Rose Garden Club

Nine members of Medina Rose Garden Club went on a pilgrimage to Guadalupe River State Park Wednesday, April 24.

This newest state park is three miles north of State Highway 46, east of Boerne on Park Road 31. It is a delightful place to visit, members said.

After a brief business meeting around a shaded table overlooking the river, most of the members took a walk down to the river bank and back.

All members took sack lunches and dessert of a variety of fruit balls and cold drinks were served by the hostesses, Claire Johnston and Dean Scott.

Graduation

Kyla Green will graduate from Ranger Junior College Friday, May 3, where she has attended the last two years on a basketball scholarship.

She will graduate with a 3.85 grade point average. Kyla was also voted the most likely to succeed.

She will attend Texas Women's University in Denton next year, where she will major in nutrition.

Kyla is the daughter of Tim and Kye Green, grandparents are Kitty Mansfield of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Green of Comfort.

Coast trip

Carl and Frieda Voss of Kerrville and Linden and Stella Wheeler got together recently for a few days at the coast. They reported a little bit of weather problems, but nothing too bad, just enjoyed the trip.

Sidewalk sale

The Medina Garden Club will have a sidewalk sale at the Garden Center at 9 a.m. Saturday, May 4. They will have "this and that" and good clothes for sale, a spokesman said.

Birthday

Sunday night was a big celebration for Duncan Hatfield's birthday. His dad and mom, W.O. and Dorothy Hatfield, hosted the affair.

The guest list consisted of Henry and Loma Murphy, Murry and Mary LeStourgeon, Art and Grace Kitzman of Bandera, Karen Jackson and son of Bandera, LaNelle and Larry Kirk, Inez Mayfield and Maya Lay, Beth and Hobbit Hawkins, Mrs. Wilson, Thomas Hatfield df Austin, Irene, William and Danny Hatfield, Paul and Sara Garrison and children, Joe and Shirley Kitzman of Starksville, Miss., Don Anderson and daughter Holly of Kerrville, Dot's cousin Chrissy Conn of San Antonio and Roy and Pam Shockey, San Antonio. Murry, Joe and Beth furnished some music to finish off a delightful night.

A small open house was held for Mrs. Stella (Honey) Keese by her children, Karen, Keith and Richard in honor of her birthday on April 14 at her home. Sister Madge and sister-in-law Claire Becker and all her family were in attendance. Numerous close friends and relatives dropped by for cake and punch. It was reported to be a wonderful day, enjoyed by all.

Visitors

C.A. Kinsey and son of Devine, JoNell Williams of Kerrville all were here over the weekend visiting their mom Saloma Kinsey.

Joe and Connie Granger of Devine, were here over the weekend visiting Connie's uncle and wife, Henry and Loma Murphy.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Lewis of Austin was here over the weekend visiting with family members. Cecil Lewis was here also and they stayed in the Lewis house.

Rusty and Bobbie McGrew of Austin and Nederland were here over the weekend and visited with Tootie and Ellen. Tootie went to Utopia to church with them and later visited with Vernon, Charlsie and Lori Porter and ate lunch with Bob, Kerry, Brent, Walker and Marcie Porter.

After spending a week in Seguin with cousin Mary Kuhle, Ellen Walker has returned home. Mary brought her. She reported having a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kitzman of Starksville, Miss., have been here visiting parents Mr. and Mrs. Art Kitzman and Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Hatfield Jr., grandmother Irene Hatfield, brothers Daniel and Duncan and nephew William Hatfield.

Fred and Loretta Hund are making Medina their permanent home now. They formerly lived in Lake Jackson. Welcome to both of them.

Sick list

It was reported to a family member that Paul Marquart of Fredericksburg, husband of the former Frieda Hinds, is not doing well at all after a bad wreck he was involved in last December.

Paul's truck was totalled in the wreck when another big truck hit him. Paul has been undergoing tests and he was to be in San Antonio this Monday for more tests on his head and back.

Word was received here about the illness of Chuck Woods of Yorktown, grandson of Vernon and Florine Williams. Chuck is presently undergoing tests in a Victoria hospital.

Joins Marines

Since last week Joe and Delia Ortiz have yet another son to join the service. Jacob, who will be a 1985 graduate of Medina High, will report for duty in December, maybe sooner. He will be in the Infantry.

Mark Heinen, son of Maxine Adams of Medina and Chester Heinen of Bandera will be a 1985 graduate of Medina High and he also joined the service. Mark will report for duty Aug. 27.

They will both report to San Diego, Calif.

In last weeks article Richard and Debbie Reeves shouldn't have been referred to as Ortiz. That was Debbie's last name.

Buddy and Elayne Mills spent the weekend in San Antonio with Leon and Doris Mills. While there Elayne attended the "Princess Conference of Beauty."

Honor roll

All As

Robert Keeling, seventh grade; Lisa Chamblee, eighth grade; Charles Anderson, ninth grade; Michael Greenwalt, Chris Keeley and Shana Sill, all 10th grade; and Mark Williams, 11th grade.

Attend funeral

Mr. and Mrs. King Stokes and Mr. and Mrs. Grady McHaney went to Seminole last week for the funeral of Mrs. Cora McHaney Pence.

Mrs. Pence moved to Medina with her family in 1907, then moved to West Texas after her marriage. She visited Medina often when the annual family reunions were held in the area.

Dora Lowe watches as her husband, John K. Lowe Jr. is sworn in as Constable, Precinct 3 by Judge Tommy Curbo. Lowe is from Medina and will serve the Medina area. The ceremony took place in the county clerk's office April 26.

George Wilson Banta: He was Medina's oldest resident in 29

Those area residents who have endeavored to write family histories to be included in the book to be published by the Bandera County History Book Committee, will be envious when they learn of the fortunate discovery of Margie Banta Watkins.

Margie has a typed copy of a ten-page draft of "The Life History of George Wilson Banta: Medina's Oldest Citizen Who Has Lived Here Since About 1888."

This 1929 publication includes editor's comments and describes Banta as having "passed the four score and ten milestone in life, and is still hale and hearty — walks from his home a half mile (northwest) from town and back almost every day — and nearly any time you go to his home you will find him out in his fine orchard at work."

In the autobiographical writing, G.W. Banta gives a lengthy description of his early years, his experiences in the Civil War and his adventures with the Texas Indians.

Banta describes his early years and his family. "I was born at Clarksville, Tex., Jan. 28, 1841, in a double log cabin which was one of the first houses built where the city of Clarksville is now located ... There were 13 children in the family, seven boys and six girls, I being the tenth child, with five brothers and four sisters older than me.

"My father was a mechanic by trade, but on coming to Texas engaged in the stock business which was the chief industry of the great open spaces and followed the frontier in order that he might have the advantages of the free range.

Military experience

"When war was declared between the states I was attending school at Clarksville. Excitement was running high, since the people could scarcely think of anything else than the horrors of war. Consequently I left school and went to Lancaster, Dallas County, where I enlisted in the Army and joined Company I of the 18th Texas Calvery, commanded by Gen. Darnell, with W.A. Blendson captain of Company I.

Choosing a wife

Being granted a 60-day furlough, after a long recovery from a leg wound, Banta walked much of the way to Texas from the confederate hospital in Jackson, Tenn. In 21 days he reached Cumby, Hopkins County, Texas where his oldest brother, Henry Banta, a Baptist preacher lived.

"Within ten days after my arrival at Cumby I was married to Miss Susan Rippy, who walked down the stream of life with me for 65 years — bearing with me the joys and sorrows, the privations and successes of life, and doing all that a true wife and mother could do, being all that a real wife and mother is expected to be, until God saw fit to allow her to be removed from this world, March 15, 1930."

The war ended before Banta's extended furlough was up, and he describes in great detail his experiences as a young husband trying to settle an area that received continual harrassment from the Indians.

He explains: "After realizing that our cause was lost, (the Civil War), I began making arrangements to move with my wife to Gillespie County. At that time all of Texas north and northwest of Waco was subject to Indian raids... Allow me to say that my experience in the very unpleasant struggles was so harrowing that I have never had any inclination to talk about it..., even now I would not write this sketch but of the urgent entreaty of some of my children."

Homesites

Banta and his bride moved to Gillespie County, eventually purchasing a place 20 miles south of Fredericksburg, just a short way from the Blanco County line. "In this territory my experiences with the Indians began, and continued until they quit their depredations on the white man and that country," he said.

About 1888 the Bantas moved to Medina. Brook Banta of Kerrville, grandson of G.W. Banta, remembers that G.W. purchased about 2,800 acres on the head of the North Prong of Medina River for 35 cents an acre. The ranch was known as the Ranger Springs place and was located above the Sutton place and joined the Faust place.

Medina residents remember tales the children of G.W. Banta told about their experiences walking to Flat Rock School — particularly those of Ernest Banta and his sister Alma Banta Keese.

The Bantas later moved closer to town and settled on 240 acres three miles north west of Medina on the south side of the highway, which was at that time a wagon trail. Their place was located across the road from Valley View Ranch, owned by the McHaney family.

Evie McHaney remembers Banta and Mr. Green, owner of the general store in Medina, as being instrumental in inticing the McHaney family to move to Medina. Green and Banta were early realtors and wrote to J.L. McHaney in Oklahoma describing this beautiful countryside.

According to grandson Brook Banta, G.W. traded for ten acres in town with Oscar King. That homesite is still a place of beauty today. It is located at the corner of Highway 16 and Post Oak Street, just past Hwy. 337.

Religious beliefs

Virginia Copender Pue remembers Banta and his lovely orchard, she also recalled that he held the belief that after death he would return to the earth.

Mr. and Mrs. Brook Banta described his faith as that of a Christadelphian, or one who believed in reincarnation. Banta hoped he "would some day return to earth as a bird.

Burial

Banta is buried at Oak Rest Cemetery in Medina beside his wife, Susan Elizabeth. He died March 15, 1937. He and his wife had four sons and seven daughters.

Little Olympics May 9-10

By Cindy Park

It's time for the traditional Little Olympics, to be at Bulldog Stadium May 9-10.

Trophies will be awarded to the high-point competitors and 1,100 ribbons will be presented, says the Parent-Teacher Organization sponsor.

The field events will begin at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, May 9, and end at 3:10 p.m.

Friday, May 10, the ceremonies will begin with the Olympic parade. Line up time for the parade is 5:45 p.m. Pre-schoolers are invited to march with the kindergarten group. The parade will begin at 6 p.m. Class representatives (one boy and one girl chosen by each class) will carry a class banner followed by their participating classmates.

Grades 1-5 are eligible to win the A.B. Lewis Trophy which is awarded to the class with the most class participation points. The Daniel Tschirhart trophy is awarded by the same rules to a sixth, seventh or eighth grade class.

The Quarterback Club Trophy will be awarded to the class whose elected representatives earn the most points. Individual trophies will be awarded to one boy and one girl with the most points.

A participant can enter a total of eight events. The events range from tow-sack races, pullups and broad jumps to basketball throws. To run in a race you must be at the south end of the field. No one has to sign up for the Friday running events, just be in line. The one exception is the hurdle events, which have to have preliminary heats.

A pre-school sucker race will be held for children aged 3-5 years. Four divisions of the sucker races will be run, boys 3-4 years; girls 3-4 years; boys 5 years; and girls 5 years of age. The winners will receive a big sucker and all participants will receive smaller suckers.

A concession stand will be provided by the PTO.

Lightning can be dangerous

When it comes to a brilliant display of lightning in Texas skies, "better safe than sorry," is a good motto.

Deaths from lightning may be rare, but it's shortsighted for anyone to ignore the simple precautions and slight inconvenience of safety measures, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service health education specialist Dr. Mary Ann Heussner.

She says the first rule of lightning safety is to get away quickly from any open space — a field, golf course, hill-top, beach or pool. Get away before the rain starts, since lethal bolts sometimes strike during the muggy lull before a storm.

"If you're caught outside, the best kinds of shelter are buildings equipped with a lightning protection system, steel-framed buildings, and cars, buses or tractors with metal tops and closed windows," advises the specialist. "But don't trust a flimsy shelter on a golf course."

When you can't take cover, you can better your chances by taking refuge in a ravine, culvert or ditch — keeping away from pipes and staying alert for flash floods, Heussner says.

When none of this is practical, crouch as low as possible with no part of your body except knees and toes touching the ground. Also remember to avoid tall isolated objects, like a lone tree, staying twice as far away as the tree is high.

Stay away from open doors and windows, fireplaces, radiators, stoves, metal pipes, sinks, bathtubs, shower stalls and plugged-in electrical appliances. Electricity of lethal strength can enter a home not only by a direct strike, but also by a side flash from another object like a tree, and through pipe lines and wiring.

"Unfortunately, when someone is struck by lightning, bystanders often don't know what to do," remarks the specialist. "Others won't touch the victim for fear he is still electrically charged."

But a lightning victim can be safely touched, and often revived by mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, Heussner says.

Adults who work outdoors or enjoy outdoor sports may have a healthy respect for lightning, but children are often unaware of its danger. The specialist recommends that parents review lightning safety precautions with their youngsters along with safe bicycling and swimming rules for the summer.

Sales tax payments up in city of Bandera

Sales tax collections in the city of Bandera are 12.4 percent higher than they were at the same time last year, figures from the state comptroller's office show.

Sales taxes collected in area cities compared to last year include Helotes up 79.0 percent, Blanco down 12.4 percent, New Braunfels up 17.1 percent, Fredericksburg up 22.9 percent, Boerne up 18.3 percent, Kerrville up 10.1 percent, Ingram up 7.3 percent, Hondo up 9.6 percent, Castroville up 18.1 percent, Uvalde up 18.3 percent.

The city has received $33,159 as its share of the sales taxes collected in the city since Jan. 1, the comptroller said. Last year at this time the city had received $29,504.

These are the five remaining contestants. Last week we introduced you to the other six. These are Debbi Hay, 15, daughter of Frank and Jean Hay; Tammy Ott, 17, daughter of Gene and Barbara Ott; Robin Peck, 15, daughter of Peggy and Jud Ashmore; Dawna Borchers, 15, daughter of Bea Borchers and the late Raymond Borchers; and Jill MacMillan, 17, daughter of Jim and Lila MacMillan.

Navy Seaman Recruit Leroy Lewis, whose wife, Susan, is the daughter of Dorothy and Bill Sutton Jr. of Lakehills, has completed recruit training at Navy Recruit Training Command, Navy Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

During Lewis's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Lewis's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in physical education and hygiene.

Post Office is accepting bids for contract for mail delivery

Pipe Creek postmaster Carmen Haynes announced this week that the postal service in Dallas will be accepting bids for Highway Contract delivery for routes three and four in the Lakehills area.

For more information and copies of the solicitation contact, Carmen Haynes at Pipe Creek Post Office. The bids will have to be sealed and will go to Dallas for opening and review.

NIOL Sunday at Civic Center

Members of the Sesquicentennial Association of Lakehills have been like bees in and out of their hive, at the Civic Center all week. Preparations are well underway for the long awaited gala this Sunday. "Night in Old Lakehills promises to be entertainment at its best," says spokeswoman Peggy Ashmore.

The fun begins at one o'clock with the Fire on the Mountain Cloggers performing in the center, to real blue grass music. Thousand Trails is sponsoring the group. They'll be followed by the Cowboy Capital Square Dancers and then the round dancers demonstration.

At five the auction starts. There'll be chickens, rabbits, a goat, and lots of unique items that won't require feed and water.

The Miss Lakehills Pageant will be front stage at 6 p.m. Eleven of the prettiest girls in Lakehills will be introduced, and they'll parade down the carpet for everyone to get a close look, at before the winner and runnersup are announced. All the judges are from out of town. At the magic moment Clif Waterman will have the honor of announcing the winner and runnersup. Miss Lakehills will be representing Lakehills for the next year. She will make appearances at all the local functions as well as participate in parades and special events in surrounding counties.

All afternoon you can enjoy your favorite foods, hamburgers, seafood, sausage on a stick, barbecue on a bun, hot dogs, fajitas, nachos and tamales, and lots of sweet treats baked by Lakehills finest cooks.

To keep everyone entertained throughout the afternoon there will be lots of arts and craft booths, a cake walk, oil paintings on display, clowns and balloons, T-shirt booths, caps, and sign booths, flea markets, beauty boutiques, dart throw, a satellite antenna demonstration, jewelry, and plant booths. There will be a photo display. Yours truly will be a roving photographer, ready to take pictures of your favorite booth, person, grandchildren, beauty contestants, or whatever you want captured on film.

Crafty Ladies celebrate

The Crafty Ladies arts and craft group took off for San Antonio last week.

Their mission was to celebrate four April birthdays. Members honored with a luncheon at the Four Seas Chinese Restaurant were Dixie Dolan, Johnnie Nordlund, Virginia Davenport, and Shirley Grime.

The group meets each Thursday at the American Legion Post for a covered dish lunch and enjoy working on art and craft projects.

Youth plan car wash

The United Methodist Youth of Lakehills United Methodist Church is planning another car wash on May 26 at the Heisler Center in Lakehills.

'Coping with Burglary' talk topic

Members of the Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons enjoyed a program on "What can be done to cope with burglary of the home," presented by Deputy Bob Hines of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department.

Spokeswoman June Settlemeyer said the 29 members present at the April meeting enjoyed the presentation.

Mr. and Mrs. W.G. East were welcomed as the newest members of the organization. The Medina Lake Chapter now has 77 members.

Clarence Hosmer reported the Community Council of South Central Texas distributed government surplus butter, cheese, bread, and rice to 94 members of the community in April.

Youths invited to rally

A United Methodist Church district Confirmation Rally will be held May 11 in Fredericksburg.

The Rev. Joyce Slade of the Lakehills United Methodist Church is teaching confirmation class in Lakehills each Sunday at 4 p.m. at the church. The group will have a business meeting on May 12 to plan further activities.

Youths in grades 7 to 12 are invited to participate and join in the fun and learning experience, says spokeswoman June Settlemeyer.

Rummage sale canceled

The Rummage Sale scheduled for Saturday, May 4, at Faith Chapel has been canceled. A spokeswoman said at the time they set the date they didn't realize it was the same weekend as the Night in Old Lakehills celebration. She said they will reschedule it for a later weekend.

MLVFD sold all 1550 lbs.

By 5 p.m. Sunday afternoon the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department had sold out of the 1,550 pounds of beef brisket, 200 pounds of pinto beans, and 400 pounds of potato salad the firemen and auxiliary members had prepared for their two-day fundraiser.

In addition to the barbecue dinners, there were over 100 baked items donated by the ladies of the community.

Barbecue time always means a good time to most folks. Among the over 50 volunteers donating their time and labor was Louise Marmon. Louise moved from Lakehills about a year ago. She lives in San Antonio and hasn't been back to the lake to visit much. Saturday morning, there was Louise, one of the first at the firehouse ready to serve. She worked both days. Said she just wouldn't know how to act, if she missed one of the barbecues.

The firehouse has been raising funds with the semiannual barbecues for almost 25 years, and Louise and many of the volunteers seen serving and preparing the meat have had their place in line since the beginning.

Mills to be honored at reception

Friends will honor retired Rev. and Mrs. Bartlett Mills with a reception on Sunday May 5 at the home of Hop and Reet Campbell on Bear Springs Road from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Everyone in the community is invited.

The Rev. Mills retired in March after serving seven years as pastor of the Pipe Creek Baptist Church.

Hosting the reception along with the Campbells will be Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Landrum, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Gruben, Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Flowers, and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tidmord.

Anyone needing directions may contact Campbell at 535-4189.

Privilege Creek has a landmark

"Just because Privilege Creek doesn't have a post office or a school doesn't mean that it is not a community in Bandera County with a long and interesting history," said Mrs. A.B. Lewis, who does not live in Privilege Creek but as a school teacher has taught many of the children of that area.

Polly's Chapel, was the location Sunday afternoon for the first of the spring and summer series of fourth Sunday preaching services under the direction of the Rio Grande Conference of the United Methodist Church.

The stone church was built in 1882 and has served as a gathering place for many years, and it is the only spot in that area with a historic marker.

People from Privilege Creek, Bandera, San Antonio and Lakehills were present Sunday at this first meeting of the summer season.

Bryan Albert Marks was born April 8 at Humana Women's Hospital in San Antonio. He weighed eight pounds four ounces. The proud parents are Skip and Darlene Marks. Bryan received a big welcome into the Marks family from his five year old brother Paul.

Fine Arts Night

A Fine Arts Night will be held at the Junior High School in Bandera Tuesday, May 7, at 7 p.m. in the junior high gym.

Spokeswoman Jodi Holen says the event will include the sixth and seventh grade band, UIL Literary event winners, a play by the speech class, and a display by the art classes.

Refreshments will be served and the public is encouraged to attend.

Espinosa promoted

Freddie V. Espinosa, son of Rudy and Margarita Espinosa of Bandera, has been promoted to the rank of lance corporal in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Espinosa is serving at Marine Corp Air Ground Combat Center, Twenty-nine Palms, Calif.

Around The Lake

By Lila MacMillan

Mico will be the setting for the big Chili cookoff on May 4 at the Cedar Point Landing by the dam. All proceeds will go to the Mico Volunteer Fire Department. The fun begins at noon. The cookoff will be from noon to five. There's only a $5 entry fee and all entries must be in by noon. From 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. the Ace Tones will be playing for your dancing pleasure at the Cedar Point Landing. There will be trophies and ribbons for the winners.

Gene and Barbara Ott have planned a chili cookoff at their store on May 11 in Lakehills. It will benefit the widow of Michael Hoover. He was killed in a car accident recently on Highway 46 in Kendall County. He was a resident of Boerne, but delivered to the stores around the lake.

With all the recent thunderstorms enough rain has fallen to keep the lake on the upward climb. It's now less than 28 feet from the spillway. There was a lot of heavy rain in the watershed above Medina Tuesday night. It will take a few days for it to make its way into the lake, but we know it'll help.

The barbecue at the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department was very successful, the next one will be in Mico on May 18 and also Pipe Creek on May 18 and 19. Isn't it great how everyone supports the barbecues every year. A lot of familiar faces from Bandera, Pipe Creek, and Mico turned up in Lakehills over the weekend. Yet, when I went to Bandera to the grand opening for the Silver Sage Corral, there were familiar faces there from Lakehills.

A 99-pound blue catfish taken from a Lake Conroe trotline on March 3 is a new state record, exceeding the former record for the species by almost 10 pounds.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said Raymond Lynch of Conroe and his two sons Raymond, 13 and Jessee, 8, pulled in the big catfish which had taken a minnow-baited hook.

The fish was 55½ inches long and 28 inches in girth. It sets a new record in the unrestricted division of the state records, which is reserved for fish caught by legal means other than rod and reel.

The former record blue catfish, also caught at Lake Conroe, weighed 89 pounds, eight ounces. It was taken almost exactly a year ago in February, 1984.

Mail Box Improvement Week

Carmen Haynes, postmaster of the Pipe Creek post office, said the week of May 20 through May 25 has been designated as "Mailbox Improvement Week" by the national postal system.

The purpose of the special week is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect mail from the weather and are neat in appearance, conveniently located and safe to use, she said.

Mailboxes that are neat and attractive in appearance enhance the countryside and streets in suburban areas, Haynes pointed out.

She suggests residents on delivery routes check weeds and brush which may have grown up along side their box posts, and trim them if necessary. Boxes should be checked and repairs made if they are bent or have sharp edges protruding that might cause injury to anyone putting mail into them or taking mail out.

Spring always brings insects, she reminds, and boxes should be checked for ants and wasp nests.

GOP barbecue deadline nears

A Wild West Barbecue sponsored by Kendall County Republican Women will be held at 5 p.m., Saturday, May 11, at the Stringfellow Ranch on Ranger Creek Road off I-10 in Boerne.

The cost is $10 per person, and the deadline for reservations is Monday, May 6.

Medina County commissioner resigns

Larry Haby, former mayor of Castroville, was sworn in Monday to fill the remainder of Leon Tschirhart's term as commissioner of Medina County precinct 2. Tschirhart pleaded no contest on April 24 to one count of official misconduct in connection with funds he received from garbage contracts with the cities of Castroville and LaCoste.

In a plea bargaining arrangement between Tschirhart's attorneys and Medina County attorney Hunter Schuehle, it was agreed that the commissioner would receive adjudicated probation, but District Judge Joe E. Briscoe said he would not agree to that.

The commissioner was fined $1,000, given a one-year probated sentence, required to make restitution of $15,197.74 and removed from office in the proceedings before Judge Briscoe.

The judge said there was no official finding of guilt with adjudicated probation on a no contest plea. Originally Briscoe fined Tschirhart $2,000, but reduced the amount after hearing arguments from the defendant's attorneys, Watt Murrah and Tony Hackebeil.

Haby, the new appointee, was offered the post by Medina County Judge Jerome Decker on Friday. Decker said "he was truly the first name that came to mind." Haby served as mayor of Castroville in 1974. The offer was made after Decker polled area residents about Haby's qualifications.

Although Haby resides in Castroville, he told the Bulletin "I have strong ties in Rio Medina." His family has been on the same homestead in the area since 1871. He said he has farming interests in the Rio Medina area now.

He was to tour the roads in precinct two on Wednesday. He said he wants to get familiar with the precinct and see where the boundaries are.

Events leading up to the court action, according to a newspaper report out of Hondo, started in an executive session on April 22 in commissioners court. The session was called to discuss the garbage contract with the city of Castroville.

A contract written in 1975 provided that the county would institute residential and commercial garbage pick-up in the city of Castroville twice a week at a cost of $2.50 per customer with the city retaining 25 cents per customer for the billing services.

In August 1979 another contract was drawn between the city of Castroville and Tschirhart. That contract raised the rate to $3 per customer and increased the service charge to 50 cents. A copy of that contract signed by Leon Tschirhart and Castroville Mayor Richard Burris said 25 cents of the 50 cents would "be paid to Commissioner Leon Tschirhart for managing the garbage department."

In February 1981, the same terms were repeated in a contract in LaCoste which raised the garbage fee from $3 to $3.50 per month. A similar agreement was made in January 1981 in Castroville when the cost went to $3.50 a month.

Following the executive session, the court affirmed the 1975 contract, officially acknowledging that no changes had been made or authorized. According to statements made by the Medina County attorney, state law does not permit a single commissioner to act on behalf of the entire court in such a matter.

Schuehle said Tschirhart was paid by check each month by the cities of Castroville and LaCoste. Tschirhart made restitution for the $15,197 total for the six years.

The commissioner with ten years of service was fingerprinted and photographed at the sheriff's office before his appearance before Judge Briscoe.

The actual complaint filed last week with the county clerk's office also accused Tschirhart of "unauthorized sale of gravel from a leased gravel pit (in Castroville), and with surveying a subdivision, under color of his office, that exceeded his official power."

According to Schuehle, the money for the gravel sold from the pit "all went to the county treasurer, as far as I know. There is no provision in the law for the county to sell gravel."

As for the surveying alleged in the complaint, Schuehle said the county paid $1,200 for a surveying bill in a subdivision cul-de-sac, and added that the expenditure was approved by the full court. He said he felt the practice was questionable because the sale of the lots in the subdivision was being

The commissioner was fined $1,000, and required to make restitution of $15,200.

"Almost lyrical..."

The need for water will provide political scraps of next decades

The Medina and its water Conclusion

This feature story, published in the July 26, 1984, issue of the Bandera Bulletin was named the best among those published in all weekly newspapers of The South Texas Press Association.

Said the Trinity University judges: "This feature takes what could be a dull subject and gives it life. The writer handles the language skillfully, producing sharp verbal images. There's an almost lyrical quality to the writing.

"Also to be commended is the extensive research reflected in the story."

This is the second year in a row the Bandera Bulletin has been a STPA winner. Thanks, Tom, and thanks Bandera County for helping us remain a winner.

Prom night: A Success!

By Randy McHaney

"Hold On To Your Dream," was the theme for the 1985 Junior-Senior Prom held April 26, 8 p.m. at the Cabaret.

Burgundy and silver were the colors chosen by the seniors and which decorated the Prom. The junior class decorating committee worked at the Cabaret Thursday night to make it very special the following night. The finished product showed a collage of burgundy balloons, silver and burgundy streamers, and silver stars and chandeliers distributed about the room. The dinner tables were covered with white paper and burgundy bows on the corners with flower arrangements for each table.

As a backdrop for photos the juniors designed a unique setting consisting of burgundy crackle paper behind long silver streamers. Directly in front was a large white, iron heart and an iron chair for couples to have their pictures taken with. The photos were taken by Mr. Jim Evans.

The music was provided by Bobby Jenkins. There was buffet style foods prepared which included such favorites as finger sandwiches, brisket, fruits, carrots and celery sticks, deviled eggs, cake, and punch.

Junior class president Beckie Clements started the Program of Events with the Prom welcome. Next Greg Fest, junior class vice president recognized junior class parents Mrs. Mary Clements, Mrs. Lois Abbott, Mrs. Virginia Cowan, Mrs. Mamie Jo Camp, and Mrs. Mickie Bloxham. A special thanks went to Mrs. Clements, Mrs. Camp, and Mrs. Bloxham for all their support throughout the year.

The evenings festivities started at 8 p.m. with dancing and refreshments until 10 p.m. Then at 10 the presentation of the long awaited senior class rings by Mr. Pfeiffer and Mr. Caloss. Finally came the announcement of senior Beauty and Beast awards. They were as following:

Girls: Most Beautiful — Catherine Carruthers; Cutest and Most Popular — Terri Butler; Most Promising Future, Best All Around, and Most Scholarly — Shannon McMullan; Best Dancer and Biggest Flirt — Shannon Hicks; Wittiest — Tammy Ott; Best Dressed — Kelly Kindla; Most Talented — Nancy Hayes; and Most Athletic — Kellie Clements.

Boys: Most Handsome — Scott Kelly; Cutest — Lonnie Bain; Most Popular — Teddy Popham; Most Promising Future — Bubba Caloss and Shane Yates (tie); Best All Around — Heath Hulse; Most Scholarly and Best Dressed — Shane Yates; Best Dancer — Ron Erlandson; Biggest Wolf — Tim Avallone; and Most Athletic — Gene Mathews.

The couples danced the night away to the music of Bobby Jenkins. The 1985 Junior-Senior Prom was definitely a night to remember. We'll close with a Prom poem to the Senior class from the juniors.

"Another year goes passing by Another Prom is here
To some that brings a precious smile.
To others brings a tear.
For four long years you have tread a path
From dawn to setting sun
But now the path grows steeper
And the climb has just begun.
We're very glad to know you,
We'll miss you when you've gone,
And to the Class of '85
We dedicate our Prom!"

Jr. high cheerleading results

After hours of hard work, practicing jumps and cheers. It was the big day: the day that the junior high girls would go in front of the student body and show them how much spirit they have. Everyone did a great job but the lucky girls this year are:

The new cheerleaders are seventh graders Melissa Bridges and Lacy Fellows and eighth graders Shawna Santos, Patty Kindla, Michelle Williams and Barbara Graham.

Scholarship opportunities

By Kathy Ryan

As everyone knows, furthering an education is becoming very expensive. Every little bit of financial aid does help and thanks to some local organizations, churches, and businesses this aid is available.

Listed below are the many scholarship opportunities offered to the Seniors of 1985:

Bandera County Legal Secretaries Association Scholarship, $300.

Masonic Lodge Scholarship, $500.

Herman Schlemmer A&M Scholarship, $500.

Pipe Creek Community Center Scholarship, $1,000.

First National Bank Scholarship, 3 winners, $350, $250 and $150.

Gill Savings and Loan Association "Points for Scholarship" Award, worth approximately $200.

Joe E. Langford Scholarship, approximately $500.

Doan Foundation Scholarships, two $1,000 and two $700 and $600 divided into several other scholarships.

First Baptist Church Scholarship, no amount listed.

Grace Lutheran ALCW Scholarship, no amount listed.

St. Stanislaus Catholic Church Scholarship, two scholarships worth approximately $500 each.

If any Senior is interested in trying for one of these scholarships contact the High School counselor for requirements.

The Breakfast Club

You've probably seen the movie or heard the song, "Don't You," by Simple Minds, and maybe even heard a few of the other songs on the sound track. But, unless you've heard the whole sound track, you're missing the full effect.

I'll be the first to admit, movie sound tracks are usually the worst, except for one or two songs. This one is truly the exception.

Besides "Don't You," by Simple Minds, this sound track contains some winning songs by Wang Chung ("Fire in the Twilight"), Joyce Kennedy and Karla DeVito, among others.

Besides the great songs by established groups, there are some excellent instrumentals by some talented studio musicians. All these songs contain some fancy electronics sequences, heavy rhythm, and even a headbanger guitar solo.

If you like the move and you like the song "Don't You," look into The Breakfast Club sound track. It is well worth the money.

Yates receives second at state

By Melissa Ross

Senior Shane Yates placed second at the State UIL newswriting competition held in Austin on May 25-27. The top 240 journalists from the state of Texas were competing at this meet.

Shane put forth many long hours of hard work in preparation for this contest. Practice UIL meets began in February, and took place weekly from then on.

Shane placed second at the district meet, allowing him to advance to regionals, where he placed third. The top three contestants then advanced to the state meet.

As a result of Shane placing in the top three at the state level, he is eligible for many scholarships. There are a total of 327 scholarships available to those participating at state.

Shane is involved in many other activities besides UIL at BHS. He is co-editor of Pen In Paw, in NHS, percussion section leader in Band, and district past president of Student Council.

After graduation, Shane plans to attend The University of Texas at Austin. Shane is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wilcox.

"Shane is a very talented writer and student. It has been a real pleasure to work with him this year and watch him go all the way to state," said Mrs. Margie Keese journalism sponsor.

Commissioner resigns

handled by Tschirhart's wife.

In court, Schuehle asked if District Attorney Caddel had been contacted and if he agreed with the plea bargaining arrangement. Schuehle replied that he had, and Judge Briscoe asked if the DA had been consulted on whether "this type case should be submitted to the grand jury." The county attorney replied the DA had been consulted.

The Bulletin contacted D.A. Caddel in his Uvalde office this week and he would not comment on the case.

The judge declined to go along with the request for adjudicated probation. "The sentence I've imposed is a little different from what the attorneys worked out." The judge noted Tschirhart had waived several of his rights in the matter, and said the commissioner's plea of nolo contendre (no contest) gave the court the right to impose sentence up to the maximum set by the law, which include a year's jail sentence, a fine up to $2,000 or both.

Mugrah, one of the defendant's attorneys, said he wished to make an argument to the court regarding the sentence. "This is a case of a dedicated county commissioner with 10 years of service," he said. "He entered a plea to an offense where there was no willful violation and where he is making full restitution. This is the first time in 20 years I've run across a case where the judge changed the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney," the attorney said.

"I respectfully suggest that the penalty of resignation transcends any punishment the law allows. You can see on his face the burden of resignation. I respectfully remind you how courageous Gerald Ford was in his pardon of President Nixon. It's a decision that should not be arrived at quickly or hastily."

Judge Briscoe replied that he had known Tschirhart a long time. "He is a part of my life. It's a sad thing for the people of Medina County."

Tony Hackebeil said he concurred with Murrah's comments. "We can picture Mr. Tschirhart as a victim of his own aggressiveness and attentiveness to the people of his precinct," he said. "The fact that he is before you now is punishment enough."

Briscoe reduced the amount of the fine and said he would allow Tschirhart to withdraw his plea if he wished. The defendant and his attorneys discussed the arrangement for about an hour, then returned to the courtroom and accepted the judgement.

'Will Rogers' USA' set in Kerrville May 6

The name Will Rogers summons up fond memories of a down-home philosopher of humor and a man of common sense and uncommon wisdom.

Professional actor Gene McFall will present his "Will Rogers' USA" at 8 p.m. Monday, May 6, at Schreiner College's Dietert Auditorium. There is no charge for admission. "Will Rogers' USA" is presented by Schreiner College through the Repertory Theater of America.

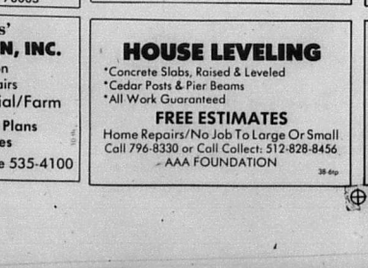

Of Cherokee and Anglo ancestry, Rogers began his show business career as a trick roper. He then added comments and observations about daily events and people in the news. He became a top box office draw in motion pictures by 1934. He wrote a syndicated daily newspaper column for more than 500 newspapers, had a weekly radio show, published 20 books and was a regular on the lecture circuit.

His great joy was to throw harpoons at pompous persons and institutions in American life, but he did it without malice or bitterness.

Will Rogers is, indeed, alive and well and lives in each performance by Gene McFall. This heart-warming one-man performance is two hours of Americana at its finest. McFall's credits include more than 2,000 live theater performances. He has appeared in such television shows as "All In The Family," "Benson," and "Archie Bunker's Place." He has appeared with such stars as Robert DiNero, Michael Caine, Richard Basehart, E.G. Marshall and Lucy Arnez.

Known for such remarks as "My little jokes don't hurt nobody, but when Congress makes a joke, it's a law," and "Politics ain't worrying this country one-tenth as much as a parking space," Will Rogers and friend Wylie Post died in an airplane crash in 1935.

No one will be seated after 8 p.m. No reservations are necessary.

Zoe Hosmer of Pipe Creek was selected as artist of the month of May. She does mostly oil painting. Her work will be on display during the Funtier Days. She also enjoys golfing and square dancing.

Former Banderan joins husband for vacation in Korea

A tour of one of the world's oldest civilizations and a chance to visit with the family now stationed on the Korean peninsula combined to make an ideal vacation for a former Bandera family who took part in the Reunion in Korea program, sponsored by the Korea National Tourism Corporation (KNTC).

Evelyn S. Schmidtke, now of Hawaii joined her husband, Petty Officer First Class William L. Schmidtke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie W. Schmidtke of Bandera. He is serving with U.S. Naval Forces in Korea (ROK).

They were welcomed by top U.S. Forces in Korea (USFK) officials who briefed the group on the U.S. role in Korea.

Reunion in Korea was established in 1981 in recognition of the centennial of diplomatic relations between the U.S. and the ROK. The program enables family members of U.S. Military and Civilian personnel to visit Korea at special group rates. The package includes round-trip air fare, hotel accomodations and all meals and tours affordably priced for the servicemembers' families.

U.S. representatives accompanied the reunion group on tours of the United Nations Command Joint Security Area at Panmunjom on Korea's Demilitarized Zone, the ancient Changduk Palace in Seoul, Bulkuska Temple and the National Museum in Kyongju, the ancient capital of Korea's Shilla Dynasty.

Tour members also had the opportunity to visit the Korean Folk Village in Suwon. Like a living museum, the Folk Village includes reproducitons of traditional Korean houses, complete with villagers actually practicing the ancient crafts and demonstrating the old ways of life.

In contrast, the group was given a tour of the massive Hyundai shipyard in Ulsan where modern craftsmen work in heavy industry.

Throughout the visit participants stayed at first class hotels and were given the opportunity to dine on traditional Korean foods and be entertained by top Korean musicians and dancers.

Rummage sale set for Friday

The Women's Guild of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church in Bandera will open the doors to its rummage sale building at the rear of the church on Friday to sell the stock on hand at sell-out prices.

"In the future the store will sell better quality items and special products such as homemade jams, jellies and pickles," said Lois Beschle, Women's Guild president.

A boy for the Holbys

Derek Russell Holby was born April 24 in Methodist Hospital in San Antonio. His parents are Brenda and Russell Holby of Bandera. He weighed seven pounds. He is the first child for the Holbys.

Maternal grandparents are Jerry and Wanda Stratton of Bandera and the paternal grandparents are Richard and Marilyn Holby of Sugarland.

Cards of thanks

Thank you

A big thank you to all the ladies that helped with the Spring Barbecue at the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department last weekend. We couldn't have done it without you. A special thanks to all of you that brought baked goods for the bake sale. We received over a hundred items.

Card of thanks

Sincere thanks to my relatives, friends, and neighbors for their help, phone calls, and concern during and after my stay in Baptist Memorial Hospital. Special thanks to Dr. Braverman and the nursing staff for their services and care. May God bless each and everyone.

Arina M. Bramer

Thank you

We wish our friends to know how much we appreciate all the kindnesses shown to our family in our time of sorrow. Thank you all for the many things which you did for us. We especially wish to thank all the ladies who prepared and served the meal to our family on the day of the funeral. God bless you all.

Sincerely,

Thank you

We would like to thank each of you personally, but because there are so many of you it is difficult to do so. We therefore are taking advantage of the paper to thank everyone who called, visited, sent food, letters, and prayers during our time of need. May God richly bless each of you as you have blessed us during this time.

With much gratitude,
Bruce & Nancy Ibach

Many stars to return for Quiet Valley fest

While a number of newcomers are added to the roster of the Kerrville Folk Festival every year (ten first timers are playing in 1985 including Peter Paul & Mary), it is the family of original performers and old favorites who give the festival its warm and familiar feeling.

The 11 day festival is in its fourteenth year and runs May 23-June 2 at Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch north of Medina, presented this year in association with "Texas Monthly". During the nine nights of concerts, 63 performers will play for an hour or so on the outdoor theater stage and more than 50 of them have been there before and will play to large loyal followings.

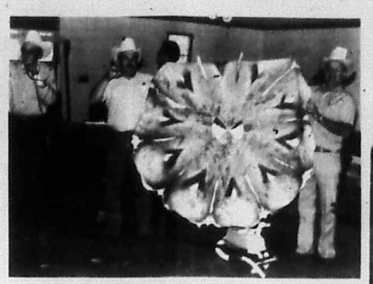

Original artists returning this year who played the 1972 festival in the beginning include Carolyn Hester, Allen Damron, Bill & Bonnie Hearne, Bobby Bridger, Gary P. Nunn, Bill Oliver, Robert Shaw, Peter Yarrow, Kurt Van Sickle, Ray Wylie Hubbard and Rv. Charlie Sumners, Jr.

Those joining the festival early in the '70's after the first year who are returning this year include Jerry Jeff Walker, Townes Van Zandt, Shake Russell, Rusty Wier, Nanci Griffith, Guy Clark, Marcia Ball, Lindsay Haisley and Butch Hancock.

Among others in the star-studded roster who are returning by popular demand are David Amram, Bob Gibson, Dee Moeller, Peter Rowan, Tom Paxton, Riders in the Sky, and Billie Joe Shaver.

There are many more, of course, without counting the 40 New Folk finalists who play on two two-hour daytime concerts the first weekend, and the sum of it all at the end of the eleven-days in the beautiful hills South of Kerrville is a refreshing and memorable experience for every member of the family.

Those purchasing tickets for three or more days camp free and about 2000 fans take advantage of this cook-out, camp-out, sing-out at mo-song where singing around the campfires has become a ten year tradition.

The bidding was wild Saturday at the annual fund-raising auction of the Bandera Optimist Club. Auctioneer Joe Walters, left, does his thing as Buddy Thompson, center, and Al Heep hold an exotic animal skin rug donated by Ken Whitewood.

Barbara LeStourgeon presented Bungy Grant with a certificate of appreciation from the Bandera County Child Services Board. Grant was honored for her outstanding service to the children of the area.

Hospice aids the grieving

"Good Grief" is the title of a booklet which talks about the grieving we all go through when we lose someone close.

The feeling of grief is very normal and one we experience frequently in our lives whenever we lose someone or something significant and important to us. Good grieving, according to Merle Funk, of Kerrville's Heart of the Hills Hospice, occurs when we are able to express our grief openly, recognize the value of our loss, and feel good aobut having had the relationship.

Generally, in order to process the grief we feel when we lose a loved one, we need to accomplish four tasks: (1) experience the shock and numbnes when a death occurs, (2) express our feelings of hurt, disappointment, anger, loneliness; (3) adjust to an environment without the loved one's presence; and (4) re-invest our energies and interest in living the life we have left.

The only way not to grieve is not to have any significant relationships; for we take the risk of grieving whenever we become attached to another. The closer the relationship, the more difficult the grieving will be. "When I see someone grieving, and hurt, I can tell how close and significant the relationship has been by the intensity of the grieving", stated Funk, "but I can also tell how blessed the person was to have had that special, meaningful relationship in the first place."

Heart of the Hills Hospice, a new program in the Kerrville area, deals frequently with grief as services are provided to terminally ill patients and their families. For more information or for a speaker, contact the Hospice Office at 1600 Broadway or call 896-7770.

Model measures impact of industry on towns

What are the pros and cons of a new industry coming to a small town in Texas?

For many small towns, a new industry might be a "shot in the arm" — just the thing to keep it "alive." But a new industry also can bring a lot of change to a small town and can put undue pressure on existing systems, such as schools, utilities and traffic.

Just what effects a new industry would have on a small Texas town need not be left to chance, however. The expected scenario can be reviewed in advance through a computerized decision-aid developed by the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and Texas Agricultural Extension Service, both agencies of The Texas A&M University System.

Called an Industrial Impact Model, the decision-aid measures the expected fiscal impacts when a new industry is established in a local community, points out Dr. Michael D. Woods, community services specialist with the Extension Service.

"IIM is a general representation of the economic structure of a community," explains the specialist. "Sources of change are introduced and analyzed within the model to calculate the impacts on major segments of the local economy."

According to Woods, the model predicts the economic impact on the private, municipal, school district and county sectors that may be expected during the first year of the new industrial plant's operation. Expected revenues and costs are considered in the model analysis.

Woods points out that industrial development committees and local governments in several Texas communities recently have used the IIM model to determine what impact a new or expanding industry might have. These were Bonham, Brownwood, Gainesville, San Saba and San Benito.

Local governments or industrial development committees interested in using this computerized model to analyze the impact of new industry may write Woods at Room 12, Agriculture Bldg., Texas A&M University, College Station, TX 77843, or call 409/845-4445.

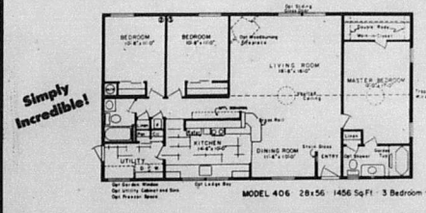

Gene Laue and Tony Kruse of the Medina Lake Shrine Club will join Shriners from Bandera May 4 to kick off the annual fund drive for the Shriners Hospitals. The Shriners will be collecting in Bandera and Lakehills Saturday.

Senior leaguers to honor the late M.R. Sandidge

The Bandera County Senior League Baseball will honor the late M.R. Sandidge of Bandera Saturday, May 4, by holding M.R. Sandidge Day in conjunction with the season's opening baseball game.

"M.R. Sandidge did a lot for Bandera County Little League," said Barbara LeStourgeon, a Little League district official. "We realize that he will not be able to be with us, but we know he will be in spirit."

Sandidge, a Tarpley-area rancher for 27 years, died March 17 at 74 years of age.

The tribute will be paid during the season's opening game between two Bandera senior league teams, the Indians and the A's.

To add spice to the game's rivalry, the managers for the two teams have agreed that the losing manager will cut his hair short and shave his beard and mustache.

Bulldogs lose sixth in district baseball

The struggling Bulldog nine suffered their sixth straight district loss Tuesday in a 17-10 slugfest at Floresville in a game with plenty of hits, runs and errors.

The 'Dogs are now 0-6 and the league-leading Tigers 6-0 in district play.

By the middle of the sixth inning, Bandera had fought to a 9-7 lead when the bottom dropped out. Floresville banged six hits, including a homerun, and took advantage of three errors and three walks to plaster 10 more runs on the scoreboard.

The game 'Dogs scratched out one more run in the seventh before finally bowing to the Tigers.

Chuck Tondre, pitching his first game for the Bulldogs, was relieved in the sixth frame by Mike Cardenas.

Bandera's nine hits included a homerun by Kevin Parker, his third of the season. The 'Dogs matched their hits with nine errors, a season high.

Floresville had 12 hits and two errors.

Bulldog hits, in addition to Parker's homerun, included a triple by Tondre, a double and single by Bruce McMeans, a double by Jimmy Sides, and singles by Billy Morris, Jeff Speckman, Cardenas and Parker.

The 'Dogs meet Smithson Valley Friday at 4:15 p.m. at Mansfield Park.

Boerne Historical Tour slated for May 5

The fourth annual Boerne Historical Tour will be held Sunday, May 5, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Tours of homes over 100 years old will be featured. A collector's brochure with original sketches of each home by a local artist and dedicated member of the society, retired Col. Bettie Edmonds will be given each person purchasing a ticket.

A map and description of the homes will be included for the price of a $5 advance sale ticket or $6 the day of the tour.

AACOG to coordinate health planning for state

The Alamo Area Council of Governments has been designated by Texas Gov. Mark White as one of 24 statewide health planning coordinators, but no representatives from Bandera County were appointed to its Health and Human Services and advisory group.

The purpose of the advisory committee is to identify and analyze local and regional health service problems; assess local and regional health services and review profiles of regional health services; identify gaps in service and prioritize needs as well as propose necessary local, regional, state and federal programming changes.

Barbara Hawkins

Senior Barbara Hawkins plans to attend The University of Texas at Austin this fall and major in photography.

Photography is one of Barbara's special interests and she also enjoys playing the electric guitar, Julian Lennon, the Salvation Army and life in general.

During her five years in Medina, Barbara has been in basketball, track, soccer and LaCrosse. She has been a member of Beta Club, Who's Who in American High School Students, FHA, drama and Spanish and Princess of Homecoming.

According to Barbara she was "almost vice president."

Barbara is the daughter of Mrs. Beth Hawkins.

Mark Heinen

Mark Heinen is the son of Chester Jefferson Heinen and Maxine Thompson Adams and he has attended Medina High for four years.

Mark has been a member of journalism and FFA clubs, and he was sophomore class parliamentarian.

After graduation Mark says he is joining the U.S. Marine Corps.

Donna G. Reyes

Donna G. Reyes plans to attend Abilene Christian University in Abilene for two years after graduation, hopefully to major in child psychology or cosmotology.

Donna is the daughter of Bonnie Canfied and her guardians are Mr. and Mrs. Gary Denson.

Donna has been an executive officer in FFA, and 4-H Delegate and a member of Beta Club. Donna has played basketball and ran track for two years. She holds both first and second place medals in track.

Donna says she enjoys working with children and church and school activities.

Founders Day set in Fredericksburg

Founders Day-1985 on May 4 is an annual event to observe the founding of Fredericksburg on May 8, 1846.

The event is sponsored by the Gillespie County Historical Society and includes music, song, food, beergarden, working pioneer exhibits and pilgrimage of homes. The event begins at 10 a.m. and ends at dusk.

Museum trip to Wimberley

The San Antonio Museum "Un-School" Saturday, May 4, will conduct an excursion to "market day in the Hill Country" at Wimberley.

Led by Ed Hepner, museum preparator, local cabinetmaker and furniture restorer, the day trip, entitled "Texas Treasure — Wimberley Market Day," will begin at 7:30 a.m. with a bus trip to Wimberley for a fascinating look at a Hill Country market.

Texas furniture and pottery, paintings and vintage clothing can all be found at this important regional market.

Goat roping rodeo in San Angelo June 7

The San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo Association annually hosts a rodeo in March as well as the nation's biggest, most prestegious and highly successful match-calf roping, invitational calf roping and steer roping in November. The association is adding a third major event to its annual calendar in 1985.

A world championship goat roping contest will be held June 7 and 8 in San Angelo, the San Angelo Stock Show and Rodeo Association has announced.

Judge steps down in spillway case

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The judge scheduled to hear a seven-year-old case over the closing to traffic of a public road over the Medina Lake dam has stepped down because he was once consulted by one side in the suit.

At the same time one party in the case, a group of Medina Lake property-owners, charged that the other side was attempting to try the case in the newspapers and that it was guilty of attempting "to find a friendly judge."

District Judge Mickey Pennington of Uvalde told the Bulletin Wednesday he "recused" himself from presiding in the case because he was consulted, "not hired," by one of the parties in the suit as a practicing attorney before he became district judge.

He would not identify which side had consulted with him, but Gene Boyd, president of the Medina Lake Protection Association, said his group never talked to Pennington.

Judge Pennington explained that "recused" was a legal term that has a different connotation than "disqualifying oneself." He said the law required judges to disqualify themselves when they have a close or financial interest in the case in question. It also allows a judge to "recuse" themselves when there is a minor relationship.

"In this case," Judge Pennington said, "I had facts in the case, and I felt that in the best interest of all parties I should not put myself in a position where it might appear that I favored one side or the other."

A court clerk said Pennington's decision to step down from the bench was made more than a month ago.

He said the trial will probably be scheduled for the second week in June with Judge Benjamine Martinez of the 293rd Judicial District (Maverick, Zavala and Dimmit counties) presiding.

Boyd charged in response to a statement from several irrigators that the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District No. 1 (BMA) was trying to influence the outcome of the trial by "attempting to try it in the newspapers instead of the courtroom."

He said their release last week contained nothing new and was timed to be published prior to last Friday's scheduled court hearing. It "is nothing but a thinly veiled attempt to illegally and unethically influence the outcome of a lawsuit," Boyd charged in a letter that also contained the names of the other directors of MLPA.

The suit is over the closing of a road over the Medina Lake dam and spillway to traffic. The MLPA charges that the roadway had become a public road by virtue of its many decades of use by the public, and its closure in 1982 was illegal.

Boyd said a district court has already ruled in the MLPA's favor as has the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, but the BMA continues to press the case by appeals, delays and retrials. The latest retrial was ordered by the Texas Supreme Court, Boyd said.

"It's time for the BMA to quit frittering their members' funds in fighting and re-fighting lost causes," Boyd said.

"It is a suit that is seven years old and has been lost by the BMA in previous trials and appeals," Boyd said. "It will be lost again, despite the BMA's fumbling attempt to use the news media ...and their continuing ill-advised efforts to find a friendly judge."

Boyd also challenged the accuracy of statements made last week by the BMA. "It managed to perpetuate several inaccuracies the BMA has been fostering for years," Boyd said.

As an example, he said, the MLPA had not contributed financially to the construction of a road meant to give residents on the west side of the dam another access to their property.

"The MLPA vociferously opposed that particular by-pass route in Medina County Commissioners Court because it was too steep and therefore dangerous," Boyd said.

He also challenged the BMA's contention that "cars have been swept over the spillway." "They apparently refer to one case in which a car was abandoned on the spillway and then swept over during the night with no one in it," Boyd said.

Boyd did join the BMA in calling for cooperation and more direct communication among the two groups. "It's time for all of us to work together to magnify the many advantages of Lake Medina for the benefit of all," Boyd said.

Pool of human blood found near Highway 173

Medina County Sheriff Alvin Santleben told the Bulletin Wednesday laboratory technicians determined the pool of blood found near an abandoned automobile was human. The vehicle was found locked, with a flat tire, about 12 miles south of Bandera on Texas 173 in Medina County.

A large pool of blood was found near the vehicle.

After the laboratory tests confirmed that the blood was human, Medina authorities requested assistance from the Bandera County Sheriff's Department, the Texas Rangers, Parks and Wildlife Department, Texas Department of Public Safety and other law enforcement agencies in the investigation Tuesday afternoon.

Relatives of the car's owners started checking into the man's whereabouts late Friday evening, the Medina sheriff said he said the automobile had California license plates but was traced to a Rio Grande Valley resident.

Peace Justice Harold P. Herring of Medina County said he issued a search warrant authorizing officers to tow the vehicle to the sheriff's office and further examine the interior of the car.

Sheriff Santleben said the examination of the vehicle revealed no sign of blood. An open pocketknife was found underneath the driver's seat, but it showed no blood, he said.

Santleben said "The car was not there after the blood." He said when the car moved, blood droplets were visible on the pavement where the vehicle had been parked.

The Medina County authorities started searching the area near where the automobile was found Tuesday afternoon, and lawmen from other agencies responded as they were called to assist.

Co-op members to elect new director Saturday

For the second year in a row an incumbent director of the Bandera County Electric Cooperative, Inc., will be ousted at the Co-op's annual membership meeting Saturday.

State Sen. Bill Sims of San Angelo, who represents Bandera County in Austin, will be principle speaker at the meeting. Registration will begin at 9 a.m. and the meeting will be gaveled to order by President Jerry Word of Pipe Creek at 10 a.m.

Joe Snider of Utopia will be elected director representing the Co-op's District 5 Saturday to replace incumbent director J.E. Porter, also of Utopia.

Incumbent directors in District 4, Walter N. Bergmann of Boerne, and District 6, J.A. Bunton Jr. of Leakey, will be re-elected.

The issue of who will be elected was actually settled during district nominating meetings in Boerne, Leakey and Utopia in mid-March. The Co-op's by-laws make it impossible for persons other than those nominated at the district meetings to be elected.

The by-laws also make it difficult to defeat an incumbent at those meetings, and until last year it had never been done. In 1984, however, Dan C. Callahan ousted Werner Lindig at a district nominating meeting in Bandera.

This year 75 persons registered and 74 voted in the election at which Porter was nominated to replace Snider on March 12 in Utopia.

There are nine Co-op directors, and three are elected to three-year terms each year. Other directors are Callahan, Gib Gray of Lakehills, Word, Paul L. Garrison Jr. of Medina, Raymond Hicks of Bandera, and Lawrence S. Goforth of Comfort.

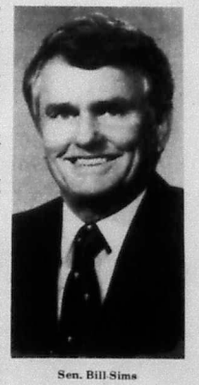

Goforth, Hicks and Gray will be honored for long service on the Co-op's board of directors along with eight employees who will also be recognized for long service.

Chief among them is Marcelino R. Martinez of Bandera, a crew chief, who will be cited for thirty years of continuous employment. Raymond H. Batto Jr. of Bandera, an engineering supervisor, will be recognized for 25 years of employment.

Other employees to be recognized include Jimmy Kinsey of Medina and Curtis W. Wiseman of Comfort, both for 15 years; James R. Wagner of Bandera for 10 years; and Robert D. (Bobby) Waid of Pipe Creek, Mary Jane Davenport of Leakey and Ronald Schindler of Bandera, five years each.

Goforth will be cited for 15 years as a director, Gray for 10 years and Hicks for five. Hicks was one of the founding directors.

Winners of the Co-op sponsored essay contest, who each get a trip to Washington, D.C., for their achievement, will make brief remarks, says Co-op general manager Russ Vander Zee. They are Rebecca Blakemore of Bandera and Greg Bennett of Comfort.

Sen. Bill Sims

Members attending the annual meeting Saturday will also view a film entitled, "Legacy of a Dream," produced by the Texas Electric Co-operatives, Inc.

Reception to honor Dr. Ronald Caloss

Dr. Ronald Caloss, Superintendent of Schools will be honored at a reception given by the Bandera ISD faculty and staff in the First National Bank Community Room on Sunday, May 26, from 3 to 5 p.m.

Dr. Caloss has resigned his position as Superintendent of Bandera ISD and his last day here will be May 31. Everyone is invited to come by and visit before the Baccalaureate service to be held at the high school at 7 p.m.

Here's a man who knows the real secret for success.

Know what happens to things abandoned in a bank's safety deposit box?

No, the banker doesn't keep it.

A relatively new feature of the state's Unclaimed Property Law requires that safe deposit boxes be turned over the the state treasury if the owners of the boxes have failed to pay rent on the boxes and have not contacted the bank for seven years.

They're having an auction of more than 11,000 items from a collection of more than 4,000 unclaimed safe deposit boxes in Austin Saturday and Sunday.

"Some of these boxes have been collecting dust for more than a century," said State Treasurer Ann Richards.

Funds raised go to the Texas Foundation School Fund, which pays for about one-half of the expenses for local schools.

From The Optimist, the magazine of the service club: "If you have to borrow money, borrow from a pessimist. He never expects to get it back."

State Sen. Chet Edwards of Duncanville says Southwestern Bell's recent request for Local Measured Service would triple the average phone bill for Texas housholds.

It would measure the duration, distance and time of day of each local call and bill accordingly—just like long distance.

Edwards has introduced a bill in the Texas Senate prohibiting telephone companies from charging on each local call made.

It has been favorably reported by committee.

Gov. Mark White could have been thinking about the creators of the Silver Sage Corral here in Bandera when he penned these words:

"Our state's over two million older Texans demonstrate the values all Texans hold dear. Independence, pride, self-reliance, compassion, hard work and loving guidance are but a few of the attributes we have grown to expect from this important segment of our population."

And in Washington, D.C., the move to cut cost-of-living increases for social security recipients gets more serious, despite earlier promises.

A graduate-to-be asked a successful man we know to reveal the secret of his success. "There is no secret," said the businessman. "Just jump at your opportunity."

"But," said the youth, "how can I tell when my opportunity is coming?"

"You can't," said the businessman. "You just have to keep jumping."

Opinion

Horse race bill advances in Texas Legislature

The surprising Texas Legislature last week departed its humdrum style and set off on a course of adventure, advancing horse and dog race gambling, alimony, and the Texas Water Plan.

The House of Representatives partially butchered a sacred cow with an overwhelming vote to repeal the Texas blue laws.

Amid the legislative activities, two senators scuffled during a filibuster, a House member went on trial for influence peddling, and rumors circulated that former Democratic congressman Kent Hance would jump political parties to run against Gov. Mark White.

All this from a Legislature some have called boring.

Meanwhile, the Senate Finance Committee approved a $6 increase in the Texas driver's license fee and to tax long distance phone calls within Texas, a measure that would bring more than $42 million to state coffers depleted by the dwindling price of domestic oil.

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Parimutuel gambling

The parimutuel gambling issue, pronounced dead a few weeks ago by the House leadership, was revived by a Senate committee which also approved greyhound racing for Texas.

The Senate version returns the compromises forged in '83 and omitted this session, leading to a stunning defeat in the House earlier this spring.

The bill calls for a November referendum on betting on horse and dog races, with county option elections required later. The state's share, almost $30 million over the next two years, will fund welfare, local parks, agriculture and water assistance.

New alimony

The full Senate voted to bring limited alimony payments to Texas, the only state not allowing such divorce payments.

The proposed law adds a new twist, alimony payments collected by men. Other provisions hold payments at $1500 a month and only in marriages which had lasted 10 years or more and where a hardship is proved.

Except in special cases, the court would presume that alimony could not be ordered for more than three years.

Blue law repeal

Finally, after years of trying, advocates of the Texas blue law repeal won a stunning victory in the House, a 102-40 decision to scrap the ban on selling certain merchandise on consecutive weekend days.

If the House version passes the Senate, the ban would continue only for car dealers.

Proponents argued that today's two-paycheck families needed Sunday shopping time as an alternative.

Filibuster, scuffle

The Gulf shrimping industry won a Senate victory over bay shrimpers, despite a 20-hour filibuster by opponents that collapsed only just before dawn.

The bill tightening regulation of bay shrimpers will probably be known more for the tempers provoked by the filibuster around midnight.

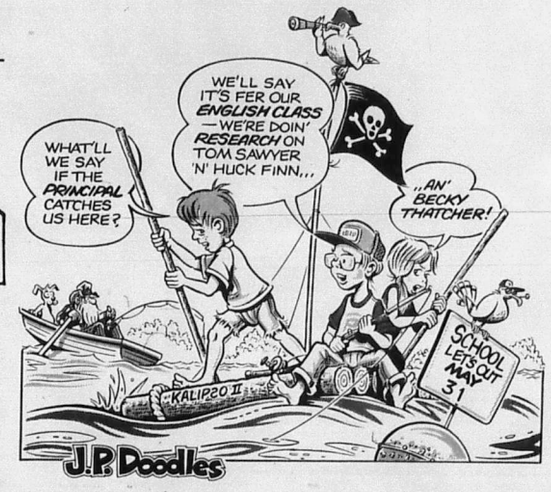

When one of the filibustering senators, Carl Parker of Port Arthur, responded patronizingly to an interruption by Hugh Parmer of Fort Worth, Parmer reacted with a remark alluding to the cocaine and pornography indictments Parker is facing back home in Jefferson County.

Parker invited Parmer to the back hall where the scuffle occurred, reportedly throwing Parmer against the wall and knocking off his glasses. Another senator intervened, and they returned to the chamber, where Parmer apologized on the floor and to Parker personally.

Texas Water Plan

The conference committee reported out its compromise bill on the Texas Water Plan, following assurances that Stacy Dam will be built in West Texas.

The added water from Stacy Dam is an incentive to West Texas legislators to approve coastal water protection.

Good police work

Dear editor:

I wish to thank the Bandera Sheriff's Department and the Bandera Police Department for their prompt action in handling an incident last Sunday night. They had the suspects apprehended almost before I called them. The deputies and city officers that were of such great help were Tim Landrum, S. Joe Rodriguez, Carlos Reyna, James MacMillan and Jimmy DeLesdernier.

Faces of Bandera County

This familiar face is Betty Ruede, the school nurse in Bandera covering all three campuses. She was born in Brownsville and grew up there. She married a Bandera boy 33 years ago and says Bandera is where her heart is. She has been school nurse in Bandera for 15 years. Some of the elementary students coming to her are sons and daughters of students she administered to in earlier years. She always knows just what's needed, sometimes it's an ice pack for a skinned knee or busted lip, a place to rest for a tummy ache or a cool cloth on a fevered brow. But her best medicine is a big hug. It cures aches, pains, bumps, bruises, hurt feelings, and tears faster than anything else in her bag.

Softball added to Funtier Days

Two Funtier Days Softball Tournaments, one for women and another for men, will be held May 25 and 26 as a new feature of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce's annual celebration.

In another change, arts and crafts and food booths and carnival events will be at Mansfield Park both days this year, instead of downtown on Saturday as in years past.

The softball tournaments are being organized and promoted by a three-man promotional firm from San Antonio, Executive Sports. Spokesman Trine Fernandez said special efforts are being made to recruit Hill Country teams as well as San Antonio teams for the tournaments.

Men's teams from Utopia, Castroville and Bandera have already entered, Fernandez said, but the only entrants so far among women's teams are four San Antonio outfits. He said it appeared that no Bandera team will enter the women's division.

Play in the double-elimination tournaments will get under way at the Mansfield Park softball fields at 8 a.m. Saturday, May 25, and continue almost continuously on two fields throughout the day.

Finals in the women's division is expected to be at 4:15 p.m. Sunday, May 26, and the men's finale will be at about 5:15 p.m., Fernandez said.

Most of the familiar Funtier Days events will return for return engagements during the two-day extravaganza, including five- and 10-kilometer runs through the streets of Bandera at 8 a.m. Saturday, river raft races (still tentative) at 9 a.m., and the traditional parade at noon.

In another departure from years past, Bo Chesson will produce a rodeo at the Mansfield Park Arena Saturday at 7:30 p.m.

In addition, the Junior Livestock Show will hold a benefit dance Saturday at 9 p.m. at Mansfield Park. Funds raised at the dance will benefit the proposed showbarn at the park.

Sunday's events will include the softball tournaments and continuing displays of arts and crafts at Mansfield Park as well as various contests, including an old time fiddlers' contest, arm wrestling, ice cream eating competition, and other entertainment.

Softball teams entering the two eight-team tourneys will pay $100 each to Executive Sports who will pay all the expenses of the tournament, including balls, trophies and promotion. The firm will also operate a concession stand at each field, Fernandez said.

Cabaret burglary being probed

Police Chief Walter Welch said a burglary at the Cabaret Dance Hall on April 30 is still under investigation. He said it occurred after 10 p.m. and entry was gained through a window on the north side of the building going into the ladies restroom.

A drawer in a safe was pried open, with minimal damage to the safe, and $50 cash was found missing.

Welch said other than the vandalism and break-ins at the schools, this is probably the first burglary inside the city limits in almost two years.

In a news story in the Bulletin last week it was reported that Bandera policeman Joe MacMillan received minor damage to his patrol car when he tried to stop a man fleeing him. It was not a city police car that received damage, but an estimated $1,100 damage to Bandera County Deputy Bob Hines' patrol car.

When Officer MacMillan realized during the chase that Russell Ellis Pumphrey, 55, of Bandera was not going to pull over, Deputy Tim Landrum joined MacMillan in pursuing Pumphrey. They followed him from Main Street in Bandera, out Highway 173 south, to English Crossing, to FM 1283, where deputies James MacMillan and Bob Hines had set up two separate road blocks to stop Pumphrey.

Pumphrey kept weaving back and forth in front of the officers in pursuit, which prevented them from pulling along side his vehicle or passing him, Officer MacMillan told the Bulletin.

The fugitive went around Hines' roadblock, and Hines joined the chase out Highway 1283 toward Medina Lake, MacMillan said. When Deputy Hines attempted to pass Pumphrey, he was ran off the road. Hines then went in a bar ditch to the right and passed Pumphrey's vehicle. When the deputy slowed down in front, Pumphrey rammed the rear of the passenger side of the county vehicle, MacMillan said.

Pumphrey then lost control of his vehicle and went off the shoulder of the road to the right, shot back across the road and went into a ditch, MacMillan said.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $4,300 on charges of driving while intoxicated, unlawfully carrying a handgun, fleeing a police officer, and damage to a police vehicle. Pumphrey was released the same day after posting bond.

When city policeman Joe MacMillan attempted to stop Wendy Horton Garvin, 30, of San Antonio on a traffic offense April 30, she also tried to flee. MacMillan said he first attempted to pull the woman over on Main Street, and he again caught up with her at Bandera Creek, where she was going in excess of 70 miles per hour.

The officer said he called for assistance from the sheriff's department and assistance was on the way when the woman slowed down to about 45 miles per hour around Privilege Creek, then she accelerated again to speeds in excess of 80 mph. The officer said she pulled over, finally, south of Privilege Creek on Highway 16.

MacMillan said she and a passenger, Delbert W. Allen, 38, also of San Antonio were arrested on charges of public intoxication.

The officer said they found evidence in the car that the woman might have had a handgun on her person. When they reached the jail they requested a female come to the jail to search the woman. When Cheryl Landrum arrived at the jail to conduct the search, Deputy Tim Landrum went to get Garvin from a cell and found she had small cuts on both wrists. EMT Jenny Brient of the Bandera County Emergency Medical Service was called immediately, and he administered first aid to the cuts.

MacMillan said while Landrum was searching Garvin, the woman pulled a razor blade out of her mouth. Later, Deputy Bob Hines found another razor blade in Garvin's cigaret case.

Garvin was released later on April 30 after paying fines of $239 for public intoxication and traffic violations. City Judge Bonnie Towers set the fines.

Cloud seeding under way in area south of county

A cloud seeding project paid for by the city of Corpus Christi and having as its target area an area south and southeast of a line from Hondo to Uvalde began Tuesday.

A similar project targeted north of this area and including Bandera County has been postponed pending a review by the Department of Water Resources. That project is to be paid for by the Edwards Underground Water District in San Antonio.

Radar monitoring stations were set up and operating Monday at Uvalde's airport to begin a hunt for clouds suitable for seeding, according to news reports.

The project was designed to increase the rainfall along the Choke Canyon Reservoir watershed, which include the Frio River and its tributaries, San Miguel and Hondo creeks and the Sabinal River.

Corpus Christi budgeted $200,000 for the project during last year's drought during which mandatory water rationing was instituted in the city.

The Corpus Christi project is being conducted exactly in the same fashion as the one planned for Bandera County will be, if a permit is granted. Twin-engine, propeller aircraft flying at 20,000 to 30,000 feet will fire flares filled with silver iodide ice crystals into likely clouds located by radar.

The EUWD budgeted $400,000 to pay for the project that includes Bandera County, but its manager, Tom Fox, said it probably won't spend that much since its start has been delayed.

Old Time Music Festival

Cliff Maston of Wharton's Dock has sent out invitations to fiddlers in the area to come and participate in an Old-Time Music Festival at his place Saturday, May 11.

Maston says, "The fun will begin at 1 p.m. and everyone is welcome to come, bring their instrument, and bring a chair." He said no alcoholic beverages will be allowed.

"Donations will be accepted for the Bandera County Helping Hand Center," Maston said. There will be no admission fee to the festival. Maston lives on Wharton's Dock Road, two blocks past the washateria.

A Montague grandson

Richard and Katherine Rowley of Cheshie, Conn., are the proud parents of a son, Richard Montague Rowley, born March 31, weighing seven pounds, two ounces.

Bruce Montague of Bandera is the maternal grandfather.

149 cases filed in city court

City Judge Bonnie Towers said there were 149 cases filed in Municipal Court during the month of April. Of these, she said 103 were concluded, four were referred to county court, and one to district court.

Towers broke down the 103 concluded cases as 27 for public intoxication, three for disorderly conduct, 17 speeding, and 56 other violations such as no insurance, expired driver's licenses and shoplifting.

Bandera County 25 years ago

The Charles Lovelace home on the Medina Highway was the center of excitement in May 1960 when a panther was discovered in the yard. The big cat stayed in a tree on the lawn for several minutes. Mrs. Lovelace went for her gun. The shells were old and the gun would not fire. She went to Col. Reeves home across the road for help. The five foot long panther left and had not been found. Mrs. Lovelace speculated it was denned up in the bluffs along the river in Highland Waters.

The May 1960 election results, reflected over 1500 voters. The Bulletin announced there would be a run off election in the precinct 1 commissioner's race between W.B. (Mack) Joiner and W.J. (Willie) Schmidt.

For United States Senator, Bandera County voters chose Lyndon B. Johnson with 1416 and Martin Dies 1. United States Congressman, O.C. Fisher 1445. Governor, Jack Cox 449, Price Daniel 948. County attorney C.L. Patterson 401, Sam Darden 311, Glendon Roberts 784. Sheriff-Tax assessor-collector, R.B. Miller 1121, Troy Pingleton 351, Johnnie Green 55. Commissioner precinct 1, Preston Wedgeworth 161, E.M. Pue 118, W.B. Joiner 261, W.J. Schmidt 257. Constable precinct 1, Warren Hyde 451, Walter Welch 342, Hubert Pierce 1, Roger Stevens 2. Commissioner precinct 3, Sherrill W. Johnson 59, W.H. (Buddy) Hubble 290. Constable precinct 3, Lee Smith 334. Justice of the Peace precinct 2, J.B. Edwards 1, Ben O. Anderson 11.

Miss Loy Ed Johnson, daughter of Edward Johnson of Medina Lake was elected vice president of the Student Education Association in San Antonio. Among her numerous honors she placed second in the "Miss Posture" contest held at Incarnate Word College in which 15 young ladies participated.

American Red Cross Bloodmobile to visit

The mobile bloodmobile of the Central Texas Red Cross Blood Services will visit Bandera from noon until 6 p.m. on Thursday, May 16.

The completely self-sufficient mobile unit will be making its first visit to Bandera and will be stationed on Main Street in the vicinity of the county courthouse.

Previous visits of the bloodmobile that serves residents of Bandera County have been handled by a semi-mobile unit that needed to be unloaded from a truck and set up in another building.

The new unit, containing all necessary stations for a blood donor program, can process approximately 15 donors per hour. The new unit, nicknamed the Bluebird, by its crew has three beds and includes space for reception, registration and recovery.

"The bloodmobile comes to Bandera so that any resident of Bandera will have blood units available should they need them in any emergency. It doesn't make any difference whether the hospital is in Kerrville or San Antonio, the Red Cross will replace the blood units used by any of our area residents," said Mrs. Chandler in urging local citizens to become volunteer donors on Thursday.

The American Red Cross accepts donors between the ages of 18 and 65 years of age, in good health and weighing at least 110 pounds. Mrs. Chandler urged previous donors to respond and pointed out that new donors would also be welcome.

Minneana James from the Frontier Times Museum spent Monday and Tuesday in the history classrooms at Bandera Junior High School. She explains the role museums play in preserving history. She brought many interesting things with her. She encourages all students to visit our museum and get to know the history of Bandera and the surrounding Hill Country.

Helping Hand members to hear Kay Robinson and Jeanne Shinn

Kay Robinson and Jeanne Shinn will be the speakers at the Helping Hand meeting, May 16, at the Bandera First Baptist Church.

Robinson will speak for the Senior Citizens Center and Shinn will explain the services the H.H. center has to offer.

The program is to begin at 7 p.m. and will be followed by the business meeting. Everyone is invited to attend, said Shinn.

Donations to the center were received recently from Jeanetta Mills in honor of Christina Mills and Peter, Pat and Annie Chapman in memory of Faye Jones, Shinn reported.

New hours for the Helping Hand Center are 9 a.m. until 2 p.m., she said.

In April, 50 families received aid in the form of food, clothes, counseling and referrals.

Materials are still needed for the Funtier Days' float, Shinn said. Persons wishing to contribute may call 796-8300. Current items needed by the center include postage stamps, maternity clothes and Pampers, she said.

"The Helping Hand center wishes to thank the Bandera County community for their support of all material and financial help so generously given," Shinn said.

BCACS to meet

The Bandera County American Cancer Society will meet May 13 at the First State Bank community room at 2 p.m.

Spokeswoman Emogene Pawvlik says anyone that hasn't turned in their kits may do so at this time. Also any interested person may join the group.

Cheese, butter to be issued

The Community Council of south Central Texas will be issuing government surplus cheese and butter to income eligible households in Lakehills and Bandera from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Commodities will be issued in Bandera at the First Baptist Church and in Lakehills at the American Legion Hall.

Under guidelines of the Texas Department of Human Resources, recipients will be required to complete an application in order to determine eligibility and must bring proof of income, such as food stamp indentification, Medicaid card, VA identification, or paycheck stubs.

Since the supply is limited, it will be issued on a first come/first serve basis, says spokeswoman Comellia G. Rue.

Shindig scheduled here

The Bandera County Sesquicentennial Association plans to sponsor a barbecue, auction, street dance, and arts and craft show on June 22 to raise funds to make Sesquicentennial improvements in the city of Bandera.

The association will rent booth spaces for $25 to all county-wide organizations, churches, clubs, and individuals who would be interested in raising money for their own interests. Booths will be needed for food, drinks, arts and crafts, games, or whatever the imagination allows, said chairman Carmen Hicks.

A portion of 11th Street near Main's will be roped off for the Shindig and Street Dance. Cal Chapman said Darrell McCall will be at the Carbaret that night and may appear at the function. Carol Adams and Cal Chapman were appointed to gather the music performers.

Richard Thornber will be in charge of forming a committee for gathering auction items needed from the community. Anyone wishing to serve on the committee or willing to donate items for the auction should contact him at 796-3525.

Persons interested in supporting or participating in the celebration should contact Jack Frazier at 796-3429 or Carmen Hicks at 796-4430.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Karen O'Neill, Manager Community Relations

Information Age booms in Texas

You've heard how during the Industrial Age people had a tendency to settle near major waterways and railroad hubs. Well, these days, it seems people are moving to the areas with the most efficient, up-to-date telecommunications systems. We've reached a period of time known as the Information Age.

How does the Information Age affect us as Texans and our working environment? We feel the economy of Texas will be greatly influenced by this revolution in telecommunications technology, possibly much in the same way as it was by the construction of roads and highways. At the core of this revolution in telecommunications, are businesses in Texas that are knowledge-intensive or what's known as high-tech industries.

These industries include businesses such as finance, research, education, medicine, electronic development and other business services. Many of you may have worked for or now work in one of these growing fields. These knowledge-intensive industries require a sophisticated telecommunications network. Just looking at the high-tech industries located in Texas gives you an indication of the telecommunications needs our customers demand.

An investment partnership

As you can probably imagine, keeping service at high levels and meeting customer needs, requires substantial investment. That's why Southwestern Bell Telephone is investing more than $1 billion in Texas this year, the eighth consecutive year our company has invested more than $1 billion in the state.

We want you to know that Southwestern Bell Telephone is committed to Texas and plays an important role in the overall economy of the state. For example, as of the end of 1984, we operated in 450 cities and towns statewide and served more than 80 percent of the state's telephone customers.

At the same time, we had a work force of 34,248, and we paid approximately $680 million in taxes.

Positioning company for the future

The primary reason we make such an investment in Texas is because of customers like yourself who want and expect quality telephone service in Texas.

And as technology changes our environment and lifestyles, it will be even more important to maintain the traditional quality of service. As customers of tomorrow, you will expect things like shopping without leaving home, electronic mail, banking by telephone and a host of other services — some which are not even invented yet.

We at Southwestern Bell Telephone want to be in a position to provide those services. By continuing the investment and community partnership with Texas, the future will be here before you know it.

Four indicted by grand jury in pair of area burglaries

Two Camp Wood men, and a Lakehills man and woman were indicted by the Bandera County grand jury on April 26 for burglary of habitations and three persons were no-billed.

Mark Bryan Rowan and Allen Don Taylor, both of Camp Wood, were indicted on charges stemming from a burglary at the Leslie Evans place on the North Prong above Medina. Automotive parts and tools were reported stolen and a battery was reported missing from a pickup truck.

The two were arrested by sheriff's deputies April 4 and released from custody on April 6 after posting $5,000 bonds each.

Teri McClanahan and Tim Mize of Lakehills were also indicted on burglary of a habitation by the grand jury on charges stemming from a burglary at the residence of Lynn Thompson in Lakehills on or about March 19. They were arrested on March 23 and bonds were set at $5,000 each by Peace Justice Ed Jennings of Precinct 2.

Bobby Chad Turner was no-billed on charges of possession of controlled substance. He was arrested on March 17 by the Sheriff's Department and charged with possession of dangerous drugs. He was released the same day after posting a $2,000 bond.

The grand jury, also, no-billed Robert David Hopper and Phil Watkins on criminal mischief charges.

Bandera County jail administrator James MacMillan reported two men were arrested May 5 on assault charges. Robert James Earles, 20, and Terrance Wayne Sanders, 21, both of Bandera were arrested early Sunday morning after Dean Ellis of Bandera filed charges against the two men for assaulting him.

MacMillan said Ellis called the sheriff's department and reported the two men had been waiting for him to drive home after getting off work in Bandera about midnight Sunday. He reported the men used a red and blue flashing light very similiar to those used by law officers in the Bandera area.

When he saw the lights flashing, he pulled off the road and the two men approached him. He recognized one of them before they started beating him around the face and broke his glasses.

He drove home and called the sheriff's department, and the two men were located at a bar on Main Street.

Both men pleaded guilty before Peace Justice Bonnie Towers and paid $221.50 each in fines on simple assault charges.

Three burglaries were reported in the county during the past week, according to MacMillan. The Garland Tschirhart residence on Sunset Drive in Lakehills was broken into and a television, radio, fishing equipment and shotgun were reported missing on May 6. Entry to the home was gained by someone busting the hinges on a door. Missing items were valued at $800.

MacMillan said the H.B. Leesene home, near the Tschirhart home in Lakehills, was also broken into. Someone cut through a chain-link fence, and pried open a back door. A microwave oven and a television set were reported missing on May 2. A value of $900 was placed on the property stolen.

Frank Gacconet of the Bandera Pass subdivision off Highway 173 north reported someone broke a glass in a door to gain entry in his home on April 28. A value of $490 was placed on a portable television set and a stereo radio that was stolen.

Deputy MacMillan reported $3,038 was paid by other law enforcement agencies to Bandera County for housing prisoners from outside the area. The money goes into the Bandera County general fund.

Summer term applications due now at Schreiner College

Schreiner College offers the public a tempting variety of summer classes in 15 subject areas, according to Karen Desmond, director of admissions.

"Students of all ages seeking an enriching summer will be interested in our summer term. Applications are being accepted now with summer registration June 3 in the Murray Building," says Desmond.

Summer term classes begin June 4 and end July 12. Hill Country Tuition Grants are available. These grants help reduce the tuition to area students at Schreiner.

Summer courses include art, business administration, business data systems, education, English, government, health and physical education, U.S. History, math, physical science, psychology, sociology, and Spanish. Most classes meet Monday through Friday.

Prospective students of all ages may contact the Admissions Office at 896-5411 for additional information.

Directory due

The Bandera County Library is currently compiling a directory of all organizations in Bandera County.

Organizations that wish to be listed in the directory, may provide the library with the required information by June 14.

A library spokesman said they need to know the name of the organization, the address and phone number and name of the senior officer or other contact person.

Medina Little Olympics Friday

The Little Olympics at Medina has been held during school hours in the past years, but due to the state-directed regulations for our local schools, it will be conducted in the evening this year.

The Medina PTO will sponsor the Little Olympics — a track meet for students in the first grade through the sixth grade — Friday, May 10, at 7 p.m.

Walt and Doris Jeanne Scott drove to Dallas to meet their son and daughter-in-law, Michal and Janet, who had been on a cruise on the Mississippi River.

They came back through Dallas, and all met at the home of Louise Heder. A nice visit and much sightseeing was enjoyed by everyone. Vivian Heder returned to Medina for a visit with the Scotts. Michal and Janet are from California.

Mr. and Mrs. Archie Gallant went to Dripping Springs Sunday to visit with Rayborn and Ella Calloway. Rayborn is reported to be feeling some better.

Graduation

Evelyn Melissa Huie received a bachelor of science degree in agricultural economics from Texas A&M University at graduation exercises attended by her family, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Huie, Jack and Letitia, and her grandmother, Mrs. F.M. Huie on Friday, May 3.

Melissa, a distinguished student was president of the collegiate 4-H and vice-president of the Texas Association; a member of the Agricultural Economics Club; The Aggie Club; Alpha Zeta Honor Fraternity, the Honor Society of Agriculture; and Gamma Sigma Delta.

She was a recipient of scholarships from Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Robert R. Shelton, S.G.B.I., State 4-H, Sante Fe Railroads, and William H. Lehrer.

Huie will continue her studies at Texas A&M for a master of arts degree in agriculture.

Julia Dodson graduated last Sunday from Abilene Christian University with a bachelor's degree in education.

Her major was all levels of physical education.

She was the 1981 Valedictorian of Medina High School.

She is a member of Kappa Delian Shri Sorority and the daughter of Jerry and Diana Dodson.

Fish fry

Morgan and Doris Akins had such good luck on a fishing trip to Toledo Bend a couple of months ago, that they decided they wanted to share a fish fry with friends, which they did Saturday night.

The guests were Royce and Ina Jackson, Bodie and Dutch Hollman, R.L. and Billie Walker, Ellen Walker, Henry and Loma Murphy, E.C. and Geneive Whitehead, Cab and Vicki Cabiness, Naomi Jackson, Bobby Ray Walker, Ward and Elva McCollough, James and Neta Gallant, Tootie Mayfield, Murry and Mary LeStourgeon. Everyone enjoyed themselves.

Birthdays celebrated

William Cole Mayfield's parents, Richard and Kay, held a big celebration for him and their guests Saturday night at their home.

After the delicious meal, they served three freezers of homemade ice cream.

Guests who helped him celebrate, besides his parents and brother Rick, were Mike and Minnie Pember, Shirley and Leela May Kendrick, Bonnie Evans, Gin and Bo all of Bandera, Carl Walker, Lee Roberts of Ingram, Tootie Mayfield, Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Sills, Shana Cloe, and Logan, Chris Keese, Virginia Cowan, Sunshine and Nathan Walker and Willie Pember all of Bandera. Linden and Stella Wheeler. William was so excited he didn't want to go to bed.

Henry and Loma Murphy went to Leon Valley Sunday to help her brother John Austin Smith celebrate his birthday, along with John's wife Thelma and son David.

The Murphys later went on to Devine to visit with Henry's dad and family.

Tornado kills grandmother

Word was received here a week ago by Richard and Jimmie Greenawalt, that Richard's grandmother, Emma Talley, had been killed in a freak tornado at Shep, Tex., which is near Winters.

Her husband Alva, was standing only a few feet away when a tornado dipped down, took the house with her in it, and blew it a distance away.

Mr. Talley was on a little screened porch. He is presently staying with his daughter and her husband in Rockport, recuperating from his injuries.

Their home was the only one hit.

Barbecue celebration

Jim and Sandy Parker had a big barbecue Sunday for several out-of-town relatives and close family members.

Those enjoying the gathering were Bill, sister and Jackie Walters, Tom and Glenda Walters, Tom-Tom and Glenda Kay Walters all of Odessa, Lewis and Betty Bailey of Hondo, Joe Walters of Bandera, his daughter Candy, Robert and T.J. Bailey's daughter and family Pat, Jack, Sean, Shane Britt of New Braunfels, Ava and Nolus Parker, Barbara Walters and daughters Heather and Holly, Jim and Sandy's sons James and Chad.

Bill, Sister and Jackie stayed with Bill's sister Ava and husband Nolus Parker.

Dulce Finney, who resides at Colonial Nursing Home in Kerrville, was over last week visiting with her daughter and husband, Murry and Mary LeStourgeon.

Paul Flowers was up this past week from San Antonio to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ad Flowers. Mrs. Flowers recently had a fall, but she's OK — "just sore and bruised," she said.

Mr. Ira Garrison of Bandera, daughter and husband, Bob and Joyce Storrs, were here Sunday to take Mr. and Mrs. Flowers out for lunch. It was Mrs. Flowers' "Mother's Day Treat," since the Storrs couldn't be here next Sunday.

Mrs. Roy Bonnet's sister, Ruth Dalton of Uvalde, is here visiting her for about two weeks.

Alta Rasco of Van Alstyne visited Mr. and Mrs. Allie Allsup last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Allsup and Juanita Baker went to Dripping Springs Sunday and visited with Rayborn and Ella Calloway and Carl F. Jr. and Sally Wheeler.

Eastern Star meets

Medina Chapter No. 968, Order of The Eastern Star, met Thursday night with Juanita Baker, worthy matron, presiding.

A new U.S. flag presented by U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler and a Texas flag by Gov. Mark White were displayed.

At the conclusion of the business meeting a memorial service was held.

The beautiful song "Sunrise" was sung by Willie Schmidt, the poem "Mother's Patchwork Quilts" was given by Dorothy Wier, and Juanita Baker read a Bible scripture, John 11:20-27.

Happy birthday was sung to those having birthdays in May.

Refreshments were served to 28 members and visitors by the outgoing worthy matron, Juanita Baker, and Worthy Patron Larry and LaNelle Kirk and Royce Baker.

Henry Fisher is a patient in Uvalde Memorial Hospital. He is improving and will possibly come home Tuesday.

Grace Fisher suffered a stroke while on a Caribbean cruise. She is a patient in a hospital in Barbadoes, but is improving at latest report and will soon be able to come home.

Our sympathy is extended to Carol Olsen and family in the loss of her mother in Kerrville.

Ada Lee Chism is a patient in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville. She is reported to be slightly improved.

Claude Hans of Hill Country Divide is a patient in Peterson Hospital and will be starting a series of treatments this week.

The Deacons meeting was held Sunday evening, followed by fellowship supper and worship service.

Saturday, May 18, a reception will be held in honor of the Rev. and Mrs. Lonnie Webb, who will be moving to Bryan where their daughter lives.

Everyone is thankful for their many years of serving our church and community and the many contributions made.

Short visitors

Visitors of Les, Rachel and Bill Short the past week include Wiley and Trey D'Spain, Robert Strap, Clara Jo and Rick Anderson, Beverly and Joe Short, Marsha Erfurt and Les Short, Bandera.

Visitors from Tacoma, Wash., were David, Annette and Jeremy Lee.

Raymond, Liz and Sandra Ledezma of Poteet were Sunday visitors of Liz's grandparents, Lon and Liz Thompson, and her brother, Danny.

Our weather has been beautiful. Cold nights and cool sunny days.

Bookshelf

By Jimmie Hughey
Librarian

If you weren't at the Library Week Barbecue at the Bandera County Library, you missed a great meal and lots of fun. The Friends of the Library did a remarkable job of bringing together the community and fun, food and festivities. The money collected will be used in the Library for you.

Just a reminder — we do have VHS Video Cassettes available in the library. These may be checked out for a three-day period for home viewing. Our collection will change around May 20 at which time we will obtain a new collection. There is no charge for this service.

Beginning Saturday, May 18, will be Movie Time at the Library. This new program, called appropriately enough, "Saturday Matinee," will begin with the movie, "Summerdog," an animal adventure story about the rescue of Hobo from a raccoon trap by a vacationing family. In return Hobo saves the family from one danger after another. Showtime is 10:30 a.m. and the film runs 90 minutes.

And, remember, the library is open 9 a.m.-6 p.m. on Monday, 9 a.m.-8 p.m. on Tuesday, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. both Thursday and Friday and 9 a.m.-1 p.m. on Saturdays.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Now it can be told: the stove, refrigerator, stereo, sofa and many other things that helped make the new-born Silver Sage functional, came from the home of the late Burgin Davenport, by the kind wishes of Thelma Davenport, his widow, and John Langford, the executor of his will.

So the name of Burgin Davenport will continue to be honored, as his household effects are placed for the use of the senior community.

Some of the beautiful paintings on the walls of the new center are donated, others are on loan. The artists who painted them are Baird Neville Sr., Mary Worley, Mabel Kettner and Melba King.

Thanks are due to a number of people who donated plants for the grand opening, including the McCoys and the whole staff of True Value Hardware, Doloras Greene, and Mary and Bob Miller.

Among the other gifts were a small and graceful grandfather's clock and a stereo from Olivia Andrade, a desk lamp and two oscillating fans for the loft from Doc Thompson, a half-dozen stainless serving spoons from Della May Cox, 12 punch cups from Mary Portman, an office bulletin board from Connie Taylor, a glass-front bookcase from the Harold Moffatts, a coffeemaker from Jack Vandevere, and a rustic mirror for each restroom.

Thanks go too to Ken's TV for putting into working order a color TV that had been given the center months ago, and to Star Cable Co. for making it possible to receive cable programs on it.

Jack and Mary McCloskey spent many an hour coddling the ice maker which they donated to see that it performs its function properly.

Rusty McKinney had the dubious honor of sorting the cans from other debris picked up from the roadsides around Pipe Creek last January, and he got top dollar for them by taking them to San Antonio as a volunteer, bringing back a hefty check for the center.

The week-long Open House

Something different was happening every afternoon last week, due to Chairman Doris Dolle's clever planning. Sunday's round dancers inspired requests for a class to be taught here, which was immediately gratified by the Westmeyers, to meet on Monday evenings at the First National Bank Board Room.

Tuesday Open House featured the Heritage Society, with excerpts from the upcoming local history book. Jon Johnson's YMCA boys acted out quotations from the tapes they have made from those they affectionately call "old-timers."

In keeping with the frontier theme, Judy Goodenough, in sunbonnet and long gingham dress, played a set of jigs, reels and play-party songs on her violin.

Later Russell Castro, from the U.S. Soil Conservation Service office, showed slides depicting the first 50 years of the SCS and the ongoing need for halting erosion. He also showed slides of Bandera County, including its many kinds of wild flowers.

Wednesday night members of Los Gringos, plus Frank Smith of Kerrville, made the "welkin" ring at a well-attended and enjoyable dance. It was a no-smoking, no-alchohol affair, as befits the Silver Sage Corral's non-profit commitment to IRS and the Texas comptroller.

Thursday the Autoharp class (autoangels) performed again, and had the audience singing with them. Joel Garcia, teacher of conversational Spanish and principles of art at the center, explained his classes, and offered some new ones. One of these is Calligraphy, an elaborate way of printing by hand, which he will begin in June.

Harold Sherman's class of beginners' Spanish revealed their tentative plans to make a trip to Mexico, to include the Copper Canyon railroad tour. Oma's Haus delighted the guests with the gift of a German chocolate cake.

On Friday a gathering of bridge and other game players showed their abilities. At the regular practice time of 5 p.m. the Melodiers sounded forth, assisted by some of the guests.

Two executives from the Alamo Area Council of Governments visited Friday, Frank Adamo and Barbara Hughes each expressed amazement and praise for Bandera's accomplishment. Adamo asked if the 9 county Senior Advisory Committee of AACOG might meet at the Silver Sage Corral for its June meeting.

Watching the bridge and Samba players at their table, Adamo asked plaintively, "Where are the men?"

One solution to this dilemma might be to have a special "games night," at which men as well as women would be invited to come and play their favorite game, or learn a new one. Samba has been suggested, for example.

Saturday, June 1, is the target date, subject to approval by the public. C.W. Hosmer has offered to start a new class in bridge this summer, if desired, and his group of bridge devotees have already spoken for weekly games of duplicate bridge.

Saturday morning the promised film on grandparent/grandchild relationships was presented by C.J. Wright, and discussion followed about attitudes about the old by the young.

Words fail in expressing gratitude for the wonderful people from 7 extension homemakers clubs, headed by the ever-faithful Bernice Helgren, serving the most delicious punch and myriads of exotic cookies at each session of the Open House.

Reminders

The Melodiers, old and new, will meet at 5 p.m. on Friday, May 24, instead of their usual date of May 17, due to a conflict. The Sagettes are now conducting their physical fitness routines at 4 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at the new Center. The loft reading/class room is now accessible by stairs, available for immediate use.

The Bandera Hills chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet at the First National Bank Board Room on Wednesday, May 15, at 2 p.m. Guests are welcome. A petition will be presented, asking for fairness in taxation, and restoring the corporate tax.

Contributions

It is with grateful appreciation that the following gifts are acknowledged: Ruth Meador, Margaret Haner, Blanche Halstead, Betty Burton, and the Principal Combined Funds Organization of San Antonio.

Also memorials were received from Roland Britsch for Denise Walker, Buck Teich, Mrs. J. Marvin Hunter and Jesse Everett; from Jeanette Hood for Denise Walker; and from A.A. and Grace Kitzman for Faye Jones.

Arts, crafts fair in Kerrville

Every year during the Memorial Day weekend, people from all over the country migrate to the heart of the Texas Hill Country —Kerrville — for the Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair, the state's only official arts and crafts festival.

This year's fair will be held Memorial Day weekend, May 25-26, and again on June 1-2, from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Sixteen acres on the campus of Schreiner College in Kerrville are transformed into fairgrounds, hosting over 240 carefully selected artists and craftsmen, who will exhibit and sell a variety of handmade works.

Included in the array of arts and crafts will be hand-printed fabrics; bronze, wood, stone and glass sculpture; oil, watercolor and pastel paintings; porcelain, clay and stoneware pottery; hand-woven baskets; fine photography; ornamental leatherwork; custom-made toys; stained and etched glass; handmade candles; wind-chimes; musical instruments; jewelry and more.

Along with the exhibits will be demonstrations of handicraft techniques.

The Fair also offers a variety of entertainment and family-style fun. Both young and older family members will enjoy music concerts, theatrical performances, clowns, magicians, a petting zoo and hands-on craft area.

Proceeds from this event will be used to implement arts and crafts workshops across the state, and to give numerous scholarships to aspiring young artists.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $3 for children 6-12. Children under 6 years of age attend free.

Consumer Beware!
Don't be burned by aluminum wire.

Although aluminum wire may cost half as much as copper wire, so are the amperage ratings. This means that the aluminum wire must be as much as twice the diameter as that of the copper wire in order to handle the same load. Not to mention the electrolysis and corrosion problem with aluminum wire.

Although aluminum wire seems to last well when exposed to the air, as seen on poles and highlines, its characteristics change when inclosed, such as panels and many pipe lines. One of the largest of these problems is caused by moisture, which general condensation will cause corrosion of the aluminum itself. The corrosion causes heat — heat, where heat is very dangerous.

Burning wire, breakers, and even blowing holes in panels, many fires and costly repairs are caused by the faulty connections left by aluminum wire.

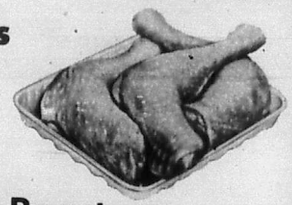

So when you need Electrical Work Done, ask your contractor to bid your job in copper wire.

Bandera County Profile/

By anyone's standards, Bill Rathke is big. He's also warm and good-humored.

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

Paraphrasing the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead, former professional wrestler Bill Rathke reminisced about his days in the ring. "When I was bad (mean), I was really bad; and when I was good, I was good."

He leaned back, flashed his winning smile and continued. "Johnny Valentine taught me how to be bad." Valentine is a wrestler friend of Bill's. "But," Bill said, wincing a bit, "Rassling (that's how he pronounced it) is not as fake as it looks. I wish my knees and shoulders were better than they are, and I have a broken jaw — but I've never had surgery."

Bill still looks like he could take on any of the current wrestlers who are so popular with today's teenagers.

In October, 1983, Bill purchased the Bandera Chevrolet dealership, which he prefers to call a "store," from Clint Dowell. His German heritage makes him a tough but fair task master. He admits he's wrong once in a while. "But," he said, "I'll never say I'm sorry unless I mean it."

The original builder and owner of the dealership was Henry Adams Sr. Bill worked for him years ago, and "he taught me everything I know about the car business," said Bill.

"He and his dad, 'Pop' Adams, were a strong influence in my life." Pop still lives in Bandera, and recently bought a car from Bill. "Pop told me," Bill said, "'You know, Rathke, I haven't had a wreck in my life.' He started the car, revved up the motor, put his foot on the accelerator, didn't look around, and drove away in a cloud of dust. I closed my eyes ...but he did just fine."

By anybody's standards, Bill is big. He dresses casually, wears a fair amount of jewerly, and his well-coiffed, wavy blond-brown hair softly frames his friendly Dan Blocker face.

Because of his size, he may appear a little intimidating, but he is such a nice, warm good-humored person that his size is forgotten when he starts talking.

And that's the way he wants it.

"I live my life differently outside the ring than in it," he said. "But some of those guys are just as mean outside the ring."

He is reluctant to divulge his professional wrestling name, but will admit that he wore a beard and a mask. "They made me look mean," he said, and winked. The mask hid his not-so-mean blue eyes, which he now hides with tinted glasses. "But only so I can see," he said.

Bill was born in the elevator of Baptist Memorial Hospital in San Antonio in 1942. He has been impatient and in a hurry ever since.

His father Jim was a general contractor who was forced into early retirement recently by a heart condition. Jim and his wife Cathy now live in Ingram.

"Dad is uneducated from a book-learning standpoint, but he knows how to do everything," Bill said respectfully. "He's even-tempered, honest, he trusts people and they trust him." Except that Bill is quick to anger and quick to calm down, he tries to pattern himself after his father. "I trust people," Bull said. "But it hurts when someone takes advantage of me."

Bill married upon graduation from high school, but was divorced some years ago. His family eventually grew to three daughters and two sons. Hard work became a fast friend. College became an unfulfilled dream, even though he had a football scholarship. But he doesn't regret his choice — far from it. "I'm prouder of those kids than anything else," he said.

Bill Jr., 23, is single ("very single," said Bill) and lives in San Antonio. Vincent, who is now 22, lives in Kerrville and works for Bill. He and Tracy Green are getting married on May 11.

DeAnna, Bill's 19-year-old daughter, has just blessed him with his first grandchild — "Priscilla." They live in Kerrville. Bill is like Frank Sinatra, who once said, "I've been called many things, but 'grandpa' is my favorite." Also, like Sinatra, he does things "his way." "It's the only way I can operate," he said.

Dolores, who is now 7, lives with Bill's ex-wife in San Antonio, but spends as much time as possible with her father and Carol.

One day when the children were little, Bill went to see a wrestling friend, Stu Gibson, aka "The Kentucky Colonel." "He was really vicious in the ring," Bill said. "But you couldn't meet a nicer guy." He helped Bill train and get minor matches in obscure, small rings.

After six months on the amateur circuit, Bill met and befriended Jose Lothario (his professional wrestling name). Jose showed Bill how to be more professional, and Bill became a world-class wrestler.

"This means basically that you go from small stadiums to large ones. And," he added importantly, "you make more money."

Bill has wrestled all over Texas and Louisiana, most of the Caribbean Islands, Puerto Rico and Mexico. "I was really bad in Mexico," he said.

"They loved my baby face in Puerto Rico," he said impishly. He wrestled there with Fritz Von Eric. Bill was supposed to be the nice guy, but one night he decided to switch roles, and didn't tell anyone. "I turned from nice to mean, and they hated me. They love to hate you in Puerto Rico."

He learned how to excite the crowds, and very quickly became a main-event attraction. he enlisted the assistance of tough-minded Joe Blanchard, a promotor from San Antonio, to get him into organized wrestling. "Joe started me out as a referee," Bill said. "No matter what a referee does, he's wrong. There's no way he can see everything that's going on." It was a good training ground. Bill later wrestled for the Caribbean championship in Puerto Rico. "But I lost," he said.

His toughest match though was not in Puerto Rico. It was in the Mansfield Park rodeo arena last May. "We brought world-class 'rassling' to Bandera," Bill said proudly. All the proceeds went to the new Senior Citizens Center. "They were supposed to give me some older, out-of-shape guy like me to rassle, but they didn't. The match was only 20 minutes long, but it was hotter than blazes, right in the middle of the drought, and I was exhausted. I don't know how I

"Rassling is not as fake as it looks," says Bandera's Bill Rathke.

Janie Whitewood of Bandera was among school administrators' from across the state recently at a two-day conference at 7-A Ranch in Wimberley. The conference provided an opportunity for participants to interact with Southwest Texas State University faculty, visiting consultants and each other regarding current issues in school administration. Here Whitewood visits with Dr. John Beck, left, associate professor of education at SWT. Whitewood is junior high principal in the Bandera Independent School District.

'Remuda' is new name picked for Cowboy Museum's volunteers

Out of 27 names submitted, the Volunteers of the Cowboy Artists of America museum chose "Remuda" as the official name of the organization.

"Remuda" is a Spanish word meaning the group of horses which have been corraled and readed for the next days ride. President Sammie Gunderburk made the announcement at a meeting of the volunteers. New By-laws were ratified at the meeting.

Griff Carnes, director of the CAA museum, enumerated 18 different museum-related events that will take place before next November. The three-day anniversary celebration on May 9, 10 and 11, will feature an auction of outstanding, important works of art and other valuable items. The event will draw visitors from all over the world, and will receive national media coverage.

The "Remuda" meets regularly the fourth Tuesday of each month. More volunteers are needed, and an appeal is being made to those who wish to serve in an exciting, action-filled, prominent activity!

won," he said triumphantly, "but I did."

In 1971, Bill went to work for a Chevrolet dealership in San Antonio, and stayed there 11½ years. Carol Smith was working in the office when she and Bill met, and he couldn't resist her knockout, dimpled smile. Bill and Carol were married in 1979.

She is about 5'4", and Levis and boots are her favorite clothes. She is a direct descendant of "Deaf" Smith — the only survivor of the Alamo. Half of her family is deaf, an inherited trait. Though she hears fine, she sometimes teaches sign language to the deaf in various hospitals and schools.

Though Carol is several years Bill's junior, they share many interests. They both love children, old people, animals, and disco and country and western music and dancing. "I was raised with the sound of Hank Williams' in my house," Bill said.

When Carol is not working part-time with Bill or teaching the deaf, she models hairstyles and makeup, and is seriously into body building.

Bill's Bandera office walls are crammed with framed "number one' sales awards. He is proudest of the one he received in 1979 — "No. 1 Salesman in the Houston Zone," which covers the entire south one-half of Texas. He went into management in 1980, and subsequently bought the Bandera dealership, which had been his lifetime goal. He has earned every award Chevrolet has to offer.

Their dogs (Sheba, Fritz, and S-10) share their home. Bill doesn't remember how Sheba got her name, but Fritz was named after Fritz Von Eric and S-10 of course was named after a Chevrolet pickup.

Wrestling has become more-or-less a thing of the past, because Bill wants to spend his time with his family and his new business. For now he is content with frequent games of raquetball to keep him in shape. But wrestling will not stay in the background for long, because Bill loves it.

One of his fondest memories is when Carol's sister Debbie was visiting them. She told them about a wrestler she saw one time in Dilley. "He was the meanest SOB you ever saw," she said. "He had a long beard and wore this horrible mask, and he did terrible things to his opponent." Bill excused himself for a minute, and when he returned he was wearing his mask. "Oh my God," Debbie said. "It's him!"

...and when he was good, he was really good; but when he was bad — he was terrific.

Proposed textbooks available for public's examination

Copies of textbooks submitted to the Texas Education Agency for possible adoption in the 1985-86 school year are now available for citizens to review, officials said this week.

The books are on display at Education Service Center, Region 20, Instructional Media Center, 1314 Hines Avenue, San Antonio, during regular business hours, 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Monday-Friday, and on Monday, May 13, from 5 p.m.-6 p.m.; Saturday, May 11, from 9 a.m.-noon, according to James Taylor, coordinator of instructional media services.

Cowboy Artists Museum to mark anniversary

The Cowboy Artists of America Museum in Kerrville will mark the second anniversary of its opening with a three-day event that will include everything from an overnight Longhorn trail drive at the historic YO Ranch to an auction of new works by the Cowboy Artists of America.

The celebration — May 9, 10, 11 — is open to the public, who can participate in all or only a few of the events. All proceeds including those from the art auction will go to the Museum's Endowment Fund.

A drive of Longhorn cattle at the YO Ranch about 40 miles from Kerrville will kick off the affair on Thursday, May 9.

Each member of the Cowboy Artists of America is doing a new piece for the auction and major collectors of western art also will donate works from their private collections.

The auction will be held in the ballroom of the YO Ranch Hilton Hotel in Kerrville. Cocktails and an elegant dinner will be served. After the auction, Red Steagall will provide the music for dancing.

Saturday, May 11, will include a variety of events. At the Museum will be the opening of a special anniversary exhibit of new works by the Cowboy Artists of America and the annual anniversary party, which will include a champagne brunch.

Visitors also may attend a Longhorn cattle sale at the Johnson City ranch of B.J. "Red" McCombs, and end the day at the retrospective exhibition of works by Cowboy Artists of America member, Joe Beeler, opening that day at the Institute of Texas Cultures in San Antonio.

Kerrs enjoy visit

Frank and Helen Kerr of Pebble Beach recently enjoyed having their daughters, Carol Gale of Monasa, Va., and Shirley Kemp of Lenxa, Kan., visiting them for ten days.

While here they enjoyed shopping, eating out in Bandera and San Antonio, and most of all staying up until 1 a.m. "just talking."

LUMW to host bake sale May 11

The annual cake sale sponsored by the Lakehills United Methodist Women will be held May 11, at 9 a.m. at the Avalon Cafe on Park Road 37.

Spokeswoman Blanche Lloyd said the ladies will be serving free coffee for those that come in to shop. In addition to the usual baked treats, Lloyd said this year they will have pretty, colorful cans of homemade cookies.

Outstanding co-worker of month

Earlene Rocha, granddaughter of Mildred Anderson of Lakehills, was named "co-worker of the month" at the Four Seasons Nursing Home in San Antonio. Rocha resides in San Antonio. She is a medication aide at the nursing facility.

Lakehills represented at Grand Lodge

Bandera Lodge 81 of Sons of Hermann was represented at the 39th Grand Lodge Convention of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas held in Austin, April 29 through May 1 by Richard and Elaine Mixon of Lakehills.

There were 552 delegates from 159 Hermann Sons lodges in 141 cities in Texas represented at the convention.

The theme this year was "95 Years Across Texas" in celebration of the founding of the Grand Lodge in San Antonio in 1890.

For the first time ever a woman was a Hermann Sons banquet speaker, former mayor of Austin Carole Keeton Rylander, member of the State Board of Insurance.

Around The Lake

By Lila MacMillan

Last week was national Volunteer Week across the nation, but it didn't receive much publicity.

I saw where the Veteran's Hospital in Kerrville honored 105 volunteer workers. In the Medina Lake area there are several hundred volunteer workers.

These are the people that make up the backbone of our community. We see them everywhere we go. At church they pass the collection plate, put the hymn and mass books out before service, and come back on Monday and clean the church. At the firehouse they drive the trucks, fight fires, prepare and serve the barbecue dinners to the hundreds that come out in support of the departments. At the Civic Centers and Legion halls they prepare refreshments, organize functions, and support fundraisers. The EMTs are there with the ambulance when we need them giving aid, comfort, and reassurance.

A good example of volunteers working together to support their communities was Sunday at the NIOL. It was possibly the largest gathering of volunteers ever in our community. The food booths, concessions, games, and displays were manned by volunteers.

Some are members of the Legion, fire department, MLBA, AARP, Faith Chapel, St. Victor's, the Methodist Church, and some are members of all organizations on the lake. There were some that aren't active members of any church or organization, they just show up at functions and pitch in and do what needs to be done to help their friends, neighbors, and community.

Without our volunteers we wouldn't have a fire department, an EMS service, barbecues, festivals, or anything in our community. Our firehouses, churches, Civic Center, Legion Hall, Hermann Sons Park, and community were built by the hands of volunteer workers, and the money needed to buy materials was raised by the same hands.

Next weekend we will see more volunteers in action. The Mico Volunteer Fire Department will have their annual barbecue and fundraiser on May 18. Volunteers will be preparing the meat, potato salad, beans, and baking the desserts. Volunteers will be working the flea market and Bingo tables.

Also on May 18 and 19 the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department will be having its annual spring barbecue. There again we'll find volunteers preparing and serving the food and running the country store and other activities.

QUESTIONS: YES NO

1. Do you suffer from stiffness or pain in the lower back?
2. Do you have frequent numbness in the arms, hands, or legs?
3. Do you sometimes have stiffness in the neck or pain between the shoulders?
4. Do you often have strained muscles?
5. Do you allow yourself to get and stay "tied up in knots"?
6. Do you maintain poor posture?
7. Do the stresses and strains of day-to-day living cause you back pain?
8. Do you suffer from tingling, tightness, hot spots, or cold spots in various parts of the body?
9. Do you have arthritis or painful joints?
10. Have you bent over to retrieve an object from the floor and been unable to straighten up again?

If your answer is YES, then you could be suffering needlessly from Backache. All the above are symptoms of Backache, but are also common to other disease conditions.

Everyone knows that when a nerve is cut or pinched, something stops...whatever organ, gland, or tissue is at the end of the pinched nerve will fail to function, just as flipping a switch will turn off the lights. Your Doctor of Chiropractic is eminently qualified in this area: the spine and nerves are his or her specialty.

If you have any of the symptoms listed above, a chiropractic spine and nerve test is advisable immediately to determine where the problem lies.

Curse you! —Medina Lake Players are ready!

"Curse you, Jack Dalton," a light melodrama one act play, will be presented May 18 and 19 at the Lakehills Civic Center. The cast is from the Medina Lake Players, a talented group sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association.

There are a few tickets left for the Saturday night performance. The curtain will go up at 8 p.m. Tickets can be purchased by contacting Peggy Ashmore at 751-2370 or the Cut-a-way at 751-2727.

The Sunday matinee performance will begin at 2 p.m. on May 19. Tickets for each performance are $3.

Gwen Akin a school teacher at Holmes High School will be playing Mrs. Donna Dalton, the matriarch of the manor, and holder of the Dalton fortune. The hero Jack Dalton is played by Jeff Stoops, a student at Bandera High School. Dalton is a fine upstanding young man very much in love with Bertha the maid. Bertha, the maid is played by Kate Kenedy. Cindy McKay plays the part of Eloise Dalton, a spinster who is being wowed by villian, Edgar Van Horn. The villian, Van Horn is played by Jim Endicott. The sinister Van Horn is after the Dalton fortune.

Bertha's brother Richard, is played by Donald DeThorne. Richard is a quiet, but charming young man, out for revenge. The part of Anna Alvarado is played by Karen Kenedy. Anna is a skimmer and plots to marry Dalton so she can get her hands on the Dalton fortune.

Point Theatre kick off

The Point Theatre's 1985 season ticket drive will begin with a Kickoff Party for volunteer sellers Sunday, May 28, at 7 p.m. in the Hill Country Arts Foundation Country Kitchen.

Season ticket packets will be issued and refreshments will be served.

According to season ticket chairman Edith Crenshaw, "Our 1985 summer season is going to be a wonderful one with three musicals, a comedy and a drama. And theatre patrons will be able to save from $7 to $11 on five admissions, depending on how they chose to use them, by purchasing a season ticket.

Season tickets are $24 each and entitle the holder to five admissions to one show or any combination of shows.

The Point's 1985 playbill includes "Dear World" June 5-22, "Our Town" June 26-July 6, "Godspell" July 10-July 20, "The Odd Couple" July 24-Aug. 3, and "Carousel" Aug. 7-24.

For more information call the HCAF at 367-5121.

'La Cage Aux Follies'

"La Cage Aux Folles," a Broadway musical comedy that won six 1984 Tony Awards including Best Musical, comes to the Majestic Performing Arts Center May 14-19.

Starring Peter Marshall and Keene Curtis, "La Cage Aux Folles" has music and lyrics by Jerry Herman, book by Harvey Fierstein, direction by Arthur Laurents and costume design by Theoni V. Aldrege — each won 1984 Tony Awards for their contributions to "La Cage."

1st NIOL is history now

At the height of the Night in Old Lakehills celebration Sunday, Sue Pickett, 18-year-old daughter of Sheriff Guy Pickett and his wife Marie, was crowned the first Miss Lakehills.

She was selected over ten other Lakehills girls ranging in age from 15 to 18. Sue was a 1984 graduate of Bandera High School and is now studying cosmetology at Mimme's Beauty College in San Antonio.

First runner-up is Debbi Hay, daughter of Frank and Jean Hay of Lakehills. Debbi attends John Marshall High School in Leon Valley. Second runner-up is Tammy Ott, 17-year-old daughter of Precinct 2 constable Gene Ott and his wife Barbara. Tammy is a senior at Bandera High School this year.

In the event Sue can't carry out her duties as Miss Lakehills Debbi will assume the responsibility. Should Sue and Debbi both be unable to represent Lakehills in local functions and events in surrounding counties, Tammy would be called on to represent the community.

Pageant promoter Evelyn Summers crowned Miss Lakehills before an audience of over 300 people. Pageant co-ordinator Kim Schelb assisted Summers with putting the sashes on the three girls and presenting them with sprays of roses and carnations.

Miss Lakehills received $400, first runner-up received $50 and second runner-up received $25. The pageant was funded by donations from businesses, clubs, organizations, and individuals.

While judges Nelson Wolff, a former state senator; Marcella Flatten, an affiliate of the San Antonio Pageant; Lloyd Schwartz with the Chapparal Country Club; and Dan Barth, superintendent of the Grand Lodge of Hermann Sons; and Dan McNew of Stop and Go Stores tallied their points, master of ceremonies Clif Waterman introduced each of the 11 contestants and asked each girl to tell what she planned to do with herself once she left school.

Lakehills Sesquicentennial representatives Peggy Ashmore, Donna Mansfield, and Sue Kruse said they put their orders in many months ago for blue skies, sunshine, and light breezes that prevailed Sunday when the Lakehills Civic Center was transformed into a miniature Night in Old San Antonio.

There were over 30 booths, displays, and concessions scattered over the grounds.

The spirit of 1836 caught on and several dozen ladies came in ole time costumes, sunbonnets and aprons with long dresses were the fashion. The best costume contest was judged by loudest applause. Little one year old Bethany Nicole Popham, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Popham won hands down.

Second place went to Peggy Ashmore, who declined to accept, then it went to Dorothy Alatorre, for her authentic southern belle costume complete with hoop skirt.

The proprietors of the different booths reported they had good sales throughout the day, and really enjoyed seeing all their friends and neighbors as well as meeting lots of new people.

The kids enjoyed the game booths, particularly the dunking booth sponsored by St. Victor's Chapel. By 4 o'clock everyone was ready for a cool dip.

The Rainbow Girls reported they made over $250 on the cake walk. That's certainly a boost to the treasury. The Property Owners Association of Pebble Beach weren't able to make the signs they had planned on, but they had a line in front waiting for delicious pie ala mode and ice cream cones most of the afternoon.

The authors of the Lakehills History Book all went home Sunday night with writer's cramps. Dorothy Alatorre reported the Sesquicentennial Association raised over $600 in their booth. The history books were the top seller, but they also sold the Texas Celebrity Cookbooks, Sesquicentennial bumper stickers, pens, and place mats.

Lights could be seen burning throughout Lakehills in the wee hours of the night as folks stayed up reading the history of the community. The book covers Lakehills from the beginning and brings you right up to 1985. It has some pictures that are bound to bring back a memory or two for those that have been around the area for 20 or more years.

Inside the Civic Center the Fire on the Mountain Cloggers started the fun at one. Right on the cloggers' heels came the Bandera Cowboy Capital Squares with their square and round dancing exhibition. This lively group recruited many local dancers and before long they had the dance floor full. Then came the auction, a goat, chickens, rabbits, and other unique items went on the block.

All the food concessions reported sell outs. There was something to tempt everyone's palate, even the most dedicated dieter forgot to count calories. Who could resist those hamburgers, sausages-on-a-stick, shrimp cocktails, barbecue on a bun, fajitas that literally melted in the mouth, nachos, hot dogs with and without chili, and homemade desserts? There were plenty of good cold drinks for the thirsty crowd, beer, winecoolers, sodas, ice tea, and sodas.

Following the pageant, Jim MacMillan spun the dance music. Most folks sat through the country western numbers and waited for the all time favorites that didn't require a lot of energy.

Night in Old Lakehills was a success in 1985, and surely will be even bigger and better in 1986, the Sesquicentennial year.

The Lakehills Sesquicentennial Association will use its share of the proceeds for community improvements in recognition of the 150th birthday of Texas.

The next Sesquicentennial activity will be in Bandera on June 22. It is being billed as a Sesquicentennial Shindig. It will be similar to Lakehills NIOL with a Street Dance at the height of the celebration.

The 11 contestants anxiously wait the opening of the envelope. They are Lisa Popham, Debbi Hay, Barbara Brieno, Sandra LaFond, Jill MacMillan, Tammy Ott, Dawna Borchers, Robin Peck, Shanon Spaulding, Sue Pickett, and Joley Day.

Cheerleader try-outs

By Randy McHaney

Bandera High School cheerleading screening was held on Friday, May 3, in the High School gymnasium.

All last week, Varsity, Junior Varsity, and Mascot candidates have been going through a cheerleading clinic. The clinic was put on by the graduating cheerleaders and mascot, Kathy Ryan, Terri Butler, and Shannon McMullan, respectively, and cheerleading sponsor Mrs. Laura Wimpee.

During the clinic prospective cheerleaders and mascot learned a variety of jumps, a cheer, a chant, and a dance routine. Through many hours of practice they were ready to be put to the test, screening. Basically, screening is when the cheerleaders and mascots perform the activities that they have learned throughout the week. This year there were three United Cheerleading Association cheerleaders doing the judging. They graded the candidates on cheer execution as well as how they performed in the chant, individual chant, and dance routine.

Those who passed the screening with a 70 or above average advanced to tryouts in front of the student body on Tuesday, May 7. The student body selection will be reported at the All Sports banquet.

Senior go to Schlitterbahn

Last Friday was a senior holiday and the activity of the day was a trip to Schlitterbahn in New Braunfels.

By 8:30 a.m., two school buses were loaded with the enthusiastic gang, and they were off. It was going to be a long day, but there was no time to get tired.

The fun began upon arrival as everyone, including the sponsors, joined the rush down the chutes on innertubes, riding paddle boats down the river, and just lounging in the beautiful sunshine.

"Senior Day will definitely be a pleasant memory to relive whenever class members meet again," one senior said.

NHS to induct

The Bandera Chapter of the National Honor Society invites you to attend the formal induction ceremonies at Bandera High School Auditorium, Monday, May 13, 7 p.m.

State Student Council met in Austin

Six members of the Bandera High School Student Council attended the Texas Association of Student Council's state convention in Austin April 26-28.

The convention was held at the Lester E. Palmer Auditorium in Austin. It started Friday at 6:30 p.m. when the schools campaigning for officers began distributing campaign materials.

The first general meeting Friday proved to be the most rousing with the Pflugerville High School Band performing "Proud to be an American" and "We Are the World," with the Pflugerville Choir accompanying. Orator Mark Scherenbach gave a moving speech about being oneself.

On Saturday morning, the second general meeting consisted of skits performed by the candidate schools and voting. After a Saturday-night dance, the council members returned to the Austin-South Plaza where they were staying and went swimming and enjoyed the hot tub.

The council returned home Sunday afternoon after the last general meeting at which the new officers were announced.

All of the council members had a good time, but seem to have lost a lot of sleep. —Shane Yates

Fleming receives scholarship

On this, the final six weeks of the year, most seniors turn their thoughts to life after BHS, if they do not already have their "hereafter" planned.

One such senior who has college scoped out is Christine Elise Fleming, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry L. Fleming. Her athletic abilities gained her a full year scholarship, renewable every year for four years at Angelo State University.

Aug. 25, Christine will report to ASU, home of the Angelo Rams, to discuss the upcoming years with Coach Brasfield.

Christine has participated in BHS volleyball and basketball, receiving second team all-district and outstanding offense her junior year in basketball. She also lettered three years in basketball and two years in volleyball.

If the following four year are even similar to the preceding four, college success should come relatively easy for Christine.

Junior High district track meet

The 440 relay placed first with J. Gonzales, A. Cardenez, L. Cardenez, and C. Fernandez. J. Gonzalez placed first in both the mile and the 880.

J. Sisler and B.B. Layer placed in both the low and high hurdles. In the long jump, C. Fernandez was first and J. Gonzalez was fourth in the 200 meter dash, second went to A. Cardenez and fourth went to L. Cardenez. In the 400 meter dash C. Fernandez was second. The mile relay team of Layer, Wallace, LeStourgeon, and Sisler was third.

The eight grade Bandera Bulldogs placed sixth with only six runners.

The 440 relay was third with John Scott, Tony LeStourgeon, Brent Hoffer, and Johnny Jones.

In the 100 meter dash Brent Hoffer was third and Johnny Jones was sixth. John Scott got third in the 440 and the 880 and Johnny Jones was fourth in the long jump. —Beau Willoughby

Class reps

Class representatives for the 1984-85 school year were recently elected. These representatives are part of student council and participate in student council activities as well as represent their class. The new representatives are as follows:

Seniors: Cliff Bronson, Floyd Hamilton, Janet Weber, and Derrin Berg. Alternate is Tim Fritsche.

These new representatives face a lot of hard work but also a lot of fun in their responsibilities next year as a student council member.

Ultravox — "The Collection"

By Shane Yates

"The Collection" is basically what the title says, it is a collection of Ultravox's top songs from their first four albums under Midge Ure's lead. ("Vienna," "Rage in Eden," "Quartet" and "Lement.")

"The Collection contains some really moving songs from Ultravox's past and one new one called "Love's Great Adventure," which is now being featured on MTV right now.

The cuts on the "Collection" range from slow deep ballads like "Vienna" and "Visions in Blue" to fast moving New Wave songs like "One Small Day" and "Dancing with Tears in My Eyes," To almost punk sounding "All Stood Still" and "The Thin Wall."

Some critics (not this one) have said that Ultravox's quality has been poor since Midge Ure took over in 1980. I feel this album should prove those critics wrong. This album contains excellent (I stress the word excellent) songs.

Everything about "The Collection" is appealing. 14 songs for the price often, and those 14 songs are Ultravox's best. That may prove to be a little misleading, but one can hope the other songs Ultravox has released can (probably are) comparable in quality.

If asked which songs are the best my first reply would be "Love's Great Adventure" but then as I look back and think about it I'd say "The Voice," but then again, I guess it's up to the listener. Chances are, though, that if you like Ultravox you'll have trouble picking a best song out of "The Collection" of hits on Ultravox's "The Collection."

Tears for Fears — Song from the Big Chair

One of the best but most overlooked albums of last year may have been Tears for Fears' "The Hurting," a dark, pessimist, synth-related album. Their second album is called Songs from the Big Chair and is more vibrant and optimistic.

Curt Smith and Roland Orzabal have opted for this brighter sound with astounding results. This album is truly a great album.

The guys have lessened the synth attack and put some sax solos, clarinet solos, grand piano, and even some fine guitar solos.

The first cut on the album is called "Shout" and has a heavy beat with chanting type lyrics. This song will make you think about what Orzabal is saying.

Some other powerful cuts are the upbeat "Everybody Wants to Rule the World," the intense "Mother's Talk," and the jazzy "The Working Hour." These songs and the other songs on the album are quite memorable and are musically very good.

Tears for Fears should be proud of this album. It is strong, appealing, bright, but most of all, entertaining. No tears with this one.

Mother's Day eggsperience

Why not make this Mother's day another eggciting Texas eggsperience. Offer something both special and nutritious, says Karen Mitchell of the Department of Agriculture.

"There's a world of imaginative cooking ideas, based on a very basic food, the egg," she claims. Its versatility best describes the egg, equally at home in a classic recipe such as Eggs Benedict, a simple Garden Omelet, a basic custard or an elegant Chocolate Souffle.

Not only versatile, eggs are a nutritional bargain. Consider that 2 large eggs equal 13 grams of high quality protein at a cost of only 160 calories. Protein is used by every cell in the body, necessary for the continual growth and repair of body tissues.

Vitamin rich, eggs contain every vitamin except vitamin C, she advises. Eggs are also a good source of the mineral iron, essential so that the red blood cells can carry oxygen from the air you breathe through the blood vessels to every cell in the body. Eggs are also rich in phosphorus, essential for healthy bones and teeth.

"Constant refrigeration is the key to maintaining the freshness of eggs. They will keep up to six weeks," she says, "if stored in their carton, in the refrigerator."

Locally produced eggs are in good supply, with Gonzales county still the leader statewide in egg production.

Try poaching eggs for something creative and tasty. A poached egg is cooked out of its shell in a simmering liquid until the white is firm. To help coagulate the egg white, add about two teaspoons of vinegar to each quart of water while poaching.

Poached eggs*

4 eggs, at room temperature
1 tsp vinegar (optional)
½ tsp salt

Fill a nonstick 10-12 inch skillet two thirds full of water. Add a teaspoon vinegar, if eggs are very fresh, to help coagulate the egg white. Bring the water to a simmer, break each egg, one by one, into a saucer, and slide it tenderly into the water. Slip each additional egg into a different place in the skillet. Add salt. Spoon the simmering water over the eggs for 2-3 minutes until they are set; or turn off the heat, cover the pan, and let the eggs stand in the water for 5-6 minutes. The eggs are done when the whites become opaque and the yolks lose their shine. Remove one by one with a slotted spoon. If you prepare the eggs ahead of time, place the poached eggs in a bowl of cold water and refrigerate until needed. Just before serving, place them in a bowl of very hot water for a few minutes to warm them or slide them into a skillet full of simmering water and cook for 1 minute.

*For a single poached egg, simply use a smaller skillet. Until you get the knack of poaching eggs, you may find it easier to do one at a time.

* Taken from "The Fannie Farmer Cookbook"

Eggs benedict

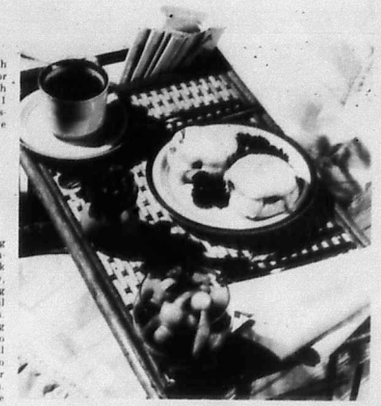

4 english muffins
8 eggs
⅓ C hollandaise sauce
16 slices canadian-style bacon

Split, toast and butter english muffins, poach eggs, and broil or pan fry bacon. Top each english muffin with 2 slices bacon, 1 poached egg, and about 1 tablespoon hot hollandaise sauce. Serve hot. Serves 4.

Hollandaise sauce

3 egg yolks
2 T lemon juice
¼ tsp salt
⅛ tsp paprika
Dash cayenne pepper
½ C butter (1 stick), divided

In saucepan beat together egg yolks, lemon juice and seasonings. Add half the butter. Cook over low heat, stirring rapidly, until butter melts. Add remaining butter, stirring constantly, until butter melts and sauce thickens. Cover and refrigerate if not using immediately. Yields ¾ cup. To prepare in blender, measure all ingredients except butter into blender container. Melt butter and add to other ingredients. Blend at low speed until sauce thickens, 15 to 20 seconds.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Weather's been great after the rains first of last week and around 50 degree temperatures some mornings. It's been great for those folks in Rio Hondo who go for long walks.

However, some of the families there had more damaging hail than most of us. It damaged their gardens rather badly and some awnings of the Singletons.

Club meeting

The Williams Creek Extension Homemakers will meet Monday, May 13, at 2:30 p.m. at Marilyn Haner's home.

The program will be on "Short cuts to sewing." Everyone is invited to attend. Marilyn Haner will be giving the program.

Tarpley Community Center news

The old school house looks very bright in its new coat of white paint, sprayed on by Lynn Holt.

Work is going slow on the inside by a few faithful volunteers. They will meet this Saturday and probably each Saturday until it's finished.

Visitors

Recent visitors from Temple to spend a weekend with his parents were Rick and Donna Singleton and children, Marci and 11-month-old Jenni Lynn.

Donna and daughters will be back at a later date to spend more time with Skeets and Bobby. Skeets is improving nicely from major surgery.

Lewis and Neva Dean came Sunday afternoon to spend a few hours with the Elzie Deans. Another visitor recently was Jack Ellis of San Antonio.

Brother and Mrs. Jerry Jones enjoyed having their two daughters and families for the weekend. They were Kirby and Kathy Haertner and girls, Jennifer and Mandy of Karnes City, and Betty and Todd Rogers of Houston.

They all attended church services at the Tarpley Baptist Mission, and joined with others to enjoy a delicious dinner after church.

Viola Jackson and Laura Walzem left Sunday morning to drive to Seguin for the day. On their way in they picked up an old friend, Thelma Schaefer, and they went to the arts and craft fair at the Coliseum in Seguin.

On their return home they stopped by Viola's cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Felix Jonietz.

Recent guests from Wednesday to Saturday of the Harold Jack sons were their traveling friends Topsy and Billy Jarbeaux of Corpus Christi. They enjoyed a lovely time with them.

-Medina senior spotlights

Serdest Turanli

Senior Serdest Turanli has special plans after graduation from Medina. He will return to Stockholm, Sweden, to continue his education for two years studying business management.

Serdest was president of his freshman and sophomore classes in Stockholm and a member of The Tensta Youth Organization, which is equivalent to a U.S. 4-H Club. Serdest enjoys sports and plays several, including soccer, water polo, skiing, hockey, tennis and volleyball. He also speaks four languages fluently, English, German, Turkish and Swedish.

Serdest, an exchange student, has enjoyed the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Payne. Serdest is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ahmet Turanli of Stockholm.

Pete Powell

The son of Claude Powell, Pete has attended Medina schools since the first grade.

Throughout high school Pete has played football, basketball and been a member of FFA. His freshman year Pete was student council treasurer and his sophomore year Pete was FFA Vice President and was second place UIL Oral Reading winner.

This year Pete joined the Texas High School Rodeo Association (THSRA), was an all-district defensive lineman and received the Howard Hay Courtesy award.

Pete says he enjoys hunting, fishing, and rodeoing as hobbies.

Jacob Ortiz

This Medina Senior has played football for three years, track one year, qualifying for regional 800 meter run and the mile relay and has also played basketball for one year.

He is Jacob Ortiz, the son of Joe and Delia Ortiz, who has attended Medina schools for seven years.

Jacob is a member of the First Baptist Church and in school he is involved in 4-H and has been an FFA member three years receiving the honor of FFA Greenhand.

Jacob enjoys doing carpentry work with his father, sports of all kinds, including swimming and hunting. Lastly Jacob likes to sleep.

After graduation Jacob plans a career in the U.S. Marine Corps.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3255

Young people ages 13 through 18 will attend a Youth Camp at Alto Frio near Leakey July 8 through 12.

The Walker Memorial Chapel of Wharton's Dock has decided to sponsor young people who want to go by paying one-half the camp fee and providing an adult sponsor to accompany the youth. For requirements and more information, contact the Rev. Paul Flanders at the Chapel.

Sick list

Granny Byrd has been under the weather but with the good weather is feeling better.

Ethel Smalley was rushed to the Humana Hospital in San Antonio Saturday morning by her son Albert and his wife Bernice. It was believed that she was suffering a heart attack. She is undergoing tests, and we all hope that she is back here taking part in our community soon.

Earl Evans is still in the hospital in San Antonio having tests made. He hopes to have all the results by Thursday, and then be able to return to his home here at Wharton's Dock.

Visitors

Mattie Sanford and her son Drew came in from Dallas to visit Irene and Butch Highnote and Ida Klaus and other friends at Wharton's Dock. Mattie was getting around pretty good with her cane. She is recovering from hip surgery.

Arley Banks and some friends were here for the weekend visiting old friends and checking on his home here.

Some of the many visitors out last Sunday were Mrs. Vic Stevens, her daughter Charlotte Stevens and her grandson David Harrison; Jewell Cartrett; Winnie and Gene Fee; Lois and Joe Dunn and Brother Joel Garcia and his wife Mary. This group of visitors all took in the worship services at the Walker Memorial Chapel and then enjoyed sightseeing in the area.

Other happenings

Jim Hewitt from Yuba City, Calif., tried to change his airline reservations from Wednesday to Friday, May 3, but was unsuccessful. So he went to bingo on Wednesday night and walked away with the jackpot. He believes that is why he couldn't change his reservation. Jim is Betty Ciarlo's brother.

Dana and Butch Simmon and Marie Miller drove to Edenburg to celebrate the Simmons' granddaughter's birthday, Melanie Simmon was one year old.

A covered dish fellowship dinner was held Sunday after church services. After the meal, Joe Dunn brought in his guitar and played with most of the people joining in with loud voices. This songfest lasted well into the afternoon.

This Saturday, May 11, at 1 p.m. there will be an old-time music festival at Cliff Maston's empty lots on Wharton's Dock road. Everyone is invited, but please no alcohol, Cliff asks.

The first Saturday of the month community dinner at the Copper Lantern saw a large crowd and plenty of food; and everyone enjoying themselves.

If everything goes right for the new owners of Wharton's Landing, they will be open for business this weekend. We wish them success.

If you drove by Mary Wells' home on Tuesday night and heard all that music, you were hearing the first practice for a quartet that is being formed. The four singers are Mary Wells, Betty Ciarlo, Carter Beech and Marion Birch.

Ann Grierson returned to Dayton, Ohio, after a three-week visit with her brother John Ciarlo. She called and informed us that she knows why we do not have much water in the river, they have it all up there — 3 inches of rain the day she got home, and all the rivers were on the verge of running over.

She said she wishes she could send some down to us.

First communion slated

The second grade children will be making their first communion at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church on May 12, at 8:30 a.m. Mass. All parishioners are invited to witness this special occasion.

The first communicants will practice Saturday, May 11, at 9 a.m. and they will receive the Sacrament of Confession.

A breakfast will be served immediately after Mass for the first Communicants, their parents, and grandparents, Sunday morning.

Horsemen elect Skeen

Marc Skeen has been elected president of Bandera 4-H Horse Club and Rose Mattieson has been elected vice president.

Other officers are Dawn Macon, secretary treasurer; Kevin Butts, reporter; and Brad Floyd, council delegate.

Visitors

Bertie Mitchell, Doris and Ben Vandel, all of Houston, and Mertin Moore of Llano were weekend visitors of Mrs. J.F. Langford over the weekend.

Correction

A recent obituary notice should have listed parents of Lila Garrison as Henry G. and Mary Pafford Johnson.

A Thought For The Week By John M. Grimes

A MOTHER'S TRIBUTE TO HER CHILDREN... When I first looked at that tiny, wrinkled face and those little clinched fists, "That was Mother's Day!"...I have shared so many happy moments with you, some you may never realize were so important to me. Your first tooth, your first wobbly step and that most important first word. Those were all Mother's Day to me...I've watched you at play and punished you in time of need. I've had to share you with classmates, teachers and friends, and now some of you with husbands and wives. Sometimes, I've even been a bit jealous. But those times you chose to share your thoughts and dreams with me, "that was Mother's Day!"...We haven't always agreed on everything and many times you were told "No" to certain things, but that is part of growing up and your respect for my decision meant so much to me. I know the time has come for some of you and coming soon for the rest to make your own way in life, but never forget this, my children, as long as you love God and are well and happy each day will be Mother's Day!

Every mother has those tiny worn baby shoes and chewed toys and thousands of memories to look back on and the joy of watching you grow up and succeed to look forward to — and no matter if you are near or far away, the sound of your voice saying Hi Mom — It's me — That makes it Mother's Day...

Water among NB's concerns

Mayor Barbara Tieken of New Braunfels considers water, industrial growth, and an $18 million bond issue the leading issues in her town.

In an interview reported in Monday's San Antonio Express-News, Tieken discussed her recently completed first year as mayor.

"We must adopt a conservation ethic in water rates and water usage and understand that the waters of the Edwards (aquifer) are finite," she explained.

"I would even favor our paying an annual amount — thousands of dollars — to San Antonio to assist them in building the Cuero project," Tieken said.

With New Braunfels' reputation for having hard working, industrious, conscientious citizens, Tieken said she couldn't imagine an industry choosing any city but New Braunfels.

Farm Bill proposals

The Farmland News for April 30 reports that, if a 1985 farm bill passes Congress and is signed by the president, it is likely to combine provisions from three sources:

President Robert Delano of The American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF); Kika de la Garza, Texas Democratic chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, and Jesse Helms, conservative Republican from North Carolina, chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Each of the three proposals would encourage agricultural exports, a goal which the White House bill, now considered dead, support only verbally.

The AFBF, de la Garza, and Helms bills would rely on discount credit for foreign customers, an "export PIK," and increased food aid to developing countries.

Kerrville pollution problems continue

The Kerrville City Council has received an engineering firm's proposal to determine pollution levels in Third Creek, the location of the city's wastewater treatment plant, according to the Kerrville "Mountain Sun."

They will accept or reject the proposal at their May 14 meeting.

Third Creek enters the Guadalupe just above the State Park on Highway 173.

Meanwhile, the wastewater problem has literally surfaced in the yards of at least one Kerrville subdivision, Royal Oaks, according to reporter Jim Rickhoff. Recent rains, poorly leaching soils, steep terrain, and high density development are all suspected of contributing to the problem.

FLEA INFESTATION

Fleas are small, black to brownish insects and have no wings, having lost them in the course of their evolutionary development. Adult fleas usually range from one to four mm long, with the female flea laying four to eight eggs after each meal and can usually lay several hundred eggs during her adult life.

Fleas can jump vertically for five or six inches and can attach themselves to skin or clothing. This accounts for their being found in crevices in floors, under the edges of carpeting, in sofas or wherever cats and dogs will house. Successful flea control must include not only the treatment of infested animals, but also thorough treatment of the infested premises.

To control these infestations call a professional exterminator.

Cedar Mill operating

Under the new name of Westex Aromatics, Inc., a cedar mill at Leakey is processing some 40 to 45 tons of cedar per day, according to the Real County American.

The 10- to 12-year-old wood is ground, boiled, and cooled. The process results in water, oil, and wood dust. The water is used again, along with that from a 1,000-foot well. The dust is used as mulch, stable litter, or fuel.

The oil extracted is used in perfumes — not for its fragrance — but as a preservative for the perfume's real chosen fragrance.

Residents near the plant have complained about the smell, but employees have defended the local incomes the plant provides.

Second Saturday Sales Day May 11

Second Saturday Sales Day May 11 is sponsored by the Comfort Chamber of Commerce to promote business in the Comfort area.

"Comfort has a wide variety of unique stores and shops, most of which will have items on sale," the Comfort Chamber said.

"Comfort still possesses a small town atmosphere with many historic places to see; a swell place to shop, relax, and find some great bargains," the Chamber said.

Comfort Public Library will conduct a "Back Door Book Sale," and the Comfort Museum will be open from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., and numerous sidewalk sales, garage sales, and bake sales are scheduled.

The Boerne Swimming Pool began its summer of fun with a big "Splash" at noon Saturday, May 4, the Boerne Star reported.

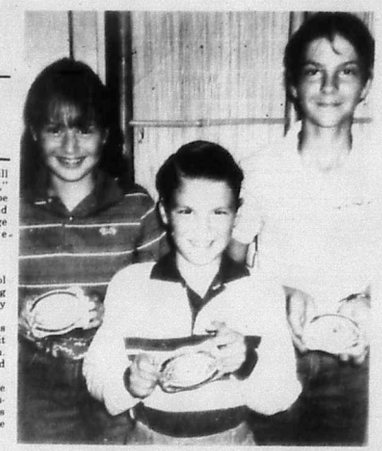

The pool will be open weekends only during May. Saturdays it opens at noon and closes at 6 p.m. Sundays it opens at 1 p.m. and closes at 6 p.m.

All entry fees remain the same as 1984 — Daily entry for city resident is $1 and non-resident is $1.50. Residency permits are issued at the city tax office.

Mother's day silhouette workshop

Silhouette-making will be revived at a Mother's Day silhouette workshop, "Profiles on Moms," at the San Antonio Museum of Art, Sunday May 12, from 1 p.m.-4p.m. Children of all ages can snip a silhouette of mom as a gift for this special person.

The workshop is free with museum admission, which is $3 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens, military and students, $1.00 for children 6-12 years and free for children 5 years and under.

Two Bobcats qualify for state

By Larry Thomas Williams
Special Correspondent

Brenham — The Medina Bobcat track teams were here in force for the regional track and field meet at Blinn College, and when the starter's gunsmoke cleared for the final time in the two-day meet, two Bobcats were on the road to the state meet in Austin.

Cindy Caddell zipped to second place in the 100-meter low hurdles in 16.23 seconds and Jacob Ortiz ran his best time ever to take second in the 800-meter run with a 2:03.59.

A bit earlier Caddell had not been quite as happy as she was on the winners stand. It seems she was originally picked in the third spot and that meant no trip to Austin. However after the officials inspected the picture that is taken after each race, Cindy was found to be an eyelash ahead at the tape and she was awarded second place.

Ortiz was still numb by Saturday's end and could only grin when asked how he felt about his ticket to the state meet. He is running track this year for the first time since the eighth grade.

Some of the other 'Cats reached the finals, no mean accomplishment at this meet, and showed they'd come to compete.

Richard Payne threw the discus over 122 feet for his best ever heave. Tracy Willett reached the final eight in shot put and Geoeff Williams made the main event in both hurdles.

The boys' 1,600-meter relay team of Ronnie Dodd, Geoeff Williams, Mark Williams and Ortiz ran their best time ever, but failed to make the cut, while the girls' 800-meter relay team of Cindy Caddell, Tammy Tastch, Tracy Willett and Melody Long and the 1,600-meter team of Cindy Pennock, Tastch, Donna Reyes and Long both got to the last go-round, but no further.

The 400-meter relay team of Paige Pifer, Caddell, Long and Tastch had a disturbing experience. On the final handoff of the preliminaries, anchor Tammy Tastch was a strong third and pulling fast in second place and a finals trip when a competitor stepped in front of her.

It caused Tammy to pull up just as she needed to be accelerating. The team finished fourth in the heat one spot out of the finals.

Olsen Construction becomes distributor

Olsen Construction of Vanderpool has become an area distributor of Melco High Tech Steel-framed buildings, according to W.C. Olsen, managing partner of Olsen Construction. "Melco Steel Framing offers the patented joist design that is super strong and in fact, is the same design used in jet airplane wings," he said. "It's so light weight, a commercial building can be framed in much less time. That's a big savings we can pass on, making a very attractive package," he said.

To acquaint the area with the Melco product, Olsen Construction has been authorized by the factory to erect a home to be sold at a special low price, Olsen said.

Bandera Bulldogs lose twice in district baseball wars

Winless after six previous district baseball games, the Bandera Bulldogs suffered their seventh loss against the Smithson Valley Rangers Friday, 8-6, and their eighth against Boerne Monday, 10-2, in the season's last two games at Mansfield Park.

The 'Dogs jumped into a first-inning lead against Smithson Valley and stayed ahead until the Rangers evened the score at 5-5 in the sixth inning.

Three more Ranger runs in the seventh against one for the 'Dogs clinched the win for the visitors.

Bandera outhit the winners 10-6 and committed two errors against three for SV.

In his first mound effort of the season, Randall Kirk pitched the full game for Bandera, striking out seven Rangers.

Kevin Parker, the Bulldogs' cleanup hitter, put on a solid, power-hitting exhibition by belting two homers and a double to account for four of Bandera's six runs. Billy Morris went two for three at the plate and Mike Cardenas two for four.

Chuck Tondre, Jeff Speckman, David Maywald each had one safety.

Six runs, including a grand slam homerun in the second inning by Boerne, put that game out of reach for the 'Dogs. Another grand slammer by the 'Hounds in their first game with Bandera had also helped salt away the earlier game for Boerne.

In Monday's game, Boerne collected eight hits with two errors against five hits and five miscues for the 'Dogs.

Tondre started and handled the pitching duties for Bandera until Kirk relieved him in the fourth inning and finished the game.

Morris and Speckman each had two raps in three turns at bat and Mike Cardenas notched the fifth Bulldog hit.

Bandera closes out its baseball season with a game at Cole Friday and the finale at Southside Tuesday.

Sims reports income

The ownership of two combination farm-ranches and a salaried position as executive director of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association are the primary sources of income of State Sen. Bill Sims of San Angelo, reports he filed in Austin reveal.

A financial disclosure report in the Texas secretary of state's office shows Sims owns ranches in Runnels and Concho counties and that he and his wife own between 100 and 499 shares of stock in Keystone Mutual Fund and Cornerstone, N.A.

The disclosure reports do not contain specific figures, but lawmakers list their assets and liabilities within certain brackets.

Sen. Sims' report also shows he reported earning between $1,000 and $4,999 in interest from City Savings & Loan, between $500 and $999 on two oil leases, and between $1,000 and $4,999 on two other oil leases.

He also listed liabilities of more than $5,000 to the Texas Production Credit Association, Federal Land Bank, and First Texas Savings, all in San Angelo.

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 45 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

City council keeps Welch, MacMillan

The Bandera City Council late Monday overruled Mayor Bob Cowan's firing of Police Chief Walter Welch and Officer Joe MacMillan after hearing several residents defend the police and a few who endorsed Cowan's action.

The mayor Friday asked Welch and MacMillan to resign, effective May 17, and asked Officer Carlos Reyna to stay on only until a new police chief could be employed.

The move was the latest in a controversy that has continued for about two years over the actions of the Bandera Police Department. "I should have done this long ago," Mayor Cowan told the Bulletin before Monday's meeting.

He gave little reason for the firings, however.

He said Welch has been working up to 16 hours per day for several years without a vacation. "For this he should be commended, but it is also part of the problem," the mayor said. He also said Welch should be doing a better job training and instructing the younger officers.

MacMillan, on the other hand, was too young and inexperienced, the mayor indicated. "I've had nightmares in which Joe either is shooting someone or getting shot," he said.

"Several cases that have had to be dismissed have come in recently that shouldn't have been written in the first place," Cowan said. "I don't feel our city has the budget to be a training ground for police officers. They need to be with someone else as a mentor (for a period of time)," Cowan said.

About 75 spectators jammed the city council chambers, overloading the facility's air conditioner. After hearing from about 13 residents of the city, including three former city council members, the council went into executive session to discuss the matter privately with Welch. Persons who do not live in the city were not permitted to speak, even if they owned property in the city.

After emerging from the secret session, Mayor Cowan immediately asked for a motion reinstating Welch and MacMillan. Council member Dianne Tobin made the motion, which also included a provision that a police grievance committee be appointed to hear future complaints against the police and to recommend action to the council.

That motion passed unanimously.

The grievance committee will include one city council member and four residents of the city.

The council informally instructed Welch to determine the future of MacMillan and Reyna.

Among those speaking out during the meeting were former councilmen Russell Zickler, Tommy Kindla and Clint Dowell.

"I haven't heard any reasons yet why the man (Welch) should be fired," said Zickler.

"I feel real comfortable with Walter," said Dowell.

Others who spoke out in favor of Welch were Lahrea Wilson, Rilla Stephens, Linda Wheeler Stein, Curtis Wilson, Sally Rodriguez, Betty Ferguson and G.W. Taylor.

Those who appeared to favor Cowan's move included Irma Macon and Tom Laxson. Joe Walters said he thought the matter should be left to the council, not the mayor.

While Mrs. Stein spoke in favor of Welch, she said "young policemen (in Bandera) use their guns too often. It intimidates me."

Mrs. Stephens, who has clashed with Mayor Cowan on previous occasions and has been critical of the police here, took issue directly with the mayor. "I don't think any one person has the right to take away something we like," she said. "And we like Walter."

Welch, MacMillan 'thankful'

"I'm very thankful to the citizens of Bandera who stood behind me," chief Walter Welch told the Bulletin after Monday's meeting. "We have wonderful people in Bandera and I will continue to give them good law enforcement."

"We'll make some changes in different ways, such as regulations and perhaps schedules," he said. "I don't plan to make any personnel changes, we have a lot of work to do and it will take time." "Like any business there is room for improvement, and we will be working on it."

"We will continue to enforce the law, just like we've always done," he continued, "I believe that is what the majority of the citizens of Bandera want, and that's what we'll provide."

Officer Joe MacMillan told the Bulletin, "I really appreciate the opinions 'pro' and 'con' expressed by the citizens of Bandera. I think it's wonderful that they took the time to come to the council meeting, especially those who stood up for the department," he said. "It's always nice to know people are concerned and they care.

"I also appreciate the support of the council members. The city council and the citizens of Bandera can be assured I will continue to give them the best possible police protection within my means," MacMillan pledged.

Zoning commission named by council

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The council also rejected a request to operate a horse-drawn carriage in Bandera.

It took four ballots and a lottery Monday to determine the five citizen members of the Bandera Zoning and Planning Commission, and in still another vote, Dianne Tobin was named to represent the council on the panel.

The commission was required by an ordinance enacted in 1982 but never before appointed.

The members of the commission were elected from among a list of eight who were recommended by the mayor and four of the council members. Councilman Gilbert Scheele opposed appointment of the panel, did not nominate anyone for membership, and did not vote on the members elected.

Elected to three-year terms on the commission were Euna Wagner, Curtis Wilson, Cal Chapman, Keith Swinford and Linda Wheeler Stein. They were elected by secret ballot of council members.

Wagner, Wilson and Chapman were elected on the first ballot, and City Secretary Tammy Kneuper and City Attorney Terry Mason asked councilmen to vote again for two from among the remaining five nominees.

Kneuper and Mason then announced that Price and Macon were eliminated, and another vote was necessary to determine the two members from among three nominees. Swinford was elected on the third ballot and a fourth ballot left Stein and Laxson tied. Kneuper said. Stein's name was then drawn by lot.

The ordinance requires the commission to make and recommend for adoption a master plan for the future development of the city and the surrounding area.

The law also charges it with preparing a comprehensive plan and ordinance for zoning the city and with reviewing existing and proposed ordinances that affect or control construction, renovation, remodeling and repairs of buildings within the city and recommending changes to the council.

Members may serve on the commission a maximum of six years. The mayor serves as an ex officio member, and he and the council's representative, Tobin, do not have a vote on the panel.

Members are required to elect a chairman and vice chairman, presumable at their first meeting. No announcement of a meeting has been made, as yet.

Mayor Cowan nominated Swinford and Laxson, Tobin recommended Wagner and Macon. Councilman Joe Fox nominated Glen Price and Cal Chapman, and Councilman Raymond Adamietz suggested Stein.

In other action Monday, the council rejected by a 3-2 vote a request by Cal Chapman to operate a horse-drawn carriage ser-

Dump site operating Wednesday, Saturday

The Bandera County Solid Waste Convenience Site at the county equipment yard near Mansfield Park is now open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

The trash dumping station is being managed by John Phillips and will take trash bags or 30-gallon cans of trash for 75 cents, 55-gallon barrels of trash for $1.50; and $2.50 per cubic yard for larger amounts.

As a rule of thumb, Phillips points out, a regular-sized pickup holds two cubic yards, a small pickup with long bed holds 1½ yards, and a small pickup hauls 1 yard.

Large appliances and pieces of furniture will be taken for $2.

Residents with tires, brush, or lumber will be directed to take these items to the county's dump site west of Medina, commissioners said Monday, and they also talked about setting similar dumping fees for use of the Medina area dump.

"If we are going to charge people to dump trash, it has to be a uniform charge," said Commissioner Danny Alanis of Lakehills. "We can't charge one group of people one thing and another group something else."

County Judge Tommy Curbo of Medina stopped commissioners Monday from further discussion of charges to dump in Medina, where the dump site was acquired by the Medina Rotary Club.

"Not until we have a complete community meeting," said Curbo. "My word, they've had that (dump) for 25 years, and I'm not about to change (things)" without consulting with them, the judge said. "I think they are about ready to accept a charge," he said.

Commissioner A.A. (Pete) Reed said it appeared the county is running out of room at the Medina dump. "We're going to have to do something about that," he said.

Bubba Caloss, Shane Yates top students among Bandera High School graduates

By Melissa Ross

Ronald (Bubba) Caloss Jr. was named valedictorian and Shane Yates salutatorian of the Bandera High School Class of '85 at the Academic Awards Assembly Thursday.

Caloss, son of Dr. and Mrs. Ronald Caloss, achieved a grade-point average of 4.957 to lead all seniors, and Yates, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Wilcox, achieved an average of 4.812.

Other BHS honor graduates included Trey Graves, with a grade-point average of 4.765; Tommy Callahan, 4.757; Shannon McMullan, 4.638; Scott Kelly, 4.26; Toni Kunz, 4.0; Wayne Peck, 3.957; Nancy Hayes, 3.875; and Kevin Parker, 3.855.

Caloss has been very involved at BHS throughout his four years, participating in the Association of Legal Students, football, drama, and University Interscholastic League competition. He is Student Council president, National Honor Society president, and is Mr. BHS.

Yates has been active in Band, UIL, journalism, and the National Honor Society. He is the past president district representative for Student Council, co-editor of Pen in Paw, and Band Beau.

Graves is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Graves. He has been involved in NHS, football and UIL.

A new grade point system was used to determine class standing this year. Instead of ranking graduates by percentage (on a scale of 0-100), they are ranked according to points earned on a scale of 0-5. Students received points according to their grade and according to the type of classes they take, with advanced classes offering more points than others.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

Castroville may be saying goodbye to its singularity.

You may recall an item in this column a couple of months ago. The subject that time was the Edwards Underground Water District's move to seed clouds over a large "target area" that includes Bandera County.

The idea is to enhance the rainfall over this part of the world, thereby creating added recharge for the Edwards Aquifer.

The point then was that the EUWD felt no compunction even to inform the people in the so-called "target area" of what was to be done to them.

"It's only the latest example of the apparent arrogance of the public agencies of San Antonio toward their neighbors," I wrote.

Our man Tom Denyer happened across an item illustrating that arrogance even more vividly.

We've all read and heard of the city of San Antonio's moves to attract Sea World to its environs. It seems now the big tourist attraction will be built near San Antonio. If fact, it will be in the lap of the picturesque community of Castroville.

During all of the jockeying that has taken place, have the officials of Castroville been informed, consulted or warned?

Of course not.

So those officials said, "let's go talk to them." And during an audience with Mayor Henry Cisneros, they were told the following:

No, no one with the city or with Sea World even thought about consulting with Castroville officials.

Whatever they do, they better do it quickly, because the McDonald's, the souvenir shops, and the parking lots are on the way.

I don't know if the city of Castroville has done anything to assure its singular atmosphere will be preserved. I think they have relied on the voluntary efforts of businesses and residents to preserve and magnify the unique architectural style that makes Castroville more than just another little town.

I don't think, for example, they have on their lawbooks an ordinance requiring facades of businesses to perpetuate the unique appearance that is Castroville.

If they don't, they can say goodbye to their singularity.

Several far-sighted business people in Castroville and in other towns in the way of San Antonio's growth, including Bandera, are preparing for the economic largesse they see on the horizon.

But who is looking after preserving the quality of life in these communities?

Hey, gentle reader, that's your job.

Care of our own

Dear editor:

I am writing in reference to your April 4 article "Curbo seeks donations for Africa's starving people."

I think the majority of the folks in Bandera County would prefer that certain people take care of the problems of Bandera County before worrying about foreign affairs. Instead of sending $35 per person to Africa, let's all donate $35 toward the purchase of a new EMS vehicle for Bandera County.

Let's take care of our own before we try to save the rest of the world.

Go down the drain

Dear editor:

For years each separate interest group has gone their way, with an "all for me and to hell with the others" attitude as far as the tourist trade is concerned. This attitude has hurt us all in bringing tourists to our area, and this is our largest single industry.

There is no reason, except for our limited, selfish attitudes, as to why we cannot work together, to double, triple our tourist trade. Hell, the sky's the limit, if we all cooperated and worked together.

Good examples of this are Castroville, Kerrville, Fredericksburg, Boerne and now even Hondo. Why should these towns surrounding us get our share of the tourist business because Bandera County has so much infighting amongst ourselves.

If we want our share of the tourist business in the Cowboy Capital of the World, then there can be no such thing as the Lake people going their way, the town's people their way, the Dude ranches their way, the race track their way and the Chamber of Commerce in circles, not knowing which way to go.

We are all our own worst enemies, and unless we cooperate and work together we can only lose out to other towns around us.

Frankly, I believe that we are achievers in this county. I believe we have as much, if not more to offer (or can have), as any of the other communities surrounding us has to offer. But, only if we get our act together and all of us work and pull together.

This is not just my idea, but what I have heard from people right here in our community and in the towns surrounding. Some of them have even said, "Bandera is no threat to our tourist business as you're all too busy cutting each others throats." I don't believe this. But, I do believe that we all must put aside our differences and unify and work hard together and everyone in the county can only benefit.

But, to do this we have to have everyone working together and a strong, unified Chamber of Commerce to lead the way.

In my work, once a month, I spend at least three days traveling all of the surrounding counties, even as far as Fredericksburg, and talk to hundreds of people. But, we can turn things around and get a huge part of the year-round tourist business, if we all unify, work hard and start saying we, instead of I.

I have strong faith that we can do it. Otherwise, we slowly go down the drain as we have been doing. It's up to all of us which way we go.

Always enjoyable

Dear editor:

I enjoy and look forward to the Bulletin each week as it's always enjoyable to read the goings on in the county I was born and raised in — quite a few years ago.

Senate, House both pass budgets that don't require tax increases

The Legislature moved one step closer to dodging a tax bullet last week when the Senate approved a $36.8 billion budget similar to a House version already passed.

Like the House budget bill, the Senate bill does not require a tax increase to balance the budget.

But it does raise several state fees by $220 million, which is $100 million more than fees raised by the House, and it provides no across-the-board pay increase for state employees.

After the House rejected the Senate bill, a conference committee was named of senators Grant Jones, Ed Howard, Ray Farabee, John Traeger and Kent Caperton, and representatives Jim Rudd, Jim McWilliams, Frank Madla, Bill Hollowell, and Mike Toomey. All are Democrats except Toomey, a Republican.

The Legislature must act to raise tuition at state colleges and universities as well as the state user fees in order to avoid raising taxes.

Water plan passed

Both chambers gave final approval to the Texas Water Plan compromise package, a proposed constitutional amendment, that will sell $980 million in water development bonds and $200 million in agricultural water conservation bonds.

Voters will decide in November whether to allow the sale to finance various water projects statewide.

National bank has new president

The First National Bank of Bandera has appointed Sterling C. Burke Jr. as its new president and former president Terry Joe Morrow has been named vice chairman of the board.

At the same time, Betty Richmond was elected cashier.

"Coming to Bandera is coming home," Burke said Wednesday. He attended the first three years of elementary school in Bandera.

He said the change also signals changes to come in the bank's direction and its image. The bank's new direction? "Progressive," he said.

"I would want the citizens of Bandera to know that this is their bank," he said. "We are an independent bank and we are pledged to serve the community."

A graduate of The University of Texas and the Southwest School of Banking at SMU, Burke took some post-graduate work at St. Mary's University in San Antonio.

He served in the U.S. Army, being discharged as a captain, and began his banking career in 1967 at the Frost Bank in San Antonio.

He also has been associated as vice president with Citizens Bank in Dickinson, League City Bank and Trust, and the First National Bank of Goliad.

In between he spent 2½ years operating his family's business, Sterling Burke Realtor, in San Antonio.

He came back to Bandera nine weeks ago as senior vice president and assumed the president's position Wednesday.

His parents are Sterling C. Burke Sr. and Cecille Faris Burke and his grandmother was Cleora Faris, who operated the OST, the old City Hotel, and other businesses in Bandera. He is a nephew of Elsie Brooks Smith, Bandera Realtor.

Faces of Bandera County

Judy Dunn is the new secretary for the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce. Judy comes to the chamber with experience in all phases of office administration. She is excited over the interest of businesses and individuals in the upcoming Funtier Days celebration May 25 and 26. She, her husband John, daughter Shanon, and son Scot have lived at Medina Lake for four years. "The small town atmosphere and history is what I like about Bandera," she said. She started touring points of interest in the county this week and hopes to visit all of them in the coming weeks. "I want to be familiar with everything in the area," she said, "so when I tell people what Bandera County has to offer I will be able to answer their questions."

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Joe Goodwin was elected tax assessor-collector for the Bandera Independent School District. Goodwin lived in Bandera for 10 years. During most of that time he was in business operating the IGA Store and the Bandera Food Market.

Ernest Mayfield of Medina was honored at Southwest Texas State College for outstanding achievement in scholarship, achievement and leadership. Mayfield, son of Mr. and Mrs. E.D. Mayfield of Medina, was one of 181 students honored.

The eighth grade School Daze news reported students had completed 1000-word theme papers on fire prevention.

In the school pre-vacation fun, Kenneth Edwards made a rope elevator to elevate supplies to his tree house.

The senior class boarded a bus and spent a day in a fun-giving atmosphere at the Guadalupe River above Hunt. After a full day of beautiful weather, delicious food, abundant entertainment and fellowship, they left Heart of the Hills and another Senior Day was past history.

"With the dedication of the new post office in Bandera, on May 14, 1960, a giant step was made in the progress of the fine city," said the Bulletin. The building was truly a credit to the town. Added features by townspeople were the planter in front planted by the Madrona Garden Club, and the spacious parking area, which people enjoyed when they went for their mail.

Deer hunting season extended

Deer hunters in Bandera County this fall will be able to enjoy the longest hunting season and highest bag limits in history.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission Thursday, May 21, authorized the Parks and Wildlife Department to open the white-tailed deer season each year on the second Saturday in November and added an additional antlerless deer to the bag limit.

The season opener in Bandera and most other counties in the past has been the Saturday nearest Nov. 15. Opening day for the 1985 season will be Nov. 9, and it will close on the first Sunday in January, which will be Jan. 5.

The change creates a 58-day deer season instead of the 51-day setup which has been standard for many years. However, officials pointed out that during some years the season will be only 51 days because of calendar differences.

The change was adopted to offer more hunting opportunity and to eliminate confusion about the opening date each year, the Wildlife Department said.

In all counties having an archery-only white-tail season, including Bandera County, the season dates are Oct. 5-Nov. 3, 1985.

The increase in the deer bag limit approved Thursday will make it potentially possible for a hunter to harvest five deer, not to include more than four white-tails (no more than two white-tail bucks) or two mule deer in a season.

However, in some 92 counties hunters are limited to one buck, and antlerless permit issuance rates depend upon the findings of annual deer census surveys.

The extra deer is being allowed to encourage hunters to take advantage of the antlerless segment of the deer herd which remains overpopulated an underharvested in much of Texas' deer range.

The commission also made a number of changes in turkey hunting regulations, including a new "swing" turkey tag for the hunting license. This tag would be valid for use in either the fall or spring turkey season, and would allow a hunter to take two Rio Grande turkey gobblers during the spring season in counties offering a spring season.

The bag limit will be three turkeys during any one year. However, the bag limit in East Texas counties which have eastern turkeys will remain at one gobbler (spring season only).

As in the past, the fall turkey season in 1985 will conform with the standard white-tailed deer season.

Other new turkey hunting regulations include providing Edwards, Kimble, McCulloch and Menard Counties with an either-sex turkey bag limit of two.

In counties having a spring turkey season, including Bandera, the dates are April 12-27, 1986, except in East Texas counties having a spring season on eastern turkeys, where the season dates are March 29-April 13.

Fruit garden field day to be held May 18

When you think of fruit, grapes, and innovative ideas one man comes to mind immediately. Homer DeViney!! Homer could probably graft a peach tree to a cedar fence post and make it grow and produce fruit.

The Fruit Garden field day of the Bandera County Extension Service will be Saturday May 18 at Homer DeViney's fruit gardens beginning 2 p.m.

Dr. J.W. Stewart, extension entomologist, and Dr. Loy Shreve, extension horticulturist, will be there to discuss cultural practices and insect control in the fruit garden. DeViney will also give a grafting demonstration using grape, apple & native plum rootstocks, said extension agent Scott Durham.

"In the past, this has been a very popular and informative program," said Durham.

vice in Bandera. The operator had agreed to take necessary sanitary precautions, insure his operation, and pay the city a $50 license fee.

It was intended to carry tourists on tours of the city and to add atmosphere to the streets.

Council members Adamietz and Tobin voted for allowing the service to operate, and Scheele, Fox and Bailey opposed it.

The council approved a revised plat of the city's Riverview Addition, the so-called Toudouze property on Highway 16, submitted by Buddy Thompson.

The property is zoned commercial and Thompson plans to sell 22 lots, bearing 100 percent of the cost of extending utilities to the sites.

Scheele expressed his objection to any building in the flood plain, which Thompson said is the case for all the property in question. The matter passed by a 4-1 vote, however.

A public hearing was set for June 10 on a zoning change requested by builder Thomas Smith of Bandera. He wants 3.77 acres off 12th Street changed back to commercial zoning to allow the construction of a lumber and hardware store by Kerry Hevenor.

Thomas had requested it be zoned residential last year.

The council took no action on several matters brought up by Scheele. He moved to require buildings on any lot within the city be valued at nine times the assessed value of the lot on which it is built. That proposal died for lack of a second.

He proposed a second motion which the mayor refused to accept. Scheele said the motion was to amend the city ordinance which gives the mayor power to hire and fire the police chief to give that authority to the council.

Mayor Cowan voluntarily gave the council the power to overrule his firing of Police Chief Walter Welch later in Monday's meeting.

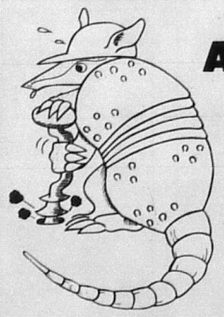

Scheele also complained of the lack of leadership of the city street crews, but no action was taken.

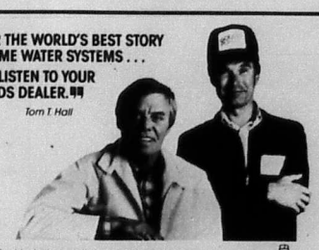

Floral paintings exhibited

"Visions of Flowers," an exhibit of floral paintings in various media and styles by six Hill Country Arts Foundation members, opened May 12, at the HCAF Gallery.

An opening reception will be held from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m. to honor the artists. Participating in the show are Evelyn Hickey from Hunt and Peg Nickerson, Fern Morrison, Dorothy Slavich, Dorothy Hatch and Stella Sydow, all from Kerrville.

The show will continue to hang through June 8. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays. Weekend hours vary.

Schaefer recognized by highway agency

Sherrill Schaefer, of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation's Bandera Maintenance section, has been honored for his outstanding 1984 service and safety records.

District Engineer Raymond Stotzer with Supervising Resident Engineer C.E. Hackebeil and Maintenance Construction Supervisor Charles Georg presented Schaefer with a 30-year meritorious service certificate and a 30-year accident-free driving award, the highest in the 16-county San Antonio district.

Bruce Eliker received a 15 year service certificate and a 13 year driving award.

Schaefer is a senior crew leader in charge of pavement patching. He began his highway career as a truck driver for the Boerne section. When the Bandera section was opened in 1957, he was among its first employees.

Born in San Antonio, Schaefer moved to Bandera as a teenager and studied at local schools. The father of two sons and two daughters, he is a member of the Bandera United Methodist Church.

Eliker is assistant foreman. He first worked as a helper on a highway maintenance crew at Bandera. He was a heavy equipment operator for the district shops before being promoted to assistant foreman.

A Corpus Christi native, Eliker graduice from San Antonio's Alamo Heights High School. In 1965 he enlisted in the U.S. Air Force and served three years active duty. He is a master sergeant in a reserve unit. He and his wife, the former Sheila Freeman, are members of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church.

Others recognized for their safe driving efforts included Louis Rodriguez with 10 years of accident free driving, Juan Fernandez with six years, Kenneth Childs with five years, Raymond Pawelik and Martin Rico with four years each and Alfred Schulte, Abran Oranday and Leslie Biermann with two years each.

The district safety officer Tim Mercer and his assistant, Karen Migl, conduct a continuing accident prevention program. Monthly safety meetings, equipment inspections and hazard checks all contribute to fewer accidents. Substantial savings in human lives and tax dollars are realized each time an accident is prevented.

District 15 ranks among the safest of the Texas State Department of Highways and Public Transportation's 25 districts.

Among those participating in the award ceremonies were representatives from the SDHPT's Austin headquarters, neighboring district officials, Captain Randall Gilmore of the Texas Department of Public Safety, District 15 staff personnel and resident engineers.

One of the program highlights was a film entitled, "It Will Never Happen To Me." It emphasizes the importance of using seat belts. Gilmore underlined their importance with the statistic that 97.8 percent of the motor vehicle fatalities in the state were not using their seat belts. Only 2.2 percent of these fatalities were using the belts. In this district, he said, not one of the more than 100 motor vehicle fatalities were using a seat belt.

Crime victims' bill of rights

Legislation called "the crime victims' bill of rights" took a step toward becoming law Tuesday when it was approved by a Senate committee in Austin.

Mr. and Mrs. William Walker of Bandera, parents of schoolteacher Marie Denise Walker slain here last year, testified in favor of the bill at a hearing earlier.

Written by Rep. Frank Tejeda, D-San Antonio, the bill has been passed by the House and now goes to the full Senate for consideration.

"With this bill we finally bring the victim into the process and take into consideration the victim's feelings and concerns," said Tejada after the committee approved the bill.

The proposal outlines the rights of a victim of violent crime, including:

- Receiving protection from threats arising from having cooperated with law enforcement authorities.
- Notification of all court proceedings, including plea bargains.
- Providing information about the impact of the crime before the defendant is sentenced.
- Notification of parole hearings and providing information to the Board of Pardons and Paroles relative to early release.

County's insurance costs taking dramatic jumps

By Nick Johnson
Editor

A heated exchange occurred between county inspector Spot Wright and developer Bill Laird.

The cost of insurance premiums on the county's structures and its general liability insurance alone has increased at least 132 percent over last year.

County commissioners voted Monday to purchase the insurance from Joe McMullan of Bandera with annual premiums of $23,975. The motion to buy the insurance was made by McMullan's business partner, Commissioner Danny Alanis of Lakehills.

Similar insurance was provided last year for $10,316, said county treasurer Elizabeth James.

The $23,975 figure will be increased when new buildings not now being insured are added to the total. The policy has a $1,000-deductible feature.

The county advertised for bids on the insurance, but only McMullan submitted a bid.

McMullan told commissioners that part of the reason for the dramatic increase in premiums was that last year was the final year of a three-year period during which the county was enjoying a discount.

Commissioners also purchased from McMullan, again on a motion by Alanis, liability insurance covering law enforcement officers for $8,841.25, a figure that is 92.5 percent higher than was paid last year.

That coverage was provided by the National Sheriff's Association for premiums totalling $4,593 last year, but that agency said it would no longer provide such coverage. McMullan again was the only insurance agency submitting a bid.

A heated exchange between county inspector Spot Wright and developer Bill Laird occurred during the commissioners' consideration of a request by Laird to replat a subdivision known as Willow Springs in Lakehills.

The exchange actually was over the condition of roads in the subdivision, and County Judge Tommy Curbo urged the disagreeing parties to meet, along with county road superintendent Buddy Hubble and Commissioner Danny Alanis, to try to reach an agreement on what needs to be done to bring roads up to county standards.

Commissioners also approved a re-subdivision of Oak Country subdivision in Pipe Creek to add six additional lots to Phase I of the project and to define 77 lots on 56 acres in Phase II. A portion of the subdivision lies in Medina County.

Commissioners also gave permission to the Frontier Times Museum to erect a six-foot by 10-foot outdoor advertising sign on the courthouse lawn directing travellers to the museum.

Carmen Hicks represented the museum board. She said the museum board expects to let a contract for painting and erecting the sign this week.

Dr. Leonard Marks of Methodist Hospital in San Antonio, the Bandera County medical director, visited briefly with commissioners, but was careful to avoid discussion of the administrative reorganization of the Emergency Medical Service that is currently taking place.

He drew a sharp contrast between an administrative suspension, as has been instituted against six Pipe Creek technicians, and withdrawal of technicians' certification.

He made it clear that the county judge and the commissioners court have the authority to suspend and he has the authority to pull certifications.

He said he saw no indication that any of the suspended technicians had done anything which had affected the care given patients.

Commissioners took no action on a bid by Paul Stewart of Asset Valuation, Inc., of San Antonio to evaluate and list all of the counties property.

Such a list of assets has been called for each year for the past several years by the county's auditor. Stewart said the list could be compiled for $11,985.

They approved a bid of $1,140 from Mike Smith of Bandera to replace the ridge roll and clean exhaust turbines at the Rec Center at Mansfield Park, but they rejected a bid of $1,465 to construct a 12-foot by 12-foot office for the Bandera County Solid Waste Convenience site west of Bandera.

They decided to put out for bids the construction of an additional ladies restroom in the courthouse. A bid was received from Smith to do the work for $4,950, using materials furnished by the county that would cost an additional $1,100. State law requires bids on goods and services costing in excess of $5,000.

A $450 legal bill was approved from County Attorney Sam Darden covering the filing of a suit forcing Pipe Creek EMTs to change the name of Bandera County EMS, Inc.

Sales tax collections increase 10.94%

Sales tax collections in the city of Bandera are 10.94 percent higher than they were at the same time last year, figures from the State Comptroller's office show.

The city has received $49,003.81 as its share of the sales taxes collected in the city since Jan. 1, the comptroller said. Last year at this time the city had received $44,171.85.

Sales taxes collected in area cities compared to last year include Helotes up 95.4 percent, New Braunfels up 18.4 percent, Fredericksburg up 24.6 percent, Boerne up 16.5 percent.

University Savings branch here purchased by First Federal Savings and Loan

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Austin will purchase 12 branches of the University Savings Association of Houston, including the Bandera branch, says executive vice president James E. Stafford of First Federal Savings.

The Bandera office along with branches in Blanco, Boerne, Burnet, Comfort, Fredericksburg, Georgetown, Johnson City, Kerrville, Llano, Marble Falls, and Wimberley should change hands before June 30 said Stafford. Consummation of the transaction is subject to governmental regulatory approval.

"The Bandera branch has an excellent staff," Stafford said, "and we don't plan to make any changes. We will provide service to the citizens of the Hill Country, that they expect and want," he said. "We are looking forward to serving the residents of the area."

First Federal currently has 16 branch offices, with ten serving the Austin area. With the purchase of these 12 branches the total will increase to 28 branches and expand First Federal services in eight additional counties in Central Texas.

University Savings president Paul Yates said the sale will permit his company to concentrate its business in the metropolitan area of Houston, Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, and San Antonio. He said University will retain 75 locations.

The oldest federal savings and loan in Central Texas, First Federal of Austin has a 50-year history and has been a member of the FSLIC since it was established in the early 1930's.

With assets of $621 million at the close of the first quarter in March 1985 and net worth of more than $48 million, the association enjoys a healthy capital adequacy ratio of 7.8 percent, Stafford said.

"The purchase will expand First Federal's service area in a manner consistent with sound growth and prudent operations. The purchase of the branch network will strengthen our Central Texas market coverage and will also provide First Federal with established savings offices containing deposits in excess of $200 million," said First Federal president Joe E. Simpson.

The Austin institution assets are now more than 100,000 times greater than the amount of capital its founder invested to start First Federal Savings in 1934.

Armed with just $5,000, one employee, and a two-room office in downtown Austin, A.B. Shierlow took on the Great Depression and prevailed over a nationwide economic crisis to build what was to become one of Texas' largest, most successful savings and loans.

$413,000 needed in county for paving projects

County commissioners put together a "wish list" of road paving work totaling $413,000 at a work session Monday, and scheduled another meeting for 2:30 p.m., May 21, to try to come up with priorities and a method to pay for the work.

Included in the list was $125,000 for repairs to Wharton's Dock Road in Precinct No. 1; $90,000 for five miles of seal coating and two miles of paving in Precinct No. 2 (Lakehills area); $98,000 for 3½ miles of seal coating and four miles of paving in Precinct 3; and $100,000 for an unspecified amount of work in Precinct 4, the far west end.

"On May 21 we'll try to come to an agreement to ask for bids on what paving must be done right now," County Judge Tommy Curbo said.

Commissioner Jimmy Russell of Precinct No. 1 continued to press commissioners to approve funds to repair Wharton's Dock Road, and Curbo told him he could tell area residents, "We're going to do it."

Among the methods of paying for the necessary work mentioned Monday were a possible bond issue, and a combination of full use of road and bridge funds and borrowing for a short term.

Commissioners indicated Monday they intend to come up with a five-year plan for paving and seal coating.

Officers installed at club meeting

The Madrona Garden Club met Friday for the last meeting of the club year at the Catholic School auditorium.

A brief business meeting was conducted by Mrs. H.L. Bruce and a luncheon was enjoyed by 26 members and guests.

Following the luncheon installation of officers was held. Incoming officers for the 1985-1986 club year included Marie Holland, president; Helen Ahr, first vice-president; Eleanor Merritt, third vice-president; Ruth Billings, recording secretary; Vera Fox, treasurer and corresponding secretary; and Sallie Lewis, parliamentarian. Mrs. Hazel Billings was not present and Jewell Cartrett represented her in the installation service. Nettie Saul served as installing officer.

Ladies attending were Mesdames Helen Ahr, Lorene Billings, Ruth Billings, Wimpy Bruce, Jewell Cartrett, Billie Crowell, Thelma Davenport, Amelia Dickens, Eva Freeman, Ola Harrell, Alene Haynes, Esther Hein, Marie Holland, Gladys Huseby, Sallie Lewis, Eleanor Merritt, Johnnie Newcomer, Emogene Pawvlik, Loney Postert, Nettie Saul, Arantha Stein, Thelma Jena Vawter, Doris Ward, Kathryn DeWoody, L.G. Wilder, Lillian Haner.

Wolf Club destroys 31 hogs, 4 coyotes during April

At the regular meeting of the group on May 6, Mansfield reported 31 hogs and 4 coyotes had been destroyed in April. The total number of predators destroyed since February is 8 coyotes, 61 Russian hogs, and 2 bobcats.

Catches for April were one coyote and one hog on the Harley Odom ranch east of Pipe Creek, one coyote and two hogs on Loice Odom's place in the same area, and one coyote on the Betty Delso Auerhahan ranch east of Red Bluff Creek and south of Highway 46.

Other hogs caught were one on Ard Richardson ranch west of Pipe Creek, one on Randy Schott ranch on Park Road 37, 14 on Flying A ranch, two on the Roland Britsch ranch, two on Gayle Monier ranch south of Tarpley, five on Rhea Mansfield ranch on Myrtle Creek, and three on the Dewitt Leibold ranch on Bump Gate Road.

The county contributes funds that are matched by ranchers to pay a bounty.

Stevens attend graduation

On Mother's Day, Mrs. Forest Stevens, together with her daughter and son-in-law, Bettye Jeane and Karl Moore, witnessed the graduation of her grandson Steven W. Moore, at the 12th annual commencement exercises of The University of Texas at San Antonio.

Steven received his bachelor of business administration degree in management and marketing.

After the ceremony he was honored by his family with a barbecue dinner at his parents' home in San Antonio. On the evening before the graduation, Steven and his wife, Brenda, took his parents and his grandmother for a dinner in the revolving restaurant in the Towers of the Americas.

Church of Christ holds Bible class

The ladies Bible class of the Bandera Church of Christ met Monday evening at the education building of the church.

Amy Reagan offered the opening prayer and the group conducted a program and round-table discussion on "Women of the Bible" and a history of the beginning of the Church of Christ in Bandera County.

Following the program, a salad supper was enjoyed by Yvonne Fenner, Mary Ann Smith, Shirley L. Phillips, Audee Kirkindall, Amy Reagan, Sherry Powers, Virginia Johnson, Shelly Postert and Nettie Saul.

Quilts sought for contest

"The Great Texas Quilt Round-Up" offers contemporary Texas quilters the chance to win more than $5,000 in prizes for exciting quilts on Texas themes. The top quilts will tour the State during the Sesquicentennial, Texas' 150th birthday, as part of an exhibition of the best modern quilts in Texas.

A special Sesquicentennial project, "The Great Texas Quilt RoundUp" is jointly sponsored by the nonprofit Texas Sesquicentennial Quilt Association and The Rouse Company and its "Arts in the Marketplace" division.

The contest is open to all Texas quilters or quilters who have lived in Texas previously. Quilters can enter the contest in six categories: Texas history and symbols, Texas cultural influences, nature in Texas, traditional Texas quilt patterns, Texas industry, and Texas myths and heroes. Texas Sesquicentennial Quilt Association offers a brochure describing these categories in detail and providing examples of each.

First grand prize winner will receive $2,000; second grand prize winner, $1,500; third grand prize winner, $1,000; and top winners in each category will receive $100.

Uvalde to present 'Music Man' in June

A "first nighter" party will be held at the Uvalde Country Club immediately after the opening performance of "Music Man" on Saturday evening, June 1. The cast and crew of the play will be honor guests and the theme will be "red, white, and blue." A brass section will provide entertainment.

Tickets are $5 each and may be purchased at the Opera House Box Office, during business hours on weekdays, or by calling 1-278-4082. Tickets to "Music Man" are also on sale at the Box Office. "Music Man" productions are scheduled for June 1, 2, 6, 7, and 8.

Pinto Bean Blowout due again

The Pinto Bean Cookoff at Sons of Hermann Park in Lakehills will be June 8. Chairman Elaine Mixon says entries are coming in, but more are needed.

The deadline for entering this fun event is June 1, she said.

There'll be lots of food, fun, games, music, and cold drinks. Mixon said it's a great family activity. Last year there were three clowns and a real staged shootout between Jake Wilson, Lakehills famous gunslinger, and a couple of gals.

Entry fees will be $10 and must be paid by June 1. Rules and entry blanks can be obtained from Evelyn's Restaurant in Lakehills.

Of the entry fees, 85 percent will go toward prizes. First place will get 50 percent of the total entry fees, second place gets 25 percent, and third place ten percent. Mixon says there will be a trophy for best showmanship.

Parade chairman named

Ray Mauer will again be parade chairman for the Independence Day Parade on July 6.

The American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills sponsors the annual event and a barbecue dinner and festival at the legion hall following the parade each year.

Mauer says the parade will run along Park Road 37 from the intersection of Farm to Market Road 1283 to 39th Street. Judges will select first, second, and third place winners.

Entries usually include large and small floats, bicycles, dune buggies, miniature cars, tractors, clowns, and many other creations of the imagination.

For further information contact chairman Mauer at 751-3876.

AARP to hear RN

Frances Lovett, registered nurse with Diversified Nursing, will be the guest speaker at the Medina Lake Chapter of American Association of Retired Persons meeting on May 20.

Spokeswoman Ann Neal said the program should get under way at 1:30 p.m. AARP meets at the American Legion in Lakehills.

FCCS test students achievements

The Rev. Jim Colley of Faith Chapel Christian School said the four students enrolled in the Lakehills school were recently tested using the California Achievement Test and the average student achieved 1.6 years of progress in the past nine months.

Colley said three of the students were given an aptitude test of cognitive skills and each showed an average increase of 10 points over rankings when tested last fall.

Colley said the fourth student did not take this test as he had been withdrawn from the school.

Medina Lake Players dominate MLBA meeting

Discussion of the Medina Lake Players upcoming production, "Curse You, Jack Dalton," took up most of the time at the Medina Lake Betterment Association meeting May 9.

The play will be presented at the Lakehills Civic Center May 18 at 8 p.m. and May 19 at 2 p.m.

Bob Caswell reported numerous organizations, not only in Lakehills and Pipe Creek, but also Bandera and the surrounding area have requested the players to present the play to their group during the coming summer months.

Tickets for Saturday and Sunday afternoon are still available at the Cutaway Beauty Salon.

It's Cliff

The picture of Cliff Stoops, one of the players in this weekend's presentation of the Medina Lake Players, was misidentified in last week's issue. Cliff Stoops has the title role in the Players' version of "Curse You, Jack Dalton" at 8 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday at the Lakehills Civic Center.

Around The Lake

By Lila MacMillan

The Chili Cookoff on May 4 at the Cedar Point Landing benefiting the Mico Volunteer Fire Department was a great success, says Betty Seabolt. Between 250 and 300 people attended the event.

"There were 20 paid entries," Seabolt said, "and we had a large variety of chili recipes."

Winners were first place Burrell's "Latex Chili" from Castroville. Second place went to Kidder and Perkins from Mico for their "Hopas Chili." Garza's "Cisco No Name Chili" from Castroville took third place. The showmanship award went to locals Kidder and Perkins. There were four honorable mention awards, Seabolt said.

The dance following with the AceTones musical group was well attended. The proceeds from the benefit are still being totaled, Seabolt said, and will be turned over to the fire department.

Cindy May Schacht and Robert Seabolt Jr. were married May 11 at the Calvary Hills Baptist Church. A dinner and reception were held at the Cedar Point Landing following the ceremony.

The Mico Volunteer Fire Department of Medina Lake will hold a fund raising barbecue this Saturday, May 18. Serving will begin at 11 a.m. There will also be a flea market during the day and bingo at 7 p.m., said spokesman George H. Lewis. Proceeds will be used in support of the department. The firehouse located in Mico is one mile north of the dam.

St. Francis Chapel in Mico will celebrate mass Saturday evening at 6 p.m. instead of 7 p.m. The change in time will enable churchgoers and visitors alike to attend mass before going to the benefit games at the Mico firehouse.

The barbecue plates will be $3.50 for adults and children 12 and under can eat barbecue for $2.

Chuck Strange and Preston Boggs of Lakehills were welcomed as new members of the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department in Lakehills Tuesday evening.

At the Medina Lake Betterment Associations meeting on May 7 James and Mary Popham and Earl and Ruth Dunning, all of Lakehills were approved by the board of directors as new members.

Consumer Beware!
Don't be burned by aluminum wire.
Although aluminum wire may cost half as much as copper wire, so are the amperage ratings. This means that the aluminum wire must be as much as twice the diameter as that of the copper wire in order to handle the same load. Not to mention the electrolysis and corrosion problem with aluminum wire.
Although aluminum wire seems to last well when exposed to the air, as seen on poles and highlines, its characteristics change when inclosed, such as panels and many pipe lines. One of the largest of these problems is caused by moisture, which general condensation will cause corrosion of the aluminum itself. The corrosion causes heat — heat, where heat is very dangerous.
Burning wire, breakers, and even blowing holes in panels, many fires and costly repairs are caused by the faulty connections left by aluminum wire.
So when you need Electrical Work Done, ask your contractor to bid your job in copper wire.

Castle Lake combines barbecue with annual meeting

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department will hold its annual meeting Sunday, May 19, at 1 p.m.

In conjunction with the meeting there will be a barbecue dinner served. Adult dinners will be $3 and children can eat for $1.50.

The fire department is off Bear Creek Road.

Barbecue weekend for fire department

Along with delicious food the Pipe Creek Fire Department will offer fun at the country store and a fish pond this year for the young at heart. Spokeswoman Neta Taylor says come out and enjoy the weekend with the department May 18 and 19.

Homemakers talk about "Someone I Admire"

Anwering roll call with a short talk on "someone I admire" were 14 members of the Pipe Creek Extension Homemakers Club at their meeting on May 7. The lively group met at the home of Irene Smith.

Warmly welcomed back were three members who had been on the sick list. They were Catherine Biasiolli, Alma Martin, and Johnnie Newcomer. Secretary Anita Booher reported a heartwarming discussion on the welfare of other ill members followed the welcome back.

An informal discussion by Helen Ahr on "Shortcuts to Sewing" was enjoyed by the group also.

Serving will begin at 11 a.m. and continue until the barbecue is sold out both days.

To top off the barbecue brisket, potato salad, and pinto beans, there'll be homebaked goods and ice cream.

Registration open for scout day camp

Registration is open for the Girl Scout day camp to be held at Mooney Park in Kerrville from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. June 10 through 14.

Any girl entering first through 12th grade in the fall is eligible to register.

Camp fee will be $7.50 for Girl Scouts and $10.50 for non-Scouts.

Activities will include nature crafts, songs, games, hikes, cookouts and performing arts.

For more information or to register, call the San Antonio Area of Girl Scouts, (512) 349-2404.

Sharp out, Standish in as fire chief

By a unanimous vote members of the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department ousted it's fire chief, Jim Sharp, and elected John Standish to finish out the year.

A spokeswoman for the department said the by-laws stipulate if a member doesn't participate, without excuse for a period of three months, the member can be removed. The spokeswoman, who did not wish to be identified, said "this is the second time Sharp has been removed as fire chief from this department. Many of us wonder why he drums up supporters and keeps running for the office when he doesn't plan to do the job."

Standish was the first assistant fire chief prior to the May 9 meeting when he was elected to chief to finish out the year.

"Sharp has not attended any fire department meetings or been available at any fires in the area since January," the spokeswoman said.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The Monday morning craft class, with Joe May as leader, is not resting on its laurels, just because it miraculously turned out that magnificent silk string quilt (queen-size) which was on display during open house week at the Silver Sage Corral.

The members are now creating tablecloths for the center's tables, including a formal white one for the long table, and matching smaller ones for the quartet tables, according to coordinator May.

From there they plan to move into making Seminole patchwork skirts and Christmas tablecloths. New members may join in at any time, says May.

Good news for anyone who wants to learn basic knitting, and the reading of the hieroglyphics commonly known as knitting instructions: Julia McDaniel will instruct in a group or individually, once a week on an afternoon of your choice. Call the center, 796-4969, to reserve a place.

Bunco Squad

Two bunco parties in a single month this time, since April's party was preempted because of moving day. This time it will be on Wednesday, May 22, at 1:30 p.m.

Last week's hostesses were Arantha Stein and Hazel and Ruth Reisinger. The prizes were furnished by Verna Schaefer. Four tables played a wild and woolly game, according to all accounts, and topped it off with ice cream and cake.

Birthday dinner

If you were born in May, no matter how long ago, come and be a guest at the May monthly birthday dinner, and everyone else's covered dishes will be shared with you. Of course you already know that your birthstone is the emerald, which symbolizes success, and a hearty welcome awaits you at the Silver Sage Corral, at noon, on Tuesday, May 21.

Duplicate bridge

If you are a bridge buff, you may want to join the duplicate bridge club on Saturday evenings at the Silver Sage Corral, 6:30 p.m. Carmen Boyington, who is the center volunteer in charge of this after-hours activity, says "Come and bring a partner."

AACOG Senior advisory committee

At last week's meeting of the Senior Advisory Committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments, the crime prevention specialist, Buddy Lovestock, showed a film on rural crime, and offered to meet with any Bandera County group which wishes to learn more about neighborhood cooperation against crime. He may be reached through AACOG at 225-5201, San Antonio.

Lovestock also warned older Texans to beware of becoming a victim of a swindler, such as an out-of-town (and often fly-by-night) house repair outfit, or someone offering something for nothing.

If it seems too good to be true, it probably is....

Costs nothing to get a temporary card. The permanent card and area directory will be mailed out soon.

A good number to write down is: 1-800-252-9240. This puts you in touch with the information and referral services of the Texas Department of Aging, the primary advocate for Texans 60 years old and up.

Visit to Golden Hub

A mini-busload of participants, 12 in number, from Silver Sage Corral have been invited to visit and have lunch at the Golden Hub, Fredericksburg's senior center, on Wednesday, May 22. The bus would leave at 9:30 a.m., and return about 4 p.m.

Those who are interested in getting ideas for programs and examining the workings of a very successful center, are invited to make reservations for this trip.

Of pots and plants

V. Mullenax sends forth an urgent request for flower pots, especially the middle-size ones, as her baby seedlings are becoming adolescents now. She wishes to remind the public that plants are an ongoing item for sale at the Gift Gazebo of the Silver Sage Corral.

A further reminder: Center staff and volunteer hosts and hostesses are on duty only from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays. Special groups meeting after regular hours may not open the door or answer the phone.

'Old Timer' tapes

Jon Johnson, director of the Hill Country YMCA, has brought the tapes of interviews with some older Bandera County citizens to the center, to enlist its help in transcribing them.

If you care to help, pick up a tape and a page of instructions at the Center office and try to finish at least one tape by June 1. The kids who did the interviews will be most grateful.

Pictures of Grand Opening

Before long there will be on display at the Silver Sage Corral some albums of simply superb pictures of the Grand Opening and the week-long Open House. The photographers are Lynn Post, Marie Holland and Doris Dolle.

Now is the time to mount these pics and write captions for them while memories are fresh because, as Judge Tom Grant says, in a very few years, Bandera will forget that the Silver Sage Corral has not always been there.

Dear donors...

Thanks to Milt Culley for a large collection of kitchen utensils, to the center's top individual contributor, Henry Keene, for another check; to Janice Verhelst, the E.C. Morgensterns, Lucille Brae and Clara Duff for donations; Clara also brought in plants for the gift shop.

Memorials were gratefully received: from Mr. and Mrs. Red Moores for Sue Hevenor, M.R. Sandidge, Jesse Everett and Fran Culley; from the John Goodenoughs for Willis Causey, Fran Culley and Jesse Everett; from Norma Barr for Fran Culley; and from W.F. Hathaway for Jesse Everett and Fran Culley.

A discovery?

The Art Group who have met continuously for several years from 9 to 11:30 a.m. each Thursday morning at the Senior Center, goes on as usual, now in the new surroundings, Mary Worley reports. "Those who enjoy painting and sharing ideas, or just time together, are most welcome to come, share the fellowship, and perhaps discover a new friend or neighbor," she said.

Fun(d) day May 19

The need for a new firehouse at Willow City is the reason for the group's fun(d) day Sunday, May 19, beginning at 2 p.m.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3255

Walker Memorial Chapel held its first "singapiration" and ice cream fellowship Friday, May 10. There was a good turnout and everyone enjoyed themselves in song and they devoured the ice cream. This event will be held twice a month. The next one will be on Friday, May 24, at 7 p.m.

Sick list

Cliff and May Maston's daughter, Geneva Maston, who had been in the Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville, is back in her home at Wharton's Dock recuperating.

Earl Evens is out of the hospital and has returned to his home here on the river. Now listen Earl, the community says for you to take care of yourself and don't go getting sick again.

Ethel Smalley was released from the Humana Hospital in San Antonio and spent a few days with friends in San Antonio to gain some strength back prior to returning to her home at Medina Lake Shores. Her son Albert and his wife Bernice brought Ethel back to our area on Mother's Day.

Visitors

Mark Hall, Mary Ann and Dixie and Mark's sister Vicky and her daughter Summer were up to do repairs to their Lakeshore home and to get some visiting done with some of their friends.

Roy and Wanda Lich were here Saturday night working on their waterfront home. They left early Sunday to return to Kerrville to pick up mother for Mother's Day.

Arley Banks, his mother, and his sister Bonnie and her husband and daughter came up to visit with Glenn Banks. While here, Arley checked on the condition of his home at Wharton's Dock.

Erva and Tuck Tampke were here visiting friends and checking on the river and their home.

Mark and Kelly Avallone of San Francisco flew in to visit with Phillip and Nola Bledsoe for Mother's Day. Mark is Nola's son. They also brought along the grandbaby Chaquita for grandma and grandpa to see for the first time. (Chaquita is a tea cup Chihuahua.)

Helen and E.C. Kennedy were here working on their home. They still plan to retire around the middle of summer and moving here permanently.

Other happenings

Cliff Maston wants to thank those who helped in his music festival. This event was for a good cause and those who did not come and play or listen to the music are missed something.

There will be a stretch and sew demonstration at the Walker Memorial Chapel on May 28 at 2 p.m. Shirley Langston, owner of the Stretch and Sew in San Antonio will demonstrate. There is no charge and literature will be available. A door prize will be given and those planning to attend may call Doris Beach at 796-4654 to register.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department has a general meeting scheduled for Saturday, May 25, at 11 a.m. This is a regular, quarterly meeting. The short and long goals of the fire department will be discussed. After the meeting a luncheon will be served.

Deanie and Richard Newman have returned from a trip to Las Vegas. Richard is suffering from a twisted shoulder from watching the arm on the slot machines. Ray Bowan and lady friend Lena made the trip too. While there they ran into Ross and Lois from Bandera and Pat and Lillian Kingery from Kingsland. Lillian is Bethel Lackey's sister. They all report that they helped the economy of Las Vegas.

Marion and Marjorie Birch and Marion Trout visited with Betty and John Ciarlo Saturday, May 11, after the music festival and enjoyed an impromptu spaghetti dinner.

Among those from our area attending Billie and John Nolan's open house in Bandera on Saturday, May 11, were Juanita Ratliff and Mary K. Andreas, who took tossed salad, and Bill Stevens, who took his famous pinto beans.

Visiting the DeWitts were old-time friends from Klamath Falls, Ore., Orvill and Mildred Smith. The Smiths are enroute to Alabama. Charles and Vie Niedecker from Florida and Bill and Lucy Winters from Georgetown also visited the DeWitts for a few days.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Cloudy days and warm temperatures have prevailed in the Tarpley area.

Mr. and Mrs. A.B. (Skeets) Singleton drove to San Antonio Sunday morning to spend Mother's Day with her family.

Other guests were the Singleton's son Byron and his friend Amy Fitzsimon, and Bobby's sister and husband Dorothy and Bill Maness. They report a lovely day.

San Antonio guests

Donnie and Marie Newcomb and children Molly and Jonathan were Mother's Day dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Dean.

Lovely red and white carnations were presented to the great-grandmothers, grandmothers, and mothers, honoring them on Mother's Day.

Tarpley Baptist Mission News

Visitors from out of town that attended church service Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. R.E. (Dick) Tarpley of Greenville and a cousin, Eula Mae Hayton of Dallas.

Mr. Tarpley is trying to find someone that might know something of his family. He's descended from Tarpley Prickett.

Attend graduation

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Haner went to San Antonio Saturday where they enjoyed a Mother's Day dinner hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Haner and children Dale and Tara.

There the families went to Trinity University where Dale Haner graduated magna cum laude at Laurie Auditorium. Haner was one of the top students with a 3.75 grade point average. Dale's parents are Jerome and Barbara Haner, and grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. H.E. (Boss) Haner of Tarpley.

Enjoys trip

Victor Purvis has done a lot of traveling the last 10 days. First he visited his cousin Barbara Hale at Bay City and his cousin Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hale, and then drove out to Big Bend National Park, something he's especially wished to do for a long time.

Pauline Dossmann is home after a two week stay in St. Luke's Hospital. Her daughter Sister Anne of Incarnate Word is staying with her while she recuperates.

Airport systems study hearing set

A public meeting to present the Goals and Objectives of the CAPCO/AACOG Airport Systems Plan for the Greater Austin/San Antonio Corridor and to solicit feedback from the public, is scheduled for 5:30 p.m., May 23, in the AACOG Conference Room 420, 118 Broadway, San Antonio.

TRAVEL INDUSTRY
RECOGNIZED DURING NATIONAL TOURISM WEEK
$40 Billion of Travel and Tourism
Sold by Travel Agents in 1984
Bandera will join cities nationwide in recognizing the importance of travel and tourism to the U.S. economy and the American public during National Tourism Week, May 19-25.
"Tourism Work$ for America," the theme for the second annual National Tourism Week, reflects the travel and tourism industry's position as the third largest retail industry in America. Last year alone, international and domestic travelers in this country spent $210 billion, directly supported 4.6 million jobs and generated $20 billion in tax revenue. And, of the total amount Americans spent on travel and tourism in 1984, more than $40 billion worth of travel was sold by travel agents.
"Americans are spending more time and money than ever before on travel and tourism. And, as the travel industry becomes more complex, people are increasingly looking to travel agents for up-to-date fare information for both business and leisure travel, says Bev Cox of Sundance Travel Int'l at 805 Main St.
"With price wars, deregulation, ever changing fares and a myriad of available destinations it's harder than ever for travelers to be sure that their travel dollars are being spent, or saved wisely." According to Bev Cox, consumers should carefully inspect advertised deals, plan travel as far in advance as possible and "read the fine print" before purchasing tours and other vacation packages.
During National Tourism Week, Sundance Travel Int'l encourages consumers to inquire about "How to Be a Smart Traveler," an 18-page carry-along, consumer travel guide which will be available through ASTA travel agents in June. Published by the American Society of Travel Agents, Inc., the world's largest travel trade association, "How to Be a Smart Traveler" provides travelers with tips and information on everything from packing to tipping in a foreign country.

REA called 'miracle' for rural progress

Bandera's Marcelino R. Martinez was cited for 30 years service.

"The REA (Rural Electrification Administration) has had more to do with rural development than any other thing," State Sen. Bill Sims, D-San Angelo, told members of the Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc., Saturday.

He spoke during the 46th annual membership meeting of the Co-op and during the 50th anniversary celebration of the REA in the U.S. "Had not Mr. (Franklin) Roosevelt and Mr. (Sam) Rayburn, who carried the bill in the House, created the REA, where would we be today?" the senator who represents Bandera in Austin asked.

He called the development of the REA and the government's success ful rew worm era dication program "two miracles, each brought about by visionaries," and said each would have been impossible had it not been for big government.

"We have to control big government, but we've got to have it," he said.

Sen. Sims said budget problems in Austin are actually an effort to build no-growth budgets. "We've got about six percent more money this biennium than we had the last biennium," he said. "The state has overspent and overextended its services during the last 20 years when we have had 25 percent increases in revenue available each biennium."

He said the state water plan, which he supported, has passed the legislature, and several parts of it will be submitted to the voters for their approval in November.

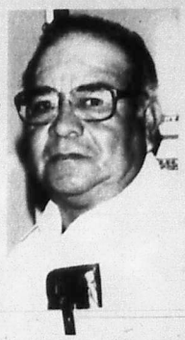

"If these (constitutional) amendments don't pass, the water plan is dead," he said. The amendments would authorize the sale of bonds to finance local water supply facilities, water quality and wastewater treatment plants, flood control projects and reservoirs. "They are not going to cost us (the taxpayer) anything," Sen. Sims said. "The people who use the facilities financed will pay for them."

Eighty-seven ballots were cast during the meeting and together with proxy ballots they elected Joe Snider of Utopia to the Co-op's board of directors and they re-elected Walter N. Bergmann of Boerne and J.A. Bunton Jr. of Leakey.

Other Co-op directors include Dan C. Callahan of Bandera, Gib Gray of Lakehills, Jerry Word of Pipe Creek, Paul L. Garrison Jr. of Medina, Raymond Hicks of Bandera and Lawrence S. Goforth of Comfort.

Crew chief Marcelino R. Martinez of Bandera was recognized for 30 years of employment. Others cited include Raymond H. Batto Jr. of Bandera for 25 years; Jimmy Kinsey of Medina and Curtis W. Wiseman of Comfort, each for 15 years; James R. Wagner of Bandera for 10 years; and Robert D. (Bobby) Waid of Pipe Creek, Mary Jane Davenport of Leakey and Ronald Schindler of Bandera, for five years each.

Goforth, Gray and Hicks were cited for long service on the board of directors.

Cancer Society holds last regular meeting

The Bandera County American Cancer Society held its last regular meeting for the summer Monday.

Reports were given on the crusade drive — "Donations are still coming in and we do appreciate everyone's help," said spokeswoman Emogene Pawlik.

The next meeting will be held Sept. 9 at 2 p.m. at The First State Bank.

Monday, May 20, he will show a film on colorectal cancer to the UFW at its regular meeting.

"With Memorial Day coming up it is a good reminder to give a memorial in memory of a loved one," Pawvlik said. These may be turned in to Edith Chandler at University Savings and Loan.

School hasn't decided its water plans yet

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

"What we meant after the discussion at the April 24 meeting was only to approve (Roy) Ronnfeldt to proceed with drawing up plans and specifications for a water system on the site of Alkek Elementary School," said school board president Thomas (Bub) Keese Monday. "And then it would be put out for bid."

Trustee Richard Evans had asked the other members of the Bandera school board if an entry in the board's minutes of the April 24 special meeting was a true reflection of the board's actions and intentions. The minutes of the meeting had read "Mrs. (Katie) Ruede moved that the board accept Mr. Ronnfeldt's proposal No. 2 for a water system at the new Alkek Elementary School for an estimated total of $135,000. Mrs. Salzman seconded and the motion carried."

The board approved Keese's recommendation to amend the April 24 minutes by adding "Approval was given to Mr. Ronnfeldt to proceed with specifications for the well and then the project will be put out for bid."

Keese had attended a meeting of the Bandera City Council Monday and told Mayor Bob Cowan that the school was still interested in discussing a cooperative venture to provide water at the site which Cowan had described as a "no lose situation" for both parties.

"Some members of the school board will meet with some members of the city council of Bandera to discuss the feasibility of the city supplying water to the new elementary school," Superintendent Ron Caloss said.

The board is also to have a representative talk to Bandera builder Thomas Smith regarding a proposal for temporary use a water well near the Alkek Elementary School. Smith was scheduled to present a proposal to the school board on April 18, but did not.

Tuesday evening's meeting was the final meeting of the board for Dr. Caloss, and he formally asked the board to consider designating Ted Dockery to perform the special duties and functions normally performed by the superintendent of schools. The board approved the recommendation.

House Bill 72 requires that all schools by the beginning of the 1985-86 term not enroll more than 22 students in a kindergarten, first, or second grade class. Caloss explained districts which can not comply with this requirement because of a shortage of teachers or facilities must request a waiver from the Commissioner of Education in Austin. The request must be accompanied by a plan showing how the district intends to come into compliance within not more than three years.

The projected enrollment for Bandera students next year shows 100 students in first grade with four classrooms, 102 second graders with four classes, and 105 third graders with only three teachers.

Although the third grade isn't included in the mandatory 22-1 student-teacher ratio for 1985-86 Caloss said they intend to add another teacher and classroom to the third grade. A small reading room and a small math room in the old elementary building will be converted into another third grade classroom.

"At this time I don't recommend leasing facilities and hiring four

Groundbreaking for Alkek Elementary to be held Monday

Groundbreaking ceremonies for the Alkek Elementary School will be held Monday, May 20, at 10 a.m. at the school site on Highway 173 South.

Dr. Ronald Caloss, superintendent of Bandera Independent School District says all patrons of the school district are invited to attend.

Construction of the school will begin immediately. Caloss says the school will have to be open for classes by 1986 in order to comply with regulations set forth by the Texas Education Agency and the 22 to one student-teacher ratio.

Judy LeStourgeon Keese and her daughter Dana are here from Alaska visiting with Judy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hough LeStourgeon. While here they are also visiting Dana's grandmother, Stella Keese and other relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Eckstein of Kerrville came by to pay Henry and Loma Murphy a surprise visit last week.

Last week Henry and Loma Murphy, Morgan and Doris Akin, R.L. and Billie Walker took a drive down to Choke Canyon to look the lake over for fishing.

Buddy and Elayne Mills went to Del Rio for the weekend to visit with Elayne's nephew Linden Mayfield. They took Lin's mom Tootie and his son Brandon down to spend the week with Linden. Brandon is here from Garland.

Mother's Day weekend guests at the home of Mrs. Roy Bonnet were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bonnet from Austin; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bonnet from Round Rock; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bonnet from Medina; Mr. and Mrs. Bob (Phyllis) Doss; Chris and Mike and Mr. and Mrs. Kermit (Bertha) Barth, all of San Antonio; Lola Chipman and granddaughter Laura Jean, and Bertha Teague, all from Kerrville; and Ruth Dalton from Uvalde.

The Medina Bobcat Band presented its spring concert May 7.

The audience was delighted with the progress the band has shown this year.

Awards were presented to the following students who showed the greatest improvements: Jenny Chaney, Wade Winright, Raymond Edwards, and Cammie Burger.

The "Up-and-Coming" award presented to a junior high student was given to Lisa Chamblee. Wendy Kriedler was the recipient of the John Phillips Sousa Award.

The elementary bands in fifth and sixth grades revealed their progress and maturity as this year has progressed. The fourth grade entertained with old favorites sung, then played on tonnette flutes.

Elma Lance, age 92, has been visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Weir this week. She has also visited with Mr. and Mrs. Allen Keese, Mrs. Wink Thornsberry, and Mr. and Mrs. Neal Keiser and Chris.

Guests for a Mother's Day dinner at the home of Mrs. Dorothy LeStourgeon were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Cantwell and Chance from Tarpley; Clint and Heather Koenig from Bandera; Mrs. Evie McHaney, Mr. and Mrs. Grady McHaney, Mr. and Mrs. Gammon LeStourgeon and Jenna, all of Medina.

Dorothy enjoyed a visit earlier in the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie LeStourgeon in San Antonio.

Little Olympics

The "Little Olympics" at Medina were held Friday evening, May 10. Elementary students competed in running events, long jump, high jump, and softball throw.

The students participating and the audience of kin folk enjoyed the spirit of competition and skills displayed.

The PTO will present the first through sixth place ribbons to the winners at the Awards Assembly, May 16. The PTO is grateful to Gary Denson, who coordinated the meet and to all the students who helped with the events.

Students in the first and second grades competed in the primary division, third and fourth graders in the intermediate division, and fifth and sixth graders in the upper division.

50 meter dash: Matt DeLeon, Heather Shockley and Genny Callahan.

400 meter run: Junior Ortiz, Nathan Vannatter and Devron Moss.

Long jump: Bill Simons, Richie Mims and Scott Williams, and Chris Keiser.

High jump: Nathan Vannatter and Paul Bonner.

Softball throw: Donald Dorrell, Jimmy Keeling and Sam Fuston.

FFA awards banquet

The Medina FFA Awards banquet was held last Thursday night at the school cafetorium with a large crowd attending.

The guest speaker for the affair was State Rep. Eldon Edge. Mrs. Edge was also present. Shana Sill gave the opening welcome to everyone.

Awards were presented to a large number of members, too many to be named individually. Several people were recognized for their support, work and assistance, they were awarded a certificate of appreciation. Those receiving the award were Mrs. Ernest (Jean) Faris, Johnny Moore, Larry Williams, Buddy Wells, Bob Ashley, Ronnie Sill, Ray Pump and Jerry Huie.

Three people were made Honorary Charter Members, they were Corky Craddock, Mary Jonas and Rep. Edge.

Medina menu

Medina FHA banquet held

The Medina FHA held their annual Banquet and Installation Ceremony on Tuesday, April 23, at the High School Cafeteria.

The theme for this year's banquet was "Come Alive in '85."

The new officers installed following the banquet were Diane Simon, president; Tammy Tatach, first vice-president; Stephanie Keeley, second vice president; Alyssa Glass, third vice president; Cindi Cadell, secretary; Tracy Willett, reporter-historian-parliamentarian; and Mark Williams, treasurer.

The Chapter Parents for 1984-85, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dodson, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Williams, were presented a gift from the FHA for their assistance and support during this past year.

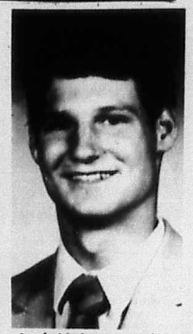

Jack Huie, the FHA Beau, and the senior FHA members were also recognized and presented gifts from the organization. The banquet and installation ceremony was the final function for this busy and active year.

FFA district banquet

The Hill District FFA held its annual Parent and Member Banquet on Monday at Medina School.

Melinda Burg, daughter of Frederick and Bernice Burg of Stonewall, and representing Fredericksburg High School, was chosen sweetheart. Another Fredericksburg lass was honored by her selection as area representative to the Area Convention. She is Melanie Gillis, the District President.

Various pennants were awarded to the competing judging teams. Medina got a second-place in dairy and quiz categories and a third-place in senior chapter conducting.

Jack Huie named outstanding student

Jack Huie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Huie of Medina, was recently named winner of the 1985 Dekalb Agricultural Accomplishment Award.

The award, sponsored nationwide by Dekalb AgResearch, Inc., and Dekalb-Pfizer Genetics, is presented to the senior agriculture student attaining the highest degree of proficiency in scholarship, leadership and a supervised agricultural program.

Huie attends Medina High School where he has been president and student advisor of local chapter, secretary of the freshman class, vice-president of the junior class, Student Council Reporter, 4-H president and vice-president. His agricultural program consists of steers and cow calf production. Following graduation Huie plans to attend Tarleton State University.

As this year's winner, Huie receives a pin and certificate, and his name will be inscribed on a special plaque displayed in the Ag Shop.

Southwestern Bell Telephone introduces five new TELE-HELP booklets.

TELE-HELP is a special information program created by the employees at Southwestern Bell Telephone. We've designed it to provide answers to our customers' questions as well as reaffirm our company's commitment to the community.

Home security is something that concerns us all. But, in reality, many people don't know how to prepare for an emergency in advance. This booklet gives you tips on how to do just that.

Annoying phone calls can happen to anyone at anytime. But you don't always have to be a victim because there are a few steps you can take to deal with this nuisance. We developed this booklet to tell you about them.

Home wiring tells you how you can save money by installing new wiring or changing existing wiring in your own home. It also tells you about the options available if you would rather have someone else do the work.

A Guide to Establishing New Service tells you about all the steps involved, and what to expect, when setting up your new phone service.

Local Service Options tells you about the range of services that can enhance the value of your phone, including Custom Calling Services, Easy Access Dialing and Touch-tone service.

To order your free TELE-HELP booklets, send in this coupon or call TOLL-FREE 1-800-325-2686, extension 81, Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-5 p.m.

Band prepares for last concert

As the 1984-85 school year draws to a close, the Bandera Bulldog Band prepares to give their final concert of the school year. The 1985 Spring Concert will be held in the High School auditorium, on Thursday, May 23, starting at 7:30 p.m.

The high school band will perform some popular marches like "The Blue and The Gray" (a Civil War medley), and some other popular songs like "Folk Dances" by well known Russian composer Dmitri Shostakovich.

During the course of the concert, Director Tome Walters will present awards to some of the band musicians. These awards are The John Philip Sousa Award, based on musical ability; The Director's Award, based on improvement and attitude; and The Pride Of The Bulldog Band Award, based on votes by all of the band students.

Also performing will be the Elementary and Jr. High bands composed of fifth graders and sixth and seventh graders, respectively. After the concert, the Band Boosters will have a reception in the Band Hall, the public is invited.

Admission is free, the music is good, so come on down on May 23 and show your support to these fine young band members.

First come first serve

It's that time of the year. Football practice has started and cheerleading try-outs are over. It's time for the new cheerleaders to sell program ads.

They plan on taking a new approach this year. Instead of going to the businesses, they are asking the businesses to come to the squad. Bandera high school cheerleaders will be selling ad space for the fall football season football programs each day, May 20-24 in the high school, 3:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

The ads are $100 for a full page, $75 for 3/4 page, $50 for 1/2 page, $25 for 1/4 page. The cover pages will be sold for $150.

This is on a first come, first serve basis. For the best choice of ad location, buy your ad early.

—Jenny Persyn

Two bits, four bits, six bits a dollar, all for the cheerleaders stand up and hollar! Bandera High School cheerleader elections were held last Tuesday, May 7.

The 1985-'86 High School cheerleaders are Varsity, head — Randy McHaney, Lorna Colvin, Kelley Chapman, Kim Moore, Jenny Persyn, and Sally Molina. Varsity Mascot is Daniel Potts. Junior Varsity cheerleaders are, head — Cindy Fritsche, Lisa Moore, Ann Muller, and Kim Lukachik.

The girls are already planning for a productive year by making decisions on camps and prospective uniforms with the help of their temporary sponsor Mrs. Laura Wimpee.

Bulldogs end season with pair of wins

Showing true Bulldog spirit, the Bandera baseball team refused to give up after eight straight district losses and finished the 1985 season with two convincing upset wins.

The 'Dogs whipped the Cole Cougars Friday, 10-8, at Fort Sam Houston and the Southside Cardinals Tuesday, 5-3, at Southside. In both games the 'Dogs took the lead in a late inning.

In the 12-10 Cole win, Bandera erased a 10-8 Cougar lead in the sixth inning, scoring four runs on three hits. They were aided by two Cole errors and a passed ball which allowed a Bandera strikeout victim to get on base and later score.

The Cougars led in hits, 10-8, and also in errors, 7-6.

Randall Kirk pitched the first three innings for the 'Dogs and gave way in the fourth to Mike Cardenas, who finished the game.

David Maywald accounted for two of Bandera's eight hits and getting solo raps were Kirk, Cardenas, Billy Morris, Chuck Tondre, Jimmy Sides and Jim O'Steen.

In the final 5-3 win over Southside, Cardenas pitched one of his finest games of the season, scattering five hits, striking out 10 and giving up but one walk.

Three Southside pitchers gave up six hits and 10 walks. Two Bulldog runs were scored on bases-loaded walks. Bandera had three errors to two for Southside.

Playing in his last game for the Bandera blue and white, catcher Kevin Parker again used his power at the plate to help assure the Bulldog win. Leading off in the seventh inning with the score tied at 3-3, Parker drove the ball to the left field fence against the wind for a double and came in for the tie-breaking run on a follow-up double by Tondre. Tondre later scored the final run of the game.

Bandera players returning next season include Kirk, Morris, Cardenas, Tondre, Maywald, Balson, O'Steen and Sides.

Awards assembly

The Bandera High School Athletic Awards Assembly and All-Sports Banquet will be held tonight, May 16, in the high school cafeteria at 7 p.m.

The banquet honors all athletes in the high school program and some very special awards will be announced.

Most valuable players in each sport, Senior Athlete of the Year Awards and both girls and boys athletics will be announced at the banquet according to Coach Dan Neuse.

The athletic booster club has given complimentary tickets to all high school athletes and tickets for family may be purchased for $5 per plate in the high school library or by contacting Gwen York at 535-4435, according to Mrs. York.

Eight awarded 'UIL Scholar Award'

The University Interscholastic League, in observance of its 75th anniversary, recently inaugurated a "UIL Scholar Award," which will be presented to students who have graduated in the top 10 percent of their classes and who participated in a UIL academic, music, or athletic contest.

The purpose of the award is to honor students whose "academic and extracurricular achievements have been exemplary and whose self-discipline in preparation and integrity in competition are a model to others," said Dr. Bailey Marshall, League director.

"Though the award is being introduced during the League's 75th anniversary observance year, this is an award we plan to award in years to come," Marshall said. "We feel it is important for the League to restate our commitment to academic success first, extracurricular proficiency second."

The awards were presented to students during a ceremony held in the high school auditorium on Thursday, May 9.

This is a list of students who were presented the award: Ronald Caloss Jr., Shane Yates, Trey Graves, Shannon McMullan, Tommy Callahan, Scott Kelly, Toni Kunz and Wayne Peck.

The winners of the Pre-Kindergarten Girls Sucker Race was Stephanie Powers. The winner of the Pre-Kindergarten Boys Sucker Race was Patrick Mazurek.

One guilty verdict

Acquitted this week were Johnny Walker (Scott Kelly) and Ed Don Garlits (Lonnie Bain) in government class' first period and second period.

The only guilty verdict was in fourth period in which Janet Louden (Kathy Ryan) was found guilty of capital murder in connection with the murder of an undercover narcotics officer.

It was all just for educational purposes.

In first period Walker supposedly hit a woman over the head with a baseball bat and killed her. Judge Bubba Caloss, defense attorneys Trey Graves and Kevin Parker, and prosecutor Nancy Hayes and Toni Kunz fought all week long to finally close their case on Friday with an acquittal for Johnny Walker.

Second period started the week with Judge Shane Yates often calling the defense attorney Ron Earlandson and prosecutor Bruce McMeans to the bench. Assistants, defense Stephanie Hill and prosecutor Chuck Perry aided in the solid cases presented.

Don Garlits was accused of aggravated murder. The jury acquitted him on the basis of a missing bar tab.

Fourth period finished Friday off with the only guilty verdict of the week. Janet Louden (Kathy Ryan) was found guilty of capital murder. Miss Louden had no comments to the press on the verdict, although Mrs. Hunter said the cases for both sides were well-prepared and she was glad she wasn't on the jury.

This week classes begin a study of the world economic systems.

Seniors join big business

By Becky Blakemore

Seniors preparing to enter today's world are going to encounter many different business situations, varied social occasions and some will become, business tycoons. Even as you read this seniors enrolled in Bandera High School's government course are already on their way.

Students are allotted amounts of money (on paper only) to begin a business in Bandera County. Amounts vary from the top, $20,000, to a pauper's income. Some will form large corporations, some partnerships, or tough it out and do it alone.

Ideas for businesses that would do well around Bandera range from a rodeo clinic to a new radio station. The radio idea may take off and fly with the slogan "We rock the hill country." New wave and rock station KRZY is founded by three enterprising seniors that eventually plan to become true businessmen. A few of the more outgoing students wanted to invest in some very illegal but lucrative businesses and brave competition from the "mob" back east. But since the project is designed to help students learn good business, they were asked to refrain from investments in the blackmarket industries.

Students are required to "guestamate" at the costs of beginning a business in the Bandera area, including costs of construction or renting, monthly utilities, legal counsel, CPAs, employees and insurance.

Locations for businesses may be anywhere in the county of Bandera, but students can't just move present businesses out. Students may draft contracts for purchase or renting of current businesses. Bandera Ice House is safe from the young but aspiring tycoons, unless of course they are willing to sell.

Students are also figuring income, state and all other forms of taxes, as well as Uncle Sam's share off of the top, so that they get a real taste of what it's like.

Projects are due May 17. That date gives students two weeks to compile the needed information.

Spring in Texas

Spring in Texas is unique with acres of wild flowers in a rainbow of colors that are beautiful to the eye and bring joy to the heart.

Spring in Texas is blamed for many things, such as spring fever, and it seems to be a handy excuse to neglect chores for a spontaneous trip to the coast or an impromptu picnic. Spring is, the poets say, a time of love (just ask two of Bandera's well known coaches who will be hearing wedding bells soon).

Seniors begin to think of graduation and the freedom it represents. The anticipation of that long walk across the stage makes concentration on school work almost impossible.

Spring is also a time of new puppies, kittens and baby birds as well as personal renewal and optimism. So enjoy it, one and all, for it only comes once a year.

Senior spotlights

Teddy Popham

"If you don't have a goal there's nothing to shoot for," this is the quote Theodore Franklin Popham would like to live his life by. Teddy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Popham. He has gone to Bandera for 11 years. Upon being asked who has influenced his life, he replied "My parents, the coaches, and my girlfriend, Gayla."

Teddy has been very active in school activities through his high school years. He has been class President his junior year and Vice President his freshman and sophomore years. He also has been in ALS his senior year, FHA junior and senior year.

Student Council has been a very important part of Teddy's life. He has been in it his sophomore, junior and senior years.

Teddy was one of the very proud Bandera Bulldog linebackers to play on the All-District team. He was picked for All-District first team linebacker. He also played baseball for 2 years and track 3 years.

—Jolene Butler

Chris Elkins

One of the many outstanding seniors at BHS is Christopher Alan Elkins, better known as Chris but also recently recognized as "Lufka."

Chris has attended Bandera schools since the second grade and feels that the athletic program has played the biggest influence in his life.

"If at first you don't succeed, try and try again." This is the quote that Chris would like to base his life upon. Also to find something that he enjoys and to become successful at it is a goal that Chris has set for himself.

After leaving BHS, Chris plans on working and going to college.

When asked what he would have done differently given the opportunity to relive school years, Chris said that he would have put more effort into his academics instead of being "such a clown."

Chris was involved in FHA his sophomore year and was a two-year letterman in football.

Music/video

U2-The Unforgettable Fire

For the Irish group, U2, this may be a landmark album. U2 has moved away from the rebel-rock that has made them famous. Songs like "New Year's Day" and "Sunday Bloody Sunday" may now be a thing of the past. The question U2 should ask themselves is: "Is this a change that will work for U2?"

Sure, "The Unforgettable Fire" contains some preaching songs, but Bono and the boys seem to have opted for more ballad-type songs like "Forty" from their "WAR" album. Perhaps the most impressive of these is the title track "The Unforgettable Fire." This song contains moving lyrics, a beautiful violin arrangement, the Edge's ever-present guitar, and some really good keyboards.

I'll be the first to admit, I wasn't very impressed at first, but this album has a way of growing on you. Instead of forcing the music and words upon you. U2 makes you listen to it. And really, it's worth the effort.

U2 also becomes a candidate for my "Most Striking Album Cover of the Year" award. The black and white cover photo has the group standing out in a meadow in front of an ivy-covered castle probably somewhere in Ireland. (The entire record was recorded in Ireland, for that matter.)

When you first purchase "The Unforgettable Fire" you may be apt to think that the most striking thing about the album is the cover, but keep listening because after a few times through the songs like "Pride (In The Name Of Love)" and "A Sort Of Homecoming" you will realize that the most striking thing about "The Unforgettable Fire" is the unforgettable and haunting sound.

Two bits, four bits, six bits a dollar, all for the cheerleaders stand up and hollar! Bandera High School cheerleader elections were held last Tuesday, May 7.

The 1985-'86 High School cheerleaders are Varsity, head — Randy McHaney, Lorna Colvin, Kelley Chapman, Kim Moore, Jenny Persyn, and Sally Molina. Varsity Mascot is Daniel Potts. Junior Varsity cheerleaders are, head — Cindy Fritsche, Lisa Moore, Ann Muller, and Kim Lukachik.

The girls are already planning for a productive year by making decisions on camps and prospective uniforms with the help of their temporary sponsor Mrs. Laura Wimpee.

Seniors join big business

By Becky Blakemore

Seniors preparing to enter today's world are going to encounter many different business situations, varied social occasions and some will become, business tycoons. Even as you read this seniors enrolled in Bandera High School's government course are already on their way.

Students are allotted amounts of money (on paper only) to begin a business in Bandera County. Amounts vary from the top, $20,000, to a pauper's income. Some will form large corporations, some partnerships, or tough it out and do it alone.

Ideas for businesses that would do well around Bandera range from a rodeo clinic to a new radio station. The radio idea may take off and fly with the slogan "We rock the hill country." New wave and rock station KRZY is founded by three enterprising seniors that eventually plan to become true businessmen. A few of the more outgoing students wanted to invest in some very illegal but lucrative businesses and brave competition from the "mob" back east. But since the project is designed to help students learn good business, they were asked to refrain from investments in the blackmarket industries.

Students are required to "guestamate" at the costs of beginning a business in the Bandera area, including costs of construction or renting, monthly utilities, legal counsel, CPAs, employees and insurance.

Locations for businesses may be anywhere in the county of Bandera, but students can't just move present businesses out. Students may draft contracts for purchase or renting of current businesses. Bandera Ice House is safe from the young but aspiring tycoons, unless of course they are willing to sell.

Students are also figuring income, state and all other forms of taxes, as well as Uncle Sam's share off of the top, so that they get a real taste of what it's like.

Projects are due May 17. That date gives students two weeks to compile the needed information.

Spring in Texas

Spring in Texas is unique with acres of wild flowers in a rainbow of colors that are beautiful to the eye and bring joy to the heart.

Spring in Texas is blamed for many things, such as spring fever, and it seems to be a handy excuse to neglect chores for a spontaneous trip to the coast or an impromptu picnic. Spring is, the poets say, a time of love (just ask two of Bandera's well known coaches who will be hearing wedding bells soon).

Seniors begin to think of graduation and the freedom it represents. The anticipation of that long walk across the stage makes concentration on school work almost impossible.

Spring is also a time of new puppies, kittens and baby birds as well as personal renewal and optimism. So enjoy it, one and all, for it only comes once a year.

Bulldogs end season with pair of wins

Showing true Bulldog spirit, the Bandera baseball team refused to give up after eight straight district losses and finished the 1985 season with two convincing upset wins.

The 'Dogs whipped the Cole Cougars Friday, 10-8, at Fort Sam Houston and the Southside Cardinals Tuesday, 5-3, at Southside. In both games the 'Dogs took the lead in a late inning.

In the 12-10 Cole win, Bandera erased a 10-8 Cougar lead in the sixth inning, scoring four runs on three hits. They were aided by two Cole errors and a passed ball which allowed a Bandera strikeout victim to get on base and later score.

The Cougars led in hits, 10-8, and also in errors, 7-6.

Randall Kirk pitched the first three innings for the 'Dogs and gave way in the fourth to Mike Cardenas, who finished the game.

David Maywald accounted for two of Bandera's eight hits and getting solo raps were Kirk, Cardenas, Billy Morris, Chuck Tondre, Jimmy Sides and Jim O'Steen.

In the final 5-3 win over Southside, Cardenas pitched one of his finest games of the season, scattering five hits, striking out 10 and giving up but one walk.

Three Southside pitchers gave up six hits and 10 walks. Two Bulldog runs were scored on bases-loaded walks. Bandera had three errors to two for Southside.

Playing in his last game for the Bandera blue and white, catcher Kevin Parker again used his power at the plate to help assure the Bulldog win. Leading off in the seventh inning with the score tied at 3-3, Parker drove the ball to the left field fence against the wind for a double and came in for the tie-breaking run on a follow-up double by Tondre. Tondre later scored the final run of the game.

Bandera players returning next season include Kirk, Morris, Cardenas, Tondre, Maywald, Balson, O'Steen and Sides.

Teddy Popham

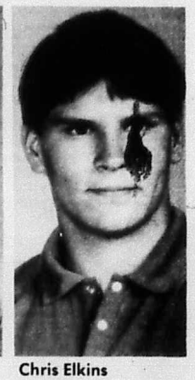

"If you don't have a goal there's nothing to shoot for," this is the quote Theodore Franklin Popham would like to live his life by. Teddy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Popham. He has gone to Bandera for 11 years. Upon being asked who has influenced his life, he replied "My parents, the coaches, and my girlfriend, Gayla."

Teddy has been very active in school activities through his high school years. He has been class President his junior year and Vice President his freshman and sophomore years. He also has been in ALS his senior year, FHA junior and senior year.

Student Council has been a very important part of Teddy's life. He has been in it his sophomore, junior and senior years.

Teddy was one of the very proud Bandera Bulldog linebackers to play on the All-District team. He was picked for All-District first team linebacker. He also played baseball for 2 years and track 3 years.

—Jolene Butler

Chris Elkins

One of the many outstanding seniors at BHS is Christopher Alan Elkins, better known as Chris but also recently recognized as "Lufka."

Chris has attended Bandera schools since the second grade and feels that the athletic program has played the biggest influence in his life.

"If at first you don't succeed, try and try again." This is the quote that Chris would like to base his life upon. Also to find something that he enjoys and to become successful at it is a goal that Chris has set for himself.

After leaving BHS, Chris plans on working and going to college.

When asked what he would have done differently given the opportunity to relive high school years, Chris said that he would have put more effort into his academics instead of being "such a clown."

U2-The Unforgettable Fire

For the Irish group, U2, this may be a landmark album. U2 has moved away from the rebel-rock that has made them famous. Songs like "New Year's Day" and "Sunday Bloody Sunday" may now be a thing of the past. The question U2 should ask themselves is: "Is this a change that will work for U2?"

Sure, "The Unforgettable Fire" contains some preaching songs, but Bono and the boys seem to have opted for more ballad-type songs like "Forty" from their "WAR" album. Perhaps the most impressive of these is the title track "The Unforgettable Fire." This song contains moving lyrics, a beautiful violin arrangement, the Edge's ever-present guitar, and some really good keyboards.

I'll be the first to admit, I wasn't very impressed at first, but this album has a way of growing on you. Instead of forcing the music and words upon you. U2 makes you listen to it. And really, it's worth the effort.

U2 also becomes a candidate for my "Most Striking Album Cover of the Year" award. The black and white cover photo has the group standing out in a meadow in front of an ivy-covered castle probably somewhere in Ireland. (The entire record was recorded in Ireland, for that matter.)

When you first purchase "The Unforgettable Fire" you may be apt to think that the most striking thing about the album is the cover, but keep listening because after a few times through the songs like "Pride (In The Name Of Love)" and "A Sort Of Homecoming" you will realize that the most striking thing about "The Unforgettable Fire" is the unforgettable and haunting sound.

THIS IS THE PLACE!

THIS HAS IT ALL! Highway frontage, approx. 25 acres of excellent hunting country, 10 acre patch for oats, or horses, a good deep well with submersible pump, mobile home used for camp house and stock pond recently loaded with catfish and blue gill. 40 plus acres in Tarpley area at $2950.00 per acre. See this one!

COMMERCIAL LOT, Main Street frontage, $65,000.

This little house on two small lots in the country wants a new owner. It has a range, refrigerator and stand-up fireplace in good condition. Not much "fixing up" needed either. Only $25,900.

Enjoy the luxuries of a swimming pool, tennis court and fun in the river without work or worry, by owning this lovely 2 BR, 1 B cottage. This is a cheerful, happy home, with so many extras. Mini-blinds, like new appliances, burglar alarm system, ceiling fans, central air and heat, washer & dryer. SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE! $64,000.

SEE this spacious, NEW, well built, underpinned mobile, 14x80, on 7 plus acres. Nice trees. This is a lovely place with a NEW deep well & all NEW equipment. Extra storage units & carport. Then, if you like to fish, there is a lake nearby.

This four bedroom, 3 bath home is very SPECIAL. In a SPECIAL neighborhood (Indian Waters) designed for SPECIAL PEOPLE (A happy family) and built on a very SPECIAL one acre with lovely oaks.

The business man or woman in this area should see this well constructed commercial building with space in which to work. Only one block from post office and courthouse. $125,000.00 with owner financing.

Move your trailer on this pretty spot, two lots with water and trees. $1200 down. Pick up payments of approx. $170.00 per month.

The main road is so good now into the Castle Lake area, you really should look at this 5 acres. Presently priced at $12,000.

Would you like to have a neat building site for a home or a commercial spot with highway frontage, near town and not in a subdivision? Then by all means, see these two tracts, one approx. 3½ acres, the other approx. 4. The owner will finance with low down payment. Only $20,000 for each tract.

UNDERGROUND HOME BUILDERS, please see this lovely 9 acre tract with a gentle hill overlooking a small fertile valley with "hillscape" in background. Utilities close by. $26,000. Assumable 10% note.

"The children are gone, and I no longer need this 10 acres for their horses". "Sell" he says, "And I will consider any reasonable offer".

Call for information on two small ranches of approximately 100 acres with improvements. One has highway frontage.

The Rev. Harvey W. Hulse used for his text Sunday "Mother's Day Thoughts," from II Timothy 1:5. Mark Bender was the song leader. We enjoyed the special song, "I Asked The Lord."

Guests registering were the Rev. Hulse, Mark Bender, Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, Julie and Jason Hearn, Eva Freeman and Doris Beach.

Lorene Bialkowsky of Kerrville visited her sister, Ruth Batto.

Doris Beach visited her parents, Brice and Annie Mayfield.

Norma Barr came by to visit her mother, Grace Fek.

Ruth Scott of San Antonio spent Friday with her sister and husband, Ona and Floyd Billingsley.

Ada Tanner visited her mother-in-law, Ruby Tanner. Elizabeth Hendrix also visited Mrs. Tanner.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ read and discussed the Book of Ruth at Bible reading last Wednesday morning. Twelve residents attended along with guests Sherry Powers, daughter of Stephanie, and Shirley Phillips and son Kelly.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Wednesday and took Jack Holloway to visit Bill and Dorothy Garms.

Shirley Phillips and sons, Kyle and Kelly, took Jack Holloway to the T-ball game Monday evening and with Jack cheering them on, they won. But Saturday was a different story, they lost the game 18 to 14. Jack will have to yell a little louder next time.

Kathleen Cheesher and Lucille DuMond of Nixon visited Herbert Dunn.

Si and Louise Turner of Lakehills visited Willie Leibold.

Bertha Allen of Medina visited her mother, Cynthia Mayberry.

Louie Allsup enjoyed a visit from his sister-in-law, Ola Belle Allsup of Medina.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Heyen visited his mother, Hulda Heyen.

Mrs. Ernest Rainey and son Robert Rainey visited their husband and father, Ernest Rainey.

Raymond and Aggie Batto visited their aunt, Ruth Batto, and others.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Sunday morning and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ.

We welcome Joe Mazurek to our family. We hope he will enjoy his stay with us.

Cynthia Mayberry spent Mother's Day with relatives in Medina.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards took his mother, Edith Edwards, to services at the First Baptist Church in Pipe Creek Sunday. After church they drove to Kerrville where they attended the W.S. Hinds family reunion.

Mrs. Alma Lawley is spending several days with her son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Lawley in Comfort.

Lillian Lang's niece, Billie Stoepler of San Marcos, came by for her on Mother's Day and they spent the day with Wayne and Betty Ruede.

Leona Rines of Yakina, Wash. is spending several weeks here and visits her mother, "Nicki" Clark, everyday.

Clara Sprott's guests have been her daughter and husband, Edna and Clarence Turner of Llano, daughter, Ruby Jenschke, and Mary and Michelle Itz.

Mildred Woltersdorf's grandson, Robert Merris, visited her on Mother's Day.

Ivedell O'Neill's guests on Mother's Day were her son Frank O'Neill, her grandaughter Cindy Stone, all of Bulverde, and her daughter Dorothy Webber of Lakehills.

B.H. Stokes, King and Lucie Stokes and Nathan and Jordan Vannatter visited their mother and great-grandmother, Maude Stokes.

Claire Thaman visited her mother, Agnes Fortinberry, on Mother's Day.

Gertrude Werner celebrated her birthday last Monday with a pretty cake, lovely flowers, gifts, Presidential Greetings and greetings from Gov. Mark White. Ann Neal and Bill Harmer of Bandera Falls came by to help Mrs. Werner celebrate her big day.

Castroville officials seek Sea World information

Sea World near final decision

The Castroville News Bulletin reports that city officials and chamber of commerce representatives visited the San Antonio mayor's office on May 1.

The visitors were seeking information on Sea World, the amusement park planned for the old Briggs Ranch, six miles east of Castroville.

According to Cisneros, "all systems are go." Cisneros stated that he did not know what impact Sea World would have on Castroville, but that the city would have to act quickly with its zoning and annexation powers if it wanted to maintain its unique character, the paper reported. Cisneros stated that he foresees the area to the west of San Antonio between the new Westside Freeway and Highway 90 as the new growth area for San Antonio.

After opening in the spring or summer of 1987 Sea World is expected to draw three million visitors a year to the area.

Pearsall pool renovation due

The Frio County Historical Commission has taken the lead in obtaining funds for a renovation of the Pearsall public swimming pool, according to the Pearsall Leader.

Joan Schmidt, member of the historical commission and chairman of the sesquicentennial committee, explained the renovation project was chosen by the committee because of the historic value of the city pool.

The swimming pool, built in 1937 by the Works Progress Administration (WPA), is unusually large for a community pool.

Costly signs may go

Ron Cole of the Kerrville Daily Times reports that the city's proposed sign ordinance, which goes before the city council on May 28, has generated opposition from owners of large signs.

The signs in question include those of the Schreiner Department Store, HEB, and the Y.O. Ranch Hilton. If the ordinance passes, those signs, because of their size and height, would have to come down within eight years.

A similiar ordinance in Lubbock survived a series of state and federal court cases.

Helotes new mayor

The Helotes Echo reports that their new mayor, Vivian Hultz, was sworn in during the April 18 council meeting. She is the town's third mayor and their first woman mayor.

Ingram school bonds fail

Ingram voters rejected a $3.9 million bond issue by 551 to 394, according to Kerrville Mountain Sun reporter, Darron Spohn.

The funds raised by the bond sale were to have financed a new elementary school.

Ingram trustees will now conduct a survey in order to understand the rejection.

Meanwhile, in Hondo...

School bond politics are also news in Hondo, according to the Anvil Herald.

After hearing a presentation by Hondo ISD Superintendent N.E. Woolls outlining the need for additions at Meyer Elementary School and a bond election to finance the project, Hondo Chamber of Commerce Directors offered their unanimous support.

EMS coordinator

The Johnson City Record-Courier reports that Blanco County commissioners heard budget requests for an EMS coordinator who could oversee a combined Blanco-Johnson City service.

New jail in Boerne

The Boerne Star reports that a new jail is in the county's future.

Kendall County's Commissioners Court expects to ask for bids by the middle of June for construction of a 24-prisoner jail and should be able to pay for it without incurring any indebtedness, County Judge Ken Muller said this week.

The jail is expected to cost approximately $500,000.

Also in Boerne, a new men's organization was announced by its President, Ken Nieteuhoefer.

The Centurions, were organized to promote the enrichment of life in Boerne, providing scholarships for college bound students, making contributions to needed civic projects, and conducting special social events.

According to Nietenhoefer, additional members, will be tapped for membership within the next two weeks. After this year, a maximum of five new members per year will be tapped for membership. The Centurions will have a maximum membership of 50, Nietenhoefer said.

Free CPR classes in May in Kerrville

CPR — cardiopulmonary resuscitation — classes will be held May 16, 23, and 30 from 7-9 p.m. at Schreiner College.

All three classes will be held in the Dietert Auditorium under the auspices of the American Heart Association. Attendance at all three classes is mandatory for certification. Classes are to be taught by Chris Lloyd, Jack Jordan and Frances Gonzales.

For more information or to register, call 896-5411 ext. 249.

Birds of prey show planned May 18

A slide show featuring a live Swainson's hawk at 2 p.m., Saturday, May 18, will be the main attraction of International Museum Day activities at the Witte Museum, 3801 Broadway.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Todays world has its troubles, which often seem over-whelming...terrorism, crime, energy, high prices, etc.

But there's also much to be thankful for today. Modern medicine and cures, fast transportation, new forms of communication, a wider variety of foods and frozen foods, better working conditions, greater equality of opportunity, more leisure time, and more and better forms of recreation...to name a few.

Do we enjoy life more? One wonders. If we don't, it's our own fault. A little more attention to human relationships and philosophy and a little less emphasis on fast living might be the answer...

This column has been dedicated to the positive, the right, the open approach to life and living. While all around us we live in what seems sometimes an environment that is negative, incorrect and closed, we continue our pilgrimage. Some of our readers have expressed their support and commented about the column, specifically the contents from time to time. We are most appreciative of these comments and welcome them at any time...

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

A damaging hail storm hit Utopia Wednesday night with a small twister, blowing down trees, breaking large limbs, destroying gardens, and beating the fruit and foliage off fruit trees.

The ground coverage was 2 in., but luckily the hail was small.

Sabinal Canyon Senior Council met on May 10 at 10 a.m. in Community Center, Utopia.

Inez Monsees, president, welcomed Hoyt Foster who spoke briefly on safety for the elderly.

He again offered his help and advice in case of emergencies. He brought booklets entitled "Safety for the Older Consumer" to be given to everyone present. He also requested that some of the booklets be shared with Pat Casey, director of the Sabinal Center, and left copies to be distributed at later meetings.

The president also welcomed Bob Greiner, representative of Eureka Log Homes, who had been requested by Harry Vaughn to describe the merits of a log building for a Senior Council Center. He explained that the basic advantages of constructing a log building are the lack of required maintenance, the conservation of energy, and the rapidity of construction.

These points lend themselves to the needs of the Council. Since much of the labor used will be volunteer, he advised that non-skilled workers were adequate.

Greiner offered to dispense with his commission and The Eureka Log Homes Company has agreed to provide logs and the component parts at a discount.

He told the group of a product called "Watershed" which can be sprayed on the external surface of a log building every four to six years to take care of external maintenance.

During a short business meeting the treasurer reported a balance on hand of $155.75.

Ann Burgess and Harry Vaughn reported on their visit to the Silver Sage Corral in Bandera. They were both complimentary in their descriptions of the busy center.

The Monsees told the group that Allen Baca, of the Texas Department on Aging, will not be in Utopia on May 23 as previously announced, he will speak in Utopia on July 26.

Harry Vaughn reported that because of the unique position on the fringes between the Alamo Council of Governments and the Mid Rio Grande Council of Government and the unavailability of government funds, the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council will have to depend on donations, memorials, and foundation aid for money. A good example of an operation that is similar is the EMS, he said.

Bob Monsees reported that the Park Board met on Tuesday, May 14, to consider leasing the southwest corner of the town square to the Senior Council for the site of a Senior Council building.

The acquisition of a building site is the first step toward incorporation of the council.

It was agreed that the next meeting will be at 11 a.m. on June 14, and will include a covered-dish luncheon with a games party to follow.

Cookies and coffee were served to 26 members. Hostesses were Inez Monsees and Mary Haby.

Edward Reavis and son, Edward Jr., and daughter, Heather, of Wasilla, Alaska, spent three weeks in Texas visiting his parents, Ira and Ola Mae Reavis.

Bennie Dodge went to Alaska where he has employment.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dodge enjoyed a day's visit from their son Amos of Washington D.C.

Finis and Margaret Thompson spent Tuesday through Friday at Thousand Trails Resort, Medina Lake. They reported the storm moved in Wednesday night, and they didn't have much luck catching fish.

Our sympathy is extended to the Kindred family upon the death of Bruce Kindred, who died at the home of his son Sammy, May 5, six miles east of Hondo.

Clean-up day at the cemetery

The annual clean-up day, covered-dish lunch and business meeting of the Vanderpool Cemetery Association will be held Saturday, May 18, beginning at 10 a.m.

As in the past, participants will work in the morning, have lunch, and then hold a business meeting.

The cemetery will already be mowed and trimmed, permitting families to devote their time to fixing up their family plots. The grounds also need sprucing up around the tabernacle and community building.

Come and enjoy the work, food and fellowship with neighbors. Bring enough food for your family and your guests. Paper supplies will be furnished by the association. Also iced tea and coffee will be served.

Bill and Doris Cornelius enjoyed her sister and husband, Lucille and Bill Gilliham of Thousand Trails Resort, Lake Medina, on Sunday.

The Vanderpool Wolf Club held its annual meeting Tuesday, May 7, at Vanderpool Community Building with 14 members and wives attending.

A business meeting was held, a financial report was given, and Lonnie Bomer gave a report on predators killed this month and the number he had caught since beginning in June 1982.

Ways and means were discussed of various entertainments to be given to make up funds for the club. A social hour of fellowship and cookies and coffee were enjoyed by all.

A reception is being given in the Educational Building Saturday, May 18, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. for Bro. and Mrs. Lonnie Webb, giving everyone a chance to express their thanks and gratitude for all they have done for our Baptist Church and community. A money tree will be provided.

The Utopia Emergency Medical Service reported eight runs during April and contributions in memory of five persons.

On April 4 the EMS treated a female accident victim and on April 7 technicians treated an injured male. On April 15, the EMS transported an ill female patient to Hondo and on April 18 they carried a male accident victim to Kerrville.

On April 20 in separate incidents, technicians treated one male and one female accident victims. In neither case did the patient require transportation.

A female accident victim was transported to Uvalde on April 25 and an ill female patient was transported to Hondo on April 29.

The Utopia EMS does not release the names of patients treated or transported.

Technicians making the runs included Kathryn Gazaway two runs, Jessie McFadin three runs, Mary A. Coffman four runs, Effie Curtis three runs, John Hillis three runs, Judy Hillis four runs, Joyce Rutherford two runs, and Joanne Tampke two runs.

Memorials were given in memory of Eunice Murphey from Mr. and Mrs. Hub Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Foster, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Foster.

In memory of Mattie Noel from Mr. and Mrs. Hub Thompson.

In memory of James Clayton from Mr. and Mrs. Hoyt M. Foster and Mr. and Mrs. Hub Thompson.

In memory of Betty Schaeffer from Mr. and Mrs. Hub Thompson.

In memory of Clifton Lewis from Mr. and Mrs. A.M. Routh and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox.

Eight people from Utopia EMS attended a medical symposium in San Antonio April 23-May 1. "It was a very educational experience," a spokesman said. "We all came away with something we can use."

In a drawing for door prizes, Doris Foster won two gift certificates worth $250 which she donated to the Utopia EMS.

Seaman Simon completes school

Navy Seaman Recruit Kenneth P. Simon, son of Janile K. and Kenneth P. Simon Jr. of Medina, has completed the Aviation Machinist's Mate Basic Jet Engine Course.

During the five-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center Millington, Tenn., Simon received introductory instructions on the characteristics and operating principles of jet engines. His studies included engine lubrication, ignition and fuel systems. He also studied the procedures for refueling and defueling aircraft, for removal and installation of aircraft engines and for the operation of aircraft ground handling equipment.

Rinehart promoted to M. Sgt.

Sharon L. Rinehart, daughter of Bryant G. and Ann L. Rinehart of Bandera, has been promoted in the U.S. Army to the rank of master sergeant.

Rinehart is a medical laboratory specialist at Fort Sam Houston, with the Academy of Health Sciences.

She received an associate degree in 1975 from Baylor University in Waco.

Shannon Cowsert wins first in 4-H fashion show

Six Bandera County 4-H'ers competed in the District 13 4-H Fashion Show and Clothing competition in Uvalde.

Participants in the event must have completed a 4-H Clothing project, won in the county Fashion Show and of course, they must make the clothing they model.

Pre-teens: Debbie Falardeau, blue award and third place in the Daytime Non-tailored category.

Julie Ruede, white award in the Evening and Specialty category.

Marika Cook, white award in the Active Sportswear category.

Juniors: Shannon Cowsert, Blue award, first place in the Daytime Tailored category.

Faye Comingore, red award in Daytime Non-tailored category.

Seniors: Rebecca Blakemore, red award in the Daytime Non-tailored.

Also held May 4 were the annual District 4—H contests.

Bandera 4-H'ers competing were Shannon Cowsert, Faye Comingore and Rebecca Blakemore. Shannon won first place in the Junior Safety contests with her "Kids Safe" demonstration. Faye won first place in the Junior Foods & Nutrition contests with her "How to Prepare and Use Fresh Pineapple."

Rebecca Bakemore, Senior contestant competed in the Public Speaking division, receiving a blue award.

Sixteen Bandera County 4-H'ers participated in the earlier County Fashion Show and judging at St. Joseph's Parish Hall.

In each age division, beginners, preteens, Juniors, and Seniors there are four categories, tailored, evening and specialty, active sports wear and daytime non-tailored.

The first place winners in three age groups, preteen, junior and seniors, advanced to the District contest May 4, with the exception of Candi Saathoff who was unable to attend.

A motion to request the waiver from the Commissioner of Education was approved.

Prior to going into his last executive session to discuss personnel matters, Caloss removed his dress shirt and tie. He was wearing a T-shirt, a gift several years ago from the school board. The blue shirt bore white letters N B I and the number 1. It means "Non-Budgetary Item no. 1." After the laughter subsided, Caloss explained that several years ago a minor expenditure was made that wasn't in the budget, and the board gave him the shirt as a reminder.

"The man never forgets anything," Keese remarked.

They're underground honey

Referred to by the Irish as "underground honey," carrots are the sweetest of all vegetables except beets. Karen Mitchell with Texas Department of Agriculture says, "Munch on carrots to satisfy a sweet tooth at a low calorie cost of only 42 calories in two small carrots."

Nutrient dense, carrots provide a good amount of nutrition for the calories. Known best for their Vitamin A content, she advises this vitamin is needed by the body for the normal structure of bones and teeth, the maintenance of the outer layer of skin and healthy eyesight.

Carrots are produced in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, in the Winter Garden area (west and southwest of San Antonio) and the High Plains. Look for carrots from Texas to be available through June.

Choose carrots that are firm, smooth and fairly small, she suggests. The color should be a deep orange with no cracks or green areas near the top. Packaged carrots are a better buy than carrots with tops.

Carrot Rice Casserole is an economical side dish costing only 21 cents per serving. Adapted from "The Deaf Smith Country Cookbook," Sunshine Carrot Salad is a delicious combination of fresh carrots, pineapple, oranges, raisins dressed with yogurt. If you are in a hurry, she says try Carrots Marguerite adapted from "Too Busy To Cook."

For more information about Texas carrots, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218.

Carrot rice casserole

2 T. butter
1 sm. onion, chopped
1 C. grated carrot
2/3 C. shredded cheddar cheese
1 C. cooked regular rice
1 beaten egg
salt to taste

Saute onion in butter. Stir in remaining ingredients. Spoon into a greased 1-quart casserole dish. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20-25 minutes. Serves 4-6.

Carrots marguerite

3 green onions, finely minced (white part only)
¼ C. butter
1 pound carrots, peeled and shredded
3 T. honey
½ tsp. thyme
¼ tsp. salt
dash of pepper

Saute green onions in butter a few minutes over low heat, until soft and golden. Add carrots, honey, thyme, salt and pepper. Stir over medium heat to coat carrots evenly. Cover and cook 3 minutes. Serve 4-6.

Carrots with parsley

Microwave recipe

2½ C. diagonally sliced carrots
1 T. chopped onion
¼ t. salt
¼ C. water
½ t. orange juice
1 T. butter
2 T. chopped parsley

In 1½ qt. glass casserole combine carrots, salt, onion, water, orange juice and butter. Microwave covered 8-10 minutes. Stir after 4 minutes. Rest 5 minutes. Garnish with parsley.

Yield: 5-½ cup servings (67 calories per servings).

Sunshine carrot salad

2 C. grated carrots
1 C. pineapple chunks
1 C. orange sections
½ C. raisins
½ C. grated coconut
½ C. toasted sunflower seeds
4 T. yogurt

Mix all ingredients together. Serve on lettuce leaves. Serves 6.

Skillet cabbage

1 C. thinly sliced cabbage
¼ C. finely chopped green pepper
½ C. diced celery
¼ C. diced onion
½ C. chopped tomato
1 T. vinegar
½ C. water

Combine ingredients in large skillet. Cover and cook over low heat 5-10 minutes. Vegetables should be firm. Yield; 5-½ cup servings. (25 calories per serving).

Broccoli saute

1 T. vegetable margarine
2 C. fresh broccoli, tops only
1 small onion, thinly sliced
2 zucchini, sliced
1/2 tsp. oregano
1/2 tsp. basil
1 fresh tomato, cut in wedges
1/2 C. shredded mozarella cheese (4 oz.)

In non-stick electric skillet or large skillet, melt margarine. Add broccoli and onions, cooked covered over medium heat about 2 minutes. Add zucchini. Season with salt, pepper, oregano and basil. Cook covered for 3 minutes over medium heat or until tender and crisp. Add tomato. Sprinkle with cheese. Cover and cook 1-2 minutes to melt cheese.

Yield: 8-½ cup servings, (43 calories per serving).

How-to workshop scheduled at Ingram's Point Theater

Backstage theater enthusiasts, beginners or seasoned veterans, are invited to attend a free "how-to" workshop dealing with set-construction and other stagecraft May 16 at 7 p.m. at the pavilion of the Hill Country Arts Foundation.

Jim Weisman, former theatre director at The Point Theatre and currently designer/technician for the Performing Arts Center at the University of Texas at Austin, will instruct.

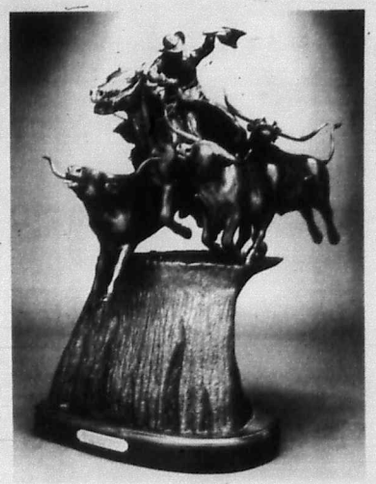

Weisman will design all of the sets for The Point Theatre's 1985 summer season. Theatre-goers may remember his award-winning design for "Harvey" presented during The Point's 1981 summer season.

Those attending the class will get some really valuable tips from a professional and will be invited to get "hands-on" experience during workdays May 18 and 19 when the fabulous sets for "Dear World" will be constructed.

Jourdanton Days set for this weekend

The Jourdanton Days Celebration May 16, 17, and 18 has been renamed the Jourdanton Days Kactus Kick Celebration.

Many activities are planned for the three day celebration, including a bridge tournament, trail-ride, carnival, bicycle race, a "no talent" show, street dance, 10 kilometer run, parade, chili cook-off and shows and demonstration.

"He'll Wrangle Nevermore," a bronze by Johnson City veterinarian Clay Stubbs was judged the "Best Bronze" in the juried Superbull Western Art Show in Del Rio recently. A total of 21 of this bronze will be cast. Stubbs has been invited to show in the Grasslands Rendezvous and National All-Media Exhibition in Greely, Colo., in June and July.

Architect's rendering of the Alkek Elementary School

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Alkek turn the first shovels of dirt for the Alkek Elementary School.

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 46 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

Ground broken for new school

"The real heroes, if we have any, are the citizens of the school district," Bandera school board president Thomas (Bub) Keese said Monday at a groundbreaking ceremony signaling the start of construction at the Alkek Elementary School.

"They voted for the school and they will pay for it," Keese said.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Alkek of Bandera headed a list of several people who took turns Monday at turning the first shovels of earth to kick off construction of the $2.9 million school on State Highway 173 South.

The Alkeks donated the 27.9-acre site on which the school is to be constructed, and school trustees voted last year to name the school in their honor.

Alkek has been identified by Forbes Magazine as one of the 60 richest persons in the United States. "They have been in our community some time and have been generous in their support of the community," Keese said Monday. Besides the school, Keese said the Alkeks have made generous contributions to the emergency medical service, the library, and the courthouse.

"They have been generous not only to the school, but to the community," said Keese. "With this in mind, we decided the school should be named in their honor."

Alkek made very brief remarks, thanking the school board for honoring them.

Among those who joined the Alkeks in turning the first shovels of earth for the new school Monday were Heather Koenig and Gary Yates, fifth graders representing the elementary school students; Kathy Vander Zee and Leta Curbo, faculty members representing the teachers; elementary principal Al Kinda; Superintendent Ron Caloss and assistant superintendent Ted Dockery; and Cindy Woodland, president of the Parent-Teachers Organization.

"The Alkeks have been generous not only to the school, but to the community."

—Bub Keese

The small crowd at the ceremonies felt a few drops of rain from threatening skies during the event. The entire student body of the elementary school was to be bused to the event, but officials cancelled that idea because of the threatening weather, Dr. Caloss said.

Both Keese and Caloss praised the efforts of Citizens for Better Schools, an ad hoc group formed to promote passage of bonds to finance the school.

"Had it not been for this organization, I don't think we would be here today breaking ground for a new school," Keese said.

Funtier Days celebration to be at Mansfield Park

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Hundreds of visitors are expected this weekend for the annual Funtier Days celebration of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, this year to take place almost entirely at Mansfield Park three miles west of Bandera.

A softball tournament and an old-fashioned dance contest are among the new events scheduled, and most of the traditional events will be back, according to general chairman Fabian Mazurek.

Entries in the traditional Cowboy Capital Parade, featuring long lines of cowboys on horseback and members of the San Antonio Shrine Club in a variety of modes of transport, will continue to be taken through Friday, says Cal Chapman, parade chairman.

In a last-minute change, the parade route was altered Tuesday night so that it will start and end in downtown Bandera. It will form up at 11th and Cypress Streets and step off down 11th Street past the United Methodist Church, the Silver Sage Corral and the junior high school.

It will turn right on Sycamore Street behind Super S foods and then right again on Main Street to proceed down Main in front of the courthouse. It will then go out Cypress Street (Hwy. 16) and disband in the vicinity of Rathke Motor Company, Chapman said.

Chapman acknowledged that the new parade route did not pass in front of Purple Hills Nursing Home, but he said several chamber members with vans and other transportation had volunteered to transport residents to the Silver Sage Corral to view the parade.

The parade will step off at noon Saturday.

Phil and Rosaline Carter of Leon Valley are the grand marshals of the parade. They have ridden in parades throughout the state decked out in full ceremonial regalia, said Chapman. A color guard from the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve from San Antonio will lead the procession.

As many as 60 entries are expected for the parade, Chapman said.

A Mansfield Park Arena rodeo will be staged Saturday night at 7:30 p.m. and a dance benefiting the Junior Livestock Show Association's proposed show barn will be held at the park, beginning at 9 p.m.

Softball will begin at 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday and arts and craft booths and food concessions will open at the park at 9 a.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. Sunday.

The Mighty McDaniel Carnival of San Antonio will run from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturday and from noon Sunday.

An Old Time Fiddlers' Contest will be held at 1 p.m. Sunday, and arm wrestling, ice cream eating and tobacco spitting contests are scheduled for Sunday afternoon.

Among the exhibits at Mansfield Park will be the homecoming of Susie, a Simbrasin heifer of the breed developed by Bandera County ranchers Bob Alexander and Rhea Mansfield.

Susie was purchased by Rick Seal of Brazoria 1½ years ago and has won heifer championships at nine prospect shows and county fairs in recent months, says Rhea Mansfield.

The Simbrasin is a triple-cross of Simmental, Brahman and Limousin cattle. Other Simbrasin prospects will also be on display, Mansfield said.

The rodeo will the regular Saturday-night event produced by Bo Chesson and will include most traditional rodeo events, including bull riding, calf roping, steer roping and wrestling, barrel racing and clowns.

Admission to the rodeo is $4 for adults and $2 for children.

There will be no admission fee for entry into Mansfield Park any time during the two-day event and parking near the gate will be free. There will be a $1 charge for parking in the vicinity of the Rec Hall, Mazurek said.

Funds from the parking will go to the local troop of the Boy Scouts of America, and Scouts will be on hand to assist motorists.

Dancing Saturday evening will be to the music of the Hilltoppers from Medina. Dance tickets will be $3 per person.

There will be five categories of competition in the old fashioned dance contest at 3:30 p.m. Saturday, including the one-step, the two-step, waltz, polka and folk dance.

A winning couple will be selected in each category, and they will participate in a "dance off" to determine three finalists, who will in turn compete again to determine the champion.

The 5k and 10k Streets of Bandera fun run will kick off the Funtier Days events at 8 a.m. in downtown Bandera.

Eight teams are expected in each the men's and women's divisions of the softball tournament, will continue throughout the two days of the Funtier Days celebration at the park.

Entries in the men's division include Utopia, Castroville, Block Distributing of San Antonio, Bandera Outlaws, the Starlight of Kerrville, Medina Lake, the Carousers of Boerne, and an eighth team from the Alamo City to be named later.

Women's teams entered include La Quinta of San Antonio, Southwestern Bell of San Antonio, the Cobras of San Antonio, the Retailers of Kerrville, Castroville, Santo's Rebels of San Antonio, the Hi Riserettes of San Antonio, and another San Antonio team to be designated.

The Marine Corps Reserve honor guard from the 4th Recon Battalion will lead opening ceremonies at the softball diamonds at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Merchants protest change of site for activities

Some 57 Bandera merchants signed a petition protesting the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce decision to schedule almost all of this year's Funtier Days activities at Mansfield Park.

In recent years, activities on Saturday were in downtown Bandera and in Mansfield Park on Sunday.

The chamber's board of directors considered the petition at its regular meeting Tuesday and changed the route of the parade so that it will form and disband in downtown. It had originally been scheduled to disband west of Bandera on the route toward Mansfield Park.

Chamber president Ken Finley said it was too late to change the site of other events, but the chamber directors also passed a resolution Tuesday saying they would contact each merchant who signed the petition, calling on them to help in the planning and execution of next year's Funtier Days.

"We are very displeased that the Funtier Days celebration is being held at Mansfield Park," the petition said. "We are also most unhappy that the parade will terminate at Mansfield Park, which will result in the emptying of downtown Bandera, leaving the merchants who have so strongly supported this celebration for so many years staring at empty streets."

The petition also contained direct personal criticism of the chamber leadership.

Finley said the decision to schedule most events at Mansfield Park was made six months ago, but the petition protesting the move was submitted to him only this week.

"We wanted to try something different," he explained. "The facilities (at the park) lend themselves more to a Funtier Days celebration than does downtown."

He also called on downtown merchants to get more involved in chamber activities so that the benefit of their thinking and ideas can be available to chamber directors when such decisions are being made. He said most of the merchants signing the petition are not chamber members.

In other chamber action Tuesday, steps were taken to keep the chamber office in the Municipal Building open six days each week. Final action is expected June 18 on a plan in which chamber directors will man the office on a rotating basis from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. each Saturday to provide tourist information.

How would you like Van Archer as your congressman?

We sometimes become critical of strikers, especially when the workers involved are highly-paid persons like ballplayers or airline pilots.

But pilot John Lundblad, who flies for Eastern Airlines and is not part of the striking United Airlines pilots, casts a different light on the strike against United.

Lundblad is the son of Charles Lundblad, newly elected director of the Bandera Optimist Club, and was a speaker at that group's meeting Monday.

"The United Airlines pilots are not striking for themselves," reports Lundblad. "They are striking for pilots who haven't been hired yet."

The company is proposing to cut in half the requirements for becoming a pilot, and those who are flying now resent it. More than that, they think it could result in safety problems. They think the new rules would have the result of attracting persons into flying who do not meet the current high standards they have met and maintain.

"Actually," says pilot Lundblad, "they are striking for the flying public."

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler is apparently very seriously considering running for governor in 1986. He's appointed as campaign director (he calls him director of an exploratory committee) the man who managed Sen. Phil Gramm's successful bid for the senate last year.

Loeffler's signals have caused a passel of Republicans to come forward to say they'd like to have Loeffler's job in Congress, and a quick reading of the list makes most of us hope our Hill Country congressman will decide to keep his job in Congress

For example, how would you like to be represented by San Antonio city councilman Van Archer? He's one of the more prominent Republicans who has said he wants Loeffler's job.

The only Hill County Republican who's being mentioned is state Rep. Gerald Geistweldt of Mason, whose main claim to fame is that he's Loeffler's cousin.

Not everyone will agree with everything Loeffler does in Washington, but at least he's Hill Country family.

Should Tom opt for a shot at the governor's office, you can bet a dollar to a donut and win that San Antonio will get another congressman and the Hill Country and the rest of Loeffler's district (which goes all the way to Midland) will lose one.

What about the Democrats? Forget it.

The Legislature (Democratically controlled as it is) has virtually assured we will have a Republican representing the 21st District, at least until the next redistricting sometime in the next decade.

Dear editor:

Texas veterans are alerted that new federal tax legislation threatens the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program and the Texas Veterans Land Program.

The Federal Tax Reform Act of 1984 imposes limitations on who can participate in the popular VHAP that will deny eligibility to over 1 million Texans.

This new bill means that Texas Veterans of WW II and the Korean War plus any veteran who enlisted after Jan. 1, 1977, including those who served in Grenada and Beirut, will not be eligible for loans through VHAP. And a veteran who was discharged 30 years ago will not be eligible for a VHAP loan.

Provisions in the law will also abolish the 35-year-old Texas Veterans Land Program in early 1987, bringing that program to a close in 1990.

Since the beginning of the Veterans Land Program in 1949, more than 85,000 Texans have taken advantage of the $20,000 low interest loans to buy land. The current interest rate on a 30-year note is 9.25 percent. The program set a record in 1984 with over 6,000 land loans.

The Veterans Land Board currently has about $200 million in bond money set aside for those veterans who will be excluded from the program.

Commissioner Garry Mauro says he will make loans until the money runs out, estimated to be about December 1986, and that next year Texas' Congressional delegation will work to amend the law and remove the eligibility restrictions.

All veterans and real estate professionals are urged to write to Land Commissioner Mauro at the Veterans Land Board in Austin.

The Veterans Housing Assistance and Texas Veterans Land Programs have never cost Texas taxpayers a cent. They have always been self-supporting. Let's exert ourselves to keep these programs. Write to Congress.

Legislature may avoid a major tax increase after all

Going into the final week, the business-like Texas Legislature showed all signs of avoiding a major tax increase, something that many said a few months ago could not be done.

All budget hopes rested in the conference committee which is trying to work out $400 million worth of differences between the versions passed by the House and Senate.

The conferees once again are reviewing state agency budgets, searching for fat to trim, but one major issue is whether to give state employees a raise, and how much.

The House approved a three percent increase, the Senate provided none.

The governor has wisely avoided being drawn into the fray by groups wanting him to veto any budget without a built-in pay hike.

"I'm not promising any vetos," he said. "We're trying to pass good legislation.

Blue Law repeal

The Texas Blue Law moved closer to repeal when the Senate tacked on several amendments and sent it back to the House for concurrence.

The new law would allow Sunday sales for all products except automobiles. Present law bans the sale of 42 items on consecutive weekend days.

The measure, if it becomes law, is expected to add some $24 million or more in sales tax revenues to state coffers strapped for cash.

Rural retailers fought the measure, and Biblical warnings of punishment for Sunday toilers were scattered throughout the debate. But the argument won out that new lifestyles, where both parents work in many families, make the old tradition burdensome.

Buckled seat belts

The House approved legislation which is sure to set many Texans to grumbling: a mandatory buckled seat belt law.

The good news for the grumblers is the new law would apply only to persons in the front seat. The bad news is a $25 to $50 fine if you're caught unbuckled.

A federal order has mandated that two-thirds of the U.S. population be protected through seat belt laws or installed air bags by 1989. Seat belts are cheaper.

Texas lawmakers, wary of the wrath of Texas pick-up truck drivers, tried to exempt certain types of trucks from the requirement with what came to be dubbed "the Bubba amendment."

"Bubba may think he's got a right to drive 75 mph and drink a six-pack of beer driving into the sunset. But Bubba doesn't have the right to injure you or himself on the highway. We outlawed suicide a long time ago," said Bill Messer, the sponsor.

Prison lawsuit settlement

State officials last week signed an agreement to end the costly prison system lawsuit and send it to the federal judge who rocked the legislature six years ago with court-ordered reforms.

The proposal calls for an 11.7 percent reduction in inmates now in prison, and costs $173 million.

Prison board chairman Robert Gunn warned persons who might try to sabotage the pact that "the war is over and the side of reform has won."

Others said the settlement will be a landmark that will lead to a new direction in the state criminal justice system.

"It's just crazy to try to build all the new prisons they will have to build just to keep even," one reformer said.

Wiretap update

After a Houston senator filibustered for over 12 hours against it, the Senate amended the wiretapping law to allow covert entries to plant wiretaps.

The new law would extend wiretap use, but requires that court orders be necessary to install wiretaps and pen registers, a device recording only phone riumbers dialed out of a line.

Indictments thrown out

Felony indictments against state Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, were thrown out by a state district judge last week who ruled that a grand jury member was serving improperly.

Parker was accused of criminal drug and pornography offenses, but claimed innocence.

Earlier this year, Parker was indicted on porno and prostitution charges, but a state judge threw out the charges on grounds of improper grand jury conduct.

Impact of wildlife is roundup topic

With the current economic crisis in ranching, wildlife enterprises are being given greater attention. This is reflected in the subjects addressed during the wildlife sessions of the International Ranchers Roundup, according to Dwight Guynn of Uvalde, Extension wildlife specialist.

This year's IRR is being held July 29-Aug. 2 at the Laredo Civic Center. Topics covered during the wildlife sessions will include quail management on the 6666 Ranch in North Texas and big game hunt management on the Deseret Land and Cattle Co. lands in Utah. In addition, biologist Val Lehman of Kingsville will discuss quail management in the Rio Grande Plain, the subject of his latest book.

The impact of wildlife on land values will be the subject discussed by Garvis Marsh, who is retired from the Federal Land Bank.

Albert Ward, a rancher from Sonora, will talk about the impact of hunting leases on rural economies. Guynn will discuss the importance of wildlife enterprises and management techniques to maximize profits.

The "nuts and bolts" of deer biology will also be covered in the wildlife sessions. Bill Morrill, a biologist from Boerne, Steve Nelle of Gonzales, who is with the Soil Conservation Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture, and David Guynn, Clemson University, South Carolina, will talk about what constitutes good deer forage and how to analyze census data to determine harvest rates.

Management of hunters and other recreationists often present a myriad of problems for landowners. Henry Welge, rancher for Doss, and Ben Swendson, Lykes Bros. Ranch, Palmdale, Florida, will cover the approaches to managing hunter-recreational problems and how non-consumptive wildlife uses can put money in the bank.

Sessions on ultralight aircraft usage in ranching were first presented at the 1982 IRR in Del Rio. This year in Laredo, new information on the use of ultralight aircraft in coyote control will be presented. Dr. Jim Knight, from New Mexico State University, will give his latest research findings on the subject.

All in all, the wildlife sessions at this year's IRR will provide information that ranchers cannot afford to miss, Dwight Guynn said. Marie A. Batto among graduates at SWTSU

Marie A. Batto of Bandera was among the 1,237 Southwest Texas State University students who filed for degrees awarded in spring commencement ceremonies May 10 and 11.

Former Gov. John B. Connally told the more than 1,000 Southwest Texas State University graduates at commencement exercises that it will be up to them and their generation to "determine whether or not the United States remains a preeminent nation in the free world, or, whether or not there is a free world."

"You are entering into your own professional lives in whatever fields you choose at a critical time in the history of this nation and the history of the world," Connally said.

Batto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Batto Jr. of Bandera, received a bachelor of music degree with a major in music education. While at SWT she was a member of Mu Phi Epsilon fraternity, Tau Beta Sigma, Bobcat Marching Band, SWT Concert Band, University Concert Choir and SWT Oratorio Society.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hay entertained one of England's most outstanding mohair buyers at a special luncheon on May 17, 1960. Mr. and Mrs. A.T. Hanson of Charles Hanson and Company, Ltd., of Yorkshire, England, were in Texas to observe Texas mohair production.

He was shown around the Hay Angora Ranch and expressed surprise at the splendid quality of mohair seen there.

The School Daze page that appeared each week in the Bandera Bulletin in 1960 received an "Award of Merit" from the Interscholastic League Press Association. The 1959-1960 editor was Linda Wright. She was assisted by her capable staff and sponsor, Mrs. A.B. Lewis.

Nine students at Bandera High School were inducted into the National Honor Society. Seniors were Earl Keese, Kenneth Kalka, Linda Wright, Patricia Johnson, Carol Ann Boyle, and John Jenschke. Three juniors among the ranks were John Alanis, Elsie Faurie, and Barbara Focke.

The 1960 school year would end with four majorettes from the freshman class. They were Donna Morse, Susan Langford, Rosemary Faurie, and Karen Kitzman.

Lost Valley Ranch was the scene of the Junior-Senior Prom. An even 100 juniors, seniors, their dates, teachers, and sponsors enjoyed the program and dancing to the music of Lee Kohlenberg. The decorations and program carried out a Mardi Gras theme.

Boerne man injured here in early-morning accident

A Boerne man walked away from a one-car accident early Monday morning, though his vehicle hit a culvert, crossed a driveway, plunged into the side of a bluff, flipped over, and then skidded some 400 feet on its roof.

Paul C. Friddle, 18, was transported to Methodist Hospital by Bandera County Emergency Medical Service, police said, after the 5:40 a.m. mishap on State Highway 46 at Red Bluff Creek. He remained in the hospital Tuesday afternoon, a spokesman said.

Deputy James MacMillan, who is investigating the accident, said the driver apparently lost control of his vehicle as it rounded a curve "at a high rate of speed." No citations were issued, pending the completion of the investigation.

'Bed and breakfast' topic of conference

Fredericksburg will be the site of the area's first conference for "bed and breakfast" operators and agencies May 24-25.

Coming as far away as Mystic, Conn., will be those who own or operate B&B Host Homes or small, unique or historic inns as well as those thinking about getting into this burgeoning "new" hospitality service.

The first B&B reservation service agency in Texas was founded in Fredericksburg in 1982 and has since grown into serving as an international service organization for more than 400 Bed and Breakfast agencies and thousands of Host Homes, not only in Texas, but in many foreign countries.

It is now known as the Bed and Breakfast Society International.

Ann Ruff, owner of the Badu House Bed and Breakfast, Llano, will be the featured speaker and conference facilitator. Ann is author of numerous works including "Historical Inns of Texas" and co-author of the soon to be released Texas Monthly publication "Bed and Breakfast in Texas."

Following Friday night's Get-Acquainted hour in the Britsch Conference Room on May 24, attendees will cover various topics about the B&B "industry" with particular emphasis on the dynamics of "feeling at home in a home away from home."

Saturday morning there will be a special B&B Breakfast Cooking School at the Hill Country Ranch House of Karol and Ed Krause of Houston and Fredericksburg, both professional chefs.

After free time in Fredericksburg the conference again gathers to tackle the "nitty gritty" B&B methods of innkeeping and operations to be followed by a special German feast in the Old German Bakery and Restaurant.

Bandera sales up slightly in 1984

Gross sales in Bandera County in 1984 were just 2.2 percent over sales in 1983, according to figures just released by the State Comptroller of Public Accounts.

Sales in 1984 throughout the county totaled $35.5 million, the comptroller's office said, and that compares with total sales of $34.7 million in 1983.

Kendall County sales amounted to $113.0 million, up 21.1 percent over 1983; Medina County sales were $233.5 million, up 9.3 percent; Real County $8.0 million, down 11.8 percent; and Kerr County 326.0 million, up 8.9 percent.

Boyle buys package store

Grocer Johnny Boyle has purchased the Bar 7 package store on upper Main Street in Bandera and has changed the store's name to the Wagon Wheel Package Store.

The store is now under the management of Ernie Thompson, now of Lakehills but who plans to move to Bandera. Also on the staff is Minnie Adams.

Boyle purchased the store from long-time operator Pop Adams. He plans to install a new store front, fresh paint inside and out, and an expanded inventory, including a new and enlarged wine selection.

Dawn Macon elected

Dawn Macon has been elected president of the Bandera Junior-Senior 4-H Club and Tobey Sandidge has been named vice president.

Other officers are Ruth Mazurek, treasurer; Chris Macon, reporter; Reagan Mazurek, council delegate; and Manny Sandidge recreation leader.

The club's next meeting will be on Sept. 11, according to Chris Macon.

Arthur H. Erfurt receives a firefighters certificate of appreciation in "special recognition and highest praise for alertness, personal courage and efficient guardianship of life and property" from the president of the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 9176, Betty Swinford.

Emergency medical technician Marianne Sandidge receives a certificate of appreciation presented by the Ladies Auxiliary of VFW Post 9176 President Betty Swinford.

Computer camps

Three computer camps for children will be offered this summer by Trinity University's Continuing Education Office. Classes are scheduled for beginners, nine years of age and older, and intermediate and advanced students, ages 11 and older.

The beginners' camp will be held July 8-12. Sessions for intermediate and advanced young people will be July 15-19.

Travel Tips

by Bev Cox
Sundance Travel Int'l

The services of a travel agent are especially valuable to business people who seldom have the flexibility of pleasure travelers. Vacation travel differs because dates can often be changed to take advantage of off-peak discounts and minimum/maximum stays, while business travelers have fewer options.

The airlines are very competitive in services offered to business travelers and it takes our expertise to sort out the most advantageous arrangements. For instance, Airline X might offer a free stop-over in Europe if you're going on to certain places in the Middle East. Airline Y provides certain amenities at no additional charge for passengers flying business class. Airline Z has free sleeper seats on certain routes. Most business people are too busy to remain current on the various options, but we're professionals who spend full time ferreting out these facts for our clients.

Business people have attorneys, accountants, financial planners and other types of professionals who provide expert advice. Many also have a travel agent to make their trips more pleasurable and economical. Those who already benefit from our expert service know we're the only professionals who don't charge for routine services.

Next time you plan a trip, let us make it more economical and hassle free. We'll sort through the multitude of fares and flights to select the best option for your special needs.

Best of all, we work in your best interest without adding a dime to your payroll. What other professional can make that claim?

QUESTIONS:

	YES	NO
1. Do you suffer from stiffness or pain in the lower back?
2. Do you have frequent numbness in the arms, hands, or legs?
3. Do you sometimes have stiffness in the neck or pain between the shoulders?
4. Do you often have strained muscles?
5. Do you allow yourself to get and stay "tied up in knots"?
6. Do you maintain poor posture?
7. Do the stresses and strains of day-to-day living cause you back pain?
8. Do you suffer from tingling, tightness, hot spots, or cold spots in various parts of the body?
9. Do you have arthritis or painful joints?
10. Have you bent over to retrieve an object from the floor and been unable to straighten up again?

If your answer is YES, then you could be suffering needlessly from Backache. All the above are symptoms of Backache, but are also common to other disease conditions.

Everyone knows that when a nerve is cut or pinched, something stops...whatever organ, gland, or tissue is at the end of the pinched nerve will fail to function, just as flipping a switch will turn off the lights. Your Doctor of Chiropractic is imminently qualified in this area: the spine and nerves are his or her specialty.

If you have any of the symptoms listed above, a chiropractic spine and nerve test is advisable immediately to determine where the problem lies.

Kerrville wrestles with garbage problems

Jenny McRingo of the Kerrville Mountain Sun reports that the Kerrville City Council has severed its contract with Moore Services, Inc., the operator of the city-county landfill.

As of this Friday, May 24, at 5 p.m. Moore Services, Inc. will no longer operate the landfill or provide residential garbage collection, the City Council decided in an emergency meeting last Friday morning.

The action came after months of negotiation between the city, the county, and Moore Services, after city attorney Tom Terrell interpreted that Moore Services' contract would not be in effect in the new landfill site. Robert Smith, with Moore Services, and his attorneys disagreed, and last Friday morning's emergency meeting was a last attempt to reach a settlement in the impasse.

The city and county will themselves now apparently operate the new landfill and collect residential garbage.

On yet another zoning matter, the Kerr County Animal Welfare Society got a ten-acre agriculture zone passed for the proposed site of its new animal shelter, but left the Council meeting without a signed contract with the city to operate the shelter.

That contract will now be submitted to competitive bidding.

County to sponsor sesquicentennial projects

The Frio County Commissioners Court took the worry of sponsoring the proposed sesquicentennial project out of the other governmental bodies hands, Monday morning by unanimously voting to sponsor it themselves.

The Pearsall Leader reported that the project will include renovation and repair of the existing swimming pool, the baseball field, the junior high tennis courts and the creation of a one-mile jogging trail with exercise stations.

It also will include permanently topping the track and creating a parking lot for athletic events out of Paseo Tyner leaving it open for traffic the rest of the time.

The commissioners seemed satisfied that enough in-kind work and private donations had been promised to take care of the local 50 percent of the matching funds grant from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Parking discussed in Uvalde

A group of downtown property owners approached Uvalde city council with a $230,000 proposal for a downtown parking plan, but received little support, according to the Leader-News.

Council members questioned the cost and necessity of the project.

"Del Rio lost its downtown and San Antonio is now having to spend millions of dollars to correct years of neglect to their downtown area," architect Jack Graves said. "The city needs to start today in making a commitment to solving downtown parking problems and I don't believe that there will be any major commercial development of the downtown area until the city shows its firm support of addressing those problems."

J.C. Penney Co. and Bealls Brothers are considering locating in downtown Uvalde, the paper said.

Ingram cancels plans

Ingram Independent School District trustees agreed Monday to cancel proposed plans for a maintenance and transportation building and two temporary classroom buildings, according to Cathy Kirkham of the Kerrville Daily Times.

Basing their decision on the community's lack of interest in the recent bond issue, trustees decided to cancel plans indefinitely. The $3.9 million bond issue for building programs was defeated by a 551-394 margin May 4.

"If it's not advisable to build classrooms, it's not advisable to build a maintenance building," Ingram schools superintendent Dr. Harry Griffith said.

The maintenance building, proposed by trustees in April, was to be funded through the district's budget and wouldn't have affected taxes.

Members purchasing under council's eye

The city of New Braunfels will investigate the issue of the city doing business with city council members on May 29 after Mayor Barbara Tieken submitted the low bid for the purchase of T-shirts for lifeguards and playground leaders employed by the city.

A hardware store owner and a bank official also serve on the city's council. "I asked for it (the topic) to be an agenda item," the mayor said.

Hondo's police being probed

The Hondo Police Department is conducting an internal investigation of alleged police brutality, the police chief has confirmed.

Another city official who declined to be named said the city had received numerous complaints on one police officer even before Hispanics began demanding his ouster, the Express-News said.

The Hondo City Council last Tuesday night agreed to hold a special council meeting at 7:30 p.m. May 28 to hear complaints from as many as seven people who have signed sworn statements alleging mistreatment.

May for older Texans

Growing old in Texas has become an increasingly rewarding reality among the state's aging population, as older people are staying healthier and feeling more productive longer, according to the Texas Department of Health. Their many achievements, past and present, are being saluted in local events throughout May, which Governor Mark White has proclaimed Older Texans Month.

At the Texas Department of Health, Howard Allen, Chief of the Bureau of Long Term Care, said that health habits of the elderly have changed in recent years.

"Better eating habits, exercise, and other self-help activities are enabling the almost two million Texas residents who are 60 years of age or older to lead more productive lives," Allen explained. He said that as older people remain active, younger segments of the population learn to respect there continuing contributions to society.

TDH has found that many of its most vital volunteers are older citizens, who work in nearly every aspect of health care for others, including in nursing homes. Allen said at least half of the state's retired population is involved in some form of volunteerism.

Allen added that some 95 percent of Texans who are older than 65 still live independently or with their families, and that only the remaining five percent are in nursing homes or other institutions.

The Texas Department of Health's Bureau of Long Term Care is responsible for licensing all nursing homes in Texas, certifying those which provide services for Medicaid or Medicare recipients, and conducting investigations of all complaints and incidents. It continually monitors the quality of care provided in nursing homes by conducting routine, unannounced inspections.

The bureau determines the medical level of care necessary for admission into nursing homes through the medicaid program.

It also operates a toll-free information phone in Austin (1-800-252-9106) to inform the public about nursing home services statewide.

Persons wishing to participate in local events to honor older Texas citizens are advised to contact nursing homes or local health departments serving their areas for more details.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Rain, 5½ inches of it in Tarpley area last week, is helping to make the countryside beautiful.

Homecoming day

The time is drawing near to think and plan for the Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department's barbecue and the Tarpley school reunion.

The homecoming was planned to meet every two years, and this is the year for it.

Both events are held on the Tarpley Community Center grounds on the first Sunday of September. It's always on the Sunday before Labor Day.

Think about it

How many of you "gentle readers" read Potpourri last week concerning Sea World that will come close to Castroville without Castroville's even being consulted and what it will do to preserve the quality of life in their community? If you missed what Nick Johnson had to say about this matter, look it up.

Rio Hondoans to meet

The Rio Hondo Property Owners Association's annual meeting and picnic will be held at the park on Saturday, May 25, beginning with registration at 2 p.m.

There will be a short time allowed for visiting with friends and neighbors prior to the meeting, which will be followed by a pot-luck dinner.

The agenda for the meeting will include introducing two newly-elected board members, Helen Bryant and Earl Hood, and presenting the officers of the association for the year.

Attend meeting

Marilyn Haner and Nettie Dean attended the Helping Hand meeting Thursday night at the First Baptist Church. It was a most interesting meeting and many were present. All volunteers of "Helping Hand" were presented a certificate of appreciation. Cookies and coffee were served after the program ended.

Club meets

The Williams Creek Extension Homemakers Club met at Marilyn Haner's home last Monday for its regular club day.

Roll call was answered by naming a durable fabric. After the business meeting, hostess Marilyn Haner showed "Short Cuts to Serving."

Bobby Singleton won the white elephant prize. She's having a birthday May 27.

Visitors of Elzie and Nettie Dean Saturday afternoon were her nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Bub) Krause of San Antonio and his mother, Vinnie Krause of Nacogdoches.

Kenneth and Jeanne Shinn celebrate their wedding anniversary this week and also Kenneth's birthday.

Purple Hills

Mada Wedgworth

The First United Methodist Church of Bandera came for their monthly worship service Sunday afternoon. Milton H. Culley, lay speaker, used for his text Gen. 22:1-19. Judy Goodenough was the pianist and Elizabeth Jackson was the song leader. We enjoyed the special song, "An Evening Prayer" sung by Elizabeth Jackson and Vonda Willingham.

Those signing the guest book were Judy Goodenough, Milton H. Culley, Laverne and Hoyt Hamrick, Eva Freeman, Vonda Willingham and Elizabeth Jackson.

Ople Boyle visited her mother, Maude Stokes. Other visitors were Sandee Vannatter and son Jordan and Cecil Lewis.

Claire Thaman of Kerrville visited her mother, Agnes Fortinberry.

Allyn Woolvern of Schertz visited her cousin, Gertrude Werner.

Charlsie and Vernon Porter of Utopia came by Tuesday and took his mother Veonita Porter out for lunch. They also visited Mrs. Porter's Aunt Ruby Sides.

Thanks to Martin Smith nine residents enjoyed Bible reading Wednesday morning. Guests were Sherry Powres and daughter Stephanie and Shirley Phillips and her son, Kelly.

Ernest Rainey's guests last week were his wife, Mrs. Rainey, his son, David Rainey, Carol Cooper and Mollie Amsler.

Thanks to the American Legion Auxiliary Post 410 for the party last week and to Dorothy Webber and Gertrude Dohrow for the refreshments.

The Rev. William Moseley from the First Baptist Church in Medina visited friends Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards took his mother, Edith Edwards, to Kerrville Wednesday afternoon. While there they visited Mae Armstrong, L.J. Edwards of Pipe Creek and Grace Fisher of Utopia in the Peterson Hospital. Mrs. Edwards reports all are doing as well as can be expected.

On Wednesday evening Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ.

Claude Buck, Si and Louise Turner visited Willie Leibold.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowman of Lakehills took his sister, Lorena Bowman, to town shopping Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Flowers visited Pat Freeman.

Raymond and Aggie Batto visited their aunt, Ruth Batto, and their uncle, Joe Mazurek.

Myrtle Heinen enjoyed a nice visit from her granddaughters, Nancy Crist, Reba Williams and Debra Moody, all of San Antonio.

We're sorry to report our Lillian Bush died Saturday morning. We will miss her. Our sympathy to all her loved ones.

We enjoyed the church services Friday evening when Pipe Creek Baptists came for their monthly meeting. Keith Mansfield was the speaker, song leader was Don Rastetter and pianist was Kelly Howell. We enjoyed a special song, "Amazing Grace" sung by Kelly Howell.

Guests registering were Mr. and Mrs. Don Rastetter, Kelly, Holly, Heather and Bill Howell and Keith Mansfield.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Sunday and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards took his mother, Edith Edwards, to services at the Pipe Creek Baptist Church Sunday morning. After church they enjoyed the barbecue at the firehouse.

Sure was good to see Mildred Zuttermeister Monday morning when she came by for a visit.

Briefly noted

Billie Crowell promoting fete

Rose (Billie) Crowell, ambassador of the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, is expected to attend an orientation at the institute on June 15 to receive a briefing on its programs.

Mrs. Crowell, long-time operator of the Dixie Dude Ranch near Bandera, has helped promote the institute's Texas Folklife Festival for several years, and is again deeply involved promoting the Aug. 1-4 event.

Nearly 6,000 participants, including several from Bandera County, share the ethnic, cultural and folk history of their forebearers with more than 100,000 visitors at the festival each year.

Polly's Chapel service slated this Sunday

There will be worship service led by the Rev. Richard E. Jackson, pastor of Bandera United Methodist Church, at Polly's Chapel Sunday. The service is open to the public and will begin at 3 p.m.

Polly's Chapel is officially under the jurisdiction of the Rio Grande Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church. "We are trying to explore the possibility of establishing a regular congregation out there. If you have any interest and would like to help, please be there this Sunday," a spokesman said.

Another boy for the Phillips

James Garrett Phillips was born May 7. His parents are Steve and Chris Phillips of Bandera. He weighed six pounds and 13 ounces. He was welcomed by his sister Jenny, and two brothers Travis and Cash.

Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. George Collins of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Phillips of Galveston are the paternal grandparents.

Engagement told

Mr. and Mrs. James W. Kimbrell of Bandera would like to announce the approaching marriage of their daughter, Kathryn E. Kimbrell, to Daniel E. Thaler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Thaler of Castle Lake.

They plan a June 8 wedding at the Thaler home in Castle Lake. A reception will follow, the family said.

The bookshelf

Summer is fast approaching and with it the Summer Reading Program sponsored jointly by the Texas, State Library and the Bandera County Library. This year's topic will be "Awesome Adventures" and will include movies, puppet shows, books, book talks and lots of other activities.

Saturday, May 25, will again be "Saturday Matinee" time in the library with the movie "Rodeo Red and the Runaway," the story of a runaway girl and a former race horse, Big Red. Showtime is 10:30 a.m., and the film will last about an hour, and of course is free.

Don't forget to check the library for your business questions, large print books and best sellers for the week.

Birthday fete

The Crafty Ladies took Fern McDonald to a Castroville restaurant last Thursday to celebrate her birthday.

"It was a lovely day for us all," said Johnie Bartlett.

JP moves city limits sign

Peace Justice Ed Jennings of Pipe Creek arranged to have the "official" unincorporated city limits sign moved from in front of his old store on Highway 16. It now hangs about 20 feet in the air in front of his courthouse on F.M. 1283.

The two-sided sign claims that Pipe Creek begins and ends directly under the sign.

Castle Lake VFD elects Glock

Charles Glock has been elected president of the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department and Roy Martin was named first vice president.

The election took place Sunday at the department's annual meeting and barbecue. Glock said about 50 persons attended the meeting.

Other officers elected are Mike Sothard, second vice president; Helen Martin, secretary; Pat Mills, re-elected treasurer; and Bunny Wilson, assistant treasurer.

Electronics course

Marine Lance Cpl. Freddie V. Espinosa, son of Rudy and Margarita Espinosa of Bandera, has completed the Basic Electronics Course.

During the ten week course, conducted at the Marine Corps Communication-Electronics School in Twentynine Palms, Calif. Espinosa was prepared for further technical training as electronic technicians and repairmen.

During the course, he received instruction on the fundamental concepts of electricity, electronics and circuit theory. His studies included mathematics; alternating and direct current; transistor, electron tube; and circuit testing; and soldering techniques.

Mr. and Mrs. George Plasczyk

MacMillan, Plasczyk wed

In a double ring ceremony May 11, Jennifer Lynn MacMillan and George Plasczyk of Lakehills were united in matrimony in Pipe Creek. Peace Justice Ed Jennings officiated at the ceremony beneath "the marrying oak."

Parents of the bride are Jim and Lila MacMillan of Lakehills. The groom's parents are Everett Plasczyk of San Antonio and Johnnie Walker of San Antonio.

The bride's mother and the groom's father served as attendants. Following the ceremony, the couple and their families enjoyed dinner in Boerne. The couple will make their home in Lakehills.

Democratic Club to hold fundraiser

The Democratic Club of Kendall County will hold a fundraising event on May 31 and June 1 at the home of Robert and Jane Quick.

According to Betty Koster, president of the group, this will be a garage sale, and "we expect to have some unusual items for sale, as well as good quality goods in general."

Koster has explained that the Democratic Club, recently formed, hopes to raise money to expand its efforts on the local, state and national levels in support of "Democratic principles."

The garage sale will be from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days at 310 Oak Drive in Boerne.

Managers enjoy visit

When the preserve manager, Hal Olson, at Thousand Trails RV Resort learned that managers and staff members from seven other Texas preserves, the Las Vegas, Nev., and Bellevue, Wash., trading posts were coming to Medina Lake he knew he had to come up with something special for entertainment.

The resort system's regional manager Paul Lyman said he selected Medina Lake as the site for the management seminar because "it's so spacious and I want everyone in our system to see it, it's one of our most unique resorts."

The managers attended workshops and lectures on merchandising and retailing in the resort trades.

To wrap up the three day work session, Olson arranged for all the visitors to go on a tour of Bandera by chartered bus with the final stop at the Cabaret Dance Hall. "Cal Chapman, owner of the Cabaret, really rolled out the red carpet for us," Olson said. "We dined on authentic Texas barbecue and then we danced to real Bandera music," Olson said.

Barbara Huribut of Las Vegas was among the out-of-state visitors. "Medina Lake is beautiful and the Cowboy Capitol is very interesting," she said. "I really like it." Kathy Bertsch of Bellevue, Wash., said, "it's gorgeous and everyone is so warm and friendly."

"I had no idea Bandera has so much history. I learned a lot on the bus tour. I really think it's great," commented Don Muran of Bellevue.

"They liked Bandera and the Cabaret so much, when they went back to the lake on the bus, they jumped into their cars and drove back to Bandera and the Cabaret for more fun," Olson remarked.

Lila MacMillan undergoes surgery in San Antonio

Staff writer Lila MacMillan underwent surgery in a San Antonio hospital this week and will be out of the office for several weeks.

Lakehills and Pipe Creek residents with news to report may continue to leave it at the designated locations or may call it in to the Bulletin, 796-3718.

Hair stylists attend seminar

Barbara Engel and Karen Thompson of Cutaway in Lakehills attended a seminar on advanced haircutting techniques conducted by Jingles International of London at the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio.

Terry Brieno and Rhonda Welch served as models for Barbara and Karen, and are now sporting "Jingles" creations.

Smith completes basic training

Pvt. Ronald C. Smith, son of William F. Smith of Lakehills, has completed basic training at Fort Dix, N.J.

During the training, students received instruction in drill and ceremonies, weapons, map reading, tactics, military courtesy, military justice, first aid, and Army history and traditions.

'Curse You, Jack Dalton' pleases SRO audience in Lakehills

The Medina Lake Players presented "Curse You, Jack Dalton" before a packed house at the Lakehills Civic Center Saturday night, and the audience's reaction proved that Bandera County will support and does appreciate live theater.

Sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, the dinner theater presentation delighted the audience to the point where, a full hour after the final curtain call, a large group of theater buffs were still on hand, thanking the cast for a delightful evening and showing an obvious reluctance to leave and lose the marvelous feeling created by the experience.

A totally biased review
By Jim MacMillan

The play, written by Wilbur Braun, was a good old fashioned melodrama.

Gwen Akin was superb in the role of the aristocratic Donna Dalton. Cindy McKay delighted the audience with her portrayal of Eloise. Young Cliff Stoops was totally convincing as the hero Jack Dalton.

Karen Kennedy played Anna Alvarado to perfection and Don Dethorne was indeed Richard Blair.

Kate Kennedy was captivating as Bertha and Jim Endicott did his job. As the villain, he was loudly booed during the performance, and just as loudly cheered after the curtain. Special thanks have to go to Clif Waterman for his directing, and to Dorothy Endicott, Claire Willis and Bill McKay for their work back stage. If there was one thing wrong with "Curse You, Jack Dalton," it was that it was only a one act play. The audience would have enjoyed three or four acts.

On the bright side, there are tentative plans for additional performances around the county in the weeks ahead, and the Medina Lake Players are looking at a variety of scripts for their next production.

Fajita cookoff, crafts coming on May 25

The Johnson City Chamber of Commerce will kickoff its first Fajita Cookoff, Saturday, May 25. Fajita cooks will compete for trophies and special awards including recognition for the largest tortilla and best picante.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Calling all Melodiers: It is a bit off the regular schedule of first and third Fridays, but there will be a special event scheduled for Friday, May 24, from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m.

The event consists of a rehearsal at the Silver Sage Corral, followed by a performance at Purple Hills, in honor of the Memorial weekend. Since these residents may not be able to take part in the Funtier Days celebration on the next two days, the singing group will bring their own brand of music and memories to the shutins. Wear your western duds. All interested persons are invited to come and join in.

Seniors praised

On the front page of the official publication of the Alamo Area Council of Governments Bandera's senior citizens were praised.

"Seniors Help Themselves to Independence," it was headlined. "Help Yourself to Independence, this year's theme for the celebration of Senior Citizen Month, has been the theme of the citizens of Bandera County since early 1984," the article read. "It was then that the seniors obtained a 50-year lease on land belonging to the County of Bandera for a new senior center.

"Spearheaded by Bandera residents, Al and Kay Robinson, the Silver Sage Corral is now a reality.

"This center, appraised at $150,000, cost less than $70,000 due to the volunteer services of electricians, plumbers, carpenters and fund raisers. On April 28, the Center opened its doors to independence for the Seniors of Bandera.

"The Silver Sage Corral is just one of numerous centers throughout the AACOG region contributing to the quality of life of seniors, enabling them to contribute to their fellow seniors, the community at large, and their own future as well," the article stated.

Home-health care

The American Association of Retired Persons, meeting for the first time at the Silver Sage Corral, had a great attendance. The legislative chairman presented a petition, which all signed, asking for fairness in the allocation of taxes, expressing outrage that the largest and most profitable corporations do not pay their fair share, and asking Congress to repeal special interest loopholes, and restore the corporate tax.

After some selections sung by the Melodiers' trio, the speaker of the afternoon was introduced. Frances Lovett, R.N., of Diversified Nursing Services, spoke on home-health care. This topic was discussed in a feature article of the April/May issue of Modern Maturity, stating that many people who could be cared for at home at relatively modest cost, are often placed in the more expensive nursing homes, sometimes at taxpayers' cost, for lack of home care.

Although home-health care centers are not plentiful, Bandera is fortunate to have one, on Highway 16 South, and new interpretations of Medicare permit its use in many cases hitherto unsuspected. A social hour followed the regular meeting.

Where there's a will...

Kerry Schneider, Bandera's newest attorney about town, will give a seminar in June, exact date to be released later, on wills and the consequences of their absence.

Also included will be a discussion of financial planning for senior citizens, and estate planning.

Gift and thrift shops

Maybe it's the attractive setting of the Gift Gazebo in the corner of the Silver Sage Corral, but that corner is a veritable bee-hive of activity. Many thanks to those who have brought in their gift and thrift wares recently.

Donations received in return are helping to pay for the greater expenses of operating the new and larger quarters of the senior center, notably the central air-conditioning, and cleaning costs. Some gifts are being used for the center's own needs, such as the desk stapler from Mary McCloskey, the jigsaw puzzle from Marian Coker, and the leather scraps for crafts from Jerry Sharp, the pool cue from Jack Kinberger, and a folding wheel chair for any participant's use, from James Fergus. Two much-needed bulletin boards have been donated by Winnie Fee. Thank you.

The Silver Sage Corral will, of course, be taking part in the "Night in Old Bandera" on June 22, for the benefit of the Sesquicentennial Committee. Its contribution will be, according to tenative plans, a Country Store on its spacious front porch.

Advisory board

The center's advisory board will meet Friday May 24 at 2 p.m. and receive a report from the building committee, which is winding down its obligations and will presently be dissolved. All members are urged to attend.

Schedule

Please note that the Silver Sage Corral will be open on Monday, May 21, Memorial Day, and the regular needle arts class will be in session with instructor Joe May of Pipe Creek. The mini-bus will be making its usual run as well.

The fitness group will meet for exercise at 4 p.m. and also on Wednesday and Friday at the same time.

On Tuesday, there will be table games in the afternoon also on Wednesday afternoon if desired.

Thursday will see the regular classes — Beginner's Spanish, Conversational Spanish, Principles of Art, the morning Art Group, and Autoharp.

Friday will be for bridge players. Details of time-slots are available at the center. In between the scheduled activities are many opportunities for socializing and volunteer service.

There will be no Melodiers practice on May 30.

Watch for a biscuits and gravy breakfast on Tuesday morning, June 8, and a rummage sale on Saturday June 8 at the Silver Sage Corral.

Please keep in mind the taped interviews with the "old-timers" which Jon Johnson of the Hill Country YMCA has left at the Center for volunteers to transcribe. If you lack a tape player, the Joan of one can be arranged.

Monetary gifts to the Silver Sage Corral last week included the very welcome ones from Nick Johnson and Claus Rohlfs and Associates of Medina.

Veterans bonding bill passes legislature

Legislation co-sponsored by State Rep. Eldon Edge to renew the bonding authority of the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program has passed both houses of the Texas Legislature by overwhelming votes.

The resolution would put the question of an additional $500 million in bonding authority to the voters on next November's constitutional amendment ballot.

Since the housing program began a little over a year ago, the Veterans Land Board has certified more than 16,500 applications for loans to purchase of a home, this program has already put $330 million into the Texas economy, Edge's office said. "As a result, the VHAP stimulates the homebuilding industry as well as creating jobs so that this program benefits not only Texas Veterans but all Texans," Edge said.

"The Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program has not cost the taxpayers of the state one penny," he continued. "I wholeheartedly supported the legislation that provides Texas' 1.8 million veterans with a low-cost solution to the housing dilemma in the state, especially for the Vietnam-era veterans," said Rep. Edge.

The VHAP has been called the greatest single veterans benefits program to be enacted by a state since World War II. "This enables eligible Texas Veterans to borrow $20,000 at less than 10 percent to apply toward the purchase of a home," said Gary Mauro, state land commissioner. "When the current program is combined with a VA home loan, the Texas Veteran can purchase a home with no down payment."

The legislation follows the recommendations of the Sunset Advisory Commission to provide additional bonding authority, Edge's office said.

Obituaries

Claude J. Prillman

Claude J. Prillman, 53, of Medina died Sunday, at his residence.

He was born in Protection, Kan., July 15, 1931, and was a member of the Baptist Church. He was a member of the Webb Lodge #275, AF and AM, of Meade, Kan., and a 32nd-degree Mason from Memphis. He was married to Betty L. Curry Ferrell April 6, 1984, in Boerne.

Survivors include his wife, Betty L. Curry of Medina; his mother, Grace Prillman of Tulsa; a daughter, Pam Wilson of Collierville, Tenn.; two sisters, Charlotte Meek of Tulsa, Pat Junker of Henley, Mo.; a brother, Ron Prillman of Indianapolis; and four grandchildren.

In lieu of flowers the family requested donations to the American Cancer Society or the Hospice Society of Kerrville.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the First Baptist Church in Medina, with the Rev. Bill Moseley officiating. Pallbearers were members of the Medina Masonic Lodge. Burial was in the Oak Rest Cemetery in Medina.

Lillian Bush

Lillian Fitzgerald Bush, 91, of San Antonio, died May 18 in Purple Hills Nursing Home.

She was born in Gonzales on Aug. 28, 1893, to William Henry Fitzgerald and Mary Cobb Fitzgerald. She was a life-long member of the Laurel Heights Methodist Church in San Antonio and an active member of the Blue Bird Society for many years and was the last of the charter members of the Blue Birds.

Survivors include two sons, Roy Leslie Jr. of San Antonio and Carlton Leslie of San Antonio; three grandchildren, Roy Leslie III, Patty Leslie and Alfred Leslie, all of San Antonio; and a great-granddaughter, Kate Leslie of San Antonio.

Services were held Monday at Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera with the Rev. Richard Jackson officiating. Pallbearers were Roy Leslie III, Alfred Leslie, Ernest Morgenstern, Cotton Fitzgerald, Ross Portlow and Bernie Bailey. Burial was in the Bandera Cemetery.

George Faglie

George Faglie of Belton, cousin of Victor Purvis of Tarpley, died last week.

His wife, Ethel Jones Faglie, died in September.

Graveside services were held Friday, May 17, in the Tarpley Cemetery.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

What a difference a few words can make...Even the most frustrating day, the most tiresome duty, the most uncomfortable weather can be erased or at least made lighter by a cheerful "Good Morning", a cheerful "Thank you." It works both ways...A similarly light-hearted "You're welcome" can make the day for another person.

The reasons these and similar expressions can have such a dramatic effect is that, sadly today, they have fallen into general disuse. Oh, yes, a bored "Thanks" or "Welcome" is heard from time to time, but usually with as much enthusiasm as an observation about the weather.

It has been noted by optimists that a smile employs fewer muscles and less energy than a frown, but there are those who insist upon doing things the hard way!

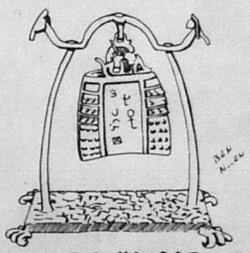

All of us could use an uplift of spirit from time to time...and the quickest way to bring it about is to invite it from others...

Remember Cheerfulness is contagious--and a lot more fun!

The Bandera Bulletin

B Section

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 46 THURSDAY, MAY 23, 1985

Spectators brought their own chairs last week to watch the water and the debris go over the dam in Lions Club City Park in Bandera.

Congress repeals controversial record-keeping requirement

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler (R-Hunt) announced that the Congress this week adopted legislation repealing the contemporaneous recordkeeping requirements imposed last year on taxpayers claiming business deductions on automobiles and other vehicles.

"I am delighted that Congress has moved with such uncharacteristic speed to repeal the onerous auto-logging requirement," Loeffler said. "The auto-logging requirements contained in the 1984 Tax Reform Act would have imposed an unnecessary, unworkable and costly paperwork burden on millions of taxpayers and resulted in hours of wasted and unproductive effort."

Loeffler introduced legislation to repeal the daily log requirement similar to the bill adopted by the House and Senate and testified before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of his bill.

Under the legislation passed by the House by a landslide 426-1 vote, taxpayers would still be required to keep "adequate records or sufficient evidence to support their claims." However, the burdensome daily auto logs will no longer be required in order to substantiate claims for legitimate business use of vehicles and other property such as computers.

The legislation makes numerous other changes with respect to substantiation rules, most of which will go into effect in future years.

Loeffler selects new aide

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler has appointed a director and a committee to continue to explore the possibility of running for governor, his office said this week.

He has appointed Richard McBride of Round Rock to head the committee.

McBride managed U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's successful campaign last year, and Loeffler this week called him "one of the top political hands in Texas."

Loeffler represents Bandera County in Washington but confirmed several weeks ago that he is taking a serious look at opposing Democrat Mark White for governor in 1986.

Since then, among the many possible candidates for Loeffler's job that have been mentioned are Councilman Van Archer of San Antonio; Doug Harlan, who ran for the post in 1974; Commissioner Lamar Smith of Bexar County; former commissioner Jeff Wentworth; state Rep. Gerald Geistweidt of Mason, a cousin of Loeffler; and former Texas GOP finance chairman Kenneth George of Midland.

Veterinary Assistant program added

A Veterinary Assistant Program has been added to the list of certification programs conducted by San Antonio College.

This program is being offered in cooperation with the Veterinary Medical Association, Bexar County, the college said.

The curriculum includes college credit as well as continuing education courses.

Contract awarded for building $78,000 show barn at park

The new show barn at Mansfield Park should be completed by the end of summer, says show superintendent Tom Doebbler of Bandera, after the contract was let Tuesday for construction of the facility.

Speedway Construction Co. of San Antonio was awarded the contract to construct the 120-foot by 200-foot, clear-span metal building at a cost of $78,685, Doebbler said.

"The clear span will make it more versatile," Doebbler said. "It will make it possible for it to be used by more groups for events such as horse shows and rodeos, as well as the annual stock show."

He said work on the foundation will begin as soon as the weather permits and construction will be completed in seven to nine weeks, depending on the weather. Actual construction of the steel building will take only about three weeks, he said.

"We'll have it up by the end of the summer," the new head of the Junior Livestock Association said.

He said part of the cost of the building will be paid for with funds borrowed by the association which plans several fund-raising events.

The group will sponsor a Funtier Days dance Saturday night at Mansfield Park and will feed participants and spectators at a dog show scheduled at the park in June, Doebbler said.

Persons interested in contributing toward paying for the barn may contact Doebbler, Dr. Ernest Mayfield of Pipe Creek, or Connie Slocomb of Bandera, the group's treasurer, Doebbler said.

State arts and crafts show slated in Kerrville

The Texas State Arts and Crafts Fair held on the grounds of Schreiner College in Kerrville will be May 25 and 26 and June 1 and 2, says Audie Hamilton, executive director.

"Over 240 of Texas' finest artisans and craftsmen have been selected to exhibit and sell a variety of handmade works," said Hamilton. Sculpture, pottery, wood working, glass blowing, oil and water-color painting are just a few of the arts and crafts that will be featured as well as demonstrated.

"A casual country fair atmosphere will prevail on the 16 acres of the tree covered campus of Schreiner College which is transformed into fairgrounds each year," Hamilton said. "Magicians, clowns, cloggers, and top 40 songs performed by Sheila Renfro and Splash will provide an array of fun-filled entertainment."

Additional activities include a theatrical production of the play "The Dragon and the Rooster's Horn," put on by the 24th Street Experiment of Our Lady of the Lake University, a Learner's Tent where youngsters get hands-on craft work experience and a petting zoo.

Birthday party

Dorothy LeStourgeon and Megan were the birthday people at a big celebration at the home of Megan's parents, Craig and Lisa LeStourgeon late Sunday evening.

There was a pinata for the children which they seemed to enjoy very much. Those enjoying the food and company were Darrell, Casey and Brook Breakley of Kerrville, Jack McHaney of Bandera, Donald, Alice and Heather Koenig of Bandera, Billy Bratton of Bandera, King and Lou Stokes, Mrs. Evie McHaney, Corky and Virgie McHaney, Barbara Walters, Heather and Holly, Tootie Mayfield, Allen Walker, Robert Whitehead, Becky LeStourgeon, Gammon, Sylvia and Jenna Waye LeStourgeon.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stokes and family of Austin were here over the weekend visiting his mother, LaNell Kirk, and Larry, grandmother, Inez Mayfield, and Maya. Gary's dad, B.H. Stokes, was here visiting with all of the family too.

Shower

Robin Seale, bride-elect of David Swint, will be honored with a come-and-go bridal shower Saturday, June 1, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the College Avenue Church of Christ in Medina.

Robin has picked a selection of gifts which is on display at Everett's in Bandera.

Retirement reception

Vernon Porter of Utopia, a former Medina teacher, is retiring after 30 years of teaching school. He will be honored with a reception at the Utopia School on Sunday, May 26, from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Family, friends and former students are invited to come by to wish Vernon the best, a spokesman said.

Garden Club

The last meeting of the fiscal year for the Rose Garden Club of Medina was a salad luncheon on Wednesday, May 8, at the Garden Center.

Hostesses were Irene Hatfield, Ruth Latta, Mamie Webb, and Neely Adams.

Guests were Alice Davies and Edith Wait of Kerrville; Marianne Weber, Loretta Hund, and Jill Simons of Medina; and Marilyn Blansett of Irving.

The program was the installation of officers for the coming year, by our guest, Alice Davies. The officers for 1985-1986 are Mary Lee Keith, president; Patsy Heinen, first vice-president; Claire Johnston, second vice-president; Florine Ousley, recording secretary; Elva McCollough, corresponding secretary; Irene Hatfield, treasurer; and Betty Garrison, parliamentarian.

Piano players

Piano students of Mrs. Dean Isaacs entertained families and friends Wednesday, May 15, in the Medina School cafetorium, with piano solos and duets.

Fifteen students received awards of statuettes of famous composers, including Scott Williams, Jordan and Nathan Vannatter, Kyle Phillips, Alicia Valentine, Julie and Janet Traweek, Debbie Reyes, Margaret Hamilton, Amy Martin, Belita Jo Ingle, Michelle Robinson, Larry Kelley, Robert Keeling, and Cynthia Anderson.

Ellison and Williams UIL awards recipients

Seniors Michelle Ellison and Geoeff Williams are Medina High School's recipients of The University Interscholastic League Scholar Awards.

The awards are presented to a student or students graduating in the top 10 percent of their class and who have participated in a UIL academic, music or athletic contests. The purpose is to honor students whose "academic and extracurricular achievements have been exemplary" and "whose self-discipline in preparation and integrity in competition are a model to others," said Dr. Bailey Marshall, League director.

Manager Shirley Phillips helps Medina T-ball catcher Bill Simons don protective wear and four-year-old batboy Kelly Phillips helps in the background. The T-ball season will end its regular schedule this week. Three teams have participated in a round robin schedule in which they not only learned baseball skills, but also how to play as a team, officials said.

Folk festival line-up compete

The 14th annual Kerrville Folk Festival set for May 23-June 2 at Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch 10 miles north of Medina on Texas Highway 16 has announced the final complete line-up for the nine major concerts of the 11-day festival.

Held since 1972, the festival has become a Texas tradition with more than 60 stars and 40 emerging songwriters on stage and singing around the campfires every night after midnight. Camping is free for buyers of tickets for three or more days and single night camping is also available for ticket buyers at $3 per person per night. Adult tickets range from $7 to $12 per person per day with children under 12 at $1 per day. Ticket gates open at 10 a.m. on May 23 and remain open 24 hours a day. No pets are permitted and lawn chairs are recommended for the six-hour concerts in the theater. The festival plays rain or shine. For additional information phone (512) 257-3600 after 10 a.m. weekdays.

Hospice gets new director

Welton R. (Buddy) Calvert has been named hospice administrator of the Heart of the Hills Hospice, according to Floy Hedden, president.

Calvert has been administrator of La Hacienda Treatment Center and has been employed by the Texas Research Institute of Mental Sciences in the Geriatric Services Division for several years, and was the director of Geriatric Services for the Mental Health and Mental Retardation Authority (MHMRA) of Harris County. He later served as Director of Planning and Budget for MHMRA.

He is currently on the board of trustees for the Hunt Independent School District, and is chairman of the board for the Kerr Central Appraisal District.

Youth soccer camp registration set

Trinity University's Health, Physical Education and Athletics Department will offer summer soccer camps for youngsters seven to 18 years of age June 23-29 and July 21-27.

There will be separate classes during each session for advanced players and beginners.

The program for beginners will be geared toward individual basic skills, while the advanced program will emphasize positional and tactical skills.

A minimum of six hours of soccer instruction will be given each day between 8:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. Facilities are available for boarding students and commuters. Resident campers will be housed in university dormitories.

George Price, head coach of the Trinity men's soccer team, will be in charge of the camp. Price will be assisted by David Olmos, Trinity men's assistant varsity coach, and Dan Kupchak, coach at Texas Military Institute.

Job fair

The fourth annual Job Fair will be held Aug. 19 and 20 at the Convention Center Exhibit Hall in San Antonio, said chairman Adrian Guardia, personnel director for Big Red Bottling Co.

Performers sought

The Kerr County Fair Association is looking for area performers to participate in the sixth annual Kerr County Fair, July 26-27-28.

Bands, singers, dancers, magicians, children's groups, and other performers will entertain during the fair, officials said.

For more information, call Linda Fort, 634-2284.

4-H judging contest, show set for June

The 48th annual Wool and Mohair Show and 1985 National 4-H Wool Judging Contest will be held June 11-13 in Sonora.

Categories in the open division of the wool and mohair show will be wool single fleeces, mohair single fleeces and bags, and bags of aged range ram fleeces. Categories in the junior division will be wool single fleeces, mohair single fleeces and bags, and county groups of single wool and mohair fleeces and bags of wool.

A judging contest for young people will be held June 12 in conjunction with the wool and mohair show. There will be senior and junior divisions and contestants will judge livestock, wool, mohair, and range plants.

The National 4-H Wool Judging Contest will be held the final day. A maximum of two teams may enter from each state, with the selection of teams to be made by each state 4-H office. Events will be wrapped up with an awards luncheon for all contestants of the judging contests.

Now life insurance that may pay your premium costs for you!
Many people want lifetime protection. But they don't want to pay out-of-pocket premium costs their entire lives.
You can solve this problem with New York Life's special "premium offset" arrangement for whole life insurance.
With it, dividends declared by New York Life are used to buy additional permanent life insurance. After a number of years (usually 8-10), these additions can be surrendered periodically. Their cash value, plus future dividends, can be used to offset the entire annual premium costs of your basic policy.
Dividends can't be guaranteed, of course, but we're proud of our dividend record which goes back more than a century.

Kim Cherry presented 'Will to Win' Award

By Jolene Butler

The "Will to Win" Award was presented to Kimberly Kay Cherry, better known to her friends as Kim, Thursday, May 9.

The award is given to a student in Bandera High who has overcome the greatest odds or obstacles to complete his/her education. The recipient is selected by teachers of Bandera High who report they have the hard decision. The award was developed in 1973 and presented to Ricky Jureczki the first time and has become a BHS tradition.

Dr. Ronald Caloss, superintendent, commented that this was one of the most worthy awards that a student in Bandera High School could win.

The students and teachers at Bandera High think that Kim is a very special girl and that she deserves this award. They showed their excitement for Kim when Dr. Caloss presented her with the trophy. The whole auditorium gave her a standing ovation.

Kim has been highly involved in athletics all her high school years. She lettered in volleyball all four years and was picked all-district second team her junior and senior years.

In basketball Kim played two years and was picked honorable mention all-district this year. She also lettered in track all four years.

The girls' athletic director, Mrs. Mazurek, said this about Kim: "She's the most deserving young lady. I admire her for her good attitude, determination, and effort.

Kim replied that when her name was called out as the winner of the "Will to Win" Award, it was a big shock.

Dr. Ron Caloss and Kim Cherry.

Parker and Clements outstanding athletes

By Scott Kelly

Kevin Parker and Kellie Clements were named the outstanding senior athletes of Bandera High School at the All-Sports Banquet May 16.

The banquet was in the high school cafeteria, and barbecue was catered by Oma's Haus.

Shortly after everyone was served, the presentation was underway.

Lonnie Bain read the invocation and was followed by four senior speakers. The senior speakers were Kim Cherry, Kellie Clements, Scott Kelly and Teddy Popham.

Athletic participants were recognized by standing when their names were called and the sports in which they participated in read aloud. Special awards presented are as follows:

Outstanding Senior Athletes Award: Kevin Parker and Kellie Clements.

Friends for Life party successful

By Toni Kunz

BHS Seniors held the first Friends for Life Chemical-free party Friday, May 17, and the event was called a huge success, despite the unfortunate weather.

Seniors began arriving at The Farm at 5 p.m. and things started happening! They swam, played tennis, shuffleboard, volleyball, ping pong, pool, ate snacks and danced.

Just before dark the "Silly Olympics" began. These games were more embarrassing than Senior Slave Day, but a lot more fun.

Divided into four teams with lots of team spirit, seniors competed in games that had them running around with Vaseline on their noses, trying to pick cotton balls up from the ground without the use of their hands. Another game required them to sew themselves together with a spoon and a long string.

After six of these crazy events, Team No. 1 accumulated 2,000 points for first place. This team consisted of Jeff Stoops, Carol Dailey, Kevin Parker, Ron Erlandson, Clara Albright, Leticia Ybarra, Mike Stell, Gene Mathews and Kellie Clements.

Following the Olympics, the guests settled down for dinner and a well-deserved rest. The barbecue was terrific; thanks Mr. Keese! During the meal, KENS—TV arrived, everyone wanted to be on TV!

After that, the seniors gathered for a slide show presentation and a lot of reminiscing about Slave Day, Senior Trip, Prom, and other senior activities in the year. Just before the ending of the show, the rain started to fall and didn't stop until after 2 a.m.

Many played pool and ping pong under cover while others just "lived with it" and danced outside anyway. If the party was this much of a success, imagine what it could have been without the rain!

All the donations of time, money, and food were so greatly appreciated by all that attended, especially by Heath Hulse. He won the door prize of $50 gift certificate to Pat Magee's. The drawing was at breakfast and you had to be present to win.

Thank you again. And a special thanks to these people:

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Rod Adamson, Mr. and Mrs. Jud Ashmore, The Bandera Bulletin, The Bandera County Welfare Board, Bandera Ice House, Mrs. Louis Baresh, Mr. Phil Becker, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brient, Boyle's Grocery, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Callahan, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Caloss, Coca-Cola Company and Mr. and Mrs. Ted Dockery.

Also Mr. and Mrs. James O. Evans Jr., George Gibbons, Mr. and Mrs. Bub Keese, Mr. and Mrs. David Kepes, KHLC Radio, Mrs. Rosemary Muennink, Mrs. Betty Peters, Mr. Harvey Raab, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ruede, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Stevens, Super S Food Store, Mr. and Mrs. Reggie Welch, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Wimpee and Mr. and Mrs. Booker Young.

Tommy Adams

Benjamin Tomlinson Adams Jr. is better known to all his friends as Tommy. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Adams Sr. and has a sister Gayla in the 10th grade and a brother Troy in the fourth grade.

"Success is a journey, not a destination," is his favorite quote, and it reflects his plans after leaving BHS. Tommy plans to attend technological school and study diesel mechanics, and hopes someday to own and operate his own business.

The greatest influences through high school were his trust in God and the support of his family, he says.

Tommy has attended Bandera schools for all 12 years and has participated in just about every varsity sport. He lettered three years in football and received honorable mention his junior year and all-district second team his senior year. He lettered twice in basketball and played JV his freshman year, ran track his freshman and junior years, and was a four letterman in baseball.

Tommy also was in FFA for the last three years and was a member of FHA his senior year.

—Wayne Peck

Kimberly Kay Cherry

Kimberly Kay Cherry, the daughter of Mary K. Andreas, has attended Bandera schools all 12 years.

When asked what her main goal in life is and how she plans to reach it, she said, "I don't have a main goal yet."

Kim, as her friends call her, feels that athletics has influenced her life throughout her high school years. Kim's plans after leaving BHS are to get a job and save up money so that she can go to college and learn more about computers.

Kim has been in band since the sixth grade and was in the Flag Corps her freshman year. Kim's junior year, she was nominated all-district volleyball player and second-team setter. Her senior year she was once again all-district and second team setter.

In basketball Kim was an honorable mention all-district player. Kim lettered all four years in volleyball and track, and lettered two years in basketball. Kim also received the "Will to Win Award."

When asked what she would do if she could relive her high school years, Kim replied, "I wouldn't change a thing."

—Beau Willoughby

Glen Dean Flach

Glen Dean Flach, son of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Flach, has been a student of Bandera schools all 12 years.

Upon leaving Bandera High School, Glen hopes to become a successful contractor. He plans to reach this goal through schooling and working with his father. He feels that his parents have been the greatest influence on his life.

In his years of attending BHS, Glen has been an active member in FFA his freshman through senior years. He participated in baseball his freshman and sophomore years, and basketball his freshman year.

He feels that if he could do it all over again, that he would study harder and get more involved in athletics.

—Glynda Madden

Keith Schneider

Keith Alan Schneider, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews, is one of the many seniors seen around BHS each day. Keith has attended BHS for two years.

After graduation, Keith hopes to get a full-time job that pays well, and someday to get married. Keith's goal in life is always to be happy and satisfied with how his life is going.

Keith has been in ALS for one year and FFA for two years.

If he could relive his high school years, he says that he would be more active in school activities and try to make better grades.

Keith plans to base his life on the quote, "Walk softly and carry a big stick."

—Melissa Ross

Robert Baker

Robert Wayne Baker, otherwise known as Bob, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith.

Robert has attended Bandera schools for four years and has many accomplishments in his high school years.

Robert has been a member of ALS his senior year and in FHA his junior year.

FFA has been a highlight for Robert, and he has been in it his freshman, sophomore, and junior years. He held the position of treasurer his junior year. Robert has also been in 4-H all four years of high school. He has been president of 4-H his senior year, and to top off his senior year of 4-H he received the Gold Star Award.

Robert's main goal is to be successful and happy. To fulfill that goal Robert plans to work in Dallas over the summer and then attend college at The University of Texas at San Antonio in September.

One thing Robert would have done differently if he could relive his school years would have been to study harder and get more involved in school organizations.

—Cindy Park

Deborah Brieno

The word "plan" seems to be important in Deborah Lynn Brieno's life. "If you fail to plan, then you plan to fail." This quote is heartfelt by Debi, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brieno.

Debi has her goal in life mapped out, and has chosen a straight and steady path to reach that goal.

The summer following graduation is left to relaxing and having fun, but then it is down to getting a job so she can earn and save money for secretarial school in the fall.

In the distant future Debi hopes to be financially secure, as well as get married and have a happy family.

Reflecting on Debi's past we find that Deborah has actively participated in school activities such as holding the positions of FHA treasurer and pep-squad member her sophomore year, Drama Club member her junior year, and VOCCT Sergeant-at-Arms her final high school year. She was also president of her church youth group in 1984.

In heart of Texas drink our wine

Wine. It could be the next big thing from Texas.

With 14 bonded wineries throughout the state, expected to double in number by 1990, this growing agricultural industry shows great promise, said Karen Mitchell with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

A similar agricultural happening evolved in California in the 1960's. Then, California vineyards were replaced with hundreds of thousands of acres in fine grapes utilizing the expertise of viticulturists and other wine grape specialists.

Today, some 20 years later, California land is lush with vineyards as well as charming old stone and new stone wineries complete with tasting rooms. In the Napa Valley north of San Francisco, Mitchell said one can drive up scenic Highway 29 to taste wines and learn about still wines and champagnes, how to judge fine wines, viticulture, wine history or anything else about the vin du pays (local wine).

"We are making wine history in Texas. Five wineries are within easy driving distance of the San Antonio area," said the marketing specialist. "All Texas wineries welcome the public to enjoy their wine via a tasting room, to learn more about wine and to purchase their wines from the Lone Star State."

As the culinary surge continues to rediscover traditional American food, the interest in American wine as a compliment to our American food is growing by leaps and bounds. Thirty states produce wine at present, and we have plenty of excellent wine in our melting pot!

Wine used in cooking must harmonize with the food. In general, strong flavoured foods like beef require red table wines. White table wines, such as Chablis or Chenin Blanc, go together with seafood, poultry, eggs, cheeses and sauces. You be the judge- be creative and turn a good dish into a great dish with the addition of wine.

Be sure and serve the wine used in the entree or dessert along side the dish. Remember that old Chinese proverb, "Do not waste one drop of this precious wine!" Remember the labor the farmers put into growing the crop they take from.

For more information about Texas wine and a free informational guide to Texas wineries, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218. We're just not getting older, we're getting better!

Chicken diavola

½ C minced parsley
1/3 C minced fresh basil or 2 teaspoons dried
2-3 T minced onion
4 garlic cloves, peeled and mashed with the flat of knife
2 T minced fresh sage or 1 teaspoon dried
2 T fresh oregano or ½ teaspoon dried
1 T salt
1 T crushed, dried red chiles or use fresh ½-1 teaspoon tabasco
1-1½ C dry white wine
½ C olive oil
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper

Put the poultry in the marinade and leave overnight in the refrigerator or several hours at room temperature. Remember to turn the pieces from time to time. Shake the excess marinade from each piece, but there is no need to dry them before cooking. Either bake or grill over a hot fire, and baste with the marinade occasionally if desired.

Speaker series planned at SC

A new Special Events Series of speakers will be presented by Schreiner College during the 1985-1986 school year, according to special events coordinator Darrell Cluck, SC's campus minister.

The fully endowed series will bring distinguished speakers and well known personalities to the Schreiner College campus for the benefit of its students and the Hill Country Community.

The series will include psychologist-writer Dr. Joyce Brothers on Oct. 8; a yippie-yuppie debate between yippie (counterculture) Abbie Hoffman and former yippie turned yuppie (young urban professional working within the system) Jerry Rubin on Nov. 19; blind author Tom Sullivan who wrote "Adventures in Darkness" and was the subject of the movie "If You Could See What I Hear" on Feb. 4; and fitness guru, marathon runner, 62-year-old cardiologist and author Dr. George Sheehan on April 3.

"We hope this series motivates, informs, and yes, stirs feelings and emotions among our, Hill Country citizens and our students," Cluck says.

"This is a great opportunity for all of us to come together for some intellectual feasting. The series will be open to the public at no charge. We want to fill the 750-seat Dietert Auditorium each time." Cluck adds, "The speakers do not necessarily represent the views of the college, but are invited by the college to stimulate thoughts and ideas."

Each speaker will begin at 7:30 p.m. in the Dietert Auditorium on the above dates.

Landmark Inn lodgings to close temporarily

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials said overnight lodging facilities at Landmark Inn State Historic Site will be closed for repair and maintenance from July 8 through Aug. 22.

The historic inn, located in downtown Castroville, was built around 1844 and was visited by many famous persons in the state's history.

Officials said the site will remain open for day visitation.

- Cards of thanks & Public notices

Thank you

The family of Frankie Brantley would like to take this time to express our gratitude for all of the cards, calls and flowers we received during our time of sorrow. Also I would like to give a very low ing thanks to the most precious friend that a person could have. She was there when I needed her most. This love and thanks goes to Sherry (Kinsey) Selement. God bless you all.
Jill and Tony Simons 47-1tc

Thank you

I want to thank the EMS for all the help I received Monday, May 13, with my husband, Frank Gallas. This is not the first time they have come to our rescue and the people of Lakehills should be very proud of our EMS and especially to Officer Jim MacMillan for his assurance on the phone and his help. God bless each and every one of you.
Ruth, Frankie and John Gallas 46-1tc

Thank you

To the friends and relatives that helped us on the day Stephen & Pam were hurt, please accept our heartfelt thanks, and for the flowers, cards and prayers that hastened their return from the hospital. We appreciate these gestures of love far beyond our ability to put in words.
Mr. and Mrs. Samuel R. Kalka 46-1tc

Texas Department of Water Resources, Texas Water Commission
Notice of Public Hearing on Amended Application For Waste Disposal Permit

THOUSAND TRAILS, INC., 2550 Walnut Hill Lane, Suite 256, Dallas, Texas 75229 has filed an amended application with the Texas Department of Water Resources for a permit (Proposed Permit No. 13074-01) to authorize subsurface disposal of treated domestic wastewater effluent at a volume not to exceed an average of 95,000 gallons per day. The applicant proposes to construct a domestic wastewater treatment facility in two phases to serve a membership campground. The facility will consist of an extended aeration, activated sludge package plant with approximately 190,000 square feet of absorption fields. Application rates are not to exceed 1.0 gpd/feet2. No discharge of pollutants into the waters of the State is authorized by this permit.

The facility and absorption fields are to be located adjacent to Lake Medina on the northern shore of Spettel Cove and approximately 2.25 miles southwest of the intersection of Park Road 37 and Farm to Market Road 1283 in Bandera County, Texas. The plant site and absorption fields are in the drainage area of Lake Medina in Segment No. 1904 of the San Antonio River Basin.

A Hearings Examiner of the Texas Water Commission will conduct a public hearing at 9:00 a.m. - Friday, June 28, 1985, District Courtroom — Medina County Courthouse, Hondo, Texas to receive evidence on the conditions, if any, under which the permit may be issued, and determine whether State Certification in accordance with Section 401 of the Federal Clean Water Act may be issued. This hearing will be held under the authority of Sections 26.020, 26.021 and 26.028 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, the Rules of Procedure of the Texas Water Commission and the Rules of the Texas Department of Water Resources.

The record of this proceeding will include evidence and testimony taken at the public hearing. The hearing may be continued from time to time and place to place, if necessary, to develop all relevant evidence bearing on the subject of the hearing. The Texas Water Commission reserves the right to schedule or reschedule hearings as it deems necessary. Further information concerning any aspect of the application, if available, may be obtained by writing Claire Patterson, Staff Attorney, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711. Telephone (512) 463-8079. Information concerning any procedures of the hearing may be obtained by contacting Lee Ann Newberry Jones, Hearings Examiner, P.O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711, Telephone (512) 463-7875.

Persons desiring to protest the granting of this application may file written protests with the Commission at least 8 days prior to the hearing date and shall serve copies of the written protest on the applicant and all designated parties, if any. The written protest shall: show the name and address of the protestant; identify the pending application; state the basis of the protestant's interest and any relevant facts and conclusions; describe the location of the protestant's property relative to the application; and propose any amendment or adjustment to the application which, if made, would result in withdrawal of the protest. Persons desiring to present information relating to the application must appear at the public hearing either in person or by representative and present such information, subject to all applicable rules of evidence. Information offered in written form without the writer's presence will be noted by the Commission but will not be considered as evidence since the right to cross-examine is absent. No person will be admitted as a party to the proceeding unless the person complies with Commission Rules which require a justiciable interest and attendance at the hearing either in person or by qualified representative.

Issued this 15th day of May, 1985.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3393

Severe thunderstorms moved in Thursday and Friday night, dumping 2.72 inches of rain in the Vanderpool vicinity with heavier rains up the river. Four inches were reported at Lost Maples General Store, and on the Divide and in the Mountain Home area 5 to 6 inches were received, with some hail and wind damage.

A trail of destruction was left in parts of Uvalde County last Wednesday night. Utopia, Sabinal, Concan, and Knippa were hardest hit. Crop damage was reported in a 2-mile-wide strip near Knippa where wheat, cotton and corn crops were complete losses.

Utopia Lumberyard owner Sid Mauldin reports an 80 to 90-foot pecan tree blew over and demolished a building used for storing plumbing equipment and supplies. The tree was a landmark in Utopia. It was probably there when the Old Rock Store was first built and everyone that has lived in this area has eaten pecans off that tree, Mauldin stated.

No one was injured.

Baby girl

Clint and Tammy Cuppes are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl, born Monday at 5:15 a.m. in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville.

She has been named Leann Nicole and weighed 6 lbs., 8 ozs.

Grandparents are John and Maribeth Couch of Utopia and Mr. and Mrs. Cuppes of Sabinal. Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heideman of Utopia.

Visiting

Lecil and Ruby Howard enjoyed all their children and families, including the Tommy Howards of Sabinal, the Dahl Howards of Kerrville, and J.B. Alley family of Utopia for Mother's Day dinner.

Jim and Mary Ellen Cunningham, their daughter and two children were Mother's Day visitors of mother and grandmother, Mrs. Nettie Schaefer, and her guests at Baptist Church services.

Beautiful hydrangeas were given to the oldest mother, Lillie Mae Smallwood; youngest mother, Diane Lewis; and the two mother with the largest family or number of children.

We are happy to report Grace Fisher much improved and back in Texas. She was hospitalized in Barbadoes with a light stroke and is now in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville, until well enough to come home.

Utopia graduates

Commencement exercises for Utopia High School seniors will be Friday, May 24, at 8 p.m. in the High School Cafetorium.

Jan Gazaway is valedictorian and Norma Duke is salutatorian.

Other graduates are Dexter Rainey, Donald Haby, Lonnie Ritterback, Viva Chaney, Mike McGuyer, and Elizabeth Valdez.

Baptist Church

Thanks are expressed to all who helped during Work Day at the Baptist Church last Wednesday. About 15 men and two women came, and it didn't take long to clean up the aftereffects of the storm.

Hub Thompson was very appreciative to the men who sawed and to Leonard Hicks who hauled a load of fireplace wood for Hub.

It was nice to greet an old Utopian in Baptist Church Sunday. Willie Bownds, a daughter of L.D. Bownds, grew up in Utopia. She is now Willie Davis and lives in San Antonio, and was visiting her half-brother and wife, Robert Bownds and wife Polly.

Altar flowers at Baptist Church Sunday were presented in memory of Emma Mazurek by all her children.

Hamilton and Anna Pearl Gabriel are happy to know their granddaughter Wendy has been named as outstanding representative of Sky View Living Center, making the most progress of the year.

Lecil and Ruby Howard were Sunday evening visitors of Hough and Erma Stockton of Leakey.

Chris and Carol Calk of Vanderbilt were Sunday guests of her family, J.B. and Iona Alley. When school closes there they will be moving back to Uvalde where they have employment.

A total of 92 coyotes, 98 Russian hogs and 18 bobcats have been caught in northwestern Bandera County since trapper Lonnie Bomer began trapping about three years ago, the Vanderpool Wolf Club reports.

Since Jan. 1 he reported destroying 12 coyotes, 23 hogs and 5 bobcats.

Furniture refinishing course to be offered

From college

Roy Grant is graduating from Southwest Texas State University.

Selma Stephens was honored with a surprise reception and with many gifts to help celebrate her graduation from Sul Ross State University.

Killough elected

Jack Killough of Vanderpool has been elected vice chairman of the Southwest Texas Agricultural Resources' Horticultural Task Force. The task force is an extension service panel.

Others elected are Horace Brown of Rocksprings, chairman, and James Leo Greer, also of Rocksprings.

Playwriting contest

Uvalde Area Community Theatre is sponsoring a playwriting contest for a historical or contemporary play suitable for production in the Uvalde Grand Opera House during the Sesquicentennial celebration.

An award of $1,000 is being offered. The subject must be the Southwest Texas experience. Deadline is Nov. 1.

The contest is a Sesquicentennial project of UACT, the Uvalde Arts Council and the Uvalde County Historical Commission. For more information contact: Managing Director, Uvalde Grand Opera House, P.O. Box 1451, Uvalde, Texas or call (512) 278-4082.

Now is the time to drag Grandma's rickety rocker out of the garage or the dining table that 20 years of child-rearing has distressed. The Hill Country Arts Foundation at Ingram is offering a course in furniture refinishing, restoration and reupholstery June 10 through 14 to be taught by Pat Hutchins.

According to Hutchins, the class will provide instruction in techniques appropriate for refinishing old furniture, restoration of antiques or finishing new, unfinished furniture. Chemicals, tools and safety precautions in handling both also will be covered.

Students will bring their own projects to work on. They may range in size from a small jewelry box to a large piece of furniture. Very large pieces can be done by bringing a drawer or table leaf to class, learning the process and then completing the work at home.

Hutchins says, "With fine antiques the value and beauty is, in part, the patina of age and wear. So the goal is preserving this patina while giving the piece a handsome and durable new finish. Many novices destroy the value of an antique by using the wrong chemicals and techniques in refinishing work.

"My goal is to teach the student the best, quickest, safest method of restoration. There are many shortcuts to be learned in the process."

In addition, students may learn to identify old finishes, woods, veneers, and periods of furniture. Questions concerning where to get supplies such as chair cane or rosewood veneer that are not available locally will be answered.

Hutchins has a B.S. degree in Applied Arts from Iowa State University and is a former art instructor at Schreiner College.

Tuition is $90 and deadline for class registration is May 31. To register send a tuition deposit of at least $30 to the Hill Country Arts Foundation, P.O. Box 176, Ingram 78025.

Point Theater holds try-outs for Godspell

Try-outs for the new production of "Godspell" sponsored by the Southwest Theater for Young People, will be held May 25 at the Point Theater in Ingram.

Young people in their late teens and early 20s are invited to audition for this musical based on the Gospel according to St. Matthew.

The musical's director, Barbara Hailey, is enthusiastic about this summer's production. "The young people who were part of the 1979 production enjoyed themselves immensely, but best of all, they grew. Each of them, cast and crew alike, was changed by the show. It's rewarding to see these young people increase their confidence and capability in the space of a few short weeks."

Hailey continued, "Word of mouth has already made the community aware of this summer's production of 'Godspell,' and members of the '79 show have asked to try out again. But we want to reach new young people, too."

Auditions will be held Saturday, May 25, from 10 a.m.-noon and from 2 p.m.-5 p.m., and again Sunday, May 26, from 2 p.m. at the Point Theater.

ROACH INFESTATION
Cockroaches are flattened, fast running, nocturnal insects that seek warm, moist secluded areas. They are known to be mechanical carriers of many disease germs. The adult cockroaches are 1.3 to 1.6 cm long, pale brown or tan, and have 2 parallel streaks on the body. Its tremendous ability to adapt has made it the oldest and most common pest you have to deal with. A pair of cockroaches and their offspring can produce a family of 400,000 in a single year.
Cockroaches are most abundant in the kitchen areas. They may be found under and in the insulation of appliances; in, under or behind cabinets, pantries, and closets; behind baseboards; and moldings; and in other cracks, crevices, and dark protected areas. If a few are seen crawling about in open spaces during daylight hours, this indicates the infestation is already severe.
For proper control of these insects call a professional exterminator.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3225

Special music was presented by Christine Newkirk and Marion Birch this weekend at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road.

After the Sunday services most of the congregation assembled in front of the chapel to sing "Happy Birthday" to the Rev. Paul Flanders, who was celebrating his 46th birthday.

Sick list

Dell Lackey is suffering from skin cancer and under going radium treatments.

Ethel Smalley is well and back attending church. She wishes to express thanks to all her friends whose prayers, cards, gifts, and good wishes helped her recover.

Joyce Sowell had another operation on her jaw at Wilford Hall Hospital. She is still trying to mend from an auto accident of a year ago. Her son Bob came from New Mexico to be with her. Reports are she is doing OK.

Eldridge Bonds is under the weather with what is believed to be a case of shingles.

Visitors

Eileen and Jerry Burton from Ontario, Canada, enroute to Florida, and Jerry Conklin and Yvonne from San Antonio paid a visit to Ken and Rene Parks at their riverfront home.

Ken barbecued steaks and all had a good time. This group gathers together in Acapulco during the winter months. Jerry Burton is a retired sea captain.

Isebell L. Barker of Corpus Christi, a friend of Marion Trout's, spent a few days here at Lake Medina Shores visiting with Marion and Marjorie Birch at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Al Strong of Pearsall have been vacationing at their Wharton's Dock home. While here, their son Richard and his girlfriend, Tracy Stacy, spent a few days.

Joe and Val Trevino, with their two sons Joey and Bruce, were here visiting with Val's mother, Mary K. Andreas, and family.

Visiting with Bill Stevens and Denny and Bernice Fairbairn were their children, Carl, Valrie, Carla, Tara and Jimmy Stevens from Austin and Red and Donna Brandon and Tammie Evans from Kerrville. They all enjoyed a Barbecue under the oak trees.

Bill Powers and wife and son Jason drove up from San Antonio to visit his mother, Rene, and her husband, Ken Parks. Ken grilled steaks and Rene fixed the trimmings for a delicious dinner. Bill had just bought a new Buick and wanted to share his happiness with his mother.

Bill and Audrey Burge from Corpus Christi are here repairing snow damage to their waterfront home at Wharton's Dock. They report that their son Doug is doing well and did not need any skin grafts.

Other happenings

Juanita Ratliff and Dana Simmons traveled to Tow City, stopping in Llano for lunch. Returning home, they report that they had to drive through some high water.

Charlie Highnote is here at his home and his wife Betty will join him Friday, May 24.

Kay and Jerry Kennedy will be entertaining their many friends of the Wharton's Dock and Lake Medina Shores area Saturday evening at the Copper Lantern.

Congratulations go out to Dennis and Viola Crow who just recently celebrated their 49th wedding anniversary. They are new business people here in Wharton's Dock.

On Mother's Day, Richard and Deanie Newman went to San Antonio to have dinner with their children, Buster and Merledene Talley and Ronnie Tondre.

Ida Klaus spent a few days visiting with friends in San Antonio and is now back at her riverfront home.

Butch and Irene Highnote went to Kemp to visit Butch's sister, Gen Bolton, and to Dallas to see his sister, Belle Johnson. They went on to Corsicana to see his brother, John Highnote, and returned home safely but tired.

There will be a general membership meeting of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department Saturday, May 25, at 11 a.m.

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services also on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible study or anyone else who needs transportation. Those seeking rides may call the church at 796-3812.

Conference to focus on women and drugs

The sixth annual Women and Substance Abuse Conference of the Alamo Area Council of Governments has been extended by a half-day to include discussion of treatment programs for women.

The conference will be held at the Chapman Graduate Center, Trinity University, on May 30 and 31, 1985, and is sponsored by the Mayor's Commission on the Status of Women and the Task Force on Women and Alcohol/Drugs in cooperation with Trinity University Continuing Education, as well as AACOG.

The conference is open to the public.

Registration at the door is available on both May 30 and 31 for an additional fee. For registration and program information, contact the Alcohol and Drug Abuse Program staff at AACOG, (512) 225-5201.

Bulldog assistant Tony Johnson to take position in Rockport

Tony Johnson, Bandera's first assistant football coach and defensive coordinator, has accepted a similar position at Class AAAA Rockport-Fulton High School, it was announced this week.

He said the challenge of helping build a strong program in a school in a higher classification, family ties 30 miles away, and a significant increase in salary prompted him to take the job in Rockport, but "it was one of the most difficult decisions I've had to make." He said he would welcome the opportunity to return to Bandera some day to coach.

Johnson, who still competes nationally as a power lifter, supervised Bandera's athletic weight program and also coached track and field. He will supervise Rockport-Fulton's conditioning program for both male and female athletes, but will not coach track and field.

Johnson said the Rockport school plays in one of the strongest Class AAAA football districts in Texas which includes perennial state power Gregory-Portland and Beeville.

He said because the school's best record ever in Class AAAA was last year's five-win, five-loss season, he looks forward to the challenge of trying to help build a winner.

Johnson and his wife, Patricia, are both from Corpus Christi, just 30 miles from Rockport. "This will enable our two children to be close to their grandparents," Johnson said. Johnson's mother and father still live in Corpus, as does Patricia's father.

"In addition, it is a substantial raise, which always helps," he explained. He did not reveal his new salary.

"I have nothing but good memories in Bandera," he said. "They have been good times, and the people I've been associated with I hope will be my friends forever," he said.

"I hope to someday come back and coach in Bandera," he continued.

The defensive platoon he coached here last year was a primary factor in the team's 10-1 record. Only one district opponent managed to score on the Bulldogs.

Though much of the front line of that defensive team graduated, including a player selected to play in the Coaches Association's annual all-star game, Johnson expects this year's defense to be strong also.

"The Bulldogs should definitely be one of the best teams there has ever been in Bandera," Johnson said Wednesday. "I look for the defense to be real strong again.

"The whole defensive secondary is back except for one, and there's a lot of good players available for line positions," he said, explaining that a year ago the Bulldogs lost their entire offensive line to graduation, but came back last year with a strong contingent.

He said the weight program he has designed for the Bulldog players will be continued. "They all like to lift weights," Johnson explained. "The program is set up so they will definitely be able to keep it going."

Whitetail deer elude state's helicopter census

Anyone who has ever hunted white-tailed deer knows the animals are elusive and able to vanish in areas with seemingly little cover.

Even trained biologists in a low-flying helicopter can expect to see less than half of an existing deer herd on a South Texas ranch, according to preliminary results of a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department study.

David Synatzske, manager of the department's Chaparral Wildlife Management Area in Dimmit and LaSalle Counties, said the two-year study was designed to determine the effective of three commonly-used deer census techniques — night spotlight, fixed-wing aircraft and helicopter transects.

Synatzske explained that crews trapped 50 deer in each of the 7,000-acre pastures and marked them for easy visibility from the air. Both of the area's two 7,000-acre pastures are enclosed by deer-proof fences. "This control group of deer gave us a known number of animals, so by using normal aerial census techniques we would be able to determine how many we miss during surveys," Synatzske said.

The results were surprising, he said, since only 32.6 percent of the control group were spotted from the air in one pasture and 29 percent were seen in the other. However, when sightings from all three techniques were combined, 98 of the 100 deer were accounted for.

Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program director, said the study indicates that both helicopter and fixed-wing aerial census can be effectively used in deer management, but both methods apparently produce conservative population estimates even in the fairly open South Texas brush country.

"The study indicates that even with slow flights in areas of high visibility many deer elude the eye of the observer," Gore said. "However, the advantage offered by this research is that correction factors can be implemented into the census technique to compensate for deer not observed."

"We don't want to discourage the use of helicopter census," he continued, "but we want deer managers to recognize the limitations of the technique for determining total deer populations."

Graduation rites Friday evening

Commencement exercises begin at 8 p.m. Friday both in Medina and Bandera.

Nearly 90 Bandera County students will have received high school diplomas when graduation exercises are completed Friday in Bandera and Medina.

Exercises are scheduled at 8 p.m. in both schools Friday, and 68 are expected to graduate from Bandera High School and 15 from Medina High School.

Five Bandera County students were among the eight graduates of Utopia High School at commencement exercises last Friday.

Michelle Ellison is valedictorian at Medina. Ronald (Bubba) Caloss Jr. the top graduate at Bandera, and Jan Marie Gazaway the highest-ranking graduate at Utopia. Gazaway lives in Bandera County.

Salutatorians are Shane Yates at Bandera, Geoeffrey Thomas Williams at Medina, and Norma Rose Duke at Utopia. Duke is also a Bandera County resident.

Dr. Donald L. Anderson, executive director of the Ecumenical Center for Religion and Health and Hospice San Antonio, Inc., will deliver the commencement address at Bandera Friday. A former Baptist pastor in Kerrville and several other area cities, Dr. Anderson is a licensed psychologist and an associate professor at The University of Texas Health Science Center in San Antonio.

He will be introduced Friday by senior Trey Graves, and other graduates with roles in the commencement exercises include Wayne Peck, who will lead the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag; Toni Kunz, who will lead the singing of the school's alma mater; Shannon McMullan, who will preside over the traditional "turning of the rings" ceremony; and Tommy Callahan, who will deliver the benediction.

Thirteen scholarships will be awarded to graduating seniors.

School board president Thomas (Bub) Keese will present diplomas and high school principal Gus Pfeiffer will welcome guests to the ceremonies and present the graduates.

The Bandera High School Bulldog Band will play during the ceremonies, and special music will be presented by John Zdechlik.

Besides Ellison and Williams, students participating include Richard Payne, who will deliver the invocation; Barbara Hawkins, Cynthia Pennock and Deanna Ressler, who will share the telling of the class history; and Jack Huie, who will deliver the benediction.

Principal Faye Carpenter will present awards and diplomas will be given by school board president Jim Brown and superintendent Jerry Huie. Music will be provided by Diana Dodson.

Dr. Donald L. Anderson

Eight Utopia High School graduates, including five from Bandera county received their diplomas in ceremonies last Friday.

Bandera County students in the Utopia Class of 1985 include Gazaway and Duke and Michael McGuyer, Dexter Rainey and Donald Haby.

Survey reveals exotics number 7,900 in county

"The impact of so many mouths to feed is proving detrimental to native wildlife and the habitat in many areas."
—P&WD biologist

"Bandera County ranks pretty high up there among all counties (in Texas) in the number of exotic animals," the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's Charles Winkler said this week.

The county has an estimated 7,894 exotic animals and ranks among the leaders in the explosion of exotics in Texas which has seen their estimated numbers grow to 120,000 animals of almost 100 different species, says Winkler, the department's big game program director.

The estimated numbers were arrived at during a recent survey conducted by the wildlife agency. "The survey was made by our personnel contacting every landowner who might possibly have exotics," Winkler said.

The survey revealed that the most numerous of the exotics in Bandera County are the Axis deer, which numbers 2,816, and the black buck antelope, of which there are 1,830 in Bandera County.

There are 21 species in the county, Winkler said, and the types of exotic animals range from Addax to zebra.

Fully 78 of the state's 291 Addax are in Bandera County. The Addax is an antelope-like animal. There are 15 zebras in the county.

Deer-like and antelope-like exotics are the most numerous in Bandera County. In addition to the black buck antelope, there are nine wildebeests, two water bucks, 10 oryx, three nilgai and two sable antelope.

There are 546 fallow deer, Winkler says, and 65 red deer, 690 sika deer, 62 giant elands, and 17 American elk.

The survey also revealed 962 aoudad sheep, a single Ibex, 125 Barbadoes sheep, 604 Mouflon sheep, and five Texas dall sheep.

The survey also found 24 bison (American buffalo) and 25 llamas.

The growth in numbers of exotics can be traced to the fact that non-native animals have proven profitable to some landowners who lease year-round hunting rights or propagate the animals for resale.

"But the impact of so many mouths to feed is proving detrimental to native wildlife and their habitat in many areas," Winkler says.

Winkler said any introduction of exotic animals should be undertaken with caution. "We have conducted studies on exotics and found that many of them, especially the more popular species, compete directly, and effectively with native white-tailed deer," said Winkler.

While large animals such as eland, rhinoceros and cape buffalo may be a growing presence in Texas, the smaller deer and antelope species may be having a greater impact, Winkler believes. "There now are about 18,700 black buck antelope in Texas, along with 38,000 axis deer, 10,500 fallow deer and 7,900 sika deer," he noted. "These numbers are growing by a higher percentage each year, and their overall populations are already at a level we had earlier expected for about 1990."

The problem of competition between whitetails and exotic deer was learned during the 1970s in a study conducted at the Kerr Wildlife Management Area in Kerr County. Three 96-acre pastures were used in the study, Winkler said.

"One pasture was stocked with whitetails and sika deer, another with whitetails and axis deer, and the third with only whitetails as a control area," said Winkler. "To sum up the results of the study, it could be fairly stated that both the sika and axis deer out-competed the whitetails to the point that the whitetails were not able to survive."

Sika and axis deer and many of their kin prefer woody species of plants also preferred by whitetailed deer, but they also have the ability to switch to grasses to supplement their diet when forbs and browse become scarce. "This helps them compete with native deer and domestic livestock at the same time, putting a great deal of pressure on the habitat," he added.

Exotic big game animals are not classified by state regulations as game animals, except axis deer in Bexar and Kendall Counties and aoudad sheep in eight Panhandle counties. As a result, the animals are classed the same as domestic livestock. "This means they can be hunted anytime, and it also exempts them from any control by the TP&WD," Winkler pointed out.

"I would recommend that landowners considering exotics should certainly have a deer-proof fence, and carefully weigh the benefits against the potential harm of such introductions," he concluded.

PUC may reduce rates Co-op charges its customers

If the Public Utility Commission accepts the recommendation of its staff, which it usually does, the rates charged by Bandera Electric Cooperative may be reduced instead of significantly increased.

A PUC decision is expected on June 5.

They will rule on a request from the Lower Colorado River Authority for a $35.1 million increase in the amount it charges wholesale customers, one of which is the Bandera Co-op.

A PUC staff report issued last week, however, recommended that the LCRA be forced to lower rates rather than receive the hefty increase it has been seeking.

Russ Vander Zee, general manager of the Bandera Co-op, said his staff had estimated that the LCRA's requested increase would bike the price of electricity paid by Co-op members about 2 cents per kilowatt hour over the next two years.

If the recommendations contained in the staff report issued last week are adopted, however, Vander Zee said Co-op customers will enjoy an 8 percent reduction in power costs, or about .3 cents per kilowatt hour.

He said the average cost of power in recent months has been about 7½ cents.

PUC examiner Henry Card last week released a 79-page report based on the month-long rate increase hearings in March.

Instead of recommending the LCRA receive the $35.1 million it is requesting in its base rate, Card suggested that the large power company only receive a $12.1 million base rate increase.

The base rate includes funds for LCRA's administration, debt service, salaries, travel and other operational expenses. The majority of the base rate increase requested by LCRA was earmarked for its plans to construct two power plants in Fayette County.

Besides suggesting reducing the increase from $35.1 million to $12.1 million, Card also recommended a $33.4 million decrease in LCRA's fuel and power expenses. LCRA had sought no change in those charges.

The net effect of the PUC examiner's recommendations would be a $21.3 million decrease in the amount LCRA charges its customers, including the Bandera Electric Cooperative.

The Bandera Co-op was not among several LCRA wholesale customers who protested the $35.1 million increase, including the cities of Lampasas, Bastrop, Giddings, Smithville, San Marcos, Kerrville and San Saba and the Pedernales Electric Cooperative.

The various intervenors had until this Wednesday, May 29, to submit their objections to the examiner's report before the PUC convenes next week.

The Association of Wholesale Customers, a group of about 40 members that includes the Bandera Co-op, has not announced whether it will continue supporting the LCRA position — thus opposing the recommended rate decrease — or change its original position in support of the full rate increase.

The biggest factor in the base rate proposal was the examiner's disallowing of LCRA's long-term building plan.

"The commission does not set rates based upon debt/equity ratios predicted to be necessary to finance future construction comfortably," Card wrote in his report, "Yet LCRA's and AWC's approach would have the commission set rates in precisely that fashion, based upon LCRA's long-term predictions about its future financial needs."

"In the examiner's view, the least credible return testimony was that presented by LCRA and AWC," Card reported later.

"Nothing in either gentleman's testimony...showed the need...for the actual return dollars requested by LCRA," the examiner wrote of LCRA finance consultant John Hinton and AWC consultant Neal Eisner.

The dramatic fuel rate decrease was based on LCRA's breaking of its contract with Decker Coal Co. April 21 to purchase cheaper coal on the spot market than at the costs set in the Decker contract.

LCRA proposed to continue collecting from its customers at the Memorial Day is a time to remember

By Tom Loeffler
Congressman

Since the end of the Civil War, Memorial Day has been a time of patriotic reflection as we honor the American men and women who gave their lives on the field of battle. We do this in recognition of the ultimate sacrifice they made to preserve our liberty and, also, of the responsibility we bear to transmit liberty to future generations.

Many eloquent and moving speeches have been delivered since the first Memorial Day was observed 117 years ago, but no statement has captured the essence of sacrifice and devotion more succinctly than the Gettysburg Address of President Abraham Lincoln who said"...The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced."

When Lincoln spoke these immortal words, just four months had passed since the greatest battle before or since had taken place on the American continent. At Gettysburg, the armies of the North and South tore at each other with such ferocity that over 51,000 lives were lost.

Lincoln spoke for all of us in reminding us that mere words do not compensate for ultimate sacrifice. But, he asked us to remember, and he asked us to rededicate ourselves to freedom. In short, he pleaded with us never to allow those who paid the supreme sacrifice to have died in vain.

In our Nation's history, over one million, one thousand Americans have died in combat. Most Americans living today have a family member or a friend who was killed in action. From the Revolution to Vietnam, Americans have been willing to put their lives, fortunes and sacred honor on the line to block the path of tyranny. Their lives remind us that freedom always carries with it a high price. It has cost, it imposes a burden, and just as those whom we commemorate were willing to sacrifice, so, too, must we remain steadfast in working to assure that the precious freeedoms for which they fought and died are preserved.

Memorial Day is an opportunity to remember that those who died in the defense of our country were serving an even higher cause. For all throughout our history, America has been a beacon to other peoples, serving as a source of political inspiration and as a haven to those escaping tyranny, oppression and hunger.

Today, just as in the past, we stand as a guarantor of peace-ready to work with other nations to help remove sources of conflict and insecurity and to build a firm foundation for the future. We must work to assure that peace by maintaining a strong national defense, by strengthening our alliances, and by actively pursuing every opportunity for fruitful negotiations with potential adversaries.

As we honor the memory of those who made the ultimate sacrifice we must reaffirm that their lives and their sacrifices will be forever justified and remembered. Most importantly, we must do our utmost to assure that no other generation will ever have to share their experiences or repeat their sacrifice. Words cannot touch the gift that these fallen American heroes have provided their fellow Americans.

Disappointed

Dear editor:
We are very disappointed that the Saturday (Funtier Days) parade did not pass the Purple Hills Nursing Home. It has always been so nice to sit in our living room and on the porch to watch the parades. It is difficult to take — even in a van — our residents out of the nursing home, but we do like to be a part of Bandera.

Purple Hills Nursing Home

Loused up

Dear editor:
I would like to commend the person or persons who deprived the people of Purple Hills of having the opportunity of watching the parade, one of the few privileges they may have, by directing the (Funtier Days) parade up 11th Street, where the only thing that is there is the Senior Citizens (Center). I am a senior citizen, and I do not think that anyone that can make it to the Silver Sage can't make another block.

The parade itself was very poorly organized. Most of the Shriners did not even go to Sycamore Street. They joined the parade from behind True Value. Spectators on Main by Super S did not even see all of them. Later on, the parade started coming from Sycamore and Main, confusing everybody. All in all it was very frustrating.

The parade itself was quite nice. Very pretty floats and the Dude Ranches were represented very well. But somebody loused up on the whole thing, mostly in routing the parade the way they did.

Means so much

Dear editor:
In case anyone in Bandera may have missed the traditional Grace Lutheran Church "Pooper Scoopers" at the end of the Funtier Days Parade last Saturday, we regret deeply our inability to take part. A beloved member of our congregation, Alice Hoeneke of Pipe Creek, passed away Wednesday, May 22, and the funeral was Saturday. Excluding another such act of God, we shall be in our usual place performing the usual community service at future parades in Bandera.

I personally regret that no part of the parade passed near Purple Hills Nursing Home. Viewing such community fun is a boost to both patients and their attendants. It takes up to an hour to get the residents settled on the porch and another hour to get them back inside for such an event, but it means so very much to this group of shut-ins, their loved ones, and their hard working attendants.

Police attraction

Dear editor,
It is a shame the town of Bandera is rediculing one of the main attractions of their town.

Joe MacMillan was the very first person I met here 1½ years ago when I came into town to see about rental and living here. His attitude and respect towards me are the main reasons my family moved here. I thought if this town could produce a young man like this, it was the place for us.

The fact that he does his job with authority and his own safety in mind I would think is what you would want from all your officers.

Confidence

Dear editor:
I would like to take the time to say "thank you" to our wonderful friends and neighbors who make up our EMS. I had the opportunity to observe them one day while they were holding a training session. Their dedication is the greatest.

It gives me a feeling of confidence to know that if any emergency arose, it would be handled by our capable and caring EMT s in Bandera County. Being a resident of Lakehills, I hope there will be a way to show my appreciation to these dedicated volunteers, most of whom hold full time jobs.

Honesty

Dear editor:
The other day, I left my shop unattended while seeing to some other business down the street, when I came back, what a wonderful surprise to find a list of items that some tourist wanted along with $25.00 plus the sales tax to pay for them. What a great world to live in!!

New twist to be tried on fees for vehicle stickers

Texas lawmakers neared an accord on the state budget by giving conference committee approval to a new twist on motor vehicle inspections.

If approved by the full Legislature before adjournment at midnight, Memorial Day, inspection sticker price will go up from $5.25 to $7.75, an increase of $2.50.

But Texans who buy a new car will have to pay $15, good for two years. This new twist is a result of lawmakers efforts to find an extra $150 million to balance the budget by raising various state fees.

Also proposed was a $50 increase in the cost of filing a suit in state district court. Child support cases were exempted.

Hightower wins one

Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower has had tough going this session with budget writers cutting his outlays and limiting his staff, but last week his foes carried the battle against him too far. Hightower, perhaps riding on a sympathy backlash, finally won one in the Legislature.

When House Agriculture chairman Bob Saunders, D-LaGrange, moved to dilute Hightower's power to regulate pesticide use, particularly his protection of stoop laborers in the Rio Grande Valley, he found himself not only up against the Mexican-American Caucus, but enough handfuls of conservatives from both parties to warrant surrender.

He abandoned his proposal which was backed by chemical lobbyists and the Texas Farm Bureau, two groups which Hightower angered earlier with his new, stringent pesticide regulations.

Abortion foes defeated

Also abandoned last week was the attempt to pass stricter abortion regulations. Abortion foes L.B. Kubiak, D-Rockdale, and Jan McKenna, R-Arlington, tried to build their measure into other legislation renewing the Texas Department of Health, but some key lawmakers threatened to filibuster.

The Speaker asked Kubiak and the others to retreat and avoid a confrontation

Girl Scouts get awards

Girl Scout awards, badges and patches and stars were presented by leaders of two Brownie troops, one Junior troop, and one Cadet troop at the Court of Awards, on May 3, in the Bandera elementary school cafeteria. Refreshments were served while troop No. 661 sang funny camp songs.

Rosemary Leonard of San Antonio, GS executive field director of the Northwest District, Joyce Sellberg, neighborhood chairman of the Bandera-Medina district, praised the girls, their parents and the leaders, Jimmie Hughey, Cadet troop No. 55; Alice Koenig, Junior troop No. 82; Beverly Hearn, Brownie troop No. 661; and Linda Beschle, Evelyn Herrera, Joey Kenyon, and Mary Ann Trimble, Brownie troop No. 547.

"For the Girl Scouts of Bandera, the '84-85 year has been a busy, fun-packed, giving and gaining time," said Sellberg. "Leaders and girls have done a wonderful job and have completed the year with very special events."

Sellberg reviewed for the girls and their parents the Scouts' accomplishments for the year. She said all troops participated in collecting usable items for the Salvation Army and selling calendars to raise money for their own troops and baked cookies and decorated containers for Operation Cookie for the San Antonio State Hospital and hand-crafted decorations for the Christmas tree in the Bandera County Library.

All troops also joined to hold an International Tea for parents and friends, selling GS cookies and attending core and/or day camps or field trips and overnights, culminating with the Court of Awards ceremony.

Bandera Girl Scouts sold 311 cases of cookies or 3, 372 boxes. Angela M. Culver of Pipe Creek and Heather L. Ellinger of Bandera were the top sellers. Linda Beschle deserves special thanks for acting as Cookie Chairman, said Sellberg.

Ending the year with a slumber party on the floor of the hall at Saint Stanislaus Catholic church on May 10, Brownie troop No. 547 made pizzas and hot chocolate, told ghost stories and went on a hay ride.

Each girl received a T-shirt that said, "Brownie Troop No. 547 May '85 Slumber Party". Each adult leader received a T-shirt. Theirs stated, "We survived!"

Adult leaders, neighborhood chairman and the San Antonio field executive celebrated the end of a successful GS year with a luncheon at the Mayan Dude Ranch, May 22. Esther Pitcher of Danbury, Conn., was a guest. She is the grandmother of Linda Beschle.

On April 27, Brownie troop No. 547 enjoyed a field day at Linda Beschle's home. Water balloon contests, egg throwing at their leaders, a graveyard tour, cooking hot dogs and smores, (lighting the fire with one match), were among the activities.

"These first-and second-grade Brownies and their leaders typify the Girl Scout activities that build life-long memories," Sellberg said.

This troop with their four co-leaders also visited the Purple Hills Nursing Home to entertain the patients with singing, acting out skits and discussing relationships in the community.

"Parents, please tell your girls who are not Scouts that they are welcome to join for the fall '85-'86 session to share in future Scout adventures," Sellberg said. New leaders will also be needed, she said. Prospective members or leaders may call Sellberg at 796-3475. "We will be delighted to help you share some great times with lots of eager girls," she said.

'Official' engraving on auction during Night in Old Bandera

An official sesquicentennial marble engraving will be auctioned during the Night in Old Bandera June 22 on 11th Street, according to committee chairman Carmen Hicks.

The historical montage picturing the significant people, places and character of Texas' past 150 years will be sold to the highest bidder between 7 p.m. and 8 p.m. during the street-dancing event on Bandera's original main street.

The engraving is one of just 2,500 now being produced and which will be serially numbered, Mrs. Hicks said. It will be accompanied by a 2,000-word legend giving a historical account of each item that appears in the montage and a certificate of authenticity will also go to the purchaser.

"This would make a wonderful gift for someone who loves Texas history and has an appreciation for fine art," Mrs. Hicks said.

Funds raised by the auction will benefit sesquicentennial activities in Bandera County, she said.

The sale will take place during Night in Old Bandera on June 22. Besides street dancing on 11th Street, Bandera's so-called "Old Town" area, activities planned for the event include a fiddler's contest, stagecoach rides, folk life demonstrations, and games of all kinds.

Participants are urged to wear pioneer clothing for the event, and prizes will be given for the best costumes.

5k records broken in Funtier Days run

The 5-kilometer records in both the men's and women's divisions of the Funtier Day 5 Run the Streets of Bandera race were shattered Saturday, but the 10-kilometer marks established last year still stand.

Bernadette Lishko was clocked in 21 minutes, 3 seconds over the 5-kilometer course, smashing the old record of 22:10 established in 1983, and Rudy Basaldua led all men to the finish line in 17:44 to shatter the old mark of 17:47 that also set in 1983.

Mark Todd of San Antonio repeated as winner over 10 kilometers, but his time of 36:49 was a little slower than the record place of 35:58 that he established in winning here last year. The courses were slightly different this year, officials said.

The number of entries was down some from last year, probably because a competing run was scheduled in Kerrville this year.

Age group winners over 10 Kilometers included John Payne, 40:30, 13-19 years of age; Homer Santos of Bandera, 37:41, 30-39 years; Randy Courtney of Pipe Creek, 43:44, 40 to 49 years; and Dorse DuBois, 45:39, age 50 and over.

Age group winners among women in the 5-kilometer division included Barbara Graham, 26:21, age 12 years and under; Amie Nightingale of Bandera, 21:12, ages 13-19; Carol Rambo of Bandera, 23:20, ages 30-39; Betsy Sabo, 22:36, ages 40-49; and Betty Johnson, 31:43, ages 50 years and over.

Age group winners among men over the 10-kilometer distance were Robby Caswell of Lakehills, 27:18, age 12 years and under; Tom Lara, 19:39, ages 30-39; Rick Alfaro, 19:42, ages 40-49; and Charles Johnson, 28:41, ages 50 and over.

full amount it would have paid Decker while actually paying less in the spot market. The differences in costs would have been placed in an "escrow" account created by LCRA to help defray the costs of damages if the courts uphold the Decker contract.

"What the commission should decide is whether LCRA has proven that establishment of such a fund is necessary to preserve its financial integrity and is in the public interest," Card wrote, "The examiner concludes that LCRA has not met its burden of proof on that issue."

The examiner also deleted $79,773 that LCRA had included in its rate package for "influencing legislation or in support of political candidates or political movements."

Another $7,080 in travel expenses for employees and directors that have been included in the rate base also was struck. LCRA travel policies were a source of much controversy during the March hearing.

Clinic planned

The Texas Department of Health will have a children's immunization clinic on June 5, from 1 p.m.-3 p.m. at the First Methodist Church in Bandera. All immunizations are free of charge, says spokeswoman Pat Barr.

'Decorating with Fabrics' topic of extension program

County extension agents Peggy Edwards of Bandera County and Janie Squire of Bexar County will present a program on "Decorating with Fabrics" on Tuesday, June 11, at 2:30 p.m. at the Bandera Electric Co-op Building.

The public is invited to come and learn ways of constructing window treatments, covering walls, making table cloths and doing many other decorating projects with fabrics. People wishing to do their own home decor will benefit by learning how to be more creative with fabrics.

"Decorating with sheets and other fabrics is not only economical, but also is one of the easiest and quickest ways to give your home's interior the decorating uplift it needs," says Edwards.

The program is sponsored by the county extension service family living committee and is free of charge.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

This area had one of the worst electrical storms, lightning and thunder, that some had ever witnessed Friday. It was truly hair raising and we were glad when it was over.

No damage was reported, but we received .15 in. of rain. Utopia and Sabinal received more rain and Uvalde had 3 inches.

A hunter

Carl Meyer who delivered the commencement address for the seniors Friday at Utopia school cafetorium, is well known in Utopia as he has had a hunting lease below Utopia for many years. He serves the Lord through song and church music and helped in a Baptist Church revival for two weeks recently.

Meyer has been in accounting since 1951, establishing his own accounting firm 33 years ago, is also involved in ranching and in oil and gas production.

He has served on his local school board for 19 years and on the board of development of Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene for nine years.

Illness

We are happy to report Glenn Schaefer came through three bypasses and arterial neck surgery just fine in Santa Rosa Hospital, San Antonio, on Thursday.

L.L. Tubbs suffered a heart seizure Friday and was transported by EMS to San Antonio where he was placed in intensive care and reported to be very ill.

Floyd Spence was transported by EMS to Kerrville Hospital also with a heart seizure.

Mrs. Jessie Ivy was a patient in Sid Peterson Hospital last week having X-rays, CAT scans and other tests.

Texas City visitors

Ray and LaVern Harp, Mike and Susan Harp, Randy Harp, Janet Lyle, and two children, Kelley and Brent, were Memorial Weekend visitors of their parents, and grandparents, Hub and Lillie Thompson

Sparkling water

If the recent article in Time magazine is accurate, Ron Bownds has good reason to be excited. The magazine reported increases in carbonated water consumption from 1976 to 1984 from 18 million to 75 million gallons annually.

Bownds stated Utopia Sparkling Water and six packs of eight ounce throw away plastic bottles filled with drinking water should be available on local shelves within the next week.

By July 4, Ron plans to have the new products in stores, bars, and restaurants across the U.S.

Utopia 1st graders take a tour

Thirteen students enjoyed a trip to San Antonio May 21. They visited the Institute of Texan Cultures and the Hertzberg Circus Museum.

The field trip was a year-end to the the "Little House" books the class has read by Laura Ingalls Wilder and the studies of Texas history. The students got a first hand tour of Indians, Texas Rangers, hand spinning, and weaving, cattle drives and a chuck wagon, and a fiddler.

The Circus Museum gave them a taste of the old time "big top" and side shows.

Sponsors for the trip were their teacher, Mrs. Sue Fry, Mrs. Emma Bomer, and Mr. Thomas Richey drove the bus.

Retirement reception

Frances Richey and Vernon Porter were honored Sunday at the school cafetorium with a retirement reception.

Sunday overnight visitors of the Lonnie Bomers were Emmas sister, Rosie Bomer, and daughter Sue of Batesville.

Vanderpool Cemetery meeting

A nice turn out came to put flowers on the graves and mow around the community building and tabernacle.

They enjoyed a nice luncheon and a business meeting. Those from out of town Roberta Banta, Ingleside; T.G. Thompson, Seguin; James Killborn, San Antonio; Addie Jane and Jack Chaney, Hooter Clayton and Martha.

D'Layne Langlinais, granddaughter of the late Gaynelle and Johnnie Thompson of Utopia, has been named outstanding student in the physical education department at Southwestern University in Georgetown.

Langlinais, of McQueeney, is to graduate from the school this spring. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Langlinais of McQueeney and is a graduate of Seguin High School.

She was also recognized as recipient of a Student National Education Association award to top students in education.

Seventeen Bandera fifth grade students have been awarded Presidential Academic Fitness Awards by maintaining a B-plus average in elementary school and scoring among the top 20 percent of students taking a national achievement test.

Among the winners were Colby Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Anderson; Joseph Craven, son of Barbara Craven; Julie Cherry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.R. Barge; Shawn Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Garrett; Brad Floyd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Floyd; Daisy Holcomb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Lane; Christine Jackson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald M. Jackson; and Heather Koenig, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Koenig.

Also, Carrie McFarland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scott McFarland; Paul Mangold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Mangold; Michael Mazurek, son of Mr. and Mrs. David G. Alexander; James Robinson, son of Gerda Robinson; Manny Sandidge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rob Sandidge; Donna Sandoval, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Smith; John Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Williams; and Gary Yates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin R. Wilcox.

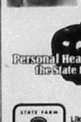

Presidential scholars recognized.

Boerne enacts historical ordinance

The Boerne City Council last Monday night officially adopted a Historic Landmark Preservation Ordinance, setting up a Landmark Commission of nine members to "safeguard the city's historic and cultural heritage, as embodied and reflected in such historic landmarks, by appropriate regulations."

The Boerne Star reported that the commission will include nine members appointed by the city Council, at least six of whom will reside inside the city limits.

The commission will establish criteria to be used in determining whether certain buildings, structures, sites, districts, land, areas and other objects should be designated as historic landmarks. Guidelines will be used in determination of whether to grant or deny certificates of demolition or removal.

Refugio County group successful

The Refugio County Press reports that a successful lobbying effort by local citizens led to changes in legislation affecting their hospital district.

The legislation, an amendment to the 1977 law creating the Refugio County Hospital District, specifies how and when the District can be dissolved by an election, and the District's assets transferred to the County government.

Panther active near Leakey

The Real County American reports that, in addition to the wild hogs and coyotes, a panther is apparently active around Deep Creek. Several goats have been lost.

Farmers market

Twenty producers were expected at last Saturday's opening of the Uvalde Wintergarden Farmers Market, according to the Uvalde Leader-News.

Plans call for the market to open each Saturday from 7:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. or sellout.

The market is located on the corner of N. Park and W. Main St. on the site of the old West Main School.

The Leader-News also reported that last Friday's storms caused severe damage to corn, cotton, and milo crops in Uvalde and Zavala counties.

Oat crop damage

The Hondo Anvil-Herald also reported oat crop damage in the Quihi and Castroville vicinity.

Hondo school bonds OKed

Vic Parker, also in the Anvil-Herald, reported that voters in the Hondo school district trekked to the polls and gave their approval to a nearly $1.5 million construction package which will bring the system into line with provisions of HB 72.

Parker also reported that Medina Memorial Hospital administrator John Rabidou and other hospital representatives were on hand at the regular commissioners court meeting last week seeking the county's $50,000 contribution to the facility. The City of Hondo's share of the total is $16,666.

According to figures presented at the meeting, the hospital's total budget for the fiscal year which begins June 1 is more than $2.8 million, not including more than $207,000 in deductions. Expenses are projected at nearly $2,730,000. While the proposed budget was accepted by the court, approval of the $50,000 was not given, pending a review of the ledger by the commissioners.

Kerrville garbage fight resolved

Months of argument, including a lawsuit, between Kerrville city officials and Moore Services, Inc., have apparently been settled by a new agreement.

Moore will collect trash and operate the new city-county landfill at least until December 1986, according to the Kerrville Daily Times.

Jenny McRingo of the Kerrville Mountain Sun reported that Mayor Jack Brough said a collection of logical facts contributed to the decision reversal not to oust Moore Services from the landfill. "It's a real possibility that we (the city) made a mistake," he said.

In another Mountain Sun story, Kerr County commissioners authorized the letting of bids for construction of new cells in unused space in the current jail and for remodeling which would create a county court at law courtroom next to the county tax office in the courthouse annex. The two projects, an estimated $200,000 for space for as many as 24 additional prisoners and an estimated $125,000 for the courtroom and remodelled tax office, could be paid for out of current tax revenues, commissioners noted. No bonds or tax increases are anticipated.

Echo lives up to name

Unconfirmed reports suggest that highway directions to Kerrville, which appeared in last week's Helotes Echo, were in response to a comparable item which recently appeared in this compilation.

The Echo pointed out that Helotes residents bound for the Arts and Crafts Fair could take Scenic Loop Road to avoid Funtier congestion.

The item did not offer the same advice to Folk Festival travellers.

The basis for the distinction between artsy-types and folkies was not made specific in the Echo piece.

Kindergartners at Bandera school wave flags they were given by members of the Ladies Auxiliary to veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 9176. Flags were also given to students at Noah's Ark, Kingdergarten and in Medina, and a larger, classroom flag was also given to the Medina kindergarten.

-Obituaries-

Dorothy Cox

Dorothy Louise Cox

Dorothy Louise Cox, 67, a native of Bandera died Saturday, May 25, in the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio.

She had lived in Bandera for the past 12 years, after returning here from Shyder, where she and her husband raised three children and built a locksmith company. She was a member of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, an avid hunter, fisherman, and a gardener.

She was the daughter of John Frank Mazurek and Mary M. Haiduk Mazurek.

Survivors include her mother, Mary M. Mazurek of Bandera; a daughter, Mary (Ciscie) Bennett of Hobbs, N.M.; two sons, Ray (Windy) Cox of San Antonio and Tracy Cox of Bandera; two brothers, Tony Mazurek of Bandera and I.C. (Sug) Mazurek of San Antonio; six grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

Rosary was recited Monday at Grimes Funeral Chapel. Funeral Mass was Tuesday at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, with Msgr. Ralph Smith as celebrant. Burial was in the Bandera Catholic Cemetery.

Ada B. Becker

Ada B. Becker, 73, died Monday, May 27.

She is survived by three sons, Phil Becker of Bandera, James G. Becker of Boerne, and Douglas N. Becker of Schertz; a daughter, Dorothy Mae Ellis of Boise, Idaho; two sisters, Edna Pfiel of Maryland and Gertrude Sharrer of San Antonio; a brother, George L. Brown of Wilson County, numerous grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

Services were to be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m. in Alamo Chapels in San Antonio with burial to follow in Sunset Memorial Park.

Alice Hoeneke

Alice Scheel Hoeneke, 74, died Wednesday, May 22. She was a member of Grace Lutheran Church in Bandera.

Survivors include a sister, Bessie Fischer of San Antonio, and numerous nieces and nephews.

Services were held Saturday in Sunset Funeral Chapel in San Antonio with Pastor Henry officiating.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

With Memorial Day coming up, all of us are reminded of the terrible price that millions of our forefathers have paid in the history of our nation. Through wars around the world, American blood has been shed in the cause of freedom. Those whom we honor each year on Memorial Day paid the highest price anyone can pay...their lives. They did so because they believed, as we do today, that freedom is worth any price to be preserved.

Today debate rages in Washington about the high cost of defending our great country. This is nothing new. This debate has been basic to America since our beginning. The central point in 1776 was the same as it is today—whether in dollars or in blood—FREEDOM IS NOT CHEAP. Even in colonial times, the first settlers debated the high cost of their muskets and shot. Later, during the Revolution, the colonists often argued about the amount needed to defeat the British.

If Memorial Day teaches us anything, it is that our nation is free only because we have spent billions of dollars in our defense, and because of the blood and sweat and tears shed by millions of Americans who died in the cause of freedom. Spending billions for defense is not an easy or popular choice, but couldn't it be said that what we are really buying is insurance against more bloodshed, and our freedom? As we honor the dead on Memorial Day, let us not forget the lesson which they have taught us. Freedom is a dear possession, but it does not come without sacrifice...

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The Bandera County Committee on Aging, Inc. is a non-governmental, non-profit organization with endowment funds managed by the Bandera County Committee on Aging. It was established to provide income in the form of interest on its investments for the social, charitable, educational, or other activities serving senior citizens of Bandera County.

Recognizing the need of such sound financial planning for the future, particularly for the upkeep of the new Silver Sage Corral, the Committee on Aging last week took a major step by voting to place all memorial gifts, past and present, in this capital fund.

An exception will be made, of course, for those specifying a special use for their memorial donation.

There are eight ways to donate to the endowment fund

1. A direct gift to BCCOA Endowment Fund; 2. a memorial gift in honor of a deceased family member or friend; 3. through your will, part or all of your estate; 4. bestowing securities of stocks or bonds as a gift; 5. assigning royalties for minerals, inventions, music or writings; 6. leaving property or real estate as a gift; 7. creating a trust fund whereby the endowment fund receives a specific amount each year for a set number of years; 8. making your contributions directly to Box 1416 Bandera 78003.

Gifts of the Endowment Fund are tax exempt, as are gifts of any size to the general fund of Silver Sage Corral, under Sec. 501 (C) of the Internal Revenue Code.

The "Golden Hub" senior center

A mini-bus load of seniors accepted the invitation of the Golden Hub to visit its 3-year-old senior center in Fredericksburg.

Arriving minutes before a cloudburst, the group was welcomed by staff and volunteers, whom they proceeded to interrogate. Much larger floor space than the Silver Sage, the Golden Hub also serves many more people in a variety of ways.

But has its own drawbacks. It's location on the north edge of town is one. But a great many program ideas were noted and may be used in Bandera soon.

Incidentally, the Golden Hub has a foundation similar to Bandera's Endowment Fund, established about a year ago, to insure its financial future.

Personals

A note from Fannie Caffal says: "Mrs. Eva Buck left Saturday for her home in Scottsdale, Ariz. where she has moved to be near her two sons and their families. She has been visiting friends in Bandera, San Antonio and Bishop for the last two months, while winding up her business here. She and her late husband Buck moved here in 1960. Her many friends wish her a fine farewell."

A maintenance committee, headed by W.A. McCoy has been appointed to replace the now-dissolved Building Committee for the Silver Sage Corral, according to Davis May, president of the Bandera County Committee on Aging.

Everyone is admiring the excellent workmanship of some of our local craftsmen. Fred Collins built the handsome stairway to the Silver Sage Corral loft and Neal Peterson built the beautiful kitchen cupboards.

Many thanks also to the Jake Dolles, who rented the heavy-duty rug at the entrance to the Center which eliminates a whole lot of sweeping!

A large Texas flag has been provided for the senior center by Helen Ahr. It will be dedicated on flag day, June 14, in conjunction with the visit of the senior advisory committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments.

The Silver Sage Corral kitchen and cooks will be put to the test Tuesday, June 4 when a "biscuits and gravy breakfast" will be served from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m.

The menu will be hot biscuits and sausage, gravy, juice and coffee. The charge is $3 for adults, $2 for children.

Pre-season sale of clothing

Thanks to the Gift and Thrift shop's generous friends, there is a goodly stock of clothing for all seasons available, which will be offered to the public at bargain prices on the front porch of the Silver Sage Corral, on Saturday, June 8. Look especially for great buys in winterwear, and avoid the last minute rush next fall. The hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Coming attractions

Rockhounds of America, arise! If you are interested in some super displays of polished rocks, and the people who know about them, save the date of June 20, when some local rock enthusiasts will conduct a program at the Silver Sage Corral. The time will be 7:30 p.m. For more information, see Mary Worley.

Having seen the Anhalt German celebration recently, and been impressed with the children who presented German and Bavarian folk dances, two senior citizens, with experience in teaching children, have offered to teach a class in Folk Songs and Dances sometime during the summer.

The class set for Thursday afternoons at the Silver Sage Corral, would be limited to 12 children between the ages of 7 and 11, who would commit an hour a week for 6 weeks. If interested, leave names and phone number at the Center, 796-3490.

Bandera County
25 years ago
By Lila MacMillan

In a preliminary announcement, W.G. Stacy, district supervisor, Bureau of Census, told us that Bandera had a recorded population of 982, as of April 1, 1960. The county population was 3,863. According to the Texas Almanac for 1958-1959 Bandera County had a population of 4,410 in 1950 and the town Bandera had a population of 1,036.

The new survey showed a decrease of approximately 500 persons during the dry 1950's.

For the 10th year in a row, John McShane entertained members of both Bandera and Medina girls' graduating classes with a Lane cedar chest party at his store, the Bandera Merchantile. Each of the 26 young ladies attending received a miniature Lane cedar chest.

W.J. (Willie) Mueller of Medina Lake died in a San Antonio rest home. The 82-year old was well known as an authority on snakes, and had set records for having caught hundreds of rattlers which were used for scientific purposes. He had lived in the Medina Lake and Bandera area for 54 years.

L.L. Bright, J.O. LaHaye, and Russell Zickler were appointed to the Board of Equalization by the Bandera School Board.

Alfred Kindla of Bandera was among 215 candidates for graduation exercises at Southwest Texas State College and Frances Jordan was among 665 candidates for a degree at the University of Texas in Austin.

2,300 expected to attend Hermann Sons' camp

More than 2,300 boys and girls from Hermann Sons Lodges across Texas, including the lodge in Bandera County, are expected to attend the fraternal benefit society's youth summer camp this season in the Hill Country near Comfort.

Located in the southeast corner of Kerr County on the Guadalupe River, the camp will open at 2 p.m. Sunday, June 2 with six weekly sessions for girls, followed by five sessions for boys from July 14 to Aug. 17.

The Grand Lodge of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas, headquartered in San Antonio, has announced the completion this spring of two new dormitories for the camp, providing an additional capacity of 60 beds, as well as completion of a new first-aid building, activity area, horseholding area and storage facilities.

Registration this spring is running ahead of last year when a record number of 2,177 attended, said Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president of the order. By mid-May 2,301 junior members had registered, with more applications for registration forms still in the hands of parents.

The six sessions for girls had 1,401 registrations, while 900 boys had registered for their five sessions.

Since the first season in 1954 attended by 196 youngsters, the camp has seen 42,641 junior member registrations in its 31-year history. The camp can be free on a merit basis for junior members who earn sufficient credits by attending junior chapter meetings or by successfully recommending new members to the fraternal order. The maximum fee those members who earn no points will pay for a one-week session is $30, well below fees paid at comparable Hill Country camps.

All junior members attending camp must be 9 years of age and less than 14 years of age before the opening day of the 1985 season.

Bandera's bronze sculptures to be exhibited in Kerrville

Bandera Artist Norma J. Anderwald will be honored at a reception and a month-long exhibition of some of her works at Charles Schreiner Bank of Kerrville.

Ten of her bronze sculptures will be on exhibit at the bank June 4-28.

Mrs. Anderwald recently returned from the 19th annual National Art Show at Del Mar College in Corpus Christi where several juried selections of her sculpture were in competition for the Joseph P. Cain Award.

Her sculptures of Toots Mansfield and others entitled "The Flannery Ban" and "Prairie Madonna" have been entered in the 1986 Sesquicentennial Texas Visions tour and in the 1986 New Orleans Triennial tour, which begins at the New Orleans Museum of Art.

Keel, Nauck wed

Denise Elizabeth Keel became the bride of Glenn Charles Nauck in Holy Cross Luthern Church in Nederland, May 18, in a double-ring ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a tea-length gown of ivory satin and net. The gown was beaded with pearls on the neck, cuffs and wide brocaded hemline.

Her matching hat was also covered with seed pearls and net. She carried a side-arm bouquet of orchids, white roses, frescia and lilies.

Her attendants were attired in tea-length gown of royal blue chiffon and satin, with empire waists and draped with ribbon ties. They carried arm bouquets of white gladiolas, mums carnations, frescia with royal blue and ivory streamers.

The mother of the bride wore a slate blue dress with a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Judy Hydes. Bridesmaids were Shelly Foster of Houston and Denise Stratton of Port Arthur.

Best man was John Isager of Houston and groomsmen were John McKee of Houston and Mark Keel of Nederland, brother of the bride.

The bride is employed by Bloockstock Marketing Inc. of Houston and the groom is employed by National Testers Inc. of Houston.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A.G. Nauck of Lafayette, La. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Keel of Nederland. The mother of the bride is the former Corine Mechler of Bandera and the niece of Mrs. Jay Carpenter.

A reception followed in the parish hall and friends and family gathered at the bride's home in Nederland. After a honeymoon in Mexico, the couple will make their home in Houston.

Birthday surprise

Herman Click of Bandera got a birthday present from an unexpected source last week. He won a rifle given by the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department.

The drawing was on Click's 53rd birthday.

Dicy Glenn Ormiston

Glenn, Ormiston wed

Dicy Diane Glenn formerly of Medina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan C. Glenn of Boerne, became the bride of Christopher Robert Ormiston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Ormiston of San Antonio, Saturday, May 25, at St. Helena's Episcopal Church with the Rev. William Calhoun officiating.

Patsy Ortega was maid of honor. Donna Brown and Dorothy Schneider, sisters of the bride, and Cathy Ormiston, sister of the groom, were bridesmaids.

Jim Ormiston, brother of the groom, was best man. Ron Biedger, Mike Perry and Wayne Condra were groomsmen.

Roger Barr, brother of the bride, Andy Ormiston, brother of the groom, Lanny Wison, and Kevin Baros were ushers.

The bride's dress was an original Mary's design of white taffeta with ruffled, organza, short off-the-shoulder sleeves. Intricate lace appliques and pearls fronted the satin bodice. The cathedral-length train was transformed to a bustle for the reception.

The bride's headpiece was a halo of pearls with fingertip blusher. The bride's bouquet was bridal white roses, statice, snowflakes, and stephanotis styled in a flowing cascade.

The maid of honor's and bridesmaids' dresses were solid pastel chiffon gowns of rose, blue, yellow and violet. The back was transformed to a bustle for the ceremony.

The bridesmaids carried silk bouquets, which were made by the bride and her mother, to match the dress color.

The groom and his best man wore grey cutaway tuxedos and the groomsmen wore grey strollers and the striped grey ascots.

The bride's mother wore a light blue pleated chiffon gown with a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore a rose peplin effect gown with a corsage of pink roses. The bride's and groom's fathers wore grey strollers and the striped grey ascots.

The altar flowers were white gladiolas, white fugi mums, statice, and flowing greenery. White ropes and bows decorated the pews.

Debbie Stricker, a friend of the bride, was the organist.

The rehearsal dinner was given at Ye Kendall Inn.

The lawn reception at the bride's parents' home followed the reception. The bride's cake was a five-tiered, white cake with touches of the bride's wedding colors setting above rose-colored water fountain. The groom's cake was chocolate with the couples' special saying written on top. Champagne punch and coffee were also served.

Both cakes were baked by the bride's cousin, Darlene Smith, and served the bride's cake. Christina Szucs organized the reception with the help of Jackie Allen, Kally Danish, Wendy Smith, Annette Sanchez and Chris Baulson.

After the honeymoon trip to Nassau in the Bahamas, the couple will reside in San Antonio.

Tina Lorraine Morris and Jeffrey Dale Johnson will be married on June 15 in Austin. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Hanna of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Morris of Devine. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson of Lawton, Okla. The couple will live in Austin where he is a biochemistry student at the University of Texas and she is a nursing home administrator. Both are members of the New Covenant Church in Austin.

Lakehills

Summertime story hour scheduled

The Lakehills United Methodist Church will begin a summer reading program on Wednesday, June 5.

The Wednesday Morning Story Hour is aimed at giving children time each week for having books read to them and for puppetry, games, filmstrips, and crafts.

The books that will be read to the group are chosen from books on a wide variety of subjects. Humor, poetry, plays and familiar much-loved children's books will also be used. "The main emphasis of the first few sessions is 'peace' — peaceful relationships with family, friends, community members, and the world," said spokeswoman Alice Lundblad.

This is an interdenominational project. All children, ages 4-12 years, are invited to join each week, all summer long.

The Wednesday Morning Story Hour will be held at the church each Wednesday from 10 a.m.-11 a.m. The church is located at Avenue J and 10th Street in Lakehills.

Rummage sale slated

A rummage and bake sale will be held at Faith Chapel grounds in Lakehills on Satuday, June 8, starting at 9 a.m.

"Everyone is welcome and donations gladly accepted," a spokesman said.

Pipe Creek 4-H'ers elected officers

Shannon Cowsert was elected president of the Pipe Creek 4-H Club on May 15 and Jake Frazier was elected vice president.

The other officers are Nancy Patton, secretary-treasurer; Brad Floyd, reporter; Billy Butts, council delegate; and Kenneth Wilson and Cliff Stoops, recreation leaders.

The club's next meeting will be on Sept. 18 according to Brad Floyd.

Shannon did a method demonstration called Kid Safe and every one liked the ice cream social, Floyd reported.

Lila MacMillan is improving at Wilford Hall Hospital in San Antonio after undergoing surgery.

She will return soon to resume handling Lakehills and Pipe Creek news. Meanwhile, news items may be left in the designated places or brought or phoned into the Bulletin office.

During the week of June 10 through June 14, the First Baptist Church of Pipe Creek will have Vacation Bible School.

"Boys and girls from age 3 years through this school year's sixth grade are welcome and encouraged to attend the sessions which are each day from 9 a.m. till 11:30 a.m. for the five days," said spokesman O.H. Davis.

Classes for junior high and high school, from seventh grade on up, will be held later, Davis said.

Boys and girls will be welcome not only from Pipe Creek but also from all surrounding areas and from other churches, Davis said.

Martin Smith of the Bandera Church of Christ used for his text Sunday, Mark, Chapter Two, "The Faith of Four." Hoyt Hamrick led the opening prayer and Tim Sanchez the closing prayer. Ray Marvin Hay was the song leader.

Those signing our guest book were Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, Mary Ann and Martin Smith, Amy Reagan, Timothy Sanchez, Yvonne Fenner, Mrs. John Saul, Annette Pearce, Ray Marvin Hay, Leon and Lillian Ray, Dorothy Garms and Eva Freeman.

Ernest Rainey's visitors last week were his wife, Mrs. Rainey, son Paul Rainey, Dusty and Betty Rickard, Era Dodson of Florence, Ala., and Hilma Cothrun of Shreveport, La.

Sandee Vannatter visited her grandmother, Maude Stokes. Also visiting were Maude's great-grandsons, Nathan and Jordan Vannatter.

Shirley Phillips and sons Kyle and Kelly came by Monday evening and took Jack Holloway to the ball game. The score was Medina 15 and Pipe Creek 9.

We have two new residents, Dessie Bailey of San Antonio and Mary Klemstein of Bandera. We welcome them to our home and hope they will enjoy their stay with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hill visited Willie Leibold.

We thank the family of Lillian Bush for sharing the beautiful memorial flowers with us. Our sympathy to all her loved ones.

J.B. Edwards of Pipe Creek visited his mother, Edith Edwards, Wednesday afternoon.

Noah's Ark from the Grace Lutheran Church under the leadership of Mrs. Pfeiffer came for their monthly visit last Tuesday morning. This is their last visit of the year; we will miss their monthly visits and we are looking forward to have them visit us again when school starts in the fall.

Freda Heisler of San Antonio and Jerry Cottrell of Helotes visited Nicke Clark and Willie Leibold.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ read and discussed from the book of Psalms at Bible reading Wednesday morning. Guests were Sherry Powers and Shirley Phillips and her son Kelly.

Thanks to the Lakehills AARP organization for the nice games party last Wednesday afternoon and to Evie Angell and Jean Blanke for the delicious refreshments.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Wednesday afternoon and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ that evening.

We're sure glad to have Mae Armstrong home from a lengthy stay in the hospital in Kerrville. Welcome home Mae!

Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Flowers visited Pat Freeman.

Clyde Wright visited Edith Edwards and brought her a bouquet of lovely flowers from his garden. He also brought a big sunflower for the nurses station. Thanks Pug, for being so thoughtful.

Cynthia Mayberry's daughter and husband, Ola and Jack Crawford of Houston and Artis Leggit of Ft. Worth visited her last week.

The Melodiers came last Friday evening for their monthly program. This group gets better and better every time we hear them.

Those registering were Dean and Florence Isaacs, Judith Blucher, Doloras Greene, Tandie Jordan, Fannie Caffall, Mary Joe Kirkpatrick, Bill Hathaway, Mary Worley, Helen Abrescia, June Westmeyer, Mary Hyde, Bill and Toni Dennis, Judy Goodenough, Kay Robinson and George Meador.

Ervin and Sheila Heyen visited his mother, Hulda Heyen.

Adam and Alice Walters of Austin visited his mother, Lura Walters.

Thanks to the Chamber of Commerce and Ken Finley for video taping the parade Saturday and showing it to us that evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Merris visited his mother, Mildred Woltersdorf.

Raymond and Aggie Batto visited with aunt, Ruth Batto, uncle, Joe Mazurek, and their friends.

Thelma Carnahan visited Duna Gulley.

Allan and Pat Baynard of Townsend, Mont., visited his sister, Evelyn Hostetter.

Mrs. Tommy White visited Vionita Porter.

Ruby Hill's sister, Rosie, visited her.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith, Effie Wedgworth, Mrs. Curtis Wallace and granddaughter, Jud Clark and Corrine Schmidtke visited Mary Klemstein.

Lorena Bowman is spending a few days in San Antonio with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bowman.

Mada Wedgworth, activity director, and her sister, Florence Singleton, spent the weekend in Sulphur, Okla., where they attended the wedding of their nephew, Larry Pipkin, to Tamara Tilley.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3225

Ellen Sanford from Dallas visited with Deanie and Richard Newman and her many other friends in the Wharton's Dock area.

Jo and Harold Boord were at their waterfront home cutting grass and visiting with friends this past weekend.

Lucy Rogers from San Antonio, Vince and Yolanda Simmons and their daughter Melanie from Edinburg and Chris and Gary Simmons from San Antonio were all visiting with Dana and Rich Simmons and Juanita Ratliff over Memorial Day weekend.

Kathleen Norwood from Arlington, the daughter of John W. and Pearl Schmidt, spent the holiday weekend with her parents and enjoyed the Sunday service at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Merle Welty and Mary Lucille from Ozona and Thelma and her son John from Kerrville were at Wharton's Dock visiting with friends over the weekend.

Charlie and Betty Highnote are here from Dallas visiting with their many friends and working on their home here. I believe Betty and Charlie will become permanent residents and not just visitors in not-too-distant future.

Bill Walker Jr. and wife and daughter Roxanne from Midland arrived Friday to visit with Bill's parents, Bill and Lena Walker, at the Walker Ranch. Roxanne was just getting over a case of chicken pox, but that did not stop grandma and grandpa from showing tender loving care.

Aubrey (Red) and Marie Drewry from Houma, La., spent the weekend with Marie and Harold Bentley. Red is Marie's brother, and he said he came for a visit, but his sister put him to work making bird feeders.

Debby and Bill Cody from Austin spent the holiday weekend with Debby's parents, Jay and Marieta Overholser.

The Havens, Phyllis, Ben and Elizabeth, were at their waterfront home cutting grass and enjoying the good weekend weather.

Dudley and Emily Blakeney of Houston drove in Saturday to bring the grandchildren, Carrie, Katey and 6-week-old Tyler, to see their grandparents, Mary and T. Blakeney. They only had one day to spend as Dudley works on Sundays as minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Spring Branch, near Houston.

Other happenings

The regular, first-Saturday-of-the-month covered-dish dinner will be held at the Copper Lantern on June 1.

The stretch and sew demonstration at the Walker Memorial Chapel was a success. A good turn-out of women from the area took this program in, and after the demonstration, they all enjoyed cookies and punch.

Roy and Wanda Lich celebrated their 15th wedding anniversary at their riverfront home at Wharton's Dock Sunday. Assisting Roy and Wanda prepare the food for the barbecue were those good cooks, Jay and Marieta Overholser.

Also joining in the celebration were Roy's daughters, Bill and Martha Nichols from Center Point, Mary and John Wells, Deanie and Richard Newman, Ellen Sanford from Dallas, Juanita Ratliff, Charlie and Betty Highnote from Dallas, Olivia Andrade and Jack Collins, Tom Andreas and Phil and Nola Bledsoe.

A general membership meeting of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department was held at the firehouse Saturday. With most people attending the Funtier Days celebration in Bandera, only a fair attendance was present. A final report was given on the fund-raising day success. The short range and long range goals of the department were discussed, with emphasis on the requirements of the state fire insurance board. The next meeting will be Aug. 31.

Church services

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services also on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

There will be a covered-dish, fellowship dinner after worship services Sunday, June 2, at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

President Alma Juenke and other officers of the Ladies Auxiliary to Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 9176 were installed recently by past president Betty Swinford. Members look on.

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 47 THURSDAY, MAY 30, 1985

Bandera County Profile/

This art dealer-cowboy loves Aggie jokes, John Wayne, his own family, wide highways and Bandera County.

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

If you call Bandera's Western Art Gallery, and a soft, graveled masculine voice answers "Bueno," you have reached Speedy Hicks. Except for a few years, Speedy has lived his entire life in Bandera.

His real name is Walton Hicks, but became Dick Walton Hicks at Texas A&M. "The Admissions Office told me I needed both a first and a middle name," Speedy said. "My brother Raymond wanted me to be 'Dick,' so I said I was 'Dick Walton Hicks.'"

He became "Speedy" when he was an undergraduate.

"Some upperclassmen told me to get the mail, and I guess I was too slow," he said. "They made me run in place real fast for a long time, and one guy called me "Speedy," and it stuck." He wouldn't elaborate, but said there were other reasons he was called "Speedy."

Speedy is quiet, dry-witted and extremely courteous. He loves Aggie jokes, John Wayne, roads, his family and Bandera. If something pleases him, like a particularly good piece of pie, he might tip his Stetson, squint his sharp grey-blue eyes and say, "Well now, that would make a monkey slap his pappy."

The names "Bandera" and "Speedy Hicks" are not entirely synonymous, but they're close. Neither would exist as they are today without the other.

Without Speedy's persistence with the highway department in the late 1940s, the highways that connect Bandera to Tarpley and Bandera to Kerrville might still be too perilous to travel except on horseback or in a wagon with a team of horses.

Highway 16 will be a divided highway all the way to San Antonio soon because Speedy and others like him have pursued it constantly with the highway department. "I've been trying to get that highway divided since I got out of the Army on Jan. 2, 1946," said Speedy with a sigh.

"Speedy was a prime mover in having the highway department authorize the improvement and reconstruction of State Highway 16," said state highway resident engineer Chuck Hackebeil.

Speedy's Scottish grandfather, Fabian Lucius Hicks, settled in Bandera in 1855 and subsequently married Hadvega Anderwald. They had 10 children, one of whom was Speedy's father, Elvious Hicks, who married Pearl Harris. They had two children, Raymond in 1912 and Speedy in 1915.

If Fabian had not left North Carolina to join Capt. Callaghan for battle in San Antonio, he would not have been able to pick the choicest piece of land and water in Bandera County (then Bexar County) for his homestead, which is now the Rio Hondo Ranch.

Speedy and his delightful wife Carmen would not have inherited Aunt Hercelia Hicks' spread (called appropriately the "HIX Ranch"), made it their home, and built it into one of the most beautiful showplace ranches in Texas.

Instead of owning the art gallery (in the old First National Bank building) and being involved in real estate development, ranching and nursing homes in Bandera, Speedy would no doubt be a gentleman farmer raising tobacco in North Carolina and cursing those who smoked it.

His legs would be a little less bowed and he might be wearing a Brooks Brothers suit instead of boots and Levis.

His friends are many and his detractors, though present, are few and he is slow to toot his horn.

Mayor Bob Cowan has his office in the art gallery building. He admittedly loves Speedy like a big brother and treasures his friendship. One of his favorite "Speedyisms" is, "Now you're goin' to school!" "Meaning," said Cowan, "now you're learning the hard way. If I've heard it once, I've heard it a hundred times."

While Speedy is seldom without a smile or a mischievous glint in his eyes, his mouth straightens and he becomes quite serious when he talks about two things, Bandera roads and the demise in 1955 of the old annual Bandera Stompede.

The Stompedes began in the summer of 1949 or 1950. The idea was to get tourist trade into Bandera. "But," Speedy said, raising a white eyebrow, "good roads out of Bandera also meant good roads into Bandera. Forty thousand people showed up for the first Stompede. Cars were piled up all the way back to and around Mansfield Park." It became like an old, wild West Texas town.

"It was supposed to be a lot of fun for everyone, but ended up being nothing but a drunken brawl. The sheriff was the only law we had, and he was an alcoholic. One year he wasn't even here-he was away somewhere taking 'the cure.' That year, somebody threw a preacher through a window at the Frontier Hotel," Hicks said.

There was no respect for private property and people committed what should have been very personal and intimate acts outside and in full view of everyone.

Along with other alarmed citizens, Speedy campaigned against the stompedes and the sheriff. "Finally the people woke up and voted the sheriff out," said Speedy, still aggravated. "I think it was 1955 that Bryan Miller became sheriff. The first afternoon of the stompedes he jailed 144 people, and that was the end of the stompedes."

Speedy was raised with a respect for law and order. His grandfather Fabian was justice of the peace and sheriff of Bandera County in 1860; and his father was the sheriff in 1931.

Speedy was 16 when his father was gunned down.

After Speedy graduated from high school in 1933, he spent a year working on the ranch, running hounds, doctoring cattle for screwworms and rodeoing.

"One time," he said, "I rode 65 miles on horseback to a rodeo in Sabinal. It took one day and one night. I used the same horse for the rodeo, didn't win a thing, and turned around and rode the 65 miles back."

He can still throw a pretty mean rope. Sometimes he gets his rope out in his office and tests his skill on various pieces of sculpture, unsuspecting customers or visitors. "He wasn't always like that," said his brother Raymond.

Speedy Hicks: "Forty thousand people showed up for the first Stompede.... It was supposed to be a lot of fun for everyone, but ended up being nothing but a drunken brawl....One year, somebody threw a preacher through a window at the Frontier Hotel.

"Finally the people woke up and voted the sheriff out...The first afternoon of the stompede (the new sheriff) jailed 144 people, and that was the end of the stompedes."

"He's calmed down a lot."

In 1934 Speedy entered Texas A&M. He quickly discovered polo. "Polo is thrilling," he said, grinning broadly. "It's the most fun I ever had in my life. I'm wreckless on a horse — can't help it, I was raised on one. I'm sorry my kids and grandkids weren't raised like I was."

In 1937 Speedy won the university's "Best All Around Cowboy" award. He received his agricultural degree in 1938 and took a job as assistant county agent in Floresville.

It was there that he met County Clerk Connally's lovely brown-eyed daughter Carmen. "I bumped into her several times, on purpose," said Speedy lovingly. "She was the 'belle of the ball.'" They were married in Carmen's parent's ranch home in 1940.

Although Carmen Hicks is Speedy's wife and John Connally's sister, her main claim to fame is that she is herself. Her warm smile and pleasant manner can put the most nervous of visitors at ease in her home.

She is the only female member of the Bandera River Authority and is president of the Frontier Times Museum board of trustees. She is also very proud of her position as chairman of Bandera County's Sesquicentennial Committee.

After their marriage, Speedy and Carmen moved to Bracketville, where Speedy was county agricultural agent for almost three years. "It was a good feeling to be my own boss," he said.

Along came World War II, and in 1943 Speedy joined the Cavalry in Brackettville. "We had 10,000 horses. They trained us just like we were going to fight Indians," he said. He spent a few years as a captain in North Africa and Italy, where he received replacements, trained them and sent them on.

After the war, Speedy returned to Bandera, where he was in charge of Bandera County's veterans schools until he got into the ranching business permanently in 1952. He said, "The seven-year drought and I started out together."

Carmen stayed busy taking care of their growing family on Aunt Hercelia's ranch in a tiny, two-room square house, to which they added a kitchen. Their spring went dry for the first time in 100 years. They fed the cattle ground-up corn cobs. "It was like sacking popcorn," Speedy said.

Over the years, they have had four children (Jeanine, Charmen, Dick Jr. and David), and three grandchildren (Amanda, Laurel and Cathleen).

The family gathers at the HIX Ranch whenever it can. The ranch has won an award from the San Antonio Conservation Society and also bears a State of Texas Historical Marker.

In their backyard is a cottonwood tree which is the largest in Texas.

Light, family photos, warm and comfortable furnishings, and excellent artwork are the focal points of their home. Speedy gets attached to the gallery's best pieces of art and sculpture and buys them for the ranch.

Someday Speedy would like to see his art gallery become one of the more successful ones in Texas. But then, he'd have to give up buying the better pieces for himself. He would have to behave himself, and stop roping the customers.

Now, wouldn't that make a monkey slap his pappy!

June 2-8 designated Safe Boating Week

Gov. Mark White has proclaimed June 2-8 as Texas Safe Boating week.

In a ceremony at the state capitol, Gov. White joined with representatives of boating industry, service and safety organizations to draw attention to the need for boaters to have required safety equipment on board and to act courteously and responsibly on the water.

Boating fatalities in Texas last year dropped 30 percent from the previous year, according to Texas Parks & Wildlife figures, and the U.S. Coast Guard reported boating deaths nationwide hit a record low in 1984.

One person drowned in Lake Medina last year and three persons drowned in 1983. No fatalities have been reported during 1985.

With more than 600,000 registered boat owners, Texas ranks as the third largest boating state in the country.

"Boating is one of the most popular forms of family outdoor recreation and we want to make sure it is enjoyable for everyone," said Pat Helton, president of the Boating Trades Association of Texas. "By reminding boaters to check safety equipment, understand and follow the rules of the road and to act safely and responsibly while behind the wheel, we can insure that Texans can more thoroughly enjoy our vast water resources."

Groups represented at the ceremony were the Boating Trades Association of Texas, Marina Association of Texas, Texas Parks & Wildlife Department, Texas Safety Association, U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and U.S. Power Squadrons. Information and courses on proper boat operation and safety requirements are available from these and other sources.

The Boating Trades Association of Texas is a statewide organization of retailers, manufacturers, distributors and others involved in the marine industry. BTAT strongly supports educational programs which enhance the pleasures and safety of recreational boating.

Mrs. Langford honored

Rebecca Langford and her daughter visited relatives in Crockett and Kennard this past weekend.

Mrs. Langford was honored with a covered-dish luncheon at the Center Hill Methodist Church, which she attended as a child.

She visited with five first cousins and other friends and relatives.

-Worth noting

The Inter-District Task Force on Child Abuse will meet Thursday, May 30, at 2 p.m. in the Alamo Area Council of Governments Conference Room 420, 118 Broadway, San Antonio.

Joyce Dorrycott of the District Attorney's Office will present a legislative update.

Items for discussion include chile abuse pamphlets for school personnel, immunity and liability surrounding release of school enrollment information for DHR investigations, TEA requirements for District Liaison Officer for court related children, and planning for the '85-'86 school year.

A reception of appreciation for task force members, committee, members, and area superintendents will follow the meeting.

Curator to lecture

An illustrated lecture, entitled "The Academy and Modernism–Pluralism or Polarity," will take place at the San Antonio Museum of Art Saturday, June 1, at 2:00 p.m., in conjunction with the current exhibition, "The Grand Prix de Rome: Paintings from the Ecole des Beaux-Arts 1797-1863."

Scouts invited to day camp

Cub Scouts and other boys ages 8 to 10 years residing in Bandera County and other parts of the Hill Country District are urged to attend day camp at Mooney Park in Kerrville. Sessions are from 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m., June 3, 4 and 5.

"Bring a sack lunch," says Joe Sweeney, public relations representative. "Drinks are furnished."

June 6 is a special session from noon to 9 p.m. with a family — "bring your own supper" — picnic at 6:30 p.m. followed by the 7:30 p.m. building and consuming of a 100-foot banana split, Sweeney said.

A camping fee of $20 is required. "It entitles each boy to a T-shirt, cup, special Scout patch, tote bag, numerous crafts, and lots of fun," Sweeney said.

Stokes recognized

Mary Sue Suttles Tajan Stokes has been presented a citation from the Texas Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution for 30 years of service.

The citation was presented by state regent Nancy R. Tiner and Peggy Tobin, chapter regent.

In Utah

Theresa L. Ventura, daughter of Phillip W. Bledsoe of Rural Route 1, Bandera, has arrived for duty at Hill Air Base, Utah.

Ventura, an airframe repair specialist with the 2952nd Combat Logistics Support Squadron, was previously assigned in Spain.

Her husband, Al, is the son of David Ventura of 301 Illg, San Antonio, Texas.

She is a 1979 graduate of John Jay High School, San Antonio.

Artists seminar set for June 7

A seminar for professional artists, "Your Artwork in the Marketplace: Making a Living," will be offered June 7 and 8 at the Hill Country Arts Foundation in Ingram.

Seminar leaders Cheryl W. West and Sybil L. Craig will advise artists on such topics as programming for success as an exhibiting artist, promoting the artist and his work, finding the right market, the 'ins and outs' of selling, working with a gallery, sound business practices and record keeping, and art as an investment. One session will be set aside for the artists to share ideas, strategies and techniques.

Friday's session will begin at 7:30 p.m. and end at 10 p.m.; Saturday the class will start at 8:30 a.m., break for a lunch hour at 11:30 and continue until 4 p.m.

Shana Sill elected

Shana Sill was elected president of the Medina High School chapter of Future Farmers of America Tuesday and Kristina Ashley was elected vice president.

Other officers include Gus Ortega, secretary; Cammie Burger, treasurer; Ernest Faris, reporter; Lealan Freeman, sentinel; and James Parker, advisor.

Vacation Bible School

The Medina United Methodist Church will sponsor vacation church school June 1-14 from 9 a.m. until 11 a.m.

The theme of the session will be "Living Together in Peace," and in addition to Bible study there will be handicrafts, games and refreshments. Youths of all ages are welcome, a spokesman said.

Family gathering

A family get-together at the home of L.G. and Bobbie Keese was held Sunday night while Linden and Brandon were here. Others of the family there were Tootie, Richard, Kay, Rick and William Mayfield; Chris and Darla Keese; Ellen Walker; Mary Kuhle of Seguin; Linden and Stella Wheeler; Jim and Eva Grace Keese, Eldon of Austin and Carl Walker. Brandon returned home to Garland on Monday.

Birthday celebration

John and Dora Lowe Jr. had a birthday celebration at their place on May 8 for Mrs. John Lowe Sr. and her granddaughter, Jada.

Others helping to celebrate were John and Dora's daughter Jaye and husband, Harry Fleming of Kerrville, daughter Joan and husband, Paul Holmes, their son Ken, all of San Antonio, and Miss Jill Thompson, a friend of Jada Holmes.

Beware of rattlesnakes

Andy Whitley says to watch out for rattlesnakes. He has killed two in less than a month. One was almost 6 feet long and had 12 rattles and the other had nine rattles and was a 4 footer.

Out of town visiting

Ruth and Andy Whitley and Naomi Carlson visited with Enid and Herbert Swartzman in Pleasanton.

Other visitors in the Swartzman home were Eunice and Russell Cooney of Colorado and Walter Reichert of Jourdanton.

Buddy and Elayne Mills spent the long weekend in San Antonio, visiting with Buddy's parents, Leon and Doris Mills.

New baby

Robert and Sheila McBride of San Antonio are the proud parents of a daughter, Cassandra Marie, born May 13.

Paternal grandparents are Bob and Claudia (Irby) McBride. Ruth Whitley is great-grandmother.

Visitors

Naomi Carlson of San Antonio spent the past ten days visiting in the Andy Whitley home.

Mary Kuhle of Seguin was here over the long weekend visiting with Ellen Walker and took in the dance Saturday night.

Linden Mayfield of Del Rio and son Brandon who has been visiting his dad for two weeks, were here over the weekend visiting their family, Tootie Mayfield, the Richard Mayfield and the L.G. Keese family. Brandon will return to Garland Monday.

Florence and Don Schulenberg of San Antonio visiting the Andy Whitley's last week to celebrate Ruth's birthday. Florence is Ruth's sister.

Methodists honor grads

The Medina United Methodist Church honored their high school seniors Sunday with a covered-dish lunch and presented each with a Bible from the church.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

It was a lovely Memorial weekend with sunshine for a change.

Marble Falls visitors

It was reported Jim and Joy Frear came in Saturday for the Rio Hondo property and homeowners annual picnic at the park. We're glad to say Jim is doing real well after his serious illness sometime ago and looks great.

Guests

The Earl Hoods enjoyed having their daughter and husband, Edna and Ray Cheatham of Kingsland, over the weekend.

Abilene guests

Elzie and Nettie Dean had as guests over Memorial weekend their son and family, Dr. and Mrs. M.L. "Larry" Dean and children, Sara and Michael. Sara and Mike stayed over for the week.

Other guests Sunday were Marie and Donnie Newcomb and children, Molly and Jonathan, of San Antonio.

Church news

Guests at Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday were Dolly Karr of Pipe Creek and Linda Karr of San Antonio; Dr. and Mrs. M.L. Dean and Sara and Michael.

Bro. and Mrs. Jerry Jones left on a week's vacation to visit their son, Johnny, and Sharon Jones at Talco. Jerry and LuAnn are celebrating their 30th wedding anniversary this week and LuAnn's birthday.

The Rio Hondo Property Owners Association held its annual meeting and pot-luck dinner Saturday at the subdivision park.

The function was attended by 65 members and guests. Milton Hausmann conducted the meeting in the absence of B.V. Duclos, chairman of the group's board.

Officers elected by board members to serve for one year beginning July 1 were Milton Hausmann, president; Tom Hall, vice-president; Margaret Cain, secretary; and Helen Bryant, treasurer. Earl Hood will serve as chairman of Planning and Development.

Kay Strand's invocation included a reminder of the meaning of Memorial Day and a prayer to honor those who died in the service of this country. He then led the group in reciting the pledge of allegiance to the flag.

"Everyone enjoyed the fellowship and the pot luck dinner which closed the annual get-together," said spokeswoman Margaret Cain.

Ranch management tips to be Roundup topic

In most cases, ranching has had to move from being a way of life, into a business that has a very pleasant way of life. The rancher or ranch manager is no longer able to decide what he wants to do that day over his first cup of coffee. Instead, he must carefully plan his activities, schedule his time and manage his ranch business in order to survive in today's world of unstable markets, changing regulations and fickle whims of the general public. Many things have changed since the day of decisions over that first cup of coffee.

The 1985 International Ranchers Roundup (IRR) is a good chance for some ranchers and managers to pick up some of the tips on managing the ranch business. This year the IRR will be held on July 29 through Aug. 2 at the Laredo Civic Center in Laredo, Tex.

The IRR has pulled together an outstanding group of nationally known speakers who are specialists in their field. Sessions will cover topics on cow/calf production, stocker cattle operations, wildlife management, water conservation and use, the ranch family and ranch business management. A tour of Mexican and Texas ranching operations is also scheduled.

The cost of registration is $225 per individual and $100 per spouse in Laredo. Pre-registration costs are $165 per individual and $60 per spouse. The registration fee covers four luncheons, a "Night in Mexico," hospitality hours and the proceedings of the presentations. Excellent accommodations are also available

BACKACHE!

QUESTIONS:	YES	NO
1. Do you suffer from stiffness or pain in the lower back?
2. Do you have frequent numbness in the arms, hands, or legs?
3. Do you sometimes have stiffness in the neck or pain between the shoulders?
4. Do you often have strained muscles?
5. Do you allow yourself to get and stay "tied up in knots"?
6. Do you maintain poor posture?
7. Do the stresses and strains of day-to-day living cause you back pain?
8. Do you suffer from tingling, tightness, hot spots, or cold spots in various parts of the body?
9. Do you have arthritis or painful joints?
10. Have you bent over to retrieve an object from the floor and been unable to straighten up again?

If your answer is YES, then you could be suffering needlessly from Backache. All the above are symptoms of Backache, but are also common to other disease conditions.

Everyone knows that when a nerve is cut or pinched, something stops... whatever organ, gland, or tissue is at the end of the pinched nerve will fail to function, just as flipping a switch will turn off the lights. Your Doctor or Chiropractic is eminently qualified in this area: the spine and nerves are his or her specialty.

If you have any of the symptoms listed above, a chiropractic spine and nerve test is advisable immediately to determine where the problem lies.

Roan Gardner

Roan Tyree Gardner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gardner. His main goal in life is to be successful.

Roan feels that athletics has played the greatest influence upon his life up to this point. If Roan could relive his school years, he would try to study harder and make better grades.

After graduation, Roan plans to work for a few months and then go to college.

Roan has been quite involved in athletics throughout his high school years. He has been in football for four years and varsity track for two years.

At the Junior-Senior Prom, Roan was presented with the Wittiest Award. He was nominated by members of the senior class of 1985. —Melissa Ross

Kelly Kindla

Kelly Ann Kindla has attended Bandera schools all 12 years and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred F. Kindla.

Kelly's main goal in life is to attend college and study to be a legal secretary.

She feels her friends, family, cowboys and PRCA rodeos have influenced her life the most up to this point.

If she could do something different with her school years, Kelly says she would have been born a year earlier so she could have graduated with her best friend, Vicki Bates.

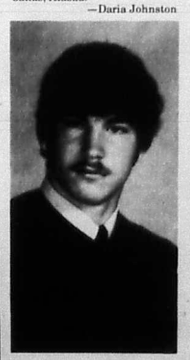

Kelly's favorite quote is, "There's nothing better than a cowboy who looks like George Strait! Cowboys make the difference!"

She plans to attend Southwest Texas Junior College in Uvalde. After finishing there, she plans to transfer to Sul Ross University.

Kelly has been very involved in many activities and clubs during her high school years. She was involved in ALS, in which she was president her senior year; OEA she attended Area contest in Corpus Christi her junior year and was elected president her senior year; Catholic Youth Organization as reporter, 4-H as reporter her junior year, treasurer her senior year and annual participant in the stock show and bake show; concert band all four years, marching band one year, twirled three years, and was feature twirler one year.

Kelly has high hopes for the future and would like, someday, to return to her birthplace of Fairbanks, Alaska.

—Daria Johnston

Wayne Peck

Wayne Cody Peck is a friendly, familiar face at BHS. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jud Ashmore of Lakehills.

Wayne's main goal in life is to be a success at everything he undertakes and he plans to make this goal a reality. He credits his coaches and parents with influencing his life up to this point. Even though he plans to work hard in life, Wayne says if he could relive his school years he would study just as hard... but have a lot more fun!

His favorite quote, "Never be afraid to strike out," has apparently had its affect on Wayne. He competed for and won an appointment to West Point, beating over 1,500 other applicants. Wayne's plans after BHS are four years at West Point and five years mandatory service in the army.

During his high school years Wayne was involved in ALS, Newspaper and Annual staff, played football all four years, was a two year letterman, named to all-district first team unanimous choice defensive tackle, and participated in track two years.

Wayne has a bright future in front of him and the ambition to be a success. —Daria Johnston

Catherine Caruthers

Catherine Caruthers, Abe Caruthers and Laura Montague's daughter, has participated in Future Farmers of America all four years, while being active in the Rodeo Club her freshman and sophomore years and FHA and VOCCT her final year at BHS.

—Daniel Potts

Ann Anderson

"Never give up until the end." This is a quote upon which Anne-Marie Anderson chooses to live her life.

Anne-Marie, also known as Ann, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Anderson and has attended Bandera schools for all 12 years.

If she was given the chance to relive her school years, Ann said that she would liked to have been involved in more activities and studied harder.

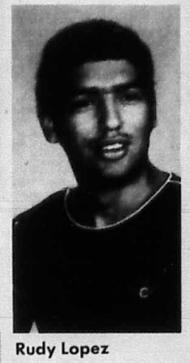

To be successful is the goal that Ann has set for herself, and she plans to reach this goal by doing her best at whatever she does.

When asked who or what she felt has played the greatest influence upon her life, Ann replied, "My family and friends, definitely, because they've always been there for me when I needed them."

Throughout her years of high school, Ann has been involved in many activities. She has been in ALS, drama, and OEA her junior and senior years, and FHA her freshman and senior years. In OEA, she has gone to area contest her junior and senior years and this year she placed fifth. She also serves as parliamentarian of OEA.

After leaving BHS, Ann plans to work and go to college.

—Jana Camp

Rudy Lopez

Rudy Lopez, Mr. and Mrs. Arcadio Lopez's son, has played football three of his high school years, and has been active in Future Homemakers of America for two years.

—Daniel Potts

Denise Moore

Denise Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Moore, has participated in choir at her previous school as well as VOE her junior and senior years. —Daniel Potts

Lucy Fernandez

Lucy Fernandez, wife of Pete Fernandez, moved here her final year of high school from Hondo.

—Daniel Potts

Gina Lynn Reagan

"Do unto others as you would have them do unto you," is the quote that Gina Lynn Reagan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Reagan, chooses to base her life on.

Although Gina has not attended all 12 years here at BHS, she has definitely made an impression in high school with her warm personality and cheerful smile. Gina feels that the greatest influence in her life has been her mother. She says her mother has helped her through the good times and the bad. She stated, "I really love her for it and I wouldn't trade her for anyone in this world."

Gina's main goal in life after leaving BHS includes going to a nursing school after graduation and starting her nursing career. She stated, "I want to be the very best that I can be."

Throughout her high school years Gina has participated in basketball her freshman and sophomore years, was in FHA for one year in Crawford High School, and OEA her senior year here at BHS.

When asked if she could live her high school years over what would she do, she said, "I would have tried harder at making better grades."

—Randy McHaney

Tracey Ruth Hicks

Tracey Ruth Parkinson Hicks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Hicks, tries to live her life by the quote, "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you."

She has attended Bandera schools for 12 years, and if given the chance to relive her school days she would like to study harder and be more active in school activities.

During high school Tracey has been a member of FHA, VOE (vocational office education), and participated in track, baseball, and volleyball.

Tracey feel that up to this point in her life her brother T.J. has impressed and influenced her life the most. "He has taught me to take a lot of responsibility and I look up to him," says Tracey.

After graduation, she plans to continue working at the Mayan Ranch where she lives. Later, Tracey would like to study nursing and eventually work in a hospital.

Lonnie Bain

Lonnie Bain won the award as cutest boy in the class of 1985, and he is definitely that. He always has a smile on his face. Lonnie William Bain, also known as Scooter, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Frizzell.

Lonnie has attended Bandera schools beginning in the seventh grade. While attending BHS he has been very active. Athletics took up much of Lonnie's time

Band members participate in Magic Time Machine orgy

By Daria Johnston

Band members were treated to a night out last week by the Band Boosters Club. Students voted on going to the "Magic Time Machine" over going to Schlitterbahn.

A "Roman orgy" was enjoyed by teachers and students alike. The meal consisted of two kinds of meat, two kinds of vegetables, and bread. This was an all-you-can-eat meal. Afterwards students who were still hungry consumed desserts such as the "Banana Split Monstrosity" and chocolate cake, ice cream and cheesecake.

Waiters and waitresses were dressed in costumes representing Cleopatra, Ali Baba, Charlie Chaplin, Shazam, an Astros baseball player, the Big Bad Wolf, a gypsy, and many others.

The restaurant was decorated with mirrors and enclosed booths in some parts and has a salad bar built into an old car.

After three hours and much food, fun and laughs, students boarded the buses for home, many wearing buttons they had bought that proclaimed, "I had a Roman orgy at the Time Machine!"

A "magical" time was enjoyed by all. Commented one student, "I wish we could make this a yearly event." Thanks and appreciation go to the Band Boosters for all their effort in making the trip possible.

Critic reveals his choices

By Shane Yates

Well, this is it -what all you music fans have been waiting for: The Critic's Choice Awards (my choices). Artists, be prepared to claim your newly titled Whammy award. Winners are picked from about September 1983 to present.

The best male vocalist-Phil Collins. Best female vocalist-Cyndi Lauper. The best group is-The Police.

The best single-"I'm On Fire" by Bruce Springsteen. The best album is Heartbeat City by the Cars. The best new group is Frankie Goes to Hollywood.

OK, so there are the regular picks for the Whammy awards; now here are the more unorthodox picks:

For the most striking album cover there is a tie: U2's "Unforgettable Fire" and Ultravox's "Quartet." The pick for the worst album cover would have to be Roger Wakers' "The Pros and Cons of Hitchhiking."

The award for the most unusual name of a group goes to Bandits at 4 o'clock, Chinese Gangster Element, and Gay Cowboys in Bondage. (Actually there were some I thought more unusual, but I could not mention them in this column.)

The most unusual song award goes to "The Bushes Scream When My Daddy Prunes" by the Very Things. And the most unusual album title goes to "Mating Sounds of South American Frogs" by Peter and the Test Tube Babies.

The biggest comeback would have to be Yes with their "90125," and the biggest breakup would be Altered Images. The most disappointing award goes to Men at Work for their flop of a second album "Cargo."

Well, those are my picks; if you don't agree that's your choice, but let there be music anyway.

Drum major, flag corps tryouts

Jake Frazier is the newly appointed Drum Major for 1985-86, and 10 girls were selected for Flag Corps during tryouts Wednesday.

Selected for the Flag Corps were Captains Janet Weber and Melissa Ross, Shaylyn Sides, Wendy Lindley, Jamie Whitney, Donna Ross, Karen Edwards, Barbara Snow, Julie Hearn and Jevonne Mayer.

Both Drum Major and Flag Corps will be seen at every football game next year. The Flag Corps will begin practice in July or August. They will once again be under the direction of Mrs. Jodi Holen. —Melissa Ross while he played football all four years and lettered in it. He also ran track for one year. The clubs Lonnie was in were FFA and FHA his freshman, sophomore and senior years.

Lonnie's main goal in life is to put God first in life and try his best to do His will. After leaving BHS Lonnie plans to attend college and study Business Administration. Lonnie stated that he would not want to relive his high school days; he is satisfied with them. Lonnie chose Christ as the one who has been the greatest influence upon his life.

A quote Lonnie would like to base his life upon is, "I accept no limits." —Cindy Park

—Briefly noted—

The 1985 Extension Homemaker Club's 4-H Scholarship will go to Rebecca Blakemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Blakemore of Pipe Creek.

Each year the EH clubs recognize one graduating senior with a $100 scholarship. "Becky has been in 4-H for the past nine years and has remained active in her 4-H work," said extension agent Peggy Edwards. "She carried many different projects during these years and has been involved in a variety of camp activities and so on. Her leadership in foods and clothing project groups as well as general 4-H work has made her one of the county's most outstanding 4-Hers."

EH clubs want all 4-H youth to know they are for them and they encourage older youth to stay active and show the younger ones the way, Edwards said. "Providing the $100 scholarship annually is their way of saying 'hang in there kid'," she said.

Rebecca Blakemore gets scholarship money.

'Music Man' to be presented

The musical, "The Music Man," by Meredith Willson, opens June 1 at the Uvalde Grand Opera House, and runs concurrently with the annual Cactus Jack Days, a three-day festival honoring Uvalde's favorite son, former vice-president, John N. "Cactus Jack" Garner.

With a cast of 100 area residents, "Music Man" will run for five performances, June 1, 2, 6, 7, and 8, with a "first nighter" party at the Uvalde County Club after the premiere on Saturday, June 1.

The play won the Tony award and the Drama Critics' Circle award as "best musical." It is directed by Fred Brockwell of Del Rio, with David Hawley, also of the border city, as choral director, and Jeff Troxler, San Antonio, orchestra director.

The play is a co-production of Uvalde Area Community Theatre and Southwest Texas Junior College. Tickets at $7.50 each are now on sale at the Opera House Box Office and may be reserved by calling 1-278-4082, Tuesday-Friday, 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Saturdays, 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Tickets to the "first nighter" party are also on sale for $5.00 each and may be reserved at the box office.

Photo workshop

"Photographing What You See/ Seeing What You Photograph," a two-day workshop sponsored by the Hill County Arts Foundation, has been scheduled June 15 and 16. Award-winning photographer Diane Hopkins Hughs, a former Kerrville resident, will lead the class.

According to Hughs, the workshop is designed to assist participants in developing a personal and artistic vision. Design and the fine points of composition will be emphasized.

Participants are asked to bring slides or prints for individual critique and class discussions. Guidelines for the critique of a photograph will be discussed.

"A one-day field trip will enable participants to explore ideas gained during critique and discussion and to gain insight into their intent with the camera," says Hughs.

Round dancing lessons offered

The Cowboy Capital Squares are now offering round dance lessons on the first and third Mondays of each month from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at the First National Bank Board Room.

Round dancing is a couple dance to choreographed music similar to ballroom. As each season is taught, couples will progress to two-step, fox trot, waltz, cha cha, rumba and tango rythm.

Couples of all ages are welcome to attend. Paul and June Westmeyer are the instructors.

4,500 year old artifact discovered in county

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Archeologists Tuesday discovered a dart point in eastern Bandera County that was used by Indians some 4,500 years ago.

The discovery, apparently the earliest evidence of prehistoric life ever found in Bandera County, was made as archeology students from The University of Texas at San Antonio began a five-week project to excavate a site of pre-historic Indian activity discovered by a subdivision developer.

The dart point discovered Tuesday came from a site that lay beneath another site of a different kind of Indian activity. Only minutes before the discovery, the director of the archeological dig had predicted that some earlier activity might be discovered.

"Probably below this site there is evidence of even earlier occupation," Dr. Thomas R. Hester told a reporter. "That's typical."

Then student George Deaton cried out over the discovery of a different kind of flint point. Dr. Hester quickly identified it as a LaJita dart point of a type discovered previously in the Uvalde area and radio-carbon dated to 3000 to 2000 BC.

The site of the archelogical interest is in an undeveloped portion of Oak Country subdivision east of Pipe Creek off State Highway 16.

Workers at the subdivision found several artifacts near a large mound on the property that is being developed and reported them to Dr. Hester, the director of the Center for Archaeological Research at UTSA.

He visited the site and quickly scheduled his archaeological field course there to enable the scientists to study the site before it is destroyed by the building of a home on it.

Sites similar to this one are common in Central Texas, "there are thousands of them," Dr. Hester says, and they are important scientifically because archaeologists still do not know exactly what they were used for.

"These sites are a real enigma to Texas archaeologists. We still aren't sure what they are....They have to do with cooking or processing food in some way, probably acorns or pecans. Why did they pile up these mounds? We just don't know."

—Dr. Thomas R. Hester

"These sites are a real enigma to Texas archaeologists," Dr. Hester admits. "We still aren't sure what they are. We do know they were associated with a large camp of hunting and gathering Indians that lived 1,000 years to 2,000 years before Christ.

"They have to do with the cooking or processing of food in some way, probably acorns or pecans, but they don't reveal any clear pattern," the scientist said.

"Why," Dr. Hester asks, "at this particular site, for example, did they gather and pile up these mounds?

"We just don't know."

The archaeologist called the site a "burned rock midden," and it contains hundreds of pieces of broken and charred rock apparently discarded to create a huge mound.

A relatively flat, open area between the mound and a nearby creek was the area where the Indians apparently camped, Dr. Hester believes. It is in the camping area that most of the scientifically-important artifacts will be discovered, he said.

The site is behind a locked gate in an undeveloped portion of Oak Country, and visitors will not be permitted during the scientific examination being performed by Dr. Hester's students.

A total of 29 students will be digging daily at the site for about five weeks. Dr. Hester said he hopes the developer will permit an "open house" at the site when the scientific investigation is complete so that the public may view the find.

A spokesman for Oak Country tentatively OKed that idea and said further that an attempt will be made to designate artifacts discovered at the site to be displayed permanently at the Frontier Times Museum in Bandera.

Six of the students working on the project are graduate students, and Dr. Hester said one or two are considering making the study going on here topics for master's theses.

The surface site under investigation is similar to a 2,000-year-old Indian campsite discovered by highway builders renovating State Highway 16 last fall. That site, which is in Medina County, was much smaller and did not contain a mound.

Highway department archaeologists studied that site and declared it to be a campsite of about an acre in size that was periodically occupied by about 40 wandering men, women and children.

No human bones were found at the site, but archaeologists dug out dart points, grinding stones, scrapers, knives, slate jewelry and animal bones.

The discovery Tuesday of a LaJita dart point at the Bandera County site points up a major difference between this site and the Medina County site excavated last fall. That site contained no evidence of earlier human habitation.

Booth spaces being offered for Night in old Bandera

Bandera County's "Night in Old Bandera," sponsored by the Bandera County Sesquicentennial Committee, will kick off at 1 p.m., Saturday, June 22, in downtown Bandera and the committee is offering booth spaces to Bandera County clubs, organizations, churches and individuals who are interested in raising money for their own interests.

Booths are needed for food, drinks, arts and crafts, games or whatever you fancy. Fee for each booth is $25 and arrangements for electricity can be made for an additional $5/ per booth, said Karoline Moreland, booth chairman. Fees must be paid in advance, and spaces will be reserved on a first come first serve basis.

Entertainment will include street dancing, music, an auction, games, historical displays and various exhibits as well as special entertainment for the kids.

The celebration will serve to raise funds and create interest in our Texas Sesquicentennial celebration to be held in 1986.

You are invited and urged to participate by calling one of the following: Karoline Moreland, booth chairman, 796-8454 or 562-3419; Carmen Hicks, sesquicentennial chairman, 796-4430; Jean Young, secretary, 796-3121; Jack Frazier, chairman, Night in Old Bandera, 796-3429; or Elizabeth James, 796-4573.

Former chamber of commerce president Jack Frazier is general chairman of the event and may be reached at 796-3429. Other committee members include Carmen Hicks, county sesquicentennial chairman; Jean Young, secretary; Karoline Moreland and Elizabeth James.

No divided highway yet

Traffic on State Highway 16 between San Antonio and Bandera will have to double before the highway department will even begin considering making it a four-lane, divided highway, a highway spokesman said this week.

Some Bandera persons had reported that traffic had reached a point that the department was planning to divide the road soon. Not so, says the highway department's resident engineer, Chuck Hackebiel of Hondo.

"Unless things change rapidly, there is not a need for a divided highway at this time," Hackebiel said. "The present highway is adequate for the next few years."

He said the latest traffic counts available to the department were made in 1983, and counts at four sites on the road ranged between 2,100 and 3,300 vehicles per day.

"When traffic starts generating between 6,000 and 7,000 (vehicles) per day on a two-lane highway, we begin to analyze the possibility of dividing," Hackebiel told the Bulletin Wednesday.

He said other factors go into making such a decision also, including the number of accidents and the terrain. He also said a new traffic count is due to be made, but he doesn't expect it to reach the 6,000-mark.

"We're not on the drawing board today with a divided highway," Hackebiel said, but he pointed out that the right-of-way for a divided road has been purchased and the highway agency could move quickly when a divided-highway decision is made.

The highway engineer said traffic counts are made at four sites on the highway, including a spot just on the San Antonio side of the junction with Park Road 37, a point just on the other side of the Park Road 37 junction, a point just north of the junction with Highway 46, and a location just outside the city limits of Bandera.

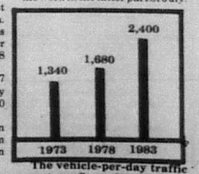

Traffic east of Park Road 37 has increased from 1,440 vehicles per day in 1973 to 1,730 per day in 1978 and to 2,600 per day in 1983.

Traffic west of Park Road 37 has increased from 1,010 per day in 1973 to 1,460 in 1978 and 2,100 in 1983.

At Highway 46, the traffic on Highway 16 has increased from 1,340 per day in 1973 to 1,680 in 1978 and 2,400 in 1983.

At Bandera, traffic has increased from 1,940 in 1973 to 2,770 in 1978 and 3,300 in 1983.

Meanwhile, Hackebiel says construction on the final two miles of the road in Medina County has been going "pretty much according to schedule," and he still anticipates completion of the work in the latter part of July.

Studying the Past for the Sake of the Future

Freedoms Foundation Features

We, as a nation, are currently caught up in a burst of zeal for educational reform. This has been the case since the publication, a little more than two years ago, of A Nation at Risk, the widely-noted report of the National Commission on Excellence in Education. The Commission's stated concern with a "rising tide of mediocrity" was the catalyst for a number of actions and proposals designed to improve the product of our educational system.

Secretary of Education William Bennett is, for a number of reasons, deeply concerned with the direction and shape of educational reform. In a recent address to the Conference on Civic Virtue and Educational Excellence, sponsored by the Ethics and Public Policy Center, Secretary Bennett called for an "Intellectual Initiative," at the core of which "lies an enhanced appreciation for the role and value of the study of history." Why the emphasis on the study of history?

Democracy is a unique form of government. Like some delicate plant, it requires constant care and attention in order to flourish and grow. Because democracy is government of, by and for the people, that support must come from the citizens in the form of confidence in the inherent virtue of the system.

Yet, the respected philosopher Sidney Hook has observed "that faith and belief in the principles of liberal democracy have declined in the United States. Unless that faith and that belief can be restored and revivified, liberal democracy will perish." Professor Hook is not alone in this opinion. Eminent political philosophers both in this country and in western Europe have come to the same disturbing conclusion.

The erosion of "faith and belief" is particularly evident in America's young people. It is reflected not only in a failure to understand the basic mechanics of our system of government, but also in a failure, in Bennett's words, to "know the long procession of events that gave rise to modern democracy."

Secretary Bennett believes that a significant portion of the blame for this state of affairs rests with the educational system. He asserts, "After all, one of the tasks of a school system – indeed, the primordial task of any school system – is the transmission of social and political values."

The reasons for our past failures in this area are numerous and complex, but the current interest in educational reform provides an invaluable opportunity to reverse course. A renewed emphasis on the teaching of history is a way to begin to restore to the American educational process the important function of transmitting this nation's precious heritage to rising generations.

History is more than a record of past events. As Bennett stated, "history is organized memory, and memory, in turn, is the glue which holds our political community together." This nation did not just happen. It was created with a vision, a purpose, in mind. Through the study of history, we acquaint ourselves with those ideals, the times we have met them and the times we have fallen short of them.

History is also a method of intellectual inquiry which helps us to a determination of the truth.

Don't let it

Dear editor:

I would like to extend my invitation to Bandera City Council to meet with the Virginia Beach City Council and learn from their mistakes in the area of uncontrolled and unplanned growth. Don't let it happen in Bandera.

Future interest

Dear editor:

Last week's article in the Bulletin headed, "PUC May Reduce Rates Co-op Charges Its Customers," stated that the Bandera Co-op was not among several LCRA Wholesale Customers who protested the $35.1 million rate increase requested by the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA). I wish to clarify the position of the Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc., with regard to the LCRA's rate increase filing.

The Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc. is a member of the Association of Wholesale Customers (AWC) all of which purchase wholesale electric power from the LCRA. The AWC was formed and incorporated in 1979 for the purpose or purposes which in part are: To secure for the ultimate customers served by the members of the corporation reliable electrical service at the lowest possible cost by (1) establishing a liason between the Lower Colorado River Authority or its successor (the "LCRA") and the wholesale customers of the LCRA who are members of the corporation and to provide a forum whereby members may provide mutual assistance to each other in meeting their power supply objectives, and (2) sponsoring and conducting, on behalf of the members of the corporation, the collection of information with respect to, and the review and evaluation of, the rate structures and financial marketing and other policies of the LCRA which do, or may, affect the members of the corporation and their respective customers, and to recommend to its members actions to be taken with respect thereto.

Prior to filing for their rate increase with the Public Utility Commission, LCRA advised the AWC of their plans and invited input from their Wholesale Customers on the development of their rate filing. Accordingly, the AWC established an advisory rate committee. This committee, made up of specialists and of AWC Board Members, reviewed LCRA's revenue requirements, cost allocations and rate design. The LCRA accepted most, though not all, of the AWC's suggestions. In November of 1984, the AWC voted to intervene in general support of LCRA's rate filing, however, did not support their entire case: (1) The AWC opposed the second step rate of $33.3 million which was to follow the initial $35.1 million in 18 months. (2) The AWC proposed an allocation of costs that would eliminate all, not just some, of the wholesale customers' subsidy of LCRA's retail customers in Kerrville, Ingram, San Marcos, and San Saba. (3) The AWC made no endorsement for Fayette IV, a second generating plant planned by LCRA. (4) The AWC proposed an equity level which would not exceed 20 percent for LCRA. (5) The AWC also endeavored to maintain a billing demand interval of the present 30 minutes, rather than 60 minutes proposed by LCRA.

Of course it is the Public Utility Commission which has the final say. It may well be their ruling, if it conforms with their examiner's recommendations, will be in the best interest of the members of this Cooperative; however, there might be far reaching consequences if LCRA's bond rating status is damaged. LCRA's projected construction requirements is approximately $1.8 billion through the year 1991, most of which will be funded by the sale of revenue bonds. In any event, the fact that we will not be forced to subsidize the electric rate payers in Kerrville and in the other cities served by LCRA will be a mighty big plus for this Cooperative. It is certainly understandable why these cities took a different view of intervention than did the AWC. Among others not siding with the AWC were Pedernales and Bluebonnet Electric Cooperatives, who are trying to implement the construction of their own generation facility (Texland), and who plan to leave the LCRA System. They probably have a more short term rather than long term interest in the future of LCRA.

Legislature passes health care bill and continues to avoid new taxes

On the last day of the session, the Legislature passed a $38.6 billion budget, and while lawmakers avoided a $1.2 billion deficit crisis, they didn't sidestep a special session called to provide health care for the poor.

Less than an hour after the midnight gavel banged final adjournment, Gov. Mark White announced he was calling legislators back into session immediately to consider unfinished business.

Three days later, the Legislature approved a $70 million health care plan for the poor. The money comes out of general revenue and contingency funds controlled by the governor, and does not call for a tax hike.

Although the plan was supported by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis, the bill died in the final three minutes of the regular session when an opposition legislator talked it to death.

The bill provides that the state will pay for health care for the very poor, and for expanded medical services for mothers, infants and the elderly. County governments will be reimbursed for costs.

Indigent plea heard

Of course, the poor were naturally for the bill, but so were many rural hospital boards strained financially by indigent patients.

Finding funds for the program was the major problem because few lawmakers were willing to vote for another tax increase. Most of them, in fact were careful to avoid even the appearance of voting for a tax increase, so as careful are they of voter reaction.

When someone proposed latching onto an eight-cent cigarette tax that the feds are rumored to be repealing, most legislators, and especially Gov. White, were uncertain and slow to act. Hence the delays in bringing the program to a floor vote.

An election issue

But once the budget was passed, the extra money was found to pay for the program, and a tax increase was avoided.

Volunteers sought to help organize County Fair

The Bandera County Fair Committee will hold its second planning session of the year on Tuesday, June 11, at 7:30 p.m. at the Cabaret Dance Hall, and "everyone who would like to participate is invited," says fair chairman Karoline Moreland.

"The county fair, to be held Oct. 4, 5 and 6, is the next big event involving Bandera County, and advance planning is absolutely essential to ensure success," Moreland said.

Among the events scheduled for the October event are a county fair parade, beauty contests, American Quarter Horse Association horse show, an old timers' reunion, a fashion show, baking and canning competition, horticulture and arts and crafts competition, music makers, cloggers, singers and dancers.

There will be contests and games, exhibits and food, Moreland said.

"All this takes planning and people," Moreland said. "The committee needs help, and anyone interested may call or just show up at the meeting.

"You and your ideas will be more than welcome," she said.

Fair liaison committee members and their phone numbers include Moreland, chairman 796-8454 or 562-3419; Clara Kunkler of Bandera, 796-8105; Donna Mansfield of Lakehills, 751-2218; Edith (Chubby) Chandler of Medina, 589-2834 or 796-3784; Della Harley of Pipe Creek, 535-4868; Carlene Comparette of Tarpley, 562-3256; Leeann Bounds of Utopia, 966-3780 or 966-2121; and Lanell Kelner of Vanderpool, 966-2200.

It's a boy

A baby boy, named Chance Taylor Haby, was born Friday, May 31, to Patti and Kevin Haby of Bandera. He was born in Humana Women's Hospital weighing 9 lbs., 2 oz.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Tim Sanchez of Joiner Estates and Mr. and Mrs. Olen Haby of Rio Medina.

Bandera student named to Dean's List

Todd Sandidge of Bandera has been named to the Dean's List at Texas A&I University for the spring semester which just ended.

Sandidge was among 152 students so honored. To be eligible, a student must carry at least 15 hours credit while maintaining a minimum of a 3.65 grade-point average.

The show will be held 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday and noon to 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Travel Tips
by Bev Cox
Sundance Travel Int'l

Cruises have always been a great value and an incomparable vacation. Once considered a vacation only for the very wealthy, cruising was later discovered by "the masses" seeking the most for their travel dollar and are now within the price range of most travelers.

The cost of a cruise ticket includes not only your transportation and accommodations, (including the ship as your hotel in port) but three king size meals, mid-morning bouillon, afternoon tea, mid-night buffet, room service, (in case you get hungry in between meals) first run movies, a full program of free entertainment, a variety of sports activities, lectures, games and parties for joiners and peace and tranquility for those who desire R & R.

Can't decide between the entrees on the dinner menu? Have more than one; there's no extra charge. Want seconds? No problem; just ask your waiter. A taste of every dessert? Only your waist line will limit you. Like to dance 'til dawn? Visit the disco.

Cruising is no longer a vacation to be enjoyed only by the rocking chair set or the Rockefellers. Singles, honeymooners, young couples and families have all discovered what a tremendous value and great fun a cruise can be.

Sound tempting? Call us for information about a vacation which will make anyone feel like a Rockefeller.

Seminars slated on adult education

The Bandera County Library will offer an opportunity for persons interested in learning about Bandera County and to those who just need a remedy for mid-summer cabin fever.

It's an adult education seminar scheduled for June 25 and July 2.

Details of the seminar are still being worked on and will be made public in the coming weeks, but Dr. Jimmie Hughey, librarian, says it is part of an explosion in interest among adults in the U.S. seeking innovative, informal learning experiences.

Among the reasons for this explosion are those identified in an article in MMT as the motivation for increased learning experiences among adults, says Dr. Hughey.

These include the need to cope with specific life-change events; the desire for job advancement, pleasure and love of learning; a desire increases one's self-esteem; and the integration of newly-acquired knowledge with already-held knowledge or concepts, Dr. Hughey said.

"Along with participation in informal education experiences, more and more retired adults are returning to formal education," Dr. Hughey points out.

"Recent research indicates that participation in formal education enhances self-esteem for the retiree," Dr. Hughey said. She also pointed out that the study revealed that retirement may actually contribute to depression or hypochondriasis, and it may also effect morale, life satisfactions and self-esteem.

She says that there is a decrease in an individual's functional support systems upon retirement, and a person's life tends to become stereotyped.

"Education is seen by many as a vehicle whereby the retiree can become socialized to the requirements of retirement," Dr. Hughey said. It is being sought, she says as a means to enlarge one's vision for life's possibilities and a way of continuing many aspects experienced during the work experience, she explained. Among these are time regulation, social contacts and achievement.

Dr. Hughey said the library staff assists persons intrested in gaining information about any kind of additional educational opportunities, informal or formal.

Awesome adventures at library

Summertime is here and the living for most of us is definitely not easy, what with gardens to water, vegetables to harvest and store and the kids home from school emoting about how bored they are.

The Bandera County Library can offer some respite from the latter dilemma.

We will start our summer reading program, Awesome Adventures, on Tuesday, June 18 at 1:30 p.m. and Thursday, June 20, also at 1:30 p.m. The Tuesday session will be for children of ages 3 through 6 years, and Thursdays will be for children aged 7 through 12 years.

Each program will last about one hour and will consist of movies, puppet shows, programs by experts in various fields such as spelunking, flying and skin-diving. We will register the children at the first sessions. There is no need for pre-registration.

Medina Valley Apple Day

Medina Valley Apple Day was held Monday, June 3, at the Tony Zerr Orchard near Hondo, according to the Castroville News Bulletin.

Ken Baker

Seminar on wills

Kerry Schneider, a San Antonio attorney who has recently opened an office in Bandera, will present a seminar on wills at the Silver Sage Corral at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, June 13.

Her topics will include how much a will should cost, whether a hand-written will is binding, how to revise an old will.

In addition, she will touch on wise investment plans for the retired and those contemplating retirement.

Those registering for the seminar will be eligible for a drawing to receive a door-prize which has been estimated to be worth $200.

There is no charge for the seminar.

Bank names Ken Baker

Ken E. Baker, formerly president of Trinity National Bank, has been elected vice chairman of the board of directors and will continue serving as chief executive officer of Trinity Bank.

Baker is the son of Martha Baker Couser of Lakehills.

Vernon (Sandy) Sanford, former Bexar County assistant district attorney, succeeds Baker as president.

Baker has served Trinity National Bank as president and chief executive officer since it opened in 1983. He has 18 years experience in commercial banking and credit.

Baker has developed loan programs, policies and procedures in the commeercial and consumer area, the bank said. He is an instructor with the American Institute of Banking and member of the board of directors of the Texas Bankers Association, Region II Installment Section.

Baker majored in math at San Antonio college and graduated from the American Banking Installment Credit School and attended the Southwest Graduate School of Banking. He has done extensive research on the market, population and history of the San Antonio area, the bank said.

Surplus cheese, butter to be issued June 11

Government surplus cheese and butter will be issued to income-eligible households in Bandera at the First Baptist Church and in Lakehills at the American Legion Hall from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., June 11.

Under current guidelines of the Texas Department of Human Resources, recipients will be required to complete an application in order to determine eligibility and must bring proof of identification and proof of income, said spokeswoman Comellia G. Rue.

Linda Wright, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Smith Wright was chosen valedictorian of the 1960 graduating class at Bandera High School. She maintained a 94.14 average over the four years.

Salutatorian was Kenneth Kalka, son of Mr. and Mrs. V.A. Kalka. His four year average was 93.81.

Winners of the Doane Foundation Scholarships were Linda Wright, Kenneth Kalka, Sharon Jones, and Earl Keese. There were two $500 and two $100 scholarships in 1960.

The 26 graduating seniors of the class of 1960 were Junior Ramos, Arlan Habernicht, Mary Ann Mosso, Marilyn Ritcheson, Earl Keese, Cathy Anderwald, Lelia Nell Evans, Rosalie Haun, Carol Ann Boyle, Lu Langham, Kenneth Kalka, Don Davenport, Lou Cottingham, John Stein, Billy Jenschke, Carolyn Lynn, Binnie Depmore, Linda Wright, Peggy Billings, Carolyn Bruce, Patricia Johnson, Sharon Jones, John Jenschke, Rosemary Stricker, Ruth Brown, and Sandy Mott.

Miss Jean Daniels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Daniels of Bandera attended the Hill Country 4-H Banquet in Junction. The highlight of the event was the crowning of the District Sweetheart. Daniels came in second place, a young lady from Junction won the crown.

Dr. George Meador was the winner of a television set from the Chamber of Commerce at a barbecue they held.

"Scratch-me-not" with "Itch-me-not". In 15 minutes if the itch needs scratching get your 48 cents back. This classified ad appeared in the June 3, 1960 Bandera Bulletin. The ad said "Itch-me-not" was available at the Corner Drugstore.

Bandera, SA groups hold joint meeting

"The chamber should work to encourage new business and assist the existing businesses," Elaine Spalding of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce told members of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Six Bandera chamber members met with several San Antonio chamber officials in an information-gathering session.

Emphasis was placed on promoting new business, helping existing businesses, holding workshops and seminars for small businessmen, long-range planning, and representing business members in the community.

Spalding also emphasized the importance of chamber members participating in the activities of the chamber.

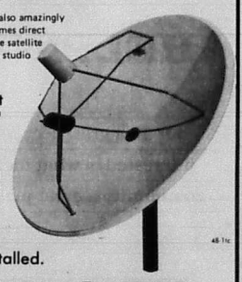

John Lewis, manager of the San Antonio Convention and Visitors Bureau also attended and gave Bandera County chamber members several suggestions on how they could help him promote Bandera.

Bandera chamber members present included Ken Finley, president; Cal Chapman, vice president; Sue Brittain, vice president; directors Terry Negley and Margaret Paradee; and chamber secretary Judy Dunn.

TRAVELING TEXAS

Rows of colorful umbrellas adorn beautiful Stewart Beach on Galveston Island, a popular recreation area on the Texas Gulf Coast. Just minutes from downtown Galveston on the eastern end of the island, Stewart Beach is just one of many fine beaches along Seawall Blvd. Hotels, restaurants, shops, and amusement areas are within walking distance, and many excellent camping areas are available farther west, including excellent facilities at Galveston Island State Park. TTDA photo by Richard Reynolds.

Mission Nuestra Senora de la Purisima Concepcion in San Antonio is the oldest unrestored church in the United States, standing as completed since 1755. More commonly referred to as Mission Concepcion, the twin-towered structure was under construction for over 20 years. It is one of four historic missions on the "Mission Trail," all of which were established by Franciscan Friars in the early 18th Century. TTDA photo by Richard Reynolds.

A leisurely ride on horseback along the beautiful, cypress-lined Medina River is one of the most popular and enjoyable activities at Bandera's many Dude Ranches. The lovely rolling hills and placid river, combined with warm Texas hospitality make for an ideal summer vacation for those who want to "get away from it all." Bandera is located in the heart of the Texas Hill Country, just 50 miles northwest of San Antonio. TTDA photo by Richard Reynolds.

Another Marathon Copier That Loves To Run
The 10 Series is the result of the most demanding product development challenge in copier history. The best Xerox people on three continents responded by creating a series of machines that establishes a new standard of copying convenience, productivity and dependability.
By merging the newest in electronic, microprocessor and xerographic technologies, the 10 Series marks a clear distinction between what copiers did for you in the past and what they can do for you now. And, in terms of dependability, the 10 Series will rewrite the record books.
By sharing in these many technological advances and advantages, the Xerox 1020 delivers high-quality copying and productivity in the most compact copier we've ever made, at our lowest introductory copier price ever.
Our Most Compacked Copier Just 17" square by 11" high, the 1020 is packed with productive features and Marathon dependability. But even with all this, the 1020 doesn't draw much attention to itself. First of all, it's so small, it practically hides in your office. It's so quick and simple to use, runs so quietly and without chemical odors, you'll hardly know it's around. And, in the long run it won't attract much attention because in the long run... it's still running.
Goes The Extra Distance Beyond everyday copy jobs, the 1020 handles all kinds of hard-to-copy originals: linework and solid areas, colored originals, different shades of blue writing, light pencil, green and red inks, yellow crayon. They're all copied clearly, cleanly, and without background problems. Use the five Contrast Control settings to pinpoint copy quality. Settings automatically reset to "normal" after 60 seconds. For bulky originals, the platen cover detaches instantly.
Strong On Flexibility The 1020 isn't limited to specially-coated copy paper. So, it copies onto bond papers in 13-24 lb. weights, colored stocks, adhesive mailing labels, overhead transparencies, three-hole-punched paper, pre-printed forms, and your own company letterhead. One paper tray holds 100 sheets of all your copy sizes: 5½ x 8½, 8½ x 11, 8½ x 13 and 8½ x 14. The easy-loading tray snaps securely into place for precise, reliable paper feeding.
The Sprint-Size Marathon You get all this in a 17" x 17" x 11" copier that weighs only 75 lbs., fits in practically anywhere, and — after a 35-second warm-up — is ready to run and run... and run.

Sign ordinances pass in Kerrville, New Braunfels

Both Kerrville and New Braunfels will escape the costs of complying with a state law that went into effect last Saturday. City sign ordinances passed before June 1 carry more jurisdictional power and limit how much a city must pay when issuing an order to have a sign removed.

According to the Kerrville Mountain Sun, the ordinance there passed 5-0.

Scott Parker, attorney representing the opposition to the sign ordinance, told City Attorney Tom Terrell, "I'll see you in court," after Council's unanimous vote.

Parker, who represents Schreiner Company, YO Ranch Hilton, and Junior Fritz, has maintained regulations in the ordinance requiring current sign owners to conform to new regulations are not legal.

The San Antonio Express-News reported that the New Braunfels vote was 5-2, in spite of opposition similiar to that in Kerrville.

Ingram Dam crowds

Cathy Kirkham of the Kerrville Daily Times reports that large crowds on the Ingram Dam have renewed concerns that last summer's problems will repeat themselves.

There are quarrels over jurisdiction of the dam. It draws as many as 1,000 people some weekends for swimming, sunning and boating and is one of the most popular public access areas to the Guadalupe River in Kerr County.

Dam sliding is one of the most popular events at the river site and also one of the most dangerous. Numerous accidents have been blamed on dam sliding in past years.

Officials and Craig Hawkins, owner of the Dam Store across the highway and the land between the dam and the highway, said dam crowds reflect Kerr County's population boom.

"We've had more people out here already than we did on any weekend last summer," Hawkins said. "And anytime you have more people, you have more garbage, boats and swimmers," he added.

Kerr County Sheriff Cliff Greeson and officers patrol the dam area regularly but concentrate on speeding violations keeping people from parking along the highway.

Hawkins said he has seen frequent patrols in the area, but said officers rarely walk out on the dam. Littering, public intoxication, and illegal drug use on the dam continue to be a nagging problem, he added.

Hondo in controversies

The Anvil Herald reported on several local issues last week.

Members of the citizens' group People Against Police Abuse (PAPA) will have to wait another week until the results of an investigation of allegations against Hondo police officer Wesley Beck are known.

That's what the group of Mexican-Americans was told during a special city council meeting which played to a full house in the council chambers.

The public hearing was scheduled after members of the group complained that Beck had physically abused several Hispanics.

Several of those representing PAPA called for the council to suspend Beck pending the results of the investigations, one by the police department and another by the FBI, but the council declined to take that step.

Vic Parker reported that, at the same special meeting, there was a lengthy and sometimes heated discussion of Hondo's building code.

Will Ney Jr. again accused the council of violating the code.

City attorney Hugh Meyer responded that strict, literal interpretation of Hondo's building code would result in a situation where "when you get right down to it, 15 percent of the people in Hondo would be sleeping under the trees tonight."

The Medina County Commissioners Court approved the 1985-86 budget of Medina Memorial Hospital but not before commissioner Henry Briscoe of Devine asked a few pointed questions about the number of staff members at the facilities.

Briscoe contended that the staff to patient ratio of eight to one was inefficient, and far greater than those of Uvalde and Frio counties.

Hepatitis in Pearsall still a concern

A story by Terrie Wilson of the Pearsall Leader quotes two parents as angry at not having been informed sooner about a hepatitis outbreak in Pearsall schools.

Concerned parents did not receive information sheets on symptoms and prevention until more than two weeks after the nine cases were confirmed.

Health officials responded that a spring increase in the number of cases is not unusual, and the liver virus involved is the less serious "Type A."

Boerne School construction on schedule

Dan Auiler of the Boerne Star reported on the progress of school construction and remodelling there.

The building program is running relatively on schedule and in the black, according to Superintendent Robert Rahm.

Since the project's beginning in August 1984, the projects at the various schools have seen numerous changes which have both cost and saved the school district money.

"There's been so little problem at the middle school and the elementary school. Things have really run very smoothly," stressed Rahm.

Wool sales down

The Mountain Sun reported that the Ingram Wool and Mohair Warehouse shipped 350,000 pounds of twelve-month fine wool last week.

The amount was down 30 to 40 percent from last year, due to flock reductions during the drought. Prices were also down, due to the combination of the dollar's value as an international currency and the foreign competition from South African wool.

Kerrville 'impatient'

Jenny McRingo in the Mountain Sun reports that the city government was impatient with the county, over a seven-months failure to pay $37,000 for its share of joint landfill operations.

The county commissioners, on the other hand, believe the city was too hasty in granting the landfill operation to Moore Service.

The cost of the ongoing repairs, by the Zachry Co., to the Upper Guadalupe Lake dam, could climb substantially.

The Upper Guadalupe River Authority directors will wait for engineering reports before deciding what "cut off walls" will be needed.

The walls would tie the new cap to bedrock on either side of the dam, as well as diverting underground water away from the dam's base.

Edd O'Donnell of the Daily Times also reports that a decision on whether or not to sue the designers and builders of the failed, original dam could be expected within two weeks.

Ron Cole of the Daily Times reports that city is apparently preparing for continuing differences with the Upper Guadalupe River Authority.

Anticipating resistance to the city's wastewater treatment plans, Kerrville City Council told city staff Tuesday night to search for and hire a law firm to research the URGA.

The firm will investigate "URGA's status, origins, purpose for existing, contactual rights in regards to wastewater and its contractual relationship to the City of Kerrville," the motion unanimously approved by council said.

Infant daughter still fighting for her life here

An eight-week-old baby girl, fighting for her life, has improved enough to come home after a month-long stay in the extensive care unit at Santa Rosa Children's Hospital.

Little Stephanie Schindler, infant daughter of Ron and Marie Schindler, is suffering from crib death syndrome, a spokeswoman close to the family said. Her condition makes it impossible for her to swallow.

A fund has been established by the St. Stanislaus Catholic Church to help defray expenses for the extensive tests and medical treatment which the infant has had.

While she is currently at home, she will be required to return to Santa Rosa Hospital for periodic tests and further treatment, the spokeswoman said.

Donations may be sent to the Baby Schindler Fund, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, Box 757, Bandera, the spokeswoman said.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

The Williams Creek Extension Homemakers will meet Wednesday, June 12, at 2 p.m. at Bobby Singleton's home.

It will be a regular meeting and a swim party at Bobby's pool and the last meeting until September. The program will be on "safety."

Visitors

Eugene and Theresa Hull and Kathryn Carlisle, all of Waco, visited her sister, Olga, and Willie Schmidt over the weekend.

Surprise visitors of the Schmidt's Sunday afternoon were Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lee and son of the Austin vicinity. She was formerly Becky Kinsey who lived near Tarpley for several years.

Sunday the supply pastor at Tarpley Baptist Church was Brother Bartlett Mills of Pipe Creek. His wife Vesta and Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Cloud of Pipe Creek, Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Flowers of New Braunfels, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gruben of Pipe Creek, friends of the Mills, also attended. Brother and Mrs. Jerry Jones are on a weeks vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell and children, Dawn and Robert, are happy to have his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell of Danville, Ky., here for an extended visit.

Mrs. Charles Dean and her 21-month-old son Jacob Sterling of Dayton, Ohio, spent five days visiting Charles' parents, Elzie and Nettie Dean.

Maj. Charles Dean and family have moved to Ohio to Wright Patterson Air Force Base—after three years at Hanscomb A.F.B., Mass.

Brother and Mrs. Bartlett Mills of Pipe Creek visited the Elzie Dean s Sunday afternoon. Elzie and Nettie Dean observed their 46th wedding anniversary June 3.

Rhonda and Charlie Hodger and two-yeasold daughter Regan Mae of Houston spent four days visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Anderson. On Sunday, the Andersons gave a barbecue dinner and guests were their grandson and wife, Randy and Wanda Mann from San Antonio, their daughter, Jo Nell, and Odis Clark of Pipe Creek, and their granddaughter, Rheta Mann of San Antonio.

Tarpley Community Center News

The ladies of the Williams Creek Extension Homemakers Club will sponsor a cake and pie sale Saturday, June 22, in downtown Tarpley.

This is for the benefit of the upkeep of the Tarpley school building. Work has been quite slow on painting the building, and as of now the community needs help on finances and volunteers to paint inside to finish it.

Please help our benefit bake sale in donating sweets or purchasing.

Dance recital

Mrs. Oliver Anderson attended a dance recital program of 'Kinder Care' put on at Antonian High School Auditorium Sunday night in San Antonio. Her granddaughter, Rheta Mann, is a dance instructor for Kinder Care Dancing School.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

A busy week lies ahead for the Silver Sage Corral.

Besides the ongoing classes and special interest groups throughout the week, note these special events.

Saturday, June 8, a huge rummage sale on the porch and inside the air-conditioned building. Merchandise includes summer and winter clothes, 12-foot wide carpet, household items, hard- and soft-cover books and plants.

Tuesday, June 11, at 9 a.m., an event called Kit 'n' Kaboodle, which solicits help for the Gift Shop by furnishing a handwork kit to anyone who will finish it during the coming weeks. Instruction will be available if the craft is unfamiliar.

Wednesday, June 12, 2 p.m., all volunteer workers, hosts and hostesses are invited to an Appreciation Tea to accept thanks for their very great service to the Center. Prospective volunteers are also invited, and they can learn about the opportunities offered. Suggestions will be welcomed as to how to strengthen this service, and extend it further into the community.

Thursday, June 13, 7:30 p.m., Kerry Schneider will conduct a seminar on making a will, and other aspects of financial planning for older Texans. There will be a door prize also.

Friday, June 14, 1 p.m., the Senior Advisory committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments will have its regular June meeting at the Silver Sage Corral instead of at the Three Americas building in San Antonio. All members are eager to see the "house that Bandera built" for its senior citizens.

Reminders

From now on, aluminum cans will be picked up directly from the little lattice "can corral" on the side of the Center. Contributions will be welcome for the collection at all times.

Vernell Mullenax, the Center's plant lady, is hoping to get starts of a variety of plants, which she nurtures and propagates. Potted or just slips, she loves 'em all.

There are several more taped interviews with "old-timers" which Jon Johnson of the Hill Country YMCA would like transcribed. Those people who have done one or more report that it is a really enjoyable experience.

Jack Kinberger, who paints with the Thursday Art Group, will be available on Fridays, right after lunch (about 12:30 p.m.) to initiate beginners into the mysteries of playing pool, or brush up the skills of former players. The pool table, a gift from Leon Karr, shouldn't just stand there; it should be put to good use.

If you're interested in collecting, polishing, and mounting rocks remember the date of Thursday, June 20, when Martin Smith, Milton Hausmann and Mary Worley are planning an enjoyable and informative display.

The Melodiers will practice Friday night, June 7, (5 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral) and wind up with a program for Purple Hills. Rumor has it that the group will also perform at Night in Old Bandera, but this has yet to be confirmed.

Corral's Breakfast

Tuesday's Biscuits and Gravy breakfast drew an appreciative bunch of diners. Thanks to the talented cooks (Marie Holland and Kathy Krannick) and all the volunteer helpers. The dining room area was a perfect place to visit with old friends and make new ones. Watch for the next breakfast in July. And thanks to Erna Koenig of Oma's Haus for the juice pitchers...

Where's the dill?

Someone promised someone at the Center some dill for pickling. Said dill vanished somehow. Now the burning question is: "Dill, dill, who's got the dill?" The participants at the Center feel particularly blessed lately, with gifts of vegetables being brought for distribution, as well as some delicious (albeit empty calorie) junk foods like potato chips, and the non-edible but sweet-smelling favors from Avon being given out at the drop of a hat!

Are they playing your song?

Disc jockey Dick Jones, formerly with the Bandera radio station and now with Kerrville's KERV, has come up with a query about music. What kind of music, he wants to know, do older Texans like most to hear? He has found very little help in existing surveys, and is now conducting one of his own. What say you, Banderans over 60? Would it be entirely country/western? Big band replays? Golden Oldies in modern arrangements? Phone in your "druthers" to the Silver Sage Corral (796-4969) or your reporter (796-3490) while Dick Jones breathlessly awaits the verdict.

New England type town meeting in Washington D.C.

Last Tuesday, June 4, a "town meeting" was called by Congressman Edward Roybal to hear directly from senior citizens around the country about issues of vital importance to them. They hope to focus Congress' attention on what must be done to improve long term care for the elderly, especially government's role. AARP, which is helping sponsor this event, is described as "a non-profit, non-partisan membership organization, dedicated to helping older persons achieve lives of independence, dignity and purpose."

Founded in 1958, AARP now has a national membership of more than 18 million persons age fifty and over. Members of the national organization may also join local chapters, such as Bandera Hills and Lakehills, to deal with local needs, to keep their members informed on many subjects, and to provide a close-knit fellowship with other people who have similar ideals.

Abuse or neglect of the elderly

The American Society on Aging has sent a letter to the Senior Center of Bandera, warning it to alert its participants and the community about reporting cases of real or suspected abuse or neglect of elderly persons. The neglect may be self-inflicted, but it is well to report it for investigation. Texas is one of the states which protects its elderly by law. There is a hot line for reporting abuse or neglect of the elderly: 1-800-252-5400, and the caller remains anonymous.

Givers

The Silver Sage Corral's most generous individual donor is Hank Keene, who has given another welcome check toward the Center's expenses. "I can't do much to help around there," says Hank, who suffers from asthma, "but this I can do."

Thanks go also to the many donors of memorials. Their contributions have made possible the beginnings of the Bandera County Committee on Aging's Endowment Fund, which hopefully will grow and earn enough to pay part of the future expenses of the Silver Sage Corral.

Seminar for seniors on crime prevention

A seminar on senior citizens and the rising crime rate has been scheduled for June 12, at the San Antonio Convention Center — River Room.

Registration will begin at 8 a.m. Henry Cisneros, mayor of San Antonio, will open the seminar. Guests include San Antonio Police Chief Charles Rodriguez, Bexar County Sheriff Harlon Copeland, Bexar County District Attorney Sam Millsap and Gary Hutton, chairman of the crime prevention committee for the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

Presentations will be made by Bayard Breeding, a caseworker for the Family Resource Unit of the City of San Antonio, who will speak on the victim-witness assistance program and aid available to victims of crime, and J. Patrick Luby, the area representative of the American Association of Retired Persons, speaking on senior citizens as victims of crime.

Kyle Coleman from the District Attorney's Crime Prevention Unit and Officer Albert Laurel from the San Antonio Police Department will give a presentation on con games in which the senior citizen is particularly targeted.

Representatives from the Adult Protective Services Unit of the Texas Department of Human Resources will speak on senior citizen abuse, physical and mental, and Ed Williams, representing the U.S. Postal Inspector Sevice, on mail order fraud and land schemes.

Local agencies will be represented, explaining how they help senior citizens. These agencies include the Alamo Area Council of Governments, Retired Senior Volunteer Program and the Metropolitan Office on Aging.

The seminar is free to the public with no pre-registration required.

Everyone needs a last will says extension service economist

Do you need a will? Everyone does, according to an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. A will insures that property is distributed to people selected by you rather than what is dictated by state law, said Wayne Hayenga of College Station.

State law will give 50 percent of community property to the children rather than the surviving spouse if there is no will, Hayenga told a group of about 80 women gathered for a three-day farm and Ranch Business Management seminar for women landowners. The seminar drew a capacity crowd for the second year at the Holiday Inn North in San Antonio. Landowners came from Albuquerque, N.M.; Northboro, Mass.; and from all over the state of Texas. One participant lived in San Antonio but owned land in Indiana.

Another reason for drawing up a will, Hayenga said, is that even if property is classified as separate property, the surviving spouse would have the right to only 33 1/3 percent of the separate property.

A will also allows for the orderly and inexpensive settlement of personal affairs of the deceased, the economist said. Without a special provision in wills, or special attention by the executor, the transfer of an automobile to the surviving spouse would be taxable income, he said.

A basic will also allows for the payment of debts and expenses, the disposition of tangible personal property such as an automobile or jewelry, or other property; the selection of an executor without bond, the nomination of a guardian for minor children, and the selection of a trustee. In addition, a will implements tax planning, Hayenga said.

Thank You From Old Town Realty

Nearly a year ago, a small, tattered and torn building on 11th St. underwent some six weeks of painstaking, cosmetic surgery, in order to become a quaint and comfortable little office known as "Old Town Realty."

There have been several interesting occurences during this first year, beginning with the "official opening" and ribbon cutting in August of '84. Visitors, relatives and friends were there, and when December came, they were on hand again for open house during the Shopper's Jubilee celebration, at which time Old Town Realty proudly received the "Best Old Fashioned Christmas" decorations award to a small business. This award was presented by the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Then, one early morning later, and not quite six months after the un-official opening of doors the 1st of July, a seriously damaging accident brought severe facial fractures to this building, and reconstructive surgery had to be started all over again. Under the excellent workmanship of Tommy Callahan, working sometimes on weekends, and even late at night, recovery was finally complete. Breaks were mended, and clients could be comfortable again.

Old Town Realty resurfaced, and there even seemed to be a little bit of room left over for a different type of business.

John Swift, a local resident, and agent representing New York Life Insurance Co. was sort of taken with the location, being in the heart of Old Town Bandera, and he asked if he could have some space in which to interview clients. His wife, Joyce of "Joyce's Crafts" liked the idea too, and she has managed to sneak a little of John's space in order to display some of her handiwork. I suppose you can say we are a homey bunch too and like for people to pop in and out.

So a lot has been going on over our way. More than we really anticipated, I guess, especially after learning that approx. $1,500,000.00 in Real Estates sales had generated from this little office during our first year.

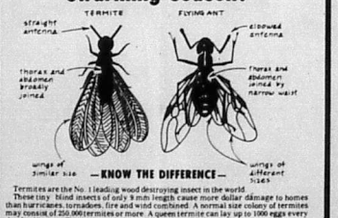

We take great pride in making this announcement, but we do know that without the cooperative efforts of other Real Estate agents, title company employees, soil conservation agents, attorneys and most certainly our loyal and faithful clients, there would have been no such accomplishment of which to be proud.

So we are taking this means to share this news with you, to thank all of you, and to express our appreciation to all of you who helped make this happen. We are truly grateful to all, and we want to assure you, our clients, we will continue to work in order to improve our services for you, and please feel free to drop in anytime, if for no other reason than to discuss the weather.

Thank you sincerely,
Vercella Evans, Realtor

This is termite & wood ant swarming season!

—KNOW THE DIFFERENCE—

These tiny blind insects of only 9 mm length cause more dollar damage to homes than hurricanes, tornadoes, fire and wind combined. A normal size colony of termites may consist of 250,000 termites or more. A queen termite can lay up to 1000 eggs every day for 25 years. They can eat a 2 x 4, 12" long in 52 days.

Signs you as a home or business owner should look for are: mud tubes going up the wall on the outside or inside of the building; weak floors or wall or sheetrock that will press in when touched. Don't think you don't have termites if you do not have any of these signs. Termites in alot of cases don't show signs in early stages of entrance to the house, nevertheless doing damage to the building just the same.

Let a professional exterminator come and analyze the extent of the termite infestation.

Lakehills-Pipe Creek wins county title

The Lakehills-Pipe Creek Rebels, organized just three years ago, won the Bandera County Little League championship, skimming through the schedule without a loss.

The team lost a play-off for the county title last year and lost all its games in 1983, the team's inaugural year.

Sponsored by the Lone Star Ice Stores, the team has been managed all three years by Keith Mansfield and coached by Bob Schneider.

The Lakehills-Pipe Creek team this year played on its own field in Pipe Creek. The two-acre field was built by volunteer labor with funds from neighborhood fund-raising activities on land made available by J.B. and Helen Edwards.

A major role in building the field was played by Baseball Friends of Lakehills and Pipe Creek, a citizen-group headed by Kathy Flack, president.

Other officers are Pat Forsythe, vice president; Linda McGhee, secretary; Nel Landrum, treasurer; and Jeanene Mansfield, parliamentarian.

Lakehills-Pipe Creek also fielded two minor league teams and one T-ball team. The Cardinals were coached by Sandra Zimmerman and sponsored by R.C. Construction Company. The Eagles were coached by Larry Upton and Mike Stroud and sponsored by B and M Plumbing.

The T-ball team, the Bulldogs, was coached by Bruce and Nell Landrum and sponsored by Pipe Creek Water Well Company.

More than 70 children from Lakehills and Pipe Creek participated in their neighborhood Little League baseball team this year.

Cale Mays 13, of Pebble Beach and his diving buddy, Micheal Portis of San Antonio, have just completed their Advanced Open Water Scuba Classes at Canyon Lake. However, Cale agreed that he would rather be diving in Lake Medina his own back yard or in the ocean. Last year he spent his vacation in Cozumel, and this year he plans a dive trip to Grand Caymen in the British West Indies, site of the great wall and the giant manta rays.

Cale hopes to put his diving skills to use as a commercial diver or to become a marine biologist.

The wind Tuesday whips the hair of Pipe Creek postmaster Carmen Haynes in front of the new Pipe Creek Post Office.

Postal workers occupied the new facility Wednesday, and Haynes began immediately renting new post office boxes made available in the new facility. "The number of boxes has been increased from 278 to 688, so I've got a lot available," Haynes said. She said a waiting list of up to six months was maintained for boxes in the old building.

Haynes said there have been a lot of favorable comments from postal patrons since last Wenesday's opening, but the most often-heard question concerns drainage. "Are you going to wash away when it rains?" they ask.

But Haynes is confident the extensive drainage work that was done on the site will be adequate. "A couple of weeks ago we had 2 ¼ inches of rain within two hours, and we had no problems," she points out.

She said that the beginning of operations at the new postal facility has given rise to requests from several people for a four way stop sign at the intersection of Highway 16 and FM 1283. A flashing light now controls traffic at the site, with Highway 16 travelers getting a caution light.

The new postal facility is tangible evidence of the growth of the Pipe Creek-Lakehills areas. "In 1979, we had just over 1,000 deliveries (total delivery points)," Haynes said. "We have increased to over 1,600." That's a 60 percent increase in six years.

The Pipe Creek postal facility now utilizes four carriers, a part-time clerk and a summer helper. There were no personnel changes made in conjunction with occupying the new facility.

Haynes has been postmaster at Pipe Creek since 1979 and has been a postal worker since 1966.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Our sincere congratulations go out to high school and college graduates from Wharton's Dock, including Timothy Avallone, Bandera High, son of Phil and Nola Bledsoe; Kimberly Cherry, Bandera High, daughter of Mary K. and Tom Andreas; Paul Flanders, John Marshall High, San Antonio, son of the Rev. Paul and Doris Flanders; and Lois Warnecke, Texas Lutheran College, granddaughter of Pearl and Eldridge Bonds.

John and Mary Wells attended graduation exercises of his granddaughter Mikki Jo Wells in San Antonio. Mikki was in the top 2 percent of her class of 500 at Robert E. Lee High. She was awarded the Virgil T. Blossom Academic scholarship and a scholarship to Trinity University.

Lois Warnecke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Warnecke and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldridge Bonds of Wharton's Dock, was graduated cum laude with a degree in political science and economics from the Texas Lutheran College. She was a member of Kappa Pi Gamma sorority, Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges, Phi Alpha Theta honor society, and a Texas Lutheran scholar (a program for students who consistently maintain high grade point averages), and was named to the Dean's List every semester for four years.

Lois Warnecke
TLC graduate

Lois has accepted a teaching assistantship to the University of Houston where she will pursue course work toward a master's degree.

Visiting Rosie and Alfredo Gomez for the weekend were Joe and Sylvia Gutierez from San Antonio. They came up to help the Gomezes celebrate their wedding anniversary.

Chuck and Maradelle DeWitt went to San Antonio on Friday and brought their grandchildren, Naomie and Samuel Pitamber, to spend a few days. During the week, Maradelle's daughter, Linda, and son-in-law, Marvin Wright, and grandchildren, Jennifer, Kris and Katie arrived from Houston to celebrate Marvin and Linda's 14th wedding anniversary.

The first-Saturday-of-the-month covered-dish supper at the Copper Lantern Saturday was a great success. A large crowd, with one of our neighbors making his first showing, turned out. They all enjoyed the good food and music.

A nice group got together early in the morning Monday, cutting grass and cleaning up the area of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department grounds. Twenty-three showed up for the fire training Monday, which is conducted now at 7 p.m. the first and third Monday of the month.

Don't forget bingo is played every Wednesday night at the firehouse. This is a good way to catch up on all the happenings in the area, true or false, and it is a good way of helping the volunteer fire department financially.

John Ciarlo III, grandson of Betty and John Ciarlo, is now at Ft. Lewis, Wash., acting as platoon leader for five weeks. From Ft. Lewis he will go to Ft. Benning, Ga., for airborne training prior to reporting back to West Point Military Academy to start his third year there.

Located inside the front door of the Copper Lantern is a mail box placed there for readers to drop in any newsworthy items. Please drop us a note there.

It's the time of the year for Vacation Bible School to start. The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road will conduct Bible school from June 17 through June 21, from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. There will be worship and Bible study, fun and refreshments of cookies and punch. All children are encouraged to attend.

Friday evening at 7 p.m. there will be a singfest at the Walker Memorial Chapel. This will be followed with a wiener roast and marshmallows.

Saturday at 9 a.m. there will be a meeting for all Bible school teachers and helpers at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Summer garden color suggestions

With the heat of summer, the gardener and many plants tend to go on vacation, often leaving the landscape void of color.

However, some outstanding colorful summer annuals and perennials will provide color and beauty with a minimum of care during the hot days of summer, says a landscape horticulturist.

The vinca or periwinkle is one flower that thrives where many would perish, says Dr. Hill Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. This robust summer annual demands little attention, yet provides a mass of color all summer. The All-American variety "Polka Dot" will serve as a summer ground cover with its low mass of blooms while the deep lavender "Little Linda" and the pink and red "Delicata" provide variety.

Zinnias have a sure summer heat tolerance and ability to grow under adverse conditions, Welch notes. Even though zinnias have been around for many years, many new and improved varieties offer vivid colors and durability. Zinnia blooms now range in size from tiny border hybrids to giant Dahlia types.

The Gloriosa daisy is a summer perennial, returning each summer to open its typical daisy blooms of rich orange, pink and mahogany. The large graceful heads of the Gloriosa daisy are supported on strong stems which are excellent for cutting, says the horticulturist.

Portulaca is unsurpassed as a summer border or rock garden plant, adds Welch. Often called moss rose, this summer annual prefers the sun and will tolerate dry, hot conditions to produce warm, vivid blankets of color. For continuous summer production, sow seed at six-week intervals.

Salvia is a persistent annual with bright scarlet or blue spikes of bloom throughout the hot summer until cut down by frost. The rich red varieties are most showy when displayed against a background of green or white, Welch suggests. Cut faded blooms often to encourage more growth.

Summer or late cosmos produces rich yellow or orange blooms from mid-summer to late fall and demands little or no care. "Sunset" and "Goldcrest" varieties produce brilliantly colored blooms. Cosmos may need staking in windy areas.

Medina

Tootie Mayfield 589-2491
Ellen Walker.....589-2697

Mr. and Mrs. James A. Gallant spent the weekend in Victoria where they attended the Foster Field Reunion.

James was stationed at Foster Field as an officer in the Cadet Detachment 1942-45.

Approximately 700 former Foster personnel from throughout the United States and foreign countries were present. James and Neda enjoyed seeing many friends of 40 years ago as well as the Confederate Air Force's show, which re-enacted the bombing of Pearl Harbor and other World War II battles.

Sean Wheeler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Wheeler of Lee's Summit, Mo., and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Linden Wheeler of Medina, won first place in the state of Missouri in a drum contest. He won first in city, first in county and first in state. He is the first person from his school to win all three.

Andrea Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Troyce Wheeler of Council Bluffs, Ia., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linden Wheeler of Medina won "superexcellent" in a piano contest. She has been rated excellent for three straight years and is graded on posture, how she expresses the music, how she holds her hands, and playing from memory.

She was awarded a beautiful trophy for the three-year effort.

A barbecue was held at the home of Dutch and Bodie Holliman honoring Julia Keese for her 54th birthday and Mother's Day on May 11.

Those attending included Edna and Wilson Noles, Deborah Evans, John, Sandy, Amanda, John Bodie and Kaylie Noles, all from Denton; Anna Lee and Walter Hollimon from San Antonio; James A., Carrol and Angie Hollimon from Waco; Howard Hollimon and Shirley Ask from Kerrville; Henry and Loma Murphy, Royce and Ina Jackson, Ola Belle and Allie Allsup, Dorothy and Charles O. Keese, all from Medina.

Julia Keese has been visiting her daughter, Edna, and her husband, Wilson Noles, of Denton. She returns home this week.

Fishing vacation

Bodie and Dutch Hollimon and Walter and Anna Lea Hollimon have spent the last week in Del Rio fishing and relaxing.

The Medina United Methodist Church recently honored its Youth Group Class and their guests with a dinner at the Trails End Restaurant. There were 22 attending the affair. Arlen and Linda William are their sponsors.

On Memorial Weekend, Mrs. Nora Ann Hubble accompanied Gene and Elaine Snell to Houston to visit Robert, Annette and Ashley Hubble. They also went to Rusk to visit Kent and Jackie Doyle and sons, Cody, Cully and Ryan.

UIL scholars cited

Michelle Ellison and Geoeffrey Williams, both of Medina High School, have been presented the recently-established UIL Scholar Awards by the University Interscholastic League.

The awards go to students whose "academic and extracurricular achievements have been exemplary and whose self-discipline in preparation and integrity in competition are a model to others," said league director Bailey Marshall.

Winners must have graduated in the top 10 percent of their class and participate in UIL academic, music or athletic contests.

Payne graduates

R. Wade Payne III, graduated from Southern Methodist University, Dallas, on May 18.

He received a Bachelor of Business Administration degree from the Edwin L. Cox school of business.

R. Wade Payne

Payne attended the Kerrville schools through the 11th grade, and graduated from Boerne High School in 1981. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Payne, Jr., Pecan Valley Ranch of Medina.

Peach jamboree

The 24th annual Stonewall Peach Jamboree and rodeo is set for June 14 and 15 at the chamber grounds in Stonewall. A rodeo at 8:00 p.m. on Friday night kicks off the jamboree followed by a dance with music by Southern Image.

Trees provide many benefits says extension service expert

Virtually everyone is involved in forestry—at least urban forestry.

Urban forestry is the management of trees in areas where man has significantly affected the "natural" ecosystem by his structures or manipulations, says a forestry specialist. This includes large cities, small communities and even areas outside of municipal boundaries.

Everyone should be interested in urban forestry since trees provide many benefits, points out Dr. Michael Walterscheidt with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In the summer, trees help moderate termperatures by controlling solar radiation. They also aid in moderating air temperatures through evapotranspiration (water vapor evaporating from leaves). For example, a large tree with sufficient soil moisture can give off about 88 gallons of water in one day. This is comparable to five room-size air conditioners.

In the winter, trees reduce wind velocity and create sheltered zones. Proper planting of shelter belts can reduce windspeeds by 50 percent for distances up to 20 times the height of the tallest trees, says Walterscheidt.

When planted close to a house on the prevailing wind side, conifers (cone-bearing evergreen trees and shrubs) create a "dead air space" that can reduce heat loss from the house. In northern areas, this can mean a 23 percent fuel savings.

Many communities in the north eastern and midwestern United States have had active forestry programs for years, but Texas town officials are just now realizing the advantages of trees, notes the specialist. However, tree planting programs may prove to be a future burden if little consideration is given to future maintenance problems, drought resistance, size or adaptability to the planting site.

To aid in this effort, a system of tree management has been developed which can be used in any community, Walterscheidt points out. The system involves consideration of these questions:

- What kinds of trees are now growing in the community?
- How are insect, disease and man-caused problems affecting these trees identified and corrected?
- What are trees worth?
- Are the right trees planted in the right place?
- What are priority tree management plans?
- What would the community be like without good trees?

Developing an urban forestry progam involves several basic steps, according to the specialist. First, leadership must be assigned for implementing and administering the program. This can be done through an existing park board or other city board or by appointment of a tree commission. An effective ordinance developed by the group should establish authority over public trees if this does not already exist.

Next, existing community tree resources should be inventoried since a necessary step in management is to know the resources. The inventory can be a simple listing of species, size and condition, or it can involve a sophisticated computerized list, including location and suggested maintenance work.

Once the inventory is complete, objectives and work plans can be developed. A goal should be established not to allow any one species to make up more than 20 percent of a community's trees, notes Walterscheidt. This will help avoid future disasters should a disease or insect attack a particular tree species. An example is oak wilt on live oaks in parts of the Texas Hill Country.

Maintaining an urban forestry program must be a continuous concern. New plantings are not the only consideration—existing trees also need care, notes the specialist. Properly cared-for trees are damaged less by ice and windstorms. Trees along right-of-ways need to be pruned for clearance and safety reasons. This includes removing all dead and damaged limbs.

Walterscheidt notes that the Extension Service can provide assistance in the development of community tree programs.

Segment features marketing tips

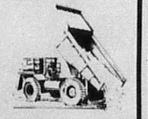

Everything from the marketing and consumption of lamb and beef to the history of fajitas will be highlighted during the ranch family portion of the 1985 International Ranchers Roundup.

The fifth annual IRR is being held July 29-Aug. 2 at the Laredo Civic Center, according to George Gonzales, Webb County Agricultural Extension Agent. This year's IRR will feature speakers from several states in the United States, as well as Mexico, and will cover such topics as stocker cattle, range management, wildlife management, water, ranch business management, and cow/calf operations.

The ranch family segment of the IRR begins at 8:30 a.m., Wednesday, July 31, with an introduction to the culture, history and foods of Mexico. Ida A. Patrick, Hidalgo County Extension Agent-Home Economics, will follow on the program with a presentation on the "Edibles from the Valley."

"Fajitas South Texas Style" will be the title of the presentation by Mary K. Sweeten, an Extension food nutrition specialist from College Station.

-Weddings

Adamson, Barnet wed

In the historic St. Stanislaus Catholic Church where six generations of her family have worshipped, Michelle Marie Adamson became the bride of David Lee Barnet in an afternoon nuptial Mass ceremony on Saturday, May 18.

Msgr. Ralph Smith was the celebrant.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a Victorian-styled gown of ivory lace, taffeta and chiffon. The bodice was a collage of laces, tucks, and satin ribbon. The bottom of the gown and cathedral length train featured rows of lace enhanced by delicate pink roses. Her fingertip veil of ivory tulle was attached to a circle of flowers. Her bouquet consisted of white and pink roses with ivory.

Charmaine Lee Adamson served her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sharon Adamson, sister of the bride; Miss Jennifer Biasiolli, cousin of the bride, and Miss Tara Knibbe and Mrs. Cilena Nixon, both friends of the bride.

They were all gowned in Victorian-styled waltz-length dresses of antique rose lace and taffeta. In their hair they wore circles of baby's breath and pink roses. Their bouquets were nosegays of pink roses, carnations and baby's breath.

The flower girls were Sara Erfurt, cousin of the bride, and Nicole Rippstein, cousin of the groom. They were dressed in miniature replicas of the bride's gown, featuring ivory lace and taffeta with pink roses trimming their dresses. They wore circlets of baby's breath and roses in their hair and carried white baskets of rose petals.

The bride's mother wore an ivory lace and satin dress, and the groom's step-mother wore an aqua chiffon dress. Their corsages were pink roses.

The groom's best man was his long-time friend, Philip Nixon. Groomsmen were Gene Barnet, brother of the groom; Rex Brown, cousin of the groom; James Foegelle, uncle of the groom; and Russell Young, friend of the groom.

Ushers were Mark Adamson, brother of the bride; Rodney Brown, cousin of the groom; Thomas Callahan, cousin of the bride; and Paul Olsen, friend of the groom.

The groom, groomsmen and fathers wore gray tuxedos with gray and rose cummerbunds and bow ties.

During the ceremony special Bible readings were given by Sister Bernadette Anderwald, C.C.V.I., great-aunt of the bride. They were read in honor of the bride's godparents, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Biasiolli of Houston, and the groom's godparents, Ruth Goldstein of Houston and the late Hyman Goldstein.

Altar servers were Tom and Paul Mangold of Bandera.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Lazy Oaks Ranch in Bandera. Barbecue dinner and trimmings were served to about 300 guests. Wedding cake, champagne, beer, punch, coffee and tea were also served.

The bride's cake was a four-tiered creation with white icing decorated with pink roses. The groom's cake featured three tiers of chocolate-frosted cake, also decorated with pink roses.

Members of the bride's house-party were Leah Barnet, sister of the groom, and Cynthia and Julie Adamson and Nicole Callahan, all cousins of the bride.

Following dinner, the guests enjoyed dancing to the music of Phil Trimble and his band.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Rodney Adamson of Bandera. She is the granddaughter of Virgil Adamson of York, Pa., Mrs. Lola Gaines and Mrs. Dorothy Callahan of Bandera.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George Barnet of Bandera and Mrs. Glenda Hesley of Fort Davis. He is the grandson of Mrs. Lucille Orum of Houston.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Bandera.

Mr. and Mrs. David Barnet

Peggy Denise Warnecke of Seguin, granddaughter of Eldridge Bonds of Wharton's Dock, was married May 25 to Johnny Dale Hill Jr. of Seguin. They were wed at Emanuel's Lutheran Church in Seguin with the Rev. Nolan Sucher of Robstown officiating. The bride is employed by a printing company in Seguin and attends Texas Lutheran College majoring in biology. The groom is a senior business administration student at TLC and is employed by a welding firm.

Sewing for a profit

Working at a computer terminal may be the newest home-based business, but an old one—sewing for profit—is making a comeback.

Custom dressmaking has been a profession since the early 1700's. Into the 1910's and 20's, many skilled dressmakers operated shops, where they employed others and trained apprentices. But custom sewing gradually faded as the ready-to-wear industry developed.

Ironically, it's working women who are now expanding the market for custom sewn clothes.

"An increasing number of women don't have the time to sew, but appreciate the quality, fit and distinctive nature of home sewn garments," says Alma Fonseca, a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service clothing specialist.

Many home sewers have the ability to fit, tailor, work on special fabrics or help clients plan wardrobes to enhance their coloring or figure. Others specialize in specific needs, such as bridal wear, tailored suits for the professional woman, western wear and childrens' wear, Fonseca explains.

"Starting a home-sewing business requires entrepreneurial skills that not everyone has," says the specialist.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Florence Nightingale made many arresting statements during her long and distinguished career. We especially like this one: "Live your life while you have it. Life is such a splendid gift. But you must make your thoughts, your words, your acts, all work to the same end, and that end not self, but God. These are what we call character."

First, she emphasized that life is flitting and we do not have much time in which to do our best. Our days of grace soon past. But Florence Nightingale also pointed out that character, to be permanent and reliable must be tied up to religion. The end of all our endeavor must be not self but God.

We live in a day when it is considered by some a sign on intellectual distinction to regard character as something that need not necessarily be connected with religious faith. We are told that people can be quite good without religion. Great minds have never reasoned after this fashion. Florence Nightingale and thousands of other people who have been able realistically to look facts in the face have come to see that character apart from religion is about as false as religion apart from character...

June is Dairy Month

For Father's Day reach for a peach

Reach for a Texas peach when thinking of what to prepare for your special Dad this Father's Day, June 16. What Dad could turn down a slice of prize winning Hill Country peach pie or a bowl of homemade peach ice cream?

As all Texans know, Texas peaches are far superior in taste to those from other states which are picked while still green. Local peaches are tree ripened for optimum flavor.

Around this area, peaches are abundant from Gillespie and Guadalupe counties. Last year some 479,000 bushels of luscious peaches were harvested in our state, with a value of $5,400,000.

Gary Marburger, president of the Hill Country Fruit Council says, "This year's crop looks great, quality is excellent and sizes look good." Look for local peaches to be available through August.

Peach prices have come down considerably since the first century B.C., when one could expect to spend $4.50 for one peach! During this year's harvest, plan to spend about $10 per half bushel for good quality peaches. One half bushel equals about 100 peaches a 2¼ diameter.

How do you pick the ripest, juiciest peach? Look for a creamy, yellowish background especially near the stem end. Red cheeks are not an indicator of ripeness. A ripe peach will also give off an intoxicating peachy aroma.

If you want to go peach crazy, plan to attend the annual Stonewall Peach JAMboree on June 14-15. Contests of peach culinary skills, peacheating and the pit spit are a few of many activities at the JAMboree.

For a free informative guide to pick your-own peach operations in the Hill Country, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218.

Happy Father's Day to all you Dads, enjoy these peachy keen favorites!

Hill Country peach pie

5 C sliced Texas peaches
3/4 C sugar
dash salt
3 T flour
1/4 tsp. cinnamon or nutmeg
Prepared unbaked pie shell

Combine peaches, sugar, salt, flour and cinnamon. Pour into pie shell, place pastry on top or use lattice pastry. Bake in preheated oven at 400 degrees for 40-45 minutes until nicely browned.

Homemade peach ice cream

1/2 C sugar
4 C sliced, peeled fresh Texas peaches
6 eggs
1 C sugar
1 (13 oz.) can evaporated milk
1 (14 oz.) can sweetened condensed milk
1 pt. whipping cream
1 T vanilla

Sprinkle sugar on peaches and cover. Beat eggs well. Add sugar, milk and whipping cream and mix well. Stir in sugared peaches and vanilla. Pour into freezer container. Finish filling the container with milk. Freeze. Makes 1 gallon.

Reach for healthful dairy drinks

Be kind to your body when you reach for a summer cooler. Not all liquid refreshments are created equal, says Gail Corley, nutritionist with the associated Milk Producers, Inc.

After a summer tennis match, a bicycle ride or a rousing racquetball game, you may need to replenish your body with some liquid refreshment. Make the choice beneficial to your daily nutrient intake.

Dairy coolers based on milk and yogurt are naturally refreshing and can provide a boost in protein, vitamins and calcium, a nutrient that is often missing from the diet.

"Dairy drinks are healthy alternatives to the more typical soft drinks people reach for by habit," she says "with little thought to nutritional content."

Here are three sensible summer refreshers from American Dairy Association. Each recipe has just a few ingredients and can be whipped up quickly in a blender. "For a tasty health kick, mix up any one of the drinks," she suggests.

Cucumber cooler

Yield: approximately 2 ½ cups
1 large cucumber, peeled, seeded, cut in small pieces
¼ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 containers (8 oz. each) plain yogurt
½ teaspoon sugar

Place cucumber, salt and pepper in blender container; cover. Puree until smooth. Add yogurt and sugar. Blend until well combined. Serve immediately in tall, chilled glasses garnished with cucumber slices.

Serving size: 1 ¼ cups
Calories per serving: 162
Protein 9 g, fat 8 g, carbohydrate 16 g
Calcium 301 mg, riboflavin (B2) .37 mg

Tutti-Frutti refresher

Yield: 2 ¼ cups
2 containers (8oz. each) strawberry-banana yogurt
½ cup crushed pineapple in unsweetened juice, undrained

Place yogurt and pineapple plus juice in blender container; cover. Blend until well combined. Serve immediately in tall, chilled glasses.

Serving size: 1 cup
Calories per serving: 269
Protein 10 g, fat 3 g, carbohydrate 53 g
Calcium 353 mg, riboflavin (B2) .42 mg.

Lemon avocado

Yield: approximately 4 cups
2 medium-sized ripe avocados, seeded, peeled, cut up
2 containers (8 oz. each) lemon yogurt
1 ½ cups cold milk

Place avocado and yogurt in blender container; cover. Puree until smooth. Add milk; blend well. Serve over ice in tall glasses garnished with a lemon slice and a sprig of mint. Serve immediately.

Serving size: 1 cup
Calories per serving: 315
Protein 1 g, fat 20 g, carbohydrate 27 g
Calcium 316 mg, riboflavin (B2) .50 mg

They wait patiently for dusk to arrive

Generations of theatre-goers have sat in the Point amphitheater on the banks of the Guadalupe River at dusk eagerly anticipating the rise of the curtain. And when a musical is on the playbill, the first strains of music from the orchestra in the pit bring a particular thrill.

The Point Theatre 1985 summer session boasts five shows, three of which are musical productions.

"Dear World," the season's opener, will play through June 22 on Wednesday through Saturday evenings. It is a delightful musical fantasy of good versus evil adapted from Jean Giraudoux' "The Madwoman of Chaillot" which is set in post-World War II Paris.

The book for the play was written by the well-known Broadway team Jerome Lawrence and Robert E. Lee. Jerry Herman wrote the music and lyrics. Angela Lansbury starred as the Madwoman of Chaillot, Countess Aurelia, in the Broadway production in the early seventies.

The play centers around three lovably eccentric little old Parisian ladies (played by Sally Ritch, Elizabeth Real and Carole Curry) who decide to rid the world of greed, materialism and corruption.

It all begins when a mighty syndicate of financiers headed up by "The President" (Roger Drummond) decides to quadruple its already-immense fortune by drilling for oil under the streets of Paris. The President, giddy in his megalomania, exclaims, "All of paris will be one gigantic slagheap!"

The Madwoman of Chaillot, countess Aurelia, and her compatriots, the Madwoman of Montmarte and the Flea Market, are aided by the gentle souls and free spirits of Paris in their plan to combat this encroachment of materialistic interests.

Their plan involves trapping the money-hungry menace. Where?

The dignified Sewerman (Andy Ritch) isn't eager to clutter up his fascinating Parisian sewer (or as Countess Aurelia calls it, his inverted Eiffel Tower) so he suggests that the heartless materialists might be happy in the "sewer-below-the-sewer." There are certain things, he explains, that are simply not suitable for his sewer.

Countess Aurelia is not content to limit herself to waging a war against greed. She also is fostering a romance between Nina (Gail Law), a sweet waitress at the Cafe Francis, and Julian (Charles Gray), a handsome idealist-almost-gone-wrong.

As is usually the case in musical theater, truth and beauty win out, but not without clever dialogue and enchanting songs.

Others in the cast include Ed Ashley, David Cockerell, Dennie Pierce, Michael Cox, Michäel Derry, Rod Johnson, Marjorie Ashley, Kathlene Ritch and Geena Robin.

Also appearing are Marti Schneider, Donnetta Irby, Theda Schlieter, Saralynn Pike, Tammy Clanton, John Garcia, Stephen Wray, Jack Davis and Shane Threadgill.

"Dear World" will be directed by Claudia Sullivan, assistant professor of Speech and Drama at Schreiner College.

The four magnificent sets were designed by Jim Weisman, a former Point Theatre director, award-winning set designer, and currently a designer/technician for the Performing Arts Center at the University of Texas at Austin.

Technical director Marcus Sullivan is in charge of set construction and lighting.

Costumer Betty Itz has designed and made the wardrobe including several fabulous hats for the Madwomen.

Tom Hale is the Point's musical director. Sally Ritch is doubling as the production's vocal coach.

Tickets are on sale at the Point Theatre box office and are $7 for adults, $4 for children 12 and under.

Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 367-5122. Curtain time is 8:30.

Riding championship set for children

The George Paul Superstar Bull Riding Contest in San Antonio will benefit the Texas Lions Camp in Kerrville, which provides physically handicapped children with five two-week camp sessions of fun, free of charge to their parents.

The Bull Riding Contest will be held at the HemisFair Convention Center Arena on June 22 at 8 p.m. The event is scheduled to become part of San Antonio's annual Festival and will expand to three other Texas cities.

The winner will receive a $30,000 prize.

Tears and happiness mark BHS rites

By Melissa Ross

The final farewells were said by the Bandera High School class of 1985 in a night filled for graduates with both happiness and tears. Sixty-six seniors received diplomas in a ceremony in the BHS Auditorium Friday.

Ronald (Bubba) Caloss Jr. led the ceremony in a valedictory address that emphasized what he termed "the three C's," character, confidence, and courage.

Senior Trey Graves introduced Dr. Donald L. Anderson, executive director of the Ecumental Center for Religion and Health and Hospice San Antonio, Inc. He is a former Baptist pastor in Kerrville and several other cities. He is a licensed psychologist and an associate professor at the University of Texas Health and Science Center in San Antonio.

Of the 66 graduating seniors, there were 12 members of the National Honor Society.

One of the highlights of the evening was the presentation of $11,762 in scholarships.

Thomas Callahan and Nancy Hayes won the highest Doane Foundation Scholarships of $1,000 each. Other Doane foundation winners included Shannon McMullan and Ronald Caloss Jr., $700 each, and Jill MacMillan, Scott Kelly, Heath Hulse, Stephanie Hill, John S. Graves III, and Terri Butler, $100 each.

Scholarships of $150 were given to Christine Fleming and Stephanie Hill from the Bexar County Legal Secretaries Association.

Denise Walker Memorial Scholarships of $200 each were presented to Kellie Clements and Charles Perry.

A $1,000 scholarship was given to Heath Hulse from the First Baptist Church.

A First National Bank scholarship of $350 was presented to Scott Kelly, $250 to Nancy Hayes and $150 to Christine Fleming.

Scholarships of $200 each were given to John S. Graves III and Shannon McMullan from Gill Savings and Loan Association.

The Herman Schlemmer Memorial scholarship of $500 was presented to Kathy Ryan.

The Joe E. Langford Memorial scholarship of $462 went to Thomas Callahan.

The Bandera Masonic Lodge scholarship of $500 was given to Jill MacMillan.

A $1,000 scholarship went to John S. Graves III and a $500 grant to Scott Kelly from the Pipe Creek Community Center.

Scholarships of $500 each went to Ronald Caloss Jr. and Kelly Kindla from St. Stanislaus Catholic Church.

The VFW Voice of Democracy award of $950 was presented to Nancy Hayes.

A full scholarship to the U.S. Military Academy in West Point, N.Y., was announced for Wayne Peck. The appointment includes room and board, medical and dental care, monthly pay, and a commission in the U.S. Army upon graduation.

Senior class president Nancy Hayes gave a very touching senior class farewell. Nancy emphasized the uniqueness of the class of 1985 and made everyone realize how much they will all be missed.

Gene Mathews

William Gene Mathews is better known to all his friends as Gene. He is the son of Gene Mathews and Marilyn Deyhimer. His father lives in Georgia and his mother lives in Ohio. His grandparents, who live in Pipe Creek, are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Urvina.

The greatest influence on Gene's life were his grandparents, brothers, coaches, his best friend Wayne, his girlfriend Shannon, Robin and Mr. and Mrs. Jud Ashmore. He plans to live life to the fullest and enjoy every minute of it and would change nothing about his high school years except to make better grades.

During Gene's sophomore year he played junior varsity football. During his junior year he played varsity football and track. He was junior football player of the year, first-team all-district defensive tackle and was a regional qualifier in the 200-meter dash and the 400-meter relay. He was involved in FFA and FHA.

As a senior, he was first-team all-district and second team all-state defensive tackle. He will play for the south in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star game in August. He was also senior football player of the year.

In track he qualified for regionals in the 100- and 200-meter dashes and the 400-meter relay, and was track most valuable participant. He lettered in baseball also. He was involved in FFA and ALS.

He will play football this fall for the University of Tarkio, where he plans to get a degree in business management.

—Wayne Peck

NHS officers elected

By Jolene Butler

Billy Morris was elected to run the Bandera chapter, National Honor Society, for the 1985-86 school year in elections, May 24. Other officers include vice president Derrin Berg, secretary Melissa Ross and treasurer Greg Fest.

Spring band concert

May 28, 1985, the 1984-85 Bandera High School band gave their last performance of the school year to an almost-full house.

At the concert Tome Walters recognized the senior band members and the recipients of this year's awards.

The John Phillip Sousa award went to Phyllis Graham, the Director's award went to Kim Cherry, and the Pride of the Bulldog Band award went to Stephanie Hill.

In addition to the High School Band performing, the 5th grade and the 6th-7th grade bands each performed their programs. The junior high choral music class also made a guest appearance.

The high-point of the evening was a guest conducting appearance by Mr. Milton Hausman, a former band director who lives in Tarpley.

"This last concert topped off a year of hard work by the 'Swinging Band from Bulldog Land,'" said bandsman Shane Yates.

Single parent group

A Single Parent Support Group has been formed to meet 7:30 p.m., Tuesdays, at the First United Methodist Church, 400 Thompson Drive, Kerrville, with baby sitting provided.

The organization is non-denominational and open to men and women, custodial and non-custodial single parents, widowed single parents and single guardians.

Wildlife project available for schools

Public school teachers and administrators who wish to include wildlife and the environment in their curricula now may receive assistance through a new program administered by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Project Wild is an education program designed by and for teachers, and it includes a six-hour workshop and printed activity guides.

During the workshops, teachers will be instructed in the various activities which can be incorporated into their lesson plans. The program is designed for elementary and secondary schools.

Project Wild is an international network of educators, wildlife professionals, youth leaders, community representatives and 32 state wildlife and resource agencies, according to Darrell Holt, coordinator for the Texas project.

The two primary sponsoring agencies are the Western Association of Fish & Wildlife Agencies and the Western Regional Environmental Education Council. The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department became an associate sponsor with the Dallas Safari Club, Houston Safari Club and the Frank and Bea Wood Foundation.

More information may be obtained by writing Darrell Holt, Project Wild Coordinator, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, TX 78744, or by calling toll-free 1-800-792-1112.

Brad Floyd of Pipe Creek executes a maneuver on his horse while another steed awaits his turn—seemingly studying the performance of young Floyd's horse. The Bulletin's camera caught this action Tuesday during the Bandera County 4-H Horse Club's three-day riding seminar presented by two advanced students from Texas A&M University, Amy Goldberg of Fruitvale and Rene Graf of Vernon. They are one of three team from A&M that teaches young equestrians the fundamentals of riding safety, the use of their "feet, seat and hands," basic riding maneuvers, and techniques for participating in 4-H horse shows. Hefty increases expected in hunting license fees

Fees for general non-resident hunting licenses are expected to nearly double to $200 and fees for residents of Texas are expected to be increased by 25 percent Thursday during a meeting of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in Austin.

The wildlife agency's staff recommended increasing the fees for residents of Texas from $8 to $10 and for general non-resident hunting licenses from $100.75 to $200.

No increase was recommended in the cost of fishing licenses, now $6 for Texans and $15 for out-of-state residents.

The new hunting license rates recommended by the agency also include increasing the cost of combination licenses for residents from $12 to $15, the resident hunting exempt licenses from $5 to $6, and duplicate hunting licenses from $5 to $6.

The non-resident small game license fee will be increased to $75, from the current $37.75, if the commission accepts the recommendation of its staff.

The wildlife agency said the national average fee for resident hunting licenses is $22.15 and the national average for non-residents is $118.22.

The commission also will consider regulations for public hunts on wildlife management areas for the 1985-86 hunting season. The meeting, which is open to the public, will be held at Parks and Wildlife Department headquarters, 4200 Smith School Road.

County to award road work contracts

The Bandera County commissioners Monday voted to advertise for bids on contracts to pave, repave or repair a variety of roads at a cost expected to amount to $225,000.

Commissioners also voted to advertise for bids for a new, gabled roof on the Bandera County Library, estimated to cost $12,000, but delayed awarding a contract for construction of a new restroom facility in the courthouse.

The road work authorized includes the complete renovation of Wharton's Dock Road, at an estimated cost of $95,000, and work in the other three commissioner's precincts amounting to $40,000 to $45,000 each.

Commissioners had placed top priority on the repair of Wharton's Dock Road several months ago when it became clear the road was deteriorating rapidly.

As it is, one of the 10 miles of the road will have to be completely rebuilt, including blading, rebasing and paving with two shots of seal coating, according to Commissioner Jimmy Russell.

The remaining nine miles will be repaired and seal coated with a single shot. The entire 10-mile length of road will be widened from 20 feet to 22 feet, Russell said.

Three specific roads in Precinct 2, the Lakehills area, are scheduled for work and three unspecified roads in each Precinct 3 and 4 are scheduled to be worked on.

The Lakehills area roads to be worked include 6,500 feet of Pebble Beach Road and Pebble Drive East from FM 1283 to Look Out Drive, 5,500 feet of Elmhurst Drive, and 3,500 feet of Goat Hill Road's left fork from the second cattleguard to the end of the loop.

Pebble Beach Road will be 22 feet wide, Pebble Drive East and Goat Hill Road 20 feet, and Elmhurst Drive 18 feet.

Commissioner Pete Reed of Precinct 3 did not name the roads he wants paved, but said two miles are in the Bandera area, 1½ miles in the Tarpley area, and 1 mile in the Medina area.

Commissioner Bud Thompson of Vanderpool said only that work would be scheduled on more than 20,000 feet of road in Precinct 4.

Commissioners decided two weeks ago to pay for $100,000 of the work from funds now on hand and to borrow $125,000 to be repaid from funds dedicated to road repairs in the future.

City forms panel to hear complaints against police

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The Bandera City Council changed an ordinance to strip the city's mayor of the power to hire and fire police officers Monday and gave birth to a grievance committee to hear complaints against police.

Although Mayor Bob Cowan was not present at Monday's meeting, City Attorney Terry Mason indicated the mayor would welcome the change.

In other action Monday night the council approved the city's budget for 1985-86 (see related article on Page 4), set a public hearing to consider a change of zoning for the block that contains the old hotel at Cedar and 11th Streets, and approved a zoning change to allow Kerry Hevenor to build a retail and wholesale lumber company at the end of 12th Street behind the old Country Shopper.

Mayor Cowan is attending an architect's convention in California and was not available for comment this week. Last month, however, he voluntarily turned over to the council the right to decide the fate of Police Chief Walter Welch and Officer Joe MacMillan after he had asked them to resign.

The council voted to retain the officers and this week approved a 2.8 percent salary increase for Welch and a 5.5 percent hike for MacMillan.

The amended ordinance giving the council the power to hire and fire police officers was suggested by Mayor Pro Tem Raymond Adamietz, who presided Monday in the absence of Mayor Cowan.

The ordinance was amended by a 4-0 vote, with council members Dianne Tobin, Ross Bailey, Gilbert Scheele and Joe Fox all voting for it.

The grievance committee is to be appointed by the council during its next regular meeting on July 8. It will consist of one council member and four residents and qualified voters of the city of Bandera who will serve three-year terms.

The committee will be empowered to establish a system to investigate complaints against the police and to recommend action to the council.

Bailey expressed deep opposition to the committee because he feels it discriminates against police by creating a panel to hear complaints against them but not other city employees.

Dianne Tobin, however, called it "an organized way to listen to grievances from the public."

Adamietz, the presiding officer, had to vote to break a 2-2 tie in order for the grievance committee idea to become law. Tobin and Fox voted for the committee and Bailey and Scheele voted against it.

"I'll vote for it because I think it will help (communication) both ways," Adamietz said.

Bailey abstained from voting on a zoning change for a new Hevenor Lumber Company, though he said he favored it at the beginning of the discussion. Attorney Ron Jackson represented Hevenor and said the zoning change "would keep Mr. Hevenor's company in the city and keep a clean business that provides good (tax) income for the city."

No one objected to the change.

The council voted 2-1 to join the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and area guest ranches in paying for printing of four-color brochures promoting the city and the area.

The council agreed to pay $1,500 of the $7,000 the chamber spent on the brochures. The guest ranches and hotels paid $3,500 of the cost, Adamietz told the council.

No formal action was taken on a set of guidelines for street employees drawn up by council member Scheele, but Melvin King told the council the guidelines were already given to employees who have said they would try to comply.

The rules proscribed hours for working and for breaks and listed techniques which Scheele says will improve their performance in patching streets.

No action was taken either after a brief discussion by attorney Mason on the legal aspects of offering city-held prisoners the opportunity to perform some community services in lieu of fines.

Mayor Cowan had asked him to research the matter, Mason said.

No action was taken either after a discussion of whether developer Buddy Thompson was conforming to city specifications in the installation of sewer facilities to serve a commercial development under construction off State Highway 16.

Feds spend $26 million here

Direct federal spending in Bandera County increased by 24.7 percent from $20.9 million in fiscal 1983 to $26.1 million during fiscal 1984, according to a report recently issued by the Department of Commerce.

The federal government's fiscal 1984 began on Oct. 1, 1983, and ended on Sept. 30, 1984. Direct federal spending nationally increased by 4.2 percent while direct federal spending in Texas increased by 5.8 percent.

Per capita (per person) direct federal expenditures in Bandera County were $3,376 during fiscal 1984, having increased from $2,955 or by 14.2 percent since fiscal 1983.

Direct per capita federal expenditures in Texas during fiscal 1984 were $2,606 or 1.5 percent less than in fiscal 1983. National per capita federal expenditures in fiscal 1984 amounted to $3,108 or 1.9 percent greater than during fiscal 1983.

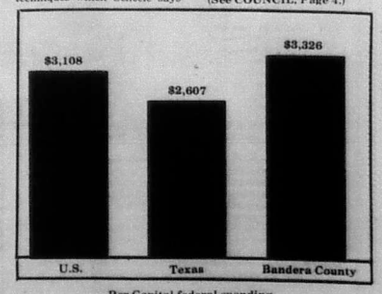

Direct payments to individuals were the largest single source of federal spending in Bandera County during fiscal 1984. These amounted to $17,513,000 during the year. Of this total, $14,543,000 consisted of retirement and disability benefits for individuals, including Social Security retirement and disability pension payments, retired civil sevice and military pensions, veterans' benefits and allowances, expenditures for medicare, as well as most of the other forms of federal assistance for individuals which are usually termed "transfer payments" or "entitlements".

Direct payments to individuals have been the largest single item in the federal budget since 1971. These accounted for 44.6 percent of all direct federal spending during the fiscal 1984. Direct payments to individuals were 43.8 percent of federal expenditures in Texas during fiscal 1984 and 65.7 percent of direct federal spending in Bandera County during that period.

Military retirement pay and veterans benefits in Bandera County increased by fully 147.2 percent in 1984 to $10,379,000. That figure amounts to 39.8 percent of the federal funds spent in Bandera County.

Spending by federal departments and agencies, including the Departments of Agriculture, Commerce, Housing and Urban Development, Interior, and Transportation and the Environmental Protection Agency totaled $251,000.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

4½ centuries. It's difficult to put that into perspective.

Word filtering in from the archeological dig at Oak Country subdivision east of Pipe Creek is exciting.

Dr. Thomas R. Hester and his 29 advanced students are finding lots of interesting and scientificly important artifacts. The possibility remains that this site will yield evidence that will help answer the questions that these common sites raise.

What, exactly, did those early Bandera County visitors do?

Sometimes it takes a little reflection to put things into perspective. This is one of those times.

The state of Texas has officially recognized two or three Bandera County farms that have been operating continuously under family ownership for more than a century.

Hey, it is fitting to honor the stability and staying power of the pioneers who established farms here—100 years ago.

In Bandera we also remember with pride the accomplishments of the pioneers who founded our communities and our county—135 years ago.

We'll dance in the streets next Saturday to salute the sesquicentennial anniversary of the birth of our state—150 years ago.

A week-long fiesta in San Antonio celebrates the founding of that city—230 years ago.

Comanches, Apaches, the tribes of the Tonkawa and others held sway in Texas since the beginning of the so-called Neo-American stage of our development—1,000 years ago.

Large groups of hunting and gathering Indians roamed this part of the world and left behind sites which are common in Bandera County—2,000 years ago.

That's a long time ago, and any evidence of civilization that old is an artifact worth study and worth cherishing.

But the LaVita dart point found last week at Oak Country is older still. Twice as old. It was used by perhaps our first tourists—4,500 years ago.

With a history that long, Bandera County is naturally rich in historical artifacts. There is ample testimony to that, of course, at the Frontier Times Museum.

Soon, perhaps, that collection will be enriched by some of the artifacts being studied at Oak Country.

Dr. Hester, who heads UTSA's archeology department, was rich in his praise of the developers of Oak Country who informed him of the site.

He said that too often important prehistoric sites are destroyed by land developers bringing "civilization" to the countryside.

In most cases it is not malicious or wanton destruction, but a case of "they know not what they do."

He said archeologists have been trying to get the word out to developers to report to a nearby university any site that looks like it might be historically important.

Dr. Hester said he's heard one rumor that disturbs him. It seems a commercial dealer in artifacts has leased a ranch in either Bandera or Medina County. He intends to bring in a crew of diggers and machinery to "mine" those artifacts he can sell in roadside curio stands.

We hope that is just a rumor and nothing more.

"The destruction of a site just for the 'pretty' things in it would be a scientific disaster," Dr. Hester says.

Opinion

—Letters—

Want's Tom's job

Dear editor:

As someone who may be interested in succeeding Congressman Tom Loeffler, should he decide to run for governor, I read with interest your editorial about the prospect of a congressman from the San Antonio area.

I share your concern about a candidate who is viewed as a "San Antonio candidate" or a "Midland candidate" or whatever. If I do run for Congress in the 21st district, it will be as a candidate who can represent all the district and not just part. Frankly, I think all the residents of the district will be best served by such a candidate rather than by a person who attempts to play off one part of the district against another.

Besides serving as a Bexar County commissioner, where I now represent about 25 percent of the voters in the 21st congressional district, I also have ties to the Hill Country and hold tight to the values of living close to the land.

My hunch is that I am the only prospective candidate who owns property in Bandera County.

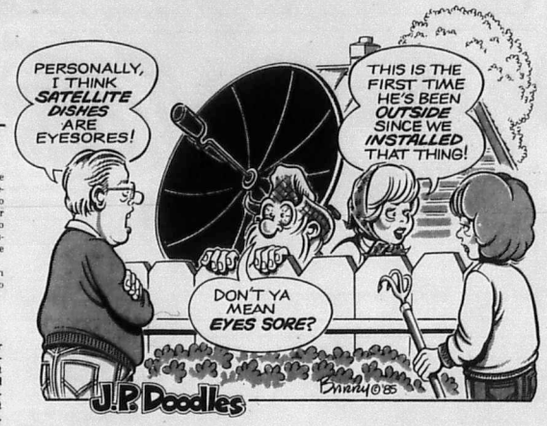

Also, since 1978 my sister and I have owned and operated ranching and farming interest in South Texas. Whether it's signing pay checks, figuring bills, deciding when to sell steers, or choosing between planting grain or corn, we are involved in the daily operations of a ranch and farm. These activities make for strong ties to the land.

I do appreciate your perspective and wanted to let you know something more of my background. To me, should Tom Loeffler run for governor, the best person to replace him will be a congressman who can represent all the 21st district.

$1.2 million budget cut is stuff from which heroes are made

The dynamics of Texas politics are changing fast in the wake of the recent legislative session, but the new leaders who are emerging from both parties may be challenged soon by shifts in the state's economy.

Several lawmakers earned gold stars for the business-like way they cut $1.2 billion from the state budget without raising taxes, but everyone, Democrat and Republican, alike, is well aware that a major tax increase looms in the near future.

The Lone Star State's government has no projected surplus. None whatsoever. Thus, if oil prices drop any at all, the Legislature could have to come back into special session to raise taxes to fund basic government. By its Constitution, Texas cannot operate a deficit.

And so the new heroes, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, House Speaker Gib Lewis, budget chairmen Sen. Grant Jones and Rep. Jim Rudd, may be basking in short-lived public gratitude.

The new democrats

The budget-cutting feat was a real boost for Democrats, particularly conservatives, who disproved the Republican line that Democrats cannot be trusted to manage tax dollars.

The conservatives even earned the gratitude of some liberals for increasing their party's respectability in the wake of the '84 defeats. Yet they could lose it all if the money crunch comes and they fail to repeat their blue-ribbon fiscal performance.

Granted, they had the help of the Republicans who serve in the Legislature. The budget cutting was a bipartisan effort that saw most lawmakers place the good of the state above the good of their political parties.

But since the leadership was composed of Democrats, one unlikely event has occured: conservative and liberal Democrats have, for the most part, called a truce to their perpetual war.

White: up or down?

One exception to that cozy little scenario is Gov. Mark White who caught criticism from some fellow Democrats in the waning hours of the session. They said White didn't exercise enough leadership, but his supporters, pointing to the new indigent care package he rammed through in the three-day special session, say that he did.

A recent poll indicatd that 46 percent of Texans think the governor did a good or excellent job, more than the 41 percent rating given to the Legislature. Only 16 percent frowned on him.

The new republicans

The Republicans gained in stature, too, and show many signs of emerging from minority party status. Besides the clout they wielded in the Texas House under the leadership of Gerald Geistweidt, R-Mason, Ed Emmett, R-Houston, and Tom Craddick, R-Midland, they now have the beginnings of a healthy party fracas themselves.

It's most obvious in the jockeying for the GOP gubernatorial nomination. Former Democrat Kent Hance of Lubbock switched parties only to find himself challenged by U.S. Rep Tom Loeffler, also of West Texas, and a whole host of other potentials.

Some of the big names that loom out at you are former Gov. Bill Clements, former Democratic Speaker Bill Clayton, Dallas Cowboys coach Tom Landry, and Amarillo oilman T. Boone Pickens.

Clements jumps Gramm

Now that Republicans stand to make a good run for the Governor's Mansion, some long-time party loyalists are not so keen at handing the nomination to new converts, former Democrat, and that's where the inner party squabbling lies.

Usually, Republicans keep their family bickering quietly to themselves, but some dissension came out last week, by no less a personage than Bill Clements himself.

Clements accused U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm of dividing and polarizing the GOP by endorsing Kent Hance for governor. Both are former Democrats, and the endorsement has come early, before the other GOP candidates have even announced for the race.

Gramm's recruit

Gramm personally recruited Hance for the Republican Party, but Clements told an oil producer's group that Gramm showed bad judgment. "An endorsement by a senior person like myself or Gramm is divisive and causes polarization...The wounds and scars it would cause would not be helpful."

"It's more a Democratic way of acting. Maybe Senator Gramm has not gotten used being a Republican," Clements said.

In comparison with recent post-Legislature years, the jockeying for position is coming much, much earlier. And the early signs indicate that 1986 could be a year that departs form political tradition for both parties in many ways.

Frantic drive to hospital ends short of destination

It was about 1 a.m. on Thursday morning that Gary Simmons awoke his mother, Danna, in her Wharton's Dock area home, Gary's wife, Waverly, was in labor, he said.

They helped Waverly into the car, and with Danna at the wheel, headed for the hospital in San Antonio. The grandmother-to-be was driving faster and faster, hoping to attract the attention of a policeman for escort, but the labor pains were becoming more frequent.

They got as far as San Geronimo and beyond, but there on the shoulder of State Highway 16 Gary delivered his first-born, a son they call Aaron.

Mom and son both home now in the Wharton's Dock area doing fine. And grandma? Her nerves are only now settling down, she reports.

Sales taxes here continue to increase over 1984

Sales taxes paid in Bandera have increased 12.4 percent over last year, figures released by the state comptroller's office show.

Payments to the city of Bandera so far this year amount to $56,750 compared to $50,511 at the same time last year. This is 1 percent of the 5.125 percent sales tax collected by merchants in Bandera.

Sales taxes paid through May were down 21.5 percent in Rocksprings, up 15.4 percent in Boerne, up 5.5 percent in Ingram, up 10.8 percent in Kerrville, down 2.3 percent in Junction, up 14.4 percent in Castroville, up 9.6 percent in Hondo, up 2.2 percent in Leakey, and up 13.7 percent in Uvalde.

Statewide, collections were similar to Bandera's, showing a 12.0 percent increase over the total collected through May.

Brooks receives service medal

Air Force Master Sgt. Harold W. Brooks, son of Elsie Brooks Smith and stepson of Thomas O. Smith of Bandera, has been decorated with the Meritorious Service Medal at Randolph Air Force Base.

The Meritorious Service Medal is awarded specifically for outstanding non-combat meritorious achievement or service to the United States.

Brooks is a supply management superintendent with Headquarters, Air Training Command.

His wife, Hope, is the daughter of Jose and Isabell Rios of Bandera.

He is a 1965 graduate of Bandera High School.

successful repairs was by the construction of a new, gabled roof. Library board chairman Billie Morris had estimated the cost of repairs at less than $12,000.

A single bid received for the construction of restroom facilities at the courthouse was from Winzel Building and Remodeling in San Antonio and was for $5,741.

Another bid had been expected from Mike Smith of Bandera, according to county Treasurer Elizabeth James. Smith had given county officials the original estimate of the cost of the project.

When James personally criticized one of the persons involved in the bidding process, commissioners voted to table consideration of Winzel's bid.

In other action Monday, commissioners gave final approval to a plat filed by Jim Henderson of Wimberly for Hondo Oaks subdivision off State Highway 462 south of Tarpley and for minor changes in Lakewood estates subdivision at Park Road 37 and FM 1283.

They tabled, pending reseach into the legal aspects of the matter, a request from a group of Medina residents to abandon a strip of land now designated as part of Reed Avenue in Medina but on which no road has ever been built.

The Medina Baptist Church plans to purchase property that contains the area in question and to settle a boundry problem between property owned by the United Methodist and Baptist churches, a spokesman said.

Commissioners also gave preliminary approval to a re-plat of Pipe Creek Estates to accomodate the newly-constructed little league baseball field.

In action during a special meeting two weeks ago, commissioners purchased $1,000-deductable insurance on the county's two road maintainers from Joe McMullan Insurance at a cost of $1,750.

Floresville getting water system grant

Floresville received a $290,000 grant from the state this week to pay for improvements to the city's water system.

Gov. Mark White announced the grant, which is provided under the Texas Community Development program, the Express-News said.

A ground water storage tank, water well and water line improvements will be financed with the grant.

Half-million dollar budget OKed

The Bandera city council approved a budget for the year beginning July 1 that calls for spending $514,000 and grants an across-the-board pay raise of 2.85 percent to city employees.

The budget will "more than likely" be able to be fully financed without an increase in property taxes according to city secretary Tammy Kneuper.

The city needs to raise $43,500 from property taxes to finance the budget, and that's practically identical to the $43,057 it received this year from that source.

The exact tax rate to finance the budget will be determined after the property valuations are available from county taxing offices.

The budget also projects only a modest increase of 1.6 percent next year in proceeds from the city's one-percent tax on retail sales, though actual collections continually have been more than 10 percent over the previous year's collection.

Besides the modest pay hike for city employees, the spending plan also includes funds for two additional city employees, one to perform clerical duties for the police department and another to be clerk of the municipal court, said Mayor Pro-Tem Raymond Adamietz, who presided at Monday's meeting of the city council in the absence of Mayor Bob Cowan.

The budget was approved Monday unanimously after little discussion from a small audience at the advertised public hearing. No one objected to any of the items in the budget.

The spending document was hammered out May 20 during a budget workshop meeting of the council.

The budget calls for total expenditures of $514,286.46, a 3.9 percent increase over actual expenditures during 1984-85 of $494,905.41. It is the first city budget ever to exceed one-half million dollars.

The biggest single item in the budget, by far, is for salaries. The budget authorizes salaries for city employees totaling $189,836, a 5.6 percent increase over the $179,753 paid city employees in 1984-85.

It also calls for spending an additional $4,160 for contract labor and $15,000 for employee payroll deductions, making the total employee cost amount to $208,996.

Among the largest items other than payroll included in the budget is $20,000 to operate the police department and $19,000 to finance the municipal court. The PD budget is just 1.2 percent over actual expenditures during 1984-85.

Because of a change in how fees are budgeted, a direct comparison of last year's spending by the municipal court can't be made.

A total of $12,000 was budgeted for street repairs, an amount equal to that budgeted by the council to be spent during 1984-85. However, the city spent only $4,911 on street repairs during the past year.

Fully $50,000 was budgeted for utilities, up 6.9 percent over actual expenitures this year, and $25,000 was earmarked for general maintenance and building expenses, up 12.6 percent from the $22,204 spent this year.

The council budgeted $17,000 to pay insurance premiums, a 12.1 percent increase from the $15,164 expended this year, but they set aside only $10,000 for legal expenses, a 31.6 percent decrease from the city's legal expenses this year.

The budget also calls for spending $20,000 for truck expenses the coming year, an 8.5 percent reduction over this year, and $8,000 for office supplies and equipment, a 23.4 percent reduction over 1984-85.

This year the city spent $29,258 to refurbish two of its water wells, and the council anticipates spending only $8,000 for well maintenance in the coming year. "Our two main wells are like new again, we hope," said Adamietz.

The city also plans to pay Garbage Gobbler, Inc., $78,000 to haul trash from the city, but anticipates income of $84,000 from garbage customers.

The city also projects earning of $85,000 from water customers, $61,000 for sewer services, and $50,000 from fines levied by the municipal court.

Other items of income include $24,000 from gross receipts taxes, $12,000 from licenses and permits, and $22,500 in fees from out-of-the-city customers of the water and sewer sevices who pay a fee in lieu of city property taxes.

Pay increases range from $520 per year for the city's highest-paid employee, Melvin King, who will be paid $18,720, to $260 per year for the lowest-paid workman, who will make $8,531.14 per year.

Mrs. C.O. Callahan nominated as Bandera's 'Mother of the year'

Mrs. C.O. Callahan of Bandera was nominated "Mother of the Year" from St. Stanislaus Church to be represented at the 10th annual Motherhood Banquet held May 26, 1960 at the Hilton Hotel Ballroom.

Bishop Christopher Weldon of Springfield, Mass. and Archbishop Robert E. Lucy of San Antonio presented scrolls to each of the 49 mothers of the archdiocese.

Among the relatives accompanying Mrs. Callahan to the banquet were her husband and daughter, Patty.

Willie Schmidt came out first in a runoff election in the second Democratic primary elections for county commissioner, Precint 1. He received a total of 349 votes. His opponent W.B. (Mack) Joiner ran a close second with 309 votes.

Henry Lloyd Kalka of the Kalka Service Station announced he would give one of those fascinating "bloop balls" with each five gallons of gasoline purchased with cash.

A brush fire swept over more than 1,000 acres and brought out volunteer firefighters from Bandera, Kerr and Medina Counties. The fire destroyed range lands and an estimated 425 goats on the S.P. Sutton Ranch. Hardest hit were the Don Loyd and Sutton Ranches above Medina.

A benefit was held for the North Medina Lake Methodist Church. Plates were $1 for adults and 50 cents for children.

The request for a building permit said the facility would contain 22,640 square feet

The building permit indicates the cost of the project, including furnishings and supplies, will total $1.2 million.

Council took no action after Scheele and citizen Geneva Dowell questioned the use of the Municipal Building, with its open offices, for meetings of the Bandera County Sesquicentennial Committee.

The public hearing to consider a zone change for the old hotel on Cedar Street was requested for owner Richard L. Weber by attorney Jackson.

He said the property has always been zoned for single-family residences but permitted to operate because its use as a hotel-apartment unit pre-dated the earliest zoning law.

However, Jackson says, the owner is prohibited even from making necessary repairs and from expanding it as long as it remains zoned for single-family residences.

The hearing will be held at 7:30 p.m., July 8.

Spending

While the federal government does not provide a breakdown of these figures in Bandera County, it is certain that the Department of Agriculture was the largest source of these funds.

Other federal spending in Bandera County during the fiscal year included $427,000 in grant awards. Specific details on all local grants were not provided. However, besides general revenue sharing grants, the largest sources for grant funds in most counties are the Departments of Agriculture, Education, Health and Human Services, Housing and Urban Development, Labor and Transportation.

While the total of direct federal spending in Bandera County is substantial, it does not include another important source of federal money in the county: federal loans and federally guaranteed loans.

These are not included in direct federal spending figures because, as loans, it is presumed that these funds will eventually be repaid to the federal government.

Federal loans and federally guaranteed loans encompass a variety of programs. These include emergency farm disaster loans, rural electric loans and loan guarantees, Small Business Administration loans, student loans for higher education, community development loans, many of the various housing loan programs, as well as others.

Direct federal loans in Bandera county were only $4,000 during fiscal 1984. However, federally-guaranteed loans in the county amounted to $7,852,000.

The Department of Agriculture's loan programs were among the larger sources of federally guaranteed loans in Bandera County during the year. The Department of Agriculture's loan programs as well as various farm loan programs.

None of the federal spending totals in Bandera County include expenditures made through the United States Postal Service in Bandera County. The Postal Service's expenditures are no longer considered a part of the federal budget since the Postal Service is considered a separate corporation.

Members, young and old lined up Sunday to turn a shovel of dirt at the ground breaking for the new Club House to be constructed at Thousand Trails RV Resort. Members took time out from the newly opened jacuzzi to participate in the ground breaking.

SA woman captures bean cookoff title

Lorene Bland of San Antonio walked off with first place in the Hermann Sons third Annual Pinto Bean Cook-off on Saturday. Bland's "239 Beans" were judged number one by Richard Frey, Martha Kastak, and Al Woodson, who came from the Hillboldt Lodge in Waller to judge the Lakehills contest.

The Lakehills Sesquicentennial Association came in second place with it's "1836 Beans", cooked by Betty Baxter, and Patti Hise took third place with her "Belly Button Beans."

Showmanship judges Mr. and Mrs. Ben Boyd of the Hermann Sons Grand Lodge in San Antonio chose Kelly's Shamrock Tavern entry from Pipe Creek first in showmanship. Second place in showmanship went to Lorene Bland and third place to "The Lakehills Bean Company," by John Cavazos Jr. of San Antonio.

There was entertainment for everyone. While the older participants enjoyed musical entertainment by the County Shufflers, the youngsters enjoyed the kiddie rides and moon walk.

Bean and cake auctions were conducted by Si Turner an Gordon Nordland. Several items were donated back and auctioned for a second time, raising the proceeds even higher for the fundraiser.

Miss Lakehills, Sue Pickett, visited during the afternoon with those in attendance and participated in the auction.

Adult Clinic canceled

The Texas Department of Health has canceled the Adult Health Clinic scheduled for June 19 at the American Legion Hall. A spokeswoman for the State Health Department said the clinics will resume in July.

St. Victor's festival a success

The annual Spring Festival held at St. Victor's Chapel on June 2 was a success. Spokeswoman Cecilia Hartman said everyone enjoyed the delicious barbecue and fun and games. She credited the support from the many volunteers and citizens of the community with the success of the annual event.

Shriners honor Stufflebeans

Glenn and Lillie Stufflebean were recently honored by the Medina Lake Shrine Club for their generous contribution to the Shriners Children's Hospital during their fund drive.

Club president Gene Laue and drive chairman Tony Kruse presented the Stufflebeans with a crippled children's booster pin and a certificate of appreciation.

Meeting for Gumbo Cook-off planners

There will be a meeting for planning and idea exchanges June 20 at 7:30 p.m. at the Lakehills Civic Center for the 5th Annual Gumbo Cook-off. Spokeswoman Peggy Ashmore said "although the cook-off isn't until September, plans must be started now." The cook-off is sponsored annually by the Medina Lake Betterment Association to raise funds for the Civic Center.

The giant cook-off was started in 1981 and has grown to accomodate 3,000 to 4,000 people who come to enjoy the day of fun and festivities at Medina Lake each year.

Many local and area people enter the gumbo cooking contest along with entrants from Louisiana and all along the Gulf Coast. Judges come from as far away as New Orleans and Rockport.

Anyone interested in helping plan this year's event is encouraged to attend the planning meeting, Ashmore said. "Last year about 150 volunteers worked the cookoff. If it weren't for them, the cook off wouldn't be possible," she said.

Legion to elect new officers

At the regular monthly meeting of the American legion Post 410 and Auxiliary June 27 new officers will be elected and members and auxiliary members will meet in joint session to finalize plans for the independence Day celebration.

The new officers elected at the June 27 meeting will be installed in July. A covered-dish dinner will be served at 7 p.m. followed by a meeting at 8 p.m. said commander Tony Kruse. All members are urged to attend, said Kruse.

Nancy Thompson

Nancy Annette Thompson, 14, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin D. Thompson of Pipe Creek, will compete in the Texas Miss TEEN Pageant at the Loews Anatole Hotel in Dallas, August 30, 31, and September 1.

This pageant is the official Statewide finals for the Miss TEEN National Pageant in November.

Contestants will be judged on Scholastic Acheivement, Volunteer Service Achievement, Appearance, Poise, Personality, Personal Interview, Speech or Talent and Formal Presentation. No swimsuit competition is required. Contestants have their choice of presenting a speech or performing a talent on stage.

Miss Thompson is sponsored by the Bandera Sport Shack, Margie's Beauty Shop, Navajo Accessories, and Mr. and Mrs. Larry Upton.

Her hobbies include meeting different people, swimming, tap dancing, and traveling.

She is a sophomore at Bandera High School and was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the Executive Board for Student Council.

Pipe Creek student cited

Dan Maltsberger, a drafting and design technology student at Texas State Technical Institute in Waco, received a bronze medal in Machine Drafting during the 37th Annual Texas VICA Leadership and Skills Olympics held recently in Dallas.

Maltsberger, a graduate of Bandera High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Maltsberger of Pipe Creek.

VICA, or Vocational Industrial Clubs of America is an organization designed to enhance the students abilities in their trade or vocational occupation, as well as developing leadership skills needed in the work world.

Baby Shower

Tonya and Willis Sutton of Pipe Creek were honored Saturday afternoon with a miscellaneous baby shower. Hostesses were Tonya's sister Tammie McMullen and Laurie Martinez.

The 45 persons in attendance enjoyed barbecue, finger sandwiches, and a three layer cake decorated in tiers of pink, blue and yellow with storks and baby things. The baby is expected within a week.

Annual Ellis reunion held at PCCC

The Annual Ellis Reunion was held at the Pipe Creek Community Center Saturday and participants enjoyed a sumptious dinner, including barbecue prepared by Tommy Black.

About 50 were present and there were descendants of Charlotte Ellis Noah, Ettie Ellis Drause, Dee Ellis, Bessie Ellis Causey, Nannie Ellis Dean and Birdie Ellis Davenport.

Elzie and Nettie Dean, of Tarpley, attended the Ellis Reunion.

Japanese flowers

A workshop in Ikebana, the Japanese art of flower arranging that emphasizes form and balance, will be presented by Connections: The San Antonio Museum Un-School at the Museum of Arton Saturday, June 15, from 10 a.m. to noon.

Vehicle stolen in Anderson County

Stephen Edward Thomsen, 38 listing a residence as a houseboat on Medina Lake, was arrested by Sheriff Guy Pickett for unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. After a routine check on the license plate showed the vehicle Thompsen was driving had been reported stolen by the owner in Anderson County.

Thomsen told local authorities he had won the vehicle in a poker game.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers, set Thomsen's bond at $15,000. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department said Anderson County authorties picked Thomsen up on June 9 to return him to Anderson County.

Ralph Edward Clingon, 42, of Bandera was arrested June 2 on charges of burglary of a vehicle. He was arrested by Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier after an incident in which gasoline was syphoned from a tank at the county equipment yard.

Peace Justice Towers set Clingon's bond at $5000 and he remained in jail on June 11 in lieu of posting it.

Deputy Tim Landrum arrested Trevor Eugene Yoho, 46, of Bandera on charges of reckless damage. Judge Towers assessed a fine of $221 for the charge stemming from an incident where Yoho apparently rammed a barricade set up by a property owner. After paying the fine he was released.

Loyd Bryson Henderson, 32, of Bandera was jailed Tuesday on charges of theft for more than $200 filed by his employers who claimed he had turned fixtures over to Henderson to be installed and Henderson took the fixtures back to the merchant where they had been purchased and obtained a cash refund for them.

When the sheriff's department ran a routine ID check on Henderson through the national computer system, it turned up an outstanding warrant in Georgetown on similar charges. Judge Towers set bond at $2,000 and he remained in jail Tuesday night. The bond set in Georgetown was $1,000.

Three males and one female were jailed on DWI charges after being arrested by county and DPS officers.

Macario Rodgriguez Robledo, 59, of San Antonio was arrested June 9 by DPS officer Nolan Metz and charged with DWI. His record turned up two previous arrests for the same offense. Judge Towers set bond at $2,000, and he was released June 10 after posting bond.

On June 2 officer Metz arrested Doris Poggemiller, 40, of Bandera and William Gene Race, 64, of Spring Branch in separate incidents. They were both charged with DWI and Judge Towers set bond for each at $800. They were both released the same day after posting bond.

Frank Matthew Sazama, 65, listing a Kerrville Hospital as his address was arrested June 8 by Deputy Bob Hines on DWI charges. He was released June 10 after posting the $800 bond set by Judge Towers.

Douglas Carter, 51, of Medina was arrested May 31 by Bandera city policeman Joe MacMillan on charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct. Judge Towers set bonds $300 on each of the charges. They were posted the same day and he was released.

BCACS aids five in county

The Bandera County American Cancer Society aided five persons with services or equipment loans during the month of May, reports spokeswoman Emogene Pawvlik.

Wigs are now available for use through the local chapter of the Cancer Society," she said.

Although the big push for the Cancer Crusade was in May, Pawvlik says, "if you haven't given to the crusade, you can still mail your donations to P.O. Box 584 Bandera, 78003. Donations will be accepted anytime, she said.

No meetings are planned during the summer months, Pawvlik said they will resume monthly meetings in the fall.

Travel Tips
by Bev Cox
Sundance Travel Int'l

If your club is suffering from lack of participation at meetings due to the blahs in programming, you might wish to consider perking up interest and attendance by scheduling a travel program presented by our agency.

We can secure films on every part of the world which we'll be happy to show to your club without charge or obligation. These films are available to us through tourist boards, airlines and steamship companies and are of professional quality.

If your organization is ethnic in nature, we'll be happy to find a film on your country of origin. If it's a sports related club, we'll do our best to secure a film dealing with that activity or an area known for that sport. Rotary, Kiwanis, Zonta, Business and Professional Women's Clubs, educational organizations or strictly social groups can request a film on any area which would be of the greatest appeal to their members. You might even wish to promote or sponsor a trip especially planned for your club, using a film as a preview of delights to come.

We won't make a sales pitch, although we'll be happy to provide enough additional information and brochures to round out your evening or luncheon.

Call me as far in advance as possible to schedule a travel program for your meeting and we'll do our best to boost your attendance.

Remember, there's no charge for this service.

Big weekend in Bandera June 22-23

The County Sesquicentennial's "Night in Old Bandera" on June 22, is gaining momentum. Many of the Bandera county's professional entertainers are donating their time and big talent for the County's Sesquicentennial Night in Old Bandera on June 22.

The fun-packed day will begin 1 p.m. in an atmosphere of the past. "The spirit and excitement of old Bandera will be reincarnated with the return of little old ladies in long skirts, men in the dress of the day, cowboys flaunting bright bandanas and western wear," said Vercella Evans, one of the event's many workers.

Visitors will be able to see some of the vocations of that period being practiced along the street, including the village blacksmith and a medicine show man and his entertainers. "Throughout the day, a guiding hand will be upraised by a 'strolling minister' among the pleasure seekers, said Evans.

Bandera County's best music, dancers and singers will be on hand all during the day, so visitors can tap their feet to a square dance beat or the dramatic rythym of the Spanish dancers," she said.

There will be refreshments, food and home made ice cream sold in all booths operated by Bandera County organization businesses, and individuals. A street dance will be the feature of the evening's entertainment, she said.

"A lot of fun and games are being planned for you," Evans said. "Grab your best friend and become a member of the 'proud for Texas 150 years' group," Evans said.

400 dogs may strut at Mansfield Park

Up to 400 dogs—and their owners, of course—are expected at Mansfield Park on Sunday, June 23, for an All-breed Fun Match of the Hill Country Kennel Club of Bandera.

There will be competition among dogs of all breeds recognized by the American Kennel Club, said Romona Adams of Pipe Creek, the Hill Country Club's secretary.

In addition there will be divisions for rare breeds, including such unusuals as the Peruvian Inca Orchid or the American Eskimo dog. Another feature will be specialty competition among Australian Shepherds and Chinese Shar Peis, Adams said.

Judging begins at 10 a.m. on June 23 and the public is urged to attend. There is no admission charge. Competition will be in conformation and in obedience division.

Action will continue almost all day Sunday, with a Best in Match award going to the top dog in all classes late Sunday afternoon.

The chinese Shar Pei show will be fully sanctioned with competition in all regular AKC classes as well as among puppies 3- to 6-months of age.

Entries are expected especially from area towns represented in the Hill Country Kennel Club of Bandera, including Boerne, Kerrville, and other communities in Bandera County. But competitors are also expected from as far away as Sweetwater, Corpus Christi, Houston, Austin, and San Antonio, Adams said.

Judges include Larry Basham of Conroe, who will judge sporting breeds; Don Winslow of Houston who will judge hounds; Jody Schoenfeld of Chorpus Christi, who will judge working breeds; Barbara Winslow of Houston who will judge terriers and non-sporting breeds; Kathleen Winslow of Houston, who will judge toy breeds; and Pat Evetts of Alice, who will judge herding breeds.

Also, Frank Grover of Helotes, who will judge the Chinese Shar Pei and Australian Shepards; Tim Lauback of Floresville, who will rate the sub-novice entries; Harvey Thomas of San Antonio, who will judge the novice class; Barbara Nibling of San Angelo, who will rate the graduate novices; Bob Whipkey of San Antonio, judge of open utility class animals; and Allison Winslow of Houston, who will rate the exhibitors in the junior showmanship competition.

Horse show

An Open Horse Show will be presented by Horses of Bandera Inc. at Mansfield Park on June 22. All proceeds from the show will go toward the Bandera County Livestock Barn planned for Mansfield Park, said spokesman Ron Macon.

Texas A&M senior Amy Goldberg demonstrates bridling for some of the 4-H'ers at this week's three-day 4-H Horse Club seminar at Mansfield Park Tuesday. Rene Graf, a junior animal science major, is partially hidden by the horse's head. The equestrians enjoyed not only the riding, but lots of fun things like swimming, daily barbecues and watermellon.

Youth Tour Winners To See Gandhi and Reagan

Winners of the Bandera Electric's Youth Tour Essay Contest Rebecca Blakemore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Blakemore, Sr. of Pipe Creek, Texas and Greg Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bennett of Comfort, Texas are presently touring our nation's capitol, accompanied by chaperones Dennis and Robin Winright of Medina, Texas. Dennis was the Cooperative's coordinator for the contest.

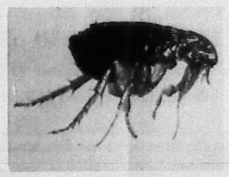

The local delegates and chaperones will be joining 926 others from 33 states, Columbia, Egypt and Germany.

At a general session on Thursday, National Rural Electric Cooperative Association (NRECA) General Manager Bob Bergland and Secretary of Agriculture John Block will address the group, and NRECA Secretary-Treasurer Jack Williams of Maryland will speak to the delegation about the 50th Anniversary of Rural Electrification.

The highlight of the week will be a visit to the White House where they will witness a formal arrival ceremony for Prime Minister Rajiv Gandhi and Mrs. Gandhi of India. President Reagan will preside at the ceremony. This is the first time that a youth tour group has been invited to attend. In addition to the White House tour they will see the United States Capitol, meet and watch their congressmen in action and they will visit the Smithsonian Institution, Library of Congress and other attractions.

For these two young people this could very well be a trip of a lifetime. 49-1tc

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Picture the pleasant scene at the Silver Sage Corral rummage sale Saturday of last week! Merchandise was placed on tables and racks with plenty of room between for comfortable browsing in the air-conditioned environment with soft music in the background.

Not like the average flea market.

The committee wishes to extend its thanks to the workers, some of whom stayed all day, and to the townspeople and even San Antonio visitors who came and shopped.

Seminar on wills

If you're a lucky person who gets your Bulletin on Thursday, you're in time to be reminded of attorney Kerry Schneider's seminar on wills, Thursday evening June 13, at 7:30 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral. And don't forget the valuable door prize.

Retired power

Something different and exciting has been announced for the regular meeting of Bandera Hills AARP on Wed. June 19, at 2 p.m. at Silver Sage Corral. Sallie Lewis will review a book entitled "Is This Where I Was Going?" by Natasha Josefewitz. Guests are welcome.

If you were born in June...

Those born in June are supposed to be uncurable romantics. Their birthstone is the pearl, or moonstone according to some authorities, and their flower is the rose, signifying love—what else?

Everyone who has ever heard the song "Moonlight and Roses" will be invited to sing along in honor of the birthday honorees at the birthday covered dish luncheon on Tuesday, June 18, at the Silver Sage Corral. More quartet tables have been provided so that all may be accomodated. This is one of the highlights of the month's programs.

Night in old Bandera

Citizens of all ages, but seniors especially, will want to dress in the garb of yesteryear, and attend the street fair on 11th Street on Saturday June 22. "Night" actually starts at 1 p.m., but will continue on into the evening hours, with a lot of entertainment and booths of all kinds. Don't miss the wonderful Medicine Show—it's likes have not been seen in many years.

Wildflowers

Would some friendly expert on things botannical answer a couple of questions for some inquiring seniors at the Silver Sage Corral? The questions: What is the name of the tiny, pink, five petal flower which is so profusely growing in vacant lots and along roadsides: It turns the whole terrain a rosy hue. And, what should we call the tall purple flowers prevalent along the roadsides? They resemble horsemint, except in color. There is a Texas Highways poster of wildflowers in the corral office, but neither of these gems appears to be included.

Pool anyone?

Jack Kinberger continues his offer to instruct those persons interested in learning or perfecting their skills at playing pool on the center's excellent pool table at 1 p.m., Friday. Join the lunch bunch (reserve by calling 796-4969 before 9 a.m.) or bring your brown bag, eat with your friends, and enjoy a fun game afterward.

Bridge anyone?

Clarence Hosmer is back from vacation and willing to share his experience at bridge with others in your choice of classes, either for beginners, or for intermediates, or both. These could possibly be on Friday afternoons, although the time frame is not set in concrete for about 12 lessons.

These would be separate and distinct from the Friday morning bridge-for-fun groups and the Saturday night duplicate bridge, either of which would have room for another 2 or 4 players. Just call in your interest to the ladies in the Center office.

Geology anyone?

Milton Hausmann of Tarpley and Martin Smith and Mary Worley of Bandera are eager to know others who share their fascination for rocks, and have set up a get-acquainted meeting for Thursday, June 20 at 7:30 p.m. with this in mind. Bring along cut or uncut, polished or unpolished stones, if you have any, they say.

Songs and dances

The offer is still good to have a group of kids from 7 to 11 years of age, for six hour-long classes to learn lively steps to traditional music, serving as a stepping-stone to square and round dancing. Call the office to reserve a place in this limited intergenerational experience.

Calligraphy, anyone?

Webster defines "calligraphy" as beautiful handwriting, especially as an art. Mr. Garcia is beginning instruction in this skill as part of his Principle of Art class at 1 p.m. on Thursdays. If you find you are adept and interested in calligraphy, he will recommend the proper pens and equipment for you to pursue it on your own.

Thanks

Many thanks to the Cumminses and all the others who have been sharing their garden surplus with the senior center. Aware of the emphasis being put on the elderly eating more fiber and unprocessed food, these gifts could hardly be more timely.

Endowment fund

If you have decided to revise your will, or give a memorial to an absent friend or loved one, or wish to contribute to a good cause, please consider the Bandera County Committee on Aging, Inc. Endowment Fund. Memorials are inscribed in a special volume. All donations are tax-deductible, and will be invested so that the income will provide funding for the ongoing services of the Silver Sage Corral. Donations may be brought to the Corral, or mailed to Box 1416, Bandera. It's an investment in the future of people.

Kerr County values $2 billion

Combined 1985 appraisal of real and personal property in Kerr County will exceed $2 billion and more than $1.3 billion of that will be taxed after exemptions, according to Edd O'Donnell of the Kerrville Daily Times. The 1984 taxable valuation in Kerr was slightly more than $935 million.

Kerr Central Appraisal District Chief Appraiser Juanita Maples said the figure she released Tuesday represents a 35 percent increase in taxable valuations result from a reappraisal of all Kerr County real estate and personal property this year.

She said undervaluation of agriculture lands, commercial realty and some residential properties in previous appraisals was the chief cause of the real estate valuations' escalation.

The Kerrville Mountain Sun reported that County Commissioners gave the go-ahead Thursday to set up a Child Protective Services Board of volunteers in Kerr County which would oversee the Texas Department of Human Resources foster care program.

Phyllis Moore, the supervisor of the state agency in Kerr, Kendall, Gillespie and Comal Counties, told commissioners that there were enough volunteers currently on a list to staff the nine to 15 member volunteer board.

Moore noted that as of May 1, there were 16 Kerr County children in the conservatorship of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Also in the Mountain Sun, Darron Spohn reported that the Ingram school board Wednesday reluctantly decided to buy two portable buildings for the elementary school.

Board members agreed that the elementary campus is already too crowded, but realized there in no viable alternative to portable buildings without building a new school. Ingram voters recently defeated a bond issue which would have financed a new elementary building.

"We're pouring too many children on this campus," Dr. Harry Griffith, Ingram superintendent, said. "At some point you can't just fill up the entire block with portable buildings, and we're headed this way."

Prison proposal renewed in Medina County

Vic Parker, of the Hondo Anvil Herald, said more than a year ago, the City of Hondo indicated it was not interested in becoming the home of a privately owned, minimum-security, federal detention center, primarily for illegal aliens. It appears now, however, the efforts are under way for such a facility somewhere in Medina County.

At a meeting of the Medina County Industrial Commission Monday, that body—composed of the commissioners and the county judge—voted in favor of a resolution of inducement.

The resolution of inducement according to County Judge Jerome Decker, is a necessary first step for a concern interested in funding construction through the use of industrial revenue bonds.

"A resolution of inducement authorizes them to go to the Texas Industrial Commission and present their proposal. That's just the first step. A part of the process would be several public hearings on the matter."

There was some question about the legitimacy of the vote, however, since there were two votes in favor and three abstentions.

Judge Decker and Precinct 1 commissioner David Montgomery voted yea on the matter, and Commissioners Larry Haby, Henry Santos and Henry Briscoe abstained.

Decker said the request for the resolution came from James Lewis, a commissioner in McLennan County, and one of the three investors who approached the City of Hondo last year.

The move to locate the detention center at the airbase, which would house federal prisoners, stirred up a storm of protest. Organizers of that movement secured more than 1,000 signatures on petitions in less than a week. Those petitions were submitted in March to the city council which voted April 3, 1984 not to lease the property to the investors. Prior to that vote, the investors had withdrawn their request.

That proposal included 30 acres of land on which to build a $3 million facility to house as many as 250 prisoners, primarily illegal aliens. Proponents of the plan said the facility would employ more than 60 people with a payroll of almost $1 million a year.

Dr. John H. Jennings, one of those who spearheaded the opposition last year, said Wednesday his feelings on the matter had not changed. "I'm still opposed to it for the same reasons," he said.

"We thought this was a dead issue, and we're disappointed that it has come up again. We hate to have to go through all this again," he continued, adding that he questioned the legitimacy of the vote because Decker seconded the motion by Montgomery.

"We're concerned that this will become something besides a detention center. If it should become a juvenile detention center we'll be importing these people as well as the ones who come to visit them."

Responding to the notion that a facility would provide jobs and taxes, Jennings said, "You've got to draw the line somewhere. I'll concede that there would be money coming in, but I don't consider this an industry. We should concentrate our efforts in other directions."

Fund raising to begin for Boerne library

The Boerne Star reported that plans were announced Monday for a new $600,000 Boerne Public Library Building.

The new library would contain approximately 6,000 square feet of space, approximately tripling the size of the present facility.

According to a prepared press release, Don Braswell, president of the library board said, space in the present library "is so restricted that one book must be removed from the shelves for each new book added. Another major shortcoming is there is no suitable space available for introducing children to the lifelong benefits of reading for pleasure and knowledge."

U.S. 90 bids opened

The Castroville News Bulletin reported that bids for the improvement of U.S. 90 in Medina County were opened May 7, 1985 by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

The apparent low bidder was F.E. Hood and Sons, Inc., at $3,268,000.

The project, which extends from F.M. 1343 to Dunlay, will widen U.S. 90 to a 4 lane divided facility.

The work will increase the traffic capacity of U.S. 90, which is a major east-west link with San Antonio, the state's third largest city, Hondo, Castroville, Dunlay and points west. Traffic volumes, now exceeding 5,500 vehicles per day, have doubled in the last 20 years.

The recent motor fuel tax and registration fee increases will help provide funding for this project.

Crop tour in Refugio

The Refugio County Press announced that a tour of sorghum and corn crops will be offered to farmers and the public on Friday, June 21.

Commssioners urge more use of citizens garbage station

Bandera County commissioners this week urged citizens to use the county's Citizens Garbage Station adjacent to Mansfield Park, for a fee, instead of the county-maintained landfill west of Medina, for which there is no fee.

"I've seen pickups loaded with trash go right by (the new station) toward Medina," said John Phillips, the garbage station's attendant. "If they had dumped it here instead of driving to Medina, they would have saved money and time."

Commissioners doubled the cost of dumping a pickup at the new collection station Monday, however, when it was discovered that the fees set earlier did not pay the cost of hauling the trash away.

They increased the fee for dumping to $5 per cubic yard, double the $2.50 they had established only a month ago.

According to figures studied by commissioners Monday, the cost to the county of having Garbage Gobbler Inc., haul the 42-cubic-yard container to Bexar County is $420. Using the old rate of $2.50 per cubic yard, commissioners figured they were taking in only about $300 from residents to fill the 42-yard container.

Fees were not changed for dumping 30-gallon trash cans (75 cents), 55-gallon barrels ($1.50) or large appliances and pieces of furniture ($2).

As a rule of thumb, Phillips points out that a regular sized pickup hauls two cubic yards, a small pickup with a long bed carries 1½ yards, and a small pick up with a small bed hauls one yard.

Commissioners voted to erect a sign at the Citizens Garbage Station to call attention to the facility.

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-8225

Keith and Linda Newkirk and their three children, Mike, Chad and Cody, of Mission spent the weekend visiting with Keith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Newkirk. Keith and Linda are lookig for a suitable place to buy in our area.

Vicki Jones and her two children, Joshua and Aaron, from San Antonio were here visiting with Vicki's parents, Wayne and Francis Hildenburg for the weekend.

Sheri Padgett and Becky Walker, daughters of Helen Haley, spent the weekend visiting and going shopping with mom.

Mary and Jim Blume and their four children, Tim, Tresa, Joy and Lori, are spending a few days with Mary's parents, Marie and Harold Bently.

The Blumes arrived in the U.S. in mid April from Wau, Papua, New Guinea. After visiting friend in California, they flew to Tulsa, which they will call home for the next year.

Mary and Jim have just completed their 14th year as missionaries in the little village of Wau. In their out-reach program, Jim travels to the interior of the bush country, piloting his own plane or sometimes going on foot.

Mary in addition to her work in the church activities, teaches all of the missionary children the 3 R's.

From here they will drive to Florida and visit with Jim's parents. They will spend one year in the states and then return to their church in Wau.

Jim held services as guest minister at Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday evening. He showed slides of New Guinea and explained many of the native customs and his teaching to bring them into the Christian belief.

He has small churches located in the interior as far as 40 miles away. These churches have their own native minister, trained by Jim and the other missionaries at Wau.

When the Blumes return to New Guenia in 1986, Tim will remain in Tulsa where he will attend college.

Other happenings

The Friday night Singfest that was held on June 7 at the Walker Memorial Chapel was a great success, and the weiner roast that was held after the singing was a bigger success. Many of the young at heart had not been to a weiner roast in over 14 years.

Walter Burrell drove the Andreas children to Poteet on Saturday to celebrate Bruce Hickman's birthday. Bruce is Mark K. Andreas' grandson. They all returned on Monday.

Sunday afternoon, Betty and John Ciarlo held a surprise wedding anniversary dinner for the Rev. Paul and Doris Flanders. Guests included Bill and Lenna Walker, Carter and Doris Beach, Marion and Marjorie Birch, Jundith and Bob Hines, Tim Hines, Marie Bently and, of course, the two Flanders children, Doug and Pricilla.

Vacation Bible school will start on June 17 at 9 a.m. and will run 'til 11:30 a.m. through June 21. There will be worship and Bible study, fun and refreshments of cookies and punch, all the children are encouraged to attend, a spokesman said.

"Meet the pilot," a high-school-age oriented look at life from a Christian perspective, will be held June 17 to 20; from 7 p.m. to 9p.m. in the Birch resident, the A-frame home at the corner of Doc Holiday Drive and Overland Trail and right next to the water works in Lake Medina Shores.

All youth of our area are invited and urged to attend. Marion Birch will show slides of his work in Africa. This program is sponsored by the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Juanita Ratliff and Mary K. Andreas are giving a birthday party at the Copper Lantern on Saturday, June 15 for Ritch Simmons, Bill Stevens, T.R. Andreas Jr. and all others in the area who has a birthday in June.

The artist of this month is Eugenia Gruben of Pipe Creek. She works in oils and pen and ink as well as charcoals as she is doing here. She studied art at the Art Instuction School in Minneapolis and has been doing her art thing for about 10 years.

Delk Lackey came home from the hospital on Saturday, June 8, but had to be taken back the next day. She is at the Sid Peterson hospital in Kerrville and under went more tests on Tuesday.

Alfredo Gomez Sr. of Lake Medina Shores was admitted to the hospital in San Antonio on Monday, June 3. He was operated on for gall stones and other problems.

He is doing OK for now, but does not expect to be able to return to his home here at the lake for about a month.

Worship services

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services also on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

The Chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible study or anyone else who needs transportation. Those seeking rides may call the church at

Homemakers meet

The annual covered-dish dinner for members and spouses of the Rio Hondo Extension Club Study Group will be help at 6 p.m. on Friday, June 21, at the home of Jerry and Tom Hall.

Peggy Edwards, county agent, is expected to attend.

This get-together will conclude the schedule of meetings of the group for the summer.

California visitors

Judy Johnson and two children, Corey and infant son, Carl, of Sunnymeade, California, came Monday to spend several weeks visiting her parents.

San Antonio guest

Tara Haner spent the week with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Haner.

Austin guests.

Brother and Mrs. Jerry Jones are enjoying their grandson, 10 year old David Jones, who is spending a while with them.

It was good having Brother Jerry back with us from their vacation at Talco.

Mrs. Robert Russell of Danville, Ky. was a visitor at Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday, as was David Jones of Austin.

Mrs. Dorothy Manness of San Antonio spent a few days last week with her sister and husband Bobby and Skeets Singleton.

Club trip

Mrs. Bobby Singleton, Lillian and Marilyn Haner, and Nettie Dean drove to Fredericksburg Wednesday on a planned "site" seeing trip. They enjoyed seeing the Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Museum and the Pioneer Kammiah family museum, many of the elderly pioneer homes, and the Lady Bird Johnson Park.

Briefly noted

Mr. and Mrs. Don Karr are observing their 16th wedding anniversary Sunday.

Robert Russell celebrated his fourth birthday last week.

Morris awarded DAR award

Billy Morris of Tarpley was awarded the Daughters of the American Revolution's good citizenship award on the basis of a recommendation by the Bandera High School faculty.

The Millers came to Medina from Pipe Creek leading cow

By Sandee Vannatter
Special Correspondent

The descendents of C.C. and Rachel Miller met for an annual family reunion, Sunday, June 2, at Lady Bird Park in Fredericksburg, Pearl Hanksinson, 96, and Rachel (Evie) McHaney, 86, the two children of who are still living were both present at the gathering.

Lum and Rachel Miller had lived at Pipe Creek before they decided to move to Medina in 1908. He negotiated with the Montgomery family to trade properties, and their new place joined Stanley Keese's place at the south and was near his brother Jack Miller's place above Brewington Creek.

Lum, Rachel and the unmarried children moved in December in wagons. They even hauled the chickens and led the milk cow. Their acreage had fields, mountains and the North Prong of the Medina River, and was easy to find. It was seven miles from Medina by the "white bluff" above the river, extending from near the river and crossing up the Brewington Creek.

Lum gave the mountainous land to his first cousin, Lee Miller, for grazing, since he did not want to pay taxes on land for which he had no use.

Just as the family was getting settled, Lum's brother died in February, 1909. The families were fortunate to be living close together for support. Jack's son, Bob, farmed the land across the road from the new family and his Uncle Fayette (Thomas Lafayette) Miller was also living in the area.

Lum was named Christopher Columbus (C.C.) by his parents, Robert and Susan (Ellis) Miller, when he was born July 26, 1854, in Pensonville (Limestone County), Tex.

His father was a laborer born in Alabama in 1827 or 1828 his mother was born in 1827 in Georgia. Lum's siblings were Sarah Ann, born 1850, in Mississippi; Jack T., born in 1852 in Alabama; and W.W., born in 1858 in Texas.

Lum's paternal grandparents were born in South Carolina; his mother's parents were both born in Alabama.

Lum's daughter, Evie, remembers her father telling of the hard times after the Civil War, he said his father died of a disease during the war. Susan received a letter and a lock of hair to inform her of his death. Lum's sister died as a child, and he related how Susan and a neighbor woman dug the grave.

Rachel Evelyn Davis was born April 20, 1958, in Springfield (Limestone County), Tex. Her parents, D.F. Davis (thought to be David Fort Davis) was born in 1815 and Cassandra (Reece) was born in 1823. Both were originally from Kentucky.

Rachel ws the youngest of nine children.

Lum and Rachel courted horseback. Going to the school functions and home parties, she rode behind him, sitting to the side to keep her skirts on one side. To protect her dress, she wore an "outside skirt" which was longer to hide her legs and shoes, and would then be taken off after dismounting the horse.

They married in Boerne and had fifteen children. Three died as infants an are buried in Pipe Creek along with their son Ed's infant. Their children were: Ed, John Thomas, Jefferson (Bud), William (Bill), Chris, Dave, Jesse, Pearl Hankison, Maud Click, Joseph (Joe), and Rachel Evelyn (Evie) McHaney.

Pearl and Maud married soon after moving to Medina, but Rachel and Joe attended school at Rocky Creek, walking there by going around the mountain.

The family made their home more livable by adding a porch on two sides of the house. Part of the porch was screened so the children could sleep there. The fields were cultivated for corn and cotton. Once a week they would go to town in Medina to take 10 to 12 dozen eggs and to pick up groceries.

The family purchased very few items. They had their corn ground at the mill in town and produced their own bacon, pork, sausage, lard and canned garden items. If one neighbor butchered, he shared with the others. Flour sacks were washed and reused to send the neighbors meat.

Neither Lum nor Rachel could read or write. He was skilled at "figuring in his head" and never felt anyone put anything over on him.

The children all had one Sunday outfit and several every-day suits. Rachel sewed for the family "on her fingers." She often took along a threaded needle in the bodice of her dress to repair cotton-picking sacks in the field.

One day she failed to remove the needle before washing the dress on the rub-board. The needle entered the palm of her hand and broke under the skin. After several days she was taken to Boerne in a wagon, where the X-ray located the needle and the doctor extracted it.

The average day for the Miller family saw them working in the fields after breakfast. "Rach" and the girls went in early to straighten the house and fix lunch. A pillow was thrown on top of the house to signal the guys from the field when the meal was ready. Rachel put out her laundry or mended while the others rested.

Lum and Rachel Miller at their home

Then they all returned to the fields.

There were fun activities, also of course. Church ws held at the schools every third Sunday. The whole family went when it was at Rocky Creek, but when they met at Lima or Wallace Creek, the children caught a ride on the road when a wagon came along headed for church.

Bro. Sweeney was the preacher and the kids especially looked forward to the night revival meetings.

Lum entertained the family nightly as he sat in a straight chair, played his fiddle and patted his foot. He moved outside in the shade of the house in the summer. When any of the kin had a party, he was there to play all the familiar tunes.

C.C. (Lum) Miller died Feb. 2, 1936, three days after having a stroke. Rachel died April 18, 1936, less than three months after Lum's passing. She had pneumonia at the time of her death. They are buried at Oak Rest Cemetery in Medina.

Singers slated by Methodists

The Daybreak Singers from Fort Stockton's First United Methodist Church will present a program entitled "Daybreak" at the Medina United Methodist Church on Wednesday, June 19 at 7:30 p.m.

The youth choir is composed of 14 junior and senior high school students under the direction of Gary Showalter.

John and Pat Kennedy, formerly of Medina, and presently of Fort Stockton, have been instrumental in coordination between the churches and will be traveling with the group.

Prior to the program there will be a "Pot Luck" supper at 6 p.m. in the youth center. The community is invited to bring a covered-dish and enjoy the fellowship and talents of these young ladies and gentlemen.

Members of the local community will also provide lodging for the group before they continue their tour to New Braunfels, Gonzales, Arlington and the Fort Worth area.

Cloud-seeding project put on hold by Water Commission

The proposed cloud seeding project which includes Bandera County as part of the so-called "target area," continues to be held in bureaucratic limbo, but a final decision is expected Monday, June 17.

A public hearing by the Texas Water Commission in Austin Monday, June 3 was continued until June 17 to clarify the criteria during which cloud seeders would suspend operations during stationary storms, according to Tom Fox, the general manager of the Edwards Underground Water District.

They also wanted to clarify the makeup of an advisory committee that would work with the EUWD to insure that precautions were taken to prevent damage to crops during harvest operations. At least one agricultural producer from each county in the target area was to be on that committee.

The project is sponsored by the EUWD and is designed to produce more rain in the area that drains into the Edwards underground aquifer. Bandera County does not lie over the Edwards aquifer, but much of the rainfall that falls in the county empties into the aquifer.

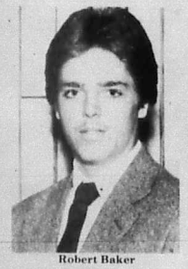

Besides Bandera County, the target area includes northern Uvalde County, all of Real County, and portions of Medina, Edwards, Kinney, Kerr and Kendall counties.

The EUWD says the cloud seeders would suspend operations during any storm that might cause rainfall in such amounts as to cause flooding in the area.

A similar project south of Uvalde and Hondo is currently under way, but officials said they have only seeded one cloud since it began on May 9.

They said there has been a lack of acceptable clouds. They said it was not possible to determine if the seeding has produced additional rainfall, "since the cloud was producing rain before, during and after the seeding," the Uvalde Leader-News reported.

This project is being paid for by the city of Corpus Christi.

4-H scholarships

Two Bandera County 4-H members received scholarships last week in the 4-H Foundation Scholarship Awards program during the State 4-H Roundup Contests in College Station.

Becky Blakemore of the Lakehills 4-H Club, and Robert Baker of the Bandera 4-H Club, each received $500 Raymond Dickson Foundation Scholarships.

4-H Foundation Scholarships are awarded on the basis of 4-H participation and experiences, high school grades and participation, SAT scores and individual financial need.

This year, over $500,000 of scholarships were awarded in Texas. During the last two years, five Bandera County 4-H'ers have received $21,000 of scholarships through the 4-H program.

Cards of thanks

Thank You
Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department Inc. Spring Barbecue fund raiser was a huge success again. This is no surprise to those who have attended for many years. Thanks to all those smiling volunteers that prepared the foods served, conversed, cleaned up, ran the game booths and provided information to out of towners. What a barbecue without those special smoke eaters that did such a fine job preparing all that meat for 2 days. Not much. Thanks guys it was delicious.
The financial support from residents and property owners was very gratifying.

LCRA ordered to cut rates by $34 million

The Lower Colorado River Authority, which was seeking a $35.1 million increase in charges to electric ratepayers, has been ordered instead to decrease rates by more than $34 million by the Public Utility Commission.

The LCRA sells power to the Bandera Electric Co-operative, Inc., which in turn sells it retail to ratepayers. The decrease in LCRA's rates will mean a decrease in the Co-op's rates, general manager Russ Vander Zee said.

The LCRA said this week its still too soon to quote the new rates, but that the size of the reduction will vary between wholesale customers, like the Bandera Co-op, and retail customers.

"We can't give an accurate figure right now of what the percentage decrease will be, because both PUC and LCRA are still in the process of finalizing the new rates," said LCRA general manager Elof Soderberg. "The new rate tariff should be completed and approved with in the next six weeks."

PUC commissioners Peggy Rosson, Philip Ricketts and Dennis Thomas, meeting last Wednesday in Austin, went beyond a PUC hearing examiner's recommendations, which had called for a $21 million decrease.

The commissioner's order includes an increase in base rates—those revenues for debt services, salaries, travel and other expenses—of $10.9 million which will be offset by a mandated decrease of $45.3 million in fuel expenses.

LCRA had sought a $35.1 million increase in base rates and no change in its fuel rate. The hearings were held last March.

A major factor in the huge fuel rate decrease was the commissions decision to not allow LCRA to buy cheaper coal without passing the savings on to its customers.

LCRA broke its contract with Decker Coal Co. to buy coal for its Fayette I and II plants last April and announced it would buy cheaper coal on the spot market but continue to collect from its customers at the Decker rate. The difference would have been placed in an LCRA "escrow account."

Decker has sued LCRA charging breach of contract in the matter.

In addition to the fuel decreases, the commission cut nearly a million dollars more in the base rates in a difference with examiner's report proposed by Perdenales Electric Cooperative.

The examiner's recommendations should have allowed LCRA to subsidize certain environmental duties provided by LCRA in the Highland Lakes region through electric rates.

PEC attorney Lambeth Townsend argued that more non-electric related functions to be covered by ratepayers "would open a pandora's box." The commission agreed and struck those funds from the request.

Other parties opposing the rate increase were the City of Lampasa, a wholesale customer which joined with PEC in its intervention; the cities of San Marcos, Kerrville and San Saba, which are provided with retail power by LCRA; and the state Office of Public Utility Counsel, which represents residential and small commercial users in utility matters.

The Association of Wholesale Customers was the only interventor supporting the rate increase. The Bandera Electric Co-op is a member of that group.

LCRA had announced during opening statements that it planned to file another rate increase request in the fall and would be in for the next "several" years with a series of annual requests.

The PUC decision represented not only a setback for LCRA but for the Association of Wholesale Customers, a group which had formed an alliance with LCRA and claimed to be representing some of the utility's wholesale customers, including Bandera Electric Cooperative, in supporting the full increase.

LCRA attorney Larry Smith in his closing arguments told the commission that opponents of the rate increase "think that AWC's support is an awful thing" but that the endorsement "should play an important part in the commission's decision."

Association of Wholesale Customers attorney Tom Anson added, "AWC supports LCRA's courageous and progressive actions."

"If AWC has a desire to flagellate their customers, they ought to be free to do so but my clients are opposed to this rate increase," responded Earnest Casstevens, attorney for a group of dissident members of the Association of Wholesale Cusotmers who had intervened in the hearings in oppostition to the rate increase.

Casstevens represents the cities of Bastrop, Smithville, and Giddings and Bluebonnet Electric Cooperative.

Commissioners did grant the full amount LCRA had requested for its energy-efficiency rebate program: $2.3 million. "I'm pleased to see LCRA getting involved in attempting to assist their customers and in coping with a different energy situation," Thomas said.

Although not included in the Final Order, Commissioner Peggy Rosson asked PUC staff to informally investigate allegations made by Bluebonnet Electric Cooperative's legal counsel that changes in LCRA's mine plans for Cummins Creek could result in overruns in LCRA's lignite costs.

Kellie Clements

Volleyballer to attend Schreiner

Kellie Clements, a second-team all-district volleyball player from Bandera, will don a Lady Mountaineer uniform next season, according to Schreiner's coach Patty Putnam.

The five-foot-eight Clements is a three-year letterman for Bandera's volleyball team. She played high school basketball and went to the Regionals in track (shot put and discuss).

"I am excited about coming to Schreiner. I had considerations from Texas A&I and University of Missouri (at Tarkio, Mo.), but I like the idea of being close to my home," Clements says.

Coach Putnam adds, "Kellie brings us good height and she is a powerful hitter. She can play and help us as a freshman."

Adult education

Wishing to participate in preparation for the Sesquicentennial celebration, The Bandera County Library has scheduled an Adult Education Seminar on the Topic, "Glimpses of Bandera County."

The dates for the seminar are June 25 and July 2, and each session is scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m. However, on the first night, a social time is scheduled at 7 p.m.

Frost Bank Elects Kimberly Ann Keese

The board of directors of Frost National Bank of San Antonio recently elected Kimberly Ann Keese automation officer, according to Richard W. Evans, Jr., president.

Keese, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. (Bub) Keese of Bandera, is an automated customer service representative in Frost's Automated Customer Services Department. She joined the bank in June 1983.

A graduate of Bandera High School, Keese earned a BS and MBA degrees from Texas A&M University.

She is a member of the American Institute of Banking.

In the absence of the Rev. Harvey Hulse, John White brought the lesson Sunday from Galatiations, Chapter 6, 1-16, "Fullfilling the Laws of Christ." Songleader was Mark Beadur. John White sang a special song, "He Keeps Me Singing," which everyone enjoyed. Those registering were Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, John White, Eva Freeman, and Mark Beadur.

Allyn Woolven from Schertz, Bill Harmer and Ann Neal of Bandera Falls visited Gertrude Werner.

We welcome two new residents, Edna Markwordt and Katherine Tripp. We hope they will enjoy their stay with us.

Thanks to Martin Smith from the Church of Christ for coming every Wednesday morning for Bible reading. He read and discussed from the Book of Psalms. Guests were Shirley Phillips and sons Kelly and Kyle, Sherry Powers and sons Brandon and Jason and her daughter Stephanie, Debbie Wilson, Mary Ann and Penny Smith.

Claire Thaman of Kerrville visited her mother Agnes Fortinberry.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick and Veda Mansfield of Houston visited friends Wednesday afternoon and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ that evening.

Ople Boyle visited her mother Maude Stokes. Maude's granddaughter, Sandee Vannatter, also came by for a nice visit.

We have a lot of "Big thank you's" going out this week. Thanks goes to Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Ikin for cucumbers, to Bertha Allen for green beans, to the Silver Sage Corral for the pajamas and to Mae Bachelor for bringing them by, to John Ciarlo for magazines and to anonymous donors for peaches and the pretty daisies that brightened our tables and living room. We are thankful for all these people for remembering us.

The Melodiers came for their monthly sing a long Friday evening. We always enjoy them so much and look forward to their visits. Those signing our guest book were Carter and Doris Beach, Minnie Hayes, Mary Hyde, June Westmeyer, Vernell Mullenax, Helen Abrescia, Tandy Jordan, Dolores Greens, Judy Goodenough, George Meador and Kay Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pinkston of Houston visited her mother Ruby Tanner.

Louise Letcher and Estelle Odom visited Edith Edwards and Willie Leibold.

We're sorry to report our Mary Klemstein was taken to the Peterson Hospital in Kerrville Wednesday where she passed away that evening. Our sympathy to all her loved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. L.R. Holloway of San Antonio came by for his brother Jack Holloway. They went to visit Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick. They went for a ride to Kerrville and enjoyed dining at the cafeteria in River Hills Mall.

Mrs. Ernest Rainey and son David Rainey visited their husband and father Ernest Rainey.

Jimmie R. Saathoff visited Mae Armstrong.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Mazurek visited Mary Mazurek and Joe Mazurek.

Thanks to Mary Stein, Evelyn Hostetter enjoyed going to Mass at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church Saturday evening.

Lecil and Ruby Howard and daughter Iona Alley enjoyed the 50th anniversary celebration of Alfred and Gina Moss, old friends from Uvalde.

The Mosses were honored with a back-yard barbecue by their daughter, Sissy Parham, and her husband, Lee.

Members of the South Texas Onion Committee's Winter Garden District met in Uvalde last Wednesday and heard reports that yields on farms in Uvalde have been averaging 400 to 600 sacks per acre.

Onions grown by Lawrence Wilde are headed for markets in North Carolina, Maryland and New York, it was reported.

Representatives were present from Val Verde, Kinney, Medina, Wilson, DeWitt, Karnes, Uvalde, Maverick, Zavala, Frio, Atascosa, Dimmit and LaSalle counties.

S.J. and Cleo Carson are back home on Seco Ridge after enjoying a month-long visit with their daughter, Rebecca, her husband, Gene Douglas, and their son Jared in Colorado Springs, Colo.

Edith Cole of Beaumont and Chris Dianne of Port Authur are visiting for a week in the Kerrville and Utopia areas, enjoying old friends and relatives.

In Utopia they visited the Thompson families and Neta Hawkins, taking a tour of Bud and Nancy Thompson's beautiful new home.

The ladies are staying with Mrs. Dionne's daughter, Gwenita Bruntley of Mountain Home, who works on the surgery floor of Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville.

Frank and Artie Franklin were visitors and dinner guests of S.J. and Cleo Carson and Hub and Lillie Thompson on Saturday.

Ray and LaVern Harp of Texas City are spending a few days visiting their parents, Hub and Lillie Thompson, and friends and taking care of some business.

The Jerods of Mountain Home, formerly of Texas City, joined them at the Thompson's home and enjoyed a big freezer of ice cream.

Werner and Liz Weibold of San Antonio were visitors Sunday of Hub and Lillie Thompson's and Harold and Inez Donoho of Utopia.

This correspondent has been on the sick list recently and was unable to write a column last week.

Hub and I wish to express our appreciation for the nice meals, visits, prayers and words of encouragement.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Did you know that the 26 letters of the English alphabet can be powerful weapons according to how they are used? With only 26 letters man has fashioned addresses that have changed the course of the entire world. Winston Churchill with these 26 letters, solidified the morale of England that the terrible suffering of the blitz, the tragic loss of life and empire, was endured and the war won. On the other hand, Adolph Hitler used comparable letters during his horrible harangues to degrade all fine people and ruin a seemingly impregnable land.

In advertising millions of dollars worth of merchandise have been sold by the proper use of these 26 letters; sermons made up of them have taught the lesson of faith in God; educators have led the children of the world to heights of learning and through their use, America has become great.

These 26 letters are here everyday for our use. Let us use them wisely...today and everyday...

School trustees promote Pfeiffer

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

The Bandera school trustees have promoted high school principal Gus Pfeiffer to assistant superintendent and accepted resignations from eight persons including Janie Whitewood, principal of the junior high school. Among four persons hired or promoted was Richard Clifford to succeed Whitewood as junior high school principal.

The new assistant superintendent, Pfeiffer, has been principal at the high school since 1982, and has been with the Bandera school district for eight years. His first three years he was a teacher and coach, and for two years he was principal at the junior high school prior to heading the high school staff.

Pfeiffer and his wife, Carolyn, and their three boys are well known in Bandera. Starting in the fall Mrs. Pfeiffer will be a first grade teacher in Bandera. Their son Brad is a fourth grader, Derek is in second grade, and three year-old Coy is looking forward to attending school in Bandera some day.

Pfeiffer received his bachelor of science degree from Southwest Texas State University and his masters degree from The University of Texas at San Antonio in 1979.

Whitewood started her career with the Bandera School District in 1978 as a special education teacher, and was the first woman to serve as a school principal in Bandera, as far as anyone can determine from records available.

Since 1983 Clifford has been director of instructional services at the Region 20 Educational Service Center in San Antonio. Prior to 1983 he was a deputy superintendent of curriculum and special programs at Medina Valley in 1969, and taught at all the levels for six years before becoming elementary school principal in 1975.

Clifford received his master's degree from Southwest Texas in 1975. He is married. "Clifford should be a real asset to the Bandera school system with his background in teaching and school administration," Superintendent Ted Dockery said.

At this time no one has been named to replace Pfeiffer as high school principal.

Other resignations accepted by the trustees were coaches Tony Johnson, Paul Banks and Shawna Hicks. Teacher resignations were accepted from Patricia Johnson, Shirley Renken, Laura Wimpee and Linda Kittredge.

New faculty employees approved were Barbara Barge, elementary teacher and high school teacher Russell Hayes.

In other action at the June 11 meeting the trustees approved the bid from ARA Services, Inc. for food services for the 1985-86 school term.

Patty Adamson seconded Katie Ruede's motion for the Bandera School District and Ronnfeldt Engineering Consultants to enter into a contract for a flat rate fee of nine percent for the design of the water supply facility and waste water disposal facility for the Alkek Elementary School.

The final enrollment for Bandera Schools for May 31 totaled 1,226 students. There were 565 elementary students, 314 students in junior high, and 347 enrolled in the high school.

The largest class was the seventh grade with 111 students and the smallest regular class was the senior class with only 68 students. There were ten pupils enrolled in the special education class for handicapped students.

This was the first year Bandera school enrollment went over the 1,200-mark. In September 1984 enrollment in the three schools totaled 1,207. There were 543 students in elementary, 298 in junior high, and 366 in the high school.

The 565 enrollment in May is the highest ever recorded in the elementary school. Since 1980, the elementary school has shown a steady increase from 434 students enrolled that year.

In 1980 the junior high enrollment was 243 and that campus has shown a steady increase each year with the exception of 1984 when they dropped from 311 in 1983 to 298. The May 1985 enrollment is the largest recorded for it so far.

The high school recorded it's largest enrollment in September 1984 with 366 students and during the year enrollment dropped to 347 students. The high school enrollment has fluctuated only slightly over the past five years. Enrollment in 1980 was 355, 349 in 1981, 350 in 1982 and 356 in 1983.

Bandera business boom

Business in the city of Bandera is in the midst of a building boom in which $2 million of construction is under way right now and additional business announcements are expected.

Most visible and the biggest project, of course, is the $950,000 motel and restaurant being constructed by Ingram interests in the Riverview Addition off Highway 16 South.

Morris Whitney of Bandera last week applied for a permit to construct a $13,000 addition to the Bandera Feed and Garden Supply at 1203 Cedar. He plans to use the additional 1,800 square feet of space to house his plant sales department.

Whitney's is just the latest in a variety of building plans by city businesses, and word on Main Street is that several other existing businesses plan to expand and some new businesses are planning to locate here. Some announcements are expected within a week.

Like Whitney's expansion of his feed and garden store, most of the commercial building in Bandera is by existing businesses expanding their operations.

Johnny Boyle expects to hold a grand opening celebration soon for the expansion of Boyle's Foods at Sycamore Street and Highway 173. He added some 8,000 square feet to his food store at a cost listed on his application for building permits of about $200,000.

Whitney has also done some building for another of his interests, Whitney-Nolen Realty. He has completed the first phase of renovating the old service station at Main and Cherry Streets into offices for the realty firm he operates in partnership with Ben Nolen.

Additional renovation is planned in the future, Nolen said.

Dawly Construction Co. of Canyon Lake is deeply into the construction of a new building to house Grimes Funeral Home at 1207 Mulberry in Bandera.

An 8,000-square-foot facility will be the new site of the funeral home, and Grimes estimated cost of the building to be $240,000 in his building permit application.

Builder Thomas Smith has virtually completed the expansion of Moore Abstract and Title Company. The 992-square-foot addition was estimated to cost $30,000 in the permit application and houses the law offices of Ron Jackson as well as the title company, which Jackson owns.

Among the other building permits applied for or granted within the past six months was for a 1,728-foot metal building at 1301 Mulberry constructed by Mike Smith at a cost of $15,000, according to the permit application.

About a dozen permits for residential construction were also applied for within the past six months, city records show.

Considerable construction is under way or only recently completed in areas surrounding the city also, but building permits as such are not required for such construction and definitive information is not available.

The Flying L Ranch south of Bandera, for example, will celebrate the grand opening of its new Golfview Condominiums Tuesday and site preparation is well under way for a $3½ million Alkek Elementary School two miles south of Bandera on State Highway 173.

New facilities have been constructed recently on Highway 173 North for Peterson Woodcraft and to expand Hearn Products, two firms just out of the city limits of Bandera.

The expansion of businesses in the city is a continuing process. Among building done under permits granted last year have been the construction of D'Spain Sales and Service on 11th Street, Shirley's Produce on Main Street, the Silver Sage Corral, the offices of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service on Main Street, the renovation of the old Country Shopper's building to house Contractors' Floor Covering and Jack Frazier Electric, and the expansion of Charlie Fellows' auto supply store on Main Street to include a muffler shop.

Street fair, dance feature of big weekend here

The street fair and dance will be Saturday afternoon and evening, and there will be a dog show and barbecue Saturday and a horse show and horse racing Sunday.

Night in Old Bandera, a celebration of the Bandera County Sesquicentennial Committee, Saturday, will be the feature event of a full weekend of fun and entertainment that includes dog and pony shows, street dancing, horse racing and plenty to eat and drink.

The street dancing, food booths, folk demonstrations and exhibits that make up Night in Old Bandera will kick off at 1 p.m. Saturday, and there'll be dancing in the streets and continuous entertainment until 11 p.m. on 11th Street, the original main street in downtown Bandera.

A dog show at Mansfield Park Saturday is expected to draw up to 400 dogs of all breeds for competition sponsored by the Hill Country Kennel Club of Bandera. Judging begins at 10 a.m., and competition is expected to continue nearly all day.

The Bandera County Junior Livestock Show will serve barbecue to dog show participants and others at noon Saturday at Mansfield Park. The public is invited to break bread with the livestock show group. Proceeds from the lunch will go toward construction of a new show barn at Mansfield Park.

The show barn, which will also be suitable for horse-related events and indoor rodeos, will also benefit from proceeds earned Sunday during an Open Horse Show sponsored by Horses of Bandera, Inc.

A full block of 11th Street will be closed from Cypress to Cedar streets and Cedar Street will be closed for one-half block from 11th Street to the alley between Ken's TV and the Western Auto Store for the Night in Old Bandera celebration.

There will be all sorts of food for sale, including barbecue sandwiches, sausage, hot dogs, fajitas, tacos and carne guisada.

There will be plenty of desserts and drink, also, including cake, peach pie, cookies and candy, homemade ice cream and popcorn and beer and soft drinks.

There will be two country stores, including one at the Silver Sage Corral, selling a variety of items and there will be painters, a creator of ceramic pieces, a doll maker, and the VFW auxilians selling U.S. flags.

There will be games for the youngsters, including the popular water balloon game and archery, sponsored by the YMCA of the Hills, and displays of the Boy Scouts of America, the Junior Livestock Association, the Bandera County Library, the Bandera County Historical Committee, the Frontier Times Museum, the Sesquicentennial Committee, Baptist Youth, the Youth for Christ and the telephone company.

Entertainment will be continuous and varied.

A band consisting of Bandera's Arkey Blue, Rodger Heinen, Ballan Grant, Ceasar Massey and Doris will kick off the entertainment at 1 p.m. Saturday.

This bit of philosophy is more than idle conversation

One of those Bandera philosophers was practicing his trade in his OST office last week.

"You know," he said knowingly, "last year seemed to go by fast. Time flies," he coined.

Only one other listener was there, and I'm sure the philosopher's words will not be long remembered.

But they got me to wondering, and I decided to do a little research on the matter.

And wouldn't you know it. The OST philosopher was right!

Last year, 1984, did go by quickly. It was a full second more fleet than 1983 and will be at least a full second faster than 1985.

I know, gentle readers, some of you are saying, "Balderdash!"

Scoff if you must, but it's true, and it's happening Sunday, June 30.

The 61-second minute.

That's right. A minute with 61 ticks.

That minute, that day, that week and this year will all actually be one second longer.

What has happened is that the official, standard, all-knowing, atomic clocks that keep time for us need correcting.

So on the last minute of the last hour of June's last day, one second will be inserted into the two atomic clocks at the U.S. Naval Observatory in Washington and at the National Bureau of Standards in Boulder, Colo.

It's not that the clocks are slow.

Nay, they are accurate to within a billionth of a second per day.

The standard for clock time is the resonant frequency of the cesium atom, I'm told, and I guess I believe it. I can't think of any reason anyone would lie about a thing like that.

But real (solar) time is based on the earth's rate of rotation.

And man, despite such seeming miracles as the cesium atomic clock and the jelly bean, has not yet discovered a way to make the earth conform to his clocks, however accurate.

The uncooperative earth just can't be counted on. Sometimes it speeds up. More often it slows down.

So to correct their official and infallible timepieces, the powers that be slip in a second.

And this is not the first time.

It was done twice in 1972 (ah, a very good year. Worth savoring for an extra second) and once every year since except for 1980 and 1984.

So if the dog days of June seem to drag on and on, there may be a reason for it.

And the OST philosopher?

Unless I miss my bet, there will come a day soon when he will be holding forth again.

"You know," he'll say knowingly, "This year seems to go on forever."

And if you're not there to verify his words, his listeners will think he's just making conversation.

Opinion

News from Austin this week was both good and bad

The days following adjournment of the Legislature belong to the Governor, who signs bills into law alone in the spotlight because everyone else has gone home.

Last week, Gov. Mark White, among other official acts:

—Revealed the Texas package to attract General Motors Corp. new Saturn plant to one of 84 towns here,

—Signed a comprehensive anti-crime package, and —Filled a controversial post by naming San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros to the Texas A&M Board of Regents.

Good news, bad news

Meanwhile, two other officials split good news and bad news.

The good news for Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is that his Texas Veterans Land Program sold a $175 million bond package to finance veteran loans, including the largest pre-sale of land bonds in Texas history.

The bad news from Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower is that his agency is threatened with up to 50 employee layoffs, casualties of budget cuts by the Legislature.

A Hightower deputy commissioner said between 20 and 50 employees will be laid off by the end of August, and the agency is struggling to let them know ahead of time to prepare for job-hunting.

Most of the lost jobs are expected to come from the Austin administrative headquarters, rather than field personnel, because the Legislature instructed Hightower to shift its focus to field activities.

Saturn plant package

The governor signed into law last week a bill authorizing the creation of a foreign trade zone for the GM Saturn plant, if it decides to call Texas its home. The package also includes:

—$50 million in job training support over three years, including a mix of federal and state programs, and resources from Texas colleges,

—A statewide search by the Texas Employment Commission for workers with special skills needed by the Saturn project, —Improvements to roads and highways needed for adequate access to the Saturn facilities.

Some 84 Texas towns are also offering incentives to attract the $5 billion plant to their area.

New laws created by the anti-crime package signed last week will:

—Authorize background checks for workers in day care centers to prevent child abuse.

—Provide grants to community groups for child abuse programs, financed through an increase in the marriage license fee.

—Renew Texas' wiretap law, and create the Crime Victim Bill of Rights, which includes provisions for a crime's emotional, financial or psychological effect on a victim to be considered in sentencing and parole hearings.

—Increase penalties for possession and use of toxic inhalants, prohibit child abusers from any contact with their victims as a condition of probation, parole or bail, and allow the first adult a child told about being abused to testify on the child's behalf.

Cisneros a regent

White made his seventh pick of nine TAMU regents when he named Cisneros, a former student, to the Board of Regents.

Cisneros was in Taiwan at the time, and White said he will resign from the Texas Economic Development Commission when he returns.

That particular post was made controversial during the session when Bryan-College Station state Sen. Kent Caperton was angered at White's refusal to name Bryan attorney Don Mauro as a regent, especially since he thought White had told him he would.

White said last week he had not told Caperton of the Cisneros appointment, and had not met with Caperton on the issue because of scheduling conflicts.

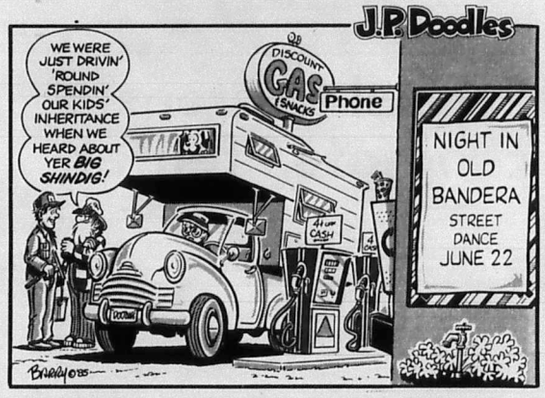

Campaign hopefuls

Some folks are lining up early to run for new offices next spring.

State Rep. Tommy Adkisson, D-San Antonio, said he will formally announce soon his candidacy to replace retiring state Sen. Glenn Kothmann. Another San Antonio representative, Frank Tejeda, is expected to join that race. A third representative, Frank Madla, is named Adkisson's co-chairman.

Democrat-turned Republican, former state Sen. Bill Meier, said he may take another crack at defeating Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox. Meier said no to a governor's race, adding he had some "unfinished business" in the AG's race. Mattox beat Meier in '82.

Medical, health issues of legislation reviewed

Legislation affecting health and medicine in Texas again occupied a prominent position in the recent legislative sessions.

The Texas Medical Association provided this summary of health issues from the 69th Legislature (bills that passed require the governor's signature to become law):

A bill to require all front-seat occupants of cars and most pick-ups to wear safety belts passed, but legislation that would have required seat belts on new school buses died in the Senate after leaving the House.

In a special session, legislators approved a $70 million program to improve health care for the poor, particularly pregnant women and infants. This program is expected to prevent many lengthy hospital stays resulting from inadequate health care during pregnancy and in infancy.

The Legislature decided to let the Texas Health Facilities Commission die as of Sept. 1 under the state's sunset provisions. Commission approval was required for hospital and nursing home projects costing more than $600,000, but now the decision will be left to the free market place.

Another state agency under sunset review was the Texas Department of health, which the Legislature voted to continue. The lawmakers added the regulation of abortion clinics to the health department's duties. Each clinic would have to meet minimum medical standards and report each abortion to the state, but the clinic would not disclose names of patients or doctors.

Drinking an alcoholic beverage while driving is still legal in Texas (if the driver is not drunk) with the defeat of legislation that would have banned open alcohol containers in autos.

And on Sept. 1, 1986, the minimum drinking age is set to rise from 19-21 in response to a congressional threat to withhold federal highway funds.

Open house scheduled Tuesday at site of ancient campground

There will be an "open house" Tuesday, June 25, at the archaeological site in eastern Bandera County where 4,500-year-old artifacts have been discovered, and residents may bring artifacts to be identified.

The site is at Oak Country subdivision off State Highway 16 southeast of Pipe Creek. The entrance to the subdivision is near the Bandera-Medina county line. Signs will point the way to the archaeological site, once visitors are in the subdivision, said Dr. Tom Hester, archaeologist.

The site yielded a LaJita dart point of a type that has been radio-carbon dated to 3000 to 2000 BC, according to Dr. Hester, chairman of the archaeology department at The University of Texas at San Antonio.

He said visitors Tuesday between the hours of 10 a.m. and 3 p.m. will be offered a tour of the site and a display of artifacts discovered.

"If anyone wants to bring artifacts to be identified, we'd be happy to do this," Dr. Hester told the Bulletin Tuesday.

An advanced group of archaeology students will have been excavating the site at Oak Country for about three weeks when the "open house" is conducted. Dr. Hester said the visitor will be told the scientific importance of the site.

—NIOB—

The Chuck Harrison Trio, which consists of a fiddle and a couple of guitars, will play at 2 p.m., and at 3 p.m. Jerry Lasater will be master of ceremonies while a variety of musicians plays "Stump the Band" with the audience.

Lasater, Donna Madden and Mark Wright will play country and western music at 3:30 p.m. and the Melodiers, a singing group of senior citizens, will entertain at 4:30 p.m.

Larry Thomas Williams, a folksy singer from Medina, will entertain at 5 p.m.

Pioneer families will be recognized during special ceremonies at 6:15 p.m. and a fund-raising auction of items donated by the city's businesses will be at 7 p.m., with Joe Walters doing the selling.

Laura Flores of Medina will perform Mexican folk dancing at 7:30 p.m. and Murray LeStourgeon, Williams and the Hilltoppers of Medina will play for dancing from 8 p.m. on.

Marvin Richardson and other "gunslingers" of the Texas Stuntmen Association will stage shootouts on 11th Street periodically during the day, and Mike Lowery and Bruce Montague will do rope tricks during the day.

Among the demonstrations will be a blacksmith shop making horseshoes, with Bandera's Bud Fitzpatrick doing the forging. Maudine Marks of the LH-7 Ranch off Ridge Route Road will give buggy rides, especially for kids, during the afternoon.

A few booth spaces for arts and crafts are still available for $25 and may be leased up until 12:30 p.m. Saturday, but no food booths are available, says booth chairman Karoline Moreland.

Members of pioneer families have been especially contacted and urged to attend and be recognized, and special recognition will go to the family with the most descendants attending.

Registration of families will be at the Silver Sage Corral, which will be open from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. to offer seniors a place to rest.

—The bookshelf—

Hey, kids, have you heard about the "awesome adventures" at the Bandera County Library?

The summer reading program is in full swing at the library with two programs a week, Tuesdays at 1:30 p.m. for children aged 3 through 6 years and Thursdays at 1:30 p.m., for those aged 7 through 12 years. The program will run for six weeks and may be begun at any time.

Bookmarks, reading logs and certificates will be provided to participants by the library.

There are also some adult adventures at the library. Bachman's "Thinner" (actually that's Stephen King, you know), "Chapterhouse: Dune," Toland's "God of War" and lots of interesting books on small business, recreation, gardening and preserving the resulting harvest, and other subjects.

Saturday's movie will be "Silver Blaze." Movie time is at 10 a.m. and the film will last about an hour. Everyone is welcomed to join in the fun.

County youth score in wool show

Bandera County exhibitors won five first-place awards in the junior division of the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show. Two of them by Ernest Faris of the Medina High School Future Farmers of America.

Faris exhibited the first-place registered Rambouillet yearling ewe and the top-rated Rambouillet aged ram. He also showed the third-rated aged ram.

Candi Saathoff of Bandera showed the top-rated aged ram in the "other breeds" classification.

Kristina Ashley of Medina FFA exhibited the top-rated group of five wool fleeces and the fifth-ranked finewool range aged ram.

Bo Evans of Bandera County exhibited the top-ranked registered kid doe in the division for Mohair single fleeces, and Bandera County achieved the top score among county groups exhibiting single fleeces of wool.

Robert Ashley of Medina showed the second-ranked fine-wool yearling range ewe and the fourth-place finewool aged range ram and Leela Kendrick exhibited the third-place registered yearling buck in the Mohair-single fleeces division.

A Uvalde County 4-H'er, Laura Jane Weed, 13, won the grand champion mohair fleece rosette for a fleece shorn from the Angora buck that was the champion at the San Angelo Stock Show, reserve grand champion at the Houston Livestock Show, and grand champion at the Uvalde County Livestock Show this year.

Kendall County 4-H won the Sweepstakes Award as the best all-around club in the junior judging contest

Mr. and Mrs. Vane Stevens

Vane and Vida Stevens feted on 68th anniversary

Vane and Vida Mae Stevens observed the 68th anniversary of their marriage quietly at home with family members.

Stevens was the youngest member of the first trail drive out of Bandera. "My mother's ancestors, the Scott's owned the first grocery in Bandera and at one time owned Polly's Peak in Pipe Creek," Stevens daughter, Wanda Fitzpatrick told the Bulletin. "Our ancestors have owned land between the Pass and Bandera for 100 years." Fitzpatrick recalled. "Dad's two brothers were sheriffs here.

"My father's parents lived in the old Plummer Funeral Home. It was their first home when they came to Bandera."

After their marriage June 2, 1917 the Stevens ranched in west Texas for several years.

They raised four children, Roger Stevens and Wanda Fitzpatrick, both of Bandera, Wilma Black of Rancho Santa Fe, Calif., and the late Wesley Ray Stevens.

Bexar County official leans toward race

County Commissioner Lamar Smith of Bexar County has notified supporters he is ready to run for U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler's seat in Congress, if the Hunt congressman makes a race for the governor's mansion, a prospect Smith says "is almost certain."

He says he has been traveling around the far-flung 21st Congressional District the past two months and has received much encouragement.

He points out that one-fourth of the voters in District 21 live in Smith's Bexar County commissioner's district. "So I would start off with a good base of support," he said.

Smith said political promoter Karl Rove of Austin, who Smith said helped in campaigns of Phil Gramm and Bill Clements, "is ready to help in a campaign" by Smith for Congress.

Guard comes to get reluctant soldier

National Guardsman Ronald Isidro Parmeter, 21, of Bandera was arrested by Bandera County Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier June 13 and held in the Bandera County jail after the sheriff's department received a teletype from the Army to hold him for the Texas National Guard.

He was reported absent without leave from his guard unit during summer camp at Fort Hood.

An Army helicopter was dispatched to Bandera on June 14 and Parmeter was turned over to National Guard authorities by Sheriff Guy Pickett.

Sheriff Pickett and Chief Deputy Ken Mingo arrested Larry Wayne Ford, 36, of Kerrville on June 13 on charges of criminal trespassing following a complaint by Mike Smith. Peace Justice Tom Grant set bond at $1,000. Ford remained in jail in Bandera until June 18 when County Judge Tommy Curbo dismissed the charges against him.

Ford was arrested again on the evening of June 18 by city police officer Joe MacMillan on charges of public intoxication. He remained in jail Wednesday.

A high-speed chase through the south end of Kerrville out Highway 16 ended with one man being arrested in Bandera County Saturday afternoon.

Ronald David Thompson, 45, of Kerrville was arrested by Deputy DeLesdernier on charges of public intoxication and then turned over to Kerr County deputy Mike West to be returned to Kerrville where multiple charges for traffic offenses were filed against him.

Chief Deputy Mingo said when the Kerrville authorities release Thompson he will be returned to Bandera County.

The Kerrville city police reported they received a complaint that a man in a brown Mercury Cougar was spinning wheels which were throwing rocks at children in Louise Hays Park just after noon Saturday. Kerrville patrolman Ricky Kneese answered the call and located the vehicle in the park.

He said as he walked toward the car, it left at a high rate of speed. Kneese took pursuit with red lights and siren sounding.

Two other police vehicles joined in the case. They observed the vehicle traveling south on Highway 16 at speeds up to 90 miles per hour, running a red light and driving in the northbound lane of the four-lane highway to pass traffic.

The Kerrville police officers abandoned the case at Quiet Vally Ranch where Kerr County Deputy Mike West took up chase. About six miles inside Bandera County, West decided to give up the case. As he pulled into a dirt road to turn around, he spotted the brown car parked in high weeds.

The Kerr County sheriff's department had teletyped Bandera authorities to be on the lookout for the vehicle, and DeLesdernier reached the entrance to Deer Valley Ranch about the time West decided to abandon the case.

In other matters this week, city policeman Carlos Reyna arrested John Brendhan Beh, 17, of Bandera June 14 on charges of burglary of a vehicle. He went before Judge Bonnie Towers and bond was set at $2,000 and he was released the same day when bond was posted.

Department of Public Safety trooper Nolan Metz arrested Jose Duvan Hill, 21, of Kerrville on June 16 on charges of driving while intoxicated. Hill pleaded not guilty before Peace Justice Ed Jennings, and bond was set at $800. A fine of $27 was assessed for a traffic violation, and was released June 17 after posting bond.

Loeffler picked by Republicans

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler (R-Hunt), who represents Bandera County, has been named vice chairman of the National Republican Congressional Committee.

"I am delighted to have been appointed to serve as vice chairman of the NRCC for the Sunbelt Region, which is one of the most promising areas in the country for the Republican Party," Loeffler said. "The Sunbelt is the key to making the Republican Party the majority party in the United States."

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Retail merchants and professional men of Bandera County announced they were forming a credit reporting association. The association opened an office in Bandera at the Chamber of Commerce building in June 1960.

Until the forming of the association local merchants were compelled to "use their own judgement" as to approving or granting credit to residents of the county.

The association was started with 29 merchants from Bandera, Medina, and the county pooling their information on accounts.

At a regular meeting of the commissioners court, County Judge O.O. Adams and the county commissioners voted to pass an order prohibiting persons from fishing from bridges and slabs of right-a-ways of county roads, in the interest of safety on our roads and streams.

They also approved plats of Alamo Beach Subdivision presented by Darden and Gabriels an for plats of Pebble Beach Subdivision for Jack Webb and Associates.

The Mayan Ranch opened it fun-planned summer season with a western dance and announced plans for the summer. They will have a floor show with beautiful Can Can girls every Thursday and Saturday at the Wrangler's Roost Saloon.

Specials at Boyle's in the June 17, 1960 issue of the Bulletin included slab bacon (whole or half) at 41 cents per pound, oranges at 8 cents per pound, spring onions 5 cents a bunch, Betty Crocker cake mixes 33 cents each and Maxwell House Coffee at 69 cents per pound.

-In the service-

McElvain completes satellite training

Maj. Scott C. McElvain, son of Norma M. Barr of Bandera, has graduated from the satellite operations officers course at Lowry Air Force Base, Colo.

During the five-week course, officers are provided instruction in the command and control aspects of the Department of Defense's space program. Included in the satellite mission curriculum are orbital mechanics, command and control organization and satellite support systems.

McElvain is scheduled to serve with the Air Force Satellite Control Facility at Peterson Air Force Base, Colo.

He received a master's degree in 1981 from the University of Northern Colorado, Greeley.

Goodley assumes command at Fairchild AFB

Air Force Col. John R. Goodley, has assumed command of the 3636th Combat Crew Training Wing, Fairchild Air Force Base, Wash.

Goodley was previously assigned at Norton Air Force Base, Calif.

The colonel received a master's degree in 1972 from Auburn University, Montgomery, Ala.

Green graduates

Air Force Reserve Staff Sgt. Teresa J. Green, daughter of Christine J. Smith of 344 Larchmont, San Antonio, and retired Air Force Tech. Sgt. Douglas J.W. Smith of Bandera, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force medical services specialist course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Tex.

Graduates were taught techniques for assisting in the care and treatment of medical patients. They also earned credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of Air Force.

Green is scheduled to serve with the 39th Medical Services Squadron at McChord Air Force Base, Wash.

Cloud seeding to begin by July 1, EUWD says

Cloud seeding will begin over Bandera County in about a week, says Tom Fox of the Edwards Underground Water District, sponsor of the project which it hopes will produce more water for the Edwards aquifer and for thirsty San Antonians.

The Texas Water Commission last week unanimously approved the project, but it put in place some new restrictions.

A citizens advisory board was established with power to temporarily suspend the cloud seeding or to seek revocation of the cloud-seeding permit, if the provisions of the permit are violated.

Members of the advisory board will be appointed by the commissioners courts in the counties they represent instead of by the EUWD, as originally proposed.

Bandera and Real counties and parts of Edwards, Kerr, Kendall, Medina, Uvalde and Kinney counties are in the so-called "target area" over which cloud-seeding operations are to take place.

"We hope to be operational by July 1," Fox told the Bulletin Wednesday. That doesn't mean necessarily that clouds will be seeded on July 1, he pointed out, only that they will be in place and ready to fly if the clouds operate.

He said Raymond Hicks of Bandera has been appointed by the EUWD's weather modification advisory committee, but that was a group separate from the advisory group the water agency stipulated should be appointed by commissioners courts.

The approved permit prohibits seeding any clouds that radar shows will produce more than one inch per hour of rainfall and prohibits seeding stationary rainstorms.

There can also be no seeding of clouds within 23 miles of cloud systems that have the potential of producing excessive rain in a short period of time.

County Judge Tommy Curbo attended the public hearing in Leakey and said this week he "feels pretty safe" about the project.

"I was apprehensive until I took a scientific look at it and listened to (the scientists)," Curbo said this week.

Fox said the project would cost $150,000 and would be completed by August. The EUWD has budgeted $400,000 for cloud seeding and its permit is good for five years, so it is expected that seeding will be resumed next spring.

A Utah firm called North American Weather Consultants will be seeding clouds with silver iodide, and it said it expects to increase the rainfall in the county by 15 percent over what would fall without the cloud seeding.

A similar project by the same company, sponsored by the city of Corpus Christi, is already under way. That project seeks to increase rainfall on the Choke Canyon Reservoir watershed, which provides a portion of Corpus Christi's water supply.

The Edwards aquifer provides the water for San Antonio and several other cities in the area, including New Braunfels and San Marcos.

The two projects were to have begun simultaneously, but opposition to the EUWD program in Leakey forced delays through public hearings.

Champions installed in Hall of Fame

The Texas High School Rodeo Association Hall of Fame will induct two former champions from Bandera County in Seguin Saturday, it was learned this week.

Scooter Fries, two-time state high school champion in roping and one-time bulldogging champion, and Clay Billings, former state roping champion, will be honored during induction ceremonies at 7 p.m. Saturday.

The Texas High School Rodeo Finals are under way in Seguin.

Accidents on rise in county

The latest report from the Texas Department of Public Safety show traffic accidents investigated by DPS officers are on the rise in Bandera County. There were 74 accidents investigated on highways in Bandera County between January 1 and May 31 of this year compared to 55 accidents investigated in 1984 during the same time period.

A 66 percent increase in the number of persons injured was recorded during the time period and 112 percent increase is shown in accidents involving personal injuries as compared to the same period in 1984. Property damage reports show a decline from 39 in 1984 to 38 for the same period in 1985.

Bandera County is located in District 3 B for the Texas Highway Patrol. The district is comprised of 18 counties. District wide an increase on accidents of 15 percent is shown. Of the 38 traffic fatalities, two were recorded in Bandera County. Fatalities in the district show a 12 percent decrease for the period, January through May, and injuries were up 5 percent.

Texas Department of Public Safety officer Nolan Metz told the Bulletin that he believed the reason Bandera County shows such a high increase in accidents is because there is more traffic in the county this year. He said he thought the drought and the water level at Medina Lake was so low last year kept people from coming to the area.

Class of '35 celebrates

The 1935 graduating class of Bandera High School celebrated its 50th year with the annual reunion at The Farm Saturday.

Seventeen of the members of the class were able to attend, including John Goodenough, Charles Hutcheson, John E. Cox, Eloise Fitzgerald Nixon, Gilbert Moore, all of Bandera; Orville Wier of Medina, Raymond Wright of Tarpley. They were the sponsors of the annual reunion put on under the guidance of Eloise Fitzgerald Nixon and husband John Nixon.

The out-of-county members attending were A.J. Mazurek of Fort Worth, Sister Bernadette Anderwald of San Antonio, Mildred Cohen of Victoria, Margaret Davenport Davis of San Antonio, Lola Ryle Jones of Waco, Faye Burns Christian of Baytown, Daniel Pyka of San Antonio, and Le Noa Joiner Dowdy of New Braunfels. Ann Storms Grant of Minnesota and Herman Clark of Red Bluff, Calif.

Six members not attending were Emmett Edwards, Eva Gossett, James Chisum, Anna Marie Mazurek, Alice Mae Deskin and Cecelia Kalka.

The list of people signing the register is as follows. Mr. and Mrs. John Nixon, Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Mazurek, Jim Davenport, Tucker Thalman, Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hicks, Ms. Edythe P. Carsten, Raymond "Spot" Wright, Mr. A.K. Briggs, Sister Bernadette Anderwald, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hutcheson, Mrs. Mildred Cohen, Margaret Davenport Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Jones, Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Christain, Mr. and Mrs. John Goodenough; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Goodenough, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Vanderveer, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Burk, Mr. and Mrs. Rex Kutzer, Daniel Pyka, Leona Rines, Ann Storms Grant and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Clark, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Cox, Carl Adamietz, Blanche Halstead, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Wier, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Postert, Dorothy Callahan, Buddy Adamietz and Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Moore.

Mrs. R.C. Christain and Mrs. Raymond Hicks were in charge of a very interesting program and the old school superintendent A.K. Briggs made a short and interesting speech.

A good many tales were told of how far we had to walk to school and the terrible hardships we endured during the depression and in World War II, a spokesman said.

Travel Tips

by Bev Cox
Sundance Travel Int'l

If you're looking for vacation suggestions, you've come to the right place. There are so many great cruises, charters and packages this year that you'll be limited only by your pocketbook. Even within that restriction, you'll be amazed at how far your travel budget will stretch.

Europe offers greater travel opportunities than ever before because of the strength of the dollar. There are charters, APEX fares, tour packages and hotel options, with bookings indicating that space is going to be increasingly difficult to find before too long. If Europe is in your plans for 1985 or 1986, I would suggest that you make reservations now.

The Orient, with or without China, is also extremely popular. The rate of exchange is great right now and the Orient offers so much in terms of unique cultures, sightseeing, great food and marvelous shopping that it's always a wonderful travel experience. The Orient and Southeast Asia are exceptionally interesting, so stop in for more information.

Cruises, as always, are filling up quickly. Almost all steamship companies offer fly free options from all U.S. ports and most of the air tickets allow a stop-over at the city of debarkation.

Incidently, most trips to Alaska either include a cruise or offer a cruise option, and the selection of ships is greater than ever before. Escorted tours are probably your best bet, but there are also various independent packages.

Call us soon for assistance with all your travel plans. We'll help you get the most for your travel dollar.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

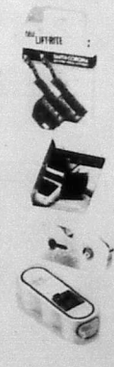

The Second Mile! Matt. 5:41 This one innocent sentence is one from the Sermon on the Mount is sufficient to change the whole world. The secret is giving more than is actually required, doing more than is expected, appealing to the best in human nature, rather than the worst.

First, going the second mile leaves a deposit of happiness in the heart of the one who travels it. We know we have measured up to and even beyond that which was demanded of us. It makes us feel good about ourselves and it is so important to like yourself. Second, it brings out the best in others. When we see other people being loving, kind and good it makes us want to be better. Thus we set in motion a chain reaction—good people make us want to be better. Third, going the second mile makes the burden of life lighter. Doing more than our part makes the home and family a better and happier place to live. Going the Second Mile, or going beyond the call of duty, makes for a better way of life.

If you want your life to be rich and full see how many good things you can do rather than how many good things you can get by without doing, in other words, when you have to go one mile, just throw in another for good measure. You will be the WINNER!

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

If you read this column in your Bulletin on Thursday, you are in time to be reminded of the Rockhounds meeting at 7:30 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral. That's June 20, and everyone is welcome.

Volunteer's appreciation tea

The volunteer workers and the Silver Sage Corral's host and hostess group were honored Tuesday for their contributions during the past months. Doloras Green, coordinator, presented each a letter of commendation, and the Rev. Richard Jackson, minister of United Methodist Church and president of Helping Hand offered some thoughts on the characteristics of a good volunteer.

For instance, Rev. Jackson said, a volunteer does a job because it needs doing and he or she can do it adequately. He does not expect gratitude or applause for it.

A volunteer agrees to be held accountable, the pastor said, for performance and for attendance, and cooperates for the good of the agency and love of the people being served.

The reward, often unexpected, is a very great sense of satisfaction, Rev. Jackson said.

Punch and cookies were served at the conclusion of the meeting.

?Como se llama?

"Buenos dias, senor. ?Como esta?" "May bien, gracias. ?Y usted?" (This is the best approximation of which this 'English-speaking setter is capable.)

Now, what is the appropriate response to the above conversation? If you'd like to know, you'd be very comfortable in the two Spanish classes offered on Thursdays at the Silver Sage Corral. Harold Sheman teaches beginning Spanish at 10 a.m. and Joel Garcia follows with conversational Spanish at 11 a.m. The classroom is the upstairs, left reading room, which assures the utmost privacy.

Let there be light

Please observe the great improvement in lighting arrangements at the Silver Sage Corral. Two new fluorescent fixture lights in the kitchen, the gift of Melvin King, and another illuminates in the downstairs alcove.

A permanent light has been mounted to shine on the flagpole, and heavier cable was installed to avoid blackouts caused by too many appliances operating at one time in the kitchen.

Electrical work is hot and heavy work, in and out of attics, up and down the roof, and the Center's deep gratitude goes to John Coy and helper John Fernandez of Jack Frazier Electric Co. for providing this service to "make our lights so shiny"...

Thanks to...

●Bandera Electric Co-op, which thought of the Silver Sage Corral when replacing shade grass turf with a parking lot. Hopefully the Center's scars of construction will soon be covered with the cool green of growing grass.

●Sam Darden, for loaning the laborers to apply the above to its final resting place and everyone who generously brought pots and containers for plants, at Vernell Mullenax' request. She is still "hungry" for slips of a bigger variety of plants.

●Shirley Anderson, the kitchen manager for Dietert Claim, for the terrific stuffed chicken breasts and other goodies sent to be served for the Senior Advisory Committee luncheon at the Silver Sage Corral Friday. It all added up to an extra pleasant meeting as the members from nine counties explored the new center they have been hearing about for the last two years.

●The good friends who answered our question about the wildflowers. Russell Castro called in first to say the pink flowers were "mountain pinks" and the purple spikes were "bee balm" or horsemint.

This information was reinforced by other nature-loving informants, to whom are indebted, including Kathryn De-Woody, Jane Swagar of Lakehills, Tommy Dee (who adds that the pinks are also called pink gentians), and Chester Rowell.

Rowell's a professor at Angelo State University who has written a 36-page booklet called "A Guide to the Identification of Plants Poisonous to Livestock of Western Texas," it is replete with color illustrations, copies of which he presented to the Center. Dorothy Mattize of Tarpley was the friend who arranged it all.

●Peggy Tobin for the long tablecloths and other linens.

Neighbor in need

"Sunshine" Ahring needs to see her doctor in Hondo, if she could get a ride their during office hours. She would make the appointment to coincide with her ride opportunity. Call her at 796-3664 if you can help.

Where there's a will...

Kerry Schneider, local attorney although not yet living in Bandera, kept about three dozen persons entranced during her seminar on wills and estate planning last Thursday evening.

The information and checklists she handed out made this unfamiliar topic a breeze to follow, and many had their own burning questions answered. Door Prizes, certificates for free wills to be drawn up, were awarded to lucky number holders Gene Fee and Bill Hathaway.

NIOB

The Street Festival, Night in Old Bandera, being put on by the Sesquicentennial Committee, on Sat., June 22, promises fun for everyone, and yes, the melodiers will be singing their songs of the early days, probably between 4:30 p.m. and 5 p.m. on the stage on 11th Street.

Appropriate costumes are expected.

The Melodiers will be having their regular third-Friday rehearsal on June 21 at 5 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral. This facility will also be open from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturday as a senior citizen hospitality house for use of the restrooms and rocking chair and for the registration of members of the pioneer families.

Judging and awarding of the prize for the family with the most members present, will be at the stage at approximately 6:15 p.m.

More June activities

Bunco afficionados are invited to the bunco party on Wednesday June 26 at 1:30 p.m. Hostesses for this affair will be May Bachelor and Grace Gonzales.

And July...

Good news for lovers of Mexican food: Among the members of the Senior Advisory Committee of AACOG is Carmen Cortez of Torres Foods in Kerrville.

In recognition of the opening of the Silver Sage Corral she plans to provide the food for a benefit Mexican supper on Saturday July 6, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tickets will be $3.50, according to finance chairman Marie Holland.

In memoriam: For Mrs. Effie Wedgworth and Mrs. Mary Klemstein, a welcome gift has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wyatt for the Silver Sage Corral Endowment Fund. This, along with other tax-deductible gifts, will continue to serve the older Banderans for generations to come, because only the income from the fund will be spent for current expenses. The Texas Department of Aging is urging each community to set up such a fund to provide for its long-term needs, as government assistance decreases.

AACOG committee meets at Corral

The Senior Advisory Committee of the Alamo Area Council of Governments, consisting of members from nine area counties, visited the Silver Sage Corral last Friday, June 14.

Members had been hearing progress reports on the Bandera Senior Center through the Bandera Committee members Bill Hathaway and Kay Robinson. The visitors said they were impressed with the nearly finished center.

Frank Adamo and Barbara Hughes of the San Antonio office of AACOG were present, and also Linda Parker and Loretta Rees, sponsors of the Bandera Center, from Kerrville State Hospital and Dietert Claim respectively.

A lunch was served by the Dietert Claim kitchen to the visiting representatives and to a number of local interested persons, including County Judge Tommy Curbo.

Following the lunch and inspection of the building the committee conducted its regular meeting, which ordinarily is held at the Three Americas Building in San Antonio.

Dorothy MacLean announced the formation of the Silver-Haired Legislature, a forum of volunteer older Texans to discuss and set legislative priorities to be considered at the next session of the Texas Legislature. Mac Lean is a member of the steering committee and promised further information through AACOG to those interested in participating in what she called an important new voice for older Texans.

Anne Wyndham, one of the two certified ombudsman in the county for nursing home facilities, reported that she had visited nursing homes on a recent trip to Arkansas, and indicated that Texas' system of checks and balances was quite superior.

Barbara Hughes reminded persons over 60 years of age to sign up for the Silver Pages, a directory of businesses offering senior discounts. Applications are available at the Silver Sage Corral.

Baptists to view film on family life

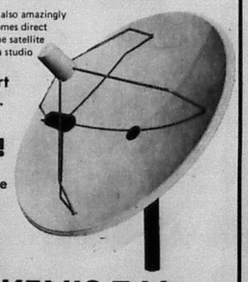

"Sand Castles," described as "a film of hope for the families of America" will be shown Sunday, June 30, at 7:30 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Bandera.

It is the dramatic story of Larry and Meg Morgan and their two children caught up in a chase of "the American dream" and of Cathy and Bob, the Morgans' Christian neighbors.

Fine art expressions exhibit

"Fine Art Expressions," a group of central Texas artists who work in a variety of media and styles, will be exhibited through July 13 at the Hill Country Arts Foundation Gallery in Ingram.

The public is invited to an opening reception which will honor the participants June 16 from 3 to 5 p.m. in the Gallery.

The group totals nine artists who have been exhibiting their work together since 1983. The show will include approximately 25 pieces.

According to member Woody Wingfield, "The common bond uniting the group is a commitment to excellence in each artists' chosen medium."

Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Admission is free.

Pro rodeo, annual celebration slated this weekend in Utopia

The Utopia PRCA Rodeo and annual celebration will be held Friday and Saturday in Utopia at the Utopia Community Park.

Chairman of the rodeo committee, Ronnie Greaves, told the Bulletin this week that over 250 cowboys and cowgirls have entered the rodeo events to vie for purses of more than $20,000.

World champions entered in the events are Sandy Kirby, former world champion bull rider; Lane Foltyn, previous super bull champion; Phil Lyne, former all-around world champion; Tee Woolman, previous world champion team roper; Guy Allen, world-champion steer roper; and Bandera County's own Clay Billings, former champion roper.

The steer roping will be Friday at noon at Allen Reilly Arena in Utopia.

Performances on Friday and Saturday will begin at 8 p.m. with a dance following at the park. Bob Blandford and His Rodeo Men will be supplying the country western music, Greaves said.

The Bad Company Rodeo will furnish the stock for the rodeo.

A barbecue will be held at 5:30 p.m. on Saturday to benefit the EMS.

Another real down home fun event will be Saturday at 3 p.m. at the park when everyone prepares for the Homemade Ice Cream Freeze-off. Professional ice cream makers will be judging the freeze-off. The three judges from San Antonio have developed flavors for Blue Bell and Borden ice creams.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Clara Custer enjoyed a visit last weekend from her daughter and son-in-law, Wanda and Dan Gann, and their grandson Andy of Midland.

On Saturday they attended a family reunion at the home of Jerry and Opal Word of Bandera. All of Grace Word's children and families took in the celebration and Clara states there was a crowd with a variety of every kind of food.

Bud and Nancy Thompson of Vanderpool also enjoyed the celebration. Bud is a nephew of Grace Word.

Gene and Betty Jo Yeager of Forney came in Friday to visit relatives and friends. They will stay until Sunday and Clara Custer an aunt, will accompany them home for a weeks visit. Betty Jo will bring her home and spend some time at her place, the former Curley Thompson home.

Mrs. Jessie Ivy underwent major surgery Thursday morning in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville. Her husband Alvin, and their four children James, Dorothy, Edna, Ruby, Jane and their husbands were very thankful everything checked out OK.

Ten-year-old Tanner Couch underwent a kidney transplant on Thursday in Humana Hospital, San Antonio. His sister, Terry Ellis, was the donor.

The entire family, members, relatives and friends are rejoicing and are thankful it is over and a success.

The kidney started functioning without any problem and no diuretic. Tanner has been removed from the intensive care unit to a private room.

His sister, Terry is doing real well, but will have to take special care of herself for some time.

Jess and Nita Cornelius entertained a nice group at their home Friday night with a jam session. Lots of good picking and singing.

It was a pleasure for us to meet with Jimmy Smart and his family at Lost Maples General Store Sunday.

He recognized Hub and I and came to speak, while Hub and I didn't know him.

He has grown some taller and has a nice family of two boys. He was here checking his "old stomping grounds," the old Scrogging place where he lived as a child with his mother and dad and brother, W.A. Redmond and Celie lived there for a number of years before moving to Utopia.

Guests of Nita Hawkins and the Schryvers Wednesday and Thursday were Opal and Kent Wallace of Weslaco. They are cousins of the Hawkins family.

Marva Ann and Richard Hill of Calallen and Jimmy Trayler of Austin were weekend visitors of their mother, Nita Hawkins.

Joe Duke and family of Houston were weekend visitors and attended Baptist Church with Leslie and Norma and his brothers and families on Father's Day.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3225

Doug and Kathy Smith recently returned from a week's vacation with "military service days" friends in Gulfport, Miss.

While there they witnessed the "blessing of the fleet", which opens the Shrimp season. It is quite a celebration with boats of all sizes in attendance in Biloxi Harbor.

Several fishing trips in the bay netted Dave and Kathy an ample supply of flounder and crab. Doug spent one unforgettable fun-filled day on a neighbor's shrimp boat—"a once-in-a-lifetime-experience," he said.

They spent the last day sightseeing and souvenir-hunting on the beach.

With the Medina River still too low for boating, the sport of intertubing is gaining in popularity. Kenneth Andreas, Dana and Ritch Simmons were only a few of those who tubed down river from English Crossing to Wharton's Dock. This group had a lot of fun and all got a good sun burn.

Mattie Parrish, Peanut and Russell Foster were out visiting friends in Lakeshore-Wharton's Dock area.

Lucille Searcy is home to visit with her many friends of the area. She is staying with Olivia Andrade and Jack Collins.

Roy and Wanda Lich are here from Kerrville on vacation for a week at their home on the river at Wharton's Dock.

James Andreas spent a week in Poteet visiting his sister Valerie and Joe Trevino and Bruce Hickman.

Arley Banks, Neville Banks, Jack Mumma, and Kathy from San Antonio, were up to visit Glenn Banks and their many friends at the Copper Lantern.

Tommy and Margaret Pitts from Copperas Cove came to visit with old friends, Dana and Ritch Simmons and sister Juanita at the Copper Lantern.

Myrna and E.J. Koubek from Rockport spent a few days here staying with Caesare Masse and visiting with friends in the Wharton's Dock area. A few years ago Myrna lived here and worked for the Bandera County Sheriff's Department.

Alfredo Gomez Sr. and his wife Rosie celebrated Father's Day with Alfredo's mother Anita Gomez and his daughter Rosie and her husband Joe Lemus and his son Alfred Gomez Jr., all from San Antonio. They all expressed their love for Alfredo Sr. and wished him a Happy Father's Day.

Theresa Sowell, the daughter of Joe and Joyce Sowell of Wharton's Dock, is attending Hallmark Institute in San Antonio, studying electronic engineering.

Mary, Candy and Andy Michaud from San Antonio were here for Father's Day weekend camping out as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Trevino of Lake Medina Shores.

Mary and Andy took time out from their camping to take in morning worship at the Walker Memorial Chapel, and reported they enjoyed it very much.

Doug Flanders treated his father, the Rev. Paul Flanders and family to a steak dinner on Father's Day in Bandera.

Vacation Bible School got off to a good start on Monday, June 17, at the Walker Memorial Chapel. There were 16 children in attendance the first day, but when the other children hear about the cookies and punch, attendance will grow, officials say.

On June 21 at 7 p.m. it will be parents night at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Independence Day parade shaping up

Entries for the Independence Day Parade are coming in, reports Ray Mauer, parade chairman. The parade will kick off at 11 a.m. at Park Road 37 and F.M. Road 1283. It will wind down Park Road 37 and disband at the firehouse.

The annual parade, the only one in Lakehills each year, is sponsored by the American Legion Post of Lakehills. Anyone can enter, Mauer said including businesses, organizations and individuals. Enter by calling 751-3876.

The Legion will award trophies to the first, second and third-place winners. The Medina Lake Shrine Club will have a plaque for the youngster who shows the most originality and creativity with his or her entry.

Following the parade there will be a festival at the Legion Hall and on the grounds. This event has grown over the years and is now among one of the largest fund-raisers in the area. Mauer says there'll be barbecued chicken dinners, games and fun for everyone. It's a family celebration, with games for the kids as well as the young at heart, and plenty of good food, treats, and cold drinks, the veterans say.

For the first time ever, Lakehills will be represented in the parade by it's own "Miss Lakehills," Sue Pickett.

GGCO 5 planning session tonight

Tonight, June 20, is the planning session for the fifth annual Great Gumbo Cookoff to be held in September.

Anyone wishing to help with the planning and anyone with ideas how to make the annual event even bigger and better this year is urged to attend. Originator, Bob Caswell says this year's event will be the biggest yet, but, only with the support and help of everyone in the community.

The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Hot Spurs to play for July 6 dance

Lakehills Independence Day celebration July 6 will end with a country-western dance at the Lakehills Civic Center. The Hot Spurs band will provide the music. "This group is well known and popular," says Bob Caswell.

The dance will be from 8 p.m. to midnight. The snack bar and bar will be open throughout the evening. All proceeds will go to the Medina Lake Betterment Association for it's maintenance and building fund.

MLBA welcomes 12 new members

A dozen new members were OKed for membership in the Medina Lake Betterment Association last week by the 14 directors at the group's monthly board of directors' meeting.

New members include Melvin Stark and Donald Couch, both of San Antonio; Bennie Thiel, Judy and Ronald Bird, Richard (Buddy) Heidelberg, Ellen and George Tipton, Nancy and Harry Fulks and Gwen and LeRoy Akin, all of Lakehills.

25 years ago

It was 25 years ago June 18 that David and Sandy Mauer were married. this special couple are well-known around Lakehills and Bandera. Sandy works in the office at the Bandera ISD and David has his own insurance company in San Antonio.

The Mauers are active in the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department and Auxiliary, and anytime there's a "fun happening" in Lakehills, you'll find these two in the middle of it.

Happy Anniversary David and Sandy.

Schotts return from Menard and Big Foot

The Rudy and Randy Schotts attended a wedding reception at the Country Club in Menard in honor of the recent marriage of Lorene Tschirhart and Willie Workman of Menard. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Schott of El Paso, James Schott of Austin, and Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Schott of Rio Medina.

After returning from Menard, the foursome went to Big Foot for the June 15 wedding of Suzanne Wright and Richard Muennink. Following the wedding a garden reception and dance were held in the home of the bride's parents at Kejate.

Rudy and Elsie Schott had the pleasure of Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Schott as houseguests last week.

New face in town

That new face you see around the Cutaway is Diane Ahalders. She joined Barbara Engels and Karen Thompson about two weeks ago. Engel said she's a real asset to her shop and comes with experience and talent.

"By hiring another beautician, I have expanded our hours of operation, so we are now open six days a week," Engels said. "With the additional help, we hope to get more into skin care and cosmetology in the shop."

Ahalders moved to Lakehills from San Antonio in May and is looking forward to meeting everyone.

Heather Mauer

Mauers welcome a girl

Randy and Sherri Mauer of San Antonio are the proud parents of an eight-pound, four-ounce girl, Heather Christine, born in a San Antonio hospital June 7.

She is the first grandchild for David and Sandy Mauer of Lakehills. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marshall of Pipe Creek. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mauer of Lakehills are the paternal great-grandparents.

David Wayne Marrs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Marrs of Pipe Creek, graduated from DeVry Institute of Technology in commencement excercises June 14 at The University of Texas at Arlington.

Marrs maintained a 4.0 grade point average throughout his entire college study and was valedictorian of his graduating class. He received a special engraved placque in recognition of his outstanding achievements along with his degree in electronics.

A tennis trophy was also awarded to Marrs for second place in men's singles in a college tournament.

Marrs was a 1983 graduate of Bandera High School.

Boat operator, skier should stay sober

Water skiing while drinking on crowded waterways can be a dangerous pastime, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Officials said at least 27 skiers ran into docks or piers during 1984, and many of the incidents resulted from the boat operator or skier consuming alcohol.

"A good boat operator must serve as the skier's eyes to steer clear of shallow water, hidden stumps or other objects," said Jeffee Palmer of the Water Safety Section. "When a boat operator's vision has become dulled by alcohol, he can pull a skier to serious injury," she said.

Overconfidence and alcohol-induced desire to show off can cause skiers to use the most crowded portions of a waterway to be assured of an audience.

AARP to learn about our heritage

The Medina Lake Chapter of American Association of Retired Persons will be entertained with a program on "Our Heritage" by Nadine Hartmann, along with a color slide presentation of the United States.

Hartmann said the program will be on the agenda at the June 24 meeting, which will be held at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills at 1:30 p.m. This will be the last meeting until September.

Gwenn Lackey will be on hand at the meeting to clean jewelry. Anyone with jewelry to be cleaned should bring it to the meeting, Hartmann said.

A retraction

On the article of Don and Alice Karr observing their 16th wedding anniversary, it should have been they celebrated their 29th wedding anniversary on June 16th. Sorry for the mixup.

Leaves Tarpley

We are very sorry to report Jon and Terry Starnes have sold their home near Tarpley and have moved to Austin to make their home. Everyone enjoyed Terry's Profiles and political poems published in the Bandera Bulletin. Her Profiles will continue, according to editor Nick Johnson.

Club meets

The last meeting of the Williams Creek Extension Homemaker's Club for the summer was held at Bobby Singleton's home last Wednesday.

Due to light showers and thunder, the swimming party was cancelled, but Bobby brought a most interesting program on family life, health and safety.

Anton and Marilyn Haner were honored for the many things they have done to help in the community.

The clubs family night July 20 will include a covered-dish dinner.

Six members and three visitors were present. Visitors were Marie Hood, Lorene Billings and extension agent, Peggy Edwards.

Condolences

Our deepest sympathy is extended to the families of Jesse Caffal, who died last week, and Milton Padgett of Utopia, who died recently.

Dinner

Brother and Mrs. Jerry Jones hosted a Father's Day barbecue with all the trimmings Saturday at their home near Devine honoring her father, Alex Montgomery.

Twenty-nine guests were present to help make it a lovely Father's Day for Mr. Montgomery.

Another Marathon Copier That Loves To Run
Goes The Extra Distance Beyond everyday copy jobs, the 1020 handles all kinds of hard-to-copy originals: linework and solid areas; colored originals; different shades of blue writing, light pencil, green and red inks, yellow crayon. They're all copied clearly, cleanly, and without background problems. Use the five Contrast Control settings to pinpoint copy quality. Settings automatically reset to "normal" after 60 seconds. For bulky originals, the platen cover detaches instantly.
Strong On Flexibility The 1020 isn't limited to specially-coated copy paper. So, it copies onto bond papers in 13-24 lb weights; colored stocks; adhesive mailing labels; overhead transparencies; three-hole-punched paper; pre-printed forms, and your own company letterhead. One paper tray holds 100 sheets of all your copy sizes: 5½ x 8½, 8½ x 11, 8½ x 13 and 8½ x 14. The easy-loading tray snaps securely into place for precise, reliable paper feeding.
The Sprint-Size Marathon You get all this in a 17" x 17" x 11" copier that weighs only 75 lbs., fits in practically anywhere, and — after a 35-second warm-up — is ready to run and run...and run.

Alien detention center debated in Medina County

In other Medina County news, Vic Parker reported in the Hondo Anvil Herald that U.S. Marshal Bill Jonas told Medina County commissioners that a federal detention center for the Western District of Texas is needed, and Jonas would like to see such a facility in Medina County.

A group opposed to such a move last year successfully fended off an effort to locate a detention center on city property in Hondo, and a spokesman for that group was on hand at the commissioner court meeting to which the lawman was speaking.

Dr. John H. Jennings said he would like to see a referendum on the matter to determine public sentiment.

The Anvil also reported that the Hondo City Council took a step toward upguarding and expanding the city's water system in a project estimated to cost some $1.5 million.

City Manager Mike Rhea presented a funding proposal to the council showing that the effort to improve the system would be financed through the sale of revenue bonds which would not affect the city's tax rate.

School burns

The Uvalde Leader-News reported that residents of the Nueces Canyon are still in shock following an afternoon blaze that roared through Nueces Canyon High School, leveling the school gymnasium and main classroom building.

The school is located in Barksdale.

Five classrooms, the gymnasium, science laboratory and principal's office were razed in the fire. Furniture in the building was a total loss, as were school textbooks, trophies and other memorabilia hung in the hallways. Nautilus equipment in the gymnasium and much of the school's athletic equipment also went up in flames.

Landfill fee?

According to a Mark Warnken story in the same edition, Uvalde city manager James Thurmond has proposed a sanitation fee increase to help finance the new city landfill and its subsequent operation.

Thurmond said the increase although significant, cannot be avoided if the city is to comply with the Texas Department of Health landfill regulations and make the sanitation department self-supporting. The last garbage rate increase was in 1981.

UGRA files suit

In the Kerrville Daily Times, Edd O'Donnell reported that a suit filed by the Upper Guadalupe River Authority asks for punitive damages that could far exceed the petition's request for actual damages from the designers and builders of the failed Upper Guadalupe Lake dam.

UGRA President Darrel Lochte said the suit against engineers Turner, Collie, Braden of Dallas and Austin-based Mason-Johnston as well as builder Ben Sira and Company of Dallas asks for between $2.5-$3 million in actual damages.

"That would represent the cost of the dam repair, the fees of engineers and attorneys involved and the cost of the 1981 patch," Lochte said.

The patch Lochte mentioned was put on the dam, completed in 1980, by defendants after it was damaged in 1981 flooding.

The UGRA president said the suit's request for triple punitive damages could run up a settlement dramatically.

The Kerrville Mountain Sun said the suit alleges that "the dam, as conceived and contracted for by the paintiff, should have withstood these rises in the river without suffering any damage."

Current repairs to the UGRA Dam are being done by H.P. Zachry of San Antonio. No cost figure for the repairs has been released, but the amount has been described as "substantial" by a Zachry engineer.

The UGRA dam on the Guadalupe River provides a lake which is the source of drinking water for Kerrville. Prior to 1980, Kerrville was served with water by wells, which are still on line and which are employed during peak water usage times. Water usage by the city tops five million gallons a day.

Area news.

No oil in Kerr after all

In another story, the Sun reported that Everest Minerals Corporation came up emptyhanded in its third attempt at a producing oil well on the Robby Hurt Ranch in Kerr County, nine miles west of Mountain Home. The dry hole was drilled to 3,900 feet in the Ellenburger formation.

Everest, which agreed to drill five wells in a lease at the ranch, found a producing well in their first attempt two years ago but have since drilled two dry holes.

JP indicted

Justice of the Peace Sue McAnelly of Castroville is out on bond after being indicted on charges of falsifying government documents and unlawfully issuing a felony warrant.

McAnelly posted two $1,000 personal recognizance bonds after being processed at the Medina County courthouse in Hondo, according to a Galen Shotts story in the Castroville News Bulletin.

McAnelly, JP for Precinct 2, which includes Castroville and LaCoste, is under felony indictment for allegedly making false entries in a government document with the intent to defraud and harm another. The charge states she failed to report $15 she received for certified copies of a death certificate in October, 1983.

"This is one of a couple dozen such complaints we received," Bill Gray, criminal investigator for the district attorney's office, said.

The other charge, a Class A misdemeanor, alleges the JP issued a felony warrant for theft on Francisco Lara in March, 1984.

"We believe there was no criminal case involving Lara," Gray said. "In fact, it appears to have been a contract dispute."

McAnelly has not resigned.

The investigation of the judge is not part of the ongoing investigation of county officers that lead to the indictment of former commissioner Leon Tschirhart.

Johnson city schools must expand

The Record-Courier reported that the Johnson City school board voted to purchase .873 acres.

The first motion for the land purchase also directed employment of Pfluger and Associates of Austin to assist in drafting specifications and possible location of three portable classroom units on the site.

Not only does compliance with the 28-student-to-a-class rule handed down by the state education agency make new classrooms mandatory, but parts of the school district are in two counties besides Blanco County, and are in high growth areas, the paper said.

Also in Blanco County, last week's commissioners court meeting confronted several growth issues.

Roy Sedwick of the Texas Department of Water Resources told commissioners of the county's need for flood plain maps and a resolution whereas builders would need a permit for flood plain development.

With over 40 subdivisions in the county and more plats being brought to the commissioners for approval Sedwick said controls were needed to protect the prospective buyer.

Three subdivision requests were on the agenda for commissioners approval.

Commissioners voted to join Burnet County in its protest of Austin's ETJ annexation of Spicewood. In studying the county map, that proposed annexation by Austin would be within 14 miles, as the crow flies, of Johnson City.

Austin's ETJ annexation follows the Colorado River bed.

Commissioners also discussed an annexation by Austin of the Pedernales River bed which would bring the city line even closer.

Horseman's social

A Horsemen's social will be held June 24 at the Kerr County Exhibition Center in Kerrville, according to Kerr County extension agent Eddie Holland.

World Champion Cowboy Larry Mahan is expected to kick off the program, and Dr. Gary Householder and B.F. Yeates, both extension horse specialists from College Station, have been invited to speak on the program.

The meeting is open to horse enthusiastics in Bandera County and other surrounding counties, Holland said. Barbeque will be served at 7 p.m. and the meeting will begin at 8 p.m. Admission is $5. Participants must pre-register by June 20 by contacting the Kerr County Extension Office, telephone 512/257-6568 or 895-5945.

Sheep dog trials in Kerr June 29

The Hill Country Sheep Dog Trials will be held in Kerrville Saturday, June 29, at the Live stock Show grounds on the San Antonio Highway, beginning at 9 a.m. and continuing throughout the day.

The public is invited to see the Border Collies compete in three divisions, open, open ranch, and ranch classes.

Judge will be E.B. Raley of Crawford, president of the Texas Sheep Dog Association. The event is being sponsored by the Hill Country District Junior Livestock Show Association, renewing similar trials that were held some thirty years ago.

Interested dog handlers are welcome to participate, according to local event chairman Temple Henderson of Ingram.

Country peddler show and sale

The first annual Fredericksburg, Country Peddler Show and Sale will be held Friday-Sunday, June 21-23, Gillespie County Fairgrounds in Fredericksburg.

It's a gathering of the country's folk artists and craftsmen, demonstrating their handcrafted wares and offering them for sale to the public for home decorating and collecting.

"It is difficult to describe what you will be seeing," says co-organizer Robbin Ely. "We like to call the items 'heirlooms of the future'."

Folk art expected to be available include pottery from Illinois, dolls from Michigan, stenciling form Ohio, wood carvings from Texas and other crafts offered by over 80 exhibitors.

Featured speaker Gail Hurn, who has studied the life of the Amish and their quilting, will share her discoveries and show samples of Amish quilting Saturday and Sunday at 1 p.m.

Worth noting

Boyle receives bachelor's degree

Brenda Boyle of Bandera received a bachelor's degree in marketing from Texas A&M University on May 4.

She was invited to join Beta Gamma Sigma, an honors marketing society, and was nominated by a marketing faculty committee to become a member of Alpha Mu Alpha, the national marketing honorary sponsored by the American Marketing Association.

She was a member of the National Agri-Marketing Association team from A&M competing on a national level in Orlando, Fla. The A&M team placed third in this competition.

Brenda has accepted a position with Conoco in the oil and gas management division in Hobbs, N.M. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat M. Boyle is a 1981 graduate of Bandera High School.

Bandera helping hand center

Sixteen persons were recognized for their volunteer work on behalf of the Bandera Helping Hand Center last month, center director Jeanne Shinn said.

Those cited were Emma Garcia, Peggy Byam, Betty Swinford, Jack Gilbert, Linda Aamodt, Jane Williams, Oleta Davis, Louella Vandervier, Patty Strange, Evelyn Schmidt, Joyce Sellberg, Vic Purvis, Nettie and Elzie Dean, Sharon Glock and Marilyn Haner.

Members heard Kay Robinson explain the many and varied activities at the Silver Sage Coral senior citizens center and director Shinn talk on the varied services of the Helping Hand Center.

Shinn said there is still a need for a few more volunteers at the Helping Hand Center, and that there is a need for a window cooler or fan and a locked file cabinet.

They also need sugar, canned meat, toilet tissue, canned fruit and canned or powdered milk, Shinn said.

She said 49 families were helped during May with food, clothing, counseling, information and referrals.

She announced a benefit softball game on July 13 between peonalities of KENS-TV in San Antonio and Helping Hand Center celebrities.

The Helping Hand Center volunteers will meet June 20 at 7 p.m. at Grace Lutheran Church, and Shinn invited interested persons to attend.

Earth to earthenware

Fire from the pit will be the focal point of San Antonio Museum Un-School participants attending "Earth to Earthenware," a form and fire pottery workshop, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, June 23, at the Witte Museum.

June is Dairy Month

Ice cream has long been a welcome summer treat

Invention and innovation characterize the history of ice cream.

Nero, for example, sent his runners to the mountains for snow to mix with fruit juices and honey for his "ice cream." Jacob Bussell, a milk dealer, in 1851 sought an outlet for surplus cream and thus commercial ice cream production was born. Ice cream was served in small dishes at the 1904 St. Louis World's Fair. When they ran out of dishes, thin, crisp pastries rolled into a cone by a neighboring concessionaire were substituted as containers. Thus was conceived the ice cream cone.

Serving ice cream with meringue is not new, but having the meringue layers thin and crisp in the manner of a torte is different and delicious. This way you'll need only two egg whites rather than the traditional four or more. Chopped, toasted almonds give the meringue a distinctive flavor that goes with both strawberry ice cream and chocolate sauce.

Ice cream in a cake roll is a standard item with some manufacturers, but the flavors and colors of this one are new. Sliced strawberries are sprinkled on the vanilla ice cream before rolling with the sponge-type chocolate cake. Then it's served with strawberry sauce, truly a neapolitan delight!

Neapolitan ice cream cake roll

10 to 12 servings

Cake roll:
¾ cup sifted cake flour
¼ cup cocoa
½ teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
4 eggs, at room temperature
¾ cup sugar
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
Confectioners' sugar
1 quart vanilla ice cream, softened
1 cup sliced unsweetened strawberries

Strawberry sauce:
(Yield: approx. 2 cups)
½ cup sugar
4 teaspoons corstarch
2/3 cup water
½ cup sliced unsweetened strawberries
1 tablespoon butter
Few drops red food color (optional)
1 ½ cups sliced unsweetened strawberries

Preheat oven to 375 degrees F. For cake roll, butter bottom of 15 x 10-inch jelly roll pan; line with waxed paper. Butter paper and sides of pan; dust with flour. Sift together flour, cocoa, baking powder and salt; set aside. Beat eggs on highest speed of mixer until thick and lemon colored. Add sugar, a little at at time, beating well after each addition. Beat until thick and fluffy. Fold in water and vanilla. Gradually fold in flour mixture until smooth. Spread evenly in prepared pan. Bake 12 to 15 minutes. Immediately loosen sides and turn out onto towel sprinkled with confectioners' sugar. Remove waxed paper. Roll cake in towel, starting at narrow end. Cool on wire rack. Unroll; remove towel and spread ice cream over ¾ of cake; sprinkle strawberries over ice cream. Reroll and freeze several hours or overnight. Meanwhile, for sauce, combine sugar and cornstarch in a small saucepan. Stir in water. Stir in ½ cup strawberries. Heat to boiling, stirring frequently, until thickened. Boil and stir 2 minutes. Remove from heat and stir in butter until melted. Add red food color (optional). Stir in 1 ½ cups strawberries. Chill. Remove cake roll from freezer and let stand at room temperature about 15 minutes before serving. Slice and spoon sauce over each serving.

Strawberry meringue torte

6 to 8 servings

2 egg whites, at room temperature
¼ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ cup sugar
½ teaspoon almond extract
2 cups finely chopped toasted almonds
2 pints strawberry ice cream, softened
1/3 cup chocolate sauce, chilled
Whole strawberry

Preheat oven to 275 degrees F. cover a large baking sheet with parchment or brown paper; draw two 8-inch circles on paper; set aside. Beat egg whites and cream of tartar until frothy. Gradually add sugar and extract. continue beating until stiff and glossy. Fold in nuts by hand. Divide meringue evenly between circles. Spread as evenly as possible to cover circles. Bake 55 to 60 minutes, or until meringue just begins to brown; cool. Carefully peel off paper. Spread 1 pint of ice cream on each layer; stack layers and freeze several hours or overnight. Remove from freezer and let stand at room temperautre about 15 minutes before serving. Drizzle chocolate sauce over top layer of ice cream. Garnish with whole strawberry.

Contest slated for ice cream

The Texas State Homemade Ice Cream Contest will be held in Sulphur Springs June 29 as a part of the Hopkins County Dairy Day.

Hopkins County, the leading dairying county in Texas, annually celebrates the contributions made to the local economy by the dairy industry.

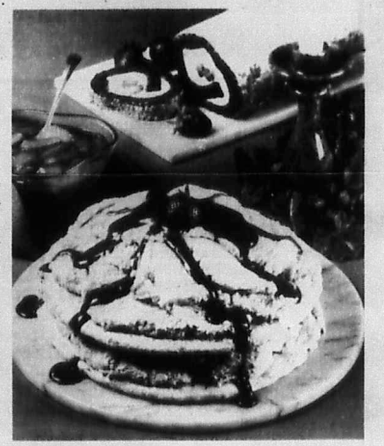

A joint effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Hopkins County Chamber of Commerce, the contest includes seven classes. A champion will be selected from the vanilla, chocolate, fruit, nut, bisque, candy and mixed classes. An overall champion also will be named.

The contest is for both adults and youth. Prior entries in county contests are encouraged but are not mandatory.

Information concerning the ice cream contest can be obtained from the Hopkins County Chamber of Commerce or the county extension office in Sulphur Springs.

Other events during the one-day celebration include cow milking, petting zoo, a butter making demonstration, a 10K fun run called the "Milk Run," antique milk equipment display, dairy product promotion, health exhibits and computer dairy program exhibits.

Activities begin at 9:30 a.m. in Heritage Park on Jackson Street. According to Dr. Max Sudweeks, Extension Service dairy specialist, all interested persons are invited to participate in the Texas State Homemade Ice Cream Contest and other activities during the day.

Management areas provide hunting

Wildlife management areas operated by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department provided recreation for a record number of hunters during the 1984-85 hunting seasons, the agency reports.

The most popular hunts were for white-tailed deer, with more than 3,700 hunters showing up to hunt 168,460 acres of land. Participants for all deer gun hunts were selected by drawing, and the overall odds of being drawn for a deer hunt were about one in four. The hunter success rate was 28.3 percent, according to Herb Kothmann, public hunt program leader.

Kothmann said more acreage was available for public hunts during the past season mainly because of several U.S. Forest Service tracts operated under cooperative agreement with the department for public hunting. "I hope more prospective hunters apply for these Forest Service area hunts for this fall, because the odds of being drawn are much better there than for some of the other hunts," said Kothmann.

For instance, hunters applying for the Alabama Creek, Moore Plantation or Beanister areas had better than a 50-50 chance of being drawn. "On the other hand, the odds of being drawn for the mule deer hunt on the Sierra Diablo last year were about 45 to one against," Kothmann said.

Kothmann said when hunters apply for the 1985-86 drawing hunts, the application form will include two bits of information not seen before—the odds of being drawn on each area, based on the previous year's hunt, and the percent hunter success, also from the previous year's results.

Kothmann said hunters wishing to apply for special permit (drawing) hunts during the upcoming hunting seasons must wait until application forms and other materials are available. "Beginning in early July, white-winged dove hunters can apply for hunts on either of two units of the Las Palomas W.M.A.," Kothmann said. "However, application forms for the other hunts will not be available until August, and we will be announcing the procedures for applying later."

Not all public hunting opportunities on department areas require a lottery drawing. Hunting for waterfowl, upland and small game is allowed on many areas, and in some cases no fee is charged. More information on these hunting opportunities also will be made available later, Kothmann said.

Catfish mark short-lived

The state record for blue catfish has been changing hands frequently of late, but the newest entry may be large enough to hold the crown a while.

A 116-pound blue caught on a trotline by C.D. Martindale of Era at Lake Texoma on April 21 is the newest record in the "unrestricted" division, which includes fish caught by legal means other than rod and reel.

The fish bumps a 99-pound blue cat caught at Lake Conroe on March 3 from the top spot. That fish was certified by the department's Fish Records Committee on March 15, giving it less than a three-month reign.

Smelly concoction recommended to attract lots of catfish

June is one of the best times of the year to catch catfish, but the angler's first stop should be the local feed store.

Biologist Charles Inman of the Texas Parks and Wildlife department at Tyler, said during June channel catfish move into the shallows to spawn, and they bring their appetite with them.

"During that period, a lot of catfishermen have found that soured grain scattered in likely spawning areas sometimes pays off with big catches," said Inman. "On a good lake it's not uncommon to see a party of catfishermen take big strings of fish in one spot."

To bait an area, Inman recommends putting some maize in a bucket with water and attaching a lid. After about three days of soaking, natural fermentation gives the grain a distinctive aroma and flavor. "Catfish can smell the grain and they usually start congregating and feeding soon after the grain is disturbed," he said.

Although some fishermen put grain in bags, Inman said it is probably just as effective to scatter about a coffee can full on the surface.

If the fish are in shallow water, it usually is best to position the boat a short distance away from the baited area and cast into it.

Wolf club destroys first mountain lion

The Bandera County Wolf Club destroyed the first mountain lion recorded in this county this year, it was announced at the club's June 3 meeting. Since February members have destroyed one mountain lion, two bobcats, 13 coyotes and 84 Russian hogs, Bob Mansfield reported.

The mountain lion was destroyed on the Flying A Ranch, along with one hog, during May.

A coyote and a hog were killed on the Loice Odom Ranch southeast of Pipe Creek. One coyote was reported killed on the Betty Kelso Ranch in the Red Bluff Creek area near Highway 16. Other coyotes reported were on the Vincent Anderwald place near Bandera and on the R.E. Saunders Ranch near the Quihi Pass off Highway 173.

Other reports of hogs destroyed were nine on the Dewitt Leibold Ranch on Bump Gate Road southeast of Pipe Creek, one on the Harley Odom Ranch off Highway 1283; one on Town Mountain Ranch near Bandera; two on Irvin Keller Ranch; four on the DeLanega Ranch near Dixie Dude Road; and four on the Faris Brothers Ranch on Highway 2828 near Bandera.

'Fads in Fashion' exhibited at Witte

Explore fashion fads from around the world, and in San Antonio, during "Fads in Fashion," a Connections Museum Un-School program scheduled from 10 a.m. until noon Saturday, June 29, at the Witte Museum, 3801 Broadway in San Antonio.

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 51 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, JUNE 27, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

Two pedestrians die in highway mishap

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

Shortly after midnight Tuesday morning Judy Ann Pina, 22, and Shawn Michele Tadlock, 25, of Bandera were killed as they walked on State Highway 173 seven miles north of Bandera.

Pina's two-year-old daughter, Sammie Jo, was with them, and she received only minor injuries when a pickup truck driven by 17-year-old Sky Mattson of Bandera hit the three of them, killing her mother and Tadlock.

Investigating officer Dan Butts of the Texas Department of Public Safety said he was still talking to witnesses and trying to piece together the details of the tragedy Wednesday. He could only tell the Bulletin the women were walking southbound on Highway 173 about one-half mile from where their vehicle had broken down when Mattson's 1976 Ford pickup struck them. He was traveling southbound on 173 when he hit the women.

Mattson was picked up in Bandera by city police officer Joe MacMillan shortly after the accident. He was booked into the Bandera County jail at 2:18 a.m. on a felony charge of "failure to stop and render aid."

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $2,000 and Mattson was released at noon on Tuesday after bond was posted.

When the facts in the case are all compiled, Butts said the information will be turned over to District Attorney Bruce Curry and the Bandera County grand jury to determine whether additional charges will be filed.

The two women were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Herman Rogers of Medina and the bodies were removed to Grimes Funeral Home in Kerrville by the funeral home. The child was transported to Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville by Bandera EMS. She was released

One of the victim's brothers, Johnny Pina, said the child appeared to still be in shock on Wednesday, and he said family members had taken her back to the doctor for treatment.

He told the Bulletin his family came to Bandera when his sister was about seven. She attended Bandera schools and graduated in 1980. She had been employed at Zeke's Restaurant.

Tadlock had lived in Bandera only since February. Prior to that she lived in Wolf City.

Autopsies were being performed on both bodies in San Antonio Wednesday. Don Anders of Grimes Funeral Home said A rosary was scheduled for Judy Pina at Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera Wednesday night.

Friends of Pina's have established a fund to help defray expenses incurred by the Pina family and to help with expenses for Sammie Jo Pina. Donations can be left at Zeke's or Hair Unlimited on Main St.

When the facts in the case are all compiled, they will be turned over to the district attorney and the grand jury.

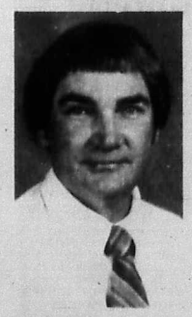

Judy Ann Pina

Judy Ann Pina is survived by her parents, Manuel and Lola Pina of Bandera; one daughter, Sammie Jo; two grandmothers, Isabell Pina of Hondo and Selome Cuellar of Weslaco; and two brothers, Johnny Pina and Manuel Pina of Bandera.

A funeral Mass will be recited Thursday at 10 a.m. at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church with Monsignor Ralph Smith as celebrant. Pallbearers will be Ron Barton, Fred Herrera, Russell Foster, Marcello Flores, Franklin Layne, and Jack Nolen. Burial will follow in the Catholic Cemetery.

Shawn Michele Tadlock is survived by her husband, Rusty Tadlock of Bandera; two sons, Michael Martell and Robby Martell of Dayton, Tex.; her father, Jim McCants of Sugarland; mother, Louise Spurgeon of Bridgeport; and two sisters, Debra Walz of Bridgeport and Pam Robertson of Renton, Wash.

Funeral services will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera, with the Rev. Harvey Hulse officiating. Burial will be Friday in Hunt County, Texas.

Richard Delamain ...BHS principal

Pipe Creek man named principal at Bandera High

Richard Delamain, a seven-year resident of Pipe Creek, has been hired to head the staff at the Bandera High School.

Delamain has been the vice principal at South San West Campus High School in San Antonio.

He told the Bulletin he is excited about the change and "the idea of a smaller school (South San West has an enrollment of 750) is appealing. I'm looking forward to getting to know all students by name."

Superintendent Ted Dockery told the Bulletin, "I feel he will be a real asset to our schools and administrative team. I'm looking forward to having him join our staff."

Delamain started his career with the Northeast ISD in 1963 as a coach. After five years with Northeast he went to Northside, where he was a coach and teacher for 13 years. His last position with Northside was as coach at John Jay High School.

He and his wife, Suzanne, a secretary at Southwest Texas Methodist Conference Council in San Antonio, purchased 21 acres in Pipe Creek when their two grown children were young. Seven years ago they moved into their home on the acreage.

"The children are grown now and on their own, and my wife and I feel like we're on vacation every time we come home from work." The long drive to South San from Pipe Creek won't be among things he'll miss, he said.

He earned his masters degree from Trinity University in 1968 and his bachelor's degree from St. Mary's University in 1963.

Assistant superintendent Gus Pfeiffer said they still need to add more coaches to the staff. "We've moved Ron Garvick from the junior high to the high school to replace Tony Johnson." Johnson resigned earlier this month to take a coaching position at Rockport Fulton High School. Girls' athletic coaches Shawna Hicks resigned also to go to Rockport Fulton, and Shirley Renken accepted a coaching spot at Comfort High School.

Boys coach Paul Banks also resigned to return to school at Sul Ross College in Alpine. A replacement will also be sought to take Garvick's place at the junior high, Pfeiffer said.

AACOG recognizes Al and Kay Robinson

Al and Kay Robinson of Bandera have been given the Regional Achievement Award by the Alamo Area Council of Governments for their "unselfish service to senior citizens."

The Bandera couple was nominated for the award by County Judge Tommy Curbo.

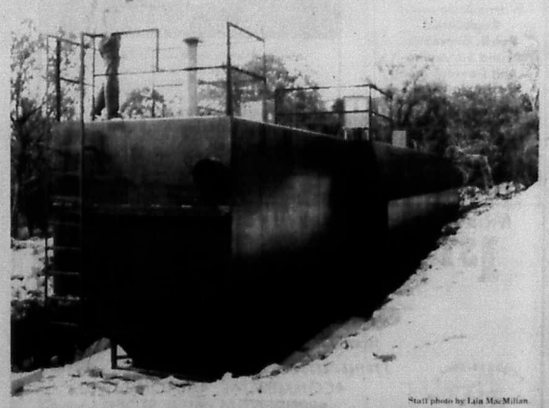

Here is the text of the citation that accompanied the award:

"Since retiring to Bandera County, the Robinsons have made a significant contribution to the quality of life of the senior citizens of Bandera County.

"The Robinsons have participated on the Alamo Senior Advisory Committee for the past three years. They are both active in senior citizens' activities, donating musical and other talents to the senior program.

"Together they have spearheaded the formation and construction of the Bandera senior center, the Silver Sage Corral. Through their continued and tireless leadership, the Bandera County aging program is a successful and innovative program that is setting standards for all senior programs in the region."

The award is one of two given annually by AACOG. The other is restricted to residents of Bexar County.

Thousand Trails manager Hal Olson walks on the catwalk of the sewage treatment plant. The fate of the plant will be determined in open hearing Friday in Hondo.

Hearing Friday in Hondo on sewage treatment plant

A public hearing requested by the Medina Lake Protection Association in opposition of a sewage treatment plant to be installed at the Thousand Trails RV Resort at Medina Lake is scheduled for 9 a.m. at the Medina County Courthouse in Hondo Friday, June 28.

The hearing is to provide information to the Texas Department of Water Resources to use in deciding whether to issue a permit for the use of the treatment facility.

Hardware for the plant has already been received at Thousand Trails.

It is a PureStream Sewage Treatment Plant System, and preserve manager Hal Olson told the Bulletin the system is similar to many used at the 43 resorts the corporation operates in the U.S., British Columbia, and Canada.

He said the system is based on the extended aeration method of sewage treatment. The method consists basically of four operations, screening, aeration, settling, and chlorination.

The sewage first enters the plant, it passes through a screening device. From there the sewage passes into the aeration tank where sewage is mixed with activated sludge and passes through a port into a settling tank or clarifier.

The treated liquid (the effluent) discharged from the settling tank then passes through chlorination facilities to kill any disease-carrying bacteria that might be in the effluent.

Next the treated effluent passes into the chlorine contact tank. After the solution mixes for a period of time with the chlorine, it is passed out of the tank through the final plant discharge operation to an evaporative type drain field system and sludge tank.

Leanne Jones of the Texas Department of Water Resources will be the hearing examiner at the Hondo meeting. The Bulletin was told by her office that the hearing is set in Medina County instead of Bandera County, where the plant would be located, because there is also another hearing on another water matter set in conjunction with this one.

The spokeswoman said the two hearings are unrelated.

Bandera County Judge Tommy Curbo's office told the Bulletin the judge did not know Wednesday if he would attend the meeting, but county inspector Raymond (Spot) Wright would be at the hearing.

Wright said last March the type treatment plant planned by the resort would be "as effective as the city of Bandera's, and when treated it would be cleaner than the lake water."

Chief engineer Kevin McNeil and other members of the Thousand Trails engineering and management staff will be flying in from the west coast to attend the hearing.

Kira Bacon of the public relations department told the Bulletin the firm has always worked very closely with communities in the preserve areas and cited a recent instance where the corporation financed a $342,000 water treatment plant and donated it to the city of Point. The Thousand Wondering...it could be good for the soul.

Wandering through the backroads of Bandera County and wondering...

...Wondering why a public hearing about a sewage treatment plant in Bandera County is scheduled in Hondo?

Oh, we read the official explanation (See Page 1): State water officials had another, unrelated hearing scheduled in Hondo the same day. To keep the hearing examiner from driving to Bandera after completing the other hearing, the state officials just decided to let the public do the driving.

And we wonder if it isn't just another example of the bureaucratic mind becoming accustomed to thinking the public exists for the convenience of the bureaucracy, instead of the other way.

...Wondering why the last guy who disagreed with one of our editorials called us "birdbrain?"

He had probably read that article in National Wildlife magazine disputing the common belief that a bird's smaller brain does not have the capacity for memory, only instinct.

Indeed, birds not only remember, but they may even be calculating.

Nutcracker birds, for example, are known to steal pine cones from squirrels by luring them away from the pile while another bird darts into seize the cone.

...Wondering how many good ideas have been shot down because someone says, "We've never done it that way before?"

Or, "We're doing fine without it."

Or, "We're not ready for it."

...Wondering why the sign company that owns that billboard on Main Street doesn't just tear it down—as a public service? You know, the one that once read, "Clean is better."

It hasn't been rented to a paying customer in at least three years, and it remains an eyesore for all of us to endure.

...Wondering how many along our favorite river celebrated American Rivers Month? This weekend is your last chance, so let's party.

...Wondering if it means you are getting old when it takes longer to rest than it did to get tired?

...Wondering if it will ever become fashionable to use a "designated driver" in situations involving drinking and driving?

The National Sheriffs' Association wants it to become a "national habit" to designate a driver who will not drink so that he can drive his friends home safely.

...Wondering whether the opposite of love is really hate? Or could it be apathy?

...Wondering if the rains will continue through July and August?

...Wondering whether Congress will really reform our tax system to require the largest corporations to pay their share of taxes?

A family with taxable income of $25,000 pays income taxes of about $2,500, but General Electric earned $6.5 billion and actually received tax refunds.

Opinion

East Texas congressional race is about momentum for 1986

The political eyes of Texas are turned northeast to the First Congressional District where the first election battle of the new season is being waged.

At stake in this June 29 special election is not only a seat in Congress for one party or the other, but also precious momentum which the victors hope will carry over into the '86 regular elections.

Some eight Democrats and one Republican make this race somewhat of a free-for-all, especially in behind-the-scenes dynamics. The Republicans have put all their marbles behind one horse, and a political novice at that. The Democrats, somewhat more comfortable in what has traditionally been their district, are fragmented and combative.

While most analysts agree that a run-off election will be necessary between the top two votegetters, a Democratic victory will depend on whether the factions rejoin.

Gramm's influence

The situation on the election eve is one heavily influenced by the new Republican U.S. Senator Phil Gramm and very similar to the circumstances in his home congressional district which catapulated him to statewide office.

In that '83 election, Gramm drew heavily on unified GOP support from around the state and defeated a field of some ten Democratic challengers.

Now from his position as the top Republican officeholder in the state, he has engineered a similar scenario for victory for former Aggie quarterback Ed Hargett, his hand-picked candidate.

First, he enticed long-time Congressman Sam Hall to resign and accept a federal judgeship which Gramm asked Reagan to give him. Then, when Hall vacated the seat, thereby creating the need for a special election, Gramm was ready to run a well-funded, lone Republican.

The strategy of using special elections to win a GOP takeover in a Democratic district is one that pits Democrat against Democrat for the right to run in a run-off against an unbloodied Republican.

Democrats are notorious for squabbling amongst themselves, and after the blood-letting, they are generally not in the mood to kiss and make up for some time.

No time to sulk

In the past, Texas has been a one-party state and Democrats could afford this luxury, especially during the long months of summer that separate the primary and general elections. Democrats have more time to reunite in a regular election year.

Not so in a special election. The scant 30 days between the initial election and the run-off does not lend itself to a Texas Democratic Party which is not used to a real GOP threat.

Gramm, a former Democrat himself, knows the weaknesses of his former party and is playing them to the hilt. He is also using his official influence to gather funds from across the state and nation in his long-shot bid to score a dramatic upset win in the heart of Democratic territory.

Conservatives the key

He has only to make a good, close showing to come out smelling good, because of the region's political history. A win would seal his position of leadership within a GOP that still eyes former Democrats with some distrust and jealousy.

A victory also encourages the new doctrine that conservative Democrats can become Republicans in Texas and keep on winning. The Democrats have managed to fight that concept to a standstill, and so far, only one Texas legislator has switched this summer, Gary Thompson of Abilene.

But a victory in this northeast corner would give new hope to that concept, and to the expected candidacy of switcher Kent Hance.

For the Democrats, the conservatives hold the key to victory, especially if the voter turn-out is mediocre as predicted. Then, they can decide the run-off by choosing between the Democrat, whom ever emerges, and the Republican.

If they choose the Republican, they may well decide to remain in their new party. The magnitude with which they will cross party lines will hinge on how fast the Democratic winner can repair fences with the seven Democratic losers.

And that is where Phil Gramm is counting on them not to succeed.

AARP commends officials for health care legislation

The Texas State Legislative Committee of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) this week commended Gov. Mark White and the members of the Texas State Legislature for "their successful efforts during the 1985 session to enact and sign into law legislation that helps contain health care costs in Texas."

"The legislative session which ended May 24 produced an important package of legislation that will help cover some of the costs of charity, or indigent care provided by hospitals. Separate legislation will permit patients to have access to information allowing them to be more informed consumers when it comes to hospital care. By reducing insurance and hospital costs and offering consumers a choice this legislation will have an important impact in slowing the rate of increase in health care costs in our state," said Carroll Teague, Chairman of AARP's State Legislative Committee.

Citing the indigent health care legislation signed into law last week by Governor White, Mr. Teague pointed out that "each year our hospitals provide an estimated one billion dollars worth of charity care to persons who are uninsured or underinsured. Usually this one billion dollars is shifted onto patients who have insurance—causing insurance premiums and hospital charges to rise dramatically indigent care package of bills as passed by the legislature help solve this one billion dollar problem by setting aside 150 million dollars a year to pay for health care for the needy and to provide prenatal and maternal care for the poor as well."

"The legislature is also to be commended for including in H.B. 2091 and S.B. 692 sections that would require hospitals to report their charges for health care services to the Texas Department of Health. This hospital charge information and the itemized hospital bill provisions of S.B. 806 will give patients the same information he or she has when purchasing any other service or item. If competition among hospitals is a solution to high hospital costs—and the best alternative to tougher regulation—patients need to have information on specific hospital charges for specific services," Mr. Teague said.

There was dancing in the street and spirited bidding Saturday during the Bandera County Sesquicentennial Committee's Night in Old Bandera celebration. While sudden and heavy rains disrupted things at times and may have kept some celebrants at home, it did little to dampen the enthusiasm of the hearty. The party was to kick off the county's observance of Texas' 150th birthday, and these dancers did it to the two-step. Party-goers were generous in their support of the auction, which was to raise funds to finance sesquicentennial activities during 1986.

Residents urged to get ready for the fair

"Now is the time to start quilting, cannin' and craftin' for the second annual Bandera County Fair," reminds the fair's publicity chairman Donna Mansfield.

"Those long-term projects need to be started 'yesterday'," she said.

The fair will be Oct. 4-6.

Among the fair activities will be completion among Bandera County residents in a variety of classifications, including fashion sewing, baking and canning, horticulture and arts and crafts.

A feature of the fair will be the selection of Miss Bandera County, Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County, Baby Bandera County, and Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County, Mansfield said.

"Once again the Old Timers' Reunion will be held during the fair weekend with everyone wearing period costumes," Mansfield said.

An American Quarter Horse Association horse show is planned along with a downtown parade, an auction sale, a junior stock show, square dancing demonstrations, cloggers, singers, fiddlers and pickers.

"Lots of contests will take place, including long awaited-events like a hairiest leg contest, a kiss-the-pig contest, an armadillo beauty contest, an unusual pet contest and a telling-tales contest," said the spokesman.

There will also be a petting zoo for the children, she said.

All entries except baked and perishable goods will be accepted for judging from 11 a.m. until 7 p.m. Oct. 4, Mansfield said. Perishable items will be received Saturday morning, Oct. 5, between the hours of 7 a.m. and 8 a.m.

Categories in which competition will be held include canned vegetables, pickles, fruit, preserves, jams and jellies; wines; sewing competition in quilts, dresses, pillows, home interior crafts, mens wear, childrens outfits and others; horticulture; all types of arts and crafts; and baking competition in bread, cakes, cookies and pies.

Persons interested in entering the fair or working as a volunteer member of the County Fair Critters may contact Karoline Moreland at 562-3419 or one of the other community representatives on the fair's general arrangements committee.

Other representatives include Edith (Chubby) Chandler of Medina; Lee Ann Bounds of Utopia; Mansfield of Lakehills; Carlene Comparetta of Tarpley, Della Harley of Pipe Creek and Lanell Kelner of Vanderpool.

Senior center planned in Utopia

Rose Duvall of Dripping Springs showed members of the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council a slide presentation depicting life in Dripping Springs retirement and nursing homes at the Community Center in Utopia.

Duvall is a member of the board of directors of the Texas Department on Aging and is the founder and director of a retirement center in Dripping Springs.

She encouraged the Sabinal Canyon group to participate and to get involved in the effort to get a senior citizen group established.

She assured the group that it was a wise decision to be a private, non-profit organization without excessive government control. Ada Ruth Reiber has visited the facility in Dripping Springs and was most complimentary in her comments.

Dorothy Umlang and Clara B. Wallace reported a visit to the Silver Sage Corral in Bandera. In glowing terms they described the participation and activity at that Senior Center. The Utopia Park Board has agreed to allow the senior council to erect a log building on the southwest corner of the town square to serve as a Senior Center.

S.J. Carson, chairman of the committee to draft a charter, read a letter from Bob Hall, an attorney, offering to help the group in obtaining a charter. Hall emphasized that the explicitly-stated purpose of the organization determines the tax status.

A luncheon was served to 26 members and guests.

Hunter harassment bill signed into Law in Texas

Gov. Mark White signed into law a bill that prohibits the harassment of hunters and the disruption of legal hunts.

The "hunter harassment" legislation (H.B. 1656) makes it unlawful for individuals to intentionally interfere or harass hunters during the lawful taking of an animal.

It also prohibits individuals from using other animals, such as dogs, to disrupt hunts.

Violators of the new law, which takes effect Aug. 26, 1985, are subject to a misdemeanor charge.

Dr. James T. Brown, National Rifle Association board member and legislative director for the Texas State Rifle Association, prepared the bill for introduction and lobbied for its passage.

Texas joins a growing number of states that have adopted so-called "hunter harassment" legislation.

Increased hunting license fees announced

Resident and non-resident Texas hunting licenses will cost more in 1985-86 as a result of action by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission last week.

Commission Chairman Ed Cox Jr. said the commission members all regretted having to raise license fees, but additional revenue is required to maintain Parks and Wildlife Department functions during the coming year.

—The most dramatic increases were for nonresident hunting licenses, with the general nonresident license price raised from $100.75 to $200 and the nonresident small game license from the current $37.75 to $75.

Staff members told the commission that the increased fees bring the cost of Texas nonresident licenses more in line with those in other states, and especially those states which provide the bulk of hunters visiting Texas.

All the increases will be effective Sept. 1.

Licenses for the 1985-86 seasons will be available from department offices and retail outlets by August, officials said.

Other license fees increased are resident combination hunting/fishing, from $12 to $15; resident hunting, $8 to $10; resident hunting exempt, $5 to $6; hunting duplicate, $5 to $6, and temporary nonresident fishing, $7 to $8.

The $8 resident fishing license fee will remain unchanged for 1985-86, as will the $15 nonresident annual fishing license. However, staff members said additional revenue is expected from a $5 saltwater fishing stamp and a $5 freshwater trout stamp authorized by the Texas Legislature this year.

Archer seeks support during Bandera visit

San Antonio City Councilman Van Archer was in Bandera last week testing the political waters for a possible bid for a seat in the U.S. Congress, and he got words of encouragement from County Republican Chairman Buddy Thompson.

Archer and several other Republicans have expressed an interest in seeking the Republican nomination if incumbent U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler runs for governor.

"If the election was held today, I would vote for him (Archer)," Thompson said after lunching with the San Antonio councilman. "He's not afraid to talk about an issue and make a commitment that he'll carry through on."

Thompson said it still appears "about 98 percent certain" that Loeffler will run for governor, leaving his congressional seat up for grabs. Other prominent Republicans being mentioned are former Gov. Bill Clements and former Democrat Kent Hance of Lubbock.

Landrums welcome a baby boy

Tim and Cheryl Landrum of Bandera are the proud parents of a baby boy born June 24 at Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville.

Buck Tyler Landrum weighed eight pounds, 12 ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Twilley of Citronelle, Ala., and Claude Landrum of Saraland, Ala.

Trails preserve at Lake Tawakoni was supplied water by the city of Point when it was discovered that the existing treatment plant was not capable of supplying the water demands of its customers, including the 180-acre campground.

On May 7 the completed plant began pumping 220 gallons of drinking water per minute. She said the plant is large enough that it will provide water to the community to the year 2000.

"If the state approves our application to install the plant we will start immediately," Olson said. He said the resort will send the employee responsible for the operation and maintenance to school to be trained to manage such a treatment plant. The plant manager will also be required to pass a state examination in order to be licensed to operate the sewage plant.

"Last year at this time we had 60 to 90 recreational vehicles staying overnight, and this year we are averaging from 110 to 150 recreational families every weekend," Olson said.

Gene Boyd of Mico, president of the MLPA group told the Bulletin in early March when Thousand Trails first applied to the Texas Department of Water Resources for a permit to install the sewage plant that MLPA, directors had voted to immediately file a formal protest with the water commission.

At the time the application for the plant was filed in Austin the plans called for a sewage system that would dump treated effluent into the lake.

"Because of the uproar raised by the group," Thousand Trails preserve manager Hal Olson told the Bulletin March 20, "we (Thousand Trails) will spend an extra $20,000 to $30,000 to install an evaporative system instead of a discharge system. With the evaporative system no effluent will be dumped in the lake."

Kerr County grand jury no bills Terry Mason

Terry Mason of Ingram, Bandera's city attorney, was no billed Friday by the Kerr County grand jury which had investigated statements he made in which it appeared he was hiring a hit man to murder his estranged wife.

A hidden camera recorded the conversation, and excerpts were shown nationally on television by Cable News Network.

Mason told the Bulletin Tuesday he was trying to get the other party involved to incriminate himself and that's why he went along with the conversation in which he was to pay the hit man with cocaine.

"It was me not being serious and thinking he was serious and his not being serious thinking I was," Mason said Tuesday. "I was trying to set him up."

Mason says he testified on two occasions before the Kerr County grand jury and he also has testified before a federal grand jury in San Antonio. Mason said it was his understanding that the federal prosecutor had recommended the federal grand jury's investigation be dropped.

He said he plans to file a libel suit against CNN for broadcasting the tape.

Texas Ranger Joe Davis testified in late May during a child custody hearing in district court in Bandera that he had heard the entire CNN tape that at that time was in the possession of the FBI.

"Allegations had been made that Mason hired someone to kill his wife," Davis said. He would not elaborate on the matter, but excerpts from the tape appeared on a San Antonio television station the same day.

Mason spoke to the Bandera City Council in April during an executive session called to investigate the matter. Following the session, the council voted to keep Mason as city attorney.

Kerrville attorney new assistant DA

Kerrville attorney Craig Leslie has been appointed assistant district attorney for the 216th and 198th judicial districts. The 216th district includes Bandera County.

Leslie, a partner in the Kerrville law firm of Prohl and Leslie, will be a part-time assistant, helping district attorneys in both districts with trials, pretrial hearings and sessions of the grand juries, says 216th DA Bruce Curry.

Leslie is a graduate of Texas Tech Law School and has served as Kerrville's assistant municipal court judge and is president of the Kerr County Bar Association.

A native of Tahoka and a licensed attorney since 1973, Leslie has lived in Kerrville since 1972.

Immunizations set

The Texas Department of Health will have a childrens immunization clinic July 3 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. in the United Methodist Church in Bandera.

All immunizations are free of charge, says spokeswoman Pat Bahr.

Controversy continues in Hondo

A politically very interesting situation is developing in Medina County, as reported by the Castroville News Bulletin and Hondo Anvil Herald.

The controversy began over a year ago, and involves a proposed federal "detention center," which would hold as many as 1650 prisoners.

County Judge Jerome Decker and Commissioner David Montgomery both favor the detention center being located in Medina County.

Commissioners Henry Briscoe and Henry Santos both said they now oppose the facility after abstaining during an earlier meeting.

Commissioner Larry Haby of Castroville asked for more time to "get the feel of the people" in his precinct before he votes for or against.

Haby is, then, the potential deciding vote when the commissioners court considers ratifying a resolution to allow a private Waco firm to apply for construction financing with revenue bonds through the county's industrial development corporation.

Haby was appointed county commissioner six weeks ago following the ouster of then Commissioner Leon Tschirhart, who lost office after a waste management controversy.

In another continuing dispute in Hondo, the Hondo City Council declined to take disciplinary action against police officer Wesley Beck who had been accused of brutality.

The decision followed a hearing at which the results of an investigation into eight separate allegations of police abuse against Beck were aired.

The probe was prompted by a group calling istelf People Against Police Abuse which appeared at the council's May 14 meeting.

Ingram water rate increase

Wanda Garner Cash of the Ingram News reports that Ingram City Council unanimously approved a 29 percent rate increase request by Ingram Water Supply owner Joel Craig after asking Craig if the new, proposed rates were sufficient.

Customers will see the $2.50 hike on basic residential service effective Aug. 1, if the request successfully passes a public hearing and two more readings at City Council.

The proposed increase will make the rate $11 per month for the first 3,000 gallons of water for residential use and $12.50 monthly for commercial purposes.

LCRA inquiry

The Johnson City Record Courier reports that the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) might still be in trouble with some ratepayers and the Public Utility Commission.

The PUC has directed its staff to conduct an inquiry into alleged cost overruns at the proposed Fayette 3 lignite power plant due to changes in the mining plan.

The inquiry resulted from allegations made during LCRA's recent hearing seeking a $35.1 million rate increase request.

School to renovate

Members of the Nueces Canyon Independent School District Board revealed plans for turning the school's ag building into classrooms, according to the Uvalde Leader-News.

The board also let it be known that their consensus was that any new facilities constructed for Nueces Canyon High School should be built in Barksdale.

The emergency renovation of the ag building was dictated by the June 11 fire which destroyed the high school gym and classroom annex.

Although it was quiet inside the hall, when the board met with their attorney in executive session, citizens gathered outside and expressed concern about rebuilding a school where there is a problem with water and sewage hook-ups and with insurance coverage.

Before the executive session, board president Bill Luce said that neither the state fire marshal's investigator nor the insurance investigator had been to Barksdale, so the cause of the $500,000 fire was still undetermined.

The Leader-News also noted the first anniversary of the Uvalde County Clinic which provides primary health care for the county's medically underserved population.

Since the clinic opened an average of 15 patients per day have come to the modular unit on the west side of Memorial Hospital for treatment.

The clinic was the first of its kind in the county and one of the only such clinics in the state to be funded by federal, city, county and Memorial Hospital in-kind funds. The clinic will move from its present location to larger quarters sometime next month.

Review board organizes

Fredericksburg's Historic Review Board held its first meeting, according to the Standard Radio Post.

The Historic Review Board was appointed as the result of the passing of a historical zoning ordinance and the designation of boundaries for a historical district in Fredericksburg.

The board's function is to meet with persons planning to make significant changes only to the exteriors of existing building within the historic district as well as those planning new construction within the district.

The board will meet with each applicant to discuss the appropriateness of the proposed changes or new construction and whether the design is in keeping with the character of the historial landmark or district.

Even though the recommendations of the board of review are not binding, persons planning significant changes are required to meet with the board. Failure to do so will result in a fine for violating a city ordinance.

Bandera County 25 years ago
By Lila MacMillan

Roseann Mazurek, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Mazurek of Medina Lake, and Arliss William Schott of Castroville were married in an impressive double ring ceremony June 29, 1960. The evening wedding was held at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church with the Rev. Victor Schmidtzinsky reading the wedding vows.

The Bandera Bulletin announced Bandera's Little League team was in top place, having won five games out of six. The first game played was with Boerne and the final game was against the Boerne Yankees.

The roster included Joe Kitzman, Russell Zickler, Mike Wootton, Kenneth Mazurek, Harold Brooks, Ronnie Daniels, John Brock, George Hamilton, John Hamilton, Jimmie Locke, and Gary Daniels.

Harold Brooks and Taylor Wootton managed the fine Little League team.

Friends in large numbers attended the re-opening of Bandera Motor Company, formerly the Horsman Ford Company.

Mr. and Mrs. Horsman held open house in the showroom.

Free State Oil Company advertised Goodyear tires on sale. A set of four was selling for as low as $1.25 per week. Tires were priced from $11.95 to $15.95 each. They had tires for Ford, Chevrolet, Nash, Packard, Plymouth, Hudson, and DeSoto automobiles.

Bandera Quality Feed Store announced it would give 25 baby chicks free with every bag of Hamco Feed as long as they last.

Local landmarks visited by Heritage Association

The Castroville Colonies Heritage Association represented by about 50 members from Castroville, Hondo, Quihi, D'Hanis, San Antonio, Medina and Bandera spent Sunday afternoon visiting Bandera landmarks.

The Frontier Times Museum, the old jail, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, and other landmarks were visited by the group, said spokeswoman Judy Pue. Following the tour the group went to the Silver Sage Corral for a short business meeting and refreshments.

Serving as tour guides and narrators were Dorothy Callahan, Fannie Caffall, Louis Postert, Christine Kalka, Annette Schulte, and Minnie Hayes at the Silver Sage Corral and Herbert J. Bilhartz at the old jail.

Hosts for the meeting were Mary Margaret and Ellis Burges, Vera and Clinton Bourquin, and Irene and Maurice DeCock.

The spokeswoman said the group was very impressed with the new senior center and found Bandera to be a very interesting place to visit.

Thousand Trails manager, Hal Olson and maintenance employees; Sherry Davis, Jenny Plaszyk and Shirley Kelley were all smiles this week as they pulled docks in another three feet.

Faith Chapel

The Faith Chapel Christian School may close temporarily if enrollment is not sufficient to justify the employment of a new school supervisor, its director said this week.

The Rev. Jim Colley said the school has the opportunity to have Pat Jenkins be the school supervisor for the 1985 fall term. "Pat will bring a real improvement to our school," Rev. Colley said.

"We have learned that we must tighten up the entrance requirements to our school, but at the same time we need sufficient enrollment to be able to hire Pat," Colley said. "If we are not able to hire Pat, we will probably allow our school to remain inactive for at least one or two years."

Any families interested in a Christian school education for their children, are urged to contact the school within the week, Colley said.

FC activities for kids

Lisa Popham has been hired to staff the nursery on Sunday mornings and Thursday evenings at Faith Chapel. The nursery is open for Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. and worship services at 10:45 a.m. The nursery will also be open on Thursday evenings for prayer services at 7 p.m.

Children Worship Services will resume on or about June 28. The Rev. Colley said Raymond and Theresa Popham will be leading this ministry.

We also want to revitalize our Sunday School," Colley said. "We have primary and elementary classes" he said. Anyone interested in serving as Sunday school superintendent or helping with a class can contact Colley. He said he also hopes to get the bus rolling again. Routes are planned for Pebble Beach and perhaps part of Lakehills. A bus driver will be needed, Colley said.

Outreach dinners reactivated

The Outreach Dinners have been reactivated at Faith Chapel. The Rev. Colley says get ready for another one. Ray and JoAnn Smothers of San Antonio will be special guests July 11 at 7 p.m. "I'm sure everyone will enjoy their music," Colley said of the talented couple.

Salads and desserts will be served following the program. No admission will be charged, but a love offering will be taken up for the Smothers, Colley said.

Everyone is encouraged to bring a friend to the Outreach Dinner, Colley said. "That is what they are all about."

Fundays to continue through summer

The Medina Lake Chapter of the Association of Retired Persons will continue each month, spokeswoman June Settlemeyer told the Bulletin.

The regular monthly meetings will resume on Sept. 16. Fundays will be held on July 15 and Aug. 19 at the American Legion Post in Lakehills.

Nadine Hartmann entertained everyone at Monday's meeting with a slide show and program on "Our Heritage." Settlemeyer said the meeting was well attended.

Bingo parties will continue through the summer at Purple Hills, she said. A generous contribution to Bandera County Helping Hand was approved at Monday's meeting, Settlemeyer said.

Local bowlers take 1st place

A major upset was on tab for Oak Hills Lanes in San Antonio at the end of winter bowling.

Mary Ann Trimble, Jeanne Bragg, Joey Kenyon of Lakehills, and Debbie Werthiem of San Antonio won first-place plaques plus cash awards in the Mystic League.

Ralph Willis of P.M. Enterprises in Lakehills was the proud sponsor of these league champions.

Celebration for Evans

Friends and relatives gathered at the home of Lory and Edith Evans in Lakehills Sunday to celebrate Edith's birthday.

Enjoying the barbecue dinner and birthday cake were Mr. and Mrs. Brian Evans, Patti and Doug of Bulverde, Mrs. Judy Evans, Treavor and Trudy of Scenic Hills, Susan Brothy of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stufflebean of Lakehills and their house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stufflebean of Springfield, Mo., Aubrey Vincent Edwards of LaPorte, Scott Fossler of Boerne, and Harry Evans of Lakehills.

Five great-grandmas four great-grandpas

Little Heather Mauer, daughter of Randy and Sherri Mauer, has five great-grandmothers and four great-grandfathers. Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marshall of Pipe Creek, Mr. and Mrs. Norvel Bell of San Antonio, and Mrs. Sue Flores of Pipe Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Laue and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Mauer of Lakehills are paternal great-grandparents.

Free hearing loss screening tests set

Electronic hearing loss screening tests and initial consultations will be offered free of charge at the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37 in Lakehills. These free tests will be available on an appointment only basis on Tuesday, July 23, from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m.

A state-licensed hearing aid specialist will perform the tests and to provide information regarding hearing loss, hearing conservation and hearing loss correction.

To arrange for an appointment, call (800) 223-3277 toll free.

This service is sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association.

Wentrcek completes Army school

Army Reserve Private Carl Wentrcek, son of Carl Wentrcek of Lakehills, has completed the Army automotive repair course at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md.

The course included trouble-shooting, repair, replacing, adjusting, and maintaining the mechanical, electrical, air and hydraulic systems plus other major components and assemblies of wheeled and tracked vehicles.

Instruction was also given on the performance of maintenance operations in a field environment.

Party surprised Stein

A surprise birthday party was thrown for Carrie Stein at her home in San Antonio, by her parents, Arliss and Roseann Schott of Lakehills.

Fajitas, guacamole dip, birthday cake, and homemade ice cream were enjoyed by everyone in attendance.

Attending the celebration were her husband, Richard Stein, his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Stein St., Bill and Candy Housen and Melissa and Pamela, Lucille Housen, Karen Housen, David and Linda St. John, Doug Housen, Tina Schott, and Sherri Mauer and Heather.

CLVFD Independence Day chili cook-off

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department will hold it's second annual Independence Day Chili Cook-off July 7 at the Castle Lake Ranch at the lake park. The firemen have a fun filled day planned with games for all ages, an auction, lots of good food and cold drinks, and arts and crafts tables, said spokeswoman Pat Mills. Tables for arts and crafts displays can be rented for a $10 fee. Entry fee for the chili cook-off is also $10, Mills said.

1985 summer courses planned at SAC

The San Antonio College Women's Center's single parents and homemakers program is providing classes, workshops, and other services in an effort to meet the needs of single parents and homemakers who lack marketable skills.

The classes and workshops are offered free of charge and will be held at San Antonio College. For further information, or a schedule of times and dates of Program activities, call the SAC Women's Center Office at 733-2942.

New plant opened here

The first polystyrene laminated panels were turned out Wednesday morning at a new plant in Bandera.

The plant is located in a steel building on State Highway 16 West that had been used by Jack Frazier Electric Company.

The company is Texas Country Homes and Barns, Inc., and their plant initially will manufacture panels used by the home-building division of their own company, but they plan to expand their market to serve other builders.

The plant is capable of manufacturing enough of the panels to construct a home a day, says Jerry Lasater, one of three stockholders in the company and its vice president for sales.

The other principals are Lasater's brother, Charles Lasater, who is the company's president, and John Turner, vice president for construction.

The company employs 11 persons at its plant in Bandera and in its sales office at Oak Country subdivision southeast of Pipe Creek.

The company sells and builds homes made of four-inch and six-inch polystryene bonded between ½-inch Blandex (high quality composition board), which Jerry Lasater calls "the wave of the future in the building business." The trade name of the panels is Bantex.

The material is very efficient as insulation, and homes built with it show dramatic results in reducing heating and cooling costs, Lasater says. Polystyrene is widely used to insulate freezers, refrigerators, ice chests and coffee cups.

"As energy costs continue to go up, more and more builders and home buyers should look at polystyrene in general to help maximize insulating efficiency," Lasater said.

The homes are built of four-foot by eight-foot panels with four-inch polystyrene in the walls and six-inches of polystyrene in the roofs.

Because the panels are structural, Lasater said they result in stronger buildings, and he says there are many efficiencies in construction and a reduction of waste.

Construction is also much quicker, Lasater said.

The Lasaters and Turner are confident that a building boom is on the near horizon in Bandera County. "Because of the completion of Highway 16, the concept of living in the country and working in the city is viable in Bandera County for the first time," Jerry Lasater said.

The highway department said construction on Highway 16 will be completed in July.

Turner has been building homes in Houston and he built the steward's stand and the jockey's quarters at Bandera Downs last fall. He said the manufacturing of the polystyrene panels is adversely affected by the high humidity and heat in the Houston area, but the weather conditions in the Bandera area are ideal.

Texas Country Homes and Barns, Inc., also sells and constructs barns, but they are not made of polystyrene panels, Turner said.

Travel Tips

Sundance Travel Int'l

The value of the dollar has made the Orient a great bargain. In fact, affordable rates at some of the most luxurious hotels in the world are now possible because of the favorable rate of exchange. Restaurant costs and the price of consumer goods are equally irresistible.

There are escorted tours combining several countries as well as packages which can be mixed and matched to create a custom trip. One of the most popular itineraries includes Japan, Hong Kong, and Bangkok. For those with more time, a trip which also includes Singapore, Bali, Taiwan and Korea should be considered.

As more airlines have begun service to the Orient, fares have become lower than ever. Although regarded as "exotic" by some, you'll find hotels providing the type of service seldom found elsewhere in the world these days, as well as friendly people eager to welcome tourists. If there is sometimes a language problem, there's ample compensation in the willingness of everyone you meet to provide assistance.

Tipping is not a widely practiced custom in most parts of the Orient, so you won't find a hand extended at every turn. A 10% service charge is usually added to your hotel and restaurant bills and nothing else is expected. Even taxi drivers are not usually tipped.

There are many tours available to the Orient, Southeast Asia and China. You can choose from escorted or local hosted packages ranging from economy to deluxe price ranges. Some include a full program of sightseeing while others allow ample opportunity to explore on your own.

Call us for the best of the Orient. We'll make it the trip of your dreams.

Medina

Tootie Mayfield 589-2491
Ellen Walker 589-2697

Marilyn Blansett has arrived here to make her home. She comes from Irving. Her daughter and granddaughters are Barbra Walters and Heather and Holly.

House guest of Barbra Walters and daughters Heather and Holly was Jo Anne Shuping of Dallas.

Maya Lay spent a week in Dallas visiting her mother, Alana Lay, and son Adam and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Lay.

Special trip

For Father's Day, Dick Hinds took John Dee and Pearl Hinds to lunch and a long drive (he told Pearl it was really a Mother's Day treat for her). They drove through Blanco, Johnson City, Boerne, where they ate lunch and Fredericksburg to look at the peaches and to see Dick's daughter and son-in-law, Texas and Sonny, at Kerrville.

Visitors

Ivey Mayfield and Maya had some of their family for Sunday dinner, including her son Jerry, Jean and Roddy of Fredericksburg; Gary Stokes of Austin, Larry and LaNell Kirk and Leslie Mayfield. Stokes also took in the Stokes' reunion.

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Barth of San Antonio were up over the weekend to take Bertha's mom, Mrs. Roy Bonnet out to lunch at the Trails End Restaurant and when they got up here, found sister Lola Chipman of Kerrville here to do the same, so they all enjoyed having lunch together.

Joe and Shirley Kitzman of Starkville, Miss., were here during Father's Day, but Joe had to return home after two days and Shirley remained.

Dan Hatfield of Kerrville had Father's Day picnic for his dad and family, W.O., Dorothy, Duncan, Shirley and grandmother Irene. They all enjoyed their day together and later friends dropped by.

Shirley visited with her parents here and with Joe's family, Mr. and Mrs. Art Kitzman of Bandera, Joe's sister Karen and her husband Ron Jackson and children, also of Bandera.

It was reported to be a very enjoyable time for everyone.

Medina Masonic Lodge, No. 1319 is holding an open installation of officers for the insuing year Monday, July 1, at 8 p.m. at the Masonic Hall in Medina.

There will be an ice cream social at 7 p.m. preceding the installation. "Everyone is cordially invited to attend," said spokesman Larry Kirk.

Walker reunion

The Annual Walker Reunion will be held this July 5-7. Friends and relatives are urged to come and bring a covered dish, table, chairs and a serving spoon.

Sick list

It was learned here that Frieda Voss of Kerrville, formerly of Medina, underwent surgery recently and is still not doing too well. We understand she will have to under go more tests.

Choir sings

The Medina Methodist Church hosted a covered-dish dinner in honor of the "Day Breaks," a junior choir of boys and girls from Ft. Stockton.

After the dinner, the choir sang at the church.

This is the first time out for the young choir members. It was reported that a large group of people were there to enjoy listening to these singers and everyone appreciated them coming to Medina.

The groups stayed with different church members.

Mayfield reunion

The annual Mayfield reunion was held June 2 at the Walker Reunion grounds on FM 2828 with about 75 attending.

There was a lot of visiting and catching up from last year.

Donna Mayfield of Purple Hills was presented with a long stem rose as the lady with the most seniority there and Brice Mayfield was the gentlemen to receive a flower.

The youngest was William Cole Mayfield, son of Richard and Kay Mayfield, grandson of Tootie Mayfield and the late Bob Mayfield and Mike and Minnie Pember of Bandera.

Winner in the stick horse race was Carrie Rogers of San Antonio. Second place was won by Jarrod Blandin and Nicholas Blandin was third.

Treasure Hunt winners were Carrie Rogers first place, second place Maya Lay and Johnathan Barton, third.

The children enjoyed a piñata too, they all scrambled for the candy!

Folks came from San Antonio, Kerrville, Austin, Bandera, Dallas, the Coast and Medina.

Golden wedding

Durwood and Hazel Mayfield will be honored with a golden anniversary party on Sunday, June 30 from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the home of Morris and Dorothy (Mayfield) Pue. Their home is located on FM 2828, turn in at the "The Farm" and go about one mile.

No place like home

I have returned to God's Country after a two week trip through Las Vegas, where my sister and family, Charline, Vernon and Lori Porter of Utopia, took in the Moe Bandy-George Strait show.

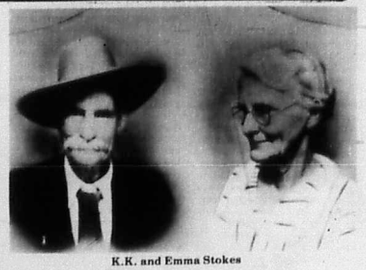

We had the pleasure of getting to visit with Moe and his sister and husband in his room before show time, and it was a real good show!

Three other sisters and husbands of two were there when we got to Vegas, Wanda and Bernie Lynch, Jackie and Ken Ross and Nancy Estes. Wanda and Bernie were with us when we visited with Moe, but the others had already gone back to Bakersfield, Calif.

We went on to Bakersfield to visit and be with everyone. Wanda has been very ill, but she forced herself to make the trip to Vegas to see Moe!

The Porters and I came the route through its Grand Canyon and on down, saw some pretty country, but believe me, there is none like home!

K.K. and Emma Stokes

K.K. Stokes came to Medina in 1900 to farm on Laxon Creek

When K.K. Stokes was in his 70's, he embarked on a plan to live to be 100 years old.

He began to jog daily, to do exercises, and he excelled in chinups. His grandchildren remember how every morning K.K. would jump up and click his heels twice before landing, then dance a jig beside his bed.

He lived to be 76, and the doctor told his family that K.K. had overworked his heart.

Kenchen King Stokes Jr. was born in Orange on Jan. 11, 1862, and died Feb. 26, 1938. K.K. was married to Emma at Gonzales, Nov. 1, 1884. Emma Jane Seale was born in Beeville on Aug. 9, 1868. She died Aug. 19, 1938, just six months after her husband died. Both are buried at West Prong Cemetery in Medina.

In 1900, the Stokes family moved to Medina and leased land to farm on Laxon Creek. Their children were James F., Ausker D., Alice Cleora Faris, Lucy Olander Dumphy, Orva Francis, Brown Henry, Lans Seale, William Rylie and Eva Viola Howland.

Every year, K.K. was adamant about packing a covered wagon to go pick cotton. In 1927, at age 65, he took extra horses and began the trip. His son, Brown, drove to Fredericksburg in a Model T and found them after two days traveling and was unable to convince him to return home, but his wife and daughter Viola, did influence him later to turn back.

K.K. liked to talk things over with many people before he made a decision. He never got in a hurry—never made his horses trot. He did at one time run for sheriff, despite the fact all his advisors had explained how difficult it would be to win the county since he was known only by Medina folks. He was defeated.

After many years of leasing land on Laxon Creek and sending their children to school there, the Stokes leased the Baker 640 acres North of Medina and lived in the rock two-story house across from Oak Rest Cemetery. Later, they bought about 320 acres, four miles from Medina on the West Prong of the river.

K.K. was well known for the gallon cans of "Sorghum Syrup made by K.K. Stokes" labeled and sold in all the local stores and freighted by his son Bill to area towns. He raised sugar cane on about 15 acres and worked his sorghum mill in the shade by the West Prong of the Medina River.

When the depression put a squeeze on all the farmers, K.K. sold the property to his son Brown, who sold it to Jim Gallant, who sold it to the Suttles family. It is now Chaparral Ranch.

The Stokes' moved to town and rented the old Kelley house at Cypress and Sheppard Streets.

Emma was remembered as being a quiet person by her grandchildren, not showing much affection. She was a diabetic and self-administered her shots. In the 1920's she had a sandwich shop-ice cream parlor in Medina. It had a rooming house behind it and was located where the present post office is located.

Emma's father, James Foster Seale (1814-1869) was born in Louisiana. In 1865, he married her mother Aramintha Angelina (Ballard) McGuire (1842-1894), who was born in Texas.

The children born to James Foster and Aramintha Seale were: Martha F. Baker (1840-?), William Leonidas (1841-?), Ophelia F. Williams (1845-1889), Virginia (1848-?), James F. (1852-1869), Eldora Passmore (1855-?), Tena (1856-?), Georgia (McGuire), Ann Baker (1864-?), David Barkley (1866-1934) and Emma Jane Stokes.

K.K.'s father, Kenchen King Stokes Sr. (1883-Dec. 1, 1862) was born in Alabama. He died at age 29, during the civil war. He was married to Frances (Dickey) in Tyler, Tx., Feb. 3, 1856. Frances was born in 1842 in Alabama. K.K. Sr. is buried in Orange, Tx. K.K. Jr. was not yet one year old when his father died.

K.K. liked to go to San Antonio so he could find medical books. He was an avid reader of non-fiction books and would relate the details to his children.

His children always wondered which child would get to make the trip with him when he went on a two-week trip to San Antonio to shop and stay in the wagon yard once a year.

He would go to Kerrville about twice a year and memories linger even in the grandchildren of the trip down the mountain in which he would tie a big cedar tree on the back of the wagon so it would not run over the team.

Food should look good too

Mothers of vain little girls used to remind them that "pretty is as pretty does." But food that looks good often seems to taste especially good, says Gail Corley of Associated Milk Producers. The real challenge is to make sure that food that's "good for you" looks tempting.

It's simple enough to remember to choose the plate that fits the food you are serving. And it's not hard to remember that hot food needs to be served hot and cold food cold. It's even easy to plan your menu with color in mind, she says.

During the summer, vegetable and fruit garnishes and fresh herbs are readily available to add color and appeal to each meal. For a touch of red, she suggests, think of tomatoes, red peppers, radishes, beets, cherries, apples, strawberries and raspberries. In the yellow-orange family are carrots, banana peppers, oranges, lemons and melons plus squash and yams in the fall. Other fruits and vegetables fall into the green, white and violet/black sections of the color wheel. You can use their colors to tempt picky eaters. Balanced eating for adults includes four servings from the bread group each day, two from the meat group, two from the milk group and four from the fruit and vegetable group.

An assortment of red, white, orange/yellow and green vegetables served with a dip of yogurt and cottage cheese is a colorful salad or snack. Season the dip with a powdered salad dressing mix. Yogurt is an excellent calcium source, and the vegetables can be counted on for other minerals, vitamins and fiber.

Milk, cornerstone of a well-balanced diet, can be served in a bright mug or striped glass. More colorful members of the dairy group are the cheeses, which range from blue (white with blue veins) through yellows and oranges. Use the red wax coating of Gouda and the red paprika coating on Muenster to add color contrast on a cheese tray. Cheese and fruit make a delicious and nutritious dessert and one that is easy on the eyes.

So making a meal look attractive is an important step on the road to good eating and an easy one with so much variety available.

BHS teacher conducts energy workshop

In the "old days" public school teachers were envied for their carefree summers. Now, most find themselves back in the classroom at least part of the summer in workshops and seminars as they try to climb Ross Perot's career ladder.

This summer, LRCA and its electrical customers are helping, and a Bandera High School teacher is involved.

A series of summer inservice workshops for secondary science teachers have been scheduled in five cities and are coordinated by LCRA's Energy Conservation Department schools program.

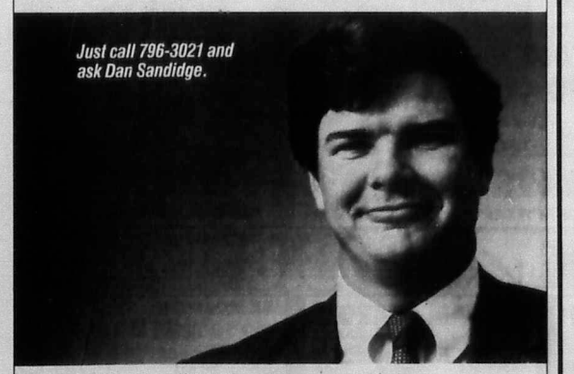

Bill Marshall of Bandera High School, assisted by Wanda McMurray and Sylvia Saenz of LCRA, conducted a six-hour workshop at Peterson Middle School in Kerrville on June 11. Marshall's program included hand-on science experiments suitable for classroom use, practical tips on energy and water conservation, and correlating the essential elements with the energy education materials.

LCRA Energy Counselors Allen Brown and Ned Brown explained the conservation services available to the teachers during the morning session of the workshop.

The teachers attending the workshop included: Ruth Kott, Joyce Seidensticker, and Tommy Underwood of Peterson Middle School; Amy Closs of Medina ISD; and Homer Stevens, Bandera High School.

Program coordinator Wanda McMurray says that these workshops, titled "The Essential Elements-Energy, Water & Safety," have been approved by the Texas Education Agency so that teachers attending will receive Advanced Academic Training (ATT) credit.

Looking for a checking account that puts your interest first?

Just call 796-3021 and ask Dan Sandidge.

At SASA, we do everything we can to offer you checking accounts that best suit your needs.

For instance, you can select from four different checking accounts. All of these accounts earn interest. Some even earn money-market rates. Plus, if you keep a minimum balance of $500 or more, you incur no monthly service charge on our regular checking account.

SASA also returns your canceled checks. This way, you have more than just receipts for your purchases. You also have valuable information at tax time.

Additionally, when you have any SASA checking account, you'll automatically be eligible to receive a SASA BANKING CARD. So you can make deposits and withdrawals at hundreds of SASA AUTOMATED BANKING CENTERS. Plus, you can use all Pulse or MPACT locations, too.

If you have any questions about SASA's many types of checking accounts—or anything else—just give us a call. We'll be happy to help.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

No sadder sequel to Night in Old Bandera could be imagined than that perpetrated against the senior citizens sometime Saturday night. Their beautiful big American flag was stolen from it's memorial flag pole, one of several flags taken that night.

A light had only just been installed so that it could fly proudly night and day. The flag itself, which had been a gift of Dollye Holly, was of particular significance as well, having covered the casket of a U.S. service woman during her last rites.

Wouldn't this fact alone be enough to bring down a curse on any person mean spirited enough to steal such a treasure?

With great sorrow and a heartache that won't go away, the seniors implore the return of this treasured flag. Who else could possibly love it as we do?

Singin' in the rain

Faithful to their promise, in spite of continuing showers last Saturday afternoon, the Melodiers gathered at the Silver Sage Corral, ready and willing to do their part for the Night in Old Bandera. The weather difficulties were compounded by the "disappearance" of an expected keyboard and part of the sound system from the "stage" at 11th and Cedar Streets.

Undaunted, or perhaps daunted only a little bit, the singers bravely rendered their old-time western songs, relying for accompaniment autoharps, violins, a harmonica for accompaniment and the steady patter of raindrops on the plastic tarpaulin overhead.

Since the audience, huddled under the store-front shelters, could hardly hear them anyway, the Melodiers, good sports that they are, just laughed and declared it to be an unusual, but fun-filled, rehearsal.

Surprises often surface at the rehearsals anyway, as witness the watermelon treat provided by Dr. George Meador on Friday. Thanks, Doc. Regularly scheduled sing-alongs will continue to be first and third Fridays at 5 p.m., with the next being July 5, and a red-white-and-blue visit to Purple Hills.

Information, please

In a cozy corner of the senior center sits Kenmore (Sears) trash compactor. Can anyone tell the center who donated it? In the hustle and bustle of moving in to the new building somehow this information was not noted. Also, does anyone happen to have a superfluous pair of end or lamp tables they'd like to find a home for?

One more question: Who was the lady who offered to come by and pick up the aluminum cans and take them to the re-cycling center?

Rocks in their heads?

The rocks are in their boxes of beautiful specimens from various places in North and Central America. The rock-hounds who assembled last Thursday evening at the Silver Sage Corral proved eager to share their expertise with others. They agreed to have another meeting on July 18, at 7:30 p.m. at the Corral.

The Frank Harrells will be leaders for the evening. Anyone interested is very welcome to come and join the group. Call Mary Worley for more information, 796-4381.

Health hints

Have your blood pressure checked at the Center on Wednesday, July 3—just in case all those visiting relatives or the exploding firecrackers on July 4 might cause its elevation.

A few minutes each Thursday following lunch at the Center are devoted to "health hints"—up-to-date developments in the health field. Join the "lunch bunch" or drop in about 12:15 p.m. to take part.

The Center would be extremely grateful if someone from Bandera would attend the Leadership Conference on Health Promotion in Austin, July 9-11, called "Wellness is Ageless." Pick up a brochure at the Center.

Mexican food supper

Torres Foods in Kerrville is preparing a fabulous Mexican supper for the benefit of the Silver Sage Corral. This will contribute a great deal to your Fourth of July observance, because the date is Saturday, July 6, from 6 to 8 p.m.

Come enjoy the good food, and help the Corral's finances at the same time.

Thank you

Mary McGroarty for your welcome donation to the Silver Sage Corral.

Correction

Lest the seniors be accused of being Bible illiterates, please note that the quotation in last week's column reading "Make our lights soshiny" was a mistake. The quotation is actually from Matthew 5:14, and reads "Let your light so shine..." The context was the additional lights erected at the Silver Sage Corral, greatly appreciated.

This past week saw the paper-towel racks re-positioned, and the door closer installed on the front door. Before that there was an acrobatic act whereby a benefactor ascended a long ladder, lent by Bob Alexander, and took the "wobblies" out of a ceiling fan. All thanks to Bill McCoy, maintenance chairman.

Alamo Area Council of Governments

It was the semi-annual meeting of the AACOG, held in Universal City, June 19, and the Robinsons were practically commanded to attend. After the business meeting it was revealed why. Judge Tommy Curbo had nominated them for an annual award, Regional Citizens of the year of 1985 for the Alamo Area, which they received amidst much flashing of cameras and congratulations from fellow Senior Advisory Committee members.

A barbecue supper was served on the lawn following the issuing of this and other awards.

Items on the agenda of the meeting of particular interest to Banderans were:

(1) Formation of state-wide task forces to study and recommend alternative methods of solid waste disposal, since all communities are faced with closing of their landfill facilities in the near future.

(2) a tense moment when a motion to give "favorable review," or consent, to Kerrville's long awaited proposal for an apartment complex for low-income elderly almost died for lack of a second. Knowing the great need for this project of Kerrville Housing Ltd., their spokesman made a special plea to the directors, and another motion was made and this time seconded and passed.

If the application for a low-interest loan is accepted, this complex, to be on Roy Street, should be ready by the end of the year. Senior citizens with incomes under $20,000 a year will be served.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

The Dorow family members and friends will hold their annual reunion on July 6 at Utopia Community Center. Each one will bring a covered dish for lunch.

Utopia visitors

Ethel Hoffman from Ft. Sill, Okla. and her daughter, Helen Bliss of Massachusetts, spent three days as guest of Mrs. H.A. Dorow.

Alice Coulter and a friend from San Antonio were brief visitors of the Thompson families and Gabriels on Saturday. They took in the barbecue supper and rodeo at Utopia.

Mike Heideman and his three children, Jason and the twins Erin and Larkin, of Dallas came in Friday to visit his parents, Ernest and Iva Heideman, brother Roy and family, sisters Judy Hillis and family, and Mary Beth Couch and family and other relatives and friends and taking in the barbecue and rodeo.

Cataract surgery

Cecil Howard underwent eye surgery for the removal of a cataract and an implant on his right eye Wednesday in St. Luke's Hospital, San Antonio. Cecil came home Thursday and is reported doing nicely.

Mrs. Jessie Ivy was able to return home Friday, from Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville, after undergoing major surgery last Thursday. Her husband Alvin, states she is doing as well as can be expected.

S.J. Carson left Saturday morning for Houston to be with his brother, Joe Carson, who has been on the critical list. He underwent surgery Wednesday during which a pace-maker was implanted. He was able to be moved home Friday and is reported to be recuperating nicely.

More visitors

Joe Duke and family of Houston are on a week's vacation visiting his parents, Leslie Duke and Norma, and other relatives.

Ray and Cherryl Berry and two children of Portland were weekend visitors of Lonnie Emma and Lonnie Wayne Bomer.

Gary and Vicky Bomer and children of Sabinal joined the group, and all took in the Utopia rodeo.

The two Berry children remained for two week's visit with the Bomers.

Celebrates birthday

Several of the Gorge Moore children came in Sunday to help celebrate their dad's birthday, including Shirley Wilkins and Kelly Moore of Abilene, Gerge Henry and wife of Sabinal, and other family members.

Attended G.A. Camp

Cleo Carson and Le Ann Bownds were counselors at G.A. Camp in Alto Frio last week. Four hundred G.A.'s with eleven from Utopia attended camp. Le Ann also taught two other classes.

Wolf club to meet

A special meeting of the Vanderpool Wolf club has been called for 8 p.m. on July 9 at the Vanderpool Community Center.

"It is very important that all members attend, if possible," a spokesman said.

Four get A&M degrees

Three students from Bandera and one from Medina received degrees during Texas A&M University's spring commencement exercises.

A total of 3,526 degrees were awarded, including 3,027 bachelor's, 392 master's and 107 doctorates.

Michael D. Stevens of Bandera received a master's degree in educational psychology.

Other students receiving their bachelor's degrees were Brenda K. Boyle in marketing and Ann Tobin in English, both of Bandera, and Evelyn M. Huie of Medina in Agricultural economics.

1985 YOUTH AGAINST CANCER CONFERENCE SAN ANTONIO TEXAS

Lonette Wilson and Rachel Lemus

Pair from Bandera attend YAC at Trinity

Lonette Wilton, home economics teacher, and Rachel Lemus, officer of the Future Homemakers of America, represented the Bandera Unit of the American Cancer Society at the organization's eight annual Youth Against Cancer (YAC) Conference at Trinity University in San Antonio.

The Bandera delegates joined over 250 fellow youth and adult representatives from throughout Texas at the two-day meeting designed to involve high school students in local cancer control activities.

In addition to sessions on how to conduct Great American Smokeout activities and public education programs, the delegates reviewed success stories on fund-raising events and heard from fellow students on "Why I back YAC."

A highlight of the conference was the presentation of an actual cancer case history—as presented by Ken Lazarus, M.D., a pediatric oncologist in San Antonio. This was followed by the teenage patient involved in the case sharing her experience in having successfully fought the disease.

"It was both educational and motivational," said Ms. Wilton. "I feel like we all learned a great deal about cancer, how to detect it and fight it. We also learned there is a great deal you th can do."

Youth Against Cancer was organized in Texas by the American Cancer Society program in 1977. The program has grown from 75 organized YAC groups that year to over 200 groups today, including FHA/HERO chapters which have taken on the program as an annual service project.

Bandera Inn plans to open by Oct. 1

The Bandera Inn Motel, under construction on Highway 16 South, will contain approximately 43 rental rooms, a bar with a covered deck overlooking a swimming pool, a conference room and a restaurant, says developer Buddy Thompson of Bandera.

It is being constructed by Ronnie Moran of Ingram and they hope to open by Oct. 1, Thompson said.

The motel's majority owner is Southeastern Savings and Loan of Dayton, and others with ownership interests are Dru and Wilda McGinty of Kerrville and Moran, Thompson said.

Collins expands too

Omitted from the list published last week of new business construction in Bandera was the expansion of Fred Collins' The Workshop on State Highway 173 North.

Thompson also said he has a contract to sell five commercial lots fronting on the highway to a developer who plans to put in a strip shopping center.

Ingram merchants plan July 4 event

The merchants of Old Ingram are going to have clowns in the village to please younger children, or the young at heart on July 4.

The Lion's Club Train will be running from 10 a.m.

There will be demonstrations during the day, and specifically, sculpture by Hazel Nauman, Hill Country Sculptor, who will demonstrate from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. and Larry Jelf, potter, periodically during the day.

There will also be artists demonstrations at the Emporium.

Obituaries

Murray Lee Young

Murray Lee Young, 80, of Devine died June 12 in San Antonio. He was born in Utopia in May 1905.

Survivors include one son, Michael Young of Devine; one brother, Clovis Young of Devine; one sister, Evelyn Pletz of Devine; and two grandchildren of Devine.

Services were held June 14 in the First United Methodist Church with Reverend Bob Hinkleman. Burial was in Mission Burial Park.

Inez O. Williams

Inez O. Williams, 81, of San Antonio died June 19. She was a native of Morrison, Okla., formerly of Encinal and La Salle and a resident of San Antonio since 1955.

Survivors include two sons, John W. Williams and Onnie B. Williams Jr. both of San Antonio; three sisters, Alice Ruge of Bandera, Emma Bell Dennis of Pipe Creek, and Zethel LeStourgeon of San Antonio; and one granddaughter, Rebekah Ann Williams of San Antonio.

Sevices were held June 21 in Mission Park Chapels with burial in Hebron Cemetery in Hebron.

Mary Jo Burns

Mary Jo Burns of Tyler, daughter-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Burns of Utopia, was buried Monday in Jones Cemetery.

She is survived by her husband, Taylor Burns, and two daughters, Larissa Anne and Allison Elizabeth.

Burial was officiated by Dr. James T. Garrett and the Rev. Gene Moore, pastor of Utopia United Methodist Church, and his wife Bobby sang special numbers during the rites.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

If you would increase your happiness and prolong your life, forget your brother's faults. Forget the slander you have heard, forget the temptations, forget the fault-finding, and give more thought to the cause that provoked it. Forget the peculiarities of your friends, and only remember the good points that make you fond of them. Forget all personal quarrels you may have heard by accident, and which, if repeated, would seem a thousand times worse than they really are. Obliterate everything disagreeable from yesterday; start out with a clean sheet for today, and write upon it, for sweet memory's sake, only the things which are lovely and lovable.

There is an old Chinese proverb which states: "Think of your own faults the first part of the night when you are awake, and the faults of others the latter part of the night when you are asleep."

Something to think about? We think so!...

Worth noting

Steven T. Straw and Regay Mann

Mann-Straw engaged

Regay Mann and Steven T. Straw of Houston announced plans for a Sept. 21 wedding. The bride-elect is the daughter of Clyde Mann of San Antonio and Jo Nell Clark of Bandera. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Straw of Claremore, Okla.

Mann, a 1981 graduate of John Marshall High School in San Antonio, is employed by Hughes Drilling Fluids in Houston. She is also a dance instructor. Straw, a graduate of Oklahoma State University in Stillwater is presently a sales representative of U.S. Oilfield Rentals.

The couple plan a Sept. 21 wedding at St. Cyrils of Alexandria Catholic Church in Houston.

Masons to install new officers

District Judge Bob Barton will be the guest speaker at the 1985 installation of officers for the Bandera Masonic Lodge 1123 AF and AM. Barton is scheduled to speak following a noon lunch of barbecue on June 29. The open installation will follow the luncheon and all master masons, wives, family and friends are welcome to attend.

Incoming worshipful master Kenneth Snow said the Bandera Lodge will supply everything for the meal but salads and desserts.

Other officers to be installed are treasurer, Jack Chafin; secretary, Phil Singleton; senior warden, Dan Butts; junior warden, Clif Waterman; senior deacon, Mike Kennedy; junior deacon, Jerry Neuenschwander; tiler, John Provance; Chaplain, Bill Hathaway; senior stewart, Carl Becker; and junior stewart, Warren Wheeler.

Montgomery Maywald wed

Dawn Michele Maywald of Bulverde and Stephen C. Montgomery III, formerly of Bandera, were married June 18 at Montgomery's home in San Antonio. The Rev. Jerry K. Morgan of Woodville officiated.

The groom is a 1984 graduate of Bandera High School and is currently in the U.S. Army stationed at Fort Benning, Ga.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Montgomery of San Antonio and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newkirk of Bandera and Mrs. David Montgomery of Ingram.

The bride is employed by Foley's Department Store in San Antonio and is the daughter of Eddie and Darlene Carlson of San Antonio. She was a 1985 graduate of Smithson Valley High School.

The maid of honor was Sundee Leigh Slater of Wetmore and the best man was Ollis Oliver of Lakehills. Larry Maywald, brother of the bride, gave the bride away.

She wore a street-length, royal blue, raw silk, two-piece dress with pearl accessories and carried a cascade of baby blue and white rosebuds, lilly of the valley, baby's breath and miniature mums nestled in white lace and satin leaves.

A reception followed the ceremony during which a two-layer wedding cake and a German chocalate groom's cake were served.

The couple will live in Frankfurt, Germany, where the groom will be stationed.

Optimists to offer swim lessons

Swimming classes will be offered to the youth of the area by the Optimist Club of Bandera.

The classes will be held on Tuesdays through Fridays, in eight one-hour sessions July 2-12 at the Bandera River Resort at Highway 16 and the Medina River.

The instructor will be Barbara Kelley. She is experienced and fully trained and has 17 years teaching experience, an Optimist Club spokesman said.

The classes will be limited to 24 children, six years of age and up. The Bandera River Resort donated the use of its pool for the project.

The cost will be $15 per child. For additional information call Barbara Kelley 535-4661 or Donna Mercier 796-3014.

More Medina

Visitors to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Smith this week were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of Independence, Mo., Mrs. Mildred Holder of McAllen, Mrs. Linda F. Ullery and four children, Mrs. Linda K. Holder and four children of Lytle, Mrs. Kim Bonnet and daughter, Mrs. Sara Oatman and daughter of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bonnet of LaPryor, Mrs. Regina Rowen and three children of Camp Wood, and Mrs. Namoi Mudd of Medina. A very good time was had by all. Additional visitors this week were Mrs. Ray Bonnet of Medina and Mrs. Lola Chipman of Kerrville.

Mr. and Mrs. William Volkmann

Tschirhart-Volkmann wed

The Menard Country Club was the setting on June 8 for the second wedding ceremony within three weeks for Lorene Schott Tschirhart of Dunlay and William F. Wolkmann of Menard.

The couple were first married on May 21 in the 100-year-old courthouse at Paint Rock. Judge Charles Dankworth officiated at both ceremonies.

Among the attendants were the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Rudy and Elsie Schott of Lakehills.

A barbecue luncheon was served after the ceremony followed by the wedding cake, designed by the bride, decorated with a ranch scene at sunset.

Early retirees are urged to apply for benefits

Anyone who plans to retire before his or her 65th birthday should apply for monthly Social Security benefits no later than the last day of the month the benefits are to begin, William M. Archuleta, Social Security manager in San Antonio, said recently.

"Benefits payable for months before 65 can begin no earlier than the month the person applies," Archuleta said.

"In general, a person who applies for benefits after reaching 65 can get back payments for up to 6 months before the month he or she applies for retirement or survivor benefits; however, the person can apply up to three months before the month he or she wants benefits to start."

This will help assure that the first payment will be received on time Archuleta said.

More information about Social Security benefits can be obtained at the San Antonio Social Security Offices located at 727 E. Durango, 1107 S. General McMullen or 670 S.W. Military Drive. The telephone number is 229-4400. Free publications are available which give more information.

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

35 years ago in the Ciarlo household

(as printed in the Frigedaire News Bulletin in Dayton, Ohio in August 1950.)

Betty and the children are coming home! They have arrived in California! These happy words were spoken in the Hewitt household when Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt heard their daughter, Betty Ciarlo, was in the States. Betty is the daughter of Frigedaire employees Fred Hewitt and Florence Hewitt. She was in Seoul with her Army husband, John, for 3 years. Betty and her children, Judy 9, and Fred, 7, were among the 800 refugees evacuated from that city when it was invaded by the communists. They arrived in Dayton, July 13, 18 days after their evacuation. Betty said, "About 4:00 a.m. on June 25, the Reds attacked Seoul. We had been alerted. Twice before noon we were told to pack, but no one believed this was the real thing until several hours later. We were allowed one suitcase per person. Toys, linens and silver had to be left behind. About 8:00 p.m., with Yaks flying overhead, they told us to start looking for a ditch we could get into in a hurry. By 3:00 a.m., June 26, we were taken by bus to Inchon, a city close to the seaport of Inchon and Keneop airfield. We were assigned to a small Norwegian freighter, the Reinholt, with 836 other women. The ship normally carried a crew of 40. American destroyers screened the ship and planes provided air cover during the loading. On June 29, we landed at Fuokuokoa, a Japanese port on the Korean strait. After waiting a week at a rest camp in Kariuzawa, 80 miles from Tokyo, we were flown to the States.

"I wired Mother and Dad from San Francisco that we had arrived safely. I intended to surprise them by coming to Dayton unexpectedly, but I couldn't wait. I called mother from Chicago. I was excited and happy at being on my way home after those anxious days at Seoul. When I heard mother's voice over the phone, I broke down." "I did too," said Mrs. Hewitt. "When the operator asked if I wanted to take a long distance call from Chicago, I told her I certainly did. I'd been waiting for that call a long, long time. I just knew it couldn't be anyone but Betty."

Although Betty had some anxious moments during the evacuation, she could still laugh about her adventure. "If anyone half looked at me on the train from Chicago, I turned away so they couldn't see my face," she said, laughingly. "I know they probably thought we were bums or something. Our clothes were soiled and rumpled. We'd slept in them most of the way home from Japan. You would have thought a movie projector I bought a few days before the evacuation was my most precious possession, if you'd seen me boarding the boat. I guarded it like a baby. Even though I had to carry suitcases, blankets and hang onto my youngsters too, I hung onto that projector.

"I was luckier than some people on the boat. I had some money, and my youngsters were old enough to care for themselves. many of the refugees had to leave with just the clothes on their backs. One woman who went up the gangplank ahead of me had four youngsters, the oldest one near Freddie's age, the youngest, 2 months old."

Betty has several letters from "Bud" since she arrived home, even though he was reported captured. One of his latest came from Kumchon, 10 miles from Taejon. Bud was employed in the Plating Dept. at Pl. 1 before he entered the Army in 1943. He was sent to Korea in 1945. In 1946, he returned to the States for six months. He returned to Korea in 1947, and Betty followed him there with the children. "I intended to stay only a year", she said, "but I liked it so well, I would still be there if it weren't for the war".

The summer vacation Bible School was a great success at the Walker Memorial Chapel with an average daily attendance of 30 children and 14 teachers and helpers.

A graduation ceremony was held for all Friday at the Chapel.

During this service, one of the children from the Bible School presented a check for $45.21 to a representative of the Mision Bautista Hispana of Bandera. This was money donated by the youth and children of our community attending Bible School.

Sick list

Ken Parks was in the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville for three days undergoing tests. He is now home.

Doug Smith was operated on at the same hospital in Kerrville on Wednesday. It is reported that the operation was a success and he is doing fine and expected to be home Tuesday, June 25.

The last report has Earl Evens still in the hospital in San Antonio. It is believed that Earl had pneumonia and is slowly recovering. We all miss him at the fire house.

There are others in our area who are not feeling up to par, but are slowly getting their strength back. Dell Lackey, Ida Klaus and Mary Maston are missed in community activities.

Helen Haley was in the hospital for a few days, but is now home and doing fine.

Other happenings

Phil and Nola Bledsoe had to travel to Missouri where Phil's mother is gravely ill.

Ida Klaus had a house full with Pat and Mark Bennett form Seabrook, Ruth Bierschwale from San Antonio and Dolly Sarron from McAllen visiting and enjoying the Wednesday night bingo at the firehouse.

The June birthday dinner at the Copper Lantern was a great success and a Happy Birthday wish goes out to all who had birthdays in June.

Butch and Irene Highnote left Monday morning to visit with Butch's sisiter, Gene Bolton, in Kemp and friends Tom and Bid Williams of Kemp.

From there they plan to go to nearby Dallas to visit with Belle Johnson, Butch's sister, and stop in Corsicana to visit his brother, Jim Highnote.

In Mesquite, Irene got a chance to visit with her sister, Margie Hall.

Dick and Deanie Newman and Mary and Floyd Portman joined other relatives of Buster and Merldine Talley for a surprise house warming at the Talley's home in San Antonio, where everyone enjoyed the large swimming pool with food being served all afternoon.

When Dick and Deanie returned to their home at Wharton's Dock, they brought along their grandson, Brian Newman, and a friend to spend a carefree week with them.

There is a mailbox inside the front door of the Copper Lantern where you can drop a note on what is going on that you would like to see in print. We need your help.

More guests

Bill and Molly Gordan of New Orleans, La. are visiting Chuck and Maradelle DeWitt for a few days. Bill is a railroad buddy of Chucks. Bill is attending a seminar in San Antonio while here.

Birthday fete

A birthday party was given for Ritch Simmons, Bill Stevens and T.R. Andreas at the Copper Lantern. Sandwich, chips and dip were served.

It is so good to see Ida Klaus and Dollie Sarran out and enjoying themselves.

Sam Byrd was out at the lake to visit Ritch and Dana Simmons and his sister, Juanita Ratliff.

Yolanda and Vince Simmons wee up to visit Vince's parents, Ritch and Dana Simmons.

K.R. Davis and Fleda Jo Searcy and Billie Nolan were out to visit friends in the Lakeshore area.

Walter Burrell came up to visit Dell Lackey and Ken Parks. Walter took James and Lance Andreas back to San Antonio to visit their relatives.

Lucille Searcy is here with her friends and her son Jerry and Pat were here to visit. They took Ruby Andreas back to Center Point for a weeks visit.

Roy and Wanda Lich sure hated to leave our Lakeshore area and return to their jobs in Kerrville.

Cards of thanks & Public notices

Thank you

To all those who participated in our "Night in Old Bandera" celebration. Even with the rain we had much of the day, this event was a great success. We look forward to a bigger, better, and hopefully drier celebration in 1986 as Texas celebrates 150 years of independence.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ used for his text Sunday Psalm 145:3. Marvin Hay was the song leader.

Those registering were Annette Pearce, Pearl Custer, Dorothy Garms, Martin and Mary Ann Smith, Amy, Lauri and Kati Reagan, Yvonne Fenner, Frances Shear, Eva Freeman, Hoyt Hamrick, Marvin Hay, Tim Sanchez, Shirley Philips and Nettie Saul.

We welcome Stella Philapy to our family. We hope she will enjoy her stay with us. She is the sister of Horace Hines.

Alma Lawley has moved to Kerrville to be closer to her son. We will miss her and we wish the best for her.

Thanks to the American Legion 410 Auxiliary for the nice party last week. Delicious refreshments were served by Eleanor Laue and Mary Peterson.

Rev. William Moseley from the First Baptist Church in Medina visited friends Thursday morning.

Veronica, "Nicki" Clark left by plane last Wednesday morning for Yakami, Washington to be near her daughter, Leona Rines and other family members. We will miss Nicki but wish the best for her in her new home.

Eva Adamietz and Jo Ann Jennings visited Joe Mazurek.

Mildred Woltersdorf's granddaughter, Mrs. Bromwall and infant daughter Heather visited her Thursday afternoon.

Thanks to Ester Maldonado and Minnetta Storjohn for the nice magazines.

At our regular weekly Bible reading last Wednesday, the children from the Church of Christ vacation school came to sing for us. We sure enjoyed having them and thank them for coming. Adults signing our guest book were Martin and Mary Ann Smith, Annette Pearce, Shirley Philips, Shelly Postert, Debbie Wilson, Penny Smith, Yvonne Fenner, Margie Keese and Amy Reagan.

Edith Edwards went to the Golden Age Party at the United Methodist Church last week.

Shannon Kneuper and Mona Seale came by to visit Elsie Seale and Donna Mayfield.

Si and Louise Turner of Lakehills visited Willie Leibold.

We welcome Hal Greer and Ruby Tanner home from the hospital. We are happy to report both are feeling much better.

Pipe Creek Baptist came for their monthly visit last Friday evening. We welcome their new pastor and family, Rev. and Mrs. Rod Barnes, Robby and Pami. Rev. Barnes used for his text John 15:1-8. Kelly Howell was the pianist. A special song, "Out of the Ivory Palaces" was sung by Helen Barnes and Kelly Howell. Those attending Rev. and Mrs. Rod Barnes, Pami and Robbie Barnes, Neal and Kelly Howell, Heather, Holly and Bill Howell.

Myrtle Heinen's granddaughters, Nancy Crist, Debra Moody and Reba Williams of San Antonio visited her Saturday morning.

Selma Morrison, sister of Edith Edwards, is visiting her from Las Vegas, Nevada.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards came by for his mother Edith Edwards and took her to services at the First Baptist Church in Pipe Creek Sunday.

Hoyt Hamrick visited friends in the Nursing Home Sunday and took Jack to services at the Church of Christ.

Jimmie R. Sasthoff, Candi and Tara Jain visited Mae Armstrong.

Sheila Heyen visited Hulda Heyen.

Visiting Ernest Rainey were his wife Mrs. Rainey and son Robert Rainey.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Merris visited his mother Mildred Woltersdorf Sunday afternoon.

Rev. and Mrs. Herman Murph of Bandera Falls visited Gertrude Werner.

Elizabeth James brought some home made cookies for the residents from the Frontier Times Museum's bake sale. They were delicious. Thanks for remembering us.

Mr. and Mrs. Banick of San Antonio and William Tripp, Sr. visited Katherine Tripp.

Visiting Clara Sprott were her daughter and husband Edna and Clarence Turner of Llano and her granddaughter and husband Lucille and Jim Garrett of Sacramento California.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3461

Roy and Jayme Dugosh, president and taw of the Cowboy Capitol Squares, represented Bandera at the 23rd annual Texas State Federation Square and Round Dance Festival held in San Antonio at the Convention Center this month.

Callers along with 5,000 dancers from Italy, Australia, and every "corner" of the state attended this colorful gain event.

Others present included Roger and Olga Bolduc, Doc and Polly Hoobler, Corky and Vergie McHaney, Ed and Roberta Merris, Curt and Pearl Neilson, Joy Short, and Bill and Rosemary Thomas.

Over an inch of rain fell Saturday and heavy showers were continuing to fall through Monday. There is water in everyone's stock tanks these days. That is great, farmers with hay on the ground are probably thinking "rain, rain go away."

Bake sale

There was a nice turnout for the benefit of the Tarpley Community Center building Saturday. Not as much as realized financially as some years, but we are all happy for everyone's support and for all that was realized. That's what friends are all about!

Helping Hand meeting

Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Dean and Marilyn Haner attended a meeting of Helping Hand Thursday night at the Grace Lutheran Church. It was well-attended, considering many are on vacations. It was brought to everyone's attention that we are needing more financial backing. Everyone's help or assistance in providing clothes and canned goods is greatly appreciated.

The Helping Hand meetings once a month will continue through the summer. Delicious cookies and coffee was served at the close of the meeting.

Trip

Victor Purvis recently drove to Tuolummne, Calif., to visit his sister, Clara Tyra, and her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Tyra and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Brian Tyra. They enjoyed several days of visiting.

Hosts dinner

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Haner hosted a delicious dinner Saturday night honoring their family. Those present were Anton and Marilyn Haner and their daughter and family Judy and Steve Johnson and children Corey Lyn and three month old Carl William of Sunnymeade, Calif., and Jerome and Barbara Haner and children Dale and Tara of San Antonio

Louisiana visitors

It was good to have the Richard Williams and their two sons, Dennis and Michael, of Slidell, La. and three nephews of San Antonio attend church services Wednesday night. They were formerly of the Tarpley area and Aurora and Richard send their best to everyone.

Tarpley visitors

Good to have Bob and Joyce Storrs come over Saturday for the bake sale and the Jeffers Estate sale. Also nice to have Betty Thigpen—she was formerly Betty Reiber. She and her husband are building a home on the Harold Reiber land. They formerly lived at Amarillo. We welcome them.

Other visitors

Skeets and Bobby Singleton had a lovely birthday party Friday honoring their little granddaughter Lynn on her first birthday. Guests for the party were Lynn's parents Rick and Donna and daughter Marci and a friend Carol Sawberger of Temple. On Saturday they all drove to San Antonio to the home of Skeets Singleton's son Byron to celebrate his little son Dustin's fourth birthday. They report a lovely time. We served about 30. Birthday greetings also to Dustin and Lynn.

'Our Town' through July 6

The play has become enshrined as one of the best representations of the American Heritage.

"Our Town," Thornton Wilder's widely produced and long-cherished Pulitzer Prize play about birth, love, marriage, death and the other fundamentals of existence in a small New Hampshire town in the first years of this century, will be presented at the Point Theatre through July 6 on Wednesday through Saturday evenings.

Since it first enraptured theatregoers in 1938, "Our Town" has become enshrined as one of the best representations of the American heritage. Several presentations have been sent abroad by the U.S. State Department to exemplify the best accomplishments of the American theatre. The play has been reprinted in over 200 anthologies, and translated into 26 languages, and it has continued across the decades to be performed every year in from 700 to 900 professional and amateur theatres in the U.S.

During the first run of "Our Town" in New York, when it drew capacity audiences for over nine months, the play's period of 1901 to 1913 was recent enough to be merely nostaglic for many in its audiences who could themselves remember when automobiles were curious rarities, when neighborliness ruled in most communities, and old values and proprieties were respected.

But as that era has receded into an ever more distant past, its portrayal of the daily, ordinary lives of the play's little town on Grover's Corners has increased in interest as a celebration of America's lost innocence, homogeneity and general unity.

"Our Town," however, is not a historical document, but a drama of the daily affairs of love, marriage and death in Grover's Corners (population 2,642). It eavesdrops on people inside their homes, in their backyards, in their exchange of gossip on street corners, at their gathering in the rain under a cluster of black umbrellas at a graveside on a windswept, hilltop cemetery.

It evokes the sounds of a train whistle ("that's the 5:45 for Boston"), of a milk wagon on its early morning rounds, the slap of newspapers flung against front doors in the early dawn.

These and such other famous scenes as the hero's soda-fountain proposal and the resulting wedding ceremony, are all staged without scenery — which was the striking innovation in theatrical producing methods that was first introduced by "Our Town" and has since become commonplace in the American theatre.

The changes of scene are indicated by rearrangements of chairs, screens, stepladders or other props by the character called the Stage Manager, a wise, shrewd, cracker-barrel philosopher who not only rearranges these props, but gives the audience vital statistics on the town of Grover's Corners, and on the characters as he introduces them and bridges their scenes — and occasionally moves into them. He is the druggist who serves the ice cream sodas for the couple falling in love, and then doubles as the minister performing their wedding ceremony.

Jim Porter will have this central role at the Point Theatre. He has most recently been seen in the Point's winter production, "The Crucible," which was co-produced with Schreiner College, and last summer's "Dial 'M' for Murder." Porter is a tutor and is employed at a local lumberyard.

Kathy Benbow Jr. will be seen as Emily, the brightest girl in her high school class, bright enough to know how to prompt George (Marcus Sullivan), as he is shy suitor, into his proposal. Kathy Benbow Jr. is a student at Trinity University in San Antonio and had a leading role in last summer's "Picnic." Marcus Sullivan is a general contractor.

David Cockerell will have the role of Emily's father, editor of the local paper, and Glenn McGinnis the role of the young man's father, the town doctor. McGinnis is the owner of The Dove's Nest Christian Bookstore and Cockerell will be the new Point Theatre director beginning July 1.

Geena Robin and Ruth Jelf play the wives of these leading citizens, John Morris as a choirmaster and allegedly secret drinker, and others in the cast will be Larry Jelf, Preston Hyde, Laura Bowman, Marty Schneider, Ken Franklin, David Howard, Bob Cannon, Erich Zimmerman and Brad Cornell.

Claudia Sullivan is the director imparting to the play the quietly gentle, homespun rhythms of a long past era.

Betty Itz is costume designer and Jim Weisman is the set designer.

Tickets can be purchased at the Point Theatre box office for $5 for adults and $4 for children 12 and under. Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 367-5122.

—Horse show—

The Horses of Bandera, Inc., held their open show Saturday, June 22, at Mansfield Park. Due to the weather, a limited group participated and the show had to be stopped at about the half-way point. The Bandera Bulletin

Our 40th year.

A South Texas Press Assn. Award-Winner.

25 cents.

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 52 | BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS | THURSDAY, JULY 4, 1985 | (USPS 040-980)

Death report issued, whereabouts unknown

A spokeswoman in the Bexar County Medical Examiner's office told the Bulletin on Tuesday that a report of the examination of the bodies of two women killed on State Highway 173 seven miles north of Bandera on June 25 had been forwarded to a judge in Bandera, but none will acknowlege receiving it.

The Bulletin has been unable to locate just who has the report, which is public information.

One judge said it has been received, but then forwarded to a DPS officer, who says he had not seen it.

Another judge contacted by the Bulletin said the report would go to the District Attorney Bruce Curry before being passed down to him.

D.A. Curry was unavailable for comment, but a spokeswoman in his office said he had not received any reports on the deaths so far.

Sheriff Guy Pickett said he has not seen any such report and there is nothing new to report from his department on the deaths of Judy Ann Pina, 22, and Shawn Michele Tadlock, 25, who were struck down and killed as they walked on State Highway 173 toward Bandera shortly after midnight on the morning of June 25.

Investigating Officer Dan Butts of the Texas Department of Public Safety said it had been determined that the two women and Pina's a two-year-old daughter were heading toward Bandera when struck by a pickup truck driven by 17-year-old Sky Mattson of Bandera.

Still unexplained, however, was a splintered pool cue found at the scene of the deaths.

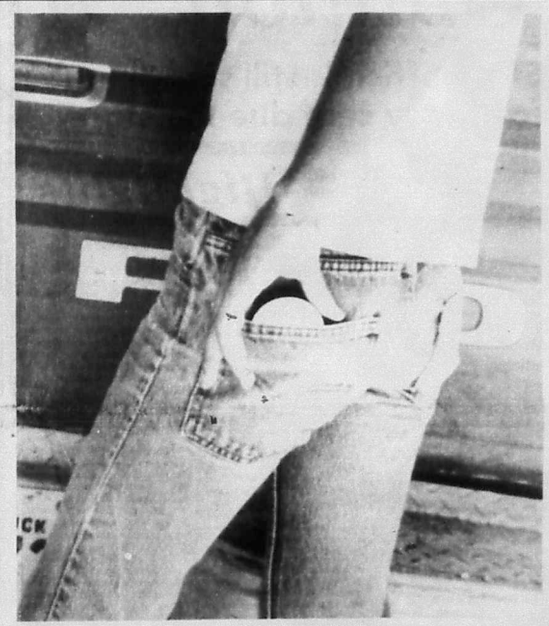

The child was transported to a Kerrville hospital and later released after being treated for minor injuries.

Mattson was released from jail about noon on June 25 after his $2,000 bond was posted on felony charges of failure to stop and render aid.

Butts said as soon as all the facts in the case are compiled, they will be turned over to the district attorney and the grand jury, which is scheduled to meet on July 26.

The two women were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Herman Rogers of Medina. Their bodies were taken to Grimes Funeral Home in Kerrville, and later transported to Bexar County for examination by the medical examiner there. Trooper Butts said it may be four to six weeks before the autopsy reports are released.

Pina had been a resident of Bandera since she was seven years old. Tadlock came to Bandera in February. The automobile the women and child were traveling in was found one-half mile from where they were struck by a pickup truck. Butts said the car had broken down, and that was why the women were walking.

This honored BHS tradition to disappear.

MLPA withdraws sewage plant protest

By Lila MacMillan
staff writer

After two and one half hours of highly technical testimony from several engineers and authorities on sewage treatment plants Friday, the Medina Lake Protection Association formally agreed to withdraw their complaint against Thousand Trails Inc. installing a treatment plant at Medina Lake.

After MLPA's attorney Ron Ricks said in his closing remarks that his client would like to withdraw it's protest, Texas Department of Water Resources hearing examiner Leanne Jones said she would recommend the Water Commission issue a permit for Thousand Trails to install the no-discharge Pure Stream Sewage Treatment Plant System at the Medina Lake campground resort.

After the hearing at the Medina County Courthouse in Hondo ended on Friday, attorney Jimmy Hall of Austin, representing the Thousand Trails, told the Bulletin "MLPA and Thousand Trails spent considerable time working together to resolve the concerns of the association."

Thousand Trails went to a no-discharge evaptorative system and reached a formal agreement which addresses the operation and maintenance of the facility, he said.

"The agreement includes providing information regarding the plant to the association periodically in the future," Hall said. "In return the association agreed to withdraw it's protest.

As a result the permit should be issued, hopefully in the next month," he said.

"The application for the permit will be uncontested now, and the commission meets weekly, so the request for the permit should be on the calendar in the next month," Hall continued. "As an environmentalist myself," he added "it's a great way to go. It (the no-discharge system) allows enjoyment of the lake without any threat to it."

Speaking for the board of directors of the MLPA, president Gene Boyd said "we're happy, we've worked to keep the lake clean and for no dumping in the lake. We're well-pleased with Thousand Trails, it's a real asset to our area."

Along with the civil engineers giving testimony to the effectiveness and safety of the no discharge evaporative system was Raymond (Spot) Wright, sanitation inspector for Bandera

(See HEARING Page 6.)

Bulletin's news writing cited by statewide press group

The Bandera Bulletin's news writing was judged the third best in the state among the larger weekly newspapers in the Texas Press Association's annual competition, the Newspaper group announced this week.

Editor and General Manager Nick Johnson accepted the award in Austin this weekend from TPA president Frank Baker of Fort Stockton.

The Bulletin also won first place this spring in the feature story category of competition among newspaper members of the South Texas Press Association. It had won third place in feature photography last year.

The Bulletin was cited this weekend for the quality of its news writing based on two issues published during 1984.

One of the issues was dated Feb. 16 and featured two articles on the killing of Bandera school teacher Marie Denise Walker and another on the scheduled road bond election.

The lead article and the road bond issue were written by Editor Nick Johnson and a sidebar, headlined "Fear still lurks in wooded areas of Wharton's Dock," was penned by Rick Young, former staff writer.

The other issue judged was the Sept. 13 issue which featured an article by staff writer Lila MacMillan on the impending school bond election, an article by Johnson on a change in the county's subdivision rules to require paved roads, and an un-bylined article headed "Apparent murder victim pulled from Medina River near here."

Because of the growth of the Bulletin in recent years, it now compares with the larger weeklies of the state in this contest instead of with medium sized newspapers, as has been the case.

"In view of the fact we compete with newspapers in cities the size of Marble Falls, Seguin, Fredericksburg, Smithville and Port Aransas, winning an important category such as news writing is particularly gratifying," said Johnson.

First place in the news writing category was won by the Rockdale Reporter, second place by the North San Antonio Times, and fourth place by the Marble Falls Highlander.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION AWARD WINNER 1985

School trustees outlaw possession of tobacco

Bandera school trustees approved a variety of policy changes during a special meeting June 25, including one prohibiting the possession of any kind of tobacco by students, teachers or other employees.

All the the policies will effect students, teachers, staff employees and administrators.

Superintendent Ted Dockery said many of the policy changes, as well as some changes in the school calendar, were mandated by House Bill 72, the education reform measure passed last summer, and other recent legislation.

The change of school rules to make possession of tobacco in any form subject to disciplinary action drew comments from several trustees.

Board president Thomas (Bub) Keese acknowleded the long-standing tradition of the dip can in the hip pocket as a status symbol for many students on the Bandera campus.

Under the new rule, the dip can, as well as cigarettes and other forms of tobacco will be banned from school property.

In another change, the word "suspension" as used in the existing student policies was changed in every case to "subject to disciplinary action."

Another new rule provides that students transferring into Bandera schools from non-accredited schools will be tested and placed at their ability level.

Students attending school must live either with their parents or a court-ordered guardian, under terms of another change OKed last week. Up to now, the school required only a notarized statement from a parent or guardian.

Dockery said the school's policy has been to schedule no school activities on Sundays, but playoff games may now be scheduled on Sunday, if necessary.

Calendar changes include a school holiday for teachers and students to observe the Texas Sesquicentennial on April 21. That holiday was mandated by the Texas legislature, Dockery said.

Perhaps the biggest change affecting faculty members will be teacher competency tests, the first of which will be administered March 10 and the second prior to September 1986.

"A budgetary change to make it mandatory that a record be kept on expenditures for each program on each of the three school campuses and a report submitted to the board of trustees will cause us to have to triple our bookkeeping," Dockery said.

He told the trustees he couldn't make recommendations on some policies, because legislation is still pending in Austin.

In the fall, students will be given a copy of the complete school regulations and policies to take home and review with their parents, Dockery said.

Cloud seeding may begin by July 8, meteorologist says

Cloud seeding over Bandera County will begin no later than July 8, the meteorologist conducting the program said this week.

"It looks like we'll be ready to go in that area somewhere around July 4 to July 8—no later than July 8," said Bill Mahoney.

The Texas Department of Water Resources has issued a permit to the Edwards Underground Water District to attempt to modify the weather in the area in hopes of generating more water for the Edwards aquifer.

The state agency required the appointment of a citizens advisory committee by area county commissioners' courts to advise the persons conducting the cloud-seeding program in an effort to prevent damage to crops or flooding.

The EUWD has appointed its own citizen advisory committee, which includes Raymond Hicks of Bandera, and that group met last week to discuss problem areas where cloud-seeding is not advisable, said Tom Fox of the EUWD.

He may try a takeover of the state capitol.

Bandera County potpourri
By Nick Johnson

We had an excellent opportunity to assess two of those who are prominently mentioned as possible Republican candidates for governor in 1986.

No, it wasn't a political convention.

It was the summer convention of the Texas Press Association in Austin, and among the speakers were former congressman and former Democrat Kent Hance and corporate raider T. Boone Pickens Jr.

Some will say, "Pickens?"

But Pickens himself said he might run, and if he does he will given anyone a run for his money.

More will ask "Who is Pickens?"

He's the highly successful, highly visable and highly controversial operator of Mesa Petroleum Co.

More than that, he's a Republican populist. "I am the champion of the small stockholder," he says with conviction.

To many, he is a real-life J.R. Ewing, but he's more like a modern-day Huey Long. As Time magazine said, "He has gone eyeball to eyeball with the biggest, strongest and sometimes least loved of all U.S. firms, oil companies, and forced them to blink."

Pickens has forced Gulf Oil Co., the fifth largest U.S. oil company, to sell out to No. 4 Chevron. He drove Cities Service to merge with Occidental Petroleum.

He has attracted attention in Washington where a House subcommittee is holding hearings on the merger mania in the oil industry and its impact on the economy.

And he has put fear in the corporate boardrooms of America.

Pickens is a raider, and a typical raider attacks by buying a significant percentage of a firm's stock and offering to pay other shareholders more than the current market level for their securities.

The goal is to get enough shares—usually 51 percent—to win control of the company and the ability to run it.

But Pickens never actually acquired a major corporation.

His usual style has been to frighten a firm by first investing in it and then proclaiming that he could run the corporation better than its current officers.

After an often bitter battle, Pickens' outmaneuvered prey frequently sells out for a high price to a friendly rescuer.

That leaves Pickens with an immense profit on his shares of the company.

It also leaves other stockholders with immense profits.

He estimates that as a result of his takeover battles, about 750,000 small investors have seen the value of their holdings grow by $12 billion.

Pickens views oil executives as high-salaried hired hands who care more about maintaining their jobs than improving stock value for their shareholders.

It boggles the mind to imagine how that kind of philosophy would impact on the way things are done in Austin.

Opinion

State officials still scrapping for every cent due the state

In these delicate days of budget peril due to dropping oil prices, several state officials are fighting for every cent due the Lone Star State.

In recent days:

—Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro challenged the Supreme Court to reconsider a controversial ruling he says could lose millions in future revenues to Texas school children.

—Texas Railroad Commissioner Mack Wallace warned that conditions are ripe for another Arab oil embargo.

Mauro challenges ruling

In June, the Texas Supreme Court gave shallow mineral rights on 817 acres to a Webb County property owner, a position opposite the state's long-standing claim of ownership.

But Mauro is challenging the high court to reconsider its decision, saying if applied statewide, it could eventually affect about seven million in revenues which finance Texas public schoolchildren.

Mauro manages that fund, the Permanent School Fund, and warns that as much as $918 million in future monies will be lost.

Texas lawyers surprised

The Court's ruling changes the traditional interpretation of the 1895 Legislature's intent when it passed the Relinquishment Act, allowing the state to sell the surface but not the minerals of public lands. Since then, the state has divided all mineral income off Relinquishment Act lands 60-40 with the surface owner.

But the ruling would take from the state its heretofore assumed ownership of the shallow minerals, coal and lignite, and Mauro is arguing that the Supreme Court "has given away the mineral rights to state land that the surface owner had never paid for."

The case strikes near the heart of Texas' traditional mode of funding its public system, and the Texas legal world and several state officials are much surprised, if not astounded, by the higher court's decision.

State Capital Highlights

By Lyndell Williams

New oil embargo

Dropping oil prices are contributing to lower inflation, and if it weren't a Texas Railroad Commissioner sounding the warning, a few would give heed to the thought of another oil embargo which caused high prices and long filling stations lines in 1973.

But Commissioner Mack Wallace is again warning of the folly of failing to plan for energy independence, and he's comparing today's conditions with those preceding 1973: foreign nations are flooding the U.S. with lower-priced, government-subsidized oil products and are driving American refineries out of business.

"I saw what happened in '73, and I don't want it to happen again. This is not a hollow threat. This is an economic war we are fighting now," Wallace said.

Texas hit hard

Texas comes out worse than any other state, bearing the brunt of decreased domestic production, closed refineries, loss of thousands of jobs.

Some oil industry spokesmen are predicting from $4-$8 billion in lost business for Texas by 1990. Domestic refineries would lose 63,000 American jobs.

Wallace says the free market isn't free, because nations like Libya and Saudi Arabia subsidize their refineries, which is why some Texans are calling for a tax or quota on foreign oil.

Skeptics may wish to recall that Wallace traveled the country with the same warning prior to the '73 crisis.

Believers can probably be readily found in Houston, where 35 percent of total employment is connected to oil and 120,000 jobs have been lost in the past 30 months. Area housing starts are down 47 percent, one-fourth of all Houston apartments are vacant, and some 37 million square feet of downtown office space is unrented.

White, Clements ...Briscoe?

Former Gov. Bill Clements is happy about a movement to draft him to run against his old nemesis, Gov. Mark White, and White acted like he was happy, too.

Told of Clements' possible rematch challenge in '86, White said to reporters: "Come on, Bill! Come on, Bill!"

Clements, for his part, was flattered by the formation of a "Draft Clements Committee", but did not commit to a race. He has made no secret of his search for a GOP candidate to whip White, though.

But so far White has gotten the most fight from a Democrat, the second cousin of White's former boss, Gov. Dolph Brisco.

Andrew Briscoe III, a Dallas businessman, criticized White for weak leadership, for raising taxes and for misleading voters about bringing lower utility rates.

White served as Secretary of State to Gov. Briscoe, also a strong supporter of White.

Laws on selling timesharing will help, AG Mattox says

Scams perpetrated by resort timesharing firms have resulted in new legislation that should help eliminate some of the problems that have been encountered in Texas, says Atorney General Jim Mattox.

"Texans have faced problems with resort timesharing," Mattox said. "During the recent legislative session, I lobbied the legislature long and hard to enace new consumer protection laws."

He said some of the new laws may help eliminate some of the problems, at least.

"The most important provision in the new law is a three-day right of rescission for those consumers who did not purchase at the site of the resort," Mattox pointed out. Purchasers who go to the resort and look at a unit like the one they are purchasing do not have the three-day cancellation right, the attorney general explained.

He said that persons selling timesharing in Texas will be required to register with the Texas Real Estate Commission and a new law requires that all promoters of timesharing inform consumers that they will be subjected to a sales pitch before they can claim their gifts.

"Of course, we do not expect the law to solve all the problems that have arisen in the past," Mattox said. "We still have high pressure salesmen trying to talk you into 'the deal of a lifetime.'

"The consumer must always remember that a deal that seems 'too good to be true', probably is," the attorney general said.

He said consumers that have had trouble with a timeshare resort may contact his Consumer Protection Office in San Antonio. "The attorney general's office is the people's law firm," Mattox explained. "We're here to help you."

Bandera County beauties sought by fair folks

Winners of the several beauty contests to be staged during the Bandera County Fair Oct. 4-6 will have the added distinction of representing Bandera County during various statewide Sesquicentennial events during 1986, says the fair's publicity chairman Donna Mansfield.

Three categories of competition will be offered to select an official Baby Bandera County, Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County. As with all county fair competitive categories, participation will be open to residents of Bandera County only, says Mansfield.

The Baby Bandera County competition is open to male and female children under two years of age on Oct. 7. The child must be old enough to sit alone, Mansfield said.

Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County competition is open to boys and girls two years of age through seven years as of Oct. 7, Mansfield said.

Miss Bandera County is open to childless and unmarried females between the ages of 16 and 25 years, Mansfield said. Contestants will be judged on personality and poise, bathing suit competition and western wear or evening gown competition.

Complete rules are available from fair chairman Karoline Moreland at 796-8454.

Officials are still searching for a chairman for the Little Mr. and Missy competition, Moreland said. Anyone interested in heading up the committee or working on it may call Moreland.

Leeann Bounds of Utopia (966-3780) heads the committee arranging the Miss Bandera County competition and Jacque Hurst of Bandera (796-3000) is chairman of the committee arranging the Baby Bandera competition.

Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County, based on contributions to the community instead of on beauty, will also be selected during the fair. Olga Bolduc of Bandera (796-4839) heads the committee arranging that competition.

Winners in the various categories will be awarded prizes donated by businesses and individuals in Bandera County, Mansfield said. Contestants must agree to represent the county at various civic, community and social functions in surrounding counties, including parades, fairs and other community celebrations.

The first official function at which winners will appear will be the Bandera County Fair Parade on Saturday, Oct. 5, the day after the pageant.

As with all county fair competitive events, judges will be selected from various out-of-county businesses and civic organizations.

Among the other activities of Bandera County Fair will be competition in fashion sewing, baking and canning, horticulture and arts and crafts.

An Old Timers' Reunion and an American Quarter Horse Association horse show planned for the fair and an auction sale, a junior stock show, square dancing demonstrations, cloggers, singers, fiddlers and pickers.

Among the contests will be a hairiest leg contest, apparently for men only, and competitions in kissing pigs, an telling tales. There will also be an armadillo beauty contest, an unusual pet competition and a petting zoo, said Mansfield.

Persons interested in entering the fair or working as a volunteer may contact Moreland or one of the other community representatives on the fair's general arrangements committee.

Representattives include Lanell Kelner of Vanderpool, Della Harley fo Pipe Creek, Carlene Comparetta of Tarpley, Mansfield of Lakehills, Bounds of Utopia and Edith (Chubby) Chandler of Medina.

Lakehills man jailed in family dispute

A family disturbance resulted in the arrest of Charles Ray Whittaker, 50, of Lakehills on June 27. Sheriff Guy Pickett and Deputy James MacMillan arrested Whittaker on charges of aggravated assault when they responded to a call for a family disturbance at the Whittaker home.

The Lakehills EMS unit was called to transport Sue Whittaker to a San Antonio hospital where she was retained for treatment of facial injuries.

Peace Justice Ed Jennings of Precinct 2 set bond at $10,000 and Whittaker was released the next day after bond was posted.

Police Chief Walter Welch and officer Joe MacMillan arrested two San Antonians on charges of shoplifting June 26. Guillermo Gutierrez, 33, and Carmen Aranda Dominguez, using the alias Rachel Canales, 35, both of San Antonio, were placed in jail after Judge Bonnie Towers assessed fines of $222 on each of them.

Dominguez was released later on June 26 and Gutierrez remained in Bandera County jail Tuesday in lieu of paying his fine.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo arrested Terrance Wayne Sanders, 21, of Beeville on June 28 on warrants charging assault and impersonating a police officer. Judge Towers set bonds at $2,000 for impersonating a police officer and $300 for assault, and he was released the same day after bonds were posted.

Kenneth Dale Alexander, 18, of Pipe Creek was arrested by Deputy Tim Landrum on a warrant for terroristic threats on June 20. Judge Towers set bond at $1,000 and he was released on June 24 after bond was posted.

Gustavo Medina Ortega, 17, of Bandera was arrested June 28 on criminal tresspassing charges. He was released June 29 after the $1,000 bond set by Judge Towers was posted.

Voyte Gene Burger, 50, of Bandera was arrested June 20 by city officer Joe MacMillan on charges of disorderly conduct. Fine was assessed at $123.50 by Judge Towers. He was released the next day after fine was paid.

Kimberly Suzanne Persyn, 18, of Bandera and Claude Lee Leader, 26, of San Antonio were arrested June 23 by DPS Officer Nolan Metz in separate incidents and each was charged with driving while intoxicated. Judge Towers set bond at $800 on both and they were released later the same day after bonds were posted.

David Merle Carter, 30, of Bandera was arrested June 23 by city police Officer Joe MacMillan and charged with public intoxication and fleeing a police officer. Bond was set at $300 on each charge by Judge Towers and he was released the following day after bonds were posted.

Sims appointed

State Sen. Bill Sims (D-San Angelo), who represents Bandera County in the state senate, was re-appointed to the Agriculture and Rural Development Committee of the Southern Legislative Conference.

The appointment was made by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

A Thought For The Week By John M. Grimes

As night falls on the Fourth of July in thousands of communities across the nation, a kaleidescope of fireworks will illuminate the darkened skies. The purpose of these events, as we know, is to celebrate the years in which the United States has stood as the bulwark of liberty.

But the liberty we love definitely entails responsibility. What most of the Founding Fathers fought for was a disciplined, moderate, law-respecting freedom...As the first President of the United States, George Washington's views harmonized with those of the other Founding Fathers. Washington fully realized that liberty could not long survive without prudent limits. Out of his experience he offered a piece of sound advice to his fellow countrymen. Be Americans," he said. "Let there be no sectionalism, no North, South, East or West. You are all dependent on one another and should be one in union. In one word, be a nation; be Americans and be true to yourselves."

Still under the spell of those dancing fireworks, let us consider the import of those words. Undoubtedly your ideas may differ strongly from your neighbors on certain problems. But let us heed Washington's counsel and seek to heal our differences amicably. As the first President said: "BE AMERICANS."

FLEA INFESTATION

Fleas are small, black to brownish insects and have no wings, having lost them in the course of their evolutionary development. Adult fleas usually range from one to four mm long, with the female flea laying four to eight eggs after each meal and can usually lay several hundred eggs during her adult life.

Fleas can jump vertically for five or six inches and can attach themselves to skin or clothing. This accounts for their being found in crevices in floors, under the edges of carpeting, in sofas or wherever cats and dogs will house. Successful flea control must include not only the treatment of infested animals, but also thorough treatment of the infested premises.

To control these infestations call a professional exterminator.

Grand opening July 13 at Boyle's Supermarket

The grand opening of the renovated Boyle's Supermarket has been scheduled for Saturday, July 13, with a ribbon-cutting ceremony, a free 19-inch color television and other prizes, and special prizes.

The expansion of the historic Bandera store will include the city's first ever variety store, Ben Franklin.

The size of the store has doubled, and among the items that will be emphasized in the new Boyle's store will be health and beauty aids, infant wear, cards, gift items, household appliances and hobby and art supplies.

The store is now open, but the special events, sales prices and a sweepstakes contest will be held Saturday, July 13, during the grand opening celebration.

A drawing will be held to determine winners of a remote-control, 19-inch color television; a Pepsi kiddie car; a raft from Sunkist; a black-and-white, portable television; and numerous other prizes.

Customers may register for prizes any time.

Financial pinch results in fewer hours at center

Because of financial difficulties, the hours of operation of Bandera County Helping Hand Center have been curtailed to just three hours on each of three days a week, the center's director Jeanne Shinn said this week.

She said the action was taken by the center's board of directors.

"It was brought to the attention of the directors that funds were very low at the center," Shinn said. The center's new hours are from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Shinn said a benefit softball game with celebrities of KENS-TV in San Antonio, Channel 5, will be held on Saturday, July 13 at 10 a.m. at Mansfield Park. Donations will be accepted during the game, Shinn said, and all proceeds go to the center.

The center is a crisis intervention center that provides food, clothing, counseling, information and referral services to residents of Bandera County in times of need.

In addition to cash donations, the center is in need of sugar, canned or powdered milk and individual pop-top cans of meat, vegetables, pudding and fruit juice, Shinn said.

A total of 49 families in Bandera County were helped during May, Shinn said. The next meeting of the center's board of directors is at 7 p.m. on July 18 at the First Baptist Church, and the public is invited to attend, Shinn said.

Bandera man gets Witness position

Gavin Pearson of Bandera has been accepted as a volunteer worker at the World headquarters of Jehovah's Witnesses in Brooklyn, N.Y.

Pearson, 19, is a 1984 Bandera High School graduate. He will join more than 3,500 others from around the world staffing the offices, printery, and shipping facility for the Watchtower Bible and Tract Society.

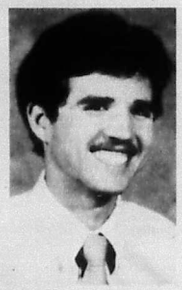

Pearson is a member of the Bandera congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses. Since graduation he has devoted more that 90 hours a month as a "pioneer minister" going from door to door expressing his conviction in the Bible.

The Bandera congregation elders, in conjunction with a recent visit from a traveling minister from New York, recommended Pearson for this special service.

Pearson's New York assignment will provide him special training in addition to his work responsibilities. He will receive instruction similar to the missionary students and will be expected to read the Bible through in the first year.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society is a non-profit corporation with 90 branches worldwide caring for the preaching activities of Jehovah's Witnesses in 203 countries. The Bandera congregation works in cooperation with the global body dedicated to the advancement of God's Kingdom by Christ Jesus.

Pearson's assignment will begin July 19.

Employment service week to be observed in County

July 7-13 is Employment Service Week in Bandera County, officially designated by County Judge Tommy Curbo, to promote employment opportunities for handicapped persons.

"Equality of opportunity has long been one of our most cherished ideals," Judge Curbo's proclamation said. "Equality of opportunity for employment should not be denied any qualified person because of a physical handicapped or economic status," he said.

He urged citizens of Bandera County to cooperate with agencies and organizations responsible for serving the handicapped and disadvantaged and to provide additional employment opportunities for them.

The proclamation was signed at the request of the Texas Department of Human Resources which provides services to assist individuals to become self-supporting.

"Through training and job placement, an individual can become an effective member of the work force," said Susan Decker, the family self-support worker for Bandera County.

Decker and office support clerk Helen Halliburton aid persons in the areas of employment, training, health services, day care, family planning and family violence.

Decker may be reached at the Texas Department of Human Resources in Bandera at 796-3729.

Hensleigh Medal awarded to Parker

Steve Parker, a physical education major at Tarkio, Mo., was awarded the Hensleigh Medal for Outstanding Freshman Football Player at the school's annual Honors Convocation held earlier this spring on the college campus.

Parker was an all-district performer on both offense and defense for the 1984 Bulldogs, all district pitcher for the baseball Bulldogs, and most valuable basketball player in the district.

Travel Tips

Sundance Travel Int'l

There are few people who fail to fall in love with London. It's a city with a unique atmosphere and a multitude of things to do.

London, like any large city, has a vast public transportation system which enables you to easily travel from one part of the city to another. Or, if you aren't brave enough to attempt that, taxis are plentiful. The trick is to take advantage of all London has to offer in the way of museums, theatres, tours, pubs, art galleries and stores.

It's a simple matter to headquarter yourself in a London hotel and see a good deal of the English countryside on day trips by motor-coach or rail. Windsor Castle, Stratford-upon-Avon, the Cotswolds and countless other places are within easy range by means of one day excursions, and it would be a pity not to take advantage of the opportunity to see this magnificent countryside. Of, if time allows, we can arrange for you to spend a week in London and another week on tour of the outlying areas.

It's probably not totally safe to say that "there's no language problem," but you'll find the British helpful and hospitable. The British sense of humor will come to the fore on many occasions, adding to the enjoyment of your trip. By all means, speak to strangers; it's half the fun of a trip to England.

Use London as a starting point for travel to other places in Europe or just enjoy Britain for your entire stay. Whatever your preference, you may be sure that we'll help you get the most for your money and book you on the most suitable trip.

Bank board OKs S&L's purchase

The Federal Home Loan Bank Board has approved First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Austin's purchase of 11 University Savings branches located predominately in the Texas Hill Country, including Bandera.

The branches also include those in Blanco, Boerne, Burnet, Comfort, Georgetown, Johnson City, Kerrville, Llano, Marble Falls and Wimberley.

The purchase of the Fredericksburg University Savings branch office is currently under review, and First Federal Savings hopes to receive final approval in the near future.

Edith Chandler, manager of the Bandera branch, says, "Our customers and staff are very enthusiastic over the change. We look forward to even closer customer relations, because First Federal deals more individually with customers—which is going to be more in keeping with the attitudes in the Hill Country," she said.

"I believe First Federal can relate to our problems better because of their proximity to us," Mrs. Chandler said.

James E. Stafford, executive vice president of First Federal Savings, is in continuous communication with local branch personnel in order to facilitate a smooth transition. When Dr. Stafford visited the Bandera office in May, he assured the staff that First Federal Savings plans to continue to make use of their talents.

"We are pleased with our staff here," says Chandler, "and we do not expect to make any changes."

According to Kenneth Sultemeier, senior vice president and divisional manager of the First Federal Hill Country branches, "Plans are underway in Bandera to further expand the local financial services now that the acquisition is completed, especially in the areas of consumer, residential and home improvement loans."

First Federal Savings currently has 16 branches, with 10 serving the Austin area. Consummation of the University Savings transaction increases the total number to 27 branches and expands First Federal Savings' services in eight additional counties of Central Texas.

The oldest federal savings and loan in Central Texas, First Federal Savings has a 50-year history of sound financial condition and has been a member of FSLIC since it was established in the early 1930's. With more than $600 million in assets, the 1984 fiscal year-end capital adequacy ratio of 8.9 percent was twice as high as required by federal guidelines and higher than any savings institution in Texas of $100 million or more.

Bandera County
25 years ago
By Lila MacMillan

President Henry Adams of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce announced a car club had been formed for Bandera by Bob Mason. The club would be sponsored by the chamber.

The purpose of the club is safety and to do things for our town and to compete with other clubs, Adams said. Mason said it is hoped that a drag strip could be built in Bandera so the kids would have a place to drag and race their cars other than on the streets and highways of Bandera County. "Our town would like to see this club become the biggest and best in the state of Texas," Adams said.

New members joining the chamber the week of July 1, 1960 were Marvin C. Scheele, A.B. Lewis, John Humphries, C.R. Mansfield, Raymond Hicks, Dr. George Meador, J.C. Richards, H. Risinger and D.W. Hicks.

W.A. (Gus) Evans Jr. told the Bulletin drilling was abandoned on the wildcat well located on his ranch on the Kerrville road. Evans said there were "no shows" of oil and the hole was a complete duster at 6,993 feet.

The Bandera Country Club announced it would have a "good old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration" and picnic. Box lunches of fried chicken with all the trimmings could be purchased for $1.25 and would be eaten under the spreading oak trees.

Activities planned including a turkery shoot, turtle races, old-time potato and sack races, a fishing contest with a $10 cash prize for the biggest fish caught, and many other games, musical entertainment, and lots of fireworks.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Don't forget to mark the calendar for the Mexican food supper on Saturday to wind up the fourth of July celebration.

It's at 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. on the evening of July 6.

The menu is being prepared by Torres Foods of Kerrville, as their way of helping support the Silver Sage Corral, where the meal will be held. Owner Carmen Torres is a member of the Alamo Area Council of Governments Senior Advisory Committee with Bill Hathaway and your reporter.

Melodiers

Please, if at all possible, show up for Melodiers practice on Friday July 5, at 5 p.m., wearing something red, white and blue. The singing group will be giving a bit of patriotic spirit for the friends at Purple Hills at 6:30 p.m. following rehearsal.

An additional appearance to prepare for is the trip to Utopia for the senior council on Friday, July 12. They have requested the group not only to give their program, Americans All, but also to help with relating their experiences in creating a new Senior Center. They have been invited to be their luncheon guests as well.

The mini-bus will leave the Silver Sage Corral at 10 a.m. to make the 11 a.m. meeting in Utopia's community center.

Melodrammer

It has been stated on good authority that the alternate cast of the melodrama "Curse You Jack Dalton," produced by the Lakehills dramatic group is every bit as convincing as the first cast.

Consequently, they will have a chance to perform this gripping drama as a benefit for the Silver Sage Corral on Saturday, July 20.

Take me out to to ball game

As one of the agencies represented on the board of Helping Hand Center, the small town version of United Way, the Silver Sage Corral wishes to remind its participants of the sensational softball game to be held at 10 a.m. on Saturday, June 13 at Mansfield Park. The players will be athletes selected from the sponsoring agencies or their surrogates, against the mighty television personalities from station KENS-TV. As a matter of course, refreshments will be available, and all for the cause of supporting the Helping Hand Center.

Sagettes

Sometime correspondent Judy Goodenough submits the following report on the Sagettes:

Wednesday, June 26, was a special occasion for this group, as they were invited to Lavern Mc Closky's swimming pool for their exercise session.

It was a fun day, under the blue sky, with Hawaiian music in the background, and later light refreshments served by the hostess. Those attending were Gloria Carlson, physical fitness leader, and Melody; Melesse Rugh, Sallie Lewis, Dorothy Callahan, Tandie Jordan, Fannie Caffall, Emma Peterson, Jean Barnhill, Peggy Edwards, Judy Goodenough and Janelle Collier.

The Sagettes meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral, and would welcome new members.

Nutrition notes

Vicki Newman, who has been sharing her health hints on nutrition with the lunch bunch on Thoughtful Thursdays, gave some advice last week about the average American diet.

Healthful diets should have not more than 16 teaspoons of fat a day, both hidden and visible, she said, and there are the equivalent of two teaspoons of butter in one ounce of hard cheese, eight teaspoons in an eight-ounce hamburger, two teaspoons in a cup of whole milk.

Carbohydrates or starches, she maintains, have been given a bad press, and especially older people should eat more of them and in more variety and less in a processed condition.

In that regard, may we thank the devoted gardeners who have been sharing their fresh vegetable with the center. Tomatoes, carrots, squash and cucumbers have found enthusiastic takers. As put forth by the 1985 poster motto, senior centers are wellness centers.

There is still time for someone to enroll in, and bring back a report from, the Wellness is Ageless seminar July 9-11 in Austin.

Thank yous

A handsome gift of needed electrical appliances for the kitchen, i.e. a roaster oven and electric grill, has been received from Joe and Melba King and Harold and Mildred Brown. These will fit neatly into the Centers plans for future fund-raisers of a culinary nature.

Information was forthcoming that the trash compactor was a gift from Milt Culley.

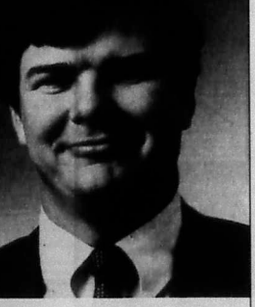

A gift of money was received from the Hay-Minear family toward the Center's expenses.

Articles for the Gift and Thrift shops were also received and welcomed.

H.O. Short gave a memorial in honor of Marcellus Garrison of Hondo, which will go to the Endowment Fund, for an everlasting benefit to Bandera County.

Independence Day celebration

The annual Independence Day Parade will kick off at Park Road 37 and Highway 1283 at 11 a.m. Saturday, June 6.

The annual parade is sponsored by the American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills. The legionaires start early on Saturday morning of the parade, lining the parade route with American Flags flying above Park Road 37.

Last year there were over 25 entries in the parade, and spectators gathered early along Park Road 37, bringing their lawn chairs and coolers of cold drinks. The kids were entertained by the roving clowns all along the parade route.

The same clowns were on hand at the American Legion grounds afterwards to entertain young and old as they lined up for barbecue chicken. There were over 500 barbecued chicken dinners served last year.

The Legionaires and auxiliary also have lots of games, booths, a second-hand shop, and treats in store.

One of the most popular booths in the past has been the pie ala mode. Some of Lakehills finest bakers donate pies, and most all of them are made from scratch.

Parade chairman Ray Mauer will be on hand when the judges select the three best floats in the parade, and the winners will receive beautiful trophies. There will also be a plaque awarded to the best entry by a youth. The plaque is donated by the Medina Lake Shrine Club. Last year it was won by one of the bicycle entries.

Shortly after things shut down at the legion the Hot Spurs country western band will be warming up at the Lakehills Civic Center at 8 p.m. for the Independence Day Dance sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association. The patriot in most everyone surfaces at this dance.

The Civic Center is always decked out in lots of red, white and blue. The snack bar and bar will be open until midnight when the band stops playing. Admission will be $3.75 and reservations are not required.

Condolences

Our heartfelt sympathy goes to the family and loved ones of Faye Comingore who died June 25 in Maryland. His wife and two daughters are residents of Angel Cove.

Also, our sympathy goes to the family of Mark Marmor, he died in Austin on June 29. Many people have known Mark since he was a little tyke trailing behind his grandfather, Johnny Marmor, with hammer and nails. Mark was 24-years old on June 14. He loved visiting his grandmother, Louise Marmor, and always looked forward to the dances at the Civic Center, when he visited.

Mark's health began to fail about a year ago and he had been hospitalized for several months prior to his death.

EMS form may help save your life

There's now a form available from the Lakehills unit of the Bandera County EMS that residents can fill out giving the EMS precise information on locating residences and listing health problems members of your household may have, says EMT Mary Popham.

According to Popham, if every householder, even weekenders, would complete one of the forms and return it to the Lakehills EMS unit it could save the volunteers on the ambulance a lot of valuable time when they respond to calls in emergencies.

The information on the form will be kept in the strictest confidence, Popham says. Because roads in the area are not to well-marked, some are not marked at all, directions to some households have to be detailed by mileage from one point to another, or by landmarks along the way.

Popham says sometimes, in the face of a medical crisis, it is difficult for family members or neighbors to give precise directions for the ambulance.

Also there is a place on the form for medical information to be filled in for those who have a serious medical problem, such as heart disease, high blood pressure, allergies, diabetes, and medications a person may be allergic to, Popham said.

This information will be maintained by the Lakehills EMS, Popham said, and kept available should you have a medical emergency.

Anyone interested in completing one of the forms can contact Popham at 751-3172.

Hearing

County. "Thousand Trails has done everything possible to comply and keep the water clean in Bandera County," he said.

He told the Bulletin he has worked with the management at Thousand Trails since they purchased the resort in 1981, and he has always found the facilities at the resort exceed the requirements of the county, state, and U.S. Health Department.

Only 11 Medina Lake property owners made the trip to Hondo, most of them were directors of the MLPA. Three property owners came out of concern who were not members of MLPA. None of the property owners, whose property adjoins that of the resort attended the hearing.

The resort's territorial sanitation engineer Kevin McNeil told the Bulletin it will take approximately 60 days to get the system operational once the permit is approved. "We're happy we were able to address the concerns of MLPA and glad we reached an agreement pleasing to all concerned," he said.

Of the treatment system he said "it's a good, conservative system."

Joe Morrison, an engineer for Pure Stream, stated there are over 200 of these systems now in operation. "The owners have spared no expense in the design of the system. The effluent from the system will be pure water, with just a hint of clorine smell. There is absolutely no sewage odor with the plant," he assured everyone present.

A Texas Department of Water resources engineer with the permits division stated six permits have been issued for plants such as this type.

Surplus cheese, butter available

Government surplus cheese and butter will be distributed to income eligible persons in Bandera and Lakehills on Tuesday, July 9, from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. or until the supply is exhausted.

The commodities will be distributed at the First Baptist Church in Bandera and the American Legion Hall in Lakehills, says Comellia G. Rue of the Community Council of South Central Texas.

Under guidelines of the Texas Department of Human Resources, recipients will be required to complete an application in order to determine eligibility.

Around The Lake

Medina Valley EMS says too much stress and no volunteers

By Lila MacMillan
Lake Medina correspondent

Residents on the Medina County side of Medina Lake, LaCoste and Castroville will lose their ambulance and Emergency Medical Service Aug. 1. Medical personnel for the Medina Valley Emergency Medical Service voted to discontinue their services as of that date, citing a shortage of personnel.

In a letter to the board of directors governing the volunteer organization, the volunteers stated. Their efforts to recruit new personnel "have always failed to produce the needed people to keep the organization in service and provide the professional care for these communities."

Presently there are five volunteers for the EMS unit which runs out of Castroville. Four are fully trained and certified by the state and one is a trainee. Spokeswoman Linda Zinsmeyer, one of the volunteers, said, "It is very difficult because you're on call all the time. Take for instance the weekends, you stay home all the time."

In the letter, the volunteers said they need a "minimum of 16 additional people to train and volunteer their services" to provide adequate service. This is needed, they said, to ease the stress on the present EMTs.

"The situation is very serious," Medina County commissioner Larry Haby said "If this service ends, we may have to rely on Hondo and Devine. The concern there is response time."

Bandera County Judge Tommy Curbo told the Bulletin, "The Bandera County EMS unit in Lakehills will continue to aid Medina County residents in the Medina Lake area as they have in the past." The Lakehills unit has responded to many calls in the Mico area when the nature of the call has made response time critical.

Representing the EMS for Medina Valley, Bruce Alexander, pleaded with the city council in Castroville for help in any way. The council said there wasn't much they could do, though, since the ambulance service is operated on a volunteer basis.

The council said it would try to help in encouraging people to volunteer and Alexander also asked for the aid of the local media in making the cause known.

The service can be reached through the Precinct Two Justice of the Peace offices at 538-2611 or 538-3538.

Rain paints prettier picture

This time last year, business owners around the lake were despairing. The lake was over 38 feet below the spillway. Many boat launches and docks were high and dry.

With only 9.75 inches of rain since January and the weathermen predicting a long, hot and dry summer, many businesses on the lake closed their doors. Many area farmers watched as their crops turned brown and died in the fields, some cattle ranchers sold off the bulk of their herds, and goat ranchers gave thanks that their herds could survive under drought conditions whithout too much supplemental grain.

This year paints an entirely different picture for all these businessmen and women. With over 22 inches of rain recorded since January and over six inches in the last 30 days, the lake is now only 23 feet from the spillway level. The fields and pastures are green and the herds of cattle and sheep are grazing contentedly without an excess of supplemental grain.

The stream of cars and trucks with boats and camping equipment converging on the lake area on weekends means business for area business owners, local developers, and realtors.

Devine man plans to oppose Gov. White

A Devine broadcast executive who says he plans to seek the Democratic nomination for governor was in Bandera Friday hoping to drum up some support for a run against incumbent Gov. Mark White in next year's Democratic primary.

Ashley (Norm) Davis calls himself a conservative Democrat and says he plans to work "for a new direction within the party."

"I'm not a professional politician, but a concerned citizen," he said. "I want to work toward the elimination of government waste, unfair give-away programs that benefit the lazy and undeserving, burdensome regulations and excessive taxes."

He said the station's Sunday programming will include what he called "modern adult contemporary Christian songs, beautiful sounds of praise, sacred sounds of gospel and religious music with a country flavor."

He did not indicate whether he would change the format of the station's programming on weekdays and Saturday. He was not available for additional comment Tuesday.

Free summer movies to start with "Tiger Town"

The free summer movies of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church will begin July 5 with "Tiger Town." Movies begin at dusk on the church lawn.

The movie on July 12 will be "The Rescuers" and the presentation July 19 will be "The Jungle Book."

Other movies scheduled during the summer include "Alice in Wonderland" on July 26, "Tron" on Aug. 2, "The Sword in the Stone" on Aug. 9, "Herbie goes to Monte Carlo" on Aug. 16, and "Lt. Robin Crusoe, USN" on Aug. 23.

Castle Lake VFD sees bigger, better cookoff

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department's third annual Chili Cookoff July 7 will be bigger and better than ever, says spokeswoman Pat Mills.

One of the highlights will be a cake decorating contest. Ribbons will be given to the three best. "This contest will be held fairly early in the afternoon, hopefully before the temperature gets too high," Mills said.

The disc jockeys providing the music Sunday afternoon will be Jay Robbins and Charles McTee of KKYX and Bandera's Bill Rathke. Other musical entertainment will be provided by Mannys Juke Box.

The event will begin at noon and last as long as folks are having fun.

It will be a fun day for every member of the family, Mills promises. "We'll have horseshoe throwin, cowchip tosses, and a watermelon seed-spitting contest, as well as arts and craft displays, a bake sale, the chili cookoff, food, drinks and prizes.

The cookoff will be held at the Lake Park at Castle Lake Ranch, off Bear Creek Road.

Proceeds from the fundraiser will be used to pay off the mortgage on the firehouse building. The department was formed in 1975 and the building was started in 1976. The department has two trucks, one brush truck and one tanker.

No fireworks this year

There will be no public fireworks display this year at the Pipe Creek Community Center, says Mona Morrison.

In years past, a handful of local residents would get together and purchase the fireworks, arrange for fire department protection, get the word out, and put on a fireworks display on the fourth of July for everyone in the community.

They even invited families from surrounding communities to come out and join the fun.

Radio station purchased, religious music planned

Terry James Wineriter says he plans to purchase radio station KHLC and will broadcast religious programming all day each Sunday from 6 a.m. until midnight, he announced this week.

PCVFD wants help electing new president

Newly-appointed official spokesman for the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department, James E. Sethern, says there will be a meeting July 11 at 8 p.m. to elect a new president for the department to fill the unexpired term of the office.

He said it is hoped that everyone will come to the meeting and participate in electing the president. Nominations will be called for from the floor.

"The other officers and myself are hoping for a large response and want all members to attend and vote for their choice," he said.

Smith-Tidmore wedding in Pipe Creek

Sandra Lee Smith and Max Arthur Tabb Tidmore were married on Friday evening, June 14, on the patio of the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tidmore of Pipe Creek. Officiating for the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Bartlett Mills.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Billie Kerns of Cameron, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Tidmore.

Pre-nupital music was provided by cousins of the groom, Donn and Mark McReynolds of San Antonio and nephews of the groom, Donn and Stephen Tidmore were ushers. Jim Sinclair played the wedding march on the family's antique organ.

The bride, presented in marriage by her uncle, Ralph Record of Bryan, was attired in an ankle length gown of ivory lace, with a tiara of flowers in her hair. The head piece carried out the chosen colors of the bride—peach and blue. She carried a cascade arrangement of peach roses.

Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Denise Paschoal of Austin. She wore an ankle-length gown of light blue chiffon and carried a nosegay of a peach rose.

Stewart Cundy of Austin, was best man.

The bride's mother was attired in a dress of beige chiffon and the groom's mother wore a dress of pink chiffon.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the groom's parents home. The bride's table was adorned with ivory satin and lace with a bouquet made of baby carnations and gladiolas.

The cake, made by Jan Price, was served by Jan Bergstand, sister of the groom, and Ann Tidmore, sister-in law of the groom, served the punch.

Cindy Foster, sister of the bride, and Mary Lee Own, aunt of the groom, assisted in serving the cheese tray and fruit plates.

After the ceremony the couple left on a honeymoon to the island of Jamaica. Upon their return they will make their home in San Antonio, where the groom will continue his studies at the University of Texas at San Antonio for a degree in electrical engineering and computer science.

Happy arrival

Mr. and Mrs. John Singleton are the proud parents of a baby girl, Kellie Ann who is also being welcomed by her brother Clint.

Proud grandparents are Wilton and Bobbie Crider and Rose Mary Singleton of Louisiana.

Winning ewes not rams

Ernest Faris of Medina Future Farmers of America won first place and third place for his registered Rambouillet aged ewes at the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show last month, not rams as was reported to us by the Texas A&M Research & Extension Center in Uvalde.

Janie S. Neatherlin

Neatherlin honored

The annual reunion of family members honoring Janie S. Neatherlin, 86, of Arlington was held June 15 and 16 at the home of Alvin and Gertrude Baxter in Medina.

Eight of Mrs. Neatherlin's nine children attended the event along with many grandchildren and great-grandchildren. Lonnie Neatherlin and wife Mary and children could not attend because of their work schedule, said family member Diane Maner.

Children who did attend include Gertrude Baxter, Jane Lespreance, Lenora Lowe of Arlington; Joyce Butler, W.P. Neatherlin of Brownwood; Jesse Neatherlin; Ray Neatherlin of LaLuz, Mexico; and Wilmer Neatherlin of Aspermont.

Visitors

Over the weekend, Larry Mudd and friends Hand, P.J. and Greg of Austin, went to San Antonio to a wedding of a friend, and to Medina to Larry's mothers Naomi Mudd's to visit.

Friend Gilbert Bower was here to visit also. All the above visited with Larry's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith.

Joe and Violet Norwood and son Joe of College Station, visited with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and sister Naomi Mudd over the weekend.

Cody Crider and friend Cathey Coker of San Antonio were here over the weekend visiting Cody's parents, Wilton and Bobbie Nell and sister and husband and family, John and D'Ann Singleton.

Cody and Cathey are both students at Sul Ross in Alpine.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler MacNaughton were here recently from Houston visiting with his son and wife, Randy and Betty MacNaughton.

Mrs. Dulce Finney was here recently visiting with her daughter and husband, Mary and Murry LeStourgeon. Dulce lives at Colonial Nursing Home in Kerrville.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Storrs, Mr. Ira Garrison of Bandera were up Sunday to have lunch after church at the Trails End Restaurant. Bob and Joyce had Mr. and Mrs. Ad Flowers at their home last Friday to help them celebrate their 63rd anniversary. The Storrs and Mr. Garrison also went to the 50th anniversary party for Durwood and Hazel Mayfield Sunday.

Gerald Kneuper, right presents Andy Lautzenheiser of the sponsoring Medina Hardware and Feed with a plaque commemorating the 1985 championship effort of the Medina minor league team. The team, managed by Kneuper with coaches Billy Hyatt, Keith Keese and E.C. Whitehead, finished undefeated with eight wins. "The coaches and parents are really proud of the kids for their hard work and sportsmanship that was demonstrated this past season," Kneuper said. Players included Charles and Shannon Kneuper, Blue Hyatt, Shane Keese, Chris Whitehead, Scott Faglie, Rhett Johnson, Chris DeLeon, Kim and Chris Edwards, Jill Sexton, Holly Pittman, Robbie Wall, Lee Winwright, Travis Hudson, David Fuller, Kyle Robinson, Anitra Denson and Kevin Callan.

Meeting

Oak Rest Cemetery meeting will be held July 19, 7:30 p.m. at the youth center. You are urged to attend their meeting.

Austin on Dean's honor roll

Robert Austin of Medina, is one of the 675 Abilene Chrisitan University students listed on the Dean's Honor Roll for the 1985 spring semester.

To be listed on the honor roll, a student must be enrolled for a grade in at least 12 semester hours, and earn a 3.45 grade point average or higher, with 4.0 representing a perfect score.

Abilene Christian University is the fourth largest private university in the Southwest, offering degrees in more than 80 fields through its five undergraduate colleges, the graduate school and the school of nursing. It is the largest university associated with the churches of Christ.

Independence Celebration

The Comfort Independence Celebration will be held at the Comfort Park on Thursday July 4. The annual event is sponsored by the Comfort Chamber of Commerce.

Festivities start with an AVA sanctioned Hotter-N-Hell Walk sponsored by the Guadalupe Gallivanters. The start point will be at the Comfort Baseball Park and start time from 6-9 a.m., to beat the heat and allow walkers to be through in time to enjoy the parade which usually starts around 10:30 a.m.

Birthday observed

Dinner guests of Elzie and Nettie Dean Sunday were Marie and Donnie Newcomb and children Molly and Jonathan of San Antonio.

Jonathan had spent the week with his grandparents, he's 20 months of age, and returned home with his parents. The occasion was for Elzie Deans birthday on Sunday, June 30th.

Tyler trip

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Haner made a weekend drive to Tyler to visit several relatives there. They report a good trip.

Visit to LaCoste

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Monier visited one day last week with George Earl and Joyce Sauter. They report his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Tobie Sauter of Krum, Tex., are improving.

Returns home

We are happy to report Mrs. Brian Strong has returned home after two weeks in Kerrville Peterson Hospital, where tests were run. We all send lots of good wishes for a full recovery.

Leaving today

Judy and Steve Johnson and children Corey Lyn and Carl William let Monday by plane for their home at Moreno Valley, Calif., after visiting her parents, Anton and Marilyn Haner for several weeks. Other visitors of the Haner's on Saturday were Marilyns sister and husband Gloria and Joe Sweeny of Kerrville.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3463

Brother and Mrs. Bartlett Mills of Pipe Creek were dinner guests of Earl and Marie Hood Sunday. Brother Mills filled the pulpit, since Brother Jerry Jones was ill.

The Mills have sold their home in Pipe Creek and plan to move away soon.

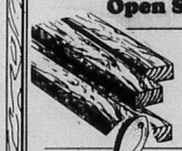

Attend reunion

Mr. and Mrs. W.C. (Bill) Morris and son Billy drove to Corsicana Saturday for the Wade Hampton-Aimee Dawson reunion at Willie's sister and brother-in-law's, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hall's, lovely 1892 restored Victorian home.

The event was enjoyed by 50 descendents who also enjoyed lots of visiting, games such as 84 and 42, Trivial Pursuit, lawn croquet and horseshoes.

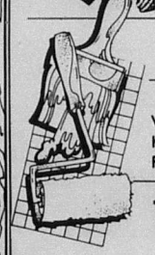

Family portaits were made for the family albums.

Rev. W.S. Moseley of the First Baptist Church of Medina used for his text Sunday Exodus 12:6-13, "God's Promise." Song leader was Tommy Beaver and Pianist was Juanita Baker. We enjoyed a special song, "The Statue of Liberty," sung by Tommy Beaver. Guest signing our book were Juanita Baker and her grandson Baby John Baker, Loretta Hund, Olla Belle Allsup, Eva Freeman, Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, Marcie Standard, Mrs. Gilbert Wendt, Tommy Beaver and Rev. W.S. Moseley.

Ann Neal of Bandera Falls and Allyn Woolvern of Schertz visited Gertrude Werner last week.

Cynthia Mayberry enjoyed a nice visit from her daughter, Bertha Allen of Medina.

Margaret Withers, Flora Lackey and Johney Casparis all of Johnson City visited their Aunt Donna Mayfield.

Claire Thaman of Kerrville visited her mother Agnes Fortinberry.

Thanks to Martin Smith of the Church of Christ for Bible reading Wednesday morning for seven residents. Guests were Mary Ann Smith, Penny Smith, Debbie Wilson and Shirley Phillips and sons Kyle and Kelly.

Thanks to AARP of Lakehills for the party last Wednesday afternoon and to Ruth Cowley and Johnie Bartlett for the delicious refreshments.

Brack Hoggett spent Wednesday with his family in Center Point.

Ada Tanner visited her mother-in-law Ruby Tanner.

We're sorry to report Mary Mazurek is in the Peterson Hospital in Kerrville. We hope she will be home soon. We miss her.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick and their grandchildren Heather and Heath Hamrick visited friends last Wednesday afternoon and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ that evening. Heather and Heath are from Mesquite, Texas.

Charles Bowman and his wife Carmen of San Antonio came by and took his sister Lorena Bowman for a picnic at the Medina River.

Marjorie Langford visited her Aunt Edith Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowman of Lakehills visited his sister Lorena Bowman.

Sam and Lois Armstrong visited his mother Mae Armstrong. Other visitors were Janie and Jimmie Ruth Saathoff.

Reba Williams and Debbie Moody of San Antonio visited their grandmother Myrtle Heinen.

Edith Edwards' sister, Selma Morrison of Pipe Creek came by for her and they attended the wedding of Jake Babbitt and Cathy Edwards at the First Baptist Church in Pipe Creek Saturday. On Sunday her granddaughter Jeanne Mansfield took her to services at the First Baptist Church in Medina.

Visiting Ernest Rainey Sunday were his wife Mrs. Rainey and son David Rainey.

Si and Louise Turner of Medina Lake visited Willie Leibold.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Sunday morning and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ.

Retha Anderwald visited her grandmother Hazel Anderwald.

Mildred Woltersdorf's daughter-in-law, Roberta Merris visited her Monday morning.

Thanks to the First Baptist Church for the pretty flowers and to Carmen Hicks for bringing them by.

We received a nice note from Leona Rines of Yakima, Washington saying her mother "Nicki" Clark made the trip just fine and is settled in a nursing home there.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Last week showers in our area totaled 1 ½ inches of rain. Some places in Utopia and in the West received more. It was really great, and is keeping the grass green and growing.

Tanner Couch weekends at home

Tanner Couch and his mother, Mary Beth, were allowed a week end pass to come home on Saturday.

Needless to say they, along with all the family members, are thankfull and happy to just come home for a weekend.

Granny Heideman had prepared a big feast for Sunday dinner.

They will return to San Antonio Monday. Terry Ellis, Tanner's sister, and the donor for the kidney transplant, will also go in for her check up. He is recuperating nicely and will probably be able to come home this week.

An accident on B & R Ranch

Judy La France had a serious accident last week and was transported to Peterson Hospital in Kerrville. She failed to apply her emergency brake when opening a gate, and her jeep started rolling. In trying to catch the jeep, she was knocked down and the jeep ran over her leg. Luckily it didn't break her leg but was badly damaged.

Visitors from San Angelo

Essie Sue Eaker of San Angelo accompanied by her friend, Herlie Mae Smith, were Canyon visitors last week. Essie is a niece of Hub and Lon Thompson, a first cousin of Hamilton Gabriel and has other relatives here.

They spent two nights with the Gabriels and one in Kerrville with Herlie Mae's daughter.

Bermuda cruise

Mrs. Ira Reavis called to say her son Ray and wife of San Antonio had won a week's cruise of Bermuda Island.

Ray is in the roofing construction business and won the trip by selling more shingles than any man on the job.

Their two children Sherin and Lubin will remain with an aunt and uncle Nora and David Dodge.

Disney World trip

Martha Grawunder has won a trip to Disney World in Orlando, Fla.

She was awarded the trip due to bringing a large increase in sales of Avon Cosmetics.

Foster in Tulsa

Hoyt Foster spent five days in Tulsa, Okla., attending a satellite show.

Hoyt and Doris Foster entertained friends Sue and Walt Wilkerson from San Antonio on Sunday.

Mrs. Grace Smith, 80, an aunt of Norma Hoover, passed away Sunday morning in St. Luke's Hospital, San Antonio.

Graveside services were Monday with the Rev. Homer Stephens, pastor of First Baptist Church officiating.

Illness

Margarite Thompson was a patient in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville, last week where scans and trests are being run. We hope for her, a speedy recovery.

Wolf Club meeting

A special meeting of Vanderpool Wolf Club has been called for Tuesday, July 9, at 8 p.m. at Vanderpool Community Building.

"It is very urgent all members be there," a spokesman said.

Visitors

Chris and Carol Calk of Uvalde and friends from Killeen, were Sunday visitors of J.B. Alley's and Lecil Howard's.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole of Corpus Christi were Baptist Church visitors and guests of R.C. and Dorothy Cutler on Sunday.

Ken Felton, owner of Kens TV Sales and Service congratulates Joe Ortega of Bandera.

Ortega was first place winner in the San Antonio district contest for a Zenith 45-inch wide screen television set.

Forty Years From Freedom

Was it so long ago
When bombers filled the skies,
And threatened those abroad.
Our friends and our Allies?

The Fuehrer said "We'll take 'em all!
We know this without fail.
We'll conquer all of Europe—,
And others just as well!"

"The Superior Race are we," he said.
"The Nazis will prevail!
We'll conquer all the rest
And banish them to Hell!"

2.
So the call went out to arms
All o'er the Forty-Eight.
We must defend our friends
Ere it becomes too late.

They came from near and far.
These young men called "The Yanks",
From East and West, from North and South,
To join their country's ranks.

Both Yanks and Rebs alike,
They gathered, one and all,
Not to fight each other,
But to answer freedom's call.

O'er the deserts of North Africa
They blazed a trail of bones.
Through snow and ice two "Nuts!" they replied.
Those bastards of Bastogne!

3.
The beaches there at Normandy
Turned a crimson hue of red.
But they would ne'r surrender.
'Tis better to be dead!

But before the guns were silenced
And all the battles won.
There came another threat
From the Land of the Rising Sun.

On the sea and air at Midway...
To the death march at Bataan...
Then on to Iwo Jima,
That bloody mound of sand.

Of all the many battles,
These are just a few.
And the many acts of heroism
Was a list that grew and grew.

4.
Mighty brave were these young men...
I'm sure we'll all admit,
For they would die for freedom,
Or else they'd never quit.

Forty years later now,
I have to wonder...Why?
Is this the freedom they so endeared...
The kind for which they'd die?

And as I sit and reminisce
Of better days gone by,
Seems the question of freedom now is,
"How much can you buy?"

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-8225

There will be a covered dish, fellowship dinner after worship services Sunday, July 7, at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Phil and Nola Bledsoe returned to their riverfront home on Monday July 1. They had been in Missouri where Phil's mother is ill.

Ross and Lois Bailey went to the state convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in Ft. Worth last weekend. Ross judged the Poppy display for the state. The newly-elected state commander and president for the coming year is from San Antonio.

Vince Simmons, the son of Danna and Ritch Simmons, has been transferred from Edinburg to Austin, by his employer, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Vince and his wife Yolanda and their daughter Melanie will move to Austin about July 15.

The first Saturday of the month community covered-dish dinner will be held at the Copper Lantern on July 6. Doris Veretta and her Western Band will furnish the music for dancing after the dinner is over.

We are happy for Danna Simmons and her partners at the Bandera Arts and Crafts. They started with just ceramics but have now expanded to many other arts and craft media.

Ron and Jean Clark of Corpus Christi, niece of Marjorie Birch, and Marion Trout were here visiting with Marion and Marjorie Birch. While here they took in the Sunday services at Walker Memorial Chapel and Jean played the piano.

Ken Parks underwent surgery at the Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio on Tuesday, July 2. Junior misses him and does not understand why they are not taking walks together. Jr. is my dog.

Friday, July 12, at 7 p.m. at the Walker Memorial Chapel, Marion Birch will show slides of his missionary work in Africa. These slides will cover many of the different tribes and their cultures.

After the slide show refreshments will be served. Everyone is welcome.

Joyce and Buddy Reese and their daughter Kim from Alvin were here for a few days visiting with Joyce's mother, Juanita Ratliff.

The Blakneys have been planning and getting ready for this week for a long time. All four of their children were home at the same time.

Their daughter Pam, her husband Howard and their two sons, Steve and John, arrived on Sunday from Tallahassee, Fla., to spend a week. They got here just in time to celebrate John's fourth birthday. They enjoyed the river and the Hill Country.

Pam's older sister, Debe, arrived on Wednesday from Kansas City, Mo. Mark and Dudley came in from Dallas and Houston. Dudley's family also made the trip, his wife Emiely and their three children, Corrie, Katy and Tyler.

The event for Blakney family will take place on Saturday July 6, when Mark, the youngest of the family, takes Cathy Brown of Rogers as his wife.

Every day now we see people tubing down the river in front of our home, but I could not believe my eyes when I looked out from our deck and saw Mary Blakney tubing by with her children and grandchildren. And would you believe it, my camera wouldn't work.

Living here on the river at Wharton's Dock you see many things. Just now a sedan drove by with a 12 foot john boat on its top with two men riding in the boat. We hope they had a safe ride on the water as it did not appear to be too safe on top of that car.

17 deaths predicted over holiday by DPS

The Texas Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 17 people will die in traffic accidents in the state during the 30-hour July 4 holiday period.

"Thought this year's estimate is lower than last year's death toll, the final figure could be even lower if Texans refrained from drinking and driving, stayed within the speed limit and buckled their safety belts," said Colonel Jim Adams, director of the DPS.

Last year, 20 persons died in crashes on Texas streets and highways during the July 4 holiday period. Three additional fatalities resulting from serious injuries during that period pushed the final toll to 23.

"This year's estimate of 17 deaths compared to the higher number of fatalities last year is in keeping with a downward trend in Texas traffic fatalities," said Adams.

In 1984, 48 percent of the fatalities reported during the July 4 period resulted from accidents in which speed or DWI was listed as a contributing factor.

"In an effort to limit the number of deaths, additional DPS troopers will again be patrolling rural roads and highways during the holiday period," Adams said.

The Department's "Operation Motorcide," in which the number of fatalities will be reported at intervals through the period to remind Texas drivers of holiday driving dangers, begins at 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 3 and continues through midnight Thursday, July 4.

SUPER TEXAS SCENERY in this 320 plus acres, 15 miles from town of Bandera. ½ mile of both sides of Hondo Creek is supported by an 8' concrete dam. 98 acres of level, oak-covered land and the balance in hilly, views and hunting country, make this some of the most beautiful property in the county. There is a small, neat house with a captured spring for water supply. The owner will finance with 30% down.

COMMERCIAL LOT, Main Street frontage, $65,000.

This little house on two small lots in the country wants a new owner. It has a range, refrigerator and stand-up fireplace in good condition. Not much "fixing up" needed either. Only $25,900.

OWNER MOVING, IS EAGER TO SELL this well arranged 3 BR, 2 B home very neat and well kept. This attractive house sits on a large fenced in town lot in Bandera. When looking at this one, REMEMBER THE 8% ASSUMABLE NOTE.

Enjoy the luxuries of a swimming pool, tennis court and fun in the river without work or worry, by owning this lovely 2 BR, 1 B cottage. This is a cheerful, happy home, with so many extras. Mini-blinds, like new appliances, burglar alarm system, ceiling fans, central air and heat, washer & dryer. SO MUCH FOR SO LITTLE! $64,000.

This four bedroom, 3 bath home is very SPECIAL. In a SPECIAL neighborhood (Indian Waters) designed for SPECIAL PEOPLE (A happy family) and built on a very SPECIAL one acre with lovely oaks.

The business man or woman in this area should see this well constructed commercial building with space in which to work. Only one block from post office and courthouse. $125,000.00 with owner financing.

Move your trailer on this pretty spot, two lots with water and trees. $1200 down. Pick up payments of approx. $170.00 per month.

Would you like to have a neat building site for a home or a commercial spot with highway frontage, near town and not in a subdivision? Then by all means, see these two tracts, one approx. 3½ acres, the other approx. 4. The owner will finance with low down payment. Only $20,000 for each tract.

UNDERGROUND HOME BUILDERS, please see this lovely 9 acre tract with a gentle hill overlooking a small fertile valley with "hillscape" in background. Utilities close by. $26,000. Assumable 10% note.

"The children are gone, and I no longer need this 10 acres for their horses". "Sell" he says, "And I will consider any reasonable offer".

Call for information on two small ranches of approximately 100 acres with improvements. One has highway frontage.

July is rice month

Americans are eating more rice than ever before. In the last five years, rice consumption has increased by 70 percent, according to Curtis Leonhardt of the Rice Council for Market Development.

"July has been proclaimed as Rice month in Texas," says Karen Mitchell of the Texas Department of Agriculture, "so look for the consumption of the golden grain to increase even more. Consumers will find many Texas restaurants "going with the grain" that is, featuring rice favorites on their menus."

Rice in Texas is grown on the upper Gulf Coast. In 1984, rice farmers produced over 2 billion pounds of premium long grain rice, ranking Texas fourth nationally.

Over half of the State's rice crop is exported each year to the major rice consuming nations. Even though the consumption of rice in the U.S. stands today at 15.3 pounds per capita, we have a ways to go before we catch up with the South Koreans who consume 290 pounds per person each year, she advises.

Several factors have influenced the rise in the use of rice. Rice costs 4-5 cents per serving, making it an economical food to purchase. People today are much more nutrition conscious, opting to include more whole grains in their diets.

Also creative cooks find that many ethnic cuisines use rice as a staple. And people who use rice every day take its preparation seriously.

For instance, when an Indian housewife shops, she specifies the kind of rice she wants to buy for each dish, whether it be long grain, round grain, polished, partially husked and parboiled, pressed, beaten, puffed or ground," Mitchell says. East Africans prepare a dish that calls for selecting each grain individually.

And Brazilians would never dream of just boiling rice. Rather they prefer to fry dry grains of rice with onions and chopped tomatoes before adding boiling stock or salted water.

If you want to lower your food bill and include a food that tasted great in any cuisine, go with the grain. One of the favorite companions to rice is seafood. Try Gumbo A La Creole or Creole Jambalaya from the Rice Council for Market Development.

If you would like a free brochure called "Rice 'n' Easy" write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218. This 14-page booklet features easy to follow, step-by-step recipes for main dishes, salads and side dishes.

Gumbo A La Creole

1 ½ C chopped onions
3 T vegetable oil
¼ C flour
5 C fish stock
1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes
2 dozen or 3 C shucked oysters (drain; reserve liquid)
1 package (10 ounces) frozen sliced okra
2 tsp each salt and lemon pepper
¼ tsp each ground red and black pepper
Bouquet garni*
8 ounces cubed boneless fish (flounder, red snapper etc.)
8 ounces peeled, deveined raw shrimp
8 ounces crab fingers or crab meat
1 T gumbo file
6 cups hot cooked rice

Saute onions in oil until well browned. Add flour and cook, stirring constantly, until a deep brown color is obtained. Stir in fish stock, tomatoes, liquid from oysters, okra, and seasoning. Cook, covered, about 30 minutes. Add fish, shrimp, crab fingers and oysters. Continue cooking about 10 minutes or until shrimp turn pink and oysters begin to curl. Remove bouquet garni. Just before serving, add gumbo file. Never let gumbo boil after file is added. Serve in shallow bowls over rice. Makes 12 servings.

*Bouquet garni is a small bunch of herbs such as marjoram, savory, basil, thyme, sage, rosemary, and oregano tied together in a cheese cloth bag or a prepared mix may be purchased.

Creole Jambalaya

1 pound smoked pork sausage or ham (cut in ½ inch pieces)
1 C chopped green peppers
1 C chopped onions
1 clove garlic, crushed

Rice is an excellent companion to a wide variety of main dishes. It looks good with this gumbo dish and probably tastes equally good.

1 T flour
1 can (28 ounces) tomatoes
2 ½ C water
2 T chopped parsley
2 C uncooked rice
2 T Worcestershire sauce
2 tsp salt
½ tsp ground thyme
¼ tsp ground red pepper
1 pound peeled, deveined raw shrimp

Cook sausage in a large skillet about 5 minutes. (if ham is used, add 1 tablespoon shortening.) Drain off all but 2 tablespoons pan drippings. Add green peppers, onions, and garlic; cook until tender. Blend in flour; brown slowly, stirring often. Stir in tomatoes, water and parsley. Bring to a boil. Add remaining ingredients except shrimp. Return to a boil, cover, reduce the heat, and simmer for 20 minutes. Add shrimp and cook 10 minutes longer. Fluff lightly with fork. Makes 8 servings.

Notice of Meeting
The Board of Trustees of the Bandera Independent School District will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday, July 9, 1985, at 7:30 p.m. at Bandera High School.
52-1tc

Thank you
Expressing thanks to all the friends and relatives of Mrs. B.H. (Veronica) Clark, for all the good deeds, plants, phone calls, visits, and prayers over the years and during the two months at the Purple Hills Nursing Home, after her stroke.
Our mother stood the trip very well considering her age at 85 and her first time ever in a plane.
Special thanks goes to the staff of the following businesses: Purple Hills Nursing Home, EMS, First State Bank, Pollocks Drug Store, Bandera Post Office and Court House. Your Bandera hospitality really did shine and all your help was greatly appreciated.
I know mother would be very pleased and grateful to hear from friends and relatives of Bandera. Her address is as follows: Leona (Clark) Rines, 4415 Terrace Dr., Yakima, Wash., 98901. She will be receiving treatment for 5 to 6 weeks at the Physical Therapy Department, St. Elizabeths Medical Center.
Mrs. E.P. Rines

Thank you
I would like to thank each and everyone of you for your prayers, cards, visits, calls and offers of help on the ranch since I have been ill. You will never know how much my family and I appreciated all of this. Thank you and God bless you all.
Ned Adams

Notice
Any person residing within the corporate limits of the City of Bandera is reminded that a construction permit is required when:
A. Erecting a new place of business or a new residence.
B. Remodeling or enlarging on existing structure.
C. Constructing in the flood plain.
Failure to obtain appropriate permits may result in loss of valuable time, higher cost, and possible legal action against property owners.

PUBLIC NOTICE
All Developers and Subdividers planning projects in Bandera County are urged to obtain and follow the regulations governing subdivisions in Bandera County. Failure to follow these established regulations will almost certainly result in costly delays. Some of the most critical items are:
1. Written request to proceed accompanied by a statement from Bandera Electric Cooperative that electricity will be furnished.
2. Utility easements indicated by survey.
3. Road dedication indicated by survey.
4. Construction and maintenance bonds on roads.
5. All lots or tracts adequate in size.
6. Plats to be drawn to a scale of 200 feet to the inch, on 18" by 24" sheets. A key map shows the entire area to be drawn on U.S.G.S. maps which are available in the County Judge's office.
7. Compliance with Bandera County Regulations covering sanitary facilities and water wells.
These directives, most of which have been in force since 1972, by order of the Bandera County Commissioners' Court, are available for any developer at the office of Permits and Inspections, County Courthouse. I urge all concerned to obtain this document and follow it closely during the course of your planning and development schedule.

Benefit for victims' families planned amid information blackout

Friends of two women killed June 25 as they walked on Highway 173 are planning a benefit for their families on July 14, but a tight lid has been put on findings of investigating authorities.

Facts of the case will be submitted to the Bandera County grand jury which is scheduled to convene on July 26.

Judy Ann Pina, 22, of Bandera, and Shawn Michele Tadlock, 26, of Bandera apparently left the automobile in which they were traveling when it broke down. They were walking with Pina's two-year-old daughter when a pickup truck, driven by 17-year-old Sky Mattson of Bandera, traveling south on Highway 173 struck the threesome.

The two women were killed in the mishap and the child was taken to Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville by the Bandera County EMS and later released with only minor injuries.

The two women were apparently walking to Tadlock's home about a mile from the scene of the tragedy.

Mattson was booked into the Bandera County jail at 2:18 a.m. on June 25, about two hours after the bodies were found about seven miles north of Bandera, one-half mile from the disabled car.

Mattson was picked up in Bandera by city police officer Joe MacMillan shortly after the mishap was reported. Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $2000 on a felony charge of "failure to stop and render aid." Bond was posted and Mattson was released about noon on June 25.

The information blackout on the findings of local investigating authorities continues pending action of the grand jury on July 26.

Peace Justice Herman Rogers of Medina said the Bexar County medical examiner's report has been forwarded to District Attorney Bruce Curry in Kerrville. Curry has been in court in Boerne all week and has not returned the Bulletin's telephone calls.

Judge Rogers said the district attorney told him not to release any information in the case and Trooper Dan Butts of the Department of Public Safety has not released any information except the brief initial announcement of the tragedy.

The benefit for the families of the two victims will be held at the New Pass, 11 miles north of Bandera on 173 on July 14. A barbecue lunch will be served and live music is on the agenda. A $5 donation will be asked for those attending.

A trust fund has been established at the American Legion Hall in Bandera to establish a fund whose interest will go to the legal guardians of the Pina girl.

City compromises on zoning matter

by Nick Johnson
Editor

Bandera City Council worked out a compromise Monday to rezone the old Bandera Hotel to permit its use as a hotel or apartments but to prohibit its use for such things as a retail store, tavern, night club or automotive repair shop.

By doing so, the council in effect created a new zoning classification to satisfy objections of several neighbors who appeared at Monday's regular meeting of the council and still accomplish the purposes of owner Richard L. Weber.

In other action Monday the city council approved increases in the municipal court's minimum fines, set a public hearing for a couple wishing to locate a mobile home in the city, approved a new water meter outside the city, refunded Judge Tom Grant a portion of his water bill, and appointed a five-member committee of citizens to hear grievances against city police.

Only four zoning classifications are defined in the city's existing ordinance, R-1 residential, B-1 business and commercial, and I-1 light industrial, and R-M mobile home parks.

Property zoned B-1 may range from taverns and night clubs to hospitals and clinics and from service stations to hotels.

Neighbors said Monday they would just not object to Weber's use of the property for a hotel or apartments, which is his intent, but they feared he may someday sell the property and its new owners might use it for purposes that would damage the surrounding neighborhood, such as an authmotive repair garage or retail store.

Council member Diane Tobin moved to rezone the property B-1 with a special provision limiting its use to banks and savings and loan institutions, office buildings, motels and hotels, hospitals and clinics, and structures for storage use by the banks, hotels or hospitals on the property.

That motion passed 3-2 with Councilmen Joe Fox and Raymond Adamietz joining Tobin to vote for it while Gilbert Scheele and Ross Bailey voted nay.

Attorney Ron Jackson, representing Weber, told the council the owner of the hotel could not get a building permit to substantially renovate or expand the hotel or apartments on the property as long as it was zoned R-1 for single-family residences.

Its use as a hotel or as apartments was permited because its use for those purposes pre-dated the passage of Bandera's zoning ordinance, Jackson explained.

Three members of the city's planning and zoning commission attended Monday's meeting and chairman Cal Chapman told the council that one of his commission's objectives was to suggest a new zoning ordinance that further divides the B-1 classification.

The P&Z Commission formally recommended the council favorably consider Weber's request for zoning change, and the members present, including Linda Stein and Euna Wagner, said they also favored the compromise worked

County lets contracts for $250,000 in paving

Bandera County Commissioners Tuesday let contracts for more than $250,000 of paving in the county, splitting the work between two contractors instead of awarding the entire contract to the lowest bidder.

Commissioners had to increase their budget by $25,000 and reduce the planned width of Wharton's Dock Road to be able to let contracts for the work.

In other action by commissioners in meetings Monday and Tuesday they hired a new manager for Mansfield Park, decided to begin charging a fee to permit dumping at the county's landfill near Medina, gave preliminary approval to plats of two new subdivisions, and appointed Vernon Porter of Utopia to represent the county on a committee overseeing a cloud seeding project.

In an unusual negotiating session between the only two bidders on the paving projects and commissioners Tuesday, commissioners awarded the contract for renovating Wharton's Dock Road to Henry Zumwalt Paving and Grading, Inc., of Helotes at a cost of $115,455.99.

They also awarded a contract for paving in other areas of the county to Roger Stevens Contractor of Bandera. He will pave about a mile in Indian Waters subdivision at a cost of $8,520 and 3½ miles in each of Precincts 3 and 4 and parts of Pebble Beach Road, Elmhurst Drive and Goat Hill Road in Precinct 2.

The cost of the work to be done by Stevens includes about $38,000 in Precinct 2, $31,700 in Precinct 3, and $71,000 in Precinct 4.

Commissioners originally budgeted $225,000 to do the work, to include $100,000 from road and bridge funds on hand and $125,000 in borrowed funds, to be repaid from road and bridge funds expected next year. Tuesday, they committed an additional $25,000 from road and bridge funds to the projects and still were about $12,000 over budget. Road and bridge funds currently contain $194,000, according to county treasurer Elizabeth James.

County Judge Tommy Curbo said additional adjustments in the projects and budget shortfalls in other areas will be sufficient to bring the projects under budget.

As it was, the plans for the renovation of Wharton's Dock Road were materially changed when bids were $45,000 to $130,000 higher than expected.

So plans to widen the road from 20 feet to 22 feet were scrapped. Instead, the road will be re-built exactly the same width as it presently is.

Because of descrepancies in the specifications, commissioners listed in advertisements seeking bids, the project was divided between two bidders instead of awarded to the lower bidder, which was Zumwalt.

Zumwalt's original bid for renovation of Wharton's Dock Road was $141,280, and his adjusted bid based on 20 feet instead of 22 feet was $115,450. Stevens' original bid was $227,142.

Stevens explained that his bid was so much higher because he included work material in his bid that were not strictly required in the bid specifications.

Stevens had left Monday's regular meeting of commissioners believing the contract for all the paving had been or would be awarded to Zumwalt, but he was present Tuesday when negotiations began.

Commissioners voted to begin assessing a fee for dumping at the Medina landfill as soon as a gate and an office for an attendant can be constructed.

The action came after the Medina Rotary Club asked the commissioners to devise a plan to control access to the landfill.

The landfill was originally acquired by the Medina Rotary Club to provide a dump site for residents of the Medina community, but now they say much of the refuse being dumped there originates not only outside the Medina area but outside the county as well.

Commissioners tentatively intend to transfer John Phillips of Medina from the new Garbage Gobbler collection site near Mansfield Park to the Medina landfill and employ a replacement for Phillips at the Bandera dump facility.

They intend to open the Medina site on Wednesdays and Saturdays and will begin charging a fee as soon as the gate and attendant's station can be constructed.

Commissioners Monday also gave preliminary approval to a subdivision called Medina Hills Arbor for mobile homes and camping only. The site is at Wharton's Dock Road and Lakeshore Drive.

They also gave a preliminary approval to a replat of River Oaks Ranch at the end of Mills Drive between Bandera and Pipe Creek. It contains 10 lots of .65 acres or larger.

Commissioners interviewed two applicants for manager of Mansfield Park Monday and Tuesday before hiring Kenneth L. Knaus, 51, of Bandera for the $12,960-per year job. He will assume the position on Aug. 1.

Knaus is a retired construction superintendent from Colorado who now is employed by Catering of Central Texas in Kerrville.

They also interviewed Thomas M. Joiner, 35, of Bandera.

Commissioner Bud Thompson of Vanderpool nominated Porter to represent Bandera County on the advisory committee established by the Texas Water Resources Department to oversee the cloud-seeding project of the Edwards Underground Water District.

A retired school teacher, Porter has attended serveral of the public hearings on the project and has evidenced a keen interest in it, Thompson said.

The EUWD has its own advisory committee as well, and Raymond Hicks of Bandera was appointed by the EUWD to represent the county on that panel.

Council names Joe Rodriguez to Bandera Police Department

S. Joe Rodriguez II was accepted by the Bandera City Council to fulfill the vacancy of the Bandera Police Force created when Joe MacMillan resigned July 1 to take a position with the Medina County Sheriff's Department.

"Rodriguez has been devoted to law enforcement for some time, and started riding with the city officers back in September as a reserve," said Chief Walter Welch. "He took the initiative to go through the reserve peace officers training in San Antonio. He knows everyone in town and where they live. He's lived here all his life. He'll make a good officer" the chief continued.

The 1981 National Honor Society graduate of Bandera High School attended San Angelo State University. He is the son of Joe and Sally Rodriguez of Bandera. His brother Noel is attending Southwest Texas State University.

"I take after my dad," the 22-year-old said. "He's lived in Bandera all his life, and I'm looking forward to staying in Bandera, too.

"I've been interested in law enforcement all my life, and I'm looking forward to serving the people of Bandera," he said. "I plan to continue my training and education in law enforcement," he said. Rodriguez graduated from the 70-hour peace officers training course at San Antonio College in December.

"I enjoy working under Chief Welch and with officer Carlos Reyna, and I can learn a lot from them. They have a lot of experience. I've already learned a lot just riding with officers Reyna and MacMillan and the chief the past months," he said.

Rodriguez will be paid $1,000 per month.

Rodriguez was hired by the city council only minutes after it unanimously approved for the final time an ordinance taking away from the mayor the power to hire and fire policemen.

That move was initiated last month during Mayor Bob Cowan's absence with the assurance from county attorney Terry Mason that he would not oppose it.

Mayor Cowan confirmed Monday he welcomed the change in this instance but explained that he would not favor further weakening of the mayor's powers.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

On good taste, hairy-legged gals and other topics.

That sometimes funny San Antonio newspaper columnist Roddy Stinson was wondering in print this week about the whereabouts of Bandera's hairy-legged women.

"The hairy-legged women in Bandera must be on vacation — or in hiding," the pundit offered.

He based his conclusion on a report in the Bulletin of San Antonio City Councilman Van Archer's warm reception here by Republican county chairman Buddy Thompson.

Archer, you'll recall, is one of the San Antonio Republicans anxious to become our congressman should Tom Loeffler give up his seat and run for governor.

Archer is also the guy who is fond of tracing so many of today's ills to the Marxists and socialists and their ilk, and Stinson took note of this also.

It's probably not true, but I was told by one of that ilk that Archer wrote a paper as a college assignment in which he criticized Attila the Hun for being too liberal.

He's also the guy who referred to participants in a national meeting of Equal Rights Amemdment supporters as a bunch of "hairy-legged women."

Archer may not have met any ladies of the hirsute limb persuasion while in Bandera County, but we have them.

That is, we have them if he means independent, clear-thinking ladies not afraid to get involved.

Girls who are not threatened by the prospect of standing on their own two feet and running a business, or a ranch, or a home.

It's my personal conviction that Archer won't make a race to be our congressman.

It's a conviction based on nothing more than a gut feeling and the fact Republicans usually settle these things maybe not in smoke-filled rooms but probably in luxurous hotel suites or corporate boardrooms.

At least not in primary elections.

The prospect of a GOP face-off for governor between Bill Clements, Loeffler, Kent Hance and T. Boone Pickens and maybe even little George Strake is one that boggles the mind, but it will never come off.

I look for them to decide that Clements or Pickens should go for governor, Hance for attorney general, and that Loeffler should continue as a rising star in Washington, with an eye on the minority leader's job.

Still we'd like to see a free-for-all among Republicans in Texas. It would reveal something about the real fiber of the party. Something we can find out in no other way.

But, I digress.

When I set out writing this column, the topic was to be columnist Stinson's good taste.

I meant to extoll his choice of literature that led him to Page 4 of the Bulletin to note our coverage of Archer's brief visit to town.

But the space this column occupies dictated that other topics be added.

State officials cheer over Navy's choice of Corpus

Economy-minded state officials were joyful last week when the Navy announced it would build the much sought after homeport for a new battleship at Corpus Christi.

The Houston-Galveston area, which had survived cuts to make it to the final three, will also get several attendant ships in its area as the U.S. builds a 600-ship Navy.

The Texas Legislature this spring appropriated $25 million for improvements to the Corpus Christi base site to help lure the Navy base to the Lone Star State.

Jobs and money from the Navy construction are expected to spill over to the entire state, including annual spending of $174 million and 7,140 permanent jobs for a total economic impact for Texas of one-quarter of a billion dollars.

Specifically, the Navy will put the battleship USS Wisconsin, a missile carrier, a missile destroyer, a minesweeper and aircraft carrier at Corpus Christi.

Defense dollars here

And a Defense Department report indicates other Pentagon spending in Texas will total more than $32 billion this year, second only to California.

Some $2.2 billion will pay for petroleum refining and related services, and $2.1 billion for crude oil and natural gas, a boost to that slumping industry here.

Saturn Project

Meanwhile, Texas still awaits work on whether General Motors Corp. will select this state as the site of the new Saturn plant.

Other state legislatures still in session are developing their incentives to GM, which will probably make the announcement sometime in mid-July. The Texas Legislature approved a package of service incentives which included new roads and transportation facilties. Sherman, Texas is thought to be a prime site.

U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm, though said last week that a lack of positive signals from GM is discouraging.

But GM officials said when a decision has been reached, they will personally notify top officials of some three dozen states before making a public announcement.

Election runoff set

The governor set August 3 as the date for the election runoff in the First Congressional District in northeast Texas.

Results from the June 29 vote had Republican Edd Hargett out front with Jim Chapman in second place with 30 percent of the vote out of an eight man field.

Both sides are calling themselves underdogs in this important vote which analysts are considering a test on Democratic defections to the Republican Party.

Political jockeying

Another Republican has surfaced who might run for governor, this one from Houston, where the key to victory may lie.

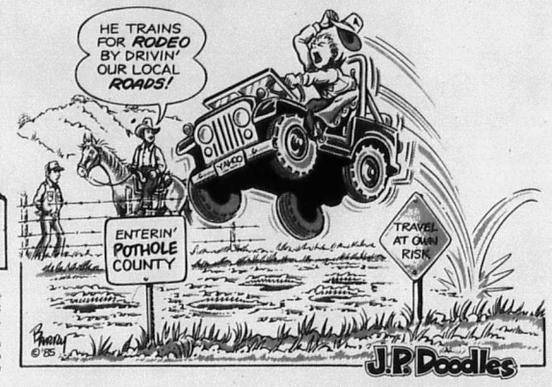

Jack Rains, a wealthy lawyer, businessman and Aggie said he has financial commitments which would enable him to campaign if former Gov. Bill Clements does not. Rains was appointed by Clements to the Veterans Land Board.

Rains said other candidates are either too new to the GOP or not broad-based enough to win. "If you're going to beat Mark White, you've got to beat him in Houston," he said.

That strategy is becoming more accepted by political analysts who remember that Houston was the only area that White took away from Clements in defeating him in '82. Its large population, its economic troubles and its huge turnout of swing voters make it perhaps the most crucial county, election-wise, of this decade.

And in the coming governor's race, there's another factor to consider: Mark White is from Houston, too.

Lots of support

Dear editor:

Congratulations to the Bandera 4-H Horse Club contestants who competed and qualified for the Del Rio District 13 horse show June 28-29.

Without the support of parents to help their children, it may not have been possible. Thanks to Rosemary Butts, Ken and Linda Felten, Patty Floyd, Erma and Ron Macon, Rick and Joan Matheson and Kathleen Skeen.

Our special thanks goes to Scooter and Sheila Fries who trailered six of the eight horses and organized the horses and their owners and calmed the parents.

Our special thanks also to Scott Durham who supported us during the year. Without his direction and encouragement, this could not have succeeded.

Ranch program bond proposal set for November ballot

A program to revitalize the family farm in Texas will be modeled after the successful and self-supporting Texas Veterans loan programs, so as not to cost taxpayers a single penny, Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro said.

Established by the recent Legislature, the Farm and Ranch Finance Program would be funded by the sale of $500 million in general obligation bonds which must be approved by the voters next November—Number Ten on the constitutional amendment ballot. If voters approve Proposition 10, the first loans could be made in September 1986.

Sen. Bill Sarpalius (D-Amarillo) and Rep. L.P. (Pete) Patterson (D-Brookston) authored the legislation that provides for low-interest loans of up to $100,000 for the purchase of a minimum of 50 acres of land for a working farm. To be eligible, a family must have one member of the household that receives at least 35 percent of his income from agricultural purposes for the last three years before the loan is requested and have a net worth of no more than $250,000. Also, Texas residency for the last five years is requried.

Mauro pointed out that a Texas Veteran would be eligible for a Farm and Ranch Finance Program loan even if he had already used his Texas Veterans program loan.

Designed to be a local farm and ranch program, the enabling legislation provides for a local committee appointed by the county judge and consisting of two resident agricultural producers and an officer of a financial institution located in the county.

Under the legislation signed by Gov. Mark White, the maximum mortgage period would be 40 years with a required down payment of at least five percent.

The Veterans Land Board will administer the new farm and ranch program and set the actual mortgage periods and interest rates after bonds have been approved by the voters and sold on the bond market.

"If the success of Texas Veterans Loan Programs are any indication," Mauro said, "this new program should prove to be even more successful because it appeals to an even broader number of Texans. We intend to model the program closely after the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program and the Texas Veterans Land Program—the best Veterans loan programs in the entire United States."

"Those highly successful Veterans programs are self-supporting and have not cost the tax-payers a single penny," Mauro said.

out Monday.

The council also approved a new minimum fine schedule at the request of Municipal Judge Bonnie Towers which raised most fines $3 to $5 to cover added fees due the state under legislation passed by the Texas Legislature.

Judge Towers recommended and the council approved their increases for a few violations that Judge Towers said are more appropriate because of the potential danger of the violations.

The minimum fine for running a stop sign was increased from $26.50 to $59, for example, an increase of 122.6 percent. The fine for driving without lights when required was hiked from $36.50 to $59. A few fines were reduced, including the levy for no liability insurance, which was reduced from $94 to $84.50.

The state gets $12.50 of each fine to finance continuing education for law enforcement personnel and judges and to fund the state's program to compensate victims of crime.

Judge Towers said she levies fines strictly by the minimum schedule except in cases of flagrant violations that could creat life-threatening conditions and in cases involving "completely destitute persons."

The council scheduled a public hearing for Aug. 12 at 7:30 p.m. on a request by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rodriguez to place a mobile home at 15th and Cherry Streets to be used as a home for Mrs. Rodriguez's parents.

Peace Justice Grant told city officials an undiscovered leak caused his water consumption to increase from 1,000 gallons in March to 20,000 gallons in June. The council voted 4-1 to credit Grant's account for $10.

Tobin voted against the refund, saying she didn't want to establish a precedent of refunding money whenever a customer accidently leaked water.

Former Mayor Wilvie Smith and former councilman Russell Zickler were among the five citizens named by council to the grievance committee formed last month to hear citizen complaints about the city's police department.

Joining the former mayor and the former councilman on the panel will be florist Punky Camp, Dorothy Darden and Carl Adamietz. The council appointed Councilman Fox to represent the council on the committee, and the mayor also serves on the committee as an officio member.

The council also rejected a move by Scheele to prohibit the use of the municipal building to anyone except the council and official city panels such as the P&Z Commission and the police grievance committee.

Scheele specifically objected to the use of the building by the Bandera County Sesquicentennial Committee of which Mayor Bob Cowan is a member and which was meeting in the city building at his invitation.

The council also participated in a wide-ranging discussion concerning city employees and other matters, but no concrete suggestions were made an no action was taken.

Joe Fox suggested, however, that the city's practice of collecting electricity and natural gas bills as a service to residents be examined in light of recent requests by the city staff for additional clerical help.

It was pointed out that both banks also collect electric bills and grocer Johnny Boyle said he would collect such bills if the city were to abandon the practice.

Sundance Travel Int'l
A bullfight isn't all Spain has to offer. Always an excellent value, Spain has great variation in sightseeing, marvelous resort areas, Fly/Drive packages and cities with enough to do to keep even the most avid explorers busy for weeks.
One of the most popular two week itineraries includes Madrid, Toledo, Cordoba, Seville, Costa del Sol and Granada. Many tours also include a trip to Tangier, in Morocco. Some packages combine Madrid or Barcelona with a few days at one of the resorts on the Costa del Sol, while others offer a stop in Lisbon.
You'll surely want to sample the famous Spanish sherry and enjoy an evening at a Flamenco Club where the non-stop entertainment might go on for hours. Enjoy a glass of sangria or sherry as you watch the dancers who sometimes appear to dance more for themselves than the audience.
The Moorish influence is evident throughout Spain. A walled village with cobblestone streets takes you back in time to a life style that really hasn't changed much through the years and might even seem preferable to the hustle and bustle to which we've become accustomed.
Spain still offers bargains in leather goods such as clothing, purses and shoes as well as jewelry and handicrafts. You'll also find suede and art work at very reasonable prices.
We have a great selection of tours and independent packages, so call us for information on trips to Spain in just about every price range.

J. Marvin Hunter classic republished by UT Press

"The Trail Drivers of Texas," a classic of Texana by J. Marvin Hunter of Bandera first published in 1920, has been republished by the University of Texas Press.

The book, one of many historical classics by the founder of the Bandera Bulletin, contains hundreds of first-hand accounts of life in the days of the western frontier.

The stories in the book, handed down by the hardy folk who tamed Texas, form a cornerstone to the literature, history and folklore of Texas and the West.

The book contains 1,117 pages and is fully illustrated, and contains many references to Bandera County. It sells for $27.50.

"These are the chronicles of the trail drivers of Texas—those rugged men and, sometimes, women who drove cattle and horses up the trails from Texas to northern markets in the late 1800s," explains promotional material issued by The University of Texas Press.

"In tales of adventure and misfortune, a drudgery and hardship and danger, these masters of the frontier vividly recall the early days of Texas and the West and the drovers who carved out the trails as their own," the publishing house said.

It is one of several books on the history of Texas planned by the Austin-based UT Press in recognition of the state's sesquicentennial celebration in 1986.

12-hour concert set at Kerrville July 20

More than a dozen stars of the 1985 Kerrville Folk Festival will return to the outdoor theater at Quiet Valley Ranch north of Medina on Saturday, July 20, to help festival producer Rod Kennedy announce the 1986 national tour by folk festival performers who will represent the Texas Sesquicentennial in concerts in 13 states.

The special edition of the "12 Great Hours at Kerrville" will headline Steven Fromholz, Bobby Bridger and Ray Wylie Hubbard, all original 1972 performers who will be making the national tour, plus 1985 New Folk Award Winner Darden Smith of Austin, Lyle Lovette, Lindsay Haisley, Courtney Campbell in her farewell appearance, Caryl P. Weiss, David Halley, Melissa Javors and Tim Henderson and their bands, Don Sanders and Kurt Van Sickle.

The concert will run from 2 p.m. to 2 a.m. with the gates open the day before starting at 5 p.m. for overnight camping.

Ticket prices, including tax and free camping for two nights, are $12.50 per person. Purchasers of four or more tickets in advance receive a free 1986 limited edition tour t-shirt. Mail orders should be sent to "12 Hours", P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville 78029, and should specify how many tickets and t-shirt size if appropriate. Tickets will also be sold at the gate.

Next year's 1986 Kerrville Folk Festival is the 15th anniversary festival of the event which began as a three-day gathering in 1972 with 2,700 in attendance. In 1985 it has grown to an eleven-day event attended by 27,000.

Following next year's festival, nine performers, their backup musicians and staff support will play concerts on the road for 25 days including in Nashville, New York and Chicago.

At the "12 Hours" the tour will be announced as "the official goodwill tour of the Texas Sesquicentennial" and will be named the "Celebrate Texas Concert Tour." State and local officials will participate in brief ceremonies at about 6:15 p.m. followed by the introduction of Abilene artist Mark McCord, who designed the tour's running horses logo.

Nelson injured in motorcycle accident

Luther (Hal) Nelson, 19, of Pipe Creek suffered a broken leg and other injuries Tuesday, July 2, in a motorcycle accident on State Highway 46 in Kendall County.

Nelson was taken to Methodist Hospital in San Antonio where he remained Tuesday in "fair condition," according to a hospital spokesman. He is the son of Lou Nelson, owner and operator of Wolff Lumber Co. in Pipe Creek.

A benefit barbecue and dance to raise money to pay the hospital bills of the uninsured victim has been scheduled for July 27 from noon on at Kelley's Shamrock Tavern on Highway 16 in Pipe Creek.

There will be barbecue at $3.50 per plate and free dancing to the music of Bill Baker and the Outlaws, according to B. Ryan, spokesman for the group staging the benefit event.

An auction of items donated by area businesses and individuals will be held during the afternoon. Persons interested in donating items to be auctioned may call Ryan at 535-4882 or 535-4545.

Clements is best camper

Genie Clements, 12, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Clements of Bandera, was selected "Best Camper" at the June 23-29 session of the Sons of Hermann Youth Summer Camp near Comfort, the Grand Lodge in San Antonio has announced.

A member of Comfort Hermann Sons Family Lodge No. 2, Genie attended the fourth session of the camp for junior members of Hermann Sons who are aged 9 through 13 years.

Now in its 32nd season, the camp, which was opened in the summer of 1954 by the 81,000-member statewide fraternal benefit society, will have 11 weekly sessions this season.

Gets UT degree

Paul Robert H. Neville of Bandera received a bachelor of science degree in geological sciences from the University of Texas at the end of the 1985 spring semester, the university announced.

He was one of 432 students in the university's College of Natural Science to be awarded degrees.

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Henry Adams Sr. started construction on a new grocery store for Bandera on Upper Main Street across from the Bandera Lockers. The July 8, 1960, issue of the Bulletin announced the drive-in grocery store would be called "The Chuck Wagon." Adams said it would be finished in western style.

Adams had 35 years in the grocery business.

Frank Pearson Jr. was appointed to the Bandera School Board to fill the unexpired term of Wallace Lawrence, who resigned for business reasons.

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce announced it would sponsor Janie Montague, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montague Jr. to represent Bandera as a duchess at the court of Miss Mohair's Coronation in Kerrville.

This event was one of the highlights of the Texas Angora Goat Raisers Show and Sale scheduled for August.

Janie selected her brother, Frank M. Montague III, to escort her.

The U.S. Civil Service Commission advertised for telephone operators at $1.68 an hour, and electricians at $2.30 per hour and $2.42 per hour for employment at the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville.

KENS-TV celebrity team to tackle local boys Saturday

Representatives of member organizations of Bandera Helping Hand Center will take on celebrities of KENS-TV, Channel 5, in San Antonio at 10 a.m., Saturday, July 13, in a softball game benefiting the center.

Admission is free but free-will donations will be requested and proceeds from the concession stand will also go to the center, which has had to curtail its hours of operation because of lack of funds.

The Helping Hand Center is a crisis intervention center that seeks to provide food, clothing, counseling, information and referral services to residents of Bandera County in times of need.

It's governing body is composed of representatives from various charitable, religious and civic groups, and each was offered the opportunity to have a representative on the Helping Hand Center team.

The identity of celebrities on the KENS-TV team is still a closely guarded secret, but many of the recognizable on-camera station personalities are expected to compete.

The Helping Hand players held a spirited practice session Tuesday evening.

Playing for Bandera County will be the following:

Representing Bandera will be Zane Everett, playing for the American Association of Retired Persons; Russell Hevenor for St. Christopher's Episcopal Church; Harvey Jones and Sully Woodland for the United Methodist Church; the Rev. Richard Jackson for the Bandera County Historical Commission; Tim Tobin and Loren Holen for Grace Lutheran Church; Ken Mazurek for St. Stanislaus Catholic Church; Mark Bender for First Baptist Church.

Representing Pipe Creek will be Nancy Ibach playing for extension homemakers; Bo Mansfield for First Baptist Church of Pipe Creek; and David Miller for Hill Country Chapel.

Lynn Holt is representing Tarpley Baptist Church and Jim MacMillan Sr. the Medina Lake Betterment Association.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department is represented by Rich Simmons, Ken Andreas and Hunter Bleakney.

Vacation Bible school scheduled at Grace

"God's People Pray" is the theme of vacation Bible school at Grace Lutheran Church in Bandera, which plans classes for three-year-olds through sixth graders on July 22-26 from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. each morning.

The director of the program Sharon Peck said she is looking forward to an exciting time with all the children. She said the staff volunteers and materials being used will mean fun learning Bible stories and learning some great songs along with some unusual crafts.

Participation will be centered on five themes, including "Come to God in prayer," "Learn about prayer," Respond to God's love and goodness," "Ask for daily needs," and "Seek God's will for all people's needs."

Registration for vacation Bible school is now in progress. Interested persons may register or obtain additional information by visiting the church office between 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m., or by calling the office at 796-4352. Deadline for registration is July 15.

Ike Martinez, Super S Foods store manager, and A. Campos assistant store manager of Super S Foods admire one of the 13 Camaro's to be given away in the Super S Foods 13th Anniversary weekly "Great Camaro Give-A-Way."

Super S to give away cars

Super S Foods has announced its 13th anniversary celebration with a 13-car Give-A-Way. The 34 store food chain will be giving away one Camaro each week for 13 weeks beginning on July 11 and lasting through Oct. 9.

In their 13 years of operations, Super S Foods has grown from one locally-based store in San Antonio, to over 32 stores located in 28 Texas communities. Owners John Dieterle, Jim Stanley and Art Guerra believe their success is founded on the basics of quality merchandise, fair prices and "super" service.

"From the beginning we have dedicated ourselves to the customers of Super S Foods knowing that a satisfied customer is the most important factor in any company's success," said Dieterle, president of Super S.

Super S Foods owns and operates their own Produce Warehouse and produce their own brand of Super S Eggs, which are "home grown" on the Sheffield farms in Smiley.

"We want to bring only the freshest and best quality items with competitive prices to our customers," said Dieterle.

Super S is supplied by Groce Wearden Company, one of the nations largest food wholesalers. This national buying power enables the company to put a selection of 17,000 name brand, quality items on the shelves at competitive prices.

Their selection in the meat departments bring a total of 125 items with quality names such as Pilgrim Pride Poultry, Hormel Pork and many others. They sell only USDA Heavy Beef and offer a full line of smoked sausages and hams, lunchmeats and cheeses.

Super S Foods invites the public to come register to win one of the 13 Camaros which will be on display at each of their stores. Each car will be awarded from a separate drawing weekly.

WE'RE BRANCHING OUT WHERE OUR ROOTS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN.

First Federal Savings has been putting down roots in the Hill Country since 1934.

We started out with a $5,000 investment, two employees, and a two-room office in Austin. Today, more than fifty years of thoughtfully planned, carefully nurtured growth have increased our assets to over $800 million, with 27 offices all over Central Texas.

Through a half-century of successful growth, we've achieved the financial strength and stability that it takes to meet our customers' needs. That makes us proud to be a part of every Hill Country community we serve. It makes us proud of the opportunity to serve your community, too.

As one of the Hill Country's first federally-chartered savings and loans, First Federal was organized with two simple goals in mind: to help people buy homes, and to provide a safe place for them to save their money.

We've grown to offer much more now.

Our lending capabilities have expanded to encompass many different mortgage loan options, all types of consumer loans, and commercial real estate lending programs designed especially for the communities we serve.

Our savings plans now include a wide variety of investment opportunities, such as high-paying CDs, IRAs, and interest-paying checking.

Of course, some things about First Federal haven't changed at all.

We are, and always have been, one of the safest places around to save your money, with federal insurance on your deposits up to $100,000.

And we're still among the strongest financial institutions in the area, with one of the state's highest capital adequacy ratios for savings and loans of our size.

Most important, our commitment to serving Central Texas will never change. With every year of progress, it has guided us and shaped our growth. With that commitment in mind, we look forward to serving your community for many years to come.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Cheers for Carmen Cortez, owner of Torres Foods in Kerrville, for her superb cooking of the Silver Sage Corral's Mexican Food Supper Saturday night.

As a venerable senior citizen herself and in addition to her customary chores of cooking for Torres Foods, she earned the heartfelt thanks of the Bandera crowd who came out for the Center's benefit. Not even the fierce racket of hailstones and rain on the metal roof could dampen their spirits.

Traveler

A note from Maye Stevens reports that she enjoyed a trip to New Orleans, no less, with her daughter and son-in-law, Bettye Jean and Karl Moore of San Antonio. They were attending the Music and Sound Expo, but also managed to take in the historic sites and the shopping centers...

Happy birthday

If you've a July birthday, take it easy on Tuesday, July 16 at noon and be the guest of the others, your friends, at the birthday dinner at the Silver Sage Corral. Of course you know that the ruby is your birthstone, symbol of true friendship, and the larkspur is your very own flower.

AARP

Bandera Hills chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will meet Wednesday, July 17, at noon at the Silver Sage Corral, for its annual "indoor picnic."

Each member should bring a salad or sandwich; the famous chocolate covered ants will be furnished. Games and social hour will follow the meal.

Al Robinson, AARP representative for the Helping Hand Center, reminds members to come out to the ballgame Saturday, July 13, between agency representatives and KENS TV All Stars. Zane Everett will represent Bandera Hills Chapter. The game begins at 10 a.m. There is no charge, but free will donations will benefit the Helping Hand Center, as will concession sales.

Rockhounds

Everyone interested in geology and rock formations will be in for a treat at the next meeting of the Rockhounds at the Silver Sage Corral at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, July 18. The Frank Harrells will be in charge of demonstrations and discussion.

What's happenin'

The handsome new bulletin board, 4 foot by 4 foot, is a gift from Gene and Winnie Fee. It offers space for listing many of the community's activities, as well as acknowledgment of businesses and persons responsible for building the Silver Sage Corral.

On Friday, July 12, the Melodiers make their public relations trip to Utopia, as guests of Utopia's senior council. The council not only wants to emulate Bandera County in erecting a senior center, but also wishes the visitors to entertain them with a musical program following the luncheon.

The Melodiers' mini-bus leaves the Corral at 10 a.m. Friday.

All that activity (until the rain) on the west side of the corral is the preparation of the area to be used for the off street parking lot. Sod has been moved up to the base of the building, where it may be used for landscaping, and paving material will be applied to the 30-foot driveway.

The city of Bandera is to be thanked for taking the lead in this project.

A movie is afoot to offer tutoring, by senior citizens, for Hispanics of any age in English as a Second Language. If you have expertise or basic materials for use in such an endeavor, please contact your reporter at 796-3490.

Nutrition note for the week is a reminder that as you grow older, you need fewer calories, but your need for vital nutrients remains much the same. This means there is less room in your diet for nutritionally deficient—or junk-foods.

This is the rationale for the nutrition program at the Silver Sage Corral. The kitchen at the Dietert Claim in Kerrville promises a nutritionally-balanced hot meal, offering one-third of your daily requirements each weekday.

For handicapped persons, home delivery is available.

The decorative plants in the Silver Sage Corral are under the capable care of Vernell Mullenax, who determines when they need watering and other care. She is also responsible for the interesting variety of plants available to the public for a donation.

Meet the newest member of the Advisory Board, elected last meeting to replace Esther Hine, who resigned for health reasons: She is June Westmeyer of Pipe Creek, volunteer hostess on Monday mornings at Silver Sage Corral, an autoangel (a Melodier who also plays autoharp), art teacher for San Antonio College Lifetime Learning Institute, art student of Joel Garcia at the Corral, and teacher with husband Paul of both square and round dancing.

There will be a benefit performance for the Silver Sage Corral of "Curse You Jack Dalton" by the Medina Lake Players on July 20, at 8 p.m. at St. Joseph's School Auditorium. Tickets will go on sale for $3 for adults and $1.50 for children over 5 years of age.

Library's seminar called successful

The first of a series of adult education seminars at the Bandera County Library on June 25 and July 2, participants have all agreed, was a great experience and they want to see the program continue, says librarian Jimmie Hughey.

Presentations were made by Justice of the Peace Tom Grant, Paul Hughey, Jimmie Hughey, Peggy Edwards, Ken Finley, Tom Denyer, Mel King, Jacque Denyer and Joe Ellison.

Many of those in attendance shared with the group their experiences and those of their families, Dr. Hughey said.

"We have been very fortunate in having Col. Ellison coordinate this first adult seminar in our community," said the librarian. "The Library staff would have been hard pressed to accomplish all the arrangements that Joe made for us."

Hopefully, there will be another seminar in August, Dr. Hughey said.

In Memoriam
HAROLD WHITE
Sometimes, if you are fortunate, as you pass through life, you meet a man you truly admire, a man who becomes your friend, a man upon whom you can depend. Such a man was Harold White.
Our organization lost an outstanding member with the passing of Harold. His expertise as a most knowledgeable parliamentarian will be greatly missed. He was always ready to step forward to support a cause that would help the SubVets. Those that worked with him on the many projects he was involved with found him to be a very sensitive gentleman. They were able to call him "friend."
Harold worked hard all his life and gathered friends wherever he went. He was proud of his family and never forgot his humble beginnings. He was dedicated and sincere and his presence and guidance will be sadly missed.
The great commander has issued the final orders for Harold and we can only bid him, "Sail in peace, old buddy." May your memory always be for a blessing.

Big Crowd views parade

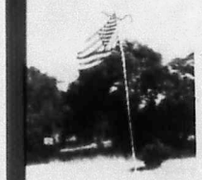

The American Legion Post 410's annual Independence day Parade attracted right at 25 entries again this year, and entries came from Bandera and Bexar County as well as Lakehills and Pipe Creek.

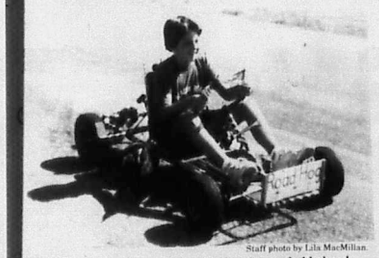

Although the parade didn't start until 11 a.m. Saturday, by 10 a.m. groups were gathered along Park Road 37 under shade trees with lawn chairs and coolers of cold drinks. Clowns were on hand at most gathering places keeping the kids entertained and pacified with candy and balloons.

The judges, Stanley Tschirhart, Charlie Turner, Preston Boggs, Sammy Brown, and Ray Mauer selected the winners.

Clinton and Charlotte Clark of Bexas County won the first place trophy for their early pioneer kitchen float. It was a working kitchen from which they were serving sausage and biscuits from the replica of an early wood stove.

Second place trophy was awarded to the Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons. Their float was a replica of an early camp meeting, with Clif Waterman leading the congregation, dressed in turn-of-the-century costumes, and singing hymns.

No parades complete without kids, noise, and old glory!

The Marion Heisler family won third for their M and H Drilling float. It was complete with water running into a tank.

The Lakehills United Methodist Church got the honorable mention ribbon for it's float. Youngsters of all ages rode on it, many in animal costumes.

The Beacon Road Bums entry, a fringed-topped surry with three little tykes riding inside and pulled by a motor bike, won the junior award donated by the Medina Lake Shrine Club.

Although the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce float didn't receive an award, Donna Mansfield said they are gradually getting the float back into good shape and ready for traveling to different towns.

A barbecue chicken dinner and festival was held at the legion home following the parade. As always it was a sellout. Family fun prevailed all afternoon.

Even the thunderstorms with strong winds didn't deter the fun lovers from attending the Annual Independent Day Dance at the Lakehills Civic Center sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association. The showers just cooled things down and made a most enjoyable evening for dancing to the music supplied by the Hotspurs.

Crash kills one near Medina Lake

One man was killed and two injured Wednesday, July 3 near Medina Lake, in Medina County.

The dead man was identified as Jose Guadalupe Botello Fuentes. Authorities in Medina County said his exact age and address are not known, but they said he was a Mexican national in his 50s.

The accident involved a pickup and a gravel truck, a spokesman said. Three persons were taken to Wilford Hall Medical Center, where Fuentes died. Another Mexican national, Jose Reyes, was hospitalized in serious condition. No information was available on the third man.

Authorities said Fuentes was thrown from the bed of a pickup five miles south of Texas 471 and Farm Road 1283.

Registration open for church school

The Lakehills United Methodist Church is again sponsoring a Vacation Church School for youngsters in the area. It is open to children from two years old through the eighth grade. Spokeswoman June Settlemeyer says classes will be from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. July 22 to July 26.

Last year there were 22 preschoolers enrolled as well as 17 kindergartners and older youngsters.

More information can be obtained by contacting June Settlemeyer at 751-2297 or Pam Elliot at 751-2812 after 6 p.m.

Rohlff of Medina to speak at LUMC

Dr. Claus Rohlff of Medina, a former professor at Southern Methodist University, will be guest speaker at the Lakehills United Methodist Church July 14.

He will speak in the absence of the Rev. Joyce Slade. Slade will leave this week to attend continuing education classes in Pennsylvania.

Troy Pierce and Jill MacMillan

MacMillan, Pierce reveal engagement

Jim and Lila MacMillan of Lakehills announce the engagement of their daughter, Jill Renee' MacMillan to Troy DeWayne Pierce, son of Charles and Judy Georg of Bandera.

The couple plan an Aug. 31 wedding at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Bandera.

MacMillan graduated from Bandera High School in May and is employed at the Bandera Bulletin. She plans to attend CBM Education Center in San Antonio in the fall. Pierce, a 1984 graduate of Bandera High School, is employed at the Bandera Ranch Store.

Richard and Elaine Mixon to head American Legion

Richard Mixon will be installed as new commander of the American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills on July 25. Elaine Mixon will be the new president of the American Legion Auxiliary. After two years of serving as commander and president, Tony and Sue Kruse say they will be happy to just be members.

Other newly elected officers are first vice commander Bill Angell, second vice commander John Cavazos, adjutant Ray Mauer, finance officer Darryl Stockinger, chaplain Bill Colley, sergeant-at-arms Stanley Tschirhart, assistant sergeant-at-arms Jim Terry, and judge advocate Sammy Brown. Mauer will also serve as historian.

The auxiliary selected Clare Willis as vice president, Ruth Tschirhart as secretary, Barbara George treasurer, Eleanor Laue chaplain, and Jerry Mauer as historian.

The installation ceremonies for the new office holders will take the place of the regular monthly meeting on July 25, Kruse said.

Pipe Creek

Lila MacMillan — 751-2586

Wilson to play in PC

Steve Wilson will present a concert of Christian music Wednesday, July 17, at Mt. Zion Christian Camp off Highway 46 in Pipe Creek, at 7 p.m. Wilson's vocal talent and his concert piano artistry have attracted much recognition throughout the nation. He bridges the gap between sacred hymns and well-known contemporary selections both vocally and instrumentally.

Wilson has appeared regularly on the TV show, "The Story," a nationally non-syndicated religious program, as well as on cable networks. His newly-released album, "How Majestic is Your Name," is now on sale.

Immunization clinic set for July 17

The Texas Department of Health will have a Children's Immunization Clinic July 17 from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills.

There is no charge for immunizations. Parents should bring their child's immunization records with them.

CLVFD Chili Cookoff a success

"Tipo Tropical Chili" prepared by Manny Santos came in first place in the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Departments chili cookoff on Sunday. Ted Austin's "Shady Acres Delight" took second place, and Bill Baker's "Kelley's Shamrock" came in third.

The worst chili trophy was won by Robert Poniagua for his "First Time Chili." Of all the winners, he was the most triumphant.

Chili judges were B. Ryan, Gordun Nordland, Bill Rathke, Charlie McTee, and J. Bird Robbins.

Although the temperature pushed 90 degrees, the crowd found the surroundings pleasant under the oak trees along the shoreline of Castle Lake.

There was plenty of barbecue chicken, sausage rolled in tortillas, chili samples, and other good things to eat while browsing through the arts and crafts displays, jewelry booth, flea markets, satellite display, and game booths.

The crowd roared when the team of Kelley and Kelley took first place in the egg toss with a throw of almost 200 feet. Second place went to Kristy and Georgette and third place Julie.

Bill Rathke took first place in the cowchip toss, with second place going to Carl Bland, and Ronnie Schultz took third.

Benita Gongora took the first place ribbon for her cake in the cake decorating contest. Second place went to Paulie Torres, and last year's first place winner, Sharon Glock took third.

"We don't have a final total on funds raised," spokeswoman Pat Mills told the Bulletin, "but, we raised enough to pay off the mortgage on the building."

The auction was very successful she said. Louise Spurgeon, mother of Shawn Tadlock who was recently killed in a highway mishap, was a high bidder on a handmade doll, which she donated back to be auctioned again. She requested the funds raised on the doll be a memorial gift in her daughter's name.

Mills credited the generosity of the many business people who donated and supported the event with the success of the cookoff.

A dance held at the firehouse following the cookoff was well attended. Bill Baker and The Outlaws and Manny Santos and his juke box provided the music for everyones dancing pleasure.

Valencia on Okinawa

Marine Pvt. Phillip W. Valencia, son of Jean Maris of Pipe Creek, recently reported for duty with the 3rd Marine Division on Okinawa.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Big pleasures and great happiness are but the consummation of many little pleasures and deeds of kindness bound together, as a loaf of bread is many crumbs in the aggregate. Happiness is to be found among life's common things. It is not the rare gifts, the possession of the few, it is not great wealth, great learning, great genius, or great power; is it not these things that make the possessors happy. It is health; it is friendship; it is love of home; it is the voices of children; it is sunshine; it is a passing smile; it is a kindly word; a little gift bestowed anonymously; a little thoughtfulness here and there as the days slip by ... It is the blessings that are commonest, not those that are rarest; it is the gifts that God has scattered everywhere. These are the crumbs of happiness.

Do not scorn them, lest when the evening finds you, you may be hungered and disconsolate.

We are sorry to report that Katherine Tripp passed away Tuesday afternoon. We will miss her. Our sympathy to all her loved ones.

High blood pressure volunteers needed

Volunteers with high blood pressure are needed for two studies at the University of Texas Health Science Center.

Males and females between the ages of 18 and 70 will receive a complete physical examination and will be paid for their services in testing two new blood pressure medications.

"For one of the studies, we are looking for people taking the drug hydralazine for their blood pressure," says nurse Pat Flanagan, research instuctor in pharmacology at the university. Those volunteers will be asked to spend 24 hours in the hopital on four separate occasions while taking a new timed release form of hydralazine.

During the hospital stays, blood samples will be taken to measure the effects of food on the drug's action. Female volunteers should not be pregnant or breast feeding.

Subjects who complete the study will be paid $100 for each hospital visit.

The second study will involve being taken off all blood pressure medication for four weeks and then put on a new medication for about 16 weeks.

To volunteer or learn more about the studies, call Ms. Flanagan 691-7303 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Dinner

Saturday, July 20, is a special night for the Williams Creek Extension Club families. That's when the ladies host their annual family covered-dish dinner at 7 p.m. The place is the Tarpley Community Center Building.

Everyone is welcome to attend.

Visits

William (Bill) Cummings of Rio Hondo subdivision recently rode the bus to Flour Bluff to spend eight days visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Sherwood.

Bill's grandfather brought him home, since he was going to Audie Murphey Veterans Hospital in San Antonio. Bill, 10, reports a good time.

Couple married

It was a celebration of joy at the Mountain Laurel Chapel in the Rio Hondo subdivision, June 22, when Beverly Kay Symons and Tim Burgett declared their love in an informal betrothal service.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Symons of San Antonio, a graduate of SMU and an interpreter for the hearing impaired. He the son of Mr. and Mrs. David Burgett of Espanola, N.M. a graduate of SMU and is a law student.

After the ceremony, an informal dinner was served to the guests at the home of Beverly's grandparents, Kay and Vi Strand, residents of the Rio Hondo subdivision.

The Bandera Bulletin

B Section

VOLUME 40, NUMBER 53 THURSDAY, July 11, 1985

Bandera Bulletin enters 41st year of publication

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

It was July 13, 1945, 40 years ago, when the first Bandera Bulletin came off the press. J. Marvin Hunter printed it on a small printing plant in the Frontier Times Museum, where he also printed a monthly magazine, Frontier Times.

Despite coming into being on Friday the 13th and with our nation in the middle of World War II, the little four-page, seven-column newspaper prospered and grew. Today, with a circulation of nearly 4,000, it now boasts of up to 28 pages, two sections, and even prints in color too.

Hunter's daughter Jeannette Saul was part of the Bulletin from the beginning and when her father retired, she took it over. A third and fourth generation of the family entered the newspaper business through the Bulletin doors. Saul's son, Ray Marvin Hay, started his newspaper career as a very young man in Bandera, and later his wife Ruth, and son Tom joined the Bulletin staff.

The first issue of the Bandera Bulletin shows the subscriber rate was $2 per year. It's motto was "Tis neither Birth, nor Wealth, nor State, but Get-up and Get that Makes Men Great."

The headline, "Good Scores in Rodeo Events" was followed by a detailed story about the rodeo crowd at Mansfield Arena and the fine performances of such familiar names as Felix Billings, Ruddy Schmidt, Bob Mansfield, Ray Wharton, Max Topperwein, Raymond Hicks, Slats McKay, John Eckhart, Fabian Anderwald, Bennie Adamietz, Scooter Fries, Dayton Whitehead and Gene Calloway.

Other local news in that first issue of the Bandera Bulletin included a report from tax collector W.H. Burns that tax collections had been "mighty good" for 1944. Fully 97.7 percent of the taxes were paid by June 30, he said.

The 40-year-old newspaper announced issuance of sugar coupons for home canning would terminate Aug. 31, 1945. Shortages in Texas and Oklahoma were alleviated by two shiploads of offshore sugar, the Bulletin said.

In another story, Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson said food shortages in the U.S. "could easily last from one to two years after the end of the Japanese war.

Another front page headline said "Military Experts Predict Final Victory Over Japan Will Require Heavy Price."

As the Bulletin steadily grew, a new building was erected in 1947 on upper Main Street, new equipment added, and facilities improved.

The Bandera Print Shop is now in the first Bulletin building.

J. Marvin Hunter remained active in the newspaper until his death in 1957. Then his daughter and grandson took the helm and continued to produce the Bandera paper.

By the 1950s the Bulletin had grown into an eight-page, eight-column paper. Pictures and community columns became regular features by the 1960s.

Ground was broken in the spring of 1974 for the present home of the Bandera Bulletin, and the employees were so anxious to move into the larger, more modern facility, they spent Labor Day weekend of 1974 moving the equipment into the new building. The Bulletin expanded its line of office supplies once it settled in its new facilities. pany, still owned by J. Marvin Hunter's descendants, sold the Bandera Bulletin to Hills o' Texas Publications, Inc., in November 1981. For the first time the Bulletin was without a Hunter descendant on the staff. At the time of the sale there were seven people on the staff. Today, there are nine, on the full-time staff, plus two free lance writers who do features from time to time, and several area correspondents who do weekly columns.

Johnson introduced the six-column format to Bulletin readers in June of 1983 and shortly afterwards in the fall of 1983 readers started seeing color on the front page as a regular feature.

The present editor and general manager, Nick Johnson, came to the Bulletin in March 1982.

The Bulletin is printed at the Kerrville Times plant on Thursday mornings.

"Not in the too-distant future," Johnson says, "the Bulletin may be using color photos to enhance news articles."

The Bulletin won third-place last year in feature photography in the Texas Press Associations annual competition. This year it won first place in the feature story category in the spring and third place in the state among large weekly newspapers in newswriting last month.

Mayme Hunter and Carlie Sue Hunter inspect the new Bulletin building in 1947.

Guns taken in burglary

Twelve rifles and shotguns and two handguns with a total value of $2870 were reported stolen from Danny Canellis' place on Highway 16 east of Bandera on July 4.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo of the Bandera County Sheriff's department said Canellis was able to supply serial numbers on most of the firearms, and they have been entered in the national computer system.

In another burglary, also reported on July 4, H. Richard Leychtag of Enchanted River Ranch, reported an am/fm radio, speakers, and two sleeping bags missing. Value of $475 was placed on the items.

In other activity this week, Mingo reported Gay Duane McElfresh, 50, of Lakehills was arrested by Sheriff Guy Pickett July 4 on a simple assault charge. He was arraigned by Peace Justice Ed Jennings and fined $230.50

Charlene McElfresh later filed charges of terroristic threats against her husband and Judge Bonnie Towers set bond at $1,000. He was released July 9 after posting bond and paying the fine.

Bruce Parkhurst Stirling, 35, of Bandera was arrested July 5 by DPS officer Nolan Metz and charged with fleeing a police vehicle and no driver's license.

After wrecking his motorcycle, he was taken into custody by Metz and Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier. Judge Towers assessed fines at $292, and he was released after paying the fines the same day.

Terry Ray Poggemiller, 20 of Bandera was arrested by officer Metz on July 5 for theft over $20 on a JP warrant. Peace Justice Tom Grant set bond at $1,500 and Poggemiller was released the same day after posting bond.

Randy Dean Bass, 24, of Lakehills was arrested July 7 by Deputy DeLesdernier on charges of criminal trespassing. Bond was set at $1,000 by Judge Towers, and he was released the same day after posting bond.

Judge Towers set a bond at $800 on a DWI charge against David Lamar Hetzer, 29, of San Antonio after he was arrested July 6 by DPS officer Metz. The bond was posted the following day and he was released.

Glen David Neely, 17 of San Antonio was arrested July 7 by Metz on charges of minor in possession of alcohol and possession of drug paraphernalia. Judge Towers assessed fines of $309, which he paid. he was released the same day.

Michael Wayne Moran, 20, of Mexia was arrested by DPS officer Metz on July 4 on outstanding traffic warrants from Limestone County. He was released July 5 after paying fines of $198.

James Riley Cassel, 37, of Bandera was arrested by Deputy DeLesdernier July 4 on a warrant from Jackson County Sheriff's Department in Edna. Judge Towers set bond at $1,000. Unable to make bond, he was turned over to Edna authorities the following day.

Sabinal Canyon

Scattered showers throughout the week totaled ½ inch in our gauge. Many of the farmers who had hay on the ground, some baled and still in the field received 1½ inches.

Baptist Church visitors

Bill and Norma Blalock of Poteet were church visitors Sunday. They also are visiting relatives in Utopia.

Michael Raymond and a group of students from College Station attended a musical entertainment in Kerrville Saturday night and Sunday morning and evening. They brought special music and song service at the Baptist Church in Utopia.

Weekend visitors

Jimmy Traylor of Austin was a weekend visitor of his mother, Nita Hawkins.

Visitors of Rallie and Mary Lou Snow were Roy and Sharon and two children of Uvalde and Doyle and Billie Cornelius of Harper.

Lonnie and Emma Bomer have been entertaining two grandchildren, Ray and Cherryl Berry's two children from Corpus Christi. The parents came after their children Saturday night.

Jake Leighton of Corpus Christi visited his grandparents, Kenneth and Betty over the weekend and spent Saturday and Sunday with his parents.

Selma Morrison of Las Vegas, has been visiting her sisters and other relatives in the Canyon. Grace Fisher, a sister, has been in Peterson Hospital a week and Friday she was moved to Colonial Nursing Home in Kerrville.

Other patients from Utopia in Colonial Nursing Home are Ruthie Jackson, Cora McClain and Inez Thornberry.

In Audie Murphy Hospital

Jack Preston underwent back surgery in Audie Murphy Hospital, San Antonio this week.

Joe and Mable Haynes of Kerrville were afternoon visitors of Hub and Lillie Thompson.

Other visitors were John and Mary West, her mother, sister Louise and two children and the West's granddaughter all from Galveston.

Dick and Gloria Swantner, their children and families, and a host of friends enjoyed an outing at their Aribella Ranch Home on the Sabinal River above Vanderpool.

Lon and Elizabeth Thompson and grandson Danny were Poteet visitors of Gary and Pat Thompson.

We are happy to know Jessie Ivy is recuperating nicely at home.

Margaret Thompson is also back at home doing fair.

Betty Jo Yeager of Forney is vacationing several weeks at her home in Utopia.

Injured rodeo clown reported to be improving

Gary (Roach) Hedeman, the rodeo clown injured during a performance of the annual Utopia rodeo last month, remains in the Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville, but he has regained his sight, his mother said.

The El Paso man was injured in an explosion.

Emma Bomer of Utopia spoke to his mother in Kerrville this week. Mrs. Bomer said the injured man's mother expressed the family's thanks for the prayers and cards from Utopia area people, especially from the young children in Utopia, Mrs. Bomer said.

Walker attends reunion in Utopia

Among the 116 descendents of John and Kate Walker gathering in Utopia Sunday was J. Del Walker of Lakehills. This was the first reunion for the Walker family.

Walker said family members attending the get-together at the home of Dorothy and Jack Rotan came from as far as New Jersey, New Mexico and many cities in Texas.

Walker is a grandson of John and Kate Walker.

Mrs. Francis Walker of San Antonio was the eldest in attendance at 91 years of age.

Shayne Felten of Bandera qualified to compete in the State 4-H Horse Show July 22-26 in Abilene by winning third place in barrel racing in the district show last week in Del Rio.

Dawn Macon, also of Bandera, will also compete in Abilene in the hunter classification, a new division for which participants need not qualify.

Felten finished the barrel racing competition in Del Rio behind first-place winner Ashley Looney of Val Verde County and Julie Ann Corrigan of Zavala County. Neither Looney nor Corrigan will be able to attend the state meet, the extension service in Uvalde said.

Felten led a contingent of seven horsemen from Bandera County who competed in Del Rio. Bradley Floyd won second place in the showmanship competition with a grade mare, Marc Skeen placed fifth with a registered gelding under five years old, and Kevin Butts placed fifth in the grade gelding division.

Macon placed fifth in the classification for hunters under saddle.

Goodenough clan gathers

Six of the nine children of the late Horace and Anna Goodenough and their families gathered July 4 for a reunion at the home of John and Judy Goodenough in Bandera.

Thirty-four were present. Out-of-town visitors were Ruth Goodenough of El Paso; Joe and Robbie Goodenough of Angleton; Billy and Barbara Goodenough and Bobby Jean of Redland; Linda Goodenough; Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Baumann (Doris Goodenough) and Diane, Karen and Cheryl; Mr. and Mrs. Horace Goodenough; Mr. and Mrs. Ross Davidson; Mildred Goodenough and Andrew, Amy, and Dan Goodenough and Trish Cooper, all of San Antonio.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Goodenough and Carole and David and Chuck Haywood of Medina were also present, as were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Goodenough, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Beaton and Jennifer, and Mr. and Mrs. John Goodenough and Jimmy, all of Bandera.

Medina

Steven Williams of Ozona was here over the past weekend to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams and other family members.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Hatfield Sr. of San Antonio and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Hatfield and family of Austin were here over the weekend visiting relatives and taking in the Walker Reunion.

Bob Bandy and son Jerry, who live near Ft. Worth, were down for the Walker Reunion.

Jettie Walker and friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker and daughter, all of Palestine were here to take in the Walker Reunion.

Charlie Walker of Farmers Branch was here for the Walker Reunion and to visit his sister, Elayne and Buddy Mills, and Richard and Kay Mayfield and sons.

Others who visited in the Mayfield home were brother Linden and friend Greg Garner of Del Rio and Brandon Mayfield.

The Rev. and Mrs. Jim West and sons, Darren and Darrel of El Paso were here visiting Mrs. West's mother, Mrs. E.E. Gilbert. Granddaughter DeLana is from Arlington.

Liberty Walker of Ft. Worth was here visiting with Tootie, R. L. and Billie Walker and Royce and Juanita Baker and taking in the Walker Reunion.

Lola Chipman of Kerrville was here over the weekend visiting with her mother, Mrs. Roy Bonnet.

Sadie Hatfield, aunt of former Bandera County Judge W.O. Hatfield of Medina; and another nephew, Dr. Thomas M. Hatfield, have established the Sadie Hatfield Endowed Fellowship in Agriculture at Texas A&M University.

The university will match the Hatfield gift to create the fellowship.

Sarah Jemimah (Sadie) Hatfield, raised in Medina where her father had the Hatfield General Store, was a home demonstration agent and district director with the Agricultural Extension Service for many years, and in 1956 was "Woman of the Year in American Agriculture" for her innovative efforts in designing and planting windbreaks in northwest Texas which helped alleviate the effects of the drought of the 1950s.

She is a member of the Texas Academy of Sciences and an officer of the Texas Folklore Society. In the 1950s she was a delegate from Brazos County at several conventions of the Democratic Party.

Hatfield lives today in Austin with her nephew, Dr. Thomas M. Hatfield, dean of continuing education at The University of Texas.

In Duluth

Andy and Ruth Whitley recently returned from a trip to Duluth, Minn., where they attended the high school graduation of Andy's grandson, Garet Andrew Vannes.

Buddy and Nora Hubble returned this past weekend from a trip that took them up through Demming, N.M., Las Cruses and to Reserve, N.M. where they met Cab and Vickie Cabinen.

They did a lot of sightseeing all around the country up there and in Arizona.

On the way back they came by Riudoso, Cloud Croft and Carlsbad.

On the way up they stopped by to visit Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Brown at Fabens, Texas.

Sick list

Scott Williams, son of Arlen and Linda Williams, had a painful accident over the past weekend. He fell and broke his arm in two places and had to be taken to the operating room to correct it and he spent the night in the hospital.

Florine Williams is in the Sid Peterson Hospital, where she has undergone surgery.

Church news

This Sunday, July 14, at 11 a.m. the Rev. Claus Rohlfs will conduct the church services in the absence of the Rev. Joyce Slade.

Medina students named to dean's list

Rick L. Skeen and Cody G. Crider of Medina have been named to the Sul Ross State University Dean's List for the 1985 spring term.

Skeen had a grade point average of 3.50, and Crider had a gpa of 4.0

The university had 217 students named to the honor roll. Undergraduate students who are enrolled for 12 or more semester hours and maintain a grade point average of 3.3 or better are eligible for the dean's list. Graduate hours are not included in dean's list computations.

Austin swallowing communities

The Burnet County opposition to Austin's expanding 'extra-territorial jurisdiction appears to be gaining momentum.

Billy Dragoo of The Highlander in Marble Falls reports that Ron Wall was recently hired as the county-wide coordinator to block Austin's ETJ encroachment into the county.

Wall and others working with him are attempting to get landowners in the county to request ETJ protection in order to block the City of Austin's extension of their controls over Burnet County land.

Wall said, "Most people in Burnet County do not really know what has happened and what effect it has on them." He said residents of Spicewood "awoke one morning and found they were in Austin's ETJ."

He said this meant Austin could impose controls on the land and its use.

"The next step is limited purpose annexation and involves zoning restrictions on the land. They (Austin) can tell you where to build your barn, where your garden must go and where you can run goats," Wall said.

"You have to decide if you want to be in Burnet's, Bertram's, Marble Falls' or Granite Schoals' ETJ or do nothing and wait until you are in Austin's Control," Wall said.

Harriet Worrel of the Committee to Protect Bastrop County said residents in her county read about Austin's extension into that county in the newspaper.

"There was no warning, no negotiation," she said. "They were absolutely and totally arrogant. I warn you, fair play is not a part of their tactics. But, I assure you, Bastrop County will never roll over and play dead.

Austin annexed over 40 miles of the Colorado River last year in less than 60 days. They are moving along roads and streams into Burnet, Blanco, Williamson and Hayes Counties and also have targeted Bastrop and Caldwell Counties for encroachment.

Austin is presently annexing 500-foot wide strips following roads and riverbeds in all directions from the city. The result is that the city's ETJ swings out five miles in all directions from the annexed strip.

Area news.

Second school burns

The state fire marshal has been called to Barksdale to investigate the second school fire in less than a month, the Uvalde Leader-News reported.

Fire destroyed administrative offices, auditorium, library, a lecture room and lab, and the nurses station Friday at Nueces Canyon elementary school.

A fire June 11 leveled the Nueces Canyon High School gym and classroom building. Damage in that fire was estimated at $500,000. No damage estimate has been provided in the latest blaze.

Nueces Canyon fire chief Pat Milliron would not comment of the cause of Friday's fire except to say he has asked the state fire marshal's office to investigate.

LCRA lawsuit

A Lower Colorado River Authority motion to dismiss a Johnson City request for a declaratory judgement was denied by District Judge Clayton Evans. The purpose of the declaratory judgement is to secure legal support for Johnson City's plan to construct a lignite-fueled power plant in Milam County. The Johnson City Record-Courier notes that Judge Evans, citing a heavy caseload, turned the decision on the declaratory judgement over to a retired Austin Judge, Herman Jones.

It was almost one year ago that Johnson City first filed for the declaratory judgement. LCRA's legal manuevers have held up the project which, once the judgement is secured, could have bonds ready for sale in six weeks according to Pat Rehmet, attorney for Johnson City.

Johnson City ammended its suit last week, and now claims that LCRA has acted illegally as a monopoly by trying to stop Johnson City from competing in the electrical power market.

Johnson City says that only through competition can its citizens be protected from soaring electrical rates.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

I'm glad to report that the Fourth of July holiday period was apparently accident-free in our area. There was one little grass fire apparently caused by fireworks when a rocket fired across the river and landed behind our own pump house, igniting the grass. We extinguished it with our garden hose, and we were real happy we were home to catch it in time.

We are happy to welcome to our area, Gilbert and Mary Rojas and Mary's two daughters, Gina and Renee Robles. They have moved into the Lake Medina Shores area.

Congratulations to Doug Flanders, the son of the Rev. Paul and Doris Flanders. Doug has received a full four-year scholarship to the Baptist College in Dallas.

Joe Baker and a friend from San Antonio drove over to Houston to visit with Joe's daughter. After a nice two day visit they returned to Wharton's Dock.

Debby and Bill Cody from Austin spent part of the holiday period with Debby's parents, Jay and Marieta Overholser. Debby and Bill returned to Austin on Sunday afternoon with Jay and Marieta following them to Austin so they could spend more time together and to visit their son who lives their too.

John and Mary Wells drove over to Houston to visit with John's brother and to make sure he got some of the fine Hill Country peaches.

We are all sorry to hear that Freda Jo Sercy died on July 6 at the Sid Peterson Hospital. Services were held Monday, July 8 in Kerrville. Her body was then shipped to Dallas for burial in Greenville Cemetery. Freda Jo was 53 years of age.

Betty Highnote, sister-in-law to Butch and Irene Highnote, suffered a heart attack in Dallas. At last report, she is doing nicely and is home getting her strength back.

Ida Klaus is back in the hospital. She has been admitted to St. Luke's Lutheran Hospital to undergo more tests to determine what is causing her so much discomfort.

Ken Parks is chomping at the bit to get released from the hospital. Ken was operated on last Tuesday, July 2, at the Audi Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio. He is coming along fine, but the doctors think he should stay for a few more days.

Col. Overfield has been released from the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville and is recovering in San Antonio.

Dell Lackey has as house guests for the holidays her niece and nephew, June and Johnny Rattan from Fort Worth and Hazel Smith from San Antonio.

The welcome mat at the Walker Ranch may have to be replaced after the wear it took during the Fourth of July week. Bill and Lenna entertained Claude and Mary Janus and their son Aaron and daughter Ciatlin from Williamstown, Vt.; Lewis and Jill Dickson and daughter Sadie from Salt Lake City, Utah; Bill Walker Jr. and wife Ricky and daughter Lenna Roxanne from Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Rhea Mansfield and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newkirk from Bandera; the Rev. Paul Flanders and wife Doris and daughter Pricilla from San Antonio; and the Rev. and Mrs. Jerry Jones from Devine. While here, Bill Sr. and Jr. found time to do some volunteer landscape work at the chapel.

Don't forget bingo is played every Wednesday night at the Lakeshore VFD's firehouse. This is a good way to catch up on all the happenings in the area, true or false, and it is a good way of helping the fire department financially.

Friday night, July 12, at 7 p.m. there will be a slide presentation by the Birch's on their life and work in Sierra Leone, West Africa. Both Marion and Marjorie Birch were born over there and spent most of their life in Sierra Leone. After the slide presentation, there will be ice cold Texas watermelon.

Sunday, July 14, at 6 p.m. Dudley Blakeney, the son of Mary and T. Blakeney, will present a concert of Christian music. Dudley is minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Spring Branch, near Houston. Every one is welcome.

Charles and Maradelle just returned from Clifton where they took part in celebrating Maradelle's mother's 83rd birthday.

The Lakeshore VFD will have a rummage sale on July 20 from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the VFD building on Wharton's Dock Road. They got rained out on the big fund-raising day in April, so they will have items from that sale plus many more.

Please call Betty Ciarlo at 796-3225 if you have any items you would like to donate and have picked up.

The Lakeshore VFD is having pretty good luck with their fire training on the first and third Mondays of each month, but it still needs some of the younger adults to take part.

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services also on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

The Chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible study or anyone else who needs transportation.

Brown-Blakeney Wedding

Cathy Brown became the bride of Mark Blakeney in a double ring ceremony Saturday at First Baptist Church in Rogers.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim D. Brown of Rogers. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T.B. Blakeney of Bandera.

The Rev. Steve Cochran officiated. Music was by Nancy Bales, Jack Everton and Dudley Blakeney.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of taffeta with a beaded venice lace capteet, fitted princess seam bodice with a basque waistline. The train was Semi-cathedral length.

Maid of honor was Pattie Marcoe of Denton. Bridesmaids were Melonee Ray of Caldwell, Tammy Willis of Little River, sisters of the bride, and Michelle Cox of Denton.

Best man was Dudley Blakeney, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Mike White of Dallas, Steve Flesher of Ft. Worth and Tim Reinbolt of Dallas.

Flower girl was Makayne Willis of Little River, and Stephen Thursby of Tallahassee, was ringbearer.

Ushers were Clint Beck and Jimmy Cox.

A reception followed at the church fellowship hall.

After a wedding trip to the Dominican Republic, the couple will live in Denton.

The bride, a graduate of Texas Woman's University and is a school teacher with the Lewisville ISD. The groom a graduate of Temple Junior College and attended North Texas State University. He is self-employed.

Cathy Blakeney

McMullan cited by honor group

Shannon McMullan of Bandera has been selected as a member of the Society of Distinguished American High School Students.

Her selection was announced by the Rev. Richard E. Jackson of the Bandera United Methodist Church, who nominated her for the society.

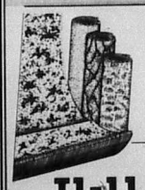

She was cited for "assiduous devotion to the development and encouragement of student leaders," Jackson said.

As a member of the honor society, McMullan will be able to compete for college scholarships through the group's national awards program, now in its 17th year. Her name and her accomplishments will be listed in the society's 1985 membership registry, Jackson said.

Bandera students' scores down, Medina's lost in Iowa, officials say

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

The scores of Bandera ninth grade students in 1985 were slightly lower than the average scores of ninth graders a year earlier, results of the annual Texas Assessment of Basic Skills tests show.

The performance of Medina students, however, is not known because school officials say their test scores have been lost.

A total of 91 percent of Bandera ninth graders mastered the test overall. Last year 94 percent mastered the test.

The average scores of Bandera ninth graders ranked the school fourth among 21 area districts polled by the Bulletin. Last year Bandera ranked second among the same 21 districts.

Fully 93 percent of Bandera ninth graders mastered the math portion of the test, which is standardized among all school districts in the state. A total of 91 percent mastered the reading portion of the test, and 88 percent mastered the writing skills portion.

Last year, 93 percent of Bandera ninth graders mastered the math portion, 95 percent mastered the reading portion, and 94 percent mastered the writing portion.

In the first year the TABS tests were administered, 73 percent of Bandera ninth graders mastered the math portion, 72 mastered the reading portion, and only 62 percent mastered the writing skills test.

The writing portion of the test was changed this year, school officials said, and those changes were blamed for decreases of as much as 26 percent in test scores in some districts.

Of the districts included in the Bulletin's poll, only five showed higher scores than last year. Boerne showed the biggest increase by raising its overall average by 7 percent.

Fourteen of the 21 districts this year achieved averages that were lower than last year, with decreases ranging from 1 to 13 percent.

Lackland and Edgewood school districts reported no overall change in their test scores.

Medina student counselor Ken Cling said that the school ran into some bad luck. "Our test scores for the fifth and ninth graders were lost in Iowa (where the tests are graded)," he said.

In other school board action last week, Bandera trustees designated the First State Bank as its official depository for the coming year. Sully Woodland and Ken Young were present at Tuesday's school board meeting.

"It's been a long time since we've been your depository," Woodland told the trustees. "We're looking forward to serving you again." The school has been using the First National Bank.

School tax assessor-collector Charles Purdy told the trustees tax statements will probably be late being mailed.

He said the county appraisal office still has 25 subdivisions to evaluate, and he said it may be as late as Nov. 1 before statements are mailed.

Assistant superintendent Gus Pfeiffer presented each trustee with a copy of the revised student

Electric bills to decline 5-15 percent, Co-op says

Electric bills of customers of Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc., will be reduced from 5 to 15 percent as a result of the Public Utility Commission's order reducing the Co-op's wholesale cost of power.

"It is difficult to predict the (amount of the) reduction in an individual's present electric bill," said Russ Vander Zee, the co-op's general manager.

He said the PUC not only denied the Lower Colorado River Authority's request for a hefty rate increase, but it ordered a change in the method the LCRA charges its wholesale customers, like the Bandera Co-op.

"The new wholesale rate design has increased the cost of the (Bandera) Cooperative for power during the peak summer and winter usage hours," Vander Zee said.

Accordingly, Vander Zee said the bills of all the members of the Bandera Co-op could be further reduced if customers refrained from unnecessary use of elctricity during the hours of peak demand.

"In the past it cost Bandera Electric approximately $3.97 per kilowatt-demand to buy power from LCRA during the hours of peak demand," Vander Zee said. "It now could cost over $10 per kilowatt-demand during the peak hours."

One kilowatt-demand is equal to 1,000 watts of power turned on for one hour, Vander Zee explained. "This is the equivalent of ten 100-watt light bulbs turned on for one hour," he said.

The cost of the Bandera Cooperative to purchase power from LCRA in the off-peak hours during the summer and winter is only 2.61 cents per kilowatt-hour, Vander Zee said.

"Any cost savings to the Bandera Electric Cooperative made by members consuming electricity during the LCRA off-peak hours will be passed on directly to members on ensuing power bills," Vander Zee said.

The LCRA peak hours in the summer months of July, August and September normally occur between 3 p.m. and 7 p.m. on weekdays, Vander Zee explained. The winter peak hours are weekdays between 7 a.m. and 10 a.m. and between 6 p.m. and 8 p.m. in the months of December, January and February.

"The peak hour in the summer usually occurs when the weather is the hottest, because eveyone's air conditioners turn on closer to the same time," Vander Zee explained.

In the winter, he said, it is the cold weather and electric heating that causes the LCRA peak hours.

"Any electricity consumption deferred to a time other than the LCRA summer or winter peak hours could save the Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc., and hence its members, over $10, per kilowatt-demand," Vander Zee said.

That means that if each of the Co-op's 10,600 members defreed an equivalent of 10 100-watt light bulbs during these peak times, "a savings of over $100,000 could be realized," he said.

The new LCRA rates show an average systemwide decrease of 11.65 percent, LCRA says.

The new rates took effect Tuesday, June 24, and Vander Zee said residential and business customers of the Bandera County Co-op could see their effect on electric bills in August.

Roughly 85 percent of LCRA electricity is sold wholesale to the Bandera and other co-ops and to cities. The remaining 15 percent goes to residents which LCRA serves on a retail basis in San Marcos, San Saba, Kerrville and Ingram.

The LCRA had sought a $35.1 million increase in rates, but the Public Utility Commission not only refused that increase but cut revenues LCRA receives in other areas to cause the decrease in rates.

The PUC's final order raised LCRA's base revenues by $9.7 million but decreased fuel revenues by $42.6 million for an overall $32.9 million decrease.

The LCRA appealed the PUC decision, but was overruled.

Still a subject of appeal, however, is the PUC's order barring the LCRA from collecting nearly $1 million in environmental expenses through electric bills.

The LCRA says most of its wholesale customers, apparently including the Bandera Co-op, supports its contention that environmental expenses be paid for by the LCRA's customers.

Pipe Creek tot drowns in Red Bluff Creek

Aysha Faith Hughes, 22 months, drowned Tuesday afternoon in Red Bluff Creek after wandering away from play in the back yard with her brother.

Sheriff Guy Pickett, one of the first on the scene after the call for help and the Pipe Creek EMS unit was aired sometime around 3:30 p.m., said, the girl's father, Maple Hughes, pulled the lifeless tot from the creek and worked frantically for about 30 minutes to revive her.

Pickett said the EMTs worked on her until they reached the Southwest Methodist Hospital, where emergency room personnel took over the resuitation efforts prior to pronouncing her dead.

The Hughes family lives in the Freedom Springs subdivision on Red Bluff Creek. Pickett said the child has been playing in the yard of the home with a brother when she apparently wandered down to the creek where the family swims. He said the father estimated the child was in the water five minutes before he found her.

This is the first drowning in Bandera County since George Brack of San Antonio drowned while boating at Bob's Cove on Medina Lake Feb. 19, 1984.

It's a plane, it's a bird...

BOYLE'S M·A·R·K·E·T

Mayor Bob Cowan shades his eyes as he and chamber of commerce director Frank Anderwald watch a low-flying airplane, top photo, that dropped in to see what was going on Saturday at Boyle's market. It was the store's grand opening, and a large crowd was on hand for the festivities. Winner of a color TV was Carol Hartwig of Pipe Creek. Other winners included Ina Jackson, Medina, B&W TV; Margie Teich, J.H. Tobey and William Ostrander, all of Bandera, kiddie cars; Amelia Dickens of Bandera, dryer; Epps Sewall of San Antonio, raft; L.G. Keese of Medina, phone; Mary Glasscock of Bandera, $100; Kerry Chatagnier, groceries; and Vera King, Donald Berdes, Linda Balson, G.M. McGregor, Lois Knibbe and W.V. Vowell, cash.

Loeffler announces he's ready to announce

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, the Hunt Republican that represents Bandera County, plans to formally announce his candidacy for governor next month.

No, it's not true that he made that announcement this week just because it was predicted in this corner last week that he wouldn't run.

It is true that his success in raising more than $1 million did have something to do with his announcement this week.

In a news release issued Monday, Loeffler campaign manager Richard McBride said the congressman received $1,141,583 in contributions during a six-week period ending June 30.

Part of that money came from Bandera County, we're sure. Loeffler is popular here.

Most observers see Loeffler and former U.S. Rep. Kent Hance of Lubbock in a Republican primary showdown for the nomination for governor.

There seems to be plenty of GOP anxious to run for attorney general, though we still think that's a more likely spot for former Democrat Hance.

The Lubbock man's committe also says it has raised $1 million, but the guy who claims that refuses to be named. That always makes us wonder.

Loeffler's campaign funds were raised by the committee he appointed several months ago "to explore the possibility" of Loeffler entering the governor's race.

"It (the $1 million) puts me much closer to a decision to run," Loeffler said in a release distributed to some newspapers.

"With the financial and grassroots support coming together as it is, we can now schedule a formal announcement next month," he said.

The financial support revealed in forms filed with the Texas Secretary of State is certainly substantial, but the forms may also reveal something about the "grassroots support" Loeffler mentions.

Loeffler said he raised $775,421 in big contributions, $335,000 in loans, $23,166 in gifts, and $7,996 in contributions of less than $50 each.

That means that less than 1 percent of his contributions came from folks giving $50 or less.

That alone probably won't deter Loeffler. Hey, it's been proven time after time that big money can overcome many other shortages.

When John Connally decided to run for governor in 1962, his polls showed that only 2 percent of Texans knew who he was.

In a few short months and after the expenditure of lots of money and lots of effort, he was not only known by most Texans, he was their overwhelming choice to be governor.

In 1964 Connally became the first candidate ever to get a million votes in Texas.

Loeffler has a similar chore.

He's popular in his own district and has attained a rare level of leadership in Washington.

But he's not known in Houston...or Dallas...or Austin...or even in most of San Antonio.

And that is where the votes are, especially the general election votes in November.

Opinion

'No pass, no play' rule upheld this week by supreme court

The Texas Supreme Court last week took politics out of the "no pass, no play" law by declaring it constitutional, but pre-campaign activity was stepped up in the attorney general's race.

One Republican announced he would challege Democratic incumbent AG Jim Mattox, and three other Republicans say they are lined up to follow suit.

Mattox, meanwhile, was all over the field in an aggressive display of the power of his office. Friend and foe alike concede Mattox is one of the best campaigners, bar none, in the state.

10 most wanted

He stepped up his war on fathers who fail to make child support payments by announcing a list of high-dollar delinquent dads.

Mattox called the regional lists the "10 Most Wanted", and asked state newspapers and television and radio stations to print or broadcast the names.

Mattox said his agency will buy advertisements if free space/time isn't provided.

Pass-play rule

The High Court's upholding of the no pass-no play rule will probably end the ruckus and lawsuits over the controversial new law which requires students to pass all courses or give up extracurricular activities.

In dozens of cases this spring, lower court judges ordered school districts to drop the prohibition on sub-par students' non-class activities.

Mattox said the ruling is a clear signal to lower courts to quit tinkering with the law, which the Legislature passed last summer when it reformed the public school system.

Student competency

Another hotly contested reform, the pre-diploma test, is also about to get under way.

The State Board of Education is giving final approval to the test version which will be used to rate high school students before they graduate.

High school juniors who fail the exam will be required to take remedial classes, and, if they do not pass it by the end of their senior year, they cannot graduate on schedule.

Secrecy as well as controversy now surrounds the test: board members signed sworn statements pledging not to reveal the contents.

Mattox challengers

The candidate who announced last week he would run for Mattox' job is former Williamson County District Attorney Ed Walsh. Walsh, elected last November as a Democrat, switched parties in March. He resigned from office prior to his campaign announcement after winning a conviction of alleged mass killer Henry Lee Lucas.

A state senator from Houston-Galveston area, Buster Brown, said he will announce for the GOP slot soon. The man who lost to Mattox in '82 says he will settle "some unfinished business" by defeating Mattox this time: former state Sen. Bill Meier of Euless, also a former Democrat.

And last, but not least, is San Antonio State District Judge Roy Barrera, Jr., also due to formally announce soon. The son of former Texas Secretary of State Roy Barrera, Sr., he is also a party convert.

Barrera said Dallas developer Trammel Crow has agreed to serve as campaign chairman. Add to that his anticipated inroads into the Hispanic voting bloc, and he is a serious contender.

Texas statistics

The good news is that Texas is ranked second-lowest in the nation of states with low taxes.

The bad news is: Texas unemployment increased to 7.2 percent, the national plateau.

Only Nevada ranked lower in a study published by the Washington-based Advisory Committee on Intergovernmental Relations.

State and local taxes from 16 common levies totaled $949.88, some 14.5 percent below the national average.

Texas scored higher than average on taxes on alcohol, tobacco and licenses. Texas was lower in drivers licenses, property tax and sales tax.

Cities seek grants for drainage, streets

The regional review committee of Alamo Area Council of Governments will review applications for grants from 12 area cities to fund sewer, water, street and other local projects.

Cities requesting funds include Floresville, Jourdanton, Charlotte, Falls City, Runge, Devine, Pearsall, Marion, Somerset, Dilley, Natalia and Poteet.

The grants requested generally are in the $375,000 to $400,000 range and were to be considered by the committee Wednesday.

Letter

Against seeding

Dear editor:

I am against cloud seeding.

For some, cloud seeding is against "God's will." It is tampering with nature.

Some say weather forecasters are not consistently accurate with all the scientific data available to them. The "science" of cloud seeding may not be science after all.

I subscribe to the theory: If it ain't broke, don't fix it. Frankly, I'm tired of rain!

Whooping cough warning issued by health department

Though no cases have been reported in Bandera County, public health authorities in Uvalde this week warned of an outbreak of whooping cough and urged parents to have their children immunized.

"There has been more of the whooping cough (reported) this year than we've seen in a while," said Public Health Region spokeswoman Norma Cobb from Uvalde. She said 25 cases of the disease were noted, all in Bexar County and in Del Rio.

"I have not heard of any (cases) in Bandera County," Cobb said.

The warning was issued by Tom Griffith, immunization program manager for Public Health Region 9. "There is currently an outbreak of whooping cough in Public Health Region 9," he said.

He urged parents to assure their children have received four DTP shots by the time they reach 18 months of age.

handbook on school policies and regulations.

In error, the Bulletin reported July 4 a ban on possession of tobacco in any form would apply to faculty or staff members as well as students. The prohibition applies to students only, however.

Another time-honored institution at Bandera, the Senior Day holiday will no longer be allowed, and Superintendent Ted Dockery blamed House Bill 72. The law mandates students will be scheduled for classes 175 school days each year and there is no way to schedule any more days off for students. In the past, Senior Day was the day the seniors went to Landa Park for a day of picnicing, swimming and fun activities.

Dockery said architect Jim Pfluger reported that due to the rainy weather construction on the Alkek Elementary School is 20 to 30 days behind schedule.

When the trustees reconvened after an executuive (secret) session, they accepted resignations from elementary teacher Phyllis Adams and junior high teacher Vesta Mills.

Will Hunt was hired as junior high coach. He has seven years experience and was last with the Edison High School coaching staff in San Antonio. Also hired were elementary teacher Rose Nelson, and high school teachers Billie Jo Gillstrap and Janice Pease.

A spokeswoman at Medina School told the Bulletin Monday that a replacement has not been hired for Faye Carpenter. She was the principal at Medina. She has accepted a position with the Kerrville Independent School District.

Used car lot due in Bandera

J.D., Rilla and Nancy Stephens will open a used car lot at 1106 Main St. in Bandera, Rilla said this week.

She said they are in the process of moving a 12 ft. x 20 ft. building on to the lot in front of the Circle M Business Corral.

The new business will be called the R&N Auto Sales. J.D. Stephens has operated a successful auto repair business in Bandera for several years.

Sales taxes in Bandera up by 13 percent

Sales tax collections in the city of Bandera are 13 percent higher than collections at this time last year, figures from the state comptroller's office reveal.

Merchants in Bandera collected $62,888 through July 3, which represents one percent of taxable sales in the city. Merchants had collected $55,650 through the first six months of 1984.

Collections in Fredericksburg were up 18.6 percent, Boerne up 17.1 percent, Castroville up 15.6 percent, Blanco up 11.8 percent, Uvalde up 11.6 percent, Devine up 11.4 percent, Hondo up 10.6 percent, Kerrville up 10.2 percent, Ingram up 7.1 percent, Junction down 4.8 percent, and Rocksprings down 22.6 percent.

Family trailride slated for weekend by HOBI

A family trailride and campout will be sponsored by Horses of Bandera, Inc., this weekend, July 20 and 21, at the Bandera River Ranch, says publicity director Laura McElhannon.

Riders will be offered two rides of three hours or less, a barbecue supper, dancing, swimming, a continental breakfast and space to roll out the old camp roll. No RV hookups will be available, however, McElhannon said.

Cost of the entire event is $10, and that includes entertainment and food. Participants have been asked to bring their own beverages.

Check-in time is Saturday at 1 p.m., McElhannon said, and there will be a Saturday afternoon tack exchange for the sale or trade of horse-related items.

Saturday's ride will be from 4:30 p.m. to about 7:30 p.m., McElhannon said, and Sunday's ride will be from 9:30 am. to about noon.

McElhannon emphasized that no stallions will be permitted on the rides. More information may be obtained from Francie Anderwald at 796-3605.

Crowd cheers teams in benefit game

The Bandera Helping Hand All Stars overpowered the KENS-TV players in a benefit softball game at Mansfield Park, Saturday, July 13, with a score of 23-7.

Spectators in lawn chairs and on benches in the shade, cheered the home team, as the ball players in the dust and hot sun gave their all for the HH fund raising benefit.

For Bandera, participants included Chris Wedgworth, team coordinator and her players, Ritchie Simmons, Keith Mansfield, Russell Hevenor, Bo Mansfield, Brent Hoffer, Harvey Jones, Kenneth Andreas, T. Bleakney, Don Varner, Charlie Stricker, Richard Jackson, Zane Everett, Bear Mazurek, Sully Woodland, Mark Bender, Lynn Holt, David Miller, Nancy Ibach, Rose Parker and Jim Hawley.

San Antonio's KENS-TV was represented by Sarah Meffert Stewart, Rick Zamora, Carol Ibarra, Mark Swing, Joe Flores, Joe Borchardt, Chuck Self, Scott Dicks, Steve Henderson and Pat Schofield. These good natured players were coached by Mary Hernandez.

Umpires were Bobby Clark and Bobby (Snapper) Nesselroad. Announcer for the game was Tim Tobin.

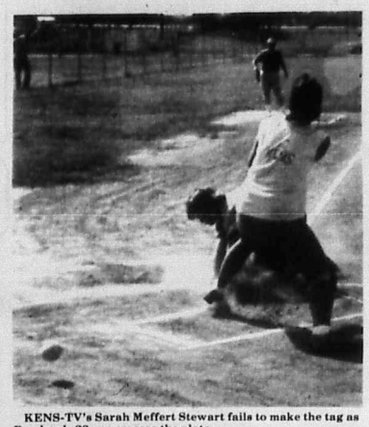

Under Sharon Glock's organization, servers in the concession-stands included Evelyn Schmidt, Stella Wheeler, Minnie Hayes, Glyn Taylor, Marilyn Homer, Barbara Boggs, Amy Stevens, Bernice Heigren, Jane Williams, Linda Cook, Nettie Dean, Joyce Sellberg, Patty Strange, Nadine Hartman, Mona Miller, and Charles Glock. Little Lurkers, Matthew, Sarah and Bea were responsible for passing the donation jars.

Director of the HH center, Jeanne Shinn, provided the overall direction for this very cooperative volunteer effort, and wishes to thank eveyone who shared their time and talent in making the benefit a success.

Trunks on display

Antique trunks will be exhibited at the Bandera County Library from Sept. 16 to Oct. 19 in observance of Antique Trunk Month.

Gerry Sharp of Bandera, the trunk doctor, will display several trunks and will conduct a seminar on antique trunks and how to restore them. Antique Trunk Month is Sept. 15 through Oct. 15, Sharp says.

KENS-TV's Sarah Meffert Stewart fails to make the tag as Bandera's 23 run crosses the plate.

Clark reunion Sept. 1

Descendants of Bandera County pioneer Amasa Clark, founder of the county, will gather Sept. 1 at Mansfield Park for their annual reunion, says spokesman Raymond Clark.

The annual reunion will be held under the open-air pavillion at the park, Clark said.

Robbins cited

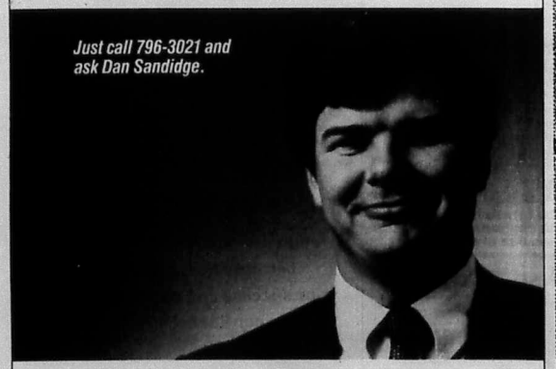

Jim Bob Robbins of Bandera has been included on the Dean's Honor List of The University of Texas' College of Business Administration, the university said.

He included on the list of honor students, Robbins had to achieve at least a 3.5 grade-point average on course work completed during the spring semester.

Looking for a checking account that puts your interest first?

Just call 796-3021 and ask Dan Sandidge.

At SASA, we do everything we can to offer you checking accounts that best suit your needs.

For instance, you can select from four different checking accounts. All of these accounts earn interest. Some even earn money-market rates. Plus, if you keep a minimum balance of $500 or more, you incur no monthly service charge on our regular checking account.

SASA also returns your canceled checks. This way, you have more than just receipts for your purchases. You also have valuable information at tax time.

Additionally, when you have any SASA checking account, you'll automatically be eligible to receive a SASA BANKING CARD. So you can make deposits and withdrawals at hundreds of SASA AUTOMATED BANKING CENTERS. Plus, you can use all Pulse or MPACT locations, too.

If you have any questions about SASA's many types of checking accounts—or anything else—just give us a call. We'll be happy to help.

AF jets to resume low-level flights

U.S. Air Force jets controlled from Bergstrom AFB near Austin will be using a low-altitude flight proficiency training route during coming months that will bring jets over the Bandera County countryside at low levels.

"F-4s, T-38s and other military aircrafts may be flown alone or in groups of up to four at altitudes between 100 and 1,500 feet above the ground," the USAF's 924th Tactical Fighter Group's public affairs offfice announced this week.

The speed of the aircraft may be up to 500 knots, or 575 mph, the Air Force said, and that's not fast enough to create sonic booms.

The flights may occur between 9 a.m. and 7 p.m. any day except Sunday when weather permits navigation by visual flight rules.

"Aircrafts will remain above 1,000 feet around known population centers, hospitals, poultry farms and other congested areas," the Air Force said.

Because of complaints from Bandera County in the past, the 924th Group's acting commander made a special statement to Bandera County residents explaining his commitment to avail disrupting the country atmosphere of parts of the county.

"Many of our air crews come from small towns and rural areas," Maj. Bob Lytle explains. "They understand the desire for people in those areas to maintain a quiet life in the country.

"As much as possible in keeping with training requirements, they attempt to fly outside of population centers and at speeds and altitudes that won't interfere with country life," the commander said.

The training route that includes part of Bandera County is one of six the Air Force will be using, and planes from several military units will be involved, the Air Force said.

The Bandera County, route, called VR-1122 by the Air Force, extends 10 miles either side of a line that proceeds west-southwest from the Blanco River 12 miles southwest of Dripping Springs.

It goes to a point on the highway three miles west of Leakey. There it turns southwest to a point 11 miles northeast of Brackettville.

From there it goes southward right over Uvalde and to a point south of Cotulla where it turns eastward for a short distance.

...honored on their 50th anniversary

Children honor Mayfields on their 50th anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Durward Mayfield were honored June 30 with a 50th anniversary party by their children, Dorothy Pue, Ernest Mayfield and Susie Hyatt, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Pue.

They were married in Medina, Texas July 2, 1935. Anna Childs and the late Ira Keese stood up with them.

The bride and groom ornament used on the anniversary cake was also used 20 years ago on the 50th anniversary cake of the late Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Miller, parents of Mrs. Mayfield.

Mrs. Donald Ellis, Mrs. Mayfield's nephew's wife, of Odessa made the flower arrangement for the party.

About 90 family members and friends from Del Rio, Kerrville, Helotes, San Antonio, Medina, Hunt, Smiley, Pipe Creek, Buchanan Dam, Bandera and Amarillo came by to greet and wish the couple happiness.

Spotlight on Texas

Texas has become the envy of many other states. And it's not just because of our mouth-watering chili and mesquite-smoked barbecue.

Our state is now attracting more and more businesses to headquarter or locate a major operation here. Corpus Christi was just chosen as the new U.S. Navy base for the battleship Wisconsin. And support warships will be stationed in the Houston-Galveston area. The annual economic impact is expected to top $250 million.

No longer is our state a land of only oil and agriculture. While those industries still play major roles, they are now part of a varied big picture, which includes the banking, defense, computer, tourism and telecommunications industries, to name a few.

Regardless of their locations within Texas, the influx of new businesses is a boon to the whole state. New businesses increase the state's tax base and create new jobs for all Texans.

Attracting new businesses

Helping to draw new businesses to Texas are the state's abundant resources, good climate, excellent transportation and hard-working residents.

For example, good transportation was a dominating reason for Southwestern Bell Telephone's recent decision to locate a major distribution warehouse in Lancaster, south of Dallas. The new 490,000 square foot complex will serve all five of our company's states.

In addition to transportation, telecommunications facilities are also important in many business relocation decisions.

Southwestern Bell Telephone is proud to offer top-notch telecommunications in the 450 towns it serves in Texas. For the eighth year in a row, we are investing more than $1 billion in new construction to meet Texas' growth and to continue adding state-of-the art communications facilities.

Reasonable phone rates

Also, Texas residential telephone rates are among the lowest in the nation. In fact, a recent study conducted by an investment brokerage firm — Smith Barney — found Texans had the lowest average monthly residence bill among the 18 states surveyed.

From 1975 to 1984, the average residential phone service for most Texans increased only 44 percent. During that time, the Consumer Price Index rose 93 percent, gasoline went up 117 percent, medical costs increased 184 percent, while natural gas prices rose 239 percent.

In fact, statistics show it actually takes a smaller percentage of earned income to pay for telephone service today than it did 25 years ago.

Even at our current proposed increases, Texans will continue to enjoy quality communications at affordable rates.

What makes Texas grow? It's a lot of factors, from its highways to its telecommunications services to its state government that actively works to promote economic development.

It's also good people, including Southwestern Bell Telephone's 35,000 Texas employees. We're proud of our traditions of service in the state since the late 1800s. And we're confident of our abilities to continue meeting the needs of our growing state.

Future of Medina Valley EMS continues to look bleak

"Not one word," spokeswoman Sue McAnelly said about the response to the plea for help and additional volunteers on the Medina Valley EMS which was publicized last week.

McAnelly keeps the records for the organization. "The last time we had a drive for volunteers it netted two new members for the group, but one dropped out during training," she said.

Another member of the group, Betty Stephens, said, "A lot of people tell me, I can't take it." "Well, that's what training is for. Training includes a course for Emergency Care Attendant certification that lasts approximately two months. The course is offered for two or three nights a week, depending on who is teaching it," Stephens said.

"You learn the skills needed out in the field such as bandaging, splinting, CPR, recognizing shock or possible stroke," Stephens said. "There is no hospital rotation, but you learn how to save the lives of people."

After the two-month course work, the trainee rides on an ambulance with two experienced persons until they are comfortable with what they are doing, Stephens said. "What we do is stabilize a patient in the field and take them to a hospital to get help," Stephens said. "We are not doctors."

The Medina Valley EMS volunteer group which serves Castroville, LaCoste, and the Medina County side of Medina Lake notified the Emergency Medical Service Board of Directors for the area that unless they recruited an additional 16 volunteers to help man the ambulance, they would have to call it quits Aug. 1.

"We don't want to see this end," members of the volunteer group that staff the ambulance say, but the stress they feel is running high.

Ther are ony four trained technicians now and one trainee working, and they work regular jobs as well, of course.

At the June meeting of the Castroville City Council, Bruce Alexander told the council, "I was on call 19 evenings this month (June)."

The organization pays the training costs and also pays $20 to each member making a run with the EMS unit.

If the service does come to and end Aug. 1, emergency calls will be made by the Hondo EMS. That service is 15 miles from Castroville and even further for residents of the Medina Lake area.

The current volunteers say they will stay with the service while new members are being trained. They say with 16 people, members would only be on call one weekend out of every two months, instead of every weekend like they are now.

Heather Marie Grimm

Grimm baby, a girl

Rick and Jane Grimm of Lakehills are the proud parents of a girl.

Heather Marie Grimm was born June 14 at Methodist Hospital in San Antonio. She weighed six pounds, eight ounces.

Heather is the first child for the Grimms.

St. Francis Chapel to serve fried chicken

The third annual St. Francis Chapel celebration in Mico will be July 21.

The celebration will get under way with an 11 a.m. Mass in the Chapel a fried chicken dinner will be served from noon to 3 p.m.

The celebration will be at the Mico Volunteer Fire Department, with live music, a country store, drinks, lots of food, family fun and an auction.

More men needed in Mico, veteran firefighter says

"We'll be right up to our necks if there is a major fire," Bob Hallenbeck, a Mico Volunteer Fire Department member said. "We need more training, more people, more interest."

Hallenbeck explained they are not losing members, but the active members are not sufficient. "We'll have 15 people at a meeting and only three or four at a fire," he said.

He recalled however, a grass fire that acorched the land from the dam to Mormon's Bluff about six or seven years ago. "We fought that one for days. The land still ahows scars," he said.

"Although the department had more members following that fire," he said, "with no major fire for a while, they tend to drift away."

The department is also looking for more money. To help with the membership and donation drives, the department is looking into beginning a newsletter. All donations will go for training and new equipment.

Hermann Sons family picnic July 21

Members of Hermann Sons Lodge 81 and their familes will have a "family picnic" at Hermann Sons Park on Park Road 37 in Lakehills on July 21. Games will begin at 5 p.m. The lodge will provide the meat and each family is asked to bring a covered dish.

Publicity chairman Kim Schelb said a fun time is planned for everyone, and all members and their families are urged to attend.

Vacation church school starts July 22

The Vacation Church School sponsored by the Lakehills United Methodist Church will be held July 22 through July 26. Classes will be from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Children from two years of age through eighth grade can attend. The classes are open to all children of the area regardless of religion.

For additional information contact June Settlemeyer at 751-2297 or Pam Elliot at 751-2812 after 6 p.m.

Blooper

Last week Dave Peterson's name was left off the list of newly elected officers for the American Legion. He will be installed as in-service officer.

John Cavazos wrote in to say he's the historian, not Ray Mauer.

Installation ceremonies will be July 25 at the Legion home.

Gobbler pickup changed to Saturday

In order to improve garbage pickup service for residents of Medina Lake, The Garbage Gobbler will pickup on Saturday instead of Wednesday, the company said.

According to a bulletin from the Gobbler, the change will be effective Aug. 3. Regular pickup on Wednesday, July 31, and the first Saturday pickup will be Aug. 3.

I wish to personally thank Thousand Trails at Lakehills, its manager, personnel, its national directors, engineers, consultants and owners for their wonderful cooperation in altering their proposed disposal plant at this Bandera County camping preserve to a non-polluting system which will become the model for any such system in this area of Texas. Thousand Trails is truly a welcome, progressive, ecologically oriented addition to Bandera County and the Medina Lake area.

Travel Tips

by Bev Cox
Sundance Travel Int'l

Hawaii is a place travel dreams are made of. When people talk about their once-in-a-lifetime travel desires, it's often Hawaii to which they refer.

Believe it or not, Hawaii can be seen and enjoyed in almost any price range, if your budget is limited, you might like to consider a hotel or block or two off the beach. Perhaps you're also willing to use public transportation to explore instead of using escorted tours. There are many inexpensive restaurants and fast food chains, so you can eat reasonably well for very little.

On the other hand, if price isn't an issue and you enjoy the finer things in life, there are fantastic, deluxe tours which stay at the finest hotels and include all sightseeing, gourmet dinners, special evening activities and a host of other features. These tours include not only just about every thing you'd want to see, but some things you never even thought of. There's no worry about baggage handling or tipping either, resulting in a carefree travel experience to one of the most beautiful places in the world.

Some packages spend a full week in Honolulu while others combine several islands. You can also cruise between the islands if you prefer.

Whether your pocketbook dictates a small hotel off the beach or a deluxe, all-inclusive package, you can be certain we'll find the best bet in any category. Just give the Hawaii experts a call.

Hubble reunion draws some 150 descendants

The annual Hubble reunion at Mansfield Park in Bandera on June 29 attracted approximately 150 descendants of Henry and Elizabeth Dugosh Hubble.

Ten of the 15 Hubble children were present including Bula Edwards, Buddy Hubble and Genevive Whitehead of Medina; Clara Brewer of Pampa; Charlotte Sandefer of Blessing; Leo Hubble, Cleo Pyka, Mickie Causy, all of Bandera; Ebbie Schmidt of Hondo; and Tommy Hubble of Uvalde.

Cleo and Leo were also celebrating their birthdays. They are one of two sets of twins in the Hubble family.

The reunion was organized by the grandchildren who prepared barbecue with all the trimmings and also planned a short program.

Plaques were given in three categories. Bula Edwards, 77, of Medina received recognition as the oldest direct descendant. Stacy Shaw of Bakersfield, Calif., granddaughter of Cleo and Tommy Pyka of Bandera, received a plaque for traveling the greatest distance. Luke Christopher MacDowall, 3 months, of San Antonio, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Lutz of Kerrville and great grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jacoby, received a plaque for being the youngest direct descendant present.

A highlight of the day was a blown-up wall display of the Hubble-Dugosh family tree researched by Eloise Knibbe. Eloise was able to go back and trace the family to Poland in the early 1700s on the Hubble side. By next year, she hopes to have the Dugosh ancestry traced to Poland.

Next year's reunion will be planned by the grandchildren who worked so hard this year and allowed eveyone else time to relax and visit.

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

The Bandera Bulletin reported on July 5, 1960, that a Bandera County resident played a role in the national Democratic Convention that nominated John F. Kennedy for the presidency.

D.W. (Speedy) Hicks attended that Los Angeles national convention. His brother-in-law, Gov. John Connally, was the campaign manager for Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, who lost the nomination in a close battle with Kennedy and then was chosen by Kennedy as the vice presidential nominee.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards of Pipe Creek entertained the Fly-up Brownie Scouts with an overnight campout at their ranch on Medina Lake during which the traditional Fly-up ceremony was performed.

The girls received counseling in camping, outdoor cooking, swimming, and use of the compass. As well as their fly-up wings, graduating them from Brownies to Girl Scouts.

The old family reunion tree at the home of Mrs. Walter Meadows was "buzzing" with excitement as the Hicks family and all the "kissin' kin" gathered for their reunion.

About 118 registered at the gathering. They dined on barbecue goat and sausage, beans, salads, vegetables, and a great variety of desserts.

The "young fry" spent the afternoon pleasantly swimming and playing dominos and other games while the parents and grandparents enjoyed just relaxing and visiting.

Local candidates in the 1960 Democratic Primary election got back a substantial refund on filing fees they paid to get their names on the official ballot. Something like 40 percent of the fees assessed were refunded.

Three from Bandera in annual Girls' state

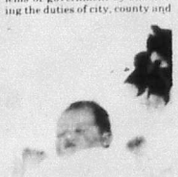

Bandera County was represented at the American Legions Bluebonnet Girl's State this year by Nancy Patton and Susan Redman of Pipe Creek, both were sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary of Lakehills, and Glynda Madden of Bandera, sponsored by the Bandera American Legion Auxiliary.

Girl's State was organized as a national Americanism activity in 1937 by the American Legion Auxiliary. The non-political program provides citizenship training for girls of high school age and affords them an opportunity to live together as a self-governing group. They are informed of the duties, privileges, rights and responsibilities which they will assume when they become adults.

Participants learn the problems of government by simulating the duties of city, county and state officials. Each year citizens are selected at local levels from students who have just completed their junior year in high school. The selection is based principally on character, leadership and scholarship.

Nancy Patton was selected by her fellow delegates to the office of precinct chairman for the Federal Party in Friendship County.

The 1985 session of the Bluebonnet Girls State has grown from an experimental conference of 94 girls held at Baylor University in 1941, to become the largest, single extracurricular educational program for high school girls in Texas. This year 580 girls attended, making a total of more than 17,500 girls in Texas who have participated in this top-level citizenship program.

Festival to begin with a field mass

"Fun's in store for everyone," says Nancy Olson, publicity chairman for St. John's Catholic Church's Parish Festival to be held in Hondo on July 21, the celebration will begin with a Field Mass at 10 a.m. in the Hondo City Park. A barbecue dinner will be served from 11 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the park. Adult plates will cost $3.50.

An auction is scheduled for 2 p.m. There will be plenty of food, cold drinks, games, Bingo, and six $50 cash prizes given away throughout the afteroon, Olson said.

Dugosh family gathers on Julian Creek

The 11th annual Dugosh family reunion was held recently at the home of Roy, Jayme, Jason and Catherine Dugosh. Two miles south of Bandera, on Julian Creek. Family, friends, food and fun was the order of the day.

Those attending included:

Roy, Jayme, Jason Dugosh; Catherine Laskowski Dugosh; J.M., Mary (Dugosh), Kellie, Beckie, Genie, Tandie Clements; Raymon and Therese Cielencki; Sandy Cielencki; and Ray and Shirley Cielencki and children, all of Bandera.

Also Wallace, Albina (Dugosh) Greg, Tim and Terri Butler; Sharron, Douglas, Michelle, and Jennifer Moreau; Bea Weatherby; and Robert Gunther, all of Pipe Creek; and Danny and Sylvia Dugosh; Paul, Josephine (Dugosh), Erin and Kurt Megerle; and Anne Anderson, all of Lakehills.

Also Albert, Elizabeth (Dugosh) John Opelt, Devine; Chester, Joyce, Craig and Keith Dugosh, Irving; and David, Sheila, Darci, Deanna and Danielle Dugosh.

Also Tom Opelt; Kenneth, Helen, Suzanne Dugosh; Jane Dugosh; Kurt Clarke; Nancy Real; Vern and Lucille Bigley; Rufus and Tillie McNeed; Beverly Cielencki; Jody, Rob and Stephanie Megerle; Anne Bayha; Edith Scott; Scott Butler and Melissa Langfeld; John and Gertrude Dugosh; and Matthew, Joyce, and Ashley Armstrong, all of San Antonio.

A girl for the Carnes

Jimmy and Michelle Carnes of Pipe Creek are the parents of a baby girl, Tasha Marie, born on July 2. She weighed eight pounds, four ounces.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tondre of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Carnes of Pipe Creek. Great grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nick Tondre of San Antonio and Etta Carnes of Pipe Creek.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The heavy rains last Friday morning did not deter the Melodiers from treking to Utopia to present their promised program on "Americans All" to the Senior Council there.

Those kind of folks on "the other side of the mountain" seemed genuinely thrilled with the music and will be participating in some of the other activities of the Silver Sage Corral.

In addition they provided visiting musicians with a bountiful covered-dish meal, and even arranged for sunshine for the remainder of that memorable day.

Everyone is welcome to join in the sing along at the Silver Sage Corral at 5 p.m. Friday, July 19. There's no auditions' just come and sing or play along.

Quilting

"Many hands make light work," tis said, and a pieced top was quilted all in one day last Wednesday with eight quilters working on it.

There's no end in sight, though, as there are several more tops awaiting these tender stitches. Although quilters are welcome any day, Wednesday will be the special day when they gather. Beginners are even offered a quick indoctrination course to a real American hobby. Glyn Taylor, quilt chairman, announces that custom quilting has been resumed.

Last Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. on the program Art Beat on Channel 9, who should appear but the senior group!

Included in the action shots were Glyn Taylor, Minnie Hayes, Arantha Stein and Johnnie Newcomer, who were interviewed about the enduring craft which they still so ably carry on.

Footnote! The quilters have asked for a rousing vote of thanks to Marie Holland for putting the finishing touches—mainly the hems—on the quilts once they are taken from the frames. Thanks, Marie...

"Curse You, Jack Dalton"

Saturday night, July 20, is the last opportunity to see the Medina Lake Players' melodrama "Curse You, Jack Dalton."

A favorite summer pastime is hissing the villain and cooing over the poor, mistreated heroine. The place is the auditorium of St. Joseph's School, across from St. Stanislaus Church. Time is 8 p.m. Suggested donation is $3. All proceeds go to the Silver Sage Corral.

Victorious vegetables

Thanks again to the gracious gardeners who are sharing their precious produce with the folks at Silver Sage Corral. Everyone recognizes the superiority in nutrition of these—often expensive—components of the wellness diet.

The directors at the Center have issued an appeal for plastic bags and bread wrappers so that the vegetables and fruit may be divided up for more equitable distribution.

We have the Dean Isaacs of Medina to thank for the lovely bouquet of flaming gladiolas and zinnias, which brightens the dinner table and lightens the heart of all who see.

In this connection, wouldn't it be thoughtful if some kind gardener would occasionally provide a bright blossom, or tiny nosegay, for each of the 12-15 shut-ins who receive delivered meals each weekday?

Hobbies

Those whose hobby is rocks and stone jewelry will be interested in the Rockhounds meeting at the Silver Sage Corral on Thursday at 7:30 p.m., July 18. Bring your specimens, or come to learn.

Another hobby has recently surfaced—watching our feathered friends. A more productive place for bird-watching could hardly be found than the large live oak tree outside the Center's side door.

Needed now are feeders and a bird waterer as some sort to attract whatever species are to be found in a small country town such as Bandera.

A tally will be kept, using Roger Tory Peterson's Field Guide to the Birds of Texas as authority. Bring field glasses and plenty of patience, any day, any time of day.

Walking course

The Alamo Area Council of Governments has advised the Silver Sage Corral to make application for a Wells Fargo (bank) Gamefield Walking Course for Seniors, which it has done.

At this point there are seven seed-money grants left out of 500 nation-wide in a federal initiative called "Health: Make It Last A Lifetime."

The gamefield adds to the walking course a series of 14 mild but energizing exercise games, designed to increase muscular strength, improve balance, and enhance coordination.

Over 2,000 communities across the country have launched Wells Fargo Gamefields. If granted, Bandera's would be the first in this area.

It would be available to citizens, tourists, and all who desire happy spirits in strong bodies.

Bunco squad meets

Becky Bononcini and Hazel Bilings are the hostesses for the Bunco party at the Silver Sage Corral Wednesday, July 24, at 1:30 p.m. There were five tables at last month's party.

The Bandera Chapter of the American Cancer Society, as well as the hundreds of other chapters across the land, has been making a concerted effort this year to alert the public, particularly its' older members, to the dangers of colorectal cancer, which is now the second leading cause of cancer deaths in this country.

But-all the films, speeches, press releases and posters could not begin to have as much impact as the fact the president himself has been a victim of this disease.

The cancer itself is incurable, but early detection can bring about its control by fairly simple means.

In all the coverage of printed words and TV, these admonitions out: Older folks, insist that your doctor give you the three simple tests at least yearly. Eat a healthful diet—cut down on meats and fat, step up the fresh vegetables, fruits and whole grain, bread and cereals, and urge your younger friends and loved ones to do the same.

Your advise—out of knowledge acquired through your observations and experiences—may save someone's life some day.

Nothing could begin to have as much impact as the fact the president has been a victim.

ROACH INFESTATION

Cockroaches are flattened, fast running, nocturnal insects that seek warm, moist secluded areas. They are known to be mechanical carriers of many disease germs. The adult cockroaches are 1.3 to 1.6 cm long, pale brown or tan, and have 2 parallel streaks on the body. Its tremendous ability to adapt has made it the oldest and most common pest you have to deal with. A pair of cockroaches and their offspring can produce a family of 400,000 in a single year.

Cockroaches are most abundant in the kitchen areas. They may be found under and in the insulation of appliances; in, under or behind cabinets, pantries, and closets, behind baseboards, and moldings, and in other cracks, crevices, and dark protected areas. If a few are seen crawling about in open spaces during daylight hours, this indicates the infestation is already severe.

For proper control of these insects call a professional exterminator.

The Xerox 640 Memorywriter

Make Typing Changes Almost As Easy As Changing Your Mind

The 640—the most powerful Memorywriter—brings the automation and productivity of word processing to your everyday typing of memos, letters, reports and the special jobs that word processors, personal computers, and typewriter/computer combinations can't do easily (like multi-part forms, index cards, labels, envelopes, etc.).

More Than The Sum Of Its Parts The 640 is more than an array of automatic features. First of all, it can always be used as a basic electronic typewriter (with the display turned off). As a totally integrated product, it's designed to meet the substantial volume of typing many secretaries have. It's one, compact device without the shortcomings of awkward add-on systems or systems designed mainly for other functions (like computing and word processing). Because it's still a typewriter, there are no complex codes or menus to go through. Functions are self-explanatory: when you want to set a left margin, touch SET LEFT MARGIN, and so on.

Mada Wedgworth

Rev. Harvey Hulse used for his text Sunday, Luke 24:50, "Blessings from the Lord." Pianist was Mark Bender and song leader was John White. We enjoyed the special song, "Whispering Hope" sung by John and Bobby White. Those signing our guest book were Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, John and Bobby White, Eva Freeman, Grace Wilson, Rev. Harvey Hulse and Mark Bender.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowman of Lakehills came by Tuesday and took his sister Lorena Bowman to town to do some shopping. They enjoyed dining at the OST.

Allyn Woolvern of Shertz and Ann Neal of Bandera Falls visited Gertrude Werner.

Hoyt Hamrick had Bible Reading for the thirteen residents Wednesday morning. Guests were Laverne Hamrick and Shirley Phillips and sons Kyle and Kelly.

Edith Edward's granddaughter Jeanne Mansfield, came by for her and took her to Pipe Creek to attend a birthday party. Friends and relatives were there too.

We're sorry to report Dannie Robinson and Ruby Tanner passed away last week. They had made their home here for several years. We will miss them. Our sympathy to all their loved ones.

Si and Louise Turner of Medina Lake visited Willie Leibold.

Brack Hoggett spent Thursday and Friday of last week with relatives in Center Point.

Floyd Portman visited Floyd and Ona Billingsley. Marie Thompson also visited the Billingsleys.

We're sorry to report Mary Mazurek is still in the hospital in Kerrville. We hope she will get to feeling better and come home soon.

Clair Thaman of Kerrville visited her mother Agnes Fortinberry.

Mr. and Mrs. Lum Holloway of San Antonio came by and took his brother Jack Holloway to Kerrville to visit Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick. They went on to Fredericksburg where hey brought some delicious peaches.

Mrs. Hedy Twiefel and a friend of San Antonio visited Mrs. J.B. Edwards. Mrs. Twiefel brought Mrs. Edwards some of her beautiful flowers.

Rev. William Mosley from the First Baptist Church in Medina visited Cynthia Mayberry, Lura Walters, Brice and Annie Mayfield and other friends.

We welcome Mrs. Robert H. (Betty) Williams and Helen Wood to our family. We hope they will enjoy their stay with us.

Casey Faris, Catherine Crist, Reba Williams and Debra Moody, all of San Antonio visited Myrtle Heinen last week.

Edith Edwards granddaughter Jeanne Mansfield and children Bo, Connie and Brent of Pipe Creek took her to the Helping Hand ball game at Mansfield Park Saturday morning.

Evelyn Hostetter attended mass at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church Saturday evening.

Jimmie Ruth and Janie Lee Smathoff visited Mae Armstrong.

Visiting Ernest Rainey was his wife Mrs. Rainey and son Robert.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards took his mother Edith Edwards to services at the First Baptist Church in Pipe Creek Sunday.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends Sunday morning and took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ.

Myrtle Heinen's sister, Mabel Goetz of New Braunfels and Viola Williams of Kingsbury visited last week. Also visiting were Lee Williams and Doris Williams.

Sandee Vannatter, Nathan and Jordan visited Maude Stokes.

We were shocked to learn the death of Cynthia Mayberry's daughter, Bertha Allen of Medina. Our sympathy goes to Mrs. Mayberry and to Bert's family. Bert visited often and we will miss her.

Mrs. Mayberry's guests have been Artis Leggitt and son Al Leggitt of Ft. Worth, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Shipman of Whitesboro, Edna Reed, Elva, Donna and Stephanie, Gracie Wilson and Edith Johnson of Seattle, Washington.

I want to thank Lorena Bowman for writing the Purple Hills News last week while I was on vacation. I spent several days visiting my son and his family, Mr. ad Mrs. Calvin Ray Wedgworth and Kevin and Brian in Mission.

The Bandera County History Book committee meets with Jess Price, associate of Curtis Media of Dallas, the publisher of the local history book. Committee members shown with Price are sitting from the left, Nettie Saul, Lonie Postert, and Judy Pue. Standing are Margie Langford, Magdalene Kalka and Margaret Evans. Pue said anyone that hasn't turned in their family history for the book should do so right away, as manuscripts need to be turned over to the publisher as soon as possible. "To insure your copy of the history book on the first publication, send in your order to The Bandera County History Book, P.O. Box 815, Bandera, 78003. A deposit of $20 can be included for each book ordered." Not only will the book be packed with history on the families that settled our county right through to the families of today, but it will have histories of the businesses and organizations that have played a large role in the development of Bandera County, Pue said.

Gone visiting

Loyd and Mary Anderson and grandson Don Macon Sanson of Kerrville went to Cleburne this past weekend to visit her brother, Herbert Nance, and M.H. and Connie Nance of Seminol. Saturday they all took in the Old Settlers reunion at Stanton where they enjoyed a parade and all the other activities.

Visitors

Mr. and Mrs. George File of Houston were up over the week-end having lunch at Trails End Restaurant with his sister and husband Bob and Joyce Storns and Mr. Ira Garrison, all of Bandera.

Mrs. Roy Bonnet, Lola Chipman of Kerrville and Naomi Mudd took in a day of shopping and visiting at Leon Valley recently. Mrs. Bonnet's granddaughter, Carla Chipman of Leon Valley is here visiting and taking lessons in quilt-making from her grandmother.

George and Hazel (Smith) Giles and family of Lawson, Mo., have been here visiting her family, including parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and sister Naomi Mudd. They will return home on Friday.

Recent visitors in the home of Henry and Ruth Lewis was their daughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Jack Mc Clintock, Kathleen and Wade of Arlington.

Cemetery group to meet

Don't forget to attend the Oak Rest Cemetery meeting Friday, July 19, at 7:30 p.m. at the youth center.

Everyone is urged to attend.

Casie Dawn Reynolds represented Bandera as a state finalist in the Miss Texas American Co-ed Pageant in Houston, July 5, 6, and 7. There were 150 girls in the competition, her escort for the evening wear competition was her cousin, David Buck from Hugo, Okla. She won a trophy for outstanding program participation. Casie is the daughter of Doug and Sandy Pue.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

The Extension Homemakers Club's annual dinner will be at 7 p.m. Sturday, July 20, at the Tarpley Community Center.

Everyone is invited. Bring a covered dish and the rest will be furnished.

A correction

Sorry about the mistake in the headline of the betrothal service of Beverly Kay Symons and Tim Burgett, at the Mountain Laurel Chapel June 22 in Rio Hondo. It was, of course, and engagement announcement, not a wedding.

Vacation trip

Harold and Viola Jackson left June 26 on an extended trip to Amarillo to visit Harold's sisters Bernice Wickware and Elene Kelly and Harold's brother and wife James and Dolores Jackson.

They next drove to Colorado Springs, Colo., to attend the 50th wedding anniversary of Harold's brother and wife, Denzel and Janeice. The couple repeated their wedding vows and after the morning service the deacons of the Circle Baptist Church honored them with a reception.

Next the Harold Jacksons went to Loramie, Wyo., where they attended the Jackson reunion at the Vee-Bar Ranch Lodge. There they enjoyed a surprise 45th wedding anniversary for Bill and Mabel Dycus of Loramie. Mabel is Harold's sister.

They returned through Colorado Springs and Amarillo. They reported a wonderful trip, but admit they are happy to get home.

Rain in Rio Hondo

Rains amounting to 1½ inches fell early Friday morning at Kay and Vi Strand's home. Around our area we only had .9 of an inch.

The rain was needed and appreciated, as the hay is in for now at least.

Earl and Marie Hood have had relatives visiting them for several days. They were; their daughter and husband, Edna and Ray Cheatham of Kingland and their daughter, Gladys Smith and five-year-old daughter Steffani, the Earl Hoods and Edna Oliver, all of Baytown.

Mrs. Oliver is Marie Hood's sister. They were visitors at the Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday.

Illness report

We are sorry to report Victor Purvis has been on the sick list for several weeks.

10th Wedding anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary last Friday, July 12. David will also be observing a birthday Sunday, July 21.

Ball game

Wasn't that a great softball game last Saturday between players of Bandera County representing "The Helping Hand" and Channel 5 KENS players of San Antonio. Didn't realize we had so much talent. All help from the players and volunteers was deeply appreciated. It was a great day!

—Nettie Dean

Ranchers making progress on coyotes, club says

"It seems by all reports that we are finally ahead of the coyotes, as there is very little trouble reported at this time in our club area," says Bob Mansfield. "And that's nothing but good news," he says.

Mansfield, club reporter for the Community Wolf Club, said only two coyotes were caught in the club's area during June. They were reported caught on Loice Odom's ranch off Park Road 37 near Lakehills.

Mansfield said ranchers reported a total of 14 ferral hogs caught during the month of June, however.

The hogs were caught on the Rudy Schott, Randy Schott, James Cline, Dewitt Leibold, Ard Richardson, and Flying A ranches.

"Since the first of February, club members have destroyed 15 grown coyotes, three pups, one mountain lion, two bobcats, and 98 wild hogs. We think that speaks well for the club's effort to control predators," the reporter said.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Most everyone in this area was awakened early Friday morning by brilliant flashes of lightning and thunder and .08 to more than ½ inches of rain.

It was great for the grass, but farmers with hay down weren't very happy.

Senior council news

The Sabinal Canyon Senior Council met of Friday morning, July 12, at the community center for a covered-dish luncheon.

Visitors

Harry D. Vaughan enjoyed guests this week, including his daughter, Joanne Johnson, and friend Collin Shaeffer of North Carolina.

Joanne has just graduated at the University of North Carolina.

Geneva Wilkins and daughter Cathy and granddaughter, Melissa all of Corpus Christi, were last week visitors of Richard and Pauline Wilkins.

Jessie Howard of Sabinal and his daughter, Margie Armstrong, from Pecos were Wednesday visitors of Lecil and Ruby Howard.

Family reunion

The annual Clayton family reunion was held Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Boultinghouse Park.

Approximately 40 family members, friends and relatives enjoyed Mexican food, drinks and dessert on Saturday.

Last year, the late Eunice (Clayton) Murphey the oldest member of the family was there and celebrated her 92 birthday party. She was greatly missed by eveyone this year.

Craig and LaDonna Hoover are rejoicing over the arrival of a baby girl, born on July 9 at 11:39 a.m. in Mainland Center Hospital, Texas City.

The young lady has been named Erin Grae, weighed in at 7 lbs, 5½ oz. and measured 21 inches in length.

Maternal grandparents are Ray and Lavern Harp, Texas City. Paternal grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Hoover of Broadway, Va.

Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. J.F. Thompson, Utopia and maternal great-great-grandmother is Mrs. C.G. Umlang, 95. Paternal great grandmother Mrs. Friday of Broadway, Virginia.

Relative dies

Rollie Snow received word his sister Lula's husband, Mitchel Coleman, of Truman, Ark. passed away Tuesday. He is the survived by his wife and two daughters.

Newly weds

Our congratulations to Stephanie Alley and Michael Kellner who were married last Monday.

Cuban visitors

Michael and Machelle Cornelius, grandchildren of Bill and Doris Cornelius of Utopia, flew from Cuba to Lexington Park, Md., to spend the summer with their other grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Lee Norris.

Baptist Church news

Next Sunday there will be a Vacation Bible School faculty meeting in the afternoon. Bible school will be July 29—Aug. 2. Two summer missionaries will be there that week.

50th wedding anniversary

Baptist Church has received an invitation to help Mr. and Mrs. R.C. Culter celebrate their anniversary. It will be held at the church fellowship hall, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. They have requested no gifts, please.

Ice cream supper

There was a Baptist Church-wide ice cream supper following Sunday night's worship services honoring the Rev. Homer Stephens' seventh year of pastoring Utopia Baptist Church.

Tuition grants available

Hill Country Tuition Grants and other forms of financial aid are still available to prospective students applying for the fall term at the Schreiner College, according to Karen Desmond, director of admissions.

"Applications and financial aid forms need to be filled out now for students hoping to be accepted for the fall term," Desmond says.

The Hill Country Tuition Grant is funded annually by the Hill Country College Fund. This nationally unique grant can reduce tuition costs at Schreiner up to $1,065 per year for students of Kerr, Gillespie, Kendall, Kimble, Bandera, Edwards and Real Counties.

Some 225 area full-time and part-time students used Hill Country Tuition Grants in 1984. Nearly 1,000 area students have taken advantage of this unusual grant since its inception in 1980.

"Besides the Hill Country Grant, there are several other financial aid opportunities available to prospective students," adds Desmond.

Jones Cemetery marker to be dedicated

A Texas Historical Marker for Jones Cemetery near Utopia in western Bandera County will be dedicated Saturday, July 27, at 10 a.m. at the Cemetery grounds.

Application for the marker was made by Bandera County Historical Commission.

Located two miles northwest of Utopia, Jones Cemetery was established in 1886 on land given to the Utopia Methodist Church by the Rev. Irvin Jones in memory of his wife Elizabeth, who had recently died. Descendants of the Rev. and Mrs. Jones plan to attend the dedication.

Through the years the Jones Cemetery became the burial place for church members, their friends, the people of the Taylor community and for anyone seeking burial for their loved ones. It has been constantly cared for by those who realize its histoical importance to the community.

Robert Bounds, president of the Jones Cemetery, association will be master of ceremonies at the dedication. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Gene Moore. Greetings from the Texas Historical Commission will be brought by Peggy Tobin, chairman of the Bandera County Historical Commission.

The principal address will be given by Annalee Burns, followed by remarks by Henry Fisher, descendant of the pioneer Fisher and Taylor families. Recognition will be given to all veterans buried in the cemetery.

Following the unveiling of the marker by a member of the Jones family refreshments will be served.

The public is invited to attend, a spokesman said.

Dodson ACU grad

Julie Annette Dodson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Dodson of Bandera, was one of 774 spring graduates at Abilene Christian University.

Dodson received a bachelor of science degree in physical education.

ACU awarded 652 bacalaureate, six associate and 116 master's degrees to students during the annual ceremonies in Moody Coliseum.

Abilene Christian University is the fourth largest private university in the Southwest, offering degrees in more than 80 fields through its five undergraduate colleges, the graduate school and the school of nursing. It is the largest university associated with the churches of Christ, with an enrollment of more than 4,600 students.

Dr. Earl E. Keese

Dr. Earl E. Keese, a 1960 graduate of Bandera High School, has been appointed dean of the School of Basic and Applied Sciences at Middle Tennessee State University in Murfreesboro.

Keese, who has served as dean of Continuing Education and Public Service, was appointed this week by President Sam H. Ingram after approval by the State Board of Regents. He joined the MTSU faculty in 1969 as assistant professor of mathematics.

A native of Medina, Keese is the son of Mrs. Eva Jean Keese and the late Lewis Keese. He holds degrees from West Texas State University, Texas A&M University, University of South Carolina, and George Peabody College.

Two Fredericksburg men arrested in hit-and-run

Texas Department of Public Safety Officer Nolan Metz arrested two Fredericksburg men July 16 on charges of "failure to stop and render aid" stemming from a July 6 automobile accident in which Dawn Heath of San Antonio was taken to Southwest Methodist Hospital by Bandera County EMS personnel.

Arrested were Alfonso Neri Cisneros, 19, and Felipe Neri Cisneros, 24, both of Fredericksburg. Justice of the Peace Bonnie Towers set bond at $5,000 on each and they remained in Bandera County Jail Wednesday.

Towers said she believed the authorities are looking for one more person involved in the accident.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department reported Chad Dewitt Meeks, 21, of San Antonio was arrested July 13 by Metz on a charge of "failure to identify (himself)" after he gave officers a wrong name. When local authorities ran a routine computer check on Meeks, they found he was wanted on a warrant from Bexar County for DWI.

Mingo said the sheriff's department received a call Saturday morning that two people were holding a man at gunpoint in a house. Mingo, with Deputy James MacMillan, and Metz later found Meeks, another man, and a girl in an automobile on Highway 16. Mingo said a rifle was found in the vehicle with the threesome.

After further investigation, Mingo said, authorities learned the complainant was a half-brother of one of the three, and he refused to file charges.

Judge Towers assessed a fine of $132 on the "failure to identify" charge and set bond at $800 on the DWI charge. Meeks paid the fine and posted a surety bond the following day and was released.

Robert Andy Moore Jr., 17, of San Antonio was arrested July 16 on charges of "unlawful carrying of a weapon" and criminal trespassing. The charges stemmed from an incident Monday evening when the sheriff's department received a call from a Castle Lake man saying he was holding two burglars, one of them with a gun, inside a house trailer he was watching for a neighbor.

Mingo said the complainant told the authorities he let the two go because of the gun they had.

A fifteen-year-old girl was picked up with Moore on Tuesday, and they still had the gun in their possession. The girl told authorities they had been staying at a cabin, owned by Moore's father, that had no water and they went into the house trailer just to get some water.

Peace Justice Towers set bonds on Moore at $2,000 on the unlawful carrying charge and $1,000 on the criminal trespassing charge.

Mingo said the only burglary reported in the past week was reported by John C. Jones of Pipe Creek. He said two kayaks, two double aluminum oars, and one life-jacket were missing from Jones' home on Rio Ranchero Road. Total value of items was $700.

Bandera youth an essay winner

The July/August issue of "Gifted Children Monthly" lists 10-year-old Colby Lea Anderson of Bandera as one of the four winners in their "Safety First" Essay Contest.

The contest required a well-organized essay of about 500 words or less. The children were asked to write about a specific safety practice or safety hazards, and to include personal experiences or feelings.

Colby's essay was entitled "Outdoor Safety," and an excerpt was published in the monthly newsletter. She will receive $5 for the publication.

Colby Lea is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Anderson of Bandera.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

The consumption of alcoholic beverages is deeply ingrained in the American way of life. So is alcohol abuse... The most appalling fact of all is that while no age group is immune from the devestation wreaked by alcohol abuse, our young people are decimated in alcohol-related deaths on the nation's roads. The Surgeon General of the United States has reported that life expectancy is increasing for every age group in the country except the 15-24 age group; death in alcohol-related auto accidents is the reason. Granted, teen-agers are not the only ones driving drunk. But statistics compiled by the American Automobile Association and other groups concerned with traffic safety indicate that young people suffer the consequences of drunk driving in numbers far above their percentage in the total population... The problem of teenagers driving drunk has reached such proportions that brewers' and distillers' associations are spending large sums to produce programs, films and educational materials about alcohol abuse as it relates to drunk driving, teenage pregnancy and general health.

We urge the parents of every teenager to have a talk with their children about driving and drinking. It needn't be adverarial or confrontational: "You better not... or I'll..." Well my Johnny won't drive drunk", "My Sue won't get in the car if her date has been drinking," presumes too much. Remember, at the very least, even well-behaved teenagers have friends who mix alcohol and automobiles...

Thank you
For the care and love that our mother had during the 10 years that Purple Hills was her home, we wish to express our appreciation to Dr. Meador, the Speedy Hicks and especially the staff.
We also express our grateful appreciation to the churches (and other organizations) in Bandera and the surrounding communities for the many gestures of support and good will that were extended to her.
God bless you, everyone.
The family of

Thank you
We want to thank the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department, Mr. and Mrs. Mathews for calling the fire department and also for preventing me from going over the rock retaining wall. Also thanks to Beverly Mathews, Erle Denton, Mr. Fermin, Clint Oehler, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Villmas, Doris and Harold Keslar and the many others that I have never met for the kindness, love, and gifts given to us when our mobile home burned to the ground on June 7. Thank you all and God for saving our lives.

All of the stockholders, all of whom are unknown to Plaintiff and his attorney, of each and all of the corporate defendants enumerated above; all partners, all of whom are unknown to Plaintiff and to his attorney, of each and all of the defendants enumerated above., which are or were partnerships; all members, beneficiaries, and interest holders, all of whom are unknown to Plaintiff and to his attorney, of each and all of the defendants enumerated above, which are or were trusts, joint stock companies, or other unincorporated associations; all of such persons and their legal status, viz., whether incorporated or unincorporated, and if incorporated, whether in good standing or defunct, being unknown to Plaintiff and his attorney, if living, and if any or all of the above named defendants be dead, the unknown heirs of each or all of the said above named persons who may be dead, and the unknown heirs of the unknown heirs of said above named persons; and the unknown owner or owners of the hereinafter described land; and the executors, administrators, guardians, legal representatives, legatees, devisees, husbands, and wives of the above named persons, and any and all other persons including adverse claimants, owning or having or claiming any legal or equitable interest in or lien upon the following described property delinquent to Plaintiff herein, for taxes, all of said property being located in said County and State, to-wit:

Part of Lot 34, Range B, Town of Bandera, Bandera County, Texas, being more particularly described in volume 195, Page 455 of the Deed Records of said County.

Which said property is delinquent to Plaintiff for taxes in the following amount $303.89, exclusive of interest, penalties, attorney fees and costs, and there is included in this suit in addition to the taxes all said interest, penalties, attorney fees and costs thereon, allowed by law up to and including the day of judgement herein. You are hereby notified that suit has been brought by the Bandera Independent School District Plaintiff, against the above named persons, as Defendants, by petition filed on the 22nd day of March, 1984, in a certain suit styled Bandera Independent School District vs. Domingo Fernandez, Et Al/89 collection of the taxes on said property and that said suit is now pending in the District Court of Bandera County, Texas 216th Judicial District, and the file number of said suit is 3473, that the names of all taxing units which assess and collect taxes on the property hereinabove described, not made parties to this suit are: none.

Plaintiff and all other taxing units who may have set up their tax claims herein seek recovery of delinquent ad valorem taxes on the property hereinabove described, and in addition to the taxes all interest, penalties, attorney fees and costs allowed by law thereon up to and including the day of judgement herein, and the establishment and foreclosure of liens, if any, securing the payment of same, as provided by law.

All parties to this suit, including Plaintiff, Defendants, and intervenors, shall take notice that claims not only for any taxes which were delinquent on said property at the time this suit was filed, but all taxes becoming delinquent thereon at any time thereafter up to the day of judgement, including all interest, penalties, attorney fees and costs allowed by law thereon, may, upon request therefor, be recovered herein without further citation or notice to any parties herein, and all said parties shall take notice of and plead and answer to all claims and pleadings now on file and which may hereafter be filed in said cause by all other parties herein, and all of those taxing units above named who may intervene herein and set up their respective tax claims against said property.

You are hereby commanded to appear and defend such suit on the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two (42) days from and after the date of issuance hereof, the same being the 12th day of August, A.D., 1985, (which in the return day of such citation), before the honorable District Court of Bandera County, Texas, to be held at the Courthouse thereof, then and there to show cause why judgement shall not be rendered for such taxes, interests, penalties, attorney fees and costs, and condemning said property and ordering foreclosure of the constitutional and statutory tax liens thereon for taxes due the Plaintiff and the taxing units parties hereto and those who may intervene herein, together with all interest, penalties and attorney fees allowed by law up to and including the day of judgement herein, and all costs of this suit.

Issued and given under my hand and seal of said Court in the City of Bandera, Bandera County, Texas, this the 26 day of June, 1985.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

It was almost a full house at the Walker Memorial Chapel, with only a few seats vacant, when Marion Birch presented his slide show of Sierra Leone.

This presentation focused on the beauty of the land, the colorful flowers and vegetation, many of the animals and birds, and the customs of some of the tribes.

Marion will have another slide presentation in August showing some of the missionary work being done in that part of the Third World.

After the show, everyone went outside to be treated to a watermelon feast. Witnessing this watermelon feast, no one could say it is a children's feast, as most of the adults went back for their second or third piece of watermelon.

Dudley Blakeney and his wife Emiely and their three children, Corrie, Katy and Tyler, are spending a much-needed vacation with Dudley's parents, Mary and T. Blakeney here at the Wharton's Dock area.

On Sunday night, July 14, Dudley presented a concert of Christian music and then to partake in the cookies and punch that was served under the big oak trees.

Phil Bledsoe surprised his wife Nola on July 15 with a small gathering of friends to help her celebrate her birthday at the Copper Lantern. There was ice cream and cake plus dip and snacks, and everyone helped make Nola's birthday one she will remember.

Jay and Marieta Overholser drove to San Antonio Saturday July 13 to visit with old friends, Ted and Jovita Longora. it was a very enjoyable visit and ended with a fine evening meal together, they said.

Mary K. Andreas and her five younger cildren, Bruce, Laurie, Bubba, Sheri and Cherry also went to Van Ormy to take part in the birthday celebration of Mary K's mother, who was 67 years old.

She saw a cousin on July 14 who she had not seen in 25 years, Henry Warden, and her aunts Annie Warden and Lydia Hammond; Loa Miller; uncle George Warden; uncle Dee Dee Myers; her brother, Moris Tomlinson Jr.; her sister, Betty Mishler; Gail Edwards and husband Cliff and son Forest; and Larry Mishler.

The fellowship covered-dish dinner after worship services Sunday, July 7, at the Walker Memorial Chapel was a great success. If there was any problem it was from over-eating by those who tried to taste some of each of the deliciously-prepared covered dishes and desserts that were offered.

Walter Burrel drove T.R. and W.B. Andreas to San Antonio to go sightseeing and to ride the water slides at the new Water World.

Now most of us in the Wharton's Dock area know Deanie Newman, but we were all surprised to hear about her accident. She got her thumb caught in the car door and broke it. Now Deanie, hurry up and get well, and be careful when you close car doors from now on.

Coming up in August, there will be a benefit for Freda Jo Searcy at the Copper Lantern. Any one interested in helping organize this event, please call Mary K. Andreas or Dana Simmons.

The Ciarlos had a nice surprise when friends they had not seen in a few years stopped by for a visit. They were Ann and Jack Rangel with their three children, Jennifer, Julie and Jack Michael, and Ann's brother Adam Balderama, all neighbors when the Ciarlo's lived in San Antonio.

Staff Sgt Curtis Fike and his wife Gloria and daughter Angie from Carpio, N.D., are visiting with Curtis's aunt and uncle, Marie and Harold Bentley. Curtis is attending school at Lackland AFB. He is stationed at the Strategic Air Command base in Minot, N.D.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Marques of Farmington, N.M., are here visiting with their old friends, the Newkirks. They say they are enjoying the friendliness and the green scenery of the area.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davenport from Tyler were here visiting with Mary and T. Blakeney for the weekend.

A good time was had at the first-Saturday-of-the-month community covered-dish dinner at the Copper Lantern on July 6. There was an abundance of food and good dancing music furnished by Dorris Veretta and her Western band.

There was an abundance of food and good dancing music at the monthly community dinner.

The Walker Memorial Chapel has Bible study at 9:45 a.m and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. Evening services are conducted at 6 p.m. on Sunday and 7 p.m. on Wednesday.

The Rev. Paul Flanders and his family will be on vacation for two weeks, traveling to Albuquerque and Cloreta, N.M. The Rev. Jerry Anderson, a friend from San Antonio, will handle services in Rev. Flander's absence.

It was good to see Ken Parks when he got to come home for the weekend from the Audie Murphy Veterans Hospital in San Antonio. He is recovering from surgery, but had to return Sunday afternoon so they can run some more tests to insure the surgery was successful.

We are sorry to hear that Mary Maston and Dell Lackey are still under the weather. We hope they both get well and are able to participate in the community activities that they enjoy so much.

This Saturday is the day for the Lakeshore VFD rummage sale at the firehouse on Wharton's Dock Road from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

There are good clothes, knick-knacks, houseware items, appliances and much more. It's a good way to pick up some bargains and help the firefighters.

Ritch and Dana Simmons and Bernice and Denny Fairbarin will celebrate their wedding anniversaries July 20 at the Copper Lantern. Everyone is welcomed to come and help.

Jerry Kennedy and Jim Cox will furnish some dancing music and I am sure Denney Fairbarin will join in.

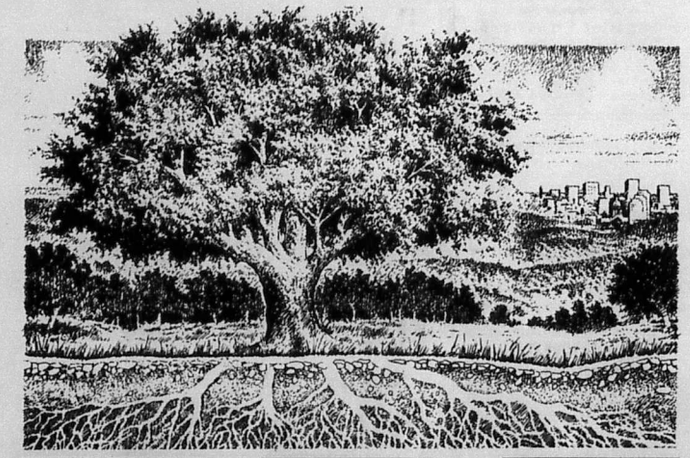

Clyde and Debbie Duggie had a cookout on Saturday, July 13. Clyde and Debbie almost outdid themselves with the choice of fine food.

Attending were Clyde's daughter Marsha and her husband Scott Lee and granddaughter Krystle; his daughter Sandra Duggie and friend Ronnie and his son Chris; Bob and Hazel Lee, Scott's mother and dad; Bud and Betty Ciarlo; and Mildred Trester.

From all of us who took in the Helping Hand softball game Saturday, we want to say thanks to Cliff Maston who furnished the public address system and set it up for the game.

Without this we would not have known who the players were or where they were from.

WE'RE BRANCHING OUT WHERE OUR ROOTS HAVE ALWAYS BEEN.

First Federal Savings has been putting down roots in the Hill Country since 1934.

We started out with a $5,000 investment, two employees, and a two-room office in Austin. Today, more than fifty years of thoughtfully planned, carefully nurtured growth have increased our assets to over $800 million, with 27 offices all over Central Texas.

Through a half-century of successful growth, we've achieved the financial strength and stability that it takes to meet our customers' needs. That makes us proud to be a part of every Hill Country community we serve. It makes us proud of the opportunity to serve your community, too.

As one of the Hill Country's first federally-chartered savings and loans, First Federal was organized with two simple goals in mind: to help people buy homes, and to provide a safe place for them to save their money.

We've grown to offer much more now.

Our lending capabilities have expanded to encompass many different mortgage loan options, all types of consumer loans, and commercial real estate lending programs designed especially for the communities we serve.

Our savings plans now include a wide variety of investment opportunities, such as high-paying CDs, IRAs, and interest-paying checking.

Of course, some things about First Federal haven't changed at all.

We are, and always have been, one of the safest places around to save your money, with federal insurance on your deposits up to $100,000.

And we're still among the strongest financial institutions in the area, with one of the state's highest capital adequacy ratios for savings and loans of our size.

Most important, our commitment to serving Central Texas will never change. With every year of progress, it has guided us and shaped our growth. With that commitment in mind, we look forward to serving your community for many years to come.

GREAT CAMARO GIVEAWAY

13 Camaros Plus 13 Weeks of Savings!

Super S Foods is giving away a Chevy Camaro each week for 13 weeks. Enter every week 'cause there's a new drawing every week! No purchase necessary. Need not be present to win.

Official Contest Rules:

1. Must be 18 years of age or older to win. No purchase necessary.
2. Employees of Super S Foods, its ad agency, suppliers and members of immediate families are not eligible to win.
3. Separate registration each week for car. All entries will be picked up at close of store business each Wednesday, sealed & delivered to San Antonio for an independent, random drawing from all entries. One winner per week.
4. All entries must be on official entry blank available at Super S. No photo copies.
5. All non-winning entries will be destroyed each week.
6. Weekly winners will be notified by the Wednesday following end of registration period (within 7 days).
7. All prizes will be awarded to winners at the end of the 13 week promotion, Oct. 18, 1985.
8. Winners agree to allow Super S Foods and its advertising agency to use their name and photographs for advertising and promotional purposes throughout the 13 week promotion.
9. Odds of winning are dependent upon number of entries each week.
10. Official rules will be posted in each store throughout the promotion.

Tax notices 'in the mail'

Notices of new appraised value of property in Bandera County, based on a complete reappraisal at 100 percent of market value, will be mailed to property owners by Friday, Chief Appraiser Larry Reagan said Tuesday.

The notices will show not only the value the appraisal district sets on property but also an estimated tax rate for taxing entities that would generate the same amount of property taxes as last year using last year's appraised value and last year's tax rate.

The new values may surprise some property owners, Reagan admits.

"Appraised values are up considerably from last year, but this is absolutely necessary," the chief appraiser said. It's necessary, he explains, to conform with the law that requires that values be expressed at market value.

"Sales prices have increased drastically since 1981-82 when the last reappraisal was conducted," Reagan points out. He said market value is defined in the law as "the price at which a property would transfer (sell) for cash under prevailing market conditions," all other things being equal.

Reagan invites property owners who think the values are out of line to call his office, and if not satisfied, to file a formal complaint.

Higher lake level welcomed by area businesses

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

An increase in Medina Lake area business has come with the whopping 153 percent increase in rainfall so far in 1985 compared to all of 1984.

The official rainfall for Bandera through July of 25.34 inches recorded this year has already surpassed the 23.74 inch total for the entire year of 1984. From January through July 1984 Bandera only recorded 9.92 inches of rainfall.

The increased rainfall is generally credited with an increase in business by lake area merchants.

Lakehills realtor Wilbur Bradford said when the lake dropped to 40 feet below the spillway in July 1984 "business just died.""But, with the lake just 23 feet from the spillway now, business has improved.

The lake hit it's low point in 1984 of 55 feet below the spillway in October. "In mid-winter we concentrated on acreage sales," Bradford said. "But with the lake coming up, people are looking at waterfront property again.

"Business isn't what it was two years ago, but people are coming out again," he said.

There's one change he has noted among potential property buyers. "Serious buyers are coming out mid-week," he says. "Sunday afternoons we get just a few people looking around." "There's some good waterfront property available now, and just because the lake is low, people aren't dropping their prices."

"It's terrific," is the way Doris Keslar of D and H Mobil describes their business. "The Fourth of July weekend was the best we've had in three years," she said. "Items we haven't stocked, like marine supplies, in two or three years are regular stock items this year," she said. "People just weren't buying them at all for awhile."

"We're seeing a lot of the regular weekend residents again. They stopped coming out last summer when the lake dropped so low," she said, "but they are coming back now."

While owners of businesses that cater to folks that come to the lake for recreational purposes are enjoying new prosperity, some find too much of a good thing can hurt.

Of those around the lake contacted by the Bulletin, only the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District reported a decrease in sales, but Evelyn Sollock, office manager, didn't sound unhappy over it's 300 percent decrease in water sales. As a matter of fact she sounded pleased with the drop in sales.

Water sales to the farmers and ranchers below the dam are off by right at 300 percent this year compared to last, says Sollock. "This May and June we only sold about 5,000 acre-feet of water, compared to 16,000 for the same two months in 1984. May and June are always our two busiest months," she said. "Water sales this July will be nothing compared to the $40,000 we sold last year in July," she continued. "We really didn't get orders this month, until this week."

"The stock tanks are maintaining pretty good levels, the ground is staying moist from the frequent rains," she said, "and few corn farmers called for water this summer."

Keslar said they haven't heard

EUWD seeks permit to control rights

The Edwards Underground Water District has applied for a permit which would grant it the power to control the issuance of water rights in most of Bandera County, the Bulletin has learned.

The EUWD's permit application lays claims to 608,400 acre-feet of surface water annually across six-counties of Southwest Texas that includes most of Bandera County.

The application, made to the Texas Department of Water Resources, is the first of its kind ever filed, according to EUWD general manager Tom Fox.

Main rivers in the application, besides the Medina and Sabinal rivers which drain Bandera County, are the Nueces and Frio rivers.

The executive director of the Nueces River Authority, Con Mims, said his group will aggressively oppose the permit application, if he has his way.

"The EUWD would, in effect, control the issuance of water rights above the recharge zone, which is the whole purpose, as I see it, of this action," Mims said.

"For all practical purposes," he said, "this permit, if issued, would deprive those living above the recharge zone of future rights to water in order that the San Antonio metropolitan area and, to a lesser extent, agricultural irrigators may benefit from water recharged to the Edwards aquifer," he said.

"What will probably happen, though, is that those above the recharge zone (in Bandera County, for example) will be left without the ability to acquire water rights," Mims said.

Fox said the EUWD's goal is to protect the natural recharge of the Edwards acquifer.

"This application would give us rights to water above our recharge zone and protect what we believe is the natural recharge of the acquifer," Fox said.

"The EUWD application stipulates that there will be no artificial storage structure constructed and no artificial diversion of waters over the 608,400 acre-feet the EUWD seeks to control.

But, according to Fox, the permit would have no effect on pumping of groundwater in Bandera County or elsewhere.

"The application would not prohibit the construction of recharge dams or other reservoirs," Fox said. "It just means that we would have the right to make those decisions and could subordinate our 'no diversion' rights if we felt it was in the best interest of the acquifer.

Sims said he understands the EUWD's desire to gain control of the water in question. "From our standpoint, however, the bottom line is, 'do we want someone other than the state to control approximately one-third of the Nueces River Basin?' "

Lamar Smith

He says he'll run

Bexar County Commissioner Lamar Smith has announced he will be a candidate for Congress in the 21st District, which includes Bandera County.

Saying incumbent U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler told him he would not seek re-election whether he runs for governor or not, Smith quit as county commissioner after three years on the job.

Smith has also served as state representative and as Bexar County Republican Chairman.

Football Bulldogs rated third in state by statewide magazine

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Texas Football magazine has picked Bandera's Bulldogs as the state's third-ranked Class AAA high school football team and listed three Bulldogs among the state's top college grid prospects.

Still, the magazine sees a close race in District 27-AAA between Bandera and Boerne, and says it gives the nod to Bandera on the considerable strength of its 275-pound offensive tackle, Cliff Bronson.

The magazine listed running back James Compton, who has gained 3,934 yards in three years; Bronson; and quarterback Jimmy Sides among some 200 players in the state's high schools who it called "highly recommended senior talent."

Though no other District 27-AAA players were listed among the top college prospects and no other team was ranked among the top 10, the magazine sees a dogfight between the Bulldogs of Bandera and the Greyhounds of Boerne for the district title.

"Irresistible forces and immovable objects are everywhere in this South Texas District," the magazine says. The irresistible force is Compton and his offensive mates at Bandera, and the immovable object is Boerne's defense, with 10 starters back.

The magazine thinks Compton's strength is offset by the Hounds defense. "Both teams have talented quarterbacks," the magazine continues. "But Bandera has 275-pound tackle Cliff Bronson....So give the Bulldogs the early edge."

The respected magazine is rich in its praise of Compton, of course, and it recites his gaudy statistics, including the bottom line: 3,934 yards gained. "It is no coincidence that the Bulldogs are 33-6-1 over the last four years," the magazine says.

"Many of those yards came behind Bronson (6-5, 275, 5.2), who dominates his position," says (Coach Danny) Neuse.

Triggerman for the attack is QB Sides (6-1, 180, 4.7), who is 'going to be a great one,' his coach says," the magazine reported.

Among the other 14 returning lettermen singled out by the magazine were backs Gary Watkins, John Miller, and Billy Morris.

"Graduation left some holes along the front line," the magazine points out, but it mentioned center David Parades, guards Johnny Wedgworth and Jeff Stoops, and tackle Dusty Britain as possible replacements.

Coach Neuse says he plans to go to the air more this year to try to discourage defenses that key on Compton, and Texas Football singled our receivers Russel Bates, Tim Fritsche, Mike Cardenas and David Shackleford as keys.

"Top stoppers will include linebackers Greg Marshal, Greg Fest and John Gonzales, defensive end Gene Barnet and tackle Tom Mangold," the magazine said.

In picking Boerne to finish a close second in district play, Texas Football praised its quarterback Matt Bradley (6-0, 185, 4.7), "a fine passer." Among the 'Hounds experienced defenders, Texas Football singled out Pat Day (6-4, 255) as "the biggest obstacle for opposing offenses."

Floresville was listed third in District 27-AAA, and its defensive tackle Jeff Sekula got special praise. "He is that rare lineman who can cause an opponent to change game plans just with this menacing presence," the magazine quotes Tiger coach Dan Brodbeck.

Cole is listed fourth, Smithson Valley fifth, and Southside is last.

Among Bandera opponents, Hondo is picked by Texas Football to finish second in District 28-AAA, but only because Medina Valley is the reigning state champion. "The numbers favor Hondo," the magazine said "which returns nine starters."

Alamo Heights of District 14-AAAA are given an outside chance to make the playoffs again this year, Ingram Moore is picked to finish second in District 29-AA, and Somerset will boast a strong running game and a stout defense.

The lines for warfare are being drawn

Don't look now, chief, but there's two full moons this month.

It's a rare set of circumstances that won't occur again until May 1988, scientists tell me.

Police Chief Walter Welch is one of only many, many lawmen who will say flatly that people do the craziest things under a full moon.

There's more disturbances, the chief says, and more crime.

Many teachers agree.

People and students are more difficult to deal with while the moon shines bright.

There's plenty of lore connected with two full moons in a single month, most of it kind of mindless.

But a name that has been applied to the phenomenon, a name that is not at all menacing, Chief Welch notwithstanding.

It's called a "blue moon."

We don't think the moons have anything to do with it, but our lady of the lake, Lila MacMillan, this week joins many from the Medina Lake area in being rightfully miffed.

Her dander and that of many others is up over the appropriation of the Medina Lake name by people affiliated with a beauty pageant in San Antonio. (Please see Page 3B.)

Their ire may be more symbolic than than anything else.

We've talked about the apparent arrogance of official San Antonio toward their smaller neighbors in this space before.

The appropriation of our name is one more example.

Still another is also in the news today. It's the move by the Edwards Underground Water District to project itself into the process that determines water rights here.

Be assured you'll be hearing more about this.

In fact, in my mind its one of the opening skirmishes in what will soon become a real war in our country.

A war for water.

Another skirmish was initiated last month by the city of Austin when it suddenly extended its so-called Extra Territorial Jurisdiction some 40 miles up the channel of the Colorado River.

People in rural areas 50 miles from the Capitol are suddenly faced with a frightening dilema: Whether to be annexed by the city of Austin or by one of the area communities.

It's like the people of Lakehills suddenly having to decide whether they want to be annexed by San Antonio or Bandera.

Hey, they don't want to be annexed by anyone.

They just want to be left alone to establish their own community.

And what about the city of Bandera?

I can't remember how long its council wrestled with the issue of annexing a small chunk of land south of the Medina River on State Highway 173 South.

I'd hate to think how long it would take for it to annex the property on both sides of the Medina River all the way to the lake and beyond.

For better or worse, by the time that happens, the city of San Antonio will be lapping at the outskirts of Medina.

Be that as it may, one thing is clear:

The lines for war are being drawn and they are being drawn in such a way that the thirsty metropolitan areas with their teeming millions will be pitted against the defenseless in small town America.

Hey, what else is new?

Opinion

Speaker continues to support spending in South Africa

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Texas House Speaker Gib Lewis returned last week from his controversial trip to South Africa and remains opposed to ending state investments there to combat racial separatism.

He immediately caught renewed fire from some lawmakers critical of state law allowing investment of tax dollars in that troubled nation's economy.

Black lawmakers, in particular, have pushed past legislation banning such investments as a means of combating apart-heid, defeated in part by Lewis' disagreement.

Lewis said he and sidekick state Rep. Charles Evans talked to blacks and whites on the "far left, far right and everybody in between" and he believes that divestment of U.S. investments would hurt struggling South African blacks more than it would help them.

"They (South African government) have got a lot of foolish laws I don't agree with, and they need to change."

Legislative outcome?

How Lewis' trip will affect the outcome of divestiture legislation next session remains to be seen, but the fact that he took the trip at all signifies the Legislature's interest in the issue, perhaps brought on by its growing minority membership.

Lewis seems more convinced than ever that his stance is correct. He is himself a wealthy businessman, and very proestablishment, but his political style has an unspoken pacifist streak to it.

He avoids blood-lettings where possible, and does not relish putting one lawmaker against another, as some do.

Nazi comparison

Rather than ignoring the plight of South African blacks, he sympathizes with them in his own style: "The people pushing for divestment are hurting the people they are trying to help. When you start shutting down factories, the people in those factories are not white, they're black."

And if violent revolution is precipitated by economic collapse, the people gunned down in the streets are more likely to be black than white, too.

His sharpest criticism by a black leader came from state Sen. Craig Washington, who compared Lewis' trip to a 1930s House speaker who traveled to Germany as a guest of the Nazis.

Moral obligation?

But Washington and Lewis have one thing in common: they both see South African blacks in the same situation as American blacks before the great strides in civil rights. Lewis says it compares with the American '50s.

Washington speaks for American blacks who hate racism so much they want to wipe it out in every corner of the globe, at least in an official form.

To them, we have a moral obligation as a freedom-living nation to combat it however we can, and so they introduced the divestiture legislation. They want something done now.

Lewis obviously feels some moral obligation, too, or else he wouldn't have gone. Maybe he went in hopes of finding a better line of attack, and is still formulating it. Maybe we'll find out next session if an alternate plan emerges.

"White OK"

Some 12,000 wells in the Panhandle oil field are affected by a recent federal ruling some say will spark bankruptcies and other economic hardships there.

The feds used new Texas Railroad Commission regulations to rule that some 35 producers illegally diverted supplies from another company by drilling "oil" wells into gas reservoirs then capitalizing on the higher prices available for "white oil," or casinghead gas.

Some 1,000 wells are now expected to be retested soon.

Political manuverings

Former Democratic House Speaker Billy Clayton switched parties last week, and GOP State Senator Buster Brown of Lake Jackson announce he will run for attorney general.

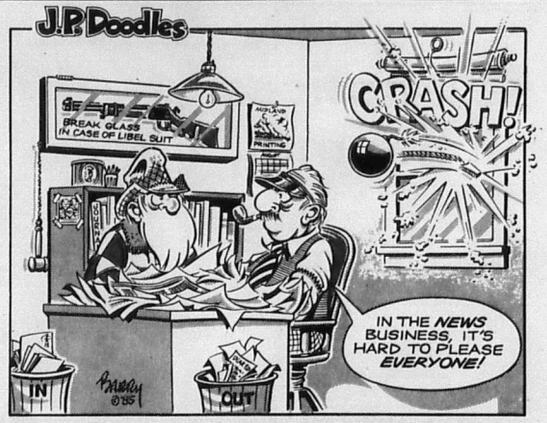

Clayton, considered a possible gubernatorial candidate, said he won't run for any statewide office next year, but speculation is he might settle for a slot lower down on the ballot with enough urging.

Brown criticized incumbent AG Jim Mattox for spending over $250,000 in contributions for his legal defense and for not being tough enough on criminals. The expenditure was legal, but Brown says it was wrong, anyway.

Lake

anyone complain about not being able to launch boats this summer.

Julia Lehman of Bob's Cove said folks are able to launch there with no problem. "A lot of our regular weekend crowd that stopped coming out last summer has started coming back regularly again."

She said she thought the publicity carried in some newspapers and on San Antonio television stations last summer left many people with the impression that Medina Lake had dried up. So far this year there has been no publicity to let people know that the lake is coming up and people can enjoy swimming, boating, skiing, and picnicking again, she said.

Boat launching is reported good around the lake for Bob's Cove, the old State Park, Thousand Trails, and in Mico at Lackland AF Base Recreation Camp and Red's Cove.

County agent Scot Durham says he's only heard one area farmer—rancher complain about too much rain. He said most of them say after last summer's drought they can't complain about this year's rainfall, which has already accumulated over 25 inches.

The lack of rainfall last year cost many farmers their crops and caused many ranchers to have to sell their livestock because they couldn't afford supplemental feeding.

Restaurant owners, Irene Hildebrand and Evelyn Summers both say things are better so far this year in their businesses. Hildebrand said with the lake up lots of folks from San Antonio stop in Adolph's on weekends.

Summers reports she's serving more people from San Antonio and visitors to Thousand Trails now that the lake level has increased.

Thousand Trails preserve manager Hal Olson reports they average up to 150 families camping on the preserve on weekends, compared to an average of about 90 last summer.

"Fishing has been good all summer," reported Lehman at Bob's Cove. She said a lot of their guests come out just to fish and picnic and enjoy the scenery.

Nova Langner, a manager for a Lone Star convenience store said business is definitely up this summer, and she attributed it to the lake level. "Lots of people from San Antonio are out on weekends," she said.

Willis Foreman, manager of the Lackland AF Base Recreation Camp in Mico, said they are averaging 25 families a day there, and even more on weekends. He said the military-related families enjoy boating, skiing, and fishing.

"We still can't allow swimming, because of the cliffs near the water line, but it's much better than last summer," he said. They hosted a group of 35 handicapped youngsters last week, he said, an experience he called rewarding.

Jane Swager, owner of Janes Log Cabin Gift Shop, said her business has increased. She said she sees lots of people from San Antonio in her shop now on weekends.

Ronnie Basinger says his real estate business is some better this year, but it hasn't picked up the way he hoped. He opened his office about a year and a half ago.

Lehman and Hildebrand have been in business at the lake since before the terrible drought of the 1950s. The lake was described then as only a gigantic mud puddle.

During those times, Lehman and her late husband Bob farmed in the lake bed. They planted 70 acres of hay and sometimes got two crops a year, using the underground water supply. Their cows grazed in the lake bed.

Publicity last summer may have left people with the impression the lake was dry. So far there's been no publicity on the lake rising.

At one point the lake level was so low, they had to put in electric fences to keep their cows from walking all the way across the lake. She said they brought their cows to higher ground as the lakewater would rise and take over the farmed areas.

Hildebrand has seen many businesses open and close since she and her first husband, Adolph Mazurek, opened the doors at Adolph's in 1931.

The business had been a filling station and auto repair garage. As the needs of the community changed, their business has changed from building supplies to ice house, and from lumber to today's restaurant, store and bar.

Her son, Adolph Jr. and his wife Rena Kay operate the business now, but Irene is usually around.

Folks who've been in business as long as these two have a philosophy about the lake and it's level "it always comes back," they say. And with the lake level comes the people looking for a place away from the hustle and bustle.

Family Land Heritage Registry

Bandera County landowners who have possession of land held continuously by their families for 100 years are invited to have their holdings listed in the state's Family Land Heritage Registry, says Bandera County historian Peggy Tobin.

The land heritage registry is maintained by the Texas Department of Agriculture, and forms for the 12th annual heritage awards are available at the Bandera County judge's office, says Mrs. Tobin, chairman of the Bandera County Historical Commission. "The farmers and ranchers of our state are struggling, and too many are on the brink of broke," says Agricultural Commission, Tim Hightower. "At such a time it is more important than ever for us to pause and recognize those families who have persevered for a century or more."

Weddings

Closs-Moseley

Amy Louise Closs of Portland, Ore., and James Jeffrey Moseley of Bandera were married on June 29 at The Farm west of Bandera.

The bride is the daughter of Mary Lou Closs Guenther and E.R. Closs III of Portland. Parents of the groom are Mr. & Mrs. Jack Moseley of Miami.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The maid of honor was the bride's sister, Melanie. The flower girl was Ann Ross, the groom's niece.

The best man was Jack Moseley, father of the groom. The ushers were Johnny Boyle, Jack Moseley, brother of the groom; Byron Boyd; and Rob Closs, brother of the bride. The ring bearer was Travis D'Spain, the groom's nephew.

The Rev. Richard Jackson of the United Methodist Church in Bandera presided at the double-ring ceremony, performed outside in the country setting of The Farm.

The bride wore a floor-length white satin gown and a veil handmade by Midge Moseley.

The dress had lace sleeves, and a white satin hoop skirt bellowed over with lace. She carried a bouquet of gardenias, burgundy carnations, and stephanotis.

The maid of honor wore a floor-length burgundy taffetta gown with lace at the neck. She held a clutch of burgundy carnations and gardenias mixed with greenery.

The groom, best man and ushers wore charcoal grey tuxedos, with the groom wearing tails, with a grey, striped ascot. The groom chose to wear high cut black, leather riding boots.

Following the wedding a reception was held at The Farm. The guests were treated to the sounds of the Los Gringos band of Bandera, and were served finger sandwiches and dips.

Mrs. Jimmy Hansen made the groom's German Chocolate cake in the shape of a mandolin. The bride's cake was made by Erna Koenig and was a four-tiered cake with lemon filling.

The couple honeymooned in West Palm Beach, Fla., and took a three-day cruise to the Bahamas. They plan on making their home in Bandera.

Swint-Seale

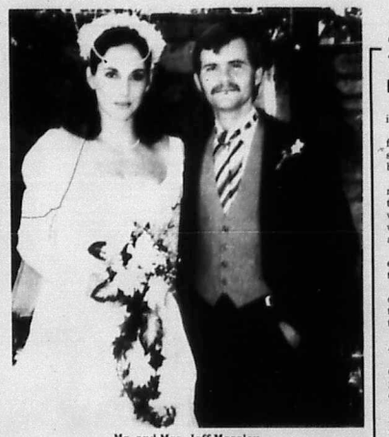

Robin Frances Seale and David Alan Swint were married on Saturday, June 15, in the College Avenue Church of Christ at Medina.

The impressive double-ring ceremony was officiated by Dempsey Simpson of Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Calvin H. Seale of Medina and the groom is the son of Amy Bradfield of Austin and Don Swint of Baytown.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Jay Seale of Fredericksburg. She wore a white gown of taffeta by Mori Lee.

The bodice features a high neck trimmed with Alencox lace seed pearls. It had long straight sleeves with puffed shoulders. The lampshade ruffled skirt falls into a chapel length train. The bride wore a hat with seed pearls and net, which gave her a total look.

Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Moseley

She carried a cascade of sterling silver roses, white carnations and babys breath. She wore an old gold heirloom locket, belonging to her grandmother, Lula Hart of Graham. A borrowed white linen lace handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Elsie Seale of Medina and the traditional blue garter and a penny in her shoe.

Lisa Britt of Medina was maid

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

The Bandera Bulletin issue of July 22, 1960 reported "fine rains have fallen in all parts of the county this week. Bandera has received between six and seven inches since Friday, a week's time."

Orville Weir of Medina reported as much as nine inches of rain fell at Medina during the week. He said the rain came in soft showers and all soaked into the ground. He called it a most beneficial precipitation.

James Jacoby, 14 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Jacoby, was making splendid recovery from a gun shot wound he suffered to the face, the Bulletin reported. The accident happened when he was scuffling with his younger brother. The .22-caliber bullet which lodged in the flesh of his face inflicted damage to his mouth and teeth.

He was released from the hospital several days sooner than expected because of his rapid recovery. Doctors did not remove the bullet.

Through the united cooperation of the Bandera merchants, a contract was signed with the Bandera Gunslingers to perform on the streets of Bandera throughout the remainder of the season through Labor Day.

The "Gunslingers" were a professional group from San Antonio.

The rough and tough group of "lead slingin'" gunslingers displayed the 'trial and hangin' of the well known horse thief, pore Cherokee Bill. He was hung from the hangin' tree on the courthouse lawn.

D. W. (Speedy) Hicks told a Bulletin reporter after returning from the Democratic Convention in Los Angeles, it was a wonderful experience to attend the convention, even though he was somewhat disappointed in the outcome.

After returning from Los Angeles, Hicks left for Huntsville to accompany his daughter, Jeanine, Elsie Faurie, Jamie Sue Nixon, Jean Daniels, and Noahlene Bergman. The young ladies attended a cheerleader school in Huntsville.

According to Ada Ender, secretary of the Bandera County ASC committee, 448 chicks went out to county ranchmen for shorn wool and unshorn lambs. Total amount paid to ranchmen was $80,776.68.

In Medina news, Mrs. Bobby (Tootie) Mayfield was honored with a pink and blue shower in the home economics cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon Seale were vacationing in Colorado with their children.

Commissioners' Court approved a contract with Edward Johnson of Medina Lake where by Commissioner Jim Edwards of Pipe Creek could purchase caliche from Johnson and pay for same by doing work on Goat Hill Road.

The court also approved a sub-division plat submitted by Warren Settlemeyer containing 5.7 acres of subdivision C of Lake Medina Highlands.

Wesch-Boyd

Joan Marie Wesch and Bobby Boyd were married at Concordia Lutheran Church in San Antonio, July 19. The Rev. Robert Jaeger officiated.

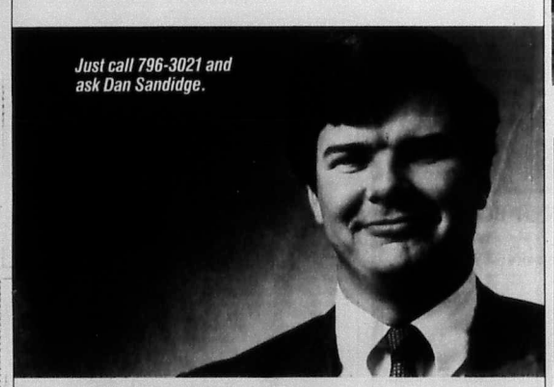

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. George Wesch of Medina Lake. Boyd is the son of Sue Boyd of Bandera and Gene Boyd of San Antonio.

Nancy Stephens served as maid of honor and T.J. Hicks as best man.

The couple will make their home in Bandera.

Taxes

"Before calling or filing a protest, however, they should check around for recent sales of property that is very similar and check the Bulletin for similar property listed for sale," he suggested.

Prices may have increased more than property owners realize, he said.

Persons who wish to file a formal protest and appear before the Bandera County Appraisal Review Board must complete an official protest form and return it by Aug. 14.

The ARB is scheduled to meet Aug. 14-23 to hear protests that have not been resolved by appraisal district personnel, Reagan said.

The appraisals produced by his office are currently being reviewed by the State Property Tax Board, Reagan said.

Reagan emphasized that his office does not increase the taxes on property in Bandera County. That, of course, is the job of the taxing entity's own governing body, like the commissioners court, the school board or the city of Bandera.

"A complete reappraisal which raises the district's total taxable value should reduce tax rates across the board," the chief appraiser said.

Taxing bodies are currently in the process of writing their budgets for the coming year. When the budgets are finalized, tax rates are established by calculating the tax rate necessary to raise funds to cover the budgets based on the newly-appraised value of property.

Property owners who do not receive their notice of appraised value by Aug. 5 should call Reagan's office at 796-3039 or come by his office one block off State Highway 16 in the old courthouse building.

Reagan agreed with Bandera school assessor-collector Charles Purdy who told school trustees last week that it may be as late as Nov. before tax statements are mailed.

Not true, however, was the contention that his office still has some 25 subdivisions to evaluate. "The reappraisal which began last October is completed," Reagan said.

Aggies cited

Wendy P. Frazier of Pipe Creek and Deyanira Romo of Bandera have earned "Distinguished Student" status at Texas A&M University, the school announced this week.

Frazier is a sophomore animal science student and Romo is a junior English major.

Recipients of the "Distinguished Student" honor must be registered for 15 semester hours and earned at least 3.25 grade-point ratio out of a 15 possible 4.0

"Things have been slow," Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said on Tuesday. "We've only got five prisoners in our jail today."

Mingo reported three arrests made by Texas Department of Public Safety officer Dan Butts in the past week. Ramiro Rodriguez Jr., 25, of Bandera was arrested July 21 and charged with driving while intoxicated.

Both, Marty Jo Gray, 20, of Medina and Guillermo Jesus Garcia, 23, of San Antonio were arrested on July by Officer Butts on charges of public intoxication and possession of narcotic paraphernalia. Gray was also charged with some traffic offenses. Towers assessed fines of $245 for Gray and $186 for Garcia.

Wayne Cummins of Bandera reported he negotiated to sell his pickup truck, and the supposed buyer took the truck and drove to the bank, supposedly to get the money to pay Cummins. But, Cummins said, he never came back with the money and he hadn't seen him since.

Mingo said the case will go to the grand jury July 26.

Archeological presentation planned for Aug. 1

A lecture and slide presentation of the archeologic excavations done by University of Texas at San Antonio students at Oak Country in Eastern Bandera County will be presented Thursday, Aug. 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the First National Bank's board room.

Joe LaBadie, research associate at UTSA, and George Deaton, graduate student and professional archeologist, will present information on how Indians made arrowheads and other stone tools and what the students learned of the use of the site in Oak Country.

Artifacts may be brought to the meeting by interested persons for identification, a spokesman said.

The event is sponsored by the Frontier Times Museum, says Jerry Lasater. "It's the beginning of an effort to make the museum a bigger part of our community life," Lasater said.

It is free and open to the public.

Kerr fair July 26-28

The Xerox 1020 Marathon Copier
Was $1795.
NOW ONLY $1595.
(Stand Optional)

Another Marathon Copier That Loves To Run

Goes The Extra Distance Beyond everyday copy jobs, the 1020 handles all kinds of hard-to-copy originals: linework and solid areas; colored originals, different shades of blue writing, light pencil, green and red inks, yellow crayon. They're all copied clearly, cleanly, and without background problems. Use the five Contrast Control settings to pinpoint copy quality. Settings automatically reset to "normal" after 60 seconds. For bulky originals, the platen cover detaches instantly.

Strong On Flexibility The 1020 isn't limited to specially-coated copy paper. So, it copies onto bond papers in 13-24 lb. weights; colored stocks, adhesive mailing labels, overhead transparencies, three-hole-punched paper, pre-printed forms, and your own company letterhead. One paper tray holds 100 sheets of all your copy sizes: 5½ x 8½, 8½ x 11, 8½ x 13 and 8½ x 14. The easy-loading tray snaps securely into place for precise, reliable paper feeding.

The Sprint-Size Marathon You get all this in a 17" x 17" x 11" copier that weighs only 75 lbs., fits in practically anywhere, and — after a 35-second warm-up — is ready to run and run... and run.

Bandera trickropers to be a part of Festival's 'cast of thousands'

When the cutain rises on the 14th annual Texas Folklife Festival August 1-4, the drama of Texas' rich past is brought back to life through a cast and crew which includes the twirling talents of trickropers Kevin Fitzpatrick and Bruce Montague of Bandera.

Fitzpatrick and Montague both began roping as children. Fitzpatrick started when he was 12, taking lessons from his father, a rodeo bull rider in the 1930s and 40s. Montague started by imitating rodeo ropers and throwing lassoes around unsuspecting animals on his father's ranch.

Sponsored by the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio, the Festival is an annual extravaganza dramatizing the state's ethnic diversity and pioneer heritage.

A cast of nearly 6,000 participants from communities throughout the state, including Bandera, share folkways of their ancestors for an audience composed of more than 100,000 visitors. During the Festival's four-day run, the Institute's grounds are transformed into a 15-acre outdoor theater featuring scenes of pioneer Texas, culinary delights from the many ethnic groups who settled and developed the state, and 10 stages of continuous entertainment.

Headlining the even is the "Back 40" area, backdrop for the Festival's frontier craftsmen. The Festival's log kitchen is the stage for lye soap making demonstrations, while stage left wheelwrights and blacksmiths ply their trade. Others are cast as quilters and roof thatchers, sheep shearers and goose pluckers. Impromptu audience participation is encouraged.

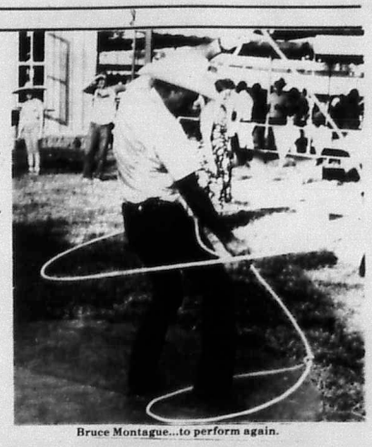

Providing the sound mix are musicians playing an accompanying score with bagpipes, zithers, dulcimers, flamenco guitars and other traditional instruments. The soundtrack includes everything from foot-stomping swing music to soulful gospel tunes.

An array of palate-pleasing foods await enthusiasts of the Festival's multi-cultural theater. The playbill features Scottish haggis and Lebanese kibbe (meat loaf), which can be followed with a command performance of Wendish noodles and Ukrainian varaneke (potato-stuffed dumpling).

Dancing is yet another highlight of the Festival program of activities. Performers clad in colorful costumes present the folk dances of Chili, Norway, Mexico, Poland and many others. Audience members are offered the chance to perform center stage in the celebrated Filipino tinikling dance.

Festival curtain times are 5-11 p.m. Friday, Aug. 2 and noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 3 and 4. Admission is $5 for adults, $1 for children ages 6-12, and free for children under 6. For more information, or to order tickets, call (512) 226-7651.

Kevin Fitzpatrick and Bruce Montague both began roping as children.

THERE'S SAFETY IN NUMBERS.

50 Years Of Financial Service. First Federal Savings is one of the safest, strongest places you'll find to take care of your financial business.

And we've got the numbers to prove it. We've been serving the Hill Country for over a half-century, growing and expanding each year to become one of the strongest financial institutions in the state. Today, we're meeting the lending and savings needs of people all over Central Texas, with 27 branch offices and 350 employees.

$800 Million In Assets. Our financial strength has increased steadily for as long as we've been in business. This year, our assets reached $800 million. With a net worth of more than $48 million, we also have the capital base necessary to pass stringent federal requirements. Our net worth to assets ratio testifies to our strength, too. At the 1984 fiscal year end it was twice as high as required by federal guidelines, and higher than any savings institution in Texas of $100 million or more.

FSLIC insurance to $100,000. Stability, steady growth and financial strength are all good measures of the financial security First Federal offers. But there's one other important means we offer to safeguard your interests: federal insurance.

As a federally-chartered savings and loan, First Federal is backed by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, which insures accounts to the maximum allowed by law. At First Federal, you enjoy federal insurance on your deposits up to $100,000.

Mada Wedgworth

Rev. Richard Jackson from the First United Methodist Church used for his text Sunday, Ephesians 2:11-22. Judy Goodenough was the pianist. We are enjoying the pretty floral arrangement they brought us. Thanks for being so thoughtful. Those registering were Rev. Jackson, Elizabeth Jackson, Elizabeth Jackson, Beth Brock, Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick, Eva Freeman and Judy Goodenough.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner Simmons of Tengue, Texas visited their aunt Edith Edwards.

Ava Parker visited her mother Lura Walters.

Jack and Ola Crawford of Houston, Edith Johnson of Seattle, Washington and Bill Allen of Medina visited Cynthia Mayberry.

Hoyt Hamrick had Bible reading Wednesday in the absence of Martin Smith. The Smith's were on vacation in Florida. Twelve residents attended the services. Shirley Philips and her sons Kyle and Kelly were guests.

Thanks to the American Legion Auxiliary from Lakehills for the party last Wednesday afternoon. Delicious refreshments were served by Barbara George and Eloise Stowe.

Mr. and Mrs. Benny Bailey of San Antonio visited his mother Dessie Bailey.

Elaine Clark of Medina visited friends Wednesday afternoon.

Claude Buck visited Willie Leibold and other friends last week.

Thanks to Mrs. R.C. Christian for the delicious cantaloupe and to Jeanene Hicks for the delicious tomatoes and peaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bowman of Lakehills came by and took his sister, Lorena Bowman to Kerrville. They went shopping in the River Hills Mall and visited with their cousins Willie Lee and Read Morgan, who are school teachers.

Barbara Phillips and Pat Dunlap of Ft. Mill, South Carolina visited Myrtle Heinen. They took Myrtle to San Antonio for the day.

Weldon Jones was the speaker for the First Baptist Church of Pipe Creek when they came for their regular monthly meeting last Friday evening. He used for his text Proverbs 3:5-6. Jeanene Mansfield was the songleader. Connie Mansfield played a couple of lovely songs on the piano. Guitarist were Elaine Stockton and Brent Mansfield. A special song, "On the Wings of a Snowwhite Dove" was sung by J.B. and Helen Edwards and Jeanene and Connie Mansfield. Those signing our guest book were Connie Mansfield, Helen Edwards, J.B. Edwards, Brent Mansfield, Jeanene Mansfield, Weldon Jones, Elaine Stockton, and Gussie Hargrave.

Florence Schmidt and Ervin Heyen visited Hulda Heyen.

Thanks to Mary Stein for coming by and taking Evelyn Hostetter to mass at the Catholic Church.

Visiting Ernest Rainey were his wife Mrs. Rainey and son David Rainey.

Jimmie R. Sasthoff visited her Aunt Mae Armstrong.

Raymond and Aggie Batto visited their aunt Ruth Batto and their uncle Joe Mazurek.

Brack Hoggett spent Sunday with relatives at his home in Center Point.

We're sorry to report two deaths over the weekend. Elsie Seale passed away Saturday afternoon and Hal Greer early Monday morning. Mr. Greer had made his home with us for eight years and Mrs. Seale for four years. We will miss both of them. We extend our sympathy to all their loved ones.

Thanks to Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick for coming by and taking Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ Sunday. They visited friends while here.

Agnes Fortinberry enjoyed a nice visit from her daughter Claire Thaman of Kerrville.

We welcome two new members to our family. Ruby Hillman and Elizabeth Heisler. We hope they will enjoy their stay with us.

Olen and Lura Lee Hughes and Les, Martha and Mark Bierman visited Ethel Putt.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Merris took his mother Mildred Woltersdorf for dinner at the O.S.T. Sunday.

Fannie Caffall and Alice Galle visited Ruby Hillman.

Thanks to the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department for all the nice books.

Linnie Beth Arquette visited her aunt Donna Mayfield.

Sam Armstrong of Pipe Creek visited his mother Mae Armstrong Monday afternoon.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

The Tarpley Community Center Building was the setting for a delicious dinner Saturday night, sponsored by the Williams Creek Extension Indies.

Twenty-two persons came to enjoy the fellowship and games at this annual family event of the club.

Visitors

Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. K.I. Strand were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Strand and family of De Sota, near Dallas.

Little Visitors

The Bill Morrises and son Billy have as guests for several days their grandchildren, Brett and Allison Seamans of San Antonio.

Church visitors

Visitors at church Sunday were R.E.J. and Marie Norrod of Lufkin, Todd and Betty Rogers of Houston, and Jessica and Joey Newberry of Kennedy.

Visitors of Bro. and Mrs. Jerry Jones over the weekend were their three daughters and families. Mrs. Carol Newberry and two children, Joey and Jessica, of Kennedy; Kathie and Kirby Huertner of Karnes City and two daughters; and Betty and Todd Rogers of Houston. Joey and Jessica remained over for awhile to visit their grandparents.

Other visitors on Saturday were old friends Bill and Lenna Walker & granddaughter Roxanne of Midland.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson are enjoying several days of visiting with old friends from Lufkin, Rej and Marie Norrod.

Attend Dinner

Elzie and Nettie Dean drove to Hondo Saturday to attend a birthday celebration for Elzie's brother, Lewis, 79, at the home of Joyce and Jim Gray.

Barbeque, salads, and cakes were served to about 50 guests. The youngest guest was 6-month old Cody Balzen and the oldest was Lewis Dean. The guests who came the farthest were Mr. and Mrs. Ed Ryan of Memphis, Tenn.

Golden wedding

The R.C. Cutlers celebrated their 50th "Golden" wedding anniversary at the Baptist Church of Utopia Saturday afternoon.

Many of their Rio Hondo Subdivision friends and neighbors attended and report a lovely anniversary party.

Friends came from many areas, and approximately 100 guests were there.

Surgery Performed

Alvina Reiber of Hondo underwent surgery last Friday at the Methodist Hospital. She is as well as can be expected at this time. Alvina formerly lived near Tarpley and her friends here wish her a complete recovery.

Celebrates Birthday

Last Thursday Bobby and Skeets Singleton drove to San Antonio to help honor Rigdon Terrel on his 81st birthday.

Those of his family that helped make it a fun day for him were his wife Virginia and Dorothy and Bill Maness of San Antonio and their daughter Roxanne; and their son's wife Dottie Gross and her children Katie, Karen, and Benny of Dallas.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Someone once said, "Smile at people. It takes 72 muscles to frown, and only 14 to smile!"

A smile costs nothing, but creates much. A smile enriches those who give. A smile can happen in a flash, but the memory of it sometimes lasts forever. None are so rich that they can get along without it, and none are so poor, but are richer for its benefits. A smile creates happiness in the home, and fosters good will in business. A smile can not be bought, borrowed, or stolen. A smile is something that is no earthly good to anybody until it is given away. If at sometime you meet someone who fails to give you a smile, give one of your own. For nobody meets a SMILE as much as those who have none left to give.....

Around The Lake

Lila MacMillan — 751-2586

Reading headlines here in the Bulletin office and in other newspapers can be downright alarming, particularly some in recent months that indicate San Antonio and Bexar County consider Lake Medina part of their metropolis.

A front page picture of a San Antonio newspaper Tuesday morning caught the eyes of many Medina Lake residents. There, among other contestants in the Miss Texas-USA Pageant was Miss Lake Medina. Her name is Cynde Watson. That's all the paper could tell us of this attractive young lady.

With guilt feelings for not being on top of the local news, I phoned pageant headquarters in San Antonio. A spokeswoman for the pageant assured me Watson was indeed a resident of the lake area. She said Watson was a Miss San Antonio Teen last year and thereby eligible to participate in the Miss Texas-USA Pageant with the title Miss Lake Medina.

I explained about Sue Pickett, the lovely young lady that was selected to represent the area as Miss Lakehills in the pageant held in May at Lake Medina.

"Oh," she said, "she wouldn't be eligible to be in the Miss Texas-USA competition." Again, she explained to me that Watson was eligible because she was Miss San Antonio Teen last year and now she's of age to be in the Miss Texas-USA Pageant.

Since she couldn't answer several questions I asked about Watson's background, I requested an interview with Miss Lake Medina. Watson assured, "I'm from the lake area, I live in Rolling Oaks Estates, off Talley and Potranco Roads."

The 1984 graduate of John Marshall High School took technical drafting at San Antonio College last year and says she will major in the field of fashion merchandising. The charming 18-year-old said she couldn't remember where she and her family come when they relax at the lake.

I went to my new revised Medina Lake Area Fire Department map, to locate Rolling Oaks Estates. It would show all the new developments that have opened. Nope, it wasn't there.

Then I went to the San Antonio papers, real estate section. There, big as life, was an ad for Rolling Oaks Estates. The ad says take a trip to the country, without leaving San Antonio. "It's located just 7½ miles from Loop 410. No mention at all that they were part of Medina Lake.

How can officials for such large pageants decide who will represent communities without even consulting the people of the area?

Actually Miss Lake Medina is one of seven contestants from San Antonio. Only one of them can use the Miss San Antonio-USA title. The other six are Miss Fiesta City, Miss Bexar County, Miss Alamo City, Miss Ingram Park, Miss River City, and Miss Lake Medina. These seven young ladies will compete against 105 other contestants for the number one title of Miss Texas-USA.

The titles were bestowed on the contestants by the powers that be with the largest state pageant franchise, owned by Guy Rex, Inc. They claim they're the largest in the nation.

If they can sit in San Antonio and appoint anyone they please to represent Lake Medina, they may even have the power to name a representative for the Cowboy Capital in future contests.

Perhaps they are of the same breed of publicity specialists that decided a judge and four ambassadors from Bexar County should make up the official welcoming committee when Roy Rogers visited Lake Medina last year, overlooking the fact completely that Rogers' appearance was in Bandera County and Bandera County does have it's own county judge and goodwill ambassadors.

Another headline in the Bulletin this week concerns a story about the Edwards Underground Acquifer needing first rights on the water in Medina and Bandera Counties. These powers that be in the metropolis really believe our water rights should be restricted to insure them more water. Recall the Applewhite reservior they proposed a while back.

For years lake residents have joked about being annexed by San Antonio. Perhaps we should stop joking and start preventive measures.

Pipe Creek

Stunts due Saturday at benefit event

Stuntmen of the Legends of the Old West stunt team will perform two shows Saturday during a benefit for Hal Nelson of Pipe Creek at Kelly's Shamrock on Highway 16 southeast of Pipe Creek.

The stunt shows, a barbecue, an auction and free dancing from 4 p.m. until midnight are planned to raise funds to help Nelson pay medical costs resulting from a motorcycle accident in which Nelson sustained serious leg injuries.

The stuntmen, headed by Marvin Richardson, will perform a medicine show and a skit they call "the Sod Busters" at 3:30 p.m. and 5 p.m., and trick roper Mike Lowery will give a demonstration of his skills at 6 p.m.

Music for dancing will be provided by Bill Baker and the Outlaws and by Manny's Music Box. Barbecue will sell for $3.50 per plate.

Stuntmen and women expected to perform include Rosa Richardson, Allen Richardson, Hagen Savage, Bob Wheeler, Lowery, Joe Glasscock, Shana Hicks, Javier Sanchez, Chacho Sanchez, Steve Rangel and John Hutchison.

The Medicine Show is a parody of the old-time traveling salesmen of patented medicines. "It has a lot of comedy and good stunts," the Legends say when a free-for-all breaks up and there is gunplay.

"The Sod Buster" is a serious drama of "the good guys" and the "bad guys" of the old West. "This is a strong story with a John Wayne ending," the Legends said.

Lakehills

Condolences

Our heartfelt sympathy goes to the loved ones of Dr. Mary Louise Evans. She died in San Antonio July 19. She lived at the lake for many years and will be remembered for the many generous contributions of her time, energy, and materials made to the Lakehills community. She was involved in the building of the American Legion home, Hermann Sons Lodge, and other organizations in Lakehills.

She and her close friend Edwina Adame were in the restaurant business for several years at the present location of the A&L Mexican Restaurant. When they left that location they built the restaurant where Evelyn's is now located.

Not long after moving into the new remodeled facility, she became ill and moved to San Antonio. She was also a practicing chiropractor in San Antonio before her illness forced her to retire.

Birthday recognition

A birthday celebration complete with a birthday cake and lots of friends was held for Norris Dohrow at Evelyn's Restaurant Tuesday morning. Dorhow was recently released from the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville.

On Monday evening he dined in Boerne with his family and was surprised when the pretty waitresses sang "Happy Birthday" to him.

Medina Valley EMS to continue

The Medina Valley EMS will continue to serve Castroville, LaCoste, and east side of Medina Lake, says Sue McAnelly, an official with the service. She says 19 applicants have signed up for training as emergency medical assistants.

The service had announced earlier this month that it would shut down Aug. 1 because it was down to five members and it needed at least 16 members to relieve the workload and stress on the five.

The new members agreed to begin classes Aug. 1 in a 52-hour training program.

"You realize we might have 10 teams?" McAnelly said. "That would be more than we've ever had."

The chapter will pay the $3,400 tuition for applicants.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Playgoers discovered that Jack Dalton, played by the handsome Noel McKay, was the hero, and not the villian, of the play "Curse You, Jack Dalton," and it was the dastardly villian, played by Dr. Bill McKay, who cursed him so unjustly.

The audience at the St. Joseph's auditorium Saturday night, July 20, was properly appreciative of the Medina Lake Players, booing, hissing and shouting their running comments on the action.

The Players' cast also included Ellen Tipton, the Rev. Joyce Slade, Vicki Moore, Allison Kennedy and Jim MacMillan.

The Silver Sage Corral is extremely grateful for this group from a neighboring community, who performed entirely as a benefit for the new senior center.

The half-hour preceding the play was enjoyably filled by Dr. George Meador playing on his violin, and Carter Beach and Mary Joe Kirkpatrick singing authentic Gay Nineties songs, accompanied by Kay Robinson on the auditorium's Steinway grand piano.

Covered dish dinners

Well over 50 people including some from Utopia, signed the register for the July birthday dinner Tuesday, July 16, at the Silver Sage Corral. Mary Worley led "Happy Birthday," and "Yankee Doodle Boy" as a musical tribute.

The meal, as always, was bountiful, but spread out on tables under the sky-lights, it looked especially appetizing. Thanks to Bill McCoy for the efficient layout.

The AARP "indoor picnic" used the same arrangement on Wednesday, July 17, but the menu leaned more toward salads and sandwiches, and of course the traditional chocolate-covered ants.

In a short business meeting preceding the lunch, conducted by Doloras Greene, vice president, it was voted to buy six more folding tables for the Silver Sage Corral, to accomodate a greater number of diners. The Helping Hand Center representative, Al Robinson, reported on the softball game pitting KENS-TV personnel against Helping Hand directors, won hands down by the latter.

The directors approved a request for a monthly donation to the Helping Hand Center, which is the principal source of assistance in the cases of need among Bandera County residents occasional transients.

The legislative chairman also made a plea for members to observe the AARP motto of "To Serve and Not To Be Served," by volunteering in various community projects, specifically the Frontier Times Museum and the Bandera County Library.

Rockhounds

Last Thursday night's meeting of the Rockhounds at Silver Sage Corral was enlivened by the Idaho prospecting of Frank Herrell, who also shared some of his booty with those present. There were some 15 adults and two "pebble pups," a fond nickname for juvenile rock enthusiasts.

Mary Worley guided the group into deciding to meet again on Thursday, Aug. 15, same time and place, and for each person to bring a specimen which he had found in Texas.

A collecting trip is being tentatively planned to the neighborhood of Llano when cooler weather arrives.

Midsummer madness dance

Silver Sage Corral is issuing an invitation to its second evening of dance.

There will be live music, a smooth floor, air conditioning and cold drinks on Saturday, July 27, from 8 p.m. There's no admission charge, but donations will be gladly accepted.

Since dancing is one of the highly favored methods of exercising to music, this is one time the gals do not have to wait for the guys but can dance with each other to their heart's content—and to the benefit of their pulse rate.

Ivy family reunion

Last Saturday, July 13, Alvin and Jessie Ivy held a family reunion at their home. All their children, except Ruby Luck, enjoyed barbecued cabrito and everything to go with it. Among those present were their daughter Edna, husband Allen Mc Fadin, their children; Ruth Ann and husband Ralph Johnson, Pasadena; Gary and Richard Brown and his girlfriend Rhonda, Wand and Ricky Barrett and children Tammy, Gimmy and Jermy; James Ivy and wife Cathy from Tuson, Ariz. Dorothy and Cliff Rosenbaum of Rosenburg; Donna and Phill Young and son Jason Jr., Joy Rosenbaum and Linda Of Houston; Cathy and Gary Berry and Chris of Carrizo Springs; Lee and Hettie Briggs, Vanderpool; Les and Rachel Short of Divide; and Kenneth and Betty Flo Leighton, Vanderpool.

Oklahoma visitor

Kandy Hollis of Balko, Okla., spent six weeks here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Neff of Vanderpool.

Kandy is the daughter of Eva and Alvin Hollis. They took her home July 1 and Franklin became sick in Perryton and was hospitalized until July 14 before coming home.

Divide visitor

Guests of Les, Rachel and Bill Short during the weekend were Dr. Byron Baker, Richmond; Joe Favor, Houston; Bob and Lucille Davenport, Gene and Lola Morehouse, Comfort; Joe and Beverly Short, Clare Jo and Rick Anderson, Bandera; and Hunter Botman, Camp Verde.

More visitors

The Rev. and Mrs. Donald Dibbens of Vanderpool attended the 40th anniversary celebration of the Apostalic Church in Spearman.

Donald was a former pastor there and brought the dedication services that afternoon. Several more pastors were present for the morning and night services. Donald was the oldest pastor there. He pastored from 1946 to 1952.

The Dibbens then visited a brother and wife, the Mr. and Mrs. Preston Dibbens, in Cherry, Kan., and the Rev. and Mrs. Leland Grimmer in Hardesty, Okla.

Barbecue supper

A 5 p.m. barbecue supper in honor of newly weds Mike and Stephanee Kellner will be given Sunday at Utopia Park.

Rain Friday

Neighbors received 1 inch of rain Friday while we received only a shower. Some had hay on the ground and didn't really want rain Friday, but we take it as we get it. Many farmers have saved their hay, however.

Lillie Thompson was transported by EMS to Sid Peterson hospital in Kerrville, Sunday afternoon. She will undergo some tests before being released.

Bandera's Melodiers sing at Utopia Senior meeting

Allen Baca of the Texas Department on aging will be at the Utopia Community Center on July 26 at 2 p.m.

The director of Mid-Rio Grande Council of Government, is experienced and knowledgeable in the procedures necessary to establish a foundation.

Everyone who is interested in helping the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council to get established as a foundation is urged to come and hear Baca.

The Sabinal Canyon Senior Council met at the Community Center in Utopia for a covered-dish luncheon and heard Norbert Lyssy of the Lost Maples Store in Vanderpool, offer a 10 percent discount on all items, except gasoline and tobacco, to members of the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council.

Identification cards are being printed, Lyssy says.

President Monsees announced that the next regular meeting of the council will be an ice cream social on Aug. 9 at the Methodist Education Building at 7:30 p.m. Everyone is urged to attend.

She also announced that Allen Baca of the Texas Department on Aging will speak in Utopia at the Community Building on July 26 at 2 p.m. Baca is director of Mid-Rio Grande Council of Governments. He will speak on establishing a foundation.

A luncheon was served to 52 members and 17 guests.

The Melodiers, the singing group from the Silver Sage Corral in Bandera, are now in their fifth year of entertaining.

The Melodiers started with just two members, "One knew the words to a thousand songs and one knew the piano music to a thousand songs, so they decided to share their love for music with others," one said.

Now 15 strong, they play and sing in nursing homes, AARP chapters, senior centers, club meetings, and other programs in Bandera and neighboring towns.

There were 14 present and they sang a montage of songs covering an international scope, the theme music of which was "Contributions of Other Nations to American Music."

They were accompanied by a violin, piano, and two autoharps. Their mascot, Hiram, a puppet, joined them in singing, "I'm an Old Cowhand."

Everyone joined the group in singing their closing number, "How Great Thou Art." The talented entertainers received a standing ovation for their performance.

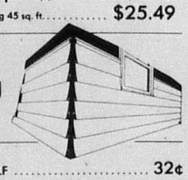

Performers included Al and Kay Robinson, Dean and Florence Isaacs, Judy Goodenough, Helen Abrescia, Minnie Hayes, Fannie Caffal, Mary Worley, Bill Hathaway, Delores Greene, June Westmeyer, Mabel Kentner, Vernall Mullenax and Hiram.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Jeff and Edna Brown are back to stay at their waterfront home at Wharton's Dock.

Jeff has been feeling under the weather and the physicians feel the climate here is better for him.

Congratulations go out to Fred and Pat Burt who celebrated their 52nd wedding anniversary on July 22.

Gus and Katie Orr from Evant stopped in at the Ciarlos Thursday, July 18, for an overnight visit. The Orrs and Ciarlos are old military friends, having served together in Alaska and at Fort Benning, Ga.

Bob and Judy Hines and two of their sons, Tim and Chris, came in for the evening to enjoy some of Betty's good cooking.

The Orrs were on their way to visit Katie's mother in Lytle. They had their granddaughter, Shoshana Lee, with them, and she stole everyone's heart.

Maradelle De Witt has been feeling bad and we hope she gets well real soon and back on the fast lane right back to playing bingo.

My dog, Junior, is happy again. Ken Parks is out of the hospital, and he and his wife Renee are taking their morning walks again. Junior goes with them. Ken is doing real well and is slowly regaining his strength.

Bill Stevens, known in the area for his pinto beans, had his grandson, Brandon Evans, over from Kerrville for a visit. They went fishing together, and Brandon caught a 2½-pound catfish. It is hard to tell which one is the proudest, grandpa or grandson.

Talk about fishing, it is reported that T. Blakney got a 27-pound catfish plus some smaller ones. I am sure you will smell the fish frying very soon.

The anniversary party Saturday, July 20, at the Copper Lantern for Ritch and Danna Simmons and Denney and Bernice Fairbarin was a great success. The music was furnished by Jerry Kennedy and Jim Cox and his wife, and Denney Fairbarin joined in with his banjo.

Lucy Rogers, Vince and Yolanda and daughter Melanie, Kenneth Simmons, and Gary and Chris Simmons and their son Aaron were all there to insure a great time was had.

Walter Burrell came up from San Antonio and picked up Ruby, Lance, and James Andreas and took them back to San Antonio to see the movie ET.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department's rummage sale was a success with more money being raised for the equipment needed. A big thank you goes out to all the women who helped on that day and to Ken Parks and Floyd Portman who came down at the end of the day to help with the clean up. And to all of you who came out and spent some of your money, the firefighters say thank you.

Ida Klaus and Dolly are back at their home on the river at Wharton's Dock.

The planned for Freda Jo Sercy is planned for Aug. 11 from 4 p.m. to 10 p.m. Food will be served at cost and music will be furnished by Floyd Little, Denny Fairbarin, Lucy Searcy and Caesar Masse.

For more information concerning this benefit which will be held at the Copper Lantern, call Mary K. or Dana Simmons at 796-4144.

There will be a Singspiration at 7 p.m., Friday, July 26, at the Walker Memorial Chapel, and another watermellon feast under the big oak tree.

Eldridge Bond was transported by the Bandera EMS early Sunday Morning to Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland AFB in San Antonio. He was admitted and it was reported that Eldridge has a collapsed lung.

Bill and Lenna Walker enjoyed trying to keep up with their granddaughter Lenna Roxanne, who spent the past week with them. Bill and Lenna took Roxanne back to Midland on Monday.

There will be a birthday party for La Verne, the daughter of Dennis Crow, at the Copper Lantern on July 28. Everyone is welcome, says Dennis.

Maradelle and Chuck De Witt have a house full of visitors with Maradelle's daughter Linda Wright and her three children, Jennifer, Kris and Katy, and two other grandchildren, Samuel and Naomie Pitamber from San Antonio.

While here the children are all attending Bible school in Bandera. They all enjoyed playing in the river in front of Mary Well's home Sunday. They were having so much fun that Mary Wells joined in.

Mary Rojas had a close call Saturday, July 13, when she and her family and the Smally family were tubing in Lake Medina. Mary cannot swim, and she turned her innertube over and went down.

Her teenage daughter, Gina Rojas, was close by and immediately got her mother's head above water. A1A Smally swam over and helped get Mary to the shore where she was safe, but scared.

Marion Birch will conduct church services Sunday, July 28, at the Walker Memorial Chapel while the Rev. Paul Flanders and his family continue their vacation.

Jerry Anderson was the guest preacher Sunday at the Walker Memorial Chapel. After services Jerry and his wife Janis and their two daughters went to the Ciarlo's home for dinner.

They were joined there with Bryan and Peggy Kendrick and their three children, Stephen, Jason and Sarah. The Kendricks are friends of the Andersons and surprised them by coming up to the Chapel. After all enjoyed Italian Spaghetti dinner, they went to the river where all of them had a good time.

Carter and Doris Beach have just returned from a three week trip through Louisiana, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, Georgia and North Carolina.

They visited friends in Alabama, and relatives in Louisiana and North Carolina. One of the highlights of the trip was in Nashville, Tenn., where Carter and two of his World War II Army Air Corps buddies got together, one of which he had not seen since they got out of the service.

The three of them had all been crew members together on a B-29 (Chattanoogo Choo-Choo). Harold Brown was pilot, Edwin Zaidlicz was bombadier and Carter Beach was navigator.

They spent many hours remembering and reliving some of their past experiences. The three of them all feel extremely blessed not only to have survived, but to have many fruitful years since those war torn days.

A surprise party was given at Comanche Park in San Antonio for Andrea Lynn Tondre, a recent graduate from St. Mary's University. Andrea is the daughter of Richard and Deanie Newman of Wharton's Dock.

Andrea recieved a degree in computer science. Previously she had recieved an associate degree in computer programming at San Antonio College.

Andrea Tondre

The party was planned by her husband, Ronnie Tondre. There were approximately 150 present and each enjoyed Mexican food, chips, dips, sweets, drinks, music and dancing.

Those attending from Wharton's Dock area included John Portman, Jo Jo Mayonga, Floyd and Mary Portman, Dick and Deanie Newman, and friends Ray and La Vonne Burnett.

200 attend Walker event

More than 200 persons consumed 27 freezers of homemade ice cream during the annual Walker Reunion this weekend, it was reported.

About 200 persons attended the reunion's fish fry Friday night, and the same number was present Sunday for hamburgers and ice cream.

The number of participants swelled to more than 200 at noon Sunday for the annual luncheon.

Stacy won the spirited stick horse race and Aaron finished second and Lois third. Pinata were broken by Rick Mayfield, great-grandson of James and Melvina Walker.

The youngest Walker descendant was Krystan Hunter, great great-granddaughter. The youngest person attending was 1 month old Kelli Singleton, daughter of John and DeAnn Singleton.

The oldest male participant was Manual Faris of Colonial Nursing Home in Kerrville and the senior lady present was Ruby Sides, the "queen" of the reunion and the only child of James and Melvina Walker who survives.

Bob Bandy and his son, Jerry Bandy, both of Burleson were the only Bandys present at the reunion.

Family and friends attending were from Fort Worth, Pearsall, Brenham, Kerrville, Bandera, Medina, Nederland, Austin, San Antonio, Del Rio, Uvalde and other cities.

Mexico has always been a sensational vacation spot, but it's especially appealing at the moment due to the favorable exchange rate.

Many new vacation areas have been developed within the past few years, and hotel construction has resulted in the addition of superior accomodations in places which were previously rather primitive. Deluxe hotels and rock-bottom prices are a combination that's hard to beat.

The old standard tourist combination of Mexico City, Taxco and Acapulco is slowly giving way to other combinations of cities or a stay in one of the resort areas. Acapulco, one of the best known tourist destinations, has completed extensive work to make the downtown center more attractive, and the hotels range from high rise to villas with private pools. Puerto Vallarta, a more recent favorite, has been adding hotels along the beach front, each more appealing than the last. Mazatlan, Manzanillo, Cancun and Cozumel are equally popular, each with its own charm and unique character.

The Mexican people are friendly and you don't need a passport. Proof of citizenship and a tourist card are all that's necessary for entry and your dollar will stretch like rubber bands. With little effort, you'll find restaurants in a price range which enables you to eat for a week at less than the price of a deluxe, gourmet meal at home.

Combined with special air fares, Mexico is really hard to resist. Call us soon for a vacation you'll find hard to beat.

Medina

Tootie Mayfield 589-2491
Ellen Walker 589-2697

The United Methodist Church of Medina will have a covered-dish dinner and fellowship after church Sunday, July 28. They invite anyone interested to bring a covered dish and join them.

Birthday party

Friends and relatives who helped her celebrate were her brother and sister, Travis and Stephanie Casey; Courtney Garrison; Steven West; Tremie and Bo Dell Bingham; her cousin Mathew Tee; and Bubba, Brandy, and Mark Farnham.

Sick list

Florine Williams is home from the hospital and is reported doing nicely.

Ward McCollough is reported to be doing real well after his surgery, and he's at home.

Little Charles Barton Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Barton is reported to be in Methodist Hospital in San Antonio in intensive care.

He underwent surgery last Friday to have a fourth tumor removed from his stomach.

He's reported to have started improving this past Monday, the community wishes this little fellow a quick recovery.

Visitors

George M. Scalborn and daughter-in-law, Karen of Spring Valley, Calif., and his sister Velma Wimer and daughter Jody Robbins of San Antonio, were Medina visitors last Wednesday.

George wanted to come by to meet the person writing the news. He said he was a faithful reader and looked forward to her paper.

They were here to see if anyone he knew was still living around here. His family lived here between 1910 and 1918 and they ran a store in friendly cooperation with the Hatfield family.

He proved to be a very knowledgeable person, full of a lot of interesting information, on our area and the people, and he's looking forward to another visit someday.

Jack and Mary Jackson and son Mike of La Porte were up visiting his mom, Dulce Finney of Colonial Nursing Home and he brought her over to visit her daughter and husband, Murry and Mary LeStourgeon.

Burnice Barker of Corpus Christi was here visiting her cousin, Vernon William and his wife Florine. Steven Williams has been here to be with his folks after his mom's surgery.

Chuck Woods of Yorktown is here to be of help to his grandparents, Vernon and Florine Williams.

Brandon Mayfield returned to his home in Garland Saturday after spending two weeks with his grandmother and other family members.

Murry and Mary LeStourgeon entertained a few friends at their home last Saturday with a delicious barbecue.

Fred and Loretta Hund and James and Neda Gallant spent an enjoyable day Sunday in Mathis where they met their 88-year-old aunt, Josephine O'Dockarty, and cousins, Dave O'Dockarty of Anchorage, Alaska, Evelyn Bertrand of Bel Air, Md., all formerly of San Patricio, Tex.

Mrs. O'Dockarty is a sister of Neda and Loretta's mother, the late Martha Wier Taylor, and were members of a pioneer Irish family who settled in the San Patricio area.

Cook books are here

The cook books published by the Senior Citizens Center are on sale at Collins of Texas Sales Room, Trails End Restaurant, the Kountry Kitchen, Grandma's Patchwork, and from several individuals.

These books have over 400 excellent recipes and they will make good gifts. They sell for $6.

Trip to the Holy Land

Two former residents and frequent visitors to Medina, Lucille and Marvin Hatfield, have just returned from a trip to the Eastern Mediterranean.

They were accompanied by their son, Tom, and daughter-in-law, Carol.

The Hatfields flew overnight to Athens, and spent several days in Greece, the birthplace of democracy, before boarding a ship to Egypt and Claro.

From there they made a pilgrimmage to Bethlehem and Jerusalem, then to ancient Greek and Roman ruins in Turkey and the Greek Isles, including many sites visited by the Apostle Paul.

They visited the Isle of Rhodes and Ephesus in Asia Minor, as well as the ancient city of Troy, scene of the legendary wars between the Greeks and the Trojans.

They passed close enough to Beirut to hear gunfire, visited Istanbul (formerly Constantinople), and went through the Athens airport twice within a few days of the hijacking of TWA Flight 847.

They encountered no anti-American sentiment, and Marvin says everyone was courteous and helpful, especially when shopping.

He says if the Lebanese factions do not like us, just think how much they don't like each other!

The trip was organized from The University of Texas at Austin and included two professors who are experts on the area and lectured en route.

Marvin Hatfield was a teacher and superintendent at Medina in the early 1940s. His son, Thomas M., is a dean at The University of Texas at Austin.

Six members of the Medina Future Farmers of America traveled to Houston for the 57th annual State FFA Convention. Approximately 5800 members and guests were registered. Attending from Medina were Kristina Ashley, Ernest Faris, Letitia Huie, Eric Pump, Shana Sill, Tim Wells, and Advisor Dale Naumann. Aaron Alejandro from Boys Ranch was elected as state president for 1985-86.

Graham, Allen engaged

Mr. and Mrs. Perry R. Graham Sr. of Tuleta announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Louise of Ingleside, to Richard Allen of Alice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hulen T. Allen of Luling.

The couple plan a July 27 wedding at 7 p.m. at South Texas Children's Home Chapel near Pettus.

Graham is a 1976 graduate of Pettus High School and earned a bachelor of Science degree from Oral Roberts University in Tulsa in 1982. She is employed as a teacher-coach for Ingleside High School.

She is the granddaughter of Mrs. L.M. Massey of Tuleta and the late Jack and Mary Lou Graham, who were residents of Medina and raised their children there.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 3 | BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS | THURSDAY, AUGUST 1, 1985 | (USPS 046

Augustine de la Cruz of the San Antonio office of the Texas Department of Water Resources, takes a sample of water from the West Prong of the Medina River Tuesday as he was winding up his on-site investigation of a fish kill. The investigation is continuing to determine just what killed about 1,000 fish, but de la Cruz says it has apparently been diluted sufficiently that it no longer poses a threat to fish or humans.

Substance that killed fish diluted quickly, officials say

More than 1,000 fish, ranging in size up to four pounds, were killed on the West Prong of the Medina River this week, apparently by some kind of herbicide, but no health warning was issued to swimmers.

Though at least two San Antonio television stations reported that health officials warned swimmers to stay out of the river for three days, no such warning was ever issued.

On the contrary, an investigator from the Texas Department of Water Resources and Game Warden Carlton Becker both said Tuesday morning it appeared the substance that caused the fish kill had been diluted to the point that it posed no danger downstream.

"I don't anticipate any problems in the main river," said Becker, though his investigation was continuing.

The presence of dead fish in the West Prong was reported Monday by Josey Brown of the Cinco B Ranch, about two miles west of Medina.

She reported the fish to county officials who relayed it to Texas Department of Water Resources officials in San Antonio. County inspector Raymond (Spot) Wright said Augustine de la Cruz left San Antonio within 15 minutes of receiving the report, and was on the scene investigating the kill late into Monday night.

De la Cruz took water samples and fish for investigation in to the Department of Water Resources labs in Austin, but he said it would be three or four weeks before results are received.

Meanwhile Becker was continuing his investigation to determine who sprayed what on brush and trees near the river. The results of his investigation had not been made public Wednesday, however.

"Somebody did some spraying of trees and brush by the river" Becker said Tuesday morning. "We don't know yet what it was, but it was highly toxic. It looks like he used it full strength."

De la Cruz estimated the kill at more than 1,000 and he said Tuesday they had already been dead about three days.

By Tuesday, however, apparently healthy fish were spotted in the area, which is about 100 yards downstream from the Coal Kiln Bridge, and de la Cruz said they had not discovered any fish dying downstream in the main part of the river.

Becker said citations could be issued to persons responsible, if his investigation revealed that it had been intentionally dumped or carelessly handled.

County inspector Raymond (Spot) Wright praised the immediate and dedicated response by the Texas Department of Water Resources, Wright said. "I think he (de la Cruz) ought to be commended."

Wright said when the reports surfaced Monday, he immediately informed some downstream camps that the fish kill had been reported.

Health officials said Wednesday that swimming downstream "was at the swimmers' own risk," which is the case at all times.

New blood sought on river authority

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Stating unanimous oppostition to a proposal which would give the Edwards Underground Water District a role in granting future water rights here, six members of the nine-member Bandera County Water Authority called for new blood in their group.

Two members, Henry Fisher of Vanderpool and Carmen Hicks of Bandera, said flatly they did not want to serve on the panel any longer, and all members present said the times call for some enthusiastic members on the authority.

The group said they would submit the names of several persons interested and qualified to serve on the authority to Gov. Mark White, who appoints the members.

The authority members present Friday voted to re-elect Raymond Hicks of Bandera as chairman on a temporary basis, vowing to reorganize itself with new officers when, and if, Gov. White appoints new members.

They also named Carmen Hicks secretary and J.B. Edwards of Pipe Creek treasurer, both also temporarily, and established the first Friday of January, April, July and October as their regular meeting date. Meetings are at 4 p.m. at the Bandera Cooperative.

Members also voted to pay directors $75 per meeting and ratified the dicision of board president Raymond Hicks to not levy a tax this year. The authority had a tax of 3 mils per $100 last year.

They also went on record opposing the widespread practice of ranchers and other property owners who dump trash, chemicals and other material in deep canyons in the county.

"Sooner or later it all ends up in the river," pointed out member Paul L. Garrison Jr. of Medina. "Somebody needs to do something about this, either us or the commissioners court. It doesn't matter how deep in the canyon it's dumped, it will come out sometime," he said.

But most of the effort of authority members Friday was in reaction to the application by the EUWD to project itself into the process by which new water permits will be issued.

Currently such permits are issued by the Texas Department of Water Resources, but the EUWD wants to lay claim to 608,400 acre-feet of surface water annually in the Medina and Nueces river watersheds.

"To me the priority item is to protect the water in our country," said authority president Raymond Hicks. "I don't want other people to take priority over our rights."

Authority members present echoed Hicks' words. "We need to let people know we oppose any intervention in our water rights," said Edwards. "We want to keep Bandera County's resources for Bandera County's use, because the County is growing and we are going to need them.

Henry Fischer expressed similar sentiments. "I'm for San Antonio getting all the help it can, so long as they don't hurt their neighbors," he said.

The group was unanimous in passing a resolution stating the authority's opposition to the permit application. "We oppose any action that would threaten our water rights," they said.

Also part of the resolution was a stipulation that the group cooperate with the Nueces River Authority in opposing the permit application.

That group's executive director, Con Mims, has been outspoken in his opposition. "The EUWD would, in effect, control the issuance of water rights above the recharge zone, which is the whole purpose, as I see it, of this action," Mims said last week.

Raymond Hicks, who serves on a citizens advisory group that is helping to oversee a cloud-seeding project of the EUWD, said he talked to the EUWD's Tom Fox last week and Fox told him the EUWD may have gone too far in seeking the permit.

Hicks said Fox appeared willing to make some concessions in the permit application.

Fox told the Bulletin this week that he didn't think the permit would have much impact on the portion of Bandera County drained by the Medina River because the rights to that water already belong to the Bexar-Medina—Atascosa Water District, which sells water to irrigators downstream.

Those rights are already granted and wouldn't be affected by the EUWD's new permit application which applies to new water rights only, Fox said.

Evelyn Sollock, a spokeswoman for the BMA, said officials are studying the application and the BMA will have a representative at the permit hearing.

The terms of five of the nine-member board have expired and a sixth member was M.R. Sandidge, who died earlier this year.

In addition, a cloud hangs over the member ship on the board of Tim Tobin of Bandera. Areas covered by the Pebble Beach Water District and the now-defunct Bandera Water District are not part of the Bandera County River Authority, and directors must live in the district.

A spokesman in the Attorney General's Department told the Bulletin last week that the fact that the Bandera Water District does not now exist does not change the provision that exempts the city of Bandera from the authority.

Tobin lives inside the Bandera city limits.

Tobin's term and those of Raymond Hicks and Garrison expire in January of 1987. Terms of Carmen Hicks and Edwards expired this January and the terms of Eldon Boltinghouse, Fisher and R.E. Adams expired in 1983.

State law provides that directors serve until their successor is appointed and qualified.

While the panel is called an "authority," the attorney general's department told the Bulletin last week that the law creating the agency was more akin to a water improvement district and that it lacked the widespread powers of a true water authority.

They also went on record opposing the widespread practice of dumping trash deep in the canyons. "Sooner or later it all ends up in the river," said Paul L. Garrison Jr.

Youth indicted by grand jury for failure to render aid

A pre-trial hearing has been set for Aug. 22 in 216th District Court here.

The Bandera County grand jury Friday issued two indictments and a no bill, including an indictment of Sky Daniel Mattson, 17, of Bandera for "failure to stop and render aid" in connection with the death on Highway 173 of two pedestrians July 24.

The grand jury also ordered a trial for Randy Dale Farmer on a felony theft charge, and no-billed Charles Ray Whittaker of Lakehills on charges of aggravated assault.

Mattson's indictment stemmed from a mishap that killed Shawn Michelle Tadlock, 26, and Judy Ann Pina, 22, as they walked along the highway north of Bandera with a small child. The two-year-old child received minor injuries.

Tadlock and Judy Pina had been at a bar and pool room known as The Pass earlier in the evening with Tadlock's husband, Rusty Tadlock, and a group of friends playing pool.

According to a family spokeswoman, the two women left before midnight with Pina's two-year-old daughter, Sammie Jo, in Pina's car. The auto broke down about seven miles north of Bandera, and the women took the child and started walking south on Highway 173, presumably toward Tadlock's home, which was about a mile from the scene.

According to the investigating officer, Dan Butts of the Texas Department of Public Safety, Mattson was traveling southbound on 173 when he struck the threesome with his 1975 Ford pickup truck.

Mattson told officers he thought he hit a sign and traveled a short distance before he stopped his truck.

Tadlock's husband and a friend stayed behind at the bar, and when they came along and saw Pina's car, they started watching for the women, thinking they might be walking to get help.

When they saw Mattson stopped they asked him if he had seen the women, he told them he had hit a sign and needed to report it to the authorities.

Mattson called a friend to pick him up and Tadlock and his friend went back out to look for the women.

A short time later Mattson was picked up in Bandera by City Policeman Joe MacMillan.

The two women were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Herman Rogers of Medina. The child was taken to Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville by Bandera EMS and later released after being treated for minor injuries.

Tadlock and Pina's bodies were taken to Grimes Funeral Home in Kerrville then transferred to the funeral home in Bandera. They were taken to the Bexar County Medical Examiner in San Antonio and autopsies performed. The medical examiners report showed both victims died of multiple injuries received by the impact.

Mattson was booked into Bandera County Jail at 2:18 a.m. on July 25 on charges of "failure to stop and render aid." Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $2,000 and he was released at noon the same day.

The indictment only lists one of the victims, Tadlock. A spokesperson in District Attorney Bruce Curry's office said since the circumstances are identical on both victims, only one was listed on the indictment.

A pre-trial hearing has been set for Aug. 22.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers told the Bulletin the maximum penalty on the "failure to stop and render aid" felony charge, if Mattson is convicted, would be imprisonment in a penitentiary for no more than five years and /or a fine of up to $5000.

Randy Dale Farmer was arrested in Bexar County Tuesday. The felony theft charge for over $750 and under $20,000 for which he was cited stems from a complaint filed by Wayne Cummins in Bandera that he negotiated to sell a pickup truck to Farmer and allowed him to drive the truck to the bank to get the money.

Cummins said he never returned with the money or the truck.

Farmer was released by Bexar county authorities on July 30 after posting the $5,000 bond. A pre-trial hearing has been set in Bandera for Aug. 22.

Columnist revealed as 'bureaucraticwastealophobiac'

What an editor wouldn't know if he didn't open his mail:

•More than 9 million votes were cast for a resolution at a recent stockholders meeting calling for the largest corporate source of acid rain in the U.S. to issue a report describing what it is doing to control its sulfur dioxide emissions.

No word in the mail whether American Electric Power Company, Inc., ever issued the report.

•Professional critics and doomsayers notwithstanding, the opening salvo of the state's fiscal austerity was not all that painful.

Appropriations for the next two-year budget period which begins Sept. 1 are up 14.5 percent over the 1984-85 spending level, and no major tax changes.

•General Motors Corporation credits education reform (a la House Bill 72) that started several years ago in Tennessee as the decisive factor in their decision to locate their new automobile plant in that state.

•The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation writes to tell us that "basiphobia" means "fear of walking."

(They should know I fear "bureaucraticwastealophobia" that sometimes manifests itself in the form of ridiculous news relases from bureaucratic flacks.)

•At least one teachers' group says it plans to quit wasting effort criticizing competency testing and to begin to prepare its members for the tests.

•Tourism in Texas continued to grow in 1984, despite everything, the state comptroller said.

Fully 37.6 million out-of-state visitors came to Texas in 1984, 8.1 percent more than the year before.

Most of the visitors came from California, of all places, and the second most from Oklahoma. (Hey, I'd visit Texas too if I had to live in Oklahoma or California.)

•President Reagan's bout with cancer and Rock Hudson's struggle with AIDS may focus attention on those two diseases and spur research

But the tragedy of Alzheimer's disease remains as one of the least understood disorders. It victimizes 70,000 Texans at this very moment and it has no cure.

•It was Henry Miller who said, "Everybody wants to right the world; nobody wants to help his neighbor."

•And Will Rogers once revealed a sure-fire way to make money in stocks. "Take all your savings and buy some good stock and hold it until it goes up, then sell it," Rogers advised. "If it don't go up, don't buy it."

Hey, that formula will probably work in Hill Country real estate speculation.

Opinion

State eyes its investments in South African businesses

The South African confrontations are touching sympathetic hearts in the legislature, stirring some lawmakers to explore how Texas can accelerate freedom's course on the Dark Continent.

Some state agencies, those with pension funds to nuture, have invested state dollars in South African businesses for years.

Last week, Black Caucus chairman Paul Ragsdale, D-Dallas, called for state leaders to consider whether those investments are safe in the situation of strife.

Should the white-rule government fall and revolt, these investments might not be recoverable, much less profitable, Ragsdale contends.

Black lawmakers urge the governor to call a special meeting of public funds' managers to evaluate the safety of their portfolios.

Texas dollars safe?

Ragsdale's maneuver is obvious: only a few days earlier, House Speaker Gib Lewis nixed the idea of divestiture of South African investments and so Ragsdale is going over Lewis' head to the governor.

With an election year approaching fast, the governor cannot afford to alienate blacks and a good many white voters, too.

But Ragsdale is smarter than the obvious political ploy would suggest. In the often cold-minded world of politics, the bottom line in many conservative minds is the security of the Texas tax dollars.

Skillfully, Ragsdale is appealing to conservatives on the pocketbook issue. And, playing the game by their rules, he has raised a real issue. It's his way of also appealing to pragmatists who are unmoved by the more obvious issue of man's inhumanity to man.

Delicate budget

Nor is it a false cry of wolf: a national report released last week indicates that falling oil prices and a weakening national economy threaten the delicate budget.

In plain English, further economic setbacks leave Texas with little budget manueverability unless taxes are raised, or services severely cut.

If the average price of oil falls more than $2 a barrel in the next two years, a special session to raise taxes will likely be called according to Lt. Governor Bill Hobby.

Hobby, by the way, drew his first official '86 challenger last week. David Young, twice a candidate for statewide office, announced that he will run against Hobby as a democrat next year.

Like other states, Texas has budgeted cautiously because the uncertainty of federal spending cuts, aide to the states, tax cuts and fears of a new recession.

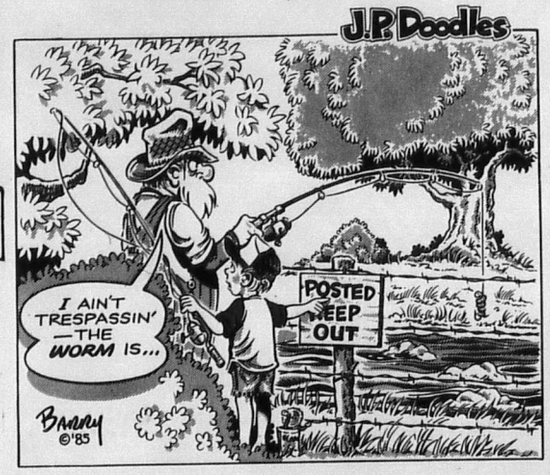

Appointments

Two former state representatives are being appointed to government positions.

The president nominated Bob Maloney of Dallas, now a Texas Appeals Court judge, to a federal district court judgeship.

The governor has named Lynn Nabers to head the Texas Sesquicentennial Commission for $1 a year.

The governor also picked Odessa attorney Ray Stoker to serve on the Texas Highway Commission.

Record turn-out expected this year at 2nd annual Bandera County Fair

"The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and its County Fair Committee are looking for a record turn-out for the Bandera County Fair in October," says the fair's homemaking department chairperson.

"In the baking and canning contests, over 100 ribbons will be awarded," says Margaret Paradee, who is in charge of arrangements for all the homemaking type of activities at the second annual county fair Oct. 3-5 at Mansfield Park.

She said the baking and canning contests will have competition for youth under 18 years of age, for adults over 18 years, and for senior citizens over 65 years of age.

"Bandera is known far and wide for its pioneer spirit, and the chamber hopes to help preserve this heritage through the county fair," said Mrs. Paradee. "The talents our forefathers passed down will be on display at the fair.

"Baking and canning were two among many talents needed for survival in olden times," Mrs. Paradee points out. "Today they are still excellent ways to cut costs and to provide our families with high quality foods," she said.

"In taste, there is no comparison," she said flatly.

Baking competition will be among creators of cakes, cookies, breads, pies and candy, Mrs. Paradee said. Canning competition will be in vegetables, fruits, pickles and relishes, jellies, jams, preserves and marmalade.

The deadline for entering canned or baked goods is 4 p.m. Sept. 28 at the chamber office, and there will be a $1 fee for each entry.

Complete rules are on display at the chamber office and in many Bandera businesses, and they may be copied or copies purchased for the copy costs.

"With all the varied activities scheduled, the county fair should be the best county-wide event of 1985," Mrs. Paradee said. "Plan to participate as a family."

Persons may direct questions to Mrs. Paradee at 796-3616 or 4937.

Chamber picks Chandler

Edith (Chubby) Chandler of First Federal Savings of Austin's Bandera office has been named chairman of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce's Shopper's Jubilee in December, the chamber announced this week.

The Shopper's Jubilee is a gala event in downtown Bandera designed to encourage Bandera County residents to do their Christmas shopping in Bandera.

It includes an annual Christmas parade with an appearance by Santa, carrolling, a Christmas dance, and special open houses and sales in the city's retail stores and financial institutions.

The chamber also announced the appointment of Jerry Lasater to head arrangements for the chamber's annual Awards Banquet and of Peggy Ashmore and Cal Chapman as co-chairs of the chamber's annual Funtier Days celebration on Memorial Day weekend.

Lone Star names vice presidents

G.R. (Bob) Bryan and James T. McGrath have been appointed senior vice presidents at Lone Star Gas Company, which serves the city of Bandera and other customers in Bandera County.

Bryan will be responsible for marketing and gas supply while McGrath will head finance and accounting.

In other changes, David Breish has been named vice president for marketing with overall responsiblity for the non-residential and non-commercial gas sales function, while Joseph E. Neiman has been assigned responsibilities as controller.

The changes strengthen key areas of Lone Star Gas management in order to take advantage of current and anticipated market changes, the company said.

900 educators to converge on Bandera Aug. 27-28

The Bandera Independent School District will host a teacher in service workshop for educators from eight school districts on Aug. 27 and 28, school superintendent Ted Dockery said this week.

Teachers from Devine, Hondo, Lytle, Medina Valley, Natalia, Somerset, D'Hanis, and Bandera are expected for workshops, seminars, and lectures.

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is preparing 900 gifts packs for the teachers, says chamber spokeswoman Peggy Ashmore. The Bandera Electric Co-op has donated 900 car litter bags to hold the assortment of gift items from local merchants.

Merchants wishing to donate items may contact Judy Dunn at the chamber office. Items such as pencils, note pads, book matches, key rings, coupons offering discounts on merchandise and services, and token gifts are needed, Ashmore told the Bulletin.

The deadline for merchants to get merchandise to the chamber office will be Aug. 9, Ashmore said. Liz Vakey has arranged for a group of students to stuff the bags with the donated items.

Ashmore said a salad lunch is planned at the high school for the teachers both days, but the school cafeteria won't be able to accommodate all 900 teachers expected, and she expects many of the teachers will eat lunch at local restaurants both days.

Teichs welcome new little tyke

John and Carol Teich of Bandera are the proud parents of a girl, Samantha Ann Teich was born July 7 at Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville. She weighed seven pounds and three ounces.

She has two brothers, John Jr. and Justin. Grandparents are Margie Teich of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Cardwell of Lavon. Also welcoming the new baby are great-grandparents, Josephine Turner of Bandera, Flo Teich Cullen of San Antonio, Mr. and Mrs. R.H. New of Brownwood, and Helen Kelley of Kerrville.

Physicals set for athletes

Dr. Jack Henry will be giving physical examinations to girl and boy athletes in Bandera Junior High and High School, on Thursday, Aug. 8 from 10 a.m. to noon in the Bandera High School Gym, says Athletic Director Danny Neuse.

Each student will be charged $5, and any student interested in obtaining a physical is asked to please be at the school by 10 a.m.

For further information, call Coach Dan Neuse at 796-3753 extension 28, after Aug. 5.

Band to begin rehearsals Monday

The award-winning Bandera High School Band will begin summer band rehearsals Monday, Aug. 5, at 6:45 p.m.

All students grades eight through 12 who are going to perform with the band this year are encouraged to be present, says Tome Walters. Rehearsals will be Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights 6:45 p.m.-9 p.m.

The band will begin rehearsing new music and new marching drills in preparation for the upcoming football season, Walters said.

Included in this fall's schedule is the band's support of the Bulldog football team at all games, the Austin Westlake Invitational Marching Contest, the University Interscholastic League Marching Contest, and an invitation to be feature band at half time for a Texas Lutheran College football game.

—Weddings, engagements...

Teich-Garvick

Charlene Teich, daughter of Margie Teich and the late H.E. Teich Jr. and Ron Garvick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ottis Ott and Randy Garvick, exchanged vows June 22 in a double ring ceremony performed by pastor Heinke in the Grace Lutheran Church of Bandera.

Given in marriage by the bride's uncle, Gene Turner and mother Margie Teich, the bride went forth to the alter wearing a full length cream colored gown meeting the groom who was dressed in a silver classic tuxedo.

Maid of honor was Babo Teich, sister of the bride and brides-maids were Cheryl Turner and Jeanie Chastain, aunt and cousin of the bride, all wearing full length wine colored gowns of the same design.

Best man was Dave Post of Sealy and groomsmen were Jim Garvick, brother of the groom and Jim Low of Houston, all wearing silver tuxedos with wine colored bow ties and cummerbunds.

Amanda Teich and Michele Teich, neices of the bride, served as flower girls during the ceremony, wearing pink formals and carrying baskets of rose pedals.

Ring bearer was John T., son of the bride. Ushers were John Teich Jr., nephew of the bride and Jason Sisler, cousin of the bride. They were silver tuxedos with pink ties and cummerbunds.

Music and songs were provided by Cathy Robison and Cindy Moore. The wedding march was the theme from Romeo and Juliet.

A reception and barbecue followed at the home of Margie Teich.

The wedding cake was made by Maria Jones. It consisted of three tiers, surrounded by three heart shaped side cakes with pink and wine colored roses.

The grooms cinnamon, chocolate cake was made by Pat Benke.

Serving the brides cake was Leslie Follet. Sandy Hearn served the groom's cake and Kim Stehling served at the punch table.

Debbie Langford presided at the bride's book.

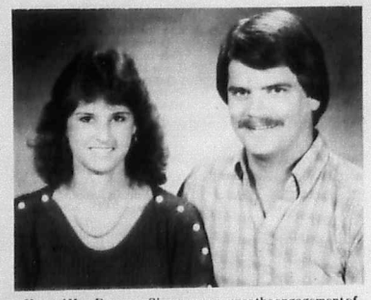

Mr. and Mrs. Ron Garvick

Kim Keese and Gene Mikulik

Cheryl Curtis and James Adams

Mr. and Mrs. Dempsey Simpson announce the engagement of Teddi Louise Talley, formerly of Medina Children's Home, and their son, Randall (Randy) Davies. Both were graduates of Medina High School, and both attended Abilene Christian University. Teddi is currently employed with Keaton Kolor in Abilene, and Randy, a graduate of ACU, is employed with Benchmark Company, General Contractors, as a supervisor. A fall garden wedding is planned for September 28 in Abilene, Texas.

Keese-Mikulik

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Keese wish to announce the engagement and forthcoming wedding of their daughter, Kimberly Ann, to Gene Mikulik Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Mikulik of Schulenburg.

Keese is a graduate of Bandera High School and Texas A&M University. She is employed as an automated customer service representative in Frost National Bank of San Antonio.

Mikulik is a graduate of Bishop Forest High School in Schulenburg and Texas A&M University. He is employed with Mendoza and Associates Architecture—Planning—Interiors of San Antonio.

Ethnic folklife mass Sunday August 4

A special Ethnic Folklife Mass is scheduled for Sunday, Aug. 4, at 10 a.m. at Villita Assembly Hall, 401 Villita St. in San Antonio.

Curtis-Adams

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Delbert Curtis of Cotulla announce the engagement of their daughter, Cheryl Lynne, to James Evan Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Logan Adams of San Antonio, formerly of Medina.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Texas Tech University where she received a bachelors degree in Fashion Merchandising. She is associated with Burnet Properties in San Antonio.

Her fiance attended Sam Houston State University. He owns and manages Rockin A Feed and Shavings in San Antonio.

The couple is planning a Sept. 7 wedding.

Jill MacMillan honored with bridal shower

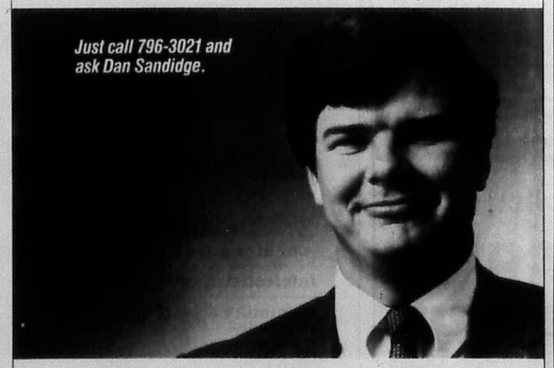

Jill MacMillan of Lakehills was honored with a bridal shower in San Antonio on Sunday afternoon. She is the bride-elect of Troy Pierce of Bandera.

The shower was held at the home of Buster and Connie Smoot in San Antonio. Hostesses were Connie Smoot and Jeanne Georg.

The 25 guests enjoyed a buffet of finger foods and a cake decorated to match the invitations used for the shower. The table setting carried out the bride-to-be's colors of blue and white.

Jill's sister-in-law Nancy MacMillan recorded the gifts in the bridal book. Denise Hundley, Lisa Beath and Jimmy MacMillan assisted with the gifts.

Checker Kelly Maier urged Jerry J. Koubek, right, to enter the drawing for a new Camaro at Bandera's Super S Foods, and last week he received the keys for one of the 13 cars being given away by the food store chain. Super S Manager Ike Martinez turns over the symbolic keys to Koubek, a retired Texas Instruments employee who has lived in Bandera County for 1½ years. Martinez said between 10,000 and 15,000 entries are submitted in the Bandera store alone, and that's just one of 34 stores in the chain. Martinez said the volumn sales of the Bandera store ranks it among the top five in the chain. And Miss Maier? She received a $113 bonus for giving Koubek the winning entry, Martinez said.

Gunfire erupts here; no charges filed yet

While Bandera law officers were looking for a late-model automobile reported to be driving at an excessive rate of speed in the Wharton's Dock area Sunday evening with two flat tires, James Ray Hall walked into the law enforcement center claiming to have been shot in the mouth.

Deputy Bob Hines said at the time he and other deputies did not know the two incidents were related.

Apparently a continuing dispute erupted earlier in the evening between Hall and some companions and Charlie Horton of Bandera.

Horton claims Hall had a knife earlier and threatened him, and Hall claims Horton shot him in the mouth, authorities said.

He also claimed the tires on his car were shot out when he attempted to leave. One of the investigating officers, Deputy James MacMillan said, a witness to the incident reported Horton struck Hall in the mouth with the butt of a pistol.

Authorities said they could find no evidence of gun powder in or around the laceration on Hall's lip or on the dental plate he was wearing which was damaged.

Hall was allowed to leave the sheriff's department to be treated at the hospital. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said the medical report shows Hall was treated for a lacerated lip.

Both Horton and Hall attempted to file charges or counter charges but Peace Justice Bonnie Towers said no charges had been filed by Wednesday.

Holly Hevenor, cataloging registrar at the Frontier Times Museum, admires some of the sterling silver replicas of artifacts at the museum. The jewelry items can be purchased at the museum. They are genuine replicas of artifacts that are displayed in the museum. The charms and key rings detail western items such as boots, saddles, rifles, western hats, snakes, scorpions, and the shrunken head. Many of the jewelry items crafted by Karen and Sam Hensley of Bandera have stones of amethyst and turquoise. The museum is also stocking "Heritage-just desserts" cookbooks published by Southern Living which features a picture of one of Bandera County's pioneer families, Mr. and Mrs. John Dugosh and six of their children are shown making molasses at their home in 1910. The first shipment of the books was sold out, but more have been ordered and should be in soon. Another book the museum is selling is J. Marvin Hunter's classic, "The Trail Drivers of Texas", which recently was republished by The University of Texas press. Proceeds from the sale of both books will go into the museum's building fund.

Matthews reunion

The large Matthews families held their family reunion Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at the Boultinghouse Park.

It was such a surprise to have Roy Ogletree of Wichita Falls drive up for the reunion and visit with Hub and I Sunday morning. We had not seen him since our children were small and he helped the men pack the children across the swollen Sabinal River, at the last crossing on the dirt road, long before our highways were paved.

He later married Grace Matthews, and three daughters were born to this union, Ann, Joyce and Darlene.

Roy is a brother of the late Jervel Tampke and a nephew of Dr. McBeth's wife.

Poteet visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Thompson's granddaughter and family, Raymond, Liz and Sandra Ledesmet and a cousin Rachel were Sunday visitors and picnickers.

Dorow reunion

Annie Dorow invited relatives of the late Henry A. Dorow Sr. Children attending were Buddy Dorow, Ethel Hoffman, Ted and Ethel Dorow, Regina Dolan and Opal Dorow.

Others attending were grandchildren William and Ethel Dorow, Ginger Walker, Emily, Carl and Robert Holton.

Also attending were Edna and Evelyn Buck Williams, Earl and Leora Buck and family, Danny Buck, Melissa Buck, Jo Ann Buck, Rhonda Buck, James Buck Jr., Sharon, Bruce and Chad Niles, Opal Betts, Billy and Ethel Bush, Emma Jean and Debbie Beck, Merle Shiflett, Lester Davis and James and Rubie Savayze.

Annie Dorow was happy with the attendance and is planning another reunion next summer.

Visitors

Nita Hawkins spent two weeks with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Williams of Conroe.

Don and Shirley Gaylor of San Angelo spent two weeks visiting David and Nora Dodge. Mrs. Gaylor came to take them home Sunday.

Nathan Reavis, son of Edward Reavis of Wasilla, Alaska, is spending the summer here with his grandparents, the Ira Reavises, and David and Nora Dodge. Cleo and S.J. Carson entertained their granddaughter Leslie Franklin of Uvalde with a picnic and swim party at the Ray and Lavern Harp swimming hole on her 13th birthday.

The other grandparents, Frank and Artie Franklin, also enjoyed the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Piper of Ohio, who came here for work and were unable to get a job, moved back to Ohio last week.

Roy and Chris Heideman enjoyed several days of vacation at Lake L.B.J. and visited Travis and Larhesa McNair at Kinland.

Anti-crime program set

The Bandera County Sheriff's Department is asking Bandera County residents to join in the 1985 National Night Out on Aug. 13, a nationwide effort to call attention to the need for and the value of crime prevention.

"That's the night neighborhoods across the country will 'light up' against crime," said Sheriff Guy V. Pickett.

The "Night Out" against crime begins at 8 p.m. and is a time when citizens are encouraged to turn on outside lights in their neighborhoods and sit out on the lawns and front porches to keep an eye out for suspicious activity.

"This can serve as an extension of the eyes and ears of local enforcement agencies," says Deputy James MacMillan.

County Judge Tommy Curbo and Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan are expected to sign a joint proclamation next week proclaiming "Night Out" in the city and county of Bandera.

The project sponsored by the National Association of Town Watch, Alamo Area Council of Governments, Alamo Area Crime Prevention Association, National Crime Prevention Association, and law enforcement agencies all over the country. The goal is to "postpone" crime the evening of Aug. 13, says spokesman Buddy Lovestock with AACOG.

During the first National Night Out in August 1984, overall crime dropped dramatically in participating communities, Lovestock said. With such an expanded edition this year, coordinators expect virtually a standstill in crime, he said.

Organizers project that close to 10 million Americans will be supporting the event this year. Cities in 37 states have already registered, including many metropolitan areas, such as San Antonio.

Volunteer fire departments in Bandera County are being asked to participate by sounding their sirens when the "light up" begins at 8 p.m. and again when the official "light up" period ends at 9 p.m., MacMillan said.

"Any department or other organization needing additional information on the project should contact the Bandera County Sheriff's Department."

MacMillan said the sheriff's department is also sponsoring a Rural Crime Prevention Seminar, Aug. 27 and 28. It will be held at the Bandera County Courthouse from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m. both nights.

Lovestock, crime prevention specialist with the Alamo Area Crime Prevention Association, will conduct the seminar. It is free and all interested citizens of the city and county are welcome.

MacMillan said, although there is no charge, those wishing to attend should register with the sheriff's department so they can insure enough handout material will be available to go around. To register, call 796-3771.

Tip aids officers in arrest

An eye-witness called the Bandera County Sheriff's Department when he saw a motor being taken off a boat at Medina Lake, and that tip led to the arrest of David Glenn Valencia, 17, of Pipe Creek by Deputy Bob Hines on theft charge of over $750 but under $20,000.

It was discovered that the boat and motor Valencia and two juvenile companions were using at the time they were seen taking the motor was also stolen, said Chief Deputy Ken Mingo.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $5,000, and Valencia was released July 30 after posting it.

DPS trooper Nolan Metz arrested Vincent Roger Santos, 34, of San Antonio July 28 on charges of driving while intoxicated and a traffic offense. Judge Towers set bond at $800 on the DWI charge and assessed a fine of $59. Santos was released the same day after posting bond and paying the fine.

Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier arrested Patricia Ann Mitchell, 38, of Hondo, a former resident of Wharton's Dock, on July 27 on a warrant out of Medina County. She was charged with theft by check and fined $63.67.

Pipe Creek

PC homecoming

The 1985 Pipe Creek Homecoming will be held Sunday, August 4, at the Pipe Creek Community Center. This gives everybody in the surrounding communities and past and present residences of Pipe Creek a chance to make new friends or renew old friendships. There is no admission cost (donations).

Just bring a covered dish and your eating and drinking utensils. There will be barbecue brisket on sale later that day. The serving line will be open at noon.

If you have any questions, contact Gene Ruede at 535-4835.

CLVFD to meet Aug. 10 this month

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department will meet on Saturday, Aug. 10, at 5 p.m., says spokeswoman Pat Mills. She said the change to the second Saturday instead of the first is just for the one month.

Blank awarded MSA

Chester A. (Chet) Blank of Pipe Creek, has been awarded the highest professional designation granted by the National Association of Master Appraisers, according to Dr. Marvin T. Deane, the National President.

The designation master senior appraiser was conferred after completion of all the qualifying procedures of the organization. Requirements include intense educational courses in appraising residential, farm and land and commercial property, and the preparation of appropriate demonstration appraisals.

Blank is also a licensed real estate broker.

Yearling angora

Yearling Angora does averaged $275.21 and the doe kids averaged $231.25 at the annual Fredericksburg sale of the Angora Goat Breeders' Association on July 6.

Yearling Angora bucks averaged $270.48 and the buck kids average was $186.25. The overall sale average was $261.72 for 67 head.

The Champion Buck of the Show, shown by Kelly Schmidt of Mason, was purchased by Marvin Mack of Stephenville for $585.

Roger Lux' Champion Doe was sold for $650 to Freddie Flach of Pipe Creek, and Roger's Reserve Champion Buck was sold to M.E. Elms of Mulling for $425. The Reserve Champion Doe, shown by Forest Lux of Comfort, sold for $525 to D. Andrews of Menard.

Fritz Kuebel of Blanco sold the top buck and doe kids. The buck kid was purchased by R. Tomlinson of Sealy for $300, and the doe kid was purchased by D. Andrews for $270.

Verhelst honored

Sergeant Ed Verhelst was named the Navy Helicopter Association's VertRep Aircrewman of the Year 1984. He received his award personally from the Secretary of the Navy John Lehman at an awards dinner in Virginia Beach, in May.

Verhelst is stationed with the Marine Light Helicopter Squadron 267.

In a personal letter from Verhelst's commanding officer to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip P. Verhelst of Pipe Creek, the officer congratulated them on their son's accomplishment and said "he is a truly exceptional Marine and young man."

"This honor is one of perhaps two or three that are competed for by literally thousands of sailors and marines throughout the world," said Lt. Col. W.S. Lawrence. "It is a distinction rarely acheived, and will forever set Ed apart as one of a very select few."

He described the ceremony in Virginia Beach as a grand occassion befitting the honor.

Vargar earns degree

Gilbert Chong Vargar of Pipe Creek is among the 447 graduates of The University of Texas at Austin to receive bachelor's degrees in engineering, the university announced.

Vargar was awarded a BS degree in civil engineering at the close of the 1985 spring semester.

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Word were the proud parents of a fine little baby son, July 22, 1960. The young man was named Jerry Norton Word the July 29, 1960, issue of the Bulletin announced.

Vice President Richard Nixon and United Nations Secretary Henry Cabot Lodge were nominated unanimously for the posts of President and Vice President of the United States in the Republican National Convention in Chicago on July 27, 1960.

Misses Susan Langford and Leeannah Roberts attended a one-week twirling school at Trinity University in San Antonio.

According to J. Burgin Davenport, county chairman for the Bandera series E and H bond sales, Bandera county has reached its 49.8 percent of the 1960 goal of $70,000. June sales were $21,701, and sales since Jan. 1, 1960, were $43,891. State average stood at 48.7 percent of the state goal.

The Misteena Club, composed of a small group of girls from Bandera High School, moved the retreat from its location in the Scheele Building to the old skating rink, ½ a mile out the Kerrville Highway.

The move and redecorating caused a great stress on their financial condition, and the young ladies requested monetary contributions to help defray the expenses. They announced plans for their grand opening in August would include a band.

Elizabeth Batto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Batto, was among those invested with the habit of a novice of the sisters of the Sacred Heart in San Antonio. She received her religious name, Sister Frances Raymond, in special ceremonies at Mount Sacred Heart Academy in San Antonio.

In an ad for US Savings Bonds, college costs were listed as being as high as $65 a week. The ad said with the new interest rate of 3¼ percent, savings would grow fast.

Specials advertised at the Bandera Food and Bakery Market were 10 pounds of sugar for 99 cents, fryers were 32 cents a pound, ground beef was only 45 cents a pound, a package of eight ice pops was 29 cents, 10 pounds of potatoes were 45 cents, white grapes were 27 cents per pound, fresh-baked cinnamon bread was 29 cents a loaf, and home-made white bread was 39 cents for two loaves.

EMS invites citizens to a town meeting

The Lakehills Chapter of the Bandera County Emergency Medical Service has planned a town meeting with the citizens of the area, the EMTs, count officials, and leaders in the community Aug. 16 at the Lakehills Civic Center at 7:30 p.m. Spokeswoman for the Lakehills Chapter, Dot McCracken says, she hopes the citizens of the community will attend the meeting, voice their opinions, offer moral support, and help decide what the future holds for the service.

The Lakehills volunteers are responsible for the emergency medical service in an area bounded by Bump Gate Road on 1283; Highway 16 on Park Road 37; both sides of Park Road 37 to Bob's Cove area, Pebble Beach, and to the county line on 1283.

They also cover many calls in the Mico area where time is critical for the patient's health.

One concerned citizen, Peggy Galland says "these volunteers are there when we need them, but right now, they need us."

McCracken said the purpose of the meeting is to decide where the Lakehills Chapter will go from here. The county provides funding for many of the needs for the EMS service, but funds are not available for many other needs except through donations. The volunteers on the service pay most of their own expenses and most of their own training expenses.

The volunteers have all been certified at different levels in emergency care procedures by the state of Texas. When they are called they administer first aid, stabilize the patient, and transport them to a hospital in either Kerrville or San Antonio. They answer some calls where the patient doesn't require an ambulance to transport them to a hospital.

County officials expected at the meeting will be on hand to explain county funding for the service, billing procedures, and to answer any questions asked, if possible.

McCracken says this is the chance for citizens to voice their opinions and let the volunteers know what they want from the service, and what they are willing to do to keep the EMS a strong vital service in the community.

Mark Mazurek celebrated his fourth birthday recently with 15 guests, including his grandmother, Irene Hildebrandt, and his great-grandmother, Mildred Anderson. Everyone present enjoyed a buffet and a "robot" birthday cake.

Sale to benefit beauty pageant

A bake sale will be held at the Lone Star convenience store at Park Road 37 and FM 1283 on Aug. 10, starting at 10 a.m. Proceeds from the sale will be used for expenses incurred by the Miss Lakehills pageant committee.

Donations of baked goods are needed, says spokeswoman Kim Schelb. To arrange to donate baked items, contact Schelb at 751-2728 or drop them at the Lone Star store the morning of the sale.

Miss Lakehills, Sue Pickett, will be present at the bake sale. Since she was crowned in May, she has represented Lakehills in several area functions.

FCCS plans for fall enrollment

"We have had sufficient verbal commitments from parents to enable us to go ahead with plans for the 1985-86 term," says the Rev. Jim Colley of Faith Chapel Christian School.

"The first day of school will be Aug. 26, and it is important that parents planning to enroll their children do so now," Colley said.

A GI Party , or clean-up, has been set for Aug. 10 to clean, repair, and modify the school facilities, Rev. Colley said.

Hermann Sons taco breakfast planned

A Taco Breakfast in the Hermann Sons Park on Park Road 37 is planned for Sunday, Aug. 4. Lodge president Evelyn Summers says the skillet will be hot and ready at 9 a.m. "We plan to have carne guisada and chalupas, also," she said.

The lodge started the Breakfast in the Park last year and it became a regular event looked forward to by many breakfast taco lovers on the first Sunday of each month. During the winter months the benefit was held in Evelyn's Restaurant on Sunday mornings.

Summers said the Hermann Sons annual picnic held in the park recently was well attended. Special guests were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Noble of the grand lodge in San Antonio. She said the brisket supplied and prepared by Gordon Nordland and Art Holt was delicious and enjoyed along with the many covered dishes and desserts brought by members and their families.

MLVFD auxiliary nominates officers

The nominating committee for the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary, chaired by Dorothy Alatorre, nominated Minnie Turner for president, Dorothy Alatorre for vice president, Louise Fernald for secretary, and Eleanor Laue for treasurer.

Alatorre said nominations will be accepted from the floor at the August meeting. She said anyone wishing to make a nomination from the floor should be sure the person they nominate will accept the office.

The fishing's good in Lake Medina, and Glenn Graham Jr. and Glenn Graham Sr. of San Antonio prove it with their latest catch. They caught this 40 pound yellow cat in a favorite fishing spot in Elm Cove at Medina Lake.

Evelyn counts 'last' birthday

A group of relatives, close friends, and well wishers gathered at Evelyn's Restaurant Saturday evening to help Evelyn Summers celebrate her 60th birthday, which she said is "the last one I will count."

A barbecue brisket dinner was prepared by Dave Furrows, Betty Baxter, Dorothy Mortola, Mimi Lavarre, and Adolph Lutzenberger.

Among many lovely gifts, a cabbage patch kid given to Evelyn by her sisters was the most popular.

As one of the sisters said, "regardless of age, when sisters get together they enjoy playing with dolls, and we never get too old for them."

Evelyn says she plans to have more birthdays, but she won't be counting them.

Site for fire station purchased by MLVF

The site of what may be a new fire station has been purchased on the northwest side of Park Road 37 close to the Lakehills Hardware and Lumber building by the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department.

"Eventually we hope to build a main firehouse on the site," Erle Denton, president of the volunteer fire department, told the Bulletin. "it may take five years to get the building erected, because we will have to raise the funds through donations, but we plan to have the main firehouse there," he said.

This will be the third firehouse for the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department. The firehouse currently located in Lakehills at Park Road 37 and 39th Street is used as the main firehouse. A substation is located on Pebble Beach. Both of these fire stations will be used as substations when the new firehouse is completed, Denton said.

The land purchased by the fire department is located about two miles from the present Lakehills firehouse, halfway between the firehouse and the intersection of FM 1283 and PR 37.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3228

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department was called to two fires this past week, security, at Lake Medina Shores had one under control July 25 when the firefighters arrived.

A brush and trash fire Sunday in the Lake Medina Shores area.

We want to welcome to our area, Stephanie Lynn Queen, who made her debut at 11:40 p.m. at the Humana Womens Hospital in San Antonio. It's the first child for Daniel Gene and Gaye Lynn Queen.

Danny was supposed to be best man at his wife's brother's wedding at 7 p.m., but was waiting for his daughter to arrive and be able to help in the delivery.

The birthday party at the Copper Lantern on Sunday was a great success, with a large crowd showing up and all having a good time.

Denny and Bernice Fairbarin entertained Rudy and Daylene Lackey, Ritch and Dana Simmons, Peggy Britsch and Patricia Daniels on a pontoon boat outing on Lake Medina on Sunday. All had a very good time, but on Monday it even hurt when someone looked at Patricia or Dana. They both resembled cooked lobsters.

Charles and Christine Newkirk had as house guests this past week their grandson, Allan Newkirk, and Jim and Willie Kelly of McAllen. Jim is Christine's brother.

A good crowd was on hand to take part in a jam session with Carol Carter and the Austin boys on Saturday and to take part in the covered-dish Mexican style dinner on Sunday at Wharton's Dock Landing.

The sing inspiration at Walker Memorial Chapel Friday was a big success, and again every one enjoyed the watermelon feast afterwards under the big oak tree.

The first Saturday of the month community dinner will be held at the Copper Lantern on Aug. 5. Bring a covered-dish and enjoy the music of Denny Fairbarin.

Visiting Phil and Nola Bledsoe over the weekend were Nola's brother, Richard Barton, and his wife Kim from Splendora. Also arriving was their grandson, eight-year old Chris Jose. Chris just returned from Japan, where he has lived for the past three years.

I received a telephone call Monday from our grandson, John W. Ciarlo III, who is undergoing air borne training at Fort Benning, Ga. He reports that today he had the most happy moment of his life when he looked up and saw his chute fully open. It was his first jump. John will report back to West Point Military Academy on Aug. 13 to start his third year there.

Fred H. Ciarlo Jr., another grandson of Betty and John Ciarlo, is on a three-week tour in Europe with the U.S. Collegiate Wind Band. The tour left New York on July 14 with their first stop in Paris. From there they went to Strasbourg, Germany; Milan, Italy; Brussels, Belgium; Holland; and to London. They are expected to arrive back in New York on Aug. 3.

There will be a fellowship dinner Sunday, Aug. 4, morning worship services at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road. This will be a mexican style, covered-dish dinner.

Pete and Leslie Pigott have returned from a two-month stay in the Pecos Wilderness in northern New Mexico. While there they were camp hosts for the National Forest Service at Jack's Creek Campground, about 22 miles from Pecos, N.M., and actually at the "end of the road."

It actually snowed the day of their arrival, May 13, and the unusual amount of snow in the mountains prompted them to take a few days visit to San Diego, Calif., and to spend a few days while returning in Cocacino National Forest, visiting Jerome, Sedona and Oak Creek Canyon, South of Flagstaff.

In the capacity of camp hosts, they met many interesting people, mostly Texans, and enjoyed the helpful tasks of passing out information and helping the campers enjoy their sojourn in the mountains.

They report they are happy to be home, but miss the cool of the mountains.

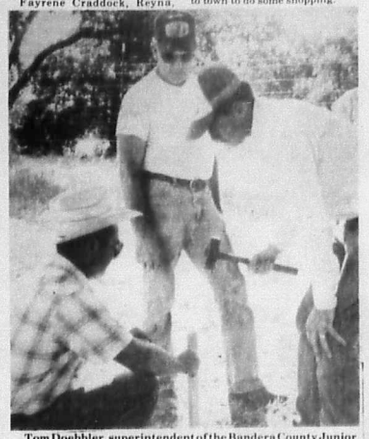

Mary Herrera, the widow of Nemo Herrera of the Texas State Athelete's Hall of Fame, is spending a few days with Betty and John Ciarlo. Mary will celebrate her 85th birthday in September.

There are many things going on in our area, if you want them in this column please call us or drop a note in the mail box located inside the front door of the Copper Lantern.

The community of Wharton's Dock and Lake Medina Shores is growing and growing fast, and it has two of the basic needs to make it a viable community, a volunteer fire department and a church.

Now we have another ingredient that, in my opinion, is a must. We need people trained in CPR and basic first aid.

As fine as the Bandera EMS is, we are at least 15 to 20 minutes away from help. If some of us in the area get qualified, it could possibly mean a life saved. I am sure we could get this training through the Bandera EMS, if enough people were interested. If you are interested please call 796-3225 or drop a note in the mail box located just inside the front door of the Copper Lantern.

Tom Doebbler, superintendent of the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association called the show directors to Mansfield Park last week to participate in surveying for the new show barn. Stakes were driven into the ground to mark the corners of the building, which will be 120 feet by 200 feet. The county will bring in fill material and level the construction site. The BCJLSA has already raised in the neighborhood of $40,000 for the construction of the new barn, officials say. The total cost is estimated to be about $89,000. The First National Bank and the First State Bank of Bandera will finance the balance. Doebbler estimated the barn would be completed by Sept. 1. "With this facility the entire Junior Livestock Show can be held inside," he said. Last year Bandera suffered it's worst snow and ice storm in history during the show week.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

The late Herbert Welch, a Methodist bishop who lived to be over a hundred years of age, was once asked what he considered the greatest needs of our time. He listed two. First, he said, the world needs compassion, and second, humility. He said that by compassion he did not mean pity, but deep concern and understanding.

He went on to say that there is so much in life that hurts and bruises men; there is so much sorrow and suffering; there is so much evil that crushes men. To have compassion is to look with concern and deep feeling upon the wounds of men. It is to know that but for the grace of God many of us would be where others are—in unwanted circumstances.

We all know what it means to have someone by our side to say, "I understand." To understand is to have compassion. It is not to condemn, but to reach out in concern and love. Compassion is a very special manifestation of love; it is a form of love that springs from the deepest recesses of the heart.

People who can feel compassion are fortunate because it gives them a sense of being needed and useful in a world which hopefully they can change for the better.

Wouldn't today be a good day for all of us to be more compassionate?

Louie and Gloria Pina grew these gigantic pumpkins in their yard at Highland Waters subdivision. The 80-, 75-, and 50-pound pumpkins were grown from seeds saved from a small pumpkin purchased last Halloween in a grocery store. Pina grows other vegetables in his small garden in the back yard of his home on the banks of the Medina River, where he says the soil is very fertile. Last year, he said, he grew some unusually large tomatoes. The retired fireman and his wife have lived here for 19 years and have raised their own vegetables for ten years.

Medina

Tootie Mayfield 589-2491
Ellen Walker 589-2697

Linden Mayfield of Del Rio was honored Saturday night with a birthday celebration at the home of his mom, Mrs. Bob Mayfield.

Brother Richard and his wife, Kay and sons Rick and William were there, as were sister, Bobbie Keese, husband L.G., daughter Darla and Jennifer and Bo Evans. Lin returned home on Sunday.

New business

The Medina community welcomes a new business in town "The Longbarn Old General Store".

It's located in the old Stokes building and owners Ernest and Mary Klein invite everyone to drop by and get acquainted. They will take things on consignment too.

Their grand opening was held Saturday, July 27 and first prize was won by Shanon Bates, second by Bob Storns of Bandera and third by Lisa West, fourth Elayne Mills and fifth Lucie Stokes.

Sloan Baker drew the winning names.

Church news

The Medina Baptist Church's young adults college and careers class recently attended a play in Ingram's Point Theater titled God's "Godspell," based on the book of Matthew.

Sick list

J.H. Stewart fell and broke his hip Saturday night and was rushed to Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville, where he has undergone surgery.

He's in room 614, and he would appreciate cards from his friends.

It was reported that Tex Anderson of Kerrville, former Medina resident, has undergone heart surgery in Methodist Hospital in San Antonio. It was reported he is doing fairly well.

Returns to station

Airman recruit Terry L. Hodges has been here visiting his parents, Bob and Linda York, his twin brother Jerry, sister Becky and other family members.

After spending two weeks here, he left Thursday for his permanent duty, stationed near Dallas.

Birthday

The family of Evie McHaney gave her a birthday picnic supper in the back yard at the home of Dorothy LeStourgeon Sunday evening with hamburgers, hot dogs and all the trimmings and home made ice cream and birthday cake.

Those who helped her celebrate her 86th birthday were Lou and King Stokes, Corkey and Virgie McHaney, Jack and Randy McHaney, Casey, Darrell and Brooks Beakley, Gammon, Sylvia and Jenna LeStourgeon, Heath LeStourgeon, Craig and Megon LeStourgeon, Donald, Alice, Clint and Heather Koenig, Cecil LeStourgeon, Richard, Connie and Chance Cantwell, Wilda McGinty, James Compton, Ruby Jackson and Dorothy LeStourgeon.

Visitors

Recent visitors in the home of Velma (Sweet) Collins and daughter Bobbie were Andy and Wanda Tirpak, Jan and Mike Jones and children, James and Dena, all of Corpus Christi.

They took Sweet to see Aquarena Springs at San Marcos, and to Austin to visit Frances Martin.

Bryan Keese and friend Donna Stevenson of Anchorage, Alaska, have been her visiting with his grandparents, Hough and Joyce LeStourgeon and grandmother Stella Keese.

Dan Gayle Petty of Jacksonville was here over last weekend to visit her parents, Morgan and Doris Akins and to pickup their daughters, Rebecca and Beth, who had been visiting their grandparents for a week.

Camping trip

Henry and Loma Murphy and Royce and Ina Jackson took off to the Camp Wood area for two or three days of relaxing!

Death

R.L. Walker, Tootie Mayfield, Frieda Walker and Charlsie Porter of Utopia left Wednesday for Muldrow, Okla. after learning of the death of their sister and stepdaughter Faye (Walker) Jones.

On the way, Wednesday night they spent the night with cousin Liberty Walker at Ft. Worth and stayed wiwth her Friday night on the trip back.

Sister Ellen Walker flew in from Corpus and sisters Jackie Ross and Nancy Estes both of Bakersfield, Calif., were there also.

Sister Wanda Lynel of Bakersfield, unable to attend because of being ill and sisters Elayne Mills of Medina, Debbie Walker of Austin and brother Charlie Walker were unable to be there.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Melodiers will rehearse Friday night, Aug. 2 at 5 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral and sing at Purple Hills at 6:30 p.m.

Pancake breakfast

Marie Holland, finance chairman for the Silver Sage Corral, announces that there will be a pancake breakfast on Tuesday Aug. 6, from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m.

The excellence of these breakfasts has already been demonstrated. An added attraction is the choice of white or whole wheat pancakes, with either bacon or sausage, syrup or honey. Suggested donation is $3.

Blood pressure clinic

The regular blood pressure clinic will be held Wednesday, Aug. 7 from 9 a.m. until noon. Health department nurses furnish this free service.

Midsummer dance

Those persons who attended the midsummer dance at the Silver Sage Corral Saturday night want to thank the musicians who brought all their equipment and their diverse talents to provide danceable rhythms and listenable melodies.

Those who were vocalists as well as instrumentalists were Jim Russell; rhythm guitar; Dr. George Meador, violin; and Van Cook, bass. Kay Robinson played piano and Yamaha keyboard while Jim Mueller officiated at the drums.

A repeat performance is planned for September.

Other recent events

An invasion from outer space apparently occured at the Silver Sage Corral on Tuesday of last week when a number of extra-terrestrials of various sizes and colors appeared anxious to make contact with earthlings.

Having first made a stop at the library, and being without their space ship, they were tired and thirsty, and enjoyed the liquid refreshments available at the senior center.

Another big bunco party made history on Wednesday afternoon, July 24 when four-and-half-tables met, with Becky Bononcini and Hazel Billings as hostesses. Next meeting will be Aug. 28.

Quilting

The Tuesday Crafts for Boutique stitchers have a number of baby quilts finished to the point of lap-quilting, already pinned together, which may be worked on at the center or at home.

Another full-size quilt is in the frames, awaiting the "sew and tell' stitchers, some practicing beginners among them. Also there is a unique quilt with hand-embroidered blocks already finished and on display at the boutique. Everyone is welcome to come and sew, or just come and see.

Wouldn't it be nice..

"If Grace Wootton, the hard-working guardian of the Silver Sage Corral Boutique, had a small desk with drawers, in which to organize her records and poster making materials? And if the Spanish classroom in the loft had an end table instead of a cardboard carton on which to place its lamp?"

The roast of Johnny Boyle was a totally enjoyable evening, and he seemed to be genuinely surprised by it all. The Center's "roast" contained an accusation that Boyle's charged it $14 a loaf for bread. Please don't get mad, Johnny. We were only kidding, of course.

The Sagettes, an exercise group, surprised two of their members with a birthday party after class Thursday. The honorees were Judy Goodenough and Emma Peterson.

For once they threw dietary caution to the winds and partook of dips and chips, punch and cookies.

On Monday, July 21, three of the Sagettes accepted the invitation of the Governor's Commission of Physical Fitness to attend a workshop in San Antonio on Physical Fitness for Senior Adults. It was co-sponsored by the Alamo Area Council of Governments.

Those attending were Gloria Carlson, Sagette leader; Helen Ahr, and Judy Goodenough.

The workshop included training in exercises at different levels for persons of different capabilities, talks on the importance of proper nutrition, effects on participants of their prescribed drugs, mental stimulation, and the often electrifying benefits of exercise in restoring lost mobility.

More thank yous

Omitted in the abbreviated column of last week were acknowledgment to Fred Collins for hanging the new large bulletin board and to Dave Koehler, who came around to help Kirkpatrick and Robinson in their ditch-digging.

Thanks also to Jeff Sutton for getting the dirt leveled around the building; to Al Heep, whose equipment made it possible; and to Jim Russell for hauling in base material for the driveway and parking area beside the Corral.

Also to Marie Holland for carrying accumulated cans to the recycling center, to the Castro Colonies Heritage Association for their donation in return for the use of the center as a rest stop during their Bandera tour last month, to Dugosh, Kentner, Johnson, and Anderwald for vegetables which were distributed to non-gardening seniors; and especially to Hank Keene for another generous check toward the ongoing expenses of the Silver Sage Corral.

Keene is also to be commended for pinch-hitting as ticket-taker at the melodrama performance on July 20.

Banderan gets ROTC training

Banderan Russell S. Hevenor was among the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps cadets to participate in the first field training encampment at Robins AFB in Georgia in 20 years.

Cadet Hevenor, a student at Texas A&M University, completed the training the first week in July.

Among his activiites was the opportunity to get the feel of flying an Air Force trainer. A C-130 transported the cadets to Sheppard AFB, near Wichita Falls, for a hop in a T-37 jet trainer with a flight instructor.

The daily schedules crammed with varied programs, concluding each evening with taps at 9:15 p.m.

The cadets have slept out, too, but not for your usual summer camp fun and games. From June 20 through June 24, the college students from all over the U.S. came to grips with Mother Nature in Middle Georgia while trying to absorb the fundamentals of how to survive in the wild.

Under the guidance of TSgt. Allan Bobst, noncommissioned officer in charge of survival training from Homestead AFB, Fla., three flights trained Thursday through Saturday last week in the Prime BEEF (base emergency engineering force) area at the southern end of the base. The other flights received their survival orientation Saturday through Monday.

The 62 cadets in the first session were equipped with a colorful C-9 canopy parachute (one for each 10 cadets) for shade (and they built camp fires underneath them, too), a small waterproof poncho, sleeping bags were included, Sergeant Bobst said, "because if they don't sleep well, they're not going to learn much the next day." Assisting the sergeant were these survival training experts from the Air Force school at Homestead: SSgt. Robert Milks, Sgts. Jeffrey L. Brown and James P. Greene, each of whom was assigned to a specific flight. That chute, he (Sergeant Bobst) taught the cadets, can be used not only for shelter but for signaling location of stranded airmen to other airmen, searching for them in helicopters or other aircraft. Also, the chutes can be used to filter water, even in radioactive situations.

Cadet Russell S. Hevenor, son of R.K. Hevenor of Bandera

"It's been a very demanding camp, physically and mentally, but a very productive one for the cadets and for us on the staff," said Lt. Col. Paul D. Knoke, commandant of cadets for this first session, whose own work day runs from 4:30 a.m. to 9:30 p.m.

"The cadets have had an opportunity to mature and learn an awful lot about the Air Force and we've had the chance to very carefully assess their officer potential. We're extremely gratified to find they are among the best officer candidates we've seen," said the professor of aerospace studies and AFROTC Detachment 600 at East Carolina State.

"It's been challenging for all of us, because it's a first-time camp here (in 20 years) and a first time effort for all staff members except three," he said.

Bandera County Profile/ Veterinarian's wife chose Bandera, and he says he has no regrets

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

Looking more like Wyatt Earp than a Bandera veterinarian, Steve Sells stroked his brown moustache and said, "You know, I could make a lot more money with an established practice in Dallas or Houston, but I love this country and the people around here.

"I never know from one day to the next if I'm going to give a Kitten a shot, cure pneumonia on a $300,000 mare, or see what's wrong with a client's favorite ostrich. Anyway," he added, making use of a nearby spittoon, "I doubt they'd approve of my dippin' snuff."

Steve is just under six feet, and boots and levis are his favorite and characteristic garb. His wavy reddish-brown hair peeks out stubbornly under a rather-worn but friendly cowboy hat. He has steady brown eyes and an amiable crooked smile that would charm, as they say, "the most savage beast."

"The hardest part of my job is losing an animal," he said with his raspy voice. "Particularly if there's a child involved. Sometimes that's their first encounter with death."

Stephen Marcus Sells was born in 1954 in San Antonio, the only child of Marcus and Jan Sells. Marcus is an independent consulting accountant there.

"I wish I was more like my father," Steve said. "He is so methodical—a perfectionist. He does everything right. I try to do things that-a-way, but I don't have his patience." Janis is an executive with Church's Fried Chicken. Her family (the Moffitts) are from Medina.

"My attachments to Bandera and Medina are almost as old as I am," Steve said. One school summer he worked as a carpenter for Bandera's Kerry Hevenor. He spent most of his summers and weekends, however, on his aunt and uncle's sheep and goat ranch (B.L. Light Ranch) in Medina.

"I really like ranching, and I like my practice. Fortunately, I've found a way to do both. Not everyone is that lucky," Steve said.

When Steve was 17, he worked part-time as a stockman at Handy Andy in San Antonio. He couldn't help noticing one of the frequent customers. She was a pretty, blonde, blue-eyed, tall 16-year old girl named Carolyn Sullivan. Evidently she noticed him too. They began dating, and were married six years later.

"I'm liberal and Steve's conservative," Carolyn said. "I like to spend money, and Steve likes to save it. So I'd say we're a pretty good balance." Steve confirmed this, but neglected to say whether or not this philosophical difference included politics.

In the meantime, Steve attended Trinity University in San Antonio and then received his bachelor's degree in range animal science at Sul Ross University in Alpine. "That's where I formulated most of my feelings and views on life," Steve said. "West Texas people are very independent. That was the most enjoyable period of my life."

He did some graduate work at Sul Ross and taught in the meats laboratory. "All meat inspection is overseen by vets," Steve said. "So they have to know everything the meat inspectors know."

Carolyn received her bachelor's degree from Incarnate Word College in San Antonio and became a registered nurse.

Steve and Carolyn were married August 12, 1977, and Steve was accepted at Texas A&M five days later. Their first home was a used trailer house they purchased in College Station. "The students treated me like an outcast for awhile, because I transferred from another school," Steve said. "But they finally accepted me as an equal." Carolyn worked as a nurse while Steve studied.

> "She's real gentle," the rancher told him. He laughed, spits and says, "They all say that."

After graduation in 1980, he worked as an associate for a busy mixed veterinary practice in Burnet for two years. "But I needed to be on my own in a small ranching and agricultural atmosphere. We decided to move to Alpine or Bandera. Either one was fine with me, so Carolyn chose Bandera."

Their Carolyn-look-alike daughter Stephanie was born April 21, 1982, and two weeks later they bought the place where the old Bandera drive-in used to be. "In fact," Steve said, "My office is the former projection booth."

"We were pretty hungry for awhile," he said, "it was just Carolyn and me. But now we have six people."

They lived in a trailer next to the clinic until recently. This May, shortly after their son Colton was born, they moved just outside Bandera into a house they built on five acres.

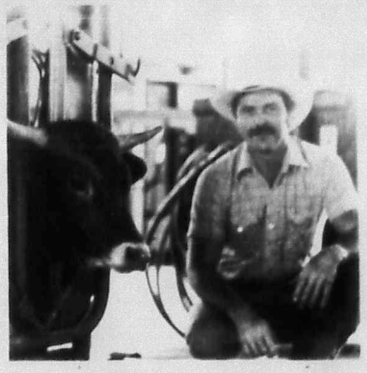

Steve's associate, Mark Aitchardson, moved into their trailer.

Carolyn continues to do the clinic's books on a part-time basis. She is also on the boards of directors for the County Library and a local day care center. In her spare time she takes aerobics classes.

Steve has a weakness for Harley Davidson motorcycles. "But I sold my last one so I could put in a well at the house," he said. He also likes to work on cars and trucks, and confesses that if he hadn't been a veterinarian, he might have been an auto mechanic.

His favorite vehicle is his '66 GMC pickup. "I traded a caesarean on a goat for it," he said. Carolyn and Stephanie call it the 'Yuk' truck.

Sometimes he's in that truck all day, making stops along the way. At 4 a.m. he might pull a reluctant calf from a hurting cow in Tarpley, and then make calls in Vanderpool, Utopia, Sabinal and Medina, returning to the clinic in the early evening. "You got to be dedicated and love this business to get up at 4 a.m. to go pull a calf," Steve said.

The Sell's homestead now has enough romping room for their several personal animals. "Sally," Steve's dog has been with him since his Sul Ross days. They also have two Australian shepherd dogs, two horses, several cats and one llama.

One of the horses is Stephanie's mild-mannered Appaloosa who she calls "Two." The llama, Tex.

Sells

was given to Steve by a Tarpley rancher who raises exotics.

Steve and Carolyn like to travel to places like Six Flags or Disneyland. "Now that we have kids," Carolyn said, "we have an excuse to do the things we'd do anyway.

Steve's office looks relaxed and family-oriented. On the wall is a sign that reads, "Illegitimi Non Carborundum," which loosely means, "Don't let people (of questionable birth) get you down."

Also on the wall are several Charles Beckendorf prints and Steve's diplomas. A clay bust of Steve done by his late cousin is sitting on a heavily-laden bookshelf.

In the corner is a small toddler swing for Colton. On the couch is Stephanie's cabbage Patch doll. Carolyn's aerobic shoes are casually set in a corner.

The office may appear relaxed and casual, but the shelves are crammed with well-used books on drugs, animal psychology, leopards, emus, bears, lions, dogs, cats, horses, cows, birds, etc. "Veterinary medicine teaches you to treat all animals as sort of one species, even though we know horses are different from kittens and llamas.

"So I try to keep informed," Steve said. "Also, a lot of the drugs we use are the same as for humans. There's very little difference."

"Birds are the most difficult animals to work on. They're just a whole different world. If I get stumped on a bird, there's a specialist in San Antonio I call," he said.

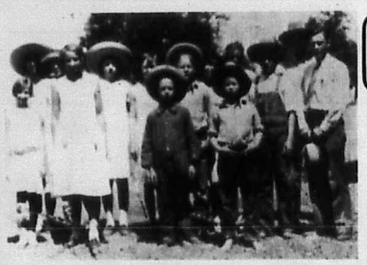

"Cats are the easiest, because they're so predictable," said Steve who sometimes uses his tranquilizer gun for dangerous and unpredictable animals-like bears, lions and leopards.

Does he encounter hypochondriacal animals? "It's rare, but sometimes we give a placebo to the animal to placate the owner," he said with a smile.

The phone rings, and it's a rancher having trouble with a sick cow. "Do you have her in a pen?" Steve asks.

"No, Doc, she's real gentle," says the rancher. "You can walk right up to her." Steve tells him he'll be right out, and hangs up.

Then he laughs, pauses to use his spittoon, and says, "They all say that."

Tarpley VFD

The old live oak trees on the school grounds at Tarpley shade the picnic area and the numerous new bench-style picnic tables have been purchased in preparation for the annual Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department barbecue and biennial school reunion Sept. 1.

"Every Tarpley school classmate has been insistantly invited to attend the event," says spokesman Tom Grant. He said the invitation includes a suggestion that the returning classmates bring comfortable lawn chairs.

An auction sale and a jam session for fiddlers has been scheduled as entertainment for the event, and class members have been asked to bring old photos of schoolmates or events to display during the gala event.

The Tarpley School has been repaired and restored during the year, and work continues. "The noble intentions of the devoted are to continue repairs until the building has been returned to its former worthy condition." Judge Grant said.

A group photograph of all the schoolmates will be taken after the fire department's auction, and ex-students will be asked to remain for that.

The barbecue pit master will again be Arthur Erfurt, who will be ably assisted by other firefighters and friends of the Tarpley community. Potato salad, onions, pickles, olives, peppers, bread and beverages will also be served, beginning at noon.

"It has always been a grand gathering enjoyed by everyone that lives at Tarpley or has ever lived there," says Grant. "Bring lawn chairs, cameras, old photographs, and come hungry."

Valero Energy

Valero Energy Corp., which has a booster plant near Bandera, this week reported net income of $11.8 million for the quarter ended June 30, or 40 cents per share of common stock.

Net income for the first six months of 1985 totaled $18.7 million or 61 cents per share. In 1984, Valero reported net income of $1.7 million, or a loss of five cents per share, after preferred dividends, in the second quarter and net income of $6.8 million or five cents per share for the first six months.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

The Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department will have a "very important meeting" Friday night, Aug. 2, at 7:30 p.m., at the fire house.

This is an urgent meeting since it will be the last until after the Sept. 1 volunteer fire department barbecue, which is the day before Labor Day. This is an annual benefit for the department and will also be the Tarpley School Homecoming Reunion that is held every two years.

Golden wedding celebrated

Bob (Robert) and Ruth Davenport Mansfield of Bandera will be honored on Saturday, Aug. 10 by their children and grandchildren with a reception at the First National Bank board room on Cypress Street.

Time is set from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m., and their relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Ruth was formerly a teacher in the Tarpley community.

Go to convention

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Monier recently attended a Jehovah Witness Convention in Beaumont and report a good trip.

Austin visit

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Strong recently drove to Austin where Mrs. Strong spent the weekend visiting her sister-in-law, Eula Strong. Mr. Strong drove on to the McDade area where he attended an annual reunion of the Ridgeway Cemetery Association.

Everyone enjoyed a picnic and fellowship.

We are happy to say Mrs. Stella Strong is improving.

Family reunion

A Dean reunion was held Saturday at the home of Marvin and Mary Jo Dean in D'Hanis. All five children of the John Hope and Mary Bridges Dean family were present, and descendants from each family were there.

The five children of the Hope Deans there were Vashti Dean Sparks of Kingsville, Mary Dean Chism of Kingsville, Lewis H. Dean of D'Hanis, Marvin G. Dean of D'Hanis, and J. Elzie Dean of Tarpley.

Delicious barbecue and all the trimmings were enjoyed by approximately 30 guests.

In Little Rock

Mr. and Mrs. H.E. Haner made a trip to Little Rock, Ark., a week ago to visit their aunt, Connie Haner, for three days. They returned Friday reporting a good visit.

Also home

Mrs. Clay Taylor's son Pat of San Antonio was here last Sunday and his mother returned home with him to spend a few days with him and his wife Wilma.

Attend convention

Gale and Sue Monier and son John left Thursday to attend a Jehovah Witness Convention at the Astrodome in Houston. They report approximately 29,000 delegates were there. They came home Monday.

Terrys news

The Williams Creek Club ladies received a letter from Terry and Jon Starnes, who left Tarpley, to move to Austin.

They assure us they haven't forgotten their many friends in Bandera County. They have rented a home in Austin's Northwest Hills and are quite busy. Terry joined the Austin Writer's League and is taking an art course at a local gallery.

Colorado visit

Mrs. Ann Sullivan and her son Bill and Bill Radley went the northern route to Pagosa Springs, Colorado where they visited with Ann's mother Mrs. Hattie Forsythe. They were gone a week, enjoying their trip—they came back the southern route. Bill Cummings remained another week with his grandmother and will fly back Saturday.

Returns home

Victor Purvis returned home Friday from Veterans Hospital in Kerrville, where he was undergoing tests. He is improving somewhat.

Two birthdays

Peace Justice Tom Grant has returned from his annual trek to New Caney to celebrate his birthday with his grandson, who shares his natal date with grandad.

Tom marked his 62nd birthday while his namesake, Thomas R. Faulkner, celebrated his sixth anniversary at the home of Judge Tom's daughter and young Tom's mother, Barbara.

Dorothy Herrington, the Bandera County Artist of the Month of August lives in Kerrville, but was formerly a resident of Medina. She has been teaching her granddaughter, Erin Herrington of Houston, the art of basket weaving, while the ten-year-old is visiting with her. Herrington dyes all of her reeds, which are mostly natural. She uses a lot of grape vine reeds from the medina River, as well as willows, native grasses, and oriental commercial reeds. She also paints in watercolors and molds pottery. Some samples of her work will be on display at the financial institutes of Bandera during the month of August.

Thank you
The Hal Nelson Benefit was a great success thanks to the contributions of friends and neighbors.
Hal Nelson, 19, was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident on July 2, on HWY 46 in Kendall County.
He was an employee of Wolff Lumber in Pipe Creek.
Although he is new to our area everyone pulled together and we were able to raise $2118.34 on his behalf.
Among the many participants:
Elaine's Beauty Lane, Pipe Creek Feed and Pets, Bandera Ice House, Janett's, O.S.T. Restaurant, General Store of Helotes, Paradise Hill Country Nursery and Landscape, Rathke Motors, Eckhart Flower Shop, Byrd's Water Well, Oak Country Texas Homes and Barns, Purple Cow, Hill's Distributing of Lone Star, Densford's Realty, Edward's Realty, Lynwood Building, Cowboy Capital Catering, Bob Rippey, Pecan Tree Store, Hesinguer Hardware, Shirley's Produce, Bandera General Store, Boyle's Grocery, Hevenor Lumber, Castle Lake VFD, Tidmore of Pipe Creek, Dubois and Harmon, Paint Contractors, Chuck Wolff and the Bandera Bulletin.
Special thanks to Bill Baker and the Outlaws and Legends of the Old West Stunt Team for their outstanding performances.
To Joe Walters, auctioneer, Manny and his Music Box and Cotton Fitzgerald, for their time and special skill.
To Jim Powell for his donation that made so much of this possible.
Most especially to Mr. and Mrs. Kelley of Kelley's Shamrock in Pipe Creek who donated their time, place of business, knowledge and energy to make this benefit a success.
Hal is now recovering at home. 3-1tc

Thank you
I would like to thank each and everyone of you who sent cards, the prayers, visits, calls and flowers while I was in the hospital for surgery and since I came home. God bless you. 3-1tc Celeste Moffet

Thank you
We would like to thank the Medina EMS for their help and quick action in picking up and delivering Mr. J.H. Stewart to 3rd Peterson Hospital. We would also like to thank Mrs. Amanda Russell of Medina for her quick action in calling and reporting the fall. Mr. Stewart is doing as well as can be expected for a 90 year old. He now has a pin in his hip. Thanks to all and may God bless. Room no. 614

Public notice
High School
Bandera High School registration will be held between the hours of 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30 at the High School Counselor's Office. Mr. Charles Graves, the high school counselor, will be present to assist students with registration. Students should report according to the following schedule: 12th grade—Monday, August 12; 11th grade—Tuesday, August 13; 10th grade—Wednesday, August 14; 9th grade—Thursday, August 15, and New students (all grades)—Friday, August 16.
All students, new and continuing, must register, and all new students need a copy of their immunization records and report cards or transfer forms from their previous school.
High school student pictures will be taken during registration so that time will not have to be taken out of the school day. Individual pictures will not be taken after the start of school.
Please mention the above schedule to friends and to any new families you may know of who have moved into the Bandera Independent School District.
An Orientation Program for incoming freshmen, all new students, and their parents will be held on Thursday night, August 15, at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Mr. Richard Delamain, high school principal, will cover student and school policy and Mr. Graves will explain class scheduling and recent curriculum changes.
School will start for all students on Tuesday, September 3, 1985.
Junior High School
Registration of all junior high students will be held at the Junior High School in the Merrick Building from 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30 according to the following schedule: 8th grade—Monday, August 12. 7th grade—Tuesday, August 13. 6th grade—Wednesday, August 14.
All new students must have immunization records at the time of registration.
Elementary School
NEW students in grades K-5 may register Monday through Friday, August 12-16, in the upstairs Elementary office from 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30.
Kindergarten children must be 5 years of age by September 1, 1985. First grade children must be 6 years of age by September 1, 1985.
All Kindergarten and First Grade students are required to have an immunization record and birth certificate at the time of registration.
Second through Fifth Grade students are required to have an immunization record. A report card or transfer form will be helpful for correct placement.
Kindergarten students who were pre-registered last spring and students who attended Bandera Elementary School last year do not have to register.
Classes will begin on Tuesday, September 3, 1985. If you have questions about elementary student registration, you may call 796-3753 ext. 212 or 213 for additional information. Please do not wait until the first day of school to register your children. 3-2tc

Obituaries

Anna Helen Engel

Anna Helen Engel, 80, of San Antonio died July 22. She was the first daughter born to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Habenicht of Bandera. She attended Bandera schools. She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and secretary of AARP Chapter 1671.

Survivors include a daughter, Nina Helen Stewart of San Antonio; two sons, Verne Engel of Blanco and Alton A. Engel of San Antonio; seven grandchildren; one great-grandson; three sisters, Martha Mueller of San Antonio, Mickie Stribling of San Antonio, and Mildred Bausch of Bandera; and a sister-in-law, Evelyn Habenicht of Bandera.

Funeral services were Wednesday at St. John's Lutheran Church with Rev. Don Salberg officiating. Burial was in Sunset Memorial Park.

Samuel L. Puckett

Samuel L. Puckett, 64, of Twin Lakes in Bandera, died July 26 in a Kerrville hospital. He served in the Army Air Corp during World War II. He moved to Bandera after retiring from the construction business.

Survivors include his wife, Mary Puckett of Bandera; a daughter, Dianne Keaton of Houston; a son, Jerry Puckett of San Antonio; his mother, Artie McHugh of Kerrville; seven grandchildren; and two sisters, Janie Mackey of Kerrville and Bobbie Ferguson of Kerrville; and four stepsons.

Services were Monday in the Kerrville Funeral Home Chapel. Burial was at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery in San Antonio.

Dillon Couch

Dillon Couch, 72, of Sabinal Canyon died July 25 in Uvalde Memorial Hospital.

Survivors include one daughter, Rose Johnson; and two sons, Elmer and John Couch; and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Services were Monday at Jones Cemetery.

Faye Elouise Jones

Faye Elouise Jones, 47, died July 23 in Ft. Smith, Ark. She was born Jan. 8, 1938 in Medina, daughter of the late Charlie and Tesa Walker. She was a resident of Muldrow, Okla.

Survivors include her husband, Chad Jones; five sons, Donnie, Ray, Clayton, Reno, and Russell; one daughter, Debbie; nine grandchildren; two brothers, R.L. Walker of Medina, and Charlie Walker of Farmers Branch; seven sisters, Charlsie Porter of Utopia, Tootie Mayfield, Elayne Mills, and Ellen Walker, all of Medina; Wanda Lynch, Jackie Ross, and Nancy Estes, all of Bakerfield, Calif.; and her stepmother, Frieda Walker of Medina.

Services and burial were July 26 in Upper Camp Creek Cemetery in Muldrow, Okla.

Daniel Ruempel Sr.

Daniel Milmann Ruempel Sr., 68, of Castroville died July 20 in San Antonio. He was born Dec. 20, 1916, in Helotes and was a lifelong resident of this area.

In June 1976 he retired after serving as a justice of the peace in Medina County. He had been employed with the Medina County Sheriff's Department as a dispatcher, and retired from the Ft. Sam Houston fire department. He was a staff sergeant in the US Army during World War II.

Survivors include his wife, Hazel G. Schuchart Ruempel of Castroville; a son, Daniel D. Ruempel Jr.; a daughter, Nelrose Dyer of Ft. Hood; four sisters, Nora Weiters and Helen Schuchart of San Antonio and Laura Heimann and Lerma Seekatz of Mico; and seven grandchildren.

A rosary was recited for the family July 20 at Tondre-Guinn Funeral Home in Castroville. Mass was held July 21 at St. Louis Catholic Church with the Rev. Patrick Ragsdale presiding. Entombment service was held July 22 at Holy Cross Mausoleum in San Antonio.

Royce Victor Coose

R.V. "Vic" Coose, 75, of San Antonio, died July 27 at his residence. He was born in Lima, Tx. April 14, 1910, to Dee Coose and May Felder Coose. He was a member of the Baptist Church. He graduated from Brackendridge High School in San Antonio, and attended Texas A&M University. He was a veteran of World War II. He was in the automobile business in San Antonio and until his retirement in the late 1970's he was Sales Manager for Dryer Toyota. He was a member of Harlandale Lions Club and the American Legion.

Survivors include a niece Jane Evans of San Antonio; a great niece and nephew, Dee Houston Evans and Kelly Cole Evans, both of San Antonio; an uncle, Jack Coose of San Antonio; three aunts, Elva Coose Seale of Prescott, Ariz., Lottie Whitaker Wheeler of Mission, and Toy Whitaker Baker of Panama City, Fla.

Funeral services were held July 29, at Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera, with Rev. Jerry Jones officiating.

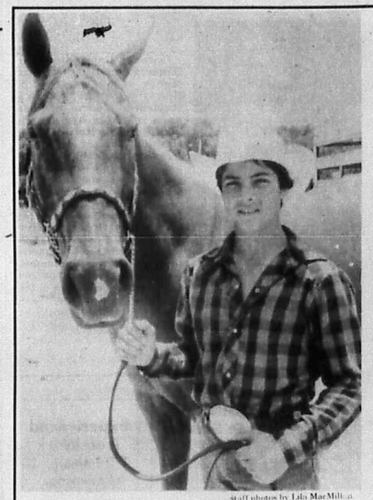

Pallbearers were A.M. Buck Walker, Richard Coose, E.P. Eph Hansell, Gene Earl Price, Phil Coose, and John D. Hinds. Burial was in the Oak Rest Cemetery in Medina.

Learn emergency car

Simple car maintenance will become really simple for those who sign up for the Museum Un-School class entitled "Cruise Control" and scheduled for 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, Aug. 3, at the Museum of Transportation, recently renamed the Texas Science Center, at HemisFair Plaza.

Emergency repairs and simple auto maintenance, and the basics of safety belts, fan belts, batteries and brakes, will be taught drivers and non-drivers aged 14 years and older.

The cost is $6 for contributors and $10 for non-contributors. Participation is limited to 12 persons, and reservations may be made by calling 226-5544 ext. 101.

Rebel Red Yankee and owner Dominick Verciglio won two circuit awards at the San Antonio Rose Palace AQHA Two Ring Circuit. This makes six circuit awards for Rebel. The five-year-old horse won the poles of all ages when ridden by Debbie Hopper and the youth poles with Verciglio in the saddle. He won the Hill Country AQHA circuit award for youth poles a second time with Verciglio riding. This is the third year the 14-year-old Verciglio has participated in area competition.

Other Two Ring Circuit winners were Shayne Felten in youth barrels, and Sherrie Jolin in junior barrels.

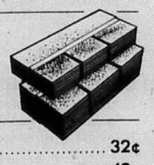

Dawn Macon, top right, and Shayne Felten, right, each shown in the costume of their particular event, participated in the 23rd annual Texas State 4-H Horse Show held in Abilene. Shayne won third in barrel racing and Dawn placed seventh in open jumping and ninth in Hunter Hack. Felten will be part of the Texas delegation to the Southern Regional Finals in Jackson, Miss. The delegation is made up of the top 40 4-H horsemen in Texas. The delegates will compete in Mississippi in mid-August.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 4 | BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS | THURSDAY, AUGUST 8, 1985 | (USPS 040-980)

Sheriff Guy V. Pickett surveys the damage after brief jail fire.

Quick-acting jailer, trusty extinguish mattress fire, but fail to save pants

"No one's life was endangered, thanks to the quick action of our jailer and a trusty," said Deputy James MacMillan, jail administrator, after a fire that was set in a cell by an inmate Saturday night.

David Hernandez, a Mexican national in the Bandera County jail awaiting deportation, touched off a small fire in a mattress.

Jailer Sue DeLesdernier said that the alarm went off in the jail section about 8:10 p.m. Saturday night. First she radioed for assistance then grabbed the keys and called jail trusty John Stahl.

Grabbing a fire extinguisher, he and DeLesdernier entered the cell area.

DeLesdernier said Stahl put out the fire, which destroyed a matress, a shower curtain, a roll of toilet paper, and the inmate's pants.

DeLesdernier reported she did not see the inmate in the cell, but he came out of the shower stall.

MacMillan said she removed six inmates from adjoining cells and placed them in the detoxication and holding cells, which are in a separate area. Hernandez was placed in a cell away from the other inmates.

DeLesdernier estimated the total time lapse between the time the alarm sounded and the fire was out and inmates transferred to a different area to be three minutes.

MacMillan said both DeLesdernier and Stahl are to be commended for their quick action and cool headedness.

Sheriff Guy Pickett set total damage at about $100. He said the U.S. Border Patrol picked up Hernandez and other illegal aliens being housed in the jail Monday morning.

Since Hernandez had burned his pants, he left for Mexico wearing just his shirt and underwear.

MacMillan theorized that Hernandez spread his pants out on top of the mattress, put a roll of toilet paper on top, and set a match to the paper.

"He was mad because he was detained in our jail over the weekend," MacMillan said. "He wanted to get back to Mexico."

This is the second time attempts have been made to set a fire inside the jail, MacMillan said. A similar incident also involved an illegal alien.

The Border Patrol brings the illegal aliens into the jail on Friday evenings and picks them up on Monday mornings, MacMillan said. They don't transport them over the weekend, he said.

The mattress was taken outside the law enforcement center, and twice on Sunday it resumed smoldering and had to be doused with the extinguisher. The mattresses used in the cells are treated with a flame retardant so they won't flame up, but they do smolder, and someone could suffer from smoke inhalation if they were exposed to it for very long, MacMillan said.

Registration Aug. 12-16

Classes in Bandera schools will begin on Sept. 3, and school officials this week announced the schedule for registration of students Monday through Friday, Aug. 12-16.

Senior and junior high school students will register on days designated by grade level while new students only must register for elementary school classes, school officials said.

High school students will register Monday through Friday at the high school counselor's office between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and noon and 1 p.m. and 3:30 p.m., and junior high students will register during the same hours through Wednesday in the Merrick Building.

High school seniors and eighth graders will register Monday, 11th and seventh graders Tuesday, 10th and sixth graders Wednesday, nineth graders Thursday, and new high school students on Friday.

New students in kindergarten through grade five may register Monday through Friday, Aug. 12-16, in the upstairs elementary school office during the same hours as the senior and junior high schoolers register.

Kindergarten students who were pre-registered last spring and students who attended Bandera Elementary School last year do not have to register.

An orientation program for incoming high school freshmen and other new students and their parents will be held Thursday, Aug. 15, at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

Richard Delamain, high school principal, will cover student and school policy and counselor Charles Graves will explain class scheduling and recent curriculum changes.

High school student pictures will be taken this year during registration, school officials said, so that no time for that activity is taken from the classrooms. Individual student pictures will not be taken after the start of school on Sept. 3, school officials said.

All new students must have a copy of their immunization records and report cards or transfer forms from their previous schools.

All kindergarten and first grade students are required to have both a birth certificate and an immunization record at the time of registration.

The Bandera Parent—Teacher Organization says it will again provide information to parents, particularly of new students, on the first day of school, Sept. 3.

Tables manned by volunteers will provide information about a child's room and assistance in locating it, details about bus routes, and information about membership in the PTO.

Football practice will begin Monday for the Bulldogs, rated third in the state in one pre-season poll, Coach Danny Neuse announced.

He said the Bulldog hopefuls will practice twice a day for about 1½ weeks when they will begin working out only once per day.

The gridders will practice from 9 a.m. until 10:30 a.m. and from 3 p.m. until 4:30 p.m. during the first phase of their preparation for their opening game with Ingram on Sept. 6.

Summer band rehearsals for the Bandera high school band began Monday, Aug. 5, and are continuing on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 6:45 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Some 900 teachers from eight schools are expected at an in-service workshop at Bandera High School on Aug. 27 and 28.

Bandera Elementary School will have Kindergarten Orientation on Thursday August 15, 1985. Sessions will begin on the hour at 9, 10, & 11 a.m., 1 & 2 p.m.

10,000 fun-seekers expected at lake

More than 10,000 fun-seekers are expected to converge on the old state park at Lake Medina Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 17 and 18, for Sunfest '85, an extravaganza of music, food and water activities benefiting the March of Dimes.

The event will be at Plum Creek Cove from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days. The fun in the sun event is sponsored by KESI Star 106, a San Antonio radio station, and proceeds will go to the March of Dimes in its fight against birth defects.

Bandera County Sheriff Guy Pickett said he will call in all available reserve deputies in the county to help with the crowd and traffic control.

He said if over 10,000 people come out, it will spread his department pretty thin, but they will do all they can to help with the event.

Ernie Lerma with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said the March of Dimes people had also contacted him and asked if he would help patrol the waterfront. He covers the Medina Lake from the water. He said he doesn't know if Parks and Wildlife will bring other personnel in for the weekend.

Some of the featured events include continuous entertainment and live bands, beer and other refreshments, fajitas, corn and sausage-on-a-stick, a dunking booth featuring the Texas All-Star Wrestlers where you can "Dunk a Hunk," and rides on many exciting water sport vehicles.

Some of the water sports presented will be parasailing, jet ski, sailboards, and Hobie Cats, officials said. Visitors can purchase rides on any of these water activities, with the proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

A spokeswoman with the March of Dimes said the last Sunfest was held at Jacobs Crest at Canyon Lake and drew over 10,000 people. She said they expect more at Sunfest '85.

No charges filed yet

No charges have been filed yet in connection with the killing of some than 1,000 fish in the West Prong of the Medina River by some kind of herbicide that was wind blown or washed into the river from nearby trees.

Pence Justice Tom Grant, in whose precinct the site of the fish kill is located, said no charges had been filed in his court and he had not heard of any being filed in any other court.

Game Warden Carlton J. Baker, who investigated the incident along with an official of the Texas Department of Water Resources, could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

A spokesman in the San Antonio office of Augustine de la Cruz said the Department of Water Resources was still waiting for results of tests being performed on water and fish samples taken last week.

Statewide co-op group elects both Russ and Kathi Vander Zee

J.R. (Russ) and Kathi Vander Zee of Bandera have been elected to the boards of directors of statewide rural electric organizations.

The elections came last week in Austin during the annual meetings of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives and the Texas Rural Electric Women's Association. Mr. Vander Zee is general manager of Bandera Electric Cooperative, and Mrs. Vander Zee has taught in Bandera schools the last 14 years, but will be on leave for the next year.

Vander Zee has been with Bandera Electric since 1967. He attended Bandera and Carrizo Springs schools and graduated from Texas Tech University, Lubbock.

He was employed at the cooperative first as a rodman in the engineering department. He was later member services director, supervisor of engineering, and administrative assistant before becoming general manager last year.

Mrs. Vander Zee attended Bandera schools also, and graduated from Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos. She's active in First Baptist Church as a summer Bible school teacher and sponsor of Teens for Christ.

The Vander Zees are parents of three children.

Country inns recommended for romantic weekends

Now comes the second edition of "A Guide to Historic Texas Inns and Hotels," a manual published by Gulf Publishing Company.

Of course, there's none listed in Bandera County, but there are places mentioned from Castroville, Comfort, Fredericksburg, Gruene, Llano and Marble Falls.

"Discover a piece of historic Texas—over the weekend!" says the publisher, and it's a good idea.

In Castroville, for example, there's The Landmark Inn where a replica of an old Alsatian sampler in each room proclaims, Qu'tient a sa tranquillire sait respecter celles des autres. (He who values his own tranquility knows how to respect that of others.)

It's a motto that appeared in an inn in old French Alsace, the guide says, and it might be a good idea to go down to Castroville soon and catch this before Sea World, which certainly respects no one's tranquility.

In Comfort you can spend a night at the Cast Haus Lodge, which the guide says has a gazebo which is the most romantic spot to "spoon" in the Hill Country. No word whether the author ever parked by the river in Bandera, though few who park there today even know what "spoon" means.

At the Gruene Mansion you may have to settle for a bed in the barn or the corncrib, but don't despair. Accomodations there may be more "enchanting" then the Mansion itself, says author Ann Ruff.

When Ernest Gruene arrived at New Braunfels in 1845, he found New Braunfels had "sold out." So he went four miles out in the country and founded the city of Gruene.

Now you can rent the Mansion, stroll next door for great country-western music or dine at the Grist Mill, shop at shops of artisans, savor Guadalupe Valley wine and tube down the river.

In Llano, there's author Ruff's own Badu House, in Marble Falls the Roper House, and in Fredericksburg the Baron's Creek Inn and the Nimitz Steamboat Hotel.

Bandera and Kerrville, among Hill Country towns, are conspicuous by their absence from this manual.

The unique hotels chronicled in this book are more than just places to sleep. They are historical monuments that stand in tribute not only to the pioneers who built them, but also to the modern pioneers that restored them and offer them to the public.

Most are small. Baron's Creek Inn has just three suites, the Landmark Inn in Castroville has eight rooms and six baths, and the entire Mansion at Gruene rents for $175 per night and sleeps up to 10 friendly people.

Mostly they are only old buildings, the Badu House in Llano is in an old bank building, restored that serve up good old-fashioned hospitality in singular surroundings.

They are developed by people who can see beyond the falling plaster and dust-filled rooms to the possibilities the future might hold for some enchanged reminders of our past.

Ag commissioner inks pact to sell Texas goods in Mexico

Texas and Mexico signed an historic trade agreement last week, one engineered by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower to sell Texas Products.

The signed treaty makes Texas the first and only state to have a separate bilateral trade agreement with Mexico. Mexico will buy Texas corn, sorghum, livestock and other products if commerce proceeds as planned.

For years, especially election years, farmers and ranchers have urged the feds to shore up farm prices by adding foreign markets. As often as not, the feisty Hightower has been at the lead of such urgings.

With the treaty, our state government is not waiting on the feds anymore, but is going directly to the Mexican government. After all, it's the Texas border which is affected by peso devaluations, and which shares financial hardships with a slumping Mexican economy.

Treaty benefits

Under terms of the treaty signed in Mexico City, a joint trade committee of 19 Texans and 19 Mexicans will be appointed to find ways to increase trade.

The trick, of course, is to keep incoming products from subverting our domestic market, but generally there has been little difference in the retail prices of Texas-grown and Mexican grown produce. The Mexican growing season is earlier than in Texas, allowing a few weeks of decreased competition.

Hightower said that Texas livestock shipments to Mexico this year have already doubled the 1981 amounts.

"We see Mexico as being an economic solution to Texas. This will also help the Mexican economy develop, and for the people of Texas, a healthy Mexican economy is the best thing that could happen," Hightower said.

Other industries

Others report that the Texas-Mexico economic connection is beginning to rebuild slowly from a Mexican slump that jarred petroleum, banking and other industries here.

With the peso devaluation, loans from Texas banks to Mexican corporations are increasing on a short-term credit basis. On the border, deposits in American banks from Mexican citizens are building.

Mexico still buys oil equipment from Texas, but gets most of its daily needs from Mexico City companies. All told, the buys from the U.S. are down some 25 to 30 percent.

The overall Texas/Mexico trade balance is still about two-to-one in our favor, but the dollar amounts are less than half, so far, of the '84 totals, hurt by the decreased buying power of the peso.

$8 million for port

The state will help Galveston raise $8 million needed to bring five Navy ships to the area, and will ask the Navy to lower the state's share for a new home port in Corpus Christi.

The Legislature committed $25 million last session to the Corpus Christi project, but in an unexpected move, the Navy also added five ships for Galveston, if the $8 million was available.

Last week, when Galveston failed to raise the money privately, the Navy extended the deadline.

Now state officials are exploring whether part of the original $25 million can be directed to the Galveston project, if the Navy lowers the Corpus estimate.

White rips feds

Governor Mark White told a Congressional hearing last week the Interior Department shortchanged Texas by some $800 million in a seven-year dispute with coastal states over offshore oil and gas revenues.

The federal agency wants Congress to give the states a 27 percent share, but Texas, Alaska and the other states are pushing for 37.5 percent, a difference of $1.9 billion.

The Reagan Administration opposes any increase, and this issue could surface in the '86 political campaigns.

Candidacy announced

The Republican chairman of the Texas House Energy Committee said last week he will run for the Railroad Commission seat expected to be vacated by Buddy Temple.

In his announcement, Ed Emmett said the state's trucking industry is archaic and costly, and he promised to get unsafe truck drivers off Texas highways.

He also promised to be an advocate for the oil and gas industry which he said is not overregulated.

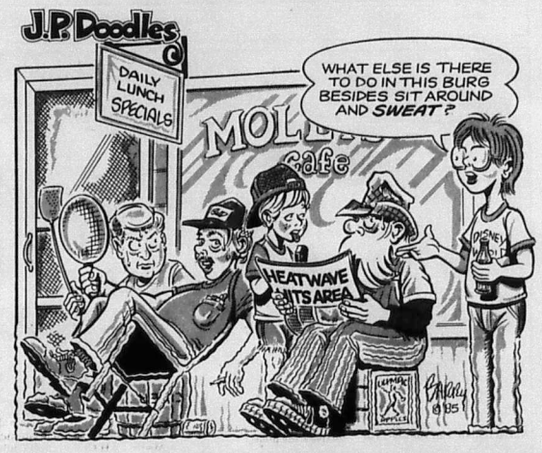

Short takes

Former governor Bill Clements says he is "95 percent certain" he will run again.

David Young, of Austin, who has previously run for governor and U.S. Senate, announced against Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby, complaining there's been too much government "of the lobbies, by the Hobbies, and for the snobbies."

Former Pittsburg Steeler, "Mean Joe" Green, will do radio and TV spots with Gov. Mark White, promoting academics and the no-pass, no-play rule.

Convenience, unwrinkled clothes not worth death, destruction

It is indeed strange thinking about seat belts that permit so much death and suffering in the name of personal convenience and unwrinkled clothing, says a safety official.

Most of this "strange thinking" is based on a number of common myths about seat belts, says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Myth: Seat belts are unnecessary for short trips. Fact: More than 70 percent of injury-causing traffic accidents occur within 25 miles of home, according to the National Safety Council. More than 80 percent of all collisions happen at speeds of under 40 mph. People who were not wearing seat belts have been killed in accidents that occured at speeds as low as 12 mph—about the speed you would be driving in a parking lot.

Myth: Seat belts trap people inside cars, and I'd rather be thrown clear. Fact: "Thrown clear" is a misnomer. Being thrown from a vehicle usually means flying through the windshield or catapulting out a door. The force of a collision can fling you as much as 150 feet onto a roadside object, into the path of oncoming traffic or scraping along the pavement. For these reasons, if you are thrown from a vehicle in an accident, your chances of being killed are 25 percent greater. What's more, instead of being trapped, belted occupants are likely to be conscious and unhurt, and therefore better able to escape in the rare situation where fire or submersions are added dangers.

Myth: Seat belts cause injuries. Fact: Study after study in the United States and abroad show a substantial decrease in the number of serious injuries in actual auto accidents among those who are belted veraus those who aren't. In the rare instances where injuries due to belts have been reported, either the belt was inappropriately worn or the crash was so severe that the occupants would have been killed or seriously injured if they had been unbelted.

Myth: I don't need belts since I'm a careful driver. Fact: No matter how good a driver you are, you can't control the other car. There's no way to protect yourself against someone else's bad driving, poor judgements or mechanical failures. Even good drivers can be killed or injured in a crash.

Myth: I don't need seat belts; I can brace myself. Fact: The force of an impact at just 10 mph is equivalent to catching a 200-pound bag of cement thrown from a first-story window, according to the National Safety Council. At 35 mph, the force of an impact is even more brutal. There's no way your arms and legs can brace you against that kind of force—even if you could react in time.

P&Z commission suggests city cut its own weeds

Citing the presence of snakes and skunks in the city, the Bandera Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday voted to suggest the city itself cut weeds on city-maintained property and force other residents to do the same.

"We're looking at a public health problem in the form of rabies and skunk spray," said commission chairman Cal Chapman, who said he had seen two skunks in the city in the last two weeks.

Commission members Linda Stein and Euna Wagner said a rattlesnake was found at 8th Street and Cypress Street on Memorial Day weekend and that a coral snake was killed in June near Cypress Street across from Kingdom Hall.

Member Keith Swinford said the high weeds also cause a traffic problem by reducing visability at intersections.

The members voted unanimously to urge the city of Bandera work crews start maintaining the lots they are responsible for. "Hopefully, citizens will follow the city's lead and clean up their private lots," Chapman said.

If they don't follow the city's lead, the commission said it would recommend the city enforce an existing ordinance that prohibits owners of private property from allowing "weeds, rubbish, brush or any other unsightly, objectionable or insanitary (sic) matter to accumulate or grow."

Violation of the ordinance could mean a fine of up to $200, and there is a provision allowing the city to cut down objectionable weeds and bill the owner for the cost of the work.

The ordinance prohibits uncultivated vegetable growth which has grown to more than six inches in height, or "which, regardless of height, is unsightly."

The members of the P&Z commission were quick to point out, however, they do not suggest forcing citizens to comply with the ordinance prior to the time when the city itself takes care of its own property.

Commission member Curtis Wilson joined Chapman, Wagner, Stein and Swinford in voting for the proposal. Not present at Tuesday's P&Z commission meeting were ex officio members Bob Cowan and Dianne Tobin.

Slavery existed here, local historian reports

Slavery existed in Bandera County prior to 1860, the latest issue of The Bandera County Historian reports.

"(Historian) Jay Edwards of Pipe Creek has discovered indications in the 1860 U.S. Census (report) that a few citizens of the county did indeed own slaves," the official publication of the Bandera County Historical Commission reports.

The publication says Capt. Charles Jack was the county's largest slaveholder with six.

The publication also lists the Bandera County judges from 1857 to the present, contains a copy of a "extremely rare and informative photograph" of the home of Policarpo Rodriguez, and a report on the Last Days of Camp Verde with a large map of the post.

Another article is a 1974 effort by William Fred Maass Jr., written for Mrs. C.L. Schmidtke, chronicling experiences of pioneer Amasa Clark with rattlesnakes.

Copies of the Bandera County Historian may be received free of charge by writing the Bandera County Historical Commission, Box 578, Bandera 78003.

Moreland named to chamber board

Karoline Moreland of Tarpley has been elected to the board of directors of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, replacing Larry James of radio station KHLC.

Moreland, who lives in Tarpley with her husband, Charles, has been active in the chamber and is currently chairperson of the second annual Bandera County Fair Oct. 4-6. She operates the Naked Indian craft store on 11th Street in Bandera.

In other chamber business conducted July 16, Cal Chapman of the group's by-laws committee said copies of proposed changes in the chamber's by-laws will be mailed to chamber members in time for them to be fully reviewed before the Aug. 20 meeting at which the changes will be considered.

The proposed revisions include changing the fiscal year to end on Dec. 31, giving more power to the executive committee, clarifying the procedure for filling vacancies on the board, and simplifying job descriptions of officers.

Directors voted to have at least two of their members at each meeting of the Bandera City Council, and Ken Finley, chamber president, and Ken Felten volunteered to represent the chamber at the next two meetings of the council on Aug. 12 and Sept. 9.

The directors voted to print a 1985 Bandera Calendar of Events and appointed Bungy Grant to complete the project.

Chamber Vice President Peggy Ashmore urged members to donate items for a gift pack to be given to teachers visiting Bandera Aug. 27 and 28 for an in-service workshop.

She said items must be delivered to the chamber office by Aug. 9 in order to be included in the packet.

Five arrested in Bandera for possession of pot

Five persons listing a Bandera motel address were arrested Aug. 3 by Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier and charged with possession of a small amount of marijuana.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said Twyana Bogle, 28, Mindy Sue Bogle, 17, Jerry Ray Pipkin, 23, Michael Ray Hendon, 21, and John Pernell, 20, all listed a local motel as their address.

Mingo reported the city police had received a disturbance call on a white pickup truck. DeLesdernier stopped the vehicle at Maple Street and Highway 173. He reported he saw a plastic bag with the leafy substance and cigarette wrappers in plain view on the dashboard.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bonds of $1,000 on each of the five and they posted bond and were released the next day.

Gary Wayne Watkins, 17, who gave a San Antonio address, was arrested by city officer Joe Rodriguez on Aug. 2 for disorderly conduct. City Judge Towers set bond at $400 and he was released the same day.

Shiela Louise Smith, 27, and Sherri Vaughn Preece, 28, both of Bandera were arrested Aug. 2 by city officer Carlos Reyna for disorderly conduct. Smith was also charged with public intoxication. Towers set bonds at $400 on both counts of disorderly conduct and $400 bond on the PI charge.

Smith pleaded not guilty. Bonds were posted and both women were released the same day.

Deputy Mingo said when Smith's husband came to the jail to arrange her bail, he was arrested on a warrant from the county clerk on theft by check charges. Judge Towers set bond on Gregory Rex Smith, 27, of Bandera at $1,000 and he was released the same day after posting bond.

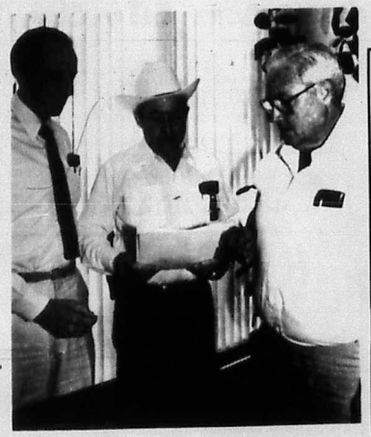

Carl Edward Janysek, 23, of Hondo was arrested by Officer Reyna for fleeing a police vehicle. Towers set bond at $500 and he was released the same day.

Commodities due in Bandera, Lakehills

Government surplus commodities will be issued to income-eligible households in Bandera and Lakehills from 1 p.m. until 4 p.m. on Aug. 13.

Commodities will be distributed in Bandera at the First Baptist Church and at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills.

Recipients will be required to complete an application to determine their eligibilty, and must bring proof of identification and income, said Comellia G. Rue of the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Sheriff Guy Pickett looks over a proclamation signed by Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan, left, and Bandera County Judge Tommy Curbo declaring Aug. 13 as National Night Out in the county. Pickett said the event in the county is part of a national effort to call attention to the need for and the value of crime prevention. Everyone in the city and county is asked to participate in the national effort by turning on their outside lights and sitting outside from 9 p.m. to 10 p.m. on Aug. 13.

Bandera County

25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Sheriff R.B. Miller and his department, assisted by Texas Rangers and Highway Patrol officers, investigated a break in at the Cabaret. Thieves broke in sometime after midnight on Aug. 1, 1960, and looted the safe, which they opened by "peeling." Cash in the amount of $2,800 was taken, and several checks were left behind.

No fingerprints were found, according to Sheriff Miller. He speculated the culprits must have been professionals.

Weekend receipts from the Cabaret and the Silver Dollar were in the safe.

The Rev. George Thomas Montague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Montague Sr. of Bandera, offered his First Solemn Holy Mass in his native parish, St. Stanislaus Catholic Church on Aug. 14, 1960.

The first Mass celebration made the occasion of a big homecoming celebration at the parish. A dinner was served on the church grounds with proceeds going for the benefit of St. Joseph's school.

Temperatures of 105 and 107 degrees were recorded during the week of Aug. 1, 1960, in Tarpley.

On Aug. 1, 1960, a crowd of 100 or more gathered at the point where the new Ranch-to-Market Highway 1608, the successor to the late and little-lamented Medina Lake tollroad, joins with "the road that circles the big lake." (This would now be the stretch of FM 1283 from Highway 471 to the turnoffs for Mico and Lakehills).

The occasion was the formal dedication of the $232,430 state highway of slightly more than six and a half miles just completed, that brings Medina Lake within a half hour's drive of downtown San Antonio.

As dignitaries lined up to participate in the official ribbon cutting, it was discovered no one had the ribbon. A quick-thinking fisherman supplied a length of trotline, and it was strung across the highway. Just as Medina County Commissioner Hilmer Mangold snipped the line, the sound of screeching brakes was heard. Warren Jennings, editor of the San Antonio Chamber of Commerce paper, the San Antonian leaped from his car and rushed up the road with a roll of ribbon and bright new shears.

Seema he drove by the turnoff and wound up in Rio Medina.

Co-op leaders celebrate 50 years of rural electricity

A focal point was a program citing LBJ for his contributions to rural electricity

Some 700 Texas co-op leaders joined last week in celebrating 50 years of rural electrification. They cited the record as reason for the celebration—from 97 percent of the rural populace without electricity in 1935 to 97 percent with electric service today.

In compiling this record, Texas' 80 rural electric systems have constructed more than 241,000 miles of lines throughout the rural areas of all but nine of Texas' 254 counties. They're now looking forward to connecting their one-millionth meter later this year.

Reference to the milestone punctuated sessions of the 45th annual meeting of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives. More than 700 persons registered for the July 29-31 meeting in Austin. A focal point of the the gathering was a program one evening citing the late President Lyndon B. Johnson for his particular contributions to the rural electric record.

At this point, Cactus Pryor, Austin showman often identified as "LBJ's favorite emcee," reminisced of his acquaintance with Johnson. A film of Johnson's career and close association with electric cooperatives preceded Pryor's lively presentation.

The TEC association premiered a 45-minute version of another film, "Legacy of a Dream," one afternoon. The documentary recalls the early days of rural electrification, with old-timers discussing the hardships and the excitement of the early years. Twenty-two television stations across the state broadcasted a 28-minute version of the film earlier this year.

An executive of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, Richard A. Pence, discussed some attempted hostile takeovers of co-ops by investor-owned utilities.

The last successful takeover attempt was in Mississippi in 1972, when Mississippi Power Company gained control of a co-op's board and changed the by-laws allowing 200 members to cast 12,000 votes.

Pence explained that in recent years, several investor owned utilities have become "cash-rich," leading them to turn a hungry eye to the not-for-profit cooperative systems.

Pence and Bill St. Clair, Austin attorney and TEC general counsel, suggested ways for co-op managers and directors to defend themselves and co-op members from large utilities by hiring communication professionals, making changes in bylaws, and by conducting surveys to get better understanding of members' attitudes.

TEC's chief operating officer, Jim Morriss, pointed out a major perception problem of cooperatives in his presentation, "Our Second Half-Century:"

"The investor-owned utilities' subsidy amounts to almost $50 per consumer; the municipal subsidy is about $40; and the rural electric subsidy is about $9 per consumer....Where is the equity between urban and rural consumers?"

State Rep. Pete Laney of Hale Center, a farm and ranch community north of Lubbock, outlined the volatile nature of the political process and the shrinking number of rural members of the Texas Legislature.

Laney, chairman of the State Affairs Committee in the House, helped stop detrimental legislation in the 69th Legislature that would have had "far-reaching" effects on all co-ops.

Dennis Engelke, Government-in-Action Youth Tour director for TEC, organized a reunion of approximately 200 youth tour participants to help celebrate REA's 50th birthday. TEC sponsors the annual youth tour, an idea of Lyndon Johnson's in the late 1950's, which allows about 60 winners of speech or essay contests to visit Washington, DC, and study the political process.

The TEC government relations presented a panel discussion on issues concerning co-ops such as dual certification of service areas, recent legislation, and Public Utility Commission management audits.

A.T. (Sonny) Turner of Southwest Texas EC consoled concerned co-op official about the audits: "A PUC management audit is the best thing that can happen to a co-op; you should welcome one...don't be afraid of one," Turner said.

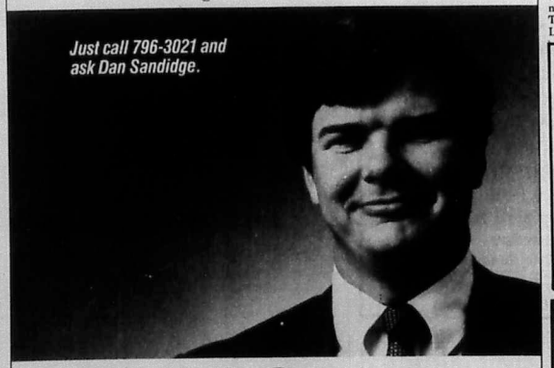

Voting delegates elected three men to two-year terms on board of directors: Sam Houston of Hill Country EC, Hollis E. Joslin of Johnson City EC, and J.R. (Russ) Vander Zee of Bandera EC.

The board in turn selected new officers: Sam Houston, president, succeeding Bill McGinnis of Denton County EC, Hollis E. Joslin, vice president, and James Barr of Coleman County EC, secretary-treasurer.

The Texas Rural Electric Women's Association elected Mrs. Pat McAlister of North Plains EC Texas member of the national board. Mrs. J.R. Vander Zee was elected to the TREWA board.

More costly licenses due to go on sale soon

Retail merchants that sell hunting and fishing licenses in Bandera County expect the 1985-86 licenses to be available for sale by this weekend, but they'll cost more this year.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said the licenses, along with revised copies of hunting and fishing regulations, have been shipped to license deputies, including those in hardware stores, sporting goods stores and tackle shops.

A spot check of establishments in Bandera, Wednesday revealed that the licenses had not yet been received, but were expected by the weekend.

The licenses are also available in P&WLD field offices, including the Kerrville office.

Officials urge sportsmen to consult the new hunting and fishing guides for information on a variety of changes effective Sept. 1, including increased fees for most hunting licenses and various hunting and fishing regulation changes.

Fees for the resident combination hunting/fishing licenses have been increased from $12 to $15; resident hunting from $8 to $10; resident hunting exempt from $5 to $6; and hunting duplicate, from $5 to $6.

Increased fees for nonresident licenses include general nonresident hunting, from $100.75 to $200; nonresident small game, from $37.75 to $75; and temporary nonresident fishing, from $7 to $8.

Samantha Leal gets some personal attention from the swimming instructor during the Bandera Optimist Club's swimming class for youngsters. A second class for young swimmers-to-be runs Aug. 12-23. Persons interested may call 535-4661.

Octogenarian Minnie Bruce to be cited on retirement

Minnie Bruce Hayes, co-director and mainstay of the Bandera Senior Activity Center for many years, has announced her retirement, to take place in mid-August.

To show their appreciation of her dedication and services, the Senior Citizens Advisory Board is honoring her with a retirement party, to which the whole community is invited, at the Silver Sage Corral on Wednesday, Aug. 14, from 2 p.m. to 4 p.m.

An active member of the United Methodist Church, Hayes comes from one of the pioneer families of Bandera.

Having passed her eightieth birthday an undetermined number of years ago, she has maintained her vigorous life-style, and will continue to do so in a more leisurely volunteer capacity, she said.

Briefly noted

Artifacts due at the library

Dr. Thomas Hester, head of the Department of Archaeology at The University of Texas at San Antonio, will present a program on Indian artifacts Tuesday, Aug. 20, at the library.

The program is part of the library's continuing community education series focusing on Bandera County.

Dr. Hester headed the group of advanced archaeology students from UTSA that excavated a prehistoric campsite in eastern Bandera County which revealed artifacts Dr. Hester said were some 4,500 years old.

The archaeologist invited participants to bring artifacts to be identified.

Museum to pre Life on a farm

Relive life at the turn of the century in the unsettled Texas Hill Country during a San Antonio Museum Un-School Family Adventure, "Living in Texas—Life on a Farmstead."

Participants will spend Sunday, Aug. 18, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Sauer-Beckman Farmstead in LBJ State Park, exploring lifestyles in the log house and the Victorian house on the farm.

Demonstrations will include cooking, churning, gardening and keeping the hen house.

The fee is $14 for contributors, $18 for non-contributors and $12 for children 10 years and under. Reservations may be made by calling the Museum Association's Education Department at 226-5544, ext. 101

Doebbler cited by DeVry IT

Thomas Doebbler Jr. of Bandera, has been named to the Presidential Honor Society at the DeVry Institute of Technology in Dallas.

To be eligible for the society, students must have a cumulative grade point average of at least 3.5 out of a possible 4.0) after two terms of study. Doebbler, a student in the Computer Informations Systems program has a 3.7 GPA.

New scout exec

Cynthia Greenwood has just joined the San Antonio Area of Girl Scouts as field executive responsible for the counties of Bandera, Medina and Kerr. She will work with volunteers to organize troops, identify needs and assist in training and planning of programs, the Girl Scout office said.

Visit Mrs. Langford

Weekend visitors of Mrs. J.F. Langford included Bernice Mitchell and her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Vandel of Houston.

Other visitors included Irene Hatfield of Medina; nieces Beth Brock of Bandera and Edith Appelgate of Austin; her nephew, Kelly Shuptrine, a teacher at the University of South Carolina at Columbia; her granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Kennupper of Saudi Arabia; her daughter, Beatrice Pearce of San Antonio; great-grandson Clint Langford of Alpine; and her daughter-in-law, Nina Langford of Kerrville.

Rein Vander Zee an arbitrator

Former County Judge Rein J. Vander Zee of Bandera has been certified as an arbitrator for the U.S. District Court's arbitration program, according to court clerk Charles W. Vagner.

The arbitration program is designed to provide parties in litigation with an alternate and less costly forum for the settlement of civil disputes.

Vander Zee has also been awarded the designation Master Senior Appriaser, the highest professional designation granted by the National Association of Master Appraisers, according to Dr. Marvin T. Deane, NAMA president.

In order to be awarded the MSA designation, Vander Zee was required to complete educational courses in appraising residential, farm and commercial property.

He has also been designated a Master Farm and Land Appraiser, the appraisers' group said.

In the service

James T. Parris

Airman James T. Parris, son of James H. Parris of Bandera and Evelyn J. Soderholm of 1425 Showcase Drive, Columbus, Ohio, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, Miss. after completing Air Force basic training.

David L. Brymer

Airman 1st class David L. Brymer, son of Bill Brymer of Medina, has participated in Global Shield 85, an exercise involving U.S. Air Force, Air Force Reserve, Air National Guard, Navy and Marine Corps units, and elements of the Canadian forces.

The exercise, coordinated by the Air Force Strategic Air Command, was designed to enhance readiness and the ability of SAC to carry out orders should deterrence fail.

Brymer is a security specialist with the 7th Bombardment Wing at Carswell Air Force Base, near Fort Worth.

Larry E. Marchand

Navy Seaman Recruit Larry E. Marchand, son of Jennie T. Marchand of Bandera, has completed recruit training at Recruit Training Command, San Diego.

During Marchand's eight-week training cycle, he studied general military subjects designed to prepare him for further academic and on-the-job training in one of the Navy's 85 basic fields.

Marchand's studies included seamanship, close order drill, Naval history and first aid. Personnel who complete this course of instruction are eligible for three hours of college credit in Physical Education and Hygiene.

Terry L. Hodges

Navy Airman Recruit Terry L. Hodges, son of Linda L. Hodges of Bandera, has completed the U.S. Navy's Aviation Hydraulics Maintenance Course.

A 1984 graduate of Bandera High School, Hodges joined the Navy in February 1985.

During the seven-week course at the Naval Air Technical Training Center Millington, Tenn., Hodges received instruction on the inspection, servicing and repair of aircraft hydraulic systems. In classroom and practical application periods, he studied the operation of landing gear, steering, braking and shock absorbing mechanisms.

John E. Pointer

Navy Petty Officer 2nd Class John E. Pointer, whose wife, Christa, is the daughter of Chris-Tabel Schuiteman of Bandera, recently participated in exercise Distant Hammer while stationed aboard the aircraft carrier U.S.S. Nimitz, homeported in Norfolk Va.

The 11-day, multi-national exercise took place in the central and eastern Mediterranean Sea and was designed to improve the operational effectiveness of maritime forces, land-based air forces, and land forces.

A 1979 graduate of Judson High School, Pointer joined the Navy in July 1979.

Lakehills

Hermann Sons due a cleaning

The Sons of Hermann Lodge 81 in Lakehills will have a cleanup day Aug. 11 at its new lodge home.

The lodge has purchased the property and building formerly known as Hard Times on Park Road 37, according to treasuer Gordon Nordland.

The park property presently used by the organization will be kept as a park and used for outdoor functions, spokeswoman Johny Bartlett said. She said improvements will continue on that property, which was donated to the lodge by Sgt. Millie Schenkat.

"A log building was donated last week by Fred Morgan to be used as a permanent concession in the park," she said. "We hope to rent the park to other groups and individuals for parties and fundraisers."

The newly-purchased lodge building will be used as a gathering place for members. The lodge expects to get a beer license and to partition part of the building for a bar and snack bar open to the public, she said.

Nordland says the cleanup day Sunday will begin with hot coffee at 8 a.m. "There's a lot of work to be done inside and out," he said. "We hope all of our members will come out Sunday and support us in this effort."

Fire department barbecue servers

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary will meet Aug. 12 to finalize plans for the Barbecue on Aug. 31 and Sept. 1, and a slate of officers for the upcoming year will be presented by the nominating committee, says spokeswoman June Settlemeyer.

Anyone wishing to volunteer a turn on the barbecue serving line can contact Settlemeyer at 751-2297 if they want to work on Saturday, Aug. 31 or contact Alice Smart if they want to work on Sunday at 751-2297.

New babies around Rio Medina

Fred and Monika Haegelin of Rio Medina are the parents of a second son, Cody Wayne was born July 1 at Methodist Hospital in San Antonio. He weighed eight pounds, 13 ounces.

Welcoming Cody Wayne were his older brother Christopher, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Alexander of Devine and Mr. and Mrs. Clemens Haegelin of Mico.

Twin sons were born at the Methodist Hospital on July 15 to Gary and Robbie Haby of San Antonio. Cory Brandon weighed six pounds, seven ounces, and Cody Brandon weighed seven pounds, two ounces.

Welcoming the twins to the family are sisters, Shannon and Michelle; brother Ryan; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hughes of Helotes and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Haby of Rio Medina; and great-grandmothers, Elsie Crabb of Pleasanton and Lydia Leinweber of Castroville.

Shower in Lakehills honors Jill MacMillan

Jill MacMillan, bride-elect of Troy Pierce, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Saturday evening at the home of Nancy and James MacMillan in Lakehills.

Hostesses were Nancy MacMillan, Donna Heisler and Jenny Plaszcyk.

The table settings and two-tier miniature wedding cake carried out the bride-to-be's color theme of blue and white. Donna Heisler, Shirley Clark, and Jenny Plaszcyk served the punch and cake to the 30 guests present.

Donna Heisler recorded the gifts while Jenny Everett, Robin Peck, and Ruth Tschirhart passed them around for everyone to see.

The couple will be married at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Bandera on Aug. 31.

Redfish fingerlings in four lakes

Four Texas reservoirs have received generous stockings of saltwater red drum, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, but Lake Medina was not one of them.

About 400,000 fingerlings each were released at Lakes Braunig at San Antonio and Tradinghouse Creek near Waco. Lake Nasworthy at San Angelo received 195,300 reds, and Lake Fairfield in Freestone County was stocked with 283,700.

Crews drained two four-acre ponds at the Perry R. Bass Marine Fisheries Research Station here last week and recovered about 1.4 million lively reds ranging from one to three inches in length.

Of the four reservoirs, Lake Braunig was stocked with redfish earliest and it, accordingly has developed the strongest redfish fishery, said Nick Carter, inland fisheries research coordintor. "Our creel surveys indicate more than 6,000 pounds of redfish were caught by anglers during May, and the fish averaged about 10 pounds," Carter said.

While Braunig has received several stockings of reds beginning in 1976, Tradinghouse has only two previous infusions of the popular gamefish. Small redfish are beginning to appear in anglers' creels, Carter said.

Lake Calaveras gets more hybrid fish

Lake Calaveras at the southeast edge of San Antonio was stocked with almost 7,000 fingerling-sized hybrid corvinas during the past two weeks, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

None are planned for Medina Lake.

The fish are hybrid crosses between the orangemouth corvina from California's Salton Sea and spotted seatrout which are native to Texas coastal bays.

Anglers already are catching the first hybrid corvinas released in the lake last summer. Those fish now are in excess of two pounds, according to biologist John Prentice.

Meanwhile, Prentice said he anticipates a spawn of pure corvinas at the department's Heart O' the Hills Fishery Research Station at Ingram or the Perry R. Bass Marine Research Station at Palacios.

"We are using variable lights in the indoor tank system to simulate the spawning season," said Prentice, "We still are not sure whether corvinas spawn in the summer or fall in the wild, so the lighting regime at Heart O' the Hills currently is simulating the fall while Palacios is on the spring cycle."

Prentice said both the pure corvinas and hybrids will be stocked mainly in heated power plant reservoirs, and only further study will tell which fish will be emphasized.

"The hybrids already have proved to have extremely good growth potential, but the pure corvinas might do just as well," he said. "Also, if we can produce pure corvinas in the hatchery it will be a much more efficient system than producing hybrids."

An important question to be answered is the cold-tolerance of both species. "We will use some of the pure corvinas from this anticipated spawn in temperature tolerance tests, and that will go a long way in telling us which reservoirs the fish could be expected to survive in," said Prentice.

Boat's captain responsible for safety

The captain of a boat is bound by tradition to be responsible for the safety of his passengers.

Water safety officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department believe this is ample reason for the operator of a boat to think before consuming alcohol.

A 12-ounce can of beer, a five-ounce glass of wine and a 1 ½-ounce shot of whisky all contain the same amount of alcohol and the same effects. Combined with fatigue caused by sun, glare, noise and vibration, alcohol can reduce the boat operator's ability to see and react promptly to critical situations.

Officials say persons who might not consider drinking and driving a car may have a cavalier attitude about drinking on the water. This attitude is a contributing factor to a high percentage of water-related accidents.

EMS meeting

Emergency medical technicians of the Lakehills chapter will be at the town meeting Aug. 16 at the Lakehills Civic Center at 7:30 p.m. along with local civic leaders and county officials.

Spokeswoman Dot McCracken says the purpose of the meeting is to find out what the citizens of the area want from EMS and to gain the support of the area residents in future needs of the EMS.

Everyone is invited and urged to attend the meeting and help decide the future welfare of the Lakehills Chapter, McCracken said.

County officials will be on hand to answer questions on EMS funding and billing procedures.

Peggy Galland, a concerned citizen says this is one meeting no one should miss. She says "at sometime, you, or someone you know will need the help of the EMS."

Edgar E. Crawford grips the reins on his steed as his bride Catherine Teneyck slips the wedding band on his finger. The Nacogdoches couple came to the marrying judge, Ed Jennings, Saturday, and Jennings officiated with the ceremony with a horse and buggy setting. Attendants were the bride's two children, Erica and Chris Teneyck. Jennings said since his weddings under the Marrying Oak have been televised on PM Magazine and a television cable channel out of Dallas, he has performed several weddings for people from all over the state.

Judge deliberating fate of spillway road

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

Hondo—A lingering controversy which has spanned nine years and been aired in a number of lawsuits, trials, appeals, and other litigations reared up again Tuesday in the District Court Room of the Medina County Courthouse.

The issue is over whether a road over the Medina Lake dam spillway is a public road or if it is owned by the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District No. 1, the defendant in the trial.

Plaintiff is the Medina Lake Protection Association.

Even with the testimony presented Tuesday it will be a few more weeks before the outcome will be known. Both attorneys will submit briefs of their arguments, and the judge will study them before making his decision.

Judge Benjamine Martinez of the 293rd Judicial District (Maverick, Zavala, and Dimmit counties) presided over Tuesday's trial.

One spectator present commented that while the case has remained unsettled, three judges involved in the proceedings have died and the plaintiff attorney, Seagal V. Wheatley's hair has turned silver.

In opening remarks Tuesday, Wheatley said the court of civil appeals had ruled the roadway to be public because of "act of conduct," or because the spillway road was used as a public road for almost 40 years and was the only way in and out of the west side of the lake for residents living there.

BMA's attorney Robert Wilson countered with the argument that the use by the residents on the west side of the lake was intermittent and not sufficient for the road to be public. Wilson referred to users of the road as being "licensed to use it."

MLPA witness Hilmer Mangold testified he was employed for Medina County for 12 years in the 1930s and 1940s and as a county employee he was instructed by the commissioners to maintain the section of road crossing the spillway with a grader, sometimes, he said he and other employees hauled in fill, and graded and rolled the surface, and cut brush and weeds along the spillway.

He said they used materials and equipment belonging to the county and were paid by the county to do the work.

From 1946 to 1974, Mangold testified he was the county commissioner in Precint 2, and he said employees and crews from the county continued to maintain the section of road.

To his knowledge, he said, BMA never objected to anyone using the road and he was not aware of any limits to the use of the road for the 40 years he was involved in it's maintenance.

During Wilson's cross examination of Mangold, he couldn't recall the county doing any maintenance on the road where it crosses the top of the dam.

Gene Boyd, president of MLPA since it's founding in 1978, testified his organization was formed because of the controversy over the road. "It was to protect our right to use the road, and to keep it as a public county road," he said.

Boyd estimated today's population of full-time residents on the west end of the lake to be 50 people, up from 35 to 40 full-time residents when he moved to the area in 1975. There are about 100 homes on that side of the lake now, including weekend and summer homes, he said.

In further testimony Boyd said he had believed since he purchased his property in 1969 that the road over the spillway was a public road belonging to the county.

Boyd objected when Wilson asked if the residents now use a new road for access to their property, explaining he thought new road was irrelevant.

When asked if he knew who owned the property the spillway and dam crossings were on, Boyd replied, "no. BMA claims they do."

The new road was built about two years ago, before the dam was closed because of this litigation, he said. Boyd described the new road, called O'Connell Road, as extremely dangerous and said he had had some close calls on it.

He stated he had seen two accidents on the new road and he couldn't recall ever having similar problems with the road crossing the spillway.

Citizens of the area have complained to Medina County officials about the dangers of the new road, he said.

A picture that appeared on Page 1 of the March 21 edition of the Bandera Bulletin was entered as an exhibit, allegedly substantiating testimony by Dr. Robert Fitzgerald, who said he also had a very close call on the road while pulling a flat bed trailer with his pickup truck while descending the steeply-graded curve.

In other testimony, the San Antonio neurosurgeon said he had never been told the road over the spillway wasn't a public road until the day the controversy began with BMA in the late 1970s.

The only access to his home now is O'Connell road or by boat, he said.

The courtroom deputy serving as bailiff, August Hamilton, was called as a witness, and he stated he was with the Parks and Wildlife Department from 1945 to 1974 and assisted on Medina Lake. He said he used the road over the dam and spillway for 29 years and was never told that BMA owned it.

Judge Martinez denied Wilson's motion for a judgement in BMA's favor on the grounds that MLPA had no proof of ownership for the property. Wheatley maintained it was up to BMA to prove ownership.

A Mr. Thurmond, a director for BMA for the past ten years, testified he has owned property since 1940 in the area, and he was told at the time he purchased his property that the water district owned the lake and the dam.

He said the BMA closed the dam and spillway road because of the danger to those crossing it. After someone was killed on the spillway and several accidents occurred on the dam, he said the directors started working with the county to get an alternate route for the landowners on the west end of the lake.

He said at the time the official BMA stand regarding the road over the spillway was it would be used for emergency use until an alternate road could be made available.

Evelyn Sollock, bookkeeper and tax assessor—collector for the water diktrict for the past 9½ years said she had gone back in the records and minutes of board meetings to 1925, and the only piece of paper she could locate regarding public use of the road was an intra—company letter written to the dam caretaker, Adolph Mangold, by water District Manager Dubose on Feb. 10, 1937, stating "we do not intend to stop people from using the spillway as a road."

She testified no documents were found over the 50—year period from 1925 to 1975 saying the public had been notified the road was not a public roadway.

Castroville to celebrate

Castroville Alsatians have loved good food, drink, and fun and have known how to make other folks feel at home since the town was settled 141 years ago!

Today, Castrovillians are still ardent feasters and hosts as proven by the famous St. Louis Day Celebration that town folks puton each year to feed and entertain thousands of visitors from far and wide. The famed "grand-daddy" of all one-day church festivals celebrates its one hundred and third birthday this year.

"The Little Alsace of Texas" expects to host from 10-15 thousand folks from all across the nation at this year's "Homecoming for the State of Texas," slated for Aug. 25. The site of the gala affair will again be Koenig Park in Castroville, just off U.S. 90.

A 9 a.m. Mass in historic St. Louis Catholic Church, celebrated by St. Louis pastor, Rev. Patrick Ragsdale, followed by a big parade from the church grounds down to the park, will kick off the day's activities. Members of the 1984 AAA State Champion Medina Valley Panther football team will serve as grand marshals of the parade. Parade entries include the famous Air Force Band of the West from Lackland AFB, other high school bands, carriages, buggies, floats, antique autos and numerous horseback riders.

Each year the townsfolk prepare a giant Alsatian-style sausage and barbecue meal, complete with all the trimmings and deserts. This year's meal will be served from 11 a.m. till about 3 p.m., followed by an afternoon dance from 3 to 7, in air-conditioned Koenig Park Hall, with music by Fire Fox.

Alsatian family recipes will be featured at the country store, and country items and primitive antiques at the afternoon auction, beginning at 1 p.m. Craft and game booths for young and old, live entertainment on an outdoor stage, as well as numerous food and drink stands will be scattered throughout the pecan tree-shaded park to entertain and satisfy visitors all afternoon long.

THERE'S SAFETY IN NUMBERS.

50 Years Of Financial Service. First Federal Savings is one of the safest, strongest places you'll find to take care of your financial business.
And we've got the numbers to prove it. We've been serving the Hill Country for over a half-century, growing and expanding each year to become one of the strongest financial institutions in the state. Today, we're meeting the lending and savings needs of people all over Central Texas, with 27 branch offices and 350 employees.

$800 Million In Assets. Our financial strength has increased steadily for as long as we've been in business. This year, our assets reached $800 million. With a net worth of more than $48 million, we also have the capital base necessary to pass stringent federal requirements. Our net worth to assets ratio testifies to our strength, too. At the 1984 fiscal year end it was twice as high as required by federal guidelines, and higher than any savings institution in Texas of $100 million or more.

FSLIC Insurance to $100,000. Stability, steady growth and financial strength are all good measures of the financial security First Federal offers. But there's one other important means we offer to safeguard your interests: federal insurance.
As a federally-chartered savings and loan, First Federal is backed by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corporation, which insures accounts to the maximum allowed by law. At First Federal, you enjoy federal insurance on your deposits up to $100,000.

Prominent Bandera rancher Lane Langford, 76, died Aug. 5, in Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville. He was born in Bandera County, Nov. 26, 1908, to Edwin Purl Langford and Matilda Lane Langford. He married Emma Schneider Sept. 25, 1933 in Mexico.

He ranched all of his life. He was a member of the Bandera United Methodist Church. He was a Director of the Farm Bureau. He served 28 years on the Bandera School Board and was a state Game Warden for many years.

Survivors include his wife, Emma Langford of Bandera; a son and daughter-in-law, John M. Langford and Nancy of Waco; a daughter-in-law, Ann Langford of Houston; a sister, Arantha Stein of Bandera; five grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Funeral services were held Aug. 7, at the Bandera United Methodist Church, with Rev. Richard Jackson and Stan Lane officiating.

Pallbearers were Mike Pember, Scooter Fries, Vincent Anderwald, Taylor Wootton, Mike Benke, John M. Langford Jr., David Langford, and Ben Wright. Burial was in the Bandera Cemetery.

Tricia Lea Woods

Tricia Lea Woods, 26, died Aug. 2 at her home in San Antonio after a lengthy illness.

She was a member of the Huisache Avenue Baptist Church and a 1976 graduate of McCullen High School.

Survivors include her daughter Nicole Woods; parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Siejak; one sister, Kathy Wilson; a brother, Russell Towers; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Tucholski; all of San Antonio; paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T.K. Tarver of Helotes. She was the niece of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Buller of Pipe Creek.

Funeral services were Aug. 5 at Mission Funeral Chapel in San Antonio with the Dr. Claude Bonham officiating. She was buried in Mission Cemetery.

Whooping cough reports in Public Health Region 9

Cases of "whooping cough" continue to be reported in Public Health Region 9, but none have been spotted yet in Bandera County.

The latest advisory from Tom Griffith, the Health Department's immunization program manager at Uvalde, reports 44 cases in the region, including cases in Uvalde and Hondo.

The health Department said 44 cases of the disease have been reported in the last six months in Uvalde, Eagle Pass, Carrizo Springs, Lytle, Del Rio, Laughlin AFB, San Antonio, Poth and Hondo.

Three weeks ago the agency said 25 cases had been reported in San Antonio and Del Rio.

Whooping cough is an infectious disease marked by a "whooping" cough and which can cause choking convulsions, pneumonia, collapse of the lungs and hemorrhage into the brain, eyes and skin.

The disease is spread by contact with a person that exhibits common cold symptoms, including discharge from the nose and throat, before the occurance of the telltale "whoop."

Griffith urges parents to assure children complete the DTP series of vaccinations, which includes a series of three shots beginning when a child is two months of age, with a booster six to 12 months after the third dose.

He said a child under five years of age who has three or fewer DTP shots should have additional vaccination for complete protection.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-8464

Sunday, Aug. 18, will be a special day for the Tarpley Baptist Church. The former mission will be formalized as a church in ceremonies beginning at 2 p.m.

Many dedicated speakers will be on the program, and recognition will be given to former pastors and members.

Preceding the service a covered-dish dinner will be served at 12:45 p.m.

The Saturdays Aug. 10 and 24 have been set as cleanup and work days by the Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department to prepare for the Sept. 1 VFD barbecue and school reunion at the Tarpley community grounds.

Virginia trip

Ray and Mary Hietalahti of Rio Hondo drove to Glade Spring, Va., where they spent two weeks with many of their relatives.

A family reunion was held honoring them, and relatives came from all over Virginia and some from North Carolina.

Ray and Mary said they enjoyed the drive over the Cumberland Mountains, and Mary said vegetables were just ripening now and everything is beautiful.

Congratulations to Ray and Mary on their 40th wedding anniversary on Tuesday Aug. 6.

Visitors

Dr. and Mrs. Larry Dean of Abilene spent a weekend recently with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Dean.

Marie Newcomb and children, Molly and Jonathan, also visited and Mrs. Lynn Jeffers of Castroville visited Wednesday.

Attend wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ray attended a wedding of their granddaughter in San Antonio Saturday.

The marriage service of Karen Renee Hamblin and Robert Craig Anderson was held at Sunset Ridge Church of Christ.

The officiating minister was Bill Allen, pianist was Janna Sandidge, and Carrie Sandidge was a flower girl.

The bride's and her attendants gowns were made by the bride's mother.

All flowers used in the ceremony were done in silk by the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Leon and Lillian Ray of Tarpley.

Returns home

Erhard and Laura Walzem returned home recently from two weeks spent visiting relatives, including Laura's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Nall in Andalusia, Ala., and her sister and husband Mary and Wesley Jarman of Mobile, Ala.

They spent a lot of time canning vegetables and visiting, Laura says.

Attend barbecue

Mr. and Mrs. J.E. Dean drove to Pipe Creek Sunday afternoon to drop in on the Pipe Creek Annual School Homecoming. Most of the early pioneer families were represented. It was nice to see old school friends and meet new ones. It was delicious barbecue, and all sorts of goodies were enjoyed. This school reunion has been held many years.

Gold crafting demo

San Antonio goldsmith Bobby Bowden will demonstrate gold crafting jewelry methods from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 17, at the San Antonio Museum of Art, 200 W. Jones Avenue.

Food safety begins at home

"We have a far greater chance of contracting a food-borne illness as a result of our own negligence than from unsafe food products," says a Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service Nutritionist.

The recent tragic food poisoning incidents involving cheese and milk have left many consumers concerned about the safety of foods they buy at the grocery store, says Marilyn Haggard.

But incidents such as these are very small in number when compared to the Food and Drug Administration's estimate of 69-275 million cases of food-borne illness per year, most of which result from improper food handling or storage at home, she says.

"The bacteria that cause most food-borne illnesses occur naturally in raw foods, so it's up to consumers to make sure these bacteria are destroyed before the food is eaten," Haggard explains.

The specialist recommends the following steps for increased food safety at home:

- Be sure to wash your hands carefully before handling food and wash raw foods very well.
- Be especially careful with your cutting board and knives. Cooked foods are often contaminated with raw foods that have been cut on the same cutting board. Wash your cutting board and knife in hot soapy water after each use.
- Heat foods to at least 155 degrees Farenheit before serving and keep cold foods well-refrigerated until serving time.
- Refrigerate or freeze leftovers immediately after a meal, and never allow foods to stand at room temeprature for more than 2 hours.

Fortunately, most cases of food-borne illness cause only flu-like symptoms and diarrhea," says the nutritionist. However, the potential for more serious complications is always there, especially for young children, the elderly and the ill, she cautions.

"We can depend on our extensive food inspection system to maintain our food supply as the safest in the world," Haggard says, "but we can't become lax about proper sanitation and food preparation at home if these illnesses are to be avoided.

Some Texas consumers are expressing concern about buying poultry labeled as "fresh", only to discover at home that it seems partially frozen, says nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt.

According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture rules, a poultry product may be labeled fresh as long as it is not completely frozen, even though there may be a slight frozen crust on the surface, she says.

Poultry is classified as frozen when it's held at zero degrees until it's frozen solid.

Salad days are here again

The prescription for on-the-go families plus scorching temperatures is satisfying summer salads. "Salad days are here again!" says Karen Mitchell of the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Texas farmers are harvesting some scrumptious salad ingredients. Red potatoes, harvested on the high plains are in exceptional supply due to the cool high plains weather. Red potatoes are just the right consistency for making potato salad, because when cooked, they are firm and easy to slice.

Choose potatoes that are firm and smooth with symmetrical shapes, Mitchell advises. Stay away from potatoes that are soft, sprouting or speckled with green spots.

Cucumbers are also available in good supply from the high plains. Select firm, fresh, bright green cucumbers that are well shaped.

Other Texas additions for summer salads are yellow and white onions, juicy tomatoes and green cabbage.

"Without further adieu, here are summer salads that will steal the show," she says. For a free guide to Texas vegetable and fruit availability, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218.

Tomatoes Vinaigrette

1 C (2 med.) sliced tomatoes
1 C (1 med.) thinly sliced cucumber
½ C sliced onion
½ C wine vinegar
½ tsp. ground savory
½ tsp. ground tarragon
½ tsp. crumbled bay leaf
½ tsp. pepper
½ tsp. celery seed

Alternate layers of vegetables in a shallow glass dish, combine vinegar, herbs and spices, mix well and pour over vegetables. Cover and chill several hours or overnight. Drain and serve on shredded lettuce. Garnish with 2 tsp. chopped parsley. Yield: 2 servings.

Potato and chicken salad with shredded zucchini

6 C cooked potatoes (about 2½ lbs.), cut into chunks
3 C shredded cooked chicken
4 sm. shredded zucchini (about 4 cups)
6 coarsely chopped hard-cooked eggs
½ C chopped green onions
¼ C minced fresh parsley
Salt and pepper to taste
⅔ C mayonnaise
¼ C chicken stock or canned broth
1 T. white wine vinegar

In a large bowl, toss potatoes, chicken, zucchini, eggs, onions, parsley, salt and pepper. In a small bowl, whisk mayonnaise, chicken stock and vinegar until blended. Pour over salad. Toss well. Refrigerate until ready to serve. Serves 10-12.

Potato vegetable salad

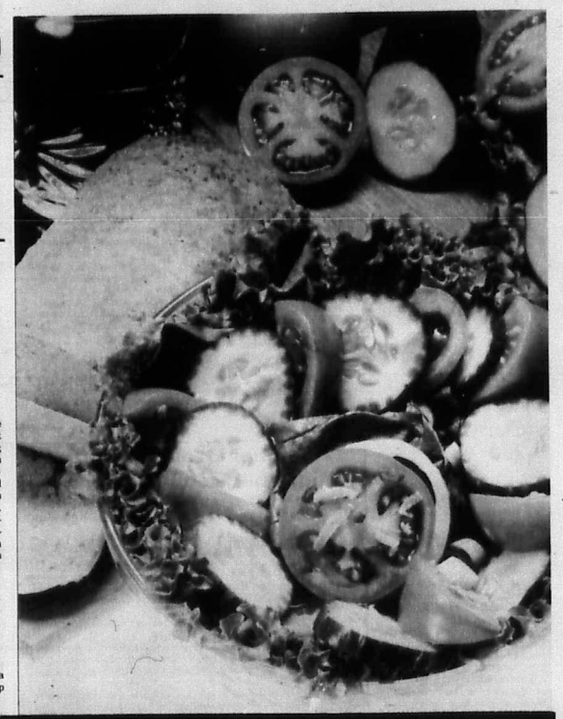

2½ C cooked potatoes (about 1 lb.), cut into chunks
½ C white wine vinegar
¼ C olive oil
Salt and pepper to taste
2 C cauliflower flowerets
2 C broccoli flowerets
1 C sliced mushrooms
½ C cooked green peas
3 chopped green onions
1 pared and shredded carrot
1 chopped green pepper
16 cherry tomato halves

Place hot potatoes in a large bowl. Combine vinegar, oil, salt and pepper in a screw-top jar; shake well. Pour over hot potatoes and toss lightly. Cover and refrigerate. Steam cauliflower and broccoli separately for 10 minutes or until just crisp-tender. Chill. Just before serving combine potatoes, cauliflower, broccoli, mushrooms, peas, onions, carrot, green pepper and tomatoes. Toss lightly. Serves 6-8.

Cucumber salad

1 C diced cucumber
½ C chopped onion
1 C sliced radish
1 C choped green pepper
1 C shredded cabbage
⅛ tsp. white pepper

Combine all ingredients in a salad bowl. Yield: 10½ cup servings.

Small industry needed here, survey reveals

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Respondents would like to see a fancy restaurant, mature cops, and a plan for growth.

Though two-thirds of those responding to a survey would like to see more tourist-oriented businesses in Bandera County, an even greater percentage would like to see small industries encouraged to locate here.

Fully 81 percent of people responding to a survey of the Bandera County Extension Service answered "yes" to the question, "Would you like to see small industries encouraged to come to Bandera County to improve the job market?"

Twelve percent had no opinion on that matter, but only 7 percent answered "no."

The survey did result in a resounding vote of confidence for the tourist industry, western store fronts in Bandera, and even an ordinance imposing a penalty on those who do not fix up or clean up their private property.

Results of the survey, conducted by the extension service's Community Development Committee which is headed by Rudy Robbins, were made public this week.

The survey was unscientific in nature, being given deliberately to the more socially-active persons who are involved in community activities, Robbins said.

It consisted of 24 questions and also revealed that those responding to the survey think the biggest need business-wide in Bandera is for a first class restaurant, that law enforcement officers should be more mature and better trained and should spend more time on serious crime, and that the biggest need in Bandera is a plan to handle the city's growth.

Exactly two-thirds of the persons responding to the survey would like to see more tourist-oriented businesses in Bandera and an equal number would favor the use of taxes to promote business here.

Three-fourths of those responding would like to see Bandera businesses incorporate a western store-front, and 62 percent would favor an ordinance requiring new construction to follow this theme.

One-fourth of those responding live within the city limits of Bandera (called Bandera township on the questionnaire) and 68 percent said they live outside Bandera. Seven percent did not answer this question.

Those responding to the survey favor controlling the access to the Lions Club River Park (62 percent) and patrolling the park to control littering (80 percent), but they do not favor charging a fee to enter the park.

Forty-one percent of those responding said they would favor a fee at the park while 47 percent opposed such a fee. Twelve percent did not answer that question.

Those responding to the poll narrowly favored the construction by the city of a public swimming pool, but most would not favor a bond issue to finance it.

Still, more than four of every ten persons responding said they would vote for and support a bond issue to finance the construction of a public pool.

Residents favored continued development of recreational facilities at Mansfield Park (66 percent), but were only mildly in favor of a biking or jogging trail in the area (46 percent "yes," 41 percent "no").

The questionnaire assumed a downtown parking problem and asked for solutions. Fifty-five percent favored requiring employees of downtown businesses to park off Main Street.

Respondents were not limited to one answer on some questions, and because many listed more than one answer, the results sometimes total more than 100 percent.

While the lack of a 24-hour emergency clinic was named as the No. 1 health care problem in the county, most also thought there was a need for a health inspector for eating establishments and there are an insufficient number of physicians in the city.

Sixty-four percent of respondents suggested a first-class restaurant as the new business they would like to see in Bandera County. Fifty-nine suggested a first-class motel, 52 percent a cleaners and laundry, and thirty-eight percent a bowling alley.

While most respondents would attend a movie theater, in Bandera, fully 79 percent said they would attend an average of only two times per month.

A plan to handle the city's growth was identified by 56 percent of the respondents as among the most important changes needed in Bandera, and equal number listed a 24-hour emergency clinic.

Beyond those two needs, there wasn't much general agreement. Thirty-one percent listed improving the looks of the town, 30 percent improving the Lions Club River Park area, and 29 percent up-grading law enforcement.

Respondents thought law officers should get more training (63 percent) and should be more mature age (57 percent). They also suggested more courtesy and common sense (58 percent), more emphasis on serious crime and less on petty offenses (50 percent), and the elimination of so-called speed traps.

The survey showed a need for an emergency clinic in Bandera.

Only 25 percent thought there is too much ticketing going on in Bandera.

The more highly-educated and more affluent residents of the county participated in the survey to a greater degree than others. Only 4 percent of the respondents reported incomes of $10,000 per year or less, while fully one-fourth of those returning the questionnaires reported incomes in excess of $40,000 annually.

Sixty-five percent of respondents attended college while fully 98 percent said they completed high school.

Twenty-four percent of respondents were retired.

Hunters had fewer accidents in 1984

There were 60 reported hunting accidents in Texas during 1984, which is 20 fewer than 1983 and the lowest since 1979.

Hunter education officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said that while the overall accident total was reduced in 1984, fatal accidents increased from 17 in 1983 to 21 in 1984.

Chris Randall (Randy) Osburn, 18, of Bandera was accidently shot in the chest by a hunting companion on Nov. 18 in the only hunting accident reported in Bandera County last year.

The age group contributing the most hunting accidents statewide was 19-29 years, which accounted for 35 accidents, or 58 percent of the total.

Deer hunters had more mishaps than any other hunting group, with 21 accidents. Shotguns were involved in 33 of the accidents, rifles in 25 and handguns in two. Rifles accounted for 11 fatal accidents, and shotguns were fatal to 10 hunters.

Half of the accidents reported were classified as "hunter judgement" accidents. These include circumstances such as a hunter shot by another swinging on game; persons mistaken for game; moving into the line of fire, or the victim being out of sight of the shooter.

The Parks and Wildlife Department maintains a voluntary hunter education program which is accredited in states which require completion of a hunter safety course before issuing hunting licenses.

Officials noted that only one 1984 hunting accident victim was a graduate of the Texas hunter education course.

To locate a volunteer hunter safety instructor in your area, contact game warden Carlton Becker or call the Austin hunter education office toll free 1-800-792-1112.

Real estate license classes to be offered

A 180-classroom hour program designed to meet educational requirements set by the State Legislature for persons interested in taking the Texas real estate salesperson's licensing exam will begin Aug. 10 at the Academy of Real Estate in Kerrville.

Students may complete the entire program in only 12 weekends, a spokesman said.

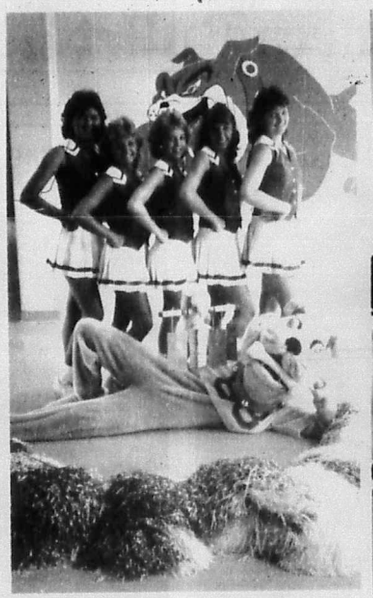

Students who have attended colleges or universities and have transcript credit for college business courses or certain academic courses accepted by the commission, may be qualified to take the licensing exam after completion of only one-half of the program, or in six weekends.

In-depth treatment will be given to the topics of principles of real estate, real estate finance, effective real estate sales and marketing, and real estate mathematics.

Classes meet Saturday and Sunday from 9 a.m.-5:30 p.m. at 1600-B Broadway in Kerrville. For more information, call the Academy of Real Estate, Inc. in San Antonio at 349-4279.

Celebrating 125th

Stonewall, an eastern Gillespie County community, will celebrate the 125th anniversary of its founding on Saturday, Aug. 10, with specially-planned activities, including a parade, children's activities, musical entertainment, horseshoe and washer pitching, thrashing and bailing demonstrations, a beard contest, old-timers' baseball game and dance.

Bandera cheerleaders win awards in Seguin

Bandera High School junior and varsity cheerleaders competed with cheering squads from 125 other class AAA to class AAAAA schools in the state at Texas Lutheran College recently, and the varsity squad received a gold ribbon during the Camp Championship Awards Ceremony as one of the ten outstanding varsity squads. The varsity yell leaders also won six blue and one red ribbons.

Bulldog mascot Daniel Potts received a gold ribbon as one of five all-star mascots and several blue ribbons.

The junior squad received seven blue ribbons for their efforts.

The varsity squad members are Randy McHaney, senior captain; Lorna Colvin, senior co-captain; Kim Moore, senior; Kelly Chapman, senior; Jenny Persyn, junior; and Sally Molina, junior.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Yesterday when I was young is not only the title of a contemporary song, but a favored topic of conversation among seniors.

But talking is not enough. There will come a time when a family's heritage and history will assume a deep significance, perhaps too late.

For this reason, the Silver Sage Corral is planning a writer's workshop, which will offer help to anyone in putting one's memories down in writing. Experience in writing is not important. Remembering is, and it becomes easier with practice.

A good way to start is with a specific moment in time: a streetcar ride to the beach; a summer day in the hayfield; a Saturday night bath in the washtub. The past may be gone forever, but writing it down will keep it alive.

Dates on the workshop will be forthcoming.

A deep-freeze

The Needle-Arts class which meets on Monday mornings has demonstrated that it is interested in culinary art as well as needle craft by presenting the Center with a 15-foot deep-freeze.

The class is practicing preparedness by constructing Christmas ornaments and Christmas tree skirts ahead of the season's rush. They are also planning projects to utilize a supply of upholstery fabrics which was recently donated. Interested persons may join at any time.

Roman shades

The beautiful beige shades on the lower windows of the Silver Sage Corral were very useful in cutting out sun glare, but they did not extend to the higher windows. More shades to match were ordered and, thanks to Floyd Portman, installed over the weekend.

In fact, Floyd came in from Wharton's Dock every day last week to help with several unfinished projects at the Center.

Melodiers

The folks at Purple Hills proved to be a receptive audience last Friday when the melodiers sang for them some of their favorite familiar songs and ballads.

The group's next practice will be Friday, Aug. 16, 5 p.m. at the Center, when a whole new program will be introduced.

Doantions

Donations have been received from the River Front Hotel (L&M Enterprises); Judy Pue, in memory of Danny Robinson; G. Trent and Ruth Mosher; and an anonymous donor who had the much-used piano tuned.

Rockhounds

The geology-oriented group known as the Rockhounds will meet Thursday, Aug. 15, at the Silver Sage Corral at 7:30 p.m. Each person has been asked to bring some sort of specimen collected in Texas, if possible, to tell or ask about. A proposed field-trip to the area around Llano will be discussed.

Theatre party

The next attraction at the Point Theatre in Ingram is "Carousel", a musical by Rodgers and Hammerstein and one with a really great plot. If enough seniors would like to see this production to justify taking the mini-bus, reservations may be arranged for Thurs. night, Aug. 22. Anyone interested should call the Center at 796-4969 by Aug. 16.

H.B. Keith of the Stephenville Senior Center says it all in his poem of appreciation:

I'm sweet 89 and done been kissed;
There's plenty left if you got missed.
Don't let the old age spoil your day's run!
Come to the Center and join in the fun.
The doors are open; you're welcome to enter;
Just follow the crowd; there's no dissenter;
Forget your ills and a world of strife;
Enjoy the best time of your life.
It's planned for your happiness, good health too,
A place of enjoyment the whole day through.
Just one big family working together
To make the world brighter, kinder and better.

Pancake party

Last Tuesday's pancake breakfast at the Siver Sage Corral proved to be a pleasant social occasion as well as a satisfying morning meal. A choice of whole wheat or white pancakes, bacon or sausage, and honey or syrup gave everyone a welcome alternative. One wag was only kidding when he wisecracked, "These are pancakes? I thought they were potholders!"

The next breakfast, with a change of menu, is scheduled for the first Tuesday in September.

Rummage sale

Not to be outdone by the department stores' "back to school" sales, the Silver Sage Corral is preparing its summer clearance sale. Fri. and Sat., Aug. 16 and 17.

Clothes for children will be scarce, but there is an ample supply of good garments for all seasons as well as household items.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Merle and Lucille Welty from Ozona were here staying with Lucile Searcy and visiting with their many friends in the Wharton's Dock area.

Ida Klaus, Dollie Sarran and Ruth were out at Ida's riverfront home visiting with their many friends, and playing their favorite game, Bingo, on Wednesday night at the fire house.

Bill, Audrey and Doug Burge from Corpus Christi are here for a few days at their riverfront home at Wharton's Dock. Doug had a narrow escape a few months ago when he got hit with a high electric charge.

Lucy Rogers of San Antonio is visiting with Danna and Ritch Simmons. Lucy is Danna's mother.

The first-Saturday-of-the-month covered-dish community dinner at the Copper Lantern was a great success. Everyone appeared to enjoy the music furnished by Danny Fairbairin and Jerry Kennedy.

There was food a-plenty, with all the covered dishes that were brought, and everyone enjoyed a little piece of Hazel Smith's birthday cake.

Roy and Wanda Lich and Rudy and Darlene Lackey, all from Kerrville, spent Saturday evening enjoying the community dinner at the Copper Lantern.

We want to welcome Donna D. Stevens to our area. Donna has recently moved into the Medina Hills Harbor area.

Lake Medina Shores property owners have put together a volleyball team called the Lake Medina Shore Jammers, and members invite anyone to get a team together for a game.

They play on Friday afternoon or early evening at the Lake Medina Shores' waterfront park. Last Friday they defeated the sales staff five straight games.

Marion and Marjorie Birch will show slides of their missionary work in Sierra Leone, West Africa, Friday, Aug. 9, at 7 p.m. at the Walker Memorial Chapel.

A fellowship hour will follow with refreshments being served.

We want to welcome Fernando and Cecilia Gonzales to our area. They will be commuting for a while, but hope to move here permenatly in the future.

Sunday, Aug. 11 at 4 p.m., a benefit dinner for Fleda Jo Searcy will be held at the Copper Lantern. There will be barbecued brisket, potatoe salad, and beans, and everyone is invited.

A fellowship dinner on Sunday at the Walker Memorial Chapel was well attended.

Ola and Frank Harrell had their son, Gary, his wife Mamie and their four daughters, Cristie, Wendi, Kerry and Mandi, of Idaho Falls, Idaho, visiting with them for 10 days. They report a good visit, but said they wished there had been more water in the river.

Boots and Perry Johnson took a trip in June to Brystol, Ind., and Gatlinburg, Tenn., and the Smoke Mountains along with four of their grandsons.

Since arriving back at their home in the Wharton's Dock area, their daughter, Sandi Duderstadt, and her husband, Lynn, from Austin and their four children, Lynn Jr., Perry, Keith and Tara, spent a few days visiting with mom and dad.

Their other daughter Phyllis Jackson and her husband Steve, from Douglas, Ariz., and their four children, Glen, Phillip, Bryn and Morgan, were there too.

They all said they enjoyed the visit, but they too said they missed the water in the river.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department was called Sunday to fight a small brush fire in the Medina Hills Harbor area.

A family burned brush cleared from their property early Saturday. It broke into flames Sunday and threatened a substantial cedar stand. A lack of wind aided firefighters in extinguishing the fire. Firemen urge residents to exercise care in burning, with the grass and brush as dry as it is.

The Rev. Paul Flanders and wife Doris and their two children, Priscilla and Doug, have returned from a vacation trip to Albuquerque, N.M., where they visited with friends for six days.

They traveled to the Glorieta Baptist Conference Center, which draws people from all over the world. The Flanders spent six days there while Paul and Doris attended Bible study and worship services and enjoyed the 55-degree mornings and 75- to 80-degree afternoons.

Priscilla attended a day camp that included Bible study, crafts and outdoor activities such as hiking in the area.

Unfortunately, Doug spent most of the time ill in his room, unable to participate in all the activities.

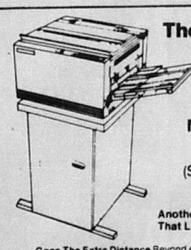

They have now returned to the Walker Memorial Chapel and hope to move into our area by September.

The Xerox 1020 Marathon Copier
Was $1795.
NOW ONLY $1595.
(Stand Optional)
Another Marathon Copier That Loves To Run
Goes The Extra Distance Beyond everyday copy jobs, the 1020 handles all kinds of hard-to-copy originals: linework and solid areas, colored originals, different shades of blue writing, light pencil, green and red inks, yellow crayon. They're all copied clearly, cleanly, and without background problems. Use the five Contrast Control settings to pinpoint copy quality. Settings automatically reset to "normal" after 60 seconds. For bulky originals, the platen cover detaches instantly.
Strong On Flexibility The 1020 isn't limited to specially-coated copy paper. So it copies onto bond papers in 13-24 lb. weights, colored stocks, adhesive mailing labels, overhead transparencies, three-hole-punched paper, pre-printed forms, and your own company letterhead. One paper tray holds 100 sheets of all your copy sizes: 5½ x 8½, 8½ x 11, 8½ x 13 and 8½ x 14. The easy-loading tray snaps securely into place for precise, reliable paper feeding.
The Sprint-Size Marathon You get all this in a 17" x 17" x 11" copier that weighs only 75 lbs., fits in practically anywhere, and – after a 35-second warm-up – is ready to run and run... and run.

Heritage and hymn tour

Three ladies from Utopia and Vanderpool, Bobbie Moore, Nancy Thompson and Margaret Grienerb joined the Heritage and Hymn Tour sponsored by the Methodist Hour to tour England and Wales for about two weeks.

The group of 25 visited points of interest and the homes and churches of John and Charles Wesley and many of the early hymn writers.

The group spent several days in London seeing the city, including Buckingham Palace, Windsor Castle and a cruise down the river Thames.

Everyone agreed the best part of the trip was coming home to their families.

Corpus Christi visitors

Sue Bomer of Corpus Christi was a Sunday visitor of Lonnie, Emma and Lonnie Wayne Bomer.

Other visitors were Gary, Vicki, Stephanie and Michael Bomer of Sabinal. Stephanie returned to Corpus with her Aunt Sue and Michael stayed for a week with Lonnie Wayne.

Visiting Hugh and Carmen Schryver this past weekend were their son and daughter-in-law, Chuck and Elaine Schryver, and their young son, Devin.

Water for the cemetery

Hugh Schryver, the Vanderpool Cemetery Association president, reports a water line has now been installed from the waterwell under the highway to the cemetery.

Water lines within the cemetery and new fences will be the next project, he said.

Ervin Haby accompanied by Lecil and Ruby Howard spent Saturday night in Bryan with his daughter, Grace Diane and David Smaistrla, and drove on to Galveston for a tour of Galveston and an old-time drive-in movie.

Foster chosen to receive flag

Hoyt Foster came by Friday evening to visit and display a beautiful U.S. flag he received in Washington D.C. at the request of Sen. Albert Gore Jr. of Tennessee.

Foster is affiliated with the SPACE (society for private and commercial earth stations) Corp.

The flag flew at the Capitol Building June 24. Foster said he will proudly display the flag along with his collection of plaques and certificates.

Foster is again in Washington this week installing satellite dishes for a congressman, senator and the commissioner of the Federal Communications Commission.

Thompson-Norman reunion

About 34 family members attended the Thompson-Norman family reunion Saturday, Aug. 3 at Boultinghouse Park.

Everyone brought covered-dish luncheon and different kinds of meat and desserts.

Some of the Thompson family were ill and not able to come.

Leaves Wednesday

Duane Hillis will leave for Fort Dix, N.J., next Wednesday, not last Monday as reported in last week's column. He will receive basic training in New Jersey and then will be stationed at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

His wife, Tracy, will be joining him after the birth of their baby, expected in September.

We apologize for the error.

Visitors

Bill and Doris Cornelius were weekend guests of their daughter and family, Kay and George Shelton and children of Austin.

Gary and Pat Thompson from Poteet were visiting his parents, Lon and Elizabeth Thompson, and his Uncle Hub and Aunt Lillie.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Meyer and Glenn of Knippa were Sunday afternoon visitors of old friends, Lecil and Ruby Howard.

Senior center interests all, aging specialist says

Investment of time and money in a senior citizens center invites the interest of all age levels, because eventually everyone will receive benefits, members of the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council were told Friday.

Allen R. Baca, program development specialist with the Texas Department on Aging, compared the friendly attitude and the brotherhood found in senior groups to the Christian ethic of living.

During a question-and-answer session, Baca suggested that the word "foundation" be included in the name of the organization.

In other council activities Friday, President Inez Monsees reminded members of the ice cream social to be held on Aug. 9 at the Methodist Education Building at 8 p.m.

Clara B. Wallace urged members to contribute to a garage sale that the Council will hold on Aug. 17. All items should be brought to the Community Building on Friday afternoon. Anyone who can is asked to help process the articles for sale and to help on Saturday with the sale.

Coffee, iced tea and cookies were served to about 45 members and guests.

Fall hunting show

The Hunters Extravaganza Fall Hunting Show in Fort Worth will be at the Amon Carter Exhibit Building at Will Rogers Memorial Center, Aug. 16-18.

Show hours are Friday from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., Saturday 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. and Sunday 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

The event is sponsored by the Texas Trophy Hunters Association based in San Antonio. The association's founder and president, Jerry Johnston promises that virtually every new and existing type of hunting and fishing equipment and attire will be on hand to be examained, demonstrated or purchased.

LE grants in area total $319,169

Gov. Mark White has approved funding for a variety of law enforcement projects totaling $319,169 in the 12-county Alamo Area Council of Governments region. None of the projects are in Bandera County.

Medina County received three grants for a total of $40,626 to fund crime prevention, juvenile services and a women's rape crisis center, and the city of Hondo asked for and received $31,171 for a juvenile officer.

Kendall County asked for and received $31,956 to fund juvenile services and planning for a new county jail.

Other grants went to the cities of Universal City, Windcrest, Live Oak, Pearsall and Leon Valley; school districts in Seguin and New Braunfels; and Frio, Kerr, Guadalupe, Llano, Comal and Karnes counties.

Camp Covenant

Dedication ceremonies at Camp Covenant were observed by 26 campers and a group of interested parties on July 31. The 70 acres of ranchland located on the ranch of Clarence and Helen Rhodes north west of Bandera was officially opened to the campers on July 29.

Rhodes said the have 10 counselors on staff and the children are taught fishing, swimming, nature and wildlife studies and arts and crafts.

The youngsters ranging in age from six years to twelve come to the camp through a referral program from churches and other organizations. The first group of youngsters were from Rosenburg, San Antonio, Leon Springs, Eagle Lake, and Helotes.

Rhodes said no child referred through a church or organization will be turned away for lack of funds. He said they have had very good response through their sponsorship program.

There are no televisions at the camp. Rhodes said the children seem to enjoy swimming and wading in Bandera Creek, which winds through the ranch, best. "For many," he said, "this is the first time they've ever put foot in a natural stream or seen wildlife in its natural habitat."

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Someone said, "The possible should be done, the impossible has to be done." Just look around you then reflect on what life was a hundred years ago...If men and women like Edison, Salk, Einstein, Barton, Nation, etc. were willing to accept the impossible then our world would still be in the Dark Ages. But thanks to so many capable dreamers with vision, the impossible has become a reality that we can accept and appreciate as part of our daily routine.

Part of the job of living is striving for the indispensable. Whether or not you attain all your goals is not the important issue. The satisfaction is derived from the honest effort you have made through life to reach the pinnacles of mortality...There is so much in life that is intolerable. The hungry get hungrier, the oppressed being more oppressed, and above all, the threat of catastrophic war hanging over our heads...These are situations that are not to be borne by civilization but to be fought constantly so that someday they may be eradicated. Do not bear the intolerable but be frightfully aware of the fact that they are with us. Being knowledgeable is the first step; the next step is to do something about them with every means possible...Don't have an attitude of accepting life as it is. Be optimistic,—and further develop what is good and eliminate what is bad; and for the really good life, dream on with the intentions of making them come true...

Janett Alexander called on Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan to draw the names of the three winners in Janett's Department Store's "Bargain Basement Shopping Spree" last week. First prize winner was Margie Bratton of Bandera, second prize went to Debbie Stricker of San Antonio, and third prize went to Linda Balson of San Antonio.

Fund drive started for tuition grants

Doug Looney will lead the 1985 Hill Country College Fund (HCCF) for Schreiner College and Karl Prohl will serve as vice-chairman, Schreiner President Sam Junkin announced today.

This annual fall fund drive finances the unique Hill Country Tuition Grants, reductions up to $1,065 per year, for every area Hill Country resident, including students from Bandera County, who take classes for credit at Schreiner. The goal is $215,000.

A private investor and rancher, Looney is a member of the Kerrville city council, director of First National Bank of Kerrville and is active in the Kerrville Rotary Club and Kerrville Parents in Action.

He is a native of Tomball (north of Houston) where he served as mayor for five years. he owned SRS Systems, the largest independent commercial waste disposal business in Houston. He sold the business in 1982. He is a graduate of University of Texas-Austin. He and wife Pegi have three daughters.

Looney joins a distinguished list of past HCCF chairmen including Glyn Stewart, Raymond Barker, Clark Hattier, James Avery, Thomas Smith, Howard Collins, Ross and Jane Rommel and Ed Wallace.

The HCCF drive will mark the ninth year that Schreiner has conducted this nationally unique campaign and the sixth year that it has designated its proceeds for tuition scholarship aid for all residents (as of January 1, 1985) of Kerr, Gillespie, Kendall, Kimble, Bandera, Real and Edwards counties. Last year more than 300 full-time and part-time students used Hill Country Tuition Grants.

Center to offer school supplies

School supplies and children's clothing are available for low-income families of Bandera County at the Bandera County Helping Hand Center, according to spokesperson Sharon Glock.

She said persons eligible for such assistance may visit the center anytime between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m. weekdays.

The Helping Hand Center is a crisis intervention center that seeks to provide food, clothing, counseling, information and referral services to residents in time of need.

Glock said 41 families were aided by the center during July.

The center will hold its monthly meeting at the First Baptist Church in Bandera, Thursday, Aug. 15, at 7 p.m.

SHERIFF'S NOTICE OF SALE

THE STATE OF TEXAS
COUNTY OF BANDERA

WHEREAS by virtue of Writ of Execution issued out of the District Courts of Dallas County, Dallas, Texas, on the 5th day of July, 1985, in Cause No. 78-11005-B, where Taurus Distribution Ltd. was Plaintiff, and Bennie Lynch dba Grimes Film Booking and Grimes Film Booking Inc. was Defendant, on a judgment rendered in said Court against Defendant and in favor of the said Plaintiff, for the sum of $42,465.78 plus $5,000 plus $4,996 attorney fees with interest thereon at the legal rate from December 20, 1978, I did on the 29th day of July, 1985, at 5 o'clock p.m. levy upon the following described lot and parcel of land situated in Bandera County, Texas, as the property of Bennie Lynch, to-wit:

Lot B and 9, Block 12, Subdivision 'D,' Avalon Ranch, Bandera County, and on the 3rd day of September, A.D., 1985, being the first Tuesday of said month, beginning at 10 a.m. on said day, at the courthouse door of said County, I will offer for sale and sell at public auction, for cash, to the highest bidder, all right, title and interest of Bennie Lynch in and to said above described property.

Guy V. Pickett
Sheriff of Bandera County

Public notice
High School

Bandera High School registration will be held between the hours of 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30 at the High School Counselor's Office. Mr. Charles Graves, the high school counselor, will be present to assist students with registration. Students should report according to the following schedule: 12th grade—Monday, August 12, 11th grade—Tuesday, August 13, 10th grade—Wednesday, August 14, 9th grade—Thursday, August 15, and New students (all grades)—Friday, August 16.

All students, new and continuing, must register, and all new students need a copy of their immunization records and report cards or transfer forms from their previous school.

High school student pictures will be taken during registration so that time will not have to be taken out of the school day. Individual pictures will not be taken after the start of school.

Please mention the above schedule to friends and to any new families you may know of who have moved into the Bandera Independent School District.

An Orientation Program for incoming freshmen, all new students, and their parents will be held on Thursday night, August 15, at 7 p.m. in the high school auditorium. Mr. Richard Delamain, high school principal, will cover student and school policy and Mr. Graves will explain class scheduling and recent curriculum changes.

School will start for all students on Tuesday, September 3, 1985.

Junior High School

Registration of all junior high students will be held at the Junior High School in the Merrick Building from 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30 according to the following schedule: 8th grade—Monday, August 12, 7th grade—Tuesday, August 13, 6th grade—Wednesday, August 14.

All new students must have immunization records at the time of registration.

Elementary School

NEW students in grades K-5 may register Monday through Friday, August 12-16, in the upstairs Elementary office from 8:30-12:00 and 1:00-3:30.

Kindergarten children must be 5 years of age by September 1, 1985. First grade children must be 6 years of age by September 1, 1985.

All Kindergarten and First Grade students are required to have an immunization record and birth certificate at the time of registration.

Second through Fifth Grade students are required to have an immunization record. A report card or transfer form will be helpful for correct placement.

Kindergarten students who were pre-registered last spring and students who attended Bandera Elementary School last year do not have to register.

Classes will begin on Tuesday, September 3, 1985. If you have questions about elementary student registration, you may call 796-3753, ext. 212 or 213 for additional information. Please do not wait until the first day of school to register your children.

Six attend VFW convention

Six members of Bandera VFW Post and Auxiliary went to Fredericksburg for the summer District Meeting Sunday.

Marie Blouin of Atkins who is state president, was the principal speaker for the women, and she stressed the need to support for our programs of Americanism, Loyalty Day, Texas Sesquicentennial, Buddy Poppy, cancer aid and research, community activities, hospital, legislative, safety, rehabilitation and youth.

Those attending were Commander Keith Swinford, Quartermaster Rosa Bailey, President Alma Juenke, Treasurer Lois Bailey, Della Cox and Linda Shaw.

Recording Star Carroll Gilley will perform Saturday at the Cabaret in Bandera. Mickey Gilley is his uncle and Jerry Lee Lewis is his cousin, and he performs in the style of his better-known relatives. He doesn't just sing; he puts on a show. Carroll does ballads, rockabilly and contemporary middle of the road material, much of it his own compositions.

GREAT CAMARO GIVEAWAY

13 Camaros Plus 13 Weeks of Savings!

Super S Foods is giving away a Chevy Camaro each week for 13 weeks. Enter every week 'cause there's a new drawing every week! No purchase necessary. Need not be present to win.

Contest Rules:

1. Must be 18 years of age or older to win. No purchase necessary.
2. Employees of Super S Foods, its ad agency, suppliers and members of immediate families are not eligible to win.
3. Separate registration each week for car. All entries will be picked up at close of store business each Wednesday, sealed & delivered to San Antonio for an independent, random drawing from all entries. One winner per week.
4. All entries must be on official entry blank available at Super S. No photo copies.
5. All non-winning entries will be destroyed each week.
6. Weekly winners will be notified by the Wednesday following end of registration period (within 7 days).
7. All prizes will be awarded to winners at the end of the 13 week promotion, Oct. 18, 1985.
8. Winners agree to allow Super S Foods and its advertising agency to use their name and photographs for advertising and promotional purposes throughout the 13 week promotion.
9. Odds of winning are dependent upon number of entries each week.
10. Official rules will be posted in each store throughout the promotion.

STRENGTH

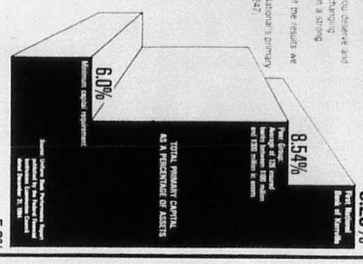

THE MEASURE OF A BANK

In order to provide the services you deserve and meet the challenges of the ever-changing economy, your bank must maintain a strong capital position.

We at First National are proud of the results we have attained.

As of December 31, 1984, First National's primary capital was $38,280,000 or $12,104,247 above the 6.0% minimum capital requirement according to the widely accepted measure. First National Bank is the strongest of all Kerr County banks.

Our Pledge to you is to maintain that strength while continuing our efforts to provide the best financial service available anywhere.

SAFETY

— Only 6 letters, but it means so much! Today's children are tomorrow's dreams — In one careless moment those dreams can be shattered.

Back to school safety not only is meant for adults and their being aware of looking out for kids. Children should also understand that prevention of accidents is also their responsibility.

At this time of year, it is all our responsibilities, adult and children alike, to consider a few words of caution that can mean so much. —

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 5 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, AUGUST 15, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

Some 50 candidates, just about all of them in good physical condition, reported Monday for the third-ranked Bandera Bulldogs' first day of football practice. Coach Danny Nuese reports the 'Dogs were as enthusiastic on the first day as any team he's coached. The 'Dogs will scrimmage Class AAAA New Braunfels Canyon on Aug. 23 in New Braunfels at 6 p.m., and Coach Neuse says he hopes a lot of the loyal Bulldog fans will be there to watch the highest-ranked team in the school's history. Here senior quarterback leads the 'Dogs through conditioning exercises.

Medina dump fees reduced

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Rates to dump at the Medina-area county landfill, established only a month ago, were slashed up to 60 percent Monday in an effort to quiet cries of protest from Medina residents who said the rates were too high for dumping in a landfill they gave to the county 35 years ago.

County commissioners last month set rates for dumping at the Medina landfill that were equal to those charged residents for dumping at the county-maintained compacter station near Bandera.

Dumping has traditionally been free at the Medina dump, but the Medina Rotary Club a month ago asked the county to establish a fee system "to control access to the landfill."

Medina residents raised their voices in protest from the outset, however, and this week a new committee of residents called on the commissioners court to establish a special rate for Medina area residents only.

The committee, with George T. Williams Jr. acting as spokesman, suggested identification cards be issued to residents of the old Precinct 3 which would allow them to dump in the Medina area landfill at prices up to 60 percent lower than other residents of the county. Commission precincts were changed in 1982 and the old Precinct 3 now contains parts of Precincts 2 and 3.

Commissioners refused to setup special rates for Medina residents, however, and instead cut all the rates for dumping in Medina to the levels suggested by the committee.

The new rates, which apply to all residents of Bandera County, are 75 cents for a 55-gallon barrel, 25 cents for trash bags, 50 cents for trash cans, $2 for a pickup load of combustible materials, $6 for pickup loads of non-combustible trash, and 3 per cubic yard for loads larger than pickups.

Commissioners rejected a 'special rate' for Medina residents.

The old rates, established July 8, were $1.50 for a 55-gallon barrel, 75 cents for 30-gallon cans, $2 for large appliances and furniture, and $5 per cubic yard for pickup loads. As a rule of thumb, county officials said a small pickup carries one yard, a small pickup with a long bed 1½ yards, and regular-sized pickups 2 cubic yards.

The old rates continue at the compacter station near Mansfield Park.

Medina residents had largely boycotted the Medina area dump site since the county began charging a fee. Williams said. He estimated 80 percent of the Medina people who had been using the landfill had stopped using it.

"At the rates you are charging now, you can't get the people of Medina to use it (the landfill)," said Randy McNaughton, one of the committee members. "They are burning it and dumping it along the roads. Poeple are upset about the rates and are just not using it," he said.

County Judge Tommy Curbo and Commissioner A.A. (Pete) Reed each explained to the committee members present Monday that the law doesn't allow the county to charge one rate for one group of people and another rate for another group.

"Different rates could lead to lawsuits from people being charged the higher rates," Reed explained.

Bandera hires 14 teachers for school term beginning Sept. 3

by Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

Bandera school trustees okayed the hiring of 14 more teachers in the system and accepted resignations from three teachers Tuesday night.

Resignations accepted were from elementary teachers Sue Rafmussen, Melodye Jensen, and Susan Ellison, superintendent Ted Dockery told the Bulletin.

Hirings approved were secondary librarian Patricia Small; girls basketball coach and health and physical education teacher Robin Ramsay; high school english teacher and assistant girl's coach Betty McKenney; high school math teacher and cheerleader co-sponsor Kara Jo Wright; boys' assistant football coach and baseball coach and office duplicating procedures teacher Randy Winn; high school history teacher Barbara Shurman; elementary teacher Pamela Byerly; high school english teacher and one-act play sponsor Linda Greg; elementary teacher Jane Atha; elementary teacher Denise McNallen; elementary special education teacher Dorothy Ketcham; junior english teacher Charles Odmeal; elementary teacher Debra Roberts; and substitute teacher Kathleen Skeen.

Trustees also approved revisions to the 1985-86 school year calendar, eliminating the first day of the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show as a holiday for all students.

Trustees instead decided the approximately 250 students that will participate in the show will be allowed to use Jan . 9 as an excused absence.

Board president Thomas H. (Bub) Keese pointed out that the first day was filled mostly with participants showing their livestock. It was also pointed out, by Dockery, that students could get unexcused absences should their grades be unacceptible.

Under House Bill 72 students are allowed up to ten excused absences each year.

In other action, the trustees listened to Mr. and Mrs. Ron Schindler express concern that the well at the Alkek Elementary, now under construction, might add to water well problems property owners in the area are already experiencing.

Several wells in the area have gone dry or suffered significant decreases in water levels. Some property owners blame another large well in the area that they say was improperly cased when it was installed.

Austin architect Jim Pfluger reported that workmen aren't running too far ahead of schedule on the new elementary school. Steel reinforcement work is being done this week, and he predicted the first cement should be poured on Friday.

A formal meeting was set for Aug. 29 to approve the 1985-86 school budget. It will be held in the Bandera High School Library at 7:30 p.m. Dockery said all patrons of the district are welcome to attend. A budget workshop for the trustees will be held Aug. 20.

A tax increase of more than three percent is anticipated Dockery said, but until the budget is finalized, the tax rate cannot be determined.

Record crowds expected Aug. 31-Sept. 1 for second annual Labor Day pro rodeo

Local cowboys will be encouraged to compete for "upwards of $35,0000" in prize money.

Officials of the second annual Labor Day professional rodeo at Mansfield arena think an intensive promotional program will bring as many as 3,000 persons a night to the three-day rodeo Aug. 30 and 31 and Sept. 1.

Their promotional plans plus more than 400 cowboy entries that include some still in the running for world championships and some of the all-time leading money-winners, lead to their optimism.

Contestants will compete for "upwards of $35,000" in prize money says spokesman Cal Chapman.

Events this year include bull riding, calf roping, barrel racing, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging, team roping, saddle bronc riding, and steer roping.

Each of these events will be run each of the three nights, with the overall winners to be determined on Sunday night.

Local cowboys will be encouraged to enter by the local entry option for cowboys with no PRCA affiliation who live within 50 miles of Bandera.

Registration for local cowboys will be at the Cabaret Dance Hall on Aug. 22 between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. where they may sign up for individual events and pay entry fees. Payment will be accepted in cash or cashiers check only, says Chapman.

Persons who need further information on registration may call Ralph Mitchell at 796-8162 or 695-8440.

The rodeo is being produced once again by Bad Company Rodeo, Inc.

Rodeo tickets may be purchased in advance for $5 or at the gate for $7, Chapman said. tickets are on sale at Jack Frazier Electric, Boyle's Market, The Cabaret Dance Hall, Eckhart Flower Shop, Fred Collins' Workshop, and the offices of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Among the world champions expected to compete in the Bandera pro rodeo is Roy Cooper, the 1984 calf roping champion and last year's three-title world winner.

With career earnings of nearly $770,000, he has envisioned breaking the $1 million career winnings mark and topping other long-standing records. "I want to be good for the sport of rodeo," Cooper said.

The Durant, Okla., cowboy, who was the 1983 steer roping champion, finished fourth in 1984 standings after winning the National Finals Steer roping. But, he had ranked only seventh going into the Finals.

"I think last year I wanted it worse," the 6-foot, 165-pound cowboy said of the steer roping crown. Championship wins don't necessarily get easier, either, according to Cooper. "I think the older you get, to get any better you've got to practice harder," said the 29-year-old cowboy.

Cooper said steer roping is an interest that will continue the rest of his life. "I'll rope steers when I quit rodeoing," Cooper said.

Cooper, who talked of retirement several years ago, said he is "fired up" again about rodeo. "I realized that I enjoy roping. I love to compete. I love to win. I'm going to rodeo as long as I can—as long as I have the desire to go. I don't think I've had my best year yet."

In the future, Cooper said he has a number of other interests to continue such as his western store business. He also wants to be a good teacher for youngsters starting out in rodeo. "I'll always be around the sport of rodeo."

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

Throwing rice at the bride not for the birds

Dear Editor:

I read "Potpourri" (Aug. 1) with interest, and at first dire consternation, trying to pronounce that long word sprawled over more than half the page, under the usual heading of your editorial comments.

Finally, I broke it down into syllibication and then counted the letters.

You almost broke the record of the longest word in the English dictionary, up to World War II, which was "disestablishmentarianism" (24 letters until "anti" added four more). Your "bureaucratic wasteniophobiac" has 27 letters, four more than the longest word before World War I, when we did not know the meaning of "anti."

Mrs. J.W. Edwards
Purple Hills

(Editor's note: Not long after that column appeared, a retired state employee stopped by to say he was tired of people criticizing bureaucrats for frittering away tax money. He said there were lots of people who felt the same way. I guess they are antibureaucraticwasteiophobiacs.")

Word to the wise

Our Tarpley correspondent Nettie Dean, writes to warn of the danger of brush fires and burning trash in that area, and it's a timely warning that applies to all parts of the county.

The brush and the grass and everything else is extremely dry.

Homes were threatened on the Mico side of Medina Lake this weekend, and only quick action by the Mico volunteer firefighters averted tragedy.

A milestone

Noting our weekly feature, "25 years ago," Arena Hager calls to note that Tuesday was the 25th anniversary of her permanent move to Bandera from San Antonio.

She and her husband, William raised two children here, LoRena Scott and Ariene Buttle, both still Bandera area residents.

A fitting tribute

No more fitting memorial to the thousands of good deeds performed during his lifetime by M.R. (Sandy) Sandidge could be found than the naming of the Optimist Club's new children's park in his honor.

He was active in many areas to improve the life of Bandera County residents, and was a participating member of the Optimist Club until his death.

Club members are due kudos for naming the new playground in Sandy's honor. We hope it's not true, however, as one wag reported with tongue planted firmly in his cheek, that it will be know as "Sandy's pile."

For the birds

Innocuous as it may seem, instant rice kills!

That's the word from the International Wildlife magazine, that reports that instant rice is fatal to birds that eat it. When the rice absorbs moisture, it causes severe bloating, the magazine reports.

In Connecticut, a state representative has introduced a bill banning instant rice being tossed at weddings.

Birdseed is the ecologically safest stuff to toss at the birde and groom, the magazine advises. It's a timely warning that applies to all parts of the county.

Opinion

special election drama moves from ballot box to the courts

Last week's 1st Congressional District runoff election is over—and not over. The political foes are now preparing to tell it to the judge.

Days prior to the runoff, the U.S. Justice Department leaped into the campaign fray, threatening to cancel the election because the Democratic governor had not sought clearance from the feds on the election date.

The Democrats cried foul and the feds agreed to wait until after the election to settle the matter.

Last week the victorious Democrats attempted to squelch the impending courtroom drama when Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox asked the U.S. Supreme Court to cancel a lower court's ruling that the review must be carried out.

But high court Justice Byron White refused to block the lower court order and the legal scrap will go on.

Gramm's role

The Democrats argue the review is unnecessary because the guidelines used to call the special election had already been approved by the feds.

In fact, they are identical to the guidelines which then—Gov. Bill Clements used in 1983 to call a special election when Phil Gramm switched parties. Clements set the earliest possible election date, presumably to give incumbent Gramm the campaign advantage. Now Gov. Mark White has done the same, presumably for the same campaign advantage for the Democrats.

One point to remember and ponder this recent election would not have been necessary except for the political maneuvering of Republican Gramm, now a U.S. Senator. Gramm engineered the election by arranging for the longtime Democrat incumbent Sam Hall to vacate the seat for a federal bench job, then hand-picking the lone GOP candidate and promoting his campaign financing around the country.

State Capital Highlights

By Lyndell Williams

Minorities excluded

In challenging the election date procedures, the GOP has charged it violates the Voting Rights Act which protects from discrimination against minorities.

The low turnout by blacks there in the early July election seemed to support the premise, and may have even inspired the idea of bringing in the feds.

But ironically, it was the heavy black voter participation in the August 3 runoff which carried the day for Democrats.

Why the difference? One guess is the black leadership waited until the runoff, when the Democratic field narrowed to one, in order to avoid internal division.

That, plus the grassroots resentment of federal interference, led to the best voter turnout for Democrats since 1982.

Checks returned

Gramm, himself, became the target of legal scrutiny during the heated days of the election when the Federal Election Commission probed some irregularities in his '84 campaign contributions report.

He denied he violated a number of election law provisions, but last week, to be done with the hassle, he refunded more than $13,000 in donations from the '84 campaign.

The checks were from individual Gramm supporters but were written on corporate accounts. A spokesman for Gramm said his accountants believed the donations to be proper, but that Gramm returned them because of the doubt.

The FEC staff report in March suspected Gramm's campaign of excessive contributions, illegal corporate contributions and improper joint fund-raising procedures. Gramm then sued to stop their audit.

Short takes

●One of the Democrats in that '84 U.S. Senate campaign, Bob Krueger, has been named a visiting professor at the LBJ School of Public Affairs.

He will hold the Lloyd M. Bensten Chair in Government Business Relations for one year.

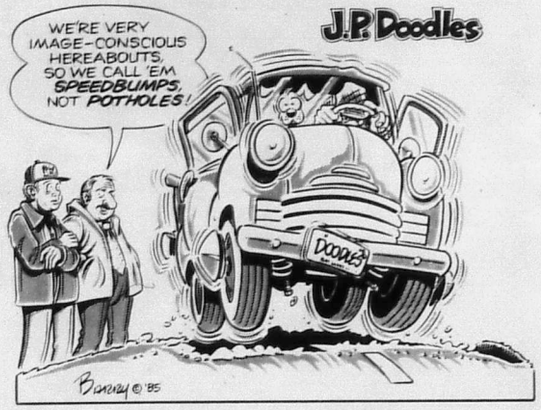

●State Rep. Bob Leonard, R-Fort Worth, will chair the special House committee monitoring progress of the new indigent health care legislation passed last spring.

●Twenty-eight state senators and several lobyists gathered quietly last week to raise $40,000 for the legal defense of their colleague, state Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur. Parker faces a third grand jury investigation of charges related to drugs, prostitution and pornography.

●The State Board of Barber Examiners nixed plans by a private club in Houston to open a topless barber shop.

●The State Board of Insurance last week named Doyce R. Lee Commissioner of Insurance. Lee, 44, succeeds Tom Bond who resigned.

●State Comptroller Bob Bullock says the decision by the Mexican government to permit IBM to build an American owned plant in Mexico is a "bright silver lining in the economic clouds that have been hanging over South Texas."

Governor offers Game plan to help students learn

by Gov. Mark White

When school doors open in September, Texas educators will come prepared with a game plan for grooming schoolchildren for success in the classroom as well as on the playing field.

Texas corporations and Texas celebrities like football star "Mean" Joe Greene are joining Texas teachers and coaches to promote academic excellence in our public schools.

Fina Oil and Chemical Company will award a $1,000 college scholarship to 11 Texas high school athletes who combine football prowess with outstanding schoolwork. Winners will be named to the first annual Fina Texas Academic All-State Football Team.

One of the 11 judged by a Blue Ribbon Panel to best combine football skills with academic achievement, leadership qualities and participation in other school and community activities—will be named the Fina Academic All-State Athlete of the Year.

This is one of the many programs now in progress across our state to recognize the academic achievements of our young athletes.

Our students should not be daunted by the challenge of passing all their coursework before they can participate in extracurricular activities."
—Gov. Mark White

New academic requirements mandated by the Texas Legislature will better prepare our schoolchildren for the demands of the job market.

Our students should not be daunted by the challenge of passing all their coursework before they can participate in extracurricular activities.

"Mean" Joe Greene, who I appointed as a regent at North Texas State University, is teaming up with me in a public service announcement promoting a "do pass, do play" winning attitude in Texas schools.

In this TV spot underwritten by Fina, Southwestern Bell and Atlantic Richfield, we urge young athletes to become winners in the classroom and on the playing field.

My office has prepared a "play book" for academic coaching—outlining a variety of approaches they can use to help students learn course material: tutorials, counseling, a buddy sytem for studying, and meetings with the student's family to get them involved.

Their success in meeting that challenge depends on successful early intervention on the part of high school counselors, teachers and coaches when a student begins having problems in class.

No student who wants to learn will be left out or left behind.

Three burglaries reported in county

Only one arrest was reported in Bandera County last week, for driving while intoxicated, Chief Deputy Ken Mingo reported. "However, we have reports of three burglaries and another stolen flag report," he told the Bulletin last Tuesday.

Elroy Charles Bristsch, 52, of Kerrville was arrested by DPS Trooper Dan Butts Sunday and charged with DWI. He was released after posting an $800 bond.

Another U.S. Flag was reported stolen from the entrance to Bandera River Ranch by Mary Miller. The pole was also damaged. Investigating officer Deputy Bob Hines described the disappearance of the flags at the subdivision as "an ongoing problem."

Owner of the Clegg Mobile Home Park, Tom Gibson of Lakehills reported someone knocked a lock off a battery box and stole batteries and accessories valued at $263 on Sunday.

A pistol and hand-tooled holster valued at $290 were reported missing from the home of Bill Easley in Deer Creek Estates Saturday. The gun's serial number was entered into the national crime computer, Mingo reporter.

Sheriff Guy Pickett is still investigating a second burglary reported at the home of Donald Hamilton on Pebble Beach. When Hamilton reported the second burglary Sunday, he told the sheriff he had been burglarized about two weeks earlier. Hamilton is still compiling a list of the missing items.

Crime prevention class at courthouse Aug. 27-28

A crime prevention seminar designed for citizens of rural areas will be sponsored by the Bandera County Sheriff's Department Aug. 27 and 28. "The seminar is free and everyone in Bandera and the county is welcome to come," said Deputy James MacMillan.

Crime prevention specialist Buddy Lovestock with the Alamo Area Crime Prevention Association will conduct the seminar. It will be held at the Bandera County Courthouse both evenings from 6 p.m. to 10 p.m., MacMillan said.

Material covered by Lovestock will be how to protect yourself, your home, your valuables, and property; what to look for when you see a suspicious circumstance and how to report suspicious persons and vehicles; and how to mark valuables and how to make a personal inventory on valuables.

DPS says it arrested 811 drunk drivers

Trooper Allan L. Kempf of The Texas Department of Public Safety states that the Highway Partrol in Bexar County has arrested 811 drunk drivers in the last 8 months since the federally funded selective traffic enforcement project began.

Only selected areas where major accidents were occuring and where driving while intoxicated was a major contribution to accidents were patroled by the troopers.

During December, 1984, the first month of the project, 121 drunk drivers were arrested which is compared to only 79 drunk drivers arrested in July, 1985, which is a reduction of 42.

Further reductions are hoped to be obtained by voluntary compliance on the part of drivers not to drink and drive during August.

Oil painting class offered

A beginning class in oil painting will be offered to senior citizens this fall in Bandera by the San Antonio College's Institute of Lifetime Learning.

The course, open to adults aged 55 years or older, is an eight-week affair with one class weekly at the Bandera County Library on Tuesdays from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. The fee for the course is $12.

The instructor will be June Westmeyer, an eight-year member of the SAC faculty. Persons interested in registering for this class may call Vernell Mullenax at 796-3395.

Info booths planned

The Parent-Teacher Organization will have information booths set up on the elementary school campus on the first day of school, says Darlene Marks, spokeswoman for the organization.

Council rejects mobile home

The council postpones discussions of a hotel-motel tax and duties of the P & Z Commission.

The Bandera City Council Monday turned down a request from Roy and Lydie Rodriguez to temporarily locate a mobile home in the city, despite an emotional plea from Rodriguez.

"Give my mother-in-law and father-in-law a chance to spend the few years they have left in a quiet town," Rodriguez told the council.

He sought a variance to city zoning ordinance prohibiting mobile homes in the city limit. The Rodriguez couple wanted to put a mobile home on a lot they own for Lydie Rodriguez' parents, aged 74 and 63 years.

Her father is under the care of a physician at the Audie Murphy Veteran's Hospital in San Antonio, and she said wished to move to Bandera to be near the hospital. They had agreed to remove the mobile home when her parents no longer occupy it.

Jim Word appeared before the council to oppose Rodriguez' request during a public hearing Monday. He said he represented his mother and his aunt who own property across the street from the proposed mobile home site. "They think it will reduce the value of their property," he said.

Cal Chapman, chairman of the Planning and Zoning Commission, said his group had considered the request and recommended against it.

Council members said they feared the variance would be a dangerous precedent which would be followed by many requests from others who have been turned down or who would seek to locate a mobile home in the city.

"If we allow re-zoning (to permit mobile homes) of an individual site, I'm sure the city of Bandera will be flooded next week with a bunch of requests for the same thing," said member Ross Bailey.

Joe Fox and Gilbert Scheele joined Bailey in voting to deny the request and Raymond Adamietz voted against the motion to deny. Dianne Tobin was not present Monday.

In other council action Monday, the city dads cut short discussions of a possible hotel-motel tax and an ordinance giving the Planning and Zoning Commission the duty of approving uncontested zoning matters and having the council consider only those matters in which there is disagreement.

They also adjusted a water bill at the request of Ricky and Shirley Adamson of Shirley's Produce and discussed street drainage and insurance matters and ordered the construction of a pump house over city wells.

They also heard a suggestion from the Planning and Zoning Commission that the city mow weeds from property it maintains and that an ordinance requiring such maintenance on private property be enforced.

Chapman noted that only $4,700 of $12,000 budgeted last year for street repairs was spent by the city, and he suggested using some of a similar amount budgeted this year for mowing rights-of-way in the city.

The council took no action on the matter, however.

They also took no action on a proposed ordinance detailing the duties and responsibilities of the P&Z Commission, tabling quickly a draft of an ordinance presented by city attorney Terry Mason.

Chapman told the council the commission wanted to be able to take care of zoning cases in which all property owners affected agree, to save the council's time.

He emphasized that any cases which any party disagreed would be referred to the council for a decision.

Bailey indicated he might oppose such a move, but a motion to table was quickly approved to give council members time to consider the matter.

Members of the city's newly-appointed grievance committee, which was enpaneled to hear complaints against the city's police department, reported disagreement among committee members of the scope of the panel's duties.

The committee asked the council to draft guidelines for its use.

Chapman, who is also vice president of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, said the chamber may recommend a hotel motel tax be collected here, with all the funds raised by such a tax earmarked to promote business in the city.

He said the state authorizes cities to tax motel bills from 1 to 7 percent. "It doesn't hurt motels, it helps them, because the money is used to draw new business for them," Chapman said.

Motel owner Henry Moeller of the Riverfront Motel said he would give the council his opinion on the matter at their Sept. 9 meeting.

Sales taxes still up

Sales tax collections in Bandera so far this year are 13.7 percent higher than during the same period in 1984, figures from the state comptroller's office show.

According to a report from the comptroller, the city of Bandera has received $81,345 as its share of the sales taxes collected by the merchants of Bandera. It had received $71,565 through July last year.

Most cities in the area also reported increased sales taxes, and the statewide total this year is 11.5 percent ahead of 1984.

Junction, the only area city showing a decrease, showed receipts 1.1 percent lower than last year. Other reports included Hondo up 9.3 percent, Castroville up 12.4 percent, Uvalde up 12.6 percent, Leakey up 2.5 percent, Ingram up 2.9 percent, Kerrville up 12.9 percent, Boerne up 15.8 percent, Fredericksburg up 18.5 percent, New Braunfels up 16.9 percent, Johnson City up 0.5 percent, Blanco up 11.9 percent, Helotes up 20.8 percent, and Leon Valley up 87.3 percent.

Espinosa completes teletype training

Marine Lance Cpl. Freddie V. Espinosa, son of Rudy and Margarita Espinosa of Bandera, recently completed the Teletype Repair Course.

During the seven-week course at the Marine Corps Communications-Electronic School, at Twentynine Palms, Calif., Espinosa received instruction on the operation, testing, troubleshooting, adjustment and repair of the teletype systems used by the Marine Corps.

A 1981 graduate of Milby High School, in Houston, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1984.

Indian artifacts topic of community education seminar

A seminar on indian artifacts will be presented by the Bandera County Library on Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the Silver Sage Corral.

The program will be presented by Dr. Thomas R. Hester and Ellen Sue Turner from the University of Texas at San Antonio's Center for Archaeological Research.

Dr. Hester, a native of Carrizo Springs, is the author of more than 100 scientific papers and books on the archaeology of south central and southern areas of Texas, including "Digging Into South Texas Prehistory" and "A Field Guide to the Stone Artifacts of Texas Indians."

The latter book was co-authored with Turner. Both books will be available for sale at the seminar.

Turner is a research associate of the Center for Archaeological Research at UTSA and has done field work on several projects for the center as well as work with anthropologist Thomas Greaves at Trinity University. She is a very active member of the Southern Texas Archaeological Association.

The program is free and open to everyone and all are invited to bring artifacts for identification.

Bandera County

Four young men narrowly escaped instant death when their car was in a wreck on Main Street in Medina, according to the Aug. 12, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin.

Bob Haley, the driver, was hospitalized in Kerrville in critical condition. Georgie Nilsson and Virgil Grambernardi both suffered broken legs, and Steve Nilsson was uninjured.

The car was a total loss. It's motor was thrown entirely out and across the highway, the newspaper reported.

Mrs. J. Marvin Hunter Sr. was greatly disturbed on a recent morning when she went into her bathroom and found a small "possum" in her bath tub. The Bulletin reported the visitor left rather hurriedly.

Bandera cheerleaders Noahlene Bergman, Jamie Sue Nixon, Jean Daniels, Elsie Faurie, and Jeanine Hicks won second in competition at cheerleading school at Sam Houston State Teachers College in Huntsville.

It took San Antonio divers two days to recover the body of Vada B. Cooper, 39, from Medina Lake. The body was found in 40 feet of water. Cooper's wife said he fell from a boat they were in on the lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Mansfield were honored with a silver wedding anniversary party by their children, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mazurek, Mrs. Joe Bennett, and Mary Jo Mansfield. Approximately 40 guests called at their home to wish them many more years of happiness.

The big attraction at the Bantex Theatre the week of Aug. 8, 1960, was "Marjorie Morningstar." The film starred Gene Kelly and Natalie Wood.

Sky Mattson to be wed

Tammy Darlene Whorton of Kerrville will become the bride of Sky Daniel Mattson of Bandera on Aug. 17, at 5 p.m. at the Unity Church of the Hill Country in Kerrville.

The bride elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.B. Whorton of Kerrville. She was a 1983 graduate of Tivy High School. She has attended San Antonio College in San Antonio and is currently studying to be a para legal.

Mattson is the son of Rosalee Mattson of Bandera. He has attended Bandera High School and is presently employed at Joe Phillips Construction Company in Medina.

Robbins cited

Jim Bob Robbins of Bandera has been named to the spring semester honor roll of the College of Business Administration at The University of Texas at Austin.

Church ladies study 'renewal'

The Ladies Bible Class of the Bandera Church of Christ met in the church education building Monday evening.

Shelly Postert directed group singing of sacred songs and Shirley Phillips offered the opening prayer. She conducted a program "Renewal" in Christian faith. She closed her program with a poem, "It's Up To You."

At the close of the program Secret Pals were selected followed by a delicious salad dinner.

Present for the evenings service were Amy Reagan, Mary Ann Smith, Shirley Phillips, Yvonne Fenner, Shelly Postert, Aundee Kirkindall, Virginia Johnson, Hattie Mae Knibbe and Nettie Saul.

Funds established for Melinda Richards

Benefit funds have been established at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church and the First State Bank in Bandera to help with the medical expenses for Melinda Richards, the three-year-old daughter of Gary and Linda Richards of Bandera who is suffering from hydrocephalus.

A grandparent, Emma Mueth, said Melinda has had surgery nine times since her birth in September 1982. The most recent was hernia on Aug. 7 at Methodist Hospital.

The grandmother reported she was recuperating at home in Bandera the following day. The tot was born with Hydrocephalus.

Mueth said the child is expected to have additional surgery in September to put tubes in her ears, which will require a short time in the hospital and further recuperation at home.

"She is classified as high risk because of the hydrocephalus," Mueth said. "Her parents have no insurance to cover her medical expenses."

Mueth said the surgeon's bill for the hernia surgery would be about $600 and she has no idea what the hospital charges will be.

Monsignor Ralph Smith said a fund was established in recent years at St. Stanislaus to benefit a child who required constant monitoring because of a heart problem, and the fund is available for the Richard's child at the Catholic Church for anyone wishing to make a donation. He said the donations would be tax deductible.

Mueth said a fund has been established in Melinda's name at the First State Bank for anyone wishing to send donations there.

Medina, was purchased by the people of Medina after an extensive fund-raising drive in 1950 and donated to the county as a landfill for Medina area people, Williams explained to the commissioners.

"Hey, we bought this land," said McNaughton. "Why isn't there some differential (in fees) made?"

In other commissioners court action Monday, the revised plat of River Bend Estates was approved pursuant to an out-of-court agreement between the county and developers George Day, Linda Day Smith Morgan and Marvin Richardson, and a re-subdivision of River Oaks Ranch was OKed at the request of P.J. (Patsy) Savage.

Some three miles of road in River Bluff Ranch subdivision was accepted as county roads for future maintenance.

They also voted to not charge rent for the use of the old courthouse by Bandera County Appraisal District, at the suggestion of Bandera School Board President Thomas (Bub) Keese.

The appraisal district was created by the state legislature to appraise all taxable property in the county, and taxing entities are assessed to pay the appraisal district's expenses.

Keese told commissioners that members of the school board feel it is not appropriate for the county to charge the appraisal district $300 per month for renting county offices.

Commissioners voted to allow the district to use the offices rent-free but to pay all the costs of operating the offices.

Members of the wolf clubs in Bandera County, some 20 strong at commissioners court Monday, were assured by commissioners that every effort will be made to continue the county's contribution to the club's predator control program.

The county has been using $16,800 of its revenue sharing funds to help pay bounties for coyotes and to help pay the expenses of a full-time trapper in the western part of the county.

Though commissioners did not promise the club $16,800, it did assure them every effort will be made to give them whatever support is possible.

"We're going to have to trim everywhere," Judge Curbo told the ranchers, "from the sheriff's budget, from raises for county employees, and from everywhere.

"The wolf clubs will have to take a portion as their cuts, just as all others are taking theirs," Curbo said. Revenue sharing funds have been reduced from $75,000 to $19,000 and are expected to be eliminated next year.

The county's tentative budget earmarks $15,000 of revenue sharing for ambulance expenses and the remaining $4,000 for other purposes, said county treasurer Elizabeth James. Support of the county's predator control program will have to be paid from property taxes this year.

The commissioners Monday also awarded a $17,266 contract to L&J Builders, Inc., of Kerrville for the installation of a gabled, metal roof on the Bandera County Library.

They also authorized the purchase of two used patrol cars for the Sheriff's Department, including $3,000 for a 1981 Plymouth four-door and $3,250 for a 1982 Chevrolet four-door. Both are being purchased from the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Commissioners asked insurance agent Joe McMullan to determine whether commissioners, the county attorney and justices of the peace have liability insurance coverage after County Attorney Sam Darden questioned the existance of such coverage.

McMullan said those officers were covered by one policy when they are acting in a law enforcement capacity and in another when they are acting in other capacities.

Darden said members of the judiciary never act in a law enforcement capacity. On the contrary, Darden said the constitution expressly separates members of the executive branch (officers who enforce laws) from members of the judicial branch (officers who interpret laws).

"I'll be frank with you," Darden told the commissioners. "I'm afraid to do anything as far as the prosecution of criminals is concerned unless I have insurance coverage."

UTSA alumni meet

The University of Texas at San Antonio Alumni Association will hold its annual meeting Thursday, Aug. 22, on campus.

The meeting will begin at 6 p.m. with a reception in the Recital Hall foyer of the Arts Building.

Those who join the association or renew their memberships at the meeting will be admitted free.

Water concerns area cities

Water stories dominated area news last week.

The Kerrville Mountain Sun reported that Kerrville was using up to 7.3 million gallons a day, 4 to 4.5 million gallons a day from the river and the rest from city wells.

Some residents of the Kerrville suburb of Riverhill found themselves without water Saturday when a 200 horsepower electric pump experienced an electrical shortage.

Allan Turner of the San Antonio Light reports that an incorporation fight is beginning, just below the Canyon Lake Dam.

Sattler residents are petitioning to set up their own government to protect their community from the amoeba-like expansion of San Antonio and to control the thousands of tourists who tube and canoe past their back doors on the Guadalupe River.

But the plan to incorporate the community of 400 has run afoul of businessmen who cater to tourists on River Road.

River outfitters claim townsfolk have contrived to include river-related businesses within the city limits—and are scorning the prospective government a healthy tax base—while excluding the homes of river businessmen, who, as a result, would be voteless.

"The Guadalupe is a queen of a river, but now she's a prostitute and a garbage dump. And the tourists are the cause of it," said David Thompson, president of the Guadalupe Valley River Association which has pushed for incorporation.

Area news.

Compiled by Tom Denyer

reported that director of city utilities Allen Oestreich praised the residents of Fredericksburg for their compliance with the city's voluntary water rationing plan inaugurated two weeks ago.

"Thus far, the cooperation we have received has been pleasing," he said.

Highland Lakes communities

Anita Mitchell of the Marble Falls Highlander reported that several communites have been plagued with shortages of water this summer and several have gone on voluntary water rationing.

Although Cottonwood residents were out of water for about six hours last week, due to the clogging of a water intake pipe.

In Bertram compliance with the community's new water regulations and conservative use of the supplies have taken Bertram off the crucial list for the time being.

Burnet, which also suffered a water crisis last week when a burst water distribution line used up between 400,000 to 500,000 gallons of stored water, city officials said.

LCRA appeal

The Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) said it will appeal a July 29 ruling by the Texas Water Commission (TWC) which would cut LCRA's water rights nearly in half.

"The ruling is unrealistic, unfair and short-sighted," said Bill West, LCRA director of water resources.

The TWC ruling—part of a statewide process of water-rights adjudication—would cut LCRA's water rights from roughly 1.5 million acre-feet to 781,000 acre-feet per year—a figure TWC estimates is the "firm yield" of LCRA's major reservoirs, Lakes Buchanan and Travis.

In the same ruling TWC increased the water rights of the City of Austin to 164,254 acre-feet per year, which TWC determined would meet Austin's needs through 2020.

Burnet to tap inks

Bill Dragoo of the Highlander reported that the city of Burnet and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission in Austin are near an easement agreement to allow the construction of a raw water intake facility at Inks State Park.

The intake facility will take water out of Inks Lake and a pipeline will carry the raw water to a proposed treatment plant.

Johnson City eyes water storage

The Record-Courier noted that most of the city council's 18 agenda items last week dealt with the city's water and septic program.

Continuing growth has forced the city to build a ground storage tank, estimated to cost $200,000.

Edwards fight

The Castroville News Bulletin reported that the Nueces River Authority may be preparing to oppose an application by the Edwards Underground Water District to acquire right to 346,200 acre-feet of water in the Nueces Basin.

The EUWD Board of Directors has authorized the filing of an application for rights to the average annual recharge of the Edwards Aquifer over a six county area for the purpose of protecting water which has historically recharged the aquifer.

Total rights being sought by the District amount to an average annual 608,400 acre-feet across three river basins.

Recall at Mooney

In other news, the Kerrville Daily Times reported that all of the estimated 130 people affected by Mooney Aircraft's June 3 layoff are back on the job.

The last 50 people affected by the layoff returned to work Monday, said Tish Hulett, Mooney personnel assistant.

Fredericksburg rationing

The Standard Radio Post drove to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott McKay of Spring Branch. The McKays had a delicious dinner and birthday cake for Jack. After visiting with the McKays the Holloways and Jack returned to San Antonio. On Tuesday afternoon, the Mike Mikuleuhas came over to visit Jack. Watermelon was enjoyed by all. Jack returned home Wednesday afternoon.

We thank the family of Lane Langford for the beautiful memorial flowers. Our sympathy to all his loved ones.

Lorene Bialkowski of Kerrville visited her sister Ruth Batto.

Hazel Anderwald enjoyed a visit from her granddaughter Retha Anderwald.

Claire Thaman of Kerrville visited her mother Agnes Fortinberry.

Ruth Scott of San Antonio and Marie Thompson of Camp Bandina visited Floyd and Ona Billingsley on their 66th wedding anniversary last Friday.

We welcome James Stewart of Medina to our family. We hope he will enjoy his stay with us.

Reba Williams of San Antonio visited her grandmother Myrtle Heinen. Casey Faris also visited Myrtle.

Cynthia Mayberry's family came for her Saturday and took her to the Reed Family Reunion in Medina.

Grace Feik celebrated her birthday last week with a pretty cake, lovely flowers, Presidential Greetings and "Happy Birthday" wishes from everyone.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Feldman of Kerrville visited Lorena Bowman, Gertrude Werner, Lura Walters and other friends Saturday afternoon.

Thanks to John Wheeler for the movie Saturday afternoon. We're looking forward to next Saturday's movie.

Ivedell O'Neill reached another milestone last Saturday. It was on August 10, 1968, that she came to make her home with us. Mrs. O'Neill has lived here longer than any other resident.

Marlene, Greg, Debbie, Laura and Brian Grothues visited Willie Leibold.

Donna Mayfield started celebrating her birthday on Friday when everyone gathered in the dining room to sing "Happy Birthday" to her. She had a pretty cake, lovely flowers, and Presidential Greetings. On Saturday Mona Seale came by for her and took her to her home in Medina where there were other relatives to help celebrate her "big day."

Thanks to Mary Stein, Evelyn Hostetter attended Mass at St Stanislaus Catholic Church Saturday evening.

Visiting Ernest Rainey Sunday were his wife Mrs. Rainey and son David Rainey.

Raymond and Aggie Batto visited their Aunt Ruth Batto and Uncle Joe Mazurek.

The Hill Country Chapel from Pipe Creek came Wednesday afternoon to sing and give a short devotional. IXQUS Children entertained us with several lovely songs. Those signing our guest book were Judy John, Kevin and Kaci, Nathan Nixon, Sharon, Michael and Racheal Glock, Margie Schantz and Justin, Linda McGhee, Paul, Christopher, Adam and Marissa, Mona Miller, Summer and Meredith, Monica Wilson, Christy, Ken Jr. and Melissa, Johnnie Mae Ernst, Betty Hickman, Evelyn Herrera, Shelly, Stacy and Jenny, Julie Rodriquez and Phillip, Sheri Forsyth, Vicki, Terry and April, Holly, Josh, Bethany, Penny and Wesley Cudd, Gretchen and Brigitta Schantz.

Mr. and Mrs. J.B. Edwards took his mother Edith Edwards to services at the First Baptist Church in Pipe Creek Sunday.

Hoyt and Laverne Hamrick visited friends in the home Sunday and took Jack to services at the Church of Christ.

Linda Bingham of Medina visited Mr. J.H. Stewart.

Thanks to Bill Allen's "garden" for the fresh vegetables.

Artis Leggitt of Ft. Worth visited her mother Cynthia Mayberry over the weekend. Also great-grandson Terry and friend Angela Pike.

Ann Neal of Bandera Falls came by for a nice visit with Gertrude Werner Monday morning.

Nursing home special for her special mom

By Norma M. Barr

Birthdays are special for each resident of Purple Hills Nursing Home. The staff, other residents, and other caring people make sure of that.

They celebrated my mother's 85th birthday there earlier this month. It was the fourth time her birthday had been celebrated there, and it's always a special event for her.

Everyone's birthday is special at Purple Hills. What happened on my mother's was only typical.

First, through the loving concern of Punky Camp and her mother, Elsie Eckhart, a charming vase of flowers appears on the bedside stand. Sometimes it finds its way to the lunch table to be shared with "neighbors."

The dedicated attendants then see that the birthday person looks "party pretty" for his or her special day. Members of the staff pop in and out to say or sing "Happy Birthday."

At about 11 a.m. Mayda Wedgeworth pins on a beautiful corsage or boutonniere. The card reads "Speedy and Carmen Hicks, patients and staff."

Those over 80 years of age receive a signed greeting from President and Mrs. Ronald Reagan.

A fancy cake is brought from the kitchen and "Happy Birthday" rings again. The cake is shared by all at the noon meal.

The camera comes out and amidst much cheerful posing waving, singing and love, photos are taken for or with the family, to be posted on the bulletin board.

My mother's birthday was special in another way.

My mom, Gracie Feik, fell. From where the superhuman strength of these frail little people comes, I do not know. Even with every proper safety restraint, she managed to dump herself to the floor, and the wheel chair landing on top of her.

By the time I arrived, my mom was in pain but under watchful eyes. We elected that she be X-rayed at Sid Peterson Hospital. The first thought is always possible broken bones.

Enter the Bandera EMS. Martin Smith and Dennis Wainwright answered the summons. They were so smooth and careful with her that the ride was almost a pleasure. She remained calm throughout.

They were able to expedite things so that she were back for the party—only a little bit late.

I am writing this to tell you all how I feel about this center of love and care right her in Bandera. Nearly four years ago the term "Nursing home" was bad. I visited Purple Hills with total tunned vision—a dutiful daughter seeing only her own dear mother no longer able to care for herself. I had become the mother and she had become the child for whom I no longer had the physical stamina to satisfy her needs, for I too had become a senior citizen.

With each visit came more genuine extension of my family—and of many other families involvement and with more involvement came love. Each resident and staff member is now so very special to me. We can laugh together, cry together, worship together and touch each other.

We gather to watch parades form. We share the beauty of the Christmas tree, the fun of Santa, the joy of the gifts lovingly made by members of the community and the staff. There is a Valentine party, St. Patrick's Day party—the list goes on.

Four or five churches rotate Sunday worship services. Organizations come to play bingo.

Cub Scouts, tots from Noah's Ark, Melodiers, Los Gringos and other groups visit and entertain periodically.

Occasionally some kittens or a puppy get a chance for cuddling.

Naturally times are not always fun and laughter. Ask any staff member about body rhythms at full moon! Or working double shift because someone is sick or snowed in!

And when someone dies, there is the same emptiness and grief as in any family. That's because Purple Hills has become a

EMS needs you, Aug. 16

The Lakehills Chapter of the Bandera County EMS is hoping for a large turnout at a town meeting at the Lakehills Civic Center Friday night, Aug. 16 at 7:30 p.m.

"We hope to gain insight in what the people of the community expect from us and learn how we can best serve the needs of the community," says EMS spokeswoman Dot McCracken. The volunteers that man the Lakehills EMS unit all plan to attend the meeting.

"With the population growing in the lake area, we need the support of the community more than ever," she said.

"This meeting is not a fun-draiser," McCracken said.

"We hope to gain a better understanding between the volunteer service and the community," she said. "We hope to have representatives from the county at the meeting to answer any questions that come up pertaining to the county's role in the service."

The organization is partially funded by Bandera County, and it handles all of the billing. Much of the expenses and equipment for the EMS is paid for by donations and memorial contributions.

"We always think of people as needing the EMS, but the EMS needs us," says Peggy Galland, a longtime resident of Lakehills. Like many, she remembers the days before Lakehills had a EMS unit in the community. "Back then, we had to wait 45 minutes to an hour for an ambulance to come from Bandera. But now, we just take the EMS for granted, 'cause we know they are here for us," she said.

For sure, Galland says, she'll be at the meeting.

"We hope people will come out, voice their opinions, offer moral support, and help decide what the future holds for the service," McCracken said.

Benny Honaker and Shane Zimmerman survey the remains of Harry Perkins' automobile after it flipped five times on Highway 1283 between Lakehills and Pipe Creek last week.

Driver escapes serious injury

Harry C. Perkins, 40, listing a San Antonio address, narrowly escaped serious injury when his 1974 Mercury Capri went out of control, rolled over five times, and caught brush along the side of Highway 1283 on fire.

Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department said Perkins was traveling north on Highway 1283 between Lakehills and Pipe Creek Aug. 7 when his car left the roadway on the northbound shoulder. Perkins apparently over-corrected, DeLesdernier said, and his vehicle crossed the highway onto the southbound shoulder, striking a cement portion of a drainage ditch. The car rolled over five times before coming to rest, DeLesdernier said.

A small grass fire was started around the vehicle, which Perkins put out with a blanket he was carrying inside his car, EMT Kay Heisler said. He had the fire out before help arrived, she said.

The Lakehills EMS transported Perkins to the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio where he was treated for possible neck and back injuries.

March of Dimes to benefit from Sunfest at state park

Sunfest '85, a two day outdoor extravaganza of music, food and water activities, is set for Saturday and Sunday, August 17 and 18, at Medina Lake (Plum Creek Cove) near the State Park. The event will be open from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. both days and is being sponsored by radio station KESI Star 106.

Sunfest '85 will benefit the March of Dimes in its fight to prevent birth defects in future generations. Some of the featured events include continuous entertainment and live bands; ice cold beer and refreshments, like fajitas, corn and sausage on a stick; a dunking booth featuring the Texas All-Star Wrestlers where you can "Dunk a Hunk," and rides on many exciting water sports vehicles.

The "Dunk a Hunk" event will feature All-Star Wrestlers sitting in a dunking booth while participants try to dunk them, with proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

Some of the Texas All-Star Wrestlers participating in the Dunk a Hunk at Sunfest '85 are Jose Lothario, Chavo Guerrero, the American Force, Big Bubba, and Terry Daniels.

James Lockett, a New York-based comic and actor, originally from McQueeny, will be one of the featured entertainers to appear at Sunfest '85. Lockett will appear on Sunday the 18th.

Lockett has appeared in over a dozen movies, ten television programs, many national and regional commercials, and has done extensive theatre performances. His stand-up comedy experience includes appearances at the Improvisation in New York and Los Angeles, Catch a Rising Star, the Comedy Store, and many other clubs.

The McQueeny native was an organizer of Laugh Aid and he has auditioned to become a regular on Saturday Night Live (and is very hopeful!) His delightful humor is always a hit with the audience, and those who attend Sunfest '85 are in for a treat!

Lone Star Parasails is offering rides on a parasail for $15...and this is the only place in Texas you can take advantage of this offer! Other water activities include rides on Hobie Cat catamarans, offered by the Sailboat Shop for $3; sailboard rides offered by Sailboarding Medina Lake for $5; and JetSki rides, which are available from Kawasaki of San Antonio for $5...with all proceeds going to the March of Dimes.

In addition to the rides being offered, Sunfest participants can enter several contests, including a float race and a trisbee throwing contest. In the float race, fourman teams compete on "anything that floats", using only human propulsion (no motor or sails).

Sunny Cage, a delightful and outgoing six year old from Helotes, has been named the 1985-1986 Poster Child for the South Central Texas Chapter of the March of Dimes. Sunny will make her first public appearance at Sunfest '85 on Saturday, August 17th.

Proceeds from Sunfest '85 support the March of Dimes' programs of birth defects prevention through research, education and medical services in a 23-county area.

MLVFD barbecue Aug. 31 and Sept. 1

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department is wrapping up plans for it's biannual barbecue Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

This event is one of the largest fund raisers on the lake. All proceeds go back into the operation and maintenance of the volunteer fire department.

It has been 23 years since the first barbecue was held at Medina Lake to raise money to benefit the fire department. The barbecues held today, that serve about 1,600 people over the two day period, are a far cry from what old timers describe as the first barbecue.

They claim the ranchers donated goats for the meat, and it was tough. Today only the choicest of beef brisket is purchased for the barbecue.

Served with the meat is potato salad, made by the women of the auxiliary, pinto beans prepared by the firemen, and trimmings such as peppers, beets, onions, pickles and bread.

The bake sale sponsored by the auxiliary is looked forward to by some as much as the meal is. The ladies bake their favorite treats and donate them to the bake sale held in conjunction with the barbecue.

To prepare the meat for the 1,600 or so hungry people that will show up at the fire house over the weekend, the pit crew will start cooking the meat on Friday night, and then when they sale out Saturday afternoon, they start the coals and spend Saturday night cooking for Sunday's crowd.

The serving will begin at 11:30 a.m. both days and continue until the barbecue is sold out each day. Adult plates will be $4 and children can eat for $2. Tea, coffee, cold drinks and beer will also be available.

4th birthday celebration

Jimmy MacMillan was honored with a party in observance of his fourth birthday on Aug. 11 at his home in Lakehills. The party was hosted by his parents Mr. and Mrs. James MacMillan Jr.

He and his young guests enjoyed a spiderman pinato and other games. A buffet of finger foods and a blue and white birthday cake was enjoyed by the 30 guests in attendance.

Faith Chapel-School plans fundraiser

A Harvest Fair, auction, and Gong Show will be sponsored by Faith Chapel and Christian School on Oct. 19 at the Lakehills Civic Center.

The Harvest Fair will start at 10 a.m. with games and contests for everyone. There will be a sweet shop, country store, arts and crafts, plants and needlework.

Food booths will open at 11 a.m. featuring hot dogs, frito pies, sandwiches, and drinks.

The auction will begin at 5 p.m. and donations are needed. To arrange your donation contact the chapel or the school.

The Gong Show will begin at 7:30 p.m. and it is free. Donations will be accepted.

MLBA plans biggest cookoff yet

The fifth annual Great Gumbo Cookoff will be the biggest ever, if plans formulated by the Medina Lake Betterment Association board of directors go as scheduled.

At its monthly meeting, the board voted to give trophies for the first-, second-, and third-place winners in the cookoff, as well as the traditional "showmanship" trophy.

Bob Caswell says they will also, for the first time, present a "People's Choice Award." Everyone will be allowed to cast their vote for the recipient of the new award.

The fifth annual Gumbo Cookoff will be held at the Lakehills Civic Center on Sept. 28. The fun starts at noon. Special attractions will include carnival games, a dance contest, fortune teller, and the popular air castle.

Live entertainment will include the Country Shufflers at 1 p.m. and Southern Music Transport at 6 p.m.

A $1 admission ticket will include a chance in a drawing for a piece of the Hill Country. "That's right," president Peggy Ashmore says, "one lot in the Medina Lake area will be first prize." There will be other prizes as well. The piece of property is a donation from Panchita Thomson.

Food and drink concessions will be abundant. Included will be barbecued shrimp, hot dogs, shrimp etouffe, red beans and rice, sausage-on-a-stick, beignet, pecan pralines, fajitas, and lots of gumbo. For the thirsty there'll be soft drinks, beer, and wine coolers.

To enter the cookoff call 751-2727, 751-2370, or 751-3401 in Lakehills or 674-8321 in San Antonio.

Bandera's popular auctioneer, Joe Walters, will conduct the auction at 4 p.m.

The directors approved plans for the Medina Lake Players to perform on stage at the Civic Center in a new play on Nov. 30. Also, they voted to host the third annual Big Band Dance on Dec. 7.

Water safety is his concern

"Boating on Medina Lake has just about doubled this summer compared to the summer of 1984," says game warden Ernie Lerma.

"I find about 99 percent of the people I talk to on the water are concerned about safety and they try to conform to regulations," said Lerma, who spends 50 to 75 hours each month patrolling the lake.

He credited a recent movement statewide educating boaters on safety and regulations with making boaters more aware of water regulations. "People comply more, violations are way down and offenses are usually of a minor nature," he said.

"We've had a few accidents on the lake, but nothing major," he said. "Complaints on boaters cutting ski-ropes are just about nil, compared to past summers. I had one incident recently of a boat cutting through two inner-tubes tied together, but it was accidental. The driver truly didn't see the rope," Lerma said.

"Compared to other lakes, Medina Lake boaters exercise caution and obey regulations and overall seem much more safety conscious," he said. "The only close call this summer was a boat that capsized in Anton Hollow," he said, "a woman almost drowned, but she was okay when she got to the hospital."

The last drowning in the lake was in February 1984.

Lerma said when he came to Medina Lake in June 1984, local residents and some business owners weren't used to having the lake patrolled, and they seemed to misunderstand his purpose for being on the lake. Now, he says they are all very supportive.

Lerma is usually found patrolling the lake on weekends. He says when he stops a boat he sees breaking a regulation, he usually informs them of the violation as a warning. Few of them have to be stopped the second time.

Lerma works out of the Parks and Wildlife office in Hondo.

He says the fishing has been excellent this summer and night fishing is a very popular sport.

He is available to talk to civic groups and organizations on water and boating safety. Those who would like more information on the education program, may contact him through the Medina County Sheriff's Department.

Lerma stops boaters most for permitting children to be in boats without life jackets and for pulling skiers without a rearview mirror.

Children under 12 years of age must be wearing an approved life jacket, he says. "It's not enough to have one in the boat for the children, they must be wearing it at all times," he said.

Boats pulling skiers must have a 4 inch by 4 inch mirror fixed so the driver can see the skier at all times. He said a lot of people think as long as they have another person along as a spotter, that's all that's necessary.

Also, he said it is mandatory to carry a life jacket or approved floatation device for every person in the boat. He said he doesn't issue citations always the first time he sees these regulations violated, but he does expect boaters to be in compliance the next time he sees them of the lake.

Cowboy gallop rarin' to go

The Seventh annual Cowboy Homecoming Gallop Saturday morning, Aug. 17, will kick off the biggest day of Pleasanton's annual Cowboy Homecoming celebration.

Hundreds of runners from across Texas are expected in the 10,000-meter run.

Pipe Creek

Church trying to get a start

A group of citizens in the Pipe Creek area are interested in the formation of a Presbyterian church in the community, and a meeting of interested persons is scheduled for Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. at the Pipe Creek Community Center, says Debbie Culver, spokeswoman.

Ed Graham of the Presbyterian council in San Antonio will be on hand at the meeting to answer questions and talk about how to go about starting a new church in a community, spokeswoman Reet Campbell said.

For additional information contact Culver at 535-4700 or Campbell at 535-4189.

Cubs cheer Dodgers

"You're out! Ball two! Peanuts! Popcorn!

These are only a few of the sounds enjoyed by members of Cub Scout Den Three of Pipe Creek when they attended a baseball game between the San Antonio Dodgers and Midland Angels on Aug. 6, says Pat Forsythe.

The Scouts were invited by the Dodger organization to attend a free game as the guests of the Dodgers, Forsythe, assistant den leader said.

Cubs Merlin Cloud, Brandon Culver, J.R. Forsythe, Timmy Henry, Matthew and Joshua Landrum, and Rocky Lopez were accompanied to the game by den chief Joe Lopez, den leader Neli Landrum, and Forsythe.

Seeing the Dodgers win, 5-3, was a thrill for the Cubs, Forsythe said. "With school starting, the boys are looking forward to many activities in the near future," she said.

On honor roll

Darraine Maxwell of Pipe Creek is among the 319 students on the spring semester honor roll of the University of Texas' College of Communications.

Rodgers to be cited

A day of music is planned for the annual Jimmie Rodgers Jubilee in Kerrville Sept. 7 at the Depot.

An evening auction has been added to the program, and organizers have put out the call for items to be donated. Proceeds of the auction and the evening of music go to the Music Foundation, a non-profit organization, and its Music to Go program, which brings musicians into the state and the veterans hospitals twice each month.

Fabric magic

A judged quilt show will be held at Centro de Artes del Mercado in San Antonio, Sept. 20-22.

Approximately 200 beautiful quilts, wall hangings, and quilted garments will be displayed and judged, officials said.

Centro de Artes del Mercado is located in downtown San Antonio at Santa Rosa and Commerce Streets. The show will be open to the public on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 20 and 21 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and on Sunday, Sept. 22, from noon to 6 p.m. Admission is $2 for adults, and $1 for children 2-12 years. Admission includes a complimentary quilt pattern.

Around The Lake

The Mico Volunteer Fire Department was called out twice on Sunday to a small brush fire about 3½ miles off the Quihi Road. Brad Tidder, president of the fire department told the Bulletin.

The first call went out about 1:45 p.m. after two women from the area drove into Mico and requested help. All four Mico units were dispatched with 14 firemen answering the call.

"There were about nine homes in the area of the fire, but only one home was near the spreading fire," Tidder said.

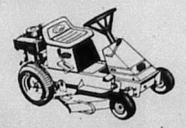

"There was no damage to any structures, and once we got a fire-break cut with a dozer, the fire was quickly confined," Tidder said. We did ask the Lakehills fire department to stand by in case we needed more units, he said, but we never had to call them in.

The volunteers were at the scene for about two hours on the first call, and one unit was sent back on the second call to keep some "hot spots" under control, he said.

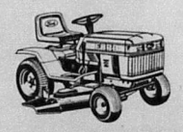

Several weeks ago the Mico volunteers put out a call for more firemen when only four or five men started showing up at their meeting, Tidder said. "We recruited 13 new firefighters, and they've all qualified as drivers. We've started them in a training program, and part of the training sessions will be held in conjunction with the department in Lakehills.

"October is supposed to be fire prevention month, but every month should be," Tidder said. "With the brush as dry as it is now that we've gone without rain for several weeks, everyone needs to be very cautious about fires. It doesn't take much for one to get out of control and spread."

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Saturday Aug. 24, will be a clean up day again for the Tarpley Volunteer Firemen and as usual all help would be greatly appreciated.

Special church event

Please remember this Sunday 18th will be a great day for the Tarpley Baptist Church, concerning the formalizing of the Mission. A covered dish dinner will be held at noon and following the dinner a special program starting at 2 p.m.

Visitors

Little Eric Haner spent a week with his grandparents last week. Mr. and Mrs. Anton Haner.

On Saturday Eric's parents Doyle and Lou Ann Haner of Mesquite, came for him and also enjoyed a birthday supper for Doyle's father Anton Haner. Other dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Boss Haner. We add our birthday congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dean of D'Hanis and their granddaughter Kristy Lutz of Hondo visited Elzie and Nettie Dean Monday afternoon.

Riley visitors

The Woodrow Riley's of Rio Hondo Subdivision enjoyed a lot of company recently, including their son and wife Don and Saundra of Houston, and two busloads of students from their church, The Northfield Christian Center of Houston.

There were 30 children and 13 adults, and they stayed five days.

Other visitors were the Riley's sister-in-law, Ruth Riley, and her two daughters; Becky Woods and two children; and Melinda Wagner and two children of Orange, Tx.

An antique tractor show was held near Waco the weekend of Aug. 3 and 4, and among those attending from Tarpley were Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Monier and Mr. and Mrs. Gayle Monier and son John.

They met Bernice's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. C.N. Parker of Seguin, in Austin and went together to the show.

One thing they mentioned seeing was an old-time tractor powered with steam.

Coming home the Moniers spent the night with her Aunt Eula Strong of Austin.

P.S. Terry Starns of Austin, formerly of Tarpley, came over to visit the Moniers on the night they were at their Aunt Eula Strong's.

Last Wednesday a visitor of Gayle and Sue Monier was State Rep. Eldon Edge of Poth.

We are sorry to report the death of Beth Sauter of Antioch, Calif. from a heart attack and a long illness.

She was the wife of the late Steve Sauter, formerly of Tarpley. She was a nurse working in San Antonio where she met and married Steve Sauter.

Condolences

We were also sorry to hear of Lane Langford's death last week and send heartfelt sympathy to his wife Emma and their family.

The many friends who came for his last rites and the beautiful flowers were a tribute to his memory and his loved ones.

Get well wishes

Mrs. Dolly Karr is improving after a heart attack. She has been staying awhile with her son and family, Don and Alice Karr and their daughter Linda.

Vacationer's return

Mr. and Mrs. Bill (W.C.) Morris and son Billy returned Wednesday after a 10-day vacation to Fun Valley Family Resort at South Fork, Colo.

They went by way of Albuquerque, N.M., and Wolk Creek Pass, which is 10,800 feet high. The speed limit was 20 mph.

They report a lovely trip. Sorry to report Willie has been ill, however.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson drove to Raymondville for a long weekend to visit Harold's daughter and husband, Patricia and Kenneth Calloway and daughter Sandra.

Others visited included another daughter of Harold's, Debra Bridgeman, and three children of Pharr.

On Monday the Jacksons drove to Corpus Christi where they spent the night with their good traveling friends, Billy and Topsy Jarbeaux.

50 year anniversary

Robert (Bob) and Ruth Mansfield were honored with a beautiful reception Saturday afternoon at the First National Bank Meeting room on the occasion of their 50th wedding anniversary.

Many friends and relatives came to congatulate the couple and to enjoy the fellowship and refreshments.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Dennis and Jan Yeager and two children Jason and Todd of Iowa Park, near Wichita Falls, are vacationing here with Dennis' mother Betty Jo Yeager.

They and their boys are enjoying swimming in the Sabinal River every day.

Douglas Schryver was a weekend visitor of his parents, Nick and Carmen, and is leaving for Texas A&M University to complete his courses.

Dahl Howard and family of Kerrville and Tommie Howard and family of Sabinal Canyon joined the J.B. Alley family and their parents, Lecil and Ruby to help celebrate her birthday. All enjoyed a special lunch at "The Rocking B Restaurant" in Utopia.

Collene Bownds surprised the Hub Thompsons with a Sunday afternoon visit. Hub did ranch work for John Bownds for many years.

Barbecue dinner

Lonnie and Emma Bomer entertained their young son Lonnie Wayne with a barbecue dinner Saturday, Aug. 10, on his seventh birthday. A number of young guests came to help Lonnie Wayne celebrate and eat birthday cake decorated with a cowboy.

A number of grown ups also enjoyed the delicious barbecued goat meat and cowboy skillet biscuits.

Sue Bomer of Corpus Christi was a Sunday visitor bringing Stephanie Bomer back home after a weeks vacation.

We hear the Charley Fowlers returned this week from an extensive tour of the Northern States, and will have some interesting reports to give. We hope to get a write up later.

Thompson hospitalized

Lonnie Thompson was taken to Kerrville Veteran Administration Hospital Wednesday. He is reported somewhat improved.

Surgery

Norma Duke goes into Sid Peterson Hospital for surgery Monday.

Will James exhibit at CAA

"Will James: The Spirit of the Cowboy" exhibit will open Friday evening, Aug. 16, at the Cowboy Artists of America Museum in Kerrville.

A reception is scheduled from 5:30 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. at the museum. Museum members and nonmembers are encouraged to join in this significant occasion.

James' life story is fascinating in itself, and it is thought his illustrated book "The Lone Cowboy" reflects his personal experiences. The relatively inexpensive catalog accompanying the exhibit is available at the museum, and it makes his paintings and drawings especially meaningful.

The exciting James show opening will include nearly 100 pieces of James' finest exemplary works in oil, watercolor, and pencil and ink drawings. A late-budding writer, James achieved fame and fortune by combining his dynamic illustrations with books, and a total of 27 popular book successes were published by Charles Schribner's Sons. Countless magazines also sought his work.

The Will James show is an opportunity to see the best work of the artist ranked right along with Russell and Remington—phone the CAA Museum for reservations, (512) 896-2553.

Bandera County Profile/ He's seldom seen in public without his hat and badge

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

Bandera's Kelly Scott's business card reads: "Stagecoach, Buggy & Wagon Rental, Medicine Wagon, Movies & TV, Parades, Advertising."

He also rents mule teams, trains them for races, and is one of the rare horseshoers in Texas, a craft he learned when he was 16.

"That's why I love the Bandera horseraces," he confided, squinting his cowboy-tough green eyes. "I've worked on their feet, so I can tell which ones are going to win."

"I've been playing cowboy all my life," he said, "and I'm still doing it."

He says he learned most of what he knows from Bandera's late Hondo Morshan. "Hondo got his name from using ropes, and taught me about handling teams and stagecoaches," Kelly said, temporarily losing his constant smile. "Everbody, including me, loved Hondo."

Kelly is frequently contacted to supply animals and equipment for filming westerns to be shot on location in Texas. Lakehills' sober-faced Bobbie Malone has been riding 'shotgun' and working with Kelly for about 15 years. "If it's happening in Texas," Kelly boasted, "we'll be there!"

Kelly also gets involved in TV shows and commercials. He is almost 6 feet tall and weighs about 175 pounds, "unless," he said, "I'm doing a beer commercial."

He says this work doesn't interfere with his 16-year old regular job as an attendant at Conoco's Purple Sage Ranch. If he needs to do a movie, TV show, commercial, or whatever, he'll change schedules with someone. "Besides," he said, "it's not really work, just a good-paying hobby."

He continued, "I don't believe in slowing down, retiring or unions. I want to keep doing what I'm doing right now."

Kelly has no personal agent. He either gets jobs on his own or through the Texas Film Commission, a branch of the governor's office.

His 10-acre Bandera ranch is named "Wonder Hill." "That's because people wonder what I'm going to do next." He grinned and said, "So do I."

The outside world will seldom see Kelly without his black cowboy hat ("Me and this hat have been through a lot together," he said.), vest, Levis, boots, a red scarf, a sheriff's badge, and red garters which whimsically gather material on the arms of his white shirt.

These are Kelly Scott's business clothes, and have been his trademark since he was 20.

But when it's just his wife Lorina and his children, 14-year-old John and 5-year-old Jeffrey, around the ranch, he sticks his thick grey-streaked black hair under an old fishing hat. This reminds him there's more to life than wrangling. He and Lorina love to fish.

Kelly Stewart Scott was born in 1944 in Bayside on his sister Lahoma's (named after the "lahoma" in "Oklahoma") 19th birthday. He calls himself "swamp Irish and coonass."

His father died at the age of 56 after a hard life working in the oil fields. His mother recently remarried a 91-year-old gentleman. "They go dancing twice a week," Kelly said.

Kelly quit school in the eighth grade and was a rodeo clown for four years. "Except for the danger, I enjoyed it. I called myself 'Coon Tail Kelly'," he said.

"I can't spell too well, and I have very little education," he continued, "but I know how to make a $100 bill." He spent every spare moment on his sister and brother-in-law's (Frank and Lahoma Jones) ranch in Utopia, where he learned to love ranching.

Kelly and his tall, striking brunette wife Lorina have been married for 22 years. They met in 1963 when Kelly was working at the Mayan Dude Ranch. Kelly was married in a white shirt which had "Mayan Dude Ranch" written on the back.

Lorina is an RN at the Kerrville Veterans' Hospital, and is in the process of getting her master's degree.

Kelly designed and built a contemporary A-frame house at the ranch. Near and contrasting nicely to it are some old western town fronts. These were built for the movie "From Boston to Texas," which was to be filmed in and around Bandera. Production has stopped for the present. "They have a few problems to iron out," Kelly said.

Names of some of the other Wonder Hill inhabitants sound like an invitation list to the Fourth of July Country & Western Concert in Austin. There's "Waylon" and "Willie," "Joker" and "Snowball," and "Crazy Lady" and "Cheap Ethel" were around for a long time.

Joker is Waylon and Willie's father, and Kelly's mother-in-law rides Snowball occasionally.

"Willie is very business-like and quite stand-offish," Kelly said. "But Waylon is very friendly and he'll do anything. He's got to be with people—he's almost human."

Joker is an "old man" at 28, though he might live to be as old as 40. "His hair is pretty shabby, and he's not as pretty as the others, but he's sweet," Kelly said parentally. "And I used to race Cheap Ethel and Crazy Lady, but neither one of 'em ever won a race."

With the exception of Joker (a donkey), these are Kelly's mules (a cross between a donkey and a horse). "They all follow me around, and they love to go—just like dogs," he said affectionately. "And they're as curious as cats."

The only thing they're afraid of is zebras. "We were over on John Steen's ranch one time, and he had some zebras. Them mules was scared to death. They just took off at a gallop pulling the mud coach." Kelly raised his hands and laughed. "Mud was flying everywhere."

Also at the ranch is his collection of authentic western horse—and mule—drawn vehicles. This includes "Dr. Mule 'N' Skinner's" medicine wagon, buggies, a farm wagon, a chuck wagon, an early model stagecoach, and a 'mud coach'; so called because the wheels are huge, and there's no glass in the windows. When the ground gets wet, it throws mud on the passengers. "Mules pull the coach," Kelly said, "because mules was the main animal that was used in this country in the 1800's."

(See SCOTT, Page 2B.)

Kelly Scott's mules are only afraid of one thing—zebras. When they saw some, "they just took off at a gallop...Mud was flying everywhere."

Kelly has rebuilt most of his rigs, preserving the original equipment when possible, and using 100 year old materials when available.

He has worked with the Austin Symphony, and he is the only one allowed to drive Pioneer Flour's 140-year-old truck. He rents out his buggy and horses for western-type weddings. "You know, where they ride off into the sunset," he said.

Kelly was involved in furnishing props for the Texas Stuntmens' Association in Fort Worth recently. His group won second place.

His movie and TV credits include "The Great Waldo Pepper," "The Best Little Whorehouse in Texas," "Race with the Devil," "Jake's Way," and "General Hospital."

A few of the stars he has worked with are Burt Reynolds, Dolly Parton, Slim Pickens, Loretta Swit, Ben Johnson, Warren Oates, Mel Tillis, Anthony Geary and Jack Wagoner.

"Slim Pickens fell in love with my mules. He wanted to buy Waylon and Willie, but I just couldn't part with 'em," Kelly said.

"Willie Nelson was going to use one of my mules in 'Redheaded Stranger,' but we overpriced him," Kelly said. "And," he continued, "we did a stagecoach scene in 'Urban Cowboy,' but it was cut from the final."

Roy Rogers and Ken Curtis (Festus on Gunsmoke) are Kelly's idols. The highlight of his career was meeting Rogers. "I spent a day driving him and his agent around the Thousand Trails Resort in Lakehills in my stagecoach," he said, still in awe. "Roy's agent's been with him for 44 years, and the i only contract is a handshake.

"I gave up a $400 job that day to make $200." He paused, cocked his head, smiled and said, "I would have done it for free."

"I almost got to meet 'Festus' twice," he said. "Gunsmoke hired and fired me before I could meet him, and "The Yellow Rose" was going to use my buggy and horse, but the show folded."

"I almost got to meet 'Festus' twice, but 'Gunsmoke' hired and fired me before I could meet him."*—Kelly Scott

Kelly says he has the only running stagecoach around today that was robbed. "I hauled Santa around for two days one Christmas in Laredo, and never got paid. "He laughed and said, "I call that being robbed."

When asked to give advice to would-be wrangler-entrepeneurs, he said, "There's room in this business for everyone. You just got to have gentle stuff."

And, he might have added, it helps if you have a good sense of humor and enjoy playing cowboy.

Beat the heat with peppers

"High humidity and one hundred degree temperature signal that the heat is on in South Texas," says Karen Mitchell of the Texas Department of Agriculture. She suggests, "Lower the heat by eating jalapeno peppers!" Fiery jalapenos cause one to perspire upon biting the little devils, she says, resulting in a cooling sensation.

Texans have plenty of jalapenos available, as annually 1000-4000 acres are planted in the state. Most of the production of jalapenos takes place in the Winter Garden area and the Lower Rio Grande Valley, though some are harvested on the High Plains.

The ancestor of the jalapeno, the tronchilli was documented by early Spanish explorers to Mexico. This pepper was sweet, she advises it was bland and eaten with tortillas unlike today's jalapeno.

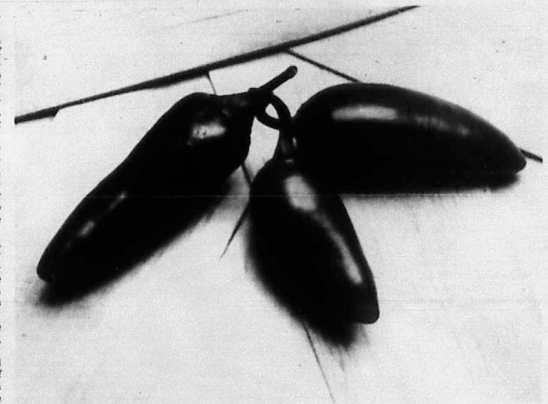

What gives this member of the nightshade family, Solanaceae, its bite?

Capsaiscin, the volatile oil found in peppers is responsible. If rubbed in the eyes, this oil can cause severe irritations. Prepare jalapenos under running water and then wash the hands thoroughly with warm, soapy water.

To reduce the heat in jalapenos, she says simply remove the veins and seeds from the inner portions of the peppers. Soaking the peppers in a mild vinegar and water solution will further dilute the pungency.

Ethnic cuisines such as Thai, Chinese, Mexican and Indian have introduced many American palates to the jalapeno. This has contributed to the rising popularity of jalapenos in the United States.

For more information about Texas jalapenos, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218. For your next barbecue, try these two accompaniments—Jalapeno Cornbread and Jalapeno Carrots.

Jalapeno Cornbread*

1 C stone-ground corn meal
½ C whole wheat flour
2 tsp. unsulfured molasses
2 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
2 eggs
1 C milk
1 onion, grated
2 jalapeno peppers, chopped
½ C peanut oil
1 C corn
1 C grated sharp cheese

Mix all ingredients and pour into an oiled, hot 8x8 inch pan. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 40 minutes or until brown and crisp on top. Eat while still warm. Serves 6-8.

*adapted from The Deaf Smith County Cookbook.

Jalapeno Carrots*

2 bunches carrots
1 C white vinegar
½ C sunflower oil
½ C olive oil
1 white onion, sliced thinly
5 canned jalapeno peppers, seeds removed
1 tsp. sugar

Remove tops of carrots and peel. Cut diagonally into 3-inch pieces. Steam carrots for 6 minutes. (Do not overcook so that the carrots will remain crisp). Stir sugar into the vinegar, add remaining ingredients. Add carrots to marinade. Refrigerate. Serve chilled.

—The bookshelf—

Among the litter of book boxes, packing squiggles and paper, you might have missed the major happening in the library last week.

We acquired a copy machine!

Finally, after all those tax seasons of steering people elsewhere to copy their tax forms, those research students needing to copy a page of encyclopedia, and budding genealogists who needed a copy of Bandera marriage records, we are now able to produce beautiful copies right here in the library. So, do keep us in mind for your copy needs.

New books this week include: B.D. Hyman's "My Mother's Keeper," portrait of the actress Bette Davis by her daughter; "The Dangerous Summer," a previously-unpublished chronicle of the Spanish bullfight season of 1959 by Ernest Hemingway; Chuck Yeager's "Autobiography;" Parker's "The Catskill Eagle," Barbara Taylor Bradford's "Hold That Dream," Sanders' "The Fourth Deadly Sin" (how many do you suppose there are?); McMurtry's "Lonesome Dove;" Larry Collins' "Fall From Grace," and the old stand bys like: "Iacocca," "Inside, Outside," "Jubal Sackett" and the ever present "A Light in the Attic."

Wolf club barbecue

The Medina Wolf Club will have its annual Cabrito barbecue on Saturday, Aug. 31, serving at noon.

Drawings for the prizes will be after lunch, and there also will be an auction.

If you have anything to donate for the auction, call one of the club members. This will all take place at the telephone building in downtown Medina.

On the sick list

Della L. Young had knee surgery recently and she is now home and doing fine.

Hoyeese (Fee) Grobe was rushed to Kerrville about 3 a.m. Friday where it was found she had suffered a massive heart attack.

She was taken on to Humana Hospital in San Antonio, and is in the Intensive Care Unit. It was reported she may be facing possible heart surgery.

The quick response the Medina Emergency Medical Technicians, Ronnie, Maynard and Ray, made for Hoyeese is credited to her making it to the hospital.

Her aunt couldn't praise them enough, "they were wonderful," she said.

It was reported that Jessi Belle Caton, former Medina resident, is still in the Baptist Memorial hospital in San Antonio after having had heart surgery.

She seems to be making slow progress. She had cancer surgery first and was getting over it when she had to have the heart surgery.

To Ruidoso

Larry and LaNell Kirk, Iney Mayfield, Maya Lay, George and Sadie Whitehead have returned from their trip to Ruidoso, N.M., where they enjoyed the cool air and the beautiful country.

This is their favorite place to "get away." They met Mr. and Mrs. Larry Kirk Sr. there too.

The great campout

Royce and Ina Jackson held their annual camp-out at their place on the North Prong, with about eight or so campers.

They all enjoyed several days of relaxing, swimming and, of course, lots of good eating.

Saturday night they had their barbecue supper and invited several extras, with around 40 attending.

Visitors

Karri Wheeler of Lee's Summit, Mo., is here visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Linden Wheeler for a week. She has enjoyed doing several things, which included visiting the San Antonio zoo and riding an elephant.

Buddy and Vivian Lewis of Austin were here over the weekend visiting Vivian's sisters and families, Vernon and Florine Williams, James and Nita Gallant and Fred and Loretta Hund.

Births

James Allen West made his way into this world Aug. 1 at 3:34 p.m. weighing 9 lbs., 1 oz. and measuring 21½ in. long.

He's being welcomed by his parents, Steve and Lisa West and brother Stevie. Grandparents include Mr. and Mrs. Jerry West.

Christopher Scott Kinsey was born Aug. 8 at 12:45 p.m., weighing 7 lbs., 8 oz., and measuring 21½ in. long.

He is being welcomed by his parents, Brian and Mary Kinsey, and brother B.J. Grandparents are Jimmy Kinsey of Medina, Rose Kinsey of Port Neches, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Eaker of Uvalde.

McHaneys together

The descendants of J.L. and Elizabeth McHaney gathered the weekend of Aug. 2-4 for their 39th annual family reunion.

The co-hosts were the grandchildren of Ruby and the late Lesie McHaney of Seminole and the children of Jimmie Mae McHaney and John Renfro of Victoria.

The location was Christavol, at the Riverhaven Lodge on the South Concho River.

Of the five surviving chilren, four were there, including Frank McHaney of Odessa, Emma McHaney Huffman and Billy McHaney of Snyder, and Robert McHaney of San Antonio.

Pearl McHaney Isler was unable to attend.

Among those from this area that attended were Connie and Chance Cantwell of Tarpley; Alice and Heather Koenig of Bandera; Darrell, Casey McHaney and Brooke Beakley of Kerrville; Dorothy (McHaney) Lestourgeon, King and Lucie (McHaney) Stokes; Corkey and Virgie McHaney; and Evie McHaney of Medina.

All reported a good time and are looking forward to number 40 next year.

Museum to salute Jerome Kern

"Showboat," the latest in the San Antonio Museum of Art's series of movie musicals saluting American composer Jerome Kern on his 100th anniversary, will be screened in the museum's auditorium at 2 p.m. and 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 18.

"Showboat" is a colorful musical about life along the Mississippi in the early 1900s and stars Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ava Gardner.

Preceding the movie at 1 p.m., free lemonade will be served in the Terrace Cafe, accompanied by light musical entertainment.

The film and musical entertainment will be free with museum admission, which is $3 for adults, $1.50 for senior citizens, military and students, $1 for children ages 6-12 years, and free for children 5 years and under.

The Museum of Art is located at 200 W. Jones Avenue, San Antonio.

Reception planned to honor long-time Medina educators

A reception honoring long-time Medina educators Faye Carpenter and Thelma Gallant will be at the First Baptist Church in Medina on Sunday, Aug. 18 from 3 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Thelma Gallant has retired after 49 years of teaching and Faye Carpenter has accepted a position as assistant pricipal at Tivy High School in Kerrville.

Gallant started her career in the Pipe Creek School in 1936. She said she taught three grades at one time in one classroom.

In 1939 she moved to Tarpley and taught in the Tarpley school unit 1941, when she moved to Medina. The math teacher said she has taught the grandchildren and children of many of her early day students.

"The enrollment in Medina schools isn't as large as it once was. It used to be people could live here and earn their livelihood right her in the settlement.

"But now, the young people have to leave and go elsewhere to live and raise their families," the veteran educator said. "The children enrolled from the Medina Children's Home helped to increase the enrollment, but it's still not what it once was."

When asked what she would be doing now that she won't be teaching, the teacher laughed and replied quickly, "All the things I've pushed aside for years and never had time for," she said.

The principal at Medina School for the past 12 years, Carpenter started her career in the Medina schools in 1962 as an elementary teacher and was promoted to principal in 1973.

One of the biggest changes she's seen in the Medina schools was the completion of the new building in 1978. She said it was badly needed and a very exciting and welcome event for the administrators and faculty as well as students.

Carpenter says she will be working with approximately 10 times the number of high school students in Kerrville as in Medina.

She will continue to reside in Medina, she said.

A new principal, James Hesson has been hired for the Medina School, according to Superintendent Jerrie Huie. No information on his background has been made available.

Rock due at Quiet Valley

Who can take a "king" seriously who jumps head over heels into the crowd while playing his guitar, dresses like a bargain basement nightmare, and sings about cockroaches and hot tamales?

Texas bandleader Joe "King" Carrasco has gotten away with these on stage antics because his music is non-stop party time!

Joe "King" Carrasco brings his "New Crowns" to Quiet Valley Ranch's Outdoor Theater 10 miles north of Medina for the area's first international ly-ranked rock 'n roll concert at 8 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 17, as part of the Miller Rock Network Tour.

Opening the three-hour concert is special guest the Squeezetones lead by Ponty Bone of Joe Ely fame.

Producer Rod Kennedy says that "this is one concert adults can enjoy as it is solid entertainment, every non-stop minute of it!" Kennedy described the concert as a "family evening with ear plugs."

Tickets are available at the $5 advance discount price at Hastings Tapes and Records in River Hills Mall, Kerrville, where Joe "King" will make a guest appearance from 6 to 7 p.m. on the evening of the concert signing autographs on his albums and giving away some Carrasco Miller Rock Tour souvenirs. Tickets are $6 at the gate which opens at 6 p.m. for the 8 p.m. concert.

Joe "King" Carrasco, whose recording of "Don't Let A Woman Make a Fool Out of You" with Michael Jackson sounds like a country-pop homage to Buddy Holly, but his music is a Carrasco-originated mix of '60's garage-rock, Tex-Mex polkas, and speed-up reggae which comes out as exuberant, humorously spirited party songs.

Aiming for laughs with pidgin-Spanish lyrics, songs like "Caca de Vaca" and "Cucaracha Taco" (that's a cockroach taco, gringo!) Joe's fun-loving blend of Tex-Mex rock 'n roll has become a Texas legend.

Nimitz Museum to mark anniversary of war's end

The Admiral Nimitz State Historical Park in Fredericksburg will mark an important anniversary on Sept. 2, the 40th anniversary of the war's end.

The park, which includes the museum of the Pacific War, is a tribute to the late Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, who led the U.S. to victory in the Pacific. Nimitz was born in Fredericksburg.

Bruce Smith, acting park superintendent, said the museum is the only one in the nation dedicated to telling the story of the war in the Pacific. It includes $300,000 worth of new exhibits using the latest in electronic exhibitry, he said.

The museum is housed in the restored Nimitz Hotel, a famous stagecoach in pioneer days. A Japanese garden of peace also is on the museum grounds, a gift from the people of Japan given out of respect for Adm. Nimitz. A block away is the History Walk of the Pacific, with authentic artifacts including tanks, cannons and airplanes.

The Admiral Nimitz park is open every day from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Fees are $2 for adults and $1 for children age six to 12.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3225

You can't win if you don't play the game. Linnie Sandidge of Bandera knows the truth of statement. She took part in the drawing for $100 worth of green ware at the Bandera Arts and Crafts and was the lucky one with the winning ticket.

Marie and Harold Bentley took a trip down to the Rio Grande Valley to go camping with Marie's cousin, Marvin, and his wife Ariel, who is also known as "a human mountain goat."

They camped on a stocked fishing pond on Marvin's ranch. Marie caught a five-pound catfish and two four-pounders, plus other smaller fish.

Poor Ariel was said to be so busy talking that she only caught two turtles.

They were joined by other friends with travel trailers, Jane and Bob Hopkins and Dave and Lorraine Beck. They all enjoyed the fishing and taking pictures of the wildlife and the cattle that was roaming near by. This group will all be in the Wharton's Dock area around Labor Day.

The benefit dinner for Fleda Jo Searcy at the Copper Lantern on Aug. 11 was a great success with a large crowd showing up.

So far we have only had two people respond who are interested in taking a course in CPR training. This is not enough to get the instructors we need.

On Friday night at the Walker Memorial Chapel, Marion Birch introduced his twin sister, Marilyn Birch, by stating the biggest achievement in his life was when he cleared the passage for his sister to be born.

Both were born in Sierra Leonne, West Africa, of Missionary parents. Marilyn studied medicine at the University of Michigan and eye diseases in Anniston, Ala. She is presently serving with the neighborhood Health Centers, City Health Dept., Columbus, Ohio.

Marilyn served in Mission Hospitals in Sierra Leone for over 25 years, performing many eye operations. She still returns to relieve a physician who has returned to the states for leave.

Marilyn came here for a short visit after attending the fifth annual Internal Medicine Review at Austin. The review was presented by Scott and White of the Texas A&M University College of Medicine.

She was accompanied on this trip by her very close friend, Roberta Kessler, who has been a first grade teacher for 23 years in Columbus.

While here visiting, Lauta, with her melodious voice, presented the special music for the worship services on Sunday at the Walker Memorial Chapel. Both of these ladies want to return when they have more time to see and enjoy our area.

A slide show presented at the Walker Memorial Chapel Friday by Marion and Marjorie Birch played to only a few empty seats.

The presentation covered some of the Christian missionary work being done in Sierra Leone, West Africa, a country that follows the Muslim and Animist beliefs.

After the presentation everyone gathered outside under the big oak tree and enjoyed refreshments and fellowship together.

Jay and Marieta Overholser drove to Austin to take part in the birthday party for their daughter, Debby Cody.

Hamburgers, hot dogs, potato salad, cake and home made ice cream were served to 20 plus guests. Debby's brother Dewey and His wife Liz took part in the festivities.

Leo McLaughlin and Bill Lewey were at their riverfront property in the Wharton's Dock area, checking and clearing brush.

Marguerita Gower of Pearland and Houston and Hazel Smith of San Antonio were here visiting with their aunt, Dell Lackey. Also visiting Dell on Sunday were friends from Devine, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kincaid.

Dell says as soon as the weather cools off a little, she will be able to get out and visit more of the area.

Eldridge Bond has been released from Wilford Hall Hospital at Lackland AFB and is resting and regaining his strength in Seguin.

April Smith underwent ear surgery, and Pearl Schmidt had surgery and is slowly recovering.

Ethel Smalley underwent surgery on Tuesday at the Humana Hospital in San Antonio. Ethel is the mother of Al Smalley from the Lake Medina Shores security service.

Patricia Daniels traveled to Antlers, Okla., to help her grandmother celebrate her 100th birthday. It is reported that grandma is doing fine and just as spry as ever.

A Happy Birthday goes out to Ron Queen who celebrated it on the 14th of August.

Improper lookout causes boating tragedies

Of all boating tragedies seen on Texas waterways, a boat running over a downed skiier can be the most gruesome. Yet accidents of that type are the easiest to avoid, according to Capt. Larry Williford water safety supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"There has been an alarming increase in the number of cases of boat collisions and incidents of downed skiiers or swimmers being hit by boats," Williford said. "Most of the time these accidents simply are a result of the boat operator's failure to watch where the boat is going."

Williford noted that there is a way to learn safe boating procedures. "The U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary and the U.S. Power Squadron offer excellent opportunities for public education in boating safety," Williford said. "Be a responsible skipper by obeying the rules of the road, maintaining proper safety equipment and participating in the 85 percent solution to boating related fatalities—wear your personal flotation device (life preserver)."

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The "Autoangels," played their autoharps Sunday, accompanying violinist Judy Goodenough in a gospel song medley at the United Methodist Church.

Those playing Sunday were Vernell Mullenax, June Westmeyer, Mary Hyde, Mabel Kentner and Helen Ahr.

Despite last week's calendar, the Melodiers did not meet on Aug. 9, but will meet at their regular time, 5 p.m. on their regular day, Friday, Aug. 16.

Coming up

The Rockhounds, Thursday, Aug. 15, at 7:30 p.m. and the season's big rummage sale, including household goods as well as clothing for the family, Friday and Saturday, Aug. 16 and 17, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Tuesday, Aug. 20 is the covered-dish birthday dinner honoring those with August birthdays. For some strange reason, August's flower of the month is the poppy; it symbolizes what to many people is a mixed blessing: forgetfulness. And if Fannie Caffal doesn't forget, she will lead the group in the song of the month, "In the Good Old Summertime."

Doloras Greene, program chairman of Bandera Hills chapter of AARP, announces that the educational part of their regular meeting, at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 21, will be a resume on video cassette of the past 50 years in the life of rural electrification. In the light of the present adminstration's efforts to abolish this important factor in the lives of non-urban residents, Dennis Winright of the Bandera Electric Cooperative has an important message to impart. The AARP meets at the Silver Sage Corral.

On Friday, Aug. 23, 2 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral the Senior Center Advisory Board will meet to consider, among other things, the revision of its by-laws.

Employment training

Glyn Taylor, Connie Taylor and Della May Cox attended Senior Texan Employment Program workshop in San Antonio on Tuesday and Wednesday. It pertained to the operation and supervision of nutrition sites, such as the ones at Dietert Claim in Kerrville and Silver Sage Corral in Bandera.

Sanitation and correct methods of food-handling were stressed, as was the need for conservation of both food and water resources.

Instructors were from the Metropolitan Helth Department and The University of Texas at San Antonio.

AARP has no trust division

The American Association of Retired Persons says it and various law enforcement agencies have been receiving an increasing number of complaints about sales agents who are fraudulently selling estate planning services by claiming to represent the "AARP Trust Division".

AARP has no Trust Divison and no sales agents authorized to visit or telephone members, the group said.

Persons claiming to represent AARP services are currently active in north central Texas and use a P.O. Box in Edmond, Oklahoma.

Their general approach is to contact older persons who have responded to an advertising coupon from the National Estate Information Service in Washington, D.C.; this coupon allows people to request information on estate planning and/or the Uniform Gift to Minors Act. People are then contacted directly by individuals who want to deliver the "information" personally, AARP says.

In similar cases in Weatherford, Bridgeport, Decatur, and Wichita Falls, older persons have been deceived into turing over personal checks in the amount of $983.

"It has always been a very strict policy of AARP to limit the offering of any AARP services to informational mailings only," the association said.

The Senior Center Advisory Board will consider revised by-laws Friday, Aug. 23.

Opportunites abound

Those persons wishing to get flu shots for the price of the vaccine alone may register their names with the director at the center, and will receive further notice of the date later.

See the Rodgers and Hammerstein musical drama "Carousel" at the Point Theatre in Ingram on Thursday, Aug. 22. Transportation is by mini-bus, tickets are $7 and reservations must be in the Center by Friday, Aug. 16.

Order Christmas gifts early. Catherine Dugosh will paint a floral design on a cutting board for only a dollar, but customers must furnish the board of desired dimensions. Leave order with the Center office, she suggests.

Gratitude expressed

A heaping measure of thanks goes to Roger Stevens for the hundreds of dollars' worth of drive-way base material, which he donated. Jimmy Russell also donated road material toward the building of the driveway, and the city is helping to spread it, in self defense no doubt, to alleviate the parking problem.

Floyd Portman and Bill McCoy assisted Al Robinson with some of the remaining construction details in the building of the Silver Sage Corral. Doloras Greene contributed two beautiful new bookcases in which to display the Center's collection of books which are available to be bought, borrowed, or contributed.

Louise Hayes brought some materials for the Crafts for Boutique group to complete, while the Adrian Reeds and Ginny Brient brought welcome fodder for the rummage sale grist mill.

Memorials in honor of Lane Langford were received from Vercella Evans and Bea Bradley.

Literacy and citizenship

The San Antonio Literacy Council has expressed interest in the proposed project of the Silver Sage Corral to provide volunteer tutors for teaching citizenship requirements and English as a Second Language. Volunteers are invited to a SALC workshop Saturday, Aug. 17 from 9 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. in the Presbyterian Church at 1101 Woodlawn, on the 2nd floor. There is no charge, but they suggest bringing a sack lunch for the noon break.

Minnie Hayes, for many years co-director of the Senior Activity Center, now housed in the new Silver Sage Corral, was honored at a retirement party Wednesday, Aug. 14 given by the Center's Advisory Board in appreciation for her many years of service to the community, most recently under the auspices of the Senior Texan Employment Program. A host of friends wish her a retirement filled with joy and fulfillment.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Something to think upon...just for today...
Just for today, I will try to strengthen my mind reading something that requires effort, thought and concentration...
Just for today, I will do somebody a good turn and not get found out...
Just for today, I will do a task that needs to be done but which I have been putting off. I will do it as an exercise of will power...
Just for today, I will try to exert patience with people and things and especially have patience with myself...
Just for today, I will look upon the present as the past of my future...
Just for today, I will aim to praise not criticize...
Just for today, I will do all the good I can willingly and "save my indigestion by thinking pleasantly"...
Just for today, I will be unafraid. Especially, I will not be afraid to be happy, to enjoy what is beautiful, to love and to believe that those I love, love me..."

Mowers injure too many

Failure by home gardeners to take proper precautions in operating their power lawnmowers will account for about 75,000 injuries to adults and children this year. And about 50,000 of those injuries will be serious enough to require hospital emergency room attention.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) has stated that some accidents stem from unsafe mower design, but that most such cases are quickly corrected by manufacturers in their efforts to protect their product's reputations. However, the majority of injuries result from carelessness among the users.

Dan Sowards, of the Texas Department of Health's Product Safety Section, said, "The CPSC has for years tried to tell the public how to operate walk-behind mowers safely. Still, people keep making the same kinds of mistakes and getting hurt. It could be that a power lawnmower is such a common household tool that many people lack a reasonable respect for how dangerous the machine can be."

The CPSC has offered the following suggestions for the selection and safe operation of power mowers.

First, choose a power mower designed with a deflector plate to direct clippings downward. It also should have a footguard in the rear. The fuel exhaust should be aimed away from the clipping discharge chute, to avoid igniting the grass-catching bag with sparks when the engine backfires.

Anyone using a power mower should read the operator's manual thoroughly. Older children operating the machine should be supervised, and young children should be prohibited from using it.

You should scout your yard for debris before mowing, and pick up all hard objects, such as toys, sticks, bones and wires—any of which can strike like bullets when propelled by a mower's blade. Children and pets should be kept at safe distances.

Inspect your mower before each use, always disconnecting the spark plug wire to avoid accidental ignition while you check for loose nuts and bolts. Keep the blade sharp and aligned, and keep the whole machine clean.

Always start your mower outside, or in an open garage. Make sure to disengage the clutch, if there is one, and crank the machine in neutral or "start position". Keep your feet away from the blade and your clothing away from the engine.

Fill your gasoline tank while it is cold, and wipe up any fuel you might spill. Never re-fill your tank when the machine is hot. Keep your fuel supply in a plainly marked, red safety can. Store it away from heat sources, and away from children and living quarters.

When mowing, remember that slower speeds are safer. Mow sideways on slopes, rather than up and down (except with riding mowers). Never mow wet grass, and even on dry grass be careful of your footing.

Finally, if for any reason you feel the mower is damaged or has begun to vibrate unsafely, stop the machine, disconnect the spark plug wire, and inspect the mower thoroughly. Never leave the mower unattended when it is not properly stored.

Americans cough up $500 million yearly on their coughs

The body's way of clearing its breathing passages of secretions is to cough. The suffers' way of dealing with the cough is to spend nearly $500 million a year on over-the-counter remedies.

That amount reflects the discomfort of this common problem and includes much money spent for products that have no proven value.

As long as a cough clears the airways, this protective reflex serves a useful function and should not be suppressed without good reason, says the Texas Medical Association.

Coughing can be classified as acute (severe and temporary) or chronic (slow-building but long-lasting). Acute coughing is usually caused by a viral infection such as the common cold or the flu. Mucus draining from the nose into the throat prompts the coughing. Acute coughing also may be caused by an inflammation of the voice box (laryngitis) or of the lower major airways (tracheobronchitis).

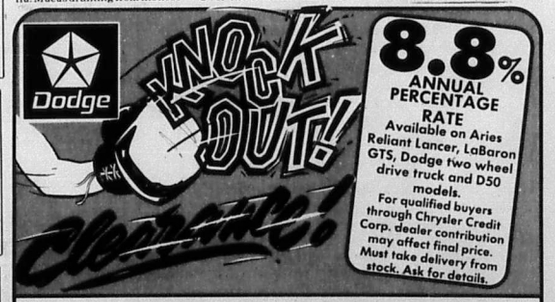

The most common cause of chronic cough is smoking, which irritates the respiratory tract. In non-smokers, the cough results from drainage of mucus into the throat caused by allergies or rhinitis, an inflammation of the mucus membranes in the nose. Chronic coughing is sometimes the major or only symptom of asthma.

People with a chronic cough—particularly if dry and with little or no secretion—should receive medical attention. Once the underlying cause is found, specific treatment often is available. Over-the-counter remedies are seldom effective for chronic cough.

For acute coughing during colds or flu, simple home remedies usually suffice in soothing the throat. Honey and hard candy are probably as effective as cough drops and medicated lozenges. Sipping warm liquids also can help.

Over-the-counter expectorants generally are ineffective, but those with the drug guaifenesin may be useful.

Codeine and hydrocodone are the most effective drugs for suppressing a cough, but both are narcotics that require a doctor's prescription. The most effective non-prescription cough remedy is dextromethorphan. Taking it in solid form (such as Mediquell) avoids useless ingredients included in many liquid remedies.

Schreiner

Fall term registration

Fall term registration at Schreiner College for new and returning non-degree and part-time students is Sept. 4 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Edington Center gym, according to registrar Darlene Bannister.

Students applying for fall semester classes must be accepted by the admissions office prior to registration. There is still time to apply for the fall semester at Schreiner whether a student seeks full-time (12 hours or more) or part-time status, Bannister said. Classes begin September 5.

Fall classes include courses in accounting, art, photography, biology, business administration, data systems, chemistry, drama, economics education, engineering, English, German, French, Spanish, environmental science, government, health and physical education, history, math, music, nutrition, philosophy, physical science, physics, psychology, religion, secretarial science, speech, and interdisciplinary studies.

A full schedule of classes is available through the admissions office. To reduce tuition costs at Schreiner, Hill Country tuition grants are available to all residents as of Jan. 1 of Bandera County.

Orientation slated for older students

A special orientation for new non-traditional students (aged 25 years and older) enrolled for the fall semester at Schreiner College is set for Aug. 28, according to Pat Chastain, director of career planning.

This orientation session is necessary for older enrolled as part-time or full-time students. The session will be held in the college's Gus Schreiner Student Center beginning at 6 p.m. with a free, informal supper in the cafeteria.

"Students are requested to be there a few minutes before 6 p.m., Aug. 28, to receive their orientation packets," Chastain says.

The session, which will last until 9:30 p.m., will inform the new students about faculty advisors, registration, financial aid, payment procedures and student services. Several faculty members and administrators will attend this important meeting.

New vocational nursing students are welcome to attend this session also.

If students need more information, please contact Pat Chastain at 896-5411, ext. 276.

Schreiner college sets evening classes for Seven evening classes will be offered this fall at Schreiner College in accounting, photography, economics, English literature, technical and professional writing, U.S. government, and religion (survey of Old Testament).

Each class begins at 6 p.m., says registrar Darlene Bannister.

Prospective students may contact the Schreiner admissions office at 896-5411 ext. 225 for a full schedule of classes, times, days and places where each class meets.

Registration for part-time students is Sept. 4 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Edington Center gym. Classes begin Sept. 5.

Juvenile justice issues topic of task force

The Alamo Area Council of Governments' Violence and Vandalism Task Force will meet on Tuesday, August 20, 1985, to discuss juvenile justice issues affecting the region and state at 1:30 p.m. in the AACOG conference room, 118 Broadway, San Antonio.

Briefings on the extension of the Texas Youth Commission's jurisdiction to the age of 21 for juveniles and the issue of search and seizure in the schools, as affected by the recent New Jersey vs. T.L.O., a juvenile (105 SCT. 733) decision, will be presented.

Guest speakers will include Jude Tom Rickhoff, 229th District Court; Dr. Tom Broussard, chief juvenile probation officer; and Mike Hervey, chief of the Juvenile Section for the Bexar Co. District Attorney's Office.

Now's the time to plant to show at the county fair

Now is the time to start plants to yield produce for entries in the Bandera County Fair Oct. 4-6 says Margaret Paradee, fair spokesperson.

"The rules have not been published yet, but now is the time to plant," says Mrs. Paradee. "Everyone with a green thumb or even a brown thumb is invited to take part."

The Horticulture Division is just one of many areas of competition open to Bandera County residents during the second annual edition of the Bandera County Fair.

Premium lists, categories of competition, and rules and regulations will be published soon, fair officials say. The Horticulture Division chairman is Richard Thornber of Bandera, and he can be reached at 796-3525, Mrs. Paradee said.

There will also be competition among artisans, craftsmen, beautiful young girls, pretty children and perhaps even arm wrestlers at the fair, an annual event of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Officials have predicted a record turnout of entries and spectators at the fair this year.

Valentino and the Shahan Express are making their third appearance at The Cabaret in Bandera through Sunday. Their country and western music, with a little rock thrown in to provide variety, brought The Cabaret's "best crowds in a long time" during the Fourth of July weekend, according to The Cabaret's Cal Chapman.

Briefly noted

English riding clinic scheduled Saturday

An English Riding Clinic examining the English style of riding will be offered Saturday, Aug. 17, at Mansfield Park near Bandera. It's a project of Horses of Bandera, Inc.

A general coverage of the English style of riding will be presented by instructor Laura McElhannon. There will be time for questions and answers and actual riding instructions.

McElhannon said the clinic will show the easy transition from western riding to English style, and is designed for the rider who wants to expand his knowledge and ability. "This would be especially beneficial to those who show horses and would like to add some additional classes and points to their horses," she said.

Persons who seek further information may call 634-2321. The fee is $10 for horse and rider and $5 for spectator only. Participants need not have English tack, but those who wish to ride are asked to bring a snaffle bit, plain, D-ring, eggbutt or ring.

BISD begins articulation program

The Bandera Independent School District recently began an articulation program with Texas State Technical Institute-Waco, the institute said this week.

The program will allow students in the district to receive TSTI credit for approved high school work which parallels course content in related TSTI instructional programs, the school said.

Pattern-rama'

As a 4-H community project, a "Pattern-Rama" will be held Saturday Aug. 17 at 11 a.m. in St. Joseph's Hall, giving an opportunity for all seamstresses to exchange or sell used sewing patterns.

Proceeds will be donated to the Bandera County Helping Hand Center.

This project will be sponsored by the Junior Sewing Group, nicknamed the "4-H Sewing Machine Maniacs." Members include Becky White, Wendy Wagner, Debbie Falardeau, Natalie Koehler, Heather Gardner, and Marika Cook. Their leader is Lynda Cook.

Public archery hunt for hogs announced

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials have announced that public archery hunting for feral hogs will be allowed during two weekends in September at the James Daughtrey Wildlife Management Area in Live Oak and McMullen Counties.

The hunts will be on a first come, first-served basis, with no limit to the number of hunters. Hunt dates are Sept. 21-22 and 28-29.

School officials see record enrollment

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

If projections are accurate, 559 students will be crammed into elementary classrooms, up 25 over last year.

New student registrations last week have prompted Bandera School superintendent Ted Dockery to project record enrollment this year.

The number of new students registered last week indicate the enrollment on the first day of classes Sept. 3 to be well in excess of 1,200 students, Dockery said. First-day enrollment last year was 1,194.

"Of course," he said, "we won't know how many students attended last year, but moved out of the district over the summer, until the first week of school."

If projections are accurate, a record enrollment of 559 students will be crammed into the elementary classrooms, up 25 over last year.

Students in the kindergarten will number close to 82, with right at 118 first graders, 86 second graders, 106 third graders, 87 in the fourth grade classrooms, and 80 fifth grade students.

On the first day of school in 1984 there were 534 students in attendance.

As these projections were being calculated, Dockery said, cement was being poured for the new Alkek Elementary School foundation. But it will be September 1986 before the first classes will be taught there.

In the meantime, administrators and staff employees have been busy utilizing every available foot of space in the old elementary building to form additional classrooms to accommodate a larger enrollment.

Last week the school board approved a request from administrators to ask the commissioner of education to waive the new student-teacher 22 to 1 ratio in kindergarten and primary grades in Bandera.

The prescribed ratio was to go into effect this term, a part of last year's education reform, or House Bill 72. Bandera's lower grades are close to that ratio now, Dockery said, but may miss it in some cases.

If projections are accurate, there will be a 9 percent increase in junior high students. There could be 117 students in the sixth grade classes, 98 in the seventh grade and 105 in the eighth grade, Dockery indicated.

Projections show a drop in enrollment may occur at the high school. Calculations show a possible 101 freshmen on the first day, 83 sophomores, 80 juniors and 71 seniors, at a total of 335. Total high school enrollment on the first day of 1984 was 366.

Two more teachers were hired by the school board this week, Dockery said. At a special meeting called for the trustees to work on the upcoming budget, Kathleen Carr was hired as a junior high special education teacher and Connie Peterson was hired as an elementary school teacher.

Columnist Roddy Stinson to speak to educators

Some 900 educators from area school districts expected to attend two days of seminars and workshops in Bandera Aug. 27 and 28 will listen to San Antonio's award-winning newspaper columnist Roddy Stinson.

His journalistic talents are splattered with his spunk and humor, and his presentation to teachers here Wednesday is expected to include both.

Other entertainment for the teachers attending the two-day in-service workshop has been arranged by the Bandera staff members. Another keynote speaker will be Dr. Jim Sutton of the Atascosa—McMullen Appraisal Cooperative.

Bandera Independent School District is hosting the district conference, and educators are expected from school districts in Devine, D'Hanis, Hondo, Lytle, Medina Valley, Natalia, and Somerset.

Workshops will be conducted on reading, math, computer literacy, science, assertive discipline, student motivation, teaching the gifted and talented, child management, teaching slow learners, update on House Bill 72, using learning centers, basic support programs, stress management, parent-teacher relations, physical education, and coaching.

The teachers will be reviewing the latest techniques in the education field.

When the workshops break for lunch the visitors will have a choice of eating in the school cafeteria or going into Bandera to eat at one of the local restaurants.

The school cafeteria, which the food director says can handle up to 350 diners comfortably, will offer a choice of a chicken-fried steak dinner or a salad-bar laden with crisp vegetables and all the trimmings for a light summer's lunch.

County records 5th fatality

Excessive speed believed to be a factor

Edward Ronald Barnick, 46, of Mission was pronounced dead at the scene of a one-vehicle roll over on Highway 173 South shortly after noon on Sunday.

Barnick was traveling south about two miles from Bandera at Julian Creek when his maroon and silver pickup ran off the road on the right, striking the north end of the bridge, investigators said. He apparently lost control, striking cement teeth on the bridge and eventually going off the road at the south end of the bridge. Trooper Nolan Metz of the Texas Department of Public Safety said the truck apparently flipped numerous times, throwing Barnick out. It came to rest approximately 115 feet from where the body was thrown, Metz said.

Truck parts, debris, and litter was strewn over an area of about 200 feet on and along the side of the highway. The accident is still under investigation, Metz said. "I believe excessive speed was a factor," Barnick wasn't wearing a seat belt, Metz said.

Peace Justice Tom Grant said the cause of death would be listed as massive head injuries and multiple fractures.

The body was removed from the scene by Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera and later transferred to Wilson Funeral Home in Mission of services.

Barnick is the fifth person killed this year on Bandera County roadways. Traffic fatalities in Bandera County this year have already surpassed four recorded in 1984. The first 1985 fatality was recorded March 12 when Mrs. Billie McFarlane was killed in a one-car accident near Lakehills. Russell Clinton Gregory was killed April 7 in a one-car accident near Bandera Pass on Highway 470. Pedestrians Judy Ann Pina and Shawn Tadlock were killed July 24 on Highway 173 North when struck by a pickup truck driven by 17-year-old Sky Mattson of Bandera.

Bandera, Medina school taxes lower than most in the area

The tax rates of Bandera and Medina school districts are fifth and sixth lowest of 15 similar districts in the area and 10.8 percent to 17.3 percent lower than the state average.

Those figures were contained in a report released this month by the Texas Reserch League, an Austin-based educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

Bandera's school tax rate in 1984 was 61.2 cents per $100 valuation, the figures show, and Medina's was 66 cents per $100.

Taxpayers statewide pay a total of 74 cents per $100, the Research League said. Valuations in each county are based on 100% of market value.

Eight of 15 area school districts selected because their size and geographical locations are similar to the Bandera County districts have tax rates higher than those in Bandera and Medina. Four have lower tax rates, including Utopia, in which some Bandera County residents are located.

The highest tax rate among those included in the survey is in Devine where taxpayers pay $1.082 per $100 valuation, and the lowest was in Utopia, which had a tax rate of only 44.8 cents per $100.

Natalia had a tax rate of $1.07, Medina Valley 92 cents, Boerne 88.7 cents, Hondo 85 cents, Ingram 83 cents, Fredericksburg 82.4 cents, D'Hanis 71 cents and Lytle 70 cents.

Those with rates lower than either Bandera or Medina included Comfort 55 cents, Somerset 51 cents, and Leakey 47.5 cents.

The Research League said state aid to local schools increased by $1 billion, to a total of $4.6 billion, as a result of the education reform package enacted last year by the state legislature.

To pay for that, the legislature last summer passed the largest tax bill in the state's history.

School trustees in the 1,068 local districts in Texas also levied the largest school property tax increases in history, $519 million, the Research League said.

In our area, the Bandera ISD's, 40.5 percent increase and Medina's 34.6 percent hike appeared large compared to the state average increase of 14.3 percent.

Our neighbors, Boerne and Utopia, both recorded increases of over 80 percent last year, while Devine and Hondo had increases

Optimism abounds in football camps around the state

Like the rest of us, special correspondent Larry Thomas Williams of Medina is growing weary of the monotony and the oppressiveness of summer's heat.

But the man with three first names finds relief by anticipating the onset of one of the most cherished seasonal rituals in Texas.

"As we drag ourselves through the sweltry time remaining in this summer," Williams writes, "we can all take heart that soon the days will begin to take an annual air of the festiveness of fall. A gradual cooling, familiar smells and colors, a snap in the air...

"Of course, I'm talking about the return of life on the planet earth, cool evenings, the riot of hues presented by school colors, the smell of popcorn and the roar of the crowd.

"Football season returns!

"All over the country (but especially in Texas), sweaty lads are already pounding each other with sweaty pads under the watchful eyes of coaches, who also sweat.

"They join the youngsters in pursuit of the excellence needed to wrest touchdowns from a just-as-determined opponent."

Williams is a little more poetic than the rest of us, perhaps. But many of us await the coming football season with some glee.

Part of the appeal is the annual optimism that football engenders.

Sure, it's hot today, but football is meant to be played in the cool, sometimes cold, autumn evenings.

That kind of night must be coming if the boys are donning pads, the bandsmen polishing horns, and cheerleaders rehearsing routines.

That's only one kind of optimism inspired by the beginning of the football ritual.

Medina's Bobcats managed to win only a couple of their games last year while Bandera's Bulldogs won all their regular season games.

But there's the same kind of optimism in the training camps at both schools.

The 'Cats are sure they'll improve enough to achieve a winning season this year.

And the 'Dogs are just as certain they'll win a district title and more.

And there's the same kind of optimism in football camps throughout the state.

They're optimistic at New Braunfels' Canyon High School this year too. They're convinced they will win the Class AAAA district in which they compete.

To help their players get ready for the coming season, the Canyon coaches have invited the Bulldogs of Bandera to drop in Friday for a controlled scrimmage in Canyon's new football stadium.

It'll be a good opportunity for Bandera coaches and players to test their team's mettle, and a good opportunity for fans too.

Will the enthusiastic youngsters who man the Bulldog defensive front be able to fill the considerable shoes of those who went through their district schedule almost unscored on?

Is all-state running back James Compton really bigger, stronger and more determined than last year?

Tune in at 6:30 p.m. Friday in New Braunfels and find out.

New panel eying more reforms, this time in higher education

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Sometime this fall, a new select committee will begin to consider reforms for the state's higher education system — just like the panel of a year ago which came up with "no pass, no play" and othe public school reforms.

The Legislature took those proposed reforms and made many of them law in a controversial special session which produced the state's largest tax legislation.

While educators are wondering whether their pet issues will even make it out of committee, some legislators are more concerned with the price tag.

Will the higher education reforms necessitate another tax bill? Or could they actually result in getting rid of some moneywasters? Can higher education become more efficient?

The members haven't been named yet by the governor, the lt. governor and the speaker, who together will pick the bulk of the membership.

Money, Quality

The battle to draw the agenda may include some of the following issues:

—Should college admissions standards be made more difficult across the board?

—Should some institutions be closed down or merged with other schools?

—Should colleges go back to holding classes on Saturdays and include more evening classes?

—Should students be required to pass exit exams, similar to the exam which graduating high school seniors will be taking this year?

Tough Politics

If you enjoy watching complicated politics, you'll love the careers-on-the-line decisions that promise to plague lawmakers in this drama.

Many a seasoned politico will tell you that local school politics are the toughest around, mainly because emotions are stronger when you're dealing with their children and their futures.

But with the higher education issue, college kids represent a voting constituency of their own, and if the reform program is highly controversial it might turn into a hot campaign issue.

Legal Winner

On the subject of hot campaigns, the Justice Department last week quietly approved the special election in the First Congressional District.

Specifically, the feds found nothing amiss in the manner in which the governor and Texas secretary of state set the election date. The agency insisted it must approve the date to prevent violations of the Voting Right Act.

Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said the state will continue its appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court to prevent further infringements on state law.

Clergy Role

Mattox had a full week last week.

Earlier he was busy straightening out a new child abuse reporting law that conflicts with church doctrines.

Then on Thursday, while he was flying back to Austin from Huntsville his state plane depressurized and filled with smoke. The plane landed safely, but the electrical system fire caused a stir.

His legal opinion earlier in the week also caused a stir among religious leaders. Mattox ruled that a new law requiring all citizens to report suspected child abuse cases exempts only lawyers defending accused criminals, and not clergymen.

Thus, a clergyman who hears a confession to child abuse is legally required to report the offender to authorities or suffer penalty.

Mattox said he personally does not agree with that idea, and recommended that the wording be changed by the Legislature to accommodate church practices and teachings.

Gramm Probe

Even though he refunded more than $21,000 in possibly illegal contributions, the Federal Election Commission will continue to audit Texas Senator Phil Gramm.

An FEC spokesman said last week the agency is urging federal court to enforce a subpoena for Gramm campaign records.

Gramm's camp called it a huge fishing expedition by the feds.

Aide Quits

The Texas speaker's top aide, Neal "Buddy" Jones, himself a former legislator, will quit to go into private law practice.

Speaker Gib Lewis tapped state Rep. Doc Arnold, D-Terrell, to take Jones' place. Arnold will have to resign his seat in the Legislature, necessitating a special election to fill that vacancy, probably in November. The new job pays $60,000 a year.

Short Takes

•Texas Republican Secretary Holly Decherd will serve as vice chairman of U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler's statewide steering committee.

•Gov. Mark White urged the State Bar of Texas to prosecute lawyers, including some from outside Texas for soliciting clients in connection with the crash of Delta Air Lines Flight 191 at the D/FW International Airport.

Leave the country

Dear Editor,

Whatever has happened to patriotism? Is respect for our flag no longer fashionable?

For the third time, an American flag has been stolen from the pole at the entrance to Bandera River Ranch.

Apparently the thieves have never experienced the thrill and pride with which veterans salute our flag, or seen the emotional raising of the flag on the USS Arizona at Pearl Harbor.

Our foreign embassies are deluged with people begging for a chance to come to this country, to enjoy the freedom and privileges our flag symbolizes. Many Americans of different ethnic origins have given their lives to preserve our right to fly the flag.

It is suggested that the persons responsible for the thefts leave the country and find out for themselves how precious is their freedom and how very fortunate they are to be living in this, the greatest country in the world.

Demo says he'll run

A San Antonio Democrat has apparently announced he has entered the race for Congress from the 21st District, which includes Bandera County.

David Hunsicker joins Republican Lamar Smith as announced candidates for the job that U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler of Hunt says he is quitting.

Hunsicker told San Antonio media he would seek the Democratic nomination for the job. However, Nick Johnson, editor of the Bulletin and Bandera County Democratic chairman, said he had not heard from Hunsicker by news release or through party communication.

Smith, a Bexar County commissioner, announced his intention to seek Loeffler's job several weeks ago. Several other Republicans have been mentioned as possible candidates.

Columnist Lindell Williams, who writes an Austin column for the Bulletin, said Loeffler plans to formally announce his intention to run for governor during the Labor Day weekend.

Smith said Loeffler told him he would not seek re-election even if he decides not to run for governor.

Four-time world champion expected in pro rodeo

The current leader in the quest for the world steer roping championship and a four-time-world champion will be among the more than 400 entries in the Cowboy Capital Pro Rodeo in Bandera Aug. 30 and 31 and Sept. 1, officials said this week.

Jim Davis of Pecos, who rodeo officials here say plans to move permanently to the Bandera area, now leads all cowboys in the quest for the world's steer roping championship, and he'll be demonstrating his skill and hoping to pick up some of the $35,000 in prize money up for grabs during the three-day event.

Also expected to be on hand is Guy Allen, who won his first world steer roping championship at age 19 to become the youngest cowboy ever to earn that honor.

He went on to win three more world titles, the latest in 1984. "I'm just as thrilled winning my fourth world title as when I won my first," he said. "The thrill and excitement are still there."

Officials of the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Commission, the rodeo's Bandera sponsor, expect as many as 3,000 spectators each night of the three-day event and have ordered new bleachers to accomodate the crowds.

Events scheduled include bull riding, calf roping, barrel racing, bareback bronc riding, bulldogging, team roping, steer roping, and saddle bronc riding.

No bull riding is scheduled this year.

Each of the events will be run nightly, and the overall winners will be determined Sunday night.

A large number of local cowboys are expected to compete along side the pros from throughout the country because of the special local entry option which encourages entries from among cowboys who live within 50 miles of the Cowboy Capital.

Registration for local cowboys will be at the Cabaret Dance Hall on Aug. 22 between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

The rodeo is being produced by Bad Company Rodeo, Inc., of Sonora, and among the unusual attractions scheduled is a sky diving demonstration.

Advance tickets are available at various Bandera businesses.

Davis, a 6-foot, 170-pound athlete who also trains horses, has competed in the National Finals Rodeo five times and last year won $13,943 in calf-roping, the ninth best among all calf ropers.

During the year he placed in 44.8 percent of the calf roping competitions in which he competed.

He currently leads all cowboys in that event, according to Cal Chapman, spokesman for the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Commission.

Davis' father, father-in-law and brother-in-law are also PRCA competitors.

Guy Allen set an all-time single-season earnings record for steer roping last year, finishing the year with $41,289.

During the NFSR 4th round at Guthrie, Okla., he roped and tied his steer in 9.9 seconds, a new finals record for the event. He also held the previous record, 10.2 seconds, set in 1981.

In 1983 Allen led steer roping standings over Oklahoman Roy Cooper by $250 going into the NFSR. But triple-crown winner Cooper won by more than $2,000.

With four championships under his belt, Allen is only two away from tying Everett Shaw's all-time record of six steer roping world titles. "Everett Shaw was considered to be the best in his time," says Allen. "I want to be considered the best steer roper in my time."

Since Shaw, at age 54, won his last title in 1962, his record of six world championships may well be in jeopardy. Allen needs only three more in the next 28 years.

He plans to get them one run at a time.

Unusual scare goats to be sold in Waring

Several Tennessee scare goats will be offered for sale at a fundraising dinner and auction on Friday, Sept. 6, in Waring, a small community east of Comfort.

While known as a curiosity, the goats are a rare breed inflicted with a hereditary muscle defect known as myotonia. After a sudden movement or being startled, abnormal muscle contractions cause the animal to stiffen and topple over.

What appears to be a "fainting" spell lasts a minute or two and isn't painful or debilitating. Myotonic goats live normal life spans and some reach age 15, which is old for a goat.

The goats originated in Tennessee in the late 1800s and aren't believed to exist anywhere outside the U.S. In addition to Tennessee, they are mainly found in southern Kentucky and northern Alabama. They are easy to control because they won't hop over anything higher than 15 inches.

The auction will also include other livestock, antiques, and collectibles. Homemade baked and canned items will be for sale at the country store.

Don Strange is catering the "Catfish Fry and Chicken Tacos—All You Can Eat Dinner" at his new General Store, also known as the Rust Garage. Serving will start at 7 p.m. Tickets are a $10 donation and are available at the door.

Proceeds from the event will go to the repair of the post building, Eichholz-Strube Post 8569, Veterans of Foreign Wars in Comfort. For more information, call 535-4855 after 5 p.m.

Health career courses to be offered at SAC

San Antonio College is offering a series of classes in the allied health area.

Classes are being offered in a variety of medically-related fields, including Emergency Medical Technician, Nurse Aide, Medical Assisting, Medical Transcription, Medical Secretarial.

Courses are also being offered of general interest to health care providers, such as Medical Terminology, CPR training, and Spanish for the Health Provider.

Successful completion in these courses qualifies the student for certification by the Texas Education Agency, and as appropriate, by the Texas Department of Health and the American Heart Association.

For more information about dates and registration procedures, contact the Registration Office, Continuing Education, San Antonio College, 733-2635.

Jolene Morrow and Scott Ward

Meredith Jolene Morrow engaged to Scott Ward

Mr. and Mrs. Terry Joe Morrow of Bandera announce the engagement of their daughter, Meredith Jolene Morrow, to Scott Ward, son of Mr. and Mrs. N.S. Ward Jr. of Goldthwaite.

Jolene is a graduate of Bandera High School and Angelo State University where she received a bachelor of arts degree in speech and English education. She is employed at John Jay High School in San Antonio where she teaches speech and English, and is the UIL coordinator.

Scott is a graduate of Goldthwaite High School and Angelo State University where he received his bachelor in business administration degree in finance and real estate. Scott is an assistant national bank examiner for the Comptroller of the Currency of the U.S. Treasury Department in San Antonio.

The couple has chosen Oct. 12 as the date for their outdoor wedding on a ranch in the Texas Hill Country near Kerrville. The ranch is still in the family after Scott's great-great-grandfather homesteaded the land one hundred years ago in Oct. of 1985.

Worth noting

Theater group to meet Tuesday

The Bandera Little Theater Group held its first meeting this week and decided on "Girl Crazy" as its first production.

No date for opening night was announced.

"Girl Crazy" is a light, running comedy that takes place on a dude ranch. Elvis Presley starred in the movie version, says group spokesman Bungy Grant.

The group's next meeting will be Tuesday, Aug. 27, at 6:30 p.m at The Cabaret when tryouts will be held.

Anyone interested in auditioning for a part or in helping out with sets, costumes and general production are welcome, says Grant.

"Ya'll come and let's have fun!" she said.

Espinosa has new assignment

Marine Lance Cpl. Freddie V. Espinosa, son of Rudy and Margarita Espinosa of Bandera, recently reported for duty at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Ca.

A 1981 graduate of Milby High School, Houston, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1984.

Painting classes to begin on Sept. 10

Oil painting classes for senior citizens will begin Sept. 10 at the Bandera County Library, a spokesman said this week.

The classes for beginners will be offered by the San Antonio College's Institute of Lifetime Learning.

The course is open to adults aged 55 years or older and is an eight-week affair with one class weekly at the Bandera County Library on Tuesdays from 9:30 a.m. until 11:30 a.m. A fee of $12 will be charged.

Christmas early in Uvalde

Christmas will begin early in Uvalde when Truman Capote's "A Christmas Memory" opens Nov. 30 for a four performance run at the Grand Opera House. Performances are at 8 p.m. Nov. 30, Dec. 5 and 6, and at 2:30 p.m. Dec. 1.

Ann Alejandro is adapting the Capote classic especially for the stage of the beautifully restored 1895 Opera House. Kevin Lechler will direct the show for the co-producers Southwest Texas Junior College and the Uvalde Area Community Theatre.

Appalachian Christmas music will further enhance the sensitive story of a boy, his aunt, their love for each other and for the holiday season. For ticket information call the Grand Opera House 512-278-4082 or write P.O. Box 1451, Uvalde 78801.

Kendall Fair opens Aug. 30

The 80th Kendall County Fair will be held at the Kendall County Fair Grounds at Boerne on Aug. 30, 31, and Sept. 1 and 2.

Friday night will be family night, with carnival rides at a discount, free entertainment under the pavillion, food booths, and a dance in the new dance hall featuring "The Abbey."

A parade Saturday morning will proceed through downtown Boerne at 10 a.m. and there will be horse races at 2 p.m. Saturday through Monday.

There will be dances nightly and a domino tournament (moon) Sunday, Sept. 1, at 12:30 p.m.

Helping Hands

The Bandera County Helping Hand Center will furnish free school supplies to low-income families at 1306 Cypress.

Recipients will need proof of income and supplies, if picked up at the center, must be picked up before the second week of school, says center director Jeanne Shinn.

Twins born in Germany

Capt. and Mrs. Phil Cambell of Graf, Germany, and their sons, John and Colin, welcomed twin girls into their family this week.

Allison is the oldest and weighed six pounds, two ounces, and Megan weighed six pounds, one ounce.

"Special" grandmother is Nita Jenkins of Bandera.

AACOG granted over $1.5 million for anti-crime programs

Governor Mark White announced last week that the Alamo Area Council of Governments will receive 43 grants totaling $1,608,982 to be used for anti-crime programs in communities in it's region. The governor said there were a total of 479 grants totaling $18,400,045 to anti-crime programs in communities throughout Texas.

Bandera County is located in the AACOG region. AACOG's share was the third largest in the state, preceded only by regions in the Dallas-Ft. Worth and Houston areas.

These grants will fund a wide variety of law enforcement activities, including community-based crime prevention programs, police training projects, and juvenile crime prevention and treatment efforts. The grants are dispersed from a fund which collects assessments on fines paid by individuals convicted of violating Texas' criminal laws.

"Safe communtities are the result of both effective law enforcement and active citizen participation in programs such as neighborhood watch and juvenile crime prevention projects," Governor White said. "I believe that there is no greater deterrent to crime than a community-based alliance between citizens and police."

of less than 10 percent.

The Bandera trustees will hold a public hearing on the proposed 1985-86 budget on Thursday, Aug. 29, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library, superintendent Ted Dockery announced. He has predicted a tax increase in excess of 3 percent to cover the budget.

Texas schools last year spent an average of $3,103 per student for current operations. Bandera spent $2,755 per student while Medina expended for $3,414 per student.

Bandera's enrollment averaged 1,087 students in attendance daily while Medina's average daily attendance was 237 students. Utopia had 153 students in attendance daily, with an operating expense of $3,531 per student.

Four of each five of these dollars were spent on salaries. Statewide payroll expense averaged $2,487 per student. Utopia had a $2,749 payroll expense for each student while Somerset's payroll expense per student was only $1,895 for its enrollment of 1,449 students.

Of the 15 districts polled, Boerne has the highest average teacher salary with $18,834 and Utopia the lowest with an average salary of $15,892. The state average teacher's salary stands at $20,117.

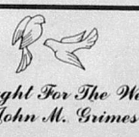

Medina Valley and Boerne both have a 19.3 pupil-teacher ratio, highest in the area, while Hondo, Fredericksburg, Medina and Utopia all have less than 14 students average per teacher employed. The statewide teacher-pupil ratio is 1 to 16.2.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

For millions of youngsters, August is a time when tragedy (or joy) overtakes them. For those who love the freedom of summer, hot weather and outdoors, and lack of study, school's reopening is stark tragedy.

For million of others, who love school and association with friends and learning, it's a time of joy. Geniuses and successful men and women have developed from both temperaments. Winston Churchill, for example, was a poor student.

In today's world, however, successful study is more important than ever. As the world grows more technical and complex and competition becomes greater and greater, education becomes increasingly important.

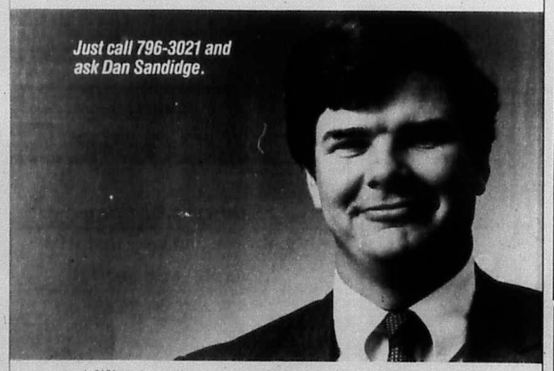

It is not only the best investment for the student but the best investment for adult citizens in their community.

Therefore, accept the beginning of school as a challenge, if you are of school age, and make the best of it. School years, and one's youthful years in general, are not always easy years.

But they are years of opportunity and challenge...and those who move out to meet the opportunity and challenge in school today are likely to be the leaders of tomorrow.

Whooping cough hits mainly tots

Whooping cough is potentially one of the most serious diseases of childhood. This highly contagious disease is transmitted by bacteria that travel through the air and infect the lungs, windpipe, and other parts of the breathing system.

The illness occurs in all ages, says the Texas Medical Association, but about half of all cases occur before 2 years of age because unimmunized infants usually have no protection.

Known medically as pertussis, whooping cough begins with a runny nose, stiffness, listlessness, and a hacking night-time cough. This gradually worsens into deep coughing and difficult intakes of breath sounding like a "whoop." In infants, choking spells may be more common than "whoops."

Fever is not always present, but inflammation of the middle ear is frequent. The dangerous aspect of whooping cough is that it sets the stage for other illnesses like pneumonia and emphysema. Seizures and asphyxiation can occur in infants.

The violent coughing may cause internal bleeding of the brain, eyes, skin, and mucous membranes. Brain bleeding or inflammation may result in paralysis, coma and permanent brain damage. Pneumonia and brain complications are the major causes of death in young children with whooping cough.

A vaccine has substantially reduced the number of deaths from whooping cough, but the disease still causes about 10 deaths per year among the 2,300 cases reported annually in the U.S.

The vaccine does carry some possible risk of serious adverse reactions, which in a very few cases can be life-threatening. (Your physician will tell you the risks.) But doctors generally agree that the benefits of immunization far outweight the potential risks. Whooping cough, the disease, produces 10 times the rate of brain damage as its vaccine. If the disease is contracted, there is one chance in 200 that the patient will die.

Doctors and patients have been concerned over recent publicity about adverse reactions to the DTP (diphtheria-tetanus-pertussis) vaccine in the U.S. Similar negative publicity following two deaths in Japan resulted in a vaccination dropoff and a 1979-80 epidemic of 13,105 cases.

PTO sponsors PAT program

The Parents Assisting Teachers program was in full swing on Aug. 15 when the volunteers assisted teachers with orientation programs for new kindergarten students.

Kindergarten teachers, Mary Graves and Lelia Kindla were assisted by Pat Forsythe, Susan Looney, Patty Browning, and Sharon Koehler enrolling new students.

The PAT program is an extension of the Parent-Teachers Organization, says spokeswoman Darlene Marks. For more information, Marks says contact Linda McGhee at 535-4512.

Bandera County 25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

One of three young men were drowned and the other two narrowly escaped death Aug. 16, 1960, while riding inner tubes above the dam at Hudspeth Lions Club Park.

The Bandera Bulletin reported the three were swept over the dam, the river being on a rise from recent rains, and into the turbulent water. Two of the youngsters finally got out, one being pulled to safety by Bill Short. The third was swept downstream and was found lodged in a tree below Dr. C.H. Langford's place, about two miles below the dam.

The body of Daniel Teague, 14, was removed from the tree by Coy Ross and Melvin King after being in the water for about an hour, the Bulletin said.

The use of the Plummer resuscitator was to no avail. Peace Justice William Ahring presided at an inquest and declared death due to drowning.

Teague was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Teague. The family moved to Bandera in 1958. The two young men with Teague were identified in the Bulletin article only as his nephews.

Felix Billings reported six inches of rain at his ranch the second week of August, 1960. Mrs. Charles E. Hutcheson reported 8.6 inches of rain fell in one day that week at their ranch below Bandera. She said it washed out parts of their road completely, and at one place water was running across the road a mile wide.

In spite of the damages, she reported the rain was welcome.

Stein's Clothiers advertised back to school specials. All sport shirts were reduced 33⅓ percent. Children's shoes were $1.49 each and up, and men's work shoes were $2.95 and up.

Free booklets can assist fundraising

Outdoor recreation-oriented organizations and local government officials can learn how to raise money for local parks and other recreation facilities by reading three free publications being distributed by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Support overwhelming for Lakehills EMS

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

"It's just overwhelming, the support people have given us," said Peggy Galland following Friday night's Emergency Medical Service town meeting.

"We must have received about $800 in donations tonight," said EMT Dot McCracken.

The Lakehills EMTs that staff the ambulance in the community asked for the meeting to find out how area residents felt about the EMS and how much support they could depend on from the people.

Galland and four other residents of Lakehills were selected to form a committee to organize the Lakehills EMS Support Unit. Kay Solomon will serve as vice president. Polly Larsen secretary-treasurer, and two board members are Ron Basinger and Nick Pina.

County Judge Tommy Curbo described the functions of the committee to be like that of a PTA, band booster club, or quarterback club. "It will be chartered as a non-profit organization and be independent in it's nature from any control or influence from the Bandera County EMS," Judge Curbo told the three county commissioners, EMT representatives and over 150 concerned citizens attending the meeting.

"This is the first time I've seen a real effort to form a support group for one of our EMS units," Judge Curbo told the gathering. "The commissioner's court and myself will back this 100 percent. I believe this will be a model unit and a real incentive to others in the county," he said.

EMTs McCracken and Nancy Oehler spoke for the 20-plus volunteers that staff the Lakehills EMS unit.

The ad hoc committee will be responsible for drafting a charter, writing by-laws and organizing fundraisers, explained moderator Jud Ashmore, who also claimed to be official peacemaker.

"It is suggested that the committee function as the board of directors for the first year, after which election of officers will occur as provided in the by laws," he said.

The Lakehills ambulance (EMTs call it a "modulance") is presently housed in a barn owned by Ruth and Stanley Tschirhart, and they have donated the electricity used at the site," McCracken said. "They have been very supportive of the EMS in Lakehills." "But," Oehler said, "we need to get a permanent facility for the Lakehills EMS."

"Due to circumstances beyond the Tschirhart's control, the ambulance will have to be housed elsewhere," McCracken told the Bulletin. "They have really been generous and if it hadn't been for them allowing the EMS unit to be housed in the barn, Lakehills might not have had an ambulance for the past three years."

"The ambulance was brought to the lake just on weekends," Oehler said, "prior to being housed here."

A plan for a two vehicle garage, a class-training room, supply room, and a four bed first aid station was presented by Jud Ashmore. "This can become a reality is a short time," he said. "Land has been donated for it, and we need to get surplus materials donated and scrounge up volunteers and equipment. The building could be started in a week," he said.

Edward and Crystal Skolaut have offered to donate a tract of land located behind where the old lumberyard used to be on Park Road 37, said Galland. "All they need is a name to put the land in," Galland said.

Some concern was expressed by spectators that the county might cut some of its funding to the Lakehills unit if the support group became real successful.

"By law, we must furnish service (EMS)," Judge Curbo said.

"You'll (the Lakehills community) continue to get everything you're getting now. We'll (commissioner's court) continue to have control of, and direct the EMS in the county," precinct 2 commissioner Dan Alanis explained. He was the only one of the three commissioners to speak. Others attending were Jimmy Russell and Pete Reed.

Bandera School tax-accessor collector Charles Purdy expressed a belief that there were already too many fundraisers in the area. "Why not raise taxes and let all the property owners pay?" he asked. "It's kinda foolish. Every organization has a fund raiser," he said.

"The purpose of this meeting is because $64,000 budgeted for EMS is a large chunk out of the county budget, now. The budget has been lean since I've been in office, and we're doing the best we can with the funds we have," Curbo replied.

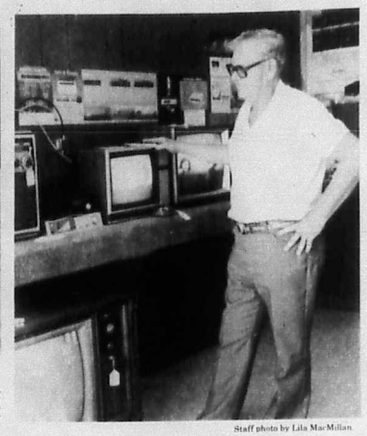

"The budget for the EMS has increased from $48,000 to $64,000 this year," Alanis explained. "To do more would mean an increase in taxes."

Peggy Galland

"The money you're talking about, Alanis, ($64,000) don't amount to a hill of beans," Purdy said.

Each of the four EMS units in the county has its own memorial fund account, and anyone wishing to make a contribution to the EMS in their specific area can do so, Curbo said. The money will be used for that particular EMS unit, he said. For Lakehills, checks should be made payable to Lakehills EMS Memorial Fund. Curbo assured the money would go into the Lakehills account and start drawing interest immediately.

Gordon Nordlund has opened a retail sales store in the Heisler Center in Lakehills. He officially opened the Viking Enterprises Satellite Systems and TV Shop this week. He has 11 brands of satellite systems with many models set up and working for demonstrations. He also has a full line of new and used television sets, stereos, VCRs, and accessories. He invites everyone to drop in, look around, and have a cup of coffee.

MLVFD benefits from menudo cookoff

A menudo cookoff will be held at the Fiddlin' Around lounge on Park Road 37 in Lakehills on Aug. 24. Chuck and Millie Harrison recently opened the lounge with food services.

There will be trophies for the first-, second- and third-place winners, Harrison says, with a large trophy for showmanship. Three quarts of menudo will be auctioned and proceeds will be donated to the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department, she said.

Fiddlin' Around features live music for dancing on weekends.

For more information on the cookoff, contact Millie Harrison at 751-1333.

Workday at MLVFD for everyone

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department auxiliary will be at the fire station Aug. 28 and Aug. 30 at 8:30 a.m. cleaning and chopping celery and onions for 400 pounds of potato salad to be made on Aug. 30, says June Settlemeyer.

There are many things to be done before the doors open at 11:30 a.m. on Aug. 31 for the annual MLVFD Barbecue, Settlemeyer said. "Just bring your favorite knife and cutting board, and come join the fun," she says.

To make arrangements to donate cakes and pies for the bake sale, Settlemeyer says contact Era Wilkinson or Louise Fernal. Also, volunteer workers are still needed on the serving line, she says. Contact her or Alice Smart.

Settlemeyer is in charge of the serving on Saturday and Smart on Sunday.

Sandy and Corey Clark

This six-week-old puppy named Sandy arrived just in time to help Corey Clark celebrate his first birthday recently at his home in San Antonio. The party was hosted by his parents, Eddy Joe and Shirley Clark, and brother Eddy Joe Jr. Grandparents Stanley and Ruth Tschirhart and Johnny and Ruth Clark of Lakehills and San Antonio were among the guests enjoying a barbecue dinner and birthday cake. Corey's great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Woods of San Antonio and Robert Mazurek of Mico.

St. Victor's plans social

St. Victor's Chapel will have a covered-dish supper following Mass Aug. 24.

"These Church socials held following Mass are for everyone, the adults enjoy the fellowship and the children play games," Cecilia Hartmann said. It's an opportunity to welcome new families into the parrish and make visitors feel welcome in the community, she said.

"Just bring your favorite covered dish to Mass at 7 p.m. Supper will be served following Mass," Hartmann said.

Mills settled in Floresville

The Rev. and Mrs. Bartlett Mills recently moved from Pipe Creek to Floresville where he will be doing interim pastoring or supply preaching.

In recent months he retired as a pastor of the Pipe Creek Baptist Church.

Vesta Mills will be teaching in the Poth Independent School District. Their new address is 608 Walnut Street in Floresville.

Volunteers in Dallas

Loretta Rees, Center supervisor for four counties based at Dietert Claim, Kerrville, this week announced an opportunity for Bandera volunteers to join with those from Dietert Claim in a trip to the Volunteer Services State Council's annual meeting in Dallas, Oct. 3-5.

ATVs are hot selling items

All-terrain vehicles, better known to their users as ATVs, are among the hottest-selling, summer recreational items among people who can afford the investment. The 3-wheeled motorcycles can scoot over sand dunes, marshes, pastures and other areas inaccessible to autos.

But problems mar the vehicles' reputation. Since they have been available, thousands of injuries and some deaths, mostly of children, have been attributed to their use.

The injury rate to users of ATVs is double that of 2-wheel vehicles. More than 45 percent of the injuries are suffered by riders under age 16, and 24 percent occur to kids under 12.

The U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission reports that in 1982 when ATVs were new, 8,585 injuries were reported. That total has jumped dramatically every year since, as popularity and numbers of ATVs have spread.

From Jan. 1 to April 30 this year, some 28,000 injuries were attributed to ATV use. At least 161 deaths, 11 of which were in Texas and 40 of which were surrounding states, have resulted from accidents with ATVs since government agencies began studying the machines' safety.

Dan Sowards, of the Texas Department of Health Hazardous Products Branch said that studies are under way to determine if user ignorance or negligence, or engineering defects are linked to the majority of injuries and deaths. He recently testified for the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) at a hearing in Dallas.

"CPSC only now is able to get in-depth information from consumer groups, ATV manufacturers and distributors, and independent safety experts about the reported problems associated with ATVs," Sowards said. "Only now can some of the possible problems with ATVs be identified by studying the variety of injuries attributed to them. Most injuries result from the rider's loss of control. The machines can overturn or roll over in some circumstances. Sometimes riders have been thrown off."

"At the recent hearing in Dallas, parents of small children and physicians from surrounding states, representing individuals who have been disabled or killed, called for stiffer regulation of ATVs. They wanted clearer warnings of the potential hazard, training and education required for anyone using an ATV, and age and protective clothing requirements for ATV users. Some advocated a ban on the machines in the United States.

"CPSC will hold two more hearings before making any conclusions about ATVs' safety, but it is clear the public wants guidance in how to avoid some of the tragedies already experienced. I would expect that by this time next year CPSC will have moved on the evidence it is collecting now," Sowards said.

P&WLD offers booklets on deer

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD) is offering two free publications which could be of assistance to landowners in improving white-tailed deer management on their land.

A bulletin entitled "Deer Census Techniques" describes methods which can be employed by landowners as well as professional wildlife biologists to estimate the numbers of deer in an area. The publication was written by Milo J. Shult, a wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Bill Armstrong, a wildlife biologist with the TPWD.

The other publication is an illustrated seven-page reprint of a Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine article entitled "No Shortcuts to Good Deer Management." Co-authored by Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader for the TPWD, and Fred Bryant of Texas Tech University, the article explains how deer harvest and habitat improvement can be combined to produce a quality deer herd.

To obtain either or both publications, call toll-free 1-800-792-1112.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Chairmen Grace Wootton and Doloras Greene were embodiments of the cliche, "tired but happy" at the end of last Friday's and Saturday's rummage and plant sale. They want this column to express their thanks to all the patrons who came to look and buy, and especially to the willing and hard-working volunteers who added so much to the harmony and enjoyment of working together.

Although the clothing and housewares were sold out, the plant sale will continue as long as supplies remain.

The fall of the dice

August's Bunco party will be on Wednesday, Aug. 28, at 1:30 p.m. at, of course, the Silver Sage Corral. Hostesses are Mary Portman and Helen Ahr. (If anyone in the county likes to play scrabble, please leave your name at the Center office for future reference!)

The Silver Tones

The next dance at the Silver Sage Corral will be on Friday, Sept. 6, with Dr. George Meador and the Silver Tones furnishing the music from 8:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. There'll be no charge at the door, but donations will be cheerfully received.

The Melodiers may as well plan to attend en masse, as they will have their practice at 5 p.m. of the same day.

Volunteers for Silver Sage Corral

Nell Lenard, activities director of Dietert Claim, will pardon us for quoting from her column: "It is important that volunteers keep a record each time volunteer services are performed, either at the Center or out in the community as a Center volunteer. Our sponsoring agent is Volunteer Services Council for Kerrville State Hospital, and to document these operations, volunteer hours must be kept and turned in to the Central office of the Texas Department of Mental Health-Mental Retardation in Austin."

So it's easy to see that keeping the records is not a matter of ego, but of reciprocating for favors.

Memorials

In memory of Lane Langford, donations were received from Vernell Mullenax and Eva Adamietz, and another hefty check was received from Hank Keene, who claims the Center as his "home away from home."

A doctor speaks out

One of the senior citizens submits a clipping from Dr. Thomas Glass, in which he states that he has saved his elderly patients $20,000 by accepting assignment (agreeing to charge only what Medicare allows).

He figures that if the other 200,000 practicing physicians in this country did the same, it would save $4 billion this year! Thought-provoking, isn't it?

Gloria Carlson, leader of the Sagettes exercise classes, has announced that she will be offering a new series starting in September, especially for those who have not attained the level of skills which the Sagettes have attained.

These will meet from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

In response to requests, the Sagettes exercises will also meet in the mornings, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9 a.m. to 10 a.m.

Coupon clippers

Yes, the senior center is still exchanging coupons, and they are now filed in a handsome plastic organizer donated by June Powell.

New co-director

Everyone is invited to come by the Silver Sage Corral and greet Glyn Taylor's new co-director, Lillian Ray. Having been a volunteer hostess for nearly a year, Lillian is well-known at the center, and knows her way around very well. She lives near Tarpley, with her husband Leon, and comes under the auspices of the Senior Texan Employment Program (STEP).

The Party...

Even before the appointed time, her friends were flocking to the Silver Sage Corral, pinning leaves on the money tree, over 125 of them, and signing the guest/address book as a permanent reminder of their fondness of her.

And although she looked fragile and dainty in her chiffon jacket dress, she was everywhere, laughing and greeting—Minnie Bruce Hayes, at her very own retirement party, Wednesday, Aug. 14.

There was a program—the Advisory Board hosts represented by Helen Ahr; a dash of nostalgia from the old scrap books, led by Mary Worley; a familiar tune sung by everyone, which went "Minnie, Minnie...," anecdotes told by friends from "way back," refreshments from the committee heads by Marie Self, accompanied in the background by soft music by violinist Judy Goodenough and the Autoangels on their autoharps.

It was, all in all, a memorable tribute to one who had contributed much to the development of the Senior Center.

On My Retirement

By Minnie Hayes

Retirement comes
With mixed emotion
After a lifetime of work
And devotion.
What will I do
With all my time?
After all, you see
I'm still in my prime.

To all the bosses
I've ever had
And fellow workers,
I might add,
I would like to say
That it's been fun
And that I will miss you,
Everyone.

To all the friends
I have ever met
And to all of those
I haven't yet,

It's time to spend
More time with you
And do the things
I would like to do.

When there are trips to be taken
And parties to attend
Or just a nice visit
With a very dear friend,
When you are ready,
Just give me a call
As I'll be ready
For one and all.

In the meantime
I know what I'll do!
Plant my "tree,"
And water it, too.
I'll watch it carefully
And hope it will grow,
So when you do call
I'll have the "dough."

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

It was back down Memory lane at the Ciarlo's house this past week when Dave and Cathy Stocker and their two children, Brian and Leeann, from Austin and then Marie and Zeno Hatcher from Florida visited.

There were many good times to remember as they were all together in the Panama Canal Zone for a few years. They recalled the fishing trips and treks to other countries such as Columbia, Costa Rica and Ecuador.

Betty and Marie were able to laugh over the anxiety of their trip up the Jaque river in the Darian country of Panama. They were with the first group of tourist that ventured up the river into this Indian country for many years. They made the trip in dugout canoes and visited many of the small Indian villages. These Indians were known for years as head hunters, they laugh now and say they would gladly do it again.

Many people from our area took part in the ceremony during which the Tarpley Mission became a Southern Baptist Church.

The sanctuary was packed with people and the singing and sermon were inspirational. The Tarpley Mission was sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera, which also sponsors the Walker Memorial Chapel.

James, Lance and Rubey Andreas spent Friday and Saturday in San Antonio with their grandfather. On Sunday Walter Burell and Kim Cherry drove them back to the Wharton's Dock area where Kim Cherry and Marie Miller visited their parents, Mary K. and Tom Andreas.

Dennis and Viola Crow have returned home from Las Vegas, and they report a good time, but they did not give a report on the win-or-lose part of their trip.

Marie and Harold Bentley reported a nice visit with Ray and Norha Ledwin when they stopped by at the Bentley's waterfront home. Ray is park manager of the Hill Country State Park located off the Dixie Dude road.

Rosa and Alfredo Gomez had Alfredo's mother and his children, Anita Gomez and Gilbert and Rosie Brusene, for a week's visit at their Lake Medina Shores home. They all enjoyed swimming, and Rosa took them all to the Frontier Times Museum in Bandera. They said they fell in love with our surroundings, and they all hated to leave.

The Ladies of the Walker Memorial Chapel are forming a Women's Missionary Union with Leslie Pigott in charge. They will meet Thursday, Aug. 22, to make bandages out of donated cotton sheets for a mission in Nigeria.

Visiting Juanita Shaffer at the Copper Lantern Aug. 17 were her sister-in-law, Adel Byrd; two nieces from New Braunfels, Ida Byrd and Joyce Reininger; and three great nieces, Randie Arnett of Bandera, Marla Bokene of San Antonio and Melisa Reininger of New Braunfels.

Juanita also had a great time with her great-granddaughter, Melanie Simmons from Austin. She enjoyed baby sitting and visiting with her grandchildren, Vince and Yolanda Simmons of Austin and Kenneth Simmons from San Antonio.

Visiting Lena and Bill Walker at the Walker Ranch this past weekend were their niece, Mrs. Kennon Maxon, and her husband and their two children, Keith and Karen, from Irving, and Gladys Wright from Kerrville, Mrs. Maxon's mother and the sister-in-law of the the Walker's.

Phil Bledsoe had to travel to Missouri where his mother is suffering from cancer and is in a very critical stage.

Butch and Irene Highnote entertained their nephew and his family, George and Terry Corbin and their three children, Joey, Sean and Tim. The Corbin's were traveling to Cherry Point, N.C., after spending four years in Okinawa.

One of the interesting things that came out of talking with Marilyn and Marjorie Birch, the missionaries who were born in West Africa, was their view of hunting. They both express a dislike for hunting in general, but said vehemently that they would shoot snakes.

It was nice seeing Harold and Jo Boord from San Antonio up here braving the heat, working on their waterfront home.

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road has Bible Study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services also on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesdays at 7 p.m.

The Chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible study or anyone else who needs transportation.

Russell W. Maddox, church building consultant from the church building and support section of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in Dallas, gave a presentation to the congregation of the Walker Memorial Chapel on Monday, Aug. 19.

A large group was present to discuss a few plans for the building of a larger Chapel, as the present one is proving to be too small in this growing community. A committee will be appointed to study the pros and cons of the various plans that were presented.

Debbie and Greg Kent of Kansas City, Mo., visited with Debbie's parents, T. and Mary Blakeney last week. They all went to the coast to do a little fishing and camping, but Hurricane Danny made the water so muddy that they could not fish. They all reported a good time, anyway.

Ritch and Dana Simmons traveled to the coast over the week-end with Raymond and Carolyn Byrd of San Antonio. They all report that they had a good time and that Dana did not get sunburned this time.

There will be a Singspiration and watermelon feast Friday, Aug. 23 at the Walker Memorial Chapel at 7 p.m.

'Carousel' playing Ingram's Point Theatre through Saturday

"Carousel," beautiful, beguiling, and the musical that many people consider the most glorious of the Rodgers and Hammerstein works, begins its final week at the Point Theatre in Ingram where it will close the summer season.

Telling the story of an ill-fated though devoted love of a gentle, shy New England mill-girl for a braggart, wastrel carnival barker, "Carousel" has grown in stature so much since it was first presented in 1945 that it is generally regarded as one of the most tender, eloquent and melodious musical plays of the American theatre.

The first play written by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein, II, following the great success they scored with "Oklahoma!," "Carousel" earned a great triumph upon its opening and has won even greater plaudits in subsequent revivals, when its status as a part of American folklore could be more sharply defined.

Charles Gray has the leading role of Billy Bigelow, the rough-neck barker for a carousel, who attracts and mistreats all women, even the modest little mill-girl who wins him from his hardened, jealous employer and marries him.

Claire Rabson plays his wife, Julie Jordan, who has a valiant spirit under a gentle exterior.

Belatedly spurred to achieve security and position for his wife and unborn child, Billy tries to commit a robbery, fumbles, and is trapped by the police. He commits suicide rather than bequeath the shame of his imprisonment on the child he has not seen.

Years later, Billy is given a chance to make good for his failures by returning to Earth for a single day. He sees his adolescent daughter as a lonely girl, snubbed by the other children who remind her of the shame of her father's crime and shiftlessness. In his heartbreak for her, and for his devoted wife, he almost fumbles even this second chance.

The liltingly melodious Rodgers score is familiar to audiences everywhere and includes such memorable tunes as "What's the Use of Wonderin'?," "When I Marry Mr. Snow," "You'll Never Walk Alone," "This Was a Real Nice Clambake," "When the Children Are Asleep," "June is Bustin' Out All Over," "You're a Queer One, Julie Jordan" and "Soliloquy."

In addition to Charles Gray and Claire Rabson as the barker and his wife, other leading members of the cast are Maggie Meek, Elizabeth Real, Virgil Justice, Jim Porter and Saralen Pike.

Also in the cast are: Burt McAshan, Stephen Wray, Tom Terrell, Ed Ashley, Kit Werlein, Courtney Stanford and Larry Arnold.

Additional cast members are: Margaret and Michelle McCall, Searle Crate, Gail Law, Jennifer Crate, Norma Garza, Terry Martin, Perry McCall, Georgianna Itz, Faye Freeman, Rod Johnson, John Garcia, Shane Threadgill, Ralph Spenny, Marty Ashley, Rosa Lea Meek, Irma James, Susan McManus, Joanna Bacon, Will Meek, Will McCall, Rhian Herring, Kim Arnold and Theda Schlieter.

Claudia Sullivan, associate professor of speech and drama at Schreiner College, is directing "Carousel." Her Point Theatre directing credits include this season's "Dear World" and "Our Town," as well as a Schreiner College/Point Theatre co-production of "The Crucible" this winter and last summer's "Annie," a co-production of the Point Theatre and the Southwest Theatre for Young People.

Tom Hale is the Point's musical director who has not only wielded the baton in the orchestra pit, but has appeared onstage in "Godspell," a Point Theatre/Southwest Theatre for Young People co-production.

Set design is by Jim Weisman, award-winning designer with the University of Texas Performing Arts Center in Austin.

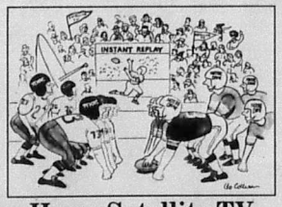

The ancestry of "Carousel" started with a play entitled "Liliom," written by the leading playwright of Hungary, Ferenc Molnar, and first produced in Budapest in 1909. "Liliom" created quite a stir in the coffee-houses of the jewel-city on the Danube, but it did not win audiences and closed after 40 performances.

The poignant story of a rough-neck carnival barker and ladies man, Liliom (the nickname 'Lily' means 'Toughy'), who marries a shy, adoring servant girl whom he beats because he is afraid to show his love for her, did not interest pre-WWI theatre audiences who preferred modern romances among high-born individuals.

"Carousel will play Wednesday through Saturday evenings at the Point Theatre. Curtain time is 8:30 p.m.

Tickets are on sale at the Point Theatre box office and are $7 for adults and $4 for children. Reservations may be made by calling the box office at 367-5122.

The Smith-Ritch Point Theatre is the performing arts arm of the Hill Country Arts Foundation, a non-profit educational organization dedicated to the visual and performing arts.

Herbs are a sodium alternative

Salt is a valuable source of sodium, an essential nutrient that the body needs to form tissue, aid a child's growth, help to heal a wound and to develop the fetus during pregnancy. "Though salt is essential for life, too much in the diet is a key factor in high blood pressure," says Karen Mitchell of Texas Department of Agriculture, "a disorder affecting some 60 million Americans to some degree."

The National Academy of Sciences-National Research Council estimates a daily sodium intake of 1100 to 3300 mg. a safe and adequate amount for adults. However, Mitchell says, many adults consume 5000 to 7000 mg. daily.

An appetizing way to cut down on sodium in the diet is to use culinary herbs instead of salt in foods. She suggests, "the discriminate use of herbs can accent and enhance the flavors of many foods, elevating them to gourmet status."

Herbs are usually used in combinations. Strongly flavored herbs as marjoram, rosemary, sage and tarragon are best used along or in combination with several milder herbs.

If you use fresh herbs, gather from the garden as needed. Wash quickly in cold water, discarding the bad leaves. "To keep fresh herbs crisp," Mitchell advises, "store in sealed plastic bags or containers in the refrigerator."

Fresh herbs should be minced or chopped in small amounts as needed. The flavors of fresh herbs are quickly lost as volatile oils are released when cut or heated.

To dry fresh herbs, take a bunch of one kind of herb and tie the stem ends together. Hang upside down in a dry warm place away from sunlight. Good air circulation is essential.

A quick method to dry fresh herbs is to spread the herbs on a cheese cloth covered rack in the oven at the lowest temperature. Leave the door open and stir leaves until crisp and dry. Store dried herbs in labeled jars or bags.

Constant experimentation with herbs in cooking will lead to a variety of interesting and appetizing flavors. A word of caution for those of you just discovering the world of herbs. Practice restraint when using and don't overseason and mask the flavor of other ingredients.

Also, remember that dried herbs are 3-4 times as pungent as their fresh counterparts.

Cilantro, dill and parsley are grown in the Lower Rio Grande Valley and the Wintergarden area. For more information about Texas agricultural products, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

The weather in Sabinal Canyon has been dry and hot, with a few isolated showers but not enough to do any good.

Here Saturday was Stanley Miller from Holston. He has many relatives in Utopia.

Surgery

Mrs. Norma Duke underwent knee surgery in Sid Peterson Hospital Monday and was able to come home Wednesday.

Fire extinguished

A fire of unknown origin started in back of Lost Maples Merchandise Store, Vanderpool last week.

It was spreading fast in the tall dry grass and threatening several homes close by as well as the mountain side. Fire fighters managed to extinguish the fire before it caused serious damage.

Highland Lakes Baptist Encampment

The Rev. Homer Stephens and son Charles Paul will be away this week helping in a boys camp. In his absence, the Rev. Glen Rhines will be in charge of the Wednesday night prayer service at the Baptist Church.

Several boxes will be placed at different places around the church to encourage donations of specific items. Read the list and then bring some of these items with you on your next trip to church.

Attending college

Visiting Nora Dodge this week is her friend Angela Alridge from Dallas and Heather and Laura Edwards.

Mrs. Henry Reavis and two sons, Bryan and Evan of San Antonio, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ira Reavis this week.

Lecil and Ruby Howard were in San Antonio this week to learn all her tests and check ups came out good. Lecil will have to go back Aug. 29 for an eye check up.

Sabinal Canyon Senior Council meets

On Friday, Aug. 9, the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council met at the Methodist Church Education Building in Utopia for an ice cream social. Bill Schaefer, who had organized a group of five of Utopia's talented musicians, led the entertainment. Bill, Wayne Russell, Bill Clepper, and Roy and Margaret Borner played and sang music that brought smiles and toe tapping memories to everyone, and Mary Haby and Bill Schaefer led a sing-along.

Forty-two members and guests were served old fashioned vanilla and peach ice cream, cake and cookies.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bunk of Bay City; Julie Robinson; Richard Childress; Blake Rieber and Ollie Faye Evans, President of AARP of Uvalde.

S.J. and Cleo Carson were entertaining their daughter and husband and grandchildren George and Beth Franklin and daughters and George's sister, Francis and family from Louisiana, with a picnic and swimming party Sunday afternoon.

A group of young people from Bryan including Nancy Dryer and husband and daughter of Bryan and Mrs. Lonnie Webb attended Baptist Church services Sunday.

The group camped out at the Mattie Noel Springs and brought a message in song.

Tarpley visitors

Hub and I had a very pleasent surprise Saturday evening when my girlhood friend came to visit, Clay McTaylor and daughter Dorothy and her daughter from Tarpley.

Clay and I reminisced about "the good old days" when we were young and active, floating a huge log (with us hanging on) down the deep Blue Hole of the Sabinal River below the old Heideman home or chasing Clay's saddle pony, Old Maude, all over the pasture on Sault Marsh just to take a horseback ride.

For starters, here are some recommended flavor combinations as an alternative to salt:

- Beef Pot Roast: marjoram, rosemary and thyme.
- Lamb chops: marjoram and dill.
- Meat Loaf: oregano and basil.
- Pork chops: sage, thyme or cloves.
- Pork Roast: rosemary and parsley.
- Chicken: cilantro, marjoram, rosemary or savory.
- Beets: bay leaves, celery seed, clove and dill.
- Broccoli: mustard, oregano or tarragon.
- Cauliflower: dill, mustard, savory or tarragon.
- Eggplant: basil, chili powder or thyme.
- Green beans: basil, bay leaves, dill, marjoram, mustard or oregano.
- Onions: mustard, oregano, sage or thyme.
- Peas: dill, marjoram, mint, mustard, oregano or savory.
- Potatoes: caraway seed, chives, dill, mint or thyme.
- Rice: cilantro or parsley.
- Summer squash: basil, marjoram or mustard.
- Tomatoes: basil, celery seed, cilantro, dill or thyme.

The Bandera Bulletin

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 6 THURSDAY, AUGUST 22, 1985

Second arrests draw stiff penalties, lawman says

Persons arrested more than once for the same offense probably will receive stiffer penalties the second time around, Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin this week.

Robert Louis Scott, 34, of San Antonio was arrested Sunday for the second time on charges of no proof of liability insurance and driving with a suspended drivers license.

Mingo said because it's the second time around, the case will go to county court. Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $800 on each charge and Scott was released the following day after posting bond.

Mingo said the first time someone is charged with this offense it would go through justice of the peace or municipal court.

Arnold Ray Strickland, 32, of Bandera was arrested on a subsequent charge of felony DWI by Bandera City police officer Joe Rodriguez on Aug. 17. Towers set his bond at $1,500, and he was released the following day after posting bond.

David Brian Kowchuck, 23, of San Antonio was arrested by DPS trooper Nolan Metz on Aug. 18 on a DWI charge. Towers set his bond at $1,000 and assessed traffic fines of $214. He paid the fines and posted bond the following day.

Sandra Sutton Wortan, 22, of Bandera was arrested by trooper Nolan Metz on Sunday for outstanding highway patrol warrants. She was released within two hours after paying fines totaling $270.50 for the three outstanding warrants.

Other action reported by Mingo included an automobile stolen from Sandra Thomas of San Antonio. She reported a man approached her in San Antonio saying he knew where some property she had reported missing in an earlier burglary was hidden in Lakehills.

She told Deputy James MacMillan that they drove to the lake area and he took her to a residence he said his father owned, and told her it was too dark to get the property that night.

She said the next morning she found her car, purse with $300, clothes, and medication gone.

The incident is being investigated by Bandera and San Antonio authorities, Mingo said.

A Bandera man and his son were arrested Aug. 10 in Real County by Sheriff Buck Miller and Real County Constable Burnham Hudson. Jerry Pipkins was charged with driving while intoxicated and his father, Ferrell Pipkins, was charged with public intoxication.

Both were jailed overnight before being released on bond.

Rep. Edge says he favors health warnings on snuff cans

State Rep. Eldon Edge, who represents Bandera County in Austin, says the state of Texas should enact a law requiring a health warning on "snuff cans."

The former Poth superintendent said in a news release this week that Texas and every other state should copy Massachusetts law that forces manufacturers of snuff to put labels on cans and packages that say, "Warning: Use of snuff can be addictive and can cause mouth cancer and other mouth disorders."

Edge said snuff-dipping, particularly among juveniles, is probably more prevalent in Texas than elsewhere. "Snuff use has been a way of life—especially in the West Texas rangelands and South Texas brush country—for generations," Edge said.

He said health experts are warning users that the product can, and often does, cause serious health problems. "The time may have arrived for state and federal authorities to treat the use of snuff the same way they treat cigarette use," Edge said.

Bandera school officials banned the possession of smokeless tobacco on the school grounds beginning with the school year that begins Sept. 3. Cigarette smoking has long been banned from the high school campus.

Playground ready

Amy and Kathleen Overstreet of Austin, granddaughters of Mrs. Opal Boyle of Bandera were among the first to try out the newly-finished playground equipment erected by the Bandera Optimist Club on 11th Street behind the Bandera County Library. At the right, Sully Woodland looks over a model of the equipment with building chairman Bill Hayes Saturday as Optimists worked to finish the first set of playground equipment at the children's park.

Prayer to the Holy Spirit

Oh Holy Spirit, thou art all knowing, who brightens every path that I may reach my ideal; thou who giveth me the Divine Gift of forgiving and forgetting wrongs done unto me and who in every instant of my life art with me, I'd like in this short dialogue to affirm my gratitude for all your blessings and re-affirm once again that I never want to part from thee though the illusion of material things abound. Thank you for your mercy on me and mine. Persons should pray three consecutive days without revealing petitions. Within three days grace will be obtained, regardless of how difficult the petition may be. Publish this prayer once grace attained. Granted for grace attained. B.M. 6-15
