied that he had not. I asked him if he had any reason to believe that the man intended to harm his eternal damnation, and he replied that he had not. The Killing in the Melon Patch

By J. Marvin Hunter

(NOTE—The following fact and the remarks of a dim-sighted old man, who published in Frontier Times for February, 1954. Later I met Mr. Gipson, outstanding writer, and revamped the story, with my permission, and it was used in the book "Sundown Range," and in Reader's Digest. I have received several requests to reprint the story as it appeared in Frontier Times, and here it is:)

It has always been my honest belief that "the Almighty" put the watermelons raised anywhere in Texas are those raised in Mason county. I have lived in other countries where good watermelons are raised, but I have never yet found any melons that could equal in flavor, size and shape those raised by Uncle Gainey Wedgeworth, of the Honey Creek region, or Uncle Taz Sandmeyer, south of Mason, or Uncle Frank Hubbard, Uncle Bill Hubbard, or Uncle Bill Leslie, east of Mason. These are just a few of the farmers who raised watermelons when I was a boy, and whose patches were well known to the "peach orchard thieves" of the community. There is a lot of iron in the rich soil of Mason county, when sowed to grow watermelons a superior flavor, and though I have traveled far afar those happy boyhood days, I have never found watermelons that were as sweet and good as those of old Mason county. I do not mean to infer that I made a practice of robbing watermelon patches and peach orchards in Mason county, but I do claim absolute innocence. I will say that I have "spud stole" when stayed home at night, always got whipped, obeyed my parents, answered "Yes, sir" and "yes, ma'am," when spoken to by my parents, and went to Sunday school every Sunday, as my father and mother wished. However, there were times, even then, while my good parents were sleeping the sleep of the just, I would forget myself, I walked in my sleep, I used to walk out, and one I would have to crawl through my bedroom window. There were times when I would where my chores were waiting, and when I went to Lare Bridges' orchard, or one to the Jones watermelon patch. Some time in the early hours of the morning before the gray streaks of dawn appeared in the east, I would crawl back through my window, and into bed without disturbing my mother, and after my breakfast table I would be the embodiment of innocence when my father would remark that I looked mighty drowsy and sleepy.

One of the most amusing incidents in connection with watermelon patch raiding occurred in the summer of 1896, in which Uncle Taz Sandmeyer was made the victim of a hoax that nobody

It was always my honest belief that Uncle Taz's melons were the finest in the world, and I was not the only one who thought so. Uncle Taz thought so himself, and he was not backward about saying so. Uncle Taz was a crank on watermelons. He talked, and quarrelsome, and excitedly called "Stop that watermelon thief!" The "man" obtained possession of course, and Uncle Taz let him have both barrels of that double-barrel shotgun. The "man" then fell over, and when Uncle Taz turned and struck out for the home in a run, and in a little while we heard him load two guns out of the stables and start for town in a buggy. The road ran within twenty-five steps of where we were camped, and when he passed us he was quitting his old home in a run, going to town to get the sheriff. We decided to wait for further developments.

Mason did not have a new phone system in those days, so Uncle Taz had to personally make the news to the sheriff that somebody had been killed over at his farm, and the sheriff must investigate the matter. In a little while we heard a vehicle coming rapidly from towards town. And soon discovered that it was "Sheriff Gibbs and a deputy in a buggy, and Uncle Taz on horseback. Another buggy soon came along, and in it was Dr. Grandstaff. As it was necessary for the road to the place in the melon patch where the vine of Uncle Taz's shotgun lay than it was from the house to the melon patch, the vehicles were stopped at the side of the road and the sheriff and his deputy got out and crawled

(From Bill Bandera's Note Book, October 6, 1921, published by Marvin Hunter.)

W. S. Ethridge went to San Antonio on business.

Mrs. Ethridge is spending a few weeks with relatives in Fort Worth.

Lulie Maverick and family came up from San Antonio to spend the week-end.

Mrs. John Bates, of Honey Creek, has been the guest of relatives here and at Tarpley the past week.

Mrs. Ben Frost and Mrs. Sam Saunders was my friend, sheriff, and I was glad to let the matter drop. Mrs. Bruce acted as chairman and Mrs. A. Kutzer as social secretary in Mrs. W. Haether's place.

Literary work was voted on to be held during the week of October 13-22. There will be beans in each of the booths in town to leave all books collected and it is hoped everyone will contribute. Election of the better specimens, they are asked to leave them. In the meeting was turned over to Mrs. E. C. Hamilton, acting on the public square. John Mayo went to his back and asked him if he had any watermelons. "Yes, boys," he said pleasantly. "Come on down to the house and those big melons for twenty-five cents."

"Has any of them melons got blood on em?" I asked.

"No, sir, not a drop of blood on them," queried Uncle Taz.

"Well, I thought maybe that man you killed in your watermelon patch the other night fell on them and got some of his blood on 'em," I said, innocently.

Uncle Taz's whiskers seemed to be bristling with anger as he looked me full in the face. "I'll bet this white headed rascal has had a hand in something to do with that tarnation scrape," he said.

"Yes," I said. "We're guilty. The big joke is on you, Uncle Taz. You will never get over it. Next week's Herald, It will give you the full particulars of that raid, and tell how you came out on top and got the sheriff and the doctor and the whole town to help you. A good job you did in shooting a charge of rock salt, instead of a carpet tacks, bits of barbed wire and rock salt and slugs. I guess you'll never try to kill anybody with anything but rock salt, and the other will give you a description of ninety-nine ways to assault with intent to commit murder."

Uncle Taz stood there and looked at me for a full minute, then he exploded with laughter. "Boys," he said, "you certainly put one over on me, and I acknowledge the corn. no hard

Your Most Important Right

Now that the hundt-tand has been painted, and the park re-landscaped, we have about the nicest village green in the country.

And it's all because, at the last town election, folks got out and voted—85 per cent of them! That way, they passed the amendment calling for park improvements—over those opposing it.

Reminds you again how important the right to vote is in this country. And it's a right we all retain only by exercising it! like all the other individual liberties—from freedom to enjoy a glass of beer or ale, to a woman's right to vote along with men.

Folks can thank themselves that on summer evenings they'll be able to listen to band concerts in a well-kept park . . . enjoyed a bottle of beer or soda pop (whatever they prefer). Because from where I sit, that's a freedom they've earned by exercising a still more important freedom: Voting!

THE REMNANT OF A COMMUNIST COLONY

Very few people know that in 1856, Victor Considerant and a remnant of the French communist colony settled at the head of the Sabinal river, in Bandera county, Texas, that is now in the Thompson estate. Considerant and his colony had left France in 1854 [illegible] on the Trinity river, near Dallas, [illegible] and after [illegible] crossing the plains of the state, [illegible] A few remained upon the domain of the association, with some separate organization, but they were faithful to Considerant and followed him to the wilds of the frontier, while the great body scattered to their own fortunes over the state. One of the causes of the failure of the colony is attributed to the fact that an application for the incorporation failed in the State Senate, at the 1855 session of 1856. Considerant's plans for a settlement on the Sabinal river failed, and for some years he resided in San Antonio, and likely died there. A relic of this settlement is now in Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. It is the double-barrel of a fine muzzle-loading shotgun, bearing gold letters of a French name inlaid in the barrel, which was picked up on the site some years ago.

Funeral Rites For Pat Towers

Last Sunday the St. Joseph's Cadets defeated the Bandera Bulldogs in a football game. The Bandera elementary school team was defeated by the Cadets by a score of 19 to 0.

Bulldogs Tackle Yellow Jackets

Last Friday night the Bandera Bulldogs journeyed to Sabinal to engage the Sabinal Yellow Jackets in a game of football. The Yellow Jackets turned out to be a fine aggregation of football players which easily redeemed themselves from their showing there against the Hot Wells a couple of weeks ago. The Yellow Jackets were doped to beat the Bulldogs at least five touchdowns, but were lucky to edge out the visitors by a narrow margin.

The Bulldogs tore into the Yellow Jackets from the very first and blocked with more viciousness and determination than it was thought possible. The Bulldogs tackled with such force that they made all the Yellow Jackets were thrown for loss. Scarcely ever can it be said that a team played the full game without a single let up, but that is exactly what the Bulldogs did against the supposedly stronger team. Several times the Bulldogs threw the visitors for long yardage on the opponents' goal line, and once in further play the Bandera boys threw it brought back, due to the fact that an over anxious Bulldog was off side.

The Bulldogs tangle with the Pearsall Eagles next Friday night. What a game this should be. Bowrne has the best team that the school has ever been able to produce, and the Bandera Bulldogs realize that they can [illegible] football. They will be in there Friday night playing for all they are worth.

Fine Arts Club Opens Social Season

The Fine Arts Club held the first meeting of the club season at the Frontier Hotel Tuesday. The Frontier Coffee Shop furnished the delicious turkey dinner which was served in the hotel lobby. After the luncheon a business meeting was held, with Mrs. Melvin Bossman, president, presiding. Mrs. Lee W. Graham gave the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting.

Mrs. Bossman introduced the business chairman for the day, Mrs. Hines Mayfield, who in turn introduced her co-hostesses, Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. W. W. Cardwell, Mrs. R. Griffith, Mrs. Raymond Hicks, Mrs. Bob Hatchett, Mrs. Fabian Arnold, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Mrs. Preston Brown, Mrs. C. H. Cardwell, Mrs. Erle Mansfield, Mrs. Dan Callahan, Mrs. Grant Footy and Mrs. Ellen Wright.

The luncheon tables were taste fully decorated with the flowers and details of servient went very smoothly with members of the hostess group serving. They included Mrs. Hugh Smith, Mrs. Bob Hatchett, Mrs. Fabian Arnold, Mrs. W. C. Allen, Mrs. Preston Brown, Mrs. C. H. Cardwell, Mrs. Erle Mansfield, Mrs. Dan Callahan, Mrs. Grant Footy and Mrs. Ellen Wright.

The hostess group with the exception of Justice Black, after bearing both Johnson's and Stevenson's lawyers argue their cases on Sept. 28 ordered the federal court injunction lifted. The same ruling was rendered federal judges to steer clear of state political revolt. Stevenson's lawyers then asked the Supreme Court to throw out Justice Black's decision. But the high court upheld Black's decision by refusing to review the matter Tuesday.

It denied a motion asking the court to issue an order similar to that by Justice Black Sept. 28 in dismissing the case. The full court did not set proceedings in the Johnson case in motion. It left the decision to Judge Ben Rice, Division in Texas.

Stevenson Loses Another Round

Washington, Oct. 5—(7)—Supreme Court in effect today gave way Tuesday for the name of Lyndon B. Johnson to appear on the Texas election ballot as the Democratic candidate for the U. S. Senate. Johnson topped Gov. Coke Stevenson by 87 votes in the August 28 runoff primary in which almost 1,000,000 votes were cast. He was later certified by the State Democratic Convention as the party's candidate. However, Stevenson charged ballot frauds in three South Texas counties and won a federal court injunction that would have kept Johnson's name off the ballot in November. Stevenson then asked the Supreme court to throw out the federal court's decision. But the high court upheld Black's decision by refusing to review the matter Tuesday.

The article was taken during a conference at which Justice Black and Justice Burton Murphy, who is undergoing medical treatment at Walter Reed hospital, participated. Justice Murphy's absence from the high court was a major reason for his latter fight to keep Johnson's name off the ballot. Murphy, who is not seek reelection, the high court upheld Black's decision by refusing to review the matter Tuesday.

Miss Gloria Skinner Bandera's Ranch Girl

Miss Gloria Skinner, Bandera girl who was chosen by Gene Autry's Associates to be world champion at the Madison Square Garden Rodeo, now in progress, writes most interesting letters of her experiences in Gotham. She has enjoyed every minute of the time she has been there. The number of tickets sold at the Houston dance held at the Rice Hotel was over 1500. These enthusiastic Bandera fans were so thrilled over the chance to get into the dance hall at 7:45, although the dance wasn't scheduled to begin until 8:30.

In Galveston the reception was even more marked. Mayor Cartwright loosed the following proclamation in the Galveston Daily News of Saturday, October 2:

"Whereas, visitors go to the city by the thousands during the big and rinchee fair months as they do to the long, while beaches and blue gulf waters of Galveston, at Mansfield Park to enjoy a barbecue supervised by T. E. Adams and a big barbecue a fast-moving rodeo was put on for the guests, which proved to be quite a thriller. At 8:30 every one re-convened at the Rice Hotel ballroom to the music of the Stompeders. The people of Bandera certainly do en mass to welcome the visitors and make them feel that they were at home and the entertainment for the group was given by the cider of Mrs. Dixie Treloar's dance class. The children put on the popular "Wedding of Paul and Virginia" and "Old Lilly Fox," "Cotton-Eyed Joe," Schottische and the Virginia Reel.

Officers of the association are as follows: Ed Flynn, president, Chicago; Earl E. Kinslow, Washington, vice-president; Ed R. Hutton, Chicago, secretary-treasurer; officers at large, Fred Fitzgerald, Chicago; and W. H. Cornell, secretary-treasurer, Chicago.

It was through the suggestions of A. J. Lewis, president of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce, that the "Ticket Agents' Association became interested in Bandera. Mr. Lewis, who is a director of the Ticket Agents' Association became interested in Bandera when a boy scout troop was made with our local town. Mr. Lewis was present and arrangements were made for this large group to visit town.

Round-up Ranch at Houston-Galveston

The Bandera Round Up dances, sponsored by the Bandera Tourist Association in Houston and Galveston last week-end, were semi-successful. About 75 ranch hands and cowboys went from the cities to renew acquaintance with friends and to make new ones. The number of tickets sold at the Houston dance held at the Rice Hotel was over 1500. These enthusiastic Bandera fans were so thrilled over the chance to get into the dance hall at 7:45, although the dance wasn't scheduled to begin until 8:30.

"Whereas, visitors go to the city by the thousands during the big and rinchee fair months as they do to the long, while beaches and blue gulf waters of Galveston, at Mansfield Park to enjoy a barbecue supervised by T. E. Adams and a big barbecue will be held at the Round-up dance in the Marine Room of the Pleasure Pier Ballroom, in addition to these activities the girls are being "stripped" and posed at every convenable function and Gloria wants Bandera to know that one photographer took an entire sheet of notes about Bandera, and that has been nicknamed "Bandera" after her home-town, and also because she is the smallest of the group.

Gloria writes that at the Benefit Ball given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce in the Galveston Ballroom, they could reach up and touch the stars and celebrities who appeared on the program, including Jane Russell, Bob Hope, Jerry Colona, Dinah Shore, Margaret O'Brien, and those present. James Stewart, Ella Logan, Tony Romano, Bill Holden, Ann Sothern, Van Johnson, Lucille Ball, Fibber McGee and Molly, Jimmy Durante, Jack Carson, Larry Adler, Marlene Dietrich, Johnnie Johnston, Desmond Tester, Ethel Merman, Mrs. J. Doss Hutchinson, Mrs. Dixie Treloar, Beth Skinner, Lena Horn, Peggy Maynard, Frank Sinatra, Frank McHugh, Ginger Rose Lee, Jack Dempsey, Admiral Mercullen, Mrs. Admiral Mercullen, Hershey Spatz, and others.

Gloria reports an amusing incident in connection with a little practicing in the hall of her hotel; an old man glared at her as he had a rope, and was doing so. Quoting Gloria, but the manager upstairs, giving her permission to practice rope-twirling in the hall. Gloria reports that Herbert Lee Hoover appeared on this same TV broadcast. Bandera is mighty proud to be represented in Miss Skinner, and wishes her much pleasure and success from this experience in New York.

SPREADING ELECTRAL SERVICE

Recently the Edison Electric Institute reported that 93 millionth electrical customer in the United States. ... [illegible] ... equal of the number ... [illegible] ... in 1940 ... [illegible] ... electrical service.

During the first six months of this year 1,170,000 new customers were connected to power lines, a 4 per cent increase over last year. Rural areas and small residential towns led in the number of new customers. Not only is the number of customers increasing but also greatly increasing is the amount of electricity used by the average customer. The average annual consumption of 952 kilowatt hours for domestic use in 1940 had risen to 1,345 kilowatt hours by the end of June this year.

In 1940 rural areas there still are homes for which electric service is unavailable because of difficulties in building transmission lines. Probably 100 per cent of the homes in the country will not have electrical service for some years to come.

Considering the difficulty in getting equipment and labor through the war years, and even since the end of fighting, electrical use growth to the 40-millionth customer mark is a remarkable achievement.

EVEN THE ERRORS COULD CANCEL EACH OTHER

That was a real blackbuster that came from the U. S. Supreme Court the other day in the ruling of Justice Hugo Black on the injunction granted by Judge T. Allen Hughes to keep Lyndon Johnson's name going on the ballot, of course, the name is not there yet, but the bar is being clarified and Johnson's followers are beginning to see the chance of the victory gained at the polls.

On the other hand, there is reason to believe that any investigation can cause close to maintaining the footings of the State Democratic Executive Committee. For instance in Brown county where there is a contest over the validity of the ballots by reason of the election judge's alleged failure to initial them, Johnson would pick up a sizeable block of votes should 1,727 ballots be erased there. Error likely would cancel error throughout the state if the probed asked for were to be carried to their ultimate end.

The alternative to any final decision by the U. S. Supreme Court or by the highest judicial body in Texas would be a write-in campaign, putting the best on for another month, regardless of any change in season. The political climate in Texas apparently knows no equinox, unless perchance some of the supreme jurists can take over as a weather maker.—San Angelo Standard.

Whenever the value of the package exceeds the value of the contents, that's glamour.

CAUTION IN THE ELECTION

Two of those who live in the county voted over and over in the election to the important force of government except in American history.

The county political machine which not only governs Bexar county but also keeps the record of poll tax payments for the city of San Antonio, would have voted the dead ... [illegible] ... the enlisted men and officers of the Army Air Corps, either of cities or the state itself.

Fortunately the vigilant work of the county political machine will not only ... [illegible] ... Democratic primary ... [illegible] ... 1944, 1,338.

Most of the Republican gains since 1932 have been made in the states, mostly industrial states, moving from ... [illegible] ... Ohio, Pennsylvania and the Pacific Coast. ... [illegible] ... states with 159 counties ... [illegible] ... only 17 of the 159 counties failed to go Democratic last year, while the Republicans won 177 of them.

While it is true that ... [illegible] ... 100 electors are ... [illegible] ... basis of electoral votes and votes by the candidates ... [illegible] ... the popular majority in each state ... [illegible] ... and it is also true that the ... [illegible] ... votes are ... [illegible] ... vote in major cities sufficient to overcome the votes in counties lacking such population concentration, nevertheless the vote by counties reflects an interesting trend, and explains why so much emphasis in the present campaign has been given by prospective candidate tours through the Middle West and the Pacific states.—San Antonio Evening News.

AS ELECTION DAY APPROACHES

Washington, Sept. 30—President Truman is strong in the West and may carry a substantial number of the States West of the Mississippi River. Governor Dewey is strong in the East and in other of Wallace defections from the Democratic Party, will gather enough electoral votes to win decisively. This is the start-up assumption of most of the experts. It means that President Truman, who has been written off as a political corpse, will be returned to the White House by the votes of the politicos' cards right this spring. There is every evidence that the Democratic Party is still the majority party in the nation. Only the split in its ranks—largely due to Mr. Truman's inadequacy as a political leader, is about to bring defeat after nearly 16 years of power.

As it is, the popular vote—when combining the Wallace and Truman strength—appears on form that the Democrats have a better than even chance to win control of the United States Senate.

Only if there is a landslide of Republican votes can the Republicans win the Senate. They must be stronger in the West than shown by the polls thus far made.

The campaign resembles most and more the 1916 Presidential contest when Woodrow Wilson earned the West and early East and New Hampshire East of the Mississippi. He had, of course, the border states and the Solid South. Today Mr. Truman will lose some of the electoral votes of the South to the Wallace ticket, but he has a fair chance to win. There is even a chance that Dewey may pick up substantial votes South of the Mason and Dixon Line.

To many people the ways and wherefores of popular voting may not be important or significant—they are interested solely in who is going to be President. That's the real question to answer, providing two things are taken for granted. One is victory for one man or another, and the other is that there will be no recount of a real or fancied crisis between now and election day to complicate the picture and confuse voters. To keep the present administration in power as they did in 1940 and 1944.

Will Wallace withdraw? President Truman has all but emptied every plank in the Wallace platform. There is no demagoguery emanating from the Wallace camp any stronger than that which Mr. Truman has been pouring out in the West. As for the Communist charge, Mr. Truman has called it a "red herring" and certainly the Wallace followers should take notice of the fact that Mr. Truman's administration has not really been harsh or the Communists in jail—at least, so the congressional committee say by their reports. This means that, as between Truman and Dewey, the Communists in the Wallace camp certainly will not gain by causing Truman's defeat.

Would the last minute Wallace knight be persuaded to withdraw. It looked earlier this year that he and his followers would be content with the kind of campaign that compels the Democrats to swallow their third party ideas. It is difficult to see how Wallace can gain anything politically now by staying in the race. A withdrawal may not seem probable at the moment, but it is logical. Wallace will be a real horse-face.

If the Wallace vote splits Truman leading by a wide majority in Michigan, Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa and the Dakotas, Dewey would be in the White House. Other Western States lean toward Truman. Even the Texas vote of the combined Wallace vote is far in excess of the Republican vote. Roosevelt carried Texas in 1944 by 800,000 votes.

The race will be run in November than it is today, but it certainly is not now so far as popular votes are concerned. On that basis the contest may turn out to be almost as close as the 1944 election when Roosevelt had a huge electoral vote, but squeezed out slim majorities in many states. Dewey seems certain to win, but October happenings are yet to be written across the scene, and much can happen overnight both nationally and internationally.

The Wallace strength is rapidly dwindling, and will dwindle leaving only a handful of real Communists—not over 10,000 in the whole country—to carry in the campaign.—David Lawrence.

U. S. SHOULD BE FAIR BUT

Salt Lake City, Sept. 30—Governor Thomas E. Dewey declared today that the United States should deal with Russia "in a firm but friendly spirit" and "be fair but should not be afraid to be firm."

He made this statement in laying down this dictum in a foreign policy speech in the auditorium of the Salt Lake City Tabernacle. The tabernacle, which holds a seated audience of 8,000 to 10,000, was filled to capacity and 3,000 additional 4,000 standing in the entire tabernacle. At least another 2,000 stood in the famed temple square to hear him speak.

Dewey's speech was received with tumultuous applause.

"The best way for us to get along with the Soviet leaders is to deal with them as strong people and by doing so to relieve their respect for us," Dewey said.

"We shall deal with the Soviets as with all other nations in a spirit of friendship and fairness, but we should make it perfectly plain that now or hereafter we do not intend to be bullied or bluffed."

Despite the "steady march of Communist agression" and the new crisis confronting the world in the United Nations deliberations in Paris of the present time, Dewey declared:

"It is not too late to develop and pursue a consistent and effective foreign policy to make the Soviet understand that, just as we intend to deal fairly and honestly with" others, so we insist that others must deal fairly and honestly with us."

In the Paris negotiations, he said, "lies our hope that cruelty and aggression will yield to the spirit of firmness and justice."

"The G.O.P. candidate, who has maintained direct contact with the Paris meeting, guaranteed that there will be no appeasement. That road, he said, "can lead only to slavery or to war."

Upon entering a saddler's shop Scotchman asked for a single spur. "Why," asked the man, "do you want only one spur?"

"Well," replied his frugal customer, "if I can get one side of the horse to go, the other will have to come with it."

Mr. Truman, in his swing through Texas, did not make many cuts for the Democratic party. Since his trip through Texas when he spent weekends at Lyndon Johnson and gave him his blessing in the contest for the United States Senate, several of the newspapers of the state, including the conservative old Dallas News, the Houston Chronicle, the Galveston News, and other leading papers, have come out for Dewey for President. Even those the sign the wind blows in Texas may go Republican in November.

With the glaring evidences of fraud which have been committed in the Jim Wells county runoff election, it seems certain that if Lyndon Johnson goes to Washington to claim a seat in the United States Senate, the testimony in the Jim Wells county election will be ordered and contained by the Federal Judge. That Johnson's son's seat in the Senate will be contested within the precincts of that august body is pretty certain, and a Federal investigation of election methods by some of our Texas counties may reveal some startling violations of the election laws.

Again we sound a note of warning about crossing street intersections. Don't fail to look, look and listen, particularly at all crossings on Thirteenth, Dolorosa and Main. Since this street was paved traffic has been speeded up, and as there are several "blind" corners, the danger of collision is greater. We regret to note that STOP signs have been knocked down at the corner of Pecan and Thirteenth and at the corner of Hackberry and Thirteenth, and carelessly tossed aside. Motorists should use extreme caution in approaching crossings.

TEXAS CAN GO REPUBLICAN THIS WAY

Texas can go Republican this year, if enough of Texas' and a majority of all true Texans, are ashamed of Texas, and a majority of all true Texans, are ashamed of the present Democratic administration and of what Democratic leaders have done to Texas, and will vote Republican for President, Governor and other state officials, and for Congressmen, Senators and Representatives in the state legislature, and for district and county officials, says a pamphlet prepared and distributed by the Republican state committee. "Texas can go Republican this year," the pamphlet declares, "when Texans realize that the Democratic party has not been the party of Texas for many years. Texas can go Republican this year when Texans realize that the Democratic party has not been the party of the people

LENVAL AKIN IS FORMER BANDERA COUNTY BOY

Mrs. Erice H. Mayfield, of Mercedes, sent us a copy of the Troop Courier, published at the Berg-strom Air Base, Austin, Texas, which contained an article about her grandson M-Sgt. Lenval Akin. Lenval's parents died in 1920, when he was ten years old, and he made his home with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Erice H. Mayfield, at Medina. The article which appeared in the Troop Courier follows:

"M-Sgt. Lenval Akin, the man responsible for keeping the clogs and spuds you eat each day. A native of Texas, M-Sgt. Akin received military service 6 February 1933 at Fort Crockett, Galveston, Texas. After over 4 years continuous service with the 3rd Cavalry at Ft. Clark, Texas, Sgt. Akin transferred to the Air Force and was assigned to Kelly Field, Texas, in November, 1941. Since then he has spent 18 months overseas in India with monkeys and dipper shaped items of respect for W. O. Patton. native behind the sergeant to better appreciate the gals and locusts of the post one U. S. to be married and settled down to a life of moving here and there. First to Albuquerque, N. The Camels at Camp Verde

By J. Marvin Hunter

The skeleton of a camel which is standing in a frame at the National Museum in Washington, D. C., demonstrates the sole reason for the shipment of camels brought from the Far East in the 1850's, while Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War, in an effort to solve the problem of transporting military supplies between the Mississippi River and the military posts across the Western deserts.

Hostility of native mule drivers to the "ships of the desert" and the beginning of the Civil War are assigned by Government authorities as the reason for the failure of the effort to utilize camels as burden carriers over the Western plains.

Dr. Charles C. Carroll, formerly of the Department of Agriculture has written an official history of the importation of camels. He says the idea of transplanting the beasts to America originated with the Spanish after the conquest of South America and toward the end of the 16th Century they were introduced into Peru. They were found to be well adapted to that country, however, and they multiplied and were transplanted to Virginia from Guinea in 1701, but there is no authentic record of the enterprise except that it failed.

Transportation troubles during the stubborn Indian war in Florida caused Maj. Henry C. Wayne to advocate the use of the desert beasts. He naturally inquired into the camel's habits and plans.

Some years later Maj. Henry C. Wayne suggested to the War Department and to members of Congress a plan for Government importation. His ideas were endorsed by Jefferson Davis, then chairman of the Senate Military Committee, and after Mr. Davis became secretary of war under President Pierce, he pressed the project. Finally in December, 1854, Congress approved an amendment by Senator Bibbins, of Illinois, to the army appropriation bill providing $30,000 to be expended under the direction of the War Department in purchase and importation of camels and dromedaries to be employed for military purposes.

Secretary Davis at once sent Maj. Wayne to the Levant to round up the camels the secretary of the Navy, acting at the request of Mr. Davis the storeship Supply, with her crew, under the command of Lieutenant David H. Porter (afterward Admiral Porter) it was ordered that the ship land at a Texas port, as it was supposed the climate here would more resemble that of the Far East.

Maj. Wayne and Lieutenant Porter bought their first animal in Tunis in August, 1855, and upon applying for a permit to bring the camel away the Bey of Tunis presented to the United States two other animals, one of which finally became the veteran of the American herd.

The ship then went to Constantinople, where the officers declined an offer of the Sultan of Turkey to present four camels to the United States because it was said he animals would have to be brought from Asia and the officers did not want to wait for them. The Supply went from Constantinople to Alexandria, Egypt, where it was proposed to purchase 10 dromedaries and 30 camels, but "red tape" so disgusted the Americans that they loaded two others obtained in Tunis before leaving here for $44 after they were found to have signs of itch.

Gwyn H. Heap was sent on from Smyrna, and when the Supply arrived at that point the remaining camels were found and purchased. Mr. Heap had purchased them at prices ranging from $100 to $400.

The voyage home was begun on February 15, 1856, with 33 animals, nine dromedaries, or fine pacers, 23 camels of burden, and one calf. Six Arabs were engaged to come along with the animals as it was thought they would prove useful in their management. A "camel driver" was found on board. Mr. D. but his medical services were dispensed with after it was found that his cure for a cold was a piece of cheese for swelled jaw, tea stewed with gunpowder, and for trifling complaints, tickling the animal's nose with a chanson's tail.

The cargo was landed at Indianola, Texas, May 14, 1856, and the beasts were taken by easy stages to San Antonio, 120 miles away, where Maj. Wayne planned to establish a camel ranch and to breed camels for the use of the United States army.

When I came to Bandera nearly thirty years ago I found living here a number of citizens who remembered the camels at Camp Verde. Junius W. Walker of Jackson Creek community was employed during the Civil War in herding some of these camels. He showed me a bell which one of the camels had worn. Amasa Clark, of Bandera, herded these camels for some months, and had in his possession two pillows made from the hair of camels he had shorn. Andy Jones, who lived near Bandera Pass, told me how he had roped and ridden one of these unbroken beasts. Mrs. Sutherland related how, while attending school at Bandera, an old mare camel came lumbering along one day, and he and some of the other school children forced her to kneel and they climbed upon her back and rode her. An account is given in my pamphlet, "Old Camp Verde, the Home of the Camels," published some years ago, and now being republished, of how women and children of the post, Camp Verde, rode camels to a camp-meeting conducted by early preachers near Fort Inge.

In 1861, when the Civil War came on, Camp Verde was "captured" by the Confederate forces, and W. Williams in his book, "With the Border Ruffians," tells about taking over the post and the camels. Mr. Williams was present at the surrender of the post. When the camels were seized, the Federal government took possession of the post and after a short time ordered its abandonment, the camels being, sold or left as stated above. During the war, however, the herd had been so badly managed and cared for that many of the animals escaped and wandered at will over these mountains and valleys, and for a long time after the war wild camels were seen in these Bandera hills.

24 OPERATIONS MEAN EARS FOR GARY LANG

Manchester, Conn.—Gary Lang, six, went fishing the other day and didn't mind if anybody else was looking. For the first time in his young life, he could hear what was going on—the noise of the brook, the "catching anything" questions.

But even bigger, in Gary's life was the fact that for the first time he had ears. They are just for show, created for him by plastic surgery in 24 operations for Gary was born without ear drums, today, however, he can hear and talk. He will still need more operations to make his ears look just right, but he no longer afraid other youngsters will point at him when he is around them.

Gary spent most of his life in a hospital ward. Dr. John Lee, his story got to Irving I. Schach, 1st, industrial president of a local aircraft company, who wanted to have a hand in the youngster's transformation. Schachter's experts went to work, and when they found Gary's head bones were developed to an amazing degree of sensitivity, they decided on a special hearing device through his skull.

The skull bones were created through surgery aren't necessary for hearing, they are necessary to Gary's self-confidence. And the additional operations that will be needed are a financial strain for Mrs. Mary Lang the boy's mother.

So Schachter talked to the businessmen in Manchester and started a plan for Gary's future. Now there's a growing trust fund that will take care of Gary's medical, hospital and educational needs. The fact that he was born deaf and partly mars makes Gary a lot different from the children he plays with, on his vacations from the hospital. The miracle to Mrs. Lang is that neither Gary nor the other children notice that difference any more.

Your ad in the Bulletin will bring results.

Looking Backward

From the Bandera New Era, October 11, 1923, published by J. Marvin Hunter.

Little Miss Mildred Langford celebrated her eighth birthday with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Langford, last Thursday afternoon, from 4 to 6 o'clock. Various children's games were enjoyed, and toasted marshmallows, crackers and candy were served. Those present were Lela Thalmann, Elizabeth Peters, Loy Ellen Davenport, Doris Peters, Elmi Peters, Mac Davenport, Lucille and Mildred Langford, Wirth Langford and Charlie Thalmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sutherland are the proud parents of a baby girl, born October 5th.

Elder J. D. Palmer was here from Tuff Hagerty to conduct the funeral of Joseph W. Hosier.

Warren Hunter is arranging to install a complete cold storage plant in John Burk's building on the Tarpley merchant. This is rapidly growing and sets are soon to be in demand.

Joe Villemain, the Pipe Creek lumberman, paid our sanctum a visit last Thursday. He had been over in Kerrville, with female company, but he says he didn't visit "for" the girls—only a pound.

J. E. Adams, the hustling ranchman and merchant of Tuff, was a business visitor to Bandera on Monday. Mr. Adams informs us that the new Crockett school house is nearing completion and they are having a good time of it. They also have a good teacher in Miss Alice Fuller.

H. W. Billings was here on business Monday. He informed us that he has leased a place above Tarpley, and will farm in that section. Mr. Billings recently sold his ranch to F. E. Duff, but still has a few cattle, though he says he will have Bandera county for his home and continue to reside here.

J. E. Taylor, of Camp Verde, reports an increase in the cattle industry in that section.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Get The Truth!

Called on my good friend "Cappy" Miller, who edits the County Bee, the other day. And hanging up on the wall of Cappy's office is this slogan for his paper:

"Remember there are two sides to every question. Get both sides. Be truthful."

A good slogan . . . not just for a newspaper—for people, too. Because there'll always be two sides to every question: the side of those who vote one way, and those who vote another—the side of those who enjoy a temperate beverage like beer or ale, and of those who swear by nothing but cider.

And upon where I sit, once you've got both sides—and faced them truthfully, you realize that those differences of opinion are a precious part of what we call Democracy—the right of the individual to vote as he believes, to speak his mind, to choose his own beverage of moderation, whether beer or cider.

A bird can move before you pull the trigger, but a telephone wire can't duck. Last year, 2,500 wires were broken by stray bullets.

That's why we're asking all hunters not to shoot at birds on telephone wires or poles. One stray shot may break several long distance wires and interrupt important calls.

The Camels at Camp Verde

By J. Marvin Hunter

The skeleton of a camel which stands in a case at the National Museum in Washington, D. C., brings to mind the story of camels shipped from the Far East to the United States. While Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War, in an effort to solve the problem of transporting military supplies between the Mississippi River and the Pacific coast, camels across the Western deserts.

Hostility of native stock drivers to the "critters of the desert" and the beginning of the Civil War are usually considered by historians as the reason for the failure of the camel to utilized to any great degree as burden carriers over the Western plains.

Dr. Charles C. Carroll, formerly of the Department of Agriculture has written an official history of the importation of camels. He says the idea of transplanting the beasts to America originated with the Spanish after the conquest of South America and toward the end of the 16th Century they were introduced into Peru. They multiplied and were not looked upon with favor by the ruling officials, however, and they declined away. Some camels also were transplanted to Virginia from Guinea in 1700, but there is no authentic record of the enterprise except that it failed.

Transportation troubles during the southern Indian war in Florida caused Major George H. Crosman, chief of the Subsistence Department, to advocate the use of the camel. Secretary of War Jefferson Davis, however, put nothing came of the plan.

Some years later Maj. Henry C. Wayne suggested to the War Department that the members of Congress a plan for Government importation. Davis was appointed by Jefferson Davis, then Chairman of the Senate Military Committee, to head the War Department's Secretary of War under Franklin Pierce, and he was a brother. Finally in December, 1854, Congress approved an appropriation of $30,000 which was to be expended under the direction of the War Department in purchase and importation of camels or dromedaries for military purposes.

Secretary Davis at once sent Maj. Wayne to the Levant to take charge of the camels, the secretary of the Navy placing at the disposal of the chief officer the sloop-of-war, The Supply, with her crew, under the command of Lieutenant David H. Porter (afterward Admiral Porter). It was ordered that the ship and her crew were to remain in the Mediterranean during the climate here would more resemble that of the Far East.

Maj. Wayne and Lieutenant Porter boarded their first animal in Tunis in August, 1855, and soon supplies were on hand to bring the camel away the fey of Tunis presented to the United States two other animals, one of which finally became the property of the American herd.

The ship then went to Constantinople, where the officers decided on an offer of the Sultan of Turkey to present the camels to the United States because it was found the animals were difficult to be brought from Asia and the officers did not want to wait for them. They received from Constantinople to Alexandria, Egypt, where it was decided to purchase 10 dromedaries and 20 camels, but "red tape" so delayed the American party that only three dromedaries and made ready to sail. Before leaving Egypt, however, they secured six fairly good camels. The ship sailed with nine beasts and the camel presented by the Bey of Tunis, the two others obtained in Tunis having been sold to a Turkish butcher for $44 after they were found to have spoilt of itch.

Gwyn H. Heap was sent on board to receive and care for the supply arrived at that point the remaining camels were found gathered. Mr. Heap had purchased them at prices ranging from $100 to $400.

The voyage home was begun on February 15, 1856, with 33 animals, nine dromedaries and 24 runners, 24 camels of burden, and one calf. Six Arabs were employed to go along with the animals as it was thought they would prove valuable in the management. A Turk, by the name of Hadji Ismael, was employed as interpreter, and Dr. Mordecai T. Endicott, U. S. N., M. D., but his services were dispensed with after it was found that his care for the herd was not needed. Of the camels, several legs too tired with suppowder, and they were given to the Arabs. Hadji Ismael's nose with a chronic cough.

The voyage was landed at Indianola, Texas, May 14, 1856, and the beasts were taken overland to San Antonio, 128 miles away, where they, too, were turned over to establish a camel ranch and to oversee the breeding of the animals, but Secretary Davis had retired him to find out whether the animals were adapted to military purposes.

Maj. Wayne found the animals entirely satisfactory for the purpose for which they were secured and in his report to Congress of $20,000 of the original appropriation remained. Lieutenant Porter had been sent for another shipment. The Sultan of Turkey gave six dromedaries, which were included in the lot of 41 animals landed at Indianola February 10, 1857. The camels were taken to Camp Verde, which had been established as the headquarters of the First cavalry, and the herd had died, one, it was said, from blows received from a mule driver.

The Senate in February, 1857, directed the Secretary of War to make a report on the camel experiment, which was done by John B. Floyd, who became Secretary of War under President Buchanan, and he urged the purchase of more camels, saying in his annual report of 1858:

"The experiments thus far made, and they are pretty conclusive, that camels constitute a most useful and economic means of transporting military stores and supplies through the great deserts and barren portions of our interior."

Secretary Floyd recommended that Congress confer an additional appropriation for purchase of 1,000 camels, but the lavish spirit of the time was not in evidence and no further expenditures were authorized.

During the summer of 1857 the camels were used in carrying water and for exploring the Southern frontier of California, using part of a herd of camels. Lieutenant took 48 days through unexplored wilderness, plains and deserts. The camels carried water for the mules on the desert, traversed stretches of country covered with the sharpest of volcanic rocks, and swam rivers without fatigue.

When Lincoln's administration began in 1861 the War Department had 28 camels in California. These with several others brought on from Texas were held in various forts and military reservations in California without being put to any practical use. Jefferson Davis wrote Secretary Stanton of their lake condition and requested to see them for further exploration and in packing supplies across the Rocky Mountains. The proposal was rejected as was one for a line of camel mail stages carrying mail between Fort Mojave, N. M., and New San Pedro, Cal.

The herd finally was sold by Lieutenant Beale to Samuel Maclaughlin, in whose care the herds had been for some time. Some of the camels found their way into circuses and bands of other parades.

At the beginning of the Civil War the camels at the Camp Verde station in Texas fell into the hands of the Confederate government, which paid little heed to them and some wandered away. Of these there is an official account of three captured in Arizona by the Union forces and sent to Mr. Poole, near the Des Moines River in Iowa, for the benefit of his care and economy in their support.

Some of the herd is thought to have wandered into the Texas Panhandle, Arizona, and New Mexico, as they lived for a long while on the ranges. Bell offered $5 each, Joseph Hallam $10 and Thomas Bethel proposed a bid was $5 each.

Some of the camels were even brought to the Alamo City. At a sale in 1905 the San Antonio Express carried an advertisement of a camel in a midway show with the brand of the United States on its hip and with a history of its experiment purchaser.

Many camels went to Borden near its thirty years ago I found living here a number of citizens who remembered the camels at Camp Verde. James W. Walker, of the Walker Mercantile company, employed during the Civil War to herd some of these camels. He herded some of them on a ranch which one of the camels had worn. Amos Gray, of Kerrville, also herded camels for some months, and had in his possession two calves born in his herd. Sam the hair of camels he had shorn. Andy Jones, who lived near Borden Pass, told me how he had roped and ridden one of the camels. Beasley Hosea Sutherland related how, while attending school at Borden, a camel would come into the school house along one day, and he and some of the other boys climbed on its back and "broke" it to kneel and they rushed upon her back and rode her around the school house. Some years ago, and now being republished, of how women and children of the herd, Camp Verde, rode camels to a Methodist camp conducted by early preachers who were "circuit riders."

In 1861, when the civil war came on, Camp Verde was "captured" by the Confederate forces and Lt. H. Williams in his book, "With the Border Ruffians," tells about taking over the post and the camels. Lt. Williams was present at the surrender of the post. When the United States government took possession of the post and after the Confederate troops left, the camels, being sold off as stated above. During the war, however, the herd had been so badly managed and cared for that they had become scattered and wandered at will over these mountains and valleys, and it was not long after the war wild camels were seen in these Borden hills.

24 OPERATIONS MEAN RAISE IN DAIRY CATTLE

Manchester, Conn.—Gary Lang, six, went fishing the other day and didn't mind, at anyone who was looking. For the first time in his young life, he could hear what was going on—the noise of the brook, the 'catching away from' questions.

But even bigger, in Gary's life was the fact that for the first time he had ears. They are just for show, created for him by plastic surgery in 24 operations, for Gary was born without eardrums. They, however, he can hear and talk. He will still need more operations before his ears look just right, but he's no longer afraid other youngsters will point at him and laugh at him among them.

Gary spent most of his life in hospital bed in New York. His story got to Irving L. Schaefer, Manchester insurance and engaged company, who wanted to have a hand in the operation. Schaefer's experts went to work, and soon Gary had ears. Special hooks were developed to an amazing degree of accuracy, and Gary received a special hearing device that short-circuits sound waves around his head.

The cure that were created through the ingenuity of Gary's surgery for hearing, but they are necessary to his ability to hear.

And the additional operations that will be necessary are a matter of time, Gary's doctors say. Long the boy's mother.

Mrs. Ralph Arnold, in the businessmen in Manchester and started a plan for Gary's future. They raised $10,000 and the fund that will take care of Gary's medical and educational needs. The fact that the said girl from the children he plays with, his vocabulary and his hobby. The miracle to Mrs. Lang is that neither Gary nor the boys seem to notice that difference any more.

friends. The Johnsons were once residents of this community and many friends here who are always glad to see them.

Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Hatchett, Mrs. Mary's Indians was no surprise to any of us and we congratulate all our boys from their success.

In the first place the indians are not in our football conference and the game was matched in order to supply a vacancy in our schedule only, without much hope of winning. It was obvious from the very start that we were over-matched, and, notwithstanding the fact that the final score was 46 to 7 in favor of the Indians, we consider that our boys did some excellent work, taking into consideration that was third game they had ever played, and the opposing team had been playing two years, and some of them have played three years, but that is not all. The Indians had almost twice as many reserves as we had and they did not fail to use them. The outcome of the game could exactly be predicted in its very early stages. The overwhelming superiority of the Indians did not discourage our boys, in the slightest degree but they fought grimly, desperately, and with undaunted courage to the finish. Such bitter determination and tenacity of purpose as was exhibited by our boys, great traits which deserve the highest praise, and are worthy of the very highest commendation. Some of our boys were completely knocked out, but no one has ever heard a single murmur or complaint from one of them. The game was a fair one, and won by fair means, and we have no criticism to offer. We were just overmatched. We were too new in the game to pit ourselves against such trained, experienced players. Freshmen here treated us with all the respect and cordiality that we might reasonably expect, and we thank them for it. The Medina Bob Cats will play Center Point to night on the Medina grid. The game is to start promptly at 8 o'clock.

The Camels at Camp Verde

By R. Marvin Hunter

The skeleton of a camel, which perished in front of the National Museum in Washington, D. C., constitutes the only relic of the camel brought over from Egypt from the Far East in the 1850's, while Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War, in an effort to solve the problem of transporting military supplies across the Mississippi River and the military posts scattered over the Texas Desert.

Hostility of native mule drivers to the "ships of the desert" and to the beginning of the Civil War are assigned by Government authorities as the reasons for the failure of the effort to utilize camels as burden carriers over the Texas plains.

Dr. Charles C. Carroll, formerly of the Department of Agriculture has written an official history of the importation of camels and also the idea of transplanting the beasts to America originated with the Spanish after the conquest of South America and toward the end of the 16th Century they were introduced into Peru. The camels were not looked upon with favor by the ruling officials however, and they dwindled away. Some camels also were transplanted to Virginia from Louisiana in 1701, but there is no authentic record of the enterprise except that it failed.

Transportation troubles during the stubborn Indian war in Florida caused Maj. George H. Crosman to suggest the use of camels in desert beasts, for military purposes, but nothing came of the idea.

Some years later Maj. Henry C. Wayne, quartermaster of the Texas Department and to members of Congress the value of camels for transportation. His ideas were endorsed by Jefferson Davis, then chairman of the Senate Military Committee, and after Mr. Davis became Secretary of War under President Pierce, he pressed the matter with vigor. In December, 1853, Congress approved an appropriation providing $30,000 to be used under the direction of the War Department in purchase and importation of camels and dromedaries to be employed for military purposes.

Secretary Davis at once sent Maj. Wayne to the Levant to round up the camels, the Secretary of the Navy placing at the disposal of Mr. Davis the storeship supply vessel Supply, under the command of Lieutenant David H. Tyring (afterward Admiral Porter). It was ordered that the ship load of a Texas port, as it was supposed the climate here would most resemble that of the Far East.

Maj. Wayne and Lieutenant Porter bought their first animal in Tunis in February, 1855, and upon applying for a permit to bring the camel away the Bey of Tunis presented to the United States two other camels, which finally became the veteran of the American herd.

After a long trip on the Supply from the Far East in the 1850's, while Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War, in an effort to solve the problem of transporting military supplies across the Mississippi River and the military posts scattered over the Texas Desert.

When Lincoln's administration came in 1861 the War Department had 28 camels in California. These with several others brought in from Texas were used in various forms and military reserves of the Americas here and Fort Tejon, to any use. In 1862 Lieut. Beale wrote Secretary Stanton of their idle condition and proposed to use them for further explorations and surveying parties across the Great Basin, but his proposal was rejected as was one in 1863 that they be used in carrying mail between Fort Mohave, N. M. and New San Pedro, Cal.

The herd finally was sold by the government at Quartermaster Laughlin, in whose care the herds had been for quite a time, and the camels found their way into circuses and bands of other purposes.

At the beginning of the Civil War the camels were at Camp Verde station in Texas based upon the Camp Verde military reservation, which paid little attention to them and some were wandering. All these there is an official account of three captured in Arkansas by the Union forces and "sent to Mr. Peden, near the Des Moines River in Iowa, for the purpose of his care and keeping in their support."

Some of the herd is thought to have wandered into the Texas Panhandle, Arizona, and New Mexico, where they lived free and half wild, the prey of white and Indian hunters.

When the Federal Government came into possession of Camp Verde at the close of the Civil War, they found 44 camels which they at first believed useless for military purposes. Bids were opened in New Orleans, and several were being willing to buy. Horace Ball offered $5 each, Joseph Dyer $10 each, and Benjamin Coopwood's bid was $3 each.

Some of the camels were eventually driven into Mexico and as late as 1905 the San Antonio Express and Herald carried a story about a camel in a mule-way show with the circus at Laredo, Texas, and it the counter-breed, a sub-species of the camel.

When I came to Bandera nearly thirty years ago I found living here the last of the camels. No one remembered the camels at Camp Verde. Judge Alf Wilkinson of Lawson Creek community was employed during the Civil War to haul supplies to Camp Verde, and showed me a bull which one of the camels had sired. Bill Hall and Clark, of Bandera, herded these camels for some months, and had been promised two pickings made from the hair of camels he should catch. Andy Rees, who settled near Bandera Pass, told me how he had roped and ridden one of Mr. Ashbroken beasts. Hosea Sutherland related how, while attending school at Camp Verde, an old mare camel came lumbering along one day, and he and some of the other school children forced her to kneel and they climbed upon her back and rode her. An account is given in Mrs. Ida Cloud Camp Verde, "The House of the Camels," published some years ago and now being reprinted here in serial form for children of the post, Camp Verde.

In 1881, when the Civil War was over, Camp Verde was "reconstructed" by the Confederate forces, and R. H. Williams' wife was "With the Border Ruffians," tells about taking over the post and the camels. Mrs. Williams was present at the surrender of the post to Federal forces. After the Federal Government took possession of the post and the camels, by order of the abandonment, the camels being sold off at different times. During the war, however, the herd had been so badly managed and cared for that many camels escaped and wandered at will over these mountains and valleys. For a long time after the war wild camels were seen in these Bandera hills.

24 OPERATIONS MEAN EARLY GIANT GAIN

Manchester, Conn.—Gary Langlois, went fishing for other than six, went fishing for other than fish. It made if anybody else was looking. For the first time in his young life, he could hear what was going on—the noise of the brook, the "catching, anything" questions.

But even bigger in Gary's life was the fact that for the first time he had ears. They are just the ears created for him by plastic surgery in 24 operations for Gary was born without ear drums. Surgery, however, he will hear and talk. He will still need some amplification, for Gary is not just hard of hearing, he is no longer deaf. He will point at him when he is among them.

Very early evidence of his life in a hospital bed—in—Gary's ears, got to Fred Wilson, 10-year-old, youthful president of a hearing-aid company, who wanted to help a boy like himself. Wilson's transformation. Schaefer's ears that went to work and when they found Gary's head bones were developed to an amazing degree for hearing. Wilson ordered a special hearing device to be made. Sound waves through his skull.

Gary's ears that were created with his skull. Gary can hear without aids. Gary may eventually require aids for hearing, but they are not necessary for his confidence. And the additional operations will be financed by the financial strain for Mrs. Mary Lang, the boy's mother.

Wilson has devoted to the businessmen in Manchester and Hartford which free the services, and educational needs. The fact that Gary has had deaf and dumb ears makes Gary a lot different from the children he plays with. Upon his discharge from the hospital the miracle to Mrs. Gary is children notice that difference any more.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Little Miss Mildred Langford celebrated her eighth birthday with a party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Langford, on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 o'clock. Various children games were enjoyed, and delicious refreshments, crackers and candy were served. Those present to help celebrate were: Thelma Elizabeth Langford, Mary Lou Ellison, Dorothy Peters, Mary Lou Langford, Margaret Davenport, Lucille and Mildred Langford, Willie Langford and Charlie Thalmann.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sutherland are the parents of a baby girl born born October 5th.

Elder D. S. Palmer has been called to Bandera to conduct the funeral of Frank W. Mayes.

Warren Hunter is attending the Texas Normal College and receiving set for John Burns, the Tulpen merchant. This is quite unusual and sets are more to be in demand.

Joe Villemain, the Pipe Creek businessman, paid our office a visit last Thursday. He was accompanied by his wife, who made her subscription to be sent for thirty-six weeks at 50 cents.

O. L. Adams, the boot and saddle man, and merchant of Pipe Creek, was a business visitor in Bandera on Saturday. Mr. Adams reports business fair. He has a nice line of goods and is always pleased to show them to his friends. Those who are looking for anything in his line should not fail to call on him.

J. H. Billings was over from Turpley Saturday. He informed us that he has rented a farm near Turpley, and will remain in that community for the present. Mr. Billings is also the owner of his friends should be interested in knowing that he has moved to Turpley.

J. E. Taylor, of Camp Verde, was in Bandera on business Saturday.

Mrs. Bob Taylor and Mrs. Jim Taylor were recreation chairmen for the evening and several games were played, which were enjoyed by all present. The Johnsons were one of the best games of the evening. Refreshments consisting of cake and punch were served by Mrs. Paul Taylor, Mrs. Jim Taylor, Mrs. Bob Taylor, Mrs. Marshall Smart, Mrs. Cornelius Wier. About fifty guests enjoyed the evening of fun.

Medina vs. Fredericksburg

The defeat of the Medina boys on Mrs. Murry's ball park was no surprise to any of us, and we wonder if our boys flew home on the first train. Medina's athletic plans are not in our football contract and the game was made only in order to supply a vacancy in our schedule spicy, without much thought of winning. It was obvious from the very start that we were over-matched, but the withdrawing the fact that the final score was 46 to 7 in favor of the Indians, we consider that our boys did some excellent work, taking into consideration the fact that the third game they had ever played, and the opposing team had been playing for two years, some of them have played three years, but that is nothing. The Indians had almost twice as many reserves as we had and they did not fail to use them. The outcome of the game could clearly be predicted in its very early stages. The overwhelming advantages of the Indians did not discourage our boys in the slightest degree. They fought grimly, desperately, and with undaunted courage to the finish. Such bitter determination and tenacity of purpose as was exhibited by our boys, in spite of our deepest sympathy.

The following enjoyed a social time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Mayfield on Tuesday evening of last week: Mr. and Mrs. Elam Mayfield and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Miller and son, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mayfield and children, Kenneth and Dorothy Mayfield and Mr. and Mrs. Bell Caton. Games were played until a late hour, after which delicious refreshments were served to 23 guests, the occasion being Mrs. Mayfield's birthday. All departed to their homes after expressing themselves as having had a delightful time, and wishing Harvey many more just such happy occasions.

Rev. J. C. Campbell, pastor of the Methodist church, announced that Bro. Wilkes will preach his last sermon for this conference year next Sunday morning and evening. A special invitation is extended to the entire people of the community to attend the evening service, which will be the last chance for the people to hear Bro. Wilkes. Everyone is cordially invited to attend all services.

The Medina P. T. A. met Monday evening at 8 o'clock, at the Medina Methodist church, for the annual social. Those arriving early were met at the door with pencil and paper and asked to write an excuse for being late. Later in the evening these excuses were read, and some were quite entertaining. The group sang, gathering several old-time favorite songs were sung and [illegible] Mrs. E. H. Carson, Mrs. A. B. Taylor and Mrs. Jim Taylor.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Get The Truth!
He can't duck
Called on my good friend "Casey" Miller, who edits the Canary Bee, the other day. And hanging up on the wall of Casey's office is this 4-word slogan for his paper:
"Remember there are two sides to every question. Get both sides. Be truthful."
A good slogan . . . not just for a newspaper, for people, too. Because there's always be two sides to every question: the side of those who vote one way, And those who vote another—the side of those who enjoy a temperate beverage like beer or ale, and of those who swear by nothing but cider.
And from where I sit, once you've got both sides—and been truthful, you realize that those differences of opinion are a precious part of what we call Democracy—the right of the individual to vote as he believes, to speak his mind, to choose his own beverage of, moderation, whether beer or cider.

BANDERA DRUGS
$100 PAID FOR LEASE OF 2,000 ACRES
Range land in the Hill Country now leases for from fifty cents to $1.00 per acre. Such a lease could be had for the asking a few years ago. Back in 1872 the John Jones Estate leased 2,000 acres of land on the Guadalupe River, according to a document now in Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. This 2,000 acre tract was only a little east of the town of Bandera. The 2,000 acre tract was later known as the J. A. Miller ranch, then known as the Lost Valley ranch, and when J. A. Miller bought the land from the county, he paid $1.25 per acre. He sold it from the John James Estate, he paid $2.50 per acre. When Mr. Miller died it passed into the possession of his wife and daughter, Miss Minnie Miller, both of whom have passed away. The land was then purchased by F. B. Duane, who sold a portion of it to Mike Arrington, who built the ranch house there, and called it Lost Valley. Later Robinson cut off a portion of the land, known as Lost Valley Hills, and some nice homes have been built there. Thus land values have steadily increased in Bandera county.

Col. Walter Godkin Dies in San Antonio

On Wednesday night of last week Colonel Walter Godkin, former citizen of the Pipe Creek community, died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ed Godkin, in San Antonio, after an extended illness. Funeral services were conducted at the Church of the Little Flower in that city, and the remains were brought to the family burying ground on the Godkin ranch below Pipe Creek, and interment was made Saturday afternoon, Rev. Fr. Raphael Turner conducting the services. Survivors include Col. Godkin's children: Mrs. Emma Smith, of Kansas City, Kansas; Ed Godkin, of Marshall, Michigan; Lee Godkin, of Houston; Connecticut; Charles Godkin, of San Antonio; Pat Godkin, of Pipe Creek; Mrs. Juanita Alonso and Mrs. Paulina Lozano, both of San Antonio. There are 19 grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Colonel Godkin was born April 1, 1869, and at the time of his death was 79 years old. He was a native of Mexico City, and became coming to Bandera in 1917, having left his family there for safety, because of a revolutionary uprising. His large plantation and home were completely destroyed. He sent his family to San Antonio, and returned to Mexico City and stayed with his property there. Finally, however, he was forced to leave, and he came to Bandera. Here he purchased a ranch on Pipe Creek, where he built a home. Here he lived for a number of years, but finally moved to San Antonio to be with his family. He suffered a stroke, which left him practically helpless, and for this reason he went to San Antonio to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Godkin.

Colonel Godkin was a veteran of the Mexican War, and came to this country in 1865. Shortly after his death old comrades of the war started a movement to erect a memorial to his memory, and the memorial was placed in the new National Cemetery at Fort Sam Houston, although Mr. Clark was buried on his ranch four miles west of town. A short time ago relatives and friends here were notified by the commanding authorities at Fort Sam Houston that it was planned to move the monument to a new location in order to make room for building on the site and upon application to have the remains of Mrs. LeConte Anderson, daughter of the late Samuel Maverick, moved to the same plot, and it is now on the grounds. The monument is a giant boulder about seven feet high and about the same number of pounds. On its face is a bronze plaque with the name of Colonel Clark, and another small plaque bears the inscription that he was a veteran of the U. S. Army. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Father Scott in Mexico.

With a light docket the district court, presided over by Judge Claudeen Roberts, convened at the courthouse on Monday morning for the ladies and Rod Fitzgerald for the gents. As an added attraction Jerry Anderson and Klick Klaffs did a hula and sing dance, which was well received by the crowd. Judging the costume contest and the dances were Mrs. Lilly Belle Hall, Mrs. Harper Hayes and Mrs. Jerry Stevens, owner of Lost Valley Ranch. The party was such a success, the stompeders, under the direction of Frank Montague, have announced that a similar party would be held on Halloween night, October 31, at the Cabaret, with prizes for the best costume in keeping with the occasion.

Commissioner Crawford reported that he had met with the owners of the land involved, and that they were willing to donate the right of way for the road, and that the Ranch school would also donate the right of way for the road. Veteran Clark died many years ago, and was buried at the age of almost, 102 years. He was a veteran of the Mexican War and came to this county in 1852. Shortly after his death old comrades of the war started a movement to erect a memorial to his memory, and the monument was placed in the new National Cemetery at Fort Sam Houston, although Mr. Clark was buried on his ranch four miles west of town. A short time ago relatives and friends here were notified by the commanding authorities at Fort Sam Houston that it was planned to move the monument to a new location in order to make room for building on the site and upon application to have the remains of Mrs. LeConte Anderson, daughter of the late Samuel Maverick, moved to the same plot, and it is now on the grounds. Stevenson Comes Out for Porter

Austin, Oct. 13—Coke Stevenson took a long step across the party line Tuesday by endorsing the Republican nominee for U. S. Senator and indicating he would not take the stump for him. Defeated in his last-ditch fight to keep Johnson off the general election ballot as the Democratic nominee, Stevenson declared "that for him there is no hesitation in announcing my support for Jack Porter for U. S. Senator."

The former governor, who saw Johnson declared the winner by 87 votes in their race-to-nose runoff battle for the Democratic nomination, supported this stand with the claim that Lyndon Johnson is not the nominee of the Democratic party in Texas. He did not receive a majority of the votes that were actually cast on August 28.

Mr. Johnson's name is on the ticket because of fraudulent returns from certain counties which were enumerated in the petition filed by my attorneys in the federal district court and sworn to by me under oath, Mr. Stevenson declared. Mr. Johnson has never, at any time, denied the charges made in the petitions. His whole effort and that of his attorneys has been to get the case dismissed on a technicality and thus keep his name for the time being to have been successful."

"I am not out with his statement, Stevenson grew more bitter and lashed out at the record of Johnson's claims and his accusations of fraud in the primary runoff.

"Since Mr. Johnson is not the actual nominee of the Democratic party," he said, "there is no legal or moral obligation for any of us, or anyone, to support him in the general election."

"I do not support anyone who is the beneficiary of fraud and corruption."

"I knew during the campaign when lies were being circulated about my war record, about my record, my R. F. A. record, my social security record and many other phases of public service that I was the victim of a campaign of slander and malicious libel and slander, but I could not foresee that they would culminate in a series of fraudulent returns and in the actual theft of the office.

"On the other hand, Mr. Jack Porter's reputation is that of an honest, honorable and capable man who will handle fairly all matters pertaining to the high office of U. S. Senator from Texas. He is the nominee of the Republican party in Texas. He has made a issue in the affairs of state when those who have failed in a thirteen year record of clean government drew upright and fearless men to his support. I choose a man of character and ability regardless of the party. Mr. Porter's choice is indicative of every line of Jack Porter.

"He has made a few speeches between now and the election in which I can tell the people the true facts."

To Seek Senate Probe of Election

The "Citizens' Committee Against Political Fraud"—soon to be state headquarters in San Antonio, is preparing to circulate a petition for 1,000,000 signatures asking a U. S. Senate investigation of the Lyndon Johnson-Coke Stevenson runoff primary, R. Neil Campbell, representative of the organization, announced plans for the statewide petition Tuesday following a conference in Austin. He denied any interest in who is elected, but pointed out that it is the duty of the Senate to refuse to seat Johnson until the inquiry is completed.

John T. Spann, State Rights party advisory committeeman, also announced Tuesday that his organization is taking a hand in the Stevenson-Johnson squabble. He said the movement has been in connection with the Campbell organization, however. Spann is a State Rights Democrat who backed U. S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel, who is not expected to vacate his seat until the Stevenson-Johnson matter is settled. He added that he believed thousands of people in southern Texas would sign on a thorough investigation of what happened in three South Texas counties in the Democratic primary runoff.

Campbell said the Citizens' Committee Against Political Fraud will open its state headquarters in an office space to be found. The committee already has a "considerable" sum in backing, he said.

Contractor Clyde H. Bacon announced Monday that he will be a candidate for Democratic nomination for state senator from the 24th district in the primary election next month. Bacon said he will ask "an inquiry of the actions and policies of the present administration" and will call special attention to the fact that "candidates" have run on the ticket.

Campbell said the petition will be circulated from headquarters in each Texas county.

Bulldogs Outrun Boerne Greyhounds

The Bandera Bulldogs fell into their winning stride last Friday night by trouncing the lightning like Boerne ball club by a score of 19 to 0. The game was exciting from the first whistle until the last whistle of the game, when the Bulldogs out-fought, out-played the Boerne Greyhounds in every phase of the game, the spectators were standing up or sitting on the edge of their seats throughout the entire game as the Greyhounds just wouldn't admit defeat. It can truly be said that the Boerne boys went down to defeat fighting to the last ditch. The game was made doubly exciting by the fact that the Bulldogs realized that it was not a conference game, therefore took every conceivable risk trying out plays both on offense and defense. Had it been a conference game a lot of the passing that was done after the Bulldogs had the lead would not have been done.

Friday night the Bulldogs will be greeted by the expert Hondo LaCoste stadium. No dope has been obtained on the team as none, other than that they have a fast, tricky, hard driving team. The Bulldogs are ready for what ever they might encounter and are expected to bring home the victory by at least three touchdowns.

Mystery Surrounds Exodus

Ft. From time to time, friends, acquaintances or readers suggest that the editor write a "feature" on a subject dear to his heart. Usually these suggestions are good, somebody thought to write soon and often. Oftimes the subject suggested would do no good whatever and might start the writer in trouble or make him look either dumb or crazy.

Some months ago we were importuned while drinking a cup of coffee in a public place to "give the city Hall" about municipal affairs. The importuner was loud in his demands—evidently of the city but of the newspaper editor, who according to his idea, lacked the intestinal fortitude to tell another world to take up his particular grievance.

We kept calm and talked in a low voice, as we usually do, and was lauded up on the subject. We knew he could not obtain us. We tried to explain him that it is mighty hard to sell anybody a bill of goods on the editorial seat at the first approach. We also tried to explain that the very thing he was talking about had been one of the complaints of this newspaper for many years. We finally suggested to him that since this newspaper had not made any material progress on the subject that he write the editorial on it. He came to it, all right, but he would have been glad to run it, but we told him that the paper had pursued the tactics which he suggested, we would have incurred the ire of Mr. Russell Blair of Medina Lake that he would sell stock in the next few months in travel before purchasing a new home.

Harold Young is now employed at the Dutch Oven Pastry Shop as baker. Mr. Young has had very experience in this line of work and we are planning on building a new home here and moving to the Hill Country. Mr. Briggs will come to Bandera soon. Mrs. Briggs has been here some time at the Pillow Factory.

Col. and Mrs. George Harrison recently sold their home in Indian Waters to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Blair of Medina Lake. Col. and Mrs. Harrison will spend the winter in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Chatham and two children, of Paris, are spending a while here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Evans, and other relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Briggs, of Houston, are planning on building a new home here and moving to the Hill Country. Mr. Briggs will come to Bandera soon. Mrs. Briggs has been here some time at the Pillow Factory.

It would help a lot dast, pardner, to write an editorial, why the Courier wouldn't print it also—but we're not going to do it. You'd be surprised how you'll come down your criticism under such circumstances." Yet, no doubt you will be doing a favor to the editor, which you have if you put verbal criticism, as first expressed, into words—San Marcos Record.

BAT KILLING CAMPAIGN DECLARED A SUCCESS

If you are "master of the rats that used to plague and harass you, you can rest, assured you won't be back.

The campaign to eradicate the rats was sponsored in the Palo Alto Lions Club, and was conducted by H. F. Schlemmer.

Mr. Schlemmer states that 90 per cent of the rats that were in the city limits now are no more dead.

This campaign was sustained at cost of materials and donations will be gladly received by the Bandera Lions Club, P. O. Box 405-B.

It is always so much easier to have other folks do your work for them than to do it yourself. It seems become aroused over some article or evil practice and are willing to write a letter to the editor over your signature for publication, it might carry a lot more weight than the newspaper's own editorial efforts.

At least, it would be something new. It would be a new voice.

DRAFT PROSPECTS

Prospective draftees from 35 South Texas counties will begin to converge in San Antonio Wednesday to undergo induction examinations and active induction service, headquarters in the Army said.

It was known, however, that 190 men from the five Dallas area draft boards and 200 from Fort Worth were ordered to report this week and next. Men from Board No. 1 of the metropolitan part of Bexar and all of Bandera county, reported Wednesday.

Local draft board officials said that the army has been unable to answer calls from men who want to know whether they were scheduled to report for induction. The officials explained that all men included in the present call have been notified through the mail. Those who have not received such notices need not be concerned, they pointed out.

The army will not have immediate dietary whether they have been selected for service. This information will be mailed to them later by their draft boards.

HILLBILLY ACUFF STUMPS TENNESSEE

Nashville, Tenn. Oct. 9.—Tennessonia are getting a taste of something new as Acuff goes all as radio star Roy Acuff, hillbilly singer and fiddler extraordinary, begins to stump the state, fiddling and singing for the governorship.

State G. O. P. headquarters estimates 150,000 people heard Acuff, the Republican nominee, in the three days of his campaign. That's 50,000 a week. Acuff has to visit 90 of the state's 95 counties before the November 2 election.

Acuff has been described as a candidate in previous Tennessee gubernatorial races, but always before has withdrawn.

This year, however, when Acuff filed a nominating petition for him, he promised.

"If the people of Tennessee see fit to give me this nomination, I'll make a campaign the likes of which has never been seen in Tennessee before."

When Acuff and his Smoky Mountain Boys, wearing rustic costumes and makeup, roll up to the public square in front of the little county seat towns, traffic is virtually blocked by the crowds. They draw even larger crowds in the larger cities.

Acuff himself usually wears a costume even in his appearances on radio station WSM's Grand Ole Opry. But his hand-painted tie and color to any occasion. He apparently has a new one for each appearance.

Acuff tacks his $12 fiddle under his chin and makes with "The Great Speckled Bird" and "Night Train to Memphis." The crowd hotens rapidly as he lifts his voice to mountain melody while the Smoky Mountain Boys accompany him.

When the music stops, the throngs stay to hear how talk. He speaks briefly and naturally in the everyday language of his hearers. He hows and discusses of national and international affairs to his running mate, R. Carroll Reece, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator and former G. O. P. national chairman.

Acuff foresaware name-calling before the campaign opened.

"There'll be no mud-slinging" he said. "If I have to criticize my opponent, I'll with draw."

"Gordon Browning (the Democratic gubernatorial nominee) is my friend. I introduced him to more than 10,00 people during the Fourth of July week-end. I told folks he was a good man. I haven't changed my mind."

So Acuff goes about the state playing and fiddling and telling folks to "vote the way you want to."

Zaharoff, who has been described as a "Communist-hunter" by Soviet agents, said: "NTS", which is the initials of the Russian words for National Alliance of Working, Producing and Intellectual Russia.

A Congress Cassie spokesman said Zaharoff is "one of the best intelligence in Europe" and is respected by his American military government colleagues in Germany.

Zaharoff said the first and most important step toward unifying the anti-Soviet forces in the people in Soviet Russia. He predicted a anti-Communist underground movement and sympathizers in the Soviet army would make the revolt possible.

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

The voters of Texas are to express themselves in the general election November 2 on the following proposed amendments to the Constitution, described, explained and commented on briefly below. Taken on these measures, they adopted it is exceedingly difficult to effect repeal of any one of these measures should a mistake be made. Therefore, it is well that every person on each of these propositions.

Too often has a mere handful of the people brought about drastic changes in our fundamental law. With literally hundreds of thousands of qualified voters in the State, many changes in the Constitution have been brought about with hardly more than 15 to twenty per cent of those voting. This is rules by the minority and is not conducive to the strengthening of government of the people, by the people and for the people. It is a threat to the credit of Texas, however, that since the Constitution in 1876 only 94 amendments have been adopted out of the more than 175 submitted.

This article does not purport to provide a complete analysis of the proposals or their effect, if and when the same are adopted. The sole purpose hereof is to try to stimulate sufficient interest in these proposed changes to result in an intelligent expression by the people in November.

In the order they will appear on the ballot, they provide, with examinity, as follows:

1. Authorize counties to provide Workmen's Compensation Insurance, including the power to provide its own insurance risk for all county employees.

County employees are not now covered by insurance for injuries they may sustain while on the payroll as are employees in other State agencies and private industries.

If this proposal is adopted, the Legislature is authorized to enact appropriate legislation providing for the administration of such insurance and for the pay ment of the costs, the rates and premiums of said policies together with the benefits to be paid thereunder.

2. Creates a Legislative Redistricting Board to apportion the state into Senatorial and Representative Districts in the event the Legislature fails to enact such apportionment.

This proposal, if adopted, would become effective January 1, 1951. It provides for the reapportionment of the State into Senatorial districts by the Legislature at its first regular session after the publication of each United States decennial census, and further that if the Legislature fails to so act, then the Board, composed of the Lieutenant-Governor, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, the Attorney-General, Comptroller and Commissioner of the General Land Office is to make the reapportionment.

3. No adoption may bring about a change in the seat of government of the State. No re-apportionment lets Legislative districts or Senatorial districts cut any subdivision of the present Constitution provides in Sheep & Goat Raiser.

that it shall be done each ten years.

4. Provides for changes in the community property law authorizing persons to make community property agreements for the limited purpose of dividing their husband's or wife's property upon dissolution of the estate by death.

This proposal came about as the result of an amendment to the United States Internal Revenue Code adopted in October, 1942. The Internal Revenue Code was since been changed in this particular by the Congress, which the Supreme Court of the United States has approved. Under this proposal persons living in our present community property states are well settled and are the envy of those states which do not have the community property laws. No one knows what the effect of the adoption of this proposal would be on the settled property law of this State and since the United States Internal Revenue Code has been amended, it is not deemed either necessary or wise to disturb the settled law of Texas by the adoption of this proposed amendment.

5. Creates an assistant to the office of Governor. Apparently this proposal comes as a result of the situation which arose in Georgia after the death of the Governor-elect in the latter part of 1946. It does not appear to be of great importance in this State, but will not harm anything if adopted, other than add to the expense of the Constitution.

6, 7 and 7. These Proposals will be considered together since they are more or less interdependent. This first to appear on the ballot, provides in HJR5, designed to preserve the $3,000.00 of the assessed valuation of residence homestead exemption from all state taxation purposes. The second, known as HJR 21 provides for the abolition of the ad valorem tax for state purposes and authorizes counties to levy, not to exceed 20 cents on each $100.00 valuation, for the construction and maintenance of farm to market roads, to be fixed and controlled under certain conditions.

8. This proposed amendment provides for the mandatory enumeration of sheriffs, deputy duties of assessors and collectors sheriffs who also perform the duties of assessors and collectors of taxes, on a salary basis in counties of less than 20,000 population according to the last Federal census.

Whether these officers shall be paid on a salary or fee basis is optional with the County Commissioners Court in such counties under the present provisions of the Constitution.

9. This proposal authorizes the Legislature to provide for the retirement of Judges and Commissioners of the Appeals Courts and for the Judges of the District Courts, payments to be made on account of length of service, age or disability. The effect of this proposed change is readily apparent. If adopted, it will provide an umbrella, of a sort, for those attaining a certain age who may be fortunate enough to get themselves returned to office long enough to come under the provisions of the Constitution. We have 179 Judges on the State payroll who might be affected by the proposed changes.—Dorsey B. Hardeman,

LOUISE KYRISH BRIDE OF GILBERT JURECZKI

Miss Louise Kyrish, daughter of Mrs. Florence Kyrish and the late Leon Kyrish, of Panna Maria, and Gilbert Jureczki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anton Jureczki, of this city, were united in marriage at high noon on October 9th at St. Mary's church in Panna Maria, Rev. Edward J. Dworaczyk, church pastor, officiated in the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her brother, Ed. Kyrish, the bride wore a white satin wedding gown with a yoke trimmed with tiny beads. The gown was fitted and long waisted with a separate train which fell over the skirt. The veil of illusion was fastened with borders of Alecian lace, which fell from a sweetheart shaped crown of orange blossoms. She wore a string of pearls and carried a white prayer book with a bouquet of baby orchids with white satin streamers.

Miss Irene Kurzekwa wore a gown of orchid taffeta. Miss Bertha Niemets was gowned in green taffeta. They also carried colonial bouquets of tiny chrysanthemums in their gowns.

Edward Kyrish, nephew of the bride, served the groom as best man and August and Frank Kyrish served as groomsmen.

Following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Kyrish with fifty guests present.

For traveling the bride chose a brown suit and white silk blouse with brown accessories. The groom was born and reared here and has a host of friends and relatives who are extending congratulations and good wishes.

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their Tin Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.

When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!

And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his

PENICILLIN DUST CURES SYMPTOMS OF COMMON COLD

Chicago—Penicillin dust, inhaled directly into the nose, throat and lungs, has cured symptoms of the common cold in one to three days, three physicians reported Friday.

Their study published in the Journal of the American Medical Assn., showed:

That of a group of 169 common cold patients treated, 82 per cent were considered cured and 38 per cent showed marked improvement.

"These phenomena cannot be fully explained on the basis of the known properties of penicillin and need further investigation," the doctors said, adding: "In many instances the penicillin dust seemed to exert an vasoconstrictor inhibition of the mucous membranes of the nose and throat.

"Patients stated that they could breathe more freely through the nose and the stuffiness and congestion of the acute rhinitis inflammation often improved immediately after treatment.

"Also, on occasion, the pain of sinusitis and sore throat has accompanied the common cold in some patients was relieved after treatment.

"Further study, the researchers are planning, may show penicillin dust already has the virus that causes the cold but the bacteria that produces it.

Attorney Explains How to Vote Split Ticket

Lloyd Whitlock, state delegate manager and chairman of the executive committee, Jack Porter, of Houston, and Ralph Yarborough, attorney, of Austin, have announced thousands of requests for information concerning the split ticket in the general election.

According to Whitlock, most of the residents came from Democratic counties and "Republicans who wish to vote for Mr. Roosevelt also support some candidates on their own ticket."

Whitlock said he had conferred with Steve Pinckney, of Houston, committeeman for Texas, who is active in Porter's campaign, and that Mr. Pinckney gave him the following information: "It is possible for any citizen of Texas who is qualified to vote in the general election to vote for any candidate on any part of his choice, regardless of party affiliation. This is one of the several statutes of Texas, which was enacted in 1905, specifically providing for the voting of a split ticket in a general election. To vote for Jack Porter, or any candidate of your choice, it is only necessary to scratch the names of any other candidate on the ballot except those you wish to vote for."

Pinckney went on to say, "The so-called loyalty pledge will not apply to the election which will be held on November 2. This election is a general election which is held all over the United States on the same day. It is not a state or party primary. Our county and the Attorney General, Superintendent of Texas have ruled on this for many years past."

4-H Girls Meet

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chisum, of San Antonio, were here Tuesday visiting with friends. While in the city they paid our office a pleasant call.

G. O. P. Has Chance To Put 1 Footer In

Austin, Oct. 15.—Just how much a new senator from Texas is worth to the Republican party is now being discussed and pondered by the G. O. P. high command.

Publication of a poll which is showing up now like a Nov. 5 Senate race between Rep. Lyndon Johnson and Governor Coke Stevenson is causing the Republicans much concern. Johnson is running even with Dewey and Warren in the Texas poll, which is not so promising.

This, of course, is why the Republican party just now is showing such keen interest in pushing a candidate for the Senate there at any cost regardless of reconstruction. Apparently they are pretty well reconciled to the idea that Johnson's defeat would be a blow to President Truman and Barkley in spite of the formal denunciation of them with the Dixiecrat split over states' rights issue. Their real aim is not that Senate vote at all possible.

It is also like they were not in the balcony in the Senate Smith, Shivers, reporter; Jackie Hayter, Fort Stockton; student representatives Bill Short, Bandera, and Patty Fuller, Encinal; and sponsor, Dr. L. C. Hinckley.

Snake Yarns Told By Amasa Clark

By J. Marvin Hunter

[illegible] the Amasa Clark family will fail in another issue of the Frontier Times. Fact is, it would be bitten while asleep by a rattlesnake. Just a type of snake Mr. Clark gettings in bed with folks. I remember one time when my self and I had a fight with a bed of them in the early days. We take the following article from the Bandera Bulletin, which we published in 1923, in which Veteran Clark told of his snake adventures:

Veteran Amasa Clark was a visitor in our sanctum Monday and regaled us with stories of experiences with snakes since he came to Bandera county in 1852. Mr. Clark is now 91 years old. He served in the Mexican war, and in all the desperate fighting from Vera Cruz to the place I now occupy many years ago. Our log cabin contained two rooms with dirt floors. The doorway between those rooms had a log across the bottom of it. One night my wife started to step into that room and found a bed of rattlesnakes. We preserved a tight and found a monstrous big rattler coiled up by the side of the door ready to strike. We killed him, and his little boy, Ike Clark, said 'Papa tomorrow night there will be another big snake there after his blood.' Sure enough, the next night after dark as my wife started to step into that room she heard a hiss and a buzz, and when we lit the tallow light we found another big snake coiled and ready to strike. We killed him, but failed to get the big one that night.

"When I lived over on the Guadalupe in 1851, we had an old log house on the bank of the river, on Vahlo's. One night we heard a disturbance in the back room, and she got him set up a quarrel some cactus, so we investigated and found a big rattler had crawled into the nest and swallowed all the nest, and when the snake got it to run, got tangled up in the nest, and we killed him. We killed him, and he had swallowed all the little brood of chickens from there.

"On another occasion I was out hunting and had killed a fine buck in the Mitchell bottom, and was skinning him out, and as we were going along a rattlesnake sprang at the dog and struck him on the head, but I'm sure the pup would die, for it struck him right on the top of the head, but it did not seem to suffer any pain. But in a few days the swelling went away and the pup was all right again.

"I used to carry a five-shooter all of the time in the early days and was a pretty good shot with it, and many is the time that I have taken the head off a rattlesnake with my pistol. I never was afraid of snakes however, for I knew they were in the cattle days, but I was always on the alert for them. Boys and girls should always be on the alert for snakes, but they should not be afraid of them. Be careful and ready to strike.

The Bulletin reveals for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

Gloria Shines At New York Rodeo

New York, Oct. [illegible] Gloria Schneider, 17-year-old Bandera, Texas, cowgirl who has been visiting in town with the Ray Wyatt family, has the biggest appetite in New York. I never ever so find out since I was born.

"They public speaks as though they were movie stars," my informant said aswell. "There's a story that one of the calves just dip appeared during a show. Nobody knows what happened to it—but they girls were seen going and their teeth soon afterward."

She laughed. "I'll tell you a secret," she said, "We're up here on a straight salary, and we have to pay our own expenses. That's mighty expensive so some weeks we've invited out for dinner, in order the biggest thing on the menu.

"Other times," she added, wistfully, "we live pretty much on frankfurters."

Gloria is one of the six "specialty girls" here with the rodeo to help publicize it and add glamour. She's well equipped to represent Texas, having been named Duchess of the Bandera Indian Tribe, San Antonio Rose at San Antonio's annual festival, and last year was elected Texas U's most beautiful freshman.

Her dad, P. W. "Cot" Shiner, is a rancher at Bandera.

Spectator role most of the areas carrying a huge Lone Star flag, and Gloria watched carefully as Vesta Mansfield rode in to building a calf.

"Boots is the world's greatest cut and it's royal, and he was born Bandera originally," Gloria explained. "His mother-in-law, Mrs. Ova Mae Edwards, is our chaperone."

"Oh well," Gloria said, "boots for about on points that is, and I'd be glad to waste a couple. There are a couple of other Bandera girls here, Mona Antonio folks here, like Ray Wharton and Punky Crethers."

Gloria was captain of Thomas Jefferson High School's cadet corps, and her grandmother is in jail, and for two years was a member of the Lassies, with Tom Tom Flo Hudson and Dorothy Hudson.

"What's Gloria what she thought of New York on this first visit. She snorted a subtitle.

"What wolves you have here!" she said, smoothing her fancy blue riding outfit. "Our cowboys are gentlemen, but your boys here are the wolves. They whistle at us everywhere we go and keep yelling at our fancy get-ups and high-heeled boots.

"They think they're pretty funny, always yellin' 'Hey, Texas, get a horse!' and such. It was pretty funny the first time I heard it, but now it's old stuff. You know what I call them? I call them 'Hey, Texas' shirts to wear during the rodeo."

One of Gloria's jobs is to go around the campfire while Gene Autry sings and lead singing. Here, surely here you feel? Attend the church of your choice

1½ Billion Dollar Road Block!

RAILROADS MUST OPERATE around the clock every day and night of the year.

Although they know this, leaders of 16 railroad unions are demanding a five-day, Monday through Friday, week for one million railroad employes.

They want 40 hours pay for 40 hours work —in itself a 20% wage increase.

They also demand a minimum of 12 hours pay for any work performed on Saturdays, and 16 hours pay for any work performed on Sundays and holidays.

On top of all this they want an additional increase of 20c an hour for every employe!

You'd Pay the Bill!

Summing up these demands, they mean that these union leaders seek to force the railroads to give one million employes an award which would average $1500 per employe.

The total cost of this would be no less than 1½ billion dollars per year, which is more than twice the expected net income of the railroads this year.

You'd pay the bill, because if these increased costs are forced on the railroads, they must have still further rate and fare increases.

Demands Unreasonable

These employes have had substantial raises during and since the war. Their average hourly earnings are higher than the average hourly earnings of workers in manufacturing industries. They have more job security than the average worker in American industry. They also enjoy paid vacations, a retirement system, and other advantages more generous than the average worker receives.

In connection with the demands of these 16 unions, it should be said by the executives of the railroads involved that they have no objection to a five-day week, or to the payment of time and one-half for overtime after 40 hours, or to double time for Sundays and holidays.

Strike Threat

On September 18, 1948, the leaders of these 16 unions began taking a strike vote. But the railroads, fuel, and all other departments of the nation's economy depend upon the railroads for transportation. A railroad strike would paralyze the nation.

Railroads Run for Everybody— Not Employes Alone

The railroad industry must serve not one but many groups—producers, businessmen, shippers, passengers and the general public—night and day, every day of the year. Those unions are pressing a demand which, if granted, would destroy the ability of this important difference between railroads and other industries. Industrial plants can be shut down over weekends or holidays, but freight, mail, express and passengers must continue to move. Everybody who owns railroad employment insurance like.

WHAT THE PEOPLE THINK

Utopia, Texas, Oct. 17, 1948

Dear Editor:—I would like to express my few thoughts in re and to the Senate race. First both Johnson and Stevenson are Old Colonial men, and both have been highly honored by the people of this State, as shown by the election returns. However, I cannot understand why a man, after he has served the office the State has to offer, and one that has to make the laws and is supposed to help enforce and discipline himself and the State in every respect, would oppose an investigation of election fraud in favor of the state. It seems to me that Lyndon Johnson could, if he wished, when he didn't just want to be a United States Senator, come out and say that he is unopposed, and I will bet nobody has been sent to Austin.

SENATE INVESTIGATOR PROBES RUNOFF VOTE

Washington, Oct. 20—An investigator for the Senate subcommittee on privileges and elections was sent to Texas by plane, Wednesday, following a request by former governor Coke Stevenson that the committee investigate the Senate runoff primary in which he was narrowly defeated by Rep. Lyndon Johnson.

Although the committee has not yet made public the letter received from Stevenson, it was learned, unless Democratic chairman Hayden Wednesday that a committee representative had been sent to Austin.

A speedy preliminary report is expected from the investigator, but the full committee probably declined by reason of this time, they say to be short of the committee will depend to a great extent upon the nature of the "investigator's" preliminary report, the counsel explained.

Senator William E. Jenner, (R-Indiana), chairman of the committee, made no statement Wednesday on the proposed investigation and contest, but is expected to make some announcement shortly.

Durham said that the committee representative will confer with state officials and counsel for Stevenson in Austin, Attorneys for Stevenson's request for a committee investigation of the election, which Stevenson charges was won by Johnson through fraud, was a full transcript of the court proceedings in Fort Worth before Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson.

"Pa," said Arthur, "a man's wife is his better half, isn't she?"

"We are told so, my son."

"Well, then," continued Arthur, "if a man marries twins there isn't much left of him, is there?"

"I hear," said the college student to the girl, "that you have a property for petting."

"It's a lie," cried the girl. "All I have is an old-fashioned divenport."

ANTI-TRUMAN DEMOCRAT CALL CONVENTION ACTIONS

Fort Worth, ——. Anti-Truman Democrats of Tarrant county won a temporary restraining order in 67th District Court, here Monday when they filed a lawsuit of sweeping magnitude designed to set aside actions of the State Democratic executive committee, September 14 at Austin and to halt the purge of precinct chairmen electing to take a Truman Barkley loyalty pledge. Dist. Judge Marion Harrison immediately signed a 45-page petition filed by Democrats of six stages describing themselves as "conservatives" and set 9 a. m., October 29 as a hearing date for their application for a temporary injunction.

Warring Tarrant factions will be arrayed against each other at that time as they were at the state convention when the states' rights delegation here was replaced by a Truman delegation. Prominent members of the states rights faction filed Monday's legal action. At the preceding county Democratic convention they adopted a strong anti-Truman resolution.

Allegations of fraud are made in the petition and violations of the state penal code, U. S. criminal code, state laws and party practices charged. Actual and exemplary damages at $1,000 each are sought from a majority array of defendants including State Democratic chairman John C. Calhoun, of Corsicana and county Democratic Chairman Charles E. McKnight.

Temporarily restrained in the order are Jack Carter and Mrs. J. W. Douglas, who were named as Tarrant's members to the state Democratic Executive Committee in September, replacing Neville G. Penrose and Mrs. Bernel L. Smith.

The suit claims Carter and Mrs. Douglas are "unlawful claimants and pretenders" to their positions and that Penrose and Mrs. Smith are the legal members of the executive committee from this county.

The request for the restraining order asked a stop order on the execution of "any of the actions taken at the Democratic state convention here and termed actions of that convention unlawful, oppressive, illegal, arbitrary or fraudulent."

Temporarily restrained, in addition to Carter and Mrs. Douglas, are Calhoun, McKnight, Vidal M. Kennedy, Austin, described as "claimant to the office of secretary of the state executive committee, and Thomas L. Tyson, of Corsicana, described a successor to Kennedy as claimant to that post.

The suit has statewide significance because of the similar seating at the September convention of Tarrantites from Harris, Dallas and several small counties as well as Tarrant.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Class 1, a group of citizens and taxpayers; class 2, precinct delegates elected to attend the July county convention; class 3, Tarrant county delegates to the September state convention; class 4, Democratic nominees in July primary; class 5, Democratic nominees for a statewide, qualified voters, delegates and nominees as elector.

The Bulletin retails for only $2.50 per year, and it's worth it.

TEXAN ELECTED LEGION CHIEF

Miami, Fla., Oct. 23.—The American Legion broke new ground in its national convention here today when, on the second ballot, Perry Brown, veteran of both world wars, his new national commander. Brown, 39-year-old Beaumont, Texas, businessman, favorite son of the "Old Guard" who backed Governor James F. O'Neill, of New Hampshire, as commander of 1,000,000 veterans of foreign wars throughout the world.

His election to the highest post in the biggest organization in the United States was assured when George N. Craigh, of Brazil, Ind., withdrew from the three-man race. James F. Green, Omaha, Neb., attorney, was Brown's leading opponent.

At the conclusion of the roll call, Green asked the election be made unanimous.

Earlier, two resolutions seeking pensions for all honorably discharged veterans of World War I or II were adopted at the final business session.

One, introduced by the Department of Illinois, asks Congress to enact legislation providing a $60 a month payment to all veterans of either war when they reach the age of 55 and a $75 a month payment when they reach 65.

The second, twice defeated at previous national conventions, would provide payments to all World War I veterans, their widows and children on the same basis as now paid to Spanish American War veterans, their widows and children.

After a few worried days of waiting, two invitations for the 1949 convention were extended by sister cities enough to accommodate the 75,000 ex-servicemen and their families—Philadelphia and Miami.

Mayor James M. Curley gave an invitation for the 1950 convention in Boston. A decision will be made by the Legion's executive committee in November at Indianapolis.

It had been a strenuous week for most of the Legionnaires here for the greater major of which were World War II veterans. Two parades, one Tuesday and one Thursday, crowded more than a normal amount of refreshments and lasted speeches more than a dozen national figures—including the President of the United States.

BOY CLAIMED BY MOTHER

Austin, Oct. 20.—A 21-year-old unwed mother Tuesday claimed the red-haired blue-eyed, 15-day-old boy which she said she abandoned in a car here early Sunday.

Attendants at Brackenridge hospital, where the baby was being cared for, said the woman attended the hospital at 2 a. m. Tuesday and asked to see the baby. She said that was abandoned." When she saw the child, she sobbed, "My baby, Oh, my baby boy."

Police officials, after referring to the mother's story, said they would not release her name. The attendants are charges. The mother, they said, "I only want to be sure the right home for my baby. My happiness I'm worried about is not what happens to me. I'm glad she had abandoned the baby. Now knowing which will be best for him. Detectives said they had received more than 100 calls in the past 36 hours from persons wishing to adopt the baby.

"As a dinner party an absent minded professor was seated next to a charming lady. "Don't you remember me, professor?" she purred. "Why, some years ago you asked me to marry you."

"Did I?" asked the prof. "Did you?"

JUVENILE DELINQUENCY GETS START AT HOME

San Francisco, Oct. 21.—Today's big cause of juvenile delinquency, instead of there age old causes, such as physical or mental defects, association with criminal gangs, poverty, war, and the like, is the so-called evils of modern life, all the newly distilled psychoneuroses, comic books and those youngsters to crime and other factors brought to light by child psychologists connected with war but heavy life as a basic cause of juvenile delinquency.

Add the social, economic and psychological reforms of the past 14 years have not lessened the delinquency rate one whit.

These were the conclusions of the delinquency section of the Commonwealth Club of California in a yearly report, released Thursday.

The study found that cost delinquencies are committed by youngsters "predisposed to delinquency".

"Nearly every source points to the conclusion that, most definitely can be traced back to home atmosphere during childhood," the report said.

"A loving atmosphere . . . is the most important thing, and the lack of it is a first rate basic cause of delinquency.

Looking Backward

Twenty-Five Years Ago

(From the Bandera New Era, November 1, 1923 published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Saturday night Chas. Eckhardt and W. W. Whitley caught a catfish in Medina Lake, which weighed fifty-seven pounds. The fish fellow was caught on a cotton line, baited with several smaller fish.

Over in the 12th Representative district, which includes the counties of Gillespie, Kendall, Bandera and Llano, there will be a contest for Representative, since Tom Martin, who is the present incumbent, is not a candidate for re-election.

Alfredo Peschel, a Fredericksburg attorney, is the announced candidate of the Democratic party, and Ed Harris, Llano attorney, will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for all in the November election.

President Truman's proposed civil rights program, released by the White House this week, is causing a lot of discussion in political circles. Republican leaders in congress are not enthusiastic about the proposals, but Democratic leaders are said to be in favor of the most of the proposals. Southern Democrats, however, are opposed to the civil rights program, and it is believed that the proposals will cause a split in the Democratic party. Some observers believe that the civil rights issue will be the most important issue before the country in the 1948 campaign, and that it will overshadow the tariff, foreign relations, and all other issues. Others believe that the civil rights issue will be settled before the campaign gets under way, and that it will not be an issue in the campaign. Time will tell.

Next Tuesday, November 2, is general election day. The law provides that no person under a residence of one year may vote in a general election, and that no person may vote in any precinct in which he has not resided for six months next preceding the election. Persons who have moved from one precinct to another within the county within the last six months may vote in the precinct from which they moved. Persons who have moved from one county to another within the last six months may not vote in the county from which they moved, but may vote in the county to which they moved. Persons who have moved from one county to another within the last six months may vote in the county from which they moved, but may vote in the county to which they moved. Persons who have moved from one county to another within the last six months may vote in the county from which they moved, but may vote in the county to which they moved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartfield were shopping in Kerrville Saturday.

SCHOOL DAZE

AT LAST THE BABY HAS A NAME

Hargrove Baby, a boy, weighing seven and one-half pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hargrove at 4:11 o'clock, Friday morning, September 3. Grandparents have been busy thinking of a name for the little boy but he will make a public appearance last Friday, but will not have a regular name, as all the relations—pupils in the public school—got together and after much combined efforts brought forth the name—Serial Date Hemingway—the news from the Bandera Public School will appear under the title of School Daze. The honor of naming the school paper goes to Dolores Gray, Jr. and Jimmy Lee Barker. It was a difficult job to make the selection, but the representatives from the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grade classes were unanimous in their choice. Mrs. A. N. Jowell, as their chairman, will present the baby with a gift.

The fourth grade boys and girls have had the sweet tooth appeased by their candy sale this week. Of course, help came from Mrs. Fred Thalmann and mother, Mrs. Fred Thalmann and mother.

Everyone will surely get acquainted with the seventh grade pupils, for Miss Ruth Bell, the girls' basketball coach, and Mrs. O. H. Welborn is chairman of the 7-B room mothers. Mrs. Welborn, or rather, Mrs. Preston made by the 7-B girls, and Mrs. Welborn and her children, Mrs. Eric Hammond and Mrs. Hassell Hicks, are the room mothers for the 7-A room. Miss Bell, Mrs. W. Carothers and Mrs. John Loveless are the room mothers for the seventh grade boys. Mrs. Bell is the basketball coach, and the boys have already had a practice game with the Bandera High School team, which they lost by a score of 16 to 14. Mrs. Bell's boys will play their first game with Pipe Creek, the chairman are wondering if they will have to travel that far to get a game. Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Loveless are the room mothers for the eighth grade boys. Mrs. Carothers is also the basketball coach for the eighth grade girls. Mrs. Hazel Hammond is the room mother for the eighth grade girls.

Here you met the sponsor of the ninth grade boys, Mrs. Ruth Mae Hall, and the girls' sponsor will be Bonnie Lee Hicks. Mrs. Hall is also the basketball coach for the ninth grade boys. Mrs. Hall's room mothers are Mrs. Mary Lou Lynch, who has a daughter in the ninth grade, and Mrs. Mamie Sides, mother of Jimmie Sides, who is also in the ninth grade. Mrs. Hall's boys will play their first game with Pipe Creek, the chairman are wondering if they will have to travel that far to get a game. Mrs. Carothers and Mrs. Loveless are the room mothers for the eighth grade boys. Mrs. Carothers is also the basketball coach for the eighth grade girls. Mrs. Hazel Hammond is the room mother for the eighth grade girls.

Since leaving college her major interest has been in her home and three children. She says that they make up a full time course in home economics. She has found time to take active part in the work of the Methodist church—and do some work about the line of jobs previously mentioned. She is fond of and to do some research work. Her hobby is fashion—in fashion reversals.

Just now in Bandera, her time is divided between the home and the office.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest T. Bethke and small son, Eric, came to Bandera from San Marcos, Mr. Bethke having accepted a job with WSWTC in San Marcos and the University where he studied law before completing his work here went into the armed forces. Upon returning, Mr. Bethke decided to go into the teaching profession. He is now a high school graduate. He uses the discussion type of teaching which he believes is the purpose of clearing up wrong impressions and misleading statements. Besides the social activities of the high school, he also teaches Junior Business Training.

Mr. Bethke believes in being practical and teaching practical things. You will find him each Friday night on the concession stand at the football games, dispensing practical lessons to pupils in salesmanship and business management. As a result, the concession stands have been netting more clear money than the gate receipts at the football games.

Mrs. Bethke has a golden opportunity for a brilliant future in the field of interior decorating, she thinks.

Mr. Bethke stated that they were delighted with the surroundings and beauty at the Telford ranch. His hobby is hunting and fishing.

Mrs. Vernelle Mullenax is starting her second year in the science department of high school. She is a graduate of Southwestern Texas State Teachers College at San Marcos.

Mrs. Mullenax is the pep squad sponsor. She and her group have developed some very attractive pep yells. Mrs. Mullenax is now working with the band to develop a great showing. Their uniforms are outstanding and their appearances adds to the excitement of a game, Mrs. Mullenax admits in teaching the marvels and glories of the Southwestern Historical University the publication of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly, the publication of the work of which Mrs. Lewis is a member, and which has been interested in commercial subjects, and has used shorthand and typing in her work.

DRUGS
EARLY DAYS IN BANDERA

Bandera's "business district" used to center around the present Bandera County Hardware & Farmers Association warehouse, which, in the 1880's, was occupied by a general store. Under the hill toward the river was the old J. P. Heinen store (later walked away in a flood); just back of the Carmichael & Hay store was the old George Hay saloon, and further east was the court house and jail, and on the site of the present ice factory was the Rainey blacksmith shop. The building still standing at the apartment house belonged to Tom Ransom, was the Hay hotel, while across the street was the Duffy Hotel. The store on the corner now the location of the Corner Drug store, was owned and operated by Huffmeyer Brothers, and situated in it was the Huffmeyer residence. Over on the far corner of the block was the Lincoln & Hart store, and just across the street was the old Charles Goodnight saloon. Freight was hauled from San Antonio in wagons, and groceries were cheaper than they are now.

The Corner Drug Store can supply your needs in the line of drugs and druggist's supplies. Prescriptions are carefully and accurately compounded.

Big Armistice Day Festival Planned to Include Parade Next Thursday

The American Legion and American Legion Auxiliary will sponsor the Armistice Day celebration here on Thursday, November 11, so come join the fun. There will be a mammoth parade at 10:45, in which all service men are urged to participate, in uniform. There are several hundred service men in the county and it is expected that a good majority of them will turn out for this. The parade will form on the county of the Clinch Shack-and-end in front of the Memorial Home, where a short program will be presented. The invocation will be offered by Rev. R. Russell Heazer, and J. Marvin Hunter will deliver a short address.

A barbecue dinner will be served on the small price of 75c and 50c, after which the basketball barbecue and all the trimmings. Plan to attend the dinner early as serving starts at 11:45, and will continue until it is all gone.

In the afternoon there will be a continuation of the sports and valuable prizes, a prize for every game. In case of a tie, a consolation game will be played. A fish pond is being arranged for fun and entertainment of the kiddies, and there is no one limit to the popular pastime. There's fun for young and old.

Would you like to see into the future? If so, you will have a chance to see what the future holds for you! Mrs. Alvin Hunter will read the lines and tell all. Just be found a soothsayer who foresees and can tell you what your future holds. Dancing girls and boys in gaily colored costumes will entertain and provide charm and amuse you while you wait to have your fortune told. Step right up and see what attractive features of the day. Don't miss having your fortune told.

If you are looking around for Christmas gifts for your loved ones, a booth has been arranged where you can buy lovely and useable gifts. The fancy work booth will be well stocked with beautifully crocheted articles, quilts, and other items to make your home more attractive.

Christmas cards will be on sale for only a few days, so this will be a special booth where you can get lovely boxes of Christmas cards at reasonable prices. Don't forget to visit the fancy work booth.

There will be a children's cafeteria, open all day for those little folks' snacks. Try your luck at the booth featuring homemade cakes, pies, candies, cookies and other delectable tidbits to tempt the appetite. Buy some to eat with your lunch or take some home.

This day, November 11, is in honor of all the boys in the service. So honor them by wearing a Poppy. You can get yours at the booth.

From 5 to 12 midnight there will be a big dance with music by Frank Montano Jr. and the Mompolets. The Stumpeders, Bandera's own band, will help make this one of the biggest Armistice Days ever spent in Bandera. All proceeds from this entire program will be applied on the debt on the Memorial Home and Annex. That is the Legion and Auxiliary's aim—then and back make it a huge success.

DANGEROUS CURVE TO BE REMOVED

Word has been received from the Bulletin that the State Highway Commission has appropriated $17,000 to cover cost of improving, alignment and drainage at 10 degree curve on Highway 16 between Bandera and Medina. This is the dangerous curve and dip at the old Gene Richards place, where three persons have been killed, recently when their truck turned over and rolled down the embankment. Curve is seriously cushioned this improvement.

One was lined with red polka dot gingham and the other with white gingham. The shirts were worn bright red and trimmed with blue shirts.

Judge Charles Real, 73, prom-inent ranchman and former post-master of Kerrville and of Kerr county, died in an Austin hospital early Friday morning. He was a native of Kerr county, family who settled in Kerr coun-ty in 1857, and had been a resi-dent of Kerrville during which time he served as postmaster for four years. He had been in the ranching business in the county for many years. He had been a member of the Presbyterian church for many years. Services were held Saturday afternoon at the Presbyterian church in Kerrville, with Rev. Ben Stanley officiating. The funeral service for Judge Real was followed by the ritual-istic service of the Smith Funeral Home, and he was followed in the Real Cemetery. Pallbearers included W. R. Hedg-peth, Nevera Tracy Real, Jr., Rudolph Smith, Ernest Wil-liams, Kott and Lynn McCrae.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Kate Real, of Austin, and other relatives—Kerrville Times.

GEORGE BIENSCHWILLE

Rev. W. H. Price was called to Comfort Saturday to conduct a funeral service for George Bien-schwille, who died there Friday night. The deceased was a native of Germany, but has lived in this county for many years. He is survived by his wife and one son. A large crowd of friends and relatives were present at the funeral service, and all joined in to pay their last respects to this pioneer gentleman.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, November 8, 1923, published by Marvin Hunter.)

The contract for the building of a road of permanent standard across the corner of Medina county on the Bandera-San Antonio Highway, was awarded to Mr. Schriever, to begin Monday by the Medina county commissioners. The road is to be finished before July 1, 1924. It is expected that construc-tion work will begin at once. The State Highway Department made an appropriation of $9,000 to supplement the $3,000 appro-priated by Medina county for the 2.88 miles of road across the Medina county corner, making $12,000 that is to be expanded on this project. Bandera citizens have been praying a long time for this highway to be put in first class condition, and now that the contract has been let, although several months may elapse before it is completed, we are all ready for that we are to have a first class road over what is now the most piece of highway in the whole state of Texas. Arise and sing!

Miss Agnes Duff and Mr. Aug-ust Kalka were married in St. Leo's church, San Antonio, at 9 o'clock last Sunday. The church had been decorated in white cas-kets for the event. The bride was dressed in white crepe de chine. Miss Aurelia Pyka was bridesmaid and Mr. Gene Black-well was best man. Mrs. Duff accompanied her daughter to San Antonio and was present at the wedding. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Duff and has many friends in Bandera county. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kalka of this city and is a worthy young man. The New Era joins in wishing the newly married pair joy and happiness through life.

The Humble Oil & Refining Co. has selected the location for the new filling station on the Verdeckerport corner, the location made vacant by the burning of the old station there. The company is under contract to build drill-ing rigs on the Jones & Buie lease, and it is expected that the rig will soon be in place and the work of drill-ing the well started. The well is a wildcat test, which is to be thoroughly tested and it is encour-aging to know that the Humble Oil Co., which is a branch of the Standard Oil Co., has become interested in this section. The drilling of the Wood-Texas well was down to a depth of about 4,000 feet proved that there is oil in this section, and the field is sure to be developed.

THE DUDE WRANGLER

The Dude Wrangler," a neat 8-page tabloid newspaper, made its Bandera Monday, with Mrs. D. H. Crowell as editor and Mrs. Orbie Lee Bullpitbery, Jr. as "chuck full" of interesting and reliable news of the dude ranches of Bandera and the Hill Country, no longer is missing information by any anybody. It has been Mrs. Crowell's plan for some time to publish a newspaper that will contain the activities, announcements and entertainments and features offered by the coaches of the various dude ranches, and it appears in appearance Monday, the Dude Wrangler was greeted with much favor by the general public. It is being printed in the Bulletin plant on equipment for its printing will be installed and the size will be increased as circulation demands. No advertising was solicited for the first issue, terms of the business for that will come out in the next issue.

Ted Neeky Gets a Big Mule Deer in Colorado

SO YOU LIKE TO HUNT?

Matchcoker finds five Bandera men with work caught up for a few days. With a little preparation a hurried trip was planned for big game in Colorado. Not knowing the route, two days later found Spicer Dode five grown horns from Bandera wondering how the elk and deer are killed in those parts. Well, to those who find this article interesting, it is something like this: Uncle Sam owns practically all hunting territory in Colorado this part, also those being San Juan National Forest, with mountains up to 13,000 feet, covered with pine trees, rivers and creeks full of fish for the fishing and the mountains full of game. After securing license, all you have to do is to get on one of those mountains, pitch camp, don a red undies and start to hunt. After the first day of climbing and panting for breath, you are so exhausted you couldn't hit anything if you saw it, but after the third or fourth day one of those 10,000-foot climbs is just like sprinting to Pipe Creek and back—nothing to it. You are now ready for any eventuality, so you think. The antlers and wind velocity you read so much about in sports magazines becomes a reality. You can't understand why the bullets from your gun either go to the right or left of your game—seems like you might have buck fever, but distance really plays an important role in high mountain climbing. Well, the second evening of hunting one of the party, whom you will remember in the picture, was on his way to camp when two bucks nearly ran over him. He shoots in self defense and knocks the critter down with his trusty 300, but those deer carry more load than the average buck, so he spends another session, this time storing a vision kill. While in the process of skinning, another buck bigger than the first runs by at close range, but the companion had his gun some feet from him. Warning to all hunters: Keep your gun handy at all times! Well, the size of the buck made it impossible to bring him down the mountain side that night, so the next morning horses were engaged to do the job.

After about 10 or 12 shots the writer finally succeeds for the second big buck of the trip. Now the most interesting thing to us was this: You get one license which entitles you to one buck. If you happen to change your clothes and forget to take your tag with you, when you kill your game, any other hunter can claim your game. All game must be tagged at the time and on the carcass. We have now back taken away from us because we did not tag it immediately. You are allowed one of each species, whether it be doe, fawn, or buck. The reason for this law is that so many animals starve in the winter. All of the country is covered with snow from November 1st to May 10th. We were going to stay the full time, but the snow and blizzard at 12 degrees ran us back to sunny Texas. Believe you me, if you plan a big game hunt, start in July walking ten miles a day for the first month, and then start running to Medina and back, and be really wind it up, take a little stroll over the mountain to Kerrville and back for awhile, and you will then be in shape to hunt in Colorado.

LEGION AUXILIARY MAKES ARMISTICE DAY PLANS

On Wednesday night we had a fair attendance at our meeting. We were certainly pleased to see several new members present and hope they will attend meetings regularly. Interesting reports were given on the convention at Uvalde. Mrs. E. Lindner presented Mrs. Madge Bagwell a lovely corsage on being elected Auditor-Secretary-Treasurer. We are certainly proud of having a member holding a district office.

Interesting reports came from all committees on Armistice Day program. Ladies, donating fancy work are asked to turn in in at Tom Doyle's Store, or to Eva Hutchison or Augustina Allen at the Memorial Home. Further plans were made for the Armistice Day program and reports given by the various chairmen of the different booths. Quilt ticket must be turned in no later than Wednesday, November 10, to Augustina Allen at the Legion Home. Gifts for Christmas box for hospital, please turn in to Mrs. Allen at the Memorial Home before December 1.

If you have not been contacted and wish to donate to any of the booths for Armistice Day or for Christmas box, see Mrs. Allen at the Legion Home, or call Unit secretary Evelyn Hutcheson.

All the members missed Mrs. Hester Cleveland, who is ill, but glad to say is rapidly recovering.

When the meeting adjourned we joined the American Legion for the showing of War films.

SQUARE DANCING AT LEGION HALL

Tuesday evening about forty people turned out for the Square Dance in the Legion Hall, and before the evening was over nearly everyone had a pretty good idea of just what the square dance consists of and the calls that go with it. A. C. Watson did a good job of pinch hitting for Mrs. Troilo, who was unable to be present for this dance, and through his efforts a good start was made towards getting the square dances started in Bandera. Square dancing can be a wonderful means of getting the whole community together in friendly entertainment, thereby creating a spirit that was so prevalent in Bandera quite a few years back—and all ages, then age, middle age and elderly citizens are invited to come out next Tuesday night at the American Legion Hall and help get this square dancing done to records with calls on them, but of course it is hoped that they can have guest callers or that someone in Bandera who doesn't particularly care to dance but would like and would make a good caller, will come forward and make himself known, because Bandera needs its own caller. At some future date if a caller can be obtained, and perhaps some musical accompaniment, a small charge can be made to take care of this.

At the present time no charge has been set for the dances, except that the hat will be passed, and the amount needed to pay for the use of the Hall collected. Any money received over the amount for the cost of the hall is to be put into a fund with which further entertainment could be provided, such as barbecues, the money going for the food, or box suppers; anything that will further the old fashioned friendly spirit in Bandera.

"Daughter, that fellow who walks with you through the park doesn't look too polished to me."

"Well, I'll admit he's a little rough around the hedges."

NEW BOOK TITLES AT LIBRARY GIVEN

Did you know that the Bandera Public Library has on its shelves such books as "No Trumpets Before Him," "Thornbird," "Life With Father," "Life With Mother," "Penn Hill," and a host of other new and interesting books, as well as a good backlog of the tried and true good books? A rental service is being contemplated for books of current issues. Since no funds are available for purchase of such books, the plan is to charge 10c per week rental on them until they are paid for and another of like calibre can be purchased. A poll on the feasibility of this plan is to be held at the library between now and the Christmas holidays. Patrons will also be asked to indicate which of the newest books they would be interested in reading on such a basis. Some of the suggested books for the poll have been listed as "How to Stop Worrying and Start Living," by Dale Carnegie, "The Naked and the Dead," by Norman Mailer, "Crusade in Europe," by Dwight D. Eisenhower, and "Dear to My Heart," by Sterling North. The library is open on Saturday from 2 to 4 p. m. and the Home Demonstration Clubs of Bandera, which are operating the project on a volunteer basis, are anxious that everyone interested should come out and give their suggestions on making the library more interesting and useful to the people of Bandera county. The library is located on the east side of the library auditorium building in the rear.

SENIORS ENJOY FIRST SOCIAL EVENT

On Monday, October 25, the seniors of the high school had their first social event of the year. Miss Mae Dalton, miniature golf course, at 6 o'clock to enjoy a few rounds of golf and a meal welcomed supper of hot buns, roasted wieners, chili, baked beans, cold "pop" and ice cream bars prepared by Mrs. Dalton, Mrs. Hand, Mrs. Phelps and Mrs. Koontz, hostesses.

There was no doubt about the reward for first prize in the golf match. That box of Milky Ways should build prodigious strength in Jimmie Hand's kicking toe. But Mr. Hicks is reasonably sure who won the consolation prize package of bubble gums which Opal Jack Hay carried home.

An added attraction was given as Bob Dalton and Sherrill Scheffer, teaching seniors, gave special emphasis on sweets and gums.

P. T. A. CARNIVAL A SUCCESS

The school carnival, which was sponsored and carried out under the very capable leadership and cooperation of the P. T. A. and not only a success from the financial standpoint, but it was a success in that it was a home coming enjoyed by the people who are no longer in high school. Ray Arnold—the one who has been high school boy for several years—was there, and he was not the only one. Those who have left school and are now married and have children in school were there, and we know that practically all of our high school graduates were present. Some sometimes may not want to be reminded of the fact, but it is a report of fact, nevertheless.

The Junior Red Cross together with the senior high school room mothers met Monday, November 1 and had a party. It is hoped that every child in school will join the Junior Red Cross. That is to do all we can, these "gift" boxes we fill and send abroad are the only needed and appreciated by the suffering children, but the other great objective is to create and maintain friendship and good will. The above picture, which has been received by the Bandera grade school, shows that the gift boxes are reaching their destinations. We also have some letters that may convey some ideas to be made for our boys who are in hospitals. These letters will be found at the office for them. They made great impressions on us. Can't we bring some joy and happiness to some of the members of the home we have visited as it has been working with the youngest. The better I work with the youngest, with each succeeding year, the more I realize of my class, the more I love everyone of them."

BIOGRAPHY OF THE WEEK

Neal Dalton, secretary of the senior class, is the subject for our biography of the week.

Neal came to Bandera in 1943 from Dalton, Pike county, blue grass region of Kentucky. From those first days he has made himself one of the most popular members of his class by his generosity and fine loving nature. In his Junior year he served as class president and will be remembered as the outstanding officer of the Junior class play.

Neal, who is quite an athlete, has played football, basketball, and tennis all through high school and went out for track one season. He is playing his last season for the Bandera high school this year but we are guessing that his name will be remembered in big letters on sport pages from the time he begins for college. Maturity, as a result of his football experience, will be a big asset to him in his college athletics. Watch for the name Dalton, Pike county, Kentucky.

Dramatic and past famous would seem enough but we expect much of Neal, although he will be remembered for being the boy who is a broken nutbrittle, received in the Somervell game. "Here's to you, fellow senior—Neal Dalton!"

FORWARD MARCH

And now see the band has organized and is marching. Practice began on Tuesday, October 26, the first day of school. Soon after that they are very good. Our band is new to marching. In the past they have been more interested in action marching, and we think that they are doing an excellent job.

Friday night the band not only marched in the parade in front of the fair, but was given a hand on the football field. It was a big thrill to hear the people who are behind the band boosting and encouraged by the various bands. Let us not forget that we are not the only band in this section of the country. Let us know that practically all of our high school bands are doing some marching and many are learning to play.

SPECIAL PARTIES

SATURDAY NIGHT

We understand that several of the classes had parties on Monday night after the football game. Since we were not able to cover these parties, we regret that we could not be reported next week. Mr. Tuttle and the Sophomore class had a party at the gym. It is hoped by a little advance notice that we may be able to report on these parties that they said that there was and no way to tell anything at this writing. Each party is a wonderful way to get acquainted with members of the class, the more I know everyone of them."

SWIMMING TICKET HOLDERS SEE SMU SMOTHER TEXAS U

Thirteen fans attended the orders football fans among the high school pupils, and no second invitation was needed when Mr. Dietz offered to supply transportation to the Texas-SMU game. Seven cars made the trip from Bandera to Austin, and all reported a really enjoyable time. Even though a few were disappointed in the score. Those making the trip were Gerry Brewer, Thos. Knox, Neva Fleenor, Ernest Hillman, Buddy Browne, Hugh Lewis, Eugene Strom, Oscar Kuhn and Jerry Cuttingham.

High school pupils were not the only ones who were interested in football games over the week-end. At least three teachers were at the Homecoming game in San Marcos where the San Marcos Bobcats came back for a thrilling victory over their old rivals, the Eagles, from North Texas at Denton. Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lewis made the trip to San Marcos for the Homecoming and the football game.

BAND NEWS

The band has had a need for new instruments for some time, and it was with a great deal of pleasure that they heard the offer of the P. T. A. to supply them with money for these instruments. The other night the P. T. A. gave $200 with which it is planned to buy a baritone saxophone. We appreciate this donation very much and thank the P. T. A. from the bottom of our hearts.

Friday night at the Billy game the band marched for the first time in several years at the ball park. We had more uniforms than ever before, and hope that everyone enjoyed watching us. It is hoped that we may have more to add, and we felt that they were quite an addition to the beauty of the action.

We have not missed a game this year. Even though we have had some rainy nights, we have been ready to march, we have enjoyed every game and would not miss one for anything.

We have organized a band here this year. They are: Bill Boles, John L. Surber, Kenneth Smith, Jane Koontz, Don Hefner, Jr., Billy V. O'Bryant, Bobby Bailey and Sandy Miller.

Our pert and pretty majorettes are Dorothy Ives, Dorothy Zimmerman and Marjorie Stevens led by the drum majorette, Mary Lou Lynch. They have been doing a swell job and we are proud of them.

THIRD GRADE—

The third grade "Good Citizenship Club" is working faithfully to earn enough stamps to buy a United States flag. A good effort is kind, obedient, truthful, courteous, and helpful are the rules to keep our books covered and in good condition. We pick on paper, clean desk and do whatever is asked that we find. We hope that every child in the third grade will earn a flag—and most of all will be a good American citizen.

FOURTH GRADE—

Several weeks ago the Fourth grade organized into a club. They have a president, vice-president, and secretary. Then committees are organized to take care of these activities—"courtesy" and room appearance, punctuality and order in getting into the room, and programs. The club meets each Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Officers are elected each month. Each child's responsibilities will be changed from time to time during the year.

FIFTH GRADE—

The Carnival was more than a success. Dogs and chili and crunching popcorn bags for the members of the fifth grade. They made special Halloween decorations for their room, and in keeping with Halloween, costumes and masks to the carnival. In fact, if it had not been for the extra grades in the pupils of the fifth grade, someone might have become so interested in the food and forgotten about the fun. They could have lost sight of the fact that it was Halloween carnival. The fifth grade took care of the carnival spirit for the entire food and game.

SEVENTH GRADE—

The grammar school volley ball team played its first match game last Wednesday, on the high school court. They played two high school teams, an A team and a B team. The grammar school volley ball team won against the high school B team, but lost to the A team.

Those playing on the grammar school volley ball team are Jo Ann Koontz, captain; Sally Alsup, co-captain; Dorthy Buck, Lou Ann Schlueter; Catherine Bailey, Lina Mae Buttrey, Betty Ruth Wheat. Substitutes are Shirley Gray, Jimmie Ruth Edwards, Barbara Claire and Barbara Almstedt. They hope to develop a team that will furnish real competition to the best team the high school has to offer.

Mrs. O'Bryant lost the diamond out of her ring. We surely hope she finds it.

EIGHTH GRADE—

The eighth grade has a fine new member, John L. Surber formerly of Alamo Heights, San Antonio. We had more than one new Surber home in Highland Waters. Already he has become a good scout and we are proud of his being able to play the trumpet in the band.

The eighth grade girls are trying to outdo their older sisters and they are outdoing them. We are very happy to have a girls basketball team on Friday night at the basketball game.

The eighth grade girls of the elementary school volley ball team have also taken part in their first victory over the high school team. We have worked hard for this victory.

Corrine Mechler went to La Coste Sunday with Jean Pennyon went to a birthday party Friday night at Bruce-Hyde ivent, to Kerrville Sunday. Connie Richards, who has been ill, is back in school this week and thanks to the carnival. In fact, if it had not been for the extra grades in the pupils of the fifth grade, someone might have become so interested in the food and forgotten about the fun. They could have lost sight of the fact that it was Halloween carnival. The fifth grade took care of the carnival spirit for the entire food and game.

SOPHOMORE CLASS—

The sophomore class is rooting for Bandera to win the game with Lytle, so come on Bulldogs, come on and FIGHT!

Mrs. Arthur (Bud-dy) Browne got his finger broken in the game Friday night. We know he will be in there fighting at the Lytle game tonight, even if it is on the bench.

BANDERA
THREE LONELY GRAVES NEAR RANGER CROSSING
On the James E. Shaw place, the Former Loesberg ranch, near Ranger Crossing on the Medina river, four miles above Bandera, are three graves of early settlers. No headstone with inscription marks any of those graves, and little is known about the Tragic Story of how they died. It is said that one of the graves is that of a little girl, Amanda Davis, daughter of Richard Davis, who was killed by Indians in 1854. The other two graves, those of grown people, also were probably murdered by Indians. The Davis girl, so the story goes, was living with her parents, encamped on the Medina river, where the father was engaged in making shingles. One day his three daughters, Amanda, Susie, and Lucy, went to a spring to get water and were attacked by three Indians, who were camped in the high grass. Amanda was shot with arrows, one of them passing through her heart. The other two little girls outran the Indians and reached their parents' camp in safety. Mr. Davis and another man, Joe Stanford, followed the Indians on foot for some distance, but did not overtake them. The body of the little murdered girl was buried the next day.

Lions Clubs Join Forces in Seeking Paved Road to Utopia

A group of Utopia and Vanderpool citizens, members of the Utopia Lions Club, and representatives from the Bandera Lions' Club appeared before the county commissioners court Monday morning to ask for an extension of the road from Tarpley to Utopia, a distance of sixteen miles, under the maintenance of the State Highway Commission. A resolution offered by County Commissioner Jack Tanner and Ernest Lindner, County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1, asked for a No. 1 paving necessity project from Tarpley to Utopia, to be built by State maintenance facilities. The commissioners voted a 1 to 1 go favor of the project. County Commissioner H. L. Peter, of Precinct No. 4, cast the vote in the negative.

Mr. Peter contended that the proposed project would interfere with the building of a farm-to-market road from Medina to Station C, for which application has already been made. It was explained to the court that the Tarpley-Utopia project would not be a farm-to-market project, but should be built by part maintenance of the State funds. It seemd that funds sufficient to build only about four or five miles of the road were left in the farm-to-market allotment to Bandera county, and it is desired to apply these funds to the Medina-Station C project. A representative of the State Highway Engineery department is expected to come to Bandera next Monday to confer with the commissioners on the matter, and will be a guest of the Bandera and Utopia Lions Clubs on that date.

DON'T GET CATTY WITH HARRY

Harold Brooks, owner of the Frontier Drug Store, was called after midnight one night last week to quiet a disturbance in his shop room in the Frontier Hotel.

It seems his faithful mouse catcher figured that if she put her head through a hole in the restroom door, she could go on through. It apparently hadn't calculated on the spread which negative comes with mild ale ears and stuck in the hole with her head on the outside and her body in the storeroom. Anyway, Mr. Brooks, with the aid of Joe Granados' chloroform of the cat, greased her head, thus releasing her. Both men escaped serious injury, sustaining only minor cuts and abrasions, and the chloroformed cat careened off to a dark corner of the hotel patio.

THREE LONELY GRAVES NEAR RANGER CROSSING

On the James E. Shaw place, the former Loessberg ranch, near Ranger Crossing on the Medina river, four miles above Bandera, are three graves of early settlers. No headstone with inscription marks the two older graves, and little is known about them. The few older settlers living today recall that one of the graves is that of a little girl, Amanda Davis, daughter of Richard Davis, who was killed by Indians in 1854. The other two graves are those of grown people, who were probably murdered by Indians. The Davis girl, as the story goes, was living with her parents, encamped on the Medina river, where the father was engaged in making shingles. One day his three daughters, Amanda, Susie, and Lucy, went to a spring to get water and were attacked by three Indians, who were concealed in the high grass. Amanda was shot with arrows, one of them passing through her heart. The other two little girls outran the Indians and reached their parents' camp in safety. Mr. Davis and another man, Ed Stanford, followed the Indians on foot for some distance, but did not overtake them. The body of the little murdered girl was buried the next day.

Lions Clubs Join Forces in Seeking Paved Road to Utopia

A group of Utopia and Vanderpool citizens, members of the Utopia Lion's Club, and representatives from the Bandera Lions' Club appeared before the county commissioners' court Monday morning to ask for an extension of the road from Tarpley to Utopia, a distance of sixteen miles, under the maintenance of the State Highway Commission. A resolution, offered by County Commissioner O. L. Tampke, of Precinct No. 4, and seconded by Precinct No. 1, Commissioner Sonny Barker, County Judge Hall, asked for a No. 1 patrol necessity project from Tarpley to Utopia, to be built by State maintenance facilities. The commissioners voted 3 to 1 in favor of the project, County Commissioner H. L. Porter, of Precinct No. 3, casting the vote in the negative. Mr. Porter contended that the proposed project would interfere with the building of a farm-to-market road from Medina to Station C, for which application has already been made. It was explained to the court that the Tarpley-Utopia project would not be a farm-to-market project, but should be built by maintenance - or other funds. It seemd that funds sufficient to build only four feet and a half miles of road remain in the farm-to-market allotment in Bandera county, and it is desired to apply these funds to the Medina-Station C project. A representative of the State Highway Engineers department is expected to come to Bandera next Monday to confer with the commissioners on the matter, and will be a guest of the Bandera and Utopia Lions Clubs on that date.

The first of these is presented by the Saturday, December 4th and 11th, to report memorable Pearl Harbor Day. Lieutenant Colonel Chrisman, a career man's switched s pounds and 10 ounces, and has been named Robert Earl Weed. Mr. and Mrs. Weed are residing at Deming, New Mexico. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Weed of the Kyle Ranch.

BANDERA RIFLE CLUB BUILDS RANGE

Members of the Bandera Rifle Club have good progress last Sunday in their work of building a practice range for the club. Plans are to continue this work on Sunday, November 14th, at 2 p. m., and all members are asked to come and help try to complete the range. The range is being built to strict National Rifle Association specifications, and when finished will be one of the most attractive and safest ranges in this section. Folks from over the range make it possible to be a real addition to Bandera's sports activities, which title until he left for the service. Mr. Hughes was a member of the Bandera Rifle Club before entering the service, and is expected to be an active member of the club upon his discharge.

DON'T GET CATTY WITH TABBY

Harold Brooks, owner of the Frontier Trail Store, was called after midnight one night last week to quiet a disturbance in his storeroom in the Frontier Hotel.

It seems his faithful mouse catcher feared that if she got her head through a hole in the storeroom door, she could go on through, but, apparently Tabby hadn't calculated on the spread which inevitably comes with old age, and stuck in the hole with her head on the outside and her body still in the storeroom. Anyway, Mr. Brooks, with the aid of Joe Stramiar, chloroformed the cat, greased her head, thus releasing her. Both men escaped serious injury sustaining only minor cuts and abrasions, and the chloroformed cat careened off to a dark corner of the hotel patio.

County Agricultural Agent Texas A. & M. College Extension Service

BANDERA A GREAT FRUIT COUNTRY

The following letter from Mrs. Ida Hoffman of Lost Valley Ranch, has started construction of a complete Grade A dairy. They purchased a number of high-producing cows at the Southwest Livestock Show in San Antonio and are now building a new dairy barn. The barn will be a Grade A specifications, and a complete Grade A dairy has been purchased. Mr. Coy Ray has charge of the herd, and Gib is in the process of securing all needed for the dairy business. At this time Bandera county has no Grade A dairy, so this will be the first one. He is anxious for a Grade A dairy, as he thinks the market would be good. by the state Board of Health, are the best dairy buildings. Gib is also in addition to the agricultural picture to the county.

Here's the letter:

New Dams

Several new dams have recently been completed near Bandera. First Lieutenant recently completed a dam on Cypress Creek, which will be the first one. He is also completing a dam on the Medina River on the Ranch of Mrs. Bradley. Mr. Bradley has completed a concrete and rock dam right by the Julian Creek bridge on the Bandera road. This makes the ninth dam on Julian Creek near Bandera. Mr. Tinsley has completed a dam on Julian Creek near Kerrville that is expected to form a lake covering several acres.

Dirk Fox, over at Turpley, says he has about six acres of peaches in his new pond, built this summer. Mr. Wolfforth, and Mr. Hensley has added eleven feet in height to the dam built several years ago on the old Ed Mansfield place.

Pasture Tour

Members of the Veterans Vocational Agriculture School will take a field trip today, (Friday, Nov. 12th) to see the 210 acres of improved pasture on the J. M. Merwick ranch the old Davenport ranch. This 210 acres has been fenced, in one year, from a brush cedar brush. It has been cleared by cutting and burning the cedar, reseeded with good grasses by deferring the grazing on part of the place. Yellow Blossom, Bermuda, and Rye grass are growing on this area in October of last year. The Bermuda and bluestem is up to a good stand, some grasses are coming back in a hurry, and the whole area will soon be one of the best pastures in the county. Another 250 acres have been cut and burned and is now ready for the reseeding. If weather permits, the additional 250 acres will be seeded by airplane on the day of the tour.

Soil Conservation District News

Adolf Kutner chairman and Russell Koontz, secretary, Board of Supervisors of the Bandera Soil Conservation District, left Monday to attend the two-day state meeting of the Association of Soil Conservation Supervisors at Brownwood. Good progress is being made on preparation of the program and plan for the District. It is hoped that this work can be completed soon after the first of the year. Some committees working on the project have already completed their work and have turned in their reports.

Here and There

Bandera county and Medina Lake will be in the news soon, R. G. Jordan, who writes the Cattle Clatter column in the San Antonio Express, was here last week getting pictures of Medina Lake for a feature article. While here he took pictures of the new lake on the Fred Hamilton and Theiford places. He also got a picture of Charlie Storke working on the new power carrier between Medina and Lacoste. Mr. Storke has been promoted to assistant county agent in training in Medina county with headquarters at Hondo. He goes to work on November 16th. Fancy stock, horse drawn to put in service of Bandera county will start to work ★★★★ We want to go to L. Adams' place with Simon Wolfe, but can't get him to take time off to work before that. It doesn't take long on a trip like that to find out that Mr. Adams and B. E. Adams know more about pasture grasses than anyone in second here. And we think Simon Wolfe is one of the best dairymen in the southwest.★★★★ S. A. Teichfarbt is doing some more terracing on his place. It won't be too long before he has all his fields terraced.★★★★ Additional terraces have also been built on the H. E. Lichafi place. Terracing was started in that field about 12 years ago.

NEW METHOD FOR PROVING YOU OIL

A charge of dynamite, set off in the bleak region near the Russell Peaks county, the Byrd Expedition of the early '30s, set off a train of events which today is making the Texas Panhandle one of the richest oil fields in the country.

The explosion was set off during the Byrd Antarctic Expedition, as a part of the seismic investigations.

Dr. Pouther, nationally known scientist, who now is the associate director of Stanford Research Institute, Palo Alto, California, last year presented his new method of seismic exploration to the Institute of Inventive Research, San Antonio. Dr. Pouther then left the staff of the Armour Research Institute, Chicago.

Dr. Pouther, inventor of the search is a non-profit public service organization endowed by Tom Slick, oil producer and inventor, to provide aid for inventors. The Institute agreed to underwrite further research on Dr. Pouther's new development, and he would conduct the experimentation.

On Thursday, November 4, at Texas Tech, near San Antonio, the new way of making seismic tests for oil was unveiled. Dr. Pouther and Dr. Harold Vacthery, president of the Institute, held a press conference. Then newspaper men were taken into the geophysics shack on the ranch for a demonstration. Light charges of the explosive were set off up on stakes above the ground, spread around the area to be tested, and the wire leading to each stake then was connected with a recording machine.

The new method contrasts with the present system of firing a single large charge in a hole of from 100 to 200 feet. Instead of one the principal advantages of the Pouther method over those currently in use is being the elimination of dust holes and their attendant danger of explosion, and with which crews may be injured.

Seismic recording equipment identical with that now owned by the Institute, will be used by the Texas Panhandle Geophysical Company, Amarillo, Texas, Barbara Lansdon, Morthy Hutchinson, Jean Kelley, Charlie Lee Ross, Claire Bolden, Betty Log Whitley, and Dottie Vaughn, Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. TEXAS RIVERS LOW DURING OCTOBER

Austin, Nov. 4.—Texas rivers continued to the low during drought-stricken October, the State Board of Water Engineers reported Thursday that surface runoff in the rivers of Texas is approximately 40 per cent low. October flow of the Rio Grande at Laredo was the lowest at its lowest since October, 1940, and the third lowest since 1921.

The Guadalupe river at New Braunfels recorded its 11th consecutive month of deficient flow. It was at its fourth lowest level since 1921.

Rainfall during the Trinity river headwater was slightly more than half of normal. The area's three reservoirs showed 14 billion, 807 reservoir lost 7,000 acre-feet during the month.

Buchanan and Marshall Ford reservoirs fell 0.9 and 1.9 feet, respectively, representing a decrease of about 30,000 acre-feet.

BROWNIE SCOUTS VISIT FRONTIER TIMES MUSEUM

On last Friday, the Brownie Scout troop visited Frontier Times Museum, and were taken on an enjoyable tour through the museum by Mrs. Jones. The most fun box allowed was the first surprise for the Brownies, then the silent wonderment. Next, the jewelry store clock, and idols from Mexico were shown to them. Mrs. Hunter showed them a "snake," an outlaw saddle, and told how a policeman in England of a burglar entered a house. Pictures of the hummingbirds and their nests and eggs interested the Brownies. Next Mrs. Hunter showed them the collection of more than 40 bells. He rang the jingle bells, which was something new to most of the Brownies, but not to our Browne from Connecticut. Then each Brownie was allowed to ring the bell like a chicken, and in order to do this, it was necessary to wring the chicken's neck. Mrs. Hunter then showed them the different costumes the Brownies had time for only a glimpse of the native Texas Belle, and they are very enthusiastic about making their visit. They want to thank Mr. Hunter for this fine trip through his museum. The Brownie Scouts who visited the museum were Margaret Ann Collins, Claudia Sumner, Jan Lansdon, Barbara Lansdon, Morthy Hutchinson, Jean Kelley, Charlie Lee Ross, Claire Bolden, Betty Log Whitley, and Dottie Vaughn. Mrs. Hutchinson, Mrs. C. W. Bolcher and Mrs. Ralph Whitley were present. The first treat were Mattie Elizabeth Butts and Eloise Welch.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera New Era, November 15, 1934. Published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Mr. H. C. Wright, one of the substantial ranchmen of Bandera county, died at San Antonio last Thursday night, and was buried here on Saturday. Mr. Wright had been under treatment in San Antonio for some time, and for several months previous to his death, had been under treatment in San Antonio.

Mrs. Albert Nunnelley, wife of a ranchman near Utopia, was accidentally killed Sunday while assisting in the search for a wounded deer. From accounts reaching Bandera of the tragedy, it seems that a lad, twelve or fourteen years old had shot a deer, which escaped into the brush. Mrs. Nunnelley went to help him look for the deer, and becoming separated in the search, was mistaken for the deer, and shot. She died almost instantly.

All of the available trucks in the community were engaged last Friday and Saturday hauling to Center Point the 80,000 pounds of cedar bought by Frank Montague from the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association. The roads were heavy due to the late rains, and it was forenoon before a fleet of trucks, performing the nuptial ceremony. The happy couple will make their home at Turpley, where they have many friends who join the News staff in congratulations and best wishes.—Hondo, Anvil-Herald.

Prof. Carl Wheeler and sister, Mrs. Alice Fuller, teachers of the Medina school at Tarpley were in attendance at the out-teacher meeting held here Saturday. They have an among the foremost instructors of Bandera county, and thought the Crockett school for a number of years, and people of that community are mighty well pleased with the work they are doing. Within the past few months a modern school has been built and new equipment installed. With such teachers the school one of the best rural schools in the county.

Mrs. Lee Rowe and little son were up from Pipe Creek Monday. Mrs. Rowe and Woolwex was in from the ranch Friday and enrolled as a subscriber to the little old home paper.

Messrs. I. H. Zinsmeister and Albert Zinsmeister of the Medina Lake region were in the city Saturday on business.

Mrs. Ed Randall, who is attending Alamo Business College in San Antonio, came up Friday to spend a few days with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. Hale, who have been spending several months in Arizona, returned to her school and her many friends here are rejoicing a successful career for her.

Beginning of Bandera's Dude Ranch Industry

It all started in Bandera county years and kept the place pretty much as it was when it was founded about 1823, like in every respect, while Uncle Buddie Frank, Bandera's first dude rancher, took open on pinkies, horseback trips, and sightseeing through the most picturesque country for ride. It was a colorful parade when they rode to town with Uncle Johnny leading the way.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hayes, three daughter and her husband visited with the operation of the ranch. The Hayes family, as is usual, were royal entertainers. A Dude ranch business was born, there weren't any competition. When a ranch could not accommodate its guests, they were referred to another ranch. In this way they worked with their neighborly feeling, and all worked and played together. It was a very common thing for the owners of the Broken Arrow, Adamstet, Crowells and A Bar Whatley meet with their guests for happy times together at the local dances, swimming parties, picnics, hay rides, etc. As a general rule, the Bandera dude ranches were invited to enter the fun by guests, and many a beam bout with a free thrill at the Bandera Rodeo, the biggest and best event in modern accommodations. The ranch is owned by Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Sewell, formerly from Houston. To Mr. and Mrs. Sewell are owned a brotherly greeting and we wish for you much success. Keeping with the trend of things, the Flying L Ranch was established in 1946 by Col. and Mrs. Tom Lanham and their son, John. Bandera county can now boast of one of the finest dude ranches in the south." All modern and new, the Flying L Ranch offers the ideal vacation for the tired business man. It is a real stock ranch, it has a modern cottage, a beautiful lounge, where the guests as well as the grocers. Vegetables and fruits are served immediately after they are picked unless they are put immediately in the pure cold water. Fresh vegetables are on display daily at Burkes Sales Store, and you will be assured of getting your money's worth when they come from their fresh vegetable bin.

To make the task easier and to provide variety in the news reports editor have been chosen from the high school. Each week a school class has been assigned as a chief reporter. It is the responsibility of each pupil in the class to write up the news of the school years. She had a perfect record when in the sixth grade. Since she entered high school she has participated actively in school affairs. She is a member of the Girl Reserves and has been a secretary in the organization. She is a member of the recently organized Choral Club and should be an asset to that club since she has had quite a lot of work with the Baptist Young People's Choir under the direction of E. L. Devenish.

When she is graduated Billie plans to enter Baptist Bible College.

ATE WILDCAT MEAT AND LIKED IT

The other day when Sod Durst was here from Junction, he related to us an amusing experience he had back in 1925, when he was working with Kiowa Jones, an officer in the Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association. Jones and Durst were making a horseback trip from the Divide region up around "Charcoal City" on the Middle Prong of the Medina River to the head draws of the North Prong of the Medina River about the middle of an afternoon, they came upon a trapper's camp. They were both pretty hungry, having had nothing to eat since breakfast. There was nobody at the camp, but in a tree from you hanging over the dying fire they found a lot of boiled meat. Kiowa Jones soon made up a batch of bread from a sack of flour in the camp, sliced some of the boiled meat, and warmed it up in the frying pan, and made a good lot of brown gravy to go with it. And when a pot of coffee had been made, the two hungry officers enjoyed a fine meal. Mr. Durst says that was the best meat he ever ate, and they consumed a lot of it. They wrote their names on a slip of paper, and pinning a dollar bill to the slip, they left it where the trapper could find it, and went on their way rejoicing. Some time afterwards Sod met up with old Bill Haught, a well known citizen of the Upper region, and Haught said to him: "Say it was you and the old Sod the meat I had cookin'. I wisht I had been there, maybe you wouldn't have eaten that meat. Now, that was wildcat meat which I was cookin' to feed my dogs. But I thank you for the dollar just the same." Sod said it was pretty, white meat, and was really delicious.

Hunting Season Opened Tuesday

The deer and turkey hunting season opened Tuesday morning, with many hunters in the ranges. They began coming in to Bandera on Saturday and Sunday and quite a few got to make camp in the hills. It is difficult to estimate how many leases have been taken or how many hunters are in the hills of old Bandera County, but already they are coming back with big bucks and turkey gobblers on the hoods and running boards of their automobiles. Both deer and turkey seem plentiful this year.

Hunting laws remain the same this year as in former years. The big limit is two turkey gobblers and two pronged deer or bucks. Deer limbs may be sold as a result of a new law which went into effect last year.

During the hunting season, it is lawful to use one dog while hunting wounded deer in Bandera and surrounding counties.

Hunting license fees are $2.00 for each resident hunting Bandera or adjoining counties. All hunters over the age of 17 years, must possess a hunting license whether they hunt on their own land or on other land.

Hunters are reminded to abide by the rules and laws. It is unlawful to hunt at night with a "spotlight" or other device. Deer are known to range; it is unlawful to use arms other than cane or gauge bore with evidence of sex removed. It is unlawful to hunt a doe during a fawning season, it is likewise unlawful to use a deer call, except deer horns which may be native.

CATHOLIC YOUTHS TO HAVE BINGO PARTY

The Catholic Youth Society will have a benefit bingo party at the American Legion Hall Sunday evening at 7:30. The lunches will be served and there will be prizes. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

GETS LIMIT WEDNESDAY MORNING

Hi Du Ranch, located near Medina on the highway to Bandera country, is the place where A. L. Alve of Boulder city, Nevada, killed a deer on the first morning of the hunting season, and H. A. Moore of Freeport got a fine turkey gobbler. Both of these were killed on the Ranch High school property.

V.F.W. Membership Rally December 15

Plans for a membership rally of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Bandera Post 9197, on December 15th are rapidly taking shape. George Weisman, prominent San Antonio attorney, and commander of District 20, of which Bandera Post is a member, will be the main speaker for the occasion, and several other San Antonio veterans plan to attend the rally here also. The 1949 membership campaign of the V. F. W. commemorates the Golden Jubilee with the beginning of the organization dating back to 1899. With 50 years of service to veterans behind them, the organization plans an intensive membership drive this year on a local, district state and national basis. The Bandera rally on December 15th is part of this drive and a cordial invitation to all veterans who have served their country on foreign soil in time of war, or on occupational duty to affiliate with Bandera V. F. W. post is extended by the present commander, Leigh T. Hardeman, Post 9176 also is sponsoring the running of the Library Auditorium which is now a part of the building on the second Tuesday evenings in each month.

UNCLE SAM WILL COUNT NOSES

Uncle Sam is getting ready, once another, big nose-counting of Americans. The 1950 census is only a year and a few months away, and things already are humming in the Census Bureau office.

New machines are being serviced for grappling with and tabulating the figures to be gathered. Jobs which will be asked almost $250,000 000 Americans in April, 1950.

More than a million maps are being drawn to keep enumerators from overlapping each other.

Federal law requires a census of the nation every ten years, since the first census was taken in 1790. The first census revealed 3,929,214 Americans. By 1840 there were 17,069,453, in 1890 there were 62,947,714, and in 1940, the last census, there were 131,669,275.

The 1790 census was taken by 17 United States marshals and 600 assistants. They nailed questions on the doors of taverns on the 17 states.

The 1950 census is expected to cost nearly $20,000,000. Everything is more expensive now—from the paper the answers are written on to the machines that tabulate the results and the salaries of the enumerators.

Census Bureau officials say it would be ideal if the nation's schools could be closed for one week in April, 1950, and 500,000 school teachers employed to take the census. Because this may not prove possible, however, the government also is making arrangements to use 150,000 competent persons, mostly housewives.

St. Mark's Church in San Antonio is older than the diocese, but the first service by the newly organized body was conducted in the diocese of Western Texas, Rt. Rev. Robert W. B. A three-day observance of the Diocese's Diamond Jubilee will begin Sunday morning, Jan. 30, with a service in San Antonio's Municipal Auditorium. Since it will precede the 45th Annual Diocesan Council the service will be attended largely by not only members of Episcopal churches in that city, but also by those from other towns and cities in South and Southwest Texas.

MEDINA COUNTY FAT STOCK SHOW

Judges for the Medina County Fat Stock Show to be held in La Coste November 16 and 17 at a stock show directors meeting held in the La Coste High School on Thursday night, November 4th. Directors present voted unanimously to hold the show there since none of the Medina county 4-H and F.F.A. members have calves large enough for the show in the past. All members present expressed belief that conditions would be somewhat better than the record breaking show held in Cuthbertville last year.

The livestock show will be the present plans, will be staged in La Coste, the afternoon and night of the 16th, weighed and recorded the following and judging of the animals will be somewhat similar to the 4th record at a later hour.

Animals were exhibited Angus and the Hereford by G. M. Merritt, county agent, and the Vocational agriculture teachers at Devine and Hondo. Davis will be the judge for 110 animals at the all showing. Mr. Merritt stated that 41 members had entered 60 calves, more animals, but not enough to fill the pens.

Added to the 25 cash awards more commercial exhibits than in early reports which indicated that the show will be the largest livestock fair, while a number of dealers expressed interest in setting up exhibits on the grounds on the La Coste high school campus to display the breed of the cluck.

F. T. A. will serve meals on the grounds on the night of the show during the show and will operate snack stands for the public. Other civic clubs will be invited to cooperate.

The official judge at the show will be H. Vivian Britton, manager of the Stone-Mathis Ranch, who also judged the 4-H show at the show's show in February 17th.

600,000 BARREL SEEN WASTEFUL IN TEXAS OUTPUT

Austin, Nov. 11.—Conservationists in 17 Texas oil fields to gain authorized by the railroad commission.

Announcement of the forthcoming orders was made Wednesday in a prepared statement by Ernest O. Thompson, commissioner. It was understood the orders will be issued Monday.

The shutdown orders will slash daily Texas production of crude by 600,000 barrels, oil men say, according to an estimate from Jack Ryan, chief engineer of the commission's oil and gas division.

The commissioners held a hearing October 26 at which operators in the 17 fields were asked to show cause why they should not be closed in until they are prepared to conserve the flare gas produced as an incident to the production of oil.

Fields involved are the following, by districts:

District 3, Gulf Coast— Conroe, North Pilot Knob and Magnet, Withers.

District 4, Southwest Texas—Floor Bluff, Tijernia Canales and La Gloria.

Culberson's statement said in part:

"Orders are today being prepared for the final completion of covering the fields already heard and flaring in such fields already in full force and effect. Such orders will be stopped. The railroad commission has no reason to believe that every bit of flare gas from all wells shall be saved wherever the saving of such gas will result in a worthwhile and economically feasible gather it in any oil field in Texas.

"The commissioner call operators to Austin on dates within several years that such action would result in flaring oil not now flaring.

"We have now reached the point where, with the increasing cost of gasoline and crude oil above ground and the decreased demand for natural gas in Texas, that all of the crude oil deserves an effort. In the operation and ultimate time for the commission to carry forward its expressed policy of conservation of oil and of casinghead gas," Culberson said.

MAIL CARRIER RETIRES AFTER 43 YEARS SERVICE

Brown, has retired after 43 years of service on the same route out of Marlin, Ga. He recalls the dinners he got along the route for 11 cents a day and the horse and buggy he used until 1912, when he bought his first automobile. He estimates that he wore out 25 cars on his job in 36 years.

ANOTHER GREAT COMET HAS APPEARED

Astronomers report the appearance of a great comet, which—from the standpoint of the inhabitants of the United States within a short time. Comets are perhaps the most fascinating of all the heavenly bodies, while come within our range of vision. The nebulosities with which they appear, the swiftness of their flight, the varying forms they assume, then length of their fiery tails, their remarkable character, and the rapidity with which they disappear partake somewhat of the marvelous. The word comet signifies a hairy body. They usually have three parts; the nucleus, a bright spot in the center of the head; the coma (hair), a cloudlike mass surrounding the bright spot, and the tail, a long streaming banner of luminous appearance. Some comets have been seen without a nucleus and others without a tail. These bodies appear in every part of the heavens and are not confined to the zodiac. Their orbit is of every conceivable shape in which a curved line can be constructed. Some comets are born, since they have elliptical orbits; others can never return, for their orbits are parabolic or hyperbolic, and the farther they get fro mthe sun the wider the area of the orbit become. The comets have an endless variety of form and dimension. Some have their tails, others' are like the comet of 1843, which "exhausted itself in the manufacture of its own tail." The comet of 1835 has a period of seventy-five years. It was the same comet that appeared in 1531, 1607, 1682, 1758, 1835 and 1910. This comet is known as "Halley's comet and of its history and dimension. Some have records of people in this country who are still living. In 1456 an appeal was made to the pope ordering his prayer to be said by every Christian, "Lord, save us from the devil, the Turk and the comet." The people of 1223 regarded it as the forerunner of the death of Philip Augustus of France, and in 1066 the British signalled it as the harbinger of victory for William the Conqueror. Many people regard the appearance of a comet as a forerunner of war and disaster.

GIFTS OFFERED ROYAL INFANT

London, Nov. 11 — Entertaining American hosts offered Princess Elizabeth's expected baby a free trans-Atlantic dipper to New York, it was learned here Wednesday.

The National Institute of Dairy Service wants to supply the baby with diapers which would be flown weekly from the United States, and laundered in the U. S. too because of the British soap rationing.

As an added touch, the institute promised the t the diapers would bring royal crests embroidered delicately in a corner.

American publicity agents have moved in on the expected blessed event in a big way.

The couple have been offered a de luxe baby carriage with electronic devices to lull him to sleep, florescent lighting and nearly everything else but rocker.

Enough baby foods have been offered to feed the newcomer through his fourth birthday, enough blankets to change them as often as diapers are changed, enough shoes to supply a family of centipedes.

A number of presents which come from outside sources, seeming the odor of commercial goods-pending, and most of the offerings will be declined with thanks.

THE LONESOME PINE

A pine tree that probably never existed in any man's imagination is a major tourist attraction in the Southwest Virginia hills.

It supposedly stands somewhere in the hills west of Big Stone Gap, Va., but no one can find it. A tourist usually stands in front of the Big Stone Gap Hotel and asks about the location of he tree. The persons who are supposed to know about the tree are Aunt Nancy and Minnie Fox, 80, who are surviving brother and sister of John Fox, Jr., who wrote "The Trail of the Lonesome Pine." But they can't help the tourist.

Looking Backward

(From the Bandera News, Nov. 22,1 923, published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Mrs. Lydia Dunlap, a pioneer resident of Bandera county, died at her home near Pipe Creek on Saturday, November 14, and was buried last Thursday. Mrs. Dunlap was 79 years old, and had lived in Bandera county more than fifty years. She is survived by five children, Armin Dunlap, Robert Dunlap, John Dunlap, Elmira Dunlap, and Mrs. John Ashcraft.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Nat Fine, November 8, a boy.

Miss Marie Baker and niece, Doris Gerth Heder, of Medina, were visitors in the city Thursday.

Homer Mansfield left Tuesday for Edwards county to resume his position on the Pete Hagens ranch.

Miss Magdaline Dugos, assistant cashier of the First State Bank, visited San Antonio Friday.

The citizens of Medina and Lanson Creek will vote on December 22 to decide whether to consolidate the schools of those communities.

DEMOCRATS OVERBULED

Fort Worth, Nov. 11—District Judge Walter Morris held Wednesday that the state Democratic convention here Sept. 14 was nothing but a "mass meeting" and not a legally organized body.

This ruling was made in an action enjoining Democratic party officials from purging certain Tarrant County precinct returns, who refused to declare loyalty to the Truman-Barkley presidential ticket.

It also barred Jack Carter and Mrs. J. W. Dodgins, of Fort Worth, from taking their executive committee seats held by Neville Penrose and Mrs. J. Evetts Haley.

The judge ruled that the convention was not legally organized because the certified Tarrant County delegations was replaced by the bogus delegation.

He made his ruling after six days of testimony in an injunction suit brought by the ousted delegation.

OPERATES OLD—FASHIONED SMOKE HOUSE PROFITABLY

Two miles south of Pipe Creek is a old-fashioned smoke houses in Western New York is located at Falconer. Built 40 years ago by George E. Peterson, it is now, operated by his sons, Sherman and Chester.

They still use the same smoking process which their father taught them. Even the original recipes are followed carefully.

Between November and May the brothers handle more than 80,000 pounds of meat. Their specialties are home-cured, hickory-smoked meats for individual customers.

Doing it the old way, Sherman Peterson says, the meat has a better taste and keeps longer than meat smoked by modern methods. Customers come back to the early American Indians, who had no refrigeration, to preserve their meats during the summer months.

Besides operating the smoke house, Sherman is mayor of the village, having recently been elected to his second 4-year term. His brother also is active in civic affairs.

TIMES MAKE NEWS

Mr. Mrs. Roosevelt thinks these Southern democrats who did not support the democratic ticket a fit should not be asked to come back to the party. We can remember when the Labor party did not control any more votes than those Southern poll bolters. Yet today the Labor party controls the whole democratic party, and those who hold to the old line of democratic principles and practice must either hold the so-called democratic party or no Labor.

MRS. J. W. EDWARDS

Little Judy Jo Garrett liked the old manacles lived down the street from he' home, in Atwood, Ill. Every day she played in his yard, and asked him to come out on his porch. When he died last year, he left Judy 68 acres of farm land. Recently the farm was sold to a mining company, and Judy received $27,000.

Editorials

The efforts of the Bandera and Medina Lions Clubs to obtain paved and passable roads from Bandera to Medina is certainly commendable and should be supported by a determined effort on the part of Bandera people to complete the road in the shortest possible time.

Bandera farmers now export an unusual number of poultry, and shippers during the past year or two or three months. Although the price is comparatively low, it is now possible to get the dividends. Not only are the farmers benefited, but the people of the Hondo Canyon, who are living in Bandera, are benefited by the money that people in Bandera spend for groceries within the past few years are not found in any other part of Bandera county. A variety of chicken feed is now being manufactured in San Antonio (in fact of the three largest manufacturers of chicken feed are located in San Antonio), where like industry with the possible exception of Uvalde, which, when added to Bandera, the county seat, will have a population of nearly 10,000. Traffic which now goes to Uvalde and Sabinal because of the condition of the road, will then come the nearest to the natural trading point in Bandera county, and every other section in many months. Everything that can it is to be expected that counties will not build roads to their county seats, but Bandera may expect to receive visits from them.

The President and Vice-President of the Texas State Highway Commission to be elected by a direct vote of the people. This is not the case at present. Under the present system we elect the most powerful man in the state, and then through a board appointed by him called the electoral college we vote for electors, who in turn, through a dubious, confused, and technical procedure, vote for one of the candidates for president. Under the present system a comparatively small number of votes in a particular state, each state having a number of electoral votes equal to the number of members in the Congress. If no candidate receives a majority of the electoral votes of the nation, the house is empowered to elect the president, each state delegation will vote as a unit, each state having a number of

HELD AN ENRAGED BUCK

Uncle Cornelius Truesch, a pioneer citizen of Bandera, who died some years ago, once held an almost holding an enraged buck against a small tree for about twenty minutes until Uncle Cornelius Hudnall could go to his assistance. He said he and Hudnall were out deer hunting on East Verde Creek, and had become separated. He also said that when the animal left, he ran to cut the throat, but just as he reached it the buck threw him down and charged him. He said the first time to get behind a small tree. The animal butted the tree and tugged mightily by the horns to break it down. He stood close against the tree and yelled lustily for Hudnik to come to him. Hudnik heard him shout and when found him still fast, thinking he had just killed a deer and wanted him to help dress it. He took his time in getting to George, for he knew that Dugout would yell, Hudnik would answer, and leisurely made his way to the scene. When he came in sight of Dugout and the buck locked against the tree he ran to him as quickly as possible and raised his gun to shoot the deer, when Dugout told him for to shoot it, for it had so much fight in it that he killed the animal, for he was nearly exhausted. Hudnik complied, and caught the deer firmly by the horns to hold it's head against the tree. The deer was greatly infuriated, his hair was all turned the wrong way, and he was pawing the ground and making frantic efforts to get loose, but Hudnik held on. A couple of minutes he was relieved Dugout went a short distance away and cut down on a log to rest. Hudnik told him to come on and kill the animal. "Oh, no, you hold him awhile," said Dugout. "Maybe the next time I call you, you will come a little sooner." Hudnik threatened to turn him loose, but realized that if he did the deer would get him, so he held on for several minutes and Dugout finally despatched the frenzied animal by cutting its throat.

Churches Observe Thanksgiving

The Thanksgiving spirit was much in evidence in Bandera yesterday and was generally observed by the people here. Business houses were closed and employees and proprietors took the day off for visiting and recreation. Thanksgiving dinners were enjoyed in most homes, as is the usual custom, where bountiful spreads were partaken of by families and their friends. Truly it has been a bounteous year, and Bandera county citizens have much to be thankful for.

On Wednesday evening a great community feast was enjoyed at the Library Auditorium, the supper being sponsored by the Bandera churches. Following the feast, at 8:15, combined worship services were conducted at the Methodist Church, in the Methodist-Methodist and Christian congregations, to make it a real Thanksgiving service. The house was packed to its utmost seating capacity and Rev. H. L. Arnold, pastor of the Baptist Church, delivered a most inspiring sermon. Rev. B. Russell Hamner, pastor of the Methodist church, in charge of the opening prayer and Rev. J. C. Welch of the Christian church presided over the services. Special music was rendered by a combined choir from the various churches, under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Bell and accompanied by Mrs. Melvin Bozeman at the piano. A male quartet composed of Rev. Arnold, D. H. Cowsill, B. C. Fleeter and Alfie Garrett rendered one number and a vocal solo was given by Allie Gerald Langford.

Editorials

Members of the two English expeditions to Bandera one week from next Thursday will have much to say, we suppose, over the prospects for and chances of the success of the search for oil, and for the abundant fuel we've greatly imagined would be found in the hills and limestone. A rumor is current that some of the members of the party have already found evidence of lead ore. Before which, have gone ranch hunting.

When the new Congress convenes next January, it will have a big piece of legislation to be considered, and that is the Taft-Hartley Social Security Act. The platforms of both parties promised this, and President Truman has declared he will be one of his first "musts." About 30,000,000 persons will be affected by old age insurance. The recommendation probably will be increased to $50 a month, and the old-age assistance to $50 a month, including farmers, professional persons, domestic workers and self-employed persons, not now covered. Benefit payments to those who will draw the $50 will also be increased, but how much will be a matter of congressional debate. An increase in benefit payments is certain to be followed by an increase in the Social Security taxes, too. The fact that both parties made old age pension promises to this end reveals the wide support behind the proposals, and Congress will no doubt heed this fact.

Little Tobey was telling mother about his day at school. "Mother," he said, "I want to ask you one thing: whether I'm as smart as my brothers or sisters, or not? I told her I was the only child."

"And what did she say?" asked his mother.

She said: "Thank goodness!"

For census-taking purposes the country is divided into districts, into about 206,000 enumeration districts, and about 1,800,000 blanks will have to be made for the canvass.

One of the boys was not seriously injured, Hoyt quoted the physician as saying, but a third one was said to be hospitalized. The students parents were said to be enraged by the affair, but the boys remained silent for fear of expulsion if their other students, Hoyt reported.

If the case is in the jurisdiction of juvenile authorities, it is not available for study by the state school authorities to which Governor Shivers has pledged the state's cooperation, Hensley said.

Fraternities and sororities and their activities constitute no part of the 4,000 student body, Hensley pointed out. "Our regulations rule that they must be kept away from the activities," he said. "Any such incidents have happened without the parents' or school officials' knowledge."

Bandera's Most Interesting Place

Bandera is indeed fortunate to have a museum that would be a credit to a city of 250,000 population. More than 30,000 relics and curios of the frontier, of early days. Besides the frontier relics there are many items from foreign countries. You can easily spend hours in this great museum and not see all there is to see.

RESEEDING OF POOR RANGE AREAS

Re-seeding of poor range areas with adapted grasses has been found to be a profitable practice on the Edwards Plateau, according to Dr. Jarvis Miller, extension range specialist. Many acres have been reseeded to various grasses and the practice is growing in popularity. The most popular grass found for this area to date is Blue Panicum. The Kleingrass is also very promising. The Lehmann Lovegrass is a perennial bunch grass that is very drought resistant. It is also very palatable to livestock and provides good grazing throughout the year. FAMOUS LAST WORDS

Coming out of the stands following the Hillbillies-Coupinch game in March Friday night, a group of youths passed and [illegible] of the stands, explained "I'll bet we're the first ones back in Fredericksburg after the game tonight."

Those, my friends, are famous last words. Last words in many instances, prior to a pile up on top of a hill, in a ditch, against a tree, against a bridge abutment or on a level stretch of road.

Driving home at what we considered a safe rate of speed around the fifties, we were passed going up many hills with the center stripe definitely forbidding passing. Just out of Mason a carload of boys in a Ford coupe passed a string of at least six cars with the center stripe against them all the way. The final car was passed just before the crest was reached. We could even furnish the name of the driver if anyone is interested.

TAKING the windscreen of a windstream when the other driver decides there isn't room for two cars on the road is another of the dangerous practices that [illegible] if you don't give a hoot for your own life, you should consider the other person's driver.

Speed limits are either too high or too low. Your judgment is the best guide. Your car is equipped with brakes, steering apparatus and tires to meet the conditions of the road. Use them.

Remember, the other driver is human, too. He is subject to the same mistakes you are. Give him room to make them.

Driving is a pleasure when conducted with courtesy and consideration for others. Don't spoil it by selfishness or carelessness.

GRAZING MANAGEMENT

[illegible] Mark H. Russell, Soil Conservation Service, Kerrville.

Planning grazing for the [illegible] of the grasses rather than [illegible] is a new wrinkle in ranching. However, it is being done, and, as proved by ranch records, it pays off in pounds of livestock products for sale. This method of grazing management pays because the grass on an area shows signs of range deterioration much faster than the livestock will show signs of a decreasing range. Livestock can be run on a poor range for some time if they have enough supplemental feed, but grasses show the condition of a range at once and call attention to the need of proper management. To maintain a range for the grass the species of grasses present and their [illegible] growth season must be known. By the amount of grass of a given species it can be decided if a range should be used for summer grazing, winter grazing or all of a different variety grazing should be used.

Ranches that are clearly deficient in the type of grass they have should be used for [illegible] out of the kind of [illegible] grasses that have their [illegible] growth in the late spring and early summer. SAN FELE—2 WINS 37-0 TITLE OVER BANDERA, 25-7

Del Rio, Nov. 29—A passing attack that clicked for three of San Felipe's five touchdowns brought the Del Rio team the grid championship of District 27-B here Thursday when it crushed the hitherto Bulldogs, 32 to 7, in the zone playoff.

Bandera the east zone titlist never had a chance, for early in the first period, Huck Guevara quarterback lofted an aerial to Humberto Aguirre for 35 yards and a touchdown. Later, in the same period the duo rewarded for an other marker, this time from 45 yards out.

To add to the disaster, San Felipe's Benny Pena snapped up a second period Doc fumble and scampered 35 yards. Then Cuellar hit Aguirre again to hold the margin to 26-0 at the half.

San Felipe's final score came in the third period when Dickie Mendez slithered through tackle and raced 65 yards.

Louis Mancick got the lone Bandera TD. Cadmus in the final period, when he ran 31 yards. Jimmy Hand converted for Bandera and Pena Mancick for San Felipe's point after touchdowns.

San Felipe's line was anchored by Captain Red Rudder of the All-District team. Bandera's best cards were Jimmy Hand and Louis Mancick.

BULLDOGS GET BEATEN BY MUSTANGS

The Bandera Bulldogs went to San Antonio last Friday only to get beaten by the San Antonio Mustangs by a score of 40 to 0. The Bulldogs were outclassed in every department of the game. The Mustangs were good, but the Bulldogs were not as bad as the score indicates. The Bulldogs were handicapped by the absence of Jimmie Hand, who did his part for the Bulldogs by playing fifty-two out of the fifty-four minutes of fighting football. It was his last game for Bandera. Others who played their last game for Bandera were Thomas Hand, Pat Rhodes, Delton Kothmann, Tomas Hand, Phillip Hand, Phyllis Kennedy, and Bobbie Schneider. Thomas Hand, Pat Rhodes, Delton Kothmann, Tomas Hand, Phillip Hand, Phyllis Kennedy, and Bobbie Schneider.

The Bulldogs will play their last game of the season with Jourdanton here next Friday night. Let's all boost the team 100 per cent.

EDITORIAL

So far this year the Bandera Bulldogs have had a rotten football team. We have had a hard work, but football knocks just one expect to have a merry Christmas and Dog Fattening.

Last Saturday night Bandera had a swell time in the Rodeo Arena. Everybody had a good time. Everybody was there. Everybody was happy. Everybody was glad to be there. Everybody was glad to be there. Everybody was glad to be there.

SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE

This week the Junior and Senior classes have completed the campaign to secure subscriptions for our annual. The Bulldog, after subscription drive was let down somewhat whenever Joan Lester Brock.

In first quarter on Tuesday, Bandera defeated Jourdanton 19 to 0. Bandera scored in the second quarter on a pass from Jimmie Hand to Thomas Hand. Jimmie Hand scored the extra point on a pass from Jimmie Hand to Thomas Hand.

BULLDOGS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON

Today, Tuesday, October the Bulldogs will officially open their 1948-49 basketball season by playing the Utopia Aggies. We will, however, be handicapped by the absence of Jimmie Hand, who did his part for the Bulldogs by playing fifty-two out of the fifty-four minutes of fighting football. It was his last game for Bandera. Others who played their last game for Bandera were Thomas Hand, Pat Rhodes, Delton Kothmann, Tomas Hand, Phillip Hand, Phyllis Kennedy, and Bobbie Schneider. From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh
Why Dutch is Growing a Beard

That beard on Dutch Miller's chin doesn't mean that he's getting ready to play Santa Claus. He's simply paying off the election bet he lost to Cappy Swanson.
And while Mr. Fuller offers to let a lot of people shave him, Dutch's beard is a matter of personal pride with him. Besides, he's just as entitled to a little bit of individuality as he is to a difference of opinion.
Because good Americans all look alike politics and voting mighty seriously. But when the issue is beards and Dutch Miller, they don't see eye to eye at all.
It seems to me that's the way it should be when it comes to a difference of opinion. Some folks get all het up about differences of facts or almost everything! But that doesn't mean that we can't live together in a spirit of good fellowship.

THE STORY OF JUDGE ROY BEAN

J. Marvin Hunter, Sr.

Roy Bean his been praised and maligned by writers in news and story, many fictitious stories have been told about him, as well as many true ones. The story of Roy Bean, the Law West of the Pecos, is a strange one, to say the least. He is pictured as a grafter and a drunkard by some writers, while others picture him as a kind hearted man who was misunderstood by his fellow men. The truth probably lies between these two extremes. Roy Bean has been dead for over forty years, and Texans evidently have forgotten him, for during the centennial celebration of the state, Judge Roy Bean was not even mentioned. Even the Americans who visited Texas during the year failed to ask for information concerning the famous character. Perhaps the reason for this is that Judge Roy Bean was a Republican and a Texan.

The Chinese had been a hard lot as a race, ever since the days of Confucius. A real cowboy, of his horse and saddle, would not exchange places with the richest man in the world, so they say. Texas has produced more men who have become famous than any other state in the union. Texas is the only state in the union that was once a republic in fact. Texas can also boast of the most picturesque characters that ever lived. Judge Roy Bean was one of these characters. He was born in Mason county, Texas, in 1825. He was the son of Captain Samuel Bean, who was a native of Virginia. Captain Bean was a soldier in the Texas army during the Texas revolution. He was also a member of the Texas congress. Captain Bean was a man of means and was highly respected by all who knew him. Roy Bean was the eldest of a family of seven children. He received a good education in the schools of Mason county. He was a bright boy and was a favorite with his parents. He was also a favorite with the negroes on the plantation. He was a natural leader and was always getting into mischief. He was a great lover of horses and was a good rider. He was also a great lover of dogs and was always getting into trouble with the neighbors on account of his dogs. He was a great lover of fun and was always getting into trouble with the neighbors on account of his fun. He was a great lover of practical jokes and was always getting into trouble with the neighbors on account of his practical jokes. He was a great lover of horses and was always getting into trouble with the neighbors on account of his horses. He was a great lover of dogs and was always getting into trouble with the neighbors on account of his dogs. A Report of the Bandera Schools' Activities

YOUR COMMUNITY

Everyone in a community should try to do his share toward the benefit of the whole community. A school is a community and we have many projects over which we, as a part of the community, can help. Our school needs your help in many ways. Even so little a thing as packing up a snack for your child to eat at the football game helps. Let's all cheer our team on to victory and show a little school spirit.

It is not the money that we want from you, but your interest in our school. We will always be pleased to have you visit our school. If you have any suggestions that you think will help us, please send in your request. We will do our best to carry out your wishes.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT

On the evening of December 16 at 7:30 o'clock, one of the biggest events of the year will take place. The football team of Jefferson High School will be honored with a banquet.

It is not that you will want to be present at this banquet, but it is a time to get together and show your appreciation for the fine work of the football team. Let's all be there in a body and show the team that we are behind them 100%.

SENIOR OF THE WEEK

John Phelps is our subject for the senior biography of the week. John came to us at the first of the year from Jefferson High School in San Antonio.

John is a very popular member of the senior class. Her favorite subjects are English and Spanish. She is also a member of the Girls' Reserve.

During her life John has lived in a number of different places including five different states—Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky and Texas.

As a very young child she had wild red hair and clear blue eyes, but things have changed and we think all to the better, as her hair is brown and her eyes green. Thank goodness.

TRYOUTS

There is always something and a little talked about so far, in various fields, but there have been a few tryouts in the last week. Most of the time has been taken up with the football season, but there are other activities that will be taken up soon.

With his trigger finger itchin'.

For a chipmunk scampered by,
The air was still, and over the hill
The hunt was slowly raisin'.
And he could tell by a broken bell
That his ears had started grazin'.

He hugged his rifle and crouched low,
And kept those ears in sight,
But he heard no more and couldn't be sure
That the sun is a-gettin' higher.

He looked to the right and he looked to the left,
But he heard no more and couldn't be sure
And kept those ears in sight.

JUNIOR LIVESTOCK SHOW TO BE HELD JANUARY 22

The Bandera County 4-H Club Livestock Show will be held on January 22, instead of on the 29, as previously announced. The change in dates is made so that the county show can be held in conjunction with the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show. At least three 4-H members expect to exhibit beef calves at the Fort Worth show, which will be held on January 26, 27 and 28.

The county show will be held at Mansfield Park. Interest in club members to date are 18 beef calves, 60 lambs, 12 head of registered sheep and about 25 registered Angora goats.

Bandera County 4-H members will enter livestock in the fall livestock feeders' show and sale at the Fort Worth Stock Show. Those who wish to enter calves in the show should see their project leader at once. Dates of entry for the Fort Worth show will be announced later.

Members who have calves in the county show should decide what to enter in the Fort Worth show at once. Rules of entry for the Fort Worth show will be the same as for the county show, except that the weight limit will be from 850 lbs. to 1050 lbs. The rules further specify that calves must be born after January 1, 1941. Dairy breeds are barred from the show.

Bandera County 4-H members have started feeding calves for the Fort Worth show, and will have their calves ready for the fall feeders' show and sale.

Here and There

Looks to us like Thomas Baser has had the best little rat patrol in the county—and locked gods to see those ones out there grab and eat up the poisoned corn. The water from irrigating didn't seem to hurt the rats a bit. The rodents further added to the damage by eating the corn in the shock and fodder. Tommy have started hauling to the office looking for work—one who wants to work. Tommy has a nightwatcher that does a good job of it. Rates of pay for the year should serve well on

GOVERNMENT ALLOTS BILLION FOR FARMS

The federal government has earmarked more than $1,500,000,000 to protect the farmer from falling prices, which may result from this year's record crops.

Under the present price support program, the outlay may exceed $1,500,000,000 before the current farm price bracketing season ends. Most of the money has been distributed in loans on storable products, particularly grain and cotton. Cotton loaners stand to profit most from the price support program.

HIGHER TAXES FORECAST

Washington.—A good hot battle is on that Congress will dig deep into many taxpayers' pocketbooks next year.

This was underlined by the first public hearing conducted by the House Economic Committee into the record-breaking profits of corporations.

On the basis of committee men, sentiment is shaping up on the question is whether the increased taxes will be placed by business or consumers.

MISS LORRAINE MEEKS WEDS

Miss Lorraine Bell Meeks, daughter of Mrs. R. B. Meeks and the late Mr. Meeks, became the bride of Lieut. Clifton Chandler Wortham, Army Air Forces, son of Mrs. Lillie Mae Wortham and the late Clifton Chandler, Saturday at San Antonio. Her Field Jacket was decorated in the European theater of operations.

The bride's attendant was Miss Ruth Bowman, Bandera, and Lieut. Wortham was attended by Lieut. Jack Hamilton, Corpus Christi.

Following the ceremony supper was served at the bride's home.

Lieut. Wortham is well known here, having visited in Bandera on several occasions. He is a graduate of Texas A. & M. College.

Ben Thompson, Texas Gun Fighter

By J. Marvin Hunter

The name of Ben Thompson, who was known throughout Texas and the West in the 1870s and 1880s, is a household word to old-timers, but to the younger generation it is only a name. Ben Thompson was a picturesque character, a typical frontier fighter of the Civil War period. He was born in 1843. As a boy he worked for Jesse Chisholm, and early a notable conversation with the famous scout and trader is recorded. He spent a few years in Texas before the Civil War, and then went to Austria, where he was employed by the Austrian government for a time. He returned to Texas in 1861, and joined the Confederate army. He served with Terry's Texas Rangers, and was wounded in the battle of Shiloh. He was discharged from the army on account of his wounds, and returned to Texas. He was married to Miss Mollie Kinney, daughter of Col. John Kinney, founder of Austin, Texas. He spent a few years in Austin, and then moved to Comanche county, where he engaged in the stock business. Theodore Roosevelt once remarked that Ben Thompson was the best cowman in Texas. He moved to Austin in 1876, and engaged in the saloon business. He was elected city marshal of Austin in 1877, and served for two years. He was a fearless officer, and Wilbarger says that he killed seven men in the discharge of his duties as an officer. He was also a gambler, and made a big stake at Jack Harris' place in Austin. Theodore Roosevelt once remarked that Ben Thompson was the best cowman in Texas. He moved to Austin in 1876, and engaged in the saloon business. He was elected city marshal of Austin in 1877, and served for two years. He was a fearless officer, and Wilbarger says that he killed seven men in the discharge of his duties as an officer. He was also a gambler, and made a big stake at Jack Harris' place in Austin. While a resident of Austin he was married to Miss Kate Bassett, a noted character of the frontier days. Ben Thompson was a man of many contrasts. He was a gambler, but he was also a philanthropist. He was a killer, but he was also a humanitarian. He was a gun fighter, but he was also a gentleman. He was a man of violence, but he was also a man of peace. He was a man of the frontier, but he was also a man of the world. He was a man of the past, but he was also a man of the future. He was a man of the present, but he was also a man of the eternal. He was a man of the earth, but he was also a man of the heavens. He was a man of the flesh, but he was also a man of the spirit. He was a man of the body, but he was also a man of the soul. He was a man of the mind, but he was also a man of the heart. He was a man of the hand, but he was also a man of the head. He was a man of the foot, but he was also a man of the eye. He was a man of the ear, but he was also a man of the tongue. He was a man of the nose, but he was also a man of the mouth. CABEZA DE VACA CAME THROUGH BANDERA COUNTY

It is said that the first book about Texas was written by Cabeza de Vaca and published at Zamora, Spain, in 1542. De Vaca was shipwrecked on the Texas coast, was for years a captive of Indians and wandered over much of the lower part of the state after escaping. His wanderings have been traced, incidentally, through the Hill Country, and he mentions when he reached "the River of Nuts," (Nueces), and then went on to "the land of Ivas," the Davis Mountains. From there he crossed into Mexico, and again re-entered Texas at Paso del Norte, at El Paso, from whence he journeyed through New Mexico, and on to a Spanish settlement on the Gila River, where he found a ship that took him back to Mexico. There is a general belief among historians that De Vaca followed a direct course from the Texas coast region, northwestward, crossing the Medina, the Sabinal, the Frio, and the Nueces Rivers. This journey was made four hundred years ago, and he was without doubt the first white man to ever see this section.

BOOKS MAKE IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

The most appropriate and lasting Christmas gift for a friend or relative is a good book. Frontier Times Museum declares a fine books of Texas history, suitable for gifts for children and grown-ups. ALBERT'S THE BOY

In the advertisement of the Corner Drug Store in the Bandera Bulletin, last week the following story appeared. This story was taken from the old Bandera Eagle, published January 1, 1881.

"A very serious accident happened to Mr. Jurenka's boy last Saturday. The boy found a bottle of gunpowder and took it to the fire and began pouring it on the fire, when the blaze ran up into the bottle and burned it, hurting the boy badly, and pieces of the glass hurting him in the face and several places on the body, one piece cutting an artery in his wrist. It did not seem as though the boy could live when first found, but he appears to be getting along all right now. People should be more careful where they keep powder or fireworks about the house where there are children."

Albert Jurenka, who still lives in Bandera, informed us Monday that he is the little boy mentioned in the above and showed us the scar on his wrist where the artery was cut. It would seem that the facts are all given in the above story, but the accident really occurred some years before the date mentioned, as Albert is now over forty years old.

PIPE CREEK H.D. CLUB

With the Christmas party Friday night our club has completed another year as club activity in which we were glad to participate. Approximately 60 persons were present to enjoy the covered dish dinner and the gift exchange. A decided success while the children were delighted with the colored shepherd crook candy and fruit which all received. Mrs. Paul Pilcoy, our present chairman, gave a short talk following the new chairman, Mrs. Jim Ed Wade, who will preside during 1937. If our club meetings to grow as it has during the past year we hope to accomplish much in community interests. We have asked Dope together with the whole we work. BANDERA BOYS ENTER HEREFORDS

Thomas Keese, Jr. and Harold Bausch, both of Bandera, have entered two Herefords each in the Boys' Livestock Show at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, January 28 through February 6.

Livestock entries will be housed in the six new buildings completed for the Show. This is the first year the stock has been housed in the modern quarters which have been improved with the letting of new sidewalks, paving of streets and widened areas for entertainment over the corral performances in the FFA and 4-H Club Day at the show, with thousands of the young farmers in the sand. As special events on that day, the exposition is inviting the presidents of the state associations to address the crowds in special events in the coliseum at 2 p.m. on that day.

Five Hereford calves will be shown in the Bandera County 4-H Club and FFA exhibit at the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, January 28 through February 6.

LOST VALLEY CELEBRATES CHRISTMAS

Christmas will be one of the big events of the year at Lost Valley. A. J. and Pat went out one dreary, rainy day and cut down a big beautiful tree. The entire gang took time off for decorating it and when the job was completed it looked as if a bunch of children had been playing Christmas. The tree was really a very nice looking thing.

Mrs. Pat Hall, however and Mrs. A. J. Hall were especially fun when they had made candy and popcorn balls. Mrs. Pat Hall was especially fun when she had made candy and popcorn balls. Mrs. A. J. DRUGS
BANDERA
THE PIONEER AND HIS DIFFICULTIES

The early pioneers of Bandera County had his difficulties, but for me the difficulty was in the shower. One shower only in connection with bath tube. He didn't have one, and did his bathing in the creek in the northern limits. If the women was zippers, hot shoes, traffic congestion, loud speakers, the new moon, women in politics, motorbikes, draft boards, garbage disposal, inflation, homogenized milk, giveaway programs, high-velocity rifles, old age assistance, spinach, or what to do with his extra hour of daylight saving time, he didn't have one, and did not know what to do with it. He didn't have to cope with such problems as wife-beating, juvenile delinquency, Communist Clout in Congress, radio commercials, communism, utilities, popcorn munching in movies, comic books, female persons taxes, zippers, flat tires, traffic congestion, beards, garbage disposal, inflation, homogenized milk, give-away programs, higher education, old age assistance, spinach, or what to do with his safety razor blades, and it might appear that his existence was free from complications, but there were conditions that kept his life from being our continual round of pleasure. All that he did was to establish civilization here and maybe as he looks today at the present state of it, he wonders if it is worth all the bother it involved.
