Antique machinery show enthralls Banderan

By Louis F. Postert
Special contributer

Those looking only for high entertainment, music and loud singing would have been disappointed at the Early Day Gas Engine and Tractor Association's antique machinery show near Waco earlier this month.

It was out in an open field and the temperature on the day we attended was just 103 degrees.

We found there an opportunity to make new acquaintenances and friends and to discuss the age and history of the old iron workhorses on display.

Both steam and gasoline tractors were driven about the exhibit area and later paraded for all to see.

There were the big 65-horse steamers and their exact miniatures, all in working and running order. One was less than 18 inches long and displayed in a glass case.

An Advance-Rumely about eight feet long hauled young and old in a small wagon for free. This steam-driven model ran quietly with just a hissing of steam and a slight gear noise. It was fired with wood and, of course, made frequent pit stops to take on water.

After 5 p.m., most folks left for home or a motel room but about 20 of us found a left-handed guitar picker by the name of Steve Mitchel from Decatur.

We sat in the open, on baled hay, while this southpaw picked that guitar and sang, without the aid of an earsplitting microphone, those old Bob Wills, Earnest Tubbs, and Gene Autry songs. When he sang Marty Robbins' "El Paso," you'd think it was Old Marty himself.

Yes, we drank a few cold ones between dusk and 1 a.m.

There were no alcoholic drinks in evidence (a club rule) before 5 p.m. It was a good, clean family show. Several younguns aged 8-12-years were driving big tractors about.

The Postert-Pyka 'Case' Steam tractor, bought in 1912, pulling the Advance-Rumely pre-1900 model thresher made its last run in 1921. I was too young and small to do much more than sit on the Case Steam Engine and feel it rock back and forth (piston rythym) during threshing season.

My life-long dream came true during the show, when Everett G. Greer from Colleyville, let me handle his Nicholson-Sheppard.

"We'll make a trip to the end of the field and back—you steer it," he said. "On our next trip I'll let you handle the reverse, clutch and throttle, and don't forget to pull the whistle if someone's in the way."

A line came to my mind from the near-forgotten Psalm of Life. "Learn to Labor and to Wait."

Yes, I joined that tractor club—I gotta go back next year to see my new-found friends.

Hesson named principal at Medina HS

New Medina School Principal James Hesson says the Bobcat football team looks "real good" and due for a fantastic year, and he predicts changes academically as well as on the athletic field.

The enthusiastic educator says he's "looking forward to the coming school year. It's going to be a good one."

Hesson lives in Kerrville with his wife Nona, a medical technologist at the Kerrville State Hospital, and their three children, Tara, 17, Tracy, 15, and Burke, 13.

They have lived in the Kerrville area for eight years. "My wife is from the (Hill Country) area, and we live on her family's old homestead," he told the Bulletin this week.

He was superintendent of a small school district in New Jersey for 10 years prior to coming to Texas. Since they've been in Texas, he has served as superintendent of the Hunt School District's schools and as principal at Ingram High School since 1980.

A graduate of David Lipscomb College in Nashville with majors in history and education, he went on to Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va., to earn his master's degree.

He has been studying at The University of Texas at San Antonio toward his doctorate in middle management-school administration.

In his spare time he says he enjoys hunting, fishing and sports events.

Carp bait recipe

John Ballard, a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fishery biologist at Denison, said catching carp with homemade doughbait can be productive if the bait is prepared correctly.

Here is the recipe Ballard claims is easy to make and is effective on the wily carp: mix one cup yellow cornmeal, one cup all-purpose flour and a half cup of cottonseed meal in a large bowl; start adding sorghum syrup while kneading the mixture and adding a little water if desired; work the dough until it is tough enough to stay on a number eight springed treble hook.

Ballard said the concoction can be kept in the refrigerator for several weeks if not needed, and water can be added if it dries out.

Fiber may protect against a variety of serious ailments

Fiber may protect against colon cancer and help reduce cholestrol levels in the blood.

Although fiber was once considered "non-essential" to the human diet, recent research has raised its status substantially.

Current information indicates that fiber may offer some protection against medical problems related to diet. These include constipation, deverticulosis (a large intestine disorder), obesity, diabetes, colon cancer, and heart disease.

Fiber is today's popular term for what used to be called "roughage" or "bulk," says the Texas Medical Association. Specifically, dietary fiber is that part of plants that is not digested or is only partially digested by humans.

Foods high in fiber include fruits; green, leafy vegetables such as lettuce, spinach, celery, and cabbage; root vegetables such as carrots, turnips, and potatoes; whole-grain cereals and breads; nuts; and legumes such as peas and beans.

A high-fiber diet can be effective in relieving constipation and promoting more frequent bowel movements. Most helpful are course, tough parts of vegetables and whole-grain products.

Diverticulosis, a bulging of small sacs from the lining of the large intestine, may cause cramping pains and abdominal tenderness. People with it are often put on a diet that includes plenty of fluids, fruits, coarse bread and cereals, and leafy vegetables to produce softer, bulkier stools.

High-fiber, low-calorie foods such as celery, salad greens, and apples may help control obesity. They require extra time to eat and provide bulk in the stomach, which gives a full feeling. They also may delay the return of hunger by slowing down food leaving the stomach. Those same actions can aid in controling some type of diabetes.

Preliminary studies also indicate that fiber may protect against colon cancer by diluting the bowel contents, removing excess bile acids, and providing bulk. Fiber also may help reduce blood cholestrol levels, which can lessen the chances of heart disease.

Researchers cannot yet say conclusively that fiber protects against these diseases. But enough evidence of the possible benefits makes it wise to include moderate amounts of high-fiber foods in your diet, TMA says.

New students due program at Schreiner

Orientation for all new students at Schreiner College begins Sept. 1, according to Jim Munnerlyn, assistant dean of students at Schreiner.

All new students living on campus and new commuter students are expected to pick up their registration packets between noon and 5 p.m. September 1 in the Student Center Building. New student orientation will end with the final session September 3 at 8 p.m. All meals will be provided.

"We expect new students, both residents and commuters, to come to the Student Center on the afternoon of September 1 to pick up registration packets. We will make this a fun and informative orientation period," Munnerlyn said.

The important orientation period will involve getting acquainted with new students, meeting faculty advisors, outlining a selection of courses, registration and several fun activities. Also, resident students may check into their residence halls between noon and 5 p.m. September 1.

Jesse and Dorothy Young

Youngs mark anniversary

Jesse J. Sublett and Dorothy Lee Young were married July 17, 1935, at Orr General Store in Hunt, with the Rev. Orr officiating.

50 years later, on July 12, family and friends joined the Sublett's in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary at Cedar's in the heart of the Hill Country.

A barbecued dinner and dance were enjoyed by over 200 people at the open-air western ballroom where Jesse and Dot have spent nearly every Saturday night each summer since 1932.

The festive occasion was hosted by their four children, Janie Sublett of Kerrville; Gloria Earnest of Rayville, Mo.; Susan Ferguson of Kerrville; and Mike Sublett of Kerrville; and their 11 grandchildren.

People in attendance were from California, Missouri, Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, Austin, Belton, Sabinal, Medina, Madisonville, Fredericksburg, Kerrville, Ingram, Hunt, Egypt, and Mountain Home.

The Bookshelf

By Dr. Jimmie Hughey
Librarian

Things have really been happening at the Bandera County Library these past few weeks.

We were informed that we had been chosen to be the recipient of a $10,000 bequest from the estate of Catherine Dumraese, a very library-oriented lady from East Texas who demanded her executors travel the highways and byways of rural Texas seeking deserving libraries.

We turned out to be one of the chosen ones.

The bequest must be used for books and within the calendar year; and it will be in addition to the regular county budget. Plans at this date are to update the reference section, start building a collection of large print books (both fiction and non fiction), and add to the general collection where needed.

We have also been notified that we are recipient on an Exxon Corporation grant, through William C. Morris, Rio Hondo. This money will be added to other donations to beautify the library grounds.

The county fathers have kindly agreed to fund a sidewalk across the remainder of the front of the Library grounds so that, if we do have rain, patrons will no longer have to walk through the mud.

Also, as you may have read already, the library is due a new, metal, peaked roof, hopefully in the very near future. It will be great to no longer have to relocate two-thirds of the collection every time it rains.

The Community Education Seminars being sponsored by the library seem to be enjoying considerable success, and we intend to continue such adult programming. If you have a topic you'd like to have discussed or would like to share, please let us know.

Kimberly Fetzkos

A girl for the Fetzkos

Frank Fetzko and Susan Ostenson Fetzko, both U.S. Navy personnel stationed at Virginia Beach, Va. are the proud parents of Kimberly Marguerite.

She was born July 9 and weighed seven pounds, six ounces.

Older brother Nate was on hand to welcome Kimberly when she arrived at home.

Maternal grandmother Gloria Carlson and great-grandmother Jeannette Barvosa both reside in Bandera. Paternal grandparents are Marguerite Fetzko of Cinnaminson, N.J. and Frank Fetzko Sr. also of New Jersey.

Heat illness risk higher for children

During summer weather children playing outside run the risk of heat exhaustion.

Children run a higher risk for several reasons, says Dr. Mary Ann Heussner, a health education specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Children are prone to heat illnesses because they have more skin surface for each pound they weigh than adults, so they absorb more heat, she says.

Because children's sweat glands don't work as well as adults until after puberty, their bodies don't regulate temperature as well either. Children also take almost twice as long as adults to get accustomed to different temperatures, explains the specialist.

When children get involved in playing, they may ignore thirst, become overheated, fatigued and dizzy.

To avoid problems with heat illnesses, Heussner recommends that children, and active adults, follow these guidelines:

•Drink at least eight cups of plain water each day.

•Drink at least half a cup of cool water every 15 minutes during the activity. The body absorbs cool water faster than warm.

•Weigh before and after the activity. Drink two cups of water for every pound lost during the activity.

•Drink water, since it is absorbed faster than electrolyte drinks, sodas and juices.

Large squad practicing at Medina

The Cats have only two senior holdovers this year. "We'll be giving lots of players a chance," Dodson said this week while watching a blocking drill.

Medina has 30 players out for pre-school practice, the most in several years. With so many new faces, a lot of shifting around has taken place.

Junior James Parker will take over the quarterback slot and sophmore Jeff Walker, who showed some skill at the position last year, will remain as tail back and sometimes quarterback. Senior tight end Mark Williams will probably be on the receiving end of Parker's air mail attempts and junior Jay Black will again be carrying the handoffs.

A new comer with promise is freshmen Kurt Compton, who will handle the snap and probably see action in the middle of defense.

Another new face is Carl Gibson, a junior who got a late start in football, will be offensive guard and the "monster" on defense.

Charles Anderson returns to fill a tackle slot both ways.

Medina could be a surprise to folks this year. Their 1984 record does not reflect the games that, for various reasons, could have gone the other way and left the Cats winners. At least four times last year games were "so close, but yet so far."

Around the district, Center Point, with 16 starters returning and the all-state talents of Walt Boerner seems to be a shoo-in for the title.

Rocksprings looks like another close runner-up.

The Angoras are always a threat and show a quickness that can be deadly if an opponent makes mistakes.

Last year's champion, Charlotte, will be looking for new talent since they have only three offensive and four defensive men returning.

Leakey, Nueces Canyon and D'Hanis all have substantial returnees and should improve with the experience of last year.

Fish measuring method explained

Special length limits on many fresh and salt water game fish are now making it important for anglers to be aware of how to measure the fish they catch.

Coastal Fishery biologist Gary Standard of Harlingen said the regulations state that the length is "that perpendicular distance from the tip of the snout to the extreme tip of the tail or caudal fin...all measurements are to be made as that straight line distance (not over the curve of the body) with the fish lying on its side with the haw closed in a normal position.

Report confirms lake water waste

By Nick Johnson
Editor

There is a waste and an unauthorized diversion of water from Lake Medina, but "it's all legal," a Texas Department of Water Resources investigation has revealed.

That conclusion was contained in a report of an investigation by the TDWR's district supervisor, Vernon R. (Skip) Francis, of charges by the Medina Lake Protection Association that water was being wasted.

The charges were leveled against the practices of the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Counties Water District, the agency that has rights to the water in Lake Medina and which sells it to irrigators downstream.

The Bulletin obtained a copy of Francis' report this week from the TDWR in Austin.

The charges against the BMA are all true, Francis concluded, but the actions of the water district are all legal or subject to interpretation. "How much tailwater runoff is too much?" Francis asked in his report.

Francis also said the BMA's record-keeping was "poor," and it may be violating its permit by not measuring the flow of water into or out of Chacon Lake and by diverting water into the Nueces River watershed.

The report was dated April 24, but a spokesman in the TDWR told the Bulletin no action has been taken by the department as a result of Francis' investigation.

Robert Johnson of the TDWR's enforcement division said personnel changes in his office have delayed action. "Something's going to happen on it," he told the Bulletin Monday. "It's just that we haven't had time to work on it."

Francis' investigation centered around allegations of Gene Boyd, president of MLPA, that water from Lake Medina was being used for recreational purposes in private ponds and that the BMA uses more water than is authorized.

He said the BMA's overuse of the water led to waste, excessive tailwater runoff and flooding in the Devine area.

Boyd also pointed out that the irrigation company sells water to a residential subdivision at Medina Lake, a practice which Boyd said was not permitted by law. He said the BMA was authorized to sell water for irrigation purposes only.

Francis confirmed that the BMA sells up to 170 acre-feet per year of lake water for the use of the Medina River Shores subdivision in the Wharton's Dock area. The TDWR has issued a permit authorizing the irrigation company to sell the water to the subdivision. "The legality of this...should be addressed by the (TDWR's) general counsel," Francis recommended in his report.

Francis said the canal system maintained by the BMA "is antiquated and several leaks were observed." However, Francis called the leaks "negligible for a system this large." No figures or estimates were given of the amount of water being wasted.

Francis also noted that the BMA is diverting water into and storing water in four ponds not covered by the BMA's current water use permit. "The certification should be amended to include...the four unpermitted ponds," Francis recommended.

He said flatly that the BMA's record-keeping procedures were "poor."

He said individual water users within the district report the types and total acreage of crops they irrigate, but "the total water used for irrigation of an individual site is guesswork," Francis said. "The diversion...for irrigation use by individuals is only an educated

5-foot woman kicks window out of police's patrol car

Although she weighs less than 100 pounds and barely stands five feet tall, Maria Bertha Rodriguez, 25, of Bandera kicked out the window of a city police car.

She was arrested Aug. 24 by Texas Department of Public Safety trooper Dan Butts on charges of disorderly conduct and criminal mischief after she knocked the window out of city police officer Carlos Reyna's patrol car, chief deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin.

Justice of the Peace Bonnie Towers set bond at $500 on each of the charges, and Rodriguez was released nine hours later after posting the bonds.

Bandera County lawmen searched a brush-covered area across from Medina River Ranch near Alligator Hole Monday for a station wagon used in a possible drug drop. The incident was reported to the Bandera County Sheriff's Department. Deputy James MacMillan said, after residents in the area saw a low-flying plane drop a package.

The drop was reported about noon by a woman who said she saw a silver single-engine plane drop a package near Wharton's Dock on the Medina River, MacMillan said. She did not want her name published.

The woman said she saw people place the package in a small, beige station wagon. She was watching the activities through binoculars, she told authorities.

Deputies searched the area after a second call came in to the sheriff's department. Bandera City Police Chief Walter Welch joined three deputies in searching the area. They were hampered by the dense cedar and oak growing on the rough terrain, MacMillan said.

"We weren't able to find anything," he said. "It's entirely possible something happened out there, but we found nothing to go on. Because of the ground area involved, we were unable to find anything. I guess they were just too fast for us, this time," he added.

Sheriff Guy Pickett went to Beaumont this week to pick up fugitive Allen Don Taylor, 23, of Camp Wood. Taylor was indicted for burglary of a habitation by the Bandera County grand jury in May on charges stemming from burglary at a home on the North Prong Road in April.

Taylor failed to appear at a pre-trial hearing in May.

District Judge Robert Barton set bond on the warrant at $10,000. Mingo said Taylor is also being held on an order from the Texas Department of Corrections for parole violations.

Mingo said when Taylor failed to appear at the May hearing, the warrant was entered in the national crime computer. When he was picked up by authorities in Beaumont, they ran his identification through the computer and notified Bandera County's officials that he was in custody.

Roger Dale Chancy, 32, of Medina was arrested Aug. 24 on forgery charges. Judge Towers set bond at $5,000 and he remains in jail this week. His case is expected to go to the grand jury.

Jack Miner Turner, 42, of Hitchcock and John David Abernathy, 19, or Oklahoma were arrested Aug. 26 by Deputy Bob Hines on charges of terroristic threats. Justice of the Peace Herman Rogers issued the warrants for the arrest of the two men. Both men were released the same day after posting the $3,000 bonds set by Rogers.

A handgun was reported stolen on Aug. 28 from the home of Johnny Moore in Medina. Authorities are still investigating the matter.

Professional rodeo opens Friday

The second annual Cowboy Capital Rodeo Friday through Sunday will bring to Bandera some of the top rodeo names nationally, including bull rider Don Gay, an eight-time world champion from Mesquite.

Gay heads a list of some 60 professional bull riders expected for that popular event, just one of eight events on tap each of the three nights.

Kicking off the annual event will be a single steer roping Thursday, Aug. 29 at 8 p.m. at the Mansfield Park Arena.

At 7:30 p.m. each night there will be pre-show entertainment with sky divers.

The rodeo performances will begin each night at 8 p.m. and will feature some 405 professional cowboys and cowboys from all over the U.S. and Canada, vying for some $28,935 in prize money.

World champions such as Roy Cooper, Phil Lyne, Larry Mahan Leo Camarillo, Tee Woolman, Monty (Hawkeye) Henson, Tuff Hedemen, Bobby Berger and Sandy Kirby are planning to participate.

J.G. Crouch, professional rodeo clown and barrelman, will be on hand with his unpredictable and hilarious antics. Sharing the bull fighting honors will be two of the hottest young clown in PRCA rodeo, Mike (Smurf) Houston of Zolfo Springs, Fla., and Chuck Kinney from Sulphur, La.

The clowns will make a special appearance Friday at noon at Boyles Food Store where they will be available for autographs and to pose for pictures with children and other rodeo fans, according to Johnny Boyle.

This years rodeo will be produced by Bad Company Rodeo, Inc., of Sonora. Bad Company Rodeo is owned and operated by Mack Altizer and features some of the outstanding rough stock in professional rodeo, including Big Bend Coors, Saturday Night Live, Indian Killer, Night Moves, Mile High, James Bond, Firecracker, Rojo, Frontier Days, Rock & Roll and The Juice.

In conjunction with the rodeo there will be official rodeo dances Friday and Saturday night with music furnished by Bob Blanford and The Rodeo Men. Sunday night dancing music will be by Bo and The Texas Wailers. The dances will be held at the Cabaret Club in Bandera.

Among the more than 400 pros expected to enter here are two of the more famous performers that now call Bandera home.

Jim Davis of Bandera currently leads all cowboys in winnings in steer roping. Davis will be competing this year in the National Finals in December in Oklahoma. He finished ninth among steer ropers last year.

Larry Mahan, six-time best all-around cowboy from Brooks, Ore., now has a Bandera County ranch and is expected to be on hand for the Cowboy Capital Rodeo.

Prorodeo champions lead a singular existance

No one tells a rodeo cowboy how to pursue his professional career in sports. There are no spring training camps, training tables or bed checks.

No one tells him when to compete, and no one sends him into the "game" or diagrams his plays for him.

He rodeos entirely at his own direction, and will continue to do so as long as he's a PRCA member.

He's a cowboy, not a football player, and he likes to call his own plays. "His self-reliance is one of the sport's deepest traditions," says the PRCA's media guide.

Contending for a world championship, a contestant may compete in up to 125 "official" rodeos each year. I'm told many competing here this weekend, for example, will fly immediately to Walla Walla, Wash., to compete during that city's Southeast Washington fair.

A pro cowboy must constantly balance the factors of his ability and his current ranking in world standings against the parameters of time, distance, expense, and the stock he's drawn.

It's a hectic, fast-paced life during which the cowboy often sleeps only on airplanes and during all-night drives with traveling partners.

It's a singular lifestyle and it's not confined to the cowboy performers. It also includes the clowns, of course, and announcers, bullfighters, stock contractors, producers, pickup men and secretaries.

We seldom think about the officials, but in prorodeo they are also professional.

There are 10 full-time salaried judges in professional rodeoing, and they are supplemented by part-time, reserve officials.

"Like any pro sport, rodeo needs officials employed by the parent organization, in this case the PRCA," an administrator explains.

"Through repetition and instruction, professional officials can become more aware of rules and rule interpretations, resulting in greater consistency in their in-arena decisions."

Professional, full-time officials are the rule in pro sports today, not the exception. Among the major professional sports, only football continues to exist with part-time officials.

That's an enigma when you consider the big-buck television contracts that the football teams enjoy.

Of course, rodeo's roots go back to the trail drives of the 1800s, but it began to come of age as a sport when the cowboys themselves united to form the PRCA in 1936.

Still operated and governed by the contestants themselves, the PRCA today is permanently located in a 30,000-square-foot facility built in 1979 in Colorado Springs.

The rodeo group came of age in 1959, the first year of the National Finals Rodeo, the season-ending, qualification-only rodeo which is the goal of every seriously-contesting PRCA member.

How big is it?

It will move this year to Las Vegas after some 20 years in Oklahoma City. The key factor that caused officials to decide to move was Las Vegas' willingness to guarantee $1.8 million in prize money.

People reveal themselves by the games they play

A view
By Tom Denyer

Everyone talks about life as being like a lot of other things besides life. It's so complicated that people need to make comparisons in order to get a handle on it.

For example, people are always comparing life to some game. You can tell a lot about a person from the kind of game they choose.

Some folks like to talk about a vague "Great Game of Life." It's so overwhelming, they're lost inside of it and don't know what else to call it.

Others seem to lean towards Monopoly. They like to go around and around and collect those two hundred big ones.

Some like the combat and aggression of football, hitting, getting hit, hitting back. They take a penalty now and then, but they keep trying to score before time runs out.

Others lean toward the mellow rhythms of baseball. The action flows, there's always a chance for a rally when you're behind, and the game is truly not over until it's over.

It's a sign of the times that the hottest new game is Trivial Pursuit. You win if you can remember more of the unimportant things in life than anyone else.

I lean to poker. It's a gamble but the odds are fairly clear, and the stakes can run from penny ante to high rolling. When your turn to deal comes around, you get to set the stakes and call the game.

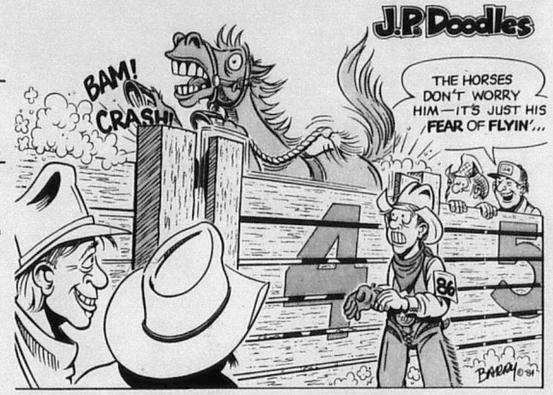

Every now and then you get to bluff your way through.

Everybody has to play the hand they're dealt, and everybody is holding cards they're not showing.

The only problem is, as an old song puts it,

"Sometimes the cards ain't worth a dime
If you don't lay them down."

That's what this column will be about.

Solons feared arousing 'Bubba' when they passed seat belt law

New laws passed by the Legislature last spring will go into effect next week on Sept. 1, including the controversial mandatory seat belt law.

The new law requires the driver and front-seat passengers to wear a seat belt. Although the law goes into effect next week, the fines for violators, which range from $25 to $50, won't be slapped on until after Dec. 1.

All in all, the new seat belt law is minimal and meant to be that way by legislators hesitant of offending the independent Texas driver. No doubt the measure will save innumerable lives, but many legislators did not want to crowd.

Texas passed the seat belt law last spring because of the threat of a federal order to make airbags mandatory in vehicles. The Secretary of Transportation gave the order but provided an out: if enough states voluntarily passed a mandatory seat belt act, no costly airbags would be necessary.

Right away, some legislators were wary of arousing the anger of "Bubba", their mythical stereotype of Texas parochialism, and so attempts were made to water down the proposed law, including an exemption for pickup trucks which didn't stick.

Still the bill passed. Then the governor actually signed it into law at a press conference, and some speculated it was his biggest political mistake yet, bigger than when he raised taxes.

But the next thing you know, there's the governor on TV with a public service announcement telling Bubba he's got to wear his seat belt for his own safety. Bubba got prepared and the governor got some free press.

Next week, Bubba can strap his seat belt on and tell Texas how he likes it, but he'll probably be too busy dodging traffic to think about it.

Blue Law, Fees

The blue law will officially end next week, and Sunday shopping is expected to increase as more retailers stay open that day.

Also in effect will be a new law forbidding an employer to make his help work seven straight days. Employers must allow time off for religious worship.

The long list of fees that legislators increased instead of taxes will take effect Sept. 1, including a six dollar hike for a driver's license, $2.50 for a new inspection sticker, and an extra $75 for personalized license plates.

Anti-Child Abuse

A package of anti-child abuse laws will include:

- An exception to non-admission of hereasy evidence to allow a statement that a child made to the first person 18 or older. Advocates say it will keep a child from testifying in open court and reliving the trauma.
- Tougher penalties for possession of child pornography.
- The availability of criminal conviction records of persons who want to work in child-care facilities or other child-related businesses.

Abortion Law

The new abortion law will require abortion clinics to file annual reports to the Health Department and to submit to periodic inspections by the agency.

The new reporting rules will require clinics to record personal statistics on each patient, the type of abortion and other related information.

The annual fee for an abortion clinic can legally be set as high as $1,000 by the Health Department. Because the Legislature provided no start-up money for the Health Department, it must first collect the fees in order to finance the onsite inspections.

Short Takes

- A federal report on loss of farms shows Texas lost 3,000 farms in 1984. The amount of land in farming dropped by a half-million acres here.
- A recent poll indicated half of all Texans think illegal aliens from Mexico take only jobs that American citizens don't want.
- Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox said he collected $32,655 in fines for overloaded trucks from one Houston trucking company, thereby boosting the total collected to $1.7 million in nine months.
- Texas mortgage foreclosures are more than double the national average and among the highest, according to a private study. Out of every 1,000 home mortgages, 4.3 failed.
- Texas A&M University senior Michael Thomas Ferguson, 22, of Dallas, last week was charged with trying to extort $50,000 by threatening to kill the wife of Rep. Richard Smith of Bryan.
- The Public Utility Commission has denied AT&T Communications' request for $123 million in emergency rate relief and refused to hear an appeal of an administrative judge's ruling.
- The Texas Department of Health has warned that imported Mexican pottery with high lead levels in its glaze has been found in the Houston area. Officials said use of the items for cooking or drinking utensils poses a threat of lead poisoning.

School reform movement is national in scope

Teachers and principals should investigate what information students bring with them to the classroom.

Lawmakers last year scurried about passing bills aimed at improvements in the schoolhouse, but whether any of that massive amount of legislation will affect learning will not be decided until America sees what happens this year, according to the chief executive of the nation's largest school administrator organization.

"The Year of the School, as proclaimed by some alert governors last year, could more accurately be called the year of legislative mandate," reports Scott Thomson, executive director, National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP).

"This September we find ourselves astride a remodeled school vehicle with all cylinders roaring. New maps have been issued, but will we reach our destination?", he asked in NASSP's September issue of its members' newsletter.

This year America must focus upon the quality of the individual classroom if improvement is truly to occur, according to Thomson. Teachers and principals must take the initiatives which have the best chance of bringing about greater student achievement.

"Tougher standards don't guarantee better results," Thomson indicated. "High expectations are fine—even commendable, but success cannot be attained by rhetoric or regulation alone. Success requires a peak performance by teachers and students in the classroom."

Thomson called upon educators to look at recent research regarding classroom success as they prepare for the coming school year. He believes that individualized tutoring, learning styles, and learning histories of students will play an important role in improvement.

One-to-one tutoring is one of the best learning conditions which can be devised, according to Thomson.

"The key features here are that students get immediate feedback on their work, that the teachers review the concepts missed, and that all work is corrected before moving to the next step," he said. "These techniques can be applied in a conventional classroom setting, especially now with the assistance of the newer interactive computer software."

Recent developments on how students learn best, or learning styles, can also play an important role in school improvement, he indicated. New instruments are now being created which outline this research and provided profiles of the ways individual students process information.

"Educators will soon consider such students data essential, as do physicians who always diagnose before offering treatment," predicted Thomson.

Teachers and principals should also investigate what information students bring with them to the classroom, especially since one-half of "a student's achievement in a given grade depends upon the knowledge and skills that student initially brings to class," according to Thomson. That will allow the most appropriate instructional challenges to be offered students.

"Schools are being asked to do more today," he concluded. "We can only succeed, in the long run, by doing a better job. That is why 1986 is the year of the classroom. Otherwise, the year of the school in 1985 will have been an empty slogan for all of us."

Bulldog band 'small, but good'

The number of bandsmen in Bandera High School's Bulldog Band is down about ten members, director Tome Walters said this week.

"It's partly due to the effect House Bill 72 has on students participating in more than one extra-curricular activity," the band director said. "It's really hard on students now to be in athletics and the band both," he said.

"The band's going to be good. The brasses are as strong as we've ever had, the percussions really play well, and the woodwinds will be solid," he said. He expects between 60 and 65 members to the band.

Walters said "the flag and rifle line are as professional as you've seen in the area," Jodie Holen is director of the drill team.

Jake Frazier will be drum major. His first shot at directing the award winning Bulldog Band was on Aug. 22.

The band has been practicing since the first part of August. The first public appearance will be Sept. 6 at the opening football game at Ingram.

We've been invited to be the feature band at a Texas Lutheran College football game on Oct. 26," Walters said. Other appearances this fall will be the UIL Marching Contest in Hondo on Oct. 12, Westlake Invitational Contest in Austin on Oct. 19, and every Friday night at the Bandera Bulldog football games, he said.

Featured tunes this year will be "Night on Bald Mountain;" "Harlem Nocturne" featuring Jake Frazier as soloist on the alto saxophone; "Basin Street Blues," featuring John Fernandez, Kenny Trenckelbach and Ted Celis; and "Pictures at an Exhibition."

"We're really looking forward to performing this year," Walters said. "It's always a pleasure to present our programs to our patrons. They're always so supportive of us and visiting bands," he said.

Band Parent Night will be at the Somerset game Sept. 27. "It's become traditional for the two bands to combine at that game," Walters advised.

Garcia completes training at Lackland

Airman Ronald M. Garcia, son of Octavio Q. and Mary M. Garcia of Bandera, has been assigned to Sheppard Air Force Base, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In additions, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the aircraft maintenance field.

He is a 1982 graduate of Bandera High School.

Childbirth films

Childbirth films, "Everyday Miracle" and Labour of Love" will be shown Aug. 29, at 7 p.m. at the First Federal Savings (formerly University Savings) community room.

For additional information contact Barker at 796-3281.

Immunization clinic scheduled Sept. 4

The Texas Department of Health will have a children's immunization clinic on Sept. 4 from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Bandera.

All immunizations are free. Parents are asked to bring their child's immunization records with them so they can be updated.

Two 49ths celebrated

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Laskowski of Bandera and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Kocurek of Rio Medina celebrated their 49th wedding anniversaries with a champagne brunch at Peacock Alley in the St. Anthony Hotel in San Antonio on Aug. 11.

Arnold Kocurek Jr. and his wife Carolyn joined them for the happy celebration.

Mayan hosts scouts

The Mayan Dude Ranch hosted an end-of-summer pack meeting for the Cub Scouts in Pack 146 on Aug. 21. The Scouts swam in the river and picnicked nearby on hotdogs.

Cub Scouts attending included Branden Culver, Brian Flack, Timmy Henry, Matthew and Joshua Landrum, T.J. Lukachik, Luke Maier, Braun Moseley, and Corey Winfield. Others attending included den mothers Kathy Flack and Nell Landrum, assistant cub master Debbie Culver, and cub master Raymond Adamietz.

The Scouts and their leaders discussed many exciting things for the new school year. "We hope to get more boys interested in Scouting this year," Adamietz said.

Episcopal thrift shop to re-open Sept. 6

St. Christopher's Episcopal Thrift Shop will re-open for the Fall and Winter season Friday, Sept. 6.

"Many items have come in during the summer, so the stock has been updated," says spokeswoman Mary Frisbie.

In the coming months, the shop's Pantry Shelf will feature home-canned and baked goods and a Christmas section, Frisbie said.

The shop will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the first Friday of each month, Frisbie said.

Crafton promoted

Kelly E. Crafton, son of Eula M. Crafton of Bandera, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of technical sergeant.

Crafton is an aerospace ground equipment technician at Mountain Home Air Force Base, Idaho, with the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing.

Water plan

Lower Colorado River Authority directors last week approved a resolution supporting two constitutional amendments which would enact a statewide water plan.

"This is an important issue that is vital to all Texans' interest," said LCRA Chairman John Jones. "These proposed amendments would enact the statewide water program which was approved by the Texas Legislature during its last session.

"Three similar constitutional amendments have previously been defeated in 1969, 1976 and 1981. The Legislature has provided us a fourth and perhaps final opportunity this decade to solicit public support for this important issue to Texas cities and the state economy."

The two amendments are at the top of a list of a dozen amendments that will go before voters November 5.

Amendment 1, notes the LCRA resolution, "proposes innovative finance mechanisms for regional solutions to water supply, water quality, and flood control problems at little or no increased cost to the taxpayer."

Amendment 2, according to the LCRA resolution, "includes significant commitments to managing, conserving, and protecting the state's existing water resources through water conservation measures and ground water management at the local level."

LCRA directors adopted the resolution at its regular monthly board meeting.

Stricker to head CF drive here

Virginia Stricker has been appointed chairman of the 1985 Campaign of the Lone Star Chapter of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation in Bandera.

Stricker, as chairman of this year's campaign, says she will provide the community with pertinent information about Cystic Fibrosis, and with the help of volunteers, raise funds to support research, education and care programs.

Sandy Hearn and Beverly Snow will be working with Stricker and plans are under way for a bike-a-thon to help raise money for this much-needed research.

Cystic Fibrosis is difficult to diagnose and, at present, impossible to cure, Stricker said. "Each day babies are born with this tragic disease that clogs and chokes their lungs, and inhibits their digestive process and growth," she said. "Cystic Fibrosis will eventually take their lives, as it takes the lives of young people each and every day."

Those who would like to help or want to know more about Cystic Fibrosis, may call Stricker at 535-4446.

Trine Fernandez, five year old son, of Mr. and Mrs. Laos Fernandez was critically injured on the Montague Ranch when a stock trailer he was playing on tipped over. When he attempted to jump to safety, he was struck on the forehead by the trailer hitch.

The Aug. 26, 1960, edition of the Bandera Bulletin said he was rushed to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital where he remained in critical condition, having sustained a broken nose and a deep wound on his forehead.

The Bulldog football team practiced twice a week in 1960 prior to the season opener, according to the Bulletin, which also reported the team was shaping up fairly well.

Two boys were missing from the original group. Charles Walker an outstanding offensive and defensive guard, moved to Houston while Scotty Faulkner had quit to work.

Coach Waldrum reported the team had been slowed considerably by minor injuries, bruises, blisters and such, but they would be full strength by scrimmages.

Scrimmage games were announced with North Side High, the Junction Eagles, and St. Mark's School of Texas from Dallas.

A large delegation of Medina residents appeared before commissioners court to discuss the possibility of getting a paved road from Medina to the west part of the county.

The Bandera sale of 38 Angora bucks and eight rams brought $2,310. The billies averaged $52 while the rams average was $42.50.

David Walters sold one Delaine ram for $60 and H.D. Bodie sold two Rambouillet rams for $50. Arthur Davis sold the two high billies in the sale for $100 and $90.

Local golfers may play in Pro-Am

The Pro-Am precedes the Texas Open, the oldest golf tournament on the Professional Golf Association's winter tour.

Entry fee for the Pro-Am is $1,500 and it includes two nights lodging at the new Wyndham Hotel, and area participants will be able to make up their own foursome to play with the pro whose name will be drawn Monday, Sept. 23.

Chamber of commerce hears supporter of hotel-motel tax

A consultant with the Texas Hotel and Motel Association explained the benefits of a tax on hotel and motel bills at the regular meeting Tuesday of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

The chamber has endorsed such a tax in the city of Bandera.

Proceeds from the tax must be used for the promotion of tourism, said Herb Wilson, who was the hotel and motel group's state vice president for 14 years and a former motel owner and operator.

Further discussion of the hotel-motel tax in Bandera is scheduled during the Sept. 9 meeting of the Bandera City Council.

Ken Finley and Cal Chapman, officers of the chamber, stated their group's support of such tax at this month's meeting of the council.

Guests at hotels and motels currently pay a state tax, and state law authorizes imposition of the same tax by municipalities. It would apply only to hotels and motels within the city limits.

In other action at Tuesday's chamber meeting, revised by-laws were approved to give more power to the group's executive committee, clarify procedures for filling vacancies on the chambers board of directors, changing its fiscal year so that it ends Dec. 31, and simplifying job descriptions of officers.

Cinco B Ranch of Medina and N & M Properties of Bandera were accepted as new chamber members.

Karoline Moreland, general arrangements chairperson for the second annual Bandera County Fair, said she is still in need of volunteers to help stage the fair of contestants and sponsors for the Miss Bandera County Pageant and for the competition for Little Mister and Missy Bandera County.

Two chamber representatives will attend a seminar on staging festivals and other special events in October at the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio.

Cinco B Ranch of Medina and N&M Properties of Bandera were accepted as new chamber members.

The seminar is co-sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas, the Institute of Texan Cultures, and the Texas Festival Association.

The next scheduled meeting of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce's board of directors is Sept. 17. "An invitation is extended to all citizens of Bandera County to attend these meeting to see what exciting plans the "new" chamber is up to," says chamber vice president Terry Negley.

guess."

Still, the total amount of water withdrawn from the lake by BMA is accurately measured, Francis reported. A gage is located at the point where water is drawn from diversion lake and put into the BMA's system of canals. It is read both by personnel of the BMA and of the U.S. Geological Survey, and the USGS also monitors printouts of the gage's measurements.

Francis said a BMA employee, Jimmy Patterson, who lives in a district-owned home near the dam, reads the gage daily and reports the flow to field manager Kirk Decker, who gives Patterson instructions on how to adjust the flow to meet the demands of water users.

Francis said the BMA is violating its water use permit by not maintaining a measuring device or any control of the flow of water at the point where waters go into Chacon Lake, which is used for storage.

"(This) is a permit violation and in effect has caused a diversion of water from the San Antonio River watershed (the Medina River) into the Nueces (River) watershed," Francis said.

The BMA reported the use of 51,050 acre-feet of water in 1984, including some 16,000 acre-feet used to irrigate grass and 14,500 acre-feet used to water corn. Figures show the agency used 37,600 acre-feet in 1983.

It is authorized to use 66,000 acre-feet per year. Most of the water used in 1984 was used during May, June and July when 29,500 acre-feet, or 57.8 percent, of the water was used.

The BMA says 1,700 acre-feet went into stock tanks. Francis says the livestock tank requests are filled exactly as requests for irrigation water. The BMA permits no more than 750 acre-feet per year to be used for livestock. "Any violation would be difficult to prove," Francis acknowledged.

He said water in tanks is measured by multiplying the surface area by the depth of water in the pond, but the BMA has no idea how many ponds within the district are being filled from their system.

Many ponds are used for livestock and to hold water for irrigation use, Francis pointed out.

The report said water is held in Ball, Kirby and Person reservoirs in Bexar County and in Pilgram reservoir in Atascosa County. Following irrigation, the canals are drained into these ponds for storage.

Francis was asked by a TDWR staff member to verify the ownership of land to the center of the streambed, and he acknowledged differences of opinion that will have to be settled through legal action.

"According to the (BMA), the district either owns or has an easement in all land under the lake and up to the 1,084 elevation," Francis pointed out.

"Many pieces of land have been sold by quick title and (this) has led to legal questions," Francis reported. "In some cases, the records of ownership or the existance of an easement are in question and will have to be settled by the court."

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
Labor Day for most Americans has become a traditional last-fling-of-the-summer weekend.
On the calendar it marks the eve of another school year, the dividing line between the serenity of summer and the onrush of harsher autumn and winter. In presidential election years it has become the kickoff date of serious campaigning for the nation's highest office.
The day was celebrated first 102 years ago with a parade and labor holiday in New York City instituted by the Central Labor Union at the suggestion of Peter McGuire, a carpenter and one of the two founders of the American Federation of Labor.
Congress passed a bill June 28, 1894, making the first Monday in September a legal holiday to be observed throughout the nation as Labor Day.
Labor Day has no meaning for the small but vocal minority of loafers whose whine is that the world owes them a living.
But it has full meaning for all others — the overwhelming majority — who realize the dignity of work, who labor in dignity and reap just rewards for their efforts...

Boerne taxpayers organize

The Boerne Star reported that the Kendall County Taxpayers League, threatening a lawsuit to roll back property values, became an official organization during a meeting of more than 300 persons at the Kendall County Fairgrounds.

The League is protesting a re-appraisal of all Kendall County and Boerne County Line Independent School District properties which has seen values zoom in many cases to more than 100 percent above 1984 assessments.

The League has sought action by the Kendall County Appraisal Board to throw out the values and fire the firm, Southwest Appraisal Company, that conducted the re-appraisals.

The board, however, turned the request over to its attorney, Chad Muller of San Antonio, who advised the group to "follow the law" and go ahead with a new tax roll based on the controversial re-appraisal.

The League has been signing up members, at $5 per person, to stage its battle against the new appraisals. Officials last week said more than 200 property owners had signed as members.

Burnet water rationing

Billy Dragoo of the Marble Falls Highlander reports that violators of mandatory water rationing in Burnet will get citations beginning this week, and the city manager denies that the city is losing excessive amounts of water.

The mandatory rationing ordinance was adopted at a special council meeting and went into effect last week.

The rationing was imposed because the water levels in the city's wells are dangerously low.

The Carruthers go professional

Ice Capades presents "Hooray for Ice!" at the San Antonio Convention Center Arena, opening on Friday Aug. 30 for 5 performances through Sunday Sept. 1.

Billed as "a colorful, contemporary journey through show business across the world," the glamorous, multi-million-dollar production introduces the brilliant brother and sister pair skating team, Kitty and Peter Carruthers, 1984 Olympic silver medalists and four-time U.S. national champions.

Ice Capades will be conducting local auditions while in San Antonio.

Prospective skaters must be strong in basic jumps and spins and have knowledge and training in figure and freestyle skating, officials said. Those who wish to audition should be at the arena on Wednesday, Aug. 28, at 8 p.m. with their own skates and comfortable skating apparel.

Kerrville Airport may expand

A $450,000 improvement plan for Louis Schreiner Field was approved by the Kerrville-Kerr County Joint Airport Advisory Board last week, according to Michael Bowlin of the Kerrville Daily Times.

Plans call for a 600-foot extension to the main runway and for a new airport entrance off Texas 27. New lighting and fencing are also included in the proposed improvements.

The plans have to be approved by both city and county.

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-3225

Jo and Harold Boord of San Antonio were back up at their riverfront property finishing up the work on their new barbecue pit. They brought extra help with them this time, Ottis and Marie West, long-time friends from San Antonio.

The Singspiration at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Friday drew a large crowd that enjoyed the occasion. After a good work out with their vocal cords, participants joined in a watermelon feast under the big oak tree.

The Women's Missionary Union, made up by the women of Walker Memorial Chapel, had its first get-together Thursday, and there was much enthusiam shown by the large group of ladies who took part in making bandages for Nigeria out of donated cotton sheets. The ladies now have the task of raising money for postage to send the bandages to Nigeria.

Denny Fairbairin is home from the Veteran's Hospital in Kerrville where he underwent surgery.

Joe Baker is also in the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville, undergoing tests to determine what can be done about a knee condition that results in his knee going out of place on occasion.

The first Sunday of the month, Sept. 1, is the day of the covered-dish dinner after worship services at Walker Memorial Chapel.

There will be a dinner at the First National Bank board room on Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. This will be part of the festivities celebrating the first anniversary of the beginning of the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Bill and Audrey Burge of Corpus Christi spent the weekend at their waterfront home in Wharton's Dock prior to taking off on a long vacation trip that will take them to Durango, Colo., and to Evanston, Wyo., Labor Day weekend to visit their son Doug Burge.

They plan to visit the Black Hills and the Badlands of South Dakota and Chatfield, Minn., which is Audrey's home town.

They will be staying with the Lamberts. Audrey's sister Lucy has been here in the Wharton's Dock area many times, and says she likes this country. Audrey's brother, Lloyd, and his wife Donna have been here once, but liked it very much and want to return.

The brothers and sisters have not seen each other for five years, so there will be a lot of catching up to do on this visit. Bill and Audrey plan on being back to their home at Wharton's Dock on about Sept. 15.

Juanita (Sister) Shaffer traveled to Dallas last week to visit with Betty and Charlie Highnote. She returned Saturday with Betty, who drove down to her home here at Wharton's Dock.

Charlie will fly from Dallas on Sunday, and he and Betty will drive back to Dallas on Labor Day.

Mary K. Andreas and her children, Ruby, Lance and J.R., all went to take part in Bubba Cherry's 25th birthday. There was a large gathering of guests, and everyone enjoyed dancing to the live music that was furnished.

There will be a general meeting for all members of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department on Saturday, Aug. 31 at 11 a.m. Lunch will be served after the meeting.

A general meeting is an opportunity for members to voice their opinion on how the department is being run, a spokesman said.

Chris, Gary and their son Aaron Simmons paid a visit to their grandmothers, Juanita Shaffer and Lucy Rogers, at the Copper Lantern. Also visiting with their parents were Ritch and Donna Simmons and a friend Mary Lee Harkins.

Merle and Lucille Welty from Ozona are here visiting with Lucile Searcy and her son Joe and his wife and children who have moved into the Wharton's Dock area with his mother Lucile. Also visiting was Ronnie Searcy.

Dick and Deanie Newman spent a few days at Alegro with their son Ronnie and his two children, Bryan and Laura, and their friends, Seath and Kim Scott from Austin. They drove down with their daughter Andrea Tondrea and her two children, Dustin and Shay, and went to Port Aransas beach where son Ronnie went surf fishing and caught a few speckled trout. They report that the beach was covered with tar balls.

Earlier this summer the Newmans had their grandson Bryan and his friend Seath for a week, then they had Pace and Lana Talley for ten days, and then came their grandchildren Dustin and Shay for a week.

With all the watching and caring for the children, they were still able to celebrate their 40th wedding anniversary on Aug. 25. Johnny and Frances Forehand from Portland, Tx., came in to help on the celebration.

Now for September, Dick and Deanie are going to take off their running shoes and just relax, they hope.

The Lakeshore VFD has Bingo every Wednesday night at the Fire House on Wharton's Dock Road at 7 p.m.

Ethel Smalley, who recently underwent surgerey, is back in her doll house on Wyatt Earp Drive in Lake Medina Shores. Ethel wants to thank everyone who sent cards and flowers and for their many prayers. She was greeted on arrival home by some of her grandchildren who had baked a cake for her with "Welcome Home" emblazoned on it.

Our sympathy goes out to Phil Bledsoe whose mother died in Missouri. Mrs. Bledsoe had been suffering for a long time with cancer.

Harvey Sab has been in the hospital in El Paso the past week. Last report says he will be home any day now.

John Fee stricken

John E. Fee was rushed to the Humana Hospital in San Antonio Saturday morning suffering with a heart attack.

It was reported by a family member that he had had two additional attacks since he was hospitalized. They are presently running tests to see how much damage has occurred.

John's sister, Hoyeese Grobe, was taken to the hospital about two weeks ago suffering from a heart attack also. She is doing better and may get to come home for a while. She is expected to return to the hospital for open heart surgery.

Degree in nursing

Stella Moore received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from Incarnate Word College in San Antonio on Aug. 17. Stella is a former Medina resident.

Visitors

James and Sharon Moore and family were here to visit his mother, Bernice Moore, and other relatives. His sister Stella Moore came up to be with the family also.

James and his family toured Europe before coming here, and they have since returned to their home in Joharta, Indonesia, where James is employed by Conoco, Inc. as a natural gas engineer. His wife Sharon will teach again this year in the international school.

Recent visitors in the home of Wilton and Bobbie Nell Crider were their son Cody and his friend Cathy Coker. They both go to school at Sul Ross University in Alpine.

Cathy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Coker of San Antonio were also visitors.

Weekend visitor at the home of Mrs. Enoch Moffett was her friend, Sue Lee of Pecos.

Other weekend visitors included her daughter, Winifred, and her husband, Don Thomas, and daughter Summer of Hamilton.

It's a girl

Kathleen Rose (Katie) Fitzgerald came into this world at 7:01 a.m., Aug. 23 weighing 5 lbs, 6 oz, and 19 inches long.

She is being welcomed by her parents, Jim and Darlene Fitzgerald; brothers Jason, Jeremy and James; and sister Jody, all of Bandera.

Grandparents are Dayton and Rose Whitehead of Del Rio and James and Kathleen Fitzgerald of Houston. Great-grandmothers are Helen Fuller of Beaver Creek, La., and Jewel (Honey) Loesberg of Bandera.

Katie is the first girl in the Whitehead family since her mom Darlene. Mom and Dad report she's beautiful, of course.

Birthday

Dolores and Jose Uribe and family entertained her mom, Leo Moffett, with a barbecue dinner at their home over the weekend. Other guests were Jim and Eva Grade Keese and Bernice Moore.

Styling seminar

Elayne Mills of Elayne's Hair Styling Salon returned Monday night after attending the World's Fair of Cosmetic Arts and Science in San Antonio.

The two-day seminar was sponsored by Armstrong McCall. Guest artists from all over the country presented innovative trends for hair, nails and skin, Mills said.

A possible record was set for the Guiness Book of World Records for the longest sculptured nail which was approximately 34 inches long, Mill said.

60th anniversary

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Ned Adams will host a 60th anniversary celebration for their parents on Saturday, Sept. 7 from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Medina Baptist Church Fellowship Hall.

Ned and Bill would like to invite everyone to come by and say hello. "We've made it another 10 years," she says. They request no gifts, please.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

The Tarpley area has been running temperatures of 100 to 101 degrees, and the heat and humidity is very uncomfortable. A storm out of the northwest Saturday evening left no rain in the area, however.

Tarpley VFD clean up day

Saturday, Aug. 31, is the final clean up day at the Tarpley Community grounds in preparations for the volunteer fireman's barbecue Sunday, Sept. 1 and the Tarpley school homecoming. Residents are urged to make plans to be there and help make it a great day, and one to remember.

Church services

Sunday school at the Tarpley Baptist Church is at 10 a.m. and the preaching service is at 11 a.m. Sunday evening service is at 6 p.m. The Rev. Jerry Jones is the pastor.

The church house was recently painted and looks very nice as does the Tarpley school house.

Guests

Marie and Donnie Newcomb were dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Dean, Friday night. Their children Molly and Jonathan returned home with them after spending a week with their grandparents.

In the hospital

Leroy Erfurt is ill and in the Veteran Hospital in Kerrville.

Honored

The grandchildren of the Rigdon Terrells of San Antonio hosted a joint birthday party for Virginia Terrell on her birthday Sunday, Aug. 18, and Rigdon Terrell, whose birthday was in July.

This was held at the Terrell's ranch home near Tarpley. Some 60 members of the family and friends attended from Temple, Dallas, Houston, San Antonio and Tarpley.

Barbecue brisket, Sausage and all the trimmings were served, and entertainment for the young people included softball, horse back riding, horse shoe pitching and swimming.

Returned home

The Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Rhines returned Saturday to their home in Rio Hondo subdivision after spending 10 days at the Alto Frio encampment, where they were helping.

An apology

We are sorry that for some reason the Rev. and Mrs. Glenn Rhine's names were omitted from a list of former pastors, recognized on Aug. 18 at the Tarpley Baptist Church. Mark Bender's name was also omitted. He brought special music.

Last Tuesday Gayle and Sue Monier went to Lockhart to take Sue's grandmother, Myrtle Robbins, to Kerrville to make her home at a nursing home in Kerrville.

UTSA pair writes book on Indian artifacts in Texas

You may not know a Frio from an Angostura or a Hoxie from a Jetta, but if you've been caught up in the recent surge of public interest in archaeology, knowledge of the projectile points, or "arrowheads," found in this state is essential to the basic understanding of Texas' first inhabitants.

In the effort to help the hobbyist as well as the professional and avocational archaeologist in identifying and interpreting stone tool collections, two members of the Center for Archaeological Research (CAR) at the University of Texas at San Antonio have written the book, "A Field Guide To Stone Artifacts of Texas Indians."

The co-authors are Dr. Thomas R. Hester, a UTSA professor of anthropology and the center's director, and Ellen Sue Turner, a CAR research associate.

The book was written to serve both as an introduction to the study of stone tools as well as to promote awareness of their scientific importance.

Points are valuable research tools, the co-authors explain, because they serve as "time markers," enabling the scientist to date the deposits at an archaeological site. Points also allow for a better understanding of the life of the Indian who used it. For example, they can show changes in hunting patterns or reveal how the technology may have changed.

The book primarily provides a type-by-type primer of projectile points documented in Texas although some space is devoted to describing the manufacture and use of stone tools and their chronology. Three-hundred pages long and published by Texas Monthly Press, it is filled with detailed illustrations accompanied by descriptions of the points. Each description dates the artifact, includes a map showing where it was found in Texas and lists representative sites.

"We wrote the book for several reasons," said Dr. Hester. "First, there is not a single reference volume for professionals, amateurs and the public that deals with Texas Indian prehistoric artifacts. Such artifacts, usually "arrowheads," are found all over the state by farmers, ranchers, deer hunters and anyone involved in outdoor activities. With this book, we hope to create a better public understanding of our need, as scientists, for these stone tools so as to slow the destruction of Texas archaeological resources.

The book also was authored with scholars and students of archaeology in mind, Hester added. "The previous reference work was published in 1962 and had long been out of print. So, we have added a scholarly dimension to the book, adding new information on the dating of types, references for each type and a rather massive bibliography."

MLVFD barbecue set this weekend

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department is abuzz this week with final preparations for the semi-annual barbecue to be held Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

The Labor Day weekend function has been traditional since the first barbecue was held in September of 1962. At that time the firemen had a building, but it wasn't finished on the inside. The first barbecue was held to raise funds to pay the carpenter to finish the building.

The firemen and auxiliary members expect to serve barbecued beef brisket to approximately 1600 people this weekend.

The doors will open both days at 11:30 a.m. and they will serve until they run out of beef.

A bake sale will also be held in conjunction with the meal. Adults will pay $4 for plates and childrens' plates will be $2.

Last month the fire department announced the purchase of a tract of land about two miles north of the present firehouse on Park Road 37 to be the site of a new main firehouse. They will keep the present firehouse on P.R. 37 and the one on Pebble Beach as substations.

Funds to build the new firehouse will be raised through future barbecues and fundraisers and donations.

EMS Support Team off to rapid beginning

The newly-organized Lakehills EMS Support Team, Inc., has already began functioning, president Peggy Galland said.

"We are now in the process of drafting the by-laws for the organization," she reported. "I am extremely proud to be associated with this project and we—Kay Solomon, Polly Larsen, Ron Basinger, and Nick Pena and myself—have wasted no time in assuming our responsibilities as officers of the organization.

"We hope to have the by-laws ready for public approval early in September," she said.

"Let us reassure the citizens of Lakehills this organization is entirely separate from the Bandera County EMS. The name is Lakehills EMS Support Team, Inc., and we have opened a bank account in that name.

All funds donated to the organization will be controlled entirely by its members and the board it elects. Donations made to the organization will be applied to the construction of the building and to its maintenance.

"None of the money donated to the Lakehills EMS Support Team, Inc., will go to the county EMS account," Galland explained.

Donations can be made payable to Lakehills EMS Support Team, Inc., P.O. Box 524, Lakehills, 78063.

"We wish to publicly thank the residents of Lakehills for their support of this undertaking to provide the EMTs with a place to meet and a garage for the modulance unit. Once again the people of Lakehills have come through," Galland said.

"They have the unique quality of being able to see a problem, find a solution, cut through the red-tape, and get a job done," she said.

She also recognized Crystal and Edward Skolaut for the donation of land as a site for the facility, and Frances Garren for her offer of land, which the group was unable to accept.

Clarks rally at poolside

The children of Johnny and Ruth Clark of Lakehills and San Antonio honored Johnny with a birthday party on Aug. 18. It was held at poolside at the home of A.J. and Kathy Clark in San Antonio.

Ruth said all the children and grandchildren enjoyed lively games and water sports before dining on barbecue and cake. Aug. 18 also marked the 40th anniversary of Ruth and Johnny's first date.

Clark is the grandson of Amasa Clark, the first permanent settler in Bandera.

Oliver completes training in Calif.

Seaman recruit Ollis Oliver completed his U.S. Navy basic training on Aug. 22, at San Diego, Calif.

In a letter to his parents, Roger and Ruby Oliver, the 1984 Bandera High School graduate said, "It's just like school was, like football players, we all have to work as a team. It feels good.

"The best part of graduating from boot camp is marching down the street to (the music of) the U.S. Navy band, keeping in step to the music," he said.

Condolences

Our heartfelt sympathy to Mimi Lavarre and Paul Reed. Mimi recently returned from New Orleans where she attended the funeral of her brother-in-law. Reed's sister Rachel Davis died Aug. 24 in San Antonio.

Our deepest sympathy also to the family and loved ones of Dr. Elizabeth Heisler. She died Aug. 22 at Purple Hills Nursing Home. Her sons Gus Heisler and Adren Heisler, grandchildren Barbara Fagley, Sandy Hearn, Joe and Marion Heisler and their families are all well-known in the Lakehills-Pipe Creek area.

Regatta slated under full moon

The first annual Full Moon Regatta at Lake Medina Aug. 30 and 31 will include a Friday moonlight sail race, Saturday afternoon races, and a Saturday night rock 'n' roll dance and awards ceremony.

The event will be sponsored by Sailboarding Medina Lake, a firm that sells sailboards and teaches sailboarding technique.

Pat Walsh of Sailboarding Medina Lake says all racers must display a full moon and all amateurs and professional sailors are eligible. For more information call Walsh at 751-3608.

Gov. Mark White proclaims hunting, fishing day in Texas

Gov. Mark White has signed a proclamation designating Sept. 28 as Hunting and Fishing Day in Texas.

The annual observance is held in conjunction with National Hunting and Fishing Day to recognize the role of hunters and fishermen in conservation.

Gov. White's proclamation points out the bounteous natural resources found in Texas, but warned that perpetuation of these resources requires a financial commitment.

"One group which has been steadfast in this commitment to conservation is Texas' cadre of sportsmen—hunters and fishermen," the proclamation stated. "Sportsmen finance wildlife conservation programs in a number of ways, including the purchase of various licenses and stamps, and payment of taxes and other fees which ultimately support wildlife and fishery management programs."

Officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department advise Texans interested in Hunting and Fishing Day activities to contact local sportsmen's organizations, or the National Hunting and Fishing Day Headquarters, P.O. Box 1075, Riverside, Conn. 06878.

Densfords Realty expands

Bucky and Ellie Densford will hold a grand opening Saturday, Sunday and Monday for the new offices for Densford Realty Company and model home for Pre-Cut International Homes.

"The model home is a totally new concept in home building and we are very anxious for everyone to see it," Densford told the Bulletin. "Labor Day weekend we will be featuring displays of products for homebuilding."

The new building is located one quarter mile west of FM 1283 on Highway 16 in Pipe Creek. "We hope everyone will come out, have a snack and a cold drink and look at what we have to offer," Densford said.

CLVFD plans party to burn its mortgage

Officials of the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department say with the successful chili cookoff they were able to pay off the debt on their firehouse, and a big mortgage-burning party is being planned, a spokesman said.

A flea market will be held Sept. 14 at Kelley's Shamrock Tavern. To reserve your table call 535-4752 or 535-4659 after 6 p.m.

Neighborhood watch signs and stickers will soon be in and a special meeting will be called so residents of the area can pick them up.

The fire department will hold it's regular meeting on Sept. 7 at 5 p.m. Everyone is encouraged to come and bring a neighbor.

Zimmerman back from Boys State

While at Boys State in Austin, Shane Zimmermann of Pipe Creek became a member of the nationalist party from Hood City.

When the approximately 1,000 boys arrived at Boys State they were assigned a city and political party. Each of the young men attending were either a candidate for an office or a campaign manager.

The week was filled with learning about politics, writing bills to be sent to the senate floor for approval, and getting along with other people, Zimmermann said.

Each of the young men from Texas that attended will be listed in Who's Who Among American High School Students, he said.

Zimmermann will be a senior at Bandera High School this year. He is the son of Sandra and Leon Zimmermann Jr. of Pipe Creek.

Flying L commissions pair of local artists

Three members of the Bandera Arts and Crafts Club were recently commissioned to paint early west, hill country, indian and western scenes to be hung in the new condominiums at the Flying L Ranch.

Olga Bolduc, Vivian Webb and Kay Ferrell were selected and commissioned to do the painting for four condominiums each.

General manager Trevor Yoho of the Flying L said the paintings are beautiful and the management has received many favorable comments from the guests. He said if they had it to do over again, they would probably choose the same artists.

Deer outlook called excellent for archers

The white-tail deer outlook for bowhunters this fall is excellent, said Dr. Dwight Guynn, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The achery season for white-tail deer opens Oct. 5 in Bandera County and throughout most of the state.

Guynn, who is headquartered at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, said, "Deer herds have bounced back from the 1979-80 die-off and numbers are high in most areas of the Edwards Plateau."

Many regions of the Edwards Plateau experienced good rainfall this past winter and well into the summer, he added. "This wet weather provided better-than-average nutrition and resulted in an increased fawn crop," Guynn explained.

Since late July, weather conditions have turned dry and hunters should have deer responding well to baited stands this fall, he said.

"Serious bowhunters should already have begun regular target practice sessions in preparation for the October season," Guynn said. Unlike rifle hunters, who may be prepared after a few sessions at the shooting range, the archer requires much more practice to the strength, reflexes and coordination necessary to deliver the arrow to its target consistently, he said.

State law requires that a bow used in hunting must be capable of shooting an arrow equipped with a broadhead hunting point for a distance of 130 yards, Guynn said. Broadhead hunting points must be at least ⅞ inch in width and not more than 1½ inches in width, he added.

Bowhunters are reminded that arrows must be marked with the name and address of the user in a non-water-soluble medium, he said.

"Crossbows are not considered legal archery equipment," Guynn emphasized.

Bowhunters are not required to use doe permits in addition to their hunting license tag to properly tag does during archery season, he said. In addition, new regulations this year allow the taking of four deer in many counties that previously has a limit of three, Guynn said.

Music salute to Rodgers

Jimmie Gilmore returns to Kerrville Sept. 7 to help celebrate the birthday of his namesake, Jimmie Rodgers.

Rodgers, known as the Father of Country Music, has influenced many musicians, and Gilmore is more than just a namesake. Gilmore's West Texas, lonesome, yodeling sound is often reminiscent of Rodgers' blue yodeling.

The Jimmie Rodgers Jubilee at the Old Kerrville Depot, will also include McDonald Craig, winner of the 1984 yodeling, sing-alike contest; and Van Williams, whose style is similar to Rodgers.

The Poverty Playboys of Kerrville will kick-off the afternoon of music at 1 p.m.

Chamber members joined Ben Nolen and Dorothy Moorman for the ribbon cutting at N&M Properties Friday.

Real Estate office opens

At official ribbon cutting ceremonies Friday, Ben Nolen and Dorothy Moorman opened the offices of N and M Properties. The partnership will feature commercial and recreational properties in the hill country area. Prior to entering into this partnership they were both full partners in Whitney Nolen Realtors.

Nolen says he forsees more growth than ever in the immediate area with the San Antonio-Bandera corridor now open since the widening of Highway 16 is completed all the way from San Antonio to Bandera. "The Bandera area will see more new businesses coming into the area, now that San Antonio is just a few minutes drive from here," Moorman said.

"We're looking forward to serving the people of Bandera," she said.

Nolen has been in the real estate business in Bandera since 1980.

N and M Properties are located on Highway 16 south of Bandera at Polly Peak Road. Office hours are nine to five weekdays, and by appointment on weekends.

Although she has worked in Bandera for two years, Moorman says "I've kept my home in San Antonio, but now I'm looking for a place in the Pipe Creek-Bandera area. I can hardly wait to move out to the hill country."

Wolf Club records another coyote

The Community Wolf Club board of directors recorded one coyote and 11 ferral hogs were caught last month.

The coyote was destroyed on the Rudy Schott Ranch in Lakehills, spokesman Bob Mansfield said.

Hogs were reported destroyed on the Roland Britsch Ranch, Henry Schaffer Ranch, James Kline Ranch, Richardson Ranch, and six on the Harley Odom Ranch.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

An insomniac peering out his window at midnight last Thursday might well have wondered why the Senior Citizen mini-bus was filling up with gas at that time of night. The fact is, 12 seniors (and one junior) were returning from an excursion to Ingram for the Point Theatre's production of "Carousel."

The Rodgers and Hammerstein musical was thoroughly enjoyable, despite an over-enthusiastic orchestra in the pit, and there were requests that the senior center sponsor more trips to see stage productions in the coming season.

Closed Labor Day

The Silver Sage Corral will be closed Monday, Sept. 2, Labor Day, so that the staff may enjoy the holiday. Kerrville's Dietert Claim will not be open, and lunches will not be delivered that day.

Personnel

Revised by-laws were accepted by the Senior Center Advisory Board Friday and new officers and members were elected.

New members are Carter Beach, Dean Isaacs, Martin Smith, Grace Gonzales, Joe May and Doris Dolle.

Officers are Marie Holland, president; Doloras Green, vice president; Doris Dolle, secretary; and Mary Joe Kirkpatrick, treasurer.

The installation of officers will be combined with an Anniversary Tea on Wednesday, Sept. 11 at 2 p.m. at the Center. Amelia Dickens is general chairman for this function.

The board gave special praise to volunteer members of the Host/Hostess organization, and especially the center's volunteer teachers, Harold Sherman for Spanish, Joel Garcia for Spanish and art, Joe May for needle arts, Mary Worley for art, Kay Robinson for autoharp and melodiers, Gloria Carlson for physical fitness, and Doloras Green for crafts for boutique.

Life after Labor Day

Watch for program changes and additions beginning in September.

Start off the fall season with a breakfast at the Silver Sage Corral starting at 7 a.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 3, and goes to 9:30 a.m.

A free blood-pressure clinic will be held Wednesday, Sept. 4, starting at 9 a.m.

Everyone who likes to dance or listen to good dance music will want to flag the calendar for Friday, Sept. 6, when Dr. George Meador's new group, the Silver Tones, will be playing for a free dance from 8:30 p.m. to 10:30 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral.

Please bear in mind that this affair has appeal for all ages, not just senior citizens, and all are welcome.

Gloria Carlson, leader of the physical fitness group, is rearranging her schedule and adding to it a Tuesday-Thursday-Saturday class planned for participants who prefer easy conditioning into the world of physical activity.

The Monday-Wednesday-Friday class members more advanced, give glowing testimonials of their increase in vigor and sense of well-being. Due to the tight scheduling at the Silver Sage Corral, however, the exact times and places have not been determined.

Silver pages

There are some new discount opportunities opening up for senior citizens through a plan called the Silver Pages, similar to the Yellow Pages of Bell Telephone.

Those who sign up applications available at the Silver Sage Corral office will receive a catalog this fall of the area businesses offering discounts to those over 60 years of age.

The plan is being partly sponsored by the Alamo Area Council of Governments and its Area Agency on Aging. The catalog has a magazine format, with many articles of interest and benefit for the older Texan.

It was Marie Holland who arranged to get the fill dirt spread around the Silver Sage Corral for its landscaping in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Keese of Medina, made a donation to the Center recently.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Thunder showers moved through the Canyon Sunday afternoon, dumping some nice showers on residents. It's a start, and we at them state we will get more.

Georgia visitor

Nita Hawkins is back home after spending several weeks visiting her son, Marvin Trayler and family in Georgia. She reported a great time visiting. She had not seen her son in five years.

Nita drove as far as Corpus Christi, spending the night with her daughter, Marva Ann Hill and family, and caught a plane from Corpus to Georgia.

Surgery

Melba Shaw, mother of the Bomer brothers, underwent heart surgery Thursday in the Methodist Hospital during which four By-passes and a heart valve were installed. She is 82 years old and reported doing good.

Her son, Roy, who also has a heart condition, also suffered a heart attack, and is in Intensive Care at Audie Murphy Hospital in San Antonio. He was reported to be slightly improved.

I would like to correct a misprint in last weeks Canyon news.

Nancy Pryor and her husband entertained that group of young people from Bryan with a camp out party at the former Mattie Noel Springs on the Sabinal River.

Mrs. Pryor is a daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Lonnie Webb.

Gale and Linda Hawkins and children of Ft. Worth are spending the weekend with Nita Hawkins.

Sale successful

The Sabinal Canyon Senior Council held a mammoth garage sale in the Community Building on Aug. 16 and 17. Contributions from the entire community filled the building with a variety of items.

The sale was well-attended both days and was declared a huge success by everyone.

Ada Ruth Rieber won a large cooler donated by Boyce and Davenport. Bud Garrett was the winner of a $25 box of groceries donated by the Mercantile. Martha Hans won a Norfolk pine tree donated by Clara B. Wallace.

Many thanks to everyone who participated and helped in making the garage sale so successful. A special "thank you" to Brother Homer Stephens and Charles Paul for all they did to help, and to Charles Bishop for helping restore order to the building.

Grandparents to be cited

America's grandparents have contributed decades of hard work, brainpower and love to our society. Now, with the observation of National Grandparents Day, their contributions are being recognized.

The Texas Department on Aging, in conjunction with the national observation of this holiday on Sept. 8, is providing free certificates of recognition to deserving grandparents all over the state.

These certificates, which are suitable for framing, are signed by Texas Governor Mark White and O.P. (Bob) Bobbitt, the executive director of the Texas Department on Aging.

Churches, schools, community organizations, and senior centers can all use the certificates, which are inscribed with the words "An Outstanding Grandparent," in ceremonies honoring senior citizens in local groups.

Outstanding grandparent certificates can be ordered only through the Texas Department on Aging (write to P.O. Box 12786 Capitol Station, Austin, TX 78711 or call toll-free 1-800-252-9240). The Department on Aging can also provide additional information on the history of Grandparents Day and suggestions for special recognition activities.

The Bandera Bulletin
B Section
VOLUME 41, NUMBER 7 THURSDAY, AUGUST 29, 1985

Drivers warned to take care on highways this weekend

"We've had more than our share of fatalities already this year," Bandera County Sheriff Guy Pickett told the Bulletin. "I hope everyone will take it easy and stay alert over the holiday weekend.

The sheriff says he expects traffic to be heavier in the county this weekend with the three-day holiday. The rodeo in Bandera is expected to bring a lot of people into the county as well as the fire department barbecues at Medina Lake and Tarpley.

"I sure hope motorists will drive safely," Pickett said. Five people have been killed in traffic accidents in the county this year. It was October before we recorded the first fatality in 1984.

The Department of Public Safety estimates that as many as 45 persons may lose their lives in traffic accidents in Texas during the 78-hour Labor Day holiday period.

"This number is an estimate, not a prediction," said DPS Director Jim Adams. "We hope this number will prove to be far too high."

In 1984, 41 persons were killed in collisions during the holiday period, with five others dying later of injuries suffered on the Labor Day weekend.

In an effort to hold down the number of deaths, the DPS again this year will conduct Operation Motorcide, in which the deaths during the period beginning at 6 p.m. Friday, Aug. 30 and ending at midnight Monday, September 2 will be counted with periodic reports being made to the news media.

"Our philosphy is that public awareness of the number of people who are dying on our streets and highways will make drivers more cautious and help reduce accidents," Adams said.

On Sept. 1, Texas' new mandatory safety belt law goes into effect. The law provides a 90-day grace period before fines can be assessed.

Pickett said county lawmen will be enforcing the new seat belt law. "It's a law. We'll enforce it the same as any other law," he said.

"We're hoping Texans will start getting in the habit of using safety belts," Adams said. "If the vast majority of motorists make a conscious effort to buckle up during this Labor Day holiday period, we will see a dramatic decrease in the number of deaths."

Last year, 28 of the 46 persons who died were killed in accidents where speed or drinking were factors, Adams said.

"That amounts to 61 percent of the fatalities for the period," the director continued. "The message to Texas motorists is obvious: speeding and drunk driving kill."

In addition to conducting Operation Motorcide, the DPS will place additional troopers on duty to deal with the higher volume of traffic anticipated during the period.

Youth pleads not guilty in hit-and-run case

Sky Daniel Mattson, 17, of Bandera pleaded not guilty Thursday to charges of "failure to stop and render aid" in connection with the deaths of two pedestrians on Highway 173 on July 24.

Mattson was arraigned before retired judge Myrlin O. Johnson of the 107th Judicial District, on Aug. 22.

Mattson and his bride of five days remained calm and relaxed as the judge handled several items of business before calling his case. The vehicle they drove to the Bandera courthouse still had "just married" painted on the rear window. He married the former Tammy Darlene Whorton in ceremonies in Kerrville on Aug. 17.

Judge Johnson set pre-trial for Sept. 26 at 1:30 p.m.

Mattson was indicted by the Bandera County grand jury on July 26 on charges of "failure to stop and render aid" at the scene of a traffic mishap which claimed the lives of Judy Ann Pina, 22, and Shawn Michelle Tadlock, 26, of Bandera.

According to a relative of one of the victims, the two women had left a bar and pool room known as the Pass on Highway 173 north between Bandera and Kerrville before midnight with Pina's two year old daughter. They had been playing pool earlier in the evening with Tadlock's husband and some friends. The family spokeswoman said apparently Pina's car had broke down and the women were walking south on Highway 173, about seven miles north of Bandera toward Tadlock's home.

Investigating officer for the Texas Department of Public Safety Dan Butts reported Mattson was traveling south bound on 173 when he struck the three some with his 1975 Ford pickup truck.

Two-year old Sammie Jo Pina escaped serious injury, but was taken to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital by Bandera EMS.

Both women were pronounced dead at the scene by Peace Justice Herman Rogers of Medina.

Judge Myrlin O. Johnson set a pre-trial hearing for Sept. 26 at 1:30 p.m.

Mattson told officers he thought he hit a sign and traveled a short distance before he stopped his truck.

Mattson was picked up in Bandera by city officer Joe MacMillan after he (Mattson) called a friend to meet him and bring him into Bandera. Mattson was booked into Bandera County Jail at 2:18 a.m. on July 25.

Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond at $2,000 on charges of "failure to stop and render aid." and Mattson was released around noon the same day.

The maximum penalty on the felony charge if Mattson is convicted, would be imprisonment in a penitentiary for no more than five years and/or a fine up to $5,000.

Tourism meeting set

The 20th annual Texas Conference on Tourist Development is scheduled for Sept. 26-27, 1985 at the Holiday Inn Civic Center (downtown) in El Paso.

Bluegrass festival set during Labor Day weekend

Twelve years ago when Rod Kennedy started his Kerrville Bluegrass and Country Music Festival at Quiet Valley Ranch north of Medina, there were not many Texans who really knew what bluegrass music was. Now, in 1985, two things have changed.

First, Kennedy has staged 11 very successful and musically rewarding Labor Day weekend bluegrass festivals and, second, the influx to Texas from Southeastern states of new residents familiar with bluegrass music has probably doubled the number of potential bluegrass fans in the Lone Star State.

The festivals have grown over the years from 2,000 fans to 10,000 and a happier, more relaxed and friendly crowd would be hard to find anywhere.

While Kennedy presents fourteen out-of-state bluegrass stars and six Texas bands at the festival, the number of musicians in the audience far outways the number who appear in the 26 hours of on stage concerts.

So, "shade tree pickin'," as the informal jam sessions are called, go on every where during the festival and the more accomplished of the amateurs jump into the Music Foundation competitions held each year for mandolin, banjo and bluegrass bands and play on the big stage for nearly $2,000 in prizes and performance contracts.

Each year producer Kennedy has introduced a new professional out-of-state band to his predominantly Texas audience (Hot Rize, Tony Trishka & Skyline, McLain Family Band, Lost & Found, Doug Dillard, etc.) and this year he introduces for the first time the John Herald Band from New York starring songwriter-guitarist-singer John Herald, who wrote "Stewball" for Peter Paul & Mary and was the lead singer for the 1960's Greenbriar Boys, New England's most popular band of the folk era.

Females spark the band in the persons of fiddler Caroline Dutton and dobro ace Cyndi Cashdollar. French banjo star Jean Marc Andres and bassist George Quinn round out the band which has appeared on many national radio and TV shows and just returned from a smash three-week tour of Norway.

Other major stars of the festival include Buck White and his family, The Whites, who are on the national country charts; two major Nashville stars including prize winning fiddler Vassar Clements and banjo star Doug Dillard as well as young multi-championship triple-threat player Mark O'Connor and songwriter-singing star Peter Rowan. Joining these artists are their bands and Pennsylvania's fast rising Whetstone Run, superpicker Norman Blake and his Rising Fawn String Ensemble plus West Virginia's amazing instrumentalists and vocalists known as Trapezoid and the nation's leading autoharp player Bryan Bowers from the state of Washington.

Texas bands include three-time Southwestern champions and current national champions Tennessee Valley Authority from San Antonio, the popular East Texas band Hickory Hill from Avinger, 1984 Southwestern Band champions Tex Sweeney and the Grazmatics from Austin, Ft. Worth's all-girl Dixie Dewdrops, and former champions String Factory Outlet plus Kerrville's homegrown Poverty Playboys who have opened every festival since 1974 at Kerrville.

Special guests include former Bluegrass Boy Joe Stuart from Nashville with veteran Car Sauceman and mandolin champions David Peters from Houston and Paul Kramer from Illinois.

The Music Foundation's competitions during the festival create great excitement and entertainment for the crowd as well as a chance for better players to earn a place in the spotlight. The Buck White International Mandolin Championships and Southwestern Banjo Championships are held on Saturday and the Bluegrass Band Championships on Sunday.

Free camping in the rustic campgrounds of Quiet Valley Ranch is included in the ticket price ($21 three days, $7 Friday, $10 Saturday, $8 Sunday purchased in advance by mail order) and full sanitation and food service facilities are available.

To mail order advance discount tickets or to obtain more information about the August 30-September 1 festival, write: Bluegrass, P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville, Texas 78029, or call (512) 257-3600 after 10 a.m. weekdays. The festival does not permit pets on the grounds.

Weddings and engagements

Fest-Richmond

Grace Lutheran Church was the setting for the candle-light evening wedding on Aug. 17 of Betty Rae Richmond, daughter of Ray and Betty Richmond of Bandera, and John Howard Fest, son of Howard and Peggy Fest of Bandera.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Charles W. Hasselbach of San Antonio.

The rails of the church were entwined in ivy and standing brass candelabras. The altar was enhanced with arrangements of white gladiolas, white spider mums in brass baskets, accented with tear drop candles.

The bride's gown was of white imported silk organza with the bodice of silk brocade, and seed pearls. The skirt had a scalloped overlay of brocade down the front, and back into the train that was an illusion of ruffles. Her bouquet was made of a white cataleya orchid, trimmed with deep mauve and purple roses, stephenatus and ivy. Her orchid was used for her going away attire.

The bride's maid of honor was Kerry Senterfiet of San Benito. Bridesmaids were Robin Park of Ganedo, Kim Compton of Bandera, and Pamela Ross of Needville.

The best man was Greg Fest, brother of the groom. Groomsmen were Charlie Robinson, Bruce Robinson and Lance Fest, all of Bandera.

Ring bearer was Mike Lawless of Needville. Flower Girl was Holly Garrett of McAllen. Ushers and candlelighters were Ray Richmond of Houston, Sean and Mark Garrett of McAllen. Pianist was Glynn Henderson of Harker Heights, and he also accompanied Gerald Boyd and Robin Parks as they sang "To Me". Gerald Boyd also sang and played "Your Song".

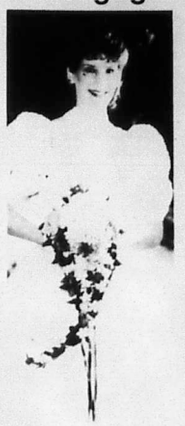

The bride gave her mother and the groom's mother a long stem red rose.

Grandparents attending were Mr. and Mrs. A.J. Dolle of Bandera, and Mr. and Mrs. Jess O. Richmond of Raymondville.

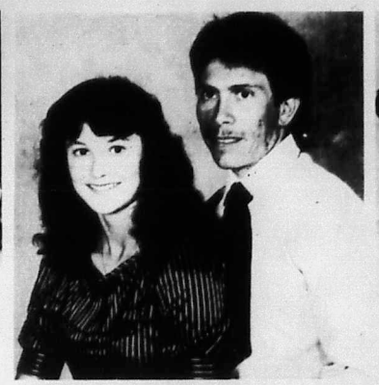

Special guests from out of town attending were Mr. and Mrs. Tim Lawless of Needville, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Garrett of McAllen, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Richmond of Houston, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Henderson, and Holly Marie of Harker Heights; Guy, Jean, Blake and Debbie Hocott of Greenwood, Ark., Mr. and Mrs. Danny Hurd of Harker Heights, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Stoldt of Mesquite, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Keene of Crockett, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Carroll of Premont, Mary Jo Dolle of San Antonio and Hazel Ramsey of San Antonio.

Some 200 people attended the wedding and reception that followed. The bride's cake and groom's cake were baked and decorated by the bride's mother.

The couple are both graduates of Bandera High School and after a short honeymoon in Cancun, Mexico they will make their home in San Antonio.

Mrs. John Fest

Mr. and Mrs. Fain Carroll of Mexia announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Karen, to Lawrence Jureczki of Bandera, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Urban Jureczki of Bandera.

The couple plan to be wed Sept. 14 at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Bandera.

Olivia Andrade of Bandera announces the engagement and forthcoming marriage of her daughter, Marcja Lynn of San Antonio, to Eduardo Stein Jr. of San Antonio, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eduardo R. Stein of Mc Allen.

The couple plan a Sept. 28 wedding in St. Mathew's Catholic Church in San Antonio.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Pioneer High School in Whittier, Calif., and CBM Business School in San Antonio. She is employed by Revco Drug Stores in San Antonio.

Tuition grants available for Bandera County students

If you live in Bandera County, more than $1,000 is available to you in reduced tuition cost if you are a full-time student enrolled for the fall and spring semesters at Schreiner College.

Even if you wish to take only one three-hour course for credit, your tuition will be reduced $100.

These money-saving reductions are offered to all residents of Kerr, Gillespie, Kendall, Bandera, Kimble, Real and Edwards counties who enroll for any number of credit classes at Schreiner, thanks to Hill Country Tuition Grants.

A brief, one-page form is all that is necessary to apply for and receive these savings.

All part-time and full-time students satisfying the residency requirement receive the Hill Country Tuition Grant. These grants never need to be repaid.

Grants are available for the 1985-1986 school year, and registration for the fall term is Sept. 4 from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. in the Edington Center gym for all part-time students. Full-time students will be notified in advance when to register. Classes begin Sept. 5.

IRS has changed its rules for record-keeping

Recent tax legislation changes recordkeeping rules for vehicles used in business operations, including farming and ranching.

Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System, reviews these new rules which are effective with the 1985 tax year.

Adequate records or sufficient evidence to corroborate the taxpayer's own statement must be kept, says Lovell. This means that the IRS cannot require daily contemporaneous logs of the use of automobiles. It also means that taxpayers are not required to maintain trip-by-trip logs and records that include each element of substantiation standards for justifying deductions.

Recordkeeping requirements for cars and pickups for the '85 tax year are the same as before the stringent requirements of the 1984 Tax Reform Act, notes the economist. In some instances, uncorroborated statements by taxpayers have been permitted to support business deductions.

According to Lovell, records completed close in time to when the expense is incurred have much more creditability than evidence created years later, such as in preparation for an adult.

For the 1986 tax year, a taxpayer will have to have adequate records or sufficient evidence corroborating his or her statement to support credits or deductions for "listed" property, including automobiles. The records must substantiate not just the amount of expense, but also the time and place of travel or use of the property and business purpose.

Beginning with the current tax year, taxpayers will be required to answer a series of questions on the appropriate income tax form or schedule regarding business use of vehicles and other listed property, adds Lovell. Even though most questions will be in a "yes" or "no" format, some will require numerical information, such as mileage and percentage of business use.

The Treasury Department is required to issue new regulations about provisions of this tax legislation no later than Oct. 1. Specific questions regarding various provisions of the new law should be directed to a tax accountant or CPA, advises Lovell.

Public notice

No structure or land in the unincorporated areas of Bandera County shall hereafter be located, altered, or have its use changed without first submitting a Development Permit Application Form to the County Administrator. A county-wide application system is a necessary and reasonable action to insure that all necessary permits for development within identified flood hazard areas have been obtained. Additional flood plain data may be generated which will improve the accuracy of flood plain boundary identification.

Since the County will constantly be aware of map changes and additional data, the final responsibility for determining whether a property or development is within an identified flood hazard area must rest with the County. Special Flood Hazard Boundary Maps published by the Federal Insurance Administration delineate only of the major flood prone areas within the County. With a county-wide review procedure, the County Administrator may be able to make recommendations for construction standards which will minimize or eliminate the possibility of damage from a local-size drainage problem. Application forms for development or building may be secured at the office of Permits And Inspections at the Bandera County Courthouse. This application is a flood plain search. The fee as set up by the Commissioners Court is $25. 7-2tc

Steak: It makes a statement

A beef steak dinner can say a lot of things—congratulations, welcome home, happy birthday or we're proud of you, to name a few. But no matter what sentiment you want to express, the underlying message will be "You and this occasion are special."

To let those gathered around your table know just how special you think they are, treat them to prestigious top loin steaks, cooked to perfection on the grill. Cut from the beef short loin section, these steaks are naturally tender, juicy and offer satisfying beef flavor in every bite.

While steak on the grill is one of the most impressive entrees you can serve, it is also one of the easiest. The secret to success is a good fire that gives off even, moderate heat. For steak cooked just the way you like, be sure to pay careful attention to distance from heat and follow the cooking times recommended in the recipe.

Another message you convey with steak on the menu is that you care enough to serve one of the most nutritious foods available. Packed with high-quality protein, B-vitamins and minerals, beef is an important part of a well-balanced diet that should also include fruits and vegetables, dairy products and breads and cereals. To fill the menu's vegetable slot with unique appeal, serve the steak with fresh zucchini and carrot salad that's stuffed with walnuts and marinated in a mustard and dill dressing.

For an impressive and flavorsome entree that's nutritious, too, serve top loin steaks sizzling from the grill.

Broiled top loin steaks

Beef top loin steaks, cut 1 to 1½ inches thick
Salt and pepper

Place steaks on grill over ash-covered coals so 1-inch steaks are 2 to 3 inches from coals and 1½-inch steaks are 3 to 4 inches from coals. Broil at moderate temperature. When first sides are browned, turn and season with salt and pepper and finish cooking the second sides. Turn and season. Steaks cut 1 inch thick require about 12 to 15 minutes for rare and 18 to 20 minutes for medium. Steaks cut 1½-inches thick require 22 to 25 minutes for rare and 28 to 30 minutes for medium.

Note: Steaks can be cooked on rack in broiler pan. In this case, turn steaks after seasoning browned sides.

Crunchy carrot-zucchini salad

2 medium zucchini, cut into julienne strips*
2 medium carrots, cut into julienne strips*
1/2 cup coarsely chopped walnuts
3 tablespoons oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon chopped chives
2 teaspoons Dijon-style mustard
2 teaspoons sugar
1/2 teaspoon dill weed
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/8 teaspoon pepper

Place zucchini, carrots and walnuts in medium-sized bowl. Thoroughly combine oil, lemon juice, chives, mustard, sugar, dill weed, salt and pepper. Add dressing to vegetables, stirring to coat. Cover and refrigerate about 2 hours before serving.

4 servings.

*Vegetables may be prepared in food processor fitted with a square julienne disc. See instruction book for directions.

Soccer registration date set

Among the first youngsters to receive their soccer uniforms were Cody Woodland, Jodie Hearn, Jason Hearn and Kyle Woodland. The popular sport is open to girls as well as boys.

Registration for this fall's junior soccer leaves will be held this Wednesday, Sept. 4, and Saturday, Sept. 7.

Wednesday registration will be from 2 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Bandera Elementary School cafeteria, and Saturday sign-up will be at the First State Bank's community room, according to spokeswoman Cindy Woodland.

"Both boys and girls from ages 5 years to 11 years are encouraged to sign up," said Mrs. Woodland. There is a registration fee of $15, but the maximum any family will be asked to pay is $30. New players must provide proof of age, such as a birth certificate, Mrs. Woodland said.

Players will be divided into three groups according to age. Five- and six-year-old players will play in Division F, seven- and eight-year-olds in Division E, and players from nine to 11 years of age in Division D.

Teams practice on Mondays and Wednesdays or Tuesdays and Thursdays, and games are scheduled for Saturday mornings.

Both practices and games are at the Bandera Electric Co-op soccer fields two miles west of Bandera.

A meeting for coaches has been called for Thursday, Sept. 5, at 7:30 p.m. at the First State Bank. Equipment will be issued and scheduling and procedures will be reviewed, Mrs. Woodland said.

At the close of registration on Sept. 7 the league's player agent will direct a drawing that will determine the team rosters.

Coaches will begin contacting players after the drawing.

The first practices will be on Monday, Sept. 9, and Tuesday, Sept. 10. Team scrimmages are scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 18, and the first game is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 21.

The season will run through Nov. 9 when the finals of the annual Bandera Cup Tournament will be held.

A clinic for coaches and referees will be held Saturday, Sept. 14, from 8:30 a.m. to about 5 p.m., Mrs. Woodland said.

Present and prospective coaches and officials as well as parents are encouraged to attend this free clinic, Mrs. Woodland said.

There is still a need for additional coaches in the younger divisions and more referees are needed to call games in all divisions, she said.

The unidentified Bulldog at the right recovered this fumble, note ball on the ground at the left, during a scrimmage Friday with Canyon at New Braunfels. Coach Danny Neuse expressed satisfaction with the way the Bulldogs performed in the scrimmage, especially the young offensive line. The bad news was the knee injury sustained by offensive tackle Dusty Brittain. He underwent surgery Monday and is out for the season, Neuse said.

Dove season opens Sunday, not Saturday, warden says

Dove season opens in Bandera County Sunday 30 minutes prior to sunrise, not on Saturday, game warden Carlton Becker reminded this week.

"There's going to be lots of confusion over this," Becker said, explaining that deer hunters are used to the hunting season beginning on Saturday morning instead of Sunday.

Becker said that a high concentration of doves were noted in Bandera County about three weeks ago, "but they have moved out and scattered a lot." This is the normal pattern for doves here, Becker said. "There should be lots of doves in the (Rio Grande) Valley when the season opens there on Sept. 20," the veteran game warden said.

Generally, the outlook for mourning doves in the area is fair, says Dr. Dwight Guynn, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Guynn, who is headquartered at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Uvalde, said that mourning dove numbers are reported to be down in some areas of the state. "However, I've been seeing quite a few birds in the Uvalde area and surrounding counties," Guynn said.

The division line between the Central and South zones is Hwy. 87 from Port Lavaca to San Antonio, and Hwy. 90 from San Antonio to Van Horn, Guynn explained.

The best bets for hunters on opening day, he added, would be to look for birds around stock tanks and water holes. These areas should draw birds well due to extremely dry weather during the latter part of the summer making water scarce. Harvested grain fields also provide additional hunting opportunities as mourning doves tend to concentrate around food sources, Guynn said.

The daily bag limit will be 12 mourning doves with a possession limit of 24, he said. Legal shooting hours for mourning doves is one-half hour before sunrise until sunset, he added.

"Hunters should be aware that mourning doves are classified as migratory game birds and therefore come under certain federal regulations," Guynn said. "For example, unlike quail, it is illegal to bait areas or to hunt over baited areas for mourning doves," he advised.

Federal regulations also state that it is not even necessary for a hunter to know that an area has been baited to be in violation of the federal law, Guynn explained.

"In addition, it is illegal to take migratory game birds with rifles or pistols," he said. Shotguns must be "plugged" so they are capable of no more than a three-shell capacity, he concluded.

Becker said hunters in Bandera County may kill two whitewing doves in addition to 12 mourning doves, but they must have a federal whitewing stamp to do so.

The season in Bandera County runs through Oct. 30 and there is a second open season on doves, called the winter season, Jan. 4-13, Becker said.

Fans jam arena here for weekend pro rodeo

Eight-time world champion Roy Cooper didn't win a single event, but he won plenty of cash.

Organizers still don't know how many spectators paid to attend the second annual Cowboy Capital Rodeo Friday through Sunday, but estimates ranged up to 5,000 on all three days.

Jimmy Brazile of Krum, Tex., picked up the largest paycheck, however, when he collected $1,342 for winning the steer roping competition with an aggregate time of 44.5 seconds for three steers.

He picked up additional change in the individual go-round competition.

Byron LeJuene of San Antonio took home $1,006.51 for second in the steer roping competition as well as additional change in the go-rounds.

Oscar Garcia earned $997 for winning the bull riding competition with 78 points, a single point ahead of Toya Bolton of Odessa, who won $747.

Butch Bode of Milano, Tex., won the steer wrestling and pocketed $895, and Darrel Lambert of Abilene won the calf roping in 8.8 seconds to take home $736. Lambert's time was more than a half-second faster than second-place Roy Cooper of Durant, Okla.

Cooper, an eight-time world champion, didn't win a single Cowboy Capital Rodeo championship, but he collected $620 for second place in calf roping, and $782 for tying for first place and $671 for second place in the steer roping go-rounds.

Other winners included Rick Kyle and Brad Raney, who won the team roping and each earned $671; Johnny Barrett, who won the bareback bronc riding title and $439; Monty Henson of Mesquite, Tex., winner of the saddle bronc riding and $404; and Karen Galembra, who won the barrel race and $470.

Sisters Linda and Shayne Felten of Bandera tied with two others for sixth place in the barrel race and each earned $59.

The permanent stands and temporary bleachers were generally full Friday and Sunday evenings and jam packed on Saturday, but officials of the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Commission hadn't determined the number that attended the rodeo by Wednesday.

Cal Chapman, one of those officials, estimated total attendance at between 4,000 and 5,000.

The results:

Steer roping — 1. Jimmy Brazile, 44.5 seconds, 2. Byron LeJuene, 3. Shaun Burchett, 4. Kress Jones.

Calf roping — 1. Darrel Lambert 8.8 seconds, 2. Roy Cooper, 3. Johnny Powell, 4. Guy Miller, 5. Jim Hodge, 6. Arnold Felix.

Steer wrestling — 1. Butch Bode 4.0 seconds, 2. tie between Ed Galemba and Red. Hudnall, 4. Mitchell McMullan, 5. tie between Alan Woodward and Lew Ruse.

Team roping — 1. Rick Kyle and Brad Raney 7.2 seconds, 2. Sterling Price and Bret Boatright, 3. tie between Lynn Kaferkamp and Larry Irvin and Bill Richards and Terry Brown.

Grace Lutheran names Quihi pastor

The Rev. Alwin Becker

The Rev. Alwin O. Becker of Quihi will be installed Sunday as new minister at Grace Lutheran Church in Bandera, succeeding the Rev. David Doerfler.

Rev. Becker is a native of San Antonio and was confirmed at Zion Lutheran Church in Helotes. He earned a bachelor's degree in theology from Texas Lutheran College in Seguin and a master of divinity degree from Trinity Seminary in Parish, Minn.

He has been pastor at Bethlehem Lutheran Church in Quihi.

Becker is married, and he and his wife, Vicki, have two children, Richard, 3, and Callie, 18 months.

The congregation of Grace Lutheran Church will celebrate the arrival of their new pastor Sunday with a barbecue potluck luncheon following the church's 10:45 a.m. service.

The Beckers were at the church in July for an interview.

The new pastor will be installed Sunday by the Rev. Keith Fox, personnel director for the Lutheran Church's Southern District.

School enrollment surpasses 1,200

For the first time ever Bandera Schools had more than 1,200 students enrolled on the first day of school, and for the first time ever the trustees approved a budget for the upcoming year surpassing the $3 million mark.

The budget, okayed Thursday, exceeded $3 million by over a quarter million dollars.

Medina's school showed a slight drop in enrollment Tuesday, compared to the first day of school in 1984. There are 239 students enrolled this year, four students fewer than started school last year.

A total of 1,237 students were enrolled in the three Bandera schools when the doors swung open Tuesday morning. Enrollment at the elementary school campus hit 559, 25 more than on the first day of classes in 1984.

The junior high campus enrollment was 320, compared to 294 in 1984, and the high school had 358 students on the first day opposed to 366 the first day of 1984.

At a special budget meeting Thursday night, the trustees approved a budget for the 1985-86 year totaling $3,271,345. Superintendent Ted Dockery said the budget has increased 13.8 percent over the previous budget. "The majority is in salaries," he said. "They have been increased by $396,371 because of House Bill 72. We have had to add three teachers, a librarian, and a nurse this year," the superintendent said.

"What this will mean to taxpayers, we don't know yet," he said. "We still don't have the 1985 assessed valuation report from the appraisal district," he added. "We hope to have those figures by next week."

The tax rate for the coming year will probably be less than last year's, Doickery indicated, but since the evaluation on property in the district increased, taxpayers will probably pay more in taxes this year. Property was appraised at market value, he explained.

A loss in state funds for the vocational and special education programs means locally-raised funds totaling $77,531 will be needed for those programs.

The budget contains an increase of $24,525 for utilities, insurance, maintenance and custodial supplies.

Other increases include $9,000

Jail inmate eats razor blade

By Lila McMillan
Staff Writer

A stabbing and an attempted suicide by a jail inmate along with a few minor accidents kept area lawmen on their toes over the three-day Labor Day holiday.

A Mexican national was stabbed on the street in front of the 11th Street Lounge about 2:30 a.m. Sunday morning. He had apparently been arguing with another Mexican national when the stabbing occurred.

Pedro Ortega was treated at Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville for a minor stab wound to the lower abdomen and released the following day.

Pedro Marquez Galfez, was reported to have fled the scene on a bicycle. He was arrested Sunday morning by city police officer Carlos Reyna and charged with aggravated assault. Chief Walter Welch and officer Joe Rodriguez investigated the incident at the scene.

Galvez remained in jail Wednesday in lieu of $2,000 bond.

Johnny Munson, 19, of Boerne was being held in the Bandera County Jail for Kendall county authorities when he broke a razor blade into small particles and swallowed them.

A jailer learned of the incident when a trustee delivered a note containing two particles of the blade. "I've cut my wrists and swallowed the blade," the note said.

Munson was treated by EMS personnel for minor cuts on the wrists that required no stitches.

Jail administrator James MacMillan accompanied the prisoner to the Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville where x-rays showed particles of the blade, but no apparent damage.

He remained in the Bandera jail on Wednesday, reported Chief Deputy Ken Mingo.

Munson was being housed in the local jail for the Kendall County authorities on charges of "unauthorized use of a motor vehicle," Mingo said. He's been in Bandera since Aug. 26 under a $10,000 bond. "He spent some time in the local jail in May on forgery charges," Mingo said "we were holding him then for Kendall County also."

A 16-year-old from Bandera was arrested Aug. 31 by Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier on charges of public intoxication and possession of a prohibited weapon. Mingo said he was carrying an illegal knife.

Judge Bonnie Towers set bond at $400 on the weapon charge and assessed a fine of $125 for public intoxication. He was released the following day.

Jerry Dean Huckaby, 37, of Bandera paid fines totaling $87 after he was arrested on Aug. 31 by Deputy DeLesdernier on an outstanding Department of Pub-

Fifth-ranked Bulldogs open season with test at Ingram Friday

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Ranked as highly as third in the state by one magazine and fifth by sportswriters voting in the Associated Press poll, Bandera's Bulldogs take the field Friday to begin the process by which they hope to prove they deserve these lofty ratings —and more.

The opponent Friday will be Ingram's classy Warriors of Class AA, and the kickoff at the Warrior's field will be at 8 p.m.

The Warriors are likely to be outmanned on every part of the field, however, and the only advantage that will be their's is the home-field edge.

Coach Danny Neuse may have his best team ever at Bandera, and that's saying a lot when you reflect that last year's outfit went through the regular season without a defeat, handed two defeats to Hondo's Owls and advanced to area championship before bowing to Columbus' Cardinals.

To match last year's 'Dogs, however, Neuse will be using more of his better athletes on both offense and defense this year, including his most famous charge, bullish Jimmy Compton.

Compton should surpass 4,000 yards in career rushing in Friday's opener. He needs only 66 yards to reach that plateau.

But Compton will line up on defense some 50 percent of the time this year, Neuse says, and that may reduce his playing time on offense, and his heretofore massive yardage totals.

"He says it's fun hitting people who have been hitting him for the last two years," Neuse says. He'll be used a lot on defense, especially egrly when the issue is still in doubt and in key situations, Neuse says.

Still, it is on offense that Compton will be used most often. "About 75 percent of the time," says Neuse.

Neuse doesn't know how strong Compton really is, and if No. 34 is up to it he may be used all the time

from a hill.
By Tom Denyer

Ever since I became a successful journalist several years ago, people stop me on the street and ask, "What does it take to become a successful journalist, like you did several years ago?"

Usually they're not asking for themselves, but for a younger member of the family who is in college and thinking about doing something silly, like accounting or marketing.

Since I share their concern for the younger generation, I always take the time to offer a little free advice. First of all, I say, it helps to be able to write a passable sentence.

Actually there's no longer any worry on that score, since the Texas Legislature spawned House Bill 72. Even if old 72 leaves a few cracks in the educational system, by five years from now there will be word processing software that not only corrects your grammar and spelling, but also translates your thoughts into the style best suited to make you a success.

For example, let's say you're working for the Dallas Morning News or the Kerrville Daily Times and you need a pro-war editorial or an investment tax credit article.

You just throw in the appropriate words, hit the "Print" key, and a sizzling jeremiad comes chugging out of the machine.

The second step is to cultivate some good news sources.

These are people who know what is really going on, and you need them because as a busy, successful journalist, you will not have the time to find out for yourself.

For example, here in Bandera there is a fellow who is typical of such sources. He is the kind of person about whom journalists say, "If he didn't exist, we'd have to create him."

He claims to be a cowboy, and has the truck, hat and boots to prove it. So people confide in him.

His name is Billy Bob Beaudarc. He sets around the county, and is a veritable magnet for gossip and speculation.

So tell that confused youngster that the formula is easy: software and a source, and their future is secure.

Students facing reforms in schools this fall

Last week, as school doors prepared to open for the fall term, Texas seemed to be coming out on the short end of the stick in several ways: too few teachers, too many pupils, and too little financial aid.

Public school students will be facing some of the most farreaching reforms in Texas education this fall, a phase that includes smaller class sizes, new programs for younger students, tougher graduation requirements, and higher standards. And, of course, no pass-no play.

They are also facing a teacher shortage, considered by many Texas educators to be a by-product of the new reforms.

Teachers will also face tougher standards in the form of a competency test, a controversial test that teachers bitterly opposed at the Legislature.

But it's the other measures that are forcing school districts to hire thousands of new teachers.

Years To Come?

The lack of "new hires" is causing Texas educators to fear a shortage of teachers this fall, and school districts are scrambling to fill their slots, even recruiting across the country.

Also, the increase in the number of Texas kids who will need an education, is also increasing the need for more teachers.

Some have dubbed it the "baby boomlet," and it means the teacher shortage will probably be a problem for years to come.

The Baylor University education dean predicted the shortage will last into the "mid 1990s, at least."

No Pass, No Teach

The ranks of incoming teachers is decreasing. In the past year, universities and colleges have screened their students with a basic skills test required to enter a teacher training program. About 35 percent have failed the test.

The teacher competency exam is expected to fail more, but Texas is not producing enough new teachers to fill the vacancies. Some 11,000 teachers leave every year, and we train only 6,000 to replace them.

New Changes

Some of the new changes we will see in the '85-'86 terms:

•NO PASS, NO PLAY: This fall will be the first time this controversial rule has been applied to high school football players.

•NUMERICAL GRADES: Students must be graded with a number, not a letter.

•MORE MATH: High School sophomores will have to take an additional year of math to graduate.

•STATE AID: Poorer school districts will receive more state aid, at the expense of many suburban districts which will probably raise taxes.

•SMALLER CLASS SIZES: The maximum size is 22 students for first and second grade classes.

•TESTING: High School juniors will be given an exit exam to graduate. Teachers and administrators must pass a basic literacy test by June to keep their jobs.

•PASSING AVERAGE: Students must have a 70 average to pass to a higher grade. The practice of promoting students on basis of age is meant to be eliminated.

•DISCIPLINE: Officials have broader authority to crack down on discipline problems, particularly drugs or weapons in schools. School districts must open guidance centers to cope with problem students.

Minority Teachers

Potential minority teachers are doing poorly on the teacher training exams.

Only 203 of 900 black students and 732 of 2,136 Hispanic students have passed the pre-professional skills test which college students must pass before being allowed to take upper-level education courses.

With a third of their potential students hampered there, minority groups have started a "stay in school" program, and they have charged the test are racially biased.

Last week, federal judge William Wayne Justice agreed and ordered Texas colleges to admit all upper-level students who would have been qualified but for failing the test.

Texas Education Commissioner William Kirby said the problem was not in the test, but in the basic education received by minority students. The state may appeal the ruling.

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

Monday evening I joined family members for a boat outing on Medina Lake.

It's always been our favorite way to unwind after a hectic day. After 30 minutes we felt the tranquility that comes with relaxation, the blue of the lake, and the beautiful scenery of the Hill Country.

My thoughts turned to the long court battle between BMA and MLPA.

How could two groups that love the lake and hills get so tangled up in such a long court battle over something like a spillway crossing?

MLPA wants the crossing over the spillway opened so residents who live on that side of the lake can cross it. BMA says their concern is for the safety of those that drive across, residents and visitors to the lake.

Many of us remember when it was open. Sure enough, people were camping on the spillway and children and adults were playing and sliding on it.

One of the last people killed on the spillway was an acquaintance of mine. She came to the lake almost every weekend with a friend. They were wading on the spillway side when she lost her footing and slipped on the rocks and met a terrible fate.

If the crossing were opened to residents, what would prevent more people from using the area for recreational purposes?

Fences and barriers?

Who would pay for them? Medina County, BMA, or MLPA?

In his book "Ripples from Medina Lake," the Rev. Cyril Matthew Kuehne must have had the impression that the irrigation company owned the dam and spillway. Not once does he make any reference to any local, state, or federal government being involved in the ownership of the project.

As a matter of fact, he says Terrell Bartlett, one of the engineers on the irrigation project, said "Great credit is due Dr. F. S. Pearson for his leadership in undertaking and directing the Medina project to successful completion. It is with particular satisfaction, shared by all who assisted in the construction, that it was accomplished without help from local or state government, and without any promotion or requests for subsidies. In other words, it was strictly a business enterprise, planned and financed by businessmen, without government help or control."

Dr. Pearson knew what it was to battle in court. In order to secure the land for the dam, reservoir, and irrigation canals, he had to fight suits in court against property owners that didn't want the project.

He won those battles.

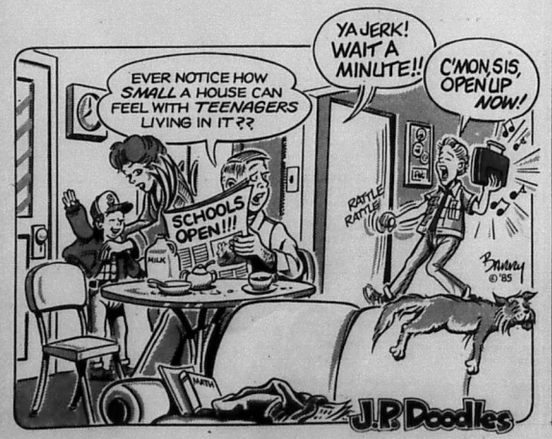

Throughout Father Kuehne's book there is reference made to the oppositions' lawsuits. After the dam was completed, suits were filed to stop the irrigation company from impounding water in the lake. Now suits are threatened to stop the BMA from selling water to the ranchers and farmers for whom the lake was constructed to begin with.

Monday evening as the sun set, there were many boaters taking a last turn around the lake, seemingly reluctant to see the holiday come to an end.

How can something so serene and beautiful as Medina Lake and Dam bring out so much greed and turmoil in man? Wouldn't it be wonderful if a paper belonging to Dr. Pearson could be found that would clarify ownership of the spillway crossing in black and white?

The BMA says they were good neighbors to people on that side of the dam and, as good neighbors, they allowed the use of the crossing. But as the population of the residents grew, so did the dangers of someone being injured or killed on the spillway grow. Therefore they had barriers erected so no one could cross.

Could it be Medina County also did the neighborly thing by maintaining the crossing with its equipment and materials? Seeing that residents on that side may have concluded it must be owned by the county.

Tickets due for violations in school zones, chief says

"We want to advise the public we will enforce laws on motorists driving in school zones and crosswalks," Bandera City Police Chief Walter Welch told the Bulletin this week. "There will be no warning tickets given to people violating the 25 mph school zone speed limit, or anyone who doesn't stop when children, or adults for that matter, are standing in the crosswalks at Cherry and Oak Streets," the chief said. "We'll also be watching for violators in the area of the high school." "Violators will be prosecuted".

He said motorists were very cautious the first two days of school. "We want it to continue," he said.

"There were no incidents involving school children last year, and we want this year to be the same," Welch said. "I'm real proud of the way folks are obeying our speed limits. I just want them to keep it up and stay alert for the kids".

The speed limit in the school zones when yellow lights are flashing is 25 miles per hour. All traffic must stop when kids or adults are in the crosswalks on Main Street at Cherry and Oak streets, or at any crossing, he said.

All traffic must stop when a school bus is displaying alternating red flashing lights. This applies to vehicles following or meeting the bus. Motorists should not proceed until after the lights have been turned off or until the bus driver motions to proceed.

When on a divided highway, drivers are not required to stop across the median from the bus, but the Texas Department of Public Safety recommends drivers reduce speed and proceed with caution, watching for children in the area.

for appraisals, raising the total fee to $74,000, and $8,800 more for supplemental reading, math, science, and social studies and equipment for elementary and junior high.

Duty-free lunch periods for teachers, mandated by House Bill 72, resulted in a $25,000 increase, and computer equipment at the junior high and high school increased the budget by $7,625.

"The district will receive $53,400 less in state aid for the 1985-86 year," Dockery said. "Another first for Bandera schools, local revenue will exceed state revenue," Dockery said. District taxpayers will shoulder 53.45 percent of the cost of the budget, while the state sources will pay 46.55 percent.

The estimated cost per day to educate a child is $16.11. Of that, $8.85 goes to instructional services, which is mostly salaries for teachers and aides. Instructional related expenses will be $1.09 per day per child, while pupil service expense will be $2.15 and administration costs will be $2.37 per day.

At the regular monthly trustee meeting Tuesday, Sept. 18, at 7:30 p.m. the tax rate is expected to be set for the 1985-86 term, Dockery said. The trustees meet in the high school library and the public is welcome to attend.

Frazier elected to head 4-H council

Jake Frazier of Pipe Creek has been named chairman of the Bandera County 4-H Council.

Other officers elected Wednesday, Aug. 28, include Amy Nightingale of Bandera and Tim Wells of Medina, vice chairmen; Shannon Cowsert of Pipe Creek, secretary; Marc Skeen of Bandera, reporter; Frazier and Raegan Mazurek of Utopia, district delegates; Bill Butts of Pipe Creek, alternate delegate.

The council also made plans for the annual 4-H Awards Dinner which will be held Oct. 19 at the Bandera High School cafeteria.

Another Mexican national, Leon Herrera, 29, was arrested Aug. 31 by DPS trooper Dan Butts for driving while intoxicated, driving without a license and no proof of liability insurance. He was released to the Border Patrol the following day.

James Carroll Sharp, 19, of Odessa was arrested Sept. 1 by city officer Rodriguez for public intoxication and disorderly conduct. Judge Towers assessed fines of $125 on each charge.

When his identification was entered into the national crime computer, authorities learned he also had outstanding DPS warrants from Abilene totaling $106. He was released later the same day after paying all the fines.

There were two burglaries, one attempted burglary, and a theft reported in the past week, Mingo said.

Blake Nelson of San Antonio reported someone broke into his place in the Rio Hondo subdivision sometime in the past two months and took tools, household items, and camping gear valued at $1,600.

Fred Seaman of KRRT television in Lakehills reported a five-speed drill press and 40 gallons of gasoline stolen from a storage building at the site where he is installing a television tower. He said the burglary occurred sometime between midnight on Aug. 29 and early morning on Aug. 30.

While Renee Aaron of San Antonio was swimming at the old state park at Medina Lake on Sunday, someone took her purse from her car. She reported her purse contained her wallet, checkbook, camera, car keys and other items.

Gilbert Elizondo of San Antonio reported Sept. 2 someone had attempted to take an air conditioner from his vacation home in Lakehills.

After a thorough search of the premises, the air conditioner was discovered hidden in a storage building. Mingo said the investigating officers were able to lift several fingerprints from the unit.

SASA installs money machine

San Antonio Savings Association has installed an automated teller machine in the Super S store located at 907 N. Main in Bandera.

The SASA Automated Banking Center is the first ATM to be installed in the Bandera Community, a SASA spokeswoman said. SASA customers will be able to use their banking cards at the machine to access their accounts.

SASA has 100 automated banking centers located in South Texas, including more than 65 in Diamond Shamrock Sigmor stores in San Antonio.

The AMTs are also connected to the MPACT and Pulse networks. The MPACT network includes more than 1,000 ATMs in Texas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico. The Pulse ATM network includes more than 3,100 machines in the Southwest.

SASA, headquartered at San Antonio, has been providing financial services in Texas for 64 years. SASA operates 43 offices in San Antonio and surrounding cities.

A boy for the Jennings

Preston and Susan Jennings of Bandera are the proud parents of seven-pound, one-ounce Dustin Dwayne. He was born Aug. 29 at Southwest Methodist Hospital in San Antonio.

Welcoming Dustin into the family are his two sisters, five-year-old Katie Sue and two-year-old Jennifer Ann.

Commodities due to be issued Sept. 10

Government surplus commodities will be issued to income-eligible households at the First Baptist Church in Bandera and the American Legion Hall in Lakehills from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. on Sept. 10.

Recipients will be required to complete an application in order to determine their eligibility and must bring proof of identification and income, said Comellia G. Rue of the Community Council of South Central Texas.

Crop insurance deadline Sept. 30

Monday, Sept. 30 is the last day to apply for crop insurance for barley, oats, and wheat in Bandera County, according to Tom Jean, a representative of the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation.

Crop insurance covers unavoidable loss of production resulting from adverse weather conditions, wildlife, earthquake, or fire.

A new crop insurance plan, called Actual Production History, is available this year to producers of wheat, barley and oats in addition to corn, grain sorghum, peanuts, cotton, rice and other crops, Jean explained. Producers of these crops may now qualify for higher yeild guarantees by proving their yield history. Rates have been developed to offer reduced premium for producers with above-average yields.

"With the increased cost of producing a crop, it makes good sense to take a look at this new concept," says Jean.

To find out more about the APH plan, producers may contact a local, authorized agent. A list of authorized agents is available at the Bandera County ASCS office.

Stevens earns Ph.D

Tim Stevens of Clifton, N.Y., recently received his doctorate degree in English from the City University of New York. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Stephens of Clifton and the nephew of Lena Short of Bandera.

He used a Hays-Fulbright Scholarship to do research for his dissertation in Holland, investigating the influence of 17th century English literature on Dutch literature. A book is to be published soon, written by Stephens on this information.

Worth noting

Girl Scouts seeking members, leaders

"Be a Star in Girl Scouting" is an invitation to all girls and interested adults in the Bandera-Medina area who want to be Scouts and leaders in the Girl Scout program.

An organizational meeting will be held on Thursday evening, Sept. 12, at 7 p.m., in the Bandera Elementary School cafeteria.

All girls from kindergarten through high school are invited to re-register as Girl Scouts or come to the meeting to become new Scouts.

Leaders and assistant leaders especially are urged to share their expertise in organizing kindergarten Daisy troops, first grade Brownies, second grade Brownies, junior high Cadettes and high school Seniors, says spokeswoman Joyce Sellberg.

The third grade Brownies in Bandera are ready to "star" with Joey Kenyon, Linda Beschle, Maryann Trimble and Debbie Wakely as experienced and enthusiastic leaders.

Junior Girl Scouts in Bandera who are fourth and fifth graders are also all set with Beverly Hearn as an experienced and dedicated leader.

Medina girls who want to be Girl Scouts and adults who will volunteer to be their leaders are invited to the Bandera meeting, but may request their own meeting to be held in Medina at their convenience.

Cynthia Greenwood, field executive from the San Antonio Area Council of Girl Scouts, (512) 349-2404, and Sellberg, service unit director for the Bandera-Medina neighborhood, will hold a similar organizational meeting in Medina, if an interest is indicated.

Call Sellberg at 796-3475 for further details.

Bandera Girl Scout leaders met Thursday, Aug. 29, at St. Joseph's Hall with Cynthia Greenwood and Joyce Sellberg to discuss plans for an exciting '85-'86 Scout year. As the green posters around Bandera, Pipe Creek and Lakehills proclaim, "Be a Star in Girl Scouting...the best part's the fun!"

Bandera County
25 years ago
By Lila MacMillan

A delegation of 21 Real County businessmen, Judge Sampson of Leakey, and members of commissioners courts in Bandera and Real County met in Medina at the Rotary Club to discuss the building of a paved highway between Leakey and Medina in late August 1960.

The road, twice designated by the State Highway Department, but to date no action has been taken in Bandera County, the Bandera Bulletin dated Sept. 2, 1960, said.

Real County has already completed the largest portion of the road in their county. They stood ready to complete their end of it up to the Bandera County line, if and when Bandera County decided in favor of it.

It was brought out that action must be taken at once to build the Bandera County end of the road or Real County would pick another route and it might very well be that we would never get the road.

Henry Adams, president of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, encouraged Bandera County residents to contact officials and back the project, even if it meant a bond issue.

Mrs. Burgin Davenport was named general chairman for the annual Fall Festival and Barbecue at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church. The 1960 issue of the Bulletin said folks came from San Antonio, Kerrville, and all over the Hill Country for the event.

The director for the Texas Department of Public Safety announced 29 persons were expected to lose their lives on Texas roadways over the upcoming Labor Day Weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Hicks of the Mayan Ranch were the proud parents of a fine baby daughter, Tracy Lee. She was born Aug. 22, 1966, at Sid Peterson Hospital; the third daughter for the Hicks'. She was also welcomed by three brothers.

In an endeavor to serve Bandera better with fresh, properly refrigerated foods, the Bandera Food Market installed two handsome food cases.

Owner C.W. Rhodes said he installed a new walk-in cooler so as to have a wider variety of fresh seafoods, poultry, and meats. The Bulletin described Rhodes as "one of Bandera's most progressive young merchants," and he said he was planning to make his grocery one of the most modern in the Hill Country.

Bargains advertised that week at the Bandera Food and Bakery included lettuce at 10 cents a head, 10 pounds of potatoes at 69 cents, cabbage 4 cents per pound, ham 35 cents a pound, ground beef 39 cents a pound, two loaves of home-made bread for 39 cents, a dozen donuts 39 cents, and two dozen cookies 35 cents.

Ceremony set Tuesday on Highway 16

City and county officials from Bandera and Bexar counties are expected to join Tuesday, Sept. 10, to symbolically open the rebuilt State Highway 16.

A special Bandera-like celebration, complete with cowboys and buckboards and western bands and pretty girls are on tap for the 9:30 a.m. ceremony being arranged by Jerry Lasater of Bandera.

The public is urged to participate, Lasater said.

Among those expected are State Rep. Eldon Edge of Poth and state highway district engineer R.E. (Raymond) Stotzer Jr. of San Antonio.

The highway has been completed and open for traffic for about a month, but work has continued on the right-of-way.

The complete re-working of the once treacherous stretch of roadway between Bandera and San Antonio has been many years in the making. The final two miles to be re-built was a stretch in Medina County that ends at the Bandera county line southwest of Pipe Creek.

Tuesday's ceremony will take place at the county line where that last stretch of construction began.

Mumps vaccine is effective

Mumps used to be one of the most common diseases of childhood. Since 1967, however, a vaccine has drastically reduced the number of cases in children.

Now, the majority of cases involves adults who have either never been vaccinated or never had the disease, says the Texas Medical Association.

Though usually a mild disease in children, mumps is likely to be more painful and distressing in adults. Complete recovery usually occurs within 10 days, and a person gets the disease only once.

Mumps is caused by a virus that probably enters through a person's mouth. The disease's main symptom is swelling of the salivary glands at the angle of the jaw and up to the ear. Chewing and swallowing may become painful. Early symptoms include fever, diarrhea, loss of appetite, and weakness.

Since viruses are usually spread by touch, mumps will not necessarily spread through the household. But members of the family in close contact with the patient often catch the disease, which strikes two to three weeks after the person is exposed to the virus.

On rare occasions, mumps can cause complications, even in childhood. These include meningitis, encephalitis, and deafness. Rarely, the mumps virus may infect the pancreas, sometimes causing diabetes.

Adult cases of mumps often involve more pain than childhood cases but usually are not as threatening as some cases might indicate. Adult males—and some boys—may experience a painful swelling of the testicles. The swelling usually goes down after a day or two and generally leaves no after-effects. Only in rare cases does this swelling cause sterility.

In adult women and some girls, a less painful inflammation of the ovaries may occur.

The vaccine to prevent all of these problems is generally included in one that also wards off measles and rubella. Called MMR, this recommended vaccine usually is given at about 15 months of age. The mumps vaccine also comes separately, so adults at risk should consider it.

Because the vaccine became available less than two decades ago, it is not yet known if the inoculation will provide life-long immunity.

Pesky fire ants may be useful

Fire ants may not be all bad, research entomologists at Texas A&M University have discovered.

Dr. Winfield Sterling, entomology professor at Texas A&M, has discovered that fire ants relish flies, caterpillars and other insects.

It would be hard to convince most people that the fire ant could be an ally, but Sterling's observations in an East Texas cotton field found that 66 percent of all young boll weevils were killed and consumed by the fire ant. Since the boll weevil is a serious pest, this news should warm the heart of any cotton grower.

Entomologists working in Louisiana report that populations of the Lone Star tick in northern portions of the state have noticeably decreased since the fire ant moved into the area.

Dr. Pete Teel, research entomologist with Texas A&M University offered further proof. He found that the imported fire ant has a significant effect on Lone Star tick numbers. Teel's recent study revealed that fire ants killed and consumed from 26 to 50 percent of the Lone Star ticks, which are serious pests of livestock and humans, from March through June in pasture land in Brazos County.

Predation reached a peak in August when 89 percent of the ticks were killed, and continued into September and October with 72 and 67 percent destroyed by these aggressive ants.

The imported fire ant established residency near Mobile, Ala. sometime around the turn of the century. Most entomologists believe that a few queen ants were accidentally introduced with a cargo shipment from Brazil.

The ant spread along the Gulf Coast states rapidly and precipitated an all-out war, begun in earnest about 30 years ago, between it and the citizens of the United States. The ant seems to be winning. Imported fire ants can presently be found from the Carolinas to Central Texas. Total infested acreage exceeds 225 million acres.

The fact that the imported fire ant possesses a powerful sting and is not reluctant to use it if provoked has contributed to its unpopularity and notoriety. When a fire ant mound is disturbed, worker ants emit a chemical known as an alarm pheromone that rapidly spreads throughout the colony. Within seconds, hundreds of ants pour from the mound, prepared to defend their home to the death. They swarm over the intruder, stinging repeatedly.

When humans are stung, the pain can be intense, depending on individual sensitivity. Hardened, red pustules form at the site of each sting in 88 percent of all cases and may be present for days following the sting.

Stings from fire ants are not rare; residents of Sumter County, Georgia can attest to that. Fire ants abound in the county and reports estimate that 35 percent of the residents are stung at least once during the year. The hospital staff at Ft. Stewart, Georgia estimated, during a one-year study, that 49 percent of all arthropod bites and stings came from this insect.

Perhaps, since this insect could be beneficial, control measures should be taken only after their habitat is considered. Urban areas with heavy foot traffic, such as parks, school yard, home lawns and cemeteries, certainly need to be kept as free of fire ants as possible. In addition, control measures should be taken in hay fields.

Everyone has their own ideas about the imported fire ant and what needs to be done. Whether you consider the fire ant a friend, foe, or a combination of both, one thing is certain—the imported fire ant is going to be with us for a long time to come.

Wildlife tour scheduled

A tour of the Kerr Wildlife Area Tuesday, Sept. 10, will give area residents an opportunity to find out first hand about the research and practical application of the management of white-tail deer.

The tour will cover the topics of habitat management, food sources and antler development, according to Scott Durham, extension agent who is helping sponsor the tour.

It's a project of the extension service's wildlife committee and the Bandera County Soil and Water Conservation District.

Participants will meet at the Soil Conservation Service office on the upper end of Main Street in Bandera at 8:15 a.m. to leave at 8:30 a.m. They will return that afternoon.

Participants are asked to pack a sack lunch. Drinks will be provided by the Bandera County Soil and Water Conservation District, Durham said.

Summers—Furrows to wed Sept. 15

Evelyn Summers and Dave Furrows of Lakehills have announced their plans to marry Sept. 15 at the VFW Hall in Schertz.

Summers has operated Evelyn's Restaurant for four years. She owned a restaurant in Schertz prior to coming to Lakehills.

Furrows is a retired U.S. Air Force major. He moved his home from Massachusetts to Lakehills nine years ago.

The couple plan to do some traveling in the near future, since Evelyn is retiring and the restaurant has been sold.

AARP to resume usual busy schedule

Officers of the Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons are ready for a busy year.

A meeting of the executive board will be held Sept. 16, at 10:30 a.m. at the Legion Hall in Lakehills. All other members are invited to a covered-dish lunch at noon, to be followed by Fun Day activities, June Settlemeyer says.

Everyone is asked to bring a friend and join the fun.

A business meeting will be on Sept. 23 at 1:30 p.m. when all the news of the summer months will be shared and business and legislative matters of interest to AARP members will be discussed.

Another 55 Alive - Driver Improvement Program, with instructor June Settlemeyer, is planned to begin at the Lakehills United Methodist Church on Sept. 24 and 25 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. Anyone interested should contact Settlemeyer as space is limited.

Those completing the course will qualify for a discount on car insurance for three years, Settlemeyer said.

An insurance professional will give an informative talk at the October business meeting.

"We are planning to sponsor a 55 Alive - Driver Improvement Program in Bandera sometime this fall," Settlemeyer said. The date has not yet been set.

Granddaughter for the Grays

Norma and Gib Gray are the proud grandparents of a seven-pound, eight-ounce granddaughter.

Kelsey Nicole Morris was born Aug. 28. Her parents are Brad and Duna Morris of Smyer.

Kelsey is also welcomed into the family by her three-year-old brother Jason and paternal grandparents Nellie and Don Morris of Pipe Creek and San Antonio.

Norma Gray just returned from visiting in Smyer, and she says Kelsey is beautiful.

Marie Tomasini back on porch

Marie Tomasini was missed by many folks in Lakehills while she was in the hospital and recuperating in San Antonio for two months.

She's back at home now and able to get out on the front porch again. She still has to spend a lot of time resting, but it's good to be home, she says.

MLVFD barbecue a success

About 1,300 people were served barbecue plates during the two-day semi-annual barbecue at the Medina Lake Fire Department. Over 50 ladies dressed in red checked blouses with white pants manned the serving line, drink concession and bake sale.

There were 85 donations of baked goods, spokeswoman June Settlemeyer said, they received 40 cakes and 45 pies.

The barbecue has been held twice a year for more than 20 years and is always well-attended. A lot of property owners that live in San Antonio come to Medina Lake just to eat the barbecue.

Outreach Dinner set at Faith Chapel

Another outreach dinner is planned at Faith Chapel on Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. Special guest will be Jay Woodward.

The program will be followed by a salad supper.

"Our last dinner was great," the Rev. Jim Colley said. There is no charge, but an offering will be taken.

The Young Adult Group meet the second Saturday of each month at 4 p.m. for various activities. Next meeting will be at the Pebble Beach, main park. A picnic is planned.

Businesses around the lake welcomed the many visitors over Labor Day weekend. Launch ramps were all stacked at sundown Monday as reluctant boaters headed home. These boat enthusiasts awaited their turn at Red's Cove in Mico. Businesses expect several more busy weekends before the weather causes a drop in boat traffic.

Visitors increasing, Thousand Trails says

Thousand Trails, Inc., a membership resort campground announced this week that a record number of members are visiting the company's Medina Lake Resort near Lakehills.

According to resort services manager, Hal Olson, the company estimates that Thousand Trails members have spent over $136,000 in the Bandera County area over the past six months.

"We are busier than ever," said Olson. "We have hired 15 local residents for the summer vacation season, and we have never seen a more energetic and enthusiastic group of employees," he said.

Thousand Trails has invested $2.2 million in construction at the Medina Lake Resort, Olson said.

Boerne Presbyterians may sponsor PC church

A delegation from the Presbyterian Church in Boerne and Ron Graham with the Presbyterian Council in San Antonio will meet with residents of the Pipe Creek area on Sept. 15 at 4 p.m. at the Pipe Creek Community Center to find out if the community wants and will support a Presbyterian Church.

The meeting is open to anyone interested in forming a church and everyone is urged to attend, says a spokeswoman.

While attending Boys State in June, Shane Zimmermann of Pipe Creek was elected senator for the Nationalist Party, representing the mythical Hood City.

Ted Celis of Pipe Creek also attended Boys State. Both boys were selected to represent the American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills. Both boys are seniors at Bandera High School.

Weddings

Pierce-MacMillan

Jill Renee MacMillan of Lakehills and Troy DeWayne Pierce of Bandera exchanged marriage vows at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church on Aug. 31. Monsignor Ralph Smith officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are James and Lila MacMillan Sr. of Lakehills, and the groom's parents are Charles and Judy Georg of Bandera.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose a white taffeta floor-length gown with a high neckline trimmed in chantilly lace and complimented with seed pearls and sequins.

The sleeves were puffed at the elbow with lace trim and satin bows. The full skirt and train was also trimmed in chantilly lace. Her veil flowed from a caplet of lace enhanced with seed pearls and sequins and was trimmed in lace.

Her bouquet of blue carnations, daisies, and babybreath was on a prayer book used by her mother when she was married 28 years ago.

The bride's sister, Jenny Plaszyk of Lakehills, was the maid of honor and the best man was the groom's father.

Bridesmaids were Donna Heisler of Lakehills and Denise Hundley of San Antonio. They wore floor-length dresses of blue taffeta with gathered elbow length sleeves and high necklines trimmed in lace. They carried sprays of blue carnations with daisies.

Flower girl was Jenny Everett of Bandera. She wore a blue taffeta dress ruffled at the neckline and carried a basket with blue daisies and babybreath.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and boutonniere of white roses. The best man, the father of the bride, and grooms men Ronnie Bigler and Earl Thompson wore tuxedos of gray with tails, striped slacks, grey vests, and striped ascots.

Ringbearer James MacMillan III wore a matching tuxedo. Ushers Joe MacMillan, Derek Rubotton, and Roy Baker wore black tuxedos with white ruffled shirts.

The mother of the bride wore a teal green gown of satin with an embroidered bodice and gathered sleeves. The groom's mother wore a mauve pink two-piece gown with soft pleats. They both wore orchid corsages.

Mary Helen Anderwald, organist, played the traditional wedding selections and the couple's favorite "You've Got A Friend."

There were baskets of white gladiolas, spider mums, carnations, and greenery on each side of the altar. The kneeler where the couple knelt was covered in white satin.

Following the ceremony, a reception and dinner was held at the Lakehills Civic Center where the bride and groom cut the wedding cake, a five-tier cake with white columns separating the third and fourth tiers with white doves entwined in the columns. On top was an ivory cupid with bow. Confections of pastel daisies trailed down the tiers.

The groom's cake was pineapple upside down, baked by his grandmother.

Floral centerpieces of blue and white carnations and daisies with prayer candles forming a circular staircase, punch bowls and a silver coffee service enhanced the cake tables.

The billboard was decorated with pictures of Troy and Jill as they grew from childhood to adulthood.

Bonnie Jones, cousin of the groom, registered the 150 guests at a table covered in blue taffeta with a lace overlay.

Guests attending were from Lakehills, Bandera, Pipe Creek, Helotes, Boerne, Bulverde, San Antonio, Houston, Universal City, New Braunfels, Devine, Bridgeport, Edna, Austin, and Brighton, Mass.

The music console at the Civic Center supplied the music for dancing.

Members of the house party were Jeanne Georg, Shirley Baker, Nancy MacMillan, Michelle MacMillan, and Sherrill Sittre serving the cakes. Gordon Nordland, James MacMillan Jr., John MacMillan, and George Plaszyk tended the bar.

Mr. and Mrs. Troy Pierce

The couple are making their home in San Antonio where the bride is enrolled at CBM College and the groom is employed with the survey department at the Texas Department of Highways and Transportation.

The bride is a 1985 graduate of Bandera High School and the groom graduated from Bandera in 1984.

Risinger-Koteras

Lee Ann Risinger and Richard Alan Koteras, both of San Antonio, were married Saturday, Aug. 31, at Notre Dame Catholic Church in Kerrville with the Rev. R. Robbins officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H.L. Risinger of Kerrville. Dr. Risinger is formerly of Bandera and is a member of the board of directors of the First State Bank in Bandera. The bride's grandmother is Mrs. Hubert J. Risinger of Bandera, a descendant of a pioneer family.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sigmund Koteras of San Antonio.

The bride chose a lace and taffeta ivory gown with a high collar neckline of lace accented with a bodice of lace, seed pearls and sequins. The sleeves were full and puff with ruffles at the elbow and fitted cuffs that come to a point.

The dress had a dropped back and waist with a cathedral train of lace and taffeta and panels of lace, seed pearls and sequins. A matching veil flowed to the bride's waist.

Lee Ann Koteras

The maid of honor was Dina Treadaway, the bride's cousin from Waco, and bridesmaids were friends of the bride, Julie Bernhard of Austin, Carol Braswell of Kerrville, Michelle Wheeler of Kerrville and Clarissa Machon of Houston and Nancy Heriott of Bandera, the bride's cousin.

The maid of honor wore a gown of Matta Taffeta with a drop waist and ruffles off the shoulder of frost rose and flowers for a head piece. The bridesmaids wore similar dresses with a ribbon tying at the waist and ruffles off the shoulder with a ruffle continuing off one shoulder.

The best man was David Koteras, the bridegroom's brother from San Antonio and groomsmen were Mike Wheiles, Robert Sullivan, Terry Sarvis, Hector Chavez and Shorty Pena, all friends of the bridegroom from San Antonio.

Ushers were Brad Risinger of Kerrville, Drew Risinger of Waco, and Chuck Benys of Corpus Christi.

A reception including a buffet dinner and dance followed the ceremony at the High Rafter Ranch in Kerrville, the home of the bride's parents.

After a honeymoon cruise in the Carribean Sea, the couple will reside in San Antonio where the bride is a Realtor with Guy Chipman Company and the bridegroom is a sales representative for Holt Machinery.

Weddings

Lenthe-Rodriguez

The Lakehills United Methodist Church in Lakehills was the setting on Aug. 3 for double-ring vows uniting Anita Ann Rodriguez of Lakehills and Jim E. Lenthe of Huron, Ohio.

Mr. and Mrs. Angel Rodriguez of Lakehills are parents of the bride. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Melton Lenthe of Huron.

The Rev. Joyce Slade solemnized the vows. Helen Ahr of Bandera played the traditional wedding marches, "Endless Love" and her own composition of "Fontasia."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white floor-length gown of silk organza over taffeta with a fitted bodice and high neck line enhanced by seed pearls, lace and rhinestones. The sleeves fitted to the elbow flarred into pleated ruffles. A flat crown Spanish veil of white trimmed in seed pearls tapered into a chapel length train.

She carried a bouquet of white roses and daisies tied with white satin streamers. She wore a new dress, old shoes, a blue garter, and borrowed earrings.

Tracy Ann Lenthe attended the bride as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Melinda Ramirez and Helen Chron. They wore formal gowns fashioned of burgundy and carried nosegays of pink carnations.

Michelle Renee Ramirez was flower girl and Adrian Anthony Rodriguez was ring bearer.

The groom wore a white tuxedo with tails and a ruffled shirt, and a carnation boutonnierre.

Tom Lenthe was best man and groomsmen were Roland Ramirez and Curtis Chron. They wore silver grey tuxedos with pink carnation boutonnieres.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Rodriguez chose a formal gown of shell pink with wide lace insertions, with off shoulder collar and puff sleeves. She wore a pink carnation corsage. Mr. Rodriguez wore a black tuxedo with white ruffled shirt and a white carnation boutonniere.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim E. Lenthe

Keith Ott and Saul Trevino were ushers.

The couple pledged their vows in a heart shaped arch decorated with burgundy and white roses. Keith Ott lit white tapers in a candelabrum that adorned the altar. The couple knelt on a white satin Bible with an inscription on either side in Spanish and English.

The wedding cake was four-tiered with stairways and two satellites. The decor was a bride and groom, wedding bells, pink and burgundy flowers and two love birds holding wedding rings. A champagne fountain bubbled beneath the cake.

The groom's cake was a traditional German chocolate decorated with burgundy grapes.

A reception was held in the fellowship hall of the American Legion Home in Lakehills for 200 guests from Austin, Bandera, Boerne, Center Point, Comfort, Fredericksburg, Houston, Kerrville, Lakehills, Pipe Creek, San Antonio and Huron, Ohio. A buffet was served and dancing was to the music of the Chuck Harrison Trio.

After a honeymoon in New Orleans, the couple went to Kingsland, Ga. where the groom is stationed with the U.S. Navy.

Members of the house party were Mr. and Mrs. Arturo Rodriguez, Melinda Ramirez, Fernando Rodriguez, Mary Jo Eason, Wes Davis Jr. and Irene Lewis.

Jeanine Hicks' betrothal announced by parents on offense and defense, Neuse said.

"The player he was last year (second team all-state) doesn't compare to the player he is this year," Neuse says. "He's a college football player in high school.

"He's bigger, stronger and more intense than last year," Neuse says. He broke several state teenage power lifting records this summer. "His playing time depends on his stamina," Coach Neuse says. "He may not come out of there."

But there's more to the Bandera mystique that has led sportswriters in the state's metropolitan areas to tab the Bulldogs as the fifth-ranked team in Class AAA.

There's big Cliff Bronson, for example, a man who carries a lot of weight (275 pounds) and who is the anchor of an offensive line that may hold the fate of this year's Bulldogs in their collective hands.

They are an all-senior bunch who "must perform" if the 'Dogs are to live up to their pre-season clippings, Neuse says.

Gone are such stallwarts as Bubba Caloss, Chris Elkins, Johnny Obiedo and Steve Langer. They joined Bronson in blasting huge holes in defensive lines that enabled Compton to gain 1,686 yards last year.

But Neuse is proud of the talent he has on hand to replace that foursome, all seniors. "We replaced seniors with seniors," Neuse said. "Hopefully, they will have as much pride, will be driven by tradition as much as last year's seniors," the coach says.

"Bronson has got to be a steam roller," Neuse says. "A dam buster. He's got to be somebody we can run behind in critical situations."

Lining up next to Bronson will be John Gonzales at guard, a man Neuse says has improved a lot. "We have no problems with John Gonzales at guard," Neuse says. "We know he'll hit somebody."

Backing up Gonzales will be Greg McKay and Brad Key, and backup for Bronson will be Tom Mangold.

"We've got two first-rate centers going into the season," Neuse says. Starting Friday will be Bill Holiday, a 6-3, 195-pounder who moved here last year from Goliad.

About equal in Neuse's eyes is Mike Hill. "He had a super scrimmage against New Braunfels Canyon," Neuse said.

Johnny Wedgworth will line up at what is called "quick guard" in Neuse's offense. "He's one of the most improved players we have," Neuse said. "People are going to be surprised at his performance."

Neal Graves, a sophomore, is Wedgworth's backup.

David Mayfield is Neuse's "quick tackle," a man with good size but not much varsity experience.

There's about as much experience and skill in the backfield as there is inexperience up front.

Senior quarterback Jimmy Sides is back to make an encore after an all-district kind of year in 1984, and his experience, quickness, and passing ability are counted on to open up opposing defenses for Compton's more brutish style.

"He looks better in practice than he did winning all-district last year," says Neuse. "We're going to try to highlight his ability to throw the ball," Neuse says. "His speed complements Compton real well, and his leadership abilities were plain last year when he took us to our first district championship," Neuse said.

Junior Scott Caloss, a southpaw, is an excellent backup caller and should see plenty of action.

Like Compton, Sides may see action on defense as a free safety, Neuse indicated.

At tailback, John Miller is back for his last year to add more quickness to the Bulldog running attack. "Between him, Sides and Compton, we have the best backfield we've ever put together," Neuse says. "They are three excellent athletes."

Billy Morris and Chris York ("probably the fastest guys on the team") will also see a lot of playing time at tailback, the coach said.

Greg Marshall, the junior placekicker, and Billy Price will both play at fullback, spelling Compton whenever possible, Neuse said.

Wingback will be Tim Fritsche, a senior that played some last year. "He's a good receiver and a good blocker," Neuse said, both vital skills for a wingback in Neuse's scheme of things.

Greg Fest will get plenty of playing time as backup wingback, however, Neuse said.

David Zickler, 200-pounder and also a good blocker and receiver, will be the tight end, and David Shackelford and Jeff Stoopes, both 195-pounders, will back him up. "We've got good size at tight end," Neuse confirmed.

There'll be three split ends available to be on the receiving end of Sides' aerials, each with their own kind of unique talents.

Mikey Cardenas is a finesse-type receiver with good moves and who "catches anything that comes near," his coach says.

Russell Wells is the deep threat "with lots of speed," says Neuse, and Troy Walker's forte is his blocking.

"Overall, they are the best three receivers we've had," Neuse opines.

But is was the defense in 1984 that carried Bandera to its first recent district title, and it may be the defense that will be called on to prove its current high rating.

It may be equal to the task.

Two all-district performers return in the defensive backfield, the ends are the biggest Neuse has ever had at Bandera, the linebackers may be the most talented he has had, and the tackles are the hardest-working pair he's coached.

Tom Mangold and Jeff Stoopes are the tackles, the key position in Neuse's kind of defensive alignment. They have the challenging assignment of replacing Gene Mathews and Wayne Peck, both first team all-district performers.

Mangold and Stoopes both work hard, and the result has been steady improvement by each.

"They could be as good as any we've had, if they keep improving," Neuse said, and that's good.

Compton joins middle linebacker Marshall and weakside linebacker Greg Fest to form a group that Neuse says contains more talent than any linebacking group he's had.

Shackelford and Zickler will start at the end slots, but they'll get plenty of help from Russell Wells and Gene Barnet. They are a foursome of some size and potential, Neuse says.

Despite the unexpected loss of all-district Gary Watkins, the defensive secondary still has plenty of talent. All-district backs John Miller and Billy Morris are back, and that's bad news for quarterbacks of Bandera's opponents.

They will be joined by Cardenas and Caloss, and Sides, who will see some action at free safety.

Sophomore Chris York is the big surprise in the secondary this summer.

"He may start against Ingram," said secondary coach Kevin Long.

"A lot of credit for our high ranking goes to the Bandera teams of past year," Neuse acknowledges. Being rated high is like being called a complementary name, Neuse says. "It makes you feel good, but now we've got to go out and prove we're as good as people say we are."

Ingram was a bi-district champion last year in its first year in Class AA and has all-district performers at six positions back this year.

Fullback Pete Telford, a 215-pounder, leads the Warrior offensive attack that includes six other returning starters. Telford was also an all-district punter last year.

New Warrior Coach Bruce Faust also has eight defensive starters back, including all-district cornerback Trey Fisher and tackle Jason Poppe. Split end Steve Oeland and defensive end Kevin Mays also landed all-district berths last year.

Ingram is given the co-favorite's role in District 29AA along with Tim Lukachik's Comfort Bobcats and Dripping Springs' Tigers.

Saturday is last day to register to play in youth soccer league this fall

The last day for registering for youth soccer will be Saturday, Sept. 7, from 9 a.m. to noon in the Community Room at First State Bank.

Both boys and girls can sign up, says spokeswoman Cindy Woodland. The registration fee is $15 with a family maximum of $30.

New players must provide proof of age such as a birth certificate.

Players will be divided into three groups according to age, says Woodland, with five and six-year-olds playing in Division F, seven and eight-year-olds in Division D.

Teams practice either Monday and Wednesday or Tuesday and Thursday.

Games are held Saturday mornings beginning Sept. 21 and running until Nov. 9. Both practice sessions and games are held at the Bandera Electric Co-op soccer fields.

Nearly 1,000 gather for biennial Tarpley reunion

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

In 1950 important things happened in the world. Truman told MacArthur to get out of Korea, Fats Domino found his "Thrill on Blueberry Hill," nine-year old John Lennon had not yet discovered the guitar, and the 62-year old schoolhouse in Tarpley permanently closed its doors and consolidated with the Medina Independent School District.

No longer could the Tom Sawyer and Becky Thatcher look-a-likes walk barefooted or ride their horses to school. They put on their boots and rode the bus 14 miles to Medina.

Tarpley students currently attend Bandera, Medina or Hondo schools.

The schoolhouse (which housed primer through 9th and sometimes 10th-grade classes) is now Tarpley's Community Center, and is the hub of all its social activities, including covered dish suppers, Halloween and Christmas parties, and biennial school reunions.

In 1980, Tarpley resident Arthur Erfurt, who attended the school in the late 1930's and early 1940's, his wife Georgia and other ex-Tarpley students formed a school reunion committee. Sunday they held their third reunion.

In anticipation, concerned citizens painted, cleaned and shined up the proud, old schoolhouse. Restoration continued daily and donations are welcome. Particularly needed is a school bell to replace the one that was stolen some time ago.

Every other year, the reunion immediately follows the Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department's annual barbecue and auction on the community center grounds the Sunday before Labor Day.

The Erfurts, Marilyn and Antone Haner, and others heat up the pits about 4 a.m. and get ready for the crowd. The barbecue usually attracts about 900 visitors, and when it's a reunion year, there are 40-50 additional people in attendance.

The food and the music are always excellent. Good and not-so-good boys are auctioned and bought with equal zest. The graduates huddle together for group pictures, take pictures of each other, and have pictures taken of them with their school "chums."

Memories and loud chatter fill the air.

The ex-students are there to remind them of a special time that is no longer and will never be again. "The direction in which education starts a man," said Plato, "will determine his future life."

Erfurt reminisced about the school's softball games, cops'n'-robbers and marbles. "Also," he said, and giggled, "I remember the time somebody brought cuckleberries and rubbed them in the girls hair."

Judge Tom Grant, called "Junior" by his classmates, held court a little differently at the reunion than in Bandera. He set up a bulletin board full of old pictures, diplomas and other memorabilia and a table laden with historical data about the school and Tarpley.

This is where the ex-students and Tarpley's last teacher, Benjamin C. Fleenor, gathered.

A list of student names reads like a Bandera County history book — Billings, Dean, Edwards, Erfurt, Fries, Grant, Hicks, Jeffers, Mansfield, Monier, Purvis, Saathoff, Sandidge, Schmidt, Sprott, Wier — to name a few.

Victor Purvis said he and Tom Grant were in the same combat division in World War II, but were unaware of it until they both returned home.

Eloquent as always, Grant spoke of school discipline. "Punishment was an educational instrument such as a paddle or a switch, or writing on the blackboard 100 times 'I will not chunk spit wads.' "Maintenance was not a punishment thing," he continued. "We were expected to carry firewood and water and dust the erasers."

He remembers reading and being impressed with Thomas Paine's "Common Sense" in the sixth grade in 1934.

"One of the girls in school, Marguerite Fries, told me I had all the characteristics of Thomas Paine," Grant recalled. "In fact," she said, "you are a pain."

"She began to call me a 'pain' or 'painful.' "Girls, at that time, intimidated me," the peace justice admitted.

One of the female ex-students remembers differently. She confided that Grant had upon occasion put paste on the girls' braids.

Leighton Monier, whose youthful appearance belies his 73 years, attended the school from 1918 to 1928. "My mother brought me in our old Model T Ford," he said. "In the winter, we would jack up one hind wheel and pour hot water over the manifold to get it started."

"Berta Johnson (Hicks) was us little folks' teacher," recalls Elzie Dean. "She used the old 'hickory stick' method. Except we didn't have hickory, so she used sycamore."

Another winner in the Anderson family is daughter Linda Anderson Thelfer of Balwin, Michigan. She won two first place and two second place awards with her needlework.

SWT grad

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Knibbe went to San Marcos to attend the summer commencement at Southwest Texas State University on Aug. 17. Their grandson, Michael Tondre, graduated with a bachelor of science degree in agricultural education.

He is a member of Delta Tau Alpha agricultural honor society and was on the Dean's List.

Tondre has accepted a graduate assistantship provided by the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, and will return to SWT in September to pursue studies toward a master's degree.

After graduation ceremonies, Tondre and his parents, Norman and Sarah Tondre, and brother Jeffrey, enjoyed a luncheon hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Knibbe at a New Braunfels restaurant.

The Medina Wolf Club's barbecue Sat. was a big success, it was reported.

The Club Members and the Rotary Members appreciated all the donations for the affair. Without the generous donations of the meat, salad, desserts, drinks and the things to auction, it wouldn't be the success it was.

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Keith spent several days in Colorado this summer. They attended the reunion of the McBrayer family (Mrs. Keith) Keith's family, the McBrayers, a biennial event in Colorado Springs.

Rose Garden Club to meet Sept. 11

The Rose Garden Club of Medina will have its first meeting of the year Wednesday, Sept. 11, at 2 p.m. in the Garden Center.

Manual Flores of Native Designs Nursery will present a program on native plants for winter color.

President Mrs. Curtis Keith and members of the garden club invite friends and prospective members to attend and to share in this new concept of landscape design.

Hostess for the meeting will be Mrs. Woody Ausley, Mrs. Dorothy Keese and Mrs. King Stokes.

Local students earn degrees

Karen Marshall Bishop of Medina was among the 1,078 Southwest Texas State University students who filed for degrees awarded in summer commencement ceremonies Aug. 16 and 17 in Strahan Coliseum.

Bobby L. Williamson, professor of education, was the keynote speaker at Graduate School commencement Aug. 16. There were 168 master's degree candidates.

Alton G. Brieger, who retired Aug. 31 after a 21-year administrative and teaching career at SWT, delivered the keynote address at the Aug. 17 ceremony for bachelor's and associate degree candidates.

Monier was quiet, but had a fondness for motorcycles. Monier, his effervescent wife Bernice, their son Gale and his family (wife Susie and son John) live on ranch and farm the same land Monier's parents brought him to when he was one year old.

Tarpley humorist William 'Willie' J. Schmidt (class of '23) recalls his school days. "It was a big day when you graduated. Except some 'quitunated' instead of graduated'." Schmidt married 1927-graduate Olga Mesch, and they continue to live and work on the family ranch in Tarpley.

One of those who 'quitunated' was Willie's older brother Johnny Schmidt. "I quit school a little early to take over the farm" he said. "Hay had to be cut, and there was a lot of hard work to be done."

Ex-professional rodeo champion Felix Billings, who attended Tarpley School in the 1930s, was one of the more adventurous students. "It was real cold one day and everybody was in the schoolhouse but me," he said mischievously. "I threw a torpedo — which was sort of like a firecracker, except that when you threw it down it burst and made a big noise — down on the concrete foundation."

"All hell broke loose, and all the girls screamed."

"Mr. Austin Smart (the teacher) held a kangaroo court. There was a bunch of girls on the jury, and they convicted me. There were 12 on the belt line and they whammed the hell out of me."

Billings, his pretty wife Lurine and their popular family of young rodeo champions still reside in Tarpley.

Elzie Dean started school in 1921. "You had to be seven," he said. "Berta Johnson, who later became Berta Johnson Hicks, was us little folks' teacher. She used the old 'hickory stick' method. Except we didn't have hickory, so she used sycamore."

Dean met his writer-wife Nettie later when he worked for her father. "I worked seven years for her daddy, just like in the Bible, before we married.

Benjamin Fleenor taught all the grades from 1947 until the school shut down in 1950. Retired for many years, Fleenor and his wife Olga live just outside Bandera. A Tarpley resident said he remembers Fleenor always wore gloves when he drove his car.

Age has dimmed Fleenor's eyes, but his grammar and his mind are sharp. "I favor the one-teacher schools," he said articulately. "I applied the paddle a few times, but only if I had to. You can't do that any more."

He smiled and said, "One of those people I paddled a lot now carries a Bible tucked under his arm."

From 1882 to 1925 there were several schoolhouses in Hondo Canyon (which became "Tarpley" in 1902).

According to 1882 school records, Hondo Canyon's first annual school budget was $72, and there were 21 pupils. Another school was built in 1897.

Teachers at that time were expected to devote all of their time, six days a week to their school or community. They were involved in mothers' clubs, reading circles and libraries. They planted trees, scrubbed and painted schoolhouses, visited homes, conferred with parents, and taught Sunday school.

The salary was $35 per month for seven months.

This school burned down Jan. 2, 1898. Willie Schmidt said, "I heard from older folks that they got affidavits from lots of people as to how it burned down. The school teacher said he had 'removed some students for spitting tobacco juice and throwing their cuds on the floor.' " Schmidt says they tracked some horse tracks, found the culprits, but he doesn't know what it happened to them.

They rebuilt the one-room school, and a lien-to was added later. Alfred K. Saathoff (class of '23) wrote, "The four-holers always blew over during a rainstorm, and we boys had to set them back up every Monday morning."

The building was moved to its existing location in 1925, except that the materials from the lien-to are now Willie Schmidt's barn.

A teacher's salary in 1897 was $35 per month for seven months.

Due to additions and remodeling, it became a solid, well-insulated three-room school with chalk board partitions that could be raised into the attic. They had two privvies, a flagpole, and they said the "Pledge of Allegiance" every morning.

Nobody is sure how or why Hondo Canyon became Tarpley in 1902. Part of the reason was Hondo Canyon mail being delivered to Hondo and vice versa.

C. C. Douglas wrote the editor of the 'Bandera New Era' in 1941, "W. J. Pricket, who was postmaster of Hondo Canyon, suggested the name Tarpley after a good friend of his in Grayson County, Clarence Tarpley."

There is, however, a fanciful but plausible rumor that it was named after "Tarpley." George Gates' widow's child, Mrs. Gates later married W. J. Pricket.

The oldest living Tarpley graduates are probably Etta Simpson Billings (Felix Billings' mother) or Edith Buchner Edwards. Etta was born in 1892 and Edith in 1894.

A younger graduate claims he had advantages not present today. He said the small classes enabled him to hear recitations for the younger and the older students as well as his own.

The next Tarpley School Reunion will be in 1987. If they get a donor between now and then, the bright, white schoolhouse will be there "with bells on."

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

A record attendance took in the morning worship services Sunday, Sept. 1 at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock Road. The attendance has been increasing each week, and already the chapel has a need to buy more chairs.

The chapel has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday at 6 p.m. and on Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible Study or anyone else in need of transportation.

It was nice seeing Irby Cole and his wife riding their bicycles in the area with their grandchild.

Earl Evans enjoyed the visit of his long-time friends, Julie and Eric Oligschaeger and son Christopher from Phoenix, Ariz., for a day. They had not been here for eight years, and the low water level amazed them. While here, they went to the dam, and they were again amazed at how much the area had built up.

They had their hands full with young Chris who wanted to be on the move constantly. They hope to return soon and to see the lake full.

Joe Baker is back home after a two week stay in the Veteran's Hospital at Kerrville. His knee is still weak, but the doctors do not believe an operation is called for.

The next fellowship covered-dish dinner at the Walker Memorial Chapel will be on Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. at the First National Bank board room. This will be part of the festivities celebrating the first anniversary of the beginning of the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Reservations for the dinner on Sept. 20 must be made by Sept. 15. There is a $5 per person charge. Please notify Lenna Walker at 796-3997.

Marion and Marjorie Birch and Marion Trout had as guests this past week, Ron and Jean Clark from Huntsville. Jean is a niece of the Birches. Ron is a counselor for the Texas Department of Corrections at Huntsville.

Visiting Carter and Doris Beach was their niece, Jennifer George, and her husband Sebastian. Jennifer has spent over two years and Sebastian over nine years doing missionary work from the missionary ship, "Logos," making many calls in Europe and the Mediterranean.

Jennifer treated the congregation to some special music at Walker Memorial Chapel Sunday.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department had its general membership meeting on Aug. 31 with only a few members present. The members present voted and passed a motion to make a pledge to the Helping Hand Center to be paid monthly for one year.

Some of the senior citizens of our area want to thank Fred Collins who runs The Workshop in Bandera. He purchased a box that seated 12 people for each night of the Cowboy Capital Rodeo and donated them to senior citizens.

Mary and Floyd Portman, Ken and Renee Parks, Paul and Doris Flanders, Marion and Marjorie Birch, Marion Trout, Betty and John Ciarlo and Annie Thetford all want to say "Thank you, Fred." For some of us, it was our first Rodeo.

Bill and Lenna Walker had another nice visit when their son, Bill Jr. and family, came by. The Walkers always enjoy having their granddaughter, Roxanne, keep them running.

Coming in from Austin was Cathy and Dave Stocker and their two children, Brian and Leeann, to spend the day with the Ciarlo's and then to take in the rodeo.

Betty and John Ciarlo received word that another grandson has received a presidential appointment to West Point. Fred H. Ciarlo Jr. will still have to pass the physical and academic tests prior to joining the new class that will start in 1986.

Fred's brother John is in his third year at the Point.

The first-Saturday-of-the-month community covered-dish dinner will be held at the Copper Lantern on Saturday, Sept. 7 at 7 p.m.

Dewey and Liz Overholser spent the weekend with Dewey's parents, Jay and Marieta Overholser at their home in Wharton's Dock area.

Harvey Sab, who had been in the hospital in El Paso, is back in his home at Wharton's Dock. The first thing he did was to check his garden.

Hip pocket circle is a sure sign

A small harmless looking circle on a hip pocket is the first symptom of a major health-threatening epidemic, says the Texas Medical Association.

The circle, made by carrying a snuff can, is a more obvious symptom than a chewing tobacco pouch. But both show that the user is sucking on chemicals that can cause cancer, the TMA says.

Bad breath, discolored teeth and white patches of skin called leukoplakia inside the mouth or throat are a few other signs of the epidemic that has spread to many groups of young people and adults.

Some people start using chewing tobacco and snuff as a replacement for smoking. But they merely are trading one set of health hazards for another, TMA says. Chewing tobacco is one of the risk factors for developing oral cancer which includes cancer of the tongue, lip, or throat. Last year 456 Texans died from oral cancer.

Chances of gum and tooth disease increase and users' teeth wear away quicker than non-users' teeth. Tobacco juice chemicals may slow wound healing, especially in the mouth. The juice also can irritate or cause stomach ulcers.

Other unhealthy effects come from the drug nicotine that is absorbed through the mouth lining or swallowed. Nicotine makes arteries smaller and speeds up the heart rate. Pumping more blood through a narrower opening may increase blood pressure which heightens the risk of stroke or heart attack. Pressure may increase even more because tobacco users may use too much salt since nicotine can dull taste buds. Too much salt also may increase blood pressure.

These additional effects mean that dippers and chewers are at risk. Even though they are not sending up bad health signals by puffing on a cigarette, they still are risking their health.

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Karen O'Neill, Manager-Community Relations

We've got the Sesquicentennial covered

If you would agree that Ma Ferguson was a famous Texan or that Jose Antonio Navarro brought in the first Texas oil well, you may need a Lone Star history refresher course.

We will have many opportunities to review our state's proud past during 1986, when we celebrate the 150-year birthday, or sesquicentennial, of Texas.

By the way, as history buffs know, Ma Ferguson was the first and only woman governor of Texas and was elected in 1925. In 1836, Jose Antonio Navarro was one of two native-born Hispanic Texans to sign the Texas Declaration of Independence, which he helped draft, and was later elected to the Texas Republic's Senate.

Ma Ferguson and Jose Antonio Navarro, along with other famous Texans and symbols of our state's heritage, will be featured on the cover of about nine million Southwestern Bell phone directories for 1986. To commemorate our state's 150-year birthday, Southwestern Bell Telephone recently conducted a statewide art contest for the Sesquicentennial year directories. We received more than 500 entries.

Statewide contest winner announced

And the winner is . . . Bill Hall of Arlington. Hall's colorful montage displays the rich texture of Texas. After much head-scratching, the six judges selected Hall's work as the best of many excellent entries.

At the end of 1985, Houston and Austin will be the first cities to receive new directories with the special artwork covers. Then, throughout 1986, the Sesquicentennial directories will be distributed to Southwestern Bell Telephone customers in more than 150 Texas cities.

Delivery of these special directories is just one event Texans may look forward to in 1986. Southwestern Bell Telephone will present a sneak preview of one major statewide Sesquicentennial activity at our exhibit at this year's State Fair of Texas, October 3-20 in Dallas. Hope some of you can pay a visit to our exhibit in the Grand Place (formerly called Women's Building) at Fair Park.

New toll-free service aids Hispanics

Southwestern Bell Telephone recently inaugurated a trial of an important new service for our Spanish-speaking customers throughout the state.

It is a toll-free number to give customers an opportunity to obtain general information and assistance from Spanish-speaking employees. If a customer needs specific information about an account, a bureau employee will call the customer's business office — with the customer on the line — and serve as an interpreter, if necessary.

The Spanish Service Bureau's toll-free number is 1-800-592-7726. If you forget the number, you can get it from an 800 Directory Assistance operator (1-800-555-1212).

Our business offices throughout Texas have always tried to help Spanish-speaking customers as much as possible. Sometimes, however, Spanish-speaking employees were not available. Now, we have specially trained employees dedicated to helping those who call the toll-free bureau.

Also to provide help for our Spanish-speaking customers, we have translated several booklets, including our popular series of Tele-Help (Tele-Ayuda) booklets, into Spanish. Those booklets cover such subjects as establishing local telephone service, using the telephone to make your home more secure, installing home telephone wiring and handling annoying phone calls. To order a Tele-Help booklet, in English or Spanish, customers may call this toll-free number: 1-800-325-2686, extension 86.

Although these booklets answer many questions, sometimes customers need the personal help of our employees. Meeting the telecommunications needs of all our customers is why we're in business. We are hopeful that the new Spanish Service Bureau will help us reach our goal of complete customer satisfaction.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Through the years we have made it a habit to save clippings that we liked. Recently we came across one that was printed many years ago under the title, "Dare to Doubt," by Judd & Detweiler Inc. in its The Little Gazette. We think it bears repeating here.

It is a toss-up whether a man deserves more admiration for having the courage of his convictions or the courage of his doubts! Men have forfeited their lives in support of their convictions; on the other hand, others, have aided the world immeasurably by daring to doubt.

At one time only "crackpots" believed that the earth was round. It took courage for Columbus to doubt his way to a new world. Years later when sailing ships regularly crossed the ocean, some courageous doubter thought they could do it by steam power. An "expert" of his day insisted the idea was preposterous, and wrote a book to prove it. The skipper of the first steamship that crossed the Atlantic carried the book with him!...Long ago a distinguished philosopher declared, "The future is dark with doubts." How blind he is! The future is BRIGHT with doubts! When an idea strikes you, ask yourself, "WHY NOT?"

☆ Lajitas on the Rio Grande – oasis in the Big Bend

by Richard Reynolds, Texas Tourist Development Agency

The bad news about Lajitas is that it's 100 miles from anywhere.

The good news about Lajitas is that, well . . . it's 100 miles from anywhere.

At least that's the Walter Mischer sees it. Mischer is the Houston developer and industrialist who is responsible for the current boom in this tiny, out-of-the-way town on the western edge of Big Bend National Park. He began buying land around Lajitas back in the '50s, but it was only about nine years ago that he really began to develop Lajitas on the Rio Grande. An important factor in its development has been the retention of the Old West flavor which makes folks want to come here in the first place.

Mischer's ultimate goal in creating Lajitas on the Rio Grande is to have a resort in Texas similar to those in Palm Springs and Phoenix. Winters are generally mild along this stretch of the Rio Grande and it is not unusual when it is snowing in the Panhandle for Lajitas to be basking in 60-70 degree temperatures. And, since the humidity is usually very low, the summer heat is not as unbearable as the 90-100 degree readings would seem to indicate.

Lajitas is a rich blend of dramatic mountain and desert scenery, colorful history and folklore, and just the right amounts of modern comforts and conveniences.

The town's beginnings date back to 1852 when a U.S.-Mexico boundary survey was made and the existence of Lajitas was reported. In the years that followed, a rail line was laid and this encouraged ranching in the area. A quicksilver fine at Terlingua just a few miles away sparked some activity in 1890. A port of entry was established at Lajitas because of the increased mining and ranching going on across the river in Mexico.

The real growth began about 30 years later when the U.S. Cavalry under Gen. John "Black Jack" Pershing set up a post in Lajitas in an effort to halt the terrorizing regime of the Mexican revolutionary, Pancho Villa. When peace was finally restored, Lajitas became home for many Mexican families who raised their crops near the river and tended goats on the surrounding hills. For many years, the only developments that existed were a trading post, a schoolhouse and a saloon.

Nowadays, there is considerably more going on here. There are two motels, a hotel, condominiums and several housing developments. All are done tastefully and under strict architectural controls to insure that they blend in with one another and with the landscape.

The style of most of the homes and apartments is Texas ranch house or Spanish adobe style. The Badlands Hotel, the town's showpiece, has been constructed in classic western style and it even has a saloon sporting red flocked wallpaper and huge, mounted trophy heads of bison, elk and deer.

One of the newer creations in town is the Lajitas Museum and Desert Garden, a $1.2 million project of the Lajitas Foundation. The museum and garden have been built on a beautifully landscaped, 99-acre plot beneath towering Lajitas Mesa. The outside garden area features a comprehensive collection of native West Texas plants, lovely winding walkways and even such indigenous animals as desert tortoises and peccaries.

Inside the museum, elaborate dioramas depict the human history of the Big Bend region, as well as its rich and varied animal life. The taxidermy is very realistically done, showing animals in natural and believable settings. There is also a library, an art gallery, geological and archaeological displays, collections of memorabilia and artifacts of the area and a gift shop. Your visit to Lajitas would not be complete without spending some time at this excellent museum.

Lajitas boasts plenty of recreation for everyone. There is a 9-hole golf course, two tennis courts and a swimming pool. For the adventurous, there is some of the best river rafting anywhere with several guide services from which to choose. You may want to try your hand at fishing for trophy catfish in the Rio Grande or do some hiking on the miles and miles of trails in the area.

Don't miss the historic Lajitas Trading Post. This establishment has actually been operating for over a hundred years and is still a favorite meeting place for many local residents. On any given day there will be a group of the regulars sitting under the shaded porch, drinking beer or playing a friendly game of pool.

Adjacent to the Trading Post is a large goat pen littered with hundreds of empty beer cans and bottles. This is the home of the legendary Clay Henry, the beer-guzzling goat. If you don't believe the stories of this old goat's renowned drinking abilities, just pop the top off a Lone Star and hand it to him through the fence – he'll make a believer out of you in about ten seconds.

Easily reached by car, bus, or train, Lajitas also has its own landing strip for air travellers. For more information, call 915-424-3471, or write "Lajitas", Star Route 70, Box 400, Terlingua, Texas 79852.

Public notice

No structure or land in the unincorporated areas of Bandera County shall hereafter be located, altered, or have its use changed without first submitting a Development Permit Application Form to the County Administrator. A county-wide application system is a necessary and reasonable action to insure that all necessary permits for development within identified flood hazard areas have been obtained. Additional flood plain data may be generated which will improve the accuracy of flood plain boundary identification.

Since the County will constantly be aware of map changes and additional data, the final responsibility for determining whether a property or development is within an identified flood hazard area must rest with the County. Special Flood Hazard Boundary Maps published by the Federal Insurance Administration delineate only of the major flood prone areas within the County. With a county-wide review procedure, the County Administrator may be able to make recommendations for construction standards which will minimize or eliminate the possibility of damage from a localized drainage problem. Application forms for development or building may be secured at the office of Permits And Inspections at the Bandera County Courthouse. This application is a flood plain search. The fee as set up by the Commissioners Court is $25. 7-2tc

Think turkey

Summertime is the perfect season to grill turkey, a low calorie, nutritious food, says Karen Mitchell with Texas Department of Agriculture. "Turkey isn't just for Thanksgiving anymore," she says. "Think turkey this summer!"

For dieters and others who love good food, she advises turkey is a low calorie treat. An average serving of 3½ ounces has only 190 calories.

The protein in turkey contains all of the essential amino acids in good balance. Protein is needed by everyone each day to build and repair body tissues, she says.

Turkey is also an excellent source of riboflavin, the B-vitamin necessary for body growth and the health of eyes and skin.

Today the turkey industry is diversified—into parts, that is. Consumers can buy only the choicest parts, without the worry of what to do with leftovers.

Texas ranked eleventh nationally in turkey production in 1983 with over 5 million head, Mitchell said. Gonzales county is the leading producer of turkeys statewide.

Enjoy Marinated Turkey Kabobs or Turkey Legs Barbecue on the grill this summer. For more information about Texas turkey, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218. Karen Decuennick Mitchell, (512) 656-2315.

Marinated Turkey Kabobs
1 C white wine
½ C soy sauce
1½ T Worcestershire sauce.
1 sm finely chopped onion
½ tsp garlic powder
½ tsp ground ginger
½ C peanut oil
2 C cooked, cubed white turkey meat
1 med can chunk pineapple
12 cherry tomatoes
2 med green bell peppers, cut into squares
12 mushrooms

Combine wine, soy sauce, Worcestershire sauce, onion, garlic powder, ground ginger and peanut oil. Pour over turkey cubes and marinate for at least 2 hours up to 24 hours in the refrigerator. Before cooking, alternate marinated turkey cubes on skewers with pineapple chunks, cherry tomatoes, green peppers and mushrooms. Cook over charcoal until done, about 20 minutes. Serves 4-6.

Turkey Legs Barbecue*
2 turkey legs
peanut oil
Barbecue sauce

Prepare barbecue. Brush turkey with oil. Cover with lid, waxed paper or plastic wrap and cook on Roast setting (70 percent power) in microwave for 10 minutes per pound. Transfer to grill and cook only until outside is crisp, turning and basting frequently with barbecue sauce.

A taste of the Lone Star State

Barbeque sauce. Peaches. Tortillas. Fajitas. Rice. Picante sauce. What do these products all have in common? asks Karen Mitchell of Texas Department of Agriculture. "All are a taste of the Lone Star state," she says.

A promotional effort begun by the Texas Department of Agriculture in 1984, the "Taste of Texas" program utilizes a logo that can be used by approved processors and producers of Texas agricultural products on their packaging or in their advertising, she advises. A red, white and blue Texas flag with the words "Taste of Texas" spashed across the center identifies products as participants of the program.

In conjunction with the Texas food companies, she says two thousand grocery stores across the State use the "Taste of Texas" logo to advertise approved products carried in their stores.

Currently, over 100 Texas food companies use the logo on their packaging or in their advertising. As the logo is used on more and more Texas foods, consumers across the State can more easily identify quality Texas products.

The logo is a seal of assurance for Texans who want to support other Texans by purchasing products grown and processed close to home, she said.

In August, many "Taste of Texas" companies took their products to Chicago and put on a Texas-style food show complete with country music and armadillo races. This follows a successful Boston food show in 1984, where Bostonians now add picante sauce to their notorious Baked beans and sip sparkling water from the Lone Star State.

If you would like more information about the "Taste of Texas" program, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218. Be sure and look for the red, white and blue "Taste of Texas" flag the next time you shop.

American Red Rice and Pace Mexican Spaghetti are both effortless summer supper ideas feature Texas products.

American Red Rice
¼ C diced onion
¼ C diced green pepper
2 T vegetable oil
1½ lb chopped, cooked ham
2 (8oz.) cans tomato sauce
2 C water
2 T sugar
½ tsp salt
2 C unbooked American rice

Saute onion and green pepper in oil until tender. Stir in ham; cook over medium heat 3 minutes. Add tomato sauce, water, sugar and salt; stir well. Bring to boil and add rice. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15-20 minutes. Check tenderness and continue to simmer for 15 minutes. Serves 8.

Pace Mexican Spaghetti
1½ lb. pork steak
8 oz. spaghetti
1 T olive oil
2 diced tomatoes
½ C chopped onion
¼ C chopped green pepper
¼ C Pace Picante Sauce
1 bay leaf
½ tsp garlic powder
¼ tsp oregano
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut pork steak into bite-sized pieces. Brown pork in oil. Remove from skillet and set aside. Brown broken spaghetti in remaining oil. Add ½ cup hot water, vegetables, meat and seasonings. Add enough water to cover all ingredients. Bring to boil. Reduce heat, cover and simmer 15 minutes or until spaghetti is tender. Serves 4-6.

Survey results are no surprise

Some like it lean. That's the conclusion researchers at Texas A&M University drew from a nationwide study of consumer beef steak preference.

The majority of participants selected randomly from Houston, Kansas City, Philadelphia and the San Francisco Bay Area, rated USDA higher grade prime and choice steaks as most palatable.

But 25 percent of the consumers — mostly from Houston and the San Francisco area — also found USDA grade good loin steaks to be acceptable and indicated they would buy this grade of meat.

The study was sponsored by national cattlemens' associations, the USDA and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station to determine what consumers want so that beef producers and retailers can do a better job in providing that product.

The USDA grades beef according to the degree of marbling — the flecks of fat within the lean. The more marbling, the higher the grade.

Consumer acceptance of leaner meat could result from a number of factors, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service food and nutrition specialist Marilyn Haggard.

Those consumers looking for ways to cut calories and fat from their diets may be more willing to trade some of the taste and juiciness of higher grade steaks, she notes.

But cooking methods may have something to do with it, too. People who tend to use moist cooking methods, or prefer their meat on the rare side, will find leaner cuts more acceptable, explains the specialist.

Regional dishes and cooking styles may also account for the popularity for leaner beef, especially for the consumers in Houston and San Francisco, suggests Haggard.

Marinating steaks before cooking on an outdoor grill, or slow cooking barbecue are also popular cooking methods well-suited to leaner beef, and the warm weather lifestyle, she adds.

Artist Dorothy Herrington admires one of Gerry Sharp's restored antique trunks.

Trunk exhibit scheduled at library in September

The Bandera County Library will host an exhibit of antique trunks Sept. 16, 1985 through Oct. 19 in recognition of National Antique Trunk Month.

The trunks to be shown are a few of the two hundred ten Custom restorations done by Gerry Sharp.

Sharp will hold a trunk restoration seminar on Tuesday Sept. 17 at 7:30 at the Bandera County Library, 505 Main Avenue in Bandera.

"This exhibit should spur local trunk owners to renew their own relic for use in their homes," said Sharp.

Lillie Thompson — 966-3498

Veonita Porter was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening, Aug. 22 with a Birthday Party.

Those joining in on the celebration were her brother Fait Crowell of Leakey; two nieces, Bo Allen of Uvalde and Neon Horton of Center Point; her husband, J.D. Horton; and her roommates, Evelyn Hostsetter and Ida Faye White of Boerne.

Visitors

Hamilton and Anna Pearl Gabriel enjoyed their granddaughter and husband Patty and Sonny Espey of Houston over the weekend.

Bobbie and Mary Thompson of Odessa are visiting his parents, Finis and Margaret Thompson. Margaret has been under the weather for several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Haynes of Kerrville were Saturday visitors of Hub and Lillie Thompson. They report Franklin Neff of Vanderpool is seriously ill in Sid Peterson Hospital, Kerrville. He has undergone surgery for the removal of a kidney.

Reva Mobley and her little grandson were brief visitors of her uncle Frankie and aunt Lillie and uncle Lou and aunt Lizzie Saturday morning.

Allen Tampke has been seriously ill in Methodist Hospital, San Antonio. He was allowed to come home over the weekend, but went back Monday for more tests and treatments.

Pat and Gary Thompson, Liz, Raymond and Sandra of Poteet were Sunday visitors of Gary's parents, Lou and Lizzie Thompson. David Thompson, another son of the Thompsons, and his son Lonnie of Deer Park were weekend visitors. All enjoyed a barbecue dinner with all the trimmings.

Mattie Schaefer received word this week of the death of her son, Bob. He had been ill for some time.

Holiday Visitors

Craig and La Donna and Erin Grae Hoover made their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Hub Thompson, very happy over the holidays by coming up from Texas City and bringing little Erin Grae, 7 weeks old, to visit her great grandparents.

This is our first great grandchild, and since we had both been sick and unable to go visit them, it was such joy for us to see and hold her.

Other Texas City relatives visiting over the holidays were our grandson and wife, Mike and Susan Hark, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Green and Buddy.

AC maintenance is important

Few things are worse than a broken air conditioner on a hot, humid day–except the bill to get it fixed.

Preventative maintenance can help avoid a possible break-down during the summer months and make an air conditioner run more efficiently, says housing specialist Dr. Peggy Owens.

"Since air conditioning is one of the largest single users of home energy, proper service and maintenance can help consumers hold down electric bills," remarks the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service home economist.

Checking the system for warning signs is a simple matter, Owens maintains. Put your hand in front of the air supply vents. If the air feels lukewarm it could indicate a problem with the ductwork, compressor, evaporator or refrigerant.

You should also feel air movement fromt the vent. If you don't, it may indicate a fan problem, a dirty filter, dirty evaporator coils or ductwork leaks.

Then check the condenser unit outside. It's normal for the air being discharged from the unit to be hot. If it isn't, there could be a problem with the compressor.

"Fixing or maintaining a central air conditioning unit is usually not a job for a do-it-yourselfer," Owens cautions. But because a service call can be costly, homeowners should know what to expect for their money," Owens advises.

The specialist suggests that a maintenance service call should include the following:

- Lubricate the condenser fan bearings, if not permanently sealed.
- Clean the air intake side of condenser coil.
- Tighten the electrical connections on the condenser, and check the operating current and supply voltage with volt amp meter.
- Check the regrigerant levels and pressures.
- Inspect the compressor start and run compacitors.
- Clean or replace the blower filter.
- Lubricate an unsealed blower fan motor and blower bearings. Check and adjust the belt tension and inspect the belt if the fan is belt-driven. Clean the blower wheel.
- Clean the evaporator coil and check the fin condition on blower unit.
- Clean and inspect the drain lines and pan in the blower unit.
- Check for excessive attic air leakage into the return air chamber of the blower unit.

TDC computer says Sorensen eligible for parole in 1992

A computer at the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville, shows Gerald Roger Sorensen of Bandera will be eligible for parole in September, 1992, not 2004 as reported in December, the Bulletin has learned.

"He will be considered for parole in 20 years," John W. Byrd, executive director of the parole agency, told the Bulletin flatly in December.

Mike Roach, information specialist in Byrd's Austin office told the Bulletin Wednesday, however, the Texas Department of Corrections calculates parole eligibility on the longer of the two sentences handed down. "In Sorensen's case, he received a life sentence on the simple murder charge," he said. The life sentence is considered longer than the 99-year sentence he received in Bandera for aggravated sexual assault, Roach said. The Bandera trial is under appeal.

Sorensen was convicted of the brutal rape and murder of school teacher Marie Denise Walker of Bandera. Her almost nude body was discovered in the mobile home in which she lived alone on the morning of Feb. 1, 1984.

The victim's father, Bill Walker, said he was told TDC did not receive information showing the Bandera woman was killed with a deadly weapon. In order to get the information in Sorensen's file, the father said, District Attorney Bruce Curry and 216th District Judge Robert (Bob) Barton will have to conduct a special hearing.

As of Wednesday evening, the district attorney had not returned any of the Bulletin's series of phone calls.

Judge Barton said he has not discussed the matter with Curry or Walker. "I'm not in a position to give any information that might help clarify the matter."

According to the TDC, if Sorensen's file doesn't reveal he used a deadly weapon in the murder, he is eligible for parole in 20 years with time deducted for good behavior. Good behavior could calculate to a third of the 20-year minimum amount of time served, the spokeswoman said. In this case, TDC calculated Sorensen could be eligible to go before the Parole Board as early as September 1992, which is the date they have entered in the computer.

Roach insisted the TDC will hold Sorensen for 20 years at least. The date on the TDC computer will be changed when all the information in his file is checked for accuracy, he said.

"We will watch his file very closely and we won't let him out for at least 20 years," he assured.

He could not tell the Bulletin when or how the information on the deadly weapon Soren-

Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan, left, and Bandera County Judge Tommy Curbo team to open a symbolic gate stretched across newly completed State Highway 16 during highway dedication ceremonies Monday. There were lots of dignitaries there, and it became the site of the first face-to-face meeting of the three announced candidates for U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler's seat in Congress. At the left are Democrat David Hunnsicker and Republicans Jeff Wentworth and Lamar Smith.

Bandera imposes 3% motel tax

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce says the tax will raise $10,000 per year to promote the area.

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The Bandera City Council Monday imposed a 3 percent tax on motels and hotels in the city limits, a tax it hopes will raise up to $10,000 per year.

The funds generated by the new tax can only be spent on promoting the city Bandera or for other tourist related purposes.

The $10,000 estimate came from Ken Finley, president of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, and includes expected business at the new motel on Highway 16 now under construction.

Henry Moeller, owner of the River Front Motel, and Buddy Thompson, who said he spoke for the owners of the motel under construction, each endorsed the tax during the council's consideration of the matter Monday.

No one appeared to oppose the tax.

Still the council members approved the tax by a razor-thin 3-2 vote, with one member opposing it because he wanted to study it for one more month.

Council members Diane Tobin, Raymond Adamietz and Joe Fox voted for it while Gilbert Scheele and Ross Bailey voted no.

Bailey had attempted to table the matter to be considered next month.

The ordinance will add 3 percent to the size of each hotel or motel bill charged by businesses in the city limits.

Chamber officials said there is a possibility that some out-of-the-city guest ranches may voluntarily contribute a portion of their receipts.

A 4 percent surtax is added to hotel bills now, but all funds generated by that tax go to the state for the promotion of tourism on the state level.

State law authorizes the city to add as much as 7 percent, and there was discussion of either 3 or 4 percent Monday.

Moeller recommended a 4 percent levy while Thompson said the owners of the new hotel preferred a 3 percent tax. Council members opted for the lower figure.

At least 1 percent of the city's 3 percent must be used exclusively for advertising of general promotional and tourist information and to attract visitors.

All of the money may be spent for advertising, but some may also be spent for a civic center, auditoriums, or similar facilities.

Finley told the council that 287 other cities in Texas imposed such a tax, often called a "bed tax."

The funds are usually administered by a committee made up of council members and other citizens. No provision for the administration of the tax is made in the ordinance approved Monday.

The ordinance is effective Jan.

Deputies arrest two fugitives here

Twice in the past week Bandera authorities captured fugitives being sought by neighboring countys.

Bandera County Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier Friday recognized a yellow Ford that had been reported two nights before by Medina County authorities. A teletype message reported the vehicle was driven by a "wanted" person.

DeLesdernier followed the suspect to 13th and Cherry streets where the driver fled the vehicle on foot with the officer in pursuit. The officer lost him in a backyard between 12th and 13th streets.

A description of the suspect was broadcast, and a city officer reported he saw him climbing a tree on Cottonwood Street. DeLesdernier found Robert Earl Kniejsky, 29, of Devine under a parked truck on Cottonwood.

He was held in the Bandera County Jail until Medina County Deputy Doug Spielman took him into custody the following day. He was wanted for non-payment of child support.

Another teletype was received Monday shortly after 4 p.m. from Pearsall County authorities. They had a warrant for Juan Infante Trevino of Bandera for "revocation of probation" for attempted murder. He was reported to be working as a clerk in a Bandera supermarket. Bandera officials took him into custody about 9:30 p.m. and released him to Pearsall authorities on Tuesday.

Two men were arrested in Bandera county on Sunday and charged with driving while intoxicated in separate incidents. Jose Acosta Sanchez, 27, of New Braunfels and Perry Gene Stevens, 53, of San Antonio were arrested by troopers of the Texas Department of Public Safety and bonds of $800 was set on each by Peace Justice Bonnie Towers. Stevens was released on Sunday after posting bond, but Sanchez remained in jail on Tuesday, unable to post his bond.

Kenneth C. Bibb, 32, of Grand Prairie was arrested Sept. 8 by Bandera City police officer Carlos Reyna on charges of criminal trespass and public intoxication. The manager of a local hotel filed charges against Bibb when he entered a room and refused to leave, chief deputy Ken Mingo reported.

Judge Towers set bonds at $500 on the criminal trespass charge and $300 on public intoxication. He remained in jail until Monday when bonds were posted.

Lack of valuations causes delay in setting school's new tax rate

Meeting set for Friday to establish rate to provide 29.9 percent more in tax funds.

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

Consideration of a tax rate to raise funds to pay for the $3,271,345 1985-86 school budget was tabled by trustees Tuesday night when the certified assessed valuation report was not in from the Bandera County Appraisal District. According to Superintendent Ted Dockery, the appraisal board discovered Monday that information entered into a computer in Waxahachie did not contain changes made in some property evaluations.

The changes must be entered in the computer before the computer service used by the county can complete the report, Dockery said. The Waxahachie-based firm has promised the appraisal district office they will have the figures by Friday, Dockery said.

The board tabled all discussion on setting the tax rate and called a special meeting next Tuesday, Sept. 17, at 7:30 p.m. in the high school library to set the tax rate.

The school budget, approved on Aug. 29, calls for an increase in total property tax revenues from $1,317,344 in 1984 to $1,711,095 or 29.9 percent.

Once the trustees set the tax rate, a public hearing will be called on a proposal to increase the property tax, Dockery said, because it will represent an increase in the effective tax rate of more than 3 percent.

Architect Jim Pfluger reported more cement is scheduled to be poured at the elementary school site Thursday, weather permitting. "The site drains rapidly, therefore we're lucky in that respect," he said. "Through the end of August, the construction project was running nine days behind schedule, but we will meet our deadline," he told trustees.

Students are expected to start the 1986-87 term at the new elementary school.

Dockery presented a five-year comparison enrollment report to the trustees. He said there has been an overall 20 percent increase in enrollment in Bandera schools over the past five years.

Total enrollment on Sept. 5 for this year was 1,241 compared to 1,039 in September 1981.

The first grade shows a whooping 109 percent increase in the past five years, he said, and the number of three-year-olds to enter school in two years in Bandera is very high. This year there are 117 first-graders enrolled compared to 56 in 1981.

Total enrollment in elementary has grown from 425 in 1981 to 559. The junior high school enrollment has increased from 265 students to 326. The freahman class at the high school shows an increase to 107 students from the 1981 enrollment of 74.

Overall the high school enrollment reflects little change over the past five years. It stands at 356 students this year compared to 349 in 1981.

After returning from an executive session Tuesday night, the trustees hired several bus drivers, cafeteria personnel and another substitute teacher.

Two alert citizens involved in capture of burglary suspect

Two Bandera residents aided Bandera city police officer Joe Rodriguez in capturing a burglary suspect Monday night.

Todd Edward Howard, 26, of Bandera was seen inside Busbee's Barbecue on Main Street by Warren Hyde of Bandera. He met officer Rodriguez outside the closed business and described Howard and what he was wearing.

Tom E. Cavin of Bandera also saw the suspect and told the officer he made a funny "flopping" noise as he ran from the building. Hyde found him hiding behind a business at Main and Cypress.

When arrested Howard was wearing a T-shirt, shorts, and thongs or sandals.

Judge Bonnie Towers set bond at $5,000 on charges of burglary of a building. After posting bond, Howard was released Tuesday afternoon.

I came upon Billy Bob Beaudare the other day in the feed store. He was holding up a wall with his shoulder and mopping the floor with streams of Red Man.

Billy Bob's nothing if he's not helpful. He was also giving out free, expert agricultural advice. When he's in a good groove, he can keep an audience way past the time for polite goodbyes and seeyas.

"Billy Bob, what's all this we keep hearing about the farm crisis?"

His eyes got big, his nostrils flared, he licked his lips, and I knew I was on to something.

"So what else is new? Farming is just another name for crisis, problem, and losing proposition. The only way anyone ever made it in farming is with a hundred acres of cleared bottom land, a wife who could teach all the home economics courses at the state university and still wrestle Grizzly Adams, a half dozen sons that could play pro tackle, a gullible banker, and winters like Acapulco and summers like New England.

"The only other way to make it is to own a bunch of farmers, only you don't call them farmers, you call them serfs, or slaves, or tenants, or sharecroppers, or wetbacks, or government loan clients.

"But, Billy Bob, where are people going to get their food and fiber? We've got to do something about it." You put too much fertilizer on sorghum and you turn it to poison.

"All we need to do is wean the farmers off the credit, the machinery, the ag schools and chemical companies for about ten years."

Billy Bob's nothing if he's not helpful.

When I was younger and changes disrupted my secure world, my mother used the expression, "it'll come full circle, someday."

Well, we've seen that happen with the fashion industry, they've gone full circle with long skirts, mini-skirts, short shorts and baggy pants.

Over the past couple decades we've heard and read about criminals rights to better jails, prisons, education programs, rehabilitation programs, better meals, exercise and entertainment programs.

For awhile it seemed as though our courts were only concerned with the criminals welfare and rights.

But now the Texas legislature has come up with the Crime Victims Bill of Rights. It details the rights of victims to receive notification and explanation of procedures in the criminal justice process.

In addition, it provides for the victim's (or the victim's family in cases like Denise Walker's) presence in the courtroom. It also provides consideration by the magistrate of the future safety of the victim in setting the amount of bail, and provides for the implementation of a Victim's Impact Statement to be used by the court at sentencing and by the Parole Board at hearings.

In some cases victims and their families will receive compensation for expenses forced on them as a result of the crime committed against them.

Bill and Lenna Walker, the parents of the Bandera school teacher murdered over a year ago, were on the capitol steps in Austin when Attorney General Jim Mattox credited members of an organization called People Against Violent Crimes with promoting and supporting the victim's rights movement.

Hopefully one day we'll see our justice system turn full circle and the rights of victims will be given first consideration. Perhaps then we will see a large decrease in the number of criminals.

Campaign for water plan kicked off by officials

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndall Williams

State officials and business leaders have initiated their campaign to get voters to pass the Texas Water Plan, two of the proposed constitutional amendments on the November ballot.

Headed by the top legislative leadership, the campaign plans to spend $1.25 million selling the statewide water plan.

Already it reports total pledges of $300,000, including $100,000 pledged by dynamic Dallas businessman H. Ross Perot.

The campaign, the Wafer for Texas Future Committee, has former Texas Secretary of State John Fainter as treasurer.

The top three Republican gubernatorial prospects, Bill Clements, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler have all endorsed the plan.

So have top Democrats, Gov. Mark White, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Gib Lewis.

Still a question mark on endorsement are the environmental groups which have defeated past water plans. And right now many of them are disappointed with Gov. White.

Former Roommate

Last week White named his old Baylor Law School roommate to the Texas Water Commission, and the environmentalists immediately criticized his choice of a person with no background in water issues.

White picked John Houchins, now a Houston lawyer, to the three-member commission. Houchins was touted as a neutral choice between environmentalists and water development proponents.

If anything, White has continued his trend of giving appointments to long-time friends whom he can trust on key votes.

But the choice did not placate the environmentalists and one key group, the 20,000-member Audubon Society, immediately announced its opposition to the water plan's passage because it does not protect coastal bays and estuaries. And the Sierra Club said it was "back to square one" on whether to endorse the plan.

Defends Choice

White defended his choice, saying it "doesn't take a whole lot of experience to determine if water is dirty or clean." White said Houchins also does not bring any built-in enemies among competing environmentalists and water developers.

Houchins replaces Lee Biggart, whose term expired in August. Biggart, a Dallas attorney, was appointed by former Gov. Clements.

Houston Key

Since the statewide voter turnout is expected to be low, around 800,000, the strong opposition of the environmentalists, if it materializes, could be enough to defeat the plan.

In fact, Fainter believes some 30-40 percent of the total vote could come from Harris County, where the Houston mayor's race is hot enough to generate a higher turnout.

But White is from Houston, Hobby is from Houston, Houchins is from Houston, as is Fainter. And Houston has an interest in the water plan's provisions to control flooding.

The top two mayoral candidates have endorsed the amendments, and if Houston is to again be the key, passage looks good.

Hughes Fortune

Texas ended its eight-year legal fight with California and the estate of reclusive billionaire Howard Hughes last week when the state received $25 million, the second half of the $50 million settlement negotiated last year.

Texas had pursued inheritance tax claims when Hughes died, and the case went to the U.S. supreme court three times.

The complicated case is "wrapped up," said Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox.

Hughes was born in Texas, and the state claimed that although he rented or borrowed residences in other states in his lifetime, he always was a Texan and his estate was subject to an 18 percent inheritance tax.

Hunting Season

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department last week approved higher fees for use of state parks and shortened the duck-hunting season because of fewer birds.

The fee increase was necessary to cover a $897,000 revenue shortage. The daily $2 per car entrance fee was not touched, but overnight rates were raised by $2 for primitive camping sites to $8 for cabins.

Agency experts predicted fewer ducks because of dry weather conditions and loss of nesting habitats.

Short Takes

•Sen. Roy Blake, D-Nacogdoches, says he plans to introduce legislation in 1987 to repeal the mandatory seatbelt law. Blake says it is an infringement of individual rights.

•The Texas State Teachers Association has filed suit in an Austin district court to challenge the teacher competency tests. Education Commissioner William Kirby says he hopes the court will agree that "people who do not possess adequate fundamental skills in reading, writing and math cannot be allowed to teach in Texas classrooms."

I was brought up to believe and conditioned by repetition to know that when the footballs fly it's fall.

We've had some relief from the oppressive heat of a couple of weeks ago, and even some rain. But summer doesn't leave the Hill Country easily.

Actually, fall hasn't taken summer's place, the footballs notwithstanding.

It is on Sept. 23 that the day and night are of equal length at all points on the earth's surface. Scientifically it's called the autumnal equinox here in the Northern Hemisphere. Our friends down under call it the vernal equinox.

Most everybody calls it the first day of fall.

I think it was Yogi Berra who observed, "the game isn't over until it's over." The same is true with summer.

It's summer news, for example, that the city of Bandera shattered all records for water use for the 30 days that ended Aug. 20.

The city's wells pumped 11,015,500 gallons of water during those 30 days, city employees report. That's fully 3 million gallons more than has ever been pumped during any 30-day period.

"Back in 1968 we pumped right at 8 million gallons," says the city's Melvin King.

King attributes the healthy rains of spring for the heavy use of water during late July and early August. "We had a lot of rain in the spring and things got green," King recalls. "When it got dry, people didn't want to see things die."

Through it all, there has been no cry of alarm, no call for reducing our use of water.

King says the water levels in the city's wells are dropping a little, but are nowhere near the pumps.

Part of the reason is the spring rains that brought the levels up.

Part of it also was the fact the city completed an overhaul of its water system. Included in that overhaul was the lowering of the pumps 100 feet deeper in the wells.

I haven't checked with any of them, but I'd be willing to wager that not a single constituent called a single city council member to thank them for preventing a water shortage on the scale of last year's near-crisis.

I speak with tongue in cheek, of course. They don't expect phone calls of thanks for what they see as doing their job.

But perhaps it is time to call attention to some of the things this current council has accomplished.

Some may agree with Gilbert Scheele there is no need to charge hotel guests $41.20 instead of $40 to promote Bandera. All will agree the council's decision to enact the tax is an indication of a willingness on the council to try to deal with the future, instead of continuing to allow the future to deal with it.

The bed tax isn't the first accomplishment of this council.

It has, for example, now in preparation an official city map showing locations of utility lines and other essential information.

It has created and appointed a planning and zoning commission.

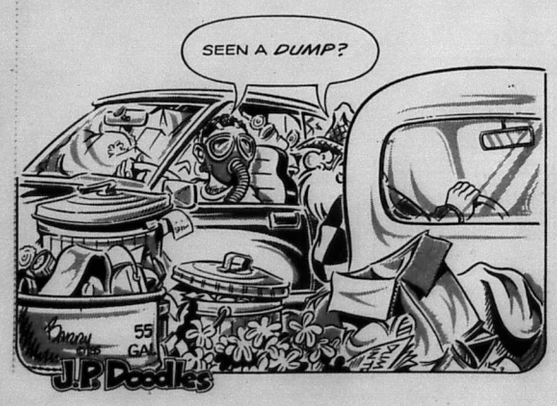

It dealt, haltedly, with what was becoming a crisis of misunderstanding involving the public's perception of our police department, and two things happened:

The number of tickets being written in the city is down—dramatically—, and the on-the-street criticism of the police is also down—dramatically.

The business atmosphere allowed, if not encouraged, the development of a motel and other construction.

And there are other positive developments completed or "in the works."

All this, and the council finished its work early enough Monday for members and observers alike to see the second half of the football game.

4-H Gold Star Awards to be presented Sept. 21

The coveted Gold Star — highest recognition of 4-H achievement at the county level — will be presented to outstanding area club members at the District 13 Gold Star Awards Luncheon in Uvalde on September 21, says County Extension agent Peggy Edwards.

The event will be held at noon at the Holiday Inn.

A gathering of about 125 4-H'ers, parents, adult leaders, special guests and Texas Agricultural Extension Service personnel are expected.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McReynolds, Friends of 4-H, will present the awards with the assistance of Jay Biediger of Uvalde County, and Kristee Wunderlich of Comal County, first and second vice-chairman of the District 13 4-H Council.

Among those to be honored will be Jake Frazier, of the Pipe Creek 4-H Club and Raegan Mazurek, member of the Bandera 4-H Club, representing Bandera County.

They were named Gold Star winners on the basis of personal development, leadership, outstanding achievement in projects and activities and contributions to the overall county 4-H program.

The luncheon is sponsored by Central Power and Light Company, and acknowledgement of their support will be given by Jon Yantis of Medina County, district council parliamentarian. The special guests will be introduced by Kellie Jetton of Kimble County, district council secretary. The invocation will be given by Becky Meyring of Atascosa County, district council information chairman.

Neal Fisher of Kendall County, council chairman, will be master of ceremonies.

Others who will be attending the awards luncheon from Bandera County include Mr. and Mrs. Howard Frazier, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Mazurek, and agents Peggy Edwards and Scott Durham.

Bike-a-thon to benefit CF

Pledge forms are available now for the Sept. 21 bike-a-thon to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis research, says chairman Virginia Stricker of Pipe Creek.

She said participants will ride a two-mile course in Bandera, and businesses and individuals pledge to donate a certain amount to CF research for each mile ridden.

Every rider will receive a T-shirt, says Stricker, and there will be competition for many valuable prizes, including two bikes, $50 savings bond, $25 gift certificate, a 12-in. television, a radio and bike bags. Most of the prizes were donated by area businesses, Stricker said.

Bikers will start Sept. 21 at the Silver Sage Corral and ride a two-mile course around the so-called river loop in Bandera. Persons who wish more information of pledge forms may contact Stricker at 535-4446.

L. Thompson said the new motel is scheduled to open Oct. 15.

In other action Monday, the council unanimously approved the by-laws of the Planning and Zoning Commission which authorizes the commission to hear zoning cases and recommend action to the council.

The by-laws require the P & Z commission to advise the council on proposed changes to the city master plan, zoning ordinance or official map.

It is also charged with recommending variances to the zoning ordinance, review subdivision plats, and advising the council on matters of growth or development.

The council Monday also accepted the utility lines for the new motel and restaurant on Highway 16, accepted an audit report from auditor John McBrine that praised the city's system of financial controls, reviewed the results of the extension service's community opinion poll, and re-appointed former Mayor Ray Marvin Hay as its representative on the Bandera County Appraisal Board.

Joe Fox opposed the granting of free water and sewer service to the Silver Sage Senior Citizens Center, but the proposal passed 4-1.

The council skirted the statutory requirement that bids be taken on any purchase or contract of $5,000 or more by getting a couple of on-the-spot donations to make the job cost the city no more than $4,999.

A drainage problem exists on 15th Street near the site of a convenience store under construction. Contractor Jim Powell, who is doing the work at that site, said the problem could be fixed this week when paving crews were at work for $8,500.

Going through the bidding process, however, would be impossible, because that price was being offered only because equipment and labor would be nearby this week.

Powell offered to pay for $2,000 worth of the work and attorney Ron Jaxson and insurancerman Joe McMullen said they would pay $1,501, because drainage would damage their property nearby if it wasn't provided for.

But perhaps it is time to call attention to some of the things this current council has accomplished.

The Xerox 605 Memorywriter

Our Basic Philosophy: More Typing From Less Typing
The 605 Memorywriter automates many of the everyday typing chores that until now were still done manually. With the 605's truly automatic and easy-to-use features, you'll never have to do manual corrections again. And you'll avoid much of the manual positioning that eats up so much time and effort.
Now, you can enjoy the advantages of an electronic typewriter for about the same price you'd pay for an electric typewriter. And yet, the 605 is still an easy-to-use, basic typewriter with a familiar keyboard. There are no complex coding steps to go through. You simply get much more typing productivity from much less typing effort.

Wentworth to run for congress

Jeff Wentworth

Following his announcement on Wednesday that he would run for the Republican nomination for the 21st Congressional District, former Bexar County Commissioner Jeff Wentworth campaigned in Bandera and the surrounding Hill Country on Friday.

The conservative candidate said he believes the people want someone with experience in Washington and someone who can be effective as soon as possible. "I can be more effective quicker, can hit the ground running," Wentworth said, "than someone who has never worked on a congressional staff."

"I've been there," Wentworth said, "and I want to go back to work for Texas in Congress." He served two years working in Washington and a third year in Texas as an aide to U.S. Rep. Bob Price.

Wentworth said one of the main reasons Tom Loeffler has been so effective as congressman is that he served on U.S. Sen. John Tower's staff in Washington for two years and learned the ropes there before he was elected to Congress.

After we elected Tom to Congress, he went back to Capitol Hill where he already had some solid experience under his belt," Wentworth said.

The 45-year-old candidate earned a reputation for hard-nosed honesty in all governmental matters during his six years as County Commissioner in Bexar County. He was the only Republican on Commissioner's Court for the six years he served.

The Texas Aggie also lived in West Texas three years while working on his law degree at Texas Tech University, where he was president of the law school student body.

The third generation Texan, a practicing attorney, is married to the former Karla Whitaitt, and they have one son, Jason.

While in Bandera, Wentworth called on officials at the courthouse, and stopped in the offices of Dan Alanis and County Republican Chairman Buddy Thompson.

Meanwhile Republican opponent Lamar Smith announced the appointment of Midland oilman Frank Cahoon as his campaign treasurer.

Worth noting

Community Wolf Club

Mountain lion tracks have been seen on the Wayne Moore ranch, Bob Mansfield reported this week. Moore reported finding the tracks to the Community Wolf Club on Sept. 2.

"Only one coyote was caught during August," Mansfield, club reported said," it was on the Loice Odom ranch southeast of Pipe Creek."

Moore also reported three ferral hogs on his ranch and one hog was reported caught on the Flying A ranch, east of Bandera.

An announcement was made to the ranchers that the 1080 toxic collar was finally approved by the Environmental Protection Agency for predator control. "There is much red tape attached to the program," Mansfield said.

Helping Hand

Bandera County Helping Hand, a crisis intervention center, will hold its monthly meeting Thursday, Sept. 19, at the First Baptist Church of Bandera, beginning at 7 p.m.

Cormellia Rue, representing Community Council of South Texas and the founder of the Helping Hand Center, will be the speaker. The meeting is open to the public and all interested parties are invited.

The Helping Hand Center is a bee-hive of activity, says spokeswoman Sharon Glock. With the donation of a large table from the American Legion Hall, the center is getting a face-lift, said Glock. "We now have a special area for the children to be entertained while their parents finish their business," she said. "We are in need of stacking units or shelves, for the toys to sit on. If someone would like to donate them, they would be used."

Jeanie Shinn, the center director, reports the center still has school supplies available for students from low-income families in Bandera County. Mrs. Shinn also stated the center broke its own record in the number of families it was able to help in August. "Their were 69 families in all, and we are pleased we could be here to help," she said.

Oleta Davis, a volunteer at the center stated, "We have some wonderful people who work here at the center, but we are in need of more volunteers to help with clients and also to help with the sorting and rearranging of the clothes." If you like to help people, the Helping Hand Center has a place for you. Come by between the hours of 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Monday thru Friday or call 796-8300.

The center acknowledged memorials from Dorothy Callahan in the names of Alice Hoeneke and Judy Pina.

Meter tampering case to grand jury

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo reported a recent case of meter tampering was investigated by Bandera Electric Co-op personnel and himself.

No arrests have been made, but the case will go to the grand jury for possible indictment on Sept. 27.

Larry Kirk of the Bandera Electric Co-op notified Mingo two co-op employees, Charles Glock and Henry H. (Junior) Saathoff, contacted him when they discovered a meter at a residence in Lakehills had been tampered with. The seal was also broken on the meter. Service to the residence had been interrupted for non-payment of bill, Mingo said.

To tamper with an electric meter is a felony, and Kirk said the Co-op will prosecute anyone found tampering with a meter. It is routine for the Co-op to check meters occasionally unannounced, he said.

Methodists to offer workshop on stress

A stress management workshop will be offered by the Bandera United Methodist Church beginning at 7 p.m. Friday, Sept. 20.

Psychologist Dr. Bill McKay will conduct the sessions which the Rev. Richard Jackson said will be taught from a Christian values perspective.

Sessions are scheduled from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday and 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday. They are open to the public, and persons who wish to register may contact Rev. Jackson at the United Methodist Church.

Bandera County

25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

The Bandera Bulldogs and the St. Joseph's Mustangs geared up the first week of Sept. 1960 to open their football season.

While the Mustangs were to open their season in Hondo, the Bulldogs were scheduled to face the Sabinal Yellow Jackets in their season opener.

The Bandera Bulletin dated Sept. 9, 1960 announced Bulldog captains would be John Alanis, Bryan King, and Ernest Schladoer.

Bandera Elementary school enrollment reached an all-time high the first week of school with a record-breaking 351 students enrolled. At the high school their were 145 students, making the total school enrollment in Bandera 496 students.

New teachers in Bandera in the fall of 1960 were Mr. and Mrs. John Wilton. He was hired to teach arithmetic, boys physical education, and be acting assistant coach. Mrs. Wilton started her teaching career in the homemaking classroom. John O. Poynter was the new band director. New science teacher was William Gumert. Fifth grade teachers hired were Ralph E. Burns for the boys and Mrs. Bob Mansfield.

County Judge O.O. Adams reported assessing the following fines in his court: A case of fraud with worthless checks, fined $50 plus costs. One man was fined $100 plus costs for carrying a concealed weapon. Two men were fined $100 each plus costs for killing and possessing a wild deer out of season.

16 from area attend camps sponsored by Hermann Sons

A record total of 2,325 junior members of Hermann Sons from across Texas, including 16 from the Bandera area, attended the 32nd annual Hermann Sons Youth Camp near Comfort this season, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president of the order, has announced.

Campers from the Bandera

The number of campers, who are boys and girls age nine through 13, was the greatest since the camp opened in 1954, exceeding last summer when 2,177 attended.

The camp, which Engelke called "one of the finest membership benefits of the Order of the Sons of Hermann in Texas," was expanded by some 60 beds before son used to kill the school teacher would be entered in his file. She was shot in the head with a blast from a .22 caliber rifle.

The victim's father told the Bulletin, "I feel the district attorney and judge need to get the matter straightened out and the information needed to TDC and to the Parole Board so Sorensen's eligibility date can be changed to the year 2004.

"We don't want him back on the streets in six or seven years," the victim's father said.

In December there was jockeying among attorneys and arguements on both sides as to whether Sorensen would be given stacked sentences or if the sentences would be served consecutively, or whether he would receive sentences he could serve at the same time, or concurrently. "In either case," Byrd said then, "he will be eligible for the Parole Board in the year 2004."

"He would be eligible to be considered in 20 years whether or not he was found guilty or innocent in the Fredericksburg trial that ended in the conviction.

Frontier Times Museum to revive barbecue

The first annual Frontier Times Autumn Festival on Saturday, Sept. 21, at the museum will feature a barbecued beef brisket dinner, special museum tours, an exhibit of sculpture by local artists, and live music.

Serving will begin at 11 a.m., and will continue until 2 p.m., while tours of the museum will be given from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and from 1 p.m. to 2:30 p.m.

Narration for the tours will be provided by special guest speaker, J. Marvin Hunter Jr., with Mrs. Nettie Hunter Saul and Holly Hevenor. Hunter and Mrs. Saul are descendants of museum founder, J. Marvin Hunter Sr.

Sculptures by local artists Norma Jean Anderwald and Shermalee and L.A. Mack will be on exhibit in the museum's gallery of Western Art.

From 11 a.m. to noon, entertainment will be provided by singer Ballan Grant, and at 12:30 p.m., the Melodiers will present a special concert.

Advance tickets are available at the museum for $4 for adults and $2 for children 12 and under. Prices at the door will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

All donations are tax-deductible and proceeds from the festival will go toward the Museum's expansion fund.

Frontier Times Museum is one of Bandera's most unique attractions, drawing visitors to the area from worldwide. Begun in 1933 by noted author and publisher J. Marvin Hunter Sr. to house his growing personal collection of artifacts, the museum has since grown to contain over 40,000 artifacts from around the world, including many rare and unequaled exhibits.

Unlike any other museum of its size, Frontier Times Museum is owned and operated, not by a foundation or a government, but by the people of Bandera County. The Doane Foundation, which had purchased the museum following Mr. Hunter's death, gave it to the citizens of Bandera County in 1972, and a local board of directors was established to operate the museum.

Frontier Times Museum receives no city, county, or state funding and depends solely upon admission fees, sales of books and jewelry, and donations from the Doane Foundation and private citizens for its survival.

The Friends of Frontier Times Museum, a local organization established in 1981, is a primary source of aid. Yearly memberships are available in a variety of categories: Senior citizens $5, individual $10, family $15, business $25, patron $100, and life member $1,000.

All tax-deductible membership donations entitle the member to a year's unlimited free admission to the museum, including all immediate family members with a family membership. Life members receive perpetual free admission. Members are also consulted on the selection of programs and events offered by the museum.

A variery of such programs, as well as several physical improvements, have been undertaken by the museum during the last year, including the installation of ceiling fans, the construction of a wheelchair ramp to make the Museum more accessible, and the establishment of two signs directing visitors to the museum.

The enormous task of cataloging the thousands of artifacts in the museum is being performed by local Junior High American history teacher, Holly Hevenor.

A collection of jewelry depicting various artifacts in the museum has been created by Scorpio and is now for sale at the museum, along with the various books, many written and published by Hunter.

A seminar on Indian artifacts found at Oak Country was sponsored by the museum during July, and plans for additional seminars and lectures on other subjects are underway, including some involving school children.

The museum has also sponsored sculptor Norma Jean Anderwald in several art shows, and plans to sponsor additional local artists in the future and exhibit their work at the museum.

The most ambitious and one museum officials call the most needed plans involves enlarging and expanding the museum.

People from Canada, England, France, Germany, Turkey, Japan and Mexico and 32 states in addition to Texas have visited the museum during the past three months. Still officials feel many citizens of Bandera County are unaware of Frontier Times Museum and all it has to offer.

The Board of Directors and members of the Friends of Frontier Times Museum are trying to change this by making every effort to involve the local people in the Museum's activities, they say.

The Frontier Times Autumn Festival on Sept. 21, is one way of doing this while reviving Mr. Hunter's traditional museum barbecues of years past.

Many area people recall his barbecues, as well as their enjoyable and entertaining visits to the museum, while Hunter was alive.

Artist Joanna Burch of Lake Jackson has been visiting the Twin Elm Guest Ranch in Bandera for two years, and this summer she presented Frank Anderwald, ranch owner, with a lifelike watercolor of himself getting his western gear on to go to the rodeo. She named the painting, "A Real Bandera Cowboy." The painting is on display at the Cowboy Capitol Western Art Gallery for a limited time. She has placed in numerous shows and exhibits all over Texas in recent years. Western Art Gallery owner D. W. (Speedy) Hicks said the painting was a good likeness of Anderwald.

Weather

Rain came Thursday night with much thunder and lightening. Most everyone had one inch of slow rain, but it was rather spotted and some in the area had two inches. It cooled the hot temperatures off somewhat, however.

Last Rites

We extend deepest sympathy to the family and friends of Mr. W. L. (Bill) Shupp who died Tuesday, in a hospital in McAllen at 85 years of age. Mr. Shupp also had a home in the Rio Hondo area and many friends that will miss him here.

Recently he and his wife Edith had attended services at the Tarpley Baptist Church and it was his wedding anniversary.

Dallas visitors

Some of those from the Rio Hondo area who attended funeral services for their former neighbor and friend Jim Frear were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hietalahti, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hausmann, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. (Bill) Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Perry, Mr. and Mrs. Foster Byrd, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Erfurt, Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Holt, Duke Duclos, Helen Bryant and Ann Sullivan.

Jim Frear and his wife were here recently for the community dinner at the Rio Hondo area park. Interment was at Fort Sam National Cemetery in San Antonio. Our deepest sympathy to his family.

Visitors

Tarpley Baptist Church visitors Sunday were Charles Thompson of Cape Coral, Florida and his niece, La Rue and Harp of Tarpley.

Return from Pennsylvania

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Schmidt, accompanied by Velma Saathoff of Hondo and Evelyn Schmidt of Bandera, left on Thursday, Aug. 29 for Pennsylvania on U.S.-Airways plane.

They visited with Willie's brother Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Schmidt and family at Westfield and enjoyed many reunions with the Arthur and Otto Schmidts families.

In Sodus, N.Y., they visited Willie's neice, Loraine and Harry Young, and enjoyed seeing Lake Ontario. In Rochester, N.Y., they visited Willie's niece, Phyllis and Harley Linza.

They returned home Wednesday, reporting a lovely vacation.

It was also a wedding anniversary trip for Olga and Willie.

Report lovely trip

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell and children Dawn and Robert have returned from a fun vacation as well as the celebration of their 10th wedding anniversary.

They spend two days in Missouri in the Ozark mountains, and also visited Winston Salem, N.C.; Ashville, N.C., Danville, KY., home of her mother, Lorraine Marshall, and David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell.

Maj. Terry Hull will be visiting with the Willie Schmidts for the next three weeks. He is from Clark AFB, Phillipines, and is attending a seminar at Lackland AFB. He is the nephew of Olga Schmidt.

Farewell dinner

Arthur and Georgia Mae Erfurt hosted a delicious steak dinner with all the trimmings honoring Hilda and Jack Caldwell of Conway, Ark.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Erfurt and Don David of Bandera, Dottie Erfurt of Bandera, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Erfurt of New Braunfels (Arthur's uncle), Nora Anderson of Hondo, Mr. and Mrs. Artie Erfurt and Sara of Bandera, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sandidge and children Matt and Carrie of Tarpley, Marcia Erfurt and Less Short of Bandera.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Clarlo — 796-8225

The Medina Lake Regulars was established a few years ago in the Wharton's Dock area to promote friendship, harmony among members and neighbors in the Medina Lake area, and to raise funds to benefit charitable organizations.

For lack of membership participation, the current elected officers voted to dissolve the Medina Lake Regulars and divide the balance of funds equally, donating to Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department, Walker Memorial Chapel and American Cancer Society research.

Dolly Sarran says "Hello" to all her friends and neighbors here in the Wharton's Dock area. Dolly is staying with her daughter, Margie Beatty, in McAllen.

Ida Klaus is doing fine and staying with her grandaughter Francie Ann Bendele in San Antonio.

Butch and Irene Highnote used their Bingo winnings Wednesday to celebrate their 39th wedding anniversary.

The first-Saturday-of-the-month community covered-dish dinner at the Copper Lantern on Sept. 7 drew a large crowd and plenty of good food. All returned home that night with a full stomach and memories of a good time.

The Walker Memorial Chapel has purchased more chairs and hymnals to accomodate its growing congregation.

Correction on last week's article concerning the next dinner for the Walker Memorial Chapel: It is not a covered-dish dinner, but a catered one to be held on Sept. 20 at 7 p.m. at the First National Bank board room.

This will be part of the festivities celebrating the first anniversary of the beginning of the Walker Memorial Chapel.

Reservations for the dinner on Sept. 20 must be made by Sept. 15. There is a $5 per person charge. Please notify Lenna Walker at 796-3997.

The Rev. Paul Flanders' home in San Antonio has been sold, and he and his family will be moving into our area on Sept. 16.

Clyde Duggie was bit or stung by what was believed to be a brown spider. We hope Clyde gets over this faster than he did a year ago when he was also stung by a spider.

Hi,

There's so much excitement building every day in the shop, I've just got to share it with you. I just received a line called Fire Islander, it's a collection of Missy Separates ranging in size from 6 to 18 and it's just outstanding! The pieces are vibrantly alive in grays, blacks, eggplant and eggshell. The jackets are easy wear in either unconstructed for the updated career woman or tailored for the more conservative and each one mixes or matches with the skirts, pants, blouses or sweaters in the set. The line is just sensational, because of its versatility. You can wear it and look great at frosty evening football games, or out to a special dinner and still wear it for a professional look at the office. The line has so many great points in addition to the look, like its easy care qualities and the fine hand of the fabric, but best of all is the price. It's so affordable, it makes investment dressing easy even on a budget. I could go on and on, but you just have to see it.

Also in, a new shipment of Lorraine and Movie Star lingerie and robes. There are beautiful little satiny tops with matching tap pants all trimmed in lace so feminine and soft and so devastating at the same time. There are little Teddys with matching robes all in pink lace and baby dolls, night shirts and traditional gowns all beautifully detailed with ribbons or lace. The robes are pastel soft, fluffy and just right for cuddling into on the forthcoming winter nights.

Got to run now, still more things coming in every day — Hurry by and see me, I'll be looking for you.

Always,
Janett

P.S. Aerobics classes are resuming again and I've got the look that's right. Lady Wilson tights, leotards, leg warmers and aerobic socks in a gorgeous array of colors.

Medina

Tootie Mayfield 589-2491

Judy and Johnny Moore were honored with a surprise housewarming.

The following people were there: Allen and Kay Keese, Paul and Betty Garrison, Jerry and Ann Huie, Tom and Faye Carpenter, Lou and Ralph Chancy, Kim Cockrill, Steve, Carolyn and Stephanie Sells, Zelda Moore, Stephen Jenkins, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Brown and De and Mrs. Jacob Cockrill.

Sick

Vernon William was taken to the Veterans hospital in Kerrville after a fall. It was reported that he didn't break any bones, but he isn't doing too well.

Sue Keiser is home after spending several days in a hospital in San Antonio. She is reported to be making slow progress in getting well, but Susie's "hanging in there," as she always does.

Hoyesse Grobe is home and out walking every day, trying to prepare herself for open heart surgery when she's stronger.

John E. Fee is home and doing real well, it was reported.

Visitors

Dulce Finney, who lives at the Edgewater Care Center in Kerrville (formerly the Colonial Nursing Home), spent several days with her daughter and husband, Murry and Mary Le Stourgeon. Dulce is reportedly excited over her new great grandchild.

Gary and Kirk Stokes and children were here over the weekend, visiting with family members, Iney Mayfield, Maya Lay, and Larry and La Nell Kirk.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Justice had as their guests Saturday her niece, Mrs. De Vean Grammer, her husband Bob, granddaughter Amy Melissa from Jonestown, Mrs. Annis Charters from Hill Top in Kerrville, Aubrey Stokes from Falfurrias.

Mr. and Mrs. Darby of Longville and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sturdevant of San Antonio visited the Joe Justices and Judy and Larry Joe Pederson, who are now making their home in Medina.

Birthday

Richard and Kay Mayfield had a birthday gathering at their home for son Rick's birthday, Saturday. Several family members enjoyed hamburgers, cake and homemade ice cream. Those present were grandparents Mike and Minnie Pember of Bandera, Carl Walker, Linden and Stella Wheeler, Shirley and Stan Kendrick of Bandera, and William Mayfield of Medina.

Family Reunion

The children and decendents of the late Ellis and Claudie (Smith) Sutherland got together for their first annual reunion at the home of daughter Wink Thornsberry and brother Cohn Sutherland, who has been in bad health for years. Wink and Cohn are the only surviving children of the Sutherlands. The families all came from places like Dallas, Irving, Waco, Beaumont, McAllen, Hebbronville, Goldwater, Camp Wood, Austin, Kerrville, Bandera and of course Medina. It was reported the families all had a wonderful time and voted to have another next year.

Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Smokey Harrison honored Clara Kelly on her birthday with a catfish lunch at the Trails End Restaurant last Friday. Other friends who joined them were Virgie Gilbert, Nora Hinds and Severa Jones.

That night Clara was again taken out for dinner at the Trails End by her son and wife, Linden and Geraldine Kelly of Houston.

Elayne Mille, Freida Walker and Tootie Mayfield went to Austin Sunday and while there visited with daughter and sister Debbie Walker.

Part of Monday was spent sightseeing in and around the capitol which was beautiful. Then came back by San Antonio, and Elayne, her husband Buddy and Frieda surprised Tootie with an early birthday dinner at the famous Barn Door restaurant.

The big sign on top of the restaurant read "Happy Birthday Tootie." After the meal, I was treated with a birthday cake and singing of Happy Birthday.

New Baby

Little Miss Kelly Faris Jackson made her debut into this world at 3:02 P.M. on Sept. 27 weighing 5 lbs.10½ oz. and 18" long.

She is being welcomed by her parents Pat and Cathy Jackson of La Porte, Grandparents Jack and Mary Jackson also of La Porte, great-grandmother Dulce Jackson of Edgewater Care Center in Kerrville, Uncle and Aunt Murry and Mary Le Stourgeon of Medina.

Trips

Jim and Tina Hill, Andy and Ruth Whiteley of Medina, Naomi Carlson of San Antonio and James Sitchler of Laredo, recently returned from a World Explorer Cruise to Alaska.

They boarded the SS Universe at Vancouver, B.C. and spent a day cruising Glacier Bay, hearing the Snap, Crackle and Pop of melting ice breaking away from its glaciers. They called it the "calving."

They also took a scenic train ride that transferred passengers to Anchorage, a city of 230,000 persons. Wrangell is one of the towns in Alaska and the home of the Hingit Indian. The beach at the north end of town contains petroglyphs 8,000 years old. At Ketchukean they get average rainfall of 160 in a year, but the sun was shining the day the group docked. The town also boasts the largest totem pole collections in the world.

During the Alaska cruise season, June thru August, a lecture series concerning Alaska is conducted by eminent professors for the cruise passengers to provide them with background information. It made for a most enjoyable and interesting cruise and the folks report they are ready to go again. The scenery was breathtaking.

Perhaps a few faithful readers may have noticed the total eclipse of the Senior Citizens column in last weeks Bulletin. Please be advised that your reporter was in Pasadena, Tex., at the wedding of No. 4 grandson at press time. However a column was composed by two volunteers from the Silver Sage Corral, which was subsequently displaced by news of football games, rodeos, school openings, and other trivial pursuits.

Past Pleasures

A history of last week would have to include the fabulous biscuit and gravy breakfast on Tuesday morning. It is a first-Tuesday tradition by now to have breakfast once a month at the Corral.

Then there was dancing to the Silver Tones Friday night, featuring old tunes in new arrangements, soft lights and cool rhythms. The Center offers special thanks to the volunteer musicians, and regrets that the occasion of this dance was not noted in the calendar.

Preceding the dance, which by the way attracted a considerable number of out-of-town visitors, the Melodiers met for rehearsal at 5 p.m. and then proceeded to Purple Hills where they presented to the patients a preview of the program they will be singing for the Frontier Times Museum's barbecue on Sept. 21.

Their next practice is scheduled for 5 p.m. on Friday Sept. 20.

Future Features

Each month more seniors gather to enjoy celebrating each others' birthdays. There is presently room for a few more, since it is a covered-dish dinner at noon on Tuesday Sept. 17. September's children claim the sapphire as their birthstone, which according to some authorities signifies "clear thinking." The purple aster is recognized to be the natal flower. And think of all the appropriate songs that could be sung in their honor: "September Song," "September in the Rain," "Shine On Harvest Moon"—even a "Faded Summer Love..."

The Bandera Hills chapter of AARP meets at the Silver Sage Corral on Wednesday Sept. 18 at 2 p.m. A program, which includes a Silver Pages promotion, and another unusual program, says Doloras Green, program chairman.

Dorothy Reddus of Hondo will review, in costume, a book called "Life of a Homesteader," written by an authentic pioneer woman of Texas.

A slate of officers for 1986 will be presented by the nominating committee.

AARP meetings are open to the public, especially those over 50 (note the lowering of the membership age requirement).

The Lakehills chapter of AARP has invited Banderans to two upcoming programs: a film and consultant presentation of colorectal cancer, to be held at the American Legion Hall on Monday, Sept. 23, 1:30 p.m., and the Dallas-based expert's discussion of AARP supplemental insurance, to be heard at the same place on Monday, Oct. 28.

A spokesman for the Rockhounds group announces that its regular meeting will be at the Silver Sage Corral at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 19. A proposed constitution will be discussed and nominations for officers will be made. The public is welcome to attend.

Mary Worley, Leader of the Art Group formerly meeting on Thursday mornings, has reported a change of day, to Fridays, from 9 a.m. to 11 a.m.

On Sept. 13, Clarence Hosmer promises to begin teaching bridge to any and all comers. Well-known for his square-dancing prowess as well as his dexterity at bridge, Hosmer will gear the class to the needs of its members, particularly those who have forgotten, or never acquired, the skills attendant to the enjoyment of this social accomplishment.

Memo to Mickey and Fred

To Fred Collins of The Workshop: It was a great thing you did for the seniors, in providing a box for them at the Cowboy Capital Rodeo in Mansfield Park over the Labor Day weekend.

To Mickey Taylor of Tarpley: That beautiful satellite receiving system sitting out back of the Silver Sage Corral is the magnanimous gift of Mickey's Taylor Electronics, Lynn Holt of the Tarpley General Store, and SRC Industries of the Village West Industrial Park in Kerrville.

The eight of the large white disc will remind everyone of their generosity, and bring much pleasure to visitors to the center. Whenever there are satellite programs which a group of seniors would like to view, arrangements may be made thru the office at 796-3490 for a viewing party on Thursday, Friday, or Saturday nights, or Sunday afternoons.

Wayfaring seniors

Some of the seniors survived the long, hot summer by skipping town. For example, Eleanor Merritt and Louise Nowlin spend the entire summer in Merritt's trailer at Ruidoso, N.M.

Reveling in the same cool air, but for a shorter time was Marie Holland, while Doloras Greene spent a week with her daughter and family in Logan, Utah, where they went camping in the mountains.

Harold Sherman — Spanish teacher at the Corral —, y su esposa, spent the Labor Day weekend in Austin. John and Judy Goodenough were not looking for, nor did they find, "coolth" in attending the 40-year reunion of John's 757th Tank Battalion at St. Louis. They were rewarded with meeting old Army compadres, touring Grant's Farm and the Gateway Arch, riding a riverboat, and later making a visit to the Great Smokey Mountains.

Memorials

Memorials given to the Silver Sage Corral, or Senior Activity Center, are placed in the Bandera County Committee on Aging Endowment Fund, a permanent fund whose income does now, and will continue to help fund ongoing expenses for senior activities.

Received in the last two weeks were memorials for Peter Sondren, Lane Langford and Lizzie Heisler from Betty A. Ruede; for Lang Langford and E. L. Baker Sr. from Floyd and Dorothy Wyatt; and for Albert Elkins, from Darrell Elkins.

Why exercise?

The National Institute of Health calls exercise the most effective anti-aging "pill" ever discovered. It improves bodily function and decreases the chance of malfunction, benefiting the heart, lungs, muscles, joints, and blood vessels, not to mention the oxygen-carrying blood supply itself.

The Sagettes, meeting at the Silver Sage Corral Monday, Wednesday and Friday under the leadership of Gloria Carlson, provide a variety of beneficial exercises for physical fitness.

A new type of exercise is being introduced with special social advantages. It's called "line-dancing."

Dancing provides excellent exercise with the added attraction of moving to rhythmic music. In line-dancing, partners are not required and the steps are done arm-in-arm or side-by-side in a row.

The Center is fortunate to have the teaching talents of June Westmeyer, of Pipe Creek, to lead this new group, which will begin Tuesday Sept. 17 at 4 p.m. and continue on Thursdays and Tuesdays at the same hour.

Anyone, at any level of fitness, can participate, they say.

Bandera students among vocational nursing grads

Two Bandera students, were among the graduates of the Vocational Nursing class at Schreiner College Aug. 26 in Dietert Chapel Auditorium.

Program director Mrs. June Gibbons, RN, and instructor Mrs. Karen Malloy, RN, BSN, presented each student with class pins and Bibles. Diplomas were issued by college president Dr. Sam M. Junkin.

Graduates include Jonel Cason, A. Leigh Mason, and Yvonne Ritter from Kerrville; Petti McClellan, Gary Rodriguez, and Georette Daversa Ayala from Ingram; Margaret Stell from Hunt; Toni Beaver, Mary Bluemel and Laura Lee from Center Point; Lyn Hamilton from Fredericksburg; Robert Lightfoot from Boerne; Linda Heinen and Margie Morgenstern and Gwen Stoops from Bandera; Joe Puckett and Louise Viduare from Junction; Magda de la Fuente from Laredo; and Donald Nied from Tow.

Giconda Lee and Margie Morgenstern were presented awards for academic achievement by Mrs. Gibbons and Mrs. Malloy.

Evelyn Dutton, director of nursing at the Kerrville State Hospital, was the guest speaker. She reminded the graduates that in their profession there is no room for errors, and to never end the learning process. She was honored with a "Community Appreciation Award" by Mrs. Gibbons and Mrs. Malloy for her continued support and contributions to the VN students and the Schreiner program.

The graduates will become licensed vocational nurses when they pass the state board exams in October.

Margie Teich of Bandera was selected Bandera County Artist of the Month by fellow members of the Bandera Arts and Crafts Club. Five-year-old grandson John T. Garvick points to an eagle in one of her landscapes. She has been painting in oils for four years. The native Banderan says she has undertaken painting portraits of her seven grandchildren recently.

Medina Lake Shrine Club clowns "Bo" Bill Angell and "Kowbo," Tony Kruse showed up at the First National Bank in Bandera Friday with Shrine Club president Gene Lnue. They received little resistance from Nell Zunker, vice president at the bank when they entered their sales pitch. The Shriners are selling ticket books to business and individuals in the county so senior citizens and school kids in the 4th and 5th grades in Bandera and Medina schools and youngsters at the Medina Children's Home can attend the Shriners Circus.

A trip to Cajun Country

The fifth annual Great Gumbo Cookoff on Sept. 28 at the Lakehills Civic Center promises to be a trip to Louisiana's "Cajun Country" for all that attend.

Sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, the annual event is attracting inquiries from all along the Gulf Coast from Louisiana to the Rockport area, says MLBA director Bob Caswell.

"We have been drawing from 3,000 to 4,000 people for three years and this year we hope to see 5,000," Bob Caswell, the cookoff originator says.

Volunteers have been working for several weeks now preparing booths to house food concessions, games, and entertainment features.

Food booths will include barbecued shrimp, lots of gumbo, shrimp etouffe', red beans and rice, sausage-on-a-stick, hot dogs, popcorn, beignet, fajitas, and pecan pralines. For the thirsty, wine coolers, beer, sodas, and tea and coffee will be in abundance.

For the kids and young at heart there will be a dance contest, carnival games, fortune teller, air castle, and other fun games.

Musical entertainment is scheduled from 1 p.m. on until after dark with the Country Shufflers and Southern Music Transport.

The gates will be open at noon and each person paying the $1 admission fee will be eligible for door prizes to be drawn at 4 p.m.

The big prize will be a lot at beautiful Medina Lake donated by Lakehills realtor Panchita Thomson.

Gumbo judging will begin at 2 p.m. and trophies will be given for first, second, third, Showmanship, and for the first time trophy says MLBA president Peggy Ashmore. Those attending the cookoff will be able to cast their own vote for the gumbo they think is the best.

Well known auctioneer Joe Walters will start the auction at 4 p.m.

Gumbo blends the Louisiana influence

America is often called "the Great Melting Pot," and some critics would argue that the blending of cultures has produced a cuisine in the United States that is homogeneous and bland, says Bob Caswell, originator and founder of the Great Gumbo Cookoff.

"True, America is the home of the free, it's also the home of the Big Mac, Hamburger Helper, Kentucky Fried Chicken, and frozen T.V. dinners," Caswell proclaims.

But, fortunately," he continues, "there are also areas where unique regional cookery still survives, and perhaps nowhere as strongly as Cajunland, known as the state of Louisiana.

"True, you can find a Big Mac there if you really want one," he says. "But why? You can enjoy such tasty delicacies as crawfish bisque, eggplant stuffed with shrimp and crab, red beans and rice, jambalaya, and the dish that probably epitomizes Cajun and Creole cooking the most, file' gumbo.

Gumbo is a dish which blends all the influences which produce Louisiana cuisine, Caswell explains.

The pioneer French woman who used the ingredients of game, seafood, vegetables, and herbs she found in the land and molded them with the cooking techniques of her native France, he advises.

"The native African who used her magic with herbs was an important contributor, he says, as was the American who added her exotic, spicy flavor associated with Creole food; and the Spanish influence added their touch.

"The attorney says "file" in gumbo is derived from the Indian spice sassafras, and was introduced by the Indians to the New Orleans settlers at the French Market. "Gumbo is almost anything," he says. "Seafood is common," he says, "but also chicken, turkey, game, sausage, or a combination is also popular. You may find vegetables such as okra, onions, green peppers, celery, garlic, parsley, or tomatoes used in combination in gumbo, too.

"You may be sure," Caswell assures, "in good gumbo you will always find a roux, a mixture of browned flour and bacon grease or oil. It is browned slowly over a fire to a deep copper-penny color, and it gives the gumbo it's rich flavor.

"This first step is always the most important," he says.

"The Great Gumbo Cookoff in Lakehills serves gumbo with the same pride as any of the fine restaurants in New Orleans, or for that matter anywhere in Louisiana," Caswell says.

Gumbo Pour La Famile

"It's just what the doctor ordered." Gumbo for the whole family...and lots of it! Fresh shrimp, sausage and chicken plus good garden greens (lovingly brewed together) will stop that awful rumbling in the tummy and is sure to please any cajuns taste.

There's a cajun saying that goes like this—"The more gumbo that you eat, the closer you get to that big crawfish pie in the sky." (I'll admit to probably being the first to say it.) La Famile De Gumbo hopes to see all of you when that big pie gets sliced. Meanwhile, there's lots of gumbo to eat. Ce' Bon!

Water in small amounts will make this easier. Do as often as necessary until okra has stewed. (approx. 45 minutes.)

C.) Combine roux and okra in large pot (1 or 2 gal.) add ½ gallon of water. Bring to boil.

D.) Add shrimp, sausage, and chicken to water and bring to boil. Reduce heat to medium.

E.) The finale—reduce heat to low and add ½ dozen hard boiled eggs. Tips on seasoning:

Begin with small portions of each. 1. Add salt to taste. 2. Add cayene to taste. 3. Add black pepper to taste.

The best of grandmother's secrets are here to share with you! The proportions will make approximately 1 gallon. All seasonings

GI Gumbo originated during War of 1812

GI Gumbo was first cooked and served to the American Army and Civilian Volunteers during the War of 1812, by cajun cooks pressed into service by Andrew Jackson's forces. The original recipe fed 2,100 of Jackson's men and the ingredients were purchased (sometimes taken and/or begged) from the local residents. After the victory over the British at New Orleans, by General Jackson's forces, the cooks were no longer needed and the recipe was used only now and then. The last recorded full scale meal served using this recipe was in the spring of 1815.

1 lb. smoked sausage
2 bell peppers
4 onions (chopped fine)
2 cups of okra
2 lbs. shrimp
4 qts. of spring water
8 T. of flour
1 cup celery (chopped)
2 whole chickens
1 T. minced parsley

Place sliced sausage in large pot and fry to brown. Remove sausage from pot and brown flour. Add okra and fry over low heat. Add pepper, celery, onion and parsley. Then add water, shrimp and chicken and cook until done. Add sausage (cover tightly) and let set 30 minutes before serving. (Other meats of your choice may be used instead of shrimp and chicken.)

Lakehills

Lila MacMillan — 751-2586

There was a lot of excitement Tuesday morning as the sun rose and 30 cement trucks pulled up to the gate at Thousand Trails near Lake Medina. A "monolithic" slab was poured for the resort's 80-feet x 162-feet Family Lodge. Overseeing the pouring of 280 cubic yards of cement was Thousand Trails' engineer Randy Longacre of Dallas. The cement-truck convoy left San Antonio at 6 a.m. and the trucks began arriving in Lakehills at sunup. Thousand Trails officials predict the lodge will be completed in November.

EMS group calls Sept. 19 meeting

The Lakehills EMS Support Team's board has finished drafting it's proposal for the by-laws of the newly formed organization, president Peggy Galland reports.

An open meeting will be held Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m. at American Legion Post 410 for public approval of the proposed by-laws, prior to filing the charter.

"As you know, the by-laws are the backbone of any organization, and we're hoping that our proposal is what the community had in mind when they elected us," Galland said. "If not, they need to come forward and say so," she said.

"This will be the first public meeting of the organization and we would really welcome the input of all interested in the welfare of the local EMS. The board is looking forward to an open and frank discussion as to the direction and future of the organization," Galland continued.

MLVFD elects new slate

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department elected Erle Denton president, Tuesday, Bill Mooney has returned as vice president, and Smokey Settlemeyer was elected secretary, Gib Gray, treasurer, Pinky Hood sergeant-at-arms, Clint Oehler, fire chief, Ralph Dresser, first assistant, Marion Heisler, second assistant and Charles Blair third assistant.

Boots Laue, Gene Laue, Ray Mauer, and Dave Nobel will make up the board of directors.

The firemen will receive a sizable contribution from the ladies auxiliary to help drill a well on property recently purchased as site of the new firehouse, June Settlemeyer reported.

The auxiliary elected officers at it's meeting on Monday evening. Minnie Turner was returned as president, vice president is Dorothy Alatorre, Louise Fernald is secretary, and treasurer is Eleanor Laue.

New directories will be available at the next meeting, Settlemeyer said, as well as the up-dated by-laws.

Peck's 'accepted' at West Point

Wayne C. Peck, son of Jud and Peggy Ashmore of Lakehills, has been officially accepted into the U.S. Military Academy's Corps of Cadets as a new member of the class of 1989 during the annual acceptance parade.

The parade followed six weeks of rigorous basic cadet training at the West Point, N.Y., academy.

Training in military customs and courtesies, drill and physical conditioning, tactical exercises and the firing of weapons introduced the basic cadets to military life with special emphasis on leadership, duty, honor and country.

The academy is a four-year educational institution graduating men and women to serve as career Army officers. In addition to military training, the academy offers athletics and an academic curriculum which includes basic and engineering sciences and social sciences and the humanities.

The new cadet is a graduate of Bandera High School.

Date changed for driving class

A 55-Alive Driving Class, sponsored by the Medina Lake Chapter of American Association of Retired Persons, will be held Sept. 26 and 27.

Instructor June Settlemeyer said the date was changed because of a conflict of events being held at the Lakehills United Methodist Church earlier in the week.

Classes will be from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. both days, she said. There are nine people enrolled in the class for folks over 55 years of age. Those completing the course will be eligible for a discount off their insurance rate, she says.

Anyone still wishing to enroll may do so by calling Settlemeyer at 751-2297. Classes are limited.

Membership dinner planned for Legion

A barbecue dinner and drinks will be free to members of the American Legion Post 410 and prospective members on Sept. 21 at 6 p.m., says Bill Angell, vice commander. Auxiliary members and prospective members will also be dining free, he said.

Cash door prizes will be given away. To be eligible for the cash members must have their 1986 membership cards.

"Efforts to acquire a band for the evenings entertainment have been unsuccessful," Angell said. Anyone knowing of a musical group willing to play for dinner and drinks, contact Richard Mixon, post commander, at 751-2100 or Angell at 751-2817.

All members are encouraged to come join the fun and bring a prospective member along.

Powell clan settled over 300 years

Bob and Fran Powell of Jones Beach in Lakehills returned recently to his birthplace in Finlay, Ohio for the annual reunion of the Powell clan, which was held in Riverside Park on Aug. 25.

Riverside Park is the original setting on the Blanchard River where Tell Taylor wrote the well-known songs, "Golden Oldie" and "Down by the Old Mill Stream," Powell said.

Powell's great-great-grandfather migrated from Wales to America in 1685 and settled in Finlay.

The Powells joined 172 relatives from California, Arizona, New Mexico, Kansas, Ohio, Florida and Texas at the reunion. The oldest present was 91 years and the couple married the longest was 65 years.

Preparations for the tri-centennial celebration started 10 years ago, Powell said, and a book containing the genealogy was published. The book gives the history of each of the descendants of the great-grandfather, Andrew Powell, for whom the reunion was celebrated, says Powell.

Currently, there are approximately 1,050 relatives of the Andrew Powell clan throughout the United States.

"It has been well-known," Powell boasts, "you will never find a Powell in the poor house or in jail."

Condolences

Our heartfelt sympathy to the family and loved ones of Beulah Gutschke of San Antonio. She died Sept. 6. She and her husband Otto were frequent visitors to Medina Lake where they were guests of her daughter and son-in-law Louise and Jim Terry.

Immunization clinic

The Texas Department of Health will have a Children's Immunization Clinic Sept. 18. It will be from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills.

There is no charge for the immunizations. Parents should bring their records with them.

Crafty Ladies celebrate in Boerne

Evie Angell and Heidi Stockinger were honored at the Aug. 29 monthly birthday party held by the Crafty Ladies of Lakehills. The group traveled to Boerne for a luncheon at the Kendall House.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

AMERICANISM is loving individual freedom and dignity so much that you work at it — and don't deny to your fellowman the same freedom and dignity that you seek for yourself — because when he loses his freedom, the time could not be far off when the loss of your freedom will follow.

AMERICANISM is concentrating more on loving than hating... So, being a good American is not easy. It calls for a great deal more than just paying taxes and voting for someone whose record you haven't found the time to look up. Being an American means you worry a lot about the social, economic and political inequities in your country. It means taking part in Community Activities. It means loving your children and family. It means simple things like keeping your own home and neighborhood neat and clean... because you are proud to be able to own a piece of property that you come by honestly... Yes, Americanism means so many things that they can not all be put down on paper or expressed orally... It means being strong... but not bullying. It means being right... but not arrogant in your self-confidence. It means loving life and freedom... but not at the expense of others. It means... most of all... individual freedom... and the dignity of man.

All this is what it means to be an American....

More Lakehills

Once a month members treat those with birthdays to a lunch at the place of their choice.

The group meets regularly each Thursday at the American Legion Post home in Lakehills. Everyone brings a covered dish and brings a craft of their choice to the post home at 11 a.m.

On Aug. 22 the membership was introduced to oil painting by Pipe Creek artist Sylvia Berlad.

Lloyd explains projects to UMW

The Lakehills United Methodist Women heard an explanation of their annual Pledge Program, explained by Blanche Lloyd on Sept. 4. She also went over several other projects the women support worldwide.

A reading program was initiated by the women who may choose from a wide variety of books published on a list from the United Methodist Women. New books will be placed in the permanent church library, she said.

A guest, Ruth Tomlin was welcomed by the 16 members present. Helen Kerr and Margaret Talk served refreshments.

Next meeting will be Oct. 2 at 1:30 p.m. at the Lakehills United Methodist Church. All women in the community are invited to attend, Alice Lundblad said, and child care is available.

Sell-a-bration a success

The Hermann Sons Sell-a-bration got underway at 8 a.m. Sunday and wound down mid-afternoon. Lodge members prepared breakfast tacos for about 150 hungry breakfast seekers and later in the day served snacks and refreshments to the large crowd that came to browse for bargains at the flea market.

Officials said few people left empty handed. There were lots of bargains in housewares, clothing, books, plants and whatnots.

Funds raised at the celebration will go toward the building fund to renovate the recently purchased lodge home on Park Road 37

Birthdays celebrated

Two Lakehills residents were honored with birthday celebrations by friends last week.

Friends and relatives honored Jack Bartlett Tuesday evening and celebrated his 70th birthday on the patio of Fiddlin' Around.

The morning coffee crowd gathered Saturday morning at Fiddlin' Around to surprise Gordon Nordland on his 50th birthday with cake and coffee.

Bartlett told the 50 friends and relatives gathered Tuesday it was his first birthday and he really enjoyed it. He is retired from the railroad. Crossword puzzles, cooking, and picking the bass guitar are among his favorite pastimes.

Music provided by Grady Mann, Chuck Harrison, Jack Bartlett and Art Holt was interrupted only by the serving of finger foods and the traditional birthday cake.

Nordland which began with the cake baked by Mimi Lavarre continued all day.

He and his wife were surprised by an afternoon celebration when their children and grandchildren came in from San Antonio, then they were entertained at a dinner party given by Dorothy and Travis Latham at their home. Then, cocktails and finger foods with their neighbors when they returned home.

Chupp is now a registered nurse

Kathleen Chupp moved to Lakehills in May after graduating from Genesee Community College in Batonia, N.Y., to be near her parents, long-time Lakehills residents Don and Fern Mac Donald.

Chupp has received her Texas license as a registered nurse and is employed in the obstetrical department at Bexar County Medical Center.

Residents on the mend

Gertrude Dohrow reports Norris is resting comfortably in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Kerrville. His sister is staying at their home and she and Gert are taking turns spending time at the hospital with Norris.

Bob Mazurek of Mico is recuperating at the Heritage Nursing Home in Hondo since his release from the Medina Memorial Hospital. He is the father of Ruth Tschirhart of Lakehills and Maxine Zinsmeister of Mico.

Elaine Mixon is getting out and about with the aid of a walker. She says she is taking it slow and easy while the broken hip mends, but it's good to be out and seeing all her friends again.

Mimi Lavarre hopes to be home the end of next week. She was taken to Southwest Methodist Hospital by Lakehills EMS Saturday where doctors ran tests to determine what's wrong. On Sunday she said the pain had subsided and she was feeling much better, as a matter of fact she was wishing someone would smuggle in a cup of coffee for her.

Preston Boggs is recuperating at home now, after his hospital stay. The Gumbo Cookoff wouldn't seem the same without him in the crowd. Last year he was serving fajitas.

Gwynn Lackey is home now recuperating after spending time in the hospital. She said the heart attack took a lot out of her but she's feeling stronger each day now.

It's good to see Jerry Mauer's smiling face out around the lake again. She's back spreading her good cheer after a stay in the hospital.

Frances Garren is reported to be on the mend after two months in bed. Hopefully she'll be back up and down the road real soon.

New residents in Castle Lake

The Castle Lake community welcomes new residents, Steve and Linda Gold. He's the general manager at Rathke Motors in Bandera.

Helen Delores Neuser, 58, of Bandera escaped with only minor cuts and abrasions when her new Chevrolet Blazer rolled over Monday on Highway 16 about four miles south of Pipe Creek. "Good thing she was wearing her seat belt," said DPS trooper Dan Butts. "Her injuries could have been much more serious." She was driving along the shoulder to allow faster morning traffic to pass when the road surface changed to gravel, she reported. The vehicle went out of control and rolled over. "She was not traveling at an excessive speed," Butts said. Pipe Creek emergency medical technicians administered first aid at the scene. The mishap occured at shortly before 7 p.m. Monday.

Pipe Creek

Homemakers return after summer rest

Pipe Creek Extension Homemakers' Club resumed regular meetings after a summer's rest.

The 13 members and one guest met at the home of Bernice Helgrin last week. Shut-in Edith Edwards from Purple Hills Nursing Home was warmly welcomed by all her friends. She is a charter member of the Pipe Creek club.

"In keeping with the club's spirit of community service," Anita Booher, spokeswoman, said, "an extra donation was voted to Helping Hand of Bandera County. Regular monthly gifts will continue," she said.

Guest speaker Peggy Edwards, Bandera County Home Extension agent, spoke on improving the memory. "Some helpful suggestions were made to help everyone overcome this common problem," Booher said.

Organizational meeting for church

The Pipe Creek Community Center will be the site of an organizational meeting Sunday to form a Presbyterian church in the community.

A delegation from the Boerne Presbyterian Church and Ron Graham of the Presbyterian Council in San Antonio will be there at 4 p.m.

All area residents are invited to attend and bring their families. The purpose of the meeting is to find out if the community will support a church and if enough area residents are interested in forming one.

Refreshments will be served, Rett Campbell, spokeswoman said, for more information call 535-4189 or 535-4700.

Frost National Bank promotes Dugosh

The board of directors of Frost National Bank of San Antonio recently promoted Silvia Dugosh to vice president, according to Richard W. Evans, Jr., president.

Dugosh, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerhard Gunther of Pipe Creek, manages the compensation and benefits area of Frost's Personnel Department.

She joined the bank in May 1977 and was elected administrative officer in August 1978 while she was an analyst in the Credit Department. In 1980, she was promoted to assistant vice president and to analyst supervisor. She later transferred to the Personnel Department.

A graduate of Bandera High School, Dugosh earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Southwest Texas State University. In addition, she has attended the University of Texas at San Antonio.

Dugosh is a member of the National Association of Bank Women and the American Institute of Banking. She also belongs to the American Society of Personnel Administration.

Trio mark birthdays

The home of Roy and Helen Martin of Castle Lake took on a definite festive air over the weekend when a birthday celebration honoring Helen, daughter Shelley and son James was held.

Special guests were Helen's parents, Mary and Carl Hollis of San Antonio; daughter Susan also of San Antonio; Mary and Doug Schultz and Jerry and Gwen Alexander of Castle Lake.

After dining on barbecue and birthday cake, everyone enjoyed playing dominoes and watching the races on television.

The Martins traveled to Lamesa where they helped Helen's grandmother Millie Patterson, celebrate her 92nd birthday.

Cub Scout den is growing

The first meeting of the Pipe Creek Cub Scout Den No. 3 was attended by over 15 boys. The scouting program was new to five of the youngsters.

The boys meet every Friday at the Pipe Creek Community Center with den leader Nell Landrum and assistant den leaders Rett Campbell and Pat Forsythe at 3:30 p.m.

CLVFD sale slated

Bargains will be abundant at the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department's Flea Market Saturday. Early birds will be at Kelley's Shamrock Tavern on Highway 16 at 9 a.m. when the vendors unveil their wares.

It's still not too late to reserve a table, department secretary Helen Martin says. Table space is $10 per table. Refreshments will be available.

Gumbo

Gumbo-Cathy Reilly Roux:

½ cup flour
½ cup bacon drippings

Combine in an iron skillet the above ingredients, and brown over a medium-low flame—DO NOT SCORCH. Cook until very brown, about the color of a copper penny.

Add:

2 cans of tomato sauce
4 cups of chicken stock, or boil heads and shells of shrimp to make seafood broth for seafood gumbo.

Continue cooking over a slow flame, stirring occasionally, while you cut and saute 1 cup of okra. Add sauted okra to roux.

Saute (separately from the Okra):

1 cup of chopped bell pepper
1 cup of chopped onion
1 bunch of green onions (chop and include tops)
4 large ribs of celery (chop and include tops)
1 cup of finely chopped parsley (save ½ aside)

Add above ingredients to the roux and okra. Continue to simmer for about 1½ hours, stirring often. Next add seafood or chicken, ham, sausage or choice of meat or fish. Simmer till meat or fish is done. Do not cook shrimp too long or it will be tough.

Just before serving add:

1 tsp. of red pepper
1 tsp. of celery seeds
1 tsp. of black pepper

½ T. of basil
½ T. of chili powder
1 T. of File plus the remaining amount of parsley
2 cloves of garlic-finely minced

Your aroma and taste will determine whether or not you want to add more of a certain or all of the above ingredients (seasonings).

Serve immediately over steamed rice.

are listed but exact amounts are excluded simply because your taste buds should always make that vital decision. Good luck!

Ingredients:
2 cloves garlic
1 lb. okra cut up
1 medium bell pepper
1 large yellow onion
1 bunch green onion
1½ lbs. fresh shrimp
1 chicken cut up
1 lb. pork or beef sausage
1 C. cooking oil
¾ C. flour
6 hard boiled eggs
cayene pepper
salt to taste
black pepper

A.) First you make a roux

The roux is the base ingredient to many tasty cajun dishes. It is also one of those things that takes practice. If the roux should burn or not come out like you want, don't worry. The gumbo is by no means destroyed. Clean the sauce pan and try it again. Good luck!

B.) Sweet stewed okra

This part takes the most time and work, but it is well worth the minutes. Use fresh okra if possible. Heat ¼ cup of oil over medium fire and add okra. Stir and scrape accumulation on pan surface.

This order of seasoning will not burn-out your taste buds as quickly. Sometimes a second opinion helps too!

It's ready when you are!

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

GENERAL ELECTION

NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of those bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of those bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration.

The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 3 of House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an amount not to exceed $200 million, if authorized to do so by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the legislature. The Texas agricultural water conservation bonds would be general obligations of the State of Texas, and would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year. The amendment would allow Texas agricultural water conservation bonds to be issued and sold only for four years after the date on which this Act becomes a part of the constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance and sale of $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property if such relocation or replacement is done in conjunction with or immediately following the relocation or replacement of water mains serving the property. Any legislative enactment permitting the expenditure of funds for such purposes would authorize the city or town to fix a lien on the property, with the owner's consent, for the cost of relocating or replacing the water laterals, and would provide that such cost shall be assessed against the property with repayment by the property owner to be amortized over a period not to exceed five years at the rate of interest set by law. Such liens could not be enforced until after five years from the date the liens were affixed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws permitting a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the use of the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to acquire other land for the permanent school fund. Currently, the constitution requires that proceeds from the sale of such land be invested in certain bonds and other securities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing proceeds from the sale of land dedicated to the permanent school fund to be used to acquire other land for that fund."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 89 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the legislature to regulate the provision of health care by hospital districts by determining the services the district must provide, by setting requirements a resident must meet in order to qualify for services, and by determining any other relevant provisions necessary for providing health care to residents.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to regulate the provision of health care by hospital districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would enable the State of Texas to enter into an agreement with another state to confine inmates from the state of Texas in penal or correctional facilities of the other state.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to permit state prisoners to be placed in penal facilities of another state pursuant to an interstate agreement."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 27 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the commissioners court of Chambers County to divide Chambers County into not less than two and not more than six justice precincts. Under current constitutional provisions Chambers County may be divided into not less than two and not more than five justice precincts.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing Chambers County to be divided into two to six precincts."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant an additional $500 million in bonding authority to the Veterans' Land Board for the veterans' housing assistance program. Under the current constitution, the Veterans' Land Board is authorized by Article III, Section 49-b-1 to issue and sell not more than $900 million in bonds, $500 million of which may be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. This amendment would increase that authorization to permit the issuance and sale of up to $1.3 billion in bonds, $1 billion of which would be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. In addition, the amendment would remove the current definition of "veteran" from this constitution and permit the legislature to redefine "veteran" as the changing times and circumstances require.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

ORDINANCE NO. 71
AN ORDINANCE CREATING AND REGULATING A HOTEL OCCUPANCY TAX WITHIN THE CORPORATE LIMITS OF THE CITY OF BANDERA, TEXAS.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE CITY COUNCIL OF BANDERA, TEXAS:

SECTION I
Definition of Terms

The following words, terms and phrases are, for the purpose of the ordinance, except where the context clearly indicates a different meaning, defined as follows:
1. 2. "Consideration" shall mean the cost of the room, sleeping space, bed or dormitory space or other facilities in such hotel and shall not include the cost of any food served or personal services rendered to the occupant not related to cleaning and readying such room or space for occupancy, and shall not include any tax assessed for occupancy thereof by any other governmental agency.
3. "Occupancy" shall mean the use or possession, or the right to use or possession of any room, space or sleeping facility in a hotel for any purpose.
4. "Occupant" shall mean anyone, who, for a consideration, uses, possesses, or has a right to use or possess any room or rooms, or sleeping space or facility in a hotel under any lease, concession, permit, right or access, license, contract or agreement.
5. "Person" shall mean any individual, company, corporation, or association owning, operating, managing, or controlling any hotel.
6. "Tax assessor-collector" shall mean the tax assessor-collector of the City of Bandera.
7. "Quarterly period" shall mean the regular calendar quarters of the year, the first quarter being composed of the months of January, February and March, the second quarter being the months of April, May and June, the third quarter being the months of July, August and September, and the fourth quarter being the months of October, November and December.
8. "Permanent resident" shall mean any occupant who has or shall have the right to occupancy of any room or rooms or sleeping space or facility in a hotel for at least thirty (30) consecutive days during the current calendar year or preceding year.

SECTION II
Levy of tax; rate; exception

1. There is hereby levied a tax upon the occupant of any room or space furnished by any hotel where such costs of occupants are at the rate of two dollars ($2.00) or more per day, such tax to be equal to three per cent (3%) of the consideration paid by the occupant of such room, space or facility to such hotel, exclusive of other occupancy taxes imposed by other governmental units effective as of January 1, 1984.
2. No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon a permanent resident.
3. No tax shall be imposed hereunder upon an occupant of any room or space rented from a corporation or association organized and operated exclusively for religious, charitable or educational purposes, no part of the net earnings of which inures to the benefit of any private shareholder or individual.
4. All revenue derived from the occupancy tax imposed in subsection 1 hereof will only be used for the following:
   a. The acquisition of sites for the construction, improvement, enlarging, equipping, repairing, operation and maintenance of convention center facilities, including, but not limited to, civic center convention building auditoriums, coliseums and parking areas or facilities for the parking or storage of motor vehicles or other conveyances located at or in the immediate vicinity of convention center facilities.
   b. The furnishing of facilities, personnel and materials for the registration of convention delegates or registrants.
   c. A minimum of one per cent (1%) of the consideration paid by the occupant shall be used exclusively for the advertising of general promotional and tourist information and solicitation for the City of Bandera and its immediate vicinity and for conducting a solicitation and operating program to attract conventions and visitors either by the City of Bandera or through contracts with persons or organizations selected by the City of Bandera.
   d. Any other use authorized by Article 1269j-4.1 of the Revised Civil Statutes of the State of Texas as the same exist or are hereafter amended.

2. Every person required by Section III hereof to collect the tax imposed herein shall pay the amount of tax collected from occupants during the period at the time of filing the report as provided by Section IV (1) hereof.

SECTION V

The tax assessor-collector shall have the power to make such rules and regulations as are necessary effectively to collect the tax levied herein, and shall upon reasonable notice have access to books and records necessary to enable him to determine the correctness of any report filed as required by this ordinance and the amount of taxes due under the provisions of this ordinance.

SECTION VI
Penalties

If any person shall fail to collect the tax imposed herein, or shall fail to file a report as required herein, or shall fail to pay to the tax assessor-collector the tax as imposed herein when said report for payment is due, or shall file a false report, then such person shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor. Letter of Thanks

Appreciation has always been a most meaningful word when applied to how a person feels about the kindness and thoughtfulness of friends and acquaintances. One step further, I would like to also express my gratitude to those caring folks of Lakehills and Pipe Creek who have been so kind and thoughtful during my confinement these past two months.

Special thanks to Betty and Walter, Karen and Wayne, Sgt. Millie, Johnnie B., Elaine and Richard, Virginia and Bob, Heidi and Darrell, Cindy and Melissa, Evelyn and Dave, Peggy and the Childress boys, Sgt. Richard, and Roseanne.

My children join me in a very special thanks to the benefactor of the delicious meals delivered by the nice folks at Charlene's Catering Service. You'll never know how much they were appreciated.

I thank the Lord for helping me to make the decision in selecting beautiful Lakehills as my retirement home and praise him everyday for the caring and special people who reside in this community.

God's richest blessings on you all.

No. 4 Bandera faces test from Mules

Bandera's almost effortless bullying of out-manned Ingram, 47-0, impressed the state's writers just enough to elevate the Bulldogs one rung in the state's football rankings.

The writers are probably waiting on the results of Friday's game with Class AAAA Alamo Heights to make a judgement on the relative strength of this year's Bulldogs.

Most everyone is.

The Mules are certain to provide an adequate test. They return five defensive starters and six offensive first-stringers from last year's AAAA playoff team.

Cornerback David Crews and Linebacker Jeff Torgerson were all district selections last year, and Bandera's inexperienced offensive line will be up against a big, quick forward wall.

Watch for quarterback Mike Britton and a smaller but quicker Mule team try to get revenge for a defeat last year by Bandera that really hurt the Mules' pride.

The 'Dogs tuned up for Friday's game, which gets under way at 7:30 p.m., by toying with the Warriors of Class AA Ingram last Friday.

The defense completely inhibited the Warriors, allowing 82 yards through the air and minus 12 yards on the ground.

Most of the passing yardage was on desperation heaves when the score made passing Ingram's only logical play-selection choice.

The game was played almost completely in Ingram's end of the field, and the Bulldog goal line was never seriously threatened.

The Bull of the Bulldogs, James Compton, assaulted Ingram's goal line four times, on runs of 3, 8, 19 and 9 yards, and in all he gained 129 yards on 22 carries.

That total brought his career total over the 4,000-yard mark.

An interception by Mike Cardenas started the scoring in the first quarter, and subsequent thefts by John Miller and Billy Morris led directly to a couple more touchdowns.

A fumble and a partially-blocked punt led to two more.

In all, Bandera's opportunistic defense picked off four of Ingram's 15 pass attempts and recovered four Warrior fumbles.

Only twice did Bandera have to put together sustained drives for more than half the length of the field. Those were 57-yard and 63-yard pushes, each of which were climaxed by touchdown runs by Compton.

The Bull's intimidating presence on defense was a factor in Ingram's singular lack of success, and John Miller's two-way performance was equally as glittering.

Hegained 84 yards on 13 carries from his tailback spot, including a 39-yard scamper and a one-yard touchdown run behind Compton's blocking.

His interception in the second quarter led to a touchdown and his presence in the secondary was a factor in the seven sacks of Warrior quarterback Ricky Carpenter.

Quarterback Jimmy Sides turned in a workman-like performance, passing for 144 yards on eight completions and scoring once on a one-yard keeper.

He was sacked four times, however.

Pleased with the victory, Bulldog Coach Danny Neuse said he noted lots of room for improvement.

There were no serious injuries reported following the game.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 19 — BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS — THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1985 — 25¢

County's taxable values up by 37.9 percent

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The taxable value of property in Bandera County has been set at $439 million, an increase of fully 37.9 percent in the value rendered last year by the Bandera County Appraisal District.

The new valuation, upon which the tax rates of all taxing entities are based, was released this week. Chief Apraiser Larry J. Reagan refused to elaborate, however.

The new values are the result of a 100 percent re-evaluation of all the property in the county. Reagan said in July that he expected some citizens to disagree with the new valuations.

"Sales prices have increased drastically since 1981-82 when the last reappraisal was conducted," Reagan said in July. "Prices may have increased more than property owners realize."

He said the reappraisal this year was based on the market value, which he defined as "the price at which a property would transfer (sell) for cash."

Only a modest number of property officially protested their new appraisals, the Bulletin has learned. Reagan has declined to discuss the number of protests while the hearing process was under way.

The total valuations produced by Reagan's office are used by all taxing authorities to establish their tax rates, which are set by determining the percentage of the market value of the taxable property needed to finance their budgets.

The taxable value of property in the county last year was $318.4 million, compared to $439.1 million this year.

The taxable value of property within the Bandera Independent School District is $318.0 million. That compares to $215.3 million last year and is an increase of fully 47.7 percent.

The taxable value of property within the limits of the city of Bandera is $21.3 million, or 24.6 percent more than the $17.1 million rendered last year.

The value for tax purposes of property in the Medina ISD is $72.6 million, a 48.8 percent increase over last year's taxable values of $48.8 million.

County's budget up by 8.8 percent

A hearing on the proposed budget will be held Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m.

Bandera County Commissioners have approved a budget calling for increasing the county's tax levy by 8.8 percent and for spending more than $1 million from the general fund for the first time ever.

The budget includes an 8 percent pay raise for all county employees, except the commissioners and County Judge Tommy Carbo and a $48,260 increase in funds provided the sheriff's department.

Expenditures from the general fund which includes most of the day-to-day expenses of running county government, total $1,101,623. That's 10.6 percent higher than last year's budget, which included $995,700 in expenditures from the general fund.

Biggest item in the general fund is the sheriff's department, and Commissioners authorized lawmen to spend $296,655 during the next 12 months. Last year's budget included $248,395 for the sheriff's department.

The new budget also increased the funds for the tax assessor-collector to $124,480, or 5.5 percent over last year, and for the district and county clerk's office to $117,605, which was a little less than last year.

Funds for maintenance of the courthouse and the Law Enforcement Building were increased 6.2 percent to $68,535 and the county's share of the support of the Bandera County Appraisal District was increased by 12.8 percent to $65,000.

Road and bridge work is paid for from special funds that are paid for by a specific Road and Bridge Fund tax. Commissioners budgeted $494,823 to be spent for road work during the coming 12 months.

Commissioners expect total income of $1,944,948 during the fiscal year, including $776,220 from the ad valorum (property) tax for the general fund and $144,743 from the road and bridge tax.

They also expect to receive $243,000 from motor vehicle license and title fees, an increase of 10.8 percent over last year, and $185,200 from other fees.

The commissioners see a 75 percent increase in the amount of fines paid in the county, from $40,000 in the budget for this year to $70,000 in the budget for the coming 12 months.

Revenue sharing funds from the federal government are expected to be reduced from $75,000 to $19,000 this year, and the difference had to be made up from other revenues.

A total of $16,000 which goes in bounties for killing coyotes and to help pay the expenses of a full-time trapper appears as a separate fund this year. Funds for this purpose last year came from revenue sharing money.

The county's ambulance fund for the next 12 months will contain $64,000, and commissioners expect fees from ambulance services to increase by 25 percent, to $30,000.

Cowboy champion Mahan to be fair parade marshal

Six-time world champion all-around cowboy Larry Mahan will be the grand marshal of the second annual Bandera County Fair Parade, fair officials announced this week, and the date of the Miss Bandera County Pageant has been changed to avoid a conflict with a football game.

Mahan, who owns a Bandera County ranch, will head the annual fair parade which is scheduled to step off at 11 a.m. Saturday, Oct. 5. He will be accompanied by several of the Bandera County rodeo champions whose names appear on a monument on the courthouse grounds in Bandera.

All fair activities except the parade will be at Mansfield Park.

Fair chairperson Karolene Moreland hopes changing the date of the Miss Bandera County Pageant to Saturday will attract entries from among high school girls who intend to attend the Hondo-Bandera football game Friday, Oct. 4, in Hondo.

The pageant will be held at 7 p.m. Saturday and will include fashion competition. Besides competition among young girls for the Miss Bandera County title, there will be competition among younger children for Baby Bandera County and for Little Miss and Mr. Bandera titles and among adults for the Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County designation.

Merchandise prizes totaling $1,200 will be given, Moreland said.

Miss Bandera County competition is open to unmarried, childless females aged 16 to 25 who are residents of Bandera County.

Baby Bandera County is open to boys and girls aged 6 months to 3 years, but they must be able to sit alone.

Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County competition is open to boys and girls aged 3 to 7 years, and Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County is open to any legally married couples.

Beauty contest entries will meet with judges for interviews and a reception Saturday at 3 p.m. at the Flying L Ranch.

Entries remain open for all fair competition, Moreland says, including arts, crafts and horticulture divisions. Entry blanks may be obtained at the office of Bandera County Chamber of Commerce. Entries for all divisions close on Sept. 28, Moreland said.

Moreland says there is still limited space available for arts, crafts, food and commercial

Medina Hardware Store burglarized

Sometime late Sunday night or early Monday morning the Medina Hardware Store was burglarized and up to $4,000 in merchandise was reported missing.

Owner Andy Lautzenheiser told Deputy James MacMillan he discovered the burglary when he opened the business Monday morning. He estimated between $3,000 and $4,000 in merchandise was taken. Items missing included power tools, hand tools, a small amount of cash from the register, and money from the coke machine.

"The matter is still under investigation and we're still checking some leads," MacMillan reported.

Steven Wayne Doschka, 28, of Bandera was arrested by deputies Jimmy DeLesdernier and Tim Landrum on Sept. 14 and charged with disorderly conduct and public intoxication after a disturbance in a local night spot. Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set fines of $125 on each charge. He was released several hours later the same day after paying the fines.

The only other arrest reported in the past week by jail administrator MacMillan was Donald Griffith Briley, 22, of San Antonio. City police officer Joe Rodriguez arrested him on outstanding warrants from Department of Public Safety in Bandera County.

Briley had been stopped by a DPS trooper earlier on Sept. 14, but the warrant information did not come back through the state computer system until after Briley had driven away. Briley posted $400 in bonds set by Judge Towers and was released.

He told authorities payment of the warrants were in the mail at the time he was arrested.

School to use interest to help pay off bonds

At a special meeting Tuesday night, school trustees set a tax rate of 54.925 cents per $100 valuation for the forthcoming year. The rate includes the bond indebtedness for the new elementary school construction.

Although the rate dropped 6.28 cents from the 1984 rate of 61.2 cents, taxpayers will be paying 26 percent more in property taxes for 1985 to cover the $3,271,345 budget approved by trustees on Aug. 29.

Trustees set a public hearing for 7:30 p.m. on Oct. 1 on the $1,711,095 needed in local tax revenues to meet the budget.

The board opted to take the interest earned on the bond money for the elementary school and put it back into the debt payment. This will save taxpayers $132,000 in the upcoming year, trustees said. The bonded indebtedness figure for the year was $481,000. By applying the $132,000 to the debt, the figure has been reduced to $349,000.

Superintendent Ted Dockery told the trustees the Bandera Independent School District new total tax rate of 54.925 cents is below the state average estimated by the Texas Research League of 74 cents per $100 evaluation of last year.

Uvalde County seeks grant to aid Utopia bottled water firm

Uvalde County commissioners approved an application for a $500,000 economic development grant from the Texas Department of Community Affairs to loan to a Utopia firm that bottles and markets spring water.

The money will be used as part of a $2.5 million expansion of the plant and equipment of Texas Hill Country Spring Water, Inc., a company located just across the county line from Bandera County. It was founded two years ago by Ronald T. Bownds of Utopia.

The grant is to Uvalde County from the Texas Department of Community Affairs to provide economic development in the county.

Some $450,000 will be loaned to the Utopia-based company for 25 years at an annual rate of 5 percent, with deferment of payments on the principle for the first three years.

Annual payments to the county for the first three years will be $22,500, and payments of $40,000 per year will be required for the next 22 years.

The money will be repaid to the county, which will be able to use the funds again to encourage additional private development in the county. In all, Uvalde County will receive $965,100 in payments from the bottled water company.

Some $50,000 of the money will go to the Middle Rio Grande Development Council, which will administer the project.

The application for the grant said it would create 41 jobs in the Utopia area and an annual payroll of $417,960. The company will create an additional 78 jobs elsewhere in the state.

The Utopia-based company is involved in a lawsuit in which it charges that a San Antonio-based firm has been spreading false information about the Utopia company.

The suit was filed in state district court in San Antonio and alleges that Artesia Waters, Inc., has participated in a "fraudulent scheme involving t[illegible] use of the wires and the mail."

Bownds' company seeks damages of at least $10,000 and an injunction against Artesia preventing it from continuing the activities alleged in the suit.

The Utopia firm also wants a legal declaration that it has not infringed upon Artesia's proprietary labeling rights.

Hill Country has been in business for two years and started producing Sparkling Utopia Water, which is made from spring water collected at its Utopia plant.

The Utopia company charges specifically that Artesia contacted Utopia's advertising representatives, restaurants and retail establishments and threatened legal action if they continue to promote or sell Utopia water.

Artesia claims Utopia is guilty of copying Artesia's labeling and marketing copyrights. In one case cited in the lawsuit, Artesia is charged with contacting an outdoor advertising company with legal action if it did not remove all billboards advertising Sparkling Utopia Water.

Iran into Billy Bob Beaudarc the other night. Even if I tried I probably couldn't avoid the fellow.

It was at one of the local watering holes. I do not frequent such places, but sometimes journalistic duty calls, and I have to penetrate some of the darker, more obscure regions of the county.

Billy Bob had an audience, as usual, and this time they were entranced by the subject of satanic influences in popular music. The subject had hit the airwaves in San Antonio recently, so the folks gathered around this county's leading architect of public speech had done their homework.

To give you an idea of how effective Billy Bob can be, Monday Night Football was on the bar tube, but few of the patrons were watching. On the other hand, the game was the Steelers-Browns, which is about as exciting as the San Antonio Dodgers and El Paso Diablos playing an exhibition in Beeville.

"I'll tell you," said Billy Bob, "it's a sad day in Texas when Bruce Springsteen—and what kind of name is that, anyway, even for a Yankee?—sells out the Cotton Bowl twice in a few hours. When folks like the SMU Methodists and Cougar High get into the place on New Year's it's bad enough. It's worse when the Cowboys have no-shows at that Irving stadium, the one where the contractor took 'em for half a roof.

But Springsteen?

"The fellow does X-rated devil music, I'll tell you. I mean, what else does it mean when he sings about riding through Nebraska with a sawed-off .410 in his lap, or going to some place called the Cadillac Ranch when he dies, or spirits in the night, or dancing in the dark?"

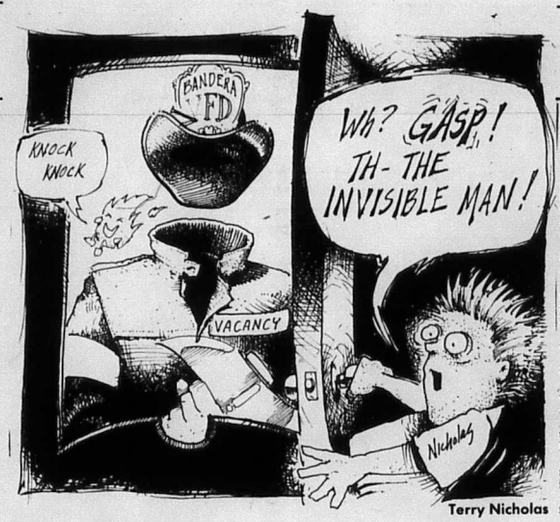

You have to understand, Billy Bob stopped being a music fan about the time Patsy Cline went to the field in that Cessna.

So I had to say, "Billy Bob, those lyrics are about the situation of the ordinary working guy today. They aren't meant to be taken word for word, and they sure aren't about the devil."

Billy Bob was not impressed.

"Listen, smart guy, how else do you explain losing to Alamo Heights, a place that dresses their dancing daughters in Jane Fonda outfits?"

I had to admit, he had a point there, whether or not I agreed with it.

Bandera County potpourri
By Nick Johnson

I went out of my way to dangle my feet in the crispness and the freshness of the Medina River this week in a deliberate attempt to experience the reality of that pleasant waterway.

And as the water caressed my feet, I wondered whether anyone else in Bandera County felt violated, felt acrimonious indignation while viewing television pictures of the train wreck that dumped thousand of gallons of acid into our river.

Sure, it was downstream and never threatened the river as we know it or the lake as we love it.

The immediate reaction may have been a blissful holier-than-thou one: Go ahead and foul up your river. Just stay away from mine.

We all agree that this was San Antonio's filth and San Antonio's problem.

But as I watched, the awareness grew from within that this was my river.

And the awareness also grew that this wasn't just San Antonio's filth. It was America's filth.

Sure, it was good, clean filth. The kind that drives America's industrial capacity. It's the filth that fuels progress.

In short, it was good filth that we need more of, like nuclear waste, faster cars and imitation food.

So the holier-than-thou attitude turned to frustration.

A loved one was greviously injured, but the pain the river suffers is only growing pains. Uncomfortable, yes, but something ordained by powers beyond our control.

Progress. Growth. The trappings of our throw-away world.

If you are going to eat in the living room, you've got to expect to get a few scaps on the carpet. And of course, you have to eat in the living room: That's where the television is.

The feeling of helplessness was not unlike that of a parent whose child becomes a victim of a world for which no one could fully prepare him.

Sure he remained pure and responsible when his feet were under his parents' table. He was imbued with good Christian values, good Bandera attitudes like country music, Bulldog football and draggin' Main Street for entertainment.

But now he's away at college. Can he survive all the evils that lurk?

I thrust my feet deeper into the coolness of the river. Is there a lesson here for a people with a river that is still pure?

Certainly it is not for us to be fearful. We have no railroads, no interstate highways, no smoking industrial sprawl.

We are a people too responsible to allow the trapments of progress foul our nest.

Then I thought of the still-mysterious fish kill on the West Prong last month.

And the official silence that prevails.

A Safeguard

Dear Editor:

Freedom of the press was a basic American value even prior to our country's struggle for independence. From the acquittal in 1735 of John Peter Zenger, the German-born New York printer accused of seditious libel by the Royal Governor, this principle has been among the most precious and protected of our liberties.

This year's National Newspaper Week (Sept. 15-21) theme, "Freedom of the Press is Everybody's Freedom," drives home the fact that we are all beneficiaries of this fundamental concept. Freedom of the press is not some exclusive privilege restricted to a few persons within the Fourth Estate. It is a force that has contributed considerably to the growth and greatness of our Republic, its institutions and citizenry. As long as this force continues to be unchallenged and strong, we will remain the hopeful example for all mankind.

During National Newspaper Week all Americans should reflect on the importance of the First Amendment guarantee of Freedom of the Press. I commend the National Newspaper Association Managers on their sponsorship of an event that encourages public appreciation for one of the greatest safeguards of human rights.

Fest successful

Dear Editor:

The decision is unanimous—the 14th Annual Texas Folklife Festival truly was the best one yet. Announcements and coverage provided by the Bandera Bulletin contributed greatly to its success. We at The Institute of Texan Cultures appreciate all your efforts to inform the people of your community about this annual celebration of Texas' history and heritage.

Now that the 1985 Festival is behind us, we are eagerly looking forward to another great year of interesting programs and projects. An example is our upcoming exhibit Reach for the Sky: Aviation in Texas. And, of course, we begin working very soon to make the next Festival even better than the last.

Thank you again for your interest in and support of the Texas Folklife Festival and The Institute of Texan Cultures.

A view from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

The Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District says the acid spill in the Medina River on Saturday has no effect on the river in their area or on the irrigation procedures.

The recent rains, though spotty, have had a good effect on the irrigation system, however. The lake dropped less than four inches in the past week. It is now 28.45 feet below the spillway level of 1,072 feet.

Many lake watchers remember when it was 55 feet below the spillway last October when we received the first rain in months. It's still 27 feet above that low point.

Another hurricane may enter the Gulf by next week, says Jud Ashmore, and lake-watchers will be tracking it to see if it will come in to shore west of us.

Old-timers around the lake say when hurricanes make landfall west of our area along the coast they always spawn rains that come east of the landfall point and that brings rain north over Bandera county and our watershed in the hills.

Everyone wants the lake to come up, but no one wants its rise to cause suffering to anyone else. Old-timers who've seen the lake so dry they claim they could step across the river at some points have faith. They always say she'll be back, full again.

Hey, where's the coffee clutch gathering in Lakehills now that Evelyn's Restaurant is closed, awaiting new owners?

They're gathering at three places now on weekdays and a fourth on weekends. Some go to the new OTS Restaurant on Goat Hill Road. Where did that name come from? It means Off The Strip.

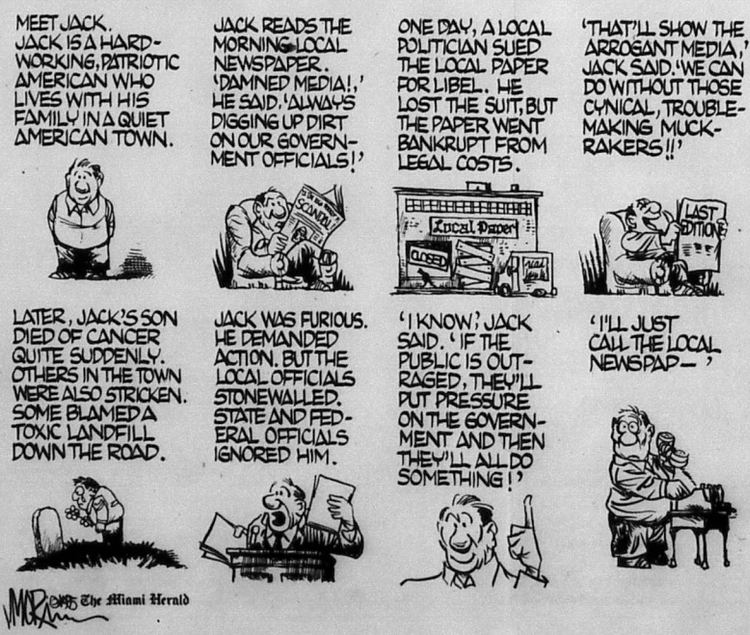

Some coffee folks are gathering at The Coffee Spot, a new twist for the Cedar Room. The back room at Turk's Store is now open in the morning serving coffee and breakfast. Others can be found down at Fiddlin' Around in the mornings.

On Saturday and Sunday mornings many are at Bacarri's Italian Restaurant, munching on breakfast tacos made with real homemade "Italian" tortillas.

Only in Lakehills can you find this delicacy. Like Bacarri's pizzellas, you have to try 'um to appreciate them.

Victim of near-drowning critical

Jose Salazar, 45, of San Antonio remained in critical condition in an intensive care unit at a San Antonio hospital this week after his fishing companions pulled his lifeless body from the Medina River on Saturday afternoon.

Salazar and two companions were fishing in the river near the Julian Creek crossing on Wharton's Dock Road when he decided to walk further out in the stream deputies said.

An unidentified companion said he stepped out in the water over his head and disappeared. His companions pulled him from the water and were attempting to revive him when an EMT, also unidentified, from out of the area stopped and cleared his air passage and got some water out of his lungs, according to the sheriff department reports. Deputy James MacMillan said the technician drove off after Salazar started breathing on his own again.

Salazar was transported to the hospital by Bandera EMS and at the time he was admitted he was described to be in "guarded" condition

Bikers to ride Saturday to raise money for CF

Bicyclists will be peddling the river loop in Bandera Saturday to help fund research to prevent and cure Cystic Fibrosis.

Pledge forms are still available, says organizer Virginia Stricker, who said entrants may register at the beginning of the ride Saturday.

Riders will be competing for a variety of valuable prizes, including two bikes, cash and a television set, Stricker said.

Riders are working the community to obtain pledges, and any business or individual that wants to pledge may do so by calling Stricker at 535-4446.

The money raised supports research, Stricker said. Cystic Fibrosis primarily attacks the lungs and digestive system and is the number one genetic killer of children and young adults, Stricker said.

The defective gene that causes CF is transmitted to the child by both parents, neither of whom shows symptoms of the disease.

The bike-a-thon is a project of the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation, a nonprofit group organized in 1955 and dedicated to improving the outlook for the CF patient.

Saturday's ride in Bandera is one of hundreds across Texas, Stricker said. They will begin at 9:30 a.m. and ride a two-mile course that starts at the Silver Sage Corral on 11th Street and circles the River Loop, returning to the senior citizens center.

Sheriff issues warning on ATVs: 'Unlawful on public roads'

"It is unlawful to ride 'all terrain vehicles' (ATVs) on public roads," says Bandera County Sheriff Guy V. Pickett. "We're receiving a lot of complaints on these vehicles and we are going to issue citations to violators," he said.

If parents allow their children to drive them on public roads, unlicensed, he says, parents can be held liable and cited for the offense.

A resident in the Bandera River Ranch subdivision told the Bulletin some of the ATVs use the public roads there. "I moved here from a noisy area, but I'm not finding the solitude and quiet that I had hoped to find," she said.

The sheriff said complaints have come in from most areas of the county.

Loy Jones new agent

Loy Jones is a licensed real estate agent newly associated with Elsie Brooks Smith Realtor. She and her family recently moved here from Port Arthur.

Her husband, W.C. Jones, and daughters, Angela Willis and Caroline Jones, say they are proud to make Bandera their home and are looking forward to meeting other residents.

"Loy is anxious to become part of your community and hopes you will call upon her for your real estate needs," said Elsie Brooks Smith.

P&WD clarifies rule on hunting in county

Law enforcement officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said further clarification may be needed for the 'county of residence' law for hunting license exemptions which went into effect Sept. 1.

The law, adopted by the Texas Legislature during its last session, required that hunters possess a valid hunting license to hunt any bird or animal anywhere in the state, including their county of residence. Only persons hunting on land on which they legally reside are exempted, and they must possess a $6 exempt license to hunt deer or turkey.

Officials said the law required hunters to possess a valid hunting license to hunt any bird or animal, not just those classified as "game" species.

There was no change in other hunting license exemptions, including those for persons under 17 years of age or 65 years old or older, and for certain service-connected disabilities sustained by veterans of the armed forces of the United States, for the 1985-86 seasons.

Persons 17 years of age or older, while hunting, fishing, trapping or engaged in any other activity that requires a license or permit from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, are required to have on their person a driver's license or personal identification certificate issued by the Texas Department of Public Safety, officials said.

Rate hike may be due on auto insurance policies

Bandera County automobile owners may be facing a 4.4 percent increase in personal automobile insurance rates.

The rate was to be reviewed Thursday, Sept. 19, by the State Board of Insurance, which wants to increase personal automobile insurance by 10.6 percent on a statewide average.

The 4.4 percent proposal for Bandera County is recommended by the Texas Automobile Insurance Service Office, a statewide organization of insurance companies.

A spokesman in that office said the increase in rates was necessary because of an increase in motor vehicle fatalities and injuries in 1984.

The areas of personal automobile insurance regulated by the state board include bodily injury and property damage, personal injury protection, comprehensive and collision.

The current annual cost in Bandera County for an individual with that coverage is $477, according to the Insurance Service Office's figures. The proposed increase would raise that annual payment in Bandera County to $498.

Criteria for the insurance includes a car that is not used for business, no male drivers under 25 years of age, and no female drivers under 21 years of age.

Figures released this week by the Department of Public Safety reveal there have been four fatal accidents in Bandera County in which five persons were killed so far this year. There were three fatalities in all of 1984.

The DPS reports 52 traffic accidents in Bandera County in which personal injury resulted, compared to 30 personal injury accidents through August, 1984.

Seventy-four persons were injured in traffic accidents during the first eight months of 1985. Only 53 were injured during the same period of 1984, the DPS figures show.

Bandera County gets road funds

Bandera County has received $17,292 in state funds under the state's lateral road program, according to figures from State Treasurer Ann Richards.

She said the funds may be used by counties for the purchase of right-of-way and for construction and maintenance of lateral roads, farm-to-market roads or state highways.

The money is allocated to each county on the basis of a formula that includes the county's area, rural population and lateral road mileage, Richards said.

Kendall County received $17,285, Medina County $30,973, Kerr County $27,413, Real County $10,630, Uvalde County $21,830, and Bexar County $137,891.

Yearbooks will be distributed and new officers will take charge. The featured entertainment will be a Puppet Show by Bunny Keefer of San Antonio. "You Asked for it Services." Also taking part in the program will be members of the Fine Arts Club.

"This promises to be a highlight of the season," says spokeswoman Mrs. A. B. Lewis.

The Bandera Bulldogs tied the Sabinal Yellow Jackets, 14-14, in their season opener, the bulletin reported 25 years ago. Clemens Haun started the game off with a 49-yard kickoff.

Statistics-wise, Bandera made 17 first downs and 238 rushing yards to Sabinal's 10 first downs and 160 yards rushing gain.

Representing the senior class on the Bulldog team were John Alanis, John McCullough, Roger Poe, Royce Stevens, Chuck Jones, Ernest Schladorf, Jerome Edwards, and Jerry Adamietz.

A strong Hondo team corralled the St. Joseph's Mustangs, 16-0, in their 1960 opening game. Willis Causey and Bubba Montague played outstandingly on defense, time and again making good hard tackles, the Bulletin said. Royce Sprott, "a superb quarterback," completed at least half a dozen passes to Causey, the Mustangs' "brilliant" right end.

The 1960-61 Senior class officers were president Billy Walton, vice president Jo-Ann Baker, secretary-treasurer Sharon McKay, and reporter Jeanine Hicks.

In the School Daze News in the Sept. 16, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin, student editor was Keith Conwill and Mrs. A.B. Lewis was sponsor.

Eddie Leibold returned to his third grade class after having his appendix removed the very first week of school. He was all smiles when he joined his classmates in just one week. He said it wasn't much fun being in the hospital. While he was recovering at home, his mother found a baby squirrel for him to play with.

Other third graders in the news were Kathy Lindig and Debra Hingst. Kathy went to visit a friend and they played "Miss America." She said she was sorry she had to leave before she had her turn to play "Miss America." Debra was stung by a yellow-jacket on her eye lid while picking flowers. The third graders called her "Chinese" eyes.

County agent Werner Lindig appeared before Commissioners Court in the interest of purchasing fire fighting equipment un the Civil Defense Act. The matter was deferred for further investigation.

Tax workshops offered by extension service here

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the International Revenue Service in offering 39 Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state, reports Scott Durham, including one in San Antonio.

Twenty-five General Workshops will be held in all major Texas cities. The General Workshop nearest our county is in San Antonio on Nov. 25 and 26. There will also be 14 Advanced Workshops offered in major cities. The General Workshops will concentrate mostly on personal taxes—the Advanced Workshops' emphasis will be on business tax problems.

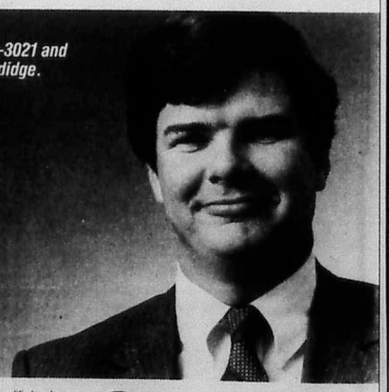

In addition to the General and Advanced Tax Workshops, there will be three Partnership Workshops, six Oil and Gas Tax Workshops, and, new this year, three workshops dealing with IRS/Taxpayer disputes.

Four Estate Planning and Tax Form Preparation Workshops especially developed for accountants will be offered in November.

The Tax Practitioner educational program has been highly successful. Last year about 3,200 people participated in this statewide series. These practitioners reported filing more than 535,000 tax returns. For additional information, please contact 796-3840 for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

Museum barbecue Saturday

The first annual Frontier Times Autumn Festival will be held on the grounds of the Frontier Times Museum Saturday, Sept. 21, with barbecued brisket dinners being served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Narrated tours will be conducted throughout the afternoon by two descendants of the founder and originator of the unique little museum, J. Marvin Hunter Sr.

His daughter Nettie Hunter Saul, son J. Marvin Hunter Jr., and Bandera Junior High School history teacher Holly Hevenor will conduct the tours. Hevenor began cataloging the thousands of artifacts in the museum last spring.

When Hunter was alive, he and his wife were known for the barbecues at the museum. The museum board of directors and Friends of Frontier Times Museum hope to revive the traditional barbecues which were always held in conjunction with visitors touring the museum.

Sculptures by local western artists Norma Jean Anderwald and Shermalee and L. A. Mack will be on exhibit in the museum's western art gallery.

Musical entertainment will be provided by Ballan Grant from 11 a.m. to noon and at 12:30 p.m. the Melodiers will be presented in concert.

Advance tickets are available at the museum for $4 for adults and $2 for children under 12. Prices at the door will be $5 for adults and $2.50 for children.

Frontier Times Museum had its beginning in 1927, when Hunter Sr. started with a few relics of the old frontier days. The first relics were a small rawhide bottom chair made in 1880 and an old double barrel muzzle-loading shotgun used by a Texas pioneer.

They were housed in a small room, 8 x 8 feet, in the Bandera New Era printing office. A few barbecued brisket dinners being served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m.

In the 1930s the museum was moved to its own building two blocks from the courthouse. The original building was added onto several times until the museum now has about 4,000 square feet of space.

It is cramped and more space is needed, officials say.

The newest relic to go on display is the old telephone system from Tarpley. It's due to be in place this Thursday, says curator Dorothy Callahan.

Frontier memorabilia includes an old-time spinning wheel, ox-yokes, side saddles, cooking utensils, trundle beds, guns, pistols, tools, branding irons, old musical instruments, and hundreds of other items from forgotten days.

There are special collections from South America, Europe, the Orient, and India. A bell collection, among items donated by Louisa Gordon, an Englishwoman who died in San Antonio in 1941, is said to contain over 400 bells.

The museum has grown to house more than 40,000 items today.

The Doane Foundation purchased the museum after Hunter's death and in 1972 gave it to the citizens of Bandera County. The museum is operated by a local board of directors.

Proceeds from the Autumn Festival will go toward the expansion fund.

PTO slates child safety program

A child safety awareness program will be this month's meeting of the Bandera Parents-Teacher Organization Tuesday, Sept. 24, and all children from pre-schoolers through junior high school and their parents have been invited to participate.

The program gets under way at 7:30 p.m. in the elementary gymnasium. Policeman Rick Taylor of Hondo, and his animated friend "McGruff" will present three brief slide programs in what he calls a "song and slides" format. "It's a fun way to present slide programs," a spokesperson said.

Officer Taylor will present programs entitled, "The Policeman is my Friend," "Don't Run Away," and "Stranger-Danger." The programs were developed after attempts were made last year to abduct or kidnap seven children in Hondo alone, the spokesperson said.

Child safety coloring books will be given to participants.

Rue to speak to HH Thursday

Comellia Rue will explain the various services of the Community Council of South Central Texas Thursday, Sept. 19, at 7 p.m. during the monthly meeting of the Helping Hand Center at the First Baptist Church.

Rue is a senior outreach worker with the CCSCT.

Among the other topics scheduled to be considered during the meeting are Helping Hand Month, the Bandera County Fair, the possibility of help for Helping Hand from the United Way, and the Volunteer Workshop, says HH director Jeanne Shinn.

She reported this week that the HH aided 66 families during the month of August. "August was by far our busiest month," Shinn said.

She said the heavy workload and the fact the center is open only three hours per day has created a need for additional volunteers. "If you have a couple hours a week to spare, check by the center," Shinn said.

A volunteer training workshop will be held soon and will cover topics ranging from interviewing clients to how to handle various situations that arise, Shinn said. The workshop is free. Dates will be announced soon, Shinn said.

Worth noting

According to the figures, the city of Bandera has received $90,025 from the 1-percent sales tax so far this year. Last year at the same time, collections were $78,514.

Sales in Blanco are up 11.3 percent, New Braunfels up 16.9 percent, Fredericksburg up 17.5 percent, Boerne up 13.8 percent, Kerrville up 13.1 percent, Ingram up 14.8 percent, Hondo up 11.2 percent, Castroville up 15.1 percent, Leakey up 4.6 percent, and Uvalde up 13.4 percent.

booths. Reservations may be made by calling 796-8454.

Among the latest items added to the long list of fair activities during the three-day event is a series of gunfighting shows by the Legends of the Old West stunt team. They will perform at 3 p.m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday, Oct. 5, and Sunday, Oct. 6.

Two of the featured events of the fair will be an American Quarter Horse Association sanctioned horse show, with competition beginning at 8 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, and the second annual Old Timers' Reunion Saturday beginning at 10 a.m.

An offical County Fair dance will get under way at 9 p.m. Saturday and continue until 1 a.m. Proceeds will benefit the Junior Livestock Commission's show barn now under construction at Mansfield Park.

Peggy Edwards wanted to be a movie star

By Terry Starnes
Special correspondent

On September 30, Peggy Edwards will retire from 18 years of Texas Agricultural County Extension service, the last ten being spent as Bandera County's Home Extension Agent.

When asked about retirement plans, Peggy showed a playful cartoon which reads, "I had a lot of things planned to do when I retired. I knew I should have written the dang things down."

Touching her short strawberry blonde hair, she smiled and said, "I may finish the crewel sewing set I started 15 years ago, or," she continued, "organize a high school reunion."

Over the years, she has acquired a taste for apricot fried pies, an admiration for Dinah Shore, and a love of dancing to music of the 40s, 50s and bossa nova.

More future plans for Peggy include travel, oil painting, entertaining and further education. "I want to keep learning," she said with her soft, throaty voice. "You can get boring and stodgy if you just sit around."

In a town where boots and Levis are commonplace, Peggy is always dressed in the latest fashion. She appears taller than she is, and has the same slender frame as in high school.

Blue-eyed and carrot-topped, Peggy Harper Edwards was born Sept. 22, the last day of 1923's summer. It is also the last day of "Virgo," her astrological sign. With characteristic self-effacing humor, she said, "That's probably why I consider myself a late bloomer."

In her "Sun Signs" book, Linda Goodman must have had Peggy in mind when she wrote about the "Virgo Woman." "There's a lot to learn about this tender, fragile little symbol of spotless womanhood. For one things, her spine is made of stainless steel. A few prickly thorns along the path to happiness won't cause her either to faint or cry weakly for help," Goodman wrote.

Peggy's teacher-mother (Edith Ellison Harper) died when Peggy was six. Peggy's father owned and operated the Robert M. Harper Seed Co. in Martindale.

"My sister Martha and I were raised by my father and all these wonderful aunts and uncles. They spoiled us rotten," Peggy said, adjusting her ever-present glasses, "but I always hated to go home to an empty house."

Peggy attended high school in San Marcos. Meanwhile, her father remarried, and he and his wife Lora had two other children, Loraine and Alice.

In her senior year at San Marcos High School, Peggy met and fell in love with Frankie Edwards, the school's star basketball player. She also became a cheerleader. "Back then you couldn't just lead cheers," she recalled. "You had to twirl too."

She wanted to be a movie star or a professional dancer. The hint that these ambitions might remain shows in her bright, youthful eyes. "I was a big ham," Peggy said, "and I loved Will Rogers. I have a scrapbook full of poctures of him. When he died," she unashamedly, "I laid on the floor and cried for days."

In September, 1941, three months before Pearl Harbor, Peggy went to Baylor University, where she majored in home economics. "My dad sent all of us girls to Baylor so we could marry a lawyer, doctor or preacher. One of my sisters found a lawyer, but I ended up with a sporting goods salesman."

The following year Peggy dropped out of college to help her father in his business and to prepare for her June wedding to Frankie. America was in the middle of World War II and he was training to be a pilot for the Army Air Corps.

"Frankie was going through Cadets College Training Detachment school in Jackson, Tenn." Peggy said. "He told his platoon: if they didn't all come to the wedding, they would have to walk or run, oh, I forget how many laps - but it was a lot."

"We had 100 percent attendance, plus my father."

From June, 1943, until February, 1945, they lived in Jackson; San Antonio; Sikeston, Mo.' Winfield, Kan.; Lubbock; Fort Worth; a forgotten town in California, and finally Tonopa, Nev.

Peggy shook her head. "Tonopa was a hell hole if there ever was one," she said.

Due to a housing shortage there, Peggy and Frankie and two of his officers and their wives shared a 3-bedroom house owned by a woman and her son. Each couple had a bedroom and the owner and her son slept in the dining room.

"The walls were this thick," Peggy said, squinting and showing no space between her thumb and forefinger. "Everybody could hear everybody else."

"And water was so expensive that the owner told us only the women could bathe at the house. The men had to do to the base." Peggy laughed and raised her hands in amazement. "She would have a drip going constantly from the kitchen faucet to a pan in the sink, because the meter didn't record drips. We had to wait for the pan to fill, then heat it on the stove to wash dishes."

First Lt. and B-24 bomber captain Frankie Edwards and his crew were sent to the Phillipines in February, 1945. When they left, Peggy and the wives of every officer on Frankie's plane were pregnant.

Peggy returned to Martindale, and in July their daughter Penny was born. Frankie came home in October, after flying 50 combat missions. He brought a slight case of malaria with him, which never completely disappeared.

Frankie worked for Peggy's father for a few years, and then became a successful sporting goods salesman in Marshall and later Waco. Their son Randy, now a district manager for Dictaphone in San Antonio, was born in 1947 in Martindale.

The Edwards returned to Marshall in 1958, where, though they lived in town, they bought and operated a pig farm. Frankie died in 1960 at the age of 36. Peggy was also 36.

Hesitantly, and with great emotion, Peggy said, "My mother died when she was 36 and I was six. My grandmother died when she was 36 and my mother was six." Until her 37th birthday, Peggy lived in a private fear that it might be her last year alive.

She said candidly, "I now think that Frankie took my place, or perhaps I take after my father's side of the family."

"Dad is 93 now. He has fewer wrinkles than I do, and he is as sharp as ever," Peggy said affectionately. "He keeps Lora and all of us on our toes."

Peggy and the children moved to San Marcos after Frankie's death, where she worked in an office for a couple of years. When she was 38, she returned to Baylor and received her home economics degree in 1963 at the age of 40. She taught high school from 1963-1966 in New Braunfels.

Peggy's mid-life return to college has inspired 38-year old county extension secretary Nancy Ibach to return to college.

Peggy began her career with the Department of Agriculture in 1967. She worked in Brownwood, San Antonio and Waco. "I was in Waco for six years," she said. "I had 18 extension clubs, did five radio programs a week and about two TV shows a month. I was worked to the bone — drained."

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

For the first time in local history, those persons who are responsible for the policy and operation of the Senior Center at Silver Sage Corral, the Advisory Board, were publicly welcomed and installed in a ceremony which was directed to the whole community.

Peggy Edward retiring as longtime county agent, installed the new officers, elected in August.

The incoming officers are Marie Holland, president; Doloras Green, vice-president; Doris Dolle, secretary, and Mary Joe Kirkpatrick, treasurer (re-elected).

The new members of the Board are Martin Smith, Carter Beach, Dean Isaacs, Doris Dolle, Grace Gonzales and Joe May.

Board members serving in their three-year terms are Amelia Dickens, Marie Self, Dr. Thompson, Vernell Mullenax, Grace Wootton and June Westmeyer.

Honored for three years or more of previous service on the board, but now retiring, are Helen Arh, outgoing president; Mary Worley, secretary; Bill Hathaway; Pat Price; and Kay Robinson.

The installation was a part of the program for the center's eighth anniversary, a program headed by general chairman Amelia Dickens.

It included the Melodiers, the Autoangels, Sally Lewis, and many members of the center's Host/Hostess organization.

A refreshment table was centered by a golden flower arrangement, the gift of Eckhart Flower Shop, graced by Erna Koenig's "Silver Sage Corral" cake, and laden with platters of the volunteers' gifts of sandwiches and cookies, leading up to the punch bowl.

About 60 attended the event, showers notwithstanding.

Volunteer orientation, 1985

The annual volunteer orientation Tuesday for members of the Kerrville State Hospital Volunteer Services Council included several local volunteers.

They were called upon to report on the closely-watched progress of the Silver Sage Corral, according to Doloras Green, volunteer chairman. She handed high praise to Grace Wootton, who gave the wrap-up and evaluation for their "topic table" during the meeting.

They returned with some valuable information for citizens of all ages in this country, including the fact that the KSH Outreach Center provides treatment services to emotionally disturbed or mentally ill persons, and those with alcohol or drug abuse problems, on a voluntary basis. Fees are on a sliding scale based on individual income, but no one is turned away because of inability to pay.

To make an appointment call (512) 257-6553. For drug and alcohol abuse call (512) 896 H-E-L-P.

The new classes of last week got off to a fine start, but it's not too late to join in the fun.

Clarence Hosmer's bridge class has more Lakehills than Bandera people. Now, wouldn't it be better to even up in the event of future tournaments? They meet at 1 p.m. on Fridays.

The Line-Dancers got a taste of the fun awaiting them as they become adept at the line and circle dances taught by the unflappable and untiring June Westmeyer. They meet Tuesdays and Thursdays at 4 p.m.

Bunco party

Fannie Caffall and Marie Holland are the hostesses for the Bunco party at the Silver Sage Corral on Wednesday, Sept. 25, at 1:30 p.m. It seems that each month another tableful of enthusiasts is added. Anyone can join in and compete for the prizes.

Help wanted

The Frontier Times Museum has asked the Center for help in providing display space for their collection of antique quilts.

Quilts will be hung from the ceiling on racks, already built, so they can be seen in their entirety. The project at this point needs persons who will be willing to staple and stitch the quilts in place, working at the Silver Sage Corral prior to taking the display to the Museum.

Glyn Taylor is coordinating the work, which can be done almost any time of day. She appeals to friends of the Center to come and help.

Melodiers

The singers and players who plan to take part in the Stephen Foster program, scheduled for 12:30 p.m. at the Museum's barbecue on Saturday, Sept. 21, are requested to attend rehearsal on Friday, Sept. 20, at 5 p.m. The customary black-and-white garb will be in order for the Saturday performance.

The circus parade

Each year 50 tickets to the Shrine Circus are donated to the Senior Center, and four bus-loads of grateful recipients get to see the matinee performance and enjoy a supper together.

This year it will be on October 24, and it is none too early to call the Center office and get registered on the list of 50 for the free tickets. Call 796-4969, but be sure to release the ticket if circumstances prevent you from going.

Donations

First Federal Savings of Austin who presented a check during their Ice Cream Social on Sept. 10, and Jean Barnhill, Robert Atterbury and Clare Duff also made donations.

Last week's column contained only a partial listing of those memorialized by Betty A. Ruede. It should have read: Peter Sondre, Lane Langford, Lizzie Heisler, E. L. Baker and Elo Renken.

Silver Pages

The Silver Pages Senior Citizens Discount Directory has been received by a number of the applicants, and they are delighted with the publication. It includes a large informational section called the Silver Scene Magazine and covers participating merchants in many nearby counties, besides Bandera and Kerr. It also qualifies the passport holder for discounts in over 100 cities nationwide.

It is sponsored here by the Alamo Area Agency on Aging among others. Applications may be obtained in the Center office.

Sponsored by the Senior Center but welcoming volunteers of any age, a training session on how to introduce English to those who read and write only Spanish will be held on Saturday, Sept. 28, from 9 a.m. until noon at the Silver Sage Corral. The instructor is Josh Boyd of San Antonio. No charge, of course.

Peggy

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is housed in Bandera's old courthouse off Highway 16 South. Peggy, county agriculture extension agent Scott Durham and Nancy Ibach share the building with the county appraiser. In the extension offices, you can get pamphlets on everything from drying and canning fruits and vegetables to learning how to live in less space.

In 1975 she became Bandera County's home extension agent. "I haven't worked any less," she admitted, "but I sure have enjoyed it more."

Some of Peggy's experiences are not in the pamphlets. Like the time she told a farmer how to get a snake out from under his house. Or when she made a regular home visit and ended up helping the rancher and his family round up and pen some wayward cattle.

Her favorite story concerns a pet goat who lives in a farm wife's house. Peggy maintained her composure and ignored it through-out the home visit. When she opened her car door to leave, the smiling goat jumped in and sat in the passenger's seat. Peggy, incredulous, asked the woman, "Do you take the goat riding?" "Oh, yes," asserted the farm wife, "She loves it."

The goat notwithstanding, Peggy has enjoyed every minute of her Bandera position, which has allowed her to be near Penny and the grandchildren (Penny's children Ross and Randall). Penny teaches the second grade in San Antonio but lives in New Braunfels.

Peggy has sold her large, lovely home in Flying L Ranch subdivision that she helped design, and on October 1 is moving to a much smaller duplex in New Braunfels. "I sure am glad I learned to live in less space," she said.

She will be Penny's backup to make sure the children don't come home to an empty house.

Peggy's home extension and 4-H clubs, her co-workers and many other well-wishers gave her a surprise going-away party on Sept. 11. The only things missing were bossa nova music and apricot fried pies.

BCACS collected over $7,000 in county

The Bandera Chapter of the American Cancer Society raised over $7,000 this year in its annual crusade, said spokeswoman Gladys Huseby.

"With the generosity of our town and county people will collected over $7,000," Mrs. Huseby said. "Our volunteers did a super job, and for their good deeds were given awards."

Thirty percent of the money raised goes to research and the rest stays in Texas to be used for rehabilitation, education, and transportation, Huseby said.

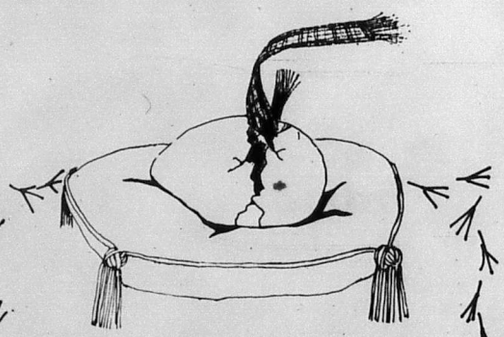

There were 19 cancer patients served in the community this year. If anyone is in need of services, contact ACS at 796-3661 or 796-3841 spokeswoman Emogene Pawvlik advises.

On Sept. 12 five delegates from Bandera County attended the District Annual Meeting of the American Cancer Society in Uvalde. Attending from our area were Al Robinson, Huseby, Eleanor Merritt, Grace Kitzman, and Dorothy Darden.

The Bandera chapter received the Award of Merit for fundraiser leadership. The award was presented to crusade chairman Huseby.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
Retirement can be a blessing, a disaster or a state of existence in which you vegetate...It is a blessing when you accept the situation, saying to yourself: I now have eight hours a day formerly occupied by my vocation. Now those eight hours have to be filled by other activities. Think about it. You now have the time to pursue hobbies, take a trip, explore your nearby environment, take part in community activities, spend rewarding times with family and friends and take an active interest in your religious affiliation, etc.
Couldn't it be said that the person who feels he is useless because of lack of employment does not appreciate the evangel of life? Many people who do not accept retirement gracefully and intelligently become disillusioned, disgruntled, fretful and depressed.
Don't let retirement become a humdrum existence. Prepare for it, along with insurance, pension funds and estate planning. To support your retirement, give a good deal of thought to how you are going to live those retirement years.
When the time comes, don't wake up the first morning and say, "What do I do now?"
There aren't any definite rules to guide you. You do it by yourself to suit yourself. Make things happen on your own and live a happiness.

Hi,
I'm just dying to tell you what's going on in the shop. I've started an "In Season Sale" rack so you can take advantage of sale prices now & have the look that's right from the very beginning of the season. Right now I've got Brenner separates for both Missy and petites for 20% off. Brenner is one of my newest lines, and it presents one of the most important looks for fall. In the Missy collection there are darling little cropp pants in camel with a unique paint brush striped effect in fuchsia and royal blue. The sweaters are short sleeved camel with coordinated colors, there are blouses exactly matching the pants & jackets that are gorgeously contrasting in fuchsia trimmed in royal.
In the petites the colors are a revelation of bright clean red, turquoise, royals and fuchsias. Splashed against a dark olive background. There are floral skirts & tops, solid pants, sweaters, striped tops and each and everyone is a masterpiece of mode. Come by at your first opportunity, while the selection and sizes are still good. They are so sensational, I just know they won't last long.
And speaking of sensational, let me tell you about the "Panama Jack" tops for fall. They are 100% cotton and you don't iron them. They're permanently treated for the crinkled look and they are the phenomena of the season. The colors are wild in turquoise and vivid raspberry and there are stripes in crisp red or vivid blue — also red and black plaid. You can layer them, contrast them, wear them for jackets, tie them, belt them, or whatever, but see them you must.
Gotta run now — Come in soon and see me, the mood is fall and the look is festive and we've got it.
Always,
Janett
P.S. Don't forget we carry a complete line of panties and bras by "Carnival", also Lorraine slips in assorted colors.

Bandera County Profile/

She flits around the ranch like a 21-year-old hand

By Terry Starnes
Special Correspondent

A friend of hers from Mexico calls her "Chairman of the Board." A guest at her dude ranch calls her "Barbara Stanwyck," as in "Big Valley." An admiring Bandera resident says she is the "Cornbread Queen."

To many she is simply called "Boss."

She is octogenarian Dixie Dude Ranch owner Rose Whitley Crowell, more commonly called "Billie."

"My dad always called me his 'Billy Boy' because I was responsible for the goats," Billie said. "And," she added, her intelligent dark brown eyes twinkling, "because I wanted to be a boy."

Like a stately willow tree, Billie is tall, tough, slender and bends gracefully with the wind. She's had to. When her beloved husband, Dee H. Crowell, passed away in 1975, she was left with the responsibility of 1,140 acres of land, a dude ranch and a working stock ranch to run.

And run it she does.

Billie has an efficient staff, including her friend and assistant George Chapman; but she makes all the decisions regarding the ranch. With her short white hair flying, Billie flits around the ranch like a 21-year-old ranch hand — tending to the guests, the gardening, checking the menus and hearing the status of her cattle, horses and fences from the wranglers.

A recent hip injury slows her down a bit around armadillo holes.

"It's always been natural for me to be a rancher," she said proudly. "All of my people were ranchers."

Located 10 miles from Bandera, the Dixie Dude has attracted visitors from all over the world. The contented guests come and go. Most of them have been here before. "A house may draw visitors," said English writer Charles Caleb Colton, "but it is the possessor alone that can detain them."

Ninety-six couples met at the ranch and were later married.

Typically, a guest is greated by friendly barks from Lobo, Billie's part-coyote dog, and George's dog Sweetheart. "They think everyone wants to take them for a walk," Billie said.

In 1983, Billie won the prized Bandera County Cowboy Capital Award. She collects recipes, has written a cookbook, is a member of most every club and organization Bandera County has to offer, looks remarkably good in turquoise, and harbors a fondness for Clark Gable and John Wayne.

Billie's roots go back to Thibadeauxville, La., where her great grandmother Annie Elizabeth Moore Brown was born in luxury in 1837. (She died at the age of 90 in 1927).

Her parents were wealthy plantation, slave and steam boat company owners. She married Benjamin Franklin Brown in 1859. "She always called him 'Mr. Brown,'" said Billie with a smile.

Louisiana was on the brink of civil war, and the Browns converted most of their possessions to cash and set out for California in covered wagons. Because of Indians and treacherous traveling conditions, they got no further than Castroville, where they remained two years and where their children Mary Alice and Bud were born.

They then moved to Devine, near "Big Foot" Wallace's place, and a lifetime friendship began with the famed Texas Ranger and Indian scout, who later had a Texas town named after him.

"Big Foot got his name from the big footprints he made out of cement footprints in memory of Big Foot, each with footprints, handprints or signatures of family members or favored guests.

Benjamin died in 1856, and Annie Elizabeth moved to Hondo Canyon (now "Tarpley") and acquired some property. Daughter Mary Alice married Sharp Whitley, and shortley thereafter their son and Billie's father, William Wallace (Will) Whitley, was born.

"Whitley is a Scotch-English name, but Dad didn't like to be called an Englishman because he knew someone who was English that he didn't like," Billie recalls. "He was named after Big Foot. He gave a cow to Dad when Dad was one year old, and the brand on it was "TUK," which was impossible to duplicate," Billie said. "We've never changed it."

Will Whitley married Zoe Dixon in Big Foot in February, 1901. In 1902 and 1903 they acquired three tracts of land that became "The Whitley Ranch."

The first tract was formerly the William Maass ranch, the second they bought from the Hermes' family, and the third from the state.

Their first child was born at Annie Elizabeth's. Will and Zoe's seven subsequent children were born at the new homestead.

Rose (Billie) Whitley was born in 1904, the same year Theodore Roosevelt was elected president. Coincidentally, they both command soft authority and came from tough stock.

"The Whitley ranch bred horses, mules, cow ponies, angora goats — truly a western ranch," Billie said. "All of us kids had jobs. One of us was a hay pitcher, somebody else took care of the stock, the house, and so forth. I, of course, was in charge of the goats."

"I usually looked like an Indian, especially when I rode bareback. I preferred to be on the back of a horse instead of helping with the chores," she said nostalgically. Photographs at the ranch of a younger Billie do bear an astonishing likeness to a beautiful, dark-headed Indian maiden on a pony.

Billie attended a one-room schoolhouse in Middle Verde, graduated from Bandera High School, and then went to Sul Ross Teacher's College. "I had been reading Zane Grey books," she said with a laugh, raising her hands, "and I wanted to go west."

She received her teaching certificate, but further education was cut short by her mother's illness. As the second oldest child, she returned to the ranch and cared for her mother and her six younger siblings. She also taught school — first at East Verde School and then at Middle Verde.

Her mother died of tuberculoses in 1923. Will and the children continued to run the ranch as a team.

After teaching for three years, Billie, like her great-grandmother Annie Elizabeth, headed for California. "I met Dee Crowell in Los Angeles in nineteen and twenty-seven at a Texas picnic," Billie said with a distant look. Dee worked for the Southern Pacific Railway, and she was selling real estate at the time.

They married the following year, and remained there until 1937, when her father asked them to come home and help him open a guest ranch on the family land. They and their five year-old daughter Darlene did not hesitate.

They remodeled the ranch and put a sign over the entry gate.

Lakehills

Lila MacMillan — 751-2586

Mr. and Mrs. David Furrows

Lakehills couple wed in candlelight ceremony

Evelyn Summers and David Furrows of Lakehills were married during a candlelight ceremony on Sept. 15 in VFW Hall in Schertz.

The Rev. Ernie Lantz of the Grace Lutheran Church of San Antonio officiated.

The bride's sister, Joyce Nichols of Schertz, was maid of honor. Edward L. Brezina of Wakefield, Mass. served his uncle as best man.

The bride chose a soft pink gown with fitted bodice and an embroidered lace jacket. She carried a bouquet of pink tea roses, white carnations, daisies, and baby breath.

The maid of honor's gown was in a deeper shade of pink and she also carried a bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother Fred Schwartz of San Antonio in a setting of staircase candelabrums with white tapers, pink and white floral arrangements and pink and maroon bells and satin streamers.

The 175 guests enjoyed a buffet of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres finger sandwiches and cake.

The bride's cake was white with pink roses, the tiers were separated with white columns and doves and bells adorned the top. The table was covered with a white cloth with a lace overlay with pink and white flower arrangements and candelabrums with pink and maroon tapers and a crystal punch bowl. The groom's cake formed a double ring of German chocolate. Pink and maroon tapers graced his table also.

Jack Bartlett, Art Holt, and Chuck Harrison played country western music for the dance that followed the reception.

Guests attending were from San Antonio, Sisterdale, Boerne, Lakehills, Seguin, Schertz, and Wakefield, Mass.

The couple will make their home in Lakehills.

EMS groups' by-laws due review Thursday

The Lakehills EMS Support Team board of directors have called a meeting for Thursday, Sept. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills to present the proposed by-laws of the newly formed organization to the public.

If the citizens approve the by-laws, the support team will file for a charter with the state, says president Peggy Galland.

"We hope the by-laws are what the citizens of Lakehills had in mind when they elected the board members," she said.

The meeting is open to the public and the board welcomes input of anyone interested in the future welfare of the Lakehills EMS unit.

AARP plans programs for next quarter

The Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons executive committee met Monday. They finalized programs for the upcoming quarter. September's general membership meeting will hear a presentation on colon-rectal cancer from a representative of the American Cancer Society in San Antonio, spokeswoman June Settlemeyer announced.

Bill Ward of Prudential Insurance in Dallas is on the agenda for October. He will speak on "Insurance and the Senior Citizen," Settlemeyer said his company underwrites many AARP insurance programs. In November an AACOG speaker from San Antonio will present a program on Southwestern Bell's new silver pages discounts for senior citizens.

He will give advice on how to put the pages to better use and explain the listing of doctors who accept medicare assignments.

A District AARP picnic will be held in Fredericksburg's Lady Bird Johnson Park on Oct. 6. Anyone interested in going can contact local president Louise Leibold for details and reservations.

The Medina Lake chapter membership now stands at 79, Settlemeyer said. They hope with the new programs forthcoming to see the membership increase in the months ahead. The chapter will continue to have their monthly "bingo party" for residents of Purple Hills Nursing Home which are under the direction of Clarence Hosmer, community services director.

Condolences

Our deepest sympathy to Betty Baxter of Lakehills. Her daughter-in-law died in New York after giving birth to a healthy boy. The doctors discovered an aneurysm had developed in her brain and while preparing her to be transferred to another hospital, another aneurysm burst in her brain. She was 27 years old. Betty flew to New York to be with her son and family.

During the summer her son and daughter-in-law and other grandchildren had visited in Lakehills.

Faith Chapel will present Harvest Fair in October

A harvest Fair and Gong Show will be presented by Faith Chapel on October 19. The fun will begin at 10 a.m. Games such as grab bag, pull a string, burst a balloon, and more are being planned by game chairman Jeanne Bragg. She's asking everyone to check around their home for possible prizes that can be donated.

Theresa Popham is asking for volunteers to bake goodies for the Sweet Shop. All kinds, such as candy, cookies, pies, cakes, and other treats are needed. To donate jams, jellies, cucumbers, honey, needlepoint, arts and craft items for the Country Store contact Sharon Sutton.

Contest chairman Raymond Popham and Jesse Bragg will set up contests for tasting, balloon war, eating, a car stuff and more. They say they need lots of volunteers.

Donations of food items such as hot dogs, frito pies, chili dogs, sandwiches, chips, tea, soda waters, and lemonade for the food concessions should be arranged with Louise Fernald, Pat Jenkins, or Marilyn Colley.

Hot foods will be served from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Other foods and drinks will be available until 5 p.m.

Donna Rains is charged with collecting items for the auction that will begin at 5 p.m.

At 7:30 p.m. the Gong Show will be staged. Reverend Jim Colley says this will most likely become an annual event. Last year, it was very successful and the audience really enjoyed it. To register your act, call the pastor.

Although the show is free, donations to the Faith Chapel Christian School will be accepted.

Legion's membership dinner to be held Saturday

The American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills will host a free dinner for Legion members, auxiliary members, and prospective members in both organizations Saturday evening, Sept. 21 at the post home at 6 p.m.

Cash door prizes will be given away and a 1986 membership card is necessary to be eligible to win.

Membership chairman Bill Angell, vice commander, says new members can sign up Saturday night and memberships can be renewed.

Cajun-like festival due here Sept. 28

It's a long standing belief that any Cajun worth his salt believes New Orleans is the only place you'll find the true mystique called Gumbo.

"Not so," argues Lakehills Great Gumbo Cookoff originator, Bob Caswell. "Lakehills is mystiquely transformed into Cajun Country in September," he says. If this reeks of possible voodoo, mumbo jumbo, or the Shaman's secret ritual, try to discredit it. Just come to the Cajun Country created by the Medina Lake Betterment Association at the Fifth Annual Great Gumbo Cookoff in Lakehills on Sept. 28.

You'll find one of the largest varieties of gumbo simmering at the Civic Center on Park Road 37 as you can find anywhere, including Louisiana and Mississippi.

Experts claim all gumbos have two things in common. They all start with a roux, and they all use okra or file' as a thickening and flavoring agent.

This is a soft spot to the prideful Creole chef, such as you will find gently stirring a pot of gumbo at the cookoff. "Bloody arguments and duels have been fought over whether okra or file' makes the best gumbo," Caswell warns.

"But, not in Lakehills," he adds. "Scholars of each school simply refuse to listen to the opposition. They're as irreconcilably split as Ghibelline and Guelph."

Both sides will be stewing in Lakehills and you can judge for yourself.

MLBA president Peggy Ashmore says a new trophy will be awarded this year. Along with awards for Showmanship, first, second, and third place, they have come up with the People's Choice Trophy. That's right, you can go from gumbo pot to gumbo pot, buying samples, and then cast your own vote for the best gumbo.

To add a touch of Bourbon Street to the cookoff the MLBA will have lots of games for young and the young at heart. A fortune teller will add a touch of voodoo to the festivities, the air castle will be back again, and there'll be carnival games and even a dance contest for those brave souls that want to compete.

"Gumbo ain't all you'll find to eat," we're assured. There'll be barbecued shrimp, sausage on a stick, shrimp etouffe', red beans and rice, beignet, pecan pralines, Texas fajitas, and popcorn. To wash down those delicacies you'll find lots of cold beer, wine coolers, soft drinks, tea, and hot coffee (perhaps one of the cajuns will throw in a little chicory).

The $1 admission also means your name will be entered in a drawing for a lot in Lakehills. Yes, you could be the winner of a piece of property at Medina Lake. No mumbo jumbo, Panchita Thomson has donated a lot of land to be given as a door prize. When you pay the admission fee you will be entered in the drawing.

Auctioneer Joe Walters will start gaveling at 4 p.m. and while he may sound like a Cajun, he swears he's a Texan all the way through.

Instead of the traditional Bourbon Street jazz and blues musical entertainment, there will be country-western music supplied by the Country Shufflers at 1 p.m. and Southern Music Transport at 6 p.m. Cajuns in Lakehills adopted the western sound to make them more unique, Caswell says.

The grounds of the Civic Center will open at noon with plenty of parking space available.

Caswell has assured us judges will be blue-bloodied, Creole connoisseurs. They will begin judging at 2 p.m. and winners will be announced prior to the auction.

Oyster Gumbo a la Antoine

This is a bit of haute cuisine. Antoine's would never give anyone their recipe for Oysters Rockefeller, but sixteen years ago the late, great Mr. Roy Alciatore gave me his recipe for Oyster Gumbo. Like all great cooking it's very simple and easy to prepare.

3 T flour
5 T butter
6 raw hard-shell crabs, cut in pieces
2 bay leaves
1 tsp thyme
1 lb raw okra, sliced
6 raw tomatoes with skins removed and chopped fine
1 quart oyster liquor
salt and pepper to taste
1 lb peeled raw shrimp
5 dozen raw oysters

Make a good roux with the flour and butter by allowing it to brown (but not burn) whil stirring constantly over a low flame. to the brown roux add the raw hard-shell crabs cut into several pieces. Stir and cook a little, and then add the bay leaves and the thyme. Add the raw sliced okra and allow to cook awhile. Then add the tomatoes and allow to cook some more. Next add a quart each of oyster liquor and water at the same time. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Allow the gumbo to simmer for an hour and a half. Ten minutes before serving, add the shrimp and the raw oysters. Serve with boiled Louisiana rice.

Seafood-Sausage-Chicken Gumbo File'

2 lb heads-on shrimp (or 2 lb frozen tails)
3 dozen oysters and their liquor
1 3-lb chicken, cut up
1 lb Andouille sausage or Creole smoked sausage, chopped fine
2 large onions, chopped
½ cup celery leaves, chopped fine
4 scallions with their green leaves, chopped fine
½ tsp thyme
1 bay leaf
½ cup butter
½ cup flour
¼ tsp cayenne
salt and freshly ground black pepper to taste file' powder
steamed rice

Place the cut-up chicken pieces in a pot, add the chopped sausage, cover with water, and add a teaspoon of salt. Boil for 45 minutes. Remove the chicken and sausage and save the broth. Remove the chicken meat from the bones, dice it, and set it aside. Wash the shrimp, cover with water in a pot, add a little salt, and boil for five minutes. Remove the shrimp from the pot, peel (do not devein), and set aside. Return the heads and shells to the shrimp broth in the pot, and boil vigorously for 15 minutes. Strain this broth into the chicken broth.

Make a roux of the butter and flour. When the roux is browned, add the onion, celery leaves, and scallions. Cook slowly until the vegetables are soft and transparent. Stir in the thyme, bay leaf, cayenne, and black pepper. Place the roux-vegetable mix, sausage, and chicken in a stew pot and cover by one inch with the chicken-shrimp broth, adding water or chicken bouillon if necessary. Simmer for one hour. Add the shrimp, oysters, and oyster liquor, and cook for 10 minutes longer. Adjust the salt. Turn off the heat and let the gumbo sit for five minutes. Then you can either add two tablespoons of file' powder and stir it in well or place the file' bottle on the table and let the guest add their own. About a half teaspoon per bowl is average.

Shrimp Creole Eggs

1 cup chopped cooked shrimp
½ cup Each: chopped green pepper, sliced green onion
1 T butter
8 eggs, slightly beaten
½ tsp Worcestershire sauce
½ tsp salt
1 cup (4 ounces) shredded Cheddar cheese
small tomato, cut into 6 wedges

Saute shrimp, green pepper and onion in butter in large skillet 3 minutes, stirring frequently. Combine eggs, Worcestershire and salt; pour over shrimp mixture. Cook to desired doneness, stirring occasionally. Top with cheese. Let stand until cheese begins to melt.

PEN in PAW

For, about and by students in Bandera schools.

Oh hear our plea, kind Mr. Exterminator

By Daniel Potts

Yes, it is that time of year again. "School days, school days, good ol' golden rule days. With reading and writing and ...."

Yuckola! Crickets!

It seems like every year about this time the once-silent halls of Bandera High School fill with the pitter-patter of little feet, followed by the crunch, crunch of a veritable carpet of crickets under foot, the shrieks of horror can by heard by all.

For some unknown reason crickets flock to BHS every single year. Why? Is this their ancient burial grounds or are they simply in pursuit of higher education?

Are they following some set pattern of behavior taught to them by their forefathers, or are they just after the cafeteria cuisine?

Is their visit to BHS necessary to fulfill their life cycle, or are they here only to annoy us?

They're doing an excellent job of that.

They greet us in the parking lots and school entrances in mobs of thousands. They interupt our classes and make it difficult at best to concentrate on our studies.

Isn't there anyone who can come to our aid? A pide piper of sorts. Someone who can rid our beloved halls of these sinful mini-beasts. Oh, hear our pleas for help, kind nobel sir, or madam, or at this point any Tom, Dick or Jane with a fly swatter or vacuum would be worth his weight in gold, much less an exterminator with pesticide in hand.

Won't someone please end this living horror before Bandera High is engulfed in these nasty creatures?

"Rise above the Heights!" prep rally theme

"Rise Above The Heights" was the theme of the "prep rally", before the Alamo Heights game held on Friday, Sept. 13.

To go along with the theme, the cheerleaders announced throughout the week for all students to come to the "preprally" dressed in their "preppiest" outfits. A definition for preppy can be anything from plaids, to argyles, to monogrammed shirts, sweaters, or socks.

A full 20 minutes was planned for the "prep rally," including cheers, chants, a routine from the Flag Corps girls, a class competition, and speeches from Coach Kevin Long and senior captain Cliff Bronson.

At the end of the rally, spirit was executed, cheers yelled, and Bulldog enthusiasm was high. Seniors proved to be the most spirited class, winning the class competition. Cheerleaders handed the varsity football players and coacher little bags of candy tied to a balloon.

Mazurek ties cross country meet record

By Melissa Ross

Freshman Ruth Mazurek outkicked Medina Valley's front runner to win the Class AAA division of the Panther Invitational Cross Country Meet, tying the previous record of 12:32, set in 1984.

The meet was held in Medina Valley on Saturday, Sept. 14. The Bandera varsity girls team placed second behind Medina Valley. Third place went to Floresville.

Other Bandera girls placing included Beckie Clements (12:52) third, Kim Lukachik 10th, Sally Langston 18th, Selena Cook 19th, Eve Elkins 20th and Judy Parkinson 25th.

The Bandera 7 and 8th grade girls also ran at this meet and captured 1st place in their division. They placed with a total of 16 points beating Jourdanton who came in second. Eighth grader Amy Nightengale started strong and set the pace for the eighth grade division. Closest to her throughout the entire two miles was her teammate, seventh grader Genie Clements.

Amy placed first in 13:13 minutes. Genie Clements was second (13:55), Nikki Callahan 6th, Donishe Lenz 7th, and Terri Walters 11th.

This was a good showing for Bandera, and Coach Barbara Mazurek had this to say: "Our girls all practice to win, and they all have a great attitude."

Ruth Mazurek

Junior high cross country stars show off the plaque they won as Coach Barbara Mazurek looks on approvingly. The long-winded stars are, Donisha Lenz, Terri Walters, Genie Clements, Amy Nightengale and Nikki Callahan.

JV sustains second defeat of the season

The junior varsity Bulldogs traveled to Alamo Heights trying to get a win under their belt, after losing to Ingram in last week's football game. Unfortunately the team did not find the win they were looking for.

The final score was Alamo Heights 32, Bandera 6.

Coach Ron Garvic felt the team played well, considering it consists mainly of freshmen and sophomores compared to Alamo Heights 13 juniors and 23 sophomores.

The Bulldogs came back the second half, but were unable to get enough points on the board to offset the first half score of 26-0.

Mules upset Bulldogs

The Bandera Bulldogs were defeated Friday night by the Alamo Heights Mules with the score of 14-0.

The Bulldogs had nine turnovers, two of them leading to Mule touchdowns.

The Mules scored both TDs in the second quarter, one off of an interception and one following a fumble.

Late in the second half the 'Dogs started a drive for about 87 yards only to come short of a touchdown.

The 'Dogs have an open week to prepare for the Somerset Bulldogs in two weeks at Bulldog Stadium in Bandera.

Mikulik-Keese exchange vows

Kimberly Ann Keese of Bandera and Gene A. Mikulik Jr. of San Antonio were married, Sept. 7, at the home of the bride in Bandera. Martin Smith, pastor of the Bandera Church of Christ, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Keese of Bandera. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene A. Mikulik of Schulenburg.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She chose a white gown with fitted bodice of imported alencon lace encrusted with pearls and iridescent sequins, fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and a dropped waist. The sleeves tapered to her wrist. The satin skirt was gathered and flowed into a chapel length skirt which ended in a valance of scalloped lace.

Her veil was a chapel length valance of white illusion, delicately sprinkled with pearls and attached to a bandeau cap of alencon lace flowers and satin rosettes. The bride's bouquet was a traditional white flowing cascade, created in gardenias, stephanotis, Jack Frost roses and baby's breath.

The maid of honor was Stacy Stanfield, the bride's cousin from Uvalde, and bridesmaids were, a close friend, Brenda Brient of New Boston (formerly of Bandera) and cousin of the groom, Karen Migl from Dallas. They wore teal satin gowns. The bodices were fashioned with sweetheart necklines, enhanced by bows above small cap sleeves, and dropped waists which flowed into tea length skirts. The attendance dresses were complimented by colonial nosegays of blue cornflowers, alstroemeria lilies, purple statuf, white stephanotis and miniature carnations.

The flower girl was Ginger Postert of Bandera. She wore a teal organdy dress with ruffles at the neck, on the sleeves and skirt. She carried a basket of the same flowers as the attendance.

The best man was the groom's brother, John Mikulik of Flatonia. Groomsmen were cousin of the groom, Stanley Migl of San Antonio and brother of the groom, Joseph Mikulik of Schulenburg. The ushers were cousin of the groom Mark Migl of Schulenburg and cousin of the bride Matt Stanfield of Uvalde.

The groom, the best man, groomsmen, father of the bride, father of the groom and the ushers wore black tuxedos with boutonniers of white roses.

The mother of the bride wore a mauve, lace tea length gown. The groom's mother wore a blue chiffon gown with full sleeves gathered at the wrist. They both had corsages of gardenias.

Jodi Holen played the traditional wedding selections. She accompanied Shelly Postert who sang "To Me", "Nobody Loves Me Like You Do" and "My Only Love."

Shelly concluded the ceremony by singing "The Lord's Prayer" a capella.

Following the ceremony a reception and dinner were held. The four-tier wedding cake was beautifully decorated with fresh flowers. The groom's cake was a three-tier German chocolate cake. Both cakes were made by a friend, Shirley Phillips.

After a honeymoon trip to Jamaica, the couple will reside in San Antonio.

Mrs. Gene A. Mikulik Jr.

Weaver-Hochstein

St. Mary's of the Hills Catholic Church at Vanderpool was the setting for the wedding Sept. 14 of Patty Hochstein, daughter of Robert and Marilyn Hochstein of Port Lavaca, and Gary Weaver, son of Larry and Alberta Weaver of Port Lavaca and Rio Hondo at Tarpley.

The Rev. Roberto Perez of St. Anthony's High School Seminary in San Antonio officiated at the 11 a.m. ceremony.

Cynthia Hochstein of Bryan, sister of the bride, served as maid of honor, and Tim Cox of Victoria was best man.

Brother of the bride, Steve Hochstein of Houston, read from 1 Corinthians, 14: 4-7.

Traditional selections were played by Margaret Cain, organist, including the Ave Maria while the mothers of the young couple brought up lighted candles during a unity candle service.

The bride wore a gown of white taffeta with a sweetheart neckline outlined in silk Venise lace, with bridal pearls, featuring on/off shoulder bell-shaped sleeves and a cathedral length train.

Her bridal hat was covered in Venise lace encrusted with pearls.

The groom selected a white tuxedo with tails, a wing-tip shirt and bow tie. His boutonniere was a yellow rose.

At the conclusion of the marriage rite, Father Perez blessed and presented a gold Chi Rho wedding cross, the gift of the parishioners at St. Mary's to the young couple as a momento of the ceremony.

A wedding reception followed the ceremony at the home of Roberta and Milton Hausmann, neighbors of the Weaver family at Rio Hondo.

Out-of-town guests were Tracy Kimbrough and Chris Zerwas of Austin; Janet Knopp and David Friedberg of Galveston; Liz Ruiz of Houston; Melanie (Mrs. Tim) Cox of Victoria; and the groom's brothers and sisters, Larry and his wife, Jodi; Janet and her escort, Bruce Thomas of Austin; Judy and her husband, Syd Goodwin; Jean and escort, Gerald Jureka; Jerre and friend Duke Tomlinson; Jacki and Terry Weaver, all of Port Lavaca.

Following their Colorado honeymoon, the couple will be at home at Port Lavaca where the groom is co-owner of Weaver's Grocery and the bride is employed by Downtown Cleaners.

Billie

"The Dixie Dude, Your Home on the Range." "We called it the 'Dixie Dude' for two reasons," she said. "We were moving back to Dixieland and mother's maiden name was Dixon."

They opened on July 3, 1937, with more than 100 guests, neighbors and friends. In 1939 they enlarged the facility. In honor of the ranch being on a prehistoric ocean floor, guests sent rocks and fossils from more than 30 states to be used in the new building. In 1948 they expanded again. "Now we could swim in a pool instead of a creek," Billie boasted.

Billie's father died in 1954, his dream of a modern dude ranch fulfilled. The 48-year-old Dixie Dude Ranch has been featured in many publications, including Texas Highways, Fit, and Cornelius Vanderbuilt's book Ranch Life in America.

"To my knowledge," Billie said, "this is the oldest operating dude ranch in Bandera County." It may be the oldest one in Texas.

She speaks respectfully about the wildlife on the ranch. "The deer eat the rosebushes, and they aren't always in the right places for the guests to see them, but this is their home too." She is particularly maternal about a sow who recently gave birth to seven piglets, and drags visitors cautiously over the armadillo holes to see them.

Billie's future plans include looking for the old family plantation in Thibadeauxville. She and long-time friend Dottie Madden have traveled most of the world together, and they plan to see it all. Darlene assists them from her travel agency in Beeville.

Billie has been blessed with four grandchildren and two great-grandchildren over the years, and all of them work or have worked at the Dixie Dude. They and others close to her call her "Mammaw" (pronounced like "Grandma").

She treats her staff and her guests like family members. She is very special to them also.

One of her wranglers, Ron Davis from Comanche, said "Mammaw plays a game with us. She loves to bake and expects us to raid the cookie jar. She kind of fusses when it's empty, but she's smiling the whole time."

A&I Graduate

Todd Sandidge, a 1981 graduate of Bandera High School, was among 406 candidates receiving degrees at commencement exercises at Texas A&I University in Kingsville last month.

Statewide quail outlook called 'improved'

Texas quail hunters should see improved conditions for this year's quail season, but they still might have difficulty achieving the 12-bird-per-day bag limit and possession limit of 36.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission set the bag limit Friday after hearing a report that quail populations have only partially recovered from the freeze and drought of 1983-84.

Don Wilson, quail program leader for the Parks and Wildlife Department, said quail counts ranged from extremely good to poor in various regions of the state, but the overall population estimate still is below the long-term average.

"There were good nesting conditions in most of the state during the spring, and the birds responded with a good hatch," Wilson said, "but brood stocks were so low it's going to take another favorable nesting season in 1986 before we'll have a bumper crop."

Wilson said the eastern portion of South Texas showed the most improvement in quail counts.

Presbyterian Fellowship formed in Pipe Creek

"For the first time in Bandera County there is a Presbyterian Fellowship, soon to be Presbyterian Church," says spokeswoman Debbie Culver. "The first meeting last Sunday was very successful," she said.

A delegation, lead by Ed Graham with the San Antonio Presbyterian New Church Development came to help get things rolling, she said. They answered many questions on how to start a new church. Don Owens, pastor of St. Marks Presbyterian Church in Boerne offered help and he will be doing sermons in Pipe Creek from time to time, Culver reported.

At the meeting at the Pipe Creek Community Center, Debbie Culver was selected as recording-secretary. Steering committee members elected were chairman Reet Campbell, children's Sunday School chairman Patsy Small, William Smith, Roy Carpenter, and Jeannie Anderson.

Fellowship services will begin this Sunday at the Pipe Creek Community Center at 7 p.m. and Sunday School classes for the children will be held in conjunction with the service, Culver said.

A candlelight service to celebrate World Wide Communion will be held Oct. 6, Culver said, everyone is invited to come join.

A two part- two hour seminar is planned on American Christianity. Rev. Owens will arrange the program and announce the date in the near future.

Real County opposes EUWD permit application

Don Bryant in the Real County American writes that the Real County Commissioners Court voted to oppose an application by the Edwards Underground Water District that would give it the power to approve requests for water rights in Real, Bandera and several other counties.

The Bandera County Water Authority also opposed the application, but no other body in the county has considered it.

Real County Judge G.W. Twilligear Jr. suggested the Real County resolution opposing the EUWD application. It is currently being considered by the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Frio may close last two dumps

Frio County Judge Sid Williams said Monday the county's only two landfills may have to be closed in the wake of a lawsuit filed by the attorney general's office.

The suit, filed Monday, accuses the county of violating the state's solid waste disposal laws.

Attorney General Jim Mattox charged that the county has operated since 1983 two municipal solid waste disposal sites without the proper permits from the Texas Department of Health.

No tax increase in Kerr County

Kerr County will be spending a $1,978,000 surplus from last year in an effort to keep the 1985-'86 tax rate effectively the same as last year, the Mountain Sun reported this week.

"There is no tax increase this year," County Auditor Don Williamson said Thursday, adding, "The commissioners set the policy.....that is the concensus (no tax increase). I'm just putting the pencil to it. I'm only fine tuning."

Williamson said that the budget calls for a total of $2.44 million in 1986 property tax income based on an effective tax rate of $0.21 per $100 worth of property value. The taxable value of property in Kerr County after agriculture, homestead and other exemptions is about $1.4 billion.

Another try

Ingram school trustees proposed a 64 cent 1985 tax rate and called a $4.4 million bond election for October, the Ingram News reported.

If this second try at passing the school building program is successful, the bond debt will add approximately 37 cents to next year's tax.

Facing reality

Uvalde city manager James Thurmond told council members this week that it was time for the city to begin preparing for the reality of higher taxes in the future, the Leader-News reported.

According to Thurmond, a tax rate of 56 cents may be necessary within two years just to maintain present services. The present city tax rate is 36.78 cents.

Boerne sets tax

Boerne City Council adopted a tax rate of 30.44 cents per $100 valuation this week. The new rate will fund a $1.18 million city budget that provides increased funds for streets and a 6 percent pay raise for city workers.

No consolidation

The idea of consolidating Frio County's four justice of the peace offices and the four precinct constables was rendered moot last week when Frio County commissioners court, on a 2-2 tie vote, with Commissioner Noel Perez abstaining, couldn't agree either to consolidate the offices, the Pearsall Leader said.

Lawmen eye group of para-militarists

Fredericksburg's police chief said 30 Gillespie County residents and more from Kerr County were members of the para-military organization called "Posse Comitatus."

Chief Allen Mauldin said reports from other law enforcement agencies indicate members of the group have been found in possession of hand grenades, firearms and explosives, the Standard-Radio Post said.

"With reports of torture, bombing and murder from around the state and nation involving members of the anti-government, anti-tax, white supremacist group, local law enforcement officers are concerned with activities of Hill Country members," Mauldin said.

"The members do not recognize police officers as having any authority and claim only the sheriff of a county can enforce the law," Mauldin added.

Jail site protested

Kendall County's commissioners accepted "for review" a petition bearing more than 2,000 names of residents requesting them to reconsider locating a new jail off Adler Road and "consider the center of Boerne" as a site for the structure, the Star reported.

The petition was presented before an overflow audience in the Kendall County Courthouse courtroom. William Ramsey Palmer, who handed the petition to County Judge Ken Muller, said that "we will have to take appropriate measures" if the Adler Road site is chosen.

Secret meetings rapped

Vic Parker editorialized in the Hondo Anvil Herald about the Hondo City Council's apparent abuse of the Open Meeting Law.

"It is obvious that the council violated the law," Parker pointed out. "How much simpler and more pleasant if the council had not closed the door on the discussion of an employee whose salary, after all, is paid by the public."

The official under discussion was city treasurer Vickie Smith. After the secret meeting and then lengthy — "and at times a rancorous" — public discussion, the council voted to do away with the treasurer's office.

Wool competition

Hill Country Chapter of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raiser's Association Auxiliary members Mary Virginia Holekamp and Mindy Nicholson Goff, co-chairmen for the Make It Yourself With Wool contest, have announced the general competition rules.

The contest is scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 5 in Kerrville at the First United Methodist Church Audio-Visual Auditorium on Thompson Drive.

Make It Yourself With Wool is both a fashion and sewing, hand knitting, or crocheting competition. A contestant's knowledge and presentation, the suitability of the garment to the person's way of life and age, and her or his skill in sewing, knitting, or crocheting are judged to find a winner with a high degree of perfection in every way.

All entries must be made from loomed, knitted, felted, or spun fabric or yarn of at least 60 percent wool. The fabric may contain any amount of specialty fibers such as mohair, cashmere, alpaca, camel, llama, and vicuna. Bonded fabrics with face fabrics of a minimum of 60% wool are acceptable, regardless of backing.

All those entering the competition must select and construct the garment themselves. Entrants may be adviced and taught; however, and advisor, parent, or teacher cannot select, cut, press, sew, knit, or crochet the garment.

The age categories are for Pre-Teens 10-13 years, Juniors 14-16 years and Seniors 17-21 years of age. Adult contestants are 21 and older.

Entry forms may be picked up at the county extension agent's office.

Letter of Thanks
To my friends, loved ones and family, I would like to express my heartfelt thanks and appreciation for the cards, phone calls, flowers, visits and prayers during the time I was in the hospital and also after I was able to return home. I'm fortunate to have a family who showed love and concern to me not only at my critical time, but my time of need.

Also to my daughter Sharon Melton who is away from her family but sacrificed her time to do for me things I'm not able to do at the present time until I have heart surgery.

Special thanks to Maynard, Ray, and Steve who responded so quickly.

May God Bless each of you

White promises crackdown on violence in prison units

In a spurt of post-Labor Day activity, new developments emerged last week from the camps of several state officials.

—Governor Mark White promised more crackdowns on prison violence. Meanwhile, one of his appointees, an expert Austin builder, was elected chairman of the Department of Corrections.

—Texas Supreme Court Chief Justice John Hill warned the state's backlogged courts system is in danger of collapse unless dockets are streamlined to pick up the pace.

—State Rep. Ray Keller, one of the GOP's rising stars and an outspoken critic of the Texas prison system, stunned his circle by announcing he was abandoning his promising political career.

—Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower, arguing for federal farm policy reforms, urged Congress to cut farm subsidies and install national production controls for agriculture.

State Capital Highlights

Prison Gangs

White said a rash of prison stabbings over Labor Day were probably "gang-related", and that restrictions on letters inmates write back and forth to one another were appropriate, since "they're not discussing what songs to sing in chapel."

Meanwhile, the TDC board elected Alfred D. Hughes as chairman to replace Robert Gunn, who resigned after the final settlement of the long-standing prison reform case.

Hughes is respected as a construction business expert, and the prison system, once scandalized by previous misuses of funds, has several priority builings projects ahead.

The new chairman advocated single cells for hard-core prisoners but not necessarily all inmates.

Cases Pending

Chief Justice Hill predicted by year's end the Supreme Court will enact new administrative rules to speed up some 1.2 million civil and criminal cases pending in state courts.

Hill wants judges to have more control over case movement and stricter deadlines for attorneys in litigation.

Otherwise, the overloaded system could "fall under its own weight," he said, noting that some 38,000 cases were added to the backlog in the past eight months.

Keller Quitting

The high-profiled chairman of the legislative probe of prison system abuses, Ray Keller, is calling it quits.

Texas Republicans had hoped Keller would ride his successful political career to new heights, perhaps even Congress, and his departure left them somewhat stunned.

For his part, Keller cited both legislative "burnout" plus the opportunity to pursue some goals that he "couldn't pass up" as his reasons for quitting. He didn't indicate he would return.

Farm Program

Texas' Agriculture Commissioner wants Congress to cut some $14 billion in farm subsidies from the federal budget and stop all direct federal crop payments to farmers.

But he also wants Congress to set mandatory production controls, approved by a nation-wide vote of farmers, and establish a floor price to be based on cost of production.

The down side is an estimated $13 billion groceries increase for consumers, but Hightower said it is a one-time hike and would amount to only a couple of pennies more for a loaf of bread.

The grocery hike would be offset by the $14 billion savings if Congress could be believed not to spend it elsewhere. Basically, Hightower wants consumers to pay more directly to farmers, and cut out the federal government as middleman.

Party Resignation

The comptroller for the Texas Republican Party resigned recently and pleaded guilty to the felony theft of more than $9,000 from a city where he also worked as an accountant.

Ron Williams repaid the money after his plea, and the local DA has recommended a five-year probated sentence.

The city council was unaware that the money had been stolen periodically since January, allegedly by Williams, in a financial system that filtered through him.

Sharp to Run

Victoria State Sen. John Sharp announced last week he will run for the Texas Railroad Commission seat being vacated by Buddy Temple and said he has collected $1 million in campaign pledges.

Sharp, who also served two terms in the Texas House, is giving up his Senate seat.

Hance Endorsements

Thirteen top Republicans from Harris County, considered by many to by the key county in the '86 elections, have endorsed a former Democrat for governor.

The group, wich includes 10 State Republican Executive Committee members, said former U.S. Rep. Kent Hance is the only GOP nominee who can beat incumbent Mark White. Hance was edged by Lloyd Doggett in the '84 Democratic primary race for U.S. Senate.

The group said Hance also has the support of more than 50 Harris County precinct chairmen.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Helen Haley got the fall social season started in the Wharton's Dock area Monday by hosting a coffee and cake social on her patio.

Helen made unusual and beautiful invitations on her computer.

Attending the affair were Marie Bentley, Mary Blakeney, Renee Parks and Betty Ciarlo. All enjoyed themselves and discussed doing it more often.

John Wells celebrated his 70th birthday Saturday.

There will be a small benefit dinner at the Copper Lantern Saturday, Sept. 21, at 4:30 p.m. to help a member of our community with a few of the expenses connected with the recent loss of his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Andues Tijerina, parents of Rosie Gomez and Gilbert Cevallas, paid a visit to Alfredo and Rosie Gomez's residence in Lake Medina Shores and was very impressed with their home and the area. Alfredo's mother spent a week here, and all reported a real enjoyable time.

Chester Byrd from New Braunfels paid a visit to his sister, Juanita Shaffer, at the Copper Lantern Saturday. He then visited with his mother, Ella (Grandma) Byrd, in Bandera and his brother, Sam.

There will be a benefit program at Wharton's Dock Landing, Sunday, Sept. 21, at 1 p.m. to assist Lucille Searcy, Monk Searcy's widow, in paying some of the many medical bills.

There will be an auction, fish plates and a dance. All musicians are welcome to come and invited to play.

John and Marietta Overholser drove to Austin Sept. 7 and stayed with their daughter Debbie and her husband, Bill Cody. On Sunday they went to their son Dewey's home in Bastrop Sunday where Dewey's wife, Elizabeth, cooked them a delicious Chinese dinner.

Jay and Marietta went back to Bastrop Monday morning to help Dewey do some painting around the house, into which Dewey and his wife just recently moved.

On Wednesday afternoon Jay and Marietta drove home through some heavy rain. On arriving back at their home in Wharton's Dock they were greatly disappointed when they found it had not rained a drop in our area.

Mildred and Randy Alexander were paid a surprize visit from Randy Alexander Jr., who has just recovered from a bad wreck.

It seems that wrecking vehicles runs in their family. Their daughter Rene is recovering very well after totaling out her truck on Wharton's Dock Road.

Ray Alexander has moved back to San Antonio to care for his mother, Mrs. Randolph Alexander, who has hip cancer. Recent tests came out well, but she will still need a few more treatments, family members say.

John Portman became ill while visiting in San Antonio and was taken to Wilford Hall Medical Center at Lackland AFB by the EMS. He is doing better, but will be hospitalized for a couple weeks.

The fourth annual Pearl Container Company party was held Saturday, at Lester and Pat Coffey's home in Wharton's Dock.

This event got started when Lester Coffey and Clyde Dugie told their shift at the plant they would throw a party for them if they broke the record for the number of cans being made in a 12-hour period.

The crew came through and made a new record, and the party was such a success that they have had one each year since with the workers pitching in. Seventy-five attended this year with plenty of food, drinks and fun.

Pat Coffey wants to thank everyone who assisted her and also hopes that all the sore muscles from too much football and volleyball feel better soon.

The Lakeshore VFD was called Thursday, Sept. 12 for a grass and brush fire in the Wharton's Dock area. Approximately an acre was burned.

Three young men, names unavailable, from Lake Medina Shores stopped eating their lunch to assist in fighting the fire, and their work drew praise from firefighters.

Eldridge Bond is back in the hospital at Wilford Hall. It appears that he will have some surgery done this time.

Jim Fergus is also in Wilford Hall to undergo some tests. Jim has been working real hard with the VFD at bingo and in their fire training.

The Women's Missionary Union of the Walker Memorial Chapel met Wednesday, Sept. 11 at the Chapel and rolled bandages for a mission in Nigeria.

The ladies have already sent one shipment to Nigeria and will get another one off as soon as postage money is raised.

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday. The Rev. Paul Flanders conducts evening services on Sunday at 6 p.m. and Wednesday at 7 p.m.

The Chapel is sponsored by the First Baptist Church of Bandera. There is a bus to pick up children for Bible Study or anyone else who needs transportation.

It was a nice seeing Pearl Schmidt and Dell Lackey well enough to be up and around and attending church last Sunday.

On Sept. 7, Al and Berneice Smalley had all of their children home over the weekend. Their daughter Christi, her husband Angel and their two children, A.J. and Albert, came in from Freer, and Angel's cousin Ralph came with them.

Their other daughter, Kay, her husband Steve and their 14-month-old son Steve Jr., and Kay's cousin Carl of Dallas also visited. Al and Berneice's two sons, Kenneth and "D" were home. Berneice's sisters Gladys and Betty and Gladys' family showed up Sunday, and all enjoyed a dinner at the Lake Medina Shores swimming pool.

Bill and Margeret Holmes from San Antonio were up at their river-front home for the weekend. Bill always finds plenty to do around his place, grass cutting and repair work and keeping Mary Wells and his wife jumping.

Recently a group of musicians from all over Texas, and one even from Florida, camped out for about a week at Pecan Bottom in the Wharton's Dock area.

This is an annual get-together where they play just what they like and relax and have a good time. Among those attenting this year were Buck and Shirley Sloan and granddaughter Karen, Lack Carroll, Gene Reed, Harold and Bobby Denmis, Jack and Ina Thomas, Duke and Margie Ellington, Jess Beaumont, L. R. Forman, Tex Thatcher and Joyce, all from Houston; E. J. and Myrna Koubek and her daughter Debbie and son-in-law Bill and their children Crystal and Lacie, all from Rockport; Micheal and Patricia McClain of Naples, Fla.

Caesear and Kay Masse and son Jeff and grandchildren Micheal and Bobby Crawford and T. R. and W. B. Andreas, all of Bandera, spent the week there and caught enough fish for the whole group to have a fish fry before departing for home.

PUBLIC NOTICE
BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED
CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS
GENERAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 5, 1985

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Sections 1 and 2 of House Joint Resolution 6 propose a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development bonds.

The additional bonds to be issued will be dedicated for deposit in the Texas Water Development Fund, with $190 million of the bond proceeds to be used for water supply loans and facilities acquisition and with $400 million of these bond proceeds to be used for state participation in the acquisition and development of facilities for storage, transmission, transportation, and treatment of water and wastewater. Of the remaining bonds authorized, $190 million will be dedicated for use in water quality enhancement projects, and $200 million will be dedicated exclusively for flood control projects.

The amendment would also allow the legislature to provide for the creation, administration, and implementation of a bond insurance program to which the state pledges up to $250 million of its general credit to insure payment of the principal of and interest on bonds or other obligations issued by political subdivisions of the state for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, recharge, chloride control or desalinization. Unless authorized to continue by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the Legislature, the bond insurance program will expire on the sixth anniversary of the date on which this section becomes a part of the constitution. Bond insurance issued before expiration of the program will not be affected by such expiration.

The amendment would authorize the legislature to create and appropriate money to special funds in the state treasury to make grants, loans, and other financial assistance available to governmental entities for certain enumerated water planning purposes. Also, the legislature would be permitted to extend the benefits of constitutionally approved water projects to nonprofit water supply corporations.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds, to create special water funds for water conservation, water development, water quality enhancement, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, recharge, chloride control, agricultural soil and water conservation, and desalinization, to authorize a bond insurance program, and to clarify the purposes for which Texas Water Development Bonds may be issued."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

Section 3 of House Joint Resolution 6 proposes a constitutional amendment that would allow the Texas Water Development Board to issue and sell Texas agricultural water conservation bonds in an amount not to exceed $200 million, if authorized to do so by a two-thirds vote of the members of each house of the legislature. The Texas agricultural water conservation bonds would be general obligations of the State of Texas, and would be paid from the first money coming into the state treasury in each fiscal year. The amendment would allow Texas agricultural water conservation bonds to be issued and sold only for four years after the date on which this Act becomes a part of the constitution.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance and sale of $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 54 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature to authorize a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property if such relocation or replacement is done in conjunction with or immediately following the relocation or replacement of water mains serving the property. Any legislative enactment permitting the expenditure of funds for such purposes would authorize the city or town to file a lien on the property, with the owners' consent, for the cost of relocating or replacing the water laterals, and would provide that such cost shall be assessed against the property, with repayment by the property owner to be amortized over a period not to exceed five years at the rate of interest set by law. Such liens could not be enforced until after five years from the date the liens were affixed.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to enact laws permitting a city or town to spend public funds and levy assessments for the relocation or replacement of water laterals on private property."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the use of the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to acquire other land for the permanent school fund. Currently, the constitution requires that proceeds from the sale of such land be invested in certain bonds and other securities.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing proceeds from the sale of land dedicated to the permanent school fund to be used to acquire other land for that fund."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to authorize the legislature to regulate the provision of health care by hospital districts."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would grant an additional $500 million in bonding authority to the Veterans' Land Board for the veterans' housing assistance program. Under the current constitution, the Veterans' Land Board is authorized by Article III, Section 49-b-1 to issue and sell not more than $800 million in bonds, $500 million of which may be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. This amendment would increase that authorization to permit the issuance and sale of up to $1.3 billion in bonds, $1 billion of which would be used for the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund. In addition, the amendment would remove the current definition of "veteran" from the constitution and permit the legislature to redefine "veteran" as the changing times and circumstances require.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans' housing assistance program and changing the definition of those veterans eligible to participate in the veterans' land program and the veterans' housing program by authorizing the legislature by law to define an eligible veteran for the purposes of those programs."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 72 proposes a constitutional amendment that would permit the legislature either to enact a statute or to attach a rider to the General Appropriations Act to require prior approval of the expenditure or emergency transfer of any funds appropriated by the legislature to state governmental agencies.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to protect public funds by authorizing prior approval of expenditure or emergency transfer of state appropriations."

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 19 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the legislature to provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds, the proceeds of which would be deposited in a fund to be known as the farm and ranch finance program fund. The fund would be administered by the Veterans' Land Board and would be used to make loans and provide other financial assistance for the purchase of farm and ranch land. The amount of bonds outstanding at any one time would be limited to $500 million. The principal and interest that becomes due on such bonds in each fiscal year would be paid from amounts remaining in the interest and sinking fund at the close of the prior fiscal year, with the balance due to be appropriated from treasury revenues in the fiscal year when such amounts become due.

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

The amendment would provide for the continued power of the legislature to provide for judicial reapportionment, and would provide that reapportionment will be the responsibility of the Legislative Redistricting Board if the Judicial Districts Board fails to make a timely reapportionment. The amendment would provide for the creation of judicial districts smaller than a county in counties where the creation of such districts has been approved by the voters at a general election. The amendment would provide for more than one judge for a judicial district. The amendment would rename supreme judicial districts as courts of appeals districts. The amendment would provide that the jurisdiction and terms of court of district and county courts may be as provided by law. The amendment would provide for the jurisdiction of justice courts, which may have additional jurisdiction as provided by law. The amendment would provide for rules of judicial administration and civil procedure to be promulgated by the Supreme Court, and would provide that the legislature may delegate additional rule making power to the Supreme Court or to the Court of Criminal Appeals. The amendment would provide that courts and judges in existence at the time of its adoption remain in existence until otherwise provided by law.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

If the office of County Surveyor is abolished in any county, the commissioners court may employ or contract with any qualified person to perform the duties of the office.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to provide for:

(1) the abolition of the office of county treasurer in Andrews County and El Paso County;

(2) the abolition of the office of county surveyor in Collin, Dallas, Denton, El Paso, Henderson, and Randall Counties."

Car safety signs offered

An inexpensive banner that asks passing drivers to "Call Police" and help the stranded motorists is available from the Alamo Area Rape Crisis Center.

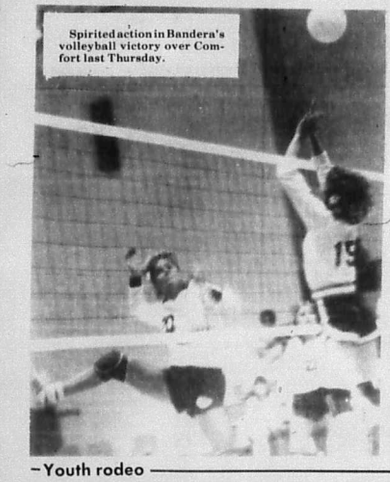

The reusable, flourescent plastic banner is recommended as an important part of every car's safety equipment by many law enforcement agencies. The banner folds down to fit inside a car's glove compartment. When a motorist has car trouble, all they need to do is lock the car doors, take the banner out of the glove compartment, place it in the rear window (attached with four bandaids), and wait for the police to arrive.

"Motorists do respond by calling the police," said Sherry Abbott, Executive Director, "and we feel this sign will help deter potential attackers because the police may arrive any second. It's also a good safety measure because you don't have to get out of your car and take the chance of being hit by traffic."

The signs can be ordered by sending a $2.00 donation, per sign, and 50 cents for postage and handling, per sign, to: AARCC, P.O. Box 27802, San Antonio, 78227.

Please allow four to six weeks for delivery.

The signs are available, also in bulk quantities. Proceeds go to the Alamo Area Rape Crisis Center and it's prevention programs.

Spirited action in Bandera's volleyball victory over Comfort last Thursday.

'Dogs blanked by Alamo Heights

Bandera's Bulldogs left a few of their dreams on the turf of Bulldog Stadium Friday.

Their dream of an undefeated season was destroyed in the flames of a 14-0 defeat at the hands of Alamo Heights' Mules.

Their reverie of a ranking higher than the fourth-place rung given them by writers came crashing to the damp but not muddy playing surface.

And their fantasy of invincibility was dashed.

The 'Dogs have a week off to lick their wounds and to put together some slightly revised visions and to prepare for a "second season."

They face Somerset on Aug. 27 and Hondo Oct. 4 before launching into their play-for-keeps district season, so their fate remains before them

But the loss to Alamo Heights was as disappointing as it was complete.

And if the defeat was complete, so was the Bulldogs' frustration.

While the offense moved the ball well enough, it was not able to move it often enough.

Six times the Bandera offense relinquished prematurely control of the ball—four fumbles lost and two passes intercepted.

The total yardage figures of the teams were almost even—Bandera gained 194 yards and 11 first downs to Alamo Heights' 191 yards and 10 first downs.

The difference came in the second quarter when the Mules scored both their touchdowns in less than a minute and a half.

It was a pair of fortunate circumstances—fortunate for Alamo Heights, that is—that enabled the Mules to get those two scores by driving only 58 yards.

The first came after Bandera's David Ziegler punted from his own end zone. Mule David Crews returned the punt 20 yards to set up Alamo Heights at the Bandera 32-yard line.

It took the Mules six plays to punch it in, and the payoff was a seven-yard scamper by Chris Troilo.

Bandera managed to keep the ball for just three snaps before Mule linebacker Jeff Torgerson intercepted a Jimmy Sides pass and returned it to the Bandera 26-yard line.

Two plays later Mule quarterback Pat Yznaga handed the ball to Troilo at the Bulldog 16-yard-line, and the senior tailback bounced outside and rambled into the end zone for a touchdown.

Only 1:23 had expired from the clock since Alamo Heights' first touchdown.

The Bulldog defense was more than adequate. Five more times did the Bulldogs give up the ball without the benefit of a punt, and five more times the Mules were unable to score.

In fact, except for the two abbreviated driyes that resulted in touchdowns, Alamo Heights managed only 133 yards against the Bulldogs.

On the other hand, Bandera moved the ball well to gain nearly 200 yards, all but 17 of it on the ground.

The Bull of the Bulldogs, James Compton gained 95 tough yards and tailback John Miller added 50.

But time after time the 'Dogs' offensive thrusts were halted abruptly by Mr. Turnover, a ghost that haunted Bandera even in its easy triumph over Ingram the week before.

Bandera put together one good drive in the fourth quarter that included 13 plays and moved the ball 92 yards.

Miller got 25 of those yards on one spectacular run, Compton got 42 on six of his bullish blasts, and Sides gained 26 key yards on keepers.

But Miller was slammed down at the two-yard line on third down and Sides couldn't find a receiver on the next play, and the threat and Bandera's chances were dashed in one fell swoop.

The Bulldogs do not play this week

Medina Bobcats fall to Falls City, 17-0

By Larry Williams
Special correspondent

An extra week of practice did not have the desired effect on the Medina Bobcats last Friday. They fell to the Falls City Beavers, 17-0, in a season-opening game that never seemed to fell for the 'Cats.

Several fumbles put a stop to any Medina advances, and even when, late in the game on 4th and 10, freshman Tim Green broke to the 20-yard line on a reverse for a first down and a gain of about 25, it was to no avail.

The next three downs saw the 'Cats pushed back to the 45, and that's how the whole game went.

Falls City running backs Stephen Liska and Phillip Pawelek along with quarterback Pruski moved the ball almost at will between the 20-yard stripes.

Pruski passed for several good gains and showed his running speed when required, while both running backs tallied a TD each.

Liska got his in the first three minutes of the game on a slant off tackle from about the 20.

A field goal with 7:02 left in the 1st half sent the Beavers to their lodge ahead, 10-0.

Meanwhile Medina just could not get a drive going. When the backfield got together, the line would miss a block, and when the line held, the backs seemed to move in slow motion. Numerous passes were dropped or misthrown.

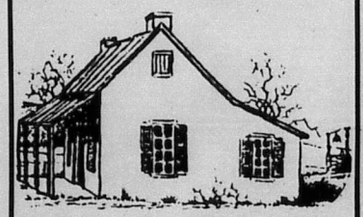

The 'Cats did seem to stiffen when backed up against their goal and stopped the Beavers on two drives that could have scored.

However, 2½ minutes deep in the fourth period, Pawelek ended a drive that started on FC's 38 with a short hop from the 5 to boost the score to 16-0 and seconds later the PAT tallied the final 17-0.

Medina will host their second game Friday in another non-district tilt against Lytle. Game time is 8 p.m.

Lost 4-year- old found

Lawmen search on foot, horseback and from the air

Construction workers locate the tot who wandered away from home and was missing for almost five hours.

"It was worth it all to see the joy on the mother's face," said Chief Deputy.

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

After being separated from his mother for five hours, four-year-old Darryl Henry welcomed a big hug. The only other thing he wanted was a glass of milk.

The youngster was subject of a search Tuesday by law officers on foot, on horseback and in an airplane, and finally located by a construction crew working nearby.

The boy's mother, Kathleen Odell, thanked law officers and volunteers through swelling tears for bringing her boy home safely.

Darryl was first missed by his mother about 10:30 a.m. Tuesday. After she and his grandmother, Marcella Henry, searched the Enchanted River Estates area frantically for over an hour, they notified Bandera County authorities that the boy and two family pets were missing. A small white poodle and a doberman went with the child.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo and Bob Hines drove to Bottle Springs Road searching the area back to the Medina River while Bandera City Police Chief Walter Welch initiated a search of the area from Highway 16 east to the river.

The mother reported she often walked with the child to the river bank where he enjoyed playing in the water.

By 2 p.m. Mingo had organized a search party of deputies and reserves on horseback. Russ Pumphrey and Lolo Rodriguez volunteered to take a plane from Flying L Ranch to search from the sky while the lawmen combed the river banks on horseback.

About 3 p.m. the plane was airborne again and the men were continuing the search along the river when Mingo told the Bulletin he was about to request aid from the Department of Public Safety with their helicopter. Minutes later the boy was reported found four miles from his home.

A construction crew building a house had been told of the missing boy earlier in the day by Deputy Hines and had been on the lookout for him and his canine companions.

They reported the boy was very frightened and crying for his mother, but otherwise not seriously hurt. He was taken to his mother immediately for a tearful reunion and that glass of milk.

He had several minor cuts and scrapes from his ordeal over the rough terrain, but did not require medical attention. She said he was very dirty, but his clothing wasn't wet. "I don't think he went to the river," she said. "He must have headed down the back road instead." Because he loved the river and the water, she feared he had headed for it. Deputy Hines reported the river was deep in the area they searched.

Lawmen participating in the ground search gathered at the Flying L corral with a large jug of iced tea afterward and rejoiced that the child was safe and unharmed.

"This was my day off, and my first experience on horseback," said Deputy Tim Landrum. "I'm just so glad he is okay."

"It was worth it all to see the joy on the mother's face," said Mingo.

"I can imagine what she went through," said Deputy James MacMillan, "we have a four-year-old boy."

Others saddling up for the search were reserve Deputy Maynard Phillips of Medina, City Police Officer Joe Rodriguez, and Bandera County's newest deputy, Dan Jackson who won't officially start his duties until Oct. 1.

The young mother, expecting her third child in a few weeks, said, "Everyone was so wonderful and we are truly grateful to all of them for their help." With eyes still red from recently shed tears, she said, "the chief and the officers were really great."

The grandmother said, "Darryl assured Deputy Mingo he won't leave again without his mother knowing."

The boy's canine companions didn't receive much of a warm welcome when they returned home about 5 p.m. They had an encounter with a skunk and received no hugs.

In the excitement, no one got the name of the construction worker that found the boy. "Whoever he is, I am truly grateful to him," said the mother.

5,000 expected Saturday at Gumbo Cookoff

More than 5,000 fun seekers with Cajun palates (for the day) are expected in Lakehills Saturday for the fifth annual Great Gumbo Cookoff that is already being called "the biggest and best ever."

"Entries are rolling in daily in the Arts and Crafts division as well as the gumbo cooking" says Peggy Ashmore, president of the group sponsoring the fifth Great Gumbo Cookoff in Lakehills Saturday. "The support we're receiving is really fantastic from area artists," she said.

"Last year only one artist showed up, but this year we already have a dozen committed," she said.

The day's featured event will be the cookoff, and among the judges of the competing delicacies will be the president of the San Antonio Restaurant Association, Bill Stevens, and Lucy Johnson, well-known caterer.

Stevens is owner and operator of Barria's Restaurant and Wine Cellar, My Place Restaurant, and Royal Catering. Johnson owns and operates Lucy Johnson Catering and is the previous owner of Sorert's Restaurant in Harlingen.

Among the 20 entries in the cookoff will be the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and Cecil LeStrourgeon of Bandera. Medina Lake Betterment Association president Peggy Ashmore told the Bulletin entries are still coming in daily and they anticipate the total to be about 30.

The Arts and Craft entries are expect to top 15. "This is the second year for the displays," Ashmore said.

The Country-Western Dance Contest will be broken down into four categories, polka, waltz, cotton-eyed Joe, and the all-time favorite two step.

Participants can start signing up for the dance-off at noon Saturday when the gates open at the Lakehills Civic Center. The dancers will be stepping out at 2 p.m. with three judges on hand to select the grand prize winners.

The Country Shufflers will be on the bandstand from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Judging for the gumbo and the dance contests will begin at 2 p.m. At 4 p.m. Joe Walters of Bandera will start the auction followed by the awarding of trophies to the winners. The door prizes will also be awarded.

Arm wrestling contest begins at 5:30 p.m. This event grows larger each year, Ashmore said.

The Southern Music Transport will take the stage from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m. and provide the music for dancing.

A $1 admission ticket admits you to Cajun Funland and enters you in a drawing for valuable door prizes. The grand prize is two adjoining lots at beautiful Medina Lake, donated by Panchita Thomson.

With a little voodoo magic the MLBA volunteers have transformed the Lakehills Civic Center and grounds into an illusion of Louisiana. The hungry will find gumbo, red beans and rice, beignet, pecan pralines, shrimp etouffe, hot dogs, pop corn, barbecued shrimp, and sausage-on-a-stick. Wine coolers, beer, soft drinks, tea and coffee will provide quenchers for the thirsty.

There will be fun and carnival games for the young and not so young. The favorites of cookoffs past, the air castle and fortune teller will be back.

The "Showmanship" trophy will be awarded to the entrant with the most original and creative cooking area. Last year's winners reproduced a Mississippi Showboat. Other trophies will go to the first, second, and third place Gumbo winners.

For the first time ever a "People's Choice" Trophy will be awarded to the gumbo entry chosen as the best by the people attending the cookoff. The crowd will select the winner of this trophy by voting for the gumbo samples available for purchase.

Over a 100 volunteers have contributed to making this year's cookoff the biggest and best ever, Ashmore said.

A group gathered at the Civic Center last week and donated a full day to cleaning, deveining and preparing shrimp for food concessions, other groups have been working on booths, decorations, and preparing the grounds and parking areas for the 5,000 people expected to converge on Lakehills for a day of fun and sun before fall weather sets in.

Loot recovered from burglary of Medina Hardware

A tip from a Crimestoppers program in Kerr County led to the arrest of a Kerrville man and recovery of over half of the merchandise stolen last week from the Medina Hardware Store.

A small amount of marijuana was also confiscated after lawmen raided a trailer house off Highway 16 Sept. 19.

Merchandise totaling over $1,900 was recovered in the raid. Andy Lautzenheiser reported a burglary at his store on Sept. 16, estimating the value of merchandise missing at $3,450.

Recovered in the Kerr County raid were three chain saws, an air compressor, three power saws, sander, jacks, and extension cords. Kerr County Sheriff Lt. Bobby Love said four ounces of what they believe is marijuana was confiscated as well as a pistol.

Bandera County Sheriff Guy Pickett and his deputies were notified of the raid and went to the scene. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo reported Deputy James MacMillan returned Liandro Cantu, 35, of Kerrville to the Bandera County Jail on an arrest warrant issued by Peace Justice Ed Jennings, along with the merchandise confiscated by the officers.

Cantu was released from custody after posting a $12,000 bond, including $10,000 on charges of burglary of a building, and $1,000 bonds on each charge of possession of marijuana.

In an unrelated burglary case, Robert Alexander Biering, 27, of Lakehills turned himself in to Deputy MacMillan last Wednesday for burglary of two residences in Lakehills. He told the deputy he had stolen two handguns and he belonged in jail.

The next day he took officers to where he had the two guns. A .44 magnum Smith and Wesson pistol valued at $700 had been reported stolen by Paul Gray of Lakehills on Sept. 16 and a .22 caliber pistol reported stolen by Horace Wilson of Lakehills on Sept. 14 were recovered.

Biering was arrested Sept. 18 and Judge Jennings set bond at $5,000 for burglary of a habitation. The case will go to the grand jury.

Two mexican nationals were arrested Sept. 23 by city police Officer Carlos Reyna on disorderly conduct charges. Oscar Guerrero, 18, and Carlos Ortega, 23, both listing addresses in Mexico, were fined $250 each by Judge Bonnie Towers. They were turned over to the border patrol the same day.

Thomas Richard Hall, 21, of Kerrville spent less than one hour in Bandera County Jail after posting a $400 bond on disorderly conduct charges on Sept. 22. He was arrested by city officer Carlos Reyna.

Dual butane tanks were reported by Wilbur Bradford of Lakehills and A. Carter Beach of Bandera. Bradford reported two tanks stolen from his Pioneer Realty office on Highway 1283 on Sept. 20 and Carter reported two 30-gallon tanks valued at $100 stolen from his property on Highway 173 east Monday.

Bob Elliott, owner of B & M Plumbing in Pipe Creek, reported a burglary of his business on Sept. 21. A television and other items valued at $930 were missing.

Furniture items valued at $100 were reported missing from the home of Sherry Scott in Pipe Creek on Tuesday.

Bob Hutson of San Antonio reported on Tuesday a boat propellor was missing from his boat in the storage area at Thousand Trails RV Resort in Lakehills. A value of $348 was placed on the propellor.

Judy Martin of Bandera reported a pistol valued at $100 was taken from her home on Sept. 22.

A glass jar with change in it was reported stolen from the home of Ed Taylor in Lakehills on Sept. 17.

Sheriff Guy Pickett is investigating the theft of a stereo system from a vehicle owned by Victor Medley of Lakehills. Medley reported the theft on Sept. 18 and placed a value of $250 on the equipment.

Gordon Nordlund of Lakehills reported Sept. 20 someone cut through the back fence of the Viking Enterprises Boat Storage and sheered hasps off five boat stalls. After notification of the break-in, only one lease or reported anything missing. Bob Elliot of Lakehills reported a case of liquor missing from the stall he was renting.

County hires new deputy

A new deputy has been hired by the Bandera County Sheriff's Department. Dan Jackson will assume official duties on Oct. 1.

"Jackson comes to us with five years experience in law enforcement and is well qualified," reported chief deputy Ken Mingo.

His last duty was with the Morgans Point Police Department. He was a senior partolman there from 1982 to July of this year. Prior to that he served in the Baytown Police Department as a dispatcher-jailer.

The 33 year old deputy and his wife will live in the Rio Hondo subdivision. His wife, Marilyn attended school in Utopia as a youngster.

"He's a permanently licensed peace officer with extensive training with handguns and he's also a certified EMS technician," Mingo said.

Drug lab equipment siezed

On recommendation of Department of Public Safety narcotics officers, Bandera County deputies led by Deputy Bob Hines confiscated supplies and equipment found in an apparent drug lab operation Saturday night.

After receiving a complaint from a resident of the Castle Lake area, Deputy Hines went to a vacant cabin in the area and found what looked like an illegal drug lab. Jugs, jars, and bottles of all sizes along with hollow tubes, hoses, and chemicals were in the building.

Hines said there was a strong stench in the building and around the outside where they found more equipment and supplies stored under draped covers. Also found were materials apparently used for mailing illicit drugs.

When contacted, the DPS Narcotics officers advised local officers to confiscate everything.

"No arrests have been made yet," Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin on Wednesday.

No doubt these are troubled times. Wars and rumors of war. A national debt so large that if you laid all the dollars end to end they could fly out, loop-the-loop around Haley's Comet, and come back with enough change to pay off a mobile home and a veterinarian's bill.

What does it mean to be American today, since there is more population growth from imported stock than from domestic breeding?

What does it mean to be a Texan, if the first thing the Connecticut developer does when he gets here is pick up his custom boots, and study his copy of "Otherwise Secret but Definitely Hip Things to Know about Texas" (copyright, Texas Monthly Publications)?

No wonder so many of us find ourselves slipping into an identity crisis. When it happens to me, I try to remember who I am by remembering who I'm not. For example, I browse through a copy of Ultra magazine. If you are not familiar with it, this is a magazine for Texans with lots of bucks who are real pleased with themselves for being people with lots of bucks.

In the September issue, there is an ad for a residential development called Oyster Point, somewhere off Houston's Southwest Freeway. The picture shows two beautiful people, in tux and evening gown, cruising out the Oyster Point gate in a convertible that matches the guy's tux.

The caption on the ad reads, "Your status in life warrants an environment where it can be enjoyed." The rest of the ad copy uses words like "incomparable security" on the "perimeter" including the "stately brick wall," "24-hour-manned guard station," "centrally monitored security system," and "privacy" that will make you feel "carefree and secure."

All this for the low starting price of $250,000.

Maybe the same approach could work for Bandera County. We have the incomparable security of barbed wire, cedar posts, and aluminum gates. Trained attack goats patrol our perimeters, constantly searching for weak spots. The mobile guard station watches Highway 16 South.

Above all, we have that carefree, secure, and private feeling. It comes from knowing that any moderately intelligent thief, casing the typical Bandera homestead, realizes that he won't score many Cartier necklaces, Waterford crystals, and Rolex watches here.

And now you know why so many people from Houston try to buy a place in Bandera. Maybe the Chamber of Commerce should run an ad in Ultra.

The excitement is building on which kids will represent Bandera County in the forthcoming year. There are contests for babies, the Little Mr. and Missy, Miss Bandera County, and Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County.

The babies are cute, their moms and dads worry, "Will they have a good day, or will they be teething and cranky and turn the judges off?"

Parents of the Little Mr. and Missy entries fear their offspring will turn shy and be afraid to march in front of the judges.

The Miss Bandera entries are worrying they'll get butterflies, say something dumb when interviewed by the judges, or their hair will fall if it's a damp day.

A contest brings out the competitive spirit in all of us, even writers compete for the best story to make the front page. Photographers dream of the "once-in-a-lifetime" picture that'll go out to UPI or AP and make their name recognized.

Kids on the football field vie for recognition and fear the fumble that draws "boos" from the fans.

Competition and worry seem to go hand in hand. We want to be winners, but at the same time we worry we'll goof up and look ridiculous and let those rooting for us down.

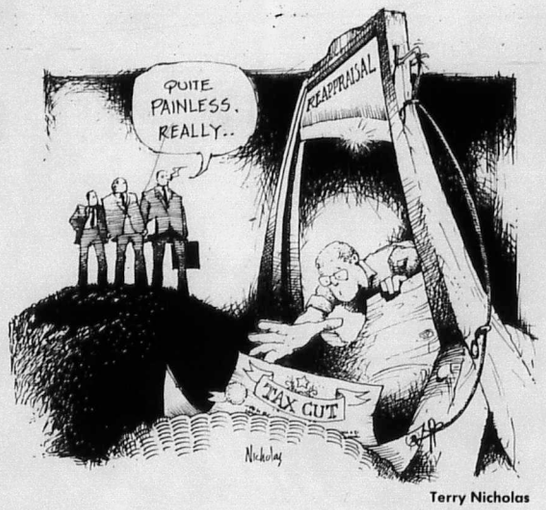

Another kind of worry is that of those that care.

Imagine what went through the mind of the young mother when she discovered her four-year-old missing, knowing he loved the water and the river.

The men searching for the child were worried too, when they saw the river depth in the area. Everyone was thinking, but not saying, "what if."

Imagine the relief of parent and searchers when the child turned up safe four miles from home. He went for a walk with his two dogs, but he didn't head in the direction expected. Instead he took a different route.

That worry had a happy ending for everyone, and so will the contests for those competing to represent us. There'll be joy for the winners and the losers in knowing they tried. No one will be unhappy because their kid lost, because as parents they know their kids a winner, whether the judges detected it ot not.

Utilities: Are they phoney issue in governor's race in 1986?

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Did he promise back in '82 to lower utility rates or didn't he?

Gov. Mark White says he didn't. But several opponents and the Texas Republican Party say White came awful close to it back in 1982 when he was campaigning against GOP incumbent Bill Clements.

Last week in Beaumont, it was a group of loyal Texas Democrats who wanted to know the answer from White himself.

Beaumont residents pay higher electric rates, and citizens hit hard by an economic slump there, asked White about the issue at a press conference.

The question came from a group of more than 40 black ministers, and White's own reply was: "Some people say I promised to lower rates—I didn't."

He went on to promise he would sign a bill making the Public Utilities Commission an elected board. He appoints it now.

White Misled Public?

Two Republican foes, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler, are campaigning now against White's record on utility rates.

And old foe Bill Clements, now running again, said utilities was a "phony issue" when White brought it up in the last weeks of the campaign.

White was saying he would eliminate the automatic fuel adjustment charge of utility bills. Whether he actually said the elimination would lower rates is still a mystery.

Clements says White deliberately misled the public by suggesting he could lower utility bills.

White Defends Issue

White's foes were angered and they vowed then to keep the issue alive, just as White hoped it would go away quickly.

Only days after the election and before he took office, White began denying publicly that he had ever promised to lower rates. He has had to deny it ever since.

This summer, he went so far as to include his own little message in thousands of mailed utility bills in the Houston area where rates stabilized.

Price of a Barrel

The Republicans wouldn't let him get away with that, either. Texas GOP treasurer Rob Mosbacher said White was playing it both ways by denying he had made the promise, then trying to take credit for rates which actually were depressed by a lower cost of oil.

Was White going to take responsibility for rate increases if the price of oil went up? Mosbacher asked.

Speaking of the price of oil, Texas may be facing another tax increase if the price of oil is lowered further, as OPEC officials have indicated will happen.

Tax Issue Remains

That's another issue Republicans hope to keep on the table to hound Mark White, and it won't be hard to do if another tax increase looms in the future.

White won't deny that one campaign promise he made was no new taxes. Republicans plastered his record on billboards around the state while he was trying to raise taxes weeks after taking office.

But White answered it was time to raise taxes and pressed on to call the famous special session which also passed "no pass, no play" rule and other public school reforms.

Last session, the Legislature approved the barest bones budget in state history, and White forced the new indigent health care bill in another special session.

Now a study released last week indicates taxes may have to be raised to fund that program. The tax issues never, never go away.

Bill Messer Retires

State Rep. Bill Messer, the powerful Calendars chairman from Belton, rocked the House last week by announcing he will retire from the Legislature.

Largely unknown outside his district, Messer is one of the most powerful House members and was a top candidate for Speaker to his friend Gib Lewis. But Lewis told Messer he will run again and Messer decided to put his energies elsewhere.

Short Takes

Eugene R. Haney, a Republican insurance agent, won the District 140 House seat in north Houston vacated by now-Sen. Gene Green.

Rep. Milton Fox, R-Houston, who says he has been running since July will officially become a candidate for the Railroad Commission this week.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock's tax enforcement officers seized $187,000 in cash, bank accounts and other assets from three delinquent Houston taxpayers.

Loeffler bill exempts state/local government

U.S. Rep Tom Loeffler this week introduced legislation exempting state and local governments from overtime pay requirements imposed by a recent U.S. Supreme Court decision.

The Court has ruled that effective April 15, state and local governments must pay overtime wages to their employees rather than granting compensatory time.

"This decision imposes unfair financial, administrative and legal burdens on state and local governments," Loeffler said. "If government employers are forced to pay overtime, working hours will most likely be reduced, the quality of service will decline, and taxpayers will receive less for their money.

"With local governments already facing tight budgets, this ruling—if allowed to stand—would be the nail in the coffin," Loeffler said. "Cities and counties would be unable to absorb the additional costs, and, because the ruling is retroactive, many local governments may have to dip into cash reserves to come up with the back overtime pay required by the Court."

Loeffler's legislation would take effect retroactive to Feb. 19, 1986. Otherwise, the overtime ruling could cost states, cities and counties across the country as much as $2.5 billion in back overtime wages, his office said. Costs for the state of Texas could reach $20 million.

Bandera County

Business in America is constantly changing, ever evolving. It must if it wishes to remain competitive in an increasingly competitive world.

For some crime is a business, and to them there is also a need to continue to search for new and novel ways to try to make crime pay.

Some East Texas criminals may have hit on something.

An "all points bulletin" received here this week from the sheriff's office in Longview reports a burglary at the Gregg County Courthouse.

Among the loot: 32 mariage certificates (Nos. 85-1329 through 85-1356).

Now we don't presume to know how these particular criminals plan to capitalize on their booty, but Peace Justice Bonnie Towers may have fingered it.

You see, the judge explains, the state fee for marriage certificates was increased from a manageable $7.50 to an out-of-sight $25 on Sept. 1.

Perhaps, theorizes Towers with tongue in cheek, the higher cost of marriage licenses is creating a whole new source of income in today's underworld: Black market marriage certificates.

Perhaps a new source of income is the answer to America's trade troubles. Actually, there's no easy answers there, and that's why the Reagan administration has difficulty dealing with it.

For example, we should all wish for a strong American dollar, just as we should wish for a strong national defense and a strong hockey team for the next Olympic Games.

Maybe not.

A strong dollar is one that's worth more when exchanged for foreign currency, and a strong dollar is good in that it makes foreign goods cheaper for Americans.

But a strong dollar also makes American goods more expensive and harder to sell abroad, and this puts Americans out of work and can even destroys certain industries.

In Texas alone, for example, the current strength of the American dollar translates into the loss of about 75,000 jobs, according to the state comptroller.

Only the worker who has lost his job knows the human toll that unemployment extracts, and it is a painful exercise indeed to imagine that toll multiplied 75,000 fold.

Too often, however, people overlook the cost to the rest of us of the loss of jobs by others.

Don Hicks, for example, attributes a drop in foreign visitors at the Mayan Ranch at least partly to the strength of the dollar.

It's true, I think, that if you layed all the world's economists end-to-end—they'd never reach an agreement.

But if there is accord on anything, it's that the dollar's strength can be attributed to the enormous national debt.

That's why it is difficult to explain Reagan administration's apparent cavalier attitude toward that massive liability.

Oct. 1 is deadline for county history book

A deadline of Oct. 1 has been set for family stories to go in the Bandera County History Book, says chairman Judy Pue.

"Anyone still holding their manuscripts for the family stories category should get them in by Oct. 1 along with any pictures they hope to have published in that section of the book," she said.

"We have begun work on the Memory Lane category as well as the western and rodeo sections, history section and others," she said. Pictures and articles are needed to fill these sections as soon as possible," Pue advises.

Pictures turned in will be returned to their owners as soon as the book is completed, she said.

"In particular we need good rodeo and cowboy pictures," she says. "So much of Bandera County's history and development has centered around western cowboy and his rodeo performances," she said.

"A little more material is needed for Down Memory Lane section, but we already have stories on "Seco" Smith, "Old Okra," and other prominent early timers," Pue said.

Any information anyone has on John Herndon for the History section would be greatly appreciated, Pue says.

Stories of DeMontel, John James, Duffie Thompson, Walker Davenport, Risinger, Mansfield, Callahan, and others prominent in the county's history have been received.

"The book is coming along great," she says. "We are proud of those that have given of their time and efforts to write the wonderful stories and incidents for the book. Any interesting event will be accepted, including humorous antidotes, or anything of historical interest not already publicized," Pue urged.

Book order forms are available for anyone wanting them or wanting to forward them to their friends or relatives.

4-H enrollment deadline nears

The deadline for enrollment in 4-H is 5 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 1, says extension agent Scott Durham.

Only members actively enrolled in 4-H, FFA, or Vocational Agriculture by Oct. 1, living or attending school in Bandera County are eligible to participate in the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show in January. "If you are not enrolled by Oct. 1, you will not be allowed to show!" Durham warns.

He said 4-H offers a wide variety of activities and projects to the membership. Currently there are six clubs in the county, including a 4-H Horse Club that is very active.

Popular projects include poultry, swine, foods and nutrition, horse and pony, beef, dairy, sheep and goats, rabbits, and clothing.

"If you would like to join 4-H, come by the county agents' office Monday thru Friday between the hours of 8 a.m. to noon and 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. or call 796-3840," Durham said.

Sandidge Park dedication

Dedication of the Bandera Optimist Club's M.R. Sandidge Park will take place Saturday at noon at the park sight directly behind the Library on Eleventh Street, according to Sully Woodland, president of the club.

The first phase of the park has been completed and is now in use by the children of Bandera and their guests, Woodland said.

Members of the club erected the playground equipment that was specifically designed by a firm in Pearland and shipped here in pieces. The equipment has some four or more inches of pea gravel both under and around the area. Studies show that the gravel is much safer than sand to cushion the fall of a child as it will give where sand will pack forming a hard surface.

Landscaping will continue and facilities for parents who bring their children to play will be installed. The park is an edifice to all Bandera Optimists who have given of their time and talents in an all out effort for the youth of Bandera.

Bandera fire destroys Chicken Shack

Quick action on the part of the Bandera Fire Department prevented a fire which destroyed the Chicken Shack from spreading to adjoining buildings, the Sept. 23, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin said. The business was completely destroyed by the 2 a.m. fire of unknown origin, the newspaper reported.

The business was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Skinner.

The Bandera Bulldogs played in Hondo and lost 31-0 in "a rather one-sided game."

The Mustangs from St. Joseph's galloped to victory over the St. Rose Cardinals. The Bulletin credited Royce Sprott and Willis Causey with the 24-14 win.

In the final quarter, all the second string Mustangs were on the field.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Bowlear took over the management of the OST Restaurant in Bandera.

Two youngsters visiting at the George Mathis home near Tarpley for a family gathering wandered down to the creek and lost their way back. The Mathis' dog accompanied the two eight-year-old boys. When found at a neighboring ranch the next morning, after a night in the dark woods, the unharmed boys said they weren't lost, the dog was.

The state quota for Texas Draft Boards was set at 450 men for October 1960. The September quota was 406. The October call was the state's share of a national call for 9,000 men, all for the army, the Bulletin reported.

Mrs. Flocke reported in the third grade news that her class weren't "copy cats," but things were happening in duplicate. Seven class members reported attending Sunday School that week, same as the previous week.

Maudie Pember, a third-grader, reported a cousin visited her and they went swimming. Maudie went off the swing, but her big sister wouldn't. Jimmy Searcy had a cousin visit him, also, and they too went swimming, but for variation they made "mud" pies.

The junior class at Bandera High School elected class officers on secret ballots, including president Danny Densford, vice president Patty Callahan, secretary Terry Knibbe, treasurer Robert Bradley, and reporter Roger Ramos.

Defensive driving set Nov. 4, 5, & 7

A Defensive Driving Course will be held on Nov. 4, 5 & 7th at the Bandera High School Cafeteria from 7 p.m. - 10 p.m. each night. The course is sponsored by the Extension Service Family Living Committee.

The course materials will be presented by Mae Gordonshire of Junction, an instructor trained by the Texas Department of Public Safety.

The cost is $20. Persons interested may make their check payable to The Family Living Committee and mail to Louis Morgenstern, Rt. 2, Box 10, Bandera 78003 by Oct. 15.

A minimum of 20 people must register to have this course. If that number is not reached, checks will be returned, a spokesman said.

Graduates of this course will qualify for a reduction on their auto insurance. A participant must attend all three sessions to qualify. In order to receive this benefit, each member of your family who drives the family car(s) must complete the course also.

HH to get United Way funds

Federal employees may designate the Bandera Helping Hand to receive funds from their donation to United Way, says Helping Hand director Jeanne Shinn.

She said arrangements had been made with United Way officials to return donations to Helping Hand if the donor designates the Bandera agency on the payroll deduction authorization they complete.

"Make sure your United Way contribution stays in Bandera," Shinn urged federal employees. The designation may be made by the few federal employees in Bandera County and by federal employees working in San Antonio but living in Bandera County, Shinn said.

Mazurek, Frazier get Gold Stars

Raegan Mazurek and Jake Frazier were presented the highest award in 4-H, the Gold Star, before a crowd of about 250 people in Uvalde.

The Gold Star is awarded to senior 4-H members that have actively participated and excelled in 4-H leadership, community services, demonstration work and organization.

Raegan and Jake achieved this status through their dedication and hard work with Bandera County 4-H Programs, said extension agent Scott Durham.

Completes course

Marine Pvt. Phillip W. Valencia, son of Jean C. Maris of Pipe Creek, recently completed the Assault Vehicle Crewman Course at Marine Corps Base, Camp Pendleton, Calif.

A 1984 graduate of Utopia High School, he joined the Marine Corps in December 1984.

During the six-week course, Valencia was instructed in the basic skills of assault vehicle crewmanship, such as radio procedures, maintenance of vehicle systems, basic land and water driving, safety, and the types of assault vehicles used by the Marine Corps.

Clinic set

The Texas Department of Health will have an immunization clinic for children Oct. 2, from 1-3 p.m. at the Methodist Church in Bandera. All immunizations are free of charge.

Landscape programs slated Oct. 3 and 12

A Landscape Horticulture Program will be held on Thursday, Oct. 3 at the Bandera Electric Coop at 7:30 p.m.

Doug Welsh, county extension agent-Horticulture from Bexar County, will present the program. "I am sure you have seen him on TV or heard him on the radio discussing water-conservative and drought-tolerant landscape plantings," says Bandera County extension agent Scott Durham.

His program will cover topics on variety selection and landscape plantings for our drought prone alkaline soils, Durham said.

A Landscape Field Day will be held on Saturday, Oct. 12 at Milberger Nursery in San Antonio.

Participants will meet at the county agent's office in Bandera at 1:45 p.m. and leave to go to the nursery at 2 p.m. Two of the county vans will be available, Durham said.

Toby McClendon of Milbergers Nursery will conduct a tour of the nursery and discuss some of the plants adapted to our area.

Welsh is expected to be present for this event also to show some of the plants and plantings that conform to the widely publicized xeriscape demonstrations in San Antonio.

LeStourgeon Hunters' Barbecue chairman

Cecil LeStourgeon of Bandera has been named arrangements chairman of the 22nd annual Hunter's Barbecue, a yearly salute to the out-of-town deer hunters that visit the county. The event will be held on Nov. 8.

LeStourgeon called on the many workers who have been active in previous barbecues to volunteer to help again this year. Some volunteers have participated in each of the previous 21 events, LeStourgeon said.

The barbecue is scheduled the evening before the opening of deer hunting season and hunters from out of the county eat free as the guests of leasors and others.

The annual gathering is sponsored by the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce. LeStourgeon is a chamber director.

In other chamber action Tuesday, the boosters decided to enter the Great Gumbo Cookoff in Lakehills Saturday. Chamber president Ken Finley will head the chamber gumbo-cooking team, and the recipe and even the type of gumbo the chamber group will prepare is a closely-guarded secret, Finley said.

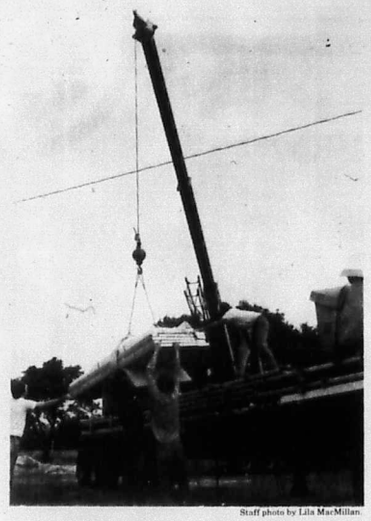

Bandera County Fair chairman Karoline Moreland asked chamber members to volunteer to help stage that event, which is scheduled for Oct. 5 and 6. She reported that interest in the fair among businesses and individuals continues to increase.

Finley reported to chamber members on the hotel-motel tax enacted earlier this month by the Bandera City Council, at the suggestion of the chamber.

He said details of the tax are being worked out. Funds raised by the tax must be spent to encourage tourism in Bandera, Finley said.

Chamber directors made plans to re-build its parade float and called for the donation of a covered parking space to keep it in between appearances in parades here and in area cities. Anyone with information on such a location may call Judy Dunn at the chamber office.

The next scheduled meeting of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is Oct. 15 at 7 p.m. at the First Federal Savings' conference room. All citizens of Bandera County are welcome at the chamber meetings, a spokesman said.

Material for the construction of a new show barn at Mansfield Park began arriving last Thursday and officials say the barn will be fully ready for use during the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show in January. The new barn will be a 120 feet by 200 feet clear-span metal building estimated to cost $78,685. The Junior Livestock Association will sponsor a Bandera County Fair Dance Saturday at Mansfield Park, proceeds going to help pay for the new facility.

Roping Fiesta scheduled at Mansfield Arena

The 17th annual Roping Fiesta for ropers 40 years of age or older will be held Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 28 and 29, at Mansfield Park Arena.

Roping will actually begin on Thursday, however, when there will be B-team roping beginning at 8 p.m.

There will be a warm up team roping competition Friday at 8 p.m.

The first go-round in the annual fiesta for 40-year-olds and older will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday, with entries being accepted at 7:30 a.m.

Two trophy Ammerman Team Roping Saddles will be awarded to winners.

Census is first step in deer management

The size of the deer herds on farms and ranches needs to be managed much in the same way that the numbers of cattle, sheep or goats is controlled, an extension service specialist says.

Many landowners are beginning to put more emphasis on non-traditional sources of income, such as deer, says Dr. Dwight Guynn, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

With traditional agriculture, ranchers have to have a pretty good idea of livestock numbers and be able to adjust numbers according to pasture conditions, Guynn said.

"Sometimes, when pasture conditions are affected by drought, culling some of the stock is necessary. This situation occurs with all types of livestock—cattle, sheep and goats," he explained.

"This applies as well to deer numbers on ranches. Deer herd size must be adjusted to meet range conditions if the herd is to remain healthy and productive," he said. Deer herd size can be managed by legally increasing or decreasing hunting pressure during the fall hunting season, he said.

A deer census is the first step in achieving deer management goals, Guynn said.

"Driving through the pasture late in the evening does not give an accurate idea of the deer population size," he pointed out. "Because deer are naturally elusive and tend to be active mostly at night, many ranchers underestimate the number of deer on their ranch. A more accurate estimate of deer numbers is necessary to insure good management," Guynn added.

The method of deer census most commonly used in the Hill Country is the spotlight census technique, he said.

"This is much more than just driving around the pasture at night with a spotlight," he explained.

A spotlight census route is laid out so that it will be representative of the ranch, Guynn said. A 10-to 15-mile route is recommended where practical. This route is driven after dark with a pickup truck with two people standing in the bed of the truck. Each has a spotlight and counts deer on "his" side of the truck, he said.

The truck is driven slowly at about seven to ten miles per hour. Initially, when the census route is being established, a "distance of visibility" reading is taken every one-tenth mile, Guynn said. This is done by stopping the truck with one person remaining in the bed of the truck with a spotlight and the other person walking off at right angles to the line of travel until they disappear from sight, he explained.

At the conclusion of an initial spotlight census, the average of all the visibility readings is calculated and the distance is noted from the odometer of the vehicle, he said. "Once the average width of the visibility is known and the distance is noted, it is simple to calculate the acreage that was observed while driving the census route," he said.

"Of course, the deer seen were counted and since the acres observed has been calculated, the density in terms of deer per acre is easily determined," Guynn said.

A copy of the bulletin explaining this technique with example calculations is available from the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

In addition, as a courtesy to the local game warden, Guynn advises that anyone contemplating this census make the warden aware of their plans. "Therefore, you won't be mistaken for a poacher and the game warden won't have to make a futile trip to your ranch," Guynn said.

Irish music at Quiet Valley

Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch north of Medina will echo with music from the stage of the outdoor theater one more time in 1985, Columbus Day weekend, Oct. 11-13, as the festivals season closes with the third annual Kerrville Goodtime Music Festival of early American, Irish and Scottish music.

While "old time music" may conjure up images of weary old men playing obscure mountain music out of tune, what is actually happening at Quiet Valley Ranch is, in fact, some of the most exuberant, refreshing, and entertaining music of the season!

Entertainers represent a broad spectrum including National Yodeling Champion Bill Staines of New Hampshire, a young good looking folk balladeer with a romantic voice and an incredible knack for yodeling the spectacular Swiss-country style.

San Antonio musicians participating include nationally-ranked Tennessee Valley Authority in a tribute to Flatt & Scruggs, the Fire-On-The-Mountain Cloggers, blues guitarist Stephen Cicchetti and the Alamo City's resident Irish Band St. James Gate.

Austin-based Folk Festival favorites Allen Damron and Lindsay Hasley are joined by Highland Bagpiper Patrick Regan and award-winning Scottish singer Ed Miller. Many other artists are on the week-end roster of entertainers including ragtimes Jane Voss and Hoyle Osborne Jr.

For ticket, concert schedule, camping and motel information, write Kerrville Festivals, P.O. Box 1466, Kerrville, Texas 78029.

Bandera student commended for Merit Scholarship test score

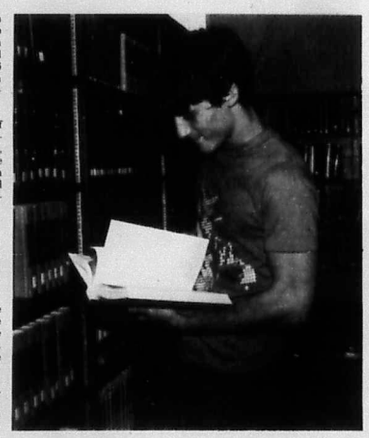

"We have received notice from the National Merit Scholarship Corporation that senior Kenneth Trenkelbach has been designated a 'commended student' in the 1986 Merit Program," Bandera High School principal Richard Delamain told the Bulletin.

"Kenny has received a letter of commendation in honor of outstanding academic promise, demonstrated by placing in the top five percent of over 1 million participants in the 31st annual National Merit Scholarship Program," he said.

Trenklebach has a wide range of interests and has excelled in track and pole vaulting. His record of 12 ft., 6 inches in pole vaulting could qualify him for district competition, Delamain said.

An accomplished trombone player, he has participated in the band for eight years and says he enjoys music in his spare time. The Dire Straits are his favorite musical group.

"I hope to go into law enforcement when I finish my education," he said. He hopes to make Princeton University his alma mater when he leaves Bandera High.

Presbyterian services draw 34

The first services for the Presbyterian Fellowship at the Pipe Creek Community Center were held Sunday. The children attended Sunday School class while the adults listened to Michael Smith, pastor of the Hope Presbyterian Church in San Antonio.

There were 34 people in attendance, spokeswoman Debbie Culver said. Hymn books were donated to the group by Hope Presbyterian Church and a pulpit was received from the United Methodist Church in Lakehills.

Club readies for Christmas

The Pipe Creek Extension Homemakers Club sponsored the Annual Early Christmas Ideas event Friday at the First National Bank.

There were many new and exciting hobby and craft ideas exchanged this year in plenty of time to go home and make them before Christmas.

The sanctioned walk will cover two routes, one 12 kilometers (7.4 miles) and the other will cover 20 kilometers (12.4 miles). Both routes will start and finish at the Jasper Moore Ranch, a private ranch 18 miles west of Kerrville, via Highways 27 and 39.

Starting times for both Saturday and Sunday, for either distance, is 7 a.m.

Support team disavows Rock n' Roll concert

President Peggy Galland told the Bulletin the EMS Support Team is not connected to a benefit for the EMS at Lakeside near the old state park.

"The Lakehills EMS Support Team is in no way associated with any rock concert supposed to benefit the EMS," she said.

"We are planning several fundraisers, but until our charter is approved, none are scheduled. No rock concert is planned by us," she said.

Bylaws presented by the board of directors of the Lakehills EMS Support Team were approved with only minor changes in wording Thursday night at a public meeting. The meeting was attended by 35 people.

The bylaws will be forwarded to Austin along with the charter application for state approval of the organization, said team president Peggy Galland. "As soon as the charter is approved we will begin construction," Galland says.

The first step will be the cement slab for the 24 ft. by 48 ft. building to eventually house two vehicles with a small room for meeting and training purposes.

The purpose of the support team is to raise funds for the needs of the Lakehills EMS and EMTs that volunteer their services to the community. The Bandera County commissioners court has given the team their support and backing since the first planning meeting was held in August.

Crafty Ladies forget diets

Forgetting their varied diets the Crafty Ladies of Lakehills met Sept. 19 and dined on a large array of covered dishes.

The ladies meet each Thursday at the Legion Hall and work on crafts and enjoy each others fellowship. The crafts the ladies work on wind up on the tables at bazaars and fundraisers held in the area. A spokeswoman said there is always a need for the many projects to be completed for continued community improvements.

Players to return MBLA says

The Medina Lake Betterment Association has set Nov. 30 for the next production of the Medina Lake Players. President Peggy Ashmore said an all-new play will be presented on stage by the group at the Lakehills Civic Center.

New members of the MLBA approved by the board of directors at it's monthly meeting on Sept. 12 included Concetta Johnson and Jack and Susan Bires.

Lavarre on the mend

Mimi Lavarre was released from the hospital last week and is recovering at home. Her sister has been staying with her. Mimi said she will miss her when she goes back to New Orleans.

Lakeshore cleaning project aids several Texas lakes

Volunteers picked up an estimated 108 tons of trash left by recreationists and illegal dumpers from the shoreline parks at seven Texas lakes during the recent second annual Texas Lakeshore Cleanup.

Medina Lake was not among the lakes in the program.

The Texas Conservation Foundation, which coordinates the project, reported 1,350 participants from groups ranging from Cub Scout troops to fishing clubs spent a half-day picking up debris from the Lakes Lewisville and Grapevine near Dallas/Ft. Worth, Sam Rayburn and Lake O' The Pines in East Texas, Waco and Somerville in Central Texas and O.C. Fisher near San Angelo.

"Only part of the trash was hand-dropped litter," reported Lake Lewisville Project Manager Gary McKean. "Our volunteers filled two 30-cubic-yard dumpsters with used kitchen and laundry appliances, furniture and construction debris. All that was dumped here by people too lazy to drive to the county landfill. We removed 5,000 tires abandoned by the proprietor of a defunct business."

"We made a dent, at least, in the trash piled at the lakes," declared TCF Director John Hamilton. "Long term, of course, we hope that the concerns shown by volunteers will deter people who leave these messes."

Funded by a $10,000 grant from the Boating Trades Association of Texas for the second consecutive year, the annual event is being extended throughout Texas. Last year an estimated 50 tons of trash was collected from three lakes.

"Already," Hamilton stated, "at lakes which have been cleaned twice we can see improvement from the first to the second year. People are more careful at a clean picnic site than at a place which is already trashy."

This is the second year that the Boating Trades Association has sponsored the cleanup, and progress has been made not only in picking up trash, but changing some people's careless attitudes concerning littering.

"We encourage people not to wait for us to organize a local cleanup," Hamilton said. Organizations interested in staging their own cleanups can obtain a free How-To Manual by calling (512) 475-0342, or writing to the Texas Conservation Foundation, P.O. Box 12845, Capitol Station, Austin 78711.

Pecans being harvested in South Texas

Producers are beginning to harvest a bumper pecan crop this week in South Texas. This year's Texas crop, estimated at 61 million pounds, is 44 percent more than last year's, but one expert is predicting that prices will hold firm with 1984 due to a nominal increase in the nationwide crop and low carry over stocks.

Joe Pena, economist-management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service at Uvalde, said recently, "Some producers have expressed concern over market prospects in the face of this large crop from Texas. When compared to the national pre-harvest estimate of 261.8 million pounds, which is up 12.5 percent over the 1984 crop, this year's crop may not be large enough to adversely affect market prices."

The nationwide crop is about 8 percent lower than the 1983 crop of 283.5 million pounds when prices held at $80 per hundredweight (cwt.) for improved varieties and $40 cwt. for natives, Pena said.

"If we take into account the lower carry over stocks, we may even have an advantage over the 1984 crop," he said. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's July 1985 cold storage report, carry over stocks totaled 27.6 million pounds, down 22 percent from the same period in 1984.

"Combining the crop with carry over stocks, we find that the 324.7 million pounds available in 1985 is about 3 percent lower than the 333.6 million available at the start of the season last year. Prices held at $90 cwt. for improved varieties and $50 cwt. for natives in 1984," the economist explained.

In addition, the rate at which the 1984 carry over stock was used was fairly high, and the cold storage report due at the end of September may reflect even lower carry over stocks, he said.

Native pecans are beginning to split and early varieties such as Wichita and Mohawk should mature this week in South Texas, Pena said. Improved varieties are expected to comprise 16-21 million pounds of the total poundage in Texas, which is about the same as last year, the economist said.

"The native estimate of 40-45 million pounds is what's really bringing the total up," Pena added. Only five million pounds of natives were produced in the state last year.

The Texas pecan crop is maturing about two weeks ahead of schedule, but Pena feels that it should not greatly affect the quality of the crop.

Dr. Jerral D. Johnson, Extension plant pathologist at College Station, said that early maturity is due to environment. "Everything preceded normally up until the latter part of June," Johnson stated.

"The bloom date was correct, and the whole state was wet until late June. Then we had about eight weeks of nothing but hot, dry weather and it's thrown the pecan trees off," he explains.

Nelson Bean, general manager of La Mantia Pecan in Dimmit County, said that Regal Pecan Inc. has already begun shelling operations this week for Wichita, Mohawk and native varieties. Regal Pecan just began commercial shelling operations this year in this South Texas county and company officials expect to reach 50 percent of the plant's capacity by the end of the week and to process about 600,000 pounds of pecans this season.

Uvalde producer Everett Clark Sr. said that he and his son will begin harvesting the Wichita varieties about the middle of this week. Clark said he has opened some of his pecans and the kernels look full.

Horace Brown, who has an orchard near Montell, said that his wife had already baked a pie using pecans from their trees. He noted that his pecans were maturing early, but that the nuts had "tremendous kernels". They are light-colored with a rich flavor. "The nuts are plumb full (of pecan meat)," Brown said.

"This has just been an exceptional year for size, numbers, fullness and quality, as far as ours are concerned," he added.

Traffic deaths down among children in Texas

Since enactment of the Child Passenger Protection Law in January 1985, the Texas Department of Public Safety believe that more parents are buckling up their children, but they continue to point to the auto accident as the No. 1 threat to the lives of children.

An Austin mother found that her children were protected from injury by using the car seat and car safety belts this past winter. "If our children, ages nine months and four years old, had not been in car seats or seat belts, they would have been seriously injured or killed," she said. "Our vehicle flipped completely over onto the top, both boys were literally handing (upside down) from their seats and belts."

Between January and June, 22 were injured. That is 39.8 percent fewer fatalities and 11 percent fewer injuries compared to the same period in 1984, the DPS said.

The child restraint law requires that a child from birth to 2 years of age ride in a child passenger restraint that meets federal standards for crash-tested restraint systems. Children from 2 to 4 years of age must ride in an approved child safety seat and wear a safety belt. A fine from $25 to $50 can be levied. However, with proof of purchase of a car safety seat within ten days of issuance of ticket, charges will be dismissed.

A child must be harnessed according to car seat manufactures instructions, straps must be buckled snuggly.

Fun things coming

Free theatre workshop at the Point

Point Theatre director David Cockerell has announced that registrations are being accepted now for enrollment in a free theatre workshop sponsored by the Hill Country Arts Foundation.

The class will meet each Tuesday at 7 p.m. for six weeks from Oct. 1 through Nov. 5 and will be open to anyone high school age and above regardless of theatre experience.

According to Cockerell, who will teach the class, each session will begin with basic acting instruction and exercises. After a short break it will resume with stage movement which will include pantomime, stage-fighting and stylized dancing. Comfortable clothing is advised.

"While we will strive to lay down an acting 'foundation' for each of the class members to draw upon when onstage, this workshop is going to be fun for everyone—including me," says Cockerell.

"I know that we will be enrolling some people who already have been onstage at the Point and elsewhere who want to hone the skills they have. But I particularly want to see some new faces in this class. In community theatre there is a never-ending need for fresh talent, young and old.

"Everyone who enrolls in this workshop may not intend ever to appear onstage and that's fine. But one or two may change their minds. That's what I'd like to see," concluded Cockerell.

For more information call the Hill Country Arts Foundation at 367-5121.

The Hill Country Arts Foundation is a non-profit, educational organization dedicated to the furthering of the visual and performing arts.

Billy Morris picked to represent BHS

By: Randy McHaney

Billy Morris has been nominated to represent Bandera High School in the Minnie Stevens Piper Scholar Awards competition.

Billy was chosen from the top five graduating seniors in the areas of proven scholastics ability, promise of continuing superior performance at a college level, and actual financial need.

The purpose of this program is to provide a four-year scholarship for academically superior high school seniors residing in certain geographic areas of Texas, and who will need financial aid to attend the accredited college or university of their choice in the state of Texas.

Billy's recommendations will be approved or disapproved by a scholarship board. If he passes, he will be selected to take the CEEB-SAT test on Dec. 7.

Twenty-five finalists will be selected and invited to San Antonio, at the Foundations expense, to participate in the annual Finalist's Convocation on April 10, 11 and 12.

Billy Morris

Can you pass this test?

Mrs. Jo Ann Caloss is now librarian at the elementary/junior high library, and Mrs. Patsy Small has joined the faculty as the high school librarian. To familiarize students with the high school library, Mrs. Small has offered this true/false quiz.

1. Librarians like to yell at kids. (False. But the library is primarily a place for study and reference work. People always seem to forget that, and somebody has to remind them...)
2. Asking the librarian is the only way to find out if there is a book on a particular subject. (False. There are subject headings in the card catalog on a wide range of subjects.)
3. Non fiction books have call numbers and fiction books are arranged by author in a separate section. (True.)
4. One of the best ways to get information about a current topic is to find magazine articles which are listed in periodical indexes. (True.)
5. Librarians attend graduate school to learn how to stamp due dates in books. After all, isn't that all they do? (False. False. False. Actually librarians are trained in reference, collection development, administration, and sophisticated computer searching techniques. They no longer receive hair buns or orthopedic shoes upon graduation.)
6. The library is a good place to meet your friends, gossip, goof off, etc. (Refer to No. 1.)
7. Books are the only source of information. (False. There are digests, magazines, newspapers, microfiche, handbooks, manuals, audio visuals, as well as the vertical file AND the librarian.)
8. The library is the in-place to be. (True. Well, what did you expect?)

First meeting hosted by Bandera

The first Student Council general District 15 meeting was held at Bandera High School auditorium Tuesday, Sept. 17.

Seventeen schools from District 15 attended the workshop and three delegates were chosen from each school to vote on a district project.

Topics given to chose from were child abuse, missing children, and Ronald McDonald house. Missing children came out on top, winning the time and devotion of District 15 Student Council.

Separate, smaller workshops were given to boost participation in state competition. These workshops included SMILE (Student Myths In Learning Experiences); a program to battle teenage drug and alcohol abuse, SAFETY, which involved drunk driving, NEED, a workshop on energy conservation, and SCRAPBOOK, a state competition over rules and regulations of Student Council.

Afterwards, a slide show was presented by Ingram High School. The show included past experiences of student council workshops and a brief view of Camp Waldermar. Camp Waldermar will be the location of District 15 convention during March.

Throughout the meeting, refreshments were provided by the Bandera Student Council. Bandera's Student Council sponsor Mrs. Liz Vakey said, "The San Antonio schools always enjoy the drive, the cleanliness of the school and, of course, the delicious refreshments provided." Perhaps the meeting can be summed up with the words of Bandera Student Council President Billy Morris. "It was great!" he exclaimed.

Varsity volleyball in Southside tournament

Bandera Varsity volleyball girls won fourth place in a tournament at Southside Sept. 21.

Their first opponents were the Poteet Aggetes. The first set was won by Bandera, 15-8, and the second by Poteet, 8-15. The determining set was played and Bandera came out the winner, capturing the last set with a score of 15-5.

Bandera was not as dominent in the second game, losing in only two sets to Poth.

The last game Bandera played was against Southside. Bandera didn't win, but they did play three sets.

Bandera players went to the game hoping, and expecting to win first place. They were not totally disappointed by the loss, however. "The teams were tough, but we worked as a team and did our best," said Missy Mangold.

Girls on the volleyball team expect to win their next game in Floresville, Sept. 26.

The Bandera team is young this year with only two seniors, Beckie Clements and Lorna Colvin but they try to make up for lack of experience with teamwork.

This season, not counting tournaments, the volleyball players have lost only one game against Hondo.

Coach Cindy Hellen has been a big part of Bandera's winning season.

The next home game is Oct. 10 against Cole. A big turnout by the home-town crowd could help make this a winning season for the volleyball team, players said.

Other committees worked on plans for speakers, recreational activities, decorations and other preparations needed for the Regional V Meeting to be held in San Antonio February 21-22.

On Sunday the committees gave their reports on all they accomplished during the two days. A luncheon paid for by the Regional V FHA/HERO association was enjoyed by all.

Sophs win Bucket Brigade

True to tradition, the sophomores once again won the Bucket Brigade with $26.66. The brigade was held from Sept. 16-20. Results were announced Monday, Sept. 23.

Other final tabulations were second place, seniors with a positive $4.31, third place, freshmen with a positive $3.42, and last place, juniors with a negative $5.35.

The sophomores, ever since the very first time the competition was started, have been the winners.

The brigade was sponsored by the Bandera High School Student Council. The winning class is entitled to keep the money from their bucket. The other three buckets of money will go to the homecoming fund.

The rules of the Bucket Brigade are relatively simple. There are four buckets (one for each grade) placed on a table during lunch and breaks. Students put pennies into their class bucket to build your total. Any silver coins or dollar bills will take away as many pennies as their full value. For instance, a quarter would take away 25 pennies and a dollar would take away 100 pennies. Whoever ends up with the most pennies wins.

Cross country win two in a row

For the second week in a row, Amie Nightingale led the eighth grade girls to an overall win at the Fredericksburg meet on Saturday, Sept. 21.

The Bandera placings were as follows: 1. Nightingale, 2. Genie Clements, 5. Lori Fling, 12. Nicki Callahan, 14th. Donisha Lenz, and 32. Terri Walters.

Coach Barbara Mazurek said, "Amie trains hard with a good attitude. She's a nice person to be around."

The Bandera girls competed against both 3A and 4A schools at this meet. Fredericksburg came in second behind Bandera.

The Cross Country schedule is as follows: Sept 28 Poteet, Oct. 5 Tivy, Oct. 12 Bandera Invitational, and Oct. 19 District.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 11 THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 26, 1985

Among the competitors in the Bandera County Quarter Horse Show will be Donna Walters of Bandera. She just returned from Indianapolis where she placed sixth in open trail competition in the World Palomino Show with her horse, Poco Annie. She competed against contestants from Canada and all over the United States. There were 369 class entries representing 27 states and Canada. She will show a nine month old weanling filly, "Traveling Docs Dream" in the Silver Rose Palace in San Antonio next. The filly has already won three first in the three shows she's participated in.

Fair entries due Saturday

Entries in the Horticulture, homemaking, winemaking, needlecrafts and arts and crafts competition will arrive at Mansfield Park on Friday, Oct. 4, and will be on exhibit during the fair.

An auction of prize-winning horticulture, homemaking and winemaking entries will take place Saturday at 3 p.m.

Among the other featured events during the fair are the second annual Old Timers Reunion, an old-time fiddlers' jam session, performances by the Legends of the Old West stunt team, the annual fair parade in downtown Bandera at 9 a.m. Saturday, and a fair dance sponsored by the Junior Livestock Commission at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Entries in games such as foot races, hairy leg and tobacco spitting contests, husband hollering and clothes changing may be made at the time of the competitions, Moreland said.

The Baby Bandera County competition is open to boys and girls aged 6 months to 3 years. Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County will be selected from among entries aged 3 to 7 years. Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County is open to legally married couples of any age.

Miss Bandera County entrants must be unmarried, childless females aged 16 to 25 years. They must be residents of Bandera County.

Judges of the Miss Bandera County Pageant are all from out of the county, Moreland said.

Entries close Saturday at 4 p.m. in just about every category of competition in the second annual Bandera County Fair Oct. 5 and 6, general arrangements chairman Karoline Moreland reminded this week.

She said the offices of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce on Main Street will remain open all day Saturday until 4 p.m. to accept entrys and the small $1 entry fee for the competition in horticulture, homemaking winemaking, needlecrafts, arts and crafts.

Saturday is also the deadline for entering the Miss Bandera County Pageant and the competition for Baby Bandera County, Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County, and Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County.

There's no entry fee for individuals entering these contests, but there is a sponsor fee, and prizes valued at $2,100 will be given away Saturday, Oct. 5, at 7 p.m. at Mansfield Park, site of all fair activities.

Entries won't close until Oct. 4 for the first County Fair Open Horseshoe Tournament, with $100 added to one-half each team's $10 entry fee to be awarded to the top pitchers.

Entries have already arrived for the American Quarter Horse Association Horse Show which will be going on all day from 8 a.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Among the entries expected is Shayne Felton of Bandera who placed third in the barrell race at the Southern Regional 4-H Horse Show in Jackson, Miss., last month. She also placed seventh in pole bending at the big regional show.

Officials threaten to stop raffles in Llano County

Law enforcement officials in Llano County are preparing to clamp down on groups using raffles to raise money, says John M. Richards in the Marble Falls Highlander.

District Attorney Sam Oatman is preparing information to explain to groups that raffles or lotteries are considered gambling and are a third-degree felony, the paper said.

The DA said it is a felony when a person is required to pay for a chance to win. Calling the payment a donation is no defense, he said.

Many non-profit groups in the Marble Falls area rely on raffles to raise money, and the sheriff said he will stop the practice. "It's our job to enforce the law, whether or not we like it," he said.

Ingram shook

The effects of Mexico's devastating earthquake apparently were felt Thursday by an Ingram resident, the Kerrville Times reported.

Gene Fernett said he was sitting in his dining room at his Ingram Hills house during the quake and his chandelier started shaking.

"You could see the vibrations for up to two minutes," he said.

Fernett said he didn't know what was happening then because he didn't have his TV on. Only later did he learn the quake occurred the same time he noticed the chandelier shaking.

Hondo bomb threat

The Medina County Courthouse was to reopen for business Wednesday after a bomb threat early Tuesday closed all county offices for the day, the Express-News said.

County Judge Jerome Becker, ordered the building to remain closed even after police and a U.S. Air Force crew using an explosives-sniffing failed to find a bomb in the three-story limestone structure during a lengthy search.

Save Scenic Loop

Property owners on Scenic Loop and in Grey Forest will meet Oct. 13 to plan a fight against newly-uncovered plans of the city of San Antonio and others to make Scenic Loop into a "major thoroughfare," the Helotes Echo reported.

Can't afford dump

Frio County Judge Sid Williams III says his county can't provide the services the state wants in a lawsuit filed against the county last week, the Pearsall Leader reported.

"The county doesn't have the money," the county judge said.

Auditor ordered

District Judge Robert Barton last week ordered the naming of a county auditor for Gillespie County, the Fredericksburg Standard and Radio Post reported.

State law required that "every county of more than 10,000 population must have an auditor and that he shall be appointed by the district judge."

The auditor's job will be to audit the books of the county, authorize expenditures, help on preparation of the budget and purchasing, Judge Barton said.

Divest yourself

The Lower Colorado River Authority should sell its retail electric operations in San Marcos, Kerrville and San Saba, says a staff report.

LCRA sells power on a wholesale basis to Bandera Electric Co-op.

Sale of LCRA's retail systems would benefit both LCRA and its retail cities, said R.M. "Bob" Tinstman, LCRA director of administration, who oversees retail operations, and who wrote the report.

"It would simplify LCRA's operations, which are geared primarily toward the sale of electricity on a wholesale basis to 30 cities and 11 electric cooperatives in Central Texas," Tinstman said. "More than 85 percent of LCRA electricity is sold on a wholesale basis.

Octoberfest— camping for older

Texans 55 and older have an opportunity to enjoy camping programs at the Texas 4-H Center at Lake Brownwood this fall.

Called Octoberfest '85, the camping program offers older Texans a chance to spend a week "Learning and doing" in a comfortable and supportive atmosphere, points out Marshall Crouch of Brownwood, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The Texas A&M University System. The program allows participants from throughout the state to meet new friends and enjoy old ones and to take part in an enriching experience.

"This is the seventh season for these camps and participation has been truly outstanding," notes Crouch. "Almost 4,000 Texans ages 55 and older have enjoyed the camps in the past."

This year's program offers five different sessions: Oct. 1-4, Oct. 8-11, Oct. 15-18, Oct. 22-25 and Oct. 30-Nov. 1.

Each session allows participants to engage in a variety of "hands on" experiences as well as to enjoy a wide range of recreational activities, says Crouch.

Programs will feature Extension specialists and other resource people in such areas as horticulture, insurance, gardening, foods and nutrition, and entomology. Among the many activities will be oil painting, needlecrafts, basketweaving and chair caning along with nature hikes, boat rides, tennis, dancing, bingo, shuffleboard, bridge, dominoes and other social recreation. Lake Brownwood also offers plenty of good fishing, notes Crouch.

"We feel this camping program is the best camping deal in Texas, and we hope older Texans will take advantage of it," says Crouch. "Interested individuals should contact their county Extension office for reservation forms. Reservations must be received at the 4-H Center at least one week prior to the camp the individual plans to attend."

SWTJC Reunion and Rodeo

The first annual Southwest Texas Junior College Reunion will be held in conjunction with the SWTJC Collegiate Rodeo, Oct. 10-12 at the Uvalde Fairgrounds.

Rodeo action, collegiate style, will begin at 8 p.m. nightly. Tickets are $3 for advance and $4 at the gate. Children 5 and under are free.

SWTJC exes are invited to a social Oct. 12 at 6 p.m. at the Uvalde Fairgrounds. During the social, plans will be made for future reunions and exes events.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Cloudy cool weather has prevailed the past week, with some spotty showers from an inch to 2.

Surgery

Margaret Thompson is improving after undergoing surgery last Wednesday in Peterson Hospital, Kerrville.

Franklin Neff is slightly improved and was able to be moved from Kerrville Hospital to his home in Vanderpool Friday.

Allen Tampke was able to come home for a few days, but will continue his treatments in San Antonio.

Melba Bomer was able to be moved from San Antonio to the Benny and Pat Bomer home over the weekend and is slowly improving.

Sabinal Canyon Camping Grounds

The Olsen Construction Company purchased 50 acres of land just below the Lost Maples Natural Area Park, across the highway from Emmett Traders and are constructing camping facilities with complete shower stalls, bathrooms and a large swimming pool.

Texas City visitors

Hub and Lillie Thompson had their grandson and his wife, Mike and Susan Harp, and Susan's sister Shirley and her husband, Michael, and friend Tharon Miller, all of Texas City visit over the weekend.

Damage control workshop convention

Damage control workshop convention along with 182 others in Brownwood last week. They held school each day, and were taught new methods and some exchanging baits.

A large number of rodent control men from all over the state also attended this meeting and school, Bomer said.

Dahl Howard's son broke his ankle in Kerrville when a pipe rolled. He was in Utopia Saturday on crutches with a cast on his ankle. It can't be set until the swelling goes down, he said.

The Rev. Homer Stephens was really pleased with the large turnout at Baptist Church Saturday to have their pictures taken for the church directory.

Lonnie Bomer reports catching two more coyotes this week, one on the Stromant Ranch and one on the Leslie Duke Ranch.

Earlier day recalled by Canyon pioneer

Acknowledging the influx of people into the Sabinal Canyon area, Analee Burns shared memories with those attending a covered-dish luncheon of the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council last Friday.

Her intent, she said, was to share "our memories, our knowledge and out love for the country" with newer residents.

She asked the audience to remember when there were two cotton gins in Utopia and a grist mill and a flour mill.

She recalled Utopia's millinery shop and the time when the old rock store which now houses a lumber yard had two stories and all the roads were dirt—unpaved and ungraveled.

She said the annual Utopia Rodeo was once an all-day event with a barbecue dinner and participation by cowboys from throughout the area. The Baptists and Methodists conducted separate Sunday Schools but joined together for worship services, alternating the site between the site between the two church buildings.

She said Utopia once had four doctors, two drug stores and a bank. She showed a map that pinpointed the locations of 11 schools, and she said some other oldtimers remembered one or two others.

During the meeting, certificates were presented to persons who have lived in the Sabinal Canyon all their lives.

Beth Davenport, Katherine Redden and Mrs. Burns were welcomed as new members of the council's board of directors.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

It's time for the traditional first-Tuesday-of-the-month pancake breakfast at the Silver Sage Corral.

Your friends and neighbors will be there to cook the pancakes, sausage and bacon, and to serve them with coffee, orange juice and friendly smiles. It's Tuesday, Oct. 1, from 7 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., and the cost is $3 for adults, $2 for children.

What's Up, Doc?

Friday, Sept. 27, at 2 p.m. the Advisory Board of the senior center meets at the Silver Sage Corral including the new members and the carry-over members, according to Marie Holland, in-coming president.

Saturday, Sept. 28, Josh Boyd of San Antonio will give an orientation on how to teach English as a second language; at the Center, from 9 a.m. to noon. This is a preparation for a community service project sponsored by, but not limited to, the senior center.

To accomodate the line dancers' teacher, who lives at a distance, that group's meeting time is being moved up to 3:30 p.m., instead of 4 p.m., on Tuesdays and Thursdays. This enjoyable form of exercise and socializing may be engaged in up to the participant's comfortable physical limits. No class on Oct. 3, however.

The county nurses come on Wednesday, Oct. 2, for their monthly blood pressure clinic, which begins at 9 a.m. and ends at 11 a.m.

Thoughtful Thursday continues its usual line-up of classes, thanks to its devoted volunteer teachers.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 3-5, four of the Silver Sage Corral Volunteers will be in Dallas, at the state Volunteer Services Council's convention. Included with the workshops and meetings will be a glimpse of the State Fair. Attending are May Bachelor, Helen Ahr, June Westmeyer, and Grace Gonzales.

(Footnote, pardon the pun: Since Line-Dancers' teacher June Westmeyer will be in Dallas, the dance class of Thursday Oct. 3 will not be held.)

Melodiers

The first annual barbecue of Frontier Times Museum featured cool breezes under the spreading oak trees, fabulous food, a sparkling museum to view, and the Melodiers singing their hearts out, despite an inadequate amplification system.

Due to multiple expected absences of the members, there will be no practice on Friday, Oct. 4, and likewise no visit to Purple Hills. Next practice is Oct. 18, at which time rehearsal for a Christmas program will be on the agenda.

More about the circus

The good news is that more than 50 free tickets for the circus in San Antonio, Oct. 24 may be had if needed, says Edith Evans, chairman. The other news, is that names must be registered at the Center office by Friday Oct. 18, 4 p.m., so transporation may be arranged.

55-Alive driving course

The American Association of Retired Persons' driver improvement course, taught by June Settlemeyer of Lakehills will be offered in Bandera in December.

Settlemeyer will give the newly revised course at the Silver Sage Corral on Monday and Tuesday, Dec. 2 and 3 from 8 a.m. until noon. The cost is $7 for materials.

Only persons of 55 and over are eligible, but participants will find the material particularly directed at the problems of the older driver. All eight hours, over the two mornings, must be completed in order to qualify for the insurance discount.

Bandera County furnishes mini-bus transportation for senior citizens needing this service. It pays a driver for Mondays and Tuesdays, while the Senior Texan Employment Program pays the driver for the other three days.

The Center's Advisory Board is directly responsible for routes, hours and other details, with the approval of the Bandera County Commissioners Court.

Services to distant parts of the County, such as Lakehills and Medina, are offered whenever feasible, the advisory board says, as well as within two miles of Bandera proper. Wherever the bus transportation is not needed, it will be discontinued, the center says, though it will be available for medical and emergency needs.

Those needing a ride to Kerrville on Mondays or to San Antonio on Thursdays may call the Center office at 796-4969 on the afternoon preceeding their appointments and be at the Center or at the Pipe Creek Civic Center by 8:30 a.m. If necessary, a ride will be provided to the pick-up point.

Dolores Green presided at the AARP meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 18 at the Silver Sage Corral, reminding members of the ongoing service project, under the leadership of Vernell Mullenax, of securing the names, addresses and especially detailed directions to the homes of all county residents, for the use of the Emergency Medical Service.

Nominations were submitted for two new directors, Floyd Portman and Henry Gonzales. Officers nominated were Doloras Green president, Jake Dolle, vice-president, Anita Booker, secretary, and Vernell Mullenax treasurer.

Frank Adamo and Barbara Hughes from San Antonio, representing Alamo Area Council of Governments, were on hand to explain about the Silver Pages discounts.

A novel program was presented by Dorothy Redder of Hondo, as she acted out in costume the "Letters of a Woman Homesteader," a book written by Eleanor Pruitt Stewart.

Texas Water Act affects farmers, homeowners

Homeowners as well as farmers and ranchers have a direct stake in the 1985 Texas Water Act and the upcoming constitutional amendments that will be placed before Texas voters on Nov. 5, says a Texas A&M extension service official.

"The 1985 Texas Water Act focuses on water conservation in cities and in agriculture, water supply development, protection of bays and estuaries; flood control and the creation of ground water districts," says Dr. John Sweeten, an agricultural engineer in waste management and chairman of the extension service's major program committee on water utilization and conservation.

He notes that the act calls for cities that apply for state water development funds to establish water conservation programs that can include education, drought contingency plans, lawn watering restrictions and plumbing codes. Municipal education and technical assistance programs would be provided by the Texas Water Development Board as well as other local and state agencies.

The act also outlines financial assistance programs and expands the existing water loan assistance program to allow expenditures for water conservation, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, chloride control and desalinization in addition to water development and to allow direct appropriations as well as revenue bonds.

State loans administered by the Texas Water Development Board could be used to guarantee local water bonds or pay the local share of federal cost-sharing projects.

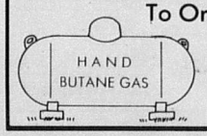

According to Sweeten, the act creates a $10 million Agricultural Soil and Water Conservation Trust Fund. Half of the interest on the principal is to be appropriated among various state agencies for agricultural water conservation programs, including technical assistance, education, demonstration, equipment, grants to underground water conservation districts, research, desalinization and weather modification.

A pilot farm loan program ($5 million for two years) will be used for improved irrigation systems that conserve water.

If voters approve Proposition 1 on Nov. 5, the state of Texas could issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds. Approval of Proposition 2 would mean that the state could issue $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds for low-interest loans to farmers subject to legislative review of the $5 million pilot loan program and approved by two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

Technology for improving irrigation water use efficiency from about 60 percent on the average up to 80 to 95 percent is available to farmers, but capital costs generally present an economic obstacle to its adoption, says the agricultural engineer.

"The passage of the 1985 Texas Water Act would provide for a statewide commitment to water conservation and development programs that would have far-reaching effects on farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners," Sweeten points out. "It would open the door for more concentrated educational and research projects aimed at more effective municipal and agricultural use of the state's present limited water resources as well as the development of additional resources. Also, the current statutory limitations on interbasin transfer of water are maintained.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

It is often difficult to "speak one's mind" both in private and public conversation or debate. Worry about whether what you say will make sense; fear that others may immediately disagree; and the ultimate concern that you may have to defend your statement keep many from making the effort.
Most people will, upon very little urging, take a stand for or against an issue among friends at the coffee shop, the barbershop, or even while buying groceries.
Let us consider the consequences of not speaking out for what you believe. No one else may know your feelings. No one may help you with a problem or concern. You may go away from the conversation feeling somehow "cheated" — robbed of a real opportunity to do something.
Isn't it true that many a good idea has died for lack of communicating to another? Isn't it true that putting a concern into words not only lays it on the table for examination by those who might be able to do something about it — It relieves the burden of carrying those concerns alone? You will have, at last, shared them with others... And most importantly, you will feel better for having done so....

Hi.

Can you believe fall is actually upon us, & it's one of my favorite times of the year, because the whole country becomes a festival of color. It's just magnificent with deep reds, golds & greens. And speaking of color, wait until you see the Ship & Shore separates I've got for the season, they're missy sizes & they're as vividly colored as a crackling fire. There are plaid jackets & skirts in royal blue & cranberry with just the right touch of gold.

Terrific teamed with a warm pullover sweater. Also, there is the most yummy corduroy jacket and pants. They're in a dusty sea foam color, & the jacket is precious with its mandarin color, that actually buckles like a belt. It's super sporty with button cuffs & elastic bottom. Perfect for fall outings & football games. But the most distinctive of the line is the classic blazer in grey, winter white, black & red plaid. The tones are so subtle it makes you think of a snowy late afternoon in the midst of winter. This is coupled with the gray a-line skirt or the soft pleat trouser. All done in a gentle wool blend. The style is traditional, but the look is sophisticated & so updated. It's definitely the kind of separates that can be tied in with so many other pieces to complete your wardrobe.

And when I think of completing a wardrobe, I always think accessories & I've got the perfect touch for just that. Scarves & shawls in all textures & colors. The shawls are large, 3 cornered & are either open woven or nubby, fringed or unfringed & they're just gorgeous. They're perfect for tying around your shoulders with last year's sweater or around the hip for updating a favorite skirt. The scarves are great for accessorizing a jacket or blouse. You can hang it loosely around the neck, leaving it untied & knotting the ends for a casual look, or you can tie them into crisp bows at the collar for a more cosmopolitan trend. Either way the look is sensational & so eye catching.

Well gotta run for now — I'll write more next week. Hurry in, I'm looking forward to seeing you.

Always,
Janett

P.S. Don't forget to visit the In-season sale racks featuring Brenner separates for missy & petites.

Cards of thanks

Letter of Thanks

Thank you for the many beautiful cards and flowers while I was in the hospital. The prayers, phone calls, and visits were wonderful. I'm home now and hope to see all you wonderful people real soon.

God Bless all of you,

Thank You

To all of you who have made my retirement such a happy event I say a great big THANK YOU. There have been so many special occasions but the one that takes the cake was the "surprise" party on Sept. 17. You thought of everything-plus money trees! How can I be so fortunate to know so many wonderful and caring people? I will be writing to you, but until then this will have to do.

Thanks for the memories.

Rich race series scheduled

Bandera Downs officials this week announced a $750,000 series of races in 1986 that carry with them a $100,000 bonus for any horse that wins the three futurity races in the series.

The series of races will be called the Whataburger Triple Crown and is sponsored by the fast food chain whose name it bears.

The rich series was announced jointly by general manager Davis Turner of Bandera Downs and Joe Andrews Sr., chairman of the board of Whataburger, Inc.

The triple crown will consist of three futurities, three derbies and three maturities, with added money of $112,500 and total purses in excess of $750,000, Andrews said.

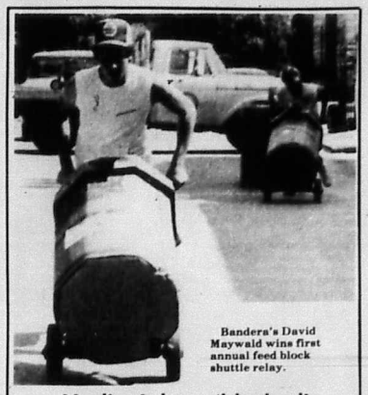

Turner said the first leg of the triple crown will be the Bandera Downs Futurity, Derby and Maturity in April. Futurities are for 2-year-old horses, derbies for 3-year-olds, and maturities for older animals.

The second leg will be the third running of the JAL Ranch Futurity Derby and Maturity in June. The JAL Ranch events were run at Val Verde Downs in Del Rio, Turner said.

The final "jewel" in the triple crown will be the Whataburger Futurity, Derby and Maturity next October.

Racing resumes at Bandera Downs Sunday, Sept. 29, at noon, and the featured events of what is expected to be a full card will be trials for $75,000 Miller Lite Race, which will be run on Oct. 6.

The ten fastest qualifying times in Sunday's trials will return for the Miller Lite Run to battle for the winner's share of the $75,000

Bandera's David Maywald wins first annual feed block shuttle relay.

Medina's boys 'blocked' by Bandera HS team

When the Farris brothers of Bandera County — Bill, Ernest and Harvey—decide they want to donate something to the two high schools (Bandera and Medina), they like to have fun doing it.

Thus was born the first annual Super Block Race sponsored by the Bandera Ranch Store.

A Super Block is a 500-pound of livestock food packaged by Ralston/Purina Co. in a convenient container that is about 3½ feet tall and 2 feet square. Not you're typical "fast food carry-out" item.

The diabolical race the Farris folks worked out was a 40-yard sprint with an empty Super Block Truck, (dolly) and a return 40-yard trip and do that four times with four different runners.

In honor of that effort, each school's athletic department is to receive a $100 contribution from the brothers Farris.

A crowd of at least 50 watched Saturday as Bandera's David Maywald, Gene Barnet, David Ziegler and John Miller edged Medina's Mark Williams, Ernest Farris Jr., Charles Anderson and Jeff Walker by a mere 15 seconds.

Storekeeper and spokesman Harvey Farris said this year's faceoff was the first of an annual series and he said an event for ladies is being considered, using 50-pound blocks.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Rosie and Alfredo are happy. Rosie's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tyerina, are buying property in Lake Medina Shores. They paid a visit to Rosie this past weekend, along with her niece Isabel and husband Joseph Duarte, her nephew Ruben Tyerina and friend San Adres Briseno.

We want to welcome Raul and Victoria Valdez to our area. They have recently purchased a lot in the Lake Medina Shores area and plan on being weekend builders as they work on a home there.

John Portman is still in Wilford Hall Hospital, but it is reported by his brother Floyd that he is doing fine and gaining a lot of weight.

Leroy Erfurt underwent surgery Wednesday at the Veterans Hospital in Kerrville.

Ida B. Klaus sends word that she is doing fine and can hardly wait to return to her home at Wharton's Dock. Ida is still staying with her granddaughter Ann Bendele in San Antonio.

Hazel Beavers has returned to her waterfront home at Wharton's Dock. She is still recovering from hip surgery last spring in Colorado. But as promised Hazel and I had our dance together, even if it was only a few steps.

Paying a visit with Mildred Alexander for the weekend was her father from San Antonio.

The Walker Memorial Chapel celebrated its first anniversary with a banquet at the First National Bank board room Friday with over 50 people taking part. The Rev. Paul Flanders introduced the Rev. Harvey Hulse, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Bandera, and Leslie Pigott gave a short speech charting the history of the Chapel and Rev. Flanders spoke on the chapel's future.

Dr. Marian Birch presented some special music.

Bill Stevens went to Kerrville to spend a week with his daughter Donna and his two grandchildren.

Geneva Smith is back at her home in Wharton's Dock after spending some time in California with her daughter and to welcome her new granddaughter.

Martha Nechols from Center Point was here checking on her home in our area and is spending a few days here.

Betty Highnote had to return to the hospital in Dallas. Betty has a heart condition and they will be running more tests to determine what course of action to take in treating her.

Another first for the Walker Memorial Chapel occurred on Sept. 19 when James Galey was baptized by Rev. Paul in the Lake Medina Shores swimming pool.

James' mother, Beverly Galey, expressed her desire to be baptized and accepted into membership of the Walker Memorial Chapel, and her baptism is scheduled for Friday, Sept. 27 at 7:30 p.m. on the Nell Carr ranch across from Mansfield Park.

The benefit program on Sunday at Wharton's Dock Landing was very well and was a great success. With merchants from Bandera and San Antonio donating items for the auction which saw a lot of action

Many musicians donated their time and music, Glenn and Connie Alexander came in to help their mother Mildred Visiting Olivia Andrade and Jack and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Saldana from Ohio.

Joy and Lloyd Basten from Minnesota, former residents of Wharton's Dock, are here visiting friends in the area. The Basten's are staying for the winter with their daughter in San Antonio.

John and Mary Wells and Margeret and Bill Holmes have gone to the coast for a week. They plan on getting in a lot of fishing and a few games of dominoes while there.

Charles and Maradelle DeWitt have returned from a lengthy vacation.

Among those attending the VFW barbecue and Blind White Elephant auction Sunday were, Butch and Irene Highnote, Joe and Joyce Sowell, Marion and Marjorie Birch, Marion Trout and Betty and John Ciarlo.

The Birches, who had lived and worked for many years as missionaries in West Africa, were amazed at how people bid on objects they could not see. "This is part of America that we have never seen."

'Dogs face another test in game with Somerset

Bandera's Bulldogs, refreshed by a week off, face the second of a string of three stern tests Friday when they entertain Somerset's kind of Bulldogs beginning at 7:30 p.m.

The Bandera eleven lost to Alamo Heights of Class AAAA two weeks ago and battles the always-tough Hondo Owls next week.

But they are not overlooking Somerset, still undefeated, the favorite in some corners to win their AAA district, and victor over two teams in Bandera's District 27-AAA.

There'll be some changes in the Bandera scheme of things Friday, partly at least dictated by what Coach Danny Neuse sees as a lackluster performance against Alamo Heights, but no one has lost his job.

"We've moved some people around, but basically we'll be doing the same things," Neuse said this week. The "moving around" are technical adjustments in alignments and assignments, the coach said, not major changes in methods or personnel.

One of the differences will be fewer minutes on defense for the man who puts the Bull into the Bulldogs, James Compton. "He'll play offense more and he'll be in there on defense just in key situations," Neuse said of his 4,000-yard rusher who gained a school record of 1,665 yards last year. He has gained 224 in the first two games this year.

Neuse said seemingly simply but crucial mistakes were at the root of the Bulldogs' difficulties in their loss to Alamo Heights.

"They were basic mistakes on plays we have been running for four or five years," the coach explained. He pointed out, as an example, that every Mule defender was blocked out of a play on fourth down in the shadow of Heights' goal, except one man who made the play. "They just decided to block someone else," Neuse said.

"It was a 'twilight zone' kind of thing," he said. "We hope to have corrected those problems."

Somerset is very big and physical, Coach Neuse said, and they have already conquered Southside and Smithson Valley, members with Bandera of District 27-AAA.

There was lots of spirited action like this on the opening day of junior soccer Saturday.

Medina beaten by Lytle, 42-6

By Larry Williams
Special correspondent

Undersized and inexperienced, the spunky Bobcats of Medina still took the contest to the Lytle Pirates in spite of being on the short end of a 42-6 drubbing Friday.

Following Coach Jerry Dodson's idea that if you can't knock 'em down then trip them, the Bobcats chased Lytle's John Cuellar all evening and with some success.

After a drive that put the Pirates on the 'Cat 7-yard line, the Medina team stiffened and held their ground. Ray Gutierrez helped a little when he dropped a pass that was a sure TD on first down.

The Bobcat offense showed its lack of experience on the next series of downs, however, as they fumbled twice in two downs and lost the ball in the end zone for a safety.

After that the 'Cats slowed the Pirates through four possessions before an option pass to Sammy White was good for 6 points with two minutes gone in the second quarter.

John Payne, playing one of his best games ever, charged in to block the PAT attempt.

On their next possession, the 'Cats were aided by a personal foul and got to their own 48-yard line before bogging down. The punt was tipped, but rolled to the Pirate 23. A fumble gave the ball back to Medina when John Payne pounced on a mishandled pitchout, at the 18-yard line. After a short yardage on two plays, quarterback James Parker threw to Timmy Green for what appeared to be a sure score—had he held on. On fourth down, Parker heaved one to Richard Moore and again the 'Cats could have scored. Lytle's Sam White jerked the ball from the grasp of the surprised Bobcat, however, to end the drive.

The teams exchanged punts until Cuellar kept the option on third down with mere seconds left in the half. The Pirate quarterback seemed to go down under the rush, but managed to sneak out and scramble to the Medina 25-yard line.

A quick pass moved them to the 5, and as time ran out hard running Scott Champlin took a pitch in for the touchdown. Scootie Melton got a hand on the ball on the PAT try, and the Pirates had to settle for a 14-0 halftime advantage.

Lytle set the tone for the rest of the game early in the third period when Andy Valdez took advantage of the Bobcat blitz and zipped up the middle for 55 yards and another Pirate score. A successful kick upped Lytle's lead to a comfortable 21-0.

The Bobcats refused to lay down though, however. Unable to move the chains, Parker punted to the 30, and the Pirate receiver dropped the ball. A 'Cat was there to grab it, and Medina started their best drive of the game.

It started on a third-and-16 situation when Mark Williams caught a 12-yard toss while going down in the arms of two defenders. On 4th-and-4, Jeff Walker, in for the injured Parker, unloaded a heave that brought the crowd to it's feet as Scootie Melton wound up with the ball on the 3. Two plays later another Walker toss found big Richard Moore besting defender Sammy White as the Bobcat end stepped into the end zone with 6:37 left in the third quarter.

That was the last bright spot in the game for Medina as the Pirates took complete control and scored on their very next trip up the field.

Early in the fourth period the Pirates raided again as a missnapped ball rolled into the 'Cats end zone. Timmy Green still tried to get his punt off, but missed the thing. Lytle covered the mistake for yet another tally.

Lytle continued to move almost at will and soon mounted another drive that went 70-plus yards and saw Kevin Collins score the final touchdown of the evening.

The Pirates are picked to win District 30-AA and the outcome of the game was not a surprise.

Medina has one more non-district game at Navarro in Geronimo Friday before hosting Asherton to open district play on Oct. 4.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 12 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 3, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

2nd annual Bandera County Fair this weekend at Mansfield Park

Beauty queens and gardeners, horsemen, babies, craftsmen and many more will be competing for Bandera County bragging rights during the second annual Bandera County Fair Saturday and Sunday at Mansfield Park.

Among the features will be Saturday's parade at 11 a.m., an American Quarter Horse Association horse show, a dance Saturday night, and the gala County Fair Pageant Saturday when judges will select Miss Bandera County as well as Baby Bandera County, Little Mr. and Missy Bandera County, and Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County.

In addition there will be a horseshoe tournament with added money, a hairy leg contest, tobacco spitting competition, a tortilla toss, husband hollering, tale telling, potato rolling and competition in clothes changing.

Activities for spectators get under way Saturday at 8 p.m. when the AQHA horse show begins its first day of competition. There'll be plenty to see and do all day Saturday and Sunday until 6:30 p.m.

The second County Fair Parade will step off in downtown Bandera at 11 a.m. Saturday and travel westward to disband after passing Purple Hills Nursing home on State Highway 16.

It's not too late to enter the parade as entries will be taken until step-off time, says parade chairman Cal Chapman.

The music for the Junior Livestock Commission's County Fair Dance Saturday will be provided by Lore and the Legends, a Bandera group.

A five-piece band puts on a high-energy show of original compositions mirroring the cowboy's lifestyle in words against an insistent driving up tempo.

With a voice that matches a powerful frame, Lore covers just about every inch of the bandstand to whip up a storm on such works as "Livin' The Texas Way," "She Loves To Drive Me Crazy," and the Mex-Tex influences of "Just Across The River."

Dancing will begin at 9 p.m. and continue until 1 a.m.

Local night spots, including The Cabaret Dance Hall and Arkey Blue's Silver Dollar Saloon, have also scheduled special entertainment for the parade weekend.

An auction of prize-winning horticulture, homemaking and winemaking entries will be held at 3 p.m. Saturday.

The second Old Timers Reunion will be held Saturday in conjunction with the fair, and among the entertainment scheduled during the two-day extravaganza will be a fiddlers' jam session, and performances by the Legends of the Old West stunt team.

Bandera County grand jury no bills suspect in Medina Hardware burglary

Medina Hardware owner Andy Lautzenheiser is upset over the no billing of a prime suspect in the Sept. 16 burglary of his store.

"I think it's a crock of ....," he told the Bulletin late Wednesday.

"If they have a house full of stolen merchandise, what more do they need (to return an indictment)," Lautzenheiser said. "Our system protects the guilty, not the innocent, and this is just par for the system."

Liandro Cantu, 35, of Kerrville was no billed by the Bandera County grand jury Friday. He was charged last week after his arrest in a mobile home near Kerrville where more than one-half of the merchandise taken in the burglary was recovered.

Lautzenheiser was not aware of the grand jury's action until he was contacted by the Bulletin late Wednesday, and he was obviously very surprised.

The no bill also came as a surprise to law officers, according to Chief Deputy Ken Mingo of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department. "We had a pretty good case—I thought," he said. "At least we recovered a lot of the property."

A no bill means the grand jury investigated the case and did not find reason to try Cantu on the charges made by lawmen.

The newly-empanelled grand jury also handed down five indictments Friday, and two arrests had been made by Wednesday.

Robert Alexander Biering, 27, of Lakehills remained in jail Wednesday in lieu of $5,000 bond on a charge of burglary of a habitation.

The indictment stemmed from an incident the previous week where he voluntarily turned himself in to Deputy James MacMillan for burglary of two firearms taken from separate residences in

We still have a month to go before the statewide election on Nov. 5. It might seem a little early for comment, especially on an off-year election.

On the other hand, the election might generate some complicated publicity between now and then. So this could be as good a time as any to try to sort through some of the confusion.

If Propositions 1 and 2 on the ballot pass, the state — and local governments backed up by the state — will start selling over $1 billion in bonds. The proceeds of those sales will pay for reservoirs, water supply and distribution equipment, flood control and wastewater treatment facilities, research, and irrigation equipment loans.

If the two propositions pass, they will also encourage local governments to coordinate water use planning with regional and state-level agencies.

In effect, if you vote yes on the two propositions, you will be agreeing to pay your share of a $1 billion-plus debt with water user fees, and you will be obligating other, present and future users to do the same.

In some ways, this election is as important as the ones for the men who live in the White House or Governor's Mansion, since its results will affect Texans in very intimate ways for generations to come. You will be voting for or against a particular vision of the state's future.

That vision is very simple, at least on its surface, and it makes a strong case for a yes vote.

According to this vision, the future well-being of Texas depends on a continuing flow of dollars and people into the state. That flow could slow down, stop, or even reverse itself if word gets out that Texas is running out of water.

The experts guess that we are taking water from our aquifers faster than nature can restore it, at a rate of about five million acre-feet a year. They also guess that we have about one-half of the surface water we will need fifteen years from now.

Presuming that the experts' educated guesses are correct, and given that a long, severe drought is always a possibility here, we could be in for some very nasty business around the year 2000. The gas lines of the 1970s would seem like genteel patrons of the arts lined up for ballet tickets.

So the choice is simple. You can vote yea, and keep the newcomers and their dollars coming and still water your St. Augustine. Or you can vote nay, and stay out of debt as a taxpayer, but forget about the Toyota plants and go thirsty.

Next week, the case against Propositions 1 and 2.

PUC drawing public scrutiny as campaign issue in '86

With increased utility rates poised to become one of the figuring issues for the '86 elections, the Public Utilities Commission is drawing more and more scrutiny.

Last week, it was reported that top PUC officials and staff were taking expensive trips using state money and not documented with receipts.

Only a couple of days after the story broke, a Texas House subcommittee was formed to explore whether PUC commissioners should be elected instead of appointed by the governor.

Although the Legislature voted down such a proposal in '84, new pressures make the issue more attractive. A coalition of consumer groups want Gov. Mark White to appoint a consumer advocate as new PUC chairman.

The present chairman's term expired Sept. 1, and he is staying only until White names a successor.

Costly Trips

In the past year, PUC personnel traveled to more than 50 conferences, going out-of-state to both coasts.

Many of the hotel and meal expenditures were higher than normal rate allowed for staff on state business. In several cases, some $100 a day for taxis and meals were claimed with no receipts.

More than $3,000 was spent by two staffers to attend a one-day seminar at a Palm Springs resort and country club.

Day Late

When PUC commissioners were asked why these practices were allowed to go on, each admitted they did not scrutinize the travel vouchers for the staff.

Commissioner Peggy Rosson said that when commissioners finally decided to ask the executive director to curtail his travel, he resigned a day early to take a job in San Francisco.

In all, the executive director spent some $10,000 in travel in 11 months.

Knuckles Rapped

What has particularly rankled some is that recently the same PUC staff rapped the knuckles of the utility companies for charging ratepayers for similar expenses.

The commissioners tried to justify the numerous trips, but not necessarily the expenses, by saying they want the Texas PUC to build some "national visibility." One observer remarked, they've sure got visibility now, at home anyway.

If you can't beat 'em, join 'em.

That appears to be the Texas Democratic party's philosophy for the coming election.

A report from a planning committee of the Democrats acknowledges that the Democratic party in Texas has lost some members it thinks it should not have lost.

Oh, they don't lament the loss of people like Phil Gramm. "The Democratic Party (once) contained some who neither shared Democratic ideals nor showed any loyalty to the party," the report admits.

"Their switch was inevitable and beneficial," the Democrats said.

More people in Texas, by far, still identify with the Democratic Party, their polls say, and native Texans favor the Democratic Party by almost two to one.

The bad news, for Demos, is that Texans under 30 are especially attracted to the Republican Party and those arriving in the state during the past 10 years dramatically prefer the Republican Party.

"We need to develop strategies to attract young people and newcomers to our state," the party memo concludes.

"Some of the Republican gains reflect professional services and technology purchased by their significant financial advantage," the party memo suggests.

Democrats will never achieve the per capita financial support Republicans enjoy, because the wealthy are Republicans, by and large, and more often their continued wealth depends upon acts of the government.

They have counted on harder work by volunteers and professionals alike to achieve what Republicans buy, and they won't change that.

"Democrats must work harder to train our activists and candidates to offset any financial disadvantage," the party memo urged.

But, it concluded, if all else fails, join 'em.

"In addition, we must increase our attention to raising needed funds."

It is true that the Republicans have access to more campaign money than Democrats, and that fact has been magnified in past elections by the fact that Democrats had to raise money for costly primary campaigns.

Often the Democratic nominees began their campaign deeply in debt while their Republican opponent started with a campaign chest full of money.

It will be interesting to see if the tough, expensive primary campaign facing Republicans like Tom Loeffler, Bill Clements, et al, has an impact the winner's effort against a Democrat who may also have the additional advantage of incumbency.

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

If you don't think we live in a small world, just drive to FM Road 1604 after dark one evening and head back to the lake on Highway 471 (Grissom Road).

No, that's no unidentified flying object beckoning you toward Medina Lake. That's the new KRRT, Channel 35 television station tower with it's strobe lights.

The tower is atop the highest hill on the Loice Odom Ranch and the lights can be seen just north of FM Road 1604 as you head our way.

Can you imagine a television station in Lakehills? The tower is to transmit cartoons for the kiddies in the mornings; then, old sit-coms, and dramatic shows until noon; from noon to 3 p.m. a special news/talk show package geared to independents called "Inday"; more kiddie programming, followed by sit-coms, a movie, and other syndicated shows until sign off at 1:30 a.m.

The station is owned by a group of lawyers, it's offices will be in Kerrville, and it will be primarily for San Antonio. It's a UHF operation.

The signal is strong, so San Antonians will have no problem picking it up. If you don't have a 99 cent loop for UHF on your television set, you may want to pick one up so you can enjoy television transmitted from right here at Medina Lake.

Imagine, Lakehills has the first television transmission from Bandera County.

It's kinda frightening when think that San Antonio can see us now with those strobes at night. Hopefully no one will get the idea that if you can see us, we're part of San Antonio. That could cause some problems.

Many of us think of our area as our little hideaway in the hills with the Medina Lake as a bonus. The bright flashing lights could be an irritant to those living in line with San Antonio south of our area. They resemble an electrical storm and I would imagine if they were flashing through my window at night, I would have to buy blackout shades in order to get a good night's sleep.

Now there's a guy in San Antonio that opened his Pipe Creek Publications office suite in one of the highrises on IH10 and claims the reason he picked Pipe Creek is to shed the three-piece suit imagine folks have of publishers.

I suppose there are still those folks that tend to judge a person by the way they dress. All the publishers I'm acquainted with dress differently.

Some even wear dresses!

Unqualified success

Dear Editor:

I would certainly be remiss if I did not express my personal thanks to the Bandera Bulletin, in particular Lila MacMillan and Nick Johnson, for the play you've given the Great Gumbo Cookoff.

GGCO was created not only for the benefit of the Medina Lake Betterment Association, but also for the pride of all Bandera County. Considering this year's results, it was an unqualified success on both counts (in spite of the uncooperative weather!), and for this I'm extremely grateful.

Range, wildlife field day scheduled for Saturday

The Range and Wildlife Field Day will be held Saturday, Oct. 5, at the San Geronimo Ranch on Hwy. 16, five miles past Hwy. 46 going towards San Antonio.

Participants are asked to assemble at the gate at 9:30 a.m., says county extension agent Scott Durham.

Conservationists to meet in SA

An array of top agricultural leaders and state legislative officials will highlight the program of the 45th annual state meeting of Soil and Water Conservation District directors when they meet Oct. 7-9 in San Antonio.

Speakers will include Congressman Charles Stenholm of the 17th Congressional District of Texas; Clarence Durban, Ohio, President, National Association of Conservation Districts; Jim Hightower, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture; and the Rev. Henry E. Beseda, pastor, Snook Brethren Church.

Bill McReynolds, agri-business director, WOAI Radio, will welcome meeting participants to San Antonio.

Approximately 1,200 SWCD directors and other conservation leaders are expected to attend the meeting which will be held in the San Antonio Convention Center.

The field day will be held in a tour style with discussion on livestock management, wildlife habitat management, pond construction and range resource use.

A sausage lunch with all the trimmings will be served for $4.

The field day is jointly sponsored by the Bandera Soil and Water Conservation District and the Bandera County Extension Service-Wildlife Committee. For information, call 796-3840.

The Bandera County Extension Wildlife Committee is sponsoring a Deer Census Workshop on Thursday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m. at the Garrison Ranch, about 7 miles out of Medina, on RM 337 on the left.

Bill Armstrong, wildlife biologist with the Texas Parks and Wildlife, will present the program.

Topics will include deer pressure on key browse species and harvesting to meet browse pressure. An actual census will be conducted after the program.

"Both programs will give landowners and managers information that will be valuable in managing the natural resources of their ranches," says Durham.

Wilton Wins

At the recent "Tribute to Jimmy Rogers" show, at the "Depot" at Kerrville, Wilton Crider won the Yodeling contest.

Jury

Lakehills.

Sherrel Pinkerton of Lakehills was arrested Sept. 30 on an indictment charging her with "tampering with government records." The charge stems from false information allegedly given to the Texas Department of Human Resources.

In a pre-trial hearing Sept. 26, Sky Mattson's trial date was changed from Sept. 30 to Dec. 2. He is charged with "failure to stop and render aid" in the death of Michelle Tadlock and Judy Ann Pina on June 24.

The youth's attorney said Sept. 30 would cause a conflict for him. District attorney Bruce Curry told Judge Robert Barton his only concern is with fulfilling terms of the speedy trial act. Judge Barton set 9 a.m., Dec. 2 for the trial, with another pre-trial hearing at 1:30 p.m. on Nov. 27.

The new grand jury elected Roger Stevens as foreman. Other members are Ople Boyle, Bodie Browning, Opal Word, Ervin Krannick, Henry Heinen, Katherine Long, Joe Short, Marcelino Martinez, Jimmy Goodenough, Clare Haby, and Fred Ender.

Bandera County

25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

The week of Sept. 30, 1960, the Bandera Bulletin announced the handsome new 1961 Classic Fords were on display at Bandera Motor Company and the first showing for the beautiful new 1961 model Chevrolets would be at Sterling Chevrolet.

The Bandera Bulldogs, handicapped by players injured in previous games, lost to Medina Valley Panthers, 30 to 0.

Despite drizzling rain, St. Joseph's Mustangs, led by a hard charging, alert defense, completely bottled up Boerne's attack 20-0.

When students arrived at school early they found someone had broken a window and entered the band hall. The sheriff was summoned and a check was made of the contents of the hall. Nothing of value turned up missing, but a metronome had been taken. It was found hanging on a fence outside.

The 1960 issue of the Bulletin said apparently the prowlers thought it was some kind of transistor radio. When they discovered all they could tune-in was a clicking sound, they discarded it. There was no money to be had, officials said, if that was the purpose of the breakin.

The eighth grade class of 1960-61 elected Howard Hicks president and Royce Sprott vice president. Treasurer was Mike Fitzgerald, sergeant-at-arms Richard Evans, librarians Jim Evans and Kathy Johnson, reporter Linda Lou Walker, and proofreaders Howard Hicks and Billy Small.

Richard Evans selected two other eighth graders, Jimmy Daniels and Harold Brooks, to assist him as sergeant-at-arms.

Ark 'students' salute Queen Amelia

It was "Queen for a Day" Amelia Dickens at Noah's Ark last week.

The crowning ceremony included a gold crown and a corsage, a balloon saying "You are a special person," and a throne of honor.

A surprised Amelia was treated to the story of "Noah and the Ark," performed live by Ashley Forest, Heather and Chelsea Kellogg, Seth Sherman, Michell Sandera, Josh Griffith, Coy Pfeiffer, Aaron Ehlinger, Erek Harp, Stormie Bates, Will Allen, Molly Wall, Olivia Nielsen, Jimmy MacMillan, Eric Welch, Jessica Gill, Bo Malletts, Justin Raab, Brad Wimpee, Rick Becker, and Lauren Ald: dge.

Special guest star was the Rev. Al Becker as the Voice of God.

Jennalee and Michele Teich arrived in time for refreshments.

The special day was the students' way of saying "Thank You" to Amelia for her donation of the facility in 1980 which has given Noah's Ark its dream of a Christian Day Care-Learning Center.

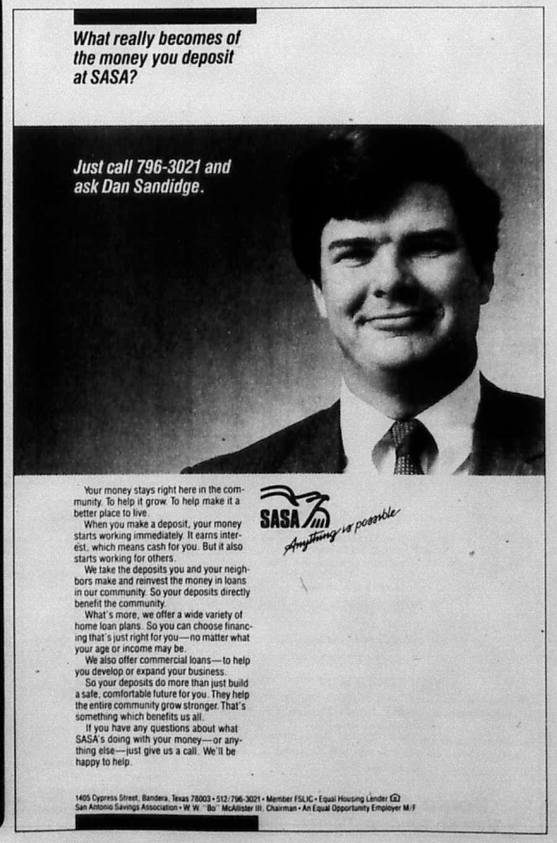

Director Lois Schulte was assisted by Stage Hands Carolyn Dillon, Roxanne Bell, Debbie Hall, Carolyn Jones, and Joyce Adamietz.

Several parents, grandparents and interested observers were on hand, including Mr. and Mrs. Buell Welborn, Lauren's grandparents, who busily took pictures; Cindy Forest; Nita Jenkins; Vicki Becker; and Norma Barr.

Oktoberfest 1985

15 highway signs removed in vicinity of Medina

The state highway department was called out this week north of Medina on Highway 16 to replace and erect about 15 signs that were taken down, reported Deputy James MacMillan of the Bandera County Sheriff's Department.

"It is a criminal offense to disturb these signs," MacMillan said. The sheriff's department is getting a lot of complaints about signs being stolen, damaged, removed, and warning flashers missing, he said.

Warning signs are among the missing, and that creates a danger to drivers, MacMillan said.

"Everytime the highway department has to send a truck and crew out to erect a sign or replace one, it costs taxpayers money and the highway department will prosecute if we catch the people doing it," he said.

In other police news this week, Toby T. Lewis of Pipe Creek was arrested by City Police Officer Joe Rodriguez Sept. 30 and charged with "misdemeanor theft" when he was caught shoplifting four packs of beef jerky at Super S.

Judge Bonnie Towers assessed fines and court costs totaling $137.

MacMillan reported several burglaries were reported in the past week, but he did not have the reports available on Wednesday.

Bikers here raise $1,678 for cystic fibrosis research

Eighteen Bandera County kids rode their bikes for cystic fibrosis Saturday, Sept. 21, and raised $1,678.41 for CF research, said bike-a-thon chairman Virginia Stricker.

Jason Hearn won a bicycle for raising $501.37 through pledges and Tomeika Stricker won a bike for $151.40 in pledges.

Michael Evans received a $25 passbook account for second place in the boys division and Shawnee Stricker won a $25 gift certificate for second place among the girls.

Jeanie Faglie rode 32 miles to win a watch and Jody Hearn rode 24 miles to win a videogame. Walter Stricker Jr. earned a $50 U.S. Savings Bond for riding 44 miles and Linden Stricker won a free rental on a disc player for his 40-mile ride.

Jason Hearn also won a 12-inch television for his pledges and Michael Evans, Tomeika Stricker and Kyle Woodland each won Sony Walkmans. Bike bag winners included Jennifer Snow, Scott Anderson, Kyle Woodland, Kelly Bruney, Shawnee Stricker, Jeanie Faglie, Linden Stricker and Walter Stricker Jr.

Abra Cassel received a prize for showing a lot of spirit, Mrs. Stricker said.

She also praised the participants for "riding their hearts out" and the merchants who donated the prizes, including Hearn Products, Inc., Evans Auto Aupply, First State Bank, Ken's TV, San Antonio Savings, Bandera Sport Shack, Pollock's Pharmacy.

Among those helping stage the bike-a-thon were Janet Evans, Lou and Don Varner, Joe and Sandy Hearn, Beverly Snow, Theresa Evans, Billie Stricker, Lill Smith, Cathy Robison, Barbara Faglie, officer Joey Rodriguez of the Bandera Police Department and Trooper Nolan Metz of the Department of Public Safety.

Commodities due on Oct. 8

Government surplus commodities will be issued to income eligible households in Bandera and Lakehills on Tuesday, Oct. 8, the Community Council of South Central Texas said.

Dr. Brothers to speak at Schreiner

Dr. Joyce Brothers will open Schreiner College's first Special Events Series with a presentation in Kerrville, Oct. 8.

The public is invited free-of charge to hear this internationally known writer and psychologist discuss "Unlocking Inner Potential" at 7:30 p.m. in Pietert Chapel Auditorium. As seating is limited to 700, places will be claimed on a first come-first served basis.

Dr. Brothers will be the first of five nationally known personalities who will speak at Schreiner College this year. In November, a lively debate to which audience members are invited to participate will be conducted as Jerry Rubin challenges counterculturist Abbie Hoffman. A former leader in the Chicago Seven, Rubin now advocates working within the system to effect governmental and civic change.

Blind author and singer Tom Sullivan will bring a message of inspiration and courage on February 4, 1986. The subject of the movie, "If you could see what I hear," Sullivan's story recounts with humor and tenderness a series of ambitious triumphs over adversity. Writer, singer, athlete, entertainer, and composer, Sullivan is a full-time correspondent with ABC News.

Concluding the first year's special events will be Dr. George Sheehan, considered by health and jogging devotees as the "guru of fitness." Author of numerous books and articles, this 65-year-old cardiologist runs 30 miles per week and competes frequently in marathons.

The Rev Darrell Cluck, campus minister and chairman of this year's speaker selection committee, urges friends of the college to submit names of possible speakers for the 1986-87 special events series. People representing the performing arts, literature, fine arts, science, business, public affairs, politics, religion and entertainment will be considered.

"We hope to find speakers who will inform, motivate and inspire not only college students, but the entire Hill Country community as all of us continue that process called education," says Cluck.

Forgery draws suspended term

A six man, six woman jury brought a verdict of guilty Tuesday on 20-year-old Robin Maltsberger on charges of "passing a forged instrument."

The trial, which began Monday afternoon in the 216th District Court, ended with the guilty verdict and a three-year probated sentence against Maltsberger at about 8 p.m. Tuesday.

Maltsberger was indicted by the Bandera County grand jury in August 1984 on the charge stemming from a $10 check belonging to Alvin Munk of Poppy's Liquor store in Lakehills which was cashed at a Lakehills convenience store.

Fine Arts Club watches puppet show

Sixty-six members and a number of guests gathered at the Mayan Guest Ranch on Oct. 2, for lunch, a short business meeting and a puppet program under the direction of Bunny Keefer of "You Asked for it Services" of San Antonio.

Mrs. C. W. Moores and her committee made the arrangements for the luncheon and Mrs. G. T. Sandidge III was program leader for the afternoon.

The President, Mrs. Joe W. McMullan, welcomed the group back to another year of good programs. She introduced Mrs. Sandidge, who gave a run-down of the programs that will be in store for the coming year, on the first Tuesday of each month, October through May, reports Mrs. A. B. Lewis.

Mrs. Raymond Hicks introduced Bunny Keefer who gave a short history of puppetry and then introduced her puppets, four elegantly dressed ladies ready for a bridge game but more interested in gossip. They brought forth laughter as they used information about ladies in clubs for their gossip session.

There was an opportunity at the close of the program for members to actually handle the puppets. Their facial expressions, eyes, lashes and hair were works of art, and the clothing was perfect in detail, Lewis said.

The November program will feature furniture refinishing on Nov. 5.

Hi, The mood is changing here in the store & I'm so excited, I just couldn't wait to tell you all about it. We've done lots of replacing and rearranging plus some welcome new additions that you must come by & see. I've replaced several racks with new attractive ones that have pretty wooden columns on the ends and they are just great at displaying separates. We've rearranged the whole shop, giving it a more distinctive & balanced look while providing you with greater visual ease. Also I've got a new display board for my window, so be sure to look for it when you drive by. But the best addition of all is a very talented and pretty lady named Jane Moore. Jane began working for me about 5 weeks ago, and she has just proved to be invaluable. Her personality is bubbly and friendly, her smile is welcoming and her ability is unquestionable. I have really enjoyed her company, as well as her help & I'm sure you'll agree when you meet her, she is one of the best new changes I've got.

Speaking of changes, how about this weather? The days have definitely taken on a frosty bite, & it's time to start thinking sweaters. We've got in lots & lots of sweaters, long sleeved, short sleeved, button ups, & pullovers, solids & stripes, prints, designs. All kinds of textures, all kinds of colors.

There are wonderful little novelty sweaters by "For Women Only" in bright bright tones & fuzzy fabrics. There are beautiful solids in bright turquoise & hot pink or pull over vests in Bulldog colors or solid royal. Also black & white nubby or black & grape both in a geometric design & all by La Moda. The list goes on & on, but the most precious of all are the long sleeved black sweaters with the most darling little critters appliqued in front. They're in love, so they're surrounded by hearts & flowers & romantic things & you just have to see them.

To pair up with sweaters I've got jeans & more jeans. There are bright turquoise & hot pink Levi 501's, and Jordache with pinstripes on the front only, or on the back only. There are jeans with pockets at the knees in contrasting gray denim inserts, and Rocky Mountains clean front, sleek & tapered, or self belted with the permanent clean pleat & they are so chic with a shirt or sweater or both. I've got jeans from traditional 5 pocket to Mod & zany.

Got to run — Come by soon & see all the changes, meet Jane & join in our shared excitement. Hurry, we're looking forward to seeing you.

Always,
Janett

P.S. Just in from "Catnip," darling flannel shirts. They come in small, medium & large and they're so right now in the hot crazy colors. Bright red plaids, yellow plaids, black & yellow paisley, black & white checked, bright royal blue plaid & even a soft feminine floral print. They are button down with dolman sleeves. You've got to see them.

MAYONNAISE KEEPS CHICKEN MOIST

BOYLE'S BOARD

Perfectly-baked chicken is moist on the inside and crunchy on the outside. Here's a recipe that does just that! The chicken is brushed with real mayonnaise then coated with crushed seasoned croutons (any flavor). For other chicken, fish and vegetable recipes that use this method of baking, write to "A New Way to Bake Chicken and Other Foods," Dept. NW-C, Box 307, Coventry, CT 06238.

CRISPY BAKED CHICKEN

2 cups seasoned croutons, coarsely crushed
2 to 3 pounds broiler-fryer chicken parts
1/3 cup Hellmann's real mayonnaise

Place croutons in plastic food bag. Brush chicken on all sides with real mayonnaise. Add one piece at a time to crouton crumbs; shake to coat well. Place chicken in broiler pan rack or in ribbed baking/roasting dish so that pieces do not touch. Bake in 425°F. oven 35 to 45 minutes or until golden brown and tender. Serves 4.

Prospects for deer hunting season appear bright

Prospects for the upcoming white-tailed deer hunting season are good across most of Texas. Wildlife officials say deer are numerous, antler development is good, and habitat conditions are much better in most areas than they were last year.

During the 1984-85 season, hunters took an all-time high 373,000 white-tails, including more than 108,000 antlerless deer.

"That kind of harvest will be difficult to match," said Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, "but I hope we can. Even with the improved range conditions most areas have more deer than they can support."

"This year also is shaping up as an excellent one for deer, with the animals in excellent body condition," Gore said, "but favorable weather and resulting good range conditions may hold the harvest below last year's levels because the deer may not be moving around as much."

Gore noted that rainfall beginning in the winter of 1984-85 continued through the critical spring and early summer period. "Some areas started getting dry toward the end of summer, but a lot of those areas have gotten some rain in the past few weeks," Gore said. "This is putting a lot of deer food on the ground, including acorns which are going to be fairly abundant in some areas this fall.

"I would advise hunters that prospects for success may be much better later in the season than they will be in the first week or two," Gore said. The white-tail season is Nov. 9, 1985, through Jan. 5, 1986 in most counties. To determine information on the seasons and bag limits, hunters should obtain in the department's 1985-86 Texas Hunting Guide, available at department offices and hunting license retail outlets across the state.

The following is a wrapup of deer hunting prospects in the state's various ecological areas:

Edwards Plateau

The "Hill Country" west of Austin is the number one deer producer of all the state's ecological areas, and the Llano Basin region in its center boasts some of the highest deer densities in the nation. Last year's harvest of about 163,500 white-tails, however, may not be quite matched this year because of less deer movement.

Biologist Fielding Harwell said browse species of plants are fairly abundant after recent rains, and a spotty acorn crop could contribute significantly to deer forage during the season.

"The unusual thing about this year is the high number of mature deer in the population," Harwell said. A bumper fawn crop in 1981 was the reason, he said. "I think hunters will see better than average number of bucks this year, and some of them will have pretty good racks," Harwell predicted.

Body condition of Hill Country deer will be about average, Harwell believes, which will be an improvement over 1984 when poor range conditions prevailed in most areas.

South Texas Plains

After three years of extremely dry conditions over most of South Texas, the region got relief in the form of widespread rains in early 1985. The deer responded with exceptionally high fawn production and survival, according to biologist Joe Herrera of Beeville. However, low fawn production in the past has caused overall deer numbers to remain below average in parts of South Texas.

Herrera, whose activities are mainly in the eastern portions of South Texas, said body condition of deer is fairly good even though the region is becoming drier each week. "If we don't get some rain real soon, I believe the deer will be moving around quite a bit during the hunting season," he said.

In the famed big-deer region around Webb, Dimmit and La Salle Counties, biologist Mike Hobson said aerial surveys indicate good numbers of mature bucks, but low numbers of younger age classes. "This reflects the poor fawn production, since we have had only one good production year (1981) in the past five," he noted. Hobson said he observed a number of good bucks this year, but none of the kind he would consider to have Boone & Crockett measurements.

Hobson said he anticipated the deer will not be moving around much, especially early in the hunting season. "The spring and summer rains were not only adequate but timely, and range conditions still are pretty good," he said. "If you get a shot at a buck in South Texas this year, it will most likely be at least four and half years old and should be in good body condition with good antler development."

Pineywoods

Of all the ecological regions, the Pinewoods has made the greatest strides in the past decade in terms of deer numbers and expansion of range. Biologist Gary Spencer of Jasper said better protection, growing numbers of leasing operations, deer restocking and better deer management all have contributed to the increase. This year, Spencer believes Pineywoods hunters may even beat the record-setting harvest of last year, when more than 37,000 bucks and 10,000 antlerless deer were brought out of the woods. "We're going to expand our antlerless permits system, both in numbers of acres and numbers of permits per acre," Spencer said. "We encourage hunters to use all their antlerless permits, and use them early."

Spencer said antlers and body condition are good except in areas where deer are overpopulated. The acorn crop is considered spotty but adequate overall, he added.

"There should be quite a few one and a half year old bucks available this year, and the earlier opening of the season may coincide with the rut," said Spencer. Otherwise, Spencer said it was too early to predict how much the deer will be moving about during the season.

Post Oak Savannah

The Post Oak Savannah is a long, narrow region stretching basically north and south between the Pineywoods on the east and the Blackland Prairie on the west. Biologist John Wallace of Tyler predicts a better than average harvest in his region because weather conditions have been extremely dry through the summer. "One particular part of the region, Leon, Robertson, Burleson and Brazos Counties, is real dry, and body condition of the deer is not too good," Wallace said. "In areas which have received more rainfall, antlers and body condition are at least average."

Gulf Prairies and Marshes

This region roughly extends from the northern and western edge of the flat coastal prairies southward and eastward to the Gulf Coast. The area is characterized by spotty but fairly high deer populations along river drainages and in isolated dense stands of post oak. Biologist Bob Carroll of LaGrange said this region produced an excellent acorn crop. "Almost all the oak trees are bearing, and the deer are in good condition," Carroll said. "It looks like a good fall for deer, but hunting may be tough with so much deer forage available."

Cross Timbers and Prairies and Rolling Plains

This varied region of some 40 counties is bounded roughly on the north by Jacksboro, Abilene and Big Spring, south by San Angelo and Goldthwaite, and east to Waco and Fort Worth. Biologist Larry Holland of Brownwood said body condition and antler development are much improved in that region over last year. "It may not make for a good hunting season," he said, "but range conditions have been excellent in most of our areas this year, and fawn production and survival have been outstanding." He said the abundance of acorns and pecans for deer feed may keep the harvest down because deer won't have to move far to eat.

Holland said one of the areas with the most noticeable improvement in the deer herd is the San Angelo area, and the counties bordering Tom Green County. "Fawn production and survival have been outstanding," Holland said, "so overall deer numbers should be 'way up this fall."

Trans-Pecos

Things could hardly look rosier in the rugged Trans-Pecos region of West Texas. Biologist Bill Russ of Sanderson said the mule deer herd, which had declined to an alarming degree three to four years ago is on a vigorous rebound after two excellent fawn crops in succession. "We are seeing a lot more mule deer on our spotlight lines," Russ said, "and that includes some real trophy bucks."

Russ said rainfall in the spring and summer have made the usually arid terrain fairly lush with vegetation. "All our deer are in very good body condition," he said.

High Plains

Hunting in the Texas Panhandle, especially for deer, may be one of the state's best kept secret. "People in other parts of Texas may not realize it, but the Panhandle has some areas of high white-tailed deer densities," said biologist David Dvorak of Canyon. "We also have a lot of mule deer, especially in the Palo Duro Canyon and Canadian River areas."

Dvorak predicts a very good hunting season for both special of deer. "Our white-tail counts indicate populations are comparable to last season, which was a good one," he said, "and the deer are really in excellent condition." He added that mule deer populations have posted slight increases during the past two years, and although this year's counts are not complete he expects the trend to continue upward.

Celis in youth orchestra

By Sally Molina

Ted Celis, a Bandera High School senior, has been selected for membership in the San Antonio Youth Orchestra.

Ted auditioned for the orchestra when he heard that a tuba player had dropped out. Within a week he found out he was in. He now practices with the orchestra for three hours every Sunday.

In order for him to prepare for this he found himself practicing for hours. He went to Mr. Tome Walters for guidence.

Ted hopes that being in the orchestra will help him get some band scholarships, although he doesn't plan on a music career. He would like to major in electrical engineering and minor in music.

He has been in band for five years and has won numerous awards in UIL competition. Ted now looks forward to the summer when the orchestra will travel to Mexico.

Science teacher Mr. Hayes is former BHS student

By: Daria Johnston

Along with the new school year, new students, and new rules, comes another new group at BHS, the new faculty members. Among these is Mr. Russell Hayes.

This new teacher has something in his background that makes him a little more unusual than some of the other new teachers. He just happens to be a former student of BHS himself.

Mr. Hayes graduated from good ol' Bandera High in 1977.

When he was asked if there were teachers still here that had taught him and if he felt strange having them as colleagues, the new science teacher replied, "Yes, and no it's not uncomfortable."

When also asked if it had been an overall plan of his return to BHS, he said that it had not been, it had been purely by chance.

Mr. Hayes formerly taught at LaGrange High School where he was the physical science teacher. At Bandera he is teaching physical science and introductory biology. He attended Texas A&M University for four years and has a bachelor of science degree in wildlife and fisheries sciences.

When giving his overall comments on the students, teachers, and the school in general, he said: "I find the students and faculty friendly and courteous. I am enjoying teaching at BHS."

Responsibilities of being a senior

This is it. You're finally a senior. Feels pretty neat, huh?

Well, don't relax yet. There's still about nine months to go.

Think of yourself as being in a mile race. You are now running the fourth lap. You must keep up the pace, and push your hardest.

You can no longer shuffle through school, vowing to "try harder next year." Unless you plan on flunking, there are no "next years." Everything you want or need to do has got to be thought about and done here and now.

Doing good in your classes has always been important, but if, at the end of the year, you intend to march through the auditorium with "Pomp and Circumstance" ringing in your ears, you had better give your classes even more attention than ever before.

If college is on your mind, your SAT or ACT tests need to be taken. Then applications to colleges of your choice need to be sent.

A little further down the list is attitude. Being a senior, in many teachers' eyes, requires you to set an example for the underclassmen. So, when you feel like goofing around, think of the freshmen or other students who watch you to see how they should act. Then act accordingly.

As said before, imagine you are in a race and you are on the fourth and final lap. Ready, Seniors? On your mark, get set, GO!

Band—on the move

Many upcoming events in the Bandera High School Band's hectic schedule are coming up, including the UIL Marching Contest, Oct. 12 in Hondo.

The Bandera band will march at 6:30 p.m., and everyone is invited to attend.

Band director Tome Walters said, "I am really excited about the show that we have planned and are working on for the contest. It is a different type of show from what the Bandera Band has done before. We are looking forward to taking this show into competition."

On Oct. 19, the band will attend the Westlake Marching Contest in Austin, and on Oct. 26, they will be the featured band at the Texas Lutheran College football game in Seguin.

The Flag Corps will be attending a contest sometime soon at Southwest Texas State University.

"The Flag Corps is making an outstanding contribution to the development of the marching drill. Mrs. Jodi Holen has designed outstanding drills to go with the music being performed," Walters said.

More than a coach

Randy Winn is a new coach at BHS this year.

In high school, Coach Winn was an all-district and all-state defensive lineman at Grandview High, a Class AA school 30 miles outside Fort Worth.

After high school Coach Winn went to Tarleton State University in Stephenville, majoring in physical education with a minor in health.

Once out of college he coached at Carrizo Springs, a Class AAAA high school, for six years. In his last three years, Coach Winn took the team to three straight playoff appearances and had the team ranked as high as third in the state. In his fifth year, his team won district and in his last year they were runners-up.

While Coach Winn was at Carrizo Springs many of his players went on to play college football. In comparing the two teams, he says Bandera has more size, and is a more powerful team that can control a ballgame. "It would be a good game between the two," says Coach Winn.

When asked how he likes Bandera he says, "It's fine so far. People have to have new experiences and this is a totally new experience." Coach Winn will also coach the BHS baseball team and says, "I'm really looking forward to it."

Bandera girls place first

Bandera High School girls cross country team placed first at the Poteet meet held Saturday, Sept. 28.

Ruth Mazurek led the pack, placing first, with Beckie Clements finishing a close second. Other Bandera finishers included Kim Lukachik fifth, Anne Chafin 11th, Liz Fernandez 12th, and Selena Cook 14th.

Coach Barbara Mazurek said, "With the peak of the season to come (the Bandera Invitational followed by district), these kids are working hard, not only at staying academically eligible, but also dodging the many viruses going around, and trying to bring their two-and three-mile times down another notch."

New Leader for BHS

By: Kelly Chapman

Friendly, firm, and fair. These three Fs are the philosophy of Bandera's new high school principal, Mr. Richard Delamain.

Mr. Delamain impresses upon students that friendliness is an essential part of a close-knit school. This is one of the reasons he feels Bandera High School is unique. The smallness of the school allows students and teachers a closeness which benefits everyone.

When Delamain was asked if he considered himself strict, his reply supported his second F, Firmness. "I give one warning," he said. "After that, I expect the individual to follow the order. That is not strict, just respect."

The third and final F, Fairness, is probably the most important in Delamain's eyes. He would like to believe that students go to him to discuss any kind of problem, whether social or personal. He would like to be thought of as a person, instead of just a principal.

He feels House Bill 72 needs revision, although he feels the grading scale is fair. He would also like to see the participation suspension time reduced in the "no pass, no play" rule.

A native San Antonian, Delamain graduated from Jefferson High School and went to several different colleges, including St. Mary's University, where he received his master's degree.

Responsibilities of being a senior

This is it. You're finally a senior. Feels pretty neat, huh?

Well, don't relax yet. There's still about nine months to go.

Think of yourself as being in a mile race. You are now running the fourth lap. You must keep up the pace, and push your hardest.

You can no longer shuffle through school, vowing to "try harder next year." Unless you plan on flunking, there are no "next years." Everything you want or need to do has got to be thought about and done here and now.

Doing good in your classes has always been important, but if, at the end of the year, you intend to march through the auditorium with "Pomp and Circumstance" ringing in your ears, you had better give your classes even more attention than ever before.

If college is on your mind, your SAT or ACT tests need to be taken. Then applications to colleges of your choice need to be sent.

A little further down the list is attitude. Being a senior, in many teachers' eyes, requires you to set an example for the underclassmen. So, when you feel like goofing around, think of the freshmen or other students who watch you to see how they should act. Then act accordingly.

As said before, imagine you are in a race and you are on the fourth and final lap. Ready, Seniors? On your mark, get set, GO!

Band—on the move

Many upcoming events in the Bandera High School Band's hectic schedule are coming up, including the UIL Marching Contest, Oct. 12 in Hondo.

The Bandera band will march at 6:30 p.m., and everyone is invited to attend.

Band director Tome Walters said, "I am really excited about the show that we have planned and are working on for the contest. It is a different type of show from what the Bandera Band has done before. We are looking forward to taking this show into competition."

On Oct. 19, the band will attend the Westlake Marching Contest in Austin, and on Oct. 26, they will be the featured band at the Texas Lutheran College football game in Seguin.

The Flag Corps will be attending a contest sometime soon at Southwest Texas State University.

"The Flag Corps is making an outstanding contribution to the development of the marching drill. Mrs. Jodi Holen has designed outstanding drills to go with the music being performed," Walters said.

New Leader for BHS

Friendly, firm, and fair. These three Fs are the philosophy of Bandera's new high school principal, Mr. Richard Delamain.

Mr. Delamain impresses upon students that friendliness is an essential part of a close-knit school. This is one of the reasons he feels Bandera High School is unique. The smallness of the school allows students and teachers a closeness which benefits everyone.

When Delamain was asked if he considered himself strict, his reply supported his second F, Firmness. "I give one warning," he said. "After that, I expect the individual to follow the order. That is not strict, just respect."

The third and final F, Fairness, is probably the most important in Delamain's eyes. He would like to believe that students go to him to discuss any kind of problem, whether social or personal. He would like to be thought of as a person, instead of just a principal.

He feels House Bill 72 needs revision, although he feels the grading scale is fair. He would also like to see the participation suspension time reduced in the "no pass, no play" rule.

A native San Antonian, Delamain graduated from Jefferson High School and went to several different colleges, including St. Mary's University, where he received his master's degree.

Dance, dance, dance...!

Homecoming! It's a time for seeing old friends, possibly meeting new ones, going to the football game, and having FUN!

What better way to have fun than to dance?! This year's Homecoming Dance will be held Oct. 11 immediately after the football game until 12 midnight.

The word is that the student council has planned a rather extravagant dance this year unlike any other in the past.

The dance is to be catered by "Dr. Tunes." Special features to the dance will include a 25 foot video screen, light show, a fog machine, a live video camera, and all of your favorite M-TV videos.

The price for the dance will be $4 each. So put on your dancin' shoes and come join the fun!

Mum sales

Annual mum sales, which lead up to Homecoming Week, began on Sept. 23 and end on Oct. 9.

The profits will go to the junior class to pay for the Junior-Senior prom.

The more mums sold, the better the prom will be. The sales are during break and both lunches.

More than a coach

Randy Winn is a new coach at BHS this year.

In high school, Coach Winn was an all-district and all-state defensive lineman at Grandview High, a Class AA school 30 miles outside Fort Worth.

After high school Coach Winn went to Tarleton State University in Stephenville, majoring in physical education with a minor in health.

Once out of college he coached at Carrizo Springs, a Class AAAA high school, for six years. In his last three years, Coach Winn took the team to three straight playoff appearances and had the team ranked as high as third in the state. In his fifth year, his team won district and in his last year they were runners-up.

While Coach Winn was at Carrizo Springs many of his players went on to play college football. In comparing the two teams, he says Bandera has more size, and is a more powerful team that can control a ballgame. "It would be a good game between the two," says Coach Winn.

When asked how he likes Bandera he says, "It's fine so far. People have to have new experiences and this is a totally new experience." Coach Winn will also coach the BHS baseball team and says, "I'm really looking forward to it."

Bandera girls place first

Bandera High School girls cross country team placed first at the Poteet meet held Saturday, Sept. 28.

Ruth Mazurek led the pack, placing first, with Beckie Clements finishing a close second. Other Bandera finishers included Kim Lukachik fifth, Anne Chafin 11th, Liz Fernandez 12th, and Selena Cook 14th.

Coach Barbara Mazurek said, "With the peak of the season to come (the Bandera Invitational followed by district), these kids are working hard, not only at staying academically eligible, but also dodging the many viruses going around, and trying to bring their two-and three-mile times down another notch."

P&Z panel rejects rezoning for club

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The Bandera Planning and Zoning Commission Tuesday rejected a request for re-zoning the old Silver Spur night club property atop Rugh Hill when neighbors lined up unanimously against it.

A team of developers from Dripping Springs told the commission it planned to construct a high-priced night club and motel on the site of the old night club which was destroyed by fire. The burned hull of the building still stands at the site.

Eleven neighboring property owners told the commission, either by letter or in person Tuesday, that they opposed the construction of a night club and motel because it "would destroy the peace and quiet of the neighborhood" and because it would require the reconstruction of the bridge and road leading to the property and the water system that serves all the residents on the hill.

The owner of the property, Robert Hammond, was not present Tuesday, but a group of developers led by Jim Noguse outlined Hammond's plans for the site.

"I want to dispell any idea we are going to build a rootin', tootin' night club like it used to be," he told the commission and about 30 persons who attended Tuesday's public hearing.

He said he planned to renovate the burned building that remains on the site into a 10,200-square-foot facility for dining on the first floor and for dancing on the second floor.

In addition, Noguse said the developer planned to add a 14,000-square-foot hotel with 40 units.

He said special efforts would be made to contain the sound of the night club and to maintain the visual aesthetics of the site.

He indicated a willingness to share in the cost of making the road and bridge suitable for such a facility and to improve the water system, which city officials admit is already woefully inadequate.

He offered no details, however, of how much of the cost the developer was willing to shoulder, and that omission as well as the uniform opposition from neighbors were named by commission members as reasons for their unfavorable vote Tuesday.

Commission members Euna Wagner, Curtis Wilson and Keith Swinford voted to not recommend the re-zoning to the city council while Linda Wheeler Stein abstained. The P & Z commission's decision may be appealed to the council.

"I wish you had plans for the bridge, road and water system," commission chairman Cal Chapman told the developers. "I also wish you would pay for (the road, bridge and water system work), because I think that's the only way you are going to get it."

Chapman said his primary concern in the area was that the property as it exists is a safety hazard, a view also expressed by some of the other members of the P & Z commission.

"I think we better listen very carefully to the property owners," said Wagner. "It's not fair to shove a motel up against someone's home."

The developers did not put a price tag on the improvements they intend to make, but they estimated the tax revenues generated by the business could be up to $50,000 annually.

They also said the facility would create jobs in the community and that purchases of supplies and equipment would be made in Bandera when possible. They also promised adequate parking and turn-around area.

"We are not talking about putting a beer joint on the hill," Noguse told the commission. "We are planning a quality dining establishment and lounge.

He said, in response to a question from the audience, he will depend upon the establishment's high prices to restrict the clientele.

"We are not talking about putting a beer joint on the hill," Jim Noguse told the Planning and Zoning Commission members. He said he planned a 10,200-square-foot dining and dancing facility and a 14,000-square-foot motel with 40 units.

Voter deadline Friday to cast ballots Nov. 5

The deadline for registering in person to vote in the Nov. 5 general election is Friday, Oct. 4, but postage-free voter registration applications, if mailed, may be postmarked at late as Oct. 6, the secretary of state's office said.

Those who wish to register in person must do so at the Bandera County Tax-Assessor's office in the courthouse by the close of business Friday.

Voters will decide the fate of 14 constitutional amendments on Nov. 5, including two that would implement the state water plan.

Other ballot propositions deal with municipal water works, school land, health care, prison inmates, veterans land, financing farm land, indictments and courts.

Proposition No. 14 would abolish the office of county treasurer in Andrews County, another in the growing list of counties that find no need for the office.

Proposition No. 7 would authorize Chambers County to reduce its number of justice of the peace precincts from four to two.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The rains came, and therefore — presumable — some of the promised people did not. But Josh Boyd, a multi-faceted person who teaches English as a second language in San Antonio, proceeded with a seminar for prospective teachers of Banderans who need and want to learn English.

Boyd, who is working on his doctorate, heard of Bandera's need through Jackie Berger, librarian, and brought not only his experience through teaching for San Antonio College but a wealth of printed materials of his own devising.

He emphasized adults can learn languages better than children, although it may take a little more time. He said the teacher's greatest contribution is instilling confidence in the student's ability, and patience in bringing it about.

There must be motivation on the student's part, and materials must be relevant to real life, he said.

Classes will begin in October.

More information may be secured through Mrs. Ed Mauldin of Bandera or Mrs. Henry Gonzales of Pipe Creek.

Most of the participants proceeded from the Silver Sage Corral to the dedication of their next-door neighbor, the M. R. Sandidge Playground, spearheaded by the Optimists Club.

A different vitamin

Peggy Edwards, one of the founders of the Senior Activity Center eight years ago, found a unique way to install center officers: practical prescriptions couched in rhyme.

For the president, Marie Holland: "I prescribe for you this Vitamin L. It stands for leadership, guidance as well.

"Tested and proven to fill any need, it will keep Silver Sagers from going to seed."

For vice president Doloras Green: "Your office requires doses of Vitamin A. It stands for action when the president is away."

For secretary Doris Dolle: "Writing good minutes is surely an art, and Vitamin S will do its part. That your minutes may be written in a scholarly way, please start taking your pills today."

For Mary Joe Kirkpatrick: "To be the treasurer has fallen to thee, so your dosage is that of Vitamin T. You know how the bee will fight for its honey. We expect same from you when it comes to our money."

For historian Grace Gonzales: "We ask you to take this multiple vitamin brand, so each special day at the Center you'll be on hand. The record book you keep is for all to see, so what the Silver Sagers do will live eternally."

Now, the Silver Sage Corral also appreciates regular doses of Vitamin M, and that stands for Money, and an invigorating injection of Vitamin M was recently received from the Medina Lake AARP chapter, contributing greatly to the health of the Center.

Creative Writing Workshop

You'd like to remember the special things that happened a long time ago, but who's around to tell them to? Answer: put it on paper.

Of course there are "tricks of the trade," and a Creative Writing Workshop will attempt to make this easier, and the way to begin is to begin.

So bring a written anecdote, or even come empty-handed, to the first writing workshop, on Tuesday, Oct. 8, at 1 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral, with Mrs. Raymond Hicks as leader.

The folks at the Bulletin have promised to give some pointers, in case you have the goal of breaking into print. There is also a special feature called, "How to Write for Publication," published by the Institute of Lifetime Learning, a service of the American Association of Retired Persons.

The weekend

At last report, the Senior Center was short a few volunteers for assisting at the County Fair from 3 to 6 p.m. Saturday and 1 to 6 p.m. on Sunday. For definite assignment, check with the Center office 796-4969.

Sunday Oct. 6 is also the date for the annual AARP picnic at Lady Bird Johnson Park in Fredericksburg. Several members of the Bandera Hills Chapter are planning to attend the program and supper from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

AACOG

Members of the Senior Advisory Committee of the Alamo Area Council of Government were advised at their last meeting, Sept. 13, in San Antonio, that Southwest Airlines is again offering their Home for the Holidays program in which one person 60 or over from each county may be accepted for a free flight to anywhere Southwest flies.

The flight must be scheduled between Dec. 9 and Jan. 10. Contact Dietert Claim in Kerrville for more info.

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Everyone was happy to see the rains on Saturday. About an inch fell at most places. They were badly needed as most people had planted their oats.

New arrival

Dwayne and Tracey Hills are parents of a baby son, born Sept. 24 in Kerrville weighing 8lbs. and measuring 20 in. long.

John and Judy Hillis are the paternal grandparents and Mr. and Mrs. U. N. Blalock are the maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Heideman are the great-grandparents.

Rainey visitors

Last Sunday Mrs. Corene Rainey and son David, were visitors of her husband Ernest in Purple Hills Nursing Home, Bandera. Later David's son, Dexter, and his two sisters, Lee Ann and Lisa, joined the group to help David celebrate his birthday and visit their granddaughter.

Lonnie Bomer reported catching two more coyotes last week, one at Rex Kelley's Ranch and one on the Stromant Ranch.

Rains

Saturday night heavy thunder storms and rains moved in dumping 3½ to 4 inches in the canyon.

Word was received Bob Monsee died this week in the Kerrville Hospital. Our sympathy goes out to his wife and family.

At satellite show

Hoyt and Doris Foster have just returned from a trip to Nashville, TN. Hoyt had meetings with the board of SPACE at the STTI satellite show.

SPACE sponsored a banquet on board the paddle streamer General Jackson where they enjoyed a delicious dinner and variety show while cruising the Cumberland River. Dinner speaker was Senator Gore of TN.

Hoyt had the honor of escorting Jim Wright, House Majority Leader, around the STTI show. Congressman Wright was quite impressed with the possibilities Satellites offer. In his speech before the banquet he spoke of the international exchange of education and technology.

They attended a live television show "Nashville Now". Several people in the community who have satellites saw the 'Utopia, TX' sign Doris held up as the camera showed the audience.

From Nashville they went to Troy, Tenn., to visit daughter Leisa Young Elkins and family.

EMS makes 9 runs

The Utopia Emergency Medical Service reported nine ambulance runs between Aug. 22 and Sept. 14, including five in which patients were treated but not transported.

On Sept. 1 the service transported a male accident victim to Kerrville. On Sept. 7 it transported an ill male to Kerrville, and on Sept. 14 it transported two accident victims injured in separate incidents to Kerrville.

Guadalupe River clean-up

A Guadalupe River Fall Cleanup is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 6. River recreationists from across the state are invited to spend the day canoeing and helping pick up cans and bottles on the Lower Guadalupe.

Local sponsors provide campsites, canoes and trash bags to use for the day, and the New Braunfels Chamber of Commerce will provide a free meal for all volunteers. Officials said a drawing will be held with prizes including a free two-day trip on the Rio Grande and items donated by river outfitters.

The river cleanup is sponsored twice yearly by the Chamber of Commerce. It takes place on a 25-mile stretch of the Guadalupe which is the most popular recreation river in Texas, beginning at Canyon Reservoir Dam and ending in New Braunfels. Along the way, clear springs pop out of the limestone bedrock and are joined by a rush of cold water released from Canyon Dam.

Clear water flows over sand and gravel and plunges around boulders to create an exciting white water trip over small falls and through rapids and riffles.

Each summer thousands of Texans go tubing, canoeing and camping on the river, and they leave behind cans, broken bottles and other debris. As the popularity of the river has grown, so has the litter problem. "Each year Texans are asked to help the river survive this onslaught of love by coming out and volunteering to clean up the litter," said Suzanne Carter of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Last week as I typed my column for the paper, I was sweating up a storm. This week I am sitting in front of the fireplace to keep warm.

Juanita Shaffer enjoyed a three-week visit with her granddaughter, Kim Reese from Alvin. While here, Kim visited with her Aunt Dana Simmons at the Bandera Arts and Crafts shop and did a few ceramic figurines. She also enjoyed seeing the Bandera Bulldogs play.

Joyce and Buddy Reese, Kim's parents, came and picked her up on Sept. 28 to take her back to Alvin.

Martha Searcy has moved into the Wharton's Dock area and is attending Bandera High and is in the Band. She came from Ozona.

Kim Cherry, Bonnie Keller and her sons Ron and Kelvin came up from San Antonio to see the Bandera Bulldogs play Friday. John Miller, one of the Bulldog players is Kim's brother. After the game they visited with their mother, Mary K. Andreas, before returning to San Antonio.

A group of our residents is planning on traveling to Hondo on Friday night, to cheer on the Bandera Bulldogs when they take on the Owls. Join the group and help bring home a victory for Bandera.

Buddy Walker, one of our part-time residents from Houston, sent word to tell all his friends in the area "Hello." He misses the area and said he and his wife are doing fine.

Kenneth Andreas, Kathy and son Timothy have moved from Wharton's Dock to Sonora.

Beverly Galey became the newest member of the Walker Memorial Chapel Friday when she was baptized in the Medina River. The membership of the Chapel is growing as it becomes a center of activities for our community.

Turnipseed, who has been a patient at the Veteran's Hospital in Kerrville for a time is out and was visiting friends in the Wharton's Dock area.

Mr. and Mrs. John Searcy from Colorado were in our area visiting with the Andreases, Searcys and other friends in the area.

John's sister Annie had eye surgery and went to Hondo to visit relatives. John and his wife went to Hondo for a short visit and to pick up Annie and take her back to Clovis, N.M. and then back to their home in Colorado.

Leroy Erfurt is still in the Veteran's Hospital in Kerrville recovering from surgery. He is expected to be home any day now.

Col. Overfield is still in the Veteran's Hospital in Kerrville. I saw him at the VFW barbecue. He looked better than I have seen him in a long time.

It is reported that John Portman is doing fine, but is still in the Hospital at Wilford Hall AFB.

Work day at the Walker Memorial Chapel resulted in work on the chapel grounds and the children's Sunday School building. There was a good turn out.

A covered-dish fellowship dinner will be held at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday, Oct. 6 following the morning worship. Everyone is invited.

Helen and E. C. Kennedy have moved into their home here at Wharton's Dock. We want to welcome them and we know they will take an active part in our community activities.

Deanie Newman is in San Antonio undergoing some tests.

Butch and Irene Highnote had a welcome surprise on Saturday, Sept. 28 when Jerry and Andrea Dawson from Garland dropped in for a short visit.

They are old friends that have not seen each other in over 20 years. There was much talking as old memories were relived.

The Dawsons came to San Antonio to celebrate their wedding anniversary by having dinner at the Tower of Americas, and decided to come out here for a visit.

Hondo schedules kickoff for Texas' birthday party

The Hondo Sesquicentennial Committee will kick off festivities to celebrate Texas' 150th birthday with a gala event at the Medina County Fair Hall Saturday, Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. crowning Sesquicentennial royalty.

Six local citizens have been chosen to reign during the coming year as king, queen, duke, duchess, prince and princess.

A special presentation on the history of Hondo through dance, will demonstrate popular dances from early German and Spanish through some of today's styles.

Lee Hoppel and Jubilation will provide music with the big band sound for listening and dancing until midnight.

Persons who have reserved tables are requested to decorate their table and furnish food and cups. These are ribs, ham, loin and sausage. Prizes will include a trophy for each team entered. There will be showmanship categories including best pit, best camp and best dressed team. There will also be an award for the team traveling the farthest.

Beer, wine and set-ups will be available for purchase.

The ball will be a dress-up affair, but not necessarily a dressy, dressy affair. Those who attend will be wearing anything from Sunday-best, to period costumes or fashions.

Attention barbecue cooks

"Cat" Riley of San Antonio prepares to plant one on the 7-foot crawfish (Frenchie Guidry) during the Great Gumbo Cookoff awards program. Riley won the coveted "People's Choice" award and the first-place trophy at the annual gumbo cooking competition. Riley and her family are part-time residents of Medina Lake.

Wet cookoff a success

Numerous thundershowers rolled around Medina Lake Saturday, bringing much needed moisture to the area, but they failed to put a damper on the fifth annual Great Gumbo Cookoff sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association.

President Peggy Ashmore told the Bulletin Tuesday that the total tabulations are not final yet, but she believes about 1,750 attended the annual event. Although 5,000 people were expected, she said those that came, stayed through the showers and continued to eat, drink, and enjoy themselves.

"Surprisingly there was not waste," she said. "Supplies purchased in anticipation of a much larger crowd were used up," she said.

Even at 9:30 p.m., when the dance band was scheduled to stop playing, there was still a full house. "The support and enthusiasm of those that worked, participated, and attended was wonderful," Ashmore said.

Cat Riley of San Antonio walked off with two trophies for her "Seafood Gumbo." She was selected by the judges as first-place winner in the cook-off. "But the trophy I prize most is the 'People's Choice Trophy,' " she said through a haze of tears. "It means so much to know that so many found my gumbo to be number one."

Attorney Bob Caswell, the originator and founder of the Gumbo Cook-off five years ago, awarded the second-place trophy to Robert Fleming of San Antonio for his "Tchoupitoulas Seafood Ecstasy."

Richard Briscoe and Paul Valdez, also of San Antonio, took the third-place trophy with their "Cooking with Jazz Seafood Gumbo."

The showmanship trophy went to San Antonio's John Hamilton's Hearse and Coffin and his "Dead Man's Gumbo". Bill Miller accepted the trophy for the group.

The hardest showers hit as the Dance-Off contest got underway, but participants really came alive when the crowd of observers inside the Civic Center swelled from standing room only to overflowing as hundreds squeezed inside to get out of the rain.

First Grand Champion went to Cecil LeStourgeon and Wilda McGinta of Bandera. Second place went to Wilton and Bobbie Nell Crider of Medina, and third place to a mother-and-son-team, Mary and Raymond Popham of Lakehills.

Jim and Louise Terry of Lakehills could hardly contain themselves with their granddaughter, 14-year-old Jamie Honeycutt, walked off with the first place in the ladies arm wrestling contest. Second place winner in the women's division was Jen'nett MaGruder.

Wayne Saunders took first in the men's arm wrestling with David Mauer coming in a close second.

MLBA treasurer Polly Larsen said she hopes to have a final report on the success of the cook-off for the MLBA directors when they meet Oct. 10. "All the bills aren't in yet, and until they are we won't know how profitable this cook-off was."

Proceeds from the cook-off go into the operation, maintenance and expansion of the Lakehills Civic Center each year. It is the main fundraiser for the MLBA.

Bill Miller accepts the Showmanship Award trophy from Great Gumbo Cookoff originator Bob Caswell for Bill Hamilton's "Dead Man's Gumbo" cooked in a setting complete with hearse and coffin.

You may have seen many new satellite earth stations, or "dishes", installed in our area recently and asked yourself, "Are those dishes legal?" or, "Can I have one of those?" Well, happily the answer to both questions is YES. In 1984, the U.S. Congress approved home earth stations designed for the reception of satellite broadcasts. Not only are dishes legal to use, they are affordable, too. You can enjoy the freedom and wide variety of satellite television today.

Harvest Fair and Gong Show coming Oct. 19

The Faith Chapel and Christian School's Harvest Fair and Gong Show is scheduled for Oct. 19. The fun will begin at 10 a.m. The day is planned full of good clean family fun.

For the kids there will be lots of games, among them Pull A String, Grab Bag, Burst a Balloon and more.

The Sweet Shop will feature home baked goodies like cookies, cakes, pies, and candy. The Country Store will be crammed full of treats too, such as jams, jellies, honey, needlework, arts and craft items.

For those with competitive spirits there'll be lots of contests for all ages. Teenagers and kids can enjoy a Balloon War, Eating Contests, and a Car Stuff.

Concessions will be filled with hot dogs, Frito pies, chili dogs, assorted sandwiches, chips, tea, soft drinks, and lemonade. Hot foods will be served only between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Other foods and drinks will be available up to 5 p.m.

An auction will be conducted at 5 p.m.

The Gong Show will begin at 7:30 p.m. This is the second year for this fun event. You never know what's coming next, but you can count on a good laugh. Last year everyone enjoyed seeing pies smashed in faces, and even the pastor got gonged by his wife.

There is no charge for the Gong Show, but donations will be welcomed for the school.

Brad Upton

Upton completes boot camp

Larry and Jerry Upton recently returned from visit to Great Lakes Naval Recruit Training Center where they attended the graduation review of their son Brad W. Upton.

Upton completed recruit training Aug. 30. His company was graduated with distinction, having earned numerous honors available to a recruit company, including the "Captain's Cup" which is awarded to the recruit company accruing the highest weekly point average of the graduating companies.

His company also received a "double salute" from the reviewing commodore, which earned them an additional day's liberty following graduation.

Upton's personal achievements during recruit training included serving as platoon leader and RCPO of his company. He was also one of eight recruits nominated for a military excellence award as a recruit during his stay at Great Lakes.

Upton is in Philadelphia undergoing advanced training as a hull technician. He will be trained in welding, pipefitting, shipfitting, firefighting and other hull/ship related maintenance skills.

He has a 96 grade average. He also plans to become a member of the Navy SEAL program (the special forces branch of the Navy) where he will be trained in diving, underwater demolitions and related special forces tactics.

His parents are looking forward to December when he will be home on leave.

4H Club readies for Halloween

The Pipe Creek 4—H Club will have a Halloween Costume Party following it's Oct. 16 meeting. The meeting will begin at 7:30 p.m. at the Pipe Creek Community Center.

At the September meeting Bill Butts reported on council activities and Bonnie Cowsert introduced the officers. Shannon Cowsert is president.

Before the meeting was adjourned Brad Floyd gave a demonstration on "Parliamentary Procedures." After new members were registered everyone enjoyed refreshments.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
All of us at one time or another has expreienced that wonderful feeling of relief. Relief when we hear a loved one who we were worried about is just fine after a serious operation. Relief when we realize that something we worried about turns out to be of little or no importance... "I'm an old man," stated an octogenarian some time ago, "and my life has been full of troubles...most of which never happened."
The joy of relief when some terrible crisis of life is past constitutes one of the sunniest, loveliest times of our lives. We are assured by people who ought to know that most of the things we worry about never happen to us. Isn't it true that the things that really get us down usually come rather unexpectedly?
And that overwhelming and joyful sense of relief which comes over us when our worst anticipation tended to be imaginary — this is indeed one of life's most pleasant experiences...

PUBLIC NOTICE

All Developers and Subdividers planning projects in Bandera County are urged to obtain and follow the regulations governing subdivisions in Bandera County. Failure to follow these established regulations will almost certainly result in costly delays. Some of the most critical items are:

1. Written request to proceed accompanied by a statement from Bandera Electric Cooperative that electricity will be furnished.
2. Utility easements indicated by survey.
3. Road dedication indicated by survey.
4. Construction and maintenance bonds on roads.
5. All lots or tracts adequate in size.
6. Plats to be drawn to a scale of 200 feet to the inch, on 18" by 24" sheets. A key map shows the entire area to be drawn on U.S.G.S. maps which are available in the County Judge's office.
7. Compliance with Bandera County Regulations covering sanitary facilities and water wells.

These directives, most of which have been in force since 1972, by order of the Bandera County Commissioners' Court, are available for any developer at the office of Permits and Inspections, County Courthouse. I urge all concerned to obtain this document and follow it closely during the course of your planning and development schedule.

Burnet County to crack down on groups running raffles

Law enforcement officials in Burnet County have followed the lead of Llano County in cracking down on raffles sponsored by charitable and civic organizations, the Marble Falls Highlander said.

"We are going to comply with the law like we're supposed to," said Burnet County Sheriff Weldon Buck. Officials in nearby Llano County had announced a week earlier they would put a stop to raffles in their county.

District Attorney E. Bruce Curry of the 216th District, which includes Bandera County, said he has had no complaints of raffles being conducted in the district and had no plans at present to crack down on them.

Llano County, however, DA Sam Oatman expanded on his statements of last week by saying that the practice of calling the cost of a raffle ticket a donation does not change its legality. "If a person has a criminal intent to circumvent the law by designing some means to make the raffle appear to be anything other than what the statute disallows, this person will be in (additional) violation of the law," Oatman said.

Area news.

Hires sanitarian

Kendall County's commissioners voted to hire Dr. Charles Hare of San Antonio as part-time sanitarian, charging him with periodic checks of restaurants and other food handling establishments and with "keeping tab son" junk yards, septic tanks and other facilities, the Boerne Star reported.

Cop may quit

Ingram's assistant Marshal Joe Cooper told city council he would resign if he's not allowed to use a city patrol car for his daily trips to a certification course in San Antonio.

No action was taken on the matter pending the council's next regular meeting.

Hunting mishaps

The opening of the 1985 dove season started off with a bang for Frio County with two shooting accidents and 23 hunting violations, according to the Pearsall Leader.

Austin backing down

The city of Austin agreed last week to settle a lawsuit challenging its annexation of the Colorado Riverbed and extension of Austin controls into Burnet County, the Marble Falls Highlander reported.

The agreement to settle came after a 20-minute secret meeting among Burnet County officials, property owners and Austin officials.

The city of Austin annexed the riverbed up to the Travis-Burnet County line in 1984, extending the city's extraterritorial jurisdiction five miles into Burnet County.

"Austin has agreed to relinquish their ETJ at the county line in return for dropping the suit," said Burnet County Judge Chester Kincheloe.

Student center due

The Refugio Independent School District's board of trustees gave the Refugio High School Student Council authority to raise funds for the construction of a student center in that community.

A telephoned bomb threat turned out to be a hoax, but the Sabinal Bank was closed and customers and bank employees spent three hours sitting and waiting for the all clear.

"We closed the bank about 11:30 a.m.," said president Tommy Holmig. "We called the police after the call came in and then checked as best we could. We thought it was probably just a prank but we certainly didn't want to take any chances."

Assistant vice president Buddy Woolls said he had no idea who the caller might be, but he was a male and an adult, the Uvalde Leader-News reported.

Episcopalians elect

The Rev. John H. MacNaughton, rector of Christ Episcopal Church in San Antonio since 1975, was elected Friday to be bishop coadjutor of the Episcopal Diocese of West Texas.

The coadjutor-elect will be consecrated in services Feb. 6, 1986, at the 82nd annual Diocesan Council in Corpus Christi and will succeed the Rt. Rev. Scott Field Bailey as bishop of the diocese upon Bishop Bailey's retirement in 1987.

Empty chairs greet Bandera School trustees

"This is the first time in the nine years I've been on this board that no one has shown up to protest (the tax levy)," school trustee Eddie Jon Ryan told fellow trustees and school administrators Tuesday.

Trustees took less than five minutes to approve the 1985 levy of $1,711,095 at Tuesday's public hearing called to get the taxpayers' view of their tax plans. The new levy is 29.7 percent higher than last year's levy of $1,318,964.

The trustees will set the tax rate Oct. 8 during the regular meeting of the board.

Marianne Sandidge won over 10,000 entries in the First Federal Savings of Austin grand opening door prize. Edith Chandler, right, assists Sandidge with the paperwork on the $2,500 six-month certificate of deposit she won. Eleven branches of the savings institution participated in the drawing. Mrs. Don Loyd of Medina won $500 and Karen Queen of Bandera won $100.

Clay Blaker to play The Cabaret Saturday

Clay Blaker and the Texas Honky-Tonk Band of New Braunfels will be at The Cabaret Saturday for a special Bandera County Fair performance.

Blaker has been performing with his Texas Honky-Tonk Band since 1975. Born and raised in the Houston area, Clay relocated his band and music business to the Hill Country in 1983 in order to be more centrally located for their touring schedule and simply because of their love for that region.

They tour mainly the southwestern portion of the U.S., playing mostly one-nighters in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, New Mexico and sometimes California.

Clay and the band have made four tours of Europe along with Europe's No. 1 country band, the Emsland Hillbillies of West Germany. They have performed in Wales, Scotland, England, Holland and West Germany, receiving rave reviews and establishing quite a name for themselves on the far side of the Atlantic.

In the U.S. Blaker and the Texas Honky-Tonk Band are very popular, playing mostly dance halls and honky-tonks, but because of their excellent rapport with audiences and performance of original material they play showcase clubs and concerts as well.

Several of the band members write songs and they always include some of these in their show.

Clay recently had one of his songs, "The Only Thing I Have Left," cut by George Strait on his Strait From the Heart album.

The band's material consists mostly of traditional country and western swing and they are very dedicated to the preservation of this style of music. However, they also include in their shows some of the other influences to which they have been exposed such as Cajun music, blues, jazz, rockabilly and rock.

Clay Blaker

George Strait also recorded a song by Bob Kelly, Clay Blaker's steel guitar player, on his newest album, "Something Special."

The name of the song is "First Time, Last Time."

—Say 'cheese'

Make cheese the choice for snacks and desserts.

Select a variety of cheeses for snacks

"As daylight hours shorten and television viewing time lengthens, viewers begin to reach for snacks," says Gail Corly, home economist with Associated Milk Producers.

According to The Official Couch Potato Handbook by Jack Mingo and Robert ARmstrong, the simultaneous development of TV dinners and toaster ovens made modern TV cuisine practical. Viewers were able to prepare a meal in less time than the commercial break and had no dishes to clean up afterward. TV viewers and other snackers today want nutrition as well as convenience, she says.

One easy answer is pairing an assortment of fresh vegetables with a simple dairy dip. A refrigerator stocked with plastic bags or containers of broccoli and cauliflower flowerets, green pepper strips, carrot and celery sticks will tempt snackers, she advises.

"Dips can be prepared ahead," Corly says, "ready for prime time snacking." To made Cottage-Barbecue Dip, start with cottage cheese and blend in minced onion, barbecue sauce, lemon juice, celery salt and a little sugar. The flavors will ripen in the refrigerator. Or made Cheesy Cream Dip with equal amounts of shredded Cheddar cheese and sour cream. Stir in chopped pimiento-stoffed green olives and a little salt, pepper and oregano. Again, you'll find the flavors blend during refrigeration.

Fruit is another good snack to keep on hand. Inveterate dippers will enjoy Cheddary Blue Cheese Dip for fruit. Beat together a cup of shredded Cheddar cheese and a half a cup of Blue cheese. Then beat in a cup and a quarter of dairy sour cream and chill it. This dip is especially good with honeydew melon, pear and apple wedges, pineapple chunks and green grapes. Be sure to dip the apple and pear slices in lemon juice immediately after preparation so that they'll remain white during refrigeration.

Today there is such a variety of cheeses...and so many ways to serve them. How do cheese makers come up with such a variety of cheeses? "It's all determined by the kind of milk used," says Associated Milk Producers, nutritionist Gail Corley, "the methods used for coagulating the milk, the type of culture used, and the salting and ripening conditions." The length of curing (ripening) makes another distinction—mild, medium or sharp, she advises.

Mild cheese is cured two or three months with little flavor development and a slightly rubbery body. Medium aged cheese is cured up to six months, and is mellow bodied and smooth textured. Sharp or aged cheese is cured over six months. It has a richer flavor than cheese aged for shorter periods. Unripened fresh cheese is not cured cheese, she says, so it is quite bland and mild flavored.

Cheese is a very good source of calcium, as well as Vitamin A, and protein. Three ounces of Cheddar cheese has about the same protein as three large eggs, three ounces of cooked chicken or beef.

Natural cheese keeps will in the refrigerator for several weeks. Cheese should not be kept outside the refrigerator for extended periods of time. When exposed to air and heat, cheese dries out, "oils off."

Cheese makes a wonderful snacking food and fall football games are a wonderful opportunity to serve a variety of cheeses.

'Dogs seek third win over Hondo

By Nick Johnson
Editor

"The past is prologue," wrote the great bard, and he could have been writing about Friday's clash between Hondo's Owls and Bandera's Bulldogs in spacious Owl Stadium.

Because past performances will mean little when the two teams line up on either side of midstripe for the 8 p.m. kickoff.

Both teams are bristling from defeats by Class AAAA teams but determined to keep their records clean in games against schools their own size.

And while the past may be meaningless when these two teams pull on the pads, the Owls still recall the two whippings put on them by the Bulldogs in a pair of games last year.

There will be revenge on the minds of the Owls as well as pride, and a large crowd of spectators from both towns are expected to be in the stands when the footballs begin to fly Friday evening.

"They don't think we can beat them three times in a row," Bulldog coach Danny Neuse said Wednesday. "The game represents a great challenge for us."

Neuse expects to see the ball in the air often when the Bulldogs are on defense.

Hondo's Junie Barious is a big-play quarterback who likes to throw the ball and does it with remarkable accuracy.

His favorite target is Jeff Rochet, a lanky hurdler, "who can catch anything he can see," according to Neuse.

They call the combination the "JJ Express," Junie to Jeff, and the pair has combined often for touchdowns by air in the Owls' first four games.

Neuse says Job 1 for the Bulldogs will be to derail the express, and he hopes to get his own offense on track.

Like last year, the 'Dog defense has carried the team through the first three games of 1985, but Bandera's final, game-winning drive Friday against Somerset gave Neuse reason for hope.

The 'Dogs were leading by just six points in the fourth quarter Friday when they put together a 60-yard march that consumed more than 9 minutes and iced the game for Bandera.

He said changing positions of four players shored up the Bulldog defense, and the results against Somerset seemed to prove the wisdom of the moves.

Jeff Stoops was moved from defensive tackle to linebacker, Gene Barnet shifted from end to tackle, Billy Price from linebacker to end, and David Shackelford from right defensive end to the left side of the line.

"We're just getting everybody in a position that is right for their particular skills," Neuse explains.

The whole defensive platoon seemed to be in the right position all night long against Somerset as it registered Bandera's second shutout in three games.

Bandera has now held its opposition scoreless in 11 of 12 quarters of football, including the last six in a row.

Somerset gained 96 yards on the ground and 61 through the air, a total of just 157.

Seven times Bulldog defenders stripped the ball from Somerset runners, and four of the fumbles were recovered by Bandera.

Still, it took that time-consuming, fourth quarter drive by the offense to preserve the victory.

Bandera's all-state combination of James Compton and Cliff Bronson were used spareingly on defense and often on offense.

Compton lugged the ball 37 times and gained 140 yards.

Quarterback Jimmy Sides kept the ball 12 times and gained 69 yards and went to the air only twice.

He was effective on his two tosses, however, hitting John Miller once for 70 yards and David Ziegler for 23.

Miller got 24 yards on the ground to give Bandera a total for the night of 325 yards to Somerset's 157.

Neuse called Friday's encounter with Somerset "Just a great high school football game."

He said the Bulldogs played with intensity, a characteristic some observers thought was missing from the first two games.

The partisan crowd was in the game from start to finish, Neuse said. "It was probably the loudest crowd we've ever had."

Last year's crowd at the Hondo game was the largest ever at Bulldog Stadium, and an equal number is expected in Hondo's expansive stadium.

Reserved seat tickets are on sale at Bandera High School for $3, and Coach Neuse said Bulldog fans going to the game are being urged to wear blue to show their support for the "blue machine."

The 'Dogs will leave Bandera by school bus at 5:30 p.m.

Puppy tracks. A television film crew was in Bandera this week filming part of a series on the state's new and controversial "no pass, no play" rule which prohibits high school football players from playing if they fail a course.

Coach Neuse says they picked Bandera as one of the featured teams because of its good record and because several of the players are expected to be highly recruited by college teams.

Seven falcon nests found at Big Bend

Wildlife biologists have identified seven peregrine falcon eyries in Big Bend National Park.

In a cooperative study funded by state and federal agencies, biologists reported that 10 young peregrines fledged from six sites, the best ever reported for the species at the park.

This year's production was up from three young fledged in 1984 and one in 1983.

Officials reported that a study of eggshell fragments revealed that the eggs are approaching the danger point of the thinning condition which can hinder reproduction. DDT contamination is the suspected cause of this thinning, the Parks and Wildlife Department said.

Navarro tops Medina, 28-6

Opportunity came knocking on the door of the Medina Bobcats Friday night, but the 'Cat's slammed it in her face!

The Bobcats had at least two and maybe three chances to score against the Panthers of Navarro, but failed to the final dirge of 28-6.

The 0-2 'Cats seemed always to be a-l-m-o-s-t in the game, but could only put everything together for one drive. They scored early in the fourth quarter when Mark Williams caught a Jeff Walker pass over the middle for the touchdown. The 2-point conversion attempt failed, and that was all the scoring for Medina.

The game opened with the Bobcats receiving against a 25-30 mile wind, but neither could move the ball on it's first first series. A whale of a Navarro punt that put the 'Cats on their own 15, and four downs later a disasterous punt gave Navarro possession on Medina's 30.

The Panthers wasted no time in exploiting the opportunity. Ruben Hernandez blasted in from the nine for the TD. His 2-point attempt failed.

Medina suffered an even worse punt, this time giving the Panthers the ball on the Bobcat 25.

Again Navarro pounced, using five plays to send Hernandez into pay dirt again with 11 seconds left in the first period. This time Michael Tschoepe carried the two-pointer, and the Panthers lead increased to 14-0.

On its next possession, beginning on its own 32, Medina got its first first down of the game when Williams snared a pass on the Panther 45.

A flag sent the 'Cats to the Navarro 30, though a strong rush sacked Walker, however, and Timmy Green had to punt, this time with the wind. The ball took a Medina roll, and Navarro started on their own 41.

The Bobcats finally got a drive going late in the period after exchanging punts with the Panthers. Williams and John Payne gained three first downs in as many plays as the 'Cats moved from their own 39 to Navarro's 3 and once again there was a knock.

'This time, with no time left, Walker went wide left and, missing a couple of chances to cut in for the score, was stopped for no gain and no score.

Navarro iced their homecoming cake with another six points midway through the third period.

As the clock ticked away the remaining minute or so, Medina again mounted a drive. Again it was through the air that the 'Cats found a way to move, and when Williams came up 6-inches short of a first down, Walker burrowed for two to keep the drive alive.

Richard Moore snagged a Walker pass on the Panther 36 and then Scootie Melton blasted for another 11 to the 25. After Melton got 2, Walker kept the pigskin and toughed his way to the 12 and another first down.

From there Williams gained the 7-yard stripe and two plays later again received an air mail delivery for the 'Cats only score.

The Panthers were undaunted and proceeded to march up the field on their very next possession, scoring when Jerry Ramos went in from the 2.

Quarterback Allen added 2 more and the final 28-6 score appeared on the lights.

Medina had one final tap on their door when Williams snatched a pass from backup quarterback Roy Goodwin, returning it to the Panther six. Next play Williams was interfered with, and Medina lacked but 1½ yards for a touchdown.

A motion flag cost them 5, however, and Navarro's Phil Allen chilled the Bobcat streak when he picked off Goodwin's next toss.

The Bobcats start the "for real" season this Friday when they host Asherton in their first district game. Kick Off is at 8 p.m.

E.C. and Geneive Whitehead and son E. C. Jr. have returned from a hunting trip in or around Chama, N.M.

Cancer Society Meeting

There will be a Bandera County Cancer Society meeting at the Rose Garden Center in Medina at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 8.

This short meeting will be to elect a crusade chairman for Medina this year. Anyone interested is urged to attend this meeting.

Fishing trip

Loma and Henry Murphy took a coast fishing trip last week, where they were joined by Ed and Thelma Moseley of Canyon Lake. Thelma is Henry's sister.

They reported having a good time and caught a few fish too.

In training

Christine Ortiz is stationed at Ft. Dix, N.J., where she is in nutritional dietician training. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ortiz.

Colorado trip

Murry and Mary Le Stourgeon have returned from a vacation trip to Creede, Colorado where they visited friends Bob and Donna Alexander.

They enjoyed jeep rides around in places a car couldn't go and to view the beautiful color of the Aspen trees from the tops of the mountains. They said that Creede is an old mining town.

Crime program

Chief Walt Myers, of the Boerne police department, presented Mr. McGruff, the "take a bite out of crime dog," to the Medina elementary school on Tuesday, Sept. 24.

The McGruff Plan is a crime prevention program for the classroom that presents information on drug abuse, alcohol abuse, child molestation, child abuse, and child stealing. "The nationally famous McGruff crime dog is an effective 'spokesdog' who can help us educate our children in these serious matters of health and safety," said Medina superintendent Jerry F. Huie.

Goodtime fest opens Saturday at Quiet Valley

The third annual Kerrville Goodtime Music Festival is set for the outdoor theater of Rod Kennedy's Quiet Valley Ranch north of Medina on Columbus Day weekend, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Oct. 11-13.

This is the festival that the press has variously labeled as "unique," "refreshing," and "diverse."

From the sourful opening notes of Patrick Regan's Highland Pipes to the fiery gypsy dances and Jewish fiddling of Indiana's Eclectricity closing the festival on Sunday evening, the Goodtime Festival's diversity of traditional music entertains in a way that most Southwestern music fans and critics thought not possible.

Visiting out of state artists in addition to Eclectricity include Ohio's swinging Hot Foot Quartet, McDonald Craig from Nashville singing in the Jimmie Rodgers tradition, the ragtime songs of New Mexico's Jane Voss and Hoyle Osborne, and the multi-instruments of Nashville Network's David Holt. Guitar whiz Preston Reed will be down from Connecticutt along with New Hampshire's National Yodeling Champion Bill Staines. England's John Pearce and Mary Faith Rhodes and autoharpist Bryan Bowers from Seattle, Washington.

But leading Texas groups shine, too, including the Irish bands Tinker's Dam from Dallas and St. James Gate from San Antonio.

Good luck, Sally

The Bulletin is delighted to sponsor Sally Molina of Bandera in The Miss Bandera County Pageant Saturday.

Hearing needed in Sorensen case

DA Bruce Curry, worried about the cost of a hearing, said it is something that can be put off until next year.

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

A court hearing will be necessary to correct documents that make convicted murderer Gerald Roger Sorensen eligible for parole 12 years earlier than had been believed, and the murder victim's brother has called for early action to schedule such a hearing.

The executive director of the State Board of Pardons and Paroles told the Bulletin in December that Sorensen would not be considered for parole until the year 2004, but a Texas Department of Corrections computer indicates the Wharton's Dock area man will be considered for release in 1992.

William Walker Jr., a Midland oil and gas attorney and brother of the victim, said District Attorney E. Bruce Curry told him the computer information can be changed only by an additional hearing during which Sorensen must be present.

Sorensen was convicted in Bandera of the rape of school teacher Marie Denise Walker and in Fredericksburg of murder on Feb. 1, 1984. Both trials were prosecuted by Curry's predecessor, Joe Mike Egan.

According to Walker, the discrepancy arose because the grand jury indictment states Sorensen used a firearm to murder the first grade school teacher, but the use of a firearm was not indicated on the judgement or sentence.

Because the judgement and sentence do not contain any reference to Sorensen's alleged use of a firearm, the Texas Department of Corrections set a parole eligibility hearing day for September 1992.

Walker said he wrote to Curry on Sept. 16 requesting a hearing for a corrective order immediately.

If the deadly weapon language were included in the judgement and sentence, Sorensen's first eligibility date would be September 2004. Anyone committing murder with a "deadly weapon" has to serve 20 years before they are eligible for a parole hearing.

Walker said Curry told him it was an unintentional error and he would work on it. Walker said he has not received a reply from Curry in response to his letter of Sept. 16.

Curry told the Bulletin less than two weeks ago when he was in Bandera that Sorensen would have to be brought back from TDC for the hearing and it would be expensive. He said the hearing is something that can be done next year.

The Midland attorney said he wants the record corrected and wants something done while it's still fresh in the minds of those involved in the Fredericksburg trial, including Egan, District Judge Robert Barton who signed the judgement and sentence document, and attorney Richard Mosty who defended Sorensen.

Sorensen was also found guilty on a charge of aggravated sexual assault committed with a deadly weapon in Bandera County in Oct. 1984. He was sentenced to 99 years at that trial.

Both the Fredericksburg and Bandera trials are under appeal, district clerk Vera King told the Bulletin. She said it may take six months for her office to receive the mandates on them, but it is her understanding that they both have been appealed.

Miss Walker's almost nude body was found in her mobile home in which she lived alone by her parents on Feb. 1, 1984. She was a respected first-grade teacher in Bandera and was an active member of the First Baptist Church in Bandera.

Since her rape and murder, the Marie Denise Walker Memorial Chapel has been erected in the Wharton's Dock area in her memory.

County sets tax rate at 27.88 cents per $100

Bandera County commissioners last week set the 1985-86 county tax rate at 27.88 cents per $100 valuation.

That's a decrease of 20.1 percent compared to last year's rate, but because of a 37.91 percent increase in taxable values in the county it represents a 7.65 percent hike in the "effective tax rate," says tax assessor-collector Marguerite Stevens.

The effective tax rate is adjusted to account for newly-constructed improvements, changes in exemptions and other factors.

The 27.88 cent tax rate includes 21.36 cents for the day-to-day expenses of the county, a decrease from last year's rate of 28 cents.

It also includes 3.66 cents as the county special road tax, 1.40 cents for the road district tax, and 1.40 cents to retire outstanding road bonds.

Shana Sill of Medina Miss Bandera County

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Shana Sill of Medina was crowned Miss Bandera County Saturday during the second annual Bandera County Fair.

The 16-year-old beauty, who plans to go to college after graduation from Medina High School this spring to major in equine sciences, was selected over 11 other entries after personal interviews and appearances in western wear and formals.

Runner up was Sally Molina of Bandera, a statuesque, five-foot 8½-inch Bandera High School cheerleader who plans to become an attorney working with handicapped, abused and raped children.

Also honored as Bandera County Baby Boy and Baby Girl were Colton Ryan Sells, the 7-month-old son of Steve and Carolyn Sells of Bandera, and Kasi Chesson, 2½, the daughter of Roy and Fonda Chesson of Bandera.

Littly Missy Bandera County is another of the Sells' children, Stephanie Sells, 3. Little Mr. Bandera County is Logan Wheeler, 5, the son of Bob Wheeler of Bandera.

Jack and Pat Frazier of Bandera were named Mr. and Mrs. Bandera County. Runners-up were Mark and Billie Jo Gilstrap also of Bandera.

Chamber of commerce officials were pleased with the attendance and arrangements for the second annual county fair.

Prizes which include $450 for Miss Bandera County, will be distributed to winners as soon as all donations have been collected from sponsors, said Karoline Moreland, the fair's general arrangements chairman.

Ribbons and money due from the homemaking department's auction will be distributed at the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce offices on Main Street in Bandera on Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 15 and 16, between the hours of 10 a.m. and 10 p.m., Moreland said.

Among the surprise winners was Timmy Henry, 9, of Bandera whose bundt cake topped all entries of all kinds in the homemaking department to win the grand champion's ribbon.

Reserve champion was Timmy's mother, Susan Henry, for her canned pears, and her 15 points were good enough to win $10 for most awards based on a point system. Second-place winner was her mother-in-law, Virginia Henry, who garnered 9 points.

Elizabeth Pavoline's acrylic creation was the junior division arts and crafts winner and Mark Bradford's pencil drawing was reserve champion.

Lucille Broe's needlepoint parrot was champion in the senior citizen's division and Mrs. Sam Bradford's quilt was reserve champion.

Nola Bledsoe's oil painting was champion in the open division and Leann Bownds' cross stitch wall hanging was reserve champion.

Champion in the winemaking department was County Commissioner Danny Alinie III, who entered a California strawberry fruit wine. His loquat white wine was good enough to be judged reserve champion.

Carole Rambo best in fair horse show

Carole Rambo of Bandera was the best all-around exhibitor in the Bandera County Fair Horse Show Saturday and Sunday and Dorothy Love of San Antonio won a horse cooler as top amateur.

Nearly 100 entries were on hand for each day of the horse show, said general arrangements chairman Sheila Fries.

Chris Muni of New Braunfels won a belt buckle as top youth aged 14-18 years and Kimberly Smith of San Antonio was tops among youth aged 13 years and under.

Each day actually constituted a separate American Quarter Horse Association horse show, and grand champions and reserve champions were crowned for each day.

Grand champion stallions were Impressive Red Sun, owned by Preston Penn of Wimberly, and Three Beaver Bo, shown by George Scott Binford. Reserve champions were The Syndicator, shown by Don Hollon and Roberta Ross, and Sr. Walla Bo Acres, owned by Gene Lock.

Grand champion mares were Skip's Ms. Showgirl, owned by Don and Nancy Ried of Boerne, and Impress America, shown by Sam R. Hawks of Kerrville. Reserve champions were Princess Patent, shown by Jennifer Scroggins, and Cowboy's Barbie Doll, exhibited by Lynn Stewart.

Former student sues sheriff, deputy, principal in U.S. Court

A former high school student charges in a lawsuit in U.S. District Court that he was abused by Sheriff Guy Pickett, Deputy James MacMillan and school principal Gus Pfeiffer during an arrest at Bandera High School last year.

Kenneth D. (Hollywood) Alexander, 19, filed a civil suit in the U.S. District Court in San Antonio on Oct. 2. He asks for $100,000 in damages.

The complaint, signed by David A. Benavides, attorney for Alexander, says Sheriff Pickett, Deputy MacMillan, and Pfeiffer grabbed him by the hand, neck and hair, struggled to the floor, and dragged him out of the classroom face down.

The document claims the First, Fourth, Fifth, and 14th Amendments of the U.S. Constitution were violated.

The sheriff and Deputy MacMillan were called to the high school on Sept. 14 by Pfeiffer after Alexander refused to leave the classroom after a teacher and Pfeiffer requested he leave, according to a San Antonio newspaper account of the incident in September 1984.

It was reported the high school Junior had brought a weapon to school, which was against school policy. The principal called the sheriff's department in order to have the youth removed from the classroom, after he refused to leave with the principal.

The newspaper reported the sheriff and his deputy approached Alexander in the classroom in front of other students attending the class.

He clung to his desk and refused to go with the officers, the report said. The officers had to physically remove him from the classroom as he struggled against them. The paper reported Deputy MacMillan's hand was injured in the incident.

When contacted by the Bulletin on Wednesday, Sheriff Pickett and Deputy MacMillan both said they had been advised by their attorneys not to make any comment regarding the case, at this time.

The Bulletin was unable to reach Pfeiffer late Wednesday afternoon for comment.

Superintendent Ted Dockery told the Bulletin the matter was discussed in executive session by the school trustees, but what transpires in their secret session is not public information, since no action or vote was required by the trustees.

The excitement of the Old West will come alive again Oct. 19 and 20 during the first annual Bandera Gunfight and Stunt Competition at the Bandera River Resort, in Bandera.

The event is sponsored by the Legends of the Old West Stunt Team and co-sponsored by the Sesquicentennial Commission of Bandera. It is sanctioned by the National Association of Old West Gunfighters, whose approximately 600 members enjoy dressing up as gunfighters and other assorted Old West characters to stage mock shoot-outs, comedies and melodramas.

"Entrants from throughout the United States have been invited to compete for $3,500 in prize money," said Marvin Richardson, spokesman for the Legends of the Old West Stunt Team. "As many as 20 teams are expected to participate, including many of the best stunt teams from throughout Texas. It promises to be a real exciting competition."

A panel of celebrity judges, including Western movie veteran Jock Mahoney, Will Hutchins of television's "Sugar Foot", movie and television personality Sunset Carson, Happy Shahan of Alamo Village, Brackettville, and Marjorie Murphy, State Coordinator of the Miss Rodeo Texas Pageant, will also participate in the festivities. Teams will be judged on plot,

Last week this column presented the case favoring passage of Propositions 1 and 2 on the Nov. 5 ballot. The case rests on expert projections of water shortages by the year 2000, assuming that present population trends will continue and that those trends could intersect with an extended drought.

This week, the other side gets some attention.

The state constitutional amendments contained in the propositions seem to say that Texans will indebt themselves for $1.18 billion in bonds, but will not pay more taxes to finance water projects.

That interpretation, however, is very misleading, for several reasons.

First, the figure of $1.18 billion does not include the millions in local governmental bonds that would be sold to accompany state participation.

Second, major public works projects, once begun, take on a momentum of their own. Witness the South Texas Nuclear Project. Construction delays, cost over-runs, inflation, and bond market fluctuations are almost inevitable.

The temptation to go back to the well will be almost irresistable, whether the well is more bonds or tax increases.

Third, water supplies are not unlike highways: the more you build them, the more they get used. So the projects financed by the bonds will generate additional pressure on the state's water resources, even while they relieve some of the existing pressure.

The two propositions and the outlines of a tenative, statewide water plan they finance deserve much credit. A lot of hard thinking and principles politics went into them.

They recognize the state's single, most serious, natural resource problem. They show concern for regional and statewide planning in a state in which, historically, politics are defined by local networks of hard-headed "good ole boys."

The plan is a compromise that successfully overcomes the traditional conflicts: East versus West Texas, big city versus country, and upstream versus downstream.

Unfortunately, the propositions and the plan ignore one other compromise they should have made: between those of us who think that more growth is always better and those of us who think that it is all too easy to go to the well once too often.

Mauro supports three proposals among those on Nov. 5 ballot

As Election Day nears, Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro is stumping the state asking voters to pass not one, but three proposed constitutional amendments.

Mauro wants voters to 1) continue the Texas Veterans Housing Assistance Program, 2) establish the Texas Farm and Ranch Finance Program, and 3) facilitate the management of public amendments.

The Legislature proposed all three programs last spring, but Texas voters must give final approval on a total of 14 proposed amendments.

Since the Legislature gave the nod to Mauro for three of the 14, he has been criss-crossing the state speaking at public hearings.

He and other supporters have also rounded up impressive endorsements from the community and business sectors.

Veterans Housing Program

Proposition Eight extends the Veterans Housing Assistance Program by providing $500 million in bonding authority, enough to make several thousand partial home loans to veterans.

The program, first enacted in 1983 to accommodate modern veterans, many who live in urban areas, was modeled after the highly successful Veterans Land Program.

The Legislature and voters provided $500 million in bonding authority then, and the popular program has used most of it to make 22,000 loans.

Mauro's point is it doesn't cost taxpayers, and besides providing a benefit to veterans, the program pumps millions into local economies and industries.

Because of the economic impact, not only veterans but realtors and several other homebuilding industry and civic groups are backing this amendment.

Farm, Ranch Program

Last spring the Legislature passed this new program, now Proposition 10 on the ballot, which would provide similar loans to farmers and ranchers.

The goal is to pump new vitality into the agriculture industry, just as the veteran loan programs boosted the homebuilding economy.

And like the vet programs, this would use $500 million bonding authority, not tax money, to provide the original loan money. Several farm and ranch groups endorse this amendment.

One of the more innovative measures to quietly emerge from the last legislative session was a program to stream-line the way the state manages its various public lands and assets.

One example is the Legislature's discovery that, in many instances, urban growth has raised the commercial value of once-rural state land higher than is necessary to serve the needs of state agencies.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

It's official: Kent Hance is a candidate for governor.

You'll remember Kent Hance. He's the guy who teamed with fellow Democrat Lloyd Doggett to knock Bob Krueger out of the U.S. Senate race last year, and then lost the nomination in a runoff with Doggett.

That made him angry. So mad, in fact, he quit the Democratic Party and was welcomed by Sen. Phil Gramm. Together, they can save the Texas Republican Party from mediocrity, Gramm insists.

Except Tom Loeffler and Bill Clements each insist that in them the Republican Party already has candidates who are more than mediocre, and Loeffler is probably right.

Actually, Hance did not vacate the Democratic Party in a fit of spite. Instead, it was a cool, calculated act based on reality. He knew he could not beat Mark White in a Democratic primary, because most of his supporters will be voting Republican this spring.

He thinks he might beat Loeffler and Clements and anyone else who cares to join in the Republican primary, because Phil Gramm told him so.

Then, he reasons, with Republican millions behind him in November, he just might be able to beat White one-on-one.

Those who trace their own party loyalty deep philosophical conviction tend to forget that virtually all party-switching among office-seekers is based on cold political realities.

Hance and Gramm each admit they started their political careers as Democrats because in those days Republicans couldn't get elected anywhere but in Fredericksburg.

They are direct enough and honest enough to dispense with the rhetoric about Jefferson and Jackson or Garner and Rayburn.

No sir. It's winning that motivates Gramm and Hance, just as it is winning that moves Wayne Ulrich. He's the guy who switched to the Republican Party several years ago and now is switching back.

He's running for state rep in District 119 in San Antonio, and everyone knows a Republican can't win in that district.

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

For many years I've heard the expression the lake is turning, you can smell it in the air. Willie Leibold, better known as the Mayor of Lakehills, used to say this every fall about the time we had our first cold front move through the area.

The Mayor resides in Purple Hills Nursing Home now, but he is still a topic of conversation when a crowd gathers around the lake. Some folks say he knows more about the lake than anyone still living.

If someone tells you Medina Lake is turning over, believe him. He's not a victim of one too many, according to Willie and the experts.

Because water has a rather unusual quality, during the summer it stratifies. Water's at its heaviest when it's about 39 degrees Fahrenheit. It gets lighter as the temperature gets colder or warmer than 39 degrees. Water behaves similarly to a hot air balloon. As the air is warmed the balloon descends, with the exception that when it is cooled below 39 degrees, it begins to rise again. That's why ice floats at 32 degrees.

In the spring cooler, denser water settles in a bottom layer known as hypolimnion. Largely because of decaying plants and animals the layer is deficient in dissolved oxygen. The top and bottom layers are separated by the layer in which the greatest temperature fall occurs.

Because of the lack of oxygen a fish may descend into the layer and die from lack of oxygen. The experts say this is why trotline fishermen might find only dead catfish. The hooks are suspended into the water where there is no oxygen.

During the summer months wind will not disrupt the stratification of the lake, because of the difference in density. However, as the weather cools in the fall, the upper layer will cool. As its density approaches that of the lower layer the water will reach nearly the same temperature in both layers. Then there is a mixing via wind action, the lower level rises, and the upper level sinks. Thus the lake turns.

Most times the process is subtle. But if it turns cool suddenly the switch can be abrupt. This will cause the stagnant, stinking water off the bottom to come right to the top. This causes bubbles on the surface and some fish to come up gasping for air. There's usually the odor of decaying matter in the air.

Once the lake turns over the water circulates and the fish begin prowling again. This is why fishing picks up in the cooler weather of the fall.

Computer seminar planned at library

Three seminars are being planned for late October by the Bandera County Library, according to Jimmie Hughey, County Librarian.

The schedule includes a Computer Awareness Seminar, an Indian Mound Field Trip, and a Generic Drug/Vitamin Consciousness Program.

An article in the San Antonio Express News on Oct. 6 stated that recent research indicates that 79 percent of persons with computers use them for Games and Entertainment, 57 percent for child education, 47 percent for adult education, 46 percent for home finance, and 43 percent for household and hobby organization.

The number and utilization of Personal Computers in Bandera County is unknown, but the library staff assumes there are many and that more persons will be buying personal computers in the future.

The Computer Awareness Seminar will be at 6 p.m., Thursday, Oct. 24, and will be conducted by Shirley Leifeste of Kerrville. Leifeste has taught for eight years at Tivy High School and has been an instructor of accounting and computers in the Adult Evening Program. She has a masters degree in Business Education from North Texas State University.

Topics which will be discussed include: How a Computer Works, Computer Applications, Types of Input/Output Devices, and How to Choose a Computer.

As a result of interest expressed by participants at an earlier Library-sponsored Indian Artifacts seminar, field trips have been planned to visit Indian mounds in Bandera County.

Plans are for participants to meet Saturday, Oct. 26, at the County Library at 1:30 p.m. to go to mounds near Hondo Creek. The field trip will be in cooperation with the Anthropology Club at UTSA. Anne Kerr, President of the club states that members are both undergraduate and graduate students, most of whom have attended field school and have joined the staff of the Center for Archaeological Research at UTSA.

Since the club will be providing several knowledgable guides for this tour, small groups can be formed.

Plans have been tentatively made for Saturday, Nov. 2, to visit another site in Bandera County.

A third program is scheduled for Thursday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the County Library. This seminar will be presented by pharmacist Diana Braun who will discuss generic drugs, vitamins, and other related health support items.

UW exec to speak

Richard Brown from United Way, San Antonio, will be guest speaker at the monthly Bandera County Helping Hand Center meeting, Oct. 17.

Brown will be speaking on the services of United Way and the ways the United Way is currently helping the Helping Hand Center.

Programs begins at 7 p.m. at the First Baptist Church, Bandera, and the public is invited.

During the September business meeting, President Richard Jackson appointed a nominating committee to recommend new officers for 1986. Those appointed were Smokey Settlemeyer, Leslie Pigott and Chris Wedgworth.

Jeanne Shinn, Center Director reports that because of the increased workload, having helped 59 families in September, there is a need for more volunteers at the Center.

A Volunteer Workshop, for current and prospective volunteers, will be held October 24, from 7:30 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. at First Federal Savings. The Workshop will be led by Kenneth Green and Virginia Wilson from United Way. There will be no charge for the Workshop.

Shinn also noted there is an urgent need at the Center for Winter Baby Clothes and both men's and women's winter coats.

Storing your RV or other type of car for the season? Take these steps to avoid problems later.

If you will use the vehicle or all (or even start it) during this time, fill the tank and add gasoline antifreeze. Turn over the engine each week, running it up to normal operating temperature.

But if the car will 'hibernate' until spring, drain the fuel from the carburetor and spray with silicone lubricant. Make sure the battery is fully charged and fluid levels are full.

To protect the tires, put the car on jack stands. Lubricate all rubber parts, plus vinyl and leather interior surfaces. If the vehicle will be outside, protect it with a coat of wax.

It's sometimes possible to modify your insurance coverage for the time that the vehicle is not going to be used. It's advisable to keep comprehensive coverage in force, though, to protect against fire, theft, and vandalism.

For the answers to all your insurance questions, see the experts at Joe McMullan Insurance, 601 Main, Bandera, Tx. 796-3726. 13-1tc

'Frontier Times Museum sold to foundation

Mrs. J. Marvin Hunter Sr., announced the week of Oct. 7, 1960, the sale of the Frontier Times Museum to the F. B. Doane Foundation, headed by Mrs. F. B. Doane.

The museum was established in 1927 by Hunter's late husband. He was one of Texas' most renowned early-day newspapermen and Texas historian, the Bulletin said.

He started the museum with just a few relics of the old days and it grew so rapidly that Hunter soon had to build a place to house it.

In School Daze news, 145 students voted for their class favorites. Seniors were Elsie Faurie and Roger Poe, juniors Patty Callahan and Larry Stein, sophomores Jamie Nixon and Walter Causey, and freshmen were Noahlene Bergman and Tommy Laskowski.

Eddie Leibold reported in the third grade news he could now stop his bicycle and dismount without falling down. He said it took a lot of practice.

In the sixth grade, Robin Shaw reported his mother almost stepped on a rattlesnake, and his father shot a squirrel and a hawk.

Congressman O. C. Fisher announced the appointment of Homer Stevens Jr. to the U. S. Naval Academy in Annapolis. It was the only appointment to the academy from the district in 1960.

Ducks Unlimited annual banquet Oct. 30

The Bandera Chapter of Ducks Unlimited has announced that the 2nd annual banquet will be held at Mayan Dude Ranch, Wednesday, Oct. 30 at 7 p.m.

Chapter Chairman Joe W. McMullan of Bandera feels the fund-raising function should be marked on the calendar by anyone who is interested in the future of North America's waterfowl.

"The Ducks Unlimited success story," said McMullan, "is really starting to spread around. Banquets much like our chapter event held throughout the country last year contributed towards Ducks Unlimited's national fund-raising effort which raised $38.2 million during 1983 alone. But what's even more important to realize," said McMullan, "is that this national fund-raising total must increase this year if the North American waterfowl habitat race is to be won."

Most of North America's waterfowl production occurs in Canada and $237 million raised in the U.S. since 1937 by DU has gone mostly to reserve 3.3 million acres of prime habitat in Canada. Federal duck stamp dollars cannot be spent in other countries.

Biologists estimate millions of additional acres of habitat must be reserved in order to stabilize North American's waterfowl population.

"When you consider that habitat today is diminishing due to agricultural and development pressures, and that DU is the only nonprofit conservation organization involved in the Canadian waterfowl habitat race, you can begin to see the significance attached to the organization's fund-raising events," McMullan said.

Tickets, which are $25 each, include dinner, a one-year DU membership and a subscription to the organization's magazine. Tickets will be available at First State Bank, First National Bank and Joe McMullan Insrance Agency.

Good things are happening at the Bandera County Library these days — most of the trussels for the new roof are in place and work is progressing rapidly toward a new roof for our building.

The new roof line sort of does away with the "false front" appearance, but is to be metal and in keeping with Hill Country rural construction and architecture.

As soon as the roof is completed, landscaping on the grounds of the library will begin. Donations are still being accepted for this project which has been partly funded by a grant from the Exxon Corporation.

New officers of the Board of Trustees for the Bandera County Library took over their duties Monday at the regular meeting of that group at the Library. Officers for the year are president Willie Morris of Rio Hondo Subdivision, vice-president Astrid Box of Pipe Creek and secretary Sharon Chamblee of Medina.

Lissie Schneider and Carolyn Sells have been appointed to co-chair a public relations committee for the board and for the library.

The first duty for the new officers and board was to welcome Mayor Bob Cowan to the Board.

New reading available currently in the Library includes "A Passion for Excellence," Naisbitt's "Re-Inventing the Corporation," "Elvis and Me" by Priscilla Presley, Rona Jaffe's "After the Reunion," "Too Much, Too Soon," by Jacqueline Briskin, McMurtry's "Lonesome Dove," "Lake Wobegon Days" by Keillor, Number 1 on the Best Seller List.

FISH LOSS TOTALS CLIMB AFTER ACID SPILL

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials now estimate that more than 155,000 fish were killed in the Medina River south of San Antonio after the Sept. 14 railroad derailment and acid spill.

Estimates of the total number of fish were raised from last week's ±12,000, because of a secondary kill caused by lime dumped into the water to neutralize the 50,000 gallons of sulphuric acid which entered the river after the train wreck. The lime also cleared the water to the extent that department personnel were able to count the fish on the bottom of the river.

"Crews contracted by Southern Pacific Railroad dumped lime into the river at the wreck site and at Interstate Highway 35," said Dennis Palafox, pollution surveillance chief. "The 800 tons of lime neutralized the low-pH condition, but it raised the pH to levels which killed fish downstream in a 22-mile stretch from I-35 to Farm Road 1937." The original fish kill caused by the acid was believed to affect only seven miles of river downstream from the accident site.

Defensive driving course scheduled Nov. 4, 5 and 7

A defensive driving course, sponsored every three years by the Extension Service Family Living Committee, will be held on Nov. 4, 5 and 7th at the Bandera High School Cafeteria from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. each of those three nights.

Participants must attend all three sessions to get your certificate, says Peggy Edwards, county extension agent.

The course materials will be presented by Mae Gordonshire of Junction. She is a qualified instructor trained by the Texas Department of public Safety.

Fee for the course is $20 and may be paid to The Family Living Committee, Louis Morgenatern, Rt. 2 Box 10, Bandera, 78003 by Oct. 15. A minimum of 20 people are needed to have the course. If the number is not reached, checks will be returned, Edwards said.

Completion of this course qualifies the graduate for a reduction on auto insurance, but in order to receive this benefit, each member of the family who drives the family cars must complete the course, Edwards said.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
Today our spice shelves overflow with such exotic flavors as basil, rosemary, thyme, sage, curry and many others. But none has as many different uses as salt.
In Matthew 5:13, the Lord used this cooking ingredient to teach his disciples a profound truth, telling them, "Ye are the salt of the earth."
It is common knowledge that unsalted bread is flat, unsalted butter is tasteless and can turn rancid quickly. It is good for us to flavor our lives with this "Salt" that Christ speaks of. Even as salt saturates to make food palatable, so the salt of compassion will have a pleasant effect on our fellowman. It may seem a small thing to prepare a savory casserole for a shut-in or bereaved friend, or to do an errand or maybe just listen. We need to tenderly be susceptible to the joys and sorrows of others around us.
Salt is also known for its healing qualities. Have you ever used a salt solution for an infected finger? At first, the salty water stings, but the healing process begins, and several days later the irritation has disappeared. And so it is, to flavor the people in the world around us, we must be saturated thoroughly ourselves before we can be of help to our fellowman.

Millie Schenkat Hall dedicated

Evelyn Furrows and Sgt. Millie Schenkat prepare to snip the ribbon. Grand Lodge representatives Dan Barth and Bill Noble joined local officers Elaine Mixon and Doris Holt

Sons of Hermann Lodge 81 held grand opening ceremonies and a formal dedication of the Millie Schenkat Hall in Lakehills Sunday afternoon. Ceremonies began with a ribbon cutting by president Evelyn Furrows and Millie Schenkat.

Among the dignitaries representing the grand lodge in San Antonio were district supervisor Dan Barth and his wife and director of public relations Bill Noble and his wife. Noble is also a member of the grand lodge's law committee.

The local lodge was formed for Bandera county in February 1980 and by the summer of 1981 there were 47 members.

Schenkat donated 11 lots of Park Road 37 to the lodge in 1983. These lots are the present site of the Hermann Sons Park in Lakehills. During the warm months, a taco breakfast is held at the park on the first Sunday of the month, during cooler weather, the breakfasts are held inside the new hall.

Schenkat is well-known in Lakehills for her support of many non-profit organizations, and for her love of the youth in the community. For years she has sponsored Easter egg hunts and Halloween costume parties for the youngsters and insured there were treats and prizes for all.

As a retired Army sergeant, Schenkat is believed to be the first woman member of the American Legion Post in Lakehills. When she first tried to join the legion, she was told she couldn't, she had to join the auxiliary.

This, she decided was not right, she had served her country and was proud of the uniform she had worn. Today, she and other retired military women hold membership in the American Legion the same as their male counterparts.

An animal lover, Schenkat has been known to take in many strays and give them good homes. She has organized and sponsored the Rabies Vaccination clinics each spring at the American Legion for several years.

Sgt. Millie, as she prefers to be called, has been a part of Lakehills for many years. Before she retired from the military she owned property in Lakehills.

She fills her days with gardening, caring for her dogs and cats, and fishing when she can find the time.

Safeguards reduce Halloween hazards

Modern-day Halloween can be more hazardous for the "tricker" than the "treater."

Certain safety precautions taken by parents, motorists, and homeowners can help prevent accidents, says the Texas Medical Association.

Parents should check all costumes and wigs for flameproof labels. Apply a natural mask of cosmetics or grease paint rather than have a child wear a mask which might restrict breathing or obscure vision.

Make sure a costume is not so long that a child can trip on it, or so loose that it may catch on fences or other obstacles.

Since dark costumes are difficult for motorists to see, insist tricksters wear light-colored or reflectorized costumes. Children also should carry flashlights to see, and be seen, more easily.

Parents should accompany young tricksters on their rounds while it is still light, and older children should travel in groups.

Make sure children have enough change with them to call home if necessary.

As an alternative, parents might encourage home parties and celebrations in place of trick-or-treating.

Motorists should slow down and drive with extra caution while in residential areas on Halloween.

Homeowners receiving trick-or-treaters should have outside lights on as a sign of welcome. Remove anything that could be an obstacle from steps, lawns, and porches.

Finally, parents should emphasize that tricksters return home with their treats untouched until all candy has been thoroughly inspected for foreign material. Only wrapped candy and packaged baked goods should be eaten. Fruit should be thoroughly washed and cut open before being consumed.

Following these guidelines will help children enjoy a fun-filled yet safe Halloween.

Pipe Creek

Barbecue at firehouse Sunday

The proceeds will go toward maintenance and operation of the fire station.

The semi-annual event will include other activities as well as the dinners. Beans and potato salad will be served on the plates with the barbecue, Bucky Densford reported.

The firehouse is located on Highway 1283 near the intersection with Highway 16.

Consumer's guide for LD phone service

It seems like everywhere you look (and listen), there are ads for long distance telephone companies. "Save money..." "No monthly fee..." "Compare prices..." "Top quality..." And now people are being told that as part of the break up of AT&T, they have to choose a long distance company.

For most people, this is a new process. They are not sure what questions to ask, nor how to compare services, nor even which companies handle long distance calls.

A new, free booklet called "A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service" will help you learn more about long distance, what the choices mean for your service, and how you can compare the options from different companies. It also has a great deal of information about local telephone service.

Published jointly by the United States Office of Consumer Affairs, the Bell Atlantic Telephone Companies, and the Consumer Information Center of the U.S. General Services Administration, "A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service" is available free on a first-come, first-served basis when you send your name and address to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. 618N, Pueblo, Colo. 81009.

Up to now, you have been able to reach Aunt Hattie clear across the country by dialing 1, the area code, and the number—a total of eleven digits—and you could use either a rotary or tone phone. Then new long distance companies began to offer their services, and to reach Aunt Hattie, you had to dial the computer, your access code, the area code, and the number—as many as 24 digits—if you had a tone phone to communicate with the computer that would place your call.

About a year ago, phone service changed again. Now most consumers will be able to make a long distance call using whatever long distance company they choose without having to dial any extra digits, and they will be able to use a rotary or tone phone. This is called "easy dialing" or "equal access." Easy dialing is being introduced gradually, but most people will have to choose a primary company by September 1986. If you don't choose one, one will be assigned to you.

In the meantime, here are some suggestions from "A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service" to help you decide whether a long distance company will meet your needs:

1. Analyze your long distance habits. Your phone bills for the past few months will tell you where you called, how long the calls lasted, and what time and which day of the week they were made.

2. Call the long distance companies that interest you. Ask them to quote a price for one of your sample bills. Give them all of the information.

3. Using the information on your worksheet from "A Consumer's Guide to Telephone Service" and the information the companies have sent you, make your choice. You will have a primary long distance company (there will be no cost for picking the first company) and you may select as many others as you wish to establish accounts with.

Clean gutters now, expert says

Clogged gutters probably cause more damage to houses than any other single maintenance problem.

"When gutters are clogged, water can back up under the roofing," says Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Once the water gets inside the roof, it will be absorbed over time by the house material—the insulation, gypsum board and plaster," she explains. "All this moisture may create termite problems as well as walls that are rotted, through."

Owens recommends checking the gutters two or three times a year, usually in the fall and again in the spring, to make sure they are free of branches, leaves or anything else that may block the flow of water.

This is also a good time to clean out the downspout strainer, says the specialist. Above every downspout should be a wire-cage strainer to stop large debris from entering.

"If the gutter doesn't have a downspout strainer, install one," recommends Owens. "They cost less than a dollar each and can save the messy chore of disassembling and cleaning a clogged downspout."

Once you have cleaned the gutters, she recommends checking the flow of water by filling the gutter with water from a bucket or garden hose.

If the water doesn't flow, flows sluggishly or flows the wrong way, you should increase the slope of the gutters toward the downspout. This type of minor slope adjustment can be made by bending the gutter hangers, says the specialist.

A water test will also give you a chance to spot rough spots in the gutter that may trap debris, or holes and loose joints.

"Catching and curing gutter problems when they are small insures that routing gutter maintenance will be simple, inexpensive and quick," Owens concludes.

State funds available to feed elderly citizens

The Texas Department on Aging has awarded $31,251 to the Alamo Area Agency on Aging, which includes Bandera County, for the Omnibus.

"The program is for elderly people who cannot afford, or are unable to prepare a meal for themselves due to physical limitations," said O.P. (Bob) Bobbitt, TDOA executive director.

The home-delivered meals are intended for elderly persons who have not regularly participated in any home-delivered meal program during the last federal fiscal year (Oct. 1, 1984-Sept. 31, 1985), particularly low-income persons in need of nutrition maintenance; elderly people whose names have been on written waiting lists to be served by an agency when resources are available; or elderly persons recently released from hospitals, says the Department on Aging.

"This program will enhance our current efforts to provide nutrition programs for older Texans," Bobbitt said.

"Each weekday, the Department on Aging, through our area agency on aging network, provides over 50,000 home-delivered and congregate meals which meet one-third of the recommended USDA nutritional requirement. Our nutrition services, as well as our many other services such as transportation, telephone reassurance, and information and referral are available free to any Texas 60 years of age or older. Those who are able may contribute to help maintain and expand our programs."

two seminars on starting a business

Two one-day seminars, one on "Starting Your Own Import/Export Business' and one on "How to Start and Operate a Successful Mail Order Business," will be offered at Trinity University.

The first seminar, on Friday, Oct. 18, will explore the potential for self-employment and business expansion in the field of international trade. The next seminar, Saturday, Oct. 19, will detail the requisites for launching a successful mail order business.

An international trade specialist, Howard R. Goldsmith, will lead both seminars. Goldsmith is the author of "How to Make a Fortune in Import/Export." He is a consultant to business firms, and lectures at colleges and universities around the country.

Sessions will be held at Trinity's William Knox Holt Continuing Education and Conference Center from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. Information of registration and fees can be obtained by calling the Holt Continuing Education Center at (512) 736-7603.

Measles should be extinct

Sending measles the way of dinosaurs and the dodo bird would give Texas Department of Health (TDH) officials great satisfaction, because the disease should have been extinct three years ago.

Measles, a highly contagious viral disease of childhood, is on the endangered list and near extinction with reports of new cases at an all-time low. The number of new measles cases has declined by tenfold in the United States during the last decade, largely because of increased vaccination efforts.

But pockets of susceptible populations, notably among middle school and high school students, keep the virus hanging on at the edge of the cliff.

Dr. Tracy L. Gustafson, a TDH epidemiologist, hopes a study of 1,800 young students in Corpus Christi will help give measles a final, fatal push in Texas. He headed a team of TDH epidemiologists, physicians, nurses, and technicians who drew blood from the students this past spring.

That blood is being used in a serological survey, a study that will determine the kind of protection against measles that existed before and after the outbreak. Such information can help TDH find weak spots in the fight against measles and develop a better strategy to defeat it.

TDH workers are now determining how many students in junior and senior high schools got measles in the Corpus Christi outbreak and why they lacked protection. Gustafson said he hopes the study will help explain if the vaccine's protection wanes with time or if some children just slipped through the cracks and didn't get vaccinated when they were younger.

The team effort among TDH, the Corpus Christi-Nueces Department of Public Health, and the public schools began as local doctors reported the first case in an outbreak last spring. Measles outbreaks occur most often in March and April, but the age groups of people who become sick have changed in the last decade, Gustafson said.

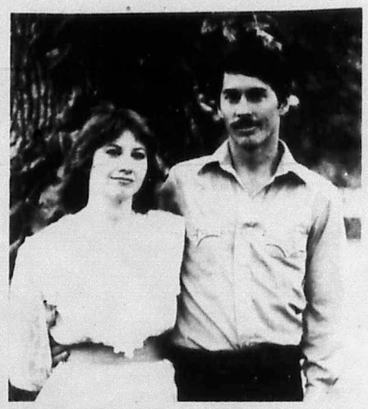

"Before Texas and other states had mandatory vaccination laws, most cases in the 1960s and early 1970s) were reported among younger children. Since schools have required proof of vaccination for measles and other diseases before a child could enroll, we've started seeing more cases in adolescents and young adults. We hope the project in Corpus Christi might explain why that has happened," he said.

Such understanding is vital to the country's goal of wiping out measles within its borders, he said. According to the timetable established by the federal government in 1977, U.S. measles were to be gone by 1982.

The assumption was that measles would be eradicated if 90 percent of the nation's children were vaccinated and those immunization levels could be maintained. But outbreaks of measles on college campuses throughout the country, including Baylor, in Waco, and the University of Houston, kept measles alive and infective.

Vaccination of children for measles, which should be done at or after 15 months of age, will remain a high propriety, said Cynthia Banister of TDH's immunization project. She said the number of measles cases would increase dramatically if vaccination levels were permitted to fall.

A child entering school or enrolling in day care must either show proof of vaccination or have a doctor certify he or she has had measles.

The engagement of Marcia Erfurt of Tarpley and Les Short of Bandera was announced by their parents this week. Marcia is the daughter of Georgia Mae and Arthur Erfurt. Short is the son of Joy and Bill Short. The couple plan a Nov. 2 private ceremony in the Short's home.

Meningitis vaccine protects toddlers

A new vaccine prevents children between the ages ot two and five years from developing meningitis and other diseases caused by Haemophilus influenza, type B bacteria (HIB). This childhood disease vaccine is the first new immunization recommended for use in children over 18 months, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Meningitis is a contagious infection of the membranes that cover the brain and spinal cord.

Nationally, about 10,000 children under the age of five develop meningitis from HIB each year. Most cases of bacterial meningitis are detected early, and recovery is complete, but between 5 and 10 percent of meningitis cases are fatal.

Symptoms of meningitis in a child include fever, intense headache, nausea, and often vomiting. The child's neck is held stiffly, or even arched backwards, and attempts to bend the head forward will be resisted. The child becomes unusually quiet and withdrawn, and turns away or tries to shield the eyes from bright lights.

The bacteria that cause meningitis live in children's mouths and noses. They are spread through droplets, like colds, but most people exposed to the bacteria will not develop the disease.

Only about one child out of every 200 exposed to meningitis during the first five years of life will become sick. The rest develop a natural immunity to the disease, but there is no way of telling before hand who will get sick and who will become immune.

That is why the new vaccine has become so important. It is the first time physicians have been able to gain some control of this condition.

The only serious limitation of the vaccine is that it is ineffective in children under the age of 18 months. New vaccines to protect this age group are being developed. In the meantime, vaccines for all two- to five-year-olds are recommended.

Pinkeye is child's allergy

Conjunctivitis, commonly known as "pinkeye," is an inflammation of the lining of the inside of the eyelids and the white part of the eye. Adults are susceptible to the condition but it is usually a childhood disorder.

Conjunctivitis can be caused by an allergy or by an infection due to bacteria or viruses, according to the Texas Medical Association. An infection often comes from contaminated fingers, towels, handkerchiefs, or wash cloths that touch the eye.

In all cases of infectious conjunctivitis, the white part of the eye turns red and feels gritty. There is then a discharge of yellow pus from the eye which forms a crust overnight. Bacterial infection usually occurs in both eyes and produces a marked discharge, whereas viral infection is usually limited to one eye and causes a slight discharge.

In most cases, conjunctivitis clears within a week, but it is best to seek the help of a physician who can treat the condition with special antibiotic ointments and/or eyedrops. This is especially important if there is pain, decreased vision, or failure to improve by the third day.

Sons of American Revolution donates table to county library

The Lt. Abraham Cantine Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution has donated a table to the Bandera County Library as it's Sesquicentennial project. The table will be used for the microfilm reader in the genealogical section of the library, chapter president John K. Harrell announced.

Harrell organized the Bandera Chapter in 1975. He and his wife donated a two-drawer card catalog file to be used in the genealogical section also.

Mrs. Harrell serves on the board of trustees for the library. She is currently serving as state recording secretary for the Texas Society Daughters of the American Revolution and is a member of the Bandera Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Floyd Portman is a practitioner of the real Reflexology, and he will explain and demonstrate this rather unusual theory of treating the whole body through manipulation of the feet at the regular meeting of the Bandera Hills Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons at the Silver Sage Corral at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Oct. 16.

An AARP chapter of Kerrville has issued an invitation to the Melodiers to present their Stephen Foster program on Nov. 12, so the songsters are reminded to be present for a rehearsal on Friday, Oct. 18 at 5 p.m.

AARP members are part of a national organization which is an active advocate for the middle-aged (beginning at 50) and elderly whose membership now stands at 19.5 million.

Membership in the national organization is required to receive the magazine Modern Maturity, order from its private pharmacy, invest in its money funds and other benefits, membership in a local chapter is an extra bonus that provides fellowship and participation in local affairs.

Other Opportunities

The Rockhounds group will meet on Thursday, Oct. 17, at 7:30 p.m. for a meeting under the leadership of Mary Worley. A collecting trip is more likely now that the heat of summer seems to be past.

The Creative Writing group, meeting on Tuesdays at 1 p.m., shares experiences of joy, suffering, fun, drama, excitement, tragedy, inspiration — the ups and downs of a lifetime. Writing helps put these matters in order.

Requests have come in for the Silver Jones to play for a Halloween Dance, with costumed dancers, masks 'n' everything. June Westmeyer, volunteer chairman of activities, would like to hear from some more folks, if the idea is acceptable. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald M. Williams of Pine Bluff. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Williams of Bandera and Mrs. D. W. Osborne of Pampa.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vick of Memphis, Tenn.

Seven-branched candelabra with blue candles and a centerpiece of white gladioli and daisies and blue carnations provided the setting for the ceremony.

Mrs. Gordon's bridal gown was of taffeta and lace. The lace top, ornamented with seed pearls, was fashioned with a sweetheart neckline and sheer sleeves with bands and cuffs of lace. The taffeta skirt and its chapel train were overlaid with tulle and a flounce of ruffled lace. She wore a veil patterned with lace medallions and attached to a bow of white satin. Pearl and diamond earrings and the string of pearls her mother received from her father on their own wedding day completed her ensemble. She carried a cascade of white tea roses and blue ribbons.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Leeann Doolittle of Colorado Springs, wore a gown of blue tafetta with puffed sleeves set off by flat bows and roses of the same fabric at the shoulders. She carried two white tea roses tied with blue ribbon.

Vincent Harrington of Colorado Springs was best man.

Musicians for the service were David Huffstetler, organist, and Brenda Barber, trumpeter. The processional was the overture to the first movement of George Frederic Handel's Royal Fireworks Music. Jeremiah Clark's Trumpet Voluntary was used for the recessional.

At the reception in the church's fellowship hall, the guests were served from a table centered with gladioli, daisies, and carnations. The two-tiered wedding cake was decorated with wreaths of fresh flowers.

Should I stay?

Should I stay or should I go? It's a question asked by students who are referred to a tutorial class.

Coach Danny Neuse believes tutorial classes are a great idea, if the students will attend the classes. The classes are not guaranteed to help the student pass, but it gives the student the opportunity for extra help and hopefully to pass.

When asked if the students would attend the classes without force, Coach Neuse replied, "No, not really, because the students have been in school all day and will not want to stay after school for more work. Instead, the students will either go home or go to be with their friends."

The classes will be held before and after school for one hour.

The classes are designed to give students help in achieving higher standards prescribed by the recent educational reform law, called H.B. 72.

Parents are asked to encourage their children to attend the classes if they are failing or doing poorly.

Autumn has arrived

Yes, it's that time of year again. Autumn has definately arrived, and so have the cool mornings, heavy sweaters, and chilly football games.

In Texas, autumn is a time when you can never be sure what the weather will be like. One day you may need a sweater and jacket, and the next it's too hot for anything but a short-sleeved shirt. A 90 degree autumn day is not uncommon in Texas.

After the tremendous heat of the summer, the cool weather is refreshing to us all. The trees start to shed their leaves in a rich and vibrant display of color and beauty.

Autumn brings with it the beginning of the holiday season. First with Halloween, next with Thanksgiving, and then the biggest holiday of all — Christmas. Everyone begins to get in a festive mood.

It remains to be seen if this autumn will be a prelude to a winter as cold as last year's. But for the present, the terriffic weather should be enjoyed by everyone.

BHS picked as subject in television documentry

Bandera High School has been choosen by NBC for interviewing on the "No Pass, No Play" rule. NBC chose Bandera High School out of all the cities of Texas because they did not want a large metropolitan school and Bandera has a high ranking football team.

Wednesday, Oct. 2, was the first visit from the crew which consists of Steve Narisi, producer; Bob Abrahamsen, photographer; and Rick Rodriguez, sound technician. Students found themselves being filmed on their way to break, during Spanish class, English class, and athletics. In journalism, instead of filming, they answered questions for those who were interested in their career as a news crew.

The NBC crew will return Thursday and Friday, Oct. 10 and 11, to film the Homecoming pep-rally, bonfire, and the homecoming football game against the Southside Cardinals.

After the filming, and cutting is done, there will be about five minutes on the air. This special will be shown in late October, on the Nightly News at 5:30 p.m., with Tom Brokaw, the film crew said.

Volleyball wins at Southside

Bandera's junior varsity Bulldogs won their first two sets against Southside, winning the game last Thursday, Oct. 3, 15-9 and 15-13.

The girls say that they are ready to win the rest of their games, but they know how hard it will be. They plan on concentrating on the games and taking them more seriously now, than they did at the beginning of the season.

Varsity players were not as happy with their game because of their 13-15 and 1-15 loss.

"We played hard at our last few games, but it wasn't good enough," one player said. They will have a home-court advantage in the next few games.

The junior varsity and varsity girls play at Bandera Thursday, Oct. 10, at 6 p.m. and 7 p.m.

The colorful ritual that is high school football will be magnified at Bulldog Stadium Friday by the pomp, circumstance and excitement of homecoming and intensified by the anxiety and gravity of the opening of district play.

The opponent will be Southside's Cardinals, 4-1 on the season and fresh from a week off, and kickoff is at 7:30 p.m.

The Bulldogs of Bandera, still the favorite to successfully defend their District 27-AAA title, come into the game with a nightmare in Hondo fresh on their minds.

It was not just a bad dream, however, but reality that Hondo's Owls did just about anything they wanted to the Bulldogs Friday.

Everything, that is, but deliver a knockout punch.

Though the Owls moved the ball on the ground pretty much at will, the Bulldogs remained in the game until the bitter end.

Bandera trailed by only five points with 51 seconds remaining when quarterback Jimmy Sides completed his fourth pass of the night at the Bandera 34-yard line.

The completion was good for 17 yards, but the Bulldogs needed 22 to get a first down, and with the shortfall came the end to Bandera's dream of a third straight win over Hondo.

Despite the closeness of the score, however, the realization that that dream was dashed had come over all but the die-hards earlier in the evening.

But for one brief, shining moment the dream and reality appeared to be one.

That brief moment was the game's first minute, and during that span Bandera's defense swatted Hondo's offensive offering like a meat cutter slaps flies, the the 'Dog offense struck with the fury of a Hill Country thunderstorm.

Hondo received the opening kickoff and started in good field position, thanks to a nice return by John Barrios to the Owl 41-yard line.

Quarterback Junie Barrios then flipped a four-yard aerial to Jeff Rochat, but on the next play the Bulldog defense separated Rochat from the ball.

On Bandera's first play, Sides whistled a perfect strike to John Miller who took it at the 20-yard line and sailed into the end zone to the accompaniment of near pandemonium from the Bandera side of the field.

Greg Marshall toed the extra point and the Bulldogs basked in scoreboard lights that showed them in the lead, 7-0, only 44 seconds deep in the game.

Hondo also took only one offensive play to strike back, though its results was not as spectacular as was Bandera's.

Beau Van De Walle took the ball on the first play over Bandera's right tackle for 20 yards, and from that point on Hondo's attack was so predictable and so successful that it became almost monotonous.

John Barrios got 8 yards over his right tackle and 6 over his left tackle and 5 on his right side.

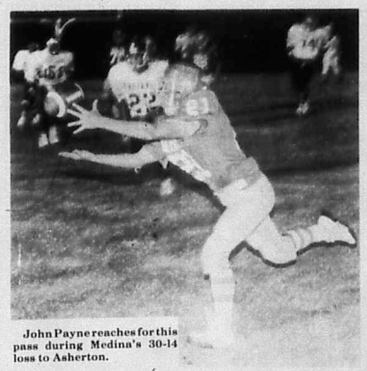

Hondo drove 81 yards and consumed 6 minutes, 42 seconds to get back into the game on a 6-yard pass to Rochat in the corner of the end zone with 4:15 left in the initial quarter.

The Owls took almost the entire second quarter to get what proved to be the winning touchdown, which came on a 12-yard rollout by Junie Barrios with 55 seconds left in the half.

Oh, Bandera took a couple of swings in the second quarter, but it wound up with just 35 yards in the half, except for the 47 it gained en route to its touchdown.

Bandera managed just 68 yards running and passing in the second half, and Compton, running often out of the wishbone, gained 75 yards on 24 carries.

The Bulldog defense bent some in the second half, but did not break, and that effort alone kept Bandera in the game until the final minute.

Medina upended by Asherton

The Asherton Trojans showed the Medina Bobcats that preseason ratings don't mean much as they handed the 'Cats their fourth straight defeat, 30-14, Friday.

The Trojans were rated at the bottom of district 15A before the season opened but have shown a lack of belief in such prognastications.

The tilt with Medina is a good example.

After receiving the opening kickoff, Asherton moved from its own 40 to an apparent touchdown in just three plays. But the score was wiped out by an illegal procedure call.

After a first down and three incomplete passes, the Trojans tried and missed a field goal.

Medina's first possession lasted only three downs and a punt and Asherton again had the ball in good position on its 45.

This time the army marched to success in only seven plays. Humberto Sanchez tossed the pigskin to Sigifredo Sanchez for the TD and kicker Miguel Garcia parted the posts with 5:42 left in the first quarter.

The Bobcat offense, shifted around from last week, showed its confusion and handed the ball back to the Trojans when George Hearne intercepted on the Medina 20.

Six plays later the referee again raised both hands when Rodney Lerma bored in from the 1-yard line! The PAT again was good.

The Trogans allowed Medina only one possession on their next trip to the end zone, and with 5:40 left in the half scored again when Albert Ruiz snared a pass from Sanchez.

Now leading .21-0, Asherton's kick pushed the 'Cats back to their own 20 where they finally began a sustained drive.

Last week's tightend Mark Williams became this week's fullback and began to gain ground through the middle.

Reassigned to halfback, Jeff Walker also plowed for yardage.

When the secondary closed up, Richard Moore and Williams found themselves open for new quarterback Tim Green's passes.

The drive was slowed by a holding call on the 'Cats while a side line face mask tackle went unnoticed. Three plays later when Williams took his screen pass to the 10, the official spotted the ball just 2 inches shy of the necessary first down.

As the third slice of the game was served, Medina again could go no where and Asherton could —and did in 9 nine plays to boost their lead to 27-0 after the PAT was blocked by Scootie Melton.

Jeff Walker fielded the ensuing kick off on his 10 and blasted his way to the 42 before being buried by the Trojans.

Walker and Williams shared the carrying duties until Walker scored from the one with :52 seconds remaining. James Parker toed the PAT.

After the teams swapped ends of the field for the last time, the Bobcats stiffened and held.

Getting the ball back on their own 22, Medina was frustrated when Hearne stepped in to intercept his second Green pass of the night. But someone stomped on Green too much, and the 'Cats got the ball back with a bonus.

From their own 48, Medina now took to the air. Williams and on the ground with Walker. With 3:52 remaining, Williams went in for the score from inches out, and Parker again added the PTA to cut Asherton's lead to 27-14.

An attempted on-side kick failed and the Trojans used up the remaining minutes in a slow drive to Medina's 10. With only seconds to go, Garcia added three more to the Trojans total.

"The Bobcats will next try out their new assignments in Rock Springs on Friday, Oct. 11. Game time 8 p.m. Their next home game will be a homecoming tile Oct. 18 against Center Point's Pirates.

Hays whitewashes Greyhounds, 6-0

Boerne's Greyhounds managed only 86 yards on the ground and through the air Friday night as the 27-AAA team lost their third game of the season.

Hi,
Remember last week, I told you all about the changes within the shop? Well, wait until you see the changes that Brenner has done with color for the season's newest look. The change is absolutely splendid with all the grandness of the southwestern tradition. The colors are as intense in here as an Indian masterpiece, in bright bold turquoise, desert sand & off white. There is a beautiful plaid print that is both bold & fine at the same time in a soft pleated skirt, that hangs smooth and flatteringly. Also a double breasted 2 button jacket out of the plaid. The sleeves are uncuffed & the jacket is basically unconstructed with its big square front pockets, no collar & large lapels. The sleeves are of the dolman distinction and give the jacket a very updated & chic appearance when pushed up. That coupled with the padded shoulders, make it one of the best new looks of the season.
Next there is the solid turquoise pants with gentle pleats set in at the waist band, pocketed on the side for a sleek look & elasticized at the back for a perfect fit. Also in the solid turquoise is a pleated skirt. The skirt itself is an expression of fashion with its yoked panel at the tummy followed by gently folded pleats. The skirt is also elasticized for an all over fit. Next comes tops & they are absolutely transcendent in refinement. One is the solid bold turquoise with 3/4 length cuffed sleeve, simple but breathtaking with its kerchief collar edged in off white. It lays so gracefully, that no accessory is needed. But the most breath-taking is the off white pullover with tapered dolman sleeves. It has the most gorgeous lace V insert in the front that resembles fine old vintage lace and adds so much to the basic top that it sharply discriminates it from casual to exquisite. The fabric is another expression of detail, the hand is so fine it reminds you of heavy, woven silks & is a pleasure to handle. The line is flatly a work of art & like good art, you must experience it.
Come visit us soon, Jane & I are waiting to show you the wonderful, artful gallery of Brenner, can't wait for you to see it.
Always,
Janett

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 13 THURSDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1985

Bandera County Profile/ His breezy and sometimes irreverant humor disguises the fact he is serious, motivated

Years ago Arkey changed his name from 'Juenke.' Some say it was because of his baby blue eyes, but he says it's because he sang blue songs.

By Terry Starnes
Special correspondent

With apologies to John Irving, "The World, According to Arkey Blue" is Bandera and the Silver Dollar Saloon.

"When I get to be an old man," Arkey said, "I want to stand upon that bandstand and be like Ernest Tubbs. Just stand up there and sing as long as I can. That's what he did." He paused, smiled disarmingly, and said, "There'll be some old woman around to take care of me."

On a quiet Tuesday afternoon, while sitting at one of the picnic-type tables in his saloon, Arkey said, "The Silver Dollar has been here forever. I bought it 17 years ago, and I think Columbus brought it over from Spain."

He grinned and tipped his straw Stetson back to expose his boyish light brown hair.

Arkey is handsome, tall and wears tinted glasses to compensate for his nearsightedness. His brevity and sometimes irreverant humor disguises the fact that he is a serious and motivated person. He is nervous, paces a lot, and moves his hands constantly.

"A doctor told me I was in a high risk business. Playing that guitar," he said pointing to his old Martin, "is just not enough exercise." Because of that and to avoid what he calls "a barroom tan," he rides his bicycle four miles a day.

Bandera tourists may not know where city hall is, but they can find their way blindfolded down the tricky wooden stairs to Arkey Blue's Silver Dollar basement saloon below Bo's Rodeo and Ranch Shop.

Chances are they'll have a beer or two or three, and dance to Arkey's "Back Streets of Bandera," "Bandera Queen," "It's So Easy," or "Fast Women, Slow Horses and Wine," until their new boots blister their feet on the sawdust covered floor.

"That's not sawdust," kidded customer and friend Bungy Grant, "That's the furniture from the night before."

Normally clad in boots, a white shirt and levis waisted by an initialled leather belt; Arkey is quick to change to more appropriate attire if somebody mentions "fishing," "hunting," or "golf." "The Dallas Cowboys" and the "Houston Oilers" are his favorite TV entertainment, and he likes to play other nightclubs.

The most facinating place he said the band has played is Houston's River Oaks Country Club. The worst? "I think it was in Blanco." He paused. "No, no, that wasn't the worst," he said and laughed. "The worst was a place below Freer. It was about 15 years ago on a Thursday. There wasn't anybody in the audience, but we played anyway. The owner wouldn't pay us. "In fact," he said unbelievingly, "he called the local police, and they told us just to go on home."

Years ago, because he wrote and sang blue songs, Arkey changed his name from "Juenke" to "Blue." "Nah," said another regular customer, "it's because of his baby blue eyes."

Hilmer and Emily Juenke's son Arkey was born in Gillespie County near Fredericksburg in 1946. His brothers (Glenn and Steve) still live on the family ranch, but their sister (Esther) moved to Stonewall. "Dad is 74 now, but he and mom are still running the ranch, raising hogs and chickens, planting the fields and taking care of the cows," said Arkey affectionately.

"When I was a kid and learning to play the guitar, I remember struggling through 'Your Cheating Heart,' and one day Dad said to me, "Son, the dogs all left the neighborhood again last night."

Arkey chuckled and said, "Every time I did something wrong, Dad sent me out to the fields to hunt rocks."

"I got tired of hunting rocks, so I started playing honky tonks when I was 14."

The day after he graduated from Fredericksburg High School, he and his guitar started working for Frank and Agnes Pearson at their Lost Valley Dude Ranch (now the Lazy Oaks). "The first day I was sent down to the creek to mow grass. I said, 'Mr. Pearson, it's raining.'" "He said, 'mow it anyway.' The mower got so wet and full of mud, that he finally said to me, 'Arkey, it's raining too hard, why don't you take the day off.'"

"Mr. Pearson didn't know much about farming. He owned the land where the race track is now, and it was full of sunflowers. I convinced him to plow the land. I planted oats and I planted oats! And the rains came perfect."

Arkey raised his hands. "We raised so much, we sold some to Chapman Grain. After that, Mr. Pearson would follow me around in his old Cadillac, drinking a beer, saying, 'Arkey, what are we going to plant this year?'"

Arkey loved the Pearsons and Lost Valley. He played guitar and sang with his band, and was a dude wrangler, plumber, cook and dishwasher. "Some of those kids I lifted onto horses," he said, "they come to see me now and they're all grown."

He stayed at the Lost Valley until the Pearsons sold it in 1967. He then played in San Antonio honky tonks for about a year. "Sometimes we'd play for $10 or $15 a night in bad places, I mean bad ones."

He missed Banders, so he came back. He heard the Silver Dollar was for sale, and he remembered playing there when he was a kid.

He raised a beer to his mouth and said, "Bill Hendry and I were at the race track one day, and he said to me, I think this is how he said it, 'Arkey, you ought to buy the Silver Dollar. Hell, as many honky tonks as you've been playing in, you could be a good night club owner.'"

According to Arkey, Hendry was then president of six banks, including Bandera's First National Bank. "He loaned me the money on a handshake. I signed a note later and paid it off in 15 years."

Arkey bought the Silver Dollar in 1968 and also worked for the Highway Department for five years to make ends meet. "Mr. Hendry also loaned me a bookkeeper who stayed for about a year until I learned the damn business. Then I hired Sharon."

Blonde, sharp-witted Sharon Cabbiness has worked for Arkey since May 1969. "She is responsible for my success," said Arkey. Sharon's blue eyes twinkled as she countered with, "I'd say that's an accurate statement." She then said seriously, "I really couldn't work for anybody else. Arkey makes me feel important."

This embarassed Arkey, so he stuck a dollar bill between the bottom of his nose and his upper lip and asked Sharon to get him another beer. She took the bill and left.

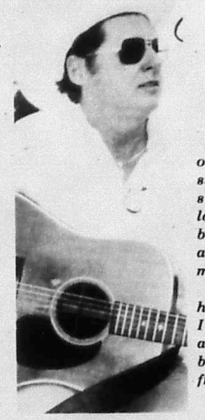

Not so embarrasing to Arkey is his status as an established and reputable country and western entertainer. He wrote and sang the lead song "Misty Hours of Daylight" for the movie "Race With the Devil," which starred Loretta Swit and Warren Oates. Some fight scenes were shot around the Silver Dollar pool table.

"Loretta and I played pool every day she was here." Arkey shook his head. "She's a hell of a woman."

When asked if he would like to be a major recording star, he said, "Oh, Lord, I don't have enough money to promote myself. Besides, I like what I'm doing."

Arkey's pretty 20-year-old

(See ARKEY, Page 2B.)

"When I get to be an old man, I want to stand up on that bandstand... and sing as long as I can. There'll be some old woman around to take care of me.

daughter Kitty Ann (named after Kitty Wells) shares his love of music. She plays the guitar, has written some songs, and works with her father whenever she can. His older son, Arkey Jr., works in construction with his father-in-law in Floresville.

Arkey has written more songs than he can remember. "I can't write a song unless I've lived it," he said. "It's usually about two in the morning when they hit me." He has sung with the late Ernest Tubbs (his favorite singer), has been hog hunting with Hank Williams Jr., and has played the guitar for ex-Gov. Briscoe. Arkey and Eddy Arnold have the same Houston agent.

"Sidney was more famous than me," Arkey said solemnly. Sidney was Arkey's german-shepherd dog. "People would come in and walk right past me just to say hello to Sidney. Sidney would get right on that bandstand with me," he said.

"I played the guitar and he smiled."

Arkey stood up to his full six foot-plus height, paced a bit, and said, "Somebody shot Sidney last year. I sure do miss that dog." He sat down and said sadly, "He thought he was part of the entertainment, and he was."

Not quite as famous, but equally loved is a sweet black and gray striped cat Arkey adopted recently named "Cat." She holds court (until winter comes) in front of the saloon's fireplace with her five little black kittens.

Autographed pictures of prominent western singers including George Jones, Ernest Tubbs, Merle Haggard and Elvis Presley share Silver Dollar wall space with voluminous western memorabilia.

Little or no room separates these photographs from pictures of John Wayne, deer and hog heads, naked ladies, an original Gene Autry guitar, and head of a bull called "Hi Lonesome," antiques, a picture of Tommy Thompson (owner of Central Texas Hunts) treed by a wild hog, every known neon beer sign, and several pictures of Sidney.

The saloon is comfortable and dark. Arkey is at home.

He stroked his old Martin affectionately and said, "If I didn't have this nightclub," he said, "I would be out working on a dude ranch somewhere, and playing the Silver Dollar and other nightclubs on weekends."

Someday Arkey wants to write a book about his experiences. He doesn't have a title, but maybe John Irving would come up with one.

Sharon interrupted Arkey to bring him his beer and show him a manuscript of a novel called "Prisoner of Love," in which Arkey Blue and the Silver Dollar are mentioned. It sounds like a title to one of his songs.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Bill and Audrey Burge of Corpus Christi came up to their river-front home on Thursday for a week of rest and relaxation. On Friday, Bill's brother Ray and wife Marine of Houston came up to spend the weekend. They all took in the Bandera County Fair and said they had a good time.

Nola Bledsoe of Wharton's Dock came away from the Bandera Fair with four ribbons, including first place in still art portraits, first and second in ceramics and a grand prize ribbon.

Buddy and his wife Mary Walker from Houston are here for a few days at their riverfront home visiting friends and getting caught up on all community activities, which they support even if they are not here.

There were few empty seats at the Walker Memorial Chapel Sunday when Cliff Maston presented the special music for the day and a fellowship dinner followed morning worship.

Persistant questioning of Mary Wells reveals the recent fishing trip she and John took to Aransas Pass with Bill and Margeret Holmes must have ocurred under some lucky phase of the moon.

Fishing got better every night they were there, she says. The night before they left, Bill's new fishing gear got a real workout, as he was catching trout two at a time. They returned to their apartment at midnight facing the tiresome task of cleaning 68 fish, including gaff top, trout, redfish and snapper.

The amazing part was these fish were caught off a public peir with no loss of tackle, unlike a previous trip with Phil and Nola Bledsoe. That trip, however, rewarded Phil with a monster red-fish caught off the South Jetty. So far Phil is champion for size and Bill is champ for quantity. Mary says its her turn next.

The work day at the Walker Memorial Chapel was a big success with much of the corner lot being cleared and curtains and lighting installed in the Sunday school building.

On Thursday, Oct. 3, Betty Ciarlo hosted a get-together in honor of Hazel Beavers. Twenty friends attended this affair and all seemed to enjoy themselves. Refreshments were served and Hazel was caught up on all the happenings of the area in her absence.

Fire training for the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department at Wharton's Dock has been changed from the first and third Mondays of each month to the first and third Thursdays. The next training session will be on Thursday, Oct. 17 at 7 p.m. at the fire house.

In case of fire in our area call The Copper Lantern, 796-4144, or Bud Ciarlo at 796-3225. The radio communication with the Sheriff's Department for fires is not working at this time.

Roy and Wanda Leach were up at their riverfront home wintering it as they will be spending most of their time on their hunting lease.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Visitors at the Tarpley Church Sunday morning included Dollie Karr from Pipe Creek and Linda Karr from Kingsville, a student at Texas A & I University, who spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Karr.

Other church visitors were La Rue Harp and her son Eric and Tim Fritsche of Bandera. Tim was visiting Billy Morris Saturday and Sunday. Billy was the pianist Sunday morning.

Communion will be observed at the Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday, Oct. 13, and at noon there will be a covered dish dinner.

Sunday School will be at 10 a.m. and church service at 11 a.m. Everyone is welcome.

Hondo visitors

Mr. and Mrs. Elzie Dean were in Hondo Friday morning. While there they saw Ethel Mae Maxey, who lives in Hondo, and Ethel Mae sent her best wishes to everyone. She said she misses us.

We extend heartfelt sympathy to her on the deaths of both her mother's sisters, Leora and Gladys of San Antonio. Only about four days separated their recent deaths.

Victor Purvis enjoyed going to church service Sunday at the Walker Memorial Chapel in Wharton's Dock. He reports 48 were present and a delicious dinner was served at noon.

Moved away

David and Renea Russell and their two children, Dawn and Robert, have left the Lively Ranch and moved to Pleasanton. David will be working on the Jorman Ranch near Poteet.

Leon and Lillian Ray have moved to the Twin Lakes area on the Kerrville highway near Bandera. Lillian is working at the Silver Sage Corral.

The Koontz family have moved to Devine after the Koontz Ranch was sold.

Mrs. Everett Koontz and her son and family, Stephen and Joyce and son Sterling have lived on the Koontz Ranch for many years and will be missed by neighbors and friends.

Getting enough sleep important to health

Health tips

Without sleep, most people become cranky and have difficulty performing their daily tasks. According to the Texas Medical Association, insomnia ranks third, just behind the common cold and headaches, as a reason people seek medical help.

While the "average" person sleeps between seven and eight hours a night, sleep requirements differ widely. A less-than-average amount of sleep should not be harmful as long as the person remains alert and energetic during waking hours.

A person with a sleep problem that lasts for more than a few weeks and interferes with daytime functioning, should obtain professional help.

For more people who have trouble falling asleep, however, these suggestions can be helpful:

—Establish a relaxing evening routine, which might include a warm bath, reading a chapter of a light book, or working on a relaxing hobby.

—Get some exercise early in the day. Healthy bodies seem to sleep better than unfit ones.

—Make sure your bed is comfortable and that you are neither too hot to too cold.

—Avoid drugs that affect the nervous system: caffeine, nicotine, alcohol, nasal decongestants, cough suppresants, minor tranquilizers.

—A glass of milk before bed can promote relaxation, since milk contains an amino acid that has a sedative effect.

—If you still cannot fall asleep, get out of bed and engage in some activity that you consider relaxing, even boring. This may help you become sleepy.

Kendall County eyes rollback

Sabinal Canyon

Lillie Thompson — 966-3493

Velma Neff became ill after Franklin Neff came home from Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville. Bertha and Ralph Martin, a sister and husband of Franklins, have been helping them out until their daughter Edna (Neff) Freeman came from Follett on Monday.

Edna returned home on Friday and Eva Hollis, another daughter, came from Balko, Okla., on Saturday. Both of the Neffs are recuperating nicely, relatives report.

Mr. and Mrs. Shawn Neff of Austin came in to help their grandparents over the weekend.

Bernice Richey, Thelma Smith and her daughter La Vera, and husband Ward, spent three days visiting their sister and aunt Carmen, and Nick Schryver.

Another niece Jo Ellen and Nick Smith and Jenny came from Big Foot for a big family dinner.

Texas City visitor

Hub and I enjoyed a visit with our grandson Randy Harp, Thursday until Sunday. Friday my nephew and wife Arnold Finck and Gladis of Boerne came by for a visit en route home after delivering two cattle guards in Leakey.

Punk Bomer is home for a week to visit his parents and recuperate from a bruised kidney. He is a jockey, riding race horses in Kentucky and Ohio.

New arrival

The baby son born to Duane and Tracey Hillis has been named Robert Chad. He arrived Sept. 24 in Kerrville hospital.

Kerrville visitors

Joe and Mable Haynes were Saturday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Neff and Hub and Lillie Thompson.

Attends wedding

Jim Traylor and Janice Templeton were married Saturday, Sept. 28 at a Methodist church in Austin.

His mother Nita Hawkins of Vanderpool drove in the blinding rain storm to attend her son's wedding.

A lawsuit seeking a rollback in Kendall County assessed property values to 1979 levels has been filed in 216th District Court this week by a group of 87 area property owners, the Boerne Star reports.

Attorney Robert L. Taylor, who filed the suit on behalf of plaintiffs, said more than 80 percent of the 87 plaintiffs are members of the Kendall County Taxpayers League, an organization formed recently to serve as a watchdog over property appraisals and taxing entities.

They allege that written notices of increased appraisal values were not mailed to property owners on time and that officials conspired to prevent property owners "to have a fair hearing by a free and untrammeled review board."

It said officials resorted to schemes, tricks, and devices to prevent plaintiffs from fulfilling their administrative remedies as a prerequisite to a hearing in a court of law.

Taylor said the suit seeks a rollback in values to the 1979 level because 1979 was the last year the tax roll was compiled without the services of the Southwestern Appraisal Company, Inc.

Tax rollback eyed in Uvalde County

Uvalde county commissioners face a threatened referendum to roll back property taxes after setting a 31.4 cent tax rate.

A petition is being circulated demanding a rollback, which are permitted when a taxing unit adopts a rate more than 8 percent greater than the "effective tax rate" of a year earlier.

A petition signed by at least 10 percent of the qualified voters will require a county-wide referendum which, if successful, would roll back the county's tax rate to 22.13 cents per $100 valuation.

One commissioner, Gilbert Torres, said he will propose the county change its tax rate to get under the 8 percent increase. He voted against the new rate on Sept. 9.

School cracked

A new school administration building in Boerne is safe for occupation despite a drainage problem which has caused cracks in interior and exterior walls, a consulting engineer told Boerne school board members Tuesday.

The engineer said the cracks are due to water collecting under the slab, which was laid in 1971.

The school district will probably have to pay for correcting the drainage, the engineer said.

New jail?

Plans for a new county jail in Pearsall are in the making because of the local jail's recent failure to meet minimum requirements of the Texas Commission on Jail Standards, the Leader reports.

Constables to work

County constables in Llano County officially agreed last week to put in the hours needed to help eliminate the sheriff's department overtime costs, which topped $26,000 for only five months this past budget year.

Although they are elected officials and thus do not come under the authority of the sheriff, the four did agree to allow him to schedule them for the times the deputies are not on duty, the Marble Falls Highlander reported.

"We looked at the sheriff's schedule and we don't see anything unreasonable," said Constable Bob Cowart. "You'll get your money's worth," Constables Bill McLean, Joe Simpson Jr. and Tom Hall said.

COOKIN CAJUN KEEPS THE POT HOT and gives refills at no extra charge! Jim Schwartzenburg used old, authentic recipes from the heart of Cajun country and his grandmother's kitchen.

Cookin Cajun Restaurant

Why go to the Mardi Gras for that delicious Cajun food when we have it in Kerrville?

Cookin Cajun Restaurant is the only restaurant in Kerrville that specializes in authentic Cajun cuisine. Gumbeaux, Creole, and Boudain are the menu. If you've never tried it, you are missing a real treat!

Jim Schwartzenburg was born in a little town called Ville Platte, La., and raised in Texas from the age of 8. His grandmother spoke only French and thus Jim definitely became Cajun.

Jim has a simple menu at the Cookin Cajun Restaurant. There are two gumbo entrees. One is the combination, which is chicken combined with delicious smoked beef sausage. The other gumbo is made with fresh Gulf Coast shrimp. Both are served in the traditional Cajun style with a bowl of rice and crackers.

Jim will not let anyone leave until they are full! Jim will bring a refill at no extra charge. Where else but at home could you expect refills?

At Cookin Cajun you have a choice of chicken or shrimp Creole. With the Creole comes a fresh tossed salad with your choice of dressings and French bread. If you have never tried real Cajun Creole, you have missed something special!

Boudain is a special Cajun link sausage that is absolutely scrumtious! Jim makes it fresh from a family recipe with pre-cooked pork, rice, vegetables and seasonings. It is stuffed into large casings and served as links. You receive two enormous links, a fresh tossed salad with choice of dressings and crackers.

Beverages are a variety of sodas, brewed iced tea, Cajun coffee delivered from Baton Rouge, La., and draft beer.

Orders to take out are not available. Jim prefers you come as you are, relax and enjoy your hot meal. Jim's hospitality and service is great.

For lunch on Tuesday through Friday, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m., Jim will take $1 off the dinner price. No less is served, but ½ orders are available.

Cookin Cajun Restaurant is easily located at 1600-1 Broadway St. with hours from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesday through Saturday and 11 a.m. to 8 p.m. on Sunday.

Jim wishes to sincerely thank the customers who have eaten at the Cookin Cajun Restaurant and the compliments that have sent your friends to try the Cajun cuisine.

Cheese/ Italian varieties are now being made in U.S.A.

"Did you know that some Italian cheeses are stretched while they are being made? That's why they string when you melt them," advises home economist Gail Corley. Others, like Parmesan, are very hard and especially suited to grating. Some Italian cheeses were developed as a by-product when other cheeses were being made.

Mozzarella, Provolone and Scamorze all go through a curd-stretching process to get their characteristic flavor and texture. The curd is kneaded or stretched before it is formed into cheeses. Associated Milk Producers advise Mozzarella is a semi-soft cheese, mild in flavor because it is aged for only a short time. String cheese is a form of Mozzarella in which the stretched curds have not been formed into blocks.

"The name Provolone comes from a Neapolitan word that describes its ball shape," says Corley. "Though it is also available in sausage shapes." Because Provolone cheeses are hung and smoked, they may be sold tied with a cord. The sharp, smoky flavor goes well with ham or with fruits such as grapes and apples.

Scamorze is another of the stretched-curd cheeses and is sometimes known as "pizza cheese." It is molded in small balls which are often tied and sold in pairs.

The familiar Parmesan cheese was originally made in copper vats or kettles. Its hard texture and strong flavor make it ideal for grating and adding to salads, sauces and pizza. In Italy a similar cheese is called "grana," meaning that it is granular and easy to grate. Asiago and Romano are other hard, grating cheeses which originated in Italy.

Ricotta cheese is a fresh, cottage cheese-like product made of cheese whey and whole or skim milk. It was first made in Italy in order to use the whey resulting from the manufacture of cheeses like Provolone. Ricotta is smoother than cottage cheese and is perfect with pasta but can also be used in desserts.

Another member of the Italian family is Gorgonzola, a blue-green veined cheese, she says. This cheese, like Blue, was originally cured in caves. It is usually made in a flat cylinder, up to 11 inches in diameter and 8 inches thick, and wrapped in foil for sale.

All these Italian-style cheeses are now made in the United States. Their ready availability has been a factor in the popularity and growth of Italian cooking.

Breakfast stacked on a muffin may entice meal-skippers

"Breakfast skippers beware! Skipping breakfast can lead to problems at work or at school," says Associated Milk Producer home economist Gail Corley. "Studies have shown that breakfast skippers are less attentive, more easily distracted, and more irritable than those who eat a nutritious breakfast. If you have school age children, don't send them to school without breakfast." "Instead," she suggests, "entice them with unusual breakfast foods. Contrary to popular opinion, breakfast does not have to include traditional breakfast foods."

There's no rule against a peanut butter sandwich or even a piece of chicken leftover from last night's evening meal, she advises. The trick to a balanced breakfast and a balanced diet is to analyze food choices with the basic Four Food Groups.

The Four Food Groups include:

Milk Group...two servings of milk or milk products for adults and three for children (four for pregnant or lactating women).

Meat Group...two servings of meats, nuts, dried peas/beans, egg & fish.

Fruit/Vegetable Group...four servings, including at least one major source of Vitamin C.

Grain Group...four servings of whole grain, fortified, or enriched grain products.

Some other guidelines for a good breakfast: about ¼ of your daily protein intake should be consumed at breakfast and breakfast should include at least one source of Vitamin C such as orange, grapefruit or tomato, the fruit or its juice, she says.

Here's a new idea for breakfast, she suggests. Even traditional breakfast skippers won't want to miss out on an open-face sandwich that's this good, and so easy to eat.

Top buttered English muffin halves with Canadian-style bacon, a pineapple slice and Swiss cheese. Broil until the cheese melts. It's a sure-fire recipe for putting speed and early energy into a busy day.

BREAKFAST OPEN-FACE SANDWICHES

8 slices Canadian-style bacon, ¼ inch thick
4 English muffins, split, toasted, buttered
2 cans (8-oz. each) sliced pineapple, drained
8 slices (8-oz.) Swiss cheese

Pan broil Canadian-style bacon on both sides. Top muffin halves with bacon. Top each with 1 slice of pineapple and 1 slice of cheese. Broil sandwiches until cheese melts.

Entice breakfast skippers with unusual breakfast open-face sandwiches.

Cheese is excellent for breakfast.

Mystery surrounds area man's murder

KSAT TV camerawoman and reporter Mary Walker talk to Medina County Sheriff Alvin Santleben outside the plush $200,000 lake front home of murder victim John Valys on the spillway side of the Medina Lake.

Staff Writer

The body identified as the remains of John Valys, 41, was shot twice, dumped and set afire atop a pile of ignited charcoal briquettes.

Law enforcement officials from three counties and Texas Rangers are still looking for clues to answer why a Medina Lake man was murdered, and his body dumped and set afire atop a pile of ignited charcoal briquettes along a roadside in Live Oak County.

The body of John Valys was found Aug. 22 by a passing motorist on the shoulder of Farm Road 2049 about eight miles from Three Rivers. Live Oak County Sheriff Larry Busby said last week the body was identified as the 41-year-old Medina Lake man after fingerprints and dental records were confirmed to be Valys' by the Nueces County medical examiner's office and the FBI in Washington, D.C.

On Friday, Medina County Sheriff Alvin Santleben, Texas Ranger Bob Steel, and other officers from the Medina County Sheriff's department and district attorney's office met at the plush $200,000 home where Valys lived alone.

The home, located on the spillway side of the lake, high on a bluff had only recently been built. Santleben had ordered the home sealed off on Thursday.

The murdered man's brother, Anthony Valys, met with the investigators and went through the house with them looking for any clue that would help solve the mystery surrounding the murder.

Valys was last seen by neighbors on Aug. 5. He was known as a quiet man and was well liked by his neighbors. He was reported missing Sept. 23 to Medina County authorities after his 1984 Mercedes Benz automobile registered to Lab-Tex Nuclear, Inc. was reported to the company as being in the short term parking lot at the San Antonio International airport for a month.

Authorities learned from a parking stub that the car was parked at the airport on Aug. 23, the day after the victim's burning body was discovered. Busby reported the man must have been shot at another location, as there was nothing to indicate a struggle or tire marks on the side of the road.

Outside the man's home on Friday, Ranger Steel told the Bulletin, "I honestly don't know anything. I don't believe anything happened here."

Sheriff Santleben told reporters, "We have no clues. It's still under investigation."

The victim's brother told a reporter his brother was planning to take time off from work and look for a sailboat. "He was planning to take a two week vacation," his brother said. But, the brother said he didn't believe he left home for the last time intending to be gone two weeks. His thyroid medication was still on the kitchen counter. His brother said he felt sure the murdered man would have taken it with him as he took it daily.

Valys was employed by Lab-Tex Nuclear to service and repair nuclear medical equipment. He was trained to handle atomic materials used in radiation equipment in clinics and hospitals.

Results of an autopsy conducted the day after the body was found in August indicated he had been shot twice in the left rib cage with the bullets exiting the right side, Busby said.

After another meeting with law enforcement officials, Santleben told the Bulletin on Wednesday, "there's still nothing at this time."

Two men sought in hotel stabbing

Warrants have been issued for two men suspected in the stabbing of Randy Bass, 24, in his hotel room at the Frontier Hotel in Bandera Tuesday morning.

The suspects are believed by police to have left the area in a stolen pickup.

Warrants have been issued for Randy Carver, alias David Merle Carter, 27, and Walter I. Vance, alias Danny Ray Vance, 30, believed to have been living in Bandera.

Chief Walter Welch of the Bandera Police Department told the Bulletin Bass was stabbed twice in the arm in his rented hotel room around 2:30 a.m. Tuesday, according to information gathered from neighbors in the hotel who were awakened by loud arguing sounds coming from Bass' room. The neighbors said they were afraid to go to Bass's aid, he said.

It was after 3:30 a.m. before the sheriff's department dispatcher was notified of the disturbance, by a hotel employee, and the Bandera EMS was dispatched to the scene.

City officer Joe Rodriguez was answering a call that was received 15 minutes earlier for a disturbance at the nearby Langford Apartments. The same two suspects reportedly pulled knives on some girls at the Langford Apartments, Welch said.

The victim remained in Sid Peterson Hospital Wednesday where hospital officials reported he was in stable condition after the stab wounds were sutured. One wound appeared to have gone into the muscle, leaving about a two inch gash in the back of the arm, and the other wound was a smaller slash lower on the arm, a spokesman for the EMS said. Arriving at the emergency room, Bass was treated for shock.

"I haven't had a chance to talk to the victim yet," Chief Welch told the Bulletin. "He was in a weakened condition, and I don't know if the doctors will let us talk to him."

Welch said although the Purple Cow Saloon downstairs was closed, he was told the suspects had been arguing with the victim earlier in the evening in the saloon.

The hotel manager told the Bulletin a woman in a room next to Bass's came to her and said she could hear loud noises like a fight from Bass's room, and the manager called the sheriff's department. "At that time I didn't know he had been hurt," the manager said. "I went in to check and was in the room when the cops arrived," she said.

Russell Fetter reported a Chevrolet Luv pickup which he had use of with the owner's permission was stolen, Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin. The suspects are believed to have fled in the vehicle. Mingo said he did not know the name of the owner of the vehicle.

Bandera City Council bans fireworks, some weapons

By Nick Johnson
Editor

Bandera City Council Monday outlawed the possession or selling of certain weapons and banned the use and sale of fireworks.

The council delayed consideration of another ordinance that would outlaw the discharge of weapons, including pellet guns, within the city limits.

Council member Raymond Adamietz said he wanted pellet guns stricken from a proposed ordinance prohibiting the discharge of firearms inside the city limits and the council wanted to also establish a permit system under which the city could permit the discharge of blanks during special events such as the stunt team competition scheduled here Saturday.

So that ordinance went back to the drawing board and city attorney Terry Mason said he would make the necessary revisions in time for the council to consider the ordinance again on Nov. 11.

In other action Monday, the council scheduled a public hearing to consider the annexation of 5.7 acres of land belonging to Thelma Davenport, authorized one out-of-the-city water hookup but delayed authorizing another, and set the 1986 tax rate at 22.79 cents per $100 valuation.

The council also decided to install four-way stop signs at four additional intersections on Pecan Street and one on Cypress Street at the request of Euna Wagner, a member of the city's Planning and Zoning Commission but who said she spoke Monday primarily as a parent and neighbor concerned with safety of children at the nearby elementary school.

The council authorized four-way stop signs on Pecan Street at 4th, 6th, 8th, and 11th streets and at Cypress and 7th streets. The Cypress Street sign was added to the list by council member Dianne Tobin, who lives nearby. She said she had suggested one at the location before she became a member of the council.

The council authorized a water connection for a lot in Indian Waters subdivision owned by Charles Georg but tabled consideration of a connection for Calvin Wedgeworth off 15th Street between Cherry and Oak streets.

Wedgeworth said he wanted the water connection to serve a mobile home he plans to put on the site. George said he plans to sell his lot in Indian Waters and didn't say what kind of structure the buyer had in mind. Mobile homes are prohibited by deed restriction in Indian Waters, according to Margaret Callahan.

Water mains currently exist in the streets immediately in front of both properties, according to the city's Melvin King.

The tax rate is actually down some from the 26.5 cent 1984 rate, but because valuations in the city are up 24.6 percent over last year, most city taxpayers will be paying more taxes in 1986 than they did this year.

The council scheduled public hearings for 7 p.m. on Oct. 28 and Nov. 11 to consider a request from Thelma Davenport to annex 5.7 acres on 15th Street between Hackberry and Cedar streets. It is contiguous to the current city limits and Davenport said she is the only resident that lives on the property.

The council Monday also authorized purchase of less than $650 in materials for the construction of a pump house and made clear that the effective date of the 3 percent motel tax enacted last month was Oct. 1, not Jan. 1 as had been reported in this newspaper.

It is also agreed to purchase liability insurance protecting law enforcement personnel to the tune of $500,000 for each person and $1 million for each incident.

The premium on the policy from Joe McMullen Insurance is $1,500 and it replaces coverage the city had been receiving from a policy with the Sheriff's Association.

Mayor Bob Cowan explained that the ordinances on fireworks and weapons were drafted at the request of Police Chief Walter Welch and were designed to give the city the means to deal with the matters in Municipal Court.

City attorney Mason said the language in the proposed ordinances mimicked state laws that already exist. "They could be enforced by the county, but aren't," said Mayor Cowan.

The ordinance regulating the possession and selling of certain weapons was designed primarily to prohibit the sale of so-called "stars" that may be thrown Frisbee fashion in such a way that they become lethal.

But the ordinance also prohibits the carrying of a handgun, knife or club or the possession or selling of such items as machine

Alkek still among richest but size of fortune down

Albert S. Alkek, 74, of Victoria and Bandera is included in the Forbes Magazine's 1985 list of the 400 richest Americans, one of only 44 Texans on the list.

According to the magazine, Alkek, who is in the oil business, shares an estimated fortune of $375 million.

In the same Forbes list of 1985, Alkek's net worth was estimated at $550 million, indicating a loss of $75 million in the past three years.

According to Forbes, Alkek started his business by borrowing $500 from his rancher father to buy his back in some-up-and-coming oil fields. The deal will pave in 1939, when he met "business partner" Henry R. Beckham, founder of Shamrock Oil in 1947.

They merged and became Shamrock-Alkek in 1948 and continued to be partners until Alkek bought out Beckham in 1959.

Today, Alkek is known as "a major Wall Street Player," according to Forbes.

A view
from a hill.
By Tom Denyer

A while back I spoke to a UTSA professor who specializes in urban geography, and who also plans to become a Bandera County residents sometime in the next few years.

Jeff Roet grew up in New York City, went to graduate school at Northwestern University near Chicago, and moved down for the San Antonio job. Recently, he and his wife bought eight acres just off State Highway 16 and just inside the county line. When finances permit they will build a home and move here.

Jeff seems, then, someone with a unique perspective on this county and its prospects, since he combines the academic view with the personally interested. And without denying his individuality, it can be said that he may be typical of many potential newcomers to the county.

Why Bandera County, I asked him.

Lower land prices come first. Not that land here is that cheap, relative to some "true" value, as we all know. But relative to prices on "acreage plots" closer to San Antonio, you can buy several times as much land here as you can closer to San Antonio or closer to I-10.

For Jeff a lower price and more land are worth the trade-off for the commuting distance and a lack of basic services, because he values privacy and a comparatively unspoiled environment.

As he puts it, development closer to San Antonio is "an uncertain landscape." It is changing constantly so the homeowner does not know who or what will be happening next door — tomorrow, let alone in the next few years.

Out here, on an eight-acre ridge with a thirty-mile view, he can be his "own neighborhood."

I know, I should have warned him that it does not necessarily work out that way. But accepting his reasoning so far, I asked the obvious question.

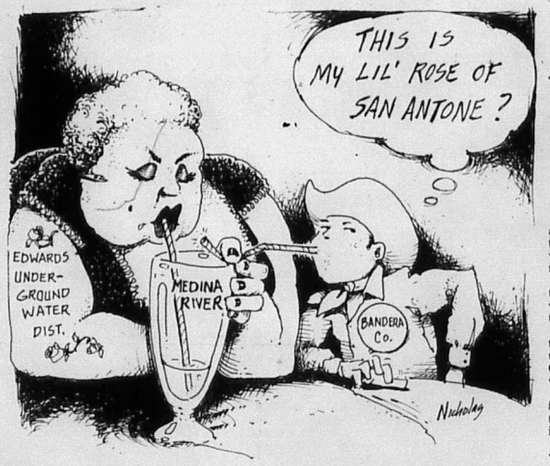

"If you feel that way, don't you think a lot of other people will too? After all, you're not the only two-income family with decent jobs in far northwest San Antonio."

But he was ahead of me, and patiently explained a few simple points about urban growth.

That kind of growth depends on the decisions made by the developers of large-scale, middle-class housing projects. Those very profitable, single-family, suburban homes are just the start. They are typically followed by commercial development, multi-family housing, and serving firms.

As density rises, the developer looks for greener pastures and cheaper land values a little farther up the road.

Next week, we will look at Jeff's reasons for why no developer of such projects is likely to be looking at Bandera County any time soon.

Primary excitement to revolve around races for GOP posts

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Unlike any other primary election in Texas politics, the top of the Democratic slate is set and the hottest action will be in the Republican nominations.

With the February filing deadline for public office only a few short weeks away, gubernatorial hopefuls are gearing up for what promises to be one of the hardest-fought '86 campaigns in the nation.

Democratic Gov. Mark White last week returned empty-handed from Japan, to learn a third GOP candidate had thrown his hat in the ring against him, and all three were maintaining Republican harmony at his expense.

White had gone to Tokyo to talk Toyota Motor Co. officials into building their new 2,000-new jobs plant in Texas. While Toyota didn't commit, the U.S. ambassador told White he was the 44th governor to visit.

Hance Announces

On the day White left for Japan, former Congressman Kent Hance announced for White's job and launched a four-day campaign swing around the state. Hance blasted White on a number of points, but mainly for spending too much money.

Hance faulted White for not using his veto power to curb "unchecked" growth in state government.

When asked if his switch last year from Democrat to GOP hurt his chances, he noted that 500 Dallas County Republicans were on his steering committee and he had heavy endorsements in Houston and San Antonio.

Junior-Sized LBJ

With perhaps the hottest-ever Republican primary just ahead in May, many Republicans want to prevent the infighting from becoming bitter and fragmenting the party against White.

So, the three who want to take White's job, Hance, former Gov. Bill Clements, and Congressman Tom Loeffler, are leveling their big guns at him, not each other. Some observers are wondering how long it will last.

A few days ago, Clements told an audience that White saw himself as a "junior-sized LBJ" who is positioning himself for the VP slot with Ted Kennedy as president in 1988.

The liberal Massachusetts senator is often waved as a red flag to stir up Texas conservatives, but last week Kennedy visited Austin and Houston for fundraisers in his behalf.

To help celebrate Texas' 150th birthday next year, the state asked 40 large Texas corporations to contribute $400,000, or $16 million total, but the donations received are much smaller.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

Propositions 1 and 2 on the general election ballot Nov. 5 are for constitutional amendments that will implement a so-called Texas Water Plan.

It authorizes the issuance of an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds to finance projects for water conservation and development, flood control and agricultural water conservation.

Voters have already approved the issuance of $600 million of these bonds and they have financed the construction of a variety of reservoirs in the state and many regional water and wastewater systems.

We have already seen what we believe is the opening skirmishes of a water war that will pit community against community in the future.

The Edwards Underground Water District's attempt to grab the rights to all unappropriated water rights in Bandera County is only one of the battles in that war.

Passage of Amendments 1 and 2 on Nov. 5 will help cool that war by helping meet the water needs of the state's rapidly growing population.

State participation in financing reservoirs and regional water and wastewater systems will, for example, encourage the construction of more efficient regional water treatment plants.

The bonds will encourage the construction of many needed water supply and wastewater treatment systems.

If a small reservoir or several additional wells is the solution to Bandera's long-range water needs, then Amendment No. 1 may be important as a way to finance them. Certainly, this small community would be hard put to finance such a project through the commercial bond market.

A bond insurance program contained in the amendment is a innovative means to reduce costs to local governments of financing such water projects.

the pledge of the state's credit to guarantee bonds will result in lower interest rates for local groups.

Amendment No. 2 would authorize general obligation bonds to provide funds for low-interest loans to farmers for purchasing water-conserving irrigation equipment.

I would think that this money would be available to the members of the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District to plug the leaks in its antiquated water delivery system that the state says is responsible for the wastage of significant amounts of Medina Lake water.

Irrigation equipment is now available that can save more than 20 percent of the water now being used to grow crops in this state.

And while the new equipment is guaranteed to save water, it may also save the farmer.

Suspect jailed in Bandera home burglary

David Lee Hilborn, 18, of Pipe Creek was released from Bandera County jail on Oct. 15 after posting a $10,000 bond. He was arrested Oct. 7 by deputy Jimmy DeLeedernier for burglarizing a home at 14th Street and Hackberry in Bandera.

Chief deputy Ken Mingo reported the home belonged to a San Antonio police officer. While in the home, Hilborn made some long distance phone calls.

Terry Ray Poggemiller, 42, of Bandera was arrested at Mansfield Park on Oct. 6 by Deputy Bob Hines. He was fined $225 on disorderly conduct charges. He was released the following day after paying the fine.

Gary James Gilliland, 37, of Houston was arrested Oct. 7 by city police officer Joe Rodriquez on a felony charge of "driving while intoxicated." Mingo said he had two previous convictions on DWI. Judge Bonnie Towers set bond at $1500 and he was released the same day.

Todd Howard of Bandera was indicted by the September grand jury on a burglary charge stemming from a break-in at Busbee's Barbecue earlier in September. He is free on a carry over bond of $5000.

Edwardo Tamayo, 48, of San Antonio was arrested Oct. 12 by State Trooper Nolen Metz on charges of DWI. Peace Justice Towers set bond at $800 and he was released the following day after posting bond and paying $176 in outstanding traffic fines.

Steve Wayne Doschka, 29, of Bandera was arrested Oct. 11 by city officer Joe Rodriguez on public intoxication and disorderly conduct charges. Judge Towers assessed $135 fines on each charge and he remained in jail Wednesday, unable to pay the fines.

Several burglaries and attempted burglaries were on the blotter this week. On Oct. 14 Mingo said they received a report that a 106-foot section of fence, with posts and barbed wire were removed.

Someone pryed open a door on one of the construction buildings at the Alkek Elementary School builing site on Oct. 14. Mingo said nothing was reported missing.

Carmen Haynes, postmaster at the Pipe Creek Post Office, reported a mail box was stolen on Oct. 11 at the Farm Road 1283 entrance to Medina Lake Estates.

'Our Song' in Uvalde

"They're playing our song" will be performed at the Grand Opera House in Uvalde on Saturday, Oct. 19 at 8 p.m.

A washing machine was reported stolen from the carport of Jewel Cartrett's home on Rugh Hill.

Inez Mendez of Lakehills reported someone broke a kitchen window in her home, but nothing was reported missing.

Harry Webb of Bandera River Ranch reported someone had entered his home, but nothing was taken.

Bob Manes, of Lake Medina Shores reported on Oct. 5 someone stole a 100-pound butane tank valued at $120.

Clemente Rocha of San Antonio reported someone smashed the passenger window in his vehicle and took several items valued at $305. He told authorities he was fishing on English Crossing Road when the break-in occurred.

A truck and gooseneck trailer owned by Bobby Malone of Lakehills was found abandoned along a roadway in Frio County on Oct. 7. Malone reported the vehicle stolen to Bandera Police Chief Walter Welch on Oct. 5.

He left it parked on Maple Street during the County Fair Parade with the keys in it. Welch said some property inside the truck was missing.

guns, sawed-off shotguns, switchblades of brass knuckles.

The ordinance also prohibits selling or loaning a firearm to a minor or to an intoxicated person.

The ordinance was passed unanimously.

A ban on the sale and use of fireworks in the city existed until the ordinances were codified in 1982.

The new ordinance enacted Monday established a permit system under which groups may put on fireworks displays, but prohibits any other kind of selling, using, shooting, discharging, exploding, igniting or displaying any kind of fireworks in the city.

It specifically outlaws firecrackers, roman candles, sparklers, torpedoes, buzz bombs, skyrockers, atomic wings, aerial flash salutes and trail blazers.

This ordinance was also passed unanimously, but the consideration of a law dealing with the discharge of firearms in the city brought instant disagreement among council members.

Adamietz said flatly he would vote against it if pellet guns remained among the prohibited weapons and he also insisted on a clause excepting persons who discharge weapons in the defense of their person or home.

Joe Fox said he might be opposed to the ordinance in its entirety pointing out that many residents want the right to use firearms to deal with roaming dogs, cats and with squirrels and other pests.

Diane Tobin scoffed at this idea, and the measure was returned for Mason for redraft.

Why ignore them?

Dear Editor:

When Society says we should care for our Senior Citizens, why then in Bandera are they ignored?

I have been in a couple of parades in town and have always noticed the residents at Purple Hills out in force to watch. But the parades either start at the Mini Mart or break up there, so the residents only get to watch half of the parade.

If the employees and workers at Purple Hills go to the effort to see that our parades have spectators, why can't the parade planners see to it that the spectators get to see the whole parade.

Bill Parker
Bandera

What's happened?

Dear Editor:

Six years ago, my son, Trey (Shackelford), was a freshman in Bandera High School. He joined athletics under what I consider the worst athletic director you could possibly imagine. When he was not criticizing the boys, he was making fun of them. I overheard a comment he made about our "Will to Win" motto. He personally thought it was the biggest "cornball" saying he had ever heard.

Trey's sophomore year Danny Nuese came to Bandera to be our new Atheletic Director, and Trey's attitude changed. When the next season started, I noticed Trey wasn't the only person with a different attitude, and I don't imagine I was the only fan surprised and delighted when the team came over and applauded the fans after the first game, a practice continued to this day that still has the power to fill me with pride.

We won three games that year, the most in one season we had had in more years than anyone cared to remember. The "want to" attitude took its first breath and was alive and well!

What a year the next one was! 7-2-1! Danny Nuese's famous saying "from underdogs to wonderdogs," the goal line stands, the team work, and the pride.

Fans wanted to be a part of it, and we chanted, we cheered, we stood through the goal line stands and when the Bulldogs came on or off the field. And we did make a difference! Trey and his other teammates told me it fired them up, inspired them to play harder.

The next year, 1983, was to be THE YEAR — and we all believed. It looked so promising and it came down to the last game with Boerne. But it was not to be. The Seniors took heart in a promise from the under classmen to carry on the winning tradition.

Now David is proudly playing his third year under the direction of Danny Nuese. We all know how the Bulldogs have done these last two years. Co-Champs (in 1983) and then District Champs at 27-AAA.

But now, some things have changed.

The one thing that has not changed is Danny Nuese's style of coaching. Believe me, I know, I've had a boy playing for him every year he has coached for Bandera High School.

What keeps Nuese in Bandera? It couldn't be the salary; he has been offered other jobs for more money. It couldn't be the support of the administration or school board; in six years only the new principal has come in to the locker room after a hard won victory or heartbreaking loss and said, "Boys, we're proud of you. Keep up the good work."

It's his belief in the Bulldogs as a team and individuals, and the support of this community. He still has his slogans on the wall. He still teaches attitude along with skills. He still expounds on his belief in the "Will to Win". He still has a wealth of talent. Greater minds then ours in football have rated the Bulldogs high.

What is it then? Let me give you my own personal opinion.

Every team we have played this year has wanted very badly to beat the high-ranked Bulldogs! The "want to" has showed not only in the players but in their fans as well. I heard their fans last week chanting to rally their boys just like the Bulldog's fans did just a few short years ago.

What has happened to us, the Bulldog fan? Have we become so used to the Bulldogs winning we've become indolent? Do we think because the talent is there we no longer have to help rally the 'Dogs?

I'll say this about Coach Nuese: I hope I will be as successful at my job as he has been in his.

I have been a Bulldog fan for 22 years, win or lose! I'm proud to be one. Proud of our coaches. Proud of the Bulldog team members. Proud of the Bulldog spirit. The dream is real and it can be ours!

We ALL have to have the heart and the "want to"—that includes coaches, team members, and fans!

I am deeply grateful to Coach Nuese and the staff members he has had in the last six years. They have had a profound influence on the lives of my sons. When things have been tough for me, the boys quote slogans and stories they've heard from their coaches. From them, my boys have learned how to believe in themselves and their own ability and they have passed that to me.

THE WILL TO WIN CAN NOT BE BEAT!

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

Hey, have you noticed the drive in from Medina Lake to Bandera lately. Remember when you headed west on Farm Road 1283 all you saw until you got to Highway 16 were homes and ranches.

Now there are subdivision signs all along the way. Have you noticed the beautiful sales office and landscaping at Lakewood Estates? It's sure an asset to our Hill Country scenery.

Now Pipe Creek has sure been growing. There's the new Post Office building, and the remodeling on the old building. It looks kinda like they're putting church steeples on it.

Then there's the new sales office and model home for Denaford Realty on the left. The deck on the front looks unique. Again, the building blends well with the hills in the background.

The closer you get to Bandera the more new businesses you see. Remember when the first site in Bandera was the Chevrolet dealership? Now we'll be looking for the new Bandera Inn and Restaurant. It's certainly an impressive building, and of course the restaurant and lounge will be welcomed by all that seek something different when they go out for an evening.

The new shopping center on the right also blends well with our hills. Noticed the gasoline island was installed this week and signs are up to rent space in the center.

Now, next time you head from the lake into San Antonio on Farm Road 1283, take note of the changes to the east. Look at all those new development roads cutting across the hills. There's the new KRRT television tower. Transmission is supposed to start Nov. 1, if all goes on schedule.

Extended Coverage
By Joe McMullan Insurance

No matter how good your homeowner's policy was when you bought it, it may be out of date today. It's smart to review your coverage every two years.
Automatic escalation clauses are helpful in keeping up with inflation, but they may not reflect actual values in your location. Consider an independent appraisal of what it would cost to rebuild today.
Liability coverage probably needs upgrading, in light of the large awards that juries are granting these days. It's not expensive to increase your limits, especially with an umbrella policy.
Have you bought a lot of things since you moved into your house? Most people do. Is your personal property coverage adequate to cover it all?
Coverage on valuables such as silver, furs, and jewelry is strictly limited on household policies. A personal articles floater may be a good idea for you.

Bandera County

25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

Citizens gather to hear state highway commissioner

The 1960 Bandera County Chamber of Commerce president Henry M. Adams faced about 200 interested citizens from all over the County at a meeting in the interest of good roads for Bandera.

The Bandera Bulletin, dated Oct. 14, 1960, reported the meeting was opened with a prayer and the congenial spirit of the meeting was gratifying.

Herbert Petry chairman of the Texas Highway Commission pointed out the value of the tourist trade in dollars for Texas, good roads, and a sound economy. He said Bandera stands as a "romantic symbol" of the Old West.

Medina was represented by 61 persons, Bandera 25, Leakey 25, Utopia 3, San Antonio 7, Hondo 2, Camp Wood 13, Mountain Home 2, Helotes 2, Kerrville 2, Pipe Creek 2, Carrizo Springs 2, and Medina Lake 13.

The Bulldogs won their first victory of the 1960 season 14-12 over Comfort's Bobcats in a thrilling game.

A small tornado was reported to have dipped down on Bottle Creek on the Leibold Ranch near Medina Lake. Mrs. Dewitt Leibold reported hearing a terrific roaring noise but she could not see any funnel cloud. She said once the rain and hail ceased, evidence of a tornado was found along the creek and in the pasture where several trees, some of them green were twisted off.

Stein's Clothiers advertised men's work shoes, cheaper than half soles for $2.95, bath towels were 49 cents each, blue jeans $1.95 each, and Men's Lee Blanket Jackers were $7.95.

Fitzgerald's had fall paisley prints at 59 cents and 79 cents per yard.

Bandera Merchantile advertised lint free Hobnail bedspreads for $2.69.

Elementary school going up

There are visual signs that the long-awaited Alkek Elementary School will be a reality in a few months.

When one drives by the site of the $3.5 million school on Highway 173 east there appears to be a lot of activity taking place. Cement trucks come and go, while trucks loaded with red steel linger longer and await their turn to unload their cargo. Workmen scurry to and from the construction site to the trucks, and temporary buildings.

"The foundation work should be finished in two weeks and the red steel beams for the cafeteria and physical education area are being hoisted in place now," Bandera superintendent Ted Dockery told the Bulletin this week.

The red steel will support the walls and ceiling. Once the foundation is completed the construction crews will be ready to start the walls, he said. The roof will be going over the cafeteria and physical education area just as soon as the steel supports are in place.

"The work was running a few days behind because of rain earlier this year, but they were catching up when the rain came Monday," he said.

"It will really be nice when the school is completed. We have utilized every available inch of space in the present elementary and junior high schools," Dockery said. "We had to purchase additional tables and chairs for the cafeteria the two schools share now. There are four lunch periods now and there just wasn't any way we could seat all the students in the cafeteria," he advised.

So far there have been no changes in the anticipated construction costs, he said.

The final proposal on the sewage and water facilities are expected to be presented at the November meeting of trustees, and there are some legal contracts still required on easements and right of ways, he said. As soon as they are worked out, the contracts for the sewage and water systems can be put out for a bid. "Hopefully, we'll have them ready at the November board meeting," he said.

Alkek Elementary takes form.

Open House at Junior High

Bandera Junior High School will hold an open house on Tuesday, Oct. 22 between 7 p.m. and 9 p.m.

Parents are asked to assemble in the school gym at 7 p.m.

Petition being circulated to roll back taxes, Ely says

Doyle Ely of Pipe Creek says he, Mike Lipscomb, Joe Heisler, Ken Edwards, and Cotton Fitzgerald will be soliciting names for petitions to roll back the 26 percent increase in Bandera Independent School District tax levy for 1985.

In order to roll the tax increase back to eight percent, ten percent of the qualified voters in the district must sign the petition.

Total registered voters in the Bandera Independent School District numbered 4,354 on Oct. 20, 1984. The present number was not yet available from the tax assessor-collectors office or the school district's office for 1985.

School trustees approved the 26 percent in the effective tax rate to meet requirements set forth by the state on teachers salaries, and other maintenance and operating expenses within the school district.

Department of Defense seeks dogs for U.S. military duty

The Department of Defense Dog Center in San Antonio is looking for dogs to train for patrol duty, patrol and narcotic detection, or patrol and explosive detection.

The Dog Center, located at Lackland Air Force Base, periodically solicits dogs from the American dog—owning public and from selected countries overseas.

"We frequently get calls from people wanting to donate or sell dobermans for the training program," said Staff Sgt. Mark Wenzel of the 67th Security Police Squadron's Military Working Dogs section here. "But dobermans just don't meet our needs."

The German shepherd has proven to be the best choice as the standard military working dog; however, other breeds are acceptable. The include rottweilers, giant schnauzers, bouvier des Flandres and Belgium malinois.

Male or female dogs are accepted and the females don't have to be spayed. Dogs must be from 1 to 3 years, 10 months old, weigh at least 55 pounds, stand at least 22 inches at the shoulders and be in good physical condition. They don't have to be purebred, but must have the predominant characteristics of one of the accepted breeds.

Owners who wish to sell or donate their dogs may contact the Department of Defense Dog Center, Lackland Air Force Base, 78236.

"People sometimes want to know if they can buy one of our trained dogs, but we can't sell them," explained Sgt. Wenzel. "Once a dog is accepted for military duty and trained, it cannot be returned to a civilian environment."

Attempts to do that following World War II were not successful. The dogs could not fully adjust to the sudden change from a highly structured, disciplined life to the quieter civilian environment. Also, they could not tolerate the loss of constant companionship, exercise and attention that had become their way of life.

Sgt. Wenzel did say, however, there are occasions when dogs can be obtained from the military. The dogs are those which either were not initially accepted for the program or were partially trained but failed to finish the program for one reason or another.

Most military working dogs serve long, useful careers. If they are no longer needed by one installation, they are moved to another. There is no limit to the number of times a dog can change handlers.

Many dogs that are unable to perform military duties are returned to Lackland and used in training; others are used as demonstration dogs. In this way, most dogs serve a useful life of 10 to 13 years.

Throughout their lives, military working dogs receive the best veterinary care available. When they become too senile for continued duty or incurably ill, directives strictly specify humane disposition procedures much like those practiced by civilian veterinary doctors. These procedures are recognized and endorsed by humane societies and kennel clubs.

For more information on the military working dog program, contact Sgt. Wenzel at (512) 479-3568.

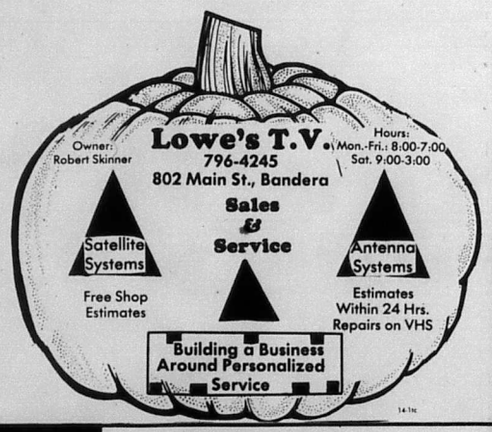

Coyotes sought by club in Myrtle Creek area

The Community Wolf Club is looking for coyotes in the Myrtle Creek Community this week, reports Bob Mansfield. They received a report last week that coyotes were causing trouble in the area.

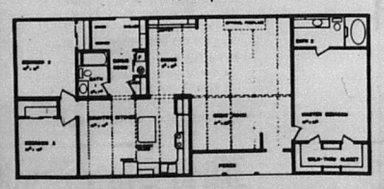

There were four coyotes caught last month by club participants. One was caught on the Alkek Ranch, but bounty won't be paid because it was in Medina County. Other ranches reporting catches were the Ellis Browning Ranch and two on the Flying A Ranch.

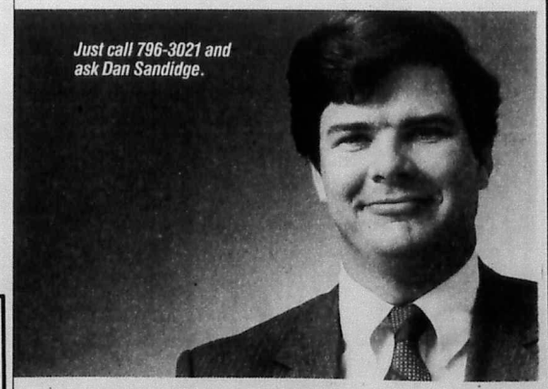

A ferrel hog was caught on the Edwin Browning Ranch also during September, Mansfield said.

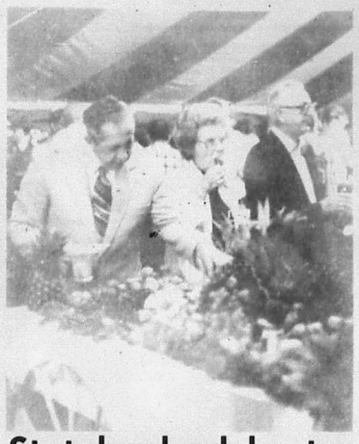

Some of the members attending the meeting last week received a new jitter bait. "We hope this new bait will be more effective," Mansfield said.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
Worry, worry, worry! This is the tempo of many a life in this so-called enlightened age. Sadly, too many people are the harassed and unhappy victims of that miserable phenomenon of human life called worry. They worry about their health, about their jobs and businesses, and even about their social standing. Yet when they look back over every reason of anxiety they can see that nothing was made better by it and many things were decidedly made worse.
Some statistics have been worked out to show the needlessness of worry... Here is a handy WORRY TABLE against which you can check your anxiety rating:
WORRY TABLE
Things that never happen 40%
Things that can't be changed by all the worry in the world 35%
Things that turn out better than originally expected 15%
Petty, insignificant fretting 8%
Legitimate cause for concern 2%
The next time your're upset and worried, remember the words of Cowper, the English poet. His very helpful words were: "The cares of today are seldom those of tomorrow and when we lie down at night, we may safely say to most of our troubles, "You have done your worst and we shall see you no more."

Civic Center plans Halloween

A Halloween Party sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association will be free, except for the Haunted House, organizers say.

To go through the Haunted House it will cost $1, and proceeds will go to benefit the Lakehills United Methodist Youth Fellowship.

The MBLA will have fun games for children, ghost stories, a costume contest, and lots of candy, cookies, punch, and fun treats, says spokeswoman Pam Elliot.

The party will be at the Lakehills Civic Center on Oct. 31, from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Elliot says it will offer a fun time for the children, as well as a safe Halloween.

Gong Show to follow Harvest Fest Oct. 19

The second annual Gong Show sponsored by the Faith Chapel Christian School and Church will be held at 7:30 p.m. following the Harvest Fair on the church grounds Saturday, Oct. 19.

The Rev. Jim Colley says at first glance the prizes for the Gong Show sound fantastic. They include an all-expense paid trip for two to Honolulu, two post cards, that is.

Second prize is a "Rainbow" van which will be two inches long, and third place is an ultralight aircraft, made of balsa wood with a rubber band motor.

The Harvest Fair will begin at 10 a.m. and an auction with auctioneer Stan Kenrick will be at 5 p.m.

Activities for the fair include games, food, sweet shop, and a country store. Contests will be held to test your skills in tasting sweets, baked goods, jello eating, water balloon toss, toilet paper wrap, and races. Ribbons will be awarded for the best cooks entering the contests.

The auction will offer something for everyone, Colley says, including a large variety of donated items received from businesses and individuals.

The fair and Gong Show will be filled with fun for the whole family, Colley says. The church and school both will benefit from the proceeds.

There won't be an admission fee for the Gong Show, but donations will be welcomed.

Donations will be used primarily to send students to a regional convention later this year. Colley says the school hopes to send as many as four students. Students that qualify in regionals will be eligible to advance to the international convention in the spring.

A Parent-Teacher Fellowship is planned for Oct. 25 at 7 p.m. with a covered-dish dinner at 6 p.m.

St. Victor's plans 29th Hunter's Supper

The 29th annual Hunters' Supper will be held Nov. 9 at St. Victor's Catholic Chapel on Park Road 37. Serving will begin at 5 p.m.

The Harvest Fair will begin at 10 a.m. and an auction with auctioneer Stan Kenrick will be at 5 p.m.

Firemen to show appreciation

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department will host an appreciation dinner to honor all the firemen, auxiliary members, and other volunteers who worked during the fall barbecue at the firehouse.

Chefs for the evening will be Gib Gray, Erle Denton, Boots Laue, and Gene Laue. The menu includes a roast beef dinner with vegetables, potatoes, and for dessert cherry cheese cake.

The appreciation dinner has become an annual event in Lakehills, says president Erle Denton. Without the volunteers that donate so much of their time and energy we couldn't have the barbecues.

Denton reported the recent Chili Cookoff at Turks store raised about $600 for the first department.

Bisty Tshirhart won first place in the cookoff, Jim Terry and Mary Lou Haby tied for second place.

Billie and Bobby Halfmann of Lakehills recently donated a septic tank and installed it on the property the fire department purchased for the new main firehouse on Park Road 37.

"The support the brothers have shown for our department has been outstanding," Denton said. "Before we can start to build the new station we have to have the utilities, and their donation enables the department to use it's resources for other needed utilities."

Legion Auxiliary to sponsor Oktoberfest

An Oktoberfest will be sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary 410 at the Legion hall in Lakehills on Oct. 20, beginning at 11 a.m.

German foods, including sausage, potatoes, and kraut, will be on the menu, says auxiliary president Elaine Mixon. Adult plates will be $3, and children can eat for $2.

Kris Stark and his accordion will provide music from noon on for dancing and listening, Mixon said.

Proceeds from Oktoberfest will go toward sending a local girl or girls to Girl's State next spring.

New officers elected by UMW

June Settlemeyer was elected president of the Lakehills United Methodist Women group at their Oct. 2 meeting.

Vice president is Carol Hamilton, secretary Lissie Schneider, and treasurer Alice Smart. Era Wilkerson will continue as "sunshine lady" or communication person. Louise Leibold is organist and Helen Kerr is in charge of the greeting card table.

The new officers and 18 other ladies, including three guests, enjoyed a lively discussion on the place of women in leadership in churches today. The program, "Ever Since Eve, Women in the Church," was led by Leibold.

The luncheon meeting was hosted by Smart and Jan Wilson in Smart's home.

AARP to host insurance conference

The Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons will sponsor an insurance conference as a public service for senior adults from 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., Oct. 28, at the American Legion in Lakehills. Anyone interested is invited and urged to come, says June Settlemeyer.

Bill Ward, representative for the AARP Group Health Insurance Program, will discuss AARP's portfolio of Medicare supplement and hospital plans and answer individual questions, she says.

President Louise Leibold says reservations should be made by writing to Medina Lake Chapter AARP, Box 996, Lakehills, 78063, indicating the number expected to attend. Reservations also may be made by calling 751-2297 or 751-3223.

New directors in Music & Dance series

The inaugural season of the San Antonio Peforming Arts Association's New Directions in Music and Dance series will open at San Antonio College's McAllister Auditorium Wednesday evening, Oct. 30, at 8 p.m. with a performance by avante-garde composer/musician Philip Glass and his ensemble.

Shooting incident follows Mico VFD's barbecue

Area citizens were shocked to learn a shooting had taken place outside the Mico Volunteer Fire Department Saturday evening while they were playing bingo inside the firehouse.

After a day of barbecue, flea market browsing, and fellowship with friends and neighbors, climaxed by bingo at the fundraiser, residents leaving the firehouse discovered officers from both Medina and Bandera Counties outside.

Medina County authorities requested assistance from Bandera County in a search for a juvenile who had shot an older man in the arm outside the firehouse.

Sheriff Alvin Santleben of Medina County said the juvenile had gotten upset with his girlfriend and knocked her down when an older man told him "we don't put up with that kind of stuff in Mico."

The sheriff said the youth left and returned later with a .22 caliber automatic rifle and shot Harry C. Perkins Jr. in the arm. Perkins refused to go to the hospital.

The juvenile ran into the brush and evaded officers in their search for several hours before he was apprehended. A hearing has been set for the teenager later this month.

Wild Turkey Hunting Prospects Looking Up

After two extremely poor nesting years, the Rio Grande turkey has rebounded with good production in 1985, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Don Wilson, upland game program leader, said hen-poult counts in the state's turkey range indicate hunters this season will see more birds than they did last year, with up to 60 percent of the population being juveniles.

"It's fortunate the state got good rains in early 1985, because we had back-to-back poor production years in 1983-84 because of the drought," Wilson said. "It started out dry in the western portion of the turkey range in 1983, and then the drought spread to the entire range in 1984, bringing the lowest production on record."

Wilson said production this year is well above average in South Texas, the Edwards Plateau and the Cross Timbers, which comprise the major portion of Rio Grande turkey range in the state. The eastern Trans-Pecos, primarily Pecos and Terrell Counties, was slightly above average, while the Oak Prarie of southeast Texas and the Panhandle had production somewhat below average.

The fall Rio Grande turkey season runs concurrently with the white-tailed deer season in most Texas counties, and this year it will be Nov. 9-Jan 5. Hunters this year may take advantage of the new "swing" turkey tag on their hunting license. This allows a hunter to take one gobbler in the fall and another in the spring season, plus a third turkey which may be taken in either the fall or spring season.

Trinity University to present "Cloud Nine"

Trinity University's Department of Speech and Drama presents the play "Cloud Nine" as the second production in the 1985-86 theater season at Ruth Taylor Attic II Theater, Thursday, Oct. 23 through Sunday, Oct. 27 and Tuesday, Oct. 29 through Saturday, Nov. 2.

Southside ties Bulldogs, 14-14

Southside's Cardinals had ample reason to celebrate Friday's 14-14 deadlock with highly favored Bandera while stunned Bulldogs and Bulldog fans looked on in shock.

The manner that the game's outcome was decided was cause for some of Southside's joy.

Trailing throughout the game, the Cardinals scored on a 14-yard, picture-perfect pass with a scant 3 seconds remaining in the game.

The Card's underdog status was additional reason for elation. Ever since the beginning of the season when Bandera was ranked as highly as third in the state, the 'Dogs have been special targets of opponents.

And perhaps the premier reason for rejoicing among Cardinal players and fans alike was the turn-around in their football fortunes that Friday's game represents.

Only 12 months ago Bandera's Bulldogs humbled the Cardinals on their own field to the tune of 63-0, and the embarrassment of that overwhelming defeat has weighed heavily on the minds of the Cardinal players for 52 weeks.

There was an additional reason for Southside jubilation after Friday's game. The two teams were tied in penetrations but Southside led Bandera in first downs, 15-8, and that difference could be important should Bandera and Southside be involved in a tie in the district standings at year's end.

A penetration is awarded each time a team controls the ball inside its opponent's 20-yard-line, and it is the first tie-breaker recognized by the University Interscholastic League. First downs is the second.

Bandera achieved its fourth penetration of the game as a gift from the Cardinals with 9:30 left in the game.

It came when the Bulldog pass rush, which was threatening most of the evening, stripped the ball from Cardinal quarterback David Flores at the Southside 9-yard line.

The 'Dog offense went to work at that point with just a chip shot necessary to put them into a 21-7 lead which would have virtually assured them of their third win of the season.

But after bullish Jimmy Compton gouged out five yards, quarterback Jimmy Sides pulled away from center too quickly and fumbled the snap from center.

The Cardinals' David Rameriz pounced on the ball at his own 8-yard line with 7:54 remaining in the game.

From that point Southside embarked on a fourth-quarter odyssey that resulted in its gametying touchdown that came with 3 ticks left on the clock.

Southside not only got the seven points necessary for a tie on that drive, it also got five first downs and, of course, the final penetration that might make their first-down total critical.

As has been their habit of late, Bandera gained an advantage early in this game, only to lose it in the latter moments.

The Bulldogs scored their first touchdown with 4:41 left in the first quarter after an interception gave the home team the ball on the Cards' 9-yard line.

Compton lugged it into the end zone in two plays, the climax a 6-yard burst over left tackle.

Southside's defense had only seconds before stopped a 53-yard Bulldog drive on the 1-yard line when Compton managed to gain only six yards on four blasts into the middle of the Southside line.

Southside made its first comeback of the evening moments later when Flores hurled a 25-yard strike for a touchdown with 10:31 left in the first half.

Bandera scored again midway in the second quarter after a punt return by John Miller, which appeared to be a touchdown, was called back to the Cardinal 35-yard line because of a clip.

Compton scored from the 2.

Compton gained 119 yards rushing for the evening.

Rocksprings' Angoras rock Medina's Bobcats by 28-6

The Rocksprings Angoras treated their guests, the Medina Bobcats, badly last Friday by handing the 'Cats their fifth straight defeat, 28-6.

The game would have been a shut-out except for a good series late in the game when Jeff Walker took a sideline pass on the Angora 30 and wound his way back to mid-field, leaving a trail of puzzled tacklers watching him score.

The catch and run was a good example of how Medina has played part of each game this season. Like the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead. When she was good she was very, very good and when ... oh you know the rest!

Medina took the opening kick and moved to their own 36 before James Parker had to punt to the Angoras 20. The 'Cat defense held at Medina's 45, and this time the 'Cats looked perky and moved the ball through two series of downs and the end of the quarter before stalling out.

On fourth down however the little girl got bad, and Parkers punt had to be hurried and the ball went mostly up and not out.

The Angoras took over on Medina's 46, and from there backs Jimenez, Martinez and Rendon mounted a steady drive that scored Rendon from about the 20.

Sam Samora toed the point and with 8:46 left in the half Rocksprings led 7-0.

Another short punt gave the Angoras a new opportunity and five plays later Martinez crashed in from the nine. The PAT was true and Rocksprings had the lead 14-0.

During the next few minutes the paying customers became thoroughly confused about who owned the ball as the two teams exchanged five — count 'em — turnovers to end the half.

Beginning the second half, in spite of a 5 yd. bonus on the kick, the Angoras could not move the ball because Freeman, Greenwalt, Williams, and Andersen kept the holes plugged and Medina got the ball back. Ah well, the little gal struck again. Two plays deep into the drive, Green lost the handle and the Angoras had yet another gift, this time inside the 'Cat 20. Two plays and a kick later it was 21-0.

After a good run back by Green to the 'Cats 30, the 'Cats moved again through two series before Parker had to boot and this time it was a beaut! The ball sailed high and long and finally was downed on the one foot line of Rockeprings.

There the 'Cats took a stand and held the Goats to 17 yards in six plays. Samora's kick gave the 'Cats good position until Eddie Fuller made another Angora interception on the 39 of Goat territory.

The Angoras again started a march that ended two minutes deep in the fourth period with Martinez once more crossing the stripe for 6 points.

With about 1:25 left, the 'Cats got it all together again. Passing to Walker, Moore and Williams the Bobcats headed toward and into Rocksprings territory. Richard Moore made a drive-saving catch on the Angoras 30 and the next play with 27 seconds left Walker moved wide left and caught his TD pass.

A two-point conversion attempt failed.

The Bobcats will host the Center Point Pirates Friday and also celebrate their '85 homecoming. Activities begin Thursday night with the bonfire and then on Friday, the King and Queen will be crowned before game time at 8 p.m. A dance follows the game and is open to all.

Star Roula wins $20,000 race, local horse takes Jones title

Star Roula, the fastest qualifier, won the Miller Lite Allowance and $20,081 Sunday at Bandera Downs and a local horse was a surprise winner of a second feature, the 330-yard Rubarb Jones Championship.

Ima Jody, a sorrow owned by Jeannie Bauer Pape and trained by her husband Kenneth Pape at Bandera Downs, ran a 105 speed index to win the Jones Championship with jockey Doug McDaniel in the stirrups.

She came out of retirement for this event, and her performance so pleased her owner and trainer that they now plan to send her to California for a try at the fields at Los Alamitos, Bay Meadows and other West Coast tracks.

McDaniel's win aboard Ima Jody was his 22nd winner at Bandera Downs and protected his ranking as the top jockey at the local track.

It was Pape's 13th win as a trainer at Bandera Downs.

Jockey David Wells was aboard Star Roula in the finals of the Miller Lite Allowance and he rode her home in 16.76 seconds.

Second place winner who earned $9,754 in 17 seconds was Cameronia, owned by Kenneth M. and Betty Brown and Richard Fry.

Third place, good for $6,885, went to Passem Easily with Anna Landolt aboard.

LC Crystal, owned by a syndicate called 1886 Running Horses and trained by Walter Monk, won the Miller Lite Allowance consolation, a sprint over 330 yards for the top horses that failed to qualify for the finals.

With Jockey Chuck Wallace aboard, LC Crystal came home in 17.02 seconds to nip Coy Native at the wire.

The Rubarb Jones champion, Ima Jody, had been taken out of active racing by Mrs. Pape and foaled a filly in February that Mrs. Pape said is "almost the spitting image of her mother."

She went back into training four months ago and won her trial heat on Oct. 6 in 17.10.

At that, however, she was only the fifth fastest qualifier for Sunday's run in the finals.

Mrs. Pape acquired Ima Jody in 1982 after she had won the Texas Futurity at Goliad as a 2-year-old.

She won a derby title in Laredo for the Papes, and her retirement was announced in July 1983 on the day she won the Six Flags Derby at Goliad.

She was bred to Master Hand at the 440 Ranch near Weatherford.

She will be shipped to California this week for the winter meet there where she will be handled by trainer Gary Newman, Mrs. Pape said.

In other races Sunday, Chacone Bug won $1,200 when he came in first in another 330-yard sprint for 2-year-olds that did not qualify in the top 20 during the Miller Lite Allowance qualifying heats.

Hempen's Bid, a 3-year-old trained by Pat Doyle won a 350-yard sprint in 18.01.

Bandera scored again midway in the second quarter after a punt return by John Miller, which appeared to be a touchdown, was called back to the Cardinal 35-yard line because of a clip.

Compton scored from the 2.

Compton gained 119 yards rushing for the evening.

The game would have been a shut-out except for a good series late in the game when Jeff Walker took a sideline pass on the Angora 30 and wound his way back to mid-field, leaving a trail of puzzled tacklers watching him score.

The catch and run was a good example of how Medina has played part of each game this season. Like the little girl with the curl in the middle of her forehead. When she was good she was very, very good and when ... oh you know the rest!

Medina took the opening kick and moved to their own 36 before James Parker had to punt to the Angoras 20. The 'Cat defense held at Medina's 45, and this time the 'Cats looked perky and moved the ball through two series of downs and the end of the quarter before stalling out.

On fourth down however the little girl got bad, and Parkers punt had to be hurried and the ball went mostly up and not out.

The Angoras took over on Medina's 46, and from there backs Jimenez, Martinez and Rendon mounted a steady drive that scored Rendon from about the 20.

Sam Samora toed the point and with 8:46 left in the half Rocksprings led 7-0.

Another short punt gave the Angoras a new opportunity and five plays later Martinez crashed in from the nine. The PAT was true and Rocksprings had the lead 14-0.

During the next few minutes the paying customers became thoroughly confused about who owned the ball as the two teams exchanged five — count 'em — turnovers to end the half.

Beginning the second half, in spite of a 5 yd. bonus on the kick, the Angoras could not move the ball because Freeman, Greenwalt, Williams, and Andersen kept the holes plugged and Medina got the ball back. Ah well, the little gal struck again. Two plays deep into the drive, Green lost the handle and the Angoras had yet another gift, this time inside the 'Cat 20. Two plays and a kick later it was 21-0.

After a good run back by Green to the 'Cats 30, the 'Cats moved again through two series before Parker had to boot and this time it was a beaut! The ball sailed high and long and finally was downed on the one foot line of Rockeprings.

There the 'Cats took a stand and held the Goats to 17 yards in six plays. Samora's kick gave the 'Cats good position until Eddie Fuller made another Angora interception on the 39 of Goat territory.

The Angoras again started a march that ended two minutes deep in the fourth period with Martinez once more crossing the stripe for 6 points.

With about 1:25 left, the 'Cats got it all together again. Passing to Walker, Moore and Williams the Bobcats headed toward and into Rocksprings territory. Richard Moore made a drive-saving catch on the Angoras 30 and the next play with 27 seconds left Walker moved wide left and caught his TD pass.

A two-point conversion attempt failed.

The Bobcats will host the Center Point Pirates Friday and also celebrate their '85 homecoming. Activities begin Thursday night with the bonfire and then on Friday, the King and Queen will be crowned before game time at 8 p.m. A dance follows the game and is open to all.

Fun Run scheduled

The City Club of San Antonio 5K Fun Run benefiting the Baptist Children's Home at San Antonio will be held on Saturday, Oct. 26.

Star Roula wins $20,000 race, local horse takes Jones title

Star Roula, the fastest qualifier, won the Miller Lite Allowance and $20,081 Sunday at Bandera Downs and a local horse was a surprise winner of a second feature, the 330-yard Rubarb Jones Championship.

Ima Jody, a sorrow owned by Jeanie Bauer Pape and trained by her husband Kenneth Pape at Bandera Downs, ran a 105 speed index to win the Jones Championship with jockey Doug McDaniel in the stirrups.

She came out of retirement for this event, and her performance so pleased her owner and trainer that they now plan to send her to California for a try at the fields at Los Alamitos, Bay Meadows and other West Coast tracks.

McDaniel's win aboard Ima Jody was his 22nd winner at Bandera Downs and protected his ranking as the top jockey at the local track.

It was Pape's 13th win as a trainer at Bandera Downs.

Jockey David Wells was aboard Star Roula in the finals of the Miller Lite Allowance and he rode her home in 16.76 seconds.

Second place winner who earned $9,754 in 17 seconds was Cameronia, owned by Kenneth M. and Betty Brown and Richard Fry.

Third place, good for $6,885, went to Passem Easily with Anna Landolt aboard.

LC Crystal, owned by a syndicate called 1886 Running Horses and trained by Walter Monk, won the Miller Lite Allowance consolation, a sprint over 330 yards for the top horses that failed to qualify for the finals.

With Jockey Chuck Wallace aboard, LC Crystal came home in 17.02 seconds to nip Coy Native at the wire.

The Rubarb Jones champion, Ima Jody, had been taken out of active racing by Mrs. Pape and foaled a filly in February that Mrs. Pape said is "almost the spitting image of her mother."

She went back into training four months ago and won her trial heat on Oct. 6 in 17.10.

At that, however, she was only the fifth fastest qualifier for Sunday's run in the finals.

Jockey David Wells and allowance winner Star Roula

Mrs. Pape acquired Ima Jody in 1982 after she had won the Texas Futurity at Goliad as a 2-year-old.

She won a derby title in Laredo for the Papes, and her retirement was announced in July 1983 on the day she won the Six Flags Derby at Goliad.

She was bred to Master Hand at the 440 Ranch near Weatherford.

She will be shipped to California this week for the winter meet there where she will be handled by trainer Gary Newman, Mrs. Pape said.

In other races Sunday, Chacone Bug won $1,200 when he came in first in another 330-yard sprint for 2-year-olds that did not qualify in the top 20 during the Miller Lite Allowance qualifying heats.

Hempen's Bid, a 3-year-old trained by Pat Doyle won a 350-yard sprint in 18.01.

Jubilee Overlanders visit Bandera during trek across Texas.

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff writer

Around 4 p.m. Tuesday, October 15, a group of scruffy and sweaty cowboys, and cowgirls, rode into Bandera by horseback, paraded through town and stopped in front of the Frontier Times Museum to be greeted by Mayor Bob Cowan.

After a tour of the museum, they were taken to their campsite at Rock Wilderness, owned by Rhea Mansfield, to freshen up in the natural pool and get a good night's rest before saddling up and riding out towards Kerrville.

These cowboys, called the Jubilee Overlanders, plan to have traveled 1,200 miles on horseback before their trip is over. They are part of a combined celebration between Australia and Texas which markes the 150th birthday of both the state of Texas and the state of South Australia.

Not only do the two state's birthday occur in the same year, 1986, but they are also of equal size and population, according to overlanders. To promote the birthdays and draw media attention, they have staged two rides of 600 miles each, one in Australia, which they just finished, and the other in Texas.

The four members of the Overlanders are Peter Knudsen, a reporter with the Australian Broadcasting Company; Mickey McKeown, a noted horse trainer from Mildura, Australia; Vikie Ives Speir, a freelance journalist and editor of a Texas Sesquicentennial newspaper; and Leana Rideout, an American Indian horse breeder and distance rider, who joined the group when they came to Texas.

"This whole thing was Peter's idea," said Speir, who owns the horses. "He was going to do the trek in Australia by himself and have it documented, until he found out that Texas was also celebrating its 150th birthday. So he got in contact with my husband Tom, who is chairman of the Texas Sesquicentennial Equine Events Association (TSEEA), and asked us to help him find someone who was willing to ride 600 miles across two states. Well, I volunteered to ride with them and they accepted."

Knudsen and McKeown organized the Australian trek, while Speir planned the ride through Texas. "Getting money donated to our cause was no problem in Australia," began McKeown. "When we ran out of funds, which the ABC gave us, we started a bingo card game to raise the rest of the money, which I hear you can't do in Texas."

But getting the funds, or even horsefeed, donated has become a problem in Texas. "People aren't very enthused about their state's birthday here, and that's a shame. I'm not sure why, but no one, or at least very few people, are willing to donate money or feed to help us promote our effort," explained Knudsen, who plans to write a book about his travels.

According to Speir, they will need approximately $2,000 more to get her horses home from Presido when the ride is over.

"I own these horses, and they mean a lot to me," said Speir. "One of these horses is a mustang I helped save from starving to death," she said. She explained it was involved in a case where the owner was abusing and neglecting his horses. "I bought him and fixed him up to that he could prove to the world that he was worth saving," she said. "I'm hoping that Texans will help us out. We are only using eight horses the whole way and they will be too tired to ride back."

So far they have traveled from Marshall to San Antonio and through Bandera. The funds that helped them travel that distance came from an East Texas 4-H club that held cake sales and car washes to help raise the money. "We asked some of them to ride with us, we thought that was the least we could do for all their work," said Knudsen.

But after Kerrville, the money the 4-H kids raised will be gone and the Overlanders will need more contributions to get home.

Anyone interested in donating money to help them trek across Texas can sent their contribution to TSEEA, Karma Farms, Rt. 4 Box 706, Marshall, 75670.

Shopping for a manufactrured home takes time

The first stop in shopping for a single-wide or double-wide manufactured home shouldn't be a sales lot, but the land you intend to put it on, says a Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist.

"Don't put money down or sign an agreement on a manufactured home before you have a contract with a park or subdivision, or you have purchased your own land," cautions Dr. Jane Berry.

"Otherwise you run the risk of having a house that doesn't fit the lot, or being unable to put the house where you want to live."

Since a manufactured home can be the most expensive consumer product you buy, next to a conventional home, the specialist recommends careful comparison shopping.

"First check out the reputation of the dealer," days Berry. "The dealer's assistance, service and care — or lack of it — will have a great affect on your satisfaction with the manufactured home."

She suggests checking the dealer's reputation with a local credit bureau, Better Business Bureau, or bank.

As you look at manufactured homes, consider both price and financing, says the specialist.

"Dealer financing is often the quickest and easiest, but comparison shopping among the dealer, your bank, savings and loan association or credit union for the best financing option can save you money in the long run," remarks Berry.

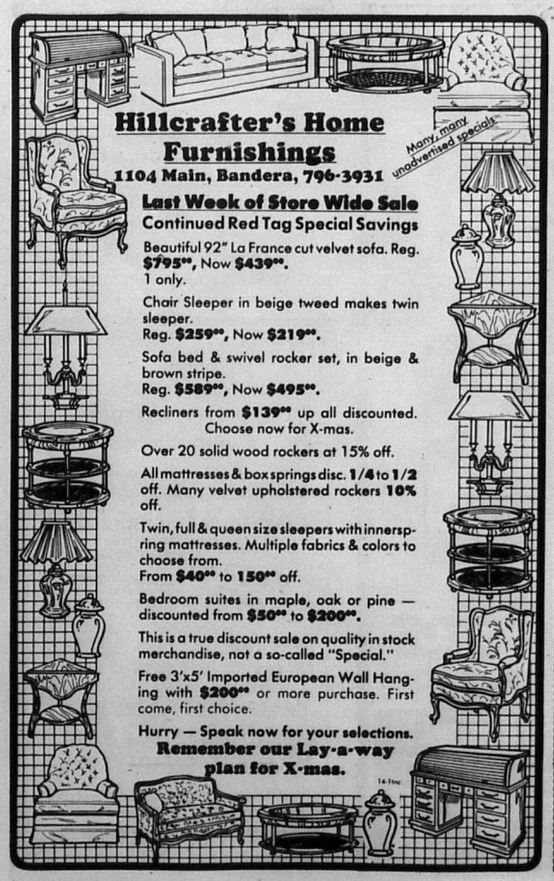

"Find out what type of delivery, setup and leveling services are offered by the dealer," advises Berry. "Ask who will make the needed repairs during the warranty period and check to see if the home can be re-leveled after six months if this is necessary."

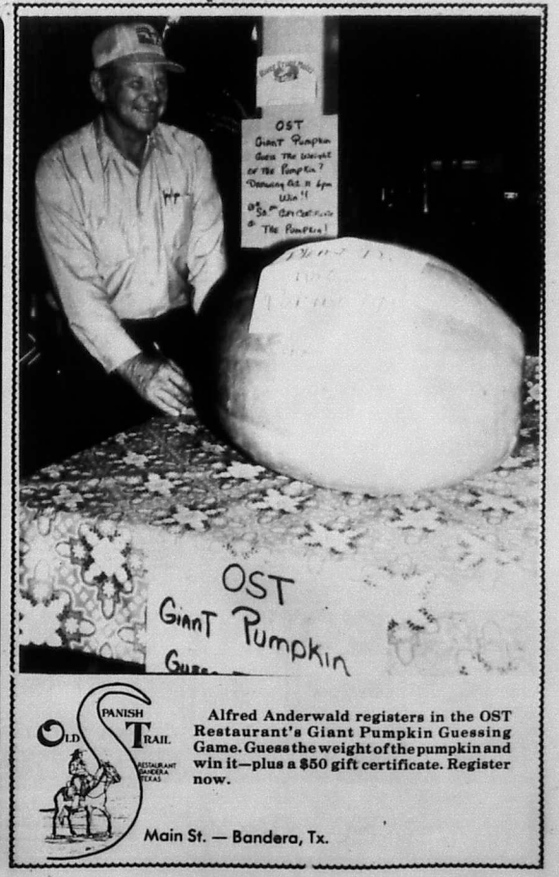

The service provisions of the sales contract should be an important part of your buying decision and a basis for comparison among dealers, she remarks.

The housing specialist also points out that repossessed or foreclosed manufactured homes can be a good buy for consumers on a tight budget and those who can't qualify for credit on a new manufactured home.

"But beware of any pressure tactics to get you to purchase a new or used manufactured home," cautions Berry.

"High pressure tactics often indicate a phony deal, so don't be pushed into buyin just because the dealer claims someone else is interested in the home or the price is going up next week," she adds.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Look in the boutique at the Silver Sage Corral and you will see proof that the senior citizens did all right at the recent Bandera County Fair. There's a blue ribbon and a reserve champion medallion on Lillian Bradford's quilt, blue ribbons on Evelyn Reininger's butterfly wall hanging, Anita Booker's cross-stitch pillow and June Westmeyer's stuffed baby doll.

Second place red ribbons are on Joe May's square dance dress, Lucille Broe's needlepoint parrot, Amelia Dickens ruffled apron and Catherine Dugosh's painted cutting board.

Congratulations to you all, and to board president Marie Holland, who filled in for many a senior volunteer who failed to show up to help with the fair.

On the Road Again

A contingent of Silver Sagers attended the American Association of Retired Persons picnic at Lady Bird Johnson Park near Fredericksburg on Sunday, Oct. 6, where the Fun Bunch Square Dancers and six clowns from Dietert Claim furnished most of the entertainment.

Another group of local volunteers joined the Kerrville State Hospital bus Wednesday, Oct. 2 for a trip to Dallas for the State Volunteer Council meeting. Also attending were volunteers from Comfort, Boerne and Kerrville, and Kerrville State Hospital's council received a placque for having the most volunteers attending. The programs included workshops, forums, reports, and a visit to another state hospital.

The Silver Sage Corral's own Sagettes, who have been meeting Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at the Center for over a year under the leadership of Gloria Carlson, presented one of their routines at the tri-county Extension Homemakers' "A" Fair at the fairgrounds in Boerne on Oct. 10. Eleven members participated, with wand exercises, a feisty Charleston, and their favorite limber-upper, the Hokey Pokey.

Since the theme of the fair was "Stay Alive in '85," they exemplified the value of regular exercise.

A very full day was reported by the 10 seniors who took in Jan's Van Tour to Yoakum on Oct. 10. They left Bandera at 10 a.m., lunched in the part at New Braunfels, visited the historic homes section of Gonzales, and the purse and belt portion of the Yoakum Leather Factory, before attending the Country Music U.S.A. Grand Ol' Opry.

The country-western music was enlivened by the appearance of look-alikes of Minnie Pearl and Grandpa Jones.

Generous encores postponed the van's departure so that it was 2 a.m. before the group returned home. Country Music U.S.A. puts on a performance each second Tuesday of the month, next one being Nov. 12.

Time Changes

Due to the many activities falling in the third week of the month, the center's Advisory board has changed the time of the monthly birthday dinner from the third Tuesday to the fourth. In November the date will be the 26th.

Due to popular request, the exercise-dance class taught by June Westmeyer on Tuesday and Thursday will again be held at 4 p.m.

No time change is indicated for the monthly Bunco party, at 1:30 p.m. on Wednesday, Oct. 23; the regular advisory board meeting on Friday, Oct. 25, at 2 p.m.

Grandparents of computer-smart kids will be interested in attending a seminar on "Computer Awareness" offered by the Bandera County Library on Thursday, Oct. 24, at 6 p.m. Then you can toss around terms like "bytes" and "floppy disks" like a real pro.

Melodiers will practice at 5 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 18.

Grace Wootton of the Silver Sage Corral Boutique announces the next rummage sale to be Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1 and 2. She encourages those with discards to donate, anything from clothes (especially winter) to furniture, to bring their donations at any time, or call for help in transporting them.

Your reporter and husband spent the Oct. 5-7 weekend in northern Illinois, helping celebrate his only sister's 50th wedding anniversary. In every field in that area the combines were plodding along, harvesting tall corn and dusty soy beans. It was a sharp contrast to the harvesting methods of 50 years ago.

Storage bins on every farm indicate that not all the harvest will be sold at this year's low prices. The real climax of the trip was the riot of flaming color in the plentiful wooded areas from Oklahoma City north.

DU banquet on Oct. 30

The annual banquet of Ducks Unlimited in Bandera will be held Oct. 30 at the Mayan Guest Ranch with cocktails at 7 p.m. and dinner at 8 p.m. said Joe McMullen, chairman.

Tickets at $25 per plate include $10 membership in DU, McMullen said. Ducks Unlimited is an organization that seeks to help provide North American waterfowl with the habitat they need to breed and survive, he explained.

"DU has reserved more than 3.2 million acres of habitat, more than any other private wildlife organization," McMullen said.

Those figures were released by the Texas Youth Commission in Austin this week. The agency also said the number of youths committed from Bexar County increased 36.1 percent, from 126 in fiscal year 1984 to 174 in 1985.

Hi,

The beautiful change of color in the Texas Hill Country indicates the coming of a new season, but the fall days have been so gloriously warm, that it's just like a beautiful Indian summer. And that's a perfect description of the newest arrivals of Brenner Misey 2 piece dressing. The colors are so reminiscent of Santa Fe and the southwest that you can almost taste the sweetness of Navajo Fry Bread and feel the crispness of the mountain air outside a hogan on a chilly autumn night. In one of the Brenner creations, they have captured all the boldness of an Indian blanket, in a skirt of bold turquoise, yellows, grapes & reds. The skirt is an easy a-line, with elasticized waist for a terrific fit. The top is outstanding in solid turquoise, with its dolman sleeve & boat neck, & to top it off is a serrape drop on one shoulder done in the same blanket color print. It is accented perfectly with a rope & leather look belt in matching turquoise. The set has the feel of linen & the look of hopesacking; very colorful, but subdued, as in the Indian tradition. Next is a sweater that looks as if it were hand knitted. The classic gray pullover sweater is accented with a geometrical pattern, again resembling the Indian mode in colors of cinnabar, turquoise & grape. The skirt could pass for silk & is a combination of stripping in the same 3 contrasting colors. The hues are as breathtaking as a New Mexico sunset & are defined by the continuity of the gray & black accents. These two sets are extraordinary in their visual effect & are both perfect for a day at the office or a night on the town.

In the Brenner Petites there are 2 new beautiful classics. The fabric looks & feels like the best silk, but is easy care polyester and is completely hand washable. One is a 2 piece dress in rich warm cocoa, reoplended in a brush stroked effect. The skirt is softly flared and elasticized in the waist. The blouse is tapered sleeves with a simple boat neck, but there is a drop on one of the shoulders that gently falls to create the illusion of a fan. This is lightly brush stroked in vivid turquoise & grape. This same contrasting color is continued throughout the skirt & is a sheer fantasy in femininity.

The other Brenner creation is a deep gray 1 piece dress that is almost the color of old world pewter. The waist has wide band smocked effect created through the elastic insert & complements the dress by its production of a blouson look. The whole dress is sharply contrasted throughout by bright scarlet & grape swatches of color & the effect is uncomparable. All of the Brenner line is a showpiece. Come by soon & experience the culture of the Indian influence & the richness of old world class. All created by color & Brenner. Jane & I are waiting and looking forward to seeing you.

Always,
Janett

P.S. In season sale rack no 25% off — Ship & Shore corduroys & Brenner separates still available. Also Ship & Shore blousse on sale at 20% off.

Homecoming visitors expected to crowd Medina this weekend

The annual Medina High School Homecoming, the community's biggest yearly event, will be this weekend, and organizers expect the usual large crowd of old grads and other friends.

The football team will be trying to garner its first victory of the season when it takes on Center Point Friday, but the game may be an anticlimax to the crowning of the Medina High School royalty that preceeds the game.

The crowning ceremony gets under way at 7 p.m. and kickoff time is scheduled exactly one hour later.

Besides the homecoming king and queen, the identity of the band and football sweethearts will also be announced Friday.

The Homecoming Carnival gets started at 10 a.m. Saturday and continues until 4 p.m.

The parade will step off from Collins of Texas' plant at 2 p.m., and among the other afternoon events on tap include a baby contest, a costume contest for children under school age, and a pumpkin contest.

There will be a reception and program for ex-students of Medina High School at 6:30 p.m., and the traditional Homecoming Dance follows at the Medina School bus barn.

The junior class at Medina High School will have a pumpkin sale Saturday at the Phillips 66 station in Medina, but participants in the Parent-Teacher Organization's jack-'o-lanterns contest must have their entry carved and entered by 9 a.m. in order to be eligible for the judging at 1:30 p.m.

Parade chairman Pam Keese said parade entries should begin to line up no later than 1 p.m. at the Collins of Texas plant.

It's still not too late to enter the parade, and anyone who wishes to march may enter by calling Mrs. Keese at 589-2683.

Homecoming '85; One to remember

By Cliff Stoops

It is halftime at the annual homecoming game and the new Mr. and Miss BHS have been announced.

Tears of joy and cries of approval are heard as last year's Mr. and Mrs. BHS, Ronald Caloss Jr. and Terri Butler, step forward to recognize them. Caloss recognized Cluff Bronson as the 1985 Mr. BHS, by presenting him with a cluster of carnations, which in turn he presented to Lorna Colvin recognizing her as Miss BHS.

Bronson is an active student at Bandera. He is a major part of the football team, and ik on the A-B honor roll.

Colvin is afso an active person. She is involved in both volleyball and basketball and is a member of The Association of Legal Students and an outstanding cheerleader.

They were chosen over seven other couples. Freshman candidates were Tony LeStrourgon and Kim Lukachik and Keith Ott and Ann Muller.

The sophomores were represented by Billy Price and Cindy Fritsche and Ronny Bain and Nancy Thompson. The junior couples were Matt Kelley and Jenny Persyn and Scott Caloss and Lana Laird. The second senior couple was Greg Gest and Randy McHaney.

The process for determining Mr. and Miss BHS is a long and very tedious one. Each person in each class nominates one boy, and one girl on a secret ballot. Then the five boys, and the five girls with the most votes are placed on a ballot, from which the final two couples are selected. Their names go on the main ballot from which Mr. and Miss BHS are chosen.

Mr. and Miss BHS

Homecoming dance memorable for students

Dance, Dance, Dance! That's what everyone did at the Homecoming Dance on Friday night after the Bandera-Southside game.

For four dollars admission, students were treated to a big screen that showed MTV videos and showed students what they looked like while they were dancing too. There was also a fog machine that gave the dance a mysterious effect.

Music ranged from slow to fast with the groups ranging from RATT to Dire Straits, from Madonna to Kool and the Gang. The songs were varied enough to satisfy the different tastes of the students.

Student Council made this dance one to remember. Said senior Janet Weber: "I thought it was the best dance BHS has ever sponsored, I only wish it could have been longer." Judging from this comment, Student Council seems to have made the dance a success.

Bulldog band receives first division rating

By: Melissa Ross

The Bandera Bulldog Marching Band traveled to Hondo for the UIL Marching Contest and came home with three straight first division ratings.

The Bandera band did a totally different type of show from the others that were being done at contest, and its show apparently provided the judges with a pleasing change of pace.

Bandera band director Tome Walters said, "I am very pleased with the performance and execution of the drill and of the overall musical sound and effect. The students have worked hard," he said. "With the contest being this early, I felt that they got mentally prepared to rise to the occasion."

There were nine bands competing in the class AAA division. Hondo, Southside, Boerne and Medina Valley shared Division I ratings with Bandera. Poteet and Devine received Division II ratings and Cotulla and Somerset were rated Division III.

This is the third year in a row for the Bandera band to receive a division I rating.

Medina Valley and Hondo will represent the class AAA division at the state marching contest.

Dogs get tied up by Southside

By Chris York

Bandera Bulldogs were stunned by the Southside Cardinals in a 14-14 deadlock in their first district game.

The Dogs were heavy favorites coming into the game after a 63-0 victory a year ago.

James Compton scored both of the Bulldog TD's and had 119 yds. rushing. John Miller had a spectacular first half kick-off return for a TD but it was called back on a penalty.

The Dogs seemed to have the game in hand 14-7 with only 8:26 seconds to play and the ball on the Cardinal 9-yd line when a Bulldog fumble gave the ball back to the Cards.

Southside drove down the field to the Dogs 18-yd line. A delay penalty and a QB sack by Compton and Shackleford forced the Cards into a 4th down situation with 10 seconds left.

The Homecoming crowd and Bulldog sideline was shocked when Southside QB Flores found a wide open Ortiz in the corner of the end-zone. Flores lofted a perfect pass before he was leveled by the Dogs pass rush. The PAT was good and tied the game at 14-14.

The Bulldogs are at Cole next Friday while Southside plays Floresville.

Bon-fire...in the spirit of Homecoming

This year's annual Homecoming Bonfire was held at Mansfield Park, last Thursday night, Oct. 10.

While driving down main street, pick-up after trailer load of wood could be seen headed out towards the Park. The final result that night proved to be a giant mountain of brush.

At 7:30 p.m., students lined up at the High School ready to parade through town on their way to the Bon-Fire. A large amount of yelling, chanting, and screaming students could be heard through town.

When everyone arrived at the site, yells like Fire-Up and Beat the Cardinals were executed by the cheerleaders. The Varsity Football players were announced, a speech by Coach Neuse was given, and a snake dance around the fire was done all in the spirit of Homecoming.

Special features to the Bon-Fire were music and help from the Band members, and a twirling presentation from Amber Petty.

—Randy McHaney

J.V. Football

Bandera's junior varsity Bulldogs got their first win of the season Thursday against Southside, 6-0. Not only was it their first win, but their first district win. The JV Bulldogs are now first in their district.

The JV team, which consists of mostly freshmen and sophomores, have been smaller than most of their sophomore and junior opponents. But that hasn't really mattered to the young team. Sean Addmot scored the winning and only touchdown of the game.

Next week they will be facing the Cole Cougars here in Bandera Stadium. Be there to cheer our up and coming Varsity team.

—Beau Willoughby

Eighth graders victorious

The eighth grade football team proved to be victorious over the Southside Cardinals last Thursday with a monstrous score in the Bulldogs favor of 34 to 0. The game was played at the Bulldog Stadium.

Scorers were as follows: Johnny Gonzales, James Nearn, Bo Mansfield and Emanuel Bermudez.

Presently the 8th grade team game record is 4 to 1 which proves they are shaping up to be strong competitors.

—Jim Mormando

College days are a'coming

Even though the new school year has just begun, for many students, college is not far away.

Choosing the right college to further each individuals education is vital. In order to make this decision less complicated, several colleges are making information more available. Examples of this information are details on their campus, fees, type of education, housing facilities, teacher/student ratio, and location available to prospective students at different schools at various times.

Several schools will hold a college night where many colleges will be represented. College catalogs, financial aid, and applications will be available. Dates and places are as follows:

Oct. 19-at Texas A&M University, exhibits, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. and tour, 11 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Oct. 21-Schreiner College, Kerrville, BHS Counselors office, 10:30 a.m.

Oct. 26-at University of Texas, Austin, University Teaching Center, 8 a.m. to noon.

Oct. 28-At Alamo Heights High School, 7 p.m.

Oct. 29-at Clark High School, 7 p.m., and at Boerne High School (enter in north parking lot, General Assembly in Cafeteria), 7:30

Cross Country ranked 6th in State

By Erika Kluna

Bandera varsity girls cross country has recently been ranked sixth in state. These athletes say that the ranking means a lot to them, but they will not let it go to their heads.

This weekend the girls ran at the Bandera Invitational Cross Country meet and placed fourth overall among class AAA schools attending.

Placing at the top of the list of Bulldogs was Beckie Clements, who ran a six-minute mile and a 12.50 two-mile, to put her individual standings at fourth place.

Bandera's next runner was Ann Chafin, placing 17th. Other placings were Kim Lukachik 24th, Elizabeth Fernandez 28th, Selena Cook 37th, Sally Langston 42nd, Sharon Wehmeyer 48th, and Judy Parkinson 49th.

Ruth Mazurek and Eve Elkins missed the meet out with injuries.

Approximately 30 schools participated in the Bandera Meet last Saturday. The District 27-AAA will be held in Bandera this weekend.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 15 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, OCTOBER 24, 1985 (USPS 040-980)

Fire 'of suspicious nature' destroys travel trailer here

A fire totally demolishing a travel trailer at mid-morning Tuesday in the Bandera Ranch Acres subdivision was described by Deputy Bob Hines as "of suspicious nature."

The fire was reported by a neighboring property owner.

The Bandera Volunteer Fire Department dispatched two trucks to the scene, but the blaze was in "full bloom and all we could do was let it burn," Al Evans, spokesman for the fire department said.

No one was found around the trailer, but Hines said he believed someone had been there when the fire broke out, and had tried to use a small hand fire extinguisher that might not have worked.

The fire extinguisher was found on the ground just beneath the rear door of the trailer.

A license check on the plates on the trailer revealed no listing on the computer, chief deputy Ken Mingo said on Wednesday. "So far we don't know who owns the property or the trailer," he said. The trailer was on blocks and apparently no one was living in it. "It may have been brought in for hunting season," Mingo theorized. "Surely whoever owns it will call when they find it burned," he said.

The Tuesday morning alarm received response from more firefighters than most daytime calls, Evans said The department could still use more firemen during the daytime hours. Evans said they have plenty of firefighters at night, but during working hours we're still short handed.

Anyone interested in the volunteer fireman's program can contact Evans at 796-4260. He predicts when the tall grass dries up as winter approaches there will be calls for brush fires.

Sheriff cancels rock concert

By Lila MacMillan
Staff writer

A San Antonio rock concert promoter claims Sheriff Guy Pickett and the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water Control and Improvement District literally "pulled the land out from under him" for a concert he scheduled for Oct. 18, 19, and 20.

Promoter David Tschirhart said he was coordinator for a production agency in San Antonio called Sound Wave Production Company which was promoting a "October End of Summer Party" to raise funds for the Mexico earthquake victims.

Shortly after 3 p.m. Friday, however, Sheriff Pickett handed Tschirhart a letter from BMA board president C. A. Mueller saying the property on Medina Lake in front of the Lakeside Restaurant in Lakehills, which was to be used for the Sound Wave production, could not be used.

The letter said the district was withdrawing it's permission to use the property.

"Bandera County is very much against any such event taking place on the lake-front property of Medina Lake."* — C.A. Mueller of BMA Water District

"First of all," Mueller said, "when Mrs. Louis Stille of the Lakeside Restaurant called our office, she said the fund-raising event would be for the Lakehills EMS. We have been informed that the Lakehills EMS has nothing to do with your fund-raising event," he continued.

"Secondly, we have been informed by the Bandera Sheriff's Department that problems were created by the sale of liquor, etc. at the last fundraising event promoted by the Stilles'," Mueller said.

Mueller said furthermore, "We informed you, as well as Mrs. Stille, that the district is a political subdivision operating under the law enforcement agencies. Bandera county is very much against any such event taking place on the lake front property of Medina Lake," Mueller said.

Mueller said, "Since the district was misinformed from the beginning in this matter, it objects to you using Bexar-Medina-Atascosa counties Water Control and Improvement District property below the 1084 foot elevation."

The BMA office manager said the district was contacted by Mrs. Stille in September asking permission to use the land across the road from the restaurant and lounge she and her husband own on Park Road 37, for a fundraiser for the Lakehills EMS.

Evelyn Sollock, the BMA's office manager said she presented

Suspect jailed in stabbing, stolen truck recovered

Another suspect is still being sought, lawmen said.

One of two suspects sought in the stabbing of Randy Bass at the Frontier Hotel on Oct. 15 has been jailed and the vehicle believed stolen by the two has been recovered.

Walter Isaiha Vance, 30, of Bandera was arrested by Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier inside Super S Food store Oct. 19, after a tip from someone who phoned the sheriff's department saying he was in the store, Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin.

A 1977 Chevrolet Luv Pickup truck registered to Julie Jenkins of Bandera was recovered by the Hayes County Sheriff's Department, Mingo said.

Vance was also known by an alias, Danny Ray Vance, Mingo said. Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set bond on the aggravated assault charge at $15,000. Vance remained in jail Wednesday in lieu of posting bond.

Also sought by authorities is Randy Carver, alias David Merle Carter, 27, of Bandera. The two are suspects in the stabbing that took place in a hotel room in the small hours of the morning after they had been seen arguing with the victim in the Purple Cow Saloon downstairs a few hours earlier.

The victim received two slashes to his arm, and was transported to Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville where he was treated for the wounds and apparent shock. Bass has been released from the hospital, Mingo said.

The truck the men were believed to have fled the area in was found at a garage in San Marcos where it had been left for repairs.

The same two suspects were reported to have pulled knives on some girls at the Langford Apartments shortly after the stabbing incident took place at the hotel, police chief Walter Welch told the Bulletin last week.

In other incidents reported by police this week, a Medina woman and a Kerrville man were arrested in unrelated incidents in the past week on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Carole Lavonne Goodenough, 39, of Medina was arrested by Department of Public Safety trooper Nolan Metz on Oct. 18 and charged with DWI.

Peace Justice Ed Jennings set bond at $800 and she was released the same day after posting the bond.

Charges of DWI and possession of marijuana and paraphernalia were brought against John Andrew Keeling, 29, of Kerrville. He was arrested by Deputy Dan Jackson on Oct. 20.

Judge Bonnie Towers set bond at $800 on the DWI charge and $400 on the possession charge. She also assessed a $125 fine for possession of the paraphernalia. He was released the following day.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said two burglaries were reported in the county in the past week.

Charles Albright of Pipe Creek reported someone broke into the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department and a large quantity of beer valued at $192 was missing.

Oscar Valdez reported on Oct. 20 someone broke into his weekend place about five miles east of Bandera on Highway 173. He said two television sets, a video recorder, and other items were missing valued at a total of $695.

Sales tax collections up 14.7 percent in Bandera

Sales tax collections continue to run significantly ahead of collections of a year ago, according to figures released by the state comptroller's office.

The city of Bandera has received $97,231 as its share of the sales tax collected by merchants of Bandera, and that's fully 14.7 percent more than was collected through Sept. 30 last year.

Statewide, sales tax collections during the first nine months of 1985 were 10.1 percent over a similar period last year.

Other area towns also continue to collect more sales tax, an indication that sales during 1985 are ahead of 1984.

Collections in Blanco are up 11.1 percent, Fredericksburg up 17.4 percent, Boerne up 13.0 percent, Kerrville up 12.2 percent, Ingram up 20.3 percent, Castroville up 16.4 percent, Hondo up 11.2 percent, Leakey up 7.2 percent, and Uvalde up 15.1 percent.

Robertson Creek north of Medina roars after the heavy rains of the weekend. No major damage or injuries were reported as a result of the trains that were generalized throughout the county.

Heavy rainfall recorded

Heavy rains poured over Bandera County last weekend, causing some minor road problems, but also bringing to agricultural producers relief from the drought and a 2-foot rise in the level of Lake Medina.

According to Bulletin correspondent Lillie Thompson, of Sabinal Canyon, "as much as seven inches fell below Utopia, closing the roads between Utopia and Sabinal for some time, with several sloughs flooding the road in low places."

Utopia received 3¼ to 4 inches and Vanderpool had 2½ to 3½ inches, varying in many places, Thompson reported.

In Tarpley the rains reached 2.7 inches over the weekend, and according to Paul Garrison Jr. the Medina area collected 3.6 inches of rain between Saturday and Monday.

Residents from the Medina Lake area reported 3 to 5 inches of rain, according to correspondent Lila MacMillan, and Debbie Rhinehart reported 4½ inches of rain at her home off Bump Gate Road in the eastern part of Bandera County.

Official weather observer Millard Schuchart of the U. S. Soil Conservation Service in Bandera reported 1.77 inches of rain in Bandera from Saturday through Monday.

The Medina River level in Bandera was at 5.7 feet, a rise of about 7 inches from last Wednesday's level of 5.1 feet, Schuchart said.

The Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Counties' Water District reported a 2-foot rise in the level of the lake during the week, from 1,043.14 feet to 1,045.14 feet, and it's still rising.

By Tom Denyer

Last week this column related the views of Jeff Roet, a geographer who is buying land in Bandera County and is also an informed student of urban growth. Jeff does not think that Bandera County is in line anytime soon for the kind of large-scale, middle class housing project that would mark the beginning of our being another victim—or, beneficiary, depending on your point of view—of San Antonio's urban sprawl.

To support his thinking, he points to some simple geometry applied to the region's geography.

Loop 1604 is on a 14-mile radius from the center of San Antonio. Therefore, from the northern half of 1604 to the city center, there is a semicircle with about 300 square miles in it. If you double that radius to 28 miles—which, it turns out, is approximately the distance from San Antonio's center to the Bandera County line—you quadruple the area, to 1,200 square miles.

That means that developers do not have to go that much farther out in order to have much more land from which to choose.

Furthermore, from a developer's point of view not all land was created equal. Developers prefer to leapfrog along "corridors" like I-10, Highway 281 North, and I-35. True, Highway 16 has been widened, but it hardly counts as a major corridor, now if ever.

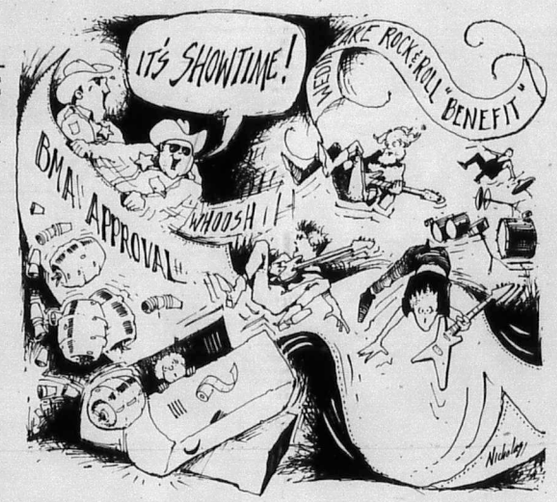

Jeff adds that Bandera County, despite the scenery that has drawn him and so many others here, has some features that most developers would find unattractive. In particular, there are not that many paved roads intersecting with one another. Those intersections produce routes for commuters to different workplaces, as well as traffic for retail businesses.

If you think about it, all the city of Bandera is—geographically speaking—is a developmental cluster surrounding the intersection of Highways 16 and 173.

So Jeff seems to be right: it will be many years before he finds his eight acres of Bandera County surrounded by a suburb.

On the other hand, as he himself admits, developers do not always base their decisions on what makes the most economic sense. Sometimes, perhaps most of the time, they go by hunch, intuition, and word of mouth; and, they operate on the basic need, in their business, to go from one project to the next.

They are the loose cannons on the deck of urban sprawl.

'No-pass, no-play' rule's results may be issue in '86 election

By Lyndell Williams
Capitol correspondent

The controversial "no-pass, no-play" rule last week hit the Texas schoolboy football season for the first time as thousands of worried students, parents, and coaches watched to see if their fall football ritual would be decimated.

Policital movers and shakers across the state watched, too, wondering whether those decimated souls would become angry enough to tilt momentum their way now for the '86 elections.

How angry can you get when some 15 percent of Texas students fail the first six weeks and become ineligible for football, band, volleyball, drama and other activities?

One prevailing theory, of course, is that all this will effect the governor's race. Folks angered by the reform will rise up and vote against Gov. Mark White, who strong-armed no-pass, no-play through the Legislature.

The other side of the coin is that concerned Texans will now see how badly the rule was needed and applaude the action.

White, the one in the hot seat on this issue, took the positive road last week when the results were brought in: the "dire predictions" of mass failures proved false and students had buckled down to their studies.

He also jumped a potential opponent, former Gov. Bill Clements, whom he called "one of the first to retreat" from hardball academics.

Clements, when he saw that 15 percent of students were out for the next six weeks, said he favored changing the law to allow them to return to extracurricular activities as soon as they made higher grades, rather than making them sit out the entire six weeks.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

Some San Antonio residents are having trouble with a neighbor. Seems he enjoys taking pot shots at the neighborhood dogs with a pellet gun.

He says the dogs' incessant barking makes him nervous, according to pundit Paul Thompson in a nearby daily newspaper.

Oh, he may be after some canines that roam the neighborhood and do bad things in his yard. But he doesn't restrict himself and his frivolous hobby to shooting dogs in his yard. One witness, according to Thompson, saw him shoot a canine half a block away and inside a fenced yard.

Neighbors abhor these acts of outright cruelty. They also fear for the safety of their property, and most importantly, for the children who play in the neighborhood.

An errant shot, even from a pellet gun, can injure, even maim a child for a lifetime.

But the neighbors are at a loss to put a stop to the man's practice.

The cops say they've got to catch him in the act. And they say the obvious charges, like "endangering children" or "cruelty to animals" won't work in the present system.

But there is something in the system—the San Antonio system, that is—that may work, officials say. That's a San Antonio ordinance making it unlawful to discharge pellet guns in the city.

"Our only resource was the anti-pellet-shooting ordinance," said neighbor Russell Smith.

The case will be heard in three weeks.

A view

Fundraisers seem to be the backbone of all non-profit organizations wherever you go. What would Bandera county be without them? They built our churches, our civic centers, our meeting halls, and give us a place to go for entertainment and to meet with friends and make new friends.

No less than ten fundraising events have crossed my desk this week to be written about. They come in all sizes and forms. The Cub Scouts will be selling 10-cent tickets for the Halloween Carnival they will have at the Pipe Creek Community Center. Proceeds will go into their treasury to pay for the projects they have planned for the year.

The Spirit of Christmas Presents will be needing funds and gifts to provide Christmas to kids whose families are having hard times this year.

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department needs to raise lots of money through donations and barbecues so it can build it's third firehouse, and the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department announced it's third annual Turkey Shoot to raise funds for another fire truck.

We should be seeing some new ideas popping up soon to raise money, since our lawmakers in Austin have had to write laws controlling bingo, raffles, and Las Vegas nights and new efforts are being made to enforce them. These laws set up tight guide lines and record keeping for Bingo. Raffles are illegal because. Selling chances constitutes a lottery and lotteries are illegal in Texas.

Las Vegas, Reno, and Monte Carlo nights are a lot of fun, The gambling type games are played with play money, and then an auction is held with bidding done for the merchandise with funny money. Alcoholic Beverage Commission officials say you can't have this kind of fundraiser in a building where a beer or liquor license has been issued.

Ever wonder why our lawmakers got so involved in methods used to raise money for charitable causes? Like most things it was because a few bad apples took advantage of the majority and found a way to fatten their own wallets.

It's a shame, but bad apples can ruin a bushel.

No phonics

Dear editor:

My children attend Bandera Schools. My son is in the first grade and my daughter is in the seventh.

Last night we attended the Junior High School "Open House" where parents can visit with the children's teachers. I was amazed to hear teachers openly admit that a large percentage of children as far along as sixth and seventh grades could not read well enough to keep up with their lessons.

The past week my first grader has been asking for my help in learning to read. One day last week he brought home some flash cards with simple three and four letter words printed on each card. As I held them up he began to guess at the word. I told him not to guess but to sound out each letter and put them together and form the word. He informed me that this was not the way his teachers had instructed them.

I am greatly opposed to this method of teaching. How can a teacher expect a child to learn to read when they do not even know what certain letters sould like?

When I was taught to read we were taught phonics, a method of teaching beginners to read by learning the usual sounds of certain letters or groups of letters. With so many, many words in the English language, how can a child ever learn to read if they never learn how a certain letter sounds?

I am willing and want to help my children, but with all these new teaching methods, parents have no way to know what is the correct procedure.

If there is any way possible to correct these teaching procedures, I would like to do so.

Dear editor:

In regard to your "empty chairs" comments (Bulletin, Oct. 3) stating that no one showed up to protest the (Bandera school) tax increase, I would like to say maybe we realize the futility of protesting to the current board.

In the past I have attended meetings at the school board and county courthouse where everyone unanimously disapproved and vociferously objected to tax increases only to have the powers that be in essence say, "tough, we will raise them anyway."

We, the taxpayers, will have to take a more effective approach and petition elected officials.

A lifetime

Dear Editor:

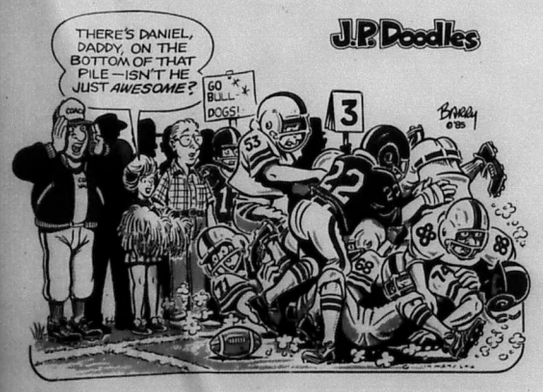

The diseases of poverty take the lives of 40,000 of the world's children every day. That's 15 million every year, a staggering loss to the entire world. The numbers may seem overwhelming, but UNICEF — The United Nations Children's Fund — can prevent half of these children's deaths, and the citizens of Bandera community can help.

Chances are good that you went "Trick-or-Treating for UNICEF" as a child, and that your children are continuing the 35-year-old tradition today. Those nickels, dimes and dollars we collected have raised over $80 million for needy children in developing countries. But there are still millions of children in Asia, Africa, and Latin America who desperately need our help on National UNICEF Day.

On Oct. 31, National UNICEF Day, Bandera Citizens of all ages can show their concern for the children of the world by supporting our Trick or Treat for UNICEF Oct. 30.

Bandera United Methodist Youth Fellowship has free information suggesting ways in which you can make this National UNICEF Day a safe, happy and successful one. If you would like to volunteer, please contact C. J. Wright at 796-4845 (after 5) or 796-3849. One day in our lives can mean a lifetime to the children of the world.

Lakeside Restaurant cited for Alcoholic Beverage violations

Tommy Hall, agent with the Kerrville office of the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission, told the Bulletin Monday a five-day suspension of business or a $750 civil penalty will have to be paid by Lakeside Restaurant in Lakehills for liquor board violations.

"During a two-day fundraiser for the March of Dimes on Aug. 17 and 18 citations were issued to two people for drinking alcoholic beverages before noon on Sunday," Hall said.

A temporary beer license had been issued for the property in front of the restaurant on the lakeshore for the fundraiser. He said it was issued off the Lakeside Restaurant license, which named Ruth Hill as responsible party. He said Louis Stille, property owner, was manager of the business.

"An agent from our Hondo office and myself caught two people drinking before noon on Sunday, in full view of a beer booth worker on the property covered by the temporary license," Hall said.

Citations were issued to the two people and a penalty of five days suspension of business or $750 civil penalty will have to be paid by the Lakeside Restaurant as license holder the first week of November.

Methodist youth working to combat measles

UNICEF is calling for a global commitment to immunize every child against five major childhood diseases.

Bandera United Methodist Youth Fellowship has joined the United Nations Children's Fund in a battle to eliminate measles throughout the world, says church spokesman C. J. Wright.

The campaign is part of a Child Survival Revolution which UNICEF is spearheading, and which they say has the potential to save the lives of over 7 million children in the developing world each year.

UNICEF is calling for a global commitment to immunize every child against the five major childhood deseases by the year 1990.

Measles, one of the biggest killers, takes the lives of 1,250,000 children and debilitates 1,500,000 more every year.

For a cost of $5, a child in the developing world can now be protected against measles and the four other major diseases.

Bandera United Methodist Youth Fellowship has accepted UNICEF's challenge to work toward this goal of global immunization, Wright said.

In recognition of National UNICEF Day on Oct. 31, the group is sponsoring a Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF on Wednesday, Oct. 30, from 5:30 p.m. to 7 p.m. The citizens of Bandera can help by welcoming young Trick-or-Treaters who collect for UNICEF on this day.

For more information, contact Wright at 796-4845, after 5 p.m., or 796-3849.

the request to the board and they agreed to allow the lakefront property to be used for an EMS fundraiser. A letter giving permission was written to Sound Wave Two of San Antonio on Sept. 18.

At a public meeting in Lakehills on Sept. 19, Mrs. Stille told the newly-formed Lakehills EMS Support Team that they were planning a rock concert to benefit the EMS. Peggy Galland, president of the support team, told the Bulletin the group wanted nothing to do with the benefit at Lakeside. "The Lakehills EMS Support Team is in no way associated with any rock concert supposed to benefit the EMS," she said.

Sollock told the Bulletin Friday the BMA district had never been advised that the benefit would be for anyone other than the EMS until Thursday, at which time Mueller wrote the letter withdrawing permission to use the land.

Tschirhart told the Bulletin on Friday he had circulated 27,000 flyers in the San Antonio area promoting the "Rocktober End of Summer Party" and he had advertised the fundraiser on three San Antonio radio stations.

He said because the EMS in Lakehills did not want their fundraiser, they had decided to turn the proceeds from the rock concert over to San Antonio Mayor Henry Cisneros' office for the Mexico earchquake victims.

The Bulletin has learned the flyers which were circulated in the San Antonio area state "All proceeds go to charity," with no particular charity named. The flyers were apparently not distributed in the lake area or in Bandera county.

When the Bulletin talked to Tschirhart on Friday he said he had already had 14 portable toilets delivered and had 25 to 30 concessions on the way to the lake that he would have to turn back.

He referred to the sheriff as a "red-neck cop," and said the lawman told him "we don't want your charity, we don't need your charity, get you ABC's (portable toilets) and get off the property."

Tschirhart said he expected close to 20,000 people coming out for the weekend rock concert and he didn't know how he could stop them.

According to the little pink flyers, there would be swimming, camping and fishing, and bikers would be welcomed. The admission fee would have been $5 for adults and $2.50 for children. Food and drinks were to be sold on the location.

No problems were reported at the site over the weekend and no heavy traffic was reported in the area.

Extended Coverage

If you were disabled and could not work — for a short time, or even permanently — what would you and your family live on?

First line of defense is Social Security; almost everyone is covered by that. But it won't pay for the first five months, and it won't pay much. Benefits average $900 for a family of four.

Some states offer short-term workers' compensation; some pension funds let you begin drawing benefits if you're disabled. And some companies provide disability insurance.

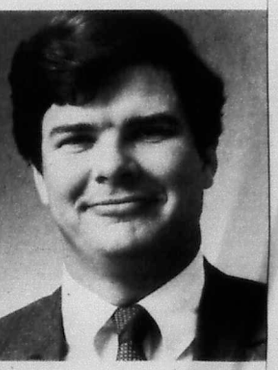

Determine what your family needs to live on. If there is a shortfall between the protection you have and what you need, the answer is disability insurance of your own.

As with other insurance, you can save considerably if you up the "deductible" — the time you have to wait before beginning benefit payments. It's most important that your policy be noncancelable.

For all your insurance needs, see the protection professionals at Joe McMullan Insurance, 601 Main, Bandera, Tx. 796-3726.

Bandera County

25 years ago

By Lila MacMillan

The Oct. 21, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin announced the victory of the Bulldogs over the Southside Cardinals, 28 to 6.

Since the Mustangs opening loss in the season to Hondo they had been riding high. They added St. Louis of Castroville to their list of victims with a 22-8 score. John Brock directed the Mustang win in the absence of Royce Sprott who was out suffering with a pulled muscle in his back.

In the third grade news, Jeanene Edwards announced her new sister, Joclyn Grace was already spoiled because everyone picked her up too much!

Shirlene Schaefer said her baby brother "turned loose and walked right across the room" while she helped her mother cook supper.

Gary Richard reported while his parents were away on a hunting trip to Colorado, he entertained himself by making a guitar out of a cigar box.

Jessie Hamilton announced she had sold her place at Medina Lake and would be moving to Kerrville.

The Bantex Theater offered wide screen entertainment with Jerry Lewis as "The Bellboy" with three cartoons. Coming next was "Ice Palace," starring Richard Burton, Robert Ryan, Carolyn Jones, and Martha Hyer.

Smokie Kindla was in charge of organizing the Alamo Village Trail Ride coming in November 1960. The five-day jaunt would take the riders through the Hill Country to Brackettville's Alamo Village where the movie "Two Rode West" was being filmed on location by Columbia Productions.

Police chief vows to enforce vandalism laws on Halloween

Bandera Police Chief Walter Welch says he and his men will be out in full force on Halloween.

"We hope the little ones have a good time, that's what Halloween is all about," the chief said. "We will keep the streets safe for the little ones," he said. "But citations will be given to those that litter or throw eggs, or mess up the town."

At the same time a safety official issued some Halloween safety tips.

"When in doubt, throw it out," advises George Gustafson, executive vice president of Texas Safety Association, when discussing Halloween treats. "If a food or candy item has no wrapping, or the covering is loose or torn, discard it. Wash and slice fruit before allowing your child to eat it. Concerned and considerate treatgivers might help by providing non-food items, such as pennies or nickels, snack food coupons or bright decals for the childrens' school binders," he adds.

Common sense and prior planning play a big part in assuring your youngsters' safety and enjoyment, while still allowing them the thrills of this fall celebration. A few suggestions include:

—Pre-planning the route, staying in familiar neighborhoods and only visiting homes that show the trick-or-treat signal of a lighted porch or yard.

—An older teenager or adult should accompany young children on their journeys. Older children walking their route with friends need to thoroughly discuss safety rules with parents beforehand.

—Set time limits for their travels. Some communities designate Halloween treating hours. Also, take into account that Halloween falls on a week night this year, which means that the costumed imps and aliens turn back into students early the next morning.

—Costumes and masks should not restrict movement or eyesight, or trail on the ground. Face paint or normal make-up products can provide frightening effects while allowing freedom of sight. Use lots of light colors in costumes, or reflective tape, and pass out plenty of flashlights. Dark of night adds to the thrill of the celebration, but hides the dangers of curbs, stones and cracked sidewalks.

—Make certain your yard, driveway, porch and sidewalks are free of obstructions if you are handing out treats to the tiny revelers. If you're driving, take extra care to watch for small, ghostly pedestrians.

"Remembers to check your Bulletin for holiday activities," Gustafson adds. "Group activities at organization-sponsored haunted houses, recreation center parties or neighborhood celebrations often offer a fun-filled alternative to the traditional Halloween trek."

Churches and civic organizations all over Bandera County are sponsoring special Halloween parties and carnivals. Check your area news to find out what's happening in your community. These parties are planned to insure the youth of the area will have a fun and safe Halloween.

Janet Brumley

Brumley named agent

Janet S. Brumley has been named extension home economist for Bandera County, assording to Bandera County Judge Tommy Curbo and Gloria Schwarzlose of Uvalde, district extension director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Brumley succeeds Peggy Edwards and will be responsible for planning, implementing and evaluating educational programs involving home economics, Schwarzlose said. The appointment will be effective Nov. 16.

Brumley, who was an extension agent in San Saba County, earned a bachelor of science degree in home economics from Texas Tech University in Lubbock. A native of Richarson, she taught high school home economics for three years in San Antonio and Houston. Her husband, Sonny, is an accountant.

"Mrs. Brumley will present demonstrations to organized community groups, as well as various county-wide annual programs, and will recruit and train adult volunteer leaders to work with organized 4-H and youth groups," Schwarzlose said.

Teen-agers victims in many cases of sexual diseases

Almost a fourth of all gonorrhea and 10 percent of all syphilis cases reported to the Texas Department of Health (TDH) are among teen-agers aged 15 to 19 years, according to state statistics.

"Those figures are particularly alarming," said Dr. Thomas G. Betz, Chief of the Bureau of Communicable Disease Services at TDH. "What's disturbing is that those percentages have stayed constant even though Texas has had fewer total cases of syphilis and gonorrhea reported for each of the last three years."

The cases of reported primary/secondary syphilis declined from 6,338 in 1982 to 5,136 in 1984. Gonorrhea decreased from 81,850 cases in 1982 to 65,802 in 1984.

An equally alarming trend has developed among young teen-agers who are less than 14 years of age, Betz said. "Cases of gonorrhea have increased in that age group for the last three years. In 1984, we had 542 cases of gonorrhea in children between 10 and 14 years of age."

Such trends are distrubing for several reasons, Betz said.

"An older person is more likely to know that sexually transmitted diseases (STDs) like gonorrhea and syphilis require prompt medical attention," Betz said. "But teen-agers, especially the younger ones, often don't understand the implications of STDs. They may not realize that they need medical attention or know where to get that care."

"They aren't thinking about it at age 15, but many teen-agers will want children of their own someday. STDs can change those plans."* — Health department spokesman

STDs that teen-agers acquire today may also drastically affect their futures, Betz said. "They aren't thinking of it at 15, but many teen-agers will want to have children of their own someday. STDs can change those plans because they can cause infertility."

One example of that, he said, is pelvic inflammatory disease (PID), which can develop after a gonorrhea or chlamydial infection. The two organisms can cause scarring of the Fallopian tubes connecting the ovaries and uterus. If the scarring is severe enough, the tubes become blocked and the woman is infertile, Betz said.

"Nor is infertility a scare story, he said. The Centers for Disease Control found that between 1976 and 1978 almost one of every five women hospitalized for PID was a teen-ager.

"That figure may have increased, Betz said. Recent studies in Colorado Springs, Colo., and Seattle, Wash., have shown that about a third of all PID cases may occur in teen-agers."

To combat such problems, the State of Texas has required that STD education be provided for junior and senior high school students beginning this fall. Those programs will be aimed at increasing students' understanding of STDs, how they can be prevented and the importance of seeking prompt medical care. The educational units, mandated by the State Board of Education, will have resource materials available from TDH.

"This kind of education is essential if Texas is ever going to control STDs," said Dr. Robert Bernstein, Commissioner of Health. "It makes sense to teach the people who are most likely to get STDs about how they can be prevented. This problem is a serious one, and not one that can be vaccinated away like childhood diseases such as measles or mumps. With the exception of hepatitis B, there are no vaccines to protect against STDs."

"The only logical way to prevent the problem is to teach young people about what they may be getting themselves into. They need to have knowledge about STDs so that they are capable of making wise decisions now and in the future," Bernstein said.

Our Basic Philosophy: More Typing From Less Typing

The 605 Memorywriter automates many of the everyday typing chores that until now were still done manually. With the 605's truly automatic and easy-to-use features, you'll never have to do manual corrections again. And you'll avoid much of the manual positioning that eats up so much time and effort.

Now, you can enjoy the advantages of an electronic typewriter for about the same price you'd pay for an electric typewriter. And yet, the 605 is still an easy-to-use, basic typewriter with a familiar keyboard. There are no complex coding steps to go through. You simply get much more typing productivity from much less typing effort.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Reading can be one of the great experiences of life. Through written material we come into contact with great minds, refreshing discussion and exciting ideas. Authors have put into writing their best thoughts, research and inspiration. Reading will unclog the mind; stretch one's thinking; and expose one to ideas that will broaden one's living.

Without reading, you isolate your thoughts and ideas of the ages and such isolation can lead to boredom and mediocrity. An evening of reading can infuse a day with challenging ideas which can replace boredom.

Jim, a first grader, was listening to his older brother talk to his mother on how to read quickly. Finally, Jim offered to give his advice — "Well, I've found you read lots faster if you don't stop to color the pictures." "Without stopping to color the pictures", an ordinary reader can read an average book at the rate of 300 words a minute. Setting aside 15 minutes a day reading time, one can read 20 average books during the year.

Reading is for everybody and a library card is the finest credit card one can carry. It's possessor is truly free to partake of the fountain of wisdom. Choose wisely from the streams of this fountain of wisdom and read...

Dr. John and Donna Boxington

New veterinarian joins Hill Country vet hospital

Dr. John Boyington of Marionville, Mo., will be practicing veterinary medicine with Dr. Conrad Nightingale at Hill Country Veterinary Hospital on Highway 173 south of Bandera.

Boyington and his wife, Donna, have moved to Bandera.

Raised in Goodland, Kan., and Littleton, Colo., John and Donna attended Colby Junior College in Colby, Kan., where John was on a wrestling scholarship and competed in the national junior college finals.

Both John and Donna were rodeo team members, participating in steer wrestling, calf roping, team roping, barrel racing, breakaway roping and goat tying. Both attended Kansas State University on rodeo scholarships.

Donna graduated with a degree in microbiology and John with a degree in veterinary medicine in 1982.

While at K. State, they spent a summer in Geneva, Switzerland, working as research assistants.

After graduation, John accepted a position in a small and large animal practice in Missouri where they remained for three years. John worked on all species of animals while Donna worked for a family practitioner in his laboratory.

Both John and Donna list their hobbies as horses, playing tennis, hunting, and skiing.

In addition to belonging to some professional organizations, they have already joined St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Bandera and expect to be active participants in local activities.

First Federal reveals trade

First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Austin whis week announced the signing of a letter of intent to sell a significant number of foreclosed properties in the Houston area to Austin investor John D. Byram.

First Federal has also signed a letter of intent to purchase the stock of a company owned by Byram. The majority of the assets in the company are real estate notes secured by developed lots in a manufactured homes subdivision in the Dallas-Fort Worth metroplex area.

In exchange for the stock, First Federal proposes to pay consideration with a value of approximately $17 million consisting of cash, debentures, and approximately 246,000 shares, or 9.9 percent, of First Federal common stock.

The Houston properties proposed to be sold have an aggregate value of approximately $18 million, and consist primarily of single family residences. In return First Federal will receive cash and notes receivable.

The sale of the Houston properties will be approximately at First Federal's carrying values and no significant gain or loss is anticipated on the transaction.

Former State Sen. Charles Herring, chairman of First Federal's board of directors, indicated that both transactions are considered by the board to be good business moves for the Association, "since one converts a significant portion of the company's non-earning real estate in the Houston area to conforming interest-earning assets, and the other allows us to increase our capital base by approximately $5 million while obtaining solid interest-earning assets in exchange for equity, without dilution of the value of ownership of current shareholders."

Sen. Herring cautioned that the letters of intent and consummation of the transaction are subject to various contingencies such as property inspections and negotiation and execution of definitive agreements between the two parties.

These transactions have been under negotiation since early summer and the parties hope to consummate the final agreements before the end of 1985.

Loeffler cited

U.S. Rep. Tom Loeffler, who represents Bandera County in Congress, was among 15 Texas congressmen commended by the Texas Farm Bureau for their votes on the recently-passed House farm bill.

TFB president S.M. True of Plainview said Rep. Loeffler and the 14 others he named voted in support of the Farm Bureau's positions on all five important farm bill votes taken in the House.

The Senate is expected to act on its version of the farm bill this week, True said.

Completes training

Navy Hospitalman Antonio Rodriguez, son of Louis and Frances Rodriguez of Bandera, has completed the Marine Corps Basic Combat Engineer Course.

A 1983 graduate of Bandera High School, Bandera, TX, he joined the Navy in August 1983.

During the six-week course at Camp Lejeune, N.C., Rodriguez studied the fundamentals of engineering support for combat units. He received instruction on the tools and procedures for building bridges, roads and field fortifications. He also studied the use of demolitions, landmine warfare and camouflage techniques.

Marine promoted

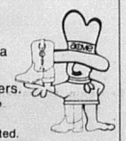

Marine Cpl. Freddie V. Espinosa, son of Rudy and Margarita Espinosa of Bandera, TX, has been promoted to his present rank while serving at Marine Corps Air Station, El Toro, Calif.

A 1981 graduate of Milby High School, Houston, he joined the Marine Corps in August 1984.

Area cities receive grants

Gov. Mark White this week announced 158 grants totaling $40.2 million to local governments for public facilities benefiting persons of low and moderate income.

None of the projects were in Bandera County, though six of them were in the Alamo Area Council of Governments area.

The city of Charlotte received $375,000 to construct a wastewater treatment plant and the city of Devine received $171,940 to drill a 350-foot municipal water well with associated storage facilities.

The city of Floresville received $400,000 to construct streets with curbs and gutters and the city of Runge in Karnes County received $398,395 for street and drainage improvements.

The city of Natalia received $400,000 to repair an unused water well to provide an alternate source of municipal water and the city of Dilley received $348,000 to expand its sewage treatment plant.

Spirits of Christmas Presents gears up

The first organizational meeting for The Spirits of Christmas Presents will be held Oct. 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the First State Bank.

This project is an annual event that insures every child in Bandera County will know the joy of receiving Christmas presents.

Anyone interested in getting involved with this worthwhile project is urged to attend the meeting, spokeswoman Peggy Ashmore said.

HFC reaches $$120,000

Doug Looney, chairman of the Hill Country College Fund, recently announced that the fund had reached $120,000, a new record for the month of September.

"This puts the campaign on a running start toward its final goal of $215,000. I congratulate all of the donors and volunteers to date. There is still much hard work before we reach the goal," said Looney.

Melvin Johnson, business division chairman, stated that he expected a record number of business contributions by the end of the campaign. "More and more of the business leaders are becoming Mindpower Partners, donors of $100 and more.

Jackson wins San Lucia trip

Ron Jackson, Bandera attorney and owner of Moore's Title Company, has won an award from a national title company, which includes a trip to San Lucia, an island in the Caribbean Sea.

Ron and his young daughter, Christine, left Thursday for San Lucia to attend seminars for title company owners and enjoy the beautiful tropical island.

They are also invited to a reception where they will be presented to Queen Elizabeth of England, who is on this British-owned island to make it a free port.

They received a security check and a list of what to do and what to wear from our government for this event.

They will return Monday.

State OKs by-laws of EMS Support Team

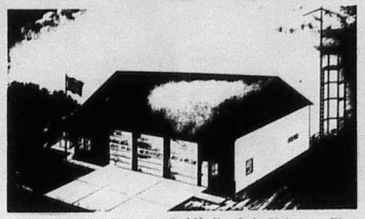

The by-laws for the Lakehills EMS Support Team have been approved by the state, ways and means chairman Kay Solomon told the Bulletin this week.

The organization, which is strictly for the purpose of raising funds for the Lakehills EMS unit, was formed in August.

"We can accept donations now," Solomon said. They can be mailed to Lakehills EMS Support Team, P.O. Box 524, Lakehills, 78063.

"A telephone committee is being formed now, and we hope to contact everyone in the area that the Lakehills EMS serves and ask for their support," Solomon said. "At this time we haven't set a date for our next meeting, but we hope to meet soon and organize a fundraiser," she said.

Land for a building to house a classroom and two ambulances has been donated. Plans are still on the drawing board for the facility.

This sketch is of the proposed Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department's main firehouse. The building will be 65 foot by 75 foot located on Park Road 37 at 5th Street in Lakehills. It will house a classroom, office, radio room, large kitchen area, women's lounge, men's shower and locker room, and a barbecue pit to feed 250 people per hour for a six hour period, says fire chief Clint Oehler. Plans also call for a hose drying tower. The present station will become another substation like the one on Pebble Beach. The fire department operates on contributions. They can be mailed to P.O. Box 451, Lakehills 78063.

MLBA plans ceremony to burn its mortgage

The annual Appreciation Dinner for the 100 plus volunteers that worked at the fifth Great Gumbo Cookoff in September will be treated to a dinner at the Lakehills Civic Center by the Medina Lake Betterment Association.

The dinner will be combined with a mortgage burning celebration, says MLBA president Peggy Ashmore. Serving will begin at 6:30 p.m. Oct. 27.

"Everyone that helped to make the cookoff a success this year is invited to attend Sunday's celebration," she said.

"Although the rain hurt the attendance for the cookoff this year," cookoff originator Bob Caswell said, "the gross profit was over $8,400 and the net figure was over $4,000. After a little over 10 years, the mortgage on the Civic Center property and building has been paid off, and the board of directors wants those that have shared in the work of raising funds to join in the celebration," he said.

"We lost a good supporter of the cookoff on Oct. 17 when Eladia Guidry of San Antonio died. She was well-known as an avid supporter and promoter for the Alamo City and Lakehills," Ashmore said. Guidry and her husband Norris (Frenchy) Guidry owned Frenchy's restaurant in San Antonio and have been very active supporters of the Great Gumbo Cookoffs. She was a judge at the 1984 cookoff and she and Frenchy have delighted palates with their authentic "cajun" recipes at the cookoffs.

This year Frenchy donned a seven-foot crawfish costume and participated in the awards ceremony for the winners.

At the regular MLBA meeting, 11 new members were approved by the board. They are Mark and Debbie Myers, Lloyd and Louise Mays, Shirley and Roland Albrecht, and Ron and Sandy Lane, all of Lakehills; and Jack and Panola Lapham and Jesus Velasquez Jr., both of San Antonio.

Old-fashioned Social at St. Victor's Chapel

An Old-fashioned Church Social will be held at St. Victor's Catholic Chapel following the 7 p.m. Mass on Saturday, Oct. 26. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish to share with other parishioners and guests.

Spokeswoman Cecilia Hartman said the socials are always enjoyed by the youngsters as well as the adults. Following dinner the children join together for games while the adults spend time getting to know one another better.

Everyone attending Mass is invited, Hartmann said.

Halloween Party planned at Civic Center

Ghost stories, games, a costume contest, candy, treats, cookies, punch and many fun treats are on the agenda at the Lakehills Civic Center for the annual Halloween Party for the children of the community, says Pam Elliot. The only thing with an admission fee will be the haunted house, sponsored by the Lakehills United Methodist Youth Fellowship. Admission will be $1 for those wishing a tour, she said.

The Medina Lake Betterment Association will transform the Civic Center into a Halloween Fantasy and the doors will open at 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 31. The party will last until 8:30 p.m.

Bazaar-Taco Breakfast planned for Nov. 2 and 3

Hermann Sons Lodge will host a Bazaar the weekend of Nov. 2 and 3. "We will feature many beautiful handcrafted items for children and adults," Kim Scheib reported. The monthly Taco Breakfast will be held on Nov. 3 in conjunction with the two day Bazaar, she said.

Both functions will be in the new Millie Schenkat Hall on Park Road 37 in Lakehills. Starting time will be 8 a.m. both Saturday and Sunday.

The women of the lodge have been making the items for the sale over the past months and some are very unusual.

Locals join Hunters at annual feast

When St. Victor's Chapel sponsors it's 29th annual Hunters Supper on Nov. 9 local residents and hunters will enjoy a feast of turkey with all the trimmings. The serving will begin at 5 p.m. at the little chapel.

The community always turns out to welcome the hunters into the area and enjoy catching up on news of the hunters and their families. Some of the families hunting in the area come from as far as Louisiana and the Gulf Coast. As one parishioner states, "it's the only time we see some of the families and the fellowship is nice, catching up on what's been happening in their families since last hunting season. Some of the hunters that have been coming since the 1940's now bring their children and grandchildren to hunt with them"

A dessert and bake sale will also be held in conjunction with the dinners. Adult plates will be $3.50 and children can dine for $2.

Cowbells elect

Marj Nicholson of Kerrville has been installed as president of the Hill Country Cowbells and Marjorie Benignus of Johnson City and Carolyn Trimble of Junction are vice presidents.

Other officers include Brownie Ekis of Junction and Mindy Goff of Kerrville, both also vice presidents; Marilyn Thomas of Ingram, recording secretary, and Sharon Spenrath of Comfort, treasurer.

The Nose Knows.
An aromatic chemical is added to natural gas to give it a distinct odor. One that's easy to detect.
It's this distinct odor and knowing what to do when you detect it that keeps gas safe.
If you're outdoors and smell gas, you should call your local Lone Star Gas office.
If you're indoors and detect faint whiffs, check to see if a pilot light has gone out or a burner valve has been left partially open. These are corrective steps you can take yourself.
If your equipment is working properly and you still smell gas, please follow these precautions:
1. Don't switch anything electrical on or off. Don't strike a match or do anything that could cause a spark.
2. Have everyone leave immediately, leaving door open to help ventilate.
3. Go to a nearby phone and call Lone Star.
Help us keep natural gas one of the safest energies available. Use your nose. Then use your head...and follow the proper precautions.
(Just a reminder: Before you do any digging, call your local Lone Star Gas office so they can inform you on pipe locations.)

Arliss and Rosann Schott went to Houston last weekend to visit their daughter and son-in-law Harvey and Donna Kelly and granddaughter Heather. They enjoyed the Renaissance Festival on Sunday. Although Arliss had to return to work on Monday, Roseann stayed a couple extra days and enjoyed being with Heather. Roseann just happened to bring this photo back with her.

Holt partied out

"After three birthday parties in one day, Doris Holt had a right to be partied out by bedtime," Johnny Bartlett told the Bulletin. Holt was honored with a birthday cake at the Fiddlin Around by the coffee bunch last Thursday.

For lunch she and 15 other members of the Crafty Ladies Arts and Crafts Group went to Sammy's Restaurant in Castroville where she was honored by fellow members in the group. Everyone gave her a skeane of yard at the luncheon.

Thursday evening she was surprised by fellow lodge members at the Hermann Sons Millie Schenkat Hall in Lakehills. "Thank goodness birthdays only happen once a year, I don't think I could handle anymore," Holt said.

Reservations for AARP not needed

The Medina Lake Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons spokeswoman June Settlemeyer says reservations aren't needed for the Oct. 28 meeting. Bill Ward, insurance representative for the AARP Group Health Insurance Program will be guest speaker at the 1:30 p.m. meeting.

He will discuss the AARP's portfolio of Medicare supplements and hospital plans and answer questions," Settlemeyer said.

Scouts to host Halloween Carnival

Cub Scout Pack 146 will host a Halloween Carnival at the Pipe Creek Community Center on Oct. 31 from 6 p.m. to 9 p.m.

The Scouts have planned games, a haunted house, a costume judging contest, and barbecue, hot dogs, drinks, and other treats, spokeswoman Pat Forsythe said.

The carnival will be safe family fun for children from the Pipe Creek, Bandera, and Lakehills area, she said.

Tickets will be sold for 10 cents each, Forsythe said.

CLVFD plans Halloween for area kids

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department has planned a Halloween Party for all children in the area on Saturday, Oct. 26.

"Kids in the community will find fun games, contests, three age group costume contests, and lots of refreshments," Pat Mills said. There will be no charge for the event." It's just to insure a safe, fun, Halloween for the children living in the area," she said.

Castle Lake VFD plans turkey shoot

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department will have a Turkey Shoot Nov. 9 from 10 a.m. on.

Spokeswoman Pat Mills says "everyone needs to bring their own guns. The shoot will be limited to .410-, 20-, 16-, and 12-gauge shotguns."

Food, drinks and extra ammunition will be available.

"It will be a fun day for the whole family," Mills said. "We've planned a BB gun shoot and air rifle shoot for the youngsters," Mills said. They will be limited to the use of BB's only, no pellets, she advised.

All proceeds will go toward the purchase of a new fire truck, Mills said. "The mortgage was recently paid off on the firehouse and we've started raising funds now to buy a new truck," she said.

The flag is lowered during a retreat ceremony at Fort Concho in San Angelo, one of the best preserved of Texas frontier military forts. Concho was established in 1867 to protect wagon trains and stagecoaches, escort U.S. Mail and explore and map new territory. In recent years, a major renovation project has restored many of the old structures to their original appearance. The fort is open daily. TTDA photo.

The Texas Renaissance Festival opens its six-weekend run Oct. 5 on over 230 beautiful wooded acres in Southeast Texas. This annual celebration is a tribute to medieval Europe of the 16th century. Minstrels, jesters, knights-in-armor, and yes, even royalty will be on hand to partake in the mirth and merriment. There will also be plenty of music, dancing, juggling, and food for all. The festival grounds are located south of Plantersville on FM 1774. TTDA photo.

Dollarwi$e Travel In Texas

O.C. Garza, Media Chief, Texas Tourist Development Agency

On any given day, in every part of Texas, visitors traveling through the state will find hundreds of worthwhile adventures that are free or have a minimum cost. The free or inexpensive Texas attractions cover a wide range of interests including state parks, museums, and many points of interest unique to Texas.

The Great Museums. Texas has over 400 museums, most are free while the rest charge a modest admission. The greatest concentration of world-class museums is in Fort Worth's Amon Carter Square. The Amon Carter, the Kimbell Art Museum, Fort Worth Art Center, Hall of Texas History, and the Museum of Science and History are all free. Free too are the fine Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum in Canyon, plus museums in Corpus Christi, Dallas, Lubbock, El Paso, and Houston.

Alamo. The most famous San Antonio shrine from the battle for Texas independence is free to the millions who walk through the hallowed doors.

NASA. The Lyndon Baines Johnson Space Center, located about 25 miles from downtown Houston is better known as "Mission Control, Houston." Free spacecraft displays, hardware, exhibits, and films can keep starry-eyed visitors busy for half a day.

Wildlife Refuges. Texas has a number of them. Those who want to add to their bird list should bring binoculars and birding books to Aransas Wildlife Refuge near Rockport — winter home of the whooping crane, Santa Anna National Wildlife Refuge in the Valley, Laguna Atascosa National Wildlife Refuge near Harlingen and Welder Wildlife Refuge near Sinton. All feature lots of native wildlife and are free.

Beaches. It doesn't cost a penny to get a Texas tan. All Texas beaches are free and open to the public. Padre Island National Seashore, South Padre Island, Port Aransas and Galveston Island are the most popular.

Ferry rides. The Galveston-Port Bolivar and Aransas Pass-Port Aransas ferries are free. Keep a sharp eye out for the dolphins that swim in the deep channels.

McDonald Observatory. Located north of Fort Davis in West Texas, the Observatory is an exciting place for astronomy buffs. Daily programs are free.

Big Thicket National Preserve. Not one big area, but ecological pockets of unique groups of plants, animals and birds. Free tours are offered by the park service on most weekends but the park is free to the public daily.

Rose Garden. This free Tyler plot, at its colorful height from April through October, features more than 38,000 rosebushes with about 500 varieties.

State Parks. Scattered throughout the state, state parks are cheap and filled with every imaginable kind of life. Throw in some unique terrain, cheap camping and great hiking, and the result is an inexpensive, but fulfilling, vacation.

Hi,
Happy Halloween, just a brief note to let you know all about the special Halloween treats going on right now in the shop. Brenner jumpsuits are 30% off & there are 3 styles & colors to choose from. One is a brick color with set in sleeves, padded shoulders & button down front. It's simple & classic but what really makes it exceptional is the wide belt out of the same brick color, but accented by the contrasting geometric patterns in grape & beige. Next is a turquoise pin stripe that zips up the front. The pin stripe is a dark gray color & is followed through at the waist with a self fabric belt & matching pewter colored buckle. There is a pleat that goes from back to front, falling across the padded shoulders & forming a soft V at the waist, de-emphasizing the waistline thereby slenderizing the figure. Last there is a lovely teal jumpsuit that is very tailored with its padded shoulders adorned with epaulets & wooden buttons. It has a double breasted effect at the front, clean straight lapels & 3/4 length sleeves. The design of this little one piece suit, is so surpassing that it's matched only by the oyster colored macrame belt that accompanies it.
We are also having a sale on intimate apparel. Panties, bras, slips, & camisoles are a whopping 25% off & we have a huge selection in all style colors & sizes.
Sleepwear is 10% off, & that includes all gowns, baby dolls, shorties, night shirts, p.j.'s, robes, & pegnior sets. There are lots & lots to choose from; soft fuzzy pastel robes, lacy frilly night shirts, gowns & teddies. The colors range from traditional to fashion & the styles are from conventional to teasing & seductive. There's even Betty Boop night shirts for the playful ones.
Anyway, Jane & I are anxiously waiting to see & visit with you, so come in soon. We're getting new arrivals everyday & can't wait for you to see them.
Always,
Janett
P.S. Remember our "In Season Sale Rack". Also, Xmas is just around the corner & now is the time to Lay-a-way while the selection is good.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

There is a new face to be seen at the Silver Sage Corral every weekday. It is that of Glenn Weymeyer, assigned to this center by Linda Parker of the Volunteer Services Council of Kerrville State Hospital.

For the past seven years Weymeyer has been working with activities for the clients of KSH.

Besides acting as liaison between the part-time employees and the volunteers and board of the Silver Sage Corral, Weymeyer will be especially responsible for an expanded outreach program, designed to reach and serve older Texans throughout the county.

Any information on sick, disabled, or needy senior citizens may be referred to his attention at the center office, 796-4969.

Rockhounds

The official name of the rock enthusiasts who have been meeting on the third Thursday evening of each month is "Bandera Rockhounds." Their by-laws including the name, were adopted as revised at last Thursday's meeting.

The guest speaker was Les Johnston of Kerrville, president of the Gem and Mineral Club which meets at Dietert Claim. Special event of the evening was the provision of cake and coffee served by Roberta Hausman and Marian Bunch in honor of Bill Radley's birthday.

AARP

If Bill Hathaway walks with a springier step, it's undoubtedly due to the demonstration treatment given to his feet during reflexologist Floyd Portman's program at last Wednesday's meeting of the Bandera Hills Chapter of the American Association of Retired Persons.

President Davis May made several announcements of interest to members, including the invitation to the Lakehills Chapter's forum on AARP insurance on Monday, Oct. 28.

Hathaway, who is serving on a steering committee for a four-county district of the Silver-Haired Legislature, explained how an interested party could register as a candidate for this district. Local officers of AARP will be elected at the November meeting, and installed in December.

Quilters

There are two "wedding ring" pattern quilts at the Silver Sage Corral needing the tender ministrations of center quilters, according to Glynn Taylor, quilting chairman.

Wednesday mornings are especially devoted to this activity, but a few stitches at any time are welcome.

Line-Dancers

June Westmeyer, activities chairman of the Silver Sage Corral, and teacher of the class in line-dancing, has asked that the class be placed on hold for a couple of weeks while she recovers from elective surgery.

She hopes to resume her service to the center the first week in November, at which time she plans to introduce a monthly Monday Movie Matinee in "the loft," utililzing a color TV recently donated by Jean Barnhill.

Field Trip

A visit to Dietert Claim — considered the third most active Senior Center in the U.S. — is being planned for Wednesday, Oct. 30. A senior mini-bus will leave Silver Sage Corral at 10 p.m. arriving in Kerrville before 11 a.m. so that the Bandera visitors can see the Gold Mine (Gift Shop) before it closes, and the Thrift Shop, both of which contribute to the revenue of Dietert Claim.

Lunch with the claim must be reserved in advance, and those planning to go may register by calling the local center office by Tuesday, Oct. 29. Return will be about 3 p.m.

Rummage Sale

Merchandise is already coming in for the Great Fall Flea Market at the Silver Sage Corral, and more will be gratefully accepted. Household furnishings will be sold in addition to all types of clothing.

The dates are Friday and Saturday, Nov. 1 and 2, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. each day. A call to Grace Wootton or Doloras Greene at the center office will arrange for transportation if necessary.

Bridge, etc.

Clarence Hosmer, in addition to teaching a class in beginners' bridge on Friday afternoons, reports that the duplicate bridge players are again meeting at the SS Corral on Saturday nights from 6:30 p.m.

Letters to the editor comprise the present assignment to the budding writers in Winnie Hicks' Creative Writing class on Tuesday afternoons. Keep a lookout for those that prove to be print-worthy, Mr. Editor...

Christmas stockings for Elf Karen and lap-robes for clients at Purple Hills nursing home are the current projects for the crafts group on Tuesday mornings, says Doloras Greene, and more help would be welcomed.

—Commentary, by Kay—

At this time of year, many people think about safeguarding their health so as to withstand the rigors of the changeable winter weather.

To some, that means taking vitamin and/or mineral supplements to make up for what they perceive to be inadequate diets. Most of this without asking advice from a physician.

Has they asked, the advice usually would be to eat a well-balanced diet including two servings of milk or dairy products; two servings of protein-rich foods such as meat, poultry, eggs, beans or peanut butter; four servings of fruit and vegetables, including a citrus fruit and a dark-green leafy vegetable; and four servings of breads, cereal, rice or pasta, every day.

The hot noon meal served at the Silver Sage Corral is designed to provide 1/3 of the daily calorie and nutritional requirements for the day. But if there is a short-fall in one's individual diet, the safest supplement to take is a low-level multi-vitamin tablet or capsule which contains most of the United States Recommended Dietary Allowance (RDA), and which can be purchased in a "house brand" for as little as $2.25 for 100 tablets.

Women particularly may need a calcium plus Vitamin D supplement to guard against osteoporosis.

But large amounts of any vitamin or mineral can not only prove to be toxic to one's system, but can act negatively against the absorption of other nutrients, so taking these can be very unwise.

It is also well to remember that vitamins labeled "organic" have the same chemical structure as their synthetic counterparts and are not worth a huge increase in price. In the case of calcium, experts say that bone meal should be avoided because it may contain lead. Oyster shell is safe, effective and inexpensive, they say.

Above all, become an informed consumer. Be cautious about advice from organizations who advertise or sell the products they are recommending. And try to get most of your nutrients from a variety of nutritious foods.

Terry Walters and Stacey Sides are ready for Oct. 31 when the combined Grace Lutheran Church's Youth Groups will host their fourth annual Halloween party for kids of all ages. The festivities kick off at 6 p.m. with a children's theatre production, "The Sour Prince," a short play directed by Jim Evans and Sandi Kling.

Deadline looms for Aussie trip

Nov. 1 is the deadline for signing up for an 18-day Sesquicentennial tour to Australia, New Zealand and the Fiji Islands scheduled for Dec. 27 - Jan. 14 by Southwest Texas State University's Center for International Education.

Bad weather can't stop stuntmen's show

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff Writer

"We are in Bandera, population 947...and that population never changes because evertime a baby is born a cowboy leaves town,"—Rudy Robbins.

Grey skies, thick mud and lots of rain couldn't stop five stunt teams from competing in the first annual Bandera Gunfight and Stunt Competition Sunday.

Although the event was originally set for Saturday, Oct. 19, and Sunday, Oct. 20, the threat of flash floods canceled the event on Saturday. Determined to complete the competition, the teams began performing at 11 a.m. Sunday for a sparse audience of about 50 people.

"The storm hurt the competition in many ways," explained Rudy Robbins, announcer of the competition. "Financially, it was a total loss. Also, five of the teams had to drop out and Sunset Carson, one of the celebrity judges, almost didn't make it. His flight was delayed and it took him 18 hours to get from Dallas to San Antonio.

"Sunset missed putting his foot print in the sidewalk, in front of the original First National Bank, with the two other celebrity judges, Will Hutchins and Jock Mahoney, but all were made honorary mayors by Mayor Bob Cowan," said Robbins.

But Robbins, who appeared in many old westerns himself, did not miss the event and was talked into placing his prints in lieu of Sunset's.

Each of the stunt teams performed western skits and shoot-outs which were rehearsed to perfection. Performances ranged from the dramatic to the comedic. With the exception of one team, all the skits were serious.

The five teams were the Legends of the Old West from Bandera, the Texas Gunfighters from Gonzales, the James Gang from Ft. Worth, the Outlaws of Texas from Waco, and the Old West Gunfighters from Waco.

"These teams worked so hard and performed so well, (the judges) had a hard time choosing the winner," Robbins said. "Many of them tied — they all deserved to win, but I think we made the right choice," said Robbins adding, as the judges nodded in agreement. "I just love Bandera, and I hope I get asked to judge this competition next year."

The Legends of the Old West (LOTOW) took first place while the Texas Gunfighters followed close behind in second place.

The James Gang received third place and the Outlaws of Texas came in fourth.

Also cited were Michelle Stevenskey of the Texas Gunfighters, for best actress; Al Hansan of The James Gang, for best actor; and Hagan Savage, who played the Indian in the Legends of the Old West skit, for best stunt.

The LOTOW team performed a comical skit that required approximately 30 minutes set-up time. During the intermission, the audience was entertained by singing cowgirl Ballan Grant and jokes told by the celebrity judges.

"We are in Bandera, population 947...and that population never changes because every time a baby is born, a cowboy leaves town," joked Robbins.

The skit performed by LOTOW centered around a Dr. Mulenskinner's traveling medicine show and his magic tonic. He claimed the tonic could make a weak man strong or a gunfighter shoot straight.

When the tonic failed, the townspeople began to fight the doctor and his traveling showmen. However, the doctor played by Marvin Richardson, who organized the competition, and the three men in the show, played by Hagan Savage (the Indian), Bob Wheeler (the trick roper, and Alan Richardson (the kid), killed the spectators, played by Larry Shoff, Chaco Sanchez, Javier Sanchez, Manny Gutierrez and Max Konz.

After killing the spectators, the doctor and his men took the dead men's money and ended the skit with "Boy, we sure did make a killing in this town."

The trophies were presented quickly as the rain began to pour and the stunt teams began loading their equipment. Richardson thinks that "next year will be a lot better. Hopefully it won't rain and more people will be able to enjoy the event."

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Buddy Pinson, a former resident of Wharton's Dock, was here visiting with old friends this past weekend. He was amazed at all the changes in the area, and informed Ealr Evans that it sure has built up around here. Buddy wants to say hello to all of his friends that he failed to make contact with.

Sam Byrd and Oscar (Hutch) Koehler were out and paid a surprise visit on Sam's sister, Juanita Shaffer, at the Copper Lantern.

Deanie Newman would not stay in the hospital after her heart catheterization, and was back in her favorite chair at bingo Wednesday night. She looked good and was her good old jolly self.

Hugh Overfield, son of retired Col. Elias Overfield, was here checking on his father and to take him out for a good meal.

Nola Bledsoe's parents, Pat and Richard Barton of Fairfield, Calif., left Monday morning to return to California after a 12-day visit with Nola and Phil. They really enjoyed themselves while here, playing bingo at the fire house and traveling around the area.

Richard even was able to assist Phil when the Lakeshore VFD was called out to pull a pickup truck out that was stuck in the river. The young Polland boy had tried to ford the river and got stuck.

Ritch and Dana Simmons traveled to Austin for the weekend to visit with their son Vince, his wife Yolanda, and their daughter Melanie. They returned Sunday afternoon and missed the heavy rain.

Bill Stevens went to Kerrville to visit with his daughter, but cut his visit short when the rains started.

John Portman, after spending a few days at his home here in Wharton's Dock after his release from the hospital, returned to San Antonio to visit a friend, Yo Yo Mayoraga, and her family for a few days.

The Walker Memorial Chapel has changed evening services on Sunday night from 6 p.m. to 7 p.m. This change was made so the singers can practice at 6 p.m. Hopefully the chapel will have a choir organized before the holidays. Plan on coming out Sunday evening, Oct. 27 at 6 p.m. to try out your vocal chords.

Kim Reese is here spending a few weeks with her grandmother, Juanita Shaffer.

Sorry to hear that Danna Simmons was under the weather for a few days. Her husband, Dickey, stayed home from work to look after her, and their son Gary came up from San Antonio.

The work day for the Walker memorial Chapel, scheduled for Oct. 23, was cancelled due to the weather. It will be rescheduled when the weather clears and the ground dries. So keep your tools ready for the next work day.

Chuck and Maradelle DeWitt traveled to Austin to take part in an Airstream trailer round up. They have returned to their home at Wharton's Dock and report they had a good time at the round up, seeing old friends and making new ones.

Annie Thetford's son Tommy came over from Castroville last Sunday and took Annie to his home for a short visit. Monday he took her to San Antonio to the doctors' offices. Tommy reports the physician gave Annie a clean bill of health. Annie is one of our older neighbors, and we would like to keep her around for many more years.

Youths of Lake Medina Shores and Wharton's Dock are challenged to plan some group activities and prove the caliber of the youth is above the level indicated by most news media.

Mary Blakeney was admitted to the Methodist Hospital on Sunday for tests and possible surgery. After the test was made on Monday it was determined she could return to her home at Wharton's Dock and be treated with medicine, hopefully eliminating surgery.

October was a big birthday month in the area, Ethel Smalley (83), Karen Queen, Joe Backer and many more. We want to wish each and everyone a very "Happy Birthday" and hopefully many more.

Dell Lackey went to San Antonio and visited with her niece, Hazel Smith, for a few days and then Dell and Hazel returned to Dell's home on the river.

On Sunday evening a group including Dr. Marion Birch, his wife Marjorie, the Rev. Paul Flanders, his wife Dorris and daughter Priscilla, and Betty and John Ciarlo get together and watch the National Geographic Explorer show from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m.

While enjoying the show they indulge in a few snacks and many of the times one of the group can relate a personnel experience with the program.

Lance Andreas was 7 years old on Oct. 19. To recognize this date, Mr. Burrell took W. B. James, Ruby and Lance to San Antonio for the weekend. Kim Cherry took all of the children to a movie and they all got to see their sisters Valerie, and her sons Bruce and Joey, and Bonnie, and her son Ron Keller.

Although the rain kept them in, they enjoyed theirselves, and also saw their sister Marie Miller.

A Challenge: Yes, this is a challenge to all the youth of the Lake Medina Shores and Wharton's Dock area to get together and plan some group activities and prove that the caliber of our youth is above the level indicated by most news media.

Bud Ciarlo and Marion Birch, both who have had considerable time working with youth programs, will be at the Lakeshore VFD fire house on Tuesday, Oct. 29 at 7 p.m.

Adults will not do the planning, but will assist and help in any way possible. There are so many things a group can do that one individual finds impossible. Dances, parties, campouts and mainly just a good wholesome time.

Plans are under way for Hunters' Barbecue

Plans are under way for what is expected to be one of the largest Hunters' Barbecues in the 22 years of the big community event's history, and the general arrangements chairman has issued a call for additional volunteers to help.

"We're planning for a big turnout," said chairman Cecil LeStourgen, who said the generous spring rains good for Bandera County's deer herd and that should draw a lot of hunters into the county this year.

The 22nd annual Hunters' Barbecue is scheduled for Friday, Nov. 8, at the Rec Center in Mansfield Park

Booth space is still available for exhibitors, says Judy Dunn of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, who invited anyone interested to call her at the chamber office to arrange for booth space or to volunteer as a worker.

Utopia senior citizens told 'how to get things done'

"What the mind can conceive and the heart can believe, the body can achieve," a Sabinal Canyon Senior Council Friday, Oct. 11.

Glen Goree, Church of Christ minister from Sabinal, told the senior council members there are six basic principals to "get things done."

He also suggested to the members that positive thoughts create positive speech.

He also urged members to practice positive thinking and told them "positive thoughts create positive speech" which results in "positive action." Among his other suggestions to "get things done" were to seek solutions to problems, not problems for solutions; plan your work, then work your plan; and practice teamwork, forgetting personal credit.

"LUCK is an acronym for 'labor under correct knowledge'," he said.

Goree also told members that a Dr. Mask, who was scheduled to speak at the meeting but was unable to be present, planned to open an office in Sabinal on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons. Dr. Mask practices with Dr. Snodgrass in Uvalde, and Goree said that if Dr. Mask's workload in Sabinal increases so will the office hours of the Sabinal office.

According to the council president, a committee on land acquisition is negotiating for a site in Utopia to build a senior center. She said the organization's charter has been sent to an attorney.

Nita Cornelius and Clara B. Wallace are planning to build a float for the Halloween parade Oct. 26. Those interested may walk along with or ride on the float. The costume theme will be old-fashioned clothes.

Ida Mae McBurnett asked everyone to be aware of the effort to protect and control area water rights from the Edwards Underground Water District.

To honor Lillie Mae Smallwood, Nell Miller and Mac West's birthdays, Mary Haby led the group in the "Happy Birthday" song.

United Way an intermediary, speaker tells BCHH members

The United Way offers services to non-profit organizations in communities surrounding San Antonio, the group's government relations director told members of Bandera County Helping Hand Thursday.

"Many people don't understand the function of United Way," Richard Brown told local BCHH embers during its monthly meeting.

"We're the imtermediary between different organizations," he explained.

He said the group's motto, "Helping people to care for others," sums up the United Way's purpose.

The Rev. Richard Jackson, president of BCHH, said, "Richard Brown cleared up a lot of misconceptions about the United Way."

Rev. Jackson also urged interested citizens to attend future meetings of the BCHH, and the group's director, Jeanne Shinn, encouraged people to volunteer to help BCHH accomplish its goals.

"These (monthly) meetings are open to the public and we encourageeveryone to attend," said Rev. Jackson. "We have other informed speakers lined up for future meetings."

"There is a strong need for volunteers," said Shinn. "It would only be three hours a day, one day a week."

Don is now a 2nd Lt. His wife Mary is in nurse's training at Wilford Hall hospital in San Antonio. He is the grandson of Hough and Joyce LeStourgeon and Stella Keese and the late Howell Keese all of Medina.

Returns from trip

Bobbie Nell Crider and sister Dorothy Schrador of Boerne and Pauline Rodger's of Ingram has returned from a week's trip to visit brother Jo Nanny and family at Barnhart.

After visiting there, they went on to Loving N.M. to visit a cousin, Roscoe McNabb. After enjoying visiting and seeing the country, they stopped in Big Spring to look up some Nanny family history.

The three sister's reported having a very good time on this trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Isaacs have just returned from a month-long trip visiting friends and relatives in Minnesota, New England and New York. They traveled across Canada from Minnesota to Vermont, taking time to visit the Parliament in Ottawa, Canada. The trip was made beautiful by the autumn foliage, particularly in Vermont, where the maple trees are unusually colorful this fall. On September 26th, Mrs. Florence Jenness, Mrs. Isaacs' aunt, celebrated her 90th birthday, with many cards and gifts from relatives and friends; Mrs. Jenness is a former resident of Medina and Bandera.

Garden club dries flowers

Members and guests of Medina Rose Garden Club were introduced to a new process of drying flowers at their October meeting. Claire Johnston, master judge and flower show school instructor brought a detailed program "On New Ways to Dry Flowers".

The Micro-Wave Oven procedure is quite new and the results are a much fresher appearance and better color than flowers dried in the traditional method.

Mrs. Curtis Keith, president, introduced the guest speaker and welcomed guest for the day. Four members will represent the Rose Garden Club at the District VII meeting in Uvalde Nov. 12 and 13. The nominating committee for 1986-87 officers were elected and plans made for the Club to be represented as part of the Medina Home Coming Carnival Oct. 26.

Valero earnings up

Valero Energy Corp, which has a booster plant near Bandera this week reported net income of $5.6 million for the quarter ended Sept. 30, or 13 cents per share of common stock.

That's a major improvement over a net loss of $8.6 million or a 45 cent loss per share in the third quarter of 1984.

The major factor was the improved profitability of its refining and marketing operations, the company said.

Cross country girls rank sixth

By Janet Weber

Numerous hours of hard work, combined determination of the entire team, and the will to strive above the rest is what makes this cross country team a winner, sixth in state.

Being ranked sixth in the state is an honor Bandera cross country has achieved for the first time in seven years. Medina Valley and Yoakum have always been stiff competitors to Bandera and are ranked second and third in state respectively.

Region 27, which Bandera is a part of, ranked above the rest by winning state competition last year. Senior cross country runner, Beckie Clements, had this to say about Bandera's achievement, "I'm really excited about the next few cross country meets because our team is working very hard. I think we all know that being ranked sixth in the state isn't worth anything unless we go out there with a positive attitude and really do well at District and Regionals first, then on to State."

Winning this accomplishment was no easy task. Some of the many triumphs are as follows: BHS placed first at Poteet, second at Medina Valley, third at Tivy, and fourth at Bandera Invitational.

Of course, behind every winning team is a winning coach. Mrs. Barbara Mazurek has been coaching girl's athletics at Bandera High School for 27 years. Without her guidance and experience Bandera would not be in the position it is today.

"Of course, I'm thrilled for the honor the girls have achieved, but this does not win district or regionals for us," Mrs. Mazurek says. "The success of the team depends on whether the entire team is healthy and in top shape. This ranking has up-lifted the spirits of the team, but now is the time to work even harder and strive to reach higher goals," she said.

Bandera will host district competition Wednesday, Oct. 23 beginning at 3:30 p.m.

Regionals will be held Nov. 2 at Fort Sam Houston.

Texas Sesquicentennial

Texas has only five months left before she turns 150 years old. Sounds old? Not at all.

On March 2, 1836, Texas was declared an independent republic. After a long battle with the Spanish, she was final y free. Now it is our home — a place we can all be proud of.

Texans across the state will be celebrating the sesquicentennial throughout the year of 1986. Parades and parties are only a couple of ways Texas will be honored by its citizens.

We have much to be proud of. Our oil and exaggeration of size has made us one of the most visited and remembered states in the country. You can be sure that from El Paso to Houston and from Waco to Brownsville, the people will look back upon the 150 years of Texas' Independence with awe and happiness.

To some, the sesquicentennial is a big step, and in a way it is. But for Texans, it's just the beginning. We all hope to keep the Texas people full of love for our state.

Yes, Texas is big and beautiful, but we are proud because it's our home.

Randy Mchaney was announced editor of the yearbook, The Bulldog, with Jenny Perayn as her assistant editor.

With each new editor being a third year student of journalism, Mrs. Keese, the journalism teacher, felt they were both well qualified. The two assistant editors are second year students.

According to Ross, future plans are to start a school newspaper.

As for plans for the yearbook, Miss McHaney would like to "Make it the neatest one ever!"

Wrap a Cheerleader!

As a spirit raiser the class presidents "wrapped" a cheerleader from their class from head to toe with toilet paper at the pep rally Oct. 19.

Each class cheered and chanted their president on. In order to win, the president had to completely wrap a cheerleader from top to bottom. The first to complete that task would win the spirit stick for their class. Winning the spirit stick for the seniors was Beckie Clements, wrapping Kim Moore.

Others who participated were juniors Jenny Perayn taking on a big task by trying to wrap up the Bulldog Mascot, Max; Billy Price wrapped Cindy Fritache for the sophomores and for the freshmen it was Kim Lukachik taking on Ann Muller.

Other highlights of the pep rally were Amber Petty's stunning and eye catching twirling performance, the music of the award winning Bulldog band, and the cheerleaders leading the student body in cheers and chants.

Record review

Everyone has his/her own taste in music, but I'm presenting the rock side to you. No, this isn't all "heavy metal," but I'm taking a view from the other end of the spectrum. So sit back, relax, and enjoy!

Yngwie Malmsteen — Marching Out — I realize this is hard rock, but it has promise. Yngwie's fantastic guitar solos make the words unimportant. He may soon be considered one of the premier rock guitarists of today. On songs such as "Don't Let It End", this Swedish-born guitarist shows more feeling than most music critics give him credit for.

Ratt — Invasion of Your Privacy — Listen to side one of this album and you'll see just how good they are. Their hit single, "Lay It Down", has great guitar magic as well as fabulous vocals. Some may consider lead singer Stephen Pearcy little more than a screech owl, but his talent shines through in almost every son.

Scorpions — World Wide Live —The tours are over and the votes are in, and in most rock poss, you'll see the Scorpions' name under almost every "Comeback of the Year". After almost a year in hiding, the Scorpions came back and wowed their fans with all they had. Included here are songs from all four of their previous albums. When put altogether, the album has the ability to show as a possible gold record. You have to hear it to believe it.

Cougars Roll Over Bandera, 28-7

San Antonio Cole seemed to have an easy time last Friday night when they defeated the Dogs handidly 28-7.

Deon Cockrell was the key to the Cougars attack. He carried the ball 23 times and had 165 yards. He scored all four touchdowns, three on running plays from scrimmage and a fourth on a returned punt of 81 yards.

Bandera came out smoking in the second half when Chris York returned the opening kickoff to midfield. A series of Compton runs led up to a 21 yard touchdown pass from Jimmy Sides to John Miller for the Bulldogs only score.

Bandera's record is now 0-1-1 in District play and 2-3-1 overall. They take on Smithson Valley Friday night.

Open house

Tuesday October 15 at 7:30 p.m., parents filed into BHS to attend the 1985 Open House.

The event started with a short presentation from Principal Delamain on how the evening would progress, which was as follows: After the assembly in the auditorium, an imitation school day took place; parents followed their child's schedule. Every period was 10 minutes long with 5 minutes between periods.

In the 10 minutes, teachers explained how his or her class operates and answered questions from parents.

Afterward there were refreshments served in the Home Ec. room.

This open house was planned and prepared well. The turn out of parents was good.

Journalism workshop

By Melissa Ross

Members of the Journalism class at BHS attended a Journalism Workshop Saturday at San Antonio College and heard many well-known media personalities.

The students were welcomed by the editor and publisher of the San Antonio Express-News, Charles O. Kilpatrick. After that, each student got to choose which workshops they wanted to attend. There was a wide variety of choices offered.

Some of the workshops offered were sports writing with Greg Simmons, sports editor at KSAT-TV; column writing with Roddy Stinson, featured columnist at the San Antonio Express-News; staff organization with Ed Barrera, news assignment editor with KMOL-TV.

After workshops were over, there was a closing session with Bob Rogers, news director with KENS-TV.

All in all, this workshop offered a variety of choices for everyone. Joley Day, a junior, commented, "I thought the workshops were very interesting and a lot of fun."

Dear Readers;

Have you ever wanted to ask someone you really admired an important question but just couldn't quite get up the nerve? Well, in this Pen-N-Paw premier you may get the chance to have your idol solve your dilemma.

Here's how it works. A week in advance some lucky BHS student, or faculty member, will be offered the opportunity to help fellow students, or faculty, who are in need of a solution to a problem.

If the individual agrees, this amateur Dear Abbey's name will be printed in the presceding weeks edition of the Pen-N-Paw.

Here's where you come in. If you have a question, simply write it down, come up with a cute little anonymous name for yourself, and drop it into the designated box located in the office.

Next, the above mentioned individual will get out his or her thinking cap and come up with some helpful tid bits which we hope will solve or at least help the person in question.

Sincerely,
Daniel Potts

P.S. Next week's man with the answers will be Mr. James Compton. James' expertise is in the field of athletics.

Pot roast is a budget stretcher

"Pot roast is still an All-American favorite," says Karen Mitchell of the Texas Department of Agriculture. "But what do you do with leftovers?"

First of all, call them planned overs instead of leftovers, she suggests. Save time, money and avoid mediocrity by planning for other meals after the original pot roast.

Roast beef salad, a savory combination of roast beef, celery, pickles and seasonings is appetizing when stuffed in tomato, Mitchell advises. Carry along beef pies combine chopped roast beef and vegetables to be baked in a flaky turnover pastry.

Beef blade and arm roasts are a bargain, especially when on sale. Expect to spend about 60 cents per serving when these cuts are priced at $1.19 per pound.

Buying beef today uses the rules of cost per serving, not cost per pound. Some boneless cuts are better buys at higher prices due to less waste, thus more servings per pound.

Simply divide the cost per pound by the number of servings per pound to calculate the cost per serving, she says. Here is a chart listing servings per pound:

5 servings per pound: boneless smoked ham, Canadian-style bacon, heart, kidneys.

4 servings per pound: ground beef, beef for stew, pork rib and loin chops, boneless lamb leg roasts.

3 servings per pound: beef tip and boneless rump roasts, beef round and top loin steaks, pork blade steaks, bone-in smoked ham, lamb rib and loin chops.

2 to 3 servings per pound: beef sirloin steak, boneless beef chuck roasts, pork center loin roasts, boneless lamb shoulder roasts.

2 servings per pound: beef arm pot-roasts, blade roasts and arm and blade steaks, pork blade loin and sirloin roasts, lamb shanks.

1 to 2 servings per pound: beef short ribs, beef shank cross cuts, pork back ribs and spare ribs, lamb riblets.

Texas as always ranked first in cattle and calf production last year followed by Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and Oklahoma. In 1984, ranchers received $4,498,916,000 in cash receipts from cattle and calf production.

Take advantage of September low beef prices and feature Roast beef salad and Carry along beef pies as planned over meals.

Carry-Along Beef Pies*

½ tsp. instant beef bouillon granules
2 T. boiling water
1¼ C. chopped cooked roast beef
½ C. chopped cooked potatoes
½ C. chopped cooked carrots
1 medium onion, chopped
2 T. sweet pickle relish
1 T. catsup
¼ tsp. ground savory
¼ tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
Flaky Pastry

Dissolve bouillon in boiling water, and set aside. Combine next 9 ingredients; pour bouillon over top. Stir gently to mix, and set aside.

Divide pastry dough in half; roll one part out to ⅛-inch thickness on a lightly floured board. Cut into four 5½-inch squares; repeat with remaining dough. Place about 1/3 cup meat mixture in center of each square, and fold pastry in half diagonally to make a triangle. Moisten edges with water, and press with a fork to seal. Prick tops with fork.

Place beef pies on lightly greased baking sheets, and bake at 425° for 25 to 30 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 8 servings.

Flaky Pastry:
3 C. all-purpose flour
1½ tsp. salt
1 C. plus 3 T. shortening
About ⅓ cup cold water

Combine flour and salt; cut in shortening with pastry blender until mixtures resembles coarse meal. Sprinkle cold water by tablespoonfuls evenly over surface; stir with a fork until all ingredients are moistened. Add more water, if necessary. Shape dough into a ball. Yield: enough for 8 beef pies.

Center Point splashes to 28-0 win over 'Cats

The Center Point Pirates presented the Medina Bobcats their sixth straight loss, Friday a solid 28-0 shutout.

While the rains poured, so did the Pirates as they ran up all their scoring in the first half.

The Pirates took only six plays to score as Scott Wolfe scampered 25 yard for the TD. Billy Knog converted.

Less than two minutes later Knog added six more as he took a pass from quarterback Walt Boerner and then flubbed the PAT attempt. The TD was the end result of a interception by Bryan Robinson two plays earlier.

Still in the first quarter, James Parker got a lot of tov into a fourth down punt and Center Point was buried on its own 17.

Undaunted, Boerner and company went to work, and with 3½ min. left in the first quarter, the Pirates scored their third touchdown.

By now everyone and everything was soggy as the sky opened up and both teams slogged back and forth until Chris Weingartner plunged in from the 5 and Knog nabbed a Boerner pass for 2.

That made the board read 28-0 and that's how it stayed.

Medina's 'Cats did a good job of defense the second half and kept the Pirates out of the end zone.

But if Center Point could not score, neither could the Bobcats and the halftime score became the final.

During the Homecoming festivities before the game Mark Williams and Cindy Caddell were named King and Queen and at half time Charles Anderson was selected Pep squad Beau and Diane Simon was chosen football sweetheart.

Medina will journey to Camp Wood this Friday to meet the Nueces Canyon Panthers.

Vote set on practices for grid teams

Texas high schools will be polled next spring on whether they'd like the choice of spring football practice or an extra week of fall practice, the associated press reprted.

The UIL group also considered but did not act on a proposal giving the first-place team in any sport the option of being the home team in the first round of playoffs against a second-place opponent.

The Legislative Council of the University Interscholastic League approved a referendum Monday that will be placed on the UIL's spring ballot for consideration by the state's largest schools.

Indian Long and Diane Hamilton top-ranked dart throwers

Winners in the summer session of the Medina Lake Dart Association's playoffs were announced this week, Shirley Grimm said.

Winners of the high league average were Indian Long, and Diane Hamilton. Most improved male was Chris Hines with 1.88 and most improved female was Kim Schelb with 1.18. High score of the season was made by lefthander Len Schelb with 614.

Optimist's grid tests scheduled for Nov. 2

The Optimist Club of Bandera will hold its annual Tri-Star Football contest on Saturday, Nov. 2, at the Bandera Bulldog Stadium.

The program tests the skills of each contestant in three of the basic skills of the game — place kicking, passing and punting.

Head Bandera football coach Danny Neuse and his staff will hold a pass, punt and kick clinic from 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. and the contest will start at 2 p.m.

Boys and girls will compete in six age groups, 7 through 12, against youth in their own age group only.

The competition on Saturday will determine three finalists in each division. These finalists will then compete prior to the Bandera-Floresville football game in Bulldog Stadium the following Friday evening to establish first, second and third place winners.

There will be plaques awarded to the first three winners in each age group. In addition, every contestant will also receive a momento scorecard and a Tri-Star patch.

Cole runs over Bulldogs, 28-7

Bandera's Football Bulldogs won the biggest and most important game of the year last week, but the results of their on-field encounter with Cole at Fort Sam Houston were not as cheerful for hometown folks.

The 'Dogs lost the football game, 28-7, but in the game of life every member of the football varsity passed all their academic courses to remain eligible for football competition.

Their classroom achievements were at least partly the result of a buddy system Coach Danny Neuse instituted as soon as he learned that new state law would require his players to pass every single course in order to remain eligible.

Neuse paired the team's good student-athletes with some that could use some encouragement. No one knows, of course, exactly how much Neuse's academic coaching had to do with the players' passing grades. Also to be credited are the combined efforts in the entire faculty and of course, the successful students themselves.

Their academic heroics, however, haven't yet been reflected on the football field for the 1985 Bulldogs, once rated as high as third in the state but now struggling at 2-3-1 and winless in district play after two games.

The defeat at the hands of Cole Friday was complete.

The Cougars running offense tore huge holes in the once vaunted Bulldog defense, and the Bandera offense remained pretty much of a puppy-dog thing instead of the ferocious Bulldog-like attack of last year.

Cougar running back Don Cockrell ripped the 'Dog defense for 165 yards rushing on 23 carries, scoring all four of Cole's touchdowns. One of those scores came on a scintilating 61-yard punt return, and the others came on runs from scrimmage of 28,39 and 6 yards.

Bandera resorted to the pass after falling behind early, and its only touchdown came on a 21-yard aerial from quarterback Jimmy Sides to John Miller.

James Compton led the Bulldog ball carriers with 54 yards.

The Bulldogs visit Smithson Valley Friday at 7:30 p. m. The Rangers were manhandled by Boerne Friday, 25-0.

Boerne travels to Floresville for a showdown between district leaders.

Archers not required to have permits

The archery-only deer season is now open, and Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials remind hunters that no department-issued antlerless deer hunting permits are required to take antlerless deer with a bow where the bag limit is either-sex during the archery season.

Hunters should refer to the department's 1985-86 Hunting Guide to determine in which counties antlerless deer are legal during the archery season.

Officials also point out that the archer is required to affix the proper tag from his hunting license to any deer taken.

During the regular gun season for deer, which opens Nov. 9 in most counties, antlerless permits are required. The permits are issued to landowners or their agents, based upon deer population estimates.

Archery hunters also are required to have a $6 archery stamp while hunting deer or turkey during an open-archery season. They are available from department offices or hunting license outlets, and are required in addition to a valid huinting license.

The hunter's bow must be capable of shooting a hunting arrow equipped with a broadhead hunting point for a distance of 130 yards; the broadhead point must be at least 7/8-inch in width and not more than one and a half inches in width, and arrows must be marked with the name and address of the user in a non-water-soluble medium.

Arrows may not be poisoned, drugged or explosive, and crossbows are prohibited.

Registration deadline near for travel courses

Registration for winter term at Scheriner College is Dec. 2-6, but the school's special travel courses have an earlier registration deadline of Nov. 5-6.

These travel courses are open to regular students first, followed by part-time students. If any openings remain, members of the community may sign up.

One of the travel courses, The Aesthetic Experience: Beauty in Germany, is already full. The other two include Global Issues and Human Choices led by professors Ed Wilbourn and Ann Harwood and The Aesthetic Experience: Backstage on Broadway led by Professor Claudia Sullivan.

Both of these courses require two weeks of work on the Schreiner campus and one week of travel. Students may use these courses to satisfy part of the 12 hours whole person development requirement at Schreiner. This requirement is an integral part of Schreiner's emphasis on a liberal arts education.

Nov. 4 through 27 are days set aside for winter advisement. Jan. 6 is late registration, and classes for the winter term begin Jan. 7. All classes meet Monday through Friday, Jan. 6 through 31.

WHEN YOU SET OUT TO SAVE DUCKS, YOU SAVE A LOT OF LIVING THINGS ALONG THE WAY.

Our name only mentions ducks. But the marshlands that we protect and restore are homes and breeding grounds for hundreds of wildlife species — for many birds, fish, and mammals on the Endangered Species List.

Ducks Unlimited has reserved more than 3.2 million acres of habitat — more than any other private wildlife organization. Most of our work is done in Canada, where United States Federal funds don't reach. And where 70% of North America's waterfowl are hatched.

Today, the impact of people and pollution makes our work more vital than ever. We're literally racing against time to provide perpetual habitats for North American wildlife. Please help Ducks Unlimited. We need your dollars... to help a lot more than ducks.

A fun filled Halloween is planned for these industrious pre-schoolers from Noah's Ark. For some it was their first experience with a real Jack-o-lantern. Josh Griffith, Stephanie Sells, Seth Sherman, Brad Wimpie, and Jimmy MacMillan will don costumes and join other pre-schoolers at a party at their school. Then they will visit Purple Hills Nursing Home and the First State Bank this morning.

BMA's Mueller says

State's orders are 'a lot of bull'

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The Texas Water Commission has told the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Counties Water District to discontinue selling water from Lake Medina to the Medina River Shores subdivision, but the head of the water district says the order "is a lot of bull" and will be changed.

The order to discontinue furnishing water to the Wharton's Dock area subdivision was one of five the water commission gave the water district as a result of its investigation into allegations by the Medina Lake Protection Association that the water district is wasting water from Medina Lake.

But C. A. Mueller, president of the BMA, said that the orders are all "just some of Gene Boyd's bull," and Mueller is involved in conversations with the Water Commission that will result in the orders being reversed. Boyd is president of the MLPA.

The Water Commission's orders came in a letter signed by Herman R. Settemeyer of the commission's Water Rights and Uses Division.

The BMA own rights to 66,770 acre-feet of water per year to be used primarily for irrigation in Atascosa, Medina and Bexar counties.

But among the BMA's customers is Medina River Shores, a subdivision wholly within Bandera County. The Texas Water Commission said that is outside the water district's boundary. "Any water use outside the boundaries of the district is unauthorized and should be discontinued," Settemeyer told the BMA.

The BMA has a permit from the Department of Water Resources to sell up to 170 acre-feet per year to the subdivision, and Mueller says the permit had the effect of changing the boundary of the district to include Medina River Shores.

The water commission also ordered the BMA to limit diversion from Chacon Reservoir to 2,000 acre-feet per year, instead of the 13,000 acre-feet it reported using.

It said further that the BMA must obtain a permit for the use of four small reservoirs it is currently using and it ordered the district to institute procedures immediately to accurately measure and report the amount of water it uses for irrigation, for domestic and livestock use, and for municipal or subdivision use.

It also said the district's practice of counting one acre irrigated four times as four acres should be discontinued.

Mueller said Wednesday that Settemeyer has agreed during phone conversations that the four unpermitted reservoirs in question are really just "part of the distribution system" and therefore not required to be permitted.

The commission also ordered the BMA to study the rate it uses water to determine whether a change in their application rate would reduce tailwater runoff.

The commission's actions are a result of an investigation by Vernon R. (Skip) Francis of the Department of Water Resources of charges made by the MLPA that water was being wasted.

Francis' report concluded that there is waste and unauthorized diversion of water from Medina Lake, but "it's all legal," he said.

Mueller said he is preparing a letter to the Water Commission explaining the BMA's viewpoint on the matters in question and he was confident the orders will be reversed.

The water district will continue to furnish water to Medina River Shores until a final ruling is made, Mueller said.

The Medina Lake Protection Association had charged more than a year ago that the BMA was using water for recreational purposes in private ponds and that the BMA uses more water than is authorized.

An investigation into the MLPA's charges by the Department of Water Resources took more than a year to complete.

Among the findings of Vernon R. (Skip) Francis, who conducted the investigation, was that the BMA's record-keeping procedures were "poor."

He said individual water users within the district report the types and total acreage of crops they irrigate, but "the total water used for irrigation of an individual site is guesswork."

But Francis said the total amount of water taken from the lake by BMA is accurately measured, and the BMA states firmly that those measurements show it used 51,050 acre-feet of water in 1984, the highest in recent years.

It is authorized to use more than 66,000 acre-feet.

An acre-foot is the amount it would take to cover an acre with one foot of water.

The dam creating Medina Lake was built in the early part of the century for the express purpose of empounding water to be used for irrigation in the area that is now the BMA Water District.

Much of the district's delivery system was originally constructed at the time the dam was built, and Francis called it "antiquated."

He gets probated term on car-theft charge

Walter Isaiha Vance, alias Danny Ray Vance, 30, of Bandera, waived grand jury indictment, and pleaded guilty to a charge of unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and was given an eight-year probated sentence by Judge Robert Barton in the 216th District Courtroom on Oct. 24.

He was scheduled to go before the grand jury on a charge of aggravated assault stemming from a stabbing incident at the Frontier Hotel on Oct. 15.

Arrest warrants were issued for him and Randy Carver, 27, of Bandera after Randy Bass of Bandera was found with two stab wounds in his arm in a hotel room. Bass was taken to a Kerrville hospital for treatment.

Vance and Carver fled in a 1977 Chevrolet Luv pickup owned by Julie Jenkins of Bandera. The truck was located in San Marcos at a garage where it had been left for repairs.

Vance was arrested by Deputy Jimmy DeLeadernier on Oct. 19 inside Super S Food Store. Peace Justice Bonnie Towers set Vance's bond at $15,000 on the aggravated assault charge. Carver has not been apprehended.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin apparently District Attorney Bruce Curry bargained with Vance to plead guilty to the stolen vehicle charge, which would be a lesser offense, and waive grand jury indictment.

Also in 216th District Court on Oct. 24, Arnold Ray Strickland pleaded guilty to a felony charge of driving while intoxicated, a subsequent offense committed Aug. 17, while on probation from an earlier DWI conviction.

Judge Barton remanded him to Huntsville for three years and assessed a fine of $500. He left for Huntsville on Oct. 27 in the custody of Deputy James MacMillan.

The only action to come from the grand jury on Oct. 25 was an indictment of David Lee Hilburn for the burglary of the home of Alan Langford in Bandera.

Hilburn was arrested Oct. 7 for the Sept. 23 burglary. He was released Oct. 15 after posting a

Shoppers Jubilee Dec. 5 to include unique 'auction'

The Bandera Shoppers Jubilee will be on Friday, Dec. 6 says Edith Chandler, chairwoman, and one of the features of this year's event is an auction in which you pay for items with store receipts.

"The annual jubilee has proven to be successful in the past, and this year's celebration promises to be even bigger and better," says Mrs. Chandler, the manager of the Bandera office of First Federal Savings of Austin.

Most stores will remain open until 9 p.m. during the Jubilee to encourage Banderans to do their Christmas shopping in Bandera.

As incentive to shop in downtown Bandera, the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce will have a parade down Main Street featuring Santa Claus, strolling carolers, and prizes for large and small businesses decorating for Christmas.

Many stores serve refreshments and financial institutions and other offices hold open houses and welcome Christmas shoppers to downtown Bandera.

An auction of items valued at $35 or more will be conducted at The Cabaret Dance Hall after 9 p.m. Shoppers may pay for items with sales receipts dated between Nov. 5 and Dec. 5 from member-merchants of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce. Receipts must be validated at the chamber office prior to the auction, Mrs. Chandler said.

"Shop in Bandera and use your receipts to buy something for yourself or a gift for someone on your Christmas list," Mrs. Chandler told shoppers.

'No pass, no play' gets mixed reviews

By Melissa Ross
Pen 'n Paw Editor

Report cards were passed out last week at Bandera High School triggering the first effect of the controversial 'no pass, no play' rule that bars students who fail any courses from participation in extracurricular activities.

It got mixed reviews from coaches, sponsors and students.

No varsity football players fell victim to the rule, but six junior varsity gridders, 12 bandamen and one cross country runner did.

In junior high school, one-half of the 16 eighth grade members of the cross country team are no longer eligible, but all of the 24 members of the seventh grade cross country passed.

Football coaches said the players worked very hard at their grades all six weeks in order to stay eligible. Coaches instituted what they called a "buddy system" in which each player teamed with another with a similar class load. The teamed players studied together whenever possible.

In addition, coaches kept a close eye on all of the players and their academic efforts.

"I think the merit of 'no pass, no play' is very good," boys athletic director Danny Neuse said, "but in the meantime they're devastating the lives of the students." He said he feels that "too much blame" is placed on extracurricular activities.

Band director Tome Walters, whose band was the organization hardest hit by the new rule, said he thinks the rule penalizes the wrong student.

"The biggest problem about the 'no pass, no play' rule is that it penalizes the people who are involved in school activities," Walters said. "It has no effect whatsoever on the student who is

Lost Maples officials to limit vehicles, people in park

Within the next few weeks of the peak fall season, Lost Maples State Natural Park near Vanderpool will become the most intensely visited of all Texas state parks.

It happens every year.

Such popularity has prompted park officials to make new rules and regulations in order to prevent the chaos from destroying the site's environment.

"During this time of the year, 500 or 600 cars a day pass through here," said Sandra Payne, Lost Maples State Park clerk. "In fact, as far as camping goes, we are all booked up for the next three or four weekends."

Leaves of various colors including orange, red, yellow and brown cover the park this time of the year, making it one of the most spectacular sites to see in Texas.

This year the park officials are attempting to limit the number of people and vehicles which travel through the park each day.

To facilitate traffic flow, they placed a 150-vehicle limit for designated parking within the natural area and parking will be on a first-come, first-serve basis. Also, they would like to keep the number of cars and campers that drive through to 500 per day.

"We only have 70 campsites available total, and we can only allow eight people per campsite, or a total of 560 campers a day," said Payne.

She encourages people who are interested in seeing this park, or camping overnight, to come out on a weekday rather than the weekend. "The weekends are already very crowded and you can see more, and appreciate more, with less people around," she said.

A view
from a hill.
By Tom Denyer

Last weekend I was driving by the Beaudarc place, on one of those caliche trails some folks bother to call a road. I noticed Billy Bob on his cow pony, leading a mule loaded with all sorts of saddlebags, pots and pans, bedrolls, L.L. Bean knick-knacks, and enough artillery to arm a squadron of fascist survivalists.

Billy Bob himself was dressed like something out of Rambo III. (That's the one where he gets out of Leavenworth because the president needs someone to stop a baseball strike started by international terrorists with AIDS.)

I pulled over, got out, hollered him over, and asked "Where are you going, Billy Bob? Halloween's not until Thursday."

From his look of displeasure, I realized I had taken too lightly some very serious Beaudarc business.

"I happen to be getting ready for my hunters," he snarled.

That made me curious. The Beaudarcs are in the habit of taking a day hunter's money and then pointing him at a tree blind so shaky Mary Lou Retton would fall out of it.

"Putting on a little show for them this year, are you?"

"That's right. We've decided to work the high end of the lease hunter market this year. We've got a corporate group from L.A. coming in. They're paying top dollar for the ultimate Bandera County hunting experience, and we Beaudarcs intend to provide it."

"That sounds good, Billy Bob. But what are they going to think of that old tree house of yours? And I thought you kept this place pretty well hunted out. There's not a deer in the county dumb enough to set foot here."

"Never give us enough credit, do you? Which is exactly what we got from this Marfa bank that had some cash left over after financing unsold condos in Tulsa and machine shops in Monterrey. We plowed that into a new hunting lodge with a hot tub and satellite dish. And Bandy traded a couple of wet-calf pairs for some Axis deer and a Bighorn sheep. I'll admit that ram's seen better days, but that just makes him even more exotic."

"So what's your get-up for?"

He handed me a glossy brochure that said. "An integral component of the Triple B Exotic Game Ranch hunting experience is the trail ride over rugged terrain to the Bigfoot Wallace Lodge."

"But, Billy Bob, how's this going to work? You've only got thirty-two acres here."

"What they don't know won't hurt them. They're coming for the fantasy anyway. Besides, you see one cedar, you've seen them all."

Political realignment: A term that is largely misunderstood

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

The spectre of political realignment in Texas is raising its head once again, opening sleepy eyes as the spring campaign season nears.

Realignment is the term used to describe the erosion of the political middle-ground in Texas politics, usually applied to conservative Democrats.

Publicly, realignment is a term the Texas Democratic Party ignores because the Texas Republican Party applauds the happening.

The monster issue that many had hoped was put to death in this summer's special Congressional election in Northeast Texas is merely playing opossum.

And while common wisdom holds that realignment is a product of Republican activity, there's a lot of insider evidence to point out that a good many regular Democrats are responsible for bringing it on, too.

The only ones who seem to fear it are the politicians caught in the middle.

A Republican stockbroker commented recently that he believed Texans wanted a choice between conservative and liberal views, and were tired of middle-of-the-road politics which hid much of how decisions are made.

And Democrat Jim Hightower has often cracked "the only things in the middle of the road are yellow stripes and dead armadillos."

There's a current folklore going around that conservative Democrats will defect to the GOP, bringing dollars and sense with them.

But polls show that most people who stop referring to themselves as Democrats actually conduct themselves as Independents.

In fact, realignment may be creating a powerful Independent bloc which will crazily tilt elections each November. That's a far cry from days not long ago when a Democratic Primary was the race to win.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

I am prejudiced, but I don't blame "the media" for all of today's ills.

I resent the crooked politician who blames "the media." I take umbrage at statements from greedy businessman who critizes "the media" for dwelling on the fact his company pollutes the atmosphere instead of reporting that it gave its fair share to the United Fund.

But I do pin the blame squarely on "the media" for the reputation football coaches have for turning a cliche.

Our own Danny Neuse gets kidded by his staff for the occasional hackneyed phrase that slips into his conversations with writers.

In the case of football coaches, it is usually dumb questions from "the media" that prompts thoughtless answers.

What else can you say when your team loses by 48 points and the television reporter asks how it feels.

So I don't blame the football coach when he says, for example, that "any given team can beat any other on a given night."

And I'm proud of the coaching profession when it creates cliches where none existed.

Such is the case with recent utterances concerning the so-called "no pass, no play" rule.

"Our special tutoring program, constant attention of coaches to academic matters, and —most of all— a lot of hard work by the kids has resulted in few (or none) of our players falling victim to the new rule," coaches throughout the state have been saying.

And hey, isn't that what House Bill 72 is all about?

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

Taxes, like the weather is something most of us gripe about, but few of us attempt to do anything about. For several years a group of folks have been threatening to roll back taxes, and have even started petitions to roll them back.

Again this year, a larger group from the same area has started circulating petitions to roll back the 26-percent increase in school taxes in the Bandera school district.

Among the group is the spouse of a school board trustee.

"What does your other half think of your actively pushing these petitions?" I asked.

"There are somethings we don't agree on," was the answer.

Hey, this is the liberated 1980s, and in some ways it's great. Certainly married couples shouldn't be expected to share views privately or publicly.

Of course, I attend most school board meetings, and with all the ads and public meetings scheduled before the tax increase was voted on, not once did any of these people circulating petitions or signing them come to a meeting and question the proposed budget before it was approved.

They say, it wouldn't do any good.

The state says we must have so many teachers per pupil, we must offer so many subjects, we must furnish students with facilities meeting certain requirements.

If the schools don't meet the requirements, the school chances being discredited by the state. Then where will we be, as taxpayers? Bandera kids would have difficulty getting into college, and parents would be moving out of the district so their kids could attend an accredited school. What would that do to Bandera County's economy?

It would sure make it tough on the developers and realtors to sell property to young people wanting to raise their families in our beautiful Hill Country environment.

No retreat

Dear Editor:

Now that the first public school grading period is over and Texans are assessing the value of the new "pass-play" rule, I would like to take this opportunity to stress the gains we are making in the classroom.

Approximately 85 percent of varsity athletes statewide passed all their courses, while the overall pass rate was considerably lower. What this means is that our athletes are winning on and off the playing field. Why is their percentage pass rate higher than the average? Because the coaches, whose own performance is evaluated each week when their teams compete, worked with their players in tutorials and helped them make the grade. My office advocated this kind of teamwork in a "play book" mailed to each Texas coach, and I think we have found a winning formula that produces results.

As parents, teachers, coaches and students, we can improve the pass rate during the second grading period if we extend the same attention and "scholastic coaching" given our varsity athletes to every child experiencing difficulty in the classroom.

Discovering this key to academic achievement is no less significant to Texans than the discovery of the Spindletop oil gusher. Educated minds are the "oil and gas" of Texas' future, and we must work harder — and encourage our young people to work harder — to better prepare for the challenging jobs of the future. The real issue for our children and grandchildren is not going to be "no pass-no play." The real issue is going to be "no learn-no earn."

This is no time to retreat from education reform. It took courage to raise the standards, and it's going to take courage to stick to them. I think the vast majority of Texans want this state to have the best schools, and I remain committed to seeing Texas achieve that goal.

Mark White
Governor of Texas

Absolutely correct

Dear editor:

Robert Joseph Klein is absolutely correct in stating that no one showed up to protest the Bandera school tax increase because we realize how futile it would be.

I attended one such meeting several years ago. The chairs were filled that time. It was then that I learned my lesson about protesting school tax increases in Bandera County. The tax collector sat on the front row and addressed us and answered our questions without ever turning around to face us. And, right before our eyes, the trustees voted unanimously to raise the taxes.

Now, I get more sick every year when I receive my new tax notices. But, I do go to the polls at every opportunity. I would like to say to those who are just beginning to awaken, "it's too late. You should have been paying more attention to this matter a few years ago."

Small turnout expected in Tuesday's election

A small turnout is expected in Bandera County for Tuesday's election during which voters statewide will determine the fate of 14 proposed amendments to the state constitution, including two which together make up the state's first ever water plan.

Absentee voting continues through Friday at 5 p.m. at the office of County Clerk Vera King, but up until press time action in the absentee voting booth has "been very slow," Mrs. King said.

Only seven persons had cast absentee ballots by noon Wednesday.

Polls will be open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m. Tuesday, Nov. 5, at 10 locations in Bandera County.

Among the amendments on the ballot are two that together make up a statewide water plan and that encourage the development of facilities to conserve water and to distribute it.

Amendment No. 1 authorizes issuing $980 million in water development bonds to create funds for water conservation, development and quality enhancement, and flood control, drainage and related uses.

If the amendment is approved by voters, legislation passed last year will go into effect that encourages conservation, protection of bays and estuaries and the creation of underground water conservation districts.

Supporters say that the programs that provide funds for water projects are balanced by measures that encourage water conservation and better management of groundwater.

The bonds will be repaid by user fees charged those who benefit.

Amendment No. 2 authorizes issuing $200 million of agricultural water conservation bonds, much of which would be used by providing low-interest loans to farmers for the purchase of water-conserving irrigation equipment.

Amendment No. 3 would authorize cities and towns to spend public funds for relocating water laterals on private property, with repayment to be made to the city by the property owner.

Amendment No. 4 would allow school districts to use the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to be used to acquire other land from that fund, a move that supporters say will give the districts more flexibility and will increase the value of the Permanent School Funds.

Amendment No. 5 would allow the legislature to establish standfees charged to those who benefit. provided for the needy.

Amendment No. 6 would permit state prisoners to be housed in penal facilities of other states under interstate agreements. Thirty-one states currently cooperate in this way.

Amendment No. 7 would authorize Chambers County to create an additional justice of the peace court.

Amendment No. 8 would provide $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans housing loans.

Amendment No. 9 would permit the legislature to require prior approval before agencies could spend or transfer appropriated funds.

Amendment No. 10 authorizes issuing $500 million in general obligation bonds to finance the purchase of farm and ranch land.

Amendment No. 11 would allow the correction of errors in grand jury indictments and eliminates some obsolete, unnecessary and unreasonable restrictions on prosecutors.

Amendment No. 12 changes the constitutional prohibition on non-binding or advisory opinions by the state's highest courts so that they can accept and answer questions from federal courts.

Amendment No. 13 requires the reapportionment of judicial districts of the state following each federal census.

Amendment No. 14 abolishes the office of county treaturer in two counties and the office of county surveyor in six counties.

$10,000 bond. Langford is a San Antonio police officer.

Mingo said Hilburn was served with the indictment late Wednesday morning. He is free on a carryover bond, awaiting a Nov. 27 pre-trial hearing.

After seven days in the Bandera County Jail, Steven Wayne Doschka, 28, of Bandera was arrested Oct. 24 for criminal trespass and making terroristic threats.

The employee of Dr. Conrad Nightengale was arrested Oct. 24 for refusing to leave the property of the veterinarian and threatening to kill an employee of the doctor's and burn the business down. The threats were made in the presence of arresting officer Jimmy DeLesdernier.

Doschka had previously been arrested for public intoxication and disorderly conduct. He had been employed by the veterinarian prior to his arrest.

He remained in jail Wednesday afternoon in lieu of two $1000 bonds.

Precinct 2 Constable Gene Ott reported he investigated a burglary at the home of Davis Turner, general manager of the Bandera Downs Race Track.

Mingo said Ott reported someone entered the Polly Peak Road home through a window on Oct. 20 and exited through the rear door, leaving the door unlocked. Reported missing were four guns and other items valued at $2000. Mingo said they did not have the serial numbers of the guns.

Ott is also employed at the race track as head of security. Turner's home is located in Commissioner's Precinct 1.

failing but is not involved in any school activities."

Girls athletic director Barbara Mazurek feels that six weeks is too long for the suspension. Instead, she feels students should be able to participate whenever they bring their grades up.

"I've been teaching in this school since 1959, and I've always played 'no pass, no play,' but we've always been able to play the person when he or she became eligible," she said.

"'No pass, no play' is good, but six weeks is too long," she said.

Feelings among students are mixed also. "I think that it makes people who are in extracurricular activities strive harder," said senior Cliff Bronson. "But, I don't think it's fair for the student who makes all As and one F to be ineligible and yet the people who make all Cs and Ds can play," he said.

Regardless of their feelings, however, students at Bandera High School are finally realizing that if they don't pass they really don't play, and this came as a surprise to many.

Halley's Comet comes to SA museum

The adventure continues Thursday, Nov. 7 and 14, from 7-9 p.m. The program includes trips to the San Antonio College Planetarium.

Business asked to donate to light the streets

Henry Adams, president of the Bandera Chamber of Commerce, announced plans to light the streets of Bandera. He asked businesses and residents of Bandera to pledge funds, by the month or the year, to help defray expenses on power consumed by mercury vapor lights.

The lights would be installed by the Bandera Electric Co-op.

The money would be turned over to the commissioners court, he said, and in turn they would be responsible to the Co-op for the flat rate of $4.25 per month for each light, to cover energy consumed.

Two of the lights were installed by commissioner Troy Pingleton for inspection. One was in front of the post office and the other in front of Western Auto.

The Dilley Wolves defeated the Bulldogs, 14-0, in the second district game of the 1960 season.

The St. Joseph's Mustangs won their sixth straight when they defeated St. Mary's, 18-8.

Mr. and Mrs. Langford returned from a trip to Bermuda where they went as winners in a national air-conditioning sales promotion contest.

The Oct. 28, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin reminded pledgers supporting the Medina Children's Home the land fund drive was nearly completed. The money, needed badly, was for the annual payment.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Bradshaw were in charge of the home and they reported 32 children in the home and plans were for more.

A 2,300-pound bull bred at the Lazy L Ranch by Dr. C. H. Langford was declared Grand Champion at the Pan American Stock Show in Dallas.

Jimmy Searcy reported in the third grade School Daze News on his recent fishing expedition. A cat, a dog, and a sheep followed him. He caught two fish despite the noise the dog made when it chased the cat up a tree.

While Jimmy chased the dog home, one fish jumped back into the water. The splash caused the sheep to become frightened, and he ran off. While Jimmy chased the sheep, the cat came down out of the tree and ate the other fish!

Opry returns to Comfort with proven lineup

The Hill Country Opry returns to the Comfort Theatre stage Saturday night, Nov. 9, at 7:30 p.m., with a lineup of proven favorites certain to give Opry regulars and first time visitors alike their four dollars worth.

Featured performers on the family-type show will be Fox Fire. Versatile and gifted, Jim and Maggie Fox and their enthusiastic bass player, Linda Mockeridge, headlined several Opry's when the show was first introduced by previous theater owners, Dick and Dorothy Britt.

Big Bill Lister, a colorful, down-home-style entertainer who has been touching audiences for over 40 years will share the spotlight with Fox Fire. Lister helped the Britts put together the first Opry in 1978, as a benefit for Comfort flood victims, and appeared on dozens of subsequent shows.

Pianist/vocalist Jan Kuebel, another established member of the Opry family, opens the show, applying her special magic to Pop and C & W classics.

New theater proprietors, Harold and Pamela Duke, have scheduled an Opry for the second Saturday of each month, and have already booked an impressive bill of entertainers into Spring of '86.

A variety of food will be available to Opry goers at the theater's remodeled Snack Bar.

Hoffman, Rubin to debate at Schreiner

A lively debate inviting audience participation will be the second event in the new Schreiner Special Events Series. Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin will bring their debate to the campus of Schreiner College, Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 7:30 p.m. The debate is free and open to the public.

Rubin has made an about-face in his methods advocating change and suggests that one can only change the system by becoming part of the system. Labeled "Yuppie" (young, urban professional), Rubin is an advocate of strengthening the economic bases of cities in order to provide jobs for the poor, as well as revitalizing of the "small-business spirit."

Hoffman was recently described as "rebel with a cause." He currently works with several environmental groups throughout the Great Lakes and Northeast. He has just returned from Nicaragua and is working to raise public consciousness about U.S. policy in Central America. Author of seven books, Hoffman advocates changing the system by remaining outside it.

Both men are former political activists and were involved in the demonstrations at the 1968 Democratic National Convention. Together, they formed the Yippie Party—an organization for peace loving hippies who wanted political change. After being tried and eventually acquitted as part of the Chicago Seven, both men have gone on to work for social change.

Their debate has taken place on college campuses around the country, including Texas A & M University last year. They provide audiences with at least an hour of time for questions after the two men state their points of view.

Hoffman's latest book, published in 1982, is "Square Dancing in the Ice Age." This book, along with Rubin's "Growing up at 37," published in 1976, will be on reserve at the Schreiner College Library. A background packet of information is also available at the library.

The speaker selection committee for the Special Events Series was comprised of students, community members, faculty and staff. They chose this year's speakers with the intent to stimulate thought and to expose college students to a variety of opinions and ideas.

Their goal is to bring to the Hill Country experts from business, industry, politics, medicine, religion, entertainment and the arts. Completing this year's series are Tom Sullivan, a blind performer who has made his make as singer, composer, entertainer, actor, author, athlete and humanitarian, and Dr. George Sheehan, member of The President's Council of Physical Fitness and marathon runner. These men will speak Feb. 4 and April 3.

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

John Portman reports that he is recovering nicely after his stay in the hospital. He is with his good friend, Yo Yo Mayorga, they have been together for over five years. Yo Yo and her son John have been caring for John during his last illness.

Mrs. Robert (Doreen) Hartley spent the past weekend with T and Mary Blakeney. Doreen was a neighbor of the Blakeneys in San Antonio for many years. Doreen is originally from Wales and she and Mary enjoyed many hours of conversation, and a lot of gossip during the weekend. Mary loves to hear that Welch brogue so she says she listened mostly.

It was a happy and enjoyable weekend at the Ciarlo's. First their son, Lt. Col. Fred Ciarlo, flew in on Saturday for the weekend, and then on Sunday their daughter, Judy Hines, and three of her sons and families showed up to join Betty and John for church services at the Walker Memorial Chapel. Present were John and his wife June Hines from Fort Worth, Christopher, his wife Beth was working, and Tim.

After services they all went to the Ciarlo's home on the river where they were joined by Deputy Robert Hines Sr., Robert Hines Jr. and his wife Sharon and their two daughters, Sarah and Ashley. Sharon had baked a cake to help celebrate the weekend, which was the Ciarlo's 46th wedding anniversary and John's 68th birthday.

The work day at the Walker Memorial Chapel saw much work being accomplished on the chapel grounds and the steps at the Sunday School building. At noon all the workers enjoyed a fine fried fish dinner, devotion and prayer time.

A covered-dish fellowship dinner will be held at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday, Nov. 3, following the morning worship. Everyone is invited to come on out to the Chapel and then stay and enjoy some of that good home cooked food.

It was nice seeing Eldridge and Pearl Bonds back enjoying themselves at bingo and at their water front home. Eldridge looked good after his recent hospital stay for a collapsed lung.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Rankhorn were checking on their cabin and visiting with some old friends. Mrs. Rankhorn recently underwent her third hip surgery in the past two years. Mrs. Rankhorn feels that the latest surgery will fix her up as good as new and plans on being back out here doing what she loves most, fishing.

Doug Smith was released from the U.S. Veterans Hospital in Kerrville on Friday after being there for two weeks. He is home now and slowly recovering and getting his strength back.

Pat Coffey and family traveled to Victoria to take part in the Henery and Josie Starts' 60th wedding anniversary celebration on Oct. 19.

The anniversary party was more like a reunion, Pat said as she saw cousins and other relatives she had not seen in over 10 years. Her sisters, Shirley Richey from Duncanville, and Barbara Bowen from Seattle, were there.

From the party they drove to the Gulf Coast for a few days and met Pat's father, Ray Bowen, and Lena Coates. They caught a little of everything surf fishing, including a 27-inch red fish which Bowen landed.

Pat Coffey's mother, Mildred Bowen from Victoria, was here for a few days visiting with Pat and other friends.

A happy birthday goes out to Pat Coffey. She has really been enjoying the last two weeks and now her sister Barbara from Seattle is staying with her for a couple of weeks before returning to Washington to get ready to move to Los Angeles, Calif.

No, we were not invaded from outer space Saturday. It was just the many who went to the Halloween party at the Copper Lantern. A large crowd showed up, most of them in masquerade. Prizes were awarded, and everyone had a good time.

Vet warns against spread of rabies

"The only way to prevent the spread of rabies into Bandera County is to have all eligible animals vaccinated against this disease," the county's local health officer said this week.

He said a major rabies outbreak in Piedras Negras, Mexico, has Texas officials concerned.

"While no positive rabies cases have been reported in Bandera County this year, there have been positive cases in Bexar, Kerr, Uvalde and Kendall counties," said Dr. Conrad K. Nightingale, a veterinarian.

He said that fully 62 positive cases have been reported in Uvalde County, including one case in a human.

The health officer reminded animal owners that state law requires that all dogs and cats be vaccinated against rabies by the time the animal is four months of age.

Vaccinating pets is a job for a veterinarian, Dr. Nightingale said.

"Vaccinations may only be carried out by a veterinarian licensed to practice in this state or by a person operating under the direct supervision of a licensed veterinarian," Nightingale said.

He said booster vaccinations must be given every 12 months.

He reminded Bandera County pet owners that the county has registration laws for dogs that require yearly registration and the payment of a $1 fee. Cats are not required to be protected.

"Failure to comply with the registration and vaccination laws of Bandera County and the state of Texas is an offense punishable by a fine and for repeat offenders, by a jail sentence," Dr. Nightingale said.

He urged owners to have their pets wear a collar with a current rabies and/or county license tage any time they are outside the home. "If your pet is lost, the tags show that the pet is indeed in compliance with state and county laws and your ownership can be verified by the numbers on the tags," he said.

St. Stanislaus to hold community turkey dinner

St. Stanislaus Catholic Church will revive its annual Fall Turkey Dinner sponsored by the ladies of the Altar Society, on Sunday, Nov. 10.

The ladies will prepare tasty homecooked turkeys and dressing along with sweet potatoes, string beans, cranberry sauce and fruit salad served with coffee or tea. Adult plates will be $3.50 and children's $2. Fresh pies will be available along with handmade arts and crafts.

Serving will be from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the parish hall across the street from St. Stanislaus Church on the corner of 6th and Cedar Streets.

Soft water can save energy, housing specialist says

Most people know that hard water requires use of more detergent or soap to get clothes and dishes clean.

But few people are aware that hard water can also result in wasted energy and higher water heating bills, says Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service housing specialist Dr. Susan Quiring.

Researchers at New Mexico State University documented this problem after a year-long study of the effects of water quality on the performance of both gas and electric household water heaters, she says.

The study measured the energy consumption of six gas and six electric water heaters that had been in household use for 5 to 15 years in the Las Cruces, N.M., area.

The gas and electric heater groups were chosen so that half of each group had been operated exclusively on the area's untreated hard water. The other half had been operated exclusively on water that was softened in the home to remove harsh minerals, such as calcium and magnesium.

The gas heaters operated on hard water used 29.57 percent more Btus than those operated on softened water, reports Quiring. Likewise, the electric heaters operated on hard water used 21.68 percent more Btus.

The researchers then removed and weighed the sediment and scale that had accumulated in each of the tested heaters, says the specialist. In those operated only on softened water, the amount of scale weighed from 1.09 to 4.27 pounds. But the heaters operated on untreated water had scale buildup weighing from 3.86 pounds in a 6-year-old unit to almost 40 pounds in a 10-year-old heater.

Quiring advises Texans living in hard water areas to prevent such residue buildup either by installing a water softener or by draining enough water out of their water heaters each six months or so to remove sediment.

"People who live in areas with extremely hard water and high sulfer content, may find it advisable to drain the water heater as often as every other month," she adds.

The specialist also recommends following the manufacturer's instructions that come with the heater

Water firm opens office in San Antonio

Hill Country Spring Water of Texas, Inc., a Utopia-based company, has opened a new office at 10715 Gulfdale St. in San Antonio.

The new, 2,300-square-foot office will house the company's marketing operations, product distribution and accounting divisions. The firm's data processing unit will relocate to the San Antonio facility in the near future, a spokesman said.

Hill Country Spring Water, formed a little over two years ago, is the producer of Utopia Sparkling Water and other bottled water using water from natural springs and wells near Utopia.

Foreclosures on the rise in Texas

When a home burns or is flooded, insurance provides protection for the owner, but in foreclosures, the homeowner loses all — initial investment, equity and the house itself.

That's the unfortunate situation in which an increasing number of Texans are finding themselves, says Dr. Jane Berry, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"Appreciation in home value has been stalled by low inflation," she says, "and many homeowners who are forced to sell because they can't make payments find they have to accept much less for their home than they paid for it."

When proceeds from a sale won't cover the original mortgage debt, the owner faces total loss, the specialist points out. Some pay cash to make up the difference between their selling price and the amount necessary to pay off the mortgage.

Other homeowners walk away from the home, rather than pumping in additional money to pay off the mortgage. In this case, the lender has no resource but to foreclose, Berry explains.

"Many people bought houses and condominiums when interest rates were high through builder buydowns," notes the specialist. Builders artificially lowered interest rates for the first few years of the loan by adding the "buydown" costs into home loans.

As the interest rate and monthly payments increased, some of these homeowners found themselves with lower incomes or without a job. The result was high foreclosure rate in many areas, she remarks.

She warns prospective home buyers that they will find it more difficult and more costly to secure financing, as the lending industry evaluates buydowns, negative amortization, variable rate mortgages and other "creative" financing devices which have contributed to this rush of foreclosures.

Bigger than life before the footlights, Kermit and his cast of charmers provide razzmatazz, thrills and spills in a 90-minute stage and musical variety show.

Produced and directed by Ice Follies and Sesame Street Live veteran, Bob Shipstad, the fast-paced spectacular was choreographed by Diane Arnold, assistant choreographer for television's "Solid Gold."

Halloween in Lakehills tonight

Youngsters living in the Lakehills area will have at least two parties to choose from tonight.

The annual party sponsored by Sgt. Millie Schenkat will be held at Millie Schenkat Hall on Park Road 37 at 6:30 p.m., and the Medina Lake Betterment Association will host it's annual Halloween Party at the Lakehills Civic Center from 6:30 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. Thursday night.

Schenkat's Halloween Party will feature special treats, games and a costume contest. The Hermann Sons Lodge Hall will be decorated for the occasion. The party is Schenkat's treat and it is free for the kids.

The Civic Center Party will have ghost stories, games, a costume contest, candy, treats, cookies, and punch. This party is also free for the youngsters. A Haunted House will be set up by the Lakehills United Methodist Youth Fellowship as a fundraiser for the group. To tour the house, a $1 admission fee will be charged.

Hermann Sons breakfast bazaar this weekend

Millie Schenkat Hall will open at 8 a.m. Nov. 2 and 3 for a Bazaar featuring many handmade items.

"Some of the members of Hermann Sons have been making these beautiful and unusual items for several months," Kim Schelb said.

The monthly Taco Breakfast will be held Sunday morning in conjunction with the Bazaar at the lodge home, Schelb said.

The Bazaar will have many items suitable for Christmas gifts and decorations. This is the second year the women of the lodge have had the pre-Christmas Bazaar, and the selection is larger than last year's, she said.

Ten from Lakehills attend Legion Convention

Lakehills was represented by ten legionaires and auxiliary members at the American Legion 21st District Annual Fall Convention for legionaires and auxiliary members.

Representing the James F. Pearson Post and Unit 410 from Lakehills were Richard and Elaine Mixon, Ray and Jerry Mauer, Stanley and Ruth Tschirhart, John Cavazos, Bea Borchers, and Jim and Alta Burton.

The Lakehills auxiliary received six awards, a ribbon, and a Poppy booklet, Elaine Mixon reported.

The group is already making plans for the Spring Convention in Uvalde in April.

Gib Gray and Norris Dohrow were honored with lifetime honorary memberships at the annual Appreciation Dinner at the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department last week. Gertrude Dohrow accepted the award for her husband. Gene Laue and Boots Laue were presented intermediate certifications and Clint Oehler received an advanced certification from the Texas Volunteer Fire Fighters and Fire Marshal's Board. The MLVFD chief Oehler said this is the only department in Bandera County participating with the fire association in training volunteer fire fighters.

Lakehills to celebrate Sesquicentennial May 4

Interested persons in the Lakehills Sesquicentennial Celebration set May 4 for the 1986 celebration in Lakehills. A meeting called by Lakehills Sesquicentennial representatives, Peggy Ashmore and Sue Krase drew a handful of interested persons Tuesday evening.

The group discussed changing the name of the spring celebration from Night in Old Lakehills to Lakehills Sesquicentennial Celebration for the Sesquicentennial year 1986. Everyone present was in favor of keeping Lakehills in the name, but felt Sesquicentennial should be used in the name next year.

The celebration for '86 will be on the same order as the NIOL last May, but larger. The quilt which was designed by Ray Mauer and made by Jerry Mauer will be used as the big prize at the celebration. It was withdrawn from the auction list last May. In '86 admission will be charged to enter the grounds and those entering will have their name entered for prizes in a drawing to be held later in the afternoon. Other prizes already obtained for the drawing include a solid brass Sesquicentennial belt buckle, two leatherbound books, a Celebrity Cookbook, a handmade set of placemats and napkins, and a Texas Flag. Anyone wishing to donate additional prizes should contact Ashmore or Krase.

Other activities planned for the May celebration will be an old fashioned hoedown type dance, musical entertainment, food booths, concessions, games, contests, arts and crafts, and the highlight will be the Miss Lakehills Pageant.

Again in 1986, businesses, organizations, and individuals can rent space for their booths with the funds going to the Lakehills Sesquicentennial Association, and proceeds from the concessions will go to the renter.

The group will meet again after January 1 to start the spring celebration rolling.

Schotts close generation gap

When Roseann Schott and her husband Arliss went to San Antonio last Saturday to visit her daughter and son-in-law Carrie and Richard Stein at their apartment she had no idea what was in store for them. It was Roseann's birthday (no details on which one). Joining those four for a buffet of fajitas and a birthday cake was her other daughter, Tina and friend Pat, and another young couple Linda and David.

Roseann said after feasting they went to the Midnite Rodeo with the three younger couples and she and Arliss danced all evening, and had no problem keeping up with the newer generation on the dance floor.

FC-CS auction rescheduled

The big auction scheduled in conjunction with the Harvest Fair at Faith Chapel and Christian School Oct. 19 was rained out. Donna Rains told the Bulletin. It has been reset for Nov. 23 at 5 p.m. Rains said they hope to have it at the Lakehills Civic Center, but it had not been confirmed as of Wednesday morning.

Rains said there are many wonderful items that have been donated by local businesses, and businesses in San Antonio and Castroville to go on the auction block. "The support of the businesses has been tremendous," she said.

Hildebandt favors apple pie

Irene Hildebrandt and her daughter Roseann Schott went to her daughter Lucille Hoesen's home last week to celebrate Irene's birthday.

After a shopping spree in the San Antonio malls they returned to Lucille's home and enjoyed an apple pie she baked in honor of her mother's birthday.

Lakehills connected to Grapevine

A lady in Grapevine is making a Sesquicentennial quilt for the 150th birthday celebration for Texas in 1986. She contacted Peggy Ashmore with the Lakehills Sesquicentennial Association and asked if Lakehills would like to submit a square for the quilt. Jerry Mauer designed and made a square, a replica of the Lakehills—Medina Lake History Book cover. Ashmore said the square from Lakehills will be one of 30 squares used in the Grapevine quilt.

Four Lakehills Octeganarians enjoyed participating in the Mortgage Burning Ceremony at the Civic Center. Panchita Thomson, Mac and Flo McMahan and Clif Waterman all did their share to raise money for the occasion.

MLBA proudly torches 10-year-old mortgage

Although the setting was a witch's pot, it was no trick, just treats Saturday night at the Lakehills Civic Center when the mortgage on the property and building was burned and volunteer workers were treated to a sausage dinner.

After dining on sausage, red beans, potato salad, and fruit salad all heads turned front stage as Clig Waterman with microphone in hand called all charter members to the front. Of the original 17 members forming the Medina Lake Betterment Association in January 1969, five were present Saturday night. C. E. (Mac) and Flo McMahan, Joe Talk, and Clif and Jeffie Waterman half circled a large cast iron pot in front of the stage. Then Panchita Thompson, not a charter member, but a member that has dedicated almost 15 years to raising funds for the Civic Center and who has contributed so much of her time, energy, money, and materials to the center, came forward.

The petite, energetic octogenarian was given the honor of holding the mortgage papers as they were ignited above the witch's pot. The papers, only ten years old, burned slowly at first, but suddenly they were dropped as the flames turned the paper to ashes to make one of the biggest milestones in MLBA's history.

Following the ceremony, MLBA president Peggy Ashmore cut a large cake decorated with a burning mortgage and the directors and volunteers that gathered for the occasion talked in small groups about the future expansion of the Civic Center. As one director present said, this may be the first of many mortgages to help fulfill the dream of the original 17 members, "to initiate and carry out a program to bring about a better way of life for the people of Lakehills."

Pre-school program planned for Lakehills

A pre-school program for three to five year olds could become a reality in Lakehills, says Laura Lara, a child development associate.

Lara, a resident of Lakehills says the program would be geared for ages three years to five years and would run one or two mornings each week.

"This is still in the planning stages, but if parents are interested, and will support the program, they need to contact me," she said.

Lara can be reached at 751-3457.

Stomach clip proves effective in weight loss

Use of a stomach clip has resulted in long-term weight loss that compares favorably to other procedures for treatment of exteme obesity, according to Texas Medicine.

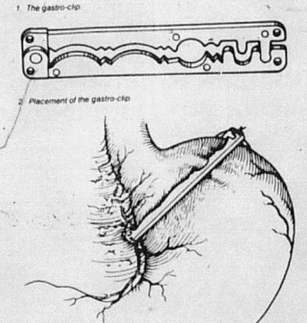

The clip...appears to be a relatively safe and effective procedure for treatment for morbidly obese patients," wrote two Dallas physicians in the Texas Medical Association's October scientific journal.

Known as a gastro-clip, the device reduces the size of the stomach and consists of two arms that hinge at one end. When closed, it creates a permanent opening approximately one-third the size of a normal stomach exit opening. The clip compresses the stomach walls and prevents bigger pieces of food from passing through the new opening. However, it does allow well-chewed particles to pass. Insertion of the clip does not require an opening in the stomach.

According to Drs. Samuel B. Bashour and R. W. Hill, surgeons are now focusing on reduction of the stomach's capacity as a means of gradual and more lasting weight loss rather than performing an intestinal bypass where a segment of the small intestine replaces the entire length of the intestine.

Patients in the study conducted by Bashour and Hill lost an average of 68 pounds. The weight loss was calculated at one week before and 12 months after surgery for each patient. According to Bashour, an individual who weighs 75 to 100 pounds over ideal weight may be a candidate for the gastro-clip.

The authors state that persons who have had complications from an intestinal bypass or a stapling procedure should not be considered for this operation. They add it appears that patients incur less nonproductive time because they are able to walk shortly after surgery. The gastro-clip has been submitted for approval by the Food and Drug Administration and a patent for the device has been approved.

Geriatric Education Center

South Texas will have its first geriatric education center when The University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio (UTHSCSA) establishes the center with a three-year $718,600 grant from the Health Resources and Services Administration, a division of the Department of Health and Human Services.

The South Texas Geriatric Education Center will offer courses and resource materials to educators and people who provide direct care for the elderly. These include physicians, dentists, nurses, psychologists, pharmacists, social workers, allied health professionals and family caregivers.

Providing drug information is just one way the center will help elderly residents.

"For example, people may call us with questions about how a certain drug is likely to react in an older patient," says Michele Saunders, D.M.D., director for education for the new project. "Drugs sometimes produce unintended effects in senior citizens and the therapeutic dosage often changes as patients age."

Saunders is clinical assistant professor of dental diagnostic science at UTHSCSA and is director of geriatric/extended care oral health programs at the Audie L. Murphy Memorial Veterans Hospital.

Program director on the grant is Robert Jensen, M.D., an associate professor and chief of the geriatric division in family practice at UTHSCSA. He also is the new project's director for development.

"Texas leads all states except Florida and Arizona in its proportion of elderly population," Jensen says.

"South Texas is experiencing considerable geriatric growth. We have a great number of elderly Mexican Americans, retired military and 'snowbirds' who have migrated from colder climates. Each group has its own characteristics and dymanics of aging."

Service area of the geriatric education center (GEC) will include part of central Texas and the entire south Texas region, stretching from Temple to Freeport and from Brownsville to Del Rio. The health science center's Teleconference Network also will be used to reach 83 institutions statewide.

"Because of increasing cost restraints now mandated in hospitals, health authorities anticipate major changes in the structure of health care programs for the elderly," Jensen says.

The broad-based GEC will help the community address these crucial issues, he adds. The center will draw on faculty and resources from all five schools within UTHSCSA a well as from the VA hospital, other area universities, nursing homes, hospitals, agencies that serve the elderly and the Bexar County Medical Society's committee on aging.

"We've had tremendous support from the community," Jensen says. "People see this as a project that will mean better care for themselves when they grow old as well as better care for the elderly now."

Fire ant damage study planned by wildlife energy

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists this spring will conduct a study of the effects of fire ant infestations on ground-nesting birds such as quail.

Don Wilson, upland game program leader, said the study will be designed to determine quail nesting and hatching success in an area which is heavily infested with Brazilian fire ants.

"There is a great deal of concern among sportsmen about the effects of fire ants on quail populations," Wilson said. "We have chosen to investigate nesting success because we feel this is the period when quail are most vulnerable to ant predation."

There are three main species of fire ants in Texas, according to Phil Hamman, extension entomologist with Texas A & M University's Entomology Department. They are the native fire ant and two imports — the southern and Brazilian fire ants.

Hamman said the latter species is the most predominant both in terms of visibility and damage-causing. "There are a lot of unanswered questions about fire ants, especially in terms of their effects on wildlife and domestic livestock," Hamman said. "However, I have not yet seen any documented evidence that they cause any direct harm to either."

Hamman said the Brazilian fire ant apparently entered the U.S. through Mobile, Alabama in the 1930s and proceeded to march methodically through the South.

They first entered Texas through the Beaumont area, then fanned out to cover most of the state's eastern half. "Much of the migration has been natural," he pointed out, "but evidently this migration was helped along by accidentally transporting them on shipments of nursery stock, sod and hay."

Treated in Hondo

Dora Leola Schaefer of Bandera was admitted Friday to Medina Memorial Hospital in Hondo and released the same day, the hospital reported.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes
WHAT IS MATURITY? Many quotes come to mind..."When you can sense your concern for others outweighing your concern for yourself." "A frank acceptance of barren realities." "Implies otherness...the art of living with."
One of the best we have come across is by Dr. William C. Menninger. He said that the criteria of emotional maturity are:
Having the ability to deal constructively with reality.
Having the capacity to adapt to change.
Having a relative freedom from symptoms that are produced by tensions and anxieties.
Having the capacity to relate to other people in a consistent manner with mutual satisfaction and helpfulness.
Having the capacity to sublimate, to direct one's instinctive hostile energy into creative and constructive outlets.
Having the capacity to love.
Having the capacity to find more satisfaction in giving than in receiving.
We at Grimes Funeral Chapels would like to thank the many readers who have taken the time to phone us or write us about these articles. It is most appreciated.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The Great Bandera Fall Flea Market (a.k.a. rummage sale) opens its doors on Friday.

Vernell Mullenax, she of the green thumb, announces there will also be plants available Nov. 1 and again on Sat. Nov. 2. Besides providing low-cost clothing and household furnishings, these periodic offerings help to finance the ongoing expenses of the Silver Sage Corral, which is a source of pride to the whole community.

Biscuit breakfast

"Noboby does it better." — that's the title of one of popular songwriter Billy Joel's songs, and that's what people say about Kathy Krannick's biscuits. The same goes for Marie Holland's sausage gravy.

Put them together, add the coffee (free refills), orange juice, and honey, and you have the first Tuesday breakfast on Nov. 5, from 7 a.m. to 9 a.m. Also note the new, lower suggested donation of $2.50 for adults; kids are $2.00.

Christmas comes again

So sing the Melodiers in their rehearsals on the first and third Fridays at 5 p.m., the next one Nov. 1, in preparation for December programs they have been asked to give to the Kerrville State Hospital and the Veterans Administration Medical Center.

Gift-making and decorations also loom ahead, which is why there are two Christmas Crafts groups working at the Center, on Monday and Tuesday mornings. There are feastive tablecloths and Christmas tree skirts to be made, and 75 stockings to be decorated for the Spirit of Christmas Presents for disadvantaged children.

Joe May and Doloras Greene head up the construction crew, and offer to help with existing projects or will introduce new ones.

Davis May, a skilled woodworker, can offer patterns and know-how for making wooden toys and other objects. Preregistration is not necessary. But they suggest beginning now so as to avoid a last-minute rush.

Mini-bus mini-bump

One day a person driving past the center hooked and bent the bumper of the van used for center transportation while it was parked in front of the Silver Sage Corral. Apparently young and frightened, she hit it and ran, before anyone could get the license number.

It is to Al Evans' credit that he marked his repair bill as a donation to the Center.

Help wanted

Whenever the area between M.R. Sandidge Playground and the Silver Sage Corral dries out sufficiently, the plans for a driveway and parking space will be carried out. In the meantime, the tall grass around the building keeps growing, and a volunteer with a mower is being sought to bring it down to a neat level, probably for the last time this fall.

Mark Wright, horticulturist, has offered to give advice on the plantings, and the Garden Club has contributed $25 toward the purchase of plantings to make the outside as attractive as the inside of the Center.

But at this point what is needed is a person with landscaping expertise to draw up a master plan. Included would be a walking course, to be designed and constructed within the boundaries of the quarter block on which the Center stands. Anyone who could assist with this project is urged to contact Marie Holland, chairman of the Advisory Board, or Glenn Weymeyer, county coordinator, at 796-4969.

Weatherization

The Alamo Area Council of Governments again has a program whereby people of limited means may have their homes winterized, at no charge, if they meet qualifications. Two homes in Bandera County were serviced in this way in the past year.

Applications are available through the Silver Sage Corral, Glenn Weymeyer, county coordinator. This does not cover major reconstruction, but can furnish weatherstripping, window and door replacement, even roof repair.

Home for the Holidays

As in years past, one person in Bandera County, 60 years of age or older, and one alternate may sign up for a trip on Southwest Airlines to anywhere the airline flies, free of charge, if they would otherwise be unable to make this trip.

The flight must be scheduled sometime between Dec. 9 and Jan. 10. It is Southwest Airlines' contribution to one family's Christmas cheer. Nine other counties in the AACOG region will enjoy a similar gift.

Acknowledgements

Thanks to John Cameron for a wealth of textbooks on business law, accounting and related subjects. Feelers have been put out to college students and libraries who could make the best use of this valuable material.

Our faithful ex-serviceman, Hank Keene, whose respiratory problems prohibit him from helping the Center in a physical manner, has contributed another check for $100, to add to his previous frequent contributions. All for the good of the cause, he says.

A memorial has been received from Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ruede honoring James Nealy, Otto Hultzer and Mrs. Arnold Haby.

Commentary by Kay

No doubt you have heard of Claude Pepper, the feisty 85 year old congressman from Florida, a tireless advocate for rights of the elderly. He says, "I don't consider myself old, except in terms of the calendar. I stay so busy that I don't have time to get old."

But he cites his sister, who is 72, as an example of what can happen to people who retire and don't take up new interests. "She quit work and has been going downhill ever since," he relates.

"She had been a very able school teacher, but now she thinks she is the sickest person in the world, and if you don't agree with her, she is unhappy. I don't know what to do about her."

Anyone knowing a person like this could begin by inviting him/her to lunch at the Silver Sage Corral. Explain the various activities available, on the spot. Encourage that person to make contacts with other people, perhaps even offer to be a volunteer host/hostess or teach a skill, or visit someone that is worse off.

The result is a flow of adrenalin which is a real spirit-raiser. Remember, the poet once said "No man is an island."

Service coordinator named for seniors

Following a recent study by the Alamo Area Council of Governments and committee on services to the aging, Glenn Wehmeyer of Harper was named co-ordinator for Bandera County services to the aging. The study was taken after the Silver Sage Corral senior citizens center was built in Bandera. The Volunteer Services Council study revealed Silver Sage was large enough to have it's own co-ordinator.

Wehmeyer's appointment was announced by Linda Parker, head of the Volunteer Services Council for Kerrville State Hospital. Funding for the new co-ordinator come through Parker's agency in Kerrville.

Wehmeyer will be officed at the Silver Sage Monday through Friday. His duties will be to design, implement, co-ordinate services to elderly residents of Bandera County.

He will co-ordinate transportation, home visitation, referrals to agencies, guidance counseling, reassurance programs, nutrition programs, and other services available through the center.

The Texas A & I graduate was born in Kerrville and spent most of his youth in the Kerrville - Ingram area. After receiving his degrees in sociology and psychology, he worked in the newspaper advertising field in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area for several years.

When he moved back to Kerrville he worked at the Kerrville State Hospital for seven years. The Harper bachelor says he hopes to make Bandera his home after the holidays are over.

"I'm totally awe-struck with the amount of cooperation, concern, and the sharing at the Silver Sage. It is wonderful," he said.

"The center itself, built by a group of about 50 people, is something to be proud of," he said.

First on his list of priorities will be assessing the needs of the county's elderly and seeing what the individual and group needs are as a whole, he said. "The county has many untapped resources," he says.

He will be working toward completion of an exercise area and equipment needed. "Everyday is a real eye opener at the center," he said. "These people don't sit back, they're involved."

He said he's very much concerned for the senior citizens to be able to maintain as much independence as possible, and maintain as much self care as possible.

They have great minds, years of experience, insight into things younger generations have never and probably will never experience. Many of them have lived through the great depression and world wars, and they have so much to give, he said.

Part of his time will be spent overseeing the duties of the four senior citizens on the Texas Employment Program, Glyn Taylor, Lillian Ray, Delamay Cox, and Christian Kalka. They are employed on a 20-hour-per-week rotation program.

Ex-POWs organize

A new chapter of the American Ex-Prisoners of War was formed in Kerrville on Oct. 21. The group chose the name "Hill Country Chapter", and some 18 persons became charger members.

Chapter Commander is Kenneth Brown of Fredericksburg; senior vice-commander is John F. Tom; junior vice commander is James Joey; adjutant treasurer is Eloise Frederick, and chaplain is Dorothy Britt, all of the Kerrville area.

Aaron Shackelford, Richard Britt, George Fetikovich, and Roy Jacob comprise the board of directors.

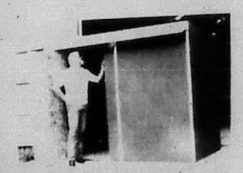

Be Prepared.

Hicks given Hospitality Award

Secretary of State Myra McDaniel presents this years Hospitality Award to Judy and Don Hicks.

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff Writer

Since 1951, the Hicks family have entertained folks from all over the world on their Mayan Dude Ranch, tucked away in the Hill Country of Bandera. In fact, the fun-filled activities and southern hospitality, which Don and Judy Hicks, co-owners of the ranch, are famous for, caught the eye of some state officials and the Texas Tourist Development (TTD).

Myra McDaniel, secretary of the state, presented Judy and Don the Hospitality Award when the TTD honored eight outstanding members of the tourism industry at its 20th Conference on Tourism, in mid September.

The Hicks were cited for their continued participation in hosting statewide tourist activities and participating in national and international Texas tourism promotions.

"It was a complete and total surprise...and to my knowledge, we are the only ones in our industry to get this award," said Judy. "We got it for contributing the most to tourist activities in the state of Texas over a period of years, not just over one year."

Every year the Hicks contribute their facilities and themselves to promoting Texas, especially Bandera. "When a group in London comes to the U.S. and wants to see Texas, a travel agency will try to plan a tour of the state to include places like ours," Mrs. Hicks said. "That way the group can see Texas and everyone benefits."

When a place is run by a family, the people who come here feel like . . . part of the family
— Judy Hicks

Judy and Don, married 32 years, credit their success to their family-run operation. "When a place is run by a family, the people who come here feel like they are part of the family," said Judy, the mother of 13 children ranging from late teens to early 30's.

"We even have a woman from Houston who came last year and showed me a scrapbook of all the Christmas cards we had sent her over the years, because we made her feel like part of the family," said Judy as she beamed with pride.

Judy and Don, along with their 13 children create this family-like atmosphere. "Most of our children have jobs that will allow them to work with us in the summertime, whereas the others, like our daughter Shawna who also works at our Whispering Winds ranch, work at the ranch all the time," she added.

"Having our kids work for us keeps our 'family reputation' and we also have the added benefit of being able to spank them," said Judy jokingly.

County spending up 13 percent

Bandera County spend $2.4 million during the fiscal year that ended on Sept. 30, an increase of 13.4 percent over the $1.97 million spent the year before, according to the annual report of county treasurer Elizabeth James.

The county spent $1.8 million from operating funds and $122,950 from special funds, a total of $1,915,653 to pay for the day-to-day operations of county government. That's a 25.7 percent increase over day-to-day expenses of a year ago.

Commissioners also transferred $3,690 in available school funds to school districts, paid $203,271 in interest and principal on debt, paid $17,440 from state fee accounts, and deposited $251,508 in payroll taxes, retirement and death benefits for employees.

The county's indebtedness was reduced by $62,500 to $1,403,500, the report said. Indebtedness is from certificates of indebtedness issued in 1970, road bonds issued in 1965, 1974 and 1976, permanent improvement bonds issued in 1981, and loans to pay for improvements at Mansfield Park.

The complete treasurer's report appears elsewhere in this issue.

Biking across Texas

Bicycling through the rains, gusty winds and up steep hills across Texas may not sound like the ideal vacation to some, but to the members of the Bicycle Adventure Club (BAC) it's the only way to spend a vacation.

"We want to see, really see, all of Texas this year," said one of the bicyclists, Bill Paris, from California, as he tightened the strap of his helmet. "And bicycling is the best way to see this beautiful state. We've been vacationing like this for years. This is great."

This year the BAC has some 30 members on the tour across Texas, and they stopped in Bandera for the night Monday. The club membership consists of adult touring cyclists ranging in ages between 40 and 70 from all over the U.S. unclduing Delaware, Indiana, Florida, Arkansas, New York, California, Rhode Island, New Jersey, New Hampshire and Texas.

BAC headquarters is located in San Diego and most of the tours are led, voluntarily, by members living in that area. Members of this year's tour across Texas will be traveling 600 miles, riding throughout the hill country.

"Traveling through Texas is fun, the people are friendly and the ride is beautiful. I just hope we don't run into more of that rain like we did last weekend," said Paris.

Schreiner and HCAF presents Southern drama

Schreiner College and the Hill Country Arts Foundation's Point Theatre are teaming to present "Crimes of the Heart," a Pulitzer Prize-winning southern drama replete with wry humor by Mississippi playwright Beth Henley Nov. 6-9 in the Hill Country Arts Foundation Pavilion in Ingram.

The play is built around the three Magrath sisters and their various "crimes" ranging from attempted murder to emotional transgressions.

Set in the sisters' kitchen in a small Mississippi town five years after Hurricane Camille, "Crimes..." reunites Babe, Meg and Leggy on the afternoon of Babe's release from jail. She has just shot her big-wig politico husband "because I just didn't like his stinking looks."

Meg has returned from a failed singing career in Hollywood but is telling folks that she just finished her "small leading role" in a multi-million dollar motion picture called "Singing in a Shoe Factory." She is indirectly responsible for her old boyfriend's crippled leg.

Lenny, the oldest sister who has just turned 30, has been tormented all her life by the knowledge of her "shrunken ovary." And, as if that weren't enough, her old horse Billy Boy was struck by lightning yesterday.

Hovering over them all is the memory of their mother who hung herself and, for a touch of drama, her big yellow cat in the basement because "she had a bad day, a real bad day."

Claudia Sullivan, Schreiner College associate professor of speech and drama, will direct "Crimes of the Heart."

Reservations can be made by calling the Point Theatre box office at 367-5122 between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Ticket prices are $5. H.C.A.F. members will receive a $1 discount, Schreiner College students, faculty and staff will be admitted free with reservations only.

Curtain time is 8 p.m. and the ticket window will open at 7 p.m. each night.

One of many clever and educational floats in the annual Homecoming Parade at Medina Saturday. First place among floats was won by the sixth grade, second place by students through grade three, and third place by the First Baptist Church. As usual, a good crowd was on hand for the parade and other homecoming activities.

Josie Justice, Thelma Gallant cited at Medina Homecoming

The oldest ex-student of Medina School at Saturday's annual homecoming was Josie Justice, a graduate of the class of 1916, and a special tribute was paid to Thelma Gallant who retired this year after 46 years of teaching in Medina School.

Miss Gallant was grand marshall of the annual Homecoming Parade and the outstanding float in the parade was the sixth grade's tribute to early immigrants, "Germans Come to Texas."

Among the other "old grads" registering were Jewel Garrison of Medina, a member of the class of 1926, and Alice Buckalew Mayfield of Kerrville, James Gallant of Medina, Amy Hillman Stevens of Bandera, and Mildred Bonnet Holder from the Rio Grande Valley, all members of the class of 1936.

Second place among floats in the parade went to the youngest students through grade three for their entry entitled, "Texas Farm Life," and third place went to the First Baptist Church.

Tracy Hay and Clarence Krampitz of the ninth grade won first place among the school royalty and first graders Rick Mayfield and Erin Keese won second place. Third place were third graders Christine Maners and Geoffrey Krampitz.

First place among mounted entries was Linda Merchant, dressed as an Indian, and Randy McNaughton, as a cowboy. They carried the flags in the parade.

First place among carnival booths went to the Band Boosters. Eastern Star won second place and the Medina High School's junior class won third.

Winners in the baby contest included Tina Perez, most winning smile; Stephanie Long, most beautiful, Brandon Denson, most handsome; Tee Lespreance, Mr. Personality; Lisa Copeland, Miss Personality; Amanda Waters, prettiest hair; Vacoesha Baxter, best dressed; Tamera Denson, most charming; Kellie Ann Singleton, biggest eyes; and Autumn Childers, future Miss America.

Erin Beaver won first place in the costume contest for preschoolers and kindergarteners. Second place was Natalie Green, third place was Travis Pittman and fourth place was Christopher Pump.

Costume winners among children in grades 1 through 3 was Mikey Hall. Bobbie Ray Walker was second-place winner, P.J. Beaver third place, and John Barton fourth. Naomi Jackson won first among those in grades 4 through 6.

Help to boaters

A nationwide toll-free telephone number has been established to provide the nation's 12 million boat owners with instant access to information on boating courses.

Operated by the nonprofit BOAT/US Foundation, the number 1-800-336-BOAT will help boaters locate boating safety courses taught by various organizations and governmental agencies.

Quilting workshop

A free workshop on quilting will be presented Monday, Nov. 4, at 2:30 p.m. by the Home Economics Department of Medina School.

Techniques of quilting, the hows and whys of the craft, demonstrations, illustrations, and tips on planning and sewing quilts will be presented.

Those interested may come and go as they please, a spokesman said. The workshop will last until 6 p.m.

Dating film planned

A film on dating, featuring Tony Campolo, will be presented Sunday, Nov. 3, at the Hill Country Chapel off Highway 46 north of Pipe Creek.

Entitled "Turning Your Life Over to Jesus," the film is directed toward teen-agers and other young people, and everyone is invited, according to spokeswoman Mona Miller.

Refreshments will be served, Miller said.

Four omitted

Four honor roll students were omitted from a list provided by Medina School and published in last week's edition of the Bulletin.

The names of second graders Stacey Francis and Kyle Phillips and third graders Chris Whitehead and Clifford Watts should have appeared among those on the "all A" honor roll.

Telephone directories 'in the mail'

The 1985-86 Bandera telephone directory is being distributed through Nov. 7, according to Karen O'Neill, community relations manager for Southwestern Bell Telephone.

O'Neill said 14,458 directories will be mailed to area residents between Oct. 31 and Nov. 7. Each residential customer is to receive one directory. For additional copies, customers can call their Southwestern Bell Telephone business office during business hours Monday through Friday, O'Neill said.

O'Neill requested that customers not call right away. "If a friend across town gets a directory before you receive yours, you'll probably get yours within a few days," O'Neill said.

This year 97 white pages and 106 yellow page make up the Bandera telephone directory. There are 14,072 white page listings.

Emergency telephone numbers have been placed on the inside front cover of the new directory. We are now listing business office and repair numbers for mobile telephone customers. We have added a Tele-Help section that lists available booklets and a toll-free number. A map illustrates long-distance service areas within Texas.

The directory also contains listings for Castroville, Devine, Hondo, Lytle, La Coste, Medina, Medina Lake, Natalia, Pipe Creek, Tarpley and Yancey.

Dirty chimneys can cause fires, safety engineer says

Chimneys with heavy creosote deposits are a leading cause of home fires in the United States each year.

Chimneys should be inspected annually for creosote build-up, and now is a good time to do so, says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

Creosote is produced when wood burns. It escapes from a stove or fireplace in the form of smoke and condenses on the inside of the chimney. Creosote is highly flammable, and deposits one-fourth of an inch deep or more should be removed, emphasizes Nelson.

Once ignited, creosote can burn at temperatures up to 3,000 degrees F. The strong upward draft caused by high-temperature chimney fires can lift burning creosote out of the chimney and onto the roof, possibly spreading the fire to the rest of the house, or even neighboring houses.

Chimney cleaning is a messy and sometimes dangerous task which may require climbing onto the roof. Although chemical cleaners are available, most have been proven ineffective.

Nelson suggests steel brushes to clean a chimney, using extension rods to reach the entire length of the flue. To avoid getting soot all over the house, fasten a sheet over the opening of the fireplace.

Chimney cleaning may best be handled by a chimney sweep. He will have a selection of brushes and will be able to spot improper installation of wood stoves or chimney damage, notes Nelson.

Once the chimney has been cleaned, proper use of the stove or fireplace can reduce creosote buildup, he adds.

The newer, more efficient stoves and fireplaces inserts allow less heat loss through the chimney. This lower temperature inside the chimney encourages the accumulation of creosote, Nelson explains. With hotter fires, creosote is burned as it is produced, leaving less to condense in the chimney.

If the chimney and stove pipes are free from excessive creosote deposits, accumulation can be controlled by burning a hot fire for about 15 minutes each day to burn off any thin layers of creosote which may have formed the previous day.

Should a chimney fire occur, call the fire department immediately. If possible, shut off the air supply to the stove or fireplace but do not close the damper since this will force smoke into the house. If there is still a fire in the stove or fireplace, extinguish it with an approved fire extinguisher or throw baking soda onto the fire, Nelson says.

Schaefers welcome a son

Henry and Leola Schaefer of Bandera welcomed their third child into the family on Oct. 25. Quincy Neil was born at the Medina Memorial Hospital weighing eight pounds two ounces.

He was welcomed home by his 7-year-old brother Shaun and 3-year-old sister Dixie Lee.

Maternal grandparents are William Clyde Wright of Bandera and the late June Wright. Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Schaefer of Bandera are the paternal grandparents.

Cary Grant guest at Trinity program is Fine Arts topic

Cary Grant, known around the world for his captivating performances in more than 70 films, will be the featured guest at Trinity University on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

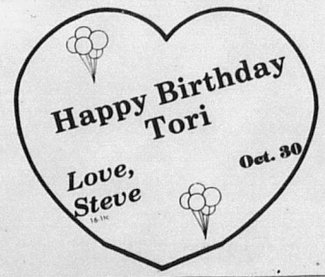

The engagement, at 8 p.m. in Laurie Auditorium, is titled "A Conversation with Cary Grant." Audience members will have a unique opportunity to ask Grant questions about his life and film career, a Trinity spokesman said.

Furniture restoration is Fine Arts Topic

Ray Hudgins will present a program on Furniture Restoration and refinishing at the Fine Arts meeting on Nov. 5, at 2 p.m. in the Bandera Electric Co-op.

"With all the interest that has been shown lately in restoring old pieces of furniture that are made of good wood," Mrs. A. B. Lewis says, "this program is sure to be well received."

Vocal selections by Robin Carl will add a pleasing note to the program. Mrs. Robert W. Alexander is program leader and Mrs. Rhea Mansfield is hostess chairperson.

For, about and by students in Bandera schools.

Casts selected

Drama is in the air and many theater arts students will be participating in the production of "Who dunit?" and "The Night is My Enemy."

Auditions were held Oct. 16, 17, 21, and 22nd and open to any student in the high school. Even though only 21 actors and actresses were chosen, many people will be needed in order to make these productions a success. Miss Linda Gregg, the new theater arts teacher had this comment to say about auditions, "Never before in the history of man, have I ever witnessed such cuteness and talent all together in one place."

Miss Gregg said she found it a difficult task to chose among the many, for the limited parts.

Production of the plays will be "Whodunit?" on Dec. 12 and "The Night is My Enemy" on Dec. 13.

The cast for "Who Dunit?" includes: Matt Kelly as Alexander, David Shackelford as Andrew, Daria Johnston as Flo, Jeff Schantz as Harry, Mike Hill as Michael, Steve Stoops as Brewster, Wendy Lindley as Vivian, Jana Camp as Miss Jenkins, Randy McHaney as Muriel, Lisa Moore as Isabelle and Kim Lukachik as Amie.

The cast for "The Night is My Enemy" is: Janet Weber as Roane, Ann Muller as Tessie, Julie Hearn as Margaret, Tige Calhoun as Tommy, Kathy Gould as Hester, Noel McKay as Gerald, Matt Kelly as Hubert, Chris Persayn as Inspector, Daniel Potts as Ora and Kelly Chapman as Augusta.

Your Halloween Adventure?

It's time once again for kids to dig through their closets and dresser drawers to gather bits and pieces to put together a costume whether it be scary or hilarious, so long as it is a costume suitable for tricking and treating away "All Hallows Eve".

But what is a young man or woman to do on this festive occasion that seems to have evolved only for the pleasure of juveniles? It seems that the high school student is too old to dress up and go door to door for candy handouts. But they're not dead either. They want to have fun. Who wants to sit at home and await the return of young siblings, then raid the kiddies bag? BHS students want to party. So where's the party?

When presented this question in so many words there were a few strange replys as well as a few snoozers.

Perhaps BHS students aren't quite as exciting as they were given credit for.

Here's just a few.

Steve Stoops: "I've got a major roll in my church's Halloween play."

Ann Chapman: I wanted to go trick or treating but it didn't work out."

Andrea Walker: "I'm going to a party in S.A."

Debbie Hay: "The same, only this party is in Kerrville."

Miss Gregg: "Grade papers, probably." Imagine what Christmas must be like at the Gregg homestead.

Janet Weber: "I'll be taking my niece trick or treating." Oh sure and what is that bag for, eh?

Randy McHaney: "Trick or treating or something like that."

Chris York: "Nothing! Now get out of my face!"

Jenny Persyn: "Not much why?" A popular answer.

Jim Mormando: "I've planned my evening around the new Garfield Halloween adventure followed by the classic Peanuts-The Great Pumpkin."

Daniel Potts: "Hopefully some friends from San Antonio and I are going dancing."

Jenny Persyn: "Not much, why?"

English students begin research

Crack open your encyclopedias, pull out those notecards, and sharpen your pencils Seniors, because it's Engligh Research Paper time again! This paper will be a 2nd six week project for the Senior English class.

Weeks before, students were instructed to pick out a topic before the actual starting of the paper. These topics range anywhere from government related careers like the FBI to sports, and psychology. Once the topics were chosen it was off to the library to begin the research.

For each topic, the students were to find a minimum of fifteen sources. Five notecards of information must be made from each source for a total of seventy-five notecards.

All of the pre-work and preparation including the rough-draft of the paper will be combined for the six weeks grade, however, the final paper will be included in the next six weeks.

Record Reviews

Dio - Sacred Heart. On this album, Ronnie James Dio shows his more religious views. Because some people think that rock stars are devil worshippers, Dio proves them wrong with his title track.

This is an example of one of their better songs on the record. Also included on the album are live tracks recorded during his previous tour, "The Last In Line."

Prezence - "Rock Louder" and "Over You." This is a San Antonio-based band whose members are a lot more than just hard workers. They are currently working on signing a record contract but have already released the single, "Rock Louder."

Not many people have heard of the band, but they soon will. Look for local concerts in San Antonio and judge them for yourself.

Bon Jovi - 7800 Degrees Fahrenheit. Although Bon Jovi is now on the last leg of their world tour, their double-platinum record is still on the Top Twenty charts. Songs like "Only Lonely" and "In and Out of Love" tell true stories that the band has personally experienced.

Their videos also tell a story that can be believed and understood. Bon Jovi's fans are hoping the band will release another album soon, but can it compare to this one?

Fly on the wall

Fly on the wall? What kind of name is that for an album? Well, AC/DC seems to think it's a great name and so do their fans.

Opening for AC/DC was Yngwie Malmsteen. Yngwie was rocking out the whole time he was on the stage. When he made his guitar scream, every wall in the colliseum shook as if it were about to come crumbling down.

AC/DC appeared Oct. 14 at the Freeman Collisem in San Antonio on the "Fly On the Wall Tour '85." The show was not sold out, but it had a big crowd. The show itself was definitely not boring. Angus Young, the lead guitarist for AC/DC, was pretty much the whole show. Brian Johnson, lead singer for the group, put his two cents in also. Together, the two put on an awesome show. With Young jammin' on his solos and Johnson on the vocals, it just about drove the fans wild.

The group played constantly from the time they got on the stage until them came back for their encore and played three more songs. Along with Young and Johnson, the group had cannons, bells, and an overdose on lights.

The group played songs from every album except Flick of The Switch. The concert was excellent, but it didn't hold a candle to their "For Those About To Rock concert in '82."

Turn overs tell the tale!!

Bandera and Smithson Valley were locked in a defensive battle last Friday night that ended up in a 0 - 0 tie.

The offense of both teams never seemed to get going. Each team turned the ball over three times.

Bandera seemed to have the game won when quarterback Jimmy Sides connected with tightend David Ziegler for an 85-yard touchdown pass, but Bandera was penalized for throwing the ball after passing the line of scrimmage.

James Compton had 56 yards on 21 carries to lead Bandera, while Chris Gentry led Smithson Valley with 95 yards on 22 carries.

Bandera is now 2-3-2 for the season and 0-1-2 in district play. Smithson Valley is 2-4-1 and 0-2-1.

Bandera travels to Boerne next week.

Bandera beats Boerne

Bandera Varsity girls won a hard-fought game against the Boerne Greyhounds, Oct. 24.

The girls lost the first set, but got their momentum back fast and won the next two sets, 15-12 and 15-10. With this win the girls went into the district tournament last weekend with a 2 win, 3 loss record.

The junior varsity bulldogs were as victorious as the varsity. They fought it out to three sets, and Boerne came up short. JV Bulldogs Dorothy Duff and Darthula Mauldin (sophomores on the team) really helped the JV go far this season.

The Bandera teams were very successful this season and we're very proud of them, here at BHS. Next year the girls say they will go even farther.

Jr. High: Fightin' Hard

Bandera's seventh grade football team shut out the Medina Valley Panthers Thursday, Oct. 17, at Bulldog Stadium, 6-0.

Bo Mansfield was the main runner of the game.

Bandera's eighth grade team fought hard, however, in the end were defeated by Medina Valley, 22-0.

Last week, the junior high had an open date, which gave them an extra week of practice which will benefit them greatly in the next game on Thursday, Oct. 31 against Boerne.

Sesquicentennial projects

Government students are preparing for their Sesquicentennial projects, which will have sentimental value for some natives of Texas.

Sesquicentennial projects, done by all Government students, will be due by Nov. 11th. Sesquicentennial means 150 years. We are now celebrating the 150th year of Texas Independence.

There are a variety of projects, including puzzles, videos, slide shows, family histories, and artifact presentations. These six weeks projects will be on display in Mrs. Hunter's room for all persons wishing to see them.

Some of the projects will be group projects, while others will be solely by one student. Even people who are not in government may participate in these projects, if they are asked to help out with anything that needs to be done.

NHS cookie bake

Sunday, the National Honor Society held their second annual cookie bake. There were cookies, cupcakes, and brownies made in preparation for the actual sales on Thursday.

The students all gathered at the home of Mrs. Mary Welch, sponsor. There they not only baked, but also made advertising posters, ate pizza, drank cokes, and played games.

The profits from the sale will go into the NHS funds. From there they will be used for many different things such as senior patches, the induction ceremony, etc.

Senior NHS member Janet Weber had this to say, "The NHS bake sale always seems to produce an extreme profit, I only hope that we didn't destroy Mrs. Welch's house in the process."

HEB proud of renovated Army Arsenal

Visitors to San Antonio will be able to take a walk through history at H-E-B Foods/Drugs Stores' new corporate headquarters, the old U.S. Army Arsenal, now open for public tours.

Located on the southern edge of downtown near the historic King William district, the arsenal architecturally blends buildings more than a century old with new construction.

Of special interest are the Arsenal Building, which was used to store gunpowder, arms and ammunition in the 1860s, and the Stable, where the mules that pulled the supply wagons were housed. The Arsenal Building, which has been restored to its original condition, has four-and-one-half foot limestone walls designed to protect the complex in case the ammunition accidently went off. The Stable, which was built in 1874, has also been restored.

H-E-B has preserved the area that surrounds the scenic San Antonio River, the eastern boundary of the property. The foundation of the original Guenther Mill can be seen across the river. The mill built in 1868, was in operation until 1921, when a major flood hit San Antonio.

The U.S. Army began construction on the Arsenal in 1859. During the Civil War, the Confederate Army took control of the site and continued to build the Arsenal. Buckshot and Bowie Knives were made here during the Civil War. Union troops regained control of the Arsenal after the war and used it to supply arms and ammunition to west Texas forts.

The Arsenal was renovated and expanded to 44 buildings during World War II.

The pumpkin becomes a celebrity each autumn

As autumn leaves begin to fall, vegetables clothed in orange hues certainly attract our attention. At this time of the year the pumpkin becomes a celebrity, says Karen Mitchell with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

From the decorative miniatures to the colossal giants, pumpkins can be seen on display in supermarkets and roadside stands. The peak season for pumpkins is October with about 805 of fresh pumpkins being sold for cooking or decorating and celebrating Halloween. Fresh pumpkins are still available in November and December, she advises.

What you plan to do with a pumpkin will determine the size to select. However, for cooking, the smaller pumpkins will have less waste and are usually more tender. Stored in a cool, dry place a fresh pumpkin will keep for at least a month, she says. Remember to avoid any pumpkins with cuts, sunken spots, or moldy areas on the rind, Mitchell warns.

As a cooked vegetable, pumpkin can also be added to your list of lo-cal vegetables. A half cup of canned or cooked pumpkin contains only 38 calories. Look to pumpkin as a source of pro-vitamin A, magnesium, some calcium, iron, and vitamins B and C.

The Rice Council of America has used a pumpkin as the baking container in Jack O'Landern Rice. The cooked pumpkin is scooped out and served alongside the rice mixture. The Rice Council suggests serving this dish with Fried Chicken, Tossed Green Salad, Flaky Biscuits, and Cookie Goblins with Applesauce.

In addition to pies and other pumpkin creations, Oatmeal Pumpkin Bread makes a delicious breakfast bread. Serve a slice with juice and glass of milk for a quick breakfast. Homecooked pumpkin puree can be used in this recipe.

Celebrate fall by serving pumpkin in a variety of dishes. Enjoy this member of the squash family while it is available fresh or perserve the cooked pulp to use later in the year. See how many ways you can serve this hard-shelled vegetable. After all, there is more to the pumpkin than jack-o-lanterns and pies.

¼ tsp. ground cinnamon
⅛ tsp. ground black pepper

Cut off top of pumpkin; remove seeds and fiber. For a jack-o-lantern effect, paint a face on pumpkin with a permanent marker or acylic paint. Set aside. Cook sausage in skillet, stirring to crumble. Drain well. Combine sausage with remaining ingredients; spoon into pumpkin shell. Place on a baking sheet. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 1 hour and 15 minutes to 1 hour and 30 minutes, or until pulp inside pumpkin is tender. Spoon rice mixture from pumpkin. Scoop out cooked rice mixture. Serves 10-12. Note: For other occasions spoon prepared rice mixture into buttered 2-quart baking dish. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 25 minutes or until heated through.

Oatmeal-Pumpkin Bread
1 C. quick-cooking oats, uncooked
1½ C. chopped raisins
1½ C. chopped pecans
¼ C. wheat grem
1½ C. hot milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract
2 eggs, beaten
½ C. canned pumpkin
2 C. all-purpose flour
¾ C. sugar
1 T + 1 tsp. baking powder
¼ tsp. salt
1 tsp. ground cinnamon
¼ tsp ground nutmeg

Combine oats, raisins, pecans, wheat germ and milk; mix well, and let stand 10 minutes. Stir in vanilla, eggs, and pumpkin. Combine remaining ingredients; mix well and gradually stir into oat mixture. Spoon into a greased and floured 9 x 5 x 3-inch loafpan; bake at 350 degrees F. about 1 hour and 5 minutes or until a toothpick inserted in center comes out clean. Cool on a wire rack. Makes 1 loaf.

Use Texas pecans ...in everything

Are you a yankee who yearns to fit into Texan culture? The key is to put Texas pecans in everything from salads to desserts - everyone will be sure to mistake you for a native Texan, says Karen Mitchell with the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Pecans are native to 152 counties in Texas. Commercial production is concentrated in South-Central Texas, the Cross Timbers (North-Central), the El Paso area and some counties in West Texas.

The fall crop this year will be exceptional in quality and low in price. Some 61 million pounds of high quality nuts are expected to be harvested commercially across the State, Mitchell advises.

Texas has good supplies of both native and improved variety pecans, she says. Natives produce small, hard pecans that exhibit a rich, nutty taste. Improved pecans, usually sold in-shell, have thin shells and a lighter colored meat.

Pecan nutmeats should be uniform in color and size. Shelled pecans come in halves and pieces. Pecan pieces are less expensive and do not require chopping before being added to recipes.

Substitute pecans for any nutin recipes and you will create such treats as Pecan Chicken, Pecan Brittle and Banana Pecan bread, she suggests.

Did you know that Texans are the Nation's largest consumer of pecans? Pecan Balls, Tipsy Chicken and Coffee Can Pecan Cake are three more ways to keep up the tradition of being number one.

For more information about pecans, write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 2800 N.E. Loop 410, #301, San Antonio, Texas 78218.

Tipsy Chicken
1 C. pecan halves
1½ C. white wine
salt
pepper

Add wine and pecans; stir until boiling. Add to chicken. Seal with foil or tight cover. Bake 2-3 hours at 275 degrees F. Uncover, baste with pan liquid, and bake another ½ hour or until browned. Serve with pecans and some liquid poured over. Serves 6-8.

Pecan Balls
4 oz. finely grated cheddar cheese
1 C. flour
½ C. butter
Pecan halves

Combine all ingredients and blend well. Make into balls around pecan halves. Bake at 425 degrees F. for 10 minutes. Makes 3-4 dozens.

Add sifted dry ingredients to creamed mixture alternately with cherry juice and lemon extract. Pour in well-drained, finely chopped maraschino cherries.

Pour into four well-greased, 1 pound coffee cans. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 1¼ hours. Remove from oven and let cook 5 minutes before removing from pan. Keeps several weeks.

Uncle Sam wants you ... to help prepare tax forms

While the Marines continue to look for "a few good men," the Internal Revenue Service begins its hunt for a lot of good people of any gender. They've used volunteers in the past for preparing returns for the low income, but the search for volunteers has suddenly widened.

"Last year we provided tax help to 80,000 people in central and south Texas with 700 volunteers," according to Sally Sassen of the Austin IRS office. "This year we want to help a lot more people, so we need a lot more volunteers."

Do the volunteers have to be familiar with the tax laws?

Sassen says, "Definitely not. Some of our volunteers come to us knowing next to nothing about taxes. For those untrained who do not want to learn about taxes, we can use you to help publicize the assistance, to lay out brochures, and to distribute posters and other material.

"For the untrained who want to be trained, the IRS will teach you to prepare relatively simple tax returns. And for those already trained in tax law, you'll be training the others, and also making tax presentations to small business owners and other groups."

Volunteers may call 1-800-424-1040, a toll-free call.

"But it's not to help IRS," Stassen says. "It's to help the people in your community, the ones who can't afford to pay for tax help, but need that help to get their refunds quickly, and get all that's due.

"It's to help the small business operators understand their tax responsibilities and rights," she explained.

Sassen says the more volunteers there are, the more members of the community will get direct help during tax filing season. She adds, "It's a way to help out your community on a subject we all have to deal with, do it without it costing you a dollar donation, and you could learn something about the tax laws."

How much time would a volunteer have to commit to?

"Naturally, we'd like people who can donate a few hours every week," she answers, "but if they want a one-shot deal, we can work with them. An instructor, for instance, might teach a two or three day session just once or twice. Maybe a retired businessperson would attend one or two Small Business Tax Workshops, not conducting the entire workshop, but just doing a 'guest shot' on the subject of, say, recordkeeping. We do have short term needs and one-time-only needs.

Some people must find doing volunteer work with IRS rewarding, says Sassen. "A lot of our volunteers are repeat, coming back year after year."

What exactly is the 'standard' serving size?

What's a "standard" serving? Many dieters don't know, even though they're following meal plans based on serving sizes, says nutrition expert Mary K. Sweeten.

"People tend to overestimate the serving size of some foods and underestimate others," says Sweeten, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"They also seem to be influenced by the size of food containers, especially those that are supposed to contain single servings, and the serving size printed on the food label."

According to Sweeten, recent research reported by the American Dietetic Association shows just how far off the mark our estimates of serving sizes can be.

A standard serving of fruit and vegetables is one piece of fresh fruit, ½ cantalope or grapefruit, ½ cup juice, one medium-size potato or ½ cup cooked or raw vegetables.

Most people consider a single piece of fresh fruit, as a single serving. But when it comes to fruit juices they consume ½ or more as one serving.

With dairy products, people under age 34 typically consume the recommended one cup per serving, but older adults consume ½ to ¾ cup servings. The serving size for cheese and other dairy products was typically correct.

The standard recommended serving size for meat, poultry and fish is 2-3 ounces. Men generally exceed this amount per serving. There was also some variation in serving size according to the product, with the average serving size for beef at about 4 ounces, and 2 ounces for pork.

For breads and cereals, one slice of bread, one ounce of cereal or ½ cup of pasta or rice equals on standard serving. Yet people typically eat two slices of bread and one cup of rice or pasta per serving. they also tend to eat one-cup servings of cereals, when the recommended serving size of one ounce may be more or less than a cup, depending on the density of the cereal.

"Unless you're willing to weigh and measure your food, it can be difficult to follow food guidance programs based on standard servings," Sweeten says.

"To make it work, you may need to consider the total recommended amount of foods from any one group for the day and then keep track of what you eat in terms of the serving sizes you ordinarily use," she advises.

For example, you might eat one ounce of bacon at breakfast and a 4-5 ounce serving of beef at dinner. That would be less than the standard serving at breakfast and more at dinner, but the total would add up to 5-6 ounces, which is the same as the two recommended 2-3 ounce standard servings of protein foods for the day.

Bobcats beaten by Panthers, 22-7

The Nueces Canyon Panthers stomped, punched and gouged their way to a 22-7 win over Medina's Bobcats Friday.

The Panthers began their game of intimidation by entering the field painted like Halloween demons. They confirmed the ploy through four flag-filled quarters to deliver the Bobcats their eighth loss in a row.

In spite of their disasterous season, the Medina team is like a Timex. They keep on tickin'.

The Bobcats drew first blood and scored on their very first possession.

Starting from their own 35 the 'Cats rode on the running ability of Mark Williams as the fullback carried seven times finally reaching the Panther 7.

From there, on second down, Tim Green pitched to Scootie Melton around the left side for the score. James Parker divided the uprights for the extra point with 8:13 showing.

From there the Panthers managed only one first down before having to give up the ball, and a see-saw battle raged that saw the possession change hands 10 times in the next 18 minutes.

Each team gained fumbles, interceptions and got buried by superior punting.

Finally, with about a minute to go in the half, Nueces Canyon began an aerial trip up the field from its 41. With just 32 seconds left, Keno Falcon took a pass in the end zone for the Panther's first touchdown.

The two point conversion was successful and as the half ended Nueces Canyon held a small 8-7 lead.

Late in the third quarter Canyon mounted a drive to the Bobcat one, and 30 seconds after the fourth go-round began, Mario Hidalgo punched in.

The Bobcats just could not contain the Panthers after that and could not move the ball themselves as time wound down.

Nueces Canyon struck once more on a 70-yard reverse by Richard DeLeon that left everyone on the Medina team wondering where the ball was. DeLeon took the hand off and hit it well as he worked clear of the Bobcat line and into the secondary. Once clear, the speedy Panther sprinted untouched for the end zone and the final touchdown.

Medina journeys to Charlotte this Friday in hopes of getting one in the winning column.

Bandera, Smithson Valley battle to scoreless tie

The clear winner at Friday's meeting at Smithson Valley's one-sided football stadium was the sweepstakes-winning Ranger marching band.

Decked out in spiffy and creative Halloween costumes, the big, big band put on a spiffy and creative show.

Bandera's plucky band, now small compared to outfits like Smithson Valley's, also put on a show befitting its Division I rating.

All in all, it was a pretty half-time show.

The football show preceeding and following the battle of the bands was not nearly as pretty.

Mainly it was a case of the teams from the two schools pushing each other around between the 20-yard lines.

On only one occasion each the teams penetrated their opponents 20-yard line.

Bandera's only serious threat came in the second quarter when it mounted what turned out to be its second longest drive of the night—40 yards.

But quarterback Jimmy Sides was stripped of the ball on a third-down play from the Smithson Valley 15-yard line and Ranger Bruce Letbetter recovered.

Smithson Valley's most serious threat also came in the second quarter.

The Rangers put together a 57-yard drive that ended just short of the Bandera 20 when James Compton recovered the first of two Ranger fumbles at the 21.

When Bandera couldn't move, Smithson Valley embarked on another journey, this one covering 45 yards and penetrating to the Bulldog 14-yard line.

But the Bandera defense stiffened and hurried quarterback Mike Irvine to miss on a screen pass that had been perfectly set up.

Had Shakespeare been in the press box he would have described the rest of the game as being "...full of sound and fury, signifying nothing."

Oh, Bandera did hold together long enough to gain 48 yards, driving to the Ranger 35-yard line on one third-quarter occasion.

But a fourth-down aerial from Sides to a streaking John Miller fell to the turf.

And Compton gained 56 yards to go with a good defensive effort during which he recovered a pair of Ranger fumbles.

Bandera and Smithson Valley join Southside—which Bandera also tied—as the winless teams in the six-team District 27-AAA.

Smithson Valley faces Southside Friday while Bandera travels to almost winless (1-2) Boerne. The showdown between Floresville and Cole, both unbeaten, takes place at Floresville.

Antlerless harvest vital in good years

Good range conditions in most of Texas' deer country should not deter hunters from harvesting antlerless deer during the upcoming deer season, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials believe.

Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader, said deer populations still are too high in the Edwards Plateau, South Texas and several other areas of the state. "Hunters tend to believe that taking antlerless deer is not needed or necessary during the year when the deer are so well-fed," Gore said, "but an overpopulated herd can get into real trouble when times get tougher."

The deer season is Nov. 9-Jan. 5 in most Texas counties, and antlerless deer hunting permits will be issued in counties where deer populations are high. Gore pointed out that an extra antlerless deer tag on the 1985-86 hunting license will allow hunters to take as many as four antlerless deer during the season, provided they have access to property with an ample number of permits.

Hunters in six South Texas counties have an extra time period in which to take antlerless deer. A special antlerless-only season is Oct. 26 - Nov. 10 in Duval, Dimmit, Maverick, Webb, Zapata and Zavala Counties.

Gore said continued overpopulation of deer causes long-term damage to the habitat. During dry years this translates into smaller body sizes, poor antler development and low fawn survival. In extreme cases, it can precipitate die-offs of mature animals.

"Last hunting season hunters took more than 100,000 antlerless deer for the first time, which is good," said Gore, "but it still is well below the harvest we need to avoid future problems."

Marketing hunting is topic

A program on managing hunters and marketing hunts and interpreting harvest records will be held on Thursday, Nov. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank Board Room.

Henry Welge, Gillespie County rancher and wildlife manager, will present the program, and Dr. Dright Guynn, extension wildlife specialist from Uvalde, will discuss harvest record keeping.

Football test for youth on Saturday

Punters, kickers and passers in six age groups will compete Saturday in the Bandera Optimist Club's annual Tri-Star Football Contest at Bulldog Stadium.

A football clinic for boys and girls will be conducted at 1 p.m. at the stadium by Bandera Bulldog head coach Danny Neuse and his staff, and preliminary competition begins at 2 p.m.

The contest will test the punting, place kicking and passing skills of boys and girls aged 7 through 12 years by placing them in competition with others in their own age group.

The competition Saturday will determine three finalists in each division. The finalists will compete prior to the Bandera-Floresville football game in Bulldog Stadium on Friday, Nov. 8.

The final competition will determine the first-, second- and third-place ranking in each age group.

Plaques will go to the first three winners in each age group and each contestant will receive a scorecard and a Tri-Star Football patch.

VOLUME 41, NUMBER 17 BANDERA, BANDERA COUNTY, TEXAS THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 1985

Doyle Ely says

Rollback petition 'half way' there

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

After a mailing to 3,000 Bandera County residents, Doyle Ely of Pipe Creek says he and his supporters are over half way to their goal of calling for an election in Bandera to roll back school taxes.

Petitions being circulated must be signed by 10 percent of the registered voters in the school district to allow the voters in the district to vote to limit the school district's levy for next year.

Bandera County voter registrar Marguerite Stevens said there were 5,300 registered voters in Bandera County as of Wednesday, but the exact number in the Bandera Independent School District was not available through the courthouse or the school district's office.

Ely told the Bulletin Wednesday morning he had paid out of his own pocket for the three-page Freedom Newsletter with the help of "two or three" other persons. He did not say how much the mailing had cost.

If Ely and his supporters are successful in obtaining the estimated 500 signatures necessary on the petitions, voters will have the opportunity to vote whether to limit the school district from increasing taxes by more than 8 percent next year.

Nothing will change the current tax rate used in tax statements already mailed to taxpayers.

Should the petitioners be successful in a rollback election, the school board wouldn't immediately reduce the current tax rate, send out corrected tax bills, extend its delinquency date, or issue refunds, school officials explained.

The tax rate on the Alkek Elementary School bonds would not be affected by a tax rollback in any way.

The petitions being circulated mention a 31 percent increase in school taxes. That figure refers to the 1984 increase over the 1983 rate. The 1985 effective tax rate is 26 percent higher than the 1984 rate.

Ely said his Freedom Newsletter is supported by advertisements and will be distributed throughout the county. The first issue of the letter has advertisements from two churches, a volunteer fire department, and several businesses located in the Pipe Creek, Boerne, and Helotes

Ely said the newsletter will address all issues, not just the school tax rollback petition. "If I could find a legal way to do it, I would petition to roll back all taxes, including county," he said.

"The Boston Tea Party and the Revolutionary War began over a 14-percent increase in taxation," he said. "Counting federal, state, local, and school taxes, we're paying beyond 50 percent in taxes now, and sitting still for it," Ely says.

Welcome hunters.

1,500 expected to dine at Hunter's Barbecue Friday

Nearly 1,500 visiting hunters will receive a warm welcome Nov. 8 when Bandera holds its 22nd annual Hunter's Barbecue at the county's Recreation (Rec) Center at Mansfield Park, located 3 miles west of Bandera.

"We will be serving 1,200 pounds of brisket, and almost 400 pounds of sausage and a bunch of beans," commented Ken Finley, Chamber of Commerce President.

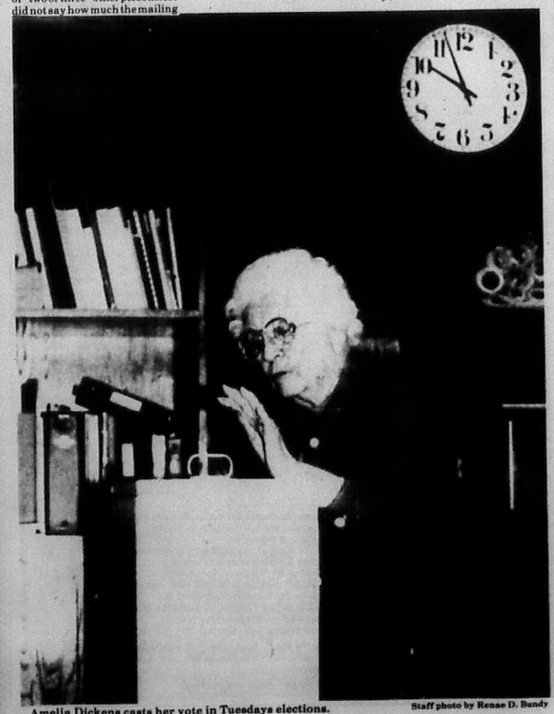

Every year, the county kicks the hunting season off right by offering visiting hunters, who lease over 60 percent of Bandera County for hunting, a free meal. Although the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce sponsors the event, it couldn't happen without the townspeople's help.

Local ranchers, business people and residents team to plan, finance, serve and celebrate at the annual event. Because the celebration is for the visiting hunters, they get to eat free, while local residents gladly pay a nominal fee for the pleasure of sharing a meal with the visitors.

Preparing the meal for a large crowd of hungry hunters makes for a busy day to say the least. But by late afternoon, a table is set buffet style with homecooked beans, cole slaw, pickles, onions, bread, coffee, tea and beer, followed with nearly a ton of tender, barbecued brisket.

The serving of the food, along with the music of the Los Gringos band who is donating their talent for the 22nd time, begins at 5:30 p.m. and continues until 8 that evening.

Through the years, the Barbecue has become one of the area's largest indoor picnics, instilling plenty of fellowship and fun among the residents and visitors. Hopefully, such warmth and hospitality will be accompanied by a successful hunt.

Although the statewide voter turnout was termed "average," with about 12 percent of registered voters casting ballots in Tuesday's election, Bandera County's 14 percent turnout was called "poor."

"It was a poor turnout for Bandera, to say the least," commented Vera King, county clerk. Bandera County voter turnouts are usually considerably higher than the statewide percentage.

A total of 740 voters cast ballots in ten voting precincts and absentee, and that's just about exactly 14 percent of the 5,300 registered voters.

Every Amendment passed statewide, but the 740 voters from Bandera County voted against four of the 14 proposed Amendments to the constitution, including amendments 3, 5, 10 and 13.

Only 36 percent of Bandera County voters cast their ballots for Amendment 3, which authorizes cities and towns to spend public funds for relocating water laterals on private property, with repayment to be made to the city by the property owner. It passed statewide with some 52 percent of the vote.

Only 41 percent of Bandera County approved Amendment 5, which allows the legislature to regulate health care by hospital districts. Statewide, this amendment received about 55 percent favorable votes.

Amendment 10, which authorizes general obligation bonds to finance the purchase of farm and ranch land, was voted down by 60 percent of Bandera. Texas voters approved it by 51 percent.

The fourth one which Bandera voted against was Amendment 13, which was rejected by 53 percent of Banderans. This amendment requires the reapportionment of judicial districts of the state following each federal census, and received 56 percent of the total Texas vote.

Amendment 1 passed overwhelmingly statewide with 73 percent of the Texas vote, while only 58 percent of Bandera approved it.

This amendment authorizes issuing $980 million in water development bonds to create funds for water conservation, development and quality enhancement, and flood control, drainage and related uses.

Amendment 2, which authorizes issuing $200 million of bonds to provide low-interest loans to farmers for the purchase of water conserving irrigation equipment, won with 69 percent of the Texas vote and 54 percent of the Bandera vote.

Together these amendments will encourage conservation, protection of bays and estuaries and the creation of underground water conservation districts, supporters said.

Amendment 4 won with 55 percent of the Bandera County vote and 66 percent of the Texas vote. It allows school districts to use the proceeds from the sale of permanent school fund land to be used to acquire other land from that fund, a move that supporters say will give the districts more flexibility and will increase the value of the Permanent School Funds.

Amendment 6 was approved by 69 percent of the Texas voters and 60 percent of Bandera County's. It permits state prisoners to be housed in penal facilities of the other states under interstate agreements. Thirty-one states currently cooperate in this way.

Amendment 7, authorizing Chambers County to create an additional justice of the peace court, won by a margin of 56 percent in Bandera and 63 percent statewide.

Amendment 8, providing $500 million in additional bonding authority for the veterans housing loans, received 58 percent of Bandera votes, comparing closely with statewide results.

Amendment 9 gained 60 percent of the Bandera vote, also coming close to the statewide results. It permits the legislature to require prior approval before agencies could spend or transfer appropriated funds.

Amendment 11 won with 68 percent of both the Texas and Bandera vote. It allows the correction of errors in grand jury indictments and eliminates some obsolete, unnecessary and unreasonable restrictions, prosecutors, said.

Amendment 12, receiving over 60 percent in both Bandera and Texas, changes the constitutional prohibition on non-binding or advisory opinions by the state's highest courts to that they can accept and answer questions from federal courts.

Amendment 14, which abolishes the office of county treasurer in two counties and the office of county surveyor in six counties, received 68 percent from both the statewide elections and Bandera County.

A view
from a hill.
By Tom Denyer

Earlier this week television's "Today" show ran a series of reports on small towns in America. On Monday, for example, they went to Chelsea, Vt.

The similiarities to Bandera were striking. The town is about the same size. It has its "authentic" oldtimers, and its newcomers escaping the madness of city life. It has its scenery, and a handful of successful farmers holding on against all odds.

And it has its problems: battered wives, obscenely cold winters, and few jobs to speak of.

There's something about small town life that always stays the same. I am not talking about the old saying that everybody knows everybody else and their business. That's not true.

On the other hand, you can live in a small town and never know what's happening over the fence line. From what I've seen, most folks don't even know what's going on in their own families, let alone on the other side of town.

On the other hand, people living in big city neighborhoods get to know each other, if they see each other fairly often and stay in the same place long enough. If they do business together or go to the same church or bar or live close to one another, they cannot help but say hello, chat, and start to tell each other their stories.

No, what always stays the same is the human scale of places like Bandera. You can get a sense of the place as a whole. Try to form a picture of Bandera in your mind, and one comes without too much trouble.

Try to do the same with Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, or Austin and see what does not happen. You can picture pieces of the whole, a familiar building or bridge or park, but the whole stays out of focus.

In other words, places like Houston do not really exist. It's just a name for a place on the map, a place where hundreds of Banderas somehow got piled on top of one another.

So welcome, hunters. Make yourself at home, because you haven't really left home at all.

Letter

Helping hand

Dear Editor:

I would like to pay tribute to a small first grader in the Medina School.

When my husband and I were putting signs on our car for the Medina Homecoming Parade, on Oct. 26, this lad left the game he was watching to give us help. He did the taping in the areas most difficult for us to reach.

Then he insisted on carrying our two lawn chairs some dinstance to the building where the concession stands were. He hoisted them on his shjoulders and away he went.

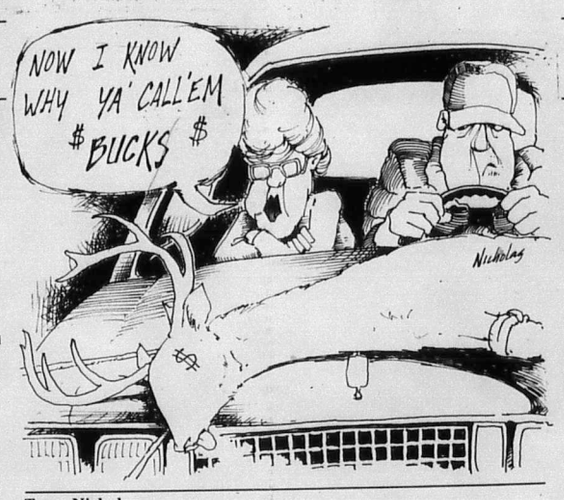

He helped set up their chairs, than melted into the crowd before I could give him a little monetary contribution for his day's fun. I was unable to locate him.

It was refreshing and heartening to know that Bandera County has youngsters like Mikie Lee Hall growing up in it.

There's bad news, today for both political parties

State Capital Highlights
By Lyndell Williams

Both Texas political parties got a bit of quiet, distrurbing news last week: the Democrats learned Gov. Mark White has a high negative rating and the Republicans, intent on keeping party harmony, watched their candidates jab at each other.

All in all, 1986 is going to be a lively political year.

The past few weeks haven't been easy for White. His three GOP opponents are traveling the state raising money and key support, and at every speech they pick on him rather than each other.

White can handle that fine, but add the misery of two of his key issues, education reform and utility rates, going sour at the same time and the heat gets hotter. No-pass, no-play may cool down once football season is over, and utility rates may be lowered somehow before next November, but for now White has to face the heat and it's not easy.

Replacement Sought?

The word got around last week that a recent Democratic poll showed White with a high negative rating at around 60 percent.

The poll was a secret one so who will ever know. Some party leaders were at the point of wondering whether another Democrat should take over the gubernatorial reins, but no one volunteered.

Still, some of White's key backers worried publicly about how to defend White against the steady barrage of GOP criticism.

Truce Cracking

White defends his programs, but not himself, and that's his strategy for now against Bill Clements, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler. If he fights back now, they are encouraged to keep their guns trained on him and not on each other.

After all, Clements, Hance and Loeffler have an informal truce to speak no ill of a fellow Republican, but in the highstakes governor's race, who believes that will continue for long?

The crux for the eventual GOP nominee is that he will have to win a run-off, and that means keeping the odd man's good will long enough to win an endorsement.

Signs show the truce is cracking, particularly as Clements and Hance jab at each other on the speaker's podium at their various co-appearances.

Hance is a master of the podium jab, and insiders say Hance wants to rope-a-dope Clements into appearing the trucebreaker. Clements is used to delivering KO punches, not avoiding them, and both he and Loeffler belittle Hance's GOP credentials.

Career Changes

Both Hance and Clements were present last week when Hurst state Rep. Charles Evens announced his switch to the Republican party. Evans, a 13-year legislator and powerful close friend of Speaker Gib Lewis, said he wasn't recruited by the GOP, but switched out of personal conviction.

Seguin state Sen. John Traeger announced his retirement and threw his support to Laredo state Rep. Billy Hall, a fellow Democrat. Traeger preferred Hall, who is more conservative than state party vice chairman Dr. Judith Zaffirini, also of Laredo.

Former state Rep. Clay Smothers pleaded guilty last week to a reduced charge of assault on a child in a plea bargain pact. Smothers, who was fined $1,000 and sentenced to three days in jail, was associated with a now-defunct youth training school.

Former state Rep. Roy English of Mansfield also switched to the GOP last week, and said he has talked with local Republican officials about running for Tarrant County judge.

Two Appointments

Governor White appointed former state Democratic Party chairman Calvin Guest to the Public Safety Commission after Sen. Peyton McKnight became mired by two racial jokes he told at his own charity roast fundraiser.

McKnight insisted his use of a racial slur was made in the context of the roast, but a local letterwriting campaign axed his nomination.

White also named Jo Campbell to the controversial Public Utility Commission vacancy last week. The press has frequently jibed White for appointing former Baylor classmates, particularly old roommates, to state posts.

In humorous one upmanship, White told reporters at the announcement that while she did graduate from Baylor, Campbell had never been one of his roommates.

Short Takes

Jeff Wentworth is dead right when he refuses to sign an agreement among Republican candidates of the 21st Congressional District to abide by President Reagan's so-called 11th Commandment that forbids a Republican from speaking ill of another Republican.

"If the (agreement) proposes to restrict my ability to compare my record with the records of other candidates, I cannot in good conscience sign it," Wentworth told opponent Lamar Smith.

Wentworth apparently thinks elections are forums for full discussions of the all the issues of concern to voters.

"Voters have a right in our free society to be well-informed about candidates, their backgrounds and experience," Wentworth told Smith.

Wentworth, for example, has pointed to Smith's dismal attendance record at important meetings of boards and committees of which he was a member.

Wentworth says he will continue to give voters factual information about how many meetings Smith missed and how many he attended as well as similar information about himself.

"If your record is judged by the voters to be unsatisfactory..., that is a legitimate purpose of the election campaign process," Wentworth says.

And of course, he's 100 percent right.

The president wasn't being original when he coined the term "the 11th Commandment." As a kid I was told the 11th Commandment was, "Thou shalt not get caught."

Reagan's 11th and the 11th of my childhood are no different.

A view
from the lake
By Lila MacMillan

An old friend Charlie Walker stopped by this week to arrange to run an ad in the Bulletin for his well service and drilling business.

I could sit and listen to Charlie reminisce about Medina Lake and the old days for hours at a time, just like I would with Mayor Willie Leibold.

Charlie bought him one of those new Isuzu trucks awhile back, and folks have started a rumor that Charlie's retired from the well business. Charlie says no way.

Just cause you don't see Charlie running up and down Park Road 37 in his orange truck doesn't mean he's out of business. Look for him in his new white truck. He's out there.

Charlie's been in business since before 1947 at Medina Lake. As a matter of fact, he said he remembers the first ad he ran in the Bulletin in 1947.

"Got good results then, and ever since when I run an ad," he said. "Back then I got $1.25 a foot for drilling," he reflected. "Don't get much more than that now."

"The lake didn't drop this summer like it did in 1984, but a few wells near the lake went dry," he said. "Mostly shallow wells, 'bout 100 footers. They're probably fed from the lake, and when the lake drops they go dry.

"Recently we've drilled some wells over around Bump Gate Road and when we hit water, it's running, good strong stream over there. Most of those wells are 400 footers."

"Some new wells have been drilled over in the Goat Hill Road area near Faurie's Cove, and they're getting good water there," Charlie said.

His sons, Murray and Squeaky, are still working with him, he said. "Guess I'll be working in the business until they bury me," he said. "I have no plans to retire."

Deer Park pair pay dearly for three deer

Two Deer Park residents were arrested for shooting deer out of season and at night, Sunday on Peaceful Valley Road by Game Warden Carlton Becker and Deputy Tim Landrum.

The two men paid a total of $1,125 in fines for the three deer they had with them when arrested.

Marshall Arthur Taylor, 28, and James Chris Rollish, 39, both of Deer Park, near Houston, were released from custody after Taylor paid fines and committments of $450 and Rollish paid $675.

Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said Taylor had two complaints against him and Rollish had three.

Mingo reported Larry David Bachhofer, 36, of San Antonio was arrested for driving while intoxicated on Nov. 2 by Department of Public Safety trooper Nolan Metz. Bachhofer was released the following day after posting the $800 bond set by Peace Justice Bonnie Towers and paying a $63 fine for traffic violations.

A single-wide mobile home burned to the ground Oct. 31 on the Davenport Ranch off Dixie Rude Road, Mingo said, "before our officers arrived on the scene."

No one was home when the fire broke out, he said. The mobile home was owned by Earl Maze. The fire apparently started at the north end of the structure where the electrical wires entered the wall.

A burglary was reported at the Leighton Real Estate office near Vanderpool by the owner on Nov. 1. An antique cash register and about $60 in cash was missing, Mingo said. The cash register was later found along Highway 337 between Vanderpool and Medina.

Betty House of San Antonio, a guest at the Flying L Ranch reported someone entered her room Nov. 2 while she was out for a short while. Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier, investigating officer, said $20 cash and several credit cards were reported missing.

Greg Maddox of Bandera reported Monday someone stole items valued at $92.50 from his disabled car parked on Highway 16 south of Bandera.

Billy Harper reported he was missing a riding lawnmower from his place in Deer Forest subdivision.

J. L. Dean of Tarpley reported Nov. 5 someone had torn down 260 feet of fence along Williams Creek Road north of Tarpley. Mingo said the matter was under investigation.

Other items on the blotter from last week included a gunshot wound in Lakehills. Nancy Bartlett of Lakehills reported her daughter received an accidental airgun wound while a juvenile male was playing with the airgun.

The girl's mother told Mingo it happened Oct. 20 when the airgun went off accidentally.

The girl received a slight wound under the skin on the right side of her head. It was the next day before the girl told her mother what happened, Deputy DeLesdernier reported.

Kenneth Pape of Bandera reported his truck stolen from the Bandera Downs racetrack on Oct. 24. He told authorities it was taken during the night. Reserve Deputy Maynard Phillips located the truck a few hours later on Highway 16 near Highway 2828. He reported some road signs had been knocked down at the location.

Museum plans farmstead trip

The San Antonio Museum Unschool has scheduled a "family adventure" to the Texas Hill Country Sunday, Nov. 17, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A maximum of 35 participants will leave the Witte Museum that day for a day trip to the historic Sauer-Beckman Farmstead in LBJ State Park to learn about "life on a Farmstead."

Participants will relive life in the early part of this century in the unsettled Texas Hill Country under the tutelage of Dr. Marian Martinello, professor of education at The University of Texas at San Antonio and author.

Cost of the program is $14 for contributors and $18 for non-contributors; $12 for children 10 years and under. Reservations are required and should be made by calling the Education department at 226-5544 ext. 101.

The Witte Museum is at 3801 Broadway.

A community seminar on generic drugs and vitamins at the Bandera County Library is scheduled for Nov. 14 at 7 p.m. The program will be given by Diana Braun, pharmacist at Boyle's Market. Braun, with degrees in pharmacy and biology from The University of Texas in Austin, is vitally concerned with the use and misuse of vitamins in our culture today and in the case of generic drugs to help off-set growing medical costs, librarian Dr. Jimmie Hughey said.

There is no charge for the seminar and the public is encouraged to attend.

Private company to transport school children

A private company will be providing transportation for students in the Marble Falls school district when they return from Christmas vacation.

The school board voted to enter into a contract with Durham Transportation of Texas, Inc., the Marble Falls Highlander reported.

Shopping center planned in Uvalde

Plans for a 130,000-square-foot community shopping center for Uvalde were announced this week by CBL & Associates, Inc., of Chattanooga, Tenn.

"We will be adding approximately 70,000 square feet of retailing space to a new Wal-Mart Department Store which opened in September," stated Charles B. Lebovitz, president and chief executive officer, in announcing the new development.

Site for the shopping center on the north side of Highway 90 East was recently purchased by CBL from Sagebrush Properties Joint Venture of which Pete Knowles is principal owner.

The new shopping center will be known as Uvalde Plaza.

The Burnet Emergency Medical Service is in financial trouble and needs the help of everyone who has used the service or ever may use it to keep it afloat, the Highlander reports.

According to Burnet City Manager Ken Taylor, Burnet residents have a choice. They can help keep the local Emergency Medical Service operating by donating money on their utility bills, or they can leave it up to the city council to fund the service, which may almost double taxes.

Or they may elect to do nothing and watch the EMS fold, the newspaper said.

Residents receiving city utility bills are asked to check a box indicating whether they are willing to pay an extra $2 on their bills for EMS purposes.

The service billed $2,198 in July and only collected $1,237; billed $1,852 in August and collected $797; and billed $3,631 in September, and collected $453.

In accident

A Medina County sheriff's office vehicle was involved in an accident early Sunday morning, with the liability insurance on county vehicles having expired 10 days earlier on Oct. 17, the Castroville News Bulletin said.

Sheriff Alvin Santleben said the accident occurred at 1:30 a.m. at the Quihi Road and U.S. Highway 90 intersection. Deputy James Postert was transporting a DWI suspect to the county jail in Hondo.

Former Bandera city policeman Joe MacMillan received a hand injury in the mishap.

State funds?

State funds from two different sources may be available to help furnish new school buildings at Camp Wood and Barksdale in the financially stressed Nueces Canyon Independent School District, the Real County American reports.

The American said Gov. Mark White's office said some $200,000 in state funds may be made available in the spring.

Teller course

A pre-employment teller training course for people interested in becoming tellers at a bank, credit union or savings institution will be offered by San Antonio College on Mondays and Wednesday evenings through Dec. 18.

The course will be taught from 6:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m. at SAC's Continuing Education Center, 1517 N. Main Ave., San Antonio. A fee of $40 will be charged for the course which begins No. 11.

By-pass eyed

A committee, named by the Fredericksburg Chamber of Commerce to again study the possibility of a truck route around the city, held its first meeting last week.

A previous committee had made a similar study and in early 1984 headed a local delegation that appeared before the Texas Highway Commission to seek a truck route for Fredericksburg.

At the time, the Commission shelved the request due to a lack of funding.

Since then, however, several sources indicated that monies might be more readily available and encouraged the renewed effort to approach the Highway Commission for the project. Both the city and the county have officially backed the truck route.

Participants will learn more than just how to add antifreeze to their car's radiator at the San Antonio Museum Un-School's funshop, "Cruise Control," Thursday, Nov. 21, at the Texas Science Center (formerly the Museum of Transportation) in downtown HemisFair Plaza.

Emergency car repair, the basics of belts, batteries and brakes will all be at your fingertips after an informative evening with local "grease monkeys" Paul Spann and Bert Ranzau.

The funshop, designed for drivers and drivers-to-be (12 and over), focuses on the museum's collection, and the instructors work with a VW and Camaro engine. One of the basic principles is the fact that engines change in shape and size, but the internal combustion engine remains unchanged.

"Cruise Control" is limited to 12 participants, and reservations should be made

Foster in D.C.

Hoyt Foster spent this past week in Washington D.C. celebrating "Earth Satellite Day," the first anniversary of the Satellite Viewing Rights Act, the law that clarifies the sale and use of home earth stations.

Over 200 dishes were installed on the mall in front of the Capitol allowing senators and congressmen to touch, see and hear satelite, some for the first time.

Events during that day, Oct. 29, such as interviews with congressmen, senators, representatives from the Federal Communications Commission, Hollywood personalities and several dealers and installers of satellites from all over the U.S.

Dealer representatives visited with their congressmen and senators asking for their help in passing bills S-1618 and HR-1769. S-1618, or the Satellite Viewing Rights act of 1985, will insure that Americans are not banned from receiving programming from satellites.

HR-1769 establishes a two-year moratorium on scrambling of satellite programming to allow programmers and the earth station industries to develop a fair way of marketing scrambled satellite signals to home earth station users.

Spirit of Christmas plan good deeds again

A planning meeting was held on Oct. 29 for the Spirits of Christmas Presents, the organization, headed by Karen Jackson and Kathy Gardner that helps provide a Merry Christmas for many unfortunate families in the area.

The group means to provide a full family dinner and Christmas presents for all children in each of the families aided.

"In order to do this, a lot of help is needed, in the form of donated time, food, gifts, and money," spokeswoman Elsie Word said.

"Each week, between now and Christmas we will report what the group is doing," Word said. "and let everyone know what they can do to help."

Word said this week they will be placing collection jars in businesses throughout Bandera County. "We hope when people see the jars, they will drop in some change and help make Christmas for a Bandera County child."

List of gift books for children offered

Before you know it, the holiday gift-giving season will be upon us. Already the media are bombarding kids with ads on the latest and greatest toys.

But this may be the year you decide not to spend a lot of money on toys that children get bored with after a short time. If you want to give your children something that will stimulate their imaginations and at the same time help them learn, books are a great choice. "Wonderful," you say, "but there are thousands of children's books out there. How do I know which books are appropriate for my child's age or reading level and, more importantly, which books will hold his or her attention?"

To help you out, the Library of Congress has compiled lists of what they believe to be the best children's books published in 1983 and 1984. They've put them both into handy booklet form. You can get your copy of "Children's Books 1983" (Item 300N) and "Books for Children 1984" (Item 109N) by sending $1 for each booklet along with the item number to the Consumer Information Center, Dept. RW, Pueblo, Colo. 81009. Order right away so that, you'll have time to use them at your favorite bookstore in plenty of time for the holidays.

The selections highlighted in these two booklets were selected by a group of librarians, reference specialists and childrens literature experts as the books they think will most appeal to children, stimulate their imaginations and meet their needs for information. Picture books, story books, poetry books, and non-fiction books are included.

Each listing includes a description of the plot, notation of whether or not the book is illustrated, and the retail price of the book at the time the list was compiled.

Through the books highlighted, your children can travel to outer space, to the old wild west, to "Camelot" with the knights of the round table and many other fascinating places. They can be helped with problems such as divorce, losing a parent, and moving away from friends.

The two booklets also include listings of newer editions of classic books, such as "The Adventures of Pinocchio," Charles Dickens "A Christmas Carol," and "Wind in the Willows."

For a little help in introducing your children to the wonderful world of books, send for "Childrens Books 1983" (300N, $1.) and "Books for Children 1984" (109N, $1). At the same time you will also receive a free copy of the Consumer Information Catalog.

Outdoor advertising must be registered

Businesses in Bandera County must register or remove any off-premise advertising sign not in an incorporated city such as Bandera by Dec. 30. according to Charles Georg, construction maintenance supervisor of the state highway department.

The law requiring the registration or removal of the signs applies to those along county roads as well as those on state and federal highways, Georg explained.

The law was passed by the past session of the state legislature and refers to signs which advertise a service or product not principally sold at the site the sign is located.

"This effects probably more (business) people in Bandera County than in other counties because of the dude ranches and roadside businesses here," Georg said.

Signs in the extra-territorial jurisdiction of a city which is controlling signs do not have to be registered, but the city of Bandera has no ordinance controlling signs. Signs within the city limits of Bandera are also not affected, George said.

Signs specifically allowed under the Highway Beautification provisions of the Texas Litter Abatement Act also do not have to be registered.

George said he expects rules to be made in the future that will allow highway department personnel to go on private property to remove signs not properly registered.

Applications for a permit are available from the District Office of the highway department, 4615 NW Loop 410, San Antonio. The office's phone number is 696-1110.

Faye Hubble has joined the staff of N & M Properties, according to owners Ben Nolen and Dorothy Moorman. Faye, born in Real County, is a native to the Hill Country, and became a resident of Bandera County in 1960. She is the wife of Carl Hubble, originally from Medina, and they have three children attending the Bandera schools.

Lt. Col and Mrs. James Endicott of Lakehills announce the marriage of their daughter Dana to Randy McDonald Oct. 12 at MacArthur Park Lutheran Church in San Antonio with Pastor George W. Schwanenberg officiating.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter McDonald of Flagstaff, Ariz.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose an ivory tea-length vintage style dress.

Her attendants, dressed in dusty rose tea-length dresses, included her sister Chris Mazurek of Seabrook, Gwen Davis of Hershey, Pa., and Kelle Foster of Amhurst, Mass.

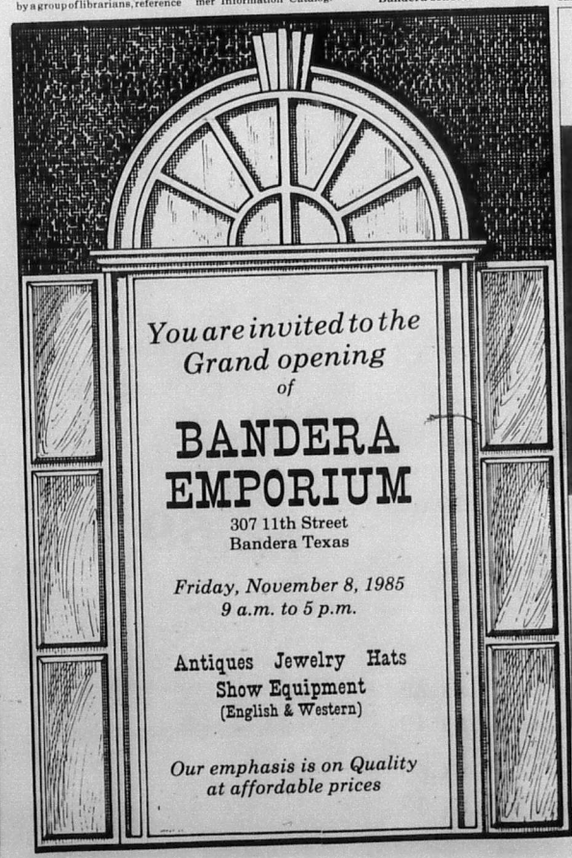

Friends Kerry Murphy of Steamboat, Colo., and Carrie Holsead of Peter's Township, Pa., assisted with the guest book and cutting the cake.

Best man Terry Zanzucchi arrived from Detroit, Mich. for the occasion. Groomsmen were Choo Choo McDonald of Flagstaff, brother of the groom, and the bride's brother, Jim Endicott of Houston. Ushers were Scott Lang of Phoenix, and Jim Zanzucchi of Flagstaff.

Michael Mazurek, brother-in-law of the bride, read a passage on marriage from the book, "The Prophet" by Kahlil Gibran. A unity candle lit from the two family candles symbolized the unity of the two as one.

A reception, including a buffet and dance, followed at the Officers Training School Open Mess at Medina Base in San Antonio.

The couple will reside in Baton Rouge, La. following their honeymoon in Las Vegas, Phoenix, Flagstaff, and Lake Powell. Dana teaches jazzercise and Randy is general manager of TGI Friday's Restaurant.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

Seventeen seniors from Silver Sage Corral rode the mini-bus and cars to Dietert Claim, the senior center in Kerrville, on Wednesday, Oct. 30, to admire its well-stocked "Gold Mine" (read that gift shop) and its wealth of handmade articles of every dscription.

It is open only on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday, but its volunteer workers spend all day Tuesday creating their specialties, some donated and some on consignment.

The Thrift Shop has the same hours.

Meeting the staff of Dietert Claim was part of the pleasure of the trip, Bandera's Center members said. Special music was provided on the recently donated Conn theatre organ by Ruth Goembel, who also plays for bi-weekly dances there.

It was interesting to note how the logistics of serving the lunches was accomplished. For instance, the quartet tables are numbered and the numbers are drawn by lot, to prevent patrons from having to stand in line to be served.

Rummage and plant sale

Never mind that the heavens opened up and dumped barrels of rain on the Center Friday, Nov. 1. Saturday was a better day for shopping, and all in all, the Great Bandera Fall Flea Market was a huge success.

Thanks to everyone concerned — volunteers, customers, lookers, organizers and all, also to those clubs, classes and groups whose regularly scheduled activities were preempted by the sale.

Melodiers to sing in Kerrville

The Hill Country AARP chapter has invited the Melodiers to present a program at its regular meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 12. The mini-bus, available for those wishing to ride together, will leave Silver Sage Corral at 1 p.m. for the First United Methodist Church of Kerrville.

This is a second time for the Melodiers to sing and play for the Hill Country chapter, having presented their program, "Salute to the American Cowboy," in 1983.

Personals

Mary Jo Kirkpatrick, treasurer of the Senior Advisory Board and secretary of the Site Council, had an unexpected near-birthday present recently when her daughter in Virginia gave birth to a premature baby boy, Christopher (Kit) Braithwaite.

Leaving soon for the East Coast, Kirkpatrick has temporarily assigned her advisory board duties to Doris Dolle, the secretary.

Husband Kirk will also be missed from the center's maintenance committee and from the Bandera Optimists Club, during their anticipated two-month absence.

Della May Cox expressed her appreciation for the "Senior Citizen Mini-bus Parking Only" sign at Boyle's Food Market. Many of her transportees need to be disembarked as close as possible to the door.

Incidentally, Christian Kalka, who drives the mini-bus on Mondays and Tuesdays, is not a STEP employee, as stated in the article about County Coordinator Glenn Wehmeyer in last week's Bulletin. Actually he serves the Center two days through the generosity of Bandera County in order to have a complete transportation schedule for Center participants.

Lost Maples

Being situtated so close to the wonders of Lost Maples State Park, Silver Sage Corral is in a position to time its field trip there so as to see the full glory of the maples' fall coloring.

According to reports, this has not yet come about, and will not until a frost occurs.

Those wishing to make the trip should get their names on the waiting list at the Center, 796-4969, so they can be notified when the trip will be scheduled.

Wanted: Legends and tales

Winnie Hicks' Creative Writing class is planning a booklet in honor of Texas' Sesquicentennial (150th) year in 1986. Their goal is to retrieve some of the old stories, anecdotes, and legends of the Hill Country that might otherwise not be recorded. They request the cooperation of anyone remembering materials of this kind.

The class meets at 1 p.m. Tuesdays at the Silver Sage Corral.

In Memoriam

Silver Sage Corral lost a dear friend in the recent death of Carmen Cortez, who with her nephew Louis Romero owned and operated the Tortilla Factory in Kerrville. They provided the food for our Mexican supper last June as one of their continuing civic projects. She will be sorely missed.

Distinguished visitors

The visitors seemed to be impressed to see the Silver Sage Corral, and to know the community cooperation which brought it into being.

Viewing it for the first time were O.P. (Bob) Bobbitt, executive director of Texas Department of Aging, and public relations director James Grabbs of Austin.

Also in the group which visited the Center on Monday, Nov. 4, were Linda Parker, volunteer services coordinator for Kerrville State Hospital and its satellite Centers; Loretta Rees of Dietert Claim, Kerrville; Al Notzon, executive director of Alamo Area Council of Governments; Frank Adamo, director of the senior programs of AACOG; Barbara Hughes, his assistant; and Cecilia Elizondo, public relations director for AACOG, all of San Antonio.

Commentary by Kay

With a microwave oven in the kitchen, there is really no excuse for older persons, even those living alone, to slight preparing meals for themselves.

Consider it only takes six minutes to bake a potato (prick the skin to allow steam to escape). Frozen vegetables can be cooked in their package, with steam holes pricked in the top. Fresh vegetables may be cooked to crisp-tender, covered, in minutes, (but don't add salt until done, as it will toughen the vegetables).

Of course you can cook in the serving dish and there's no pan to wash.

Take the big bones out of meat you want to microwave, and use a lower heat setting. Let it stand outside the oven for several minutes to finish cooking.

Baking is a snap in a microwave. Try cornbread from one of those little packages; bake uncovered in a round pan if possible, because it keeps the corners from getting overdone. Four or five minutes will do it. For a bigger recipe, upend a glass in the middle of the pan.

For cakes and cookies avoid recipes with lots of fat and sugar, because these attract the microwaves and cause overcooking in spots. If you don't have a carousel, turn the pan midway of cooking time, and use the next-to-highest heat setting.

Be happy we no longer have to stoke the old wood stove to prepare our meals as in days of yore.

Barrs welcome great-grandchild

John and Norma Barr of Bandera received word Nov. 4 of the arrival of their third great-grandchild, Victoria Mills Ginder, born in Huntington Beach, Calif.

Her parents are Paul and Leslie Barr Ginder. Others welcoming the new girl are her grandparents, Thomas and Gladys Barr, and her two-year-old sister Lindsay.

Seniors can delay payment of taxes

By simply filing a sworn affidavit with their local appraisal district, homeowners age 65 and over can postpone payment of property taxes on their homesteads.

Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board, explained that once an over-65 taxpayer properly files the tax deferral affidavit, state law prevents taxing units from initiating or prusuing delinquent tax suits on the homestead for as long as the applicant owns and lives at that property. "In other words," said Patterson, "an over-65 homeowner cannot lose his homestead because of delinquent property taxes if he has filed the proper affidavit."

Patterson said that elderly homeowners can obtain forms for the deferral affidavit at the appraisal district office in their county. The homeowner should fill out the form and have his signature witnessed by a notary public or other official authorized to take oaths.

"Elderly homeowners should understand that the tax deferral period, the taxes, penalties and interest will continue to add up, he explained.

"Once the homeowner no longer qualifies for the deferral — that is, if he no longer owns or resides at that homestead — all those deferred amounts must be paid. At that time taxing units may sue to collect the delinquent taxes, penalties and interest, and foreclose on the property."

They played in the mud in 1960 and were tied

The Bandera Bulldogs and the Charlotte Trojans played one of the best games of the 1960 season, The Bulletin reported, but both teams were handicapped by a muddy field and were unable to score.

The Bulldogs led most all the way offensively.

A powerful Hondo team held back the St. Joseph's Mustangs for the first period, exploded for four touchdowns in the second period to show their superiority over the fighting Mustangs, The Bulletin reported.

The game ended with a score of 32-8 in Hondo's favor.

The second half was scoreless although the Mustangs drove to the one inch line as the game ended.

In the third grade School Daze News, Darla Blumrich reported she had a new donkey. He bucked her off, right over his head. She said she was ready to sell him.

The Pipe Creek Community Center was the scene of a political rally for the Nixon - Lodge ticket. Coffee and donuts were served.

Cora Densford read a telegram from Pat Nixon expressing her appreciation to the women and saying how important they were to the campaign.

A Mexican Supper and Bazaar were held at the North Medina Lake Methodist Church to raise money for sheet rocking and painting the newly organized church.

The bazaar was very successful and the Nov. 4, 1960, issue of the Bulletin reported there were many beautiful hand-made items for Christmas available.

Lakehills Variety plans grand opening

After living in Lakehills for four years, Mary Biedermann said she feels Lakehills is ready for a variety store.

"When I saw the for rent sign in the window, I asked my husband what he thought, he said yes, and here we are," she said. "It really took a lot of hard work getting the building ready, but my husband and kids pitched in and built counters, shelves, and prepared display racks, so we could open the shop."

Biedermann will have the grand opening for her Lakehills Variety Store and More Saturday, Nov. 9, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce will hold a ribbon cutting ceremony at 2 p.m. at the store on Park Road 37 next to the Post Office.

The shop consists of two rooms, already full of everything from fishing gear to wearing apparel.

Among the jewelry, sweat suits, rain suits, hardware items, baby gifts, sewing supplies, toys, pet supplies, antiques, school supplies, office supplies, gift wraps, underwear, toiletries, and notions are many beautiful and different handmade gifts, oil paintings, and floral arrangements.

Biedermann said she is handling these items for several talented local citizens on a consignment basis.

Mary and her husband Rudolf have had a weekend place at the lake for over 30 years and moved here four years ago. Rudolf commutes to work in San Antonio. He has been with Haskin Pump Service for 38 years. They have two grown children and two grandchildren.

One of the feature of the variety store is the "More" part. This area is occupied by Chuck Strange and his "strange things."

He can design T shirts and caps with most anything you want on them and deliver within 24 hours. He has a large display in the shop and has the presses for the shirts and caps. He has quality lines like the Hilton and Tonix sport shirts.

He and his wife Merlene have lived at the lake for eight years. They enjoy fishing, but say they find less and less time for it now.

Biedermann said she has found most say they favor a variety store in Lakehills, and, very few people who have dropped in didn't find what they were looking for.

Everyone is invited to the grand opening on Saturday. Mary and Chuck are anxious to meet everyone and they are hoping everyone will come by, introduce themselves, and have refreshments.

Mary Biedermann, proprietor of Lakehills Variety Store and More has been busy all week arranging merchandise for the grand opening Saturday.

Underwater spook house a success

Over 150 divers turned up at Cedar Point Landing by the dam Oct. 27 for Dive World's annual Pumpkin Hunt, Louise Mays said. An Underwater Spook House, complete with skeletons and other creatures was set up.

Part of the fun was the "Goblin Egg" hunt, and Cale Mays, 13, and Mike Portis, 13, were winners in that event. Cale won a diver's console valued at $150 and Mike received an underwater dive light.

Goblin eggs are a lot like golf balls, hidden under water and retrieved by the divers, Mays explained.

Both the youths have been diving since they were 11 years old. Both are anxious for Easter when the Dive Shop will sponsor the great "easter egg hunt" underwater, Mays said.

Stock broker to speak at Trinity

The senior vice president and chief economist of the New York Stock Exchange, Dr. William C. Freund, will speak at the Trinity University Policymaker Breakfast on Tuesday, Nov. 12.

"What's Ahead for the Economy," will be discussed by Freund in his remarks to South Texas business leaders at the breakfast at 7:30 a.m. in the Madero Ballroom of La Mansion del Norte (Loop 410 at McCullough).

Column about Mico people in The Bulletin this week

Beginning this week in the Bulletin, the news about the people of Mico will be reported in a regular column by Carol Smith of Red's Cove.

Smith and her husband, Nick, and their 16-month-old daughter Ana Nicole own Stormy's Marina in Red's Cove. They have been at the lake for five years.

Smith is an experienced freelance writer who has had several articles on boating and boating safety published in magazines.

Mico is located in Medina County at the Medina Lake dam.

To submit news items to Carol, Mico area residents may call 751-3831 from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., except Monday and Tuesday. "If you get a recorded message," she says, "leave your name and number and I will call you back." News items may also be dropped off at Red's Cove, she said.

In order for news to appear in the Thursday issue of the Bulletin, news must be reported to her by 6 p.m. on Sunday.

Lakehills EMS awareness month

November has been named Lakehills EMS Awareness Month, says Lakehills EMS Support Team spokeswoman Kay Solomon.

"We will be sending letters to all residents of the Lakehills area in a few days asking for their support and donations," Solomon said. The support team has tentatively set Nov. 16 and 17 for an all out campaign to raise funds. Plans will be finalized this week for the weekend campaign and announced in next weeks Bulletin.

Anyone wishing to send in a donation can mail it to Lakehills EMS Support Team, P.O. Box 524, Lakehills 78063.

The team will be raising money to construct a building to house two ambulances, a classroom, office, and supply area in Lakehills.

Team president Peggy Galland said the paperwork on the land for the building is just about finished and once it's out of the way they will be ready to start building.

Hunters to eat turkey

A large crowd of hunters and Lakehills residents are expected to gather at St. Victor's Chapel on Park Road 37 in Lakehills Nov. 9 at 5 p.m. for the 20th annual Hunters Supper. The ladies of the community prepare the turkey and dressing in their homes and bring it to the church where it is served with all the traditional trimmings. They also prepare many different kinds of desserts for the dessert and bake sale held in conjunction with the turkey supper.

Plates will be $3.50 for adults and $2 for children, spokeswoman Cecilia Hartmann said. For 29 years the people of Lakehills have used this event to welcome hunters into the community. Citizens and hunters alike look forward to the supper to catch up on what's been happening since last hunting season. Many Lakehills residents first saw the community as a hunter and after hunting in the area a few years purchased land and now call Lakehills their home.

Schotts entertain

Rudy and Elsie Schott of Lakehills honored Alice Leibold with a birthday supper at their home last Friday night. Milton Leibold, Linda, Randy, and Debbie Schott were also present.

On Sunday they had a brunch in their home for Randy and Debbie Schott. Pat Strebeck and Jimmy Schott came from Austin, Jack Noonan from Hondo, and Linda Schott from San Marcos. Linda, James, and Pat are weekend guests.

On Saturday evening Rudy and Elsie Schott attended the wedding reception for Lee Short and Marcia Erfurt in Bandera. Later they attended a dinner dance at the Quihi Gun Club in honor of Milton and Nora Balzen's 50th wedding anniversary.

Hermann Sons plan Thanksgiving Dinner

Senior citizens and disabled citizens will be treated to a free Thanksgiving Dinner with all the trimmings at Millie Schenkat Hall on Nov. 28.

Hermann Sons Lodge 81 will host the dinner on Thanksgiving from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the lodge hall on Park Road 37 in Lakehills, spokesman Gordon Nordlund said. "We don't want any of our friends or neighbors 62 or over or disabled to be alone," he said.

Reservations can be made by calling the lodge hall 751-9901. Nordlund said anyone planning to attend the dinner should make reservations so the lodge will know how much food to prepare.

Five students treated to a retreat

An overnight camping retreat is in store for the five honor roll students at Faith Chapel Christian School, Jason Bragg, Dawn Cowley, Jonathan Kruse, Deborah Lebo, and M'liss Walker.

The honor students were awarded certificates for their academic work at parent-teacher fellowship night recently.

Deborah Lebo was also honored for having completed more than a semester's work in one quarter, Rev. Colley said.

The first graders recently completed the ABC's of ACE, Coley said, a phonics-based learning-to-read program. They mastered 35 letter sounds, he said.

Gong Show winners announced

Jonathan Kruse and Jason Bragg won first prize in the Faith Chapel Christian School's Gong Show on Oct. 19. They sang the ABC song.

Theresa Popham was also announced a winner for her singing.

Runners-up were the dramatic production of "Going Home" by students of the school with Donald DeThorne singing.

Performers gonged were Jim and Marilyn Colley, Bill and Norma Colley, Raymond Popham and Cindy Weatherly.

Review course

A review course for the Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers will be offered Saturday, Nov. 23, from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. by the Education Service Center, Region 20.

Stew cookoff, scuba hunt in Mico next weekend

The Cedar Point Landing Stew Cookoff Saturday, Nov. 16, is just in time for the cooler weather we have been enjoying.

Participants will test their culinary expertise against others, using their own pots, pans, spices and utensils and doing all the cooking on the premises.

The winner's recipe could turn out to be quite profitable, as cash prizes will be awarded.

Any type of meat can be used, in any quantity, although cooks must begin with a three-pound minimum.

Judging begins at 5:30 p.m. A $5 entry fee will be charged.

A Scuba Fish Hunt will be held in conjunction with the cookoff.

Ernie Lerma of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reports that the rough fish (carp, gar and buffalo) have become extremely thick in Lake Medina.

Dive World of San Antonio, Cedar Point Landing of Mico, and J.B.L. Speargun Manufacturers will sponsor a spearfishing tournament to help remove some of these rough fish from the lake. The tournament will begin on Friday, Nov. 15 at 5 p.m. to take advantage of night diving conditions, and competition will continue through Saturday at 4 p.m.

The whole lake will be utilized by the hunt, and check-in will be at Cedar Point Landing.

Trident Diving of San Antonio, and Dive Masters of San Antonio are expected to send dive teams as well as individuals to take part in the event.

Prizes will include JBL spearguns, trophies and certificates for both teams and individuals. Catagories to be judged for individuals include the most fish, largest gar, largest carp, and largest buffalo. Catagories for teams include most fish and largest stringer of five fish.

Registration forms are available at Cedar Point Landing, Dive World, Trident Diving, or Dive Masters. Prior to Nov. 10 entry fees are $12, and from Nov. 10 through Nov. 14 the fee will be $15. Entries made the day of the hunt will be $20. Participants may register by phone contacting Chris at Dive World, 681-5423.

On a side trip to Glacier Park they were able to see the fascinating annual migration of American bald eagles. The salmon were spawning and running upstream, and the eagles were feeding upon them.

KRRT 35 transmitting from Medina Lake

Winds from Hurricane Juan are blamed for the delay in the opening broadcast scheduled for Tuesday of television station KRRT 35, which has its transmitting tower in Lakehills.

Rick Lowe, general manager, said the independent UHF station was delayed in it's opening broadcast until shortly after 3 p.m. Wednesday because of high winds last week at the tower site near Medina Lake.

The winds delayed installation of the antenna at the lake until Sunday. It was Wednesday morning before the needed connections could be completed at KRRT.

The UHF transmitter is enclosed in a small, unobstructive brick building on a rocky hilltop near Medina Lake, on the Loice Odom Ranch. The transmitter is capable of putting out more than 5 million watts of power.

If you could climb atop the 1500 foot silver tower next to the building you would see San Antonio, Kerrville, Boerne, Helotes, Bandera, Pipe Creek, and even Hondo.

The station will have offices in both Kerrville and San Antonio. The official "city of license" is Kerrville, but the owners say their prime audience will be in San Antonio.

KRRT is the first independent station in the area and the first new television station in the San Antonio area since KLRN aired in 1962.

KRRT 35 replaces cable channel 7 of Austin on San Antonio cable listings.

Star Cable Television which services Bandera and Medina Lake say they will not transmit KRRT television. An official said they may have it in the future but right now they don't have room for it.

Medina Lake and Bandera residents will still be able to get KRRT on their UHF 35 channel if they have the proper loop antenna on their television sets.

The loops can be purchased at most television repair and service shops. They cost from 99 cents to $1.39.

Turkey Shoot this saturday

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department will have it's annual Turkey Shoot for adults and children Saturday, Nov. 9, at the firehouse.

The fun will begin at 10 a.m. and last as long as people are having fun, a spokesman said.

Guns will be limited to .410, 20, 16, and 12 gauge. Extra ammunition will be available at the firehouse. The children will be allowed to use BB guns and air rifles with BBs only.

Adults will shoot to win turkeys and the children can win chickens.

In addition to the turkey shoot, the fire department will have sausage on tortillas, nachos, chips, cold drinks, and coffee.

East promoted

David R. East, son of William G. and Edith M. East of Pipe Creek, has been promoted in the U.S. Air Force to the rank of captain.

East is a squadron section commander with the 343rd Equipment Maintenance Squadron at Eielson Air Force Base, Alaska.

Legion to mark Vet's Day with rites, poppy sales

James F. Pearson Post 410 in Lakehills will have a memorial service on Veteran's Day, Nov. 11 at 10:30 a.m. at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills.

"The service will be in honor of the veterans that have served our country," Commander Richard Mixon said.

Red crepe paper poppies will be offered in Lakehills on Nov. 9 by the American Legion Auxiliary, says president Elaine Mixon.

"The poppy is handmade, petal by petal by disabled and hospitalized veterans in poppy shops run by auxiliary volunteers throughout the year," she said. Making the paper flowers provide the public for a contribution, to say America remembers," Mixon explained.

Auxiliary and junior auxiliary members of the James Pearson Post 410 will be around Lakehills Saturday, they'll be carrying bouquets of the flowers.

"Return their smile," Mixon urges. "Make a contribution and pin on a poppy. Wear it with pride. You will be honoring America's heros who gave their lives for freedom."

Faith Chapel auction set Nov. 23

The Faith Chapel auction cancelled because of bad weather has been rescheduled for Nov. 23. It will be held at Lakehills Civic Center at 5 p.m. Items will be available for viewing at 3 p.m.

Merchants from throughout Bandera County, Castroville, and San Antonio have donated items to be sold to the highest bidders. "There will be something for everyone," spokeswoman Donna Raine said. "The response of the bussinesses was overwhelming."

A country store, snack bar, and bake sale will be held in conjunction with the auction. It will be indoors, so even if the weather is bad, it will be held this time.

Norris Dohrow

Norris E. Dohrow

Norris Edward Dohrow, 70, of Lakehills, died Oct. 30 in the Town and Country Nursing Home in Boerne after an 18 month battle with cancer. He and his wife Gertrude are well known in Lakehills. They moved here ten years ago when Dohrow retired from Rockwell International in Ashtabula, Ohio.

Until cancer struck, Dohrow was an office holder in the American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills, an active member of the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department. His wife accepted the certificate for him. When he was a resident of Ohio he was a Boy Scout Leader, a past master of the East Plymouth Grange, and a lifetime member of a citizen's band radio club in Ashtabula.

He loved the outdoors and spent many hours on the golf course, fishing, hunting, and camping.

He was a regular member of the coffee crowd in Lakehils and will be remembered fondly for his quick sense of humor, ready smile and his willingness to pitch in and help where help was needed. He and his wife enjoyed the dances at the Civic Center, Last year he donated his personal record collection to the Center that he had collected over his lifetime. Many of the albums will be used at the Big Band Dance at the Civic Center in December.

Survivors include wife, Gertrude Dohrow of Lakehills; a daughter, Annella Schlich of Ashtabula, Ohio; a son, Fred Charles Dohrow of Bloomington, Ill.; one sister, Jo Berkley of Seattle, Wash.; and four grandchildren.

Graveside services were held Monday, Nov. 4, at 2:15 p.m. at Ft. Sam Houston National Cemetery, with the Rev. Joyce Slade officiating.

Locks recommended for safety and for lower insurance rate

Simply adding locks to your doors and windows may do more for your security—and your pocketbook—than an elaborate burglary alarm system.

"Before buying expensive gadgets and alarms, secure the critical points of entry into your home," advises Dr. Peggy Owens, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

"With a relatively small investment, you can make the job of getting inside so tough, time-consuming and risky that most would-be intruders won't consider it worth the effort," she says.

Better quality locks may cost a little more, but will provide tighter security. Whatever you pay for added locks, it's a small price when compared to the cost of the televisions, silver, video recorders, computers and other consumer goods burglars are likely to take, Owens points out.

According to Dr. J. Fred Cross, Extension community development specialist, installing locks can also qualify you for a 5% reduction in homeowner's insurance premiums.

Cross says the following burglary prevention measures are required to qualify for the insurance reduction:

- Exterior doors must be of metal or solid wood at least 1¾ inches thick.
- The door must have a dead bolt lock with a bolt throw of at least one inch, that penetrates a metal strike plate. The lock must be key operated from both sides, if there is breakable glass within 40 inches of the lock.
- On double exterior doors, the inactive door must be secured at top and bottom by bolts into metal strike plates. If there is glass within 40 inches of the bolts, the bolts must be flush mounted in the edge of the door.
- Dutch doors must have concealed bolt locks to interlock the top and bottom and have a 1 inch throw dead bolt lock.
- Sliding glass doors must be secured by a secondary locking device that prevents lifting and prying.
- Garage doors must be equipped with key operated locks.
- All windows must have auxiliary locking devices, such as key operated locks, pinning devices, dowels and screws. Or you can substitute metal bars or grating for the extra locks.

To obtain the insurance reduction, a law enforcement officer certified as an inspector by the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education must examine your home security.

After the inspection, the State Board of Insurance will be notified that you meet the requirements, and you will receive a certificate from the board to take to your insurance agent for the premium reduction, Cross says.

Hunting program

A program on managing hunters and marketing hunts and interpreting harvest records will be held on Thursday, Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m. at the First National Bank Meeting Room.

Henry Welge, Gillespie County rancher and wildlife manager, will present a program on managing the hunter and marketing the hunting experience.

Dr. Dright Guynn, extension wildlife specialist from Uvalde, will discuss harvest record keeping and how the records are used in management decision making.

Mixed drink taxes up 17.7 percent

Tax revenue from the sale of mixed drinks in Bandera County jumped from $15,168.88 in 1984 to $17,861.26 in 1985, a 17.7 percent increase, according to the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

Bandera's total county tax revenue leaped 37.3 percent from $11,563.72 in the first quarter of 1985 to $15,871.39 in the second quarter.

The Texas Legislature raised the tax rate from 10 percent to 12 percent in October 1984 and lowered the percentage given to Texas cities and counties in rebates to 12.5 percent.

"The state used to pay 15 percent in rebates to the cities and counties, but since the tax rate was raised, they lowered the percentage to keep things even," said James Adams of the Alcoholic Beverage Commission.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said the state collected $49.4 million in mixed drink taxes for the third quarter at the increased rate, compared to $40.4 million collected during the third quarter of 1984 at the old 10 percent rate.

Of the Texas cities and counties, who now each receive a 12.5 percent share of the tax collected on mixed drinks sold within their boundaries under the law that legalized the sale of mixed drinks in the state, counties were given $6.1 million in rebates, up from the $6 million received during the third quarter in 1984.

Cities received $5.7 million compared to $5.6 million collected during the same period last year. The state's general revenue fund received the balance.

According to Bullock, $37.5 million was deposited in the state's general revenue fund from third quarter collections compared to $28.7 million collected at the 10 percent rate for the same period in 1984.

The mixed drink tax is collected by the Alcoholic Beverage Commission and city-county rebates are sent out quarterly by Bullock's office.

McCall to perform at Cabaret Saturday

By Renae D. Bundy
Entertainment Editor

Darrell McCall, known for his Nashville music and standing-room-only crowds, will be performing at The Cabaret Saturday from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to help kick off the hunting season for the second year in a row.

McCall, who was raised in Texas, moved to Nashville to start a career in music. After he cut a few Nashville albums, Texas finally got a record producing company. He moved back to his native land and settled in Helotes.

"Last year during the Hunter's Barbecue weekend, Darrell drew a crowd of over 1,000, and we only have room for 400 or so," said Cal Chapman, owner of The Cabaret.

"Last year ... he drew a crowd of over 1,000" — Cal Chapman

Those who like to arrive fashionably late will be lucky to find a wall to lean on, according to Chapman. However, there will be another chance for those who miss McCall for whatever reason. "We have rescheduled him for New Year's Eve," said Chapman.

Two-person cast in Comfort Theatre play

"Same Time Next Year," starring Denny Pierce and Linda Messina as the two-person cast, opens Wednesday, Nov. 13, at Ellie Comfort Dinner Theatre under the leadership of guest director David Cockerell from the Point Theatre at Ingram.

A rollicking comedy by Bernard Slade, "Same Time Next Year" also seriously displays the transitions in the life of each character as they meet, annually, for 25 years.

The play will run Wednesday through Saturday, Nov. 13-16 and Nov. 20-23. There will be a 2 p.m. matinee (show only) on Sunday, Nov. 17.

Pierce, whose most recent stage success was his comic performance as Oscar in "The Odd Couple" at the Point Theatre, promises to be a delight in "Same Time..." as he portrays "George", a well-intentioned cheat and liar who is old-fashioned — and decent — enough to suffer recurring attacks of remorse and paranoia during his peculiar meetings with "Doris."

Messina, who also earned excellent reviews for "The Odd Couple," has mastered major roles in several productions at the Comfort Dinner Theatre. As Doris, Messina has the challenging task of making the businesswoman tycoon: All during her sometimes stormy, sometimes sensitive, but — most often — hilarious 25-year relationship with George.

The Dinner (6:30 p.m.) and Show (8:00 p.m. curtain) is $10. Reservations are a must for the dinner/show (1-995-3871). No advance notice is necessary to attend the show only ($4). A 20 percent student and senior citizen discount applies to either admission price.

Theater group seeks help

No Christmas is complete without a festive play, but such a play can't be performed without help, and a local theater group is seeking volunteers.

The Bandera Little Theatre Group plans to perform the play "And A Creature WAS Stirring" on Dec. 6 during the Shopper's Jubilee.

"We don't have a director per se, but we do have exactly enough people for the cast ... about 7 or 8," begins Cal Chapman, owner of the Cabaret and Theatre Group member. "Fortunately, that is all the play requires, but we do need people to help with the scenery, props, lighting, and etc."

The BLT Group meets every Tuesday at 7 p.m. in The Cabaret. Anyone interested is encouraged to call Bill or Lorraine Parker at 796-3340 in the evenings.

The fear of the number 13 is called triskaidekaphobia.

Firewood misses river

Tractor nearly dumps firewood load.

A tractor trailer loaded with some 100,000 pounds of cut and packaged firewood slipped backwards toward the Medina River last last Friday night and stopped only a few yards short of a dunking.

According to Bandera County Sheriff's Deputy Don Jackson on the secne, the tractor lost it's clutch attempting to climb the hill on Patterson Avenue above the Medina River and started rolling backwards toward the water.

The drive succeeded in jackknifing the rig in order to halt its plunge.

Ross Allie of Texas Fuel of San Antonio said that the already-packaged firewood was bound for distribution to San Antonio area 7-11 and Stop & Go stores. He and Texas Fuel have contracts with the unidentified driver and the Cinco B Ranch of Medina for the wood supply, he said.

A large wrecker was called from Kerrville and after careful hooking of chains and cables, the disabled rig with its load was winched straight and towed out of the river bottom amid much smoke and roar.

A replacement tractor was used the next day and the wood sent on to San Antonio.

The cost of convenience: It's high

You may be paying as much per pound for the convenience of individually packaged treats like fruit leather rolls for your child's lunch box, as you would for a pound of lobster.

With consumers willing to spend more money for convenience, "added-value" food products are now the biggest trend in the food industry, says family economics expert Nancy L. Granovsky.

"Adding value means taking a basic food product and making it more attractive and more profitable by making the product more convenient," says Granovsky, a specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

Frozen entrees, grocery store salad bars and frozen orange juice concentrate, pre-mixed and then sold in cartons in the dairy case, are just a few examples of added value products, she explains.

"Many consumers don't realize what they're paying for the convenience of less food preparation time, because per pound comparisons of costs are difficult to make," the specialist points out.

For example, if you buy a whole fryer chicken on sale, you could pay around 49 cents a pound. But when that chicken goes into a frozen dinner or entree, Granovsky says the price goes up into the range of $2.50-5.00 per pound.

"You may not mind the higher prices of added-value food, if you place a high premium on your time," Granovsky says. "But if you need to cut back on expenses, or you'd rather spend some of your money on things other than food, you might start by considering the cost of conveniences."

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Abraham Lincoln asked our nation "to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan." The Veteran's Administration is charged with caring for the country's millions of veterans of whom 85% wore their uniform in wartime. Thanks to them...Americans know the bounty freedom brings...Unfortunately, we Americans often have a tendency to be complacent about our bounty. We accept our material prosperity, our environmental beauty and our democratic form of government as something due us. We often forget, or don't take the time, to think about why we are the most fortunate of nations...Our freedom, which enables us to lead the highest quality of life on earth, was bought at great price by the men and women who had the conviction to believe in America's future. They had the courage to nobly sacrifice themselves to do what was required to secure and maintain our way of life for future generations.
Veteran's Day affords Americans the opportunity to personally give thanks and express our appreciation to those brave people who remains with us today.
Let us always remember...America is #1 Thanks to Our Veterans.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

As I have reported, the Lake Medina Shores — Wharton's Dock area is growing. They now have a parking meter located on the main street to prove it.

Bill Burge from Corpus Christi is spending a couple of weeks here at his waterfront home. Bill and Phil Bledsoe are trying to repair some of the damage at his home that was the result of the heavy snow last winter. Bill says he hopes to finish before the snow starts this winter.

Phillip Gallegos of San Antonio was here for the weekend checking on his property and visiting with Juanita Shaffer and friends.

The first Sunday of the month fellowship dinner at the Walker Memorial Chapel was a huge success. Fried chicken with all the trimmings and plenty of sweets were served.

After the meal was over, many of the people gathered around the piano and just had a good old song fest.

Betty Highnote, one of our friends and neighbors, has undergone the balloon-type heart catheterization. It is said that she is doing fine and hopefully this will take care of her heart problems for a long time.

Kim Reese, of Alvin has been visiting her grandmother, Juanita Shaffer at the Copper Lantern. Kim returned home last Saturday, but she will be back as she likes the area real well and enjoyed working with her aunt Danna Simmons at the Bandera Arts and Crafts shop.

Geneva Smith, Cliff and Mary Maston's daughter, was admitted to the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio on Monday, Nov. 4 and was scheduled for surgery on Tuesday.

Kenneth Simmons from San Antonio was up for the weekend, visiting all his friends in the area and his parents, Dana and Ritch Simmons, and grandmother, Juanita Shaffer.

It is always nice to see a good smile in the area. John Portman was here for the weekend, greeting everyone with that big smile of his.

On Oct. 24 a challenge was made to the youth of the Lake Medina Shores and Wharton's Dock area to get together and plan some group activities.

The challenge was met when 13 showed up at the Lakeshore VFD fire house on Oct. 29.

At this meeting they elected Kim Culberson president and Tina Coffey Vice President.

They decided these two officers will stay in until January 1986, at which time they will hold elections for 1986.

Many names were discussed as group name, but it was decided to think them over before making a final choice. Their next meeting will be at 7 p.m. on Nov. 12 when they will also make final plans for a weiner roast Nov. 16.

Helen Kennedy was admitted to the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio on Wednesday, Oct. 30 for blood pressure problems. She was released and returned home at Wharton's Dock on Friday.

Margaret Holmes was admitted to the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio on Monday, Nov. 4 to undergo some tests.

Lois Bailey was to undergo surgery on Oct. 31 in San Antonio, but we have no report on her condition now.

Mary K. Andreas is the proud grandmother of Nichole Michelle Cherry, who was born Oct. 26 at 1:17 p.m., weighing 6½ pounds, and measuring 19½ inches.

Her parents are Sheri and Bubba Cherry, and her other grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Veselka of San Antonio.

Now that the holiday season is upon us, I know there are items that you want in the paper. Please place them in the mail box located just inside the front door of the Copper Lantern.

Lenna and Bill Walker had an enjoyable Sunday with Lenna's brother Raymond and his wife Alma Wright from Tarpley. They took in worship services and the fellowship dinner together at the Walker Memorial Chapel and then a nice visit at the Walker ranch.

A good time was had at Clyde and Debbie Dugie's home on Saturday, Nov. 2. Visiting from San Antonio were Clyde's mother, Virgie Dugie, and his sister, Betty Dugie. Also from San Antonio were Jason Dugie, Marsha and Scott Lee with their daughter Crystle, and Debbie and David Wilheim from Boerne, with their children, Matthew, Mark, Luke, John and Tammy. The weather cleared up so Clyde was able to barbeque all the goodies that go with a good Western dinner.

After dinner C. A. (that's little Clyde) had some competition in basketball and football with his four nephews. Also enjoying the festivities was Mildred Treaster.

I regret to report that Dana Simmons has had to undergo more tests at Wilford Hall Medical Center.

We, all in this area, wish to extend our condolenses to the Rev. Paul Flanders ad his family over the loss of Paul's mother on Oct. 29. She resided in Houston.

The Walker Memorial Chapel on Wharton's Dock road has Bible study at 9:45 a.m. and worship at 11 a.m. every Sunday.

'Dogs, Floresville eye playoff berth

By Nick Johnson
Editor

A playoff berth is on the line Friday at Bulldog Stadium when Bandera runs head-long into Floresville in a showdown for second place in District 27-AAA.

Kickoff is at 7:30 p.m., and the game will be preceded by the final toss of the Optimist Club's Tri-Star Football Contest.

Bandera, pre-season choice to repeat as district champions, earned the right to play Floresville for second place last Friday with a 28-0 victory over Boerne in what may be the last game for several years at least between the two schools.

Boerne is expected to be elevated to Class AAAA when districts are realigned this spring.

The victory Friday was as sweet as it was overwhelming and as satisfying as it was wet.

Bandera has often been the victim in their contests with Boerne, usually by big margins.

Coach Danny Neuse remembers especially a sixty-point plus thrashing at the hands of Boerne and some remarks about the character of the Bulldogs.

"It was by far the best game we've played this year," Neuse said, and the statistics bear him out.

The Bulldog offense that wasn't able to score against Smithson Valley rolled up 330 yards in a driving rain at Boerne, and the defense limited the 'Hounds to 123 yards while helping to force seven Boerne fumbles.

One of the primary reasons for Bandera's offensive glitter was James Compton, the bull of the 'Dogs' running attack.

The all-state candidate rambled to 169 yards, his best output of the season.

He pounded the 'Hound defense for two touchdowns and a two-point conversion.

Both his touchdowns were vintage Compton that created imazes in Bulldog fans' minds of last year's heroics. On his second score midway in the second quarter he shook off tackler after tackler to burst 13 yards for six points. His first score was a 3-yard explosion.

The final Bandera score was set up by a 50-yard ramble by the big 'Dog that gave Bandera a first down on the Greyhound 15.

Quarterback Jimmy Sides scored that final Bandera touchdown, the only scoring of the second half, on a 3-yard option and added the final two points on another option.

Sides accounted for the other Bandera touchdown also. It came on a clutch third down and goal situation from the 28-yard line with no time left in the first half.

The Bulldogs got in that long-yardage position by a couple of penalties, but Sides coolly whistled a strike to John Miller at the goal line.

Compton's 169 yards Friday gave him 745 for the year and he'll probably need a playoff game to get 1,000 yards for the third year in a row.

The winner of the Bandera-Floresville tilt Friday will probably face defending state champion Medina Valley in the first round of the playoffs.

Charlotte blanks Medina by 29-0

The hardluck of Medina lost still another grid tilt in a rain-soaked and chilled meeting with the Charlotte Trogans last Friday.

The 29-0 win gave the Trojans a happy homecoming, in spite of the wet and cold and a 1-7-1 record.

The Bobcats continued downward to a 0-8 mark with two hard games to go.

Just about everything that could go wrong did as the 'Cats lost four fumbles and mishandled the ball several more times.

Other Halloween-like tricks played on Medina included an opening kickoff runback of 85 years for the Trojan's first touchdown, a blocked punt inside the 'Cat 30-yard line, a fumble in the end zone and recovered by Charlotte for another TD, another fumble in the endzone and recovered for a safety, and an interception.

In between there was some football, but most of it was played by the Trojan's as they ran up three TD's and the safety in the first half and added another six points in the second.

Medina's Scootie Melton did have some success moving the ball as did Mark Williams, but never did the 'Cats get a drive going. Even when Williams returned a punt for 45 yards, the drive fizzled.

Coach Danny Neuse gives competitors some pointers (above), and this punter's form (below) appears to be perfect.

48 compete in Tri-Star Football test

Forty-eight Bandera children from age 7 to 12 competed in the Bandera Optimist Club Tri Star Football competition last Saturday afternoon at Bulldog Stadium.

The tryouts Saturday determined who will be in the final competition that will be held at half-time next Friday night during the Bulldog-Floresville game.

Seventeen youngsters, three from each age group, will pass, punt and kick for trophies during the contest.

This is the third year the Optimist club has held this event. The coaching staff of Bandera High School held a clinic before the young people exhibited their skills. They stressed good sportsmanship as well as good performance in the clinic.

Those who will compete in the finals are: Derek Pfeiffer, Travis D'Spain and Phillip Jeffery, seven year olds; Kyle Woodland, Jason Hearn and J. J. Young, eight year olds; Gilbert Cardenas, Jimmy Stroud and Brad Pfeiffer, nine years; Michael Martinez, Trey D'Spain and Rickie Gard, 10 years; Johnny Stroud, Gordon Bradford and Cody Woodland, 11 years with only two in the 12 year bracket, Linden Stricker and Eugene Adamson.

Cross country girls qualify for regional

Bandera girls cross country team placed second in the district cross country meet Thursday, Oct. 24.

Bandera had 34 total points while Boerne placed first with 33.

The race was neck-and-neck until each team's sixth finisher crossed the finish line. As it turned out, Boerne's sixth runner came in before Bandera's.

Even though Bandera placed second, they still earned the right to compete in the regional meet.

Beckie Clements placed first in district and first for the varsity team.

The next runner in for Bandera was Ann Chaffin who placed seventh, and Kim Lukachik wasn't far behind in 10th place. Sally Langston followed in 12th place, and Selena Cook was the final finisher in 19th place for varsity.

For the junior varsity, Sharon Wehmeyer got first place and Judy Parkinson got second.

Bulldogs shutout Greyhounds

The Bandera Bulldogs shutout the Boerne Greyhounds, 28-0, on a very muddy field in Boerne last Friday night.

The Bulldog offense showcased the power running of all-state fullback James Compton. Compton turned in his best performance of the year, rushing for 169 yeard on 26 carries, scoring two touchdowns and running for a two-point conversion.

Quarterback Jimmy Sides threw a 30-yard touchdown pass to John Miller with no time left in the first half. He also ran for another touchdown in the third quarter from the three yard line.

The Bulldog defense was spectacular and caused seven Greyhound turnovers. They kept Boerne on its side of the field the whole night and never allowed the Hound's offense to get rolling.

With the victory, the Dogs remain in the running for a playoff birth. A win over Floresville next week will put the 'Dogs in a tie for second place with Floresville and into the state playoffs.

Bandera's record is now 1-1-2 in district play and 3-3-2 for the season.

'The Sour Prince' at Grace Lutheran

By Cliff Stoops

In the spirit of Halloween, the Grace Lutheran Church of Bandera presented the play "The Sour Prince".

The hero was played by Jeff Stoops, the girl was played by Shaylyn Sides, the prince was played by Jarod Balson, the beautiful princess was played by Tara Balson, and the evil, wicked villain was played by Steve Stoops.

The play took place in a far-away enchanted kingdom. It had a beautiful princess, and a wicked, evil villain who would not let the prince eat anything sweet. Fore' if he did the spell would be broken and the kingdom would be saved. Now, in steps the hero, who must bake something sweet, and give it to the prince to break the spell. He will be aided in the baking by a young girl who knows everything about the villain, but before he can give the sweets to the prince, the villain sours the sweets and ruins everything.

What will the hero do now? He has used up all his sugar, but he has not broken the spell. Alas he must steal a kiss from the beautiful princess, put the sugar in the pie once again and save the kingdom. Well he does, and gives the pie to the prince and everybody lives happily ever after.

Results of NHS Bake Sale

Cookies, brownies, cupcakes and more cookies clutched in the hands of BHS students and faculty were a familiar sight Thursday, Halloween Day.

Bandera National Honor Society held their annual Halloween bake sale to raise funds. Some of the things to be purchased will be senior patches for graduation, membership certificates for new members, gold NHS emblems for senior diplomas, and under consideration is the purchase of a NHS banner. This banner will be used during the induction of new officers.

NHS sponsor, Mrs. Mary Welch had this to say about the NHS organization, "The success of the bake sale is a true indication of the fine caliber of students that are members of NHS. They are true leaders, and they're a joy to work with."

FHA meeting

The Great American Smokeout will be held on Nov. 21 and will be sponsored by the FHA as their first project. Gina Bloxham is in charge of the Smokeout.

Their meeting was on Thursday, Oct. 31, and it was a work meeting. They worked on other programs and speakers, and various other activities.

The Smokeout challenge is not only for those who smoke but also for those who chew and dip.

Also on the roll

We would like to add to the honor roll Beckie Clements and Cindy Fritsche. Beckie, a senior is on the A-B honor roll. Cindy, a sophomore made the A honor roll.

Bandera Volleyball comes to a close

Bandera's volleyball season came to a close Oct. 26 in the district volleyball tournament, losing to Boerne in the first round of the single-elimination event in two sets, 16-14 and 15-12.

The girls ended their district season with two wins and four loses.

Returning as seniors next year will be Lori Robbins, Merry Stricker and Missy Mangold.

The two seniors that were on this year's team, Beckie Clements and Lorna Colvin, have a good season to keep in their memories.

There will be five returning juniors next year.

JV Bulldogs Defeated Twice

The junior varsity Bulldogs met defeat two weeks in a row at Bulldog Stadium. The first defeat was against Cole Cougars, 14-12, and then against Smithson Valley Rangers, 12-0.

In the Cole game, Sean Aamodt made a 30-yard touchdown, bringing the Bulldogs score to 6 in the second quarter.

Record review

Motley Crue, Wasted, Y&T produce trio of good disks

Motley Crue - Theatre of Pain. If you didn't catch the boys on tour, make sure you listen to their latest album. This album includes a remix of the classic "Smokin' In the Boys' Room" as well as the sweet ballad "Home Sweet Home."

The Crue is well known for their hard-driving brand of music, but they've mellowed on this record to create a musical tone that is fitting for every rock fan.

Waysted — The Good, The Bad, The Waysted — As another one of the fairly unknown bands puts out another hard-hitting album, this British rock group shows just what they're all about.

Included on the album is the top single, "Heaven Tonight." If you're interested in seeing what the band's all about, look for a concert date in December or January.

Y & T — Open Fire — Y & T's fifth record may be their best one yet. The album was recorded live during their last tour and includes one studio track, "Summertime Girls," a recent big hit.

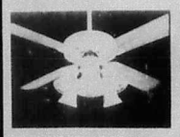

The band also came through San Antonio on a tour with Motley Crue, making a great impression on a lot of people who had never heard of them before. Y & T has also just recently released "Down For the Count," which should rival "Open Fire" with its intensity.

The archer hunts the whitetail

By Ray Bronk
Special correspondent

Would you like to increase the amount of your legal hunting time, improve your hunting satisfaction, improve your physical health through exercise, and have "more fun in the chase?" (Does a deer sleep in the woods?"

You can do all this — by hunting with the bow and arrow.

Man has hunted with the bow and arrow since the time of the early Egyptians, Summerians, Greeks, Romans, Babylonians, Syrians, Turks, Persians, Arabians, Mongols, Chinese, and Japanese. These hunters of ancient times used archery for sport, hunting, and warfare long after the invention of gunpowder.

Because bowhunting uses the coordinated muscles of the shoulders, arms, back, and eyes, the skill perfected by the practiced bowhunter brings much satisfaction not found in hunting with a high-powered rifle equipped with a telescopic sight.

Most states provide the hunter with a separate hunting season, an advantage which gives the whitetail hunter "two seasons." This increased available legal hunting is coveted and enjoyed by many.

The whitetail deer is a great challenge to the bow-hunter. Its somewhat predictable habits should make it easy prey, but its superb hearing, sense of smell, and ability of detect motion combine to leave many a confident bowhunter shaking his head in failure.

The advent of camouflage, portable deer stands, and compound bows make the take of the bowhunter somewhat easier, but bagging a buck with a bow still isn't a cinch!

What's the best way to get started in bowhunting?

One must choose the proper equipment for hunting. Most states have a munimum requirement for bowhunting equipment. In Texas, the bow must be able to hurl an arrow a distance of 130 yards, usually requiring a bow of about 45 points "draw." The broadheads (arrow tips) must be at least ⅞ and not more that ½ inches wide. Since arrows kill by hemorrhage, they must always be razor sharp.

Once the hopeful bowhunter has selected and purchased the bow and the hunting and practice arrows, they must practice shooting at targets. A bowsight helps, although many folks prefer the "natural" shooting methods.

While practicing, don't use broadheads, they are too dangerous for ordinary practice, and tear up your target backstops. Most people find a couple of bales of hay to be excellent, economical backstops. Field points and blunts are best for practicing, using paper targets.

Before actually hunting, you should shoot a few of the broadhead arrows you will actually use for hunting, to see if they pattern differently than the practice arrows. There is usually a difference, so adjust your sights accordingly.

Because a bowhunter must get much closer to his quarry than a gun hunter, he must try his best to remain "invisible" to the game. This usually means slow movements, no unnecessary noise, and drab clothing to blend into the background. Camouflage clothing is exellent for this purpose, although a whitetail can still spot a camouflaged hunter who moves or makes noise!

Meet the whitetail

Whitetail Lore.
By Ray Bronk
Special Correspondent

The Whitetail Deer, Odocoileus virginianus, is viewed by many people as America's, and probably the world's most popular big-game animal. Hunters and non-hunters alike seem to enjoy learning more about this animal through observation and reading.

The whitetail deer is found throughout the 48 contiguous states, Mexico, and Canada. Seventeen of its 30 recognized subspecies are found north of the Mexican border. Four of these subspecies are found in Texas. They will be described in a subsequent article.

The whitetail deer found in Texas originated on this continent. They descended from an ancestor from the Miocene period, some twenty-

Hit where you aim —sight in your rifle

Whitetail Lore.
By Ray Bronk
Special Correspondent

Your 'zero range' is that range at which your bullets will hit the center of the bullseye.

It is important to know where your bullet will impact at various ranges with your sight adjusted for zero range.

You've spotted a nice buck walking in the brush. You estimate it to be about 200 yards away. You rest your gun firmly on a low limb, find the buck in your scope, and sque-e-e-ze the trigger. After the shot, you watch this trophy loping away, disappearing out of sight. You did everything right, except for one thing. You didn't sight in your rifle before the hunt.

Telescopic sights are amazingly sturdy and reliable. They allow the hunter to make shots at close or extreme distances with complete confidence. They will, however, shoot accurately only if they have been properly and securely mounted, and properly adjusted. A gun knocked to the ground after being leaned against a tree, is in danger of being out of adjustment. A severe knock against the scope under other conditions could have the same effect.

The scope should be checked prior to each season, and preferably before each hunt.

Before firing the gun to adjust the scope, check the mounting equipment for tightness. Using a gunsmith's screwdriver when possible, tighten all screws, and the mount where it joins the gun and where it fits around or onto the scope. These screws should be very tight.

Now go to the area where you will fire the gun, preferably to a rifle range. It is important to know the exact range to the target you are using for this adjustment.

If you have kept your gun in good condition, you can begin your adjustment process at the 100 yard target. Using a table with a seat, and with padded rests, take one shot at the target. Check to see where the bullet has hit. If it is on the target, make the necessary adjustments on the up-down and left-right knobs. Review the adjustment instructions which came with the scope. These instructions will tell you how much each adjustment "click" will move the impact point at 100 yards (or the range stated in the adjustment instructions.)

If this shot is off the target paper at 100 yards, you must do your initial adjustment at a 25 yard target.

Most scopes will move the impact point ¼ inch for every click. This means that if your shot has gone 3 inches to the left, and 2 inches low, you would move the left/right adjustment 12 clicks to the right (or R) indicated direction, and 8 clicks to the up indicated direction.

The adjustment knobs move the impact point. If your shot has gone left, you will move the impact point to the right by using the right or R adjustment in the direction the right or R adjustment arrow points. If the shot has gone low, you will move the impact point up by using the up adjustment as the up arrow indicates. Of course left and down adjustments work in the same manner.

After this adjustment, fire three shots. Check the average center point of these hits on the target. If another adjustment is needed, repeat the procedure as detailed above. Chances are, your first adjustment will have been sufficient. If you made these adjustments on the 25 yard range, repeat the above procedure on the 100 yard range.

Your "zero range," or that range at which your bullets will hit the center of the bullseye, is dictated by the type of terrain where you will be hunting. In a non-mountainous hunting area, a 100 yard zero range is usually sufficient. When hunting in mountains or where very long shots are probable, a 200 yard zero range might be better.

(When adjusting your gun for a 200 yard zero range, each adjustment click will move the impact point ½ inch.) If making a 300 yard shot with a 100 yard zero range using a 30.06 rifle, target centered in the crosshairs, your bullet will hit about 12 inches low. That same shot from the same gun, target centered, with a 200 yard zero range, will place the bullet about 8.5 inches low.

Make your sight adjustments using the same type and weight bullet you will use for hunting. Lighter or heavier bullets will impact differently, and using the for hunting may cause you to hit to high or too low for a killing shot

It is important to know whe your bullet will impact at various ranges with your sight adjusted for your particular zero range. When making closer or further shots, hold your sights high or low as determined by the drop of the type bullet being used. Most sporting goods shops have this information in free charts.

Remember, a humane hunter will never take a shot when a killing shot is not probable. Practice until you find the range at which you can kill with a reasonable probability. Avoid shooting at ranges beyond that. Crippled animals that are not recovered are a shameful waste.

—Outdoor briefs

Law enforcement officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department remind hunters that the law exempting hunters from hunting license requirements in their county of residence has been changed, effective Sept. 1.

The new law adopted by the Texas Legislature requires that hunters possess a valid hunting license to hunt any game bird or animal in the county of their residence or any other county in the state.

"The only exception is for the person who actually resides on the land," said Capt. Harold Oates. "A person hunting on land where he legally resides is not required to have a hunting license, except for a $6 exempt license he would need to hunt deer or turkey."

There are certain other hunting license exemptions, including those for persons under 17 years of age or over 65 or over, and for certain disabilities.

Alligator attacks

An alligator's attack on a swimmer near Orange in early August may have been caused by the gator's being used for human activity, according to a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologist.

Lee Ann Johnson said Orange County resident Steve Johnson was swimming in Cypress Lake adjacent to Interstate Highway 10 near Orange when a large alligator bit him across the upper back.

Johnson was able to pull away from the reptile and swim to shore. His injuries required 11 stitches.

Ms. Johnson said she and game wardens Pete Kenall and Mike Keeney were able to capture a five-foot, nine-inch gator with a snare later that evening and transfer it to a more isolated area. A second gator, however, eluded the snare for several hours and had to be dispatched, said Ms. Johnson. The animal was eight feet, nine inches long, which matched the general description of the gator seen by witnesses to the attack.

Ms. Johnson said alligator attacks are infrequent, even in areas where large numbers of the reptiles live near humans. However, the animals can lose much of their fear of humans, particularly if fed periodically.

Bowfishing is fun

Archers who get bored with the usual target practice before deer season should try bowfishing to sharpen their skills, according to a Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fisheries biologist.

Mike Ryan of Marshall said carp, gar, buffalo and bowfin are legal targets for bowfishermen in Texas, and rigging for this growing sport is not difficult or expensive.

"Modification of a hunting bow for bowfishing is a simple procedure," Ryan said. "A fishing spool or reel with about 50 yards of 60- to 80-pound line and a special fishing arrow are the necessary items."

The reel or spool is mounted on the bow with a bracket, and the line is attached to the arrowhead. When the arrow is released, the line spools off the reel just as it would on a fishing rod.

Ryan said bowfishing at night is usually the most productive method, because the fish tend to move onto shallow flats to feed. "Night bowfishing in a boat is a team effort, with one person usually operating a trolling motor and spotlight while the other shoots," Ryan said. "It's surprising to most beginning bowfishermen how difficult it can be to get within shooting range of rough fish without scaring them."

harvest in his region because weather conditions have been extremely dry through the summer. "One particular part of the region, Leon, Robertson, Burleson and Brazos Counties, is real dry, and body condition of the deer is not too good," Wallace said. "In areas which have received more rainfall, antlers and body condition are at least average."

Gulf Prairies and Marshes

This region roughly extends from the northern and western edge of the flat coastal prairies southward and eastward to the Gulf Coast. The area is characterized by spotty but fairly high deer populations along river drainages and in isolated dense stands of post oak. Biologist Bob Carroll of LaGrange said this region produced an excellent acorn crop. "Almost all the oak trees are bearing, and the deer are in good condition," Carroll said. "It looks like a good fall for deer, but hunting may be tough with so much deer forage available."

Cross Timbers and Prairies and Rolling Plains

This varied region of some 40 counties is bounded roughly on the north by Jacksboro, Abilene and Big Spring, south to San Angelo and Goldthwaite, and east to Waco and Fort Worth. Biologist Larry Holland of Brownwood said body condition and antler development are much improved in that region over last year. "It may not make for a good hunting season," he said, "but range conditions have been excellent in most of our areas this year, and fawn production and survival have been outstanding." He said the abundance of acorns and pecans for deer feed may keep the harvest down because deer won't have to move far to eat.

Holland said one of the areas with the most noticeable improvement in the deer herd is the San Angelo area, and the counties bordering Tom Green County. "Fawn production and survival have been outstanding," Holland said, "so overall deer numbers should be 'way up this fall."

Trans-Pecos

Things could hardly look rosier in the rugged Trans-Pecos region of West Texas. Biologist Bill Russ of Sanderson said the mule deer herd, which had declined to an alarming degree three to four years ago is on a vigorous rebound after two excellent fawn crops in succession. "We are seeing a lot more mule deer on our spotlight lines," Russ said, "and that includes some real trophy bucks."

Russ said rainfall in the spring and summer have made the usually arid terrain fairly lush with vegetation. "All our deer are in very good body condition," he said.

High Plains

Hunting in the Texas Panhandle, especially for deer, may be one of the state's best-kept secret. "People in other parts of Texas may not realize it, but the Panhandle has some areas of high white-tailed deer densities," said biologist David Dvorak of Canyon. "We also have a lot of mule deer, especially in the Palo Duro Canyon and Canadian River areas."

Dvorak predicts a very good hunting season for both species of deer. "Our white-tail counts indicate populations are comparable to last season, which was a good one," he said, "and the deer are really in excellent condition." He added that mule deer populations have posted slight increases during the past two years, and although this year's counts are not complete he expects the trend to continue upward.

—In Texas

matched to the number of deer living there, versus the amount of available habitat. The result is large-bodied, healthy deer, although fewer in number. Some of these deer's field-dressed weights were more than 150 pounds. Conditions in the Edwards Plateau area are exactly the opposite. The number of deer living there is tremendous, as many as 120 per square mile in the Llano Basin. These deer have been allowed to propogate well out of proportion to the amount of proper habitat and food available. The resulting malnutrition has resulted in much smaller deer; field-dressed bucks averaging 72 pounds, and field-dressed does averaging 55 pounds. Some of these Edwards plateau deer were moved to prime habitat. Within a short time, they averaged a full 32 pounds more than their former neighbors!

Many ranchers prefer to see lots of deer, thinking that large deer numbers mean prosperity in the form of greater deer lease revenue. This is a short-sighted view which could result in large scale deer die-offs due to disease, parasites, and starvation.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department experts are becoming very skilled in deer management. Their studies have shown that a properly managed deer herd can increase body weight and antler size when proper food, habitat, buck/doe ratios and controlled harvesting methods are used. The future of Texas' whitetail deer population rides on the decisions of ranchers, hunters, biologists and game management experts.

Deer on prime habitat averaged a full 32 pounds more than their neighbors.

Whitetail deer in Texas

Whitetail Lore.
By Ray Bronk
Special Correspondent

The whitewail deer population in Texas has stabilized at about 3,400,000. Although an annual harvest is permitted, with about 340,000 animals bagged each year, this census figure has remained quite steady, mainly through the management efforts of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

There are four subspecies of whitetail deer found in Texas.

The most popular of these four subspecies is the Texas whitetail, Odocoileus virginianus texanus. This subspecies is one of the largest of the southern subspecies, but it is quite smaller in body than the northern whitetail deer subspecies. The Texas whitetail is found in northwestern, western, southwestern and south Texas. It is the famous brush country whitetail deer. The antlers of this animal are wide-spreading, and this subspecies has made entry into the Boone and Crockett record books, among the top 25 largest scored typical and non-typical antlers. The former world's record whitetail deer antlers, (non-typical.) were on a deer found dead in 1892, near Brady, Texas. This record remained until about 1980, when a new unofficial record was claimed by a whitetail deer found dead near St. Louis, Missouri.

The Kansas whitetail deer O. v. macrourus, is another subspecies found in Texas. This is a large deer, with large antler formations. It is found in smaller numbers than the Texas whitetail. Kansas whitetail trophies are also included in the Boone and Crockett record books.

The Avery Island whitetail deer, O. v. mcilhennyi, is the third subspecies found in Texas. It is found in the extreme east-southeast portion of the state, in an area generally hugging the Gulf of Mexico coastline. This large bodied deer had interbred with the other subspecies found in Texas.

The last of the Texas whitetail deer subspecies is the Carmen Mountains whitetail deer, O. v. carminis. This small deer is only found in the Big Bend country of the Lone Star State, and because of terrain, has not interbred with the other subspecies. It is a smaller animal than the other Texas species. The Big Bend national park covers a large part of the Carmen Mountains whitetail deer range, and gives it a natural sort of protection, since hunting is not permitted in the park. Because its range extends on either side of the Rio Grande, some hunting is possible in Mexico.

The whitetail deer is a very adaptable creature. It co-exists with man as along as proper habitat is available. Texas has varied types of habitat. Some areas, like the Brush Country the Big Thicket and the Piney Woods areas, are well five million years ago. They evolved through the Pliocene era, about 13 million years ago, with the type of deer we recognize splitting into two separate species about one million years ago, in the Pleistocene age. The species are identified as the Whitetail Deer and the Mule Deer (Odocoileus hemionus.)

When the first settlers came over from Europe, the whitetail probably observed the landing from the edge of the native forest. The whitetail population estimates for that period (the early 1600's,) vary from 12,500,000 to 40,000,000. The lower figure is probably the more accurate.

From this high population in the 1600's, the census immediately began a decline. The early settlers depended upon the whitetail deer for food and clothing, and as the influx of settlers increased, the whitetail harvest increased. Soon, market hunters began a wholesale whitetail deer slaughter, shipping the meat and hides to the east coast for local consumption and for export to the European continent.

Some far-sighted people recognized the emerging possibility of whitetail extermination, and as early as 1646 attempted to protect the whitetail deer by naming hunting seasons. These laws had little effect, and the slaughter of the whitetail deer continued with no lack of momentum. Soon there were areas of the country where the sighting of a whitetail deer track was cause for much comment and celebration.

Finally, stiffer laws were passed, restocking programs began, habitat was restored, and the whitetail deer population began to increase. The present population of just under 13 million animals was finally reached. This population has stabilized near that level.

Texas boasts a population of about 3,400,000 whitetail deer. Of these, about 680,000 are fork-antlered bucks, about 1,870,000 are does, with antlerless fawns comprising the remaining 850,000.

This renewable resource is harvested through strict game laws, under the direction of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The 1984 harvest was about 340,000. About 515,000 hunters took part in this harvest. Although one out of ten deer are harvested by hunters, the census of 3,400,000 remains fairly stable, controlled by predation, disease, and habitat constraints.

Parks and Wildlife Department officials believe deer populations still are too high in this area.

The 1985-86 license will allow hunters to take as many as four antlerless deer, if they have the proper permits.

Antlerless harvest vital even during good years

Good range conditions in most of Texas' deer country should not deter hunters from harvesting antlerless deer during the upcoming deer season, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials believe.

Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader, said deer populations still are too high in the Edwards Plateau, South Texas and several other areas of the state. "Hunters tend to believe that taking antlerless deer is not needed or necessary during the year when the deer are so well-fed," Gore said, "but an overpopulated herd can get into real trouble when times get tougher."

The deer season is Nov. 9 - Jan. 5 in most Texas counties, and antlerless deer hunting permits will be issued in counties where deer populations are high. Gore pointed out that an extra antlerless deer tag on the 1985-86 hunting license will allow hunters to take as many as four antlerless deer during the season, provided they have access to property with an ample number of permits.

Hunters in six South Texas counties have an extra time period in which to take antlerless deer. A special antlerless-only season is Oct. 26 - Nov. 10 in Duval, Dimmit, Maverick, Webb, Zapata and Zavala Counties.

Gore said continued overpopulation of deer causes long-term damage to the habitat. During dry years this translates into smaller body sizes, poor antler development and low fawn survival. In extreme cases, it can precipitate die-offs of mature animals.

"Last hunting season hunters took more than 100,000 antlerless deer for the first time, which is good," said Gore, "but it still is well below the harvest we need to avoid future problems."

areas this fall.

"I would advise hunters that prospects for success may be much better later in the season than they will be in the first week or two," Gore said. The white-tail season is Nov. 9, 1985, through Jan. 5, 1986 in most counties. To determine information on the seasons and bag limits, hunters should obtain in the department's 1985-86 Texas Hunting Guide, available at department offices and hunting license retail outlets across the state.

The following is a wrapup of deer hunting prospects in the state's various ecological areas:

Edwards Plateau

The "Hill Country" west of Austin is number one deer producer of all the state's ecological areas, and the Llano Basin region in its center boasts some of the highest deer densities in the nation. Last year's harvest of about 163,500 whitetails, however, may not be quite matched this year because of less deer movement.

Biologist Fielding Harwell said browse species of plants are fairly abundant after recent rains, and a spotty acorn crop could contribute significantly to deer forage during the season.

"The unusual thing about this year is the high number of mature deer in the population," Harwell said. A bumper fawn crop in 1981 was the reason, he said. "I think hunters will see better than average number of bucks this year, and some of them will have pretty good racks," Harwell predicted.

Body condition of Hill Country deer will be about average, Harwell believes, which will be an improvement over 1984 when poor range conditions prevailed in most areas.

South Texas Plains

After three years of extremely dry conditions over most of South Texas, the region got relief in the form of widespread rains in early 1985. The deer responded with exceptionally high fawn production and survival, according to biologist Joe Herrera of Beeville. However, low fawn production in the past has caused overall deer numbers to remain below average in parts of South Texas.

Herrera, whose activities are mainly in the eastern portions of South Texas, said body condition of deer is fairly good even though the region is becoming drier each week. "If we don't get some rain real soon, I believe the deer will be moving around quite a bit during the hunting season," he said.

In the famed big-deer region around Webb, Dimmit and LaSalle Counties, biologist Mike Hobson said aerial surveys indicate good numbers of mature bucks, but low numbers of younger age classes. "This reflects the poor fawn production, since we have had only one good production year (1981) in the past five," he noted. Hobson said he observed a number of good bucks this year, but none of the kind he would consider to have Boone & Crockett measurements.

Hobson said he anticipated the deer will not be moving around much, especially early in the hunting season. "The spring and summer rains were not only adequate but timely, and range conditions still are pretty good," he said. "If you get a shot at a buck in South Texas this year, it will most likely be at least four and half years old and should be in good body condition with good antler development."

Pineywoods

Of all the ecological regions, the Pineywoods has made the greatest strides in the past decade in terms of deer numbers and expansion of range. Biologist Gary Spencer of Jasper said better protection, growing numbers of leasing operations, deer restocking and better deer management all have contributed to the increase. This year, Spencer believes Pineywoods hunters may even beat the record-setting harvest of last year, when more than 37,000 bucks and 10,000 antlerless deer were brought out of the woods.

"We're going to expand our antlerless permit system, both in numbers of acres and numbers of permits per acre," Spencer said. "We encourage hunters to use all their antlerless permits, and use them early."

Spencer said antlers and body condition are good except in areas where deer are overpopulated. The acorn crop is considered spotty but adequate overall, he added.

"There should be quite a few one and a half year old bucks available this year, and the earlier opening of the season may coincide with the rut," said Spencer. Otherwise, Spencer said it was too early to predict how much the deer will be moving about during the season.

Post Oak Savannah

The Post Oak Savannah is a long, narrow region stretching basically north and south between the Pineywoods on the east and the Blackland Prairie on the west. Biologist John Wallace of Tyler predicts a better than average

Deer hunting season prospects bright

Prospects for the upcoming white-tailed deer hunting season are good across most of Texas. Wildlife officials say deer are numerous, antler development is good, and habitat conditions are much better in most areas than they were last year.

During the 1984-85 season, hunters took an all-time high 373,000, white-tails, including more than 108,000 antlerless deer.

"That kind of harvest will be difficult to match," said Horace Gore, white-tailed deer program leader for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, "but I hope we can. Even with the improved range conditions most areas have more deer than they can support."

"This year also is shaping up as an excellent one for deer, with the animals in excellent body condition," Gore said, "bur favorable weather and resulting good range conditions may hold the harvest below last year's levels because the deer may not be moving around as much."

Gore noted that rainfall beginning in the winter of 1984-85 continued through the critical spring and early summer period. "Some areas started getting dry toward the end of summer, but a lot of those areas have gotten some rain in the past few weeks," Gore said. "This is putting a lot of deer food on the ground, including acorns which are going to be fairly abundant in some

Old fashioned cooking magic — and it's easy.

Chicken Fried Venison Steak

Cut venison in slices for steak. Soak in milk for 10 minutes. Season with salt and pepper, turn in flour and then dip in egg batter, and fry in shortening until nice and brown.

Smothered Venison Steak

Cut steaks from backbone or hind quarter of deer. Salt, pepper and flour the steaks, brown in hot lard or bacon drippings. Arrange in shallow baking dish, adding all drippings from frying pan and enough cream of mushroom soup to almost cover the meat. Start baking at 400 degrees F. As soon as meat starts bubbling, lower heat and bake slowly for an hour until tender. The flour and mushroom soup makes a delicious gravy.

Venison Swiss Steak

2 pounds venison steak, ½ to 1 inch thick; flour, salt and pepper; 3 tablespoons shortening; 1 small can tomato sauce; 1 small onion and 1 small green pepper, chopped.

Pound flour, salt and pepper into steak. Brown meat in shortening, add onions and green pepper. Pour tomato sauce over it and add enough water to cover. Cook slowly on top or in oven, 325 degrees F. until tender, about 1½ hours.

Venison Stew

1½ pounds of venison, cut in chunks. Season with salt and pepper, brown in cooking oil or other shortening. Add one chopped onion and a little Worchestershire sauce. Cover meat with water and simmer about two hours. Thicken gravy with flour.

Tomatoes can be added, if desired.

For variations, add potatoes, carrots and a small can of tomatoes.

Venison Stroganoff

1 pound venison steak, cut in ½ inch cubes; 4 tablespoons flour; 6 tablespoons butter; 1 envelope onion soup mix; one 7 ounce can mushrooms; 3 cups water and 1 cup buttermilk.

Flour venison; do not salt. Brown in butter. Stir in onion soup mix and mushrooms with liquid and water. Simmer one hour, covered, stir occasionally and add ½ cup hot water if necessary. Just before serving add buttermilk and heat only; do not allow to boil. Serve over rice or noodles. Serves 6.

Venison Cheeseburger Steak

2 pounds ground venison and pork; 1 pound mild, diced Cheddar cheese; 1 tablespoon chopped onion; salt and pepper.

Mix and allow to "cure" briefly in refrigerator (or form patties and freeze until ready for them). Form into patties and fry in teflon skillet on low burner, cover with lid during cooking.

Venison Sausage

To every 20 pounds of meat, 2/3 venison and 1/3 pork, add 1 cup (8 ounces) butcher salt; 1/3 cup coarse ground black pepper and 2 teaspoons saltpeter. Mix salt, pepper and saltpeter together, sprinkle over meat, grind and stuff in casings.

This sausage should be smoked for 2 or 3 days. May be frozen fresh or dried.

Meat proportion, may also be 1/2 venison and 1/2 pork.

For real dry sausage, use pure venison.

Venison Soup

Take venison bones, legs and rump bones preferred, boil in 3 quarts of water with salt added.

To this broth add 1 cup diced carrots; ½ cup celery; 1 medium onion, chopped; 1 cup diced potatoes; ¼ cup rice and 1 cup tomatoes with green chilies. Boil until vegetables are tender, then add 1 cup noodles and simmer 5 or 10 minutes longer.

Venison Chili Sausage With Beans

5 pounds venison; 5 pounds pork; 1 pound pork fat; 3 to 6 ounces chili powder, depending on taste; ½ cup salt; 2 tablespoons black pepper.

Coarsely grind meat and fat. Add seasonings and grind fine. Dissolve chili powder in 1 quart salted water and boil for a few minutes. Let cool and mix with sausage. Stuff sausage loosely. Wrap and freeze.

To serve, cook pinto beans, adding tomatoes for flavoring. One hour before serving, place ring of chili sausage on beans. When done, cut sausage in clices while in bean pot so that chili juice will flavor beans.

Venison Steaks or Chops

Take steaks or chops about ½ inch thick. Pound meat, add salt and pepper, fry in bacon grease or other shortening. Brown on both sides, then put meat in an enamel pan or glass oven ware. Pout drippings over meat.

Melt one stick of butter or margarine and add the juice of one lemon. Pout mixture over chops or steaks and put in oven for 20 or 30 minutes. Be sure and cover pan with aluminum foil or glass lid before you put it in oven. Bake at 350 degrees F.

Barbecued Venison Filet Mignon

Take the backstrap of deer and cut in 1 or 1½ inch pieces, warp with bacon slices and secure with toothpicks. Rub salt and pepper into meat. Barbecue for an hour or more, depending on your degree of doneness.

Use sauce of your choice or none at all. Good either way.

These filets may be pan broiled or oven broiled.

Venison Roast

Season a 3 or 4 pound venison roast with salt and pepper. Brown on both sides in shortening, then place roast and drippings in a roaster, add 6 ounces of beer and place in a 325 degree F. oven with cover. When half done add another 6 ounces of beer. Bake approximately 3 hours or until tender.

To serve, thicken gravy with flour, add water if necessary.

Spike bucks — inferior deer?

As the Texas sun begins to create a spectacular sunset, your eye is caught by a movement in the cedars. You identify the animal as a spike buck whitetail deer. You decide to fill one of your buck tags, and drop the whitetail with a well-placed shot.

Later, around the camphouse, your cronies kid you about not "letting the little feller grow up and grow a decent rack." This disturbs you, because you feel that spike buck harvesting will improve the quality of the animals on your lease. Many thousands of words have been written recently about "harvesting the inferior spike buck."

What is the answer to the spike buck "problem?"

First of all, there may not be a problem as far as the spike bucks on your lease are concerned. Depending on your range conditions and deer density, you may want to hunt spikes as routinely as you would hunt the other whitetails on the lease. Or, you might want to harvest each and every one on the property.

Let's pause and define the "Spike Buck." Spike bucks are male deer with 1 or 2 nonbranching, hardened antlers protruding through the skin. They are quite common throughout Texas, and prevalent in many Texas areas.

Major factors which contribute to spike buck yearlings (age 1½ years) are deer density, range conditions, and genetic background.

Under normal conditions, and with the dramatically different density and range conditions in Texas, 25-60% of the yearling bucks will be spikes. Under severe and prolonged drought conditions in one localized area, however, as many as 90% of the harvested bucks were found to be spike bucks.

When spike bucks are not yearlings, but are older bucks (older than 1½ years old,) they are inferior in body and antler size to fork-antlered bucks of the same age. These genetically inferior bucks will pass this small body size and antler size tendency to their offspring. They are "carriers" of this genetic inferiority, and will pass this inferiority when kept under the same range and density conditions. When range conditions for these spikes improved, evidence showed a corresponding improvement in their antler development.

Should spikes be culled? It depends.

The landowner who prefers quantity of deer over quality of deer, would not, and should not, cull spike bucks. Neither should hunters, who hunt in an area with high hunting pressure and who prefer quantity to quality, haphazardly harvest all spikes. (However, spike buck harvesting should always be a part of any routine hunting program and spikes should never be protected.)

On the other hand, a manager of a fenced-in deer herd, who is striving for superior quality deer, should definitely cull all spikes found in his herd. Even when drought conditions produce spikes, those spikes should not be allowed in a breeding pool where those deer are part of a management program for growing trophy bucks.

In short, spike buck extermination under any and all conditions is a lousy management technique. Where poor range and density conditions exist, genetic improvement will do nothing to correct the effects of those conditions on the bucks of the herd.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife deer management experts recommend a many-faceted approach to deer herd improvement. They recommend range quality improvement, deer herd control, culling of broodstock (including spike control,) and proper livestock stocking rates. Improvement of any of these factors by themselves will do little to improve the herd, but when optimum improvement of all these factors is gained, the deer herd will provide an economic asset for the landowner, and healthier, larger deer for the hunters.

Texas laws no longer protect the spike buck. Wherever it is possible and practical, a coordinated decision by area landowners and hunters must be made concerning spike harvest in order to provide the quantity or quality of bucks present in their hunting areas.

Wildlife officials say the turkey population is rebounding after back-to-back poor production years because of the drought.

Production this year was well above average in the entire Edwards Plateau area, a Parks and Wildlife spokesman said.

Wild turkey hunting prospects looking up

After two extremely poor nesting years, the Rio Grande turkey has rebounded with good production in 1985, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Don Wilson, upland game program leader, said hen-poult counts in the state's turkey range indicate hunters this season will see more birds than they did last year, with up to 60 percent of the population being juveniles.

"It's fortunate the state got good rains in early 1985, because we had back-to-back poor production years in 1983-84 because of the drought," Wilson said. "It started out dry in the western portion of the turkey range in 1983, and then the drought spread to the entire range in 1984, bringing the lowest production on record."

Wilson said production this year is well above average in South Texas, the Edwards Plateau and the Cross Timbers, which comprise the major portion of Rio Grande turkey range in the state. The eastern Trans-Pecos, primarily Pecos and Terrell Counties, was slightly above average, while the Oak Prairie of southeast Texas and the Panhandle had production somewhat below average.

The fall Rio Grande turkey season runs concurrently with the white-tailed deer season in most Texas counties, and this year it will be Nov. 9 - Jan 5. Hunters this year may take advantage of the new "swing" turkey tag on their hunting license. This allows a hunter to take one gobbler in the fall and another in the spring season, plus a third turkey which may be taken in either the fall or spring season.

Twenty whitetail hunting tips

Whitetail Lore.
By Ray Bronk
Special Correspondent

One of the easiest and most volunteered actions that humans enjoy, is giving advice. Just remember and heed the advice in this column, and your hunting skills will improve and you will be a more successful hunter. That's the truth!

Keep the following hints in mind while hunting. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the results.

1. Do pre-season scouting. Take some extra time to get familiar with the hunting area. Look for deer signs such as tracks, droppings, trails, feeding and bedding areas, and deer sightings. Plan your hunt using this information.

2. Hunt early. Be at your hunting stand or area before dawn. Use a flashlight sparingly, deer will be spooked by too much shining around. Most deer move from feeding areas to bedding areas in the hours just before and after dawn.

3. Hunt late. Deer move from bedding areas to feeding areas just before and just after dusk, with smart bucks waiting in the edges at dusk, and getting out to feed right at, or just after, dawn.

4. Check your gunsights. It doesn't do any good to spot a fine buck, have a good shooting opportunity, and then miss because you hadn't checked your sights. Tighten all screws and mountings, and test fire your gun just before the hunt.

5. Use binoculars. Binoculars can "see through" brush quite effectively. Use binoculars especially at dusk and dawn. Look into shaded areas. Spot the deer at a distance, and have more time to plan your shot. Don't use your scope for looking, it's dangerous. Binoculars will not accidently shoot another hunter!

6. Shoot quickly, but carefully. The first chance at your deer will usually be the easiest. Your second shot will probably be at a running target.

7. Don't over or under dress. If you are too sweaty while still-hunting you will not hunt efficiently. If you are too cold on your stand, you will have trouble keeping movements to a minimum. Layer your clothing. Take off layers when hot, put on when cold.

8. Keep your gun handy. When still-hunting or stalking, a gun slung on your shoulder is too difficult to bring into action quickly. When sitting, keep your gun where excess movement is not necessary to get into a shooting position.

9. Watch other animals. Cattle sometimes stare at deer. Deer sometimes look intently at other deer out of your sight. They may be watching a big buck lurking in the brush.

10. Avoid body scents. Minimize your odors. Don't use smelly soap, aftershave, or cologne before the hunt. Don't wear soiled and smelly clothing or clothing smelling of soap.

11. Avoid shining. Stay in shadows when possible. Keep glare to a minimum. Contact lenses are preferred to shiny glasses. Reflections from thermos bottles, soft drink bottles, etc., will alert the deer.

13. Be in good condition. Deer hunting sometimes requires good stamina for walking or climbing Your reactions are better if your body is in good shape. A hung-over hunter is not alert physically or mentally, and could be a danger to other hunters and himself. Don't drink while hunting.

14. Keep shooting as long as a killing shot is possible. Too many "mortally wounded" deer ran off and were lost because the hunter "didn't want to ruin the meat." Nothing ruins meat like seeing your "dead" trophy hoofing it out of sight, to survive the scare, or to die later from a bad hit.

15. Stay alert. Investigate all movements. Look behind you.

16. Watch the wind. Have alternate hunting spots. If the wind is blowing your scent toward where you expect deer to travel, move to a position downwind, or to another spot with a more favorable wind. Deer have very sensitive noses, and constantly sample the wind for scent.

17. Shoot from a rest. Accuracy is poor when shooting off-hand. Always try to have a gun rest when shooting. This is especially important when making a long shot.

18. Watch does. They will sometimes indicate by their actions that bucks are following them, especially during the rut. Be ready to shoot, you may have to make a quick shot.

19. When the deer is down, make sure it is dead. Touch its eye with a stick. If it blinks, it isn't dead. Don't get hurt by a panicky deer. Give it a killing shot.

20. Enjoy the outdoors. Take notice of all the beauty around you. This is what hunting is all about. This is as important as the kill.

Hunting whitetails from deer stands

Tree stands and elevated blinds get body scent up off the ground and carry it above the heads of game passing downwind.

During the past 30 minutes, since dawn, you have spotted many deer. Most were does and yearlings, but a few small bucks also passed your way. Some passed within 10 feet of you. None of them saw you. How is this possible?

Easy. You're probably hunting from an elevated deer stand or a blind. Elevated tree stands have revolutionized the sport of bow and gun hunting, allowing archers and shooters to see more deer at closer (and longer) range, without being seen, and enabling the hunter to be more selective about which deer to harvest. A recent survey showed that 61% of gun hunters, and 92% of bow hunters used elevated stands.

The words "blinds" and "stands" are nearly synonymous. If one wished to quibble, blinds suggest an attempt to hide, and a location at ground level. Stands are usually elevated in order to increase or improve the viewing area, and they are usually not camouflaged.

Whitetail deer use their excellent sense of small, their good eyesight for movement, and their good sense of hearing to confound the deer watcher and hunter. Well-planned and placed blinds and tree stands can do much to equalize the sight/smell/hearing advantage enjoyed by most game animals.

Blinds and stands should be located in areas where game has been observed traveling to and from these trails, and some attempt should be made to conceal them with brush, grass, or other natural cover, or man-made cover appropriate to the surroundings.

Some natural materials make excellent blinds. Logs, branches, tree limbs, grass, reeds, large rocks, hay bales or stacks, and man-made materials such as oil drums, lumber, plywood, farm machinery, etc., has been used to construct excellent blinds. The builder must make certain that the blind will hide any movement inside the blinds.

Ground blinds are best used where thick tree growth would prevent good viewing from an elevated stand or where the lack of, or smallness of, trees prevents the building of an elevated stand. Ground blinds are better for viewing under trees and brush than are elevated stands.

In the past decade, more and more companies are manufacturing portable tree stands. These are the stands which can be carried to a chosen hunting area and used to climb a chosen tree, or can be hauled up to a position in a tree from which to hunt. They can be fastened securely at most any point on the tree which provides the best view. Some of these "self-climbing" stands incorporate a seat arrangement which can make waiting quite comfortable.

Tree stands and elevated blinds get body scent up off the ground, and help to carry it above the heads of the game passing downwind. Elevated stands which are well placed can provide long range viewing and shooting possibilities, and more game sightings. Game is not as aware of stands located above them, although the whitetail will look up. Elevated stands are more forgiving of hunter noise, since the game sighted will be at greater average ranges than from most ground blinds.

While in elevated stands, safety is imperative. A safety belt will help in keeping a hunter safely secure if he should happen to doze off or slip. Ladders, steps, braces, rails, and gunrests must be kept in a state of good repair. Firearms should be unloaded, and arrows should be cased while climbing up to the stand. Guns and bows should be hauled up by rope after the hunter is safely in the stand.

Tailor your blind or stand to the requirements of the particular hunting area. By doing so, you will increase your hunting and game watching pleasures, increase the amount of game spotted, make your waiting more comfortable, and increase the probability of a successful hunt.

What is the best stand for your area? You must study the area, consider the advantages and disadvantages of a blind or stand and make your own decision. All ground blinds might be preferable, or all elevated blinds, but a mixture of both is more likely.

Tax rollback could be 'devastating'

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

"After looking at the estimates of what a possible tax rollback could do to local funding, I believe it could be devastating to the district," school superintendent Ted Dockery said Wednesday.

"It might not be the first year, but the long-term affect of what it would do to the schools and children could certainly be harmful.

"There is no way we can estimate how many dollars would be involved if the rollback effort is successful," Dockery said. "But based on figures from last year, had a rollback effort then been successful, Bandera School District would be facing an operating budget of about a half million dollars less than what we now have to work with," he said.

"There are no frills in the budget now," he said. "We're striving to provide a quality education for all students in the district.

"People need to think before they persue cutting the local revenue to the district. The trustees and my staff feel we approved a budget with no frills, one that is adequate to maintain the kind of schools the district patrons want," he said.

"Because of recent changes in education legislation in the state, the burden for maintaining quality education has been shifted to the local district. I just hope people will try and understand the facts and information before they do something that will harm the students in Bandera Schools."

Organizers of an effort to limit the amount of property tax the school board can raise next year said last week they have about half the required signatures to force a district-wide vote on the issue.

The so-called rollback election would actually limit the size of next year's school budget instead of rolling back this year's tax.

"I just hope people will try to understand the facts before they do something that will harm the students." — Ted Dockery

Doyle Ely of Pipe Creek is spearheading the rollback drive.

"The local share of tax revenue increases each year as the state shifts the burden back on the local taxpayers," Dockery said.

"To have to cut the district's budget by half-a-million dollars would mean to take about one-third of our operating funds away," he explained.

"We had to request and received a waiver from the Texas Education Agency on the new rule this year mandating a 22-to-1 teacher pupil ratio. We can't do that again next year," he said.

"My conservative estimate would be that we will have to increase the faculty at the elementary school by at least four or five additional teachers next year in order to comply with the state regulation. The enrollment has increased in all three schools and additional teachers will be needed to handle that increase," he continued.

He said the only things that could be cut from the school's budget would be some of the extracurricular activities not included in state regulations.

(See DOCKERY Page 4A.)

Sports, band, drama face cuts, CBS says

Extracurricular activities such as athletics, literary competition, band and drama would be the most likely victims if the Bandera School District voters approve a tax rollback, a spokeswoman for the Citizens for Better Schools said this week.

School officials have declined to specify at this point which programs would be cut if voters approve a rollback of school taxes, but Lissie Schneider of the Citizens for Better Schools says a rollback if successful at the polls, would seriously jeopardize the quality of education in the Bandera Independent School District.

She urged voters to consider the consequences before signing the petition now being circulated that would call an election on the matter.

"Proponents of the tax rollback (campaign) should be aware that BISD is a no-frills school system," Mrs. Schneider said. "Any cut in tax revenues would result in corresponding cuts in the budget, but the (school) board would be limited to (cutting) items that are not required by the state."

Among those programs which are not required by the state, she points out, are athletics, band, drama and literary competition. She called these extracurricular events "the most vulnerable" to cuts along with the school's program for gifted and talented students and other electives.

Special education and half-day of kindergeten are also mandated by the state and would not be affected by a rollback.

She said the school is required by recent education reform legislation (House Bill 72) to increase certain programs, including computer literacy, early childhood programs, physical education for elementary students, and teacher salary increases.

"BISD is a victim of the new state funding laws," Mrs. Schneider said. "While we are required to comply with HB 72's increased curriculum demands, we have not been granted adequate state monies to fund these programs.

"The money to fill in the gaps has to come from somewhere, so the school board has no alternative other than raising taxes," she said.

Citizens for Better Schools is an organization formed during the second campaign to get voter approval of bonds to finance the construction of a new elementary school, and it has stayed active to foster improvement in the BISD.

The so-called rollback is actually a limitation on spending in next year's budget. The school district's current budget and tax rate would not be affected, but a successful rollback election would prohibit the board next year from increasing the effective tax rate by more than 8 percent.

Leaders of the rollback drive say they have half the number of signatures required to call an election on the matter.

Hunters do well in the field and provide good weekend for business

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff Writer

Despite the warm weather, deer hunters in Bandera County did comparatively well on the opening weekend of the season, and they kept local businesses and the game warden busy.

"Overall, the warm weather kept the deer from coming out, and the hunters had a light kill," said Bandera County game warden Carlton Becker.

"I filed 17 violations, including two serious trespassing charges," Becker said. He said charges were filed against James D. Hand for killing an axis deer on the Ferguson Ranch, and he paid a $440 fine for trespassing and $6,000 in restitution to the landowner, the game warden said.

Area business operators and other residents reported a large number of visitors in the area, and despite their limited sucess — or perhaps because of it — they also kept cash registers busy in local businesses.

The revelers in the county caused few problems for law enforcement officers. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said there were no more incidents over the weekend than occur on a normal weekend.

Special events for hunters in Bandera, Medina and Lakehills were all reported to be successful. The Hunters Barbecue of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce drew about as many diners as last year, according to Judy Dunn, chamber secretary. "We sold approximately 1,250 plates of barbecue with all the trimmings," said Dunn.

Hunters were also treated to barbecues in Medina and Lakehills and Medina High School's junior class hosted a hunters breakfast.

Business throughout the county was boosted by the visiting hunters as they spent their off hunting hours enjoying food and entertainment.

"We had a tremendous amount of deposits made from local businesses," said Ken Finley of the First National Bank. "And all of the deposits were directly because of the hunters. It was an extremely successful weekend," said Finley, who is also president of the chamber.

Cal Chapman, owner of The Cabaret, was "very excited" over the large crowds in his place this weekend. "We had a crowd of 750 Friday night and 920 on Saturday. It was a terrific weekend."

But even with all the excitement and business, no major accidents or traffic violations occurred. "It was a slow weekend — real quiet," said Anna Faye Bausch, EMS Secretary.

Ernest Lerma, Medina County game warden, said more deer were killed south of Medina Lake on the opening day than on the first day of last year. He predicts hunters will have good luck throughout the season in that area.

"The deer are in much better shape this year," Lerma states, "due to more browsing food." The wet spring and summer has caused the food supply to greatly increase over last hunting season."

Council passes city's own law prohibiting discharge of firearms

By Nick Johnson
Editor

The Bandera City Council Monday passed an ordinance outlawing the discharge of firearms in the city so that cases under the ordinance may be prosecuted in municipal court.

The ordinance passed by the council is the same as existing state law, according to city attorney Terry Mason, and the practice of shooting firearms inside the city limits of Bandera has been illegal since the town became incorporated.

But Police Chief Walter Welch asked the council to pass an ordinance on the same subject so that he may press charges in municipal court. Mayor Bob Cowan explained that city officials can be more certain that violators will be punished if they are tried in municipal court instead of county court or justice courts.

The ordinance against the discharge of firearms was suggested last month in a form that included pellet guns among the weapons that are not permitted to be fired inside the city limits.

Councilman Raymond Adamietz objected to the inclusion of pellet guns among the prohibited weapons and asked that the ordinance be re-drawn to eliminate pellet guns.

Council member Joe Fox and Gilbert Scheele appeared ready to argue that citizens be allowed to fire rifles inside the city limits until they were informed that the discharge of rifles would be unlawful whether or not the council acted on it.

Mason also assured the council that the ordinance as drafted would permit a resident to shoot an obviously rabid dog or skunk in their backyard under the clause in the ordinance that permits the discharge of a firearm in self defense or to defend one's prop-

Kerrville nurse credited with saving Medina child

An unidentified Kerrville nurse was credited with saving the life of a one-year-old toddler from Medina in a Kerrville department store last week.

Mandy Edge, of Medina was in the K-Mart Store in Oak Hills Mall on Nov. 6 with her mother, Kathy Edge, waiting for a prescription to be filled when she suddenly stopped breathing, the child's mother told the Bulletin.

An off duty nurse, believed to be from the U.S. Veterans Hospital, administered CPR to the child until the Kerr County EMS arrived and rushed the child to the Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital. The child's mother said doctors in the emergency room told her the child probably would not have lived had it not been for the quick action on the nurse's part.

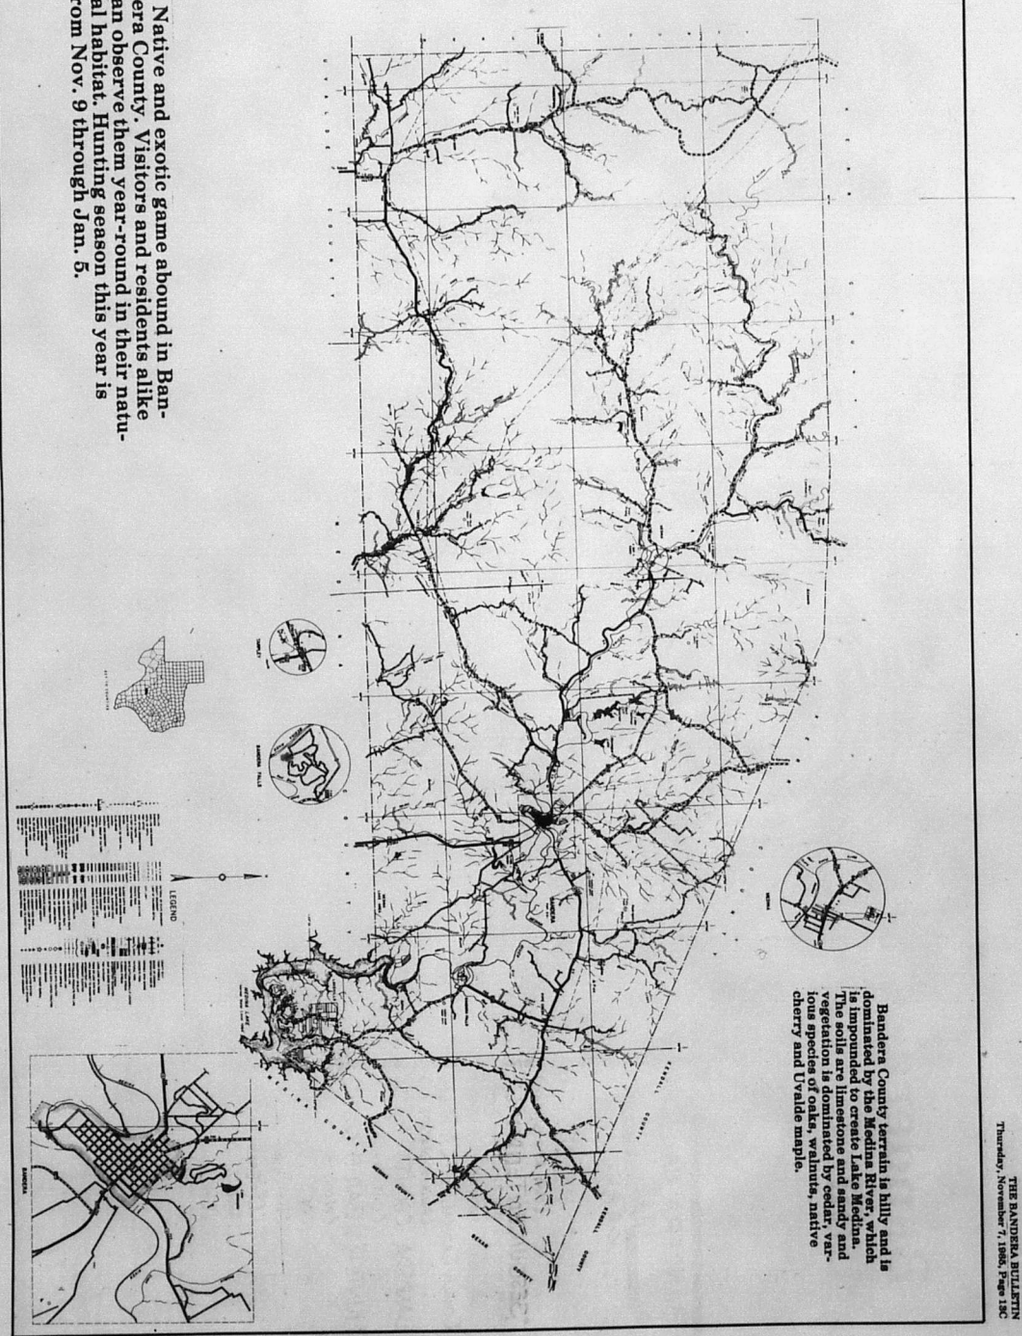

Edge said she had taken Mandy to the doctor earlier that morning, and the child had been given a shot and treated for an ear infection.

"The doctor in the emergency room said her temperature must have shot up suddenly, and that caused her to stop breathing," the mother said.

"In the excitement we failed to get the name of the nurse that saved our baby's life, and we would like to personally thank her. We're so grateful to her, words just can't express how we feel," the young mother said.

Mandy, who suffers from asthma, was released after being treated in the emergency room. She is the daughter of Mike and Kathy Edge of Medina.

Bandera County.

Bandera County terrain is hilly and is dominated by the Medina River, which is impounded to create Lake Medina. The soils are limestone and sandy and vegetation is dominated by cedar, various species of oaks, walnuts, native cherry and Uvalde maple.

Native and exotic game abound in Bandera County. Visitors and residents alike can observe them year-round in their natural habitat. Hunting season this year is from Nov. 9 through Jan. 5.

By Tom Denyer

Due to a death in the family, I found myself in Fort Worth last weekend, and missed the start of deer season.

Coming back Saturday afternoon and evening, however, I did notice one thing. Coming down off the Llano Estacado and easing into the Hill Country, passing through Burnet and Marble Falls, Johnson City and Fredericksburg, Comfort and Center Point, a traveler — admittedly just passing through — had a hard time telling whether or not deer season was in progress.

An overhead conversation among some young locals conversing through truck windows in a Comfort gas station was the only sign.

"Where you been?"

"Aw, I was out hunting."

With excitement: "Get anything?"

The typically sophisticated, jaded Hill Country response: "Saw four bucks. Didn't like their looks."

Only rolling into Bandera could the traveler tell anything special was happening. As you know, the town was, well, busy.

Anyway, observations aside and back to Fort Worth and the point of this column, there is an exhibit of photographs at the Amon Carter Museum. The exhibit is called "In the American West," and it is well worth seeing, even through it ends, unfortunately, this weekend.

Richard Avedon is perhaps the country's leading portrait photographer. He is known for his portraits of the wealthy, powerful, and famous.

Back in 1979, the folks at Amon Carter asked him to leave the depressing confines of New York, London, and Paris, and go West. For six straight summers, he found everyday people in places like Texas, New Mexico, Wyoming, and Montana.

He asked some 752 Westerners to pose against a sheet of white paper. One assistant shaded the lens, another loaded the film, and Avedon pulled the trigger.

Those photographed included waitreses; ranch and rodeo and slaughterhouse hands; gypsum, copper, uranium and coal miners; oil field workers; in short, the kind of people who do the work upon which the rest of the country depends.

There are also some exceptionally unique individuals, like the three Johnson sisters of Wild Horse, Colo., the co-presidents of the Dolly Parton Fan Club. There are the hard living losers: the interstate highway drifters, jail prisoners, and mental patients. There are the teenagers, whose portraits tell you they are already adults, and will wait in no lines for Eastern college scholarships.

The images created cooperatively by the subjects and photographers are, of course, open to interpretation. When I toured the exhibit, I overheard several viewers who could not absorb those images — they are that powerful — and could only talk about whether or not they had traveled through the places where the pictures were taken.

As for me, the dignity these Westerners displayed in spite of their circumstances reminded me of how proud we should be for sharing a part of the world with them.

Flood of applicants due for local water projects

Voters approved the Texas Water Plan in last week's election, and a West Texas state senator now expects a flashflood of applicants applying for a piece of the $1.43 billion water package.

Another state senator calls it "pork barrel heaven for the water hustlers."

Under its two parts, the State will sell $980 million in bonds to raise money for reservoirs, treatment plants and flood control projects and $250 million to back water bonds sold by local governments.

Lubbock State Sen. John Montford, one of the bill's authors, said several projects now on the drawing boards will qualify for funding and that local governments in need of a water project should get in line as early as possible.

He was rebutted by Corpus Christi state Sen. Carlos Truman, who apposed the plan for its standpoint on protection of bays and estuaries, warned it could lead to open season for developers who make money by pushing major water projects.

Anti-Crime Issues

Two anti-crime amendments also passed and two officials who will meet each other on the campaign trail next year agreed one is a positive step to end prison violence.

Now Texas will be able to transfer troublesome inmates to prisons in other states and break up the prison gangs which contribute to inmate violence. Both Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox and his announced opponent, state Sen. Buster Brown nod their heads on that one.

Brown also sponsored the second proposition which he says will prevent appeals courts from overturning convictions because of minor flaws and typographical errors in indictments.

Also last week, Mattox targeted dishonest solar energy salesmen and issued guidelines for local governments giving rebates to customers who buy such equipment.

Bankruptcy Averted

The state's unemployment trust fund narrowly avoided bankruptcy last week by a small balance, but officials warn the fund may nudge even closer to insolvency by January 1.

They also predict deficits will be insurred the first four months of 1986, which, is not made up by November, will create a need for more than $660 million in employer taxes.

One or two major layoffs could affect the trust fund severely, according to one official.

In recent weeks, the Texas unemployment rate went from around 7 percent to 8.1 percent.

Ellie Rucker is a columnist for the Austin American-Statesman with a large following in the Capital City. Her stock-in-trade is answering questions of readers—almost any question.

A reader wrote in recently to ask Ellie where to take her northern parents to experience real country music.

As I said, Ellie answers almost any question, and she answered this one by listing a couple of Austin's popular kicker spots.

That evoked a some mail, the writers arguing with Miss Ellie's choices. Seems she had recommended a place that is half disco.

"Send Jana Deming's parents to the Broken Spoke," one reader wrote, extolling the particular virtues of that traditional spot. And the bartender of another spot penned a letter recommending his place.

But two of Ellie's letter-writing readers had the best recommendations of all, in our view.

"Two readers said Jana Deming's parents should go to Bandera for the weekend," Ellie wrote.

They may have been here this weekend. If they were, I missed them in the crowd.

Businessmen were delighted with the numbers and the demeanor of our hunting visitors this weekend.

Part of the reason for both, I am certain, is the remarkable hospitality the communities of Bandera County extend to their annual fall guests.

And what works in the fall may be equally effective in the spring.

Calendars have a way of making us sit up and take notice. Mine just jumped up and told me I have five weeks left until Christmas.

Other things should have told me that before now. The crisp air in the mornings, the leaves turning on the trees, the Halloween trick or treaters, the Thanksgiving decorations

Of course, when my youngest child got married in August and moved to San Antonio, I lost my biggest reminder. This time of year she would normally have told me at least once a day what she just had to have under the tree come Christmas morning.

With a husband, apartment, new kitten, in-laws, college, and a part-time job, she fell down on the job. Or maybe she's just maturing!

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce hasn't neglected their yule plans. They're in full swing organizing the biggest Shoppers Jubilee ever planned for Bandera.

They will be handing out prizes for the businesses that do the best job of decorating. They're encouraging all the merchants to have open house on the night of the jubilee, Dec. 6, and many stores will be serving refreshments to shoppers that stop in to browse.

Merchants in Bandera will be offering special discounts and sale prices the night of the jubilee. All they ask is that you come in, see what they have, and give them an opportunity to serve you.

Many of the stores in Bandera have unique Christmas items and gifts. You can find things that represent Bandera, that can't be found anywhere else. Coming from the Cowboy Capital makes a gift from Bandera special to those out of town relatives and friends.

Mark your calendar for Dec. 6 and plan to come for the parade and carolers on the courthouse lawn. Then visit the stores.

You just might find the perfect gift for that someone special on your list.

Support Ely

Dear Editor:

Doyle Ely of Pipe Creek deserves much credit for the publication of his "Freedom Newsletter" and in particular, his stance on taxation. His efforts to force a rollback election on the school tax issue should gleen considerable support.

The country seems to have a paucity of people of Ely's caliber and fortitude. Indeed, the number grows smaller by the year. Few citizens are willing to go to the trouble and personal sacrifice required sheep and not enough bucks!

Support Ely or publish your own newsletter. The national media propaganda machine needs a balance at the local level.

Dear Editor:

This is an open letter to all Bandera Countians.

Next Thursday, Nov. 21, the American Cancer Society will sponsor our annual Great American Smoke-Out. The local unit invites all of your to join in this celebration. Young people can participate through the school. Both Bandera and Medina schools will sponsor programs.

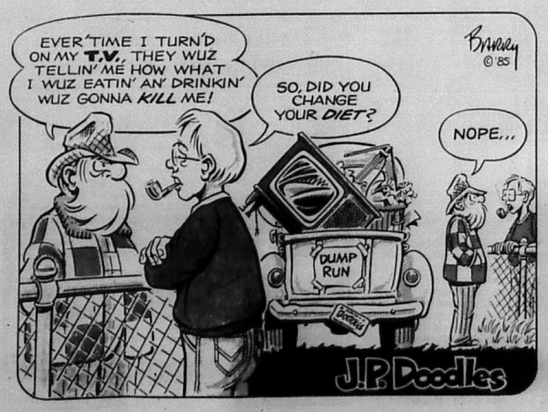

The Bandera County Unit, together with Boyles Market and Super S Foods, will help you to go "cold turkey." Smokers, deposit your cigarettes with your name and address in the containers located in these stores on that day and pledge to give up smoking for a day. At 7 p.m. there will be a drawing at each store for a cold turkey. The person need not be present to win; but must not have smoked all day.

Try it, you might find you can quit for good! Remember, Thursday, Nov. 21 is the day!

Vet Day parade shared spotlight on Hunters' Holiday

The Hunters Holiday opened Nov. 11, 1960, with a noon Veteran's Day Parade down Main Street followed by a sausage barbecue at the American Legion Hall.

The Bandera's Chamber of Commerce set up the Hunter's booth and opened on Friday and Saturday for hunters looking for leases and those wishing to lease land to hunters.

Two evening dances were held, one at the Legion Hall and one at The Cabaret.

The Chamber of Commerce started the Saturday holiday with a turkey shoot at noon followed by a big parade on Main Street. In Medina residents welcomed the hunters to a pancake supper at the high school cafeteria. Another barbecue dinner was held in Bandera at the Methodist Church.

The St. Joseph's Mustangs won their sixth game of the season with a score of 16 to Boerne's 12. The Bandera Bulldogs slayed the Southwest Dragons, 27-0. The Bulldogs had a 2-1 district record.

Durwald Mayfield was painfully but not seriously injured when trampled by a bull on the Montague Ranch where he was employed.

A bon voyage party was given in honor of Mrs. J. C. Short who was preparing to leave to a six-month stay in Italy with her daughter Virginia.

A homecoming reception at the Medina School for the classes of 1941 and 1951 drew one former student from the 1951 class and nine from the 1941 class.

erty or another person.

The ordinance also exempts law enforcement officers acting in their official capacity and those who obtain a permit from the council to discharge live ammunition or blanks as part of a public show or display or a contest.

The ordinance passed unanimously.

The council also adopted the revised Standard Building Code of 1985 as the city's code and adopted the language of nine other standard codes as the city's guidelines.

Those adopted apply to plumbing, housing, gas, fire prevention, excavation and grading, elimination or repair of unsafe buildings, swimming pools, and mechanical matters.

Cindy Fritsche wins leadership honor

Sophomore Cindy Fritsche has been selected ambassador to the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation Leadership Seminar to be held for sophomores from all over Texas in the spring, principal Richard Delamain said this week.

She was selected by a committee on her leadership ability, sensitivity to others, and her desire to communicate her knowledge to her peers. The emphasis is on personal incentive and leadership potential.

During the HOBY state seminar, two participants will be chosen to attend the HOBY International Leadership Seminar in Indianapolis in August.

All sophomores were eligible for the selection. In order to be considered by the local selection committee, the students had to write three essays of fewer than 75 words on how they had demonstrated leadership ability, how they expressed sensitivity and concern for others, and their desire to learn and share their knowledge with others.

Fritsche is captain of the junior varsity cheerleaders, active in her church youth organization, sophomore class president, active on the student council and athletics.

The Hugh O'Brian foundation works to bring high school sophomores and distinguished business and government leaders together to interact and explore the American economic incentive system.

Sophomores are chosen for two reasons; the foundation says. They are at a critical age for focusing on future goals and they have the "ripple effect" by sharing their experience with friends in their remaining high school years.

—Dockery—

Major cuts would have to be made in supplies and equipment, he indicated.

At the school board meeting Tuesday night assistant superintendent Gus Pfeiffer presented the first Annual Performance Report to the trustees. The report is required of all school districts by the education reform (House Bill 72) legislation. Pfeiffer said he started compiling the 60-page report last spring.

Teacher salaries ranged from $11,910 to $26,824 with an average salary of $17,950 for the 1983-84 school year. In 1984-85 school year salaries averaged $20,995.

All salary increases last year were mandatory under the new legislation, Pfeiffer said.

"There is definitely a teacher shortage," Dockery told the trustees. "Many districts are still looking for teachers." Although Bandera pays teachers above the minimum set by the state, it is becoming harder to compete with larger districts in the area which have higher salaries.

The purpose of the legislation requiring all districts to publish the Annual Performance Report is for the community served by the districts to have a comprehensive report of the schools performance during the past year.

It is mandatory that the school district have two copies of the report available in each principal's office, the administrative offices, the school library and one be given to the local newspaper, Pfeiffer said. The copies are available for patrons to review.

The report covers everything the district does including student performance, programs offered, staff quality, facility adequacy, financial condition, and even the impact of 1984 reform legislation and curriculum requirements.

Two copies of the report will be forwarded to the Texas Education Education Agency in Austin in compliance with House Bill 72.

The trustees listened to an update report on the Alkek Elementary School from Jim Pfuger, the architect on the construction project. He presented color charts from flooring and paint and gave recommendations on where they should be utilized. The board approved his recommendations and went with the red, white, and blue color scheme recommended for the school.

Smokers in Bandera to go cold turkey, literally

A pair of smokers will literally be awarded a cold turkey on Nov. 21, the American Cancer Society's "Cold Turkey Day" during which smokers are being urged to quit smoking for a day.

Smokers who "take the pledge" in Bandera will be eligible for a drawing to win a cold turkey from Boyles Food Store and Super S Foods, the Bandera Chapter of the ACS said this week.

"A box will be set up in Boyles grocery and Super S from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. for every smoker to drop in a pack of cigarettes with their name and phone number," explained the ACS's Emogene Pawvlik.

"At the end of the day a drawing will be held at both stores for a tree turkey," she said. She said winners must quit smoking for the day, but that will be a matter of honor. "The winners must be honest and not smoke all day," Pawvlik said.

She also said the local ACS chapter will not meet in December and its January meeting has been changed to Jan. 8.

Medina Lake VFD requests closing of road in Lakehills

By Renae Bundy
Staff Writer

In order to build a 90-foot building for the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department, W. C. Mooney spoke before the Commissioner's Court Tuesday. "We would like to built a fire department that will hold 6 fire trucks, putting us in modern times," said Mooney.

To do this, Mooney asked the court's approval to close 5th Street, which connects O Street and Park Road 37, adding 218 feet to the 100 feet already acquired by the MLVFD. The request was approved with the stipulation that the original owner of the road agrees to the request.

"It is a public road now, however, as soon as it is closed, it will become private and will belong to the original owner, so we need the owner's permission," said County Judge Tom Curbo.

Discussion of county roads was moved to a special meeting for Monday, Nov. 18. "We are trying to fix up our roads and to get a mechanic we can hire to come out and fix our county vehicles when we need it," said Jimmy Russell, county commissioner for Bandera.

Raymond (Spot) Wright, County inspector, recommended approval for the construction of the roads in the following areas:

Magic Cliff subdivision, Lakewood Estates and Ranger Ranch. Also approved was the re-subdivision of River Oaks Ranch, making three lots out of it's original two.

The extensive work done on Mansfield Park has attracted more tourists, according to Ken Knaus, park manager. "We have more campers and visitors, and as soon as we fix up a few minor things, like blading the roads and fixing up the RV park, we will get even more," said Knaus. "We're even having a square dance this Saturday night."

Deputy James MacMillan gave a monthly report from the sheriff's office, stating a collection of $430 for civil papers served. "We could probably make more money if we collected fees for bond approval," says MacMillan. "Almost all the other counties assess bond approval and acceptance fees except us, and it would be a nice way to get extra money." The court will hear more on such fees at the next meeting when MacMillan can get more information.

John Phillips and W. J. Freeman, operators of the county dump site at Medina and transfer station at Bandera, reported $353.00 collected for six working days worth fees collected for dump use.

Extension service plans to push food, fitness

For a second year the U.S. Department of Agriculture will sponsor a "Food and Fitness" campaign which extends clear into the heart of Texas.

Agriculture Secretary John Block announced the theme of the 1986 campaign as "Food and Fitness: An Every Day Event," before a USDA and Food and Drug Administration conference in New York City, Nov. 1

In Texas, the Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service has the leadership role and responsiblity for providing the public with reliable information about the total food system — production, consumption, nutrition and exercise — and their affects on health and well-being.

"Food and Fitness educational activities are well under way in Texas," says Extension Service nutritionist Dr. Alice Hunt. "Twenty-five county home economists have been trained to teach a special "Fit for Life" program in their counties, and more are being trained this year."

Another 40 Texas counties have already participated in some phase of the program, and it is expected to reach all 254 counties by the end of 1986, says Hunt.

The "Fit for Life" program combines nutrition education with physical fitness activities for better health, explains the nutritionist. It emphasizes how to eat for lifetime weight control, rather than how to stop eating to temporarily lose weight. The program also teaches activities and exercises that fit into everyday family life.

Farm-city partnership special week's theme

Farm-City Week, Nov. 22-28, focuses on the teamwork of farm and city people as partners in growing, processing, marketing and consuming food and fiber.

"In Texas, movement of food and fiber from the farm or ranch to the supermarket and family table provides jobs and income for almost a fourth of the working force," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System.

"One out of every 35 Texans is a farmer or rancher, and around 25 percent of the state's retail trade business is directly associated with agricultural production and selling of food and fiber products," says Anderson.

Many businesses, financial institutions and individuals are involved in providing supplies, credit and services to farmers and ranchers and in processing and marketing agricultural commodities. Nationally, one out of every five jobs in private enterprises is tied to agriculture.

With its $9.7 billion in cash receipts from agricultural commodities in 1984, Texas moved up in rank to second place behind California and ahead of Iowa. Texas, however, is traditionally number one in the sales of cattle and calves, cotton, grain sorghum, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cabbage and spinach.

Total farm assets in Texas are estimated at $110 billion. With 185,000 farms in Texas, assets average nearly $600,000 dollars per farm. Many commercial size, full-time operators have far more than a million dollars invested in their farm or ranch businesses.

"Producing an abundance of high quality food and fiber is inherent to American agriculture. Americans spend far less of their take-home pay on food than people in other countries of the world," Anderson points out. "Today that averages about 16 cents of every dollar of disposable income, with 4 cents of that spent on food eaten outside the home.

"Together, farm and city people make the best food and fiber team in the world," he believes. "This gives a country the capacity to feed its own people and to export for economic gain as well as for humanitarian purposes."

In the U.S. about one person in every 40 lives on a farm or ranch. Each farm worker now supplies enough food and fiber for 80 people, 20 of which live abroad. The proportion of U.S. residents living on farms has fallen from 30.1 percent in 1920 to 2.5 percent today.

Burglary suspect arrested here

An unidentified burglary suspect remains in jail in lieu of $10,000 bond on burglary charges Tuesday evening. The case is under investigation Chief Deputy Ken Mingo told the Bulletin Wednesday morning.

The arrest was made after deputies Jimmy DeLesdernier and Bob Hines recovered a large quantity of merchandise believed to tie in with several area burglaries. The case will be going to the grand jury Mingo said.

The residence of David Avui off Highway 46 was broken into on Nov. 7. Mingo said he investigated the burglary and a lot of damage was done to the home as the intruder first tried to enter through a back door and then busted a window to gain entry.

A gun, television set, VCR, microwave oven, projector and other items were missing valued at $3,575.

Three men were arrested over the weekend in separate driving while intoxicated incidents by Department of Public Safety trooper Dan Butts.

Lewis Edward Lentz, 64, of San Antonio; Ollie Wilford Carroll, 18, of Atascosa; and Maurice Allen Ogden Jr., 33, of Center Point were all charged with DWI and magistrate Bonnie Towers set bonds of $800 for each. All three were released after posting bond.

City police officer Joe Rodriguez arrested Peter Holt, 34, of San Antonio Saturday for DWI and possession of narcotics paraphernalia. Judge Towers set bond at $1,000 for DWI and assessed a $125 fine on the possession charge. He was released the following day.

Trey Lynn Thomas, 27, of Boerne was arrested Sunday by city officer Michael Erdrick for unauthorized carrying of a weapon. He was released the same day after posting an $800 bond set by Judge Towers.

Billie Joe Smith, 51, of San Antonio pleaded not guilty to charges of public intoxication and disorderly conduct after being arrested Monday by city officer Rodriguez. Judge Towers set bond at $500 on each charge.

Chief Deputy Mingo said Smith also had to post a $3,000 bond on a warrant out of Houston for failure to appear on a DWI charge there.

Tammy Gail Ross, 22, of Center Point was arrested Friday for possession of a controlled substance and public intoxication by Deputies Tim Landrum and Dan Jackson.

Judge Towers set bonds of $1,000 on the possession charge and $300 for public intoxication. She was released later the same day after posting bond.

Trooper Dan Butts discovered a door open on a mobile home owned by Leonard Hohenberger on Nov. 12. Investigating officer Jimmy DeLesdernier said an afghan blanket missing from the trailer was found in the possession of four Mexican nationals he arrested Tuesday.

DeLesdernier said the four men were turned over to the Border Patrol Wednesday.

Fruit, vegetables to be issued

The Community Council of South Central Texas will be issuing Grapefruit and vegetables to income eligible households on Tuesday, Nov. 19, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the First Baptist Church in Bandera.

All recipients will be required to complete an application in order to determine eligibility and must bring proof of identification and proof of income. Persons receiving other government surplus commodities will "probably qualify," said Comellia G. Rue, outreach worker.

'Day off' planned

The Acteens and Baptist women of First Baptist Church of Bandera are sponsoring a Saturday Mothers' Day Out on Dec. 7 and 14 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

This will give mothers an opportunity to go Christmas shopping or simply take the day off. The children eligible are 3 months to 6 years of age.

Call 796-4528 or 796-4171 to place your reservation and for information. There will also be registration on Nov. 10 and Nov. 17 after the morning worship.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

A new sub-committee is at work within the Senior Advisory Committee of Alamo Area Council of Governments to elect, on a non-partisan basis, a representative from a four county district, including Bandera, to be a part of the so-called "Silver Haired Legislature."

Bandera County is represented on the sub-committee by Bill Hathaway.

The Silver-Haired Legislature will be composed of representatives 60 years of age and older elected by senior citizens. It will meet for the first time in Texas at the legislative chambers in Austin' next fall to recommend proposed legislation concerning the needs of older Texans. It's recommendations will by law be considered at the next regular session of the legislature.

Texas will be the 24th state to have a Silver Haired Legislature. The process of selecting one representative from each of the four districts in the Alamo Area begins with a statement of candidacy, a $5 filing fee, and signatures of 25 qualified voters over 60.

Bill Hathaway has the necessary forms at the Silver Sage Corral, which must be filed between Jan. 1 and Feb. 28. The elections will be Friday, May 30, all over the state at nutrition centers such as the Silver Sage Corral.

Obviously, the opportunity to be a Silver-Haired Legislator requires a deep commitment to the needs and concerns of the older Texans. A knowledge of the legislative process would be helpful but not necessary, as there will be training sessions set up in Austin in advance. Funding for these and other expenses are being sought from private donations as well as major corporations, and being deposited in a foundation already in place for this purpose.

Birthday dinner changed

For several years, the third Tuesday of every month was designated to celebrate the birthdays of that month with a covered-dish dinner, at noon, at the Senior Center. Please note that the birthday dinner is now scheduled for the fourth Tuesday, same time and place.

This change was decided upon by the Advisory Board in order to spread out the good times, which (including AARP and Golden Age) always seemed to happen on consecutive days. Next week's dinner will be followed by a community tree-trimming party, celebrating Thanksgiving and looking forward to Christmas festivities.

Not the least of these parties will be the Open House at the Silver Sage Corral during the Shopper's Jubilee on Friday, Dec. 6. After caroling at the various business places during that evening, the Melodiers will gather and meet their friends there for refreshments and perhaps more singing.

Upcoming

The American Association of Retired Persons meets at 2 p.m. on Wednesday, Nov. 20. The Rockhounds meet at 7:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 21. The Center's Advisory Board meets at 2 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 22

The Senior-sponsored class in teaching English as a second language to Spanish-speaking persons continues on Wednesdays from 7 to 8 p.m. at the Mission Bautista on 13th Street. Grace Gonzales, head teacher, states that there is a need for those attending to do so as regularly as possible, to get maximum benefit from the group's activity. New or used materials in very basic English, including the ABC's, are needed, as are notebooks and pencils. More helpers would be welcomed to be able to offer one-on-one instruction. Knowledge of Spanish is not a prerequisite.

There are two Christmas craft projects ongoing, Monday mornings with Joe May and Tuesday mornings with Pearl Harrell. Kits to be finished for the boutique were handed out in the past, and the word is that they are needed now for Christmas-shopping customers. If you received a kit, please bring it in, finished or not, asks Marie Holland, advisory board chairman.

A Word to the wise

The Center directors have reported that a number of people were disappointed in not being able to get their blood pressure reading on last clinic day, because the nurses were leaving at 11 a.m. Since the Silver Sage Corral only furnishes the place for the clinic and has no control over the public health nurses' hours, it has no choice but to remind clients that the hours they have scheduled are from 9 to 11 a.m. every first Wednesday.

Commentary by Kay

"If you smoke tobacco, ask a friend to help you quit. If you don't smoke, offer to help a smoker who wants to quit. It's never too late to quit smoking." This is the Health Care action for the 19 million members of the American Association of Retired Persons for November.

A recent poll shows that one out of four Texans are addicted to smoking, although it is least popular among Texas adults over 62 and most popular among persons having only grammar school education.

The American Cancer Society suggests that the first step for persons wanting to break the habit of compulsive smoking is to hype yourself up to a target date. They even offer a date, Thursday, Nov. 21, the Great American Smokeout.

The real pay-off is that quitting will help you breath easier and improve your chances of avoiding emphysema, bronchitis and heart disease. People over 50 can also reduce the risk of cancer by breaking the smoking habit.

Nearly all smokers want to quit. Non-smokers, give them a hand to hold, some mints or gum or healthful snacks to nibble, some activities to keep them busy, and mention how much sweeter the breath and handsomer the face — without the smoke.

Fine Arts Clubbers hear furniture refinishing hints

Members and guests of the Fine Arts Club heard Ray Hudgins, owner of a refinishing shop in San Antonio, explain the steps taken, and the products used to restore and refinish old and antique furniture.

The meeting was held Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Joe McMullen, club president.

It was announced at the meeting that a Christmas party will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Thompson on Dec. 3. Gifts will be exchanged at the party.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Rhea Mansfield and her committee, which consisted of Mrs. Joe Billings, Lucille Broe, Mrs. Calvin Cartrett, Mrs. A. W. Dewoody, Mrs. Houston Evans, Mrs. P.L. Garrison, Carmen Hicks, Mrs. O. W. Mullenax, Winnie Hicks, Mrs. John Nixon, Mrs. Anna Laura Vaughn, Mrs. Harold White, Mrs. G. T. Williams.

Christmas crafts

Seventy-five beautifully decorated Christmas stockings were delivered to Elf Karen for her annual Christmas Presents project for needy children, donated by Amelia Dickens and trimmed by a host of Center participants.

Ranchers says handle hunters with care, get them back

Deer hunters treated with care will assure landowners of repeat business year after year, according to Henry Welge of Doss.

Welge, a Hill Country rancher who leases land to hunters, knows what he's talking about. About 90 percent of his customers have hunted on his place before.

Many major problems from deer hunters come from a rancher's attitude, Welge told a group of landowners last week. "You need to have a positive attitude. Hunters can sense when you don't want them there," Welge related. The Doss rancher was a guest speaker at a Deer Harvest and Hunting Clinic sponsored by the Bandera County Extension office and Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Welge goes out of his way to make his hunters enjoy themselves. "First of all, you're selling an experience, not a dead deer. The biggest tip I ever got was from a man who didn't get a deer. But he helped his dad get a deer, helped me field-dress the deer. He was a rancher for three days and loved every minute of it," Welge said.

Hunters like nice cabins so the Welges built them. Extras like central air-conditioning, microwaves and paneling attract hunters, he said.

Even though the hunters "rough it" once they leave the cabins, Welge said the ranch does furnish transportation for hunters, something that many landowners don't do. This insures that hunters don't get lost or cross fence lines, and the Welges, who know the best places to hunt on any given day, can put their hunters in the best stands. Two-way VHF radios facilitate coordination of ranch help to handle hunters, Henry Welge said.

Cattle guards cut down on gate-opening for landowners and hunters alike, and cold storage is offered, he said. They also recently built a tower for bowhunting practice.

The Welges offer what he calls a "campfire experience." A fire is built to char-broil rib-eye steaks and campfire stories are traded. Welge said this gives him a chance to get to know his hunters and for them to get to know him and his family.

Welge, who has high deer numbers on his ranch (about one deer to two to three acres) said deer herds are managed through deer counts and harvest records. Hunters can be educated to shoot does. 'Teach them what to shoot," Welge said.

Welge gives hunters incentive to manage doe numbers by letting hunters taste tender doe meat and managing for what he calls "trophy does." He added, "Every deer on your place can be a trophy to somebody."

Whitetail lore

Unlike horns, deer's antlers are shed, reform annually

The whitetail deer in Texas belongs to the family Cervidae. This family also includes the mule deer, caribou, moose, and elk. Members of the Cervidae family have antlers.

Usually, only the male members of the antlered species have antlers. There are exceptions to this general rule, a notable one being the caribou and the reindeer. Only a few other species are natural exceptions. Some whitetail doe deer have antlers, but this condition is caused by a hormonal inbalance. Antlered does are sometimes able to give birth to healthy fawns. Some of these doe antlers never harden or lose their velvet. These does will usually lose their antlers when freezing weather occurs.

Antlers are different from horns. Horns grow continuously, around a central core. Antlers are normally shed and regrown each year.

Antlers are actually extensions of the skull bone, and grow from a growth on the skull bone called a pedicle. The pedicle remains permanently attached to the skull. The rest of the antler, the part which is shed, grows from this pedicle.

A change in the hormonal balance in the body of the whitetail buck will start the growing of the antler, and later, another change will cause the shedding of the antler. This hormonal change is triggered by photoperiodism, the change in amount of daylight available. The increase in length of daylight stimulated the pituitary gland to produce hormones to stimulate antler growth. The decrease in the length of daylight causes the pituitary gland to stop antler growth, and to begin other body changes to cause the antler to harden, and to dry the exterior part of the growing antler, called the velvet.

First serious growth of antler, other than the pedicle, will occur at about 10 months.

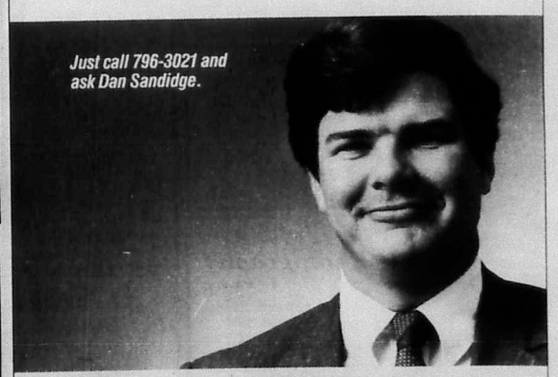

Antler development usually reaches its maximum size after full body growth is obtained.

The shape and size of the antler will be governed by sex of the animal, quality of food consumed, age of the animal, heredity factors, and body conditions.

The fawn buck has curled hair patterns above the eyes showing the future location of his antlers. At about the age of two months, formation of the pedicle begins in these areas. An injury which would prevent formation of the pedicle, such as castration or severe injury to the testicles, will prevent growth of the antlers.

Antlers are composed of calcium and phosphorous, and are true bone. A cross section cut of the antler will reveal a solid core, unlike the hollow, marrow filled core found in normal bone.

EMS to kick off drive

The Lakehills EMS Support Team will kick-off a massive drive for donations this week. Team president Peggy Galland says "Letters to all area residents went in the mail Tuesday asking for support and donations."

"On Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 16 and 17 the Lakehills EMTs will be rattling cans at the intersection of Highway 1283 and Park Road 37," she said. "Our Support Team has declared November as EMS Awareness Month, and we hope to make everyone in the area aware of the needs of the EMS."

Gallant spoke at the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department's auxiliary meeting Monday evening and at the fireman's meeting on Tuesday night. "We will ask all organizations in the area for an opportunity to speak to the members and ask for their support in raising the funds we need," Galland said.

The support team was organized in August for the purpose of raising funds to build a building to house the Lakehillls EMS unit and also provide classroom space and store supplies needed on the EMS ambulance.

The contract on the land to be used for the building is almost finalized Galland said, and construction should begin shortly after the papers are signed.

Donations can be mailed to the Lakehills EMS Support Team, P.O. Box 524, Lakehills, Tx. 78063, dropped in any of the special jars in local businesses, or given to one of the EMTs collecting this weekend.

Visitors from Italy enjoy Lakehills

Teodosis and Anna Maria Cavalliere and their daughter Francesca are visiting her sister and brother-in-law Dora and Nat Mendoza. The Cavallieres are from Italy. They are enjoying their stay and learning about how to operate an Italian Restaurant in America. The Mendozas own and operate Bacarri's Restaurant in Lakehills.

One of the highlights of their stay so far was going to Sea Island for a fish and shrimp dinner in San Antonio as guests of Jack and Katherine Williams. Joining them for the evening were the Mendozas, their daughter Yolanda Smith and her daughter Melissa.

This is the first trip to the United States for the Cavalliares.

Cub Scouts raise over $750 at carnival

The Halloween Carnival sponsored by Cub Scout Pack 146 at the Pipe Creek Community Center brought in over $750 for the Scouts, spokeswoman Pat Forsythe said.

Youngsters from Pipe Creek, Bandera, Lakehills, and elsewhere enjoyed games, a haunted house, ghost stories, and lots of goodies.

The Halloween Carnival is the only activity the boys have to raise funds each year. The money raised will go to cover activity expenses during the year, Forsythe said.

Winners of the costume contest included Jennifer Story, first among those up to four years of age; Brent Slack, second place; Alex Brown first in the 5-7-year-old group and Jamie Kliene second; and Shannon Ohlenburger, first in the 8-12-year-old category; Brenda Bachhofer, second place; and Brent Mansfield, third.

Homemakers elect new officers

New officers were elected at the Pipe Creek Extension Homemaker's Club at it's Nov. 5 meeting. To be installed at the Christian Party on Dec. 5 will be president Ann Kling, vice president Betty Heinen, secretary Joe May, and treasurer Irene Smith.

Last week's meeting was held at the new home of Lillie Taugott, Anita Booher reported. Faye Honaker and Traugott served a Thanksgiving buffet to 11 members and two guests.

A talk of Seminole Indian Patchwork was given by Diana Berg. She demonstrated the art of designing patterns in cotton material for dresses, skirts, and blouses.

Love Feast planned at HCCC

A Thanksgiving "Love Feast" is planned for Nov. 24 at noon at the Hill Country Chapel Christian Church. Visitors are welcome to attend the church service at 10:30 a.m. and stay for dinner afterwards church officials say.

Officials say over 100 children and adults attended the Halloween Party last month at the church. Games, pinatas, and a movie provided lots of entertainment for the children. There were two tables filled with snacks, sweets, dips, and punch.

Fireman to elect

The Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department will elect a new president, vice president, fire chief, assistant fire chief, and directors Nov. 14.

All members are urged to attend the meeting tonight at the firehouse on Highway 1283 at 8 p.m.

Brownies enjoy Muppets, burgers

Brownie Troop 576 attended the Muppet Show on Tour in San Antonio on Nov. 2. A spokeswoman said the Brownies really enjoyed themselves.

Following the show the second graders stopped and ate at Whataburger.

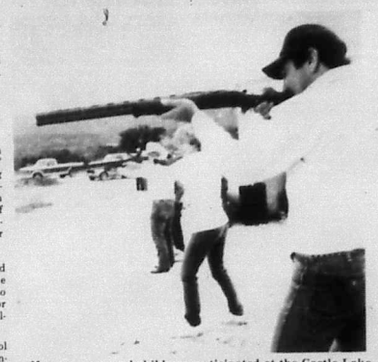

On Nov. 4 the new Brownies in the troop received their pins and officially became Brownie Scouts.

Presbyterians going strong

"The Pipe Creek Presbyterian Fellowship is still going strong," says Rett Campbell. The meeting place has been changed to Bandera Homestead main ranch house. The Rev. Dan Garza of Austin's Presbyterian Theological Seminary was guest speaker last Sunday, Campbell said.

A Pot Luck Supper is planned for Nov. 24 at 5 p.m. before the services. "Everyone is invited to join us," Campbell said. Items for Thanksgiving baskets will be collected at the supper.

Services and Sunday School start at 6 p.m. on Sunday evenings. For more information call Campbell at 535-4189 or 535-4700.

Kelly big winner in Castle Lake shoot

L. C. Kelley was the big winner in the Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department's turkey shoot last Saturday. He took home four birds, while Bob Cardwell, Lionell Kinsey, and Dick Tracy all took home two each.

Conrad Gongora, Ozzie Aguilar, David Lockman, Fred Weatherford, David Callaway, Sandy Whitehead, Jim David, Terry Dyer, Alfred Murfin, Tino Flores, Earl Martin, Jim McCarley, Helen Martin, Scott Sorrell, Donnie Hamilton, and Bob Tippey were all single winners.

In the kid's division, Lionel Kinsey won three chickens and Kevin Kinsey won two.

Officials of the fire department tagged the shoot a huge success. They say the turnout was good. All proceeds will go toward the purchase of a new fire truck.

At the last meeting of the fire department Charles Albright was elected fire chief and Victor Reyna was elected assistant fire chief.

The next meeting will be held Dec. 7 at 5 p.m. Plans will be finalized for the Christmas dance to be held on Dec. 14 with a live band providing the music.

Mico

Carol Smith — 751-3831

He's 27

Jeff Myers, whose 27th birthday was on Nov. 6, was given a party at Red Cove Saturday. His wife, Andrea, and son attended along with many friends from Mico. Cake and refreshments were served.

Winners

The singles pool tournament at Red Cove was won by Karen Hollenbeck, who won $30. Second place was Jeff Myers.

Get well, Willie

Willie Davenport went to the hospital on Thursday and was released on Sunday. His tests turned out well, and he is home and feeling much better, he says.

Party planned

Hope Kidder, whose birthday is on Nov. 15, will be given a party at Red Cove by her friends in Mico. As we go to print, no date has been set.

Visiting relatives

Jeff and Karen Hanson, who operate Cedar Point Landing, are taking some time off for some family visiting.

Jeff is in Los Angeles. He hasn't seen his family in four years. Karen is heading to Atlanta. She hasn't seen her folks in about two years.

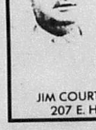

Both will return by Nov. 16 in time for the Stew Cookoff and Scuba Hunt.

Finleys potters

Maggie and Bill Finley, local potters, have just returned from a large arts and crafts fair held at Memorial Mall in Houston.

Bill originally learned the craft in the Army as a hobby, and has been at it for 15 years. Most of the work they do is in natural clay colors and is intricately carved.

"Hopefully sometime soon we will be able to have a gallery at our home in Mico," Finley said. The Finleys do have a sign in their yard and all work is done there.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Prayer For Every Day
Make me too brave to lie or be unkind.
Make me too understanding, too, to mind
The little hurts companions give, and friends,
The careless hurts that no one quite intends.
Make me too thoughtful to hurt others so.
Help me to know
The inmost hearts of those for whom I care,
Their secret wishes, all the loads they bear,
That I may add my courage to their own.
May I add my courage to their own.
May I make lonely folks feel less alone,
And happier ones a little happier yet.
May I forget
What ought to be forgotten; and recall,
Unfailing, all
That ought to be recalled, each kindly thing.
Forgetting what might sting.
To all upon my way,
Day after day,
Let me be joy, be hope! Let my life sing!.....

More Mico

Mico family operation has registered longhorns

Some of Texas' finest Longhorn cattle are raised about four miles from Mico on a ranch owned by retired Air Force pilot Col. Ben Settles and his sons, Mike and Art.

Dr. Mike Settles is a history professor at San Antonio College and also served as the second-term president of the South Texas Longhorn Association. Art is a life insurance planning executive in San Antonio.

Mike started the family interest in longhorns when he convinced his brother Art, and sister Benita to give their parents a bull and a heifer for their ranch. While they knew little about the breed at the time, one of the first things they learned is that they are very valuable.

The Settles say they concentrate their energies in raising and breeding the highest quality longhorns available. Most of the breeding done by the family involves the use of embryo transfers.

One of the cows the family owned produced 19 live calves in embryo in a four-month period. Another cow, Anita, may be the first documented female to reach 60 inches of horn, the family reports.

The Texas Longhorn Journal featured an article on the Settles, their ranch and breeding operations in the March/April edition.

Paul Douglas Zinsmeister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Zinsmeister of Mico, has completed basic Air Force training at Lackland Air Force Base.

39th anniversary

Robert and Corrine Rheaume will celebrate their 39th anniversary on Nov. 17. Bob, who workd at Red Cove, is retired from the U.S. Air Force. The couple has homes in San Antonio and Mico.

Lamb for all times

Lamb's rich flavor and delicate texture is a favorite for all times. With availability of lamb extending to year round and prices comparable to beef, Texans can enjoy lamb in a variety of ways.

"Preparation of lamb is as simple as any other meat," says Michaele A. Bocknite of Texas Department of Agriculture, "especially since tenderness is always guaranteed." She warned, "Be careful to never overcook lamb." To test for tenderness, a meat thermometer inserted into the thickest part should register between 140-160 degrees fahrenheit.

Roasted leg of lamb

1 stick butter
juice of 3 lemons
1 1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. dry mustard
1 tsp. garlic salt
1 tsp. MSG
3 T. cooking oil
3 bay leaves
pepper to taste
1 leg of lamb
salt to taste

Combine in a saucepan butter, juice of lemons, Worcestershire sauce, mustard, garlic salt, MSG, cooking oil, bay leaves and pepper. Bring to a boil. Remove from heat and cool. Place leg of lamb in a Dutch oven. Sprinkle with salt. Pour butter mixture over lamb and marinate in the refrigerator for 12-24 hours. Bake in 350 degree oven 30 minutes per pound. Garnish with parsley and crushed whole peppercorns.

Lamb meatball appetizers

1 1/2 lb. lamb, finely ground
1/2 C. dry bread crumbs
1 egg
1/2 C. water
2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. pepper
2/3 C. onion, minced

Mix together lightly, ground lamb, bread crumbs, egg, water, salt, pepper and minced onion. For easy handling, allow to stand in refrigerator 1 hour before shaping. Shape in balls about 1 inch thick. Brown on all sides in fat in frying pan; use a spatula or wooden spoon for turning. When done, place in chafing dish or food warmer. Stick toothpicks in balls and dip in honey mustard sauce. Makes about 72 balls.

Honey mustard sauce

1/2 C honey
1/2 C prepared mustard

Stir in honey and mustard until well blended.

Spirits of Christmas Presents return helping more and more

By Renae Bundy
Staff Writer

Hundreds of parents in Bandera County alone cannot afford to give their children a Christmas. That is, not without the help of The Spirits of Christmas Presents, a non-profit organization created to take Christmas to the unfortunate ones.

"It started seven years ago. I just thought that there had to be children without a Christmas here in Bandera," stated Karen Jackson, creator and director of the group. "I gave Christmas to 18 children my first year, and the number has increased ever since."

And increase it did! Karen has a list of over 300 children from Bandera County who wouldn't, under ordinary circumstances, have a Christmas this year. "I think we may have this under control now. I don't think it will increase too much more," added Karen, or "Elf" Karen as she is known by most.

In order to tackle this list and take Christmas to all 300, Karen has armed herself with nine trucks to deliver the goods, nine Santas, nine or more elves, 20 committee members, 40 money jars all over Bandera County, and numerous volunteers.

"The senior citizens of Bandera County even donated 75 handmade Christmas stockings," said Karen, "And that'll mean a lot to kids who never had a stocking before."

"This has turned into a great project, and the people in this county are very caring and concerned ... everyone pitches in," said Karen.

The organization will be collecting all the presents and sorting them Dec. 20 and will start delivering them Dec. 21.

Persons who know of anyone in need of the group's help are asked to give a list of the names to The Spirits of Christmas Presents. "We accept names up to Christmas Eve," added Karen. "Last year, we heard about a family who needed us on the day before Christmas and we were able to take Christmas to them."

> "It has turned into a great project. The people in this county are very caring."
> — Karen Jackson

Anyone interested in helping, either with names of needy people or with tax-deductible donations, is encouraged to call Karen at 796-4870, Kathy Gardner at 796-4814, Peggy Ashmore at 751-2370 or Elsie Wood at 751-2320, or write to The Spirits of Christmas Presents, Box 282, Bandera.

"We are asking for canned food, especially canned fruit, and any spare change or time you can give," added Karen. Donations are also taken at the First National Bank, the First State Bank or at any location with a TSCP money jar.

Save merchants' receipts

If you are throwing away receipts from some Bandera merchants, you may be sorry, because these receipts will buy a new 13" RCA color TV, a Makita cordless drill, a Zenith portable AM-FM Radio with TV band, and many more items.

In order to "buy" these things, save receipts (groceries included) from merchants who are members of the Bandera Chamber of Commerce and bring them to the Chamber of Commerce office (in the Municipal Building) for validating.

The, on the night of Shoppers' Jubilee, Dec. 6, at 9 p.m., you can bid on any and all items being offered. The minimum retail value of each item is $35, chamber officials say.

The traditional Shoppers Jubilee activities will also take place Dec. 6, including a judging of best decorated large and small businesses, Santa Claus, carolers, open houses, and refreshments at Main Street merchants.

"Godfather of soul" to perform

James Brown, the "Godfather of Soul," will bring the magic of the '60's alive once again when he performs live at the Majestic Theater Friday, Nov. 29, at 8 p.m.

Brown and his 10-piece band are to soul what Chuck Berry is to rock-n-roll. With a whole generation now joining long-time fans who thrill to his magic mixture of soul, funk, R & B and searing gospel, he proves once again that the soul of the '60's is alive and well in the eighties. He will perform favorites including "Papa's got a Brand New Bag" and "I Feel Good" along with his latest hit "Living in America" from the new smash film "Rocky IV."

Because his music has been around for over 25 years, the James Brown sound is the origin for most of the top music of the last two decades. With more than 40 gold records, it's no wonder why he is considered a living legend.

Special guest for the concert will be an Austin-based band who is known at least statewide for their R & B and 50's style music, — Ernie Sky and the K-Tels.

The John Bernardoni Production Group, in association with Santikos Theaters of San Antonio, put together the concert in order to continue a commitment to showcase the great legends of performance. Tickets are $15.75 and $13.75, available through Rainbow Ticket Master, Hasting's Records, Joske's and the Majestic Theater. For phone orders and information, call 512-226-2626.

Christmas classic to be staged by Uvalde Grand Opera House

"A Christmas Memory," Truman Capote's classic holiday short story adapted for the stage by Ann Alejandro, will open for a four performance run Nov. 30 in Uvalde's Grand Opera House. Other performances are slated for Dec. 1, 5 and 6.

All performances are at 8 p.m. except the Dec. 1 matinee at 2:30 p.m.

The funny, yet sad, play set in the south that Capote understood so well, is a nostalgic return to a time when a young boy could find joy in Christmas by baking fruit cakes with his elderly cousin, cutting the family tree in the woods and painstakingly crafting their gifts to be exchanged on Christmas morning.

The play, which is being co-produced by the Uvalde Area Community Theatre and Southwest Texas Junior College, stars Reagan Knowles as the boy Buddy and Nel Capt as Buddy's elderly cousin.

Other members of the cast include Pat Lowe, Ruth Dee, Dori Zirkel and Don Thomas.

Buddy's dog Queenie will be played by Penny, a mixed-breed dog belonging to Cecilia and Kley Johnson of La Pryor.

Kevin Lechler is directing "A Christmas Memory."

Before the play begins, a choir, directed by Dr. Lura Davidson of SWTJC, will sing Christmas music.

Tickets, at $5.00 will go on sale at the Grand Opera House box office Nov. 12. Call 512-278-5082 for reservations or write P.O. Box 1451 Uvalde, 78802.

Nursing home changes ownership

With new owners comes a new name for what Banderans have known as Purple Hills Nursing Home. "It will be called Purple Hills Manor Incorporated, but other than that no major changes will be made," said Myrtle Andrews, new administrator for the Manor.

Purple Hills, a 62-bed facility, has carried an average staff and patient load since its existence in the early 60's. "It's about as big as the one the Gray's own in Poteet," said Andrews.

Previous owners, Mr. and Mrs. D.W. (Speedy) Hicks, decided to retire to give themselves "more time to spend with each other." Mr. Hicks added, "We ran it the best way we could and hope the new owners will carry on the way it has been run."

Jeanine Enke, previous administrator for the Nursing Home, resigned after the Hicks sold the Home to the new owners.

Preston and Flo Gray, of San Andrews, from Somerset, has been in long-term health care "for a long time and loves it." She is enjoying her new job and doesn't feel commuting to work will cause a problem.

"I don't forsee any major changes in the staff or policies for Purple Hills," said Andrews.

Antonio, Purple Hills' new owners, have been in long-term care for 22 years and have no plans in changing the way it is run, according to Andrews.

The Gray's own the Poteet Nursing Home, Devine's Heritage Home Care, Heritage Manor in Hondo and the Retirement Village in Pleasanton. Flo also serves as the secretary of the Texas Health Care Association.

AACOG to cite senator during winter meeting

The 1985 winter semi-annual meeting of the Alamo Area Council of Governments Wednesday, Dec. 11 at the Wyndam Hotel in San Antonio will be dedicated to State Sen. John Traeger in recognition of his service to the AACOG region.

Sen. Traeger is not seeking another term.

The meeting begins at 11 a.m. with an Executive Committee Meeting to be followed by the Area Council. During the meeting, the 1986 AACOG Budget will be reviewed and adopted.

Sen. Traeger, or Seguin has long been a supporter of regional councils in Texas. He co-sponsored the legislation for the creation of councils of governments and continued to support regional planning programs throughout his years in office.

Sen. Traeger will address the member representatives at a 12:30 p.m. luncheon. An afternoon governmental session will feature presentations by John Cleary, of the Texas Department of Community Affairs, and Dr. Les McNeles, of the University of Texas at San Antonio, on governmental finance and budgeting. Susan Horton, counsel for the Texas Municipal League, and Lowell Denton, city attorney for San Antonio, will give presentations on governmental liability.

Registration fee for the briefings and luncheon is $15 per person and is payable at time of registration.

New tax laws' impact on farm topic of seminar here Tuesday

Farmers and ranchers in Bandera County will be affected by three tax laws recently passed by Congress and a program explaining these changes has been scheduled for Nov. 19 at the Bandera Electric Co-Op, according to Scott Durham, Bandera County extension agent.

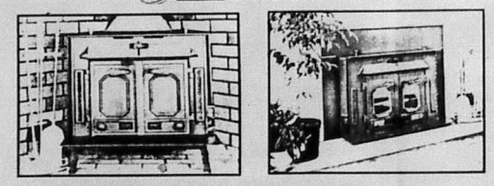

In 1981, the Economic Recovery Act (ERTA), the biggest tax cut bill passed up until that time, was passed. In 1982, the Tax Equity and Fiscal Responsibility Act (TEFRA), passed. That bill was the highest revenue-raising bill ever. However, that did not raise enough revenue to balance the budget, so Congress then passed the Deficit Reduction Act in 1984, Durham said.

"These three changes have created confusion and only the most informed taxpayers have been able to take advantage of these new provisions," he explained.

"Taxpayers will have to carefully analyze the tax incentives provided by ERTA and minimize the costs created by the other two," Durham added.

The tax management seminar will begin at 7:30 p.m. and is sponsored by the Bandera County Extension office and the County Program Building Committee. It is free to the public.

Joe Pena of Uvalde, Extension economist-management, will talk about income tax management. He will be followed on the program by Robert Kensing of San Angelo, Extension economist-management, who will discuss inheritance taxes. Other highlights of the program will be discussion of the accelerated cost recovery system (depreciation), investment tax credit, the expense election, and informational returns, Durham said.

Bobcats continue frustration in ninth straight football loss

The Medina Bobcats suffered through yet one more exercise in frustration at the hands of the D'Hanis Cowboys last Friday night.

The Cowboys blanked the 'Cats 20-0.

It was the "big play" that aided the Cowboys most. With an omen of things to come, D'Hanis' Johnny Silva took the opening kickoff on his own 20 and scampered all the way to the Bobcat 41 before Richard Moore brought him down.

From there it looked as though the Cowboys could move the ball easily, but a stiffening of the Bobcat defense and a holding penality canceled any Cowboy gains.

A fourth down sack gave Medina the ball on their own 30.

From there the 'Cats operated without a huddle through three downs, but were forced to kick. James Parker, whose punting has steadily improved all season, booted a beauty that finally stopped on the Cowboy 3.

The 'Pokes couldn't dig out of the hole and after a short kick the 'Cats wound up in great position on D'Hanis 37, but the Bobcats couldn't take advantage of the break.

The 'Cats got another chance moments later when Eric Pump pounced on a 'Poke fumble on D'Hanis 39.

After a 10-yard slap for holding, Tim Green lofted a pass to Mark Williams on the 'Poke 26. But two plays later Stacy Lopez rustled another Green throw, this time D'Hanis managed to score.

After two successive first downs, Johnny Silva took delivery on an air mail package and ripped off 40 yards before Medina's Scootie Melton saved a TD on the 6. From there Roy Reyes drove over for the score and Sam Lovett added the PAT.

As the half drew near, D'Hanis completed a 10-yard pass to Troy Langfeld for an apparent six points, but an illegal block rubbed out the score.

The second half was mostly a rehash of the first half with Medina unable to move effectively and the Cowboys constantly pressuring.

The 'Pokes scored twice in the third period to run their lead to 20-0.

Medina's Allen Simons blocked the second extra point attempt.

Medina did finally mount a drive from their own 42 with Williams, Melton and Green gaining ground. This final effort came to an end at the D'Hanis 3, however, when on second and goal Williams lost the handle on the pigskin and the Cowboys recovered.

From there the 'Pokes drove to the Medina goal once more, but failed to score again in the final seconds as Callicoatte touched a knee before entering the end zone.

The 'Cats close out their season at Leakey Friday.

Now is the time to control weeds

Weeds rob bermudagrass pastures a lot of grazing and hay potential each year, and producers can correct this problem with a fall herbicide application.

"The time to control weeds on bermudagrass pastures is now, not next spring," emphasizes Dr. Dave Weaver, weed specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A & M University System. "Use of a preemergence herbicide to control annual weeds can release the true potential a pasture or hay meadow has for producing top quality forage."

Broadleaved and grassy weeds, such as little barley, cheat, henbit, groundsels, Carolina geranium and seeding dock germinate and begin their growth during the winter season, Weaver explains. These weeds often go unnoticed until the spring when it's time to make a hay cutting or to put cattle on the pasture.

Applying dimazine (Princep 80W or Caliber 90) before these winter weeds begin to germinate will eliminate 80 to 95 percent of the weed problems next spring, says the specialist. Since rain is needed to carry the herbicide into the soil where seed germinate, the herbicide should be applied early.

Robin Ramsey named coach of BHS girls basketball team

Bandera's girls basketball team is starting a new season this year with a new coach. The new head coach for the girls basketball team is Ms. Robin Ramsey. She recently coached at Ingram High School and says she is excited about the upcoming year, and is looking forward to a winning season.

Coach Ramsey who is a newcomer to the Bandera High School faculty says that she is very impressed by the teaching staff. Also she compliments the school on the facilities offered to the students.

Ramsey, a graduate of Steven F. Austin State University, majored in Physical Education. While atending college, she participated in softball, basketball and track.

After graduating she began coaching, and has continued to do so for the past four years. When asked what she finds most rewarding about her occupation, she simply states, "Reward is seeing an athlete improve in their ability, as well as their attitude."

Ramsey not only coaches basketball, but she is also the high school health teacher and a physical education teacher at the Junior High School.

An editorial
Cut down or quit

This year the Great American Smoke-Out of the American Cancer Society will be co-sponsored at BHS by Future Homemakers of America.

The Smoke-Out is an annual event designed to help students and others realize the dangers of tobacco and smoking. It encourages people to stop smoking and think about what they are doing to their health when they do smoke. Another case in point is that many people get lung cancer from smoking.

Many people don't realize that or the fact that you can get cancer from dipping too.

The Smoke-Out is scheduled for Nov. 21. FHA officers and members are planning several projects for that day, so be on the look-out for them and remember: Smoking and dipping are bad for your health!

If you smoke, cut down or even better quit! If you don't smoke, help a friend that does by helping them cut down or quit and enlighten them on the dangers of their habit.

'Dogs miss playoffs

Bandera Bulldogs lost their last chance to make the state playoffs Friday night when the Floresville Tigers defeated them, 13-7.

It was the last district game for both teams and the winner would go to the playoffs.

Both teams came out for the first half a little nervous, and it showed on the field. The offense for both teams struggled, not scoring at all in the first quarter.

The 'Dogs only score of the game came when James Compton bulled into the end zone. Greg Marshall kicked the PAT to give the 'Dogs a 7-0 lead.

On the very next possession the Tigers drove down field and scored to tie it up at halftime, 7-7.

The second half was a defensive struggle until Anthony Price broke free from several Bulldog defenders to give the Tigers a 13-7 lead. The PAT was not good.

The Bulldogs made a final attempt but came up short.

The Bulldogs ended up 1-1-2 in District play and 3-4-2 overall.

The Cole Cougars won district with Floresville coming in second. Those two teams will represent district 27-AAA in the state playoffs.

Two named as football sweethearts

Mrs. Mary Welch and Miss Linda Gregg were named Football Sweethearts at the pep rally last Friday.

Mrs. Welch teaches computer literacy, and Miss Gregg teaches junior English and theater arts. Miss Gregg was married Saturday to head football coach Danny Neuse.

They were chosen by the football players.

Jeff Stoops and Greg Fest were also honored at the pep rally, joining Jimmy Sides, James Compton, Cliff Bronson, and Billy Morris as football captains for the 1985 Bulldogs.

The Cole Cougars won district with Floresville coming in second. Those two teams will represent district 27-AAA in the state playoffs.

EMS treats four

Utopia Emergency Medical Service reported four runs between Oct. 29 and Nov. 4, including a female accident victim transported to Kerrville on Oct. 29.

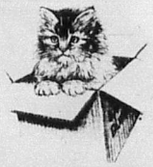

The Utopia EMS does not list the names of patients it transports.

The emergency service also transported an ill female to Kerrville on Nov. 4 and treated an ill male on Nov. 3 and a male accident victim on Oct. 30, but neither required transport.

Technicians involved in the runs included July Hillis, Mary Ann Coffman, Effie Curtis, Jessie McGadin, Hoyt and Doris Foster, Kathryn Gazaway and Karen Hobs.

The EMS reported a memorial gift in memory of Ruth Jackson from Mr. and Mrs. Jack McClain.

Vet's Corner

Although most of us don't realize, Toxoplasmosis is one of the most widespread diseases of man, birds and domestic animals. About 30% of Americans are exposed during their lifetime to Toxoplasmosis. While infection is common, sickness resulting from the disease is uncommon, except in the very young or weak.

Toxoplasmosis is a microscopic parasite with a complex life cycle. The sexual phase occurs in the cat family, and results in shedding of eggs in the stool. Eggs can persist for 18 months in soil under ideal conditions. The asexual phase of this parasite occurs in all warm-blooded animals and reptiles following ingestion of these eggs.

The most common sources of infection in people are: 1) eating raw or undercooked meat, especially pork or lamb; 2) exposure to eggs in contaminated soil by gardening or ingestion of improperly washed vegetables; 3) direct exposure to eggs in cat stool.

Toxoplasmosis can cause abortion in sheep, goats and swine. In dogs and cats Toxo. can cause abortion, diarrhea, pneumonia and brain infection. In horses the parasite can cause a wobbler syndrome by infecting the spinal co.d.

Most infections in people are mild, but occasionally fever, swollen lymph nodes and headaches may result. These 'flu-like' symptoms can be confused with "Mono" (Mononucleosis). Pregnant women need to be aware that abortion and birth defects can occur from Toxoplasmosis.

Blood tests and stool exams on apparently healthy cats for Toxo. are not routinely recommended to assess the risk of human infection because even a negative test does not always indicate that the disease is not present. There are two reasons for these "false negative" tests: 1) exposure, but too early to show a positive test result; 2) previous exposure, but for some reason a blood level did not develop. Bearing these facts in mind, prevention is the best answer.

To reduce exposure in cats, don't feed raw meat to your cat; don't spread used cat litter in the yard or garden. To reduce exposure to people there are several things that you can do: Eat only thoroughly cooked meat, espacially pork and lamb; wash your hands thoroughly after handling meat, vegetables and cats; cover the kid's sandbox to prevent cats from using it; expectant mothers should not change the cat litter box or handle cats; do not drink raw milk, especially goat's milk.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Snowbirds Ray and Helen Gordley and Jon and Izzy Queen are back in their winter homes at Wharton's Dock.

They brought along a surprise visitor from Peoria, Ill. for their son Ronnie Queen who lives here at Wharton's Dock: His sister Virginia (Gingy) Hinton, who will stay for a month visiting with Ronnie and his family. They had not been together in over four years.

This visit will give Virginia a chance to become acquainted with her two "new" nieces, Gaye and Carol, and to see her great-niece Stephanie Queen.

Virginia will fly back to Peoria in mid-December.

Phillip Gallegos of San Antonio came up to see Juanita Shaffer and brought three friends along. Phillip gave them a tour of the area and they were impressed with what they saw.

It used to be Tupperware parties and now it is ceramic parties. Dana Simmon, Patricia Daniels and Nola Bledsoe gave one at the Copper Lantern on Monday night, and a large group turned out for it and had a good time. From the many beautiful ceramic items on display many, Christmas presents were purchased or ordered.

Dick and Deanie Newman's daughter, Merldene Talley, was up from San Antonio for the weekend with her children, Pace and Lana.

Lana is staying for a week to be with her cousin, Dustin Tondre, at their grandparents home.

Viola Crow was treated to a great birthday party at the Copper Lantern on Saturday night by her husband Dennes. The Bandera Wranglers furnished the music.

A big happy birthday goes out to Mary Wells, Viola Crow and Harold Bentley and all the others who have birthdays in November.

Jay and Merietta Overholser traveled over to the Tampke ranch at Utopia on Friday to join James and Erva Tampke for the first day of hunting, and James, (known as Tuck) both were successful on the first day. Jay and Marietta returned home at Wharton's Dock on Saturday night and left for Laredo to visit with Marietta's brother, Dr. Paul Buitron and wife.

Marietta also had some tests made on her ears while there. They returned to their home at Wharton's Dock late Monday evening.

Margaret Holmes is out of the hospital and was here at Mary Well's home Saturday night and enjoyed a birthday dinner with Mary and John Wells.

Sunday, Nov. 17 at the Walker Memorial Chapel the message delivered by the Rev. Paul Flanders will be "What is a Baptist?". In the evening after choir practice there will be no worship service but a "praise session." The reverand states that this is like a singfest or just a food fellowship gathering.

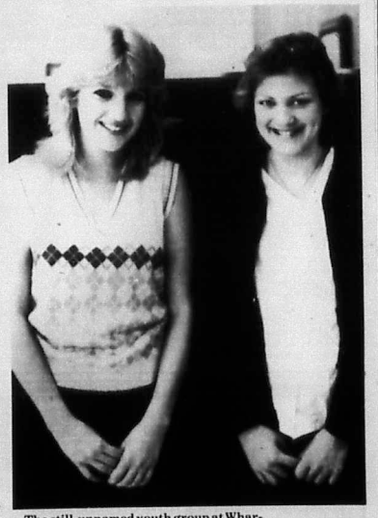

Iler (Yank) Fausey paid a surprise visit on his good friends, Butch and Irene Highnote, on the evening of Nov. 4. Yank is from Rockport and he enjoyed a ride around the Hill Country seeing Sabinal, Uvalde and other small towns.

Mary and T. Blakeneys have returned to their home at Wharton's Dock from a trip to West Texas. They went out to the Big Bend country so T could do some blue quail hunting. Their son Mark and his wife Cathy joined them there. T and Mark shot quite a few quail, Mary and Cathy enjoyed sightseeing at Lajitas and the old ghost town at Terlingua. They returned tired but happy.

Jim and Coyla Jewitt from Yuba City, Calif., are paying a visit with Ciarlo's for a few days. Jim is Betty's brother. Jim and Coyla stopped in Tucson to attend the third reunion of the B-24, 450th Bomber Squadron. They met many of Jim's World War II flying mates and rehashed their flying experiences.

Dave and Cathy Stocker, long time friends of the Ciarlo's from Panama, who now reside in Austin, spend the weekend with Betty and John and helped plan Thanksgiving dinner.

Last week I reported that Geneva Smith, Cliff and Mary Maston's daughter was to undergo surgery on Tuesday, Nov. 5. Well, I am happy to report that surgery was not necessary and Geneva is back at her home at Wharton's Dock.

The still-unnamed youth group at Wharton's Dock has named Kim Culberson temporary president and Tina Coffey temporary vice president to serve until January. The group will plan and hold youth activities in the area.

Independent slate expected in 1986

Doyle Ely says he has more than 300 of the required 500 signatures to call a rollback election.

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

Four unnamed candidates have committed to run as independents for local offices in the general election next year, says Pipe Creek businessman Doyle Ely, and if elected, none of them will accept a salary.

"I won't divulge their names now, but they will run for the offices of county judge, justice of the peace precinct 1 (Bonnie Towers), justice of the peace precinct 2 (Ed Jennings), and county commissioner's precinct 2 (Dan Alanis)," Ely said Saturday during a lengthy and wide-ranging interview.

Ely is currently spearheading a drive to limit the property tax assessment of the Bandera Independent School District, and he said he now has more than 300 of the required 500 signatures necessary to call an election on the rollback issue.

"There are still a lot of petitions out," Ely said.

The Pipe Creek businessman used a newsletter, called "The Freedom Newsletter," as the first major thrust in his campaign to limit the school district's taxes, and he plans another issue on or about Dec. 5.

"Since the first 3,000 (newsletters) went out, I have received three or four calls a day from people wanting to know what they can do to help," Ely said.

The newsletter also drew opposition in the form of a statement by school superintendent Ted Dockery, who said the tax limitation would hurt the school children of the district and from the Citizens for Better Schools who said extracurricular activities would be most vulnerable to budget cuts.

Ely said most callers say they want to help and they will contribute toward the cost of the newsletters, but most all ask that their names not be used in print.

"The only two that have no objection to my using their names are Cotton Fitzgerald and Ken Edwards," he said.

"I've already spent $800 out of my pocket," Ely said.

The man has been called many names, including a rebel, a fanatic, a liberatarian, a crusader, and even a radical. He says he just wants the freedom in life as promised by our constitution. He says he is not an educated man, although he has studied on his own and appears very knowledgeable on government, law, and taxation systems.

"I'm deeply concerned about education. I'm convinced we're not getting the quality education we're paying for," he said. "I have grandchildren, and my sons say they will not go to a public school. They will be educated in a private school or a home school," he continued.

"I've worked up a few people in the past 30 days with my efforts," Ely says, "We must wake up the citizens, and media, we have a sleeping giant out there, and it's coming before too long.

"I'm of the opinion we're supposed to have a Christian nation. Christ has been barred from the school system and humanism is being pushed. Satan has entered the classrooms," he said calmly.

Ely says in the 1920's the federal government consumed about 10 percent of the gross national product, in the 1950's the consumption went to more than 25 percent, and today more than 40 percent. "Where does slavery begin?" he asks.

His solution to funding local schools would be through contributions from the state. The state could issue a voucher payable to public or private schools, he says. They could cut state taxes on gasoline and offset the cut with local contributions.

"We need to get the government out of education," he says. Public schools would have competition from private schools if funds were made available to private schools. It would give private schools a foothold. "Competition is the greatest thing in the world," he said with enthusiasm.

Ely says he has nothing against extracurricular activities in the schools, as long as the old fashioned three R's are taught first. He said he felt extracurricular activities should be secondary.

His opinion of House Bill 72 is that it is a non-law and is in violation of the state constitution.

When asked if he had made any effort or move to change legislation at the state level, Ely replied "That's my next step. I want to go to Austin and sit down and visit with State Rep. Eldon Edge and State Sen. Bill Simms," he said. "They need more input from citizens."

On local law enforcement Ely admits police officers have a tough job, "but the man wearing the badge should obey the law the same as everyone else." He believes in common law, he says. "What we have is statute law for profit all over the nation."

His solution to crime would be to come back to common law and the constitution, he says.

He saves much of his fervor to criticize the National Education Association.

He claims the NEA is the most politically powerful and dangerous organization in the United States with it's 1.7 million members. He further writes that under the guise of "improving education," the teachers are on the march toward total political power with the aim of converting America into a socialist society.

"I object to the state telling people here how to run local schools," Ely said. "We pay taxes at the gas pump, take the money to Austin, and then they use it as a club to hold over our heads. They use the money to support themselves, and politicians in Washington, D. C. do the same."

Sending the money to the state where they take out their operating costs and then send it back could be eliminated, Ely feels.

Name of burglary suspect released by officials here

Bandera County authorities this week released the name of a man jailed Nov. 12 on burglary charges.

Walter Lee Jones, 53, giving a Bandera address but formerly of Oklahoma, remains in Bandera County jail in lieu of $10,000 bond set by Peace Justice Bonnie Towers.

He was arrested after Deputy Jimmy DeLesdernier and Bob Hines recovered merchandise reported stolen from the home of David Turner on Oct. 20 and from a travel trailer which was destroyed by fire on Oct. 22.

Davis has reported four guns and other items valued at $2,000 missing from his home. Recovered from that burglary was some meat, coins valued at about $30, canned goods, makeup and a television with total value of $675. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said Jones denied taking four guns, but he did say he took a pistol that wasn't recovered.

The burglary of a travel trailer owned by John Matthews of San Antonio was discovered when an insurance adjustor said he could find no evidence in the ashes of the burned trailer of a Sony television set or a .30 caliber rifle reported to have been in the trailer when it burned.

On further investigation the insurance investigator and Deputy Bob Hines discovered there was no residue in the debris of a stove, refrigerator, propane bottle, or popcorn popper, all of which were reported to be in the trailer.

The officers found the appliances and other items in Bandera Ranch Acres, but did not find the Sony television set or rifle. The owner notified authorities that he had found the two items in his home elsewhere and they had not been stolen after all, Chief Deputy Mingo reported.

The case will go before the grand jury next week.

The only arrest reported by the chief deputy this week was Karen Abercrombie, 37, of Bandera. She was arrested by City Police Chief Walter Welch for public intoxication Nov. 19. While she was in custody, a routine computer check revealed two outstanding traffic warrants. After paying a total of $254 in fines, she was released on Nov. 20.

Several burglaries were reported by the sheriff's department. Mingo said he investigated one at the home of August C. Marrero, owner of A J Chevrolet Company, on Nov. 13. The home in Bandera River Ranch was equipped with a burglar alarm, which went off when someone attempted to pry a window. Neighbors reported they heard two car doors slam and a vehicle drive off, but they didn't report seeing the vehicle.

Fred Blume of Rio Rancheros Road reported someone stole an axle set off a trailer on his property. He reported the three axles missing Nov. 19 but told authorities the trailer had been leaning for sometime before he checked it and discovered the axles gone.

Frank Anderwald of the Twin Elm Ranch reported four guns valued at $1,100 were taken from the ranch Nov. 19. He had no serial numbers available on the guns, but one of them was described as an old Winchester which is no longer manufactured, Mingo said.

John Provance of Lakehills reported Nov. 13 a pistol valued at $250 was missing from his vehicle.

George Gonzales reported on Nov. 16 someone had taken several items from his weekend place in Lakehills.

Geronimo Grinaldo of Pipe Creek reported to authorities he was sitting in his deer blind when someone discharged a gun and the shot hit the cap he was wearing. Mingo said there were three people hunting on property adjoining Grinaldo's. Mingo theorized a shot might have struck a tree or something and ricocheted into the blind.

Anti-war leader reveals he once hid out in Medina

One of the national leaders of the anti-war movement of the 1960s said in Kerrville Tuesday he "holed up in Medina" for about two weeks in the 60's while he was a fugitive from the law.

Abbie Hoffman, a political activist accused of inciting a riot during the 1968 National Democratic convention in Chicago, said he stayed at a ranch owned by the family of Austin singer Kinky Friedman while he was fleeing the law.

Hoffman was one of the so-called Chicago Seven who was acquitted in a well-publicized trial that the American Civil Liberties Union called the most important political trial of the 20th century.

He spoke at Schreiner College in Kerrville Monday and told a capacity crowd that he was happy to be brought back to the Hill Country. "I holed up at Medina when I was on the run," he said.

After the program, Hoffman told The Bulletin that while he was a fugitive he sustained himself by taking television sets, stereos and wine into Mexico for resale and brought Mexican-made items into the U.S. He also spent some time in San Antonio, he said.

He said Friedman has spoken publicly about Hoffmann's brief stay at the Medina-area ranch.

Two residents, 98, claimed by death

Two residents of Bandera County born four days apart almost 99 years ago died this week only two days apart.

Homer T. Stevens Sr., born March 2, 1887, in Bandera County and believed to be the oldest living resident of Bandera County, died Sunday, Nov. 17, in the U.S. Veterans Hospital in Kerrville.

Gertrude Moore, born on March 6, 1887, in Sandy died at Purple Hills Nursing Home on Tuesday, Nov. 19.

Stevens was the son of J. L. (Jack) Stevens and Lucy Wells Stevens who moved to a log cabin on Hicks Creek near the present location of The Farm northwest of Bandera. Two years later they moved farther up Hicks Creek where they reared 13 children, including Homer Stevens, their 11th child and the last to survive.

He spent all of his 98 years living in Bandera County except during World War I when he served with the American Expeditionary Forces in France.

Homer Stevens Sr.

Moore is believed to have lived in Bandera County most of her life also. Her husband was a rancher, and she devoted her time to caring for her children and home, relatives said.

Moore's survivors include three sons, Hardy M. Moore of Houston, Wayne Moore of Bandera and Gilbert Moore of Bandera; a sister, Lillian Mogford of New Mexico; three grandchildren; seven great-grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Services were to be Thursday, Nov. 21, at 1:30 p.m. in Grimes Funeral Chapel in Bandera with Martin Smith officiating. Burial was to follow in Nichols Cemetery in Ingram.

Stevens' survivors include his wife, Mary Swayze Stevens, and a son, Homer T. Stevens Jr., both of Bandera.

Graveside services were held Nov. 18 in Oak Rest Cemetery in Medina with the Rev. Wesley Stevens of Houston officiating.

It hardly seems possible, but it was nearly 20 years ago when Abbie Hoffman and Jerry Rubin gained national fame. They were among the Chicago Eight (or Seven, depending on your point of view); a cross-section of anti-war activists selected by John Mitchell's Justice Department for prosecution. Hoffman and Rubin had helped organize the demonstrations at the 1968 Democratic Convention which led to what a government commission later called a "police riot."

Hoffman and Rubin identified themselves with an impromptu, often imaginary organization called the Youth International Party, or "Yippie!"

Their political strategy was not entirely insane. The largest group in the country's population was the generation then in its teens and early twenties. And, as Hoffman puts it, "We couldn't persuade the Archie Bunkers to oppose the war, so we went after their kids."

The Yippie leaders were a long way from Chicago in more than miles and years last Tuesday night, when they appeared at Schreiner College in their roadshow "Yippie versus Yuppie" debate. No longer comrades in arms, Hoffman still keeps the faith while Rubin praises the virtues of the young, urban, professional lifestyle.

Since the resurfacing from the underground, Hoffman has organized and fought with farmers along the St. Lawrence River, in their successful efforts to keep the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers from removing some islands; has worked with New York City residents in their so far unsuccessful efforts to keep nuclear materials out of their town's and, has organized tours of Nicaragua.

Rubin now organizes "networking seminars" for Manhattan Yuppies. He claims that Hoffman is stuck in the 60s while he, Rubin, has left behind the self-destructive impulses of that period. He did so, he says, because he realized the "system worked" when the troops came home and Nixon resigned.

Since the system works, Rubin says, the people of his generation should now enjoy life, make as much money as possible, and when thoroughly successful contribute to charities and liberal Democrats.

There are no real winners and losers in such debates, since we all judge them according to our own preferences. Yet, Hoffman seemed to have the edge with the crowd filling Dietert Auditorium, perhaps because Rubin alienated his potential supporters with frequent criticisms of Reagan.

Perhaps Rubin's style worked against him as well. He would indeed make a good bond, or condo, or Porsche salesman. After all, he cut his teeth on selling protest when it was very unpopular.

Hoffman's fire and righteousness, however, might have been more familiar to a Texas audience. After all, it must have been someone very much like him who, almost a century ago, stood up among some farmers outside Lampassas and said, "Let's go cut that barbed wire."

Lower taxes, fatter cows

Dear Editor:

Did anyone ever notice how skinny a lot of the area livestock get in the winter? I have, and I've also noticed our school taxes come due at about the same time ranchers need to stock up on winter feed supplements for the poor grazing in some of this area.

If we hold taxes at 8 percent, it just might make for fatter cattle, happier ranchers and last but not least, a fatter economy.

I think if we stopped trying to cut each other's throats, get better organized and lower taxes, everyone would be friendlier on the street.

How about sending Ted Dockery, Mrs. Schneider, and Doyle Ely to Austin as a team to renovate this HB 72 to be more beneficial to everyone, especially our future tax payers going to school now.

Let's take the frills away from politicians and tax mongers. President Reagan started at the top, so if we start at the bottom on a local level this thing will be over twice as fast.

Remember, 8 percent might just mean more and tenderer meat on your table.

The last straw

Dear Editor:

In his (statement) the past week, Superintendent (Ted) Dockery placed "the shoe on the wrong foot." When Mr. (Doyle) Ely leads the taxpayers in support of a tax rollback, the resulting hardship on the students can only be blamed upon the officials of the Bandera school system.

Overly ambitious, selfish or misinformed school officials have caused a burden upon the taxpayers that has exceeded the limit of reason. The recent heavy increase was the "straw that broke the camel's back."

It is a pity that those persons who pay little or no taxes so greatly outnumber those who are heavily taxed. Our current tax structure has caused untold damage to our county by decreasing the value of our real estate and limiting future progress.

Elmo Reeves

Lower standards?

Dear Editor:

"No-Pass, No-Play" is the best thing to happen to the Texas and Bandera education program since the end of one-room school houses. But, it is a national disgrace to Texas that Mark White and the Texas Legislature had to pass the law. The parents of Johnnie (the half-back) and Susie (the cheerleader) should have enforced this regulation on their own children.

The Texas Legislature just didn't carry the law far enough. All Texas-supported college and university students should be included in this law.

Now all we have to worry about is special interest groups putting pressure on teachers to lower the passing standards for Johnnie and Susie.

A gift of love

Dear Editor:

Now that Christmas season is almost here, our thoughts are turning once again to the less fortunate families in our area who will need our help to provide a happy Christmas for their children.

These little children have in their hearts a "Christmas Wish," that they will get the special toy or gift they have been wanting for.

This is the purpose of the Gifts of Love organization. Through the Gifts of Love, a personal visit is made to the homes to learn the desires of each child.

All toys, clothing and other items given by the Gifts of Love are new and of good quality so they will last for many months.

Clothing articles are nice gifts for the older children, and that is usually what they specify.

Every child will also get a beautiful Christmas stocking filled with surprises, fruit, candy and nuts.

The families will also be given a turkey or ham for Christmas dinner.

An account is open at First Federal Savings (formerly University Savings) for the convenience of those who would like to participate and all contributions large or small will be sincerely appreciated. Please be sure to sign the book, if you decide to make a donation, so your gift may be acknowledged.

It is truly a rewarding experience to realize you have shared your Christmas joy with those less fortunate. If you have never helped with a program of this type, please consider doing it this year.

When Christmas Day has come and gone and your thoughts reflect back to the holiday season, you may always remember that somewhere in our care a child had a "Christmas wish," and you made that wish come true.

Bandera County

The city of Bandera levies a 2 percent franchise tax on the Bandera Electric Cooperative and has for as many years as anybody can readily remember.

Such a tax is usually in recognition of the facts that the utility uses the city's steets to service its lines, that customers are clustered together and therefore more profitable to serve than widely separated rural customers, and similar reasons.

The Co-op also is able to share the use of some poles inside the city limits with Southwestern Bell, although the Co-op's Russ Vander Zee said this practice has been discontinued.

The Co-op has paid the tax for many years and such a levy is common practice in cities throughout the state for all kinds of utilities — gas, telephones, cable TV and others.

Except in 1982 the Public Utilities Commission authorized a change in how the Co-op pays that franchise tax that changed the character of the tax.

Since that time, 2 percent has been added to the electric bills of commercial and residential customers who are inside the city limits of Bandera.

The tax, levied by the city council, is simply collected by the Co-op, which keeps it for a while and earns interest on it and then remits it to the city.

In the simplest terms it is just another city tax collected by the Co-op.

We've always believed it should not be an easy thing for a governmental body to levy a tax. If taxes are necessary, then those who levy it must explain that necessity to the satisfaction of the taxpayers.

If the city needs the 2 percent it realizes from that franchise tax then it should justify that need to the taxpayers and include it in its annual property tax levy.

That saying life is full of surprises, they come in all shapes and forms, is very true. Surprises are often coupled with other emotional feelings.

I saw two happy surprises this week when two ladies were honored on their birthdays. Another lady was grateful when her boss surprised her with flowers for an exceptional job. I saw the joy in the face of a young wife when her husband surprised her with the news of his promotion that meant more money in his paycheck.

The worst surprises perhaps are those that cause embarassment. Of course, embarassing situations can be very humorous and humor brings laughter and smiles.

Imagine the surprise of a San Antonio pastor and church deacon when they were arrested in Kerr county Sunday night by two game wardens for illegal hunting. When brought before the local Justice of the Peace in Mountain Home at 2 a.m., the judge used one of Solomon's techniques to expedite the proceedings. He separated the churchmen and questioned them separately.

Upon bringing them together again he confronted them with the different stories they had told. Both then admitted shooting a doe and paid $213 each for their crime. The Masonic Home for the Aged got the deer for their freezer.

Imagine the surprise and embarassment employees at the Coca Cola plant must have felt when they learned a San Antonio newspaper copy editor ordered his usual Diet Coke at the machine in his office and out popped a can of Lone Star beer.

Sure enough, the can was filled with Diet Coke.

Seems the manufacturer of cans for both companies had a mixup, and no human eye caught the mistake until it fell into the hands of the editor.

For county workers

Handbook in preparation

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff Writer

In a special workshop designed to restructure the county's Road Supervisory System Monday, members of the Bandera County Commissioners Court initiated preparation of an employees' handbook for all county employees.

"In order to streamline this system and make it more efficient, we need to outline personnel and equipment maintenance policies," County Judge Tommy Curbo said.

Among the items considered for inclusion in the handbook at Monday's workshop session were physical exams for all new county employees, requiring employees to learn the duties of others as well as their own, maintenance records for each county-owned machine, vacation policies, hiring and firing policy, and a standardized pay scale.

Requiring all new county employee's take a physical exam, at the county's expense, was considered first. "If we could get all the new employees to take a physical before they began working for the county, then we could see if they are fit to do the job, especially where hard manual labor is required such as in operating machines and doing road work," Curbo said. "We could save money on insurance also."

Buddy Hubble, county road superintendent, suggested specialized jobs be classified with the requirement that each employee know he or she is responsible for knowing other related jobs as well.

"Someone who specializes in a certain machine has the responsibility to making sure his job is done and the machine doesn't get messed up," Hubble said. "But he should also be required to do other jobs when his machine breaks down, the weather doesn't permit him do his job, or that machine isn't necessary for a specific job," said Hubble.

Keeping a maintenance record on each machine at all times was suggested by Curbo. He stated that such a record would make sure minor maintenance was performed and would indicate any re-occuring problems.

Also considered were paid leave and unpaid leave policies, maternity leave, hiring and firing and a standardized pay scale.

Although it will be focused mainly on restructuring the Road Supervisory System, the handbook, to be called the Bandera County Employees Handbook, will also apply to other county employees.

The Commissioner's Court will meet again to revise and approve the rough draft after other county employees have seen it, Curbo said.

Principals in the purchase of Rathke Motors gather in front of the sign proclaiming the new name of the Bandera dealership, AJ Chevrolet. The purchase became final this week. Shown, from the left, are August C. Marrero Sr., John J. Clayton and Steve Gold.

Senior Citizens

By Kay Robinson

The 19 Melodiers and Autoangles (who accompany the singers on autoharps) met a most responsive audience at the Hill Country AARP on Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 12.

The program consisted of melodies by American composer Stephen C. Foster. Soloists were Mary Worley, Carter Beach and Ellie Densford accompanied by Kay Robinson on piano, July Goodenough on violin, June Westmeyer on tambourine, and Vernell Mullenax, Mable Kentner, and Alice Koenig on autoharps.

Due to Shopper's Jubilee on Dec. 6, the next Melodiers rehearsal will be on Thursday, Dec. 5, at 5 p.m., followed by a trip to Purple Hills to present a Christmas program to the friends there. Sunday, Dec. 8, and Saturday, Dec. 14, are the dates for singing at the Kerrville State Hospital and Veteran's Hospital respectively.

Pre-Thanksgiving

Never one to slight a chance to celebrate, the Silver Sage Corral has filled the pre-Thanksgiving week with exciting activities, including the Joe May stitchers working on their Christmas table panels and other seasonal crafts on Monday.

That evening the Acteens, their sponsors and directors of the First Baptist Church will treat the senior citizens to their fourth annual Thanksgiving Banquet in the church Fellowship Hall at 6:30 p.m. There will be a musical program of memories, by Dr. George Meador and Kay Robinson.

The group working with Pearl Harrell are finishing kits for the boutique and staying on for dinner, Tuesday to honor those with November birthdays (who are entitled to a free meal that day!). Following the repast, the Christmas tree will be trimmed, using ornaments which the diners will have brought for that purpose.

Speaking of birthdays, Glyn Taylor's was noted with a surprise party on Thursday, Nov. 7, planned and carried out by Viola Sexton, Dollye Holly and Lydia Smith.

The Sagettes have gotten in the habit of honoring birthdays too. The party they threw on Wednesday, Nov. 13, not only honored Tandie Jordan and Fannie Caffall, but included a surprise for leader Gloria Carlson, a silk flower corsage as a going-away present for her upcoming trip to San Diego to see her son and family.

In her absence the class will continue as usual with members of the class sharing the role of leader, and inviting others to join in the healthful activities, Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 4 p.m. to 5 p.m. at the Corral.

The Bunco Squad is alerted to their party Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. There will be no English as a Second Language on Wednesday, Nov. 27.

Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, the Center will be closed, but open again on Friday for the Bridge Club. However the Bridge classes under Clarence Hosmer will have finished their beginners' course. If there are requests for it, Hosmer will offer intermediate bridge in January. However the Duplicate Bridge group will play as usual on Saturday nights, Nov. 23 and 30.

A wish list

It seems that this is the time of year when kids lie down on the floor with the Christmas catalog and think of writing a letter to Santa Claus. Senior citizens are only over-grown kids at heart, and there has been buzzing about some things they wish the Center had. One item is an exer-cycle. Now, the Sagettes have over 15 members who are benefitting by exercising 3 times a week. But there are others who would ride a stationary bike at odd times of the day, if one were available.

Also devoutly wished for are some 3 fold screens which could be placed around activities in progress and separate them from kibitzers in the other parts of the multi-purpose rooms. Easels too, of various shapes and sizes, are wanted — and needed — all the way from a large one to hold the big blackboard, to small ones for the painting groups and classes; some that could be left at the Center for convenience. Woodworkers of the world, arise and respond!

Some folks who like to play bingo have been wondering why the Center couldn't have an afternoon bingo game, not for money but for little prizes, just for fun, similar to the bunco games. A set of bingo cards and markers, or the wherewithal to purchase same, would allow the Center to grant that wish in no time at all.

And then there is the Walking Course. Wells Fargo Gamefields plan actually offered the Silver Sage Corral a $2,500 grant to help fund this activity, and the space behind the Center, sloping down to the fire station, was considered adequate. But on further correspondence, it became evident that the Center would have to pay over $5,000 additionally (including horrendous freight charges from San Francisco) and still have to buy the walking surface. It was decided to reject the Wells Fargo offer, and pursue a walking course independently, with the help of local donors and Kerrville State Hospital, which offered assistance. So this project awaits the needed funds and specific design. It is, however, a project that would benefit ever so many citizens of Bandera County, in addition to the senior citizens.

Memo from the Country Coordinator

Glenn Wehmeyer, the newest staff person at Silver Sage Corral, suggests that reminders are in order about the mini-bus transportation schedules. At the present time, Lakehills and Pipe Creek are the areas reached on Mondays, Medina and environs on Tuesday, and in and around Bandera on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. A telephone call, preferably the day before, will insure participants will be picked up to come to and go home from Bandera. This is of course in addition to the Dietert Claim van which takes participants to Kerrville Mondays and San Antonio on Thursdays. When in doubt, call the office, 796-4969.

Antique show

The Heritage Association of San Marcos will present its seventh annual antique show and sale Nov. 23 and 24 at the National Guard Armory in San Marcos.

Visitors last weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hood from Baytown were their daughter Gladys Smith and her girl, Steffanie and the Earl Hood's granddaughter and family Kelley and Mike Buckner and their little girl Kassie.

They all enjoyed driving to Lost Maples State Park last Saturday and having a picnic lunch there.

Billy and Tops (Topsy) Jarbeaux of Corpus Christi were visitors in the home of Harold and Viola Jackson for several days. They went to Lost Maples State Park to see the beautiful maple trees one day.

Visitors of Bro. and Mrs. Jerry Jones Sunday were their son and wife Johnny and Karen Jones of Talco and Lou Ann's nephew Wayne Neuman of Devine. They attended church services Sunday morning.

Woodrow and Billie Riley had visiting them for the weekend their son and family, Ken and Dana Riley and children Ashley and Decker. They celebrated their son Ken's birthday Saturday, Nov. 16.

For several days our area has had light showers falling, amounting to one inch of rain. Sunshine would be welcome, but no one's complaining.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Mrs. Steve Johnson and children Corey and Carl of Moreno Valley, Calif., are here for awhile with her parents, Anton and Marilyn Haner.

Mrs. Clay Taylor was happy for a short visit recently from her nieces Ann West and Florence and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Hutcherson, all of Dallas. Mrs. Taylor's two nieces were formerly Ann and Florence Bethell, and they grew up at Utopia.

If you happened to get a new HEB Cookbook called "Texas Favorites" if you will look on page 220, in the pork recipes there is a mistake on "Company Ham Loaf." It should be "one-half pound ground pork" instead of ½ cup ground pork. No charge!

Mrs. Jerry Sharp was hostess for the Extension Homemakers on Tuesday, Nov. 12. Plans were made for the annual club Christmas party on Saturday at 6:30 p.m., Dec. 14 at the Tarpley Community Center.

Nine members and two visitors were present. Lorene Billings and LeAnne Bockhol of Chicago were guests.

Everyone enjoyed a delicious tasting party and sharing recipes. Marilyn Haner brought a talk on her trip to Longview for a Extension Homemakers Convention there.

Wharton's Dock

John and Betty Ciarlo — 796-3225

Dewey Overholser and Elizabeth Bailey were married recently in Austin. Dewey is the son of John and Marietta Overholser from Wharton's Dock area and Elizabeth is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Bailey of Houston.

Both Dewey and Elizabeth have masters degrees from Texas A&M University, and they are both working for an advanced microcomputer company in Austin. They have purchased a home in the outskirts of Bastrop.

Sorry to report that Richard Newman's brother Todd from Alamo Beach is in the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio scheduled to undergo surgery for nose bleeding caused by high blood pressure.

Juanita Shaffer enjoyed a fine barbecue with Sam and Adele Byrd, and she was able to visit with her mother, Ella (grandma) Byrd and many other ralatives, including her sister Dorothy and her husband, Buddy Ballard from Palestine; her son Dickie and his wife Dana Simmons; Rosie and Grady Dismuke and Joyce Reginer from New Brunfels; Oscar Hoehler from San Antonio; and Carol Jean from Palestine.

Chuck and Maradell DeWitt have returned home from a trip which took them to Boston, where they attended the wedding of their niece, Dr. Betty Helton to Dr. Alex Weinstein in October. They were joined on their trip by a brother in-law, Bill, and his wife Lucie Winters from Georgetown.

While in Boston, they toured the USS Constitution (Old Ironsides), the North Church, Paul Revere's home, Beacon Street and Quiency Market.

From Boston they traveled to Vermont where they visited with a friend in Bradford. They went through the countryside where Vermont maple syrup is made. They also visited the "Rock of Ages," a granite quarry.

From Vermont they visited friends on Long Island, including Bill Winters' two sisters. On leaving Long Island they headed south and made a stop at Hershey, Pa., where they toured the chocolate plant. The Hershey Plant was in the process of being decorated for Christmas, a real fantasyland done with Hershey chocolate motif.

Heading south they were able to miss the flooding in Virginia, and stopped in Nashville where they took a bus tour out to "Twitty City," named after Conway Twitty; by Barbara Mandrell's home and Johnnie and June Cash's home. Also saw Johnnie Cash's, "Cad-one piece at a time." They also went to the Grand Old Opera where they enjoyed seeing Minnie Pearl, Ray Acuff, Porter Wagner and others.

Bill and Martha Nichols of Center Point were checking on their Lakeshore home. Their good friends, Jean Wold from Las Vegas and Jim Black from Powers, Ore., were here with them and enjoyed seeing the area and having a good visit with the Nichols.

The Duquettes are back home at Wharton's Dock after a three-week trip to England. While in England they visited with many old friends who took them sight-seeing to castles, churches and even the moors, which they said were beautiful.

The Duquettes traveled to different cities via train, including York and Cambridge. The Duquettes were stationed in England while Duke was in the military service. They report this trip was very enjoyable for them as they visited old haunts and many friends they had not seen for years.

When being in stores or out in public, Doris would talk, and time and again strangers would approach her and ask, "Are you from the United States? Are you from Texas? Are you from Dallas?" They they would ask if South Fork on the TV show Dallas is as beautiful as it appears on TV. It appears that Dallas is the number one show on British TV.

Louis and Mollie Kubasak are back home after traveling to Chicago to visit with Louis's family and then going to Oregon to visit a brother. They stopped in Las Vegas twice and took in San Francisco too.

It was nice seeing Dell Lackey up and around again.

Mark Dec. 14 on your calender, because at 11 a.m. on that day the next general membership meeting of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department will be gavelled to order at Wharton's Dock. Election of officers will take place and lunch will be served.

With the cool weather we are enjoying, the carpenter tools are coming out. Mary and John Wells are closing in their front porch, Perry Johnson and Boots are busy working on their place, the Blakeneys have just finished their breezeway, and Marion and Marjorie Birch are busy winterizing their home.

Repairs are still going on from damage from last winter's snow. Chuck DeWitt, with the help of his brother-in-law, Bill Winters from Georgetown, is repairing his garage roof.

An old-fashioned neighborhood work party was held Sunday at the home of April Smith at Wharton's Dock. The mission was to work on her front room.

It is reported that Marie Bentley and Mary Wells pitched in to work on the ceiling, John Overholser barbecued deer and fryers, and everybody brought a covered dish. April furnished the drinks and a tremendous salad.

After the work was done, everybody gathered in the Overholser's patio to enjoy dinner and drinks and watch TV. Sixteen neighbors were present, and a good time was had by all with a lot being accomplished.

Three ag producers nominated for ASC panel

Incumbent Elton Boultinghouse of Utopia and Wayne Boyce of Vanderpool and Hubert Mazurek have been nominated for a three-year term on the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, the ASCS office said this week.

Farmers and ranchers who are eligible for government payments through the ASCS are eligible to vote, and balloting will continue by mail or in person at the ASCS office in Bandera through Dec. 2, said Jimmie Ruth Saathoff, ASCS county executive director.

The voters will select one of the nominees for a three-year term on the county committee, which supervises the ASC programs in Bandera County.

Members of the committee whose terms do not expire this year are Rudy R. Schott of Lakehills and L. D. Moore of Medina. County agent Scott Durham serves as an ex-officio member.

Ballots will be mailed Nov. 22 to all known eligible voters, and anyone eligible who does not receive a ballot may get one at the ASCS office, Saathoff said.

Mountain Lion sighted on Flying A Ranch

A mountain lion was sighted on the Flying A Ranch near Bandera by a hunter after Mrs. E. L. Caffall reported what was apparently the same animal had taken one of her goats and jumped the fence into the Flying A Ranch property.

The hunter was unable to get a shot at the lion.

Caffall said she had pinned her goats and when she counted them she discovered one was missing. When she and her dog went looking for it, they found fresh blood and the lion tracks. They followed the tracks to where it had jumped the fence.

Income tax Workshop planned

A Tax Structure Workshop will be held Tuesday, Nov. 19, at the Bandera Electric Co-op at 7 p.m., says extension agent Scott Durham.

Joe Pena, extension economist from Uvalde, will present the first part of the program on tax management. "This will include a discussion on new tax laws and your rights within the law," Durham said.

The second part of the program will be on the laws concerning inheritance taxes. Robert Kensing, extension economist, from San Angelo, will present this part of the program, Durham said.

$1,000 collected for Lakehills EMS

The cold and damp weather Saturday and Sunday didn't dampen the spirits or the donation-collection effort of the Lakehills EMS Support Team or the EMT's as they alternated shifts from 10 a.m. to almost 5 p.m. both days at the intersection of Park Road 37 and Highway 1283.

The happy group of volunteers collected about $1,000 in their cans as drivers traveling in all four directions stopped to drop coins, bills, and checks in the cans.

The support team which was formed and has been sanctioned by the Bandera County Commissioner's Court and the State of Texas is raising funds for a building for the EMS ambulance in Lakehills with space for a classroom and supply storage.

The building site located near the location of the old lumberyard on Park Road 37 has been donated to the support team.

"The team designated November as EMS Awareness Month, and to kick it off the team members and the volunteer EMTs that man the Lakehills ambulance stood at the intersection rattling cans last weekend," team president Peggy Galland said. Earlier last week the team mailed letters to all area residents explaining the building project and asking for donations to buy materials for the building.

"People were wonderful, as they stopped to chat with use, and many said they didn't have the donation with them they wanted to give, but they would mail it in," Galland said. "The young people stopped and gave what they could, I was amazed at how supportive they were," she said.

Galland said the second public meeting of the Lakehills EMS SupportTeam will be held Nov. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the American Legion Hall in Lakehills. "We hope everyone interested in the EMS will come to the meeting and give us input on their ideas and what they want to see accomplished," she said. The team hopes to have an estimate of what the building project will cost at the meeting as well as a sketch of the building.

Welch qualifies for nationals

Teresa Welch, a junior at Midwestern State University in Wichita Falls, is one of three members of the school's women's cross country team to qualify for the NAIA national cross country meet.

Welch, daughter of Lorean Welch of Bandera and Police Chief Walter Welch, is a graduate of Bandera High School.

The university's cross country program has been in existance only two years, and this is the first time the women's team has qualified runners for the national meet.

Welch will join Debbie Derzapf, a freshman from Henrietta, and Laurie Lucy, a junior from Holliday, at the national meet.

MLBA supports EMS Team

A donation of $100 was approved by the Medina Lake Betterment Association board of directors to be presented to the Lakehills EMS Support Team for the building fund. The directors agreed unanimously that a building to house the Lakehills ambulance was a worthwhile cause and the donation to the fundraiser was in order from the MLBA.

Also at Thursday's meeting the directors approved the membership of Betty Baxter of Lakehills as a MLBA member.

Plans were formulated for the Annual New Year's Eve Dance to be held at the Lakehills Civic Center. The MLBA arranged for The Texas Express Band to play for the dance, Bob Caswell says.

Thanksgiving dinner

Hermann Sons Lodge 81 says it's Thanksgiving Dinner planned for Nov. 28 from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. at the Millie Schenkat Hall on Park Road 37 in Lakehills is open to anyone wishing to come.

The Turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be free to senior citizens over 55 years of age or disabled persons. Those attending who are under 55 and not diasbled can make a $3.50 donation to cover their meal, treasurer Gordon Nordlund said. "We don't want anyone to eat alone or not have the traditional holiday feast. If anyone knows of someone that is a shutin, if they will contact us we will arrange to have their dinner delivered to them in their home."

Those planning to attend need to call in reservations to 751-9901 and let us know how many in their party so we can plan to have enough food prepared," Nordlund said.

MBLA to put on the Ritz

"Putting on the Ritz" will be the theme of the third annual Big Band Dance at the Lakehills Civic Center on Dec. 7. The annual dance featuring the big band sounds of the 1940s and 50s is sponsored each year by the Medina Lake Beterment Association.

The gala event will begin at 8 p.m. with champagne and hor d'oeurves and an old fashioned sing along.

The MLBA directors opted to deduct $1 from the $3.50 admission for those that bring a new toy for the Spirit of Christmas Presents project. The project is to insure that no child in Bandera County will wake up Christmas morning without presents and a big dinner.

Many toys were donated at the Big Band Dance last year, MLBA president Peggy Ashmore said. "We hope to have an even bigger response this year. Many families in the Lakehills area benefited from the project in the past and there are families in the area that will benefit this year."

The dress for the dance is casual to semi-formal. The music will be played by Jim MacMillan on the music console at the Civic Center.

The bar and snack bar will be serving until midnight.

MBLA treasurer Polly Larsen was honored at the Veteran's Dance Saturday with a birthday cake.

Sgt. Millile Schenkat was surprised by Hermann Sons Monday on her 70th Birthday.

Pipe Creek man back from Honduras

Pipe Creek
Lila MacMillan — 751-2586

Richard Sherman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sherman of Pipe Creek, recently returned to Texas from several weeks in Central America.

He is a member of the Christian Medical Society. He accompanied a team of doctors, nurses, and other health care professionals on a two-week project in Honduras. He is a medical laboratory technologist and provided the lab support for the team. It was one of a series of projects held several times a year in Honduras and other countries. Participation is voluntary and is almost totally comprised of Americans and Canadians.

The project was based in the town of San Marcos de Ocotopeque, located in the southwestern part of the country, near El Salvador. His primary task was to train two Honduran nurses in laboratory techniques. The only real challenge, he says, was to find a person with the disease that we were currently studying. Most of the Hondurans were more healthy than normal, due most likely to the presence of a fully staffed health clinic in the town.

Following conclusion of the project, as most of the team returned to the United States, Sherman visited friends in Tegucigalpa (the capital of Honduras) for several days. Then, he flew to Panama, to do some sightseeing. The Shermans lived in the Panama Canal Zone in the 1950's.

VFD auxiliary elects Joe May president

The Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department Auxiliary elected Joe May as new president, and Faye Honaker vice president Monday.

Other officers are secretary Barbara DeLesdeiner and treasurer Wauneta Taylor.

After the business meeting the ladies played bunco. The first prize, a fall arrangement in a horn of plenty was won by Janet Stade, who says she had never played before. Chocolate cake and coffee was served by the refreshment committee.

The group's annual Christmas party at the Mayan Ranch is Dec. 9 at 7:30 p.m. Taylor says it will be a fun time when "secret pals" are revealed and new officers are installed. To make reservations call Jodie Butler at 535-4592. The members have plenty of Benson fruit cakes for sale, both the one and two pound sizes.

PC firemen elect

The Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department elected Phil Martin president and Fire Chief, John Standish.

Assistant fire chief, Jack Trenkelbach; vice president Norman Butler; treasurer Lee Klein; secretary Wauneta Taylor and sergeant at arms, Marc Sultan.

Divers from San Antonio and as far away as Nacogdoches braved the 51-degree weather Friday night and Saturday to compete in the first annual Medina Lake Spearfishing Tournament.

The first place winner in the largest carp division was Kenneth N. Lee of San Antonio with a carp of 25¾ inches. 2nd place was awarded to Robert Schultz, also of San Antonio, with a carp of 21¼ inches.

Largest buffalo was speared by Phillip McGarry and the team division went to the father-son team of David Leach Sr. and David Leach Jr.

Certificates of appreciation were presented to all participants by Skip Byrant, J.B.L. speargun representative, and Rick Wadle, owner of Dive World.

A video tape of the event was made by Rodney Wadle, Rick's son, and will be sent to California to be viewed by divers there. Spearfishing is not allowed in most regions of California.

Ernest Lerma, Texas Parks and Wildlife local game warden, was on hand throughout the tournament to insure the divers' safety and make sure all game laws were observed.

"Plans are already being made for next years event," says Rick Wadle. "We will expect between 200 and 300 divers to show up, due in part to more advance publicity."

"Next year's hunt will be in October with check-in at Cedar Point Landing.

The weather kept the turnout small, but everyone had a good time, including the diver's who wandered up from the cold water to warm their bones with some hot stew.

At the last meeting of the M.V.F.D.

The annual Christmas party of the Mico Volunteer Fire Department was announced by Tootsie Dugosh, secretary, for Dec. 13.

Members and their families will celebrate in a well-decorated fire hall, she said. Danny and Donny O'Connell will furnish sausage and the ladies will all bring a covered dish, Dugosh said.

Serving will begin at 7 p.m. and a live country band will play following the dinner.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

PROVERBS, MAXIMS, APHORISMS...

Folk sayings are part of humanity's collective wisdom, but can they become the basis of a philosophy of life? Hardly, for almost every wise pronouncement is countered by another, equally profound and equally wise. Each saying embodies a bit of distilled wisdom, either the wisdom of a single perceptive mind or the wisdom of group experience. On the other hand, to quote one such maxim, circumstances alter cases.

Following are some examples of mutually contradictory sayings: If you want something done right, do it yourself; If you want something done right, don't do it yousell unless you know how....
God will provide; God helps those who help themselves...
Look before you leap; He who hesitates is lost...
Seize the day; Plan for the future...
Clothes make the man; Many a brave heart beats beneath shabby clothing...
Turn the other cheek; Don't tread on me...
Apparently, it is impossible to compress all wisdom, even on one subject, into one sentence that will solve all problems. There is, however, one maxim that applies to all situations of life: This, too, shall pass...

BHS Government students to celebrate sesquicentennial

Some of the Government student's Sesquicentennial projects.

Government students are celebrating Texas' 150th birthday this year by basing their second six-week's project on the Texas Sesquicentennial.

The Texas Sesquicentennial covers the period from 1836-1986 which celebrates the establishment of Texas as a republic 150 years ago.

The students displayed many different types of projects ranging from videos, cakes of Texas, miniature designs of the Alamo, posters, reports, flags, and picture books.

Senior Government student Glynda Madden said. "I thought this project was a whole lot of fun and interesting too!" And as an extra message to Mrs. Hunter, Glynda stated, "I LOVE GOVERNMENT!!!!!"

ALS officers installed

By Randy McHaney

Association of Legal Students installed Cliff Bronson as president Saturday, Nov. 16, at the Bandera Inn, and heard Mayor Bob Cowan speak on goals.

The evenings program was started off by ALS co-sponsor Mrs. Mary Perkins. The invocation was given by Janice Hodgson, parliamentarian of the Bexar County Legal Secretarial Association.

Speaker for the evening was Bandera Mayor Cowan, who spoke about the five points that he believes one should base his life on to reach all of their goals. These are A - for attitude, B - for belief, C - for commitment, D - for the decision to do it, and P - for persistence, Cowan said.

During the banquet the members enjoyed a chicken fried steak dinner. Other officers installed by Mrs. Perkins, and Mrs. Jane Harrison, Bexar County Legal Secretaries Association president included James Compton, vice president; Michelle McGee, secretary; Russell Wells and Randy McHaney, reporters; Leticia Ybarra, historian; and Shane Zimmermann, sergeant-at-arms.

President Cliff Bronson read the group's code of ethics and gave the benediction.

Record review

Christian rock gets into the act

Stryper - Soldiers Under Command - When I first heard of this group, I didn't know what to think. Yes, it's true — Stryper is a Christian rock band. They're not just any Christian group, though. They have a lot of power.

Stryper gives a good name to today's rock music. Theirs' is hard-driving and captivating music, but unless you listen closely, you'll never be able to tell the difference between their music and other rock music.

Night Ranger - Seven Wishes - Lots of people think that this album is the big hit for the band, but I think there's more to come. The record has little chance against their abilities to get attention on stage, which is where they show a lot of style.

Even though this is not their best ablum, in my mind, it does have some fantastic songs. "Sentimental Street" and "Four In the Morning" lend some great titles as well as good music.

Kiss - Asylum - Kiss' new album is more on the side of rock, not heavy metal. As a band well-known for hard-hitting songs, "Tears Are Falling" is not their fans' favorite. For other rock lovers, the song hits them as really good.

For those of you who like the group or have suddenly shown an interest in the group, look for Kiss to be in San Antonio on tour Dec. 3.

Cole still alive

San Antonio Cole, champions of football District 27-AAA, will face Pflugerville Friday at 8 p.m. at Hays High School Stadium in the second round of the state playoffs.

Cole defeated Somerset in the first round last Friday and District 27-AAA runnerup was defeated by defending state champion Medina Valley.

JV boys loose

In their final game, the Bandera junior varsity football team was downed by the Floresville Tigers, 22-20.

The Bulldogs put up a valiant effort, with such highlights as a 85-yard kickoff return by Johnny Jones and Quarterback Willie Bates' pass to James Crowther for two extra points.

Eric Koog was an outstanding runner in what has been called a pass-and-run game.

Marcus R. Hanna

Markus R. Hanna, the son of Jon M. Hanna and Mrs. Toni J. Holder, is a senior at BHS and has attended BHS for seven years.

Mark plans to be a private detective and is going to St. Edwards University to get his Bachelors degree. Mark says that his parents have been the biggest influence in his life.

"Success consists of getting up just one more time than you fall," is the quote on which Mark would like to base his life. During his free time Mark enjoys being with his friends. When asked what he liked least or most about BHS he said, "I like the close bond between all the student body."

Mark was in FFA his 9th and 10th grade years. Mark also played football his 9th and 10th grade years and ran track his sophomore and junior year.

Kelley Chapman

Known around Bandera for her sparkling smile and cheerful personality, Kelley Rene' Chapman is also well-known as a dedicated varsity cheerleader.

Kelley has attended Bandera High School for two years. Her junior year she was secretary in Future Homemakers of America. Her senior year she is in ALS, OEA, Pen-in-Paw, UIL, and cheerleading.

She is also in the play, "The Night is my Enemy."

She has gone to two different schools prior to Bandera. Her freshman year she went to Naples High in Florida, and her sophomore year she went to Saguaro High in Arizona. While at Naples she participated in volleyball, cheerleading, student council, and was a National Honor Society member. Her sophomore year at Saguaro she participated in gymnastics and powder puff football.

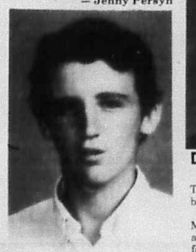

Kelley feels that her mom has had the greatest influence on her. "I lived with her for 15 years and she taught me a lot about growing up and how to deal with hardships in everyday situations."

When asked what she likes the most and least about Bandera High School, she replies, "I like the closeness of the students and teachers and the understanding they have for one another." "I don't like gossip in school. Rumors start very easily around here and the whole town hears about it within a day or two."

"Don't worry about the times you fall, just as long as you get up every time you fall," is the quote Kelley would like to base her life on. Her future goal is to become a political psychologist for a major corporation. She would like to go to Texas A&M University and earn a Ph.D degree in psychology.

Kelley is the daughter of George and Carolyn Chapman.

Robert D. Falardeau

Of all the familiar faces in Bandera High School, Robert Duane Falardeau is one of the more well-known.

Duane, which all of his friends call him, has attended Bandera schools for five years. The last four years he has been the football trainer for the Bandera Bulldogs.

His freshman year, he was honored with the title of class favorite. Ever since this honor was bestowed upon him, he has been one of the more well-known people in this school.

Duane's main goal in life it to begin a water-well drilling business after he gets out of the U.S. Air Force.

The quote which Duane likes to live by is, "It's not the setbacks, it's the comebacks."

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Keith, Duane has many values in life which he acquired from his parents. These values help him make friends, with whom he likes to spend his spare time.

The thing Duane likes most about Bandera High School is the terrific athletic department. If it wasn't for that, he would have never been able to be a trainer. The thing he likes least about Bandera High School is absolutely nothing. He could not find any faults in this school which he likes so much.

— Kelley Chapman

Danny Clark

"Learn from your mistakes." This is the quote Danny Clark is basing his life on.

Danny is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Clark and has attended Bandera Schools for four years. He played football his freshman and sophomore years. He says he enjoys Bandera because it is small and the people are friendly.

Danny feels the greatest influence in his life has been his father. "He has worked so hard to get us where we are now. He has gone through all the ups and downs, and he has accomplished a lot in life," Danny says.

Riding around with a friend and enjoying life is what Danny likes to do in his spare time. His main goal in life is to be independent.

Author to sign books at Bandera County Library

Zell Dickerson, author of "Rise of Dark Shadows," will be autographing copies of her book at the Bandera County Library Friday, Nov. 22 from 3:30 p.m. to 5 p.m.

Dickerson's novel is her way of celebrating the Texas Sesquicentennial. And, according to her news release, what better way to recognize Texas' 150th birthday than by writing a tale of the state's history. This tale is geared towards young adults.

The novel starts in 1836 through the heart of the period "when neighbor fought neighbor, bands of wild horses roamed south Texas, Karankawa Indians ruled the coastlands and the seeds of racial prejudice were sown at the outset of the new Republic of Texas."

Library gets new look

Bandera County Library has a new look thanks to the County, two grants and various donations from local organizations and community members.

To beautify the library's landscape, $600 was donated by the Exxon Chemical Company from their America's Community Involvement Fund. In addition, Bandera County approved funds for a new roof, sign and sidewalk, according to Dr. Jimmie Hughey, Library Director.

"We also received a very specified donation from the Catherine Dumrzese Estate," Hughey added. "She gave the library $10,000 for the purchase of books and can be used only for that reason, which is good."

Donations from Lt. Abraham Contini, of Chapter 29 Texas Society of the American Revolution in Bandera, and Mr. and Mrs. John Harrell bought the library a microfilm reader's table and a two-drawer oak card file, according to assistant library director Jackie Denyer.

Huie represents HOBY

Letitia Huie

Letitia Huie, a sophomore at Medina High School, has been selected to represent the school at the annual Hugh O'Brian Youth symposium which will be held at Lackland Air Force Base in April, 1986. The Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation has conducted State and International Leadership Seminars for high school sophomores at no cost to the school or student since 1958. The format of the seminar is unique; bringing together a select group of high school sophomores with demonstrated leadership qualities and a group of distinguished leaders in business, education, government, and the professions.
The question-and-answer, give-and-take format helps these sophomores think for themselves. They learn that as individuals they are important, that their thoughts and actions can make a difference. The seminar motivates students by showing them that how to think can be just as important as what to think.
Each year at the conclusion of the State Seminar, one boy and one girl are chosen to represent their group at a week-long International Seminar which, this year, will be hosted in Indianapolis by Indiana University and Purdue University (Indianapolis Campus) from August 1-9, 1986.

Hicks-Brown wedding

Jeanine Hicks of Austin and Poe J. Brown of Round Rock exchanged vows Oct. 19.

Jeanine Hicks of Austin and Poe J. Brown of Round Rock exchanged vows on Oct. 19 in the First Baptist Church of Bandera with the Rev. Don Searles, minister of education at the First Baptist Church of Austin, officiating.
Because of rain, the wedding was moved from under the Cottonwood Tree on the Hix Ranch to the First Baptist Church.
The bride is the daughter of Carmen and Dick Walton Hicks of Bandera. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Poe John Brown of Oklahoma City.
The processional included all the bride's family. Her two brothers Dick and David Hicks escorted her mother. The bride was given in marriage by her parents with her father escorting her.
Two large candelabras and blooming pot plants created a garden setting at the podium where the couple exchanged vows.
The bride chose a two-piece dress of white linen in tea length with a lace bib front and back, with lace cuffs, a tiered lace skirt, and she carried a bouquet of long stemmed roses in shades of pink.
The bride's sister, Charmen Hicks Catlin of Bryan, served as matron of honor wearing a two-piece tea-length dress in a pink floral print. She carried a nosegay of pink roses.
Bridesmaids Amanda and Laurel Catlin, and the flower girl Cathleen Catlin, nieces of the bride, wore pink, rose and lavendar tea length "Polyanna" dresses with cap sleeves.
The bride's mother wore a beige and purple print chiffon dress with a full length skirt with ruffles at the neck and wrists. Her corsage was a cymbidium orchid.
James Cogdell of Round Rock was best man and ushers were the bride's brother David Hicks and her brother-in-law Larry Catlin of Bryan.
Dan Raff of Austin sang, accompanied by Susan York of Austin at the organ. Robert Downer, minister of music at the First Baptist Church in Austin, began the ceremony by leading the guests in four hymns.
Following the ceremony the 250 guests were served a barbecue dinner at the First National Bank meeting room.
The couple is at home in Round Rock after a honeymoon in the Big Bend and Fort Davis area.
The bride is a program officer with the Texas 1986 Sesquicentenial Commission in Austin. The groom is a stockbroker with Edward D. Jones Company.
House party members included, Mrs. Kathleen Tobin Krueger of New Braunfels; Mrs. Bonnie Ruhmann, Mrs. Margaret Anderson, Mrs. Diane Rincon of Austin; Mrs. Gerry Smith of Waco; Miss Mandy Griffin of Dallas; Mrs. Eloise Nixon and Mrs. Connie Smith of Bandera; and cousins of the bride, Mrs. Janet Faulk of Dallas, Mrs. Cathy Toeppich of Floresville, and Mrs. Helen Hicks of San Antonio.

Joey Cielencki assures his two sisters Janet and Tracy (above) that their show turkeys will not end up on display at Boyles Market like the frozen turkeys abundantly stacked by Perry Wilkerson (left) for Boyle's customers. From fresh to frozen, there are some helpful hints to remember when buying.

When purchasing a fresh bird, buy it only a day or two before you plan to roast it. Turkey is highly perishable and should be refrigerated 40° F or below until it goes in the oven.

Defrosting frozen turkeys in the refrigerator takes from 2 to 5 days, depending on it's size. However, a microwave oven can speed up the defrosting process.

Once the turkey is thawed, remove neck and giblets and rinse the inside and outside and drain before stuffing and cooking.

Hicks to lead parade during Shopper's Jubilee

By Renae D. Bundy
Staff Writer

Among the events this year is an auction during which shoppers may use cash register receipts from chamber members to purchase items donated by merchants.

Starting off the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce Shopper's Jubilee will be Don and Judy Hicks of the Mayan Guest Ranch, who will be leading the parade Dec. 6.

Other events slated for the Jubilee include a tree-lighting ceremony, open house at various Main Street and off-Main stores, Melodiers singing Christmas carols, children taking pictures with Santa Claus, a judging of large and small businesses decorated for Christmas and, for the first time, an auction.

The parade will start at 4:30 p.m. from Cypress and Main Streets and end at Montague Drive, next to the Purple Hills Manor, Inc.

"We might have the candlelight procession if we can get the Boy Scouts, but we're not sure if they have anything else scheduled," said Edith Changler, chairwoman of the Shopper's Jubilee. "It will mostly be a mobile parade," she added.

As the parade passes before the courthouse, there will be a tree-lighting ceremony. The person in charge of the ceremony has not been determined as of yet, according to Chandler.

Beginning at 5:30 p.m., and continuing until 9 p.m., various merchants will have open houses, and special holiday sales. Melodiers will sing carols while strolling Main. Santa Claus will be available for picture taking at a variety of businesses and judging of the local large and small businesses will take place.

"This year we have Frank Anderwald (local guest ranch owner) playing Santa," said Chandler. "The judging of the decorated businesses will be done by out-of-towners, although they have not been selected just yet. We will have a first-, second- and third-place plaque for each the small and large businesses."

Something new this year will be the Shopper's Jubilee Auction, which will take place at 9 p.m. at The Cabaret.

This auction is unique in that money will not be used to buy the items. Instead, participants will use receipts saved, prior to the event, from merchants who are members of the Bandera Chamber of Commerce. These receipts need to be validated before Dec. 6 at the Chamber of Commerce office, Chandler said.

Items to be sold to the highest bidder have a minimum retail value of $35, Chandler said, and include a 13-inch RCA color TV, Makita cordless drill, and a Zenith AM/FM radio with a TV band. However, the minimum starting bid will be $100.

The auction takes the place of the dance held last year. "This auction is a family thing, and since it doesn't start until 9 p.m. and may go on for a few hours, most everyone will want to go home afterwards," explains Chandler.

"However, Cal Chapman will have a jukebox set out for anyone who wants to stay. But there won't be a live band this year."

Two indicted by grand jury for indecency with a child

By Lila MacMillan
Staff Writer

Two Bandera men were arrested after the Bandera County grand jury handed down two indictments on each of them Nov. 22.

George Richard Wood, 44, and Jeffery Dale Siegman, 24, both of Bandera, were indicted by the grand jury on charges of indecency with a child and aggravated sexual assault.

Both men were arrested Nov. 20 by Deputy James MacMillan after the Sheriff's Department received complaints from the Texas Department of Human Resources against the men. Both men are free after posting $10,000 bonds on each of the charges.

The grand jury also indicted Walter Lee Jones for the burglary of the home of Turner Davis on Oct. 20.

The grand jury handed down a total of seven indictments, but the names and circumstances on two of them have not been released, pending arrests. There were no no-bills.

A second man connected in the stabbing of Randy Bass on Oct. 15 in his room at the Frontier Hotel has been apprehended and jailed.

Robert Lynn Koontz, 25, claiming to be an Austin resident, was picked up in Austin Monday on warrants issued from Bandera County in October for aggravated assault and unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Chief Deputy Ken Mingo said his office contacted Austin authorities after receiving word Koontz, also known as Randy Carver, and David Merle Carter, was believed to be in the Austin area.

Koontz was returned to Bandera on Monday and remains in jail here in lieu of $10,000 bond on each charge.

Roberto Cigarroa, 23, and Henry F. Overkleeft, 24, both of San Antonio were arrested Nov. 22 for game violations. Deputies Tim Landrum and Bob Hines arrested the men after they found a doe deer in their possession.

Cigarroa was charged with discharging a firearm from the roadway and both men were charged with possession of a doe dear. Peace Justice Ed Jennings assessed fines of $425 for Cigaroa and $212.50 for Overkleeft.

Johnny Pat Colyer, 27, of San Antonio was arrested Nov. 25 by Deputy Jimmy De Lesdernier and Game Warden Carlton Becker for killing a doe deer, hunting without a lisence, and possession of marijuana paraphanalia. Judge Bonnie Towers assessed fines totaling $544 on the three charges.

Harold Henry Meyer, 30, of San Antonio was arrested Nov. 23 by City police officer Joe Rodriguez for public intoxication, fleeing a police officer, and traffic offenses. He was released the following day after paying $646.50 in fines.

There were several burglaries reported during the week Mingo said. The Pipe Creek home of Jim Sharp, owner of Radio Shack, was entered through a sliding glass door Nov. 25. Missing are guns, television equipment, and video equipment valued at over $2,700.

Jane Malone of the Bandera Post Office reported someone took mail from a row of boxes across from the entrance of Bandera Ranch Acres, tore the mail into pieces and scattered it on the ground.

Victor Thane reported Nov. 21 someone vandalized his place in River Oaks Ranch, breaking windows and a remote television unit and slashing the cushions on a couch. Missing were miscellaneous items valued at $95. Estimated damage was $215.

Tom Herrera of Pipe Creek reported Nov. 21 someone stole his yellow Labrador retreiver named Rambo.

Turkey prices up slightly over last year, expert says

You may have to spend a few cents more to put a Thanksgiving turkey on the table this year, but it shoulnd't break your budget or your diet.

"Producers are raising more turkeys in 1985 than 1984," says Texas A & M University Agricultural Extension Service poultry specialist Dr. David Mellor, "although increased supplies won't necessarily result in lower retail prices."

Last year's price for larger, unbasted store brand turkeys was about 60 cents per pound, while basted, national brand turkey sold for 90 cents to a dollar a pound.

Mellor says that prices could be as much as 10 cents per pound higher than last year.

But the specialist concedes that prices are hard to predict because many retailers offer specials on holiday birds to attract shoppers to their stores.

"To keep your costs down, select a plain turkey rather than a pre-basted bird," suggests Mellor. National brand turkeys will also be more expensive than store brands, he said.

Extension nutritionist Marilyn Haggard also reminds consumers that turkey is a highly nutritious food and can be eaten on a low-calorie diet.

A three-ounce serving of turkey breast meat, without the skin contains 157 calories, while a similar serving of dark meat has 187 calories.

"For the dieter, it's more important to watch the dressing, gravy and trimmings that go along with the turkey, since they add the greatest share of the calories in a Thanksgiving meal," she says.

Wild turkey eludes most holiday diners

One breed of turkey will likely beat getting basted this holiday season: wild turkeys, the speedsters of the species.

Wild gobblers have been clocked in flight at top speeds of 42 miles per hour; and, even on the ground, they can dash faster than all but the fastest human runners. They are among the most elusive game animals around, according to the current issue of International Wildlife magazine.

The birds seem to prefer walking to flying, but when they do fly, they can zoom through the air with surprizing agility. Their powerful legs and wings, specially adapted for rapid acceleration, help boost the bulky bird from the ground.

The wild birds, indeed, are a breed apart from their domesticated kin — farm turkeys — which have lost their swiftness and ability to fly. Because of this, most people prefer the turkey as bill of fare.

The wild turkey's fast maneuvers, however, are short-lived. After a quick burst of speed, the bird becomes exhausted. The gobbler rarely attempts flights longer than a quarter-mile; and, even on the ground, it doesn't get very far.

It lacks a red pigment that, in far-flying birds, combines with oxygen to burn energy over long distances. (The absence of the red pigment also explains why most wild turkey meat is white.)

Despite the bird's flagging endurance, catching the animal is no easy matter. "I've chased a wild turkey down on foot myself, with the help of another fellow," says Lovett Williams, a Florida biologist. "Doing it, though, damn near killed us."

Longhorn Saloon pays $1,500 fine

The Longhorn Saloon on Highway 16 north in Bandera opted to pay a $1,500 fine Nov. 11 rather than suspend business for 10 days, Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission agent Tommy Hall told the Bulletin.

Hall said the night spot was charged with refusal to allow an inspection of the premises by a peace officer.

City police officer Carlos Reyna knocked on the door of the business after hours when he found several cars in the parking lot. After he identified himself as an officer, the proprietor refused to open the door. Hall said people were drinking inside the saloon after hours.

Sales tax collections up 16.1 percent in Bandera

Sales tax collections by merchants in Bandera continue to run well ahead of collections last year and well ahead of the statewide average, according to figures from the state comptroller's office.

The city of Bandera has received payments totaling $116,086.47 since Jan. 1, an increase of 16.1 percent over the amount of payments received last year through Nov. 1, the comptroller said. The statewide average increase was 10.8 percent.

The city's share is 1 percent of taxable sales, so the estimated sales of taxable goods and services in Bandera during the first 10 months of 1985 is $11.6 million, compared to $10.0 million during the same period last year.

Bandera's 16.1 percent increase in sales over last year was a larger increase than most area cities, but Ingram noted an increase of 21.6 percent, Blanco an increase of 19.9 percent and Castroville 18.2 percent.

Fredericksburg's increase was 15.5 percent, Kerrville 13.4 percent, Hondo 11.8 percent, Boerne 11.3 percent, Leakey 7.1 percent, Johnson City 5.3 percent and Junction 3.9 percent. Rocksprings collections were down by 14.1 percent.

Never let anyone tell you that the Bandera Bulletin shies away from controversy. Let the San Antonio papers have their rock and roll squabbles. Let the Houston papers have their nudist apartment complexes. Let the Dallas papers have their cocaine Cowboy rumors. Let the Washington papers have Nancy Reagan's wardrobe.

Here we have deer meat.

(Incidentally, out-of-town hunters with fat wallets are prohibited from reaching past this point.)

The fact of the matter is that deer meat is lousy.

It's about as chewy as Number Two yellow pine. Unless you can capture Bambi live and take her to a professional butcher for a proper execution, her corpse is saturated with blood.

If it's a buck in rut, you'll have a hard time getting the dogs to eat it.

You can call that "wild game flavor" and smack your lips if you please. I say it's inedible, and you're probably one of those authentic types that go for the liver while it's still warm and quivering.

Do not despair, however, even if your refrigerator is overflowing with the stuff right now. There is always the backstrap.

It can be cut into thin, narrow strips. Marinade that for a day or so in a heavy solution of, say, salt, pepper, garlic, brown sugar, and either soy sauce, liquid smoke, or worcestershire, and your favorite seasoning mix for, say, chili, barbecue, or sweet and sour sauce. Pull out the strips, wipe off the excess, and smoke or dry them until they are not as brittle as a tortilla chip, but on their way.

This will all but obliterate the taste of venison, which is what we are trying to accomplish here.

As for the rest of the meat, there is only one thing to do. You have probably heard the old tales about soaking venison steaks in everything from mother's milk to sulfuric acid. Forget them, because they do not work.

No, there is only one thing to do, and we owe our knowledge of this mysterious process to a brilliant Texas immigrant of the last century. He could have been Polish, or German, or Czech, but all we know about his last name is that it had a lot of consonants.

When asked what to do with deer meat, this fellow said, "Why not make sausage? That's what we do with everything else on four legs."

Next week: Old World sausage secrets.

Capitol Highlights
Talk resurfaces in Austin about White's run for VP

State government has its own rhythm: a time to govern and a time to campaign, even though some would say a good politician campaigns all the time.

There was a lot of political jockeying going on last week and no matter the origin, the man in the middle of it all was Gov. Mark White.

Unfortunately for the governor, he seemed to be catching heat from all directions: the Republican party, the courtroom, the schools, the coaches, the consumers, even the Democratic Party.

One thing going his way was a planned trip to San Francisco for a fund-raiser reception. His second out-of-state trip for campaign funds has folks murmuring once again of his ambitions to be the Democrats' vice presidential nominee in 1988.

After all, the Democrats may need a Texas homeboy on the ticket to carry the Lone Star State, and White has already been to New York to raise campaign funds.

Political Elbowing

The way political elbows were jostling last week, you might wonder if he left just to get out of the line of fire. Some of the highlights which involved White as a target, directly or indirectly, included:

— Two GOP candidates, Kent Hance and Tom Loeffler, both demanded that White fire his appointee to the Public Utility Commission, who recently acknowledged using state funds and staff to finish his Ph.D. dissertation. White said he won't do it and told Dennis Thomas to "hang in there."

— Directors of the 10,000-member Texas High School Coaches Association announced they will meet soon to consider whether they will launch a campaign against White for his unrelenting stance on the controversial "no-pass, no-play" reform. White's answer was to insist he won't back off an inch and to declare he has no sympathy for "crying and whining" coaches.

— A legal challenge to soften "no-pass, no-play" continued last week in Houston where a class action lawsuit went to trial. Political forecasters say if the suit to change the reform prevails, White's chances for re-election go down the tubes with the reform.

— With that possibility obviously in mind, Texas Attorney General Jim Mattox told the reporters he will run for re-election. White' response to the challenge: "come ahead."

— A Texas Consumers Union director criticized White for failing to reappoint a member of the State Board of Morticians. Grady Baskin, Jr. said he wasn't renamed because he refused to promise the governor's appointments secretary he would support White's re-election. The secretary, Dwane Holman, said that's not what happened at all, but consumer advocate Carol Barger, also present, sided with Baskin. Baskin won the Consumer Union's support last year when he made an undercover probe of funeral homes and found 23 of 24 breaking state price disclosure laws. Baskin was unsuccessful in trying to get the board to take action.

Mattox, Brown

Mattox, for his part, last week indicated he would forego making a legal ruling on whether an announced candidate, state Sen. Buster Brown, R-Lake Jackson, could legally run against him. The courts could best decide that issue, he said.

Brown's eligibility is questioned because the Texas Constitution prevents a legislator from running for another office if he voted that office a salary increase. Brown has said he won't accept the higher salary if he's elected.

Mattox also announced last week he has hired former U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower, who served in Congress with Mattox, as first assistant attorney general. He replaces Tom Green, who resigned to run the Mattox campaign.

The appointment kills speculation that Hightower would try to take back the seat he lost in 1984 to the GOP.

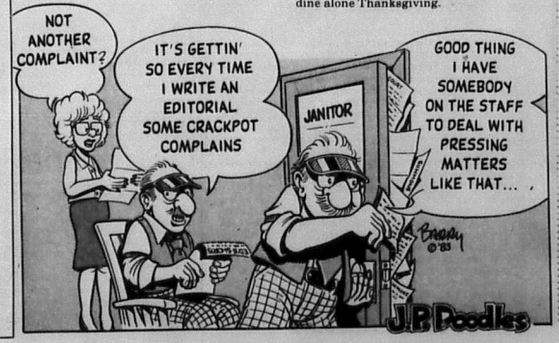

Two Party Chairmen

Last week the head of the Texas Republican Party surprised his folks by saying he was out, and his counterpart with Texas Democrats did the same by saying he was in.

George Strake, the chairman credited with rebuilding a Texas Republican Party shattered in '82, said "it's my time to go and let somebody else do it." He will not run for re-election next year, and gave no clue hinting he will run for a state office.

Two days later, Texas Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle told his state committee he will run for a fourth term, probably a record. Widespread speculation was that Slagle would step down or run for Congress instead. Slagle, solidly aligned with the Mark White faction, said he wants to finish the job he started.

Bandera County
potpourri
By Nick Johnson

Dear Editor:

One important item the Bandera commissioners should consider as soon as possible is the erection of "monster"-type bilboards (signs) in Bandera County.

Bandera County's most important asset is its open highways through the hills. Thousands of people each year enjoy getting away and riding to Bandera through the Hill Country. In order to protect this valuable asset, an ordinance or some control must be passed before it's too late. Once these horrible signs are installed on Highway 16 it will be impossible to get them down.

A sorry example is the monstrosity installed in the middle of Pipe Creek by Lone Star Ice Co. and General Sign Co.

Bill Studstill
Pipe Creek

And if the examples he cites aren't ugly enough, then take a look at that unsightly thing that stands in the 700 block of Main Street in downtown Bandera. It's owned by Rollins Outdoor Advertising, Inc., and hasn't been leased to a commercial customer in at least four years.

It advertises nothing except that the people of Bandera are willing to accept the concept that the beauty of our town is expendable to the whims of out-of-town businesses.

Unfortunately county commissioners are powerless to do much about signs along the highway, and reader Studstill will have to look to the state for help.

But there are unsightly billboards on county-owned property in downtown Bandera, and the Bandera City Council has ample power to govern signs in the city.

And it is in the city that conditions exist that prompted one wag to suggest changing our "Cowboy Capital" moniker to "Ugly Sign Capital."

Why, in Bandera's there's a plastic sign advertising a plastic sign for sale.

By Lila MacMillan

It's Thanksgiving and folks around Bandera will be counting their blessings when they sit down to a table with an abundance of food Thursday.

The menus will vary from home to home. The hunters will be serving venison, wild pork, and wild turkey. Those that don't hunt will be feasting on butterball turkeys, hams, and even beef.

Blessings, like menus come in all shapes and varieties. The Edge family in Medina will be thankful that nurse Patsy Prather was on hand when their baby quit breathing in K-Mart and she knew CPR.

Families around Medina Lake will be giving thanks for the rains this year that brought the lake up 30 feet over it's low after last year's drought.

The farmers and ranchers will also be thankful for the rain that supplied the moisture for their fields and pastures.

The senior citizens will be giving thanks for their beautiful new activity center.

School officials and kids will be thankful this will be the last year they'll have to put up with the overcrowding at the elementary and junior high campuses.

Business owners all over the county will be giving thanks for the increase in business this year. Shoppers will be thankful for the new businesses and those that have remodeled and enlarged this year.

Most families will be thankful for another year of peace in the world, and will share in the blessings of having their children and grandchildren with them.

For those that don't have their families with them most communities in our area will have a Turkey Dinner. In Lakehills, Hermann Sons will have a feast for those alone or disabled. In Bandera, Grace Lutheran Church will serve a Turkey Dinner.

Hopefully no one in our area will have to dine alone Thanksgiving.

Dockery tells PTO tax situation

Bandera school superintendent Tod Dockery spoke to a large gathering of parents at the Parent Teacher Organization's meeting on the present tax situation in the district. The explanation was followed by entertaining programs given by students in Mrs. Kellog, Mrs. Howell, and Mrs. Curbo's classes, Darlene Marks reported.

The PTO is planning a bake sale in December at the Bandera Firehouse. The proceeds will go toward purchasing needed school equipment, Marks said.

Senior Citizens
By Kay Robinson

Hank Keene, a retired NCO, realizes that all expenses are not over when a building is finished. He presents a check for $100 to the Silver Sage Corral practically every month, and has now reached a total of $3,500 in donations. That's more than any other individual donor.

Living alone, he eats most of his meals with the center's nutrition program, and is a volunteer host one half-day a week. He, among many other volunteers from Silver Sage Corral, will be receiving an award at the Christmas Awards Tea, of the Volunteer Services Council held at Kerrville State Hospital on Friday, Dec. 6.

Lost maples

More than a dozen seniors had a field trip to Lost Maples State Park on Tuesday, Nov. 19. To get out of the misty rain, the group ate their picnic lunch on the wide verandas of the Lost Maples General Store, and shopped its rooms full of handcrafts. When the rain stopped, they had the colorful trails among the Bigtooth maples and along the rugged Sabinal River almost to themselves.

The route chosen was the circle, going by way of Medina and returning by way of Tarpley, covering some of the most beautiful scenery in this or any other Hill Country county.

Rock Hounds

Officers for the coming year elected at the Rock Hounds meeting on Thursday, Nov. 21, at Silver Sage Corral are Paco Moore, president; Mary Worley, vice president; and Vernell Mullenax, secretary-treasurer.

They decided to skip the meeting in December, and to change the meeting night from the third to the fourth Thursday night of the month, beginning in January.

Milton Hausman, a spokesman for the group, would like the community to know that although the group is sponsored by the Senior Center and meets at Silver Sage Corral, it is not limited to seniors only, but would welcome new members of any age.

The palate-pleasing pancake breakfast

Why should anyone look forward to the first Tuesday of the month, when all those bills come in the mail? Because it has a redeeming feature: the regular pancake breakfast at Silver Sage Corral. It's coming up on Dec. 3 from 6:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m.

In return for the suggested donation of $2.50, a customer gets the works: pancakes, bacon, sausage, syrup, coffee, orange juice and seconds on request. It is also a good place to meet and visit with friends and neighbors.

The 55-Alive driver improvement course, taught by June Settlemeyer (enrollment filled) will meet at the Methodist Church on this, the second day of the 2-day course.

Thanksgiving favors for shut-ins

The recipients of the Senior Center's home-delivered meals are grateful, of course, for a hot meal at noon, brought to their door. But this year there will be an extra Thanksgiving treat in the form of favors made especially for these special people by the Girl Scouts of Medina, Nedra Traweek, leader. A very thoughtful gesture by the younger generation...

Santa Claus must be for real

Already one item on the Wish List published in this column last week has been granted; the exercycle. Thanks to Mary Portman of Wharton's Dock for this addition to the Silver Sage Corral Fitness Club. Pedal away while reading or watching TV, keep track of your mileage, and (best of all) you don't have to walk back. Now, if Santa Claus will only remember the three-fold screens and the easels...

Melodiers

It comes as no great surprise to hear that this is the absolute busiest time of the year. To get it all straight, the Melodiers and Autoangels are urged to attend the rehearsal at Silver Sage Corral on Thursday, Dec. 5 at 5 p.m. They will go to Purple Hills also on Thursday instead of the usual Friday, and on Friday the 6th will begin their evening of carolling for the Shoppers Jubilee, by presenting a short program at the First State Bank. At 9 p.m. they will gather at the Corral, which, with its boutique, will be open at 6 p.m. There will be three subsequent appearances for the Melodiers: Sunday the 8th at Kerrville State Hospital, Saturday the 14th at the VA Hospital, and Wednesday the 18th at First State Bank Open House. So far, at least, that's all.

Ban the lonely hearts on Christmas

It is hoped that no senior citizens will have to sit at home alone on Christmas Day, because the Silver Sage Corral will be open for drop-ins or all-day guests from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. There will be opportunity for a covered dish dinner at noon, plus "nibbles" before and after. For entertainment there will be cable TV, pool, dominoes, checkers, Scrabble, cards, music and dancing. This is a volunteer effort to brighten up a mid-week Christmas.

Open house

The Creative Arts of Comfort will hold its annual Christmas Open House on Sunday, Dec. 1, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This group of 22 shops and restaurants will open their doors on this special day, helping to kick off the Christmas season.

Raymond Smith of Bandera was in to renew his subscription to the Bandera Bulletin last week. He remarked he had been subscribing to the Bulletin as long as the paper has been called the Bandera Bulletin. He said before that he subscribed to the "New Era," the Bulletin's predecessor.

Valentino and the Shahan Express (top photo) and Clay Blaker (bottom left) will be performing at The Cabaret during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Over Thanksgiving holidays

Cabaret to feature two top bands

In celebration of the Thanksgiving holidays, The Cabaret will feature two well-known western bands; Valentino and the Shahan Express and Clay Blaker and the Texas Honky-Tonk Band. Valentino will perform Nov. 27 and 29 and Clay Blaker will play Nov. 30

"Anyone from 13 to 80 will enjoy Valentino because they play both rock and country," said Cal Chapman, owner of The Cabaret. "And Johnnie, the bass player has a traveling hat collection that's a show in itself, we even gave him a bed-pan hat last year that he wears."

Valentino began playing the fiddle as a teenager and while in Bracketville in the late 70's he played for Happy Shahan. From there Happy Shahan became Valentino's personal manager and formed the Valentino and the Shahan Express.

"This is the fourth time they have performed at The Cabaret and they are extremely popular in New Mexico and West Texas," added Chapman.

Blaker has been performing with his band since 1975. They have toured Europe, performing in Wales, Scotland, England, Holland and West Germany.

Recently, Blaker had one of his songs, "The Only Thing I have Left," cut by George Strait on his Strait From the Heart album. The band's material consists mostly of traditional country and western swing.

Sculptor exhibiting at Cowboy Capital Gallery

Displaying his work in the Cowboy Capital Western Art Gallery is the well-known western and wildlife bronze sculpture artist Jim Duetsch.

Deutsch was raised in Bandera and, as he puts it, "was lured back by legendary cowboys and the likes of Tootsie Mansfield and Ray Wharton."

The bronzes he sculpts come from memories of people and places, including some from Bandera. One person from Bandera he sculpted from memory is named "Snuffy" and he askes that the people of Bandera see his display and try to identify "Snuffy."

Mico

Carol Smith — 751-3831

Don Poterack, caretaker ot the Settles' longhorn ranch outside Mico, is finally out of his cast. Don was riding a motorcycle last January when he had an accident and broke his leg. His leg didn't seem to want to heal, and Don was forced to wear his cast until just week.

Dance at the Quihi Gun Club

Friends united at the Quihi Gun Club last Saturday night, Nov. 16, to dance to the music of the "Country Shufflers" of San Antonio.

Candi Meyers, 10, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meyers, played the violin and sang. Mrs. Matt Dugosh said, "I've heard Candi perform before, but this time it seemed to be especially good."

Pete Cox, who is soon to open his own club in Lampassas, also sang. He has written several popular songs, including "Here I Am Drunk Again" and "Between Blue Eyes and Blue Jeans."

In attendance were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Sittre and family, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Meyer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zinsmeister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wurzbach, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Haby, Mr. and Mrs. Matt Dugosh, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Rihn, and Mr. and Mrs. Red Wurzbach.

Award presented

Harold Zinsmeister of Mico was awarded a 30-year certificate and pin at the ballroom of the Kelly AFB officer's club on Nov. 18.

Delores Huth, Harold's daughter-in-law, and his wife Bessie Zinsmeister were at the party, given for those who had reached the 30-year mark.

Zinsmeister was also treated to a dinner out on this special occasion.

Newest resident

Richard Fournier has moved from Quihi to Mico this past week. He is the son of Rosalee and Frank Fournier Sr. of Quihi.

Fishing is good

The black bass and catfish are being caught in abundance this week, fishermen report. Fish are striking on artificial lures and minnows, especially in the coves and shallows further up the lake.

Kidder stricken

Hope and Brad Kidder's son, Patrick, was rushed to the Methodist Hospital in San Antonio Thursday, Nov. 14, with an apparent heart attack.

At press time, Patrick is still in the hospital with surgery being planned.

Serving will begin at 8 a.m. and the coffee will be brewing, Doris Holt said. The Christmas Bazaar will also be open Sunday for those wishing to browse or shop while having breakfast tacos.

There are many unique and unusual decorations and gift items in the bazaar, many of them homemade by lodge members.

Mauer completes 40 years

Ray Mauer was recognized by American Legion Post 410 commander Richard Mixon for 40 years service. Mixon was an outstanding contributor to the accomplishment of the American Legion programs. Mauer was presented a certificate recognizing his years of service.

Mauer is a past commander of the Lakehills post and past commander of Dinter Post 3 in Cuero. He currently serves as adjutant for Post 410 and is zone commander for the 21st District.

Sue Kruse was the recipient of a gold Texas shaped pin in recognition of her outstanding membership efforts during her term as president of the Auxiliary. Auxiliary president Elaine Mixon made the presentation at a joint meeting last Thursday evening.

Peggy Galland, president of the Lakehills EMS Support Team spoke at the joint meeting regarding participation and progress of the organization's efforts in raising funds to build a home for the Lakehills ambulance.

The legion and auxiliary voted to purchase two color television sets to be presented to the Veteran Administration Hospital in Kerrville for patient use. The television sets will be special Christmas gifts for veterans confined to the hospital.

Plans were formulated for the annual Christmas in Lakehills supper to be held Christmas Eve, at the Legion home and for the tree trimming party scheduled for Dec. 7.

KRRT celebrates independence

A celebration of Independence was held at the YO Ranch Hilton in Kerrville Nov. 20 by KRRT Television station. Among the guests, board members, and staff were Loice and Rosalee Odom of Lakehills.

MLP performed at TT

For the third time actors with the Medina Lake Players held an audience spellbound when they performed "Curse You, Jack Dalton" at Thousand Trails. A spokesman for the Players said it was great to be asked to put on the performance at the same place three times and have such a supportive audience each time.

Despite the humid damp weather the tent was filled to standing room only. Actors performing for Saturday night's performance were Gwen Akin, Cindy McKay, Noel McKay, Karen Kennedy, Jim Endicott, Kate Kennedy, and Jim MacMillan. The players were under the direction of Bill McKay. Out of staters enjoying the Medina Lake Thousand Trails resort and area activities were Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Storm of Nebraska, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Wallace of Minnesota, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold George of North Carolina, Mr. and Mrs. George Griffin of Arkansas, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Wright of Virginia, and several couples from California.

Big Band to aid Spirits

Those bringing a new toy to the "Putting on the Ritz" Big Band Dance on Dec. 7 will get $1 off the admission price, organizers said.

The toys will be turned over to the elves of the Spirits of Christmas Presents program. The program collects money, toys, and other items needed to assure every child in Bandera County will have a happy and Merry Christmas.

The third annual Big Band Dance theme this year will be "Putting on the Ritz." It will begin at 8 p.m. at the Lakehills Civic Center and participants will dance until midnight. Jim MacMillan will be supplying big band sounds from the 1940s and '50s.

Dress is optional, from casual to semi-formal.

Champagne and hors d'eouvres will be served at 8 p.m. The snack bar and bar will be open until midnight. Admission will be $3.50 per person, less $1 for those bringing a toy.

Holt elected president

Doris Holt was elected president for the upcoming year at Hermann Sons Lodge last week. Vice president will be Millie Schenkat, secretary Kim Schelb, and treasurer Johnie Bartlett.

New member on the finance committee will be Bea Borchers. Darrell Stockinger and Art Holt will be new trustees for the Lodge.

Installation of officers will be held at the January meeting, Holt said.

Reservations for Thanksgiving Dinner

Reservations are still coming in at Hermann Sons Lodge for Thanksgiving Dinner. Millie Schenkat Hall will be the site of a full course meal Thursday for anyone in the area that wants to dine out. The turkey dinner with all the trimmings will be free for anyone 55 or over or anyone that is disabled. For those 55 and under or not disabled the cost will be $3.50 per person. Serving will be from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Reservations can be made by calling the hall at 751-9901.

Anyone knowing a shutin in the area can arrange to have their meal delivered to them in their home by calling the Lodge Hall.

New boy in Pipe Creek

Steven and Shellie Snellgrove of Pipe Creek are the proud parents of a baby boy. Benjamin Cooper Snellgrove was born Oct. 28 weighing six pounds, seven ounces.

Grandparents are Leo and Pat Swenson and David and Shirley Snellgrove of San Antonio.

One proud mom

Mary Suttles Tajan Stokes is busting with pride these days. Her daughter, Tacey Tajan, an interior-exterior designer, was featured in the August issue of Texas Homes magazine.

Tajan is a professional designer in Houston. Her home is unique, with many bright and unusual features. It was originally a grocery store.

The big news her mother told the Bulletin is Tajan will be featured in the February issue of Cosmopolitan magazine.

Stokes says her daughter was born in Houston but visited the Suttle Ranch on the West Prong near Medina often as a child. Stokes and her husband have a ranch in Pipe Creek now and are in the Beefmaster cattle business.

While a freshman at the University of Texas, Tajan worked for Collins Bag Company in Medina. Her mother said she designed the horoscope rocks while employed there. She later went to the University of America in Mexico City, and then spent a year in Spain.

Tajan lives with her small son, Izacc in the renovated grocery.

PCCC election results

"I'm really pleased with the number of people that voted in our election. We had a total of 78 ballots cast. It's good to see so many people taking an interest in the Community Center," Johnnie Newcomer said this week.

New trustees elected are L. C. Kelly with 45 votes and Bob Woodall with 43. Bucky Densford received 37 votes and there were 13 write-in votes cast.

Kelly and Woodall will replace outgoing trustees Mona Morrison and Ken Edwards. Newcomer is the carry-over trustee.

Newcomer said they will be installed at the next meeting of the Pipe Creek Community Center trustees. She also called attention to the fact that the community center is available for meetings, special occasions, or parties. Persons interested may contact Newcomer at 535-4356, Kelly at 535-4333 or 535-4247, or Woodall at 535-4866.

Bandera Schools' Annual Performance Report

A Bandera Bulletin special report.

By Lila MacMillan

Elementary campus called 'inadequate'

The Annual Performance Report for 1984-85 described the elementary school campus as "not adequate for the total enrollment of 554 students."

The elementary campus consisted of a two-story building constructed in 1914 containing eight classrooms, a principal's office, and a wing of three classrooms attached to the gymnasion-band hall-cafeteria which was constructed in 1954. Seven portable buildings added after 1974 house 14 classrooms, bringing the total classrooms to 25.

The junior high campus located next to the elementary school includes the "old Main" building built in 1936 and containing eight classrooms. Two classrooms in the library wing constructed in 1965, and five classrooms, the principal's office, and nurse's office are in the John Merrick Building, built in 1980.

One classroom is located near the industrial shop, bringing the total to 16 junior high.

The report described the facility for the junior high students as "barely adequate for the 314 student."

The portable classrooms at the elementary school and the Merrick Building at the junior high are the only air-conditioned facilities at the campuses. The schools share the gymnasium, cafeteria and band hall.

The high school campus was built in 1977 and is made up of 22 classrooms, a principal's office, gymnasium, auditorium, band hall, shop area, homemaking kitchen and sewing lab, and cafeteria.

The superintendent's office is located in the high school also.

The facility was reported to be adequate for the 346 students attending in 1984-85.

All rooms are air-conditioned except the gymnasium and shop.

There were no new buildings constructed or major renovation projects undertaken in 1984-85 at the campuses.

Roof repairs are needed at the high school and junior high, the report says, and the football stadium is in need of renovations and expansion.

Air-conditioning of the two-story elementary building, the third grade wing, "old main" and the junior high library wing could be considered, the report says.

The district built a transportation facility in 1980. It has a paved parking area for buses, a two-stall heated bus garage for repair work and an adequate office area.

There were 26 buses in good running order at the end of the term last spring and the board had committed to add or replace one bus each year.

'No-pass, no-play' rules affected one-fourth of athletes

There were 26 percent of the students participating in athletics during the last semester of the 1984-85 were declared ineligible during the fifth sixth-week period. Of the 82 athletes, 21 failed in one subject or more during the fourth six weeks grading period.

During the same period, 15 of 76 band members were ineligible to play. Twenty-eight of the 65 Future Farmers of America students failed in at least one subject and six of the 40 Future Homemakers of America became ineligible.

Only four of the 67 literary students were unable to participate because of failing grades. On the Student Council four representatives were unable to participate because they failed in one subject or more.

73 students removed from their classrooms

According to the comprehensive report compiled by administrators for the Bandera School District, 73 students were assigned to alternative education programs during the 1984-85 school year.

No elementary students had to be removed from regular classrooms for special classes, but of the 34 junior high school students removed from regular classes because of their conduct, 12 were placed in an alternative setting on campus for three days or less.

Four students stayed in an on-campus alternative setting for more than three days and 18 junior high students were assigned to a home-based instruction program for one to ten days, the report revealed.

At the high school 39 students were removed from regular class and placed in alternative settings, 25 of whom were placed in special classes on campus for three days or less. Twelve were assigned to home-based instructions, one was expelled from school, and one was referred to the criminal justice system for disciplinary action.

School's revenues exceed $3 million

Revenues from state and local sources totaled $3,099,604 for the Bandera Independent School District in 1984-85. A per-pupil average of $2,656.67, the annual Performance Report of the Bandera ISD reports.

The amount of money generated to educate one pupil for one day was $15.27, just six cents more than the $15.21 spent each day.

Instructional services, which include administrative and teacher salaries, took a whooping 52.95 percent of the money budgeted, with instructional-related services consuming 5.91 percent, pupil services 18.13 percent, administration costs 12.85 percent, and plant services 10.17 percent.

The tax rate for the Bandera Independent School District has gone from 45.45 cents per $100 value in 1982-83 to 61.2 cents per $100 in 1984-85.

Total property values within the district amounted to 301.6 million in 1984-85, but the total value after exemptions for senior citizens and agricultural producers was only $220.2 million. It is upon the values after exemptions that tax rates are figured.

The value assigned the district by the State Property Tax Board, upon which state aid is figured, was $389.2 million in 1984-85.

The cost of the school district's share of the Bandera County Appraisal District has increased from $35,671 for 1982 to $63,263 for the fiscal year 1985, the report notes.

The district received $1,531,452 in state aid for the 1984-85 school year, about 20 percent more than the $1,280,589 received in 1982-83.

Federal aid to the district has declined since 1982 when federally-funded programs totaled $103,620. These same programs, vocational education, Chapter 1 and 2, and the program for handicapped students, received $85,335 in 1984-85.

Significant cost increases have been seen in the district for utilities, property insurance, and liability insurance, the report shows.

Since 1983 utilities have climbed to $129,676 from $120,123.

Property insurance in the district was $14,539 in 1984-85 compared to $11,262 in 1982-83. Liability insurance for the district has more than doubled since 1983 when it cost $1,236. The protection cost the district $3,077 in 1985.

Attendance down in high school

The comprehensive annual report prepared by the Bandera Independent School District shows attendance increased in 1984-85 in the elementary and junior high schools, but dropped in the high school.

Assistant superintendent Gus Pfeiffer said the reason for the high school decrease could be traced to the fact that high school students stopped attending after five unexcused absences, but did not withdraw until later.

Another possible explanation was the high school's exemption policy, originally designed to improve attendance, was eliminated by new legislation.

Attendance in the elementary school last year went to 94.9 percent over 93.6 percent in 1983-84. In the junior high school attendance climbed to 94.1 percent, an increase of 1.7 percent over 1983-84.

The attendance at the high school dropped to 92.8 in 1984-85 a decrease of 1.5 percent in 1983-84.

Many extracurricular activities were offered in the district in 1984-85, mostly at the high school. Records indicate 12 high school students miss more than five classes due to these activities in any one semester. Of these, nine withdrew from school, two did not receive credit for any classes, and one did not receive credit for one class.

In junior high, four students failed to receive credit in all courses due to excessive unexcused absences in a one semester period. These students were retained, the report says.

No students in the elementary school lost credit because of excessive unexcused absences in 1984-85.

A total of 163 students missed an average of 9.6 classes, or 1.6 days of school, because of extracurricular activities. Thirteen students missed an average of 3.6 days of school because of livestock shows and UIL literary events caused 36 students to miss over seven class periods on the average.

The Bulldog Band took 38 students away from an average of five classes. The average number of classes missed by 47 athletic students came to 2.3. VOE contests accounted for seven students missing an average of 7.7 classes. The National Honor Society field trip last spring took seven students out of classes for one day, the report says.

Students, surpass goals

Five years ago Bandera educators resolved to have 65 to 66 percent of students score above average marks in math and reading on the annual Texas Assessment of Basic Skills tests by 1985.

Fully 91 percent met the goal for math and 90 percent reached the goal in reading.

The 1980 goals were set after Bandera students achieved low scores in Math and reading, and the entire school system began to place new emphasis on these areas.

Bandera students showed gains in most areas tested, according to the school's annual Performance Report released this week.

The report also noted that 28 local scholarships totaling almost $12,000 were awarded to graduating students last spring based on academic excellence, monetary need, and other criteria. Many students received financial aid for college through non-local grants.

As required by Chapter 75 of the new school reform legislation, computer literacy was added in the Bandera Junior High School curriculum as an elective and was offered to the seventh and eighth graders as a one-semester course.

Elementary students receive instruction in seven areas. Sixth graders have five required subjects: English language arts, the reading, math, science, social studies, and physical education, they are allowed one elective.

Students in the seventh and eighth grades take English language arts, reading improvement (if necessary), math, science, social studies, physical education, and one elective.

At the high school, a four-year plan is prepared by each incoming freshman and new student with the assistance of their parents and counselor. This plan is reviewed each year to make sure students remain on course.

Field trips to support the instructional programs were carried out during the year. Included are trips to art museums and art shows, and an educational trip to the Shrine Circus for elementary students.

Some high school students took a trip to Austin and sat in on a legislative session and visited State Rep. Eldon Edge.

National Honor Society students took a trip to the Freedom Forum in San Antonio.

9½ percent drop out of high school

According to the Annual Performance Report for the Bandera School District, 9.5 percent of the high school students dropped out of school during the 1984-85 school year.

School records show 33 students left the school and the school never received a request from another school district to forward the students records.

There was only one student listed as a dropout at the junior high school and none at the elementary school.

BISD faculty, staff numbers 84, mostly women and all white

The Bandera School District employed a superintendent, an assistant superintendent, three principals, 72 teachers, and seven teachers aides for the 1984-85 school year, according to the annual Performance Report released this week.

There were four males and one female on the administrative staff. All held administrative certificates and at least a master's degree, and all were white.

In fact, all of the district's 72 teachers were white. Female teachers made up 74 percent of the faculty, and master's degrees were held by 38 percent of the teachers. All held valid teacher certificates.

There were 11 new teachers in the district in 1984-85, but the average teacher in Bandera had 12 years experience with six of those within the district.

Of the 42 teachers which applied for consideration on level 2 of the career ladder, 88 percent met the minimum state requirements.

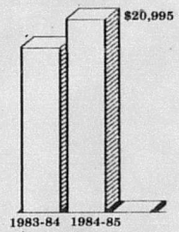

Because of increased enrollment, seven new teaching positions were created and filled in 1984-85. Three new teachers were placed in the elementary school, three at the junior high, and one at the high school.

Teachers like students were evaluated on performance dimensions. Each of the teacher's 16 dimensions were broken down into five ratings: clearly outstanding, exceeding expectations, satisfactory, below expectations, and unsatisfactory.

Of the 70 evaluations (one teacher resigned before being evaluated and one was hired after evaluations), one to three percent of the teachers were rated below expectations and unsatisfactory in lesson planning, classroom technique, rapport with students, classroom management, maintenance of learning environment, clerical proficiency, and professional self-improvement.

Ratings of clearly outstanding were given over 50 percent of the teachers in attendance and punctuality, initiative, enthusiasm, lesson planning, classroom management, and ability to get along with fellow teachers, administrators, and non-professional staff.

A total of 60 percent of the teachers were rated satisfactory in invovation of job performance.

An average salary increase of $3,700 per teacher was given in 1984-85 to bring pay ranges from $16,000 to $27,389, with an average of about $20,995. All salary increases in 1984-85 were required by the state legislation.

The district lost 20 teachers at the end of last year. Of the 20, two retired, three left the profession, and 15 found educational jobs in other districts. The district terminated none.

Failure rate doubled

The failure rate of students in Bandera ISD doubled from 72, or 6.1 percent, in 1983,84 to 145, or 12.0 percent, in 1984-85, the school's annual performance reported.

In the elementary school there were 515 students promoted to higher grades with 30 students being retained, compared to 496 passing the previous year and 23 failing.

The junior high school passed 246 students in 1984-85 and retained 68, a full 21.7 percent of the enrollment. The previous year there were 270 students passed and only 35 retained.

The failure rate at the high school more than tripled in 1984-85. Of the 347 students enrolled at the high school last spring, 300 passed while 47, or 13.5 percent, were retained. The previous year only 14 students of the 350 enrolled failed to pass to a higher grade.

Bandera Schools' ual Performance Report

A Bandera Bulletin special report.

By Lila MacMillan

ntary campus 'inadequate' and band hall.

The high school campus was built in 1977 and is made up of 22 classrooms, a principal's office, gymnasium, auditorium, band hall, shop area, homemaking kitchen and sewing lab, and cafeteria.

The superintendent's office is located in the high school also.

The facility was reported to be adequate for the 346 students attending in 1984-85.

All rooms are air-conditioned except the gymnasium and shop.

There were no new buildings constructed or major renovation projects undertaken in 1984-85 at the campuses.

Roof repairs are needed at the high school and junior high, the report says, and the football stadium is in need of renovations and expansion.

Air-conditioning of the two-story elementary building, the third grade wing, "old main" and the junior high library wing could be considered, the report says.

The district built a transportation facility in 1980. It has a paved parking area for buses, a two-stall heated bus garage for repair work and an adequate office area.

There were 26 buses in good running order at the end of the term last spring and the board had committed to add or replace one bus each year.

'No-pass, no-play' rules affected one-fourth of athletes

There were 26 percent of the students participating in athletics during the last semester of the 1984-85 were declared ineligible during the fifth sixth-week period. Of the 82 athletes, 21 failed in one subject or more during the fourth six weeks grading period.

During the same period, 15 of 76 band members were ineligible to play. Twenty-eight of the 65 Future Farmers of America students failed in at least one subject and six of the 40 Future Homemakers of America became ineligible.

Only four of the 67 literary students were unable to participate because of failing grades. On the Student Council four representatives were unable to participate because they failed in one subject or more.

73 students removed from their classrooms

According to the comprehensive report compiled by administrators for the Bandera School District, 73 students were assigned to alternative education programs during the 1984-85 school year.

No elementary students had to be removed from regular classrooms for special classes, but of the 34 junior high school students removed from regular classes because of their conduct, 12 were placed in an alternative setting on campus for three days or less.

Four students stayed in an on-campus alternative setting for more than three days and 18 junior high students were assigned to a home-based instruction program for one to ten days, the report revealed.

At the high school 39 students were removed from regular class and placed in alternative settings, 25 of whom were placed in special classes on campus for three days or less. Twelve were assigned to home-based instructions, one was expelled from school, and one was referred to the criminal justice system for disciplinary action.

School's revenues exceed $3 million

Revenues from state and local sources totaled $3,099,604 for the Bandera Independent School District in 1984-85. A per-pupil average of $2,656.67, the annual Performance Report of the Bandera ISD reports.

The amount of money generated to educate one pupil for one day was $15.27, just six cents more than the $15.21 spent each day.

Instructional services, which include administrative and teacher salaries, took a whopping 52.95 percent of the money budgeted, with instructional-related services consuming 5.91 percent, pupil services 18.13 percent, administration costs 12.85 percent, and plant services 10.17 percent.

The tax rate for the Bandera Independent School District has gone from 45.45 cents per $100 value in 1982-83 to 61.2 cents per $100 in 1984-85.

Total property values within the district amounted to 301.6 million in 1984-85, but the total value after exemptions for senior citizens and agricultural producers was only $220.2 million. It is upon the values after exemptions that tax rates are figured.

The value assigned the district by the State Property Tax Board, upon which state aid is figured, was $389.2 million in 1984-85.

The cost of the school district's share of the Bandera County Appraisal District has increased from $35,671 for 1982 to $63,263 for the fiscal year 1985, the report notes.

The district received $1,531,452 in state aid for the 1984-85 school year, about 20 percent more than the $1,280,589 received in 1982-83.

Federal aid to the district has declined since 1982 when federally funded programs totaled $103,620. These same programs, vocational education, Chapter 1 and 2, and the program for handicapped students, received $85,335 in 1984-85.

Significant cost increases have been seen in the district for utilities, property insurance, and liability insurance, the report shows.

Since 1983 utilities have climbed to $129,676 from $120,123.

Property insurance in the district was $14,539 in 1984-85 compared to $11,262 in 1982-83. Liability insurance for the district has more than doubled since 1983 when it cost $1,236. The protection cost the district $3,077 in 1985.

Attendance down in high school

The comprehensive annual report prepared by the Bandera Independent School District shows attendance increased in 1984-85 in the elementary and junior high schools, but dropped in the high school.

Assistant superintendent Gus Pfeiffer said the reason for the high school decrease could be traced to the fact that high school students stopped attending after five unexcused absences, but did not withdraw until later.

Another possible explanation was the high school's exemption policy, originally designed to improve attendance, was eliminated by new legislation.

Attendance in the elementary school last year went to 94.9 percent over 93.6 percent in 1983-84. In the junior high school attendance climbed to 94.1 percent, an increase of 1.7 percent over 1983-84.

The attendance at the high school dropped to 92.8 in 1984-85 a decrease of 1.5 percent in 1983-84.

Many extracurricular activities were offered in the district in 1984-85, mostly at the high school. Records indicate 12 high school students miss more than five classes due to these activities in any one semester. Of these, nine withdrew from school, two did not receive credit for any classes, and one did not receive credit for one class.

In junior high, four students failed to receive credit in all courses due to excessive unexcused absences in a one semester period. These students were retained, the report says.

No students in the elementary school lost credit because of excessive unexcused absences in 1984-85.

A total of 163 students missed an average of 9.6 classes, or 1.6 days of school, because of extracurricular activities. Thirteen students missed an average of 3.6 days of school because of livestock shows and UIL literary events caused 36 students to miss over seven class periods on the average.

The Bulldog Band took 38 students away from an average of five classes. The average number of classes missed by 47 athletic students came to 2.3. VOE contests accounted for seven students missing an average of 7.7 classes. The National Honor Society field trip last spring took seven students out of classes for one day, the report says.

9½ percent drop out of high school

According to the Annual Performance Report for the Bandera School District, 9.5 percent of the high school students dropped out of school during the 1984-85 school year.

School records show 33 students left the school and the school never received a request from another school district to forward the students records.

There was only one student listed as a dropout at the junior high school and none at the elementary school.

Students, surpass goals

Five years ago Bandera educators resolved to have 65 to 66 percent of students score above average marks in math and reading on the annual Texas Assessment of Basic Skills tests by 1985.

Fully 91 percent met the goal for math and 90 percent reached the goal in reading.

The 1980 goals were set after Bandera students achieved low scores in Math and reading, and the entire school system began to place new emphasis on these areas.

Bandera students showed gains in most areas tested, according to the school's annual Performance Report released this week.

The report also noted that 28 local scholarships totaling almost $12,000 were awarded to graduating students last spring based on academic excellence, monetary need, and other criteria. Many students received financial aid for college through non-local grants.

As required by Chapter 75 of the new school reform legislation, computer literacy was added in the Bandera Junior High School curriculum as an elective and was offered to the seventh and eighth graders as a one-semester course.

Elementary students receive instruction in seven areas. Sixth graders have five required subjects: English language arts, the reading, math, science, social studies, and physical education, they are allowed one elective.

Students in the seventh and eighth grades take English language arts, reading improvement (if necessary), math, science, social studies, physical education, and one elective.

At the high school, a four-year plan is prepared by each incoming freshman and new student with the assistance of their parents and counselor. This plan is reviewed each year to make sure students remain on course.

Field trips to support the instructional programs were carried out during the year. Included are trips to art museums and art shows, and an educational trip to the Shrine Circus for elementary students.

Some high school students took a trip to Austin and sat in on a legislative session and visited State Rep. Eldon Edge.

National Honor Society students took a trip to the Freedom Forum in San Antonio.

BISD faculty, staff numbers 84, mostly women and all white

The Bandera School District employed a superintendent, an assistant superintendent, three principals, 72 teachers, and seven teachers aides for the 1984-85 school year, according to the annual Performance Report released this week.

There were four males and one female on the administrative staff. All held administrative certificates and at least a master's degree, and all were white.

In fact, all of the district's 72 teachers were white. Female teachers made up 74 percent of the faculty, and master's degrees were held by 38 percent of the teachers. All held valid teacher certificates.

There were 11 new teachers in the district in 1984-85, but the average teacher in Bandera had 12 years experience with six of those within the district.

Of the 42 teachers which applied for consideration on level 2 of the career ladder, 88 percent met the minimum state requirements.

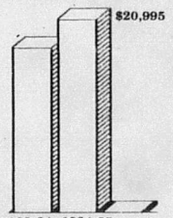

Because of increased enrollment, seven new teaching positions were created and filled in 1984-85. Three new teachers were placed in the elementary school, three at the junior high, and one at the high school.

Teachers like students were evaluated on performance dimensions. Each of the teacher's 16 dimensions were broken down into five ratings: clearly outstanding, exceeding expectations, satisfactory, below expectations, and unsatisfactory.

Of the 70 evaluations (one teacher resigned before being evaluated and one was hired after evaluations), one to three percent of the teachers were rated below expectations and unsatisfactory in lesson planning, classroom technique, rapport with students, classroom management, maintenance of learning environment, clerical proficiency, and professional self-improvement.

Ratings of clearly outstanding were given over 50 percent of the teachers in attendance and punctuality, initiative, enthusiasm, lesson planning, classroom management, and ability to get along with fellow teachers, administrators, and non-professional staff.

A total of 60 percent of the teachers were rated satisfactory in inovation of job performance.

Average teacher salary.

An average salary increase of $3,000 per teacher was given in 1984-85 to bring pay ranges from $16,000 to $27,389, with an average of about $20,995. All salary increases in 1984-85 were required by the state legislation.

The district lost 20 teachers at the end of last year. Of the 20, two retired, three left the profession, and 15 found educational jobs in other districts. The district terminated none.

Failure rate doubled

The failure rate of students in Bandera ISD doubled from 72, or 6.1 percent, in 1983-84 to 145, or 12.0 percent, in 1984-85, the school's annual performance reported.

In the elementary school there were 515 students promoted to higher grades with 30 students being retained, compared to 496 passing the previous year and 23 failing.

The junior high school passed 246 students in 1984-85 and retained 68, a full 21.7 percent of the enrollment. The previous year there were 270 students passed and only 35 retained.

The failure rate at the high school more than tripled in 1984-85. Of the 347 students enrolled at the high school last spring, 300 passed while 47, or 13.5 percent, were retained. The previous year only 14 students of the 350 enrolled failed to pass to a higher grade.

Senior spotlights

Diana Garcia

Fly the friendly skies with Di. Senior Diana Garcia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Octario Garcia, wishes to become an airline stewardess.

She plans to complete college and succeed in her career choice. Di, as her friends call her, is an 11-year veteran of Bandera schools, takes great pride in the school system. She also speaks highly of the students in Bandera.

Diana has taken the quote, "Find you limits and exceed them, dream and make them come true," and has based her life on it.

During her sophomore year, Diana was on the junior varsity cheerleading squad, and during her junior year, she was a Future Homemakers of America officer, and on the basketball, volleyball, and track teams.

— Sara Bosworth

Regina Bloxham

"Don't ever give up, you must always try to succeed, because you are very important." Senior Regina Kay Bloxham would like to base her life on this quote.

Regina is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert G. Bloxham. She has attended Bandera Schools all her life. Regina has been an active member of Future Homemakers of America for three years. Her freshman year she was a junior varsity cheerleader and on the JV tennis team. She was elected president of ODP and a member of OEA her senior year.

Mrs. Lonette Wilton and Mrs. Laura Wimpee have helped Regina in making some very important decisions and she has a high regard for both. But most of all she admires her parents for being there when she needed them.

After high school she hopes to be able to make it in the big world, be happy, and be successful in the job of her choice.

ECH to raise funds for long-awaited trip

The Early Childhood (ECH) class is working on a money making project to raise enough funds to fulfill a long awaited trip to the coast.

Their project includes making Christmas spice ropes and ornaments. Posters containing purchasing information will be placed in many stores around Bandera. This is the first year the class has made ornaments and spice ropes to sell.

Their teachers Kathy Gardner and Shelley Quarles said they have wanted to take their class to the coast for the past few years, but because of the lack of money they were not able to. This year they are working on their project.

Two BHS plays rescheduled for January

By Kelley Chapman

The two plays, "Who Dunit?" and "The Night Is My Enemy," have been postponed until January.

"The Night Is My Enemy" will debut on Jan. 22, a Tuesday, and will show once more on Friday, Jan. 25.

There will be a dinner before the Friday's showing of "The Night Is My Enemy." The cost will be $5 for both the dinner and the play. This is the only night that the dinner will be available to the public.

The play "Who Dunit?" will debut on Jan. 24, a Thursday, and will show again on Jan. 26, which is the following Saturday. The two plays were postponed because of the lack of assistance needed to help with the setting and props.

Mrs. Neuse was doing everything by herself and it was taking up time that she needed to spend with the two casts of the plays. The postponing of the plays will be better for everyone, so that they all may have time to get prepared for the grand opening.

Record Review

Old band produces new record

ZZ Top - Afterburner - Their fans' wait was well worth it. Two years after the extremely popular "Eliminator" album, ZZ Top has done it again. Their first single, "Sleeping Bag", has already proved to be a big success, and I'm sure there will be many more to come.

For a Texas band, these boys really know how to play well. This group has added another branch to rock music that puts their fantastic style in a class by itself.

Medina, Bandera split cage games

By Larry Thomas Williams
Special Correspondent

The 'Cats of Medina clawed the 'Dogs and then the 'Dogs tree'd the 'Cats Monday night in a showdown for basketball bragging rights in Bandera County.

Medina's Varsity girls pulled out a 43-36 win over the Bandera girls and then the Bulldog boys reversed the situation by controlling the Bobcats, 44-35.

In the girls game, Medina got off to a quick pace and lead and steadily pulled away to lead 14-9 at 1st quarters end with Tracy Willett doing the bulk of scoring.

The tempo slowed somewhat in the second period and at one point nothing disturbed the nets for almost three minutes. Bandera finally moved ahead with four unanswered buckets, and a free throw and another bucket got the Bulldogs a 20-14 lead with 2:30 left. They stretched it to 24-17 at the half.

Both teams had trouble getting the shots to drop in the third period, but Medina did manage to creep up on the 'Dogs, cutting Bandera's advantage to four points at the three-quarter mark.

In the final 8 minutes, the Bobcats charged back to take a 34-33 lead at 4:20 when Willett took a Simon Steal in for a layup.

Simon pushed in another, and with three minutes and ticking the 'Cats slowed down to setup for sure shots.

Simon found one and the score was 38-33 and Simon and Willett with field goals and Tammy Tatsch with a free throw put Bobcat icing on the cake.

Willett got 21 points and 12 rebounds to lead the winners and Simon got 14 points and 9 caroms.

The Bulldog boys took the lead early and with Medina only hitting 4 of 9 from the field kept that advantage through a slow and sloppy first period.

Medina managed to close the gap halfway through the next period when James Parker dropped in a pair of free throws, but Bulldog shooting and lots of Medina mistakes for the game kept the 'Dogs ahead.

Mike Cardenas hit at the buzzer and the locker rooms had a 23-17 Bandera advantage to discuss.

Second half play resumed with two Bulldogs already in foul trouble and Greg Gest fouled out with a minute left in an unbelievably bad bit of basketball.

The score inched up to 28-18 and Medina hardly even moved the cords.

Fouls continued to plague the 'Dogs and Scott Caloss went out with 4:29 left and David Shackleford with seconds left.

Medina cut the margin on a free throw by Moore, but could get no closer.

A Thought For The Week
By John M. Grimes

Thanksgiving Living...The story of Thanksgiving is a vital part of American history. We may remember certain aspects of it with nostalgia or we may recall the relatively-meager material possessions our forefathers had, in comparison to our land of plenty. Yet, before the Pilgrims got around to their meal of Thanksgiving, they paused to remember that this was not merely a feast on a given day, but that it had to do with living a certain way ... They gathered together in their meetinghouse to give thanks for the strength to perform daily tasks; for survival through times of hardship; for courage to face up to the dangers of the day and for loved ones and friends who shared their burdens ...Thanksgiving was a way of living; a way of feeling about people and things. It still is. We have the same things to be thankful for today...and on a much greater scale. Yet, our thanks is often hollow in comparison to theirs. We make it a "day," pack it full of action, and wrap it up in 24 hours. Then we get back to the "routine" — on with the business of living...We need to take a closer look at THANKSGIVING. We need to recognize that there is plenty for which we can be thankful. We need to enter into our "meeting-houses" and thank Him who is the giver of every good gift. After we have given thanks, we can get on with the matter of thanksLIVING.

Hunting adds $250,000 to Bandera 1959 economy

According to Game Warden R. L. Stevens, revenue in Bandera County was boosted by over $250,000 in 1959 by deer hunting. "I expect it will be well over that figure in 1960, possible even over $300,000," he said.

Over 2,000 deer were reported killed in 1959 by about 3,000 hunters.

County Clerk Hayes estimated deer leases were averaging about $75 per hunter. Hayes reported about 200 shooting preserve permits had been issued by his office.

For the first day of hunting season in 1960, Bandera Lockers reported 153 deer and 14 turkeys were placed in storage. Bandera Ice Company reported 35 deer and five turkeys brought in there for storage the first day.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Haby of Pipe Creek rejoiced over the arrival of a new granddaughter on Nov. 21, 1960. Parents were their son and daughter-in-law, Howard and Mary Lou Haby.

The Bandera Bulldogs lost their final game of the season to the Boerne Greyhounds, 33-7.

Sweetheart named prior to the game at a pep rally were football sweetheart Jo Ann Baker, band sweetheart Elvera Alguesveva, FTA sweetheart Elsie Faurie, Mr. FTA Ernest Schladoer, FFA sweetheart Keith Conwill, FHA sweetheart John McCullough, and Football hero "Beau" John Alanis.

St. Joseph's Mustangs whipped Boerne 16-12 in what the Nov. 25, 1960, issue of the Bandera Bulletin described as "a hot football game that kept everyone on the edge of their seats."

Tarpley

Nettie Dean — 562-3464

Bill and Gerry Sharp entertained with an early Thanksgiving Dinner last week, and among those gathering were all the members of the families of their five children, except three grandchildren.

Twenty-two guests were present, and Bill cooked the meal, turkey and all. Among the guests was LeAnne Bockhol of Chicago, Gerry's sister.

Mrs. Sharp carried her sister LeAnne to the airport Saturday to return home to Chicago after several weeks of visiting at the Sharps.

Church visitors

Visitors at the Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday evening included Mr. and Mrs. George Mitchesonof North Wales, United Kingdom, and Daniel Rentscler of Yuma, Ariz.

The Mitchesons have been at Shadow Dance Ranch for several weeks and left Monday for New York City and Wales. They plan to go to Zimbabwe soon.

On Monday afternoon, George and Mairs Mitcheson and Shane Stacey were guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Dean.

Jerry Hall and her sister, Margaret Cain both of Rio Hondo, made several trips to Corpus Christi during November to assist their Las Vegas, Nev. friend Rose Nelon care for her husband hospitalized with cancer at Spohn. On November 20th, Mr. Nelon passed away. Margaret was the organist at his funeral Mass at Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church in Victoria, Tex. on November 22.

Weather

Our misty weather continues. There has been weeks of this, and even a norther failed to clear out.

Thanksgiving wish!

We wish each of you a lovely holiday time. We've come a long way since the Pilgrims landed on Plymouth Rock and they had the Indians as guests on Thanksgiving day after their help and friendship, when the Pilgrims became part of their world!

Wharton's Dock

By Mary Wells
(filling in for the Ciarlos)

Our sympathy goes out to Linda and Bob York in the tragic death of Linda's son Tommy Henley, 24, in an auto accident early Sunday morning near Kerrville.

Dick Newman's brother Todd is home from the hospital following surgery, doing fine but feeling weak.

Leslie Coffey has also been released from the hospital following a severe asthma attack. She had to stay home from school an extra week on medication while using a breathing apparatus twice daily. Doctors give hope she may eventually outgrow this problem.

John and Betty Ciarlo drove to Dayton, Ohio, to be with his critically ill sister, Josephine Emdmendenhall, who died three days after their arrival. Judy Hines, daughter of the Ciarlo's, reports they will return immediately after the funeral.

Another of John's sisters, Ann Grierson, is well-known to Lakeshore residents, having visited here many times. A close friend is staying at the Ciarlo home looking after the pets and animals. The community extends sympathy to the family.

Charlie Highnote was here briefly from Dallas and enjoyed Wednesday evening bingo at the firehouse and visiting with friends. He reports wife Betty is recovering well from her heart attack and is back to work.

The Rev. Paul Flanders will shortly be moving closer to his flock at Walker Memorial Chapel. This past week a new double wide was delivered and set up atop the hill on their property on Doc Holliday Drive in Lake Medina Shores.

It makes one wonder how they get it up there, but it sure looks pretty, cream with blue trim. Living in the country will be a new experience for wife Doris and daughter Priscilla.

Thank goodness for our newly-paved roadway into town. It got a real workout Thursday with the many comings and goings associated with get-togethers of family and friends for the Thanksgiving holiday.

Among those expecting visitors are the Lester Coffey's. Pat's dad Ray Bowen will be arriving from Houston, and her sister Kathy and Tommy Isbell will be here.

The Wayne Hildenbergs are awaiting their daughter Vicki Jones and family from San Antonio.

Bill and Lenna Walker are expecting their son Bill, daughter-in-law Ricky, and granddaughter Roxanne from Midland.

Al and Berneice Smalley are cooking for daughter Kay (known locally as Kahuky) from De Soto, daughter Christi from Freer, and the Mills family, close friends from San Antonio.

The Blakeneys will be welcoming their son Dudley and family from Houston, and their son Mark with his recent bride from Dallas.

Retired Col. and Doris Duquette are expecting two of their three children to be here with their families, including three grandchildren.

Phil and Nola Bledsoe will only be cooking for three returning children, Mike, Mark and Timothy.

Ken and Renee Parks are having her son Bill with his wife Sandy and two children, and her son Larry, all of San Antonio.

Going the other direction as they head out for the day were the entire Newman and Portman clan, taking off for a family reunion at the spacious new home of Merldine and Buster Talley in San Antonio.

Jay and Marieta Overholser drove to daughter Debbie and Cody's in Austin where they were joined by son Dewey and wife Elizabeth from Bastrop.

Juanita (sister) Shaffer waited here for her daughter and family from Alvin, then the whole gang left for Sam Byrd's house to spend the day with Granny Byrd. Charles and Maradelle De Witt went to Clifton, near Waco, to visit her elderly mom and dad.

Mr. Crist ran the Stagecoach Inn, second on the San Antonio to Bandera early mail route. He was the brother of Tom Crist and cousins of Mrs. Claud (Ruby Crist) McCarthy, Poteet and Mrs. Pearl Edwards of Bandera. Claud McCarthy was the son of Ann Edwards and Frank McCarthy.

Cub Scouts from Den 3 Pipe Creek brought us a big fruit basket, a large "Happy Thanksgiving" mural and Thanksgiving place cards. They sang several songs. Den mothers were Patricia Torsythe, Mell Landrum and Barbara Story. Twenty scouts signed our guest book. We thank this fine group of youngsters for the delicious fruit and hope they will visit again real soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Les Short

Erfurt - Short Wedding

Marcia Erfurt of Tarpley and Les Short of Bandera exchanged vows on Nov. 2 at the Short homeplace, with Martin Smith of the Church of Christ officiating.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents with her father escorting her.

She chose an ankle-length dress in ivory with an overlay of lace and carried a cascade of roses in lavender and ivory.

The bride's sister, Ella Sandidge of Tarpley, served as matron of honor along with the groom's sister, Clare Jo Anderson of Bandera, both dressed in tea-length lilac dresses with lace trim, each carrying a nosegay of silk flowers.

Other attendants for the bride were her nieces, Sara Erfurt of Bandera and Carrie Sandidge of Tarpley, wearing calico-print lilac dresses with lace collar and ribbon sashes. Each attendant descended the ivy-lined staircase to a setting of large potted plants in front of the fireplace, where the couple exchanged vows.

Jake Short, the groom's brother served as best man along with Bill Short, the groom's father as attendant.

David Lee of Steilacoom, Washington, the groom's brother-in-law, played the guitar and sang three of the couple's favorite songs during the ceremony.

Following the private ceremony attended by the immediate family, a reception was given serving approximately 400 guests with barbecue and all the trimmings in an outdoor setting at the Short home.

The couple are making their home at the Short homeplace outside of Bandera after a honeymoon in the Smokey Mountains in Tennessee.

Dance away Thanksgiving dinner

Work off those fattening calories from too much Thanksgiving feasting the fun way. After that traditional meal, dance the night away to the music of David Price and Wayne Kennemer and their Texas Swing Band, Nov. 28 from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Ballroom at the YO Hilton in Kerrville.

The dance is sponsored by the Kerr County Sesquicentennial Wagon Train Committee and the $5 donation at the door will help to raise funds for hosting the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train during their stay in the Hill Country in March of 1986. There will also be an auction held during the dance.

Minister claims

Modern conveniences taken for granted

Modern conveniences that have taken the backbreaking drudgery out of housekeeping, great strides in medical science that have prolonged life, and improvements in transportation were cited by a Church of Christ minister this week as among the things Americans are thankful for on Thanksgiving Day.

David McDonald minister of the Church of Christ in Utopia, spoke at a meeting of the Sabinal Canyon Senior Council Friday, Nov. 15, at the Commuunity Building in Utopia.

"These and many more are blessings that we all take for granted every day," he said.

He noted the special privilege of living in the United States and having freedoms that are unknown anywhere else in the world and of living in the Hill Country, which he called "an extra special privilege."

Sixty-two members and guests enjoyed a Thanksgiving feast during the meeting, dining off tables beautifully decorated with colorful autumn leaves and chrysanthemums.

Council President Monsees presided at the meeting, and guests introduced included Virginia Shirey of San Antonio, Mrs. Ross Martin of Granbury, Juanita Bunk of Matagorda County, and Wayne Grant of Utopia. Three persons, Max Amann, Jimmy Swayze and Jewell Sellers, were recognized on their birthday.

Utopia EMS reports three runs

The Utopia EMS made three runs during the week ending Nov. 18, transporting two ill females to hospitals and treating an ill male.

The Utopia EMS does not release the names of patients transported.

An ill female was transported to San Antonio on Thursday, Nov. 14, and another was transported to Hondo on Monday, Nov. 18. The ill male was treated on Saturday, Nov. 16.

Technicians making the runs included Mary A. Coffman, Jessie McFadin, Jim Boyd, Doris Foster, and John and Judy Hillis.

The Utopia EMS reported memorial donations in honor of five persons and donations from Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Kennelly and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Snider.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Porter made memorial donations in the names of Cora McClain, Ruth Jackson and Bob Monsees. The Matthews also memorialized Ruth Germer and the Porters remembered Alfred Kraut.

A group from the Utopia EMS attended a symposium in Kerrville Nov. 19 sponsored by the Kerrville Emergency Room personnel.

The Rev. Lonnie Webb and wife, along with daughter Nan, are enjoying two weeks vacation back in their old home below Utopia.

Hub Thompson recently caught and destroyed 14 Russian hogs on his place.

Fantasy of Light to begin Friday

Thousands of glittering multi-colored lights are sure to please the 100,000 observers expected to attend the 1985 Fantasy of Lights and Holiday River Parade in San Antonio.

The river lighting begins at 7 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 29, and the parade is immediately following the lighting ceremony.

To create this dazzling holiday display each year, the Parks and Recreation Department tree climbers scale hundreds of trees, often to the height of sixty feet, where they toss stringers totaling almost 100,000 lights to the outer limbs. The lights are arranged in such a way that you are surrounded by gigantic Christmas trees as you stroll the River Walk.

Gaily decorated barges sponsored by corporations, local organizations and clubs will float down the river to the music theme, "A Christmas Carol."
