Sunday May 10, Miss Thelma Miller became the happy bride of Mr. Clifford Hinds. They were married by Judge C. W. Harris in Medina. The bride is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Miller, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Hinds. Mrs. Hinds taught two successful terms of school here at Lima and she is loved by everyone who knows her. The young couple went to Fredericksburg Sunday afternoon to spend a week of their honeymoon. We hasten to extend best wishes for a long and happy life.

J. D. Keese, wife and baby and C. H. Wilson and wife were business visitors in Medina Monday.

Mrs. C. A. Finney and grand daughter, Nellie Whisenhunt and Mr and Mrs. T. K. Finney and baby, May, spent Sunday night in the Orville Keese home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hinds and baby were visitors in P. M. Wilson's home Monday.

Stanley Keese has installed a gasoline filling station. Your trade will be appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Orville Keese and little daughter dined at the Finney ranch Sunday.

Carl F. Wheeler was in this community the last of the week.

Miss Vivian Keese will go to San Marcos in about three weeks to attend the Normal.

Harry Tobey was the guest of his cousins, Thomas and Roy Keese, Sunday night.

Collier Fitzgerald and family moved out to Tarpley this week, where Mr. Fitzgerald has leased a ranch. Collier has gone into the mule business, and has a nice bunch to start with.

Irrigation Plants.

E. B. Sewall and Andy Reed, prominent ranchmen of the upper river region, were here Tuesday returning from a trip to Austin. Both of these gentlemen are preparing to install irrigation systems on their ranches, the former at Pecan Valley and the latter above Lima. Mr. Sewall has about ten acres under irrigation at the present time, the water being supplied by a centrifugal pump, and contemplates the installation of a similar system.

Caught a Big Fish.

Thus far Gervins Channichael and Pete Laxson hold the record for the largest fish caught here this season. Tuesday night they fished at the Farrer place on Medina Lake and among a large number of good sized catfish, they landed a young whale—a yellow cat which weighed fifty-one pounds. They report fish biting well, and say it is just as easy to catch the big fellows as the smaller ones, if you know how.

Considerable damage was done by the storm which passed through the east Verde section last Sunday morning. Crops which had been planted and were coming up were destroyed, and it is estimated that three or four hundred sheep and goats were drowned in the Medina Lake vicinity.

Leases School Land.

At the present term of the County Commissioners' Court a nice bit of practical financeering was accomplished when 8,748 acres of Bandera county school land in Maverick county was leased to the Racaid Oil Co. of Houston for 5 years for $10,000, to be paid $2,000 annually. Mr. I. N. Boicourt has leased the other 8,748 acres for one year, for $5,000, beginning in July, and posts $5,000 forfeit to drill a 3000 foot test well within that time. A grass lease of 25 cents per acre was rejected by the court.

This act of the county commissioners is highly commendable, and shows that the men on the board are looking after the interests of our schools to the best of their ability. The money that will be derived from the lease of our school land, 17,496 acres, will materially benefit the schools of the county, and should the people who have leased it bring in an oil well or two, it will be a boon to oncoming generations.

Married in San Antonio.

Miss Eva Lena Stevens and Reese Forest were married at San Antonio last Sunday. The bride is the daughter of Mr and Mrs. Q. T. Stevens of Bandera Pass community, and the groom is the son of Mrs. R. R. Forest of Medina. They are excellent young people and have a host of friends who wish them much joy and happiness in the married state.

Rolling Your Dollars

Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless gathered today by an active and pratical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

Now that dry weather is over and that drouthy subject is worn out, let's all talk about the County Fair. Tell your friends everywhere that Bandera is going to have the best fair this year they have ever seen. Begin to make your arrangements to come, and bring along some of your products. Talk on for the Fair.

Bandera county has been blessed with generous rains, and now everything looks different. For months this region had been in the grip of a distressing drouth. Farmers were unable to plant their crops, the range was getting short and stock had begun to suffer, but the rains have insured good grass and crops, though late, will have time to mature. Sometimes it seems that we do not appreciate the wonderfully blessings bestowed by our Creator as we should.

The Old Settlers' Reunion is now but a few weeks away, and the interest is beginning to liven up. We are receiving messages from Bandera people who have moved away from here to the effect that they are coming to the reunion, and many of them are going to bring their friends with them. We look for a large crowd this year than we had at the last reunion—and that was some tremendous crowd.

The Chautauqua held at Medina last week closed Saturday night, with a big crowd in attendance. The chautauqua was a grand success in every way, and those Medina folks put it over in good shape, and if a heavy rains had not interferred with Friday night's performance they would have been a neat sum ahead. As it was, a slight shortage resulted, but this was taken care of by the Medina Parent - Teachers' Association which is always to the front in such matters. The class of entertainment given by the chautauqua people was of the highest order, and everybody is well pleased.

A man or woman who has lived in Bandera for sixty years is entitled to honorary membership in the Bandera County Old Settlers' Association, and does not have to pay any dues. A special badge will be furnished these old people and they will be admitted to the reunion grounds free of charge, and will be entitled to all of the privileges of the reunion, free dinner, etc. But any resident over forty years old and who has lived in Bandera county less than sixty years are assessed $1.00 per annum for membership.

The New Era has a few more copies of the the old Blue Back Speller for sale at 42 cents each. Get ready for the old fashioned spelling match at the Old Settlers' Reunion July 3rd and 4th.

Station With a Strap.

The good old-fashioned lickin' of our forefathers has, of course, not entirely died out in the land of the brave. Here and there a subdued young man may still be observed returning meditatively from the woodshed. Here and there also keepsetsons female child still experiences the soothing effect on complexes wrought by a little switch on fat legs. Nevertheless it does seem to be more or less agreed that corporal punishment no longer takes the place it once held in the American home as a leading indoor sport. From the vague theory that "lickin' makes em' better," modern practice seems to have inclined to all sorts of ideas tending to all young wills to express themselves.

That there still remains a strong conservative sentiment in favor of the hand that does not spare the rod is obvious. The stern satisfaction with a public licking of a public nuisance is occasionally viewed proves this. Here is a case in point from which we take from the Pittsburg Chronicle-Journal:

"In Philadelphia, the other day, a 15-year-old boy was arrested for repeated theft, was taken to the cellar of the juvenile court building by his father at the direction of Judge Raymond Macelle, and given a vigorous old-fashioned thrashing with a strap while his howls reverberated through the building. The lad had been sentenced to the Huntingdon reformatory but on the plea of the youth's father, the court relented and imposed a flogging sentence, ordering that the youngster be given a beating until the court could see the marks.

"This may sound like harsh treatment for the lad, whom the court discovered as a "dressup dude with a yellow streak." But here was a youth that had been repeatedly arrested for taking what did not belong to him. While information concerning all that happened in the court room is lacking, no doubt the court was impress with the thought that the parents were entirely too indulgent with their son, and did not exercise proper control. The father having plead with the court to give the boy one more chance, it is evident the jurist concluded that if the father would take his son in hand and administer punishment that would remember it might redound to his everlasting benefit. In any event, the instance brings up the question as to whether parents nowadays exercise control over their children. Probably too many parents do err on the side of leniency. Discipline, as one of the rising generation says, is "going out." It was time it were restored, even the heroic measures are necessary.

"Spank 'em in moderation," is the advice of Rudolph M. Biner, professor of sociology in New York University, on the proper raising of children. As we quote him from the New York Herald Tribune, he says, "spanking is a natural physical cure for the tense nervous cause and manifestation of misbehavior." Too many mental instructons are a refined form of cruelty, often resulting in lasting resentment. But children who are taught to accept a spanking naturally "are more ready to resume good relations with their parents."—Literary Digest.

Revival Meeting.

A revival meeting will begin at the Methodist church in this city Sunday, May 31st, to continue several days. Rev. C. E. Wheat of Kerrville, assisted by Rev. H. Washington, the pastor, will conduct the meeting.

The Tick Situation.

Over a year ago Bandera county suspended dipping operations because funds to carry on the work had been exhausted.

Under the new arrangement of State it was generally understood that the state is to bear two-thirds of dipping, the counties furnishing the vats. When the county commissioners met this week Mr. Campbell, district supervisor, appeared before the court to argue the immediate resumption of dipping, and offered a fifty-fifty proposition, which the court refused because the county has no money to carry on the work in accordance with that kind of a proposition. In order that all may understand the situation, we publish below a letter from the Chief Inspector of the State Live Stock Sanitary Commission to Judge J. A. Eames:

Dear Sir:—

For some time this Commission has been working on the problem of financing tick eradication in the list of counties certified for this work and we have come to the conclusion that the only solution is for these counties to co-operate with the State on a fifty-fifty basis in bearing this expense. Representative concerns that they will make a price of 90c per gallon on the dip laid down. We understand also that your county can buy this dip on credit with from one to two years time to pay for same, and as the State cannot do this we suggest that your proata of the expense of the inspectors. Members of this Commission have called on a number of counties regarding this plan and nearly all have expressed their willingness to go on a fifty-fifty basis. We regret that under our limited appropriations we cannot allow your county more aid than above stated, but hope you will realize the situation thoroughly and realize it is to the best interest of your county for this work to go on to a completion. It is possible that a Special Session of the Legislature may be called later and the necessary appropriation obtained to handle all of this expense—if so, the State could then take over part of same. Kindly let us have a reply as early as possible as we would like to take over this expense by the 15th of May. Assuring you of our co-operation, I remain,

Yours truly,
OLIN GRAVES
Chief Inspector.

Bandera was almost clean when dipping ceased because no funds were available to keep up the work. We are in the same condition today. The county is going for, dip used then and it will be several years before the indebtedness can be paid off. Notwithstanding the great need for dipping our cattle, we believe the commissioners acted wisely in rejecting the proposition made by Mr. Campbell. The county has vats and will soon operate in "cleaning up" if the state will furnish the dip and pay the salary of the inspectors.

Barbecue Dinner.

On Wednesday of last week an enjoyable barbecue dinner was given at the Faris ranch, in celebration of the birthday anniversaries of S. H. Ford and Miss Cecil Faris. Among those who attended were S. H. Ford and family, Mrs. Mathews, Mr. Benson, M. V. Faris and family, H. F. Faris, Miss Iris Faris, Graydon Faris, M. L. Faris and family, M. E. Faris and daughters, Misses Cecil and Elsielee. A fine time is reported.

Highway Foreman R. L. Ambrose came up from San Antonio Monday, bringing with him Mr. W. W. McKay, who drives the caterpiller grader on this highway work. Some good work is now being done at Cedar Hill, and other improvements are to be made. The grader will be on the Bandera end of the road this week.

Captain Jack Ollift was in from East Verde Monday and called to see the New Era editor. Captain Ollift says his section was visited by a small cyclone and cloudburst last Sunday morning, when trees were blown down and twisted about. The rainfall which accompanied the storm amounted to about six inches, and the creeks got on a rampage. He says a large mesquite tree was struck by lightning and reduced to stove wood for his wife for quite awhile.

Oil Lease Rejected.

Last week the New Era stated that the county commissioners had accepted offer of the Ryeade Oil Co. of Houston for lease on half of Bandera county's school land in Maverick county for a period of five years for $10,000. This statement by the New Era was a bit premature. The matter was pending and the deal was thought to have closed, but the commissioners raised an objection when it was found that the leasing company wanted exclusive water rights with the lease, thus interfering with leasing of the land for grazing purposes, and accordingly the oil lease offer on this half of the land was rejected.

Rolling Your Dollars

Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he puts his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well-worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

The First State Bank of Bandera

Revival Meeting.

A revival meeting will begin at the Methodist church in this city Sunday, May 31st, to continue several days. Rev. C. E. Wheat of Kerrville, assisted by Rev. R. H. Washington, the pastor, will conduct the meeting.

Entertainment Saturday Night

The entertainment given Saturday night by the pupils of St. Josephs School was well patronized and proved to be a most pleasing affair. It was an operetta, "Cinderella in Flowerland," and was carried out in a highly satisfactory manner, the children going through various pretty and difficult drills without a break, showing the careful training of their instructors. All who attended were delighted with the program, and those who failed to attend missed a treat.

Celebrates Birthday.

Our good friend, Joe Postert, has passed another milestone on life's highway. He was sixty-five years old last Sunday, and in celebration of the happy event his good wife prepared a big dinner and called in the children to help make merry. In the afternoon ice cream and cake was brought forth to add delicious-ness to the occasion. Among those who were on hand to wish the good old father many happy returns of the day were Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Herbaleb, Ed Postert of San Antonio, Andrew Pyka and family and Henry Adamietz and family.

Fined for Catching Fish.

Four young men came up from San Antonio and spent Sunday fishing on the river. J. J. Dent, game warden from Kerrville, happened along and found several undersize bass in possession of the young men and promptly arrested them. They appeared before his honor, Judge C. B. Corley and one of the party plead guilty to all charges and his fine and costs amounted to around $140.00, in default of which he went to jail.

Miscellaneous Shower.

Saturday evening a large crowd enjoyed a pleasant time in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Val W. Click, near Lima. A surprise miscellaneous shower was given Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hinds, who married a short time ago. Music was an interesting feature of the evenings program. At the proper time, Little Misses Inez Miller, Sue Evelyn and Ruby Click brought in the baskets of presents which had been received on the porch and gave them to Mr. and Mrs. Hinds. Everybody was then invited into the dining room, which was decorated in blue and gold, where lemonade, cocoa and cake were served. A vase of roses and ferns were table decorations. Mr. and Mrs. Hinds received many beautiful presents from the guests assembled, and the shower was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Tom "J" Anderwald, May 18, a boy.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and practical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

The New Era never lets an op-portunity pass to boost Bandera. We love old Bandera and we are proud to tell the outside world of our wonderful region.

If a church man is a tither and is religiously giving his tithe to the work of the Lord, he has a good reason to get down on his knees and ask God to prosper him. If not, why should he even con-sult the Lord about his prosper-ity failures?

Frontier Times for was issued from the press last Saturday. The current number contains many thrilling stories of early day life in real Texas history. Frontier Times is published monthly in Bandera by J. M. Hunter.

Spiritual preaching is often thought of as the kind that plays on our feelings. Feelings that flare up easily and have such quick and dangerous standards of judgment. Small fish swim in shallow water that scalds in the sun and fever in the mud.

Conversations bring to our ears incidents where husbands and wives get mad and refuse to speak to each other for days at a time. We guess that is better than talk-ing loud things, words at each other, but domestic ranger that tides over from day to day is dan-gerous.

The New Era is not continually hammering on its subscribers to pay up their subscriptions, be-cause the label on their paper tells when their subscription ex-pires. Of late, however, quite a number have become delinquent and will have to be reminded, un-less payment is made. Every dollar that comes to the New Era is spent in Bandera and we help to keep it in the circulation.

Every visitor that comes to Bandera this summer will be so pleased with our picturesque scenery, and delightful environ-ments, that he or she will sing the praises of Bandera-land to other friends, and in time many of those other friends will come to Ban-dera to enjoy a season here. We ought to make greater effort to entertain these visitors and make them feel perfectly at home.

Some one who delves into things mythological says the ancient Egyptians believed in the doctrine of the transmigration of souls, by which they meant as soon as the body decayed and lost its form, the soul entered the animal life of higher or lower degree ac-cording to the way the individual lived on earth. It matters little what becomes of the flesh but a great many people better get their spiritual house in order in this country else a lot of them are go-ing to be surprised when they reach their destination and see the sign on the door.

IN 1900 WE STARTED IN BUSINESS IN A SMALL WAY. OUR BUSINESS HAS INCREAS-ED WITH LEAPS and BOUNDS, AND WE ARE NOW PROBAB-LY THE LARGEST RETAIL STORE IN TEXAS NEARLY SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

"There Is a Reason"

The man who does not go to church certainly does not go to any place better than church and is by no means doing as well as if he went to church. The test of a true mass is regard for the Lord.

We have often wondered why nature supplies us with worms, potato bugs, flies, mosquitoes and other pests. We do not know un-less it's that we may never forget that the man who has comforts and plenty must fight to get them.

If church members would give to God prosper them and give through the church channels there would not be a single debt on any church building, and every mis-sion board would have money and to spare for extension work among the heathen.

Getting next to nature and mop-ping a little dew off the grass is better for beauty than the fam-ous beauty nap. The idea of some women that artificial color and shabby flesh is more beautiful than natural tints and strength is a mistake of the mind and not of the morals.

When a good church member gets careless in the slightest to-ward God the world finds it out it becomes a matter of great news. No advice is needed worse than Paul's suggestion that we keep ourselves unspotted from the world. A sin spot on a clean soul shows up a long way.

A gentleman is a person who will not lie, either for hate or for gain; a lady may be measured with the same yardstick. Lar-ies liars, whether they lie on oth-er people to detract attention from their own corruption, or through envy, hate, for gain, or just because they are liars and their venom must be spilled to prevent poisoning themselves. A liar is a disgrace to hell, and the keeper of that institution is a Ser-aph or a cherub compared to his repulsive, rotten stinking, cor-rupt hide, too filthy to be touch-ed by human hands and so steep-ed in the acid of contamination that a pitchfork stuck into him to remove his carcass from pub-lic gaze would wither like a blade of grass before the flames of a world conflagration. In such presence childhood is despoiled, motherhood is in a danger, wife-hood is not safe, and manhood is a possession unworthy the care of a lifetime in establishing. The only consolation in contemplating liars is that ultimately the world will know them, Christ will dis-own them, hell will claim them for its footstool—and membership in every church in christendom cannot prevent it.

THE FAST WORKER

He posed as a lady's husband—then fell in love with her; fascinat-ing sister. And—he had to ex-plain it to the hotel detective, who was tough as a steak and hard-boiled as a picnic egg! Just as he whispered "I Love You" to the girl he adored the detective pinched him for not being the other lady's husband!

He was jailed, bailed—and es-caped in an automobile at the rate of eighty miles an hour. And the trouble. It's a hilarious pre-war cocktail—made up of fun galore, a lot of thrills, a dash of spice—and how he gets out of all of his grief makes one of the most hilar-ious thrilling and rapid fire stor-ies ever put on the screen.

George Barr McCutcheon—who wrote "Beverly of Graustark," wrote it under the title of "The Husbands of Edith"—and Regin-ald Denny, Laura La Plate, and a great cast act it. Don't miss it.

THURSDAY and FRIDAY at the BANDERA Theater, it's "The Fast Worker," a sparkling Universal Jewel.

THE HERALDS OF LIBERTY

Organizing in Bandera

THE HERALDS OF LIBERTY, a Fraternal Order of Philadelphia, have appointed Prof. Joy L. Tilley as District Organizer, and he is busy se-curing 25 charter members to form a Lodge of the order here in Ban-dera and vicinity. Mr. Tilley is well known to most people in and around Bandera, having lived here the past twenty years. Mr. Tilley needs no introduction.

THE HERALDS OF LIBERTY has been in operation for a quarter century. It writes the various modern forms of Life Insurance con-tracts, but it has one policy that is different to that of any other in vented. Under this plan a living person is paid $500.00 in cash each time a like amount is paid to a beneficiary of a deceased member. It is the only plan of insurance ever devised that will pay a person more to live than to die, and whereby you can mature an unlimited number of contracts while you live. It gives you benefit of all lapses.

THE HERALDS OF LIBERTY was 8th in net increase in business in the United States last year among 212 other orders. And its business is growing by leaps and bounds. People are writing in from everywhere wanting the plan of insurance you do not have to die to get.

It will pay every thoughtful man and woman who reads these lines to see Mr. Tilley and have a thorough understanding of this plan. It is the desire of every mother and father that their child have funds with which to go through college and this is the very thing to do it with. Again it is the wise one that provides for the future and here is the plan that will bring you in some money when you are in need of it.

EVERY POLICY WE WRITE is on a full legal reserve basis, cash and loan privileges, paid up and extended values and covers total disability and double indemnity. Dividends and All.

R. C. HOWARD, Western Organizer

GUESS THE RIDDLE.

There is a little instrument,
That we are using all the time.
Now see if you can guess it out
When I describe it in a rhyme.

It has two eyes but cannot see,
But seems to look like you and me
Its eyes are open day and night,
And very useful in the light.

It has a nose as well as we,
Between its eyes as you can see
It always does its duty well
But never is it used to smell.

Its eyes are colored like the bow,
Are round or oval like an O,
They never go out in disguise
But always stay before your eyes.

We find them all the world around
Yes with the lowly and renowned
They aid the young as well as old,
And prove as dear to us as gold.

Now if you don't know what they are
Examine every face tomorrow
And if you do not find a few
Come over, I have some for you.

LET 'ER BUCK

This week at the Bandera Theatre will be shown one of the greatest rodeo picture that has ever been your opportunity to see. This picture is one taken of the Great Pendleton Roundup that is held every year at Pendleton, Oregon. The Pendleton Roundup is a National Rodeo in which nearly all of the champion cowboys and bronco busters participate. The selected horses to be found are used in this rodeo and the men are just about as wild as the horses they ride. Chariot races, horse races, bronco busting and roping such as you have never seen before is what this picture will display to your eyes. Hoot Gibson stars in this picture and uses the real Pendleton Roundup as a setting. Don't fail to see it. Prices are now 10 and 40 cents. If you like westerns this one is a knock out. Come see it.

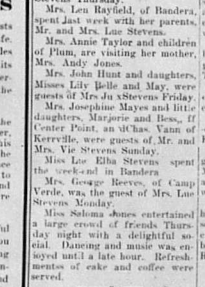
Rolling Your Dollars



Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

The First State Bank of Bandera

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and pratical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

GUESS THE RIDDLE.

There is a little instrument,
That we are using all the time.
Now see if you can guess it out
When I describe it in a rhyme.

It has two eyes but cannot see,
But seems to look like you and me
Its eyes are open day and night,
And very useful in the light.

It has a nose as well as we,
Between its eyes as you can see
It always does its duty well
But never is it used to smell.

Its eyes are colored like the bow,
Are round or oval like an O,
They never go out in disguise
But always stay before your eyes.

We find them all the world around
Yes with the lowly and renowned
They aid the young as well as old,
And prove as dear to us as gold.

Now if you don't know what they are
Examine every face tomorrow
And if you do not find a few
Come over, I have some for you.

GUESS THE RIDDLE.

There is a little instrument,
That's are using all the time.
Now see if you can guess it out
When I describe it in a rhyme

It has two eyes but cannot see,
But seems to look like you and me
Its eyes are open day and night,
And very useful in the light.

It has a nose as well as we,
Between its eyes as you can see
It always does its duty well
But never is it used to smell.

Its eyes are colored like the bow,
Are round or oval like an O.
They never go out in disguise
But always stay before your eyes.

We find them all the world around
Yes with the lowly and renowned
They aid the young as well as old,
And prove as dear to us as gold.

Now if you don't know what they are
Examine every face tomorrow
And if you do not find a few
Come over, I have some for you.

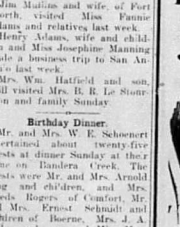
Rolling Your Dollars



Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank.

Rolling Your Dollars

Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

Work will commence at once, and it is likely that the resort will be opened in time to take care of some of the summer vacationists who come to Bandera. Mr. Quick is a live promoter, who foresees the advantages to be offered a proposition of this kind, and in conversation with the Nef Era editor yesterday he stated that he intends to develop the property so that it will attract only the best class of people who are seeking an ideal place where they can spend the summer months, amid delightful surroundings.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and pratical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Only one month until the Old Settler's reunion will take place. The Old settlers are looking forward to the biggest kind of a time, for they are going to once more meet and greet their friends of long ago, and enjoy the entertainment that will be provided for them.

From everywhere comes reports that everybody is coming to the Old Settler's reunion at Bandera July 3rd and 4th.

The fine rains which fell during the past week were of untold value to old Bandera county. Crop prospects have improved 100 per cent.

R. N. Padgett, of Tarpley, was here Friday for the goat raisers executive meeting. Mr. Padgett is one of the best posted breeders in the state, and has some of the finest Angoras in the country. He will be here for the sale of the South African goats June 18, 19 and 20. And that means a lot of those Bandera breeders will be here. Bandera county goats have always captured a big portion of ribbons and prizes and we opine that the boys of Bandera land will be here and bid in some of the big ones.—Camp Wood Crony.

M. R. Thalmann, prominent sheepman and booster perennial of Bandera and all the Banderas, Fair, Aug. 13—15, in particular, was ere Friday for the executive committee meeting of the United Sheep & Goat Raisers. The Bandera Fair is growing each year. And it ought to. We see in the catalog that the New Era editor is assistant cherry and lemon pie eater. That lets the Crony man out. Had it been chicken pie, we would have competed with our old friend, Clay Billings as first assistant. Bandera has never had a small fair. Andy Mansfield, Bob Fletcher, Herman Harper, Bob Padgett, the New Era editor, C. Y. Billings and about 1967 other Banderites won't stand for small stuff. Hence the fair this year, as usual, will be a big one. Get ready and go over.—Camp Wood Crony.

Stop a moment, my girl, I have just a few things that I would say to you. I've known you for years, old friends, so to speak, and I think you will pardon the few words of advice, that has been a very short time since your mother held you in her arms. Then I saw you with your books and tablet going back and forth to school, and now I see your shoe tops.

You've dropped the playthings of your childhood and you are now looking out for the sterner things of life, in fact you are almost a woman, and as I look into your face yet unmarked by the sins of the world, I want to tell you something. The vultures of human character are flocking on the street corners, their black wings fan your innocent cheek as you pass. God made them in the shape of man, but somehow the devil had charge of the soul factory when they were created. Your slightest act or word will be caught up by these moral vampires and woven into a web of slander that will blight and darken your days. And remember, my girl, a blot on your name, a stain on your character, can only be wiped out by the grave digger's shovel. And remember also, that it is these human hyenas; these bone-gnawers of human morals; these flopwinged bats that gather on the street corners and crossings that help to make public opinion and an innocent, thoughtless act on your part, is to them a murder of morals in the first degree.

My advice is this; Make a chum of your mother. She may not know as much about Greek and Latin as you do, and possibly she didn't graduate an dget a box of flowers, and a diploma at the same commencement, but she has forgotten more about men and women of this old world, than you can get crammed into that little head of yours in ten years. Within her arms you are safe. Beyond them you are in deadly peril. She is the best friend you will ever have and her opinion on all subjects should be the supreme court decision of your life. And the next time your parlor is filled with gay young friends, and glad song and joyous laughter fill the air, I want you to steal away from the friends and go down into the family room, throw your arms about your mother and say to her "Mother I love you best of all!" And then watch the tears steal down her cheeks. You had better do it my girl, for one of these days six stalwart men, with bare bowed heads will tramp heavily thru the hall and a casket rest for a moment on the porch. And as you stand by the open grave on the edge of the hill, the bitterest thought that will ever come to you in that awful hour will be that "mother died and I know I loved her." If you haven't thrown a flower in her lap while living, don't act like a hypocrite and go to the grave and mub around and cover it with roses. Leave her alone over there in the darkness and silence with only the night winds to chant a requiem over her sleeping form."—Selected.

A Word to the Girls

It has been a very short time since your mother held you in her arms. Then I say you with your books and going back and forth to school, and now, I see your shoe tops.

You've dropped the playthings of your childhood and you are now looking out for the sterner things of life, in fact you are almost a woman, and as I look into your face yet unmarked by the sins of the world, I want to tell you something. Eradication Resumed.

Dipping operations were resumed in this county last Monday, after a suspension of several months following a lively meeting at the court house last Friday, the stockmen of the county began to arrange for a thorough clean-up, and are going about it in a determined manner. About a hundred and fifty stockmen from all parts of the county attended the meeting, and heard Leo Callan, chairman of the State Livestock Sanitary Board outline plans to clean Bandera county of the fever tick. Mr. Callan in his talk, stated that the board would appreciate the hearty co-operation of the people, in fact as the state would furnish the dip and pay four inspectors to supervise the dipping operations. He asked that the county or the people clean and fill the vats and render all aid possible in the work. Additional inspectors are needed and the county was requested to furnish them. Inspectors who will have charge of the work in this county are Jim Glasscock, who will be stationed at Bandera; Jim Newcomer at Pipe Creek; A. Hall at Vanderpool; assisted by district inspectors J. C. Campbell of Boerne and H. F. Wurabach of Comfort.

Dr. Darby, of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, accompanied Mr. Callan to Bandera, and made a good talk at the meeting, explaining the necessity for cleaning up the county.

For about three years Bandera county continued eradication work, but the funds gave out and the work had to stop. Now, it looks as if we can carry the task to successful completion, as the State has come to our assistance. The Livestock Sanitary Board is composed of men who know the cow business and there will be no unreasonable demands made upon our people to get this work done. It can be done in very short time if the proper co-operation is given.

Buried Here.

The remains of John Bryant, who died at Uvalde about seven years ago, were disinterred and brought to Bandera Tuesday for interment in the Bandera cemetery alongside those of his son, Albert Bryant, who died here a short time ago. Married Saturday.

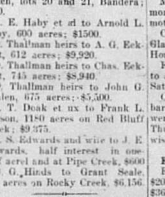
Warren Hunter and Miss Lora Langford went over to Kerrville and were quietly married last Saturday morning. Rev. Merrill, pastor of the Baptist church in that city, officiating. The wedding came as a delightful surprise and the young couple are now receiving the congratulations of their many friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hunter and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langford of this city. Both are young people of excellent character and lofty ideals, and we predict a happy future for them. The groom, who is the editor's eldest son, has been associated with us in the publication of the New Era the past year, and also is manager of the Bandera Theater. The parental blessing is freely bestowed, and we have no hesitancy in saying we are mighty proud of our first daughter-in-law.

New Drive-in Station.

W. E. Ruge has leased the Wright lot adjoining the Billings drug store, and is arranging to at once erect a drive-in filling station. The location is ideal and as the property connects with Mr. Ruge's garage at the rear, it will give entrance on two streets. Main Street continues to grow.

Mrs. John Mansfield and Miss Mabel Chaney were in from Myrtle Creek Monday and paid this office an appreciated visit.

Rolling Your Dollars



Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is rolling the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars in a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

The First State Bank of Bandera

Married Thursday.

Mr. O. L. Coughran and Miss Nora Chick, of, Tarpley, were married here last Thursday, in front of the court house, Judge J. A. Eames officiating. The groom is a prominent citizen of Tarpley, where he is engaged in the lumber business. The bride is the daughter of J. W. Chick, and is an excellent young lady. Both have many friends throughout that region, who hasten to extend congratulations and best wishes.

Game Warden Restored.

Sometime ago the State Fish and Game Department re-arranged the work of game wardens in this region, placing this place in charge of the Kerrville warden, and offering to send S. O. Durst elsewhere, at reduced salary. Mr. Durst promptly resigned, and went back to Junction. This left Bandera without a resident warden, and at this season of the year the presence of a warden is daily required. Our people immediately got busy and besought the State to restore Mr. Durst with the result that he was put back on the job here last week. There is nothing "mean" about Sod Durst's enforcement of the fish and game laws, but he insists on strict observance, and the chap who goes out and catches bass under legal length or takes more than the limit, or deliberately violates the law, may expect to pay the penalty if Game Warden Durst "happens" along.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and gratical plan of action. Standing by, or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

Eradication Resumed.

Dipping operations were resumed in this county last Monday, after a suspension of several months following a lively meeting at the court house last Friday, the stockmen of the county began to arrange for a thorough clean-up, and are going about it in a determined manner. About a hundred and fifty stockmen from all parts of the county attended the meeting, and heard Leo Callan, chairman of the State Livestock Sanitary Board, outline plans to clean Bandera county of the fever tick. Mr. Callan in his talk, stated that the board would appreciate the hearty co-operation of the people, finished as the State would furnish the dip and pay four inspectors to supervise the dipping operations. He asked that the county or the people clean and fill the vats and render all aid possible in the work. Additional inspectors are needed, and the county was requested to furnish them. Inspectors who will have charge of the work in this county are Jim Glasscock, who will be stationed at Bandera; Jim Newcomer at Pipe Creek; Joe Patton at Vanderpool; assisted by district inspectors, J. C. Campbell of Boerne and H. F. Wurzbach of Riomedina.

Dr. Darby, of the Federal Bureau of Animal Industry, accompanied Mr. Callan to Bandera, and made a good talk at the meeting, explaining the necessity for cleaning up the county.

For about three years Bandera county continued eradication work, but the funds gave out and the work had to stop. Now, if logs, as if we can carry the task to successful completion, as the State has come to our assistance. The Livestock Sanitary Board is composed of men who know the cow business and there will be no unreasonable demands made upon our people to get this work done. It can be done in very short time if the proper co-operation is given.

Buried Here.

The remains of John Bryant, who died at Uvalde about seven years ago, were disinterred and brought to Bandera Tuesday for interment in the Bandera cemetery alongside those of his son, Albert Bryant, who died here a short time ago. Interment was in charge of B. F. Langford & Son, the local undertakers.

The Barbecue on West Prong.

Next Thursday the big barbecue at the old Williams place on West Prong will take place. Preparations are being made for a big time. All kinds of amusement will be provided, bronco riding, goat roping, baseball game, and various other sports to entertain the crowd. The proceeds of the barbecue are to go toward improving the road from West Prong to Medina. Everybody invited to attend. Come and meet your friends, and enjoy the day.

Real Frontier Times.

Married Thursday.

Mr. O. L. Coughran and Miss Nora Chick, of Tarpley, were married here last Thursday, in front of the court house, Judge J. A. Eames officiating. The groom is a prominent citizen of Tarpley, where he is engaged in the barber business. The bride is the daughter of J. W. Chick, and is an excellent young lady. She has many friends through out that region who hasten to extend congratulations and best wishes.

Game Warden Restored.

Sometime ago the State Fish and Game Department re-arranged the work of game wardens in this region, placing this place in charge of the Kerrville warden, and offering to send S. O. Durst elsewhere, at reduced salary. Mr. Durst promptly resigned, and went back to Junction. This left Bandera without a resident warden, and at this season of the year the presence of a warden is daily required. Our people immediately got busy and besought the State to restore Mr. Durst with the result that he was put back on the job here last week. There is nothing "mean" about Sod Durst's enforcement of the fish and game laws, but he insists on strict observance, and the chap who goes out and catches bass under legal length or takes more than the limit, or deliberately violates the law, may expect to pay the penalty if Game Warden Durst "happens" along.

Rolling Your Dollars

Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. He invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this." If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

The First State Bank of Bandera

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and pratical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

The First National Bank

Hot Game.

The Second Division Engineers of Fort Sam Houston came up Sunday and crossed bats with the Bandera Invincibles, and it took twelve innings to convince the visitors that our boys play good ball. The score stood 4 to 5 in favor of Bandera, which evens up for the defeat Bandera got in the former game when the score was 4 to 5 in favor of Fort Sam Houston.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The Old Settlers' Reunion draws on apace. On the 3rd and 4th of July a big event will be pulled off at the W. E. Mansfield Park west of town. From reports that they are coming in from all sections of the country, from people who say they are coming, we believe that fully two thousand people will be in attendance. They are coming from everywhere. Get your glad clothes on and prepare to welcome the vast throng. It will be a great home-coming event. People who moved away from Bandera county years ago are coming back to greet their old friends, and some of them will bring friends with them. It will be a glorious occasion. There will be something doing every minute of the two big days. The program has been outlined, and is given to the public, but other features will be added yet, and the crowd will not be disappointed.

Charlie Eckhart and Gus Britsch have already gone into training for a horse-shoe pitching contest at the Old Settlers' Reunion. Each of these champions put in two hours a day practicing tossing the shoes. Gus Britsch insists on using a mule shoe, for the reason, he says, that it is stronger and he can generally "ring the stake" without any fancy curves and flourishes. Charlie Eckhart says he learned his curves in his boyhood days while playing baseball, and he can throw a horseshoe that will describe a half circle in the air, sail around over the stake a few times and gently fall into place around the shoe. He is going to be a hoty contested game.

We understand the same faculty of teachers will be taught at Pipe Creek the past term have been employed to teach that school next term. They are Miss Laura Mae Thetford, Miss Stella Richard, and Mrs. Felix Newcomer.

Boys and Girls of 40 Years Ago.

The boys and girls who attended Bandera schools forty or fifty years ago are urged to attend the Old Settlers' Reunion here July 3rd and 4th. Some of these boys and girls still live in Bandera, but many of them are scattered over the United States. They are old men and women now, and some of them have not met since those happy school days. But all are urged to come home and get together once more to recount the days of their boyhood and girlhood; to enjoy the old time dance, the old-time frolic, and participate in the old time spelling match that will be arranged for them at the reunion. It will be a grand and glorious gathering, when these old folks get together. The infirmities of age will be forgotten, the furrows of care will be erased from their brows, and once more they will be young again and live over the happy days of their youth. Among the old school boys and girls who are yet in the land of the living, and who attended school in Bandera more than forty years ago, we mention the following:

Attended the Dug Springs School, of which I. H. Burney, now of Fort Worth, was the teacher, were:

Mrs. Emma Barnes, Bandera.
Mrs. Mary Perner, Ozona, Tex.
Mrs. Kate Buck, Bandera.
Mrs. Rose Olliff, Bandera.

John Rose, Bandera.
David Laxson, Iago, Texas.
Jessie Laxson, Beaumont.
Jim Johnson, San Antonio.
Tom Chipman, California.
Erra Chipman, Mooringsport, Louisiana.

Prof. Burney will probably attend the 'old Settlers' Reunion, and once more greet his pupils.

Judge R. H. Burney, our present district judge, is another old school master of Bandera, and he will also be in attendance.

Among those who attended school at Bandera and other places in the county were:

"Enclosed you will find $1.50 for which please renew my subscription to the New Era for one year. We enjoy reading the New Era, and will always be interested in the happenings of Bandera county. That is a good county to live in, but it can't be compared with this county when it comes to doing things. Hockley county has only been organized a few years, but it is already be- ing settled. We have eight fine brick houses in the county, and the Santa Fe railroad is building through here. Prospects are fine for a big cotton crop."

Jane F. Burlingame, writes from 527 W. Burchett St., Glendale, California, as follows:

"Enclosed please find $1.50 for a year's subscription to the Bandera paper. We have been without it since last Fall, and my Aunt misses it so much that I am sending the subscription again. She likes to hear about the happenings and the comings and goings in Old Bandera, having lived there for more than forty years, and knowing so many of the people. Mrs. Lincoln is still a wheel chair invalid, about the same as she has been for the past six years, excepting that for a few days at a time she failed and she is nearly blind. She used to read a great deal, but now her chief enjoyment is "listening in" over the radio. Please give her kindest regards to old friends and say to them that she has not forgotten them, and is always glad to hear from them. The days are long and weary to her for she suffers a great deal of pain."

WARNING.

The dumping of dead animals along the river and on the loop is a violation of the anti-pollution law, and persons guilty of this offense will be prosecuted. It is also a violation of the law to dump dead animals within fifty yards of a public road. Carcasses should be burned or buried. Be warned in time.—John H. Erwin, County Health Officer.

Dipping Plans.

We are here to co-operate with and assist the stockmen of Bandera county in cleaning the ranges of the fever tick, and we ask that you consider this in the light in which it is given. Dates for dipping at the townsite vat will be published next week. We need help in getting the vat cleaned out and prepared, and we ask your assistance and co-operation in doing so. On dipping dates we will expect you to bring your cattle to the vat for dipping but if you have a milk cow or cows which you think are clean please come to us and report same, and we will go and inspect that cow or cows if you will make everything convenient for us to inspect on your premises, and if found free of animal from fever ticks you will not be required to dip that milk cow, as long as you keep her free from fever ticks. We can assist you in keeping your cattle free from fever ticks if you will let us advise you in the matter, and will be glad to do so. Owing to the fact that so much stock is running loose on the townsite we know that this particular territory is infected, and it is going to require much effort to clean it, but it will be done, and you are expected to do your part in helping us do it. Boys who have fever ticks on any stock are expected to bring their donkeys to the vat on dipping dates, for the donkeys must be dipped as well as other stock. Work stock must be kept clean of fever ticks or they will have to be dipped. This work will have done sooner or later, whether we like it or not, and the sooner it is done the better it will be all around.

Capitalizing Our Resources.

The establishment of a pleasure resort and fishing basin on the Medina Lake Development Company is a step in the direction the New Era has been hoping for, ever since the present editor of this paper hit Bandera. It means that our resources are to be developed along lines that have hitherto been neglected. It has been a puzzle to us why something of this kind has not been done before. We have the most picturesque scenery, the ideal climate, the good fishing and hunting, and all things that go to make life enjoyable to those who love scenic splendor and beauty of creation, and now that the Medina Lake Development Company has purchased a choice tract of land at the head of the lake, right miles below Bandera, and proposes to put in a hotel, boating, fishing and hunting conveniences, and establish an ideal resort, we predict that it will be successfully done, and will reward the enterprising owners as well as prove quite an asset to Bandera, for it will create a demand for our farm products and provide employment for local labor.

R. C. Howard and family of Oklahoma City, and his father R. S. Howard of Devine, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Joy L. Tilley on East Velde.

Get an Old Blue Back Speller before they are gone. Price 42 cents. The New Era has them.

Rolling Your Dollars

Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same with dollars.

The wise man—the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he rolls his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And that better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

The First State Bank of Bandera

Appreciates the New Era.

Prof. Garnet A. Dibrell, writing from Stockdale to renew his subscription to the New Era says: "I always look forward to the New Era each week. It brings so much news of my friends and former pupils in that county. Through it I have been able to keep up with the members of the two graduating classes which I had there and the progress each member has made. I have also been able to see what many of the other high school students are doing and have done. Then last but not least, I have been able to keep up with the progress of your town. Time rolls on; it has been six years since I taught my first year in Bandera, or rather since I began my first term there. Since then I have noticed so many weddings in the New Era, where different pupils had married, that sometimes I think there are certainly not many left to "Dop." It seems just as only yesterday when they were children just in "teens," but when I stop and think, I realize they are grown. I am very happy to note that Death has not claimed a one of my old pupils, at least, I do not recall having read a death notice, and I think that is wonderful for a six year period. Probably it is due to your fine climate and excellent opportunities for outdoor life."

Mrs. Frank Billings is spending a few days in San Antonio, the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. L. L. DeLamure.

Another Step Forward.

The board of trustees this week completed arrangements for the eleventh grade work to be course of study in Bandera High School. A teacher has not yet been employed to teach the added grade, but the board has several applications from which to make a selection. This is another step forward for Bandera High School, which has heretofore given only up to and through the tenth grade. Lack of complete course of study has compelled our graduates to go elsewhere after finishing here to get the eleventh grade work. Now they can get it right here at home, and every school patron will rejoice over the action of the local board. Within due course of time we hope to announce that Bandera High School has secured affiliation with leading schools and colleges of the state.

Makes Wool Sale.

The accumulation of wool in the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association, amounting to more than 120,000, will be shipped tomorrow to Boston buyers. The price paid for this wool ranges from 38 cents to 40 cents per pound, a portion of it being sold about three weeks ago before the advance in price.

R. M. Hodges, of Galveston, will arrive in a few days on a visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Hodges. He will remain until after the Old Settlers' reunion.

Revival Meeting

The protracted meeting in progress at the Baptist church is growing in interest and attendance. Rev. Hicks, the pastor, is doing the preaching, while M. H. Keith of Waco is leading the singing. Five additional to the Baptist church have already resulted.

Cedar Hill Barbecue.

On Wednesday night of last week the road hands at work on the Bandera-San Antonio highway gave a barbecue and dance at their camp at Cedar Hill, which was enjoyed by a number of friends from San Antonio, Beeville, Floresville and Pipe Creek. A wagon sheet was spread on the ground and they danced the old square dances they used to dance to old time music furnished on this occasion by Elmo Newcomer and John Greathouse. And they feasted on barbecued goat, cake and coffee. Among those present were Highway Superintendent Richard Hudson, Mr. Sullivan, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Ambrose, and son, of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins, Mrs. Kuykendall, Mr. and Mrs. John Greathouse, Floresville, Mrs. Thomas and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Walter McKay, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Yeary of Beeville, Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Newcomer, Uncle Jack Newcomer, Joe Callahan and family and Calvin Callahan and family of Pipe Creek.

You will find local news items on every page of the New Era.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and practical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

Don Daredevil.

Did you ever experience the thrill that accompanies seeing a dashing cowboy astride a mad bucking, pitching bronco? Well if you have you will certainly like to see the performance repeated in DON DAREDEVIL, which is to be shown at the Bandera Theatre Friday the 26th of June. This picture is a blue streak western and one of the Universal's latest productions. Remember LET ER BUCK! Well this one goes LET ER and BUCK one better and that was hard to do. Folks the shows that you are seeing in Bandera now in some instances are ahead of those shown in San Antonio. They are brand new pictures, and my contracts permit me to show the newest pictures before big shows in larger cities can complete the old contracts. The Royal theatre in San Antonio Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adkin gave a big dinner in celebrating the birthdays of Mrs. Godkin, Miss Juanita Godkin, Little Miss Irene Lozano and children, About forty guests were present to partake of the fine dinner, and enjoy the pleasures of the occasion, which included dancing and swimming. Among those present were Victor Vidal, wife and daughter, Anton Brasbe and wife, Antonio Lozano and children, John Losano, wife and daughter, Herman Gonbales and family, Willie Trevino, Gilbert Losano, Frank Losano, Frank Rose, Miss Andrea Trevino, Miss Clementina Rodriquez, of San Antonio, John Dunlap, wife and son, and Ernest Heinsath and wife.

We will pay highest market price for your wool.—W. J. Davenport & Co.

Co-Operative Extension Work.

Great preparations are being made for a big three days' gathering at the Medina Hereford Farm, 20 miles west of San Antonio, on the Castroville road, July 8, 9, and 10, when the A & M. District Short Course will be held. All sorts of amusements will be provided, and camping facilities are grand. It is expected that hundreds of people will be there. The young people will be made to have a good time too. Well this one goes LET ER and will get instruction worth while. M. R. Thalmann proposes to take a party of twenty-five or thirty boys from Bandera. Others are going. The New Era will publish the program next week.

Celebrate Birthdays.

There was quite a celebration of birthdays last Sunday at Spicewood Springs ranch when Mr. and Mrs. Walter Adkin gave a big dinner in celebrating the birthdays of Mrs. Godkin, Miss Juanita Godkin, Little Miss Irene Lozano and children, About forty guests were present to partake of the fine dinner, and enjoy the pleasures of the occasion, which included dancing and swimming. Among those present were Victor Vidal, wife and daughter, Anton Brasbe and wife, Antonio Lozano and children, John Losano, wife and daughter, Herman Gonbales and family, Willie Trevino, Gilbert Losano, Frank Losano, Frank Rose, Miss Andrea Trevino, Miss Clementina Rodriquez, of San Antonio, John Dunlap, wife and son, and Ernest Heinsath and wife.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Those who attend the Old Settlers' reunion this year can be assured that they will get to feast on the choicest barbecued meats each day. W. E. Mansfield, who has charge of the feeding of the multitude, has been fortunate in securing fat beeves from J. A. Miller, Chas. Rehbart and others, and fat goats from various parties, and the barbecuing of the meats will be done by an expert.

Dr. Erwin has requested permission to enter an old time Van Zandt county fiddler in the old fiddlers' contest at the Old Settlers reunion. Says the fiddler can play only one tune, but it's a classic, and will cause all of the tender-hearted cowpunchers to shed tears and, will make every dog on the grounds set up a doleful howl. Unfortunately the old fiddler is from Van Zandt county and cannot be allowed to compete with the Bandera fiddlers.

Uncle Andy Jones was in town Saturday and said he had his old fiddle in tune for the old fiddlers' contest at the Old Settlers' reunion. Uncle Andy says that since he has been taking chiropractic adjustments he has been greatly rejuvenated and can play any tune on the fiddle, dance any kind of a jig, or ride any kind of a bronco. He will be at the platform swinging the girls of forty years ago you are going to understand just what we mean.

There are persistent rumors that Lynch Davidson, former lieutenant governor of Texas, will be a candidate for governor next year. Mr. Davidson will be hard to beat in the race for the democratic nomination. At this time it is not known that Mrs. Ferguson will be a candidate to succeed herself, but there is a possibility that she will seek a second term, notwithstanding the statements made in the last campaign that she wanted only one term as governor, and that for the purpose of vindicating her husband's honor.

Chas. Schreiner Company

KERRVILLE, TEXAS

Dealers in General Merchandise

The House of Quality

IN 1869 WE STARTED IN BUSINESS IN A SMALL WAY. OUR BUSINESS HAS INCREASED WITH LEAPS and BOUNDS, AND WE ARE NOW PROBABLY THE LARGEST RETAIL STORE IN TEXAS, NEARLY SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

"There is a Reason"

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson sent to the New Era editor that she will be unable to attend the reunion of the Bandera County Old Settlers' Association on July 4th, because of having an official engagement on that date.

The wrestling match, between Uncle John Pyka and Col. Lee Risinger, at the Old Settlers' Reunion will not take place, owing to the fact that Colonel Risinger is still suffering from the effects of an automobile wreck a short time ago. Uncle John has passed out a challenge to Uncle Gabe Anderwald, but it has not been accepted.

A platform will be provided for the old folks to dance on at the Old Settlers' reunion, and a platform will also be provided for the young folks. If you want to indulge in the modern dances your wishes can be gratified, and if you are an old timer and want to once more "swing corners" with your fair lady, you can do so. If you are over forty years old you can dance on the old settlers' platform.

You are only as old as you feel. If you feel like you are getting old you are going to get old. The reunion of the old settlers of Bandera county, may be attended by hundreds of people who are old in years, but most of them do not feel old, and they are going to show the younger generation that old age has not yet overtaken them. When you see them at the platform swinging the girls of forty years ago you are going to understand just what we mean.

On July 3rd and 4th hundreds of old Bandera people will return home to attend the reunion of Bandera county settlers. Many of these people take the New Era and read it for the reason that it keeps them informed of the happenings in the old home county and there are many who do not take the little old home paper. We hope they will take the opportunity while here and subscribe for the New Era. A suggestion on your part may help us to get them on our list. We will appreciate any good word you may say for the New Era.

A number of ladies from over the county have consented to enter the fiddlers' contest for ladies' at the Old Settlers' reunion. They will play the old tunes, and we're betting they will make some of the old time fiddlers go "way back and sit down."

The Old Settlers' Association will hold their annual meeting and election of officers on the old folks' platform on the reunion grounds at 3 p. m. July 4th, and when the reunion is over a general handshaking and farewell will be engaged in, while that grand old song, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again," will be sung by the old folks.

At the last reunion of the Old Settlers, circuit photographs were made, but all of the old settlers did not get in the picture. It is expected that Mr. N. H. Rose, the well known photographer, will be here during the reunion, and it is desired that every old settler of Bandera county be in the group when the photograph is taken.

The big barbecue on West Prong, above Medina, takes place today. This barbecue is given for the purpose of raising funds to improve the roads in that community. Those people on West Prong are alive to the need of good roads; they have made a good start in road-building, and they are going to keep at it until they have roads that will equal the best. A big crowd will be on hand at their barbecue today.

Bandera county has indeed been fortunate. The great drouth which has prevailed over most of the country during the past several months has devastated many counties of this state, and brought ruin to farmers and stockmen. Bandera county has been hard hit by the drouth, but we are not as bad off as some sections, and we will raise some corn and feedstuff probably, while our ranges are in fairly good condition.

Andy Mansfield says he is going to win the prize in the men's beauty contest at the Old Settlers' reunion. He has laid in a supply of face creams, face powder, lipstick, eye-brow pencil, rouge and beauty clay, and is going to bob his hair and put in a permanent wave. The Judge says all of Soul Durst's friends will avail him nothing, as no matter how much he works on his face Soul's looks can never be improved.

Friends of Charlie Gersdorff of San Antonio and Col. Joe Postert are trying to arrange a handicap contest between these two old timers to be pulled off on July 4th. Time was when Col. Postert could leap an ordinary rail fence into a watermelon patch with grace and agility, while Charlie Gersdorff often cleared the back yard gate at Old Man John Pyka's without any trouble whatever, when the old gentleman appeared on the scene.

George A. Hay of Tuff, dropped in to see us Saturday. He was on his way home from Camp Wood, where he attended the auction sale of South African goats last Thursday and Friday. He informed us that the sale was a big success, among the Bandera county purchasers of goats being August Mangold and himself. Fred Whisenhunt, Ernest Adams, R. N. Padgett & Sons, and T. H. Phillips. Mr. Hay stated that the highest price paid for one of the South African goats was $1100, which was given by B. M. Halbert of Sonora. All of the goats, 119 in all, were sold, and averaged around $325 per head. He informs us that Roeksprings was selected as permanent headquarters of the American Angora Goat Breeders' Association, that town agreeing to furnish a fireproof office building, with vault, and free electric lights and water, if headquarters were maintained there.

Notice to Medina Subscribers.

For the convenience of the New Era subscribers at Medina we have arranged with Miss Beulah Smith at Wm. Hatfield's store in Medina to receive subscription payments. Those who wish to pay their subscription to either the New Era or Frontier Times may call there and pay same, and it will be properly credited on our books.

Wm. Smallwood and family were here from Vanderpool Monday. Mr. Smallwood reports a good rain in his region Sunday.

The New Era's forms, close at noon each Wednesday. All news items or advertising should be in our hands before that hour to insure publication. We do not like to leave out anything, which is sent in to us for publication, and would urge everyone to send their copy in time for publication. It takes a whole week to set up and print the New Era, and every item we can secure at the first of the week helps us in preparing for publication day.

Twenty-two registered Angora goats were sold last Thursday, at Camp Wood at an average of $400, each, at the opening of the auction of 125 animals recently brought to this country from South Africa. Frank Kroll, of Harper, paid the highest price, $775. Four hundred bidders from Oregon, California, Arizona, New Mexico, Minnesota, Missouri, and from all parts of Texas, attended the sale. The crowd of visitors on opening day of the sale was estimated at 2,000.

Ed Mansfield has been doing extensive work preparing his park for the big reunion to be held there July 3rd and 4th. He has erected a building in which to house the meats that are barbecued for the multitude, screened in and protected in every sanitary manner. He is also constructing benches of cypress slabs to seat the vast crowd which is expected to be in attendance. The big dance platforms, one for the old and one for the young folks will be built this week. Rodeo grounds have been prepared, track pens built and race track and playgrounds provided. Mansfield Park will be quite a resort some of these days.

During the Old Settlers' Reunion, to be held here July 3rd and 4th, new subscriptions to Frontier Times will be accepted at $1.00 per year. This offer applies only to new subscriptions, and is made solely for the purpose of increasing the list of regular readers to the rapidly little monthly magazine. This is your opportunity to give some old time Texan a suitable present, and one that he will enjoy the full year. Take advantage of the offer now; don't wait until it expires.

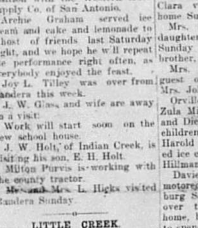
Barbecue on West Prong.

The good roads barbecue at the Old Williams place on West Prong last Thursday drew a large crowd, it is being estimated that fully 700 people were there to enjoy the event prepared by the progressive people of that community. A large platform had been erected where the young people enjoyed dancing. At 12 o'clock dinner was announced, and it was fine. Choice meats barbecued to a queen's taste by Jim Surber, bread, pickles and coffee constituted the menu. Just after dinner a refreshing shower of rain fell which cooled the atmosphere and made the afternoon pleasant. Speeches were made by Senator Julius Real of Kerrville, R. L. Morris, commissioner of that precinct, and J. M. Hunter, the editor of the New Era. The subjects discussed by these speakers were good roads principally. A rodeo was given in connection with the barbecue, and some good roping was done. The crowd was quiet and orderly, but a jovial happy, jovial spirit which characterizes the gatherings in that community, being very much in evidence on this occasion, and everybody who attended the barbecue are loud in their praises of the good time they had.

Child Breaks Arm.

Mrs. Lee Craven of Tarpley, brought her five-year-old child to Bandera one day last week for treatment for a broken arm. The little child sustained a double fracture of the arm when it fell from a bed.

Rolling Your Dollars



Ideals and interests change all through life. The man of fifty smiles at the child "rolling its hoop"—while in a different way he is doing the same—with dollars.

The wise man the thoughtful man, however, has an objective for his dollars. Invariably he roll s his dollars to a place where he can put them to work for him. And what better place is there than a bank?

Watch the successful men of Bandera and you will see them coming regularly to this bank. It is well worth your while to consider this. If you spend a little less than you make—and bank the difference—soon you will have dollars to play with.

Oh, Doctor!

The picture, Oh, Doctor, starring Reginald Denny, which is being shown at the Empire Theatre in San Antonio this week, will be at the Bandera Theatre, Friday, July 10th and 11th. This great picture I am giving to the holder of the winning ticket a beautiful $10. baby doll. This doll which is being displayed at Billings Drug Store, is life size, cries, says "mama" and goes to sleep when placed in a reclining posit on. It is just what the child has always wanted and there is nothing that could please them better. Each ticket that is sold at the showing of Oh, Doctor, has a duplicate and after the show Friday night the duplicates will be shuffled and a little child, blindfolded, will draw a number which will be the winner. The picture Oh, Doctor is the very latest of Denny's knockouts and those who have the opportunity to see it will be more than pleased with the way Universal puts out shows. The price of tickets will be 10 cents and 40 cents as usual. This picture is worth seeing and Bandera is building better out, so be sure to come out and see Oh, Doctor! Friday, July 10, 1925.

WARREN HUNTER.

Robert Brown and George Freeman left Monday for Hallettsville, in response to a message announcing the critical illness of Mr. Brown's aged father, T. J. Brown.

Would Like to Be Here.

C. A. Taylor of Van Nuys, California, writes the New Era as follows: "I have just received a complimentary guest badge to take in the Old Settlers' reunion at Bandera July 3rd and 4th. I am taking this way to express my appreciation to the association for so kindly remembering me. There is nothing I would love better than to be with you at that time, to mingle with the old boys and give them the glad handshake. When I was with you last summer I did not have time to see all whom I would liked to have seen, but I did enjoy my visit so much. I cannot come this year. My wife's health is very poor, and she could not stand the trip. We have traveled the road of life together for nearly fifty-six years, and I couldn't think of coming without her. Everything is lovely in the San Fernando valley. Kind regards to all Bandera friends."

Baptist Meeting Closed.

The meeting which had been in progress for ten days at the Baptist church in the city, closed Sunday night, with several additions by letter and nine were added to the Baptist church by the ordinance of baptism, the baptising taking place at the Tarpley crossing Sunday afternoon. It was a good meeting, and the local Baptist church was greatly strengthened.

At the Rainbow's End

Hopes pay a few dividends—unless generated today by an active and practical plan of action. Standing by or aimlessly searching for the rainbow's end—and a pot of gold,—is a fruitless task.

The pot of gold is not there — except when by your own effort you put it there. Start today by spending a little less than you make. Follow that simple plan—and bank the difference. Bank it with us. It works for you here at the rate of 4½% interest annually.

Conductor 1492.

Did you ever see a picture that kept you laughing continually from start to finish? Do you remember Rags to Riches? Well Conductor 1492 has Rags to Riches skinned a mile. Honestly this picture is a scream from beginning to end. It will put you on the edge of your seat and keep you there. There are very few pictures that will bring a house to laughter in a city theatre but this one just simply made them roar with laughter. Make sure to see this king of comedies at the Bandera Theatre tonight and tomorrow night, July 2nd and 3rd.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Tomorrow the old settlers of Bandera county will assemble at the Ed Mc—old Park for their second annual reunion. The old timers will spend two days in frolic and fun and in mingling with each other to recount events that happened long ago. Every year their ranks are growing thinner. There will be absent ones this year for the Grim Reaper, with merciless scythe has cut down several of the pioneers of this section during the past year. They will be missed by the remaining few of the Old Guard. Next year it will be the same way—some who are present today may be absent tomorrow. Let every citizen help to make this reunion enjoyable for the old settlers. We of the younger generation owe them more than we can ever pay for the part they have played in the settlement of this region and bringing about the splendid civilization we now enjoy.

A jumbo stick of candy, about two feet long, and weighing seven pounds, has been on display in the show window at Billings' drug store this week. This stick of candy is to be the prize in the men's beauty contest at the Old Settlers' reunion on July 4th. Friends of Andy Mansfield and S. O. Durst are active in behalf of their respective choice, and so far the Judge seems to be the popular favorite for the reason that "Sod" has not been able to improve his good looks to a noticeable extent. However, it is believed that he will come forth on the glorious Fourth transformed, and may waltz off with the striped candy.

Old Settlers Badges.

The badges for members of the Bandera County Old Settlers' Association have arrived, and may be obtained from Mrs. M. Hamilton at the Bandera Cafe. Last year's badge cannot be used this, so each member is urged to procure a new badge at once.

"There is a Reason"

wilderness into the glorious civilization which we today enjoy. They endured privations and dangers of which we of the present generation know nothing; they suffered hardships which we have never felt. It is pleasant and right to recount the noble deeds of our fathers, but far more pleasant to say something in praise of our gentle mothers, the heroines of the pioneer; she who rocked the cradle bed of childhood; our first, last, and faithfullest friend. Of this type was Grandma Walker, who was early on the frontier, and with her husband shared all the dangers of frontier life. We would feel remiss in a chivalric duty did we fail to note her share in the great work of building here a splendid civilization, and it is only proper we should record some praise and willingly yield to her a just and proper place in the history of our great state. The trophies of the years that pass are a few immortalities gleaned from its sepulchre. Epochs, events, characters, that survive; oblivion is the common goal of the race. Whatever has contributed to human wealth has been remembered, memorialized by cenotaph and mausoleum and remains with us on history's page. The deeds of our pioneers shine on the pages of history, like stars blazing in the night, and their achievements have long been celebrated in song and story. Romulus and Remus founded an empire and their names are immortal. Columbus discovered a new world and he stands unique in the sublime faith and courage which impelled him over an unknown sea. Honor has been rather partial in bestowing her gifts, and fame has placed her laurels chiefly on masculine brows, forgetting the countless heroines who were worthy of recognition. It is with great pride that we call attention to the fact that the pioneer women of Texas proved themselves competent to fill positions other than presiding at the festal board, or locating out the rythm of their blood with sandaled feet on polished floors, or strewing flowers in the path of the conqueror as he returns from the bloody carnage; for many noble names have swollen the list of those who have proven to the world that woman can be true and great even in the arduous duties incident to pioneer life. Bravely she has gone to the unprotected frontier, with no shelter but the crude cabin, the dugout or the open camp, where the winds whistled, wolves howled, where Indians yelled, and yet within that rude domicile, burning like a lamp, was the pure and stainless Christian faith, love, patience, fortitude and heroism. And as the Star of the East rested over the manger where Christ lay, so, speaking not irreverently, there rested over the roofs of the pioneers a Star of the West, the star of Empire, and today that empire is the proudest in the world. The pioneer woman, she endured it with a constancy as changeless as the solitude and danger about her. She has borne her part in all the vicissitudes incident to the outposts of the borderland and her hands have assisted in kindling the fires on the confines of civilization to guide the wheels of empire forward, onward. Of necessity the pioneer woman sacrificed more than the pioneer man, the finer texture of her being was less adapted to the rugged environments of pioneer life. However, as the tides of the ocean are forever faithful to the mysterious attraction of the moon, so woman has followed man across seas, over the mountains and into the deserts to witness his adventures and share his achievements. Those who lay the foundations of empire and extend the outposts of civilization are worthy of all honor, and especially is this true of the pioneer woman. If Texas today boasts of statesman or warrior, of patriots and freemen, of a civilization and a social fabric into which is inwrought the elements of permanency and progress, she owes it largely to her pioneer women who founded the first homes, worshipped in the first humble chapels erected to God on these western hills and boundless prairies now crowded with temples and churches and schools and institutions of learning, while the multitudinous tramp of a million feet are still heard in the distance coming this way to enjoy what these pioneer mothers, unrequited by their sacrifice and privation. This splendid civilization we enjoy today, the social vines that shelter us, the civic boughs whose clusters feed us, all spring from the seed sown and the harvest of tears reaped by our pioneers, has passed with the years. These pioneer women were familiar with much that has passed with the years, so rapidly have conditions changed. Be it said to their honor that in humble homes and with few advantages she did her part; there was something in the lullaby that she sang to her children at twilight, in the Sublime simplicity of her teachings that fostered a sturdy manhood and patriotism with which she taught into the stalwart republic, the precursor of the Lone Star State. She has been scalped and tortured by the savage, and her blood has reddened these plains and valleys as an oblation on the altar of empire. Her life and the tragic scenes through which she passed are each a romance where daring and adventure and sacrifice are the chief actors on its eventful pages. The pioneer women of Texas lived themselves in drudgery and toil that their beauty might re-appear in the structure their devoted hands built to liberty and progress. They buried themselves in these western solitudes, that from these living sepulchres might come the young pulse-beat of a mighty nation, bouyant, chivalric, progressive civilization. They gave up the comforts and pleasures of society, severed the tenderest ties of the human heart home and kindred, the old altars, where they prayed, the graves of their loved and lost, these the dearest things to a woman's heart, that we today might enjoy in their fullest fruition what they lost. We may well be proud of the temper of these Texas heroines, their dear old hands, it is true, were familiar with toil, but they wrought faithfully and well, and their dear old hearts beat the prelude to the grand march of the empire. Their feet beat out the trail over the trackless prairie and across rugged mountains which has since widened into the great thoroughfares of commerce and travel; their tender hands planted the first flowers on the graves of those whose bones first reposed under Texas soil. God bless, our dear pioneer women.

Grandma Walker was of this noble type. She was truly a pioneer. She heard the savage warwhoop, and felt the terror of the scalping knife. Her loved ones were torn from her by the cruelty of the redman. She passed through the long years of uncertainty constantly in dread of raids by Indians, and lived through it all to reach a ripe old age, almost a century, a benediction and a blessing to her children and her friends. One of the early day tragedies was the killing of her brother, Joseph W. Moore and his wife on the Medina river near the mouth of Rocky Creek. Another tragedy which brought sorrow into her home was the killing of her mother, Mrs. William Moore, on Laxson's Creek, by Indians in 1873.

The killing of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Moore occurred on the 4th of July, 1872, as they with their four children were returning home from a visit, and less than a year later the mother was murdered by savages.

A new-made mound in the Mesa Cemetery, alongside of the grave of her husband, marks the resting place of Grandma Moore, the pioneer mother, while a short distance away sleeps the brother and his wife who were victims of savage cruelty.

"Blessed are the dead which die in the Lord, from henceforth, yea, saytth the Spirit, that they may rest from their labors and their works do follow them." Rev. 14:13.

Mary Jane Walker.

Mrs. Mary Jane Moore Walker died at the home of her son, John T. Walker, on Chalk Creek, last Saturday morning at 10:15, aged 90 years, 7 months and 9 days. Grandma Walker had been ill for the past five months, but she bore her suffering patiently and without complaint, and when the Death Angel came she peacefully passed away. The funeral was conducted Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Mount Cemetery near Rocky Creek by J. M. Hunter, the editor of the New Era, in the presence of a large assemblage of sorrowing friends and relatives.

Grandma Walker was one of the early pioneers of Bandera county. She was born in Claiborne Parish, Louisiana, November 18, 1834, and came to Texas with her parents in 1853, locating near Austin. On June 22, 1857, she was married to William Andrew Walker, in Blanco county. After living in Blanco and Llano counties for awhile she and her husband came to Bandera county, remaining here a short time, then went back to Llano county. They returned to Bandera county in 1866 and located on Laxson's Creek, afterwards buying the Joe W. Minear place there. For almost sixty years she lived in this county, truly a pioneer. She was the mother of nine children, four of whom are living and were present at the funeral, as follows: Mrs. Cynthia Artie Reed of Luna, John Travis Walker of Bluff, Joseph Daniel Walker of Lampasas, and Mrs. Selina Argie Ferguson of Pear Valley. Surviving besides the four children named are 14 grandchildren and 22 great grandchildren. Her husband, William A. Walker, died November 25, 1909, aged 82 years.

Over thirty years ago Grandma Walker obeyed the Gospel and was baptized into Christ during a meeting held by Elder Alexander, one of the earliest gospel preachers to visit this section. She lived a consecrated Christian life, faithful unto death, and has gone to receive that crown of righteousness which is promised to all those who love the Lord and keep His commandments.

It grieves us to note the passing of our pioneers, the men and women who transformed the

You will probably have visitors during the big reunion. We ask you to kindly write out a list of your visitors and send in for next week's issue of the New Era.

Do you intend to get ahead? What plans are you making? If you do not make definite and specific plans and then work them, you will never succeed. Heralds of Liberty.

Remember we fit your eyes and guarantee our work, and we have San Antonio prices.—T. S. Dennis, Jeweler and optometrist.

Quite a number of subscriptions to the New Era, going to subscribers away from Bandera, are expiring at this time, and we hope all will be renewed at once. Some of these subscriptions are paid for by home people, and unless renewed promptly we will be forced to the conclusion that renewal is not desired and will discontinue sending the paper.

Veteran Amasa Clark, who will celebrate his 100th birthday anniversary the 3rd of next September, informed us Monday that he went to San Antonio last Wednesday in a Ford Friday in just one hour and forty minutes. The distance is fifty miles. Veteran Clark says that seventy years ago he made frequent trips to San Antonio in an ox-wagon, and it required eight days to make the trip.

The Old Folks' Spelling Match will take place on the Old Folks' Platform at the big reunion Saturday at 3 p. m. If Prof. Burney, who taught the Dugout school forty years ago is present at the reunion, (and he is expected) he will be asked to "give out" the words from the old Blue Back Speller. Judge A. L. SSP Students Finish Brochure for TDNA

A beautiful brochure explaining functions of various departments of a modern newspaper has just been issued from the shop of Southwest School of Printing. It was designed for the Texas Daily Newspaper Association in order to interest prospective students in the profession of journalism.

The booklet is done in color on heavy enamel and contains 41 illustrations of actual scenes in Texas newspapers. The size is 10 ¾ by 8 ¼. The title gives a key to the contents and theme. It is entitled "Newspaper Opportunities." The foreword points to certain "special rewards" that only the profession of journalism can offer, among which are "an inward pride in contributing to truth and understanding, to tolerance and friendship, to the pathos and humor of the American legend." But before these rewards can be attained, the foreword warns that the work is hard, and the foundations must be laid "in an humble day-to-day devotion to duty."

The brochure is to be made available to both and colleges which are participating in the TDNA internship program under which selected students are given a 10 week period of work on newspapers which are members of the association. The school in turn will make the brochure available to prospective students. For this distribution 10,000 copies were printed.

For sponsors, staff and students, the chief interest in this publication is in the fact that the school was selected to do the work and in the long, painstaking hours devoted to its production. From the time the job came into the shop Director Ray Abel, and Instructors Hunt and Peden gave it their closest attention and many hours of it. The gratifying results were accomplished in the face of numerous difficulties.

Typesetting, makeup, and bindery work were done in the school shop. Because of certain special problems which the school shop was not fully equipped to handle, the press work was done by Padgett Printing and Lithographing Co. of Dallas.

Carrying off top honors in the letterhead contest jointly sponsored by the magazine, "Printing Equipment Engineer" of Cleveland, and S. S. P., Lynn Dailey won a four-year subscription to that magazine. Five runners-up were awarded two tickets each to the Dallas Kiwanis Club's Sports and Variety Show. These latter prizes were given by the school.

First-place winner Dailey is a member of the Advanced Floorwork class. Originally from Tulsa, Oklahoma; he enrolled in the General Printing Course on December 5, 1949.

Second place in the contest was won by Enos Merrick, also in the advanced class, who entered the General Printing Course on the same date as Dailey. He is from Hobart, Oklahoma.

Donald Moore, of Dallas, came in third. He is in the class with the two top winners.

Woodrow Barker, an advanced student with previous presswork experience, took fourth prize. Barker is from Houston, and entered S. S. P. on February 6, 1950 for the Pressyork and Machine Composition courses.

Fifth place was taken by John Fayne, now a student in machine composition. Fayne's home in in Waltham, Massachusetts. He entered the General Printing class on March 14, 1949.

The sixth place prize was won by Troy Thomas, who started the General Printing Course on November 1, 1949, and is now in the Advanced Floorwork class. Thomas is another Oklahoman and came to the school from Durant.

'Devil' Unique In School Newspapers

Southern Newspaper Publishers Association, through the courtesy of Walter C. Johnson, association secretary, is mailing to its entire membership copies of the Printer's Devil. This assistance in distribution for Southwest School of Printing is greatly appreciated. The June 10 bulletin of the publishers association contains the following paragraph concerning the mailing of the Devil":

"The students of the Southwest School of Printing, at Dallas, get out a monthly publication 'The Printer's Devil.' It is unique among student newspapers in that each issue is put out by a new and inexperienced staff—the object being to afford each student equal experience in the makeup and other mechanical procedures of a publication.

"In order that members of SNPA may get the atmosphere of the school by remote control, they have received a copy of a recent publication.

"Because of a shortage of the May issue some members received the April issue. Subsequent issues will be included in the release at intervals of about every other month."

Dallas Student Gets Grand Prairie Job

Anthony D. Rosso withdrew from S. S. P. on June 23, to go to work on the Grand Prairie Banner, as printer-operator.

Rosso enrolled for the General Printing course on March 21, 1949.

During several months while he was in school he worked part time at the Nolden Printing and Office Supply Company in Oak Cliff. His work there consisted of hand composition, makeup and presswork on a Miehle Vertical.

A transplanted Yankee from Ohio, Rosso is learning to call Texas his home. He was well thought of by students and staff, and their best wishes go with him as he goes out into the cold world.

Independence Day

Since Independence Day falls on Tuesday this year, many people probably will arrange to be away from their jobs on Monday and take a four-day vacation. Consequently highway traffic will be heavy. There are bound to be the usual number of faster-than-necessary drivers, reckless, careless, and downright drunken drivers.

With traffic fatalities increasing steadily it is always good sense to watch the other drivers and allow for their mistakes, as well as being careful of your own driving. This is especially true on a holiday.

DRIVE CAREFULLY. Return from your trip or outing under your own power, and not in an ambulance via a hospital or morgue.

TWO FINISH COURSES; TAKE JOBS

By Gene Meaop

Two students completed their courses in General Printing during the past month and left S. S. P. for jobs.

Jim Kinney entered school February 7, 1949, and completed his training June 9. After finishing school he worked for a few days at the service station where he was employed part time during most of his enrollment.

Kinney placed a situation wanted ad in "The Publishers' Auxiliary" and received two offers; one from a Montana weekly newspaper and the other from a tabloid weekly and job shop at Portola, California. After a long-distance telephone conversation with the publisher of the latter paper, Jim decided to take his offer as combination operator-floorman. He planned to report for work on July 5.

Kinney said that Portola is in the beautiful Feather River country near Reno, Nevada. Before entering this school Kinney was employed by the West Publishing Company of St. Paul, Minn.

Chester Roberts also entered school on February 7, 1949, and completed his course on June 9. He has accepted a job as combination printer-operator with the Fort Stockton (Texas) Pioneer, a weekly newspaper and job shop. From his remarks about the job and prospects for future advancement it sounds like a good opportunity. Roberts said that the men he will work with are congenial and he thinks he will like the job. His reporting to the job was delayed several days because of the illness of his daughter, but he expected to start work on June 19th.

Roberts came to Dallas from Mansfield, Ohio a few months before entering school. During his enrollment he worked part time around the school. He was quiet, conscientious, and sincere, and was well liked both by students and instructors. He will be missed around the school.

In the May issue of the Printer's Devil Roberts placed an ad for a position and received five replies, which seems to prove that prospective employers do read our paper.

TAC Meets Again With SSP Faculty

The second monthly meeting of the Technical Advisor Committee was held Tuesday evening, June 6, in the club room at Southwest School of Printing.

Attending the meeting were Emil Borak of Johnson Printing and Advertising Co., S. P. Ridgeway of Haughton Bros. Co., and T. L. Masters of Southwest Printing Co. The beginning of the meeting a picture of the group was taken, then a light supper was served. Problems relating to printing, lithography and bindery were discussed. The possibility of a new lighting system for the shop was considered.

The committee brought a number of typical printing jobs they had turned out in their shops recently and discussed with the faculty their procedures and problems in putting out these jobs.

A number of letterheads were submitted to be judged by the committee. Checking each one carefully, six were chosen as the most outstanding.

Three New Students Enter Machine Class

By James Morrison

On June 19, three new students enrolled at the Southwest School of Printing. They are: Arnold Blomdahl, Pat Hendricks, and Luis Lopez.

Blomdahl, whose home is in Austin, Texas, attended the Texas State School for the Deaf. He is married and has a daughter who is five years of age. His experience on press and floorwork totals 12 years, four of which were spent in school, and eight in shops. He is enrolled in the Machine Composition course.

Hendricks gives his home as Midlothian, Texas, where he attended high school. He worked on The Midlothian Mirror (weekly) as operator and floorman for 17 months. He was in the Navy for three years as a Pharmacist Mate, Third Class, at which time he saw service in New Zealand, Australia, New Guinea, Biak, Hollandia, Manus, and Los Negros. He will study machine composition.

Lopez comes from San Antonio Texas, where he attended the San Antonio Vocational and Technical School. He has had about 12 months printing experience, a portion of which was gained in school and the remainder with the Mungula Printers. During the three years that he spent in the service, the Army sent him through France, Germany, Belgium, and Czechoslovakia with the 648th Tank Destroyer Battalion.

Ex-Student's Log Reveals Plight of POW

By W. S. Nall

There were many things a prisoner of war could not write—while being held captive by the Germans during the last war—but Maurice A. (Art) Graham, former student of S. S. P., managed to write enough, during his more than two years as a prisoner, to make interesting reading. Some of those things he could not write, he did tell the writer, and they were startling.

Graham was in the Anti-Tank Company of the 168th Infantry, 14th Division, when they were sent in February, 1942, he was in the invasion of North Africa, after brief stop-overs in Ireland and Scotland. Captured in Tunisia by Rommel's forces on February 17, 1943, he was flown to Italy and placed in a prison compound near Naples. After an unsuccessful attempt to escape, he was taken to Hammerstein, Germany in August 1943 and placed in a group of 18 Americans, who were considered "tough" because of attempted escapes.

Graham related that two of his group were shot in the back by German guards to influence the remainder to work harder. Another part of the "object lesson" was leaving the other prisoners locked up for twenty-four hours with the unclothed bodies of the dead men; the bullet holes gaping, with nothing to cover them. The live prisoners needed their blankets to keep themselves from freezing in the bitter cold. He said the lesson had the desired effect. The men worked harder after that experience.

Graham's family was first notified that he was missing in action and presumed to have been killed in the violent fighting around Kasserine Pass in North Africa. It was not until three months after his capture that they were notified he was a prisoner of war. Nine months after his capture he received his first letter from home.

On the second day after arriving in Italy Graham had his first contact with the International Red Cross, British and Scottish Branches, and for the following four and one-half months he received a food parcel (box) them every week. On that initial contact he was given the book, A Wartime Log, A Remembrance from Home Through the American Y. M. C. A. In that book he first wrote his name, serial number, home address, and Kriegsgefangenen (Prisoner of War) number 120354. There followed a "Table of Contents" and next were pages of autographs, names and addresses, pictures, and then his irregular entries in diary form.

An interesting side-light is that pictures were confiscated by the prison guards and officers of the German Army. Graham said that he was able to keep all of his pictures, together with the negatives, by placing them in letters from home, and putting them on top of the pile of personal effects laid out for inspection. He remarked that the officials always ran in a hurried through the bottom of the stack; inspecting those things thoroughly, expecting the men to try to hide things on the bottom, and paying no attention to what was on top of the pile. He kept his pictures through at least ten such inspections by this method.

Red Cross Boxes

An entry in the log book dated October 5 read, "Four R. C. boxes for every man—Oh Happy Day!" About six weeks later the International Red Cross furnished every man with a new outfit of clothes, and Graham said that a "clean" change was mighty welcome." This was the day he recieved the first letters, from home, apparently through efforts of the I. R. C., also.

The next notation was that on Christmas the men were given a 24-hour vacation and recieved a special parcel from the Red Cross. There was candy, peanut butter, cigarettes and good food. The boxes made "my heart sing for joy." He added that the men sang a few Christmas Carols and Hymns.

After 37 months separation from his wife and mother, Graham made his log: "We can stand it, because God will never permit trials, of whatever kind they may be, to exceed the strength which He will give us to meet them."

How Much Longer?

An entry dated August 17, 1944 read: "Just 18 months ago I became a prisoner of war. Oh, Weary Day!! The horrors— the unknown and the known. And furthermore, one year ago today, my first day in Gambin Kreis Stolp, and the

By Dan Harris

In the last two months, there have been many articles in magazines and newspapers about Senator McCarthy's charges that members of the Communist Party and "Fellow Travelers" are holding important positions in the Government. Here are the viewpoints of some of the students concerning the question.

W. S. Nail says he thinks McCarthy is going "overboard" on it, and is very likely stirring up this trouble for his own political gain. He may have some foundation of fact, but if he doesn't he is laying himself wide open for a law suit on charges of slander when he makes those charges outside the Senate.

Lynn Dailey believes he is trying to attract more attention than anything else. There are Communists in the government circles but in order to flush them out he is accusing everybody and making a lot of enemies for himself, and everyone would be better off if he would let the FBI handle it because they know which ones are Communists. To find the Reds he is out a few Communists; nevertheless, in the accusing of everybody he is likely to be right once in awhile.

Ernest Barker says he's raising quite a fuss, but "you have to kill a lot of mice to get a few rats."

Mike Samerigo thinks there are Communists in the government. Communism is infiltrating in a very large, membership is kept secret, up there is bound to be some of them in high positions. He believes McCarthy is right in what he says, but that getting the proof is hard. During the war people weren't checked very closely and there was no infiltration of government. He also thinks McCarthy is not endangering his political future.

Alumni News

By J. C. Nall

It is now time to put on the old thinking cap, dig into the mail bag and see who has been there that have been here before.

The last edition as of May 25, 1950, was Miss Ann Garland; according to an announcement received from Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Garland. Ann balanced the scales at 8 lbs. 14 oz. Jerry is now working as combination man in Stigler, Oklahoma.

Carl Bolejack paid the school a visit this month. He was enjoying a week's vacation which he spent in Dallas. He is an operator with the Henderson Times in Henderson, Texas. Bolejack left S. S. P. in June 1949.

One of the more recent Alumni, Jerry Cox, dropped by for a little chit-chat with instructors and students. He is just out of the hospital from a siege of malaria and lost some weight he told.

Jerry's wife Sharon writes that he believes he has found his spot. He holds the position of combination man with the Buckeye (Ariz.) Star. He is to publish the El O. W. Bush Wire" there soon.

Paul Seiler, recovering from one of his auto accidents, is in the Nebraska State Hospital. He is working there and he is able to get his feet on the ground again.

In a letter from Tom Abel we find that he is now employed as a linotype matter operator in Levelland, Texas. He seems to be well satisfied with his job, working conditions and equipment.

Mrs. J. W. Prestridge and two children stopped in Dallas on May 27 on their way to her home for a short vacation. She reported that J. W. was continuing to do quite well on his job at Fort Morgan, Colo., and that all of them like the state. She added, however that they feel there it will no place like Texas.

Their new N was pretty well wrecked a couple months ago when it was struck by a big truck on a mountain road. A good job had been done on repairing it though, and the car looked as good as new.

Mrs. Prestridge stated that Paul Cunningham, a former student, had been employed since of his resignation from the newspaper where J. W. is employed, and was planning to start a paper, possibly in West Texas.

Tommy Hogins, who will be remembered as the gay caballero with the ever present cigarette holder, from Plainview, Texas that he is very well satisfied with his work there as an operator on the daily.

He says they have a very neat, well-equipped plant, and a very congenial force.

Hoggins is preparing to build a home there, and judging from the general tone of his letter, the future, and life in general, has a very rosy hue, as he views it.

Roy Dobbs, we hear, is working in Lamesa, Texas, and we would like to hear from him and other former students, so that we can have more definite information concerning their whereabouts.

Seems as though there isn't enough of this correspondence. A great many of the fellows like to know about the other fellows. So! How about slapping a few scratches on paper and dropping us a line? Hu?

"Gracious, Mrs. Jones, what did you do when Bobbie swallowed the half dollar?"

"Oh, it wasn't serious—my husband held him up by the heels and shook him and out it came. You know he works for the Internal Revenue Bureau."

Pre-War Graduate Now Working At Dallas News

A pre-war graduate of the school Francis Coy Sevier, 810 Cameron Ave., Dallas, who is now working as an operator with The Dallas Morning News, visited the school on June 19.

Although dead, Sevier completed the course of instruction offered by the school and left in March 1940, having attended since September 1939. His first job after leaving the school was with The Finis Foundation Publishing Co., of Austin. He later worked for The Henson Printing Co., Waco Hall Printing and Stationery Co., Austin; The Woodville (Miss.) Republican, The Baton Rouge (La.) State Times, The Beaumont (Texas) Enterprise, and The Houston Post. He has been with the "News" for four years.

According to Sevier the school is pretty not much different than when he attended and added that he thought it was a fine school. Sevier came to the school with a friend who started the Machine Composition course the following day.

Fishing Hints

By Ernest Barker

Sand bass, or white bass are biting good at Lake Texhoma. The best baits for catching them are, from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Dynamite, fishing minnows and top water lures. Catfish bite small perch or cut bait.

Local Fishing

Bream are biting good on worms, gray fish, and shrimp. Bass are biting black and white top water lures, River Runts, and jitterbug plugs.

At White Rock Lake the best method to fish for channel cat is to go out to deep water, use your rod and reel, letting out about fifty or sixty feet of line. Let your boat drift with your bait on the bottom of the lake. Shrimp is the best bait. Keep a tight line and yank hard when you get a bite. The mouth of the channel cat is tough and you want to be sure to set the hook deep.

Remember on lakes and rivers, if you use a motor, slow down when passing another boat. Don't throw waves in another fisherman's boat. If he had wanted to swim he would have gone to the beach.

Good Luck and Good Fishing.

Advisory Committee Picks Six Winners

Commenting on the contest, Director Ray Abel remarked that simplicity of design, pleasing color combinations, and balance were the important factors of the winning letterheads.

It has been said that designing of letterheads is one of the most difficult problems for the printer, and since letterheads often make the first contact with the public they reflect directly upon the firms which they represent.

Following is a list of the contest rules for this school:

1. Be a student of the Southwest School of Printing.

2. Design and set a two color letterhead and envelope corner using the following copy:

3800 Clarendon Drive
Dallas 11, Texas

"Serving the Southwest"

plus the list of school officers and directors which is posted on the ship bulletin board.

3. Any type, rules and border available in the school shop may be used.

4. Three proofs of the completed letterhead and envelope corner, printed in color, must be submitted. The student's name shall be on one copy only.

5. Letterheads will be judged by the members of the Technical Advisory Committee, which is made up of three members of the Dallas Craftsmans Club.

The editors of the "Printing Equipment Engineer" magazine are participating in this contest to encourage excellence in work among the students in this school and in a limited number of other technical schools.

Members of the Technical Advisory Committee judging the contest were: E. L. Borak, Johnston Printing Company; T. L. Masters, Southwest Printing Company; and B. P. Ridgway, Haughton Bros., all of Dallas. Winners were selected by the committee at their regular monthly meeting with the school faculty on the evening of June 6.

In a letter to Director Abel, dated August 30, 1949, Mr. M.D. Sinclair, Editor of the "Printing Equipment Engineer" wrote:

To encourage excellence and to make students in a limited number of printing technical schools, PRINTING EQUIPMENT ENGINEER wishes to present gratis, . . . subscription to one student in each of the selected schools. Your school has been selected for this purpose."

Interest in the contest was reflected by the number of entries and students expressed satisfaction in the knowledge that the Graphic Arts Industry is interested in their future welfare.

"If you can't take part in a sport, be one anyway."

Well here it is July once again with major league baseball almost at the halfway mark. To this date, first place in both leagues is nip-and-tuck, with four teams in each circuit fighting it out for first place. The main worry, for most of the managers, is their pitching department as most of the managers and veteran hurlers are either on the injured list or hot and cold when they take their turn on the hill. In the hitting department it's a different story, all the big name hitters and a few rookies are going around with nice big batting averages, and the long ball hitters are out to set some new home run records.

Up to this date in both leagues, they are well ahead of previous records for home runs. In the National League, so far this year, they have hit 274 circuit blows in 162 games. At this rate of production, the senior circuit would blast over 1,000 four masters compared to the record set in 1949, when they established a new major league mark with 956 homers.

In the junior circuit the home run output has been almost as outstanding, with 255 round trippers in 167 contests. At this pace they should average 941 over the fence wallops for a new league record.

In all major league cities the cry has been that the games are going too slow. To remedy this situation clubs have moved their ball men in along either the first or third base side lines. This eliminates the long jog that the relief pitchers took from their out post in the out field. In Detroit, Hank Greenberg went one better and installed a golf cart to carry the relief hurler to the mound.

In Philadelphia, the Phillies have announced that of their new battle song, "The Fighting Phils," has been waved for national distribution by the Phillies Quartette consisting of Dick Sisler, Puddin-head Jones, Richie Ashburn and Granmer, They are accompanied by Elliot Lawrence, one of the youngest band leaders, and also the author of the song.

To my friend "Pausqualli"

In an open letter to this column last month one Maurice (Pausqualli) Graham asked me about the horse that had a fever in his foot and scratched from the Kaintucky Derby last May. Well Pausqualli, after going through all my red, blue, and eleven other color handicap sheets and talking to my bookie, I found out that this horse in question was given a hot foot, but on the wrong end. On the other question about him running on a muddy track, would this cool off his hot-foot? Well after inquiring around, I found out that mud is no good for the feet, it is used mostly in beauty parlors for the complexion, and people that need a new face every morning.

To verify these facts I put in a long distance phone call to an old friend of mine who spent some time in the cavalry while in the army, one Sir Virgil Hurford, formerly of S. S. P., now doctor of Hoofology in Abilene, Texas said a hot-foot on a horse is the same as a hot-box on a freight car, they just won't move. And that your friend mine in the corral stay away from the x2x!; back.

So you see Maurice when you put two bucks on his nose, you know its not going any where on Hot-foot."

Horsenigly yours.
The ex-sports writer.

P. S.

This is really the end for me, from here on my days are numbered. I'd like to use these last couple of picas to let all the guys I lived and worked with here at S. S. P., know that I've enjoyed their friendship and hope I run into them again real soon.

"Long John"

Ark. Paper Sold . . .

One of the oldest established newspapers in Arkansas—the Nashville News, which began it's 72nd year of publication in January—has changed hands. The new publisher is Louis Graze of Texarkana.

The Nashville News, for many years the only semi-weekly newspaper published in Arkansas, was the first paper in the weekly class in Arkansas to qualify for membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The former owners—Henry Ware and the late C. G. Ferguson, brothers, learned the newspaper business as printer's devils back in 1904, serving their apprenticeships in the same shop. Apprentices served the full four years free for the privilege of learning the trade.

Former Student Does Many Jobs on Weekly

A long letter has been received from a former student, Gene Daman. He is now in Harlingen, Texas, working with La Turno's Printing Co., getting a little bit of floorwork with his operating. The mailing address is 109 E. Madison in Harlingen.

He mentioned that it might be well to give the boys some of the highlights of what to expect on a weekly—just in case some are ready to venture out into the world as a combination man, although you might change that name to Jack of all trades.

Daman wrote that at Robstown he was doing everything from being a copy boy to relief operating. He said he started on the floor, but a bout with the bindery work went back to school and Daman fell into that job, too. The first part of the week he would do the bindery work, then when the paper began to take shape he would be on the floor setting heads, ads, making galley corrections, running the press and the folder, and what have you". He did some operating during the noon hour and sometimes a couple of hours at night. "When after the paper was to bed I went back to bindery the thing week in and week out. Was getting more bindery time than anything else—doing all the cutting, making up books. But as for operating goes I ain't getting enough to keep limbered up. The operator could kick out one form in a half galleys average an hour, and better if he got in a hurry so there was little chance for mistakes."

Daman said that one week the operator was off sick and he had to take over. That week they had a lot of legal copy, about a half page of boiler plate reprints, and a make a long story short he wrote "the paper got out—even if we did meet ourselves coming to work the next morning.

During the course of he continued, "you run into a lot of incidents—take for example I ran across a name setting in the head, Professor Loud . . . he, sure is tempted to drop down a row and hit the type in stead of the line.

Daman said that he is now working for his wife's uncle, who owns the shop. He wrote that speed on the machine was not as much as accuracy. He soon found out the reason as many was needed was because 99 per cent of the jobs were proofed on the press.

He seems well pleased with the set-up and added that although the first week was tough he is getting into the swing of things now. He doesn't believe he will starve. He remarked that he was coming up a job for the city on streets and that "Those twin stogs are awesome" as well as "Co-ordinated" been using my pipe as a guide—got fogged up good an I find it in the middle of my mouth—then, got to stop and figure out if I left the space at the right place.

Willises Win In Stork Race

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Willis Jr. are the proud parents of a baby girl, Charlotte Ann, who was born at Sulphur, Okla., on the 12th of May and weighed 6 lbs., 5ozs., at birth.

"Ole man stork" must have heard their wish, because for once he gave them just what they wanted.

Charlotte Ann is the second child for the Willises. They have one son, Richard, who was born on November 7, 1947.

After spending several anxious days in Oklahoma Lon brought his family back to good "ole" Texas.

Lon said he was happy to be at work again.

Student Proves Awareness Of Opportunity on Weekly

"LET'S NOT MISS the boat" is the title of an editorial in the Printonian, the monthly publication of a South Dakota State college printing department club.

It is refreshing to find a student-opinion so keenly observant. The author, Merle Lofgren, writes:

"Publishing rural newspapers is a special job because it requires a knowledge of both printing and journalism. To get a paper printed and into the mail, a publisher must be a backshop country printer. Any publisher who stays in the weekly field for long must meet that qualification.

"It is not enough in these times for a publisher of a country weekly to be just a printer. People have become too well educated to stand for barrages of misspelling and poor grammar.

"Learning journalism is not too much to ask of any student. Writing is not, as the old school would insist, a knack with which we are born or must go without."

Advisory Committe Picks Six Winners

Commenting on the contest, Director Ray Abel remarked that the simplicity of design, pleasing color combinations, and a balance were the important factors of the winning letterheads.

It has been said that designing of letterheads is one of the most difficult problems for the printer, and since letterheads often make the first contact with the public they reflect directly upon the firms which they represent.

Following is a list of the contest rules for this school:

1. Be a student of the Southwest School of Printing.
2. Design and set a two color letterhead and envelope corner using the following copy.

Serving the Southwest"

...plus the list of school officers and directors which is posted on the ...shop bulletin board.

3. Any type, rules and border available in the school shop may be used.

4. Three proofs of the completed letterhead and envelope corner, pulled in color, must be submitted. The student's name shall be on one copy only.

5. Letterheads will be judged by the members of the Technical Advisory Committee, which is made up of three members of the Dallas Craftsmans Club.

The editors of the "Printing Equipment Engineer" magazine are participating in this contest to encourage excellence in work among the students in this school and in a limited number of other technical schools.

Members of the Technical Advisory Committee judging the contest were: E. L. Borak, Johnston Printing Company; T. L. Masters, Southwest Printing Company; and B. P. Ridgway, Haughton Bros., all of Dallas. Winners were selected by the committee at their regular monthly meeting with the school faculty on the evening of June 6.

In a letter to Director Abel, dated August 30, 1949, McMcD. Sinclair, Editor of the "Printing Equipment Engineer" wrote:

"To encourage excellence in work among students in a limited number of printing technical schools, PRINTING EQUIPMENT ENGINEER wishes to present gratis, . . subscription to one student in each of the selected schools. Your school has been selected for this purpose."

Interest in the contest was reflected by the number of entries and students expressed satisfaction in the knowledge that the Graphic Arts Industry is interested in their future welfare.

SPORTS PARADE

By Fayne

"If you can't take part in a sport, be one anyway"

Well here it is July piece again with major league baseball almost at the halfway mark. To this date, first place in both leagues is nip-and-tuck, with four teams in each circuit fighting it out for first place. The main worry, for most of the managers, is their pitching department as most of the minstays and veteran hurlers are either on the injured list or hot and cold when they take their turn on the hill. In the hitting department it's a different story, all the big name batters and a few rookies are going around with nice big batting averages, and the long ball hitters are out to set some new home run records.

Up to this date in both leagues, they are well ahead of previous records for home runs. In the National League, so far this year, they have hit 274 circuit blows in 162 games. At this rate of production, the senior circuit would blast over 1,000 four masters compared to the record set in 1949, when they established a new major league mark with 956 homers.

In the junior circuit the home run output has been almost as outstanding, with 255 round-trippers in 167 contests. At this pace they should average 941 over the fence wallops for a new league record.

In all major league cities the cry has been that the games are gooing too slow. To remedy this some clubs have moved their ball pen in along either the first or third base side lines. This eliminated the dark lag mile that the relief pitchers took from their out post in the out field. In Detroit, Hank Zwilenberg went one better and installed a Willis keepsier to carry the relief hurler to the mound.

In Philadelphia, the Phillies have announced that their new battle song "The Fighting Phils," has been waxed for national distribution by the Phillies' Quartette consisting of Dick Sisler, Puddenhead Jones, Richie Ashburn and Gran Hamner. They are accompanied by Elliot Lawrence, one of the youngest band leaders, and also the author of the song.

To my friend "Pasmquallk"

In an open letter to this column last month one Maurice (Pasquall) Graham asked me about the horse that had a fever in his foot and scratched from the Kain-tucky Darby" last May. Well Pasquallk, after going through all my red, blue, and eleven other color handicap sheets and talking to my bookie, I found out that this horse in question was given a hot foot, but on the wrong end. On the other question about him running on a muddy track, would this cool off his hot foot? Well after inquiring around, I found out that mud is no good for the feet, it is used mostly in beauty parlors for the complexion, and people that need a new face every morning.

To verify these facts I put in a long distance phone call to an old friend of mine who spent some time in the cavalry while in the army, one Sir Virgil Hurford, formerly of S. S. P., now doctor of linotypes in Abilene, Verge said a hot foot on a horse is the same as a hot box on a freight car they just won't move. And that you'feed them in the front and stay away from the rear, back.

So you see Maurice when you put two bucks on his nose, you know its not going any where on Hot foot.

Horseingly yours.
The ex-sports writer.

P. S.

This is really the end for me, from here on my days are numbered. I'd like to use these last couple of pics to let all the guys I lived and worked with here at S. S. P., know that I've enjoyed their friendship and hope I run into them again real soon.

Long John"

Ark. Paper Sold . . .

One of the oldest established newspapers in Arkansas— the Nashville News, which began it's 72nd year of publication in January —has changed hands. The new publisher is Louis Grave of Texarkana.

The Nashville News, for many years the only semi-weekly newspaper published in Arkansas, was the first paper in the weekly class in Arkansas to qualify for membership in the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

The former owners—Henry Ware and the late C. E. Ferguson, brothers, learned the newspaper business as printer's devils back in 1904, serving their apprenticeships in the days when apprentices served the full four years free for the privilege of learning the trade.

Former Student Does Many Jobs on Weekly

A long letter has been received from a former student, Gene Daman. He is now in Harlingen, Texas, working with La Turno's Printing Co., getting a little bit of floorwork with his operating. The mailing address is 109 E. Madison in Harlingen.

He mentioned that it might be well to give the boys some of the highlights of what to expect on a weekly—just in case some are ready to venture out into the world as a combination man, although not might change that name to Jack of all trades.

Daman wrote that at Robstown he was doing everything from being a copy boy to relief operating. He said he started on the floor, but a bout doing the bindery work went back to school and Daman fell into the job, too. The first part of the work he would do the bindery work, then when the paper began to take shape he would be on the floor getting heads, ids, making galley corrections, running the press and the folder, and what have you. He did some operating during the noon hour and some times a couple of hours at night. Then after the paper was out, he added, revert back to bindery—doing thing week in and week out. Was getting more bindery time than anything else—doing all stick cutting—making up books, etc. But as for operating—he wasn't getting enough to keep him tired up. The operator could kick out one and a half galleys average an hour, and better if he got in a hurry—so there was little choice for me."

Daman said that one week the operator was off sick and he had to take over. That week they had a lot of legal copy, about a half page or better (six point). To make a long story short he wrote "the paper got out—even if we did meet ourselves coming to work the next morning."

During the course of his continued, you run in to lots of incidents—take for example I ran across a name setting copy that read, Professor Loud—and had etc.—It sure is surprising to drop down a row and hit the P instead of the L.

Daman said that he is now working for his wife's dad, who owns the shop. He would like to speed on the machine work but not as much as accuracy. He soon found out the reason a fast way was needed was because 99 per cent of the jobs were proofed on the proof press.

He seems well pleased with the set-up and added that although the first week was tough he is getting into the swing of things and it doesn't bother him any more. He remarked that he was getting up a job for the city on all forms and that "Those twin forms are amoosin' as well as confusin'—been using my pipe as guide—get fogged up good and I find it in the middle of my mouth—then got to stop and figure out if I left the space at the right place."

Willises Win In Stork Race

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Willis Jr. are the proud parents of a baby girl, Charlotte Ann, who was born at Sulphur, Okla., on the 15th of May and weighed 6 lbs., 5ozs., at birth.

"Ole man stork" must have heard their wish, because for once he give them just what they wanted.

Charlotte Ann is the second child of the Willises. They have one son, Richard, who was born on November 7, 1947.

After spending several amusing days in Oklahoma Lon brought his family back to good "ole" Texas.

Lon said he was happy to be at work again.

The sun came up on the morning of June 6, 1950, with a new face to shine on. The Dan Harrises announced that at six o'clock June 15, 1950, a new edition was added to their family; a son. The infant at birth weighed 8 pounds and 11 ounces and this may be the reason that Dan has been referring to it as a "Bouncing Baby Boy."

The baby was born at Dallas Community Hospital, 5100 Ross Ave. The mother is doing nicely and expects to be up and around in a few days.

The faculty and student body join in saying congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harris and son.

The J. C. Nalls are honored with a grand-new boy. Robert De Witt, as he will be known, arrived at 9:20 p. m. on June 27 at the Florence Nightingale Hospital. He weighed in at 6 lbs., 15 ozs.

The Nalls have one other child, Glenda, three years old.

Mrs. Nall is expected to return home with the baby on July 1st.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Nall.

Graham's Log Book Reveals Hardships

Landesbahn!! Twelve long, weary, homesick months. And the Hell of it is, How Much Longer?"

November 2, 1944. November at hand and where am I? Same old place and same old stand. Time seems to have lost some of its elements. In fact time is no more for me. I have about even quit waiting. Wait—wait—forever and days. I have waited and waited for this war to be over. So, as I said before: Time is no more. It's just get enough sleep and food to be able to get up early and work, with a capital W . . . and let me go on record as saying, there are some organizations doing a lot of misrepresenting Prisoner of War conditions."

Graham added that he had felt like writing a lot, but when he thought what he should and should not write in his book he seemed to cool off. He also wrote that he was blue and was sure he shouldn't be writing for fear of letting out a bit of his pent-up feelings. He concluded the entry with: "It could be worse, because in five minutes by the clock, I could think of 500 things I'm thankful for."

Sick And Wounded Crowded Into Box Car

On March 15, 1945, Graham wrote that since his last entry he had gone many miles and escaped death or injury by inches several times. He had been transferred to prison camp Stalag II B, where he was placed in the hospital for stomach trouble. On February 18, every patient who could walk was forced to march through a blizzard in 20 to 30 degrees below zero temperature to a train and locked in box cars, with fifty to sixty sick and wounded men crowded into each car. There was no room to lie down. Each man had a partner, and one would stand as long as possible while his buddy sat on the floor. The men alternated standing and sitting. The guards would not unlock the car door at stops, even to allow emptying the one bucket used by all for a toilet. Many of the patients were suffering from diarrhea.

Russian planes strafing the train added horror to the almost unbearable discomforts of the crowded cars. The men in Graham's car managed to escape twice and lay on the ground beside the tracks until the raids were over. The escapes were made possible by a very small lad climbing through a window of the car and opening the door for the other men. Art wrote that a small bomb missed him by a scant 15 feet during one of the raids. When the train finally reached Hamburg the men heard air-raid sirens three or four times while locked in the car.

Landeshahn!! Twelve long, weary, homesick months. And the Hell of it is, How Much Longer?

"November 2, 1944. November at hand and where am I? Same old place and same old stand. Time seems to have lost some of its elements. In fact time is no more for me. I have about even quit waiting. Wait—wait—forever and days. I have waited and waited for this war to be over. So, as I said before: Time is no more. It's just get enough sleep and food to be able to get up early and work, with a capital W' . . . and let me go on record as saying, there are some organizations doing a lot of misrepresenting Prisoner of War conditions."

Graham added that he had felt like writing a lot, but when he thought what he should and should not write in his book he seemed to cool off. He also wrote that he was blue and was sure he shouldn't be writing for fear of letting out a bit of his pent-up feelings. He concluded the entry with: "It could be worse, because in five minutes by the clock, I could think of 500 things I'm thankful for."

Sick And Wounded Crowded Into Box Car

On March 15, 1945, Graham wrote that since his last entry he had gone many miles and escaped death or injury by inches several times. He had been transferred to prison camp Stalag II B, where he was placed in the hospital for stomach trouble. On February 18, every patient who could walk was forced to march through a blizzard in 20 to 30 degrees below zero temperature to a train and locked in box cars, with fifty to sixty sick and wounded men crowded into each car. There was no room to lie down. Each man had a partner, and one would stand as long as possible while his buddy sat on the floor. The men alternated standing and sitting. The guards would not unlock the car door at stops, even to allow emptying the one bucket used by all for a toilet. Many of the patients were suffering from diarrhea.

Russian planes strafing the train added horror to the almost unbearable discomforts of the crowded cars. The men in Graham's car managed to escape twice and lay on the ground beside the tracks until the raids were over. The escapes were made possible by a very small lad climbing through a window of the car and opening the door for the other men. Art wrote that a small bomb missed him by a scant 15 feet during one of the raids. When the train finally reached Hamburg the men heard air-raid sirens three or four times while locked in the car.

LITTLE CREEK.

Drew Reavis of Little Creek and Miss Gertrude Cornelius of Mill Creek, were quietly married at the home of the bride Sunday July 5th. The bride is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Cornelius and was very lovely in her simple wedding dress. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Reavis. Rev. Storms, pastor of the Baptist church of Utopia, performed the ceremony.

Quite a number of Little Creek folks attended the Old Settlers' reunion at Bandera. They were J. H. Reavis, Misses Viola and Otha Reavis, Ross Reavis, Miss Bertie Light, R. L. Duke and family, Houston Smart of Florence, who has been visiting relatives on Little Creek. As R. L. Duke was coming home his Ford ran away with him. He claims his brakes would not hold, but we think he got frightened at a bootlegger just after he passed the Tarpley Crossing.

Miss Grace Duke of Bandera, came over to spend a few days with R. L. Duke and family.

Miss Tina Duke of Utopia, Miss Lelia Benson and Earl Benson of Menard, and Rufus and Wesley Haby of Bandera, made a flying trip to Medina Lake Friday.

J. H. Reavis became considerably lumbered up as a result of the jig dancing at the Old Settlers reunion, in which he took a prominent part.

A delightful picnic and reunion was enjoyed on the river at Bandera Friday evening of the members of the family of Mrs. C. V. Hale of Menard. Here for the first time in a number of years she was reunited with her children with the exception of one son, Jim Hale of Kingsville, and one daughter, Mrs. Chas. Brown of San Antonio, who was present at the Old Settlers' reunion but was unable to attend the picnic. Those present were Mrs. C. V. Hale, Mrs. Leslie Benson and family, Duff Hale and family, Bradley Hale and family, all of Menard; Dolph Hale and family of Beaumont, R. L. Duke and family of Utopia, Mr. and Mrs. Oneo Loyd of Vanderpool, Mrs. Martha Haby and sons, Rufus and Wesley, Bernard Duke, Misses Pearl and Grace Duke, and Mrs. Bruce L. Hay and little son, Clifton, of Bandera.

Among those who attended the Old Settlers' reunion from near Little Creek were Marshall Smart and family, Mark Boltinghouse and family, Willis O'Bryant, Ira Gazaway and family, Henry Gazaway and family, and J. L. Porter and son, Carl.

Percy Davis has enlisted in the U. S. Marines, and left this week for Parris Island, South Carolina, to enter the service.

Mrs. Fred Cox Dead.

We regret to learn of the death of Mrs. Fred Cox, which occurred at Kerrville on Tuesday of last week. She was a most excellent woman and was known to many of our people. The following notice of her death appeared in the Kerrville Mountain Sun last week:

"At the Scott Hospital in this city Tuesday evening occurred the death of Mrs. Fred Cox of Center Point, following a major operation. Fred Cox, her husband, is well known over the entire Hill Country, being a well driller by occupation. Mrs. Cox has been in failing health for some time and the operation was resorted to after specialists had stated that it was the only chance to save her life. Deceased was about 50 years of age, and leaves besides her husband, one daughter, Miss Annie Louise Cox. Funeral services will be held in Center Point at 5 o'clock this evening."

Brother Dies.

G. T. Coleman informed us that his brother, B. S. Coleman, died in Madison, Florida, June 19. Mr. Coleman often visited his brother here, and it is with sincere regret that we chronicle his death. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Dipping Saturday.

Dipping at the lake plate at the Tow-rate vat next Saturday, July 11. Inspector Jim Grasswick urges all to bring their stock on that date without fail.

Father Died.

H. J. Hermes, Sr. and his sister, Mrs. Will Baltz, returned Friday from Koerth, near Hallettsville, where they went three weeks ago to attend the bedside of their father, Henry Hermes, who had been ill for some time. Mr. Hermes died on July 1. He was 79 years old, and had lived in that section many years. The funeral was conducted on Thursday. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Entertains Namesakes.

Burgin Davenport went to San Antonio Tuesday to attend a big reception which Dr. H. S. C. Burgin had arranged for his namesakes, four in number, to take place there Tuesday and Wednesday. Dr. Burgin is pastor of the Laurel Heights Methodist church in that city. He has made great preparations to receive and royally entertain the boys who were named for him, and we're guessing they will all have a grand time.

Some of these subscriptions are paid for by home people, and unless renewed promptly we will be forced to the conclusion that renewal is not desired and will discontinue sending the paper.

Tea for Two—

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strife of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate, however, is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will wholeheartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

Have you seen the doll? If you haven't seen it be sure to go around to Billings' Drug Store and see this beautiful 810 baby doll that I am going to give away at the showing of the Universal picture, Oh, Doctor! next Friday night, July 10th. This doll can say "mama," goes to sleep and cries like a real baby, and it is just the size of a real baby too. Every one who sees the picture will receive a ticket and at the close of the show Friday night the duplicate of these will be shuffled and the winning ticket will be drawn by a blindfolded child. The show Oh, Doctor! is the very best of Universal products and something that will keep you chuckling for a week after you have seen it. Fred Cox, her husband, is well known over the entire Hill Country, being a well driller by occupation. Mrs. Cox has been in failing health for some time and the operation was resorted to after specialists had stated that it was the only chance to save her life. Deceased was about 50 years of age, and leaves besides her husband, one daughter, Miss Annie Louise Cox. Funeral services will be held in Center Point at 5 o'clock this evening."

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Every home is a rather trying and irritating ordeal—but every family knows such hours unless the instinction of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

Tea for Two—

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for tea we advocate most, however,—is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor

...ed as second-class matter at ...ostoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Now that the big reunion has passed into history, let's bend our energies towards making the County Fair, which is to be held August 13, 14 and 15, a great event also. The long stretch has cut short our crops, but we can still arrange an attractive exhibit of the products of Bandera county. The sheep and goat show will be a big feature, as well as the poultry and other live stock. And there will be athletic events galore. The fair is to be held at the same place where the reunion was held, at Mansfield Park. Suitable buildings will be erected, the grounds arranged for everything, and we can have a good fair this year despite the drouth.

Mrs. L. F. Meri, editor of the Dilley Herald, spent a few days here this week with her parents who is sojourning in Bandera for a few weeks. Mrs. Meri paid this office a fraternal visit Monday, which we very much appreciated. She is getting out one of the neatest and newsiest weekly papers in Southwest Texas, and we are always glad to see it turn up smilingly on our exchange table. Mr. and Mrs. Meri are delighted with Bandera, and we are sure they will boost our town to their friends elsewhere.

It is all but impossible for the New Era to mention everybody who came from other places to attend the big reunion. We could not secure the names of all of the visitors and if we secured them we could not have space to publish a list. We'll just let it suffice to say that everyone of them had a good time, and they will all be back next year.

Uncle Bill Haught was on hand at the big reunion, but owing to a touch of "rheumatiz" he did not enter the greased pig contest, and the contest was not held.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hay, July 9, a boy.

Mrs. R. J. Ridley, of Somerset, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Dave Cox.

Mr. and Mrs. Hayden Harris, of San Antonio, visited relatives and friends here last week and attended the big reunion.

Homer Mansfield, who holds a position on the Pete Hagens ranch near Junction, came home for the big reunion.

Miss Will E. Hunter came up from San Antonio to attend the big reunion and while here was the guest of the editor's family.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Mumaw and daughters, Misses Ruth and Lois, of Beasley, Texas, were here this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Frank Billings.

Mrs. D. M. Newcomer, of Pipe Creek, leaves this week for Carlsbad, New Mexico, on a visit to her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. C. Heard of that place.

Mrs. Allen Tillotson and Mr. and Mrs. Palmer, of San Antonio, were here Saturday, and were delighted with the Old Settlers' big event.

"There is a Reason"

The Old Settlers' Reunion.

To tell all about the reunion of old settlers, of Bandera county, held here July 3rd and 4th, would require more space than the New Era has in one issue, therefore we are going to touch only the high spots, and let the reader form his own conclusions of the great time he missed if he failed to be here on that occasion. It was a glorious occasion, not only from a patriotic standpoint, but from the standpoint of merriment and good feeling as well. The first day, Friday, was given over to a well arranged program, and about three thousand people were in attendance. But early on the morning of the Fourth of July the crowds began to pour in from everywhere and by noon fully seven thousand people had entered the gates at Mansfield Park. They came from every where. It was truly a homecoming event and a reunion of old friends. The crowd was so dense that it was with difficulty that old friends were brought together in some instances. Everybody was in a good humor and bent on having a good time. The best of order prevailed, no assemblers kept peace to mar the enjoyment of the glorious occasion. A little bootleg booze managed to leak in, and only one or two individuals were intoxicated.

Throughout the two days there was something doing every minute of the time, roping and riding, bronco busting, racing, speaking, dancing, kept the crowd entertained. A large platform had been erected for the old folks and one for the young folks, and they were used too. Comfortable rustic seats had been provided, placed in the most inviting places throughout the park, for the convenience of the people.

The officers of the Bandera County Old Settlers Association, President J. E. Browning, Vice President, Gus Renarz, and Secretary-Treasurer Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, were untiring in their efforts to see that every old settler who came was comfortably situated and made to enjoy the occasion. W. E. Mansfield, owner of the Mansfield Park, who had charge of all the sports and amusements, and arranged the barbecue, was about the busiest man on the grounds, hopping about here and there to see that everything was carried out as per advertised program.

There were many happy meetings of old friends who had not greeted each other in years. It was no uncommon sight to hear, "Howdy, John. How's the folks? It's been ten years since I saw you. Glad to see you looking so well," or "I met Bill around there awhile ago. He's been thirty-five years since I saw him. He looks natural, too." Old settlers of Bandera county, who now live in distant parts, were there in great numbers. We cannot begin to mention all of them for our space is too limited. That they came and enjoyed the hospitality of Bandera and went away satisfied and delighted with the reception given them is indeed gratifying to those who had charge of the reunion.

At 10:30 Friday morning J. M. Hunter announced the day's program from the old folks' platform, and then introduced Veteran Amasa Clark, who made a very interesting talk, telling of his experiences in Bandera in the early days. Veteran Clark will be 100 years old on the 3rd day of next September. He is a Mexican War veteran, and came to Bandera in 1852, and has resided here ever since.

The feeding of the multitude was conveniently arranged by providing a "chute" through which each individual passed and was given a plate well laden with tenderest barbecue meats, bread, pickles and a cup of coffee, and he was passed out to go wherever he wanted to in a shady nook to enjoy the repast. In this way the thousands were served in very good order.

In the afternoon the fiddlers were several and dancing began on the Old Folks' platform, the old tunes were played and the old square dances, polkas, waltzes and jigs were enjoyed.

At five o'clock the first day the men's beauty contest was pulled off. The prize in this contest a jumbo stick of candy, two feet long and weighing seven pounds, was awarded to the best looking man in Bandera county. Four of our old time citizens were placed in nomination, John H. Ross, Andy Mansfield, Thomas Laxson, and Andy Jones. When the ballots were counted it was found that Uncle Andy Jones was the handsomest man in the county, and was entitled to the stripped candy.

The dancing and fun and frolic was kept up until late Friday night, Saturday morning everybody was tired and sleepy, but they were soon whirling again and much refreshed. The crowds began to pour in by nine o'clock, and when the speaking started at 10:30 the audience was great. Frank M. Buckley, the Indian captive, made a good talk from the Old Folks' platform, and was followed by George W. Saunders, president of the Old Time Trail Drivers' Association, and in turn Mrs. R. R. Russell made a plea for the erection of the Old Trail Drivers' monument which is to be erected in San Antonio. A drive is to be made for $100,000 for the erection of the monument, and every county in the state will be expected to participate in the movement, details of which will be announced later. Mrs. Russell is president of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Trail Drivers' Association, and she is very enthusiastic over the prospects of erecting this monument. Mrs. Russell, during her girlhood days, resided in this county, near Medina. Before marriage she was Miss Mattie E. Strickland, and is remembered by many of the older citizens of the county. Following Mrs. Russell's address, Veteran Amasa Clark again took the platform and related his experience in the Mexican War, telling of his march with General Scott from Vera Cruz to Mexico City in 1847. The old veteran despite his extreme age, talked for nearly an hour without a break in the thread of his narrative, and greatly interested his hearers. Next came Senator Julius Real of Kerrville, who spoke for a half hour along patriotic lines. Senator Real was born and raised over in Kerr county and has been identified with the interests of this section for about sixty years. He is known to all the old timers, and all were glad to greet him here on July 4th.

Congressman Hudspeth had accepted an invitation to be here on July 4th, but a message came announcing that he was ill in Washington and could not attend. He is a Bandera county product, and has hundreds of friends who were disappointed because he could not be with us on this glorious occasion.

Again the multitude was fed, and after dinner preparations were made for the Old Fashioned Spelling Match. When all was all in readiness Judge A. L. Mansfield and Mrs. J. A. Head took their places on the platform to "choose up." About twenty old timers were selected to participate in the "spelling bee," and when the words were given out from the old Blue Back Speller, it was surprising how readily the old folks spelled them, pronouncing each syllable as the word is spelled. The first prize, a five-pound box of chocolate candy, was awarded to Mrs. F. A. Masters of Winan's Creek, who was substituted for Mrs. G. Hicks, and the second prize, a box of cigars, was awarded to Judge A. L. Mansfield.

Following the spelling match came the contest for the prettiest girl in Bandera county over 65 years old. When the ballots were counted it was found that Mrs. Mattie Jones of Bandera and Mrs. C. W. Harris of Medina had received a tie vote, so each of these handsome girls were given a box of chocolate candy.

The next contest took place at 8:30 p. m., being the Old Fiddlers' Contest, in which were entered the twin brothers, Joe and Ben Denton of near Kerrville, J. F. Short of Boerne, J. R. Adams of Medina, Bob Mayfield of Medina, Chas. Eckhart of Bandera, J. E. Browning of Medina, J. T. Walker of Lima, Tom Gray of Bandera, and Charlie Walker of Medina. Each contestant played two old tunes, and in the final decision Charlie Walker was declared to be the winner of the first prize, a handsome gold watch, and John R. Adams was winner of second prize, a nickel plated watch. Each of the other contestants received a cob pipe and a package of smoking tobacco. As there were no entries in the fiddlers' contest for ladies, this contest was called off, and a young men's fiddling contest was had instead, between Elmo Newcomer and Virgil Short, sons of Pipe Creek. Virgil won first prize and Elmo won second. Prizes were harmonicas.

After the fiddlers' contest the old folks resumed their dancing, which was kept up until a late hour. Prominent on the floor were many pioneer settlers, ranging in age from 45 to 75 years old. They swung corners and promenaded as nimbly as the young folks ever on the other platform, and we'll bet a dime to a ginger cake they enjoyed the dance more than the young people.

A rare sight was beheld on Saturday when Mrs. A. E. Mansfield appeared on the reunion grounds mounted on her horse, and using an old fashioned side saddle, in full riding habit, as used in the old days. It is a remarkable fact that many of the younger generation never saw a side-saddle or saw a lady ride in the old correct style.

Late Saturday afternoon the business meeting of the Old Settlers Association was held on the old folks' platform and all of the old officers were elected to serve during the next year.

Death of T. J. Brown

T. J. Brown of Williamburg one of Lavaca County's most highly respected and honored citizens died Tuesday morning at 11:10 o'clock aged 73 years, 8 months, and 1 day.

The funeral was held from his late residence Wednesday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, interment being made in the Moss Grove Cemetery. Rev. Ed. W. Griffith and Rev. J. B. McWhorter officiating. Song service was rendered by a selected choir. The floral offering was pretty, flowers being brought by friends out of respect of the memory of the deceased.

Pall bearers were—H. G. Timm, W. R. Barnes, Fay Autry, E. B. Brown, Henry Ogletree and Chas. Strode.

Mr. Brown was a native of Georgia being born at Leon Grove that state, at the age of nine years he came to Texas with his parents and has since resided in this county with the exception of three years he spent in McCulloch County. He was one of the many trail drivers in the early 70's from Texas to Kansas.

On January 15th he was married to Miss Sarah Ann Garner at Williamsburg who with the following children survive him—Mrs. R. O. Stewart and Mrs. Herman Baumgarten of Houston, Mrs. R. C. Hagan of Williamsburg and Mrs. R. M. Canon of Runge, Messrs. James Brown of Plainview, Robert Brown of Medina City, J. K. Brown of Houston and Highley Brown of Sheperdtown, La. One sister also survives, Mrs. Wm. Walton of Waco.

At the age of twenty two years Mr. Brown united with the Baptist Church joining at Rocky Creek church where later he was a deacon.

In the death of Mr. Brown his wife has lost a faithful and true companion, the children have lost a father whose love and counsel has been their guide in life, his neighbors have lost a true friend, his community his county and his state a most worthy and honored citizen. He was a man who lived for a purpose, thereby making the world better by his passing this way, he is gone but his blessed memory shall ever live after him.

May his soul rest in peace.

To those who are left to mourn his death we extend sympathy.—Hollingsville Herald.

Quite a number of subscriptions to the New Era, going to subscribers away from Bandera, are expiring at this time, and we hope all will be renewed at once. Some of these subscriptions are paid for by some people, and unless renewed promptly, we will be forced to the conclusion that renewal is not desired and will discontinue sending the paper.

We have living monument to our success all over the country. You can't make a mistake on a dollar with the Heralds of Liberty, pays if you live, pays if you die.

If you want to have a good time, go over to Tarpley to the big barbecue next Tuesday.

Why Wait?

What a while said Slow, and since then most of us have been contented to wait. But waiting is expensive. While you wait someone else goes in and wins. Most of the young men and young ladies from 18 to 25 years of age, are just waiting. They realize that the business world needs them, but that to succeed they must have a business training, so they wait. Don't belong to that class. Don't wait to be somebody, write for literature. Draughon's Business College of San Antonio is the largest, most modern, best equipped Business Training School in the entire Southwest. Will you inquire about it today, or will you just wait?

Mr and Mrs. Oscar J. Fox and daughter, Miss Emma Fox, Mrs. F. E. Tucker and Miss Lida Cook, all of San Antonio, were here for an outing yesterday and spent a pleasant time on the river. Mr. Fox is a noted composer of music and is gaining national fame for his cowboy compositions and rediions.

Ford Wouldn't Swim.

Last Saturday night while returning home from Bandera Pass Clark drove his Ford into an arroya which had become swollen from a heavy shower of rain. Before he realized what he had gotten into his car was washed down stream and he had to scramble to the bank. The Ford refused to swim, but turned over a number of times and stayed on the bottom. After several hours work he managed to get the Ford out, only slightly damaged by its soaking and a bent fender or two. He had a narrow escape.

Family Reunion.

A jolly family reunion and picnic was held at the Geo. Fee place on Wiman's Creek last Thursday, when the children of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hay met and spent the day together. Those present on the happy occasion were Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hay, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Skinner and children of Port Arthur, Mrs. W. W. Hogan and children of Nevada, Mrs. J. S. Ferguson and children of Cotulla, and Mr. and Mrs. Meade Hay and children, Misses Jessie, Ruby and Hazel Hay, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack McNaughton and children.

W. H. Ayres and family attended the encampment at Alto Frio last week.

Child Has Narrow Escape.

Last Friday afternoon Leo Mansfield stopped his Ford car in front of his home and ran into the house for a moment, leaving his little son, Normany in the car. In some manner the car started backwards down hill and before Normany could stopped it ran into a tree and was overturned, pinning the little child underneath. Help was summoned and soon extricated the little fellow from a dangerous position. He sustained painful injuries about the head, one gash requiring several stitches to close it. He is all right now, but he had a very narrow escape from death.

Davenport & Co. Fails.

The first business failure in the community in several years occurred last Friday, when the sore of W. J. Davenport & Co. closed its doors. We have not learned the amount of the liabilities, but understand the firm's indebtedness amounted to only a few hundred dollars. This is the oldest mercantile establishment in Bandera, the business having been founded in 1873. It is a matter of sincere regret to all of the people, but we are sure that everything will be satisfactorily adjusted in a very short time.

The new drive-in station being erected by W. E. Ruge on Main Street is nearing completion. It is built of concrete and is quite an attractive station.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts is a rather trying and terrifying ordeal, but every family knows that such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts "become sad Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending only a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights"

The First State Bank of Bandera

P. T. A. Meeting.

The Parent-Teachers' Association met at the home of Mrs. J. H. Bruce last Friday. An interesting business session was held, after which refreshments of cake and lemonade were served by Mrs. Bruce and her daughter, Miss Minnie Bruce. A good attendance is reported, quite a number of visitors being present.

The Mad Whirl.

The show to be put on in Bandera next Friday again brings to you the best in pictures that have been produced within the last few months. It depicts the modern world and pace that is being set by the younger generation. There is nothing slow about this picture and you will find it to the reckless abandon that young people of today are getting by with. You have often heard of the happy, wild and reckless age that has developed the present generation. Well if you will come to the Bandera Theatre next Friday night you will see almost in person the thing that you have heard of and always wanted to see. The picture is a Universal-Jewel and that is the trade-mark of the best. This is better than Oh, Doctor! To advertise this picture properly I am going to give away the winning ticket to a fifty pound sack of Hearts Delight flour. All you have to do is come to the show, see a picture that will be the biggest wallop of the year, and if you have the lucky ticket you will get to carry the flour home. Don't forget the date, Friday night, July 17, 1925. See the Mad Whirl, starring the prettiest girl in filmdom, May McAvoy.

WARREN HUNTER.

J. H. Bruce is remodeling the front of his store, the old Linton Building. He is extending the main store room to the line of the sidewalk, and has removed the porch and side rooms which for many years were attached to the main building.

Tea for Two

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however, is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The Bandera County Fair will be held at Mansfield Park August 13, 14 and 15. Because we have felt the effects of the drouth to a great degree some people may think we will not have a fair this year. This thought should be dispelled at once. We are going to have a county fair, and it will be a good one, a revelation to the pessimist and a joy to the optimist. Every citizen should work for the fair. It is a good thing for any county. Previous fairs here have revealed many things to our own home people, outstanding of which is the wool and mohair industry, live stock, farm products and poultry. Just write and tell all of your friends to come to the County Fair August 13, 14 and 15.

Frontier Times for August will be issued from the press this week. As usual it will be full of interesting and thrilling frontier stories, just the kind you are looking for. If you have not yet subscribed for Frontier Times you are missing a good thing each month.

A movement is under way to construct some gravel walks at the school building. It is desired to do this work with voluntary labor and cash donations. If you will assist please give your donation to any member of school board or be on hand at the school house Monday or Friday, July 23 and 24. Laborers and teams are needed.

John Weiss Hall was a noted desperado in Texas nearly fifty years ago. Beginning in its September issue Frontier Times will publish serially the life history of this noted character, as written by himself. It tells in detail of the many men killed by Hardin, and is published, not as an incentive to the younger generation to follow its example, but as a warning to them that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

Good rains have fallen over portions of Bandera county during the past week, which will be of benefit to the range and to late feed crops. Good rains have also fallen in Kerr and Gillespie counties, where the drouth was becoming serious.

The report of the First State Bank of Bandera is republished this week because of the fact that a number of typographical errors appeared in the statement last week, especially in the first line of resources, which gave the loans and discounts as $102,616.17, when it should have been $182,616.17. Typographical errors are simply unavoidable, and they seem to creep into the very items that are required to be absolutely correct.

Be Kind to the Visitors.

It pays to be kind to visitors to our beautiful hill country. The treatment such visitors receive here makes a good impression, and gives our town a good name. The following letter was received by Gano Wauden S. O. Durst this week:

Hillsboro, Texas, July 9, '25.
Mr. S. O. Durst,
Bandera, Texas.

Dear Mr. Durst:—After spending ten days in your county and enjoying to the utmost the hospitality of your good people, we feel like we want to thank you for the many courtesies shown us. We believe you have the most wonderful country and people in the world and have already begun making our plans for another visit. Through you we extend our thanks to the good people of your county, and to those all along the trail, and trust that we may be permitted to see you all again. Again thanking you, and wishing you all the success and good health that is your due, we remain;

Very truly yours,
MR. AND MRS. J. ROBT. FLETCHER.

OBITUARY.

The death angel appeared Wednesday July 1, 1925, about 1 o'clock, and took another pioneer citizen to his heavenly home, but not unexpected, as Mr. Hermes had been in failing health for more than four years. He took his suffering patiently and seemed ready to die. All that loving friends and relatives could do was not enough for it seemed that his work on earth was finished, and it was a great work.

Henry Hermes, Sr., was born in Prussia, Germany, October 7, 1845, and came to Texas with his parents at the age of 14 years, settling near Koerth, Texas, where he spent the many long years of his life. He was a devout member of the Catholic church, and raised a family of ten children. He was married by Father Forest on May 10, 1870, to Miss Christine Hoffer, who is still living to mourn the death of a good loving husband. Besides his wife and ten children he leaves 39 grandchildren and 24 great grandchildren. The children are John Henry, Mrs. Christene Frazer, Julius, William, Mrs. Sarah Batto, Sr. M. Monica, Mrs. Annie Brown, Leo, Mrs. Sophia Gerdes, and Emil.

Mr. Hermes was laid to rest Thursday Morning, July 2, at 9 o'clock, Rev. Father Kuratka officiating with a high requiem mass, with Father Mathis as assistant. The pall bearers were Johnny, Joseph, Leo and August Frazer, John Pavalska and John Machicek.

Think how remarkable this is for a father to raise a large family of ten children, all living, and he and his loving companion living all these fifty-five years of married life in peace and happiness until death came and took the father first. As the saying goes, "the young may die, but the old must die." We have the sweetest consolation left that he has gone first to lead the way and we can all meet in that Great Beyond, where partings are no more.

The following from a distance attended the funeral of Mr. Hermes: Wm. Hermes and family, Henry Hermes, Jr., Mrs. Sarah Batto, Bandera; Mrs. G. W. Brown, Huffsmith; Sister M. Monica, Nazareth Academy, Victoria.

A FRIEND.

From J. A. Anglin.

Iowa Park, Texas, July 7, 1925.

I deeply appreciate the kind invitation to be a guest at the Old Settlers Reunion July 4, and equally regret that I was unable to be among the old settlers again and while thinking of the many familiar faces of so many long gone, I recall that the majority of them have taken their stand on the Mountain of Remembrance, many years have passed since I mingled with first settlers around Bandera, yet my heart is ever with them. I cherish the recollections of the good old days and recall events in Bandera that I regard the most beautiful in Memory's Hall. In the year of 1852 when my father, Aaron Anglin, and Old Thompson settled in Bandera county, five miles west of Utopia, bought land together, located together, faced the hardships of the frontier together, and both died in their old homes and were buried in the Waresville cemetery, which Captain William Ware selected for his resting place, his being the first grave made there, on the 22nd day of June, 1854.

I was the second male child born in that settlement and one of the first in he county. I spent my first fifty years in Bandera county and resided on the old Anglin homestead during the entire time. I endured the hardships and disadvantages of the frontier life, and helped bury many of the dead who were murdered by the Indians. My first memory was the burial of Old Berry Buccalew, who was killed on the road from Bandera to J. B. Davenport's ranch on the Sabinal, known as Cedar Brake Ranch. Another one of the early ones was a Mexican sheep herder of Will Thompson's, killed three or four miles from Old Thompson's ranch. I also recall the capture of Ell Read, three miles above my father's ranch. After capturing him the Indians took him up on a mountain near by, stripped off all his clothes, pointed their guns up the mountain and motioned for him to run. He made a flying leap down the mountain and continued to jump, roll and bounce until he reached the foot of the mountain. The first place he reached was my father's ranch. (He had not taken time to look back). A negro was plowing in the field, and went to the house and secured some clothes for him. Frank Buckelew was captured on the J. B. Davenport ranch. He was also carried up on the mountain in sight of the ranch about one-half mile west of the ranch house, and they made him take his hat and wave to the ranch hands to come after him. He was carried to the Indian encampment across the Rio Grande in Mexico. Later a number of settlers made up a ransom and bought him back. Practically all of the settlers in our neighborhood gave a cow or two to make up the ransom. According to my knowledge, Frank Buckelew still lives in Bandera county.

With great pleasure I recall the strenuous duties connected with citizenship in building up this great commonwealth. I served about twenty years as a faithful jury man during the early days. Well do I remember the killing of J. A. J. Smith, one of the outstanding trials during the early day. Smith was killed by Jack Kelley, who was arrested and the preliminary hearing was held in Uvalde. A great dispute arose concerning the county line, as the line had not been laid off. After the line had been established it threw the murder in Bandera. According to the law at that time the trial was not legal, so Kelley was again arrested and tried in Bandera county. Sheriff Buck Hamilton and Deputy Louis Strickland deputized me and Bob Thompson to help make the arrest. The four of us concealed ourselves about the Kelley ranch, the old J. A. J. Smith ranch. We succeeded in making the arrest about daylight one morning and carried the prisoner to court at Bandera. Bandera had no jail at that time so the sheriff (according to law then) had to select one man as a guard and the prisoner had the privilege of selecting one to guard. Kelley selected me, and the sheriff selected Louis Strickland as the other guard. I was also on the grand jury at one time.

My duties were both night and. Some of the faithful jurymen were R. H. and H. G. Thompson, H. H. Carmichael, B. F. Lang, Felix Newsom, [illegible] Strickland, O. M. McBride, Tom Baker, O. A. Tatwiley, O. P. Orrel, Buck Burdett, Marion York, Bill Patterson, Joe and Frank Hardy, Minnie Hudspeth (father of Congressman Hudspeth) Joe Hudspeth, Captain Street, and others. Many of these men lived fifty to seventy miles away.

I will write again soon.

J. A. ANGLIN.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Krause went over to San Marcos last week to visit their daughter, Miss Bessie Krause, who is attending school there. They report Miss Bessie and Misses Ida Pepper and Ferne Burris, two other Bandera girls, making good progress and delighted with their school work.

Quite a number of subscriptions to the New Era, going to subscribers away from Bandera, are expiring at this time, and we hope all will be renewed at once. Some of these subscriptions are paid for by home people, and unless renewed promptly we will be forced to the conclusion that renewal is not desired and will discontinue sending the paper.

C. H. Krause and son, Ellis, were in from Pipe Creek Monday. Mr. Krause reports a fine rain in his region last Sunday, and says he is going to work in real earnest to make a crop, despite the lateness of the season. He will plant June corn and feed stuff, and we are predicting that he will make it grow.

Married Yesterday.

Jodie Kindle and Miss Frances Mazurek were united in marriage yesterday morning at the Catholic church, Rev. P. J. Boivin officiating. An elaborate wedding feast was spread at the home of Victor Mazurek at noon, in honor of the newly married pair. These are worthy young people and the wedding, which has been expected for some time, is the culmination of a happy courtship which began in childhood. The bride is the daughter of P. H. Mazurek, and was born and raised in Bandera. For the past two years she has held a position in San Antonio.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Kindle of this city. He was born and raised here, too, and is an energetic, ambitious young man who will provide well for his chosen helpmeet. Both bride and groom have a large circle of friends who wish for them happiness and prosperity through life, and the New Era joins in all of the good wishes and hopes that those who sorrow not nor care will mar the unalloyed bliss of the happy state. They will reside in Bandera.

The County Fair.

It is desired to have as great a variety of agricultural products as possible on exhibition at the County Fair, to be held here August 13, 14, and 15, and every person who can bring in a display is urged to do so. It may be that you think your products will not show up well, but you may be delighted when you receive a prize for your display. The schools of the county are also urged to have exhibits. Let everybody work for the fair Get a copy of the late catalogue from M. R. Thalmann, the secretary, and see the list of premiums. In the ladies' department it is desired that every housewife send in exhibits of their handiwork. Any information in this department can be obtained from Mrs. Chas. Eckhart. Just tell your friends we are going to have a good County Fair despite the drouth, and if you will bring in your products it will help wonderfully.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts, is a other trying and irritating ordeal —, but every family knows such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

The First State Bank of Bandera

Found a Relic.

While Walter Evans and his children were on the river Tuesday, his son found an old cap and ball Colt's 44 pistol embedded in a crevice in the river bed, where it must have lain for many years. During the drouth that has existed the past several months the river's channel has narrowed leaving that part of the bed dry where the pistol was found. The pistol is in a good state of preservation considering the fact that it has been under water for no telling how long, and although it is corroded with rust it can be cleaned to a certain extent. The pistol is of the earliest type of Colt's manufacture, has a long barrell, with rammed and plunger, and bears the number 5565 on its brass mounting. It would be interesting to know the history of the old gun, and how it came to be lost in the Medina river.

Gave Worthless Checks

J. E. Chsum returned from San Antonio Friday where he was carried to appear against T. C. Quick, of Houston, who gave Mr. Chisum two checks, one for $50, and the other for $48.39, which a San Antonio bank refused to cash for the reason—that maker had no funds in the bank. Mr. Quick recently arranged for the purchase of the Pete J. Pyka tract of land below Bandera and advertised that he would make a resort there, offering lots for sale.

Tea for Two

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relief from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however, is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will wholeheartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

'I'll Show You the Town.'

Winning ticket gets a fine ham! Try it! I'll Show You the Town! Did you ever hear that phrase? Did you ever have the experience of being shown over a big town? Being shown over a strange town by some one who knows it is one of the joys of life. Mrs. Lewis Woodley Crist and children, of Pipe Creek and uncle Tom Stevens, of Bandera, were fun in it too. How should you like to be taken up in an aeroplane and shown a town that stretched for miles in each direction? Mrs. and Mrs. Vic Stevens a few days ago did just that very thing. Uncle Andy Jones and son have also done it several times. How would you like to be shown around Center Point by Mrs. Len Rayfield, of Bandera, taken to all those wonderful places that you have seen from parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lue Stevens and could enjoy the sights in the air and could enjoy the sights on the ground? Mrs. Lewis Jones and children had things that they often ten minutes ago had seen from all sides? Mrs. Lewis Jones and children had things that they often ten minutes ago had seen from all sides? The Bandera New Era

...red as second-class matter at ...postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Today Tarpley is holding a big barbecue and stock show, the proceeds of which are to be used on the Bandera-Utopia road. Some fine sheep and goats are on exhibition and judging will be done by A. & M. men. Tarpley always entertains her visitors in royal style, and the big crowd there today will come away singing the praises of the happy little hamlet of the Hondo.

There will be plenty of amusements provided at the County Fair, to be held at Mansfield Park August 13, 14 and 15. The steer riding, bronco busting, goat roping and calf roping will keep the spectators interested. Some expert riders and ropers will be on hand to participate in these events, and there will be something doing on each of the three days of the fair.

W. E. Mansfield is building sheds to house the livestock at the County Fair which is to be held at Mansfield Park August 13, 14 and 15. He will shortly begin construction of an exhibit hall there, and permanent stands for concessions will soon be erected. Mr. Mansfield has an ideal park location and he plans to beautify it and conveniently arrange everything to handle the large crowds who will attend the various shows to be held there in the future.

A county that can pass through a protracted drouth as well as old Bandera county is passing through the present extended dry spell, is bound to be a good county. It is true that we are raising less than a half crop of everything this year, but our county is standing up mighty well despite the fact that the rainfall since last September has not amounted to more than six inches, and taken all over the county will not average that much. These drouths are likely to hit any section of the United States, and are very discouraging sometimes. Bandera county has passed through several dry seasons, but old timers say this year has been about the worst in their recollection. Still we are not as hard hit as some other regions, and we believe we will go into the winter in pretty good shape. The causes that have brought about the drouth over a great portion of the United States will soon pass, according to weather men, and we will get plenty of rain after awhile.

"When my time is up, please send me a bill and I will send you a check for my subscription to the New Era." We often receive requests of this kind. It is not necessary to send you a bill. You can see by the date on the margin of your paper opposite your name when your subscription expires. Watch it. If it reads July 15, '25, it shows that your subscription has expired and you should renew, because we see no other method of reminding you. Sometimes we send out bills when the subscriber lives at a distance, but we do not make it our regular custom.

"There is a Reason"

Notorious John Wesley Hardin.

...For a genuine cold-blooded recital of murders he committed during the early days, we have never read anything to equal the narrative of John Wesley Hardin, desperado, two-gun man, convict and lawyer. The "Life of John Wesley Hardin," as written by himself, will appear serially in Frontier Times, beginning with the September number. Hardin was a remarkable man, and if his talents would have been used in the right direction he would have been a power for good in his state, but he took the opposite course and led a checkered career of murder, killing, according to his own version, more than twenty-five men before he finally landed in the state penitentiary, where he served a greater portion of a twenty-five year sentence. After his release from the penitentiary he went to El Paso, where some time later he was killed by John Selman, another noted gunman. Hardin, in his narrative, tells of many thrilling fights he engaged in with gunmen equally as desperate as himself. His hands were dyed with human blood, he seemed possessed with a desire to kill, and he killed white men, Mexicans, negroes and Indians. In those days when he killed a man he had no difficulty in finding refuge in various places, and often when he was apprehended he would contrive to escape, and turn up somewhere else with another notch carved on his gun. Today a man of his ilk would not get far before the strong arm of the law would lay hold upon him with an iron grip. Be sure to read the opening installment of this blood-thirsty man's story in the September number of Frontier Times.

The "monkey trial" which is going on in Dayton, Tenn., has attracted world-wide attention. It is truly an array of infidelity and agnosticism against Christian religion, and a great effort to break down the Christian belief. It will be a sad day for our country when the theory of evolution takes precedence over the teachings of the Holy Bible. There is one outstanding feature of the trial at Dayton—they will never "make a monkey" out of William Jennings Bryan.

You may have an ear of corn, or a big potato, a jar of pickles, or some tomatoes, peaches, plums, pears, some onions, or perhaps you have something of home manufacture that possibly you do not think would be worthy of displaying at the County Fair. But bring it anyway, whatever you have. If everybody will do so there will have an exhibit at the fair which will certainly be encouraging and a revelation to home people as well as visitors from the outside.

Why Wait?

"Wait a while," said Slow, and since then most of us have been contented to wait. But waiting is expensive. While you wait someone else goes in and wins. Most of the young men and young ladies, from 16 to 25 years of age, are just waiting. They realize that the business world needs them, but that to succeed they must have a business training, so they wait. Don't belong to that class. Don't wait until tomorrow to write for literature. Draughon's Business College of San Antonio is the largest, most modern, best equipped Business Training School in the entire Southwest. Will you inquire about it today, or will you just wait?

CITATION BY PUBLICATION.

HENRY STEINLE, ET AL.
vs.
UNKNOWN HEIRS OF D. C. TYNAN, ET AL.
No. 998.

In the District Court, 38th Judicial District, Bandera County, Texas.

To the Sheriff or any constable of Bandera County, Greeting:

You are Hereby Commanded, that by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Bandera, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof you summon the unknown heirs of D. C. Tynan, the unknown heirs of Dennis C. Tynan, the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, a corporation, the unknown stockholders of the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, and the unknown heirs of Peter Gallagher, all of whose residence are unknown to plaintiff, to be and appear at the next regular term of the District Court of the 38th Judicial District, held in and for Bandera, County, to be holden at the Court House thereof in the City of Bandera, on the Sixteenth Monday after the first Monday in August, 1925, the same being the 23rd day of November, A. D. 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 11th day of July, A. D. 1925, and in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 998, wherein Henry Steinle, Frank Steinle and August Steinle are plaintiffs, and the unknown heirs of D. C. Tynan, the unknown heirs of Dennis C. Tynan, the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, a corporation, the unknown stockholders of the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, and the unknown heirs of Peter Gallagher are defendants, the nature of plaintiffs demand being substantially as follows:

A suit in trespass to try title and for costs of suit, plaintiffs alleging that they are the owners in fee simple of the following described lands located in Bandera County, Texas:

Survey No. 281, Patent No. 1090 in Bandera County, Texas, consisting of 320 acres of land, more or less, being the land patented to the heirs of D. C. Tynan, Assignee of Jose A. Martinez, by patent dated July 31, 1855, recorded in Vol. A-3, Page 221, of the Deed Records of Bandera County, Texas, said land being particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the Northeast Bank of the Medina River at the Southern corner of Survey 293, from which a cypress 42 inches in diameter, bears South 44 West, 29 varas; a Cypress 14 inches in diameter bears North 14 West 17 varas; a Cypress 15 inches in diameter bears South 72 West 9½ varas; Thence North 60 degrees East 2740 varas to a stake and mound; Thence North 30 degrees West 672 varas to a stake and mound; Thence South 60 degrees West 2636 varas to the place of beginning; said Survey No. 281 being bounded on the Southwest side by the Medina River.

Also Survey No. 25 of 640 acres of land, in Bandera County Texas, patented to the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, by Patent No. 432, dated January 7, 1884, Vol. H, Page 209 of the Bandera County Deed Retords, to which Patent, and the records thereof, reference is here made for a particular description.

Plaintiffs further allege that they are in possession and entitled to the possession of the above described lands, and own same not only by record title obtained from the Sovereignty of the Soil, but in addition own same by virtue of a title of limitation of three, five and ten years, and the plaintiffs have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described lands under title, or color of title, for more than ten years preceding the filing of this suit, and in addition have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described land, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, and paying the taxes thereon, and claiming same under titles duly recorded, for more than ten years prior to the filing of this suit;

Plaintiffs further allege that the defendants have no interest, right or title in or to the above described property, or any portion thereof, but by reason of certain instruments which many years ago have been recorded in the County Clerk's Office of Bandera County, certain claims apparently are being made and outstanding in the defendants, which constitute a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs, and constitute an interference with the free and uninterrupted possession, use and enjoyment of the premises by plaintiffs, and seriously injure and damage the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs pray that upon hearing of this cause that the plaintiffs recover of and from all of the defendants, the land herein above described, and that the plaintiffs' title to the lands hereinabove described be quited and be cleared of all rights and claims upon the part of the defendants, and plaintiffs pray for costs and such other relief, in law or in equity as they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court on the said 1st day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court at office in the City of Bandera, this the 16th day of July, A. D. 1925.

HO! FOR THE LIFE OF A COWBOY

(From a drawing by N. C. Wyeth in Scribner's Magazine.)

Ever eat beans ("Mexican strawberries") dished up from a chuck wagon? Ever sleep out with a saddle for a pillow? It's a great life—if you like it, say the cowboys.

Thousands of Americans, who want to see how real western cowmen live and play, are planning to attend the Chicago Roundup and World's Championship Rodeo beginning August 15. Everything from every part of the West will be on hand for this great western spectacle which will be held under the auspices of the Chicago Association of Commerce. For nine days Chicago's big Great Park Stadium will look like a scene from the "Covered Wagon days" as the scores of expert bronk riders, lariat throwers and steer wrestlers show their stuff while competing for thirteen prize money and world championship titles. Tex Austin, who has staged so many successful contests including the great International contest at Wembley, England, will direct the Chicago event.

NO TRESPASSING

No hunting, trapping, cutting of bee trees, or trespassing at all allowed on my land. I will pay a liberal reward for information that will lead to the conviction of any party or parties tearing down and going over my fences.—Hansen Baneh, H. C. Hansen, prop. Mar1-12pp

T. S. Dennis announces that for a short time the price of the book, "Life of F. M. Buckelew, the Indian Captive," will be reduced to $1.00 per copy. The regular price is $1.50. Get a copy now while the price is within your reach.

The New Era will appreciate your kindness if you will telephone us when you have visitors, or any item of news you may know. We want you to feel that the New Era is your home paper.

Orville Keese escaped serious injuries last Tuesday when a wagon ran over his body. Mr. Keese and several other gentlemen had been hauling water for the dipping vat. He had just unloaded and had started home for dinner when the horses slipped from the back of the wagon one striking him and knocking him out. The front wheel ran over his legs, back, and shoulders. Mr. Keese is almost all right, except pretty stiff from the fall.

Singing was enjoyed at Mr. and Mrs. X. N. Mayberry's Sunday night.

Miss Maggie Wilson is spending the week with her sister, Mrs. Ed Hinds, and family.

Those who dined at the home of Chris Wilson's home Sunday were, O. D. Keese and family, Ed Hinds, wife and baby, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Wilson and grandson, Penn Martin.

To Move Central Office.

Bernard Duke has purchased the cottage at the rear of Dr. J. O. Butler's home, formerly occupied by Mrs. Fryekberg, and will move it to a lot near the court house, and will establish therein the central office of the Bandera Independent Telephone System, and within a few months hopes to have one that will equal any exchange in this section of the country. New equipment will be installed and the service generally improved.

The County Fair.

Preparations for holding the County Fair on August 13, 14 and 15 are going steadily forward. W. E. Mansfield has erected a roomy stock barn for stock, an exhibit hall is being built, an attractive entrance and gateway to Mansfield Park has been put in place, and the park proper is being equipped with concession stands, rodeo grounds and roping pens. Now, let everybody co-operate in making this year's County Fair the best we have ever held. There will be some fine stock on exhibition, and the agricultural display is going to be a revelation to many of our own people who have the idea that because of the drouth no agricultural products will be raised. Write and tell all of your friends to come to the fair.

Takes Over Picture Show.

Ben Jureczki has taken over the Bandera Theater, which has been managed by Warren Hunter the past few months. Louis Jureczki will operate the machine and Miss Jureczki will be ticket seller, while Ben will manage the show. Mr. Jureczki has already booked some of the latest Universal productions, and will keep the show up to the high standard of excellence which it has maintained the past few months. He has reduced the price of admission to 25c and 10c, and will show each Monday and Friday night. We bespeak for him a liberal patronage.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'
Facing fact, is a ether trying and irritating word — but every family knows such hours unless, the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."
Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.
Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

Barbecue for Col. Mitchell.

A community barbecue was given in honor of Col. Mitchell of the Aviation Service last Saturday and Sunday by the Whitehead and Finney brothers, in a very pretty place on the Medina river in the Whitehead pasture.

Some of the guests arrived on Friday afternoon, but Colonel Mitchell and his party arrived on Saturday. All came in airplanes. Colonel Mitchell was in California the first part of the week on business. He was wired of the barbecue being given in his honor and rushing things he was able to return to San Antonio and be at the barbecue.

The occasion was well planned, consequently amusement was not left off the program. Bronco riding, goat roping, steer riding, etc., was given in the old Western style, and in order for things to be complete, airplane riding and the many stunts that daring aviators perform were also given. Some of the cowboys who rode the airplanes in the loop the loops whirls, seem to think airplane riding requires about as much art as riding a wild bronco.

Several goats and sheep were barbecued. Messrs. Neal Conlee and Creed Whitehead were largely responsible for the sweetness and palatability of the barbecue that only experienced hands seem to fully attain.

The guests, besides Colonel were; Major Heckem, Lieutenant Short, Dayton, McMullan, Clark, Ailsworth, and several other men of the air service of prominence.

The Barbecue at Tarpley.

About five hundred people attended the barbecue at Tarpley last Thursday, and everyone of those who were there had the finest kind of a time. The people of Tarpley always entertain their visitors in a royal manner, but on this occasion they seemed to exert themselves proper in their effort to entertain the big crowd, and it was pronounced the best barbecue held there. The purpose of the barbecue was to raise money to improve the Bandera-Utopia road on which considerable work has recently been done, but which needs further improvement. Baseball games, riding and roping contests, and other forms of entertainment were provided, which, coupled with the finest kind of a barbecue dinner, made the occasion a most delightful one. A live stock show was one of the features which interested the visitors. Some fine sheep and goats, regular blue ribbon winners, were shown by R. N. Padgett & Sons and others.

WINAN'S CREEK.

Miss Laura Crenshaw is spending the week with Miss Letha Clark.

Miss Viola Forest, of Medina, is visiting in the P. A. Masters home.

Karl Kutzer, who is attending Alamo Business College in San Antonio, spent the week-end with his parents.

Ses Clark and family are at home again after several months' sojourn in the lower country.

Miss Mildred Babb, of Tarpley, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. A. Kutzer, and other relatives and friends.

Mrs. George Fee and children are home from a week's visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Hay, at Riverside.

A large crowd enjoyed an ice cream social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bausch Monday night, the occasion being Miss Norma Bausch's thirteenth birthday.

Stockholders' Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Medina Rural Independent Telephone Co., will be held at the school house in Medina Saturday, August 1, at 2:30 p. m. Every stockholder is urged to be present, as business of importance will come before the meeting.

Tea for Two—
The "tea for two" phrase is a happy sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.
The "T" for two we advocate most, however, is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.
Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference, and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

Enjoyable Barbecue.

The barbecue given by Wesley Crist on the Medina river last Sunday was a very delightful affair. The feast was largely attended by Wesley Crist and Virgil McCarthy. At 12 o'clock a fine dinner was spread and at 3 o'clock ice cream was served to the following guests: Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Crist and baby, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crist, Mr. and Mrs. Claud McCarthy and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Reinhardt, Mr. and Mrs. J. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Pickens and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Heinen and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Edwards and little son, Mr. and Mrs. Gus Reinarz, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Heinen, Hazel Heinen, Ethel McCarthy, Inez Heinen, Nina Heinen, Lorine Crist, Willie Crist, Reese Heinen, Orville McCarthy and Glenn Heinen, all of Medina Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Stevefis, Mrs. Mattie Jones and Sammie Stevens of Bandera, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Peele and son and Charlie Coon of San Antonio.

Tarpley's New School Building.

Tarpley is building a new school house, and it's a dandy. The walls of the new structure are up, the roof ready to put on, and the hoop will be put on. The new temple of learning is of modern design, plenty of light and ventilation being provided, and when it is finished those in Tarpley people will certainly have a school house to be proud of. It will contain three rooms with library and cloak rooms, and a movable partition will enable two of the class rooms to be converted into a spacious auditorium.

A. P. Kehoe Dead.

Mr. A. P. Kehoe, editor of the Comfort News, died in the Base Hospital at Fort Sam Houston Tuesday after a critical illness of several weeks. Mr. Kehoe had been afflicted with a stomach trouble for several years, and recently his illness became alarming and he was taken to the hospital at Fort Sam Houston. He leaves a wife and one daughter.

It grieves us to chronicle the death of our sincere friend. He was a most lovable man, generous and kind, and loyal to his friends. We have known him intimately several years, and in his passing we feel that deep pang of sorrow which pierces keenly when a loved one leaves us, and we mourn the death of a good man.

Mr. Kehoe was born in Ireland nearly sixty years ago. He came to America while a youth, and for a number of years he engaged in mining operations in Arizona and California. He came to Bandera several years ago, and was happily married to Miss May Duffy, a Bandera girl. He was a highly educated and polished gentleman, and for a time held a position as professor of mathematics in St. Mary's College in San Antonio, resigning that position to become editor of the Comfort News, which publication he purchased in 1923. We shall miss his kindly greeting, but the memory of his genial disposition and loyal friendship will linger with us until we, too, shall go upon that journey from which no traveler returns. To the grief-stricken wife and daughter we extend condolence and sympathy.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Bunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

In the South of William Jennings Bryan, which occurred at Dayton, Tennessee last Sunday the country has lost the greatest man of modern times. For the past three years, Mr Bryan has talked, pro and con, religion, politics and religious life of the country and has stood in the champion of right most wrong and has been the friend of the masses against the classes. Mr Wm. has endured many and taken the leading part in defending of the Bible against the theory of evolution in the "Monkey" trial which has resulted in Dayton, only a few days ago. The whole country mourns in passing.

The Country Fair to be held at Mansfield Park on August 15 to 22 will attract numerous visitors to Bandera and will be one of the best fairs we have yet had. Couple the Grand

Letter from J. A. Joe Anglin.

One more resident come to my mind when I went to Bandera was at the store about 1886 kept by the sheriff Buck Hamilton. It took me and with the exception of the Mexican quarters in the extreme of the plaza and the notorious saggy robbers known as the Bong and Short men were regularly in the habit of large, that evening the deputies returned and brought in the Short man. The door to my room was partly open and while lying there quietly a pistol and sombrero and boot dropped in through the door by the shoulder and pointing with it to might was one hand evidently trying to reach the pistol. He was speaking with Buck Hamilton. Buck overpowered him and passed up the pistol. There was unable to get up and the outlaw and I had the room to ourselves. Both in the dark and a deputy in each of the two windows with a revolver pointing toward the outlaw. One of the windows was just above my head. Buck came in and proceeded to handcuff the outlaw. I had no more desire and the sheriff went over the country calling his posse for duty.

Another occasion, which came up in session, would cause the the ladies here to attend the meeting. The grand jury adjourned immediately and they never have reported some so far as I know. They left the judge and the market in the hand, and I do not have time to give details now.

I left Bandera county, where the cowl roosted, the red man gave his war whoop, as the coyote yells his forlorn distress. In 1904 I moved to Tom Green county, near San Angelo, and there have since moved to Iowa Park, located 10 miles west of Wichita Falls, in the center of 100,000 acres of fertile irrigated land on the Wichita Valley watered from Lake Kemp, the seventh largest artificial lake in America. The lake is 10 miles wide, 15 miles long, and the shrill whistle of the freight have taken place of the red man's warwhoop and the lonesome howl of the wild coyote. The smoke of the industries and the fast moving trucks laden with grain, cotton, fruits and vegetables are seen every day. Iowa Park has a population of 3000, is surrounded by oil fields and rich irrigated land. We are building a $20,000 addition to the Methodist church, and a new $50,000 Baptist church is under construction, a $35,000 paving project is under way, two cotton gins and a new grain elevator have recently been built. We have good churches, schools, civic organizations and a live chamber of commerce. One of my first impressions of Wichita Valley was told to me by one of Capt. Baker's rangers many years ago, and I have found that he was right. Great opportunities abound here for the many newcomers. As I am driving near the shady side of the hill of life a highway I need not fear the great pleasure and the pride in having played a part in one of the old settlers in opening the way for the development and progress of Bandera county. We who have endured many hardships for the dear old colonies have been richly rewarded for our efforts. Our efforts were not in vain for the younger people, and they remain a great country from it.

I have not been very successful financial manipulator yet I take pride in the fact of raising a family of eight children. My oldest son, Abram, is married and living in Dallas where he is preaching and going to school. He has an A. B. an M. A. degree and will get a B. D. degree next fall. My only daughter Belle is married and living at Colorado, Texas. Mrs. Joe Ellis. My next son, J. Hal, is superintendent of the water works at Iowa Park. The next Bob, who last year finished his work in Oklahoma University, now secretary of the chamber of commerce at Iowa Park. The youngest Mack, is with the advertising department of the Record & Press in Wichita Falls and has two more years of work in Oklahoma University, he will return to school this fall. I hope to hear from many of old friends, and expect to attend the old settlers reunion next year at Bandera.

Ranchmen's Roundup

Great preparations are being made for the Ranchmen's Roundup which is to be held at the Ranch Experiment Station on the Somers-Booksprings Highway, 26 miles south of Somers, August 11 and 12. This extraordinary feature is the result of the splendid cooperation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station System looking to the general success of the whole program. The program provides many unusual educational features for those engaged in the ranching business and will duly stress the fact that Texas and all other states in sheep and goat raising activities and offers outstanding opportunities. Educational moving pictures, a sheep shearing demonstration, a baseball game, a great public barbecue and a ranchman's ball and music are among the special entertainment features.

A general public invitation has been extended to everyone, including stockmen, and business men, and their families. Arrangements are being made to handle a large number of visitors. Excellent camping facilities will be available near the station headquarters and visitors should bring their outs and bedding with them. Provisions, or meals, can be purchased on the ground at nominal prices.

Interest in sheep and goat raising has been increasing since the establishment of the Ranch Experiment Station ten years ago, at which time Texas stood ninth among the states in wool production and by wool producers that for three years Texas has led all other states in wool production and is producing 80 per cent of the mohair production of the nation.

Dr. B. Youngblood, Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station System of the A. & M. College of Texas, expressed intention that this Ranchmen's Roundup shall be an annual affair, and states that interest in the first meeting indicates a large attendance.

Letter from J. A. Joe Anglin.

One more incident comes to my mind which I want to mention. It was at the hotel where I was stopping in the summer of 1886, kept by the sheriff, Buck Hamilton. It is here and with the sheriff and some of the other town folks in the entrance of the store and the one and only stage robbery known in Bandera county. Two men were arranging the number of large to that evening the deputies counted and brought in the $8.00 we had. The door in my room was partly open and while there quietly I pulled and watched and just dropped in through the door. I told the sheriff and the next I saw was the Shorts was passing with all he might with one hand extended, trying to reach the table. He was scuffling with Buck Hamilton. Buck overpowered him and picked up the pistol. There was unable to get up and the others and I had to separate. Both in the door and a fellow in each of the two windows with a revolver pointing toward the outside. One of the windows was just above my bed. Buck came in and proceeded to handcuff the outlaw. I had no more to do, and the shooting was over the country being in search of the fellow.

Another occasion when some of us got into trouble was when the Indians were in the neighborhood. The grand jury adjourned immediately and they never have organized since as far as I know. They left the judge with the mandate in his hand, but I do not have time to give details now.

I left Bandera county, where the owl hooted, the red man gave his war whoop on the coyote pole in Potter county, in 1904. I moved to Tom Green county, near San Angelo, but have since moved to Iowa Park, located 10 miles south of Wichita Falls, in the center of 100,000 acres of fertile irrigated land in the Wichita Valley, watered from Lake Kemp, the fourth largest artificial lake in America. Survey No. 281, Patent No. 1096 in Bandera County, Texas, consisting of 320 acres of land more or less, being the land patented to the heirs of D. C. Tyran, Assignee of Jose A. Martinez, by patent dated July 31, 1855, recorded in Vol. A-2, Page 222 of the Deed Records of Bandera County, Texas, said land being particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the Northeast Bank of the Medina River at the Southern corner of Survey 282, from which a cypress 42 inches in diameter, bears South 44 West 29 varas; a Cypress 14 inches in diameter bears South 55 West 24 varas; Thence Southwardly along the Northeast Bank of the Medina River, with its meanders, South 30 degrees east 672 varas; South 60 degrees West 105 varas to a stake on the bank of the River from which a Cypress 24 inches in diameter bears North 14 West 17 varas; a Cypress 15 inches in diameter bears South 72 West 9½ varas; Thence North 30 degrees East 1740 varas to a stake and mound; Thence North 60 degrees West 672 varas to a stake and mound; Thence South 30 degrees West 2636 varas to the place of beginning; said Survey No. 281 being bounded on the Southwest side by the Medina River.

Also Survey No. 25 of 640 acres of land, in Bandera County, Texas, patented to the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, by Patent No. 432, dated January 7, 1884, Vol. H, Page 209 of the Bandera County Deed Records, to which Patent and the record thereof, reference is here made for a particular description.

Plaintiffs further allege that they are in possession and entitled to the possession of the above described lands, and own same not only by record title obtained from the Sovereignty of the Soil, but in addition own same by virtue of a title of limitation of three, five and ten years, and the plaintiffs have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described lands under title, or color of title, for more than ten years preceding the filing of this suit, and in addition have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described land, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, and paying the taxes thereon, and claiming same under titles duly recorded, for more than ten years prior to the filing of this suit;

Plaintiffs further allege that the defendants have no interest, right or title in or to the above described property, or any portion thereof, but by reason of certain instruments which many years ago have been recorded in the County Clerk's Office of Bandera County, certain claims apparently are being made and outstanding by the defendants, which constitute a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs, and constitute an interference with the free and unobstructed possession, use and enjoyment of the premises by plaintiffs, and seriously injure and damage the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs pray that upon hearing of this cause that the plaintiffs recover of and from all of the defendants the land herein above described, and that the plaintiffs title to the lands hereinabove described be quieted and be cleared of all rights and claims upon the part of the defendants, and plaintiffs pray for costs and such other relief in law or in equity as they may be entitled to.

Herein fail not, but have you before said Court on the said 1st day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court at office in the City of Bandera, this the 26th day of July, A. D. 1925.

MARK McBRYDE
Clerk of the District Court, and for Bandera County, Texas.

Ranchmen's Roundup

Great preparations are being made for the Ranchmen's Roundup which is to be held at the Ranch Experiment Station on the Sonora-Rocksprings Highway, 26 miles south of Sonora, August 11 and 12. This extraordinary feature is the result of the splendid cooperation of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station System seeking to the general success of the whole program. The program provides many unusual educational features for those engaged in the ranching business and duly stresses the fact that Texas leads all other states in sheep and goat raising activities and offers outstanding opportunities. Educational moving pictures, a sheep shearing demonstration, a baseball game, a great public barbecue and a ranchman's ball and music are among the special entertainment features.

A general public invitation has been extended to everyone, including stockmen, and business, men and their families. Arrangements are being made to handle a large number of visitors. Excellent camping facilities will be available near the station headquarters and visitors should bring their cots and bedding with them. Provisions, or meals, can be purchased on the ground at nominal prices.

Interest in sheep and goat raising has been increasing since the establishment of the Ranch Experiment Station ten years ago, at which time Texas stood ninth among the states in wool being ginned by wool producers that for three years Texas has led all other states in wool production and is producing 60 per cent of the mohair production of the nation.

Dr. B. Youngblood, Director of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station System of the A. & M. College has expressed intention that this Ranchmen's Roundup shall be an annual affair, and states that interest in this first meeting indicates a large attendance.

Miss Ora Eckhart went to Galveston Saturday on an excursion trip for a week.

Miss Victoria Montague came up from San Antonio Saturday to spend Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Chas. Montague.

Mrs. W. E. Schoebert is spending a few days in San Antonio with her daughter, Miss Margaret Schoenert.

The Bandera Invincibles went over to Comfort and played a hot game of baseball Sunday, the Comfort team pealing them hard by a score of nine to two.

Chas. Eckhart last week purchased about 500 head of good antone from R. N. Padgett's sons, Joe Postert, Leonard Jurecki and others at around $5.00 per head.

Mrs. E. F. Heinen entertained a number of her friends with a delightful social last Tuesday night. Delicious refreshments were served, and a fine time is reported.

An alarm of fire at the home of Gill Lane on Bandera Creek last Friday morning brought a crowd of people out in very quick time. The fire was soon extinguished before any serious damage was done.

Road Overseer Joe G. Callahan and his crew came up the first of the week to work on the Highway at Doe Creek. Mr. Callahan informs that construction of a new bridge across the ravine near the court house will soon begin.

A. J. Olliff, and family, of Midland, are here on a visit to his brother, Jack Olliff, and wife. It is the first time the brothers have been together in sixteen years. They will also visit relatives at Tarpley while here.

Will and Harold Hayes returned Tuesday from New Mexico, where Will went to look after his homestead near Roswell. They spent a few weeks in the Panhandle country, and visited relatives at Plainview and San Angelo.

Mrs. J. R. Wilson of Willcox, Arizona, arrived Saturday on a short visit to her son-in-law, Mrs. W. R. Finney of near Medina. In company with Mrs. Finney she left for points in Kentucky to spend a month or six weeks with relatives.

We received a renewal subscription from the New Era's valued friend and patron, Mr. E. O. Watrous, at Medina one day last week. Mr. Watrous suggests that the New Era publish the new game laws. An outline of the fish and game law now in effect will be found on page 3 of this issue.

We dropped in and had an agreeable chat with Postmaster George Dickson while we were at Tarpley last Thursday. The genial postmaster did not attend the barbecue that day, but his friends remember him and he has got a good share of the choice barbecued meats, and when we reached his domicile we found him in the finest kind of a humor, and ready to boost anything that pertained to Tarpley.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hunter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eckhart at their pretty ranch home on Middle Verde. Mr. Eckhart's crops look very well despite the dry weather, and especially his pear crop, which will yield abundantly this year. Mrs. Eckhart prepared a fine dinner, the occasion being the 15th birthday anniversary of their son, Leo, and naturally this editor feasted to his heart's content on the good things set forth.

We did not stay for the play, "Bashful Mr. Bobbs," at Tarpley last Thursday night, but report comes that it was a splendid success in every way. The play was put on by the "young" people of that thrifty community for the benefit of their school, and we understand that a neat sum was realized for that purpose. It is said that Lucius Hicks and J. J. Leighton, the star performers, came near causing the audience to wreck the new school building with prolonged applause. The play was put on in the open air. A temporary stage was erected at the side of the new school building, which is now in the course of erection.

Seed Oats.

Out of the 7500 bushels of seed oats, selected on the farms in Southern Oklahoma by Fred Thalmann, we have only about 1800 bushels not spoken for. If you want any of these oats better let us know as once in order that we may be able to make arrangements for more if needed.

These oats were all raised from pedigreed seed and will be recleaned. The fields they were selected from had no Johnson grass. We also have some wheat.—Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association.

Miss Mackie Sheldon and Master Joe Daniell of New Smyrna, Florida, are here on a visit to Mrs. Moon and Mrs. Daniell, who are spending the summer at the Gray Apartment house.

Transfer will be made within the next few days whereby Luke Mazurek will again become the owner of the residence now occupied by M. Hunter and family, who will move to the Ardrey cottage near the Peters gin.

W. F. Rippey and Gervis Jones were over from Blanco county this week, after the remainder of Mr. Rippey's household effects. Mr. Rippey has secured a good ranch near Johnson City, and is improving it. He informs us that he is well pleased with his new location. Rangel Dugos went over there with him to do some concrete work.

Each month we have succeeded in breaking our record for the previous month. Why? The reason is plain: We give you insurance based on a standard mortality table, make a low interest assumption, deposit a full legal reserve and give you insurance at cost.—Heralds of Liberty; pays if you live, pays if you die.

Last Saturday evening the Methodist ladies of Tarpley gave an ice cream social in honor of Mrs. Jim Wright, who is leaving for Hondo this week. After ice cream and cake was served, games were enjoyed by those present. We all regret to lose Mrs. Wright, as she is quite a leader in Sunday school work and social affairs, and we will gladly welcome her return.

Mrs. J. P. Heinen, Sr.

The whole community was made sad last Sunday morning when the news spread that Mrs. J. P. Heinen, Sr., had passed away Saturday night at her home on the Heinen ranch below town. She had been in ill health for some time, but her condition was not considered serious until Saturday night when she had an attack of heart failure, and the end came quickly. Mrs. Ida Schlador Heinen was born at New Braunfels, Texas, March 22, 1850, and when a little child she moved with her parents to Comfort, where she grew to young womanhood. Later she moved to Bandera county, and in 1868 was happily married to J. P. Heinen. She was the mother of eight children, six sons and two daughters, all of whom survive her. The children are Will Heinen of Los Angeles, California, Isaac, Ed, John, Elmer, Miss Ida, Mrs. Laura Reinarz, all of Bandera, and Harry Heinen of Port Arthur. All were present at the funeral except her son, Will Heinen, who was unable to reach here. Her husband, J. P. Heinen, Sr., died in 1923.

This in brief is the life history of an excellent pioneer mother. Everybody loved Mrs. Heinen, she was of a gentle, sweet disposition, kind and affectionate to her family, a good neighbor, and her passing leaves a vacancy that cannot be filled.

The funeral was conducted at Bandera cemetery Monday afternoon by Elder Elijah Smith of the International Bible Students' Association. Friends and relatives from Comfort, San Antonio, Boerne, Pipe Creek and Bandera were in attendance at the funeral. The floral offerings were beautiful and the grave of this good woman was piled high with a mass of flowers placed there by loving hands.

To the bereaved children the New Era offers condolence and sympathy in this hour of their great sorrow.

B. Y. P. U. Class.

Last week was B. Y. P. U. Training Week in Bandera. Miss Lagow, of Dallas, a state B. Y. P. U. worker, was here and conducted classes for five nights at the Baptist church. Twenty-five took the examinations and passed, receiving seals for diplomas. Miss Lagow left Saturday for Medina where she will conduct classes. Later she will go to Center Point and Kerrville.

Buys Grocery Store.

Judge C. B. Corley this week purchased the Kash-Karry grocery store from R. H. Hatcher and has taken charge of same. Judge Corley is an experienced groceryman and we bespeak for him a liberal trade. Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher have not announced their plans but it is quite probable that they will go on a camping trip for awhile this summer.

Ike Evans Injured.

Ike Evans, a citizen of the Tarpley region, was seriously injured last Friday when a horse fell with him while running cattle. He sustained a badly fractured leg. Dr. John H. Erwin was called to attend him immediately following the accident, and he was taken to a hospital in Kerrville, where it is likely that an operation will be performed today or tomorrow.

Family Dinner.

Holt and children, and Will Hayes.

Running a Serial Picture.

"Wolves of the North," a highly interesting serial picture is now showing at the Bandera every Monday night, the first episode appearing last Monday. Besides the serial a good western picture and a comedy will be included in the Monday night program. Friday night "The Turmoil" will be shown. Ben Jurecki has booked a wonderful lot of the best productions for showing here.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts is a rather trying and irritating ordeal — but every family knows such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

Celebrates Birthday.

Mrs. Kate Joiner celebrated her 65th birthday at the home of her son, Lon Joiner, on Mason Creek, last Saturday. A reception was given in her honor Saturday night, to which a number of her friends, young and old, were invited. The New Era joins in wishing Grandma Joiner many more happy birthdays.

Tea for Two—

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however,—is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

ered as second-class matter at postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The County Fair is almost upon us. Great preparations are being made to make this our best fair. Bring in your products.

The editor moved his family to the Ardry cottage near the river last Saturday. And the next day it rained!

The fine rains which fell over Bandera county last Sunday came at a time when moisture was needed to help the ranges and be of benefit to fall crops. Everybody is rejoicing.

On September 3rd next Amasa Clark will be 100 years old. Mr. Clark is a veteran of the Mexican War. He came to Bandera in 1852, and is our oldest citizen, not only in years but in residence also. It is only proper that Bandera arrange some kind of a celebration in honor of the one hundredth birthday anniversary of this grand old man. Thank about it.

Q. T. Hodges, of Pipe Creek, killed a big wild cat a few days ago, and while skinning the animal he found quite a number of cattle fever ticks on it. Dan Buck took possession of the ticks and was displaying them to friends in town Saturday. A movement is now on foot to organize a crew to round up all of the wildcats in the county and dip them.

Roy E. Richards, a former Bandera county boy now residing in Fort Worth, writes the New Era a long interesting and encouraging letter, and among other things he says: "No matter where we roam, we are prone to wonder how things are with the folks back home, and the little weekly sheet is the best medium through which this information can be obtained. When we have at the helm such an efficient pilot as we now have, we can always be assured of getting the news."

Word comes from Washington that Congressman Hudspeth will be as good as ever soon, according to surgeons at John Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, who gave this assurance upon discharging him after an operation. Congressman Hudspeth, who has been in the hospital for several weeks, has returned to his home at El Paso. More than twenty years ago a horse fell on him, injuring his ankle and leaving him lame. Surgeons found it necessary to chip away parts of bone in his ankle. He will be compelled to walk on crutches for months, but will eventually recover, surgeons said.

Five years ago there was only one road in Bandera county that was in first class condition, and that was the road out to West Verde Creek. Today Bandera county has several good roads, and there is a disposition to improve the roads in every precinct. Soon we put the Medina road to Witan's Creek in first class condition it will increase the tourist traffic over Trail Loop No. 10. From the Kerr county line to Kerrville the Trail Loop No. 10 is being graded and worked and ere long it will be in the finest possible condition. This loop to the Old Spanish Trail is one of the most scenic drives in all Texas.

The County Fair.

On next Thursday the Fifth Annual Bandera County Fair opens and will hold forth for three days. Previous fairs have demonstrated that Bandera county raises good products which are worth showing. The live-stock displays, the agricultural exhibits, and the handiwork of the housewife and the school children are always attractive to the people who attend the fair. This year there will be excellent exhibits, and there will be plenty of amusements to fill in the program. Every citizen of the county should lend his efforts in maintaining the fair for it is truly an asset to our town and county.

The fair is an educational clearing house. It is an agricultural and industrial institute for residents of both town and country. It is a short course in better farming and better living. It is a physical demonstration of what the man who farms with his head instead of with his hands must inevitably succeed.

It is a comprehensive exhibition of what the ambitious boy or girl may achieve in agriculture, live-stock raising, dairying, horticultural, home, gardening, domestic science or household economy. It is an exposition of the marvelous improvement in farm machinery and agricultural implements. It is an object lesson in the great part which improved machinery plays in the development and cultivation of the farm and the increased prosperity of the farmer.

The chief educational value of our fair lies in the fact that the eye is a more convincing instructor than the ear. We are slow to accept and believe in any new method until we have had optical proof of its superiority over the old.

Often it is difficult to secure the attention of the busy man or woman long enough to give such a demonstration. Not infrequently it happens that farmers who would be benefited by better methods of farming are not sufficiently interested to be present at any special meeting called for the purpose of discussing the subject.

But the fair appeals to that trait of mankind which demands entertainment and amusement and becomes a common forum for the discussion of all matters having to do with agriculture, industry, the home and the school.

In this clearing house of education the farmer learns what the manufacturer, the merchant and the baker are and have been doing to make his labor less arduous and his farm more profitable and the town resident learns what rapid progress is being made in agriculture. A bond of common interest is created which means much to both town and country.

The farmer learns by actual observation of the newest devices and improvements in agricultural implements. He learns their use and benefits. He learns in what way they assist in soil cultivation, in plant growth, in sowing, in harvesting, in threshing. He learns the economic value of the more modern machinery, of the silo, of motor power on the farm.

The urban dweller is furnished a vivid picture of the agricultural resources of the community. He learns about the fertility of the soil in the vicinity, of what is being done to increase the farm yield; to improve the quality of the stock, and to multiply the total dairy product. Every man and woman, whether town or country resident is brought into closer touch with the home life of others. All imbibe that broader education which means co-operation—that ideal education which is service to self and all humanity.

CITATION BY PUBLICATION

vs.
UNKNOWN HEIRS OF D. C. TYNAN, ET AL.
No. 998.

In the District Court, 38th Judicial District, Bandera County, Texas.

To the Sheriff or any constable of Bandera County, Greeting:

You are Hereby Commanded, that by making publication of this Citation in some newspaper published in the County of Bandera, once in each week for four consecutive weeks previous to the return day hereof you summon the unknown heirs of D. C. Tynan, the unknown heirs of Dennis C. Tyrnan, the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, a corporation, the unknown stockholders of the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, and the unknown heirs of Peter Gallagher, all of whose residence are unknown to plaintiff.

To be and appear at the next regular term of the District Court of the 38th Judicial District, held in and for Bandera County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in the City of Bandera, on the Sixteenth Monday, after the first Monday in August, 1925, the same being the 23rd day of November, A. D. 1925, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 14th day of July, A. D. 1925, and in a suit numbered on the docket of said Court, No. 998, wherein Henry Steinle, Frank Steinle and August Steinle are plaintiffs, and the unknown heirs of D. C. Tynan, the unknown heirs of Dennis C. Tyran, the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, a corporation, the unknown stockholders of the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, and the unknown heirs of Peter Gallagher are defendants, the nature of plaintiffs' demand being substantially as follows:

A suit in trespass to try title and for costs of suit, plaintiffs alleging that they are the owners in fee simple of the following described lands located in Bandera County, Texas:

Survey No. 281, Patent No. 1090 in Bandera County, Texas, consisting of 320 acres of land, more or less, being the land patented to the heirs of D. C. Tynan, Assignee of Jose A. Martinez, by patent dated July 31, 1855, recorded in Vol. A-3, Page 223 of the Deed Records of Bandera County, Texas, said land being particularly described as follows:

Beginning on the Northeast Bank of the Medina River at the Southern corner of Survey 293, from which a cypress 42 inches in diameter, bears South 44 West, 28 varas; a Cypress 14 inches in diameter bears South 55 West 24 varas; Thence Southwardly along the Northeast Bank of the Medina River, with its meanders, South 30 degrees east 672 varas; South 60 degrees West 103 varas to a stake on the bank of the River from which a Cypress 24 inches in diameter bears North 14 West 17 varas; a Cypress 15 inches in diameter bears South 72 West 9½ varas; Thence North 60 degrees East 3740 varas to a stake and mound; Thence North 30 degrees West 672 varas to a stake and mound; Thence South 60 degrees West 2636 varas to the place of beginning; said Survey No. 281 being bounded on the Southwest side by the Medina River.

Also Survey No. 25 of 640 acres of land, in Bandera County Texas, patented to the San Geronimo Irrigation Company, by Patent No. 432, dated January 7, 1884, Vol. H, Page 209 of the Bandera County Deed Records, to which Patent and the record thereof, reference is here made for a particular description.

Plaintiffs further allege that they are in possession and entitled to the possession of the above described lands, and own same but only by record title obtained from the Sovereignty of the Soil, but in addition own same by virtue of a title of limitation of three, five and ten years, and the plaintiffs have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described lands under title, or color of title, for more than ten years preceding the filing of this suit, and in addition have been in peaceable and adverse possession of the above described land, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, and paying the taxes thereon, and claiming same under titles duly recorded, for more than ten years prior to the filing said instruments which many years ago have been recorded in the County Clerk's Office of Bandera County, certain claims apparently are being made and outstanding to the defendants, which constitute a cloud upon the title of the plaintiffs, and constitute an interference with the free and uninterrupted possession, use and enjoyment of the premises by plaintiffs, and seriously injure and damage the plaintiffs. Plaintiffs pray that upon hearing of this cause that the plaintiffs recover of and from all of the defendants, the land hereinabove described, and that the plaintiffs' title to the lands hereinabove described be quieted, and be cleared of all rights and claims upon the part of the defendants, and plaintiffs pray for costs, and such other relief, in law or in equity as they may be entitled to.

Hereof fail not, but have you said Court on the said 1st day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said Court at office in the City of Bandera, this the 16th day of July, A. D. 1925.

MARK McBRYDE
Clerk of the District Court, in and for Bandera County, Texas.

Tea for Two—

The phrase for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however,— is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

Join the Izaak Walton League

The Izaak Walton League of America is a National organization of fishermen and hunters and outdoor lovers dedicated to the restoration of sports afield and astream in the United States and Canada and the restoration as far as can be of the outdoor America of our ancestors. It is a National Organization having no commercial or personal gain or aggrandizement under it; neither has it political or religious interests.

It is undoubtedly the most comprehensive program ever undertaken in America. Though less than three years old, it has local chapters from one end of the country to the other, and it has awakened thousands and thousands of Principled sportsmen and outdoor lovers to the realization of the perils that are threatening our precious woods and streams and wild life.

The movement represents a patriotic and unselfish endeavor to save ofr our children their great American outdoor heritage that they may have the priceless memories of days spent on windswept, clear and gleaming waters and nights in fragrant, healing forests and that they may gain the health and happiness that only the outdoors can give them. Many of the names back of this Save-Outdoor-American crusade are Nationally known and insure the integrity and high standing of the League.

Bashful Mr. Bobbs.

The play, "Bashful Mr. Bobbs," which was presented at the high school auditorium last Saturday night by the Tarpley school workers, was a real treat to all who attended. The crowd was not very large, but every one there enjoyed the play to the fullest extent. Each character in the play carried out his or her part to the most pleasing manner and showed excellent dramatic talent. Those appearing in the different roles were Mrs. E. Hicks, Mrs. J. J. Leighton, Mrs. H. J. Mesch, Miss Stella Mae Wilis, Miss Clara Purvis, Theresa Mesch, Mrs. R. R. Pue, Joe Leighton, L. Hicks, H. J. Mesch, and Dennis Duff.

R. F. Evans Injured.

Rufus Evans was painfully injured last Friday when a horse fell with him. He suffered a broken collar bone and several broken ribs. We report that he is doing nicely, and his many friends are hopeful that he will soon recover.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts is a utter trying and irritating ordeal — but every family knows such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

Pretty Farm Displays.

The community farm displays at the fair were attractively and neatly arranged, and brought forth much comment. Winan's Creek showed up so well that the judges gave that community first prize. East Verde and Bandera had exhibits that were hard to beat. A unique sign was seen hanging over the East Verde booth showing the letters "EAST VERDE," arranged with grains of red, white and yellow corn against a background of cane seed. This artistic work was done by Misses Ola Eckhart and Delia Scathoff, and it now hangs in the New Era's art gallery where visitors may see it and praise it.

Bond Election Void.

T. H. Phillips of Lima and Judge A. L. Mansfield went to Austin the first of the week on business connected with the State Department. While there they learned that the bond issue recently voted at Lima for $1000 to complete the Lima school building was illegal, inasmuch as the tax would exceed the fifty cents on $100 valuation specified by law. Another election will be held to vote an increased maintenance tax for that school district, which will solve the problem.

Ranch Deal.

A deal is pending whereby J. H. Autrey is selling to Mr. Neal of San Antonio the old Jones ranch of 2500 acres, on West Prong. We did not learn the consideration.

Miss Ruth Hicks Dead.

Miss Ruth Hicks died this morning at 2:15 at the home of Lee Mansfield, after an illness of about ten days with pneumonia. As we go to press at 8 o'clock this morning, the funeral arrangements had not been made. Deceased was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks of Tarpley, and was one of the most popular girls in the county. The whole community mourns her death, for she was loved by all for her sweet disposition and charming personality. Her obituary willappear in the New Era next week.

LIMA LINES.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hillman and little children, Mitsen and Amey, returned home from San Antonio Saturday night. Mrs. Henry Walker and two little children and Oscar Hillman accompanied them home. Oscar came after his wife and baby, who spent the past week here. Little Mitsen is doing fine.

Mrs. Zula Miller, who went to Port Arthur about a month ago, has a position as nurse. We wish her success.

Baseball Games.

Baseball games at the fair were as follows: On Friday Boerne vs. Bandera, 8 to 11, in favor of Boerne. On Saturday, Comfort vs. Bandera, 4 to 16, in favor of Comfort.

On Sunday the Crawford Motors Co. of San Antonio were defeated by the Bandera team on the town diamond, score 8 to 3.

Mr. and Mrs. Val W. Click came down from Lima and spent Sunday with Mr. Click's brother, C. M. Click, and family.

Tea for Two—

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however,— is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the Bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

Popcorn Winners.

Prizes for best popcorn at the fair were won by Edgar Habenicht, first; Howard Chisum, second; and Chester Banta, third. In addition to the fair's premiums offered for the best popcorn, Frank M. Montague, who holds the championship for popcorn eating, offered prizes amounting to $3.00 for the best popcorn exhibited, it being stipulated that he was to get the popcorn displayed when the fair ended. He got the popcorn and rumor has it that he has challenged Sheriff Henry Stevens to a popcorn eating contest at an early date.

BANDERA CREEK.

Mrs. Len Rayfield, who has been quite sick at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Stevens, is somewhat better.

Mrs. L. B. Jones, has been visiting at Center Point and San Antonio the past few days.

Mrs. V. W. Stevens has returned from a short visit to her mother and family at Marfa. Her brother, James Rogers, returned home with her.

Last week Mrs. Mary Heffernan, who is visiting her sister, Mrs. T. M. Stevens, and brother, J. A. Brown of Bandera, accompanied by her family, Mr. and Mrs. Cronan of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Heffernan and sons of Humble, and Mrs. Dedrich McClung and children of Palestine, came out and visited friends in this community and at Tarpley. They were entertained with a picnic dinner by Mr. and Mrs. Jas Stevens, and spent the night with Mr. and Mrs. V. W. Stevens of Myrtle Creek. The party has returned to their respective homes, with the exception of Mrs. Heffernan, who will remain for some time. We wish them a pleasant journey, nothing worse than a flat tire.

John C. Jacobs, the well known polo man, was up from San Antonio last Thursday and while here he purchased a fine saddle horse from Pete Laxon paying for the best $300. Mr. Jacobs paid this office an appreciated visit, lolled the editor for a half hour, and then subscribed for Frontier Times. He is an old timer himself, and informed us that he was the first sheriff elected in Shackleford county, and served in that capacity when that region was as wild and woolly as it could be. He will contribute some interesting sketches to Frontier Times.

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The Heppel Motor Co., of Boerne, had a full display of Ford cars on exhibition at the fair last week—touring cars, roadsters, coupes, trucks, etc. Mr. Ed Heppel, was in charge of the display, and was assisted by his popular aid, Mr. Walter Epperson.

Senator and Mrs. Julius Real with their daughter and little granddaughter, were over from Kerrville Saturday for the county fair. Senator Real was greatly delighted with the wonderful displays of farm products and the exhibits in the livestock department.

Watch the date of your paper opposite your name. It shows when your subscription expires. We hope all will renew promptly.

Some shop removed the coils from Mrs. J. B. Holt's truck last Saturday night while it was standing by the roadside, and substituted other coils in place of them, evidently thinking he was stealing a good set of coils. It turns out, however, that the substituted coils were much better than the ones taken, Mrs. Holt says it the trader will call and explain why he took them she will gladly pay him the difference.

Rev. P. J. Boivin, pastor of the Catholic church, informs us that St. Joseph's school will put on a complete course in bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting at the beginning of the September term, and all who are planning to go away to attend business college should first get particulars regarding this course, which is complete and can be obtained at a great saving. Entries should be made at once in order to start in at the beginning. Thorough instruction given, in all the branches named.

In the culinary department at the county fair, which was in charge of Mrs. J. E. Chisum, were many tempting things to eat, and we saw lots of hungry glances in that direction. Mrs. Mansel C. Jones Chisum and the New Era editor were about the only ones who were fortunate enough to get a taste of the good things. The ladies were selected as judges of the pies. And they were so good. Mrs. M. R. Thalmann won first prize for the mince pie, and Mrs. R. F. Langford, Jr., took first prize for the best cherry pie. Old Bandera county has some real cooks, and the two ladies above mentioned hold places among the best.

Burman Paris, of Harper, spent a few days in the city last week, the guest of his uncle, B. F. Paris. He is boosting a big barbecue to be given at Harper on September 10th and 11th. Goat roping, cigar races, bronco busting, baseball games and other amusements will make the big event. Those Harper people have a way of entertaining their visitors when a barbecue is pulled off that is typical of the old West Texas custom, and they always make their guests feel perfectly at home there, and improve it with the hospitality they dispense. A number of Bandera people will attend the big barbecue next month.

Rob Cox may not have won the blue ribbons for the best sheep at the fair, but there was a chance this friend for a suitable prize for having the prettiest sheep. They were good-lookers, all right, and had been dressed up in regular Sunday attire. Mr. Cox is an expert when it comes to putting on the frills and dressing 'em up. R. N. Padgett is trying to persuade him to open a beauty parlor in Bandera, says a man who can primp up a sheep in the latest style, painting its cheeks, powdering its eyebrows, reddening its lips and tongue, and putting a permanent wave in its kinky locks, ought to be a beauty specialist.

Gus Love of Sonora, accompanied by his sister, Miss Genie Love of Vanderpool, attended the county fair here.

The scores made in the roping contests at the county fair last week could not be secured in time for publication in this issue. We will publish the time made by the ropers in the next issue.

Mrs. Jack Olliff and little granddaughter were in from East Verde yesterday. Mrs. Olliff informs us that her daughter, Mrs. Manning, of San Antonio, is spending a couple of weeks with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Batto had as their guests during the fair Mr. and Mrs. August Batto of Del Rio, Mr. and Mrs. Frank K. Walter of San Antonio, Alfred Mesker and family and Mr. and Mrs. John Batto of D'Hanis.

A display of rice, unburshed, attracted the notice of the visitors at the county fair, and many were led to inquire if it was grown in Bandera county. It was sent in by Mr. David Thallman, of near Beaumont, and was raised by him there.

Mrs. J. D. Field and son, H. S. Field, of Maedonna, were here this week on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Gus Peinarz of Pipe Creek. The young man is company with Mr. Reinarz, was in town Tuesday and paid this office an appreciated visit.

The New Ford.

The Herpel Motor Co. of Boerne, dealers for Ford cars in this territory, announce body changes and chassis refinements more pronounced than any made since the adoption of the Model T chassis, in Ford cars. There will be no advances in price, it is said.

Outstanding features of the improvements in both open and enclosed types are lower, all-steel bodies on a lowered chassis complete new design in most body types, a change from black to color in closed cars, larger, lower fenders, newly designed hoods and larger, more powerful brakes.

Longer lines, effected through higher radiator and redesigned cowl and bodies are apparent in all, but are especially pronounced in the open types. Wide crown fenders hung close to the wheels contribute to the general effect.

While runabout and touring cars remain in black, the coupe and Tudor bodies are finished in deep chasmel green while the Fordor is Windsor maroon.

Driver's and passenger compartments are wider, deeply cushioned and have more leg room.

In the runabout, touring car, coupe and tudor, the gasoline tank is under the cowl and filled through a hidden filler cap in appearance like a cowl ventilator. One-piece windshield and narrowed pillars in the Tudor and coupe offer increased visibility.

Seats are lower. Brake and clutch pedals are wider and more conveniently spaced.

Four doors are now provided on the touring car and two on the runabout. Curtains held secure by rods, open with the doors.

The transmission brake drum and bands have been considerably increased in size. The rear and the brake of self energizing wheel brake drums are larger type.

Cord tires are now standard equipment on all Ford cars.

Production of the refined Ford chassis and bodies will begin at the Houston plant of the Ford Motor Company on Sept. 1, at which time the improved cars will be sent to the dealers for showing.

Genial Sam Smith was down from Medina Tuesday, on business.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts is a ather trying and irritating ordeal — but every family knows such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

Fred Whisenhunt, who ranches near Medina, was here Tuesday and hauled out a load of screen wire to build some fencing for quarters for his registered sheep. Mr. Whisenhunt says the exhibition of sheep and goats at the Fredericksburg Fair was unusually large and there were many fine animals there. He waltzed off with quite a number of the premiums himself, and says he will take some of his sheep and goats to the Boerne Fair also.

Tea for Two—

"The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. It sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however,—is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

One Hundred Years Old

Next Thursday Veteran Ainsa Clark will celebrate the one hundredth anniversary of his birth. His family is arranging to hold a reunion on that day, which will prove a great homecoming event, as it is expected that most of his children and grandchildren will be there, as well as a number of invited friends. Veteran Clark is looking forward to the celebration in anticipation of it being the most important event of his long life. He is the father of nineteen children, seventeen of whom are still living. He does not know exactly how many grandchildren and great grandchildren he has, but they are many. He plans to make a talk to the assemblage, and tell them many things that he has experienced. He came to Bandera in 1852, before there was a Bandera. He is one of only fourteen survivors of the Mexican War, which was fought in 1846-48. He is a very remarkable old man, and despite the burden of attack of pneumonia, but is still hale and hearty. He is still able to direct the affairs of his farm, and transact business in town.

The New Era editor acknowledges an invitation to attend the centenary celebration of this grand old veteran, and we will be right there to congratulate and extend to him our best wishes.

Johnnie Batto and two daughters, Misses Hilda and Irene, were guests of Will Batto and family Friday.

Mrs. Annie Webster and son, Billie, of Wellsboro, Pa., left for San Antonio Saturday after spending some time with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Hicks at Utopia. Mrs. Webster will spend the winter in San Antonio.

The Bandera New Era

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

...ed as second-class matter at ...ostoffice at Bandera, Texas.

We appreciated a visit from T. E. Salter, editor of the Kerrville Mountain Sun, and W. O. Vaughn, editor of the Kinder (Louisian) Tribune. These gentlemen had been fishing in the Medina river, and ran in to tell the New Era editor how to catch two fish at the same time. Mr. Vaughn has been spending several months rusticating in the Hill Country, and when he returns to his Louisiana home this week it will be with the intention of winding up his affairs there to come back to this glorious region to stay. They were here last Saturday.

A display of tanned leather attracted the notice of many people at the Fair. The leather was tanned by a new process recently invented by a Christine man. A patent has been secured and the tanning of skins and manufacture of leather is being done by a new company organized for the purpose. Our high school superintendent, Prof. L. L. McDonald, is interested in the new company, and is explaining the process to all who are interested. No acid is used in the tanning, and the product is equal to any leather we have ever seen.

Saturday afternoon, September 5, an old settlers reunion will be held at the Kendall County Fair, at Boerne, at which Veteran Amasa Clark of Bandera will be an honored guest of the American Legion of that place. Mr. Clark is one of only fourteen survivors of the Mexican War, and on next Thursday, September 3, he will celebrate his one hundredth birthday anniversary. He is still quite active, and it is very probable that he will deliver a short address at the Boerne Fair. We are pleased to see so much interest being taken throughout this region in the welfare of the old settlers. The present generation owes a great deal to the pioneers of our land, and the honor that will be paid to them at the Boerne Fair speaks well for the patriotic motives of the management of that fair.

Another Big Sale.

In this issue of the New Era appears the half page ad of H. O. Adler, the live Boerne merchant, who has put on a big sale, a Mighty Flood of Bargains. Some extremely low prices are quoted in this sale and you should take advantage of them if you want to save money on your merchandise. Boerne is only about twenty-five miles from Bandera. An automobile can take you over there in about one hour. The cost of gas is small, and you can easily do your shopping there in a very short time. You are cordially invited to attend the big sale while it is in progress, September 1 to 15.

Wins at Fredericksburg Fair.

F. E. Whisenhunt, one of the county's best sheep breeders, won prizes at the Fredericksburg fair as follows: Yearling ram, B type, second; ram lamb, B type, first; yearling ewe, B type, first; ewe lamb, B type, first; aged ram, C type, first; yearling ram, C type, second; ram lamb, C type, first; aged ewe, C type, second; yearling ewe, C type, first and second; ewe lamb, C type, first; pen, second; breeder's flock, C type, first.

Putting On a Big Sale.

The Kuehne Hardware Co., at Boerne, is putting on a big Stock Reducing Sale, beginning September 1, and continuing for fifteen days. Announcement of this sale will be found in a page advertisement in this issue of the New Era. This sale will prove quite a money-saving event to the economical buyers who visit the Kuehne establishment and should attract buyers of merchandise from many miles around. The Kuehne Company enjoys a good patronage from Bandera and is constantly reaching out for more business, offering its customers the best goods for the lowest prices, and giving courteous treatment in all instances. They believe that a satisfied customer is more to be desired than anything else, consequently the firm strives to please by giving their patrons best quality and service. If you have never traded at this store you should give the firm a trial, and while this big sale is in progress is a good time to do so. Visit the Kuehne Hardware Co. when in Boerne.

Barbecue Last Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crist, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Crid, entertained a number of friends at their home at Pipe Creek last Thursday with a delightful barbecue dinner. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Otto Meeglin, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Remling and son, Mrs. Erwin, and Johnnie Forehand, all of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Claud McCarthy and son, Orville, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Crist and Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Crist and family of Pipe Creek. Report comes to the New Era that this was a most delightful affair, and the visitors greatly enjoyed the hospitality of the Crist home.

Dipping Compulsory.

We have been dipping stock under the new regulations since June 15th. During this time there are some people in each precinct who seem to have ignored the dipping regulations, but from this time forward we are going to insist that they bring their stock to the vat for dipping, otherwise extreme measures will be taken to force them to do so. It is compulsory that each livestock owner comply with the dipping laws, and as inspectors we have received orders to enforce these regulations. We do not wish to be hard or unreasonable with anyone, but we must do our duty. In cases where old people or widows are unable to get their stock to the vat, we will go to their home and inspect their cattle, but we cannot do this with everybody. Now, let's all work together in this matter, without friction or misunderstanding, and clean up old Bandera county and get through with it. The majority of the people of the county have shown a disposition to help us in the work, and we hope all others will do likewise.

J. B. GLASSCOCK,
Supervisor
H. P. WURZBACH,
Dist. Inspector.

Excellent Oil Painting.

Warren Hunter has scored another triumph in painting. He has just completed a large oil painting of an old time long-horn Texas steer for Mr. J. A. Miller. The Loop adjacent to this city furnished the setting for this picture, which is pronounced a work of real art by all who have seen the painting.

Miss Ruth Hicks.

Funeral services for Miss Ruth Hicks were conducted at the Baptist church in this city last Thursday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Rev. W. H. Price of Medina, assisted by Rev. R. N. Hicks of this city, conducting the services. The Baptist church was packed to its utmost capacity by the crowd of sorrowing friends who came to attend the funeral of this beloved Bandera girl, and when the funeral cortege wound its way over the hill to the silent city of the dead it was one of the longest processions ever seen in Bandera. At the cemetery songs were sung while the casket was lowered into the grave, and when interment had been made the mound was banked with beautiful flowers sent by friends from far and near as a tribute to the deceased. The active pall bearers were Paul Garrison, Frank Mansfield, Earl Mansfield, Rhea Mansfield, Jeff Branscum of San Antonio, Jack McGuire of San Antonio. Honorary pall bearers in attendance and each carrying a beautiful floral tribute were Miss Hazel Milberry of San Antonio, Miss Myra Mc-Nette Hunter, Miss Evelyn Mansfield, Mrs. Johnnie Padgett Newcomer of Pipe Creek, Miss Katherine Padgett Tarpley, Miss Eula Cozart of Tarpley.

The choir service at the Baptist church was by the members of the B. Y. P. U. of the First Baptist Church of San Antonio, a delegation from that organization having come to attend the funeral.

Miss Ruth Hicks was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks of Tarpley. She was born near Tarpley October 26, 1907, and died at Bandera August 20, 1925, being therefore almost twenty years of age. She was educated in the schools of this county, and graduated at Main Avenue High School in San Antonio at the close of the 1924-1925 term. She was a member of the Baptist church and an active worker in the Baptist Young People's Union during her stay in San Antonio while she was attending Main Avenue High School.

Her death came as a great shock to hundreds of friends throughout this region. She was a beautiful girl, the very picture of robust health, and when she was stricken with pneumonia only a few days before her friends and watchers at her bedside were hopeful that she would make speedy recovery. But those hopes were shattered when the disease would not yield to skillful medical treatment and best nursing. All that loving hands could do, all that medical skill could suggest, was done to save her life, but the Grim Reaper had laid his heavy hand upon the beautiful flower and it withered and died, and today sorrow reigns in the happy home where her presence radiated sunshine and joy and her voice was as sweet music to a doting father and mother, sisters and brother. The light has gone out and the intimates of that home sit in the darkness of woe, but penetrating that darkness comes the comforting assurance that the loved one has only gone on to that happier home where some sweet day there will be a Great Reunion, where there will be no more parting, no more tears, no more sorrow, and the family ties will never again be severed.

Only a few days ago we knew a lovely, happy, cheerful girl, whose gladness brought joy and bliss to the parental home; just a few days ago, in the blossom of glorious womanhood, we cherished a beautiful girl, whose character was pure and whose name had never been stained with the slime of suspicion, whose daily walk had been above reproach and whose thoughts were as pure as the snowflake. Today she sleeps the eternal sleep, and a new made mound reminds us that we all must die. As the flowers that grow by the wayside to cheer us on, this lovely daughter, beautiful in life, serene in death, will be an inspiration to us to so live that we will meet her in the Great Hereafter and be with her forevermore, while the ages of Eternity roll.

Surviving are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks, and four sisters, Mrs. H. H. Deering, Mrs. A. O. Brock, and Mrs. Norman McLeod of San Antonio, Mrs. Lee Mansfield of Bandera, and one brother, Delbert Hicks, of Tarpley. To this saddened family the New Era extends sympathy.

Old Settlers' Day at Fair.

Paul Holekamp, secretary of the Kendall county Fair, Boerne, sends us the following announcement:

Dear Sir:—The Kendall County Fair Association has decided to put on an Old Settlers' Dance on Saturday afternoon, September 5th, the second day of the fair. The program will include various contests and prizes will be given by local merchants and the Association for old Tiddlers' contest, etc. The Amasa H. Clark Legion has invited Mr. Amasa Clark of Bandera, one of the nineteen surviving veterans of the Mexican War to be here. Mr. J. Marvin Hunter is invited to be Mr. Clark's escort on this occasion, the American Legion bearing the expenses. It is hoped that these gentlemen will see fit to honor our Kendall County Fair with their presence.

Though late in the announcement of this dance and the old settlers' "get together," and the old time music, we know that the old settlers of our vicinity are going to take advantage of the first afternoon that is given to them for a reunion and celebration of its kind in probably the last twenty-five years. This program does not interfere with any other part of the program of the fair on that day.

The Kendall County Fair has also decided to put on a war relics exhibit, including souvenirs of the early days through all wars to the equipment of this day. These souvenirs can bear card with the name of the present owner and a brief history attached that will prove most interesting to hundreds of fair visitors. There are numbers of these old souvenirs in nearly every family and the Association will appreciate the interest of communities far and near in sending exhibits of any kind of relics, which will be a schooling in history for us.

Yours truly,
KENDALL CO. FAIR ASS'N
By Paul Holekamp, Secretary

The Kendall County Fair.

The Kendall county fair, 20th annual meeting, will be promises to be one of much held at Boerne September 4, 5, and 6, 1925. This year's fair interest to all visitors. The displays will be of the best, of the best, and the various amusements will keep the crowds entertained each day. In the different departments will be found products of the soil and range, and the handiwork of the people who produce needful things. It is anticipated that many people from other counties will attend the fair this year, as in former years, and all preparations have been made to accomodate and entertain them.

The Kendall County Fair Association, on account of different general conditions, has decided to run the fair this year on a schedule of percentage and has partly substituted the catalogue (1925) as follows: All gross fair receipts, net receipts of refreshment stands, including all receipts of concessions of amusements collected previous to the fair, shall be apportioned and paid out in percentage as follows:

First. Racing Department, 16 2-3 per cent for running races only, for three days. Harness races as announced in catalogue. Purses may be little more or less.

Second Premium Department, all in one, 18.35 per cent. Follow the catalogue to exhibit.

Third. Baseball, two games, 3.1 per cent.

Fourth. Pony Races, two days, Rodeo, one day, 2.4 per cent.

Fifth. Laborers and miscellaneous expenses, 21.85 per cent.

Sixth. Budget estimated, 25.16 per cent.

Seventh. Profit, 12.5 per cent.

The Fair Association has arrived at above percentage on the basis of the income and expenses of their 1924 fair.

In the year of Our Lord 1828, the school board of Lancaster easter county, South Carolina, adopted the following rule for the direction: "You are welcome to use this schoolhouse to debate all proper questions in. But such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossible things and infidelity. There is nothing in the word of God about them. If God had designed that His intelligent creature should travel at the frightful speed of fifteen miles an hour by steam He would have foretold it by means of His holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to carry the souls of the faithful down to hell." But the fact that today we have railroads and telegraphs and things even more wonderful indicates that there has been considerable progress in human methods of thought.

Gets His Hair Dyed.

Editor McCarty of the Albany (Texas) News has had his hair dyed recently and has the following to say about it:

"It was red once upon a time, and so we have painted it red again, and tain't nobody's durn business. Old Father Time the crowds entertained with the brush of age, and so we have put one by him and painted it red—in other words, titian locks. Now, when your house gets faded, the paint rubbed off, and it's gray, like, why, you repaint it. And that's what we've done—gone back to nature. We guess God knew what He was doing when He made our locks red. The flapper has her locks sheared and bleached; thinks she is smarter than God and proceeds to change nature—We ain't done that, just got back to nature—called Father Time's hand. Grandma goes down to the beauty shops and gets her gray locks bobbed, has the wrinkles taken out of her face, shortens her skirts and skips down the streets like a maid of sixteen and all in the world that she acts as just to get her glands renewed, and grandma would sure enough be frisky. And now, if women paint their cheeks, their necks, arms and hands, why not their lips, why in thunder and Tom Walker can't we paint our hair red, just like God painted it; tain't no deception—and that's more than some of your durn business.

This is the age of paint; get your automobile repainted, repaint your house, repolish your shoes, paint your mustache, put whitening on your brown face, get the dentist to put gold teeth in front of any talking fiance or sounding gong—yes, do everything you can to beat nature and time, and stave off your blasted ugliness—and then just because the editor of the Albany News paints his hair like the fairies fixed it in the embryonic process of human creation, why the old guys stand around like durn fools as he goes by. Of course, the dyer used too much red, and he is not to be blamed for the design of the Divine Artist—and it ain't none of your durn business, old greeser—now laughing.

There is perhaps no state in the Union richer in romance than Texas. Its border history would provide material for the greatest romance of an historian, and has furnished, in recent years, the theme for many a colorful yarn. Aside from the modern romance of its oil fields, its vast expanse of territory and the contrasts offered within the confines of its wide-flung borders there is what holds for many a stronger lure than any of these. That is the relic, to be found in abundance in many parts of the State, of ancient Indian tribes and even prehistoric people who in ages gone lived their strange lives amid the savagery of the days when the world was young.

The Trail Drivers' Monument.

The following appeal is being sent out by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Old Trail Drivers' Association in the movement to raise $30,000 for the erection of a monument to the memory of the men who drove cattle up the trail in the early days. A copy of this letter is being sent to each county judge in Texas:

San Antonio, Texas, July 8, 1925
Dear Sir:—

It has been the desire of the Old Trail Drivers of Texas to erect a monument to the memory of the men who initiated a most important commercial enterprise for Texas.

At the Close of the Civil War, reconstruction days set in, which caused a state of turmoil. Our defeated soldiers had returned home, negros freed, property destroyed and nothing left but their cattle which had increased and overstocked our vast ranges. There being no market for their cattle, a few of our most venturesome cattlemen drove a few herds of cattle to Kansas in 1867 hunting a market. Being successful those men and many others drove in 1868 and 1869. Stockyards were established in Abilene, Kansas, advertized all over the North and East as a market for Texas cattle; this brought buyers from all quarters. This opened the Kansas market for Texas cattle and Trail driving days began in earnest.

During the trail driving period there were ten million cattle and one million horses driven over the trail to Northern markets and sold. The proceeds were in turn used to develop Texas. It required 35,000 men to drive these cattle and horses; their salaries came back to Texas and were used in the same way as above mentioned.

San Antonio was changed from a small trading post to the metropolis of Texas by the trail driving industry. All the Trail Drivers and Ranchmen's equipment and supplies in San Antonio trade territory for 200 miles in all directions were bought in San Antonio. In the eighties the trails moved Westward, railroads came, livestock furnished tonnage North and Immigrants South. The eyes of the World were turned on Texas, capital flowed in our gates.

During the trail driving days the wilderness of North Texas and the States and Territories from the Rio Grande to the Canadian line were taken from the Savages, the buffalo replaced by herds, the yell of the Savages changed to religious songs of a happy and prosperous people. San Antonio trade territory is shipped annually over the trail driving days 400,000 to 500,000 head of livestock to market and the grassy grounds of Kansas and Indian Territory (Now Oklahoma.)

Ninety per cent of the early trailers were Confederate veterans, many of them sons of the pioneers of Texas empire, and no other class of men would have braved this hazardous undertaking.

The movements to erect a monument was started by the Trail Drivers several years ago.

There are only a few of these lusty Pioneers left and this phase of the Cattle Industry has gone, never to return, as has the period of the open range; soon there will be nothing left to remind the coming generations of that noble part of Texas history. It is fitting and right that while some of the old trailers are yet alive the work started by them should be completed by their decendants and the beneficiaries of this important enterprise.

Knowing that every Texan will want to be indentified with this gerat work, we propose to put on an active State-wide campaign for $100,000.00 to erect a suitable monument in San Antonio (The head of the Trail) to perpetuate the memory of those noble men. Therefore we ask that you have this letter published in your local papers that publicity may be given the work to be undertaken.

Yours very truly,
Mrs. R. R. Russell

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Moore of Austin, and Hugh C. Mills of San Antonio, were visitors at the New Era sanctum Monday. Mr. Moore is connected with the Austin Statesman-American as a reporter. We greatly appreciated their visit, and hope they will come again.

A. D. Kutzer and two little sons, of the Midway Stock Farm on Winan's Creek, were in town Saturday and paid the New Era an unpaid visit. Mr. Kutzer advanced his subscription figures to the New Era and Frontier Times another year and left us an order for some ranch stationery.

A message received from Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ruge, who returned to their home at Fort Smith, Ark., last week, states that they made the trip safely and without mishap. Mr. and Mrs. Ruge spent a couple of months here with their son, Walter E. Ruge, and wife, and greatly enjoyed their visit. They were accompanied home by their daughter, Miss Johanna Ruge, who came and spent a two weeks' vacation here.

Messrs. L. M. Evans and J. C. Hillman, prominent citizens of the upper part of the county, were transacting business in Bandera Saturday, and dropped in to see the New Era folks, and Mr. Evans took occasion to renew his subscription to the interesting little magazine, Frontier Times. These gentlemen found much to interest them in our art gallery and museum, where Mr. Hillman was surprised to find pictures of his own domicile, the place he has occupied for forty-five years.

Rev. Bloodworth Lectures.

Rev. Lloyd Bloodworth, of Fort Worth, lectured at the Cox Opera House last Tuesday night in behalf of the Ku Klux Klan. The crowd present to hear Rev. Bloodworth was unusually large, the spacious hall being filled to its full seating capacity. Rev. Bloodworth was accompanied to Bandera by Jesse P. Jones, of San Antonio. The speaker was introduced by William Wallace, and immediately launched into his subject, and spoke for more than an hour, holding the attention of the audience from start to finish. He said many good things and nothing to offend anyone, and was given a most respectful hearing. The lecture was arranged under the auspices of the local Ku Klux Klan.

Memorial Service.

A number of Bandera people went to San Antonio to attend the memorial services conducted at the First Baptist church in that city last Sunday for Miss Ruth Hicks, popular Bandera girl, who died here August 20. Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks, the parents, and all relatives were among those who went to San Antonio. While attending Main Avenue High School in San Antonio, from which she graduated last spring, Miss Hicks was a B. Y. P. U. worker and attendant at the First Baptist church there, and was held in high esteem by all who knew her.

Former Citizen Dead.

Mrs. L. M. Evans, of Lima, received the sad news last Thursday that her father, W. S. Irby had died suddenly at his home at Ranger, presumably from heart failure. Mr Irby was 82 years old and leaves a wife and nine children, Mrs. L. M. Evans of Lima, Mrs. George Allsup of Medina, Grover, Jeptha, Jesse, Irl, and Miss Hazel Irby, Mrs. Katie Redman and Mrs. Ollie Barker, all of Ranger. Mrs. Virgil McCarthy and Gene George. The New Era was furnished with a list of names of those who attended, but it reached us too late for publication, and was crowded out. Correspondents making report of social affairs are kindly requested to send in their letters early.

Although Lee Mason & Son, at Kerrville, have sold their Ford Sales and Service Station, they have retained their new filling station and will continue to serve the public in a highly satisfactory manner. Their establishment is provided with a ladies' rest room, free public telephone, air scale service, and other conveniences.

Sam Sutton, of the Lima region, was in town Tuesday closing a deal for the Gass ranch above the mouth of Honey Creek. The tract contains about 260 acres, and we understand the price paid was $7,000.

Clark Family Reunion Today.

Today Bandera's oldest citizen, Veteran Amasa Clark, is celebrating his one hundredth birthday at his home four miles west of town, surrounded by his family, his wife, sixteen children, 86 grandchildren and 75 great grandchildren. Among those from abroad who came for the big reception were Veteran Clark's daughters, Mrs. Caroline Taylor and Mrs. Elsie Massey of Van Nuys, near Los Angeles, who came in yesterday.

When the birthday dinner is spread today the family alone will constitute about 200 persons. Twenty muttons have been barbecued, and the Pioneer Freighters' Association of San Antonio have sent up a birthday cake with 100 candles on it, as a tribute to the old veteran, who is an honorary member of that association. The oldest great grandchild who is present at the celebration is sixteen years old. He is Isaac Clark, Jr., of Tarpley.

During the ceremonies Mr. Clark will be presented with a gold medal, symbolic of the Freighters' insignia, by Wilbur B. Krempkau, secretary-treasurer and organizer of the association. The medal was fashioned by Charles Simang of San Antonio, from the Lone Star, on a field containing the moon and stars entwined with rays from the sun, in token of the elements by which pioneer freighters guided their ox'ats.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service will be held at the Methodist church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, in honor of the late Mrs. Ruth Hicks. All friends are invited to attend.

"Fact Night" at the Jones'

Facing facts is a utter trying and irritating ordeal — but every family knows such hours unless the institution of home is based soundly upon the principle of "living within your means."

Almost every family starts on the right road but through failure to face facts of "Income and Outgo" acquire obligations which bring them many unhappy hours.

Why not put your home affairs on a business basis? Open a bank account here and adopt the policy of spending just a little less than your income. Soon you will have control of the situation on "fact nights."

The First State Bank of Bandera

Tea for Two—

The "tea for two" phrase is a homey sentence. It implies ease, relax from the strifes of life, comfort and plenty. If sounds comfortable and it is—in more ways than one.

The "T" for two we advocate most, however, is the "T" in Thrift. When husband and wife face facts and recognize the principle of constructive building, for peace, happiness and plenty—they will whole-heartedly heed this message and make Thrift an everyday practice.

Spend just a little less than you make—bank the difference and once you have money in the bank many ways will open for you to make good sound investments—and add another income to help build for your future.

The First National Bank of Bandera

Hoot Gibson Coming.

Hoot Gibson, the screen favorite, will appear at the Bandera Theater Friday night, September 11, in a thrilling baseball special, "Hit and Run." Hoot is a popular favorite with Bandera folks, and this picture is going to be a screamer. Now don't confuse the date—with next Friday night, for tomorrow night, September 4, is when Mary Philbin will appear in "The Rose of Paris," one of Universal's big productions. Ben Jureezki is showing only high class pictures on Monday and Friday nights at the Bandera Theater, and he should have a crowded house each time. No need to go all of the way to San Antonio to see a good show when we have one of the best right here at home, which often shows the big pictures before they are shown in San Antonio.

Celebrates 79th Birthday.

Mrs. John Adamietz celebrated her 79th birthday Monday and that evening her children and a number of friends dropped in to extend congratulations and make merry the occasion. Grandma Adamietz is loved by everybody in Bandera. She has a cheerful word and an encouraging greeting for every one she meets, and we hope she will be spared many years yet to bless her home. She came to Bandera with the Polish colonists in 1855, just a little girl then, and grew to womanhood here. As Miss Constantina Pyka she married John Adamietz here, and raised a large family of children, her boys and girls becoming useful and respected citizens and holding positions of high standing. Quite a large crowd attended the birthday celebration, but we did not get a list of all who were there.

LIMA LINES.

The meeting will continue over until next Sunday. Every one is invited.

Our new school house is beginning to look pretty good. Prof. Joy L. Tilley and Miss Vivian Keese have been employed to teach the next term.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie Loyd and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Keese and children.

Joe Bailey and Tom Finney and families dined with their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Keese Sunday evening.

John Coose came up from San Antonio Saturday after his wife and little sons. Mrs. Coose was much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tobey and son, Harry and Miss Clara Walker and Sylva Keese were guests in Stanley Keese's home Sunday evening.

Misses Lois Tobey and Arelie Mitchell spent Sunday evening in the Hilman home.

On Saturday evening, September 5th, there will be a lecture in the new school building at Lima. Mr. H. H. Kellogg will give the lecture, his subject being "Panama, the Country, the People, and the Canal." Mr. Kellogg is from San Antonio, and spent several years in the Canal Zone. From what we know of him we expect this to be a very interesting and instructive lecture. This will be a dedication of our new school house, of which we are very proud, and we expect a good attendance. We are sure all will be repaid for coming. A small admittance fee will be charged, the proceeds to go for equipment of the building.

Next Monday is Labor Day. First State Bank of Bandera will be closed all day September 7.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

...ed as second-class matter at ...ostoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The New Era is here to serve its readers impartially. We may have a good word to say for some fellow you do not like, or perhaps you consider him below your social standing. But he is a citizen of the community, and because you do not like him it does not mean that we should ignore him. He may have his friends just the same as you have, and he has his rights as well as the privileges the same as any other citizen. He may want to take us to task for saying a good word of the paper about you, but that makes no difference, we go right on saying good things regardless. We often have to publish news items which we would much prefer to leave out of the paper, but it happens to be news and we have no choice but to publish it. They are many items which are not published because we do not learn of them, and some people say we left them out purposely. This is not true. If you know an item which you think we would intentionally leave out of the paper, you just call our attention to it and see if it is not published that is if it is of current interest to the community. The New Era has faithfully tried to publish all of the news of the community without bias or prejudice, and we believe the majority of our readers will agree that we have in a large measure succeeded in doing so.

Under the new hunting regulations, after September 1 hunting license must be purchased in county of your residence to permit you to hunt in other counties. Owners or lessors of land who lease hunting privileges must file application with game warden for license to lease their lands by time hunting season opens, and a record of every car and every individual entering on such premises for the purpose of hunting must be kept and reported to the Fish, Game and Oyster Commissioner on blanks supplied for that purpose. The hunting lease license fee is $5.00.

Some of these days the road from Bandera to Medina, and on up Wallace Creek across the mountain to Kerrville will be designated a State Highway. This is at the present time known as Trail Loop No. 10. In the Medina precinct during the past year $25,000 has been spent in improving this road, from Wiman's Creek to the Kerr county line. From the Kerr county line to Kerrville road builders are now at work making that end of the road just what it should be. But before the State Highway Commission will designate that road as a highway to be taken over and maintained by state funds we are going to have to do considerable work between Bandera and Wiman's Creek, work which should have been done months ago. Let's do it now. Once the road is designated a state highway it will mean a great deal to Bandera, for it will prove to be a great scenic loop out of San Antonio, passing through Helotes, Pipe Creek, Bandera, Medina and Kerrville; thence back to San Antonio through Center Point, Comfort, Boerne, and Leon Springs, Covering a distance of 160 miles through the most picturesque regions in Texas. Every season thousands of tourists will make this loop, and every automobile which passes through Bandera will help Bandera in some way.

Chas. Schreiner Company

Dealers in General Merchandise

The House of Quality

IN 1860 WE STARTED IN BUSINESS IN A SMALL WAY. OUR BUSINESS HAS INCREASED WITH LEAPS AND BOUNDS AND WE ARE NOW PROBABLY THE LARGEST RETAIL STORE IN TEXAS. NEARLY SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

"There is a Reason"

Sells Ford Dealership.

The well known firm of Lee Masop & Son, at Kerrville, has sold the Ford Sales and Service Station in that city to Mr. G. S. Cone, the new dealers to operate under the name of the Cone Car Company. For many years Lee Mason & Son have been doing business with the people of the Hill Country and built up a most flattering trade throughout this region. They maintained a high standard of service which was appreciated by the public. We are sure the new owner of the business will continue to maintain this excellent service and, while regretting the withdrawal of Lee Mason, the New Era hastens to extend to his successor our very best wishes and bespeak for him that degree of confidence and good will which the public has so freely given his predecessor.

Good roads and better schools are needed to make any county a desirable place in which to live. Bandera county has been making advancement along these lines the past three or four years, but there is much to be done yet. We need better roads and we need better schools, and by united effort we will get these things.

Quite a number of subscriptions to the New Era are expiring at this time. We hope each subscriber will notice the date of expiration on the margin of his paper, and renew at once. A dollar and a half is just a small sum, but when there are many like amounts scattered here and there they will amount to considerable when gathered together. And just now the little old home paper needs 'em all.

Already, with the hunting season's approach, the city dwellers are beginning to make preparations to spend time hunting game in the Hill Country. We believe there will be a greater rush to this region this year than ever before, and our ranchmen and farmers should get ready for them. In time, past the loss of stock and damage done to pasture fences by hunters has been great, so much so that nearly all our landowners hope had to forbid hunting on their premises. The last legislature made a number of changes in the game laws, which are mentioned elsewhere. The hunting license now issued does not permit the individual to hunt on posted lands. Better post your land early and thus keep undesirables out.

Anything but a Jelly Bean.

We have just enjoyed a most friendly visit by a comrade of other days, John MacNaughton. John, who is married and the father of three children, is living happily at Bandera, and has grown so both in height and circumference that we hardly knew him when he walked in. However, he still wore that old MacNaughton smile that we would know anywhere. Right well does he have a reason for smiling just now with the price of wool so high, and he a sheep farmer! We were mighty glad he brought two of his children to see us. After the three were gone their presence seemed to linger with us—a pure, wholesome, happy presence. We wish that more of our young men might grow up to be the clean minded, pleasant-natured, God-fearing man that John MacNaughton is. And we appreciate very much, that invitation for us to visit him at Bandera.—Leslie A. Cooper, in San Marcos Record.

Dipping Wildcats.

Bandera New Era: Q. T. Hodges of Pipe Creek killed a big wildcat a few days ago, and while skinning the animal he found quite a number of cattle fever ticks on it. Dan Buck took possession of the ticks and was displaying them to friends in town Saturday. A movement is now on foot to organize a crew to round up all the wildcats in the county and dip them.

It's a large order, especially if a wildcat has the same aversion to water as has a domesticated feline. However, if the Bandera County stockmen have their minds made up to do it, State Press would like to be apprised as to the date and hour, so that he can come over and watch the proceedings. He will get a reserved seat over on the Edwards Plateau and use a telescope—not from a lack of personal courage, but merely to give the Bandera County people plenty of room when they are dragging a wildcat into the dipping tank, and more room after they have got ten him there. They will need plenty of room—no wildcat is going to volunteer to go down the chute. No, they will be like the Mexican soldiers' State Press heard of once. A General of that nationality once wrote to a commander of his own rank as follows: "I am sending you herewith under escort five hundred volunteers for your campaign in the north. Please return the ropes."—State Press, in Dallas News.

In the October number of Frontier Times, the little monthly magazine published in Bandera, will appear an interesting sketch of "Jack Potter, the Fighting Parson." Rev. Potter once lived in this county and owned a small ranch on Privilege Creek. He was well known to many of our older citizens.

In a few days now the school bell will call our children to their studies. After a three months' vacation the young hopefuls will take up their school work anew. Last term of school was better than the year before; this year's term will be better than last year, for we are constantly building.

The Kendall County Fair.

The Kendall County Fair at Boerne, which is to be held Sept. 4, 5, 6, this year has gone on record for years and is considered a fair of progress. Although Kendall county is known for its droughtiness year, the directory of the Fair Ass'n, decided some time ago that the fair was a go, and it is already established that this year's fair will be a big one, according to the application blanks at the exhibition hall and stock pens and otherwise. The fair should be attended by everyone in Kendall county, and of course, by nearly everybody in adjoining counties according to the Secretary of the fair. The management of the Kendall County Fair wants your assistance to make it a fair that the whole community will be proud of. The management has planned a live, progressive fair, abounding in fresh and novel sights and exhibits, and make it interesting to visitors and all. The floral and domestic hall will be a scene of varied beauty and wonder of woman's industry and handiwork, such as textile fabrics, knitting, crocheting, and fancy work. There will also be the most attractive school exhibits, drawings, engravings, carving and bric-a-brac, and gems of ancient and modern fine art, antiquities, and old and valuable relics, keepsakes and curiosities, including also old time war relics and souvenirs, and the most beautiful exhibit of flowers, plants, bouquets and floral ornaments will be shown.

There will be one of the best sheep and goats exhibits ever shown here, more entries now than ever before, the hogs exhibit will be good. There are fifty thoroughbred race horses on the grounds now, and full race program will take place daily.

Military Band Concerts daily and a whole week's demonstration of drills and exhibits given daily, two bands during day time, extra up-to-date orchestra for dancing in open pavilion every night, baseball daily. 1925 Hunting Season Begins

Kerrville Mountain Sun:

As practically all the good sportsmen of Texas enrolled as charter members of the Izaak Walton League chapters, which were organized all over the State the past spring and summer, game wardens can count on a valuable assistance in enforcing the game and fishing laws. Every Waltonian is a defender of woods, waters and wild life and will insist on the strict enforcement of all game and fishing laws in his section. The main protection of all wild game is the sportsmen who go afield and the continued growth of the Izaak Walton League will make Texas one of the best-protected States in the country. Strong chapters have been organized all over the Hill Country and will be of great assistance to the local game wardens in helping to enforce the new provisions of the game laws.

The open season on doves in this, the north zone, is from September 1 to October 31, inclusive, with a bag limit of 15 in one day, 45 in one week.

From September 1 to September 10, inclusive, prairie chickens can be killed in both the north and south zones. The limit is 5 in one day, 10 during the season.

The local duck season opens October 16th and extends to January 31st, inclusive. The bag is limited to 25 in one day, 50 in one week. The past two years the season has closed January 15th.

The deer and turkey season was changed by the last Legislature and runs from November 16th to December 31st, inclusive. The bag limit on bucks has been cut to two in one season and each must have two or more prongs. Three yobblers in one season is the limit on turkey.

Under the new law all ranchmen who lease the hunting rights on their ranch are required to take out a license costing $5; must keep a register showing license number and game killed by each hunter on their place.

Following are the new game laws as revised for 1925:

North and South Zones.

Rail, black-bellied plover and yellow legs, both zones, September to October.

Wild ducks (except wood ducks), geese, brant, snipe gallinules and coot and mud hens, north zone, October 16 to January 31, inclusive. South zone, November 1 to January 31, inclusive.

Prairie chickens or pinnated grouse, both zones, September 1 to September 10, inclusive.

Wild buck deer and bear, both zones, November 16 to December 31, inclusive.

The Hill Country Teachers' Institute will be held at Fredericksburg next week, and our Bandera county teachers, the most of them, will be there. A very instructive and interesting program has been arranged, several good school men of state and national reputation having places on the program, among them being Dr. Frederick Eby of the University of Texas, Prof. S. M. Sewell of the Southwest Texas State Teachers College, Miss Julia Lipscomb of the College of Industrial Arts, who will have charge of the high school, intermediate and primary work, respectively. State Superintendent Marrs and Prof. Roy Bedichek, head of the Interscholastic League will also be there.

ANNOUNCEMENT

It is with considerable pleasure that I announce the purchase of the Kerrville Ford Dealership from Messrs. Lee Mason & Son, which will hereafter be operated under the name of Gone Car Company.

With the exception of Messrs. Mason and the organization at their filling station, which is being retained by them, the personnel of the business will remain the same to a man, my only addition to the force being Mr. T. J. McElroy, who has been associated with me for seven years in the Ford business I recently sold at San Augustine, and who will act as Assistant Manager here.

It is our intention to carry out the general policies of our predecessors and to render the best possible service in every line.

I consider myself fortunate in being able to locate permanently in "The Most Talked-of Town in Texas" and am anxious to make friends with everyone in the territory. Come in and let's get acquainted. We are here to serve you and help solve your transportation problems.

Mrs. R. Z. McDonald came up from San Antonio Sunday and spent the day with her sister, Mrs. J. B. Holt. Allen McDonald accompanied her. Mrs. Holt's little girls, Aileen and Minnie Mae went back to San Antonio with them to spend this week.

Miss Hugh Mayfield went to San Antonio this week to spend awhile with friends and relatives. She will also visit friends at Port Arthur while away. During her absence her place at the switchboard of the Southwest Telephone exchange is being filled by Miss Velma Stevens.

You have been wanting to give me that application. Do so right now. We are going to organize Friday, September 4. Why not help us enjoy that barbecue supper. If you can't see me, Mr. Hunter will take your application.—Joy L. Tilley, district manager for Heralds of Liberty.

Rev. J. W. Childers and family, of Jourdanton, were here this week visiting old friends. They were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Tait while in the city. Rev. Childers was pastor of the Methodist church at Bandera in 1919, and during the time the family resided here they made many friends, who are always glad to welcome them to Bandera.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Foster and little son, of Vanderpool, were here Friday en route to Lima to visit Mr. Foster's sister, Mrs. Coose, and other relatives. We appreciated a visit from these good people while they were in the city. They are staunch friends to the New Era, and always have a good word to say for the little old home paper. We hope they will stay longer next time they come to Bandera.

R. N. Padgett was over from Tarpley Saturday and dropped in to tell us he would take some of his fine registered sheep and goats over to the Boerne fair this week. Mr. Padgett is also going to exhibit at the Pearsall fair during the latter part of this month. He attended the Fredericksburg fair with a few of his goats and carried off premiums, outclassing some well-known goats from Mason county which heretofore had been blue ribbon winners.

St Joseph's Parochial School will open next Tuesday.

Miss Thelma Surber entertained a number of her friends Monday night with a delightful party.

One night last week thieves entered the orchard of Colonel J. A. Head and helped themselves to about 25 bushels of choice pears, almost stripping one tree. The identity of the thieves is suspected.

The three days' conference of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, held at Pipe Creek, closed Sunday night. Under the able preaching of Elder D. S. Palmer four conversions resulted and baptismal services were conducted Sunday morning.

Heralds of Liberty and their families will have a barbecue supper at the Mansfield Park Friday, September 4. We will organize at this meeting. It is hoped that every member will be present. Come and enjoy yourself. It is our treat.—Heralds of Liberty; pays if you live, pays if you die.

Sam Smith sends the New Era word that two stray mules and a mare are to be found near his place in the lane just this side of Medina. The stray gray mule which has a severe wire cut in the shoulder and needs attention, as screw worms are getting in their work. The other is a small "dogy" mule, and the mare is a small brown animal.

Mrs. Luther Coughran and children are spending a couple of weeks at Alpine with her sister, Mrs. J. D. May. Which accounts for that broad-beamed expression which adorns Luther's physiognomy. He says starvation stares him in the face every time he undertakes to eat a meal of his own cooking, but he thinks he can hold out until the good wife gets back home.

Rev. and Mrs. M. J. Scott left this week for San Saba, where Mrs. Scott and baby will remain for a few weeks with relatives and friends. Rev. Scott will visit North Texas and the Panhandle in search of a location. The good wishes of many friends follow these excellent people and we hope their new location will be amidst pleasant and profitable surroundings.

Word has been received in Kerrville that Miss Emma Eames who has been attending the Nerve Sch.ol at San Marcos, underwent a successful operation for appendicitis at a hospital in Bastrop last Thursday. Miss Emmy Wachter of Kerrville left for Bastrop Wednesday of last week to be with her. Miss Eames is a daughter of Judge Eames of Bandera, but has been making her home in Kerrville. She is one of the teachers in the local schools—Kerrville Mt. Sun.

Col J. A. Head is a staunch standby and loyal friend to the New Era. Besides taking the little old home paper himself he sends it to his children, Mrs. J. E. Holt, and Mrs. Eugene Black, at Vanald, Homer W. Head of Oklahoma City, and Herbert L. Head, Columbus, Kansas, and to Mrs. Velma Smith of Stewartsville, Mo., and George A. Barnes at Nixon, Texas. He also takes Frontier Times and sends copies of it away. The New Era has several patrons of this kind, who are doing all they can to help circulate the home paper, and we appreciate their assistance in the fullest sense.

Mrs. Kate Whisenhunt of Medina, visited our sanctum Tuesday. She was returning from a visit to her old home at Gonzales, where she attended the dedication services at the First Presbyterian church last Sunday. The event proved quite a home-coming for all of the old members of the Presbyterian church at Gonzales, which was first built in 1852, many of the old members coming from different parts of the state to attend the ceremonies connected with a new $60,000 edifice. Rev. Robt. Hall, of Corsicana, whose father was the first pastor of that church, conducted the services. Mrs. Whisenhunt was the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. R. Schenke while in Gonzales.

Among the guests at the Amasa Clark centennial celebration last Thursday we found H. H. Williams, the man who writes the "Cattle Clatter" column of the San Antonio Express. Mr. Williams was strictly in his glory when interviewing the old veteran and his report of the grand celebration appeared in Friday's Express.

Last Saturday at the Boerne Fair Veteran Amasa Clark was presented with a three-pound can of Maxwell House Coffee, and given the assurance by representatives of the coffee concern that he would be supplied with this excellent coffee as long as he lives. The hundred-year-old veteran of the Mexican War was photographed with a can of the coffee in his hand.

Will Buy Wool and Mohair.

Fred Thalmann, manager of the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association, announces a new policy for that organization. Heretofore the association has not gone into the market to purchase wool and mohair but has been content to bulk it in their warehouse and sell it for the grower on a competitive market, which offers the greatest advantage to the grower under general conditions. But owing to the fact that some growers, for various reasons, prefer to sell direct rather than store their wool and mohair, the association has decided to buy as well as to store and sell on commission.

The association is now well in to its sixth year of successful operation, and during this time has handled nearly a million dollars worth of products for the sheep and goat men of this section, obtaining prices for wool and mohair well up to the average received by other warehouses in Texas throughout the same period. It is not operated for individual profit, but is owned and operated by more than 200 of the ranchmen and farmers of Bandera county.

W. D Smithers and N. H. Rose, the photographers, came up from San Antonio and spent Sunday with the writer's family. They are making photographic views of the Hill Country and are getting some wonderful scenes.

The Reed Family Reunion.

On Sunday, September 13th, the Reeds enjoyed themselves together at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Mayberry, on the Reed ranch, eleven miles west from Medina. This was indeed an enjoyable occasion. Food sufficient for twice the number present was prepared. A goat was killed at the ranch on Saturday and divided among the several families interested. Each family prepared its share of the food and they all seem to be expert cooks.

When everything was ready the ladies ordered a wagon sheet spread on the ground in the front yard, the dining table not being sufficient to accomodate the number present. On this dinner was placed and everyone seemed to enjoy it more because we were close to nature.

Those of the Reeds present were: Mrs. Artie (mother) Reed, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Reed, M. and Mrs. D. C. Reed and Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Mayberry, at whose home dinner was given.

Two aunts from San Antonio, Mrs. Joe Kelly and Mrs. Jeff Smith, were also present, with Mr. Haughley and Miss Ada Smith, son and daughter of Mrs. Jeff Smith.

Besides the Reeds and their kinsfolk were Miss Edith Douglas of San Antonio and Evangelist P. S. Young of Haskell Texas.—M.

Heralds of Liberty will entertain its members and their families with a barbecue at Mansfield Park on Friday evening, September 25. All members invited.

Receives Fine Buck.

Elvins Hicks this week received a yearling Polled Delaine ram from J. Hakely & Son of Grinnell, Ohio, which he will make his flock header. Mr. Hicks has some dandy good sheep and is steadily improving the strain. His fleece was awarded first prize at the Bandera County Fair last month.

Frontier Times for October.

The October number of Frontier Times is being mailed out this week from the New Era office. The current number contains a wealth of historical material that is valuable to high school students who are making Texas history a special study. Every boy and girl should read Frontier Times for it gives information that the school histories do not contain.

Frontier Times is published monthly in Bandera and circulates in every state in the Union. Its subscription list is constantly growing, and some of the leading colleges and universities endorse the little magazine as being a publication of merit.

Test Station.

My Reward for Service.

If I can ease one life it's aching,
Or brush away one pain;

If I can help one failing brother
Into his strength again,
If I can encourage mother,
I'll not have lived in vain.

My treatments and advice have been free; the only charge that has been made by me to any person in Bandera has been when the person has bought herbs, prepared by a proper legal manufacturer, and all claims are printed on containers as per law. ...red as second-class matter at ...ostoffice at Bandera, Texas.

A bad disposition seldom accompanies a happy day. The very best thing to do when our spirit sags is to go hunting for some extra gleams of sunshine and camp them in our heart.

It is a mighty good thing that science is discovering methods of doing a great many things easily, for the rising generation is certainly not demonstrating a fiendish fancy for hard work.

The easy way people have of excusing immorality among boys and men makes for a plight in society that is bitter and damning. The male offender is as much a prostitute as the female offender and his presence in decent society should be spurned.

Solomon said that the love of money was the root of evil, and if you do not believe it just step on some fellow's pocketbook who loves money and see how quickly the devil shows his horn, tail and the smell of sulphur all at the same time.

With the coming of fall weather and the harvest of crops the farmer is able to know full well how much he is dependent upon God for his prosperity, and the rest of us ought to remember that if the farmer fails all of us are heading straight for the boneyard.

Our laws demand that judgment be not rendered until both sides are heard, and yet we have people that pose as religious leaders who grab the first bit of gossip they hear about a person and slam judgment down with a crash and reach for the ax and the chopping block.

Some writer has said that the church has failed to meet the hunger of his heart because it has become a great machine for stress laid on collections by many churches is apt to cause a great many people to reach the same opinion as the man quoted above.

A man and wife are so thoroughly one that every element from the outside affects them both. The word "your" and the word "my" should enter their vocabulary seldom, for theirs is a life knit as one and for eachother in happiness and comfort they should struggle always.

A heartache is nothing more than the soul of man grieving before a mental picture which would be erased if it could only be so. Turn away from the picture and look upon God's great out-of-doors. The open air and the wide stretches will cure the soul that is cramped within the narrow walls of self-consciousness.

If some of the stunts pulled by the best of men in the ancient days were tried today there would be such a flock of tar and feather parties that Russia would seem like a convalescent home for worn out Sunday school teachers. At least there has been a world of improvement in the manners of man in the last three thousand years.

Real Frontier Times

The Bootlegger.

Much is being said these days about that despicable and contemptible character called the "bootlegger." He is being blamed for the steady flow of bootleg booze which comes into our community to make drunkards of our boys and debauch our girls. All manner of crime is now being traced to the illicit dealings of the bootlegger, and our court dockets are overcrowded with his cases, and our jails are being filled with his companions. It begins to look as if prohibition is a failure, for the government forces do not seem to be able to cope effectively with the situation created by prohibition. What the outcome will be eventually we do not presume to guess. But there must be some solution, and that speedily, or disaster awaits us.

In all ages of civilization from the crude state of semi-barbarism to the present day fuller flowering of intellectual and social status of man, there have been a specially favored few who have had their friends tied to them by unbreakable bonds, and these friends could be found in every stratum of life, from petty thieves and midnight assassins to that supposedly aristocratic superior class to whom affairs of church and state had been intrusted. Physical courage and the ability to wield a club were, in the earlier days of man's emergence, the lodestone that attracted and made defenders, worshipers and slaves of the less gifted. Later, necromancy succeeded brute force and animal cunning in winning worshipers. These were followed by priests, kings, feudal lords and lesser grades of highercups in the deft art of taking from their weaker fellows and giving little in return.

Compared to the present day bootlegger, however, all of these from the bulgeous wonder down through the ages, were pikers in the gentle art of separating men from their money, their respect of the law, for themselves, their wives and children and their God. The bootlegger can boast the most abject following of any set of men who, without promising anything of benefit, have simply said, "come." Some of the synonyms for abject, as given in Noah's dictionary of synonyms, are earthbrawl, lowminded, sordid, ignobie and degraded. There are 10 or a dozen others, but these will suffice, and when the bootlegger has one little bit intelligence that is usually credited to satan, it is easy to picture him joining his satanic majesty in glee when contemplating the result of his going about among men.

Let it be understood that the bootlegger is a criminal, not from impulse of necessity, but deliberately and for gain. He is a member of that lower class of criminals who are too far beneath contempt for slander. The limit has been said of him in naming his vocation. "By their fruits shall ye know them" is no less true today than nearly the 2000 years ago. And what are the fruits of the bootlegger's mission among men? The court house the jail, the wrecked home, the Baby Camp, the Community Chest, each tells its own story of the after math of his contaminating influence. And yet is he more culpable than they for whom he is sustained? He is their creature. They meet him under cover, and encourage him by giving him money. Usually of low intelligence and minds morals, he feels elevated by his new association and takes pride in, the reflection that "some of the best men in the community are his supporters.

Supporters, by the way, is a good word. It admirably describes those who sustain him, protect him, finance him, swear falsely for his sake, deprive their families that he may be kept in business. They pay fines for their own misconduct on his account. This creature of, theirs who could not exist without them, compels the sacrifice on their part, not alone of their money, but of their sense of honor. No emperor, czar or king ever had a more servile following. There was never need to sacrifice so much to serve, as must be given up to the bootlegger. They invite him to violate the law, he accepts the invitation and they pay the price in part, passing the greater portion on to their families and the community. That the bootlegger is about as worthless a specimen of God's creation as can be found few sane men will question, but, really and truly, is he better or is he worse than those who sustain him, and if so, to what extent?

The school board has formulated a set of rules for Bandera High School, which will be printed and distributed among the patrons of the school. It is desired that each parent read these rules carefully and lend their co-operation in the school work in every way. The success of the school depends just as much on the parents as it does on the faculty. We have excellent prospects for the long term of school we have ever had, and we hope all will do their bit in making it the best.

One of the best signs today is that men are showing an interest in Bible study. When the man-head of the world knows what God wants done there will be a goodly number of them do much better than they would otherwise do.

Once more the school bell is ringing, calling childhood to the hall of learning. Patrons should stand by the teachers that their children learn discipline, stand by their children that they may learn their lessons, and then stand by the church on Sunday to keep the child from thinking that school is more important than the church.

If you have anything for sale a little want ad in the New Era will probably find a buyer.

Trip to Tarpley.

The editor of the New Era, accompanied by W. D. Smithers, San Antonio's best photographer, made a trip to the Tarpley region last Sunday, and procured some excellent views of that mountainous portion of the best county in the state. The first place we headed for was the new school house in Tarpley, which stands completed, and of which some good pictures were taken. Then we motored over to R. N. Padgett's ranch and were invited to light and partake of the noonday repast, an excellent meal prepared by Mrs Padgett and her talented daughter, Miss Kathryn. After dinner, in company with Mr. Padgett, we went over to the other Padgett ranch about two miles away, the home of Messrs. Monroe and Jess Padgett, where Mr. Smithers made pictures of some famous registered Padgett goats which have been waltzing off with most of the blue ribbons at the various county fairs. This is a panoramic view of the ranch, which nestles snugly amid the majestic hills, was taken, showing some of the grandest scenery in all Texas. From the Padgett ranch we returned to Tarpley and were on our way home when the postmaster general, Col. George Dickson, flagged us down and suggested that we go over to the Seco Pass and behold the greatest piece of road building that had been done in all West Texas. He informed us that he was a former Alpine guide and had seen service in the Alps many years ago, and would cheerfully pilot us up the steep mountainside and through Seco Pass. It was late, but we accepted his invitation and speeded over there, and we are thankful that we took Mr. Dickson along to show us the most wonderful part of Bandera county. We knew old Bandera county had some picturesque, rugged scenery, but we did not realize how rugged and beautiful her mountains are until we reached Seco Pass. We went over the new Bandera and Utopia road and just beyond the delightful ranch home of Mr. G. Hicks we began the ascent of the mountain over the newly graded road, one of the finest pieces of engineering skill to be found in all Texas. And right here we want to pause long enough to pay a tribute to the work done by the late lamented J. B. Holt, who was our county commissioner and in charge of the building of this road through Seco Pass at the time of his death. No towering marble shaft marks the grave where he sleeps today, but in the building of this mountain road he erected to himself a monument that will endure for ages. For fully a mile the readbed winds around the mountainside. As he ascends, the traveler can look up on one side and see towering peaks, while on the other side he can look down into the depths of a grand canyon hundreds of feet below. The scene is awe-inspiring and causes wonder by all who have seen it. No need for the nature-lover and pleasure seeking tourist to go to Colorado and California for scenery when and California for scenery when right here in Texas we have grandeur and beauty that will equal, if not surpass it. Mr. Smithers, when he beheld the grand view that spread itself before him when we reached the top of the Pass, was almost beside himself with joy, and seeking a high point from which he could survey the whole scene he unfolded his big camera and made several exposures, obtaining pictures that will tell to the world that old Bandera county has scenery that will delight the most exacting. These pictures can now be seen at the New Era office and those wanting some of the views may place their order with us and same will be forwarded to Mr. Smithers at his studio in San Antonio.

Views were also taken at Tarpley Pass looking West, and showing the majestic grandeur of the Hondo Valley.

WARNING.

To the Patrons of Bandera High School

We are glad to announce that we have been enabled to employ an additional teacher and add another grade to the work.

For your information we submit the following rules which we have adopted relating to pupils and we hope you will preserve a copy of these and co-operate in helping us build Bandera school up to what it should be.

1. Those not entitled to free schooling will be required to pay tuition as follows:

Primary and Intermediate, $1.50 per month.

High School $2.50 per month

Tuition is payable in advance and no pupil will be permitted to attend school more than one week without their tuition being paid for the month.

2. Students above the 3rd grade will be required to devote a proper part of their time to the preparation of their lessons for the following day at their homes after they return from school.

3. No pupil will be permitted to leave school without a written or personal request from their parents, except in case of sickness, or when the Superinten dent deems the occasion warrants it. All requests shall be presented to the Superintendent.

4. Any pupil who shall, in or about the school premises, write or use profane or obscene language, shall be liable to suspension by the Superintendent and expulsion by the Board of Trustees.

5. No pupil will be permitted to bring tobacco in any form, on or about the school grounds.

6. No outsiders will be permitted to loiter on the school premises and, no circulars distributed or announcements made without permission of the Superintendent.

7. In no cases, except to finish an examination, or to investigate some misconduct or other very urgent business, will pupils be detained at the noon hour, but on leaving home they are expected to report directly at the school and when dismissed to go directly home. Upon written or personal request pupils may go to town after school provided they do not spend more time than is necessary to attend to the business in hand. If, how ever, it is found that they are abusing the privilege to loiter in town or to meet disinterested outside parties, the privilege will be withdrawn. This rule is made to protect the parents and we are installing a telephone in the school for your accommodation. So, if you need your child to go to town, either write a note to or telphone the Superintendent.

That all books must be turned in and card certified for some before any pupil shall be promoted.

The Superintendent is empowered to make whatever regulations he may deem proper to carry out these rules, subject to alteration by the Board. If you approve of these regulations, co-operate with us in their enforcement. If you disagree in the wisdom of any of them, and are really interested in building up the school, we expect you to discuss the changes with us and not condemn them to the injury of the school.

Respectfully submitted.

Take a Business Course.

The New Era has a scholarship in Draughon's Business College for sale. Any young man or girl contemplating taking a business course will do well to get price on this.

J. N. Hodges and daughter, Miss Dorothy, were in Cross Plains last week-end. Mr. Hodges made the trip to look after some property that he came into possession of some ten years ago, but had about lost trace of. Cross Plains is experiencing another oil boom and Mr. Hodges found his property, which comprised one fourth block in the town within a few miles of two good wells recently brought in. He found by paying delinquent taxes that he was possessed of some rather valuable property which is in demand for oil lease. Mr. Hodges stated that even the churches in that city were leasing lots at from $750 to $1,000 each.—Junction Eagle.

Miss Bettie Forest is at home. She has been very sick with appendicitis.

Mrs. David Tallman is doing nicely and we hope she will soon be able to come home. She is still in San Antonio.

Last Tuesday night on the banks of the beautiful Medina river a fire-light pie nic was given in honor of Miss Fern Banta's 16th birthday. Those present were Mrs. Charlie Banta and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Banta and children, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Whitehead and family, Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Johnson and family, Mrs. Fries and daughters, also Mrs. Thomas of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Faris of Bandera, Marvin Hatfield, Charlie Akin, Fred Palmer, Snyder King.

Ed Postert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Postert, is attending St. Anthony's Apostolic College in San Antonio.

Mrs. Allie Belle Nicholson and baby, of Austin, are on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal S. Hudspeth.

Mrs. John Ellis, of Winan's Creek, who has been in a hospital in San Antonio for several weeks, was able to return home last week and is very much improved.

Gay Sieker, of Menard, and Lee Johnson of Rocksprings, were here this week buying sheep. About twenty-three years ago, when Gay Sieker was a wee laddie he was our office "devil" in the old Menardville Enterprise office, and of course we were glad to see him in Bandera this week. He has attained a satisfactory degree of success in life and is now engaged in the ranching business near Menard.

TARPLEY.

J.R. Burns visited Rio Frio Sunday.

M. L. Southoff, of 310 Utopia Boulevard, made a business trip to San Antonio last week.

S. R. Coffey, of Hondo, was in Tarpley Sunday.

Rev. G. H. Brown, of Utopia, preached at the Baptist church last Sunday.

L. G. Strawn, of Hondo, made a trip to his ranch here this week.

Messrs Allen and Claude Grisham with their families accompanied by Archie Graham and Cleophas Hicks, left this week for Arizona on a prospecting trip.

C. G. Leighton, of No. 1 Pecan Avenue, has as his guest this week his daughter, Mrs. L. E. Ruddell and Mr. L. E. Ruddell, of Chicago, Illinois.

J. R. Burns has bought the blacksmith shop from J. B. Wright.

It is rumored that some more College Heights property has changed hands.

Col. C. G. Leighton is very much incensed at the aspersions cast upon the quality of his home brew in last week's New Era, but the Colonel gets that way on almost every new moon.

Well, I'd like to know just exactly what was the matter with our worthy editor the last time he was out here. He had either changed brands of home brew or else got hold of the wrong fruit jar, for nothing else would so muddle an editor that he could not distinguish the difference between chocolate cake and ginger bread. But we can forgive J. M. anything once, just so it isn't repeated. (Now what do you know about that chocolate cake? You weren't there to help eat it. We thought it was generally understood that chocolate cake is called gingerbread at Tarpley on account of the postmaster's well known gormandizing of chocolate cake, chocolate candy, or anything that smacks of chocolate. Call it gingerbread and he won't touch it; call it chocolate cake, and he takes it all.—Editor.)

J. H. Dean's little boy Marvin has been quite sick, but is reported better at this writing.

J. M. Evans is able to be out on crutches.

Lee Fries, of Winan's Creek was buying corn in the Canyon this week.

Miss Ferne Burris, of San Antonio, has been employed to teach the Rocky Creek school. The term will open early in October. Miss Ferne is a former Bandera girl, having graduated in Bandera High School in 1923, and later finished at Main Avenue High School in San Antonio.

Goes Solid Again.

Those Lima people are determined to have a good school. On Wednesday of last week they voted solidly to increase their school maintenance tax to $1.00 on the $100 valuation. In an election previously held they voted an additional $1000 to complete their new school building, but that election was void because they had reached the legal limit, so they just went down in their pockets and dug up the money to pay the amount needed for the completion of their school house. Joy L. Tilley and Miss Vivian Keese have been employed to teach the Lima school this term and entered upon their duties Monday.

Arrested for Assault.

John Magurek was arrested and placed in jail Saturday night, charged with assault on a minor. The victim of the assault was Elbert Faris, the fifteen-year-old son of Miliam Faris. The lad was picked up unconscious and for a time was in a serious condition. Mazurek was bound over in the sum of $1200 to await the action of the grand jury. He made bond Sunday and was released.

Truck Turned Over.

Joe Chaney was painfully injured last Saturday night when a truck, in which he was hauling three cows, turned over on the Hondo road. His injuries were not of a serious nature, however.

Methodist Church.

At the morning service next Sunday Rev. Geo. E. Pentecost will preach. All others being for he has a good message for us. The Pastor's topic for the evening service will be. "Satellites and Seasons".

The evening services, both Sunday and Wednesday, have been moved to 7:45. Remember the time. All other meetings for the week are as usual.

Houses Scarce.

Every available rent house in Bandera is occupied at this time, and the demand exists for many more. This demand continues throughout the year, and when our school term opens the demand for houses is greatest. The situation can only be relieved by building more houses.

Taylor's New School House.

The new Taylor school house, in the extreme western part of the county, is about completed and will be used this term of school. The people of that community are strictly wide awake in school affairs and are working hard to make their school the best in the county.

T. H. Phillips, Lima's live-wire and booster, was transacting business in the city last Thursday.

R. A. Masters and little son, of Utopia, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Masters on Winan's Creek last Thursday. They were accompanied home by his mother Mrs. R. A. Morgan, who will spend awhile there.

Enjoyable Pic Nic.

The pic nic given on the Medina River at F. J. McCarthy's place last Sunday, was an enjoyable affair. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Thomason, Mr. and Mrs. Claud McCarley and son, Hollis; Mr. and Mrs. H. Rohrbach, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Edwards and little son, Lewis; Misses Willie Mae Cox, Ernestine and Annie Mae Rohrbach and Ethel McCarthy, Rudolph Schott and Orville McCarthy, all of Pipe Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bean and family and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Palmer and son, Eugene, of San Antonio.

Fixing Main Street.

The long hoped for improvement of Main Street, where it passes down the hill in front of The Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association warehouse, is now being made. Due to the activities of W. S. Davenport, Mr. Tom Gray, and others the work has at last been started. funds for the purpose being raised by popular subscription. Ed Clark has a crew of hands at work cutting down the hill.

Last Sunday the Crawford Motor Co. baseball team came up from San Antonio and walloped the Bandera team in a close game on the local diamond by a score of 11 to 8. One of the San Antonio players was injured when struck on the head with a ball. Eighteen innings were played.

Flying Hoofs.

Tomorrow night's big attraction at the Bandera Theater will be "Flying Hoofs," featuring Jack Hoxie. This is a lively good picture and will keep you on the edge of the bench from the time it is flashed upon the screen until it ends. Don't miss it. Jack Hoxie is a popular favorite and he won't disappoint you this time.

Rev. Pentecost Here.

Rev. G. B. Pentecost and wife of Galway, New York, arrived last Saturday on a visit to his sister, Mrs. F. A. Masters. He has been pastor of the Methodist church at Galway for several years, but is thinking of returning South to locate. He will occupy the pulpit at the Methodist church in Bandera next Sunday.

Sheep Buyers Here.

Several sheep buyers from other counties have been in this region this week buying muttons and ewes. A number of deals were made, the price paid for ewes being around $8.00 per head.

Report comes that Winan's Creek school, which opened last week under the able management of Mrs. A. Meadows, has started off well and gives promise of a splendid term.

Mrs. Will Day of Lampasas and Mrs. Ruben McDonald of San Antonio, were guests of their sister, Mrs. J. B. Holt, last Sunday. Allen McDonald came up from San Antonio with them.

Well, I'd like to know just exactly what was the matter with our worthy editor the last time he was out here. He had either changed brands of home brew or else got hold of the wrong fruit jar, for nothing else would so muddle an editor that he could not distinguish the difference between chocolate cake and ginger bread. But we can forgive J. M anything ones, just so it isn't repeated. Say what do you know about that chocolate cake? You weren't there to help eat it. We thought it was generally understood that chocolate cake is called gingerbread at Tarpley on account of the postmaster's well known gormandizing of chocolate cake, chocolate candy, or anything that smacks of chocolate. Call it gingerbread and he won't touch it; call it chocolate cake, and he takes it all.—Editor.)

Goes Solid Again.

Those Lima people are determined to have a good school. On Wednesday of last week they voted solidly to increase their school maintenance tax to $1.00 on the $100 valuation. In an election previously held they voted an additional $1000 to complete their new school building, but that election was void because they had reached the legal limit, so they just went down in their pockets and dug up the money to pay the amount needed for the completion of their school house. Joy L. Tilley and Miss Vivian Keese have been employed to teach the Lima school this term and entered upon their duties Monday.

Beastly Men.

Somewhere on the roads of Texas, or between Texas and the northern boundary of these United States, there is a man and two women: the women are to be pitied for being with such a man, but men are to be more pitied for the fact that they have among their number such degenerate specimens of their sex. It all came about by the appearance of the trio at the home of a leading citizen of Georgetown Friday morning when request for information concerning roads was addressed to a lady working among her flowers in her front yard. The information was given, and then addressing the good lady of the house again, the man asked if they might secure a drink of water. With true Southern kindness the lady did not direct the wolf in sheep's clothing to a hydrant nearby to secure his refreshments but went into the house, chipped some ice and started to the gate with a pitcher of cool ice water and a glass. Approaching the gate she found the man with his back to her and just as she reached the portals of her own front yard she heard him make a slurring remark as follows: "Ah, well, these southern 'janes' have no sense." Being a true daughter of the South, reared here-educated here, some of her people having shed the last drop of their blood for the South and others having given their all for the "united country," her resentment reached fever heat and, summoning all her strength she broke the pitcher on his dirty skull, turned on her heel and walked into her home, while he started his car and beat a hasty retreat.

It is a travesty on American manhood that such men are permitted to be at large. It is a shame, indeed, that the lank, red-headed husband of this good woman was not at home at the time to administer the job so nobly begun by his good wife, but in his absence she did her duty nobly, and it is the hope of every true man that she and all other women keep up the good work, and in a year insolent, insulting, trailing, degenerates will have stepped their infamous actions and be respectful to womankind.

Appreciating the efforts of this good woman, when the news of her splendid morning's work reached the business section, a few individuals purchased another pitcher with which to replace the shattered vessel, and sent it to her with the statement that perhaps it will break the head of the next degenerate reprobate that comes her way and if it breaks on the noddle some she will be furnished a policeman's club or a lead pipe for use on the third.—Georgetown Sun.

Sometimes the New Era may seem harsh in its criticisms of certain practices or the conduct of certain affairs in this community, but it is only when conditions warrant that we essay to express in no uncertain terms our condemnation of evils that should not prevail. The New Era always tries to cover with the mantle of charity the shortcomings or mistakes of individuals, but when things are done deliberately and willfully to violate the law we feel that it is our duty to spare not, even though it makes the "galled jade wince."

Mrs. Charles Rugh.

Mila Charlotte Rugh was born in Bandera December 29, 1875, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Huffmeyer. Died at 4 o'clock a. m., Sunday, September 20, 1925, aged 49 years, 8 months and 22 days.

She grew to womanhood in Bandera, and on November 7, 1893, at San Marcos, Texas, she was married to Charles Rugh. To this union were born seven children, five boys and two girls, all of whom survive her. They are Miss Helen Rugh of Bandera, Daniel Rugh of Norphlet, Arkansas, Emil Rugh of Mooringsport, Louisiana; Mrs. Mary Bills of Houston; Ashley, Charlie and Dunie Rugh of Bandera. All of the children were present at the funeral, except one son, Daniel Rugh, who, on account of delay in receiving the telegram announcing his mother's death, could not get here in time for the funeral.

Funeral services were conducted at the family home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. H. H. Washington, pastor of the Methodist church, of which Mrs. Rugh was a life-long member. Interment was at Bandera cemetery.

In brief, the above tells the story of the career of a gentle mother, a Bandera raised girl, a beloved neighbor. Were all of the good deeds which she performed during her almost half century of life gathered up and mention made of each kind act volumes would not contain all of them. Were all the friendship ties that she possessed tied together in one great strand it would encircle the globe. During the years that she lived in Bandera and conducted the City Hotel she endeared herself to everyone to whom she came in contact, and in her death we all lose a kind friend, her children lose a loving mother and the husband is bereft of a devoted wife. For months she had been afflicted with an incurable ailment and has tain helpless in her bed suffering day after day and night after night, but through all of her suffering she remained cheerful and uncomplainingly bore her affliction. Everything that medical skill could suggest was done to relieve her suffering and restore her, but a few days ago the crisis came and she could not survive it. When it became known Sunday morning that Mrs. Rugh had passed away there was grief throughout the city, for she was known and loved by all our people. Practically her entire life was spent in Bandera and she was a potent factor in the growth and development of this fair section of a beautiful world. She entered with a happy heart into any movement that had for its objective the improvement of the community socially and spiritually. Her genial nature, her readiness to do her full part in the activities of life, won for her the enduring love and admiration of those with whom she mingled, and when she felt the inspiration and uplift of her queenly presence. The large circle of her acquaintances, her nearer relatives and her children bear testimony to her kindly nature, her goodness, her sweetness and purity of mother love. Her going leaves a void that cannot be filled, an ache in the human heart which time can only soothe.

"We loved her and we lost her; Our loss may be her gain; For stiff the spirit woos her, A soul without a stain. Our love shall still pursue her, Her memory ne'er shall wane; The silent spheres enwrap her, And all she was contain."

A great concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives followed the remains to the cemetery where with simple but impressive ceremonies all that was mortal of the wife and mother was consigned to the tomb to await the resurrection morn. The most beautiful floral tributes were given the occasion, showing appropriately portraying the love and esteem in which she was held by her friends, S. L. Johnson and Johnson.

Beastly Men.

Somewhere on the roads of Texas, or between Texas and the northern boundary of these United States, there is a man and two women: the women are to be pitied for being with such a man, but men are to be more pitied for the fact that they have among their number such degenerate specimens of their sex. It all came about by the appearance of the trio at the home of a leading citizen of Georgetown Friday morning when request for information concerning roads was addressed to a lady working among her flowers in her front yard. The information was given, and then addressing the good lady of the house again, the man asked if they might secure a drink of water. With true Southern kindness, the lady did not direct the wolf in sheep's clothing to a hydrant nearby to secure his refreshments but went into the house, chipped some ice and started to the gate with a pitcher of cool ice water and a glass. Approaching the gate she found the man with his back to her and just as she reached the portals of her own front yard she heard him make a startling remark as follows: "Ah, well, these southern 'janes' have no sense. Being a true daughter of the South, reared here educated here, some of her people having shed the last drop of their blood for the South and others having given their all for the "united country," her resentment reached fever heat and, summoning all her strength, she broke the pitcher on the dirty skull, turned on her heel and walked into her home, while he started his car and beat a hasty retreat.

It is a travesty on American manhood that such men are permitted to be at large; it is a pity, indeed, that the lank, red-headed husband of this good woman was not at home at the time to finish the job so nobly begun by his good wife, but in his absence she did her duty nobly, and it is the hope of every true man that she and all other women keep up the good work, and in a year insolent, insulting, trailing, degenerates will have stopped their infamous actions and be respectful to womankind.

Appreciating the efforts of this good woman, when the news of her splendid morning's work reached the business section, a few individuals purchased another pitcher with which to replace the shattered vessel, and sent it to her with the statement that perhaps it will break the head of the next degenerate reprobate that comes her way and if it breaks in the noble cause she will be furnished a policeman's club at a lead pipe for use on the third.—Georgetown Sun.

Sometimes the New Era may seem harsh in its criticisms of certain practices or the conduct of certain affairs in this community, but it is only when conditions warrant that we essay to express in no uncertain terms our condemnation of evils that should not prevail. The New Era always tries to cover with the mantle of charity the shortcomings or mistakes of individuals, but when things are done deliberately and with intent to violate the law we feel that it is our duty to spare not, even though it makes the "galled jade wince."

"There is a Reason"

Mrs. Charles Rugh.

Mila Charlotte Rugh was born in Bandera December 29, 1875, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Huffmeyer. Died at 4 o'clock a. m., Sunday, September 30, 1923 aged 47 years, 9 months and 22 days.

She grew to womanhood in Bandera, and on November 7, 1893, at San Marcos, Texas, she was married to Charles Rugh. To this union were born seven children, five boys and two girls, all of whom survive her. They are Miss Helen Rugh of Bandera, Daniel Rugh of Norphlet, Arkansas, Emil Rugh of Moorings-port, Louisiana; Mrs. Mary Bills of Houston; Ashley, Charlie and Duane Rugh of Bandera. All of the children were present at the funeral, except one son, Daniel Rugh, who, on account of delay in receiving the telegram announcing his mother's death, could not get here in time for the funeral.

Funeral services were conducted at the family home Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Rev. H. H. Washington, pastor of the Methodist church, of which Mrs. Rugh was a life-long member. Interment was at Bandera cemetery.

In brief, the above tells the story of the career of a gentle mother, a Bandera raised girl, a beloved neighbor. Were all of the good deeds which she performed during her almost half century of life gathered up and mention made of each kind our volumes would not contain all of them. Were all the friendships ties that she possessed tied together in one great strand it would encircle the globe. During the years that she lived in Bandera and conducted the City Hotel she endeared herself to everyone with whom she came in contact, and in her death we all lose a kind friend, her children lose a loving mother and the husband is bereft of a devoted wife. For months she had been afflicted with an incurable ailment and has been helpless in her bed suffering day after day and night after night, but through all of her suffering she remained cheerful and uncomplainingly bore her affliction. Everything that medical skill could suggest was done to relieve her suffering and restore her, but a few days ago the crisis came and she could not survive it. When it became known Sunday morning that Mrs. Rugh had passed away there was grief throughout the city, for she was known and loved by all our people. Practically her entire life was spent in Bandera and she was a potent factor in the growth and development of this fair section of a beautiful world. She entered with a happy heart into any movement that had for its object the improvement of the community socially and spiritually. Her genial nature, her readiness to do her full part in the activities of life, won for her the enduring love and admiration of those with whom she mingled, and who felt the inspiration and uplift of her queenly presence. The large circle of her acquaintances, her nearer relatives and her children bear testimony to her kindly nature, her goodness, her sweetness and purity of mother love. Her going leaves a void that cannot be filled, an ache in the human heart which time can only soothe.

We loved her and we lost her;
Our loss may be her gain.
For still the spirit woos her,
A soul without a stain.
Our love shall still pursue her,
Her memory ne'er shall wane;
The silent spheres enwrap her,
And all she was contain."

A great concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives followed the remains to the cemetery, where with simple ceremony all that was mortal of the good wife and mother was consigned to the tomb to await the Resurrection Morn. The most beautiful floral tributes were placed upon the new-made mound, mutely proclaiming that her life had been just as beautiful and as pure as the flowers that bedecked her grave. To the sorrowing husband and children we offer condolence and sympathy.

Several communications were received too late for publication last week. Correspondents are urged to send in their letters the first of the week. They must reach this office not later than Tuesday noon to insure publication. And be sure to put your name on the manuscript to let us know who is sending these letters.

W. D. Smithers and N. H. Rose came up from San Antonio Saturday and were guests of the editor's family until Monday morning. Saturday afternoon Mr. Smithers, Mr. Rose and the editor went over to Bandera Pass and to Col. Bonnell's place where the old camel post of Camp Verde stood, and made photographic views to be used in a magazine article soon to be prepared. A grand view of Bandera Pass was obtained from each side. Views that are being made by Mr. Smithers may be obtained quite reasonable by leaving your order at this office.

Trip to Tuff.

Last Sunday morning the New Era editor, in company with W. D. Smithers, photographer for the Collins Art Shop of San Antonio, made a trip up on the West Prong of the Medina river to get some photographic views of that picturesque region. Some three or four weeks ago Friend Smithers came up to Bandera and found something. This "something" was the wonderful scenery which abounds here. Being of an artistic temperament, he felt the urge to come to Bandera and secure photographs to tell the world of our delightful attractions, and has already made several trips here for the purpose. Some of his pictures have been appearing in the San Antonio papers, and some of them will be used in leading magazines of the country. The San Antonio Chamber of Commerce is going to use some of them in giving information to tourists who are seeking the beauty spots of this region. Last Sunday's San Antonio Light contained a half-page picture which Mr. Smithers took on the Jones ranch at Tarpley. Within a few days he will return in an airplane and take area-views of various portions of the country.

Near the Jones ranch above Medina a snap shot was taken of the majestic hills, and we then went on up to Tuff, to the home of O. L. Adams. Here we were warmly received and hospitably entertained by Mr. Adams and his excellent family. A number of views were taken here, one of them being a bird's eye view of the city of Tuff, of which Mr. Adams is lord mayor, postmaster and merchant prince. Along about this time Mrs. Adams announced that dinner was ready and we were escorted to the dining room where a long table was covered with choice viands prepared by Mrs. Adams and her lovely daughters, Misses Irene and Sadie, and we needed no second invitation to help ourselves. We just simply feasted on the good things. After dinner, accompanied by Mr. Adams and three of his little children, we went over to the Crockett school house where a picture was taken of this handsome structure which was erected last year. A spring gushing forth from high up on a perpendicular bluff on the river, supplies water for the Crockett school, and the spring was also photographed. From there we went up the river quite a distance to the Anderson place and ascending to the top of a high mountain panoramic views of the whole region were made, Mr. Smithers hanging by his eyebrows on a cliff to obtain some of the grand and inspiring scenes. From this vantage point we were able to see for ten miles and miles a vast unfolding of Nature's grandeur, the handiwork of God. Tall buttes, deep canyons, distant peaks, majestic cliffs, boulders, glistening pools, stately trees with foliage of varying hue, all combined to delight the soul of the artist. As we stood there and viewed the scene before us we were impelled to foresee that in the not distant future, when Bandera county has good roads, hundreds and hundreds of vacationists and tourists will come each year to get close to Nature in these inviting retreats which today echo with solitude. Will the people of Bandera county never wake up to the wonderful possibilities that we have within our very grasp right now? They will have to awaken. To the city dwellers the call to Nature's beauty spots is strong, and the automobile has made it possible for them to get away from the busy marts for even a day and hie themselves to the great out-of-doors. These seekers for health and pleasure will learn of Bandera's charms, and here they will come. And Photographer W. D. Smithers and the New Era will help to show them the way.

Kerrville has a new paper, The Latest, published by Otho Mc Burris. The new publication made its appearance last Thursday, the mechanical work being done in the Center Point News office. It is a neat, attractive little paper of four pages, and seems to espouse the cause of the Ku Klux Klan. It's purpose is stated at its masthead, is to "Make this a Country Safe for Protestantism and American-ism."

IF YOU GET UP NIGHTS YOU'RE OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME

Prostate and Bladder Trouble Makes Many Men Feel Twenty Years Older Than They Are.

It is said that fifty per cent of men past forty and many younger ones are victims of prostate trouble.

One of the commonest symptoms of this insidious disease which saps vitality and makes you old before your time is the frequent necessity of getting up nearly every time a night.

Other symptoms are dull, dragging aching at the base of the spine, pain in groin, burning sensation or irritation of vigor and frequent attacks of "the blues."

But there is hope now for you, and how old your case, from a wonderful new formula. It is reported brings new health, vigor and freedom from these troubles to both old and young.

This wonderful treatment is known as Walke's Prostate Specific, and is prepared in convenient, pleasant tablet form. All you need do is take one tablet after each meal and the symptoms seem to vanish like magic.

To prove these statements the Walke Remedy Co., 1436 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., generously offers to send a $1 treatment free of charge to any sufferer who will write for it. Don't suffer another day. Don't accept substitutes whatever You think is fair, otherwise the test is unfair.

Remember that you are the judge, and you risk nothing now or at any time unless you wish, so send your name today before the introductory offer is withdrawn. It is good for only 10 days and guaranteed in every way.

Concert to Be Given.

In the next thirty days a concert will be given in somebody's home in Bandera county to their friends and neighbors. It will be given to the purchaser of my five-tube radio. This set is complete except for storage battery. Use the one in your car.—A. P. Carlton.

Test Station.

W. E. Ruge's Garage is the officially designated test station. The new headlight law requires that the lights on your automobile conform to certain regulations and you must have certificate of testing. The law is now in effect and if you have not complied with it you should do so at once.

Different pairs shoes repaired a speciality.—Dr. Davis the shoe man and repair shop. Your patronage thankfully received.

My Reward for Service.

If I can ease one life it's aching,
Or brush away one pain;
If I can stop one heart from breaking,
I'll not have lived in vain;
If I can help one failing brother,
Into his strength again,
If I can calm one fretted mother,
I'll not have lived in vain.

My treatments and advice have been tried the only drug that has been made by me to any person in Bandera has been when the person has bought herbs, prepared by a proper legal manufacturer, and all claims are printed on containers as per law. A few relatives and friends were present to witness the ceremony. Rev. W. H. Price performed the beautiful ring ceremony. The bride was lovely in a gown of white crepe de chine. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Mayfield and the groom is the youngest son of Rev. and Mrs. J. C. Evans. Rev. Evans was pastor of the Methodist church here last year. The happy pair left immediately after the ceremony for their new home at Austin.

Another wedding of interest took place here Sunday morning Sept. 27, when Mr. Ted Hillman was married to Miss Lois Tobey, both prominent young people of our community. They were married by Judge C. W. Harris, a few friends and relatives being present to witness the ceremony. This happy pair will go to Bandera where they will make their home.

We wish each of these newly married couples a long and happy journey.

Miss Sybil Akin and Miss Valentine Smith have returned from a visit to Port Arthur.

Last Saturday the ladies of the Medina W. M. U. and their friends gathered at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Price to hold the regular monthly missionary meeting. The program rendered consisted of Bible readings by Mrs. Walter Meadows, Mrs. J. R. Crist and Mrs. Rachel Whisenhunt; Prayer by Mrs. E. M. Dowdy; Readings, "Stewardship of Prayer," Mrs. J. E. Justice, "Stewardship of Myself," Mrs. E. R. Tallman, "Measure of My Days," Mrs. E. A. Greebon, Mr. Price, Mrs. Ed Caton, Mrs. E. J. Banta and Mrs. J. E. Justice sang a beautiful song. Mrs. Price gave a very interesting and helpful talk on our missionary work in general. The program closed with prayer by Rev. Price. Every one present enjoyed the program, also the social hour that followed. The house was beautifully decorated with pink and white, and the same idea was carried out with the refreshments, pink and white cake and punch. Those present were: Mrs. Kate Whisenhunt, Mrs. E. R. Tallman, Mrs. A. R. Bauerlein, Mrs. Jessie Bauerlein, Mrs. C. W. Harris, Mrs. A. J. Coorpender, Mrs. J. E. Crist, Miss Rachel Whisenhunt, Mrs. Ed Caton, Mrs. Walter Meadows, Mrs. E. A. Kendall County Old Settlers.

The New Era editor and wife and Col. J. A. Head went over to Boerne last Saturday to attend a meeting relative to the purpose of organizing an "Old Settlers' Association in that county. A number of the pioneers met at the court house in Boerne and were called to order by Mr. H. J Graham, after which organization was effected by electing Judge Neuman president and Judge F. W. Setzwepge secretary-treasurer. The president will appoint an executive committee of five men from various parts of Kendall county to assist him in directing the affairs of the association. It is the purpose of the new organization to hold a reunion of the early settlers of that county every year, at which time old time sports and pleasure will be provided for the pioneer citizens. The association is a kindred organization to the Bandera County Old Settlers' Association. It starts off with flattering promise and the charter members are enthusiastic over the movement. Mr. H. A. Pfeile, who, though but a boy when he took up membership, has volunteered to secure members, and is very active in assisting the old timers in perfecting the organization.

It was suggested at the meeting Saturday that the Kendall County Old Settlers Association hold its annual reunion either before or after the reunion of the Old Settlers of Bandera county, in order that members of both organizations may participate in the other's reunion. Many of the old citizens of Kendall county have been identified with Bandera county's interests and many of Bandera county people have held relationship with the affairs of Kendall county for years. It's a step in the right direction and we are ready to assist in our feeble way as much as we can. We hope to see the day when every county in this section of Texas will have an old settlers' organization.

Rev. H. L. Atkins.

Rev. H. L. Atkins died at his home near this city last Tuesday afternoon, after an illness covering several years. The passing of this good man has caused great sorrow among the large circle of friends who have known him for years. He came to Bandera in 1905 suffering from tuberculosis, and through all these years has battled against the dread disease, bearing his suffering uncomplainingly and patiently. He was loved by everyone who knew him, and leaves to his children the heritage of a good name, a life spent in the Master's cause.

Hardin Louis Atkins was born August 12, 1864, at Siloam, North Carolina. He was married December 4, 1895 to Miss Nancy Elisabeth Whitaker. To this union six children were born, five of whom are living. Katherine Frederickson of North Pleasanton, Hardin L. Atkins, Jr., of Colorado City, W. Bays Atkins of Tarpley, John S. Atkins and Paul Atkins of Bandera.

In 1898 he entered the ministry, being a member of the Western North Carolina Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and was stationed at various points in that state. He later became presiding elder of the Shelby district in North Carolina, but on account of his health breaking down he had to seek a more salubrious climate, and came to Texas in 1904. For awhile he was at San Antonio, El Paso and Boerne, finally coming to Bandera. He was for some time editor of the old Bandera Enterprise, and frequently preached in the Methodist church here and in other parts of the county. During the past three or four years he has been confined to his home and unable to get about.

Three sisters survive him also, Mrs. Emma Whitaker of Siloam, N. C., Mrs. Jane Bullen of Siloam, and Mrs. Nannie Wall of Booneville, N. C.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence yesterday afternoon, at 5 o'clock by Rev. H. H. Washington, pastor of the Bandera Methodist church, assisted by Rev. Meredith, pastor of the Llano Methodist church.

The remains were shipped to the old home at Siloam, North Carolina, for burial, accompanied by the widow.

A good man has departed on that great journey from which no one returns, and there is sadness in our hearts, but when we reflect that he trusted in God and lived in firm faith in the promises of his Savior there is consolation that he has but gone on to receive the reward that awaits those who serve God. To the widow and children the New Era extends condolence and sympathy in this hour of their sorrow.

We have been requested to announce that a dance will be given at the Myrtle Creek school house Friday night, for the benefit of the school. Refreshments will be served.

Married Sunday.

Last Sunday morning Mr. Ted Hillman and Miss Lois Tobey, popular young people of the Medina and Lima communities, were united in marriage by Judge C. W. Harris at his home in Medina. Only relatives and a few friends of the bride and groom were present to witness the ceremony, after which the crowd went to the home of the groom's parents above Lima, where an excellent wedding dinner was served.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hillman of Lima, and is an industrious, energetic young man of good character. The bride is one of the most popular girl's in the county, and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tobey of Medina. For quite awhile she was saleslady in Wm. Hatfield's store in Medina, and is known to everybody in that region. She is a young lady of excellent character and well prove a worthy helpmeet to the young man she has accepted as her life partner. The New Era feels a particular interest in this wedding for the reason that the bride is just like a member of our family circle. For a long time she acted as the New Era's correspondent at Medina, and sent us the news from that thriving burg each week. She is a gifted talented girl, a great favorite in social circles, and all regret that she will leave us. The happy couple will make their home for the present at Mirando City, where the groom has a good position with a large oil company.

At the Hillman home the wedding feast was sumptuous and all heartily enjoyed those being there to partake of it were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hillman, Mrs. Coose, O. W. Coose, Mr. and Mrs. L. Moore and children, Grace Adams, Misses Vivian Keese, Ella Hillman, Grave Hillman, Ruby Hillman, Lucinda Hillman, Minnie Hillman, Sylvia Keese, Mechel Hunter, Amy Hillman, Messrs. W. D. Smithers, J. M. Hunter, Eli Hillman, Alex Hillman, Sam Hillman, and the newly wedded pair, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hillman.

On Monday night the newly married couple were given a reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Tobey, near Medina. About one hundred friends gathered there and gave them a "shower" of presents of all kinds, including tableware, pots, vessels, laundry soap, table linen, rolling pins, washboards, smoothing irons, and various and sundry other articles needed in a well regulated household. An enjoyable time was had by the large crowd assembled, and when time for departure came all went away wishing Mr. and Mrs. Ted Hillman joy and happiness through life.

The happy couple left Tuesday for Mirando City, carrying with them the congratulations and best wishes of all their friends and in all these good wishes the New Era heartily joins.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McCurdy were in the city Monday shopping.

Old Trail Drivers Reunion.

They were grouped about the door gazing at the crowd trying to carry out the gasket. There were young and middle aged men and old men in the group. There were fine looking women, a few very aged, some in carriages and others in automobiles and still others on horseback. Some were dressed in the working clothes of the ranch and others assembled to carry the body to the grave. Every time we attend the funeral of a man who has been a husband and father, we think of what that home has lost. We associate the church as a well managed home so much with mother that we are prone to lose sight of Dad. But we always stand around the yard waiting for them to bring Dad through the doorway, we begin to think of him as he has furnished the shingles over that home—as the man who held the butter and grocer off with his weekly pay envelope—the man who mowed the grass and hauled out the ashes each spring.

Dad is the man who buys the chicken, who craves the chicken and for all expense and trouble he draws the neck and wing. Dad is the chap who wears his last summer's straw hat that mother and the girls may have new bonnets. True, it is mother who darns the socks, but who pays for the darn socks?

It was dad who went to lodge and came back smelling like a smokehouse and rolled and tossed because he had eaten four ham sandwiches and drunk two cups of coffee after eleven o'clock. Poor old Dad—he was an awful fool about the work at the lodge, but with all his faults there was something about him and his Brother Masons that makes us sigh as they drop their sprigs of acacia into the new made grave.

Dad was as steady as a steam roller, as constant as the drip of a faucet. When he was silently rubbing his itch and gazing into the fire, he was probably thinking of the price of coal. Sometimes mother had to chide him for wearing a shirt too long or neglecting to hang his hat in the proper place. Sometimes daughter wished he wouldn't come into the living room without a collar. Sometimes the boys thought he was hard on them and right with them, but now that he is gone they will miss him sorely and understand why he went without a new overcoat to pay the last premium on his life insurance. And when you come back from the place where you laid him, and all the brothers of the lodge have gone back to their homes, and the undertaker has gathered up the folding chairs and removed the crepe from the door, you are going to miss that sober presence that stood between you and so many outdoor annoyances.

Never go back on Dad.—Ex.

TARPLEY.

Tarpley people are sowing grain, and shearing goats.

More Tarpley property changed hands last week.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Coughran visited Bandera this week.

Dr. Taylor and family, of Hondo, were in Tarpley Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Newcomer, of Pipe Creek, visited R. N. Padgett's family Sunday.

We will soon have some new seats and heaters in the new school house.

R. N. Padgett and Vernon Sparks took in the Pearsall fair. We suppose that Mr. Padgett's fine goats took most of the blue ribbons as usual. Mr. Padgett brought back one article we couldn't name, but it is a fancy piece of work and is carried suspended from the little finger of the left hand. It is said to be a receptacle for his face powder and lip stick.

Colonel and Mrs. C. G. Leighton gave a luncheon to a number of friends and relatives last Sunday in honor of their Chicago guests, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Ruddell. The table was loaded with all the good things to eat known to culinary art. We don't ever want to hear Col. C. G. Leighton crying "hard times" any more. Right here let us offer a tip to editors, viz: We didn't attempt to find a name for the many dishes served but attended strictly to the business at hand.

Col. C. G. Leighton says that only one thing saves the Era editor a damage suit and that is he always places the "Col." in front of his name instead of after it. The Colonel seems to be very particular about such small matters, but we can't see why.

There will be preaching at the Baptist church next Sunday by Rev. G. H. Brown of Utopia.

W. D. Glass had some dental work done in Bandera last Saturday.

Mrs. Norman McLeod, Jr., of San Antonio, spent a part of last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks.

There will be a meeting of Tarpley citizens next Saturday to lay plans for repairing the Bandera road in the near future.

Increases Maintenance Tax.

An election was held in the Honey Creek School district last Saturday to increase the school maintenance tax from 15c to $1.00 on the $100 valuation. The proposition carried solidly, and this insures another improved school in Bandera county. There had been some talk of consolidating Honey Creek and Lima school districts, but it was decided to not do so, and instead to make needed improvements in the former district.

J. C. Collins, proprietor of the Collins Electrical Supply Co. of Boerne, was here Tuesday and paid the New Era an appreciated visit. He contracted for space in this paper to tell our people of the supplies his firm carries. Watch for his advertisement.

Otto Stein, who has a nice stock farm out in the Mason Creek neighborhood, was in Friday to invite the little old home paper to keep right on coming on. He was rejoicing over the fine rain which fell Thursday and said the moisture helped wonderfully.

N. H. Rose and W. D. Smithers, the photographers, came up to spend Sunday with the editor's family. While Mr. Smithers and the editor were out in the hills taking views of the picturesque scenery Friend Rose stayed in town to make pictures of Bandera beauties.

Do you know the same kind of insurance contracts do not fit the needs of every individual? Do you know we offer several different contracts — Heralds of Liberty; pays if you live, pays if you die.

We did not get there in time for any service, but we enjoyed greeting the people there and talking to a number of them.

Old Trail Drivers.

There will be about 350 head of cow ponies in the parade Thursday afternoon, which will feature the opening day's program of the annual reunion of the Old Trail Driver's Association, which will be held Thursday Friday and Saturday.

The horses are being loaned for the occasion by cowboys and ranchmen of Southwest Texas. There were between 75 and 100 in the Pfefferling barns Tuesday afternoon and more were due to come in Tuesday night, according to George W. Saunders, president of the association.

Saddles for the horses are also being loaned by ranchmen.

Frank in Brothers, ranchmen of the Christine country, have already sent in 40 head of horses, and Atascosa County cattlemen loaned 30 head.

Pete Laxson of Bandera delivered four ponies to the Pfefferling barns Tuesday afternoon and John Newcomer of Bandera sent in two.

A group of pioneer women, who had not ridden in many years, but who will ride on side saddles Thursday, will pick out their mounts Tuesday and take a practice ride.

There will be many old trail drivers in the parade, riding on horseback, attired in their cowboy togs of long ago.

Some of them have ridden the range constantly since the days of the trail, long since replaced by paths of steel.

It will not be anything out of the ordinary for them to step into their leggings, pull on a brush jacket, button on spurs and swing into a saddle.

Others, who have long since become inactive on the ranges and who now, after years of bankers or business men, are not so agile in the saddle, will receive a new thrill, awakening memory of early-day life in Texas, as they get astride a cowpony for the parade.

Mrs. Amanda Burk, queen of the association, and who went up the trail in the 80's, will ride at the head of the parade.

About 400 pioneer Texas ranchmen and their descendants will participate in the parade. There will be a number of old-time negroes, both those who drove cattle over the trail and others who baked biscuits at the chuck wagon and boiled coffee around the camp fire, will take part.

Thad Rees, 66, and Hiram Craig, 70, this week re-enacting the old Pony Express, riding from Dallas and Galveston, to meet in San Antonio at the reunion Thursday morning at 11:30 o'clock, will appear in the parade that afternoon.

The parade will assemble on Haymarket Plaza and move east to Commerce Street to Alamo Plaza, thence to Houston Street to the place of beginning.

Motion picture cameras will grind out hundreds of feet of film as the parade passes in front of the Alamo—San Antonio Express.

Her injuries, though painful, are not serious.

Buys San Antonio Dealership.

One of the most extensive deals in San Antonio automobile circles in recent years is the purchase by Herpel-Dillenger of the Charles George Motor Co., one of the oldest Ford dealership in San Antonio.

The sale, which has been in progress for several weeks, was consumated Thursday, the new owners taking possession immediately. The consideration is said to have been considerably more than $100,000.

The new owners are all well known San Antonio men. Mr. Herpel, a native of this city, began his automobile career as a salesman for the Clifton Motor Co., in 1914, and remained with that firm until August, 1916, when he became associated with Robert S. Yantis in the Universal Car Co., Ford dealers, at that time on Main avenue. The concern later took over the Johnston Motor Co., also Ford dealers, and removed to the building at Broadway and Fourth street, still occupied by the Yantis Motor Co., at which time the name was changed to the Yantis-Herpel Motor Co., Mr. Herpel remained as a member of this firm until he purchased the Ford dealership in Boerne about two and a half years ago from James J. Jordan, now head of the Jordan-Ivers Motor Co., of this city. Mr. Herpel will dispose of his Boerne dealership, although the identity of the new owner has not yet been learned.

Mr. Herpel is one of the best known automobile men in San Antonio and has always been regarded as a successful business man. Possessing a pleasing personality, he has a wide circle of friends, all of whom wish him a most successful career and welcome him back to San Antonio.—San Antonio Express.

Former Bandera Woman Pieces Quilt.

In Tuesday's San Antonio Express appears the portrait of Mrs. Mina Gibbons, daughter of Mrs. Mattie Jones of Bandera. Mrs. Gibbons is shown with a quilt which she pieced to aid the fund for the Old Trail Drivers' reunion. The quilt is made of hundreds of silk patches, all of together with infinite care, and the work consumed months of many time on the part of Mrs. Gibbons. As a member of the women's auxiliary of the Old Trail Drivers' Association, she became interested at the outset of the movement toward a monument and decided to sell a quilt of her own making as her contribution to the fund. Mrs. Gibbons is a daughter of the late Sam H. Jones, and a niece of Jim Ike Jones, and John L. Jones early settlers of Bandera county. Her grandfather, John A. Jones, was a pioneer Texas rancheman, so she can lay claim to being truly a descendant of the old trail drivers.

Veteran and Mrs. Amass Clark were in to see us Monday. Veteran Clark says he will go down to San Antonio tomorrow to attend the Old Trail Drivers' reunion.

...ed as second-class matter at ...stoffice at Bandera, Texas.

To the average person not familiar with newspaper work the task of gathering the news for a weekly paper seems an easy one. No matter at all to write up the local happenings of the county, and then print the edition. There's more to the job than you can imagine. Gathering the news, selecting what should go into the columns of the paper and deciding what should be left out, setting the type, getting it in correct form, and doing a hundred other odd jobs connected with the work requires labor and patience. It's a bigger job than it seems but if you think you can do it better than we can we are willing to turn the job over to you.

If this issue of the New Era seems lacking in anything, don't kick. We're taking in the Old Trail Drivers' reunion at San Antonio today.

Some three years ago we heard citizens of Bandera crossing Medina county because that county would not fix that portion of the Bandera and San Antonio road where it crossed the corner of Medina county. That road was in an awful condition and everybody who were forced to travel over it derided the trip. Finally through the efforts of D. E. Culp and the State Highway Commission, Medina county built a fine road for us, and today it is the best part of the Bandera-San Antonio road. We thought we had just cause to howl, so we howled. We don't know what the Medina county people thought about it. But now a similar situation exists right here in our own county, right at Bandera's own door, so to speak. The people of the Medina precinct, on the promise of Bandera precinct that a good road would be built to Winan's Creek, voted bonds to build a good road from Winan's Creek to the Kerr county line and they have built the road. It's a dandy, too. Bandera has not fulfilled her part of the agreement. The Mansfield Lane has been put in condition by progressive individuals, mostly residents of the vicinity which the road serves, but there is a section of road from Ranger Crossing to Winan's Creek that is sadly neglected, especially that portion known as the Masters Lane. Just the same length stretch we were pleading so earnestly for on the Bandera-San Antonio road—three miles. It is the aim and hope that some day this road will be designated a highway, a continuation of the highway which now stops at Bandera. But so long as the road is in its present condition it will not be made a highway.

Beware of Blue Sky Livestock

Under the above heading the Banker-Farmer recently published a very interesting article from which we quote as follows:

"When the Agricultural Committee of the Banker's Association of Kansas met at Manhattan recently, information was presented outlining a well organized campaign for selling purebred hogs at an exorbitant figure. Sows at $125.00 to $150.00 apiece were sold to farmers with the understanding that the firm would buy back two gilts at $75.00 each at a certain age. The contract was carefully worded to the effect that the gilts bought back must be standard size and bred by an accredited boar. The firm, however, was the age to pass judgment on both points and a number of instances the only boar that would be accredited was one that the firm had sold to the community at an outrageous price. Enough gilts were bought back from the early sales to give the appearance of playing fair and thus advertise for more suckers. We understand that these shysters have been driven out of Kansas but that they are now headed for the Northwest.

"We reported this to the Agricultural Committee of the Montana Banker's Association at a joint meeting with the Executive Council and representatives of the College of Agriculture, and were surprised to find that there were several bankers present who had discovered that the hog scheme was just being started in their communities. Arrangements were being perfected at once whereby the Secretary of the Montana Banker's Association would send out a warning letter to all the banks in the State and try to nip the scheme in the bud so far as Montana is concerned.

"It has been reported to us that these same people are pushing into Idaho, Oregon, and Washington, and perhaps other western States.

"Farmers in general have been more prosperous the past year. That is just the time when these people put in their best licks. Beware of the strangers who have some wonderful plan for helping the farmer. It is likely to be a plan devised to fill their own pocket books.

"Bankers in the rural districts can perform an extremely important service for their communities if they will help to protect their farmer patrons from unscrupulous persons who have something to sell. Even though the strangers come with a plausible proposition and all kinds of recommendations, it would be well to get in touch with the County Agent and the College of Agriculture and have them pass on the proposition. If it proves to be a 'god brick', the secretary of the State banker's association or the chairman of the agricultural committee should send notices to the banks of their State to be on their guard. This may save considerable money to the farmer, the bank, the community, and the State."

Days of Change.

This is a day of marvelous invention, great change, startling progress. If our forefathers could take a peak at a modern American city, they would imagine they were looking into a strange land described in the Arabian Nights. Just the other day a man in an aeroplane talked, by radio, with thirty thousand people seated many thousand feet below him in a stadium. Pictures leap over thousands of miles by wireless, and the size and metallic make-up of stars hundreds of billions of miles away are being determined.

Other revolutionary changes are going on too in this age though they do not appear quite so uncanny. The industrial map of this country is becoming vastly different. Many factories are moving out of the East to get nearer their raw materials while others are going into the East to be closer to certain markets.

Conditions too are affecting the industrial lives of many communities. Experience has shown that the little fellow cannot exist and profit in the face of the efficiency of a vast organization. So we are having railroad mergers, and utility consolidations.

Large newspapers are buying up their unprofitable competitors, and steadily and surely business is being transacted on a larger scale than ever before.

VANDERPOOL

This portion of Bandera county has been treated to another genuine soaker, benefitting small grain farmers in no small way. A season has been provided that will make it safe to say without danger of the plant dying for lack of moisture later on. Early plantings will be assured and this will be a great help to stock. Early sown oats are up and looking lovely, also grass and weeds are in excellent shape.

Rev. and Mrs. G. H. Brown of Utopia came up Sunday and Rev. Brown delivered a helpful and practical sermon. He will be with us again the 11th inst.

We were sorry to see these good citizens go, but they don't intend staying a great while in California.

Cards have been received here announcing the arrival of little Zeb Lee Newsome at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zeb Newsome of Rock Springs on the 16th of September, Mrs. Newsome is better known here as Miss Mary bel Johnson, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Johnson, formerly of this community but now of Rock Springs.

Old People and Sheep Raisers Take Notice.

There is a a very interesting article in the last Scientific American on the grafting of glands of young sheep into old people and into old sheep. More experienting on sheep than on old people has naturally been done, but the results have been practically the same.

The Article quotes Dr. Serge Voroneff, a brilliant French surgeon in part as follows: (This is experimenting with an old broken down twelve year old ram): "I grafted into this animal" said the scientist, "a gland taken from a ram two years old. In three months time that old wreck of a beast became aggressive, heavy set, active and even splendid to look at. And eight months after this graft a lamb was born by his mate.

"To avoid any imputation of 'autosuggestion' I removed this gland from this animal again. All my operations on animals, by the way, are done under a powerful, local anaesthetic so that they suffer no pain. Within three months this animal again became the old feeble tottering ram we had found at first. Again I provided him with an extra gland and again he regained strength, vigor and aggressiveness. To-day, six years after this animal by all known laws of sheep raising should have been dead, he remains alive, energetic and useful. He continues to produce a splendid coat of wool each year, in spite of the fact that he has passed by one quarter the normal length of a ram's life.

"Consider the economic significance of gland grafting with sheep alone. Already we have gone far enough with our experiments to demonstrate that by continual grafting for several generations it is entirely possible to establish a superior race of animals with a heavier coat of wool, and so bringing about a very great reduction in the price of woolen clothing." Bearing in mind the fact that in France, Algeria, Morocco, America, Canada, Argentina, Australia, and elsewhere upwards of 150,000,000 sheep are raised annually the economic possibilities are vast indeed.

"Just what may be done with the human race Dr. Voreneff is not yet prepared to predict with assurance. But his researches hint at startling developments. He has grafted many men; some of them are showing signs of rechsorption, but most of them are still in the prime of health and vigor. Diseases to which old and weakened frames succumb easily are shaken off by these young-old men invigorated by new glands. The various organs function as they should. The entire system is rejuvinated and strengthened.

"We must wait," says Dr. Voreneff. "If we consider one year of a ram's life equivalent to six years of a man's, then we may estimate that by grafting we can add thirty or forty years to a human life. We cannot tell yet just what results we will achieve, for we have been grafting glands successfully only for the past five years. When we have lengthened a man's age to ninety perhaps we will have done something. When a man will have lived to be one hundred and ten we probably will have accomplished something interesting. When he will have lived to one hundred and twenty-five, we will at last have found the path toward the abolition of old age."

I had found at first, but gave provided him with an extra gland and again he regained strength, and again he regurgitated, and next day, six years after this animal by all known laws of sheep raising should have been dead, he remains alive, energetic and useful. He continues to produce a splendid coat of wool each year, in spite of the fact that he has passed by one quarter the normal length of a ram's life.

"Consider the economic significance of gland grafting with goats. Already we have gone far enough with our experiments to demonstrate that by continual grafting for several generations it is entirely possible to establish a superior breed of animals with a heavier coat of wool, and so bringing about a very great reduction in the price of woolen clothing." Bearing in mind the fact that in France, Algeria, Morocco, America, Canada, Argentina, Australia, and elsewhere, upwards of 100,000,000 sheep are raised annually the economic possibilities are vast indeed.

Just what may be done with the human race Dr. Vereno has not yet prepared to predict with assurance. But his research has hinted at startling developments. He has grafted many men; some of them are showing signs of rechsorption, but most of them are still in the prime of health and vigor. Diseases to which old and weakened frames succumb easily are shaken off by these young-old men invigorated by new glands. The various organs function as they should. The entire system is rejuvinated and strengthened.

"We must wait," says Dr Voronoff. "If we can—as I also will attend the Old Trail Drivers' gathering at San Antonio this week will be Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Postert, Judge and Mrs. A. L. Mansfield, J. M. Hunter, and daughters, Nettie and Rachel, John Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Will Whitley, Mrs. Mattie Jones, Ed Mansfield, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Eyk, Mrs. Harriet Chipman, Richard Schlaiober, Ernest Kindla, Joe Newcomer, Chas. de Monte, J. W. Walker, Veteran Amasa Clark, and many others.

Fred Thalmann, manager of the Association, reports the sale as being one of the best made in some time, the price paid being higher than offered in some sections of the state.

The wool clip will soon be coming in and it is expected that a strong market will prevail.

NOW A STATE HIGHWAY

Remainder of Trail Loop No. 10, Bandera to Kerrville, Designated Last Week.

We received the glad information Friday from Senator Real, who attended the trail drivers' convention of San Antonio, that the road from Bandera through Medina and up Wallace Creek, across the mountain to Kerrville had been designated a highway by the State Highway Commission. This is a continuation of the present highway from San Antonio to Bandera, and the news of its designation comes as a delightful surprise to those who have sought it for sometime. Last year the people of the Medina precinct voted $25,000 bonds to improve the road from Winan's Creek to the Kerr county line, and the work has been done under the able supervision of County Commissioner R. L. Morriss. From the Kerr county line to Kerrville a good road has been built by Kerr county, so all that remains now to complete a first class road is a three-mile stretch between Bandera and Winan's Creek, the portion known as the Masters Lane, which should be graveled. The road from Bandera to the Ranger Crossing was put in excellent shape a short time ago by individual citizens taking the matter in hand and graveling a long stretch known as the Mansfield Lane.

Buys Bandera Ranch.

The Bell-Autrey ranch, away up above Medina City, in the far regions of Bandera County, has been sold to Chas. A. Neal, San Antonian. Neal has myed onto the ranch and has not about in the stocking-up business. This ranch is a little gem of a place, 5,000 acres, through which meanders Medina River. Well-proof fences protect the whole place, which is cut up into small tracts, with water everywhere, and plenty to drink. It is rated as a good sheep and goat ranch, and that is the sort of stuff that Mr. Neal will stock with, adding the cattle necessary to properly balance the range. E. D. Bell, one of the latest owners, made the sale to the present owner.—Cattle Clatter, in San Antonio Express.

FINE RAINS HAVE FALLEN

Old Bandera County Well Soaked Again, and the Ranges Are Greatly Benefitted.

The best rains that have fallen during the entire year visited Bandera county this week, and as a result the ranges and growing grain crops will be materially benefitted. A short time ago good rains descended over various parts of the county, and with the moisture this week will help to insure a fine fall season. Farmers and ranchmen are rejoicing.

Heavy rains fell throughout the northwestern part of the county last night and as we go to press this morning the rain is still coming down.

At 9 o'clock this morning a ten foot pool was reported running down the river and it was rising at the rate of six inches per minute. Heavy rains at the head of the river are still falling. Telephone communication with Medina is cut off on count of wires being down.

...ed as second-class matter at ...ostoffice at Bandera, Texas.

There's a happy man in San Antonio, and that man is Col. George W. Saunders. For years he has been striving to build up an organization and perpetuate the memory of the men who went "up the trail" with cattle in the early days. He organized an association of the old trail drivers, then he directed the publication of a book recounting their experiences on the trail, and during the early days, then he set about to build a monument to those old boys who saved Texas from barbarism. At first he asked for only thirty thousand dollars for this monument, but the response was so slow that he almost gave up in despair. Later he induced ladies in San Antonio to organize an auxiliary to the Old Trail Drivers' Association for the purpose of raising funds for the monument. The ladies, headed by Mrs. R. R. Russell, set forth with a determination characteristic of our pioneer mothers and declared they would raise $10,000. San Antonio seemed apathetic toward the movement and the Chamber of Commerce of that city apparently ignored it. But last Friday, at the Old Trail Drivers' convention here, a message was received from Amarillo offering to give $500.00 if the monument would be placed at Amarillo. Hebronville, down in South Texas, offered $15,000 for the monument. Then suddenly the San Antonio Chamber of commerce woke to the realization that San Antonio was going to lose a big thing if they did not get busy—and then the fun began. Representatives of that body appeared before the old trailers and on bended knees begged forgiveness for their seeming negligence and gave assurance that the Chamber of Commerce would raise the required $100,000 if the monument would be erected in San Antonio. Thus our good friend, George W. Saunders, than whom there is no more patriotic, upright citizen living in Texas today, won his fight after years of planning, worry, labor and unselfish sacrifices. The writer of these lines knows of the obstacles he has encountered, of the opposition he has met, and of the wholly unselfish motives that have inspired him in his laudable and gigantic undertaking. We have been in close touch with him in many of his plans, having under his direction written and published the two volumes of his book, "The Trail Drivers of Texas," which has had wide circulation and has been pronounced the greatest books yet written depicting the life of the cowboys. It was from this book that Emerson Hough secured the material for that splendid story of 36. George Saunders has accomplished much, he has won a great victory, he has builded wisely and well, and his name will go down in history along with that of other Texas patriots. When San Antonio raises that $100,000 for the monument to the old trail drivers, that city should then erect another memorial—a monument to George W. Saunders, a typical Texas fighter.

Next year is campaign year. Already candidates for state offices, particularly the governor's place, are beginning to crop out.

The hunting season opens soon. Post your pastures now.

Glory be! Old Bandera has been given another plum—handed to her on a silver platter with no effort of her part to secure it. The information comes to us that the road from Bandera to Kerrville, via Medina City, has been designated a State Highway, a continuation of the highway which stopped at Bandera. The route traverses the most scenic section of the entire Hill Country and follows what is known as Trail Loop No. 10, from Bandera to Winan's Creek, Medina, up Wallace Creek, and out across the mountain to Kerrville. Now it's up to us to gravel the three miles of Masters Lane, which will put the entire roadbed in fine shape for maintenance work. Surely, we'll do this much in appreciation for what has been given us.

While we were attending the old trail drivers' gathering at San Antonio last Friday we ran up against Editor Chestnut of the Kenedy Advance and Editor Sam Fore of the Floresville Chronicle-Journal, who were browsing around in the Gunter Hotel lobby, asking whom they could find. Sorry we did not get to spend more time with them, but they were headed for Dallas and did not tarry long. Both gentlemen assured us that they would head for Bandera during one of these days and spend awhile in the most picturesque region of all Texas."

About a year ago the New Era was clamoring for a bond issue of $150,000 to build roads in this precinct. We had no encouragement to start the ball rolling, so we let up. But suppose that amount of bonds had been voted. During these days of crop shortage and scarcity of money the circulation of $150,000 would have helped everybody.

Our readers may wonder why we have filled the New Era this week with so much of the Old Trail Drivers' doings. Well, there's ample reason. In the first place this kind of doings is our pet hobby. We have mixed and mingled with those old trail drivers for many years, and love them all. In compiling their book, "The Trail Drivers of Texas," two volumes, we came in direct contact with hundreds of the old boys who went up the trail in the early days, and who fought back the Indians from our frontier. God bless 'em, we love every son-of-a-gun in the bunch, and when we go down to San Antonio to one of their big powwows we get so full of enthusiasm and brotherly love that we just have to explode, and the explosion takes place this time in the columns of the New Era. We are proud of the success George Saunders has met with in his undertaking to raise $100,000 for a monument to the old trailers; we are proud of the Bandera representation at the convention; we are proud of our Bandera women who were graceful riders in the big parade; we are proud of our Bandera fiddlers who furnished the old time music for the old trailers' big dances; we are proud of the fine time we all had, and if you had been there you would be just like the editor of this little old home paper—you'd want to tell everybody about it.

The sale of over 100,000 pounds of mohair by Bandera county growers will put into immediate circulation about $60,000. A little further on the fall clip of wool will be sold which will bring around $100,000. Bandera county's wool and mohair has made it possible for our county to pass through the long drouth in good shape.

"There Is a Reason"

Trail Drivers' Reunion.

San Antonio was selected by a unanimous vote as the site for the $100,000 monument to old trailers and as the reunion city for 1926, and officers were re-elected at the conclusion Saturday afternoon of what was probably the stormiest of the 11 annual conventions of the Old Trail Drivers' Association of Texas, held in the Gunter Hotel beginning Thursday morning.

Assurance for the funds for building the proposed monument would be raised by San Antonio, with all Texas contributing, was given by representatives of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce at the concluding session, in response to charges Friday afternoon and Saturday morning that the monument would be erected elsewhere unless San Antonians assured the cost.

George W. Saunders, organizer of the association and its president since, was again elected to guide the organization. The other officers named were: J. B. Gillett of Marfa, J. W. Jackson of Bartlett, T. T. Wilson of San Antonio, Mrs. Amanda Burks of Cotulla, Mark Withers of Lockhart, J. A. Miller of Bandera, and W. M. Atkinson of Gonzales, vice presidents; R. F. Jennings of Laredo, secretary-treasurer; Rev. J. Stewart Pearce, chaplain, and William B. Krempkau, sergeant at-arms.

J. A. Miller is the only new officer. He was elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of W. E. Qureton.

More than 1,000 members of the association, many of whom went up the cattle trails of the early days, were living memories ward Saturday night, assured that their dreams of years is to become a reality under the hands of Gutzon Borglum, who will design and sculpture the $100,000 monument to be built.

Pandemonium reigned as war whoops, cheers and yells accompanied the demonstration follow ing the assurance given by Tom Ethridge and R. N. Campbell, that the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce would organize the drive and undertake to raise the necessary funds.

Ethridge appeared as the principal speaker of the afternoon, representing the Chamber of Commerce. As he rose to launch the chamber's reply to the charges made against it during the Friday afternoon and Saturday morning sessions, it was apparent that the majority of his audience was maintaining a silent hostility toward his organization. As he proceeded with his story of what San Antonio means to the trail drivers, as the point from which all the old trails diverge, he painted a word picture of the historical background of the city, spelling out in many other city or town in Texas to offer a more fitting site for the monument to heroes of the trail.

Ethridge replied to statements made Friday afternoon that only $100 had been contributed to the monument drive by San Antonio interests, with the declaration that until Friday he knew nothing of any drive ever having been made to raise the funds, and said it was impossible to expect money to be raised without a concerted and well organized drive, and expressed the confidence that an organized campaign would succeed.

At the conclusion of his address, in which he promised the working support of the Chamber of Commerce to raise the monument fund, the sentiment of the majority of the audience had swung back to San Antonio, and Ethridge ended his talk amid the cheering of the old trailers, who crowded around him in a hand-shaking scene. A vote to accept the offer carried with wild cheers.

George W. Saunders, president of the association, who declared Friday that local sentiment apparently was apathetic toward the monument, buried the hatchet with the declaration that he could forgive and forget and make peace. He recalled the proposition made by Amarillo and Hebbronville offering $50,000 and $45,000, respectively, for location of the monument at those towns—San Antonio Express.

Are Americans Criminals?

From Dearborn Independent:

Newspaper readers are now aware that Crime has joined in the headlines of crimes. Side by side with horror stands shortfied philosophy asking why crime should be so rife. And a committee has been organized in New York to study the matter.

There are facts that any committee can find if they want facts and that t few newspapers will care to print because they cannot handle them. First, that crime is not an aftermath of war; second, that crime, in this country comes mostly from two racial groups which it is not polite to mention.

The outrageous assumption that the American stock is degenerating is made in every penny newspaper. Even the New York Committee will probably begin its labors by deploring that we, the people of the United States, are going to the devil. As a matter of fact and observation, we are not producing crime, we are being invaded by it. And the worst that we behold is not a lapse, it is the normal level of life in the lands and classes from which our criminals come. Our own people are as dependable and straight as they ever were; there has come in among us a type of humanity which has crime in its natdre.

Dr. Mayo, the famous surgeon, hit the nail on the head in his reported statement during a recent visit to London. Asked to explain the "wave of crime" in the United States, he said, "The dark-skinned people are killing each other—and the more the better." He let it be clearly understood that the "crime wave" was not "America," but racial catastrophe.

Our crime statistics have no references whatever to the war, but to our immigration statistics. Before the war we thought of and immigration was free, the crime indicator began to mount. The registers of our courts are sufficient indication that the American has not gone wild. that the soldier peoples who merged in the founding of this insane asylums. The politicians won't inquire who fill the jails, but the doctors—always a more courageous breed—have inquired, and tell the world that the American New York going insane? No. The insane are the aliens, shipped over here and inspected at the rate of eight a minute, to fill our public institutions and become charges on taxpaying Americans. The doctors of New York have made that fact clear.

Of course, America has been the dumping ground of the world. The pitiful stories we read of intending immigrants crowded and stranded in distant ports, because refused admission to the United States, must be read with another fact in mind, namely, that those people cannot nation do not figure in the "crime wave." Nothing has happened to the American people. They have not turned highway men and murderers, nor even bootleggers. These criminal classes are recruited from aliens who brought their criminal proclivities with them.

Nothing more damnable has been attempted in this country than the deliberate insinuation that this crime increase is American.

New York State furnishes a precedent in truth-finding. The governor there is asking $100,000,000 for more jails and more wanted. They leave their native land for a port to embark to America. They are rejected. Their native land refuses to have them back—feels well rid of them. That is what America does when it sends to the country their birth because they are not has been getting these twenty years. Certain European governments have periodically cleaned their countries of crime and insanity by sending the criminal and insane to the United States!

It is to be hoped that committees and newspapers will sufficiently respect the facts to permit a few of them to appear. If crime in America is to be investigated, let it be thoroughly done, and by Americans.

IF YOU GET UP NIGHTS YOU'RE OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME

Prostate and Bladder Trouble Makes Many Men Feel Twenty Years Older Than They Are.

It is said that fifty per cent of men past forty and many younger, are victims of prostate trouble. Frequent desire, burning and other symptoms of this dangerous disease are often the first indications of approaching old age. Many men are apt to neglect or put off getting up nights a time or two.

But when symptoms are dull, dragging aching at the base of the spine, pain or pressure in the region of the bladder, lack of vigor and frequent attacks of the blues.

But there is hope for you, no matter how old your case, from a wonderful new formula. It seemingly brings new health, vigor and freedom from these troubles to both old and young.

This wonderful discovery is known as Wallace's Prostatic Specific, and is put up in convenient, pleasant tablet form. All you need do is take one tablet after each meal and the symptoms seem to vanish like magic.

To prove these statements the Wallace Institute, 1501 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., generously offers to send a $1 treatment (enough for most people) postpaid and free of charge to any sufferer who will write for it. They believe you will your offtends and per whatever you think is fair, or else the loss is ours.

Remember that you are the Judge, and you pay nothing now or ever unless you wish, so send your name today before the introductory offer is withdrawn. It is good for only 10 days and guaranteed in every way.

Justice.

Dearborn Independent:

Americans have nothing against lawyers. We raise more of them than any nation on earth. Besides raising them, we elevate them—government is largely a field for young lawyers looking for advertisement to assist them in building up a practice, and for older lawyers who need government office to enable them to look after the interests they serve. Government is a nest of lawyers, some of them intent on the public good, some of them intent that the public good shall not unduly trespass on client's fields.

But that is not what stirs me up. The people who put lawyers in government can put them out, and so long as this is a government by the people, even if not for the people, I have not the slightest doubt of its security.

What puzzles me is the connection of lawyers with this quality which we call Justice.

The laws are made to assure us of Justice, yet we cannot get Justice without paying a lawyer to get it for us. A private profession, with certain public privileges, dispenses a service, some of it good, some of it flagrantly incompetent, with fees commensurate (ranging from $250,000 down to $10), and we who seek the justice of which the laws assure us pay the fees.

Now, what has been sticking in my craninm like an undigested thought is this:

The laws are ours; we pay for them. We pay a pretty stiff price each year to keep old laws in repair and provide new ones. Our law hill has not been figured up yet.

The courts are ours; we pay for them. You would not think to go into a courtroom, but the courts are ours, just the same. Not ours in the sense that we can bend the principles of justice to our desires, but in the sense that they are for our use.

We support the schools in which they are educated in the laws. No lawyer ever pretends that he has paid for his own education. Even a millionaire could not pay the accumulated interest involved in a law education.

We support the agencies that accredit and license them to "practice" before the courts, peals and tragedies of humankind.

We build massive temples in which they practice their art—great Roman and Gothic edifices with marble and mahogany interiors, with robed Judges of their work, with clerks and assistants in all degrees, with libraries and files and officers of authority, and sheriffs and police. No profession is so ornately provided with a noble architecture for its work. Not even Doctors of Medicine, not even the Clergy of the Church.

Now, lawyers are styled officers of the court, but they are not ours.

The lawyer's very profession ours, since we established it.

But when we want to use the law things that we have paid for, we must pay for them again.

When something goes wrong with my water supply, I call up the Waterworks, and the matter is remedied, but I don't have to pay for it. The Waterworks is ours, and I have already paid for my share.

When the peace of the neighborhood is fractured, the police appear and restores the broken order, but they demand no retainer and they send no bill, because the Police Force, being ours, is already paid.

But when something goes wrong with our Justice relations, and we appeal to our law in our court, we are told to go and hire a lawyer.

When something goes wrong with the sewer, that the proper department is notified, the repair is made, and the $27 charge is sent to the Sewer Department. It is ours.

Why not go and hire a Mayor?

Why not go and hire a Judge?

And if I am poor and have no money,

Why not go and hire a Sheriff?

What Justice is there in making Justice depend upon the price that I can pay "an officer of the court," since as a lawyer is?

$25, do I get $25 worth of Justice? No. I get a boy who has studied law nights, who is glad to get into court to "practice," and he practices on me. The man who is creating Injustice in my relations pays a bigger fee and takes the Justice.

I have much more chance if I am a criminal. Suppose that I break a law. The policeman arrests me. I am hailed into court. The Court says, "Have you a lawyer?" and I say, "No." So the Court appoints a lawyer. And oftentimes these assigned lawyers give a man a good defense and even get an unexpected degree of Justice for him.

But when a sharp trickster jeopardizes my interests in any way, and I appeal to the Court, I must pay the lawyer to use our law before our judges in our courts.

And, I must say, it is rather hard for me to understand.

Billings & Son, Druggists.

Fewer Drug Users.

The use of drugs in the United States, according to Col. G. W. Nutt, head of the anti-narcotic law enforcement machinery, is falling off. There are not as many drug users, he says, and there are fewer new victims. It is to be hoped that the words of Colonel Nutt are true. Unfortunately he is in position to acquaint himself with facts in this connection, it is more than probable that he is not mistaken.

The aliens have built up in the United States powerful drug rings which have reached out and crushed the lives of hundreds of thousands who have fallen into the use of drugs. Recently a terrific fight has been waged against the drug combines and the individuals smuggling and selling of narcotics. It is evident that the battle is beginning to have effect.

The campaign against smuggling of drugs has brought results. At this time there is a great decrease in the amount of narcotics smuggled into Galveston. Collector Nutt's report shows that distribution of drugs through druggists has also slumped. All of this is very encouraging but it is hoped that this good work will continue.

A significant part of the report is that covering New York City, where foreigners abound. New York City, he says, is still the worst dope center in the United States. It is evident that the great alien population in the metropolis is going to make it exceedingly hard to bring the use of narcotics in that city to a minimum.

That an inroad in the sale of drugs and the smuggling into the United States has been made is beyond question. The use of drugs is a curse—both to the victims and society at large, and they are in a very great degree the cause of many crimes. In fact, thousands of the more vicious crimes would never be committed were not the criminal filled up with drug. Drugs and strong drink have played a big part in the tragedy of crime in the United States. They have wrecked countless potential brilliant careers and left a trail of human wreckage in their wake. —From the National Kurier.

Mrs. Paul Baxter was in from Mason Creek Monday shopping, and while here called in to renew her subscription to the New Era.

Mrs. Mattie Jones spent several days in San Antonio last week with her daughter, Mrs. Mina Gibbons, and attended the trail drivers' reunion.

Mrs. Frank Billings and children returned Monday from a two weeks visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Mumaw, at Beasley.

Mrs. Drake, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. W. S. Ethridge, the past month, will go to San Antonio today to spend awhile with Mr. and Mrs. Ira L. Wright.

Pete Luxson went down to the old trail drivers' reunion at San Antonio last week, taking several horses with him. He sold three of the animals at fancy prices while there.

Commissioners court was in session Monday, all commissioners being present, John L. Edwards, R. L. Morris, J. V. Porter and Anton Pyka.

W. D. Smithers, the photographer, came up from San Antonio Sunday morning to bring Uncle Frank Buckelew, who was returning from the Old Trail Drivers' reunion.

James Cox announces a grand ball at the Cox Opera House in Saturday night October 24th, and also on Saturday night, November 7th. Good music and a good time promised.

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Butler visited relatives at Fredericksburg last Sunday, returning Monday. They were accompanied home by little Billie Guffy, who will spend awhile with them.

Charlie Eckhart and Judge Linden matched a jig contest on the sidewalks in San Antonio last Thursday in which the Bandera man won all honors. The music was furnished by a blind street fiddler.

Aunt Harriet Chipman says she had the grandest kind of a time at the old trail drivers' reunion in San Antonio last week, and says she is going again next year. While in San Antonio she was the guest of her old friends, Mrs. Mary Kelley, Jeff Smith and Henry McKeene.

Our good friend, Frank Heinen remembered the editor in a substantial way Monday by bringing in some choice comb honey and some excellent tomatoes, products of his farm. We appreciate his kindness, and greatly enjoyed the eating. Mr. Heinen is getting ready to move to the Jack Lytle place near Bandera Pass.

Elmo Newcomer and Virgil McCarthy, the Bandera fiddlers, entertained the old trail drivers with choice selections at the reunion at San Antonio last week, and furnished music for some of the dances. Their rendition of "Rye Whiskey" made a decided hit with the old boys. They have been invited to play for the next meeting of the Texas Folk-Lore Society in Austin.

On the ballroom floor of the Gunter Hotel at the old trail drivers' ball last Thursday night a pretty young lady approached Ed Mansfield and asked him if he wanted to dance. Genial Ed, ever ready to oblige the fair ladies, hastened to assure her that nothing would give him greater pleasure than to dance with her. "Oh," she said, "I would not dance with you myself, but I want a partner for my grandmother."

Col. Walter Godkin, accompanied by Dr. Joe T. Bryant, two sons and daughter of El Paso; Miss Clementina Rodriguez of San Antonio, and Misses Constancio Heinsath and Juanita Godkin, came up from Spicewood Springs ranch Monday to see the sights of the city. Col. Godkin and Dr. Bryant paid this office an appreciated visit while here. Dr. Bryant is a native of Georgia and came to Texas a few years ago. He is spending a few days with Col. Godkin and is delighted with this picturesque region.

Fred Whisenhunt, the well known sheep and goat breeder, was a visitor in the city Saturday.

Mrs. A. L. Mansfield visited her daughters, Mrs. E. H. Dahse and Miss Clara Mansfield, at Austin Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. M. Newcomer were in from Pipe Creek Friday and called in to renew their subscription to the little old home paper.

Robert Dunlap and sisters, Misses Mina and Elmira Dunlap, of Pipe Creek, left this week for Valeta, Texas, where Mr. Dunlap will take charge of an irrigated farm.

Mrs. Warren Hunter left yesterday for San Antonio to join Warren, who went down several days ago to enter upon his duties in the radio department of the Kress store.

Percy Davis, who enlisted in the United States Marines a short time ago, writes to order the little old home paper sent to him at Pensacola, Florida. He says he is well pleased with the service and is becoming an expert rifleman.

New stock of Ladies' Fall and Winter Hats, latest creations, arriving at Mrs. T. S. Dennis' millinery store.

Mrs. A. B. Langford and children left Saturday for Moorinsport, La., to join Mr. Langford, who has a position as manager of a large company store at that place. Everybody in Bandera regret to lose this family, but all wish them well in their new home.

A STRONG CATTLE MARKET VIEWED

Gradual Betterment of Conditions in Cattle Industry Is Seen.

Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 19.—Basing their judgment on heavy early marketings of Western cattle, the generally improved feeling in Western cattle regions and the greatly improved feed situation during recent weeks in the Southwest, the United States Department of Agriculture representatives expect to see a continuing strong market for feeder cattle, Dr. L. J. Allen, inspector for Texas of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, has been informed through official sources.

Local bankers handling cattle paper, live stock commission men and officers of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association recently have expressed themselves as being of a similar conviction. At no other time within five years have cattle prices been so high on both the market and the range, and there seems to be cause to look for a further gradual bettering of conditions.

Rains have fallen in abundance over most of the range country of Texas and the best conditions in many years are reported from many localities. In addition to the abundance of grass for winter pasturage, in most sections there is a good feed crop. Cattle should winter exceptionally well and meet a strong spring demand in good condition.

"Dear Mr. Whisenhunt:—I am in receipt of your letter and also the billy kid. We consider this a very splendid individual and we thank you for the gift. I can assure you that the College very much appreciates your interest as well as the donation. The kid arrived in fine shape and will be of a great deal of use to us this coming year in the way of instruction to the students."

REPUBLICANS TO PUT OUT STATE TICKET

Harry Rogers, Dr. Thomson and Walter Napier in Gubernational List.

Houston, Texas, Oct. 20.—Texas Republicans will not only put a State ticket in the field next fall but in every county in the state "where practicable," according to leaders of the organization who were here Tuesday for a Republican political jollification, largely, they said, in celebration of the majority, the organization rolled up in Harris County at the election last fall.

Meanwhile at conferences Tuesday plans were being made to perfect organization plans for the July primary. R. H. Creager of Brownsville, Texas member of the Republican National committee, was closeted with Eugene Nolte of Seguin, Republican State chairman, and other prominent workers.

The conference was preliminary to a banquet Tuesday night given by Harris County Republicans. Three hundred twenty one guests accepted invitations. Creager delivered the principal address.

Tuesday's conference was preliminary to a general Republican meeting in Dallas October 22, when Republican plans are to be completed preparatory to the state primary next July. Leaders said they had not yet concerned themselves with a candidate fo governor. The The names most often on the lips of the rank and file, however, names most often on the Rogers, lawyer of San Antonio; T. P. Lee, Houston, who is widely known as an oil man; Dr. F. L. Thomson, of an oil company, and Walter Napier, lawyer, both of San Antonio. Henry Zweifel, Fort Worth, United States district attorney for the northern district of Texas, who is widely known as the prosecutor in recent noted oil fraud cases, also was mentioned.

Mexican Claims.

On page three of this issue of the New Era appears letters from the government agency which will be of interest to some of our Bandera county people or their next of kin in regard to claims filed years ago for depredations committed by Mexicans. Names of Bandera county people who are entitled to receive remuneration are given, and you should not fail to take up the matter with Congressman Hudspeth if you are one of the number mentioned or of the next of kin.

"Robin Hood" of the Tonkaways

John C. Jacobs, in Pioneer Magazine

The settling of a frontier country has a fascination about it that in after years one looks to with pride, and with longing to live the old days over again. It is only those who are born with such a mission in their souls that can go through with it."

My lot fell at Fort Griffin, a trading post on the frontier of Texas, in 1871. The tribe of Tonkaway Indians, 95 strong, had their little tepee village there, under the supervision of an Indian agent. The Comanche and Kiowa Indians raided that part of the frontier during the light of the moon every month, endangering the lives of every man, woman and child on the frontier and stealing as many horses as they could get out of the country with.

The Tonkaway Indians were deadly enemies to all of the warlike tribes that depredated on the white settlers, and were cordially hated by the depredating tribes. The U. S. Army enlisted able-bodied men of the tribe as trailers of the hostiles and kept them in on their lands. It is wonderful to what extent the trailing instinct had been developed in these Indians. I have seen them going at top speed upwind for a long trail, with their heads so near the ground that their hair swept the grass. And the one that picked up the trail scrambled like the lead-hound in a fox pack, and the others gathered to him as they swept on.

It is not my intention to write of the Indian depredations on the frontier of Texas, but to confine myself to incidents and eccentricities connected with this quaint tribe during my 12 years' sojourn with them.

They were expert dressers of skins. I hunted buffalo five years on the Plains, and I furnished the tribe with all the hides they could dress, "on the shares." They got half for dressing them. The squaws did the work. It is beneath the dignity of a warrior to dress a skin or do a spell of any kind of menial labor. It's a proud, lazy Tonkaway Indian, or Tonkaway squaw to the white lights on broadway.

I came in off range at one time and went down to the Tonkaway camp to talk over our mutual interests, and found the camp deserted, not a tepee or red-skin in sight. When they move camp, they tie a long pole on each side of their pony and pack their belongings on the poles behind the ponies. I took the trail of the pole marks and followed it but to the top of a mountain and there they were camped—carrying their water from the river a mile away. There was an Indian in the tribe named Campo, who had papers from the government proving him to be one hundred and twenty years old. Campo was the "prophet" of the tribe. I went to him to learn the object of the move. He told me the white men had killed the Captain Buffalo and the Great Spirit "heap angry," was going to send floods of water that would sweep their old camp and all else in the valley away. The strange part of it was that his prophecy came true, to the extent that a number of people were drowned, houses washed away and a great number of horses and cattle perished. Not an Indian was surprised over the event; they had warned the whites, who laughed at them for their move, but thought better of old Campo as a prophet after the flood.

Their religion is the reverse of ours, and their reasoning much sounder. They pray to the Devil, and make every effort to keep on good terms with His Majesty. They say, "God is good and won't burn Indian."

There was a little log church house on the river, where a Methodist Circuit Rider held services once a month. There was a young lady in the settlement named Tishie B.—The Indians called her "Tishie Mingo."

During services one Sunday, when the minister was at the height of his eloquence, a Tonkaway Indian strolled up to the church door, leaned against the jamb and looked the situation over. He saw Miss Tishie, and said, "Hello, Tishie Mingo, long time me no see you." A new quencher who was a great talker, named Bill Higgins, (the Indians called him "Talk-a-heap Bill") was also in church. Old Cantine spied him and said, "Hello, Talk-a-heap Bill, when you come?" Every handkerchief in the house was stuffed in a mouth to back up the flow of mirth. One of the brethren led poor old innocent Cantine away and explained to him as best he could that the stranger was talking to the Great Spirit. Cantine went on his way, wondering why he was denied the right to greet a friend wherever he might meet him.

The Circuit Rider holds a campmeeting every summer,—members become enthused and shout. An old Indian, named Simone, came along when the excitement ran high, looked on awhile, and called one of the men to him and said: "Meby so me like 'em firewater, too." He thought them drunk.

Another buck came along, loaded to the gills with firewater, and thought the Pale Face was holding a war dance. He let out a yell and joined them—"He-ya-Hi-Hoo-o-o!"

An Indian calls a skunk "stink-a-heap." A ranchman had killed two skunks that raided his hen house. He threw them over the fence in the trail. Next morning they were swelled up. A Tonkaway squaw came along, got off her pony and was tying them on her saddle. The ranchman asked what she was going to do with them. She said, "Me no like'em Stink-a heap; squaw down in tepee HEAP like 'em Stink-a-heap."

The Tonkaways have three very old squaws who are "official eryers." When an Indian dies, these squaws are hired for the price of a pony, to cry for the departed. They walk the hillsides all night, crying, each with a sharp stone in her hand, and at intervals they give their breasts a rake with the stone, and by morning they are almost dead from loss of blood, and they are a sight to behold. Then seven of the heads of the tribe (warriors) sit on the ground in a circle, and squaws bring them seven lighted cigarettes, and they all draw in a large draught of smoke and blow it downward in the formed circle; then, with great interest, they watch and comment on the movements of the smoke—if it goes up, their warrior has gone to the Happy Hunting Ground. I wonder why our ministers never give us a sure thing like that.

Some ponies had strayed away from the Tonkaway camp, and a young warrior took their trail; he hadn't gone far when he met a Comanche scout from a bunch of warriors who were raiding the country. They drew their guns and fought it out on the spot, both being killed. When their warrior failed to return to camp, they trailed him to the spot where he met his fate. They packed each of them on a pony and took them to camp and then followed the wildest day I ever saw in their camp. They first cut the dead Comanche's hair off, then his hands and turned both over to the squaws; then they piled up a great heap of wood and laid the Comanche on top and set it afire; the squaws held a big dance around it while it burned; the fire was kept at full blast for about six or eight hours then it was let cool while the warriors were getting ready for their part in sending the Comanche to—

They painted up, put on their feather head-gear, got their war ponies up and mounted, each with a brace of pistols. They rode off at about one o'clock and came back smouldering fire containing the ashes of the enemy, and formed single file, with the chief at head, each with drawn pistol in hand. At a signal from the chief, the war-cry came like a clap of thunder as they flew for the ash heap. As they swept by, each warrior emptied a volley of lead into it, and the flying coals of fire that filled the air looked like a meteoric shower. They would run about one hundred yards past, then turn and repeat—and all at top speed. They kept this up until their entire supply of ammunition was exhausted; then the squaws gathered stones and took a few flings at the ashes. The hands were put up in front of the fire by means of sharp sticks, one end being stuck in the ground and the other end to his hand. I could never quite get the object of this part of the ceremony. The hands were still roasting when I left at eleven o'clock that night.

At night the warriors got out their tom-toms, and the real dance followed, in which another, young paleface and myself joined for the sake of the adventure, and we had lots of fun. The tribesmen were very friendly with us, and divided feathers and painted our faces.

Every little hamlet or the frontier counts of some attraction. Fort Griffin's was the Tonkaway camp—all visitors must see the Indians. A very bright, refined and educated young man blew into Fort Griffin. From all appearances he was the kind that stayed a few days and turned back. For reasons that are good for me, I will call him Robin Hood.

Well, Robin feeded the old seasoned frontiersmen the harder things came, the better Robin liked it. When the Indians committed depredations on the settlers, he was one of the first in the saddle, and he never knew when to quit.

Young Robin Hood never let his namesake's colors trail the dust. He was liked by all, and a Chesterfield in manners.

We had a big barbecue and we took along boxes for the ladies to sit on while dinner was served, and gallant Robin Hood, true to his breeding, drew the boxes back and seated the ladies, very much to their amusement and delight.

The truth is, you couldn't hitch Robin up in the wrong place. He was by profession a pharmacist (a druggist). He set up a little drug store, notions, etc., at the post, and all gave Robin their patronage and the glad hand. The call of the wild was music to young Hood. The Tonkaway camp, with its quaint inhabitants of Mother Nature's very own children, was to him a delightful retreat. He went there often and often; he was very attentive to a young squaw named Kittie Gray; his interest in his drug shop waned. When any one wanted to see Robin, he was directed to the Indian camp. He finally closed out his little drug shop and took quarters in Kitty Gray's tepee—Robin turned Indian completely, let his hair grow, pulled his eye-brows out, wore a feather in his hair and buckskin leggins and moccasins; he later on developed Indian features, looked the Indian, and WAS an Indian; he mastered the dialect, and was the only white man, excepting one, who ever spoke their tongue. The Indians loved him; he got to the very head of their tribe, attended to all of the tribal agairs between them and the pale-face.

He never lost any of his old frontier friends, and was still a Chesterfield in the Indian camp.

The government finally (in the early 80's) moved the Tonkaways to the Sack and Fox Agency in the Indian Territory, and Robin Hood went as one of them, and was their adviser and interpreter. After they had been there a few years, Kitty Gray slept with her fathers, and was no more.

Robin Hood was a Tonkaway 12 years. When he lost his little squaw, he hitched a pair of Indian ponies to a ram-shackle old wagon and drove one hundred miles to his people, who, in the meantime, had gone west and settled at a place that I will call Flag Staff, Arizona, for the same reason that I called him Robin Hood.

Last Sunday in San Antonio I had the pleasure of seeing an exhibition of the J. E. Mc-Cann paintings, which are on display at the Collins Art Shop, 110 East Houston Street.

This is a wonderful collection of oil paintings, all executed by the late lamented J. Ferdinand McCann of Boerne. The master-hand died at Vanderpool in 1919 at the age of 95 years. The Fosters have been engaged in the goat business for some 40 years, starting in with the just original Spanish stock. Since that time they have constantly improved their herds until today have some of the best in stock in the country. Vanderpool section is an ideal goat and sheep country, in fact, all stock does well there in anything like seasonable times. It has a number of substantial citizens, who have made for themselves splendid homes and well improved ranches.—Uvalde Leader-News.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Mexican, Claims.

The following letter from the Agent of the United States to Congressman Hudspeth, and also the "letter from Congressman Hudspeth's secretary to the editor of the New Era, will be of interest to a number of our Bandera county citizens.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10, 1925.

The Honorable C. B. Hubspeth, House of Representatives, Washington.

Sir—During 1872 and 1873 a very considerable number of citizens of Texas and of the United States presented claims to the United States Commissioners to Texas, said claims being on account of live stock losses, or other spoliations at the hands of armed bands of Mexican raiders, or armed forces of Mexico, or mixed bands of Mexicans and Indians. Memorands of some seven hundred of said claims have been duly presented by this Agency to the General Claims Commission, established pursuant to the recent Convention between the United States and Mexico.

The original petitions are, in numerous cases, supported by specific proof, and all are supported by overwhelming evidence of general character, both in the form of depositions taken before the said United States Commissioners to Texas, and as embodied in Congressional and Military reports up to and during the year 1878. Most of the original claimants are doubtless deceased. The Agency, except in perhaps a hundred cases, is quite without information as to their heirs or legal rep'sn.

There is appended, hereto, alphabetical list of persons in whose favor, or in the favor of whose estates, or their next of kin.

It is hoped that administrators may be appointed to represent the estates of persons deceased and that the Courts of Texas will authorize their appointments, notwithstanding the Texas statutes, but as construing said statutes as repealed or modified by the recent General Claims Convention of 1923 with Mexico, or rules of the General Claims Commission in pursuance thereof, in order that estates, in whose favor claims exist, may be reopened, and your consideration is invited as to this difficulty, which confronts the Agency, growing out of the statute law of Texas forbidding the reopening of estates for the purpose of administration after four years.

Very sincerely yours,
HENRY W. ANDERSON,
Agent of the United States.

Washington D. C., Oct. 12, 1925
Mr. J. M. Hunter,
Editor New Era,
Bandera, Texas.

Dear Mr. Hunter:—I am enclosing you a copy of a letter from the Agent of the United States, on the Mexican Claims Commissions, to Representative Hudspeth, asking his aid in locating the addresses or heirs of claimants who filed claims with the Robb Commission on account of depredations by Mexicans some years ago. The names of the claimants which Colonel Anderson gives for Bandera County are as follows:

Sarah Leane
John Whitby.
Walter Clark.
John A. Jones.
Joseph Schubick (or Knipsik).
John Kintler.
John Leakey.
Ludowig Lague (Center Point) probably "Lange."
Paul Martin
Jacob Pestert
L. Thalman.
Daniel Wickler.
William Walker.

Mr. Hudspeth would very much appreciate any aid you can give him toward locating these claimants or their heirs. It is very much to their interest to have their names on file with the Commission in order that when these claims are prosecuted and settled they may receive the awards.

Very sincerely yours,
KATE GEORGE
Secretary

Designated State Highway.

Tuesday morning Senator Julius Real phoned The Sun that he had been advised by the State Highway Commission that they had designated the Kerrville-Medina road as a State Highway. This action was taken at the last meeting of the Highway Commission in Austin.

This is pleasing information to the people of this section as the designation of this short stretch as a State Highway connects up a Scenic Loop, with Kerrville as the pivotal point, that cannot be surpassed anywhere in the Southwest. The Kerrville - Fredericksburg road was designated some time back as a State Highway and connects with the Bankhead Highway and the Fredericksburg-Austin Highway. For several years the route from Kerrville to San Antonio, via Medina and Bandera, has been marked by the Old Spanish Trail as a Scenic Loop, and has been logged several times, by automobile parties who raved over the magnificent scenery afforded by the trip.

While it will probably be some time next year before any improvement work is done on the new route it is in better than average shape at the present time and the increased travel that is bound to follow will soon demand a first class highway for the entire distance. —Kerrville Mountain Sun.

A Betting Fool.

At a western post a lieutenant transferred from Texas, reported for duty. Upon his arrival the commanding officer said:

"Lieutenant, I have a letter from your former colonel. He tells me that you have one weakness, and that is betting. You must cut that out in this regiment. I won't stand for it. Look at me; you couldn't hire me to make a wager now. What do you bet about anyway?

"I will bet on anything," said the youngster, "For example, colonel, I'll bet you $25 you have a wart on your left shoulder."

"What!" said the colonel. "I'll just take that bet." He pulled off his shirt and displayed a shoulder without a blemish. "There is no wart there," he said. "You lose; give me the money. I hope this will be a lesson to you."

Then he put on his shirt, buttoned up his blouse and dismissed the young officer. Whereupon he sat down and wrote a letter to the colonel in Texas.

"As you wrote me, this youngster wasn't in my office two minutes before he bet me $25 that I had a wart on my left shoulder. Of course he lost. I hope it will be a lesson to him."

In a couple of weeks a reply came from Texas.

"The youngster wins. Before he left, he bet me $100 he could tear my shirt off in five minutes after he met you."

Booze and Water

In these days of "hootch" and bad "corn whisky" the late John B. Gough's eloquent apostrophe to water seems all the more beautiful. It is as follows:

"Sweet, beautiful water—brewed in the running brook, the rippling fountain and the laughing rill—in the simple cascade, as it joyfully leaps down the side of the mountain. Brewed in yonder mountain top, whose granite peaks glitter like gold bathed in the morning sun—brewed in the sparkling water—brewed in the crested wave of the ocean deep, given by nature's laboratory its terrible anthem to the god of the sea—brewed in the fleecy foam and whitened spray as it hangs like a speck over the distant cataract—brewed in the clouds of heaven; sweet, beautiful water! As it sings in the rain shower and dances on the hail storm—as it comes sweeping down in the fleathy flakes, clothing the earth in spotless white. Distilled in the golden tissue that veils the midnight moon—sweet, health giving, beautiful water! Distilled in the rainbow of promise, whose warp is the rain drops of earth, and whose woof is the sunbeams of heaven—sweet beautiful water."—Ex change.

Transportation of more than 100,000 pounds of mohair from the warehouse of the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association to Center Point for shipment to Boston buyers, got under way Monday. Every available auto truck in the community was pressed into service, and within a couple of days the big warehouse was cleared of the mohair accumulation and is being made ready to receive the wool clip which will soon be coming in.

H. A. Paine, Jr., the manager of the Paine Motor Co., was over from Boerne yesterday and in company with Walter Epperson and Lee Risinger paid the New Era an appreciated visit. Mr. Paine succeeds the Herpel Motor Co. at Boerne, and comes from Houston to east his lot in the glorious Hill Country. He informs us that he is delighted with this picturesque region, and has been given a cordial welcome by the good people of Boerne. He says the demand for the new style Ford cars is growing and his firm is rushed to supply orders, and urges all who contemplate buying a new Ford during the next two or three months to put in their order at once, and delivery will be made as soon as possible.

IF YOU GET UP NIGHTS YOU'RE OLD BEFORE YOUR TIME

Prostate and Bladder Trouble Makes Many Men Feel Twenty Years Older Than They Are.

It is said that fifty per cent of men past forty and many younger ones are victims of prostate trouble.

Frequent bladder irritations, scanty flow, burning sensation which saps vitality and makes you old before your time is the penalty of getting up several times a night.

Other symptoms are dull, dragging aching at the base of the spine, pain in groin, burning sensation of urgency, lack of vigor and frequent attacks of the blues.

But there is hope for you, no matter how old your case, from a wonderful new formula. It seemingly brings new life, new energy and vitality from these troubles to both old and young.

This new discovery, well known as Williams' Prostatic Pacific, and is prepared in convenient, pleasant tablet form. All you need do is take one tablet after each meal and the symptoms seem to vanish like magic.

To prove these statements the Walker Drug Co., 188 Gateway Station, Kansas City, Mo., generously offers to send a 21 treatment, under plain wrapper, postpaid and free of charge to any person who will write for it. If it cures you tell your friends and pay whatever you think is fair, otherwise it costs you nothing.

Remember that you are the judge, you pay nothing now or at any time unless you wish, so send your name today before the extraordinary offer is withdrawn. It is good for only 7 days and guaranteed in every way.

Out sowing and sheep shearing is in full blast in this portion of the garden spot of the Lone Star State. Early sown oats are looking fine since the insects have let up on them.

Mrs. Wade Casparis and little daughter, Dora Alice, came in Saturday from a six week's visit to her relatives at Ranger and other points in that section.

Henry Reavis, son of Leslie, and Orville Dock Reavis, all of Little Creek, were over Sunday callers at the G. M. Foster and W. W. Chisum ranches.

The Lone Loyal-O-Tuff community is in our midst this week visiting his sister's family Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schemmelpfenning of West Vanderpool.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Massey, accompanied by Miss Hortense Casparis, were week end visitors at Leakey, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Massey's sister's family, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Bullard, and other relatives there.

We regret to say that Mrs. E. L. Bridwell is still in very delicate health. Dr. McBeth was called to see her last Sunday evening. Her sister Miss Mollie Caffel of Tarpley is with her this week.

Emmett Wilson one of West Side's prominent young business men, was in Vanderpool Thursday.

Mrs. Gus. Benser left Friday for her home in San Antonio after a weeks sojourn with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Pumpkie.

Mrs. J. P. Casparis was called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Smith of Utopia, this week to help nurse their little child who is dangerously ill.

The Vanderpool school opens Monday.

O. M. and A. W. Clayton, J. S. Cooley and son Lynn were Sabinal business callers this week.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Moore was saddened last Wednesday night by the death angel taking from them their day old infant, which was laid to rest in the Vanderpool cemetery Thursday evening. Rev. J. W. Storms, of Utopia, conducted the funeral services. They bereaved parents have the sincere sympathy of the community in this dark hour.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Ivy were Sunday guests of Mr. Ivy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ivy of East Vanderpool.

Mr. and Mrs. William Ziegenbalg, Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Ziegenbalg, Jr., and Fritz Ziegenbalg, all of Hondo, were guests of A. W. Mayfield and family last Thursday. They also visited Veteran Amasa Clark and secured some choice pears from his orchard.

Wool Coming In.

The fall wool clip is now coming into the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association warehouse at Center Point, and receipts already having been delivered there. It is estimated that this fall's clip will amount to around 100,000 pounds, and a good price is expected. The mohair clip which was shipped out by the Association a few days ago amounted to 138,000 pounds and brought 57 cents per pound for grown hair and 70 cents per pound for kid hair.

Medina W. M. U. Entertains.

The W. M. U. of Medina entertained the ladies of Bandera, Kerrville, and Riverside Baptist churches last Saturday in a most lovely way. The church was decorated with all kinds of beautiful flowers, among them some of the prettiest roses I ever saw. The writer did not know there were so many pretty flowers in Bandera county, much less in Medina. Some of the most pleasing was to draw all closer together in the work we are planning to do. Mrs. W. H. Price gave the welcome address and such a gracious manner we were all glad we were there. Mrs. Jack Moore, of Kerrville, our associational president, responded in her quiet way, her talk coming straight from the heart and was, as always, helpful. Mrs. T. H. Davis led the Devotional. Special music from Riverside, Medina, Lake, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Haby are old settlers of Bandera county, having lived at their present homestead near the mouth of Mescal Spring, for many long years. In the early days, when Mr. and Mrs. Haby settled in Bandera county, neighbors were very few, and the savage red men often made raids in this section. They have reared six children, all of whom were present at the golden jubilee. They are: Titus Haby of Geronimo, Robert Haby of Biomedina, Arnold Haby of Medina Lake, Mrs. George Ahr of Lacoste, Mrs. Sebastian Tschirhart, Jr., and Mrs. Raymond Letcher of Medina Lake.

A beautiful wedding cake was baked by the daughters, the top decoration of which included a bridal party of Medina Lake. Table decorations were in gold and white ribbon streaming down the side. The cake was frosted with white, trimmed with a gold band and fifty golden candles were placed around it, and the inscription, "Golden Anniversary," in gold letters. The cake was placed in the center of a long table. Table linens carried a golden band on the edges. With numerous cakes and pies, the table was loaded with fine barbecued meats, beef, mutton, pork, and various salads and all the tempting things that go with such a wonderful spread.

Dancing started at 3 p. m. and continued until 4:30 the next morning. Everybody enjoyed themselves, as there was plenty to eat and good music and singing.

Mr. and Mrs. Haby received many valuable and useful presents, and many good wishes for continued happiness and long life.

The following were present: Mr. and Mrs. Leopold Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wurzbach, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Haby Mr. and Mrs. Henry Zinsmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Schott, Mr. and Mrs. Titus Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haby, Mr. and Mrs. George Ahr, Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Tschirhart, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ludwig, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zinsmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Letcher, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McCarthy, Mrs. George Karm, Mrs. Jacob Hutzler, Mrs. Ida Bendele, Misses Delphia and Alma Haby, Luella Karm, Gladys Tschirhart, Loraine Shott, Metzie and Annie Zinsmeister, Meda Meek's, Medora Hutzler, Jewel Baugh, Messrs. Otto Haby, Albert Loidwig, Eugene George, Walter, Olan, Quintes, Clement and Howard Haby, Edwin Wurzbach, Henry Brauchle, Roland and Daniel Tschirhart, John, Edward and Henry Zinsmeister, Robert Bobbins, Wilfred Leibold, Rudolf Schott, Joe Karm and A. J. Monette.

Visits State Fair.

Raymond Rawls, Cecil Keith, Clarence Griffin, and Hilma Lyendecker, all Kerr County Boys Club members won a trip to the State Fair of Texas, which was held in Dallas. These four boys were selected by the county Agent, J. C. Yeary to represent the Boys Club work of Kerr county. Every county of the State was represented by from four to ten club boys and their County Agent.

While on the Fair grounds everything was furnished free for club boys. All shows were free and guides took the boys through all of the Exhibits which were poultry, Sears Roebuck, Agricultural exhibits and the Automobile exhibit building. A professional agriculturalist was at the building to explain how each plant or vegetable should be prepared for hay, feed or show purposes.

These club boys were cared for three days free of cost. The three days were spent in educational and pleasure benefits.

Enroute home the four boys mentioned above were given a free trip through the Swift of Packing houses at Ft. Worth.

Every boy at the fair representing a county club project reports a fine trip. They owe their thanks to Mr. W. H. Stratton, secretary of the fair and Mr. S. C. Evans of College Station, Texas and to their county agents.

Armistice, Day Celebration.

Kerrville will stage an Armistice Day Celebration on November 11, under auspices of Kerrville Chamber of Commerce. Every organization will take part. A great parade will start at 10:45 in which will be decorated floats. A brass band and an orchestra will furnish music, patriotic addresses will be delivered, and appropriate exercises will be rendered. Bandera is invited to participate in this big celebration and may have as many decorated floats and vehicles as our people see fit to send.

Married Sunday.

A quiet wedding occurred last Sunday morning at the home of the bride on Laxson's Creek, when Miss Myrtle Walker and Mr. Morgan Daniels were united in marriage, Rev. W. H. Price officiating.

The bride is the daughter of J. W. Walker, and has lived in that section all of her life. She is a young lady of charming personality, and quite a social favorite. The groom is a gentleman of Victoria, Texas, and is of sterling character. After a sumptious wedding dinner the newly married pair left for Victoria where they will reside. The New Era joins in congratulations and wishes Mr. and Mrs. Daniels happiness and prosperity through life.

Real Winter.

Bandera got its first breath of Winter early yesterday morning when temperatures started a downward course, the thermometer registered below 50 degrees.

...ed as second-class matter at ...stoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Bandera is in line for some great big things, and we can land all of them if we put our heads together and do a little planning, and then when we have our heads together just get our shoulders to the wheel and push. All of Southwest Texas is in the limelight as the present time. Homeseekers from the North are pouring into the San Antonio territory by thousands, investors are coming in droves, and we are bound to share in the prosperity and development that will come with these men of means. It is freely predicted that as a result of the tremendous influx of immigrants to Southwest Texas San Antonio within five years will have a population of more than 500,000. Bandera is at San Antonio's door, and is certain to get some of the overflow of the increasing population. But we must get busy and offer some inducement for people to locate in this county and invest their money here.

Old Bandera county is coming out of the kinks. We make the prediction that within five years we will have good roads throughout all parts of the county. People are waking up to the necessity of good roads. Hauling by truck to market makes bad roads an absolute necessity. Good roads bring more people, more people bring prosperity.

"There is a Reason"

To be a good citizen a man does not have to belong to any particular church or any particular lodge. He can be a Methodist and be a good citizen; he can be a Baptist and be a good citizen; he can be a member of the Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints and be a good citizen; he can be affiliated with the International Bible Students' Association and be a good citizen; he can be a member of the Christian church or of the Church of Christ and be a good citizen; he can be a Catholic and be a good citizen; he can belong to no church and be a good citizen. It's all bosh and the veriest kind of prejudice to classify a man's citizenship according to his church membership. In this county we have the various religious denominations, they have been here a long time, and we cannot see where these distinctions are to be made. This is a free country and a man has a right to hold any religious belief he thinks best, and when we hear of a man being condemned for his belief or for his church affiliation we are inclined to regard the critic as being very narrow-minded and selfish.

Liquor Raid in Reagan County.

District Attorney Joe G. Montague, former Bandera attorney, directed a clean-up raid at Best, in Reagan county, last week in which a greater portion of the new oil town's population was arrested and jailed on charges of violation of the liquor laws. The raid was so successfully carried out that the Reagan and Pecos county jails were filled to overflowing and more than 200 indictments were returned by the Reagan county grand jury. The account of the raid appearing in the state newspapers is as follows:

Surprise liquor raids 10 days ago by Federal, State and county officers and private detectives, including a woman, is believed to have dried up the wettest spot in the State. But the problem confronting the officers Saturday was where to put the prisoners.

The Reagan and Pecos jails are filled to capacity, the former jail at Staples, 10 miles from a railroad, is filled, a number of defendants are housed in a garage at Big Lake, and others are being watched in hotels and rooming houses.

Best itself scarcely knew what was transpiring until the arrests had been made and the indictments returned, as the facts had been withheld until the prisoners were safe in the hands of the law.

Much of the work of investigation has been financed by the oil companies in this section, as conditions here and at Big Lake were believed to have grown beyond the control of local authorities. Saloons were running openly and gambling houses and dance halls were reported to be doing a good business. Almost half the business houses of the town were raided when the officers began their work.

The foundation of the clean-up was laid about two months ago when District Attorney J. G. Montague, with State Rangers and a woman detective, quietly began gathering evidence. Warrants were issued secretly at 2 o'clock in the morning about 10 days ago. Several dozen officers gathered in groups at appointed places in the country near. The warrants were distributed, each group allotted its work and when day came the raiding parties swooped down on the saloons which were running all night.

Not a shot was fired. The places were taken by surprise and all employes, inmates and owners were arrested.

The officers reported they found whiskey bottles with their pre-Volstead label, openly displayed on the shelves, and the beer kegs tapped as in the old days. A number of women were caught in the net, as well as police characters of wide reputation.

Maj. H. H. White, prohibition director for Texas and Oklahoma, was kept in touch with the situation and made the announcement.

For several days the officers have been hauling truck loads of liquor and whiskey-making equipment away from the raided places. Thousands of gallons of liquor, including 2,500 gallons of whiskey have been confiscated.

Best has had the sudden growth of the usual oil town. In 1923 it wasn't on the map. It's building's are frame, many of them temporary structures. The oil boom brought persons here from many parts of the country, and soon the wilder elements had things in their own hands.

Satterwhite and Fergusons Split.

Austin, Texas, Oct. 26—Former Governor James E. Ferguson and Speaker Lee Satterwhite came to a parting of the ways Monday following a bitter conversation in the private executive office which occurred in the presence of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. It was all about the current controversy over the Highway Commission and convening a special session of the Legislature. The speaker of the House is now placed with the Attorney General of the State as a political enemy of the Fergusons.

Neither principal to Monday's disagreement made any public statement and Satterwhite refused to discuss the details of the break, but intimate friends who were made confidants permitted some of the conversation to leak out.

It seems that Ferguson accused the Speaker of having given out interviews reflecting on the administration of the Governor and as stirring up the demand for a special session. Satterwhite is said to have denied it with emphasis. One word brought on another without either principal accepting the blame for the break with the result that an open break came and Satterwhite retired with all parties enraged.

During the conversation Satterwhite is quoted as having told Ferguson plainly that if the Moody investigation discloses the need of a special session to investigate the State departments the Speaker will not hesitate to call it in the event the Governor fails. This brought on some of the heated remarks. However, the Speaker is said to have told the ex-Governor that if he concluded a special session is needed for purposes of investigation he would so inform the Governor so as to give her the first opportunity to make the call but that if, after a reasonable time, no call was issued by the Executive the Speaker would act.

Good roads and better schools are necessary in any community that aspires to wealth and prosperity. If you had $20,000 to invest in a community would you invest it where the roads were in bad condition and the schools did not rank very high? You most certainly would not.

TUBERCULOSIS

The following interesting article recently appeared in The Chaser, published at the State Tuberculosis Sanitarium at Carlsbad, Texas. It was written by Dr. J. B. McKnight, superintendent and physician in charge of the Sanitarium:

Running in terror out of the darkness of the room the child clutched at the skirt of its mother. In the innocence of childhood, and the drowsiness following deep sleep, the instinctive fear inherited from age-old tales of the bogies of darkness got the little fellow's nerve. The mother attempted to calm him with words, but the fear persisted; she then pushed the switch by the doorway and flooded the room with light, and in every nook and corner they explored the room for the bugbears of the child's imagination. When they found none the little fellow was soothed and again laid his head on the pillow and went to sleep.

The innocence of childhood needed the light that flooded the room to reveal in a convincing way that no bogies were there and no harm would come.

In like manner the public's ignorance of tuberculosis needs the light of knowledge to reveal that the ludicrous traditionally associated with tuberculosis are purely fancies of the imagination.

However, this ignorance is not universal—there is a large and ever-increasing number of people who really understand tuberculosis as a disease and as a problem, and they should not be needed among those that persist in being blind.

Those among the latter element seem to think that it is best to ignore the disease and fear it. One of the dictionary definitions of IGNORE is to be ignorant. And that's reasonable, for we are bound to be unfamiliar with, or ignorant of, the thing we disregard.

Among the weak points of human nature is a disposition to get out of facing the facts when there is any suspicion or belief that the truth is unpleasant. It would, of course, be the part of wisdom to intelligently face every situation, especially the problems that have a bearing on our every day lives or the lives of our loved ones. This is particularly true when lives are jeopardized by such ignorance.

If these people would learn the truth about tuberculosis, it would reveal itself in a new aspect; and individual cases of tuberculosis, or consumption, would not be shunned with fear and loathing. The disease would cease to be a great bugaboo, and it would appear not such a terrible thing after all. However, we must not conclude that the tuberculosis problem is not a serious one. It is one that calls for much work and much attention.

The caution, however, needs to be exercised in a different direction and manner than has been the case in the past among large numbers.

Tuberculosis cannot be caught in the way that one picks up a case of measles. An outstanding and convincing proof of this is the fact that there is not on record an incident of a tuberculosis sanitarium employe entering service free of the disease and contracting it during sanitarium employment. Many non-tuberculous persons are constantly employed in tuberculosis sanatoria. Furthermore, families of healthy children have been reared around tuberculosis sanatoria in numerous instances. Where proper precaution is exercised and sanitary conditions are maintained, there is no menace.

Visitors at the State Sanatorium, on business or to see relatives, are occasionally inquiring: "Doctor, is there any danger of me catching it around here?" A little talk on tuberculosis puts these folks at ease and they leave the Sanatorium grounds with information that will be a comfort to them the rest of their lives. It must be a miserable feeling to be in constant dread of something that in the imagination is mysterious and terrible.

If tuberculosis could be readily transmitted in active form, or bad cold is passed from one to another, the population of the world would have ceased to exist long ago—it would have indeed been "The Great White Plague."

Ordinary association with a careful tuberculosis person—one that knows he, or she, has active trouble and conforms to the rules of precaution that are laid down by physicians and taught in all sanatoriums—is not in the least dangerous.

There are ex-sanatorium patients working in close association with others in all of the great corporations of the country. It is a narrow-minded executive, or an ignorant bunch of fellow-employes, that in this enlightened age object to afford ...ing employment to a man or woman that has made a winning fight against tuberculosis and get back in condition to again enter productive work. The State Sanatorium is constantly receiving requests for literature to be sent to employes in care of corporations, companies, or individual employers. These requests are often inspired by ex-patients who warn their fellow workers when signs of tuberculosis seem to appear. Modern executives and employers encourage this, because it is for the best interest of all concerned. More and more, tuberculosis is being discussed frankly and above-board.

There have been instances brought to our notice, however, of employers, poorly informed on tuberculosis, objecting to the return to work of persons that had been compelled to leave positions to take a rest, at great expense and sacrifice, in order to best look to health. Such an attitude toward a worthy employe is not only sill... but is criminal.

There ought to be some way to demonstrate to these kind of folks that all tuberculosis patients are not by any means ex-sanatorium patients or sick folks in the community commonly referred to as "consumptives." There are in all large concerns many cases of active tuberculosis, many fat and healthy-looking. Here and there throughout all communities are persons in all walks of life unknowingly but gradually slipping, slipping, slipping down-grade with tuberculosis. Some of these have the trouble suggested to them, and they resent the idea, and determinedly ignore the suggestion. Such as these, the ones that do not know and do not want to know, are destined—unless Nature does one of its near miracles—to become neighborhood "consumptives" or succumb to some acute attack, with tuberculosis as a big contributing cause of death. However, through a struggle or through a rather long life, ignorant of or ignoring their real trouble, and at last literally die in the harness. To their life has been a nightmare. Energy was used to struggle, and none was stored away for building up strength. A period of rest and proper care and precaution at an early stage would have made life, oh, so different. Even far advanced cases become back to ...ble rules of the game are followed.

Tuberculosis is a mild disease under of the mildest troubles known to mankind. This is a bright side of the tuberculosis problem. But it is at the same time a phase that makes the problem more difficult—because it makes tuberculosis a very treacherous thing. Those people who literally die on their feet are the victims of the treachery of tuberculosis; it is so mild that it does not manifest itself with sufficient severity to wake them up and make them do something definite for self-protection, and for the sake of loved ones and other associates. When you visit a State Sanatorium you see the active cases of tuberculosis scattered in the homes and offices and workshops, and elsewhere—going through life ignorant of their trouble, careless in habits, and unable to realize their menance to others—you have a picture of the dark side of the tuberculosis problem.

You can readily see another dark side when you are told that tuberculosis infection is to be found in practically every adult, with the possibility of active disease more or less present at all times.

The entire public should get all these things in mind; pressure should be brought to bear on every individual—the pressure of public opinion—to make him or her realize that co-operation in health matters is a duty. Every man or woman that wants to make a living ought to have an opportunity to do so, regardless of the fact that tuberculosis has at some time come into his or her life, provided proper precaution is exercised in health matters. On the other hand, every suspect of tuberculosis should be put squarely up to every individual that seems to want to ignore it, and certain sanitary rules should be strictly enforced everywhere and on everybody. Knowledge of tuberculosis makes fairness of such rules very evident to anybody, and all furnished people naturally fall in line.

Homes, offices, shops, hotels and all places should be made clean, and kept clean, and the sunshine should be let in everywhere the rays can reach.

Let us quit fearing the individual consumptives and realize that tuberculosis is a widespread menace that we cannot dodge. Let us face it, and fight it, and down it, and be fair to everybody. Let us help the tuberculosis person that is able to work by allowing him to make a living. And don't shun him and pity him.

Compare these Better BUICK Sedans with "Coaches"

These finer closed cars are built on the famous Buick chassis with the 21-year-proved, 60 and 75 horsepower Buick Valve-in-Head engines. Extra power!

And they have the famous "Sealed Chassis" and the new "Triple Sealed Engine." No other car, regardless of price, furnishes this completeness of protection for driving parts.

And these Buicks have the characteristic Buick charm of body profile. They are finished in Duco. They seat five full-grown people in roomy comfort. They have the Fisher VV, one-piece, ventilating windshield, automatic windshield wiper, and a host of light necessities. Buick's exacting closed car standards prevail in their Fisher-built bodies.

Come in and see how much superior these Better Buick Sedans are to "Coaches" before you spend your money.

'Hallowe'en Party.

An enjoyable Hallowe'en social was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Chisum Friday evening in honor of the B. Y. P. U. membership. The parlor and dining rooms were decorated very beautifully, carrying out the Hallowe'en color scheme. A natural size hand-made witch cat was placed on the library table. The centerpiece for the dining tablee was a basket, designed to represent a pumpkin, which contained hand made favors. A blindfolded "ghost," matched the partners for the evening. Various forms of bobbing games were then played. Bobbing for apples was amusement for the grown ups, as well as for juniors. A game entitled "A Calendar of Events," created much laughter. Refreshments of Hallowe'en featured cakes and hot chocolate were served by the hostesses, Mesdames W. R. Fletcher, John H. Erwin, E. Hicks, and J. E. Chisum, to 55 guests. The living room was then made dark and the guests were asked to be real quiet, while a ghost story was to be given. Miss Lois Miller impersonating a "ghost," gave the reading, and at a certain point in the story, Gervis Carmichael, one of the assistant "ghosts," entered the room and gave the guests a good scare, after which they were led to a darkened room where another assistant, Harold Wright, was hidden within a closet representing a tomb. He impersonated several victims, the fireman, the coal man, the radio bug, the speed fiend and the fast driver. The following ghosts were given prizes Miss Miller, Gervis Carmichael, and Cecile Lewis. Miss Elisabeth McBryde and Eloise Corley received prizes for being the best costumed girls. They were all very pretty in their costumes. Lois Fletcher and Aileen Cash looked very pretty dressed as twins. At 12 o'clock the guests departed, expressing their gratitude for the happy occasion.

His sons and daughters present on that occasion were: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Toudouze and children of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Anderwald and children of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Anderwald and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maass and children, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Pyka and George Maass, all of Bandera, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hermes and family of Tarpley, and Miss Tureva Leggeton. There were thirteen grandchildren present. A fine dinner was spread and greatly enjoyed by the assembled guests. The table was filled with lots of good things to eat, the birthday cake, which was in two colors, white and pink, and adorned with four candles, being the one occupied the center. Mr. Maass lit the candles, and all surrounded the cake and made a wish, and then blew out the candles. A delightful dance was given at the home of Mr. Maass on Saturday night, and the big birthday celebration followed on Sunday. The New Era joins many friends in wishing Mr. Maass continued good health and length of days.

Old Bandera county goes into winter in pretty good shape. Despite the long drouth which prevailed here for most of the past year, the range is in fairly good condition, due to rains which have fallen during the past two months. The mohair clip recently sold and the wool clip now coming in will help tide our stockmen over until better times come. Old Bandera county usually takes care of herself.

Bandera is situated at the very door of San Antonio. That city is growing in population at a tremendous rate. The adjacent territory must produce the food for the city inhabitants. There is a growing demand for all farm products, and it is time our people should realize this. Every pound of butter, every dozen eggs, every chicken, every gallon of milk, every kind of vegetable that is fit for the table, can find ready sale in the great metropolis. A good road all of the way to San Antonio insures quick transportation of all farm products. Every Bandera county farmer should increase production along these lines for it will prove profitable.

The man who accomplishes anything in this world is bound to meet opposition in his efforts. He cannot climb to success by sliding uphill. We know there are people right here in Bandera county who do not like the New Era's policy of boosting, but we are boosting just the same. The same gentle zephyrs that fan their whiskers wafts us the hope that some day they will line up with us and we can all pull together for greater things for Bandera.

In Sunday's San Antonio Light appeared a fine picture of Bandera county scenery, the picture having been taken at the ranch of T. H. Phillips near Lima. The pictures were appearing in various newspapers and magazines showing the wonderful scenery of this picturesque region are attracting the attention of people all over the United States. W. D. Smithers, San Antonio photographer, is responsible for the publicity which Bandera is getting in this way.

Quite naturally we are proud of the growth our little magazine, Frontier Times, is making. This homely, unpretentious little magazine was started two years ago. It came into being unheralded, unknown, and without encouragement, but we knew there was a broad field for just such a publication, and we have not been disappointed, for today Frontier Times is being read in homes in every state in the Union. It's circulation is steadily expanding, and the many letters of commendation we are receiving from historians, college heads, University professors, writers, and individuals in every walk of life, convince us that it is a magazine of merit and occupies a place of usefulness hitherto unfilled. From small beginnings Frontier Times is growing, and we the people of Bandera realize just what is happening in their midst we will have here a publishing concern that will make a city of fifty thousand inhabitants. Do you read Frontier Times?

IN 1869 WE STARTED IN BUSINESS IN A SMALL WAY. OUR BUSINESS HAS INCREASED WITH LEAPS and BOUNDS, AND WE ARE NOW PROBABLY THE LARGEST RETAIL STORE IN TEXAS. NEARLY SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

"There is a Reason"

What a Farmer Learned.

Once a farmer had 1,800 bushels of wheat, which he had sold, not to one grain merchant, but to 1,800 different dealers, a bushel each. A few of them paid cash, but far the greater number said they would pay him later. A few months passed and the man's bank account ran low. "How is this" he said to himself, "my 1,800 bushels of grain should have kept me until another crop is raised, but I have parted with the grain and instead I have a vast number of accounts and so scattered, that I cannot get around and collect fast enough."

So he posted a public notice and asked all who owed him to come and pay quickly. But few came. The rest said: "Mine is only a small matter and I will pay you some other day." Though each account was very small, when all put together it meant a goodly sum to the man, and enough to enable him to pay his own bills and meet his needs. Things went on thus. The man began feeling so badly that he fell out of bed and awoke. Running to his granary he found the 1,800 bushels of wheat still there.

The next day he went to the publisher of his home-town paper and said: "Here, sir, is pay for your paper, and when next year's subscription is due you can count on me to pay you promptly. I stood in the position of an editor last night and I know how" it feels to have his earnestly earned money scattered all over the country in small amounts."

The moral is—"Go thou and do like-wise."—Chatsworth (Ill.) Plaindealer.

As evidence what can be done with a few dairy cows and poultry we can point to the thrifty, progressive community of Pipe Creek, ten miles below Bandera on the San Antonio road. A few years ago the chief industry in that community was burning charcoal. The citizens were poor and needy, and charcoal, marketed in San Antonio, seemed to offer the only remuneration for livelihood. Finally two or three of the citizens there bought some Jersey cows and began to send their milk and butter to the city; after awhile poultry was added, and the revenue derived from the combination was so gratifying that pretty soon more dairy cows were purchased and more hen houses were built. Today nearly all of the citizens of that prosperous community are engaged in that kind of business. Charcoal burning is a thing of the past, and nearly every citizen of that district owns his own home and is happy, and contented. Dairy cows and a few old hens make a combination that is hard to beat, especially if you will call a few hogs into the arrangement.

The editor of the New Era gets "grouchy" sometimes, just like other people. It's a task to meet the problems that bob up every day and always remain cheerful and in a good humor. As long as everything is moving along smoothly and without friction, it's dead easy to keep smiling, but when everything goes wrong and it seems that the whole world has turned against you, who can fetch forth a smile and keep it on? We can still reason thusly, however, today may be cloudy, but tomorrow the sun will shine. And it generally shines in Bandera.

The editor of the Rising Star Record boasts of the possession of a green cocoanut. We knew it was bald, but "how come" it is green?

Some Liars I Have Met.

I candidly believe I have met more and a greater variety of liars than any man of my age in the entire state of Texas. Before I was through shedding my milk teeth, people began lying to me and they are still at it. The first day of the first school I ever attended proved conclusively to my young mind that every blame boy in my class was a hopeless liar. They said if I would take the piece of asafoedita my folks had hung on my neck to ward off measles, whooping cough, croup, mumps, etc., and put in the teacher's pipe, they would suffer death by slow burning rather than tell on me. I had no more than put the stuff in the pipe when the teacher discovered it. "Who put this stuff in my pipe, boys," he asked, and every one of them stood up and pointed his finger at me.

After wearing out the dog-wood switches on me that the boys had hastily procured for the occasion without being solicited, the teacher made me sit on a bench by myself, claiming that it was not right to make good and truthful boys sit by me.

By the time I had quit wearing dresses I bet I had wasted a barrel of salt throwing it at birds' tails, since a lot of liars had made me believe that was the way to catch them. Next thing being many times I have gone in search of the financial end of a rainbow where I was assured by some old long-whiskered liar a large pot of gold would be found.

About the time my voice began to change and whisker bumps to pop out on my fuzzy chin, I began meeting the more versatile and accomplished liars, both male and female. For instance I gave a dark complexioned stranger wearing a derby hat and sideburns, $3.50 and my note for $7.50 due in sixty days, for a receipt guaranteed to grow whiskers on the most youthful chin in the short space of two weeks. It was my idea to stick around home while my whiskers were growing like a green bay tree and when they had reached my waist line I was going to dash up to the Cave Creek meeting house on my pony and have everyeverybody guessing who the handsome bewhiskered stranger was. But alas my whiskers hung fire and said dash was never made.

I hate to say it, but one of the biggest liars I ever met was a grass widow older and larger than myself and the mother of three promising children. It was a case of love at first sight with us, or at least it was with me and I didn't only lavish my boyish affection on her, but at least twenty pounds of stick candy, to say nothing of the gold filled engagement ring that cost me a dollar and a quarter. We were to be married in the fall or just as soon as I could get over a bale of cotton to buy my wedding outfit and enough furniture to start keeping house. But alas! Ya a whole lot of ashes! She deceived me most cruelly, in fact, lied to me and married a one-legged sewing machine agent with a cataract in his left eye.

Yes, indeed, I have met first and last all sorts of liars; met the fellow who broke a faro bank; the liar that caught the monster fish that got away; met the dern liar whose grandparents owned so many niggers before the war that no one could count them; have come face to face with the fellow who refused to marry the young and beautiful heiress because he didn't love her, but married a large, heavy set woman with two big hairy moles on her chin and with no dowery worth speaking of but a paint filly and the family organ, just because he loved her, and have met liars literally by the hundreds whose children were mental prodigies.

Meeting so many liars as I have from early childhood up to the present writing, it's a thousand wonders I have not drifted into the lying habit myself. The only way I can account for it, is that I was just naturally born truthful.—Dr. Sappington, in Rising Star Record.

Cannot Use Dogs.

Anent the hunting of deer with dogs we quote the following from Senate Bill No. 3, Section 25:

"It is hereby declared unlawful for any person to make use of a dog or dogs in the hunting or pursuing or taking of any deer.

"Any person or persons owning or controlling any dog or pager, dogs, and who permit or allow such dog or dogs to run, trail, or pursue any deer at any time, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum of not less than twenty-five dollars and not more than two hundred dollars.

"Provided that nothing in this section shall prohibit the use of ONLY ONE dog in pursuit of a wounded buck deer during the open season on buck deer as provided by this law.

"Sect. 10. It shall be unlawful for any person to take, kill, wound, shoot at, hunt or possess, dead or live, any wild female deer, wild fawn deer or any wild buck deer without a PRONGED horn, or to possess any deer carcass or green deer hide with all evidence of sex removed.

"Any person violating any of this section shall be deemed guilty of misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be fined in any sum not less than twenty-five dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars.

"Bag limit: Two wild buck deer during the open season. Turkeys: Three wild gobblers during the open season."

The Deer and Turkey season opens November 16, and closes December 31.

It's time for pork and turnips, spareribs, backbone, chitlins, and the usual trimmings. As cold weather approaches these good things come nearer.

The deer season opens on November 16. You have only six weeks in which to kill deer and the law allows you to kill only two bucks. Gradually the law gets a little tighter to protect our game, and its a good thing too. When a law is passed making it unlawful for a man to hunt outside of his own county it will be a long step in the right direction of protecting our fast diminishing game.

The New Era will appreciate your kindness if you will telephone us when you have visitors or any item of news you may know. We want you to feel that the New Era is your home.

And they have the famous "Sealed Chassis" and the new "Triple Sealed Engine." No other car, regardless of price, furnishes this completeness of protection for driving parts.

And these Buicks have the characteristic Buick charm of body profile. They are finished in Duco. They seat five full-grown people in roomy comfort. They have the Fisher VV one-piece, ventilating windshield, automatic "windshield wiper, and a host of light necessities. Buick's exacting closed car standards prevail in their Fisher-built bodies.

ED CROSS YEAR A RELIEF RECORD

ge-Relief Work After Midwest Tornado the Greatest in American Annals.

ASTERS DROP IN 1925

nged From Fire to Earthquake nd Covered Wide Area at Home and Abroad.

irtual completion of the largest me-time project of post-disaster relief ation ever known has been accomplished by the American Red ss in less than a year, as a part is relief work in the more than disasters in which it served in the year.

is great program was undertaken owing the tornado which struck mid-western states in late spring ng 794 people, injuring 2,239 more causing inestimable property loss It is a large area of devastation is rake, presenting a real problem Red Cross, however, went to ss on the lines of the alarm call for the injured, sheltering and ing whose communities and help very individual sufferer from the ution back to normal.

e magnitude of the problem is id by comparison of its huge cost list with that of the entire pre- g year, whose combined losses 136 dead and not quite 2,000 in- , as a result of the record num- f 192 catastrophes.

story of the Red Cross service s past year, recounted by the re- ranges from first heading the list ructive forces with 29 disasters, ding explosions, tornadoes, ty- s, floods and earthquakes.

Santa Barbara earthquake was the outstanding events record the report. The Red Cross also ented its relief organization on ense within a few hours of the ke, and in addition began a gram designed to permanently s every person affected by it, former status once more.

Red Cross service in the period ing the wreck of the Navy air- Shenandoah" was typical of its ness and effectiveness. Serv- this instance was afforded by ross chapters in the vicinity of eck, and by representatives of ational organization. It demon- strates graphically the value of each of the more than 3,000 chapters of the society which are at work in virtually every part of the country, in the facility they afford the national organization in emergencies.

There were 61 domestic disaster operations reported in which the Red Cross assisted service either through chapter or national staff personnel during the year. In 34 of these the national organization appropriated a total of $2,947,356.49, the greater portion of which was received as direct contributions for the relief of specified disasters. The relief operations following the northern Ohio tornado of June, 1924, were brought to a close in May, 1925, after an arrangement had been made with the Lorain chapter to provide expert services to the families of any tornado sufferers who required such assistance in the next few years. In this single disaster the relief work as finally accounted, reached a total of $1,619,751.21

The mid-western tornado of this year, covering a strip of territory 400 miles long involved an expenditure up to June 30 of $774,000, while the total amount turned in to the fund after the latest report from the field was $2,643,800. In addition to this sum specifically collected for the purpose, the Red Cross has expended from its regular reserves $124,000.

In all these disasters, Red Cross workers had been impressed by the spirit of determination and hopefulness shown by the people. Once they received from their good and bewildered, they began at once to rebuild, materially and otherwise, and always on a better scale where possible. Another significant feature of these occurrences, as noted in the report of the Red Cross, was the promptness with which the local chapters organized emergency relief before help started to arrive from outside sources. A direct effect of their example has been to stimulate disaster relief preparedness among chapters all over the country.

The services of the American Red Cross are performed invariably in the name of the American people. On the occasion of the new representation during the past year, it will launch the ninth annual roll call this year on November 11, to continue until Thanksgiving, November 26, during which support through membership will be invited for 1926.

What Becomes of Red Cross Sweaters

What becomes of the sweaters which the American Red Cross has asked for? In the first place, they are needed for the 30,000 disabled veterans still in hospitals this winter, the garments being in great demand. The surplus left from the war, largely exhausted since the Armistice, hence the new call for the "sweater-knitters to resume their needles, a call already being met.

The American Red Cross invites to your name. you can make it more effective by adding your name to its membership during the Roll Call, Nov. 11-26.

Mrs. Fabian Garrison was taken to a Kerrville hospital Monday for treatment. Her many friends hope her condition will soon be improved and that she will soon be well.

Herbert S. Green and children, Miss Wilfert, Mandry and Buzzy, and Miss Gene McKay, all of San Antonio, spent the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Adamietz.

While engaged in a friendly scuffle last Saturday afternoon Walter E. Rage received a severe knife cut on the wrist which barely missed an artery. The wound bled profusely and it was at first thought the artery had been opened. The cut is healing nicely and will soon be well.

W. D. Smithers came up from San Antonio Sunday, and the editor of the New Era accompanied him over to Tarpley to get some more photographic views of the grand scenery in that region. We were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Padgett and partook of a splendid dinner, after which Mr. Padgett piloted us to the top of a high mountain and showed us the whole Hondo Valley, Williams Valley, and adjacent regions. A circuit picture was made which took in the mountains and valleys for many miles around.

Granville Wright made a business trip to San Antonio Saturday, returning Tuesday.

Mrs. L. L. McDonald and daughter, Miss Charlotte, spent Saturday in San Antonio.

For buy your staple and fancy groceries from W. J. Davenport, Sr. Free delivery.

J. A. Autrey was down from Medina last Friday and dropped in to renew his subscription to the New Era.

Robert S. Dunlap, who recently went out to Ysleta to take charge of a farm there, writes that he is well pleased with that section, and wants the New Era to keep right on coming to him.

Men's, Women's and Children's Shoes, new styles, and all sizes, at the store of W. J. Davenport, Sr.

S. E. Gerrard, who now owns the Davenport ranch on West Verde, was a business visitor in the city Monday and paid the New Era sanctum an appreciated visit. Mr Gerrard would like to see a rural mail line established through his region. It is certainly needed, as the people of East Verde, Middle Verde and West Verde are wholly without mail facilities, and are forced to come to town for their mail. A rural route would supply their needs in this respect and would be a great convenience.

Rev. H. H. Washington who has been pastor of the Bandera Methodist church the past two years, has been transferred to Blanco, and Rev. B. J. Gossett has been given this charge. It is with genuine regret that Rev. Washington's friends, and they are legion, see him and his good wife leave Bandera, for they have been untiring in their efforts to promote the interests of Methodism in this community, and have also been identified prominently with the social activities of the town. Our best wishes follow them in their new field of labor. At the same time we heartily welcome the new pastor, Rev. Gossett, and hope his labors in Bandera will be amply rewarded.

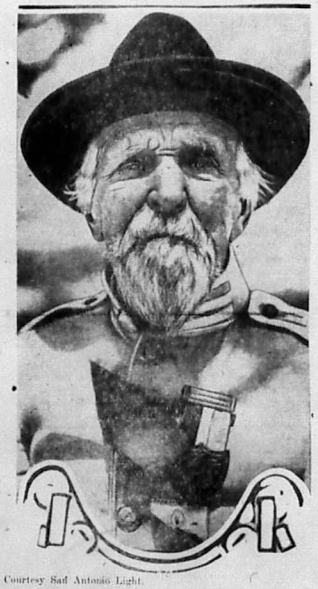
Veteran Amasa Clark, Bandera's Oldest Citizen



Courtesy San Antonio Light.

Amasa Clark, 100, veteran of the Mexican War, received an active life membership Saturday in the Veterans of Foreign Wars at an impressive ceremony at the Gunter hotel.

It seemed a long time from the days of the march from Vera Cruz toward Chapultepec, but Amasa Clark, veteran of that hike, recalled it vividly when he was honored at a ceremony at the Gunter Hotel in which he was made an active life member of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

The handsome governor's suite at the hotel was turned over to him when he came as a guest of the city. High ranking army officers and civic officials were present when the membership was conferred.

Mr. Clark who celebrated his one hundredth birthday last September 3 at his home near Bandera, was brought to San Antonio Friday by an official car sent from the Second Division.

Thomas S. Mills, of San Houston Post No. 76, opened the meeting of the veterans. State Commander Dan F. Connor gave the address of welcome to the candidate. William B. Krempkau, old-trailer and freighter, was made an honorary life member.

The obligation of the organization was given by Chief of Staff G. Stromberger. The Rev. M. S. Garriga closed the ceremony with a benediction.

Among those present at the conferring of the membership were members of the Grand Army of the Republic, United Confederate Veterans, Old Trail Drivers, Old Freighters, Spanish American War, Veterans American Legion and their auxiliaries.

The ladies auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars conferred in active life membership on Mrs. Amasa Clark at the conclusion of the ceremony.

Sunday Mr Clark will be the guest of the Second Division at the rodeo held at the stadium.—San Antonio Light.

She has been holding a position as telephone operator at Sabinal for some time, and is well known throughout the western part of the county as a most charming young lady. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. Hicks of Tarpley, and is a splendid young man. A general write-up of the wedding appears in our Vanderpool letter this week. The New Era hastens to extend congratulations and best wishes to the newly married pair.

Buys New Bungalow.

Fritz Eckhart, who lives out on East Verde, is going to live in town some of these days, and will be a neighbor to the New Era editor. Mr. Eckhart this week closed a deal for the handsome new bungalow home recently erected by E. T. Peters, paying therefor the sum of $2,550 cash. He informs us that he will at once begin beautifying the property by putting out shade trees, fruit trees and ornamental shrubbery. There is a splendid well of water on the premises and in the course of time Mr. Eckhart hopes to have one of the prettiest homes in Bandera.

Brother Dies.

County Tax Assessor Joe E. Chisum was called to Yancey Tuesday by the death of his brother, Frank Chisum, who passed away early Tuesday morning. Deceased had been ill for some time, and his death was not unexpected. He was a well known citizen of the Hondo section, having lived there many years, and was raised in the Rio Frio region. He is survived by his wife and five children, and also six brothers and two sisters, Jess Chisum, Edgar Chisum, Vance Chisum, of Rio Frio; Alfred Chisum and C. E. Chisum of Leakey, Joe Chisum of Bandera; Mrs. Archie Mills of Rio Frio and Mrs. Ida Pope of Waller, Texas. He was 41 years old. The funeral was held and interment made at the old family cemetery at Rio Frio yesterday.

Armistice Day Observed.

Armistice Day was quietly observed in Bandera yesterday, the banks and stores closing for the day. An appropriate patriotic program was given at the High School building by the pupils, on which occasion Captain T. P. Grant of Tarpley delivered a patriotic address. In the afternoon basket ball games were played.

Attention, Auto Owners.

The attention of all owners of motor vehicles and motorcycles is called to the following provision of the Texas Automobile Headlight Law:

"Section 16. Before any county tax collector shall issue a certificate of registration to the owner of a motor vehicle or motorcycle as now provided by law, he shall require the presentation of a certificate showing that the headlights of such motor vehicle or motorcycle have been tested and adjusted at some one of the county test stations referred to, and that said test and adjustment have been made within the 30 day period just preceding the date of application for registration."

Since headlamps must be adjusted within thirty days of the date of registration of the cars approximately two months will be available for the pre-registration tests. Considering extreme cases, those cars to be re-registered on January 1st, the owner will have had thirty days in which to have the headlamps adjusted, and if a registration is made on January 31st, practically the whole month of January will have been available. In all cases, however, the test and adjustment must not be over thirty days old at the time the car is registered. Of course, good motorists will have their headlamps adjusted about the time of registration.

Motorists are requested to begin registration at the earliest possible time and not wait until the latter part of January. Early registration will help the Tax Collector tremendously, and will save time for the motorist. The regular registration period will begin in this county about December 1st, 1925, and will extend through January 31st, 1926.

HENRY STEVENS,
Tax Collector.

The public will receive splendid service in the popular cafe and confectionery which has always maintained a high standard. Mr. Gray will be connected with his father in the Gray Garage. He is a hustling, engaging young business man, and is not content to be idle.

Is Killed.

Mrs. Irene Daniels, who has been sojourning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gray the past several months, left Saturday for Alexandria, Louisiana, in response to a telegram announcing that her son, A. A. Daniels had been killed accidently while duck hunting. During her stay in Bandera, Mrs. Daniels has made many friends, all of whom regret to learn of the sad tragedy. The young man was eighteen years old.

Flowers for the Living.

The largest flower in the collection was an "Angel's Trumpet," a large white bloom similar to the lily, and which is just now blooming at Mrs. Anderwald's home. We appreciate this good lady's kindness in remembering us with this encouraging gift. She is quite a florist and has demonstrated that flowers of all kinds can be successfully grown in Bandera.

"Do you read Frontier Times?

Scattered over the hills of Bandera county are to be found many stone arrowheads, relics of a vanished race. We are anxious to secure as many of these stone arrowheads as possible, and intend to send them to the International Archaeological Society or to the Smithsonian Institute to aid in research work. Many people believe that the modern Indian used these flint arrowheads, but that is a mistake. They were used by prehistoric races, and belong to the stone age. Send your specimens to this office.

We spent a very pleasant portion of the afternoon last Sunday with Uncle Tom Stevens at his home in this city. Mr. Stevens was a member of Jack Phillips Minute Company which operated in this section during the early '50's, and he related to us several interesting incidents of those stirring times, which we will publish in the January number of Frontier Times. He is the only surviving member of that company, which was composed of about thirty men, the others having died many years ago. Among the members were Jack Phillips, who was killed by Indians near Seco Pass, John A. Jones, Sam Jones, Jim Brown, Pete Weaver, Jim Ike Jones, Jim McKay, Joe Click, Sam Casey, Jack Sheppard, John Clark, C. Lafferty, Bill Mullins, Dave Chipman, Chas. Gersdorff, and others. The company was engaged in scouting for Indians and making life miserable for outlaws and cattle thieves when ever they came into Bandera county.

Veteran Amasa Clark spent several days in San Antonio this week where he was an honored guest of the officers of the United States Army. He has been having the time of his life, being carried back to the days of his youth by the display of army discipline. On September 3rd this year Mr. Clark celebrated his 100th birthday at his home near Bandera, surrounded by his children, grandchildren and great grandchildren. He came to Bandera a short time after his discharge from the army, after service in the Mexican War, and here he has lived for nearly seventy-five years, without coming in contact with the military organizations of the country. When he left the army, he dismissed militarism from his mind and during all these years he has been pursuing the even way of a peaceable, law-abiding citizen. A few years ago the New Era discovered the old veteran, learned he had served in the Mexican War, and we at once began to unfold his most interesting career, with the result that, today, instead of being buried in obscurity, Veteran Amasa Clark is nationally known. His portrait has appeared in the leading newspapers and magazines of the country, and army officers far and near have paid him homage. The recognition which has been withheld so long is now being bestowed with liberal hand, and our venerable friend is enjoying it. He has the distinction of being the only living member of the Third United States Infantry, the first regiment that planted the United States flag on the ramparts at the City of Mexico in 1847.

VETERAN, AGE 100, GIVEN INITIATION

Only Living Member of Third U. S. Infantry Made V. F. W. Member.

Amasa Clark, 100-year-old veteran of five wars, was made a life member of the Sam Houston Post No. 76, Veterans of Foreign Wars Saturday afternoon and Mrs. Clark was initiated as an honorary life member of the Ladies' Auxiliary.

The initiation ceremony, which was held in the ballroom of the Gunter Hotel, was attended by a representative audience of veterans organizations of all late wars. At the close of the initiation ceremony, Mr. Clark was decorated with the badge of blue and gold arm brassard of the order.

Thomas S. Mills, commander of the post, called the meeting to order and vacated the chair to Dan E. Conner, commander of the Department of Texas. G. Stromberg, chief of staff, conferred the obligations on Mr. Clark.

Mr. Clark was accompanied to the rostrum by Mrs. Clark and by his daughter, Mrs. John Hill of San Antonio. Mrs. Hill also attended Mrs. Clark during her initiation into the auxiliary.

Brig. Gen. Paul B. Malone, commander of the Second Division at Fort Sam Houston, paid a tribute to Mr. Clark as the only living member of the Third United States Infantry, the first regiment that planted the United States Flag on the ramparts at the City of Mexico in 1848.

At the close of the meeting Mr. Clark talked informally of his adventures in Mexico and his later life in Texas. He related an incident that happened in his childhood in which he received a broken arm.

"But that has been so long ago I have forgotten which is the broken arm," he added.

"I love Texas," he said. "I think it is the greatest place in the world. When I first came to Texas it was nothing but a wilderness. San Antonio was a small village and Indians came here daily to trade and drink of pale faces' firewater. Once I went with a party to bring in the bodies of four Germans. They had been killed near Woodlawn Lake while cutting hay.

"I am raising pears at Bandera now. When I first started out Mrs. Clark and her mother told me I was wasting my time, but I kept adding to my orchard and now it is doing fine."

Mr. Clark was born in New York, his family living at Albany. He left home in 1847 and enlisted in the Third United States Infantry, sailed for Mexico, was at the bombardment of Vera Cruz and later marched into the city of Mexico.

During the march he participated in the Battles of Cerro Gordo, Contreras, Churubusco, Molino Del Rey, Chapuitepec and the street fighting in the City of Mexico. In the last war two of his sons and two grandsons fought.

Mr. Clark will be the guest of the Second Division Sunday and will participate in the grand parade at the opening of the round-up. He will ride in a buckboard, wearing his uniform of the Mexican War days and be escorted by a soldier in the uniform of the army today. He will occupy a box at the round up with Col. John C. Waring, chief of staff of the Second Division and son of Gen. McArthur, Mr. Clark's former commander.—San Antonio Express.

Other Bandera Claimants.

Congressman Hudspeth's secretary, Miss Kate George, advises us that the following should be added to the list of those who filed claims several years ago for Mexican depredations in this section:

Joel Casey.
Balden Mitchell.
H. C. McKay.
M. C. Gale.
Geo. W. Patterson.
David Weaver.

The list published in the New Era a few weeks ago included

Sarah Leaw.
John Whitby.
Walter Clark.
Joseph Knapsch.
John Kinzler.
John Leaky.
Ludwig Lange.
Paul Martin.
Jacob Pedert
L. Thalman.
Daniel Walker.
William Walker.

The above parties are entitled to remuneration for stock stolen by Mexicans in the early days. Many of these claimants are now deceased, but their children or next of kin should take the matter up with Congressman Hudspeth and obtain settlement.

During the last week old Bandera county was given another good drenching. The good rains which have fallen recently have put a fine season in the ground and stockmen and farmers are rejoicing.

When you trade with a merchant and owe him for groceries or other merchandise you should not get offended when he sends you a statement of account. It has become the general custom for merchants to send out monthly statements, and it is good business policy. The merchant buys his goods for cash or on thirty days time, he gets statements from the wholesale dealers, and he is supposed to collect his bills every thirty days. An honest man does not take offense when his merchant presents him with a statement.

The New Era will appreciate your kindness if you will tele phone us when you have visitors or any item of news you may know. We want you to feel that the New Era is your home paper.

Haf S. Hudspeth and his good wife have moved to Menard, where Mr. Hudspeth has accepted a position on Ed Mears' ranch. The New Era will keep them posted on Bandera happenings. Many friends in old Bandera wish them prosperity in that section of the state. We regret that they have left us, for they have lived in Bandera county a long time, but when they return the same old hearty welcome awaits them.

Frontier Times is growing in popular favor every day.

Say it in Advertising.

If I knew you and you knew me,
If both of us could clearly see,
And, with an inner sight, divine
The meaning of your heart and mine,
I'm sure that we would differ less,
And clasp our hands in friendliness;
Our thoughts would pleasantly agree
If I knew you and you knew me.

Resident Trapper's License One Dollar.

In the game law article which was published last week there was an error in the paragraph on For Bearing Animals as follows: Every person who traps shall pay a license of $1.00 for the county in which he lives and $50.00 for each county in which he does not live.

The fee for each resident license is one dollar and entitles holder to trap in any part of the State. The fee for non-resident or alien license is fifty dollars for each county in which said alien or non-resident shall trap. All resident trappers who trap only on their own land are not required to take out a license.

The trapping season opens December 1 and extends to February 14. In other words, the closed season on fur-earing animals in Texas is from February 15 to November 30 of any year. Fur bearing animals included Beaver, otter and fox are protected by the new law for a period of ten years. Open season on muskrats, November 15 to March 14, inclusive. — Kerrville Mountain Sun.

RED CROSS FINANCES SHOW WIDE SERVICES

Past Year Cost $10,321,679.80; Duty to Ex-Service Men Paramount.

Washington.—The national and international services of the American Red Cross are portrayed graphically in a statement of the Red Cross finances for the past fiscal year ended June 30, 1925. Expenditures by the Red Cross (including both the National Organization and the Chapters) during this period aggregated $10,321,679.80.

The obligation of the American Red Cross to the ex-service and service men is represented in this sum by a total expenditure of $8,225,292.61 in the interests of disabled veterans, the Red Cross expended $1,577,916.42, of which $1,577,916.42 came from the National Organization, and $1,900,000 by the more than 3,000 Chapters in their local branches of the society. Red Cross services to the men of the regular Army and Navy the past year cost the $647,374.19, of which the National Organization furnished $310,219, and the Chapters, $337,000.

Scarlet in importance with this responsibility was the Red Cross work of disaster relief during the year. In these operations there was absorbed a total of $1,927,782.90, up to June 30, this year. This represented $1,422,782.90 of National Organization funds and $500,000 from the Chapters. Relief in foreign disasters amounted to $185,279.32. This sum was appropriated altogether by the National Organization.

Peacetime and foreign operations of the American Red Cross during the year included relief in foreign disasters, the League of Red Cross Societies, Junion Red Cross Foreign Projects, and assistance to Insular Chapters and similar functions. Besides its disaster relief, the National Organization financed these other branches of foreign work also, including $110,238.72 for assistance to insular chapters, $271,450.00 for the League of Red Cross Societies, $84,354.42 for Junior projects abroad, and $69,967.62 for other peacetime and foreign operations.

In addition to its paramount duty to assist veterans and other service men and their families, and its disaster relief, the Red Cross expended at home through its national and chapter funds a total of $1,624,16.02 for its public Health Nursing Service; $154,32.95 for nutrition instruction; $214,727.78 for First Aid and Life Saving; $405,797.34 for Junior Red Cross; $382,759.98 for instruction in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick; and carried on similarly important home services included in the latter were public valuable services as the Enrolled Nurses' Reserve, for which the National Organization expended $45,567.64; while other national operations at home amounted to $302,957.61. In addition to these facts also should be easily for the largest possible expenditure, since Red Cross service is obtained almost entirely by its membership. The annual invitation to participate in this work through membership in the American Red Cross, is extended from Armistice Day, November 11, to Thanksgiving, November 26.

Red Cross First Aid Popular in America As Accidents Gain

The rapidly mounting toll from traffic accidents has brought home to the people the necessity of being prepared to render prompt assistance while awaiting the doctor. During the past year 53,000 members of the Americ can Red Cross were instructing classes in First Aid, and in the same period certificates were issued to 26,601 persons qualified by Red Cross experts.

Many cities throughout the United States are showing interest in securing first aid instruction for their police and fire departments personnel, and through the work of local chapters, practical results have been obtained in such cities as Washington, D. C.; Toledo, O.; Boston, Mass.; South Bend and Indianapolis, Ind.; Fort Arthur, Texas, and other communities in co-operation with the State authorities. Intensive training in first aid and rescue methods has been given to State police and constabulary members at four State training schools.

Instruction in these subjects in public and private schools, colleges and universities has increased during the year. Attention has been given to training teachers at institutes and summer schools.

The Red Cross first aid railroad car has been in continuous operation throughout the year. It covered 10,340 miles, visiting 127 cities where 7,200 meetings were conducted by the surgeons, with a total of 346,327 people.

Industries particularly have availed themselves of the instruction afforded by the Red Cross. The Western Electric Company, for example, reports a reduction of the accident rate per 1,000 employees.

After free- dom from slavery he existed in the United States army in 1867 and served three years at frontier duty in Texas. After he received his discharge he came to Bandera, and for more than fifty years he was a peaceable, quiet, law-abiding colored citizen of this place. All of the old timers will mourn the passing of "Uncle" Andy Jackson.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

The deer and turkey season opened up Monday and for the next few weeks the woods will no doubt be full of hunters as game is not plentiful in Bandera this year. The summer drouth made the range hard and deer and turkeys seem to have disappeared.

A short time ago, when the New Era published the game laws, we stated that the closed season on squirrels was May, June, July, October, November and December. This was an error. The months above mentioned are the open season for Killing squirrels and all other months are closed.

As the Christmas season approaches our merchants are getting ready for a brisk holiday trade. The New Era is here to tell your patrons just what you will have for their needs and inspection. Plan your Christmas advertising now, and don't wait until the last minute.

District court convenes in Bandera next Monday. Thus far the docket seems to be rather light, but the convening grand jury may "dig up some cases" that will furnish grist for the mill. Usually Bandera's district court is light, the people of this county as a rule being law-abiding and peaceable.

In the death of "Uncle" Andy Jackson, aged negro of this community, another of the old time slave darkies has passed away. He was just an old negro, but of that type which we seldom see today. He was always polite and humble, and was held in esteem by everybody. Now that he is no more we will miss his cheery "Good morning, sah," which greeted his old friends.

We are going to close up shop Christmas week, or to be exact, on December 25th the New Era office will close up and remain closed for one week. Our last issue for the year will be dated December 24th. This editor and the force will take a week's vacation, so keep it in mind. If there is any printing you need get it done before that date, or you'll be disappointed, for we are going to be absent after Christmas and until January 1, 1926.

Although Thursday is Thanksgiving Day we are going to have turkey and cranberry sauce. Usually it is not our privilege, like most country editors, to have these luxuries, but this year is an exception. The editor's wife, with the editor's help of course, raised a few turkeys, which makes it possible for us to have a turkey dinner on Thanksgiving day.

Chas. L. Fagan, of Rahway, New Jersey, sends in his renewal subscription to the New Era and the remittance covers two years in advance. Mr. Fagan visited Bandera about four years ago and spent several weeks here. In the early days his uncle, Christopher Fagan, was one of the pioneers of Bandera county, owning and operating a sawmill above Lima. Since his visit to Bandera Chas. Fagan has been a constant reader of the New Era, and is always prompt to renew.

"There is a Reason"

The opportunity to do good comes to most men and women every day. Many of them hear not the muffled knock at the door of opportunity nor perform the great or small deeds which come to their way. Others do, however, and here is a story of a young man who almost let his golden opportunity pass. It is related that recently in a Texas city "a tiny girl walked into a florist shop; the proprietor was selling a society girl a bunch of American Beauties. She was nine years old. An old shawl covered her head and shoulders showing garments scrumptiously clean beneath it. "I want some violets to take to my mama," said the little one, holding out a dime. "I think something cheaper would do," said the man. "No sir," said the tot. "I want violets. Ain't that money enough to pay for them? My mama is sick and my papa is dead. Mama she gets whiter and whiter every day and she just coughs awful. This morning she fell so weak and I thought she'd die. She didn't. But she said if she could only live until warm spring time comes again, and she could smell some violets once more she just knew she'd get better and I had this dime, so I—" But the florist was fumbling over a glass vase marked, "Violets, 25 cents a dozen," and there was moisture in his eyes and an ache in his throat. In a little while he had a big bunch, more than a hundred wrapped up. He gravely took the child's dime, gave her the precious blossoms and held the door open and bowed her out as gallantly as if she were some grand customer. The time be carefully wrapped up in a piece of paper and put in his purse. "Dying for a breath of the sweet odors of springtime," he muttered. That's all. But the ten cents—why that dime would almost buy a sinner's ransom at the gates of heaven." He almost lost his opportunity because it came in such an unexpected way. Watch for YOUR opportunity to do good—one comes every day.—Georgetown Sun.

Rev. B. J. Gossett, the new pastor of the Bandera Methodist church, paid the New Era an appreciated visit Monday. Rev. Gossett is an affable young man, one of those unassuming, earnest young men whom it is always a pleasure to meet. He is an enthusiastic worker and we are sure the Methodist cause in Bandera will be greatly strengthened and helped by his coming to this city.

Do you read Frontier Times?

Allen Graham, former'y a citizen of the Tarpley section, writes us to send his New Era and the Frontier Times to Marfa, stating that he has located in the southern part of Presidio county. His son, Claud Graham, has also located in that section. We regret to lose these good peop'e from our county, for they are splendid folks, but their hundreds of friends throughout this section wish them prosperity in their new Western home.

Sod Durst, deputy game warden of Bandera County, was a Kerrville visitor last Sunday. He came over to confer with Chief Deputy Smith, who was here on an inspection tour of the Heart o' the Hills Fish Hatchery. Sod reported very few game violations in this section so far this fall.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

Strike Cold Air Well.

Another one of those strange geological finds, which makes the quest for oil interesting as well as profitable, has been developed in Scurry county, Texas, and indications are it will go down in history with wells which produced gasoline and petroleum jelly. This one is producing cold air, under pressure, for which ingenius operators are finding many uses.

The gas being non-inflammable owners of the well at first thought a new source of helium had been discovered. Analysis, however, showed it to be 93 per cent nitrogen and commercially valueless. Inventive men in the vicinity were called on to evolve a method of utilizing the flow, which is estimated to be between four and six million cubic feet daily, forced by a rock pressure of 240 pounds. Interesting and satisfactory results have been obtained in a number of experiments.

It was found, for example, that when the gas was turned into ordinary steam boiler the pressure was sufficient to operate the engine used in drilling adjacent wells, the power produced being greater than obtained with steam. As a safety measure, the boiler had been placed underground, with only the pressure gauge pe trading.

Laborers on the lease, in idle moments provide ice water for themselves and fellow workers by holding small cans of water in currents of the air escaping at points in the pipes. If the current is sufficiently large, the water will freeze in a short time. Watermelons also are being chilled in the same manner.

If this writer believes in anything stronger than some other things it is in the religion of love as against the religion of fear. Recently he had something to say concerning this and as a result of that a North Texas editor searched the archives of his memory and made the following observations: "The love of God and not fear of the devil is what should influence men to be religious. I heard a story told that illustrates the religion of fear. An old setter and his three sons were noted among the early settlers for their irreligious lives. John was the oldest, a rattle-snake and thought his end was near. He immediately became alarmed and having as little regard for medicine as for religion, they sent for the old doctor and at the same time asked that the preacher come and pray. When the circuit rider reached the suffering man he sized up the situation, caused the old man and the other two sons to kneel after which he prayed: "O Lord I thank Thee that a rattlesnake has brought John to repentance. Now Lord please send one to bite Tom and Dick. Then Lord send a tig one to bite the old man that they may repent for with them snakes has more power to cause repentance than the gospel." The writer then proceeds to say that the story well illustrates the methods used by a few evangelists to this day, who use fear and not love to call men to repent nee, and like wise the stability of many of the converts. It takes the love of God to bring sinners to real repentance and the picture of the faith of men like Daniel, who, finding himself in the den of lions, because of his belief in God, did not forget Him, but in the midst of the beasts turned his face toward Jerusalem and prayed for deliverance—and it came. There are millions of experiences like his and their moving power is stronger by far than morbid fear led by storm which tears the hearts of men and women and are the only memories of the coming of some evangelists. More love and less fear means more religion.—Georgetown Sun.

For Meritorious Service.

Washington, November 12—Gus Blackwell, formerly a member of the 60th Service Squadron, Air Service, U. S. Army, and now of Buffalo, Texas, has officially cited by Secretary of War Baker in orders made public today, for meritorious service on July 25 at Bellefontaine, Ohio, in connection with other members of the Army he risked his life to extinguish flames of gas in a burning acetylene tank of an airplane, which was reported by his commanding officer to the War Department. The citation reads in part: "Blackwell, with utter disregard for personal safety, assisted in the extinguishing of burning gas from a tank of acetylene, after the explosion of the gas torch. His conduct at this time was deserving of commendation and reflects great credit upon himself and the Army of which he was a member."

PASSING OF OLD PIONEER

SADDENS HILL COUNTRY

Capt. Neal Coldwell Dies at His Home Near Center Point Last Saturday, November 7th.

Captain Neal Coldwell was born in Adair County, Missouri, May 2nd, 1844. Passed from this life at his home near Center Point in Kerr County, November 7th 1925. He came to Texas and settled in Kerr County in 1869. He has resided at the present family home, "Fair Fields," for more than 50 years. He was married to Carrie Martin in San Marcos, November 27, 1872. Six children came to bless the home. One daughter died when a child. Those surviving are a son, Vernon Coldwell, Tampico, Mexico; four daughters, Mrs. Ethel Witt, Louisville, Ky., Mrs. C. W. Viles, Bolivar, Mo., and Misses Mabel and Lu'a Coldwell who still reside at the home. He is also survived by his companion of more than 50 years.

Neal Coldwell mustered into the service of the Southern Confederacy at the age of 18, at San Antonio, Texas, April 18, 1862. He served under Captain E. G. Millett in Company 3, P. G. Woods Regiment. He served throughout the war, being discharged at Houston, Texas, May 1, 1865. He entered the service of the State of Texas as Captain of Company F, Frontier Battalion, Texas Rangers, at Silver Creek, Kerr County, Texas, June 4, 1874. He was afterwards transferred to Company A, serving until 1875, when he was made Quartermaster of the battalion and served in this capacity until April, 1882.

Captain Coldwell was the leading spirit in the organization and promotion of the Guadalupe Valley and Livestock Association, which held a successful fair at Center Point for many years. He was elected its first president and served in that capacity during the most successful years of the fair.

Captain Coldwell made a public confession of faith in Christ in early manhood and united with the Christian Church.

He was also a Mason, having joined that lodge in Bandera in 1875. He was a charter member of the lodge at this place. He has been a Master Mason for many years. He has perhaps done more for the advancement of Freemasonry in this county than any other man in it.

The funeral was held at the residence, conducted by Rev. W. R. Wheeler of the Methodist Church. After the services at the home, the Masons took charge and the remains were conveyed to the family lot in the Center Point Cemetery, where interment was made.

The active pallbearers were J. R. Grinstead, M. C. Talley, Addison McDonald, Mahlor Shumard, George L. Sellers, and E. T. Mangum. The honorary pallbearers were Henry Wetmore, Al Manny, Geo. P. Walker, Jack Gibbens, F. C. Nelson and Burt Nelson.

The large gathering of people from all parts of the county and out of the county and the profuse floral offerings evidenced the gracious esteem in which this honored citizen was held. No language would be extravagant in describing his many excellent traits of character. A nobler man it has never been our lot to impress upon this community. He was courageous as he was gentle; as true to his moral convictions as he was generous of those he differed from him; a wise counselor, a safe leader, a faithful friend. Let those who read this sketch pattern after his example.—Kerrville Mountain Sun.

How Doctors Treat Colds and the Flu

To break up a cold overnight or to cut short an attack of grippe, influenza, sore throat or tonsilitis, physicians and druggists are recommending Calotabs, the purified and refined calomel compound tablet that gives you the effects of calomel and salts, combined, without the unpleasant effects of either.

One or two Calotabs at bed time with a swallow of water—that's all. No salts, no nausea nor the slightest interference with your eating, work or pleasure. Next morning your cold has vanished, your system is thoroughly purified and you are feeling fine with a hearty appetite for breakfast. Eat what you please—no diet.

Later it developed that the aforesaid "venison" was goat meat, or to use a modern expression, it was "chevron." Now Elvins Hicks avoids meeting the genial medico, who says he may not have detected the difference if somebody had not told him. He now threatens to indict Mr. Hicks for a violation of the pure game food laws.

Ask for Special Session.

Austin, Texas, Nov. 23—Unless Governor Miriam A. Ferguson immediately convenes the Legislature in special session they will meet without her call, 52 members of the Legislature decided here Monday night. They adopted a resolution which is in effect an ultimatum to the Governor.

The petition asking Speaker Lee Satterwhite to call the extra ordinary session has been signed by 52 members, two more than the necessary number. This petition will be presented to the Speaker only in event Governor Ferguson does not call the session.

Entertainment Saturday Night.

The musical entertainment given at St. Joseph's school Saturday night was a very pleasing affair, and drew a good crowd. The piano and violin selections rendered by Misses Margaret Applewald, Emma Postert, Lillian Saunders, Adela Jenschke, Catherine Mazurek, Elsie Adamietz, Isabella Mazurek, Isabella Anderwald, gave much talent and brought much applause. The recitations by Daniel Pyka, Rosie Stein, Fred Kalka, Patrick Boyle, and others were also appreciated, and every number heartily applauded. The closing song, "Loud Kindly Light," by the girls in costume was appropriate ly arranged and carried out.

Gets a Bandera Turkey.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 23.—William Mitchell's buddies—a group of hardy ranchmen and cowpunchers in Texas—are pining for the return to duty of the officer's return to do a little hunting or for permission to come to Washington to back him up with a few Winchesters or pump shotguns. They sent him a Thanksgiving turkey. The "cold timers," with whom Mitchell has hunted and camped, wrote Mitchell from Bandera, Texas:

"Knowing you are not one of these dudey kind of fellows, we are writing to show you how the heart of the people in this country is beating for you," they said in giving him the good news that a young and tender gobbler was on the way to adorn his Thanksgiving Day table.

"If the bunch could do you any good by standing behind you with Winchesters or pump shotguns while you are toeing the court about negligence in the air service, we would like to be called as witnesses or guards. Even the sheriff's and the game wardens are wishing they could back you up.

"Here's hoping that you win out and that you get to taste their blood."

"Red, Whitehead, Black, Creed, Johnstone and Dayton—" the buddies wrote.—San Antonio Evening News.

Arm Broken.

Douglas Hay is nursing a broken arm and severe bruises as a result of a fall from a cliff near Medina Lake last Friday. Dr. J. O. Butler dressed the young man's injuries and reports him getting along nicely.

Lanham and Burkett Resign.

Austin, Texas, November 23.—The chairman of the Texas Highway Commission, Frank V. Lanham of Dallas, and Joe Burkett of Eastland, Texas, a member resigned Monday. This sudden turn in the Texas highway situation comes in the face of insistent demands for a special session of the Legislature to investigate the highway situation.

Called by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson.

The Governor demanded the resignations by long-distance telephone.

Lanham and Burkett step out in the face of a Statewide demand for their resignations because of contracts let to the American Road Company. This company confessed judgment for $6200000 in court last Friday in the Attorney General's suit which charged this sum was excessive profits. Governor Ferguson announced the resignations while members of the Legislature, meeting here to discuss tax matters, stood at her door with petitions demanding the extra session because of the highway mud-dle.

Monument Committee Meets.

The committee in charge of the movement to erect a monument to the Bandera county boys who died in the World War held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Chas. Montague last Sunday afternoon and decided to push the matter of erecting the monument at an early date. It was decided to place the monument in the court house square. While the design has not yet been selected it is likely the monument will be of granite and similar to the monument erected by Mr. H. J. Graham at Boerne in memory of the Kendall county soldier dead. More money is needed for such monument and every patriotic citizen of Bandera county is asked to contribute to this worthy cause. Send your contributions to Miss Margaret Montague, or any member of the committee, and the committee meeting last Sunday were Miss Margaret Montague, Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, J. W. Short, W. R. Fletcher, Judge A. L. Mansfield, the full committee, and Mrs. A. L. Mansfield and J. M. Hunter.

Damage Suit.

A damage suit has been filed in district court here which will likely come up for trial this week, wherein Mrs. John Boultinghouse is plaintiff and Thompson, et al are defendants. Plaintiff asks $20,900 damages, the suit growing out of an accident wherein Mrs. Boultinghouse was injured sometime ago when a car in which she was riding ran into a wire stretched across a road. Dougherty, Taylor & Black, of San Antonio represent the plaintiff.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas

A Christmas Offer.

We are looking around already to select a suitable Christmas gift for your old Bandera county friend. What could be more acceptable than the little old home paper. The New Era and Frontier Times together for one year for $2.50. You can send the New Era to one friend and Frontier Times to another friend, or both to the same friend, just as you choose, for only $2.50. Or if you want to make it apply to your own subscription you can do so. The regular price of either publication is $1.50 per year.

Glory Hallelujah! The monument to our Bandera county soldier boys is going to be erected. Three years ago the New Era started a movement to erect a monument to the Bandera county boys who made the supreme sacrifice—lost their lives in the World War. Purely patriotic motives inspired this paper to start the agitation for a monument to these noble heroes, and we thought a campaign for funds with which to build this monument would soon result in a towering shaft to perpetuate their memory and deeds.

Subscriptions came in slowly, the interest waned, and at last we had about given up. But a few days ago the monument committee held a meeting, decided to push the movement to successful conclusion, and will erect that monument on our public square. We are therefore rejoicing, and when the monument stands completed and is dedicated we are going to throw our hat into the air, and joyfully exclaim that "Bandera has not forgotten!"

The monument to our heroic dead—our boys who died in the World War—will be erected on the court house square, to proclaim to rising generations that Bandera county furnished her quota to make the world safe for democracy. The work will start soon, but more funds are needed. You may have subscribed to this fund, or you may not have subscribed. Either way, you should be interested in seeing this monument built. Give liberally. Let's have a monument that will honor our heroic boys. Send your donation to Miss Margaret Montague, the secretary-treasurer of the monument committee, or to either of the Bandera banks. The committee is composed of W. R. Fletcher, J. W. Short, A. L. Mansfield, Mrs. Chas. Eckhart and Miss Margaret Montague. You can hand your subscription to any of the committee and it will be properly placed.

For the past two months Mr. T. S. Dennis, our local jeweler, has been sorely afflicted with a acute rheumatism and has been confined to his room a greater portion of the time bearing his affliction with patience and fortitude. Mr. Dennis is now able to be up and about, which is glad news to his many friends. But as an indication that during all of his suffering he did not lose his usual cheerful spirit we are publishing elsewhere in this issue an article he has prepared on "Remedies for Rheumatism," which is truly a gem. Look it up and read it, and then when you become afflicted with rheumatism you will be better able to withstand the racking pain.

Today is Thanksgiving. We may not realize it, but every man, woman and child has something to be thankful for at this time—it may be good health, or it may be dear family ties, loved friends, or worldly possessions. When we look around us and see the condition of some of our unfortunate needy, the sick and the afflicted, the crippled and the blind, inwardly we are thankful that we are not in that condition; if we are poor, sick and afflicted we can be thankful that our condition is not worse than it is; if our friends are few we can be thankful that those few are true and have not deserted us. Above all, we can be thankful to a merciful God that we are permitted to live and in some way enjoy life among our fellowmen. Let us all give thanks today.

The people of Bandera own the court house and the court house square in Bandera. We have a beautiful court house, and naturally every man in the county is proud of such a beautiful structure. But are we proud of the court house square? We have the ground there to make one of the prettiest parks in Texas. Trees and shrubbery could be planted, a neat fence could be constructed around the court house, and walks and driveways could be provided that would make our court house property the most attractive in the state. But with a few exceptions the citizens of the county, and even the members of the commissioners court are still not be an adequate tribute to our boys who died for their country. Hand your subscription to this fund to any member of the monument committee or to either of the Bandera banks and let's erect this monument without further delay.

Keen Climber.

Watch an aeroplane some day as it soars and climbs toward the zenith accompanied by the roar of its powerful motor. Smaller and smaller it grows. Fainter and fainter becomes the hum of the motor. Higher and higher the pilot climbs. Then silence. The motor is stopped.

Sailing gracefully as a hawk the machine seems to remain in the heights for a time. How beautifully she banks the curves. How cleverly the pilot holds his elevation.

But like everything in the world she must either climb higher or drop lower. Gradually she begins to grow larger and larger until finally she points her nose toward the earth and grace fully glides again on terra firma.

The life of a man and the life of a community may be likened to the flight of the machine. When you stop the motor of individual efforts or community initiative, you immediately begin a decent to a dead level of mediocrity.

If you desire to improve your opportunities your interest your you must devote your leisure time to those intellectual or mental pursuits which will make you more efficient. If you want Bandera to stand forth as a better community than the average, you must do your part to create more community spirit. Individual effort and community enthusiasm are the motors which keep the man or his city constantly climbing to higher and better things.

The county is being overrun with hunters eager to slaughter our few deer and turkeys during the open hunting season. Game Warden S. O. Durst is active, hopping about here and there, to see that the game laws are not violated, and we note the chap that is caught with a harmless deer or a turkey hen in his possession.

Bandera needs, above all things, an electric light and power plant. We understand that outside parties are figuring on installing such a plant if given sufficient encouragement.

Christmas Cards.

The New Era has a line of Christmas cards for your inspection. Don't wait until the last moment and then rush in to get Christmas cards. Place your order early and give us time to get them out for you in time to send to your friends before Christmas.

Th Sassy Editor.

"Our editor is getting sassy," Pa said last night. "I fear, and here we've took his paper to help him many a year. We owe four dollars for it, and he sent a dun by mail; just a man to fail." And ma says: "Aim she talks that way when she gets riled a bit; do you mean that you have not paid for that there paper yet?" And pa, he's sorter easy, and he said, "I guess that's right, I guess I keep on forgetting until I got the mail tonight; but then I don't like these here duns, I don't like them a bit." And ma, she comes back, "Good for him, I'm glad you're hit. Do you know that four dollars each just scatter here and there, among five hundred persons, would made you wonder where the taxes, the interest, and the clothing and the bread would come from every season—do you get that through your head? Say Jim, you like the paper, you know quite well you do, and every one of us each week read that home paper through. We couldn't do without it, and the wonder is, ma said, he didn't send the sheriff out to see if you ain't dead." Then pa he squirmed and said; "I guess you're right. If I had that much out I'd think 'twould be a fright. I never looked at things that way; I'll send it now," he said. "You make the check for six and pay a year ahead." —Exchange.

Wool Sold for 39 cents.

San Angelo, Texas.—A fraction over 39 cents a pound was the peak price in the first sale of 1925 short wool in Texas when March Brothers here sold their season's accumulation of about 100,000 pounds to Henry D. Allen, Philidelphia, representing Charles J. Webb Sons Co. of that city, it was indicated Wednesday. Representatives of nine Boston houses also entered bids.

Your friends will know you have not forgotten them, if you send Christmas Cards. The New Era prints 'em. 100 for $5.00.

Rheumatism.

Having had the disease for quite a while I think I am able to give some advice concerning it. I find that most everybody has a remedy for it, but I fear that it would not help me. So take all these suggestions, for I feel somewhat like Job, when he said, "Miserable comforters are ye all." For experience teaches a bear school. However among all the remedies I received some aid for which I am thankful.

One suggested that I just dismiss the idea that I had pain as it was not real, and only imaginary, but I had inside information.

Some said to walk all I could on the limb and not give way to the pain. Others said just lie on the bed and take things easy. Some suggestions are real nice for a well man but I could not be satisfied to take them as I didn't feel well.

One said to take off my clothes and whip my limb with bull nettles until I forgot that I had rheumatism, but my mind was too weak for such a strain—trying to forget.

I was told to get a small hairless Mexican dog and sleep with him, and that the rheumatism and that would cure me, but I had more sympathy for the dog than that, and besides I did not want his flees.

They also told me to jump in ice water, but I didn't think that even a fish could stand that. Then another said if some one would give me a good scare it might cure me, but I had rather die with rheumatism than be scared to death.

Finally they told me that if I would quit eating that I would soon be well. I am sure that this would be the best of all the remedies if I could only try it long enough, as it would not only remove the effects of the disease, but the cause as well, and also change the body in which the cause is located, but I could not feel ready for the ordeal as long as I had a good appetite.

S. J. just decided that my home physician's remedies were good enough and I am becoming convalescent. T. S. DENNIS

Morning and Evening.

Some of the Texas newspapers recently have been reproducing Governor Bob Taylor's prose poem, "Morning and Evening," which is such a beautiful thing and so ably teaches us to appreciate the glories of things around us, that we want to reprint it:

"I saw the morning, with purple quiver and burnished bow, stand tiptoe on the horizon, and shoot sunbeams at the vanishing darkness of night, then reach up and gather in the stars and hide them in her bosom, and then bend down and tickle the slumbering world with straws of light till it awoke with laughter and song. A thousand calls from the rosy lines of the east heralded her coming. A thousand smiling meadows kissed her garments as she passed and a thousand laughing gardens unfurled their flowers to greet her. The heart of the deep forest throbbed a tribute of bird song, and the bright waters rippled a melody of welcome. Young life and joy, radiant with hope and sparkling with dewdrops of exultant joy, came hand in hand, dripping and dancing in her shining train and I wished that the heavens of the morning might last forever.

I saw the evening hang her silver crescent on the sky and wrap the shadows around her rival splendor of the dawn with the glory of the twilight. I saw her and with a lullaby on her lips rock the weary world to rest. Then I saw her with a dipper full of dewdrops and her basket full of dreams slip back to the horizon of morning and steal the stars again. The garden furled the flag flowers and the meadows fell asleep; the songs of the forest melted into silence and the melancholy waters whispered a pensive goodnight to the drowsy birds and sleepy hollows. Life and love with a halo of parting day upon their brows and the starlight tangled in their hair, walked arm in arm among the gathering shadows and wove all the sweet memories of morning into their happy evening that it might never end.

Thus life steals us from the dust. We wake to think and sleep and dream. We love and laugh, and weep, and sing, and sigh, until death steals us back to dust again."

Minor Musings.
The surest sign that you have no brains is to argue with one who hasn't.

Of course the way they dress nowadays is all wrong, but would you like to see modern girls running around in calico sunbonnets and "mother hubbards?"

Hate is said to produce indigestion, but indigestion also produces hate, which makes everything square.

Better let them and wrong than be wobbly and right.

Mental poverty is more pathetic than financial poverty.

A man always wishes he had got a different car, a different suit of clothes, a different house—and often a different wife.

Your friends will forgive you for most any things, but it isn't well to put to great a strain on them. They sometimes break.

The saddest time of year is any time that you have a note due and haven't the money to pay it.

If you must be a knocker, try to knock the persimmons from the tree of life.

One of the chief troubles with the movie queens seems to be that they demand too many kings.

If wives told the truth they'd admit that practically all husbands are "hard" to get along with.

Until they become self-guiding automobiles never will wholly take the place of horse with country swains.

If there is a bright hereafter, you will have a better chance of "making" it if you try to make a bright here-present.

Some so blind as one who sees more than there is to see.

If your head sticks above the heads of the crowd, expect more brickbats than bouquets.

You may be as ignorant as a rabbit, but if you know it there is hope.

Motor cars which have put the "whirl" in wheels also have put wheels in the heads of a good many of the drivers.

"When all is said and done," too many people keep on saying and doing.

When a man says he is leading a dog's life, chances are some woman is making a pound of him.

The "unspeakable Turk" seems to have the whole world speaking about him.

Women won't fall for some of the fall styles—especially the long skirts.

The love of automobiles is the root of much evil.

The man who has the reputation of being a bright conversationalist hardly ever has that reputation at home.

There is much talk about "the physcology of salesmanship." It is spelled PERSISTENCE.

Many a man avoids the appearance of evil for the sake of better practicing evil.

A woman is never as old as the neighbors say she looks.

Another cause of domestic woe is the women who are more in love with their ailments than they are with their husbands.

The rare man who has more business than he can attend to, never has time to attend to anybody else's.

The world surely is growing better. It's been months, now, since any fond mother has forced her child to "speak a piece" for us.

The average man seems able to detect a rattle in his ear more quickly than one in his head.

The sawbuck doesn't make a summer, but one frog can make a spring.

The lone child in the family has more chances of failure to one of success, but the ratio would be reversed if nine parents of that kind were not failures to where one is a success.

"Only one deer was killed and that was one of the $65 kind on the first day of the hunting season near Bandera, although over 200 hunters invaded the ranches," chuckled County Clerk Mark McBryde of Bandera, who was registered at the Lanier hotel Friday. Mr. McBryde explained that the "$65 deer" was a doe, the killing of which cost the hunter of fine.—San Antonio Light.

added Economy
Only Buick has the sealed chassis and triple sealed engine.

Better Buick operating costs are very low. This car is thrifty —both in purchase price and in ownership.

Buick design protects all operating parts from dust and wear —barricades them with iron or steel housings in the famous Buick "Sealed Chassis" and "Triple Sealed Engine".

The Buick Valve-in-Head engine develops more power from a given quantity of gasoline.

And now, the Buick oil filter makes it necessary to change crankcase oil only at rare intervals.

Even smaller, less powerful cars do not match the Better Buick in low cost of operation and maintenance. You add to your power to economize when you buy a Better Buick

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Gazaway, of Medina, attended the box supper here last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. William McPherson and daughter, Lencra, of San Angelo, visited J. L. Porter Friday night. Mr. McPherson was raised here, and was a small lad when the Indians used to raid this section.

Mrs. McRay and son, Jim, of Tarpley, attended the box supper here Saturday night.

The box suppers was a grand success. A neat sum of $50 was realized, and we sincerely thank the people of Vanderpool and Little Creek for their good turn-out. Everybody had a good time. After the supper the seats were moved back and the young people played.

SPEAKER WILL CALL A SPECIAL SESSION

Legislature to Meet January 4 for Investigation Purposes.

Austin, Texas, December 1.—Interest in Texas' political melodrama today shifted from the hill-fringed capital to the windswept plains of the Panhandle, where last night Speaker Lee Satterwhite of the lower house of the Legislature announced he would call a special session of the House to assemble January 4 for an investigation of state departments and possible impeachment proceedings. His proclamation, he said, will be published December 16.

Speaker Satterwhite's announcement followed close on the heels of an unofficial statement of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson given in an interview with a correspondent of the Baltimore Sun that no special session would be called, despite a petition for one signed by 50 members of the Legislature. An official announcement from the governor on this subject was expectantly awaited today. All efforts last night to gain a direct expression from her or her husband, political adviser, James E. Ferguson, were fruitless.

A. A. Jeffers was transacting business in town Monday.

Former Bandera Girl Married.

Mrs. Harriett Chipman last week received news of the marriage of her grand daughter, Miss Laura Beck, to Mr. Mitchell Walsh, which occurred in Los Angeles, California, on Sunday, November 15th. Elder Walter Wayne Smith, of the Latter Day Saint's Church, performing the ceremony. This will be news to the hundreds of friends of this excellent young lady in this county, and the New Era hastens to extend congratulations and best wishes. The bride is the daughter of Walter Beck of Pipe Creek community. She was raised here but for the past few years she has held responsible positions in San Antonio, and recently went to Los Angeles to accept a lucrative position in a law office there. By her charming manners, lofty character and pleasing personality Miss Beck has made a host of friends wherever she has lived, and will be a loyal, true helpmeet to the gentleman who has won her heart and hand. She is a capable and gifted young woman, has made her own way for some time past, and we all wish for her and her husband prosperity, joy and happiness through life.

To Improve Road.

Mrs. M. E. Faris is circulating a subscription list to raise funds for improving that portion of the Medina road known at Mathers Lane. Work on this stretch of that road has been needed for a long time and we are glad that steps are now being taken to improve it. Everybody should contribute to the work.

TEXAS WOOL CLIP

Price of Short Fleece Starts off Around 40 Cents per Pound

San Angelo, Texas, November 30.—Information that 625,000 pounds of short, fall wool recently sold here by the Wool Growers Central Storage Company averaged over 41 cents a pound, the sale at Kerrville of 850,000 pounds by Charles Schreiner and Stephenson and Company, Boston, the top figure for the season was 39½ cents. This was received By March Bros., in the sale of approximately 90,000 pounds to Hoyt & Allen of Philadelphia, representing Chas. J. Webb Sons' Company of that city. The sale opened the market in Texas, being made on November 17, the same day the Wool Growers' rejected bids on 450,000 pounds ranging as high as 40 cents.

C. D. Stokes of Lampasas bought Charles Schreiner's total fall accumulation at Kerrville for Winslow and Company, Boston, by private treaty, after all sealed bids were turned down Tuesday. Prices were withheld, but it is believed here that the fleeces brought not over 40 cents.

F. A. Piper and Company of Uvalde will offer there Tuesday approximately 100,000 pounds of short wool. The Producers' Wool and Mohair Company of Del Rio will offer around 700,000 pounds at sealed bid auction Friday December 4. It is expected that the Del Rio Wool and Mohair Company, with an estimated 800,000 pounds on hand, will conduct their sales Friday or Saturday.

The fall market has started off fairly strong, at least higher than was predicted in some quarters, and prices received by the Wool Growers Central Storage Company here were up to the market only at which many sheepmen here said they would sell. Forty, a week better or hold," was made a host of friends wherever made the decision.—San Antonio Express.

Iowa Visitor Kills Buzzard.

Certain Bandera residents were in danger of a laughing death Sunday.

An Iowa visitor of the Robert B. Green hospital caused the near catastrophe.

He had been the victim of a practical joke framed by a doctor, a dietician and the hospital and a Bandera farmer.

He was eager for an opportunity to kill a wild turkey gobbler during his visit, so the quartette went a-hunting on the Mansfield Ranch.

A tree of huge buzzards was pointed out to the man from Iowa.

An hour later he was parading up and down the main thoroughfare of Bandera, exhibiting his kill, over-willing to relate his dexterity as a nimrod and the manner in which he brought down his prize.

It was an hour before a kind citizen apprised him of what he had really killed—San Antonio Light.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Court is over, the grand jury has adjourned, and the tension is relieved.

Build the monument to the soldier boys who died for us. You can spare a dollar or two toward this monument. Send it in to the committee at once. A list of all contributions will be published.

Somebody says Bandera county has no funds to expend on improving the court house square and making it attractive. Poor old Bandera county! Is there no way to help get us out of the rut?

The New Era stands for progress all down the line. Other counties are forging ahead, building roads, new school houses, making public improvements, and keeping pace with the times. Bandera county is falling into line, and will catch step and move forward too.

Frontier Times will soon begin the publication of the "Life and Adventures of Ben Thompson," serially. This noted desperado was known to many of our old timers. He was killed in San Antonio in 1884. If you want to get this story complete you should at once subscribe for Frontier Times and be sure to get the opening chapter.

By a large majority Kerrville voted a bond issue of $100,000 for the erection of a third school building for the Kerrville Independent School District. Kerrville is truly alive these days, just reaching out and getting great big plums without waiting for them to fall into her lap. In another ten years that city will boast a population of 25,000—mark the prediction.

Bandera needs some more modern substantial business houses. Some of the structures that adorn our business section could well be torn down and remodeled and make a better appearance. Those that have a dilapidated look should be repaired altogether and replaced with a modern building. Good substantial business houses and neat residences make a good impression on visitors, and encourage people to locate in our town.

A well kept public square always reflects credit on the civic pride of a community. Bandera's public square needs attention. A neat fence, extending almost to the street line on the south, should be erected around the court house, and shade trees and shrubbery should be planted in the court yard and looked after. The county commissioners should be petitioned to make these needed improvements.

If you owned a rare painting, a beautiful picture of some landscape scene with which you were thoroughly familiar and with which you had been associated all of your life, would you hang that picture on the wall without a suitable frame, and let people who come into your home try to admire it on the rough canvas? You certainly would not. You would purchase a frame for that picture to show it off to the best advantage. Bandera has a beautiful court house, but what about it's enclosure? Shucks, you know what we want to say.

a good road all of the way to Medina. Considerable work has been done on this road during the past year or two, but there is a stretch of the road that is in very bad condition and should be permanently repaired at once. We refer to the Masters Lane. It was recently announced that the State Highway Commission had designated this road a state highway, but we have since been informed that it would not be accepted for state maintenance until it met certain requirements. Now it is up to the people to put our portion of the road in such condition that it will be acceptable. A subscription list is being circulated to secure funds to do the necessary work, and you will be asked to contribute. Don't hesitate, dig dig deep and let's fix the road.

Next week we will begin revising the New Era subscription list for next year. On this list are a number of subscriptions that have already expired, but we have kept the little old home paper going for the reason that we thought the subscriber had merely overlooked renewal. It is not our custom to send out subscription statements, but—to a few of these lagging ones we are going to send bills, and we hope they will be given due attention. This has been a hard year all around, the newspaper man has been close pressed just the same as everybody else, and needs every cent that is due.

Gillespie county has an antiquated court house, a building erected about fifty years ago, but it is located in the midst of a beautiful and spacious park which is attended to with utmost care. Some day Gillespie county will erect a modern court house of beautiful design, and Fredericksburg will be proud of it. Bandera county has a beautiful court house, suitable, for our needs for many years to come, but we have no pretty park surrounding it, no shade trees, no ornamental shrubbery, to invite the visitor to admire and praise with civic pride. What are we going to do about it?

A Grayson county farmer says that last week he went to Denison and visited a barber shop to get a hair cut. He found five ladies waiting for a hair bob, three waiting for neck shavesm old wanting their neck shaved and one having a permanent wave worked on. He says, getting tired waiting, he took a punctured tire to a garage and found the garage man busy vulcanizing a rubber corset. He got mad and went home.—Marshall News.

A Christmas Offer.

You are looking around already to select a suitable Christmas gift for your old Bandera county friend. What could be more acceptable than the little old home paper, or Frontier Times together for one year for $2.50. You can send the New Era to one friend and Frontier Times to another friend, or both to the same friend, just as you choose, for only $2.50. Or if you want to make it apply to your own subscription you can do so. The regular price of either publication is $1.50 per year.

Christmas Cards.

The New Era has a line of Christmas cards for your inspection. Don't wait until the last moment and then rush in to get Christmas cards. Place your order early and give us time to get them out for you in time to send to your friends before Christmas.

Shall we erect a monument like the above to our Bandera county soldier boys who died in the World War? Hand in a dollar or two to any member of the monument committee. Or if you feel so disposed make a contribution of five or ten dollars, or more. Funds are needed for this monument. It is going to be erected right away on our court house square. Every citizen should give and give liberally. The monument committee is composed of W. R. Fletcher, J. W. Short, A. L. Mansfield, Miss. Margaret Montague and Mrs. Chas. Eckhart. Please make your donations at once.

Some days Bandera's court house will be situated in the midst of a beautiful park, where shade trees and shrubbery, fountains and flowers, clean walks and drives, will ignite you to indulge that she was not listen visit the beauty spot and admire the civic progress of the common- crowded her, she indignantly re ity. Located within these well kept grounds will be a monument to our heroic dead—our boys who made the supreme sacrifice in the world war. In bring wife's eyes, he began to read as the center of the square appropriate place for such a monument. And follows: "Last night at about 2 perhaps, years hence, there will o'clock in the afternoon, a few be placed there also a life-size minutes before breakfast, a lone statue of Bandera county's first grey boy, about 60 years old, settler, Amasa Clark, who came bought an orange for a dime and here in 1852, and is still with us threw it through a concrete wall to this good day.

We so often wish that we might be able to run this newspaper in a manner that would conform to the ideas of every body or of all the diversified elements which make up the newspaper clientele. What a happy condition of mind and body it would be to know and realize that nobody is calling us names—that nobody is picking flaws in or finding fault with the policy of the paper. We try to treat everybody fairly; to print those things that tend to bring the least pain and sorrow to a fellow-being in fact to spread sunshine in as many places as possible. But it is impossible to please everybody; it is impossible to avoid creating antagonisms; it is impossible to run the paper as everybody would have it run. Those who imagine that the running of a newspaper is "one grand, sweet song" of peace and happiness; those who imagine they could run the paper without stepping on somebody's corns; those who imagine that they can make a success in the field of journalism, without expressing opinions that run counter to some other people's opinions; those who imagine that they could run the paper in a way that would please everybody, ought to try the experiment. It may be possible that they have missed their calling and that the Supreme Architect of the Universe, when He blew into their nostrils the breath of life and they became living souls, really intended that they should be editors. It may be that men, including the writers of these lines, who have spent almost a lifetime at the editorial desk trying to please everybody, are misfits, and have mistaken their calling. Who knows?—Eagle Lake Headlight.

The Cold Bath Liar.

(By Joe Sappington)

I never heard a fellow lying about taking cold water baths in winter time that I room mingled one of my own experiences in that line. I used to tell my friends how I enjoyed plunging in ice water on wintry morning immediately after arising from a warm bed, and recommended it to all as a means to good life, happiness and good health.

One night at the supper table my wife asked if it were true that I had been telling people that I took cold baths every morning both summer and winter. I tried to change the subject, but she wouldn't let me and proceeded to relate a conversation she had had with a neighbor lady that afternoon. This lady wanted to know how I took these baths, how long I stayed in the water, what kind of towels I used and also if she thought it would be good for her rheumatism. Before I could frame up a reply she proceeded to bless me out for lying to the neighbors and if I thought she was going to corroborate these stories I was badly mistaken, and while it was decidedly humiliating for her to publicly confess that I lied, she felt it her duty to tell the lady if I had ever taken a cold bath it must have been before our marriage. "The very idea," said she, "of telling your friends that you plunge into a tub of cold water the first thing in the morning after getting out of bed, when I have hard enough time of even making you wash your face before coming to breakfast. If I were you I would go to my friends and acknowledge to them that I had lied and ask their forgiveness."

"Madam," I began severely, "you have done me a great injustice in the eyes of our neighbors, and if you have the respect for me that a wife should have for a truthful, law-abiding husband, you should lose no time in going to this lady and explaining to her that you were mistaken, that I had been taking these baths regularly unbeknowing to you, as I was afraid you would object on the ground that it would be dangerous to my health. Madam, you didn't know that I had quietly slipped out of bed every morning summer and winter while you slept and indulged in those cold water baths, but now that you have found out my secret, from this time on, I shall go forth boldly on arising each morning and splash and flounder in my tub in the most boisterous manner."

"Very well," she said, "be sure and let me know in the morning when you go to take your bath."

The weather was freezing cold, but I made up my mind to take that bath even if it left me a frozen corpse. I dreamed all night of skating on ice, clad only in a summer undershirt and was chased by a polar bear. So fitful had been my sleep by these rigorous dreams, that I finally decided to have the matter over with and got up about an hour before day and staggered in the bath room turning chairs over as I went, so my wife would be sure and hear and turned the water on in the tub and proceeded to divest myself of my night apparel and then with a shudder that convulsed my Grecian frame from center to circumference I stood like another September morn and gazed at the fast filling tub of liquid ice and cursed myself for being a liar. It was another case where the spirit was willing but the flesh was weak. I stuck one of my toes in the water but withdrew it in great haste. But something had to be done, for I knew the wife of my bosom was wide awake and awaiting results. Then a happy thought came to me when my eyes fell upon a broom. I would take it and make a noise like a fellow bathing. Thank goodness it worked all right and after wiping it up and down in the water for about two minutes, I turned with a glad heart and started to put on my gown and then something happened that has wrecked my system—my wife threw a bucket of ice cold water down my back.

Gentle reader how high have you ever known a fellow to jump? I claim to hold the record for the highest single jump ever made by mortal man when that ice water struck my spine. No telling how high I would have gone had it not been for that 12 foot ceiling that interfered with my head. Also how loud did you ever hear a fellow yell? Another thing I did after making that awful jump, never before successfully accomplished by a human being and that was to climb a perpendicular wall like a house cat.

I shall not harrow up the feelings of our readers by dilating upon this painful accident, for the rest of the deal is crimination and recrimination between husband and wife and think it best that the public be kept out of it.

For many years afterward in morning to things that happened my wife would say: "That was the winter my husband took that cold water bath."

No, I'm not taking any more cold water baths, and even if I did, I would keep it to myself, as I wouldn't want the public to know that I was a dern fool.

A picture of the Mayflower, the work of Master Pat Godkin was depicted on the blackboard. Manager Walter Godkin is expected to the necessary demands of the school, which is the requirement of success.

A Severe Pounding.

On Tuesday night of last week I was sitting by the fire and enjoying the daily paper, while Sister Gossett was busy in the kitchen, neither of us knowing of anything that we had done to deserve a pounding. My attention was called to a car stopping at the front gate. I thought of Fritz and Dick Hinds went to a wedding and could feel the weight of the fee in my empty pocket. I heard Dr. Butler's voice and knew immediately it wasn't a wedding and before I could think again the pounding began in earnest. After the dust had cleared away we found on our front porch, pretty well laden with everything from soap to chickens. We were not sore after they went, but thank you one and all for so kindly remembering us. May God lead us all together in paths of usefulness.

REV. B. J. GOSSETT

Special Session up to Speaker.

Austin, Texas, December 1.—With the definite announcement by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Tuesday that she will not call a special session of the legislature as requested by Lee Satterwhite, speaker of the House, and 27 members in a petition, the Texas capitol now has nothing until a call of the speaker.

The speaker has been petitioned by more than 50 legislators to call a special session of the legislature for the purpose of providing for expenses for the Legislature plans for a special session failed some Friday.

Word, however, is expected from Speaker Satterwhite, who is in Washington, as to what action he will take.

Predictions are here that no less the Travis County grand jury which convened Monday under instructions to probe state affairs, develops some tangible offense against the State, that agitation for a special session will diminish until after the holidays.

Five Dollars for One Copy.

Frontier Times is gaining in popularity. A gentleman at Abilene, Texas, last week paid five dollars for one copy of the Feburary, 1924, issue. The price sale at five dollars is the highest we have had has yet been paid for a single copy.

Caught a Buck.

Last week while hunting on a ranch near Honey Creek, Henry Mills ran onto a four-prong buck. He ran up close to it as it neared a fence, jumped off his horse and grabbed the animal, and got it long enough to cut its throat with a pocket knife. Ben Haught and H. E. Price were along and both gentlemen say it was a remarkable performance, and one that beat any circus. Mr. Price says Henry caught the deer by the tail, and ran him for a mile before he could gain enough to take a turn of the deer's tail around his finger and bring him to a stop. But Henry got the deer, and he got him fairly, if he ain't.

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas

It is the purpose of the monument committee, in charge of the drive for funds and erect the monument to our Soldier dead within the next few weeks. The committee needs your assistance. Every dollar will help. Give a dollar, or two dollars, or ten dollars. Let old Bandera county show her patriotism now by erecting a monument that we will always be proud of. A full list of all donations will be published in the New Era of due time.

Our Bandera county soldier boys gave all they had to make the world safe for democracy; they, made the supreme sacrifice on the battlefield, while we remained at home to do our bit here. It is only right and proper that we commemorate the heroism of these noble boys by erecting a monument to them.. Seven Years have passed, and what have been slow to show our gratitude and appreciation. Now we are going to erect that monument. Will you help? Send your donation to Miss Margaret Montague, secretary-treasurer of the Monument Committee. Do it today.

The monument drive is on. If you have not contributed to the fund for the erection of a monument in Bandera to our soldier boys who lost their lives in the World War, you should do so at once. Within a few days you will receive a request from the committee to help-in this laudable undertaking. A letter will be sent you asking for your donation. Do not lay it aside, but once fill out the blank form, put a check to it, and send it to the committee in charge of the work. Give as liberally as your circumstances will allow, and when that monument is placed on our public square you will be proud of the fact that you helped to put it there.

Four editors from the four points of the compass, and two strangers, happened to gather one night in the same sleeping car smoke den. After getting acquainted all around and talking all the national and international problems of today, the conversation somehow shifted to marriage. The eastern editor then said that a man can, out West get himself into trouble by marrying two wives. The western in public me der replied that a good many men in that section had done the same thing by marrying one. The northern champion of the people's rights rejoined that quite a number of his acquaintances found trouble by merely promising to marry, and going no further. Then the southerner of shed the forest and paper to bed by telling about a friend of his who got in mighty bad by simply being found in company with that friend's wife.—Troy Mont Tribune.

QUARTERLY SESSION OF GOATMEN AT UVALDE

Show and Sales to Be Open to Breeders From the Outside States; Other Changes.

A very enthusiastic meeting of the directors of the United Goat & Sheep Raisers Association was held last Saturday at the Chamber of Commerce room and at noon the members were the guests of the Uvalde Retail Merchants' Association with a dinner at the Sunshine Cafe.

President J. L. Gulley called the meeting to order and the morning session was devoted to a discussion of the standardizing of mohair. This called for a great deal of argument pro and con and finally resolved in the appointment of a committee to make a more careful study of the subject and report at the next meeting.

The Goatmen are not taking up any new propositions without careful investigation. The experience on the "chevon" educational drive and also on cooperation marketing plan did not work out according to the theories of some of the advocates. President Gulley advocated a careful study before the association lent its prestige to any changes in the present marketing plan. Others also approved his course.

F. M. Montague of Bandera and als Sayer for large mohair bulls, opposed a change in grading. He did not think it would be a wise thing unless a whole car of a certain grade could be made up. The thing he advocated was to put up the clips in better shape. Take out the tags and keep the hair clear of dirt. It gave the accumulation a bet ter reputation. It would raise the grade, while a few unscrupulous shippers would lower. the grade of a whole accumulation. It was brought out that on a few occasions belly fleeces had been taken out of kid sacks and Mexican hair put at the middle of the sacks.

R. Patterson advocated three grades—very fine, fine and average. He was of the opinion that the goat man might improve his herds, but did not get any benefit out of it. However, others gave instances where the placing of tags and inferior hair in sacks, dirty, etc. had caused a loss of five cents per pound on the entire clip.

Others advocated more care in handling and called attention to the fact that Uvalde his receiving the highest price by any clip in the state.

M. D. Taylor wanted to know how much was kid hair and was of the opinion that hair was as fine as kid should be so classed no matter if it came off a kid or not. It was the finest of the hair that should count and promising to marry, and going no further. Then the southerner of shed the forest and paper to bed by telling about a friend of his who got in mighty bad by simply being found in company with that friend's wife.—Troy Mont Tribune.

The statement was made by Secretary DeGroff of the National Mohair Growers' Association, that the grading of mohair might be changed to three grades. It was stated, in the changing of mutton to clipson and having goat meat classed and branded along with horse meat; also many goat and sheep associations had a say-ex-pe-rience in jumping into the cooperative marketing business. Some members were still passing for the experience. They thought we had better leave well enough alone and not be up the changing of the grade until after plenty of thought and study.

A. E. Schneider made a talk in the afternoon and he presented several charts that he had work ed out showing that the average fleece of Angoras in Texas run 4.6; Edwards County 4.6 and Uvalde County 3.5. Had Uvalde produced 4.6 like Edwards at 56c per pound they would have been $14,642 better off. On sheep, Edwards went 7.1; Texas 6.6 and Uvalde County 5.9. On wool at 16c, Edwards was $4,586 to the good over Uvalde. Mr. Schneider did not discuss as to what made the difference, he just left tha t to be thought over. Leslie Nunn says that the 1,500 feet additional altitude made some difference, a rodder climate made a heavier fleece, also there were numerous varieties of wax growth in Edwards County which was an advantage to the sheep and goat men.

Much discussion was had over other subjects and much interest was manifested and it was said to be one of the best meetings the goat and sheep men have held. Among those in attendance as who enjoyed the banquet were W. B. Patterson, Ed Mansfield, M. D. Taylor, M. R. Thalmann, G. P. Pepper, Wallace Nipper, T. O. Smith, Deek Heard, Jake Schwartz, Bob Davis, Sim Reid, D. W. Price, N. E. Schneider, Leslie Nunn, W. H. Rawlings, C. E. DeGroff, A. J. Bunton, H. P. Hornsby, F. O. Landrum, Frank Montague, Sam F. Cooper, Fred Thalmann.

I Killed 'Em By Proxy.

"By Joe Sapworth.

Man's inhumanity to man has caused countless thousands of heart-aches, and been the frequent victim of my fellow-man's inhumanity. I once bought a county right to a patent gun that would shoot a heart-ache or a heart-break, and I have killed many deep sighs, and am still living in hopes of meeting him again eye to eye, that I may murder him in reality, and not by proxy.

No one will know the great number of times I have murdered that infernal cuss in cold blood. Of course these murders have been committed in a purely figurative sense, without life shedding of blood, but that was no fault of mine, as my heart was in the work every time I murdered him. My most delightful method of slaying him was to meet him face to face and stick the loud end of my six shooter between his eyes and make him throw up his hands, after which I would proceed to ask him if he remembered me. Sir? I always began my remarks before killing him, as my name is Joe Sap, and I am the gentleman you sold a patent gate to back in the late nineties, for which you received for same one dark red mule, one hog which we had fattened on scraps from our humble kitchen, one hog which said wife had inherited from her father's estate, and $17.00 in cash. What have you to say, villian, before I begin shooting your carcass full of holes?

So telling how many imaginary trials I have gone through for killing that patent gate vendor, but never failed to be discharged by a jury of my peers. I never wasted any money employing lawyers to defend me for saying that my self, but plead my own case, always managing to get a part of the jury with whom I had dealt with across right fakirs, knowing full well they would either clear me or hater the jury till it starved to death.

In these imaginary trials styled of The State of Texas vs. Joe Sap, in which I killed the said Joe Sap with bullets afterthought had not various and sundry holes into the vitals of the corpus delicti. I had been the jury, break down and cry like their hearts would break for my pigeblings. I never failed to tell that fellow that owns to my town and exhibited his automatic gate with a trick model and ready how I had became interested and given him a few, long, family horse and sold him spot cash for the sales right to use for distant county, and when I had gone further I found that my territory had been sold to another victim who made quite a number of sales to farmers of said county, and how said farmers had been bunco-ed, and on hearing I was back taking orders for said gate and was the same fellow who had first arrived upon the scene, they tried to mob me. I told of my return on foot and to keep from starving was forced to eat hogs and grasshoppers. But my trimpet was always held for the last, in which I drew a most tragic picture of a heart-broken wife sitting at a window mourning her husband as dead. I even had her dressed in mourning and looking out of the window at the weeping eyes with no wish to live now that her dear husband was dead. Even the stern judge on the bench was wont to rest his chin and heave sigh after sigh, when I told how my wife became meeting me with outstretched arms when I have in sight more dead than alive and fall upon my bosom in a dead swoon.

Of course the reader will understand that these trials for killing that same grafter were purely figurative. I never killed a man in my life, but that doesn't prove that I wouldn't kill that same cuss if I should ever meet him.

INCOME TAX EXEMPTIONS ARE EXTENDED

Congress Makes Increase in Exemptions of Single Men and Married Men.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 15.—Tax reduction held straight to its course at the House again Tuesday, as proponents trampled down amendments to important provisions.

Without even a record vote, the House swept aside an amendment proposing to continue the publication of income tax returns.

Stubborn fights were made on the provisions for increasing personal exemptions, but terms of the bill as framed by the Ways and Means Committee to relieve 2,560,000 income taxpayers from Federal taxation next year were accepted.

The bill increases the exemptions from $1,000 to 1,500 for single persons, and from $2,500 to $3,000 for married persons. An amendment by Representative Mary T. Norton, (Dem.) New Jersey, to boost the exemptions to $2,000 for single persons and to $5,000 for married persons was defeated 207 to 64.

135,000 POUNDS OF WOOL SOLD THIS WEEK

Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association Disposes of Fall Clip.

Sale of approximately 135,000 pounds of fall clip wool was made by the Bandera County Ranchmen & Farmers' Association this week to Hollowell, Jones & Donald of Boston, through that firm's representative, Frank M. Mosteague of this city, the price averaging 56 cents per pound for the entire accumulation.

Immediately following the sale the shipping of the wool to the purchasers commenced, being loaded on trucks and sent to Center Point from whence it was shipped by rail. Almost every truck in the community was pressed into service to haul the fleece.

The fall wool this season is of shorter staple and heavier shrinkage than usual, and the price obtained is generally very satisfactory to growers. The mohair sale which was made a couple of months ago and the sale of the wool clip just made by Bandera county netted $125,000 among the ranchmen and farmers of old Bandera county, which is not so bad, considering the extremely dry year which we have passed through. Indications point to a good winter on stock, as the range is in fair condition, and if this were the case we favored with another good, rain or two

An Instructive Show.

The motion pictures being shown at different places in this county this week, under direction of the State Department of Agriculture Board and the United States Bureau of Animal Industry, with Ed F. Pickering in charge of the entertainment, has offered our people something out of the ordinary and has been quite instructive along educational lines. The pictures were shown free and hundreds have had the opportunity of learning something about tick eradication that they have never dreamed of. Mr. Pickering's lectures along this line gave the people something to think about.

P. T. A. Entertainment.

An interesting play, "John's Baby?" will be presented at the High School Auditorium Friday night, December 18, under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers' Association. No admission will be charged. Undergoes Operation.

George Tait, of Medina, underwent an operation for appendicitis last Tuesday at a hospital in San Antonio. He was in quite a serious condition, but he stood the operation well, and his many friends throughout the county hope he will make complete and speedy recovery.

During the remainder of the winter, Gid Bandera county will come out next year with mohair and wool clips that will entirely offset all losses occasioned by the drouth of the past year.

The Negro Minstrel.

In another column will be found the program and cast of the Negro Minstrel to be given at the High School Auditorium on Thursday night, December 31. The show will start promptly at 7 o'clock p. m. in order to get through early on account of other social events which take place the same night. About twenty characters appear in the cast, and this minstrel promises to be the biggest fun festival that has been held in Bandera in years. Local talent will appear on the stage, and will keep you laughing from the beginning until the show is over. A grand street parade will take place at four o'clock in the afternoon on the last day of this year. The proceeds realized from the minstrel will be given to Bandera High School.

Mrs. Iva Rugh Bass and Mrs. W. T. Seymour and children, of San Antonio, visited Chas. Rugh, and family Sunday.

Much interest was manifested and all were very much encouraged over the prospects of making the next fair the best that has ever been held, here. Elvins Hicks was unanimously elected vice-president of the fair association, and Mrs. Ed Caton was elected secretary. Committees of Medina was given a place on the directory. Another meeting of the directors will be held at the New Era office on Saturday, January 9, at 2 o'clock p. m., today, to set the date for the fair, and arrange other matters. All officers and directors are requested to be present.

Bitten by a Mad Dog.

Louie Potter at Boerne, a son-in-law to Gabe Anderson of this place, was bitten by a mad dog a few days ago, and was taken to the Pasteur Institute for treatment. We understand that several persons were bitten by the dog before he was killed. The animal's head was sent to prepare to the Pasteur Institute for examination and it was found that the dog was afflicted with the rabies.

The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Read Frontier Times. It's real history.

Christmas is almost upon us. The glad season we hope will bring joy and happiness to every soul in Bandera county.

The names of all who subscribe to the fund for the erection of the Soldiers' Monument in Bandera will be published in the New Era in due time. Do your bit today.

Only a few more days in which to take advantage of the New Era's offer to send the little old home paper, and Frontier Times together for a year for only $2.50. The offer ends December 31.

The New Era goes to press early next week, our forms close Wednesday. All matter intended for publication must reach us before noon Tuesday. Correspondents are requested to remember this and send in their letters early.

Seven years have passed since the Armistice was signed which ended the World War. Though we have been slow in erecting a monument to the memory of our precious boys who made the supreme sacrifice in that great war, old Bandera county has not forgotten. The monument will be placed on our court house square during the next few weeks. Have you contributed to this worthy cause?

Frontier Times for January is being mailed out this week. The current number contains many interesting stories of early days, one of which is narrated by our highly respected and beloved townsman, Mr. Tom M. Stevens. Every citizen of Bandera county should be a subscriber to Frontier Times, the little magazine which is helping to rescue from oblivion and preserve the early history of our noble pioneers.

Kerrville is going to vote a $100,000 bond issue and build a new court house. Kerrville needs a new court house and those wide-awake people are going to get one that will be a credit to their fast-growing city for many years, to come. Bandera county has a beautiful court house, and we are all proud of it, but we have sadly neglected its premises. Let's beautify the surroundings with a well-ordered park and grounds.

You are looking around already to select a suitable Christmas gift for your old Bandera county friend. What could be more acceptable than the little old home paper, or Frontier Times—both for one year for $2.50. Every preliminary step necessary to the subscription will be cheerfully attended to. Send your order and money and we will do the same. Just a few cents expense to you—and a year of pleasure to your friend.

Notice to Medina Subscribers.

For the convenience of Medina New Era subscribers in Medina, we have arranged with Mrs. Beulah Smith at the Medina postoffice to receive subscription payments. There's a Reason

A Monument to Our Boys.

Increased interest is being manifested in the movement to erect a monument to the memory of the Bandera county boys who lost their lives in the World War, and committees at work have been quite active during the past week or two arranging details and plans for the monument, and receiving donations to the fund for its purchase. On last Saturday a meeting of the committee was held at the court house to confer with different monument firms and bids were received from these firms, each of whom submitted plans and samples of stone. No special design has yet been selected by the committee, but several very appropriate ones are being considered. This week circular letters are being sent out to the people of the county asking for donations toward this monument. You will receive one of these requests, and you are urged to make your contribution at once as the committee desires to erect this monument within the next few weeks. Below we give a list of the names of our heroes who made the supreme sacrifice overseas. These names will be engraved on the monument. If you know of any others whose names should be on this list please send such names in at once, or if any of the above names are not spelled correctly, please advise us. It is the desire and aim of the committee to place every name on that monument, which rightly belongs there, and in correct order:

LESLIE BOWNDS.
ERNEST POLVADO.
SAM CLARK.
OSCAR HABY.
JAMES POLVADO.
LOWELL PATTERSON.
RAYMOND ECKHART.
ELMER SCHUMAKER.
TWIGG L. WOOD.
EDDIE BURLESON.
ROY HUNDS.
WADE PIERCE.
BLAKE DAVIS.
JOHN V. KALKA.
HENRY LOESBERG.
ARTHUR PADGETT.
CHARLIE EVANS.
NATHAN BAKER.
NEWT PETTY.
FRED HAMMOND.
HENRY BAUMER.
CARL A. MERO.

Won't you contribute a dollar or more to the monument that will perpetuate the memory of these boys? Send your donation to Miss Margaret Montague, secretary-treasurer of the Monument Committee, Bandera, at once.

Prepay Proper Postage.

Christmas and New Years greetings sent as Post Cards, whether written or printed, require 2 cents postage each.

Encouragement From Afar.

The New Era appreciates good words and encouragement when it comes direct to us, and when it is given in an indirect way it makes us feel that our efforts are being noticed and appreciated. We were shown a letter a few days ago from a lady residing in Missouri to a relative in Bandera, which made us feel good. The letter was not written for publication, and the writer probably never dreamed that this editor would ever see it. He writer is a stranger to us, and she has never been in Bandera, but she likes our little old home paper, and does not hesitate to tell folks she likes it. A portion of the letter follows:

"Dear Cousin—I received the Bandera paper last night, and I saw by the label on the wrapper that you had renewed it for me for another year. Thank you so much. I do enjoy reading it. Of course the first thing I do is to scan its pages for some news of you. This week's paper was unusually good and interesting. The editorials are always good. Glad to see the boom renewed for the monument for the soldiers boys who gave their lives. I noticed before it was not the editor's fault it lagged. Hope it will be a real success this time. Surely it is deserving. 'Keep Climbing,' the 'Sissy Editor,' and 'Remedies for Rheumatism,' are all very interesting. I am really glad Mr. Dennis is not getting it any better. Don't you know Florence has had a bad case of neuritis or sciatica in one of her hips for nearly seven weeks. I am sure she had about the same experience, and I think I will send her this clipping. 'Morning and Evening' is very beautiful. I shall prize it among my love's selections. Also 'Minor Musings' is very interesting and amusing. I can hardly imagine the beautiful flowers blooming there. We had it so very cold and so early this year that it completely froze our chrysanthemums, which we enjoy so much the last of October and up to the middle of November."

Frank Montague of Bandera and Frank Greenwood, Sr., of Del Rio, are pals; pals in just about all the term means. Still there are about 30 years difference in their ages. But this matter is taken care of, also read as it were, by the fact that Greenwood does not know that he is 65, and Montague has the happy faculty of fitting in with any friend, regardless of age, weight, politics or previous condition of servitude. He can take a fall out of anybody, a bishop, say, and the effect is that they come back for more. "Nature sure made you handsome and if you live long enough to accumulate any wisdom you are liable to amount to something big," says Greenwood to Montague; "like to say nice things to young lad," continues Greenwood, "as I've just about wasted my time on you, but I'll be darned if you don't look like a million dollars to me." "The Joy of Christmas" by Marshall.

The Bandera New Era
$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas

The New Era will regretfully cease to visit a score or more good people about the first of the year. We have revised our subscription list, and if necessity have been obliged to drop some names from that list. A man who will not pay his subscription, just a dollar and a half, in twelve months time, evidently does not want the paper, and we are not going to send it where it is not wanted. We are proud of our list of loyal subscribers. They have stayed with us through good times and bad times, and we know there are times they do not always agree with our policy of publishing a newspaper, but they are broadminded and evidently overlook our shortcomings, for when their subscription expires they come right in and order its visits continued. There are some who neglect the little matter of renewal until reminded—they do not take offense but kick in the dollar and a half every year, do you ever stop to think of the work and expense it is to keep working for you all year for $1.50? You can't hire anybody to work for you a whole year for a dollar and a half except the newspaper man. That same work and half we are talking about keeps our machinery running, it helps to feed and clothe our family, it pays our taxes, it buys print paper, it helps to build roads, it pays our printers—in fact is kept right here at home and circulates in the community in such a way that after awhile it gets back to you and you can use it in about the same way we do. It's a wonderful old dollar and a half—reminds us of the old fashioned bicycle which had a big wheel and a little wheel, and nobody enjoyed it unless those wheels were turning round and round. If you are behind with your subscription and haven't the dollar and a half, and you want the New Era to keep right on visiting you, please let us hear from you at once.

Make new resolutions for the new year. Let Bandera make a resolution to build a decision to our soldiers monument fund. The monument is going to be built right away, so don't delay in making your contribution.

Kerrville is helping to build the Mountain Sun. We congratulate Salter Brothers on their enterprise and also congratulate Kerrville on having such a good newspaper.

The committee in charge of the movement to erect a monument to the Bandera county soldier boys who died in the World War, sent out circular letters to citizens of the county last week. Attached to this letter was a blank for you to fill out and return to the committee, stating how much you would contribute at this time, as erection of the monument will begin within a very short time, and every dollar that can be secured will be needed. If you failed to receive one of these requests just send in a donation anyway, and it will be appreciated by the monument committee and you will have helped to perpetuate the memory of the noble boys who made the supreme sacrifice for their country.

Weddings During Holidays.

On December 21, 1925, Mr. Clayborne Davenport and Miss Nora Ross were married in San Antonio. The groom is the eldest son of Mrs. Becker Davenport of this city, and the bride is the daughter of John H. Ross, also of Bandera. Both are well known and popular young people and the New Era joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy life.

On December 24, at the Methodist parsonage in Bandera, Mr. Carl Kutzer and Miss Blanche Watson were united in marriage by Rev. Ben A. Gossett. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Kutzer of Winan's Creek, and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Watson of this city. Those are excellent young folks and the New Era joins their many friends in congratulations and hearty good wishes for a life of happiness and prosperity for them.

Injured in Auto Accident.

Miss Florence Fries, who has been teaching near Marfa, was seriously injured in an auto accident on Christmas Eve, and for a time was thought to be in a critical condition. She receiv ed bruises about the head and body that are quite painful. Her father, W. D. Fries, went to Marfa and brought her home, arriving in Medina Monday. While Miss Florence is still in a serious condition and unable to sit up, recovery is looked for, and her many friends are hopeful that she will soon be able to be about.

Mrs. Lincoln Dead.

Mrs. H. C. S. Barnes is in receipt of a letter from Miss Jane F. Burlingame of Glendale, California, telling of the death of Mrs. J. M. Lincoln, which occurred December 15, from bronchial pneumonia. Mrs. Lincoln was well known to all of the old timers in Bandera, having lived here many years. Several years ago she removed to California, and has resided at Glendale. She was an invalid for many years, and was tenderly cared for by news of the death of this good woman is received with sadness her niece, Miss Burlingame. The by her friends in Bandera.

Bond Issue for Better Roads.

A petition is being prepared for circulation to ask the Commissioners' Court to order an election asking for a bond issue of $30,000 to be expended on roads in this district. It is intended to apportion the $30,000, if the bonds carry, to the several roads in the district. The New Era favors the movement, and we only wish the amount asked for was greater, for this county certainly needs better roads. From time to time the New Era will discuss the proposition now before the people.

Mrs. Click Dead.

Mrs. C. M. Click, Sr., died at San Antonio December 29, after an illness of several months. She was the mother of Creed and Val Click of this county, and an excellent woman. The New Era joins the many friends of the family in extending condolence and sympathy to the bereaved husband and children in this hour of their great sorrow.

The Negro Minstrel.

The Negro Minstrel, given at Bandera High School auditorium last Thursday night for the benefit of the school, was one of the best entertainments given in this city in a long time. Packed and greeted the performers, and everybody enjoyed the fun provided by the burnt cork artists, among whom were Henry White, Rev. R. N. Hicks, Eldredge Evans, Tom Gray and children, J. R. Price, Clinton Saathoff, Charlie Eckhart, Granville Wright, Uncle Andy Jones, John Bruce, David Brewer, Slick and Earl Jones, Levi Evans, Rufus Evans, Doc White, Otis Evans, T. S. Dennis, Leslie Short, J. Y. Dowty, and others whose names we could not recognize them. Some real original hits were made by the entertainers, among them being French Harp Solos by Leslie Short, and violin solos by Uncle Andy Jones, Tom Gray and his little children, Lucile and Tom Jr., were popular favorites, the children in the role of pickaninnies dancing jigs and carrying out their parts in most pleasing manner. Charlie Eckhart was booked for a Jew's Harp Solo, but got excited, broke Jew's Harp, and had to use a fiddle instead. Every number was heartily applauded, and the audience showed by enthusiastic demonstration their enjoyment of the evening's program. The receipts at the door amounted to slightly over $100, which, after expenses are deducted, will be given to the school.

J. H. Bruce and Henry White, who arranged the minstrel, are to be commended for their successful efforts in pulling off the entertainment.

TELL THE WORLD

You're Proud to live in

BANDERA COUNTY

AND

OUR OWN HOME TOWN

This is The First of a Series of Full Page Pictures And Talks On Community Subjects

All over the world today, people are beginning to understand, as they never did before, how much we are dependent, the one upon the other.

Even a hermit, if one exists today, is dependent upon the outside world for certain things.

The individual family—all will admit—is the foundation of civilization, and more and more, as the years roll by, particularly in the smaller cities and towns, it is being impressed upon our people that OUR OWN HOME TOWN is just a big family, with the family sentiments of love and affection, friendship and goodwill, enlarged and extended throughout our daily intercourse with one another in all the fields of our Home TOWN activities.

MAY NEIGHBORLY FELLOWSHIP AND GOODWILL CONTINUE ON THE INCREASE IN BANDERA.

The more we recognize the importance of our moral and social relations and responsibilities towards one another, the deeper will be our understanding and appreciation of the advantages resulting from development of the family spirit in our own home town—advantages not only from the moral and spiritual side of things, but in material things as well.

The purpose of this HOMETOWN CAMPAIGN is to strive to deepen a spirit of friendship and neighborliness, by discussing in a simple way certain things connected with our everyday life with one another, in order that with a better understanding of community problems we may reach conclusions tending to promote our individual and collective happiness and prosperity.

Home banks, merchants and industries, as represented by the names listed below, and whose co-operation have made this campaign possible, seek your co-operation for the greater good of our beloved HOME TOWN.

Better than an inch of slow rain fell on the head waters of Camp Verde creek on January 1st which was very badly needed for the grain. The snow fall of December 29th covered the ground from two to three inches in the Camp Verde community.

Mrs. S. O. Loyd of the Short ranch, was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Henry Haby a few days last week. Mrs. Loyd has but recently returned from a hospital in San Antonio where she underwent a serious operation. We are glad to know she is steadily recovering and will soon be well again.

Highway Foreman, Joe G. Callahan has a crew at work on the road to Medina. Superintendent R. L. Hudson was here Monday inspecting the work. We understand the State will not accept the Masters Lane portion of that road until the county puts it in proper shape.

The following visitors were guests at the Otto Weltner ranch during the holidays: Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Henley of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Killough of Center Point, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Parsons of Hondo and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Parsons of Bandera.

Mrs. J. G. Letcher of Pipe Creek, has been spending the past few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Tom Boyle at Crystal City. Col. Letcher was in to renew his subscription to the New Era Monday and told us to insert a little advertisement for a good looking woman to keep house for him; said he is getting mighty lonesome without the presence of the good wife.

Buick

VALVE-IN-HEAD MOTOR CARS

The Better BUICK

Starts easily

Buick motor cars are designed to run efficiently in every temperature, and under every climatic condition. Only a small percentage of the million and more Buicks have the opportunity to go to California or Florida for the winter.

Buicks start quickly, even at zero. The new, high-speed starting motor accomplishes this most desirable result.

Runs smoothly

Buick Automatic Heat Control reduces another cold-weather starting annoyance—that of bucking, spitting, misfiring engines. This exclusive Buick feature heats the fuel supply, and saves gasoline, automatically and immediately.

Stops safely

In rain, snow or sleet Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes stop the car firmly, in a straight line. Neither heat nor cold affects the direct mechanical action of these brakes. There is no liquid in them to expand, contract or leak away.

Buick is a better Motor Car—In Every Kind of Weather

Fair Directors Meet.

The directors of the Bandera County Fair held a very interesting and enthusiastic meeting at the New Era office last Saturday, and made plans for the next County Fair, which is to be held about the middle of August, the exact dates to be announced later. Arrangements are being made for the printing of the catalogue, which will be off the press early in May, and will contain all the rules for exhibitors, list of prizes to be awarded in the different departments, and other information which the public desires. It is expected that the fair this year will be the biggest and best ever held here, and the fair officials urge the farmers and ranchmen to at once begin to prepare their exhibit and select seed for the production of farm products that will be premium winners, and give special attention to raising live stock that will attract attention to this industry and be awarded fine ribbons. Let everybody keep the fair in mind and help all strive to have a display that will be a revelation to the people who attend the fair.

Mrs. W. D. Smith and daughters, Misses Beulah and Valen[illegible] were here from Medina Tuesday to attend the wedding of Raymond Smith and Miss Letha Clark. In company with the bride and groom and Mrs. G. C. Klemisten they paid this New Era an appreciated visit. Miss Beulah Smith is The New Era's faithful correspondent at Medina, and sends us the news of that progressive community each week.

Found An Old Pistol.

Forty eight years ago Andy Jones, who lived near Castroville, was gathering cattle above Lima, near the Hillman ranch, and while running a cow one day he dropped his pistol form its holster and it fell to the ground. A few minutes later Mr Runnells went back to look for the weapon, but he could not find it. He regretted his loss at the Hillman ranch, and John C. Hillman, who was then a young man, made search for it, but was unsuccessful. This was in 1877, and for forty-eight years the pistol lay out there on a hillside, exposed to the elements. A few days ago while going over the ground Mr. Hillman picked up the pistol, and it is now in the New Era office. It is an old fashioned Colt's cap and ball revolver, and all of its parts are still in it, and caps are on the tubes. The wooden handles have rotted off, but otherwise the gun is in a good state of preservation. At the time Mr. Runnells lost this gun he was temporarily residing on Bear Creek, and had a fine Winchester pistol on Onion Creek. Many of the old timers will remember the circumstance.

To Open Bids January 23rd.

Bids for the construction of the monument to the Bandera county soldier boys who lost their lives in the World War, will be opened on Saturday, January 23rd. It is expected that granite firms of Fredericksburg, Llano, San Antonio, and other places will submit bids. The monument is to be of granite, and is to be erected on the court house square in Bandera.

Smith-Clark.

Raymond Smith and Miss Letha Clark were happily married Tuesday morning at the court house. Rev. R. N. Hicks performed the ceremony. Only a few friends were present to witness the wedding. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. (Scot) Smith of Medina, and the bride is the daughter of Jim Clark. Both are excellent young people, and will make their home on the ranch of G. C. Klemisten on Winan's Creek. The New Era extends congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to all friends and customers for the patronage and good will given my late service and business during the past year. I regret that it has become necessary to discontinue my business service to San Antonio.

W. E. RUGE.

R. N. Padgett and R. A. Robinson were over from Tarpley Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the Federal Farm Loan Association. Mr. Padgett returned last week from a visit to his old home in Arkansas. He had not been back there for fifty years but says he found many of his old friends still living, and all were glad to see him.

Ed Callahan Dead.

A. E. Callahan died Tuesday morning at his home in San Antonio, after an illness of several months. The remains were brought to Pipe Creek for burial and interment was made in Pipe Creek cemetery yesterday afternoon. It was Mr. Callahan's request made several days before he died that J. M. Hunter, editor of the New Era, conduct his funeral, and in our feeble way we tried to speak words of comfort to the sorrowing family.

A large crowd attended the funeral, quite a number coming from San Antonio, Hondo, and other places, where deceased was well known and highly respected.

James Edward Callahan was born in Cook county, Oregon in 1864, and came to Texas with his parents in 1871, locating in San Saba county. He moved to Bandera county in 1875, and on June 28th, 1886 he was happily married to Miss Annie A. Buck of this county. To this union nine children were born, six of whom are living, being Robert E., John H., and Ben B. Callahan of San Antonio, Mrs. Anna L. Love of Devine, Mrs. Edna McClellan and Mrs. Ruth Land of San Antonio. Five sisters and four brothers also survive, being Mrs. Walter Fox of Lytle, Mrs. Bud Scott of Schattel, Mrs. G. W. Edwards of Ammas, New Mexico, Mrs. L. H. Smith and Mrs. T. B. Riggs of Pearsall, J. G. Callahan of Pipe Creek, A. B. Callahan of Carrize Springs, Oscar Callahan of Menard, and D. D. Callahan of Pearsall. All of the brothers and sisters were present at the funeral except Mrs. Edwards of Ammas, New Mexico, who could not reach here in time.

To the grief-stricken widow and sorrowing children the New Era extends condolence and sympathy in this hour of their great sorrow.

Harvey Crist, Dead.

T. S. Crist, of Pipe Creek, received the word this week of the death of his brother, Harvey Crist, which occurred in Nolen county, January 3rd. Deceased was a former citizen of Bandera county and was well and favorably known to all of the old timers. He was fifty-nine years of age and leaves a wife and five children.

Mrs. H. L. Porter, of Medina, has been critically ill the past few days with pneumonia, and much alarm has been felt over her serious condition. Her many friends hope the crisis has passed and that she will soon be on the road to recovery.

Last Friday the Medina basket ball players went to Boerne and played basket ball. The Medina girl's won, the score being 22 to 13. The Boerne boys won.

Miss Vinnie and Miss Lee Mayfield of San Antonio visited relatives here last week.

Last Tuesday Miss Della Clark was married to Mr. Raymond Smith, at Bandera, by Rev. Hicks. Miss Clark lives with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Klemisten. Mr. Smith is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Smith. They will make their home at present with Mr. and Mrs. Klemisten. We wish for this happy pair a long and useful life.

Mrs. H. L. Porter has been very sick with pneumonia. We hope she will soon be well.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde E. Medford January 3, a boy, Lennie Clyde.

Last Wednesday Mrs. Bud Keese went to Kerrville to attend the funeral of her sister, Miss Fannie Williams.

Won't you contribute a dollar or more to the monument that will perpetuate the memory of these boys? Send your donation to Miss Margaret Montague, secretary-treasurer of the Monument Committee, Bandera, at once.

A few days ago the San Antonio Express published quite a story about a Bandera county young man, 21 years old, who had come to San Antonio to see his first railroad train. But there's no discredit to that fact. It is quite possible that that particular young man has stayed on the farm these 21 years, doing his bit to help feed the population of the city, many of whom are of that idle class which should be doing the same work aforesaid young man has had to do. In an editorial in a later issue the Express says:

"That Bandera County young man who celebrated his twenty-first birthday anniversary by coming to San Antonio for his first glimpse of a railroad, streetcars and many another thing which cities have, but his county has not, may live to be a justice of the peace or even a railroad president. But for him life probably holds no other thrill equal to that which came so suddenly-like. At that, the State wouldn't be hurt if there were 100,000 others like him."

Next week the February number of Frontier Times will be issued from the press. This little magazine continues to grow in popularity, and is being read by old Texas Rangers, students of universities, professors in colleges, writers, and people in all walks of life, not only in Texas, but in various parts of the United States. Mrs. Jackie Kindel Oglesby, well known writer, of Dallas, sends us the following cheering message:

"Your Frontier Times is beginning to create interest among University students here. It affords me great pleasure, and is so much assistance in my efforts in writing. I want to see Frontier Times live and grow. We need just such a magazine, and there is not another of its kind in existence that I know of." This is but one of the hundreds of complementary messages we are now receiving from people everywhere. Frontier Times is growing and someday the people of Bandera will awake to the realization that they have a nationally known publication in their midst.

Vital Statistics.

Deputy County Clerk A. L. Mansfield reports that the records show that 24 deaths occurred in this county during 1925; 97 births were reported during the year just passed, and 16 marriage license were issued. The death rate last year was unusually large for this county, the chief cause being pneumonia and influenza, and the greater per cent of those who died were persons of advanced years.

"The Authentic History of Sam Bass and His Gang," written by a citizen of Denton county in 1878, will be published in Frontier Times, beginning with the February issue. Don't miss the opening installment.

TELL THE WORLD

You're Proud to live in

AND

OUR OWN HOME TOWN

This is The ... of a Series of Full Page Pictures And Talks On Community Subjects

All over the world today, people are beginning to understand, as they never did before, how much we are dependent, the one upon the other.

Even a hermit, if one exists today, is dependent upon the outside world for certain things.

The individual family—all will admit—is the foundation of civilization, and more and more, as the years roll by, particularly in the smaller cities and towns, it is being impressed upon our people that OUR OWN HOME TOWN is just a big family, with the family sentiments of love and affection, friendship and goodwill, enlarged and extended throughout our daily intercourse with one another in all the fields of our Home TOWN activities.

MAY NEIGHBORLY FELLOWSHIP AND GOODWILL CONTINUE ON THE INCREASE IN BANDERA.

The more we recognize the importance of our moral and social relations and responsibilities towards one another, the deeper will be our understanding and appreciation of the advantages resulting from development of the family spirit in our own home town—advantages not only from the moral and spiritual side of things, but in material things as well.

The purpose of this HOMETOWN CAMPAIGN is to strive to deepen a spirit of friendship and neighborliness, by discussing in a simple way certain things connected with our everyday life with one another, in order that with a better understanding of community problems we may reach conclusions tending to promote our individual and collective happiness and prosperity.

Home banks, merchants and industries, as represented by the names listed below, and whose co-operation have made this campaign possible, seek your co-operation for the greater good of our beloved HOME TOWN.

Rieck Goat Coats

THE DOLLAR CROP

If a man thinks he cannot afford to buy GOAT COATS, let him consider: Coats cost 20c per season. Labor costs 10c per season. Losses are estimated from a reliable questionaire to amount to 50c per head per season. Sheds with their labor and losses cost 60c. Coats cost 20c. Whenever you invest a dollar in a Goat Coat you get the same result you would get if you were to buy a flock of goats at $5.00, hold them a year and sell them for $15.00 a head. There is greater opportunity for profit in taking care of what we have than it increasing the capital investment. Some men who are pressed for money sell a few and coat the rest. The Rieck Goat Coat made of specially selected 14 oz., double filled duck, specially proposed by ourselves may be purchased with 65% of the proceeds of one shearing and will coat the goat for life—used thirty days each Spring Shearing.

His daughter-in-law, Mrs. Orange Clark is doing the writing, and compiling a vast amount of data relative to the remarkable career of the one hundred-year-old veteran, who has spent the last years in Bandera county. The memoirs will deal largely with Mr. Clark's experience in Mexico where he went with General Scott's expeditionary forces in 1847, and helped to whip the Mexican army. We are sure the memoirs will prove highly interesting when put in book form.

Doing Good Road Work.

Commissioner Anton Pyka and Frank Mansfield, with crews and graders are putting the Medina road between Ranger Creek and Winan's Creek in fine shape, especially that portion of the road known as Master's Lane, which is now being graveled. It will require several hundred dollars yet to make the road all it should be, and efforts are being made to raise the necessary funds. Some $250 was subscribed to the work a short time ago, and another $250 will be raised on condition that the county appropriates $500 to be expended on the road, which, we understand, will be available as soon as the balance is raised by subscription. The people are determined to have a good road all of the way to Medina, and several who have subscribed to the fund have already expressed their willingness to double their subscription to the fund. The State Highway Commission has promised the people to take over the maintenance of this road just as soon as we put it in shape to meet the requirements. Engineer Callahan has already had his state highway crew at work on portions of it. Now, let's all get busy and finish what we have undertaken to do, by raising the money for the work to proceed without delay. Drop into the O. S. T. Cafe and hand in your subscription to Mrs. M. E. Faris, or leave it at either of the Bandera banks. Following is a list of those who have already subscribed to the fund: M. E. Faris, $100; Joe Bagnell, $10; B. F. Faris, $2; H. B. The news of the marriage of Miss Mabel Thalmann to Mr. Charles M. Pond at San Antonio last Saturday, came as quite a surprise to the many friends of the bride in Bandera. The Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

J. M. Hunter, Editor.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Next Saturday bids will be opened for the erection of the monument to the soldier boys of Bandera county who gave their lives in the World War. Quite a number of bids have been received from marble and granite firms over the state, and it is expected that out of the lot a most reasonable offer will be accepted.

Pay your poll tax, before it is too late. Must be paid by February 1, if you expect to vote in any election to be held this year.

Never let an opportunity pass to boost Bandera and its unsurpassed resources. Times is coming when these resources are going to be recognized and development will rapidly follow.

The New Era stands for anything that will benefit our town and county. And we are always ready to boost any good thing that comes along.

Do you read Frontier Times?

Premiums to Be Given.

Bob Davis, of Rio Frio, chairman of the United Goat & Sheep Raisers' Association, has received $200 from the South African Goat Association of Cape Province, South Africa, the amount to be used for premiums on the progney of the South African bucks sold at Camp Wood last summer. The money will be offered at the United Goat and Sheep raisers' show and sale to be held at Camp Wood next August, and will be in four awards, as follows:

Best buck kids, first, second, third and fourth.

Best doe kids, first, second, third and fourth.

Best pair kids, first, second, third and fourth.

Best three kids, get of sire, first, second, third and fourth.

Any kid or kids in the United States, progney of South African bucks, will be qualified to enter this show. Inasmuch as a number of the bucks sold at Camp Wood last summer were purchased by Bandera county goat breeders, it is certain that some of our ranchmen will enter kids from their South African bucks at the show to be held at Camp Wood next August.

Frontier Times is published monthly in Bandera. $1.50 per year.

IN 1869 WE STARTED IN BUSINESS IN A SMALL WAY. OUR BUSINESS HAS INCREASED WITH LEAPS and BOUNDS, AND WE ARE NOW PROBABLY THE LARGEST RETAIL STORE IN TEXAS. NEARLY SIXTY YEARS WITHOUT A FAILURE.

"There is a Reason"

Lee Mason & Son Enlarge Plant.

Lee Mason & Son of Kerrville have re-entered the automobile business in a more elaborate scale than ever before, according to information received from that firm.

Having recently taken over the sale of the Chrysler car for that section, Mr. Mason has recently purchased property adjacent to his present place of business in Kerrville on which will be erected one of the most attractive salesrooms in that thriving mountain city. The new building will be in the rear of their new and modern filling station (which is Bowser equipped throughout), and in addition to a sales room will also contain a used car display room and a modern repair shop.

The salesroom will have a frontage of 125 feet on Water Street and a depth of 70 feet on Clay Street. The building will be white stucco on tile, and of Spanish architecture to harmonize with the other buildings of Mr. Mason, in order to definitely convey the idea that the three seperate units are in reality one business.

Nothing has been left undone in planning these improvements, Mr. Mason states, and their completion will enable this enterprising firm to continue carrying on their progressive and successful sales and service policies, which they have been doing in Kerrville for the past 11 years.

The Chrysler car will be featured in their new display and in their radio department only the ultimate in radio will be considered.

Both Lee Mason and his son, Chas. L. Mason, state they have never seen as bright an outlook for Kerrville and the Hill Country as is apparent today, and it is their intention to back up their optism by using every opportunity to extend the scope of their activities throughout that section.—San Antonio Express.

STOP THAT ITCHING

If you suffer from any form of skin diseases such as Itch, Eczema, Tetter or Cracked Hands, Poison Oak, Ring Worm, Old Sores or Sores on Children, We will sell you a Jar of BLUE STAR REMEDY on a guarantee. It will not stain your clothing and has a pleasant odor.

Billings & Son, Druggists.

No Demonstration can reveal all of BUICK Excellence

Any time you drive a Buick you will wonder how such a remarkable car can be sold at such a moderate price.

In just a few minutes you will realize that you are starting, stopping, parking, driving with much greater ease and security. And that you are surrounded by quality and luxury which rank with the very finest.

But demonstration will tell only part of the Buick story, and you should know all of it.

A demonstration cannot show you the enduring stamina of body and chassis that belongs to Buick. Years are necessary for that. It can only suggest the powerful ability of Buick's 75 horse-power Valve-in-Head engine, built for hills. It cannot tell you how thoroughly the Buick "Sealed Chassis" and the Buick "Triple Sealed" engine will protect Buick performance on dusty, gritty roads.

And it cannot even hint of the mental ease you will enjoy, with Buick Authorized Service "just around the corner," everywhere in America.

Better Buick Six Cylinder Valve-in-Head motor cars range in price from $1125 to $1995, f.o.b. Buick factories. Among the Buick open and closed models there is one that will meet your desires exactly.

Why Send Your Money Away from Home?

"Think Before You Act"

Every dollar you spend in Bandera County stays and works right here. Doubtless you have heard the story of how a dollar paid out as a joke in settlement by a man in a community group of people, and passed on by the man who got it to someone he owed it to, found its way back to the original owner after having paid twenty-two dollars' worth of debts in less than twenty minutes.

That's the way the dollar works if kept in Bandera County—everyone here is helped and profits by it. Why send it where it won't come back? Then, too, the Bandera merchant is also your neighbor, and it is in his interest to treat you as a neighbor as well as a customer.

You are bound up with him in the same "Bundle of Life" right here in Bandera County, and both your future and his depend upon the city making progress, as well as upon the individual prosperity of every person in it.

Study this out and you will realize that in the measure in which you support Bandera merchants and industries, you inevitably do your part towards making Bandera County a better place in which to live, with better schools, churches, civic buildings and modern up-to-date improvements.

You can buy the Nationally advertised products which the biggest stores in our biggest cities carry, right here in Bandera, and if you but give your merchants a chance to get bigger volume and quicker turnover dealing with them, you will have no cause to complain about prices.

Deal with the men who are an essential part of the business and social and religious and political life of our city—who stand behind the goods they sell—goods right there before your eyes—with satisfaction or money back as their slogan, and hundreds of satisfied customers their best advertisement.

Keep away from the glamour (unreal at that) of faraway fields. Let what is printed here "soak in" and you'll never mail a dollar out of Bandera County.

RIECK GOAT COAT

Coming up Maynard Creek.

Our neighbors see thousands of Goat Coats hanging in the cedars, where they undergo final treatment before distribution to other ranches. In these same cedars, six years ago, we burned a flock of goats, lost in spite of human aid, within sight of a shed. On this spot where the idea was conceived, the practical development has today reached great proportion. We are happy for we have overcome difficulty and gained strength from a hardship.

The RIECK GOAT COAT made of specially selected 14 oz., double filled duck, specially processed by ourselves may be purchased with 65 per cent of the proceeds of one shearing and will coat the goat for life—used thirty days after Spring Shearing. We can assure deliveries only on orders that are placed early. Write today for [illegible]

Mrs. Bailey is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bill Stokes.

On January 22, Mrs. Lee Fries died at their home in Medina. Mrs. Fries was a dear christian woman and was loved by all who knew her. She was a kind mother and friend. She leaves a husband and four children, Lee Fries, Florence, Ralph, Margaret and Armintie. The funeral services were held at the home at 4 p.m. Saturday by Rev. W. H. Price. Quite a number of relatives and friends were present. We extend sympathy to these dear friends.

Henry Lane Shot.

Henry Lane, who lives on Privilege Creek, was accidently shot through the leg and hand yesterday morning, with a rifle. Mr. Lane had secured the gun and started out to shoot a hawk, when he slipped and fell on the door step, the weapon being discharged and the ball taking effect as above stated. Dr Butler was called to attend Mr. Lane and found him seriously injured, and at once sent him to a hospital in San Antonio for treatment. Besides the injury to his hand and knee, his forearm was also struck by the bullet.

Mrs. W. W. Barnes Dead.

Mrs. W. W. Barnes died yesterday afternoon at her home in Utopia, after a short illness. She was the mother of Mrs. Al Masters of Utopia, and was well known to many of our people, having resided at Medina several years. Mrs. Barnes was about sixty-five years of age, and is survived by her husband, W. W. Barnes, and three children, Mrs. Al Masters of Utopia, and Owen and Keen Barnes of Port Arthur. Funeral will be held today at Utopia. The New Era extends condolence and sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. Clinton Risinger and baby arrived Sunday from Bisbee, Arizona, on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevens.

Mrs. Alice Fuller Dead.

Mrs. Alice Fuller, aged about 52 years, died at the home of her son, Mr. Alta Fuller, in San Antonio, at 6 o'clock Monday afternoon, after an illness covering several weeks. Mrs. Fuller was for many years a teacher in the Crockett school at Tuff, and was a sister to Carl F. Wheeler, the principal of Crockett school.

In December she went to San Antonio for treatment, and seemed to improve for awhile, but her condition finally grew worse and she passed away Monday. Her death was caused widespread sadness and regret among those who knew her best, for she will be missed in the school room and in the community life of our county. Burial took place at Sayers, near San Antonio yesterday.

The San Antonio Evening News on Tuesday contained the following notice of Mrs. Fuller's death:

"Dead, on Monday, January 25, 1926, Mrs. Laura Alice Fuller, beloved mother of Alta Travis Fuller, in her 53rd year, at the residence of her son, Alta Travis Fuller, at South San Antonio. She is also survived by three brothers, J. R. Wheeler of Taylor, Texas; C. B. Wheeler and A. R. Wheeler, both of Texas; also three grandchildren. Relatives and friends are invited to attend the funeral services, which will be held from the reorganized Church of Jesus Christ Latter Day Saints, at 1307 South Flores Street, on Wednesday, January 27, 1926, at 10 o'clock a. m. The remains will be taken to the church at 8 o'clock a. m. Wednesday, and be in state for two hours. Rev. A. J. Jett Sr. will officiate. Interment will be in the Sayers Cemetery at Sayers settlement, under the direction of Ludwig Undertaking Company."

Father Died.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter E. Rugg left last Thursday for Port Smith, Arkansas, to attend the funeral of Mr. Rugg's father, R. Rugg, who died Thursday. We regret to chronicle the death of this good man, who was known to quite a number of our people, he having spent several weeks here last summer. He was a gentle, kindly old man, with a cheerful greeting and pleasant word for everybody. He had been in failing health for a number of years. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Mrs. Lee Fries.

On Friday morning, January 22, 1926, at about 12 o'clock, solemn hush fell upon the home of W. L. Fries of Medina, when death came quietly and peacefully to the beloved wife and mother in that happy home. Mrs. Fries had been sick only a few days with influenza, and was not known to be seriously ill until just a short time before Death gathered her in close embrace, and without a struggle her pure spirit passed to the world above where all is sunshine and joy.

Sophronia Emily Richards was born January 11, 1885, on the McClure ranch near Nixon, in Gonzales county. She grew to womanhood in that section, and on May 27, 1902, she was happily married to W. L. Fries on Wiman's Creek in Bandera county, and made her home in this county since. Seven bright children came to bless the home, three lovely daughters and one manly son, Florence, Margaret, Armentie and Ralph, with the bereft husband, survive to mourn the departure of a kind, loving wife and mother. Surviving also are three brothers and two sisters, several of whom she raised from early childhood, namely, Dick Richards, Gentry Richards of Medina, Roy E. Richards of Pittsburg, and Misses Cornelia and Thena Richards of Leakey.

Mrs. Fries was a good woman, beloved by everyone who knew her. Her life in the home was her pride and her delight and she lived happy and contented, surrounded by her children and her orphan sisters and brothers. She never lost her cheerful spirit, for her daily life was a mission of love and service, her ready feet and willing hands never tired of ministering to those whose welfare depended upon her ability to do so. The neighbors and friends was an inspiration to the many who knew her and loved her. She accepted the Baptist faith while young, and remained strong in that church unto the end.

This noble and gracious wife and mother was tenderly laid to rest in the Medina cemetery on last Saturday, Rev. W. H. Price conducting the funeral. In his discourse Rev. Price gave a touching and tender eulogy of the dead that awoke a deeply responsive sentiment in the hearts of the listeners, for there were many to deplore the irreparable loss occasioned by her death.

To the grief-stricken husband and sorrowing children, who we know will miss the sweet presence of the departed wife and mother, the New Era offers condolence and sympathy.

John P. Head who has been visiting his cousin, Col. John A. Head, and wife of this city the past ten days, left this morning for his home in Hotchkiss, Kansas. He was delighted with his visit here and made a host of friends during his stay who hope he will Hogs Stolen.

Years ago Bandera county was noted for it's adept hog lifters, fellows who could yank a hog off the range right under the eyes of the owner without getting caught. As the country settled up and became more civilized these hog artists began to drift out and the practice of dealing in the other fellow's hogs ceased. Of course a few were caught and convicted, but most of them left the country. Now it seems that some of them have returned, judging from the "haul" that was made near Medina last Saturday night. Clint Chenault, who is putting in a good farm proposition on the old Obieske place, had several fine hogs which he placed on his farm for breeding purposes. These hogs weighed around three hundred pounds each. Last Saturday night four of the big hogs were driven to a point near the Freeman Crossing and slaughtered by someone, whose identity at this writing is unknown, but suspected. The authorities are not interfere with the theft of the hogs in any manner. Officers are at work on the case, and it is hoped that the guilty parties will be brought to justice.

Dropped Dead in Uvalde.

A. M. Christian, formerly a resident of the Medina community, but who has been living at Uvalde the past year, dropped dead in that city Tuesday morning. The remains were conveyed to Medina for burial, the funeral to be conducted by the Masonic fraternity. Deceased was aged about sixty years, and was a highly respected, upright man. His wife died at Medina several years ago.

Shipping Chickens to South America.

M. R. Thalmann of Bandera and Ed Houston of Boerne, have established a line of trade with South American poultry buyers, and during the past month they have made several shipments of Barred Rocks, Rhode Island Reds, Black Minorcas, and other standard bred chickens. It seems that poultry breeders in South America are awakening to the need of good North American stock, and Messrs. Thalmann and Houston anticipate a good trade in pure-bred fowls.

TUFF TOPICS.

Carl F. Wheeler, and brother, Dell, were called to the bedside of their sister, Mrs. Alice Fuller at San Antonio a few days ago.

Mrs. Fuller died Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dock Evans visited Mrs. Evans' sister, Mrs. George Allsup last week.

Contract Awarded.

Contract for the erection of the Bandera County Soldier Boy's Monument was awarded to R. E. Warren of San Antonio, who was the lowest bidder, his bid being $315. The monument is to be of gray L'ano granite, and is to be about eight feet high, including the base. Nine firms submitted bids for the erection of the monument.

We congratulate the monument committee on securing such a satisfactory bid, and we are sure each member of the committee is rejoicing that the erection of the monument will soon be under way.

The names of all who have contributed to the monument fund will be published in the New Era within a short time. If there is a surplus above the amount necessary to pay for the monument it will be used for constructing an iron fence around the monument. Heavy Snowfall.

The heaviest snowfall witnessed in many years visited Bandera county last Friday night, Saturday and Saturday night, the snow covering the ground to a depth of ten inches. This is the second snowfall that has occured here within the past month, and it will be of untold benefit to the range and small grain crops, as well as insuring a fine winter season in the ground.

Resolutions of Respect.

Whereas the Almighty Creator, in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to remove from our midst, Herald Mrs. Sophronia Fries; Be it resolved, That the Liberty Assurance Society has lost a valuable and faithful member; that the family has lost a loving wife and mother. And that we commend her life and virtue to all Heralds for emulation;

That we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family in this their hour of trial. May God bless them and point them to that Great Realm where there is no affliction and Christ himself doth rule.

The Bandera New Era
$1.50 Per Year, in Advance
J. M. Hunter, Editor.
Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

Captain D. K. Taylor, who is connected with the State Fish and Game department, and who was here last Friday is preparing to issue a book dealing with his experiences on the Texas border, covering a period of more than fifty years. J. M. Hunter is writing the book under his direction, and it will be issued within the next few months. Captain Taylor has a very interesting history. For many years he was in the ranger service on the frontier, and fought Indians and outlaws to a fare-you-well. He has served as a peace officer in many ways, and his story will be told in detail in the book that is soon to be published.

We'll honor the boys who died for us in the World War. We are going to erect a monument on the court house square—a granite monument that for ages will proclaim to oncoming generations that we of this day did not forget the supreme sacrifice these heroic boys made for us. Have you contributed to the monument fund? Your donation is needed.

We are all rejoicing over the fine season in the ground at this time, for it means that old Bandera county will produce splendid crops this year. The 10-inch snow last Saturday was equivalent to a three-inch rain and every drop of it soaked into the ground.

Over at Kerrville B. L. Wiedenfeld maintains a chick hatchery. Now this is an industry which the Hill Country should appreciate, for it encourages the poultry production throughout this region, and helps to improve the breed of poultry. It is just as easy and costs no more to raise pure-bred chickens as it does to raise scrub chickens. Mr. Wiedenfeld should do a thriving business through out this section. See the ad of the Kerrville Chick Hatchery in another column.

Better roads are coming. Gradually the roads of our county are being improved, and before long old Bandera county will have thoroughfares equal to any county in the state. If you doubt this statement, just look back about five years and compare the roads of this county with what we have today. Still there is lots of room for improvement, and it is going to be made. Just keep agitating.

Sometimes we get discouraged and feel that there is no use clamoring for better things for this county, especially when there seems so little interest taken in the things that are needed most. Then on the other hand, when we consider that the biggest things that are accomplished are not done in a day, but that it takes time for people to become educated to these needs, we just roll up our sleeves and take a fresh start. If we lay down, and you lay down, on the job, nothing will ever be accomplished. Your work and my work today may not bring reward to us—but our children and their children will profit by our labors, so let's keep everlastingly at it.

Frontier Times is published monthly in Bandera. $1.50 per year.

Test Your Lights.

Unless motorists proceed immediately to the headlight test stations and to the tax collector's office to attend to their 1926 registrations, there will inevitably occur the greatest last minute rush and jam which has ever been experienced at registration time in Texas. Registration is being delayed to the point where motorists will cause themselves great inconvenience in waiting in the long lines at the test stations and the tax collector's offices.

January 31st is the last day for payment of registration fees during the regular registration period, and after that date delinquent registrants will be required to pay a penalty of 25 per cent of the total fee.

Motorists can help the test stations and tax collectors tremendously, and save time and inconvenience to themselves, if they will proceed immediately to the test stations and then to the tax collectors for registration.

Now that it is an assured fact that the handsome monument is to be placed on the court house square in Bandera as a memorial to the Bandera county boys who lost their lives in the World War, let us begin to lay plans to beautify the court house square.

The sixth Annual Bandera County Fair to be held August 19, 20, and 21, promises to be the best fair ever held in Bandera. Already steps are being taken to make it a big event. Farmers and stockmen are urged to begin now to prepare for their exhibits of farm products and livestock. In the ladies' department it is expected that wonderful displays of fancy work will be shown, and looking to this end, Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, the lady manager, has aroused considerable interest among the young ladies of the county who have organized sewing clubs and are getting ready to make articles for exhibition. M. R. Thalmann, secretary of the fair, is securing advertising matter for the catalogue, which will be issued about the first of April.

The year 1925 will go down in history as about the hardest year Bandera county passed through, from the stand point of crop production. Very little produce was raised on account of drouthy conditions which prevailed through the spring and summer. Notwithstanding all this, there was some stuff raised, and our sheep and goats yielded revenue which has kept the county's finances in stable condition. It is certainly a great blessing to live in a county that possesses resources that will sustain it when crops fail.

It is a bit early to begin to talk about the reunion of the Old Settlers of Bandera county, which is to be held at Bandera July 2nd and 3rd this year, but nevertheless the old timers are beginning to look forward to the big gathering. The reunion is usually held on July 4th, but this year the 4th of July falls on Sunday, so the big day will be on July 3rd. Among the contests that will be arranged for the reunion this year will be a "hog calling contest" for the men, and a "cow calling contest" for the women. And there are many of our old timers who can call hogs. Pomp Freeman, who was here from Mountain Home the other day, says he will be in that contest, and just knows he can beat Bill Haught or Ed Mansfield when it comes to persuading the hogs to come to the pen.

Miss Aimee Phillips Married.

Miss Aimee Phillips, who is favorably known to many of our people, having spent several months here with her aunt, Mrs. John Mansfield, was married in San Antonio, January 16th, to Mr. Virgil Merrill of Kerrville. In reporting the wedding the Kerrville Mountain Sun says: "A wedding that was a surprise to their many friends occurred last Saturday afternoon in San Antonio when Miss Aimee Phillips and Virgil Merrill were quietly married at that place. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Phillips of Little Rock, Ark., but for the past two years has made her home in Kerrville, during which time she has been employed as secretary to the president of Schriener Institute. By her sweet disposition and her quiet, genteel manner she has won a host of friends who wish her happiness. The groom is a native of Fayetteville, Tenn., but has been in Kerrville for some time and is employed as superintendent of the ice plant at Legion. He is the nephew of Mrs. J. H. Wright of this city. The young people will make their home in Kerrville, at present they are occupying an apartment at 502 Main Street.

RIECK GOAT COAT

The Proof of The Pudding.

The widespread acceptance of the Goat Coat is proof that ranchmen are quick to see the advantage of improvement and eager to apply scientific methods to protect and extend their capital. The Goat Coat is simply the new application of a principal as old as Nature itself. Of course there are some men who will never use Goat Coats—for everyone does not possess qualities of judgment, decision, and courage that must guide sensible investment.

The RIECK GOAT COAT made of especially selected 11 oz., double filled duck, specially processed by ourselves may be purchased with 65 per cent of the proceeds of one shearing and will coat the goat for life—used thirty days after Spring Shearing.

Why Send Your Money Away from Home?

"Think Before You Act"

Every dollar you spend in Bandera County stays and works right here. Doubtless you have heard the story of how a dollar paid out as a joke in settlement by a man in a community group of people, and passed on by the man who got it to someone he owed it to, found its way back to the original owner after having paid twenty-two dollars' worth of debts in less than twenty minutes.

That's the way the dollar works if kept in Bandera County—everyone here is helped and profits by it. Why send it where it won't come back? Then, too, the Bandera merchant is also your neighbor, and it is in his interest to treat you as a neighbor as well as a customer.

You are bound up with him in the same "Bundle of Life" right here in Bandera County, and both your future and his depend upon the city making progress, as well as upon the individual prosperity of every person in it.

Study this out and you will realize that in the measure in which you support Bandera merchants and industries, you inevitably do your part towards making Bandera County a better place in which to live, with better schools, churches, civic buildings and modern up-to-date improvements.

You can buy the Nationally advertised products which the biggest stores in our biggest cities carry, right here in Bandera, and if you but give your merchants a chance to get bigger volume and quicker turnover dealing with them, you will have no cause to complain about prices.

Deal with the men who are an essential part of the business and social and religious and political life of our city—who stand behind the goods they sell—goods right there before your eyes—with satisfaction or money back as their slogan, and hundreds of satisfied customers their best advertisement.

Keep away from the glamour (unreal at that) of faraway fields. Let what is printed here "soak in" and you'll never mail a dollar out of Bandera County.

Married Sunday.

Miss Lucile Gilbert, a popular Medina girl, was united in marriage to Mr. C. H. Muehl in San Antonio last Sunday, the ceremony taking place at St. John's Lutheran church in that city. Many friends and relatives of the bride and groom were present. After the ceremony the newly married couple and a number of friends enjoyed a wedding feast at the home of the groom's brother.

The report of the wedding which came to the New Era was rather brief and did not give full particulars. We join in extending congratulations and best wishes for a long and happy life for the worthy pair.

Farmers to Receive Seed.

Congressman Claud B. Hudspeth writes the New Era that he has asked the Chief of the Bureau of Plant Industry to send some seed to farmers each a package of Chiltex sorghum seed for experimantal purpose. He also says he is going to have a five-pound package of the best Kansas grown alfalfa seed sent to the editor. Now,right now , we want somebody to agree to take the alfalfa seed off our hands when the package arrives and plant it. All this editor knows about farming could be told in just one sentence of three words: "He knows nothing." We appreciate Congressman Hudspeth's kindness just the same, and will see that the alfalfa is planted.

Mrs. Richard Schladoer has been quite ill the past few days

Mrs. Josephine Moffett.

Mrs. Josephine Moffett, aged 66 years, died last Friday evening at 8:00 o'clock, at the home of her son, J. M. Moffett, at Medina, after a protracted illness. Surviving her are seven children and her aged father, W. D. (Seco) Smith of Medina, the children being Mrs. Fannie Benton of Arizona, Marion Moffett of Medina, Mrs. Hattie Buckelew of Hatch, New Mexico, Dick Moffett of Arizona, Mrs. Sallie Jackson of Lima, Enoch Moffett of Medina, and Mrs. Alice Miller of Orth, Texas. She is also survived by seven sisters and seven brothers, who reside in various parts of the state. Twenty-nine grandchildren and one great grandchild are also surviving.

On January 9, 1880 she was married to Frank Moffett, the husband preceding her to the grave. She has resided in this county nearly all of her life, and was well known to all of the old settlers of the county.

Mrs. Moffett was a kind and affectionate wife and mother, and was beloved by all who knew her. In her father's family there were fifteen children, and of the number Mrs. Moffett, at the age of 66 years, is the first one to be called by death. Thirty-five years ago she joined the Baptist church and was a faithful, consistent member until her death.

Funeral services were conducted at the Goodman cemetery at Medina Saturday afternoon by Rev. W. H. Price, in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives. The New Era extends condolence and sympathy to the bereaved ones.

Mrs. H. L. Porter.

After a critical illness of over a month, Mrs. H. L. Porter died at her home in Medina yesterday morning at 4 o'clock. When the news was sent broadcast over the county that this good woman had passed away it cast a pall of gloom and sorrow throughout the land, for she was known and loved by everyone.

Hallie Keese Porter was born June 6, 1894, at Medina, Texas. On August 17, 1919, she was happily married to H. L. Porter, and to this union was born three children, one girl and two boys, the eldest of whom is now five years old and the youngest a babe only two months old. Several weeks she was stricken with illness, later developing pneumonia, and still later she suffered an attack of appendicitis. Her condition was so weakened from previous illness that an operation could not be performed, and she lingered until yesterday morning when she peacefully passed away. All that medical skill could suggest, and all that tender nursing and care could do was done, but the Grim Reaper had laid an icy hand upon her and she was taken, leaving behind a grief-stricken husband and three motherless little children, parents, brothers and sisters to mourn the departure of a true wife, an affectionate mother, a dutiful and obedient daughter, a kind and loyal friend.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Keese of Medina, who survive her. Also surviving are two sisters and three brothers, as follows: Misses Lela and Annie Keese of Medina, Orville and Alfred Keese of Juno, and Jesse Keese of Medina.

Mrs. Porter was a member of Another Old Pistol.

Captain D. K. Taylor came over from Austin Sunday en his way to LaPryor, and brought with him an old "hoss" pistol which he presented to the New Era editor as a relic of olden times. The old pistol is of the dueling type used about a hundred years ago. It is of the cap and ball variety, of large calibre, and is in excellent condition. We highly prize this addition to our collection of old relics, and appreciate the weapon as a gift from the genial Captain.

The Little Old Home Paper from Bandera announces a very interesting and enthusiastic meeting of the directors of the Bandera County Fair Association. Plans are being made for the one of the best fairs ever held in Bandera county, according to the New Era, and exhibitors are urged to plant their stuff for exhibition. The fair is to be held some time in August,and the catalogue is promised soon time in May.—Kerrville Hill View Times.

Old Settler's Committee to Meet.

A meeting of the executive committee of the Bandera County Old Settler's Association is called for Saturday, February 20, at 2 p. m, at the New Era office, to make plans for holding the next reunion of the old settlers. Each member of the committee is requested to be present. 50c.

the Missionary Baptist church at Medina, and her funeral was conducted by Rev. W. H. Price, interment being made in the West Prong Cemetery yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The New Era extends condolence and sympathy to the bereaved family in this hour of great sorrow.

Infant Died.

John Montague, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Montague, died in San Antonio yesterday morning at 8:30 o'clock and the little body was brought to Bandera for burial in the Catholic cemetery yesterday afternoon, Rev. P. J. Boivin conducting the funeral.

John Montague was born October 19, 1925, and was therefore three months and fifteen days old. Just a tender flower which budded on earth to blossom in Heaven. A little child given to fond parents, and then taken away. The little one had been sick for several weeks, and a short time ago was taken to a specialist in San Antonio for treatment, but without avail. The New Era, sympathizes with the bereft parents in this hour of their consuming grief.

Old Folks Dance.

There will be an Old Folk's Dance at Cox Hall on Monday night, February 15th. Music by three-piece band. Admission 50c. Come and enjoy yourself.

A Pioneer Passes.

Mrs. Joe Kalka, aged 86 years, died last Thursday at the home of her son, Lawrence Kalka, near Bandera, after an illness covering a period of several years. Grandma Kafka was a pioneer resident of this place, having come here with the Polish colonists in 1855, and had lived here continously since. Her husband died twenty-one years ago. Surviving are her five children, Mrs Theodore Mazurek of Amarillo, Alex Kalka, Cenas Kalka, Lawrence Kalka and Mrs. John Dugosh; all of Bandera, besides 29 grandchildren and 141 great grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Father Boivin on Friday, and interment was made in the Catholic cemetery in Bandera.

The New Era chronicles the passing of our old pioneers with a feeling of sadness. We are not unmindful of the fact that the men and women who came to this section when it was a wilderness and built here the solid structure for the foundation of our present glorious civilization, suffered privations and hardships and braved dangers that we are not subject to, in other words they made this country safe for the present generation. And to these old pioneers we should give all honor and praise. They are now passing away very fast, and in a few more years they will all be gone, and the world will never see their like again.

Jess Causey Dead.

Word was received here of the death of Jess Causey, which occurred last Saturday at Uvalde following an attack of pneumonia. Mr. Causey was about forty years old and was a brother to Bud Causey, who lives on Mason Creek. He lived in Bandera county during his boyhood days and left here about ten years ago, going to Uvalde, where he resided since. He leaves a wife and seven children. Bud Causey received the news of his brother's death and left immediately for Uvalde to attend the funeral.

The New Era extends sympathy to the bereaved family.

Poll Tax Payments.

Report from the collector's office shows that 1290 poll taxes were paid in Bandera county, up to February1st, as against 1200 paid to same tate last year. We did not learn the number of exemptions allowed. This is campaign year, but there will be some who cannot vote because they did not pay their poll tax; they are mighty few, however.
