THE GRANITE REGION OF TEXAS

(P. J. R. Buchanan in Texas Weekly.)

An interesting part of Texas is that which is called by geologists the Central Mineral region, which is more generally known as the hill or granite country, lying east and north of San Antonio, and comprising some dozen or more counties, including Llano, Burnet, Gillespie, Mason, Blanco, Hamilton and others. A beautiful land it is, of summer resorts of many streams, rocky and mountains, with no towns larger than five or six thousand people. Here much of the country, though nowhere more than a couple of hours' drive from San Antonio, is much as the Indians left it, and one may gaze for long miles over an endless stretch of hills and broken terrain covered with post oak, mesquite, and cedar. A great hunting and fishing country this, where Texas rimrods come in quest of deer and wild turkeys, while in the lakes and streams are catfish, bass and perch. Many fur-bearing animals such as raccoon, opossum, muskrat, and others, are found here and trapping is an important industry. Here too, is the queer, armor-plated armadillo, whose shells, fashioned into baskets and lamp-shades, may be found in gift shops all over the country.

This was great Indian country hardly more than sixty years ago, and old-timers tell blood-curdling tales of redskin fights and forays when every moonlight night would bring danger of an Indian raid. I met a resident of the hill country who had been carried off by the Indians in his boyhood days and who lived with the tribe for some years, first with the Apaches and later with the Comanches. His old home is now a flourishing ranch and he has had a Mexican wife, where he was living at the time of my visit. Many relics of bygone days are here in the form of Indian battlegrounds and the remains of old forts and stage-coach stations. In Burnet county is Longhorn Cavern, the largest cave in Texas, and here, too, is Packsaddle Mountain, which figures prominently in pioneer history. In Llano county is Baby Head, so called because after an Indian raid the settlers found a child's head impaled upon a broken arrow. Much of the region was first settled by descendants of the Adelsverein, a German colonizing society, who came here about 1846 and whose descendants now form a large part of the population. Many of the towns founded by German settlers in Fredericksburg, made up of a single street 100 feet wide and paved with red granite from Bear Mountain, four miles from the town. Much German is still spoken here, German names are on the sign boards, and many of the original homesteads of nearly a century ago are still occupied by the same families. Fredericksburg was for long the largest unincorporated town in Texas; it also had no railroad, two distinctions that it no longer possesses. "Sunday houses" are a feature of the town. These houses having been built and occupied by farmers in outlying sections in order that they might have a place to stay when they come to church on Sundays, or which might be occupied during the week when the family came to town. In latter years the farmer might move to town permanently, having a home ready for occupancy.

Another feature which will probably impress itself upon the visitor to the granite region is that he is likely to get the best food to be found anywhere in Texas. Many of the hotels are of the old-fashioned type, where the guests are fed "family style" at one or two large tables, a half dozen waiters being kept busy handing out the food, which is as bountiful as it is bounteous with every kind and variety of vegetable and every the former county, but are not now being worked.

The only important production of a mineral nature in the region at present is that of granite, marble and limestone, which are developed most extensively in Burnet and Llano counties. We may see some of these building stones at the Centennial Exposition in Dallas, where the Hall of State and the buildings of the Natural Center are of creamy limestone, the interior being of shell limestone with the imprint of shells scattered thickly through it. At the Exposition, too, we may see a comprehensive exhibit of marble found in Texas, most of it coming from this same granite region. Of great variety in texture and color are these specimens of marble. It is to be regretted that no greater use is made of this beautiful and abundant building material. The Texas Planning Board is giving constant attention to attempting to arouse some widespread interest in this resource of the Lone Star State, and it may be said that their efforts in this connection are certainly worthwhile.

No kind or variety of these various building stones is as yet developed as it should be, but from Llano and Burnet counties much granite is being shipped, it is from here that most of the State's granite curbing comes. The present output of granite are estimated at 150,000 to 200,000 tons annually and is mainly the pink stone, varying through red, yellow, gray and black granite, with some opalescence. It is also quarried. The grain is likely to vary, but most of it excellent for building purposes, while the finer grades are suitable for statuary and fine memorial work. From Granite Mountain, near Marble Falls, in Burnet county, comes the pink granite which was used in the construction of the State capitol at Austin and in the walls at Galveston, as well as in various courthouses and other public buildings throughout the State. The facilities for handling the Burnet county granite are fairly good, spur tracks running into many of the quarries, and at Marble Falls, near by, for shaping the blocks. It is said that a former owner established Granite Mountain for a gold prize, worth at most perhaps fifty dollars.

Another great mass of pink granite, probably better known to the majority of Texans, is the Enchanted Rock, near the village of Llano county line, 20 miles from the town of Llano and 25 miles from Fredericksburg. It is a great, rounded dome of rock, bare of vegetation and looking much like a gigantic inverted bowl. It is a popular as a tourist and picnic resort, many people climbing its sides to admire the view from the top. In area it covers 640 acres, covering a square mile — and it contains an immense amount of building material, but it has never been developed because it is far from the railroad and other deposits of good stone are more accessible. It is the subject of many legends, most of which are open to doubt. Among other things it is said that strange lights and sounds emanate from the Enchanted Rock at certain times.

The most of the granite coming from Llano county is gray, although there is an abundance of pink and red stone. The town of Llano, the county seat, is on the north bank of the Llano river, the only line of railroad in the county. The majority of the granite quarries are on the south side of the river, and it is no small task to take out large blocks of stone and move them to the river for shipment. Granite is a heavy stuff, a cubic yard of it weighing more than a ton, and blocks weighing 20,000 tons or more have been quarried. Sometimes it has been necessary to use logs to skid the blocks of granite across the river to the railroad for shipment. From Llano county came the stone from which was sculptured the well-known equestrian statue of Sam Houston, which stands in the city of Houston. Mason county has much fine gray granite, but here lack of transportation is also a drawback, there being no railroad whatever in the county.

There is much talk and discussion regarding our undeveloped resources in Texas, and it would seem that here in the granite region is a product—building stone — which is ready and available for a much greater development. There is an unlimited amount of granite, marble and limestone ready to be quarried and easy of access but for the one item of railroads. And these would no doubt be quickly available if there was a larger and more dependable market for the stone. At the present time many of the quarries are operating intermittently to fit the spasmodic and fluctuating nature of the demand. It would seem that a much wider market could be found for the stone, as there are plenty of examples to prove the quality of the granite and other building stone found in this section.

Texas has no need to be told of the charm and beauty of the hill or granite country, which is so near to San Antonio, but which, at the same time, seems remote in its quiet retreats and peaceful valleys. Railroads are few and many of the counties are as Mason, Blanco, Bandera, Kimble and, further to the westward, Real and Edwards, have no railroad whatever, and others have only a few miles of tracks. But the roads are good, these granite formations naturally being the best road material, and one may ramble for days, sometimes perhaps following an unknown road just to see where it will lead. There are hotels in most of these small towns, and even as quite pretentious old hostelry will provide a pleasant surprise in the form of food and accommodations. One may travel from San Antonio to the west into the granite country or west and south toward old Bandera, along to Hondo and Castroville, President Garner's home) and go through Uvalde, spring-fed Frio and Blanco rivers, where the water forms clear, deep pools, and the beautiful limestone ledges, in some places forming cavernous hollows beneath the rocks, and even as you savor somewhat of exploring in a rough, sparsely populated country with its wonders and beauties, filling stations are fairly plentiful and there is little chance of running out of gasoline if ordinary precautions are used. It is a huge one 'a mind may not all the time be on building stone, but whatever his interests may be the traveler will find many things to interest and delight and heighten his eye while travelling over this granite region.

The Teacher Retirement Amendment—Better Schools for the Money

On November 3 the people of Texas will vote upon a constitutional amendment to permit the legislature to enact a teacher retirement law. This is one of the most progressive movements that has been made in our state in recent years. Briefly, this amendment provides that each teacher coming into the profession will deposit with the state monthly small part of his salary, not to exceed five per cent, and in no case to exceed $180.00 yearly. The state will match this deposit and both sums will earn compound interest on investments. Prior to retirement age a teacher must have taught at least 20 years in the schools of Texas before he is entitled to retirement annuities. This does not mean that teachers are retired after 20 years of teaching service. If a teacher withdraws before he has taught the required 20 years in Texas, he will receive back his own contributions with the compound interest that has accrued, but he will not draw anything from the state. Also, that the teacher retirement is a business arrangement between the teacher and the state in which both contribute to the fund and from which both profit. Teachers working after this plan will not be eligible for old-age pensions.

It is believed that the people of Texas will endorse this amendment by a heavy majority for the following reasons.

First, a sound teacher retirement system protects school children from teachers rendered incompetent by advanced age. Such teachers will be willing to retire if they can see where they will be day's living is coming from. This is why school boards from time to time the obligation of ordering the employ teachers formerly satisfactory, but whose hearts are hurting. They hesitate to tell the old teacher who has no other means of support.

Second, a sound teacher retirement law tends to attract people into the profession because it gives a better guarantee of permanency, tenure in service, and provision for retirement. It increases the dignity of the teaching profession.

Third, a sound teacher retirement system tends to keep many capable teachers in the classroom because it is unnecessary for them to seek employment financially more attractive. Many of our best teachers leave the profession for these better salaries in other lines, thereby robbing the children in the hands of the less efficient teachers.

Fourth, a sound teacher retirement system increases the efficiency of the teacher in the classroom for the following reasons. It lengthens the period of teaching efficiency by relieving the teachers' mind of the fear of a destitute old age; it improves the morale of the teaching force by keeping open the paths of promotion; and it increases the child's regard for the teacher and thereby makes his work more effective.

Another most important reason for favoring this plan is that in the long run a sound teacher retirement system means a substantial saving to the taxpayers because it makes possible the replacement of superannuated teachers, who receive the maximum salaries, by younger teachers who begin at a smaller salary; it protects the public from the waste of an expensive school plant manned by a worn-out teaching staff; and it is cheaper than a pension system. The compound interest feature, and the withdrawal privilege, makes it better for the teacher and less expensive for the state. In fact, it is believed that when better informed on the subject that within a few years the state will contribute little or no contribution to the retirement fund because a revolving fund will accrue due to withdrawals. And since teachers under this system will not draw old-age pensions, the state should effect a substantial saving. But, best of all, the children will benefit because of the retirement of the incompetent and the employment of more active teachers. A vote for the amendment is a vote for better schools for the money expended. * * *

Bandera Defeated by Hunt, 13-0

A very interesting football game of this season for Bandera High was played last Friday afternoon, October 16, at Hunt. The final score was 13 to 0 in favor of Hunt who played a splendid game of football. The boys who played during the game on both teams were as follows: For Hunt: Captain J. Beaver, J. Colbeth, S. Mills, W. Ruse, R. Hunt, J. Alexander, D. Mayhew, C. Merritt, W. Crowder, I. Baldwin, C. Young, A. Mullins, J. Hunt, J. Hinchman, J. Locke and L. Mullins. For Bandera: Captains C. Lemke and D. Bond, R. Bond, I. Hillings, D. Callahan, V. Anderson, A. Hodges, F. Anderwald, E. Maurer, F. Maas, C. Ross, J. Langford, B. Boyle, C. Price and R. Kieser. The game was played at Camp Stewart about two miles from the Hunt public school. Although our boys were not victorious, a great deal of credit must be given them for "their" splendid playing. We sincerely hope that the next game will end in our favor.

Ag. Class Views Dipping of Sheep

Last Wednesday the members of the Vocational Agriculture Class of Bandera High School gained some experience in the dipping of sheep and goats for stomach worms.

Copper sulphate and Black Leaf Forty was used in the solution prepared by Mr. J. M. Teppin's sheep under the direction of Mr. W. P. Grisham, Ag. teacher, and Dick Hutchinson, county agent. The demonstration was followed by lectures on how to drench sheep.

The pupils of the General Science Class were so enthusiastic in their collection, and caught so many creatures that it became a problem to keep the captives. Our science laboratory

Mr. Estes Hayes was lucky, or was it unlucky anyway, he won the candy and he is reported as still ailing.

Ag. Class Views Dissection of Sheep

Members of the Bandera High School Vocational Agriculture Class gained some first hand information concerning the ravages of the stomach worm in sheep flocks when they witnessed an impressive demonstration given as a class project.

Two badly infested with stomach worms were dissected under the supervision of Mr. W. P. Grisham, vocational agriculture instructor. The stomach worm and intestinal worms were found in abundance when the animal was dissected and the blood was found to be almost colorless.

The demonstration was followed by lectures on methods of treating and eliminating stomach worms in sheep and goats.

TOWNSEND AND LEMKE ADDRESS RALLY IN S. A.

Dr. Francis E. Townsend, father of the Townsend pension plan, and Representative William Lemke, the Union party candidate for the presidency, left San Antonio Friday for another Texas speaking date, predicting Lemke's election in November.

Approximately 2,200 people went to the Brackenridge High school auditorium to hear the former Republican medico explain his plan to pay all citizens over 60 years of age $200 per month.

There were a number of aged people in the audience, and they received the most enthusiastic in their demonstrations for Dr. Townsend.

Schreiner Sells Last of Wool and Mohair

Kerrville, Oct. 23.—Schreiner Wool and Mohair Commission Co. Friday morning announced the sale of 300,000 pounds, of fall wool and 100,000 pounds of fall mohair. The sales cleaned out the company's fall accumulations of both items.

Dewitt E. Hughes, representative of Studley and Emory, Boston, Mass., purchased both lots. The wool brought 25 cents to 28 cents a pound, excessive prices obtained for the first 300,000 sold this season by the Schreiner warehouse company.

SENATE ACCEPTS HOUSE CHANGE IN STATE AAA

Austin, Oct. 27.—By a vote of 17 to 5 the Senate Friday concurred in House amendments to the Senate bill providing for Texas participation in the A.A.A program of the Federal government, inaugurating the Texas A. & M. College extension service as the co-operating and administrative service.

There was a long debate in opposition to adopting the resolution but it melted and was overpowered by a demand that the Lone Star State thus will participate in the Federal farm aid program.

Tom Linebery, Jr., of Dalas objected to what they said was the policy of giving the United States department of agriculture control of agriculture in Texas, and argued that the resolution should be changed to state the parts objectionable in them.

E. M. Davis, who made the motion to concur, said it is merely a question of getting the Federal farming funds in the manner prescribed in the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture. Also that with the A. & M. College extension service as the Texas cooperative administrative agency, the State need have no fear of surrendering control of farming to anyone. Also that Texas must be taken immediately to insure completion of the program of the Federal legislature.

Delberry's motion to table Davis' motion to concur lost, 7 to 18.

TEXAS CAR CRASHES LESS THAN YEAR AGO

Austin, Oct. 27.—Motor vehicle traffic fatalities slanted sharply downward for September as the department of public safety reported. This was in keeping with the general reduction begun in January.

Deaths the month of 1935 recorded 178 traffic deaths, the corresponding month of this year showed a 24 fatalities or 34 less than the preceding September.

Striking pedestrians by motor vehicle ranged second to the leading load the list in an analysis of the September fatalities, while the angle, head-on, sideswiping, blowouts and rear-end crashes follow.

STATE TO HONOR WILL ROGERS ON NOVEMBER 4th

Austin, Oct. 23.—Gov. James V. Allred today proclaimed Wednesday as Will Rogers Day, in memory of the 57th anniversary of the humorist's birthday.

Allred suggested that schools and civic clubs hold programs in memory of Will Rogers, and urged Texans to observe the day "by reflecting upon the fine noble character of Will Rogers, the kind of citizen that he was. The outstanding good he accomplished."

He cited a nation-wide broadcast, with Eddie Cantor as speaker, and a special observance at the Texas centennial exposition.

Rogers was especially endeared to Texas, in which he once lived and in which he made his home. He no doubt esteemed next to his native soil adopted States. All

State Limits Age Pension to Destitute

Austin, Oct. 27.—The House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved a conference report today on an omnibus tax bill to raise revenue for old age assistance and deliberalize the Texas pension law.

The vote of 100 to 45 came after days of caustic argument over drastically revising the law. The Senate had previously adopted the report, and the action of the lower chamber paves the way for sine die adjournment of the special session which was taken at 11:50 a. m.

Governor Allred called the 30-day session originally to provide new money for old age assistance, for which were near exhaustion, and to set up a State system of unemployment compensation, but a few days ago came out strongly for deliberalization, also. Both houses previously had passed a bill creating the unemployment.

The omnibus bill included the following new or increased levies:

Whiskey tax increased from 50 to 60 cents a gallon and beer raised to 10 and 20 cents per gallon, depending on whether its alcoholic content is below or above 14 per cent.

Annual tax of $30 on five-cent slot machines, with the provision the tax would not legalize machines now illegal.

Increasing track's "take" of horse race bets from 10 to 1½ per cent, with state's share from 2½ to 4 and track's reduced from 7½ to 6.

Ten per cent levy on admissions to picture and stage shows costing more than 30 cents, and on admission to horse, dog, motorcycle and automobile races and rodeo halls, night clubs, skating rinks and like places of amusement.

7½ per cent increase on taxes on utilities, oil and sulphur.

Production tax on natural gas increased from ½ to 3 per cent of value.

Additional taxes on insurance companies. These included gross premiums levy one-half of one per cent on all domestic life insurance concerns, including fraternal societies.

Carbon black tax of one-twelfth cent a pound, except that it would be 1 per cent of value, and Carbon Black is selling for more than 4c per pound.

A tax on crates of 10 cents on each $100 above $200.

20 per cent tax on the prizes at theater "Bank Nights" with provision that fax would not legalize acts now illegal.

Levy of 10c a ton on cinnabar ore, 5c a ton on other ores, and 10c a ton on marble.

STEVENSON SUPPORTS PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Austin, Oct. 22.—Speaker Coke Stevenson of the Texas House of Representatives, issued a statement Thursday in support of the proposed amendment, which would appear on the official ballot as No. 6 saying that "the lawmakers should be distributed among all many of the 254 counties within the State as possible, and not bunched within a few counties."

"The clustering of members has been widely restricted in many sections of the State, and I feel quite well to follow suit by adopting amendment No. 6," Stevenson said.

ALLRED SIGNS BILL TRANSFERRING FUND

Austin, Oct. 22.—Gov. James V. Allred Thursday signed Senate Bill 3 to transfer approximately $500,000 from the old age assistance reserve to the available account, expressed confidence a tax bill would be enacted and evidenced a waning prospect of another special session of the Legislature.

The transfer bill was the first enactment of this session toward emergency financing of old age pension pending collection of revenue under a tax bill that may be enacted.

The governor estimated the cash freight tide the old age assistance commission through November payments. Federal matching of those funds, plus revenue accruing from liquor taxes, will be sought. Payments may be late, however, as they were in October, when $630,000 Federal funds were obtained for more than $1,000,000.

SOUTH'S 50-INCH RAINFALL

It rains in the South—rains more than anywhere else in America; twice as much as in the great Middle West. More than 50 annual inches on an average here-in Dixie, against 27 inches for Kansas, 29 for Missouri, 23 for Nebraska, 20 for South Dakota, 17 for North Dakota. It rains in the South—sometimes too much, sometimes at the wrong time, but the water is here, and with intelligence and enterprise we can handle it as no intelligence or enterprise can handle the Middle West's want of rain. You can control water, but not a lack of water. You can prevent a flood but you can't prevent a drought. You can build dams and levees against high water but you can't tap the clouds or get a drop of moisture in the heavens against low water.

Yet rains in the South, assets as they are, may become liabilities wherever we fail in measures required for saving our soil from their washing. Our rivers from now on must be test tubes to show progress or lack of progress in this work of soil preservation. To rid them of their telltale yellow, to give them once more the limpid beauty of Dixie streams, this will both serve beauty and give evidence that we are cooperating with Nature in making this land indeed "the heart of agricultural America." — John Temple Graves II, in The Progressive Farmer.

ALLRED CITES LANDON SHIFTS

Tulsa, Okla., Oct. 24.—Until Alf Landon aspired to the presidency, he was among the most ardent supporters of President Roosevelt's policies, Governor James V. Allred of Texas charged here tonight in a campaign address on behalf of the national ticket.

The evidence from every standpoint is overwhelming," said Allred, "that Governor Landon, until he became a candidate for the Republican nomination, heartily endorsed his co-operation with and fidelity to the new deal. He was re-elected governor two years ago upon a platform of such co-operation.

"What shall we say at the polls of this governor who enlisted as a new dealer, praised the new deal, advocated its measures, advocated the granting by congress of the powers given congress, who fought for and secured millions more for Texas than any of his predecessors?

At Kansas City, 1933: "We are in a battle as vital as any war. Why not give the president the same powers in this peace time struggle as we would in time of war?"

The same year, quoted in a Kansas City newspaper: "The members of the legislature realized that in a great emergency the country couldn't conduct business with a debating society."

When the AAA was declared unconstitutional: "The AAA, sound or unsound, nevertheless was the only major agency operating to meet the admitted farm emergency. On that basis I had given it, and Kansas had given it full co-operation."

In a Topeka newspaper in September, 1934: "All of the Democrats won't stand up for the relief program and its administrators. I will do it for them. I say that they have done a good job."

Other instances were cited.

SENATE ACCEPTS HOUSE CHANGE IN STATE AAA

Austin, August 27.—By a vote of 17 to 5 the Senate Friday concurred in House amendments to the Senate resolution providing for the appropriation to the AAA program of the Federal Government and designating the Texas A. & M. College as the extension service as the co-operating and administrative service.

There was no debate on the motion to adopting the resolution but it mailed and was overpowered by a motion that Texas and State thus will participate in the Federal farm aid program.

Senator A. J. Carlton, J. Sulak objected to what they said was the policy of giving the United States Department of Agriculture control of agriculture in Texas and argued that the resolution should be changed to state the parts objectionable to them.

E. M. Davis, who made the motion to concur, said it is merely recognizing the fact that the Federal farming funds in the manner prescribed in the regulations of the Secretary of Agriculture. He said that with the A. & M. College extension service as the Texas co-operating and administrative agency, the State need have no fear of surrendering control of farming to anyone. He said acts must be taken immediately to insure completion of the program before December 31.

He said a nation-wide broadcast, with Eddie Cantor as speaker, and a special observance at the Texas centennial would be held.

"Rogers was especially endeared to Texas, in which he once worked as a cowboy and which he no doubt extended next to his native and adopted States," Allred said.

State Limits Age Pension to Destitute

Austin, Oct. 27.—The House of Representatives overwhelmingly approved a conference report today on an omnibus tax bill to raise revenue for old age assistance and deliberalize the Texas pension law.

The vote of 100 to 45 came after days of caustic argument over drastically revising the law. The Senate had previously adopted the report, and the action of the lower chamber paved the way for sine die adjournment of the special session which was taken at 11:56 a. m.

Governor Allred called the 30-day session originally to provide new money for old age assistance, funds for which were near exhaustion, and to set up a State system of unemployment compensation but a few days ago came out strongly for deliberalization, also. Both houses previously had passed a bill creating the unemployment.

The omnibus bill included the following new or increased levies:

Whiskey tax increased from 50 to 96 cents a gallon and wine tax raised to 10 and 20 cents a gallon, depending on whether its alcoholic content is below or above 14 per cent.

Annual tax of $30 on five-cent nickle machines, with the provision that tax would not legalize machines now illegal.

Increasing track's "take" of horse race bets from 3 to 4 1-2 per cent, with state's share from 2½ to 4 and track's reduced from 7½ to 7.

Ten per cent levy on admissions to picture and stage shows costing more than 50 cents, with admission to horse, dog, motorcycle and automobile races and dance halls, night clubs, skating rinks and like places of amusement.

97½ per cent increase on taxes on utilities, oil and sulphur.

Production tax on natural gas increased from 2 to 3 per cent of value.

Additional taxes on insurance companies. These included gross premiums tax on behalf of one per cent on all domestic life insurance concerns, including fraternal societies.

Carbon black tax of one-twelfth cent a pound, except that it would be 1-24 cent of the product Carbon Black is selling for more than 4c per pound.

Tax on estates of 10 cents on each $100 above $200.

20 per cent tax on the prizes at theater "Bank Nights" with provision that fax would not legalize acts now illegal.

Levy of 10c a ton on cinnabar ore, 25c a ton on other ores, and 10c a ton on marble.

STEVENSON SUPPORTS PROPOSED AMENDMENT

Austin, Oct. 22.—Speaker Coke Stevenson of the Texas House of Representatives, issued a statement Thursday in support of the proposed amendment which will appear on the official ballot as No. 6 saying that "the lawmakers should be distributed among as many of the 254 counties within the State as possible, and not bunched within a few counties."

"The clustering of members has been widely restricted in many other States, and Texas would do well to follow suit by adopting amendment No. 6," Stevenson said.

ALLRED SIGNS BILL TRANSFERRING FUND

Austin, Oct. 22.—Gov. James V. Allred Thursday signed Senate Bill 8 to transfer approximately $500,000 from the old age assistance, reserve to the available account, expressed confidence the bill would be enacted and evidenced a waning prospect of another special session of the Legislature.

The transfer bill was the first enactment of this session toward emergency financing of old age pensions pending collection of revenue under a tax bill that may be enacted.

The governor estimated the cash might tide the old age assistance commissioner through November, payments Federal matching of those funds, plus revenue accruing from liquor taxes, will be sought. Payments may be made, however, as they were in October, when $630,000 Federal funds were obtained for more than $1,000,000 in pensions.

SOUTH'S 30-INCH RAINFALL

"It's rain in the South—rains more than anywhere else in America; twice as much as in the great Middle West. More than 50 annual inches on an average here in Dixie, against 27 inches for Kansas, 25 for Nebraska, 23 for Nebraska, 20 for South Dakota, 17 for North Dakota. It rains in the South—rains sometimes too much, sometimes at the wrong time, but the water is here, and with intelligence and enterprise we can handle it as no intelligence or enterprise can handle the Middle West's want of rain. You can control water, but not a lack of water. You can prevent a flood but you can't prevent a drouth. We have solid dams and levees against high water but you can't tap the clouds for a suction pump in the heavens against low water.

Yet rains in the South, assets as they are, now become debits unless wherever we fail in measures required for saving our soil from the ravages of soil preservation. To rid them of their telltale yellow, to give them once more the transparency that was theirs — that is the work now needed to give evidence that we are cooperating with Nature in making the South indeed the heart of agricultural America." — John Tyre Greaves II, in The Progressive Farmer.

KERRVILLE WOMAN GROWS OWN BLANKET

Kerrville, Oct. 24. — This product-conscious Kerrville community needing encountered in rural sections of Kerr county by the Kerrville Chamber of Agriculture, has spread to yards in the city limits of Kerrville.

Mrs. Ella Adams, Park Street resident, purchased two lambs to keep the weeds and grass "mowed" during the 1935 summer growing season, she kept the fleeces until she had accumulated 38 pounds of wool, enough, it was thought, to amount to a manufacturer, ordering a blanket, to consume 12 pounds of wool, of which, it required 16 pounds. The remaining 10 pounds will go to pay for the cost of the blanket. Mrs. Adams having seen other blankets obtained in the same manner, is pleased with the interest, the arrival of her "home grown" bed covers.

AN INVESTMENT IN HEALTH SERVICE.

Though progressive in many directions, Texas has been backward in protecting its citizens' health. Texas Planning Board emphasizes that fact in reporting on its recent State-wide survey. The planners found that 17,000 persons died prematurely and needlessly during 1934—the latest year for which statistics have been compiled. That number included 10,000 victims of preventable infectious diseases, and 7,000 succumbed to pellagra—a disease of nutrition. Organized public health services reaching all Texas' 6 million people could have saved those lives. Epidemic-control — involving quarantine measures, public sanitation, and education—would greatly reduce, if not eliminate, the death-toll of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, malaria, diphtheria, and other germ diseases.

As for pellagra, that malady never attacks a person who lives on a balanced diet. In one county the pellagra victim has starved to death; frequently he has starved in the midst of plenty. An honest aspect of the record is that the heaviest death-toll is not in the cities' blighted areas, but out on farms which easily might produce a balanced diet. Thus, the kitchen garden and home canning offer the most hopeful line of attack on that plague. Texas' first need is support its State Health Department adequately that it may set up full-time service in every health unit or equivalent — in every community. A modest annual investment in health service would save the people millions.—San Antonio Evening News.

FEW DENIED PENSION OWING TO PROPERTY; MORE CHECKING COMING NOV. 1

Austin, Oct. 21—But few applicants are disqualified by the liberal property restriction of the Texas Old Age Assistance Law, the low percentage of denials on the grounds of excess property ownership indicates.

Old Age Assistance Commission statistics revealed that only 2.8 per cent of all denials to date have been made because the applicant owned property in excess of $5,000, if single, and $7,500, if married.

The Texas law permits an applicant to have more property and still be eligible than is the case of any other State. As a result other States have much larger percentages of disqualifications on such grounds.

Ninety-seven per cent of the 16,000 applicants who have been denied assistance were found ineligible because of other statutory restrictions, such as age, residence, citizenship, income and need, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director of the Old Age Assistance Commission, said.

Present plans, he said, were to mail approximately 87,000 checks Nov. 1 to eligible recipients.

Late that week or the first of next week, he said, 1,500 new grants will be added to the 85,270 other October payments.

Carpenter was doubtful whether or not any more than the 1,500 new grants could be added this month due to shortage of State funds in the Texas treasury.

The field force of the Old Age Assistance Commission investigates from 1,000 to 1,500 applications each working day, Carpenter said. Figures this week showed: 86,270 approvals; 16,000 denials; 67,500 applications partially investigated and being worked upon; 42,000 applications upon which no investigations have been made.

Carpenter explained that many in the latter group were clearly ineligible even under the liberal provisions of the Texas law. He said that the commission was concentrating upon the "need" restriction who have not yet received their grants, as well as many who are ineligible or barely meet legal requirements.

Football Game Postponed Because of Unfavorable Weather

The football game scheduled for last Saturday, October 24, was postponed in the morning before the date of the game. Because of the unpleasant change of the weather, it was decided that the game be called off until the following Saturday, October 31, at 2:30 p. m. We understand that several games in the near vicinity were called off for the same reason. However, if weather permits, the game will be played here on the local field next Saturday. Everyone is asked to attend, so come and see the game and help push our boys to victory. Don't forget it, it's Thomas A. Edison High vs. Bandera.

Pertinent Reasons For Favoring Teacher Retirement.

Teacher retirement is a peculiar importance to public welfare because of its close relation to child welfare; it tends to safeguard children from ineffective instruction and personality conflicts of teachers who have passed beyond their maximum degree of efficiency and usefulness because of some disability or of advancing old age.

Retirement of the aged and disabled insures the public against the ineffective use of school plants manned by teachers whose declining usefulness has begun; and it offers to the public a small measure of unemployment relief by keeping the channels of promotion open to younger teachers and by preventing the superannuated from becoming dependent on public charity and relief rolls.

Sound teacher retirement systems have done more in States where plans have been in force for ten or more years to stimulate the morale of teachers, to improve the quality of teaching, and to make teaching a profession than any other factor. It is primarily an efficiency measure.

Retirement systems are more desirable than pensions. Friends of education are not asking the State to pay teachers a pension; they are merely seeking permission from the people to enable the legislature to enact a statute providing for a sound retirement reserve fund from which minimum benefits will accrue to the public and to the participating teachers.

If an educated citizenship is the guardian genius of democracy an impera tive duty bound to make every effort to attract a high grade of employee to the teaching profession, to encourage a long period of happy and useful service, and to provide an honorable way out of the profession when active service is concluded.

A sound retirement system is an imperative need in the educational program of a modern democratic State, and the retirement amendment to be voted on in November is a step in the right direction. It is the second amendment on your ballot.

"PROPOSED AMENDMENT NUMBER 6
H. J. R. No. 9

Limiting the representation of the largest cities in the clear intent of H. J. R. No. 9 relating to the apportionment of State Representatives for the counties of this State whose population exceeds seven hundred thousand (700,000) people, H. P. Matocha, Secretary of State, declares.

It is provided by this Admendment that no county in this State shall be entitled to or have under any apportionment than seven (7) Representatives in the State Legislature unless the population of such county shall exceed seven hundred thousand (700,000) people as ascertained by the most recent United States Census.

In the event a county shall have a population in excess of seven hundred thousand (700,000) into vigorous activity the wealth, entitled to one additional Representative for each one hundred thousand (100,000) population in excess of seven hundred thousand (700,000) population as ascertained by the latest United States Census.

This Admendment also provides that no district shall be created which would permit any county to have more than seven (7) Representatives except under the above conditions.

Simply speaking, H. J. R. No. 9 would limit the number of Representatives in the State Legislature to not more than seven (7) from any county, unless that county had a population of more than seven hundred thousand (700,000). In that case, one more would be allowed for every one hundred thousand (100,000) above the seven hundred thousand (700,000).

LARGE NUMBER OF SCHOOL BUILDINGS AS PWA RESULT

When Texas school children reported for classes this fall, a large number of them, found new buildings and improved facilities as a result of Works Progress Administration activities during the past year, it has been announced by H. P. Drought, State Administrator.

On school campuses in 217 Texas towns and cities, P. W. A. workers have wrought improvements sponsored by local school authorities. Projects range in magnitude from Fort Worth's million dollar city-wide school improvements to the installation of playground equipment; building of walks, and sodding of grounds at tiny rural schools.

By the end of August, WPA workers had completed the construction of 78 new school buildings in Texas. These newly-completed buildings are only a part of the WPA school improvement program. Drought explained. Erected at a cost of $289,365, of which WPA contributed $178,171, the structures are included in a $3,360,333 program of general improvement and ground beautification which has been undertaken in this State.

In addition to work on educational plants, WPA efforts have been extended to the improvement of athletic facilities in 113 Texas towns. Nearly 400 have completed or is in progress on 85 gymnasiums and auditoriums-gymnasiums, and on 28 high school stadiums.

Texas sponsors have been particularly interested in opportunities for improving school facilities, Drought said, and a large proportion of the projects which have been undertaken by city and county authorities have been for such work. He declared that the following communications, received from C. Wedgeworth, superintendent of schools at Snyder, is typical of those received from sponsors of school projects, referring to the recently-dedicated gymnasium at the Snyder school. Superintendent Wedgeworth wrote to Abilene district WPA officials:

"Not only are the sponsors appreciate what you have done for our entire community share in this feeling. It is with much pride that we point to this project as one well done and most useful to our community as a whole."

FOR FDR FROM HOSPITAL

Washington, Ind., Oct. 23.—Verbose campaign tour in behalf of President Roosevelt's re-election was interrupted when she suffered a fractured leg near here several weeks ago, resumed her speaking tour with an address broadcast through a microphone brought to her hospital room.

Making recovery the theme of her speech, Mrs. Rhode said:

"The national point of view that President Roosevelt has had —that far-seeing leadership which has insisted on considering the welfare of all sections of the country and not sacrificing the farmer to the consumer or the consumer to the farmer—has been the basic cause of our well-being.

"We must remember even further back than 1932 to see the road that led to the collapse in the Hoover Republican administration. High tariffs benefiting certain interests lost us our foreign markets. Unregulated Wall Street practices benefiting some speculators sacrificed our investors. Farmers were receiving attention only in election years. The savings of bank depositors were not insured.

"It is hard to resist the pressure of sectional interests even when their demands are greatly at the expense of the rest of the country. But this is just what President Roosevelt has done. He has insisted that the good of all must be considered and in that way has raised the income of all groups and classes."

Lecturer: "We must preserve our forests and save our nation from becoming a desert. Is there a man in this audience who has ever done a single thing to achieve this end?"

Small man (modestly): "Well, I'll venture to say that I've shot and killed at least a hundred woodpeckers in my time."

Mrs. Scallop—It says here that women have more courage than men.

Mr. Scallop—Yes, I can't imagine a man with only a quarter in his pocket trying on five or six suits of clothes.

John—They say that in time people who live together get to look exactly alike.

Mabel—Then if you ever had any idea of proposing just forget it. The answer would be no.

Storekeeper — What kind of soap do you want, my boy?

Henry—Just any kind that's got lots of perfume in it so's my Ma kin smell it and won't make me wash all over again.

FOR FDR FROM HOSPITAL

Washington, Dpl., Oct. 22. — Whose campaign tour in behalf of President Roosevelt's re-election was interrupted when she suffered a fractured leg near here several weeks ago, resumed her speaking tour with an address broadcast through a microphone brought to her hospital room.

Making recovery the theme of her speech, Mrs. Rhode said:

"The national point of view that President Roosevelt has had —that far-seeing leadership which has based on considering the welfare of all sections of the country and not sacrificing the farmer to the consumer or the consumer to the farmer—has been the basic cause of our well-being.

"We must remember even further back than 1932 to see the road that led to the collapse in the Hoover Republican administration. High tariffs benefiting certain interests lost us our foreign markets. Unregulated Wall Street practices benefiting some speculators sacrificed our investors. Farmers were receiving attention only in election years. The savings of bank depositors were not insured.

"It is hard to resist the pressure of selfish interests even when their demands are greatly at the expense of the rest of the country. But this is just what President Roosevelt has done. He has insisted that the good of all must be considered and in that way has raised the income of all groups and classes."

Lecturer: "We must preserve our forests and save our nation from becoming a desert. Is there a man in this audience who has ever done a single thing to achieve this end?"

Small man (modestly): "Well, I'll venture to say that I've shot and killed at least a hundred woodpeckers in my time."

Mrs. Scallop—It says here that women have more courage than men.

Mr. Scallop—Yes, I can't imagine a man with only a quarter in his pocket trying on five or six suits of clothes.

HUGE GAIN IN EMPLOYMENT IS REPORTED

Washington, Oct. 31.—Nationwide employment gains of 1,400,000 during the last 12 months, bringing the total employed in private industry, not including farming, to 31,680,000, were reported today by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

The total gain since low point of the depression in March, 1933, was 9,200,000, Miss Perkins said, adding:

"The estimates cover all persons at work—employers, self-employed and employees in all types of regular non-agricultural employment. They do not include employment in agriculture or on federal emergency work.

"The increase in employment since last May when previous employment figures were published, has been much greater than the normal seasonal movement in several industry, not including farming, to 31,680,000, were reported today by Secretary of Labor Perkins.

"The expansion in employment in all non-agricultural industries from May to September, 1936, was largely than in the comparable period in 1935 and nearly equal to the increase in employment that occurred between March and September, 1929, when the pre-depression peak was reached, respectively, adding:

"The increase in total manufacturing employment in the rate of over 100,000 per month since last May is particularly striking as reflects the fact that a large group of manufacturing industries are operating at a level at least as high as in 1929."

PENSION MEASURES SIGNED, BECOME LAW

Austin, Oct. 31.—Two acts of the recent Legislature to increase old-age pension payments became law Saturday on approval of Acting Governor Walter F. Woodul.

He signed first the bill that levies taxes to support a pension program and amends the original act to deliberalize and thereby cut in half the estimated ultimate number to whom aid will be granted.

A few hours later he approved the second bill, which empowers the Old Age Assistance Commission to issue $3,000,000 of warrants bearing 2½ per cent until March 1 to finance payments pending the collection of revenue under the tax bill.

The Board of Control, which hereafter will administer the pension law, will confer during the week and possibly make some announcements of policy Monday.

Woodul said he would not act on a resolution adopted during the closing minutes of the Legislature constructing a provision of the new act which would deprive the board of authority to expend, in determining the need of an applicant, the aid extended by friends and relatives in meeting the necessities of life. He will leave it to Governor Allred. The Governor has until Nov. 19 to approve or veto other bills.

Opposition has developed to the hurriedly-passed resolution. Some members say that they understood its only purpose was to interpret the term income as net income and that approval of it might lead to weakening some of the deliberation provision. Allred will be asked to veto it.

Woodul also approved a bill extending until Jan. 1, 1940, the time allowed the Upper Colorado River Authority of Coke and Tom Green counties to obtain federal funds for a flood control and irrigation project.

It also postponed operation of a tax remission of the act until Jan. 1, 1937, and authorized the appointment of a director from the Abilene territory.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to express my thanks to the voters of Bandera county for electing me as your County Judge and I sincerely hope that I can prove worthy of your confidence.

A. V. Puc.

IMPRISONED JUDGE STILL DRAWS PAY

San Francisco, Oct. 31.—Judge Gavin Craig is serving a year in prison for conspiracy, but he may retain his place on the bench and still draw his $10,000 salary. So the California Supreme Court ruled in a surprise decision. The justices held that Craig had never resigned from the bench, had never been legally removed and therefore remains "in good standing."

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECT. 1

I wish to express my sincere thanks to each and every one who voted for me in my race for County Commissioner.

R. C. Boales.

Centennial to Re-Open Next Year

Dallas, Oct. 31.—Fred Florence, president of the Texas Centennial Central exposition, said today the $25,000,000 World's Fair would be reopened in 1937.

Demands by Dallas businessmen for a new exposition in 1937 caused the board of directors to announce a June 12 opening date for next year, Florence said.

The majority of the exhibitors will retain commercial exhibits on the exposition grounds and remodel them before the new show opens, the board said.

Harry Olmstead, general manager of the exposition, said:

"We are going to reopen in 1937 with a better and more expensive world's fair. It will be an entirely new show, better and smoother running by virtue of experience gained by operation of the 1936 exposition. Immediately after the close of the present exposition, full plans will be announced for next year."

The Dallas exposition will be the only one operating next year, Florence said, and will be changed and streamlined for the general layout of the grounds.

Dallas businessmen reported a boom in sales during the exposition months and predicted an encore for the show in 1937 would serve as a stimulus to Texas business.

The present exposition will close Nov. 29th.

The 1937 exposition will be five weeks shorter, closing Oct. 31st.

TO THE VOTERS

I take this means of most sincerely thanking all who helped in any way to elect me Commissioner of Prect. 1.

ROOSEVELT AND GARNER RE-ELECED BY LANDSLIDE

Pue Wins For County Judge; Two New Commissioners Elected

President Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York and Vice President John N. Garner of Texas, the Democratic standard bearers, were returned to office in Tuesday's election by one of the biggest avalanche of ballots ever recorded in the nation's history. Hour by hour, every count adds to their overwhelming victory and the latest reports yesterday afternoon gave Alf M. Landon and Frank Knox, Republican nominees only the two States of Maine and Vermont, with a scant 6 electoral votes.

Riding in on the crest which rolled up 523 electoral votes for Roosevelt and Garner, were scores of Democrats elected to the Senate and House, giving indication that the huge majorities of the last Congress might be swelled even larger. It was estimated that Roosevelt's majority would be well above 9,000,000.

Texas went for the Democratic national ticket by a large majority and all Democratic congressional and State nominate congressmen were elected by wide margins. With returns out of the 254 reporting in the State, Roosevelt has 349,405, Landon 50,339 and Lemke 14,196. Totals from over the nation yesterday showed Texas leading all States and receiving 124,449 favorable ballots and 166,798 negative. Teachers' retirement pensions received 155,806 favorable votes, as compared with 133,032 against. Workmen's compensation for state employees got 173,243 against 108,504; revision of pardoning system, for 206,778, against 78,549; salary increase for state officials, for 160,174, against 124,929; limitation to seven house members, for 170,793, against 104,167.

A total of nearly 1,400 votes were cast in Bandera county. A. V. Pue was out in front by three-to-nered race for county judge, defeating the present incumbent, Granville Wright, and Neal J. Atkins. As a result of the balloting, the county will have two new commissioners. Elmer Edwards, who defeated Commissioner C. E. Pickens in the Pipe Creek precinct, and R. H. Bewall, who won out over Commissioner Ashley Reese in the Medina precinct. Commissioner Ashley Rugh was victorious over Roy Taylor in the Bandera precinct and Justice of the Peace Chas. T. Johnson was re-elected over Ashley Rugh. Edwards other county officials had no opposition on the ballot, but several write-in candidates were reported. L. A. Perkins received a scattering write-in vote for sheriff, collector and assessor.

SECURITY ACT EXPLAINED

There is now a law in this country which will enable you, when you are working people something to live on when they are old and have stopped working. This law, which gives other benefits, too, was passed last year by Congress and is called the Social Security Act.

Under this law the United States Government will send checks every month to retired workers, both men and women, after they have passed their 65th birthday and have met a few simple requirements of the law.

This means that if you work in some factory, shop, mine, mill, store, office, or almost any other kind of business or industry, you will be earning benefits that will come to you later on. From the time you are 65 years old, or more, and are working, you will get a Government check every month of your life, if you have worked some time (one day or more) in each of 5 years after 1936, and have earned during that time a total of $2,000 or more.

The checks will come to you as a right. You will get them regardless of the amount of property or income you may have. They are what the law calls "Old-Age Benefits" under the Social Security Act. If you prefer to keep on working after you are 65, the monthly check from the Government will begin coming to you whenever you decide to retire.

How much you will get when you are 65 years old will depend entirely on how much you earn in wages from your industrial or business employments, between January 1, 1937, and your 65th birthday. A man or woman who gets good wages and has a steady job most of his or her life can get as much as $85 a month for life after age 65. The least you can get is monthly benefits, if you come under the law at all, is $10 a month.

Suppose you are making $25 a week and are young enough now to go on working for 52 weeks in each year, your check when you are 65 years old will be $51 a month for the rest of your life. If you make $50 a week, you will get $74.50 a month for the rest of your life after age 65.

But suppose you are about 55 years old now and have 10 years to work before you are 65. Suppose you make only $15 a week on the average. When you stop work at age 65 you will get a check for $19 each month for the rest of your life. If you make $25 a week for 10 years, you will get a little over $23 a month from the Government as long as you live after your 65th birthday.

If you should die before you begin to get your monthly checks, your family will get a payment in cash, amounting to 3½ cents on every dollar of wages you have earned after 1936. If, for example, you should die at age 64, and if you had earned $35 a week for 10 years before that time, your family would receive $455. On the other hand, if you have not worked enough to get the regular monthly checks by the time you are 65, you will get a lump sum, or if you should die your family or estate would get a lump sum. The amount of this, too, will be 3½ cents on every dollar of wages you earn after 1936.

The same law that provides these old-age benefits for you and other workers, sets up certain new taxes to be paid to the United States Government. These taxes are collected by the Bureau of Internal Revenue of the U. S. Treasury Department, and inquiries concerning them should be addressed to that bureau. The law also creates an "Old-Age Reserve Account" in the United States Treasury, and Congress is authorized to put into this reserve account each year enough money to provide for the monthly payments you and other workers are to receive when you are 65.

The taxes called for in this law will be paid both by your employer and by you. For the next 3 years you will pay maybe 1c cents a week maybe 25c a week maybe 30 cents or more, according to what you earn. Then in 3 years during the next three years, beginning January 1, 1937, you will pay 1 cents for every dollar you earn, and at the same time your employer will pay 1 cent for every dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. Twenty-six million other workers and their employers will be paying at the same time.

In three years—that is to say, beginning in 1940—you and your employer will pay 1½ cents for each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. This will be the tax for 3 years, and then, beginning in 1943, you will pay 2 cents, and so will your employer, for every dollar you earn for the next 3 years. After that, you and your employer will each pay half a cent more for 3 years, and finally, beginning in 1949, twelve years from now, you and your employer will each pay 3 cents on each dollar you earn, up to $3,000 a year. That is the most you will ever pay.

The Government will collect both of these taxes from your employer. Your part of the tax will be taken out of your pay. The Government will collect from your employer an equal amount out of his funds.

This will go on just the same if you go to work for another employer, so long as you work in a factory, shop, mine, mill, office, store, or other such place of business. (Wages earned in employment as farm workers, domestic workers in private homes, Government workers and on a few other kinds of jobs are not subject to this tax.)

Meanwhile, the Old-Age Reserve fund in the United States Treasury is drawing interest, and will never earn less than 2 per cent. This means that 2 per cent will be added to every dollar in the fund each year.

Maybe your employer has an old-age pension plan for his employees. If so, the Government's old-age benefit plan will not have to interfere with that. The employer can fit his plan into the Government plan.

What you get from the Government plan will always be more than you have paid in taxes and usually more than you can get by yourself by putting away the same amount of money each week in some other way.

Has anybody noticed any of the Seniors going around in a daze lately? If so, don't be alarmed, because it's nothing serious—only class rings. The order was sent off last week and we're looking forward to getting them sometime before Christmas. Can we wait that long?—We hope so! The rings are the same as last year, with one exception—the deer head will be set in black onyx. Of course, we know they will be a lot prettier that way. But what we want to know is this—has Carrol Price suddenly changed his name or has he a secret admirer? It seems strange that he would order a class bracelet with P. F. W. on it.

"I pledge myself faithful.
With heart and with hand"—
Oh my! we nearly forgot to write "The Pledge" on his Spanish paper Monday morning? It seems that the Senior in Spanish II can't be trusted any more.

There was considerable disturbance in English class the other day when Miss Davis made the remark—I ought to make you wash my shirt. Miss Davis, she wiped chocolate candy all over it.

Miss Davis—Now, what was she doing with chocolate candy?

Bahlmi—Oh, he gave me a piece and I'm soaking it for recess.

What does Boyd Ryle think of the Spanish review Mr. Patton gave us? It has something to do with junk piles, we think!

Edison High 20, Bandera High 7

A very exciting game was witnessed last Saturday by a large attending crowd when the Edison Bears defeated the Bandera Bulldogs by a margin of 13 points, the score being 20 to 7. The boys who played for Edison were as follows: Captain Rogers, Pfeifer, Winer, North, Matthews, Brickly, Moore, O'Banion, Holleman, Holck, Robertson, Hubby, Goodwin, Saunders, Stokes, Porter, Palmer and Smith. For Bandera Captains C. Callahan and T. D. Nored, V. Ahderwald, F. Mases, D. Callahan, F. Keiser, I. Billings, J. Langford, C. Price, D. Knibbe, D. Hogan and W. Wiemera. The last three players experienced the thrill of playing their first game and each did very good work. After the first half of the game, Coach Giria, "Pull off your coats and collar, get to work and holler" because we're playing Edison in San Antonio Friday, Nov. 6. Listen—attention please, It's have every last one of you there to yell., Giria, it's up to us to back those Bulldogs to the top, so start talking your "papa" out of the car—we all can't walk you know!

In case you are interested there are, up to the present date, 110 registered in Bandera High School. They are proportioned in the four grades as follows: 8th, 42 pupils; 9th, 27 pupils; 10th, 22 pupils, and the 11th, 19 pupils. This is a fairly large increase over the number of high school students last year and we hope that the number will continuously increase from year to year. One of the most vital factors for the growth of a school is the teaching faculty and Bandera High has just that. Incidentally, we have a new pupil this Monday morning, November 3. The student is Norman Stevens of the DeLeon School, Comanche county, and is an eighth grade pupil.

Paging Pep-Squad Girls!
Paging Pep-Squad girls! Right now you dear little "loafers," I want to know where you all were last Saturday. The very next time that twenty-two out of six-ty pep-squad girls show up here it will—there's going to be TROUBLE in the air. Now that I'm through griping about that for awhile, I'll tell you somgin' swell. Giria, "Pull off your coats and collar, get to work and holler" because we're playing Edison in San Antonio Friday, Nov. 6. Listen—attention please, It's have every last one of you there to yell., Giria, it's up to us to back those Bulldogs to the top, so start talking your "papa" out of the car—we all can't walk you know!

We are very sorry to report that one of our star football players, Dan Callahan, had to be operated on for appendicitis after an acute attack. He was taken to San Antonio last Wednesday morning, at about 2 o'clock. At the present time we have had no report as to his condition. Dan is a very well-liked pupil and the entire group here all school hope he will be recover in a few days.

TRENCH SILOS

The first trench silo to be filled in Bandera county in 1936 was filled last week by Fred Thalman, rancher, living about 7 miles northwest of Bandera.

Mr. Thalmann filled his silo with hegaria, that was grown on land tended by, left idle, but later planted to stop erosion, and did so well that he thought he'd take advantage of this land—instead of fall feed and store some in a trench silo.

Mr. Thalmann's silo holds about 85 tons and is now full of the best feed he has ever stored on his ranch. When asked what he was going to do with the feed, he replied: "I'm going to fill two more silos like this and then wait for a dry year to come, and while the rest of these ranchers are buying feed, I'm going to be taking an acute attack. He was taken to San Antonio last Wednesday morning, at about 2 o'clock. At the present time we have had no report as to his condition. Dan is a very well-liked pupil and the entire group here all school hope he will be recover in a few days.

Kari—I don't because if I did, she'd serve me the same dish every day for a month.

Hardy Moore of Utopia's Canyon community, is also putting in a trench silo that he says will have about 100 tons of his surplus fall feed. Mr. Moore says that he doesn't intend to tolerate another feed fail like he had in the last couple of years ago to keep his sheep and goats alive during drouths.

BOYS IN V. A. CLASS GAIN USEFUL KNOWLEDGE

Last Thursday the boys in the vocational agriculture class of Bandera High School gained some useful knowledge on the control and treatment of screw worms.

Mr. Auld of Kerrville, who is with the Department of Etomology and Plant Quarantine, gave them a lecture on the life cycle of the screw worm. After his lecture, Mr. Auld arranged a display in the window of the drug store. This display shows the various stages of the screw worm and some cases of screw worms. It shows the method of treatment recommended by the Department of Agriculture.

BARS TOLD TO STOP SERVING LIQUOR IN S. A.

San Antonians who like to sip their cock-tails or highballs in down-town bars will be distressed Monday to find such pleasures a thing of the past, Wright Riley, district supervisor of the state liquor control board, declared Saturday.

"Pat Dougherty, the chairman of the liquor control board, announced recently that violations of the liquor control act would be enforced," Riley said.

Henry—Wouldn't your mother be angry if she saw you in those terrible shorts?

Eithe—I expect she would. They're here.

First: "I'm afraid Jones is wandering in his mind since flunking that math exam."

Second: "Well, you needn't worry. He can't go far."

"Name?" queried the immigration official, "Chinese," replied the Chinese proudly.

The official looked hard at him. "It's that your Chinese name?" he asked.

"No, Melican name," said the Oriental blandly.

Then "let's have your native name."

"Ah Choo."

Dorothy—I'm sorry I had to keep you waiting.

Cinderella—That's all right. Now if you'll wait about 10 minutes I think I'd better get another shave.

A speaker who had just taken the floor was constantly interrupted by a man in the rear of the room who shouted at intervals: "Congressman Snoop! We want to hear Congressman Snoop!"

"Will the gentleman keep quiet!" said the chairman. "This is Congressman Snoop trying to speak."

"You can't fool me," replied the heckler. "That is the feller who gave me a dollar to holler."

"Now I Lay Me —"

This child was hurt when a tornado struck Tupelo, Mississippi; necessitating medical and nursing care for hundreds—care which in many cases could not have been given without Red Cross assistance. It is a tribute to the organization that the young beneficiaries of its health and relief services invariably place themselves in the hands of the Red Cross with a completely confident "Now I lay me—"

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Again Nov. 11th marks the beginning of the American Red Cross Roll Call. The Red Cross is always the first to answer the call of distress in any emergency. Every year there are scores of disasters in which the Red Cross helps relieve suffering and disease. Many of you will doubtless recall that the Red Cross expended $600 here in Bandera after the terrible hailstorm of April, 1925. They are asking for funds now to help carry on the work for the next year.

Do your bit to help carry on the work as we never can tell when we may have to ask for help again. The Roll Call continues until Nov. 26th.

MRS. FAIRCROSNIA TYLER

Mrs. Faircrosnia Tyler, 78, died in her home, 543 Westfall Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 6th. She was the widow of A. P. Tyler, Confederate veteran. A native of Mississippi, she had lived in San Antonio for the past 20 years.

Surviving are three sons, J. M. Tyler of Canton, W. E. and Aug. P. Tyler of this city; three daughters, Mrs. Louise Marr and Mrs. Florence Harris, both of this city, and Mrs. Belle Hodgkins, Dardens; one brother, C. C. Tyler of Bartonsville; a sister, Mrs. G. S. Strickland, Palestine; 21 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were conducted Friday morning—San Antonio Express.

TO THE VOTERS

I wish to extend thanks to the voters of Bandera county for re-electing me as your sheriff for another term.

Red Cross Potential Life Savers Number Nearly 2,000,000

First aid and life saving certificates issued by the American Red Cross since the start of the service 36 years ago now number 1,848,760. During the past year the Red Cross qualified 332, 693 persons in first aid and taught water safety and rescue methods to 89,945.

This army of First Aiders and Life Savers is but a small part of safety factors in the nation. They are trained to give immediate first aid in the scene of accident, thus saving many lives and preventing permanent injury. Red Cross training includes skill in treating for shock, splints, big fractures, checking arterial bleeding, applying artificial respiration, towing drowning persons to safety, and in the safe handling of boat and canoe.

Last year the Red Cross vessels, 6,000,000 passengers and 1,000,000 or accident hazards in a nation-wide program to reduce the incidence of shipping and farm accidents. This year home accident fatalities were cut by several thousand according to statisticians. A similar campaign has been launched this year through Red Cross chapters.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lane of San Antonio, visited friends here Armistice day.

GODSPEED SENT BY 47-0

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt Saturday voiced hope that next months inter-American peace conference would provide new hope and courage for a warweary world, after announcing that the scourge of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere.

In a special international broadcast from the White House, arranged by the Pan-American Union, the president addressed a peace conference at Buenos Aires affords an unprecedented opportunity for friendly discussion concerning the nations of the Americas. The text of his address follows:

"The delegates of the United States to the inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace, together with the delegations of several other American Republics, has sailed from New York for Buenos Aires, and I am taking this opportunity to wish them Godspeed and at the same time to bring a message of greeting to the peoples of the twenty-one American Nations. It will be an auspicious moment, indeed, when the delegates assemble to confer with those of the other nations of this hemisphere in the capital of great Southern neighbor.

"I say auspicious advisedly, for it is my thought that this will be the first occasion in which the previous inter-American conference has assembled with the assurance which we possess that every American government and all of the American peoples now realize the overwhelming importance of seeing sure that all of us on this continent march forward in harmony and with understanding, solemnly threatened, in a world in which freedom and human liberty are under attack, to stand forth as an example of international solidarity, co-operation and peace.

"Nevertheless, satisfactory as the international relationships on this continent may be today, there still is to be done. The gains that have been made can be consolidated and extended only as they are taken along lines heretofore untried. It seems to me that an unparalleled opportunity is presented to the American nations to co-operate in a friendly fashion to make the cause of peace a practical and living fact.

"I feel confident that on the solid foundation of inter-American friendship, equality and unity the conference at Buenos Aires will be able to take further steps for the maintenance of peace, thus insuring the continuance of conditions under which it will be possible, for the nations to the economic, social, cultural and spiritual life of the nations of this hemisphere to go forward.

"I hope with all my heart that the forthcoming conference will give renewed hope and courage to the war-weary peoples of the world by demonstrating to them that the scourge of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere."

Membership in the American Red Cross last year showed an increase of 299,695. A total of 4,137,616 men and women enrolled, the increase enabling the expanding Red Cross program of service to be carried forward at full strength. An increased membership is sought this year in the Roll Call ending November 11 to 26, to meet the increasing demands upon the organization during 1936-37.

Pension Checks Expected by 20th

Austin, Nov. 6. — November grants for old age assistance cannot be expected by recipients before November 20, Preston Dimmitt, director Orville S. Carpenter said.

Returning today from Washington, where he took the new "deliberalized" Texas law, Carpenter said:

"Assistance checks (totaling approximately $1,360,000) for 87,000 Texas aged cannot be mailed before about November 20. This delay is necessitated by the fact that the new Texas assistance statute has not yet been approved by the social security board.

"After discussing the new statute with the representatives of the social security board, I am confident that both our new law and administrative plan will be approved."

HUGE CROWD GREETS FDR AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 11.—Amid gaily trumpeting bands, flying flags and sparing cheers, fully a quarter of a million persons, including school children and citizens accorded President Roosevelt a royal welcome upon his return here today.

Greeted by most of his cabinet members, District of Columbia officials and army and navy department ranking officers, the chief executive came back to the nation's capital at 9:40 E. T. decked out in high color and ringing cheers for his sweeping victory at the polls.

The strains of "Happy Days Are Here Again" and Swanee River" reverberated as the presidential train pulled in at 8:30, and Mr. Roosevelt, hatless, stepped, per one citizen, emerged all smiles.

The President held an informal reception in his private railroad car, and afterwards, made two brief talks from a viewing which yelled and sang a welcome.

Even after Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House, the cheering of the throngs who filled the streets demanded his attention.

Finally, with Mrs. Roosevelt and his son James, he stepped out on the front portico of the White House, waved and smiled, and then Mrs. Roosevelt delivered continuously for ten minutes.

Mrs. Crider of Hunt, is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Vernon Merritt and Mrs. Chas. Moser.

Mrs. Wylie Watson of San Antonio visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Mazurek, yesterday.

The Commissioners Court met Monday for their quarterly term and sent still in session yesterday.

A noted writer says that the old slogan of "As Maine goes, so goes the nation," should now be changed to "As Maine goes, so goes Vermont."

Sadie Merle Adams, little 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Adams of near Medina, was accidentally killed last Monday when she was accidentally shot by a .22 calibre rifle, according to reports reaching here. The funeral of the little girl was held Tuesday afternoon with burial at Medina.

Survivors include the parents, a brother and sister, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Adams of Medina, and other grandparents in California.

PENSION TAXES ?

OFFER NEW PROBLEM

Austin, Nov. 6.—Complications which may seriously hamper the job of collecting revenues under the new pension taxation bill have been revealed by Comptroller Sheppard following his departmental studies of the law.

Enforcement of the taxing provisions are left largely with the Comptroller's office, with experience in tax collecting, the most obvious defects were quickly spotted.

Number 1 difficulty threatened to be the lack of penalties for violations of the new tax provisions.

As instance was the section setting up a tax upon cvea. The provision requires that they pay the tax, but if he doesn't there seems to be little that can be done about it. The bill provides that those against the tax on admissions, which the comptroller will call the "amusement tax."

"This tax," said Sheppard, "promises to bring in more than we are at first anticipated; but there are difficulties in that bill does not require daily or weekly or monthly reports, the tax being paid quarterly. Now, what are we going to do with the traveling show that can play all the big cities in three months. By the time they would be supposed to report, they might be in Pakistanoo. There is no penalty for their failure to pay the tax."

An altogether different difficulty arises in regard to the tax on mortgages. This tax provides that every mortgage, deed of conveyance, secured by chattel mortgage, deed of trust, mechanic's lien, contract for the conveyances of a similar nature, must bear a stamp attesting the payment of the tax.

How the parties to this mortgage are to secure the stamp is the question. "The state treasurer shall be responsible for the custody and sale of such stamps for the purposes therefrom," the bill says, but makes no other provision for their distribution. Before the instrument is filed, it cannot bear the stamp, and what parties to each mortgage write in to the treasurer and get a stamp? Shall, Sheppard asked, that is a problem which the treasurer must work out, the bill not providing what their powers shall be enforcd by the comptroller.

Because numerous new forms must be printed and because every form now used changed to some extent, the comptroller's office pointed out it is not entirely ready. This was done almost as soon as the law went into effect. However, he has ordered the appropriation to pay the cost of enforcement, excepting an item of $1,000 for printing the revised marble machine tax. "This," observed Sheppard, "will not be enough to pay for printing the forms."

The comptroller is not concerned about the phase of this law as it will take some time to outline just what is needed to enforce the new law, and the regular session of the legislature will meet in January.

An important change was made in the law taxing tobacco products. Heretofore, this tax has been the primary liability of the producer, and was payable quarterly.

"Now I Lay Me —"

This child was hurt when a tornado struck Tupelo, Mississippi, necessitating medical and nursing care for hundreds—care which in many cases could not have been given without Red Cross assistance. It is to this that the organization that the young beneficiaries of its health and relief services invariably place themselves in the hands of the Red Cross with a completely confident "Now I lay me—"

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

Again Nov. 11th marks the beginning of the American Red Cross Roll Call. The Red Cross is always the first to answer the call of distress in any emergency. Every year there are scores of disasters in which the Red Cross helps relieve suffering and disaster. Many of you will doubtless recall that the Red Cross expended $600 here in Bandera after the terrible hailstorm of April, 1935. They are asking for funds now to help carry on the work for the next year.

Do your bit to help carry on the work as we never can tell when we may have to ask for help again. The Roll Call continues until Nov. 26th.

AUTO DEATHS DECLINE

Washington, Nov. 7.—The census bureau reported today that automobile fatalities in the 36 leading cities totaled 7,579 in the first 44 weeks of this year, compared with 7,992 in the same period last year.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lane of San Antonio, visited friends here Armistice day.

Bandera Now Has Night Watchman

A petition, which was carried around by Tom Robison last week was numerously signed by business men favoring a night watchman for Bandera. Rube Caffall has been placed on the job as watchman, having recently a commission as deputy sheriff. The night watchman began his duties Tuesday night of this week. We think this is a mighty good move on the part of our business men.

GODSPEED SENT BY 4-CDR TO PEACE MEETING

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Roosevelt Saturday voiced hope that next month's inter-American peace conference would produce the same hope and courage for a war-weary world by demonstrating that the scourge of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere.

In a special international broadcast from the White House, arranged by the Pan-American Union, the president addressed the conference at Buenos Aires' affords an unprecedented opportunity for friendship and understanding the nations of the Americas. The text of his address follows:

"The meeting of the United States to the inter-American conference for the maintenance of peace, together with the meetings of several other American Republics, has sailed from New York for Buenos Aires, and I am taking this opportunity to speak with those of the other nations of this hemisphere in the capital of my great southern neighbor.

"I say auspicious advisedly, for it is my thought that this will be no ordinary conference. No previous inter-American conference has assembled with the assurance which we possess that every American government and all of the American peoples now realize their joint responsibility for seeking that all of us on this continent march forward in harmony and in understanding friendship together along the paths of progress and of peace.

"We in the New World are fortunate indeed. We must assume a continuance of our happy situation. A start has been made. Now, as never before, the nations of the Western Hemisphere are joined together by an ever increasing community of interests.

"It is no exaggeration to say that in a world torn by conflicting demands, in a world in which misunderstanding and fear are jealously threatened, in a world in which freedom and human liberty are in peril, we of the Americas stand forth as an example of international solidarity, co-operation and good will one toward another.

"Nevertheless, satisfactory as the international relationships on this continent are today, much still is to be done. The gains that have been made can be consolidated and increased only if they are taken along lines heretofore untried. It seems to me that an unprecedented opportunity is offered the American nations to co-operate in a friendly fashion to make the spirit of peace a practical and living fact.

"I feel confident that on the solid foundation of inter-American friendship already created by the conference at Buenos Aires will be able to take further steps for the maintenance of peace, thus insuring the continuance of conditions under which it will be possible, for example, for the economic, social, cultural and spiritual life of the nations of this hemisphere to go forward.

"I hope with all my heart that the forthcoming conference will give renewed hope and courage to the war-weary peoples of the world by demonstrating to them that the scourge of armed conflict can and will be eliminated from the Western Hemisphere."

Membership in the American Red Cross last year showed an increase of 293,695. A total of 4,137,816 persons were enrolled, the highest in 15 years, enabling the expanding Red Cross program of service to be carried forward at full strength. An increased membership is sought this year in the Roll Call which opens Nov. 11 to 26, to meet the increasing demands upon the organization during 1937.

Pension Checks Expected by 20th

Austin, Nov. 6. — November grants for old age assistance cannot be expected by recipients before November 20, Preston Dimmitt for Orville S. Carpenter said.

Returning today from Washington, where he took the new "de-liberalized" Texas law, Carpenter said:

"Assistance checks (totaling approximately $1,360,000) for 87,000 Texas aged cannot be mailed before about November 20. This delay is necessitated by the fact that the new Texas assistance statute has not yet been approved by the social security board.

"After discussing the new statute with the representatives of the social security board, I am confident that both our new law and administrative plan will be approved."

ELECTION RESULTS IN NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

Henry Hirsch was elected county judge of Gillespie county over the present incumbent, H. Wehmeyer, by about 100 votes. Sheriff Alfred Klaerner, County Treasurer Mrs. Lina Cartwright and Commissioner Rogers of Harper were re-elected. Three new commissioners were elected, namely, E. Priester and Alf. McDougal. Roosevelt received 955 and Landon 1375, South 1090 and Hierholzwale 1392. Allred carried the county over Harris by a small margin.

In Medina county, the results were Roosevelt 2986; Landon 969. Allred 2386, Harris 676. Assessor-Collector Lucian Hamilton, Sheriff 1891 to 1272, and Sheriff Schulle was re-elected over Saathoff, 2176 to 958. ### HUGE CROWD GREETS FDR AT WASHINGTON

Washington, Nov. 6.—With gaily trumpeting bands, flying flags and roaring cheers, fully a quarter of a million federal workers, school children and visitors recorded President Roosevelt a royal welcome upon his return here today.

Greeted by most of his cabinet members, District of Columbia officials and by many of the department ranking officers, the chief executive came back to the nation's capital to find it decked out in high color and ringing cheers for his sweeping victory at the polls.

The strains of "Happy Days Are Here Again" and Swanee River" reverberated from the grand union station as the presidential train pulled in at 8:30, and Mrs. Roosevelt, followed by her one citizen, emerged all smiles.

The President held an informal reception in his private railroad car, and afterwards, made two trips to the city hitching which yelled and sang a welcome.

Even after Mr. Roosevelt entered the White House, the cheering throngs thronged the main streets demanded his attention.

Finally, with Mrs. Roosevelt and Miss Anna Roosevelt, he took on the front portico of the White House, waved and smiled, and the cheering crowd cheered continuously for ten minutes.

Mrs. Crider of Hunt, is visiting her daughters, Mrs. Vernon Merritt and Mrs. Chas. Moore.

Mrs. Victor Wilson of San Antonio, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Mazurek, yesterday.

The Commissioners Court met Monday for their quarterly term and were still in session yesterday.

A noted writer says that the old slogan of "Ma Maine goes, so goes the nation," should now be changed to "As Maine goes, so Free Vermont."

Red Cross Nurses Combat Disease on Wide Front

At the close of the fiscal year ended June 30, there were 672 Red Cross nurses serving in the 3 expeditions and cadres for the sick in Ethiopia. These Red Cross public health nurses cared for a total of 233,616 persons during the year, and made more than a million visits on their behalf.

The annual report of the American Red Cross also discloses that these nurses cooperated with doctors in examining 1,000,000 school and pre-school children, with 142,561 physical defects found and curative treatment arranged in 20,686 cases.

In 979 Red Cross chapters 1,723 graduate nurses on the Red Cross home hygiene and care of the sick, issuing certificates to 31,760 persons completing the courses. In addition, 1,777 Red Cross reserve nurses were called upon during the year for disaster and soldiers' control work.

KERR COUNTY RE-ELECTS MOST OF OLD OFFICIALS

Kerrville, Nov. 4.—Democratic county officials with the exception of two commissioners and a constable not seeking another term were re-elected in the general election, which in this county takes the place of a July primary.

In the contested races, John S. Atkins defeated A. P. Allison for county judge by nearly 1,000 votes. Frank Moore defeated Jeff Duncan for sheriff; Emil Gold defeated E. L. Schumacker for treasurer; A. L. Starkey defeated John M. Rotan for surveyor. Joe Burnett defeated Fred Schreiner for to be re-elected justice of the peace in precinct 1. Tom Burnett defeated a field of 4 for re-election constable in the same precinct. Commissioners D. D. Beard and William Karger were re-elected without opponents. T. J. Moore of Hunt defeated W. H. Furr and W. H. Mullins to replace Furr as commissioner of the Ingram-Hunt-Mountain Home precinct. Kerr county gave all Democratic nominees substantial majorities.

LITTLE GIRL IS VICTIM OF RIFLE

2-YEAR-OLD DAUGHTER OF R. E. ADAMS KILLED

Sadie Merle Adams, little 2-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Adams of near Medina, was accidentally killed last Monday when she was accidentally shot by a .22 calibre rifle, according to reports reaching here. From what we could learn of the accident, the little girl and other children were playing with the rifle in her father's car when the gun went off, the bullet entering her right cheek and ranging upward to her brain.

The funeral of the little girl was held Tuesday afternoon with burial at Medina.

Survivors include the parents, a brother and sister, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. other grandparents in California.

The New Era, joined by the many friends of the family, offers condolence to the bereaved ones in the loss of this sweet little girl due to the regrettable tragedy.

PENSION TAXES OFFER NEW PROBLEM

Austin, Nov. 6.—Constitutional complications which may seriously hamper the job of collecting revenues under the new pensions administration have been revealed by Comptroller Sheppard following his departmental study of the law.

Enforcement of the taxing provisions are left largely with the comptroller, Sheppard said, experience in tax collecting, the most obvious defects were quickly spotted.

Number 1 difficulty threatened to be the lack of penalties for violations of the tax provisions.

An instance was the section setting up a tax upon ores. The provision is supposed to pay the tax, but if he doesn't there seems to be little that can be done about it. The same objection holds against the tax on automobiles, which the comptroller will call the "amusement tax."

"This tax," said Sheppard, "promises to bring in more than was at first anticipated; but there are defects which he still does not require daily or weekly or monthly reports, the tax being paid quarterly. Here we are going to do with the traveling show that can play all the big spots in Texas in three months. By the time they would be supposed to report, they might be in Oklahoma. There is no penalty for their failure to pay the tax."

An altogether different difficulty arises in regard to the tax on mortgages. This tax provides that every mortgage, deed of obligation, secured by chattel mortgage, deed of trust, mechanic's lien, contracts and instruments of a similar nature, must have a stamp attesting the payment of the tax.

How the parties to this mortgage are to secure the stamp is the question. The state treasurer shall be responsible for the custody and sale of such stamps and for the proceeds therefrom," bill says, but makes no other provision for their distribution. Before the instrument is filed, it would seem that the stamp, by the parties to each mortgage write in to the treasurer and get a stamp? Ball, Sheppard declared, that is a problem which the treasurer must work out, the bill not providing that this provision shall be enforced by the comptroller.

Because numerous new forms must be printed and nearly every form now used changed to some extent, the comptroller's work job will not be completed ready. This was done almost as soon as the law went into effect. Sheppard has asked appropriation to pay the cost of enforcement, excepting an item of $2,000 for printing the revised marble machine tax. "This," observed Sheppard, "will not be enough to pay for printing the forms."

The comptroller is not concerned about what phase of this law as it will take some time to determine just what is needed to enforce the new law, and the regular session of the legislature will meet in January.

An important change was made in the law by the senate finance committee. Heretofore, this tax has been the primary liability of the producer, and was payable quarterly.

OVER-CONFIDENCE — THE MOTORIST'S SIN

If a 1925 model car and a recent model were to start out on a drive, which would you think most likely to become involved in an accident?

Probably you will answer, "The old car, with out-moded brakes, relatively inefficient steering and general inferiority."

You're wrong. According to the National Safety Council, 81.79 per cent of the cars now in service were built from 1925 to 1928. Inclusive, and they are involved in less than 12 per cent of all accidents reported.

Only 15 per cent of the cars in service were built in 1935—yet these cary figured in almost 24 per cent of all accidents.

This apparent anomaly has an obvious explanation. Drivers of new cars are over-confident. They over-rate the safety factor of better brakes, bodies, steering, lights, etc. Because a car is in A-1 mechanical shape, and is more or less new, they take chances until the tragic day of reckoning arrives.

This is not a boost for old cars—many of which should be barred from the highways because of mechanical dangers caused by obsolescence and neglect—but it is a plea for a different attitude on the part of owners of our modern gasoline chariots. It is a sad commentary on these drivers that better cars mean a higher accident record.

Regard your car, new or old as a potentially lethal machine. It can spread death and destruction when mismanaged. Don't commit the great driving sin of over-confidence—its end is likely to be the cemetery.

TEXANS EAT MUCH

Old Man Texas might have been a wee bit hungry in 1935, but at that he managed to eat more than the combined total of Utah, North and South Dakota, Delaware, Wyoming, Mississippi, Montana and Idaho, Census Bureau figures released Saturday by the United States Department of Commerce revealed.

Texas food sales for the year ran $287,111,000, while the total of the other eleven States amounted to only $182,891,000. Only citizens of New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and California managed to eat more than the Lone Star Staters who ranked ninth in the consumption of food.

Scouts from Troop 146 went to Comfort for the Mohair District Court of Honor on Thursday, November 5. At this meeting we lost the attendance banner by four points. It was the first time that it been away from Bandera since last May. Comfort on her home ground just barely managed to take it away from us. The following attended the meeting: John, Climeh and Allie Gerald Langford, Donald Nored, Aldric Patterson, Jack Burns, Delbert Knibbe, David Hogan, Leo Mairs-field, Orville Lindsey and Leo Towers, David Candler, Clyde Wright, A. V. Saul, W. O. Patton and Felix Knibbe.

The following Scouts received awards: Leo Mansfield, personal merit badge; John Lang-ford, marksmanship, first aid, life saving and personal health merit badges; Delbert Knibbe and Leo Frank Towers received athletics, first aid, life saving and personal health merit badges; John Langford completed work and service for Star Scout rank; Delbert Knibbe and Leo Frank Towers completed work and service for Life Scout rank. These awards will be given at the January Court of Honor.

The Annual Business Roundup and first Court of Honor of 1937 will be held in Bandera on January 7. At this meeting we want as many as possible to attend to help us win the banner back. Bandera already has the honor of having the largest attendance at any recent Court of Honor. We want to make this one even larger.

The attendance for this year in the whole high and grammar school is 97 per cent, remarkably more than in previous years. This is an exceedingly fine attendance, in spite of the bad weather we have been having. We are hoping that this attendance will continue throughout the year.

Mr. Patton, Mr. Briggs, Mr. Teel and several pupils visited Dan Callahan at the Nix Hospital in San Antonio Friday, and found him on the road to recovery. We were very glad to hear this, for he is one of our star football players. I am sure that he would appreciate any company from his many friends here.

Those who went to Dallas Friday were Lanelle Fee, Georgia Fee, Walter Jurecki, Boyd Ryle, Delbert Knibbe, Clarence Adamietz, Allie Gerald Langford and Jack Burns. They reported as having enjoyed the trip immensely and are back in school, safe and sound. You may expect to hear about their trip in our future school news.

Approximately seventy people from Bandera attended the football game at Edgar High in San Antonio last Friday. Although we did not win, we feel that our team played remarkably well. We understand that we played the first team instead of the C team as had been planned. Anyway, the Pep Squad got many fine compliments, so WE "Won't give up the ship," but we will keep on yelling to the end for B. H. S.

We are sorry to announce that Carroll Price, our star football player (one man gang) has transferred to Tivy High School at Kerrville.

Zelda Ruth thinks Louise found Frankenstein here in the football game Friday. Anyway, something must have been wrong, for after a very exciting touchdown Louise felt of her throat and said "Zelda Ruth, just feel of my heart."

RELIEF PROBLEM IS FIRST BIG ADMINISTRATION TASK

Washington, Nov. 7. — Mr. Roosevelt's triumphant return from the political wars brings into focus many important questions of future policy, among them two of special gravity: What are the President's intentions with relation to the problem of relief, and what are his intentions to-ward the Constitution and the courts?

In view of many of his own official family, the prime immediate task of the new administration will be a fresh approach to the relief riddle. The continuance of large-scale unemployment now ranks one of the chief sources of apprehension and hesitation on the part of private industry, but the relief expenditures continue to be a serious drag on hopes for budget balancing. If the problem of the jobless could be solved, most of Washington's worries would disappear.

That the present relief policy is not providing a solution is self-evident. Re-employment is very far from keeping pace with general economic recovery, and it is no secret that some who could get work elsewhere prefer their present lot on the relief rolls. The relief load on the Treasury is still tremendous. The existing system is widely criticized on the ground that it permits leaks and abuses, and on the ground that it works against national morale by making for built up a permanent class of paupers.

In any case, aside from its concealed defects of method and administration, the work progress organization never was intended as a solution, but merely as an emergency measure. Everyone recognizes that unless the greater part, at least, of the WPA workers are dropped from the Federal pay roll sooner or later, one of two things must happen. Either all thought of budget balancing must be forgotten, or else new and far heavier taxes must be imposed.

Congress must face that situation early in the new session which begins in January. Existing appropriations are about exhausted, and most of the Congress members, as well as the President himself, have just been elected after promising to hasten the balancing of the budget. Likewise most of them, as well as the President, have gone on record against further tax increases. The inevitable logic points to a revamping of the relief structure, so as to reduce the cost and promote private employment.

The direction this reconsideration will take cannot yet be forecast. Indeed, it is probable that the President himself has made no fixed decision, although a number of proposals are before him. Roughly, most of these proposals contemplate, as a basic provision, the return of a much larger share of the relief load to the State and municipal governments. Some of them, at least, suggest such a curtailment of allotments as will make private employment more attractive, where it is available, and relief pay. Some propose a decentralization of administration, as a precaution against leaks.

F. D. R. POLL ALSO FELL SHORT OF MARK

Washington, Nov. 6.—President Roosevelt as a campaigner piled up the biggest electoral vote in modern political history, but as a guesser as to the outcome he proved very bad indeed.

Smiling at newspaper men around his desk, Mr. Roosevelt today revealed that his last guess on the election result under-estimated his electoral vote by 163.

The chief executive revealed that his forecast made on November 1 and sealed in an envelope until the returns had been counted, was, Roosevelt, 360; Landon, 171. The president actually got 523 to Landon's 8.

The president had made three other forecasts but he described the fourth and last as his best. Grinning, he apologized for the bad guess.

The president's first forecast was made last January 30. Then he figured the Democratic vote at 325, Republican 206.

On June 8, just before the conventions, he figured: Democrats, 315; Republicans, 216.

On August 2, upon his return from Quebec he put down initials for the first time, as follows: F. D. R., 340; A. M. L., 191.

Mr. Roosevelt willingly gave the data after a reporter asked: "Have you opened the envelope?"

The president said he had, but he wished the question had not been asked because his estimates were so far off.

"Lots of us were," one newspaper man replied as a roar of laughter swept the president's office.

FORMER BANDERA MAN IS CHAMP HOG CALLER

Temple, Tex., Nov. 7.—A city feller showed the farmers a thing or two about hog-calling at the Central Texas Exposition here today.

David D. Brewer, a resident of Temple, defeated six sons of the soil.

However, it was learned Brewer hadn't always lived in the city. In fact he's been there but two years, having previous farm experience in Bandera county.

Michael Pierce and mother, Mrs. Charles Bugh and Mrs. Dawson were Fredericksburg and Kerrville visitors Saturday.

SECURITY BOARD OKS TEXAS PENSION PLAN

Washington, Nov. 13.—The Social Security Board today approved the revised Texas old age pension plan and allotted $840,000 for November matching funds.

Austin, Nov. 13.—The Old Age Assistance Commission added 1,500 checks Friday to 86,237, totaling $1,342,995, which have been prepared for distribution when an anticipated $800,000 Federal grant is received.

Orville S. Carpenter, acting director, said that 212,000 applications for assistance had been received. Of this number, 25,000 have been adjudged ineligible and checks will be issued for approximately 88,000 this month, Carpenter's recapitulation shows action on 112,737 cases out of 212,000 applications.

Meanwhile, commission forces were directed to re-investigation of recipients now on the rolls, whose eligibility is doubtful under the "necessitous circumstances" clause of the new Texas Oakland law. Sponsors of the law estimated it would reduce to between 70,000 and 80,000 the maximum number of pensioners in contrast to an anticipated peak of 150,000 under the original law.

Carpenter said that neither applicants nor recipients now on the rolls would have to fill out new applications under the new statute, for the original application would be sufficient. While several "second" applications have been received, he said, they cannot be considered.

With extensive re-investigation underway, the acting director said competitive examinations in the district system used to employ employees would be ordered soon to fill vacancies in the investigation staffs of 10 out of the 20 administrative districts.

Districts with vacancies are those with headquarters at Dallas, Fort Worth, Texarkana, Lufkin, Beaumont, Athens, Waco, San Antonio, Amarillo and Houston. Eligibility rules coincide with Federal regulations.

The average price received for the spring mohair was 60 and 70 cents; the average price for the fall hair was 55½ and 65½ cents, or the highest average price for the year received by any warehouse in United States, and so far reported. ### ARCHER COUNTY FARMERS WILL GET FIRST CHECKS

Archer county farmers are scheduled to be the first in the state to receive checks from the estimated $38,000,000 to be paid Texas farmers for compliance with agricultural conservation plans made last spring, according to the announcement of the State agricultural conservation committee.

Archer county was the first in Texas to get its crop land measurements completed and its work sheets in the hands of the State committee. Applications for grants have been prepared and are now in the county ready for producers' signatures.

Six other counties, Baylor, Foard, King, Wichita, Wilbarger and Young, have also completed the preliminary work which entitled the farmers who signed work sheets to make applications for government grants. Work sheets from all of these counties have been checked and approved by the committee, and calculations of the county quotas in total soil-depleting acreage, cotton acreage and production have been sent to the counties.

In the whole State, 242,000 work sheets were signed, covering approximately 25 million of the 35 million acres of crop land in the State. It is estimated that a large proportion of the farmers who signed work sheets will complete co-operation and receive checks.

Hereford—Two carloads of 4-year-old steers fed out of a home-grown ration of corn and ground maize heads, supplemented with seven per cent of cottonseed meal, were recently sold on the Fort Worth market by O. G. Hill of Hereford at $9.50 per hundred, according to A. P. Bathish, agricultural agent of Deaf Smith county.

The maize heads and corn were fed equally divided at the rate of five pounds a day at the beginning of the feeding period, and this ration was increased until 10 pounds was being fed at the finish. The steers averaged 1,397 pounds when sold.

Weatherford—In 1906 Mr. Walter Reed of Parker county applied 20 loads of barn-yard manure to an acre of sandy soil which had been terraced, and neighbors still remark on the increased fertility of this plot. County Agricultural Agent J. W. Jackson stated. This year corn on the fertilized acre yielded five bushels more than adjoining acres of that crop.

Guthrie—A year ago M. V. Terry, manager of the Pitchford Ranch in King county, had three barrels of ham and bacon sides covered with refined cottonseed oil, and recently he reported to R. L. White, agricultural agent of King county, that the meat so stored had been consumed and that it had remained soft, sweet and deliciously flavored down to the last piece in the last barrel. Parr plans to use the oil again this year.

Waxahachie—That soil conservation measures which utilized vegetation were more effective than mechanical control following a 10.5 inch rain in the Waxahachie Soil Conservation Camp area, is the verdict of camp officials who have just completed a careful check on work completed. Terraces grass-sodded terrace outlets were 95 per cent effective following a drouth which caused deep cracks in the soil. Terraces emptied on pastures were 100 per cent effective. Strip-cropping reduced soil loss to a minimum.

Lockhart—Co-operators of the Plum Creek watershed demonstration of the Soil Conservation Service are observing that strip cropping will satisfactorily control erosion on certain slopes of land. Under present agreements 2,736.8 acres of land are being treated with a combination of terracing and strip cropping. By the use of strip crops, farmers control the erosion of their lesser slopes and partially control the erosion on their greater slopes until such time as power and equipment are available to construct terrace and terrace outlets.

- Garland Adair, in the Austin Dispatch: Know Texas. Did you know that Harris county, down where Houston is, has a population larger than Vermont. That Dallas county has 8 per square population greater than New York State? And that Texas and California polled more votes in the November general election than all of the remaining States west of the Mississippi?

ATTORNEY GENERAL ENLISTS IN TURKEY WAR

Austin, Nov. 12.—Attorney General William McCraw announced today he will confer with officials of the anti-trust bureau of the department of justice in Washington, Nov. 18, concerning Texas' turkey "war."

McCraw said he would investigate the anti-trust phase of alleged price-fixing in the Texas turkey market while in Washington on the natural gas conservation law case coming before the Supreme Court. Gonzales turkey raisers asked an investigation of "uniform low" turkey prices in Texas.

Leonard King, assistant attorney general, returned from Gonzales after talking with raisers and said it would be several days before he would make a report to McCraw.

MORE THAN SIX MILLION POUNDS WOOL BOUGHT

The amount of 1937 wool contracted to date passed the 6 million point yesterday as the purchase of 700,000 pounds in various parts of the country was reported.

The leading buyer of the day was C. A. Vaughan of the San Angelo Wool Company who got 300,000 pounds at prices of 30 to 32 cents, most of the wool coming from the Rankin territory. Geo. O'Neil got 200,000 pounds of 3-months wool for A. W. Hilliard & Son in the Del Rio country at 30 cents a pound.

Max Schmidt contracted the 20,000-pound clip of Will Blaylock at 32 cents. An additional 20,000 pounds were sold in the Concho country at 32½ cents a pound where 500,000 pounds have been contracted. A number of options were in force on both 8-months and 12-months' wool and trading was active on some premium wools which would set a new high for the contracting period.

One firm which heretofore had made no offers was said to be in the field last night. It was reported that an offer of 31 cents a pound had been made on the West Bros. and Carson 8-months wool by Crockett Gray. A number of options are in force at 33 cents in the territory where premiums prices are not ordinarily paid, and are expected to be exercised today. Joe Walker, wool buyer for Thomas Woltenhouse, arrived at the Cactus last night, and other buyers are coming. Possibly the first firm which has been contracting had been withdrawn, but the rest of them are in there pitching. The heat is still on.—San Angelo Times, Nov. 17.

NATIONAL BANKS EXEMPT IN LEGAL STAMP LAW

Austin, Nov. 14.— National banks and other agencies of the federal government are not subject to the new Texas stamp tax on legal instruments attesting indebtedness, the attorney general's department held in a conference opinion today.

The ruling was one of several in the opinion, prepared at the instance of State Treasurer Charley Lockhart, enforcement officer for the stamp tax law.

The law provides a tax of 10 cents for each $100 of the value of all mortgages, including deeds of trust, warranty deeds with vendor's liens, mechanic's liens, chattel mortgages and all similar instruments filed of record in the offices of county clerks.

The opinion pointed out that the statute expressly exempts "instrumentalities and agencies of the United States." Holding this to include national banks, the opinion observed that even had that language been absent from the law, the agencies nevertheless would be exempt as a state legislature may levy taxes upon instrumentalities of the federal government only in the manner expressly authorized by congress.

Lockhart asked to which documents the stamp should be affixed when two instruments covering the same transaction between parties were filed. The opinion answered that a separate tax must be paid on each instrument which is filed separately and apart from other instruments, although they cover the same subject matter.

Other rulings included:

Mortgages given to secure past due payments on original loans and to better secure the original loan are subject to tax on the full amount of the mortgage.

Mortgages executed prior to the effective date of the law, but recorded after the law became effective, are subject to the tax.

Renewal of a mortgage is not subject to the tax, although new notes may have been executed, providing no additional advance is made.

Mortgages and other liens executed but not recorded are not subject to the tax.

The only apparent penalty for evasion of the tax appeared to be possible effect it would have on the instrument; that is, an instrument recorded upon which the tax was not paid would not be recorded as provided by registration laws of the state, and might not be notice to any third party. Moreover, a county clerk accepting an instrument without the payment of the tax "would probably be guilty of malfeasance or office" and liable under his official bond.

There is no provision in the law requiring the county clerks to keep a supply of stamps on hand for direct sale.

The tax is not intended to tax the amount of interest which may accrue on the amount of indebtedness.

The law implies that the clerk shall cancel stamps used on instruments filed with him.

BRITISH SPLIT ON ROMANCE OF KING

London, Nov. 18.—Though King Edward VIII continues adamant in his determination to marry Mrs. Wallis Simpson and has won Queen Mary's approval, many delicate obstacles of state remained today to be surmounted before an official announcement can be made.

The king and the charming American woman, however, spent the day away from these thorny problems of British tradition, Mrs. Simpson was among the intimate friends gathered in a gay house party at the sensational monarch's favorite retreat, Fort Belvedere, where they enjoyed the autumnal splendor of the English country side.

Meanwhile, it became more and more apparent that the amazing game of intrigue is being played around the throne of England in connection with what future historians may record as the "romance of the century."

It is no longer any secret that terrific pressure is by some powerful government and church interests is being brought to bear to discourage the king from marrying a commoner—especially if that commoner be not British.

On the other hand, many important elements in the British empire—including powerful leaders of Britain's labor groups—are signifying their complete approval of such a marriage. They view it not only as democratic in spirit but as fostering closer and more sympathetic British ties with the two Eng...

AAA 1937 PROGRAM TO CHANGE LITTLE

Brenham, Tex., Nov. 13.—The AAA's Southern regional director, C. A. Cobb, told 900 farmers here today the AAA program for 1937 would improve with simplification, reduced expenses and extension, but would remain unchanged in important features.

He said he expected at least a preliminary announcement of the program by Jan. 1.

Cobb said the 1937 program would attempt to provide a balanced system that will feed the land, the livestock and the family, and provide assurance of a reasonable price for the cash crop produced.

He said foreign cotton production might be checked by unrestrained cotton production in the United States, but it, might not. This, he said, would bring huge surpluses, low prices and impoverished soil.

Farmers attending were from 66 counties. Senator Tom Connally and President T. O. Walton of Texas A. & M. College were present.

"You have made many promises."

"Without hesitation," answered Senator Borgnine.

"In politics, my friend, a promise cannot be offered as a positive prediction. Many of them are expected to accomplish no more than to show that your heart is in the right place.

AAA 1937 PROGRAM TO CHANGE LITTLE

Brenham, Tex., Nov. 13.—The AAA's Southern regional director, C. A. Cobb, told 900 farmers here today the AAA program for 1937 would improve with simplification, reduced expenses, and extension, but would remain unchanged in important features.

He said he expected at least a preliminary announcement of the program by Jan. 1.

Cobb said the 1937 program would attempt to provide a "balanced system that will feed the land, the livestock and the family, and provide assurance of a reasonable price for the cash farmer.

He said foreign cotton production might be checked by upstream cotton production in the United States, but it might not. This, he said, would bring huge surpluses, low prices and impoverishment.

Farmers attending were from 66 counties. Senator Tom Connally, president T. O. Walton and H. H. Williamson of A. and M. College were present.

Baby Lions Whipped Cream Addicts

Music does it sometimes, but on this occasion it's whipped cream that soothes the savage beast, as Mrs. Marjorie Freeman of Hollywood, Calif., takes her two lion cubs, Slatie and Buddy, to lunch, and stuffs them with the creamy confection. Her pets are a gift of the San Diego zoo.

RAYMOND BATTO AND MISS AGATHA MAZUREK, WED

The St. Stanislaus Catholic Church of this city was the scene of a pretty wedding Tuesday morning when Miss Agatha Mazurek, the eldest daughter of Henry Mazurek, became the bride of Raymond Batto, the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Batto. Rev. Father F. S. Strobel, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

Miss Elsie Adamietz at the organ, played the wedding march from Lohengrin for the processional and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the recessional. The choir sang the mass in honor of St. Aloysius and during the Offertory Miss Dorothy Jurecski sang Gounod's "Ave Maria." At the communion the choir sang "O Lord I Am Not Worthy."

The bride was lovely in a white satin gown and tulle veil, and carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. Her sister, Miss Anna Mae Mazurek, was her only attendant. Her dress was of blue crepe and she carried a bouquet of chrysanthemums. A reception was attended by his brother Charles Batto of San Antonio.

The New Era, joined by the many friends of the newlyweds, offers congratulations to the happy young couple.

HUNTER GETS BUCK AFTER THIRTY YEARS

A. R. Fox of 124 Gonzales Street, veteran employee of the railway express agency, has been going out every season for the past 30 years in search of a buck. ## 330 Miles of Road Work in District

More than three hundred and thirty miles of road work are included in the San Antonio District WPA program, according to District Director E. P. Arneson.

Based upon statistics of, September 15, WPA records show that workers in the San Antonio district have completed repairs and improvements on more than 200 miles of lateral roads and that work is progressing upon an additional 65 miles.

"In addition to providing work for unemployed persons in this area, the road program has been one of the most beneficial types of public improvement undertaken by this organization," Arneson declared. "City and rural dwellers alike will realize gratifying returns for years to come from the investment which WPA and the counties have made on these roads."

Counties which have shared in the district road program include Atascosa, Bandera, Bee, Bexar, Calhoun, Comal, DeWitt, Goliad, Gonzales, Guadalupe, Jackson, Karnes, Kerr, Lavaca, Live Oak, McMullen, Refugio and Wilson.

State WPA Administrator Administrator H. P. Drought has recently announced that 6,233 miles of roads have been built or improved during the past twelve months and that projects still in operation accounted for the employment of an additional 3,724 miles. Reaching into 214 counties, the program has put approximately 1,000 WPA grants of 9,162,946 and sponsor's expenditure of $3,957,-245. Of the $13,120,191 total, included in the Texas WPA program, $607 are classified as farm-to-market roads. Other projects have provided jobs for an average of 26,500 needy Texans during the past year.

VETERANS CONDUCT RITES FOR SINGER

The famous Wagnerian contralto died Friday in Hollywood at the age of 75, formerly lived here and was beloved by war veterans because of her many benefit appearances, notably the gift to them of her $230,000 San Diego estate.

SPRING PROVIDES POWER ON RANCH

Uvalde, Nov. 21.—Power is believed to be the only plant of its kind in operation in Texas—a water wheel which will eventually be for all of the machinery on the farm—is owned by C. B. McMahan of Uvalde, Route 3, and is located on the Frio River, seven miles from Uvalde.

A large spring on his mountain farm furnishes the head, and "fuel" McManus needs. Some power has been planned and built a 22-foot water wheel, which has a "top speed" of nine revolutions per minute. Water is obtained from the spring by gravity flow through a flume 220 feet in length. The wheel furnishes power necessary for operating the machinery in a woodwork shop, an electric light plant and a grist mill.

WEINER ROAST

Panther Killed Near Boerne

Alex "Booby" Lee killed a young female puma on the Julius Dembert ranch west of Boerne last Wednesday night.

Lee wounded the animal, then with the aid of dogs cornered the cat and delivered the fatal shot. It was a young animal, but measured 6½ inches from tip to tip. When cleaned the cat was found to have portions of a goat in its paunch.

Lee's cat was the first killed in these parts for 30 years. The last known Puma slain near Boerne was in the same vicinity by Jesse Patton—Boerne Star.

HONDO COURTHOUSE NARROWLY ESCAPES BURNING

Monday's forty thousand dollar courthouse fire caused by faulty construction by the fire demon Tuesday afternoon and the week and only the timely arrival of the volunteer fire department equipped with chemical extinguishers saved the building.

Fire originated from some unknown cause—presumably a cigarette stump—among some papers in the grand jury room on the third floor. For some months the room has been occupied by employees of the local branch of Federal Farm Loan. Mr. Theodore Cagle, the manager, left his coat or attaches were out of the office when the fire occurred. As a consequence, considerable damage was done to the office records and equipment when the fire was discovered. Luckily, the flames had not gained much headway on the wooden floor of the building. A few minutes delay in extinguishing same and the entire framework of the big, fine building would have been past preservation. As it was, about forty dollars worth of replacements are required to control the flames until a fire hose could be laid from a fire hydrant on the court house square, across the courthouse yard and through up two crooked stairways. In the meantime, volunteer arrival and systematic teamwork of the Hondo boys saved the county from a heavy loss and possible destruction of unreplaceable records.

In this connection, it is not inappropriate to say that Hondo does not know the value of the Volunteer Fire Company, and it is not possible to estimate what it would have cost to have fire without their service. Neither do those who have never served on the fire department realize what the boys make for the protection of the property of all of us. On last week they were called from their warm beds in the night and made a run through the cold night air to put out a burning haystack. A timely service like that may save nearly losses by preventing fire from spreading to adjoining property.—Hondo Anvil Herald.

Gene Hibbs, star end of the University of Southern California's great eleven, has been a tower of strength in the line on the entire season. His is a younger brother of Jess Hibbs, All-American tackle of the 1928 team.

JOBS FOR 14,733 WORKERS MADE AVAILABLE

San Antonio, Nov. 23.—Jobs for 14,733 workers have been made available by the authorization of 198 new WPA projects during the past month, it has been announced by Texas Works Progress Administrator H. P. Drought.

"We intend that these projects will absorb workers who are released from completed WPA projects and those who are returning to our rolls as seasonal agricultural work ends in various parts of the State," Drought explained.

Federal allocations of $2,543,-310 and sponsors' funds amounting to $1,103,510 will make possible the operation of the newly-authorized projects. More projects are being approved in the State WPA office as the need for them becomes apparent in various parts of Texas.

Farm-to-market roads led new-approved projects with $1,167,-830 allocated by federal officials to be used in the prosecution of 71 such jobs. Extending into 61 counties, the new lateral road program encompasses improvements in 943 miles of roadway and will employ 6,497 workers.

WISDOM

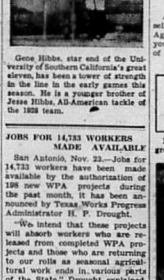
By

LEONARD-A. BARRETT

In every city and village of our great country there are splendidly



ings dedicated to education. Colleges and universities are mutilplying in number and enrollments are held by these institutions are increasing numerically and in potential value. Thousands of youth who graduate from high school or college face a stern world as they look for jobs. Some succeed in finding employment, but many are disappointed. Some of those who find work hold their jobs; others do not. We ask what is the reason for the same educational training? The explanation for the success of one group and the failure of the other may not be so much a difference in ability as in the power to discriminate between wisdom and knowledge. Knowledge is a splendid possession, but the proper use of knowledge is a more valuable possession. An old proverb reads: "Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore, get wisdom; and with all thy getting, get understanding."

We have almost perfected airplane. Travel is comparatively safe and speedy. Radio and television are almost commonplace. Science is a definite place in our economic and social life. Research in scientific and important piece in warfare.

Knowledge has taught us how to make our nation so rich and powerful that large areas of population can be supported in comfortable ease. The chemical laboratory furnishes the gases but not the wisdom which temporarily destroys life in destructive ends. The sciences of economics and business have made it possible for us to produce enormous large fortunes, but economics fails to furnish the principles which controls the use of that money for the benefit of society.

Knowledge increases both the possibility and the danger of crime. The more a man knows, the more dangerous he may be to the state. Many of our most atrocious crimes have been committed by well-trained men, "diplomats."

Knowledge is a prime requisite, but wisdom is the princely reserve. Wisdom cries aloud for the development of character proportionate to the development of mind. Mind and character the ultimate aim of education.

Knowledge is filled with motives; knowledge presents facts. Wisdom asks the purpose of creative action or personal condition; knowledge is interested in the problem created and in the figures themselves. Wisdom says "Why?" knowledge says "How?" Both are important, but the "How" depends upon the "Why" upon which depends the answer "Why?" than to the "How?"

Wisdom is the principal thing; therefore, get wisdom.

THANKSGIVING 1936

In a time of perplexing change, and a world of dark confusion, Thanksgiving Day becomes an occasion of especial significance. Its observance, as we all know, is an old custom extending back almost three centuries to the early history of our Nation.

In many respects Thanksgiving Day of 1936 is essentially different from innumerable Thanksgiving days of years ago. The family will again assemble. All noon we will gather around the dining room table which will be literally burdened with the best of good things to eat. Then even those of jaded appetites will acquit themselves well, and the balance of the day will be spent in light hearted conversation.

We in America do enjoy comparative abundance. We live in a land of free men. No foreign enemy is gathering unto itself hordes across an armed frontier. Class hatred within our borders virtually does not exist, and the imminent danger of general violence disturbs our tranquility. Our foreign is committed to a policy of strict neutrality. We propose to be good neighbors and expect like consideration from all others within our hemisphere.

In this world of strife, terror and confusion if this does not justify us in offering thanks, then indeed we are hard to satisfy.

Thanksgiving Day, 1936, is indeed a happy occasion in America.

CONCERNING CANNERY

It has been brought to the attention of some of the citizens of the community that the county officers are contemplating the sale of the canning equipment that was given to the county last summer when the Texas Relief Commission ceased to function in this community.

The writer of this article feels that it is his duty as a citizen of the county that the people be told of this in order that they may take immediate steps to stop any disposition of so useful equipment and in order that they may take advantage of the opportunity which is rightfully theirs.

It is not given to all to have the means to purchase the necessary equipment that will enable us to save surplus vegetables and fruits and meat which otherwise would have to be thrown on the market at a time when it would bring only the lowest price, or be lost because of no means to preserve it. Canning equipment is high and it was a red letter day for this county when the T. R. C. gave it a three thousand dollar plant.

To the writer's knowledge this information has not been made public heretofore and a wonderful opportunity was lost by the people in not knowing that this canning plant was theirs to use. Communities could have brought their surplus vegetables and fruits to the plant along with their cans and condiments and worked together in saving their foods for future use. They would probably have been asked to install fees which would go to the county to be distributed to the needy at some future date. They would have been asked to leave the plant in as sanitary and mechanically perfect a condition as they found it in order that other communities could avail themselves of the same opportunity. Some one individual in each group using the equipment would probably have been asked by the county officials to assume the responsibility of seeing that the equipment was left in good condition or was not carried away by some unscrupulous person. A superior could then be appointed by the community for the term they would use the equipment. Cans could be purchased at the cannery from some one designated by the county officials to dispose of their thousands which the Texas Relief Commission gave with the plant. Those in the community who would not be able to purchase them could be given the cans necessary to save their surplus provided they could show they were unable to purchase same.

Some arrangement can be worked out whereby this equipment can be made available. We think it would be well to immediately contact your commissioner and advise him whether you want this canning equipment made available to you and your community or whether you are going to allow the opportunity to pass by and let the equipment be sold.

Mrs. W. H. Burns was a San

What about this Aldrie? Let us in on the secret. Who—is—she?

The last report received from Dan Callahan was to the effect that he is expected home the latter part of next week. We hope he does well and gets to return home as soon as expected.

The 8th grade science class has the same amount of money in their treasury as they had at the end of their candy sale. It was said that the boys were to build the fish pond but it may have to be taken back. Trucks have been asked for, wagons have been asked for, and wheelbarrows will be asked for next, if we don't get something done. Come on boys, the money is burning our pockets, and the turtles need room to expand.

ing of pupils of the first and second grades elected Wayne Roede as president of the club for this month. A grade organization meets each Friday afternoon and its chief purpose is to instill in the pupils a greater interest in public speaking and a better understanding of grammar.

The primary pupils are very busy this week on their portion of the Thanksgiving program which is presented one night next week. Each student of the primary room has a part in the dialogue and some of the beginners are having quite a struggle with theirs.

We are very interested just now in a contest in the First grade. The beginner who hands in the best picture-word note book at the close of next month will receive a prize. Thanksgiving now are: Roger Stevens, 1st, Buddy Mathis, 2nd, and Jimmie Joe Price, 3rd.

P. T. A. BANQUET

One of the most enthusiastic and largest gatherings of the community was witnessed at the High School building when a banquet was given on Tuesday night. The assembly room was converted into a banquet hall with the long tables artistically decorated with autumn leaves and red candles.

J. A. Wrigt, the toastmaster, called on Rev. O. E. Moreland to say grace and Mrs. E. H. Teel, president of the P. T. A., welcomed the guests. The banquet menu consisted of turkey, dressing, potatoes, peas, olives, lettuce, celery, cranberry sauce and pie.

Prof. A. K. Briggs gave a history of the school and cited the accomplishments of the school board and P. T. A. in furthering the expansion of the school.

The program of the evening included a number by the Bandera Orchestra, song by Miss Louise Rugh, a trumpet solo by Clarence Adamietz, song by Miss Mae Bull, followed by talks by many of our prominent citizens. The banquet was concluded by the entire audience singing "The Eyes of Texas."

It was truly one of the finest manifestations of community spirit and with such co-operation the school should continue to go forward to even greater heights.

Approximately 150 persons attended the banquet and about $65 was realized.

COUNTY PLANNING MEETINGS TO BE HELD

These "Planning" meetings are to be held throughout the county and it is hoped that every farmers attend at least one of these meetings. You are presented with a "Farm Planning Agreement" wants with a "Planning Program," but, folks, it isn't as complicated as it sounds. These "planning" meetings are for your benefit—for information to be used in INSTALLATIONS in the 1938 Soil Conservation program.

This year the regulations you used in complying with your work sheets were used to one-fourth of the United States or better known as the Southern Region, instead of the United States.

In 1938 each State is to have its own regulations and State officials are to meet of our plans having to go to Washington to be checked and approved, they will be made over the telephone and CHECKS mailed from our STATE OFFICE; this plan will certainly save you time and money and I am sure you will be more satisfied.

The first meeting in the county held to get the "plan" of each county's cropping system, and then the State Committee will figure on about four "regions" in Texas alone, or about 50 counties, instead of 254. Should conditions as I recall, it will certainly be much easier for us to comply, because we will not have to do the things that our type of topography "allows us to do."

I urge you, for your own benefit, to attend one of the following meetings, and help us to plan your part of next year's soil conservation program:

Tarpley, Saturday, Dec. 12, 2 p. m.

Myrtle Creek School, Thursday night, Dec. 10.

Bandera Courthouse, Saturday, Dec. 12, 2:30 p. m.

Medina Schoolhouse, Saturday Dec. 12, 2:30 p. m.

Ralph Lyle and Sanford Smith, J. Vanderpool (see Pete Porter.)

Lima Schoolhouse, Friday night, Dec. 11, 8:00 p. m.

Pipe Creek, Saturday, Dec. 12, 2:30 p. m.

These meetings are to be held by your committeemen; they have had two day's of instruction and are all well versed on the subject. Come out and co-operate.

Dick Hartman, County Agent.

FDR Gets Big Hand in South America

ONE-MILLION ARGENTINES GIVE ROOSEVELT OVATION

Buenos Aires, Nov. 30. — One million Argentines gave President Franklin D. Roosevelt the greatest mass welcome in their nation's history when he arrived today to open conferences by which 21 American republics hope to build a citadel of permanent peace in the new world.

In his speech before the congress the president portrayed the Americas as "shoulder to shoulder against aggression and pledged forever against a war gn conquest.

Rio de Janeiro, Nov. 27.—President Roosevelt of the United States told a Brazilian parliamentary session today: "We maintain countenance aggression from wherescever it may come."

Pausing in his voyage to the inter-American peace meeting, he asserted last week's Pan-American conference was an opportunity to banish war forever from the new world, stated the fundaments of peace must be fortified and declared "there is no American conflict that cannot be settled by orderly and peaceful means."

Asserting all instrumentalities for the maintenance of peace must be consolidated and reinforced, the United States president said: "We are unwilling to preserve" a peace from wheresoever it may come.

Solidarity among American states in the cause of peace constitutes no threat to other regions or races. Strengthening peace is the solemn agreements among us will harm no other continent.

"On the contrary, the more firmly peace is established on this hemisphere, the better it will be for the peace of other parts of the world.

"I think I can say," he went on, "that if, in generations to come, we can live without fear, democratic government throughout the Americas will prove its complete ability to meet the standards of life for those millions who cry for an opportunity today."

The world war was to 'Let the strong survive; let the weak die.' The motto of peace is 'Let the strong help the weak to survive.'"

He asserted the Buenos Aires inter-American congress, opening next week, provided an opportunity to "banish war from the New World and dedicate it to peace." "It is unthinkable to me," Mr. Roosevelt told the "congressional session, "that in this time of world - wide misunderstanding we should fail to seize the opportunity to meet what is a heavy responsibility.

"This is no time to hesitate. We must be guided by a serene and generous view of our common needs."

He spoke from the tribune of the chamber after receiving a stunning reception from the huge beautiful rock-ribbed Rio harbor and in the rose-strewn streets of Brazil's capital.

ATTEND BEEKEEPERS MEET

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Clark attended the International Conference of Beekeepers in San Antonio the week of last week. They report a very interesting convention. There were exhibits of honey from all over the world, but none surpassed the famous guajillo honey of Texas. Various methods for beekeeping, from Chinese beehives and smokers to the latest motor driven extractors, were shown. Delegates from foreign countries, Canada and most of the States were present.

Mrs. Clark's women present at this meeting than ever before, there being about two hundred from twenty-two States. The Texas convention goes down in beekeeping records as being the largest and most active national auxiliary to the American Honey Producers League was organized.

Everyone enjoyed the delightful climax, "anything was 'honey-ey," no one got "stung" and all had a "swell" time.

Marker is Placed at Bandera Pass

A historical marker was placed at Bandera Pass last Friday by the State of Texas, with the following inscription:

"Celebrated Indian Pass known from the earliest days of Spanish settlement—Identified with many a frontier fight and many a hostile inroad—Old Ranger Trail from the Medina to the Guadalupe River, and the United States Army route between frontier posts followed this route through the mountains. Erected by the State of Texas, 1936."

This is not the inscription suggested in the historical commission by J. Marvin Hunter when he applied for the erection of a historical marker in Bandera Pass, Mr. Hunter requesting that reference be made to the battle there between Bandaneros and Apache Indians in 1754, and also the fight between Jack Hays' Rangers and Comanche Indians in 1842. But anyway, this beautiful marker is in place and with an inscription that carries good information to the passersby, and we are all proud of it.

Another marker is to be erected at Tarpley at the dinosaur tracks.

TEACHERS OPPOSE FRATS, SORORITIES

Fort Worth, Nov. 28.—The Texas Teachers' Association went on record today as opposing fraternities and sororities in high school.

To Complete Hiway To San Antonio

County Judge Granville Wright yesterday received a communication from State Highway Engineer Gibb Gilchrist, which infers that the unpaved portion of Highway No. 81 from the Bandera-Bexar county line to San Antonio will be hard-surfaced in the near future.

The letter follows:

Hon. Granville Wright,

Dear Sir:—

This is to advise that the following minute was passed by the State Highway Commission on November 24th, amending Minute No. 12699 passed August 1, 1936:

Minute No. 13064.

Yours very truly,

State Highway Engineer

COUNTY PLANNING MEETINGS TO BE HELD

These "planning" meetings are to be held throughout the county and it is very essential that a large attend at least one of these meetings. You are probably wondering why these meetings are termed with a "Planning Program," but, folks, it isn't as simple as that. The purpose of these meetings are for your benefit—for information to be used in REGULATING the 1936-Soil Conservation program.

This year the regulations you used in complying with your work sheets were cut to one-fourth of the United States or better known as the Southern Region, comprised of States below Kansas.

In 1938 each State is to have its own regulations and State office, said office to be located in Washington to be checked and approved, they will then be returned to the CHECKS mailed from our STATE OFFICE; this plan will certainly simplify our regulations and I am sure you will be more satisfied.

N. P.—These meetings are to be held in the "Key Points" of each county's cropping system, and then the State Committee has appointed four "regions" in Texas alone, or about 50 counties, instead of 13 States covered. As a result, it will certainly be much easier for us to comply, because we will be asked to do only the things that our type of topography "allows us to do."

I urge you, for your own benefit, to attend one of the following meetings, and help us to plan your part of next year's soil conservation program.

Tarpley, Saturday, Dec. 12, 2 p. m.

Myrtle Creek School, Thursday night, Dec. 10.

Bandera Courthouse, Saturday, Dec. 12, 2:30 p. m.

Marker is Placed at Bandera Pass

A historical marker was placed at Bandera Pass last Friday by the State of Texas, with the following inscription:

"Celebrated Indian Pass known from the earliest days of Spanish settlement—Identified with many a frontier fight and many a hostile inroad—Old Ranger Trail from the Medina to the Guadalupe River, and the United States Army route between frontier posts followed this route through the mountains. Erected by the State of Texas, 1936."

This is not the inscription suggested to the historical commission by J. Marvin Hunter when he applied for the erection of a historical marker in Bandera Pass, Mr. Hunter requesting that reference be made to the battle there between Rangers and Apache Indians in 1754, and also the fight between Jack Hays' Rangers and Comanche Indians in 1842. But anyway, this beautiful marker is in place and with an inscription that carries real information to the passersby, and we are all proud of it.

Neither marker is to be erected at Tarpley at the dinosaur tracks.

TIME NOW TO PLAN

The holiday season is approaching. Let us consider now ways and means of making our "city reflect the spirit, the happiness and the good will of this great time of the year.

Original window displays, attractive store decorations, appealing presentation of holiday merchandise—these are things we expect and hope to see in our city soon as we travel down its business section. We suggest that our merchants begin now to think of what they can do for the occasion. It is not a last minute job to be handled in a rush.

Home owners too can help by give our city a festive holiday appearance. Lighting of evergreens on the lawns and placing of polly wreaths in the windows all contribute their share to the spirit of happiness and gaiety.

Uniform decoration of the business section of the city is something that to consider now. Nothing will make a visit to Bandera more interesting or more pleasant to outsiders than uniform and attractive decorations along our main street. We might also consider a community program to bring the inspiration of the Christmas season to all our citizens.

But this required co-operation just as all community accomplishments demand unity and effort. We must blend our efforts together to place our city in the first rank among enterprising communities.

Are we early with our suggestions? Our experience is that all too often we are late with our effort and time does not enable us to do the job as it should be done. Let's start planning now.

YOU SERVE YOURSELF

He maintains our community activities, he supports all worthy enterprises, he contributes to our churches and public institutions, he pays taxes to support our schools and civic institutions. He's your local merchant.

But we don't ask you to support him for these reasons alone. We merely advise you to help maintain the business life of the community because you thereby serve your own interests.

If you own property, if your children attend schools, if you are interested in one of our churches or our civic institutions, if you are drawing your pay check from the community, obviously you should give your fellow merchant first consideration when you spend your money.

The value of your property, the character of the public service given in Bandera and the nature of the social and fraternal life of the community all hinge upon the prosperity of local business. When you do your bit to help make it better you are merely furthering your own interests. Think it over. Then give the home town business man a break.

Radio orators apparently don't realize that while the constitution may guarantee free speech it doesn't guarantee listeners.

SIAMESE TWIN SEVERED FROM BROTHER SURVIVES

New York, Nov. 28.—Twenty-eight-year-old Simplicio Godino, bereft of the twin brother to whom he had been joined since birth, lay on his face in a hospital bed tonight contemplating his future in a strange world.

He lay face downward because a surgical dressing covered a large area at the base of his spine, where he formerly was connected with his brother, Lucio.

Lucio died of rheumatic fever Tuesday night, and 45 minutes later his body was separated from that of the surviving twin, who had suffered no ill effects from his brother's illness.

When the wound heals, Simplicio will find that for the first time in his life he will be able to roll about in bed; he will be able to sleep on his left as well as his right side, and that will be the beginning of a whole new mode of living to which he must adjust himself.

His first real problem will come when he attempts to walk. He was the twin who usually walked backward, while Lucio walked forward. Now he must learn to walk forward and to balance himself without the support of his brother.

All his life he had depended more or less on Lucio to determine their common course of action. Now he must stand alone, make his own decisions, plot his own course through life.

Moreover, the loss of his brother meant the loss of his livelihood. Since boyhood the twins had earned their living as vaudevilla and sideshow attractions. In fact, they rejected an opportunity to be separated surgically 17 years ago, because they felt it might have impaired their earning power.

But Simplicio no longer is a freak, and must cast about for some other means of supporting the three surviving members of the unique foursome family establishment in which they had lived since the twins married the Molina sisters, Victorina and Natividad, in 1929 at Manila.

Natividad is the widow, and her sister now has a separate husband.

Simplicio, a native of the Philippines, was reported at the hospital to be convalescing favorably from the operation.

Did everyone pass his six weeks exams? Or should I have said, "Did anyone pass his six weeks exams?"

Elnita Evans nearly fell down the steps, and she was clinging on for dear life to Irving (Puss) Billings and Wayne Chipman. Was it an accident?

Leo Batte must have been getting Spanish or else cramming, for he was writing rapidly with his nose almost glued to his paper. How industrious!

I should like to receive news about a very mysterious message received last Friday about 3:30 o'clock. It was a phone call to yours truly, and it was misunderstood. Anyone having said information, please see me.

Almost everyone is sporting something fashionable these days. Alfric Patterson has new suspenders that are really keen.

Alta Belle and Alvis Adams wore new twin sweaters that are very sporty.

Straight thinking does not emanate from a crooked mind.

Thanksgiving

This is a little late, but it being Thanksgiving last week, we asked different ones what they were thankful for. Well, here are a few of the answers, the others being unprintable:

T. D.: I'm thankful for Dad only found two things wrong with the car; if it had been three—Oh my!

Alfric Patterson: "I'm thankful there is a Thanksgiving 'cause then we always have a lot to eat.

Wayne Chipman (without a smile): I'm thankful for nothing. (Pleasant boy that Wayne.)

Ballina Dugosh: I'm thankful that the "Student Prints" only comes out once a week.

Lillian Clark: "I'm thankful that Coy Rose' dad stopped him from driving the Ford car home.

Lena Mae Rose: "I'm thankful I can drive the car more now.

Johnny Langford: I'm thankful for girls like Constance Mangold.

Well, so much for this week, but we'll get the rest of you next week.

TIME

John: Did you have a turkey for Thanksgiving?

William: Why, yes, of course.

John: What part of the turkey did you get?

William: I got the wish bone.

John: Well, did you make a wish?

William: Yeh, I wished there was some meat on it.

Well, now that the football season for high schools officially ended Thanksgiving Day, the pupils here at school are looking forward to a glorious year of basketball. This sport has been up to the present year, Bandera High's most popular game, since it was the only major sport carried on. However in the next year or two of football when our gang of boys become well trained as well as experienced, it is my hope that football will take its stand and the Bandera Eleven will stand out as one of the best high school teams in this district. Bandera High has the boys, the coach, and lots of enthusiasm and is only waiting for the proper time.

Now back to what I started I heard Mr. Teel telling the boys here at school that he would coach the basketball boys again this year. New suits were purchased last year and all that is needed is two basketballs and some shoes for the boys who'll be playing. The basketball court needs a little work done on it and as soon as it is ready, practice will begin.

Odd Occupations

4-H CLUB WORK

4-H Club work in Bandera county is going on with renewed enthusiasm, after the active clubs reporting some mighty nice project work, and all club members making efforts to have their projects in shape to get all profits possible from their efforts.

Violet Pearl Justice of near Medina, met Bandera county 4-H report on 60 white leghorn hens, as follows: Her 60 hens at 6 months of age, had 591 eggs that brought her $9.59, giving Violet Pearl a profit of $4.90 on her 60 hens for the month of September.

George Butler MacNaughton, from the Bandera club, has reported 1011 pigs on feed to date ten for the San Antonio show next spring. George Butler says that he is going to have 25 of those to be when the pigs are ready for the show, because he expects to have them as big fat porkers that won't be able to haul them to San Antonio. This is the spirit of making other club members step out and add to their project.

Billie and Betty Flo Fisher of Utopia club, send in another fine report on their two calves. Calves weighed in September and again in November show excellent gains in weight, Betty Flo stating that she had gained the most for September, did not gain as much October and November as did Betty Flo's.

September weight (Billie's calf), 485 pounds.

November weight (Billie's calf), 596 pounds.

Gain, 111 pounds in 60 days, or 1.82 pounds per day.

September weight (Betty Flo's calf), 415 pounds.

November weight (Betty Flo's calf), 575 pounds.

Gain 160 pounds in 60 days, or 2.7 pounds per day.

Charles Bäumer, also of the Utopia club, has two April drop pet calves on feed, and the calves should have weights of 525 pounds; not bad for any club pig, and better than many ranchers' calves.

SENATOR CONNALLY TO SPEAK OVER WFAA

Senator Tom Connally will speak on "The Next Session of Congress," on Wednesday night, December 16, from 9:30 to 9:45 over Station WFAA at Dallas, according to an announcement received by us. The Senator will discuss legislative matters which will receive the attention of Congress when it convenes on Jan. 3. Senator Connally is expected at the next session to take the major part in enactment of legislation designed to take the profits out of war. The Texas Senator was chairman of a sub-committee which framed the bill in the Senate at the last session. It was favorably reported in the Senate but action was not had upon it before adjournment and Senator Connally has already announced his intention of pushing such a measure vigorously at this session.

As one of the leading Democrats on the powerful Finance, Judiciary and Foreign Relations Committees of the Senate, Connally will have an important voice in the determination of whatever legislation is enacted at the coming session. The Texan is also a member of the Democratic Steering Committee of the Senate, a group which formulates the legislative policy.

Senator Connally is at present in Texas and will remain in the State until the Senate convenes.

A. V. A. CONVENTION

Mr. W. P. Grisham, teacher of Vocational Agriculture at Bandera High School, attended the American Vocational Association convention in San Antonio December 2-5.

This was the first time that this convention was ever held in Texas. There were more than two gates from all over the United States.

Mr. Grisham reports that the agriculture education section had a most interesting meeting, with many interesting speakers on the program. Some of the speakers were Mr. W. F. Stuart, professor of Rural Education; Conrad Hilton Island pullets, and says he took good care of them throughout the year; the most they ever got in one day was 14. This seems to be rather unreasonable, but it is true. It is our aim to get rid of as many of these boarders as we can, by spring and re-stock our flocks with the good young pullets or baby chicks.

R. F. Hartman, Co. Agent.

Felix Kindla, Ben Adamietz and George Underwood attended the Monday celebration of Mr. Click in San Antonio Saturday night.

WPA Keeping Needy On Roll

Washington, Dec. 5.—No person on the rolls of the Works Progress Administration who is without resources or means of support other than federal relief will be included in the 175,000 dismissals effective December 15, it was disclosed today.

On the contrary, the wholesale cuts will be confined to the following classifications:

Relief clients having outside income, numbering about 150,000.

Non-relief workers on projects, about 20,000.

Administrative staff (supervisors, engineers and clerks), about 5000.

A careful culling-out process during the last few weeks in regional offices throughout the country has convinced Works Progress officials that the $48,000,000 shortage from the original appropriation necessary to run until January 20, can be made up by dropping persons not vitally in need of the relief furnished.

It was also made known that no projects now under way will be abandoned, although no more projects will be started until additional funds are voted by congress. No regional quotas have been established as to dismissals, it was based primarily on the economic condition of the person affected, no matter where he lives.

Regional directors were notified to tighten up on administration, and thoroughly check over every case on the list, so that no injustice will result.

In addition to the dismissal the list be broken with the planned by transfer of 250,000 drought victims from WPA to the Resettlement Administration by the December 15 deadline.

POULTRY

Improving their poultry flocks throughout the county seems to be the aim of quite a few housewives and farmers. These people are rapidly realizing that they have been feeding a flock of chickens that do not pay for their feed, and are getting pretty tired of that condition. Thus the culling demonstrations, and as a result I find that the farmers are keeping at least 15 to 50 per cent "boarders" in their flocks. The birds that are being culled out now are the ones that are mostly loafers, or have no egg-laying capacity at all; all birds that seem to have a tendency to put on weight into the proper feed, are being given a chance to produce by putting them on the proper feed and caring for them as if they were "good birds."

Mr. Albert Eckhart of the West Verde community, had his breeding flock culled the other day, and found that 50 per cent and non-laying birds that we could find. Out of his flock of 125 hens, he has now only 60, and Mr. Eckhart had not received a single egg from these 31 hens. Mr. Eckhart says, "There were more than 31 hens that ever got a feed bill from me, so much for keeping boarders' in my flock."

Mr. Frank Braden of Bandera county had his flock culled last week, and as a result he has practically no hens left. Last November-December Mr. Braden sold his pullets commercial feed for a whole year and has not gotten another feed bill from them. After culling his flock, he had only 24 hens out of the 130 he started with culled out; he hasn't received a single egg in 9 days. Mr. Braden says that he is going to get back into the chicken business, but he is going to be sure he gets his pullets from a reliable "poultryman" and from one that has a good laying strain.

These are only two of the flock culling I have done this month, and, as you see, our farmers are feeding far fewer birds, and getting far more eggs. I am sure that

Part of Highway 81 Being Built

Construction work on a portion of Highway No. 81 between Kerrville and Fredericksburg road began recently with J. B. Moore & Son of Lufkin as contractors.

The stretch, under construction includes the five miles of road immediately out of Fredericksburg toward Kerrville. Right-of-way for the remaining 15-mile stretch in Gillespie county has been secured and contract will be let later. Approximately one mile of construction work remains to be done on the road in Kerr county.

Drainage structures are being built on the stretch near Fredericksburg and grading will follow. The new bridge at Fredericksburg over Baron's Creek, leading to Kerrville, will be finished during the early part of January, weather permitting.

Governor Allred said: "Every citizen should buy Christmas seals from tuberculosis is ample demonstration that the State and National Tuberculosis Associations are accomplishing their purpose. Texas has been generous in contributing to the Texas Tuberculosis Association by the purchase of Christmas seals each year. The funds each year from this source presents a challenge to good citizens everywhere. As your governor, I appeal to the citizens of Texas will contribute to this cause this year to the limit that their means will allow.

WHAT IS "SUCCESS?"

A few years ago Success Magazine offered a prize for the best definition of "success." The following, contributed by Almedia B. Waltz, won the award. What are your ideas of "success"—and how do they compare with her fine conception of it?

"To start out in life with a definite, worthy purpose, and to accomplish that purpose.

"To overcome one or more bad habits.

"To find our greatest enjoyment in the laughter of children and the song of the uncaged birds.

"To suffer bravely without complaint.

"To love nobly, and to wrong no man.

"To keep the conscience unsullied and the heart pure, and yet not parade your goodness before the world.

"To mingle with the saint and not become self-righteous, and to mingle with the sinner and not become vicious.

"To feel kinship with all humanity, good and bad.

"To perform your work uncomplainingly and cheerfully.

"To accept criticism without resentment and to give without malice.

"To recognize the rights of others.

"To give both body and mind a daily cleansing.

"To have kindly sympathy for our dumb friends.

"To learn that Love is a constructive force both in the life of the individual and in the life of the nation, and that hate is a destructive force. That unkindness and sympathy are highly moral and that hatred and revenge are highly immoral.

"To learn the lesson of self-effacement, and to forget self in the service of humanity, and to feel at the close of the day that though your performance had been far from praiseworthy, you are just a little nearer the perfection toward which all humanity is striving, is to make a success of life."

BIRTH CERTIFICATE IMPORTANT RECORD

Austin, Dec. 8.—The registration of a person's birth forms a legal record that is frequently the most important document in that individual's life," said Dr. W. A. Davis, State Registrar, Bureau of Statistics.

"With the passing of the laws relative to Old Age Assistance and Unemployment Insurance many citizens will be called upon to produce their birth certificate to prove identity and eligibility for pensions," he said, " and many difficulties are being encountered because of the death of relatives and friends who were in attendance at the birth. The State Board of Health has provided for the registered births, giving the information necessary under these new laws. Blank forms are furnished by the Bureau of Vital Statistics, State Department of Health, Austin.

"Parents of the child born more than sixty years ago did not have the same opportunity to protect their child's rights by having the birth recorded, as the parents of a baby born in this Centennial Year do.

"Each parent in Texas should be able to say that his child's birth has been recorded in the State Bureau of Vital Statistics. A properly prepared and filed birth certificate is sure to be necessary to your child at some time in his life and may be the means of avoiding many legal difficulties in later life. It is your duty to see that he has this protection."

TOWNSEND, TWO OTHERS INDICTED

Washington, Dec. 3.—In a rare procedure, Dr. Francis E. Townsend, author of the $200-a-month old age pension plan, and two aides were indicted on a contempt charge by a federal grand jury today for flouting the authority of the House of Representatives.

Storm center of legislative and political controversies for the last two years, the elderly California physician was charged specifically with defying a special house committee investigating his old age pension organization.

Indicted with him were the Rev. Clinton Wunderd of New York and John H. Kiefer of Chicago, both of whom were regional directors of the Townsend organization.

Six months ago, Townsend created an uproar when he strode angrily from the House committee hearing room and flatly refused to testify further.

His parting words, "Thank you, gentlemen, and good-bye," brought shouts of "Close the doors" from committee members, but the angry witness reached a taxicab and was whisked away, ignoring future efforts to have him reappear.

Subsequently, both Wunder and Kiefer ignored committee subpoenas ordering them to testify concerning the contributions to the Townsend movement which Representative Bell (Dem.), Missouri, chairman of the investigating committee, estimated ran as high as $1,200,000 annually.

Congressional sources could recall no recent instance where indictments had been returned as a result of contempt proceedings originating in the House although there have been several similar cases involving the Senate.

Court officials said Townsend and his aides would be given an opportunity to surrender before warrants are issued for their arrest. Harry L. Underwood, assistant United States attorney, said he believed they would be arraigned before the Christmas holidays.

The telegraph-pole gang had come into the bathroom straight off the job and they were hungry.

"What'll you have?" asked the lady in waiting of one of the gang's biggest and toughest.

"Beef."

"How do you want it?" she persisted.

Joe waved on enormous and impatient hand. "Oh, drive in the steer and I'll bite off what I want."

SECOND SIAMESE TWIN SUCCUMBS

New York, Dec. 5.—Simplicio Godino, 29-year-old "Siamese twin," died at York Hospital tonight at 10:20 (EST), hospital officials said.

Godino, who was surgically severed from his Filipino brother, Lucio after the latter died of rheumatic fever Nov. 24, had been recovering rapidly until 24 hours ago, when doctors disclosed tonight, he took a turn for the worse.

They declined to state the cause of death; but his ailment had been reported by doctors earlier in the evening as cerebro-spinal meningitis.

The twins, both married vaudeville performers, entered the hospital Nov. 17, when Lucio was taken ill with an ailment diagnosed as pneumonia.

Lucio was buried in a Westchester cemetery Monday after private funeral services attended only by the twins' Filipino wives and a few friends.

EARLY DAYS IN SOUTHWEST TEXAS

(F. M. McCaleb in San Antonio Express.)

Marvin Hunter, editor of Frontier Times, says the editor now and then has to finish himself harking back to his childhood days when he attended school at Menardville, when pretty little Grace Mann was the idol of the school and was a general favorite in the community. "Grace is now," says he, "Mrs. George B. Allison, a grandmother of Menard, and a charming woman."

This writer spent several days recently among the beautiful treecied hills of Bandera County, where the landscape is gladdened and glorified with the rose tints of autumn on the leaves of the trees, where frowning cliffs, in rugged grandeur, like the ruins of old castles, awaken in the soul of every lover of nature strange but delicious and delightful sensations.

A few weeks ago when we mentioned the fact that the six Wheeler brothers had lived a lifetime in the same little town of Tilden where they were born and raised, and we challenged any six brothers to beat the record, and now comes R. C. Purgason and writes me that he is one of seven sons of the late W. A. Purgason, a pioneer freighter, butcher, and merchant of Pleasanton, that all seven of them were born in Atascosa and are still living in Atascosa and Bexar counties, to wit, C. G., H. H., W. A., I. C. and P. O. and that he had five sisters, all born in Atascosa County. Atascosa County seems to be a very prolific county. Uncle Bill Britt, himself a native- born of Atascosa County, and in fact he claims to be the first white male child born in that county, is the father of 15 children, all of them still living up to a few months ago. But O. L. Adams, a pioneer of Bandera County, comes now and breaks all family records. He has nine grown-up sons, most of them married and the fathers of them own, all living so near that they all meet on the first Sunday in each month with their parents.

MINOR TRADE AID URGED ON ADMINISTRATION

Washington, Nov. 27.—Government loans to small business, stimilar to the service rendered large business by the reconstruction finance corporation, will be advocated by George L. Berry, the president's co-ordinator for industrial recovery, at his forthcoming conference of industry and labor, it was learned today.

Convinced that the small business man has been overlooked in the federal program to spread employment and stimulate recovery, Berry will ask the conference to recommend that congress act up the machinery to place government financial aid within reach of modest enterprises.

At the same time, it was learned Berry is drafting plans for a broad legislative program for presentation to representatives of industry and labor who attend the meeting here December 10 and 11. It ehulraces:

1. Federal and state legislation setting up minimum wage and maximum hour standards.

2. More liberal interpretation of the anti-trust laws and possible curtailment of the powers of the federal trade commission, to limit its "interference" with business.

3. Withdrawal of the government from competition with private industry.

4. A continued study of the flow of national income, to insure against recudence of economic depressions.

5. Establishment of the Berry industrial council on a permanent basis.

A corps of government lawyers, it was learned, is engaged in a study which will determine the federal legislators, regulating hours and wages, is possible in view of the Supreme court decision which outlawed the NRA.

Though this examination is yet incomplete, the tentative purpose is for congress to set standards for interstate businesses, leaving to state legislatures the problem of regulating hours and wages within their borders in strictly intra-state fields.

Berry, who is opposed to any revival of codes or other such features of the defunct NRA, said today:

"I have consistently advocated legislation to put a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours."

NYA AIDING YOUTHS FOR PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT

Work experience given young men and women of Texas on National Youth Administration projects is equipping them to enter private employment as qualified, productive workers, Williard Deason, district supervisor for the district containing 20 counties south and east of San Antonio, has reported to Lyndon B. Johnson, State director.

The NYA job is often the first the youth has ever had, and in many cases he comes to work discouraged and somewhat bewildered, Mr. Deason said. But after six months work his confidence has been restored, and the youth is learning what an employer expects. Possibly for the first time in his life, somebody can honestly recommend the youth as a worker who has produced a dollar's worth of work for a dollar's pay.

Besides making this very desirable social contribution, NYA work has resulted in the building of many useful parks and playgrounds, and has increased the scope of service of many public agencies.

Mr. Deason estimated that nearly 90 per cent of the 2771 youths who have worked on NYA projects in this district have developed real enthusiasm for productive work, and have shown new confidence and initiative. "They have learned coordination of effort, discipline, and productivity," he said.

This statement summarized one of the more important accomplishments of the National Youth Administration in Texas; Mr. Johnson commented.

"We can build parks and help terrace lands, operate sewing rooms and food canneries for the benefit of the people of our State but more important than the physical results is this fact: that we are giving an underprivileged and discouraged youth and in six months or a year get him ready to have and to hold a private job. He learns from actual experience how to work and that he can work; the NYA foreman can truthfully recommend him for a job. Both recommendations and training will go far towards starting youth off on the right foot."

Since Jan. 1, 1936, youths have been assigned to the National Youth Administration for supervised work projects in the 20 counties of District 10—Bexar, Bandera, Kerr, Kendall, Comal, Guadalupe, Gonzales, DeWitt, Lavaca, Victoria, Jackson, Calhoun, Refugio, Wilson, Karnes, Goliad, Bee, Live Oak, Atascosa, and McMullen. Some of this number have

TARPLEY P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers Association of Tarpley has accomplished a great number of things during the present school year to help the school and make work and play more enjoyable for the children.

Since September the P. T. A. has taken in $5.40 for members' ship dues. They have made $77.90 through various types of entertainments. This is a total of $83.30.

With this money the P. T. A. has helped with some projects. They contributed toward the construction of the water system and the installation of fountains.

They have carried out other projects entirely. They have had the floors of the school oiled and bookshelves built for each room. They have subscribed for magazines suitable to each group of children and have bought $6.40 worth of playground equipment. The P. T. A. has contributed money enough to buy the treat for the children at the coming community Christmas tree.

The benefits of the P. T. A. as an organization cannot be fully realized. We can only give our thanks to them for their tireless efforts and co-operation.

KERRVILLE BEATS LUFKIN 31-6 TO ENTER SEMI-FINALS

Waco, Dec. 12.—Kerrville's Tivy High Antlers rolled into the semi-finals of the State high school football race today with a top-sided 31 to 6 triumph over the Lufkin Panthers.

Kerrville meets Port Arthur in the semi-finals.

Roy Holbrook, the Antlers' backfield ace, heaved three passes to Co-Captain Preston Chamblee for as many touchdowns, and also flashed some spectacular ball carrying as long as he remained in the game.

McCaleb, shifty Tivy back, scored one tally and W. Coleman intercepted a Lufkin pass and ran it back 45 yards for another score.

Jones tallied Lufkin's lone touchdown late in the final quarter after a belated passing attack had put the ball in scoring position against Kerrville.

The East Texans, despite their overwhelming defeat, rang up as many first downs ... 15.

COOPER ATTENDS STATE-WIDE RA CONFERENCE

A. M. Cooper, supervisor of rural rehabilitation in Kerr, Kendall and Bandera counties, has returned from a state-wide conference of Resettlement Administration employees held at Dallas.

"Reports from all over the State and Nation showed that rehabilitation clients have grown steadily in efficiency and in public favor," the supervisor said. He pointed out that land ownership is the final goal of Settlement work, but there are 286,000 tenant farmers in Texas alone, and providing land for these is a program of many years.

The most ambitious plan yet suggested would appropriate fifty million dollars of federal funds each year, the supervisor said, but Texas' share would be only around one thousand farms a year. In the meanwhile, he said, we must help the other low-income tenant farmers to improve their present status.

Means of improving the tenant's situation, the supervisor said, include longer terms of leasing, in order that the tenant may become more closely attached to a specific piece of land," in the care and improvement of which he will take a personal interest. Another step, which has been tried in Texas for more than 12,000 tenants, is to assist them in purchase of teams and tools, thus removing them from the class of sharecroppers dependent upon their landlord for "furnishing."

Only the highest type of tenants are now being selected for purchase of farms, the supervisor said. Fifty have been nominated for the whole State, out of 588 to be provided with farms under this year's allocations. "These fifty nominees have been located on their present farm more than one year," he said. They customarily have average net assets of $1421, mostly in teams and tools. Their average age is 40 years, and the average family includes two or three children."

Albert Faris and Warren Davenport were in Hondo Thursday.

Heder For Hiway Commissioner

The following article, with a likeness of Mr. Heder, appeared in last Saturday's San Antonio Light:

Louis A. Heder, native San Antonian and flow a Bandera county rancher, Friday was revealed here as a "dark horse" candidate for the office of state highway commissioner to succeed D. K. Martin of San Antonio, who will resign February 1.

Heder, in San Antonio to visit friends, already has the official endorsement of the Bandera county Democratic organization, has strong support in the Hill country and has received many letters of recommendations from San Antonians, it was learned.

The appointment in February will come from the office of Governor James V. Allred, and, inasmuch as San Antonio political factions rarely can agree on a candidate, it is considered likely that the position may go to a resident of some other section of Texas city.

Heder is a resident of Medina City. He was educated at Main Avenue High school here and at Texas A. & M. college.

INJURIES FATAL TO KERRVILLE FIREMAN

The program, which consisted of selections from the Bandera Orchestra, exercises of FFA by the Voc. Ag. class, a violin solo by Charles Wyatt accompanied by Beatrice Langford, a reading by Mrs. R. F. Wyatt, a trumpet solo by Clarence Admiett, a vocal solo by Miss May Rio, a joke by Fred Massa, and cowboy songs by Lee Craig, offered nearly an hour's good entertainment to the audience.

Lastly, the main play, "The Racket on Payson's Farm," presented by members of the Voc. Ag. Class with Zelda Ruth Norred and Dorothy Anderwald, caused another half-hour of interesting entertainment. The Voc. Ag. class wishes to thank all those that helped by attending this program. Your encouragement was greatly appreciated by all.

UVALDE HUNTER IS SHOT TO DEATH

C. W. Spencer, 55, Uvalde auto salesman, was killed on a farm Monday afternoon of last week while deer hunting near Vance, when he was mistaken for a deer. Spencer is said to have been sitting on a log rattling deer horns in an attempt to call a deer. Another hunter, unaware that Spencer was in the same pasture, saw the movement through the brush and fired.

Spencer lived about two hours after.

The hand of affliction seems to have rested heavily upon the household of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Black the past few weeks. ## County Receives Oil Lease Money County Judge Granville Wright informs us that Bandera county has received its money for the mineral lease of its school lands in Maverick county. A check amounting to a little more than $2300 has been received from John F. Camp of San Antonio and this amount has been added to the permanent school fund of the county. The land was leased for oil rights to Mr. Camp by the local Commissioners court.

ENGLISH KING ABDICATES; BROTHER TAKES THRONE

King Edward VII, saying a plump hard on the lad who was to be Edward VIII, said a quarter of a century ago:

"You will be the last king of England."

King Edward VII was wrong. For as the lad, grown tall, decided Thursday after 11 months' reign that his burdens as sovereign were too heavy, and kicked aside the most splendid throne on earth for the love of an American-born divorcee, his diffident brother, the Duke of York, stepped forward to become George VI.

Edward's brief and "irrevocable" statement of abdication barring himself and heirs from the throne, the biggest blow to $95,000,000 subjects than anything since the World war—was the result of a decision by a four cabinet, led by Stanley Baldwin, that "Black-haired Wallis Simpson might never be queen of England, or even the king's morganatic wife.

The climax of the British empire's unprecedented 9-day crisis made Edward the first English monarch to quit before his coronation since the bloody eight chapter into the history of stalid old England. But even before the final decision, the letter of love shook the matter-of-fact empire as it never had been shaken before.

Into the background had been shoved for the moment the fundamental issue involved in question of the authority of the cabinet over the king. The British empire, on which Britain's sun never sets, knits brows or the operatic proposition: "Should the British sovereign marry the woman he thought subject to vewd the woman of his choice?"

The crisis that started, ironically, with a naive bishop's criticism of the king for failure to attend church early first reached parliament when grumpy Premier Baldwin informed the commons that "His Majesty's Government" had no intention of obliging his majesty by authorizing a morganatic marriage.

Out of England fled distraught Wallis Simpson and drove two days and nights to the chateau estate of her good friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers. At every stop, the American divorcee and Baldwin found he had bitten off more than expected. A newspaper scoop on the dingbat affair hasste is indecent." Tumultuous crowds shouted "God save the king" and "God save the Queen. Flog Baldwin." Bright-eyed Winston Churchill, yearning for Baldwin's post, drafted the king's cabinet's right to advise abdication.

So the cabinet agreed there was no way around it. Before the parliament again, Baldwin gave assurance that needed to decide. Then Winston Churchill, who often offered only some informal words on marriages. Two things appeared certain: That the king never intended to make Mrs. Simpson queen, that the dread specter of constitutional conflict hadn't yet arisen.

Then Wallis sprang her surprise. She would never be dethat be Baltimore as a slim, Virginia girl, she issued a formal statement that she would give up the world's mightiest sovereign, if—

"I am willing," she said, "if such action will solve the problem, to withdraw forthwith from a situation which has become unhappy and untenable." Then she went into a huddle with her lawyer friend Charles Fisher at Cannes along with a famed English matrimonial specialist.

Then Wallis' new offer only threw on Edward the sole responsibility of choosing between a throne and a woman.

He knew as well as anyone that haste was imperative. Portliness were like up. In preparation for the coronation next May. Indecision was affecting imperial health and even draining his own.

NEARLY 46 MILLION VOTES CAST ON NOVEMBER 3rd

Final returns from the presidential election, official in every State save one, showed that the record-breaking vote amounted to 45,812,155. The record Roosevelt plurality was 11,069,699.

Only on Rhode Island, where litigation has kept the voting machines under lock, has no official count been made.

| | Roosevelt | Landon |
|---|---|---|
| Roosevelt | 27,751,612 | |
| Landon | | 16,681,913 |
| Others | 1,378,630 | |
| Lemke (Union) | 891,858 | |
| Thomas (Socialist) | 187,242 | |
| Browder (Communist) | 80,181 | |
| Colvin (Prohibitionist) | 37,926 | |
| Aiken (Socialist Labor) | 12,739 | |
| Scattering and void | 168,911 | |

In percentages, as compared with 1932, the parties stacked up this way:

| | 1936 | 1932 |
|---|---|---|
| Democratic | 60.7 | 57.3 |
| Republican | 36.4 | 39.7 |
| Others | 2.9 | 3.1 |

Both parties participated in the smashing of many records. The total was almost 6,000,000 more than was ever cast in a previous election and three times as many as the total in any election before 1924.

The Roosevelt-Garner ticket received almost 5,000,000 more than in 1932, when its vote was 22,821,857.

Landon and Knox won the second largest popular vote ever given a Republican ticket. Hoover and Curtis received 21,392,190 in 1928 and 15,761,841 in 1932.

Carrying every State except Maine and Vermont for an electoral vote of 523 to 8, Roosevelt's plurality was the largest ever given and almost 2,000,000 more than the total which elected Wilson in 1916. Roosevelt's plurality four years ago was 7,060,016.

President Roosevelt's 1936 plurality exceeded the total given any Democratic nominee prior to Alfred E. Smith's 15,000,000 in 1928.

The Union party candidates, representing William Lemke and Thomas C. O'Brien, polled less than a quarter of the votes received in the third party totals of Theodore Roosevelt in 1912 and Robert M. LaFollette in 1924.

All minor parties showed decadence this year. The best comparative showing was made by the Communists, Earl W. Browder and James W. Ford, negro, who had three-quarters as many votes as that party's 1932 candidates.

The Socialists, behind Norman Thomas and George A. Nelson, slipped to fourth place in the national result after coming third in 1932. This year they polled slightly more than a fifth as many votes as they did in 1932.

The complete vote as certified by State officials and compiled by the Associated Press, follows:

| | Roosevelt | Landon |
|---|---|---|
| Alabama | 238,196 | 35,358 |
| Arizona | 86,722 | 36,443 |

I think every Senior will admit that Physics is becoming more interesting every day. There may be at least three reasons why this is true. First, Mr. Briggs is giving everyone in the class a chance to report on scientific subjects every day. Many valuable and interesting things are learned from these reports. So far we have discussed television, hurricanes, speed in cars, black widow spiders, pottery, and nature's airplanes. The second reason may be due to the fact that the class is collecting data and posting it on the bulletin board. Later, when enough material is collected, a scrap-book will be made, which may be of aid to the future Physics classes as a basis for information. The third and most interesting reason is the construction of various apparatus used in experiments. Two pieces of apparatus has been made by different members of the class in the study of heat. Mr. Briggs gives five points extra for the construction of any useful machine. The boys, Ernest and Boyd, are in line for ten more points if they construct a case built for the hammer. Maybe some of us that make low grades can get together on some construction work—eh, what??

RAGS TO RICHES

In Waco, Texas, the Methodist Home is giving these three young ladies another chance at life. Their lives might have been another story except for the Superintendent of the Home, Mr. Hubert T. Johnson.

The picture at the left shows the children as they were found surrounded by filth and squalor. The oldest was acting as a little mother, obtaining the meager food, from "somewhere," preparing and cooking it for the little family. Her problem was a tremendous task for one so young, as you can imagine.

Looking at the picture you can realize that if these three children were permitted to live by themselves through the winter, a thousand dangers might have swarmed them and cast their lot among the hundreds who die of pneumonia and malnutrition every year.

The picture at the right shows the marvelous transformation which has occurred within the last few months. Now they are normal children enjoying a bed and wardrobe for each. Many opportunities will be open to them for advancement and proper education.

This case is only typical of hundreds of duplicate cases which are handled at the Methodist Home in Waco, Texas. Hundreds of boys and girls find new life in the Home which is supported by Methodists. Taking care of these children would require about $600,000 a year, but because the children, as they grow older, take turns at farming, raising cattle, gathering crops and fruits; do their own laundry, help wait on table and do the many other things which train them to become efficient and self-dependent, their needed financial assistance is only $100,000 a year.

Rev. O. E. Moreland would like to answer any questions about the Methodist Home for children if anyone in the community is interested. Rev. Moreland says that the month of December has been set aside by the Church for donations toward the annual budget. Members of the Bandera Church are intensely interested in the Home and hope that many more transformations such as the above photographs show will be made possible by the continued support of the Home.

A Christmas program will be rendered here at the 11 o'clock hour next Sunday and an offering will be taken for the Methodist Home.

BUS DRIVER CIRCLES GLOBE 30 TIMES AND RETIRES

Imagine driving 30 times around the equator!

That would be a task, a bit too ambitious for even the tourist who carries his house around behind his rear bumper. But in actual mileage, that is the record of D. C. C. Taylor, veteran driver who retired from his duties with the Kerrville Bus Company, Dec. 1st.

Driving buses in this vicinity for 11 years, Taylor accumulated a mileage estimated at three-quarters of a million miles, or 750,000 miles. Since distance around the equator is approximately 25,000 miles, his journeys would amount to 30 around the world jaunts.

Taylor drove over practically all routes leading from the city. The many passengers who have accompanied him have always been impressed with his safety precautions.

Sliding out from behind the steering wheel for the last time, Taylor intends to start ranching near San Angelo beginning January.—Kerrville Times.

EACH PENSIONER TO GET TWO CHECKS

Austin, Dec. 12—Orville S. Carpenter, State director of old age assistance, said today 95,000 pensioners would receive two checks each, one each for state, and one for payment of December pensions.

Under approval of the plan to borrow the State's half of the payments and a grant of Federal funds, the checks, white for Federal money and blue for State, will be mailed from Austin.

Some 5,000 have been added to the rolls since the November payments, and will be receiving checks for the first time.

He expected the pension load eventually to be between 100,000 and 110,000 as compared to the 80,000 estimated by Senator Ernest Small of Amarillo, author of the "deliberation" law.

The amount of money the State will borrow from the Republic National Bank of Dallas, through which December checks will be cleared, was unknown. The State provided for the loan because of lack of tax revenue to carry payments through the winter months.

Carpenter said he had received reports that 60,000 in cigaret taxes and $300,000 in liquor revenue was on hand.

Washington, Dec. 12—The Social Security Board announced Federal grants today totaling $7,644,917 for public assistance to needy aged in New Mexico, Texas and Hawaii.

New Mexico was allotted $27,423.97, Texas $735,000 and Hawaii $15,456.12.

standing as the empire's star salesman.

Just before the showdown session of parliament, Edward talked with the queen mother, then conferred with his brothers. Out of Fort Belvedere went his baggage.

Baldwin felt behind him the strength of the dominions as well as of England itself., The dominions must give approval to any change in the succession.

Despite the wail of "why does'nt he make up his mind?" sentiment of the man in the street at home and overseas swung to the king soon after Mrs. Simpson's offer.

As for the British constitution that figured so much in the crisis, no one could lay hands on it if tried. Unlike the American bill of rights, it was not written down at one time, but developed piecemeal for eight centuries, a patchwork of old laws, customs and edicts. Apart from the strict tradition, followed even by Queen Victoria, that the ruler must follow the advice of his ministers, there is nothing in writing to keep the king from disbanding parlia-

NYA AIDING YOUTHS—

never realized it was the NYA, although jobs have been offered to all of them. Some got private jobs themselves. Others turned away. In these counties 2773 youths have been employed at one time or another, and at the time Mr. Deason's report was made 1685 were working on 14 projects.

Of the number who have been on the job, at least 631 have obtained better jobs and no longer need NYA work. About 196 others left NYA work project to enter school.

The youths employed on work projects in Texas have received an average monthly wage of $10.-21. They have worked one-fourth time and have been paid at the prevailing wage scale. They have been able to sustain themselves and in many instances contribute something to the support of their parents and families. Sponsors of work projects in the 20 counties of this district have provided equipment, tools, materials, and supervision valued at an average of $5.64 per working month for each youth.

Roadside parks have been constructed in 9 of these counties in cooperation with the State Highway Department. Counties where roadside park projects have been completed are Bexar, Guadalupe, Wilson, DeWitt, Gonzales, Karnes, Comal, Bee, and Lavaca.

Highway right of way improvement projects are underway in Comal, DeWitt, Gonzales, and Lavaca counties. Workers are repairing eroded sections, building check-dams, and sodding highway shoulders.

Recreational areas in 12 communities in Bexar County and one at Seguin have been developed. Two other projects are now under way at San Antonio schools. One county wide land improvement project is in operation. Workers on these projects level playing fields, lay out baseball diamonds, tennis courts, etc., and provide facilities for benefit of the people living in each community.

Approximately 100 young women are learning cooking, the arrangement of menus, and the serving of meals through a cafeteria project now operating in San Antonio. These girls work under the supervision of regular staff employees of the San Antonio public school cafeteria system.

Other NYA workers are finding worthwhile employment in the San Antonio public library cataloging and repairing books and assisting in the regular work of keeping the book loan records.

A sewing room operated at San Antonio, employing a large number of girls, has produced many thousand useful garments for needy families.

Soil conservation survey work, a type of project recently made available on a state-wide basis, is now being expanded in this district. Work already has begun in Bexar and Lavaca counties.

The NYA has given many of these youths the first jobs they ever had," Mr. Johnson said. "Many of them did not know how to get a job, or how to work when they got one. We feel that our work program has taught these youths how to work and has made them more valuable to employers. We are helping them now to obtain jobs in private industry."

Mr. Deason said that a survey is underway throughout the district to make a complete record of the work experience and ability of the various young men and women. On each worker's card, the record will give a frank appraisal of the youth's work experience and ability. In cooperation with the National Reemployment Service, Mr. Deason has been meeting various employers offering them the pick of NYA trained workers. Anyone wishing to obtain workers may do so by communicating with the National Reemployment Service, or with Mr. Deason, whose office is in the Smith-Young Tower at San Antonio.

A North country farmer, when going to market was asked terrier to take a ticket, but always to pay at each end of the journey.

One day the station master at his end asked him Mr. Beaton for doing this.

"Well," said the farmer, "I'll tell ye. I'll remember the bit of dog I had with the railway company over my cow getting on the company line. I said then that the company should never see another penny of my money, and I know that as long as ye are at this end and your brither Tam has is at the other, they never will."

VANDERVEER-MANSFIELD WEDDING TUESDAY

Jack Vanderveer and Miss Louelin Mansfield were happily married in Boerne Tuesday night by Justice of the Peace Harry Davis.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Mansfield and is a very charming young lady who was born and reared here. The groom, formerly of Pleasanton, is the owner of the Bantex Theatre, which he has been operating for the past year.

The New Era offers congratulations to the happy young couple.

ON TEXAS FARMS

Mason—Income from cowpeas grazed by hogs exceeded cotton income on his farm this year, Clyde Rode, Mason county farmer, reported to Frank N. Newsom, county agricultural agent. Rode grazed 53 head of hogs on 22.3 acres of cowpeas. The gain made by animals at 9 cents per pound gave $409 return from the 22.3 acres. The 12 acres of cotton on this farm made one 475-pound bale that grossed $53. After deducting the ginning and picking costs, the profit was $34.50, or $2.87 per acre.

Ballinger—It is difficult to estimate the value of terraces on my home place of 533 acres," says G. H. Dierscheke of Runnels county. "I have held all through the recent floods, held the soil and water and prevented washing up of crops." Dierschke went on to say that his terraces cost him around $1.50 per acre and that he received his money back in one year after terracing and a handsome dividend each year since has been realized. He has five farms and all are under the agricultural soil conservation program.

San Angelo—A profit of $1,-155.43 was realized this year by 18 Tom Green county 4-H club girls on 24 calves, or an average net profit of $48.14 per calf, A. W. Marshall, county agricultural agent, has reported.

The calves were fed for 241 days at a cost of $18.09 per calf. The calves were valued at $21 apiece at the beginning of the feeding period. The sale of the calves brought $2,074.43 and they won premiums of $262.50.

SCOUT NEWS

The January Court of Honor of the Mohair District will meet with Troop 146 of Bandera on January 7. This meeting will be held at the Auditorium and everyone is cordially invited to attend. Business for the entire year will be presented; plans for the summer camp will be discussed, and much information of the inner workings of the area will be gained. It is especially desired that those interested in the Scout movement will attend.

Scout Delbert Stubbe won the right to go to Washington to the National Jamboree next summer. Only a limited number of Scouts are permitted to go. The award from Bandera was based on activity, enrollment and attendance to Scout activities.

At the January Court of Honor we desire to bring the banner back to stay for awhile. Comfort only beat us there by four points. Each adult that attends counts for us, and the more urge that you attend in order to help us.

6-COUNTY SEARCH FOR BANK ROBBERS GOING ON

Orange Grove, Tex., Dec. 21.—Officers from a half dozen Southwest Texas counties continued their searching for two bandits and their woman companion who held up and looted the Farmers State Bank here of nearly $3,000 and fled toward San Antonio in a Plymouth sedan.

Two men, one armed with a large calibre pistol and the other with a six-shot shot-gun, entered the bank shortly after it opened Monday morning, forced the cashier, one woman and three customers into the vault, scooped up the money and fled.

The woman companion was waiting in the machine when the two bandits rushed from the bank and sped toward Alice, several miles south of here.

It was more than 36 minutes before the men imprisoned in the vault were freed and able to notify officers.

The case shortly afterward, however, that a car answering to the description of the bandit car was seen near George West on Highway 66.

Clad in hunting clothes, the two bandits entered the bank. One leveled a pistol at the three customers and the other pulled out a six-shot shotgun at Max Osterloh, the cashier, and demanded the bank's money. Osterloh reached for the shotgun and was knocked out on the head with it by the robber. He fell to the floor and was trapped into the vault with the others.

Tivy To Play In Amarillo For Title

Dallas, Dec. 20.—The spin of a coin today landed Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm in the win column for a blast at a third consecutive State Schoolboy Grid title.

The Sandies face the championship challenge of Kerrville's Tivy High "Iron Men" in Amarillo Saturday at 2 p. m.

Head Coach Blair Cherry, rather noted for inability to triumph in coin tossing boss, won the toss and took the game away from San Antonio.

Amarillo and Kerrville representatives had agreed that' San Antonio would serve as the temporary home site of the Tivy Antlers in the 'event they won the toss.

Preparations will start immediately to provide accommodations for 20,000 fans expected to witness the Panhandle classic. Some 15,000 crowded the stadium yesterday when the Sandstorms swirled into the finals with a 20-12 victory over a stubborn North Side team at Fair Park.

A record crowd of 4,500 jammed Tivy's playing field at Kerrville as Coach J. V. Hilliard's Hill City scrappers drove into the titular round with a 20-7 lacing administered Port Arthur's Yellow Jackets.

Roy Holbrook, Kerrville's 115-pound package of dynamite, marched the Antlers to their victory. He alternated with McCaleb in smashing from midfield to a touchdown on a first half play. He recovered a Port Arthur fumble and sprinted 55 yards for the final score.

Port Arthur, playing without Mariand Jeffrey, their crack halfback who went out early with an injury, tied the score at 7-7 when McGaffey intercepted a Tivy aerial and ran to the Kerrville 10 from which point Palumbo worked the ball down to the goal line and Jeffrey plunged over.

H. A. Moore, superintendent of the Kerrville schools, stated last night that all preparations for the invasion of Amarillo would be made today. He stated that an attempt would be made to charter a train to haul Kerrville rooters.

PLANE SEARCH IS SHIFTED

Salt Lake City, Dec. 22.—Army reserve fliers took over aerial patrols here today as a squadron of bombing planes from Boise ship moved far to the south in search of a missing Western Air express transport and its six occupants.

In the seven days since the big transport disappeared on a night flight from Los Angeles, 13 individual aerial searchers had exhausted every clue.

The search will base at Milford, 160 miles of Salt Lake City. If no shows there, Lieut. Robert S. J. Sampson reported "everything o. k." early December 15—the last word from him.

Reports, that a sputtering airplane motor was heard over the Sierra mountain ranges of Alpine, 25 miles southeast of Salt Lake City led to concentration there of scores of men and planes in that rugged region. However, airmen returned to their first base, Milford, after they failed to let William Boger, Stewardess Gladys Witt and four passengers aboard the missing ship, the Los Angeles-Salt Lake City route between Milford and Delta.

Ground forces, stimulated from the thousands in the field last week, continued roaming mountains and canyons near Alpine.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Bright leave this morning for San Angelo to visit relatives.

Miss Faye Burns is here from Brownwood for the holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mangold and son were shopping in San Antonio Tuesday.

BUENOS AIRES PEACE PARLEY ADJOURN'S PACTS

Buenos Aires, Dec. 19.—Further steps toward an epochal protection of peace, international justice and economic co-operation in the western hemisphere were taken today by the Inter-American peace conference.

At a plenary session this afternoon, the delegations from 21 American republics adopted 23 resolutions and projected treaties.

The outstanding resolution charged the Pan-American Union, a permanent organization, with drawing up a report on the proposal to establish an American league of nations.

The report of the union will report at the Pah-American conference to be held at Lima, Peru, in 1938.

Another important phase of the sweeping peace program was adoption of the resolution of a program introduced by the United States co-ordinating, amplifying and strengthening existing peace and trade pacts among the nations of the two Americas.

The agreement was drawn up by Secretary of State Hull.

Other resolutions and proposed pacts later received formal ratification by the respective nations, related to betterment of economic relations between these countries and intellectual co-operation to promote a better understanding amongst peoples.

The work of the Inter-American conference is rapidly drawing toward a close.

THE SEASON'S GREETINGS

To our subscribers and friends it is indeed a pleasure to take advantage of this occasion to extend our sincere greetings of the season. May your Christmas be merry, may the family be assembled in a spirit of happiness and good will. May you enjoy, that glow of pleasure which comes with the knowledge that you have done something to make the lives of others just a little more pleasant, just a little more comfortable, and just a little happier.

But we cannot permit the occasion to pass without a few serious thoughts on the subject of Christmas. It is right that this should be the greatest of all holidays, that it should be devoted to a sincere desire on the part of us all to make life more pleasant for others.

It is also fitting that we should give some serious thought to the high idealism of the occasion, "Peace on Earth to Men of Good Will." Two thousand years ago that vision of a world of peace was given to men by the Great Leader whose Nativity we observe with due reverence. And though men have paid lip service to that lofty ideal since that date what do we observe in this present world of jealousy, hatred and animosity.

Nations are arming for the irrepressible conflict. Across armed borders they hurl diplomatic insults and threats and most observers are wondering when the spark will strike and the conflagration will begin to roar.

And slaves international issues we still observe that greedy men are willing to extort the last ounce of personal gain from every transaction. Little can Christ-mast again to them other than another holiday or an opportunity for commercial profit.

On this holiday occasion which we trust you will observe in all its traditional form, please pause for a moment and consider the true significance of the day. The precepts of Him whose name we revere on this occasion offer the sanction to all issues and all the problems which perplex and distress our time.

So with due reverence and sincerity we again extend our wishes for a Merry Christmas and a happy holiday season.

CUT IN INSURANCE RATES DUE ON JAN. 1

Austin, Dec. 19.—Fire Insurance Commissioner Raymond S. Mauk announced today insurance rates on exposed dwellings would be reduced effective Jan. 1.

"The reduction was made, he said, through elimination of exposure charges from dwelling class risks. Rates on exposed rooming houses and apartments would be reduced, but unexposed dwelling rates would remain approximately the same.

Mauk said the deficiency charge for standard brackets would be eliminated under the dwelling and apartment house rating schedules.

CLEMENCY SHOWN 2,370 BY ALLRED

Austin, Dec. 19. — Records of the Secretary of State showed today 2,370 clemencies were issued state prisoners by Governor Allred from the beginning of his first term to Dec. 4 this year.

A constitutional amendment approved last November sets up a new board of pardons and paroles and the governor can grant clemencies only upon its recommendation.

Allred's policy, followed since the amendment was declared to have been approved, has been to grant clemencies only upon recommendation by the present board. The amendment becomes effective Feb. 1.

Allred issued 1,650 general pardons against 94 conditional pardons. His policy has been to grant paroles, with paroles reporting to responsible persons, rather than pardons.

It is estimated fully 200 clemencies in his uncompleted term were precluded by parole governors.

Allred issued 460 furloughs and 172 revocations. His clemency record for this year included 492 pardons, 22 full-pardons, 131 restorations of citizenship, 296 furloughs, 61 revocations, 18 reductions of sentence, 35 restorations of hunting rights, 5 restorations of driving rights and other minor acts which include 1,197 clemencies.

There is a regular poet in the Eighth Grade. She is always writing some kind of poetry and is also very good when it comes to limericks. The following poems were written by Vera Anderwald, our young poet:

She's the smartest girl in the class,
And everyone knows she is sure to pass.
She makes a straight "A" report card,
Although the subjects are rather hard.
You may think that of a girl
Like this you have never heard,
But we all know she is Genevieve Word.

There is also another smart girl in the Eighth Grade,
And a straight "A" card she has also made.
She's not afraid of a six weeks' test,
Because she always does her very best.
She knows her lessons, too, every bit,
And we're all sure that this girl is Maurine Gossett.

We want to thank Vera for these contributions and invite her to write more any time she feels like it.

The "Glorified Christmas Pudding"

By Alice B. Palmer

A SOFT carpet of fresh snow sparkled in the sun and the whole of Christmas was in the room as Lois opened her eyes, yawned contentedly and then suddenly remembered the great conquest of the day—"the Christmas Pudding!"

"Oh Em,", she shouted, radiant with joy and keen with excitement, "Wake up! Wake up! It's Christmas!"

"What's that?" murmured Em, sleepily. "Oh yes, hurrah for the fun! Is the pudding done?"

Every year, as far back as Lois and Em could remember, they had looked forward with youthful anticipation to the Glorified Christmas Pudding. "Twas a Swedish rice delicacy, to which an almond had always been concealed. Tradition had proclaimed that the lucky person who came upon the holiday nut in his Christmas pudding was to be the first one married. What fun it had been through the year.

"Every girl," spoke mother, beaming with the holiday spirit, "who is to get the almond in the Christmas pudding? This is leap year, you know."

Lois mother giggled, knowingly, exchanging winks, as both were secretly engaged to be married.

Soon mother was busily engaged over the dishing up of this delicious pudding. It was being formed into cone-shaped mounds, resembling Christmas snow.

All eyes were now focused expectantly upon the rich creamy mountains of rice and they could scarcely wait until they dipped their spoons into its foamy depths. Lo was blinking at Em and excitedly thrusting each individual rice morsel, so as not to miss the almond. Em was slyly winking at mother and smiling confidently. Father was too pleased for words as he calmly viewed the whole situation with satisfied enthusiasm, secretly hoping that he would not come upon the almond.

Where on earth was the Christmas almond? All had quite finished with no sign of the coveted nut. A strange silence pervaded, followed by a surprised sense of dismay and disappointment.

"Julia," called mother, to the girl in the kitchen "have you saved your rice pudding yet?"

"Yes, Mrs. Allen," promptly responded Julia.

"What is the matter, my dear, you look so upset?"

"I'm sorry, Mrs. Allen, but I almost broke my tooth on a strange nut. There are vents above the eyes which exude copious secretions which invade the spinal column and seep into the brain. If they can be drained, temporary insanity can be halted but eventually the tusker gets out of control permanently.

A louder roar of laughter than ever was heard before, permeated the holiday atmosphere as one by one they tried to explain the Christmas almond to Julia. As the latter ended, the "Glorified Christmas Pudding" once more faded away into tradition.

SENATOR NORBECK IS DEATH VICTIM

Redfield, S. D., Dec. 20.—United States Senator Peter Norbeck (R-S.D.) died at his home here at noon today after a long illness. Senator Norbeck gained international renown as chairman of the Insull utilities probe.

Senator Norbeck's death was announced by his brother, George Norbeck, who said the Senator's heart "gave out as the result of a sclerosis development of the tongue and jaw." The senator was 66 years old.

Immediate cause of death, Dr. F. H. Scallin, attending physician, said, was coronary hypertension, a heart condition from which Senator Norbeck had suffered the last five years.

With him when he died were the Senator's wife, Mrs. Carl Harded, and his secretary, Margery Huvreberg, in addition to the physician. Mrs. Norbeck was attending church.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed this afternoon.

RUSSIANS DIDN'T LIKE OUR SHEEP

Moscow, Dec. 20—F. J. Volik, director of the all-union import trust, returned from the United States somewhat dissatisfied today.

He had gone with specialists of the Russian Commissariat of Agriculture for high thoroughbred sheep and goats for collective farms of South Russia.

Although the mission visited 14 states, Volik complained, it was unable to buy all the animals it wanted.

"The United States didn't quite justify our hopes," he said; emphasizing the strict demands the buying expedition made on quality. "And we were not able to obtain a sufficient number of sheep or goats.

Out of 15,000 or 16,000 animals offered to us in 14 States we found only 700 Angora goats which met our requirements."

The purchased stock was shipped from Houston, Texas.

The traveling expenses of the Russian expedition were estimated at about $25,000 and they spent perhaps $75,000 in the purchase of animals in this nation.

San Angelo and Salt Lake City were headquarters for the Russians while in this country.

SHORT TERM LOANS ARE POPULAR NOW

Washington, Dec. 20.—The Farm Credit Administration reported today an increasing popularity for short-term loans available to farmers on a co-operative basis for growing crops or raising livestock.

LOVE AND HUNGER

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The two poles of being, according to Anatole France, are love and hunger. Man, the human being, must humanize and harmonize his span of life which stretches from "pole to pole." Love does not always see its compensation. Neither does food supply more than physical hunger.

There is no human trait more dominant than the desire for love; but only as love lifts a human being to the height of sacrificial devotion, does it become a powerful and purified requisite of character. Love is the greatest thing in the world because it is capable of lifting a human soul upward and on. A person may find satisfaction in establishing a harmonious relationship between the universe and himself, between animals and himself, but his highest relationship is met only in person to person: personality sharing personality. He who in human relationship has learned to love has learned to live.

Love that is content to set and sun itself with its constant demands, or careless denials may one day awake from its lethargy to find itself alone, or else it may discover that it has lost its human inspiration and has become impotent. Love that reaches out for "angels in paradise" sometimes finds in its embrace "drab figures of the earth." There is or should be a beyondness in love that establishes its spirituality and guards its virtue. Today's experiences are tomorrow's memories. Unless human beings love today in terms of the higher spiritual values, tomorrow's memories may be but pool dunes of emotion that can never or become white light of beauty and human tenderness. There is always pain in passion when love is without reason. There is always pain in passion when love in spiritual essence lives in the human heart.

All through the ages, human beings have known that love creates. Its own language, finds its own words, sings its own music, discovers its own symbols. Why does a mother count her life as nothing when the life of her child is at stake? It is because she is a good mother and knows that greater love hath no one than this: that a human being lay down his life for his own. Why does a father give the strength of his years providing for those dependent upon him? It is because he is a good father and knows that love demands responsibilities as well as responses. Why do true friendships inspire us? It is because true friends know that the good influence of friendship is more to be desired than gold, yea, than much fine gold. Sir Walter Scott about to die, said to Lockhart only ... "Be a good man, my dear." That is what love says to us over and over again. Love that begets its earthly children hungers for its child to grow into glorious stature, from "pole to pole."

Gloves Worn by Ancients

Gloves were worn by the ancients though they one was so common. In a hot climate to wear gloves implied a considerable degree of effeminacy. The early use of gloves can more clearly be traced in northern than in southern nations. When the ancient servility of manners declined gloves were generally worn by the Romans. Mucopius, a philosopher who lived at the close of the First century A. D., among other inventors against the corruptions of the age, said: "It is shameful that persons in perfect health should clothe their hands and feet with soft and hairy coverings."

NOTHING BUT FOOD TO WEAR

"You ought to be satisfied," said the city guy to a farmer. "Here you have your own milk and butter, fried eggs and meat and vegetables. That should satisfy anybody in times like these."

"Yes," said the farmer, "but you just call here in a few months from now and you'll see the fattest, sleekest, nakedest farmer you ever saw."

Jim—What did Julia say when you put out the light and kissed her?

Bee—She said she never wanted to see my face again.

Earl—Surely, Ruth, you must realize that there are two sides to every question.

Ruth—Of course, dear, but that is of no concern why you should always be right.

WPA TO DISSOLVE INTO PERMANENT PWA

Washington, Dec. 14.—National public welfare officials, a spokesman said to day, want a gradual dissolution of emergency work relief typified by WPA and creation of a permanent federal public works program similar to the present PWA.

F. K. Hochler, executive director of the American Public Welfare Association, said the dissolution should be made possible by absorption into industry of millions of workers now on relief rolls. He said "we believe that if the WPA was a necessary emergency program and that it should be gradually reduce but not so as to effect any hardships."

DRUG STORES WIN LIQUOR FIGHT ROUND

Drug stores fighting liquor board ruling requiring them to obtain annual permits to buy and use alcohol in compounding prescriptions have won another victory.

District Judge J. D. Moore of Austin granted a permanent injunction restraining the board from requiring such permits. Ruling issued a temporary injunction several weeks ago. The board was expected to appeal.

The ruling was sought by the Rengin Drug Co., Inc., intended to test the law and will apply to more than 2,000 drug stores.

Tightest Knot of All

When someone speaks of the marriage knot they are not just merely using a figure of speech, for a long time the tying of a knot has had an important place in the wedding ceremony. Carthaginians says Pathfinder Magazine, tied the thumbs of the betrothed couple together with a leather thong. Hindu groom places a ribbon about his bride's neck and ties it in a knot; and the Parsees tie the hands of the groom together.

Municipal bugbears and such were discussed as the world's youngest mayor and world's youngest ex-LaGuardia of New York played host to 15 year-old Kampus of Boys Town recently. Left to right are Kampus and Father Flanagan, founder of Boys Town.

THE world's youngest mayor and the world's youngest ex-mayor of New York recently met in an official guest-of-the-mayor of the world's largest city—and they talked about budgets!

Danny Kampus, Mayor of Boys Town, Nebr., is only 17 and the youngest mayor of a real city in the world. As mayor of New York, Fiorello LaGuardia controls the largest municipal budget in the world.

After being locked in private conference in LaGuardia's office for some fifteen minutes, the mayor of New York admitted newspaperwomen and photographers:

"Mayor Kampus and I have exchanged credentials" LaGuardia said. "We've decided the job of being mayor isn't all it's cracked up to be!"

"You said it!" chimed in the youthful Kampus.

Going to New York to take part in a national radio broadcast, the Mayor of Boys Town and Father Flanagan, founder and director of the nationally famous home for homeless boys there were accorded all the courtesies and honors extended by the metropolis only to world celebrities. They were met at the train by Mayor LaGuardia's official motor cavalcade with smartly uniformed motorcycle officers flanking all sides. With screaming sirens clearing their way through the heavy New York traffic, they were whisked to the city hall for the big public reception.

While the two mayors posed for a battery of photographers, Father Flanagan stood in the

Their Christmas GOOD DEED
by Jocile Webb Pearson

BILLIE JONES adored his big brother. Jim had been a Boy Scout before going to college and to be a scout like Jim was Billie's one ambition.

"If we're goin' to be scouts," he confided to his chum Joe Perkins, we ought begin practice!."

"Yea, but how do we know how to begin?" inquired Joe.

"Huh," snorted Billie, "anyone can do a good deed every day."

"We can help our mothers," said Joe. "Sure," Replied Billie, "but this must be somethin' special like helpin' old Miss Blair carry her basket when it was icy, or somethin'. An' bein' Christmas, we oughta give somethin', mebbe a present, too. Say, I got an idea, Joe. Why can't we give her somethin' for our first good deed? She don't have a daddy or nobody to help her."

"But we ain't got money," objected Joe, "cept 10 cents, an' I bet she needs a lot of things—coal an' kindlin' an' everthin'."

"Leave it to me, Joe. I got a mother idea, but it's a secret. Tain't a good deed if ya tell it! Now cross your heart an' say: I'll never tell till death uh do part.' There, that's the bindiest words I know."

Anyone would know it was Christmas by the spicy fragrance in the air. Even before one saw the big lighted tree in the living room.

There were many whispered conversations and signs and giggles between the two boys, that Jim's keen eyes found amusing. Coming home one evening he surprised them in the act of smuggling a basket of coal out the back gate.

"Hey, fellows! Where you going with that?" It was Joe who blurted: "Billie says it ain't no good if ya tell." Billie hung his head. "It was just practice' to be scouts," he stammered, "an this is our first good deed. I'll carry it for two weeks—I mean takin' coal to Miss Riley. She's poor an' deaf an' she'll be glad to get her coal—half the time we take it from the house." Billie looked appealingly at Jim.

"An' she only had a teeny little bit," put in Joe, pathetically. "If you're s'posed to give to folks Christmas, ain't you?"

A rabbit two mighty fine scouts right now," said Jim. "But first we'll have to make clear the scout ideas of property rights. Deliver your coal, then come up to my room and we'll talk it over."

When old Mrs. Riley hobbled to her door in response to a loud knock Christmas eve, she did not see two little boys scamper behind the coal shed, but she did see a huge basket filled with a generous load of coal, and a number of baby packages piled high on the top, with a "Merry Christmas to you" tied to it.

Their Christmas GOOD DEED

by Jocile Webb Pearson

BILLIE JONES adored his big brother. Jim had been a boy scout before going to college and to be a scout like Jim was Billie's one ambition.

"If we're goin' to be scouts," he confided to his chum Joe Perkins, "we oughta begin practicin'."

"Yes, but how do we know how to begin?" inquired Joe.

"Huh," snorted Billie, "anyone can do a good deed every day."

"We can help our mothers," said Joe. "Sure," replied Billie, "but this must be somethin' special like helpin' old Miss Riley carry her basket when it was icy, or somethin'. An' bein' Christmas, we oughta give somethin', maybe a present, too. Say, I got an idea, Joe. Why can't we give her somethin' for our first good deed? She don't have a daddy or nobody to help her."

"But we ain't got money," objected Joe, "an' I bet she needs a lot of things—coal an' kindlin' an' everthin'."

"Leave it to me, Joe. I got a nother idea, but it's to be a secret. 'Tain't a good deed if ya tell 'nybody. Now cross your heart an' say 'I'll never tell till death ch do part.' There, that's the bindiest words I know."

Anyone would know it was Christmas by the spicy fragrance in the air. Even before one saw the big lighted tree in the living room.

There were many whispered conversations and signs and giggles between the two boys, that Jim's keen eyes found amusing. Coming home one evening he surprised them in the act of smuggling a basket of coal out the back gate.

"Hey, fellows! Where you going with that?" It was Joe who blurted: "Billie says it ain't no good if ya tell." Billie hung his head. "We're just practicin' to be scouts," he stammered, "an this is our good deed. We been doin' it for two weeks—I mean takin' coal to Miss Riley. She's poor an' dead an' ain't got no daddy to get her coal—half the time we take it from Joe's house"—Billie looked appealingly at Jim.

"An' sho only had a teeny little bit," put in Joe, stutehily. "An' you're s'posed to give to folks Christmas, ain't you?"

"I salute two mighty fine scouts right now," said Jim. "But first we'll have to make clear the scout ideas of property rights. Deliver your coal, then come up to my room and we'll talk things over."

When old Mrs. Riley hobbled to her door in response to a loud knock Christmas eve, she did not see two little boys scamper behind the coal shed, but she did see a huge basket filled with a generous supply of food, and many bulgy packages piled high on the top, with a "Merry Christmas to you" tied to it.

The fishing season, which has been open since May 1st, will also close in Bandera and several adjoining counties. In Medina county, however, the fishing season remains open a month longer, or until Jan. 31st.

A BEAUTIFUL TREE

The Christmas tree with its lights, pretty decorations stands guard over the large snow-swept landscape with the lights from the village throwing a soft gleam over all. The train hurrily rolls along through the tunnel, over the big bridge past the danger signal with flashing lights, and on to its traffic with its gate and comes to a stop in front of the Union Station. Here the baggage is ready to carry your bag, the porter has the step to make it easier for you to get down to the car. Some people are sitting on the benches evidently waiting for the train, while others are in the freight depot with a bale of cotton ready to be loaded on the train.

In the village the fire truck is ready for a call, the oil truck is bringing gasoline and there are the taxi cabs ready to go. A little farther to the side is little Boy Blue with his sheep in the meadow and the cattle by the stream. A little farther is a man with a wheelbarrow and such an adorable little dog. The wheelbarrow sets on it, while near by is another village. The Indians are riding hard trying to kill some of the buffalo.

There are many things that have omitted, but I'm sure Mrs. J. R. Hayes will be glad to show you this delightful scene at her home just as she showed it to your reporter.

FRANK HAWKS FLIES 311 MILES A HOUR

East Hartford, Conn., Dec. 23.—Frank Hawks, noted speed pilot, attained a scheduled speed of 311 miles an hour today with his new 1,000 horsepower plane, "Time Flies," in tests over Rentschler Field.

"I know the plane will perform as wind tunnel tests indicated," Hawks said after the tests. "She is the smoothest ship I ever pilot-ed and should have no difficulty in attaining 375 miles an hour."

The pilot said his highest speed with the twin wasp powered ship was attained at 8,000 feet while he was using only 65 per cent of the available horsepower.

He pointed out that his retractable cockpit, providing complete fuselage streamlining, added 25 miles to the plane's performance.

Further tests will be made soon, Hawks said, in asserting he would attempt to establish a new world speed record for land planes as soon as conditions are suitable.

F. M. McCaleb, who has so ably conducted the column in the San Antonio Express, "Early Days in Southwest Texas," at the issue of December 27th, stated that he would not write the feature any longer. Mr. McCaleb's compositions were read by many people and will be missed by everybody. In his final he has the following to say of Bandera county people:

Uncle Eli Lloyd is the sole survivor of that terrible fight right on the Packsaddle Mountain in Llano county in 1873, in which he was wounded. Uncle Eli is still hale and hearty in the 87 years of his life, on his ranch on the head of the Medina river in Bandera county.

There are very few mothers living in Texas today who were born in Texas 90 years ago, and if the few living in Texas today who were born in Texas 90 years ago, had all had as large families as Grandma Zumwalt of Bandera county, Texas would have been pretty well populated without any influx coming in of, people from any other State. Grandma Zumwalt raised 12 children, eight of them still living. She has 42 grandchildren and 52 great-grandchildren, making a total of 106 direct descendants all living in her own lifetime.

FROM MR. MARTIN

The following letter has been received by County Judge Wright from Highway Commissioner Martin:

2300 Roosevelt Avenue, San Antonio, Tex., Dec. 21, 1936.

Hon. Clarence Wright, County Judge, Bandera, Texas.

Dear Judge Wright:

On February 15, 1937, my term of office as a member of the Highway Commission will expire. At this time I will have served ten and one-half years as a member of the Commission, which is more than half the life of the Commission. I have enjoyed my connection with the Department and on this, the last Christmas of my membership, I desire to express my thanks to the Commissioners of your Court my sincere appreciation for your friendly co-operation with the Department during my connection with it.

With every good wish for the Holiday season,

Very sincerely,

MIGRATOR HUMAN BEINGS

The motor car is rapidly transforming many Americans into migratory human beings. In the summer months they migrate from the South to the North. In the winter it moves from the North to the Southern states.

In resort centers trailer camps and trailer communities blossom into existence during the season. Tourist cabin proprietors still do a thriving business. There is a scarcity of tourist rooms. Thus travel over the highways becomes an industry of first rank importance.

In some communities there is concern because of this nomadic tendency and the trailer camps pronounced with the advent of the modern trailer. Some States have enacted laws to keep from about higher license fees. Others are serving notice that trailer dwellers are not welcome. "Who," they observe, "will pay the taxes, maintain schools and public institutions when a large proportion of our citizens become trailer dwellers."

Other communities, notably those located in resort centers, are not concerned about the trailer and its social economic consequences of the trend, but see benefits in providing facilities for tourists and particularly trailer tourists. We learn of regular trailer cities which suddenly mushroom into existence when the tourist season starts.

We hold that these communities which extend a welcome to the visitor are not endangering the future social or economic status of their city. A long visit in a trailer home is a pleasant experience, but the trailer will never supplant the permanent home for the vast majority of Americans.

Mrs. and Mrs. Ben Steinle and Mrs. Emma Steinle Smith spent the holidays here.

Mrs. Ed Mansfield and family spent the holidays with their daughter, Mrs. Ruth Hay.

Frank Montague and family and Miss Virginia Montague of San Antonio, were dinner guests of Mrs. Rose Gardiner and Miss Margaret Montague Monday.

J. Amarillo Defeats Tiey For Title

Amarillo, Tex., Dec. 26.—Michael Patrick Sweeney twice hurled his stringbean frame into a swinging, kicking foot and tonight Amarillo's Golden Sandstorm won the third consecutive Texas schoolboy football title.

Seventeen thousand fans saw the Sandstorm finally surge to a 19-6 triumph over a valiant band of Tivy High Antlers from Kerrville after the gangling Irish youngster's kick-blocking stunts early in the game stunned the invaders.

It could almost be said that Kerrville's "Iron Men" outplayed the Sandstorm first and foe the State championship. They passed and cracked the line for 16 first downs against 8, but a recovered one yard less than Amarillo's rushing total of 159 yards and outpunted the Sandstorms in the air at 121 to 23 yards.

But they couldn't keep Sweeney's phantom end, out of their back field.

Midway in the first period, with Chandlee, Antlers attempting a kick back on his 25, Sweeney sliced in from the right and wrapped both arms around Chandlee's kicking foot. The ball bounded backwards, Sweeney grabbed it on the first bound and stumbled over for the first score.

Ten minutes later he stormed in with the same play and duplicate the play. Bobby Cleason's 80-yard kick had rammed the Antlers back to their 19 and Chamblias was readying himself for another kick. He swung upfield with Sweeney in pursuit and this time Toomba, Sandstorm center, retrieved the ball for the touchdown.

Off to 13-point lead provided by Sweeney's alertness, the Sandstorm defense became as impregnable a team as ever reached the Cotton Bowl.

Generated by a loose-hipped, grinning halfback, Charles (slick) McCaleb and its ramming quarterback, Bobby Allison, the Antlers twice stormed to the Amarillo goal line before collapsing on scoring chances.

McCaleb was the luster of the Kerrville offense. He kept the Sandstorm backfield guessing as a change of pace that had families diving for him just after he had been there. He intercepted, intercepted passes, played a mansized defensive game on the ends and added the deadly razzle-dazzle roar that accompanied his departure from the field a minute before the game ended. McCaleb did a magnificent job of knifing the line and pass throwing before he was removed from the game because of an ailing knee in the final period.

Pat Toomba, Amarillo center and guard, made seven pass interceptions, started the Sandstorm on its third touchdown in the third period when he batted a pass that Chamblias juggled in the air.

Starting from the Kerrville 34, Gleason cracked left tackle for 11 yards and Ramond "Wild Horse" Hunt broke away on more on an end sweep. Cleason faked a pass and carried to the nine. The Wild Horse broke away around left end and went over-standing up.

A bit of strategy by A. Coleman, Kerrville lineman, finally brought the Antlers a touchdown. Coleman intercepted one of Holbrock's passes and ran it 20 yards before Coleman lateraled to Hunt, but the ball he carried loosely in his arms. It was Kerrville's ball on the Amarillo 18. Cleason added 18 yard pass to Hunt, Antlers end, started the drive. Chamblias added 2 yards on a power play and took a screen pass to the 13 and Holbrook followed up with a beautiful pass to Cleason, who was running on the five-yard marker. He turned and jogged across for the touchdown.

Two times before the Antlers had been denied a score. Late in the first period Elmer Intercepted Cleason's pass on the Kerrville 27 and skipped 20 yards. Chamblias added 3 more yards and McCaleb sandwiched in between [illegible] for the Amarillo

Bandera New Era

$1.50 Per Year, in Advance

R. W. METTZEN, Publisher.

Entered as second-class matter at the postoffice at Bandera, Texas.

HAPPY NEW YEAR

To our subscribers, business associates and friends in this community we extend our sincere wishes for a happy New Year. Accompanied by the hope and prophesy that it will be a prosperous twelve month period.

A word of sincere appreciation is due for the fine support and friendly co-operation we have received during the past year in our effort to provide the community with a wide-awake and up-to-date newspaper. It is with just this friendly support our efforts would have fallen far short of our hopes.

During 1937 we propose to serve our community as we have endeavored to serve it in the past. The New Era will be essentially a community newspaper and will endeavor to report all of the activities of our citizens and of our civic organizations. We shall seek to acquaint the public with the trend of public affairs in our community, and keep our readers informed on what our elected officials are doing. We shall support every enterprise designed to further the commercial, social and industrial life of the community and shall be ever on the alert to emphasize those thoughts which promote community well being.

We shall stress the need of co-operation among our citizens and the part this might play in the promoting the welfare of the community. We shall urge and emphasize the need among our citizens of extending financial support to local business establishments. We shall seek to further the work of the Chamber of Commerce of our service clubs, and shall try to encourage all educational activities which are being carried on constantly in Bandera.

We shall welcome constructive criticism and maintain an open mind toward those with whom we cannot agree. In all controversies political or non-political, our columns will be open to both sides. Sensationalism and private attack shall have no place in our columns, and we shall exert every possible effort to keep our paper above reproach in this respect.

By maintenance of this policy we hope to merit yours support during the year 1937, and thereby we also hope to do our part to help make the twelve months ahead a more happy and a more prosperous New Year for all of our citizens.

LET'S GET TOGETHER

We all are unnecessarily jealous beings. So deeply bred into our blood is this feeling of distrust, suspicion, and envy that we cannot eliminate it without an effort.

For this reason it is not easy for competitors to work together for the enhancement of the community's interests. But work together we must as a united community and the sooner we realize that we must make every effort to co-operate with those we may like, with those who compete against us in business, the greater will be our progress as a community.

After all there is more to be gained by co-operation than by personal antagonism. Let's resolve for 1937 to be more co-operative minded in matters pertaining to the welfare of Bandera.

Trying to act busy when you have nothing to do is one of the hardest jobs we know anything about.

History may not repeat itself accurately, but it stutters and exaggerates.

"The health department has been doing its work very efficiently," states an article in an exchange, "as indicated by several epidemics in the community during the past year."

A local citizen speaking in his picturesque style, observed that a certain acquaintance was about as reliable as a weather forecast based upon the thickness of the hides of fur-bearing animals."

If we could only learn to control our personalities, there would be quite a boom here in Bandera in community progress.

READING THE NEWSPAPER

We do not begin to get out of a newspaper all that it offers. Most of us are head-line readers with perhaps a leaning toward some of the features.

As a test we might read tomorrow's paper in the way we are supposed to do and then in a few hours try to jot down the principal facts we remember. We would probably be amazed at the scarcity of what we retained.

For much time is wasted in our reading. We dawdle thru paper looking here, glancing there, while if we forced ourselves to one steady line of reading and concentration we soon would increase our knowledge. For the newspaper brings a varied source of interesting, timely, scientific and general. The newspaper is one of the greatest educational forces that the human race has yet developed. Why do we then thrust away the chance to increase our learning only to waste our time and emotional energy perhaps on reading material of cheaper quality.

Were we to study the advertisements alone we would gather a fund of information in accurate. We can take a trip to Africa or Brazil or read that a well known public citizen "the collegiate type of young man wearing a size skin coat has been replaced by a size 40 model," and be amused and of sane judgement," all in the "ad" section.

Any person can make himself an interesting companion by reading the newspaper well each day.

HITLER PEACE PLEA WINDS UP PARLEY

Buenos Aires, Dec. 23.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared: "We must destroy war or war will destroy us," in a plea read before the Inter-American Peace Conference came to a close today.

Challenging the rest of the world to follow the nation's example, of co-operation in charting "course for peace, the chief of the United States delegation bared isolationistic policies which he said "unfortunately prefault in many parts of the world."

"Instruments of destruction which have been invented," he said, "are so devastating in their effects that compromise is no longer possible.

"They are not relieved by the march of armies and the death of men. The real patriots and the real heroes of the future will be the leaders who find and follow the road to peace."

Hull said, "we come, he said "for every nation of the world to take inventory" and to examine its relationship to mankind. The individuals, nations must learn to forgive and forget the injuries which them to the collective."

Assistant Secretary of State Sumner Welles read the message from Hull and declared to speak because of hoarseness from a cold.

The historic parley ended three days after the arrival President Roosevelt, addressing the opening session, pictured the 21 American republics standing "shoulder to shoulder" against aggression from abroad and determined to prevent conflicts among the new world.

In their labors the delegates put his proposals into specific terms. They laid the groundwork for consultations among the American republics if war threatens the new world from within or without and for peaceful settlement of American disputes.

Tonight the delegates were present to listen to further broadlands—in fact, some few already had departed. Secretary Hull and most of the United States delegation representatives were to sail aboard the liner Southern Cross Saturday for Miami, Florida.

The delegates had a farewell dinner at the U. S. embassy.

The address of Hull—who was receiving the "first gift" by Latin-American delegates who remembered his "good neighbor" attitude at the 1933 regional American conference — was the high spot of the final session.

"War," said Hull, "is the last act of God but a crime of man. We conceive modern civilization is threatened with war."

"I don't believe peoples will passively accept the conclusion that war is inevitable time has memorial, have died on battlefields, they have no choice but to continue to die on battlefields in the future," he said.

The accomplishments of the conference, he said, are "not mere aspirations and pious hopes but have practical meaning and vital force." They provide a lesson to the whole world.

five. An attempted screen play failed and Cleaton booted out 30 yards.

McCaleb's recovery of Cleaton's fumble on the Sandie 47 started the Antlers goahead again in the second period. Holbrook's smashing line spurts plus several short passes to McCaleb and Chambliss took the Antlers to the Sandie two-yard stripe. There Holbrook failed by inches to make it a first down with a touchdown only a yard and a half away. Cleason again took the starch out of the invaders with a 60-yard kick-out.

New Year's Resolution

HERE'S a New Year's resolution
Are one can make and keep.
It will help one's complexion
And soothe one to sleep.

"I will try to keep from fretting
When I cannot see the sun.
I will try to keep from getting Into quarrels I may shun.

"I will try to keep from grieving
Over troubles that are past.
I will try to keep believing
Things will all come right at last.

"I will try to keep each sighing
While I'm at my daily task.
I will try to keep on trying
To deserve to get ahead."

New Year Cavalier

By Helen Gaisford Waterman

FENTON DUMONT was bored with the party. All night welcoming in the New Year—so smugly for people like these—but he was an adventurer, a cavalier, and the formal dress of the lovely ladies so ready to smile upon him, the classical music, the slow, pompous talk of the men suffocated him. He stepped to the balcony.

It had stopped snowing. It was another hour the year would be dead. A grand year. But another would be beginning. He slipped over the balustrade, wound his leg around a pillar, and slid down to meet it. To the east, far away, the year was already new, and so he set off in that direction.

He was almost half way across the bridge before he noticed the girl, but then he stride quickly to her side. "Please don't," he said gently. She started. "I should only have to jump in after you, and that's not the way I would end it. Be bold!" he cried, and shivered with melodrama. "I might even kiss you!" he continued lightly, but the girl looked back to the river, and he realized his error. "Forgive me, my lady, if I don't please you!"

"Then leave me to," she answered. Her voice was soft and musical, but passionately desperate.

He gathered her in his arms and kissed her. She struggled fiercely. He kissed her again, and again; pinning her arms to her sides with his strong clasp. And suddenly she went limp in his arms, and cried against his shoulder. He took off his overcoat and wrapped it around her, for she was shivering. "Why did you come off without your coat and hat?" he chided, and stroked her soft hair.

Behind him, bells and whistles proclaimed another year. "Happy New Year, lassie," he said gayly.

She dried her eyes. "I'm being a fool," she apologized.

"Not-at all," he answered, gallantly. "Methinks I behold a restaurant across the bridge. How about some coffee?"

She let him lead her, and he found a corner table. When their order had been placed, he turned to her.

"Why should you love a man like that?"

She looked up quickly, studying him. "How did you know?"

"Why else should a lovely girl cry on New Year's Eve but that way? You should be dancing."

She smiled. "I don't know. It seemed terribly important half an hour ago. But I'm all right now. It doesn't matter any more."

"Oh, but it does," he quoted, on with the new. This is the season for lovers as well as years. The old is off!"

[illegible] would like very much to be on his arm tonight and hold hers. "May I take you home now?"

She nodded her thanks. Outside, a taxi-cab stood, and they hurriedly climbed in. At her door, he would not let her go. "Can't we see each other again?" he asked.

"Why, I'd like to," she answered, but resistantly. "But what's the use? You're a rover, and I'm not."

"That's O.K. with me," he answered. "But I want to see you again."

"Tomorrow night," she said, and gave him her address.

He left her at the door, and walked back to the bridge. He looked at his watch. It was 1:30 A. M. He had time to get back to the party before it was over. He climbed the balustrade, and slid down the pillar. He looked at his watch. It was 1:30 A. M. He had time to get back to the party before it was over. He climbed the balustrade, and slid down the pillar.

HAPPY NEW YEAR MUSH

By Luella B. Lyons

LEAH MERWIN had kept the one elected to stay at home when the others went into town in the old flivver to the inspiring New Year's service at the church. Someone had to remain at home to watch the stock and, just in case, to see if Grandpa Brantal at Fairs without one more need being needed, so Leah never told him of her bonds.

I wouldn't have minded if it hadn't started snowing the minute their backs were turned and now they won't taste drinking home in the weather," but Leah's words stopped at once as she made out in the evening snow a car that was stopping in the barnyard. The plump figures of a man and a woman were making a wild dash for the protection of the house.

We saw we couldn't go another turn of the wheels," the sweet, plump woman told Leah—she hardly who introduced the two of them as Mr. and Mrs. Tom Madison, 11 miles to the east of Bergen. "We're bound to spend New Year's and a visit at our daughter's, Mrs. Jones, at Bergen, but now—well, we'll have to buy our dinner here from you, if you can spare it, and perhaps you won't mind putting us up for the night. We'll be glad to pay for whatever you can spare."

Leah's mother was a poor cook, afraid of strangers, and Leah was afraid of her mother's cooking when she had company. But she was a kind-hearted girl when she said to serve them a feast of delicious fried mush and cream and syrup and coffee. Supper consisted of the same fare and so did breakfast the next morning, but by that time the Merwins were able to break the drifts and reach the farm and the Madisons, via those breaks, went on their belated way.

"It will be a happy New Year every day for a year for us, Mommy," Leah shouted when the Madisons were out of sight. To a smiling but perplexed family, Leah explained that Mr. Madison owned a small chain of meat markets and small cream and grocery stores and that he had given her sufficient orders for slabs of cornmeal mush just like she had served him and his good wife, for all those stores for one year at least. "The labels on this mush, he said, are to read 'Lady Leah's Prize Mush.'" When the trio had quieted down a bit she added: "The money end of the contract will settle all our financial difficulties for the year and who knows, maybe forever!"

EDUCATION

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The material equipment of our educational system in this country is indicative of a deep and serious interest in the advancement of the culture and discipline of youth. In nearly every city, town and village, no matter how small the population, you will find modern and well furnished school buildings. The construction of these buildings does not represent the altruistic spirit of the population; nevertheless, it does represent the affirmative vote of a people who have accepted the responsibility of bonds created and issued for the purchase and erection of school buildings.

The mere physical or material satisfaction of owning all of this splendid equipment is not our most vital concern. We are more interested in the supreme purpose for which education is provided and the end to be achieved through the generous expenditure of such vast sums of money. What is the chief aim of education? Is it to enable a young person to earn a living? Yes, in part, it is that. We have our trade schools which train young people for a definite employment. We have our professional schools from which are graduated men and women, doctors, lawyers. But even though schools provide specified training, are we justified in thinking that education has fulfilled its purpose, if it equips one to earn a living? Let us remind ourselves that education is no guarantee of affluence, comfort of happiness. No. Real education goes more deeply than that. It does not guarantee the possessor of a diploma employment in his field of specialization. He may be employed to work in some other field, in some other kind of work wholly different from that for which he received special training. But in spite of the nature of his employment, the educated man should be ready for a richer, more contented life, if he has caught the meaning of education in the true sense thereof.

Education fortifies life as well as life equipments.

The ultimate aim of education is the development in character of a man through the training of his mind. Character is the ultimate aim of education. Character is the right use of the mind. Right use depends upon right direction. Right direction depends upon right information. Right information depends upon the right use of the current of the stream of life. In a little room of one of the large power plants on the banks of the great Niagara, sits a solitary man. He has under his control volts of electricity beyond our imagination. He must know not only how to use the power but also when to use and where to direct it. Character as well as skill is constantly put into execution.

Education motivated by a high moral purpose and a sincere altruistic spirit should be the goal of individual effort. No matter what sacrifice is necessary, if education develops the character of a man, it gives him an equipment that will not fail, however uncertain may be the conditions of employment or the kind of work offered. Education must cause a man to know himself as well as facts and theories; and to give himself a sincere interest in his work.

James Clerk Maxwell of England predicted in 1867, on the basis of mathematical deduction, the existence of long electromagnetic, or radio waves. The next development was broadcasting as we know it today.

A man, face scratched, clothing torn and covered with dust, rushed into a police station with a yelp for vengance. "The car that hit me three minutes ago was No. 76-547," he growled. "I can prove he was exceeding the limit and I want—I want—"

"You want a warrant for his arrest?"

"Y! What good would a warrant do me at the rate he was traveling. I want extradition papers."

Lithuania

Lithuania has been described as the Ireland of the Baltic, and the two countries have much in common.

It is even possible that they may be racially akin. The origin of the Lithuanian race is lost in the mists of prehistory, but many anthropologists believe that they are a Celtic tribe left behind on the Baltic by the waves of the Celts from east to west. They were the last heathen subjects of the Christian Empire, their music and folk songs and tales bear a striking resemblance to those of the Irish.

Travelogue For Life
By MARTHA B. TIN

"I'VE just had a letter," said Marcia, "from my grand aunt. They were locked only for a bear rug to go in the sleigh, gliding along on the stars to the silvery jingle of bells.

"Tell me at once," said Jerry, "I collect grand bear rugs as a hobby."

Marcia laughed. "Tonight is New Year's eve, and it's always a straighter in her eggnog. The sun were shining, and we were ing with it, just as fast as we could yell down from Santa Year to the whole world, and rested along."

Jerry was amused and said: "Don't you see," he said, "that girl 'we're all in one boat.'"

"Don't you see," said Marcia, "we're all in the same boat."

"Oh, I see," said Jerry. "Aren't they far and away the world's highest diving?"

"Yes, I'm told they are," said Marcia. "And to remind me now and then, to stop and think the true sense of time and the world-history during its ups and downs of people or civilizations, I'm going to keep a diary."

"Yes, you, Jerry! Look at the past together, and then, with a little thought, about the future. Let's make a list of things we want to do and where we want to go."

"Fine. I'm with you."

"And to remind me now and then, to stop and think the true sense of time and the world-history during its ups and downs of people or civilizations, I'm going to keep a diary."

"Done, darling! New Year's resolution for a target in life. THE SUN, MOON AND STARS YOUR THOUGHTS never be narrow-minded."

Jerry kissed her.

"Hear the bells ringing in the New Year? Aren't they far and away the world's highest diving?"

"Yes, I'm told they are," said Marcia. "Midnight in all parts of the world. New Year's eve, ate!"

Congress Bans War Shipments to Spain

Washington, D. C., Jan. 6.—Acting swiftly after President Roosevelt's message to Congress began the Senate and House passed the administration's resolution to embargo arms shipments to Spain. The vote was overwhelming, only one vote being reported against same in the House, that of Representative Bernard (Farmer-Laborite) of Minnesota.

The highlights of the President's message were:

The vital need is not an alteration of our fundamental law (the Constitution), but an increasingly enlightened view with reference to it.

Means must be found to adapt our legal forms and our judicial interpretation to the actual present national needs of the largest progressive democracy in the modern world.

We do not ask the courts to call non-existent powers into being, but we have a right to expect that, once established, these legitimately implied shall be made effective instruments for the common good.

Sober second thought confirms us in the belief that the broad objectives of the law enacted We know now that its difficulties arose from the fact that it tried to do too much. Its amended or NRA has been outlawed, the problems are not. They are still with us.

Experience with actualities makes it clear that Federal laws supplementary to State laws are needed to help solve the problems which result from modern investment practices in an industrialized nation which conducts its business with scant regard to state lines.

Overproduction, speculation and speculation are three evil sisters who distill their troublous progeny—repeated inflation and disastrous deflation.

It is not enough that the wheels turn. They must carry us in the direction of greater satisfaction in life for the average man.

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION IN TEXAS

When Benefits to Workers Begin

Question 1: "When will the payment of benefits to workers start under the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act?"

Answer: Payments will begin on January 1 of 1938. The first quarter important fact for every employee to remember. Why? Because your possible compensation, if you become unemployed during 1938, will be figured on the basis of your employment record during 1937.

If you have steady employment during 1937, you will be entitled to more benefits than if you lose your job in 1938. On the other hand, if your employment record for 1937 is poor, your compensation will be strictly limited until you have improved your record of employment.

Just how this system of "credits" work will be fully explained in a later article. One important fact to remember now is this — your employment record during 1937 is the record upon which bearing on the credits you build up.

Unemployment compensation may be compared to a savings account. Until you have put something in, you cannot draw anything out.

You, as a worker, will want to understand the other provisions of the Texas law so that you will know what to do to build up the best possible record. The aim of unemployment compensation is to keep men in jobs. This fact will become clearer as these articles proceed.

What Benefits Can I Expect?

Question 2: As an employee, suppose I become unemployed in 1938. What benefits may I expect when the Commission begins payments in January of 1938?

Answer: In the first place, you must realize that to receive any benefits at all you must have had a certain eligibility requirements Questions concerning these requirements will be discussed later.

"But suppose that you are eligible. The law sets up a maximum and a minimum rate of benefits in 50 per cent of the weekly wage.

With the following examples you may take your own greatest wage and determine what you could expect to receive if you became unemployed:

(1) All persons who have weekly wage of more than $30 a week will receive the maximum benefit of $15.00 a week.

(2) Those whose wage falls between $15 a week and $30 a week will receive an amount equal to one-half their weekly wage.

(3) Those whose wage is between $15 a week and $6.25 a week will receive an amount equal to 50 per cent of the weekly wage. If you are getting $6 a week or less you will receive $3.00 a week.

Flags for Visitors

In Raleigh (Mississippi), The Rebel, a local weekly, displays a flag of every guest registered, so that a foreign visitor can tell in a glance whether a compatriot is in town says Agnes Rothery in her book on small town life. An extra flag is displayed on the Fourth of July, and on the occasion of Midsummer night when, since the sun does not set in Mississippi, they remain unfurled 36 hours.

VALUABLE EXPERIENCE BEING GAINED BY VA BOYS

The Bandera Vocational Agricultural class is gaining valuable experience in the feeding and judging of beef cattle because of the generosity of Mr. Tom Montague, a prominent citizen of Bandera. Mr. Montague erected a fine cattle barn on the property of the school and stocked it with well fed and cattle while the boys do the actual work of feeding and caring for these cattle. About three or four months of feeding will have the cattle ready for the market.

R. B. Tippit, vocational agriculture teacher of Medina, and Mr. Medina vocational agriculture teacher of Kerrville, visited here Sunday and inspected the project. They were highly pleased and said they wished they had such a fine set-up too.

APPRECIATION TO FARMERS AND RANCHERS

I want to take this opportunity to thank all you farmers and ranchers that have worked with me so dutifully during the nine months I have been with you. We both were in a disadvantage at first, but I don't know of any place that could have given a young country agent any "dance" that you have, and I'm ready to work twice as hard with you for the coming year.

I have truly enjoyed my service from me, if is your own fault; you probably haven't got the most of it. If you have ANYTHING you'd like to ask my advice on or have me do for you please drop me a card or give me a ring and I will be glad to make appointments that are necessary.

I have moved my office to the court house. I do have an appointment, so if you need me, call for me and I'll be glad to see you at my first opportunity.

COMFORT HATCHERY POPULAR IN 30th YEAR

The Comfort Hatchery, located at Comfort, in Kendall county, Texas, now 30 years old, is one of the most popular hatcheries in the State. M. R. Kuettner, the genial proprietor, is always ready and willing to help poultrymen with their problems, and it goes without saying that he knows every phase of the business.

The Comfort Hatchery was started on a small scale in the year 1907 and has grown tremendously with the times. A newly-electric incubator of the latest style has a capacity of 32,000 eggs.

Mr. Kuettner says: "The future of setting hens is doomed, as they have proven a nuisance—nonproducers. The easiest, least expensive and least troublesome way to establish a flock of chickens is by the purchase of baby or started chicks or pullets. The hatcheries now have induced the farmer to take an interest in his flock, where heretofore it was left to the wounds of the farm to look after the end of the farm work."

NEW LICENSE PLATES TO BE ISSUED IN FEBRUARY

New automobile licenses for the year 1937 will not be available until some time after February 1, according to the State Highway Department. It will not be necessary to have the new plates on the cars before April 1.

According to available information, the registration fees will be the same as before. This year's license plates are to have black letters and numerals on a cream-colored background.

ALLRED WILL ASK REPEAL OF RACING LAW

Austin, Jan. 6.—(Observer Algust today he would recommend to the Legislature that ing Monday the repeal of the authorizing pari-mutuel gambling in Texas.

"I am taking no precipitous legislation to curb activities of Governor Allred announced. "Present laws are inadequate to cope with the situation."

He said he thought legislation should be taken up on pari-mutuel wagering on dog racing.

The Supreme court recently said war was prohibited by law, but stated he had given no attention as yet to bank nights.

Governor Allred recommended repeal of the horse race gambling statute two years ago, but the Legislature failed to act on the recommendation.

"I think sentiment for repeal is stronger now," the governor stat-

In his message to the Legislature to be delivered personally soon after the four-month session begins, will outline his views as to legislative program.

Discussing the financial condition of the State," the Governor said:

"I will recommend adequate revision of public utilities laws to lessen accidents on public highways, including tightening the present regulative statutes; making legislation to put into effect constitutional amendments adopted; providing means to tighten enforcement of liquor laws; legislation for advantage of the rest of the social security act and renewal of the interstate oil compact.

Texas already has put into effect old age assistance and unemployment compensation parts of the federal social security program. Other sections deal with aid to the blind, crippled children and needy expectant mothers.

The Governor said he hoped the Legislature would redistrict the State for legislative representation, and noted the Constitution provided for redistricting after each census. The last census was in 1930.

JUDGE WALLACE TO OPEN LAW OFFICE IN KERRVILLE

Upon his retirement from the bench of the 38th Judicial District on January 4, 1937, Judge Lee Wallace will open a law general law practice with office in Kerrville, he announced Monday.
Judge Wallace, who was not a candidate to succeed himself at the last primary election, will be succeeded by Kenneth K. Woodley of Sabinal, present district attorney, who was elected to the judgeship without opposition.
In announcing his plans, the retiring jurist said: "I take this occasion to thank again my friends for their generous patronage before my accession to the bench, for their unselfish support in securing that position for me, and the public generally for their splendid cooperation while discharging, to my limited ability, the duties of that office."—Kerrville Times.

FLORIDA WOMAN MAYOR STAYING WITH GUNS

Daytona Beach, Fla., Jan. 2.—The matron mayor of Daytona Beach, defiant in the face of a gubernatorial order, stood her ground behind heavily armed guards today while she began her duties as mayor. Her husband, in charge of "Fascism" at her administration.
"I shall hold this office until a reinstatement court orders me out," announced comely Mrs. Reed Armstrong, middle-aged housewife, after a temporary injunction against her removal was issued by Governor Dave Scholtz.
Harry Wilcox, designated by Scholtz to succeed Mrs. Armstrong, declined to declare measures planned by him and five fellow appointees to gain the municipal offices kept them by a circuit court injunction.
"I have every legal right to proceed against this illegal business" Wilcox said.

PROJECT WORKERS RECEIVE 65c OUT OF EVERY DOLLAR

Project workers have received sixty-five cents of every dollar expended by the Works Progress Administration in Texas, it has been announced by State Administrator H. P. Drought.
Entering the eighteenth month of operation in December, the W. P. A. had expended $40,661,156 on projects in Texas, Drought reported. Of this total, $26,872,655 was paid for labor, the bulk of it on the project, and $4,629,902 was expended for rentals and services. A considerable portion of the latter figure was also disbursed in the form of wages for truck and team operations.
"For this expenditure on labor," Drought declared, "we have received 117,302,851 man-hours of honest work. This labor has been performed on 3,704 public improvement projects designed and requested by local agencies in Texas."
Now employing 75,000 persons on 1,600 projects, the WPA program in Texas has declined sharply from the peak of last February when 125,827 men and women depended upon security wage checks for livelihood.
Sponsors have expended $1,573,600 on WPA projects, divided $1,177,693 for labor, $4,395,418 for materials, and $4,359,095 for rentals and services.
Citing the combined WPA-sponsor expenditure of $9,371,367 for materials, supplies and equipment as a direct stimulus to business, Drought called attention to the following items purchased mainly from the heavy industries for use in WPA construction work: Lumber and its products, $1,214,340; paints and painting, $51,967; sand and gravel, $1,910,917; crushed stone, $283,394; cement, $1,358,268; concrete products, $383,571; brick, hollow tile and other clay products, $255,539; structural and reinforcing steel, $572,158; cast iron pipe and fittings, $712,144; plumbing materials, $112,; electrical and appliances, $49,202; coal and other fuel except wood and petroleum, $8,132; tires and rubber goods, $6,807; non-ferrous metals, $67,022; miscellaneous, $539,194.

NOT SO OLD

"The modern movies are all perfect sound," was a phrase often overheard here recently, "but after all I'd like to see again one of the old unspeakable ones."

AMENDMENT HINTED FOR WAGE PROBLEM

Washington, Jan. 2.—The idea of amending the Constitution slipped suddenly to the forefront of congressional topics tonight when Senator Robinson, Democratic leader, said that it was the "last method" to handle the wage and hour problem.
The Arkansas senator, back for the congressional opening Tuesday, dictated to reporters a declaration that Supreme Court decisions holding that neither the federal nor state governments had "power to prescribe maximum hours and minimum wages" had created "a very unsatisfactory condition."

JAMES A. FLAHERTY OF COLUMBIAS PASSES DEAD

Philadelphia, Jan. 2.—James A. Flaherty, 83, one of the most widely known laymen of the Catholic Church, died of pneumonia tonight.
Flaherty was Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus for 18 years—from 1909 to 1927. He was in charge of the Knights of Columbus war activities, and his services won him decorations from this country and France.
He was by years a practicing attorney in Philadelphia, maintaining his offices until the time of his death.

MAVERICK SPEAKS LAW PROTECTING RIGHTS

Washington, Jan. 2.—A bill for the enforcement of civil liberties guaranteed by the Constitution will be introduced in the next congress by Representative Maury Maverick, (Democrat, Texas), he said today.
He would make it a federal offense for anyone to infringe on freedom of speech and press, would prevent illegal search and seizure, and "outlaw lynching," Maverick asserted.
"We had a federal law enforcing prohibition which took rights away from us, and I see no reason why there should not be a law guaranteeing our rights and making it a federal offense to impose upon them," the fiery Texan said.
Examples of liberties violated which he said the proposed law would protect included the recent action of Los Angeles police in escorting vagrants to the California border and the interference with Communist speeches during the last campaign.

PRECINCT IN UVALDE ADOPTS LOCAL OPTION

Uvalde, Jan. 2.—Precinct No. 1, including Uvalde, and Precinct No. 5, including Knippa, remained the only precincts in Uvalde county following an election this week in which Precinct No. 4 adopted local option by a vote of 51 to 64. The precinct includes the towns of Montell, Laguna and Reagan Wells. Precincts Nos. 2 and 3 previously had adopted local option.

ALL FIGURED OUT

Conversation overheard on Main street:
"What would you do if a rich uncle left you a million dollars?"
"Me, I've got it all figured out. I'd put $5,000 in the bank and then go out and have a whale of a big time with the other five thousand."

REALISM

A teacher was advising her young hopefuls to attempt no flights of fancy in their themes. "Just, write what's in you," was her parting advice as she sent them to their homes.
The following day she was both astonished and amused to read among the efforts:
"We should not attempt any fancy, but rite what's in us. In me there is my stomach, lungs, heart, liver, two appiks, three sticks of candy, a hull lot of peanuts and my supper."

A BUSY NUMBER

It is generally known that most candidates for office and most in public life have numerous applications for speeches prepared by ghost writers. Still we doubt if many of them are quite as dependent upon these unknown clever boys as one New York politician of a few years ago who could handle a manuscript only when all words of more than two or three syllables were spelled phonetically.
Once he astonished an audience at a patriotic gathering when he shouted: "What we need is more of the spirit of one-seven-seven-six."
You can get a lot accomplished if you don't care who gets the credit.

RECREATION

We heard of a fellow the other day who had to retire from his business and then began to play golf. Now he's looking for another business to get his mind off his golf.

ORDERS IS ORDERS

A road master after an inspection trip sent a telegram to a section foreman reading: "Grass and weeds accumulated around bridge 563 burn."
It was not long when the answer came from the section boss reading: "Bridge 563 burned."

SANDY INVESTS

One of the best Scotch stories of the past few weeks proceeds as follows:
"Here's a ticket for the 'magic show, Maggie."
"Thank ye, Sandy."
"And hark ye, Maggie, when he comes to the trick where he takes a teaspoon of flour and one egg and makes 20 omelettes watch vera close."

A BIT OF WISDOM

"It's much better," observes a local citizen, "to keep your mouth shut and have people think you are a fool, than to open it and remove all doubt."

Weight of Human Brain

The average human brain weighs three pounds.

Kidnaped Boy Is Found Dead Monday

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 11.—The cruelly beaten body of 10-year-old Charles Mattson was found in a snow-covered brushland today, and the ful forces of Federal, State and local authorities were immediately massed in a determined effort to track down the ruthless killer who kidnaped the lad from his Tacoma home two weeks ago last night.

A 10-year-old hunter stumbled across the battered, nude body shortly before goon today. It lay only 150 feet from the heavily-traveled Pacific highway, about 6 miles south of Everett, which is 30 miles north of here.

The head was crushed, the teeth broken, the body covered with blood and bruises.

The U. S. Government has offered $5,000 reward for the capture of the kidnaper-slayer.

Folsom, Cal., Jan. 13.—Folsom prison authorities received word today that Mrs. Sarah Mattson is seeking Fred Orrin Haynes, former two-time convict, in connection with the Mattson kidnaping.

OLDEST CYCLE RIDER IN S. A. REMINISCES

Adolph Huffmeyer insists that he is not 81 years old, but 81 years young.

He keeps in excellent physical trim by riding his bicycle every day, rain or shine. He claims that he is the oldest bicyclist in the city of San Antonio.

"It is the only means of locomotion I use," he said. "I've been riding wheels since 1896—and the first bicycle I owned was nearly as heavy as the one I use now. I still make the rounds every week to see my old friends and talk over the days when San Antonio and Texas itself, were in the formative stages."

Huffmeyer was born in Kendall county, Texas, on the banks of the Guadalupe river, on November 25, 1855. He lived there until after the war ended.

When Huffmeyer was 10 years old, his uncle, Louis Oge, who owned a ranch out on the river, replaced him in St. Mary's college, San Antonio, where he was a student for the following four years. He then went to the ranch of his uncle, which was located 35 miles southwest of where Pearsall now is.

The following three years Huffmeyer spent on the ranch with a 10-year period of driving cattle over the Kansas trails.

"People were honest in those times," he mused. "They paid cash in gold coin for all the cattle they bought and wore their money buckled around their waists. While everybody was armed to the teeth on account of the Indians, we had many quick-'em-up stunts pulled off, as is customary today. I've seen men unbuckle their belts, arranged and the new and larger district will be known as the Winter Garden district and will include Uvalde as its headquarters.

Forty-two towns and communities will be served by the Winter Garden district.

H. W. Franke of San Antonio has come to Uvalde as manager of the new district. He succeeds R. Morrison, who recently handed out 25 years of service with the company, and who is retiring because of ill health. Two other members of the district office force who will come here as a result of the change are Miss Ruth Jones, who will be district merchandise manager, and H. L. Mackey, assistant to the district manager.

The merger makes the Winter Garden district one of the largest territories served by the company and compares in size with the Gulf Coast and Valley districts.

Uvalde Leader-News.

Fritz Eckhart is on the sick list this week.

E. C. Heder.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Wilcher and Mrs. Juanita Rodgers spent the week-end at San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wheatly of San Antonio were here Monday.

M. E. Faris Died Yesterday Morning

This city was shocked yesterday morning when the news came that Milton E. Faris, a respected resident of our city, had passed away at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday in the Nix hospital at San Antonio. The deceased became critically ill about a week ago and was taken to the hospital suffering with a severe case of pneumonia, which, with complications caused his death.

Milton Ernest Faris was born in Williamson county, Texas, on April 26, 1857, having reached the age of 49 years, 9 months and 17 days. He came to Bandera county from Llano county with his parents in the year 1901. About 3 years ago, he was united in marriage to Miss Cleora Stokes, who with the following two children survive: Mrs. Eug. Noble Jr. and Miss Cecille Faris, both of San Antonio. Other survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Farig of this city; four brothers, Milam and Graydon of Bandera, M. V. of Medina and Ben of Mason, and four sisters, Mrs. Lewis Smith of California, Mrs. Ella Speakman, Mrs. Ida Hamilton and Mrs. Iris Carners, all of San Antonio.

The New Era offers heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved ones.

BANDERA EXPERIENCES SEVERE COLD WEATHER

Bandera experienced its coldest weather in several years when the mercury which registered 20 Monday morning sent the mercury sliding down and by night freezing had set in. Saturday afternoon the temperature was 24 degrees and after rising to 28 stayed around that mark throughout the day. Sunday when the mercury began to rise to 35.

The snow rain accompanying the freeze coated everything with a mantle of ice which was truly beautiful. The hills, trees and bushes, seemed covered with snow and made a gorgeous picture.

The telephone company reports that they suffered no loss. Electric service was out about six hours Monday due to trouble beyond the station. Reconnection Tuesday the line between Bandera and Comfort broke and about 11 miles of wire was down, leaving Bandera to be without power for about fifteen hours. As far as we were able to learn there was no serious loss of livestock in this section.

UVALDE TO GET COMBINED CPL DISTRICT OFFICES

Under a consolidation program announced by officials of the Central Power and Light Company, the San Antonio and Winter Garden districts have been merged and the new and larger district will be known as the Winter Garden district and will include Uvalde as its headquarters.

Forty-two towns and communities will be served by the Winter Garden district.

H. W. Franke of San Antonio has come to Uvalde as manager of the new district. He succeeds R. Morrison, who recently handed out 25 years of service with the company, and who is retiring because of ill health. Two other members of the district office force who will come here as a result of the change are Miss Ruth Jones, who will be district merchandise manager, and H. L. Mackey, assistant to the district manager.

The merger makes the Winter Garden district one of the largest territories served by the company and compares in size with the Gulf Coast and Valley districts.

4-H CLUB MEETINGS

There is nothing like cotton seed meal or pea cake for those old ewes that will begin to lamb in another six weeks. Why not get you a ton of cake and give each ewe a quarter of a pound a day, along with a couple of pounds of hay, and then when lambing season is over, go out and scrub your lambs; I venture to say that you will have an increase of 15 per cent over last year's crop of feed ewes until three weeks after they have lambed.

Bandera community 4-H club will have a very important meeting on Friday night, Jan. 15, at the Pipe Creek school house and as we want to start the new year off right with a big meeting. Another thing we have a quota of 40 members for Bandera county, so if you want to be sure you get in the club you should be at the next Friday night or drop me a card stating that you couldn't be here but that you would like to enroll for 1937.

We intend to start a 4-H club in Pipe Creek some time next week, so if any of you boys down there are interested, be sure to drop me a line so I can let them know when we intend to meet.

Utopia 4-H club boys will hold a meeting on Saturday morning at 9:30 at Mr. Pete Porter's; the boys will use J. E.'s calves as a demonstration in grooming and fixing calves for the show ring.

Kidnaped Boy Is Found Dead Monday

Tacoma, Wash. Jan. 11.—The cruelly beaten body of 10-year-old Charles Mattoch was found in snow-covered brushland today, and the ful forces of Federal, State and local authorities were immediately massed in a determined effort to track down the ruthless killer who kidnaped the lad from his Tacoma home two weeks ago last night.

A 19-year-old hunter stumbled across the battered, nude body shortly before noon today. It lay only 150 feet from the heavily traveled Pacific highway, about 6 miles south of Everett, which is 30 miles north of here.

The head was crushed, the teeth broken, the body covered with blood and bruises.

The U. S. Government has offered $10,000 reward for the capture of the kidnaper-slayer.

Folsom, Cal., Jan. 13.—Folsom prison authorities received word today that Federal officials are seeking Fred Orrin Haynes, former two-time convict, in connection with the Mattoch kidnaping.

OLDEST CYCLE RIDER IN S. A. REMINISCES

Adolph Huffmeyer insists that he is not 81 years old, but 81 years young.

He keeps in excellent physical trim by riding his bicycle every day rain or shine. He believes that he is the oldest bicyclist in the city of San Antonio.

"It is the only means of locomotion I use," he said. "I've been riding wheels since 1896—and the first bicycle I owned was nearly as modern as the one I now ride. I make the rounds every week to see my old friends and talk over the days when San Antonio, and Texas itself, were in the formative stages."

Huffmeyer was born in Kendall county, Texas, on a farm on the Guadalupe river, on November 25, 1855. He lived there until after the war ended.

When Huffmeyer was 10 years old, his uncle, Louis Oge, who owned a ranch out on the Frio river, placed him in St. Mary's college, San Antonio, where he was a student for the following four years. He then went to the ranch of his uncle, which was located 35 miles southwest of where Pearsall now is.

The following three years Huffmeyer spent on his uncle's ranch. Then he began a 10-year period of driving cattle over the Kansas trails.

"People were honest in those days," he mused. "They paid cash in gold coin for all the cattle they bought and carried their money buckled around their waists. While everybody was armed to the teeth on account of Indians, there never was any stick-'em-up stunts pulled off, as is customary today. I've seen men undertakers have worn crammed full of yellow boys and hang them on a mesquite limb, then lie down and sleep soundly all night—never once giving a thought to losing it."

In 1879 Huffmeyer went into business for himself, roping and branding mavericks. He recalled that it was with difficulty he finally set upon a brand for his cattle—the 77X.

Later Huffmeyer went to work for a ranch once more. It was about this time that the Kickapoo and Comanche Indians molested the ranches almost every full moon, killing everybody unprepared for the attack and stealing all the horses they could. Two of the more vivid experiences were in 1873 when they stole every horse a man named Blackaller, his employer, owned and a few months later when the ranch of Woodward and Mr. Oge, at Elm Creek, were completely looted of all their horses, numbering seventy-five or half, or 750 head of cattle were recovered.

M. E. Faris Died Yesterday Morning

This city was shocked yesterday morning when the news came that Milton E. Faris, a respected resident of our city, had passed away at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday in the Nix hospital at San Antonio. The deceased became seriously ill about a week ago and was taken to the hospital suffering with a severe case of pneumonia, which with complications caused his death.

The body was brought here yesterday and the funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with burial in the local City Cemetery.

Milton Ernest Faris was born in Williamson county, Texas, on April 26, 1887, having reached the age of 49 years, 9 months and 17 days. He came to Bandera county from Llano county with his parents in the year 1901. About 30 years ago, he was united in marriage to Miss Cleora Stokes, who with the following two children survive: Mrs. Eug. Nolte Jr. and Miss Cecille Faris, both of San Antonio. Other survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben F. Faris of this city; four brothers, Milam and Graydon of Bandera, M. V. of Medina and R. W. of Mason, and four sisters, Mrs. Lorris Smith of California, Mrs. Etta Speakman, Mrs. Lora Passeur and Mrs. Iris Carners, all of San Antonio.

BANDERA EXPERIENCES

SEVERE COLD WEATHER

Bandera experienced its coldest weather in several years when the norther which arrived Friday morning sent the mercury sliding down and by night freezing had set in. Saturday morning the temperature was 24 degrees and after rising to 28 stayed around that mark until about 2 p. m. Sunday when the mercury began to rise to 35.

The slow rain accompanying the freeze coated everything with a mantle of ice which was truly beautiful. The hills, from a distance, seemed covered with snow and made a gorgeous picture.

The telephone company reports that they suffered no loss. Electric service was out about six hours Monday due to trouble beyond the station at Comfort. Tuesday the line between Bandera and Comfort broke and about 11 miles of wire were down, causing Bandera to be without power for about fifteen hours. As far as we were able to learn there were no serious loss of livestock in this section.

UVALDE TO GET COMBINED CPL DISTRICT OFFICES

Under a consolidation program announced by officials of the Central Power and Light Company, the San Antonio and Winter Garden districts have been merged and the new and larger district will be known as the Winter Garden district and will have Uvalde as its headquarters.

Forty-two towns and communities will be served by the Winter Garden district.

R. W. Franke of San Antonio has come to Uvalde as manager of the new district. He succeeds B. Morrison, who recently rounded out 25 years of service with the company, and who is retiring because of ill health. Two other new members of the district office force who will come here as a result of the change are M. L. Noes, who will be district power shovel manager, and H. L. Mackey, assistant to the chief clerk.

The merger makes the Winter Garden district one of the larger territories served by the company and compares in size with the Gulf Coast and Valley districts.

Fritz Eckhart is on the sick list this week.

My commission's appointment, your splendid letters and timely manifestation of endorsement I will long cherish. I hope I may yet be able to serve you.

Mr. Weismantel went to Prescott, Ariz., last April to regain his health, and during his brief stay there, he and his family endeared themselves to the people of that community. ### 4-H CLUB MEETINGS

There is nothing like cotten seed meal or gas cake for those old ewes that will begin to lamb in another six weeks. Why not get you a ton of cake and give each ewe a quarter of a pound a day, along with a couple of pounds of hay, and then when lambing season is over, go out and count your lambs; I venture to say that you will have an increase of 15 per cent over last year's—if you feed ewes until three weeks after they have lambed.

Bandera community 4-H club will have a very important meeting on Friday night, Jan. 15, at 7:30 o'clock. Tell all your friends as we want to start the new year off right with a big meeting. Another thing, we have a quota of 40 members for Bandera county, so if you want to be sure you get in the club you should be on hand next Friday night or drop me a card stating that you couldn't be here but that you would like to enroll for 1937.

We intend to start a 4-H club in Pipe Creek some time next week, so if any of you boys down there are interested, be sure to drop me a line so I can let you know when we intend to meet.

Utopia 4-H club boys will hold a meeting on Saturday morning at 9:30 at Mr. Pete Porter's. The boys will use J. E.'s calves as a demonstration in grooming and fixing calves for the show ring.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agt.

15,000 WILL BE CUT OFF PENSION ROLLS

Austin, Texas, Jan. 10.—Orville S. Carpenter, acting director of the Old-age Assistance Commission, said that the pension deliberation law would remove about 15,000 recipients from the rolls this month.

The list will be cut to substantially less than 90,000, he said compared with 101,319 who received checks in December. About 12,000 adjudged not in need and therefore denied aid under the act have been removed, he said, and district reports on other eliminations have not been compiled.

LEGISLATURE CONVENES; CALVERT MADE SPEAKER

Austin, Jan. 13.—Gov. Allred told the Legislature today that $6,375,000 annually in new revenue was needed to put the general revenue fund on a sound basis. He stated that he opposed more liberal pensions.

ROOSEVELT ANNOUNCES TWO MORE DEPARTMENTS

President Roosevelt announced Tuesday this plan to overhaul the huge federal machine:

To the present ten major departments two more would be added—Social Welfare and Public Works. The Interior Department would become the Conservation Department.

More than 100 agencies, many of which operate virtually "on their own" would be placed under the departments.

The comptroller general, often at odds with the executive branch, would be replaced with an auditor general having vastly increased powers over spending.

The Civil Service would be extended to cover many positions now outside its scope.

They tell us that the new midget cars are coming back, which reminds a remark made by a man driving an "eight" who leaned out as one of the midgets passed and shouted: Hey you, wherey your other roller skate."

A friend of mine observes that he can't much concerned when he hears about the billions of national debt, and the latest appropriation. "Any figure above $12.75 is just hearsay so far as I'm concerned," he says.

Judging from actions it would seem that many a man's family tree was a slippery elm.

Supreme Works at Art

The admittedly supreme works of human art are the Iliad of Homer, Virgil, Shakespeare's Sonnets, Goethe, the paintings of Leonardo da Vinci, Raphael, Michael Angelo, the sculpture of Phidias and Praxiteles and the music of Bach and Beethoven.

Flash: Miss Mauk, Mr. Parker and Mr. Wofford made a "round" of "Thanksgiving Turkey-Talking" last Saturday afternoon. Who's next? Lorene Rugh?

Flash! Are there any Dorothy's in Medina? For information on this question ask David Hogan.

Flash: Mary Lou Clark got her name and Lillian Clark got her brother on what they are going to Bandera for some one. Ruth? Ruth? for some one.

Flash: Why were Dorothy Ashworth and Constance Mangold as the Scouts "Court of Honor"? We wonder.

Flash: Why is Beatrice Langford so particular with the picture she has of ——? ——? she asked.

Flash: Why does Ruth Preston wear a white headed tack on her collar and Margaret Lee Short a red headed one?

Ah! here's a good one:

Constance: Pat why don't you run around with the girls?

Pat: For reasons I'll state before fun.

Constance: Once in awhile don't hurt anyone. Just look at some of the smaller and younger kids.

The question is: Why does Constance care?

Demonstration I

Date: Jan. 11.

Problem: What makes our algebra class complete.

Material: Problems to argue and dispute over, Lois Estelle, Mr. Briggs, and a class of Mathematical minds.

Method: We let Lois Estelle sit where she can ask Mr. Briggs questions and they dispute and discuss over them.

Observation: Lois Estelle and Mr. Briggs argued and disputed with Mr. Briggs until the bell rang.

Conclusion: Lois Estelle Billings makes our algebra class complete.

Practical application: We were hoping a better year of 1937 but we all gave up hope Jan. 4 at 2:20.

"What's and Why's"

1. What is John Langford putting on his hair to make it curly? He'd "Constantly" trying something new.

2. We wonder if Pat and Constance are always talking about the Langfords when they are together.

3. We wonder if Norman Mansfield has ever had a girl friend.

4. Who is Clarence always watching the mail come in from the Bandera paper?

5. Why is William Davis so interested in the "popular R. magazine? Maybe he's going to be a Lewis Shacklett.

6. We wonder if Delbert will learn to build a fire with one match before going to the Navy.

7. Why does William's suit have a peculiar color? Does the skunk that he caught during the holidays have anything to do with it?

8. What happened to the Jordan-Callahan combination?

March is the first month of spring.

When all the birds begin to sing. It is then spring's pretty forerunner, Spring also brings the rainy showers.

June is the first month of summer.

The melting snow makes the brooks twinkle and murmur, It is in these brooks the boys go to swim, And their dad goes to hunt them with a hickory limb.

December is the first month of winter.

Real Lightning

Sheet or Forked Lightning, according to the United States weather bureau, does not differ in kind from lightning in general. It is merely the diffused reflection of lightning produced by the distant electrical storm in processes too involved to explain in this article, but far away for thunder to be heard.

FOR TEXAS HIGHWAYS?

Texas' highways, to date, have cost Texas taxpayers approximately seven hundred and fifty millions of dollars.

License fees from motor vehicles have contributed $202,000,000.

Gasoline taxes have accounted for $176,000,000.

Federal aid has donated $91,000,000.

YOUR PROPERTY TAXES HAVE CONTRIBUTED $281,000,000—MORE THAN ONE-THIRD OF THE TOTAL.

Large trucks—those weighing more than 8000 pounds loaded—have paid a total of $27,000,000 in license fees and gasoline taxes, or 3¾ per cent of the total cost.

Yet these trucks have been responsible for an additional cost of construction and maintenance amounting to approximately 50 per cent of the total—an amount far in excess of their contribution. These wider trucks result in 25 per cent increase in pavement costs.

Their bigger loads have required thicker pavements, costing from 35 to 60 per cent more; their size has made wider and heavier bridges necessary; maintenance costs have increased through their use and abuse of the highways.

Such extra expenditures are almost solely for the benefit of the big trucks, and are not necessary for the small trucks and passenger cars. YET THEIR COST IS BORNE BY THE OWNERS OF PASSENGER CARS AND SMALL TRUCKS AND BY THE GENERAL TAXPAYER, WHO MAY NOT EVEN OWN A CAR, WHILE THE BIG TRUCKS THEMSELVES HAVE PAID ONLY 3¾ PER CENT.

Any increase in present truck loads, size or speed limits will further increase the highway costs—which all of us, the people of Texas, must pay

Texas railroads provide and maintain their own rights-of-way; afford employment to 60,000 men and women (who are also taxpayers); pay large taxes in support of city, county, state and federal governments; and, in addition, pay annually more than $900,000 toward state highway costs. The interest of the railroads in highway regulation is precisely parallel to that of the public.

LIFE'S PURPOSE

By

LEONARD A. BARRETT

Kepler, when he discovered the three laws of planetary motion, exclaimed: "I have thee, God, that I say, think Thy thoughts after Thee." A celebrated scientist once remarked to the writer who was visiting in his laboratory, "Here is where I discover the hidden secrets of nature." Both of these statements clearly indicate that we are living in an orderly world which is controlled by law and not mere chance. The reign of law always presupposes reason or purpose. Nature throbs with a definite and convincing purpose which is clearly manifested when we more carefully investigate her methods.

In the summer time, we have abundant harvests, and fruits of the orchard. Nature's purpose in her productive processes is to create food for the sustenance of life. Deep down under the earth's surface are inexhaustible beds of coal, rivers of oil, countless areas of gas, all of which minister to the security, comfort, and well-being of the race. We cultivate our gardens in order that we may relish the beauty of rich colors, fragrance of roses, and the symmetry and loveliness of flowers. Nature's purpose is to enhance the environment, as man, in turn, interests himself in beautifying that environment. Supreme purpose is evident in all of nature's methods.

If the world is shot through with purpose, if every common bush is afire with law and order, then surely, we ought to find the same true when we consider the crowning work of creation, human personality. But is it true? Do we find purpose dominating the human race? Much time is spent in arguing whether this is a friendly world. If a proportionate amount of time were used to discover the underlying purposes which motivate the works of the human race, there would be less enmity, less hatred, and more enthusiasm expressed.

Have you ever honestly asked yourself the question, "What is the directing purpose of my life? or Why am I living?

What is the most important factor in a man's life? Is it the strength of his character, the soundness of his social or the sincerity of his character? Surely, all are important aspects, but the latter is of dominant consequence. For a man's character shows what he has really accomplished with body and with brain. The only [illegible] upon life is the pure gold of a sincere character that commands the respect, trust, and loyalty of others. Most [illegible] are of no [illegible] character is a [illegible] whose infinitude, as we use unfolding light and law of love, abides our days, and our eternal joy."

MAE WEST TOPS CONTEMPORARIES IN HER EARNING POWER

Mae West, for the second time, topped all other feminine movie stars in 1935 earnings as revealed in the annual treasury department compilation of salaries, which she made public by the House ways and means committee under a mandatory law.

During 1935, the list showed, Mae West received $480,833 from the Paramount company. One of Marlene Dietrich, whose compensation was listed as $368,000.

The salary list, including all corporations reporting on an annual basis, showed many popular radio stars crowding the movie stars for top salary ranking. Paul Whiteman, band leader, was paid $242,372 by an advertising agency for clients while Rudy Vallee was paid $166,349 by the same company. Stage and radio apparently netted Maj. Edward Bowes about $120,000.

Shirley Temple, the highest paid young motion picture star, was shown to have received $307,000. Among the higher paid singers of the Metropolitan opera were Elizabeth Rethberg and Lily Pons, Lawrence Tibbett with $15,712.

Among the higher paid motion picture stars in 1935 were:

Charlie Chaplin, $260,000; Gary Cooper, $311,000; Wayne Harter, $150,000; Harold Lloyd, $125,000; Fred Astaire, $127,875; Stan Laurel, $156,266, and his teammate, Oliver Hardy, $53,316; Eddie Cantor, $150,000; Katharine Hepburn, $121,272; Irene Dunne, $208,955; Bing Crosby, $114,667; Herbert Marshall, $105,000; Carol Lombard, $156,088; Jack Oakie, $101,625; Margaret Sullivan, $102,431; Ginger Rogers, $174,437; William Powell, $66,666; George Burns and Gracie Allen, $92,000; Ann Harding, $57,750; George Arliss, $50,000; Charles "Buddy" Rogers, $73,000; Charles Ruggles, $105,275; Claire Dodd, $61,833; Raymond Romberg, $63,505, and Irving Pressor, $51,871.

INDIANS ROVED TEXAS PRAIRIE 1,000 YEARS AGO

Evidence of a race of giant Indians who roamed Texas nearly 1,000 years ago was discovered by E. F. Pohl, archaeologist, in excavations at Cobb Springs near Georgetown.

Pohl, who has spent 20 years unearthing secrets of the aborigines in Texas, says he found skeletal remains of 87 bodies, many measuring seven feet.

A number were in a common burial pit in a state of disorder as if dumped in by victorious enemy after a battle. Pohl believes it was a defense of a spring in a drought more than eight centuries ago. Arrowheads and bird points were found, several imbedded in skulls.

Pohl, his wife, and a crew of workers also uncovered numerous pottery bowls, beads, ornaments, drills, peace pipes and other Indian lore, including clay pots. One of the last is 52 inches in circumference and, Pohl believes, is one of the largest ever found.

"Most of the arrowheads were of the type used by the Comanches," Pohl said. "Some of the skulls also were of this type. Others resembled Tonkawas. It is my theory the Comanches had a permanent camp at the springs and were attacked by the Tonka-

UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION IN TEXAS

Question 3: "Suppose I lose my job, but had a chance to get another at considerably less money, say a part-time job. Would my taking the part-time job deprive me of benefits? In other words, could I make more money by not working?"

Answer: As I said before, this law was designed to encourage employment, not unemployment. Therefore, it has been worked out so that the man with part-time work will have a larger income than the man who is totally unemployed.

You are eligible for limited benefits if you are "partially unemployed." The law says a man is partially unemployed when his earns, in a new job, an amount less than six-fifths of the amount he would have received in compensation had his been unable to find part-time work.

Example: Suppose you were making $60 a week and lost your job. Being totally unemployed, you get a part-time job paying $18 per week. The sum of $18 equals exactly six-fifths of $15; therefore, you would not be entitled to any benefits.

But if your new wage is only $12, your wage is less than six-fifths of the compensation you are entitled to. Therefore, you are entitled to "partial employment benefits." The question now is: "How much will I get?"

The law says that in such cases the benefit shall be an amount equal to the difference between the possible weekly benefit ($15 in your case) and five-sixths of your new wage. Your new wage is $12. Five-sixths of $12 is $10. The difference between $15 and $10 is $5, which would be the amount of your benefits. Now, this $5 added to your wage of $12 gives you a total income of $17.

Therefore, it paid you to get part-time employment.

Device Diagnoses Heart Action

A precision instrument which determines the heart action, pulse rate and records high and low blood pressure by the means of charts, is the new "heartometer." The graph gives a graphic report of the averaging in minute variations of heart action, and the blood pressure is determined by milimeter scales conforming to the standard mercury column, as a red and blue neon light shows pressure, visible through use of a stethoscope. The chart when completed shows a permanent reading of the entire diagnosis. Photo shows Dr. Harry Isaacs using a "heartometer" reading. Charles Cook is supervising the recording. Note the upper right hand neon light which shows the high and low pressure.

President Roosevelt and Vice President John N. Garner of Texas, were inaugurated for their second term in Washington yesterday at noon. The inauguration date has been changed during the past four years from March 4 to Jan. 20. The inauguration ceremonies and Roosevelt's address were broadcast. The highlights of the President's message were:

"We of the republic pledged ourselves to drive from the temple of our ancient faith those who had profaned it."

"We . . . spread the truth that democratic government has innate capacity to protect its people against disasters once considered inevitable."

"We refused to leave the problems of our common welfare to be solved by the winds of chance and the hurricanes of disaster."

"Four years of experience . . . hold out the chance that democratic government within communities, government within separate States, and government within the Nation can do the things the times require, without yielding its democracy."

"Our tasks in the last four years did not force democracy to take a holiday. . . . The Constitution of 1787 did not make our democracy impotent."

. . . We have begun to bring autocratic powers into line with our subordination to the public's government. The legend that they were invincible—above and beyond the processes of a democracy—has been shattered. They have been challenged and beaten."

"Our program rest of the depression is obvious."

"To hold to progress today . . . is more difficult than conservative, irresponsibility and ruthless self-interest already reappear. Such symptoms of danger may become portents of disaster."

"In taking aside the oath of office . . . I assume the solemn obligation to bring the American people forward along the road which they have chosen to advance."

Two Sisters Die Only One Day Apart

Two sisters, Mrs. Josephine Foster and Mrs. Ellen Scoggins, Sabinal and Vandergrift residents for many years, died at their home less last week. Mrs. Foster died Friday evening and Mrs. Scoggins died the following day during the funeral services of her sister.

Funeral services were conducted at Vandergrift Saturday for Mrs. Foster and on Sunday for Mrs. Scoggins. Rev. Hargrove, Baptist pastor of Utopia, had charge of both services.

Mrs. Foster, 72, had been a resident of Sabinal for about 22 years, having come here from Vandergrift where she had lived all her life. Her husband died in Sabinal and was buried in Vandergrift in 1932.

Mrs. Scoggins, 76, had lived in Sabinal for the past 12 years, also having come here from Vandergrift.

Survivors are: One sister, Mrs. H. Taylor of Sabinal; two brothers, J. C. Haney and A. Chaney, both of Uvalde, and by a number of nieces and nephews.—Sabinal Sentinel.

WHO PAYS FOR HIGHWAYS?

Propounding the query, "Who Pays for Texas Highways?" the Texas Railroads Agency put the question with a series of figures, showing the cost of the existing highway system and showing the sources of the three-quarter of a billion dollars to date.

Contrary to what is perhaps the popular impression, it is shown that the general taxpayer, whether he owns a motor car or not, or should be as vitally interested in the highways as in any other of the public services for which he pays. His share in the cost of the highway system, paid through ad valorem taxes, has only been date $281,000,000 or 33 per cent of the total while of course if he is a car owner, he has had his share of the $202,000,000 in motor license fees and the $176,000,000 of gasoline tax, and a considerable part of the $91,000,000 of federal aid which Texas has received for the 12 years.

Big trucks, engaged in intercity freight transport, are shown to have paid a relatively large fraction part of the total cost of the highway system, though their use is by no means fully remembering the cost both of construction and maintenance. According to the statement, the summary as issued, that there are but 90,000 trucks, each registered in the State, of average weight, vehicle and load, of 8000 pounds or more. These large trucks, however, pay the major part of all vehicles on the State's highways, have paid toward the cost of highways $18,000,000 in license fees and $11,200,000 in gasoline fees, a total of $25,700,000, or 3½ per cent of the total cost of the system.

Yet, the statement continues, these large trucks and tremendous loads cause the highway construction and maintenance. Two feet wider than passenger cars with the driver's seat require four feet of additional road width, representing about 25 per cent of the total road required for this item alone. Their weight is such as to make it necessary to build the highways in cuts, this factor adding from 25 per cent to 60 per cent to the cost beyond the promises of a democracy—has been shattered. They have been challenged and beaten. "Our program rest of the depression is obvious."

"To hold to progress today . . . is more difficult than conservative, irresponsibility and ruthless self-interest already reappear. Such symptoms of danger may become portents of disaster."

"In taking aside the oath of office . . . I assume the solemn obligation to bring the American people forward along the road which they have chosen to advance."

D. M. BUCK SR., FORMER BANDERA RESIDENT, DEAD

The following clipped from the Clifton (Tex.) Record, tells of the death of D. M. Buck Sr., who lived in Bandera up to about 12 years ago, having run a jewelry store here. The deceased was a cousin of Bill, Frank, Walter, Dan and Robert Buck of this county, and also their brother-in-law, having married their sister. The clipping follows:

After a long illness, D. M. Buck Sr. passed away at his home in Clifton on December 25th, at the age of 85.

He was born in Newark, Wayne county, New York. He is survived by three children: Loris Buck, Maggie E. Blanton, Mineral Wells, Texas; D. M. Buck Jr., Clifton; a sister, Mrs. Geo. S. Tibbetts, Willmatic, Conn., and a nephew, Walter Buck, Junction, and other relatives.

Mr. Buck had lived in Clifton for more than thirty years, during which time he worked at his profession as jeweler and watch repairman. He was a kind and good-natured, unassuming men who attended to his own business and let everyone else alone, and was loved by everyone who knew him. His passing is mourned by his loved ones and a host of friends.

He was made a member of the Baptist Church when Rev. Kidd was here about 30 years ago.

Funeral services were conducted by the local Baptist pastor, Rev. D. B. Kendall, assisted by Rev. J. P. Gilliam in the First Baptist Church, with interment in the Clifton cemetery.

The Record joins the many friends in extending sympathy to the bereaved family.

MRS. R. B. SHEPPARD BURIED AT SEYMOUR

Mrs. R. B. Sheppard departed this life at the home of her daughter, Mrs. N. L. Graham, on Dec. 24, at the age of 85 years 6 months and 6 days.

A very impressive and quiet service was held at the home of Mrs. Graham, Sunday at 1:30 in Seymour cemetery, Rev. Wm. J. Spreen and Rev. B. W. Wilkins were in charge of the rites.

Mrs. Sheppard was born at White Hall, Ill. Her parents moved to Texas when she was four years old, settling in Bandera county in 1867. She was married there to R. B. Sheppard of Bandera, and to this union were born eight children, five of whom are living. There are 26 grandchildren, 15 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren. Only two children were present at the funeral: Mrs. N. L. Graham of Seymour and Mrs. Ella Sheppard of Mason. Mrs. Elijah Garner of Mason.

Mrs. Sheppard's companion passed away in 1920. Since that time she has made her home with children. Most of the past eight years Mrs. Sheppard has made her home with Mrs. Graham. She became a Christian early in life, joining the Methodist Church of Christ. Her membership was in the church at Mason. She had been a faithful follower of the Lord until the end of the way.

Mrs. Sheppard was a quiet and unassuming woman. She loved those with whom she came in contact and living an unpretentious life. She will be missed by loved ones and friends, but these are comforted by the faith that she is at rest with the Lord and through eternity she will enjoy a the heritage for the faithful and useful life she has lived.—Seymour newspaper.

TWO MEN CATCH COYOTE IN ROAD

Uvalde, Jan. 16.—Henry Brown and Ed Ellison are receiving credit for numerously killing the dreaded "Em Back Alive" Club this week when they captured a full grown coyote with their cars. The coyote ran onto the Walcott farm road of late, Brown and Ellison followed the coyote in the high way right-of-way. After a spirited chase in which the coyote fell exhausted and was taken alive. It was put on display exhausted however that it could fight and snapped twice viciously at Brown who caught it by the throat and held.

CUT ANT KILLING DEMONSTRATION SAT.

The cut ant is a very serious pest on most farms and ranches, and generally takes its toll where ever it infests the ground. I have had several requests for demonstrations of how farmers have to try to rid their fields and gardens of these pests.

Right now is the time to fight this ant and kill out their hills. The Saturday (Jan. 23) demonstration will be held on Mr. Frank Anderwald's farm, about 4 miles west of Bandera on the Tarpley road at 9:30 or 10 a. m. We would like to have you out. Why not put off what you have planned and come out to see the demonstration?

Dick Hartman, Co. Agt.

JUDGE WOODLEY IS HONORED AT BANQUET

The Honorable John K. Woodley, Judge of the 38th Judicial District, was honored by friends and professional men of Bandera, Uvalde, Hondo and other places at a banquet in the local Methodist church building on last Friday night. About 150 guests attended the event staged by the Bandera Chamber of Commerce honoring the new judge.

K. T. Biggs acted as toastmaster of the banquet and H. E. Sullivan, program chairman. Among the distinguished visitors who appeared on the speakers list were:

Hon. B. Bloor of Austin, longtime friend and "school-mate of Mr. Woodley; Judge Arthur Roche of Medina county; Frank Vance, Hondo attorney; Judge M. H. Walcott, D. W. Bettle, Frank Daugherty, County Attorney and G. B. Fenley of Uvalde. Including the banquet entertainment was a violin solo presented by H. Couser, superintendent of D'Hanis public schools accompanied by Miss Sue Rothe at the piano; a reading by Miss Iva Marie Crunk, and concluding by several local business and professional men.

After the delicious turkey dinner served by the Methodist Ladies, Judge Woodley, who started out as city attorney here, served as county attorney, as district attorney for nine years, was elected to the office of district judge here, was defeated as lawyer in opponent while seeking any office, gave a brief address expressing appreciation to the friends who gathered to honor him at the banquet.

The event was a well carried out affair. Following as a surprise to Judge Woodley, and was indeed an appropriate way to honor this outstanding citizen who now holds the honorable position of District Judge.—Uvalde Enterprise.

County Agent Gives Report of Work

Sketch of Work Done in Bandera County From May 1 to Dec. 31, as Sent in to Extension Service on My Report for 1936 —

When I first came to Bandera county in May, my first job was to explain the new soil conservation to the farmers; this took about a month, including, of course, the time that was spent in getting the work sheets filled out and in the office. Although we got a very late start filling out work sheets, we were very fortunate in getting a very energetic committeemen that were willing to work hard, and as a result we got 167 work sheets filled out before the closing date.

Of these 167 farmers, 130 have complied and will receive payments amounting to approximately $12,000.00, a figure that is quite a nice sum to be coming into any county at this time of the year (about the end of February.)

Sheep and Goats—The intestinal parasites were very bad on sheep and goats all year and ha a result many farmers and ranchers started attending strictly to their animals some at my suggestion, and others because they had been doing it before and didn't know that they were up against. As a result there were approximately 100 dipped and drenched and of course this involved about 50,000 head of sheep and goats. Then came the dipping and this took a big load out of the drenching program and started us vaccinating for this disease. We had very good success in vaccinating sheep for some month, these demonstrations involving about 14,000 head of sheep.

Terracing—I ran terrace lines on 18 different farms in Bandera Co. with approximately 450 acres involved. Some of these farmers have terraced their acreage while others have thrown up a double furrow to get the water off as fast as possible, this year, and then next year, after the crops have been harvested, they intend to put up their terraces as they will comply with the government requirements of not more than two miles of ditches above fields, about a mile of drainage ditches and about 8 acres of irrigation lines.

Trench Silos—Very few trench silos were put in Bandera Co. the past years, and after talking "trench silos" for quite awhile and thoroughly discussing the matter I had several such silos would be put in. I let the subject drop for awhile and then had 10 trench silos put in in 1936. These silos will serve the farmers more than one year and I feel sure that their benefits will be noticed by others, and as a result, I plan to have about 50 trench silos put in the county by the end of 1937.

4-H Club Work—4-H club work in the county is progressing fine.

PENSION PLAN REVIVAL

Washington, Jan. 16.—Dr. Francis E. Townsend, the messiah of the old age pensions panacea, left a surprise revival meeting in the Senate office building today to "bring back his 'general welfare, act of 1937.'"

The meeting was in the large corner committee room, but it could have been held just as well in one of the smaller committee rooms, for the audience was not a large one. The heat before the meeting started, Townsend, who walked out on a House investigation and must appear before the district attorney court February 8, showed as much enthusiasm about his program as ever.

After posing for photographers, he told reporters his old age pension movement was backed by leaps and bounds, especially since the elections.

The audience of "not more than 50 persons sat William H. Lemke, who ran for the presidency on the Union party ticket by the Townsendites. Lemke, after the presidential election, returned to North Dakota as a Republican.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Beient entertained the grade children at the appointed breakfast was served Wednesday morning in the Parsonage. Mrs. Beient, Mrs. Ella Hallie Angin, Mrs. Flora Miller, Mrs. Bobbie Lipe and Mrs. Ruth

ADAM WILSON SR.

Adam Wilson Sr., was born Feb. 19, 1852, in Forfarshire, Scotland, and passed away January 7, 1937, at his home near Rio Frio, being 84 years, 10 months and 18 days old.

In 1871 he came to the United States landing at New Orleans, going from there to Indianola, Texas, with the intention of going into business there, but did not stay long; going from Indianola to the vicinity of Uvalde where he engaged in sheep ranching for a short time, then to Medina county, from where he went in 1876 to Kerr county where he settled what is known as the Rio Frio where he spent the rest of his life.

On December 16, 1879, Mr. Wilson married Miss Rena Chipman of Bandera, who survives. Other survivors are four children, Mrs. M. P. Pollard, Tulsa, Okla.; Mrs. W. B. Patterson Jr., Rio Frio; Hamilton and Adam Jr., both of Hunt, and three grandchildren, Doris and Jack Patterson, and Adam Wilson III; a brother, Rev. Dr. John Wilson, a Baptist preacher who is pastor of the Woolworth Tabernacle, London, England.

He was one of the few remaining pioneer settlers of this section and left many friends who extend condolence to the bereaved family.

Burial was at Rio Frio at 2 p. m. last Friday, January 8, with the Masonic lodge of Leakey, with which he affiliated, in 1912, in charge of services, and Kenneth Biggs of Sabinal officiating. Carl Voss Company of Uvalde, funeral directors, were in charge of arrangements. Pallbearers were Somers Dean, Otto Tampke, Jack Boales, Russ Powers and Martin Hansen.

Among those from a distance attending the funeral were Mrs. Jack Hamilton, Austin; E. M. Peters, Hunt; former State Senator Julius Real; Mrs. Minnie Hudspeth and W. A. Fawcett, Kerrville; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Franklin; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Real, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Neal, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Chittim, Mrs. H. F. Scholl and Ralph Fawcett, San Antonio—Leakey Leader.

PERIODIC HEALTH CHECK IMPORTANT

"Check up on your health assets and liabilities during the first month of this new year, and establish a working balance in health that will carry you through the year," is the advice urged upon all citizens of Texas by Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Destruction of human beings by the forces of nature is often unavoidable, but neglect of life to preventable disease results from neglecting the principles of health," he said, "and is due largely to man's supreme indifference to his physical welfare.

"The purpose of the periodic health examination is not the diagnosis of a disease but the detection of physical defects or predisposition to disease and faults in living habits, the correction of which would have even a remote beneficial action on the life of the person examined. Disease, physical failure, and ultimate death are due not to time alone, but to definite physical causes. The periodic examination endeavors to determine the causes or defects so that they may be removed or corrected.

"Innumerable surveys and examinations have been made of preschool groups and of children in school to detect conditions that might lead to illness later on or to a physical handicap of some sort, if allowed to run on without correction.

"The annual physical check-up is the great bulwark against death dealing conditions of middle-life such as certain heart ailments, diabetes, nephritis, and other so-called degenerative diseases. These maladies oftimes sneak up on one, so to speak, and work unannounced, up to a certain point. It is during this period that they are discoverable by the trained diagnostic ability of the physician.

"The unfortunate increase in premature deaths of middle-age and beyond, in a measure at least, can be credited to the public's lack of appreciation of the inestimable life-saving and disease-preventing value of the periodic physical examination."

COUNTY AGENT'S REPORT

spit as a result we do not have any too many members; yet the 16 active members that are feeding projects are doing some fine work. I have 5 boys and girls feeding calves; those calves now weigh from 700 to 750 lbs. and are about ready for the Fat Stock Show to be held in San Antonio next month. Three members are keeping records on poultry, and are showing some nice profits. The rest of the 4-H Club members are feeding pigs or have already fed and sold their hogs. Those that fed out their pigs all made a nice profit, and expressed their intentions of having more such projects in 1937.

Poultry Culling—The farmers of Bandera county are fast realizing that they are feeding far too many "roosters" in their flocks. I have culled poultry on 17 different ranches, taking out about 345 "boarders" from the 1123 birds that I have culled. From this one can readily see that the culls on the average farm are culling at least one-third of the profits that the rest of the birds are laying.

County Agr. Council—Is a body of farmers that are helping me recognize the different things that are to be done in their respective communities. These men are very valuable to a county agent and give him much information that he would not otherwise know.

The above are the main topics that I have dealt with for the last 8 months, and are the main farm and ranch interests in the county. Of course, there were many other things that were worked on during the past eight months but I don't see that it is necessary to relate any more; if you are interested, you can go to the county judge and read the full report that I turned in to him and his commissioners.

If my work over the county has slighted any one or if I have failed to work on any topic that you think needs my attention I will be very glad to discuss any such subject with you, either in your home or in my office.

Dick Hartmann, Co. Agent.

Local P. O. Receipts Show Big Increase

Floods Drive Million People From Homes

Just a year after the big snows that laid groundwork for last year's $300,000,000 flood, new torrents burst on the midwest.

For the second time in 10 months and the second time in history, the Ohio was at flood stage all along the 980 miles. Bulk although hundreds of thousands of acres were flooded in Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky, Tennessee and other States, although levees broke and over a million people were driven from their homes, initial loss of life was slight.

The reason apparently was twofold. First, in the mountains there was no such sudden cloud as created havoc last March. Second, as the waters rose steadily in the Mississippi and its tributaries residents were warned well in advance. The high water mark record was broken in most places.

Latest reports from the flood areas stated that at least 125 are dead and property damages will run to nearly $400,000,000.

President Roosevelt has designated the $790,000,000 relief appropriation as available for flood succor and has put relief in charge of the army, navy, CCC, WPA and coast guard.

The Red Cross seeks $4,000,000 in public contributions, and according to Miss Margaret Montague, Red Cross chairman, Bandera's quota of $200 is being quickly raised, over $100 having been donated up to yesterday noon. The following telegram was received here:

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 25: 6:42 p. m.
Miss Margaret Montague,
Acting Chairman Bandera County Chapter, American Red Cross, Bandera, Tex.

Because relief need in flooded areas of Ohio and Mississippi valleys increasing every hour as continued rains sent rivers to highest levels in history with more than four hundred thousand driven from homes urge you double your relief fund quota and do so far beyond the doubled figure as possible stop We are contributing million dollars from national funds stop Three hundred Red Cross relief workers now in disaster areas stop Additional immediate relief to flood refugees stop Three hundred fifty Red Cross nurses in the flood areas stop Against this feared epidemic stop Food clothing bedding medical supplies being rushed by train truck and boat stop Rescue work continuing at top speed stop Please intensify your campaign efforts and help keep midwestern office advised daily of amount raised stop Feel confident your people will not fail in this great national emergency.

Cary T. Grayson.

FUND MAY REDUCE SHEEP AND GOAT THEFTS

The Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, Inc., will have an operating fund of $25,600 annually through the co-operation of the wool and mohair buyers and warehousemen, according to Roy Hudspeth of Sonora, president, who was in San Antonio Thursday. He said that the buyers and warehouse men would collect 10 cents per bag assigned them by the raisers and turn over the proceeds to the association. Approximately 50 per cent of the buyers and warehouse men have agreed to the plan, Hudspeth said.

The operating fund will be increased considerably under the plan and all raisers automatically will become members of the association. The association then will have ample funds to prosecute thieves, Hudspeth said.

Animal thefts have been on the increase recently, Hudspeth pointed out, and sheriffs, officers and State Rangers have been rounding up animals here and there. Chief Inspector Rainger, J. H. Hall and Captain Wright of the State Department of Agriculture have been in Kerr county, Hudspeth said. He added that recently 2,600 sheep were rounded up in Kerr county by Capt. A. C. Hawkins of the rangers and 1,000 sheep were found and identified by their owners, Hudspeth said.

BASEBALL CHIEF

Rev. Harold J. Martin, Canadian priest who is president of the Canada-American league, having been elected at a meeting in Montreal recently. Father Martin played baseball with Frankie Frisch at Fordham university, and a few seasons ago he pitched twelve consecutive victories for the Petersburg team in the defunct Northern New York league. He spends most of his spare time touring youngsters the fine points of the game.

TO THE PUBLIC

Indirectly my attention has been called to the misstatement of facts concerning the size of Troop 146 and the attitude of Scouts and Scoutmaster about accepting new boys into the organization. I do not know just how far-reaching the error is, but am taking this means to clear it. It seems that while Mr. Carl Bryan was visiting here on Jan. 7, he asked several boys that were over the year's old and over if they were Scouts. On finding that they were not, he asked why. They replied that the troop was already too full. If so happens that Mr. Bryan knew the size of the troop and thus the inquiry came to me as to why this condition existed. The same thing I am sure of is that no boy in this community has been told that by me, or by any member of Troop 146.

There may be a parent or boy in or around Bandera that would like to know just how to get into a troop. First he must be twelve year's old. He must then be able to be nine of twenty knotty things for him; next he must know the history of the flag of United States, and courteous due it. The next requirement is to subscribe to the Oath and Law. I, as Scoutmaster, usually have the boy to subscribe to the first two then we take up the third mentioned.

Perhaps it will give more light if I gave a short gist of this confidential conference. It is that in every case of the kind I have had the assurance of the Scoutmaster that nothing will ever be divulged. I take the liberty to say for myself that I deem necessary. The individual determines the worth of the conference. I further let the boy understand that I consider it my right to ask him personal questions as long as he is in my Troop.

The Scout Oath: "On my honor I will do my best to do my duty to God, and my country, and to obey the Scout laws; to help other people at all times; to keep myself physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

I also tell the boy that in a straightforward personally applied interpretation of this oath may mean things entirely new. The boy is made to see that it is his own honor he is talking about; it is his own self he is pledging and that he is carrying out. It is further shown him that one boy can not be responsible for the character as much as another, because our beats differ; also our honors may differ.

The next step is the laws which he has already memorized; I shall not go into detail, but they are trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent. Again effort is made to make a personal application of all these characteristics. He is told that "Scouting is what you do when you think most important. One thing I have always noted that even as young as twelve, boys are more serious than even their parents would have credit for, and can truthfully say that as a rule my boys have been doing a fair job of living their best.

Just at this point — boys sometimes ask me if I smoke, drink or gamble. I tell them that I do not. Then I tell them that I have found that I can get along better without these habits than with them. Then I tell them that I have found that I can get along better without these habits than with them. Then I tell them that I have found that I can get along better without these habits than with them.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Scout is clean; he keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sports, clean habits, and travels with a clean crowd. Does all this clean business, eliminate the boy who used bad language, smokes or uses tobacco otherwise uses intoxicants and in some instances has gone into further dissipation? ...No, necessarily, we determine. If the boy will reverse his road and travel with us down the clean road. Naturally one would not expect us to do otherwise. The honest boy pauses here. As Scoutmaster, I have had several to shake their head and not enter the organization. If he is willing to promise on his honor to do his best he is accepted as a member and become a Scout. At present we only have sixteen boys in our troop; there is room for twenty-four more. I shall be glad to discuss the proposition with any parent or boy. I am not a believer in numbers for numbers' sake. Fifteen boys that I would rather have one patrol of scouts than a troop of boys. Any boy who is between ... years old is eligible to be a Scout, provided he meets requirements. As Scoutmaster I would like to personally visit all such, but as a school teacher my time is limited. I have announced through the columns of your paper, through the various rooms at school, have sent word to St. Joseph's and to the churches. If there is any boy who has been holding back because he has not been invited, he needs to do so no longer.

Scouts, Scoutmaster and Troop Committee wish to thank you for the courtesy that you have shown us.

Very sincerely,

O. PATTON,
Scoutmaster Troop 145.

THE CAPITOL ONLOOKER

vacancy. General Bobbitt fought an election term but encountered strong opposition in the person of Governor Allred, who conducted a whirlwind campaign and rooted out the encumbent by a narrow margin. Out of this campaign, however, the contestants developed an acquaintance with each other. In 1934, Attorney General Allred decided to make the campaign for governor. He was having the toughest time of his young career. General Bobbitt rolled up his sleeves and went to work in the interest of his erstwhile opponent. He stumped the state in Governor Allred's behalf and urged the electorate to elevate the young lawyer to the governorship. In 1935 Governor Allred appointed his friend by appointing him chief justice of the court of civil appeals at San Antonio. With ordinary modesty, General Bobbitt declined the chief justiceship but accepted an associate justiceship.

General Bobbitt is a lawyer and his training naturally would be in that direction. His appointment to the appointment to the highway commission is all the more significant when his personal sacrifice is considered. In addition to being an important part in the legal set-up, the place on the court of civil appeals bench carried approximately $1,800 per year more salary than does the highway commission post.

General discussions about the appointment of highway commissioner by the announcement indicated a belief that Governor Allred had honored himself and Texas by such action as General Bobbitt making the appointment. General Bobbitt will bring to the Highway Commission a background of high accomplishment in other public fields and a sound knowledge of the problems of this specialized field. Having served several terms in the Legislature, one of which he was speaker of the House of Representatives, he is thoroughly familiar with the legislative and general state activities. As the State's lawyer, he also has an intimate knowledge of the legal phases of the department's activities.

Those interested believe that under General Bobbitt's leadership Texas program of highway construction will show material progress in the next several years.

The Texas Highway Department is the acknowledged leader in the development of the utilitarian and aesthetic aspects of highway road-

IN TRUCK LEGISLATION

Any change in existing Texas truck laws which will increase the present 7,000-pound load limit will affect adversely all communities in the state, both rural and urban. This statement is proved best by identifying the causes and effects upon Texas communities.

These are:

1. Increasing truck loads mean correspondingly increasing the distance which the truck can profitably carry its load.

2. Increasing the distance of profitable truck haul means bringing the small town wholesale houses and industrial plants, such as wholesale grocers, ... canners, etc., ... grain elevators, cotton compresses and retail lumber yards, into direct competition with similar establishments if large cities.

3. Such competition will inevitably result in further driving up the small country towns by taking from them their payrolls, taxes and local purchasing representated by their present establishments. Property values, both residential and commercial, will decline; volume of retail sales will grow smaller and former employees will migrate to the cities to reinforce the ranks of the unemployed and the bread lines.

Conditions which affect railroads in identical manner and degree.

THE TEXAS RAILROADS

4. Large cities, at first stimulated by increased trade territories, bought at the expense of the country towns, will be ultimately affected adversely because of the resulting unhealthy condition of the rural communities forming these trade territories.

5. Because of the consequent shrinkage of the state's tax revenues from country towns, taxes from the cities will have to be increased correspondingly.

6. The lower truck load limit of Texas now has the effect of acting as a barrier at Texas borders to the movement of the larger truck loads carrying merchandise from the metropolitan and producing centers of other states. Any increase in Texas truck load limits will break down that barrier and permit the free truck movement into the state of many commodities which otherwise would be sold directly to the retailers, thus destroying, in a large measure, the business of wholesalers and jobbers now ...

Transmitting Rabies

Rabies is a central nervous system disease, the virus of which usually is transmitted by the saliva. In animal bites the virus is transmitted by the teeth as they pierce the skin and flesh. The saliva containing the virus if even sprinkled on a break in the skin, such as that made by a small hangnail, can send the lethal germ on its way to the brain. In wildlife rabies, the most common type, the first symptom in the animal is a marked change in disposition. An affectionate dog becomes morose and depressed. A crippling, treacherous dog may become cowardly and affectionate.

YOUR EXECUTED IN SING SING FOR MURDERS
Canning, N. Y. Jan. 28.—John Schibelli, 27, Brooklyn upholsterer's apprentice who slugged the young authoress Mary Phillips Tuttleton in her New York apartment on April 10, 1936—Good Friday—died in a quadruple execution tonight—almost to the last.

With three negroes he was led to Sing Sing prison's electric chair, which had claimed 402 felons before tonight's mass execution.

His only expression was made to Warden Lewis E. Lawes shortly after 9 p. m., after Finnemia's aged mother had left the prison, following her 20th visit to him.

"I feel sorry I caused my mother all the trouble. She stood by me," Finnemia told the warden.

"It was tougher to bid her goodbye than to go to the chair."

The warden said the condemned man's Thomas Cupani, was the most notable he had seen.

The young slayer, who was literally tied to the crime by the 13-inch piece of string he left behind him, after strangling Miss Tuttleton, refused to die in the night's death parade.

He was brought from the death house cell at 11:06 p. m. E. S. T. and at 11:12 the prison physician announced "this man is dead."

Chester White, 53, who charged with murdering his negro women on drink, was the first to die. After Finnemia, in this order: Alfred Fiorenza, 28 and Fred Fowler, 19, slayers of a Brooklyn man who interrupted their holdup of a jewelry store.

When the minister met the local ne'er-do-well, he grasped him by the hand and extended hearty greetings. "I'm glad to know that you've turned over a new leaf, Sam."

"Me?" replied Sam dubiously. "Yes, I was pleased to see you at the prayer meeting."

"Oh," said Sam, the light of understanding spreading over his countenance, "so that's where I was, is it?"

JOB INSURANCE LIMIT EXTENDED
Washington, Jan. 21. — The Treasury today extended for 60 days the date for families now making the first quarterly unemployment insurance tax payments under the social security act.

Payments may be made any time up to April 1 without assessment of interest.

The taxes are collected from employers of eight or more persons, and start at 1 per cent with respect to employment during the calendar year, and increase by 1 per cent of wages paid after Dec. 31, 1937.

The unemployment taxes are not levied against employes.

The delay was granted because many States recently have enacted unemployment insurance laws but have not had time to set up administrative machinery.

WEATHER REPORT
Despite the few sunny days, only 1¼ inches of rain fell in Bandera during January, 1937, as compared with 1½ inches January, 1936. The coldest weather occurred on Jan. 9th when the mercury dropped to 24 degrees and the temperature remained below 32 degrees for nearly 48 hours. On Jan. 22nd, the mercury dropped to 26 degrees but the cold spell was of shorter duration. Monday morning the lowest temperature dropped to 28 degrees but soon rose again.

Starting in addition, February 2nd is ground hog day and if the ground hog sees his shadow he will return to his sleep and there will be six more weeks of cold weather. Since the sun did not shine here Tuesday, the ground hog could not see his shadow, so if the ground hog holds good, we should have "an early spring."

GAME COMMISSION VOTE HELD VOID
Austin, Tex., Jan. 21.—The attorney general's department ruled today a recent 3 to 2 vote of the Game, Fish and Oyster commission requesting the resignation of Will J. Tucker, executive secretary, was ineffective.

In an opinion by Vernon Cox, assistant attorney general, it was held the commission could remove its secretary only by an affirmative vote of four members.

There are six members of the commission.

Tucker asked for a ruling after he refused to submit to Dove Jones Alfred for arbitration any difference between him and the board. He refused to quit in the meantime.

The commission will "meet in Fort Worth Tuesday.

Jess Slocum, commission chairman, declined to submit the matter to Alfred and informed the governor he did not felt the commission would be "able to handle the matter without attempting to drag him into it."

The chairman and Jack O'Brien, San Antonio, development man with Mrs. Ima Cliff Polk of Austin, voted to oust Tucker. The secretary held the vote, taken by telegraph, illegal. Commissioner Kleberg of Kingsville, who was out, is illegal.

Showorx charged Tucker failed to "take seriously" a game propagation program and operation of the department in a way that caused unrest among employes.

Ft. Worth, Feb. 2.—The Game, Fish and Oyster Commission met today with Will J. Tucker.

MONEY PER CAPITA $50.76

CHRISTIAN KALKA AND MISS ELIZABETH LING WED
St. Stanislaus Catholic Church of this city was the scene of a beautiful wedding at 9 o'clock Wednesday) morning when Miss Elizabeth Ling became the bride of Christian Kalka, Rev. Father F. S. Strobel, pastor of the church, officiating.

The choir sang "The Man in Honor St. Aloysious" by Singenberger. During the offertory, "Ave Maria" and the communion, "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," was sung.

The bride was lovely in a white satin gown made in princess lines and a veil made of tulle caught at the head with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of Comfort and the groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Kalka of this city.

The New Era wishes the popular newlyweds much happiness.

KNOB-KNOCKERS AT HONDO
A jimmied window at the Hondo Lumber Co. office attracted Night Watchman Emil Weber about five o'clock Thursday morning. He called Sheriff Chas. J. Schuss and Richard Reilly and examination disclosed that the safe had been forced open by knocking off the dial plate and forcing the lock. Every inside box and compartment had been jimmied and the contents scattered over the floor.

While investigating this a call came from the Miller store in Devine where a similar job had been perpetrated, evidently by the same artists who must be experts at the business, judging by the complete and similar in every particular.

A finger-print expert from San Antonio came out and investigated the wreckage, but it is not known what if any clues were discovered.

While the damage to the safe at Lumber Co. sale is estimated at only about ten dollars in cash was taken at the Miller did not get off so cheaply, for he had left the change from a record-haul car load of hogs under his bank had closed in his safe and the burglars got away with about $230.00

Both burglaries were attended with remarkable boldness as they took place almost directly under the glare of nearby street lights and that of the latter garage, which is behind a large plate glass window fronting the highway.—Hondo Anvil Herald.

HOUSE VOTES CHANGE IN PENSION LAW
Austin, Jan. 29.—The House of Representatives today adopted a resolution requesting old age assistance commission to follow recommendations of the county commissioners in passing on applications for pensions. The vote was 65 to 54.

The resolution by Representative Ben F. Cathey of Quitman, would ask the board of control acting as the old age assistance commission, to follow recommendations of the county commissioners when eligibility of applicants was in accord with the law if it would be effective for the next eight weeks and both proponents and opponents emphasized it would be mandatory on either the old age assistance commission or the county officials but the effect would be to express the sentiment of the House.

FLOOD NOTES
The Ohio River was still endangering Cairo, Ill., by slowly rising again after being stationary for 15 hours. A doubled levee patrol guarded the seawall and watched for any leaks where the extreme pressure of the river forces water through the sand strata through openings in the earth.

Further along the Mississippi was still menacing thousands of lowlands and high winds were hampering the work of managing the levees.

So far it is estimated that over 60,000 persons have lost their lives and damage to property stood at countless millions.

TEXANS DISCOVER BIRTH CONTROL DECLINE

Austin, Jan. 30.—Wider dissemination of birth control data and an influenza epidemic were attributed Saturday by the Health Department as causes for a subnormal decrease in births and increase in deaths.

Dr. W. J. Taylor, state health officer, reported that births in 1936 totaled 115,318, 5,451 fewer than in 1935. Deaths totaled 68,536, an increase of 2,897 over the 1935 total. The statistics were contrary to the expected trend with an increase in population. An increase in deaths of 1,057 from 1934 was also registered a year ago, when found gaining population.

An influenza epidemic during the first three months of 1936 was credited with adding 3,000 deaths more than normal.

LOCAL WOOL AND MOHAIR BUYER BUILDS UP-TO-DATE FEED PENS IN BANDERA

Several months ago Frank Montague decided that this county was going into the sheep and goat ranching a bit too extensively, and that this county needed some good cattle to make use of all the grass that the sheep and goats could not and generally speaking other present conditions, would not cater to. After getting around for a month or two, Mr. Montague purchased 127 head of the best grade steers and calves that could be bought in Texas. After he got his cattle to his ranch, he decided that he wanted to develop his young stuff into the best kind of bulls and heifers that he possibly could. To do this he had to have a feed lot, or some place to take care of these cattle.

Mr. Montague owns a piece of land just north of the High school, and he thought that this would be an excellent place to feed his calves, as the location is very handy, in case people wanted to look at his cattle, or purchase some of his fattening stock.

When Fred Thalmann, local manager of the Wool and Mohair Warehouse, realized what Mr. Montague was about to do, he suggested that Mr. Montague build a large barn and bin, also something up-to-date and somewhat better than the average feeder had.

With no blue prints in plans, except a lot of ideas gotten from feeding experiments, the two men laid their own plans for a feed lot and barn that is incomparable in this part of the State. In putting together these plans Mr. Thalmann and Mr. Montague kept one thing in mind at all times, and that was SAVE LABOR.

When these barns and pens were completed, they represented an up-to-date feeding lot that could be taken care of by one man. The feeding troughs at present will feed approximately 75 head of cattle (yearlings), but they are so constructed that they can be lengthened at any time. The barn is built in between the two feeding troughs and has four inch doors on each side with a feed mixing floor so situated that the feed from each bin is thrown upon the mixing floor without leaving the bin. Above these feed bins is a hay room that will hold about 60 bales of hay. Then out over the feeding troughs are other hay rooms that are built in a V style and so situated that the feeder can feed any number of cattle and never get out of hay, hay loft or waste a spoil of hay. When the hay is thrown down it falls in a way that it is spread over two feed troughs and will feed two pens of cattle, and as a result there is a lot less competition among the cattle; they can stay under the shelter to eat their grain and feed if necessary, and lie down and take a nap when they get through eating.

At present Mr. Montague has 75 head of breeding stock on feed in his pens. He has one pen for his herd bulls, one pen for his yearling bulls that are for sale, another pen for the heifers that he will use for replacements, and a sick or hospital pen. All bulls pens are so built that at any time Mr. Montague so desires, he can go in and build a string of feed 50 yards long, and have a pen for fattening steers. All water troughs are so built and placed that at any time double the present number of pens may be built, and all feed from any one pen, except the present barn and drink from an water troughs already built.

Part of those bins are in a general sloping hillside, on which there is enough room to build a trench silo the feed bins and yet not crowd the cattle too much.

So stated was Mr. Montague over the completion of his feed lot and pens that he wanted everybody to see and hear about his feed lots. The first fitting he did to explain his set-up to the Vocational Agriculture Class (at year vocational agriculture was taught in Bandera High School.) He told the boys why he had built those pens and told that he thought Bandera county needed more cattle. These Vocational Agriculture boys always enthuse cattle over Mr. Montague's plans for the future, that they decided to get in on the ground floor of the project. Their being told Mr. Montague that they would feed his cattle for him at cost if he would furnish the feed, and let them feed the cattle the proper rations and keep records of colorie. Mr. Montague readily accepted this offer, as he was so pleased that the younger people were taking in his experiment in such a way.

Now the Bandera High School Vocational Agriculture boys under the direction of their teacher, Mr. Grisham, are in full charge of the feeding in the cattle pens. These boys are learning just how much feed it takes to put 100 pounds of flesh on cattle being fed for gain, and the cattle that are being developed into breeding bulls, market cattle and show cattle. These boys are getting much valuable information through this project, and they are proud of this chance to learn how to feed. This same experience would probably cost some of their fathers and other ranchmen, thousands of dollars (in the red) to learn.

Mr. Montague has recently purchased another 125 head of fine 5 to 6 year old cows, and says that he is going to help out the overstocked sheep situation in Bandera county by encouraging cattle raising, where it is possible.

These feeding pens and cattle are worth your while to come over to see, you are cordially invited to visit both the pens and the ranch.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agent.

CEDAR ERADICATION

The Texas Mohair Weekly is indebted to Hon. Chas. L. South, congressman from this district, for a complete schedule, of projects coming under the Agricultural Conservation program, related Jan. 14th by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Along with other valuable information to ranchmen of the southwest, we are pleased to note that the schedule that pays for range building allowance for any ranch shall be determined by multiplying $7.50 by the grazing capacity.

It is noted that in rescuing range lands from prickly pear and cactus three allotments are made, 50 cents per acre where light; medium infection calls for 75 cents per acre; heavy infections $1 per acre.

While the program does not refer to bitterweed, yet is surmised that the schedule applied to prickly pear and cactus will certain also in bitter weed conjrol.

In the schedule set for mesquite control it is noted that where it is light, 50 cents per acre, is allowed; medium, $1 per acre; heavy, $2 per acre.

In the schedule set out for resoiling range land from cedar growth, 75 cents per acre for light; $1 per acre for medium and $1.50 for heavy infestation.

Removing the juniper land from scheguille, the schedule is 50 cents per acre.

It was largely through the efforts of Congressman South that the matter of cedar eradication was included in the above schedule, and he writes us that he stands ready and willing at all times to further legislation beneficial to the ranching industry.

Should our readers desire further and more complete information covering the soil conservation program as applied to the ranching industry writ United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Adjustment Administration, Bulletin 101, Part VIII, Texas Mohair Weekly.

OFFICERS CLAIM AIR-TIGHT CASE IN MOTOR COP DEATH

Constables active in the district attorney's office in San Antonio Friday said they had an air-tight case in the slaying of Motorcycle Policeman A. A. ("Bill") Edwards.

"We have a good case and expect to take it to the grand jury," Assistant District Attorney Paul J. Killian said.

Chief Deputy Constable Duke Carver, one of the county officers who made the arrest of two suspects, said he believed the statement of Donald ("Duck") Baker that he had not been in the car at the time of the slaying.

Johnnie Walker Vaughn claimed Baker also fired on Edwards while Baker admitted to holdups previous to the killing, but denied any part in the fatal shooting.

According to Carver, Mrs. Vaughn quoted her husband as saying on the night Edwards was slain, January 16:

"I got in a jam, I shot a copper."

Mother had just informed the constables that her son accompanying her was only five years old. He had just passed on when the boy concluded that some important bit of information had been overlooked and announced.

"But Mother is 46."

MAN TELLS ABOUT PRAYERS WHILE IN SIXES & DAYS

Clarksburg, W. Va., Feb. 5.—Robert Johnson, 36-year-old rural mail carrier of Hepzibah, was found in front of his eight-day embalmed, in an abandoned coal mine in the mountains at nearby Weston.

Weak from exposure, Johnson described from a hospital cot his struggle to find his way out from the recesses of the mine, his hopelessness and finally his relief and his prayer for a rescue.

As his pretty dark-haired wife, Mrs. Delvers Johnson, former Flowing high school teacher, stood by his bedside, he said:

"I decided to pray. I prayed. I was lost—just...lost—that's all. I had no sense of time. I must have been about five days that I wandered about in the dark praying that God would keep me alive and send someone to hunt me."

A rescue crew found him huddled, emaciated from sleeplessness and days without food, behind a pile of jagged slabs of rock which had fallen from the entrance of the mine which he operated in his spare time to add to his income. He had lost his way in the pitch black when his carbide light went out.

TEXAS LEGISLATURE OPPOSES FDR COURT PLAN

Austin, Feb. 9.—The Texas Legislature frowned today on President Roosevelt's proposal to reorganize the Supreme Court.

The Senate adopted a resolution 22 to 3 with one pair, declaring the reorganization against the best interests of the people and calling on Texas members of Congress to oppose it.

The House killed a resolution, 95 to 28, which would have commended the proposal.

Of the two United States Senators from Texas, Sheppard stated that he would back the President and his plan, while Connally stated that he was opposed to it.

GUNS BRISTLE AT GENERAL MOTORS PLANTS

Detroit, Feb. 9.—With peace conferences here stymied, a downpour of unexpected gunfire was thrown around two General Motors plants in Saginaw today after reports striken guards at Flint were coming there to force a sit-down strike.

Guards were backed against the gates of the plants by the guards, wearing tin helmets for the first time in history, and went to work this morning without incident at the plants, the Bagnall Motor Car and the Chevrolet service parts plant.

Detroit, Feb. 9.—Renewed hopes for an agreement ending the widespread strike shutdowns in General Motors plants today found expression today during a recess in the peace conferences of opposing leaders.

An authoritative source indicated that the negotiations might be nearing a settlement based on a formula what they believed may be the answer to the dispute between the gigantic automobile and strike-bound members of the United Automobile Workers of America.

No details of the plan were disclosed, but this source said that it included a 5-day week.

He added that President Roosevelt, reported to be working on a "5-5-5-5-5" plan, eight to Governor Frank Murphy, William S. Knudsen, General Motors vice president, and John L. Lewis, strike generalissimo, participating in the conference here, has made no "demand" on either side, except to express his desire for an agreement.

But again Cosgrove's luck held, and no loss was sustained.

A window in the filling station had been broken and on attempt had been made to force the door, but as neither opening had been entered, police believe the prospective burglars were frightened away.

Authorities were cheered to observe the rate of deaths to gasoline consumed and to population dropped off.

They also noted certain "moral" effects of the driver's license law, included increased safety consciousness.

LITTLE RANCH LAND RETIRED

San Angelo, Jan. 30.—Little interest has been shown so far in the new federal soil conservation act program as applied to the ranch country. Word from conversations with the operators in the hotel lobbies and at the sales barns of surrounding counties, are planning to retire any of their lands.

Several big ranchmen, among them Governor James V. Allred of Onona, already have inaugurated part of the conservation program, let that land grow to good account. ful war on the prickly pear. That' is the principal acreage usurper in Southern territory like to be eradicated. In the Edwards county section around Rocksprings, the program is being pushed more extensively, war also has been waged on the cedar.

Another big enemy of the sheep, and sheepmen, will not be among the plant pests which will warrant attention of land and receipt of federal benefits. Secretary of Agriculture Wallace announced last week in Congressman R. E. Thomason's El Paso, who with Congressman Charles A. Smith of Lubbock, has fought for an appropriation to fight the bitterweed, that he had suggested its inclusion in the conservation program.

LOCAL CO-OPERATION CUTS WPA PROJECTS COST

Co-operation of local governmental agencies in assuming added costs for materials and equipment used in operating Works Progress Administration projects, has drawn the praise of Texas Administrator H. B. Dunaghey.

WPA superintendents for non-labor items have been reduced approximately fifty per cent, although the federal agency, still bears the entire cost of labor, it was explained.

"Our monthly allotments from Washington grow smaller as the amount of funds remaining for the current works program appropriation diminishes and we are forced to ask project sponsors to assume a greater share of the cost of materials and equipment used on their projects," Dunaghey stated. "Few sponsors have complained. Those in charge of local agencies realize that without the aid of Federal funds the entire expense of caring for those employed on WPA projects would have to be borne locally."

Federal expenditures for non-labor items have been limited to a minor proportion of the total cost of such items on recently approved projects, the policy is not retroactive and does not apply to work completed on projects in operation. Sponsors were advised of the ruling.

"In making necessary adjustments, we have not lost sight of the fact that we must keep our quota of needy workers employed and that the integrity of the projects must be maintained," Dunaghey declared. "The program will not be carried on with projects of doubtful value or those which are over-loaded with labor to reduce man-year costs. Projects must be economical with reasonable efficiency and at unit costs which are not excessive."

Lee Wharton of Tarpley, was a business visitor here Saturday.

THINGS NEW AND OLD
By LEONARD A. BARRETT

The present interest in antiques is very interesting. Fabulous prices are paid for furniture, china, clocks and other articles which once graced the homes of bygone days. Henry Ford is said to have expended a fortune establishing and maintaining a museum in which many articles of historic value are preserved.

Is this enthusiasm for antiques a mere novelty? Is it an expression of real appreciation for old things? Is it sincere effort to recapture something of the lost spirit of our fathers? With enduring patience and skill they wrought by hand that which in a wholesale fashion is made today by machinery. The writer has in his garden a trough hewn out of sand stone by hand. In the early days it was used for cooling milk. It would be impossible to find today a person who would do such hard work. No, such work and workmen belong to the days of old. When we look at the spirit in which dominated our forefathers, we find patience and perseverance in the ascendency. How much of this fine spirit have we lost in this day of speed? How much have we sacrificed to the mechanistic spirit of our day? Would we not know more of happiness and contentment if we preserved along with the antiques, something of the spirit that created them and for that matter, all of social and spiritual life? We do not want to return to a primitive style of living, but we do need to remember that life does not consist in the abundance of possessions already obtained. We do need to remember, that life has qualities that permanently stamp things both old and new. The spirit of life is its hidden miracle that seeks to be expressed in the patterns of the hour. Today we need more of the spirit of those whose skill created our "antiques."

A thing should never be allowed because it is old. Present day conditions may often demand replacement of the old by the new, but the contribution of the material article in terms of the spirit that made it cannot be abandoned. We cannot destroy the old: we but quicken its spirit from within. As the outgrown or outworn garments and adornments of the old are cast aside, there should yet remain a vital living spirit of workmanship which helps us to build the new.

The old must first be sifted before it becomes sacred. Only upon sacred realities can we build a civilization that will endure through all generations. Only as we preserve the spirit of patience, strength and beauty, shall we create a civilization that is fit to endure.

Mrs. Wise: "Just provoking, I suppose, that it is those cautious ones that always get in the net."

THRIFT NOTES

"Now that thrift week is almost here," says the office boy, "it reminds me of old Sandy who used to go into exclusion to express his sorrow when he had to buy a new suit. It happened every thirty years. One day he was clearing away bramble brush from his back yard with his feet bare.

"'Man, alive,' he was asked, 'what you doin' that work here, barefooted?' You'll hurt your feet.'

"'My feet'll heal,' says he, 'but my shoes won't.'

"He had a son who walked 25 miles to see a football game and then missed it because he was too tired to climb the fence."

Speaking of mixed figures we recall the Christmas letter we once received which read:

Dear Sir: Be sure to take time by the forelock and nail down some good timber for yourself during the holidays.

Chief of Police to offending motorist: "What is a one way street."

"A one way street is one on which the pedestrian gets bumped from the rear only."

45-YEAR PLAN OF FARM BUYING HEARD COOLY

Washington, Feb. 16.—President Roosevelt asked Congress today to bring federal millions to the assistance of hired men and tenant farmers in acquiring farm lands.

"Obviously action by the States alone and independently of each other cure the widespread evil," the President said in transmitting the report of his special committee on farm tenancy.

37 WARY SENATORS FINAL ARBITERS OF COURT LAW

Washington, Feb. 16.—Avowed opponents of the Roosevelt proposal to force "new blood" into the Supreme Court by a slight numerical lead over its declared defenders in the Senate tonight. This roster now numbers 39 while 29 senators have spoken in favor of the proposal to empower Roosevelt to name one new justice for every justice past 70 who declines to retire. The outcome of the momentous fight in the Senate hinges upon the decision of the remaining 37.

Strategy of the present apparently hinged on the Sumners bill which passed 187 House by a large majority. It would permit Supreme Court judges to retire at 70 on full pay if they had served 10 years or more. With only Senator Borah dissenting, a Senate judiciary sub-committee approved the Sumners bill today.

Mimke Saathoff Of Tarpley Dead

The entire community was shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mimke Saathoff, a highly respected citizen of Tarpley, who passed to his eternal rest sometime early Sunday morning. He had seemed in the best of health when he retired Saturday night and was found by his good wife when she arose about 6:30 a. m.

Mr. Saathoff was born at Quitman, Medina county, on Feb. 16, 1866, being 70 years, 11 months and 29 days of age at his demise. On April 6, 1888, he was married to Miss Johanna Gerdes at New Fountain, Medina county. In 1916 he moved to Tarpley in company with a store and only last June he retired from business, with his son Alfred taking over the store.

Besides his grief-stricken widow, he leaves three sons, Tom E. and Anton of San Antonio and Alfred of Tarpley; three daughters, Mrs. H. H. Spaeth of Yorktown, Mrs. W. H. Wood of Tarpley and Mrs. T. C. Ferguson of San Antonio; two brothers, H. H. and Henry Saathoff of Bandera; three sisters, Mrs. Ed Schmidt and Mrs. Geo. Muennink of Hondo, and Mrs. Newt. Every grower in Bandera county should be sprayed at least twice each year, so if you have not been notified you are invited to come out and let us help you with your problems.

Work on the high line from here to Medina City, being built by the Central Power and Light Company, was started last week with a full crew busy, many of them being local men. ## Mother of Our First President

THE girl who was to become the mother of George Washington was something of a belle in her native colony, Virginia. Mary Ball, descended from a long line of gentility, who called "the rose of Epping Forest" in her girlhood. Epping Forest being the name of the Ball homestead. Orphaned early, she had as her guardian George Eskridge, a wealthy Virginia planter.

At twenty - two, Mary Ball married (on March 6, 1730) Augustine Washington, then a widower with two little boys. Her first child she named George after her old family friend. Five other children were born of this marriage, four of whom survived. When Augustine Washington died, she war left with a brood of youngsters to care for. George was then only eleven. Fortunately, however, states a writer in the Indianapolis News, the husband had provided for them amply.

George Washington was still a young boy when he became possessed of a great desire to be a midshipman. His mother had been half-hearted about the plan at first (times, but finally (as the story goes) when his sea-chest was being carried down to the wharf by a negro, she refused to let him go. He accepted her decision with good grace, and devoted himself to surveying instead. His activities in the next years often took him far away from her and gradually prepared him for the great role he was to play in American history.

Mary Ball Washington was sixty-eight when the Revolution began. Some contemporaries was then as primitive, she often did not know for months at a time whether her son was alive or dead. Yet she maintained outward calm and courage. One of her sayings was, "The mothers and wives of men must be brave women." The members of her household knew, though, that every day she went off by herself with her Bible to a quiet spot called Meditation Rock.

At last Cornwallis surrendered in 1781 and the Revolution was won. Ever mindful of her children's success, him, Washington sent a Mount Vernon to where he was [illegible].

Mary Ball Washington lived to be over eighty, mentally keen and unfailingly exercising the office of ... the year her son was elected first President of the United States.

Ben Jureski is visiting his children in San Antonio this week.

Prof. and Mrs. [illegible] were in San Antonio Monday.

4-H Calf Show At Utopia Saturday

The first 4-H Club Calf Show for Bandera county will be held in Utopia on Saturday, Feb. 20th. This show is going to be an annual affair, and is going to increase in size every year. In a few years it is hoped we will have many different classes of poultry and livestock on exhibit, but at this "FIRST" show, we will have only calves. Come out and see the beginning of a great future for 4-H club work in Bandera county.

In these calves you will see the results of proper feeding of baby beef. An opportunity greatly neglected in most counties that have good cattle from which to draw a large part of its income. Our county is rapidly improving its beef cattle and the feeding out of more calves is going to be another of our new enterprises, one that we must all learn from the bottom, just as these 4-H club boys are doing.

Prizes totaling approximately $50 have been donated by different parties, and competition will be keen between these club boys. All want to win first and yet only one can win this prize.

Committees working on this show are; Grounds, Pete and Bush Berger; finance and prizes, Stafford Smith; R. A. show transportation and equipment, Sterling Fisher, John Baumer, M. Boultinghouse and J. E. Porter. Fred Hall, County Agent of Uvalde county, will be placing judge, and 4-H Club boys will be in charge of the grooming contest, an event that will prove very entertaining to all those present.

We hope you a little show that any of you will be proud to have witnessed. Come out and bring your neighbors with you.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agt.

RADIO TALK OF CO. AGENT HARTMAN

The following talk was made by County Agent Dick Hartman of this city, over radio station KTSA at 12:45 p. m. Feb. 16, 1937:

"Bandera county, I suppose, has gone through about as many changes in agriculture as any in the State of Texas. Some of these changes were for the best and some of them are the problems of today. Bandera county ranks among the most progressive and the first down to the wheat belt and ranching counties in the State.

"From pioneer days to the present, there have been many changes in every profession and business. In the early days, no lawyers were needed to settle the difficulties that arose, all these were thrashed out among the pioneers. If you were sick, the barber or a preacher took charge and gave first aid in the pioneer's trade way, and nursed the patient survived. Anyone who had received as much education as to spell a word correctly, or figure a bill, was able to go out and do business with and fight with his fellow men.

"When it came to starting any form of agriculture, such as raising corn, cotton, livestock or any other agricultural product available at that time, all that was necessary was a piece of land and a bountiful crop could be expected, provided you 'planted a seed' that would grow. The climatic conditions of the country in which you were planting the crop, was the reason for the production of livestock and poultry; all that was necessary was to get a start with a breed of the kind you wished to produce and turn them together, and in due time you would have a healthy offspring that would grow to maturity without any difficulty. These problems were not only in agriculture and livestock, but also in all forms of business enterprises and all professions of life—but what a far cry it is from these pioneer days to the present.

"In those days, the problems now existing in soil improvement were not to be thought of; soil conservation was unheard of; all species of parasites or livestock and poultry [illegible] ground to haunt the [illegible] and there was no [illegible] therefore no agricultural [illegible] necessary to be a successful rancher or farmer in terms of the pioneer possibilities. Neither were there any marketing problems, for these products were used at home or in the community in which they were produced.

"Now, all the problems that were then non-existing, seem to be staring the farmer and rancher in the face [illegible]

Bergen of Yancey, and seven grandchildren.

He was laid to rest Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the Tarpley cemetery with Rev. O. E. Moreland, Methodist minister of this city, officiating. The New Era extends deep sympathy to the bereaved.

FRUIT TREE SPRAYING DEMONSTRATION Feb. 19

On Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock I will hold a fruit tree spraying demonstration at Albert Kalka's place here in Bandera.

Fruit tree spraying should be in full force right now, if you intend spraying your trees while in the dormant stage. Better come out Friday and see us boil and mix this spray, prune the trees, and then put the spray on.

Every fruit orchard in Bandera county should be sprayed at least twice each year, so if you have been neglecting your orchard, come out and let us help you with your problems.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agt.

Work Starts On Medina High Line

Work on the high line from here to Medina City, being built by the Central Power and Light Company, was started last week with a full crew busy, many of them being local men. The line will go over the ridge route and it is expected that it will be in Medina in about two weeks, barring some unforeseen delay.

We extend our congratulations to Medina on their progressiveness and to the Central Power and Light Company for their continued efforts to improve the communities which they reach in their far-flung system.

Mother of Our First President

Mary Ball at 22, When She Wed Augustine Washington

THE girl who was to become the mother of George Washington was something of a belle in her native colony, Virginia. Mary Ball, descended from a good English family, was called "the rose of Epping Forest" in her girlhood. Epping Forest being the name of the Ball homestead. Orphaned early, she had as her guardian George Eskridge, a wealthy Virginia planter.

At twenty - two, Mary Ball married (on March 6, 1730) Augustine Washington, then a widower with two little boys. Her first child she named George after her old family friend. Five other children were born of the marriage, four of whom survived. When Augustine Washington died, she was left with a brood of youngsters to care for. George was then only eleven. Fortunately, however, states a writer in the Indianapolis News, the husband had provided for them amply.

George Washington was still a young boy when he became possessed of a great desire to be a midshipman. His mother had been half-hearted about this plan at all times, but finally (so the story goes) when his interest was being cultivated down to the wharf by a porter, she refused to let him go. He accepted her decision with good grace, and devoted himself to surveying instead. His activities in the next years often took him far away from her and gradually prepared him for the great role he was to play in American history.

Mary Ball Washington was sixty-eight when the Revolution began. Since communication was then so primitive, she did not know for months at a time whether her son was alive or dead. She maintained outward calm and courage. One of her sayings was, "The mothers and wives of brave men must be brave women." The members of her household knew, though, that every day she went off by herself to her Bible in a quiet spot called Meditation Rock.

At last Cornwallis surrendered in 1781 and the Revolution was over. Ever mindful of his mother's anxiety for him, Washington sent off a letter to her before he was relieved of his command.

Then with independence won, after he had accomplished enough to assure himself a place among the immortals, he went on to the greatest period of his entire career. His influence made the constitutional convention a success. His wise and able administration of the government by the first President established the new nation. The tradition he left which he refused all thought of dictatorial power or kingly rule, when he declined the third term because such a precedent might endanger the future of democracy, make him stand alone among the greatest figures in all history.

We do not know what Mary Ball's opinion on the date of his birthday anniversary, Monday, February 22. We do well to heed again the admonitions he so firmly established in our national life. Washington is still young among the nations of the world, produced one such magnificent personality, should be a source of pride and satisfaction to us all.

4-H Calf Show At Utopia Saturday

The first 4-H Club Calf Show for Bandera county will be held in Utopia on Saturday, Feb. 20th. This show is going to be an annual affair, and is going to increase in size every year. In the years to come you will find many different classes of poultry and livestock on exhibit, but at this "FIRST" show, we will have only calves. Come out and see the beginning of a great future for 4-H Club work in Bandera county.

In these calves you will see the results of proper feeding of baby [illegible]es, an industry greatly neglected in most counties that have good cattle, from which to draw a large part of its income. Our county is rapidly improving its beef cattle and the feeding out of more calves is going to be another of our new enterprises, one that we must all learn from the bottom, just as these club boys are doing.

Prizes totaling approximately $50 have been donated by different parties, and competition will be keen between these club boys. All want to win first and yet only one can win this prize.

Committees working on this show are: Grandpa Pete and Butch Swift; finance and prizes, Stafford Smith; S. A. show transportation and equipment, Sterling Fisher, John Baumer, M. Boultinghouse and J. E. Porter. Fred Hall, County Agent of Uvalde county, will be placing judge, and 4-H Club boys will be in charge of the guessing contest, an event that will prove very entertaining to all those present.

We promise you a little show that any of you will be proud to have witnessed. Come out and bring your neighbors with you.

RADIO TALK OF CO. AGENT HARTMAN

The following talk was made by County Agent Dick Hartman of Bandera county, Texas, over KTSA at San Antonio on Feb. 8th:

"Bandera county, I suppose, has gone through about as many changes as any county in the State of Texas. Some of these changes were for the best and some have been very unfortunate. Today, Bandera county ranks among the most progressive and the most diversified farming and ranching counties in the State.

"From pioneer days to the present, there has been many changes in every profession and business. In the early days, no lawyers were needed to settle the difficulties that arose, all these were threshed out, among the pioneers. If anyone got sick, a barber or a preacher took charge and gave first aid in the pioneer's crude way, and generally the patient survived. Anyone who had received a good education as today's second and third grade pupil, was able to go out and do business with and fight with his fellow men.

"When it came to starting any type of agriculture, as raising corn, cats, potatoes or any other agricultural product available at that time, all that was necessary was to plant the seeds and a bountiful crop often be expected, provided you planted a seed that was adapted to the climatic conditions of the country in which you were planting the crop. The same was true of the production of livestock and poultry; all that was necessary was to get a male and a female of the kind you wished to produce and turn them together, and in due time you would have a healthy offspring that would grow to maturity without any difficulty. These incidents were true, not only in agriculture and livestock, but also in all forms of business enterprises, and all professions of life—but what a far cry it is from these pioneer days to the present.

"In those days, the problems now existing in soil improvement were not to be thought of; soil erosion was unheard of; all species of parasites in livestock and poultry were unheard of, and the stockman or the poultryman, therefore an agricultural or a [illegible] necessary to be a successful rancher or farmer in terms of the possibilities. ### GEORGE WASHINGTON

Many of us have read the biographies of great men of history with a feeling of wonder and of awe. We wonder how Napoleon became such a colossal figure. We marvel over his military attainments, his administrative power, his spectacular rise to fame.

We consider the career of a Cromwell or a Caesar or a Frederick and feel that here indeed were men of unusual qualities.

But how often do we consider the life and work of George Washington who stands almost alone among all the immortals of history. He was a great military leader, but more. He was an able leader of men. He was a great President, but more. He was an able man of business in his day.

He was a great man in that he combined, just as these club boys are doing.

Prizes totaling approximately $50 have been donated by different parties, and competition will be keen between these club boys. All want to win first and yet only one can win this prize.

Bandera Defeated by Medina 15-10

The Bandera Bulldogs went to Medina last Friday, February 12, to play the Medina Wildcats. Our team was defeated by a final score of 15 to 10. The Bulldogs led the Wildcats during the greater part of the game but at the end, the score was tied up, 10 to 10. It was decided that the tie be played off. While taking a five-minute rest something must have clicked, for when our team began playing again, they could not get located and the Medina squad made five points. Our boys were unable to score. In spite of the defeat, we really had a good clean game.

The basketball team also wishes to thank the pep-squad girls who so loyally supported us throughout the game. We are positive that their mighty cheers and big smiles went a long way in helping us play a nice game. Quite a few people from Bandera also went to see our game and I am sure they enjoyed it.

Be sure and watch this paper for possible announcements of future basketball games and everyone of you come to the games and give our boys a big hand by loyally supporting them.

The tenth grade gave a very interesting program in honor and memory of Abraham Lincoln as a part of their regular English class. The program consisted of the following things selected:

Autobiography—Joe Stevens.

"Lincoln, a Man of the People," Markham—Lucille Fee.

"Lincoln's First Campaign"—Lincoln—Byron Norman Mansfield.

"Lincoln's First Inaugural Address"—Walter Jureski.

"Abraham Lincoln Walks at Midnight," Vachel Lindsay—Lucille Fee.

"Anne Rutledge," Masters—Mary Fitzgerald.

"Lincoln's Last Day," Stephen V. Benet—Clarice Culpepper.

"The Master," Robinson—Mads Bradshaw.

"O, Captain! My Captain," Whitman—Clara Wier.

"Lincoln," Markham — Alton Hodges.

Our Presidents—Frank Keiser.

Lincoln's Own Stories—William Davis.

The young gentlemen of our Ag department have a tendency to name their calves after teachers. One young gallant has one named "Winnie" and another "Oudia," called after our renowned English teacher, Miss Stratton. And a young feller calls his "Billy" (after Mr. Grisham), and another form of agriculture (after Mrs. Teel's car).

—Lucille Fee.

The School Poses

Mr. Moffat photographs from San Antonio, came last Friday and took pictures of both high and grammar school. Class pictures for each grade were taken and also the following pictures: Vocational Agriculture class, Boy Scouts, basketball boys, football boys, the pep squad girls and the pep squad leaders. Because the sun was not bright that day, the pictures that were unheard of in the early days. Then top, the competition from foreign countries has made it necessary for the agriculturist of this country to use every means possible to be able to compete with their cheap labor and ranges, of other countries. The fine highways and fast transportation of today have also changed the agricultural picture in many ways.

"So with these many problems facing the farmer and rancher of today, we find it necessary for him to have an education of a different kind than was necessary in the pioneer days, just the same as there needs to be a change in the type of education for the lawyer, the doctor, or any other professional or business man who intends to operate his business on a profitable basis.

"One of the present day methods of helping the farmer and rancher, is the one carried by the Extension Service, in the form of County Agents. It is my purpose to try to tell you a few of the things that the County Agent has tried to do in Bandera county to help out the farmers and ranchers. What is true here in Bandera county, is true in other counties in one way or another. There is no business or profession that has changed more than that of agriculture. These same facts hold true in all of the surrounding counties, but my talk will be based on the facts pertaining to Bandera county, because other County Agents will have to speak in their sections of the country.

"Lack of time will make it necessary for me to touch only upon the most important problems that confront us today in Bandera county. We will try to show you some of the ways in which the agricultural picture has changed, and what we are making it necessary for us to change farming and ranching methods, very rapidly.

"In 1900, Bandera county farmers produced 3660 bales of cotton, in 1934 they produced less than 30 bales. In 1900, they produced some 2000 horses and mules for market, in 1934 they produced for market less than 200 head. Does this mean that our income has fallen off accordingly? Not quite the contrary; our income, per capita, has increased greatly. This is, of course, due to the most complete change in type of agriculture in Bandera county in the last 10 years. Where are the rapid change takes place, there must be a change in the type of education, to meet these needs.

"On the land where cotton was raised a few years ago, we now raise corn, oats and other feed crops. On the range where we formerly raised mules and horses, we now raise cattle, sheep, goats, to supply the demand for better beef cattle and dairy cattle that help supply milk and cultivated and with new farming methods, soil erosion would be forever on the increase, but to avoid this, the County Agent is helping, by teaching the farmers how to conserve the soil by proper crop rotation, proper methods of grazing, by contouring and terracing their land, by planting crops to improve the soil, and by returning fertility to the soil by feeding the crop raised and returning the manure to the soil from which the crop was produced. With the greatly increased number of sheep and goats on our ranges, we have had, among other problems, that of controlling inroads of internal parasites. In this, the County Agent has been our greatest assistant, because through his greater ability to get the latest information on new methods of control, which are constantly being studied by the Extension Service, we have saved many of our animals. Then, of course, we have many other problems with other livestock, on account of increased numbers being produced. We have many other

CUT ANT KILLING DEMONSTRATIONS WELL ATTENDED

To date I have held three cut ant killing demonstrations in this part of the county, and all demonstrations were well attended. A total of 56 farmers and wives attended these three meetings and all expressed their belief that the cut ants were ruining more gardens and orchards than were any other insects.

To those of you who failed to attend these demonstrations, it might be well for you to know that right now, THIS MONTH is the time to be trying to kill out the cut ants. Now there are no eggs and if you will kill out the ants now, you'll have no new infestations from eggs left unharmed in the ground.

See me for any further particulars to killing out cut ants.

SAFETY—OR THIS?

DEATH, in the guise of heavily loaded motor trucks, rides the highways of Texas every day and every night. The toll of human death and injury of these vehicles is appalling.

In the five-year period, 1932 to 1936, inclusive, trucks in Texas have participated in 8,416 highway accidents in which 2,115 persons were killed and 11,962 injured. In 1936 alone, their record stood 2,208 accidents with 3,323 persons injured. 576 of these were killed and 1,635 crippled, as shown by Texas newspapers, compared with the number of deaths resulting from all motor vehicle accidents, as given by the Bureau of Vital Statistics in Austin, which is twice as many, listed accidents as the average passenger car.

Likewise, as might be reasonably expected from their greater weight and size, and as shown by the records of the Texas Railroad Commission, the Carrier-for-Hire truck accidents, during 1936, have resulted; vehicle for vehicle, in three times the number of fatalities as for the average passenger car.

Increased liability to highway accident looms an inseparable result of BIG truck operation. But even now, the threat of greater highway hazards hangs over the people of Texas. Newspapers report that operators of BIG trucks have organized for the purpose of securing an increase in weight and speed limits, already too large. These are the elements, weight and speed, which, in highway accidents, spell "D-E-A-T-H."

The right to grant, condition or deny the use of the highways for profit, belongs to you, the people of Texas, notwithstanding the attempts of the operators of BIG trucks to take it away and give it to the federal government instead. Your government, limiting the size, weight and speed of trucks, were enacted by reason of your views, limiting the size, weight and speed of trucks, were enacted by reason of your interest, and by your insistence they have remained on the statute books. Their repeal, or modification, would serve the sole purpose of increasing the profits of operators of BIG trucks, would serve the sole purpose of increasing the mounting in-

[illegible] and property losses now taking place on your highways. Adequate regulations

Public welfare and public safety must be safeguarded. Regulations which should be retained and enforced.

Mrs. Jane Lewis Graves Died Here

Mrs. Jane Lewis Graves passed away Monday night at her home in this city. The deceased had reached the age of 67 years and had been ill for some time.

"The funeral was held yesterday (Wednesday) morning with burial in the local cemetery with Rev. B. H. Culpepper, pastor of the local Baptist Church, in charge of the services. The following members of the local Boy Scout troop served as pallbearers: John Langford Jr., Delbert Knibbe, David Hogan, David Candler, C. E. Wyatt and Wilbe Wiemers.

Mrs. Graves was born in Devine about the year 1870. She was married to John Graves at Targley, where they lived about two years and then moved to Bandera and engaged in the freighting business.

She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Vincent Adler of Fort Worth, Calif., and two sons, Clarence and Martin, whose present whereabouts are unknown.

We extend sympathy to the bereaved ones.

GIRL, BECOMING HOMESICK, WALKS 12 MILES AT NIGHT

While Maxine Risinger, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Risinger, was spending the week-end with her classmate, Margaret Hughes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Evans of East Verde, she became homesick Friday night and decided to walk home. Not wishing to disturb the sleeping family, she started walking home. When the Risinger family discovered she was gone about midnight, they immediately called her parents who hurried out to help search for her. When she was not immediately found, about 35 others were called in by Sheriff Albert Faris. At about 5 a. m., Hubert Risinger came to town to get a fresh supply of flashlight batteries and went back to the home, and found she had just shortly before come home and had not realized that her parents were searching for her. The others were then notified that the girl had walked from the Evans home to the home of her parents, a distance of about 12 miles.

Mr. and Mrs. Risinger deeply appreciate the assistance of all who helped in any way.

SPEARS OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Senator J. Franklin Spears of this district, who spoke against the child labor amendment, announced Saturday.

"The amendment is due to come before the State Senate this week. It had repeatedly been voted down by the House.

Spears declared he would oppose the measure "because the child labor law now in force is sufficient and are being enforced; because it would give too much power to federal bureaucrats here; because I am a state's right man."

Mrs. O. L. Adams Died Saturday

It is with the greatest of sorrow that we are called upon to chronicle the death of one of Bandera county's finest, popular ladies, Mrs. O. L. Adams, which occurred at her home at Medina Saturday night at 10:20 o'clock. She had been suffering with pneumonia only since Feb. 17th, and late in the afternoon Saturday, the reporter asked one of her children how she was and was told she was getting along nicely and well, and in only a few short hours the Death Angel visited at her home.

Mrs. Adams was born and reared near Medina and grew to womanhood in our midst, and was a woman of whom too much call not be said in her behalf as a perfect young lady. As she grew to womanhood, her daily work was to be admired by those who came in contact with her. Her maiden name was Miss Ola Irvin, and she was married to O. L. Adams on Dec. 23, 1908, being 39 years and one month. To this union were born 15 children, 10 of whom are dead. The living children are as follows: Cliff, Ewing, Ben, Russell, John, Kathleen and Jane Adams, Mrs. W. O. Hatfield, all of Medina; Mrs. A. L. Freeman, Olmos Park, and Mrs. Grover Wilson, Antonio. All were present at the funeral to pay their last sad respects to a loved one. Medina Cemetery. After services by the church, the Eastern Star, of which she had been a faithful member for several years, took charge and she was buried with the O. E. S. ceremony.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones.

ROOSEVELT RECOMMENDS CROP INSURANCE LAW

Washington, Feb. 19.—President Roosevelt recommended today that Congress today adoption of a system of crop insurance to provide the farmer with a buffer against disastrous crop failure.

He said such insurance, coupled with a system of storage, conserved for crop surpluses in good years, would assist in providing a more even flow of farm supplies to consumers and in preventing disastrous stabilizing farm buying power and contributing to the security of business and employment.

"A program of crop insurance and storage of reserves," he said, "should be part of the broad policy of agricultural policy which we are building and which must include the conservation of soil and water, better land use, increased farm income and alleviation of the distress arising out of conditions of factors beyond the control of individual producers."

The President sent to Congress with his message a report of his special committee of government experts which planned the insurance program.

Under the program the insured farmer would be protected against such natural hazards as drouths, grasshoppers and hail.

The farmer would be protected up to 75 per cent of his normal yield.

The President recommended that crop insurance be extended to wheat for the crop year 1938. He said he believed legislation should authorize similar insurance for other commodities when it is established that producers desire them and applications for them justify. He has provided a back log of experience in applying the principles of crop insurance.

When the Evans family discovered she was gone about midnight, they immediately called her parents who hurried out to help search for her. When she was not immediately found, about 35 others were called to help in the search. At about 5 a. m. Hubert Risinger came to town to get a fresh supply of flashlight batteries and went by the home, and found she had just arrived safely at her home. Mrs. Risinger says she appreciates the assistance of all who helped in any way.

SPEARS OPPOSED TO CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Senator J. Franklin Spears of this district, will vote against the child labor amendment, he announced Saturday.

The amendment is due to come before the State Senate this week. It had repeatedly been voted down by that body.

Spears declared he would oppose the measure because the child labor laws of Texas are sufficient and are being enforced; because it would give too much power to the federal congress; because I am a state's right man."

Mrs. O. L. Adams Died Saturday

It is with the greatest of sorrow that we are called upon to chronicle the death of one of Bandera county's most popular ladies, Mrs. O. L. Adams, which occurred at her home at Medina Saturday night at 10:20 o'clock. She had been suffering with pneumonia only since Feb. 17th, and late in the afternoon Saturday the reporter asked one of her children how she was and was told she was doing seemingly real well, and in only a few short hours the Death Angel called at her home.

Mrs. Adams was born and reared near Medina and grew to womanhood in our midst, and was a woman of whom too much can not be said in her behalf as a perfect young lady. As she grew to womanhood her daily work was to be admired by those who came in contact with her. Her maiden name was Miss Ola Irvin, and she was married to O. L. Adams on Dec. 23, 1903, being 19 years of wedded life. To this union were born 15 children, two of whom are dead. The living children are as follows: Cuff, Ewing, Ben, Russell, John, Kathleen and June Adams, Mrs. W. O. Hatfield, all of Medina; Mrs. A. L. Freeman, Olan, Aylor, Floyd and Gus of, San Antonio. All were present at the funeral to pay their last sad respects to their dear mother, one who has ever lived a life to be dearly remembered and a pattern for them to follow.

Mrs. Adams was sick only a short time, becoming ill with pneumonia Wednesday of last week, followed by a heart attack which caused her sudden death.

She was a member of the Latter Day Saints Church. Prof. C. F. Wheeler conducted funeral services, assisted by Elder D. B. Palmer, the funeral being held from the family home Sunday at 4 p. m. with burial in the Medina Cemetery. After services by the church, the Eastern Star, of which she had been a faithful member for several years took charge and she was buried with the O. E. S. ceremony.

We extend our sympathy to the bereaved ones.

ROOSEVELT RECOMMENDS CROP INSURANCE LAW

Washington, Feb. 18.—President Roosevelt recommended to Congress today adoption of a system of crop insurance to provide the farmer with a buffer against disastrous crop failure.

In such crop insurance, coupled with a system of storage reserves for crop surpluses in good years, would assure providing a more nearly even flow of farm supplies, thus stabilizing farm buying power and contributing to the security of business and employment.

"A program of crop insurance and storage of surpluses," he said, "should be part of the foundation of agricultural policy which we should build and which must include the conservation of soil and water, better land use, increased farm income, and alleviation of distress in rural areas arising out of factors beyond the control of individual producers."

The President sent to Congress with his message a report of his special committee of government officials which planned the insurance programs.

Under the program the insured farm would be protected against such natural hazards as drouths, grasshoppers and hail.

The farmer would be protected up to 75 per cent of his normal yield.

The President recommended that crop insurance be extended to wheat for the crop year 1938. He said he believed legislation should authorize similar programs to other commodities when it is established that producers desire them and application of the plan to wheat has provided a back log of experience in applying the principles of crop insurance.

Maybe No Difference?

"A story comes to us from one of our friends in the country. We cannot vouch for its accuracy, but it is good enough to repeat anyway.

"It seems that the chairman of school board visited one of the schools. One of the pupils was being instructed, possibly a little forcefully, on the use of commas. The board president couldn't resist a comment and observed: 'Commas don't made much difference anyway.'

"Whereupon the teacher instructed her pupil to write on the board: 'The President of the School Boards says the teacher is misinformed.'

"Now," she added, 'place a comma after the word board and teacher.'"

STATES HAVE OPPORTUNITY TO SHOW WARES IN HUGE BUILDING AT NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK, (Special)—Included in the limited edition book of unusual size and beauty which the New York World's Fair 1939 Incorporated has sent to state governors and, through diplomatic channels, to foreign governments, is the following text devoted to—

The Sovereign States of the Federal Union

George Washington, in declaring that the public felicity and prosperity of America depended upon the firm union and the unceasing cooperation of the sovereign American States, divined the future. The prosperity and the greatness of these United States have arisen from the free and unimpeded circulation of ideas and products in the world's greatest consumer market.

The Fair gives to each State the appropriate setting and opportunity to announce to the world its unique and indispensable contribution to America's rich and colorful civilization. The Fair contemplates a Hall of the States, in the imposing Government group and flanking the structure which of the Fair looks to the United States to build, to house the exhibits of the forty-eight States, and the Territories. Those wishing to participate more extensively will, in addition to their exhibits in the Hall of States, either erect their own buildings or obtain space to display their products and attractions in one or more of the exhibit zones.

The State of New York has naturally taken the leadership in the participation of the sovereign States of the Federal Union. Its total appropriations for Fair purposes may exceed $5,000,000, and the New York State World's Fair Commission, appointed by the Governor, has been active for some time. Other States already are beginning to express enthusiastic interest in participating more extensively than at previous world's fairs.

The many visitors will find a fresh cause for pride and enthusiasm in the revealing exhibits of their respective States. But beyond this, the exhibits will enable the States to make a persuasive presentation to all visitors of what they have to offer to the commerce and to the tourist.

Mrs. J. W. Short Died Thursday

Mrs. J. W. Short passed away at her home near Bandera at 11:30 o'clock last Thursday morning, after an illness of several months' duration, during which time she had undergone two major operations in an effort to save her life.

Funeral services were conducted in the family home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. O. H. Moreland, pastor of the Methodist Church, and interment was made in the Bandera cemetery in the presence of a vast concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, many of whom came from distant places to pay tribute of respect to the memory of their departed friend. The floral offerings, testimonials of love and esteem, were profuse, and came from hundreds of friends here at Bandera and over the State. The pallbearers were W. R. Pletcher, Billy Burns, I. E. Adamietz, Chas. Hunter Jr., Ed Mansfield and Frank M. Montague.

In the passing of this splendid woman, Bandera suffers a distinct loss—a loss that can never be overcome, for for more than forty years she had been identified with the social and civic life of this community, and wielded an influence for good throughout the years she lived among us—an influence that will be felt for years to come.

Despite the fact that she suffered untold pain from the time she underwent a first operation more than two years ago, she remained cheerful, bearing her suffering bravely, and when it became known a few months ago, when she underwent a second operation, that her days were numbered, and that her illness would soon terminate in death, she remained cheerful and smiling, so much so that it gave her family and friends hope that she might get well, and she spared to us for many years to come. In spite of her weakened condition, and her great mental suffering, she would not yield to despondency, and until just a few days before the death she was up and about. Her devoted husband was constantly by her side, doing all that he humanly possible to aid her, and tender hands ministered to her every need. Her children attended her bedside and when the sunbeams came she closed her eyes forever and left unspeakable grief without a struggle. She had given minute instructions as to her burial, and her children and even the pallbearers and every wish was carried out as directed.

Mrs. Margaret Marion Short, was born in Kentucky, Logan County, Kentucky, August 25, 1868, and grew to womanhood there. She is a relative of Henry Clay, the American statesman and orator, and her family was distinguished in the Revolutionary and Civil War of patriotism and statesmanship from the Revolutionary period. She was married to Mr. Short, 1893, to Joe W. Short, at Henderson, Kentucky, and came to Bandera with her husband in 1895, and resided here until her death. Besides the husband, she is survived by four sons, Mack Short of Fort Worth; Atlanta, Ga., Joe Short Jr., Leslie E. Short of Bandera, and Mrs. Lucy Short of Omina; four grandchildren, Margaret Short, Leslie Bill Short, Joe Marion Short, Bandera, and Virginia Short of Atlanta, Ga.; four brothers and two sisters, Mrs. Lucy Ann Bell, Ada Clay, Mrs. Herbert Hobbes, of Henderson, Kentucky, S. E. Clay, Virgil Clay, Lexington, Ky., Mrs. H. J. Clay of Washington, D. C. One of the sisters, Mrs. Hobbes, was present at the funeral.

When she came to Bandera she and her husband went to housekeeping in a little rented cabin of town known as the Peach Tree ranch, where they lived for many years. Later they built a home and lived there for many years, where Mr. Short built a large two-story house and conducted a boarding house. Her husband, who is one of the prominent cattlemen of the section; is also president of the First State Bank of Bandera, and owns valuable Peach property in several thousand acres in the upper part of the county. The Peach Tree ranch, somewhat enlarged from their original holdings, is still owned by Mr. Short. In be-

STYLE SHOW GIVEN AT MEDINA SCHOOL

The girls of the Home Economics classes at Medina High School held a display in the H. E. room Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 24. Their cotton school dresses and some of their other garments made in class and as home projects during the first half of the school year were shown.

The dresses made by the high school girls were judged in the afternoon without being modeled. They were judged on workmanship, quality of materials, attractiveness of design and color combinations. The seventh grade girls modeled their dresses in the H. E. auditorium Wednesday afternoon before a large audience. Five ribbons were awarded to the girls whose dresses were adjudged to be the most attractive on the wearers. The girls receiving the ribbons were: 1st place, Ruby Click; 2nd place, Doris Phillips; 3rd place, Pauline Jackson; 4th place, Marianna Silinsky; 5th place, Lola Yerie Pue.

Mrs. J. W. Short Died Thursday

Mrs. J. W. Short passed away at her home near Bandera at 1:30 o'clock last Thursday morning, after an illness of several months' duration, during which time she had undergone two major operations in an effort to save her life.

Funeral services were conducted in the family home Saturday morning at 10 o'clock by Rev. O. E. Moreland, pastor of the Methodist Church, and interment was made in the Bandera cemetery. In the presence of a vast concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, many of whom came from distant places to pay tribute of respect to the memory of their departed friend. The floral offerings, silent testimonials of love and esteem, were profuse, and came from hundreds of friends in Bandera and over the State. The pallbearers were W. R. Fletcher, Billy Burns, I. E. Adamietz, Chas. Eckhart, Ed Mansfield and Frank M. Montague.

In the passing of this splendid woman, Bandera suffers a distinct loss—a loss that can never be overcome, for for more than forty years she had been identified with the social and civic life of this community, and wielded an influence for good throughout the years that will be felt for years to come.

Despite the fact that she suffered untold pain from the time she underwent a serious operation more than two years ago, she remained cheerful, bearing her suffering heroically, and when it became known a few months ago, when she underwent a second operation, that her days were numbered, and that her illness would soon terminate in death, she remained cheerful and resigned as much so that it gave her family and friends hope that she might get well and be spared to us for many years to come. In spite of her serious condition and her constant suffering, she would not yield to despondency, and until just a few days before death she was up and about. Her devoted husband was constantly by her side, and all that was humanly possible to aid her, and tender hands ministered to her every want. When it became apparent that the time for her departure was near at hand her children were summoned, and all were with her when she passed away, cheerful and smiling. She talked to all of those who surrounded her bedside, and when the summons came she closed her eyes and went to sleep peacefully and without a struggle. She had given minute instructions as to her funeral, her shroud, and named the pallbearers, and every wish was carried out as directed.

Mrs. Margaret Marston Short, nee Culp, was born at Henderson, Kentucky, August 25, 1868, and grew to womanhood there. She was a relative of Henry Clay, the American statesman and orator, and her family was distinguished in Kentucky and Virginia for aristocratism and statesmanship from the Revolutionary period. She was Mrs. Short December 25, 1889, to Mr. Short, at Henderson, Kentucky, and came to Bandera, with her husband in 1890, and resided here until her death. Besides her husband she is survived by four sons, Major James Clay Short of Atlanta, Ga., Joe Short Jr., Leslie Bill Short, Joe Hunter Short of Bandera, and Virginia Short of Atlanta, Ga.; four brothers and two sisters, R. E. Clay; L. E. Clay, Add Clay, Mrs. Herbert Holmes, of Henderson, Kentucky, S. E. Clay of Danville, Kentucky, and Mrs. H. J. Clay of Washington, D. C. One of the sisters, Mrs. Herbert Holmes, came from Henderson, Ky., to attend the funeral.

When she came to Bandera she and her husband went to housekeeping on a little ranch south of town known as the Peach Tree ranch, where they lived for many years, then later acquired holdings nearer town where they built a large two-story house and made it a permanent home. Her husband, who is one of the prominent cattlemen of this section is also president of the First State Bank of Bandera, and owns valuable ranch property in several thousand acres in the upper part of the county. The Peach Tree ranch, somewhat enlarged from their original holdings, is still owned by Mr. Short. In her

George Fee and daughter Beatrice, narrowly escaped death Tuesday morning. They were hauling water from Winans Creek near their home, when the car rolled off a 12-foot bank into the creek and pinned them under the car. ### A GIANT OF DESTRUCTION

Every day, somewhere, newspapers carry headlines of disasters, such as these: Exploding Kerosene Stove Wipes Out Family; Man Killed Pouring Oil on Fire; Smoker Dies in Gasoline Explosion.

Apparently the common use of petroleum products in motor cars and stoves has killed people into a false sense of security while using these fluids. To has caused them to become careless. The record indicates that a warning must be given if lives and property are to be spared.

Here are recommendations of the National Board of Fire Underwriters:

Don't attempt to start fires in stoves or furnaces with gasoline or kerosene.

When using a kerosene or gasoline stove, always follow directions of the manufacturer. Keep the stove clean, extinguish flame after use and allow to cool before filling. Store the supply can outside the house.

Don't smoke while filling the stove.

In order to be sure your stove is safe, buy only those listed as "standard" by the Underwriters' Laboratories.

Petroleum, properly handled, is one of man's most useful servants. Improperly handled, it can become a giant of destruction. Remember that—it may save your life.

PHYSICAL TRAINING VALUABLE

Great learning and even talents or literary genius are of little value to man if won at the price of ill health. The boy or girl who takes full advantage of our opportunities for education and accumulates a vast store of knowledge, is neither able to enjoy life nor utilize effectively to the advancement of mankind if hampered by physical weakness or infirmity. Success, with the exception of rare and unusual talents, belongs to the person of robust health.

Those facts emphasize the importance of physical education and athletics in our school system. Physical training and athletics are the great majority of school students' delight and regular and healthful building exercise, and competitive athletics which add so much to pleasure and health are the joy of living certainly have a definite place in modern education.

In Bandera days athletic training was not of such importance. When boys and girls worked in the fields and woods, when life was lived in the open, competitive sports were not essential. But now when the boys and girls of our citizens are compelled by force of circumstance to do most of their work under roofs, in front of steam. This steam is admitted through large pipes which are protected until its temperature is very high. This dry steam runs through pipes which lead to two large steam turbines and when the steam comes in contact with the turbines they begin to turn. To the to the tank where it begins its journey over again. By this complete circuit very little water is wasted and only about one percent of the total is lost in the pipes which carry the water and steam supply are very large. Each pipe has about six or eight inches of insulation. The furnace by which it is heated is about 40 feet by 20 feet and about 30 feet high. The flames are so clear that one can see through them, but in order to have proper ventilation and to avoid disturbance they must be in this condition. There are two floor of the building. Well—I never saw so many pipes before in all my life! He gave us permission to look and examine them as much as we pleased but warned us not to touch any of the switches on the walls—well—I looked, and one minute I was hung on a pipe the size of a pin and the next my head flipped in one as big as a barrel! The organ was complete control over the entire power plant and when the machinery is not in complete order it can be located by one of these indicators. When this power plant was first built coal was used and over one third of the equipment which still stands was used in preparing the coal before it entered the furnace. Gas, which is piped from San Antonio, is used now and better results are found in the plant.

First Trip To The Capitol
Earnest Mazurek

We drove up to the Capitol which didn't look very high but we found out different when we climbed to the top. On entering the Capitol we saw in the middle of the floor a large star of various colors which was very beautiful. We climbed a flight of stairs and went to the House of Representatives, where we listened awhile. From there we went to the senate chamber and listened to a very interesting discussion by the members of the senate. Then we started climbing, and boy oh boy how we did climb round and round. We didn't count the steps but I assure you there were plenty. When we were at the top Mr. Briggs pointed out various places we were to visit. Coming down one had a great thrill, or shall I say a peculiar sensation, when we looked over the banister down to the street floor and saw how small the people were.

OUR LUNCH
Albric Patterson

We went to Barton Springs for lunch. We had ham, cheese, lettuce and mayonnaise sandwiches with coffee and dill pickles. We finished with cookies, oranges and a jar of that good Barton Spring water.

The girls seemed to have quite a bit of fun being swung by the boys while waiting for dinner. They kept it up for about an hour like a bunch of youngsters.

We found it some task to carry a jar full of water up the hill again, so we took a piece of cardboard out of the lid that came on the pickles, and after filling the jar with water, we put the card board on top and inverted the jar and didn't spill a bit on the way. We all enjoyed our lunch very much.

The Physics Department
Dorothy Anderwald

Probably one of the most interesting sights on our trip to Austin was our visit to the Physics Department at the University of Texas. As we stepped into this Department a gallant-youth offered his whole self to us and took us through the entire building. He first led us to the main Physics room and our eyes beheld, a room filled with electrical switches, button and every other kind of electrical devices. As we crowded into the room we saw that a chart at the front of the room was built to the top as in a theater. He explained to us that they were fixed that way for picture shows they enjoyed once in a while. As he talked he pressed a button, and Lo! and Behold! black shades began to slowly drop over the windows and the room became completely dark. From the ceiling hung a spring for studying sound waves. On this spring were pieces of cotton that showed us the position of nodes; it also showed the condensations and refraction of a wave. There was also a string of rods with small balls on each end. These balls tended to form a rotary wave when we twisted the string. We could see the waves go up to the top and down again with equal vibration.

We then entered the room where the electric organ stood. The organ has five playing key rows and all kinds of button-like switches on it. When one particular button was pressed a loud windy noise was heard, and the greater part of us wondered just what was going to happen next. He explained that the noise we heard was the wind that went through the pipes of the organ. He told us that we had not seen anything . . . and led us up to the next large turbines and at each one there is a raised indicator dial which indicates the percentage of gas, air, and moisture entering the furnace where the steam is generated. In the general control room there are, many switches, dials and different indicators which are connected with the engines and power lines. One employee has complete control over the entire power plant and when the machinery is not in complete order it can be located by one of these indicators. When this power plant was first built coal was used and over one third of the equipment which still stands was used in preparing the coal before it entered the furnace. Gas, which is piped from San Antonio, is used now and better results are found in the plant.

TRIP TO NEW BRAUNFELS

Jessie Mae Preston

At last! The seniors did make their trip to Austin. I suppose you people who live within a number of blocks of the school house know something about that. We didn't intend to wake anyone, however, we were merely excited over our last trip and were going to make it memorable. Nineteen of us, including Mr. and Mrs. Chipman, left Bandera Friday morning at 7:30 o'clock in three cars. A good ride? I should say so—except for the fog. The fog was dense all the way to Kerrville, a long ride, but wow! the first thing we knew Mr. Briggs had led us around a detour through Comfort and ran face to face with a jumpy herd of jack rabbits. Bandera to San Antonio. We managed to get through San Antonio before daylight at any rate, and at 7:30 we drove into New Braunfels where we really saw sights.

"Our Source of Electricity"

We arrived at New Braunfels about 7:25 O'clock and drove directly to the Central Power and Light Company. This building is built on the banks of the Guadalupe River where the water supply is obtained. The water is piped to a large tank and then admitted to the boilers. Here the water is heated until it is changed to steam. This steam is admitted through large pipes which are protected until its temperature is very high. This dry steam runs through pipes which lead to two large steam turbines and when the steam comes in contact with the turbines they begin to turn. ### REILLY GUBERNATORIAL CANDIDATE OF LABOR

Dallas, Feb. 25.—Texas labor, irked at the senate's refusal to confirm Wallace Reilly as a member of the unemployment compensation commission, today had announced his candidacy for governor in 1938.

Charging the failure to confirm Reilly's appointment and "a direct slap at labor," P. D. Jackson, president of the Dallas Central Labor Council, said it decided after a state-wide labor meet in Austin yesterday to place an all-labor ticket in the field.

Labor's candidate, Jackson said, will have a war chest of $700,000. He obtained at the rate of a dollar from each union man in the state.

TARPLEY

Tarpley continues to progress. Last week George Genea completed a concrete floor in the front portion of his garage. It is just the beginning, Mr. Genea says.

The portion floored is that used for an office and storeroom at the front of the shop. Later Mr. Genea intends to pave his workshop at the rear and will then expect to pave the front of his place around his gasoline pumps, bringing the station up to modern standards.

The Tarpley community is becoming considerably irritated over the condition of the roads in the neighborhood. Badly cut up during the wet weather in January, they have not been touched since and are exceedingly rough. Clay was dumped into several mudholes and left without being smoothed out, and now has added to the roughness of the road.

Tarpley is beginning to think it has been abandoned when it comes to working its roads.

SENATE PASSES JUSTICE RETIREMENT BILL

Washington, Feb. 26.—With administration leaders hoping it will solve the Supreme Court issue, the Senate this afternoon passed the House bill authorizing Fred Moore, New Jersey Democrats; Bridges of New Jersey and Johnson of California, Republicans.

It passed the Senate after a brief but sharp debate, in which Sen. Hiram W. Johnson, Republican, of California, and Sen. Edward R. Burke, Democrat, of Nebraska, publicly declared they would have no respect for any justice taking advantage of it so long as the President sought to enlarge the members of the court. Senator Robinson, Democrat, Arkansas, indignantly denounced their attitude.

NAVY SPY GIVEN 4 to 12 YEARS

Washington, Feb. 26.—Years in prison stretched tonight before John B. Farnsworth, former American naval officer charged with delivering fleet secrets to the Japanese.

As a warning to others who might be tempted "to sell out their country," Justice James M. Proctor fixed his sentence today at from four to a dozen years.

Had the crime occurred in wartime, the justice said, death would have been the penalty.

Farnsworth, grey haired and broken at 43, listened listlessly as the court denounced him for communicating naval secrets to two Japanese naval attaches formerly stationed in Washington.

"Through deception, stealth, thievery and imposition, on your friends in the naval service," he heard the justice declare, "you succeeded in obtaining confidential information and delivering it to those emissaries for money."

"This was such a plot as is abhorrent to every good citizen."

Farnsworth previously had thrown himself upon the mercy of the court, his attorney announcing he would not contest but likewise would not dispute the charge. He tried vainly later to change his plea to "innocent."

Miss Nig North, Mrs. Elsie Nolte and Ward Stuhlefield of San Antonio, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. W. North and Mrs. M. E. Faris Sunday.

PENSION APPLICATIONS TO BE CLEARED SOON

On April 1, the office will have finally disposed of 212,000 cases. Little said deliberalization recommendations offered by the Legislature last fall, took 16,000 off the rolls.

February checks were mailed 101,073.

DRIVERS' LICENSE MEASURE GRAYED BY TEXAS HOUSE

Austin, Feb. 26.—The Texas house today finally passed the drivers' license bill and sent it to the senate.

The only amendment adopted was one by Albert Weiser of Vernon in which licenses could be issued by county tax assessors at the discretion of the public safety commission.

The bill as written proposed that only patrolmen issue licenses.

Final vote was by a sufficient majority to make it immediately effective if approved by the same vote in the senate. The bill provides for examination of drivers and otherwise tightens up on the present law.

TRUCK LEGISLATION

Austin, Mar. 3.— When the Texas Legislature which goes into the statute books the present laws for the regulation of the "lusty" trucking industry, they took a step comparable to making a drastic reduction in the state tax rate, in the opinion of Dr. J. C. Dolley, professor of banking at the University of Texas, and one of the most widely recognized economists in the Southwest.

"In enacting the present truck regulatory laws," Dr. Dolley explained, "the Legislature very wisely took into consideration the more or less frail nature of much of our highway system and placed limitations upon the size and weight of vehicles permitted to operate upon them in order to prevent dissipation of their life expectancy and to keep at a minimum the cost of maintaining them in a usable and satisfactory state.

"It does not require an engineer to understand that abuse of the highways by heavier equipment than is now used would send maintenance costs skyrocketing, and the cost to the taxpayer skyrocketing in proportion. Common sense will inform him that the weight of the tax burden that already is stooping the shoulders of "Old Man Texas" will grow heavier as the vehicles upon our roads grow heavier."

Dr. Dolley, who is known well in money circles of the United States through his frequent contributions to financial journals, and to the Texas banking fraternity through his work at the University and his many appearances at banks, banker meetings, etc., as an authority upon the varied phases of the present complex economic problem, recently spent some time in making a study of truck regulatory laws from the standpoint of their effect upon state finances.

"I would regard any attempt to modify the present truck laws of Texas, so as to permit the operation of larger and heavier equipment," he said, "as definitely undesirable from at least three different viewpoints.

"In the first place, the operation of heavy motor vehicles involves the rapid, premature wear of our hard surface mileage as measured and where summer temperatures are very nearly high. The extra tax monies derived by the proposed increases and fees imposed on the heavier equipment would be far more than offset by increased highway maintenance expenditures and the shortened life of the roads now built.

"In the second place, heavier and bulkier trucks and buses would materially increase the already high traffic hazard. The present buses and trucks operating at fairly high speeds are now quite difficult for the average motorist to pass. Especially is this the case where trucks are pulling trailers and where the highways are only of moderate width. Still wider vehicles would inevitably increase this difficulty; that is, unless the state goes to the expense of widening the roads for specific benefit. It seems a foregone conclusion that more traffic crashes will accompanying fatalities would result.

"In the third place, permission to operate larger freight and passenger motor vehicles would increase the unfair competition which the railroads of the state are now facing from these carriers. The railways have been compelled to construct their own roadbeds at enormous cost. Trucks and buses use highways built and maintained by public taxes, thus avoiding a heavy capital investment and burdensome overhead expenses. To increase yet further this tremendous advantage is to penalize the railroads still more heavily. Not only will this situation work to their disadvantage, but also to the disadvantage of the people of Texas, for the railroads still are, and for many years will continue to be, our most important common carrier."

Among the visitors in Frontier Times Museum last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Schmidt and son Chesten, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schwerer of Hondo.

Christian struggle to obtain a foothold and to meet life's vexatious problems she was always an inspiration and "true helpmeet." And in rearing her family of many sons she was all that a mother could be. Her happy, cheerful disposition and lofty sentiments made the homelife ideal, and her Christian virtues were instilled into the lives of her children. She was a member of the Presbyterian Church, but a few years ago placed her membership in the Bandera Methodist Church. That gentle hand that rocked the cradle also guided her sons to manhood, and will continue to guide them through the journey of life. The grief that has descended upon the family is shared by everyone in Bandera, for her friends were legion and to know her was to love her. May God in His mercy comfort the bereaved ones.

A FRIEND.

TRUCK LEGISLATION

Austin, Mar. 2.—When the Texas Legislature placed upon the statute, books the present laws for the regulation of the hauling trucking industry they took unsparable tramping a drastic reduction in the state tax rate, in the opinion of Dr. J. C. Dolley, professor of banking at the University of Texas, and one of the most widely recognized economists in the Southwest.

"In enacting the present truck regulatory laws," Dr. Dolley explained, "the Legislature very wisely took into consideration the more or less frail nature of much of our highway system and placed limitations upon the size and weight of vehicles permitted to operate upon them in order to prevent dissipation of their life expectancy and to keep at a minimum the cost of maintaining them in a usable and satisfactory state.

"It does not require an engineer to understand that abuse of the highways by heavier equipment than is now used would send maintenance costs skyrocketing, raise the cost to the taxpayer skyrocketing in proportion. Common sense will inform us that the weight of the tax burden that already is stooping the shoulders of 'Old Man Texas' would grow heavier as the vehicles upon our roads grow heavier."

Dr. Dolley, who is known well in money circles of the nation through his frequent contributions to financial journals, and to the Texas banking fraternity through his work at the University and his many appearances at state banker meetings, as an authority upon the varied phases of the present complex economic structure, said that some time in making a study of truck regulatory laws from the standpoint of their effect upon state finances.

"I would regard any attempt to modify the present highway laws of Texas, so as to permit the operation of larger and heavier trucks than are now legal, would be far more than offset by increased highway maintenance expenditures and the shortened life of the roads now built.

"In the second place, heavier and fatter trucks and busses would materially increase the already high traffic hazard. The present buses and trucks operating at fairly high speeds are now quite difficult for the average motorist to handle. Especially is this the case where trucks are pulling trailers and where the highways are only of moderate width. Still larger vehicles would inevitably increase this difficulty that is, unless the state goes to the expense of widening the roads for specific benefit. It seems a foregone conclusion that more traffic crashes with accompanying fatalities would result.

"In the third place, permission to operate larger freight and passenger motor vehicles would increase the unfair competition between the railroads of the state are now facing from these carriers. The railways have been compelled to construct their own roadbeds at enormous cost. Trucks and busses use highways built and maintained by the public, thus avoiding a heavy capital investment and burdensome overhead expenses. To increase yet further this tremendous advantage is to penalize the railroads still more heavily. This only will aggravate a situation bad enough, but also to the disadvantage of the people of Texas, for the railroads still are, and for many years will continue to be, our most important common carrier."

Among the visitors in Frontier Times Museum last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Schmidt and son Chester, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schwers of Hondo.

Bandera's New P. M. Assumes Duties

MRS. RUTH ROOME

Mrs. Ruth Roome, who was appointed as postmaster by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, assumed office last Monday, March 8th. Her appointment was confirmed by the Senate on February 25, 1937. She was the first Democratic appointee for the Bandera Postoffice since Mrs. W. E. Rugg who served just before Fred Mansfield.

Mrs. Roome, a native of Tyler, has been formerly of Ft. Pass. She been a resident of Bandera for more than ten years, and has always been interested in the upbuilding and advancement of Bandera.

Fred Mansfield, outgoing postmaster, was first appointed by President Calvin Coolidge and took office on Sept. 1, 1926. He served under Presidents Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt and for ten and a half years he has given Bandera good and faithful service. Postal receipts more than doubled during his administration.

Miss Elsie Adamietz has been appointed as assistant and we feel sure that we can expect good service from the new administration.

SENATE VOTES 20 TO 8 FOR HOUSE RACE REPEAL

Austin, March 4. — The Texas Senate today passed a bill containing an amendment which would repeal the state law authorizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing.

The vote to engross was 20 to 8, but prospects of defeat obtained a four-fifths majority to place the measure on final consideration.

The House has passed measures previously had passed by a big majority an outright repeal measure.

Because of the large majority for engrossment and the fact the House passed the repeal bill 107 to 24, the action was considered by some as conclusive. The bill likely will come up for final passage next Wednesday, and if passed will go back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments.

Unless senate proponents should muster the one to lose federal repeal would not become effective until 90 days after the present session adjourns. If they should be able to master 21 vote in the senate and 100 votes again in the house, the betting would be outlawed June 1.

The coup by proponents of repeal was one of the most unusual in the legislature in recent years. They substituted their proposal for a non-controversial bill, which to require a certain percentage of race track employes to be Texans of the state's repeal bill still was in committee.

Senator H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur temporarily in the chair, ruled the amendment was germane. That was the repeal advocates' first and most important victory and thereafter they never ... defeated.

Senators voting against the bill were: Rawlings of Fort Worth, Houghton Brownlee of Austin, T. J. Holbrook of Cleburne, Morris Roberts of Petrus, Albert Stone of Brenham, R. A. Weinert of Seguin, and H. J. Winfield of Port Stockton. J. Franklin Spears of San Antonio, C. C. Small of Fort Worth and Dr. W. T. Davis of Brownwood were absent.

Rawlings tried unsuccessfully to have a local option at least a contested question. His amendment was defeated, 18 to 9.

FDR Calls Court Super-Legislature

Washington, March 9. — Here are some sentences from President Roosevelt's address tonight on the Supreme Court:

The court has improperly set itself up as a third house of Congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the Constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there.

We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the Constitution from the court and the court from itself.

We must have judges who will bring to the courts a present-day sense of the Constitution—judges who will retain in the courts the judicial functions of a court, and reject the legislative power which the courts have today assumed.

This plan will save our Constitution from hardening of the judicial arteries.

If by that phrase "packing the court" it is charged that I wish to place on the bench spineless puppets, I make this answer—that no President fit for his office would appoint, and no Senate would confirm, that kind of appointee to the Supreme Court.

Our difficulty with the court today does not grow out of any lack of an institution but from the human beings within it.

We cannot rely on an amendment as the immediate or only answer to our present difficulties.

DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY FUNDS DISASTROUS

In a letter from Ike Ashburn, manager of the Texas Good roads Association he says:

There is pending in the legislature H. B. 367 proposing to divert $4,180,000 from the state highway fund to a county lateral road fund for distribution to counties on the basis of population. This amount, transferred over 254 counties would have an extremely bad effect on state highway construction and maintenance, now being carried out on a minimum financial basis.

The effect of this bill is shown by the attached statement. It is obvious that it would disrupt the program of completing the state's system of highways by making it necessary to curtail maintenance operations or by reducing funds available for lateral road aid. There also is a strong probability that the federal government would withdraw support of such a bill as diversion and impose the losses a penalty of loss of a portion of its federal aid under terms of the Hayden-Cartwright law.

Curtailment of maintenance operations is highly undesirable. The system has grown rapidly in the past years until maintenance as low as they can be pushed consistent with good business and traffic safety. To lose federal aid, either through inability to match federal aid or because of penalties, would be a severe blow, especially at this time when every effort is being extended to complete the highway system and provide profitable labor for Texas workers. The "matching of federal aid cannot be delayed and federal funds not placed under contract by the end of the fiscal year will be apportioned among other states.

Yoga will observe Texas Day, as attached statement that the highway fund will be cut a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 by next February if this bill is passed and the deficiency would grow if the proposed diversion annually.

The need for improvement of lateral road systems unquestionably, but the necessity for the above mentioned diet aside, from other angles this bill is ill-advised by an extra federal appropriation which, when matched by state funds, would mean a total road program of $8,183,084 for each of the next two years. However, unless the highway fund is left intact, the state will not have special lateral road appropriation, match the regular federal aid, and carry on ordinary maintenance.

Inability to match the full amount of federal aid available in the next two years would mean that many vital projects from in your county or trade area would be canceled, denying you roads that are needed, depriving labor in your community the opportunity for employment and your county itself, an important item since 90 per cent of every highway dollar

Texas Legislature Passes Bill Regulating Truck Traffic

TRUCK LEGISLATION

Austin, Mar. 3.— When the Texas Legislature passed the bill, the statute, hooks the present laws for the regulation of the hasty trucking industry, they took a step comparable to turning a drastic reduction in the state tax rate, in the opinion of Dr. J. C. Dolley, professor of banking at the University of Texas, and one one of the most widely recognized economists in the Southwest.

"In enacting the present truck regulatory laws," Dr. Dolley explained, "the legislature very widely took into consideration the more or less frail nature of much of our highway system and placed limitations upon the size and weight of vehicles permitted to operate upon them in order to prevent dissipation of their life expectancy and to keep at a minimum the cost of maintaining them in a usable and satisfactory state.

"It does not require an engineer to understand that abuse of the highways by heavier equipment than is now used would send maintenance costs skyrocketing, and the cost to the taxpayer skyrocketing in proportion. Common sense will inform you that the weight of the tax burden that already is stooping the shoulders of 'Old Man Texas' will grow heavier as the vehicles upon our roads grow heavier."

Dr. Dolley, who is known well in money circles of the nation through his frequent contributions to financial journals, said the Texas banking fraternity through his work at the University and his many appearances at the bankers' conventions as an authority upon the varied phases of the present complex economic situation, "has taken a long time in making a study of truck regulatory laws from the standpoint of their effect upon state finances.

"I would regard any attempt to modify the present highway laws of Texas, so as to permit the operation of larger and heavier trucks over the present highways and roads of the state," he said, "as definitely undesirable from at least three different viewpoints.

"In the first place, the operation of heavy motor vehicles involves a rapid deterioration of the road surface mileage is macadamized and where summer temperatures are relatively high. The extra tax monies derived by the state from licenses and fees imposed on the heavier equipment would be far more than offset by increased highway maintenance expenditures that the shortened life of the roads now built.

"In the second place, heavier and bigger motor trucks powers would materially increase the already high traffic hazard. The present highway and city operating at fairly high speeds are now quite difficult for the average motorist to pass. Especially is this the case where trucks are pulling trailers and where the highways are only of moderate width. Still larger vehicles must inevitably increase this difficulty that is, unless the state goes to the expense of widening the roads for specific benefit. It seems a foregone conclusion that more traffic crashes with accompanying fatalities would result.

"In the third place, permission to operate larger freight and passenger motor vehicles would increase the unfair competition which the railroads of the state are now facing from these carriers. The railways have been compelled to provide their own roadbeds at enormous cost. Trucks and buses use highways built and maintained by public taxes, thus avoiding a heavy capital investment and burdensome overhead expense. To increase yet further this tremendous advantage is to penalize the railroads still more heavily. Not only will this situation work to their disadvantage, but also to the disadvantage of the people of Texas, for the railroads still are, and for many years will continue to be, our most important common carrier."

Among the visitors in Frontier Times-Museum last Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Schmidt and son Chester, and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Schwers of Hondo.

The artist's drawing, as reproduced above, calls for the magnificent double-decked entryway with underpasses, over-passes, pedestrian walks, bus terminals, comfort stations and all facilities assuring comfort while providing an area of architectural splendor. Shown in a ramp leading from the exposition grounds toward the I.R.T.-B.M.T. subway terminal, at a point where it is necessary to cross over the Long Island railroad tracks and to avoid undue congestion of pedestrian traffic. Shown in the left foreground is a domed restaurant with a fountain basin and a concourse bordered by grown plane-trees, and, nearer, an open-air cafe and an information kiosk. Along the flanking walls the artist has delineated the Fair's world contest which looks to the building of a peaceful, happier World of Tomorrow.

Bandera's New P. M. Assumes Duties

MRS. RUTH ROOME

Mrs. Ruth Roome, who was appointed as postmaster by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, assumed office last Monday, March 8th. Her appointment was confirmed by the Senate on February 25, 1937. She is the first Democratic appointee for the Bandera Postoffice since Mrs. W. E. Rugg has served just before Fred Mansfield.

Mrs. Roome, a native of Tyler, has been a resident of Bandera for more than ten years, and has always been interested in the upbuilding and advancement of Bandera.

Fred Mansfield, outgoing postmaster, was first appointed by President Calvin Coolidge and took office on Sept. 1, 1926. He served under Presidents Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt and for ten and a half years he has given Bandera good and faithful service. Postal receipts more than doubled during his administration.

Miss Elsie Adamietz has been appointed as assistant and we feel sure that we can expect good service from the new administration.

SENATE VOTES 20 TO 8 FOR HOUSE RACE REPEAL

Austin, March 4. — The Texas senate today engrossed a bill containing an amendment which would repeal the state law authorizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing.

The vote to engross was 20 to 8, but prospects of the bill obtaining a four-fifths majority to place the measure on final consideration.

The house has already repealed the previously had passed by a big majority an outright repeal measure.

Because of the large majority for engrossment and the fact the house passed the bill, if the senate obtain a four-fifths majority to place the measure on final consideration.

Unless senate proponents should muster the vote on final passage, repeal would not become effective until 90 days after the present session adjourns. If they should be able to muster 21 votes in the senate and 100 votes again in the house, horse betting would be outlawed June 1.

The coup by proponents of repeal was one of the most unusual in the legislature in recent years. They substituted their proposal for a non-controversial measure, and to require a certain percentage of race track employes to be Texans. The senate's repeal bill still was in committee.

Senator H. Grady Woodruff of Brenham sponsored the amendment that was the repeal advocates' first and only important victory and thereafter, they were defeated.

Senators voting against the bill were: Rowe, Rawlings and Fort Worth, Houghton Brownlee of Austin, T. J. Holbrook of Galveston, Dorsey B. Hardeman of Mineral Wells, Morris Roberts of Pettus, Albert Stone of Brenham, R. A. Weinert of Seguin and R. E. Davis of Fort Stockton. J. Frank Norris of San Antonio, C. C. Small of Amarillo and E. B. Davis of Brownwood were absent.

Rawlings said unsuccessfully to avoid an early option on the betting question. His amendment was defeated, 19 to 9.

P.-T. A. NOTICE

The P. T. A. will meet in regular session Tuesday, March 16, at the High School building at 8 P. M. Everyone is cordially invited to attend a night of games.

FDR Calls Court Super-Legislature

Washington, March 9. — Here are some sentences from President Roosevelt's address tonight on the Supreme Court:

The court has improperly set itself up as a third house of Congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the Constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there.

We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the Constitution from the court and the court from itself.

We must have judges who will bring to the courts a present-day sense of the Constitution—judges who will retain in the courts the judicial functions of a court, and reject the legislative powers which the courts have today assumed.

This plan will save our Constitution from hardening of the arteries.

If by that phrase "packing the court" it is charged that I wish to place on the bench spineless puppets I make this answer—that no President fit for his office would appoint, and no Senate would accept as associates in the Supreme Court, men who would disregard the constitution.

Our difficulty with the court today rises from the fact that it was an institution but from the human beings within it.

We cannot rely on an amendment as the immediate or only answer to our present difficulties.

DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY FUNDS DISASTROUS

In a letter from Ike Ashburn, manager of the Texas Good roads Association he says:

"There is pending in the legislature H. B. 363 proposing to divert $4,180,000 from the state highway fund to the county lateral road fund for distribution to counties on the basis of population. This amount, estimated, is over 25% counties would have an extremely bad effect on state highway construction and maintenance now being carried out on a minimum financial basis.

"The effect of this bill is shown in the attached statement. It is obvious that it would disrupt the program of completing the state's most important highways by making it necessary to curtail maintenance operations or by reducing funds available for new federal aid. There also is a strong probability that the federal government would regard passage of such a bill as diversion and impose penalties by way of loss of a portion of its federal aid under terms of the Hayden-Cartwright law.

"Curtailment of maintenance operations is highly undesirable. The system has grown rapidly in the past years and operations are as low as they can be pushed consistent with good business and sound economy. Or low federal aid, either through inability to match federal aid or because of penalties, would be a severe blow, especially at this time when every effort is being extended to complete the highway system and provide profitable labor for Texas workers. The 'matching of federal' aid cannot be delayed and federal funds not placed under contract by the end of the fiscal year will jeopardize a substantial portion of the proposed diversion annually.

"The need for improvement of lateral road systems is universally, but the necessity for the above mentioned fund, aside from the highway fund, is best illustrated by an extra federal appropriation which, when matched by the state, will provide a lateral road program of $2,182,044 for each of the next two years. However, unless the highway fund is left intact, the state will not have special lateral road appropriation to match the regular federal aid, and carry on ordinary maintenance.

"Inability to match the full amount of federal aid available in the next two years would mean that many vital projects in your county or trade area would be cancelled, denying you roads that are needed and depriving labor in your community the opportunity for employment. If this fund is left intact, the state will not have itself, an important item since 90 per cent of every highway dollar

THROUGH BROAD AND BEAUTIFUL ENTRYWAYS . . . VISITORS WILL PASS TO THE NEW YORK FAIR

NEW YORK, (Special)—Forty thousand persons an hour—visitors from every state and every nation—must be accommodated in comfort at but one of the entryways to the New York World's Fair of 1939, according to arrangements the Fair Corporation is completing to handle a maximum daily attendance of 400,000. The artist's drawing, as reproduced above, calls for a magnificent double-decked entryway with underpasses, street-passes, pedestrian walks, bus terminals, comfort stations and bridges commanding amusing comfort while providing an area of architectural splendor.

Shown is a ramp leading from the exposition grounds toward the I.R.T.-B.M.T. subway terminal, at a point where it is necessary to cross over the Long Island railroad tracks and to avoid undue congestion of pedestrian traffic. Shown in the left foreground is a domed restaurant within a fountain basin and a concourse bordered by grown plane-trees, and, nearer, an open-air cafe and an information kiosk. Along the flanking walls the artist has delineated the Fair's world concept which looks to the building of a peaceful, happier World of Tomorrow.

SHEEP AND GOAT NEWS

HOUSE DISREGARDS ECONOMY WARNING

Austin, Texas, March 4.—The House today killed a controversial proposal to increase the load limit of trucks above the present 7,000 pounds, tabling, 72 to 51, a minority committee report to print the measure. The highways and motor traffic committee had reported unfavorably, 11 to 5.

A number of appropriation bills, including one to appropriate $6,000 to the Central Colonization Bureau, were passed, although a member urged the House to start practicing economy. A general emergency appropriation for colleges, State departments and emergency institutions was blocked.

In a special message, Gov. James V. Allred urged prompt ratification of a compact between Texas and New Mexico to divide the waters of the Pecos River, and a ratification bill was introduced. The compact said the New Mexico Legislature would adjourn soon and might not ratify unless Texas did so.

Under the proposed agreement, New Mexico would take from the Pecos or its tributaries not more than enough water to irrigate 76,000 acres within the "middle section" as defined in a compact of Feb. 10, 1935.

Before taking up race repeal, the Senate passed a bill authorizing leasing of experimental station lands of Texas A. & M. College for mineral development, attaching an amendment to make the minimum sulphur royalty $2 instead of $1 a ton.

The Senate State Affairs Committee set a hearing on a proposal to increase the tax on oil production to 6 cents for March 18. A 6-cent tax bill has passed the House. The present tax is 2½ cents a barrel.

In Memory of Little FRED JR. THALMANN

God went out walking
In His beautiful Earth Garden
the other day,
And OH, He found such lovely flowers
Casting everywhere a glorious ray.

He found from tiny rose buds
To big wide open flowers,
All being made fresh and beautiful
In the early spring showers.

God stood for such a long time
Enjoying His lovely garden there,
Then His eyes fell upon a darling bud
Growing on a rose bush near.

God said, "Heaven is such a beautiful place
Filled with flowers of every hue,
And I must have that perfect bud
It is so splendid and fine."

So God took this lovely rose bud
And now the garden is lonely and bare,
But there is great comfort in knowing
That he is blooming for God up there.

—A Friend.

Bandera's New P. M. Assumes Duties

MRS. RUTH ROOME

Mrs. Ruth Roome, who was appointed as postmaster by President Franklin D. Roosevelt, assumed office last Monday, March 8th. Her appointment was confirmed by the Senate on February 6, 1937. She is the first Democratic appointee for the Bandera Postoffice since Mrs. W. E. Huge who served just before Fred Mansfield.

Mrs. Roome, a native of Tyler, and formerly of El Paso, has been a resident of Bandera for more than ten years, and has always been interested in the upbuilding and advancement of Bandera.

Fred Mansfield, outgoing postmaster, was first appointed by President Calvin Coolidge and served under Presidents Coolidge, Hoover and Roosevelt and for ten years. He has always given Bandera good and faithful service. Postal receipts more than doubled during his administration.

Miss Elsie Adamietz has been appointed as assistant and we feel sure that we can expect good service from the new administration.

SENATE VOTES 20 TO 8 FOR HOUSE RACE REPEAL

Austin, March 4.—The Texas Senate today engrossed a bill containing an amendment which would repeal the state law authorizing pari-mutuel wagering on horse racing.

The vote to engross was 20 to 8, but proponents could not obtain a four-fifths majority to place the measure on final consideration.

The house of representatives previously had passed by a big majority an outright repeal measure.

Because of the large majority for engrossment and the fact the house passed its repeal bill, 107 to 34, the anti-race forces declared it is as conclusive. The bill likely will come up for final passage next Wednesday, and if passed will go back to the house for concurrence in senate amendments.

Unless senate proponents should gain one vote on final passage, repeal would not become effective until 90 days after the present session adjourns. If they should be able to muster one vote in the senate and 100 votes again in the house, the betting would be outlawed June 1.

The coup by proponents of repeal was one of the most dramatic in the legislature in recent years. They substituted their proposal for a non-controversial house bill to require a certain percentage of race track employees to be Texas. The house repeal bill was in committee.

Senator Harold H. Grady Woodruff of Decatur temporarily in the chair, ruled the amendment was germane. That was the repeal advocates' first and most important victory and thereafter they were never headed off.

Senators voting against the bill were Frank Rawlings of Fort Worth, Houghton Brownlee of Austin, T. J. Holbrook of Cleveland, Weaver Moore of Houston, Morris Roberts of Pettus, Albert Stone of Brenham, R. A. Weinert of Seguin and H. L. Winfield of Port Stockton. T. J. Frazer, opponent of San Antonio, C. C. Small of Fort Worth and E. M. Davis of Brownwood were absent.

Rawlings tried unsuccessfully to provide local option on the race betting question. His amendment was defeated, 19 to 9.

P.-T. A. NOTICE

The P. T. A. will meet in regular session Monday, March 15, at the High School building at 8 P. M. Everyone is cordially invited to attend a night of games.

FDR Calls Court Super-Legislature

Washington, March 9. — Here are some sentences from President Roosevelt's address tonight on the Supreme Court:

The court has improperly set itself up as a third house of Congress—a super-legislature, as one of the justices has called it—reading into the Constitution words and implications which are not there, and which were never intended to be there.

We have, therefore, reached the point as a nation where we must take action to save the Constitution from the court and the court from itself.

We must have judges who will bring to the courts a present-day sense of the Constitution—judges who will retain in the courts the judicial functions of a court, and reject the legislative powers which the courts have today assumed.

This plan will save our Constitution from hardening of the judicial arteries.

If by that phrase "packing the court" it is charged that I wish to place on the bench spineless puppets I make this answer—that no President fit for his office would appoint, and no Senate would confirm, that kind of appointee to the Supreme Court.

Our difficulty with the court today rises not from the court as an institution but from the human beings within it.

We cannot rely on an amendment as the immediate or only answer to our present difficulties.

DIVERSION OF HIGHWAY FUNDS DISASTROUS

In a letter from Ike Ashburn, manager of the Texas Good roads Association he says:

There is pending in the legislature H. B. 367 proposing to divert $4,180,000 from the state highway fund to a county lateral road fund for distribution to counties on the basis of assessed values. This amount, scattered over 254 counties would be of very little benefit effect on state highway construction and maintenance, now being carried out on a minimum financial basis.

The effect of this bill is shown in the attached statement. It is obvious that it would disrupt the program for completing the state's most important highways by making it necessary to curtail maintenance operations or by reducing funds available to match federal aid. There also is a strong probability that the federal government would regard passage of such a bill as diversion and impose on Texas a penalty made up of loss of a portion of its federal aid under terms of the Hayden-Cartwright law.

Curtailment of maintenance operations is highly undesirable. The system has grown rapidly in the past years and operations are of low as they can be pushed consistent with good business and traffic demands. To lose federal aid, either through inability to match federal aid or because of penalties would be a severe blow, especially at this time when every effort is being extended to complete the highway system and provide profitable labor for Texas workers. The matching of federal aid cannot be delayed, and federal funds not placed under contract by the end of the fiscal year will lapse to the treasury of the states.

You will observe from the attached statement that the highway fund will be cut a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 by next February if this bill is passed and the deficit will grow at the rate of the proposed diversion annually.

The need for improvement of lateral roads is recognized universally, but the necessity for the [illegible] funds, aside from other considerations, has been determined by an extra federal appropriation which, when matched by the state, will provide a lateral road program of $3,153,094 for each of the next two years. However, unless the highway fund is left intact, the state will not have special lateral road appropriation, and will lose the present federal aid, and carry on ordinary maintenance.

Inability to match the full amount of federal aid available in the past two years would mean that many vital projects, some in your county or trade area would be canceled, denying you roads that are needed and delaying business in your community the opportunity to [illegible]

Whenever you say there ought to be a law against that, just look it up. You'll probably find there is.

TOUR OWN HOME AN INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

It was once said that men will fight to protect a home but never to save a boarding house. Home ownership, in other words, is essential to good citizenship, to patriotism and love of country.

But home ownership, in our estimation, goes far beyond such remote considerations. Home ownership here in Bandera may prove in the years to come to be one of

There have been times and periods in the history of this country when it did not pay, when it is cheaper to rent than to own. But these periods usually come to an end. When the situation changes it is much economical to own than to rent. Such a period is now approaching in the opinion of all observers.

Ownership of a home here in Bandera should prove to be a highly satisfactory investment. First, because Bandera is a substantial community with fine possibilities of future development. The home you build or buy today may grow in value as demand for additional housing here, takes an upward turn. Second, because there is personal satisfaction that cannot easily be measured in living in a home of your own.

The fluctuating value of our money is another consideration that urges home ownership as well as home modernization now. Some students of economic conditions fear inflation. Others expect a new standard of values. The National administration has endeavored to establish higher values and to the argument among inflationists and antiinflationists involves only a matter of degree.

Thus it appears almost inevitable that the American dollar will buy less in building materials and in labor in the years ahead than it will next year.

In the face of this trend wisdom advises home ownership and home modernization now.

OUR COUNTY FAIR

The Bandera Library Association is squarely behind the movement to hold a County Fair in Bandera this year, the exact dates to be decided upon a little later. With the cooperation of the Board of County Agent, the Vocational Agriculture departments in our county schools, the 4-H Clubs and the stockmen and farmers generally, it is predicted that this year's fair will far surpass any fair yet held in Bandera county. Active committees will be selected, and plans for the holding of the fair will be decided upon at a meeting to be held shortly, after which full announcement will be made.

Chalk up another mark against the "groundhog legend." The little animal, if he ever did, emerged from his winter quarters on February 2, thereby predicting that six more weeks of bad weather in February was on the whole, of the spring variety, and of the [illegible] was about to give more converts to the legend. But the end of February [illegible] bitter enough, and [illegible] upon March 1 to find the ground covered with snow. The extent of damage which the frost did can hardly be determined for several days. But there was damage to fruit trees, vegetation and young plants.—Yorktown News.

PENSION BUREAU NEAR END OF LONG TASK

Austin, Tex., March 4.—Immediate completion of all original investigations numbering nearly 214,000 was forecast Thursday by W. A. "Jack" Little, assistant director and acting chief of the Texas Old Age Assistance Commission, as he declared that the pension board had passed into the second phase of its task.

"We have completed every investigation of every application in 18 of the 20 districts," Little said. "Only 4,000 have not yet been investigated, and those are in the Houston and Texarkana districts. We will complete them before March 15.

"We are rushing special investigators to Houston and Texarkana.

"We have entered the second phase of our work. We and now to turn our attention to reinvestigations almost entirely. Of course, about 1,000 new applications will come in monthly, but the will be a small matter compared to the 20,000 applicants that we investigated each month throughout the past year.

Senior Activities

Well, well I think Boyd and Ernest are just about to complete that barometer case they started in the Physics class sometime ago. Who was it that made 100 on the Physics exam? Couldn't you tell by that happy look on Calder's face that she was the lucky one? Smart.

Oh, yes and just ask Balbina how it feels to break her heart. That small built, is a magnet, Balbina! School-marm.

Seniors are the only thought! Why? Will didn't they, and they show remember Mr. Patton that they [illegible] Last, but not least, was the swimming pool. Yes, inside a building! Can you imagine that? We looked and oh, how pretty! The water was as clear as a crystal. It was of different depths, 3 feet, 5 feet, 7 feet, 10 feet and back to 9 feet. It had a very beautiful tile bottom. How we wanted to take a swim! And something else about it, the water is heated in the winter time. By this time it was fifteen after four, when we were supposed to meet Mr. Briggs and the boys.

The Engineering Building Wirth Langford

I consider the engineering division the most interesting part of the University. We first visited the petroleum engineering section where we saw a miniature drop rig. This rig was one hundred perfect complete; pump house, bits, drill pipes, blocks, casing, tools, etc. The derrick appeared to be about seven feet high. The rig was actually used to drill a miniature well about twenty five or thirty feet deep.

This rig was built and presented to the University of Texas by the Texas Company. We also saw a replica of a recently developed oil well pump. This pump has rods or cables attached to the piston that oscillates in a long, cylinder which is lowered in the well. The pump while rather simple, is one of the most efficient deep well pumps of today.

We then visited the wood and metal division where we saw many wood and metal lathes in both, or tools. We had the pleasure to see men using electric and oxy-acetylene welding and cutting torches. One room contained a small blast furnace where the advanced students fuse metals, glass etc. and make castings in sand.

The last section of the engineering building we visited contained engines. These engines were of various types and sizes, engines showing cut-away sections; automobile engines, diesels, semi-diesels, steam engines, and a compound Corliss Engine. There was also complete apparatus for measuring the brake horse power of these engines.

The Anthropology Building Louise Rugh.

One of the most beautiful buildings of the University was that of the Anthropology building. The spacious grounds were attractively landscaped with sweeping shrubs which hovered against that immense building and contrasted strikingly with the pure whiteness of those stone walls. Steps lead to the second story where we found the museum, and here we wandered about in utter surprise and delight at the large statues of Aztec tribes and sacrificial rocks. There was even an old calender used by this historic tribe in its original coloring. The sun shone through great windows and danced over rows and rows of hatchets and stones on which the Indians had once pounded their corn into meal. Showcases were filled with perfectly shaped arrows, pottery and Indian warfare. Even as we gazed, at those [illegible] were busily engaged in making [illegible] feathers, head-gear and great hatchets our thought wandered to the wild histories we have all read telling of the many people killed and scalped by some of these very weapons. We did almost see them wheeling and dancing around burning fires to the loud pounding of weird sounds. Just at that time our eyes jumped out on Stems as we stared at rows of Indian skeletons and skulls. None of us envied those long teeth, because you can imagine what a feeling it would be to have one pulled! A shrunken head, very much like the one in Mr. Hunter's Museum, and a childs cremated body aroused interest and exclamations from the entire class. Indian clothing made of skins and beads of a delicate color harmony added much to the Indian atmosphere of the room. A more perfect collection of our early Indian relics and materials could not have been seen anywhere.

SAN-MARCOS

Arriving at San Marcos we drove up to see the State Teachers College located on the highest elevation of the city. While passing among the beautiful scenery of the city we drove by a [illegible] of San Marcos River where a [illegible] spring was sending forth [illegible] of clear, sparkling water. It seemed that upon this spring a large hotel was constructed. This lake of water is now covered with moss and waterlilies, but in the summer it will be cleaned and ready for swimming.

—Josephine Mazurek.

The General Motors Exhibit

About the first thing we saw on the grounds at the General Motors exhibit was a popcorn stand, they said the best popcorn that I have ever seen. We went in and looked at a Diesel engine while the man in charge explained it to us. They had two cars on exhibit but it was dark, and they were locked so we couldn't tell much about the inside of them. But they sure looked swell from the outside. We saw one of the first cars that was built. It had three wheels, the engine was under the seat, and it was steered with a handle similar to a bicycle. They called it "Old Smoke," and believe me it sure smoked when the engine was running. It had large wheels and small tires.

They had six or seven General Motors trucks which were very pretty. They were open for inspection, but there was such a crowd, that we couldn't get in.

The manager of the Deisel motor explained to us the reason that we were a Physics class and became interested. He took us around to the back of a large tent where they were doing what I called magic trick and slipped us in there.

YOUR OWN HOME AN INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

It was once said that men will fight to protect a home but never to make a bearing house. Home ownership, in other words, is essential to good citizenship, to patriotism and love of country.

But home ownership, in our estimation, goes far beyond such remote considerations. Home ownership here in Bandera may prove in the years to come to be one of

There have been times and periods of depression in all lines of business, when commercial property does not pay, when it is cheaper to rent than to own. But these periods usually are "lean" ones. And when the situation changes it is much economical to own than to rent. Such a period is now approaching in the opinion of all observers.

Ownership of a home here in Bandera should prove to be a highly satisfactory investment. First, because Bandera is a substantial community with fine possibilities of future development. The home you build or buy today may grow to make as demand for additional housing here takes an upward turn. Second, because there is personal satisfaction that cannot easily be measured in living in a home of your own.

The fluctuating value of our money is another consideration that urges home ownership as well as home modernization now. Some students of economic conditions fear inflation. Others expect a new standard of values. The National administration has endeavored to establish higher values and so the argument among inflationists and antiinflationists involves only a matter of degree.

Thus it appears almost inevitable that the American dollar will buy less in building materials and in labor in the years ahead than it will sell for today.

In the face of this trend wisdom advises home ownership and home modernization now.

OUR COUNTY FAIR

The Bandera Library Association is eagerly behind the movement to hold a County Fair in Bandera this year, the exact dates to be decided upon a little later. With the co-operation of the County Agent, the Vocational Agriculture departments in our county schools, the 4-H Clubs, and the stockmen and farmers generally, it is predicted that this year's fair will far surpass any fair yet held in Bandera county. Active committees will be selected, and general plans for holding the fair will be decided upon at a meeting to be held shortly, after which full announcement will be made.

Chalk up another mark against the "groundhog legend." The little animal, as the legend goes, emerged from his winter quarters on February 2, thereby predicting that winter is over. Well, the weather in February was, on the whole, of the spring variety, and the groundhog was about to win more converts to the legend. But the end of February had a "relapse" and sleet and Yorkshireers acted upon March 1 to find the ground covered with frost. The effect of damage which the frost did can hardly be determined for several days. But there was damage to fruit trees, vegetation and young plants.—Yorktown News.

"We are making special investigators in Houston and Texarkana, four in each city, to speed the closing phase of our work. We are now ready to turn our attention to reinvestigations almost entirely. Only about 1,000 new applications will come in monthly, but this will be a small matter compared to the 20,000 applicants that we investigated each month throughout the past year.

"Whenever any there ought to be a law against that, just look it up. You'll probably find there is.

How did the seniors are looking lately? Are they worried about something? No — its just their hair dress. Seems to me I saw several girls going around last week with their hair all pinned up in a knot. Too much rainy weather, Pigtails.

Do all the typing students observe all the rules they should? Who is it that is determined to chew gum while they type? And "what" is it that throws paper on the floor, or wads it up on the table? Or, yes and why does one certain boy [illegible] writing when he knows full well Mr. Patton isn't blind? The noisy typist.

F. F. A. Banquet a Success

Last Saturday night March 6, the Vocational Agricultural boys held their "Father and Son" banquet, which is an annual affair of the F. F. A. There were 72 sons and their fathers who 3 invited guests. Several delightful numbers were made by the guests and boys. And now all that's left to be said is [illegible] charming [illegible] ladies as waitresses who served a grand plate. There was barbequed lamb, chili and beans, slaw, sour pickles, bread, cookies and coffee.

Those who attended were: Mr. Langford, Mr. Meadows, Mr. Frank Montague, Mr. Hunter, Mr. Adamietz, Mr. Briggs, Vincent and Mr. Anderwald, Eugene and Mr. Pepper, Jaggers and Mr. Click, John Berg and Mr. Kalka, Robert and Mr. Dawson, Frank and Mr. Anderwald, Alton and Mr. Hodges, T. D. and Mr. Norod, Calvin and Mr. Calahan, Fred and Mr. Allen, Charles Emmett and Mr. Wyatt, Delbert Knibbe, Thomas Gray and the instructor Mr. W. F. Grisham. We regret that the weather did not permit more to attend. A very enjoyable evening was spent.

Thomas Gray

Gee, we wish that everyone could have attended the, Vocational Agriculture Boys' "Fathers and Sons" Banquet Saturday night. It was a "humdinger success." If you don't believe it just ask the ones who did attend. For instance ask T. D. Norod, Vincent and Frank Anderwald and Jaggers Click, who were simply thrilled their second helping of barbecue. Babina also reported that she heard "Boy! look at that ice cream" and she was very much amazed to find that the pop was the buttons on Dorothy's belt and the ice was the seam in her dress. Dorothy, we are surprised at you. Constance, Babina and Zelda Ruth fairly put away the cookies.

Louise Rugh spent the week-end in the country. She reported quite an adventurous time. First, she had a flat that set on her nose instead of the flowers she was gathering. Second, she was in a bunch of the bees' nest (early) and as she was climbing over a gate she fell right on top of one of them. She was all around in the wee hours of the night by a phone call. She said it was important.

Hair ribbons are getting to be the thing here at school. Lillian Clark has some "ducky" green ones, and you should see Mary Pitzgerald's new red ones.

The Senior girls were running around singing "Mad Days" and all looking so kiddish. What's up, girls?

"Girls' Gymnasium

Alta Belle Adams

From the Home Economics building we visited the girls' Gym. A girl was there to usher us through the building. We first saw the girls' lounging rooms, standing. Then we went down to a long hall where there were a number of small lockers. By inquiring we learned that they were the girls' jewelry lockers, where they kept their jewelry while they were in swimming. Opposite these lockers were individual showers. Also there was a hair dryer in this room. We went down to three large rooms, where the girls had basket ball and tennis games, acrobatics and other kinds of recreation. It is very interesting to know that there are sleeping rooms in this hall. Any one taking this course is required to sleep so many hours a week. Last, but not least, was the swimming pool. Yes, inside a building! Can you imagine that? We looked in the water first and were surprised as was as clear as a crystal. It was of different depths, 5 feet, 6 feet, 7 feet, 10 feet and 12 feet 9 feet. It had a very beautiful tile bottom. How we wanted to take a swim! And nothing else about it attracted. This lake of water is now covered with moss and waterlilies, but in the summer it will be cleaned and ready for swimming.

POTPOURRI

Eperlier Than Fulten's Boat

While Robert Fulton built the first successful steamboat, it was not the first to apply steam to water craft. In 1707 a boat built by John Fitch made a trip down the Delaware. It used paddles like oars but was so impracticable his backers withdrew. Fulton invented the paddle wheel, which was successful.

EMPOYERS REQUIRED TO PAY TAX MONTHLY

There appears to be a great number of employers who do not seem to realize that they are required to file monthly returns and pay the tax monthly under Title VIII of the Federal Social Act and that the Act provides for severe penalties for failure to file returns at this time, according a word received from Frank Scofield, Collector of Internal Revenue for the First District of Texas. Title VIII of the Act provides for a tax of 1 per cent due by the employer as an excise tax on wages paid his employees for services on and after January 1, 1937, and the employer is required to withhold 1 per cent from the wages as and when paid or made available to his employees. The full 2 per cent must be reported and paid by the employer on a Form 858-1 to the Collector of Internal Revenue within the month following the month in which the wages were paid.

"Under Title VIII," said Mr. Scofield, "every employer is required to file monthly returns on Form 858-1 covering wages paid to even one individual for any service performed for any length of time on and after January 1st. In other words, wages paid to one or any number of individuals for services performed for any length of time on or after January 1st in an employment that is, for the performance of services in the United States of services not specifically excepted, are subject to the Act. The January returns must show all wages paid in January for services performed on and after January 1, 1937. There have been filed to date in the Austin office approximately 22,000 returns for the month of January, 1937. It is estimated that approximately 50,000 of these returns should have been filed before the close of February."

Many employers have the erroneous impression that they must await their Social Security numbers before filing monthly returns and that they must report the names and addresses and account numbers of their employees on these returns. "This is not correct," Mr. Scofield stated. "My office will not require a report of the names, addresses and account numbers of employees until in July of 1937 and there after reports will be required quarterly, giving the names, addresses account numbers and total wages paid to employees, and blanks will be furnished to employers for this purpose in ample time.

"All employers who have not already done so should now promptly and voluntarily file their January tax returns. Pecuniary returns covering wages paid in February should be filed promptly after the end of March, but not later than March 31st. If an employer does not receive Form 858-1 for use in filing his return, such blanks will be furnished him upon request. Every employer who files a late return should prepare and submit with his return an affidavit in duplicate explaining the reasons for delay. The reasons for delay as given in the required affidavit will be carefully considered before asserting any penalties." Mr. Scofield explained.

4-H CLUB CALVES

The Bandera Co. 4-H club calves that were sold at auction on Saturday, Feb. 20th, made an excellent record for any future 4-H boy or girl to shoot at.

The eight calves fed by 4-H club boys and girls in Bandera Co. were all "home raised" and were fed on "home raised" feed with an exception of CSM and a little bran.

These eight calves all cleared themselves of all feed and purchasing prices (paid fathers). Just what each boy made on his calf will not be available until later, but the gains will be listed below.

The eight calves weighed 1715 lbs. Friday when put on feed, on an average of 214 pounds, one weighing as much as 330 pounded, and as light as 160 pounds. When sold these eight calves, a total of 5858 pounds, or an average gain of 318 pounds in 229 days and a daily average gain per calf of 2.-68 pounds. This is an excellent average gain for calves on feed as young as these were, and every one should give these boys and girls a big hand in this work, as they are to be our future ranchmen and feeders.

The average gains made by each boys or girls calf are: Billie Fathers' 1st place calf went on feed weighing 220 lbs. and was sold when it weighed 726 lbs., a gain of 506 lbs. in 229 days, and an average daily gain of 2.3 lbs. This calf was killed and dressed by Utopia, and dressed 60.6 per cent, a dressing per cent far above anything I have ever seen killed.

J. E. Porter's second place calf went on feed weighing 190 lbs. and weighed 770 lbs. when sold, a gain of 580 lbs. in 229 days, or a daily gain of approximately 2.5 lbs. This calf had the largest daily gain and J. E. deserves much credit for his splendid feeding record.

Charles Baumer's third place calf weighed 180 lbs. when put on feed and 665 lbs. when sold, a daily gain of 2.2 lbs. J. E. Porter's 4th place calf weighed 750 lbs. when put on feed and 705 lbs. when sold, daily gain of 2.52 lbs. Charles Baumer's 5th place calf weighed 160 lbs. when put on feed and sold at 640 lbs., an average gain of 2.21 lbs. per day. Betty Flo Fisher's calf went on feed weighing 190 lbs. and was sold when weighing 758 lbs., making a daily gain of 2.6 lbs. per day. Elton Boultinghouse's two calves weighed 630 lbs. together when put on feed, and weighed 1592 lbs. when sold, making a daily average of 2.2 lbs.

[illegible] Boultinghouse's two calves [illegible] were sold through a [illegible] age price of $10.40 per hundred pounds, live weight or $75.12 per head (not average). This does not include the prize money so generously offered by the many [illegible] and merchants of Utopia Canyon and Bandera. Were [illegible]

[illegible] and I want to again express our thanks to the above mentioned parties for their generous donat[illegible]

INSPECTION TRIP TO ADAMS RANCH

On Friday, March 5th, at 9:30 there will be a group inspection trip to the Otho Adams ranch above Medina. Every one interested in the clearing of cedar and grass planting and its results should be on hand as Mr. Adams has done quite a bit of both with excellent results.

The different grasses that Mr. Adams has planted and protected on land once covered by cedar have taken root before doing their undue grazing conditions. We need a lot of this work in Bandera County and I would like to have a good crowd at the inspection. Let me know if you can and I'll try to arrange for your transportation.

J. A. LAXSON COMES BACK TO BANDERA TO LIVE

J. A. Laxson, who was born and reared in Bandera county, and left here in 1901 for Beaumont, has returned to make his home with his mother, Mrs. T. A. Laxson, who is now 87 years of age. Two daughters, Murrell and Geraldine, are also here with their father and grandmother, and Elton Howard, who is now in high school at Beaumont, is expected here soon. Another son, Robert, and another daughter Mrs. J. A. Hurley, live in Beaumont.

On Feb. 24th of this year, a sad misfortune befell the Laxson family, when their son and brother, Raymond, aged 20 years, was killed in an automobile accident. The young man was fatally injured when two automobiles side swiped each other on a street in Beaumont. Raymond lived only four hours after the accident.

J. A. Laxson was born near here in 1873, his parents being early settlers of the county on Laxson's creek, which was named for them. He left here soon after the oil boom hit Beaumont in the year 1901, and for thirty years was an employee of the Magnolia Petroleum Company there. During the first year he was a pipeliner, for twelve years a boiler washer, and the balance of the time a watchman. Mr. Laxson was retired by the company on 40 per cent of his salary. He worked under three superintendents of the company, and is loud in his praise of the treatment accorded him by all Magnolia Company officials.

Mr. Laxson's wife died in 1924 and his father, Thomas A. Laxson, died here on Oct. 3, 1931.

BASEBALL PRACTICE

Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. the Bandera team will hold its first workout. Fans, especially the younger players, who want to play, are not only invited, but urged to come out.

[illegible] and we promise to show you some baseball better [illegible] our next show.

AMAZE A MINUTE
SCIENTIFACTS — BY ARNOLD

1937 Work Sheets Ready Saturday

All farmers that are interested, please sign up as soon as possible. There are a few changes in the new program which I am listing as follows:

A. A soil conserving base must be established for each farm. This is the acreage normally planted to a soil conserving crop on the farm.

B. The requirements regarding minimum acreage of soil conserving crops have been changed. The minimum acreage of soil conserving crops that must be planted in order to escape the penalty is the soil conserving base plus the acreage diverted from the soil depleting base.

C. The penalty for not planting the minimum acreage of soil conserving crops has been changed. Instead of 1½ times the rate of pay for diversion from the general soil depleting base, this penalty is $3.00 per acre for each by which the minimum required acreage of soil conserving crops exceeds the 1937 planted acreage of such crop.

D. The class 1 payment is made for diversion or reduction, from soil depleting bases. It is necessary to plant soil conserving crops on the land diverted from soil depleting bases, in order to earn a Class 1 payment, as the penalty for not planting the minimum acreage of soil conserving crops is only $3.00 per acre.

E. The method of computing the Soil Building Allowance for the farm has been changed. The 1936 Soil Building Allowance will be $1.00 for each acre in soil conserving base, plus $1.00 for each acre diverted from a soil depleting base for payment, plus $1.00 for each acre in commercial orchards on the farm in 1937, plus $1.00 for each acre devoted to only one crop of commercial vegetables in 1936, plus $2.00 for each acre on which two or more crops of commercial vegetables were produced in 1936, plus 25 cents for each acre of fenced, non-crop, open pasture land that is in excess of one-half of the cropland on the farm and which has a carrying capacity during the normal pasture season of at least one animal unit for each five acres. Terracing idle cropland, or planting soil conserving crops will not increase the soil building allowance for the farm.

F. The general soil depleting base has been changed to include the entire acreage normally interplanted to general crops and legumes, the acreage of small grains normally followed by legumes, and the acreage of sudan normally harvested for seed, hay or forage.

G. The rate of diversion from the general soil depleting base has been changed from an average of $10.00 per acre for the U. S. to an average of $9.00 per acre for the United States.

H. Deduction will be made if the 1937 acreage of crops in the general base exceeds such base or the acreage of such crops needed to meet home consumption needs for the farm, whichever is the greater.

I. The County Conservation Association will handle at least certain parts of its local administrative costs by means of "County budgets" similar to old Corn-Hog Associations. Details are not yet available.

Let's get an early start on the new program and sign our work sheets as soon as possible. They will be ready to sign in my office Saturday.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agent

COLD WEATHER DOES LITTLE DAMAGE HERE

Early last Saturday morning, a nice rain, accompanied by thunder and lightning, fell here. The precipitation amounted to ¾ of an inch.

Late Saturday evening the temperature started falling and by Sunday morning it was near the freezing point. As far as we were able to determine, not much damage was done. The strong north wind seemed to hurt tender vegetation more than did the cold. We understand that there were some slight losses of [illegible] shrubs, but [illegible] were in poor condition.

[illegible] MARRIED

Rev. Vasqz Teer of Rockport, and Mrs. Mitchell of San Antonio were married in the Travis Park Methodist Church in San Antonio Thursday afternoon, Rev. Grayson Tinnin performing the ceremony. They will make their home in Rockport.

We offer congratulations.

Sheep and Goat Men Hold Meet

Del Rio, Tex., March 13.— Directors of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association will hold their next quarterly meeting in Kerrville in June, according to a decision reached by them Thursday afternoon in the closing session of their quarterly meeting in Del Rio.

A resolution was passed commending Senator Tom Connally and Representatives Charles L. South in Washington for their stand against the Supreme Court changes proposed by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Several resolutions of condolence were passed for members who died recently.

Roger Gillis, C. B. (Dutch) Wardlaw, Len Mertz, L. A. Schreiner and Roy Aldwell were appointed on the finance committee, to determine the probable amount of income to the association and set a budget the expense.

Under the new plan of obtaining members it is thought that the organization will have 7,000 members soon and an income of about $25,000 a year.

A barbecue for the directors was held at noon at the Del Rio Country Club.

Fifty-nine attended the meeting which opened Thursday morning in the district court room.

During the morning session L. A. Schreiner, chairman of the membership committee, reported that 56 warehouses had agreed to deduct the sum of 10 cents a bag from the account of the sales of growers and that 11 wool buyers had also agreed to co-operate in the plan.

Special Services at the METHODIST CHURCH

Beginning next Sunday morning and continuing through Easter Sunday, will hold a series of special services at the Methodist church.

It is my honest conviction that the thing needed more than anything else in Bandera and surrounding territory, is a returning to God and the service of the Church. These special services will be held with the earnest prayer that members of all churches shall be greatly revived religiously. Christian people of all churches are invited to co-operate in every way possible that this may be accomplished.

We will greatly appreciate your services in helping to make the music a worthwhile part of these services. Read 2 Chron. 7:14; then come to every service possible.

[illegible] about such conditions as will result in a religious awakening in Bandera.

O. E. Moreland, Pastor.
Methodist Church.

Judge A. V. Pue, J. M. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langford, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Mansfield and Mrs. J. S. Young attended the funeral of Mr. Banta in Medina Tuesday.

G. W. BANTA, BANDERA COUNTY'S OLDEST CITIZEN, DIED MONDAY

96-YEAR-OLD CONFEDERATE VETERAN AND PIONEER OF TEXAS, PASSES AWAY AT MEDINA

All of Bandera county mourns the passing of her oldest citizen, George Wilson Banta, who died at his home in Medina last Monday night at 9 o'clock. His death came quietly and without a struggle, he just closed his eyes and went into that eternal sleep, serenely like one who gathers the draperies of his couch about him and lies down to pleasant dreams. On the same date, seven years ago, the 65th anniversary of their marriage, his devoted wife passed away. He often said he wanted to go like that.

At noon Monday he sat up and ate his dinner, saying grace over the meal. He seemed to know and realize that his earthly pilgrimage was nearing its end, for he had reached the ripe old age of 96 yrs. 1 month and 6 days, and deeply the burden of those years he enjoyed a fairly vigorous manhood to the end of them.

George Wilson Banta was born at Clarksville, Texas, January 29, 1841, in a double-log cabin, which was one of the first houses built there the city of Clarksville now stands. His parents were Thomas and Eliza Banta, who had moved from Indiana to Texas in the fall of 1840. The subject of this sketch was one of thirteen children in the family, seven boys and six girls, all of whom have passed on. He grew to young manhood at Clarksville, and after a meager education in the school there. When the war between the states came on he enlisted in Company I of the 18th Texas Cavalry, commanded by General Darnell, with W. A. Hensman as Captain, of Company f. This company was immediately sent to join General Hinan's Brigade in North Arkansas, and participated in several engagements. Near Pine Bluff he was captured by the Federals and was taken to Camp Douglas, in northern Illinois, situated on Lake Michigan, at the suburbs of Chicago. After being held in prison three months, Mr. Banta was exchanged and went to Richmond, Va., to enter General Bragg's army. He was in the battles of Missionary Ridge, Lookout Mountain, Chickamauga and many others down to the battle of Franklin, Tennessee, and was wounded three times. In this last battle all of the ranking officers, except one first lieutenant, were killed, and Mr. Banta, who was then a second lieutenant, commanded the right wing of the army and his brother, one of the chickest of the fray until he, fell wounded. He was taken to a private home, and a young lady there assisted him to escape as soon as he had sufficiently recovered from his wounds as to be able to travel.

He left March 15th, 1865 (72 years ago) Mr. Banta was happily married to Miss Susan Rippy, who died after a halfway visit to the 65 years, passing away at the family home in Medina, March 15, 1930. She shared with him his joys and sorrows, privations and successes, doing all that a true wife and mother could do to aid her husband in the unfortain ballots of life. They raised a large, respectable county, where they resided for several years, and endured the dangers of the frontier, when the Indians raided and massacred settlers and stole horses, and made it very unsafe for them to live, but ventured to establish homes in this section. In 1886 they moved to a location near Medina, where they reared their family of manly boys and lovely daughters, and they did full well their share in building the high type of community in evidence there today. The following children survive: Mrs. E. J. Greer, Charles W. Banta, Leonard Banta, all of Medina; Mrs. W. A. Blenman's Captain, of Oklahoma. Mrs. Ed Gipson and Mrs. Frances Wells, Alpine, Texas. There are several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were conducted at Medina Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock by D. C. Oatman in charge, and interment was made in Medina cemetery, an honor had been bestowed upon the Christadelphian church, and was a pillar in that body. He was strong in his convictions and stood for Christianity, morality, law and order, and his daily walk reflected his upstanding faith and character.

The long, useful, beautiful life of this beloved citizen and pioneer of the sturdy oak that has stood immutable amid the changes of the years. As a mighty tree in the forest, he has withstood the ravages of time, and lived to see the most wonderful changes the world has ever known. He faced all the dangers, hardships and privations that were the lot of those who went ahead to soften the wilderness for the tender feet of civilization. He heard the cannon roar when internecine strife tore asunder the people of the north and south, and shed his own blood for the cause that was lost. And when the white-winged flove of peace again descended upon our fair land, he took unto himself a lovely bride and came out into this then wilderness to establish a home and rear a family. He watched the trail of the Indian through the wilderness certainly phased into teeming paths of commerce, and he saw the ox-drawn vehicle give way to high-powered automobiles and airplanes, and he lived to see Society and its foster-mother, Civilization, triumph over the tragedies and uncertainties of the frontier.

For almost a century George Wilson Banta was spared to be a blessing to earth, and the seeds that he has sown will continue to grow and flourish, as though nurtured by his tender hand. He was a lover of nature, and could see beauty in every living thing. Even in his declining years, when the infirmities of age began to lay hold upon him, he continued to work in his orchard and garden, and we doubt if there was ever a man in this county who could show as wonderful an orchard as that of Mr. Banta. It is truly remarkable what he accomplished in the orchard planted by his own hand and attended by himself, and he took great pride in showing his friends the different varieties of fruits he produced.

His cheerful greeting will be missed by all with whom he came in daily contact, and his passing is deeply mourned by the entire community. May his soul great rest in peace.

—E. Marvin Hunter.

VEHICLE OWNERS SHOULD HELP

The Highway Planning Survey is now collecting important information from car owners of Bandera County. Each car owner as he pays his 1937 registration fee at the office of the County Tax Collector will be handed a post card questionnaire upon which to note a few essential facts. These cards are self-addressed and require no postage. Vehicle owners should fill them in and mail them at once. The information collected in this manner will be used by the Highway Department in designating the secondary system which is to be established soon. Information from car owners should be helpful to the State Highway Department as soon as possible, and the cooperation of all car owners is vitally necessary.

TO ALL COUNTY JUDGES AND TAX COLLECTORS

It has been brought to the attention of this department that the officials of some Counties in this state are accepting applications for registration from out of [illegible]y motor vehicle owners. You [illegible]and of course, that the registration of motor vehicles or trailers by you which are owned by residents of other counties is in violation of the laws of Texas. Such practice is a clear evasion of the distribution of license fees as provided by our legislature, and results in an illegal diversion of funds belonging to the state Highway fund. Your attention is called to the fact that Counties now receive two-thirds of all license fees and 182 counties retain all license fees paid in such counties.

As your public officials, we pledge you our full and complete cooperation and strongly urge your cooperation in the proper registration of all motor vehicles as provided by law.

We feel it to be the plain duty of the Highway Department and of all other State Departments, public officials and good citizens to take definite action immediately to see that the laws are complied with in regard to the proper registration of motor vehicles, and that they be complied with and distributed as provided by law.

You know of course that owners who have moved into Texas since plates by buying them in other counties rather than the counties in which they reside are complying with illegal license plates and are subject to arrest when found operating of such motor improperly registered; and furthermore that they are subject upon apprehension, to a re-registration in the county of their residence.

It is the simple duty and will be the definite purpose of this Department to lawfully protect the State Highway fund as far as we may be able to do so, and it is our hope and expectation that we may have the complete cooperation of the county officials and all other officials with whom we deal in the ordinary conduct of the States Highway business to see that the law is obeyed and property administered in respect to registration of all motor vehicles.

Any other and further thing which you may feel we may be in position to help assist you in, and in fomplliance with a state and law administration of the statutes with respect to the registration of motor vehicles, we shall be glad to have you advise us and we stand ready at all times in trying to be helpful.

Very truly yours

Now is the time for poultry raisers and ranchmen to get their stock in condition for the Bandera County Fair. Come on folks, let's make this one of the biggest and best fairs Bandera county ever had.

The tax collector's office reports that auto licenses are being issued daily, but that there will be a rush in the last few days if many do not get their licenses immediately. The new license plates must be on the cars by April 1st which, then only 11 days to secure a license.

SCOUT NEWS

At the Scout meeting Friday night it was decided to have Mother's night April 9 Each boy is to prepare the meal for his mother. All meals will be the same that he has to do is to be present and agree to study the Tenderfoot test, especially the knots. If the mother have not learned to use the rope, they have probably neglected their parental duty.

At the meeting of the Patrol Leaders held in the Scoutmaster room Sunday afternoon, extensive plans were made for enlargement. Names of boys that ought to be in Scout troop were submitted and they are being invited to attend the next meeting of the Troop.

The field meet for the district will be held in Bandera on April 9 May. We are planning to show the visitors a good time, but as Clinton says "Don't beat 'em."

The report of the Court of Honor sent in from the Executive's office has stated that Bandera went to Kerrville and took another from them on March 6. It looks a if Kerrville is doomed to go bannerless for the next six months as it will be that long before the Court of Honor goes there again.

Inside The Tent Show At The General Motors Exposition At San Antonio

(Boyd Ryle)

The first thing that was demonstrated to us was the common electro-magnet. Pieces of steel were held close to the magnet and they immediately stuck to it. A small hoop or ring, which resembled aluminum, was placed on the electro-magnet and contact was then made. The ring jumped up about two feet in the air. The forces of the two substances were of unlike nature and therefore they tended to throw themselves away from each other.

We saw the first type of electric light bulb. When it was lit, the yellow light resembled that of a candle or of an old timey oil lamp.

A Phonograph record was played but we did not hear the tune directly from the Phonograph as we usually do. The receiver picked up the mechanical vibrations and these were transposed into electric vibrations. These vibrations were connected with a beam of light in such a manner as to make the light beam vibrate. Of course these vibrations were so small that they could not be detected by the human eye. This beam of light was directed to another apparatus, which caught the vibrations from the light, and from here the sound went to a loudspeaker. When the hand or any object was placed in this beam, the music would stop. If just a small part of the light passed the object, the music was very soft, and as the object was slowly moved out of the lights path, the music gradually became louder. This goes to prove that light will carry sound.

Last but not least, now it hade us hungry, we saw the 1960 way of frying an egg. The stove was merely a coil of wire. A newspaper happened to be laying on the stove but the cook was in such a hurry, or was too busy, that she never removed it. An egg was in an ordinary frying pan, the current was turned on, and boy did that egg fry! The pan was just held in the air near the stove while the egg was frying, to show that there were no wires connected to it. Neither the paper nor the stove got warm.

A nail was then lowered into this coil of wire for stove, and two fingers were placed by the side of it. In a very short time the nail was red hot but the fingers were as cold as ever. This was possible because only such substances as steel and metals catch the electric heat waves.

This will be a very fine device for cooking when everyone gets one installed in their home. Even the babys bed could be built on top of the stove if care was taken and too many bolts were not used.

RETURN TRIP

Leaving the University about 5:30 we drove by the memorial statue. The statue was built with money donated to the University by Littlefield, which was from $150,000 to $200,000. Littlefield asked that the statue be dedicated to the soldiers of the world war. After viewing the statue we drove by the Governor's Mansion. As we could not enter the palace and every one seemed to be tired and hungry, a "Double dip" Stand was found and everyone filled up to their hearts content. After killing twenty minutes of valuable time we left Austin. Just before reaching San Marcos we went to see the head of the San Marcos River. Leaving the river, Mr. Briggs took us by the South West Texas State Teachers College. After leaving San Marcos we drove until a cafe was sighted between New Braunfels and San Antonio, where everyone ate supper.

When coming out to San Antonio and saw the enormous crowd gathered around the General Motors Exhibit, everyone was more eager than ever to see the new Diesel motors. It was of much interest to us as we have been having reports in Physics Class on the new motors and had an idea what to expect; however, we saw more than we expected. After seeing the Diesel motors and telling the manager that we were a Physics class he was not satisfied until he gave us a brief discussion concerning the motors. We were on the grounds about 8 and expected to take leave about 9, but everyone became so interested in the different cars and interesting features displayed, that everyone forgot to watch the time and it was 10 before we were really satisfied. Each one left wishing for a car and returned home thinking the day was really well spent.

Between San Marcos and Blanco took us by the South West Texas State Teachers College. After leaving Blanco we saw a sign which said "Bandera" and we were soon at our home.

When everyone got to San Antonio and saw the enormous General Motors Exhibit, everyone was more eager than ever to see the Fisher Diesel motors. It was of much interest to us as we have been having reports in Physics Class on the new motors and had an idea what to expect; however it was far more than we expected. After seeing the Diesel motors and telling the manager that we were in Physics class, he was not satisfied until he gave us a brief discussion concerning the motors. Then we were on the grounds about 8 and expected to take leave about 9, but everyone became so interested in the different cars and interesting features displayed, that we remained until 11:30. Then we ate and it was 10 before we were really satisfied. Each one left Bandera with a $5 bill and returned with a $1.00 bill. Each one left Bandera with a $5 bill and returned with a $1.00 bill. Each one left Bandera with a $5 bill and returned with a $1.00 bill

Purlin, Purlin

Purlin is an architectural term; it is one of the horizontal timbers in a roof, parallel to ridge-pole and to wall-plate. If one could correctly speak of a purlin stream, one could with equal logic refer to a ridge-pole, stream, or a wall-plate stream, or even to a rafter stream.

Purlin, the participial adjective which we very well, describes the light — or murmuring sound made by a flowing body of water, orders one to consult, not to the location.—Literary Digest.

The Rhinestone

Rhinestone is a colorless gem-stone made of paste or strass, and cut, usually as a brilliant, to imitate a diamond.

First Ball Club

The first ball club ever organized was the Knickerbockers of New York, formed in 1845; and at that time an inning was called a hand and it took twenty-one runs or aces to win a game.

LIFE HISTORY OF N. B. (BOOT) PATTERSON

Napoleon Bonaparte Patterson was born in Union Parish, Louisiana, June, 16, 1848, as the related Busby, Burnside, McCay, Watkins, Delbridge, Ripley, Patterson families from the Tennessee-Georgia region to Texas. About 85 years ago they pitched camp in the valley just east of the Alamo, where the elder men of the colony prospected for a permanent location. While camped there, they killed deer on the Salado, for meat, and their faithful negro slaves carried the venison to camp for them. After a few weeks of searching they located near the Skull Crossing on the Cibolo a few miles above Lavernia, in what is now Wilson County, where they remained a few years, most of them moving from there to the Guadalupe River below Seguin, where they remained several years. From there, they moved to the Clear Fork of Sandies Creek, in the neighborhood of Rancho, Gonzales Co.

When about two years of age, N-R Patterson lost his mother at the birth of his brother, Faebert, and the two brothers were reared by relatives, and hard-knocks that tended to build them into strong, rugged characters they proved to be. Tossed from place-to-place in early childhood, but always deep in the environments of that frontier region and associations, N. B. Patterson learned early to rely upon himself, for in those days every man was, to a certain extent at least, a law unto himself; and that very thing produced a self-respect and respect for others that no multipostle ever had or can have—that sublime individuality.

Those families entrusted to the care of those two orphaned boys, were of the best in the "Old South", and truth and honor was their beam of faith, their standard of living; and those boys always heard those things from their elders, as they grew toward manhood. When the war between the states flared forth, N. B. Patterson was but a child, but did his bit, taking the place of a man in the handling of the stock and other necessary work at home, left by those who went to the front.

He was the Tiger of his 5th Union Masonic Lodge, a quarter of a century and a member of the Bandera Lodge since moving to that County. He did not rate as much for the ritualistic feature, as of the principles of Masonry, those he loved and lived. Seemingly til good health for his age, he was stricken by influenza, going to bed Feb. 15, 1937, and despite the best efforts of his faithful daughter, Glennie, who lived with him, grew worse. On the 18th he was moved to San Antonio, where all that medical skill and good nursing could do, was of no avail. Pneumonia developed on the 19th, and he expired at 3 a. m. Feb. 20, 1937, on the 18th floor of a hospital, the evening shadows of which might darken the spot where he camped by the Alamo, 88 years ago.

His life and experience formed a connecting link between chattel-slavery and modern, industrial-slavery; between open-range-Texas and our fenced acreages of to-day; between ox-cart and airplane from the Mexican War through the War between the States, Spanish-American War, and World War, to our modern peace forced by bankruptcy. His history is that of this region personified.

His remains were laid to rest beside those of his wife and youngest daughter in the Union Cemetery near their old home, on Washington's birthday, with the Bandera-Union-Nixon Masonic Lodges conducting the final services, surrounded by a host of friends, the cortege from San Antonio to that spot being led and piloted by four motorcycle officers of Bexar County and San Antonio, along the tarviated highway following practically the same route he went in an ox-cart 88 years ago, little dreaming then what the final scene would be. He was a helpful neighbor, kindly friend, honorable man, brave and loyal citizen, never-to-be-forgotten FATHER.

C. L. Patterson.

F. A. Mansfield and J. Burgin Davenport were San Antonio visitors Monday. It seems that they were in the sugar business.

Bill Kleinsworth, Misses Gwynne Briggs and Eunice Hardee of Houston, spent the week-end at the Bruce Ranch.

ANNUAL GOOD-FRIDAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY GOV. JAMES V. ALLRED

AUSTIN.—Following is the text of the annual Good-Friday proclamation issued by James V. Allred, governor of Texas:

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

That season of each year in which the world pays obeisance to the supreme sacrifice of the Lord, Jesus Christ, again calls the attention of all Christians and it is well to give praise to Him who gave His all for the redemption of the souls of men.

The trials, sacrifices and immemorial sufferings of Our Savior bring to mind realization of the great blessings of comfort and immortal benefits which this sacred day may bring to us through faith, hope and prayer.

Prompted by my own feelings, by the suggestion of faithful Christian people, and cognizant of the sacredness of the memorable anniversary that will be perpetuated in the hearts and minds of men down the ages,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JAMES V. ALLRED, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby set aside and proclaim Friday, April 2, as Good Friday, March 26, 1937, as in Texas and I call upon all Texans as Christians to reverently observe and commemorate this day with prayer and other fitting ceremonials recalling the sacrifice made by the Son of Man on that historic day in ancient times when His blood was shed for the world He loved.

I further urge a cessation of all the activities in all the State departments on Good Friday between the hours of 12 and 3 p. m. and urge all State employees to take advantage of this pause from official duties for prayer and observance of ceremonies in connection with this occasion. I urge all Texans to lend their whole-hearted moral support to the observance of this day through meditation and prayer, in holy remembrance of the crucifixion of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, and to reflect upon the greatest message of love mortals have ever heard: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be impressed hereon, at Austin, this the 27th day of February, A. D. 1937.

(SEAL) JAMES V. ALLRED, Governor of Texas

BY THE GOVERNOR,
EDWARD CLARK,
Secretary of State.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. SHORT

'Twas in the solemn hour of death
When one loved one passed away
Took a welcome call
And blossoming flowers gay.

To hard to give thee up,
But God's will to be done.
Many hearts are filled with sorrow
O'er the spoils that death has won
Everything is gloomy now.
A soul that day took its Heavenly flight

To be at rest in the home of God.
A memory long shall we recall
As she rests beneath the sod.
She is gone away,
But we shall we forget.
A rose still blooms in our hearts.
Though all have bitterly wept.
Life may be filled with grief
To the ones left behind.
But in him, our blessed Lord,
Comfort and peace may they find.
Oh, husband, don't grieve at her passing.
Oh, children, don't weep at the loss
For the loved one is in Heaven.
And a wondrous change has been wrought.
A-true mother and a friend was she,
So generous, sweet and kind.
May her dear soul be comforted
And a resting place may she find.

—A School Girl.

TARPLEY

Tarpley school's soft ball team defeated the aggregation of Tarpley School on Wednesday afternoon, March 10, by a score of 30 to 12. The game was played on the public school diamond at Honey.

The Tarpleyites outplayed their opponents in every department of the game, amassing 22 hits while the Yancey boys were touching Schmidt for only 7, and committing three errors to their opposition's 12.

Buster Schmidt, who went the pitching route for Tarpley, was wild at times and suffered badly in the first two innings, after which he tightened up and with good fielding support held his opponents to two runs in the last five innings of the 7-inning game.

Grunewald, starting for Yancey, allowed two disastrous innings in the second and third, in each of which the Tarpley crew garnered ten runs on a combination of hits and errors. Wilson, who relieved him, held the mountain boys to five hits and but one run, on two several mishaps, eight runs were scored. Erfurt, for Tarpley, was the scoring star of the game, in six times at bat he scored five times. He hit safely three times, was safe on Grunewald's error once and got life on a fielder's choice the fifth time. He also batted in five runs to top his list in that time. D. Coffey of Tarpley, was a close second with four runs out of six times at bat, and B. Coffey managed three runs out of as many times he was charged at bat.

Quite a crowd from Tarpley, including all the teachers and a number of pupils and others, were on hand for the game. A. K. Bastleff furnished a truck for the transportation of most of the team.

ANNUAL GOOD-FRIDAY PROCLAMATION ISSUED BY GOV. JAMES V. ALLRED

AUSTIN.—Following is the text of the annual Good-Friday proclamation issued by James V. Allred, governor of Texas:

TO ALL TO WHOM THESE PRESENTS SHALL COME:

That season of the year in which the world pays obeisance to the supreme sacrifice of the Lord Jesus Christ, again claims the attention of all Christians and it is well to give praise to Him who gave His all for the redemption of the souls of men.

The trials, sacrifices and immemorial sufferings of Our Savior bring to mind realization of the great blessings of comfort and immortal benefits which this sacred day may bring to us through His holy name.

Prompted by my own feelings, by the suggestion of faithful Christian people and cognizant of the sacredness of the memorable anniversary that will be perpetuated in the hearts and minds of men down the ages,

NOW, THEREFORE, I, JAMES V. ALLRED, Governor of the State of Texas, do hereby set aside and proclaim the Friday before Easter Sunday, March 26, 1937, as in Texas and I call upon all Texas Christians to reverently observe, and commemorate this day with prayer and other fitting ceremonials recalling the sacrifice made by the Son of Man on that historic day in ancient times when His blood was shed for the world He loved.

I further urge a cessation of all the activities in all the State departments on Good Friday between the hours of 12 and 3 p. m. and urge all State employees to take advantage of this pause from official duties for prayer and observance of ceremonies in connection with this occasion. I urge all Texans to heed their whole-hearted moral support to the observance of this day through meditation and prayer, in holy remembrance of the crucifixion of Our Lord, Jesus Christ, and to reflect upon the greatest message of love mortals have ever heard: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish but have everlasting life."

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF, I have hereunto signed my name officially and caused the Seal of State to be impressed hereon, at Austin, this the 27th day of February, A. D. 1937.

(SEAL.) JAMES V. ALLRED, Governor of Texas.

BY THE GOVERNOR,
EDWARD CLARK,
Secretary of State.

IN MEMORY OF MRS. SHORT

'Twas in the solemn hour of night
When other loved one passed away
Into a world of ruthless treasures
Among those blooming flowers gay.

To hard to give thee up,
But God's will be done.
Many hearts are filled with sorrow
O'er the spoils that death has won
Everything is lonesome
Around the cottage door somehow
The birds have stopped their singing;
Everything is gloomy now.

A soul that day took its Heavenly flight
To be at rest in the home of God.
A memory long shall we recall
As she rests beneath the sod.
She is gone away,
But ne'r shall we forget.
A rose still blooms in our hearts,
Though all have bitterly wept.
Life may be filled with grief
To the ones left behind,
But in Him, our blessed Lord,
Comfort and peace may they find.
Oh, husband, don't grieve at her passing,
Oh children, don't weep at the thought.
For the loved one is in Heaven,
And a wonderful change has been wrought.
A true mother and a friend was she,
So generous, sweet and kind.
May her dear soul be comforted
And a resting place may she find.
—A School Girl.

TARPLEY

Tarpley school's girls ball team defeated the aggregation of Yancey School on Wednesday afternoon, March 10, by a score of 30 to 12. The game was played on the public school diamond at Hondo.

The Tarpleyites outplayed their opponents in every department of the game, amassing 23 hits while the Yancey girls were touching Schmidt for only 7, and committing three errors to their opponent's 12.

Buster Schmidt, who went the pitching route for Tarpley, was wild at times and suffered badly in the first two innings, after which he tightened up and with good fielding support held his opponents tp two runs in the last five innings of the 7-inning game.

Grunewald, starting for Yancey, suffered two disastrous innings, the second and third, in each of which the Tarpley crew garnered ten runs on a combination of hits and errors. Wilson, who relieved him, held the mountain boys to five hits out of which, through several mishaps, eight runs were scored. Erfurd for Yancey was the scoring champion of the day. In six times at bat he scored five times. He hit safely three times, was safe on Grunewald's error once and got life on a fielder's choice the fifth time. He also batted in five runs to top the list in that time. D. Coffey at Tarpley, was the second with four runs out of six times at bat, and H. Coffey managed three runs out of as many times he was charged at bat.

Quite a crowd from Tarpley, including all the teachers and a number of pupils and others, were on hand for the game. A. K. Saathoff furnished a truck for the transportation of most of the team.

foundation spaces.

Earlier elderly W. C. Shaw, superintendent of the school, had refused hints that school board negligence could be linked with the explosion.

Thirty minutes after his testimony started, he broke down and Congressmen crowded his witness chair and was excused for the remainder of the hearing.

He had defended the board's action in "tapping" the gas line of the Parade Gas Company and was telling his story of the explosion when he turned to Judge Advocate, Capt. Zachariah Chambers and pleaded:

"I don't know what they want to keep shooting these pictures for."

Cameramen halted and Shaw was led to an adjoining room and treated on a cot. He later went to his home.

Shaw, a tragic figure who has been almost prostrate from grief, answered the testimony given yesterday by D. L. Clark, field foreman for the Parade, that the school had tapped the company line without his (Clark's) knowledge or permission.

The school master said he had conferred with Earl Clover, Parade superintendent, and had concluded that Clover had not "particularly object" to the connection.

Mr. Clover did not give us specific permission and warned that we were liable to cut loose at any time, but I concluded that he did not particularly object" Shaw told the court that Clover "had always" refused specific permission for the pipe connection.

Congressman Lyle Boren and his bride, the former Miss Christine McKown, who were married recently at Stillwater, Okla., where Mr. Boren, who is twenty-seven years old, is the youngest member of congress.

BRIDAL SHOWER

One of the prettiest bridal showers of the season, honoring Miss Cecil Gilliland, was given at the Tom Robison apartments Tuesday, March 23, with Mrs. James W. Evans of San Antonio and Mrs. Alvin Clarke as hostesses. The rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers, peach, apple and wisteria blossoms, red buds and ferns. The color scheme of blue, pink and white, representative of spring and Easter, was carried out with crepe paper streamers caught at the ceiling with a large white bell and the ends fastened down to form a canopy over the chair on which the bride sat. An ornamental basket in blue, pink and white, placed in front of the honoree, was filled with lovely gifts. On each of the gifts sat a large white plush rabbit. Upon entering the room, the guests were asked to sign their names in the bride's book which was decorated in silver and a tiny spray of Lilies of the Valley.

As soon as the guests were assembled, Miss May Ruil, accompanied by Miss Mada Bradshaw on the guitar, sang "On the Trail" very beautifully. Little Daisylu Clark gave a reading, "Hits and Kin" with names substituted to fit the occasion. A contest called "Alphabet Prophecies" brought forth a very amusing forecast of events in the lives of bride and bridegroom. In this contest, Mrs. Earl Parsons won first prize, Mrs. Eugene Byars second, and Mrs. Arthur Hayes third. Special mention should be made of one very accurate "guess," Mrs. Ray Wyatt answered that the occupation of the groom is "peddler" of cars. Miss Rui then sang "Memory Lane," a lovely song appropriate for this time.

Little Miss Kathleen Evans made the presentation speech "To the Bride." She gave a very endearing sentiment of the donors of the gifts. Then with Daisylu Clark as guide, the bride opened and displayed the gifts, thanking each donor present.

The gift too large for the basket was a 1937 Ford V-8 sedan from the groom.

Refreshments of cake and iced drinks, punch were served by the following guests: Misdames P. C. Anderwald, C. F. Thallman, Verdun Merrell, Judd Clark, Earl Parsons, Pauline Wright, B. G. Wiemers, Jeff Hardie, John Rodgers, Allie Thomas, Ray Wyatt, Chas. Moore, R. F. Power, Jack Bradshaw, S. J. Robison, Tom Cupp, Jr., Fred Adams, Jr., Jack Tepper, R. F. Langford, Max Wittcher, F. A. ### EASTER DINNER

A most enjoyable dinner was given at the home of Mrs. Lora Clark and Mr. and Mrs. Judd Clark Easter Sunday. After everyone had dined, the children were told that rabbits had been seen hopping around in the pasture nearby. An eager bunch of youngsters soon scattered out and found many brightly colored eggs were filling baskets clutched in chubby hands.

Those enjoying the Clarks' hospitality were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pope of Pleasanton, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crabb and son Edwin of Freer, Mrs. Zack Clark and children Geraldine, Junior and Billie Marie, Misses Bessie Ruth and Minnelu Schmidtke, and Mrs. Alvin Clark and children Dorothy, Pat, Daisylu and Thelmarie, Lillie Judd and Charlie Mae Clark and the host and hostesses.

GONZALES FUND GROWS RAPIDLY

Easter Sunday brought the citizens of Gonzales a campaign to raise funds for building a Hot Springs convalescent and rehabilitation center at Palmetto State Park in Gonzales, Texas. Funds were raised through the sale of Easter seals and through sale of memberships to the Gonzales Warm Springs Foundation. The Foundation is incorporated as a charity institution and has a charter from the State. Directors are now being selected over a 72-county area of South Texas to direct handling of funds raised and the construction of the center.

PAST PRESIDENT OF CATTLEMEN DIES

Fort Worth, March 28.—Cyrus B. Lucas, 80, past president of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association and owner of the 15,000-acre Fair Oaks Ranch in Goliad County, died early today in his hotel room here.

In Fort Worth to attend the annual meeting of the association he was headed in 1922-23, Lucas suffered a stroke on March 18 and never recovered. With him at the time of his death was his son, Richard Pryor Lucas, Beeville rancher.

The body was sent tonight to San Antonio where Mr. Lucas at one time had banking and other business interests with be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at St. Mark's Episcopal Church with funeral in Mission Burial Park.

A native of Texas, Mr. Lucas was brought to Texas at the age of two when his father, W. B. Lucas, established a ranch in Goliad County, and engaged in sheep raising.

He obtained his education in South Texas schools and in the now non-existant Concrete College.

At one time he owned 50,000-acre of ranch land in Goliad and Bee Counties running 10,000 cattle on the range but the estate was split up when Mr. Lucas grew older.

1937 Work Sheets Ready For Signing

(Dick Hartman, County Agent.)

We are now ready to help you fill out your 1937 work sheet so you will be eligible to participate in the 1937 Soil Conservation program. These work sheets must be completed in the near future if you expect to fill out in 1937; don't wait until the last minute, do it now, and help us get your money at an early date.

Important Range and Soil Program Changes

Those of you who are eradicating cedar to comply under the 1937 Range Program, must not burn cedar after it has been cut. This fallen cedar must be used in small dams to stop soil from washing off of the land, for soil protection for the small grasses that are struggling for existence.

Range grazing will also be at work in Bandera county about the 5th or April, so be prepared to lend this man a hand when he visits your place.

Sudan grass planted as a soil conserving crop can be grazed and still be considered "soil conserving". Sorghum broadcast can also be grazed after the last cutter, or leaving on the soil—however it is not necessary to do either. If you have enough feed land lay idle this year you can earn the big payment by running your cattle on the land grown. That is up to 15 per cent of your base. Most all of you farmers have plenty to feed your stock

NEBRASKA KILLS CHILD LABOR AMENDMENT

Washington, March 26.—The rejection by the Nebraska Legislature today of the proposed child labor amendment threw supporters of the amendment in deep gloom.

Even the most ardent backers of the amendment conceded that it was highly improbable that it would be written into the Constitution this year.

Miss Katherine Lenroot, chief of the children's bureau, said that the action taken in Nebraska made ratification unlikely.

Twenty-eight States have approved the amendment, while 36 are necessary for ratification.

The situation as of today:

Twenty-eight States have ratified.

Seven have rejected the proposal since the first of the year.

Three legislatures have taken ratification resolutions pending.

Four legislatures are not in session this year.

BORROWERS FROM U. S. ARE REPAYING HEAVILY

Washington, D. C.—The government has collected about 54 cents of every dollar loaned through emergency agencies to reinforce the nation's depression-weakened credit structure.

The back-flow of money from private business set in more than a year ago, said credit agencies report that now many borrowers who once drew billions from the government, are supplying their needs from normal financial sources.

Composite figures of the treasury and lending organizations fix losses by a dozen agencies at about $11,600,000,000 and repayments at $6,274,000,000.

But the vanguard of the repayments parade have been 30,000 debtors to the reconstruction corporation, who have returned $4,350,000,000 of the $6,387,000,000 they borrowed.

AMATEUR NIGHT PROGRAH

Last Friday night a fair sized audience enjoyed the amateur program sponsored by the Parent-Teachers Association. J. Marvin Hunter acted as master of ceremonies and Miss Ethel "Major Bowes" style. Much talent was displayed and the evening was one to be cited as a much larger affair than Bandera.

Little Gene Hutzler was winner of the five dollar prize, Darlene Dee Lowrey the winner of the two dollar and fifty cent prize and John Wiemers was winner of the one dollar prize. If you have never seen John Wiemers do his "Pop goes the Weasel" you have missed a treat.

Much merriment resulted from the pie eating contest, the milk drinking contest, the cracker eating contest and the "biggest lie" told by Myers and "Tex" Elam.

Those on the " program were Daphna Evans, song; Betty Jean Gossett, song; Gene Hutzler, dance; Allie Mae Stewart, reading; Dorothy Marie Gray, tap dance; Lettie Drue Carlton, reading; Darlene Dee Lowrey, reading; Bandera Ray Marvin Hay, reading; Leslie Bill Short, reading; Clarence Adamietz, trumpet Mrs. Marvin Hunter, Juanita Davenport and Daphna Evans, dance.

ATTENTION OAT FARMERS

The "green bug" is cleaning up many acres of oats in Bandera and surrounding Counties. If you think that this insect is going to smother all crop, why not plow it under before it is too late and in that way get in on the Soil Conserving Program for 1937.

Oats plowed under (after reaching a reasonable growth of two months) will qualify you for the "Big Payment" under the Soil Conserving Program, BUT, this must be done at once, why not plow it under before it has been killed, and you should have a witness or two to certify with you that oats was still in good shape and had a good stand when plowed under.

Friends, do not wait any longer, but fill out a "Work Sheet" so you will be eligible to participate in 1937 Program in case you do not plow later you wanted to. If you do not sign up a Work Sheet before the closing date, you will not be allowed to receive any compensation under said Program.

Keep in mind that oats plowed under will qualify for the big payment of about $5.50 per acre, provided it has a good stand and has attained at least two months growth, and is still green when plowed under.

Ranchers, Beware of Stomach Worms

Most of you will not have to be very hard to remember what losses you suffered last year from stomach and intestinal worms. Last year these pests got a head start on you and as a result some of you lost from 50 per cent to 100 per cent of your lambs. Friends, why should this happen to you this year—is there a necessity for it? Are you going to stand by and let this happen again? Right now is the time for you to get busy worming and pilling your livestock. These little lambs and kids will start to eating grass when they are only a or two weeks old and every mouth full of grass that they eat they are getting anywhere from 1 to 50 stomach worm larve, especially when grazing during warm weather and near creeks or ponds. Do not let these parasites "stunt" your young animals, do not give these parasites a chance. It is certainly is not going to give your lambs and kids even half a chance. Right straight will now your young animals are in good shape and that there is not any sense to start drenching or pilling them, it is exactly where you are wrong, because once your animals start to losing flesh and getting weak from parasitic infestation, it will take you 6 to 12 months to restore these animals to normal all hour condition. The most probable [illegible] your younger animals.

If there is any doubt in your mind as to the benefits that are to be derived from a year, Worm drenching and pilling program, why not call on a few of the ranchers that drenched at least once a month last year, up to November and December, and see what they have to say about such a practice for carrying out your

Death of Mrs. William Hatfield

Bandera county has lost one of its best workers in the sudden death of Mrs. William Hatfield, which occurred in the Secor hospital in Kerrville last Saturday at 6 a.m. She had been taken to the hospital last week and all that medical skill and kindly hands could do, was of no avail.

The deceased was the only survivor of a raiding party at San Jose ranch in LaSalle county in 1870, in which her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Stringfellow, were killed and her two brothers and she were kidnapped. One of the raiders put her in the saddle in front of him, but she kept fighting him and grabbing at tree branches in her effort to escape. He finally threw her from the horse in an attempt to kill her and the rest of the robbers tried to jump their horses over her and stab her at the same time with long spears. One of the hoofs hit her in the back and she suffered severe stab wounds. She was left on the ground, believed to be dead. When news of the attack became known a posse was organized and gave chase, reaching the border closely on the heels of the robbers, as the tracks of the robbers' horses were still wet when they reached the border. The brothers were never heard of again, but the girl found a Mexican riding in the pasture and was taken to his home where she was cared for and attended as possible in those pioneer days. Later she went to live with her brother in Bandera county and was married to William Hatfield in January, 1894. Six children were born to this union, one having preceded their mother in death. Mr. and Mrs. Hatfield located at Hunter's Hill quietly and made for herself to the entire community by her words of kindness and her deeds of love. She became early united with the Primitive Baptist Church at Choki, Wilson county, with you that oats was still in good shape and had a good stand when plowed under.

Friends, do not wait any longer, but fill out a "Work Sheet" so you will be eligible to participate in 1937 Program in case you do not plow later you wanted to. If you do not sign up a Work Sheet before the closing date, you will not be allowed to receive any compensation under said Program.

Results of School Trustee Elections

School trustee elections were held in the different districts of the county Saturday for the purpose of electing three members of the county board and district trustees of the various districts. W. J. Davenport was re-elected county trustee at large and W. B. Fletcher was re-elected county trustee for commissioner's precinct No. 1. The name of the county trustee in commissioner's precinct No. 4, J. J. Leighton of Vanderpool, did not appear on the ballot and we were unable to get any definite returns from that precinct, but it appears that Mr. Leighton was re-elected. The following return were received from over the county:

Bandera—39 votes cast, Davenport and Fletcher for county trustee, and John F. Langford for re-election as district trustee, receiving all ballots.

Tarpley—Davenport 48, Fletcher 50. For three-district trustee, W. W. Blackwell 43, S. A. McDonald 30, J. I. Padgett 28, John Cofer 18, D. A. Hicks 18, Wayne Hohenburger 10, Jim Power 1, Mrs. Jim Glass 1.

Privilege—F. J. Herrera, Angel Luratl, and Rafeal Herrera elected district trustees.

Myrtle Creek—F. R. Stevens elected district trustee.

Lone Star—Louie Haegelin and Monfort Chipman elected district trustees.

Medina—W. J. Davenport 126; two district trustees re-elected with following votes: Harry Clarke 91, B. P. Sutton 83, L. A. Hedge 34, F. E. Burch 48.

In an interesting event at the Utopia school Saturday, April 2, the assumption of debts of the two districts recently formed, was ratified by a vote of 90 to 10. The district hereafter will be known as the Utopia common district. The district of Uvalde and Bandera counties. In the trustee election, the following were elected: Jim Bowda, J. V. Porter and J. L. Storms. The last two named are east of the line and in the U district. Superintendent E. H. Herndebach has been re-elected for his many years of service. Officers will be voted on at the next meeting of the school board.

NEW REAL ESTATE FIRM

The Bandera Real Estate Company is the name of a new real estate firm which has already started doing business here. The partners in the firm are Tom Towne, lately of St. Paul, Minnesota, and Tom Robison of this city. They have contracted with Wm. P. McNeley Co., realtors, who have offices in the Mitchell building, San Antonio.

Mr. Towne, who has had much experience in real estate, informed The New Era today that he had been in every State of the Union with the exception of Maine, and was finally convinced that he could locate and do business here in Bandera county, the possibilities of which he has found in the short time he has been at Bandera. Montague is a rancher and buyer of cattle and goats and is well known in this section.

In most of Bandera county grass grows tall, but neither sheep nor goats eat the tall grass. The unused grass set Montague thinking and he believes that Bandera county can support a great many more cattle than it has been doing for some years.

So he purchased 1,000 head of the best grade cows and calves he could find in Texas after a long search and had them shipped over the Duwain E. Hughes breeding ranch in San Angelo area. The cattle have proven very effective, and to help train a new generation of feeders and breeders, Montague has arranged for a unit in the Bandera High School vocational agriculture class. Vocational agriculture is being taught this year, for the first time in Bandera High School. The boys not only [illegible] and record keeping, but have the convenience of buying [illegible] Texas, next to the school grounds.

The barn, constructed after a plan suggested by the vocational teacher, W. P. Grisham, formerly of Kerrville, is declared to be the most complete for its purpose in this section of the state.

'Everyman's Fair,' Says Whalen

NEW YORK, (Special.)—Grover Whalen, President of the Fair Corporation, announces that official backing and favorable sentiment in the New York World's Fair of 1939 are reaching new "highs", and that here are already obvious opportunities for every state to display advantageously its accomplishments and future possibilities and to join in making it one hundred percent "Everyman's Fair."

BANDERA BANKER INVESTS CAPITAL IN NEW FIRM

(San Antonio Express)

No movement in the name of agriculture promises a sounder future for farming in South and Southwest Texas than the education of farm and ranch boys to take more profitable interest in raising field crops, poultry and livestock. The movement, in progress now for several years, is turning out annually scores of young men who have had from two to four years special training supplied with practical work. In the vocational agriculture classes of high schools that teach it, many of the boys undertake a full four-year course with a definite number of hours each week devoted to muscles and another number of hours using their heads. Most of these vocational boys are grouped in Future Farmers of America chapters. Other boys, too far from high schools that teach vocational agriculture, belong to 4-H clubs which are sponsored by county agents. Many of these boys get specialized training in summer camps, and many also go to Texas A. & M. College for the annual short course in agriculture, horticulture, dairying, and all the rest of it.

In most of the county seat and smaller towns of South and Southwest Texas the interest has literally supported this work by gifts, prizes for the different competitions in which the boys engage, purchase and distribution of better livestock, sometimes by the organization of a county fair. Farmers' chamber or where there are 4-H clubs, the neighborhood have supported them.

It has remained for a Bandera banker, Frank Montague, to go beyond that by financing a herd of cattle breeding and feeding program on a scale which might be expected only in a county seat and town much larger than Bandera. Montague is a rancher and buyer of cattle and goats and is well a banker. In most of Bandera County grass grows tall, but neither sheep nor goats eat the tall grass. The unused grass set Montague thinking and he believes that Bandera county can support a great many more cattle than it has been doing for some years.

Six Drowned In Lake Sunday

Volunteers and firemen Monday worked fruitlessly with grappling hooks in an effort to retrieves from the cold depths of Medina lake the bodies of four of six victims of the worst disaster in the famous boating resort's history.

Six San Antonionans, one of them a 4-year-old girl, lost their lives when two boats capsized as a sudden squall lashed the lake Sunday.

Five survivors were rescued after clinging to the upturned hull of an outboard motor boat in the cold, choppy lake for nearly an hour.

The dead:

MRS. LUCILLE LAMKIN, 35, of 115 Aberdeen street, a laundry employe.

HERBERT L. LAMKIN, known as "Sunny" and as "Cotton", 45, part owner of the Avalon cafe.

JAMES WYNNE TRAHAN, Cavalier street, employe of the Missouri-Pacific lines, who moved here two weeks ago from Big Spring, Texas.

SAM JOHNSTON, 1126 Waverly avenue, salesman for a local provision company.

MINNIE LEE JOHNSTON, 4 years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Johnston.

LESLIE A. BOWERS, 34, employed in the paint shop department at Alamo Downs, who lived at the Maurice apartments on Mission street.

Bodies of Mrs. Lamkin and Minnie Lee had been recovered. Those of Trahan, Cavalier street, who managed to support him while clinging to the side of a boat, and of Miss Carolyn Trahan, 21, of 121 New York place, Harlandale, were recovered first Sunday.

Other survivors were Mrs. Sam Johnston, who was in bed and suffering from shock at her Waverly avenue, and Mrs. Frank Trahan Jr., under a physician's care at her home on Cavalier street.

Mrs. Johnston and Miss Trahan are sisters of Mrs. Frank Jr.

Trahan was suffering from exposure and exhaustion at his home. Miss Trahan, many times suffered against the boat while clinging precariously to its side in the choppy waves.

Trahan, speaking to reporters from his bed, gave his eye-witness account of the tragedy.

He said he and Johnston were in a small outboard motor boat with Mrs. Johnston, Minnie Lee, Mrs. Trahan, Miss Trahan, Stone, Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Lamkin and Mrs. Lamkin's children in a much bigger boat.

The two boats were about 200 yards apart in the channel about 7 o'clock," Trahan said, "when big waves started coming up. I was looking at the other boat, which Lamkin was operating, when all at once I saw one of the big wave turn the boat over and dump them all out in the lake.

"I swam to the boat immediately and just as we got there our motor stalled. They all started trying to get aboard the flat at the sides of our boat and I don't know whether they turned us over or what, but we were all in that time. The first thing I knew I was in the water."

He said he came up I swam close from the hull and brought three or four of them . . . I don't remember how many . . . around our boat and told them to hang on.

"It was awful. The big waves kept running over everybody's heads."

The little Johnston boy was struggling desperately when I reached him. He grabbed and fought me and I had to fight to keep from going under. Just at that point something struck my [illegible] against the side of the boat, and I was stunned for a moment.

"When I came to I was hanging on and slowly propelled the boat in the direction of what I figured was the nearest shoreline."

Miss Trahan aided little Minnie Lee by the hair and kept her from going under the first time. Survivors had only confused mumb-

CLEAN-UP TIME

Spring, alas, is not just a season of beauty. It is not merely a time of growing shrubs, of flowers and birds and comfort and promise.

It is also the season when we can be shocked by sights of ugliness. Piles of ashes, dump of refuse, and accumulations of junk have been gathered during winter months. These should and must be moved off.

So we designate a time in the spring when the large our citizens shall remove such eyesores. It is a time of housecleaning, and this should extend beyond the portals of your own property. It should embrace the community as well.

Even in attractive communities like Bandera there are opportunities for improvement. There are many places which can be removed. The approaches to our community should be cleared of all rubbish and refuse. The streets in the community and highway entering it should be made attractive. We should give heed to beauty for beauty today has a commercial value.

Bandera is widely regarded as an attractive, beautiful community. Let's do all within our power to keep it that way and to strive for constant improvement.

GAINS SHOWN BY INCOME AND WEALTH OF U. S.

Washington, April 3. —Income of the United States during 1937 will amount to more than sixty-five billion dollars and possible will be as high as seventy billions according to authorities of the United States Department of Commerce.

Low year of the depression, 1932, registered a national income of thirty-nine billion dollars. The high, peak previously was recorded in 1929 when the national income reached eighty-one billions. Thus the estimate for 1937 is nearly 100 per cent over the low year of 1932 and about 20 per cent under the peak of 1929. It is estimated that by 1938 the national income, assuming the present trend continues, will reach the predepression average of seventy-five billions. These figures are estimates of authorities. No exact data of income is taken, and the income tax collections do not reveal all income since certain classes are under no obligation to report. These figures on national income include the total of all individual incomes in the nation.

The national wealth also is staging a comeback. This figure, like national income, is estimated by several sources of authority that disagree somewhat, but the average figure for the peak of 1929 was 461 billion dollars. This dropped to approximately 320 billions at the depth of the depression and has now returned to about 320 billions.

SCHOOLS RECEIVE $1,000,000 AT STATE PAYMENT

Austin, April 2—L. A. Woods, state superintendent of education, announced today release of $4,484,467 in available school funds to school districts, representing a $3 payment on the current $19 per capita apportionment and leaving an unpaid balance of $8.

CAN'T SPEND $200 IN MONTH, NEW SET OF TEETH BLAMED

Idaho Falls, Idaho, April 3 — Rufus Park's new set of false teeth were blamed Saturday night when officials of the Township Inst'ewspaper learned the 72-year-old follower of the cause hadn't been able to spend his $200 in a month.

Park said he did his best but he had 160 left 30 days after the last started. If his few false teeth had arrived, he said, the teeth and steaks and chops might be done for the sum. Pack still believed in the cause.

The Bandera High School junior girls, who entered in the Interscholastic League meet at Ingram Saturday were very successful. We played the first game with Ingram and won by a score of 17 to 2. We also won the next game, the score being 10 to 2. Then the ball game, which was toughest of all or maybe we were just too tired, was won by us with a score of 18 to 10.

We caused quite a sensation with our rub-downs and suits. Although we were all tired and sun-baked we were champions! Oh, yes, do you know what Miss Davis promised us? A picnic! Don't you wish you were us?

The line-up was as follows: Lois Estelle Billings, catcher; Beatrice Langford, pitcher; Margaret Chipman, first base; Helen Calloway, second base; Louise Manning, third base; Nina Word and Elna Adams alternating as first short stop; Bertye Evans, second short stop; Georgia Fee, right field; Genevieve Word, center field; and Ruth Preston, left field.

The Senior Class Play (Louise Rugh)

My goodness! I wonder why that ball is hanging in the school house? Humph! Can't you guess? Those Seniors are practicing "Second Fiddle," and now, oh joy, it's going to be a "humdinger" of a class play. The excellent selection of this cast is equaled only by their ability to co-operate in learning their parts. Soooo—ladies and gentlemen! Save your nickels! Save your dimes! We desire the presence of each and every one of you, for we present "Second Fiddle." Don't miss it! When? Well—we'll look in next week's issue of the school news for further details.

Track and Field Events.

The county meet at Ingram last Friday and Saturday, April 2 and 3, was a very successful one. The schools that were represented in the meet were Ingram, Medina, Center Point, Reservation and Bandera. Medina was ineligible for the meet, because that school did not send an entry to Ingram at an early date. Also, Reservation only had a volley ball team and an indoor baseball squad. Those who were present at the meet, witnessed some very good athletic events.

Our boys made a very good showing in all the track and field events that they entered into. However, we do not, as yet, have an official count of the points scored by our band. A report will be sent to Mr. Briggs some time this week. Full details and reports will be given in this paper as soon as possible.

The Red, The White, The Blue

Last Friday, Mr. Briggs took Louise Rugh, Virginia Patterson, Alfie Gerald Langford, Georgia Fee and me to Ingram to take part in Declamation and Typing. Virginia put forth her best efforts when she competed with eight other declaimers—and her efforts were not in vain, for she won first place—a bright blue ribbon! Next came Alfie Gerald, and maybe you think he didn't show up! Why, every judge had singled him out for first place before he had hardly started his "Defense of the Alamo." We were not surprised when a blue ribbon was awarded to him. Then Roy Wyatt was also brought home a blue ribbon for her excellent story telling. And then came the Typing—and did we have a time!! Please do not ask either of us what happened, at any rate, we went home place—a white ribbon! Center Point proved to be rather good typists—they were first, and Troy second. We are really proud of the three first places and one third we got from the six events that we entered.

ROBBER OF ADAMS CO. CAPTURED AT AUSTIN

The robbery of the Adams County store at Devine on December 4 last may be solved by the confession of Robert Lee Scroughy, one of the group of robbers arrested near Austin last week. The man, who is held in jail at New Braunfels is said to have told Detectives Hallers and Long of San Antonio that the Devine store was not the first one he obtained a ladder and entered the store through a nonsense window. He declared he found one safe empty, but knocked the knob off the vault and took $450 in currency.

It will be remembered that when the robbery was discovered it was found that a hole had been made in the outer money wall, but that it was understood that charges against Scroughy were not prepared.

The confessed robber is said to have admitted also that he entered Alterman's place at 212 Broadway in San Antonio, knocked the knob off the safe and made away with $450. Then a few days later he burglarized Sallings store in the 1700 block on Blanco Road and got $125. It is claimed he made sworn statements regarding the robberies.

Stampede Incomplete

"Yes, it was a sad case about Jones. Drove his car all the way to hear his friends don't know him any more."

"What about the other half?"

"They don't know yet that he has lost it."

SIX DROWN IN LOCK—

cent of what happened. One said Johnston clung to the side of the boat and supported his little daughter, who probably was already drowned.

When Johnston went under, Mrs. Johnston grabbed the child and was still holding her when help arrived.

Miss Trahan heroically struck out alone across the choppy, chilly lake to swim to shore for help. Spurred on by the pitiful cries of those clinging to the boat, she fought her way to the shore and rip to the cabin of Mrs. Joe Finck.

Mrs. Finck raced on her car to Joe Granieri's wharf. Bill Miller and Fred Berger, employed by Granieri as speed pilots, commandeered a speed boat owned by Kenney Kaiser, youthful president of the San Antonio Drug company and raced to the main launch of Masterson's Point, where the tragedy occurred.

Their searchlights, sweeping the pitching, rolling lake's bosom, picked up the upturned boat and the survivors about 50 feet from the shore of the point.

Mrs. Lamkin's body was on the surface near the boat. Mrs. Minnie was dead and in her mother's arms.

Firemen L. R. Cavin and E. R. Schlueter rushed to the lake with an inhalator, but could not resuscitate the child.

Monday Firemen W. A. Kalsky, P. M. Bedger, and L. A. Wisner dragged the lake with grappling hooks.

Their grim task was made difficult by the fact that the drowned had gone down at a spot 140 feet deep. Medina lake is an artificial body, said a forest still stands in its depths.

The tragedy occurred about 7 p. m. Sunday. Trahan's watch stopped with the hands at 7:10 o'clock.

The larger boat was named "Dixie Kid," and had been used in races at the lake.

The party had left George's Place at 5 p. m. Sunday in the two boats. George Schwager, operator, did not learn of the tragedy until Monday morning.

Schwager said he left the lights burning at his dock until 11 o'clock Sunday night in anticipation of the party's return.

Justice of the Peace A. F. Haller of Castroville was in charge of the investigation at the lake.

Mrs. Lamkin is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Trahan; brothers, Edwin, Theodore J. and William C. Petry, all of San Antonio; San Antonio Light.

Leaders Urge More Horses and Mules

Stockmen and farmers of Texas, after careful study, have learned that Texas will have to breed and produce the horses and mules needed on Texas farms. So the leaders in this important industry have organized the Texas Horse, Jack and Mule Breeders' Association and are determined to restore the horse and mule industry from its present alarming condition. These pictured speakers at a big meeting in Fort Worth are, left to right, John W. Carpenter, Dallas; C. W. Green, Sedalia, Mo., and B. A. Skipper, Jr., of Encino. Skipper is president and Carpenter vice president of the association. Carpenter said: "I have imported 200 jacks into Texas during the past four years and the demand continues. But there are no more where these came from. If we are to supply the demand we must breed them here in Texas. As I see things now, there will continue to be a shortage of mules for at least 10 years." Skipper, who was born and raised on a Navarro county farm, operates a big stock ranch in Dallas county as well as farms in other parts of the state.

JOHNSON WINS CONGRESS RACE IN 10th DISTRICT

Austin, April 11.—Lyndon B. Johnson of Johnson City, who polled seven other candidates for the 10th Texas district seat in congress, held for 24 years by the late J. P. Buchanan, by a wide majority in complete returns from 254 counties.

Johnson had advocated revamping the judiciary as a safeguard against flood control, farm relief, social security and labor. Also he emphasized his opposition to participation or intervention in foreign wars.

Polk Shelton of Austin, a vigorous opponent of "court packing," ran third while Merton L. Harris of Smithville, a former district attorney general, was second to the youthful Johnson. Harris had pledged support of the president.

All candidates were Democrats. A lone Republican contender withdrew during the campaign.

Unofficial but nearly complete returns gave Johnson 8068, Harris 4784, Shelton 4693, Jim Bone of Georgetown 3968, C. N. Avery of Austin (former campaign manager for Buchanan) 3766, Wilbur Hall 2848, Ayres K. Rose of Austin (Townsend plan advocate) 1651, and Robert Morris 1617. Only 17 counties in the district rural votes were uncounted.

Johnson, a native of rugged Blanco county, expected to leave the hospital in about a week and soon thereafter leave for Washington, friends said today. He was formerly state director of the National Youth Administration.

LUMP SUM PAYMENTS DUE UNDER SECURITY ACT

San Antonio, April 17.—Anticipating several hundred claims for lump sum payments the year for lump sum payments under the Federal Old Age Benefits provisions of the Social Security Act, J. E. Jackson, field representative of the Social Security Board, today outlined the simple procedures to be followed by claimants in the San Antonio field area in establishing their rights to official benefits afforded by the Act.

Jackson said any claim under procedure yet devised for either government or private business transactions. He will, provided followed, assure speedy settlement after their receipt by Board officials in Washington.

Five brief forms have been devised for (1) wage earners, (2) widows or children, and (3) other close relatives, (4) executors or administrators, and (5) guardians of estates. Claimants may ask for a minimum of two to a maximum of 12 questions. Simplicity of the forms, Jackson pointed out, by using a form for each type of claim instead of using one form for all types of claimants.

The employer submits a sixth form, known as "Statement of Employer," showing the total amount of wages paid the employee and the employment period.

These forms are obtainable, and assistance in executing them, is available, at the Jackson, Austin field office, 561 Maverick building, Jackson said. Mail service includes this county. Officials in the San Antonio office will conduct investigations necessary, and it is indicated they may be eligible for a benefit and explain and assist claimants in the necessary forms, Jackson said.

Simplicity of the claims forms will mean economy of the employment of attorneys or claims agents to assist claimants. Even if claimants do not employ them, it was pointed out, on claims of $100 or less.

Lump-sum payment provisions of the Federal Old-age Benefits plan became effective January 1, 1937, although benefits payments will be made. Persons who reach 65 years of age will be (1) workers who have been in covered employments after 1936 and (2) persons who died after 1936 or (2) relatives or heirs of such persons who have died.

Lump-sum payments now payable amount to those and one-half per cent of the total wages paid to the employee during all employments after 1936. Jackson estimated that under 1937 conditions the San Antonio field area will become 65 or die during the year. Nationally, the Social Security Board estimates about 200,000 claims may be entered during 1937, with benefits totaling over $2m s few dollars each to $100.

REBIRTH OF AAA SEEN BY U. S. LEGISLATORS

Washington, April 1.—Defeat of the president's farm tenancy legislation revealed strong sentiment in the House agriculture committee today for a permanent, comprehensive farm program embodying the crop curtailment of the invalidated AAA.

Representative Marvin Jones (Democrat, Texas), committee chairman, said that numerous groups, including leaders of farm organizations and department of Agriculture officials, and several committee members, are now at work on a general agriculture act.

"Whether a general measure can be worked out in this session or not, cannot be determined at this time, but a permanent program is bound to come," Jones asserted.

MOVE TO CONSIDER RACE REPEAL FAILS

Austin, April 1.—A move to set for consideration April 7 a bill to repeal a law legalizing wagering on horse races in Texas failed in the Senate today.

Other members promptly objected when Senator Grady Woodruff of Decatur sought consent to move that the measure be taken out of its regular order on the calendar.

His maneuver came in the closing minutes of the day's session when another senator had the floor. Under such conditions, unanimous consent was necessary to make a motion.

The repeal proposal had been passed overwhelmingly in the House and a Senate committee recently reported it favorably.

When placed on the Senate calendar numerous other bills preceded it. There was doubt when it would be reached on regular order.

Some senators interpreted the upper chamber's refusal to meet tonight as likely further to delay consideration. Numerous local and uncontested bills listed above the repeal proposal in the calendar might have been disposed of at a night session.

A young lady of our acquaintance observes caustically that just because the young bloods feel their oats at this time of year, there is no proof that they have any horse sense.

RANCHMAN HAS 97 PER CENT CALF CROP

The remarkable record of a 97 per cent calf crop has been accredited by Adam Wilson Jr., Divide ranchman. Out of 116 cows, most of them hand fed, the spring crop totaled 114 calves, all Herefords. He uses registered bulls and said swung wood as to avoid breeding to his own beget. Since 1918, he has used registered bulls.

He attributed the high percentage of his calf crop to the good condition and high grade of his cows, he said. He feeds a balanced ration. The 1937 calves began arriving early in the year, and the last ones arrived during the past week.

Wilson has found it profitable to sell his calves when they are eight to nine months old in most instances, and has sold a number of them to the City Meat Market in Kerrville. His herd at present includes, besides 118 cows, 30 yearlings and a few 2-year-olds. Wilson also runs about 800 head each of Angora goats and Rambouillet sheep.

INMATES IN PENITENTIARY ESTABLISH RECORD

Huntsville, March 30.—The inmates of the Texas prison system totaled 6,245 March 21, two more than the record established Aug. 16 last. The population now is 1,195 greater than the average of 6,050 for the 12 months of last year. Huntsville with 1,237 men led and Ramsey Farm with 945 was second. Eastham has 747; Central 615; Harlem 499; Wynn 278; Retrieve (women) 122 and the asylums 21.

The increase is attributed in part to the new policy of pardoning system for about a month.

A Tough Fish

"Yep, honesty pays after all," observed old Cy Perkins on his return from New Mexico.

"You see I thought a feller could make some easy money. Well, by crackey, I tried to sell the Empire State building, but the first feller I talked it up to owned the durn thing and I had to pay ten dollars to keep him quiet so I wouldn't be arrested."

Common sense is never easily recognized. Probably because the person who possesses it doesn't go around with a high hat or a stiff neck.

It will be two years before this young bopeful is given a name and sent to the starting gate.

NATIONAL MUSIC WEEK

Bandera county musicians will celebrate National Music Week the first week in May with community sing at the Medina school auditorium each night and on Mother's Day. The full program will be published next week in The Bandera New Era and the Medina Light.

We would like for all musicians in Bandera county to take part in the program, so please see, phone or write us or any of the county program committee and help to make music week a success.

The "Musical Talent" is to be the keynote for the 1937 observance of National Music Week. The national Music Week Committee wishes the fullest participation by young and old, professional and amateur, performer and listener. Music Week is and always will be comprehensive and characterized by spontaneous, co-operative movement to emphasize the value of music and to honor, through general participation, its service to the individual and the community.

The National Committee is also encouraging performance during Music Week by adult organizations of choruses, glee clubs, amateur, vocal and instrumental group activities. The larger the number of people enrolled in the appreciation of music to participate themselves in its production the greater will be the development of a musical community.

SCHREINER TO BUILD MODERN WAREHOUSE

The old stone warehouse of the Schreiner Wool and Mohair Commission Co. of Kerrville was sold last week to G. E. Lehmann, variety store owner, who will remodel the place for his store. The Schreiner Wool and Mohair Commission Co., according to "Banner Bank Notes," is planning to build a new warehouse on the former baseball grounds. Definite plans call for hollow tile and concrete building 302 feet long and 80 feet wide, and will be modern in all details with skylights and large windows giving ample light. A show room, where wool may be displayed to the best advantage, and an office will also be included. It probably will be finished in time to handle the fall accumulation of wool and mohair.

Ag. Class Builds Self-Feeder

The vocational agriculture class under the direction of Mr. W. P. Grisham, has completed a self-feeder for hogs. It was built out of a piece of scrap lumber that we found.

These feeders are not expensive and they are easy to build. They save a lot of feed and a great deal of time and work. It will put about 250-300 lbs. in them and the animal can eat it as it wants to. With a self feeder and feeding a balanced ration, a hog should gain better than 1 pound per day.

Feeders can also be used for any kind of animal. They learn to eat out of them and after putting the feed in the box you can let them eat.

May 15th Final Date To Sign Work Sheets

Farmers, don't forget that May 15th is the last date you have to sign up on work sheets for 1937 Soil Conservation Program.

Come in now and sign up your work sheets and avoid the final rush. It is evident that there will be a big last minute rush because so many farmers are planning on signing, but are putting it off until they are SURE their oats won't make.

Friends, don't put this off, do it NOW, tomorrow you might have a hail storm and then it will be too late. Signing these work sheets will not bind you in any way what so ever. Treat yourself right and sign up now.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agent

Bandera Farmers and Ranchers Attend Organization Meeting At Victoria

On Tuesday, April 13th a party of Eppa Russell, Raymond Hicks, T. P. Gentry, Charles Brient and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Hartman motored to Victoria, Texas to attend a County Agents and farmers meeting. Speakers of the day were Mr. Day, vice president, Texas Organized Farmers Mr. Arnold, member National Farm Organization. George Sloan, Jr., Bryan, Texas and H. H. Williamson, district and Extension service College Station, Texas.

Each speaker had a wonderful message to the unorganized farmers of the state. The main speaker was to get the farmers to organize and send their representative to Washington to enact the laws that will govern our part of the Soil Conservation Program.

Many counties sent in as many as 200 paid-up members and $50 in cash—others as many as 1,000 members and cash. Why can't we have a farm organization in Bandera County? We had a farm organization—why not a more active Sheep and Goat Raisers Association? (county organization) Besides a meeting on organization for farmers, the assistants to County Agents had a meeting to discuss completion of work sheets and the County Agents had their general Spring meeting to discuss many important topics.

Dick Hartman, Co. Agent

CALENDAR OF DISTRICT COURT TO BE REVISED

Designed to equalize time in those counties where the docket is heavier and to bringing about greater efficiency in dispatch of litigation, a bill has been introduced in the Legislature which calls for a revision of the 28th District Court calendar, Judge K. K. Woodley announced here Monday.

The bill, which upon passage would become effective July 1, recently was favorably reported out of committee and is expected to be adopted as a matter of routine when it reaches a vote in Austin. The measure was, introduced by Representative Joe Mondrahon of Uvalde, and has the solid support of Senators J. Franklin Spears and H. L. Winfield. Representatives Coke R. Stevenson and Alf Petsch, portions of whose districts overlap with the 38th Judicial District.

Under provisions of the bill the court terms for Kerr county would convene about one month earlier than the present schedule. Under the new calendar the 1938 work-out in the legislative measure is as follows:

Kerrville county—Three two-week terms, opening January 3, May 2 and September 5.

Medina county—Two three-week terms, opening January 17 and June 20.

Kerr county—One four-week term and one three-week term, opening April 4 and November 7.

The proposed new schedule has the unanimous endorsement of the bar associations in each of the seven counties of the district. —Kerrville Times.

THIEF RESTORES LOOT TO OFFICE IN COURTHOUSE

Stricken either by his conscience or by fear of apprehension, the thief who on March 21 burglarized the office of Justice of the Peace Joe Burkett Jr., last Sunday restored the loot to Joe Burkett's office in the courthouse. Furthermore, he again forced the lock on the door to return the stolen articles, which included a brief case, a soft rubber chair cushion and an alarm clock.

The court was very irate when the burglary was discovered and passed the word along where it might reach certain suspects that a cruel fate awaited the guilty party or parties. A policy of watchful waiting brought results, and Monday morning the missing articles were again in their accustomed places, although all doors to the office were locked.—Kerrville Times.

AG. CLASS COMPLETES WALK
Vocational Agriculture Class, under direction of Mr. W. P. Graham and Mr. A. K. Briggs, have completed a concrete walk around the school house on the corner of the new school building to the gate leading to the grammar school.
We laid 180 sq. feet of concrete, using only 10 sacks of cement. The cost per sack was only $1.10-6 cents. The sidewalk is strongly built and has a nice finish. We not only saved money, but also learned a great deal of practical information in concrete laying.

Fishing Season Opens Saturday

The opening date of the fishing season is next Saturday, May 1st, and many fishermen will start their angling for the finny tribe on that day. Owing to the fact that the Medina river runs into the Medina Lake so nearby, are hopeful of a big season for fishermen from all over Texas and other parts of the nation. The residents of this section are always thrilled at the opening of the season.
Game Warden Bill Garrett, who is now in charge of Bandera county to see that the fish and game laws are obeyed, left us a copy of the latest rules governing fishing in this county. He states that fishing with trot lines will be allowed in any part of Medina Lake this year. Following are the laws governing fishing—Certain Counties, H. B. No. 83

P. T. A. ELECTS OFFICERS

The Bandera P. T. A. met Tuesday night at the high school building with many members present. Mrs. Ray Wyatt, the program chairman, presented a fine program on the topic "Appreciation." The audience sang "The More We Get Together" and "The Eyes of Texas" to start the program and W. O. Patton gave the invocation.

Let us stress the four points of the security program for the child this include: 1st, maternal and child health service; 2nd, care for the crippled child; 3rd, extension of child welfare service; and 4th, aid to dependent children in homes.

Special emphasis should be given the control of communicable diseases, birth registration, annual physical examination including dental, correction of defects, adequate sanitary protection for each child, safe food with special attention to milk and water and special attention to the prevention of accidents in childhood.

How fortunate we are today when we have the services of so many scientists and doctors who have discovered the serums and anti-toxins with which to fight many diseases of childhood. Tropoid used in the prevention of diphtheria, has saved many a life, and where it has been used judiciously, has cut down the number of cases enormously. Scarlet fever and typhoid fever need no longer be scourges that they were at one time. While there are still far too many cases of illness, there are today many more ways of helping the sick than at any other time. Let us all co-operate and make the children of Bandera county feel that it really is Health Day.

Dr. Guy Kincaid, local dentist, is to give the dental examinations at the local schools next Tuesday. The date for the physical examination has not been set, but when the examinations have been made the parents will receive the report and if any defects are found they should be corrected. All parents should give their co-operation in this matter, as the doctors making the examinations receive no remuneration for their services.

4-H CLUB BOY DOING EXCELLENT FEEDING JOB

Billie Fisher, Utopia and Vandergrift 4-H Club boy, is feeding three calves this year. The largest calf weighed 220 lbs on March 5th and up to April 5th had gained 56 lbs. an average of 2.1 lbs. per day for the period.

He was getting only about a pound and a half of grain a day during the month and was nursing its own mother, a Hereford cow that was housing on pasture.

The Utopia-Vandergrift Club boys have a total of 17 calves that are being started on feed at present. These boys are all working for a common cause—"To better the livestock industry in Bandera county by proving we need better bred cattle to make maximum profit on the pastures on natural forest land in the Southern Region of the U. S. Forest Service

MAY DAY IS CHILD HEALTH DAY

It is the desire of the State Health Department that this shall be the finest Child Health Day that we have ever held in Texas, or for that matter, in the United States. Children are such precious little persons and surely deserve all the opportunities for health that we can give them.

Let us stress the four points of the security program for the child this include: 1st, maternal and child health service; 2nd, care for the crippled child; 3rd, extension of child welfare service; and 4th, aid to dependent children in homes.

Bandera To Have New County Agent

Dick Hartman, our present county agent, is leaving on May 1st for Brady, where he will be county agent of McCulloch county. We are sorry to see Mr. Hartman leave us, for he has been a great help to the farmers and ranchers of Bandera county and surely deserves the promotion for his fine work.

Herman Schlemmer, for two years assistant county agent, in Bexar county, will be the new count agent for Bandera county.

BANDERA SENIORS PRESENT "SECOND FIDDLE"

Needles and pins, Needles and pins,
When a man marries,
His troubles begin!"

So rung the old jingle. And if a man thinks he's married—and to the wrong girl—even it it turns out that he isn't (and that she isn't—the wrong girl, we mean), well, his troubles begin in earnest —and keep right on coming.

"Needles and pins, Needles and pins"—for the actors, for the audience; and stitches, too.

Don't fail to see this three-act comedy at the library auditorium Friday, April 30, at 8:30 p. m. All school children will be admitted for 20c, all adults 35c.

AG. CLASS COMPLETES WALK

The Vocational Agriculture Class, under the direction of Mr. W. P. Grisham and Mr. A. K. Briggs, have completed a concrete sidewalk. This walk runs from the corner of the new school building to the gate leading to the grammar school.

We laid 180 sq. feet of concrete, using only 10 sacks of cement. The cost per square foog was 4 1-6 cents. The sidewalk is strong built and has a nice finish. We not only saved money, but gained a great deal of practical information in concrete laying.

To My Friends in Bandera County

I want to take this opportunity to thank all my friends in the county for their splendid co-operation given me while in Bandera county. I regret very much to leave you but a promotion comes and once in a-lifetime I think it

I hope you will treat my successor my county agent as you have with me, and continue to better your farms and ranches as you have.

I have enjoyed my work here, and like my people.

I think you have made possible all that has been accomplished here than any county I've ever been in, and I hope that you will all work towards a common goal—that of helping up with those "possibilities" as they present themselves.

Dick Hartman.

Miss Fannie Zumwalt of Medina visited Mr. and Mrs. Grayson the weekend.

Fishing Season Opens Saturday

The opening date of the fishing season is next Saturday, May 1st, and many fishermen will start their angling for the finny tribe on that day. Owing to the fact that our Medina river and the Medina Lake are nearby, are popular haunts every season for fishermen from all over Texas and other parts of the nation, the residents of this section are always thrilled at the opening of the season.

Game Warden Bill Garrett, who is now in charge of Bandera county to see that the fish and game laws are obeyed, left us a copy of the latest laws covering fishing in this county. He states that fishing with trot lines will be allowed in any part of Medina Lake this year. Following are the laws:

Fishing—Certain Counties, H. B. No. 33

An Act to prohibit the taking of fish in Kimble, Kerr, Edwards, Real, Sutton, Mason, Menard, Blanco, Llano, Kendall or Gillespie, to take or attempt to take any fish by any method, means or device equipped with more than two (2) hooks, except artificial lures, or with a red and red. This shall not prohibit the use of minnow seine not more than twenty (20) feet in length for the purpose of taking minnows for bait.

$40,000 LINK WILL JOIN BANDERA-MEDINA HIWAYS

Holding a special April term Wednesday morning, the Kerr County Commissioners Court authorized issuance of $40,000 in road and bridge warrants and accepted a final offer of help in paying off the indebtedness to be incurred. The funds will be used in constructing a link connecting State Highway 16, the new Medina road pavement, with the Kerrville-Bandera road.

The offer of aid was from the trustees of the Charles Schreiner road fund, who agreed to pay off the discharge, 75 per cent of the principal with interest that may accrue on the entire issue after May 10, 1942. Precinct No. 1, Kerr county, is to pay all interest accruing on May 10, 1938, 1939, 1940 and 1941, and to pay 25 per cent of the principal, and to have option of paying its 25 per cent in denominations of $1,000 on any maturity date.

The new road will be about 2.75 miles long, and will give Kerrville a high water outlet toward Bandera. The proposed route of the new strip will be through the Kerrville State Park. Action of the county commissioners sanctioned issuance of not to exceed $44,000 Kerr county road and bridge warrants of 1937, dated May 10, in $1,000 denominations, and numbered one to 40. They are to mature at the rate of $40,000 annually from May 10, 1942 to May 10, 1952, and to bear 5 per cent interest per annum.

An engineer with the Neyland Construction Company, which is building the Kerrville-Bandera gap in Highway 27, has been secured to prepare the necessary plans and specifications, and bidding forms, as required by the State Highway Department or similar projects.

County Judge J. A. Atkins was authorized to advertise for bids, which will be opened at the regular May term of Commissioners Court. W. K. Ewing of San Antonio has been employed to handle the printing, legal preparation and sale of the warrants at a

BOOST FOR THE FAIR!

Old Bandera county can and will have as fine a County Fair as any other County in the State if we will all put our shoulder to the wheel and push. Kendall county for many years has held an outstanding fair, which is the result of county wide cooperative effort on the part of its citizens.

Bandera is as well equipped as any county in the State in the matter of fine cattle and stock. Our other products, too, can equal or excel those of our neighboring counties if we each plan to do our part toward making our county fair a success.

SOLVING LABOR PROBLEMS

Are we moving toward a new era of understanding in the old conflict between capital and labor?" Has the recent decision of the United States Supreme Court paved the way to a peaceable adjustment of labor controversies, or has it merely made business subservient to labor? These questions can be answered only after the Wagner act has been operative for some time and when there is an accumulation of policies and precedent.

In our humble opinion, though we realize how remote we are from the center of disturbance, the act will operate effectively when it is amended, and when definite responsibilities are imposed on both sides. Rights imply corresponding duties. If labor gains a recognition of certain rights in the Wagner act it must accept responsibilities. And in the same breath, we may add, some new obligations must also be assumed by employers.

Labor's responsibilities include a definite effort to terminate practices which have aroused public feeling. Strikes which are called before any sincere effort to negotiate differences has been made; sympathetic strikes in which the public which is not involved is forced to suffer the greater loss; gross violations of law and order disregard of property rights; efforts of minorities to dictate—these practices must end before understanding and peaceable adjustment of controversies is possible, and there is labor's responsibility.

Employer responsibilities call for a complete effort to drive out un-American activities. The employment of labor spies, and the retention of paid gunmen to break up labor organizations; discrimination against organized workers, and refusal to deal collectively with the workers—these are practices which business and capital must eliminate.

When both sides recognize these obligations and seek to deal, according to the law, with all the problems that arise in adjusting differences of interest, then we will approach that time when cooperation will be substituted for conflict in relations between labor and capital; and when that time comes this great nation will witness a land of prosperity such as we cannot even dream about today.

NO JOKE IN THESE FIGURES

The goat is made the butt of many jokes, but last year the 2,980,000 goats in Texas produced 13,400,000 pounds of mohair, valued at $20,000,000, which was 85 percent of the nation's total.

"If call it the ideal marriage when a man is wedded to an interesting companion and a good housekeeper.

"I wouldn't call it ideal; I'd call it bigamy."

Some of those fellows who take up golf to get their minds off from business soon have to find some other hobby to get their minds off from golf.

Mike: "What is the difference between capital and labor?"

Pat: "Well, if I loan you $10 that is capital; but when I try to get it back that is labor."

Secretary Wallace expects the weather to behave this year. Well it should. It certainly has a man date from the people.

SOLVING LABOR PROBLEMS

Are we moving toward the end, or understanding in the old, old conflict between capital and labor? Has the second decision of the United States Supreme Court paved the way to a peaceful adjustment of labor controversies, or has it merely made business subservient to labor? These questions can be answered only after the Wagner act has been operative for some time and when there is an accumulation of policies and precedent.

In our humble opinion, though we cannot now remote we are from the center of disturbance, the act will operate effectively when it is amended, and when definite responsibilities are imposed on both sides. Rights imply corresponding duties. If labor gains a recognition of certain rights in the Wagner act it must accept responsibilities. And in the same breath, we may add, some new obligations must also be assumed by employers.

Labor's responsibilities include a determined effort to terminate practices which have aroused public feeling. Strikes which are called before any sincere effort to negotiate differences has been made; sympathetic strikes in which the public which is not involved is forced to suffer the greater loss; gross violations of law and order; disregard of property rights; efforts of minorities to dictate—these practices must end before understanding and peaceable adjustment of controversies is possible. To end them is labor's responsibility.

Employer responsibilities call for a conscientious effort to stamp out un-American activities. The employment of labor spies, and the retention of paid gunmen to break up labor organizations; discrimination against organized workers, and refusal to deal collectively with the workers—these are practices which business and capital must eliminate.

When both sides recognize these obligations and seek to deal, according to the law, with all the problems that arise in adjusting differences of interest, then we will approach that time when cooperation will be substituted for conflict in the relations between labor and capital; and when that time comes this great nation will witness a level of prosperity such as we cannot even dream about today.

NO JOKE IN THESE FIGURES

The goat is made the butt of many jokes, but last year the 2,980,000 goats in Texas produced 13,400,000 pounds of mohair, valued at $20,000,000, which was 85 percent of the nation's total.

Old Luke says that this country will make ends meet when everybody is either paying an income tax or is on relief.

"I'd call it the ideal marriage when a man is wedded to an interesting companion and a good housekeeper."

"I wouldn't call it ideal. I'd call it bigamy."

Some of these fellows who take up golf to get their minds off from business soon have to find some other hobby to get their

Mike: "What is the difference between capital and labor?"

Pat: "Well, if I have you $10 that is capital; but when I try to get [illegible]."

Secretary Wallace expects the weather to behave this year. Well it should. It certainly has a mandate from the people.

An animal trainer has taught a lion to sit up and beg. Where-upon it may be wondered whether he can teach the wolf at the door the same trick.

Said a man watching a driver weaving recklessly down the street, "Well, there's an accident going somewhere to happen."
