From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

You've Got To Hand It To Sandy

Sandy Johnson's wife "Tina" suddenly asks him at breakfast the other morning: Why don't you build me some blanket boxes?

"What for?" asks Sandy. "Why for blankets, of course," says Tina. "The ones we have in the home aren't big enough."

Well, Sandy's been married long enough to realize that when a woman says "why" she doesn't want to be told why she can't have something. She wants to be told how she can get it.

From where I sit, we could do with more understanding people like Sandy—and Tina, too. He realizes that a man can't always be right. He likes a big-spirited giant of a woman who can laugh at herself. Tina thinks he's perfect, whatever Sandy does or says, and for Tina that's just fine and dandy with Sandy.

MUCH INTEREST IN SCHOOL BOND ELECTION.

Considerable interest is being taken in the election to be held on May 12th, for the purpose of voting $150,000 bonds for improvement of Bandera's school facilities. An election was held on this same question in April 5th, but resulted in the bond issue not receiving the two-thirds majority of votes cast, which is necessary for authorization, a permissive, and other facilities the school board was petitioned to call an election and again submit the question to the voters. The petition to the trustees seems to have been that the cost of building a gymnasium would raise taxes and that we can not afford to pay higher taxes. While the addition of a gymnasium would have been needed that taxes will not be raised, and that the proposition does not call for the building of a gymnasium. The auditorium, gymnasium and an auditorium are badly needed at this time. The proposition is fully explained in the page advertisement which appeared in the Bulletin last week and again this week. If Bandera is to keep pace with progress the building of school facilities is imperative, and the measure should have the deepest consideration of every school patron in the district.

NEW SEWER SYSTEM NOW IN OPERATION.

Bandera's new sewer system is now a reality. Its completion was officially announced by the Bandera Water Control Board at the barbecue given at Mansfield Park last Sunday night. The system is now in operation for all the connections that have been made and local plumbers are pushing the work with the completion of connections as rapidly as possible. Within a few weeks all connections will have been made. The sewage disposal plant in the eastern part of town is in operation to its full capacity and the system will prove valuable for Bandera for some years to come. Bandera is justly proud of this new utility and also of the new natural gas system that has been installed in the Lone Star Gas Company. Time marches on, and Bandera continues to

BOND ISSUES BUILD LARGE CITIES.

Dallas, Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, and Austin are cities of Texas. There are other cities, but these cities grow their present proportions. Bond issues had not been voted for improvements such as streets, water, sewer facilities, school buildings, auditoriums and other public utilities. A few years ago when a movement was started in Bandera to provide a modern water system for the town by voting a bond issue considerable opposition developed, the argument being advanced that it would raise our taxes. Now we have a water system that has added many times the value for the town and nobody has noticed the small tax that has been added to the payments on the bonds. This along came the much needed sewer system which failed for a bond issue, and we have it. Bond issues for the building of water and sewer systems, and facilities have not increased the tax payers. And so it goes. As Bandera grows and improves its public utilities, real estate becomes more valuable, new industries make investments, greater conveniences are provided which attract more investors and the march of progress continues. Hark back to twenty-five years ago to find that we had no electric service, no paved streets, no school facilities, no public roads. No many people were inclined to come here to invest in business or to build homes. With the coming of the Central Power and Light Company, now the Bandera Electric Cooperative, things took a turn, and development has been steady. We have better streets, better roads, better school facilities, better churches, better church buildings, and the population has increased from about 400 to more than 1,000. Bandera is the most talked of town in Texas, and now people are coming here to live, to build homes, to invest in property here. Maybe bond issues raise taxes somewhat, the increased demand for property at increased value more than offsets the interest we pay on the bonds. No city or business was ever built without borrowed money. No city was ever built without bond issues. Think on these things.

GIFTS, PARASITES, AND FEDERAL JOBS.

Federal jobs have been "sold" for a price, and holders of some federal jobs are parasites on the American taxpayers. Those charges came from an angry federal official in Washington and from the report of a senate investigation of patronage in the state of Mississippi. The angry official was M. E. Thompson, former governor of Georgia. He quit as a member of the Office of Price Stabilization. He said he had held his job 12 weeks at a salary of $18 a day and in all that time had not been asked to do any work. He charged that there are thousands of other federal employees in similar jobs.

"I refuse to be a parasite on the American taxpayers," Thompson declared. He added that he would not support the Democratic party in the 1952 presidential election unless "its banner is rescued from the greedy hands of the spoilsmen now hiding behind it for protection."

Thompson accused the Truman administration of corruption, waste, inefficiency and extravagance. He charged that no real effort had been made to stabilize prices. He added that "conditions existing in the national administration today are so deplorable that loyalty to party and patriotism to country constitute a conflict."

SENATE VOTES PLAN TO MAKE OVER RFC.

Senate approval of the Truman administration's plan to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation does not mean this one of efforts to abolish completely the giant government lending agency. Bills to wipe out the RFC have been introduced in both houses of congress and will come before committees for hearings. They are based on the theory that private lending agencies are capable of any present-day credit needs and on charges that political influences has been too prominent in RFC operations. The Truman plan will abolish the agency's five-man board of directors and put the lending agency under a single administrator with an advisory board to assist him. Before the senate gave its approval to the reorganization plan, which was submitted by the President under authority of the reorganization act of 1950, the chamber rejected a proposal to disapprove the plan. Under the reorganization act, a majority vote would have been necessary to nullify the President's plans. But the final vote on the measure fell short of a majority, with 41 for killing the plan and 33 upholding it.

BANDERA'S FOURTH ANNUAL STOMPEDE GETS UNDER WAY

The selection of the most attractive cowgirl in the southwest, called the Cowbelle Contest, is one of the most highly publicized features of the Stompede celebration and is scheduled for 4:00 p.m. Saturday.

Texas towns have been invited to send one representative each to compete in this event. In addition to securing the title of "Bell Cow Cowbelle," the girl selected is given a week's vacation at one of the Bandera County guest ranches, the name of which she calls from a hat at the Saturday night dance, plus three lovely merchandise prizes—a Cole of California swim suit, a Kreet of California four piece sport outfit, and a Zale of San Antonio bridal set. Dr. M. Lee Woodward and E. K. Cole, Sr., have bought a quarter section of land for $32,500.00 on the west fork of the Medina River where Dr. Woodward will make his home. Dr. Woodward has been an exclusive ranchman in New Mexico for many years. He has had vast experience in sheep raising, in fact, he thinks a man can make a better ranch with sheep than any other animal. He has bought several flocks of them and is going to stock his ranch mainly with sheep but will also have cattle. The Doctor's ranch has a bold flowing stream running on which one dam has already been made and is now full of fish. The Doctor intends to build at least two or three other dams in this stream and stock them with fish. The way the Doctor put it, "I like to eat in the shade of a big tree with a mess of trout sweet and sugary fish like I used to do when I was a boy." This is going to be a place in this crystal blue lake of water. Dr. Woodward's doctor and Mr. Cole purchased on the West Prong of the Medina, has a nice home, with a caretaker and home, a hunting lodge, together with a large modern home. The Quadrill well perform Friday night, May 4th, and Sunday afternoon, May 6th during the Stompede at Mansfield Park. Mrs. Bryan Sparks (nee Theresa Saathoff) passed away April 20 in a Brooklyn, New York, hospital after a year and a few days illness. She was married to Bryan Sparks on December 28, 1950, and is the daughter of Mrs. M. L. Saathoff and the late M. L. Saathoff. Mrs. Sparks was born in Medina county on November 27, 1893, being at the time of her death 57 years and a month of age. She leaves besides her husband, her aged mother, Mrs. M. L. Saathoff, two sisters, Mrs. Katie Ferguson of San Antonio and Mrs. Helen Wood of Ivory, three brothers, Thomas D. Saathoff of Dallas, Antonio E. and Alfred H. Saathoff, both of San Antonio, a number of nieces and nephews as well as other relatives. Funeral services were held in the Lower Tarpley cemetery April 27th. Rev. W. Fechner, Methodist minister of New Fountain, brought the comforting words to the bereaved. Active pall bearers were Millard Bryson of Uvalde, Bill Blackwell of Kerrville, Alton Wood of San Marcos, Elvie Dean, Bud Mitchell, and Otis Marquis of Tarpley. The large concourse of friends and the beautiful flowers bespoke the high esteem in which the deceased was held. She moved from Medina to this community when she was quite young and grew up here where she was loved by all who knew her. Her passing is mourned by many and to the grief stricken husband, mother, sisters, brothers and other relatives, we offer our fervent heartfelt sympathy.

We also wish to express our sympathy to the W. A. Bairds of Fort Davis in the passing of Mrs. Baird's son last week.

Grandma Elms was able to return home Sunday from the Memorial county hospital in Hondo where she was taken last week when she became quite ill. She was 89 years old last February 20 and we are all glad to see her back at home again.

Mrs. Davis and Robert Erfurt, who celebrated his birthday. A second event was enjoyed at the same time. Robert received many nice gifts and Georgie's teacher, Mrs. Gilbert, and his schoolmates presented him with a zipper tool box as a going away gift.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis and son George and Tommie, are spending some time in Oklahoma and Texas City of Arkansas. We regret to learn that Mrs. Davis is ill in a Texas City hospital. They moved here from Ohio several years ago and have been active in community affairs and will surely be missed. CARD OF THANKS

We, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Schoenfeldpenning, wish to thank all the friends who helped to make the Bridal shower for Lavern a wonderful success. Especially we thank Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Bell, Mrs. Mae Earl Hobbs, Mrs. Jack Fritz Sauer and Mrs. Ed Groos for the beautiful gifts. We also thank them Mr. and Mrs. Schoenfeldpenning.

While the Truman-MacArthur tangle simmered, the House Appropriations subcommittee of appropriation bill last week, trimming them all surplus fat, and the Senate Armed Services committee set the stage for a full-dress hearing on the Far Eastern military policies.

Meanwhile, there is increasing evidence that General Ridgway, MacArthur's successor, and General Stratemeyer, Air Force Commander in the Far East, share many of the views of General MacArthur regarding strategy in Korea. The Senate hearings should reveal basic arguments and disagreements relative to policies in the event Chinese Nationalist and what should be done about the Communist supply lines in Manchuria.

Along with this, was the announcement that the U. S. will send 4,000 additional experts to Formosa to help train the Nationalists troops there to be bolstered by $50 million for aid and equipment to that strategic island.

There are fewer farmers in Texas now than there were 10 years ago, according to a recent Census report. While our State topped its total round six and a half to nearly seven million the rural farm population had a net loss of 4.5 per cent. There are now 886,000 farmers in Texas.

What happened was that vast numbers of reduced people moved away to greener fields. They went north and west. Nowhere in Ohio, for example, increased by 37.8 per cent while the whites increased by 19.8 per cent. Similar results are noted in Pennsylvania, New York and California. While the Census Bureau has not released details covering the other southern states, it is evident the exodus was general from the southland.

Rev. H. Marshall Smith, pastor of the Trinity Baptist Church of Kerrville recently completed a two-week revival at the Petworth Baptist Church in Washington. While here Mr. Smith was honored in the House of Representatives by being invited to give the prayer at the beginning of one of the sessions.

A Texan who is doing right well by himself in Washington is Virgil Johnson, a Baylor graduate and former Manager of the Chamber of Commerce at Lampasas. He came to Washington earlier this year to take a post-graduate course in Foreign Affairs at Georgetown University. By arranging his courses for evening and night sessions, he has been able to accept a position with the Washington Board of Trade as Manager of the Foreign Trade, Business Development and Transportation department.

The political crisis in England's labor government has attracted a host of attendants to Capitol Hill, particularly the darts at the Untied Nations. Among those who dropped in to see Secretary Acheson during the past week was Herbert Morrison, Labor Minister. We can only hope that Bevan speaks for a respectable minority of his party when he refers forward a healthy respect for the United States and its checks since the end of the war.

Bevan's huff and resignation resulted from rebellion against Britain's proposed $4,700,000,000 budget which would nearly double Britain's annual defense. Winston Churchill has pointed out that the budget is a "staggering document" and Aneurin Bevan, Labor Minister of Health, has resigned in protest against the budget.

Ray Bertram, who claims there is no connection between the Ray Bertram Construction Company and the Ray Bertram corporation, south of Atlanta, Texas.

Paul Bryan's remarks to Congress will be printed when the Government Printing Office gets around to it. Bryan's remarks, delivered on the floor of the House, were a blistering attack on the Truman administration, which he charged with "bungling, boondoggling and blundering" in the conduct of foreign affairs.

The Band Room or Music Classroom is 21x28 ft. 6 in.
The Cafeteria is 50x21 feet.
The Stage is 22x39 feet.
The Boys' Dressing Room is 22x43 feet.
The Girls' Dressing Room is 22x37 feet.
Each of the dressing rooms have showers and toilets.
The bleachers will provide seating space for approximately 750 people.
The actual floor space of the Gymnasium and Auditorium is 88x92 feet with 6 feet on each side and 10 feet on each end to insure safety for the players.

COSTS:

Class Rooms and Corridors	$27,500
Gym, Auditorium, and Bleachers	$58,000
Stage and Dressing Rooms	$20,292
Cafeteria and Kitchen	$10,080
	$118,872

This does not include Architect's fee.

This gives you an idea of what you are buying. It is practical in every respect. No frills have been added, on the other hand, no essentials have been omitted. According to estimates from the architect, this building can be erected within the budget of $120,000.00 called for in the bond issue that will be voted on May 12. In case actual costs exceed this amount the lunch room will be dispensed with for the time being.

The board has pledged to keep the cost down where there will be no tax raise. The above costs were based on the plan of letting the project out to contractors. More than likely a large saving can be made by employing a superintendent of works or over seer for this job, and by using local labor. This will be done if a saving can be made.

Don't Fail to Attend the Mass Meeting at Bandera Court House Wednesday Night, May 9th. You will be given an opportunity to ask architects and bond men questions that might clear up things you would like to know. You are sincerely urged to give thought and time to the matter. We do not believe the people want to pass up an opportunity TO BUILD NECESSARY BUILDINGS for our school, especially when it WILL NOT RAISE THE TAXES.

Be Sure to Vote on this Proposition May 12 at the School House

THREE RODEO SHOWS PLANNED FOR THE WEEKEND

The postman takes a bike on his day off, the lineman enjoys a drive on his vacation, and cowboys always ride on their holidays.

Plenty of good "reasoning" is taken for granted at any western rodeo, and is a must for the cowboy holiday at Stompede Rodeo Fly and Bennie Adamietz, co-producers of this season's show, have been working hard for weeks, lining up the correct hardware of exacting rules and regulations of such shows, toward the end of giving Bandera a top-notch performance this year beginning with matinee for the kiddies on Friday and Saturday night at 8:00 p.m. and Sunday matinee at 2:00 p.m., visitors will be treated to a show of the finest specimens of steer America has to offer, and the cowboys who have been over the input, anxiously awaiting the opportunity of attacking the or double problem of rolling them in the least possible time, both this week and collected some of the best ropers in the state, on the available backgrounds of Bandera County.

Bennie Adamietz, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raising Champion, and Roy Fly, Texas Champion Bull Dogger, will be on hand to show the fans how it is done.

The kids out for may have been selected over some three dozen names in the contest sponsored by the Stompede committee. The winning name was submitted from an out-of-town contestant.

Bobbed Ball Game Nets $

Bumpin' Over the CattleGuard By Peggy Tobin

Let's put on a red plaid shirt and go out Stompede it, the tinkling cow bells and the happy old fiddle tunes. This is Bandera's weekend.

Great was the hue and cry this week over the government's announcement of progressive cutbacks in the price of live cattle. With heavy drouth-time feed bills still fresh on the account books, ranchers winced and groaned as they figured losses for the year. It was difficult to adjust thinking caps to the sudden drop in price. And though most people realized that the government is intended to curb inflation to attract America back toward a free market dollar, there were bitter over the input, anxiously awaiting the opportunity of attacking the or double problem of rolling them in the least possible time, both this week and collected some of the best ropers in the state, on the available backgrounds of Bandera County.

Bennie Adamietz, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raising Champion, and Roy Fly, Texas Champion Bull Dogger, will be on hand to show the fans how it is done.

It was right in the goals of the ranch country and every shop in Bandera that a genuine moccasin factory originated. The factory is now located at Bandera and everybody knows and more in making moccasins. Of course their boots are very famous, but they are also famous for their moccasins.

THE ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS IS READY.

At last the long awaited book, The Album of Gunfighters published by Robt. A. Hunter, has released for sale to the general public. It is now in the mailing out to those who have placed their orders. For several months now we have been receiving letters from all over the country asking when the book would be ready. The only disappointment we have experienced in this publication is getting it from the publishers in time to meet the demand. And it has appeared so far greater than ever. For to design and beauty the volume far exceeded expectations. It is truly a masterpiece in the publishing field. Designing as everyone will agree when they see the book. The large volume, 9x12 inches, contains 256 pages, each 9x12 inches in size with about 500 photographs and sketches of famous gunfighters, lawmen, outlaws, Texas Rangers, and United States marshalls. It is dedicated "To The Men Who Represent Law and Order in the Frontier". The photographs of Judge Roy Bean, Col. H. Ross Collectum, Pat Reed and many others are from the collection of the author Robt. A. Hunter, which he has been collecting for more than fifty years, and by the number of hits one for restoring and bringing out the negatives. The historical sketches of the "Album of Gunfighters" are by J. Marvin Hunter, Sr., and Warren Hunter, well known Western artist, decorated and designed the cover and end sheets. The book is printed on heavy enamel paper and bound in heavy boards to form a durable cover for long years of service.

The "Album of Gunfighters" can now be obtained at Frontier Times Museum, Bandera, Texas, or by writing Robt. A. Hunter, P. O. Box 201-A, Bandera, or from N. H. Rose, 4011 West Houston Street San Antonio, Texas. The price of the book is fifteen per copy.

THE AMERICAN WAY'S FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

Soon after the 1930's depression had hit this Nation's economy a stunning shock, the then President Hoover addressed the Congress and the people of this country. He told them on the ground in substance: Now that the country finds itself facing a different sort of emergency, which could be far more serious, Dorothy Thompson, in effect, repeats Mr. Hoover's warning. "The public schools are a first line of defense for the American way of life," Miss Thompson declares in the Herald Tribune. No doubt, the military authorities also have set the educational standards for officers and air recruits to the Armed Forces, would concur in that statement. In facing the present crisis it will not suffice to just restore the schools to the level they had gained in education. The Nation must spend more money on education than it has spent, on the average, up to now. Because, during the depression and the 1940s war and postwar periods, school-age populations outgrew schoolhouse equipment and teaching staffs. Miss Thompson enumerates a list of needs: well trained teachers, better teachers, better salaries, larger classrooms and more school buildings.

Today, more than ever before, providing those things is the community's responsibility. Federal aid, long debated, must be counted on definitely for the emergency. A Government which must spend up to 70 billion dollars a year on its Armed Forces and upon weapons and equipment for those forces, should cannot be handing out grants-in-aid for new schoolhouses.

Each community must provide its own. Probably some economy-minded citizens will contend that the city or county cannot afford an up-to-date school plant, or to pay its teachers as much as they can earn in the shipyard or at the airplane factory. That simply is not so. A community can have adequate schools when its citizens want them earnestly enough to work for them.—San Antonio Express.

THE BIG STOMPEDE IS ON.

Bandera's Fourth Annual Stompede gets off to a good start today and will continue through Sunday, with rodeo contests, parade, carnival attractions, dances and an exposition of Bandera county products on exhibit. The attendance this year is expected to be greater than that of any previous Stompede, and already tourist courts, guest ranches, and hotels are filling up with visitors. Tomorrow, (Saturday) will be "big day" with the colorful street parade at 3 o'clock in the afternoon. The welcome mat has been spread out wide for visitors in our city, with cordial hospitality extended to all who come to attend the Stompede. The committees in charge of arrangements and the various attractions and features have worked hard to make this the biggest event in the Hill Country.

A Simple Statement of Facts

Answered to Bandera and one to Pipe Creek. Both are in the same general area. Both are owned by Mr. J. H. Lewis, county Trustee. Both are in the same school district. Both are operated, however, at a loss. Both are costing that is at least in the wrong place. It is Pipe Creek school that is the most unsatisfactory. Let's take a look at the unsatisfactory and basis for school purposes, one which Mr. Lewis, Trustee, and the Bandera Board of Education, would be proud to claim.

Mr. Lewis says the statement that Mr. [illegible] is misleading. To most unbiased minds that statement is fair and accurate. If there are three buses running to Bandera and only one to Pipe Creek, that is a fact. We are not considering the statement Mr. Lewis made that Pipe Creek children were transported to Bandera. Actually all those now transported to Bandera are children of the Pipe Creek School Building.

We cannot agree with Mr. Lewis that the statement made by Mr. [illegible] is misleading. There are enough children from the Pipe Creek area to justify a school there. There would have been enough children from the Medina Lake area to justify a school there, but they were transported to Bandera. The

THE SERIOUSNESS OF THE MEAT SITUATION.

The situation that now confronts the meat producers of this country is more serious every day. The stubborn resistance of Price Stabilizer Disney in refusing to rescind or modify his roll back order on meat prices has caused the packers to close down in the country much concern, and they predict that there will be a shortage in the meat supply that after October 1 very little beef will be available for a long time. The direct result of the OPS order, if it is allowed to stand, is to make the difference between the feeder and of as many cattle as can be gathered and put on the rail-road cars for market. There will be no profit in this for the feeder after October 1 and therefore within a few days the cattle will not be forthcoming. What is to be the result of this situation is not established. Some say that the packers will be forced to buy cattle at the old prices and take a loss. Others say that the packers will refuse to buy cattle at the old prices and that the cattle will be forced to market at a loss to the producer. Whatever the result may be, it is certain that the situation is serious and that the producer is the one who will suffer the most.

BANDERA NOW HAS NATURAL GAS.

THE ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS DRAWS PRAISE.

"The Album of Gunfighters," by Rose & Hunter, is being mailed out from Bandera to purchasers all over the United States, and the author and his associates are receiving much praise for the excellent book they have produced. There has never been published another book like "The Album of Gunfighters." It contains sketches and photographs of between 300 and 400 outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and United States marshals. These photographs are all from the Famous W. H. Rose Collection of Old Time Photographs; the biographical and historical sketches were written by J. Marvin Hunter, Sr., and the designing and decoration of the book was done by Warren Hunter. The printing was done by the book company of Austin, and the binding is now being done by the Universal Bookbindery of San Antonio. Several hundred copies of "The Album of Gunfighters" have been completed and mailed to those whose orders came in during the past few months, and orders are now being filled as rapidly as received. The price of this beautiful volume is $10.00 per copy. Here are just a few of the letters coming from those who have received the book:

Dear Mr. Hunter:—I received today my Album of Gunfighters. No. 22. It is a grand work and I compliment you and Mr. Rose for this great contribution to the early history of the Southwest.—O. C. Fisher, M. C., Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hunter:—I received my copy of the Album of Gunfighters, and wanted to tell you I am greatly pleased with it. This is an invaluable collection of early day pictures and biographies and will undoubtedly serve a most useful purpose in the future. I should like to commend you and Mr. Rose for this great contribution to the early history of the Southwest.—O. C. Fisher, M. C., Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Hunter:—I received my copy of the Album of Gunfighters Friday and needless to say, I immediately devoted the entire week-end to it. I am thrilled by the contents of the beautiful book. The getting up of the book is a masterpiece. I am sure it will be a big success. I am glad to help in any way I can.—Fred Lafferty, Southwest Lumber, Inc.

Dear Mr. Rose:—This morning I received copies No. 19 and No. 22 of the Album of Gunfighters. I think your book is a masterpiece. It is the most interesting book I have ever had the pleasure of reading. I have read it from cover to cover and I can truthfully say that I have enjoyed it more than any book I have ever read. I am sure that you have put a great deal of time and labor on this book and I am sure that it will be a success. I have been in the book business for many years and I believe that this book will sell better than any book I have ever handled. I have seen no thoroughly covered book that is as complete in every detail as this book. I have seen two or three books that were written around the Texas Rangers, but they were not to be compared with your book. I have also read the chapters on Billy the Kid and Wild Bill Hickok and I am sure that you have told the truth about these characters. I have seen no other book that has the pictures of these characters that your book has. The pictures were purposely placed in the parts of the book where they would be most interesting

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

We are in receipt of the following letter from Roger and Barbara Stevens who are now living Albany, California, where Roger is stationed with the U. S. Marine Corps:

May 9, 1951

Dear Mrs. Saul;

Roger and I were just sitting here reading our Bandera Bulletin and noticed the names of so many of our friends who are now in the service in California. We don't have their addresses and are not in touch with them. So we thought it would be a good way to reach them.

We would like them all to know that they are welcome to drop in here at our house any time they might get a pass or be here in San Francisco or here in the Bay Area. We would enjoy having them at any time. We are living in Navy quarters in Albany, Calif. At 850 Gooding Drive and it is very easily found. Albany is just a suburb of Oakland, California. Roger can be contacted at Marine Barracks, Treasure Island at all times.

We have missed all the guys to know they are welcome.

Sincerely,
Barbara and Roger Stevens

Mr. and Mrs. Dirk Hinds received a letter from their daughter, Mrs. Selby Woodis of Santa Maria, California, saying they will be home the 17th of May. Pvt. Woodis is with the Armed Division at Camp Cooke, California.

Next on the program was a take part in the Medina Rodeo which will be held on the Medina baseball park on June 2nd and 3rd. Contestants will be judged on their ability to ride and rope and the prizes will be awarded to the winners.

The two attendants were Miss Jean Langford, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Gwendolyn Langford, sister of the bride. Miss Langford also served as bridesmaid. Both Miss Langford of Bandera and Miss Langford of Medina have attended the brother as best man.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The table was laid with a white lace cloth and centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom figures. Mrs. Smith presided at the punch bowl which was decorated with white gladiolas and white stocks.

Mrs. Langford is a graduate of the Medina High School and has been employed as secretary to the superintendent of the Medina Public Schools.

Mr. Langford is a graduate of the Bandera High School and Texas A&M College. He served two years in the United States Air Force and is at the present time County Agent of Bexar County.

Mrs. John F. Langford and son, Travis Langford, attended the wedding Saturday evening.

HONDO CANYON WOLF CLUB ORGANIZED

Recently organization was completed of the Hondo Canyon Wolf Club, by a group of sheep and goat men who are acting as a group to hire a government trapper to catch the coyotes in the Hondo River and Verde Creek country. This association is acting as sponsor and is handling the financial end of the setup. In fact that is the purpose of the association.

There are now quite a few coyotes in the area which starts at Hondo and goes north to the head of the Hondo River at the Rafe Bros. Ranch. Worst trouble right now is on the ranches of Ash, Williams and Fallon Garrison. Gillum is having trouble regularly. Dan has had trouble. Wesley Dolbeare has lost some goats and have heard reports from the area below Tarpley several times.

Each grower in the area is being asked to donate a cent per month for each head of sheep and goats on his place. That amounts to $1.20 per year. For 1000 head that would be $1200. If everyone does his part, there will be sufficient money to hire a trapper permanently. They want to keep one on all the time to keep the coyotes from coming in from the country that is being cleared. They are also asking for help from those growers and ranchers in the area that are responsible those who have fertile land but very few sheep and goats.

Mr. Johnson stated that the success of these movements lies in their hands and their weakness is limited production capacity.

GRACE LEWIS IS A CANDIDATE FOR GRADUATION

Miss Grace Lewis, daughter of Mrs. Nathan Lewis, will be the graduating class of Bandera High School on Thursday night, May 31 at 10:00 a.m. in the College Auditorium.

Miss Lewis is the granddaughter of the Rev. Troy Hickman, pastor of the Methodist Church here, who will deliver the baccalaureate address May 27 at 8 p.m. also in the College Auditorium.

POPPY SALE IS SCHEDULED FOR NEXT SATURDAY

"Wear a Poppy . . . America's Silent Tribute to her Heroes" will be the theme Saturday, May 26, when the local post of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary will sell the little flowers. The day will be Poppy Day, when once each year, Americans pay tribute by wearing their memorial flower, the poppy, to those who served their country in America's wars, during the World Wars. As we receive our poppy from the veterans of the American Legion Auxiliary, who will distribute the flowers on the streets that day, we will be doing the wars' living workers by the contribution we make for the flowers.

The disabled veterans who make the poppies derive double benefits from the work it gives them employment, their only chance to support their families. With health and strength gone, they cannot do regular work but they can make flowers. Even in their hospital beds they can do the work, earning money for each flower they make. For the work and the real value in aiding their recovery, occupational and mental therapy, for the welfare of living veterans, the poppy is distributed by homebound veterans.

The poppy derived locally by the Legion and Auxiliary will be sold within the city limits of Bandera.

JOHN MILTON LANGFORD RECEIVES A&M SCHOLARSHIP

Following their annual custom of entertaining the senior class boys and their dates with a dinner the Bandera County Texas A&M Club gathered at Rio Vista last Friday evening for a very fine barbecue dinner. Members of the club, their wives and boys from Medina, Utopia, Bandera and their dates enjoyed barbecue, potato salad, beans, pickles, slaw and iced tea.

Each year the club gives a scholarship to A&M College to the most outstanding boy in the county who is interested in attending A&M College. Character, scholastic achievement and interest in A&M College are the necessary requirements. This year John Milton Langford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lacy Langford was the lucky man. He will enter A&M College the first week in June.

Louis Harrison of San Antonio was guests speaker for the evening and gave a most interesting talk on the merits of A&M College.

Mr. and Mrs. Louie A. Bolard of Sheridan visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louie Haegelin recently. Mr. Bolard is the postmaster at Sheridan.

Miss Mary Carolyn Prue who has been attending business school in San Antonio will be at home a few days for the summer. She has accepted a position at the Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc.

Is This the 'Typical' U.S. Auto?

CALLED MEETING TO DISCUSS ORGANIZATION OF CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

A called meeting to discuss the organization of a Chamber of Commerce and the building of a better Bandera has been set for Monday night, June 4th. It is the duty of each and every one of us who has the interest of Bandera and its future welfare at heart to be on hand at this meeting! It is our desire to see everybody is striking for the best of Bandera in this great movement. Our Chamber of Commerce will have its functions and duties and will devote its energies fully with the Lions Club and the Tourist Association. We feel that this is the opportune time for you to express your views and discuss the possibilities of organizing an efficient and progressive Chamber of Commerce. It should be the duty of this Chamber of Commerce to fully co-operate with everyone and to have the support of our business men and the public. Owing to the fact that this county is one of the most advertising country and about broad as to resources, it is highly desirable that for us to organize and have a live, active Chamber for Bandera. To this end what we propose to do is to have a good truck sales room at Bandera where we could display from stock to see and those who are in the market for trucks could come and enjoy a well organized and well run sales barn. This is only one of the many features that a Chamber of Commerce could do for Bandera in the way of

BANDERA, TEXAS
Price $10.00 per Copy

Contains marvelous photos and sketches of Outlaws, Desperadoes, Frontier Characters, Texas Rangers, U. S. Marshals. The greatest aggregation of gunfighters ever assembled under the covers of a book. Compiled mostly from the Al Maxwell Hunter Photographs from the Famous N. H. Rose Collection. Art work by War Bonnet Barnes, outstanding western artist. 264 pages, 9½ inches wide, 12 inches long, 3 inches thick, weighs 6 pounds. Edition is limited. Here are a few of the names from those who have purchased.

"I received today my Album of Gunfighters. No. 22." It is a grand collection of western characters. Thanks. Warren Hunter for a week well done. It was worth waiting for. Best wishes to you and Rose." —Frank S. Gray, Copperas Cove, Texas.

"I have just received a copy of the Album of Gunfighters and I want to tell you I am greatly impressed with it. The set, unquestionably, will really be a valuable addition to my library and will undoubtedly serve a most useful purpose in the future. It should be the ambition of every Texan to own a copy for this great contribution to the early day history of the Southwest." —W. M. C., Washington, D. C.

"I received my copy of the Album of Gunfighters Friday and needless to say, I immediately devoted a considerable part of the afternoon and evening to studying the contents and admiring the beautiful book. The great variety of subject matter is most deeply appreciated. Truthfully, I sincerely believe it is one of the most outstanding books on the history of our great state of Texas, for no other publication I have ever seen contains such a wealth of information in both good and bad, who have played a vital part in the development of that section of the state. Many of the characters of notorious character, but perhaps they were purposely placed in the book for that very reason, to show the Texas reader that they build for an even better state. You, N. H. Rose, and Warren Hunter have done a fine job and for your outstanding contribution to the book, Texas owes you a debt of gratitude." —W. N. Blanchard, Chairman of Commerce, Houston, Texas.

"This morning I received my copies of the Album of Gunfighter. I think you have done a magnificent job and sincerely believe that the book will live as long as the old West lives. In fact, it is the old West. I would like to give away to the immediate members of my family three or four copies of your book. I enclose my check and if it is possible to supply autographed copies will you please do so. You will have to fill in the amount of the check to correspond with the amount of books you send me. I trust that you can send me at least two copies, and I would appreciate more if I can get them."—Fred M. Marzulla, Denver, Colorado.

RESTORE SOUND MONEY AND STOP INFLATION.

While farmers, ranchers, allied industries, agencies and consumers work at their jobs of producing more meat and encouraging thrifty living and use of meat, Congress and the Federal Administration have the responsibility to exercise leadership to control inflation. The cause of inflation is unsound dollars. Price controls will not stop inflation. Unsound dollars will. Then the gold standard and inflation will be checked. Methods of stopping inflation and the restoring value of dollars are well known, but they all take unpleasant medicine, immediate action and to get action in Washington, let your Senators and Representatives know what you want done—they want to do what you want done. Urge them to restrict extension of money supply and establish strict economy by the government; adopt no spending or taxation, limit consumer credit, encourage production, production and reproduction, and remove all controls that limit output and prevent full use of resources.

MISS JENNIE KIRKLAND HONORED.

On last Saturday night the people of the Medina community made a fine gesture of appreciation and love when they honored Miss Jennie Kirkland for splendid and meritorious services. Miss Kirkland has been a teacher in the schools in that community for more than a quarter of a century, and is now retiring from the school room. She has been a real inspiration to the boys and girls who have been under her guidance, and a wonderful help to the development of the splendid school system there, and while she will be greatly missed from her usual place in the school room, the love and influence she exercised there, will remain as an inspiration for many years to come. Her devotion to duty, and her charming personality have won for her an abiding place in the hearts of pupils and parents and everybody in the Medina community. She has lived a beautiful life, a room which was expressed in the gathering in her honor last Saturday night. It is good to know that she will continue to reside in that community where she has spent years of usefulness. All honor and praise to Miss Jennie Kirkland.

BANDERA NEEDS A CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

In last week's Bulletin appeared a letter from Charles D. Lovelace, urging the organization of a Chamber of Commerce in Bandera. We heartily concur with Mr. Lovelace's suggestions, and think steps should be taken at once to organize and get in motion a Chamber of Commerce, the need of which is becoming more apparent every day. The Bandera Lions Club has had to handle matters which rightly belong to a chamber of commerce. The Bandera Tourist Association has been trying to perform the functions of such a body. Both the Lions Club and the Tourist Association are to be highly commended for the splendid work they have rendered. But problems often arise which only a Chamber of Commerce can handle, and we should have such a live publicity organization right on the job at all times. We want to work with the Lions Club and the Tourist Association to bring and encourage bigger and better things for town, which is now at the critical stage of its growth and development. A meeting is called for Bandera on next Monday night for the purpose of discussing and taking steps toward founding a Chamber of Commerce in Bandera. Every progressive business man and citizen of the town and community should be present at that meeting.

Voices from the Silent City

(Dum Tacet Clamat)

By J. Marvin Hunter, Sr.

On last Saturday I paid my weekly visit to the Silent City of the Dead to read the inscriptions on the tombstones and grave markers there. While I was engaged in some of the graves in the older part of the cemetery a beautiful little marble stone was being placed at the grave of a child who passed away many years ago. She was Gladys Mae Schmidtke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Schmidtke, a pretty little girl loved by the entire community. She was known as "the little violinist," and delivered a delicate operation in an effort to save her life. The operation was partially successful and she survived it for two or three years, but finally succumbed to the fatal disease. The heart mother and father have not ceased to grave the stone which bears the daughter's name and dates. Gladys Mae Schmidtke, born October 27, 1919, passed from the Life Beyond October 31, 1934. Beautiful Angel Mary Lou was summoned to present task, knowing we can foster love for her, but not substitute at the gate. Sweet be thy dreams in the fairy halls. Thy grave is in the fair southern side of the cemetery, and is enclosed with an iron picket fence.

Here also I noticed a marble slab bearing the inscription: "J. H. Davenport, born February 24, 1851; died December 31, 1929." This is probably the grave of Judge J. H. Davenport, who was for many years an early settler of Bandera county. He was a member of the family of the Sabinal river, and at one time was the efficient county judge of this county. Alongside is another grave marked by a marble slab which is off its base and lying against the J. H. Davenport stone. It is the grave of Mrs. Wife of James B. Davenport, born in Bandera county, Texas, December 23, 1854; died November 4, 1883. Two other graves of August Reitzer, born in 1885. One has a marble tombstone, the other marked by a simple headstone. Both were killed by bullets fired by the same man, one of those early day tragedies that were the common lot of the people of Christian love, and died June 10, 1908.

Not far away are three granite headstones, bearing the names of members of the McKee family. The headstone bearing the inscription: "Mrs. E. McKee, born June 17, 1887; died March 10, 1928."

In the southeastern part of the cemetery are a number of old graves, each with a simple marble slab, marking the resting place of members of the J. A. V. Poe family. The first one I noted was my father's headstone, on which is inscribed: "J. A. V. Poe, born July 20, 1841; died February 20, 1915." On that of the one next to it I read: "Jessie E. Poe, wife of J. A. V. Poe, born July 31, 1861; died December 31, 1898." The other two were daughters, Jennie E. Poe, born March 12, 1883; died December 8, 1886, and the other "Baby Poe, born and died December 25, 1902."

Dr. J. A. V. Poe was a graduate of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, in 1860, and came to Bandera in 1860, and was with the close of the Civil War. He lived and died a Christian gentleman and a true southerner. During the dark days of reconstruction after the Civil War Mr. Poe was appointed county judge and served very acceptable for some time.

While I was engaged in some of the graves in the older part of the cemetery a beautiful little marble stone was being placed at the grave of a child who passed away many years ago. She was known as "the little violinist," and delivered a delicate operation in an effort to save her life. The operation was partially successful and she survived it for two or three years, but finally succumbed to the fatal disease. The heart mother and father have not ceased to grave the stone which bears the daughter's name and dates. Gladys Mae Schmidtke, born October 27, 1919, passed from the Life Beyond October 31, 1934. Beautiful Angel Mary Lou was summoned to present task, knowing we can foster love for her, but not substitute at the gate. Sweet be thy dreams in the fairy halls. Thy grave is in the fair southern side of the cemetery, and is enclosed with an iron picket fence.

Here also I noticed a marble slab bearing the inscription: "J. H. Davenport, born February 24, 1851; died December 31, 1929." This is probably the grave of Judge J. H. Davenport, who was for many years an early settler of Bandera county. He was a member of the family of the Sabinal river, and at one time was the efficient county judge of this county. Alongside is another grave marked by a marble slab which is off its base and lying against the J. H. Davenport stone. It is the grave of Mrs. Wife of James B. Davenport, born in Bandera county, Texas, December 23, 1854; died November 4, 1883. Two other graves of August Reitzer, born in 1885. One has a marble tombstone, the other marked by a simple headstone. Both were killed by bullets fired by the same man, one of those early day tragedies that were the common lot of the people of Christian love, and died June 10, 1908.

Not far away are three granite headstones, bearing the names of members of the McKee family. The headstone bearing the inscription: "Mrs. E. McKee, born June 17, 1887; died March 10, 1928."

In the southeastern part of the cemetery are a number of old graves, each with a simple marble slab, marking the resting place of members of the J. A. V. Poe family. The first one I noted was my father's headstone, on which is inscribed: "J. A. V. Poe, born July 20, 1841; died February 20, 1915." On that of the one next to it I read: "Jessie E. Poe, wife of J. A. V. Poe, born July 31, 1861; died December 31, 1898." The other two were daughters, Jennie E. Poe, born March 12, 1883; died December 8, 1886, and the other "Baby Poe, born and died December 25, 1902."

Dr. J. A. V. Poe was a graduate of Dickinson College, Carlisle, Pennsylvania, in 1860, and came to Bandera in 1860, and was with the close of the Civil War. He lived and died a Christian gentleman and a true southerner. During the dark days of reconstruction after the Civil War Mr. Poe was appointed county judge and served very acceptable for some time.

THE FARMERS HOME ADMINISTRATION DESIGNATED

The Farmers Home Administration is one of the agencies recently designated by the Secretary of Agriculture to be a member of the Agricultural Mobilization Program in which the activity of various agricultural agencies will be coordinated for greater effectiveness and economy, according to M. M. Crockett, local supervisor, Kerrville, Texas, who serves this area.

Agricultural loans of several kinds are made by the Farmers Home Administration to eligible applicants who are unable to secure the type of agricultural credit needed from other credit agencies. Loans are made for production to provide operating funds for farming and for purchase livestock and equipment. Ownership loans are made to assist eligible applicants to acquire and improve family-size farms or ranches; Water Facilities loans are made to provide water for domestic water supply or for irrigation purposes and Housing loans for the repair or construction of farm or ranch buildings.

The operating loans are the most frequent type but all of the other types mentioned above are also important. Many loans are made to assist eligible operators of family-type farms to improve their residences. The committee handling these outstanding farmers and ranchmen in each county. Each application is carefully considered and then developed. This is a slow, step by step operation from farm. Loans are repayable over a period of from one to five years depending on the purpose for which the loan is made, the ability to repay, and the period that the borrower's credit must be in writing if the application is for $5,000 or less. No loan can be made for a longer period than that covered by the lease contract.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

It takes speed, strategy and deception for a championship football team. And when the ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . not because mighty power is needed. That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

CLASS 7 SLAUGHTERS BEING CHECKED

Special enforcement agents of the San Antonio district Office of Price Stabilization currently are checking all of Class 7 cattle slaughters who are not registered as required by the new OPS regulations.

Bert W. Thompson, district OPS enforcement director, said the investigation is part of a nationwide program underway to check on reports of illegal livestock slaughtering under OPS meat control orders.

The difference between the number of slaughterers registered in operation last year and the number registered under the OPS program is the basis of reports of possible illegal slaughtering, he said.

Slaughterers must have an OPS ceiling price number to legally slaughter livestock and sell meat products.

The OPS special agents also are checking on registered slaughterers to determine whether they are keeping within their legal slaughter quotas.

JOHN MILTON LANGFORD

Into each life, love Langford shines must enter—and enter it did for Mr. and Mrs. Lane Langford when John Milton was born, September 5, 1934, in San Antonio, Texas.

John Milton began school at Privilege, entered Bandera Elementary in the second grade, and has been "one of us" each year since that time.

His early years of school life were not free of ailments, but he made quite clear. He played "Mr. Ivanhoe" in the fifth grade play. In his senior year, he portrayed Christian gentleman, a real soul, and he lettered in football, was elected president of the Junior class of the Hill Country District of F.F.A. John Milton is a member of the National Honor Society.

He is going to Texas A&M on a scholarship to study agriculture. John Milton's ambition is to graduate college and start a ranch. With his determination and winning personality, we know he will achieve all of his ambitions.

EDITORIAL

As the last issue of the School Daze goes to press I find myself thinking over the issues of this past year 1950-51. In view of them I see a great deal of work that has been done to produce a wonderful section each month.

In School Daze everyone cooperated 100 per cent in every way to make this paper possible. Especially wish to thank the members of the staff of the Bandera Bulletin for their many acts of kindness to us. To the teachers, students, and various assigned reporters who have been very helpful in getting information to us on time to meet our deadline we extend thanks. The School Daze staff sincerely hopes that another school year will find eager and cooperating students to continue this page in the Bandera Bulletin.

With this issue, the third year of publication of School Daze ends. As this page leaves for its run-down journey to the Bandera Bulletin the present editor is retiring. Next year the Associate Editor will take over as Editor and we know she will make the School Daze page of the year 1951-52 a great section of the Bandera Bulletin. To the future editor, I, the past editor, leave the right to use a pencil and typewriter when she has a known habit of making mistakes and much embarrassment, a permit from Mr. Love to be absent from school one day, and one day for school news, willingness to work, and confidence a good typewriter, a good friend as well as a teacher.

To each member of the faculty that has been so helpful and kind to the Junior Class for the Banquet and Ball honoring the Seniors, I wish to express my appreciation for their cooperation.

To each member of the staff I wish to express my personal appreciation for all they have done, as an editor I would like to take this opportunity to thank a few of them.

Mary Lou Lynch, to our wonderful sponsor, Mrs. Hicks, a hearty thanks for her kindness and understanding throughout this year. In the future days, may you look back on all of the various activities, and proved a friend as well as a teacher.

To each member of the faculty that has been so helpful and kind to the Junior Class for the Banquet and Ball honoring the Seniors, I wish to express my appreciation for their cooperation.

A pall of sadness fell upon our little city last Saturday morning when the news of the death of Mrs. W. P. Layton reached here. Mrs. Layton had been in ill health for a long while and had moved to the different places for the last few years in the hope that change of climate would be beneficial to her but she finally succumbed to the inevitable and passed away in Kerrville last Saturday morning at 7 o'clock. She is survived by her husband, Fletcher P. Layton, five children, seventeen grandchildren and one great grandchild. She was a member of the Methodist church and had been a faithful worker for the church for many years. She was a kind and loving mother and a devoted wife and her passing will be keenly felt by her family and friends. Funeral services were held at the Methodist church on San Antonio street at 3 o'clock Monday afternoon, the Rev. Mr. Hall officiating. Interment was in the Medina cemetery under the direction of the Medina Funeral Home. Mrs. Layton was born Mary Ann Hall on March 15, 1875, at Lavaca, Arkansas, and was married to W. P. Layton on December 25, 1895, at Lavaca, Arkansas. She was a member of the Methodist church and had taught, perhaps, thousands of pupils, the art of playing the piano and every one of her pupils loved her. In fact all who knew her admired and admired her because of her kind and affectionate disposition and her goodness of heart and her unwavering adherence to the Golden Rule. She was of a kind and gentle to the sick and administered to their needs and she gave with the greatest degree of generosity to those who were in need and assistance to the poor and needy, often times depriving herself of the necessities of life in order to assist some one who had not such misfortune and were down and out. She has often gone to the bedside of the sick and afflicted and neighbors as he cared and ministered to them for several years, and is now residing in San Antonio.

In a very closely contested race Barbara Clopton was valedictorian of her class in her graduation from Grade School to High School in the Bandera School.

We understand that Barbara worked very hard to secure this honor for the sake of her mother who is and has for the past several weeks been confined in Grace Lutheran Sanitorium in San Antonio and under the strain of such circumstances we feel that Barbara is to be commended for the joy she brought her mother, who is so proud of her.

Barbara received some lovely gifts from her friends and was awarded a certificate for prompt and regular attendance for nine months and a certificate for having been on the Honor Roll for each of the nine months.

Mrs. A. V. Poe presented her a Sterling book marker for having read thirty special books and when making the presentation she said to Barbara in a very kind and sincerely appreciated manner that it had been her happy privilege to teach her dear sweet mother when the first began as a teacher.

We are very glad to report that Mrs. L. M. Clopton is making a very rapid recovery and her doctor told her that because of her wonderful co-operation and happy spirit and strong determination he could assure her that in the very near future she could return to her home with his assurance that she would be well and able to return to a perfectly normal life.

The following visited Mrs. Edgar Perkins during her illness: Mr. and Mrs. Ed Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil McCarthy, Mr. and Mrs. Ed McCarthy, Donald McCarthy, Mrs. T. J. Peters and son T. Carrousel Coffee Cake

"It's a morning coffee cake with a rich taste and a frosted Carrousel Coffee Cake is cut and tasted like a merry-go-round.

Mom claims a hot version of a new Carrousel Coffee Cake, a spicy, nut-filled and nut-topped delicacy, is the best ever to come out of the oven.

Even if she has a performance dance at a dance was going to be held in the ballroom, she would have to admit that it was a delicious cake. THIS IS OUR TOWN
By Jinny

We have to laugh at the many guesses as to who Jinny is. So far none right yet, but anyway Jinny is a very busy person in Bandera and Medina will get the 4th of July. This is indeed a wonderful thing to say, for from this decision alone and the many things that will be done to make it a success, we know that we will be very busy. We will be very busy. We will be very busy. We

A LIVE WIRE WILL BE TAKEN FROM BANDERA.

In the transfer of Rev. R. Russell Heaner from Bandera to Odem, Texas, this town suffers the loss of a real live-wire citizen. Mr. Heaner has not only served the Methodist congregation well as their pastor for several years, but he has taken an active interest in social and business affairs of the community, being always ready to respond to every call for service in the Lions Club, or other civic bodies. We appreciate Rev. Heaner's talents, and it is with a keen sense of regret that we see him depart for another field, but our best wishes go with him, and we take this opportunity to say that we hope the people of Odem appreciate a good fortune in acquiring such an energetic, enterprising minister and citizen.

IN THE GRIP OF INFLATION.

Beginning July 1st this Bulletin's advertising rates will be raised 50% over the present rates. The steadily rising cost of printing supplies has made it necessary to take this step as well as living costs. Some of our advertisers may object to paying 50% more for the space they use, but we hope to hold their business by assuring them that we will continue to keep our business going, just as they have been forced to pay increased costs for the goods they sell us. Instead of paying $2 per month for the rate can of tomatoes, at the local grocery, and 3c for a tall can of milk. Today that No. 2 can of tomatoes costs us 19 cents and the same tall can of milk costs 11 cents, at the same grocery.

The Bulletin is not increasing the number of pages in proportion to the same proportion, while our advertising rates are increased practically the same as they were six years ago. We don't claim that the present 50% raise in rates is going to result in the grip of inflation. There's nobody to blame except that extravagant bunch of taxspenders which the people elected to Congress for the past several years, and so, the taxpayers must pay the bills.

H. H. WASHINGTON COMES BACK TO BANDERA.

Rev. R. Russell Heaner as pastor of the Methodist church is compensated in large measure by the appointment of H. H. Washington to succeed him, and we are glad to say to Rev. Heaner that this good man is being sent back to Bandera. He served as pastor here some twenty years ago, and left a host of warm friends who welcomed friendship which have held through the years. The Bulletin wants to be first to extend to Rev. Washington and his family a cordial welcome back to Bandera.

VACATION TIME IS HERE.

The schools are out and it's vacation time again. For the most part those months between school will be enjoyed as vacation pleasures as they can afford. For the teachers it is a well earned rest, and those who can take trips will enjoy their every moment. Some, however, will put in their time preparing for next year's work, and will get very little rest. To keep up with the advancing school methods they must attend summer school in the world's capital—that's the only difference vacation time makes to that the teacher becomes the pupil seeking more knowledge.

VOICES FROM THE SILENT CITY.

We are receiving many nice compliments on the series of articles now appearing in the Bulletin under the heading of "Voices from the Silent City." It is a very unusual feature, in that it deals only with people who have passed from the walks of men, but old friends and relatives of the departed ones tell us that they appreciate this manner of keeping alive the memory of those loved ones who now sleep the eternal sleep in the local cemetery. The Plummer Funeral Home is sponsoring this series of articles in the hope that it will create more interest on the part of the public to the end that our local cemetery can be kept in better condition. If you are a citizen of Bandera, or have loved ones resting there you should become a contributing member of the Cemetery Association in order that funds necessary for its upkeep will not be lacking. Or if, from time to time you feel like you can help in the work, a cash donation from you to the Cemetery Association will be appreciated. In these days we often read about "the forgotten man." There are a lot of unmarked graves in our Silent City of the Dead, which leads us to the conclusion that there are many "forgotten men," as well as women and children, of the community. We owe it to our civic pride to maintain a well ordered cemetery, as well as we owe it to our loved ones there to keep in memory their sojourn among us while in the fullness of life.

SOLON URGES SENATE DRIVE FOR PEACE.

Washington, May 27.—Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.) said Sunday he is encouraged by Communist interest in his plan for an anniversary armistice in Korea, and urged the Senate to drive it through at this psychological moment of victory.

"The fact that the Russians have taken notice gives us a great opportunity," he said in an interview. "The battle would be half won if the Communists agree—and I'm very, very encouraged."

Johnson referred to the unusually wide prominence given his suggestion in the Communist press, both in the United States and Moscow. The official party organ Pravda printed the full text of his resolution while the New York Daily Worker ran front page stories on it for nearly a week.

"That's all to the good—now is the time to strike," the Senator said.

His resolution, introduced 10 days ago, calls for a cease-fire in the Korean fighting at 4 a.m. June 25, one year after the war began. United Nations and Communist troops would retire to their respective sides of the 38th parallel. Prisoners would be exchanged and all non-Koreans except diplomatic representatives would be required to leave by Dec. 31.

The State Department still has not commented on the resolution, although officials concede they are watching it closely. Informed sources said, however, that the United States would be willing to settle for a return to pre-invasion conditions, leaving North Korea to the Reds.

Denying his resolution showed appeasement or defeatist tendencies, Johnson said official Senate pressure on the U. N. for such a cease-fire would "prove we are a peace-loving nation."

He described Korea as a great "testing ground for peace."

America's Greatest Liner To Be Launched in June

An artist's conception of the superliner "United States" now under construction for the United States Lines at the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company, Virginia, which will be launched Saturday, June 23. This new flagship of the line is 68% completed. Largest liner ever built in the United States, the vessel will be 990 feet long and capable of a speed in excess of 30 knots. She will have accommodations for 1,668 passengers and require a crew of 1,086. The "United States" is scheduled for completion in the summer of 1952 and will join the "America," present flagship of the United States Lines, in express service between New York and Europe.

AN IDEAL FATHER'S DAY GIFT.

Father's Day will soon be here, and the problem arises: What will I give my dear old father on that day?" Let us suggest that you give him a copy of that beautiful new book, "The Album of Gunfighters." He will really enjoy that wonderful book. You can get it at Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. The price is $10.00, and you'll say it is worth the price. Read the testimonials given elsewhere in the Bulletin from people who have purchased the book. Hundreds of such testimonials are coming in, like the following:

"The Album of Gunfighters reached me O. K. It is indeed a piece of bookmaking and I know it will please our lady expectations had pictured it. It will indeed look fine in a library. Then and will be numbered as one of the leading Western historical books. As I turn it page by page it sorta brings back the old days and I know lots of many of my old time friends—both good and bad, who made pioneer history whetted one notch by notch on their trusty old six-shooters.—Fred Landers, Southwest author, Lovy Summit, Mo.

REJECTED TAX BILL.

It is difficult to reconcile the House rejection of the compromise tax bill with the concept of serving the best interests of the State and its people. It looks as if the House of Representatives is enamored by a group whose zeal for special aims outweighed its concern for the general good.

That group seeks to put on a big rural road building program, all out of proportion to the development of state highways, and to saddle the tax den of the expense largely upon one industry.

Gov. Shivers charged Tuesday, and he doubtless had ample reason for the assertion, that county judges and commissioners are behind this movement—willing to gain control of rural road building and the funds therefor, so that, as the governor expressed it, we would have 254 different road systems. Surely this movement does not have behind it the wishes of the people of Texas, or any substantial fraction thereof. We believe the governor was eminently correct when he said: "I don't think the people of Texas want the county commissioners to build their roads in preference to the Highway Department."

Nor do we believe the people sanction the attempt to seek that one industry—natural gas—for the cure of the rural road scheme, with a 200 per cent increase. For one thing it is inequitable, and the vast majority of the American people believe in fair play. For another, the tax would be a drain on the consumers, added to their gas bill.

Those who want to mulct natural gas for the cost of this abnormal rural road activity because there is no considerable natural gas business in their rural districts take a short sighted view. The industrial workers of the state contribute a large share of the cost of schools, highways and other state services throughout the state. Indeed, but for the gas industry, the oil, sulphur and other major industries, of Texas would not be enjoying the general prosperity it does and the rural sections would be impoverished.

The compromise tax bill, rejected by the House, fell short of the equality and uniformity prescribed by the Constitution. It imposed a 10 per cent tax on natural gas—a higher rate than any other industry pays—and it overlooked some untaxed industries. But it was about as equitable a bill as could be written, and it was the result of long study and an otherwise fairly good legislative record for the session. It should either reconsider its action or adopt a substantially similar measure.—Houston Post, May 24.

PROGRESS IN EXTRACTING IRON FROM TACONITE.

A resourceful scientist, working in his laboratory at the University of Minnesota, has tapped a new source of iron ore which may keep his State's, and the entire Mid-West's, iron and steel industries going for many years after the high grade ore-veins shall be exhausted.

Recently the University gave Dr. Edward W. Davis, who directs its Mines Experiment Station, leave of absence for building and operating a smelting plant for extracting iron from taconite. That term (derived from New England's Taconite Mountains) designates a low grade ore that is spread in vast beds across Northern Minnesota.

It is 20 years since Dr. Davis saw the day coming when Minnesota's high-grade iron ore would be exhausted. He began experimenting with taconite and gradually recruited a large staff of fellow workers. First in the laboratory, and then in a pilot plant, those experimenters devised and tested ways of extracting iron ore from the gray rock—after first having reduced the rock to powder. Then the mineralogists found a way to roll the iron into pellets and fire it, so that it would hold together for the haul to the smelter.

By the latest accounting, the Davis Process was being applied to areas as far apart as Venezuela and Labrador, for making low-grade ore—which could not be worked economically by older methods—yield needed iron.

Further tests probably will show that the methods—or anyway the principles—underlying the Davis Process can be utilized to unlock the vast stores of aluminum and magnesium needed for airplane-building, now imprisoned in low-grade ores.

Here in Texas scientific ingenuity may solve a directly opposite problem: For more than a century, extensive deposits of high-grade ore—East Texas' limonite and siderite, the Burnet-Llano area's hematite and magnetite—had lain virtually unused for lack of coking coal. The Madaras Process—the fruition of 30 years' experimenting by Julian D. Madaras, Hungarian-born engineer—successfully utilizes natural gas for refining iron ore and for annealing pig iron and alloys into steel.—San Antonio Express.

Voices from the Silent City

(Dum Taret Clamat)

By J. Marvin Hunter Jr.

One of the sweetest kept burial plots in the Bandera cemetery is that of the J. F. Weldon family. This plot is enclosed with a low granite curb, and each of the seven graves in the enclosure is curbed with granite. Every headstone is of blue granite. On the west side of the plot several evergreen trees have grown, on the east side two tall pyramidal cypress trees which were planted there and grew to be a height of some thirty feet, have died.

John F. Weldon brought his family to Bandera county in 1870, and afterwards built his home on what is now known as Cedar Creek guest ranch. His family consisted of his wife and three daughters: Mrs. Lindsey, Mrs. Cady and Mrs. Coffey. Two years after coming here he engaged in sheep raising, having 3,000 acres of land from the John Jamie Estate, now the Lost Valley Ranch property) for the sum of $100 per year. The first member of the family to die here was Maggie, who passed away in 1881. The headstone in this plot nicely proclaim the life span of the magnificent little pioneer family, who had a part in the early days of Bandera. Mrs. Weldon married L. N. Coffey, who also preceded her many years ago. Mrs. May Weldon died in 1926. On her grave is a marble slab which bears the following: "Mary Weldon, born April 4th, 1853; died June 14th, 1926." Next to his grandmother's grave is that of Maggie, whose tombstone is inscribed: "Maggie L. wife of John F. Weldon, born Feb. 14th, 1857, died July 4, 1878." Maggie's tombstone is flanked on the east by Clemente, daughter of J. F. and M. T. Weldon, born April 29th, 1875, died January 15, 1887. Next to Clemente's grave is that of April 4th, 1853; died June 14th, 1926." Next to his grandmother's grave is that of Maggie, whose tombstone is inscribed: "Maggie L. wife of John F. Weldon, born Feb. 14th, 1857, died July 4, 1878." Maggie's tombstone is flanked on the east by Clemente, daughter of J. F. and M. T. Weldon, born April 29th, 1875, died January 15, 1887. Next to Clemente's grave is that of Mrs. Mary Weldon, born October 18, 1861, died July 7, 1946.

A double headstone marks the graves of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Coffey, inscribed as follows: "Leondas N. Coffey, born Sept. 14, 1845," and "Lizzie M. Coffey, born Dec. 2, 1846; died December 2, 1926." Nearby is the grave of Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Coffey. The Masonic symbol of the square and compass is seen on the granite stone with the lettering: "Homer Coffey, born May 17, 1892; died November 4, 1925. Our Boy."

It will be noticed that Mr. and Mrs. Coffey are the only ones in the ten years, 1915 and 1946. All of them died young, and all in the prime of life, most of which time they were living in Bandera county, and standing alone, either all by themselves or in the company of the grave of one of Bandera's pioneer families, who wielded great influence in this community. Another grave in the plot bears the inscription reads simply: "George T. Lindsey, Born December 25, 1872; died March 4, 1917." Mr. Lindsey operated a drug store in Bandera for many years, and was a prominent and highly esteemed by the whole community. He died a bachelor, and left no kin.

Mr. Weldon helped pioneer those who came to stay a few years after the Civil War, and his descendants have been numerous. R. A. Chapman, who died in 1919, married Miss Lee L. Chapman, wife of R. A. Chapman, died April 18, 1918. Another on the graves of Raymond's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Eckhart. On the beautiful monument erected to the memory of Mrs. Woodman of the World, is the name of Mrs. John Eckhart, husband of Mrs. John Eckhart, born August 18, 1866; died May 14, 1915." Mrs. John Eckhart passed away only a few months ago, and the date of her death has not been put on her headstone, but soon will be.

The Plummer Funeral Home of Bandera has conducted many of the funerals for deceased Bandera citizens who have passed away in recent years. The Plummers render that sympathetic and loving service which is so consoling and comforting in times of distress, and take care of every detail.

This series of articles will be to do with the graves of those who rest in the older part of Bandera cemetery. For the present the series will be discontinued, and when the new burial plots in the recently enlarged portion of the cemetery will be given due attention. I hope our readers have appreciated this series of "Voices from the Silent City," and that the articles have created an interest in our cemetery to such an extent that more attention will be given to the upkeep and beautification of that sacred resting place of our departed loved ones and friends.

Seeing Double, Double?

CHICAGO—Perched on an LP-Gas storage tank tonight, Miss Butane and Miss Propane are crowned LP-Gas Twins for 1951. The new queens, Diane and Donna Rider, Aurora, Ill., reigned at the 20th annual Liquefied Petroleum Gas Association convention. Doing the crowning honors are Beverly and Barbara Jane, Evanston, Ill., LP-Gas Twins last year. More than 2,500,000 families in rural, small town and suburban areas now use LP-Gas for cooking, water heating, home heating, refrigeration, drinking water, cooling, incineration and a long list of "outside" uses on the farm. A million new customers were added by the industry in 1950 alone.

MRS. C. C. HEARNE PRESENTS PUPILS IN RECITAL

Good music—from the simple melodies played by the beginners to the intricate classics interpreted by more advanced students—made the recital of the piano and voice students of Mrs. C. C. Hearne on June 4 a rewarding occasion.

The hard practice and sacrifice of many hours of play-time on the part of the young students for which Mrs. Hearne mentioned in her introductory talk, showed up in almost faultless technique and a great amount of feeling in each performer sent music resounding from the new Midway piano of St. Joseph's School.

The many bouquets of flowers, the charming cut costumes and the bouffant evening dresses of the girls presented a colorful scene as the background of the stage, which had been decorated in pink footlights with white ruffles and black musical notes.

Opening the program, eight children dressed as kittens presented the "Little Kittens" trio, assisted by Russell Sessoms (Mrs. Hearne's son). Each child was accompanied by pantomime and dancing by the other children. Jeanne Hearne read a letter from Mr. Gilbert announcing the arrival of one the size of his nose recently in the rental.

The hard practice and sacrifice of many hours of play-time on the part of the young students which Mrs. Hearne mentioned in her introductory talk showed up in almost faultless technique and a great amount of feeling as each performer sent music resounding from the great Steinway piano of St. Joseph's School.

Opening the program, eight children dressed as kitties presented the "Little Kittens" from operettas of Russell Seiberg Hill-beet of New York. Each member was accompanied by partners, who were dressed as kittens. Mrs. Hearne read a letter from Mr. Hill describing his delight over the use of his compositions in the recital.

In the second part of the program, Mrs. Hearne's pupils played compositions by such well-known composers as Bach, Beethoven, Mozart and Friedrich Hayne and the dances of Brahms, Grieg, Rubinstein, Lack, Lysberg, Lynes, Von Weber, Gaynor, Woodland Waltz, Jerry Dance, Autumn, The Swimming Pool, Lion Contingham, Brown Bell, Woodpecker, Mariner Lullaby, Harker, Swimming in Fairyland, Peggy Pingleton, Jensen, The Mill, Donnie Hayes, Maxwell, Aragonaise, Elizabeth Hayes, Rubenstein, Romance, Cora Belle Scarfield; Leyback, La Sonambula, Mary Lou Lynch; Jackman, In a Persian Garden, Mrs. C. MRS. ALVIN CLARK PASSED AWAY SATURDAY MORN

Friends were shocked and grieved Saturday morning when the news came that Mrs. Alvin Clark had passed away in her sleep at her home Saturday morning. She was found by her youngest daughter, Thelma, who went to call her about 7 o'clock in the morning. It was thought that she had been dead for four or five hours before she was found, that she had just gone to sleep and did not wake up. She seemingly was not ailing and had been in town with friends the afternoon before, and was to be happy and in the best spirits.

The deceased has lived one of its most gallant ladies. Mrs. Clark has always taken the affairs of the town and always stood for the things that would promote and uplift living in the schools, civic affairs, and church work, of which she was a very delightful member. She was cheerful and happy, at all times, and had a wealth of common sense and a very delightful sense of humor that endeared her to her many friends. She had the privilege to live a long life, very nearly a century, and had several sons of her own and many grandchildren.

Anna May Clark was born at Garden Plain, Missouri, on June 1, 1856, and moved to Jonesboro, Arkansas, on said place in 1874. She then attended Teacher's College at Jonesboro, Arkansas, and taught school in Arkansas for several years. In 1882 she was married to Alvin Clark, and to this union were born seven children, Mrs. Ella Johnson and Flora Alec Allsup and Wallace LeGeorge. To

"The book is wonderful. I was sure interested to see how fine it is. It will be a treasured years. Don't pay any attention to low cost publications. Yours is the best and fullest one of a whole."—Harry Cox, New York City.

"The Album of Gunfighters arrived today, and it certainly is a beautiful book. Congratulations on such an outstanding job. Many thanks for the opportunity to own a copy of this book. I'm sure it will be a very treasured one when autographed by John Hittinger and Bonnie Parker's mother."—Mrs. Emmett Hinkle, Buffalo, Oklahoma.

"Extremely pleased. Book is fine. Album is beautiful and will bound to be the center of one, and proud owner as to be proud of it. Many thanks for your kindness in letting me have it. Wish you and your family much success with your business. Have a very merry Christmas."—Mrs. Bess Hallmark, Concord, Missouri.

"Received my Album of Gunfighters last week. It certainly is a beauty. Am proud to own a copy. I have no doubt it is the only book of its kind in most anywhere. Besides being a valuable addition to my collection of Western books, to the collector values I think most prized is the the artist, Warren Hunter. Quality of paper and general format is perfect. Am sure you have received many orders for this book for anyone interested in Western Americana."—W. T. Mann, Bald Knob, Arkansas.

"I am proud of the Album. I don't see how it can be sold at such a low price. Those who have seen it have offered to buy it at a much higher price. I am sure that anyone who has the Album of Gunfighters, for you and the Hunters have done a wonderful job."—Marvin E. Hall, Merced, California.

"My copy of Album of Gunfighters has arrived, and it is truly a fine book well worth waiting for. Having worked closely with old photographs for some time, I can appreciate the hours of research and work that went into the making of the Album. You and the Hunters are to be congratulated for this colorful contribution to Texas history."—Dorman H. Winfrey, Brown, Agricultural History, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

"Just a few lines to let you know I received my copies of the Album of Gunfighters. You and Mr. Hunter certainly did a splendid job on the book, and I believe it will be a very great success in the sale of this very fine book."—J. B. Stoudenmire, Fort Worth, Texas.

"Received your Gunfighters Album yesterday. I certainly enjoyed reading it. Everyone that sees it thinks it a wonderful book. Am sending you a check for 3 more. Everyone I show it to, I sell one. Wish you success."—Mrs. Maggie Fletcher, Fort Augustus, Georgia.

"I want to congratulate you on your getting out such a wonderful book as the 'Gunfighter.' I have enjoyed it very much."—E. B. Hatton, President Fredonian Lumber Co., San Antonio, Texas.

"The Album of Gunfighters reached me O. K. It is indeed a fine book and much larger and finer than my high expectations had pictured it. It will indeed soon become a collector's item and will be numbered as one of the best Western books ever published. I am pleased to be by copy it sorts brings back the old days, and I see the face of many of the old timers I've known—both good and bad, who made pioneer history whittled out rather by teeth on the frontiers."—Fred Lambert, Southwest author, Lay, Summit, Mo.

"I received that wonderful Album and it is so nice. I do enjoy looking through it. Have shown it to our friends who came out to print and that you have tried to see it. Makes me think back over the years and the many friends I met in putting it over and it is now history for years to come. I hope it is successful. The youngest people I know that come does not pay. I feel so sad in seeing some of my kindred lying in death because they chose the wrong way of life, but I blame no one but themselves. Wes Hardin was too smart to get mixed up in so many wrong ways. From what they say he died game. Well he made his mark and others on a whole."—Henry Coy, New York City.

"The Album of Gunfighters arrived today and it certainly is a beautiful book. Congratulations on such an outstanding job. Many thanks for the opportunity to own a copy of this book. I'm sure it will be a very treasured one when autographed by John Hittinger and Bonnie Parker's mother."—Mrs. Emmett Hinkle, Buffalo, Oklahoma.

"The books arrived this morning in A-1 shape. You have a beautiful book and I feel sure you sell a million. You could book and you ought to have set the price at $15.00 it would be cheap at that price. Send me a dozen more books about the time new books I can place them where you will receive many orders."—E. A. Brimstead, Los Angeles, California.

"Mr. Album of Gunfighters received, and I hate, I am among those to congratulate you first on the wonderful job you have done on the Album of Gunfighters. It is the finest book of Western book to hear this in 1951 I sure would like to see you sell a million. You have my best wishes for the publication. You may tell Mr. Hunter how well I like this volume. I have a fine collection of old photos, but the majority of the Old Album, but even this many is a swell pave of American history."—Frank B. Gray, Denver, Colorado.

"I have received and looked over your wonderful book time and again—a book that will interest everyone. Even those who have seen the pictures before will enjoy it. They would have earried their beautiful story to such daring men and natures it would have turned at least some of them from the paths of lawlessness. And it has such wonderful pictures. Mr. Rose certainly deserves credit for collecting them, which must have been a tedious and time long after both of you have passed away. I do not see how he secured such plain and the graphic likeness of these men of the long ago. Science had reached the present form of photography. Every one will appreciate Mr. Hunter's interesting and the book should be in every library."—Frank S. Gray, Copperas Cove, Texas.

"I received today my Album of Gunfighters, No. 22. It is a fine book and is well worth waiting for. I agree with Mr. Warren Hunter for a work well done. It was worth waiting for."—Lewis Hogue, Barker Texas Point, New York.

"I have just received a copy of the Album of Gunfighters, and I want to tell you I am greatly impressed with it. This is an invaluable collection of early day pictures and biographies and will undoubtedly serve a most useful purpose in the future. I should like to commend you and Mr. Rose for this great contribution to the early day history of the Southwest."—C. Fisher, M. C., Washington, D. C.

"I received my copy of the Album of Gunfighters Friday, and needless to say, I immediately devoted a considerable part of the afternoon and evening to studying the contents of the beautiful book. The generous space given to my father is most deeply appreciated. Truthfully, I sincerely believe the book should take other important books on the history of our great state of Texas; for no other publication have ever been so thoroughly covered the episodes of men, both good and bad, who have played a vital part in the development of this state. Then, many of the men depicted were of notorious character, but perhaps they were purposely planted in the paths of history by Fate's Hand; Marge Tankeley and Walter Hildebrand, Ruth Dowdy and Bob Dowdy, Fred Ellis and Gloria Wyatt, Bill Clendenon and Warren Wheeler, John Rankin Rath Scott and Shorty Mayland, Flying L. Ranch, Inc., Fred Wyatt, D. F. Fries, and Jim Scott.

"Those making the trip to represent Bandera on the float in the Quadrille are: Ray Anderson and Margie Tankeley and Walter Hildebrand, Ruth Dowdy and Bob Dowdy, Fred Ellis and Gloria Wyatt, Bill Clendenon and Warren Wheeler, John Rankin Rath Scott and Shorty Mayland, Flying L. Ranch, Inc., Fred Wyatt, D. F. Fries, and Jim Scott.

"This morning I received my copies of the Album of Gunfighters. I think you have done a magnificent job of preparing this book and I wish you as long as the Old West lives. In fact, it is the Old West. I would like to give you the complete inventory of my family three or four copies of your book. I examine my check and if it is possible to supply me with more books I will do so. If you please do so. You will have to fill in the amount of the check to correspond with the amount of books you send me. I trust that you can send me at least 100 copies, and I would appreciate more if I can get them."—Fred M. Mazzulla, Denver, Colorado.

"YOUR FIRE DEPARTMENT."

The Bandera Fire Department was organized in June 1928 for the purpose of preventing personal and property loss by fire and also to keep the insurance rates as low as possible. The insurance key rate for Bandera has been reduced from the per $100.00 to the per $100.00 valuation.

This Department is strictly a volunteer department and has been maintained by membership dues, donations and benefit dances, etc. Several people who live out of town have been regular donors to the department while a lot of people in town have signed on. Our largest single cash donation came from the Dixie Dude Ranch, $75.00, and some of our most regular contributors are Ed Mauerfield, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schott, Frank Montague, John H. Bruce, C. G. Clonsutter, Floyd Price, Mrs. A. L. Mansfield, Mrs. F. D. Barnes and Mrs. G. C. Johnston and several others.

The insurance rates on property in Bandera are based on having the protection of the Fire Department and we have been called out from time to time for many occasions, leaving the town without protection. The members of the Fire Department realize the chances are taking in having a serious fire in Bandera while our equipment is fighting a fire in the country so we have decided to purchase a new fire truck and some more equipment to be used in town only while our regular truck will be used out of town fires."

The only way that we can purchase this equipment is to vote favor on the property in Bandera and every one will pay his equal share for fire protection. We will have an election for bonds to purchase other equipment very soon and we want your support to help us purchase equipment for your protection.

RABIES

By Dr. B. E. Mayse

Rabies (pronounced ray-beez) is caused by a virus which is too small to be seen with a microscope. It lives in the saliva of dogs, foxes and many other diseases. They usually transmit the infection by saliva or spittle of affected animals, usually by contamination by passing the virus from one animal to another by biting. When a person is bitten by the virus, the virus travels along the nerves to the brain and spinal cord. The first symptoms are fever, headache and death. A wicked feature is the long period between the time of infection—time between the time of contamination of fact and symptoms. This can vary from 14 days to 6 months.

Some popular fallacies are: Hydrophobia (fear of water) is a false definition. Water has nothing to drink, but attempts to swallow water cause painful throat spasms. Mad dogs don't foam at the mouth, but their saliva has a look lodged in its throat. They don't run long distances, but usually run at short, irregular intervals, and avoid water. They do not chase people, but attempt to bite them if they come in their path. Mad dogs do not usually run for days without food, bites or strange objects. Any animal or human that has been known to have rabies should be watched for at least 10 days for symptoms. After a 10-day vacation they will return to their home and begin to act normally. They were accompanied by Mrs. Ben Ellis, president of Southern Enamelware Factory, distributor of Pride Products in South Texas.

The winning dealers are: E. A. Banche, Alice; Ben Ellis, San Antonio; all of San Antonio; Ed Byrne of Houston; Mrs. Ben Ellis, agent of Austin; A. L. Smith of Refugio and Mrs. Ruth Medina—San Antonio Express.

BANDERA HAS A PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Not many towns the size of Bandera can boast of a public library, housed in its own building such as Bandera has. But how much do the patrons of Bandera appreciate the wonderful library we have? An effort is now being made by the officers and directors of the Library Association to create greater interest on the part of the citizens of the community, and it is just right to know what is being done to improve it, and lend us your ear long enough to read this. A membership fee is asked, and your help is needed. The annual membership fee is only $1.00 per person. That dollar you pay in for membership does will go into the fund to make needed repairs for the building and to help pay a regular librarian's salary, open at stated times each week during the week. We know several people who have taken five memberships, giving these memberships to boys and girls of the community, in order that they may avail themselves of the fine books that are in the library. The Home Demonstration Clubs have kept the library open on certain days with outside help and their assistance has really kept the library going. It is hoped that they will continue this good work and that arrangements can be made with them to supervise the management of the library and keep it open when afternoons each week. Further information of plans for improving the library will soon be given, but in the meantime why not send the Library Association your check for $5.00 or five memberships, and help to get the drive under way. If you can't spare $5.00 for this work, then send only $1.00 for your own membership. Send it to Mrs. Maxie Hounsell, the secretary-treasurer, and a membership card will be issued.

INCREASES IN TAXES DELAYED UNTIL FALL.

Prospects are that it will be fall before tax increases asked by the Truman administration go into effect. Democratic leaders in congress would like to get the boosts into law by September 1. But there is a growing demand for a summer session which would delay action on the new revenue bill at least until October.

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved a plan which would increase taxes by about $7,000,000,000 a year for one year, instead of $5,000,000,000 in corporation taxes now has been voted by the committee.

Senate Democratic leaders are behind the drive for a recess from the first of August until some time early in October. They hope to get by for the senate and house is by no means assured, Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Republican leader, commented:

"If we have the overpower on our hands that we think we have, then we had better get that bill passed before any recess."

Other Republicans and some Democrats at the same time think congress can speed up its work and get all the important legislation of this calendar by the first of August.

ROLL-BACK OF CATTLE PRICES.

Short jumps Michael V. DiSalle, the federal price boss, had a rough time of it before House Agriculture Committee in which he defended his order rolling back cattle prices and spoke at cattle shipments to Chicago and other live stock centers fell off, and cattlemen predicted black markets and meat rationing would follow.

DiSalle said the order, cutting live cattle prices ten per cent in the first of three such steps planned between now and October, was based on the cost facts, and issued to help stabilize the economy of the nation. He urged it would increase supplies for meat interests by reducing retail prices and that at the same time it would permit farmers with lower income to buy the feed necessary for their herds.

The house committee is holding hearings on President Truman's request for broadening and extending the defense production act which is due to expire June 30.

THE R. F. C. HOUSE CLEANING.

When he took the job of administrator of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, replacing its much-criticized board of directors, W. Stuart Symington made a promise. He said he would run the lending agency in a goldfish bowl—meaning its operations would be given full publicity and political or other influence would not be tolerated.

Twice in a single week Symington fired two RFC employees whom he accused of improper activities.

First he dismissed E. M. Rowlands, manager of the RFC office in Minneapolis, Minn. He accused him of netting more than $50,000 by renting warehouse space at low cost from one government agency and then leasing it for much more to another agency. Symington said there was no proof the matter was illegal but he was sure it was improper, so Rowlands was fired.

Then he let out Frank Prince, assistant loan manager of the RFC. He said Prince was involved in a deal in which he had obtained 40 per cent interest in a paper company which got a $900,000 RFC loan.

OLD SETTLERS WANT TO HOLD REUNION.

We met many old settlers of Bandera county in town last Saturday. They were here to attend the opening of the new store and lumber yard of the Alamo Lumber Co., and the entertainment provided there reminded them so much of the features of the Old Settlers' reunions that we used to enjoy that a number of the older citizens asked us to once more revive the annual Old Settlers' Reunion. Conditions are quite different now to what they were before the outbreak of World War II, and the writer does not feel physically fit to undertake the job of handling the big event as he used to do, but if some of the younger fellows will come forward and assume the task of looking after all details and doing the manual labor required, we are more than willing to do what we can to arrange the program and direct it. Since the last Reunion, which was held in June, 1942, so many of the old settlers have passed on to Gloryland that the group has thinned down to a small number, but the younger generation has now become "old settlers," and the reunion could be made a homecoming for those who live away from Bandera.

YOU AND YOUR NEWSPAPER.

The Baird Star, like the other newspapers in the United States, provides the public with an instrumentality for the dissemination of news. Matters of public interest, relating to government, economics and the varied activities of human society, are published as a matter of course.

These items come under the head of "news" and their collection and printing represents considerable expense. The newspaper receives no direct compensation for this service. Indirectly, it is rewarded by the subscribers of those members of society who are favorably impressed with its fulfilment of this function.

While a good newspaper attempts to print the news of its community, it must have the cooperation of its subscribers and the general public if the coverage is to be complete. Moreover, the service that a newspaper offers the public, as a disseminator of information, is often unappreciated by those in public and semipublic activities, who fail to take advantage of the publicity channel offered.

In addition to publishing news items, the average newspaper offers some of its space for sale to business enterprises. This type of news, published in the interest of business, is called advertising.

The newspaper receives compensation for advertising because this type of publicity is valuable and profitable to business. While the copy in an advertisement is usually submitted by the advertiser, most reputable newspapers are extremely careful to prevent the publication of fraudulent or improper advertising.

No advertiser acquires any special right in any newspaper by virtue of his advertising account. Reputable newspapers often lose advertising accounts because they maintain the independence of their news and editorial departments.

The United States of America boasts the world's most extensive newspaper organization. There are no governmental subsidies and the newspapers of the nation exist solely on their merit as private enterprises.

The collection and selection of news to be published, the editorial policies of a newspaper and the publication of advertising are matters entirely controlled by newspaper men themselves.

The freedom of the press is guaranteed by the Constitution of this country and the people of the United States are constantly alert to any attempt to censor the publication of news. As a result, American newspapers generally present a more complete coverage of news than any other newspaper in the world. They keep their readers well informed and generously undertake to promote community projects and to make significant contributions to the will of the people they serve.

Matters of public interest, relating to defense, safety, charity, progress and culture, are enthusiastically presented at the expense of the newspaper.

Among the customs of the American press is the presentation of editorials, written upon any subject that interests the editor, or, in his opinion, might interest his readers. In most newspapers, there is no relationship between the business office and the editorial sanctum.

It is rare indeed for an editor to sell out, either for social, political or monetary reward. Sometimes, however, an editor's zeal and industry in the promotion of a special cause, which appeals strongly to him, identify him with the cause and lead to other activity. Usually, this is the result of a real public service that he has done rather than the cause of it.

We doubt very much if the people of the United States appreciate their newspapers. They have become so accustomed to a free press that they take it for granted. The publication of news, regardless of its effect upon politicians, office-holders, big shots and others, is expected.

Once let the heavy hand of censorship blight the freedom of American newspapers and the general public will begin to appreciate what the editors mean when they refer to freedom of the press.

Of course, newspapers make mistakes. No product of human beings is perfect. When one considers the immense amount of detail work connected with the publication of a newspaper, the wonder is that mistakes are so few. That this is true is easily observed in the general acceptance by the public of whatever is published in the local newspaper as correct.—Baird Star.

POSTAL RATES.

By a 17 to 6 vote, the House Post Office Committee has approved legislation increasing by 60 per cent the rates on second-class mail, such as newspapers and magazines. The increase would be spread over a period of three years, with a 20 per cent increase each year. The 60 per cent boost would yield about $24,000,000 annually.

The measure is a substitute for a proposal by Mr. Truman for increasing second-class postal rates by 100 per cent in three years.

DANIEL OPTIMISTIC TEXAS WILL KEEP ITS TIDELANDS

Corpus Christi, May 31.— Atty. Gen. Price Daniel said Thursday House Speaker Sam Rayburn's statement Wednesday makes him mighty optimistic that Texas will keep its tidelands.

Rayburn broke his silence on the tidelands issue Wednesday to declare:

"My position on tidelands is what it has always been and I have so voted in the past. I think Texas owns and is entitled to the 10½ miles of territory off its shores. I trust we can get a bill out of the committee of Congress that will become a law."

Daniel, here to address the Rotary Club, praised Rayburn for his statement. Rayburn said he was asking a House committee to act and that he had delayed doing this in hopes Senate action would come first. "It might have been best to have action by the Senate first," Daniel said, "but the Senate has waited too long."

FUTURE OF DEMOCRATIC GOVERNMENT

Adlai E. Stevenson, former college president, who was ousted as Democratic Governor of Illinois, said, in a recent address, "Any man not supported by organized Labor, or by the White House secretariat or by the Democratic National Committee, is a dead duck in this city, and I was unpopular with all three.

"What does the current state of affairs in Washington tell us about the future of democratic government?

"A government in which even men of cabinet rank are advised to negotiate themselves at regular intervals with certain members of the White House staff is an inefficient government.

"A government in which, in a declared emergency, top officials pursue various courses in matters of crucial financial, economy, labor, and manpower policy is an inefficient government.

"A government which leaders of business and professions hesitate to join, even in a national emergency, because of the frustrations, defeats, compromises and personal lacerations they know they must endure is an inefficient government.

"A government in which leading citizens and other public servants are obliged to speak most times, in a crucial year, investigating, in the interests and even the integrity of other public servants is an inefficient government.

"A government so inefficient is inevitably corrupt.

"There have always been some of that in government, and our nation has survived.

"But never, I suspect, have such intolerable standards and objectives existed so openly or been more openly defended."

BIRTHDAY GIFT FOR THE FISHERMAN

If father has a birthday coming, and is a member of the Izaak Walton class, an inexpensive but welcome gift out of the ordinary can give him is a bottle of baby oil. Baby oil for father may seem an odd suggestion, but that oil that mothers use to cleanse and lubricate baby's sensitive skin, has been found to be an unusually effective insect repellent, and is particularly effective against the black flies that torment legions of fishermen every year during the black fly season—May, June and part of July.

In his new book, "The Fisherman's Guide To Maine," Earle Doucette tells how the value of baby oil as an insect repellent was discovered by a young Maine lineman engaged in putting a telephone line through the Maine woods. Leaving his home one morning, he discovered he had run out of his usual insect repellent. As a substitute, he coated the exposed parts of his body with the nursery baby oil. That black fly swarmed around him all day while he fished, but he ended the day without a single bite. The author cites his own experience as the discoverer of the value of this discovery.

His book is written primarily for the Maine fisherman, but just as the black fly country is far larger than Maine, so the book contains a wealth of sound information and advice that will be helpful to fishermen no matter where they stalk their finny prey. If you are in doubt about your gift selection for father's birthday, "The Fisherman's Guide To Maine" may solve your problem. It is published by Random House and costs $2.95.

HIGH COURT UPHOLDS RED CONVICTIONS

Washington, June 4 (UP)—The Supreme Court, in a historic 6-to-2 decision Monday upheld the conviction of 11 Communist Party leaders on charges of conspiring to teach and advocate the overthrow of the United States government by force and violence.

The momentous decision, long awaited and outstanding the Communist party's attitude in the face of American complacence instead of an active defense, in effect gave the way for prosecution of 10 other Red leaders.

Attv. Gen. J. Howard McGrath, hailing the decision as a "good day" for local citizens and a "bad day for the conspirators," hinted that the Red hunt would be pressed against other national, state and local Communist officials.

The high court's ruling affirmed the constitutionality of the Smith Act of 1940, under which the Communist party was convicted in 1949. The law makes it unlawful to advocate the overthrow of the government by force or violence or belong to any group for that purpose.

The high tribunal's ruling will go down to the lower courts in ten to twelve days, unless specifically asked for a rehearing by petitioner.

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson, speaking for the high court majority, said the Communist conspiracy reflected a "clear and present danger" of an attempt to overthrow the government forcibly.

AN EXPLANATION

A notice date of May 30, 1951, the Board of Directors of the Utopia Rural Telephone Company, Inc., announced that a special meeting of the stockholders of said company would be held at 2:00 P.M. High School on July 5, 1951, for the purpose of voting on the question of certain alterations, changes, amendments and laws of said Company. Many have asked me to explain the purpose and legal effects of such alterations, changes, or amendments, and I deem it most unfortunate that the Board did not include with the notice a copy of the proposed changes, so that I could have made it clear to all concerned. But since it is admitted by all interested parties that the present charter is intelligent and even well written, and that the present by-laws are workable in comparatively fully the purpose and effect of a legal document.

Had the Board asked me to write a copy of the proposed changes, or a note of explanation in language that I could understand, I think that I could have made it clear to all concerned. But since the Board did not include with the notice a copy of the proposed changes, so that I could have made it clear to all concerned. But since it is admitted by all interested parties that the present charter is intelligent and even well written, and that the present by-laws are workable in comparatively fully the purpose and effect of a legal document.

(1) The laws of Texas, in order to protect stockholders, provide that a vote of 80 per cent of the stockholders be required to authorize the sale of the assets of such companies, and the same safeguard is incorporated into our own by-laws. By reducing the vote to 67 per cent of the stockholders voting against it may have a value. However, we, the Board of Directors, do not feel justified in making this provided by the State and included in our by-laws for the purpose that Article XVI be so changed that we, the Board or possibly only those on the Board, could vote such sale; can go ahead and consummate such sale without any affirmative vote of a single solitary stockholder, and that is a lot more than half of such stockholders would have to vote for the sale.

Ridiculous and unfair as the matter looks when stripped of its verbiage and phraseology, I challenge and defy the Board of Directors or anyone else whom they may employ to speak for them, to show me that the above explanation does not present the legal effect that would follow from adopting the proposals presented by the Board of Directors. God Almighty knows that I do not wish to mislead or deceive any one, and therefore I am asking that someone stand on a platform at the store or pickup on the main street of Medina next Saturday afternoon, June 9th at 2 o'clock and correct any mistake they think I have made in the above explanation. Of course I reserve the right to reply to such correction.

Sincerely yours,
CARL F. WHEELER

BANDERA SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

The Board of Supervisors of the Bandera Soil Conservation District met Memorial Day at Mr. Glasscock's office in Bandera for their regular monthly business meeting, a whirlwind type tour of conservation practices on Mr. Mr. Glasscock's fields. This tour included terraces constructed 240 feet of terrace in less than four hours by the Bandera Soil Conservation District, a grassland plan and a pond. Mr. Glasscock has a three wheel tractor and is admitted by all interested parties to be a good driver, since it is admitted by all interested parties that the present charter is intelligent and even well written, and that the present by-laws are workable in comparatively fully the purpose and effect of a legal document.

WAGE FREEZE APPLIES TO ALL U.S. OFFICIAL EMPLOYEES

San Antonio, June 6.—To farther make sure that there will be no bomb scares—all who work for the Government, Besides holding contracts, set up by the National Wage Stabilization Board, it was announced today by Frank M. Montague, Sr., chairman of the San Antonio office of the National Board of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Division.

Requests for rulings on wages and salaries were proposed under the regulations of the Wage Stabilization Board must be made on special forms available at such Wage-Hour offices. The form is known as WS-1 and must be submitted for each type of contemplated wage or salary increase.

Such forms, Mr. High said, are simply for the purpose of presenting facts where wage or salary increases are being considered. Of all the 121 rulings which the office has made to date, approximately 90 per cent did not require approval of the Board in Washington. In other words, the matter was handled and closed in San Antonio, and Washington, Mr. Montague, however, must be approved by the National Board.

POSTED NOTICE

The Frank Montague Sr. ranch is posted, and hunting, trapping or trespassing will be allowed. Previous permits are revoked.

ECKHART MILL AND LUMBER COMPANY OFFERS FAMOUS CEDAR-LUX

Cedar-Lux is a new product offered to the building public by Lumber Companies and Building Materials dealers. A Cedar-Lux insect screen is made of Cedar-Lux wood stived in a Cedar-Lux closet arranged with Cedar-Lux shelves, grand cedar closets and smaller cedar chests are made of Cedar-Lux in which Cedar-Lux is used with the fragrance inherent in cedar wood. Cedar-Lux is treated with Cedar-Lux. The characteristic fragrance of wood, an unbelievable aid to great outdoors, is captured and preserved right in your own home. Cedar-Lux is protection against moths, carpet beetles and clothes. Cedar-Lux is safer to use around children and pets than moth balls, camphor or cedar oil. Cedar-Lux is a dry compound. Mixed with water to a plastic consistency, it is applied to walls with brush or trowel to completely cover all surfaces. It is permanent and does not evaporate. Cedar-Lux is an inert, odorless, fragrance-less and tasteless powder. It is used at a rate of a small fraction of the cost of cedar chests, more than enough for a home.

Besides the famous Cedar-Lux for your closets, Eckhart Mill and Lumber Company also has the Lumber Company product sold by Spread Satin, the paint that dries in one hour with no brush marks, no laps, no painter's odor.

If you are moving into a new home, your old home can't fail to sell for a good price if Eckhart Mill and Lumber Company helps you fix it up for quick sale. See them about what you need.

Have You Seen Our New Book?

THE ALBUM OF

Gunfighters

By J. Marvin Hunter and N. H. Rose

The greatest aggregation of Outlaws, Desperadoes, Frontier Characters, and Texas Rangers ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 400 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual. The story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West Glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Dalton Boys, Cole, Bob, and Jim Younger, Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Starr, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Doc Holliday, Billie the Kid—they're all here, with many others, in this beautiful, well bound book which was designed by Warren Hunter, the outstanding Western artist.

THE PRICE IS $10.00 PER COPY, POSTPAID

"The book is wonderful. I was sure astonished to see how fine it is. It will live a thousand years. Don't pay any attention to a few typographical errors; there's only five mistakes in a whole volume of that many words."

"The Album of Gunfighters arrived today, and is certainly a beautiful book (if that is the proper term for a work containing so many copies of wanted posters). The binding looks mighty good to me. I'm sure a great many Westerners will be glad to think of any 'gunslicks' from Billy the Kid down to John Dillinger and Bonnie Parker." —Mrs. Russell Hilton, Westerners Branch Book Editor, Timberrock Press.

"Congratulations! Received the Album of Gunfighters and only wish I had time to read it. Needless to say, I am proud to be the owner of one, and proud more so to be your friend. Thanks a million for the autographed copy and may your book be a success who richly deserves it." —Carl W. Breihan, Quincy, Missouri.

"Received my Album of Gunfighters last week. It certainly is a fine book, and well worth waiting for. Without doubt it is the finest work on gunfighters ever published. Your one-line word-in-passing thumbnail pictures in addition to the Chamberlain and Hunter pictures are wonderful." —Warren Hunter, Quality of paper and general format, together with the binding, is of the highest order. Every one interested in Western Americana." —W. S. Mallory, Ford Walker Field, Colorado Springs, Colorado.

"I am proud of the Album. I don't see how it can be sold at such a low price. Those who have seen it have offered considerable praise. I am sure you have produced the Album of Gunfighters for you and the Hunters have done a wonderful job." —Wm. V. Morrison, El Paso, Texas.

"My copy of Album of Gunfighters has arrived and I'm truly a fine book, well worth waiting for. I spent closely each and photographs for over a time, I can appreciate Album. You and Warren Hunter are to be congratulated for this splendid contribution to Western Americana." —D. L. Illinois Agricultural Library, University of Illinois, Urbana, Illinois.

"Just a few lines to let you know I received my copies of the Album of Gunfighters. You and Mr. Hunter certainly did a wonderful job. I am well pleased with mine and wish you great success in the sale of this very fine book." —J. E. Steadham, Washington, North Carolina.

"Received your Gunfighters Album yesterday. I certainly enjoyed reading it. Everyone that sees it thinks it a wonderful book. The quality of it will host a lifetime. I certainly hope it is a big success for you and Mr. Hunter." —Mrs. Marian Pollster, Los Angeles, California.

"I want to congratulate you on your getting out such a wonderful book as the 'Gunfighters.' I have enjoyed it very much." —A. Hatton, President Ponderosa Lumber Co., San Antonio, Texas.

"The Album of Gunfighters reached me O. K. It is indeed a fine job of bookmaking and larger and finer than my high expectations had pictured it. It will surely soon become a collector's item and will be numbered as one of the leading Western historical books. I turn, page by page it sorts brings back the old days, and I see the faces of many of the old timers—both good and bad, who made pioneer history whittled out notch by notch on their trusty old smokies."—Fred Lambert, Southwest author, Lee's Summit, Mo.

"I received that wonderful Album and it is so nice. I do enjoy looking through it. It is so happy to see your work come out in print and that you have lived to see it. Everyone I think likes it over the long years that you have worked in putting it over, and it is now history for years to come. I hope it is a boost for the sale of your books, and of course does not pay. I feel so sad in seeing some of my kindred lying in death because they chose the wrong way of life, but I blame no one but themselves. Wes Hardin was too smart to get mixed up in so many wrong ways. From what my Dad always told us, Wes had a good father and mother, but was headstrong to listen to them. I lived with my father (Gip Clements) could have seen this book—it is so good." —Mrs. Laura Andrews, Del Rio, Texas.

"The books arrived this morning in A-1 shape. You sure done some job. I hope you sell a million. It sure is a swell book and ought to have got the right breaks. It would have sold for that easily. Send me some circulars about the fine new books you have. Always glad to receive mail order." —E. A. Brininstool, Los Angeles, California.

"My Album of Gunfighters received, and I hope I am among those to congratulate you first on the wonderful job of turning out such a fine book. Congratulations to the Western book to hear this in 1951 I sure would like to see the Old West Glamorous and hectic. You may tell Mr. Hunter I am well pleased with the book. I would like to have a large collection of old photos to color for Frontier Album, but there is a small piece of America." —Lamont Johnson, Denver, Colorado.

"I have received and looked over your wonderful book 'Gunfighters' and agree with you that all interest centers on the preachers will see where they were headed for if they should happen to leave their beautiful shoes to such daring men and outlaws it would have turned at least some of them from their evil ways. Congratulations. And it has such wonderful appeal that Mr. Rose certainly deserves credit for collecting them, which makes the book better and yours live long after both of you have passed away. I do not see how he secured such plain photographs of them. I thought most of the long ago before science had reached the present form of photography. Sure is intensively attractive and interesting and the book should be very library."—Frank B. Gray, Cheyenne, Iowa.

"I received today my Album of Gunfighters No. 22. It is a grand work and I compliment you on it." —Warren Hunter for a work well done. It was worth waiting for."—Eugene Burker, Crown, Point, New York.

"I have just received a copy of the Album of Gunfighters, and I want to tell you I am greatly impressed with it. This is an invaluable collection of early day pictures and biographies and will undoubtedly serve a most useful purpose in the future. I should like to commend you and Mr. Rose for this great contribution to the early day history of the Southwest."—O. C. Fisher, M. C., Washington, D. C.

"I received my copy of the Album of Gunfighters Friday, and needless to say, I immediately devoted a considerable part of the afternoon and evening to studying the contents of the beautiful book. The generous space given to my father is most deeply appreciated. Truthfully, I sincerely believe the book should join other important books on the history of our great state of Texas, for no other publication I have seen has so thoroughly covered the episodes of men, both good and bad, who have played a vital part in the development of this state. True, many of the men depicted were of questionable character, but perhaps they were purposely placed in the paths of the people who were building the empire under that they could be exterminated. You, N. H. Rose, and Warren Hunter are to be highly commended for the splendid historical contribution to the book of Texas." —W. N. Blanton, Secretary Chamber of Commerce, Houston, Texas.

"This morning I received my copies of the Album of Gunfighters. I think you have done a magificent job. I sincerely believe that the book will live as long as the Old West lives. In fact, it is the Old West. I would like to give away to the immediate members of my family three or four copies of the book. I enclose my check and if it is possible to supply autographed copies will you please do so. You will have to fill in the amount of the check in correspond with the amount of books you send me. I trust that you can send me at least two copies, and I would appreciate more if I can get them."—Fred M. Mazzulla, Denver, Colorado.

ANTI-INFLATION MEASURES ALSO ARE ONEROUS.

Inflation hurts everybody. Government wage and price controls stifle at effects, not the cause of inflation. At best, those are but temporary, emergency measures.

Seeking to rally the people in the mass for a concerted fight to check "the declining value of the dollar," the National Association of Manufacturers is organizing a nationwide educational campaign based on the principles that:

1. To halt their mounting cost of living, people must be told and shown the industrialists propose to utilize display advertising, radio programs, news releases, posters and pamphlets. They hope also to get aid from the lecture platform.

Through all those media, the sponsors purpose to hammer home to the people certain fundamental economic truths:

The way to check rising prices is to increase the volume of goods produced at the same time, to reduce the amount of money in circulation. Those objectives can be best served by the industrialists for the following steps:

1. By cutting the amount of credit going to consumers and by urging the industry, both from Government and private sources.

2. By reducing Government spending.

3. By increasing production.

4. By paying enough taxes to keep the defense program on a pay-as-you-go basis.

None of those measures will be easy to take, the spokesmen warn, but sometime the people must decide whether they really want to stop inflation and are willing to pay the price.—San Antonio Express.

MANY NEW CITIZENS COMING IN.

Many new people have moved to Bandera during the past few weeks, and others are planning to come here. Some have purchased homes or small tracts of land, while others are renting homes or apartments. There seems to be a determination to locate either here or back to the country. Many have seen attractions and possibilities in Bandera that they have failed to see before, while the rush and confusion of the larger cities, where the rush and the push, the noise and turmoil of busy traffic and the grind, the stress and tension of almost every day life, mostly

WE DON'T LIKE THE LOOKS OF THINGS.

We just can't reconcile ourselves to the steadily rising price of commodities and the inflationary trend that is sweeping the country. Did not notice it so much until we were hit smack in the face by the rise in the cost of newsprint. Received the announcement last week that another ton or $10.00 per ton is coming soon. To meet these rising costs the publishers of country newspapers will have to make the inevitable increase in subscription rates. Some have already done so, and it is only a matter of time until we will have to do likewise. We know a good bunch of subscribers who has not had a lay to be placed on all advertising orders, but along with the raise in second class postage rates and [illegible] soon goes into effect. Here, no doubt, we have the answer to the small boy's question: "What makes the wildcat wild?"

BUCKLE DOWN TO NUMBER ONE NEED.

Achievements of allied fighting men in Korea stir hopes for a reasonable and honorable peace. But we must not be too optimistic. True, the communist Chinese have suffered such frightful losses that perhaps would be wise to seek such honorable terms. Others believe the Chinese policy, and there is no indication of any change in the ruthless course charted in Moscow.

And who can know what motivates Joseph Stalin, head of the Soviet Union? Gen. Collins, U. S. army chief of staff, is reported that the lusting the reds are taking in Korea will teach Russia that militant communism does not pay; that it might bolster the Kremlin from other aggressive moves. But will it?

There is no assurance that the Soviets will not stir up new trouble. Iran is in turmoil over oil, and a hundred thousand communist demonstrators chant, "Kick the British and American imperialists out." We cannot be blind to world perils. And we do not want eternally to be on the defensive. We must be militarily strong enough to take the initiative and quell the plays. Only then can we be sure of real peace and preservation of our freedoms.

We have made progress in preparedness. More troops are en route to Germany. An understanding has been reached on draft extension, with at least the basis for universal military training at some future date. But we have far to go to achieve real security. Gen. Vandenberg calls his air force a "shoestring" compared with possible needs of tomorrow when Russia builds up her long range bombers and stockpiles of atomic weapons.

We can take heart from the favorable events in Korea. We can hope and work and pray for peace, but wisdom tells us to muster as much armed strength as we can as fast as we can. Let no secondary interests, no obsession with probes and inquiries, however valuable, distract us. We can speak firmly only if we have a big stick. Let this be our resolve as we honor Old Glory on another Flag Day. Let's concentrate on this defense job and get it done.—Grit.

FARM RETURNS

Directly and indirectly, various statements in recent months have tended to establish in the public mind the impression that food prices or prices received by farmers are the key symbols, and presumably the chief causes, of inflation.

These practicularly, these statements have tended to create the impression that farm returns are unreasonably high in relation to incomes of other groups.

They also imply that the parity pricing standard for farm products is chiefly to blame for the rising cost of living.

If we were to base our national policies on these erroneous impressions, we would never accomplish the goal of stabilization.

Most people consider income in terms of wages, salaries, or interest on investments.

The farmer's income, on the other hand, is the result of proceeds from volume of products, less his operating costs. It is really a composite return to the farmer and his family for labor, management and capital investment. But income can also be looked down in terms of wages and in relation to the number of man-hours of labor required to produce it. And an estimated return or rate of interest on the farm investment recently is land, livestock, machinery and equipment. Divided that way, here's what it looks like: 5 cents an hour for labor; 2 per cent interest on investment for management.

That 60 cents an hour is less than 75 cents per hour wage which has been fixed by law as the minimum for most types of non-farm labor.

The two cent interest on investment in plant and equipment is less than a third of the return which business concerns have realized since 1950.

Here for the farmer's management ability compares with the salaries of executives, who represent one of the highest paid groups in the country.

Here's how the computed gross, or hourly earnings in agriculture, for the years 1947 through 1950, compare with hourly earnings of workers employed in other economic groups:

Here's how the aggregate of net farm income, or return to farm people for their labor, management, capital, compares with the aggregate of wages, salaries, and other compensation, after deducting taxes, of workers in the nonfarm economy, according to the records of the Department of Commerce:

Per capita net income allocated from the same interest on investment, management and labor, for the remaining income would be: 1947, $95; 1948, $95; 1949, $103; 1950, $122.

On the basis of conditions the first four months of this year, it appears that the farmer's hourly earnings for 1951, computed in the same way as the 1950 figure, may average somewhere around 90 to 95 cents. But that is still well below the most recent estimates of hourly earnings of all factory workers—$1.56 an hour as of Feb. 1951.

Rather than being overpaid, farmers are earning less for their labor, less for their investment, and less for their management ability, than are other segments of our economy.

As a result smaller earnings in agriculture, the gap between farm and nonfarm income widened between 1947 and 1950, both in total and per capita.

Farm operator's income fell 27 per cent from 1947 to 1950.

Despite that drop, national income increased about 16 per cent during the same period.

The following are further facts on this situation:

These figures show that in 1947 farm people were getting less than ½ as much income per capita as nonfarm people, but in 1950 farm people got only about half as much as other people.

BROWNWOOD FLOOD EASES

The flood situation eased materially in Brownwood Tuesday night where more than 200 persons were driven from their homes during the day when Lake Brownwood overflowed its banks, creeks and creeks broke their banks.

Highways were open, water draining off city streets, and all but a few homes in Lake Brownwood was habitable, a report from the office of the governor said Tuesday night.

Pecan Bayou, however, still was rising.

The governor's office said the Red Cross now was serving food and shelter for 178 people and the health department was checking the sanitation situation. The American Red Cross disaster relief officials are enroute to Brownwood.

Hilton also badly scattered sections of Central Texas were whipped and lashed by a pounding rainstorm front that said high winds and hail. Rain, beginning Monday night, poured up to 10 inches per hour in a period of 24 hours, and 24 inches of rain with more due Tuesday.

Gatesville was hit by a severe storm Tuesday. Roofs were torn off, and trees uprooted. Streets were flooded and some basements filled with water. Hail stones measured as much as 2½ inches in diameter.

HILL COUNTRY—STAR ATTRACTION OF LONE STAR STATE

Quida Piner, The Times Herald Travel Editor, in Dallas, Texas, wrote this of Bandera on June 8, 1951: "Texas is a spectacular state with many spots of star quality interest. Here are three of them: Texoma, the Hill Country and Big Bend.

Lake Texoma is near enough to Dallas to be an excellent week-end vacation spot. Not all the resort facilities are smoothed out yet; nevertheless it's the best outdoor fun spot in this neck of the woods.

Farther from Dallas and quite different from Lake Texoma is the Hill Country. Here, for new reader, to make it inaccessible. Here is the dude ranch, second to the Pecos, allowed celestial degree. Practically every acre of land around Bandera has been turned to dude ranch land. There are ranches for every purse and fad from the ten-acre with its own airport, to that Lone Star Ranch can't fit in its up his plane, unite his farm and go after a reservoir, in the space of almost no little time.

The Bandera Association, a group of these ranches which have organized to promote the district, is very helpful to make the visit comfortable. The atmosphere is one of complete relaxation where the visitor can do exactly as he pleases. It's a beautiful country, which is the reason for its popularity. Texas, both old and new, is for enjoying. Bandera dance hall, the Cowboy Reunion, is the scene of the doings of the dudeish, the cowboy and the cowgirl. Here, every Saturday night, some of the best entertainment in the state is to be had. Everything about going to the Cowboy Reunion is fun, even the dressing. The cowboy will be in his element, for he can wear his boots and his Stetson. Bandera dance hostesses, the staff members of the ranches, the visitor of the dudeish, they all wear cowboy clothes. Every Saturday night the Cowboy Reunion is a gay, colorful scene. One thing about going to the Cowboy Reunion is that dressing up for it is not necessary. Levis, a shirt and a pair of boots will do, or a glow that's are stacked with the beautifully tailored and fitted ensembles of the [illegible] Bandera Tourist Association.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

It takes speed, strategy and deception for a championship football team. And when the ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . size becomes mighty important.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

That's especially true when you consider the average automatic washer needs 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 80 minutes.

Be happy. Be modern. Be economical. Have low-cost automatic electric water heating now. See and enjoy the difference.

RAVEN RANCH CAMP OPENS SIX-WEEKS SESSION

Raven Ranch Camp for children opened on June 12th for a six weeks session. This camp, which was established in 1937, is beautifully located on Wallace Creek, seven miles above Medina on Highway 16, and is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wood, who have spared no effort or expense in providing the best and most delightful place for the boys and girls from the cities and towns, to enjoy the wholesome healthful fun and recreation found only in the country. The camp is now filled to capacity, and the Executive Director, Mrs. Wood, now is attempting to enlarge the camp in order to be able to accommodate more children. At the last meeting of the board of directors, it was decided to add a new wing to the dining hall, and to build a new cabin in order to be able to take care of the demand for the last month, which purpose of enlarging the camp, a vote of four-fifths of the stockholders is necessary, and Mr. and Mrs. Wood have asked that all stockholders be present at the meeting on June 24th, when they will explain their plans more fully. Mr. Wood reports that the camp is now in excellent condition, and that the water supply is adequate for the needs of the camp. Mrs. Wood reports that the Executive Committee has decided to reduce the rates for the month of July, and that the rates will be as follows: Regular rate for the month of July, $75.00; Rate for the month of August, $80.00. Mrs. Wood reports that the camp is now accepting reservations for the month of August, and that the rates will be $80.00 per month.

THE REA TELEPHONE QUESTION AGAIN

Of the 416 possible telephone prospects (said it obtained this figure from one favoring the REA loan) more than two-thirds have shown their disapproval by refusing to make the preliminary payments. From a democratic standpoint, it seems that these people should end the matter. And even of those who made the initial payment there will be some people who against their will. I am told that far more than half, seem to want to understand the matter, have refused to pay the second payment. If it seems should be sufficient to end the matter.

To me the above expressions of the people in the area affected by the Electric Co-op, seem to be very clear and should be sufficient now to advise the Rural Electrification Administration that the people do not want the REA project. Therefore, I now urge that the REA project be abandoned.

Mr. Wood Clifford, Manager
Medina Electric Co-op, Inc.

RAVEN RANCH CAMP OPENS SIX-WEEKS SESSION

Raven Ranch Camp for children opened on June 12th for a six weeks session. This camp, which was established in 1937, is beautifully located on Wallace Creek, seven miles above Medina on Highway 16, and is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woods, who have spared no effort or expense to make it the most attractive and delightful place for boys and girls from seven to fifteen years old. Instructors and leaders in recreation, swimming, colorful games, and creative play, are employed and parents should be confident that every attention and safeguard will be given their children.

Despite the above expressions of confidence, Mr. Woods has asked us to print a small poem decided to write, which will express the reasons of the lack in order to decide whether or not to send their children to camp. This poem, which purports to express a vote of four-fifths of the campers who have attended camp for two years or more, is entitled "Why Not Insure the Whole Family with the Best There Is? — One Rate and One Policy" and is reproduced in full elsewhere in this issue of the Bulletin.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Woods, owners and directors of Raven Ranch Camp, are graduates of Southwestern Texas Teachers College at Huntsville. They are both teachers of more than 20 years' experience.

The Boys' activities are headed by Major Henry Hall Crocker, a graduate of Culver Military Academy, Sr. Warrant Officer Academy, New Mexico Military Institute, and A. & M. College. He is a retired army officer.

The Girls' activities are headed by Mrs. Frances Winston Brookshire, of Houston, Texas, who has 12 years teaching experience. She is a graduate of Texas Woman's University, majoring in Physical Education, and has been teaching in the Houston public schools.

Mrs. Ray Wyatt, head of health, is a graduate of the University of Texas, and has had several years teaching experience. She is a registered nurse and will be in charge of the infirmary.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Hall are in charge of the dining room at Raven Ranch. Reservations are being handled for the post-season camp.

Chicago research department comments and forecasts.

With packers granted a new and uniform start in meeting competitive prices, extremely bearish pressure has been applied to the whole slaughter cattle market with the result that values were substantially depressed during the past week. Here recently how-ever, with curtailed supplies the market stabilized with some modest rallies developing in the better grades of slaughter steers primarily moving to small killers and shippers. All of this created a bean situation that will continue under present conditions, for sometime the dressed product has been under pressure for a long and quite protracted further fall in prices. Evidence of this is to be found in the fact that the top grades of beef steers have been forced down to a level where they are being bought more or less on a parity with the medium and good grades. The present situation is not to be construed as a permanent one for there has been no change in the basic factors governing production and consumption, but it does mean that there will be a normal period of readjustment before the trend again moves upward. In the meantime the primary objective will be to keep the supply and demand in line with the current consumer demand.

BANTEX THEATER TO SHOW "FORT WORTH"

"Fort Worth" the story of fabulous Editor Britt of the Fort Worth Star will be shown at the Bantex Theater on Sunday and Monday and promises to be one of the most interesting and outstanding pictures of the year, starring Randolph Scott as Britt.

Fort Worth one of the most important cities of Texas still retains the western atmosphere and glamour which made early days. The stirring motion picture story filmed in technicolor, tells the story of Britt in the life of the colorful town, which also gives a glowing many other action packed films of the west.

Unwinding the story of Fort Worth's early struggles to grow but the lawlessness of roving cowpunchers and corrupt politicians the film presents Scott as a gun-fighter-turned-publisher in a town is mightier than the sword" effort to restore order in the town. However, after rounding others he is cowardly murdered, Scott resolves to clean up the city and he and only then do the people of Fort Worth rally to his side.

THE HOMECOMING AT MASON.

Last Friday and Saturday the senior editor of the Bulletin attended the annual Homecoming celebration at Mason. It was a great event, for there we met many of the boys and girls of Mason County, both old and young, who grew up with us but who are now in the sear and yellow of Life's autumn. Two of them old friends, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kirkpatrick, who now live in Long Beach, California, left Mason in 1887 and traveled to California in a covered wagon. This was their first trip back to the old home town in fifty-eight years. All recovered to learn that the passing years have dealt kindly with them and both are still full of vigor. Among other old friends who left Mason more than forty years ago, were Mrs. Mayme Bullock and her brother, Mr. Myers Burkett, both of Austin. Frank Moody and his sister, Mrs. Mack Whitfield of Fort Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Garner of Brady, Mr. and Mrs. Scott McCutchin of Hondo, Mr. and Mrs. H. McKnight of Los Angeles, Archie Crooks of Eldorado, Gus Tiedt of Rhode, Herbert Mears and sister, Miss Anna Lou Mears of Menard, Mrs. Jessie Brown of Menard, Tom McKnight of Ozona, Sonie Senator Carlos Ashley of Llano addressed the gathering on the court house lawn Saturday afternoon and gave a splendid address, touching on the early history of the establishment of old Fort Mason. A street parade took place on Friday afternoon, followed by a rodeo in the evening. A dance was held on Friday night and a barbecue at the fair grounds on Saturday night, but a downpour of rain on the latter occasion and rain fell in torrents until after the dance was over. The rain no doubt affected the attendance to some degree, but accommodating in looks now after the homecoming and made everything mighty fine until 7:30 in the morning. We wish to congratulate the committee in charge of the homecoming for the splendid way in which they carried out the arrangements and trust that they will be ready looking forward to the next homecoming again next year.

...AM AND SHOOT AGAIN AT GOVERNMENT SPENDING.

"Ever hear of a politician who would not nobody does anything about it? Everybody wants to stop the waste, but everybody wants to be the one somebody else has to do something about it. Everybody wants to reduce the size of the government, but everybody wants larger their representatives in congress and senate to be active in reducing all but the amount spent by Congress.

About half of the suggestions for economy have been ...ed into effect. Eventually, nevertheless, the ...rovements will save $2,000,000,000 a year. And this save ...g could be doubled if congress would act on all the Hoover ...ommendations.

Taking politics out of the post-war period of streamlining ...ing business of the Veterans Administration and eliminating ...duplicated effort of the Army Corps of Engineers and Bureau ... Reclamation—these are some of the ...

... there is powerful opposition to the ... Hoover ...gram. The people will have to make ... where these economies ...

Today the State Department is spending ... times as ... as in 1940 and the Department of Com... times ... much; and these are merely examples of th... terrifically high cost of government. There are more than 2,400,000 persons on the federal civilian payroll, which totals nearly $10,000,000,000 a year. In one recent month the government hired 53,205 new employees. Senator Harry F. Byrd calls ... excessive civilian employment "the key to extravagance and inefficiency" in government.

In the face of swollen federal payrolls—a million more than needed, some say—there ought to be solid support for the Jensen proposal to reduce personnel in two specific government agencies by filling only 25 per cent of job vacated in the fiscal year 1952. If appropriation bills for all departments were to carry such a ruling, 300,000 jobs could be eliminated and $1,250,000,000 saved.

The people can bring government spending back to earth if they rally behind the Jensen measure and the remaining Hoover Commission proposals. Let's remember that the ability to examine the management of government is possible only with a free people. Every American ought to exercise this privilege now.—Grit.

Most of the people in the 21st district belive we cannot "go it alone" in the struggle against world communism. They believe overwhelmingly that further communist expansion in the Far East and in Europe would endanger American security here at home. Ninety percent of them approve American participation in the North Atlantic Pact and the joint defense under General Eisenhower. Those reactions are disclosed in more than 12,000 responses to the questionnaire which I recently sent to the people in our 27-county district.

More than 25 per cent of those to whom polls were sent returned their several thousand with interesting and revealing comments. This is probably the highest percentage of responses ever recorded in a congressional poll of any operation of this nature. The questions I ask took care 10 to 15 minutes.

Aid payments to farmers and ranchers to help pay for certain range practices would be substantially reduced if the politicians had their way about it. On that issue the vote was 76 per cent for reduction, 20 per cent against, and 4 per cent with no opinion. In a further breakdown by occupation, the tabulation showed that among farmers and ranchmen 72 per cent favor the 75% reduction, 25 per cent oppose, and 3 per cent have no opinion. By occupations, other than ranching and farming, the vote was 77 per cent for, 17 per cent against and 6 per cent with no opinion.

Answers to the first two questions reveal numbers of modified answers, many pointing out that military considerations were involved which called for expert judgement.

By questions, here are the results:

1. Do you favor an amendment to the Constitution removing from the President the exclusive authority which the constitution now confers him for making appointments and replacements of military Field Commanders? Yes 53 per cent; No—37 per cent.

2. Do you subscribe to General Douglas MacArthur's proposal that there be (1) demilitarization, of economic blockade against China and the imposition of a naval blockade against the China coast; (2) removal of restrictions on air reconnaissance of China's coastal areas and of Manchuria; and (3) removal of restrictions on the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa with logistical support to contribute to their effective operation against the Chinese mainland"? Yes—69 per cent; No—31 per cent.

3. Do you consider the prevention of Communist expansion in the Far East as being vital to our own American security? Yes—91 per cent; No—5 per cent.

4. Do you belive that a year from now the United States will be in a better position, relatively speaking, to wage a global war if one is forced upon us than at present? Yes—73 per cent; No—17 per cent.

5. Do you think the U. S. should take steps to build up an army of Japanese soldiers to be ready to fight the Communists if Japan is attacked. Yes—56 per cent; No—39 per cent.

6. Do you regard the continued independence of Western European countries and their freedom from Russian control as being vital to our own American security? Yes—94 per cent; No—4 per cent.

7. Do you believe Western Germany should be permitted and encouraged to re-arm, provided there is ample protection against a revival of Prussian militarism? Yes—85 per cent; No—7 per cent.

8. Do you believe that Truman is doing right in cooperating thru a congressional committee in military equipment with the 12 American republics and Europe? Yes—90 per cent; No—3 per cent.

9. Do you approve of the action of Congress in passing and enforcing Communist control and outlawing the Communist party and other Communist organizations? Yes—90 per cent; No—3 per cent.

10. Do you approve of the action of Congress in passing a universal military training law? Yes—81 per cent; No—13 per cent.

11. Do you think the FEPC should be abolished? Yes—68 per cent; No—20 per cent.

12. Should Congress pass substantial reductions in FMA payments to farmers and ranchers for range practices such as drilling water wells, eradication, etc., during this emergency? Yes—76 per cent; No—20 per cent.

13. Should taxes be raised if necessary to balance the budget? Yes—61 per cent; No—34 per cent.

14. Do you favor amending the Wage and Hour law to increase the present work week to at least 44 hours, during this emergency? Yes—60 per cent; No—10 per cent.

15. The President's budget message contended that in the interest of national defense the Congress should enact the so-called Fair Deal program by including Socialized Medicine, the Brannan Farm Plan, and Civil Rights. Do you agree? Yes—6 per cent; No—87 per cent.

CRACKING DOWN ON GAMBLING AND ORGANIZED CRIME

Austin—The past week witnessed Texas' biggest crackdown on gambling and organized crime.

The House Crime Investigating Committee held close hearings which blew the lid off secrets of the Maceo gambling syndicate in Galveston and revealed an annual gross income in excess of $3,000,000 from slot machines, tip books, dice tables, roulette, horse race betting, and related businesses. A public hearing is tentatively scheduled for June 25.

Attorney General Price Daniel, who helped the committee in its investigation, followed through with a law suit against the Maceo partners, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company and Southwestern Associated Telephone Company, to stop horse race gambling information from being brought into Texas over telephone lines.

District Judge Jack Roberts of Austin granted the committee's request for a temporary restraining order which forbade the phone companies from furnishing information. On June 18, Roberts ruled in the afternoon of filing suit the five elaborate Maceo gambling parlors had closed and had been stopped by the court's order.

Daniel's suit was similar to the one filed under the 1949 amended Western Union Telegraph Company law. In that case, Federal Communications Commission refused to grant the request of the Texas Attorney General, but Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson issued a temporary injunction which resulted in the first nation-wide injunction of the country against using telegraph wires for transmission of gambling information.

It is alleged that the gambling information was being assembled from race tracks throughout the country and furnished to the Continental News Service known as the Continental Press, which in turn furnished information is substantially influenced by some slot machine syndicate, the Capone Crime Syndicate, which deals out effective obstructing information from west coast racing wires in violation of state laws.

Daniel said his assistants and investigators had been working on the case for months, but that they had withheld action until the House Crime Investigating Committee could complete their preliminary hearings and revealed an annual gross income in excess of $3,000,000 from slot machines, tip books, dice tables, roulette, horse race betting, and related businesses. A public hearing is tentatively scheduled for June 25.

TRAPPER CATCHES COYOTES IN BONDO CANYON AREA

The government trapper working in the Hondo River Valley below Tarpley since May 10th has reported catching one coyote in the first two weeks and is established a line of traps in that area, according to reports received by the Bandera County Live-stock Improvement Association from A. B. Bynum, County Agent at Uvalde.

Association records show that exactly 50 growers have paid a little over $1,500 for the trapping. It was calculated that about $1,800.00 would have to be raised by ranchers to keep the trapper for a year, and collections for this fund are still coming in. Growers in the area are still losing sheep and goats. It is hoped that the trapper can be moved further south as the coyotes are cleared out of the upper part of Medina County. A portion of the cost of keeping the trapper is being paid by the Commissioners Court of both counties.

Growers in both Bandera and Medina Counties are vitally interested in this work and are doing all they can to help stop the spread of the coyotes. To let them go unchecked would bring ruin to the sheep and goat raising in the area and would do much to further reduce wild turkey and deer populations.

List of the growers who paid into the fund is given below: Jesse Borgey, O. C. Marquis, E. D. Garrison, A. C. Gilliam, Marcellus Garrison, Hubert Burnett, Harry Hall, Roy Hall, Dan Richards Estate, Robert Zuberbuhler, P. D. Jagger Estate, Mrs. Ben Dietert, A. Koch, H. C. Oefinger, Eddie Oefinger, Charles Hall, Ernest DeGroote, Medina County Wildlife Association, Brooks Hat Coffey, L. Hicks, Bill Coffey, Rudolf Schmidt, Fritz Billiger, H. W. Billings, M. R. Sandidge, Floyd Smith, Harry Sweet, Otto Bandel, O. L. Enos, John Ryle, Tarpley, D. W. Hall, Ben Hall, Marshall Merrick Ranch, W. J. Schmidt, L. M. Mosier, Willie Sprott, Albert Marrio, Bandera Hat Ranch, Morris, Bandera; H. H. Mosier, C. W. Yeary, Mrs. Jesse Koch, Ross, D'Hanis; M. G. Parker, Richards, C. P. Hall, Jr.

Growers in that area who wish to help with this work should contact Jesse Burzer Ash Gilliam, Jr., Bandera, or Ben Hall, manager at the Bandera Wool Warehouse, or the First State Bank, Bandera. Voluntary contributions are being made at the rate of 2 cents per head on sheep and goats owned, or 1 cent per acre of land owned.

LOOKING BACKWARD

(From the Bandera New Era, June 24, 1926. Published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Alba Stevens, of the Mason Creek community, was here yesterday returning to San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Risinger and children were up from San Antonio to spend last week with Mrs. Risinger's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tait. They returned home Sunday but their little daughter, Patsy, remained here to spend several weeks with her grandparents.

Rev. R. J. Gossett, pastor of the Methodist church, spent several days at Pearsall this week with his father, who has been quite ill.

Miss Sadie Hatfield of Medina, who is attending a university in New York City, writes that she enjoys the weekly visits of the little old home paper.

MARINES CAN ENLIST UP TO TIME FOR INDUCTION

San Antonio—The Marine recruiting headquarters here announced that the Marines are now authorized to enlist men up to the time they are actually ordered to report for induction into the Army.

Lieutenant R. M. Box, assistant recruiting officer here, announced that this is a change from the previous policy, under which applicants, who prohibited the enlistment of men who had received notices.

The change will take effect on June 15 and will continue for 30 days, said Lt. Box, but it is not likely that it will remain in force after that.

Lt. Box said that draft boards would be informed in men enlisting that their records could be kept straight.

CATTLE THEFT RING UNCOVERED

Arrest of a Fort Worth man at New Braunfels has led officers to the breaking of a cattle theft ring which has been operating in the area for several parts of the state.

This disclosure came Tuesday from State Ranger Zeno Smith and J. E. Hodges, field inspector of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, following the arrest of Ben Ramsey at San Antonio.

Two other men are being sought and warrants for their arrest have been issued in Travis County. Hodges said, in the father of the man taken into custody.

Arrest of the man at New Braunfels was the climax to a week's work which resulted in the recovery of cattle theft and slaughtering operations which had been occurring in South Texas. In other cases, two men were charged in Zavala County late last week with cattle theft and one of the pair was charged in Uvalde County with another case.

About 1:30 Monday morning officers took into custody three men at Artesia Wells and returned them to Wilson County to face charges. The three were taken on a ranch near Floresville. The trio, officers said, claimed that they were "rabbit hunting". Three times were found slain by shotgun blasts. A tire imprint and only a part of the license plate numbers provided by Sheriff Paul Ermler and one of his deputies, Bennie Hatt, of Wilson County gave Smith and Hodges the clues which brought about the arrest of the trio.

In Floresville City, two men were bound over to the grand jury here Tuesday on charges of cattle theft. The men, officers said, claimed that they were "rabbit hunting". Three times were found slain by shotgun blasts. A tire imprint and only a part of the license plate numbers provided by Sheriff Paul Ermler and one of his deputies, Bennie Hatt, of Wilson County gave Smith and Hodges the clues which brought about the arrest of the trio.

THE PROM?
...OH, I'D LOVE TO GO
A "big moment" in a young life . . . a telephone call "out of this world" in value . . .
Whether or not you go along with the teen-ager's standards of value, one fact remains. Every telephone call, important or ordinary, is a real bargain.
For the average cost of each local call, including tax, is about 2½¢.
In this day of vanishing bargains—what else gives so much for so little?
EVERY HELLO IS A GOOD BUY
A REAL BARGAIN. More of your friends and neighbors have telephones than ever before. You can call more people, more people can call you.

BEEF PRICE ROLLBACKS INCLUDED IN ORDER

Washington, June 19 — The Price Stabilization Hacking Tuesday ordered a ban on further price increases on beef and veal, but rolled back prices between June 24, 1950 and May 24, 1951.

The committee considered a proposal to freeze prices at the May 24 level, but decided instead to extend from 15 to 18 months the time allowed for producers to adjust to retail. It refused to make the ceiling change applicable to installment purchases.

In other action, the measure would extend price, wage and rent control provisions until at least March 1, and other features of the statute until June 30, 1952. Contract authority would be extended until June 30 next.

Senator Maybank, (D-sc), committee chairman said he believed the committee would be able to finish the measure before the Democratic national convention next July.

The price control amendment would retain the existing beef price roll back. But—unless Price Director Michael V. DiSalle acts to remove them—the new ceiling measure becomes law it would also require the agriculture department to publish the names and addresses of those who receive farm parity payments.

The committee approved the amendment by a 7-6 vote.

After the enactment of the new safeguards, no ceiling price shall be established for any farm product the lower of (A) the price prevailing during the period January 25, 1951, to February 24, 1951, inclusive, or (B) the price prevailing during the period January 25, 1951, to February 24, 1951, inclusive.

Maybank said the Senate Agriculture committee intended to permit additional 2 per cent increase in the event of the ceiling rollback if DiSalle wanted to order it in place of the measure as he has scheduled.

The House Agriculture Committee meantime instructed Chairman Cooley (D-NC) to introduce a bill prohibiting all rollbacks of prices or wages.

The committee action came in an executive session called to consider an amendment to the Defense Production Act adopted by the House Banking Committee last night.

BROTHERS AND FRIEND MEET IN JAPAN

It was a very happy reunion for Pfc. Curt Mayfield, Bandera son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Mayfield of Medina, landed at Yokohama Japan, and saw his friend, Private Preston Whitehead, who is in the Navy, aboard a nearby ship. Quite soon recognizing that it was Preston, called to him and the two boys finally got together. They learned that Curt Mayfield's ship was also in port there and immediately set out to find Curt. It had been about a year and a half since the Mayfield brother had seen each other and it was quite a pleasure for them to be together again for even a short while.

BANDERA SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

No one has escaped noticing the near hundred degree temperatures Bandera county has been having the past week. O. F. Langford and G. H. PRAISE FOR THE ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS.

The Westerners Brand Book, of Chicago, gives the following review of our new book, "The Album of Gunfighters." This Westerners is a nationwide organization, with corrals in Chicago, Denver, Los Angeles and other large cities, with a membership composed of western people who are interested in the history of the Old West.

"The Album of Gunfighters, by J. Marvin Hunter and Noah H. Rose, collected and designed by Wayne Hunter. (J. Marvin Hunter, Bandera, Texas: 1951. 236 pp. $10.)

"Everyone who reads many Western books is familiar with the legend 'from the Noah H. Rose Collection' for this or that photographer—he was born in Texas in 1874—has made a specialty of collecting, copying, and restoring pictures of the West. For many years this book has been his dream—a book to embody his collection of gunfighters. It is published at last, and it has had the collaboration of Noah H. Rose's friend, Marvin Hunter, Sr., also born in Texas, publisher and editor of the Frontier Times as well as author of several books on Texas and the West, and owner of Frontier Hill, also in Bandera. I have tried in vain to think of some gunfighter who should be in this book, but isn't. Almost all are here, not Rose got them all, dead or alive. Lawmen are here, but not Rose got them all, dead or alive. Lawmen are here, but not Rose got them all, dead or alive. Lawmen are here, but

SCOOTER FRIES WINS IN STATE CHAMPIONSHIP HIGH SCHOOL RODEO

Good sportsmanship had its reward and was accentuated by tears and joy and emotional excitement during the closing moments of the Texas State High School Championship Rodeo. The 10th annual affair to be held in Hallettsville was proclaimed the most successful of all by School Superintendent Claude Mullins, as over attendance and area records were made. Over 3,000 boys and girls from across the large state vied for championship honors during the four days and had the chance to represent the state in the national meet. Scooter Dickey of Bay City and Scooter Fries of Bandera, state high title holder in calf and national champion in steer wrestling and calf roping records, Dickey afterward, with a winsome grin, set a new time of 17.5 seconds in the event and Fries, a cheeky-faced youngster who has been handling his lariat a thousand times or more since he was knee high to a grasshopper, and Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews, Edith Andrews, Sunday night of Galveston spent last week here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Andrews.

5 of 7 previous champions were again at the rodeo. The '50 All-Around hand, Bobby Dickey, did a repeat and the bronc riding champ and '50 steer wrestling champ, Jimmy Mac, was also full of all by School Superintendent Claude Mullins, as over attendance and area records were made. Over 3,000 boys and girls from across the large state vied for championship honors during the four days and had the chance to represent the state in the national meet. Scooter Dickey of Bay City and Scooter Fries of Bandera, state high title holder in calf and national champion in steer wrestling and calf roping records, Dickey afterward, with a winsome grin, set a new time of 17.5 seconds in the event and Fries, a cheeky-faced youngster who has been handling his lariat a thousand times or more since he was knee high to a grasshopper, and Mr. and Mrs. James Andrews, Edith Andrews, Sunday night of Galveston spent last week here with parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Andrews.

Boys and girls are new busy with their horses. The little handful of youngsters have now attended hundreds of their friends, and they are proving to be themselves—living in true American traditions and blazing a new frontier for their future. The rodeo arena district, during the past year, closely followed by a pattern of interscholastic standards. Over a dozen other states have now entered the program and send their champion to an annual national meet. The national contest also established at Hallettsville in 1950 has 42 states represented this year in addition to visitors from as far away as Australia. Many are already becoming leaders in their respective states.

The rodeo was founded by Mr. and Mrs. Percival DeBogory, Jr., who have always been active in the civic affairs of Hallettsville. Both were born farming and a first place prize.

TRUMAN, VINSON SEE DANGER EVEN IF PEACE COMES

Washington, July 4. President Truman and Chief Justice Vinson joined Wednesday in a Fourth of July warning to the nation that it will still face grave danger even if peace comes in Korea or battlefields.

The commander's chief mobilizer, Charles E. Wilson, reinforced their views with a report supporting three-year defense program. Senate and House leaders want to enact the backlog, he added, with "no more pork barrel and no more waste."

The white rush was rounded up in Congress to celebrate the holiday. Truman and Vinson joined in the programs and the assembly were told by Rep. Rayburn (D-Tex) that "the world is not yet ready to settle."

Mr. Truman in a speech prepared for delivery on the Washington Monument grounds said the world faces a long period of "great international danger." He called on American people to follow "a hard, tough policy of self-denial."

It is still too early, he said, to say whether the Communists really want a Korean peace. But he said, "we do know that our previous talks have not by said they were ready to abandon their threat to world peace—the treat of armed power of the Soviet Union."

The United States, he said, will not be crowded. Fighting in Korea and helping other nations build defenses against Soviet communism.

Chief Justice Vinson, in a speech written for the same program said:

"Our hearts will be thankful if peace comes to the battlefield. Yet we must not lessen other obligations. The relaxing of some necessities, or the diversion of some people, would be a false economy. But less would attracted considerable attention. Chief Justice Vinson said that we must not let ourselves be deceived by Communist propaganda.

Justice Vinson is a Southerner and a resident of Mt. Vernon. He has to not anywhere on the presidential list. Williamsburg or at Key West, Fla.

ARM OF LAW ENDS TEXAN'S NEW LIFE

A respected Kerrville rancher, Allan Baker said Thursday, "I've lived by the law a long as I could."

He talked to reporters from his Bexar County jail cell where he is held as the man who escaped from an Illinois penitentiary in 1932.

Tom Mix, assistant chief investigator to the Bexar County Sheriff, said Baker had been an honored resident of Kerrville.

He was arrested Sunday on a minor charge. An Illinois request for his fingerprints were sent to the State Department in Washington.

The prints matched each other. An escaped convict, Baker broke out of his cell while he told reporters that he had been framed and that he knew who was doing it. He said he often thought of giving himself up in the fourteen years of freedom.

But something always stopped him and I never got around to it."

He said his real name was Clarence Cahall. he was born in Joplin, Mo. but was reared in Oklahoma and Texas.

He left Texas in 1932. He said he drove a car for two men who were convicted for holding up a family in their home at Jacksonville, Ill. He was 27 years old then. He was sentenced to 99 years. He served twenty years, he said as an accessory before the robbery.

He went to the penitentiary in December 1932 and escaped in October 1952.

He said he worked in Fort Worth, Houston, Dallas and El Paso and served with the Seabees for three years in the Pacific during World War II.

He went to Texas after the war, married and settled on his wife's ranch at Kerrville.

"I've been as happily married as any man could be," he said. "I've tried to live as clean a life as I could. Now I want to go back and do whatever they want me to do. I'd like to come back and be with my wife if she is still alive when I get out."

PEACE-TIME BATTLE STATIONS BEING MOBILIZED

Modern American missile command system are being mobilized in preparation for the attack expected to be launched by the Russian Soviet Union.

They are members of the ground observer corps of the air force civil defense program. Their job is to "fill gaps" in the radar defense system, the air force says.

Housewives, farmers, retired business men, boy scouts and other members of local American society in this atomic age have their places at observation posts and report the movement of enemy through the sky, which, they say, not only might support enemy planes laden with lethal atomic bombs.

A quarter million persons are serving in the ground observer corps. Ultimately 600,000 observers will be enrolled.

This is perhaps the only phase of the civil defense program that is not marked by a spirit of apathy. It is steadily expanding while both the federal and state governments hold out encouragement for civil defense and while local communities lay on such projects as auxiliary police and fire forces, and medical facilities.

President Truman has asked congress to appropriate $5,535,000,000 immediately for civil defense. He warned that the lives of millions may depend on the development of a strong civil defense program and soon.

"For the first time since our history this country faces the threat of a sudden, devastating attack at any time on our major cities. Every city, factory, office, and home must be organized for civil defense. As long as there is a chance of any kind that atome bombs may fall on our cities, we cannot gamble. We cannot be caught unprepared."

The air force ground observer corps is proving what responsible officials assert, that Americans will rise to meet any situation, under proper leadership. The corps, incidentally, is not strictly a government project. It has air force leadership and organization, but the mainly strength lies in the patriotism of scores of thousands of citizens who have volunteered for such service.

Even with advances in radar detection since the Second World War, this country's aircraft warning system is far from complete. Radar's straight electronic impulses knife through the darkest night, or fog and rain, but they are stopped cold by mountains and the curvature of the earth, thus leaving blind spots where an enemy might sneak in floets of bombers.

These blind spots are being eliminated by the ground observers, who fill in where the radar stops.

At all times, air force interceptor planes are patrolling the approaches to the United States. They are ready to go into action should the radar network pick up tracks of hostile planes or should the ground observer corps detect suspicious planes inside the radar "fence."

The radar network and the observer corps are not confined to the coasts and northern and southern frontiers of the United States.

A lonely rancher in Wyoming, a housewife in Ohio, or a forest ranger in Idaho may be the one who some day flashes a message meaning life instead of destruction for thousands of their countrymen.

Their precise locations, for security reasons, are secret, but a vast network of radar installations is just now being completed in the Middle West.

The radar and ground observation post system has progressed to the point where test exercises may cover as many as a score of states. Most elaborate radar networks are operating on the Atlantic and Pacific Coasts. At Oakland, California, for example, is a filter center which is the focal point for 270 observation points protecting the vast San Francisco Bay area. More than 2,000 observers are enrolled.

The Middle West is an example of the tight organization of the radar and ground observer system.

Radar stations are spotted about 150 miles apart and are usually on high land, and there is one ground observation station for each 65 square miles of land. Only skeleton crews operate the observation stations now, but in event of war plans already have been prepared to recruit a staff of 25 observers for each station.

Filter centers for the network are spotted at Des Moines, Iowa; Minneapolis, Minn.; Fargo and Bismarck, N. D., and Rapid City and Sioux Falls, S. D. It takes about 500 volunteers to operate these filter centers. Each has a crew of five air force officers and ten enlisted men, but all other workers are volunteers.

Recruiting of volunteers to fill these vital defense posts is moving forward in big cities, small towns, and forming sections alike. In Mount Holly, N. J., for example, citizens pitched in and constructed their own ground observers' tower at a fraction of the normal cost.

Daily these men and women are devoting part of their time to studying jet, as did the minute men of colonial times, to guard this nation from any enemy.

SOMETHING "EXTRA" FOR SIDEWALK ENGINEERS!

A special Spectators' Gallery, with cushion seats and awning, has been erected by the Republic National Bank of Dallas during the construction of its new 30-story building—the tallest and most modern bank and office building in the Southwest. The gallery also has soft drink vending machines and a telephone for members of the Republic Bank Chapter of Sooners for the Promotion and Encouragement of More and Better Sidewalk Engineers. A membership card is issued to all visitors and periodically a newspaper showing progress of the new building is mailed to all members of SPEMBSE.

LET US HOPE FOR A LASTING PEACE.

The Chinese communists have agreed to General Ridgeway's proposition for a "cease fire" order in the Korean war, and will meet between the 10th and 15th of July for a conference. What will be the outcome of the meeting we cannot even venture to say, but the whole world is hoping that terms for a lasting peace can be agreed upon, and that the wholesale slaughter of human lives will stops.—In the little more than a month that Korean war started the American casualties have exceeded 70,000 to say nothing of the billions of dollars expended in rotting the United States and the war clouds are still hanging low, with Russia stirring up trouble and all signs point to her as steadily preparing for a "shoot down" with the United States. It seems from the evidence that has been uncovered that President Franklin D. Roosevelt made an awful blunder at Yalta when he offered Stalin certain concessions if Russia would declare war on Japan—and now all of our trouble with Russia stems from that Yalta deal. President Truman, in following Roosevelt's policy, has gotten us all into such a mell of a hoss that the white-winged dove of peace can hardly find a place to set in sight at this time. So, we will just have to wait and see what is going to happen next. Naturally, we cannot accept terms at any price, but it may be that the United Nations can evolve a plan that will remove fear and stop aggression, and in time bring a lasting peace. Let us fervently hope so.

BIRD ATTACKS TRUMAN POLICY

Washington, June 25. — Sen. Harry F. Byrd (Dem.) of Virginia warned President Truman Monday night that the South will no longer stand for abuse at the hands of the national Democratic party.

The Virginia Senator centered his attack on civil rights legislation, but he also flayed President Truman generally for waste and squandering, for urging unrealistic programs, for moral degeneration of government.

Byrd, leader of the southern Democratic Senators, delivered his devastating attack on the President and his leadership in a speech prepared for delivery at a fund raising Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner at Atlanta, Ga.

The Byrd speech was interpreted in political quarters in Washington as a call to arms for southern Democrats to block Mr. Truman's renomination and to revolt if he should be named again.

The setting of the address—at a dinner sponsored by the Georgia State Democratic Committee—made it highly significant politically.

The Virginia Senator reminded the Truman Democrats that the President can be elected without the votes of the Northern states. Four Southern states disavowed Truman and party in 1948, Byrd pointed out.

"Should he have been treated as a stepchild by the Truman Democratic party too long," Byrd declared.

"The southern people have their pride, and if I am given my rights they do not intend to submit silently to the abuse, insults and traditions made a political football for political aspirants," Byrd said in a reference to the Truman civil rights program.

Byrd in the past has refused to leave the Democratic party. He made no direct statement Monday night that he would change his strategy of trying to reform from within the party, but observers likely to be more forgiving before going so far down the road of revolt.

"Civil rights legislation, Byrd said, "like a snake under the bed, will sting nobody and could run suddenly to strike us again."

Byrd said that the Democratic Republican (them's it) Mississippi Democrat referred to wants the FEPC anti lynching and anti-poll tax anti-racial-segregation legislation and the permanent national commission on civil rights.

Byrd stated that National Democratic Chairman William M. Boyle Jr. had "packed the 1952 Democratic meeting" in Denver.

"If the 'Democratic party' and 'Democratic leaders' are to be synonyms of the whole of the Democratic party, including civil rights."

Byrd said President himself recently said that he could not run on a platform of his program." Byrd said that he could not run on a platform to which he could not subscribe.

"The South can still be a great and mighty force in the Democratic party if it has the will to do so.

"The South has been treated as a stepchild by the Truman Democratic party too long. We can insist upon a return to the principles of Jefferson and Jackson."

Insistence on States' Rights is not alone for the South's protection, but also for the nation from centralization of power and socialism and to preserve the Constitution, Byrd declared.

The little Virginian scored Truman for asking "citizens to make deep sacrifices in their daily living, while he himself makes no political sacrifices by the curtailment or suspension of measures for the distribution of funds for nonessential spending."

During Congress to reduce his expenditures was not the proper attitude for a President to take Byrd asserted.

"Should the proposals of Mr. Truman be adopted we would become a socialistic state long before there can be no retreat," said Byrd.

He then asked if the President be against socialism, why he is pressuring Congress to adopt socialized medicine, why he is promoting the Brannan plan, and why he is advocating socialized housing, which Byrd said is partly under way.

"With the example of England before us, America would be the last place in the world to deliberately to embrace socialism," Byrd declared.

Byrd mentioned disclosures of Communist infiltration and condemnations as one of the signs of "moral deterioration in government under Mr. Truman." He also referred to the Nashville Democratic Chairman Boyle trying to punish Democratic congressmen and Senators of Mississippi for opposing them of political patronage.

"He (Boyle) took over the Democratic machine in Tennessee and was proved that the patronage dispensed by Senator McKellar and Byrd was selling stable offices in Mississippi to the highest bidder," Byrd said.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

It takes speed, accuracy and discretion for a championship football team, and when the ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . that becomes mighty important.
That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs almost 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 30 minutes.

SOUND INVESTMENT IN A COMMUNITY'S BOYS.

Another city that invests in its boys and makes the investment pay is Pasadena (California), population, 105,000.

Though founded only three years ago, Pasadena Boys' Club has 3,452 members enrolled. The clubhouse—one of most 400 others in the country now over, all affiliated with the Boys' Clubs of America—mainly provides a sanctuary for lads 8 to 18 years old who have too much time on their hands. It is for boys whose parents work, or who otherwise lack the time or capacity to train up the child in the way he should go. It costs a dollar a year to belong.

At the Club the boy gets adequate supervision by a trained youth-leader. Each new member is immediately put to work on some constructive task. He is allowed, even encouraged, to try his hand at various crafts—to determine what he can do best—make things out of wood, metal, or leather; model in clay or mold plastic. He learns to turn out all sorts of things for ornament or use, such as book-ends, lamp-stands, pottery or plastic jewelry.

The Club boy's day is not all work, however. He may go to the game room or gym; play checkers, billiards or hand-ball. If he has an ear for music, he may join the band. There is a photographic laboratory, where he may make pictures or fashion greeting-cards.

Typically all the Pasadena service clubs have contributed useful facilities to the Boys' Club: barbecue grill, camp cabin, swimming-pool and workshop.

"Our Boys' Club is unmatched by any other like organization in the country.

He (the city's chief juvenile officer) has seen Pasadena juvenile crime drop conversely as the Boys' Club membership grew. That community had virtually solved its boy problem. What it has done, any enterprising city can duplicate—big or little, can do. All that is required is civic teamwork. —San Antonio Express.

'CONCERNED WITH ACTS, NOT WITH BELIEFS'

As the American people come to a milestone in their history—the 175th anniversary of National Independence—the Federal Bureau of Investigation has issued a new call for a vital, continuing assignment:

By the President's directive, the F. B. I. is charged with preserving and defending the Nation's security and the people's liberty, against the "enemy within the gates." As Director John Edgar Hoover points out (in his annual report), that enemy is intangible and menacing:

The Communist Party's 43,000 members, "planted like a guerrilla force, ready to act on the orders of a foreign master," seek to "destroy our Constitution." They present "the greatest threat to this Nation from within." However, the recent indictments and arrests of party leaders charged with plotting to overthrow the Government by violence, upon information supplied by the F. B. I., were made possible by the United States Supreme Court's decision holding the Smith Act constitutional—indicate that the F. B. I. has the situation well in hand.

Should war come, Director Hoover repeatedly has asserted every potential saboteur known to the F. B. I., counted in the thousands, would be promptly put where he could do no harm. That is no idle boast: the F. B. I. did it during World War II.

What the situation reversed all known or even suspected "enemies within" the Soviet Union would be carted off to Siberia. But that is not the American way, and never will be. Again Director Hoover professes a "wholesome respect" for civil rights.

To be sure from the subversive operator's viewpoint such an attitude is a sign of weakness. That person will abuse civil rights in the belief that they will protect him everybody's rights. He cannot get away with it. But as the F. B. I. has demonstrated, it is not necessary to evile, or to imprisonment, to prevent. National security can be maintained without suspending due process of law.

For that reason, as Mr. Hoover explains, the F. B. I. is "concerned with acts, not beliefs." A man may think what he pleases so long as he avoids criminal or subversive deeds. Sensible of its obligation to protect the innocent, the F. B. I. is not going on a "witch hunt." It does not "keep tabs" there are better ways to do the job.—San Antonio Express.

PEACE PROSPECTS WITHOUT VICTORY.

The continued note of belligerence in the statement by Chu Teh, the Chinese Red field commander in Korea, ahead of the Soviet-sponsored tentative proposal for truce talks, Matthew Ridgway's representatives to discuss ending fighting, gives rise to speculation. Inconsistent as the two facts seem, a connection is possible. Chu Teh's statement looks now like a bulldog.

There may be a significance in the failure to refer to the Russian cease-fire proposal. Access to foreign news sources by the Chinese people or even by the Chinese Red Army is limited. It is possible that Gen. Matthew Ridgway's broadcast offer under bone instructions to stop hostilities is being reported to the rank and file by the Reds as a weakness under reverses. This could be done easily by maintaining secrecy on the fact that the offer was made by Russia. As a poker field with the right strategy wanning confidence in the situation of the Red armies. But to what end?

Chu Teh continues to demand the withdrawal of U. N forces, a matter that he has been unable to force by his own efforts. While it is possible that the Red Army has the tut in its teeth and is not amenlable to orders from the so-called People's Government, it is still difficult to see what the field commander hopes to gain by insisting on pressing a losing war.

If he intends to deal with Ridgway, however, and to cease fire, it will still be necessary for the Reds to make armistice look like victory. The broad terms announced from Washington as acceptable and even these open to amplication under unorganized conditions, certainly do look victory for the United Nations forces. At least as much of victory can be claimed for the Reds under them as for ourselves. So Chu Teh may be easing himself into a position to do exactly that claiming.

Dean Acheson has asserted that he regards it as a victory to restore the autonomy and integrity of South Korea. This would be victory of a sort but far from a decisive one.

The way it looks from here, both sides will claim victory. Neither will have attained it. Both will have paid far too high a price for what they will have gotten. And neither will be assured of permanent peace. —Dallas News.

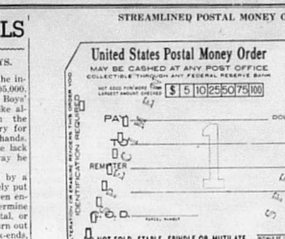
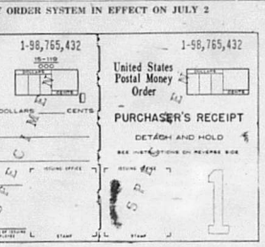
STREAMLINED POSTAL MONEY ORDER SYSTEM IN EFFECT ON JULY 2





Patrons of more than 42,000 Post Offices will find the new and more convenient money order available Monday morning, July 2, 1951, Postmaster General Jesse M. Donaldson announced today.

Principal changes in the new money order system will make it possible to have a money order cashed at any of the nation's post offices, to mail the collected money order by bank in the same envelope used for mailing of a check.

The new money order appears in the form of a punched card instead of the old paper slip and purchasers will fill out the form only after the money has been received in the part.

Under the system that money orders must be cashed at specific post offices within dollars were issued and sold. Under the old system, it will be recalled, a money order had to be cashed in the office to which it was issued. If it was cashed at a post office in another city an additional fee was charged.

The new system makes available to the Post Office Department, the most advanced electronic business machines. One machine, the IBM Type 808 Proof Machine, has been especially developed for the new money order purposes and it combines all the advantages of the modern proof machine in a high spread use by banks and large department stores. Strength, accuracy, and speed are assured by the machine. Another of the principal features of the system is that money orders, totaling upward to five billion dollars were issued and sold by Postmasters during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1951.

LOST VALLEY OWNER VISITS HIS OLD HOME TOWN

Frank Pearson, owner of the famous Lost Valley Ranch, recently visited his old home town in Winchester, Tennessee, and the following story was carried in the Winchester Herald-Times of that city:

What Luther Burbank discovered about the transplanting of herbs, flowers and vegetables, one of our well-known Franklin Countians has proved equally true in the case of transplanting people successfully in a changed climate environment.

Mr. Frank Pearson of Winchester was primarily instrumental in the development of the Marquette Cement plant and other business enterprises at Cowan and throughout the county.

Looking the part of a native Westerner for broad-brimmed hat and Texas style neckties, Mr. Pearson dropped in for a chat during a visit here recently. He left with us a copy of his Lost Valley Ranch Letterhead-Booklet which describes the ranch and its activities in pleasing terms that it is with considerable effort we refrain from breaking into print with the whole booklet—such is the interesting manner in which it is written.

Mr. and Mr. Pearson own the 1,500 Lost Valley Ranch in addition to many business interests in Texas. They own the ranch as a summer home, while fall, winter and spring are spent in Texas enjoying the active life of Texas ranchers.

Recreational facilities include hunting, fishing, swimming, boating, dancing, a roof garden for entertaining guests, and many others. To further increase the pleasure of their guests, the Pearsons have built on the ranch a number of cabins and a modern dining room and kitchen. Here guests are served with food chicken and country cream gravy, hot biscuits, corn bread, fresh vegetables, delicious desserts and other delicacies of the table

The Sunday afternoon ball game between the Knife Mixers and the Medina Merchants was attended by quite a large crowd. The Knife Mixers defeated the Merchants by a score of 7 to 6. The game was called in the seventh inning on account of darkness. Those who attended the game report a very interesting contest and say all about it. Wallace and Steve Nilsson was in charge of the Knife Mixers and Jack Smith their faces begged down with a plaster of paris and looked like a half starved calf suckling. The rack race between Paul Lehmann (Nilsson being the present president of the Club) and Gus Bell, (thought mayor beauty contest) was another feature of the game. The two crippled toad frogs and three fireflies were on hand to add color to the game. Those who attended the game say it was all the honors can be desired. Be sure and be on hand next Sunday. It matters not whether you are a baseball fan or not, you will enjoy the game. Come and bring your friends and enough sandwiches, salad and water for everybody. Too, there is to be square dancing. If you are interested in organizing a square dance club be sure to be present at the meeting that is planned for all.

Among Sunday's visitors in Frontier Times Museum were Mr. and Mrs. Hy Hall, husband and sons Archie Williams and Tommy Bandera, all of Hallsboro. Archie and Tommy posted their capital and signed the story of our new book "The Album of Gunfighters," and they are very much all about the Bandera southwest, Texas Rangers and frontier characters of the old days.

Last week we failed to mention that Mrs. John Giddens, of San Antonio was a visitor here on the 4th of July. She visited her brother, Mr. H. W. Lancaster and son of Mrs. O. B. Wolfort all of Chicago, Mrs. Mary Wolfort, Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee McDonald of Edinburg are here on a visit to their relatives and friends at Camp County. He has been here for two weeks Friday, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Lou Lynch of Edinburg. This is Lee's usual vacation time and he always promises back home to enjoy it. While here he renewed his subscription to the Bulletin.

Herman Harper, of Kerrville, was greeting old friends in Bandera Friday. Mr. Harper gets around pretty actively, being in his age of 80 years. He drives his own automobile, but says he is not inclined to test its speed, and when he meets one of the speed demons he just drives to one side of the road and stops to let him pass, then resumes his journey. Since he and Mrs. Harper moved to Kerrville a few years ago we greatly miss them, and it is always a pleasure to greet them when they come over to Bandera.

TURN OLD RASCALS OUT—PUT NEW RASCALS IN.

For the past thirty years the Democratic party has been sinkin' in the issue. It is no more like the party of Jefferson Davis and Grandpappy it was the possible of a political convention. The truth is that the leaders of the Democratic party of 1951 do not think in terms of principles at all. They think in terms of votes and how to get them. Their objective is not statesmanship. Their approximate right conscience is in terms of what will put them back in office. They are not concerned with what the country needs. They want to do what they think will get them votes. The importance of an important minority of voters is more political trading stock to avoid maintaining a number of minority groups hold together by the force of a common fear. Democrats do not have a real group principle. Former leaders express the statement that the Democrats are shifting also. Democrats do not believe in anything except the right to hold office. Democrats are always on the defensive that there is no percentage in party and always going to get out of power. If Republicans have any political principles at all they are not clear enough to be a party support. It is not illogical to point out that the treasury is out of their hands and the Democratic dump trucks backed up under the money bags in the treasury room. Republicans can preserve our freedom if we have the right kind of President of the United States and the next congress of the United States is going to have to be under Republican control. That is the gateway in Washington. We'd better turn the old rascals out and put in some new rascals to at least partially clean house.

GETTING IT STRAIGHT FROM THE SHOULDER.

J. Marvin Hunter, Jr., son of the senior editor of the Bulletin, is the editor and owner of the Baird Star, and he got straight from the shoulder when he penned the following editorial which has the endorsement of every newspaper editor in Texas.

Ever so often someone asks a notion to write the editor of The Baird Star a letter to tell him what can influence a person to subscribe to a newspaper. Certain editorials we received lately top them all. If the gentleman who wrote the letter thinks he can intimidate the editor into changing his policies and lambaste me, he has another guess coming. We have been waiting to receive the letter and another offers to meet anyone on the street who would like to settle the issue to protect a thief will muster enough courage to come in and make themselves known, we will finally find out who is right and who is wrong. Then and for all time from the Star's mailing list. We don't want the subscription money from such undesirable citizens. We'll run them off the list. We'll run them off the list for taking from crooks and when we let blackmailers scare us into protecting those who prey unlawfully on good innocent people, we are ready to quit the newspaper business and get behind the plow and cultivate. We will print the news as we see it without fear or favor. And we might suggest that the best way for people to keep The Baird Star from getting the news is for them not to support them in the first place. The threatening letter follows:

"Dear Mr. Hunter:

"As a personal favor we are asking that nothing concerning the court trial of A. W. Southern be published. If it is published there will be hell to pay. So you in for our money and you can not afford it. The Southern's ask as a personal favor please do not publish."

HIS FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

THE DECLARATION.

The tragic events of all human endeavor is that the people who fight and bleed and suffer are rarely the ones that get experienced. The child that dreads the fire is the one that has been burned, not the child that has been told that another has been burned.

This day we commemorate with too little feeling and not much beyond lip service the day of the Declaration of Independence. Few Americans—almost no young Americans—understand the conditions that drove these men to set their extreme risk. As a consequence, too little understood also is a form of government they set up and why they so framed it.

The Declaration produced eventually the Constitution. The two are inseparable. The men, many sharing in both, who produced them planned not for themselves but for posterity. But posterity groping in human unhappiness for the unattainable, creates in agony almost the exact conditions against which the colonials risked their necks to rebel. Other times, other matters, but the oppressive load of intolerable taxation and increasing limitations on human freedom accumulate.

It is a far cry from America, 1776, to America, 1951. There are times when the thoughtful are not sure that the latter deserves the former.

The inspiration in the original Declaration is that there will be always Americans to rise to demand its terms.—Dallas News.

"THE FOUR PILLARS OF FREEDOM."

BY W. G. VOLLMER
President
The Texas & Pacific Railway Company

Most of us today are knee-deep in confusion and uncertainty. We are not quite sure which way to turn or what to do. Within the nation, we see and feel the effects of inflation upon our income and our savings. We see communistic termites trying to destroy the very foundation of our free government and our free economy. We see the nation's political leaders divided among themselves over what should be done to arrest inflation and to meet the challenge of communism. We see more taxes and more of our earnings being consumed by taxes. We see all of these things—and more. Enough to arouse fear, to cause confusion and to create uncertainty.

In view of the turbulent present and the uncertain future, which all of us face together, we need to examine the cause of our trouble. If we turn back a few pages of history, we find that the threat to our free way of life is the root of our trouble. Twice in one generation we have fought two world wars in defense of freedom. Today we stand on the threshold of a third world war. And again it is in defense of our freedom.

A considerable portion of our public debt of approximately 256 billion dollars was created by wars fought to preserve freedom. And a major portion of our 70-odd billion dollar national budget this year goes for the cost of wars—past, present, and impending—all in behalf of freedom. Yet, over the years, many of us have taken freedom for granted. By now we should be acutely conscious of the fact that freedom, like everything else in life, comes at a price.

But no matter what that price may be, we must pay it, for nothing could be worse than to lose our God-given rights and our freedom in dignity.

The outlook is not bright. We'd be deluding ourselves and betraying our children if we considered the present conflict a little international skirmish. It's much more than that. We're at war, whether we want to call it that or not. Approximately 60,000 casualties in the first ten months of the war attest the fact. When the smoke of the conflict clears away, either the free people of the world or the Communist will emerge victorious. It now is self-evident, if it has not always been, that democracy and communism cannot exist side by side. Democracy is founded upon faith in God, in the dignity of man and upon the concept that the government is the servant of the people, not their master. Communism is founded upon atheism, strife, fear, tyranny and the philosophy that the government is the supreme master of the people. Thus, the principles upon which democracy and communism are founded are as far apart as heat and cold, or as good and evil.

Since the cause of freedom is founded upon justice and righteousness, we and the other free people of the world are invincible if we unite in purpose and in action. I say this because we have the know-how and the productive capacity to turn out the goods and services essential to the preservation of freedom.

But it's going to take more than money and machines and know-how to win. It's going to take the will and the courage to WORK to SAVE, to VOTE and to PRAY. In connection with all of these, here are four basic points upon which I feel all of us can unite.

I call these four points "The Four Pillars of Freedom" because no matter how great our trials and tribulations may be, we can preserve our freedom if we have the will and courage to WORK, SAVE, VOTE and PRAY.

I realize there are other important pillars of freedom, but I have suggested these four because they are the ones I feel each of us can have a part in giving them life and meaning.

First, there is WORK. There is no substitute for work. Ever since the dawn of history, man has had to work in order to survive. There is no way to supply our needs and provide our freedom except by work. Nature has a way of balancing the books of life. If we work wisely and efficiently, we produce abundantly the goods and services essential to better living. If we work poorly, or not at all, we live poorly or not at all. The reason we in America live better than other people in the world is because we have applied ourselves to a high degree the tools of production and the technique of using them.

There are any number of countries in the world equally as rich in natural and material resources as the United States. The thing that makes the difference between abundance and poverty is the wise and the efficient use of tools.

Statistics show that 95 percent of our productive energy is provided by tools. Only 5 percent represents animal and human energy.

There's a vital relationship between the abundant life and these varying percentages. The higher the percentage of tool energy, the better people live; the lower the percentage, the poorer they live.

In our fight against inflation, the only sound way to overcome it is to increase our production. The fundamental law of supply and demand cannot be changed by governmental decrees. Increased production is the real antidote for inflation.

This brings me to the next point of "The Four Pillars of Freedom."

SAVE. How did we come to have the great mass of energy-producing tools? By saving. Past thrift is one of the principal reasons why America is strong today. Millions of people, young and old, rich and poor, saved part of their income instead of spending it as they earned it. Then they invested their savings in factories, machines, mines, oil fields and ays in railroads. Those savings made possible our great productive capacity and thus the great output of goods and services which we, in America, enjoy today. Those savings made possible the bulwark of our defense against communism. Each American worker is now supplied by machinery—that is, the tools of production—which cost an average of more than $10,000 per worker. In the railroad industry, the investment average is $21,000 per worker. What was it that encouraged the American people to do it? It was freedom to enjoy the fruits of their labors. The right to have and to hold what they earned and saved. If we should ever lose that right, then savings will dry up and there will be no private money to provide the tools of production.

Of course, our government could provide the tools, as is done in communistic countries. But then the people would be ordered to "invest" a portion of their earnings in government bonds. And that is one of the things we are fighting to prevent. The need to save does not rest alone with the individual. The government should set an example of thrift by abandoning non-essential expenditures. The various so-called social programs, benefits, bounties and aids should be discontinued. The government does not owe anyone a living, unless it be a person injured in the service of the country. When the government undertakes to provide a living for any person or group of people, the cost of that living must come out of the work and the earnings of other people. And that sort of living cost comes high for the people who foot the bill through taxation.

The people of the cities and communities of the nation should join in saving public funds. They can do this by ceasing to demand federal funds for local pet projects . . . many of which are neither militarily essential nor economically sound.

To make America strong, the federal, state and local governments should join with the individual in saving. Unless governments are thrifty, individuals have little opportunity to save. Heavy taxation takes care of that.

The third point of our program is VOTE.

In recent years, there's been a good deal of conversation about getting out the vote. But like the weather, while it provokes a great deal of talk, many of us merely talk instead of acting. As evidence of this, only 26.7 percent of those eligible to vote in Texas cast their ballots in the 1948 National election. Forty percent of the registered voters did not vote. And what happened here in Texas prevailed generally throughout the nation. It has been estimated that approximately 40 million people in the U. S. failed to vote in the 1948 presidential election. Why? Different reasons . . . or rather, different excuses. Seldom is there a good reason why we should not register and vote. Most of the time, it's just too much trouble to register and then go to the polls on election day.

Some of us brush it off by saying that "our vote doesn't count, anyway." If every person did that, our republic would collapse. And our freedom would be lost. Every vote does count, no matter what the election.

Voting is one thing we must do for ourselves. We can't delegate it to someone else. That responsibility is ours, not the other fellow's. It's our sacred obligation to perform our rights and to vote. And the only way we can do that is by voting. Failure to vote at any time is dangerous, but with freedom at stake as it is today, failure to vote now can prove disastrous.

It could be that our failure in years gone by to do our duty in this area of citizenship is responsible, in part at least, for our present predicament. Perhaps unmindfully we have shown too little pride in the priceless gift of personal liberty, thereby permitting others to trade off our personal opportunity and part of our freedom. If we have been guilty of that neglect, we have been disloyal to our country and unfaithful to our children.

So next election, no matter what kind, nor how much it may inconvenience us, let's go to the polling place and cast our vote. And let's urge our friends and neighbors to do likewise. If we do that as wisely and well as we know how, then we have fulfilled that important part of our citizenship responsibilities.

In discussing the four-point program to help make our country strong, I have stressed PRAYER fourth in an effort to give it additional emphasis. It is, of course, the most important single thing we can do today. We need to pray for an abiding faith in God and faith in ourselves. We need to pray for faith in our fellowman. We need to pray for guidance and wisdom. We need to pray for the Americans who are suffering and dying on the battlefields of Korea that freedom . . . young freedom . . . may be preserved. We need to pray earnestly for the return of peace. We need to pray for the courage to do those things we have in our heart, we conceive to be right and honorable. We need to pray for the strength to bear whatever burden we may be called upon to carry. We should ask God to bless our fighting soldiers, whether it be on the battle field or the home front.

The responsibility for freedom and for peace does not rest in Washington, London, Moscow or Paris . . . nor Rio . . . but in the hearts of the people of the world. We have at our command the tools to preserve freedom, and to aid in restoring peace to a world torn with unhappy strife. Let's use those tools . . . Work, Save, Vote and Pray . . . patriotically and unselfishly.

Let's SAVE our free American way of life, no matter what the sacrifices may be.

Let's PRAY for the wisdom and the courage to do our duty as good Americans, faithful to God and to our country.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job

It takes speed, strategy and deception for a championship football team. And when the ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . and becomes mighty important.
That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant one hot water.
For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 60 minutes.

Free Chest X-Ray for Everyone-Bandera, July 21, 23, 24; Medina, July 26

Members of the various committees appointed by Col. Dan Alamo county chairman of the Chest X-Ray survey gathered at Bert Vista last Saturday morning for breakfast and to discuss the functions and operations of the very important mobile Chest X-Ray unit that will be brought to Bandera county.

The time set for the city of Bandera is July 21, 23, and 24, from 8 a.m. Sat. 6 p.m. and at Medina on July 26, 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. In the Bandera area those who do not have transportation are requested to call the Polio Motor Company, 56, and a bus to the place of the unit will be made available. Those in the Medina area who do not have a car should call Mrs. Stroup, and transportation will be provided.

Col. Alamo expressed the hope that all the people in the area will attend the unit and that at least 15 would turn out out of 100 per cent. This survey is not for charity but is required by the Texas State Department of Health, and every one we find with a certain percentage goes into this fund, and the people who live in the area for it in the long run. So be sure to take advantage of this opportunity to have the X-ray.

Many people who have suspected spells with TB's early enough, tuberculosis usually has no warning signs or symptoms. Often people do not know they have it.

With modern machines an X-ray finds not only the spots on the chest, but before there is any other way we can find them, and your bones are healthy. Having a chest X-ray is the same as having your eyes tested, and it takes a long second and only a minute.

A chest X-ray is the only way to tell whether you have tuberculosis or not. Many people don't know whether they have it or not. Many people have had chest X-rays and have been told that they have tuberculosis and were put under treatment and were cured. Others have been told that they have tuberculosis and were not cured. Often people do not know they have it.

Sometimes there are abnormal shadows which turn out to be caused by tuberculosis, but which have been healed. Early cases of tuberculosis are usually curable and usually can be found by chest X-rays.

Tuberculosis is a communicable disease, which means that it can be passed from one person to another. Therefore it is important that we find it in its early stages so that we can prevent it from spreading to others.

Remember, the chest X-ray unit will be here July 21, 23, 24 in Bandera and July 26 in Medina. Be sure to take advantage of this opportunity to have your chest X-rayed.

HICKS FAMILY ENJOYED REUNION LAST SATURDAY

For years the family of the late F. E. Hicks, who established a home on Hicks Creek before Bandera was a county, has met at the home of Mrs. Walter Meadows, one of the Hicks girls, from time to time, but in July 1948 the group organized and chose the second Sunday in July as the date for an annual reunion.

This year members gathered for a picnic in the shady grounds of the Walter Meadows and all are asked to [illegible] Hicks and in spite of the mid-summer heat, a good time was had and a wonderful day visiting the members of the family that seldom meet and renewing the new-comer's brides, grooms and the children who have joined the family since last year.

Yes, family reunions are work and they do make a lot of work for the ladies, but they are one of the activities that gives a deeper feeling of kinship and closeness to the family. A feeling that here are members of the family and a record that ties us to our ancient ancestors and to each other. So the task is not yet done? No, it never will be. For as long as there are those who want to make the effort for today and those who are interested in 1951 look forward to [illegible] in 1952.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Gaston and Mrs. M. E. Gaston, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hicks and Mrs. P. L. Gaston, Paul and Janet Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hicks and Mrs. Ed Hicks, Mr. and Mrs. D. B. Free Chest X-Ray

A free chest X-ray will be given to all who will apply for them from July 20th at the Medina Health Unit July 23rd and 24th. These tests will not be anything embarrassing but are about the most harmless tests that can be rendered, and the time for the contracted disease to be detected ranges from three months to three years, and all persons over that period of time are subject to the disease if it is not detected. Before the appearance of the apparently healthy person is affected by the disease, a chest X-ray will show the presence of the germ. Don't fail to have this test made.

Hay Reunion

The Hay family reunion at Green Park Sunday, July 29th, will be held at the park instead of the home as was announced last week. Rotarians Bow to Lions, 13 to 9

Our Saturday night ball game between the Lions and the Rotarians resulted in the "over" score of 13 to 9 in favor of the Lions. The game was a hilarious affair and well attended. At about the middle of the game the Rotarians were ahead by a score of 9 to 8, but the Lions came back with a rush and a number of runs were made. The game was called at the end of the seventh inning on account of rain.

Medina Teams Winners at Bandera

Last Friday night the Medina baseball team defeated the Bandera team in a game played at Medina. The score was 3 to 2. The game was a close one. The Medina boys were leading with the score 3 to 1 in the last inning. A baseball of the game was batted to the bottom of the left field fence. Orbie Medina, James Wood, Bartlett Wood, Jr., Jimmie Hall, Jackie Rose, and Marshall Hicks played for Medina 18, Bandera 5.

Following the game the men made the ball. The fast and furious. Medina won with a big far out of the diamond with the powerful batting skill, but feel sorry for his opponents and ends of a whole lot more before he continued on to finish his home run. Raymond Hicks knocked a three-base hit for the Bandera team. Everybody came to the Medina new game between Medina with a score of 11 to 8 in their favor.

Dr. Griffin's Camp for Medina welcomed several children this week. A number of children from various places are attending the camp where they enjoy swimming, boating, and swimming. This is a lovely camp to visit in country where so many children like to spend their vacation.

Medina music pupils presented Mrs. A. F. Schenck and 9 fine family were among those community. Mr. Herndon was a teacher in the Medina school two years and was well liked in the community and the school. We are sorry to see him leave, but are happy to know that he has a good position in the New Braunfels school district, somewhere [illegible] the place where he taught before coming to Medina.

The Medina Church of Christ has a very large attendance Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Robert Swaney, minister of the church, has been preaching to large audiences since he came here. Mr. Swaney has been in active work for the Lord for many years and has been preaching in Medina for the past three weeks. Mr. Miller narrowly escaped being in a big box wreck.

Harvey Carpenter, from Oakland, California, who has been spending the past two weeks here visiting his brother, Mrs. H. L. Porter, returned to his home Monday morning for his California.

Mrs. F. W. Tankersley became very ill in San Antonio Saturday, her two daughters, Mrs. Floyd Maxfield and Mrs. George Whitehead, rushed to her immediately and are still at her bedside. Her condition at this writing is somewhat better.

Bumpin' Over the Cattle Guard

By Peggy Tobin

When you're in San Antonio (brave soul, you) and worn out by the noisy trek from Wolff and Marx' on to Joske's, a pleasant place to recover your strength is La Casita, the restaurant operated in one of the little stone "c" dobe houses of La Villita. Here Nadine Swallow's food is famous. The patio scene of feathery retama trees and lush banana plants is a perfect contrast to Houston Street. Inside the house, the atmosphere is one of bohemian simplicity, and many similar establishments in the art colonies of New Mexico. The walls are lined with paintings by San Antonio artists.

Among the paintings we noticed the La Casita wire two bright watercolors by Warren Hunter, son of Bandera's J. Marvin Hunter. Artist Hunter's excellent draftsmanship is brought to life by his use of vivid color.

The San Antonio Conservation Society recently purchased the property on opposite La Casita and thereby gained ownership for the San Antonio of the entire Villita Street block of old Texas buildings. We understand that Bandera was one of the hill country towns visited by the architects in their search for old cypress beams and other timbers to use in the restoration of the O'Connor house.

Like San Antonio, Bandera has many beautiful old trees, quaint old buildings of the European type, and a wonderful wealth of material for the Texas frontier. There are those old stone structures—the AAA office, the old warehouse, St. Stanislaus' Church, the Callahan home, the Tapeshy house, the Montague house, the Wright house, and other friendly little houses about town that are actually crying out for some artistic touch, and we hope that some artist will see them and be moved to put on their easel and paint.

Along with the other ways to have fun classifying people is the kind of cutting remark that is the subsequence of the above. Yesterday we heard a woman remark that she thought the remarks two people make to each other are the most embarrassing conversation. Take, for instance, the remarks two people make to each other when they are getting out of bed.

The Realist: "Gosh, how that bed did wonder you. I knew it was a wet year, and even I thought it would be cloudy!"

The Optimist: "Well, let's get up and get dressed. Maybe the heavy grape vine and heart pencil that today's bed is doing is a good stand of KR Sunstroke and you'd have some shade."

The Realist: "Aforesaid, that there bed will wonder you. I knew is a wet year, and even I thought it would be cloudy!"

U.N. APPROACHES THE UNEASY PEACE

The atmosphere of hush and mystery that surrounds the cease-fire negotiations in Korea has the appearance of favorable weather that is not healthy.

There is a feeling of caution in dealing with the Communist foe. But the negotiations at Kaesong are moving, and Bolsheviks are cognizant that 'gun fever' is on the wane. We have been told what are the minimum requirements before we will terminate the war.

Secretary Gen. Mr. Trygve Lie stated that a return to the status quo before the armed invasion from North Korea means that the aggressor should be guaranteed against renewed attack. But that is not quite good enough.

The aggressor must be given time to move troops from Manchuria and Russia to the battle front before he will be permitted to withdraw. That is the only way that we can keep the Communist armies from being liquidated.

Report comes of the birth of a baby girl to Mr. and Mrs. Guy E. Bass on San Antonio, July 17. Mr. Bass is a former resident of Bandera, but now live at Sabinal. The young man has been in the army.

Claude Fletcher left Friday for San Antonio to take a preparatory officers course and later he will probably enter A. & M. College. Claude is an ambitious young man and we predict he will watch college work.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Eckhart went to Tuesday from their ranch on Middle Verde, and brought us a generous supply of fine watermelons and some nice corn. We appreciate the remembrance and assure you that it was enjoyed.

U.N. APPROACHES THE UNEASY PEACE

The atmosphere of hush and mystery that surrounds the cease-fire negotiations in Korea has the appearance of dispensable nuisance that is not healthy.

There is necessity, of course, of caution in dealing with the Communist foe. But the negotiations at Kaesong are being conducted in definite innocuousness. We can have no bearing on that. We have not been told what are the minimum requirements acceptable before we will terminate hostilities.

To be sure, Mr. Truman has stated that a return to the status quo before the original invasion from North Korea across the thirty-eighth parallel, and a guarantee against renewed warfare are essential. But these are vague generalities. Their stating has given rise to more apprehension that we are letting ourselves in for an agreement to peace than confidence that terms will be dictated to a beaten enemy.

Let's see what sort of minimum terms are really necessary to achieve the security of the Korean situation under the admitted Truman-Acheson program.

Washington has suggested a demilitarized zone on each side of the thirty-eighth parallel. This presupposes that forces of both sides will be withdrawn from such a zone and kept out. Far more probably, the United Nations (United States) troops will be withdrawn and will see that the South Koreans stay out. The Russians for the Red Chinese or the Red Koreans) will assume a similar situation due north of the parallel. Only if they are true to previous form, they will permit no supervision or inspection to see that it is done. This is a gentleman's game.

If the U.N. attacks to the guns, maintains the integrity of its original label of aggression on North Korea, common sense must insist on withdrawal of all Chinese "volunteers" and North Korean representatives from North Korea. We have withdrawn our troops once with results that we and South Korea have paid for in very bitter blood. It is now time for the other side to do the withdrawing. But there is no indication that General Matthew Ridgway has been told to accept upon this minimum safeguard.

Acceptance of a cease-fire, or truce, on such terms would not be a solution to which he can make a special claim in view of the complete defeat of the North Korean armies and the integrated under Ridgway. But Ridge has already been extended to his allies and could be, will not get an independent unified Korea. Will that be enough?

THE ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS PRAISED

Last Sunday's San Antonio Light contained a very complimentary write-up of our new book, "The Album of Gunfighters," together with a picture of Warren Hunter, the author who designed and decorated the book. The writeup is quite a boost for the book, and has resulted in several orders, one coming as soon as we read the story, hurried up to Bandera to get it before the edition is exhausted. The article follows:

Gunfighters Immortalized

For the first time in history the "fast guns" of the gunfighters have an album of their own. The "Album of Gunfighters" took one year to compile and produce and was designed by Warren Hinter, dean of the San Antonio Art Institute and Corpl. Carl N. H. Rose and J. Marvin Hunter, the book, which weighs more than four pounds, contains 40 full-page and thumb-nail sketches of the most outstanding characters of early west.

Rose, a retired San Antonio photographer, and Hunter, Bandera editor and owner of the Frontier Times museum, began their book in July 12 years ago. Rose has been collecting photographs of frontier characters, but when Texas Rangers and U. S. marshals for more than 25 years and is credited with having the largest collection in the world of famous men of the six-shooter days. Hunter has been busy collecting historical data, narratives, reminiscences and photos of famous men of the six-shooter days. Rose and Hunter are contributors personally for he served as an itinerant printer in Arizona, New Mexico and Arizona their favorite country. FROM DAYS GONE BY
By Jane Kilcrette
in San Antonio Express Magazine

In San Antonio Express Magazine is found a column of items of interest to us "instruments to cool the people."

More specifically, this is a story about a collection of fans. And the way the collection began is as old fashioned as a palmy half-hidden behind a blooding of curved ivory and painted silk.

More than 50 years ago a young Englishman set out to see the world before he settled down to a lucrative office, he was born in Calcutta, and he had a good deal of the world before coming to the States.

Eventually the young man made his way to Texas.

"And here I was," recalls Mrs. John B. Gething, "a fine handsome Englishman and the lovely Texas girl fell in love and married.

It was among the gifts sent by the groom's family—he was the grandson of Lord and Lady Shuttleworth—that Mrs. Gething found a carved ivory fan, "I entranced with the beauty of it she soon set about collecting fans.

And as soon as her family and friends realized she had a collection, they began adding to it. Today she has about 150 fans, many of them beautifully displayed in table and wall cases in her lovely home at 409 E. Gorenfro.

The fans are of all sizes and forms. Some, oblittle, are exquisitely studded with fine pearls of a hand. Others are large handpainted fans, obviously meant to be part of a costume that centered about a sweeping ball gown.

There are especially happy little cupids, all over the place, in love and so hurrying over to show you.

Not nearly as ornate as most of the fans, but quaint in their own way, are those made in a yellow paper. Each is decorated with a different fireplace and shows where the idea of going about with fans originated. Mrs. Gething used one as a model for the hand-painted fans she used to keep the flames down.

Some of the most interesting items about Mrs. Gething's collection are the boxes in which the fans have been shipped to her. Several are in a small Mexican village and are made of wood with carved designs in fine detail. Still others are in fan-shaped cases which hang on the wall. Mrs. Gething has brought the fans from England and her daughter, Miss Margaret Gething, has added to the collection with fans she has found on her travels.

(Editor's Note—The above story was written by Miss Kilcrette when Express Magazine section of the San Antonio Express, July 15, 1951. THE BULLETIN INAUGURATES A NEW FEATURE

Beginning this week, the Bulletin sets aside one whole page for the Medina news, and for Medina advertisers. This page will be edited and arranged by Miss Elizabeth Michelson and Judge N. V. Bradley, who have agreed to spend Monday and Tuesday of each week in Medina, gathering news and taking orders for advertising and printing, while Judge Bradley will handle business for the Bulletin and formerly. Judge Bradley has been Medina representative for the past six years, and though greatly handicapped he has been able to "hold the fort" until we could get Miss Michelson assistance. Elizabeth has been an employee of our Bandera office for the past year, and has proven her efficiency to Leader-news and handle advertising accounts to such an extent that we are putting her in Medina for the two days each week. We are sure the Medina folks will lend their full co-operation in this arrangement, and should find the paper more satisfactory and the advertising rates and the advertising rates more attractive. We will not hesitate to put in the columns for a weekly newspaper in that thriving town. Now, Medina folks, get your news items in to Judge Bradley on Monday, or Tuesday forenoon evening of each week, and he will be better if you turned in the news on Saturday. Sunday or Monday. Advertising copy should be turned in early. Likewise subscriptions to the Bulletin will help to make this page the most interesting paper in Medina.

NEW DRUG SIMILAR TO SOMETHING FOUND IN CACTUS

New York—A new muscle-relaxing drug that is closely related to a South American arrow poison has been made available to doctors by Leader Laboratories.

A smokeless gas that can be used in the operating room will make less anesthetic for the patient, less nausea and more rapid recovery.

The new drug is similar to curare, the deadly arrow poison the South American native hunters use. Curare was first discovered by explorers who came to the coast of Colombia to the New World. It was about 400 years before they found the heads of spears and arrows into the juice of the bark. Eating later it was learned that the juice of another native vine stopped the heart of small animals.

Curare is now especially known to science as a drug that will relax and so hurrying over to show you.

Not nearly as ornate as most of the fans, but quaint in their own way, are those made in a yellow paper. Each is decorated with a different fireplace and shows where the idea of going about with fans originated. Mrs. Gething used one as a model for the hand-painted fans she used to keep the flames down.

Some of the most interesting items about Mrs. Gething's collection are the boxes in which the fans have been shipped to her. Several are in a small Mexican village and are made of wood with carved designs in fine detail. Still others are in fan-shaped cases which hang on the wall. Mrs. Gething has brought the fans from England and her daughter, Miss Margaret Gething, has added to the collection with fans she has found on her travels.

(Editor's Note—The above story was written by Miss Kilcrette when Express Magazine section of the San Antonio Express, July 15, 1951. Miss Kilcrette is interested in that Mrs. Gething and her daughter are both former residents of Bandera and in this section who appreciate the fine work Miss Kilcrette has done on past ladies written by Jane Kilcrette.)

"The Lazy 2's Ford Ranch cut itself ground in the Ford Truck Economy Run," says Stephens. "Only months kept closing the entire six months show that our Ford Truck ran up a total of 5,109 miles. My out-of-pocket expense for gas, oil, maintenance and repairs was exactly $120.71 ... about 2⅞¢ a mile. Not much money, only 2⅞¢ a mile."

Our WASHINGTON Letter

By Congressman O. C. FISHER

Breaking modern records for consecutive roll-calls, the House last week passed a badly mixed-up Defence Production Act. The action came long past midnight Friday after 12 consecutive votes on amendments. The 13th record vote was for final passage.

The House had been debating the measure for most of three weeks. It now goes to a conference committee where Senate and House differences are compromised and a final draft of the bill is written.

I joined 8 other Texas members in voting against the bill on final passage after our efforts to send it back to committee for needed corrections and improvements was defeated. Actually, in the form which it was finally passed the measure appeared to many of us as a piece of political hypocrisy. Sponsors of the legislation supposedly fought off our attempt to freeze all prices and wages for a period of four months. This was doomed to get away from political controls and test the effectiveness of legislation, with Congress spelling it out, to curb inflationary forces that are driving up living costs.

During the debate on the control Act, more than 100 amendments were offered. Here are a few of the actions taken:

1. The initial rollback on cattle, averaging 19 per cent, was approved. The two additional 4½ per cent rollbacks projected for August 1 and October 1 were cancelled and prohibited. Actually, the 19 per cent rollback presently is 18 per cent of most Texas cattle, since range cattle are generally graded as "commercial" and as to that grade the initial order applied a rollback of 18 per cent. I voted against the additional rollbacks and for cancellation of the initial one.

On the effect of the cattle rollback on production and particularly on feeding which accounts for one-third of the beef that goes into butcher shops) it is of interest to note that the Department of Agriculture has just announced that there are presently 9 per cent fewer cattle on feed in Corn Belt feedlots than was true a year ago. This means consumers will feel a shortage of corn-fed beef in the amount of 117 million pounds during the Fall marketing season. And that means more inflationary pressure, higher consumer prices, possibly more black markets.

The Department points out that most of the drop in cattle numbers took place in the three months since March following the rollback order. Before that the number was increasing each month. It is obvious that many feeders reduced their operations and may quit the business because of the uncertainty of profits and the possibility of heavy losses, there being no rollbacks ordered on costs of production.

2. I voted for an amendment by Rep. Poage which would have prohibited increased manufacturing and other costs from being forced back on the original producer of agriculture products. The amendment was defeated.

3. An amendment was voted down which would have limited the Wage Stabilization Board to wage policy-making. At present that Board, in addition to policy-making, acts on thousands of requests for rounds of wage increases, and the public members of the Board are very much in the majority. This arrangement has the effect of by-passing the Taft-Hartley Act and its successful conciliation service. As now operated, the Board has been admittedly inflationary in its actions and it is feared that the policy may lead to more and more inflation in the spiral of wages and prices, with the strongest unions the workers, and those with fixed incomes being hurt the worst. I voted for this attempt to limit the Board to the function intended in the law—that is, as a policy-making medium on the subject of wage increases in the overall stabilization program.

4. The House adopted an amendment, sponsored by the House Committee on Agriculture, which prohibits slaughtering quotas for processors of meat. The OPS had limited butchers to as little as 85 per cent of what they handled a year ago, and this has interfered with the normal supply and flow of meat for the benefit of consumers. I voted for this amendment.

5. An amendment was adopted, for which I voted, which restricts the authority of the President, without the consent of Congress, in the acquisition of real estate for defense production purposes. There has been an inclination in recent years for Congress to delegate too much of its authority and responsibility to the President and to bureaus and agencies.

6. The House also adopted an amendment to the bill prohibiting the licensing authority of businesses, designed to give a check to the head of OPS for gun owner Mr. and Mrs. Warren Hunter were over from Harper to spend the week-end. They returned home Sunday accompanied by Mrs. Hunter's daughter, Mrs. Ted Wade and Wade Langford.

Mrs. Ted Wade and son, Wade, and Mrs. H. H. Walker and children left today for Austin to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Mason and daughter, Mrs. Ben Hall and children and Mrs. Ben Hall, Sr. of Houston and San Antonio. They motored to Kerrville and Camp Verde and then had all the entertainment they could stand when they visited Mrs. Mason's brother, Mr. Ben Hall, Jr. and family.

Misses Minnie Mae Mansfield, Myra Jeanette Hunter and Norma Scribner started to Kerrville last Friday, but on account of high water in the creeks they turned back at Camp Verde and went to Medina, where they found the Medina river up and were forced to remain overnight. Mrs. J. G. Collins kindly shared with them the hospitality of her home, and the girls returned to Bandera the next day.

Mrs. Pearl Hall and daughter, Mrs. Priscilla Adams of Houston, Mrs. Ben Hall, Jr. and children and Mrs. Ben Hall, Sr. of Kerrville motored to Bandera Sunday and visited Mrs. Hall's mother, Mrs. Lula Langford.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Thornton and children of Bandera were visiting Mrs. Thornton's mother, Mrs. Ella Cantrell, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. J. P. Jackson Back in Hospital

Mrs. J. P. Jackson is nursing her share of trouble. Two months ago she had the misfortune to break a hip and was immediately taken to the hospital where the break was treated. The bones were set and followed in a cast, and a month ago she accepted the position as representative of the Bandera Bulletin. The Bulletin felt that in so doing she would be relieved of some of the duties of the office, but she was under the impression that she could do the work on the side. Last week she was taken to the hospital where she was operated on for a broken hip. She is getting along fine at this writing, but will be confined to the hospital for some time. Mrs. Jackson is a very capable woman and community worker, and the Bulletin staff wishes to make this statement saying that as far as the Bulletin is concerned, she will be welcomed back to the job when she is able to return.

Judge Bralev Extends Thanks

We remember having read in our high school days a phrase, "Necessity is the best policy," and we do not fully agree with the statement, however, we do honestly say a promotion instead of followed in a court case a year ago exemplified the position as representative of the Bandera Bulletin. The Bulletin felt that in so doing it would be relieved of some of the duties of the office, but she was under the impression that she could do the work on the side. Last week she was taken to the hospital where she was operated on for a broken hip. She is getting along fine at this writing, but will be confined to the hospital for some time. Mrs. Jackson is a very capable woman and community worker, and the Bulletin staff wishes to make this statement saying that as far as the Bulletin is concerned, she will be welcomed back to the job when she is able to return.

Twirling School Is Educational

Very interesting reports come from the young ladies who attended the twirling school conducted in Medina during June by Miss Lois Talley, Austin twirler, who was employed by the Medina Community Association. The school was held at the Tuesday and Thursday nights at 8 o'clock for a period of four weeks. The closing session was held last week. The girls who attended the school were given instruction in the fundamentals of baton twirling, and the majority of them made rapid progress. Those who attended the school were Sandra Bonner, Jo Ann Bonner, Sandra Bonner, Jo Ann Bonner, Sandra Bonner, Jo Ann Bonner,

ANOTHER BANDERA BOY CLIMBS TO HIGH PLACE

According to the Congressional Quarterly, Joe G. Montague of Fort Worth, has registered as a lobbyist for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association. The Quarterly lists Montague's address at the Petroleum Building, Fort Worth, with his annual retainer fee being $16,000, with an estimated expense for the quarter at $5,000. The Quarterly further says:

"Montague is a native son of Bandera." His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montague, Jr., early settlers of Bandera county. The father, Charles Montague, was a distinguished lawyer, and served as county and district clerk of Bandera for fourteen consecutive terms. Joe Montague grew up in Bandera, attended the University of Texas, and after graduation opened a law office in Bandera. In 1924 he moved to Fort Stockton, where he later became county attorney, then district attorney, and still later district judge, his district covering several West Texas counties. During recent years he has made his home at Fort Worth, and has been quite active in the affairs of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association. He has won many legal battles with the OPS and other governmental agencies which affected the cattle industry, and in the present "roll back" fight on the industry has come out victorious so far. Beyond any question of doubt, up there in Washington, Joe Montague is the right man in the right place, and his friends throughout Texas is proud of the record he is making. There were seven Montague brothers (pronounced Mont-ta-gue) raised here in Bandera, and every one of the seven reached high stations in life. Charles Montague II, who died a few years ago, became president and chairman of the Cananea Consolidated Mining Co. of Cananea, Mexico; Frank M. Montague is a ranchman here and president of the First National Bank of Bandera; Wilmore Montague is postmaster at Lordsburg, New Mexico; John Montague, the eldest brother, is an executive in a large manufacturing concern in Waterbury, Connecticut; L. L. (Louie) Montague, is a prominent physician at Edinburg, Texas; Brian Montague, a brilliant lawyer, was district judge for the Del Rio district for several terms until his voluntary retirement a few years ago; and Joe G. Montague is chief counsel for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, with headquarters at Fort Worth. Bandera is proud of these Montague boys, because they are Bandera born.

While publication is being given the new book, "The Album of Gunfighters," through reviews in newspapers and magazines, and over radio networks, among the big metropolitan papers of the country to notice our book are the Denver Post, the Dallas News, New York Times, Chicago Tribune, and Westways.

BANDERA ELECRIC COOP EXPANDING

A couple of weeks ago a loan of $345,000 to the Bandera Electric Cooperative was approved by the Rural Electrification Administration, according to dispatches from Washington. The money will be used for system improvements, for the completion of work already under construction, and for the building of sixty-four miles of new lines to serve 149 new farm consumers. This is cheering news to the ranchmen and farmers of this section. The Bandera Cooperative, of which W. W. Cardwell is the manager, operates in Bandera, Medina, Uvalde, Real, Kendall and Kerr counties, with hearquarters at Bandera. Starting with small facilities only a few years ago the system has been expanding rapidly to thoroughly cover Bandera county and extending into adjacent counties, supplying electric current in homes and business houses in our town and rural service in all directions. The Cooperative is still expanding to met the growing demand for electric service. It is the greatest boon that has come Bandera's way, and every citizen should be proud of the system. We, who have lived here before electricity came, can appreciate the convenience and benefits it has brought us. Without it Bandera could not have made the progress and development that has come since the system was installed here.

WARREN HUNTER DESIGNS ANOTHER BOOK

Warren Hunter, Bandera-San Antonio artist, has designed and illustrated another beautiful book, "Empire Builders of Georgia," just published by the Steck Company of Austin. The authors of the new volume are Ruth Elgin Daish, Ida Lee Hood Hamilton (which each use him 8C900), but almost immediately after filing his initial registration his JCL connection was ended and he returned to Fort Worth."

Mrs. Montague is a native son of Bandera." His parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. Charles Montague, Jr., early settlers of Bandera county. The father, Charles Montague, was a distinguished lawyer, and served as county and district clerk of Bandera for fourteen consecutive terms. Joe Montague grew up in Bandera, attended the University of Texas, and after graduation opened a law office in Bandera. In 1924 he moved to Fort Stockton, where he later became county attorney, then district attorney, and still later district judge, his district covering several West Texas counties. During recent years he has made his home at Fort Worth, and has been quite active in the affairs of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association. He has won many legal battles with the OPS and other governmental agencies which affected the cattle industry, and in the present "roll back" fight on the industry has come out victorious so far. Beyond any question of doubt, up there in Washington, Joe Montague is the right man in the right place, and his friends throughout Texas is proud of the record he is making. There were seven Montague brothers (pronounced Mont-ta-gue) raised here in Bandera, and every one of the seven reached high stations in life. Charles Montague II, who died a few years ago, became president and chairman of the Cananea Consolidated Mining Co. of Cananea, Mexico; Frank M. Montague is a ranchman here and president of the First National Bank of Bandera; Wilmore Montague is postmaster at Lordsburg, New Mexico; John Montague, the eldest brother, is an executive in a large manufacturing concern in Waterbury, Connecticut; L. L. (Louie) Montague, is a prominent physician at Edinburg, Texas; Brian Montague, a brilliant lawyer, was district judge for the Del Rio district for several terms until his voluntary retirement a few years ago; and Joe G. Montague is chief counsel for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association, with hearquarters at Fort Worth. Bandera is proud of these Montague boys, because they are Bandera born.

Dr. C. P. Langford, one of the most prominent physicians and surgeons of the coast country, has sold his Bayton hospital and has returned to Bandera to make his permanent home here. He has received from the people of this city and will devote his attention to his ranch and stock interests here. Dr. Langford has contemplated this move for more than ten years, and in accordance with his plan to acquire land holdings, bought as he could small ranches on the south side of the river from Bandera and blocking them into one tract until he now owns some 4300 acres. The last purchase he made was the 600-acre old Langford home, just east of and on the north side of the river at the mouth of Bandera Creek, which he purchased from Mr. Van Petty for a consideration of about $30,000. The Petty had erected a palatial stone residence on the property, one of the most desirable homes adjacent to town. For the past tree or four years Mrs. Langford and the children have lived there most of the time, while Dr. Langford remained at Bayton to manage his hospital and practice. Now the family is all here to make their home, and their friends are rejoicing that they are numbered with permanent residents. Dr. Langford was reared in Bandera, but left some twenty-five years ago to take up the practice of medicine at Goose Creek, now Baytown, where he became very successful. He is the son of Mrs. B. F. Langford and the late lamented B. F. Langford, Jr. He will be assisted in his ranch work by his brother, Odell Langford, who has managed the ranch property since the death of his father about a year ago.

These are precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. Polio is around. Also, wash hands before eating and be on the alert for such symptoms as feverishness, sore throat, headache, upset stomach or sore muscles. They may—or may not—mean polio. If the disease does strike, call your doctor promptly; follow his advice. Your local National Foundation chapter will provide needed assistance.

RED CROSS AT FLOOD SCENE

Reports show 165,300 persons in Texas, Kansas and Central Missouri have been disrupted by the disastrous flooding now pouring out of Gunfighters," a book that is now swinging into popularity, and this latest "Empire Builders of Georgia." He has designed and illustrated a number f other books for the Steck Company. Mr. Hunter maintains a studio in San Antonio, and is Dean of the San Antonio Art Institute. He and his wife and daughter live in Bandera.

Reports show 165,300 persons in Texas, Kansas and Central Missouri have been disrupted by the disastrous flooding now pouring out of the state. Red Cross Mid-western Area Headquarters a total of 425 trained national disaster workers have been dispatched into flood areas to aid thousands of chapter volunteers providing emergency care, rescue, and mobile food units to repair the much bigger task of rebuilding homes, replacing furniture, clothing and household goods for families rendered homeless by the flood waters.

With the new crest rolling down the Missouri River in that state, Red Cross Disaster Relief Chairman Hoode an additional $100,000 emergency allocation raising to $1,000,000 the total of national expenditures. It is estimated that $2,000,000 will be required for emergency and rehabilitation work during the disaster period, a total of $1,500,000.

Hundreds of Red Cross chapters in the two flooded states and including Oklahoma, Colorado and Illinois are on the alert to offer relief service in as many ways as possible.

As the worst flood in the history of the City, Mo., is reported, bringing that city of 900,000 almost to the point of disaster, Red Cross Director Maytag now for five days has been operating canteens of food and a service three days of drinking water now rushed crests beyond Missouri River converging on Missouri. Reports investigation of 16,000 persons in Kansas City, Kansas, alone, and 1,000 in Topeka, where the Kansas River is expected to crest at a new high level Saturday.

Red Cross disaster workers are now in Topeka, where 4000 persons are being housed in 15 shelters, 2000 are being fed; Kansas City, Kansas, where nine shelters are housing 1000 and 1850 refugees are being fed; Manhattan, with 1800 persons being fed and cared for in two large shelters; and Salina, where four of six shelters are still open housing and feeding 825 families after a peak load of 2000.

Fast-rising Kansas flood waters forced quick evacuation of Camp U. S. Army troops from the Camp Function area at Ft. Riley. They set up camp on higher ground in the top level in the exodus new women were forced to leave behind many comfort and food articles. In St. Louis, the Red Cross has a Mobile Disaster Relief truck with 2500 razors, blades, brushes, soap, toothbrushes, shaving cream, as well as checker sets, playing cards, and other recreational items for the troops.

In Ottawa County, Oklahoma, the flooded Neosho River virtually isolated the town and made 5000 persons homeless. The chapter has opened a shelter in the high school at Miami and is housing and feeding 400 persons. The chapter also assisted in the evacuation of the flooded families in evacuating their homes.

GET-ACHESON' DRIVE BEGINS

Washington, July 23.—House Democratic leaders rolled the cost station Monday in an effort to cut off a Republican drive to cut off the salary of Sec. of State Dean Acheson.

The long-planned G.O.P. attack on Acheson got underway as soon as the House opened debate on a $1,051,713,115 appropriation bill for the State, Justice and Commerce Departments during the 1952 fiscal year.

Chairman John J. Rooney (D.-N.Y.) of the appropriations subcommittee handling the bill told the House there were two ways to deprive funds for the "Voice of America" and the U. N. P. plan to carry on a "drive" cutting off Acheson's pay.

He said the Achesonbashing which the Republicans are conducting is certain to introduce confusion, delay and bitterness into the consideration of the State Department appropriations, and will result in no saving.

Acheson-bashing may be a vote-getting sport, but it has to be played with finesse, Rooney said.

Some Republicans have conceded privately that the Achesonbashing may not be popular, but must but hold that it would attempt to cut off funds for the salary of Secretary of State Acheson.

Rep. Earl Wilson, (R.-Ind.), of world history of recent years show that the State Department has been the "front line" in the fight against Communist expansion.

The two captains during 1776-81 were commanding 776 men, and 1,000 Red cross "Field Directors" he said.

Rep. Albert J. Sabath, D.-Ill., dean of the House, said he had known many secretaries of state during his 48 years in Congress but "none have ever been subjected to such unfair attacks as are being made on the present secretary of state."

REUBEN CAFFALL NOW IN CALIFORNIA

Reuben Caffall and family are now in Compton, California, where they have purchased a good home. Mr. Caffall, who worked for a number of years for the Bandera Bulletin in Bandera, is employed in a defense plant at Compton, but after a three weeks vacation at Kerrville Sanatorium in Kerrville where examinations and treatments were made of his case, found to have had a recurrence of tuberculosis. He is feeling better each day, but is still under the doctor's care. We both send regards and best wishes to Bandera friends. Reuben and Ina Caffall

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing clothes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—enough hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 35 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 80 minutes.

'S PROPOSALS TO GO BEFORE TEXAS VOTERS

Voters of Texas will be asked to approve or reject five amendments to the state constitution in a special election on Nov. 13.

First on the ballot will be authority for a statewide retirement system for county employees. If this should be approved, it will be up to the washing act of the legislature later, to make it effective.

Proposition number 2 on the ballot is to permit regents of the University of Texas to invest money in the school's permanent fund in interest-bearing securities other than government bonds. This has become increasingly difficult in recent years for the regents to obtain enough bonds to keep the permanent fund to meet the needs of the two schools which are Austin's the University of Texas and A. & M. College.

The third item on the ballot will be to vote on the creation of new school districts to increase property taxes from the present 25 cents per $100 valuation to a maximum of 50 cents, upon approval from the people of the districts involved.

The fourth amendment to be voted on will be to permit the Texas Legislature by a land board to extend the program of state financing of the purchase of farms and ranches to veterans of World War II. The original $25 million authorized for this purpose has long since been used and this amendment would add another $25 million or $75 million in the amount of bonds that can be issued for this purpose.

The final proposition on the ballot is the one which will probably be most interesting to the people of Texas. It proposes to increase the ceiling on old age welfare payments from the present $55 million to $82 million per year. Money from the federal government for this purpose is matched by contributions on the part of the state, county and city governments. Recent increases in the cost of living have made the present ceiling inadequate, and it is estimated that failure to increase the maximum amount of money available for the federal government for this purpose. It is expected that a majority of elderly citizens will vote for this amendment and will be in favor of increasing the ceiling. Those in the possibility that it may well bring out a fairly large vote.

NEW SHIPTMENT OF SHOES

W. R. Bowles, manager of the Medina Rural Telephone Company, was a business visitor at the Bulletin office Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Fee and family returned last week from a most pleasant trip to California where they visited Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dew and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Fee and baby at Mountainview. They report a very happy trip and that Mr. and Mrs. Dew and Mr. and Mrs. Fee are doing fine in that city where Mr. Dew has purchased an interest in the local newspaper.

We were pleased to get a nice letter from Mrs. Avra Raymond, a former resident of Bandera who is now living in San Antonio. Mrs. Raymond says, "We really do not want to lose out on getting the Bulletin on, here with is subscription to the paper for another year." Mrs. Raymond and Miss Virginia Godwin lived in Bandera several years and have a host of friends here and at Medina.

C. R. Maffet of Medina paid our office a visit Thursday morning.

Miss Kathleen Schmidt of Terrell visited Miss Elizabeth Mirkel-son in Bandera this week.

Charlie Chipman will close his leather shop this week and go to Hondo where he will be employed as a mechanic in the new airfield. His family will remain here for the present.

Mrs. Luther Graham and son were visitors in the city several days this week. They have been spending the summer at the summer camp for boys, LaJunta near Mont and enjoying the many activities of camp life. LaJunta is fast becoming famous over the nation with several sons of prominent men enrolled. Recent enrollees here, been the grandson of the late President Roosevelt as well as the grandson of Senator Tom Conally. Camp activities include rifle practice, camping, fishing, riding, swimming and many other sports such as boat races on a real Texas ranch. It is a very interesting place and most any young boy would be delighted to spend time there.

QUARTER HORSE SHOW IN BANDERA OCTOBER 6

Saturday, October 6th, has been set aside as the date for the Fourth Annual Bandera Quarter Horse Show according to an announcement by D. W. Hicks, General Superintendent of the Show, sponsored by the Bandera County Livestock Improvement Association, this year's show is expected to be the best yet held.

The date was set at a meeting of the Quarter Horse Committee on July 6th and several important changes were made at that time. The Committee also announced that the Cutting Contest were to be held on both Hadrer Class fees left at $5.00 and Reserve Class at $10.00. Performances will be divided on a 60-30-20-10 basis, except for actual cost of trophies and entry expenses of those classes. Ribbons and trophies will be awarded to winners. Another change received is that all entries in halter classes be registered, except 1951 colts.

All other rules were left unchanged. The entry deadline was set for October 1st, with all horses to be on the grounds at Mansfield Park on the morning of the 6th. Halter classes will be judged according to the rules of the AQHA and a single halter classes include mares and geldings, two years and over. Two-cycle, mares and geldings, three years and over, also are to be offered.

Performances will be open to all entries and will start at 1:00 p.m. Halter classes will be judged under the rules of the AQHA and given for the registered and the most unusual colt, open to mare and bring a box.

In the early days of the most popular entertainment was a scrapping bee where the young lady brought a beautifully decorated box filled with all kinds of good things. The box was auctioned off to the highest bidder and much merriment took place as the watching some lovesick swain spend his last cent to get the box his sweetheart had prepared. This fun comes promises to be great fun so let's go.

1,137 PERSONS GET X-RAYED IN RECENT SURVEY

The Chest X-ray Survey held in the county this past week was very successful according to Col. Ivan Alanis, Lions Club president, who was also chairman of the survey. Medina had 564 persons X-rayed during the one day that the unit was at that city and Bandera had 573 persons during the three days the unit was set up here. The record set by such a few units out of counties to be X-rayed especially in a county that thickly populated.

Col. Alanis expressed his appreciation to the various committees for their splendid work, during the survey and also to all as well as the people who came to help during the five days of the service. He stated that present plans call for another survey in the county.

TAXES AND INFLATION

Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina is quoted as saying that the heavy new taxes will curb inflation. One of the dreamed fallacies in economic thinking today is the belief that taxation will curb inflation effectively.

Heavy taxes will curb inflation temporarily by draining off purchasing power from the consuming public. But the government goes right ahead and spends the money collected on goods, commodities and consumers' goods. Furthermore, the government's spending usually does not encourage increased production for maintenance of the standard of living of the people. When the consumer has more dollars to spend for butter than there is butter, the dairying industry is encouraged to increase production. When the consumer has more dollars and spends them for cotton, the industry's capacity for buying butter is cut down, but the supply of steel is also cut down and no useful production of any kind is encouraged.

It is an argument against higher taxation. The country must be defended, and it takes taxes—higher taxes—to defend the country under such circumstances as exist. But the Truman administration is not raising taxes straight as to reasons. We have been raising taxes gradually over a considerable period of years, and inflation has run a fairly parallel course. Just after the war, taxes went down and inflation up, but that was because of the big demand that had been built up by wartime taxes and other restrictions on consumer purchasing.

Dallas News.

PROGRAM GOOD AS GOLD

Any administration program, whether of governmental or private sponsorship, said Dr. Walter S. Sparr of the Democratic National Committee on Monday, Public Policy, he said, will be good only if and as the money unit is made as good as gold. As laudable as many of these anti-inflation proposals are, they fall short of the one essential and all-inclusive requirement—a redeemable currency. The reports of our Senate and House committees, after hearings, abound with the following: a considerable period of time, and in keeping a currency in a relatively healthy condition. The continued meeting of the country's need for a currency responsible to gold can be had both by Democratic and Republican favor.

Democratic leaders have been silent, and, while Rep. Daniel (Rep., Neb.) has introduced a bill to that end, the three leading Democratic members of Congress in House and Senate have persistently avoided the question.

One Republican, Rep. Phillips (Calif.), on July 19 assailed the Administration of stroking the fires of inflation by the handling of farm crop prices. He declared that the Administration is trying to make a public showing that indirect controls are inadequate, while going ahead, by less public means, to see that they do not work effectively.

It is today that gold reserves behind the issuance of Federal Reserve notes were reduced, in 1945, from 40 to 25 per cent, and remained at the lower figure, which, he said, broadens the base for the issuance of currency. He added that the required reserves behind deposit liability of banks were cut, in 1945, from 35 to 25 per cent—the current rate—resulting in a broadening of the base of the nation's credit structure.

There has been frequent criticism of the policies Rep. Phillips cites, but the far more important issue of restoring a redeemable currency seems to be one neither of the major parties is willing to face.—San Antonio Express.

FANTASTIC "INFLUENCE-PEDDLING" CASE UNFOLDED

The case involves an alleged swindle of hundreds of thousands of dollars, bilked from people who thought the "influence peddler" could help them obtain leases on major government buildings in Washington. They were told the government was going underground to escape an atomic attack, and that government building could be leased for as little as a dollar a year.

"Selling the Brooklyn bridge was piker stuff compared to this operation," one member of the committee told newsmen.

Two Greek Catholic priests testified before the committee that they were taken for $200,000 by the peg-legged influence peddler who was discribed by Chairman Hoey (D-N. C.) as a professional "con man."

One by one, witnesses ticked off a story of how the man Samuel D. Mason, of New York City, talked them out of huge sums of cash for promises of obtaining special government leases. The promises never were filled, they said.

The priest, Father Maxim Markiw and Father Peter Hewko, told of turning over to Mason almost $200,000 in $20 to $100 bills. They accepted his offer to get them bargain leases on government buildings because their order-city Order of St. Basil the Great—needed a new church, a school, and a poor children's camp. They said Mason assured them they could make a lot of money on the leases—enough to build the church and school.

Joseph E. Bennett a Boston construction contractor, told the committee he paid Mason $22,765 to obtain contracts for him, but Mason never produced. He said he had gotten between $10,000,000 and $12,000,000 worth of government contracts in competitive bidding without Mason's help.

Mr. and Mrs. Bohdan Kalamay of Philadelphia, also told the senators they paid Mason $37,000 to obtain leases on several government buildings.

TEXANS TO FIGHT COMMUNISM

HOUSEWIVES MAP PLANS IN SOCIAL SECURITY FIGHT

Marshall, Texas, July 29—The Marshall housewives who have balked at paying federal taxes to pay Social Security taxes on their domestic employes refused Sunday to discuss their next strategic move in their fight with Uncle Sam.

Said Mrs. Carolyn Abney, wife of a Marshall druggist, and one of the unyielding housewives:

"We aren't ready to give away our strategy. But I can tell you some good heads are working on it."

Earlier in the rebellion against the Social Security tax levies, which the regulation was unconstitutional, Mrs. Abney had said she would go to jail rather than pay the tax.

Federal collector Clarence Judy has said he would not collect the taxes until he received instructions from Washington. Judy said he would not be responsible for the collection of taxes that may have been withheld from domestic employes' wages in the past.

Judy said he had received letters from other women were going to refuse to pay the taxes, and that unless they can get government aid authorizing the collection of the taxes, he will be "up a stump."

The notice said taxes withheld before will be taken off voluntarily.

The unyielding housewives have been meeting almost daily since they first got word that they would have to pay the taxes. Many of them have refused to pay the taxes, and the government has refused to accept the money unless it is accompanied by the names of the employes for whom the taxes are paid.

ARMY FIRES TANK CENTER HEAD

Washington, July 29—Brig. Gen. David J. Crawford was formally reprimanded and relieved as commander of the Army's big tank-building center at Detroit Sunday for accepting free hospitality from defense contractors and for writing government property to private use.

The disciplinary action was ordered by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace, Jr. He said Crawford "has not met the high standards required of an Army officer."

A formal reprimand and relief of command was the stiffest punishment that can be inflicted without court-martialing army officers short of dismissal from the service. It was a blot on his record which will follow him wherever he goes in the military service.

Pace said he was also barring Crawford from promotion to the permanent rank of major general. Crawford now holds the temporary rank of major general, which he was given when he took command of the Detroit tank arsenal.

Pace said Crawford "has failed to exercise the degree of judgment and discretion required of officers of his grade and responsibility in accepting gifts and entertainment from persons having business relations with the government."

Pace said Crawford "has failed to maintain the high standards required of officers of his responsibility in connection with the acceptance of

PLANNING TO ENTER "MAKE IT YOURSELF WITH WOOL" ON MOHAIR CONTEST

Two Medina girls, Allie Dora Lou Mickelson and Wanda Thornberry, are busily engaged in preparing entries for the "Make It Yourself With Wool" on Mohair contest sponsored by the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association and the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The contest is open to girls in 4-H Clubs and Future Farmers of America. Allie Dora and Wanda, both members of the Medina 4-H Club, have been working on their entries since early in June. Allie Dora is making a bedspread of mohair which will be entered in the bedspread division. Wanda is making a mohair suit which will be entered in the suit division. Both girls have been working on their entries in their spare time and have completed the articles. Allie Dora says, "I wanted to enter this contest because I thought it would help me learn how to sew. I have learned a lot about sewing and I enjoyed making my bedspread." Wanda says, "I wanted to enter this contest because I thought it would help me learn how to sew. I have learned a lot about sewing and I enjoyed making my suit." Both girls have been saving their money so they can buy the wool when the contest opens. Of course that means extra expenses, but the girls say they are willing to work hard and economize to enter the contest.

LOOKING BACKWARD

(From the Bandera New Era, August 19, 1926. Published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Postmaster E. J. Basta and children, Chester and Reba were here on Medina Tuesday and visited the New Era office to renew Chester's subscription to Hunter's Texas. Mr. Basta came down to receive a new model 1927 Ford from Lee Roninger.

Word was received Tuesday of the appointment of Fred Mansfield as postmaster at Bandera. The news is pleasing to the many friends of Mr. Mansfield, and we are sure he will mayn an accommodating and efficient postmaster. Mrs. Frances Bond has served as postmaster here for more than six years and has conducted the office in a painstaking, efficient and obliging manner, and she retires from the office with the assurance that she has faithfully performed the duties that were imposed upon her.

Miss Ruth Thalmann, who holds a position with the State Hospital at San Antonio, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Thalmann.

John F. Gibbons, son of Mrs. Mina Gibbons of San Antonio, was killed in an auto collision in Houston last Monday, and the remains were brought to Bandera for burial yesterday, interment being made at noon. Rev. Hoffman of San Antonio conducted the services at the grave. Mr. Gibbons was twenty-four years old and was well known to most of the people of Bandera, having visited in Bandera. He was in the employ of an oil-field company and will long be remembered here. Mr. Gibbons leaves to mourn his untimely death his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons of San Antonio, and a number of relatives and friends. Mr. Gibbons was also a brother of Mrs. Mina Brice of San Antonio, who formerly lived in Bandera. He was a member of the Knights of Columbus at San Antonio, and the local lodge of that order had charge of the funeral services yesterday.

Miss Minnie Brice entertained a number of friends last night with a social party in honor of her guest, Miss Lillie Belle Scherer of Odell and Edith Odell of Mountain Home.

Edmund Hicks was over from Tarpley Tuesday, sizing up the situation in regard to entering the race for County Commissioner of Precinct No. 1. Said he had decided to wait until the number of entries had reached twelve and then he would toss his hat in the ring for a lucky number.

WHEN IS A MAN A MASON?

To the question, "When is a man a Mason?" a well known writer replies: "When he can look out over the prospects, fore and aft, of the horizon with a profound sense of his own littleness in the vast scheme of things, and yet have hope, faith and courage, which is the root of every virtue. When he knows that God is in the heart, every man is as noble, as rich, as divine as Lincoln, as himself, and seeks to be kind, to forgive, and to love his fellow man. When he knows how to worship God by faith in their service, even in their sins, knowing that such man fights a hard fight against many odds. When he has learned how to make friends, and keeps those friends, if to keep friends be with himself. When he loves flowers, can hunt birds without a gun and finds the thrill of an odd forgotten lore when he hears the laughter of a little child. When he can be happy and high-minded amid the toilsome drudgeries of life. When star-crowned trees and the glint of sunshine on flowing water and the brown earth, fresh from the plow, are loved dear. When no voice of distress reaches his ears in vain, and to hard tasks his aid without response. When he finds good in every faith that believes in man, his hands on divine things, and man's destiny in the life to come. When he lives the name of that faith may be. When he can look into the wayside puddle and see something beyond mud, forlorn fellow-mortal and see something beyond sin. When he knows how to pray, how to love, how to hope. When he has kept faith with himself, with his fellow man, with his God; in his round sphere is short as it is, he is glad to live and glad and not afraid to die. Such a man has found the only real secret of Masonry and the one it is trying to give the world."

While Baird people are ever searching for ways and means of engaging good publicity for their town and county, a 14-year-old boy hits the jack-pot and as it is by energy, Baird finds its name in headlines throughout the nation.

Charles, printer's devil at the Baird Star, wrote an essay and sent it to Premiere Petroleum Company's contest for school children. Out of hundreds of entries Charles' essay was one of the first prizes. The boy could have been content with a hundred signed by Dale Hess, but Charles' essay was winner of the first prize. The best of some ten thousand essays. He found out too that he was to be awarded a trip to New York City and the World Series. Charles had never been out of Baird, so any one of the cities and clubs in that contest would be the first of them. Then to decide the winners, Dizzy Dean and Leo Durocher were one of Texas' leading daily newspapers.

Mr. Premiere people were very much interested in Charles' trip to New York. While Charles and his father are taking the trip to New York many sights they never saw before and boarding their plane in the spotlight of the nation for almost a week, their home town of Baird will be entertaining Mr. Premiere and all four of their families from Texas for the first time. This will grant a great opinion of this little town deep in the heart of Texas. Many Chamber of Commerce boys will be entertaining those who would not have visited this town from Texas otherwise. Baird will be on the map for the United States at Texas' expense. Many others are poor and then some. We wish the fat get fatter and the thin get thinner. We wish the rich get richer and the poor get poorer." Where do you tell the rose from the rich—its root won't tell you from Cadillac.

Charles' essay was the best of eight hundred winning essays of the people of Baird have brought fine gifts clothing and money are only of two things and the Young son and father are sent on a holiday. They left Wednesday morning for Fort Worth where they will spend the day at Premiere big refinery, which is a big brother to their refinery at Baird. Tuesday morning the Mr. and Mrs. Texas ladies, after a night at a leading St. American Air Lines for New York. Mr. and Mrs. Dizzy Dean will entertain them when they get to New Yorkers present them to the ball game. Mr. and Mrs. Dizzy Dean will entertain Texas Sunday afternoon. They will be feasted and toured and entertained for almost a solid week.

It is more in a lifetime that a boy and his dad get to take a trip like Premier is giving Mr. Young and Charles, and they are going to have the time of their life. Their friends home are wishing for their good fortune, and we venture to say they will think kindly of Premier each time they drive into their stations for a tank of that new Platformed gasoline.—Baird Star.

It takes speed, strength and deception for a football player to get the Pocket Edition ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . but lessens mighty important.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundance hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 60 minutes.

CONGRESSMAN CALLS ON CITIZENSHIP OF NATION TO SAFEGUARD LIBERTY IN ADDRESS FRIDAY EVENING

Rep. O. C. Fisher raised a warning flag before an audience of Kerrville citizens Friday night in the Kohler-Lewis auditorium, pointing out that the nation is drifting in the path of Great Britain towards socialism and is suffering from an acute case of moral decay, which is evident even in the nation's highest halls of state.

Appearing at a forum affair sponsored by "We, The Citizens," a patriotic organization, Fisher declared that although confidence in economic belief was not the principle cause of destruction of nations, "Nations do fall. Greece fell. The motherland of culture, and Rome the fatherland of law, fell before political intrigue, corruption and moral decay of people.

Congressman lauded attended the affair and heard their popular representative make his tribute to such an organization and compliment the fine spirit and patriotic zeal which have motivated formation of "We, The Citizens." Fisher was introduced by Hon. Arthur Stehling of San Antonio. The meeting was featured with pertinent remarks by Judge R. H. Barnstone, Dean of "We, The Citizens," and Johnny Witt, presided as master of ceremonies.

The speaker set forth the immediate danger confronting America, from within and without.

"Unless we can stop waste, the government will take more of me," declared Fisher, as an example of enslavement. The San Angelo Legislator declared that people elevate the type taxes which are necessary to support what we take a defeatist attitude.

Should the armament program would take 50 per cent of the national income, and emphasized that our taxpayers could be heaped by nothing non-essential spending.

The public housing program sponsored by Fisher as an example of non-essential spending. "As proved," he explained, "the program of construction of 800,000 units will ultimately cost $20 billion." He said public housing administration officials have claimed that 3 million units would be necessary eventually.

As a member of the Armed Services Committee, told the crowd that the United States could lose the power of exhaustion.

"We must remain strong, must have complete preparedness, must have complete confidence in our leaders," declared. "While we are doing this we must not destroy the very thing we are trying to preserve."

Congressman Fisher's address was the concluding feature of the evening's program. Dr. Fisher, president of Schreiner Institute, was master of ceremonies.

Reports of the activities of the various committees of "We, The Citizens" were given by Mrs. Ben Ellison, Mrs. Ben Ellison, Mrs. Ben Ellison,

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

It takes speed, strength and deception for a championship football team. And when the ball is on the one-yard line, it takes real power . . . size becomes major importance.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140 degree water within a period of 60 minutes.

TABLE TALK

LOW COST LUXURY—Lace, once restricted by law to the nobility, has now come within the means of the average American family. The simplicity of the lace table cloth shown by Brantley Blends is in with the clean-cut look of today's chick. Choose a pastel shade for dark china or a deep tone for color for light dinnerware. Its Duracare finish keeps cloth fresh longer, allows no stretching or sagging. The cloth can be ironed quickly with no need of old-fashioned sprinkers. (Table lighter by Evans).

Weather-proofing your home by installation of modern and weather-tight windows and doors, or improvement to minor cases, by 'fix it now' jobs, may pay for itself — and in other time saved, as well as fuel savings of 25 percent. Insulation also reduces the flow of heat through walls, ceilings and roofs in summer and thus helps to keep the home comfortable. It is true that insulation does pay for itself . . . saves you money . . . and provides extra comfort the whole year.

CAMERA TOPICS

By T. T. Holden

KNOW YOUR CAMERA WELL FOR GOOD PICTURES

Many readers who received new cameras for Christmas have had time to experience twinges of disappointment by now. Perhaps they can't remember to pull the slide before shooting. Or maybe the results just don't live up to their expectations.

Chances are very good that there is nothing wrong with the camera. The trouble lies with the photographer who just won't take time to learn how to use his new equipment properly. And it is about ten times as hard to take good pictures when you don't know what you are doing.

Did you read the instruction book carefully that came with your camera? And did you take time to familiarize yourself with all the controls and practice the routine of making a picture with no film in the camera? If not, you'd better sit right down and do it now. You just won't make consistently good pictures until you have learned to operate your camera automatically, any more than you could paint a masterpiece before learning how to draw a straight or curved line without concentrating on it.

Many photographers, as a group, prize photographers have a remarkable ability to turn out the pictures under conditions that would prove baffling to most people. Their secret is that they have learned to handle their equipment that they can concentrate their full attention on the subject, lighting, background, camera angle without giving the mechanics of operating the camera a second thought.

That is the only road to prize pictures. You won't get any more out of any camera than you put into it. And knowing how to operate it automatically and effortlessly is the first step. First you must learn the depth of field obtainable at various apertures, the action-stopping capabilities of the shutter and the use of all the refinements that differentiate between a piece of photographic equipment and a toy camera. Until you have mastered these parts of the camera, you can't hope for the picture or pictures you should get from it.

Denise Doesn't Mind Donning Apron

A few days after the outspoken Hollywood star declared she was through with kitchen duties, Miss Denise accepted an invitation to work at General Electric's new atomic kitchen here.

She posed willingly for photographers as she exchanged recipes with G-E home economists and said she was in emphatic disagreement with the idea that a woman is any less glamorous because she is at home in the kitchen.

"After all, glamor can help you catch a man," she said, "but good cooking is a big help in keeping him."

Palsey's gift to the glamor girl was demonstration of a variety of labor saving appliances which, she said, would help her particularly delighted with the automatic dishwasher and clothes washer and dryer—before and after views of clothes and dishes.

"From the loveliest women to French cooks are one of their problems and how much easier it is for American women to be glamorous with machines to do the work. All you have to do is push a button," she said.

The more attractive the gal is the more important it is for her to let prospective husbands know that she can cook, Denise believes.

HOUSTON FAIR TO OFFER TOP ENTERTAINMENT

Sixteen days of top flight entertainment for fairgoers of all ages is the promise of Ira W. Curry, general manager of the Houston Fair, scheduled to run from October 27 through November 11.

The first big scoop to be announced is that many men of radio fame, Tom Moore, Hermione his hilarious midway to the Houston Fair for the opening week of the exposition. Ladies' Fair, the popular audience participation program heard every week day over the Mutual Broadcasting System, will open on Monday, October 29, at the fairgrounds for five days of fun for everyone.

This marks Tom Moore's first personal appearance in Texas, although he has starred in many events across the nation. Letters have piled up in the Tom Moore Productions office in Chicago, asking the perennial master of ceremonies why he hasn't brought his show to Texas. The Houston Fair dates were open and Tom is bringing his cast of characters and his carload of prizes to the Fair for five minutes, action-packed performances in addition to the five grand-evening broadcasts. Old and young alike will be given chances to win fat valuable prizes and every night will look like family night in the grandstand.

Advance sale of tickets for the general admission grandstand will start September 15. Requests will be filled in order of their receipt at the executive offices of the Fair.

The Fair opens on Navy Day, October 27, and fitting tribute will be paid the men in service. This day will be Press and Radio Day as well as Navy Day. Industry and high school students will be admitted free to the fair grounds.

RANCH LABOR STILL A PROBLEM

San Angelo, September 2.—Ranch labor is still the trouble most confronting members of the Association and will be the main topic of discussion at the next meeting, September 8, Frank Hudson, president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association, announced today.

The fall directors' meeting will be held at old Fort Chadbourne, near Fort Chadbourne, on the edge of Nolan county.

The convention was left out of last year's meeting because of the foot and mouth disease. We have invited W. H. Hubbard, chief of the Predatory Animal Control Division of the Fish and Wildlife Service, to be present and discuss the predatory animal control program, Hudson said.

THE ALBUM OF Gunfighters

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 100 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Star, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Dock Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

It is a de luxe volume, the pages are 9x12 inches in size, the cover is in four colors and silk-screened. It is a beautiful piece of printing. Read what the San Angelo Standard-Times says about this great book:

WEST TEXAS OUTLAWS' ERA VIEWED IN 'GUNFIGHTERS'

(By Hetzel Bob Russell in San Angelo Standard-Times)

Marked as a collector's item from the start with only 600 copies printed, "Gunfighters" is the result of a long friendship and intense interest in men and their guns.

The book is fascinating in its statistics.

J. Marvin Hunter, for many years a San Angelo resident, and Noah Rose have gone over Rose's collection of photographs and selected the best of the gunfighter shots. With those are short paragraphs to "record in as concise and brief a way as possible the part, for good or evil, each gunfighter played in the history of the West," according to the introduction.

The men who compiled the book are as interesting, if not more so, than the characters they depict. Hunter and Rose were first schoolmates from 1885 to 1891 when they worked together in a Menard print shop.

Rose took up photography there and was a contemporary of M. G. Ragsdale of San Angelo. At that time he began collecting the photographs of famous characters which are used in "Gunfighters," many of them his own work. He is now living in San Antonio.

Hunter continued as a printer, also interested in history, and has published several authoritative books. Currently he is editor and publisher of Frontier Times, a monthly magazine, and the Bandera Bulletin, weekly newspaper of Bandera, as well as owner and publisher of the Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. Both "Gunfighters" and his own press.

Both have collected many of the people they pictured and written about.

In addition to the many photographs he had accumulated, Rose was on Wyoming for the "Cheyenne Frontier Days" and "The Texas Rangers."

One section is devoted to the "Wild Bunch or Robbers Roost," also known as the "Hole in the Wall Gang" and "High Fives." The quickest and the most daring gangs that operated in the United States in the 1890's. Included Will Carver of Bandera, Illinois Logan, alias "Kid" Curry; Harry Longabaugh, Ben Kilpatrick, whose parents ranched between Pipe and Paint Rock, and George Parker, alias "Butch" Cassidy.

Also one with this gang was Laura Bullion, a native of Texas, who participated in a train robbery and was captured after the attack. She was sent to the Gatesville penitentiary for women.

This gang operated in Wyoming and Colorado, Utah, Nevada, Arizona, Montana, Idaho, fighting lawmen, who pursued Methodism throughout West Texas with an occasional visit to Sunday and who was killed in Arizona. Flat Nose Curtis, Charley Crouch, Elza Parker, sweetheart of Chris Barrow and a native of Bonham and the Newton gang, Willie Wills, Joe and Jim — who robbed the Wichita bank in 1923.

There are also Jim Miller, who married a Runnels county girl, and worked as a bartender at Pecos and was charged with killing Pat Garrett, sheriff who killed Billy the Kid; Scott Cooley, ex-farmer who took to the hills after the Mason County War to avenge the murder of his friend, Tim Williamson; R. R. (Dick) Russell, Menard banker and sheriff; and Jeff D. Milton, peace officer, rancher, and banker who called San Angelo "home."

The book also contains material on William Clark Quantrill, "schoolmaster" in crime for the James boys who passed through these parts; Thomas "Sherlock" Bigbie, who once had out at a sheep camp near Sonora; Sam Bass, notorious outlaw who operated around Denton and Round Rock; Bud Newman, native West Texan turned outlaw and eventually captured in Sutton County; Ed Peterson, outlaw killed in Del Rio by Texas Rangers; and J. Frank Dalton, who recently died, still claiming to be Jesse James.

Although most of the book is centered around West Texas gunmen, it has sections on Jesse and Frank James; the Younger Brothers, Bob, Jim, and Cole; the Doolin-Dalton gang; the Evans and Dee Holliday; Billy the Kid; and Judge Roy Bean's East West of the Pecos.

A good percentage of the pictures were taken in studios while some are informal shots. For the most part, unlike of us are the same photographs of outlaws "in death," many of them the only ones available of carefully posed. There are a few pictures of hangings and one of a decapitation.

MR. AND MRS. J. E. JUSTICE RETURN FROM TRIP

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Justice, in company with their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Jobin, and daughter, Betty, of Houston, left Medina the week when the mercury failed to go above the 100 mark. They motored to Yellow Stone Park. The Jobins remained there for a visit with Mrs. Jobin's parents in Nebraska. On the return trip they visited in Kansas, Oklahoma, Mrs. J. Kinney, and Oklahoma. Mrs. Justice reported the trip enjoyable in every respect, but that it was good to get back to Medina.

MEDINA TELEPHONE ELECTION

In the coming election, will you vote to have good telephone service at a price which the poorest people can pay, or will you vote to give all longdistance service to the homes of many of the poorest people, burden the community with a dept equal to almost exactly one-fourth of the assessed property valuation in the Medina district, and pay acrate more than twice as high as is necessary to good telephone service?

On the authority of an expert who has spent many years in the service of the Southwestern Telephone Company, I say that by doing only two things, neither of which would be expensive, we could have good telephone service at our present system. First, we must have new switchboards. Second, we must use the know how to do it to secure short local toll calls.

About two months ago I wrote the Southwestern Telephone Company and asked them to send an expert to look over our system and tell us what we could do to improve our service. A few months later I received a letter from the company stating that they were unable to send an expert at this time, but that they would be glad to do it in a few months when their engineering force was not so busy

OPS SIMPLIFIES REPORT ON TOYS

OPS officials this week announced an amendment to CPR 7 requiring toy manufacturers to report only on those toy lines which liberalizes the inventory periods and makes simpler the filing of supplementary price charts on Christmas toys, games and dolls.

Retailers affected are those who have price charts under provisions of CPR 7 and are required to file a supplementary report.

The amendment which became effective September 4 provides for extending the base period back to the month previous to the month in which the charts July 1, 1950, which OPS officials believe will simplify the filing of supplementary price charts on the Christmas merchandise.

LOOKING BACKWARD

(From the Bandera New Era, September 16, 1926. Published by J. Marvin Hunter.)

Charlie Brittsell was in town Saturday and said wolves were doing a great deal of damage on the West Verde. He has lost about twenty-five sheep and goats within a very short time, and others report losses. An effort is to be made to exterminate the wolves, which are supposed to be ten or three lobos or timber wolves, which have moved into that section.

The Farmers' gin has turned out about twenty-five bales of cotton to date. Bandera county's cotton crop is usually small, due to the fact that our farmers do not plant more cotton, the number of bales ginned each season, at most, seldom exceeding 250. The lead worm has done much damage to the crop here this year.

BANDERA COUNTY DELEGATES ATTEND F.H.D.A. CONVENTION

The Texas Home Demonstration Association celebrated its Silver Anniversary at A&M College on August 29-30-31. "United We Stand" theme of the convention was the text of Dr. G. G. Gibson's address before the delegates in Green Hall Wednesday morning. On the A&M campus, the F.H.D.A. had its beginning in August in 1926.

"United We Stand" points out the importance of unity and essential to all levels of human activities, whether on the family, community or state level, for the good of common mind. This is the over-all theme of the program which the Texas Farm Bureau is using this year to serve a democratic way of life in which we can live and work together for the common good. Let us all do our part in giving guidance in all that we do.

In 1926 Texas had 46 counties home demonstration agents and 46 staff members. Now there are 206 agents and 32 staff members. In 1926 there were 3,000 clubs with 17,426 members to 2,000 clubs with 41,587 members now. Those who have gone before have left a challenge to carry on the programs with unwavering faith, fixed purpose, intelligent effort, and unselfish devotion.

Another interesting feature of the convention was "Do What's Next" which was conducted by officers, delegates, and county agents.

Bandera county had the state president, Mrs. H. D. Gresham, here. At the convention, workshops were held on leadership, reading, 4-H, messenger, county, THDA chairmen meetings, and THDA chairmen sessions were attended by delegates and visitors from Bandera county.

NOTE. The above is a convention report made by Mrs. Guy Stephens of Medina who was among Bandera county ladies attending the convention at College Station.

THE ALBUM OF Gunfighters

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 400 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Star, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Dock Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

It is a de luxe volume, the pages are 9x12 inches in size, the cover is in four colors and silk-screened. It is a beautiful piece of printing. The book was designed and illustrated by Warren Hunter, famous Western artist. It sells for $10.00 per copy, postpaid, to any address in the United States. Because of the edition being limited we are not placing it on sale in many book stores, but selling it direct. Order a copy today, from

A Book That Is Different

SOUTHWEST IN PRINT,

By Lota Shawver of Amarillo Times

The Album of Gunfighters by J. Marvin Hunter, Sr., and N. H. Rose, designed by Warren Hunter, deluxe edition, 236 pages and 360 photographs. Print is clear and reading easy. Order from Frontier Museum, J. Marvin Hunter, Sr., Bandera, Texas; or from N. H. Rose, famous photographer of 4011 West Houston Street, San Antonio, Texas. Ten dollars the copy.

Well, here it is, readers of The Times. All who see this book will agree with me I think, in saying a whale of a job has been accomplished by two well-known Texas pioneers—right here in Texas and the Southwest, where most of the rustlers and killers did their dirty work. This is indeed an invaluable collection of early-day pictures and biographies of men and women who made life to pioneers a miserable existence of fear and sorrow.

Here, too, and no doubt the most interesting part of this book are the pictures and information of the grand men who were the peace officers continually on the job. These brave men kept after the outlaws and brought law and order to communities of families who were trying in their honest way to develop the Southwest, eager to make it safe for their children.

Sometimes officers were ambushed for killing some worthless murderer, yet when all evidence was brought into court, it was shown they were only doing their duty.

Also a group of those pioneer officers are living today. Jot Alon, who helped clean out many places in early day Texas, now lives in Gold mills. He was in the old Fort Griffin era. Also Burt Reed and Woodpecker Wag, of Texas and Jesse Bent and Woodpecker Bent, of the Texas Panhandle, and mentioned many times in the book. Mollie Bent, A Chief Matchless Matchet. He died at the age of 104 years.

First Frank M. Canton, early day peace officer in the Territory, engaged in Knox county. He rolled up a big record in Wyoming, the Klondike and other sections of the west. He ran for Governor on the Democratic ticket in Oklahoma, was Democratic National Committeeman, and was appointed Canton adjutant general. He also was a member of the Senate in Oklahoma and the Indian Territory.

NEW BOOK TELLS OF OUTLAWS OF EVERY CHARACTER AND DESCRIPTION.

The Album of Gunfighters by J. Marvin Hunter and Noah H. Rose. Published by Hunter & Rose, Bandera, Texas, 1951. Price $10.00.

Bank robbers, killers, outlaws of every description and character are paraded before your eyes in The Album of Gunfighters. From a private collection of photographs started fifty-odd years ago and said to be the most remarkable said collection in the world, has been compiled this pictorial study of notorious characters in the gun-fighting era of the past half century.

There are 236 pages of excellent photographs of desperadoes you have read about or heard tales of and the pictures are accompanied by brief biographical and historical accounts.

Among some of those you will meet in these pages are Jesse James and his gang; Calamity Jane; Sam Bass, the Texas desperado; Clyde Barrow, the thief and killer; and his pal, Bonnie Parker; George (Machine Gun) Kelley; Billy the Kid, the New Mexico outlaw, and dozens of others of like nature. Pictured also are the peaceful Dodge Rangers and other peace officers of fame who risked their lives to bring the outlaws to justice.

J. Marvin Hunter, who compiled and wrote the descriptive sketches, and Noah H. Rose, from whose private collection the pictures were selected, are both citizens of Texas. The two men have been fast friends for the past sixty years and through their collaboration have produced a fine Album of photographic and historical interest. —K. H.

THOSE GUN FIGHTERS.

(From the Commerce Daily Journal.)

Some time ago we described a book recently published by an old friend, Marvin Hunter, a printer and publisher at Bandera, Texas, later we received a first edition copy of the book, "The Album of Gunfighters." It is a much finer book than we imagined from the printed description. It contains 256 pages, 9x12 inches, on heavy enamel coated paper, showing pictures with short descriptions of the notorious gunmen and desperadoes of the past century. The pictures are from the famous Ed Bartholomew building San Rafael Group (Machine Gun) Kelley, the James and Younger brothers, the Dalton Bills, the Kid, "Black Jack" Ketchum, Sam Bass Pellinger, etc. Many of the pictures were made in death (after the men were killed).

A number of the characters were women, like Belle Starr, Annie McDougal and Jennie Metcalf, known as "Cattle Annie" and "Little Britches," and Calamity Jane.

A section contains pictures of famous peace officers who held the line against lawlessness. Those were United States Marshals, Texas Rangers, sheriffs and others. They were gunfighters, too. Pioneer badge-wearers shown including Judge Roy Bean, "The Law West of the Pecos," J. Frank Norfleet, and others.

This intriguing album lies on our desk and is looked through by many visitors. We are impressed with the fact that from old grey heads down to the little boys who deliver the Daily Journal, everyone who opens the book becomes instantly interested and spends long time studying the pictures. Some come back from time to time to sit and enjoy looking through "The Album of Gunfighters." Certainly there is nothing like it in the literature world. A copy would be a valuable acquisition to any library, public libraries especially.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 80 minutes.

LIVELY YEAR IN PROSPECT FOR POLITICS

There will be the excitement of a presidential year. Rival factions in both the Texas Democratic and Republican parties are lining up for battle, as usual. To control state conventions next May. At county meetings, the delegates to the national nominating conventions are named.

Scores of public offices will be filled—probably, half of the senate, judgeships, from county judges to Supreme Court; sheriff's, county and district clerks; tax collectors; Treasurer, Secretary, State Controller, Railroad Commissioner, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General and others.

There will be two elections—two elections that come but once in a generation.

And for the first time in thirty years, a Texas Legislature will reapportion the state's senatorial districts.

A reapportionment at large will be created because the Legislature failed to draw its congressional districts. The new senate shows the population increase in Texas since the twenty-one senatorial districts were created. Every senatorial district, except the 31st, has increased in population. Former Lt. Gov. John Lee Smith of Lubbock already has announced his candidacy on a platform calling for Democrats to repudiate the Truman leadership.

The State Senate turnover will come in the result of new senatorial districts created by the Legislature at the last session. Eleven Senate seats are open because it is the terms and about half are up for election at each general election.

There will be a number of contests in which the incumbents will be opposed by members of the House of Representatives. Many House members have designated their seats as senate seats, and will run for the Senate instead of for re-election to the House.

A number of Senate seats will be contested by members of the House of Representatives. Many House members have designated their seats as senate seats, and will run for the Senate instead of for re-election to the House.

Another interesting contest will be that between Sen. Dorsey Hardeman of San Angelo and Rep. Wilson Carlile of Ozona. Both are incumbents in the senate district created by the last session of the Legislature.

Democrats.—It will be the old fight between party loyalists and conservatives. The latter will try to send an anti-Truman delegation to the national convention. They did that in 1948. But at a later convention in September, when the Dixiecrat element was trying to have the party repudiate the national nominee, the liberals captured the convention.

The Democrats also may have a fight over the national committeeman job at the May meeting. Liberals don't like Wright Morrow of Houston. They may try to beat him, if he seeks renomination, and replace him with a liberal Democrat, such as Byron Skelton of Temple.

Republicans.—Jack Porter of Houston is leading a fight against the Old Guard Republicans. He wants to oust Henry Zweifel who succeeded the late R. R. Creager, from the national committee. Porter is a strong Eisenhower supporter. He and his followers claim the Old Guard group has overlooked about building a strong Republican party in Texas.

Another convention will be held in September before the general election but after the national convention. It will nominate a presidential committee.

If Truman is the Democratic nominee and Eisenhower is the Republican nominee an effort will be made by States' Rights Democrats to lick Truman off the Democratic ballot.

SEPTEMBER 15 DEADLINE FOR STYLE SHOW ENTRIES

With September 15 deadline for style entries, the girls are busy with Wool or Mohair girls from all over this section are sending in their applications. Many of the young ladies have already finished the garments that they will wear in the contest, and are waiting anxiously for the day of the contest.

The dormitory at the Methodist Assembly in Kerrville has been assigned as a place to house the girls while they are in Kerrville and as an added attraction the various festivities attached to the Wool and Mohair Festival. Many girls who live near the Festival will drive in the day of the contest, Friday, October 5, arriving in early in the morning and after the fashion begins not later than 8 a.m. on that day. Most of the assembly rooms contain double beds, and if the girls wish, they can room together, by registering together.

SEND YOUR ARTICLES FOR FESTIVAL SHOW DISPLAYS

SEASON OPENS ON ANTELOPE

Austin, September 8.—Antelope and javelina will go to 350 Texans next week.

Plans for the annual drawing were announced Saturday by Vernon Skaggs, chief clerk of the game and fish commission. Each lucky hunter may kill one male antelope during the 9-day season opening October 1.

Names of each person filling out an application will be placed in a capsule. The capsules will be drawn out of a container as an antelope is shot and the name of the person inside will be registered. Others are out.

Persons who got a 1950 antelope license but could not make the trip and then returned the permit in time for it to be reissued, automatically get licenses this year, Skaggs said.

First priority in the drawing will go to Texans who have never had an antelope permit. Second choice will go to hunters who last year got an antelope shooting license in 1948. After that comes persons who got "party" licenses, non-residents and those who hunted antelope in Texas.

Hunting will be in Brewster, Jeff Davis, Pecos, Reeves, Presidio, Hudspeth, and Culberson counties. Ranchers permitted to charge guide hunter not more than $40 for the right to hunt on their land, including use of facilities.

As required by law, a performance bond in an amount of one Hundred Per cent (100) per cent of the contract price, and a separate bond in an amount equal to the estimated cost of maintenance of traffic will be required. SAN ANTONIO EXPRESS CARRIES STORY ABOUT LOCAL MAN

In the Sunday edition of the San Antonio Express appeared a story complete with pictures of the new feed dehydrater which W. B. Coughran has been operating this past summer. In part the article says "Fresh green feed is cut in the field and run through the dehydration plant. It requires from three to five minutes to convert it from the green shape to a high moisture content to a dry feed with all the nutrients preserving and only about 5 per cent moisture content. The present plant has a capacity of 15,000 pounds an hour of dry feed. Taking advantage of the sun for the dehydration of the feed, Coughran has developed a natural and modern storage and labor expense dehydration method for harvesting feed in not near but the portable which Mr. Coughran uses is something new and it is said to be the first one to be used in the entire nation.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 60 minutes.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

There's one at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 80 minutes.

BOYS LEARN PLAYTHING IS SERIOUS

Albuquerque, N. M. September 22.—Three Dalhart, Texas, youths were learning that playthings they cleaned startling was actually a $15,000 source of valuable raw material for the atom bomb.

The boys, Jimmy Hall, 12, Jerry Hall, 13, and Jack Hall, 14, found the material in the form of pitchblende ore which was brought to the surface by burrowing animals. Pitchblende is the principal source of uranium.

The boys' discovery was made while they were playing in the sand dunes near their home. Jack Hall's dog, Rip, began digging furiously at the entrance to a hole. Jack reached down and pulled out a piece of pitchblende about the size of a man's fist.

The boys showed their find to their father, Jack Hall, Sr., who is employed at the Sandia Base here. Hall turned the specimen over to Sandia officials, who identified it as pitchblende.

Hall said the boys found the ore on land owned by Mrs. Ruth Hall, his wife, who is no relation to the boys. Hall said he would not claim the reward for the find, but would turn it over to his wife.

Mrs. Hall said she would like to have the reward money to help finance a trip to Europe

BANDERA BULLDOGS BLANK RUNGE YELLOW JACKETS

Bitchabee's Bulldogs held Runge scoreless for four quarters on their home turf last Friday. Only once in the game did Runge get a real scoring threat, and the Bulldogs were equal to the occasion.

Runge received the kickoff to open the game and failed to score. On the first play Lunsford, Runge halfback, lost ten yards and that started the Bulldogs on the road to victory. Runge kicked on the first down and Bandera took over on the Runge 33-yard line.

Bandera made a first down on the first play from scrimmage when Bill Kelly hit the line for 8 yards. Two plays later Kelly was stopped for a 2-yard loss when he attempted to run around right end. Bandera was penalized 5 yards for offside and Kelly punted to the Runge 15-yard line. Runge's Lunsford was stopped in his tracks on the first play from scrimmage and Runge was penalized 5 yards for offside. Runge punted to the Bandera 49-yard line. Bandera's Kelly hit the line for 3 yards and Bandera was penalized 5 yards for offside. Bandera

Night Bulb-Change Done in Safe Manner

Bulbs that burn out and throw a room into darkness create an urgent need for a flashlight, advises Winchester-Bond, one of the nation's largest makers of flashlights and dry cell batteries. In addition to the threat of falls, there is danger in handling live electrical fixtures in changing bulbs in the dark.

Thrilling! Sensational!

THE ALBUM OF Gunfighters

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 400 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Star, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Dock Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days; Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

It is a de luxe volume, the pages are 9x12 inches in size, the cover is in four colors and silk-screened. It is a beautiful piece of printing. The book was designed and illustrated by Warren Hunter, famous Western artist. It sells for $10.00 per copy, postpaid, to any address in the United States. Because of the edition being limited we are not placing it on sale in many book stores, but selling it direct. Order a copy today, from

(By Henry Bob Eaton in San Angelo Standard-Times)

Material as a collector's item from the start with only 600 copies printed, "Gunfighters" is the result of a long friendship and mutual interest in men and their guns.

The book is fascinating in its statistics.

J. Marvin Hunter, for many years a San Angelo resident, and Noah Rose have gone over Rose's collection of photographs and selected the best of the gunfighter shots. With these are short paragraphs to "record in as concise and brief a way as possible the part, for good or evil, each gunfighter played in the history of the West," according to the introduction.

The men who compiled the book are as interesting, if not more so, than the characters they depict. Hunter and Rose were first schoolmates from 1885 to 1891 when they worked together in a Menard print shop.

Rose took up photography there and was a contemporary of M. G. Ragsdale of San Angelo. At that time he began collecting the photographs of famous characters which are used in "Gunfighters," many of them his own work. He is now living in San Antonio.

Hunter continued as a printer, also interested in history and Western lore, as well as author and publisher. For years he was editor and proprietor of Frontier Times, a monthly magazine, and then the Bandera Bulletin weekly. He is now living in Bandera, as well as author and publisher of "Trail Drivers of Texas" and "Old Time Trails Men of the Big Bend Country." He has also written "Three Years with Quantrill" and "The Last Raid of Quantrill and Their Pursuit and Death of Jesse James."

Billy the Kid, who is rescued in the "Lincoln County War" and "Pat Garrett's Story of the Life and Killing of Billy the Kid," also known as Henry McCarty, William Bonney, Billy Bonney, Billy Antrim, Kid Antrim, Billy Roberts, Billy Kidd, Billy Kid, Kid Roberts, Kid Bonney, also known as Billy the Kid, Kid Lincoln, alias "Kid Curry," Harry Longabaugh, Bob Dalton, Bob Younger, Cole Younger, Jim Younger, Frank James, Jesse James, Thomas Coleman Younger, Bill Doolin, Bill Dalton, Bill Raidler, Bill Powers, Bill Cook, Bill Dunn, Bill Smith, Bill Longley, Bill Martin, Bill Thompson, Bill Hickok, Bill Tilghman, Bill McDonald, Bill Pickett, Bill Cody, Bill Hart, Bill Hickman, Bill Williams, Bill Brazleton, Bill Speed, Bill Bonney, Bill Roberts, Bill Sterrett, Bill Hall

COMMUNITY CALENDAR TO BE SPONSORED BY LIONS

What! A Community Birthday Calendar! Yes, that is right.

The Bandera Lions are sponsoring the Community Birthday Calendar again. It was a high success in 1951. The 1952 calendar should be bigger and better. Last year 301 names appeared on the calendar. It is hoped that this number will be doubled this time. Three hundred and fifty calendars were bought last year. Chances are this number will greatly increase.

Almost every organization is assisting with the calendar. The PTA of both the public school and the Parochial School and the Band Parents' Club is participating in working up this calendar.

The calendar has really caught the public eye. It is useful and clever. It is the one calendar that is not thrown in the waste paper basket. It has your friends names printed on their birthdays. It has the listings of the meeting times of the different organizations, churches, lodges, societies, and dozens of other bits of useful and interesting information. If you received one of these Community Birthday Calendars last year you already know its value and will want another one for the coming year. If you did not get one of these calendars last year you will want one now.

Also, remember that the calendar is valuable and useful to the community in ratio to the number of meeting listings printed on it. Be sure that your name is on the calendar, so urge your friends to get their names on the calendar.

If you are not members of your PTA or of the Band Parents' Club and get your name on this calendar. Also, see the same parties are included on said calendar.

The canvassign commences October 15. The goal is to get 4000 names on the calendar and to distribute 4000 calendars.

Hy-Phos Mineral Feed Makes Real Beef

Most experienced cattle men know the advantages of using a mineral supplement. Many in this region have discovered the excellent results of using HY-PHOS — a mineral feed developed by Dr. Woodrow Sharp, Medina County veterinarian, especially for the needs of South Texas.

HY-PHOS contains the proper ratio of Calcium and Phosphorous to correct and prevent ailments caused by mineral deficiencies. Containing only digestable minerals (with no tonics, no drugs) HY-PHOS has all the necessary vitamins needed by your livestock, especially the B and D's.

HY-PHOS is made in Hondo under carefully supervised conditions and it is recommended for all stock men who want to make more money with their feeding program.

KEEP HOGS EATING WHILE BEING WORMED

Pigs infected with large round worms will not grow and develop as they should unless these pests are eliminated from their system. However, it is highly important that the worm must be such as well as in no way upset the pig's digestive tract, for such an upset means money lost in daily gain.

To make money on hogs it is essential that they put on big daily gains every day. Dale's economic daily purchase is not on your hog profits and not to at a minimum. By using Dr. LeGear's Hog Worm Powder in the On-Day Treatment... you can be certain that your hogs will get the benefits of worm control and quickly and that in a will get right on eating as quick without set back.

Dr. LeGear's Hog Worm Powder contains those well-known wormers Phenothiazine and American Wormseed, combined with Aloes Nat. That is why it does such a thorough and satisfactory job. It is safe because it contains no poisons and there is no danger of overdosing. All you have to do is to mix it with the feed ... and the hogs worm themselves ... easily and easily.

Now, that Dr. LeGear's Hog Worm Powder will end your hog of worms safely and quickly, there is no reason why you should have diseases among your pork profits reduced by having worms, lose feed to it, stunted and above the ground hogs on your hogs. Get rid of them now.

ROSE & HUNTER'S FASCINATING BOOK GETS MUCH PRAISE

DeLuxe Edition, 236 Pages, 9x12 inches, 360 Photos.

The Price is $10.00 per copy, postpaid.

Thrilling! Sensational!

THE ALBUM OF

Gunfighters

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 100 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole, Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Star, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Doek Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John B. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Hoek Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

It is a de luxe volume, the pages are 9x12 inches in size, the cover is in four colors and silk-screened. It is a beautiful piece of printing. The book was designed and illustrated by Warren Hunter, famous Western artist. It sells for $10.00 per copy, postpaid, to any address in the United States. Read what the San Angelo Standard-Times says about this great book:

WEST TEXAS OUTLAWS' ERA VIEWED IN 'GUNFIGHTERS'

(By Henry Bob Russell in San Angelo Standard-Times)

Marked as a collector's item from the start with only 600 copies printed, "Gunfighters" is the result of long friendship and intense interest in men and their guns.

The book is fascinating in its statistics.

J. Marvin Hunter, for many years a San Angelo resident, and Noah Rose have gone over Rose's collection of photographs and selected the best of the gunfighter shots. With these are short paragraphs to "record in as concise and brief a way as possible the part, for good or evil, each gunfighter played in the history of the West," according to the introduction.

The men who compiled the book are as interesting, if not more so, than the characters they depict. Hunter and Rose were first schoolmates from 1885 to 1891 when they worked together in a Menard print shop.

Rose took up photography there and was a contemporary of M. G. Bagsdale of San Angelo. At that time he began collecting the photographs of famous characters which are used in "Gunfighters," many of them his own work. He is now living in San Antonio.

Hunter continued as a printer, also interested in history, and has published several authoritative books. Currently he is editor and publisher of Frontier Times, a monthly magazine, and the Bandera Bulletin, weekly newspaper of Bandera, as well as owner and operator of the Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. He put out "Gunfighters" on his own press.

In addition to the many outlaws, the book also contains a section on "Women in Outlawry," "Noted Sheriffs, Marshals and The Texas Rangers."

One section is devoted to the "Wild Bunch of Robbers Roost," also known as the "Hole in the Wall Gang" and "High Fives." The section on one of the most daring gangs that operated in the United States in the 1880's, included Will Carver of Bandera; Harvey Logan, Kid Curry, Kerr, Lonnabaugh, Ben Kilpatrick, whose daughter married Joe Hamer, son of Paint Rock sheriff Thomas Hamer, and Flat Nose George Parker, all of Uvalde.

Running with this same gang Laura Bullion, a beautiful Texas outlaw girl, who was sentenced to 5 years in the penitentiary at Huntsville, Texas, for participating in robberies and was captured with the others. She was released in 1907.

There are also pictures of Wyoming and Arizona outlaws in the Wild Bunch. After murdering a sheriff in Knoxville, Tennessee, Tom Horn, who fathered the story that he killed Kid Curry, later confessed to the murder of Willie Nickell, son of rancher Matthew Nickell. Horn was tried with whom he had quite a feud and who engineered the Paint Rock sheriff's job. Horn was convicted on circumstantial evidence and hanged in Cheyenne, Wyoming, in 1903.

Another outlaw was Tom Miller, who married a Burnet county girl and worked as a bartender at Pecos, suspected of killing Pat Garrett, sheriff who killed Billy the Kid, was shot from ambush while strolling into the Mason County Way to avenge the murder of his friend, Tim Williamson. R. M. (Dick) Russell, Menard banker and sheriff, and Jeff B. Moore, peace officer, rancher, and banker who called San Angelo "home."

The book also contains material on William Clark Quantrell, "schoolmaster" in crime for the James boys who passed through these parts; Thurman "Skeeter" Baldwin, who once hid out at a sheep camp near Sonora; Sam Bass, notorious outlaw who operated around Denton and Round Rock; Bud Newman, native West Texan turned outlaw and eventually captured in Sutton County; Ed Putman, outlaw killed in Del Rio by Texas Rangers; and J. Frank Dalton, who recently died, still claiming to be Jesse James.

Although most of the book is centered around West Texas gunmen, it has sections on Jesse and Frank James; the Younger Brothers, Bob, Jim, and Cole; the Dalton-Dalton gang; the Earps and Doc Holliday; Billy the Kid; and Judge Roy Bean's Law West of the Pecos.

A good percentage of the pictures were taken in studio while some are informal shots. For the more outlaw of us are the many photographs of outlaws "in death," many of them the only ones available of certain men. There are a few pictures of hangings and one of a decapitation.

How Glassware Meets Varied Needs

Ever hear the master of the house explain that the little hand's-man job you want him to do would be exceedingly simple if he just had the right tool for it?

Actually, the same holds true in the little woman's department. Nothing might very well be amazed at how easy serving and entertaining become when you have the proper accessories, particularly glassware.

Many Patterns

There's a wealth of varieties, styles and patterns on the market these days, so that you'll have little trouble finding exactly the glass ware you need and—of course—well within your price range.

THE ALBUM OF
Gunfighters

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 100 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Star, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Dock Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those wild days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

It is a de luxe volume, the pages are 9x12 inches in size, the cover is in four colors and silk-screened. It is a beautiful piece of printing. Currently he is editor and publisher of Frontier Times, a monthly magazine, and the Bandera Bulletin, weekly newspaper of Bandera, as well as owner and operator of the Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. He put out "Gunfighters" on his own press.

Both men know many of the people they have pictured and written about.

In addition to the story outlines, the book also contains a section on "Women in Outlawry," "United States Marshals" and "The Texas Rangers."

One section is devoted to the "Wild Bunch of Robbers Roost," also known as the "Hole in the Wall Gang" and "High Five." The quintet, one of the most daring gangs that existed in the United States in the 1880's, included Will Carver of Bandera; Harvey Logan, alias "Kid" Curry; Harry Longabaugh, Ben Kilpatrick, whose sweetheart perished between Eden and Paint Rock; and George Parker, alias "Butch" Cassidy.

Running with this gang was Laura Bullion, a native of Texas, who operated in Wyoming and other states as well as West Texas. After murdering a man while sailing out of the Kilpatrick ranch, they moved to Roosevelt, Utah, to hide out. There Carver was killed and George Kilpatrick arrested, later released. After a short term in prison, Kilpatrick was joined by a former colleague, the Bronco Kid Thomas, of Bandera and the Newton gang. Willie, Joe and Jess, who wrote a Williams book in 1927.

Those people Jess knew, who married a Bandera county girl and served as a bartender at Pecos, suspected of killing Pat Garrett, sheriff who killed Billy the Kid; Sam Bass, bandit gang leader who fled hoofing into the Manor County War to avenge the murder of his friend, Tom Williamson; R. E. (Dick) Russell, Menard banker and sheriff; and Jeff H. Moore, peace officer, rancher, and banker who called San Angelo "home."

The book also contains material on William Clark Quantrell, "schoolmaster" in crime for the James boys who passed through these parts; Thurman "Skeeter" Baldwin, who once hid out at a sheep camp near Somerset; Sam Bass, notorious outlaw who operated around Denton and Round Rock; Bud Newman, native West Texan turned outlaw and eventually captured in Sutton County; Tip Putman, outlaw killed in Del Rio by Texas Rangers; and J. Frank Dalton, who recently died, still claiming to be Jesse James.

Although most of the book is centered around West Texas gunmen, it has sections on Jesse and Frank James, the Younger Brothers, Bob, Jim, and Cole; the Dan Dalton gang; the Earps and Doc Holliday; Billy the Kid; and Judge Roy Bean's Law West of the Pecos.

Actual penetration of the pictures were taken in studio while some are informal shots. For the more sadistic of us are the many photographs of outlaws "on death," many of them the only ones available of certain men. There are a few pictures of hangings and one of a decapitation.

If you have an accident the chances are it is a Red Cross trained truck driver who will come to your aid. The driver of the big stainless steel trailer shown has been a motorist who has learned of the Red Cross First Aid Program in the Kansas City area and decided to take part in it.

The Fruehauf Trailer company has worked out a standard first aid kit with which many drivers are equipped. Listed are the contents of this kit—information which would be of value to every household. It could have been worked out by expert safety men to handle all common emergencies. Read it:

(1) Waterproof case (b) Tourniquet (c) Triangular bandage to make slings and bindings (d) Bandage compress (e) Iodine swabs, ampoules of disinfectants and antiseptic with applicator attached (f) Tubes of burn ointment (g) Ammonia inhalant (h) Forceps (i) Band Aids.

It takes sweat, strategy and deception for a chain-grounded football team and whole ball it on the enemy's 1-foot line, it takes real power . . . new batteries maybe important.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 60 gallons of 140 degree water to obtain a period of 60 minutes.

MEDINA BOBCATS BATTLE CENTER POINT PIRATES

Medina scored in the first quarter when Louie Jackson broke through the center point line and dashed down the field for the touchdown. The center point team scored in the second quarter and Medina in the third quarter. Carroll Bobcat Zumwalt intercepted a Center Point pass and ran 60 yards to the Pirate goal line. Although Pirates threatened to score in the last quarter, Medina held and ended the game with the ball in their possession on the Pirate 11 yard line.

The Center Point Pirates made a number of first downs during the game but failed to make any touchdowns. The Pirates were penalized several times for holding and offside plays.

MEDINA PTA CARNIVAL PROCEEDS EXCEED $500

Everyone was happy to learn at the end of the fair last Saturday night that the proceeds from the carnival sponsored by the Medina PTA under the able direction of Philip Riley, gave the Medina school the much needed additional funds for the purchase of the curtain came afterward of the beautiful lighted floats depicting appropriate scenes, such as "The Old Mill" which was awarded the first horse Ribbon and the "Old Oaken Bucket" which received the second horse ribbon.

Judges for the parade were Mrs. Arthur Mullins, George Vaught, and Mayor Wilson. W. E. Walser presented the ribbons to the winners. The judges emphasized that it was a difficult parade to judge due to so many fine entries. The prizes were divided into ten different classes and the winners in each class are as follows:

Prettiest bicycle entries—1st, Kye Mansfield; 2nd, Sue Weir; 3rd, Judy LeStourgeon. Funniest entries—1st, FHA Girls and H. E. Classes; 2nd, Rotary Club; 3rd, Fire Department. Most inspiring entries—1st School replicas; 2nd, Veterans; 3rd, Churches. Most beautiful entries—1st Square Dance Club; 2nd, First and Second graders; 3rd, Football Queen's float. Best horse and rider entries—1st, Lee Walker; 2nd, Sheffield boys' pony entry. Funniest horse and rider entries—1st, Donkey entry; 2nd, Judy (failed to get name); 3rd, Charlie Kress. Best horse drawn entries—1st, Rose Garden Club; 2nd, Easter Parade; 3rd, Old Timers. Awarded to Mrs. N. V. Bradley, Bonnie Clawson, 2nd, and Mrs. Oberly Williams, 3rd. Comments from the public are that this was one of the best and most entertaining parades that Medina has ever had. Credit for the success of the parade must be given to the parade committee, of which Elbert Bledsoe was chairman, and was assisted by Mrs. Jack Wier, Mr. Marvin Harrell, and Mr. Marion and to the school and all others who willingly cooperated with the committee.

On Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock quite a number of friends gathered in the home of Larry's grandmother, Mrs. O. Pitt Baker, to help him celebrate his sixth birthday.

The dining table was covered with a pretty lace cloth and the center piece was Larry's large birthday cake with candles covered with pink and yellow and topped with miniature figures. Bowls of pink roses, queen's crown, and yellow candles were arranged around the table and living room. The children played games after which the honoree opened the gifts. He received many pretty gifts as well as twelve dollars in money. Then the guests were served punch, sherbet, and cake were served to Bonnie Adams, Mary Carroll Bowers, Margaret McGown, Chas. BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—enough hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer spends 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 90 minutes.

Bandera's Western Hospitality Week Is Providing Whirl of Enjoyment

Our Third Annual Hospitality number. The always entertaining Week in Bandera was launched on Sixie Shoot, Hospitality Table, the Monday, November 5th, with Lost American Legion parade, barbecue, Valley Ranch setting the hospitality pace. Tuesday was a day of hospitality with its meet de Shoot, the memorial services at Bethel spirit-boost during the day at Bethel, the Cowboy Breakfast at the Dude Ranch, Bronco, and the Rio Vista setting the pace for the evening with its Gay Caballero Night.

It was really a "Gay" Caballero night. Most of those in attendance were costumed in Mexican costume and it was a colorful scene as the guests, Jake Arnold's band, Dee Wee Maids of Bandera who also entertained during the evening, and the Rio Vista hospitality committee danced around and served as hostesses. Prizes were given for the various Hospitality Week events during the evening by the American Legion Merchant Committee who was an effective master of ceremonies. Prizes were given for Pee-Wee and Mrs. Maude and Mrs. Mary Ann Sand Hill Ranch for the most unique costume, Mrs. Mary Ann Sand Hill Ranch for the most unique costume, Mrs. Mary Ann Sand Hill Ranch for the most unique costume,

The Town Cry-er

By Sam Goldfarb

General MacArthur in a recent speech, said, "Old soldiers never die; they just fade away." I am not sure that is the general made that statement with reservations. What you should be interested in is, in the fact, that thousands of our young men are being killed, needlessly, in Korea. Are you doing anything about it?

The number of deaths on our highways each year is appalling. Just a little common courtesy on the part of you and me would greatly help the situation. Are you doing anything about it?

Would you be so negligent and indifferent if your cattle were being promiscuously killed? You certainly would not. You would have County, State and Federal authorities checking up on the situation within a few hours. A human life, seemingly, is worth very little in comparison with a few Purebred cows or a registered sheep or goat. The life of human life is double, is downright a losing proposition these days. It is cheaper for the Lord to try to end His deed-ridden world than for you doing anything about it? If

The accidental power which the American people have given authority to name as Power Dept. was built to protect citizens from the dead of two World Wars. Not from Korea. More than that, the veterans' attempt to take care of their own. Let's see, I guess, more it sounds. Help our veterans help themselves!

ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS; STORY OF VIOLENCE

By Arthur L. Coleman, Staff Writer

John King Fisher and Ben Thompson did not go to get killed at 33. It just happened off a fine spree. The celebration started in Austin, where Fisher, then a young sheriff-to-be Uvalde county, met up with Thompson, who was also young and recently been a lawman in Austin's only manhood. When it came time for Fisher to get killed he was at San Antonio with him, and they would see the elephant and the show.

The show was at the late Jack Harris' variety theater, which was packed with men and women of the town. Between performances all sexes could mingle in the crowded lobby and there Fisher and Thompson's cronies and the armed friends of the locally notorious Jim Courtright, Ike Clanton and Johnny Ringo, Jr., observed his presence and their friendship with good shortly.

Promptly whatever grievances may have been against the Thompson brothers by one or both of the latter's own memory, for failing to avenge Courtright's killing, killed his former friend, Jack Harris, two years earlier after a quarrel over a gambling loss by Thompson, while he was Austin marshal.

The Fisher-Thompson annihilation is probably San Antonio's best-remembered killing. But it is just one digging from a mother lode of violence and violent men and women that J. Marvin Hunter of Bandera and Noah H. Rose of San Antonio have mined and put together in a book the likes of which has never been seen before, which they call "The Album of Gunfighters," and which Warren Hunter, Marvin's son and done of San Antonio Art Institute, has finely illustrated and decorated.

Marvin Hunter has done the writing, and Rose has come up with 337 photographs found in the museum of Harris-Talcoge and adjoining and the San Antonian, who possesses probably the most gunfighting memorabilia in the world. Rose has come by some of it through inheritance coming to him. In fact, Hunter writes that Fisher—whom two writer on gunfighting have problems with 20 matches and once controlling seven counties with a private gang of bandits—was in fact godfather to Rose's son with Thompson.

Neither of them could hold a candle to Jesse James, whose career and death are almost romanced the Rio Grande Valley in the late 1870's, much less to a man who never killed a man at all. Outside several who died with natural causes, the only other outlaw to escape without violent death was Billy the Kid, who was captured in the Texas Panhandle, was sentenced to hang and escaped from jail. He was killed by Pat Garrett, sheriff of Lincoln county, New Mexico, who had been his friend.

In other words, it is probably impossible to say with truth that any person died in bed who lived by the gun. Nevertheless, there are the gunmen who died violently and those who lived to die in bed. Hunter and Rose have put them all in their book, and the result is a fascinating, if sometimes horrifying, picture of the violent men who made the West.

THE ALBUM OF GUNFIGHTERS

J. Marvin Hunter and Noah H. Rose, Bandera, Texas, 1951.

Reviewed by Carlton Stowers

Here are pictures aged and faded of years ago by Noah Rose for his own gallery of gunfighters. They reconstruct into a fascinating history of the Texas frontier as presented by "Uncle" Noah and interpreted to me in the Long Yell of evening.

Here are the Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals who were charged with the responsibility of bringing law and order to the Texas West. Here are the outlaws who made that responsibility necessary. Here are the pictures of the men who made the Texas West glamorous and hectic. Here are the men who made the Texas West bloody and violent. Here are the men who made the Texas West famous.

NIGHT PICTURES ADD ZEST TO YOUR HOBBY

Filters are used to change the color of the light that enters the camera. Some of the most common are yellow, orange, red, green, blue, and polarizing. Each of these will change the color of the picture in a different way. Some will darken the sky, others will lighten it. Some will make the clouds stand out, others will make them disappear. Some will make the grass greener, others will make it darker. Some will make the water look clear, others will make it look muddy. Some will make the skin look smooth, others will make it look rough. Some will make the hair look shiny, others will make it look dull. Some will make the eyes look bright, others will make them look dull. CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
WILL UNDERWAY

Choir rehearsals have started and plans are well underway for a cnia Christmas cvorcan, according to the director, Jim Dudersta staff. Mr. Dudersta says, "So far there has been a nice turn out at rehearsals, but we need more men. I've been told that there are several men in this town who have good voices but don't feel that they can sing because they do not read music. That's all right and it's our way, now. As long as you can carry a tune, that is all we ask. So, if it is hoped that we may have a big turn out from the new element of Bandera county.

Rehearsals are every Monday night at 7:30. In order that our schedule can be kept on a sound schedule, we are starting promptly at 7:30 and closing at 9:30.

Another note on rehearsals is that the evening Monday, November 19, is the night of the play at Medina at the high school. This will be a night that those who have been driving to Bandera for rehearsal, but we can find no one more of you. Any help from Bandera who have no car, either mother or better band, will be appreciated. Rehearsal that evening will be held at 7:30 p.m. that evening and immediately after the play, if available.

The tentative schedule for the Christmas program is set for Thursday, December 20. A definite announcement will be made next week in the Bulletin.

It has been brought to my attention that there is still a question in many people's mind as to just what is the purpose of this Christmas program. Some have asked if this would mean that each church would not have its own program. The answer to this is definitely not to take the place of any other group or individual's regular Christmas program. It is something new, something besides a county-wide celebration which, I believe, has not been done before in this county. It is a function that is to include each and every person who will allow us to become a part of his Christmas, and every citizen of Bandera county is invited herewith to take active part in it.

Any help or suggestion in the minds of some has to do with the Christmas program, please contact me either by phone, mail or in person and I shall be most happy to discuss it or try it, anyway I see questions. In the meantime, let's have a real Christmas spirit in our hearts and children for this, your Christmas program. This county choir is a big and most important part of the program.

See you Monday night at 7:30 at the Medina High School. Anyone who has a car and can help us to Medina and return, please contact me, or be at the Bandera High School by 7:00 o'clock that Monday evening.

Hopefully yours,
JIM DUDERSTADT

REGISTRANTS TO NOTIFY BOARD

Austin, Texas—Young married man of Fort Arthur must notify his wife, who is expecting their first child, for service in the armed forces because he didn't notify local board of change of address, he was mailed his order to report for induction.

Regulations promulgated under amendments to the draft law passed last June by Congress, required that a draft registrant in his unborn child be deferred if he files with his board notice of the time his induction order is mailed the certificate of a licensed physician that his child has been born.

This is the first case under this phase of the regulations to come to our attention," Brig. Gen. Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective Service director, announced. "If another case of a man has been drafted since Congress made it the personal responsibility of a man to notify his board of changes in his status immediately.

State draft headquarters said that had Fort Arthur registrant did not notify his board that he got married and did not furnish the information that his wife became pregnant, either before or after induction, his classification had been changed to 1-A.

He did not act until after he received his induction order, it was brought to his attention.

"This man would never have been inducted into the U.S. Army if he had seen that the doctor's certificate of the birth of his child after his wife we found to be pregnant," General Wakefield said.

Bumpin' Over the Cattle Guard
By Peggy Tobin

Just as all of us have gotten home from under the rush of community activities which sent October speeding into the middle of November—all but drowning us in the flurry of rain we've had—but for a moment. Comes a truce—a breathing spell—before the Christmas shopping. Our gift list is made up of people we dearly love. But we feel a certain amount of the pressure and panic of the commercialized season that leaves out popcorn balls and handmade rag dolls—and the Christ child.

Congratulations to the J. W. Sharmans who bagged the lucky seven with an eight—and a baby girl! Honorable Elmer Eker to say that boys are a necessity, but a little girl is a luxury.

As some of our friends may suspect we too are in favor of Congressman Poage's bill to give the boys in the land soldier bonus. Our reason for this is that we came back to the states from overseas and found the boys to find the jobs we left behind us filled by women who were glad to get them. Many of them have since married and established homes of their own. Some have children. Others have been working for so long that they have established a definite way of life for themselves and a million rounds of ammunition for the Communist troops in Korea. In addition to daily strikes and threats of strikes by the United Mine Workers, who, along with several of his fellow floors, resigned from the Democratic party because of the Fair Deal record, graduated aviation cadet training in 1941, and served in the Army Air Force until World War II, and returned to his San Marcos home to be discharged with his father.

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the horsepower supply. When you're heating, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—electric power. For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 80 minutes.

SOME NICE DEER AND TURKEY KILLED

Several hunters and some turkey hunters from the Medina valley made and successful hunting trips last week-end. It was reported that they were lucky hunters, for only a few deer were reported. Up until late Monday evening the following deer had been brought to Medina's meat locker: three weighed 125 pounds or more, and one was a nice 8-point buck. A few pointed half the weight of the larger deer. Some were shot with shotguns, some with rifles, and some with bows and arrows. Several hunters having been successful in getting their deer, the fun of the hunt was enjoyed by many.

Among those in the hunting party were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lamb, Mrs. Mollie Lamb, Mrs. Lucille Lamb, Mrs. Ruth Lamb, Mrs. F. Arnold, Mrs. Ruth Lamb, Mrs. Ruth Lamb, Mrs. Ruth Lamb

VIOLATIONS OF OPS REGULATIONS REPORTED

Rex W. Thompson, OPS executive director for Texas, said that investigations by OPS enforcement attorneys in Austin will be conducted throughout the 36-county area of the San Antonio district.

The OPS enforcement official said that the violations were discovered in those who had failed to file required ceiling price reports with district OPS Price Stabilization unit that some investigations have been concluded.

The price operations branch of the agency has been swamped by the failure of the larger cities of the district to file documents in connection with the voluntary freezing and posting regulations, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson said.

Services under CPR 34 include only consumer goods, radio, and television sets, refrigerators, and shoes, shoe repair, dyeing, and tailoring.

MANPOWER POOL OF DRAFT BOARDS REDUCED

Austin, Texas, November 19—Selective Service draft boards in Texas have been directed to reduce their manpower pools by 10 per cent by the end of October the agency announced today. At the end of September, boards had 11,328 classified men in their pools. By the end of October the figure will be reduced to 10,508. At the end of September, boards had 11,328 classified men in their pools. By the end of October the figure will be reduced to 10,508. At the end of September, boards had 11,328 classified men in their pools. By the end of October the figure will be reduced to 10,508.

"Men with only dependents who are no longer deferred under existing regulations, he said, 'especially they can show extreme hardship. The draft boards are directed to call men on the figures they have on hand as of the close of classified July 1-A.

SALE OF USED PASSENGER AUTOMOBILES REGULATIONS

The standard used car regulations which will be issued by a number of OPS certificate of compliance after November 26, OPS announced today.

Under the regulation, CPR 34, provided for 27 used-car price ceiling dealer sizes, first or service, of the years 1949 through 1951.

YOUNG LADIES LEAVE FOR PORTLAND, OREGON

Jeanette Thompson and Joy Short

Pictured above are Miss Jeanette Thompson of Devine and Miss Joy Short of Bandera, who left Sunday for Portland, Oregon, where they will enter Multnomah College. Miss Thompson will be a freshman and Miss Short a sophomore. Both girls are majoring in Home Economics.

We are sorry to report Clyde Tarver is back in the Peterson hospital for another operation.

Mrs. C. Aranson and Miss Eva Florence who are attending college in Denton spent the holidays here with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Florence.

Friends here will be sorry to learn that Mrs. Grace Buchanan has been very ill in the Peterson hospital in Kerrville. Mrs. Buchanan underwent surgery Wednesday. We hope for a speedy recovery.

We very much enjoyed and appreciated a visit last Sunday from Mrs. Carmie Marie Blaisdell, of Station KEVT, as a script writer and reporter for the Bandera County Mail, and a number of Hill Country news broadcasts over Station KEVT. In addition, Mrs. Blaisdell during the past several years has often visited Bandera, and has a number of friends here. Mrs. Blaisdell is employed by the Austin Statesman.

We were amused Christmas shopping at the GLENTEX Department Store in the Frost Bldg. to hear Santa Claus tell a little boy with faded red cheeks:

"Let's have an enormous rose on our Cordova and Velvet Shades." Ruth Fern Dockery

As ever, I save the poor boys of jewelry to be put on credit.

With Christmas drawing nearer every day local shoppers are in a mad rush to get their Christmas gifts purchased before that important time. Have you seen the lovely things in the Five and Dime store? Santa has already arrived and left some very pretty merchandise for your approval.

Mrs. Bill Bandeen is very busy these days with parties and friends. Last week included Marilyn Wier's birthday party, Monday night, and many others. W. A. Flannery, Jr., Kevin and Preset Hillman, John Minor Lawhon, Dolores Bitter and others will attend this week-end here.

Antonio came to for the dance at Bandera given by Miss Marilyn Wier and Don Thompson entertained Thursday night at H. H. Wood's home in honor of Miss Lamar Lawhon, Corpus Christi visitor. Mrs. H. H. Wood's grandchildren, several spent several days on the Wood ranch and Mr. Wood was present for their activities. Weddings and engagements are the talk of the town. Now that Thanksgiving is over Margie, let's unpack that beautiful new costume jewelry you bought for customers Christmas! Priced moderately low too.
Katie Love sure looks smart in that fur white hat we chose for her in Dallas. . . . Did you missed out? Mrs. Vaught has a new sister, Mrs. Elliott from Mississippi, and Freddie Ellis is spending her week-end with Mrs. Vaught.

Bumpin' Over the Cattle Guard

By Peggy Tobin

Not wanting to leave away before the end of the year, we didn't put our modest coffee cup, raise change out on the county house, and pull out for greener pastures. Instead, we've been content to stay put and enjoy the beautiful wet day.

Strong rolling days have been at work on the Medina River, and from town. Hospitalized for a time was Charlie McHugo, who counted twenty dead chickens. Three men, who upheld the prestige and dignity of the business and social life of their town, were always devotable. They discovered about schools and churches because they couldn't get to them. Some of the ladies of the town had their hands full keeping their husbands from getting drowned in the flood.

Which is thinking about Thanksgiving Day, and how nearly it has come and gone by before we knew it. Now we have only Christmas to look forward to, and the first thing we hammer-and-tongs we'll be in the middle of it, and then we'll be through a flash of holiday and New Year's Day, and we'll be looking forward to Easter.

Flowers to you gentlemen.

Lost Valley Host to Famous Navy Squad

After preparing Uncle Sam's tonic for a week, the football squad from U.S. Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois, will leave by plane today for their final game of the season with the San Diego Naval Base there on Saturday afternoon.

Following the drubbing received in the last football game administered by Brooke Army Medical Center team on Alamo Stadium, by a score of 57 to 0, the Gobs decided to call it quits for the season. Head Coach Lt. C. T. Nicholson, however, decided to put the husky sailor boys through a few more practice periods and workouts in preparation for the Navy Relief Game, another tough one.

Arriving at Lost Valley early Wednesday morning, the squad was taken from college transit with a police escort to the Lost Valley Inn, fitted out at the Bandera Sporting Goods store and fed food for according to Coach Nicholson, the best they have had since they left Great Lakes. STATE FARM INSURANCE REPRESENTATIVE HERE SATURDAY

Lee Lamb, representative of the State Farm Insurance Company, of Kerrville, paid our office a visit last Saturday and had us insert an advertisement in the Bulletin and gave us for publication interesting data on the company and its operations.

State Farm, It Pays To Be Different, is the title of the article in which it sets forth that State Farm Insurance is the biggest auto insurance company which grew to its present proportions by taking preferred risks only, using exclusive agents, and not handling over claims.

Last week, the largest automobile insurance company in the U. S. (in premium rates) in Montana and Nebraska, State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, Ill., was here in carrying out part of the Safety Week program of activities in the last three years, State Farm started its operations in Texas at the same time as in most of the other companies in that area and the second largest automobile policies in force in the state. Its rapid growth is due to the unusual methods of operation.

The formula is: sell things like life insurance, auto insurance, fire insurance, boat insurance, etc., through local offices without agents. State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Company of Bloomington, Ill., was here in carrying out part of the Safety Week program of activities in the last three years.

MANY ENJOY COMMUNITY SINGING LAST SUNDAY NIGHT

Last Sunday night the old-fashioned community singing of the 30s was revived at the First Baptist church in Medina San Antonio Tuesday. Quite a number were present and everyone had a wonderful time. Those who was present seemed to enjoy the singing very much and are looking forward to the next community singing. Mrs. Graham Lesturgeon was in charge of the singing and was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. A. J. Flato. A lovely reception was held immediately following the singing in the church parlors. After the starters got acquainted with each other they were served delicious cherry ice topped with whipped cream and cookies. Those who played and served the refreshments were Mrs. Ben Flato and Mrs. Graham Lesturgeon. Mrs. Flato is the grandmother of Medina. Mrs. Lesturgeon is the wife of Dr. Graham Lesturgeon who is stationed at Camp Bullis. Mrs. Lesturgeon and Dr. Lesturgeon are from San Antonio. DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY WARNS MOTORISTS

Austin, December 13.—Public Safety Director Homer Garrison, Jr., reminded Texas motorists to-day that they will be subject to new additional and much more drastic traffic license increases in every particular if they are involved in accidents while driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Dr. Garrison said. The Director pointed out that the increased penalties will be invoked against all persons convicted of any traffic violation while under the influence of intoxicants.

Co-operation with the department, he said, can be best had with the Peace Officer in your home town.

"I think it should be evident to everyone," Dr. Garrison declared, "that our highways are not safe for any one. They will be subject to new additional and much more drastic traffic license increases in every particular if they are involved in accidents while driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor, Dr. Garrison said. The Director pointed out that the increased penalties will be invoked against all persons convicted of any traffic violation while under the influence of intoxicants.

The Town Cry-er
By Sam Goldfarb

Where there is smoke, there must be, understudy, fire or smoke-writing reader, eager for. For that reason I call attention to numerous editorials which have recently been written about the danger of losing our rights and freedoms. Those have appeared in some of our foremost newspapers in the Southwest.

It is without question, very difficult to convince the American people of this fact. We have enjoyed freedom all our lives, and we have had no actual concrete example of anything happening that could cause us to lose it.

America, since its birth has been fighting wars for freedom and against the trouble with us is, that we have so much freedom we don't know how to handle it. The fact that men, in America, still have free and equal rights is taken for granted. Some months ago we had to send to Korea to help them free and equal. We now freest others so we are more conversant of freedom. Man is that in our heritage.

Many of the freedoms we enjoy today were won by the blood of our forefathers. Freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of religion, freedom of assembly, freedom of petition, freedom of the ballot box, freedom of trial by jury, freedom from unreasonable search and seizure, freedom from double jeopardy, freedom from self-incrimination, freedom from excessive bail, freedom from cruel and unusual punishment, freedom from quartering soldiers in private homes, freedom from involuntary servitude, freedom from deprivation of life, liberty or property without due process of law, freedom from taking private property for public use without just compensation, freedom of the right of petition, freedom of the right of assembly, freedom of the right to bear arms, freedom of the right to vote, freedom of the right to hold office, freedom of the right to travel, freedom of the right to marry, freedom of the right to own property, freedom of the right to contract, freedom of the right to sue, freedom of the right to be heard, freedom of the right to appeal, freedom of the right to petition, freedom of the right to assemble

PIPE CREEK H. D. PARTY

by Peggy Tobin

We understand that tanks and heavy snow tracers were last Saturday morning after that gallop-ing northern caster through the hills. We're afraid to think what may have happened to struggling winter grazing crops. Saturday night when Junction recorded 15 degrees and San Antonio 28. That just Bandera somewhere in between, and added another reason why we've decided that farming business is for Iowa—in the corn belt.

Among the variety of sounds we're having to get used to these days is the fat-rolling crackle that blares out across our neighborhood from Fort Sam Houston in the early dawn. We're told we're being wised up by the "Battle of San Fernando" and the heading toward Fort Knox. Anyway, it doesn't bother us none as we're not in the army—nor even drafted.

The old time corn husks is already in the air. The milk is flowing and the country, piped over with pumpkin pies. Soon we'll be having mince meat and fruit cake and the old stuffed turkey. Yum, yum. Christmas will be here with us before we know it. Have you your ornament?

THE ALBUM OF Gunfighters

Deluxe Edition, 236 Pages, 9x12 inches, 360 Photos.

Designed by Warren Hunter.
Photographs by N. H. Rose.

The Price is $10.00 per copy, postpaid.

The Album of Gunfighters contains the greatest aggregation of outlaws, desperadoes, frontier characters, Texas Rangers and Deputy United States Marshals ever assembled within the covers of one book—nearly 400 of them. Splendid photographs with a sketch of each individual—the story of men, good and bad, who made the Old West glamorous and hectic. You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Youngger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Starr, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Doek Halliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Bloody Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, King Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

REV. O. M. THOMPSON SPEAKS AT PTA MEET

"Preserving Our Spiritual Heritage" was the subject chosen by Rev. O.M. Thompson, Baptist pastor at the regular meeting of the Bandera Parent-Teacher's Association last Tuesday evening. Rev. Thompson highlighted his talk by saying a heritage is something that has fallen into the hands of a person by another's death. The greatest heritage is that of the spiritual realm. A person can not and will not leave as a thing of worldly goods to their children, but they leave the spiritual, they leave everything. The first standards for parents to uphold are the apples of the eternal tree. He pointed out that there are several heritages, one of Christmas. No man or woman has the right to keep good heritage without giving love or her life to those as well as their home and influence. He said, "make your influence felt in the community. Teach your boys and girls to love Jesus, and they will not forget."

Mrs. Walter Hicks presided over the meeting and Mrs. Raymond Hicks read the minutes.

CHRISTMAS COMES TO BUTTONS AND BOWS

Yes there was a Woman in the Shoe was old. And ugly!! And even!!! Well, frankly we did, too, until we saw her face—fresh, smiling, and lovely—above a bucket of Christmas wrappings, refreshment wreckage, and joy filled eyes of little boys and girls when mother is home from the theatre at Buttons and Bows, Tuesday at 5:30.

That was the day the wee ones' mother had not been home to greet—a real Christmas pa tradition. Mother, Santa's very own lovely tree! Piles of fascinating wrappings and festive boxes. Each one to be unwrapped. Each one must be rubbed. And the seams would surely burst.

There were also Mrs. Lawson L. Jaggers, Mrs. Ralph Bell, Mrs. Edward Puttert, Sr., Mrs. Boyd Mayo, Mrs. Harold Brooks, Mrs. Harold Brooks, Jackie Bell, Mrs. Elizabeth Fay, Mrs. Gale Rich, Johnny Tamez, Nanette Mayo, Jennie Nelson, Terry Mayo, Bobby Dixon, and Marilyn Moore—some. Thank you.

YOU Might LOSE Your Driver's and Auto Licenses

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 60 minutes.

Bandera Electric Coop Has Delightful Christmas Party

One of the most delightful affairs of the Christmas Season was held at the Rio Vista Night Club on Friday night, December 21, when the employees of the Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc., held their first annual Christmas Party. Over eighty guests were in attendance, including employees from the Rosebud, Comfort and Kerrville offices and their families, inspector Sam Severa of the Rural Electrification Administration, several of the directors of the Cooperative and their wives.

Festivities got underway early in the evening with the appearance of Santa Claus, who distributed gifts from the Christmas tree to the children. Following a delightful buffet supper, served by a local catering service, the remaining group enjoyed dancing to the music of a juke box, which had been placed in the basement for the occasion. Throughout the evening, the beautifully prepared and very attractively decorated table added to the spirit of the Christmas theme, with various types of red and green candles, accented by the gifts in the center of the table. Mrs. Ella Stelle Cone and Jim R. Preston were in charge of arrangements and both to the success of the affair.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hagist, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cone, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Cottrell, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crawford, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Preston, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Keese Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Keese

Open house was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley A. Keese on Thursday afternoon, December 27, from 2 to 5 o'clock in celebration of the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Keese. Mrs. Jesse Mullins, a daughter, presided at the bride's book. Mrs. Mary Ernest and daughter, Judith, assisted in the dining room. Mrs. Mary Ernest and daughter, Judith, poured punch, while Mrs. Joseph Hornberger and Mrs. Stanley Keese, Jr., served the wedding cake. Mrs. Hubert Wax and Mrs. Jesse Bass presided at the gift table. Mrs. Ed Crawford was in charge of the guest register.

Mr. and Mrs. Keese were married December 27, 1901, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mendez, at Bandera. Mr. Keese is a native of Bandera county and has lived here all his life. Mrs. Keese was born in Kerrville and moved to Bandera county with her parents when she was a child. She received her education in the Bandera schools and has resided here all her married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Keese have been blessed with seven children, five of whom are living. The deceased are Mrs. Mary Ernest and Stanley Keese, Jr., who died in infancy. The living children are Mrs. Jesse Mullins of Bandera, Mrs. Joseph Hornberger of Mountain Home, Mrs. Stanley Keese and Mrs. Hubert Wax and Jesse Keese of Bandera. There are fifteen grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. The presence of twenty-one members of the family at the open house on the golden wedding anniversary was a happy occasion for many friends and neighbors, but there were also sorrowful memories, for many friends and neighbors, during the years of fifty years of married life, have come joys and gladness, sorrows and disappointments, but through it all they have had the love and support of their family and friends and have come to the evening of life with appreciation for the blessings they have received as evidenced by the many friends who called to extend congratulations and best wishes for many more years of wedded life.

You have read or heard about Wild Bill Hickok, Jesse and Frank James, the Younger boys, Cole Bob and Jim; the Dalton boys; Bill Doolin, Calamity Jane, Belle Starr, Sam Bass, Bill Longley, John Wesley Hardin, Wyatt Earp, Bat Masterson, Dock Holliday, Billy the Kid, Black Jack Ketchum, Clay Allison, Black Bart, Ben and Billy Thompson, Killer Fisher, John Selman, noted for being quick on the draw and of deadly aim. And too, there's famous Texas Rangers and U. S. Marshals who were fearless in combating the trigger-quick gunmen of those old days: Jim Gillett, Pat Garrett, George Scarborough, Bill McDonald, J. H. Rogers, John R. Hughes, Lee McNelly, John B. Jones, Frank Jones, Heck Thomas, Chris Madsen, Bill Tilghman, and scores of others, who faced blazing guns to bring law and order to the frontier.

There has never before been printed a book like the Album of Gunfighters. Noah Rose and J. Marvin Hunter have produced the greatest book of this kind that has ever been offered to the public. The sales are increasing as the fame of the Album of Gunfighters spreads. Every collector of Western history, every public library, every writer of Western fact or fiction wants the book, and when they see it they lose no time in buying a copy.

BIG ENOUGH For the Job ?

That's true at home, too, when it comes to the hot water supply. Whether you're bathing, shaving, washing dishes, or taking care of the family laundry, you want—and need—abundant hot water.

For example, the average automatic washer needs about 40 gallons of 140-degree water within a period of 50 minutes.

TRIBAL CUSTOMS HELP INDIANS FORTCAST HARD WINTER AHEAD

The project was begun in 1939 at an aircraft plant in Seattle when the editor of the factory paper asked five Indian employes what kind of a winter they thought it would be. Everyone, including the Indians, thought it was a good joke. But each of the five agreed it would be a tough winter. It was. Last year five other Indian employes were consulted. They predicted severely that there would be a mild winter. All predictions were based on such things as the flight of white owls, the aches in the bones of a friday soldier, and conditions on the woods.

This year five Indian employes are again agreed. They say it will be a fairly hard winter.

RETIS BUILDING FASTEST SUBS EVER KNOWN

London (AP)—"Fighting Ships" reported Tuesday that Russia's submarine fleet has included eventually to number 1,000 U-boats—a total to make the fastest sub marines the world has ever known.

The fifth-third and largest edition of the authoritative naval book, published Tuesday, said German technicians are shooting the Russians how to build mine-laying submarines capable of speeds up to 29 miles per hour under water.

The fastest submarines now known to be in service—ships of the United States Navy—are the Tang class—travel, 20 miles per hour under water. Few surface ships—ships of any size can safely speeds greater than 30 miles per hour.

Jane's said that Russia also is building submarines designed to operate under ice and to launch guided missiles as well as 16-inch guns, and at least three types of mine-laying subs.

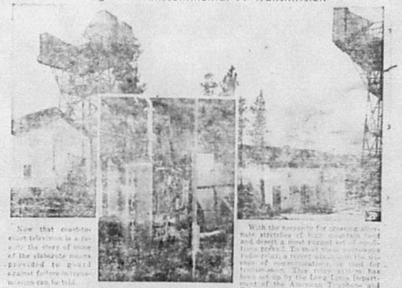
Safeguard Transcontinental TV Transmission



Now that coaxial cable is a reality the story of the nationwide network provided it is against failure in transmission can be told.

With the coming of TV programming and the stretching of networks to cover the nation, a great burden has been placed on the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

Illustrated here is a typical installation with its complement of electronic amplifiers. Each of these amplifiers, spaced at intervals of about 20 miles along the coaxial cable, is designed to operate automatically for years without attention. Each is powered by a master power supply, either locally or from the nearest power station.

Underground at a central office, the coaxial cable stretches to the horizon. The starting point is the TV broadcast studio, usually located in one of the 12 main cities. Here the TV programs originate and are fed into the coaxial cable.

Each amplifier station is equipped with standby power equipment. Should the regular power ever fail or should there be a temporary fault in the cable, the standby power will take over automatically.

The circuits are designed to operate whether it is extremely hot or extremely cold. Should the temperature at any amplifier station change more than a few degrees, automatic equipment will compensate for the change.

Technicians at a central office can switch the TV program from one coaxial cable to another in a matter of seconds should trouble develop. Switching is done automatically.

FOUR-POINT BUCK COMES CALLING ON HUNTERS—GETS BAGGED

A four-point buck came calling on some Austin hunters Saturday, reversing the hunting season procedure, but wound up as a cold storage locker just the same. The unusual hunt took place at 10:45 at the home of Charles E. Wyatt, 4005 Idlewild Road. But Wyatt was out of town on a hunting trip in South Texas, and expert plans to slug the one he could view shot from his back porches. They the buck landed in the 3200 block of Gaston, then raced on up to 54th Street and Alle. Here it was reported at the home of Mrs. Ruth Bell, 1501 West 52nd Street, where he was cornered in the back yard. Bell had just returned to Wednesday from a deer hunt near Kerrville, so he had plenty of meat already. Asked how he intended to prepare the buck for the table, Fred Ehlers, who joined the outing, turned over with his 38-caliber revolver, finished the deed and donated it to the Sanitarium Meat Market at 201 East Third Street. Mrs. Bell, Mrs. Ehlers and Mrs. Wyatt were the hostesses.

"POOR" WIDOW CARRIES OWN MONEY TO PAY BILL

Mrs. Mamie Kirby, an 85-year-old widow of Pecos, brought her own money to pay a bill when she appeared before Justice of the Peace Ernest Estepp, signed a note and demanded it be taken. When witness subpoenaed by Mrs. Kirby's attorney, Ed Lee, appeared and put two dollar bills on the table, Estepp refused to accept the money, saying the widow had brought it herself.

INFLATION HURTS ANIMALS AND KEEPS GETTING WORSE

Inflation is hurting the animal population as well as the human population of the United States, according to a report released by the Animal Welfare Institute.

The report, prepared by Christine Stevens, secretary of the institute, says that despite the fact that the human population has increased by 20 per cent since 1940, the number of animals has increased by 50 per cent.

"Cattle, sheep, hogs, horses, mules, dogs, cats, rabbits, poultry, and wildlife have all increased in numbers," the report says. "Only the human population has declined."

The report says that the number of cattle has increased from 70,000,000 to 96,000,000 head, sheep from 30,000,000 to 34,000,000, hogs from 59,000,000 to 60,000,000, horses and mules from 12,000,000 to 13,000,000, dogs from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000, cats from 25,000,000 to 30,000,000, rabbits from 3,000,000 to 5,000,000, poultry from 1,000,000,000 to 1,500,000,000, and wildlife from 10,000,000 to 15,000,000.

"The human population has increased by 20 per cent since 1940," the report says. "Only the human population has declined."

LIVESTOCK TO FEATURE CHAMPIONSHIP RODEO

Everett Colburn, the "No. 1 Man of Rodeo Producers", will stage the world's championship rodeo which will be a feature of San Antonio's 1952 Livestock Exposition.

The rodeo will be staged for 14 performances throughout the 16-day show, Feb. 15-24 at Bexar County Coliseum.

Exposition officials said that arrangements are being made to include a number of features new and contract performers in the show.

In recent months Colburn has produced the world's championship rodeo in Madison Square Garden, New York, and in Chicago. A Texan himself, he specializes in 1,000-acre ranches just west of Dublin and another boasts such where he makes his home.

Colburn says he recently sold a 2,500-acre ranch at Bel-Air, Montana, and a 14,000-acre one in Arizona. From the latter he acquired Estepp bought the bull he donated to the Sanitarium Meat Market. It was formerly Slaughter Market at 201 East Third Street.

Mail orders are now being accepted for tickets to the show, and must be addressed to the San Antonio Livestock Exposition, P. O. Box 1736, San Antonio. Mail orders for tickets will be filled in the order received, early so the rodeo ticket buyers.

The Town Cryer

By Sam Goldfarb

Within the next few days the year of 1951 will be history. Many failures and successes were discussed—many projects were carried through to a successful conclusion—but numerous ones have been pushed aside because of indifference and neglect. Many difficulties were encountered during 1951. Some residents were faced with shortages and unfair methods of the occupation had to be contended with.

Time and time again, you have heard the expression, "He had a tough break" or "He's a lucky fellow." In that literally true? Many times you have heard people express it. "He and some others had a lot of good people with him." Maybe, also, he did not have the confidence and courage to go ahead in addition to following through to the end. It seems that we could do so attributes are failures to lack of ambition, indifference, or being easily discouraged. Time and time again, successful men have told us that they have had their share of failures and disappointments. The Texas people accepted the cause, and success of many people is due to the fact that they naturally will be broken. We, of Bandera county, could do well to profit by this and would get together, pull together, be more optimistic and boost for everything in our country. If more matters would be settled around the table instead of in the courts, there would be more satisfaction to all concerned. Let's start the New Year off right and make it a much better year than 1951.
