6th Texas International Apple Festival promises fun for the whole family

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

The sixth annual Texas International Apple Festival will be held in Medina on Saturday, July 31 at the Apple Festival Grounds. More than 22,000 are expected to attend this year's event, which will be held from 9 a.m. to dark.

The primary purpose of the festival is to promote the growing apple industry in Texas. It is a major economic generator for the Hill Country and Bandera County, bringing in increasing revenues to the local economy. It is also an occassion for families to participate in wholesome family fun. A large number of senior citizens and young families with children attend the Apple Festival each year. No alcoholic beverages are served.

Festival coordinator Genie Stickland says that this year promises "not only a bumper crop of Texas sweet apples, but also some new and exciting exhibits and competitions.

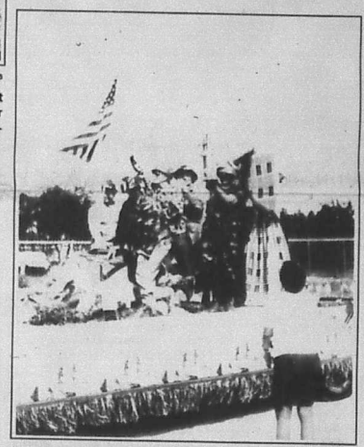

"Yes, you can sure have fun walking around eating all that good food; looking at crafts by the best of Texas artists; listening to great music, but what else can one DO? How about entering some competitions!"

Entries for the Apple Pie Contest must be at the main gate by 10 a.m. on festival day. Pies must be baked in non-returnable pans. There are no entry fees. The three divisons this year are: Adult (age 19 and over); youth (age 18 and younger), and Professional (for commercial restaurants, bakeries and chefs).

All entries become property of Medina Texas Development Corporation (MTDC) and will be sold by the slice. Winning pies will be auctioned off to benefit MTDC.

Strickland says that if pie is not your dish, enter the "Apple Anything" contest. Anything which is edible and made from apples will qualify. The same rules and divisions apply as in the pie contest. A new award will be given this year for the most

'Americanism' was tops in LH patriotic parade

Viewers lined both sides of Park Road 37 to watch the 19th Annual American Legion Parade on July 3. Thirty-eight entries vied for three trophies.

First place went to the "Americanism" float, Iwo Jima. The brain child of Hazel Cote' and Robert (who also drove the truck), the float featured real Marine Sgt. Jeffrey L. Johnson who will be scheduled at Camp Pendleton, and Lakehills "Marines" for a day. Hazel Cote', Fran Powell, Alice Bloodworth, Jean Moore, Jackie Mixon, and Vicky Gonzalez posed on the float as Marines raising the American flag at Iwo Jima.

The Lakehills ladies, all good friends, have entered the American Legion parade for four years. They took two second places and a third place. This is their first time to win. They worked on the float "months in advance," according to Powell, but completed the majority of the float on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"That included getting up at 5:30 a.m. on parade day to finish it," Powell said.

Second place in the parade went to the Thousand Trails float. Its theme was "Liberty Bell."

Third place went to the Bandera High School Rythm and Blue show team. Larry Struthoff, the father of one of the girls on the float, sponsored the float.

The parade was followed by a barbecue at American Legion post 410. Over 600 plates of barbecue were sold. Children's booths and live music offered entertainment to a steady crowd throughout the day. The newly completed pavilion provided shade and coolness for the crowd.

Medina school system, building contractor at odds

New building construction grinds to halt after payment disagreement erupts

By Larry T. Williams
Bulletin Staff Writer

Some folks who have journeyed through Medina lately have gotten the impression that either a San Antonio Mexican fast food chain has opened a new branch on the school campus or that the school itself has changed its colors to pink and beige.

That is because a partially completed building with exposed insulation sits pinkly awaiting the return of work crews to finish the job.

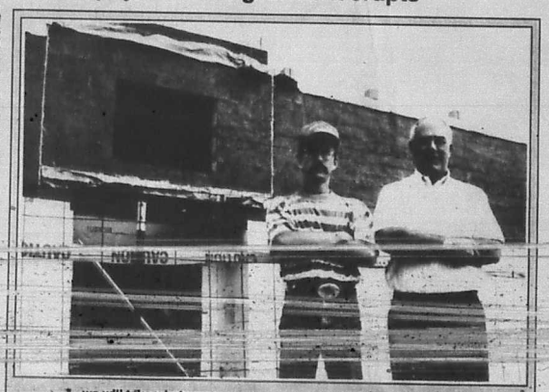

Medina school board president Andy Lautzenheiser stated flatly, "We have not changed the school's colors."

What the school board has done, according to [illegible] their contract with general contractor Ralph Menard and his Ram-2 construction company out of San Antonio because of alleged non-compliance with their agreement. Construction special education and computer addition came to a halt early in June because of the disagreement.

The problems began when Menard submitted an monthly application for payment of around $80,000 that claimed certain work on the project was at 50 percent or more completion and certain materials were on the job site ready for installation. Upon a routine inspection and review by project architect Tom Cochran of Cochran Associates in San Antonio, the state of completion and material at hand on the job site was found to be closer to 42 percent. So on Cochran's recommendation an amended amount of approximately $50,000 was paid to [illegible] visited the job site and [illegible] verification. I found some of the materials billed for were not on the site and also that, in my estimation the work was not completed to the degree [illegible] several times to contact the contractor by telephone but never got to talk to him so I mailed a letter to him informing him of the adjustments to his application and an explanation of my assessment," Cochran said.

Menard reportedly cashed the school's check in Bandera the next day and converted the money into a certified check. Three days later on June 14, Menard notified the school and the architect that he was ceasing work because Medina ISD had defaulted their contract by [illegible] the disputed figures before issuing the amended check and secondly not paying [illegible] the full amount applied for.

"At the time I thought he [illegible] Cochran continued. "But as of today (July 1) six or seven subcontractors and suppliers have [illegible] calls from them [illegible]

"...we will take whatever measures necessary to finish the building." Medina school board president Andy Lautzenheiser, left and new superintendent Tom [illegible]

Letters to the editor

Fix our roads, he says

Dear editor:

In the letter dated June 23, a Mr. Don C. Hassall said it very well. My road, Bump Gate, has a lot of traffic on it for a dirt road, with pot holes every time the rain comes. My road could use some of that black-top needed for a runway. Mr. Commissioner, if people want to fly here, can't you call the Flying L Ranch? Fix some of the roads that people, taxpayers use, from this county and maybe then you'll get your airport. We pay our taxes too, and we live near a curve in the road on Bump Gate, and for 3 years we have helped people out of the ditch here. Just the other day we returned to find 35 feet of the fence gone, knocked down by an out of control driver. These roads can be very dangerous, yes and even for the people who grew up around these parts. Please fix our roads and save some lives.

Johnny Hubbs

She suspects assessment

Dear editor:

I have avoided revealing my personal finances as it relates to assessed property values. I have decided to reveal that information now to show you how farcical assessed property values really are.

When I bought my land, I paid $12,000 for it. Bandera County had it assessed for $11,500. Bexar County had it assessed for $22,500. (Unfortunately, I am in the Northside I.S.D.) That is an $11,000 difference in assessments on the same property.

I obtained a list of Bandera County properties in the N.I.S.D. with the Bandera assessments on it. I went to the N.I.S.D. and got the Bexar assessments for all 374 properties in my situation. Two, and only two, of those properties had the same assessments. Some assessments were over $100,000 different.

The problem with assessed property values is that they vary from one assessor to another. I have yet to find any standardization for assessments. That is probably why there is a nine million plus dollar difference in wealth per pupil between Laureles and San Elizario. (Eye on Texas, 23 June, page 3)

Another negative on using property values for any form of taxation is what it does to retired people. Their insurance and pensions are not sufficient to pay these taxes, and they are forced to sell the homes that they struggled long and hard to buy.

We need to find another way to fund our schools. I have suggested a state income tax to do it...with guarantees and limitations. A lot of you agree with that. Many of you do not. How about having parents pay a flat dollar amount per year for each child they have in school at the time (tuition)? I would rather pay it out over a 45 year work period than in the 13 year school period: less for a longer time.

Susan Hooker

Rumors are flying...

Dear editor:

There is growing speculation that County Commissioner Bennie Barker could be a formidable contender in the County Judge race next year.

Hot on the heels of that one is another rumor that he is moving to Austin where his wife got transferred recently. Knowing how Bandera County politics are, I imagine this one was started to muddy the waters by his opponents.

The Commissioner was right on target when he said last week that the spending priorities should be on road and bridge maintenance, law enforcement and Emergency Medical Services. Of course, that has the special interests with their hands in the "county cookie jar" stirred up. Maybe the Commissioner will fill us in on both rumors by responding next week.

jest & thyme — Janna Sandidge

The fireworks in Boerne Sunday were spectacular, but I'll bet it cost that community a pretty penny. After all, you can't put on a show like that and not come out on the losing end, can you?

Well, maybe you can.

The area all around the Kendall County Fairgrounds and Boerne City Park was JAM PACKED with carloads of folks. And I don't think they were all locals. I'm sure that Bandera wasn't the only town in the area that didn't put on fireworks this year. And believe it or not, folks will drive quite a ways to watch a good fireworks display.

I'm sure those people didn't spend a bit of their money in Boerne.

The fact is, all those folks in those cars get hungry and thirsty, and they do spend money, even though it's a little bit late at night. Businesses in Boerne had lots of cars in front of them. And I'm sure that people spent some time and money wandering around in Boerne waiting for it to get dark enough for the fireworks to begin.

Well, I'll bet the fire department went in the hole buying all those fireworks, and I'll bet they don't get enough donations to cover the cost.

Actually, from what I understand, it's pretty easy to get businesses and the local chamber of commerce to help round up donations to defray the cost of the fireworks.

And what about the local veterans' groups? Surely they could be pursuaded to sponsor a fundraiser or two to help celebrate our nation's independence with a patriotic fireworks display. It's bound to be important enough for a chili cookoff or something.

What's the big deal? The fireworks are over in a few minutes anyway. All that time, expense and effort for something you can't eat or take home with you or anything.

It's important to give kids the message that Independence Day is a cause for CELEBRATION in a big way. (And no, the celebration does not have to include getting drunk and falling down).

And what a great opportunity for families to go somewhere together and enjoy the beautiful and dramatic panorama overhead.

And, by the way, in Boerne, volunteer firefighters were standing at the gates, each collecting donations in a big black boot. With other donations covering the cost of fireworks, it could actually turn into quite a nice fundraiser every car I saw put money in there.

Maybe next year there will be fireworks in Bandera, and folks can stay home and enjoy Independence Day in our own com-

The sacks were needed to make hospital cushions • St. Joseph's Catholic School sponsored their 31st annual July 4 barbecue at Mansfield Park • 15-year-old Scooter Fries competed at the World's Champion Junior Rodeo and "won just about every prize offered." State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN --- Texas Democratic and Republican leaders disagreed last week over the effects of a U.S. Supreme Court ruling that the Constitution does not permit racial gerrymandering for the purpose of electing minority candidates.

In Shaw v. Reno, a North Carolina case, the Supreme Court broke its precedent of defending race-conscious districting --- a trend that grew out of the 1965 Voting Rights Act.

Republican Party Chairman Fred Meyer said the Supreme Court ruling gives Texans the right to challenge racially gerrymandered district lines.

Republicans have filed challenges to the 1992 reapportionment which created three new congressional districts with large minority populations represented by U.S. Reps. Eddie Bernice Johnson, D-Dallas; Frank Tejeda, D-San Antonio; and Gene Green, D-Houston.

Democratic Party executive director Ed Martin said the ruling [illegible] the state's new minority districts, while not compact or geographically consistent, do not resemble North Carolina's 160-mile-long, [illegible] through 12 counties to group much [illegible] writing for the majority, said a voter isolated in an district created for members of a different race could be deprived of political representation.

According to a copyright story in the New York Times, the ruling could be "a potentially far-reaching setback for blacks and Hispanics."

In-State Processing Pushed

Texas farmers and businessmen need to concentrate on processing agricultural products within state lines, state Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry told Texas Press Association members at the group's 114th Annual Summer Convention last week in San Antonio.

With only 8 percent of processing, or "value-adding" of Texas products currently taking place in Texas, if Texas businesses would do 5 percent more of the processing, it would have a $2.5 billion economic impact, Perry said.

Since Perry was elected in 1991, the state Agriculture Department has lent $2.5 million for value-added processing plants, including pinto beans, cotton and aquaculture. He urged TPA members to support a state ballot issue in November that would finance loans to businesses in value-added industries.

Perry said the Agriculture Department's "Naturally Texas" program promotes products that are at least 60 percent produced or processed in Texas. More than 80 counties have joined the program, he said.

Guerrero to Speak at Schools

Former Texas Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero is expected to resurface this fall as speaker in Southwestern Bell's campaign urging students to stay in school.

Guerrero was picked by Gov. Ann Richards to serve the unexpired term of John Sharp, who was elected state comptroller. In a 1992 bid for election to her appointed post, Guerrero [illegible] had not graduated from the University of Texas at Austin, as she had publicly alleged. The acknowledgment sent her into a political tailspin.

A Bell spokesman said Guerrero [illegible] school and graduate.

Minority Scores Lag

Test scores of minority students who took the Texas Assessment of Academic Skills for the first time lag behind white students who took the exam, according to a report in the Austin American-Statesman.

Fifty-one percent of 208,000 high school sophomores failed at least one portion of the exit-level exam this spring. Students have six chances to pass the three-part exam, which tests reading, writing and mathematics skills. Students must pass all three portions of the exam in order to receive high school diplomas.

In May, 13,377 or 7.4 percent of the state's 180,206 seniors did not graduate because they failed to pass at least one portion of TAAS.

Failure rates were highest among black and Hispanic students, with about two-thirds of minorities failing the exam.

Insurance Policies in Spanish

The State Board of Insurance last week voted 2-0 to tentatively approve a proposal that would require auto insurance companies to make available copies of policies printed in Spanish.

Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos, D-Austin, said he favored the proposal, but added that U.S. residents should be fluent and proficient in the use of English.

Under the proposal, the Spanish version of the auto policies would contain a disclaimer stating that the English version every policyholder receives is the legally binding version.

Barrientos and Sen. Carlos Truan, D-Corpus Christi, said insurance companies should be willing to provide the Spanish version if they wish to compete for Spanish-speaking customers' dollars.

John Marshall Eyes AG Race

State District Judge John Marshall says he will seek the Republican nomination for Texas attorney general in the March 1994 primary. Marshall, 49, a civil court judge in Austin, will attempt to unseat Dan Morales, a Democrat, who [illegible] revamp the administrative structure of the office and "bring it into the 21st century." He has presided over the 14th District Court since 1981.

Larry Montagno has made his own home accessible. Everything is within easy reach. He says his height (he is 6 ft., 6 inches tall) can be either a liability or an asset. It is an asset when he needs to reach something up high.

It is a liability when he tries to squeeze under his work bench or tables in a restaurant. His "handicap" does not interfere with work, hobbies and creative pursuits.

Staff photos by Stephanie Logue

To make his home more easily accessible, Montagno replaced the existing ramp between the kitchen and recreation room with an elevator. It saves space and aids in carrying laundry from one part of the house to the other.

Adjusting for life's many changes

Another look at Bandera's physically challenged

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

D.M. Mulock said it well:

Autumn to winter, winter into spring,
Spring into summer, summer into fall,
So rolls the changing year, and so we change;
Motion so swift, we know not that we move.

Many changes are like that. As a person grows older, glasses may be needed. It's just one more adjustment that is a part of daily life here on this planet. Yet some changes come with unexpected and tragical swiftness, leaving a person who was TAB (temportemporarily able bodied) "handicapped."

When that happens, Larry Montagno says, it's the little things that challenge. How, for instance, does one get out of a wheelchair and into a chair, then back again without tipping over the chair? How does one get in and out of the bath tub? How can one: mow the grass, sweep the floor, cook meals, reach up into cupboards, move heavy furniture and plant a garden?

With enough time and determination, he says, it can be done. Time is everything. "I have even dug post holes from my chair. It just takes a little longer."

The most difficult thing, Montagno finds, is getting in and out of his car. "You just don't think about how long it takes. It used to take just seconds to get out of my car. It only takes seconds for most people. Now, I have to get the wheelchair out and assemble it and position it. Then I have to transfer myself from the car into the chair. Getting back in is the same thing. That's why when I go to town, I usually park my car in one place and travel around in my chair."

Even traveling around in his chair is often a challenge. Some places in Bandera are not easily accessible for the handicapped. The Americans with Disabilities Act became law in 1990. It called for the removal of barriers which would open all public areas to those who are handicapped. Most Bandera businesses would likely fall under the small business category. Small businesses (those with under 10 employees) were given until Jan. 26, 1993 to comply. Now that the Jan. 26 deadline has passed, businesses failing to comply with barrier removal are subject to a $50,000 first-offense fine.

Johnny Boyle, owner of the Wrangler building, said a ramp for the Wrangler is in the designing stages and will be installed in the next few months.

The Family Dollar Store building is owned by Bandera Bank. Family Dollar manager Elmer Lenz said he is waiting to hear from Bandera Bank manager Ken Finley about when a handicap ramp will be installed on the store's Main Street location. Finley said he will have to discuss the matter with Lenz before he makes any comment on the project. In the meantime, Lenz helps Montagno enter and leave his store.

Bandera Lodge, formerly Econo Lodge, recently installed a ramp around on one side of the building and advertised its opening. When Montagno's parents came for a visit, they took Montagno to that restaurant and had to push him up the ramp. "It was so steep I was scared to even go down it. It's dangerous. I tried to go up and my chair almost turned over backwards. Usually I can go down a ramp even if I can't go up it. But not that ramp. It made me mad that they advertised it as being 'handicap accessible' when it's not. It's not long enough for the height."

Federal regulations require that a ramp extend one foot for each inch of height. Bandera Lodge owner, Ted Michalak, said he realizes that the ramp is too steep and that it will be extended in the future. "The main thing is, there were no ramps and we did something about it. We tried. We are reviewing our budget- it shouldn't take too long to fix it."

All of Bandera's public buildings are challenged by the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990. The terrain of the city and the structure of existing buildings makes it difficult for business owners to comply. Non-compliance makes it difficult or impossible for the disabled to overcome barriers.

At home or in Bandera, Montagno's life is challenging. He recently had a small elevator installed in his house to simplify getting from the kitchen down into the recreation room.

The elevator is the smallest carried by Home Elevator of Texas. The zero to two foot rise and fall of the elevator is perfect for the drop in Montagno's house. It replaces the ramp which previously provided access to the bottom room. It is also large enough to carry the big model shop vacuum cleaner which he uses to clean his carpets.

Montagno believes a commercial version of the elevator would be the perfect solution for Bandera businesses which lack space for long ramps. "In any event, it has sure simplified things for me like laundry. I was always losing laundry going down the ramp. Or else I had to throw it down first, then pick it up when I got down. Now I can just carry it with me."

He refuses to be limited by either his own physical body or by the difficulties of getting around in a small town that has not yet fully opened up to disabled individuals. If he wants to enter a building which does not provide handicap access, he calls ahead and asks for help. He says merchants are all willing to help him.

His main gripe is non-disabled individuals parking in handicap spaces. "People don't realize that those spaces are not just for convenience. They can be a life and death matter for someone with a heart condition who has to park way out in the parking lot and walk up to the building in the heat. I saw an elderly man have that happen at Super S one day. By the time he reached the store, he was gasping for breath. It scared me."

"I talked to a judge here about it and he said he dismissed cases where people parked in handicap spaces if there was not a ramp at the entrance. That doesn't make sense. Why does a building with a flat, level entrance need a ramp? Not having the ramp doesn't change the handicapped condition of the person."

At home, accessibility goes further than the ramp allowing him to enter his house from the front and the elevator inside. Although he has installed shelves himself at a level he can reach; although he has had a contractor widen doors and make other adjustments, he finds accessibility mostly a matter of attitude. "I can do everything I could do before," he is fond of telling others. "I just have to do it differently. And plan to spend a little more time doing it."

Ropin' his way to success

Kevin Fitzpatrick's career with a trick lasso has led him to the Folklife Festival

Trick roper Kevin Fitzpatrick says that bigger is not always better. His growing acclaim as a performer is taking him too far away from his Bandera home.

"I wasn't born here, but I keep coming back. It's like that bumper sticker you see on a car: 'I wasn't born in Texas but I got here as soon as I could.'" Fitzpatrick moved to Bandera in 1981 and began trick roping soon afterwards.

He has a large family: a dog, a horse, four calves and five sheep. The dog, a border collie named Tip, and the horse, a black named Tex, join in his act. Tex actually belongs to Fitzpatrick's dad. "I take him with me for every act where I use a horse. He must like to perform. He loads up everytime. I have had him in the Hilton Hotel lobby...once he relaxes, I do all my tricks from him."

Tip is a recent addition to the act. "He's a crowd pleaser. He loves to chase the rope and bite it and growl at it. He jumps up and grabs it on command. I swing him around- I tell the crowd he's training for Superman and can already fly."

Besides entertaining locally at Dude Ranches and special events, Fitzpatrick performs at Fiesta. Texas. The growing demand on his time from San Antonio and places as far away as Cincinati, Ohio, Las Vegas and Kuwait troubles him. "I don't like going so far away. I want to stay closer to home. Bandera is great. I never want to leave it."

More and more, he finds himself leaving Bandera to perform. In February, he was in a production with one of "Three's Company" stars, Susan Anton.

His career was not always so prosperous. His dad worked Bandera dude ranches back in the 30s and 40s. He left for a time, following a career shoeing race horses. When he came back to Bandera, Fitzpatrick's mother, two older sisters and Fitzpatrick followed him back. Fitzpatrick began working at Dixie Dude.

"My performance started out practical. When kids on a horse were afraid, I'd stand on my head or ride standing up to show them not to be afraid. Then, this friend of my dad's showed me a few tricks. I'd practice each one for a whole week, then he would show me another one. Dad had already taught me a few.

"A lot of people think they want to be trick ropers. Some of them come to me for advice. But the majority are not willing to do what it takes: practice."

For many years, Fitzpatrick worked a regular job and practiced trick roping. He would be asked to entertain for large groups and at schools. Four years ago he told his dad that he wanted to trick rope all the time.

"I moved in with Dad- because the roping wouldn't pay the bills. I'd keep checking the phone for messages...now it keeps getting bigger and bigger. It pays the bills! It's a lot of fun. I enjoy showing off. And I get paid for it!"

Fitzpatrick will be doing what he loves to do best at the Texas Folklife Festival on Aug. 5 - 8: "showing off" for a crowd. Judging by the phone calls which take him further and further from his Bandera home, the crowd loves it.

Peggy Tobin

When we left the ranch to go to the mountains a few weeks ago, the rainy spring had produced a bumper crop of the yellow wildflowers which come on after the bluebonnets go to seed. Firewheel, Engelmann daisies, and all the difficult "DYFS" (dern yellow flowers) only professional botanists can name easily were festooning the roadsides.

Coming back down the trail, it was evident that though firewheels were hanging on here and there along with more dyfs, the rose-lavender season of bloom had taken over the countryside. From San Angelo south and eastward, the little mountain pinks were turning highway verges into ribbons of color. These low plants, like stiff bouquets of rosy little stars, show up every year in June, but never have we seen them grow so thickly and in such widespread profusion. The scientific name for them is centaurium Beyrichii. We presume that Beyrich was another famous German botanist, although we have not read about him.

Not so prominently on display, but around nevertheless, is another summer flower, horsemint, sometimes called lemon bee balm and known to the pros as monarda citriodora. We had large colonies of them on our river till we tried to go into the coastal Bermuda business, and we noted whole fields of their pleasant purple around Menard recently. The pungent aroma of the stems is something we like along with the durability of the bracts as cut flowers.

Also durable as cut flowers, but which we hope and pray nobody cuts for a while, are the Texas bluebells or bluebell gentians. There was a big patch of them on our creek flat—the kind of place Mr. Charles Lovelace used to advertise as a subirrigated valley—when we first came back to the country twenty years ago. With glad cries, we picked lots of bluebells and brought them to the kitchen table.

Guess what? No more bluebells for a long time. Then we read that even as far back as 1926, botanists like Ellen Schuls Quillen, were alarmed at the rapidity with which bluebells were disappearing from the wild scene, being sought after by commercial florists as well as casual pickers of table arrangements.

The last two years, our bluebells have returned, scattered here and there along the creek, putting out their vivid blue-purple blossoms, as many as a dozen on a single stem. We understand that Billy Walker down by the head of the lake is enjoying an entire field of these glamorous entities. We go down each day to admire and worry over our returning few. If you have or see any, please do not disturb. Nature needs the seed crop more than we need flowers in the house.

Oh yes, the botanical name for the gentian we call bluebell is eustoma grandiflorum. The flores are truly grande! They do not remotely resemble, except in their folk-name, the bluebells we saw in Colorado this spring. The bluebells there are tiny sky-blue real little bells which show up well only when there is a big patch of them. Which we proudly say there now is where our pile of junk lumber used to be. Coloradoans take on about their bluebells, with pictures in the Sunday paper of little girls picking them.

Christmas Traditions...

by Mark Weltens & Erin Henningsen

At the start of Advent, which is four weeks before Christmas, their parents would close up the room with drapes so no one could see inside. Then, they would put up the Christmas tree and put all of the presents under the tree. They would decorate the whole room. The room stayed closed until Christmas Eve after midnight Mass. At that time their father would take the children outside to look for Santa Claus and every year the same thing happened—he came while they were outside!

- Mark Weltens

When I was little, my grandma used to go Christmas shopping and come in on Christmas day and walk in the door dressed up as Mrs. Claus with a huge bag of presents and she was so beautiful!

We Have The Power To Make A Difference

With every new day, our electric rates are on the line.

Right now, the cost of electric power from the Lower Colorado River Authority is among the lowest in the state. We aim to keep it that way.

The Power to Make a Difference means bringing electricity at the lowest possible cost to 800,000 Central Texans through 33 city-owned systems and 11 rural electric cooperatives.

The figures speak for themselves. Compared to the rates of private utilities, the residential rates paid by the people who use LCRA power are $15 million to $73 million a year cheaper. That's the finding of our most recent statewide study of electric rates.

Every electric utility in America tries to give its customers the cheapest possible power. The LCRA does more. It keeps rates low and delivers many valuable public services to Texas. We help bring jobs, control flooding, stop water pollution and help communities solve their solid-waste problems. Every cent of revenue makes our operations more efficient and improves the well-being of Central Texas. And we don't use tax money.

Utility	Total Annual Bill (Millions)	Amnt Saved by LCRA (Rounded Millions)
LCRA	$271.3
Texas Utilities	$286.3	$15.0
West Texas Utilities	$296.9	$26.0
Central Power & Light	$315.7	$45.0
Houston Lighting & Power	$344.2	$73.0

We make the best of every opportunity. When heavy rains brought flooding to Central Texas a year ago, we captured some of the excess water and used it to spin electric generators. This produced pollution-free power and refund checks or credits worth more than $7 million to our customers. That's one advantage of being Texas' largest producer of alternative energy.

By refinancing bonds used to pay for major construction projects, we took advantage of today's lower interest rates and saved nearly $40 million.

The 1,650 people of the LCRA know that economic times are tough. They live and work in Central Texas, too. That's why the LCRA has committed to freeze base electric rates until the year 2000.

The commitment to a nine-year rate freeze means a constant search for efficiency. Innovative planning is the key. The American Public Power Association, made up of more than 1,000 utilities like us, awarded us its top utility system honor for 1993 because of our progressive approach to long-range planning.

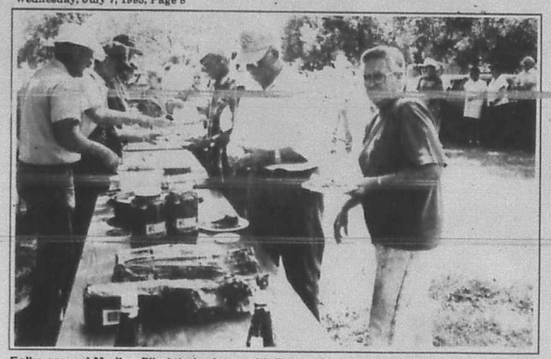

The Power to Make a Difference means the LCRA will remain the best, lowest-cost and most innovative producer of clean electricity in Texas.

LCRA THE POWER TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE

The LCRA provides low-cost wholesale power to this area through Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc.

For more information, contact the Lower Colorado River Authority, P.O. Box 220, Austin, Texas 78767-0220, 800-776-5272, Ext 3235.

This July 4th fireworks display, sponsored by the Utopia Park Board, was the biggest and best ever and was attended by record crowds. This year the sponsors added more fun competition. Athletes from Vanderpool and Utopia were joined by several visitors to the area to test their skills in cow chip throwing, pie eating, watermelon eating, and bubble gum blowing.

The cow chips were donated (at no expense to the participants) by Kelly Ranch and qualified as registered chips. Registered cow chips, I am told, throw a little bit truer than the run of the mill. In the kids' division, 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place went to Bailey Campbell, Jeffrey Wiekamp, and Josh Wiekamp.

In the kids' pie eating contest, it was Bailey Campbell, (Hunt Club Boy's Camp), Brittany Ellis, and Whitney Boyce. In the adults' division, Jason Slenniken, Karen Triner, and Jody Rutherford.

In the watermelon eating contest, Bailey Campbell, John Roby, and Travis Sutherland for the kids. And Jennifer Brent, Jeff Wiekamp, and David Boyles for the adults.

In the bubble gum blowing contest, kids' division, Toby Casparis took first, followed by Josh Wiehamp and Sara Hall. For the adults, Jennifer Brent took first, Angie Ondrovik took second, and Terri Ellis took 3rd. It should be noted here that this is the only event which local athletes walked away with all the ribbons. An important victory, not only for the contestants, but I think, for the community as well.

Utopia Baptist Church's Vacation Bible School is going on this week. And the Baptists will enjoy an ice cream supper on Sunday, July 11.

Next Senior Citizens Bingo will be July 13.

not been paid. I have been getting calls from them constantly."

Another meeting on the 15th supposedly produced an agreement between the parties that an additional 4-5 percent would be paid to Ram-2 and a check for that amount was issued. However, according to architect Cochran, on the 16th Menard refused to accept the payment and told Cochran that any further contact with Ram-2 would be through an attorney.

On June 21 the Medina school board elected to give Menard and Ram-2 official notice of their termination in seven days and the contractor was informed the following day. The original agreement gives the contractor an additional seven days following that date (June 29) to comply or re-negotiate. On that date (July 6), the bonding company Employer's Mutual Casualty Company of Des Moines, Iowa will take over the job and bring it to completion.

According to Cochran, the original contract does not allow the contractor to terminate the agreement on the grounds Menard claims. "The contract calls for negotiation if a dispute occurs," says the architect. "Work is to continue while the negotiation progresses. He just stopped and wants 'all or nothing.' Besides, he accepted the partial payment and cashed the check. That to me is accepting the amended terms."

According to board president Lautzenheiser, Menard also is not in compliance with his contract in that the contractor let portions of his insurance polices covering his work expire and has not renewed them. "This is not a good thing," said Lautzenheiser. "We had a completion date of Aug. 1 and we won't make that. It is going to throw everything off schedule but we WILL get the project finished. We would prefer Mr. Menard complete the job. Up to this point, his work has been fine and we were very pleased with the quality of construction. However, should we not be able to agree, we will take whatever measures necessary to finish the building."

As of press time, after several attempts, the Bulletin was unable to contact Ralph Menard of Ram-2 for a comment.

Paradee on HSU list

Jeanie Paradee, who attends Hardin Simmons University in Abilene, has made the President's List for the 1993 spring quarter.

To qualify for the President's List, a student must attain a 4.0 grade point average. This is the second quarter she has earned a 4.0 grade point average.

Paradee is studying voice with her major in music education, choral emphasis. She has chosen English as her second major.

COUNTY NEWS N VIEWS

by Commissioner Bennie Barker

The Recent Grand Jury Investigation Involving County Officials

The Bandera Bulletin reported a few weeks ago that three County Commissioners had received a "no bill" from the Grand Jury on theft allegations. Since my name was one of the three mentioned I promised a full story in this column when I got the green light from the Attorney General's Office that it was okay to talk about what occurred. A representative notified me that I can do that, but I am not supposed to divulge what occurred in the grand jury room during the investigation.

I will attempt to walk that fine line because the public certainly has a right to know and some folks got pulled into it who did nothing wrong. It has been hard waiting these many months until it was over. I boxed professionally as a young man. I learned quickly the need to roll with the punches and wait for the right opening. It served me well and made this easier for me than for others who got pulled into the whole sorry mess.

I believe it all started when Commissioner Alanis published a letter in The Bulletin just before election time last year urging the folks in my precinct not to re-elect me. I thought it was highly unusual for a commissioner to attempt to influence another commissioner's election. Of course, being no newcomer to politics, I knew that Alanis wanted me out because of my insistence that we divide the road and bridge funds on a more equal basis.

That didn't make me mad, but when I found out what was going on "behind the scenes," that got my attention. A few weeks before the March primary election, some "political strategists" determined that if they could concoct an incident that would embarrass me politically, one or more voters would win and here is how they did it.

Commissioner Thompson of Pct. #4 had an old cannibalized motor grader in the [illegible] employee of mine who was doing some side work for a home-owners association in my precinct. They needed some transmission parts for their association's motor grader. Commissioner Thompson let them take the [illegible] fire departments most of the [illegible] Tarpley Fire Department was the second highest bidder. I asked for a Court Order that it they did, they were so [illegible] Court.

Well, the "political strategists" sent a law enforcement official out to the association's yard to investigate. They embarrassed and scared the daylights out of some county employees who were earning extra money after hours to repair the motor grader. They accomplished their objective though, my name went out over the scanners and the words "possible theft." The next day, my opponents were spreading the rumor that "Barker was fixing to get indicted for stolen parts."

It made my re-election tougher, but folks saw through their scheme, for which I am very thankful. I promptly decided that to combat this little "investigation" that had no real authority, I needed to take it all to the proper authorities. I did, and ironically, the "investigators" soon became the investigated and it all wound up in the Attorney General's office.

What is extremely interesting however, is that the home-owners association did deliver an offer for the parts to the County Judge's office that should have solved the whole matter. It was addressed to Commissioner's Court, but we were never notified. I prefer to think it was just an oversight. At any rate, it should have been put on the agenda and settled. It was finally settled after my election.

There were two more allegations. Pct. #1 had a worn out 1967 Ford flatbed truck used for patching pavement. I transferred it to Precinct #4 so Commissioner Thompson could donate it to the Tarpley Fire Department to haul their newly acquired foam unit. Commissioner Alanis said it was illegal and our county attorney (Sam [illegible] with Commissioner Alanis. I did not agree and contacted the legal department of the Texas Association of Counties. They contended that counties could contract with fire departments to acquire equipment. To save time and expense, we mutually decided to go out for bids.

Tarpley Fire Department was the second highest bidder. I asked for a Court Order that it they did, they were so [illegible] Court.

Department could put it to a better use. I reported it to the court and we voted unanimously to award it to the fire department and we all went home happy, or so we thought.

The final allegation was against me alone rather than against Commissioner Thompson and me. It had to do with Commissioner Alanis' ad in the paper that said I did work on a private road. It is the only allegation that made any sense to me because I did work on a private road. I had received a call for assistance from the coordinator for the county "Meals on Wheels" program. An ailing senior citizen could no longer walk the 200 yards from his home to the county road to get his meals. I instructed the foreman to grade it so the van could get to the house and I would go to jail for that one if I had to.

That's it for Commissioner Thompson's involvement and mine. I regret that Commissioner Thompson had to get pulled into efforts to defeat me. I can say without reservation that when it comes to honesty, I would place Bud Thompson on the top shelf.

Commissioner Alanis faced allegations of a different nature and he may or may not choose to discuss them. He may have unwittingly created a difficult situation for his own election chances in 1994. To me, it is over and we need to get on with the job we were elected to do. There is a new spirit of cooperation in Commissioners Court. We sailed through the preliminary budget process recently and even had fun doing it. Being the eternal optimist, I figure you can turn any negative into a positive and perhaps this is a good example.

In my next column, we will be talking about the pros and cons of a county airport, so let me know your views.

The Agriculture Extension Office tells us that Logic seems to be doing well against flea beetles, they say that [illegible] Killer been show up, give them a call, they can help. The bees have passed us by so far; just pray it stays that way.

A fund has been set up at First State Bank in Lakehills for Mark and Pam Burke of Lakehills.

Mark and Pam lost their new baby girl on Wednesday, June 30, following an emergency cesarean operation. (See obituary below).

Friends of the couple said they wanted to set up the fund to help with the burden of medical bills.

Kelly and Gerald Almquist look like partners in crime as he levels the gun at Travis Pratt: but not to worry! It was all in fun at Shirley's chili cook-off in Lakehills on July 3.

Wharton's Dock

Bud Ciarlo

Willie and Mary Harper are new residents in the Wharton Dock area. Willie is a Chaplain at Audie Murphy VA Hospital and Mary is a child-care provider at Kirby Child-Care Center in San Antonio. They are Air Force retirees and parents of five adult children and have 5 grandchildren.

They were visiting their daughter, Barbara and son-in-law Airman Raymond Mathews at Spangdahlem Air Base, Germany. The Harpers departed San Antonio May 17 and returned on June 23. They arrived in Frankfurt, Germany on May 28 to begin their rewarding visit. They visited Weisbaden where they were stationed 20 years ago. They said it was wonderful to return and see the changes, especially after the breakup of the communist world. The Harpers did quite a bit of traveling. They visited the following cities in Germany: Frankfurt, Wiesbaden, Darmstady, Mainz, Rudesheim, Bitburg, Trier, Cochem, Wittlich, Worms, Speyer, Aachem, Ramstein, Sembach, Koln, Koblenz, Baumholder, Lanstul, Vogelway, Kaiserlautern, Heidelberg, Nurnberg, Munich, Dachau, Stuttgart, Garmish, Fussen, Oberammergau, Bonn, Berlin, Hannover, Mannheim and many other small cities and towns. They also went to Paris, France, London, England, Prague, Innsbruck and Salsburz, Austria, on to Zurich, Switzerland, on to Luxembourg, Belguim, to Amsterdam, and Rotterdam, Netherlands. They visited many historical churches and cultural centers and places of interest. The Harpers said they are truly thankful and wonderfully blessed to have had this one in a lifetime opportunity. However, they said this experience give them a greater appreciation for what we have in the good old USA. They are glad to be back home and we are glad to have them back. We are looking forward to the next couple years when they will retire and become fulltime residents, because we really do need some younger hands and legs in the Wharton Dock area. Welcome home Willie & Mary Harper.

Georgia Howard has been visiting with Betty and Bud Ciarlo for the past week. They were close friends for over thirty years. The Ciarlo's and Howard's owned a sport fishing boat together and spent many weekends deep sea fishing in the Bay of Panama and down around the Pearlles Islands. Georgia is a past Matron of the Fern Leaf Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star and past Queen of daughters of the Nile, an international fraternal organization whose husbands are Shriners. Georgia came here from Lexington, KY, where she attended the Supreme session of the Daughters of the Nile. At this session it was reported that over a million and a half dollars had been contributed this past year to the Shriners Hospitals for Crippled children. On Sunday, July 4, Bud drove Georgia into San Antonio where she has hotel reservations for the week so she can attend and participate in many of the ladies functions being held during the Shrine Imperial session. While in San Antonio, Bud stopped at the Fairmont Hotel where the Abou Saad Temple from Panama has their headquarters. Bud met many friends that he had not seen in over 20 years.

Kimberly Moore, Christopher Elkins wed in May 22 rites

Kimberly Lyn Moore and Christopher Alan Elkins were married on May 22 at the Colonies House in San Antonio by Judge Carolyn Spears.

The bride is the daughter of Linda Beal of San Antonio and Jim Moore of Houston.

The groom's parents are Melanie Clark of San Antonio and David Elkins of Bandera.

Western art decorations were hand-crafted by the bride and groom.

The bride wore an ivory dress with a lace over satin with pearls and iridescent sequins. The dress had an open back bodice with a lace bow and a scalloped train. She also wore ivory ropers with her dress.

Gina D'Spain of Aurora, Colorado, was the matron of honor.

Eve Elkins, sister of the groom, was the bridesmaid.

Nathan Elkins, brother of the groom, was the best man.

David Shackleford was the groomsman.

Taylor Feet and Kayle Shackleford were the ring bearer and flower girl.

Ushers were Trey Shackleford, Tracy Clark and Waren Clingen.

The attendant's gowns were rose denim wrap-around skirts with fringe down the side and around the bottom. A sleeveless rose colored denim V-neck blouse was worn with a rose V-neck collar with rose, teal and black fringe. The attendants wore black ropers. The flower girl also wore the same denim outfit with ropers except she wore a three-teared short skirt.

The wedding cake was a four-layered ivory stair-step cake with whipped cream icing, decorated with fresh flowers. The groom's cake was a chocolate boot.

Following a trip to Las Vegas, the couple returned to San Antonio.

Bandera County Farmer's Market alms for wide appeal

According to Carol Adams, the Bandera County Farmer's Market, located on Main Street next to the Volunteer Fire Department, seeks to offer customers a wide selection.

At the moment, fresh vegetables and fruits are available every Saturday: apples, peaches, cucumbers, tomatoes, corn, squash. Home-canned goods and plants are often sold. "We want to get more," Adams said. "We're looking for diversity. We want this to be an interesting place. Hand-crafted items, any kind of hand-made crafts or toys or furniture is welcome. It doesn't have to be something out of the garden. Anything hand-made or hand-sewn is good."

The Farmer's Market is open each Saturday from 8 a.m. to noon. The membership fee is $10 and includes a vendor's permit. "That's what makes it a good offer. A vendor's permit through the city is $35," Adams said.

Having the vendor's permit allows an individual to sell on Saturdays at the Main Street location, and during the week as well. On Saturday, a tarp is erected to offer vendors a shaded area.

In addition to the $10 membership fee, vendors pay $5 on Saturdays when they set up booths.

So far this year, Adams said, the Farmer's Market is a success. "Sales are up from last year. We have between two to five vendors every Saturday. We are qualified to take WIC cards this year. That has helped, too. WIC cards are coming in now."

The Farmer's Market welcomes vendors from Bandera County and counties adjacent to Bandera County. It opened on Memorial Day and will continue through the early part of August.

Regular vendors include The Love Creek Store in Medina, Love Creek Orchards, and a truck farmer who brings as many as 20 varieties to the market.

Richard Thornber is president of the Bandera County Farmer's market Association. He is also a peach grower, offering tree-ripened fruit to customers. He has grown peaches for the past nine years, but found success for only six of those years due to hard freezes. He said the advantage of shopping at a farmer's market is in knowing the fruit and produce is fresh.

Those wishing to sale at the Farmer's Market may contact Carol Adams at 589-2588 and ask for an application, to be sent, or show up at the market on Saturday and contact Thornber. Thornber will provide vendors with an application, a permit, and space to display and sale their homegrown or home-made items.

A group photo of the descendants of Charles and Justine Pingenot deMontel was taken at the Camp Montel Historical Marker on the Bandera County Courthouse square. The marker details Captain deMontel's role as a ranger in the Montel area.

DeMontel family celebrated reunion here on June 12

Descendants of Charles and Justine Pingenot deMontel gathered in the Fellowship Hall of the Grace Lutheran Church in Bandera on Saturday, June 12 for a reunion.

Charles deMontel, along with John James and John Herndon, were co-founders of Bandera. They platted the town of Bandera on the banks of the Medina River in 1853. They brought Polish settlers, newly arrived at Panna Maria, to Bandera to establish homes and work in a shingle mill.

Ada Mae Dickey of Center Point, a descendant of Charles deMontel Jr., served as chairman for the reunion. The group visited together and viewed an exhibit of family pictures and books and magazines containing descriptions of Charles, Sr.'s life in the Bandera area. Other items on display included cards, letters and photos from family members unable to attend.

Two distant cousins were present. They provided genealogy records on the Pingenot branch and photographs from a European trip which highlighted the Bretten area where some Pingenots still reside.

Mavericks Volkssport draws nearly 1,000

The Medina Mavericks Volkssport Club 5K and 10K walks at Siesta Ranch on Saturday, June 26 drew close to a thousand walkers. Some 996 walkers registered for the walk which was co-sponsored by SAS Shoemakers and Utopia Water.

The walks were a part of the American Volkssport Association 8th Biennial Convention with many out of state and foreign delegates. Medina's 996 registered walkers boasted the highest attendance of any of the other twelve events held during the week of June 20-27. Other walks were held at Breckenridge Park; Downtown San Antonio and the River Walk; Perdenales Falls State park in Johnson City; LBJ Park at Stonewall; Bastrop State Park; Town Lake and Ziker Garden at Austin; Deep Eddy Pool Swim, Austin; Austin Downtown Walk, Georgetown Historical Walk; Hill Country Historic Walk at Comfort; and the International Walk at Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras.

Walkers through the scenic Hill Country in Medina were entertained by SAS. Cowboys on horseback directed autos and buses to parking slots. Barbecue was served following the walks. Games ended with an assortment of prizes. Kevin Fitzpatrick entertained with trick roping.

One out-of-state delegate said, "Now this is what I always thought Texas would be like."

Medina's Linda Barton handles back to basics baskets, pottery

Linda Barton, of Medina, handles hand-made baskets and pottery from The Longaberger Company in Dresden, Ohio. She has sold the initialed crafts for the past three years.

She said the baskets are excellent for arts & crafts. "People like them because there's a move back to the basics and back to our roots. These baskets are expensive, but they are the kind that will be around for ever and ever."

Her most popular baskets are large vegetable baskets and picnic baskets. "The vegetable baskets are good for carrying anything and everything from vegetables to art supplies and quilting supplies. They have double swinging handles. The picnic baskets are really nice, too."

The baskets are hand-made. When an order is placed, an artisan goes to work completing the order. It takes approximately six weeks to get a basket once it is ordered.

Barton welcomes calls on her hand-made crafts line. She can be reached at 589-2486.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

"...Every perfect gift comes from above, from the Father of the lights of heaven. With him there is no variation, no play of passing shadows."

— James 1: 17

What's wrong with thinking that occasionally God "tempts" us to test our faith? Lots, says St. James: it is dangerous to feel that way, because we risk seeing ourselves as innocent victims of a sadistic and tormenting God. Worse yet, it gives us a chance to show responsibility for our actions onto God's shoulders, a sort of reverse twist on the old "Devil made me do it" idea. True faith involves accepting responsibility for our own actions. Only then can we understand God's forgiveness.

Bandera tourch run begins at Downs Saturday, July 10

The U.S. Olympic Festival '93 Torch makes an appearance at Bandera Downs on Saturday, July 10 just before it is carried through the city of Bandera.

At approximately 12:30 p.m. the torch caravan from Hondo will stop at the track, and the torch will be handed off to a relay of top professional jockeys, who will carry the flame around the oval track before continuing toward San Antonio.

Following the circuit around Bandera Downs, 22 local individuals are expected to take turns carrying the torch through Bandera.

Six of the 22 are players from the Bandera County Little League. They are Brent Flack, John Paul Lico, Jennifer Lynn, Cyrus Montagus, Kevin Ainsworth and Well Clark.

Other Bandera County residents who will carry the symbolic flame include Jason Evans, Steven Duke, Albert Tovar, David Hernandez, Diane Kifer, Warren Parker, Belinda Alexander, Brad Kifer, George Gibson, Bill Hayden, Autumn Childers, Jackie Edwards, Beckie Clements, Arkey Blue, Stephanie Duke and Don Alexander.

The torch is scheduled to arrive in Bandera at 1 p.m.

Local law enforcement officials will provide traffic control as runners head down the middle of the road.

The lighted torch will be carried relay-style approximately one-fifth of a mile by each runner. At the end of each dash, the runner carrying the torch will hand it off to the next runner who will be stationed at his/her starting point along the route.

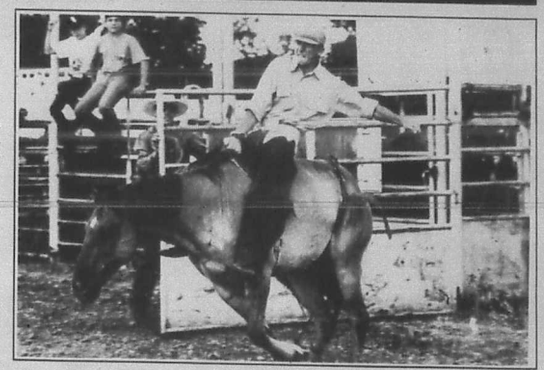

Each runner will wear an official torch run T-shirt.

The route begins at Bandera Downs and continues west on Highway 16, makes the turn onto Highway 173 and continues out past Quality Welding. The run is expected to take approximately 45 minutes to pass through Bandera.

Johnson City started off the torch run in Texas on June 12. The flame will have been carried through 58 cities in 41 days by some 3,468 participants and traveling some 4,653 miles when it finally arrives at the Alamo Dome in San Antonio on July 23.

The torch will be carried through San Antonio July 11 through July 23.

Castroville, Devine, Lytle, Pearsall, Floresville and Pleasanton join Bandera in having participated in the Olympic Festival torch run.

Medina sophomore Dustin Lyman tried hard as he attempted to ride his first ever bronc Saturday night, June 26 during the sixth annual Medina FFA Rodeo. Lyman hung on for six of the required eight seconds before eating dust. The two-day event was moved to Kerrville from Bandera because of rain.

Medina FFA Rodeo ' best ever' says organizer

Two-day event raises $2,900 in spite of rain threat

The sixth annual Medina FFA Rodeo was a rousing success in spite of a rain induced move from Mansfield Park in Bandera to the Kerr County arena in Kerrville, says organizer Doug Townsend." We didn't have as many spectators as we would have had in Bandera," he said. "But the entries were still great and with the major donations of prizes this year, we cleared at least $2,900. That's the best we've ever done and it will be enough to fund our FFA for the (1993-94) year."

Townsend said the first rodeo he organized six years ago was the best money raiser until this year. That first year's show bagged around $2,600 for the future farmers.

Townsend credited the many volunteers who worked late into the nights for this year's successful two-day event.

Rodeo producer Lester Meir commented that the Medina crew was the best organized he'd worked with all year.

Bandera duo wins Spurs basketball camp honors

Keri King and Heidi Hicks of Bandera recently won top honors at the Spurs Basketball Camp in San Antonio.

Keri, daughter of Shawna Hicks of Bandera and Jat King of San Antonio, won the Coaches' Award for the week.

Heidi, daughter of Rand and Suzanne Hicks of Bandera, won the Most Valuable Player Award. Her prizes include the chance to be televised on court with the Spurs team at their opening game in October.

Both girls will be incoming Fall freshman at BHS.

Stickhorse challange set for Saturday, July 17

The first Media Stickhorse Challenge for Charity is coming together for Saturday, July 17 at Bandera Downs.

Media personalities will race (on stickhorses!) for their favorite charities.

The new fall Stakes Schedule has been released and over $201,000 in added-money stakes purses are offered highlighted by the $12,500-added San Antonio Derby for three-year-old thoroughbreds going a mile and seventy yards, and the $12,500-added San Antonio Futurity for two-year-old thoroughbreds over six furlongs.

Quarter Horse, thoroughbred and Arabian racing continues until Nov. 28. There will be no live racing Aug. 20-22 and Aug. 27-29.

The Bandera Bulletin

Our 49th Year, No. 54

What is round'n red'n risin' on the horizon in the west? Please turn to Page 12 for the answer and more.

Seven-year-old John Paul Lico of Pipe Creek grips the U.S. Olympic Festival '93 torch with both hands as he takes it from fellow runner Brent Flack, 11, of Lakehills Saturday, July 10. The flame was carried through Bandera by 22 runners beginning at Bandera Downs with a circuit of the track by jockeys and continuing up State Hwy. 16 through town and out State Hwy. 173 towards Kerrville. Both boys expressed excitement at being a part of a once-in-a-lifetime event. Staff photo by Larry T. Williams

BISD registration set

Students will begin sign-up for fall classes Aug. 3

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Registration for Bandera Independent School District students will be held from Tuesday, Aug. 3 through Monday, Aug. 9 (excluding Saturday and Sunday) from 8 a.m. to noon, and again from 1 to 4 p.m.

Alkek Elementary students may register at any time during the August 3rd through 9th registration. A schedule has been set for junior high and high school students.

Sixth grade students will register on August 5 and 9.

Seventh grade students are scheduled for August 4 and 9.

Eighth graders will register on August 3 and 9.

High School students will register as follows: 9th grade will register on August 6 and 9; 10th graders register on August 5 and 9; 11th grade will register on August 4 and 9; and 12 grade will register on August 3 and 9.

School board members passed changes in the Bandera ISD student policy handbook for the 1993-94 year during their July 8 meeting. These changes include the issues of bus discipline, dress and grooming, dual credit, and graduation requirements.

On page 5 of the handbook, a distinction is made between the National Honor Society and the National Junior Honor Society. Membership in the National Junior Honor Society does not automatically qualify a student for membership in the National Honor Society.

The principal will have the option of administering disciplinary action other than bus suspension for the first five bus discipline reports.

While still exceeding the state requirements, the number of credits needed for graduation has dropped from 25 to 23 for regular high school transcript students. A student may earn up to two credits (of the 22 required by the state) through dual-credit, correspondence, summer school, night school or any combination of these. The number of credits required for an advanced school transcript remains 25.

Cleated shoes are added to the list of unacceptable dress due to the damage they cause to flooring.

Fatal accident July 7 claims Lakehills man

James Allen Garrett, 53, was killed on Wednesday, July 7 in a one-car accident on 1283 in Lakehills.

Garrett, who had recently moved to Lakehills, was driving on 1283 north of Pebble Beach when his vehicle ran off the road. He apparently over-corrected and ran off the other side of the road, plowing into an embankment. He was killed instantly when the 1982 fiberglass roadster convertible he was driving flipped.

The accident occured at approximately 11:45 p.m. Justice of the Peace Louise Karr pronounced him dead at the scene shortly after midnight. She said an investigation into the cause of the accident is underway.

Sheriff James MacMillan named head and neck injuries sustained in the accident as the [illegible] and no doubt [illegible] pens out here a lot. There's been eight or nine through the years killed in the same stretch of the road for the same reason."

Garrett is survived by his wife, Shirley J. Garrett; sons David W. Garrett of Portland, Or. and Brian H. Garrett of San Antonio; a sister, Judy Coon of Colusa, Calif.; a brother, Gordon Garrett of Redlands, Calif.; and one grandson.

Funeral services were Tuesday, July 13 at Lackland Air Force Base, with interment at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery.

911 program plan adopted by county commissioners

County Commissioners approved a plan from Roger Raser to implement the 911 program in Bandera County.

They will: employ a project manager; appoint a planning committee of not more than six people; establish an office location; determine state and federal criteria, and meet with representatives of the Postal Service and other departments to determine how to name and record all roads in Bandera County.

County Judge Ray Mauer expressed concern that it might be impossible to have all the roads in the county located and named on maps by the August 3 deadline set by the state.

Commissioners said they had already voted to keep present road names rather than switching to numbers. Raser pointed out that numbering the streets and roads in Bandera County would be easier than finding present names, recording present names, and naming roads which have not been named.

Under the plan to implement [illegible] county would be divided into four zones. Coordinators would direct territorial map research and plotting. Three primary and three alternate volunteer coordinators per zone would be [illegible] would help identify all roadways, designate street blocks, life structures and identify [illegible]. They would record [illegible] graphic, digital [illegible] rated at the Sheriff's Department.

Raser said his plan could be completed in six months of funding for the field work and approximately nine months for the project coordination.

Paid staff would include one manager and four zone coordinators. Currently, the 1992-93 budget holds a balance of $9,500. This would enable the 911 project to get underway during the present fiscal year.

A $30,000 grant is expected to support the project for 1993-94, with an additional $26,000 from the general fund. Implementing the 911 program, is expected to cost a total of $56,611.

Opinion

Letters

to the editor

'Where were you?' he asks

Dear editor:

As an elected council member of the City of Bandera, I would like to make a plea to the citizens of this city. YOUR opinion is one of the most valuable tools in the decision-making process that goes on at each city council meeting. This city belongs to everyone- not just the mayor and the council. Everyone has the right to be heard.

Almost half of the people recently polled had no opinion regarding smoking in public restaurants! It's difficult to know if the council is making the right choice if we don't know what everyone's opinion is. Many people tell me about over-grown vacant lots. Please come to the next meeting and voice your concern.

I want to thank everyone who helped elected me. I ask that you join us at the city meetings and let the council hear YOUR viewpoint. Please help be a part of the growth of Bandera and attend city meetings.

Michael Holan
Councilman

He just hates that road

Dear editor:

This open letter is a challenge to Judge Mauer and Commissioner Alanis to drive Valley View Road (which the county accepted to maintain three years ago) along with Timbercreek Road.

Valley View Road contains a grade which, according to state standards, requires a hard surface. The grade is so steep, between 30 and 45 percent, and the road is in such poor shape, that vehicles must speed past the flat area, which is in front of my property, to gain momentum to achieve enough power to reach the top of the hill.

After so much rain this past summer, what little topping that existed on the surface was washed down the hill resulting in six to eight inch ruts and the exposure of the original rock formation.

I have seen compact cars and empty pickups loose traction and jitter bug to the point where they almost go off the side of the hills. Both sides of the road have a steep drop off.

I was told by the county maintenance foreman three years ago that if I furnished the culvert pipe, the county would install it. The pipe IS STILL LAYING OUT ALONG THE ROAD WAITING TO BE INSTALLED.

Six or seven months ago, the county was working on the road and left four loads of base material piled in one lane. The material is STILL there, causing only half of the road to be passable.

Judge, Commissioner, please explain to me what kind of road maintaining is this? The only work I've ever seen done is scraping off what little base material there is and shoving it to the sides. This gives us a wide, exposed rock, dirt road.

On July 25, 1992, I saw the county maintainer installing driveways on private property in the Willow Springs Addition. How is it possible that they can cut PRIVATE drives, yet can't maintain PUBLIC roads?

The way I see it, more tax dollars are received from those of us who own non-agricultural property and are unable to receive agricultural exemptions (since this limestone area does not support vegetation or live stock), yet we receive less services for our property.

Again, I challenge Judge Mauer and Commissioner Alanis to drive Valley View Road from the dump to Timbercreek Road four times consecutively, in their best vehicle. For this, I will pay each of them one day's wage for carrying out their county responsibilties.

The trash at the dump site was burned by the county three years ago and the debris was supposed to be buried. The debris is still exposed, left in the same condition as when jthe fire went out. Where is the burial crew?

Thomas A. Bregel
Pipe Creek

Editor's note: Bandera County Commissioner Dan Alanis was contacted about this issue. He said he has only a three-man crew and limited funding for road maintenance. Earlier rains caused severe damage in his precinct. Jobs are rated in priority according to the traffic roads receive in an effort to fix the roads which affect the greatest number of residents first. The four loads of base material left on Valley View Road reflect an earlier attempt to fix the road. The job has been postponed due to more pressing problems. Alanis denies Bregel's charge that the county maintainer installed driveways on private property. "We have never worked on private property- not since I've been in office.

More county discussion

Dear editor:

I would like to address Mr. Hubbs' letter from week about an airport versus road maintenance and then discuss the rumors relating to whether I am moving to Austin or running for County Judge.

In relation to the airport, the county is proceeding with a feasibility study only at this time. It is funded with some $60,000 by the state and the county's share is $6,000 or less. If it turns out that the airport is not feasible or cannot be self supporting then I doubt that anyone including me would support it, but lets give the study a chance first. The Flying L Airport is closed and it was the last public airstrip in the county to my knowledge. I think the need is there but we will have to wait for the study.

Mr. Hubbs is right about the county roads, almost all of them are in poor condition and in need of repair. Commissioners have to take the heat for it, but I do not believe that is where the problem lies. Three of the four precincts have an average of 140 to 150 miles to maintain with three man crews and aging equipment. As more people move into the area to escape high congestion and increasing crime, it increases the need for improved and increased road maintenance.

I believe we need to restructure our budget priorities. With aggressive and determined leadership we can set higher spending priorities for our roads and bridges, law enforcement and Emergency Medical Services (EMS). We could consider restructuring some departments and combining others in cost reduction programs that could fund the needed increases for the spending priorities that are required by law to protect the Health, Safety and Welfare of our citizens. I believe we can do this without local property tax increases.

After setting the above priorities and restructuring, if revenues were still needed to meet our goals, we could look more seriously at combining the four Road & Bridge departments into a single "unit" system which should save hundreds of thousands of dollars and improve road maintenance if structured properly. Last but not least, we have the option of enacting a 1/2 cent sales tax if voters approve it. It would raise an estimated $400,000 per year which would cure our shortages in Road & Bridge, Law enforcement and EMS. Granted, it is a tax increase, but if it were designated for the above purposes I think voters might support it if it means better services and paved roads. A sales tax would spread the burden instead of leaving it mostly on the backs of property owners.

About the rumors, no, I am not moving to Austin as my political foes hope. My wife was transferred there with the Texas racing commission and comes home to Bandera on weekends. It has improved my cooking and house hold skills, but this is our home. I am considering the County Judge race because of the concerns I explained above. I had promised my wife I would and this term and start building our home on Bear Creek road. She observed my car-stick with politics. If I feel the support is there I will not let the suspense drag on until the filing deadline. Candidates should declare early so

A look back into Bandera's past...

Judging by front-page news stories and headlines in the Bandera New Era, fact is indeed stranger than fiction. Here are a few news briefs from the past.

The May 12, 1938, issue was graced by a picture of a 19-year old laying hen on the front. The article claimed she was the "world's oldest laying hen," though it deplored the fact that her production had dropped from 200 eggs a year to 22 • During an electrical storm in June, 1938, the New Era reported that three trees in a pasture were struck by lightening; power was off in Medina and Bandera, and a cow was struck by lightening and killed while grazing in a pasture • The June 30, 1938, issue reported that a woman in Atlanta scolded her cat and shook it for disobeying her. The cat scratched her in the face and punctured the ball of her left eye; the eye in which she was blind. The accidental injury drained a growth which had previously blocked her sight. The woman's vision was restored • Also in that issue, a tiger and a dog's friendship of over a year was broken by their owner who greatly feared that the growing cat's appetite might transcend the bonds of friendship.

Tucked in among the news of Toots Mansfield setting a new calf roping record in Cheyenne and six Bandera hogs less than six months old averaging 224 pounds at market, was this idea for recreation. "Time on your hands? Listen to grass grow with a new radio amplification developed in Germany." • In September, 1938, while President Roosevelt was denouncing the Poll Tax and the "European situation remained serious", a contest was held in Bandera County for the beautification of filling stations, and a 25-year old catfish, weighing 19 pounds, died in a Llano stock tank • "Mars Invasion" terrorizes the county, a headline on the front page of the November 3, 1938 paper. It went on the report that "a relieved America today emerged from a wave of mass hysteria following a dramatization by H.G. Wells."

Following a tornado near Clyde, Texas, in November, a telephone lineman heard a child's whimper. He found a three-year old boy in water up to his chin- bravely holding up his three-month old brother to keep him out of the water. The children's parents had both been killed by the twister • In June, 1938, it was reported that newly discovered bacteria could live in crude oil deep in oil wells • The December 1 issue carried a front page story of how an army of ants had invaded a saloon and consumed $1,200 worth of beer, or 80 barrels • An Atlanta man made it to the Bandera New Era's front page in the March 23, 1939 issue, for eating 41 raw eggs. And it was reported that rare fruit bats were found on blooming plumb trees in Kerrville: "rare to the point that it had hardly been seen before."

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Martha Whitehead, former mayor of Longview, was sworn in last week as Texas' 24th state treasurer, succeeding Kay Bailey Hutchison who was elected to the U.S. Senate.

Whitehead, 58, said she would consider transferring some treasury functions to other agencies if she is satisfied they could perform the tasks better.

But the East Texas Democrat said she would call for shifting some investment management duties of other agencies to her office.

"We're going to make the case that we can manage investment better than other agencies, and we are going to be very aggressive about that," said Whitehead.

Gov. Ann Richards conducted the swearing-in ceremony in the House chamber.

Deputy Treasurer Named

After Whitehead was sworn in, state Board of Insurance member Paul Williams resigned his post to become deputy treasurer.

Williams, a longtime aide to Gov. Richards, was appointed to a six-year term on the Insurance Board.

He has held the job of deputy treasurer before, when Richards was state treasurer.

Under legislation passed this past session, the three-member Insurance Board will be dissolved Sept. 1, 1994. The state insurance department will then be run by a commissioner.

Williams, a native of Temple, is a graduate of Baylor University. He is a certified public accountant.

Whitehead said she has begun raising money for the 1994 election campaign. "I view a job well done as being elected in 1994," she said.

School Finance Appeal

More than 100 property-poor school districts attempting to halt a new school finance law filed an appeal last week with the Texas Supreme Court.

The appeal asks the high court to overrule a trial judge who denied the school districts a June hearing on the new law, which is set to take effect Sept. 1.

The law gives property-rich school districts several options for sharing their wealth with property-poor ones.

Meanwhile, a U.S. Department of Justice pre-cleared the new school finance law, according to Secretary of State John Hannah.

The new law was submitted to the department because of provisions that could affect voting.

Stephen Rosenbaum, chief of the agency's voting section, said in a letter that Attorney General Janet Reno is not objecting to the changes made by the law. But he noted that failure to object does not bar future court challenges.

Bribery Trial Begins

The racketeering and bribery trial of former U.S. Rep. Albert Bustamante got under way last week in San Antonio.

"You're about to learn the story

Bennett told jurors.

Bennett began the attack by calling a retired Air Force general, who Bustamante, 59, a Democrat, lost his 23rd Congressional District seat to Republican Henry Bonilla amid publicity about the federal investigation.

Bustamante's wife, Rebecca, an attorney, is on trial charged with aiding and abetting her husband.

Insurance Chief Search

The state has launched a nationwide search for a commissioner of insurance.

"This is one of the top insurance regulatory jobs in the nation, and we intend to recruit 'the best and brightest' to fill it," Gov. Richards said.

Under a recently passed law, the State Board of Insurance will be abolished and the commissioner will become Texas' top insurance regulator.

The Legislature has authorized a commissioner's salary of as much as $150,000.

Waste Dump Suit

Alert Citizens for Environmental Safety has filed a second lawsuit to block the state's plans to build a low-level radioactive waste dump in West Texas.

ACES spokesman Roy Griffin said the district court suit is meant to complement a federal lawsuit filed last month.

Griffin said the organization wants to ensure "that the governor and the Legislature are held responsible for the actions they've taken."

The Legislature voted in 1991 to put the dump in Hudspeth County. But residents say the action is illegal because there was no chance for them to voice their opposition.

Medina Methodist youth group will hold bake sale

Youth from the Medina United Methodist Church youth group will hold a bake sale on Sunday, July 17 immediately following the morning worship service.

Booths for baked goods will be set up in two locations. One booth will be in front of the church. The other booth will be in front of Hatfield Realty. Youth from the church are providing all baked goods for the booths. The cost will be a donation.

Proceeds from the July 17 bake sale will be used by youth to fund a July 26 and 27 trip to Six Flags.

Last month's spaghetti dinner raised $250, but more money is needed for the trip.

Other calls included: minor accident, 2; major accident, 2; welfare concern, 2; theft, 3; harrassment, 3; alarm, 3; assist EMS, 4; loose livestock, 4; assist fire department, 4; suspicious circumstance, 5; public assist, 5; domestic disturbance, 5; burglary, 6; Misdemeanor arrest, 7; and suspicious vehicle/person, 16.

It was discovered on July 9 that someone had cut the locks off approximately 10 units at a mini storage in the Lakehills area during the night. It appeared that nothing was missing from most of the units. Tools, a tool chest, and carpet were reportedly stolen from one of the units. The case is under investigation.

A storage building at a Pipe Creek residence was discovered broken into on July 9th. Reportely stolen was: a wood stove, barbecue pit and butane tanks. The case is under investigatation.

There were no felony arrests for the week.

Immunization Awareness Month in July

July is Immunization Awareness Month in Texas, the state which has led the nation in morbidity and mortality for many vaccine-preventable disease for the past five years.

Texas also ranks last among all 50 states in the percentage of children who have been fully immunized. Immunization levels in some parts of Texas are below those of third world countries.

The low vaccine rate in Texas can be overcome through increased public awareness, easier access to health care, and by providing the vaccines at a low cost.

During July and August, immunization clinics will be held at the Bandera Department of Health office at 1207 Cottonwood every Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A clinic will be held at the American Legion in Lakehills on Saturday, July 31 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A clinic will be held in Medina at the Garden Center in town on Saturday, August 7 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Gov. Ann Richards signed a law into effect in April which requires that all Texas children, except those with a religious conflict or medical contraindication, to be immunized against contageous diseases such as meales, mumps and diphtheria.

A change of command

James H. Stewart took the BISD reins on July 8

There was a change of command at the Bandera Independent School District Board of Trustees July 8 meeting. James H. Stewart took over the duties of superintendent.

Stewart said he is not planning any major changes in Bandera's educational program although team teaching is a possibility. "I have a strong commitment to team teaching. I believe it is possible to have it on the junior high campus this year. We have a new Jr. High principal who is attending a seminar in Austin on it now with four of his teachers."

He also said that he was impressed with school board members. "I think the meeting was great. It ran a little longer than I expected. I'd like to see that cut down.

"I was real pleased. The board members scrutinized everything; they weighed things pretty heavily before making decisions."

Bandera school trustees say 'yes' to school prayer

Bandera Independent School District Trustee George Weech took a strong stand for allowing prayer at school events during the board's July 8 meeting. "If we're getting so wimpy that we can't defend our maker and the beliefs of those before who have died for our country, then we might as well close down the school and walk away."

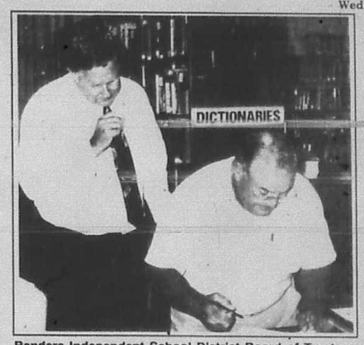

Weech said that if prayer was outlawed in Bandera schools he would "walk away from the school board. You can get another member. We've been getting further and further away from prayer in school and the more we get away, the worse the school situtation gets."

Board president T.H. "Bub" Keese expressed support for Weech and asked to see a copy of the proposed legislation the board was being asked to sign.

James Stewart, the new superintendent of schools, said the document was channeled down from a federal level. "I think we have to accept it."

Members of the board were given a copy of the proposed change to read. It says: "The Board shall not permit clergymen to deliver invocations or benedictions at promotional and graduation ceremonies for secondary schools; nor shall school officials direct the performance of a formal religious exercise at such ceremonies."

After discussion, board members decided they could accept the legislation and would approach Bandera ministers to see if graduation could be sponsored by them as a church activity.

New junior high principal hired

Weyman will begin regular office hours this month

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Robert Weyman, a 1977 graduate of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, has been hired as principal of Bandera Junior High School. He has already assumed duties as the new junior high principal and will be in his office on a regular basis later this month.

Weyman and his wife, Jessica, claim two basset hounds as family members. Jessica is being transferred to San Antonio by her employer, Aetna.

The former SMU football player has 11 years experience in oil field work, 18 months on the Fort Worth Police Department, and six years in education. His most recent assignment was in a Lakeworth junior high of approximately the same size as Bandera's. He said Bandera Junior High School will be challenging and that he's looking forward to it.

He and four junior high teachers are attending an Austin conference on the concept of team teaching. Weyman believes that team teaching may be a key to dealing with problem students. He also says he is coming to Bandera free of any pre-judgement.

"I will view the kids as they want me to view them with no pre-judgement. I'm new here. If they've been in trouble before, it's up to them to decide how they want to be viewed. They have the opportunity to get a new start.

"I don't expect and I will not accept mediocrity from students or faculty. What I understand the kids want is a quality education. We're going to give it to them. From what I've heard and seen, we have an excellent faculty."

He praised the Bandera Independent School District Board of Trustees. "They seem to be working together. What I keep hearing on every decision that is made is, 'how will this affect the kids?' They seem to realize that we're here for the kids. I see no evidence of any personal grudges. The bottom line is- we want to do what's best for the kids."

Weyman said he is anxious to meet parents. "I'll be in and out of my office and busy, but I'll always take a minute or two to talk to parents."

He said there "WILL BE a PTO at the junior high" and that parents "who volunteer on my campus will be used. There's a multitude of things parents are capable of doing. We don't have all the money in the world. We need to use our available resources. Parents are the best resource."

He also promises to be in "every classroom, every day."

Stickhorse event set at race track

The first ever Bandera Downs Media Stickhorse Challenge for Charity is scheduled for Saturday, July 17. Media personalities from television, radio and print will climb aboard their stickhorses, leave from the gates and race on the track surface to the finish line for their favorite charities. Participants will arrive about 12:30, meet at the winner's circle and check in. Post positions will be drawn at 1:00; the first trial is at 1:15. The second trial is at 1:25, and the finals will be run after the second live race (or about 2:15). Media personalities will be finished with their event shortly thereafter.

"I saw a brontosaurus saunter through my neighborhood, this struck me as peculiar as I'd heard they'd gone for good its proportions were imposing, it was long and tall and wide, I ran home to fetch a ladder, then ascended for a ride."
—Jack Prelutsky from Something BIG Has Been Here

This year's Summer Reading Program, "Lions, and Tigers, and Books...Oh My!" was made possible thanks to Joyce Sellberg, Kim Appel, Betty Childs, and Julie Aguilar. Julie, although not asked in advance to help with our program, "jumped right in" to aid us, when the group of three and four year olds were too large for all to remain together. Once again we want to thank them and thanks also to all our "silent helpers."

We would also like to thank Scott Middleton, the manager of Dairy Queen, for giving us "tokens" to hand out to all the children on the last day of the program. The tokens are good for one free sundae.

Everyone agrees that this year's summer reading program was an overwhelming success! We averaged over fifty children in attendance each week. The programs were both educational and entertaining for the three different age groups.

Stories were read and shared such as the classics; The Little Engine that Could; Little House on the Prairie; Mike Mulligan and His Steam Shovel; The Hungry Caterpillar; The Wizard of Oz and others. Hands on activities and crafts were done by all the groups as well. Butter was "churned", dinosaur hats, butterflies and ladybugs were created. There was singing, poetry, puzzles and acting out of the various topics covered.

The official reading program is over, but we certainly hope to see many of these same children in the future—checking out books of course!

Melissa Appel was one of the children who "became" a dinosaur during Bandera County Library's annual summer reading program.

Tuesday night rodeos at Mansfield Park

If you have not gone to [illegible] Tuesday night rodeo out at Mansfield Park yet, it is a summer "must". It's more fun than a barrel of monkeys and feels like you're stepping back in time 30 years to the old Dude Ranch days. The Grand Entry is complete with all the competing cowboys & girls & Wilton Crider's grandkids (all of 10-12 years old) are the flag holders. Around the arena they gallop and then all the cowboy hats come off and the crowds rise for the "blessing" and the Star Spangled Banner.

Then come the events, bull-riding, calf roping, team roping, barrels, junior calf roping and the cream of the crop—wild steer saddling.

The announcer calls out the names of the Dude Ranches of Bandera - Dixie Dude, Mayan, Silver Spur, Flying L, Lost Valley - The guests from each of these ranches cheering as their name is called. Then, the competition begins between Flying L, Dixie Dude & Twin Elms. Each has a team of 3 wranglers and when the steer is let out of the shoots, they must saddle it and one cowboy has to ride it into a circle in the middle of the arena. The crowd goes wild! Everybody hootin' and hollerin' for their own ranch. The steers go crazy, jumping and running and dragging the wranglers every which way. Finally, Dixie Dude's got a saddle on and their rider into it. No - he's off! No - he's on! The 2 other boys kicking and pulling to get the steer into the circle and up holding the rider on the steer. The judge yells, "He did it!" and its a win for the Dixie Dude - this week!

The stands are loaded with kids and any under 12 are called out for the calf scramble. Maybe 50 are lined up waiting. The calves are let loose and [illegible] ble. The winners have to grab the red ribbon off the tail. There are 4 winners and one to go. A huge roar goes up from the crowd, a teensy boy of 2 years old emerges with the 5th and final red ribbon held high.

With the weather perfect as the subtle breeze blows and a soft sunset to the west and this happy rodeo being put on, life just can't get must better in the Cowboy Capital!

Cabaret re-opens

It was only word of mouth but they came from hither, thither and yon; Houston, Port Arthur, Galveston, Austin, Boerne, San Antonio, Lakehills, Medina, Tarpley—all for the first night of the re-opening of Bandera's own Cabaret." And the joint was jumpin.

Peggy Huffman had reserved a long table for her husband, Dan's 70th birthday and you've heard the expression "shake a leg"? Well, it really shook!

The table next door was filled with all the crew that had worked so hard to get the Cabaret open by that date. They were having a good time, but they didn't seem to be dancing too much! Wonder why?!

We await, with bated breath, for their "grand opening."

Then, there was Darrell McCall at the Bella Union, and what a fun show he put on. He's so alive and makes all the dancers feel that way too.

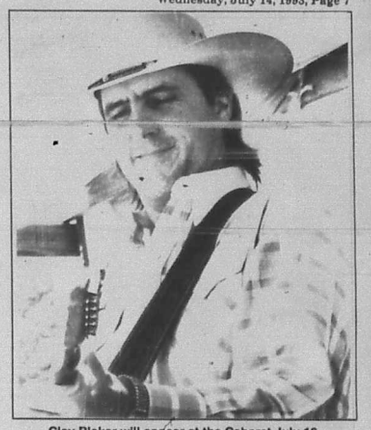

And the Silver Dollar had tourists coming out its ears, so all-in-all Bandera's on the map, again!

MLBA will sponsor dance Saturday in Lakehills

The Medina Lake Betterment Association will sponsor a dance at the Civic Center Pavilion in Lakehills on Saturday, July 17 from 8 p.m. to midnight.

The Texas Connection will play for the dance. The cost will be $3 per person and $5 per couple.

Food will also be available. Buzz's fajitas, sausage on a stick, and Daddy Mac's fudge are just a sample of food which will be served from 6:30 p.m. to 9 p.m.

Clay Blaker will appear at the Cabaret July 16.

Cabaret brings steady flow of entertainers here

The Cabaret has scheduled performers for the remainder of July. They include: Clay Blaker, Johnny Bush, Robert Demel, Young Country, Matheny Brothers, Jeff Thompson Band, Jody Nix and Bounty Hunters.

He has released 15 albums; won four Gold Records; appeared on television in shows including the Grand Ole Opry, Marty Robbins Show, Hee Haw, and others.

Adams celebrate 50 years of marriage June 19-20

Henry and Annie M. Adams celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary on June 19 and 20. Their children joined approximately 400 of their family and friends at the Bar Seven Ranch to honor the couple.

A ranch-style barbecue was served. Guests danced to music from the Sheriff's Posse Band. Each family attending had their picture taken against the beautiful Bar Seven hills. The pictures were added to a memory book for the couple.

Additional entertainment was provided by Sherrill Johnson and Murry LeStourgeon and by the Adams' son, Robert, and his friends: Andy Garsea, Chris Tilton and Bobby Dale Schmidt.

Two giant-sized cakes, prepared by daughter-in-law Kelli Adams, were served. Trev Sparks of McAllen played the ragtime piano as the cake was served.

The following day, friends and family attended the Henry and Annie Adams 50th Anniversary Races at Bandera Downs.

Henry was president of Lost Valley, Inc. in 1964, when Lost Valley Downs was built.

Although Henry and Annie reside in San Antonio, they continue to operate the 100-year old Adam's Bar Seven Game Management Ranch in Medina.

If someone were to pay you ten cents for every kind word that you have spoken about people, and collect five cents for every unkind word, would you be rich or poor?
It has been said that with kindness you can give back a person his self-respect, you can bring life to smothered dreams, you can bring heaven down to earth, and in so doing you become great, for only those with kindness are truly great.
Too often we forget kindness far more easily than we forget injuries. Too often we unconsciously regard a kindness as something that is our due, while we regard an injury as utterly undeserved, even when it is not.
encouragement costs nothing. But it can enrich the life of a person you least suspect needs it!
Kind heads are in the garden:
Kind words are the blossoms,
Kind deeds are the fruit.

New business opens

Bobbye Burkhart, owner of Wood-N-Things, hosted a grand "re-opening" of her store in Utopia on Saturday, July 10. She closed her mid-town shop several months ago and has reopened in the larger space of the old "Cookie Tree." 26 area artists are represented in Burkhart's shop, and she expects the number to grow.

Shoppers who meander through the many rooms of the old house will find surprises at every turn. Wood-N-Things offers a diversity of gift ideas, home decor and utilitarian objects as well. The list includes handmade jewelry, dried herbs, walking sticks, burned wood, hand painted note cards, handmade toys and stuffed animals, including the famous stuffed clown made by Edna Moore. And there are many more things too numerous to mention.

Bobbye Burkhart herself is responsible for the hand-painted T-shirts, and she gives classes from time to time on the subject. Her talents are best applied to the canvas, where she elaborates in a more serious vein. She always keeps a work in progress at the shop and oftener than not it is one of a local Hill Country scene. A limited selection of arts and crafts supplies is housed at Wood-N-Things for those local artists who run out of cadmium red in the middle of a productive afternoon.

Speaking of red, Bobbye's husband, Richard "Red" Burkhart's presence around the store can be sensed more often than seen. Red is a woodworker, and he crafts a unique array of inventions. He makes a painters easel out of oak that beats the ones found in crafts stores hands down in durability and beauty. Among other things, he makes a wooden planter box ingeniously using a Utopia Spring Water bottle for the liner. Pretty appropriate, eh?

Wood-N-Things is full of whimsy and serious objects d'art as well.

Bobbye Burkhart has re-opened "Wood-N-Things" in Utopia

Canyon Restaurant

The recently opened Canyon Restaurant is another welcome addition to the Utopia area. The dining facility opened on April 23, and owner Mary Lou D'Spain has recently added breakfast hours. Offering a private dining room for groups and a salad bar (the hot bar will return in the fall), the surroundings are light and spacious. The Canyon Restaurant serves regular fare, catfish, steaks, enchiladas, burgers and the like. Hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays; and from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Tuesdays through through Thursday. The restaurant is closed on Sunday and Monday.

In my opinion, the enchiladas can't be beat this side of San Antonio. And diners have been heard raving over the catfish and steaks. And a salad bar in Utopia, Texas!

• The Utopia Youth Rodeo, sponsored by the Utopia Junior Horse Club, is approaching. Reserve Saturday, July 24 on your calendar. Events start at 6:30 p.m., and admission is $2 for adults and $1 for students. Kids 19 years and under will participate, including quite a few youths from Vanderpool and Utopia.

Make a complete evening of it by enjoying the wonderful treats at the concession stand.

• Jack and Rosa Cantrell invite the community to their 60th wedding anniversary celebration Saturday, July 17 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Utopia Community Center. They request "no gifts, please."

Diners enjoy a meal at the Canyon Restaurant. The dining establishment recently added breakfast hours.

We Have The Power To Make A Difference

At the Lower Colorado River Authority, our people go to great heights to protect the environment. Sometimes that means climbing the 600-foot stacks of the Fayette Power Project to check on air quality monitoring equipment. It's part of our Power to Make a Difference in Central Texas.

The LCRA has recently won environmental awards and received attention as a steward of the Colorado River. Perhaps hidden in the tributes given to our water programs is that we give the same attention to quality in our generation of electricity. If we were sloppy in our mining or power production, the Colorado River would show the results of neglect.

That's not the way we do business. The LCRA's Powell Bend lignite mine in Bastrop County won the 1990 Texas Railroad Commission's Reclamation Award as the best in the state. Over the past four years, the commission has inspected the mine 81 times and 81 times found it in compliance.

We scrub 90 percent of the sulphur dioxide from the emissions of our newest power unit. It's expensive and it's far more than we're required to do, but we consider it our duty to the people of Central Texas.

We've stayed out of nuclear generation. We don't have to deal with fuel wastes for which permanent storage has yet to be developed.

At our headquarters on the shores of the Colorado River in Austin our commitment to recycling goes far beyond saving cans and paper. We used the fly ash from our coal-fired power plants to make the concrete for two new energy-efficient buildings.

The LCRA conserves its equipment and power whenever possible and urges its customers to conserve and use power efficiently as well.

We believe that doing business in a sound environmental manner doesn't cost money — it saves money. We have the low rates to prove it.

The Power to Make a Difference means a commitment to be the best, lowest-cost and most innovative generator of electricity in Texas. When your utility's wholesale supplier is the LCRA, the power you use is generated with your environment always in mind.

Vacation Bible School chairman, Elmer Franks, reports that the school was a great success. 26 pupils enrolled and 16 attained perfect attendance. An average of 34 attended the first four evenings. They all seemed to enjoy the Bible study, arts and crafts and most of all, the recreation time.

Elmer says he is truly grateful for the time and effort the twelve volunteer members of the faculty put forth to make this a memorable event for the children. He also thanks all those who brought goodies for the children each night.

The Bible School was held at Walker Memorial Chapel July 5 through July 9. Certificates of appreciation were awarded to the 12 faculty members: Bill and Lena Walker, Marian Trout, Marge and Marion Birch, Wayne and Fran Hildenburg, Jenette Franks, Mike Phipps, Pat Coffey, Aliene and Bill Haynes.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department board of directors met Monday, July 11 at the fire house. They are working on getting bingo back in September. A new bingo committee will hold its first meeting on Monday, July 19.

Sunday, July 11, a group of college students from Castle Hills First Baptist Church in San Antonio attended morning services at Walker Memorial Chapel.

They were Lori Walter, Analysa Medina, Ron Fix, Steve Mackey, Kristen Heronymus, Christy Lozno, Cindy Reyes, and Misty Brown, daughter of Susan and Rev. Ken Brown of the Chapel. After services the young people visited with many of the older attendees.

I have said time and time again that I feel that I am a millionaire, not one of the wealthy, but there are other ways of being rich, like having good enough health, good memories and very good friends. This was once again shown on Monday, July 12.

Cliff Beaty, a long time friend from Panama days and a Past Potentate of the Abou Saad Shrine Temple in Panama and his wife, Billie, and Georgia Howard met Betty and Bud Ciarlo at Devine to travel to Mexico in Bud's van. It was a wonderful day, shopping and talking about the many good times in Panama.

Tuesday they had dinner at the Ciarlo's and then returned to Florida where they are now living. The only thing wrong was, the visit was too short.

Jaye Flemming of Medina shows off her winning T-shirt designed for the 1993 Texas International Apple Festival. Flemming's black and white rendering of the town of Medina with a sun-like red apple rising overhead netted her $100. Jim Harvey also of Medina was first runner-up and Mary Lea Carlson of Kerrville was second runner-up. The T-Shirts and other styles will be on sale at the event Saturday, July 31 and in Medina businesses before.

Special postal cancellation to be featured at Texas International Apple Festival

Philatelists phrom all over the country will phlock to Medina to collect a copy of a special postal cancellation at the Sixth Annual Texas International Apple Festival Saturday, July 31, says Medina Postmaster Al Putnam.

"This is something the Post Office does for special events," said Putnam. "Since the cancellations are special, stamp collectors (philatelists) worldwide will want them."

The special cancellation features an apple shaped logo taken from Karen Mangold's 1991 T-shirt design. Hers was the first winner in what has become an annual contest sponsored by the Medina Texas Development Corporation which produces the event.

"The post office will set up at the festival from noon to 4 p.m.," says Putnam. "That is the only time and the only place a person can get this special cancellation."

Putnam says the office will have stamps and envelopes available for sale or persons may bring their own for canceling.

The stamp itself must be destroyed after the designated time, says Putnam.

However, if the special marking proves to be popular, festival officials may decide to make it a yearly occurrence.

"If the festival officials want, this can become an annual feature at the festival," Putnam said.

Waiting to die...

Bandera County now has two locations on hand for those wishing to adopt a pet. Veterinarian Steve Sells at Bandera Veterinary Clinic, has joined Dr. Conrad Nightingale at Hill Country Veterinary Hospital in housing stray dogs and cats. These animals need loving homes and can be adopted at either location: Dr. Nightingale's Hill Country Veterinary Hospital on Highway 173, south, or Dr. Sell's Bandera Veterinary Clinic on Highway 16, west. Those animals not finding homes will be killed. Call or come by either of the clinics to adopt a pet.

Rabies threat continues here

Pet owners should continue to vaccinate their pets and protect them from contracting rabies, according to area veterinarians and county animal control officer Billy Graham.

This week, a suspected rabid raccoon was destroyed near Bandera Electric Cooperative.

Graham said a cat suspected of being in the last stages of rabies was picked up on Monday at Pecan and 10th Street. No human contact is known to have occurred. However, pet owners in that area who have unvaccinated pets should watch them closely over the next10 days.

"Cats do get into fights," Graham said. "It is possible that someone else's animals have been exposed. I warned pet owners in the area to watch their animals and to get them vaccinated. No one claimed the cat. I went from house to house trying to find the owner.

"The cat appeared to be in the last stages of rabies. It was running around in circles and running after cars. Even my truck."

The suspected rabid animal was destroyed and its head was sent to the state for testing. The results should be back in approximately a week.

Do your pet a favor - have it vaccinated against rabies!

Scott Luce snagged this 48-pound catfish "somewhere on the Medina River" on Saturday, July 10. Luce, who has lived in Bandera for 5 years, was reluctant to divulge information as to the exact whereabouts of the fishing hole where he caught the 43-inch-long yellow cat, or the exact method used. "Just tell them we're catching them on perch," he grinned.

DAR genealogy workshop July 17 at Kerrville library

The Hill Country DAR Council will sponsor a genealogy workshop at the Butt-Holdsworth Memorial Library in Kerrville on Saturday, July 17.

The workshop will be held by Ella Sheffield, State Organizing Secretary of Daughters of the American Revolution, who has previously held several successful workshops in Kerrville.

Sheffield is a native Texan of pioneer stock. She is a member of many of the patriotic lineage societies, has compiled several genealogical books, and is listed in "Who's Who in Genealogy and Heraldry."

The morning session, 9 a.m. to noon, will cover how to make the most of courthouse records available. It will show how to use the resources to find what is sought. The program is designed to help searchers learn what to look for and where to find it.

The afternoon session, from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m., will be devoted to Federal Land Records. Thirty states had federal land, the first being Ohio. Sheffield will discuss Ohio, Alabama and Mississippi land records and answer questions on the other 27 federal land states.

The workshop is open to the public. The cost is $5 for all day or $3 for one session. No pre-registration is required.

The DAR provides the workshop as a public service. Coffee and cookies are served.

A Vaquero...

by Georgina Gonzales

My great-great grandfather, Felix Gonzales, was a Mexican vaquero. In other words he was a Mexican cowboy. When my grandfather was 6 or 7 years old, he started working in the Yturria, which is in Kingsville. Next to Yturria started the great King Ranch which my great-great grandfather worked on off and on, capturing mossy horn steers. They called them that because they would hide in the brush. The vaqueros had to go through cactus patches as high as 15 feet. They had to crawl to get through. Sometimes they used dogs. When they caught the steer, they would tie a short rope to his horns and tie him to a mesquite tree, until they had 4 or 5 captured. Then they would tie them all together and drive them out.
My great-great grandfather died when he was 109 years old.

Mary Heitalahti left two weeks ago, accompanied by her little dog, to make a trip to Glade Springs, Virginia where she visited her aunt, Mary Garrett, and many others.

A family reunion was held at Boone, North Carolina, which Mary attended with 47 relatives. She visited her aunt in Bristol, Tennessee. She reports a lovely trip with no problems and getting to meet many cousins, aunts and friends. Welcome home, Mary!

Thomas P. Grant reports Mrs. Dorothy Hicks Brandt and her son Terry of Amarillo came to see him on their way to the Hicks Reunion at the home of Speedy and Carmen Hicks. Other guests of Grant last Thursday were his daughter, Patricia Grant Foster and friend, Jim Henderson, of Woodland.

Grant also had word Clyda Angsli (formerly Clyda Ussery) of Tarpley recently underwent major surgery but is doing well.

W.H. "Bill" Thompson of Tarpley and his grandson, Erik Harp, of Bandera recently returned from a lovely plane trip to visit his sister and family, Kate and John Fabini and daughter, Mary Kay, of Monongahels, Penn., spending three weeks with them.

Dinner guests of Bill Thompson's Saturday were his nephew and wife, Mark and Joy Broeius; and her niece of San Antonio; and Bill's sister, Bobby Brosius of Bandera.

Elzie and Nettie Dean's dinner guests Friday were Marie and Jim Carson and son, Jonathan Newcomb of San Antonio.

The Robert Montalbo's and families of San Antonio have been out several weekends clearing out brush. Their live oaks were treated for wilt recently and seem to be recovering nicely.

'Pie in the face' saga continues-Debbie's jar stolen, Junker leads Community Assembly of God pastor Brian McClain said it's a close race and the winner of the Pie in the Face Contest will get exactly that; a pie in the face. The award will be made on Saturday, July 24 at noon in front of the Bandera County Courthouse.

"It's a close race. One person's vote can really make a difference," McClain said. "Debbie Raab-Hayes is behind right now because someone stole the money jar from her business."

The first place runner in the race now is John Junker, a golf pro at Flying L Ranch. He is from Minnesota and has lived in Bandera for 2 1/2 years.

Johnny Boyle, the owner of Boyle's market and several other businesses in town, is in second place. He is a lifetime resident of Bandera.

Sheriff James MacMillan is in third place; Workshop owner Fred Collins is in fourth place; and Debbie Raab-Hayes, manager of Harvey's Old Bank Steakhouse is in fifth place.

Votes are cast by placing donations into the contestant's money jars. Money cast for ballots will be used for children and youth activities at the Community Assembly of God. These activities include camps and retreats.

Are there any Tessies tuned in today? If you recognize the appellation, you know who you are and where you probably went to college. Female students at the old Texas State College for Women were affectionately called "Tessies", the name being a natural slurring of the usual abbreviation, "TSCW".

We were there a thousand years ago when wearing pants was strictly prohibited on campus, students had to don hose, not socks, to enter the dining all, and parents checked of permission slips. Some of us were prohibited from travelling to Dallas or to College Station. (Wonder why.)

The place, now Texas Woman's University, has changed dramatically over the years as have all college campuses. Aware of all the changes as the school heads toward the end of its first century, just after the turn of the century, a project is underway to document and to dramatize the lives of women, all women of Texas and the Southwest, not just former students.

Dawn Letson, head of special collections of the Blagg-Huey Library at TWU has issued the following call:

"It has been said that without documents, we have no history. At Texas Woman's University, we are engaged in gathering, for future historical use, papers and photographs that document the lives of women of Texas and the Southwest.

"Your family records may reveal more than you know! For instance, a series of letters or photographs may illustrate what life was like for a young woman in Texas during the Depression.

"Were the Roaring Twenties the same for a woman in Texas as they were in New York?"

"As alumnae of TWU, we are asking you to look in your attics and closets."

"Do you have written or photographic documents that could help us understand the lives of individual women?"

"Were you a woman in the military or involved in the war effort?"

"Please save your personal and business letters, diaries or journals, photographs showing women at work or leisure, or vintage clothing."

"If you cannot bear to release these items, permit us to reproduce them for research use. By all means, make arrangements so the ultimately these treasures are preserved."

Besides all the "future wives and mothers of Texas", which we were called in the old days, there are illustrious alumnae like, would you believe, Helen Gurley Brown of Cosmopolitan magazine fame, and Mary Evelyn Blagg Huey, who became president of her own university. Opal Warren Yarborough, Beryl Anne Longino Bentsen, (campus Redbud Queen when we were there), and Joza Lou Bullington Tower (music major) all married men who later served in the United States Senate. Not to mention those too numerous to mention who became teachers, nurses, designers, journalists, operatic singers, social workers, missionaries, and Aggie Moms.

Send your stuff to Denton, Bandera Tessies! Contact Dawn Letson at Box 23715, Denton 76204 or call her at 817-898-3754.

Lee is new deacon at Episcopal Church

Don Lee takes over as Deacon at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church on July 15.

Lee is a recent graduate of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest in Austin. He was ordained a deacon on June 29 by Rev. John H. MacNaughton, Bishop of West Texas. He has been assigned to St. Christopher's in Bandera and St. Boniface in Comfort.

Lee, his wife Karen, and their four children will reside in Bandera. Their eldest son, Monty is a graduate architectural student in Arizona. Their second-born, Michael, is in his third year at Baylor Medical School in Houston. Their third son, Miles, is a sophomore at Tarleton State and is studying agriculture. Megan, their youngest, is 12. She will be in the 7th grade this fall.

Lee graduated from high school in Corpus Christi. He graduated from Texas A&M in 1965. After two years of teaching vocational agriculture, he joined Knowlton's Creamery in San Antonio. When Knowlton's was purchased by the Southland Corporation in 1979, he became division manager of the south Texas area. Lee left Southland in 1981 and began his own business, South Texas Liquid Terminals Inc., a liquid sweetener transloading operation.

He took a leave of absence from his company to work full time for Christ Episcopal Church in San Antonio as business administrator while pursuing his growing call to the ordained ministry. He entered seminary in 1990.

Lee enjoys spending time with his family. He likes to play golf, although there has not been much time for that. Another hobby of his is old cars and classic cars.

Don, Karen and their family look forward to becoming a part of the new communities they will be serving.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Heed the Word of Jesus

"This is my beloved Son, listen to him."
— Mark 9:7

Those were the words emanating from a cloud when they accompanied Jesus to the mountain where He became transfigured before their eyes. Obviously, the voice was that of God, and the admonition He gave to His Son's disciples has as much pertinence today as it did when first spoken. Jesus no longer is among us in the flesh, but His spirit lives on stronger than ever. And certainly we have His words to draw on — the message of love, brotherhood, peace and faith in the eternal God that leaps forth from every page of the Testaments. There are those who doubt and deny, but the wise recognize truth and heed the words of Jesus as His heavenly Father bade.

Youthful endurance

Kay Kay Williamson approaches the finish line during Wednesday's All Comers Track Meet at Bandera High School. The Bandera Optimist Club, sponsors of the event, have scheduled meets for the next two Wednesdays, July 21 and 28. All children and adults interested in running are invited to show up in their running shoes Wednesday at 6 p.m. at the BHS track. According to event organizer Louis DuBose, purposes for the event include exercise and "establishing and beating times." In fact, at Wednesday's event, DuBose himself was challenged to a "grudge match" by two high school age competitors. There are no entry fees or awards, and if there is enough interest, the track meets will continue into the fall, DuBose says. For more photos from last week's meet, please turn to Page 19.

Council discusses ordinance

The Bandera City Council discussed proposed sign ordinance changes, discussed hiring practices, and worked on a preliminary budget at a workshop on Monday, July 19 at 7 p.m.

During a July 12 council meeting, Bill Bryce reported that a survey had been mailed out with water bills. The survey questioned Bandera residents as to whether they would like to see an ordinance passed which would prohibit smoking in public places. He reported that 741 questionnaires had been mailed and 318 had not yet been returned.

"From the ones we have back, 176 said they wanted smoking in public places prohibited," Bryce said. "Fifty said 'no', and 199 said they didn't care."

County animal control officer, Billy Graham, will meet with County Judge Ray Mauer to discuss the possibility of helping the City of Bandera with animal control problems. He is currently working for Bandera County.

Council member Mike Holan said he has received complaints from city residents about vacant lots which are over-grown with weeds. He was told the city crew is working on cleaning the lots.

Mayor Raymond Adamietz said he has been unable to reach engineer Byron Wilkinson, of Agape Engineering, concerning the status of the planned City Park.

Wilkinson said Tuesday he had been out of town and did not know that he had been placed on the agenda for the More fun than a barrel of...apples!

6th Texas International Apple Festival promises food, fun & festivities

From "fainting goats" at the children's petting zoo to made-to-order-on-the-grounds T-shirts, the 6th Texas International Apple Festival offers families a day of wholesome fun. It will be held at the Apple Festival Grounds in Medina on Saturday, July 31 from 9 a.m. until dark.

KKYX Radio will broadcast live at the apple festival.

Rodeo Chevrolet is sponsoring a Blue Grass stage.

KERV Radio is sponsoring David McKelvie, "The Bird Man."

A children's petting zoo includes 75 animals. Fainting goats will be among the attention-loving critters.

A combination of Bushel Buddies and an automatic teller machine will make shopping at the apple festival easier than ever. "Bushel Buddies" are members of the Kerrville 4-H Club. They will "baby-sit" purchases for shoppers. When shoppers leave, the Bushel Buddies will take the items to the vehicles in little red wagons in exchange for tips.

The automatic teller machine will remove any excuse festival-goers might find not to leave their money behind in Bandera County when they leave.

Fred Collins, sponsored by True Value and Ace Hardware, will demonstrate pioneer shingle making techinques to the expected crowd of 22,000.

Other activities will include volley ball, an antique car show, buggy shows, apple bobbing and an antique tractor display. Henry Lee Zumwalt, a graduate of Medina High School, donated 45 yards of silicone sand for the volley ball court.

Spiced apple ice cream, soon to be a "collector's" item, will be available. H.E.B. has discontinued making the spiced apple ice cream and will no longer carry it in its stores. However, the ice cream will continue to be available for the apple festival each year.

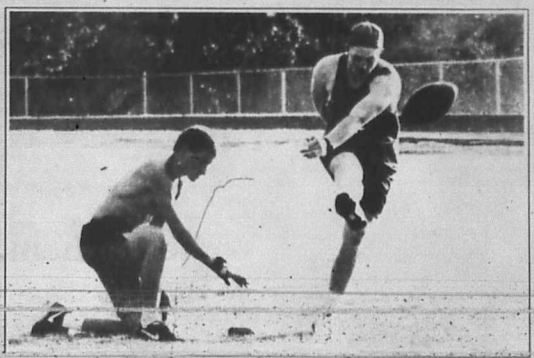

Following the Apple Pie Contest, pies will be auctioned off and slices of the pies will be sold. "Apple Anything" delicacies will also be available. And to make the festival a truly family-oriented event where children are welcome and wholesome family fun is at a premium, no alcoholic beverages will be sold or served.

Letters

to the editor

It was never for sale, he says

Dear editor:

In the June 30th edition of the Bulletin, Peggy Tobin's "Your Basic Bandera" column gave an interesting account of the good things the Doane Foundation had done for Bandera. She told how Mr. Doane "had purchased Frontier Times Museum to keep the collection from being broken up and dispersed by the Hunter estate." This was entirely untrue. The museum had never been for sale. My mother had great respect for Mr. Doane, and when he explained to her how he wanted to help the little city in a permanent way, such as setting up the Doane Scholarships for deserving high school graduates, subsidizing the county library, and if possible take over the museum, she gathered the family together and all agreed to sell the museum to Mr. Doane according to his proposal. The Doane Foundation has done more for Bandera than any person or organization, and the Doane family deserves the appreciation of all the people in the county.

A number of people wanted to purchase the museum after my father passed away in 1957. Some wanted to move it to Kerrville. My mother would not entertain any such proposition, because Frontier Times was a Bandera county museum and should never be moved away. It wasn't for sale. I had visions of taking over the museum, doubling the size of the building and turning it into an amusement center, encouraging local talent, as my father did when he organized the Bandera Folk Program with Slick Jones and Elmo Newcomer back in the early thirties. Such a center would attract western fans from everywhere, and Bandera could be a rival to Nashville.

Now if anyone wants to know how J. Marvin Hunter built the museum in the depression days of the 30's, they can read the whole story in the little History of Frontier Times Museum to be found in the museum.

'Sorry - wrong number'

Dear editor:

I inserted the wrong amount in the article last week on how much estimated additional revenue could be raised with a 1/2 cent sales tax if approved by voters.

I stated that an estimated $400,000 could be raised and designated for road & bridge, law enforcement and emergency medical services. That amount should have been $150,000 for each year. I apologize for the oversight.

She's organizing a big sale

Dear editor:

I'm in the midst of organizing Medina's Third Community Wide Garage Sale. It's scheduled for Sat., Sept. 25, and will be held at the Apple Festival grounds this year. I want to have some crafts exhibitors if there are any out there willing to come.

There is no charge to come and sell, but folks must bring their own tables. Customers started showing up before daylight last year, so sellers should be prepared.

The Medina EMS will have a table of items to sell as well as a bake sale and food booth.

I am collecting items to sell to benefit the Kerrville Crisis pregnancy center. Items can be dropped of at the Farm Bureau office or people can call me at 589-2309. I will also have a drinks concession which will pay for the advertising.

I hope there are lots of families out there willing to participate, but they need to call me so I can add their names to my list and have an accurate count for the newspaper ads. As you know, the more families we can get to participate, the more people we can draw to Medina.

According to reports from a source that may or may not be completely reliable, the "next inhabitant" of the building currently occupied by the Bandera Bulletin plans to spend more than $13,000 on the building and site.

Well, the $5,850 to repave the parking lot is understandable. Many a muddy day I have struggled, but times were always too hard, and we just couldn't afford the luxury of parking lot renovations.

And $2,990 to carpet the place. Oh, the times I have longed for a carpeted workplace, but again, times were hard, and we all just had to understand...

$2,000 to paint? Alright, I know the paint job here needs lots of help. And other various needs, I read on and on.

Then, I read the final item on the list. $200 to replace the water heater.

For those of you who don't know it, the water heater at the Bulletin hasn't worked for several years. It quit working, but in an office building in Southcentral Texas, there is not a great need for hot water. I mean, even in the cold of winter, the water is bearably cool.

But the employees that will be moving in here are luckier than me, I suppose, because they will have hot water.

It just struck me as rather odd. I have heard and observed the local economy as folks struggled to pay their taxes and make ends meet, and it was my understanding that everyone was doing their best to economize. And I know that $200 water heater may not seem like much to you, but somehow it just bothers me.

That immediately, as soon as they move into a building that has already been housing an existing business, the appraisal district needs to spend $13,346 just so the building suits their wants and needs. I don't begrudge them all those things. It must be nice to be able to spend that much money and not have to worry about where it will come from.

And the next time you, the taxpayer, get a bill, just remember that a portion, although it is probably an eensie portion, of your tax dollar, went towards the purchase of that water heater.

It must be nice to have hot water.

A look back into Bandera's past...

Fact is stranger than fiction. Bandera County's flood of 1978 was not the county's first experience with the capriciousness of weather. Four Bandera County residents lost their lives in April, 1939, when a tornado touched down in Pipe Creek • Lightning struck a home, reported the April 20, 1939 issue of the Bandera New Era, "causing considerable damage" to the roof, ceiling and electric wire of a home. The estimated cost to fix the damage...$30 • How would one describe "the girl with the most oomph"? The May 11, 1939, Bandera New Era described her as: "5' 5" of concentrated pulchritude, topped by a wealth of flaming hair." • And the May 18 issue was a wealth of news: the "Irish potato" originated in Spain, not Ireland. A "war message in the sky" was seen by hundreds in Houston. A man was acquitted by a jury on the charge of "leaving a dead carcass near a residence." • The May, 25, New Era reported that house flies were being raised as a business: to supply manufacturers of sprays with insects to test the deadliness of their products • In June, 1939, hail ruined gardens in Bandera County and killed chickens. One chicken, however, was apparently unconcerned about the weather. She laid a 3 3/4 inch egg. • The population in the city of Bandera on June 13, 1940, was 754. There were 3,784 county residents • The July, 1940, Bandera New Era, reported that Nazi attacks on England continued. The Bantex raised admission to help the government foot the bill for defense. Children's admission was raised to 10 cents. Adults were charged 30 cents • Sheriff Billy Barnes praised Bandera County residents for being law abiding and respecting the law in the July 25, 1940, issue. He said 95 percent of all county taxes had been paid • In August, a Bandera County resident was struck by lightning and killed • President Franklin D. Roosevelt was elected for a third term in November, 1940.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

All 31 state Senate seats are up for election next year, Secretary of State John Hannah said in a memorandum issued last week.

Hannah said he wanted to clear up any confusion caused by the long-running lawsuit on Senate district boundaries.

The districts used when all Senate seats were up for grabs in 1992 were ordered by a federal three-judge panel. Democrats challenged the plan, saying it favored the GOP.

Last March, the panel, which had changed membership, declared an earlier district plan passed by the Democratic-dominated Legislature should take effect, requiring new elections in 1994.

Treasury Probe Continues

Travis County prosecutors in a grand jury probe continue to check out allegations that state Treasury employees did fund-raising work for former state Treasurer Kay Bailey Hutchison during her 20 months in office.

David Criss, former director of policy and planning, last week complied with a state judge's order to turn over unspecified Treasury Department documents sought in subpoenas issued in June.

Travis County District Attorney Steve McCraw in a court filing said Criss earlier did not produce all the subpoenaed materials, which included information, including information, videos and records relating to fund raising and political work Criss did for Hutchison.

Hutchison, a Republican who was elected to the U.S. Senate in June, has said she was unaware of the alleged abuse, and her aides have called the grand jury an attempt by Democrats to discredit her before next year's election.

Workers' Comp Panel

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock has appointed state Sens. Don Henderson, D-Houston; John Montford, D-Lubbock; and Jim Turner, D-Crockett; to the Workers' Compensation Legislative Oversight Committee.

The panel will coordinate various agencies' work toward protecting the income, health and medical care of Texans who are injured on the job.

Bullock said workers' compensation will be a major issue when lawmakers convene in 1995 because the Workers' Compensation Commission is set for sunset review.

13.7% Rate Reduction

Meanwhile, the state board of insurance reduced the rates for workers' compensation for employers who can't get coverage from private insurers.

The 13.7 percent reduction in overall rates will save Texas businesses an estimated $7 million to $13 million.

The decrease was based on reductions in claim costs for the Texas Workers' Compensation Insurance Facility, which provides coverage to about 12,500 Texas businesses that are unable to secure insurance in the open market.

"The 1989 workers' compensation reforms are cutting claim costs dramatically, and employers covered by the Facility should share in the savings," said Claire Korioth, the board's chairwoman.

[illegible] districts have decided to challenge the new school-finance law.

Lawyers said last week that school boards in Richardson, Arlington to join the lawsuit against the school funding law.

The judge who oversees the long-running school finance case has set July 15 as the deadline for filing challenges.

The law gives the state's wealthiest districts several options for sharing wealth with property-poor districts.

Richards Picks Judges

Gov. Ann Richards has appointed two judges, Robert Seerden of Corpus Christi as chief justice of the 13th Court of Appeals, and Joseph Kelly of Victoria as judge of the 24th District Court.

Seerden, who has served on the 13th Court of Appeals since 1984, will replace Paul Nye of Corpus Christi, who resigned. His appointment is subject to Senate confirmation.

Kelly replaces the late Judge Clarence Stevenson of Victoria.

Other Highlights

- Any Johnson, the state's advocate for insurance consumers, was sworn in for a second two-year term last week by Gov. Richards. Richards said Johnson and her office have saved consumers billions of dollars in premiums. Johnson, who won Senate confirmation last session, earns an annual salary of $65,000.
- Texas' school property tax base declined almost one percent from 1991 to 1992, from $627.2 billion to $621 billion, according to state Comptroller John Sharp. Sharp certified the estimates to Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno this month. The Texas Education Agency uses the estimates to determine state aid to schools.
- [illegible] could see a smaller rate increase than expected if the Public Utility Commission approves a settlement reached last week between the utility and the consumers and cities. Organizational meeting set for Palo Alto courses at BHS

Bandera residents interested in taking a community college special interest or college credit course should plan to attend an organizational meeting Tuesday, August 3 at 6 p.m. in the Bandera High School Library.

The Palo Alto Community College of San Antonio is planning to conduct classes on the Bandera High School campus beginning this fall as a part of a cooperative agreement with Bandera Independent School District.

The cooperative venture is in response to many citizens who have expressed a desire to take special interst courses or entry level college courses.

Ed Young, Dean of Extended Services and Continuing Education, said that any Bandera county resident interested should attend the organizational meeting on August 3. Information will be available and registration procedures will be explained.

Newly appointed BISD Superintendent, James H. Stewart, is excited to provide Bandera area residents with a "golden opportunity to further their educations and explore new skills.

Self-defense seminar emphasized prevention

Approximately 75 people, of all ages and both sexes, attended the free seminar presented last week in Lakehills at the Civic Center. It was sponsored by Sheriff James MacMillan, Nancy MacMillan, Justice of the Peace Louise Karr, and Constable Ernest Reich.

Department of Public Safety Trooper, Erwin Ballarta, of Austin, presented the program. It consisted of information on how to avoid confrontations and tactics for defense.

Ballarta has an extensive history in martial arts including championship titles in competition. He has incorporated the use of everyday objects into defensive weapons which are easy for novices to remember and master.

Ballarta and MacMillian stressed to the group that the most important factor in personal safety was to avoid a situation in which an individual places himself in danger. They presented a list of safety tips to practice regularly for home, walking and driving.

They emphasized prevention as the key to personal safety and said resistance should only be used as a last resort when an individual has failed to avoid a confrontation or elude an attacker.

Response to the program was so positive that tentative plans are being made for a repeat seminar at a later date. Details will be released when plans for the seminar are confirmed.

Safety tips at home: replace or rekey locks when you move into a new home or apartment. Install a one inch deadbolt lock and use it. Keep doors locked at all times and instruct children to never open doors to strangers.

Require strangers to show identification and do not allow them inside your home to place a call. Make the call for them.

Never admit that you are alone. Women living alone should use initials only on mailboxes and in telephone listings.

Leave outside lights on at night and keep lights on in more than one room.

If you receive an obscene phone call, hang up. Don't react.

While driving, make sure rental cars are not identified as rental cars by stickers, special license plates, etc. Such identification can make them targets for criminals who assume travelers carry cash.

If you get lost, don't broadcast it. Be discreet when asking for directions.

Always park in well-lit areas. Before exiting the vehicle, check for suspicious persons in the area. Always lock the doors. Backing into a parking space makes for a quicker, easier exit.

When approaching your vehicle, always have keys ready, in hand. Look underneath the car as you walk towards it. Before entering, check both front and rear seats for intruders.

When traveling on unfamiliar highways, write down an itinerary and leave it at the office or with your family, complete with travel dates, lodgings and phone numbers where you expect to be. If possible, call in and report your safe arrival at each location. Carry maps with routes clearly marked. Travel on main roads and during daylight hours whenever possible.

For safe walking, avoid walking alone and walk in areas where others are near. Stay in well lighted areas away from alleys, bushes and entry ways. Avoid shortcuts through parks, vacant lots and deserted places.

Never accept rides from strangers. If a driver asks directions, avoid getting near the car.

If you are being followed, go to the nearest business or residence for help. If you are harassed by occupants of a car, turn and walk the other way so the driver will have to turn around to follow you.

Keep your purse close, not dangling. Avoid carrying extra money or valuables on your person.

When you get home, have the door key ready so that you can enter without delay.

Be aware of people around you, and be aware of your surroundings and of the total environment.

Immunization awareness month continues with Wednesday clinics

July is Immunization Awareness Month in Texas, the state which has led the nation in morbidity and mortality for many vaccine-preventable disease for the past five years.

Texas also ranks last among all 50 states in the percentage of children who have been fully immunized. Immunization levels in some parts of Texas are below those of third world countries.

The low vaccine rate in Texas can be overcome through increased public awareness, easier access to health care, and by providing the vaccines at a low cost.

During July and August, immunization clinics will be held at the Bandera Department of Health office at 1207 Cottonwood every Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A clinic will be held at the American Legion in Lakehills on Saturday, July 31 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

A clinic will be held in Medina at the Garden Center in town on Saturday, August 7 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, said, "We have tried to make it impossible for any Texas parent to plead ignorance as the reason his or her child is un-immunized. But ignorance is only one of the problems. Logistics- the geographic availability of vaccinations at sensible hours for working families- are still a problem. As a pediatrician, I have seen too much of the senseless tragedy associated with failure to vaccinate children against thoroughly preventable diseases. It is long past time for us to have all but wiped out such devasting diseases as measles. Yet within the past five years, more than 4,400 Texas children under five years of age have had the disease- including 14 who died from complications of measles."

Gov. Ann Richards signed a law into effect in April which requires that all Texas children, except those with a religious conflict or medical contraindication, to be immunized against contagous diseases such as meales, mumps and diphtheria.

Doctors and hospitals will now be required to review children's immunizations records. Families will be asked to pay for the administration of the vaccine. If the family is unable to pay the administrative fee, vaccines will be administered free of charge.

Hicks descendants held family reunion Saturday, June 10 at Hix 'Reunion Oak'

The descendants of Fabian Lucius and Hadwega Anderwald Hicks assembled on June 10 at the Hix Ranch under the Reunion Oak for their annual family reunion. F. L. Hicks, originally from North Carolina, came to Bandera County the year it was organized, 1855. Mrs. Hicks also came the same year with her parents who were among the first Polish settlers. When they married in 1858, they were only the third couple to be married since the county was organized. Mr. & Mrs. Hicks had ten children, eight of whom reached adulthood. As the children married, they were given ranches out from Bandera, Medina, Tarpley, and Utopia. Thus, they all remained in this area and reared their families here, giving their descendants strong ties to the family and to Bandera County.

Carmen and Speedy Hicks and their children: Dick of Bandera, Jeannine and Poe Brown of Marble Falls, Charmen and Larry Catlin of Bryan, and David and Robin Hicks of College Station were hosts to the 120 in attendance. Since June 10 was Speedy's birthday, the group joined in singing "Happy Birthday" to him.

Five of the F. L. Hicks grandchildren are still living: Paul Garrison of Medina, Raymond and Speedy Hicks of Bandera, Dorothy Hicks Brandt of Amarillo, and Cleophus Hicks of Bakersfield, Calif. All were present except Cleophus.

Jimmy Jordan, San Antonio, was the chairman this year. Robert Mazurek, Bandera, will be next year's chairman with David Mazurek, Utopia, being the vice-chairman. Howard Hicks, San Antonio, remains the secretary/treasurer.

Your Basic Bandera

Peggy Tobin

How many of your city friends, looking down their noses, have said, "Whatever do y'all DO living way out there?" That question was lobbed at us at every single cocktail party during our early years in the country when we thought it worthwhile to make the effort to attend functions back down in what passes for a metroplex in Bexar County.

Though the wisdom of our removal to the hills is more apparent now to those still fighting city chaos, the question still gets asked. We always answer sweetly that the most interesting and creative people in the world are living in these here hills, that the most rare and interesting plants and birds enliven the natural scene, that political fights, bridge games, quilting bees, and divorce scandals go on here as well as anywhere else and are twice as much fun because everybody knows everybody; Well, almost everybody. and UPS and the fire department know exactly where everyone is!

But what keeps this place running? There never has been the kind of highly visible social or political hierarchy which rules many communities. No Mrs. Gotrox to decide if your daughter is invited to the tea dance. No obvious Mr. Bigman to decide whether you get nominated for dog-catcher. Keeping this place running then has to be a loosely-knit network of CORE COMPETENCIES.

How do you like THAT? We picked up this neat phrase in a gobledygook brochure from Dartmouth College, advertising a seminar to teach corporations how to utilize their CORE COMPETENCIES..We could understand very little of the jargon in said brochure but decided that "core competencies" means the basic skills of people who really know what they are doing and do it.

There were a couple of illustrations of Bandera's core competencies at our place this past week. For weeks we had been looking for the missing key to an upstairs porch door which was locked up tight. When that door is open, the great summer wind pours through the house and we don't even need to think about turning on the A.C. We gave up looking and called Jim Russell, master locksmith.

Displaying the patience of Job and the expertise of a true artist, Jimmy worked with the stubborn lock until he was able to make the new key. He came when we called, and he worked till the job was done.

Likewise, though had to be summoned by our answering a robot voice at Southwestern Bell and punching various buttons to explain our problem, so did Roger Davis. Again with the patience of Job and the persistence of a real mechanic, Roger succeeded in finding the source of the hideous noise which had rendered the telephone line almost useless. He came when we called and he worked till the job was done.

It is comforting to know that in this world of slipshod sham that there are people "good to ride the river". People with core competencies. As a matter of fact, core competencies of individuals, not any superstructure of government or power, are keeping Iowa and Illinois from total destruction this summer.

Contrast the skill and determination of the rooted heartlanders with the panic and disorientation of the blow-in Floridians of last year's disaster. To paraphrase Thessalonians again, it's truly a matter of living quietly, working with your hands, and minding our own business. Knowing what you're doing and doing it.

THE WATERBEAT
SPRINGHILLS WATER MANAGEMENT DISTRICT
VOLUME 2 NO. 4 SUMMER 1993

BANDERA COUNTY WON'T BE IN BUFFER ZONE

The following was taken from articles written by James Frazar and reprinted with his permission.

It was a close one, but Bandera County won't be included in the Edwards Aquifer Management Authority's buffer zone. That's thanks to the efforts of the Springhills Water Management District, the support of the Bandera County Commissioners, and action by elected representatives from Bandera County.

The much discussed Edwards Aquifer management system passed the Texas House of Representatives and the Senate and the good news is that language wanted by the Springhills Water Management District was included in the House version, according to Texas Rep. Robert "Bob" Turner of Voss, who represents Bandera County in Austin.

According to Turner, the amendment to Senate Bill 1477 will effectively exclude Bandera County from the The Edwards Aquifer Buffer Zone. "Bandera County and the Springhills Water Management District is not in the buffer zone," said Turner. "We checked the final edition and that's what's going to the Governor. We anticipate the Governor will sign the bill."

Springhills officials had fought to add the language to the Edwards bill because if the Edwards Authority had been allowed to operate as the bill was proposed, the Edwards Authority would have regulatory power (that could include septic tanks and possibly even water wells) in southern Bandera County -- an area that would include the Medina Lake area, a good portion of the eastern part of the Pipe Creek area, the area just south of Bandera including Wharton's Dock and Flying L Ranch, and the area generally south of State Highway 470, probably including Tarpley and Vanderpool. Also included in the buffer zone is the southern part of Kendall County. Neither Bandera or Kendall Counties have any part of the Edwards Aquifer or Edwards Aquifer Recharge Zone in them. The two counties also have no members on the proposed Edwards Aquifer board and it could have easily been a situation of regulation without representation without the language that Springhills has added.

The Edwards Aquifer Management Authority will act as a "super" water district over the region above the Edwards Aquifer, which includes Kinney, Uvalde, Medina, Bexar, Comal, and Hayes Counties. (A small portion of the aquifer is also in Atascosa and Guadalupe Counties.) This area will be managed by a new Edwards board and ground water pumping from this region will be limited, theoretically assuring that all aquifer water users have access to the water and that endangered species in the Comal and San Marcos Springs continue to have a habitat (because of a court suit).

The problem for Bandera County was the "Buffer Zone", a region that includes all land 10 miles north of the Edwards Aquifer and all land 5 miles south of the aquifer. The new Edwards board will have water district powers in that buffer zone. Bad for Bandera County was that there was no representation on the board from Bandera County. (You could call it "Regulation without representation.")

NOTE: Senate Bill 1477 has been signed by the Governor. The amendment proposed by the Springhills W.M.D. is included in the bill and excludes Bandera County from the Edwards Aquifer Authority buffer zone.

ADIOS

His quick wit and dedication to purpose will be missed. On May 6th, outgoing director L. D. Moore, was presented with a letter of appreciation by the District's Board of Directors for his exemplary service to the district.

Thanks L. D.!

MONITORING PROGRAM

This District will soon begin recording water levels and documenting water quality on selected wells. The data collection is part of the District's annual well monitoring program. The objective of the program is to establish a database of water levels and water quality over a period of time.

If you are interested in having your water level and water quality checked on a regular basis, call the District to see if your well will qualify as a monitor well in this program.

WELCOME

Results of the election in May for District directors brought back four familiar faces and added a new one.

Welcome to elected directors: Ronnie Basinger, Phil Becker, Joe Cantu, Randy Roberts, and Jerry Sides.

PROTECTING YOUR WATER SHOULDN'T BE A GAME OF CHANCE!

WORKING TOGETHER

In keeping with the spirit of cooperation and working to protect our water resources, the District recently signed a cooperative agreement with Bandera County. The agreement allows personnel from the County to use the District's laboratory equipment and facilities at no cost. Ron Jones, a supervisor with the County, currently performs routine water quality testing for the Mansfield Park public water supply in the District's lab.

At age 76, Evelyn Habenicht continues her 44-year tradition of selling Avon products, and her life-long tradition of working in her yard, raising caladiums, and enjoying a close relationship with God.

Evelyn Habenicht celebrates 44 years as an Avon sales representative

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Bandera's Evelyn Habenicht celebrates her 44th year with Avon today, July 21. But don't congratulate her because she won't accept the credit.

"I lean on the Lord for everything. I take Him with me everywhere I go. I couldn't do it without Him."

It is difficult to find the opportunity to interview Habenicht. She is 76 years old and still works every day. Yet when one mentions that fact as admirable, she rejects the comment. "I give God all the credit. I thank Him for my good health."

When one compliments her on her lovely, well-kept yard and breathtakingly beautiful caladiums, she holds a broad, colorful leaf lovingly and exclaims, "isn't it marvelous how God put all these colors in here! How can anyone see a plant like this and not believe in God?"

Over her 44 years in Avon, she has won numerous awards- boxes of them, in fact. But she is more eager to talk about her faith in God and how it has helped and sustained her than she is to talk about her success. "Well, I have these awards in boxes, you see; plates and dolls. I want to sell them. Why keep them? They're worth quite a bit of money, so I'm advertising them in the 'Avon Times.'"

Asked how many awards she has won and how much money she has earned in her 44 years, she shrugs. She is more concerned about laying her treasures up in heaven where it will be waiting for her. She changes the subject. "I get new customers all the time. There isn't anyone I don't like. I love everybody. This job has taught me to see the good in everyone I meet.

"It has taught me to be fair, honest and dependable, first with my Maker, and then with everyone I deal with. At the end of the day it is such a good feeling to know that I have not wronged anyone. God is first in my life. My church, my family, my friends. Without God in my life, I would be nothing.

"Selling Avon has taught me patience. You have to have patience in life, it helps Habenicht began selling Avon on July 21, 1949. She said that on that day, "a dream became a reality for the representative at that time and went to work for the Bandera Water Board. I took over from her.

"At an early age, I had acquired a love for Avon and thought what a wonderful, unique product it was. Little did I know that some day I would become a representative for Avon."

She also did not know that 44 years later, at the age of 76, she would still be selling it. "It's a wonderful job. You don't have to be out there with it all the time. You still have time for your house, your yard, your family."

Even without Avon, Habenicht's life is full. She has been a widow for 19 years and takes care of her house, yard and two acres by herself. Her son, Arlan, lives in San Antonio. Habenicht spends an average of six hours a day on her Avon career during delivery weeks. She divides her time between Avon, her home, Bandera United Methodist Church, friends, family, reading good books and other interests. She and her husband were Worthy Patron and Worthy Matron of the Bandera Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star in 1969 and 1970.

With Avon, Habenicht says her life is complete. "I feel good about selling it because it has a money back guarantee. I want people to buy it because they like it, not because I knocked on their door. The product is pure and has been tried and tested many times to come up to its standards today."

She has been a member of Avon's President's Club and Honor Society for many years. "All in all, it has been such a wonderful, rewarding experience for me. And I thank God for allowing me the privlege of working in a business I could enjoy so much.

"When I first started selling Avon, I was very shy and reluctant to go out and knock on doors. But as time went by, I gained a belief in myself and a confidence to accomplish my dream. But I couldn't have done it without God.

"My favorite part of the job is going out and meeting new people and making new friends.

the job?" She thinks, "Well, honey, I don't have one. I don't have a least favorite part. I love it all. God's been

"On the trail with Bungy"

This week begins a series of columns submitted by Bungy from her vacation across the western U.S. In the coming weeks, Bungy will be sending reports via the FAX machine, filling the readers in on the exciting details of her trip.

Ready, get set, go! And they're off! We "untied" the lines (boat talk) and headed our "Prairie Schooner" out into the wold west of IH 10 and into a saga of adventure. The wild flowers blooming everywhere, dancing in the soft prairie breezes of a cool Texas morn. We started at nine, lunched along the way in Junction & ended up at the "Circle Bar" RV, motel & truck stop. A complex that was huge and in the middle of nowhere. Great semi trucks pulling in and hauling out constantly. Lots of trucking couples all sizes, shapes & colors. Loads of U-Hauls making the best of a summer for moving.

We hooked up at the empty RV park being the only ones there in the afternoon and instantly jumped into the sparkling clear pool. It had a circle bar brand with an old truck and a cartoon cowboy filling it up with gas-all in red & black tile on the bottom of the pool!

The adjoining motel had a huge glassed in tropical paradise with a swimming pool. They really do things big at the Circle Bar!

At sunset, the place started filling up with all sorts of RV's & tenters. By 9, the next morn everyone but us was gone!

Stopped at Ft. Stockton to see the 2 year old restoration of the Fort. There was a mailbox in front of the huge compound that said "Fort-300 E Third"! The prison had chains & leg chains attached to the walls & it got a little claustrophobic! It's the only fort that didn't build a wall around it. They didn't have to because it's so flat out there, anyone could be seen for miles. There were 250 Buffalo soldiers stationed there (African American) and even though they fought the most fierce of the Apaches, the Mescaleros, the Fort was never attacked in all it's 18 years of service.

In Van Horn, we stayed right on the edge of the desert. Everyone got out chairs & sat to watch a terrific lightning & thunderstorm roll over tremendous, jagged mountains & finally, slowly, slowly approach us until the wind picked up, the sage (which really was in bloom!) engulfed us with it's lush smell. And then the storm hit us with a downpour of sweet rain. Very dramatic. One of the guests said, "It's better that 4th of July fireworks."- And it was.

And then, TOMBSTONE!! It is fantastic. Wide boardwalks on both sides of the street. All the buildings for 4 blocks are restored historical with state markers on them. They flagged off the whole downtown & there were hundreds & hundreds of tourists walking up & down, stage coaches giving historical tours. We ran into a real wedding being given at the OK Corral. It was a local couple, Chuck & Joy Midkiff, and all their wedding party (about 50 guests) came dressed in 1860-1890's outfits. They poured out of the OK Corral when it was over, spilled out onto Main Street and then, into the Crystal Palace Saloon, where we joined the fun & danced the afternoon away. It was like being back in the olden days—or being on a movie set, couldn't figure out which. Pulled ourselves away & crossed the street to get a historical tour of the "Bird Cage Saloon", which the New York Times described in 1890, as being the most notorious one in the west. It had 27 shoot-outs & 9 fatalities. There were bullet holes & bullets all over the place. The original wallpaper for the 1890's is still in place, enough to get a real view of what "a place like this" was like. The original faro & blackjack tables and chairs were there, and in all the saloons, the original huge, carved hardwood bars were still up & running. On the walls were hung the old roulette & other gaming tables.

Tombstones history was something, besides the shootout at the OK Corral (with Henry Fonda!). It was a town of 18,000 in its hey day, with 16 blocks of over 300 saloons and 3,400 "ladies", and so much of that history has been preserved. It's just fantastic. Visited the Tombstone Epitaph, which is called "the National newspaper of the West" with a subscription list around the world. It's the oldest, most continuously running newspaper in the West since 1880. All their antique printing press and equipment is on view.

We ate at this darling Mexican restaurant, Bon Teadores. There were little odd wooden chairs and tables on an uneven brick patio that was covered with a green plastic shade. PVC pipe was up above, all around the patio, with little spigots every foot or so, that sprayed water out into the desert breezes & cooled all the diners off!—And real Mexican Ranchero music played over the speakers.

This past 1/2 week has been so filled with adventure, we can hardly wait to see what's down the trail a piece next! Oh—Happy Trails to You!

Tim Sanchez was delegate

Timothy D. Sanchez, of Bandera, was among the more that 800 delegates, officers and guests who attended Woodmen of the World/Omaha Woodmen Life Insurance Society's 42nd National Convention, July 11-15, at the Opryland Hotel in Nashville.

Sanchez represented members in the Southwest Woodmen jurisdiction. The delegates, elected at state conventions held earlier this year, represent more than 850,000 members. They meet at the national convention every four years to address business and fraternal matters and elect national directors.

Delegates unanimously re-elected all members of the Woodmen Board of Directors to four-year terms.

The St. Victor's Chapel Altar Society at Lakehills, installed new officers on July 8 at 7 p.m. Jackie Mixon and her staff: Erna Kirk, Nickey Sisk and Joyce Painter passed the gavel on to Lee Field, president; Mary Alice Correa, vice president; Cecilia Hartman, secretary; and Marge Mayer, treasurer. Following the installation of officers, a pitch in hot dog cook-out was held. Monsignor Michael McManus began the festivities with a blessing and the Lord's prayer. The evening ended with a rousing game of team singing. The next meeting will be Sept. 2 at 7 p.m. at St. Victor's meeting room.

Hill Country Match Makers introduces singles

Owner Dianne Russell-Sweeten says people stop dating for a variety of reasons

Dianne Russell-Sweeten believes that many single men and women in the Texas Hill Country have practically stopped dating for a variety of reasons, and her new business, Hill Country Match Makers is her answer to the problem.

She says that there are four main reasons people mention when asked why they have stopped dating:

"There's no place to meet someone except bars and that is not acceptable as a rule; when you do see someone you'd like to meet, there's no one to introduce you to each other; there's no way to know if you're going out with someone who has marriage on their mind when you don't. And vice versa; and the time and money wasted with someone you aren't even compatible with.

"Hill Country Match Makers has come to the Hill Country to solve the problem. They have designed a unique profile that reveals what you want and what you need at this particular time in your life.

"Matches are made by comparing answer to answer. no computers are used at all."

Sweeten calls AIDS the "most important (reason) of all" that people have stopped dating, but she adds that the discussion of the AIDS issue "should be between two people, not with me."

She does, however get into a great deal of other detail with the 47-question personal profile questionnaire applicants are asked to fill out.

"When you get a call from HCMM, you know in advance they have screened the ones you wouldn't be interested in meeting or getting to know," Sweeten says.

"Whether you want someone to share interests with, a new date, a steady relationship or a lifelong mate, they are prepared to find the right person for you."

Unlike some other dating services, there are "no photographs requested," Sweeten says, and "you can drop in and out of circulation as you wish." Clients have control of the number and frequency of contacts.

"You will get as many or as few calls as you wish. Everything is completed protected and totally confidential.

"HCCM is not what you'd expect in a dating service. We've seen the profile and can assure you it's designed simply and tastefully."

Sweeten lived in Bandera from January to June of this year, and says she still has many ties in the Bandera area, although her new business is based in Kerrville. She says she plans to join the Bandera Chamber of Commerce, and her husband, Darwin Sweeten, formerly worked at Rodeo Chevrolet.

"My best friend is Susan Gathings, controller at the Flying L Ranch. It is her support and encouragement that launched HCMM," Sweeten says.

For additional information about Hill Country Match Makers, or for details about their special introductory offer, call 210-896-6116 between the hours of 10 a.m. and 10 p.m. weekdays.

IN THE BEGINNING . . .

The Texas International Apple Festival had it's beginning in 1980 when local ranchers /farmers began successfully growing apples in Medina. In 1988 when the trees were big enough to bear fruit, a group of citizens decided to celebrate the harvest and the fact that Texas has the only fresh apples in July. So on the last Saturday of July 1988 the Texas International Apple Festival was held on the banks of the Medina River. By 1989 the apple industry had grown so much that the Texas Department of Agriculture named Medina "The Apple Capital of Texas".

This year will be the sixth annual festival. The festival is still held on the banks of the Medina River on the last Saturday in July and is enthusiastically attended by thousands who enjoy the good clean family fun provided.

Bet on "Bushel Buddies" to better babysit bags of bargains

There's a new feature at this year's Sixth Annual Texas International Apple Festival. It is called "Bushel Buddies."

When you make a purchase at the festival, a local service organization with "babysit" that bushel of apples or bulky gift purchased from one of the arts and crafts booths while you continue to enjoy the fun.

When you are ready to leave, the Bushel Buddy will deliver your purchase to your car in a little red wagon.

This year's Apple Festival features almost anything you can imagine, form apple fritters to apple pizza.

Apples are the new cash crop for the Texas Hill Country. Medina is the Apple Capital of the Lone Star State.

The festival is held at the festival grounds in Medina, on Saturday, July 31 from 9 a.m. until the fireworks begin at dark.

ADD/ADHD Parenting Classes set

Frank Garcia, STEP Program Co-ordinator, and Chris Watkins, of the Texas Department of Mental Health are conducting a series of parenting classes for parents of children with Attention Deficit Disorder.

There is no charge for the classes which are based on the successful STEP program. Special emphasis will be placed on the challenges faced by parents in dealing with a child with an attention deficit, with or without hyperactivity.

The classes run for eight weeks, and attendance is voluntary.

Classes are held at 1207 Cottonwood, Wednesdays at 6 p.m. and last for about two hours. Concerned parents are urged to attend tonight's session.

For more information, call Carolyn Edwards at 796-3718 or Frank Garcia at 796-7377.

To make the 6th Texas International Apple Festival even more memorable, a special postal cancellation will be offered by the Post Office.

The special cancellation features an apple-shaped logo taken from Karen Mangold's 1991 T-shirt design. The T-shirt design contest has become an annual contest, sponsored by the Medina Texas Development Corporation.

The post office will set up on the festival grounds from noon until 4 p.m. That will be the only time and the only place a person can get the special cancellation. Stamps and envelopes will be available for sale, or patrons may bring their own. Stamp collectors from around the world will be interested in the special cancellation.

Eric Marley will bring teepees to the festival. He will perform on the children's stage, giving them lessons in Indian lore. Those attending the festival will have an opportunity to go through the Indian artifact museum. It will be located on the grounds in a tee-pee.

Medina Children's Home has already played a part in the upcoming festival. They worked to clean the grounds and prepare them for the once-a-year event.

Those attending the 6th Texas International Apple Festival are invited to be active participants. Entries for the Apple Pie Contest must be at the main gate by 10 a.m. on festival day. There are no entry fees. The divisions this year include: adult (age 19 and over); youth (18 and younger); and professional (for commercial restaurants, bakeries and chefs).

A new award will be offered this year. It will be for the most creative in each category.

The Black Powder Shoot; the 2nd Annual Apple Fest Shootout; and the Try-Apple-On games will also give festival-goers a chance to participate. Volley ball games and tournaments will round out the sports activities.

New this year is the Quilt Show, coordinated by the Bandera County Quilt Guild. Entries include large, small and coverlets. For more information, call 796-8343.

Admission for the apple festival will be $2 for adults; $1 for children, ages two through 12. The admission price includes everything except food and children's rides. Parking is free and shuttle service will be offered from parking areas to Festival Grounds.

'Be queen for a year,' CCRA invites local girls

Applications for 1993-94 Rodeo Association Queen are being accepted by the Cowboy Captial Rodeo Association of Bandera (CCRA). The contest will be held on August 8 at the Mansfield Park Rodeo Arena.

Contestants must be between 16 and 19 years of age and must be residents of Bandera, Kendall, Kerr, Medina or Uvalde counties. They must be proficient in horsemanship, possess communication skills, and be able to wear western dress decorously.

During the course of the contest, they will perform a designated horsemanship pattern, model western attire and deliver a short speech or essay on why they wish to represent CCRA as rodeo queen. There is no entry fee for the contest.

The winner of the contest will preside over the 1993 Labor Day Weekend Rodeo on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, September 3, 4 and 5, at Mansfield Park. The rodeo queens will be expected to attend media functions and represent the CCRA at other events.

The winner will receive a rhinestone tiara, complete western attire and an embroidered satan sash.

Depending on the age of the 1993-94 Rodeo Association queen, she will also be eligible to enter the Miss Rodeo Texas or Miss Rodeo Texas Teen Pageant next June.

The first and second runners-up will be designated as CCRA Princess and Duchess. They will receive rodeo sashes and be invited to participate in local rodeo activities.

Those interested in entering may request an application by writing Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association, ATTN: Rodeo Queen Contest, P.O. Box 1801, Bandera, TX, 78003; or by calling (210) 796-7207 and leaving a message on the answering machine.

The deadline for submitting applications is Sunday, July 25.

No 'new face' on history at upcoming Texas Folklife Festival

The Texas Folklife Festival will be held August 5 through 8 at the University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures on HemisFair Park in downtown San Antonio. New participants will engage in old skills and customs which, wisely, make no attempt to "put a new face on history."

More than 10,000 participants will share music, dances, foods and crafts with visitors at the 22nd annual event. This year brings 37 "newly discovered" keepers of Texas traditions to the event.

From Choctaw Indian folktales, to Hispanic legends; from Gulf Coast Scandinavian Dancers to Bandera's cowboy musician, Dusty Britches, the festival will brim with talent and entertainment.

Woodcarving, beekeeping and knot-tying will join the ancient crafts of flintknapping (from Texas Indians) and Ukrainian egg painting. Crafts serve as a link between the past and the present.

Fine food, pheasants featured at Diamond H Bed and Breakfast

If you like sleeping late into soft Hill Country mornings, rising to a waiting breakfast of exotic eggs and home baked goodies served on a table the size of a small aircraft carrier and then strolling leisurely around the grounds of a 60 year-old antique-filled mansion sipping a final cup of coffee, then Polly and Tom Herrington's Diamond H Bed and Breakfast between Bandera and Medina may be a place of choice for your next weekend off.

Located near the Highland Waters sub-division about halfway between Bandera and Medina on State Highway 16, the 12 acre site features frontage on the Medina River, four upstairs guest rooms in one building and two more rooms in a wing of the main house. Guest parking is adjacent to the rooms and except for the owner's wing, the whole sprawling stone house is open to visitors.

An added feature not found at many B&Bs is that Tom and Polly raise pheasants and quail commercially and guests at their home may view the eggs in incubators and the young birds in various stages of growth from freshly hatched (or hatching if the timing is right) chicks to adult birds ready for release or the oven.

The birds are sold to ranchers and landowners who want to stock their fields with upland game. The Herringtons also sell to those with a taste for the exotic and for an additional charge, will serve guests in their home a meal of pheasant or quail by request.

The Herringtons acquired the ranch in 1990 after it had remained almost unoccupied since being inundated by the flooding Medina River in 1978. Clarabell Lovelace owned the place but had moved into a mobile home on the property after the floodwaters literally filled the buildings to the ceilings. Tom and Polly at first spent weekend and holidays working on what became a three year up grade. They finally moved in last summer and put the finishing touches to the place.

Tom, who retired from 21 years in the aerospace industry restored and rebuilt and added onto the water damaged buildings, returning them and some of the original furnishings to their 1930s elegance. Polly decorated the rooms and continued to teach (and still continues) at UTSA. Additional antiques that include a turn-of-the-century Chickering parlour grand piano and a wind-up Victrola that still plays "Ham 'n Eggs for Breakfast In The Morning" decorate the interior, while a completely remodeled and modern kitchen turns out plates of Polly's home baked specialties (made with pheasant eggs naturally.)

The bird business began to fly last year when Tom started selling his first poultry. "I had a pretty good year for a first effort," he said. "I sold 3,500 birds." He now has somewhere between seven and ten thousand birds and plans to continue to expand. "I'll keep going until it's more work than fun. Then I'll level out," he grins. He predicts that point will be around the 80,000 bird level.

The bed and breakfast business finally began in April after weather delays held up the planned opening by several weeks. Rooms are priced from $55 per night to $95 for a large accommodation that will sleep two families.

In addition to the Hill Country ambience, guests can swim in the nearby river or visit any number of attractions ranging from Bandera honky-tonk night life to a visit to an apple orchard in Medina.

Who will it be? The fickle finger of fate will point to one of these "lucky" folks Saturday, July 24. Bandera merchant Johnny Boyle, upper left, is in first place in the Community Assembly of God's "Pie in the Face Contest". Debbie Raab Hays, upper right, is in second place. Bandera County Sheriff James MacMillan, lower left, needs a lot of help to win the honor of getting a pie in the face, and John Junker, lower right, a golf pro at Flying L, says he does not want to win. Votes collected (money) will go to youth projects.

Pie-in-the-face contest July 24

Businessman Johnny Boyle, Bandera County Sheriff James MacMillan, Flying L golf pro John Junker and Harvey's Old Bank Steakhouse manager Debbie Hayes will vie for an unusual "honor" Saturday- one of them gets to take a pie in the face for charity.

The fund-raiser will benefit the Community Assembly of God's children's and youth programs.

Folks will have a chance to "vote" for their favorite with a cash donation in various local businesses in the past weeks. The candidate who receives the largest amount of cash in his or her jar will get a pie in the face Saturday, July 24 at high noon on the Bandera County Courthouse lawn. The candidate receiving the least cash donation will get to "do the honors-" that is, smash the pie into the face of the winner.

Work Together In His Spirit

"Now there are varieties of gifts, but the same Spirit; and there are varieties of service, but the same Lord; and there are varieties of working, but it is the same God who inspires them in all of us." — Corinthians 12:4-6

What the Apostle Paul tried to impart in his letter to the Corinthians was that we are all different in nature and capabilities, yet those differences derived from the Spirit of God further the common good. God has granted each of us certain skills and talents that contribute to the well-being of all. Consider, for instance, if we were all created shoemakers. We would certainly be well shod but without clothing, food or shelter. Just as we are dependent on God's bounty for the diverse gifts he has given us, so are we dependent one on another for the utilization of those gifts for all. No individual survives without the manifestation of the Lord's spirit and aid for his fellow man. ©1993 by King Features Synd.

The Man In The Glass--by an unknown author

When you get what you want in your struggle for life, and the world makes you king for a day...Just go to the mirror and look at yourself, and see what THAT man has to say...For it isn't your father or mother or wife, whose judgment you must pass...The fellow whose verdict counts most in your life, is the one staring back from the glass...Some people might think you're a straight shooting chum, and call you a wonderful guy...But the man in the glass says you're only a bum...If you can't look him straight in the eye...He's the fellow to please, never mind all the rest, for he's with you clear to the end...And you have passed your most dangerous test, if the guy in the glass is your friend...You may fool the [illegible] years, and get pats on the back as you pass...But your final reward will be heartaches and tears, if you have cheated the man in the glass...

The above poem is food for words. Happy to share it with you. VM

Medina Lake Cajun Festival

13th annual event Sept. 25 will feature great food, great fun and more

Jane Morris and Barbara Engel were two of the volunteer workers at the Lakehills Civic Center on Tuesday, July 20. They began preparing 80 pounds of crawfish etouffee for the Saturday, Sept. 25 Medina Lake Cajun Festival.

Volunteers are already making crawfish etouffee for the 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival which will be held at the Lakehills Civic Center on Sept. 25. In fact, food preparation for the event has outgrown Barbara Engel's kitchen and has moved to the Lakehills Civic Center.

"We've increased all the food amounts this year," Engel explained. "We ran out last year by about 3 p.m. We are going from 50 pounds of peeled crawfish meat to 80 pounds. And, we've discovered that we can find vegetables and onions already cleaned and cut. It's a great time saver! But we won't compromise the quality of the food."

Already, six to 10 volunteer workers are cooking shrimp and crawfish etouffee, jambalaya and crawfish pie. They hope to finish the food preparation sometime by August. "The rest of the food will be made there the day of the festival," Engel said.

The event is a fund-raiser sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, Inc., a civic organization. It attracts thousands of visitors, bringing the food, music and culture of Louisiana to the Texas Hill Country.

Crawfish are imported from Breaux Bridge, Louisiana, the Crawfish Capital of the World.

Louisiana and Texas musicians are featured. Mulate's Cajun Restaurant will co-sponsor traditional Cajun music. The Mamou Prairie Band of Lafayette, the Zydeco's Earfood band and the Bruce Daigrepont Cajun Band are among the bands which will entertain at the Sept. 25 festival.

The Cajun Festival orginated as the "Great Gumbo Cook-off". Gumbo remains a strong attraction of the festival. Interested Gumbo cooks may call (210) 751-3401 for more information.

On July 6, Marietta Overholser drove to her sister Vera Barrera's farm in Lytle. The next morning they flew to Los Angeles, Calif. Sister Mamie & husband, Bob Baker, were to meet them in Buena Park after they got a call from them that they had arrived, as it only takes 10 minutes to get there from home. The funny part was that Mamie & Bob decided to surprise them and be waiting at the Holiday Inn for them to arrive. When Marietta & Vera got to Los Angeles and inquired about the shuttle that went to Buena Park, they were told that they did not have it anymore. So, they got another shuttle which would take them to the front door of Mamie's house in La Mirada. When they got there, they were surprised that she was not there. At the same time, Mamie & Bob were meeting every shuttle that came in and were very worried. Finally they gave up and decided to go home. Imagine their surprise when they got there and saw her sisters waiting in the patio. They had jumped the fence to get there as the house was locked. On Friday, Kathy Ray, Mamie's daughter from Oceanside and her two daughters, Melissa & Jamie, came and picked they up and they drove to Oxnard where Mamie's daughter Sandy & husband Jim Godall live. Kathy & daughters stayed at Sandy's and Mamie, Vera & Marietta stayed at La Sirena Marina Resort at Oxnord and a beautiful place. The next day they all went on tour of the town and went to Farmers Market where they had music and dancing. It was a lot of fun. Sandy & Jim showed them a great time. Drove back to La Mirada on Sunday and stayed there through Tuesday. Flew back to SA on Wed. morning. Marietta stayed at the farm overnight and got home Thursday. It was a beautiful trip and wonderful getting together with her family. What was great was that 3 generations of sisters got together. Mamie, Marietta and Vera; Mamie's daughters, Sandy & Kathy; Kathy's daughters, Melissa & Jamie.

Lenna and Bill Walker had a very enjoyable weekend visiting with Lenna's niece, Mrs. Frank Ducket and her daughter, Emily. They took a tour of the Walker Ranch and attended church service at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday. After the morning worship service they all went to the Fellowship Hall for the Fellowship dinner. Emily is a school teacher at a private school in Dallas, and teaches 4th, 5th, and 6th grades. The classes are small in number and she advances each year with them. This system allows Emily to get to know her students very well and able to help them on their weak points.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department board of directors, Lowell Hustaff, President; Wayne Hildenburg, Vice-Pres.; Bennie Heuer, Secretary; Susan Bros, Treasurer; and Dorris Lee, Director met with Virginia Hustaff, Fran Hildenburg, Irene Highnote, Cleo Sitterly and Shirley Koenig on how to stimulate Bingo and draw more people to attend. Many suggestions were made and they will all be considered prior to Sept. when they plan on playing again.

How many ways can you fix Baked Beans? At the Fellowship dinner at Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday, there were three different ways they were fixed. It appears that each Fellowship dinner they come up with a new way. I believe that we could write a cookbook on nothing but baked beans.

On July 3, Dorthy and Bob Rucker held a fish fry at their home in Wharton's Dock. Enjoying the good fish and all the trimmings were Betty and Bud Ciarlo, Red & Jackie Smith, Harry Warkentin, Margaret Holmes and Sylvia, Ashley, Jim Metcalf.

Bulldogs picked as contenders by Texas Football

Medina Bobcats placed to finish in middle

Bandera's football Bulldogs should be in the thick of a tough three team race in District 26-AAA this fall according to Dave Campbell's Texas Football, now on the newsstands.

According to Campbell, Bandera comes in with offensive experience, Devine has experience on defense but in this district Medina Valley is always the team to beat.

The Bulldogs are returning 12 letterman including 5 offensive and 1 defensive starters.

Coming back for the Dogs on offense will be runningback Robert Bradford, last years' leading rusher with 745 yards, receiver Aarron Lacey, center Isaac Kenney and tackles Dale Martin and Bill Wyman.

Campbell lists juniors Jimmy Stroud and Kyle Woodland as top prospects to contend for the quarterback slot.

Bandera's sole returning starter on defense will be defensive back Brian Flack.

Around the district: Medina Valley will return 9 lettermen (losing 25 to graduation); Devine gets 8 lettermen back; West Campus 16; Somerset 22; Ingram 21; Hondo 11; Cole12.

The Bulldogs have scrimmages scheduled on Thursday, August 19, against Jourdanton and on Friday, Aug. 27, vs LaVernia. The season opens Friday, September 3 with a road game against Dripping Springs.

Meanwhile, back at the apple farm, Campbell predicts that the Medina Bobcats will finish their football season in fourth place behind District 28-A's three traditional kingpins.

Texas Football magazine says the district race should come down to Center Point, D'Hanis and Rocksprings.

Coach Rick Ingram's team will be returning 8 starters each on offense and defense. The Cats should show an improved offense led by returning quarterback Clifford Watts, runningback Eli Hickman and tight end Scott Faglie.

Campbell lists Medina's other returners and top prospects as receiver and defensive back Garrick Childers, tight end and defensive end Rob MacFarland, linemen Robert Uribe, Kyle Phillips, Karl Murphy, Bill Simons and Kyle Robinson, guards and linebackers Charles Kneuper and David Derry and receiver/defensive back Terrell Bradford.

Medina will scrimmage St. Michael's in Austin Aug. 20 and practice against TMI at Medina Aug. 26 at 4 p.m.

The Bobcats' first game is in Natalia Friday, Sept.3.

B. Downs requests 94 race days

Bandera Downs has submitted their request for 1994 race dates to the Texas Racing Commission. The TRC is scheduled to meet Aug.2 and it is expected they will consider date requests at that time.

Bandera has requested the same number of racing days for the 1994 season with the major difference being in August. In 1992 and 1993 Bandera Downs was dark for two weeks so that Gillespie's track can run unopposed. In the '94 request Bandera has asked for only one off week in August.

If the TRC approves Bandera's request the track will begin racing March 5. The season continues with Friday through Sunday races until November 27. The exception will be three four day weekends. Bandera Downs will race on Monday's during the Memorial Day, July 4th and Labor Day weekends.

Gillespie Fair and Festival Association has asked the TRC for 12 days of racing in 1994.

Bandera athletic physicals, two-a-days set this month

New athletic director Mike Williamson plans innovative schedule

Bandera High School athletic director Mike Williamson announced that athletic physicals will be given Saturday, July 24.

Boys and girls in grades 7 through 12 planning on playing any athletics this school year are encouraged to get physicals at that time. Doctors will be on hand at the high school gym from 8:30 - 11: 30 a.m. and students will be taken on a first-come, first-served basis. Cost of the physical will be $5.00. Also, at that time students can pick up any additional paperwork they need to fill out for various fall athletics.

"It's time to begin thinking about football `two-a-days,'" said Williamson. "However, we are making some changes from what the young men are probably use to."

On Wednesday, Aug. 4, two-a-days will begin for varsity and junior varsity, grades 10, 11 and 12 only. Practice time will be from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m.

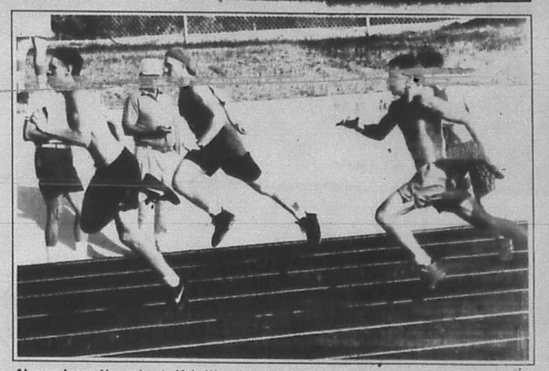

According to Williamson, the team will begin with workouts and then later in the morning they will move indoors for about an hour of classroom work. The team will then go directly into their second practice of the day and complete the days workout by 1:30.

"One of the main advantage I have found with this kind of practice schedule is the young men don't have the weight loss that you get in traditional morning/evening two-a-days," said Williamson. "With this schedule the guys are ready for a big meal by late evening. With the old schedule they are never ready for a big meal because they are always anticipating the next practice," he added.

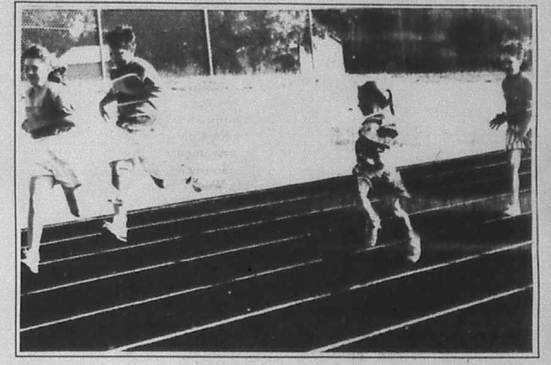

Freshman football will begin when uniforms are issued on Saturday, Aug. 7.

The frosh will practice separately from the varsity and junior varsity and those practices begin on Monday, Aug. 9 at 10:00 a.m.

Williamson also is reminding all football players in grades 9 through 12 that they have paperwork that needs to be completed. They can come by the coaches office at the high school on July 29-30, Aug. 2 or 3 between the hours of 8-12 or 1-4 and pick up the forms.

Above, Jason Hearn beats Kyle Woodland, Matt Mazurek and Jace Neuenschwander to the finish line during the first segment of the All Comers Track Meet. Below, the young and young at heart all found races to run at the meet Wednesday. Athletes can participate in two more meets set for Wednesdays, July 21 and 28 at 6 p.m. at the Bandera High School track.

Summer camp inferno

Counselors at Echo Hills Ranch pour water by hand on flames that keep igniting amid a scorched landscape Tuesday afternoon after a brush fire that began Monday afternoon continued to burn for a second day. Rough terrain, dry brush and constant wind made the firefighters' task more difficult.

Stubborn brush fire strikes Medina ranch

By Tuesday afternoon, firefighters had been called out for a third time

As the Bulletin went to press Tuesday evening, firefighters from all over Bandera County and some from neighboring Kerr County were still battling a major brushfire located near the Kerr County line north of Medina.

Medina's Volunteer Fire Department called for help Monday afternoon, July 26 after the fire first raged out of control after starting on Echo Hills ranch across the road from the (Medina) children's home, said Medina VFD chief Terry Word. "We got the call about 3 p.m. Apparently, they (the people at Echo Hills) were burning trash in a dump and the fire popped out and took off," Word said.

According to the chief, the fire spread through the tender-dry brush and cedar to neighboring Deer Valley ranch and then on to Hidden Valley ranch, blackening an area covering 300-400 acres, before firefighters finally controlled the blaze. "There had been a burn in the same area several years ago," said Word. "The dry stumps and brush really caught quickly. The area is very rough and hard on equipment. At one time there were four or five units down with mechanical problems," he said. Several firefighters were stricken by the intense heat and the problem of transporting enough water up the steep hillsides also hampered the efforts to extinguish the flames.

Word said that the blaze was finally thought to be mostly drowned shortly after midnight but crews stayed until 3:30 a.m. soaking hot spots and flare-ups.

Medina volunteers were called out to the scene again Tuesday morning to douse a renewed outbreak of the fire and again the persistant blaze was knocked down and under control by 11 a.m.

However, the fight was not over. The call went out to Medina once more around 2 p.m. Tuesday afternoon as flames again were fanned by an increasing south wind. The local firefighters quickly found that the fire was growing again and more units from the county were requested to return to battle the blaze.

County school districts' funding compared to statewide averages

By Janna Sandidge
Bulletin Editor

Bandera Independent School District was well below and Medina ISD was substantially above the statewide average of $4,255 per student for current operations budgeted last year, according to the latest issue of Bench Marks 1992-93 School District Budgets in Texas. Statewide, an average of $337 was budgeted for repayment of debt and $602 for capital outlay.

There was also a substantial difference in the amount of state program funding and aid received by both local schools.

Local property taxes plus state aid totaled $3,852 per student in Bandera, and $6,657 per student in Medina, compared to $4,243 statewide.

The state and local share of the foundation program averaged $3,144 per student last year, compared to $3,125 in Bandera ISD and $6,582 in Medina.

Local school districts can levy property taxes to enrich the foundation program. Enrichment last year averaged $822 per pupil to which the state added an average of $433 per student to guarantee the tax yield in property-poor districts.

In Bandera ISD, enrichment was $948 per pupil, with a state-guaranteed $95 added to that.

In Medina ISD, enrichment was $156 per pupil, with a state-guaranteed $230 added to that.

Statewide, despite a 1.2 percent drop in property values, school trustees raised tax rates to produce 9.5 percent more revenue last year. School budgets were increased $1.5 billion last fall for a total of $18.7 billion. The total budget averaged $5,284 per student. Classroom teachers received one dollar in four of the additional spending. Schools added 17,007 employees-- an average of one new employee for each 4.8 additional students.

Bandera ISD's budget provided $3,769 per student for current operations, $431 for debt service, and $271 for capital outlay based on 1,606 students enrolled in October 1992.

Medina ISD's budget provided $5,155 per student for current operations, $98 for debt service, and $271 for capital outlay based on 304 students enrolled in October 1992.

The average base salary for classroom teachers was $27,089 in Bandera and $26,705 in Medina. plus supplements for the career ladder. The average for administrators was $44,244 in Bandera and $43,930 in Medina; the average for other professional support employees (librarians, counselors, nurses, supervisors, etc.) was $26,858 in Bandera and $24,450 in Medina.

Statewide, four dollars in each five were spent in salaries. Statewide payroll expense averaged $3,439 per student, compared to $3,011 in Bandera and $3,915 in Medina. Payroll expense is determined by salary levels and staffing patterns.

Taxpayers provided one teacher for 15.6 students in Bandera ISD, and 11.3 students in Medina ISD, while statewide pupil-teacher ratio was 16.1 to one.

School districts and county education districts imposed a property tax at the rate of $1.405 per $100 of appraised value, which value averaged so much fun, especially when it's this messy! Johnny Boyle and Fred Collins were the winners and loser in a benefit fund-raising pie-in-the-face contest for the fat high noon) loser Collins got the honor of choking a lemon and whipped cream pie to winner Boyle's face. However, unknown to Collins, the sponsors provided earned more than $300 to send needy kids to a camp in Kerrville.

A thousand pardons to our good friend, J. Marvin Hunter, Jr., and others of the Hunter family if our repetition of an oft-told tale of the status of the Frontier Times Museum at the time of its purchase by Foster B. Doane was incorrect. We did not intend in any to denigrate the pride and concern for their father's accomplishments in preserving local history in what we DID say.

We also know from personal experience that small-town gossip can often be spreading erroneous information. (Wow! Can't it!) We deeply regret having carried on even a thirty year old piece of it!

If you did not see the Bulletin for July 21, you aren't realizing that the above is a quick correction and apology to Mr. Hunter, Jr., who wrote to the paper to say that the museum had never been "for sale"—that Mr. Doane's purchase was an offer on his part to the late Mrs. Susie Hunter and her children following the death of J. Marvin Hunter.

Here we should repeat again that without the work of J. Marvin Hunter during the first half of this century to set down the stories of the pioneers of Texas, there would be almost no source material on the legendary cattle drives, the settling of the hill country, or the case histories of famous bad men. We never cease marvelling at the volume of work Mr. Hunter turned out without the benefit of tape recorders, copiers, and off-set presses. He worked with pad and pencil and tediously operated hand-set linotype machines. And he got it all down for posterity.

Meanwhile back at the ranch, the pasture is turning brown, and we're out setting dripping hoses around certain crape myrtles beginning to fold their leaves. With the creek dried up where, only a few week ago, bluebells were luxuriating in the seeps, a major project will be launched to water the pecan trees in one of Mr. Lovelace's "subirrigated" valleys. All the wet green was great while it lasted. June was a reprieve from usual hot weather worries.

Toby Cizneroz, South Texas watermaster, along with our Connie Taylor, deputy watermaster for our area, and other staffers was in Bandera recently to meet with local water rights holders. Early meetings with Toby were attended by hot-headed opposers to the idea of regulating water usage in any way. This time nobody uttered a single complaint except to protest our being assessed fifty dollars a year for the purpose of cleaning up pollution in Texas streams everywhere. Our water is still basically clean, so why should we have to pay for careless treatment of the Rio Grande and streams in heavily industrialized East Texas? Tain't fair! Toby said he has a verbal promise from Austin that ag water users like those in Bandera County will NOT be assessed next year.

However, with recurrent dry spells and increased pumpage of water tables by the horde of newcomers to the Balcones exurbs of San Antonio, we must all accept the fact that if anyone is to be assured of a clean water supply, everyone must be.

Back in the days of J. Marvin Hunter's pioneers, there were few people and a cornucopia of beautiful water springing from every ledge in every draw. Now there are people, people everywhere and fewer drops to drink.

They're coming out of the woodwork, those folks I went to school with, and I think it's just wonderful! Today, Joy Moseley (Ross) walked into the Bulletin. I hadn't seen her in about 25 years. I didn't actually graduate with Joy -- but we went through several grades of school together in Bandera. She and her family have relocated in Bandera from Florida.

Charles and Patty Hundley, Barbara Zickler, Karen and Sharon Gilligan--lots of old familiar faces will return to Bandera this week, and it should be quite interesting. I hear that one of our number-- James Mc Groarty-- will travel all the way from Saudi Arabia. Of course, none of us have changed-- have we?

Among our teachers were Margie Keese, Barbara Mazurek, Telvy Robbins, Kathy and Homer Stevens, Robert Stein-- a lot of folks that are still hard at work teaching in the Bandera schools. I wonder-- do they remember me as vividly as I remember them? Probably not-- I'm sure after a certain number of years teaching, many of the faces begin to run together.

And I know all my classmates won't show up Saturday. I'm sure there are a few of them that are way too busy to get together with a bunch of people they have little in common with. I mean, let's face it, some of us didn't have a lot of interests in common to start with.

But I hope most of us show up Saturday. To marvel at how we've changed (or not changed...) To wonder how everyone is doing... and maybe even to congratulate one another on getting through the last 20 years in one piece. To those of you who won't be able to join us-- we'll miss you. Maybe we'll catch you at the next reunion.

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas school officials were advised last week to wait until Attorney General Dan Morales issues an interpretation of a new ethics law that some fear may force the resignations of about 2,000 school board trustees.

Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, requested a legal opinion on whether school trustees fall under the provision of the law.

The law is now being interpreted by school district attorneys to apply to nearly all trustees who work for, hold at least 10 percent stock in or own a business that contracts with the district.

Some attorneys say it also applies to trustees whose spouses have similar ties to a district contractor.

Rep. Ciro Rodriguez, D-San Antonio, who added the controversial language to the bill, said it was intended only to prevent abuse by trustees who were enriching themselves directly through school district contracts.

Rodriguez says he intends to explain his intent to Morales. "I don't think anyone will be knocked off a board just because they work with a company that does business with a district."

A spokesperson for the Texas Association of School Boards said only one trustee has resigned so far because of the new law. That trustee served in Eagle Pass and worked at his family-owned hardware store, which sold supplies to the school district.

KBH Phone Logs Altered?

Kay Bailey Hutchison's state treasury staff in May 1992 gave the Travis County district attorney phone records that had been altered, hiding the existence of a state telephone used for political purposes, the Houston Chronicle reported last week.

The newspaper reported that the altered page blanked out records of five calls made on a state-owned telephone line that is now part of a grand jury investigation.

The five calls include a call to Republican U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm's office and a call to Hutchison's Dallas political fundraiser, the Chronicle reported. Hutchison, now a U.S. Senator, was state treasurer at the time.

Dave Beckwith, a spokesman for Hutchison, said Hutchison paid for the telephone line "out of an abundance of caution" to keep any private business from being conducted on state telephone lines.

Beckwith said Hutchison did not have to provide District Attorney Ronnie Earle with records of the telephone line last year because he was interested only in the activities of David Criss, who was suspected of using a state computer on Hutchison's behalf.

Criss, who was Hutchison's director of policy and planning, resigned and reimbursed the state $550 after it was disclosed he had stored on a state computer some Hutchison political records.

Bustamante Found Guilty

Former U.S. Rep. Albert Bustamante of San Antonio was convicted last week of racketeering and influence-peddling. He remains free on a $50,000 bond.

Bustamante's wife, lawyer Rebecca Bustamante, was acquitted on all seven counts of aiding her husband.

Bustamante could be sentenced up to 22 years in prison on the racketeering charge and up to two years on the influence peddling charge and could be fined up to $250,000 on each count.

Jurors found that Bustamante engaged in a pattern of corruption while a Democratic member of Congress from 1985 to 1993.

A key allegation was a $35,000 bribe that prosecutors said Bustamante accepted from Falcon Food and Management Services Inc. in exchange for using his influence to help the company attempt to renew a food contract at Kelly Air Force Base in San Antonio.

Cisneros' Son Recovering

An eight-member team of physicians last week rebuilt the malformed heart of John Paul Cisneros, the six-year son of Housing and Urban Development Secretary Henry Cisneros.

The operation created a four-chambered heart that was expected to perform normally, the lead surgeon at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, said in a statement.

"John Paul's heart function and circulation are effective and stable," Dr. William Norwood said. "He is responding nicely to the surgery."

"Ann at 60" Fund-raiser

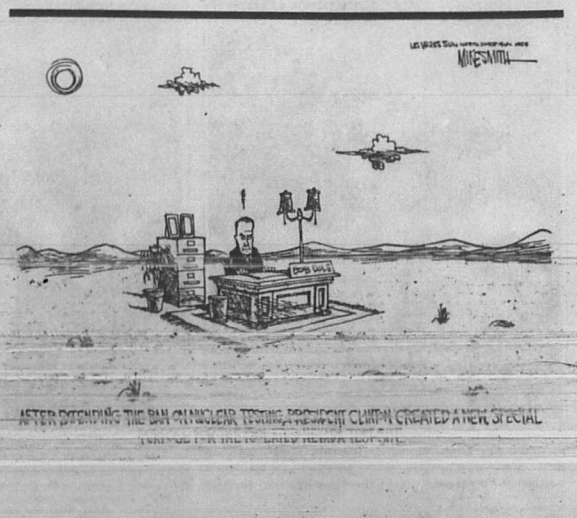

Gov. Ann Richards hopes to "send a powerful message" to would-be challengers with a fund-raiser expected to raise $1 million for her re-election campaign.

The event at Austin's City Coliseum on Sept. 10 is being billed as "Ann at 60." Richards' 60th birthday is Sept. 1.

Singers Willie Nelson, Lyle Lovett, Nanci Griffith and Don Henderson will provide entertainment for the event.

Other Highlights

- The State Board of Insurance last week gave preliminary approval to an anti-discrimination rule after hearing a report that showed low-income and minority consumers pay higher rates for insurance even if they are a lower risk. The board voted 2-0 for the measure and scheduled an Aug. 30 final vote on the rule.
- Three years after moving into South Texas, Africanized "killer" bees have claimed their first victim. Bee researchers said the fatal swarming of Starr County rancher Lino Lopez demonstrates that people should call pest-control experts rather than trying to dispose of bee hives themselves.

Boerne man drowned Saturday during Medina Lake fishing trip

A two-man fishing trip at Medina Lake ended in tragedy on Saturday when Ronald Bennett Galin, 62, of Boerne, fell out of the boat and drowned. The drowning occured at approximately 9 a.m. in 8 to 12 feet of water. The body was recovered at 11:10 a.m.

Galin was inside the boat, fishing with a friend. They were approximately 10 to 12 feet from the shore. The men were turned away from each other, facing opposite sides of the boat. Suddenly, Galin cried out, Help me!" The friend turned around in time to see Galin fall out of the boat into the water. He thrust his rod over to Galin and Galin grabbed it. Then, he and the rod disappeared.

Chief Deputy Herschel Moore, of the Bandera Sheriff's Department, says there is no evidence of foul play. "When we found him, he still had his glasses on. His clothes weren't rumpled up or anything. It didn't look like he had been held under or anything like that. An autopsy was performed. I haven't read it yet, but over the phone they gave me the preliminary report. They said it was death by drowning.

"What I believe happened is either that he had a heart attack or that he got tangled in brush. It happened in Brushy Creek Cove- it didn't get that name for nothing.

"His family said that he had high blood pressure, but that they didn't know of any heart problems."

Galin's family had just closed on a weekend house in the Pebble Beach II subdivision and were planning on moving to Bandera County.

Commissioners talk about roads, bridges

A regular meeting of the Commissioners' Court of Bandera was held on Monday, July 26. Commissioners said that road work and repair on the targeted roads will begin as soon a the county receives a load of steel. "The pipes are already in and we're ready to go," they told County Judge Ray F. Mauer.

Meanwhile, the 911 program has received $120,000 in federal grants over the next three years. Funds are to be used mostly for equipment purchase. When completed, the 911 system will automatically place the caller by physical address. Applications are under consideration for the hiring of a person to list the physical addresses of county residents so the 911 system can be put into place.

Judge Mauer said that no new taxes are being levied for the upgrading of the system. "Indirectly, I guess you could call it a tax. Everyone pays 50 cents on their phone bills."

Commissioners are considering the approval of new regulations for subdivisions within the county. One proposal under consideration is that the county will no longer accept roads in subdivisions and maintain them as county roads unless they are paved.

In other action, commissioners approved a budget contribution of $2,500 for the KStar program, a children's crisis intervention program.

Bandera ISD outscores state in TASP scores for 1990-91 grads

Bandera Independent School District 1990-91 graduates are above the state average in the Texas Academic Skills Program (TASP) test data. The TASP measures basic reading, math and writing scores of high school graduates who enter college.

In Bandera, 75.8 percent of the 1990-91 graduates passed all three portions of TASP, compared to 71.1 percent statewide.

Bandera's reading score was 90.9 percent, compared to the state average of 87.9 percent.

In math, Bandera scored 87.9 percent to the state's 83.3 percent.

Bandera's writing score was 84.8 percent, compared to the state's 83.2 percent.

Of the 1990-91 graduates statewide, 42.1 percent took portions of TASP, compared to 38.3 of the Bandera graduates.

The TASP tests were developed and implemented to identify students who are underprepared in reading, mathematics and writing. Those students who fail to pass all three sections must participate in remediation programs for the subject area or areas failed.

Monday evening the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department responded to a call for assistance at a fire on Echo Hills. The large tanker and one brush truck was dispatched and then the small utility truck followed over ten fire fighters led by Vice President Wayne Hildenburg and Fire Chief John Chancellor. Over heating of vehicles was a problem for some, Lakeshore's brush and utility trucks both got over heated. There were over ten departments fighting the fire which was burning its way through a large cedar stand, plus in very difficult terrain. Cold drinks and sandwiches were furnished for the fire fighters by the Women's Auxiliary.There was an EMS crew from Medina standing by and checking the fighters for heat exhaustion and smoke inhalation. I don't like a fire to be the reason for it, but it was great seeing so many working together on one goal. It was after 2 a.m. when the last truck from Lakeshore returned to their fire house. There were still some fire fighters and equipment left at the fire scene to keep watch on hot spots and in case the wind would come up and spread the fire. My hat goes off to all those men and women, yes, there were some women fire fighters there too, for braving the fire and the heat.

The Walker Memorial Chapel took a big step forward on Sunday, July 25, when they took a vote during the morning service to determine if the members wished to constitute and become a church on their own or not. The Chapel has been operating as a Mission church with financial support from the First Baptist church of Bandera. Except for two votes, one against and one undecided, the vote carried to become a church on their own.

Mike Phipps, youth director for the Walker Memorial Chapel was admitted to the Humana Regional Hospital on Saturday, July 24. He was to possibly have surgery on Thursday, July 29.

The Walker Memorial Chapel will start a new training program on Wednesday, August 4, title: The Christian confronting the Cults. The first lesson will be "What is a Cult". This new program is a discipleship training program and gives study course credit for successful completion. Bro. Elmer Franks will be the teacher.

Special printing available of 'Historian' magazine

Are you a history buff? Do you like to reminisce about the good old days? Do you relish learning about your family history? Then you probably enjoy reading The Historian, the quarterly publication of the Bandera County Historical Commission.

For the past fifteen years, the Commission has been publishing this newsletter covering the history of the people and places of Bandera County.

As a special project, the Bandera Chamber of Commerce has had 57 issues of The Historian reprinted and bound in a ring binder for easy reference. A limited number of this collectors' edition are available for sale at the Chamber of Commerce office at 1206 Cypress.

"So many people asking for information about Bandera County want to know about historical sites, events and people," says Chamber president, Billy Walker. "Our history is one of our most valuable resources, and the chamber is proud to have had a part in the production of this collection."

Copies will be presented by the chamber the the Bandera County Library, the Frontier Times Museum, and the Bandera County Historical Commission.

Marie Moore and her staff of Bandera Printing designed and printed the collection.

If there is sufficient demand, more copies will be printed in the near future, says Moore.

98.6 percent of market value (selling price). The "true tax rate" was $1.385 ($1.405 times 98.6 percent) statewide.

Locally, the Bandera ISD imposed a rate of $1.36, and Medina ISD imposed a rate of $1.022, including .95 by the county education district. Property was appraised at 96.5 percent of its market value in Bandera, and appraised at 99.9 percent of its market value (selling price). The report points out that the calculation of a true tax rate based on market value rather than on appraised value is necessary to make a valid comparison of tax levels with other schools.

The tax on a house that would sell for $80,000 in Bandera ISD would have been $1,068; in Medina ISD, $818. If the homeowner were eligible for homestead exemptions, the tax would have been $851 in Bandera ISD and $615 in Medina ISD. That compares with statewide average tax bills of $1,078 and $854 respectively for an $80,000 house.

Last year, Bandera ISD's and Medina ISD's revenue from the property tax increased by 20.7 percent and 15.7 percent, respectively, for the 1992-93 school year, as compared to a 9.5 percent increase statewide.

For the coming school year, the local share is increased from the 82-cent rate by county education districts to an 86-cent rate levied by school districts. The percentage homestead exemption and freeport goods exemptions voted for CEDs will terminate. The legislature increased state aid an average of $3,990 for each additional student as compared to an average of $1,825 for all students last year.

Iowa FFAers traveled here

They were treated to chicken barbecue and an orchard tour

Love Creek Orchards manager Chip Landry explains to a group of FFA students from Iowa about techniques used in a high density apple orchard in the Texas Hill Country.

A group of 13 F.F.A. members from Mapelton, Iowa, along with sponsor Dennis Benson, made Bandera one of their stops on their 12-day trip through Texas. They were treated to a chicken barbecue by Telvy Robbins, and a tour of the orchards; the Texas Apple Growers Marketing Cooperative Processing Plant; and Love Creek Cider and Country Store in Medina.

The students select a different state to tour each year through voting. Texas won this year. Before arriving in Bandera, the FFA members had already selected an award winner for "most sunburned" after visiting Padre Island, and "the jalapeno pepper eating champ." Both the sunburn champ and the jalapeno champ said they were feeling rather low by the time they reached Bandera, but neither were willing to miss any of the activities planned.

Asked how the Texas Hill Country differed from their state, they named rocks, live oak and cedar trees, and roaming livestock and the amount of green. "Most of the livestock in our state is in barns and in pens around barns. Ninety percent of our land is farmable, not just sitting idle."

Students said Texas differed from what they expected. "We thought it would just be a flat desert," one of them explained.

"I thought it would be nothing but cotton."

"I was surprised to see so little cotton and so much corn, soybeans, sugar cane and milo."

Other students said they saw angora goats, cotton, rocks and race tracks for the first time on their Texas trip. They have traveled to California and South Carolina on prior trips and called the trip to Texas their "first trip south."

The Mapletown students made money for the trip by holding "slave auctions", selling fruit, and selling plants through the FFA greenhouse. A point system was used to select FFA members who were eligible to go. Points were based on sales, leadership qualities and community service projects.

Benson said the yearly trips are an excellent learning experience for students. "Besides learning about agriculture in other states," he said, "they are learning about the hospitality of people where we visit and about the generousity of people. We always get help wherever we go. Telvy Robbins treated us to a delicious barbecue. Everyone enjoyed it. And we camped out last night at the Beverage Barn."

She's a hero to them

Evelyn Kalka says she'd 'do it again'

Evelyn Kalka, of Bandera, is a hero to some Medina residents, but she says she would "do it again for anybody."

Barbara Walters, of Medina, had left her 18-month old son in the care of a babysitter. The baby sitter, who is a grandmother, went to Bandera with her daughter to run some errands. The women had Walter's son and the daughter's children, ages three and six, with them.

The daughter parked in front of the State Farm Insurance office on Highway 16 and went inside the building, leaving the grandmother in the car with the children. The grandmother started to get out of the car to stretch her legs when one of the children scrambled over the back of the front seat and accidently hit the gear shift, knocking it out of park.

When the car began rolling backwards towards Highway 16 with its precious cargo of young children, the grandmother tried to jump back into the car to stop it. The door knocked her down and the front tire ran over her arm.

Meanwhile, Kalka had turned into the parking lot at the State Farm office. She saw the car rolling towards her and honked her horn. The car kept coming. She suddenly realized that children were in the car, but no driver. The grandmother was screaming and trying to get back into the car.

Kalka moved her car out of the way and bailed out of it. She ran to the moving vechicle, opened the passenger door, and jumped in, stopping it.

"When I saw all those little children heading for the highway, I was scared. When someone is scared, they can do anything. I would do it for anyone."

She says it is the first time she has ever been pressed into acting in a dangerous situation. She disclaims the label of "hero." "I'm just thankful I have quick reactions."

Walters disagrees. She says that "the quick thinking and unselfish action quite possibly kept an unfortunate accident from becoming tragic. This woman saved my son's life. What can you say- what can you give someone who saves the life of someone you love?"

Fortunately, the grandmother has recovered from the incident and is fine.

what's rustlin'

on the trail with Bungy

Willie Nelson's song keeps coming to mind each morning-- "On the Road Again--" this week coming to you from Arizona and parts west.

This week we visited Bisbee, which was built in the 1880s around a copper mine. By 1900 it had 5,000 people, and in 1910 there were 20,000 people, mostly mine workers, all in this canyon that looks about half-a-mile wide by one mile long. Little houses (and mansions) cling to the sides of the canyon, with hundreds of steps leading up to some of them. The entire town has been declared a National Historic Monument. The quaint little town is still filled with art galleries, historic buildings, antique and gift shops, Indian artifacts and various eateries.

Wayne, of the "Pioneer Title Agency," faxed a column for us. He and his co-workers sit amongst beautiful, huge, handmade furniture and surroundings-- beautifully finished oak and walnut.

• The KOA campsite at Tombstone had wooden "tombstone" site markers, "Here lies #52," or "Here lies General Store," and the roadways were "Vigilante," "Outlaw," etc. We got to see "THE" Boot Hill before we left, and there were all kinds of markers saying "Killed by Indians," or giving the name of whoever killed him, or saying "Hanged by Sheriff _____," or even "Killed by knife-_____." Tombstone was certainly a wild and wooly town!

• On to Tucson and a tour of the "Sonoran Desert Living Museum." They depict several different types of desert life, including the Southwest and Mexican deserts. The tour took us along paths lined with desert flora and fauna, including all the animals, spiders, snakes (something like 17 varieties of rattlesnakes alone!), fish, lizards, birds, insects-- all portrayed in their natural habitat. The desert is certainly not as dead as it looks!

The next day it was "Old Tucson," where over 139 movies and TV series have been made. It looked like the real thing-- all different types of buildings including wooden, stucco, adobe, rock-- in all shapes and forms. There was even a boardwalk where the various stars have carved their names, like Bandera's "Trail of the Stars" (except we haven't gotten that far with ours yet).

Rudy Robbins had an idea for Bandera County-- the CVB or Chamber could pay a photographer to "do" all the unusual sites in Bandera, like the dude ranches, historic homes, old and new Main Street, the Silver Dollar, Lost Valley Ghost Town, Kelly Scott's ghost town and old wagon museum, and on and on... both video and still photos. Then, we present this to Austin's Texas State Film Commission, and send a copy to New York and Hollywood, too. Then they could use Bandera as a movie site a lot, and we could all be in the pictures. What fun! (And movie companies spend oodles of money, too...)

We in Bandera do not realize what we have to offer. At $23 for two people, plus hefty food prices, "Old Tucson", even 12 miles out in the desert in 100-degree-plus heat, sure draws the crowds.

• In Buckeye, we stayed in an RV park of 400 spaces, out in the middle of nowhere. Flat, flat, but beautiful sunset and sunrise with a swimming pool. We were the only overnight guests. Apparently, they don't do too well in the summer.

• As we crossed the border into California, and went through the agricultural inspection, we read in some tourist info that the reason California has been able to prevent the invasion of fire ants by "diligent searches" at the border. We counted about five ant mounds in the yard of the Chamber of Commerce at La Quinta, Calif., where we're staying for a few days. Apparently, the fire ants have just marched across the desert and survived. Terrible.

Time to go for a swim now in a pool dripping with bouganvilla. Adios!

Pipe Creek musician plans 16th year of entertaining at the Folklife Festival

She's an Irish redhead, a harp player, and a member of the Irish, Harp and Shamrock Society

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Carolyn Marshall's singing, harp-playing, and Irish-red hair make her an instant hit wherever she goes, but the Pipe Creek musician is not satisfied. "When a person is satisfied with their work," the entertainer says, "they quit trying to improve."

Marshall will perform at the Texas Folklife Festival August 5-8. It will be her 16th year at the festival. She is the stage manager for Stage 10, the British Isle stage. It features the "Irish, Harp & Shamrock Society."

Marshall holds a bachelor's and a master's degree from the University of Northern Colorado. She plays for the Concordia Lutheran Church in San Antonio and for weddings and private events of all kinds. "My music is my career. It's how I make my money. I'm not a starving musician. I put in 14 years teaching and earning a real living so I could do this. I love it. I get to accept the jobs I want to accept and get paid for what I love- playing."

She began her musical career at age 5, playing a keyboard. "My father loved to sing. I think he wanted me to learn to play so that I could play while he sang."

However, when her parents realized that she was headed into a musical career, they attempted to discourage it. "They were afraid it would not offer me financial security."

Marshall is happy that she followed her heart, and her music. "It's no so much that I'm talented, it's that I work hard. It takes hard work and practice."

And even though she says she is not a "starving musician", Marshall says she could have made more money in other fields and could make more even now- if she were willing to give up her music. "Kids today are monetarily motivated. Most of them are not willing to work so hard to succeed. When I was teaching, I had only a few students who were willing to really work."

Marshall's husband, William, is a teacher at San Antonio College. He, also, is Irish. He is the newly elected president of the Irish, Harp & Shamrock Society and will take office in October.

The Irish, Harp & Shamrock Society is a group of [illegible] members. They work to expand the knowledge of the Irish culture in Texas, and across the nation. They organize the St. Patrick's Day Parade, the River Dyeing (it is already green- they make it greener), and the Irish Festival, all of which are annual San Antonio events. They also participate in the Folklife Festival and will perform this year August 5-8, along with Marshall.

Marshall says the Irish, Harp & Shamrock Society was organized "exclusively for charitable, cultural and educational purposes." They award scholarships to Irish students. They also help support an orphanage, the St. Joseph's Children's Home, in San Antonio. Their goal is to "disseminate to the members, the local community and the State of Texas, a knowledge of Ireland and the Irish contribution to the development of this nation."

Music takes most of Marshall's time. She likes to write, sing and play songs which speak to her. She has mostly replaced her guitar playing with the harp. "People at the Folklife Festival will walk right by me when I'm playing the guitar. When I play the same song on a harp, they stop to listen. It's such an unusual instrument. People don't see it often."

Her musical favorites are classical and old folk music. "But I like all kinds. I just look for a song that speaks to me."

She also enjoys sewing, needle work, and taking care of pets. All the dogs and cats the Marshalls own are animals which have been "discarded" by other people. They have saved stray animals and animals which were waiting to be destroyed.

Since music takes so much of her time, Marshall has learned to use each minute. She has found the perfect time for working on crafts- while she is watching television. She wastes no time, there is no time to waste for a musician.

Her musical favorites are classical and old folk music. "But I like all kinds. I just look for a song that speaks to me."

She also enjoys sewing, needle work, and taking care of pets. All the dogs and cats the Marshalls own are animals which have been "discarded" by other people. They have saved stray animals and animals which were waiting to be destroyed.

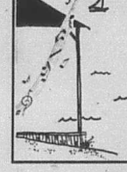

Since music takes so much of her time, Marshall has learned to use each minute. She has found the perfect time for working on crafts- while she is watching television. She wastes no time, there is no time to waste for a musician.

Tucson and a tour of an Desert Living They depict several different types of desert life, including the Southwest and Mexican deserts. The tour took us along paths lined with desert flora and fauna, including all the animals, spiders, snakes (something like 17 varieties of rattlesnakes alone!), fish, lizards, birds, insects-- all portrayed in their natural habitat. The desert is certainly not as dead as it looks!

The next day it was "Old Tucson," where over 139 movies and TV series have been made. It looked like the real thing-- all different types of buildings including wooden, stucco, adobe, rock-- in all shapes and forms. There was even a boardwalk where the various stars have carved their names, like Bandera's "Trail of the Stars" (except we haven't gotten that far with ours yet).

Rudy Robbins had an idea for Bandera County-- the CVB or Chamber could pay a photographer to "do" all the unusual sites in Bandera, like the dude ranches, historic homes, old and new Main Street, the Silver Dollar, Lost Valley Ghost Town, Kelly Scott's ghost town and old wagon museum, and on and on... both video and still photos. Then, we present this to Austin's Texas State Film Commission, and send a copy to New York and Hollywood, too. Then they could use Bandera as a movie site a lot, and we could all be in the pictures. What fun! (And movie companies spend oodles of money, too...)

We in Bandera do not realize what we have to offer. At $23 for two people, plus hefty food prices, "Old Tucson", even 12 miles out in the desert in 100-degree-plus heat, sure draws the crowds.

• In Buckeye, we stayed in an RV park of 400 spaces, out in the middle of nowhere. Flat, flat, but beautiful sunset and sunrise with a swimming pool. We were the only overnight guests. Apparently, they don't do too well in the summer.

• As we crossed the border into California, and went through the agricultural inspection, we read in some tourist info that the reason California has been able to prevent the invasion of fire ants by "diligent searches" at the border. We counted about five ant mounds in the yard of the Chamber of Commerce at La Quinta, Calif., where we're staying for a few days. Apparently, the fire ants have just marched across the desert and survived. Terrible.

Time to go for a swim now in a pool dripping with bouganvilla. Adios!

Upper Sabinal Ca[illegible]

We are all painfully aware that the Uvalde County landfill near Utopia is closing. The [illegible] day extension on the July 31st closing date according to county commissioner Ed Jones of Pct. 3. Asked why the county is closing the dump, Jones responds, "there are so many regulations its just financially impossible for small and medium landfills to stay in operation". The laws Jones speaks of are EPA laws enforced by the Texas Water Commission. If the dump is closed before Oct. 9th, the county will be able to minimize its responsibilities of monitoring the site for environmental impact. If closed prior to Oct. 9, the county is responsible for monitoring the landfill for 5 years only, and for covering it with enough dirt to support vegetation, and will have to monitor wells within one mile only if a complaint is received.

So what do Uvalde county residents do with their trash? Uvalde county is setting up a collection station at the present dump site that will accept bagged trash only, no refrigerators, etc. (Though the facility will accept tires.) The trash will then be trucked to Sabinal where it will be compacted and eventually find its way to a landfill near San Antonio. Jones says the collection station in Utopia should be operational by the time the landfill closes. Jones says the commissioners' court has not yet decided whether there will be a charge for the service.

What about Bandera County residents? Says Commissioner Bud Thompson of Pct.4, there is already a garbage gobbler in place at the closed site of the Bandera County landfill located a mile or two west of Medina on Hwy 337. The station is open Monday, Wednesday, and Saturdays. Examples of charges are as follows: large bag-50 cents; really large bag-$1.00; 1/2 ton pick-up truck full of bags-$10; 3/4 ton pick-up-$15; old refrigerators-$5. No tires or brush accepted. Thompson stated it might be feasible to get a dumpster set up closer to the west side of Bandera County and promises "people have to have some place to take their trash and we're gonna help them".

So your household trash has a home. What about your recyclables? Utopia School still welcomes and solicits your aluminum cans. Save them for the annual Coca-Cola can drive. The Senior Citizens also have a receptacle for cans behind their building.

One solution to the trash problem more people are expected to employ is trash burning. Gloria Swantner of Arriballa Ranch called last night to ask me to convey the warning to take care when burning trash or barbecuing in this dry, windy season. She had a very big grass fire come about four feet from her house, a couple of nights ago. The fire was put out and her home saved only because of the quick response of the Utopias Volunteer Fire Dept. It should be noted here that although private residence of rural counties are allowed to burn trash, it is against the law for businesses to burn trash, according to the Texas Air Quality Control Board.

The sale will be held in front of Utopia Sales & Service, starting at 9 a.m. $723.22 was earned at the garage sale in June, to get the project off to a good start.

4-Hers compete with record books

Three Bandera 4-Hers took first place at the district level with their 4-H project record books, and two local competitors, seniors Matt Sandidge and Windy Wagner, will advance to state level competition.

Some 13 Bandera County 4-H members were among the more than 200 4-H'ers whose record books competed at the District 13 4-H Record Book Judging.

In order to compete at the District level, record books must win their respective categories at the County level first.

A 4-H Record Book is a complete history of a 4-H'ers career, from their first year in 4-H to the present. Books are divided into categories such as Beef, Swine, Clothing, Foods & Nutrition, etc. Many hours of hard work go into completing a record book.

In the Senior division: Cody Doyle placed 5th in the Horse category; Matt Sandidge placed 1st in the dairy goat category; Lacey Sorrell placed 8th in the Beef category; Windy Wagner placed 1st in the Clothing.

In the Junior division: Cully Doyle placed 3rd in the Sheep & Goat category; Tara Miller placed 2nd in the Bread category; and Jason Thigpen placed 3rd in the Beef category.

In the Pre-Junior division: Kendra Bryson, 2nd place in Clothing; Charles Cohn, 4th place in Poultry; Brandi Crist, 3rd place in Rabbits; Kathryn Miller, 1st place in Dairy Goat; Katherine Murphy, 5th place in Horse; and Tara Thigpen, 6th place in Swine.

Other 4-H'ers whose books competed at the county level, but did not advance to District competition were: Michelle Knowles, Senior Beef; Ryan Doyle, Junior Sheep & Goat; Carrie Sandidge, Junior Beef; Tiffany Cohn, Pre-Junior Rabbits; Tanner Mullins, Pre-Junior Dairy Goat; Shane Patrick, Pre-Junior Poultry; Amanda Sorrell, Pre-Junior Swine; and Tiffany Sorrell, Pre-Junior Swine.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean

We are now in what is known at "Dog Days". Twenty nine days without rain here with very hot winds burning everything up. The nights cool somewhat with breezest.

Would like a correction on last weeks column which should have read "Mrs. Billy Farr" attended Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday-instead of spending the weekend in Mr. & Mrs. Bill Morris's home.

A lovely 70th wedding anniversary for Mr. & Mrs. Richard Tatsch of New Braunfels was celebrated at their home Sunday. Hosts were their daughters Gloria Sweeney of Kerrville, and Marilyn & Anton Haner of Tarpley. Sixty five friends and relatives were there to enjoy the happy occasion held in the yard.

Rev. & Glenn Rhines were happy to have old friends, Rev. & Mrs. Porter (Dave & Lila) from Pinole, Calif. visit them three days.

Visiting Elzie & Nettie Dean over the weekend and attending Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday, were Mrs. Mary Chism of Austin along with her daughter Dorothy Hasty and granddaughters Tara & Summer Hasty and Nancy & Kenneth Black of Spring. Nancy was the pianist for the morning service.

Other visitors to Tarpley Baptist Church were Virgil Beck of Baja, Mexico who is visiting Mr. & Mrs. Vern Shrock and daughter Kimberly, and Jennifer Riley of Corpus Christi who is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Riley.

Those on our sick list all last week were Rev. Don Spencer and your correspondent, myself.

BISD boards holds emergency meeting to purchase building

Possibility of overcrowded classrooms looms in BISD future

Bandera Independent School District Board of Trustees held an emergency meeting on Monday, July 26, for the purpose of opening bids for a 26' X 64' portable building for Alkek Elementary.

Superintendent James Stewart said the building was purchased entirely with federal funds from the Chapter I program and no local tax money was involved. "Chapter I is a special program to help kids who are behind grade level in language arts and math. By getting this building, we free up regular classrooms for expansion."

The building cost $35,930, and was purchased from the lowest bidder, Ramtech of San Antonio.

"The building was already built. If we had waited, it would have been sold and there would have been a delay while another one was constructed. It would not have been in place when school started. That's why we called the emergency meeting."

Elementary principal, Jack Massa, said that elementary enrollment stood at 777 on June 16. "We only had 696 by this time last year. We anticipate using all our space."

Massa said the current elementary building was designed for 800 students. "I am estimating that we will have 830 to 840 students this year. When they say the building was designed for 800, they don't take into consideration that not all classrooms can have 22 students. We have special needs students. They have to have a room, too. There might only be six to eight students in some of the classes."

Turner warns seniors at lunch about con artists, scams

Retired Houston judge, K.P. Turner, has lived in Pipe Creek for the past four years and spoke to senior citizens at the Silver Sage Corral on Tuesday, July 27, concerning con artists.

"If something looks too good to be true, it is," he warns. "You can't get something for nothing. It's just not going to happen."

Turner said that con artists target the over 65 population. "We have worked too hard to lose our money this way," he said. "If you do get taken by a con artist, REPORT it. Think of your neighbor. If you don't report it, they could be next."

He said the most frequent con games in San Antonio are carpet cleaning scams, where the "carpet cleaner" sells, rather than cleans, carpet; and "city inspectors" who find work that needs to be done in homes, then recommend a contractor.

Other scams are telephone businesses who ask for credit card numbers over the phone, then fail to deliver merchandise; and lottery ticket "winners" who want someone to purchase the ticket from them, then split the winnings. Magazine suscriptions sales persons and 900 telephone numbers are other possible con games.

"When you get approached by someone, ask how they got your name," Turner advised. "Ask them to explain the risk. Then ask them to send a brochure and let you study it. That will discourage them from contacting you.

"If it's a carpet cleaner, ask for a written estimate. If it's someone who says they are a city inspector, call the city and ask to speak to the inspector while they are still there. When you get off the phone and turn around, they'll be gone!

"Just use your imagination. Remember that you can't get something for nothing. If something seems to good to be true, it isn't true and it never will be."

Archaeological meeting Sept. 2

The Southern Texas Archaeological Association (STAA) 1993 Field School will be held in Castroville, Sept. 2-12. Newcomers and experienced volunteers will work side by side in the scientific excavation of several prehistoric and historic Indian campsites. Lab work and analysis of artifacts will also be conducted. The Quinta Medina site has already yielded artifacts more than 6000 years old. This year's excavation will be aimed at exposing the earliest living surfaces at the Quinta Medina site and a thousand year old occupation at the River Bluff site.

What is the greatest asset we have in our town? Industry? Business? Homes? Money? Possessions? Take your choice from this list, or any similar list, and you will have made a wrong selection.
Time and again it has been shown in every town that the greatest asset is friendly people. Friends and neighbors differ in type, of course. Some are solemn, serious. Others are cheerful, entertaining. Some are frivolous. Most are hopeful, sincere. Every town, of course, has some evil people. Spiteful people. They are FEW however, compared with the helpful, kindly, neighborly, dependable type. The sympathetic, merciful, considerate people try to keep friendships in constant repair.
[illegible] these friendly people of innate goodness [illegible] acceptance of God's friendship? Can there possibly be any greater asset anywhere for any one?
To our friends and neighbors we [illegible] you might have concerning the [illegible] thoughts you read here...

U.S. Senate OKs funding for border war on drugs

The U.S. Senate Appropriations Committee recently approved a $22 billion appropriations bill that contains major new funding for new border agents and inspectors along the Southwest Border and other programs designed to win the war on drugs in Texas, says U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

The legislation contains more than $1 billion to hire an additional 742 new U. S. Customs Service agents, inspectors and other employees nationwide, including 300 to be assigned to the Southwest Border.

Gramm noted that President Clinton's budget request for the U. S. Customs Service proposed to eliminate 642 Customs positions nationwide, including employees from the Southwest Border. If the Senate action today is agreed to by the House, it is likely to become law and erase the Customs personnel reduction proposal contained in the Clinton budget.

Other provisions of the bill include:

$66 million for two federally-designated High Intensity Drug Trafficking Areas (HIDTAs) in Texas, located in Houston and along the entire Southwest border. The funding will be used to enhance federal and local anti-drug efforts in target areas both in Houston and in Texas border cities and counties.

The legislation also contains an additional $3 million for design and engineering work on a new federal building-courthouse in Laredo. The new facility will house all the federal courts and court-related agencies, as well as a General Services Administration (GSA) field office.

The senator serves on the Senate Appropriations Committee.

Nine apple growers will participate in sixth annual Medina festival

Nine apple growers are participating in the 6th Texas International Apple Festival in Medina on Saturday, July 31.

Growers include: Jo Canter, Lazy C Orchards; Charles Weber, Jr.; Tom Klepfer, Home Orchard Nursery/Triple J D Ranch; Baxter Adams, Love Creek Orchards; Walter Wilson, Deer Valley Ranch; Dalton F. Neill, Rio Loco Orchards; Gary Kees, Burnett Orchards; Julie Dinse, Cool Water Acres; Larry and Robert Copenhauer, Circle 3 Ranch.

These growers are producing and providing the substance of which the apple festival is made...apples!

A wide variety of apples will be available on Saturday. Almost every type of food product that can be made from apples will also be waiting for festival-goers to enjoy.

Other food includes: frozen yogurt, fajitas, sausage-on-a-stick, barbecue, "rotator" potatos and taco salads. Home-made apple ice cream, apple pie, apple strudel, fried apple pie, and "Medina mac-apple taco" will also prove favorites.

All that- and yet- MORE! A children's area complete with a petting zoo; apple baking-making contests; antique displays and contests round out the activities.

But what would an event in Texas be without music? Entertainment will be provided by: the Hilltoppers; Silver Thistle Pipe and Drum Corps.; Spirit of Texas; Europa Trio; Delta Blue; Fifties Band; San Antonio Pipe and Drums; Star Canyon; Ledbetters; Bluegrass Gospel and Tennessee Valley Authority.

Tom Klepfer

Triple JD Ranch

The Triple JD Ranch is located approximately eight miles from Bandera, on the Elm Pass Road.

Tom Klepfer has been ranch manager for four years of the 12-year operation of Triple JD, and his list of qualifications for the job is long. He has a bachelor of science degree in agriculture and geology, and he laughingly refers to himself as an "oil industry drop-out.

"Except for a brief stint in the oil industry, I always worked in horticulture," Tom says. He came to the Bandera area from Victoria, where he worked at a large nursery. And he is a member of the Texas Association of Nurserymen, the International Dwarf Fruit Tree Association and the Texas Association of Apple Growers.

He says the apple industry in Texas has a "lot of potential for growth.

"Texas (apples are) just a drop in the market bucket," Tom says, adding that there is more market to be filled than apples that are currently being produced.

"There's an international market," he says. "Texas' early harvest dates make us unique in the world."

Two of the varieties grown in Texas include the Gala and Fuji apples, "the two most popular apples in the world," Klepfer says.

He is also hopeful about the "pink lady," a new apple variety from Australia. It has a 200 day growing season, which would make it compatible with the Texas Hill Country - if other conditions are right.

"It won't be available in the U.S. for a couple of years," Tom says, "and it may not do well here. Only time will tell."

Triple JD has one acre of apple orchards, ten acres of pecan orchards, and a large container nursery business featuring dwarf fruit trees. Their market is primarily wholesale, and Triple JD's customers include retail garden outlets across five states. Builder's Square, Home Depot and Wal Mart all sell Triple JD products; and you can buy Triple JD apples in HEB stores in Kerrville and Boerne, as well as in Boyle's Market in Bandera.

And their apples? Well, in 1990, Triple JD's entry won the "Best Apple" contest in the Texas International Apple Festival.

"We've been at the festival from the very first time," Tom says. "We've always supported it."

And this year will be no different. Triple JD Ranch will be in Booth 48, just past the Quilt Show exhibit near the main entrance.

There's a new feature at this year's Sixth Annual Texas International Apple Festival. It is called "Bushel Buddies."

When you make a purchase at the festival, a local service organization with "babysit" that bushel of apples or bulky gift purchased from one of the arts and crafts booths while you continue to enjoy the fun.

When you are ready to leave, the Bushel Buddy will deliver your purchase to your car in a little red wagon.

Bookshelf

Astrid Box

"Want to read more? Talk less. Keep a book in your briefcase, in your car. Get up 15 minutes early. Read a poem each night before dinner. Can't sleep? Don't count sheep. Read. Turn off the tube. Tune into books. Expand your horizons. Read for fun. Read for information. Use your library."
- Adapted from the American Library Association.

Apparently, many people in Bandera County are already "tuned into books." This past month, the Library issued 110 NEW PATRON cards! Last year (1992), our Library issued an average of 50 NEW cards per month!

With so many new people, I thought it about time to review some pertinent information about our Library. First of all, our hours are: Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday 8 a.m. until 5 p.m. We remain open during the lunch hour. On Wednesday, we open to the public at 12 noon. The staff, Linda Burrow, Judy Georg, and I are in the Library using those four hours to work on all the jobs that get the books here in the first place and on the shelf; maint- volumes of records, comp- , etc. etc. Saturday, we are open frpm 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

Any Bandera County resident may obtain a library card with no charge. Special provisions can be made for visitors and out-of-county residents, for a fee.

Library books are checked out for two weeks, as are books on tape, and periodicals (except the most recent issue). Videos may be checked out for two days. We have a Reference section and an extensive genealogy collection. All of these books must be used in the library, and cannot be checked out.

Renewals may be made over the telephone! Exceptions to this are the videos and books that have a reserve list. Yes, we can and will reserve a book for you.

We have a book drop out front that is open 24 hours a day, 365 days a year. A book becomes AUTOMATICALLY overdue, (if it was due that day) when it is returned AFTER the Library is closed. Fines are 10 cents a day per book. Videos are $1.00 for each day overdue. Fines are AUTOMATICALLY recorded on our computer. They do not "go away" unless and until they are paid ie., even if you have not used the library in a very long time. I would also like to remind everyone, fines help support your library and buy new books. Budgets are tight everywhere, and the library is no exception.

Among the "services" we provide - a paperback book exchange, interlibrary loans, videocassettes and large print books on circuits from the San Antonio Area Library System, storytime during the school year for the pre-schoolers, and a Summer Reading Program for the children. We also offer GED and ESL classes. They are held in the Library from August through May.

In many areas of the country, libraries are closing for lack of funds, are having to curtail services, or charge for their services. Fortunately we are still able to offer many services - all at NO CHARGE to the patron!

Grandpa's wisdom...
by Carilee Robbins

My great, great Grandpa Fields had some corn on the cob, harvested and in the crib. He began to miss some of the corn. After a few days he decided to put a trap in the hole, at the top of the crib where the corn was being taken out. He placed the trap in the hole and secured the trap. A few mornings later, John Newton went out and there was his thief, with his hand in the trap, his arm and hand at the top of the crib, his feet just touching the ground. John Newton never scolded the man or mentioned the fact that he had caught his corn thief in the act. He said, "My wife has breakfast about ready, you had better come in and eat with us!" Then he helped the man out of the trap.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE
Love Thy Neighbor...

"Leave no claim outstanding against you, except that of mutual love. He who loves his neighbor has satisfied every claim of the law."

— Romans 13

St. Paul, the widely-traveled apostle to the Gentiles, wrote that letter perhaps 50 years after the death of Christ, and yet it still has a profound impact today. In that epistle, the worldly, well-educated man from Tarsus also exhorts the Romans to "Discharge your obligations to all men; pay tax and toll, reverence and respect, to those to whom they are due." Many of Paul's letters deal with Christian law. All of the commandments he said, could be summed up in the admonition to love one's neighbor as you love yourself. "Love cannot wrong a neighbor; therefore, the whole law is summed up in love," he said. In a troubled, modern world, we could do a lot worse than to heed his words.

Sports

NASCAR greats will appear at San Antonio Speedway

A once in a lifetime opportunity to meet several of NASCAR's greatest Winston Cup drivers is coming to San Antonio Speedway this Sat. night, July 31.

Cale Yarborough, Neil Bonnett, Rusty Wallace, Kenny Wallace, Derrick Cope, Jimmy Spencer and San Antonio's own Eddie Bierschwale are scheduled to be available for autographs and photos from 4 p.m. through 6 p.m. under the large Miller Genuine Draft hospitality tent to be set up at the speedway.

Later in the evening the NASCAR Winston Cup stars will take over the stock cars usually driven by the track's NASCAR Late Model competitors for a special 25 lap race. Rusty Wallace, who is currently locked in a struggle for the Winston Cup championship with Dale Earnhardt, will not be able to compete due to his Winston Cup contract. He will, however, be the starter for the special event and provide commentary during the race.

A large crowd is expected for this special event and NASCAR officials are urging fans to arrive early.

In addition to the Winston Cup out of town stars, the Winston Racing Series drivers who normally compete at the paved half-mile oval will also be in competition. The lightning-quick NASCAR Late Models, the thundering Super Street Stocks and the rough and tumble Charger cars will compete in heat races and main events.

Tickets, available at the speedway's front gate, are $18 for adults, $15 for Senior Citizens and military, $8 for children 12 and under. Kids five and under will be admitted free.

Golf benifit for jockey raises over three grand

A golf tournament at Lost Valley Ranch Monday, July 26 raised more than $3,000 to benifit jockey David Shepler, who suffered head and arm injuries during an early morning workout Saturday, July 10 at Bandera Downs.

Sixteen teams of four players each payed $15 a person to play and $6 apiece for a barbecue dinner to help out the badly injured racer.

The winning team members were Butch Hendrickson, Tim McGrath, Lewis Ferguson and Walter Shofner who carded a 29 on a par 36 round.

Shepler was hurt when his mount bolted and threw Shepler over the barrier rail. He was flown to Bexar County Medical Center by a Lifeline helicopter. His injuries are expected to sideline the jockey for three to four months, said a track spokesman.

Teams tie for weekly scramble honors at Flying L tournament

Two teams tied for first place and three teams were deadlocked for second place in the bi-weekly scramble July 20 at Flying L Guest Ranch.

Jerry Edwards, Elaine Gardiner, Dick Brestel, Warren Healer and Melvin White fired a nine-under-par 63 to tie the team of Jack Finger, Jim Pittman, Kyle Hults and Bill Kelley.

Tied for second place were the teams of Charley Wilson, Art Brown, Burt Bednarz and Mike Gavlick; Pete Suddath, Neal King, Marvin Hadash, George Driffel and Dick Bachmeier; and Lee Finch, Hooter Clayton, Ed Clark and Jim Driskill. Each of those teams had six-under-par 67.

Next tournament for the Over 50 gang is set in Devine at 9 a.m. on Wednesday, Aug. 4.

Membership in the Association is open to both men and women golfers over 50 years of age. Dues are $10 annually and scramble fees are $18 per tournament including green fee and cart.

For additional information, new members are invited to call the pro shop at Devine Municipal course or Bandera Flying L.

Riddle of the day...

What do antique cars and tractors have to do with apples?

It's the riddle of the day on Saturday, July 31. What do antique cars, antique engines, antique tractors and quilts have to do with apples?

The answer is easy. All of the above will be present at the 6th Texas International Apple Festival at the apple festival grounds in Medina.

The San Antonio Antique Car Club will be showing antique cars.

Gordon Green will display antique engines and tractors. A display of antique buggies, sponsored by Sims Spurs, is also slated for the festival.

Quilt makers now have another place to show off their work. The Quilt Show and Contest at the apple festival will be directed by the Bandera County Quilt Guild.

Sizes for the quilt contest are: large (twin size or larger); small (juvenile, wall hangings and crib quilts); and coverlets (yo-yo's, catheral and crazy quilts). Other quilts, not entered in the contest, will also be on display.

The San Antonio Living History Association will be at festival

The San Antonio Living History Association will present a "Story" at the 6th Texas International Apple Festival. It is sponsored by MacNaughton Insurance.

The living history group warns that their presentation is "a 'Story': any similarity to fact or fiction is intentional" as they depict life in 1842.

By July, 1842, they write, The Mexican Army was on the move again. General Adrian Woll had crossed the Rio Grande and his 1,200 men were marching towards San Antonio.

A group of settlers "covering" in San Antonio (on their way to settle farms and orchards in the valleys below the head waters of the Medina River) were being persuaded by local merchants and leading citizens to take a large store of gunpowder, lead and other critical supplies, including one cannon and shot.

Just one day after their arrival at the selected area (a wide, green valley with many pecan tree groves below the cool, clear head waters of the Medina River) a working camp was set up and the settlers were marking sites for their permanent homesteads.

Gen. Woll captured San Antonio on September 11. On September 18, Hays and Caldwell, with about 42 Texas Rangers and 200 volunteers, defeated Woll. Shortly afterwards, he returned to Mexico, making the last venture into Texas of the Mexican Armies.

Apples, sunshine, and smiles from Lanky, the Clown

It's all at 6th Texas International Apple Festival

Lanky the clown will add smiles and fun to the family oriented apple festival in Medina on Saturday, July 31.

He is an award winning auguste clown, with over 10 years of professional clowning experience. Lanky has appeared at children's birthday parties, company picnics and night clubs. He has acted as master of ceremonies for pageants, festivals and conventions. He has also participated in "clown walkarounds."

Lanky is a member of Clowns of America International, Inc., the Texas Clown Association, Inc., and his local chapter of The Clown Alley. Through these associations, Lanky has earned top honors in competitions in the state of Texas and internationally.

During the 1990 and 1991 seasons, Lanky participated in goodwill tours. He entertained in hospitals and orphanages in Russia and Estonia.

The 1993 season includes a return visit to those countries. He will join a relief team going to missions in Guatamala. His quick wit and sweet, yet poignant, personality make him a hit with ages 3 to 103- and upward!

A few of Danny Kollaja's honors- as Lanky- include high placing in skit competitons, makeup competitions; being selected for a judge at Clowns of America International, Inc.; and being a participant in Goodwill clown tours in Russia.

Pat Garland's Family Tree Puppet Company to perform

Pat Garland's Family Tree Puppet Company will perform at the 6th Texas International Apple Festival on July 31. The original puppet show will take place on the Johnny Appleseed Stage at 10 a.m.

Garland has been interested in puppets since she was an elementary school student. Their use in teaching and communicating became evident to her during her college years at Southwestern University in Georgetown, where she majored in Christian Education and received a bachelors degree. She will return to college Fall, 1993, to earn a master's in social work at Our Lady of the Lake University.

She is involved in professional puppetry in San Antonio, and has been since 1979. She worked with other puppet companies before starting her own.

Garland has performed for schools, businesses, churches, libraries, birthday parties, and other events and festivals. She gives workshops for schools, churches and other groups interested in puppetry.

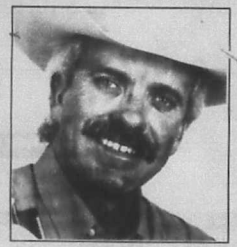

She helped develop the puppet theatre at the Institue of Texan Cultures where she continues to serve as Puppetry Consultant, and , also, as a volunteer.

She has been married for 25 years. Pat and husband, Roger, have a daughter, Jenny, who is a junior theatre major at Texas Christian University.

This team won the first annual Try-Apple-On Games. This year, teams of two will face an obstacle course including limbo, apple bobbing, apple munching and apple carrying. The team with the best time and the most apples wins the competition. "If you can't afford to go see the Olympic Festival, come to the apple festival and see this olympic-style competition for just a $2 fee to get in the gate," says festival coordinator Genie Strickland.

A little festival background...

The Texas International Apple Festival began in 1980 when local ranchers and farmers began successfully growing apples in Medina.

Medina is a small community of approximately 250 people in the Texas Hill Country.

When the apple trees were large enough to bear fruit in 1988, a group of citizens decided to celebrate the harvest. Texas is the only state in the U.S. to offer fresh apples in July! So on the last Saturday in July, 1988, the First Texas International Apple Festival was held on the banks of the Medina River.

By 1989, the apple industry had grown so much that the Texas Department of Agriculture named Medina the Apple Capital of Texas. This year marks the sixth year of the annual celebration. The festival is still held on the banks of the Medina River on the last Saturday in July. It has gone from an attendance of 2,000 in 1988, to an estimated 22,000 in 1992.

It is a remarkable accomplishment that the small community of Medina is able to stage an event of this size with only the work of committed volunteers.

The primary purpose of the festival is to promote the growing apple industry in Texas. The festival is also a major economic generator for the Hill Country and Bandera County.

Money generated by the festival provides scholarships to graduating seniors. It helps keep the volunteer fire department in good repair and helps with EMS. It provides community activities: putting up Christmas decorations and planting wildflowers. It also provides for service organizations: Special Olympics, the Palmer Drug Abuse Program, Rotary, the Lions Club and senior citizens groups.

There is always a high attendance of senior citizens at the festival, and of young families with children. For this reason, no alcoholic beverages are served. Wholesome family entertainment is featured. Because of this, many people are attracted to the Texas International Apple Festival who stay away from other festivals.

Tennessee Valley Authority

TVA - not a utility company, but a bluegrass band

The Tennessee Valley Authority will perform at the 6th Texas International Apple Festival in Medina on Saturday, July 31. They will appear on the River Stage at 5 p.m.

The TVA began 20 years ago with Hank Harrison. Over the years, the band has won numerous awards and contests including the prestigious national bluegrass band championship in Louisville, Kentucky. It has toured with Peter Rowan, Jerry Douglas, Uncle Josh Graves and Kenny Baker. It has made numerous recordings including the Ridgerunner album, "Flying South", with Josh Graves and Kenny Baker.

Hank Harrison plays the mandolin and fiddle. He is a San Antonio native and learned to play guitar at an early age. He and his brother Jeff heard a local bluegrass group in the early 70s and were motivated to learn to play bluegrass. They put TVA together. By 1972, they had played their first professional gig.

Joe Gonzales plays guitar. He is accomplished in jazz and classical guitar. Also a San Antonio native, he is a graduate of the music program at North Texas State University. He joined TVA in 1992.

Keith Kimbell, a 5-string banjo player, was born in Louisiana. He began playing at age 8. The eldest of five children, he played banjo in the Kimbell Family Band. He later toured with fiddler Jana Jae and played on the Grand Ole Opry. He is both guitarist and singer, prefering to bring a Cajun-style twist to bluegrass.

Mary Ann Cornelius plays bass. She also is from San Antonio. She began playing bluegrass music in 1978 when she performed with the award-winning Blue Ridge Connection. She has a long career in base, bluegrass performance and studio recording.

Europa Trio's music includes both classical and popular sounds of Europe

The Star Canyon Band, of San Angelo, plays "just a touch of bluegrass music." Group members include Jeff Simmons, guitar; Joe Kitts, mandolin; Randy Blackwood, banjo; and Jim Simmons, bass. The group will appear on the River Stage starting at noon.

For nearly eight years, the Europa Trio (formerly the Austin Gypsies) has brought the flavor of Europe to the Sunday Brunch at the Stouffer Hotel in the Arboretum. Their repertoire includes both classical and popular sounds of Europe with music ranging from Gypsy czardas to Strauss waltzes. The violin, accordion and guitarron trio is dynamic.

Javier Chaparro, originally from Lima, Peru, was born into a family of professional musicians. An instinctive love for music led him to study violin at the conservatory in his native city. Later, pursuing a classical career, he performed with orchestras all over Latin America and most notably with the fine Arts Threatre Orchestra in Mexico City for six years. He has been an Austin resident since 1982, and is the Concert Master of the Brazos Valley Symphony Orchestra, a member of the Austin Symphony and the Austin Lyric Opera Orchestra. He also performs with other classical music ensembles all over the U.S.A., France, Austria and Germany. His violin playing gives the Europa Trio its distinctive sound.

Stephen Jarrard was born in Houston. He brings more than 25 years of professional musicianship to the Europa Trio. His specialities are country, Cajun, gypsy, mariachi and other American and International folk music styles. He has degrees in antropology and law from the University of Texas and is a licensed attorney. His main instrument is the guitarron (Mexican acoustic bass guitar) which generates a lot of audience interest because of its size and sound.

Franci Jarrard, a native Texan, joined the group in May, 1991. Although she is a relatively new accordionist (only seven years) she brings to the group over 20 years of professional music experience. She has played in a variety of bands, singing backup vocals on Nanci Griffin's album "Light Beyond These Woods". Her ability to mix classic and popular music styles makes her a welcomed addition to the Europa Trio.

The Europa Trio will perform at 3 p.m. on the Orchard Stage, which is sponsored by H.E.B. stores.

Texas Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry inspects a Bandera County grown apple during the best apple judging at the sixth annual Texas International Apple Festival in Medina Saturday, July 31. Tickets were still being counted at press time, but festival officials expect this year's attendance to top 20,000 visitors for a third year in a row. Racing commission vs. Bandera Downs:

'Lack of cooperation' charges took him by surprise, track general manager Billy Bowers says

By Janna Sandidge
Bulletin Editor

Citing lack of cooperation with state law enforcement investigations as the chief reason, the Texas Racing Commission Monday delayed awarding Bandera Downs any race days for the 1994 racing season.

But according to a statement issued Tuesday by a Bandera Downs official, the Bandera track was unaware of any problems until they surfaced at Monday's meeting.

Texas Department of Public Safety chairman and TRC board member Ronald Krist told the commission that a series of improper events, including the failure to assist in a DPS investigation of an alleged money-laundering operation, factored into the decision. Krist also cited as reasons a $2,500 match race run in violation of commission rules and the obstruction of a horse at the start of a race.

"It's a whole series of things, not just one incident, that's got us upset with reference to the measure of cooperation that we think we're entitled to as a state law enforcement agency," Krist explained. "That's why they're not getting my vote without some explanation or some showing that they're going to mend their ways."

Bandera Downs general manager Billy Bowers indicated Tuesday that the charges at Monday's TRC meeting took him completely by surprise, and he said that Bandera Downs will continue the remainder of the 1993 racing season regardless of the outcome of future decisions by the TRC.

"We were not aware of any complaint or problem between Bandera Downs and law enforcement until yesterday at the commision meeting in Austin," Bowers said. "We have asked for that portion of the transcript so that we may respond to the allegations.

"We have always complied with any request of (TRC) immediately and accurately and will continue to do so."

Opinions seem to differ as to the cooperative spirit that exists at Bandera Downs. Earlier this year, there was much discussion between Bandera County Commissioners and Bandera Downs about traffic control on State Hwy. 16 at the race track's entrance-- commissioners and Bandera County Sheriff James MacMillan apparently felt that the track should foot the bill for the extra manpower needed for traffic control, while racetrack officials indicated that they felt that Bandera Downs' contribution to the local economy justified the county's expenditure.

And other similar problems have plagued the relationship between Bandera Downs and the surrounding residents. According to Bandera County Judge Ray Mauer, there were "several instances when there were problems" with the drainage from Bandera Downs

High school student Marion Santos, a senior, sets a courageous example for his classmates as he gets a shot from Sherry Hayes. It's not just "little kids" that need to be immunized, RN Hayes explains. "And it's important to get caught up on immunizations before school starts this month." Immunizations are given every Wednesday in Bandera at the Texas Department of Health from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. A special clinic will be held in Medina on Saturday, August 7 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. It will be held at the Garden Center in town. Angry snake bites woman as she reaches into washer

Bandera County Tax Assessor-Collector Marguerite Stevens found more than clothes in her washing machine on Thursday, July 29. When she reached into the machine for the second time to remove more clothes, an angry snake bit her.

"I had just washed a load of clothes," she explained. "I had taken some out. I reached in for more and felt something sting me. I went into the kitchen and looked at my finger to see if it had been a stinging scorpion. It wasn't, so I got a flashlight and looked down in the washing machine. It was a snake."

Stevens said the snake looked like a rattler. "Even the EMS thought it was a rattlesnake at first. I want to tell you, 911 works. The got here quickly. They even killed the snake. I was really pleased with everything."

Once the snake had been captured and killed, it was determined that it was non poisonous. Still, Stevens took the two foot long rat snake with her to the hospital in Kerrville.

"They checked me over real good to make sure everything was alright. Some people say those snakes don't bite. I want to tell you, they DO bite. That one nailed me real good."

Stevens was given a tetnus shot and released from the hospital. She was back at work the next day. "I'm glad today is Friday. This whole week has been like this."

'Bandera needs airport,' official says

Texas Department of Transportation study shows need; county judge stresses no tax dollars

Charles Riordan, [illegible] Texas Department of Transportation, Aviation Division, says that the feasibility study completed by his department indicates a need for an airport in Bandera County. "There is a need for an airport in Bandera County," Riordan said, "it is earmarked for next year."

By "earmarked for next year," Riordan means that at the end of [illegible] ment will send a request for the project into the [illegible] Transportation Commission. Once approved by that department, requests will be sent out to consulta[illegible]

Co[illegible] resumes. Riordan said it will be up to a Bandera County selection committee to pick the best consultant. "From there, the planning will begin."

County Judge Ray F. Mauer said that it is important for Bandera county residents to [illegible] aside for airports ONLY. If we don't take it, someone else will. It can't be used for anything [illegible] improving of airports.

[illegible] the paper about why we can't fix their road instead of building an airport need to realize that the grant can't be used for road work and it's not county money. It comes from a fee on the sale of aviation gas. Anyone who buys aviation gas pays the [illegible] That fund is set aside for [illegible] airports. That's how Kerrville and Fredericksburg updated their airport. Now Hondo, Boerne and [illegible] airports. Whatever projects are [illegible] from that fund."

Clean up your act, he says

Dear editor:

We had the occasion to drive through the little town of Shiner a few weeks back. A sign on the road stated, "cleanest town in south Texas." They are proud people who work at making their little city look good—they are proud of it.

Certainly, we in Bandera County are pleased with our native beauty and country side. We do not show it. The roads are littered with trash. Our highway parks are trash until the department cleans them every Monday. I have not had the occasion to visit the City Park, but I can guess that pick up crews are necessary to keep it in order.

Let us get the volunteers out to clean up our roads and lets get the state law working that states "$250 fine for litter." The road all along highway 16 is constant litter, especially coming into town along the track from east and along Mansfield park coming in from the west.

Surely there are civic groups, school groups that wish to keep Bandera a place for which to be proud—not a dump ground.

The highway department encourages clean up groups. Let's do it!

Why ban smoking? she asks

Dear Editor,

741 questionnaires sent, 318 not returned. Simple math tells us that 423 were returned. 176 against smoking in public places, 50 against the proposed ordinance, 199 having no concern does not add up to 423. They add up to 425.

That speaks very poorly for our educational system. A councilman cannot add and subtract, and no one at the Bulletin caught it.

I am pointing this out to question the Council's priorities. Smoking is a personal choice. Tobacco products are legal. They are also a huge source of tax revenues. Why is the Council getting involved with this issue anyway? Are the members seeking to gain power to feel important at the expense of a person's right to make a personal choice?

I very much resent elected officials putting their noses in personal choice issues. I do not care whether it is smoking, teaching kindergartners about homosexuality, or transferring assessed property values to other school districts. These things should not be governmental issues. Especially when an official cannot add and subtract.

Another point to be made about banning smoking in all public places: Banning smoking will hurt a lot of businesses - restaurant* and bars especially, but it will hurt the barber and beauty shops, too. Mansfield Park - about as public as I can think of - will suffer, too. Main Street is a public place. Are you willing to say that a person cannot smoke in their car when they drive through town? enforcing that would be most amusing!

Government needs to get back to the real issues - quality of education, public safety through law enforcement and building inspections, maintaining roads, and conservation of our precious natural resources - and stop invading our right to made personal choices.

Question to ask oneself while gingerly spraying and disposing of a big black trash sack full of fireants pausing on their way through the wall into the kitchen: Would you rather have fireants on the back stoop in Texas or a half-grown bear knocking over the cans under the deck in Colorado? That is the summertime choice WE have. Frankly, we nominate the bear as Enemy of Choice right now.There are only a few bears really and they usually go away. Fireants do not ever go away.

Critters seem to be on the move everywhere these days. Perhaps the climate is changing. Despite usurpation of wildlife habitat by people, or most likely because of it, our last big American cat, the mountain lion or puma, is moving north and east in Texas from mountain and border areas and, up in the Rockies, from formerly pristine heights down into yuppie subdivisions in the foothills outside Denver.

The press reported the sighting of an adolescent bear crossing the highway in plain sight of motorists out by Mountain Home recently. It had previously been noted that bears, long gone from Texas, were coming back across the Rio Grande into border areas, especially out in the Big Bend. It appears they're following the canyons up into out Edwards country now also.

Texas Tech scientists have found fireants lately up in the South Plains and the Panhandle, formerly believed to be too dry in summer and too cold in winter for the evil insect hordes. Will fireants learn to live in snow?

Bob Padgett would argue with our condemnation of the fireant armies as evil hordes. He says they have done away with ticks, scorpions, and other vexing vermin, since they eat every molecule of protein in their environs. But—they also devour baby birds, attack the young of all animals, wild and domestic, get into pecans—and make camping out on the ground a virtual impossibility. Who could even sit down on a rock ledge for five minutes around here without being bitten?

As for bears and lions coming into our hills—they used to be here. Policarpo Rodriguez, the old scout of Privilege Creek, wrestled a bear in a cave and wrote about it in his book. Some people even lately have reported seeing pumas or their tracks close by to habitations near Bandera.

It goes against White Anglo Protestant tradition to allow any predator to live. We all can be predators, but no other creatures can, it seems. But somehow, it is sort of thrilling to think there might be a lion lurking under the cliff or a bear crossing Privilege Creek to get to the other side, as of yore.

There are so many man-made dangers surrounding us against which we seem to be able to do so little, a bear or a lion might be a pleasant change.

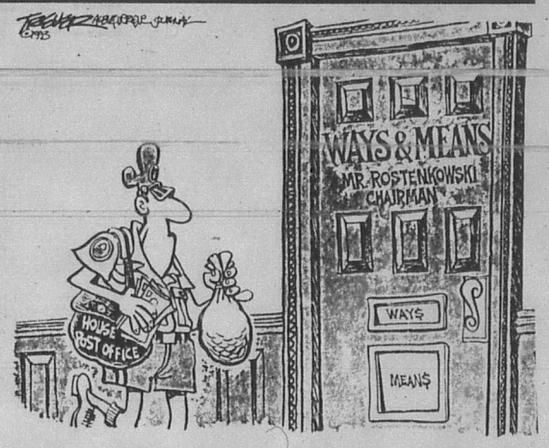

Which reminds us of the TV preacher who recently declared that the Missouri-Mississippi floods were God's punishment for the US law permitting abortion. We can't help being so daring as to wonder if God put fireants here to punish Texans for being such mean-spirited rednecks and killing all the lions and bears.

A look back into Bandera's past...

Oh, those changing times... From prices, to travel, to race relations, to everyday word useage, times change. Examples of that change are common in The Bandera New Era of 1923 • Take prices, for instance. Thirteen pounds of sugar sold for $1. Fifty pounds of White Wing flour was $2.10. Best Peaberry coffee cost 28 cents • The New Era reported in February that "Uncle Gabe Anderwald dropped by Monday to see the New Era's linotype in operation. It was 68 years ago that he landed in Bandera, coming over with the original colonists from Poland. He has been here ever since. He says Bandera is good enough for him." • Also in February, "Sheriff Henry Stevens arrested a man...who had in his possession about a gallon of the forbidden oil of gladness, and some of it was inside him." • "A debate was held at the Camp Verde School by 6th and 7th graders. They debated the question, "Is the Ku Klux Klan of any benefit to our country?" • The March 9 issue carried this story: "While Lee Mansfield's truck was standing in front of his store...some miscreant, running over with cussedness, gave it a push...it ran down the hill into the draw." • April found "Dave Cox perambulating around town." • An ad in the same issue coaxed buyers to "get a bathtub and sink and make the wife happy." • The May 24 issue ran this story on the front page. "a colored couple of this community suddenly decided to get married, being prompted in their decision by grand jury action. The anxious and excited couple found a preacher of their own race and were made man and wife, and the parentage of a little pickininny was legalized." • Judge Neff signed a bill in June, 1923, to outlaw hanging. All persons condemned to die in Texas were to be electrocuted. • How about this headline from the August 16 issue: "Nepharious custom writes good letter, The Bugscuffle Philosopher says he enjoyed the Old Settler's Reunion." • Also in August, "Bennie Bierbaum, the well known peddler turned his truck over on the Medina County portion of the Bandera-San Antonio Highway Sunday." • And a 1,128-acre ranch sold for $9.50 an acre.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Attorney General Dan Morales' opinion clarifying a new state ethics law brought a sigh of relief from some 2,000 Texas school board members who would have been forced to resign if they held at least 10 percent of stock in a business that contracted with their school district.

School officials endured a one-week wait for the opinion, in which Morales said the law was intended to apply to trustees who personally benefit from contracts awarded by school boards.

"It really is only that instance where there's a clear conflict of interest — some sort of motivation or even where the appearance of impropriety exists ...," Morales said.

Under an older and still applicable law, however, school board members must disclose potential conflicts of interest and must not vote on matters involving a "substantial interest" in a business seeking a contract with the school district. Under the law, if 10 percent of a family's income is derived [illegible] tial interest exists.

But the new law is written to prevent school trustees from serving who have "significant interest" in [illegible] Meanwhile, there will be cause for concern if school board candidates try to use the law to force incumbents out of office, according to Buck Wood, legal counsel for the Texas Association of School Boards.

Kubiak Solicits Credit Unions

Texas House Appropriations subcommittee chairman Dan Kubiak, D-Rockdale, last week had some explaining to do regarding a letter he sent to credit unions across the state, asking the institutions to donate $100 each to a credit union in his home county. Kubiak's subcommittee oversees Texas credit unions.

But Kubiak said the letter was only an attempt to help his constituents, and furthermore, none of the credit unions that received letters sent donations to the Milam County Credit Union.

The 300-member minority-owned Milam County Credit Union which Kubiak helped organize needed to build its capital reserve account, from which loans of less than $100 are made, he said.

Terry Young, spokesman for the Texas Credit Union League, said, "We've seen the letter, and we don't feel there is any undue pressure. I think he is just trying to utilize an avenue to help a credit union build capital."

Also responding to the letter, Texas Republican Party spokeswoman Karen Hughes said Kubiak "is clearly abusing the power of his office," and Common Cause of Texas executive director Suzy Woodford said, "I think this is probably something Dan would have been better [illegible] rector of the Texas office of the watchdog group, Public Citizen, also called Kubiak's letter inappropriate.

Richards Urges Appointees

Gov. Ann Richards in a memorandum last week reminded more than 100 people she appointed to state boards

She urged appointees to be independent and to make decisions for the good of all Texans, including giving women and minorities the opportunity to win state contracts. "We don't have an agenda here about who you do business with, but we do have an agenda that you open up the business of the State of Texas and make it available to everyone."

Richards also reminded the group that what they do in the office is a "direct reflection of what the governor's office is, and what it stands for."

Parker Plans Not Settled

Responding to rumors that he may not seek re-election, Sen. Carl Parker, D-Port Arthur, last week said, "The practice of law is becoming increasingly burdensome and complicated, as is serving in the state Senate."

Parker, 59, was elected to the state Senate in 1976, and before that served 13 years in the Texas House of Representatives.

He is chairman of the Economic Development Committee and serves on the finance and jurisprudence committees.

Parker said he would consult with family, friends and the citizens of the 4th Senatorial District before making a final decision.

I got an unusual call this week from a place that I've been to only once--Manchester, England. A woman named Sharon Smith (I know, it sounds fictional, doesn't it?) is looking for pen pals.

Sharon owns the Mercedes Modeling Agency, and she heard about Bandera "from a friend." She plans to come here for a visit at [illegible] says she is "absolutely mad for country and western music." She's originally from Wales.

"Eventually I want to settle down in the U.S.A. -- perhaps in Bandera, she says."

Public asked to consider district court boundaries

[illegible] scheduled to receive public comment on changing the boundaries of the district courts within the Sixth Administrative Region. That region extends to Kerrville in the Texas Hill Country, and one of the tentative plans will affect Bandera.

The first meeting will be held in Kerrville on August 16 at 11 a.m. at the Kerr County District Courtroom. The second meeting will be held in El Paso on August 20 at 10 a.m. at the County Courthouse. Judge William E. Moody, Presiding Judge of the Sixth Administrative Judicial Region and the 34th District Court in El Paso scheduled the hearings. He encourages all interested citizens, public officers and elected officials to attend.

Moody says that the first plan, which has tentative approval now, will not affect Bandera County at all. However, plan B will create a district which will include: Bandera, Kerr, Kimble, Mason, Gillespie, Blanco and Kendall counties. Judge Able and Judge Prohl, both of Kerrville, would share joint jurisdiction in all those counties.

Currently, Bandera falls in District 216. Bandera, Kerr, Gillespe and Kendall are under the jurisdiction of Judge Able. Kerr county, alone, is under the jurisdiction of both Able and Prohl.

Moody said that he does not se a "big, big change for Bandera County either way." He adds, "The Sixth Region covers a large and diverse area stretching from Kendall county just north of San Antonio all the way to El Paso. Judicial redistricting is a sensitive and complicated issue. We need to hear from all interested citizens."

This statewide judicial [illegible] the state has been redistricted since the days of the Republic of Texas.

The citizens of Texas adopted a new constitutional amendment in 1565, requiring the state Legislature to enact a "...statewide reapportionment of the judicial districts following each federal decennial census."

This same constitutional provision established a new Judicial Districts Board to reapportion the district courts of the state if the Texas Legislature fails to do so within three years of the federal census. As the Legislature did not adopt a plan for judicial redistricting, the constitutional provisions automatically directed the Judicial Districts Board to perform this task and to submit a completed report no later than August 31.

The judicial Districts Board is composed of the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, the Presiding Judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals, the President of the Texas Judicial Council, each of the presiding Judges of the nine Administrative Judicial Regions and one lawyer appointed to the board by the Governor of the State of Texas.

Sears store will close in 2 weeks

Bandera's Sears catalog store will close down in about two weeks, and merchandise has been marked down to 30 percent off the "owned price," says store manager Mary Wehmeyer.

Earlier this year, the Sears corporate organization announced it would pull the plug on catalog sales, leaving small-town stores like the Bandera outlet little choice but to shut their doors.

First State Bank Employee Virginia Davis welcomes new customers to the bank with Medina apples. The bank was giving away apples to customers on Friday, July 30 to help promote the apple industry in Bandera County, and to celebrate the Texas International Apple Festival, which was July 31 in Medina. Sarah Coletta and Kristin Ledzius have moved to Pipe Creek from Memphis.

Bandera County represented in state apple growers group

Bandera County, and its neighbors, are well represented in the Texas Association of Apple Growers, Inc.

Local members include: Baxter Adams, Jr., of Medina; Steven H. Blizzard, Kerrville; Jo Canter, Utopia; John Comegys, Kerrville; Leonard E. Davis, San Antonio; Dalton F. Neil, Comfort; Ted Phillipus, San Antonio; and Bobby Shelton of Kerrville.

Leonard Davis serves as president of the group. Dalton Neil is vice president. Kari Kay Zimmerman, of Energy, is secretary.

The Texas Association of Apple Growers, Inc. is a non-profit corporation. Its objectives include: sponsoring educational seminars; producing a newsletter to inform members of current issues; and becoming the voice of the apple industry in Texas.

They sponsor matching fund grant projects with the Texas Department of Agriculture, sponsor tours and field trips for members and guests and develop information on special sources for materials and supplies.

The Texas Association of Apple Growers, Inc. also helps new participants to develop apple orchards. It supports water conservation among owners of irrigated orchards and encourages minimal use of harsh chemicals to promote a sustainable agricultural concept. For more information, call Leonard Davis at (210) 349-5317, or (210) 349-0040.

School starts in Utopia on Aug. 18th! What happened to the summer? Karen Heideman tells me that the school supplies lists for grades K - 6 are ready. Some of the teachers are sending them to their students through the mail, or you can drop by the office to pick them up. Volleyball practice and cross country begin on Monday, Aug. 9. First volleyball game is the 10th at Lackland in SA.

You have probably received a letter regarding the Utopia School second annual "Back to School" inservice for parents. The date is Tuesday, Aug. 10 at 7 p.m. Some of the topics to be addressed at this meeting will be parent involvement, (why, what, and where), the Volunteer program which was initiated last year, and the results of the achievement tests will be explained.

This Saturday morning's breakfast is brought to you by the Utopia P.T.O. Just drop by their bake sale booth in front of Utopia Sales & Service to satisfy that morning sweet tooth. Many moms and dads are making special efforts to bake for this sale, the proceeds of which will go toward the school playground project. Parents, feel free to bake for this sale, even if you were not contacted by phone.

Winners of the Senior Citizens bingo game last week took home prizes of "bunuelos", a Mexican sweet donated by Helen and Herb Marsh. The next game on Aug. 10 promises beef patties as prizes.

The Seniors' monthly meeting and covered dish luncheon will be Friday, Aug. 13 at 11 a.m. It will be a musical program featuring Jack Stanley on the keyboard. Stanley is from San Antonio and plays statewide for conventions. I am told he is a superb keyboardist.

Wedding shower to honor Johnson, Huie

A wedding shower to honor the upcoming marriage of Jennifer Johnson and Jack Huie will be held Saturday, Aug. 14 from 2 to 4 p.m. at the Medina First Baptist Church fellowship hall.

Applications coming in for county 911 manager

County Judge Ray E. Mauer said that eight applications have been received for the five positions, including project manager, for the 911 program.

He said some of the applicants wanted the managing position but said they would be willing to be a zone coordinator instead. "I haven't had time to study the applications yet," he said, "but I feel that at least some of these are qualified. We may be able to fill the positions from these applicants. The county commissioners authorized me to hire someone."

Mauer said that the appraisal district will be operating the computers for the 911 project and already has the needed maps of the Bandera County area.

Chamber of Commerce cancels August meeting

The regularly scheduled August meeting of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce has been cancelled. The next meeting of the group will be on Tuesday, September 21 from 6:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at the Chamber Mixer.

The September 21 Chamber Mixer is an opportunity for discussing scheduled events, meeting newcomers and finding out what is available through the Chamber office.

During the month of August, local businesses have been asked to assist the Chamber of Commerce office in finding out why tourists are in Bandera; where their home is; and what activities they plan while they are here. Businesses will be asking one visitor per day to complete the survey. Tourism is the leading industry in Bandera. The completed surveys will help in future marketing efforts.

The Bandera County Historian is available at the Chamber office. Binders, containing back issues, cost $20. They will be donated to the Library, the Frontier Times Museum, and the two state parks.

Barn Raising to benefit Jr. livestock group

Chamber event will help fund $30,000 worth of improvements planned

The Junior Livestock Association is planning $30,000 worth of improvements to the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park. Improvements planned include the addition of kitchen facilities, restrooms and meeting rooms.

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a benefit dance on Sunday, September 19 to help raise funds for the project. It will be hosted by the Cabaret.

Other corporate sponsors of the "Barn Raising" include Rodeo Chevrolet and the Bandera Bulletin.

The main event sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association is the livestock show and sale in January each year. Both 4-H members and FFA members work with their projects all year, keeping that goal in mind.

Speedy Hutcheson is the superintendent of the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show. The superintendent is elected each year for a one year term.

Raymond Batto is the assistant superintendent.

T.H. "Bub" Keese, chairman of the building committee, said that a meeting will be held on Monday, August 9 at 9:30 a.m. to discuss plans for the expansion. He said the Jr. Livestock Show and Sale has "outgrown" the present barn which was built approximately eight years ago.

He said there are 16 directors. Directors are given four-year terms and four directors are elected every year. There are also 12 committees, each with about 50 members. Keese said there is no membership roll, so no one has an exact count on the number of individuals involved in the Jr. Livestock Association. "Anyone who wants to help just volunteers. Everything is done voluntarily. We have a joke, though, about being a director. When we built the show barn, all the directors had to sign the note. That meant that each director was responsible for about $16,000. Now we tell anyone that wants to be a director just to sign a note!"

Although there have been changes, the Jr. Livestock Association has been around since the first stock show in the 1940s. At first, the stock show alternated between Bandera and Medina. One year it would be held in the Medina bus barns, the next it would be held in barns Raymond Hicks donated. When the Mansfield Park recreation area was built, Hicks' barns were moved to the new facility. The livestock show and sale moved permanently to Bandera.

Weather problems, Keese said, made it necessary to build the present barn, which was named after Kittie and Rugley Ferguson whose contributions made it possible. Keese said the planned expansion and improvements will make the Ferguson barn more beneficial to the entire community, and allow it to be used for more activities.

Billy Griffin followed his dad's footsteps, right into the Bandera County Soil Conservation Service office.

Like father, like son

Billy Griffin, Jr. followed his dad into a soil conservation service career

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Billy Griffin Jr. has been the soil conservationist for Bandera County since February, 1986. His job with the U.S. Soil Conservation Service gives him opportunity to help Bandera property owners with problems: erosion, water quantity and quality, land management.

Griffin was born and raised- mostly- in Bandera County. He is the son of former Bandera County soil conservationist Billy Griffin, Sr. and Jo Ann (Word) Griffin. His grandparents, Pres and Grace Word were basically life-long Bandera County residents. Griffin said being assigned to Bandera was "basically a fluke. It wasn't something I had much control over. It would be unrealistic for a young person to think he could go away to college, then come back here to work in the soil conservation office."

Fluke or no, Griffin did return to Bandera and begin working in the soil conservation office nearly seven years ago. His dad worked in the same office from 1954 through 1964, and was then transfered. He spent 31 years working in soil conservation and was the State Conservationist when he retired. His father's long career in soil conservation, Griffin says, influenced him to enter the field.

He finds education the most urgent need in Bandera County. He says property owners need to learn good rangeland managing practices. Common problems include rain erosion, overgrazing and brush encroachment, especially cedar.

He would like to see land owners control cedar growth on their land and bring back healthy grassland. "Grass vegetation is better for holding down the soil. There is less evaporation, less erosion, less water usage. Clear, clean streams are a part of the appeal the Hill Country has. Cedar is taking that away.

"There is not a whole lot of economic benefit from cedar- except for a few fence posts.

"We don't tell anyone what to do with their land. We don't knock on people's doors and tell them they have problems. But we are here for anyone who needs help. We're here for the asking."

Because he works mostly alone, with an answering machine for "the only other person," Griffin said he has to schedule field work when people call for his help. "You can't call me at 8 a.m. in the morning and expect to have me there by 8:30. I can't drop everything and run when someone calls. I am the 'It' for this office. But my office hours are 7 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. If I'm not in the office, I get back in touch with people who call as quickly as possible."

Bandera County, Griffin said, has enough conservation problems to keep a conservationist busy: overgrazing; poor land management both for wildlife and livestock; water erosion; slow drainage in areas and calcium-rich soil. However, the good news, he says, is that there are no "exhorbant amounts of pesticides or fertizilers in the county to cause potential water quality problems." He also sees Bandera as a community in which it is easy for service organizations to work together for good soil and water conservation services.

And following in his dad's footsteps, Griffin does exactly that.

Peter Florczak brought his floral designs in glass to the Medina Apple Festival. He and his wife, Kim Federici, make kaleidoscopes, jewelry, mobiles, sconces, and other art creations, from dried flowers and beveled or stained glass. Staff photo by Larry T. Williams

Pipe Creek couple compete in art world with flowers & glass

Kim Federici and Peter Florczak, a husband-wife team from Pipe Creek, express themselves in the art world through stained glass and dried flowers. Together, they create mobiles, candle scones, kaleidoscopes, boxes, jewelry, and windows to hold a couple's wedding bouquets for permanent display.

Kimpeter Enterprises has turned from an interesting hobby into a year-round career for the couple who entered the art world together four years ago. They have been accepted for the Salado Art Fair, Saturday and Sunday, August 7 and 8. The 27th Annual Art Fair is a juried event. Kimpeter Enterprises competed with other artists for the honor of showing at the fair. Only 190 master craftsmen were chosen for the fair which draws 10,000 visitors a year.

Peter Florczak took the couple's three dimensional floral designs to the Medina Apple Festival on July 31. He said he likes to support every local event possible. And although the Medina Apple Festival rates as a "small" show among artists, Florczak says it is a good show. He has included it in his book, "Peter's Review of the 25 Best Texas Shows Plus 25 More."

"I wrote this book to help me get organized," he says. "But having it can take a year off an artist's time to get started in the art world. It has a calendar and show information. It tells which shows are the best for the artist; how much a good craftsman can reasonably expect to make at a show, and lists the entry fees for various shows."

That information proved vital to Kim and Peter. Kim, a registered nurse with a background as a plant shop owner, art therapist and calligraphy instructor, quit her nursing job to devote all her time and effort to art work. Peter left architecture to help his wife.

"Kim was a wonderful nurse," he claims. "She is a beautiful, compassionate person. She was a cancer nurse and was always taking her patients presents and getting to know them. It got too hard on her. She wanted to stick with nursing because she is putting her kids through college. But I finally convinced her to try this. That was four years ago. We've been making a living at it every since."

But to make a living out of their art, the couple puts in 14-hour days and travels seven months of the year. They try to take the summer off to rest. "It's hard to make a living here in Texas as artists. The summer is too hot for the shows and the winter is too cold. And to make a living at it, you have to be organized. For some of the shows, you have to send in the money and the application three to six months in advance.

"That's why I wrote my book; to help myself and others. The book also helped me pay for my computer. I couldn't justify going out and buying a computer if I hadn't found a way to make it pay for itself."

The computer also keeps a running list of the shows Peter and Kim frequent and and the amount and types of art work popular at each. Peter makes projections on what to take to each show based on the computer listing. Although he is the organizer behind Kimpeter Enterprises and cuts and solders the glass for the art, he negates his own importance.

"Kim is the artist. She is the one with that free style behind the designs making them work. I let her do what she wants. Then I try to do something attractive around it."

"Something attractive" includes intricate kaleidoscopes; beautifully shaped glass windows to hold a couple's wedding memories; earrings; mobiles, sconces; boxes, or other glass and flower art.

The Kimpeter team offers traditional floral arrangements as they exist in nature; elaborate victorian designs; contemporary; and Japanese ikebana designs.

Regardless of the style, beveled glass, stained glass and carefully dried flowers work together as an art form. Kim dries and dyes the flowers to their original color so they will retain it permanently. The biggest demand is for bluebonnet arrangements and wedding bouquets.

Collectors vie for the glass/flower kaleidoscopes. "Flowers are our speciality," Peter explains. "We use them in everything."

For some of the smaller jewelry, like earrings, Peter's father helps. Matt Florczak, who is retired, has his price for the hours he spends soldering small pieces of jewelry or candle sconces. He loves going out for breakfast. Peter either takes him or sends him out for breakfast, but says he could never pay or repay his father for all the help he's given.

The art world would be minus Kimpeter Enterprises had life worked out the way the couple planned. "I had sold a house in New Jersey at the peak market. We were going to live on a sail boat in the Virgin Islands. Then Kim's son was in a car wreck on the Boerne Higway. His back was broken- he was in a body cast and with the bills, we lost our money. But while this was going on, we experimented with glass and flowers. We just keep expanding."

The couple sells items from catalogs as well as in art shows. And how about livin on a sail boat in the Virgin Islands?

"Well," Peter says, "it's not too bad here."

on the trail with Bungy

La Quinta, gem of the desert," is truly a diamond of the first order. We stayed with my sister Ba (whom some of you have met) in her southwestern home set in the midst of waving palms, majestic mountains and a sparkling pool, where we swam in the afternoon when temperatures reached 112 degrees in the shade. We swam in the evening when the crystal clear waters filled with the colors of the sunsets. We swam at night with a big half moon making a pathway through the pool, while millions of stars twinkled overhead.

And best of all, we swam at dawn, with just the tiniest bit of chill in the air. The jagged peaks rising up against the slowly lighting sky, looking like pieces of movie scenery, and the gently clacking palm fronds silhouetted black against the coming sunrise. Then, steaming cups of coffee to watch the sun burst forth.

We had dinner at La Quinta Hotel (a clone of Lost Valley! Same architectural structure and tiles, arches, etc., only with a lot of money invested in it). Great bunches of flowers were everywhere, with aqueducts running down from a central courtyard into waterfalls and luscious fountains. The dining room was all done in old Spanish/Mexican style, and the food was authentic and wonderful! (You just knew the sauces didn't come out of a package.) The charming waiters whisked away the dirty dishes, flourishing napkins into your lap, and there were huge goblets of tea and water, all in hand-blown Mexican glass. And everyone dressed casually in shorts. (In fact, since the temperatures are so high, they wear shorts to church, also!) When I went to church, Ginger Rogers was sitting in the back row. Fun!

• Then, on to San Diego, to an RV park (advertised with the slogan, "Aah-- the quiet life") with 600 sites lined wall-to-wall with families who brought in-line roller skates, bicycles, surf boards, motor boats, barbecue pits and who knows what else. There were tents, campers, RVs and vans of all shapes and sizes. And people, people, people! There must have been 2,400 vacationers minimum on that 20 acres...

We were horrified at first, and then we began to see that there were many families there, playing, talking and listening to each other, as they watched the nightly display of fireworks shot over the bay from Sea World, in a moon-filled sky, making the ocean come alive with glitter. It was family reunions and kids meeting each other at the same time every year, just like on the dude ranches-- some have been coming back for 15 years!

We fondly remember "Indian Waters," and our "home on the range."

• We went to San Diego Wildlife Park, where we rode the monorail through "Africa." We saw giraffes, rhinos, emus and 50 or 60 other variations, all running around in the "wild."

• Next, on to my cousin Billie Lou's, in Laguna Beach, with relatives and friends coming for a reunion of love and fun. Lunch out on a deck overlooking the bright blue Pacific, surrounded by a huge variety of bright California flowers.

Ballan and Dede (my daughters) joined us for a few days at the beach. And there were dinners with Larry's buddies from his San Diego General Dynamics days, with plenty of story-swapping.

Finally, off to northern California, saying goodbye to southern California with its 5- to 7- lane freeways!

BHS show team attended flag and dance event

Those who showed extra effort earned "honor roll" medals

The Bandera High School Show Team recently returned victorious from the Marching Auxiliaries summer dance and flag camp which was held at UTSA. 14 of the 15 team members attended, including captain Jennifer Stinson, co-captain Julie Traweek, and lieutenant Sara Flores.

Team members attending included Erin Johnson, Stephanieann Postell, Shannon Lee, Stephanie Garza, Colleen Salyers, Rachael Struthoff, Lauren McCloud, Jamie Kline, Kerri Countryman, Shane Clark, and Cherise Stricker. (Lieutenant Stacie Corales was unable to attend the camp.) The team brought home a superior trophy for the camp routine of YMCA and a superior ribbon for the home routine performed to Second Hand Rose.

During the week the girls learned various routines taught by camp staff and were then evaluated as the week went on. All the girls won excellent and superior ribbons for their individual evaluations. All Star Performer ribbons were awarded for outstanding ability and a positive attitude while at camp. These special ribbons were awarded to Jennifer, Julie, Sara, Stephanie,Kerri, Shane, and Erin.

At the end of the week those girls who had exhibited a positive attitude consistently throughout camp, who have it that "little extra" were awarded Honor Roll medals. Those named included Jennifer, Julie, Sara, and Kerri. The highlight of the awards ceremony on Thursday were invitations that were extended to the girls who were selected as All American. These girls were invited to perform during halftime at the Citrus Bowl in Florida, Jan. 1, 1994, which tops off a week of banquets, ceremonies, and fun at Sea World in Florida and Disneyworld. All the girls auditioned for this honor the first day,and the following were chosen: Jennifer, Julie, Sara, Stephanie, Rachael, Jamie, Shannon, Kerri, Lauren, and Erin. The team's director, Cindy Fearon, and the girls themselves want to especially thank all the businesses and individuals who helped the team raise the money to attend camp, Mr. Delamain for providing the team with a bus, and Mr. J who was gracious enough to drive it.

Jr. High PTO forming

Festival visitors stopped to watch Bandera's Fred Collins demonstrate the skills of shingle making and chainsaw sculpture during the sixth annual Texas International Apple Festival Saturday, July 31.

It was an apple perfect day

Despite the heat, people thronged to Medina to enjoy the apple festival

Boy was it hot! And in more ways than one, as the Texas International Apple Festival seemed to be the hottest crowd pleaser in the Texas Hill Country for the 6th year in a row. Approximately 22,000 people enjoyed the beautiful day in the sun and devoured about 10,000 pounds of fresh Texas Apples and drank gallons of ice cold apple cider. Close to 8,000 ice cream and frozen yogurt was served and it was reported that the collective sales in apple pie booths estimated 12,000 slices of baked or fried pies.

The big hit of the day was the petting zoo with more than 75 baby animals with everything Noah would be proud of. The baby kangaroos, bears, buffaloes, camels, pygmy goats, panthers, and the like were loved by almost every person attending.

Big winners of the day were Texas Hill Country Orchards of Kerrville for the Grand Champion Apples. Best Apple Pies were as follows: Adult division: Tootie Faegan, first place; Youth division: Tara Jain Miller, first place; Professional division: Apple Annie's Tea Room from San Antonio. Best Apple Anything were as follows: Adult division: Susan Silvashy; Youth division: J.R. Thompson; Professional division: Apple Annie's Tea Room from San Antonio...all first places.

Buck Romjue was named Mr. Johnny Appleseed and Krystal Canales was named Miss Apple Dumpling. Winning Mrs. Apple Blossom as voted on by the community for community service work was Florence Isaacs.

In other competitions the winners were Black Powder Shoot, Scott Sagebiel, Fredericksburg, first place; Danny Stone, Kingsland, second place; W. O. Hatfield, Medina, third place. Archery Shoot: Greg Schnider, Fredericksburg, Overall Champion; Skip Marks, Pipe Creek, second place; and Mac McGee, Pipe Creek, third place.

The volleyball tournament was well attended and for the second year in a row the winning team was The Crushers with team members, Ed Gomez, Keith Baldree, Randy Garcia, Meagan Gustafson, Grace Valdez and Henry Oviedo.

The newest competition was the Quilt Show hosted by the Bandera Quilt Guild. Winners were Grand Prize Peoples choice: Sherry Green; First prize Large appliqued quilts: Sherry Green; First prize Large pieced quilts: Linda Barton; First place small appliqued quilts: Joyce McDaniel; First place small pieced quilts: Linda Carlson, and Grand prize: Judges Choice: Linda Carlson.

Winners of the Try-Apple-On Races were Jennie Cashdollar and Heidi Schaab with a time of 1:28.

Puppies dumped in Lakehills

It has been said that for every great man mentioned in history, there are millions of unheralded great men unmentioned in history. The following thought penned by an unknown author tells the story...

"A man is no bigger than the way he treats his fellow man! This standard has his measure been since time itself began! He's measured not by titles or creed, high-sounding though they be; nor by the gold that's put aside; nor by his sanctity! He's measured not by social rank, when character's the test; nor by his earthly pomp or show, displaying wealth possessed! He's measured by his justice right, his fairness at his play; his squareness in all dealings made, his honest upright way! These are his measures, ever near to serve him when they can; for man's no bigger than the

We know and know a great many great men who measure up." And we know you do, too...

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department, like all the rest of the VFDs in the county, had their hands full last week with that brush fire north of Medina. The heat and trucks breaking down were a problem to all the VFDs.

Some of the Lakeshore trucks were repaired at the scene by our volunteers, led by Ted Bros. The repairmen were Kenneth Smalley, Dee Smalley, Ronnie Miller, Buddy Surben, Chip Pollard, Vernon Mills, Luke Restivo Jr. and Johnny Willburn.

These young men not only fought the fire but worked on the trucks for three days after the fire to get them ready in case of another brush fire.

Hopefully that was the only fire for the year.

Susan Bros and Frances Hildenburg operated the water pump on Lakeshore's big tanker and they replenished the water on brush trucks as needed. There were others helping, but I am sorry I did not get their names.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department is also preparing for their turkey shoot in October. They are offering arts and crafts tables for the event. The tables are $10 each.

Those interested in reserving a table are asked to contact Bonnie at 796-3811.

World War II - CBI veterans invited to attend

World War II Veterans who served in the CBI (China-Burma-India) Theater are invited to join the Kerrville Chapter of the CBI Veterans Association. Meetings are held at the Kerrville Econolodge on the last Wednesday of every month.

Spouses are welcome. There are also state and national meetings and members are welcome at chapter meetings throughout the nation. Interested vets can phone Harry Dark in Bandera, 796-8416.

22nd annual 'Folklife' set

Silver Sage Corral
Marti Hampton-Holloway

Saturday July 31, the Silver Sage Corral had a booth in the Medina apple festival, filled with an assortment of appetizing food and hard working volunteers. The weather was very hot and the crowds overflowing, admist the laughter of the crowds and the western music filling the fair grounds, our volunteers suffered through the heat of the day, with tireless effort to make the booth a great success. The Silver Sage ran a bus from the Center to the Medina Fair Grounds on an hourly schedule, assuring all a park and ride solution especially to those without transportation. The tight bus schedule ran like clock work and was a high success. A very special thanks to the volunteer bus drivers, and a very great appreciation for all of the hard working volunteers who braved the heat and crowds, to man the food booth from early morning hours till later evening hours and closing time. A special thank you to the kindness of all the sent baked goods for this sale. The donation of food and paper products arrived in time from the merchants of Leon Valley and San Antonio, who wanted our Senior Center to make a good showing at the Medina Apple Festival, a very special thank you. With the help of all the volunteers who mean so much to the Center, the Silver Sage Corral food booth was a success in letting everyone know that Bandera was well represented. Job well done to Marti Redman and her had work of organization of the food booth project, our great appreciation to you Marti.

We are most proud of the Melodiers Director, Florance Isaacs who was elected Miss Apple Seed of the Medina Apple Festival. We applaud you Florance for not only your title and representation at the Apple Festival, but for your diligent efforts with the Melodiers as the Director.

Our Birthday Luncheon is always a popular and successful event with everyone bringing a covered dish for a pot luck lunch held the 4th Tuesday of every month. This month we had as our special guest Judge K. P. Turner of Pipe Creek, who gave an informative speech on Crime and Abuse of the Elderly. Thank you Judge Turner for joining us, we enjoyed meeting you and hope you will return for many more visits with us.

Joel and Mary Garcia were off for a trip to Lake Tahoe to attend the wedding of a family member. A nice trip to escape the heat in Bandera, upon your return we must hear all of the news. We miss you and have fun.

flooding adjacent properties and residences. According to Mauer, the race track's cooperation and willingness to help arrive at a solution to the problem was "not totally satisfactory."

However, during the 1993 season, the race track has apparently made a more significant effort to get along. Compared to previous seasons, "they've been very cooperative," Mauer says.

Monday's allegation by the TRC and Krist indicated that an unnamed suspect was the subject of surveillance by the DPS, and that the subject was in possession of $100 bills marked with red dye, indicative of a bank robbery. Krist said the subject would place $2 bets with a $100 bill, then receive $98 in "clean," or laundered, unmarked bills.

When directives were passed along to mutuel clerks at Bandera Downs to be on the lookout for the subject, the instructions were overruled by Bandera Downs," Krist said.

Although racing commissioners unanimously refused to allot next year's dates to the track, Bandera Downs will have an opportunity to appeal the TRC's ruling, and may still have a chance to schedule race days for 1994. The TRC is scheduled to meet again on Oct. 4, and according to TRC public information officer Alicia Terry, Bandera Downs must make their request in writing in order to be put on that meeting's agenda.

Here's what's coming up soon at Bandera Downs

Friday, Aug. 6 will be "Get More Gear" Day when the Marlboro van team will be promoting their products.

The finals of the Six Flags Derby will run on Sunday, Aug. 8. The purse will be over $34,000. the most talented three-year-old quarter horses in the nation will be sprinting 400 yards for the crystal decanter trophy.

Sunday, Aug. 8 marks the mandatory payout of the Twin Tri Jackpot. An accrued purse will have carried over from several weeks of racing. It will also be the final round of the Summer Sizzle Handicapping Contest. Top amateur handicappers will be vying for cash and prizes.

The Backpack Promo will be on Saturday, Aug. 14. The first 2,000 fans with paid admission will receive a back-to-school backpack, courtesy of Rainbow "Iron Kids" bread and Bandera Downs.

The Twin Tri jackpot-mandatory payout is Aug. 15.

On the last two weekends in August, August 20-22 and August 27-29, there will be no racing at Bandera Downs.

Live racing and simulcast racing will resume on Sept. 3, and will continue on Monday, Sept. 6 for Labor Day.

Betty Ciarlo recalls the Bandera flood of 1978

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

With eyes turning to the flooded Midwest, Bandera County residents have reason to be thankful. Medina Lake is full- and this- without a flood like the August 2, 1978 disaster.

Wharton's Dock resident Betty Lee Ciarlo kept notes during the 1978 flood. The Ciarlos had just moved to Wharton's Dock and were in the process of building a house. When Betty awoke at dawn on August 2 and heard over the radio that flood waters were heading down the Medina River from Bandera towards Wharton's Dock, she did not realize the danger. Her first clue, in fact, was when she grabbed a cup of coffee and headed outside to see docks floating down the river, "some with lovely boats still tied to them and huge trees tumbling by."

A friend came by to tell her that her husband, Bud, was at the couple's newly purchased lots with what he was able to save from their 10X30 foot storage room. She went looking for him. "There he sat in our Dominican Republic rocker with our camel saddle, bentwood captain's chair and picnic basket beside him. The river was raging in front of him. Water already up into the storage room. Both doors broken off by the force of the water. The river ran in one door and washed stuff out the other. I said, 'Get into the car. You're leaving!'"

"He said, 'No. We have lost everything- but these few items. I won't leave them.'"

She convinced him to put the salvaged items in the car and return to their rented home. He did. The rest of the day was spent in drama and high-suspense; nearly losing the truck downstream; pulling items from a camper seconds before it was swept away; administering first aid to a neighbor who was badly cut; watching huge oak trees pop out of the ground, hit the dock and carry it away; watching the storage shed leave with Bud's tools; helping another neighbor save furniture from a threatened home. The tremendous force of raging water even carried away a cement mixer.

"We saw trailer houses and homes go down the river. Some caught in whirlpools. Some entact. Others breaking up...one truck with camper on it rolling front over back end went by...We saw no one clinging to homes or hanging on debris pass by. In the city of Bandera they did...I don't know if we ate that day or not..."

Wharton's Dock residents were alerted that a 10-foot crest of water was headed down the river towards them. They packed dogs (including a Great Dane), caged birds, and possessions on and in trucks and cars and headed for higher ground, traveling in a caravan. It was dark by then, which made the flight to higher ground "seem so much worse."

Fortunately, the higher water spent itself before reaching Wharton's Dock. The phones were dead, the electricity was out, the area was completely cut off from the rest of the county, but the residents were safe.

Ray Wharton found 32 head of cattle missing.

Whispering Winds lost all their livestock, horses, cattle and goats.

Bandera County lost 13 to the flood. There were 31 deaths in a three-county area. The Medina river was closed to all water activites for 90 days due to contamination from sewage, dead human bodies and dead livestock. Early estimates for damage in Bandera County alone were set at $5 million. President Jimmy Carter declared the Hill Country a disaster area. When the water in the city of Bandera receded, fish were found on Main Street.

The Ciarlos found their newly purchased lots short of two feet of top soil, leaving bare rock shelves in place of it. The well tank, fixtures and well house had been washed away. The septic tank, which had been one foot below the ground was now one foot above the ground. They felt fortunate. Damage in the city of Bandera was more tragic. Forty homes were lost. Autos were tossed 20 feet or more up into trees. Clint Dowell's Chevrolet was completely destroyed.

The Ciarlos began washing eight inches of mud off what was left and traveling downstream looking for lost items. Betty wrote, "I think the flood fertilized the ants..As soon as the water went down, large ant hills showed up."

Wharton's Dock area residents were given tetanus and diphtheria shots. Well water was taken to Bandera for testing. As with other flooded-damaged areas, it took years for the land and its inhabitants to recover completely.

"Hopefully this will not happen again," Betty wrote. "The river has never risen this high in the past 100 years that records have been kept. It looks so calm and peaceful now that it is hard to believe the nightmare it put us all through two weeks ago."

Those in Iowa, Missouri, and other flooded areas, are daily participants in a similar nightmare. When President Bill Clinton toured the flooded region, he said, "I've never seen anything on this scale before."

A month of flooding in the Midwest has killed 46 people.

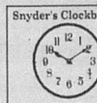

Those who lived in Bandera County on August 2, 1978, know what is like. They've seen it before. It happened in their own back yards 15 years ago.

Two sides of the Texas Revolution... by Somer Stone and Sonny Ybarra

My great, great grandfather, George Washington Carlisle served with Col. Fannin during the Texas Revolution. Fighting at Goliad, they surrendered because the Mexican officers said they would have food and shelter provided and would not be harmed.

Well, about 20 miles outside of Goliad, the Mexican soldiers surrounded the Texans and massacred them. My great, great grandfather, along with Col. Fannin and his troop were killed in the blink of an eye.

Somer Stone

One of my great grandpas fought in the Alamo with Santa Anna. He was one of Santa Anna's horsemen. His wife was a cook for Santa Anna and his army.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Basking in God's Radiance

"Restore us, O God; let thy face shine, that we may be saved."

— Psalm 80: 3

A shining face turned toward us is always heartwarming. What is more pleasurable than a smile from a loved one, the glowing grin of a child, an approving expression from a superior, even the open-faced friendliness of a stranger? All those and more are necessary for our everyday well-being, yet there is another radiance just as — if not more — important to us. That is the faith and hope instilled in us by the smile of a beneficent God, shedding His radiance down upon us. He is the master of our fate, the redeemer of our souls. How much better to be saved with a smile than denied with a scowl!

'Immunize,' state official advises

During August, immunization clinics will be held at the Bandera Department of Health office at 1207 Cottonwood every Wednesday from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

A clinic will be held in Medina at the Garden Center in town on Saturday, August 7 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Dr. David R. Smith, Texas Commissioner of Health, said, "We have tried to make it impossible for any Texas parent to plead ignorance as the reason his or her child is unimmunized. But ignorance is only one of the problems. Logistics- the geographic availability of vaccinations at sensible hours for working families- are still a problem. As a pediatrician, I have seen too much of the senseless tragedy associated with failure to vaccinate children against thoroughly preventable diseases. It is long past time for us to have all but wiped out such devasting diseases as measles. Yet within the past five years, more than 4,400 Texas children under five years of age have had the disease- including 14 who died from complications of measles."

Gov. Ann Richards signed a law into effect in April which requires that all Texas children, except those with a religious conflict or medical contraindication, to be immunized against contageous diseases such as measles, mumps and diphtheria.

Medina FFAers attended state convention

They saw Corpus Christi and caught 212 pounds of snapper

Eighteen FFA students from Medina joined the Townsend family in a trip to Corpus Christi on July 11 to attend the state FFA Convention and "do a little vacationing."

The vacationing included a fishing stop in Port Aransas. Fourteen members of the group boarded the Scat Cat fishing boat with Doug Townsend on Monday. It was the first time most of them had been in the Gulf. It was also the first time some of them had been to the coast. They caught 212 pounds of red snapper.

The convention took most of their time after Tuesday, July 13. The Medina FFA Chapter was again recognized as a 100 percent plus membership chapter. Six members were also awarded the Lone Star FFA degree, the highest degree a member can earn. They are: Tiffany Baker, Jennifer Evans, Ritchie Mims, Phett Johnson, Shane Keese and Clayton Watta.

While at the convention, members attended leadership workshops and listened to keynote speakers. Members other than the Lone Star award recipients were: Carl Vestal, David Derry, Shawn Brantley, Cody Doyle, Charles Kneuper, Courtney Warden, Jeanette Williams, Misti Wells, Alicia Mims, Courtney Alexander, Alanna Low, and Shannon James.

The trip was made possible through funds from the FFA Rodeo, sausage sales, and Apple Festival parking.

David Turner's West Team took the bronze medal in the Olympic Festival

Story & photos by Linda Palmer
Special to the Bulletin

At age 32, David Turner is an elder statesman of the single whitewater kayak event. (the average age of U.S. Olympic Festival-'93 paddlers is 25.2 years; height 5-11; weight 170.2 lbs.)

The son of Dr. Bob Turner of Temple was cheered on Thursday by his uncle, K.P. Turner of Pipe Creek, as he wound through the many gates of the whitewater kayak event at Canyon Lake.

David, a fifth generation Texan, started as "kind of a local paddler, right here on the Guadalupe" when he was 10 years old. In 1978 he moved to Cameron Park Calif., a suburb of Sacramento to "get closer to better water" He now lives in a "mecca for whitewater."

There are twenty class five rivers including the American River within one mile of his home.The water on the Guadalupe for Thursday's race was ranked 1-2 according to Craig Bohnert, communications director for the U.S. canoe and kayak team. The river was moving at about 440 cu. ft. per second, not a great challenge for paddlers who brave 7,000 cu. ft. per second over Grand Canyon rapids.

David notes the increased popularity of the sport in recent years, Absent from the Olympic games for 20 years, it was reintroduced in Barcelona and will be held in Tennesse for the 1996 games.

David appeared in commercials for McDonalds and Chevron heralding American interest in kayaking.

The first medal was won by Rich Weiss a few weeks ago when he took a gold in the world championships. Eric Jackson who finished first on the Guadalupe was 13th in the Barcelona games. Eric predicted his first place finish before the race and "is enjoying his first trip to Texas," from Bethesda.

David Turner, whose West Team took a bronze medal, says he does not have time to "train much." Following in the footsteps of Uncle K.P. (Turner), David works full time as a network engineer for G.T.E. He is now into the recreational aspect of paddling and hopes to coach.

He lamenta, "to be in the top three in the nation you cannot hold a full time job." He was third ranked in 1986 and on the world team in 1993.

David still builds his own kayak, which according to specs must weigh 20 pounds and be a minimum of 13 feet, two inches long.

He builds out of graphite and Kevlar, the substance of the stealth fighter and bullet proof vests. It is light and strong, but the material is not only strong but toxic, and protective gear must be worn to avoid the risk of liver cancer.

City of Bandera declares water emergency

The City of Bandera declared a water emergency on Tuesday, Aug. 10. A red flag was flown with the United States flag and the State of Texas flag to warn residents that full stage water restrictions were in force.

The emergency stems from a dual source. It has not rained in the Texas Hill Country for over 40 days. Additionally, one of the two wells which supply the city with water quit pumping.

Bandera began battling water problems one week prior to the water emergency when problems with the Dallas Well began. The city draws water from the Dallas Well and from a well on Mulberry. Efforts were underway on Tuesday to reinstate the use of the old well on Cedar Street which had not been used for some time.

By Monday night, during the Aug. 9 City Council meeting, residents on Montague Drive were calling with complaints. They were totally out of water. Other residents were complaining that their water was "just trickling." The red flag was raised Tuesday morning.

It is flown when the static water level is 350 feet or deeper below the surface in the municipal wells. The public must curtail water usage by limiting water consumption to 170 gallons per day per metered connection to the City water supply.

Commercial use of water shall be limited to no more than 50 percent of normal usage per metered connection. Medical facilities, nursing homes, sanitary facilities and laundromats are exempted from this restriction. However, the water department may reduce pressure in the water system and/or shut off the water during part of the day.

During the red flag stage, no outside watering is permitted. Washing vehicles is prohibited. Restaurants will serve water to customers only upon

Any person violating a provision of City Ordinance Number 113, which addresses water restrictions, shall be found guilty of a misdemeanor. If convicted, a fine of up to $100 will be imposed for each separate of-

Dispute at city council over fire protection
Firefighters need a new truck, but city wants separation from county

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

The Bandera City Council's Monday, Aug. 9 meeting errupted in disagreement when volunteer fire fighter Tommy Adams requested that the city purchase two new fire trucks.

"We are in a bad situation," Adams told council members. "Our newest truck is 18 years old. The oldest is 32 years old. Every time we go to a fire, we spend four to six hours patching them back up. It's an emergency situation."

Irvin Stevens said he would not consider the purchase of fire trucks for the volunteer fire department until there was some separation between the city and county. "The city is keeping up all the department," he said. He pointed out that the majority of the fires occurred in the county and that county residents did not support the Bandera Volunteer Fire Department. "They run those trucks up into the canyons fighting county fires and tear them up."

Adams said that $10,000 was available from the Texas Forestry Department for the purchase of a new truck, or one not over five years old.

"Tanker 1190 is 30 years old and so bad that when we roll out to go to a fire, we never know when the brakes will fail. I think the transmission's going out."

He pointed to the accident last week which involved a Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department tanker. "Things like that do happen. Pipe Creek rolled that tanker right in the middle of Pipe Creek. It's the first time in 40 years we've had a problem like that with a fire truck."

Stevens said fire trucks could be repaired and that he wanted county and city fire fighting equipment separated.

Adams replied, "Fine if you want to pay someone to fix them. We're fire fighters, not mechanics."

Ross Bailey said $13,000 was available from funds obtained from Bandera Downs.

Adams mentioned that Pipe Creek had recently purchased a new fire truck.

"Yeah. But they don't use it," Stevens said.

"We can bet on Pipe Creek to back us up always," Adams told him.

Adams pointed out that Bandera County contains 125 square miles which the volunteer fire department attempts to cover. "That includes the city." He also said that once the down payment was made on a new truck, the community would support the department and help pay for the truck.

"The state only allows a fire truck to be kept for 30 years. Then it has to be replaced. Luckily, when the State of Texas tested the pur[illegible] the La France (the 32 year-old truck), it passed the test.

"Volunteers and the ladies auxiliary bought all the trucks. It's about time the city bought one."

Mayor Raymond Adamietz entered the dispute. "We've been beating this horse for one-and-a-half years. People need a fire truck. We need to commit some money. We need to do something. We need to worry about fire protection first, then worry about the money later."

Mike Holan agreed.

Carol Teich pointed out that the ladies auxiliary bought the last two fire trucks which were purchased. "The city promised to reimburse us the $5,400 on one- we've never received a penny. We go everywhere we need to to fight fires. If the trucks are in the shop and there's a fire, then what? You can only keep them running so long. I don't even know if the 32-year old will start. We merged with the city so we could build the building. We (the voluntary fire department) already had a 99-year lease on the land."

Bill Bryce made a motion to commit $13,000 to the purchase of a new truck. Ross Bailey, Bill Bryce and Mike Holan voted for the motion. Stevens voted against it. Dorothy Darden was absent.

Football "two-a-days," complete with grueling workouts in the simmering August heat, began last week at Bandera and Medina High Schools. In Bandera, there will be a "Meet The Coaches" night Thursday, Aug. 12 starting at 6:30 p.m. at BHS, then picture day is scheduled to begin at 8:30 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 14 at Bulldog stadium. Junior high football equipment will be issued Aug. 16 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Speaking out about smoking

Dear editor:

This is in response to Susan Hooker's letter to the editor in the Aug. 4 Bandera Bulletin. If she has misconceptions about my request that the city council consider an ordinance requiring restaurants which cater to families with children have designated smoking and non-smoking areas, perhaps there are also others who misunderstand.

At the May 10 council meeting when my request was submitted, there was never any suggestion that smoking be banned in any place in Bandera County. I agree that people have a right to smoke in restaurants, but I would like to have a choice of breathing second hand smoke that is coming directly at me or second hand smoke that is diluted in a non-smoking area. The Surgeon General has reported that both smoking and breathing second hand smoke are equally injurious to a person's health. I have family and friends who are allergic to smoke. There are those who have chronic lung diseases which are aggravated by smoke. One might say that they can eat at home, but should they be denied the privilege of eating out because there are no designated non-smoking areas?

As a county, we are protective of our children's health. We see that immuizations are available to them; that their drinking water is purified. But what will the long term effect of breathing second hand smoke have on them? The Dairy Queen, a favorite of children, now has a designated non-smoking area. Perhaps other restaurants catering to families with children will voluntarily decide to give their patrons the choice of smoking or non-smoking areas as has the Dairy Queen.

Dear Editor,

Although I did not receive a questionnaire regarding the smoking issue, I do visit public places, patronize local businesses, and am effected by the smoking of others.

When individuals make personal choices which infringe upon the rights, health, or safety of others, it is not uncommon for elected officials to consider laws addressing those issues. If a car travelling down Main St. is full of smokers, that does not necessarily interfere with my rights, health, or safety. But if it is emitting clouds of smoke from the tailpipe, it does interfere with my health and is in violation of a law. If a neighbor chooses to party all night long with loud music that rattles my windows and will not respect my request for less noise when I need to sleep, I'm glad that I can make a phone call and ask that a law be enforced.

I know there are a lot of smokers who are very considerate of when and where they smoke. I also know there are a lot of smokers who truly cannot appreciate how much non-smokers, such as myself, value smoke-free air. I grew up with a heavy smoking parent. He smoked at the table, in the car, and everywhere else. At the time it didn't bother me, in fact I didn't even notice it. But when I got out on my own, it just so happened that people at school, at work, and all of my friends were non-smokers. It was then I became very sensitive to smoke. Now I can often tell if my husband goes in to pay for gas at a place where people smoke a lot (even if there isn't smoking at the time), if a student rides to school with a smoking parent, or if someone lights up in a local restaurant. Other non-smokers have eyes sensitive to smoke or are allergic to smoke.

When I go to a restaurant, I make a conscious effort to eat healthy food. I also want to breathe healthy air. When I choose my food for particular flavors, that should not be spoiled by the odor of smoke. In large restaurants designated areas can help keep everyone satisfied. But in small restaurants our common air effects everyone.

While it is my opinion that prohibiting smoking in public places is the right thing to do, I cannot say it is an issue I would choose to take issue with, as far as making it law at this time. I would appreciate local restaurants establishing their own non-smoking policies (for workers and patrons) to promote a healthy and enjoyable dining experience.

Dear Editor,

In response to Ms. Hooker's letter on pro-choice of smoking: You speak of your choice and right to smoke in public, we feel we have a choice and a right not to be assaulted, to breathe or smell someone else's cigarette smoke when we are in a public place.

You also speak of the city council getting involved: The city council was elected to serve and protect the public. What could be more important than protecting the health of our residents and visitors from the ravage of lung cancer. We feel that the city council should pass an ordinance to ban smoking in all public buildings now and not wait for the State of Federal Government to do their job.

We don't think banning smoking in public buildings, restaurants, stadiums and the only people supporting this town or any other. We find it especially disgusting to have chosen a restaurant to eat at and have someone sit down at the next table and light up and be forced to inhale their smoke. Personally we don't care if you fill your body with pounds of tar and nicotine, but DO NOT think that [illegible] make that choice FOR US, while we are in any public building.

The SMOKING area should be outside.

Appreciated the coverage...

Dear Editor,

On behalf of Hill Country Chapel, I would like to thank you and your staff for the manner in which they helped with the publicity for our VBS. I had the opportunity to deal with Janna Sandidge and Stephanie Logue and appreciate their attitudes of helpfulness. We are aware, however, that this involved teamwork and extend our thanks to your entire Bulletin staff.

I would also like to thank the area businesses (Super S, Hill country Stop and Lone Star of Pipe Creek) who allowed us to place posters in their establishments. Their sense of community involvement is much appreciated. Without each of you, my job would have been more difficult. Thanks again.

In defense of the track

Dear Editor,

Well, fr 15 years I've read all of your "letters to the editor." So bear with me while I get a few things off my chest.

First, everyone seems to think we need an airport. Fine; but don't tell us it's not going to cost us anything. It's already cost approximately $3,000 taxpayers dollars just to say we need one. And if anyone still believes that a county run airport is not going to dip into your pocketbook, check anything- and I mean ANYTHING that any government entitiy has ever run or controlled that didn't sooner or latter did not dip into the taxpayer's pocketbook. If you believe this is a free ride or someone else's money, then you just got off the turnip trucks.

Second, I don't own any horses. I don't train any horses and I really don't particularly like the animals. But for our county judge to insainuate that the track has brought nothing but non-cooperation is, to me, biting the hand that helps feed you. If the track had a drainage problem, SO WHAT? What new business that size doesn't? If they didn't want to pay for traffic control, the county commissioners could not have provided it. The trickle down effect of Bandera Downs' payroll, visitors, and tax dollars seem to be lost on a public official who in my opinion, should be doing everything possible to insure the continuous well being of the people of this county. IF Bandera Downs were not here racing, what benefit would the bed tax do? (No beds to tax.) List some things you would miss: extra businesses of every kind; sales tax from these businesses; less people buying houses or renting houses; therefore less school and county taxes collected. Think about it.

I believe the county judge and commissioners should get off their rears and send a resolution to the racing commission pointing out how much this county would lose if the track closes. That is unless they have some inside info on some large corporation moving in and employing people and paying their bills. It would only take another 42 Stop & Gos or 8,000 government subsidies for that.

Third, after all these years, and being updated to computers, why is the tax office still closed for lunch? There must be at least one employee who will not starve between 9 a.m. and noon. Surely there is a computer program somewhere on scheduling.

Dear Editor,

After reading your "Racing Commission vs. Bandera Downs" article last week and the criticism of their degree of cooperation, I figured they could use a little positive support.

The race track was in my precinct prior to redistricting. We did have some drainage problems which is not unusual when undertaking such a large project. I was of the opinion that they were cooperative. Granted, they did not move as fast as we would have liked at times, but their overall performance was good considering how busy they are.

As for the traffic control, they did not create that problem. I sat in on the initial negotiations. The state agreed to install and maintain the traffic lights, the track agreed to pave and mark the entrance and exits and the county agreed to provide traffic control officers. It was not until a later date that we discovered that there were legal problems with using public tax dollars to help private enterprise even though the track was a tremendous boost to the county.

We had to go back and change the agreement. The second agreement provides that the county furnishes the traffic control officers and the track reimburses the county for the expense. If the initial agreement had been handled properly and the legal aspects researched before presenting it to Commissioners Court for approval, it would have prevented the problem, so let's not pass the buck, the problem belonged in our lap in the first place.

If we are going to start judging by "degree of cooperation" our federal, state and county government will fare worse than anyone, most likely. You may be for or against racing, but that does not over-ride the fact that Bandera Downs is a major factor in our economy. They have always been very helpful in promoting our area events and the tourism generally.

It would be a nice gesture if the Chamber of Commerce, the business folks and those who support our local race track. The address is: Texas Racing Commision, P.O. Box 12080, Austin, TX, 78711.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Two well-known Republican operatives say George W. Bush will declare his candidacy for governor by Sept. 1, or when the baseball season ends in mid-October, The Dallas Morning News reported last week.

Bush, son of the former president and managing partner of the Texas Rangers, reportedly spent much of the summer consulting with a wide variety of political allies and friends.

"Nothing is going to keep this guy from running," said Austin consultant Karl Rove, who has been involved in Bush strategy sessions. "He is getting a lot of encouragement. People have thrust big checks into his hands, and he has had to give them back because he is not a candidate."

Norman Newton of Austin, director of the Associated Republicans of Texas, said he believes Bush has every intention of running.

GOP Potentials Comment

■ Rep. Tom Craddick, R-Midland, who also is considering the race, said he will not run if Bush does.

■ Most GOP observers believe if Bush is in, Dallas Lawyer Tom Luce will not seek the nomination. Luce told reporters he does not want to run against Bush, a longtime friend, but might.

■ Houston businessman Rob Mosbacher, who lost two previous statewide races, said his decision will not be based on whether Bush runs.

Meanwhile, in other pre-election-season action, the GOP stepped up its potshots on Gov. Ann Richards.

GOP Chairman Fred Meyer charged that 13 private telephone lines in Richards' office are evidence she is running "a massive political operation" in her state office.

Meyer's charge came as Travis County prosecutors continue their investigation of Republican U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison, whose conduct as state treasurer is under grand jury review. Former Hutchison aides have said they were required to do political work on state time.

Margaret Justus, the governor's deputy press secretary said the private telephones were installed "to be extra cautious" and to prevent the use of state-paid phones for personal or political calls. She said eight of the phone lines have been disconnected.

First Women Rangers Named

Marie Reynolds Garcia of Floresville and Cheryl Campbell Steadman of Houston last week became the state's first women Texas Rangers in a ceremony at the Department of Public Safety Academy in Austin.

Garcia, 39, and Steadman, 32, were among 200 DPS officers competing for promotion to the elite law enforcement unit.

Seven other officers were promoted to Rangers, including Richard Lindsley Shing, a Corsicana highway patrol sergeant who became the first Asian American Ranger.

A handbook about the 170-year-old unit, which now numbers 105 officers, says "A Ranger is an officer who is able to handle any given situation without definite instruction from his commanding officer or higher authority. This ability must be proven before a man becomes a Ranger."

Three Jail Sites Approved

The Texas Board of Criminal Justice approved three sites for state jails last week after learning that the number of convicted felons in county jails has hit a record high.

The state jails are part of a building program planned by the Legislature that will double prison capacity to 109,000 by 1995.

The first state jails will be in Harris County, Beaumont and Bonham, according to the criminal justice board. The 2,000-bed jails should be constructed within 14 months, officials said.

Voters in November will be asked to approve $1 billion in bonds to build an additional 48,000 state jail beds by 1998.

Board chairman Carol Vance of Houston admitted the state is "under the gun" and is building prisons as fast as it can.

Lawmaker to Pay IRS

State Rep. Eddie De La Garza, D-Edinburg, says he will pay the estimated $38,000 he owes the Internal Revenue Service, which seized equipment from his Edinburg law office and his 20-foot boat.

De La Garza said his tax problems began in 1990 when he failed to withhold income for taxes.

The IRS filed a $31,502 lien against him in February 1992. An IRS spokesman said such seizures are made only after other attempts to satisfy the debt have failed.

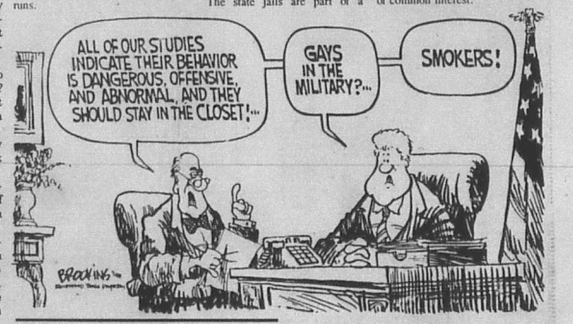

De La Garza, a criminal defense lawyer, said his practice suffers because of the time he devotes to legislative duties.

Other Highlights

■ The extended dry weather has prompted officials in 27 counties to issued outdoor burning bans to help prevent wildfires, the Texas Forest Service announced. Outdoor fires — except those in barbecue pits that contain all sparks and flame — are prohibited.

■ In the first quarter of 1993, the Texas savings and loan industry led the nation with $246 million in earnings, according to figures released last week.

■ Texas Land Commissioner Garry Mauro has been named president of the Western States Land Commissioners Association. Land Commissioners from 22 states belong to the association, which meets twice a year to discuss issues of common interest.

No chance of rain in the forecast

Mostly sunny and hot days are in store over the next few days and through the weekend, with fair nights. High temperatures will reach near 100, with lows in the 70s.

All things big and small...two individuals, who were publically intoxicated, were arrested in front of Bandera's Super S store Friday afternoon by Bandera County Sheriff's deputies. Since the new Bandera County Sheriff's Department car did not have a cage installed in it yet, one of the individuals was transported to the jail by the Border Patrol. "It was a real fluke," a spokesperson from the Sheriff's Department said. "The Border Patrol car just happened to be there and they offered to help. They had nothing to do with the incident."

Benefit planned for family of construction accident victim

Benny Barron, 30, of Bandera was killed on Saturday, Aug. 7 in a fall from a roof.

A barbecue and benefit for the family will be held on Saturday, Aug. 14 from 6 p.m. to midnight at Dennis Crow's at Wharton's Dock. Donations of food, diapers (size medium) and money are being accepted at Crow's. Manager Vicki Adams said that donations are already being received. "We will have a good barbecue- a good meal. The food is already coming in. All the money goes to Migy and the kids."

The Barron family had recently moved to Bandera from Comfort. Benny had signed up to join the Lakeshore Fire Department. Miggy was looking for employment.

The couple have three children, aged seven, two and four months.

Barron, a construction worker, was roofing a building on the west side of San Antonio when he apparently fell off the roof. He was found by his employer shortly after 6 p.m. on Saturday.

Harry and Alicia Fleming

Joy Moseley Ross and her family have returned to Bandera. From left, they are Jacob, Michael, Ann, Joy, Rebekah and Shelley.

Harry Fleming to retire... well, almost

After 51 years as a pharmacist, this Bandera deputy constable plans a well-earned vacation

Bandera Deputy Constable for Precinct 3, Harry Fleming, Jr., is retiring after over 51 years as a pharmacist. Earlier this year, his wife Alicia V. Fleming, retired after 18 years of teaching.

They plan to travel together and have scheduled a visit to Madrid, Spain. Both say they are not really "retiring," just taking a hard-earned vacation. Alicia will continue teaching ESL classes two nights a week at the Bandera County Library. Harry continues as Constable for Precinct 3.

Harry became a pharmacist in 1942. The Lake Charles, Louisiana native, also worked as a life guard for a time. He earned degrees in physiatrics and chiropractic care and became a certified doctor in both.

He received a Texas Peace Officers Degree (Cum Laude) from Schriener College.

With all his other accomplishments, Fleming has found time to pursue diverse hobbies. They include horseback riding and target shooting. He has made 17 trailrides from Bandera to San Antonio during the rodeo season. He has also obtained a flight instructor's license for personal airplane and multiengine ratings. He has participated in the Golden Gloves Boxing Organization and raced cars.

Age has a hard time catching up with Fleming. He still loves the pharmacy business and continues to keep an interest in it, even though he is retiring from Gibson's in Kerrville after 22 years. Gibson's held a reception for him on Tuesday.

The Flemings have four children. Jon Anthony lives in New York City and works as a fashion illustrator. Rhonda is a Texas State Trooper. H.L. is a Kerrville policeman. Christine is a medical transcriptionist. They also have a grandson, Haley Luke, who lives in Medina Texas.

Fleming says that friends have given him memories to treasure; memories which will accompany he and Alicia as they travel. And as Alicia says, "Watch out! Who knows what he will come up with next! He says this is not 'goodbye', but only 'till we meet again.'"

Rhonda Fleming promoted to sergeant and reassigned

Rhonda Fleming, a 1980 graduate of Bandera High School and the daughter of Harry and Alicia Fleming of Bandera, is entering her 10th year as a Department of Public Safety officer. She has been promoted to sergeant and will be assigned to Humble County, as a sergeant.

Mother, Alicia Fleming, said that Rhonda's love for law enforcement was natural in a law enforcement oriented family. Her father, Harry, is Deputy Constable for Precinct 3 in Bandera County and has worked as police officer and chief of police in the past. Rhonda's brother, H. L., is a police officer in Kerrville.

Rhonda is a graduate of San Angelo State University and holds a teaching certificate in secondary high school government. She attended the DPS academy in Austin in 1984. Most recently, she was stationed in Bryan. She took her exam there and was promoted to sergeant. She will attend a promotional ceremony in Austin on Sept. 7.

She works with the driver's license department, but also patrols the highway. Alicia Fleming says her daughter is "a very good trooper. She is very honest."

Llano gun show set

The fifth Llano Gun, Knife and indian Artifact Show will be held at the American Legion Hall on Bessemer Street in Llano on Aug. 14 from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., and on Aug. 15 from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Exhibitors will display guns, knives, coins and Indian artifacts on approximately 60 trade tables. Admission is $2 per adult, and a food concession is available.

For information, contact Brad Little at 915-247-5724.

Joy's back...and not just for class reunion

Joy Moseley Ross went through eighth grade in Bandera and has made the small town a part of her adult life as much as possible.

Now, she and her family are back to stay. Joy recently attended the reunion of her classmates in Bandera.

Joy's husband, Michael Ross has already found a job at Rodeo Chevrolet. But Joy says that they moved to Bandera without a job, prepared to "tough it out" for the benefit of their children. The couple have four children; Jacob, Ann, Rebekah and Shelley.

"I used to live here. I knew what Bandera offered in the way of small town environment. I wanted it for my children," Joy explains. "Even though my family moved away when I was in the eighth grade, I've always stayed involved in Bandera; visiting my brothers and sisters and going to the class reunion. They let me come even though I didn't graduate from Bandera. I have friendships of 24 years that are still intact because of this."

She says Bandera has grown, but not changed much. "It seems like I stepped back in time. The atmosphere is the same. I feel safe here. I didn't feel safe in Ft. Lauderdale. I am glad to have the children here- and they're glad to be here. Bandera has always been a part of their life."

The Ross family moved back to Bandera in July.

Pipe Creek woman declares candidacy

Carolyn Edwards will vie next year for Bandera County Judge position

Carolyn Beodeker Edwards of Pipe Creek has announced her candidacy for the office of Judge of Bandera County.

"This office is a challenging one, demanding a variety of skills in management and communication," says Edwards. "I look forward to serving the taxpayers of Bandera County to the best of my ability."

Edwards has been a resident of Bandera County for over 25 years. She is an honors graduate of St. Mary's University and worked as a teacher for the Bandera Independent School District for over seven years.

Edwards and her late husband Jerome, owned and operated Edwards Heavy Equipment, Inc., a heavy construction company, for a number of years until his death due to cancer in July of 1990.

Edwards has two children, Justin, 17, a senior at Bandera High School; and Shiloh, 14, a freshman.

She is active in her church, the First Baptist Church of Pipe Creek, where she serves as a substitute Sunday School teacher and on the budget and finance committee and the youth committee.

She is a charter member of the Bandera County Republican Women's Club, having served as its first secretary.

Edwards has recently established a support group for parents of children with Attention Deficit Disorder.

Edwards is currently employed as the advertising production manager at The Bandera Bulletin and serves the county as the chairman of the Bandera County Historical Commission and editor of the commission's quarterly, The Historian.

"Bandera County has been so good to me any my family," says Edwards. "I feel I have the talents and abilities required to serve as Bandera County Judge, and I would like to see this as an opportunity to give something back."

"The challenge is to provide quality governmental services to the taxpayers while being fiscally conservative," says Edwards. "I would like to form a coalition of taxpaying business people, professionals, educators, agriculturalists and others to look at the challenges facing the county and find creative solutions to the problems ahead."

LH woman injured in fight Monday

Two female Lakehills residents who were allegedly dating the same man got into a fight on Monday, Aug. 9.

The boyfriend in question teamed up with one of the women to beat the other. They then dumped her into the back of a pick up truck and drove around Lakehills at a fast rate of speed. Bandera County Sheriff's deputies found the truck at the old Avalon Cafe and intervened.

The injured woman was transported to Medical Center Hospital and treated. However, as she refused to file charges, no arrests were made.

Bandera County Animal Control Officer, Billy Graham, showed his mettle on Tuesday, Aug. 10 when he was called to capture a suspected rabid dog. The animal was foaming at the mouth and losing its balance. Graham said the animal had not been vaccinated against rabies since 1990. The owners agreed to have the animal destroyed and tested, although Graham said poisoning was a possibility. "Given the cost of impounding the animal for 10 days and treating it to see if it would improve, the owners decided it was best to destroy it. It is safest to have it tested." The dog was found near the intersection of Cedar and 9th street in Bandera.

Pulmonary specialist opens practice in Kerrville

John B. Silman, M.D., the Hill Country's first physician specializing in pulmonology and respiratory critical care, is now associated with Sid Peterson Hospital in Kerrville.

Dr. Silman has 27 years of experience in treating lung diseases and breathing difficulties. He has opened an office in Suite 507 of the Guy Griggs Professional Building. He plans to treat patients who have lung diseases or disorders such as chronic emphysema, COPD, bronchitis and asthma, as well as those with undiagnosed lung masses.

He will be assisting with the management of patients in the intensive care unit. He will also be caring for the several lung transplant patients who live in the Texas Hill Country.

Silman said he chose the area because there was a need for a pulmonary specialist and because he wanted a rural area where he could feel like he was a part of the community. "I feel I can do that in Kerrville."

He actively discourages young people from starting to smoke. "I've seen the damage that smoking does to lungs...A lot of smokers are going to develop serious illnesses; long-term, debilitating illnesses...down the road, society will end up paying a large part of the medical bills to take care of these people."

Silman is available for patient referrals from doctors in Bandera and the surrounding areas.

Thousands provide Red Cross relief

More than 9,185 people, most volunteers, have been on-site hjelping in the Red Cross relief effort in the Midwest since the flooding began in late June. As more levees continue to be threatened, more than 2,400 Red Cross relief workers continue to labor, helping families affected by rains and flooding get back on their feet.

Latest figures estimate that more than 37,102 homes have been affected by water. The estimated cost of providing Red Cross assistance to victims is expected to reach between $15 and $20 million.

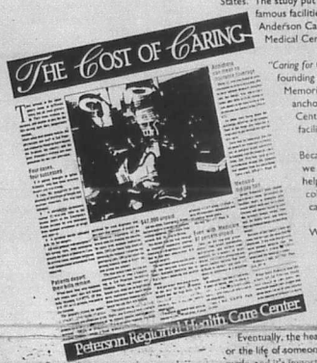

To date, 117 Red Cross shelters have opened; 49 are still open, housing 879 people still unable to return to their homes.

People wishing to help victims of the flood and other disasters may call the Red Cross toll-free at 1-800-842-2200.

THE COST OF CARING...

For more than 44 years, Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital has served the residents of the Hill Country with a level of care unexpected in rural Texas.

In May, the hospital was recognized in a federal study as one of the Top Ten Hospitals in the Western United States. The study put our hospital in the company of such famous facilities as the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, and UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles.

"Caring for Our Community" was the vision and founding philosophy of Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in 1949. Today, as the anchor of Peterson Regional Health Care Center, the hospital and its 7 allied facilities continue that philosophy.

Because we care about our community, we feel it's part of our responsibility to help our community understand the complex issues associated with health care reform.

We have created a special newspaper insert, "The Cost of Caring," to provide information about the current health care crisis in our country, our state and our community. Look for it in next week's issue.

Eventually, the health care system will touch your life or the life of someone you love. Changes are going to be made, and it's important to be well-informed.

[illegible] want in Texas and the United States, and communicate [illegible] Congress and the Texas Legislature will determine what kinds of health care is available when you or a loved one needs it.

Peggy Tobin

You never know when a chance conversation can result in an interesting development or receipt of enlightening information. Some time ago in a waiting room in Kerrville, we got talking with John Winslow, who turned out to be a history buff and to whom we sent copies of Bandera County Historian.

Now a couple of years later comes a letter from Mr. Winslow of great interest to everyone in Bandera County who knows of the career of J. Marvin Hunter, founder of

The original paintings, found in Burbank Calif., which were done in 1937 by Warren Hunter of Bandera and San Antonio as proposals for murals depicting life of Spaniards and Indians at the 18th-century mission near Menard.

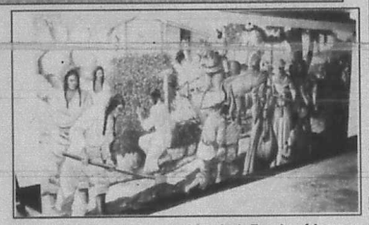

Hunter and his family were in Bandera in 1935, having founded Frontier Times Museum just two years earlier. Mr. Hunter, born in Mason County in 1880, did spend most of his youth in Mason and Menardville and did later operate a Menard newspaper at one time during the years of moving about which he describes in his autobiography, "Peregrinations of a Pioneer Printer".) But we go on with Mr. Winslow's letter: "Since I last saw you, my aunt in Burbank, California, pulled from underneath her bed a couple of original mural proposals by Warren Hunter done in 1937, depicting the life of the Spanish and Indians around the "Old Mission" in Menard. I believe Warren was J. Marvin's son. (Yes, of course.) She asked me to help get the murals done and up on the side of her father and mother's picture show for Jim Bowie Days this year, Sept. 25, which I have done. Jack Feagin of Ingram painted the murals.

"We are very pleased with the results and hope to have them up late in August for the public and a short dedication staged for Channel 8 in Dallas—at least they have indicated they are interested and want a date set. We are going to have a more formal dedication in September during Jim Bowie Days and wanted to have Warren Hunter present. As you may know, Warren was drowned May 5 in San Antonio flooding. He was 88 years old. We hope to have his widow or some of the family present. We have heard from many of his art students in the meantime."

What a strange and fitting tribute is being paid in Menard to a Texas artist who will go down in history as having documented so much of the state's colorful story and its landmarks in the representational style he clung to despite modern trends toward meaningless abstraction.

We last saw and talked to Warren Hunter at his studio in downtown San Antonio at least four years ago. We had rescued a flaking painting he had done as a very young man from the damp wall of the museum and were asking him if he would like to restore it. As busy as he was there in a room full of hard-at-it students, he graciously agreed, later delivering the little picture, good as new, to Bandera. We thought of the painting when we heard of the manner of his tragic death. Ironically, it depicted a scene of cowboys on the trail north struggling with a herd of cattle through a swollen stream.

A small grey almost primitive work, it also stands as a memorial like unto the brightly colored monumental copy of Warren Hunter's later virtuoso work going up on the side of an old building in picturesque Menard.

One of the murals, executed by Jack Feagin of Ingram, and copying the original paintings by Warren Hunter, will be installed on the wall of the old movie theater in Menard during Jim Bowie Days in September.

Watch those cash register tapes at the supermarket and the discount stores! Rarely have I been to the grocery store and not had an error on my bill and its ALWAYS in the store's favor. I was charged $2.69 for $1.65 coffee the other day in Kerrville, this being no surprise as it happens with almost every visit to the supermarket. At a discount store about a month ago I was charged $9.89 twice for one item and didn't realize it until I got home. Your money is evaporating if you don't watch those register tapes like a hawk. What is interesting is that the clerk generally acts perturbed and put out for having it pointed out.

About a year ago at a Sun Harvest in San Antonio, the clerk totaled up my bill and said,"That comes to $94.83." I scratched my head. It didn't seem like $94.83. I asked her with as much humility as I could round up.....if she wouldn't mind, I'm sorry to ask you to do this, but could you uh...possibly...re-add my groceries? The bag person unbagged by groceries. With contempt emanating out of every pore of her body, (and I was not winning a popularity contest with the folks in line behind me either) she went through the process again. As she rang up each item I kept a running total in my head. (Kids don't try this at home- this is how prehistoric humanoids learned to use math and it could cause a short circuit in our Nintendo database.) Her new improved total, she said, "That'll be $73.19". She said that showing no remorse, no shock, no penitence whatsoever! From $94.83 down to $73.19? You'd think I'd be pleased, right? Wrong. The total I came up with in my head was around sixty dollars, and I'm never off more than a dollar or two either way. Once again, I start slobbering with apologies "Please, I'm sure you're right, but would you mind...grovel..grovel..shuffle. .shuffle...adding it up one more time"? Staring at me with daggers she totalled my groceries for the THIRD time. "The total comes to $61.21", she said. Again, no shame, no "I'm awfully sorry", no excuses, no shrinking.

So how did I respond? "Well, third time seems to be a charm", I said, "how's about let's make it four?"

But this is not what I had set out to say. I had set out to tell you about all the GOOD deals you're gonna find at the Senior Citizens' Rummage Sale on August 20 and 21, from 9-4 both days. This is their annual fundraiser. The activity center will be open daily starting on August 16, to accept donations of "anything saleable". And don't worry about the register tape, these folks use old-fashioned math. The seniors monthly covered dish luncheon and meeting will be this Fri. the 13th, at 11:00 a.m. A musical program will feature keyboardist, Jack Stanley.

Much has been written about the evil times that exist in our country today. Yes, we are all conscious of the violence of the age in which we live. But would you exchange our present age for another? Let's look back into the 1800s.

Violence in the streets? In the late 1800s the Irish were rioting in New York--the Blacks in Savannah--the Chinese in San Francisco...Minority problems? About a sixth of the population was foreign born, largely unassimilated and unable to speak English. Children worked 10-hour days in factories, mines and sweatshops. Public education a century ago stopped with grade school...Drugs? In some Northern and Southern states, poppies were grown for a thriving domestic opium industry. Opium was given to crying babies and cocaine was the chief ingredient in many famous soothing remedies. The quality of life? Pneumonia and tuberculosis ravaged the population in winter, malaria and typhoid in [illegible] smallpox in all seasons. Bonesetters [illegible] during young women foot-racing through

"On the trail with Bungy"

...And up the coast and THROUGH Los Angeles, 6-lane freeways FULL, and houses, houses everywhere! It looks like brand new houses and apartments are marching up every ridge and through every valley.

A village I used to know that consisted of an old hotel on stilts out over the ocean, with a shell shop next door, now has a population of 64,000. Malibu, that used to be about a mile long, just goes on and on up the coast.

Beaches where we used to camp out when I was growing up are now filled with huge, brand new mansions, all Old Spanish style and worth half a million dollars apiece.

• On the road again next morning through Salinas Valley, California's "bread basket." Tomatoes, cabbages, green beans, carrots and broccoli.(a broccoli festival going on this weekend-- I wonder if they invited former president Bush?)

And of course-- thousands and thousands of acres of grapes.

• We've met and seen lots of friends both old and new along the way. One interesting character was Bob Gallimore, who just finished hiking the Appalachian Trail to arrive at Thomas Jefferson's "Monticello" by July 4, the anniversary of Jefferson's death. 1993 marked Thomas Jefferson's 250th birthday.

Bob walked a total of 83 days (which is how many years Jefferson actually lived), had a walking stick named "Wonder Boy," and lost 40 pounds by existing on pop tarts and fruit juice.

• Petaluma! Must have driven by this town hundreds of times, and should have stopped each time! It's filled with circa 1840-1850s structures, and the largest adobe rancho home in California Also, Victorian homes filling each block and great 1940s architecture-- what a combo!

Called "The Egg Capital of the World," it features a chicken museum, hatcheries, and, naturally, the "Henny Penny Cafe."

The KOA camp grounds were wonderful with huge shade trees, sparkling swimming pool and all kinds of "dude ranch" stuff for kids and adults. Lots of Europeans have come to the U.S. for the summer, rented RVs, and are busily going up and down the coast wearing big smiles on their faces as they nod in passing.

• And finally, "home," to my sister Flo Ann's. She has just built a huge home right on the Mendocino coastline, with a view of the lighthouse and the sparkling, stormy blue Pacific--spectacular vistas out each window. My other two sisters, Ba and Marilyn came up, too, and it was the first time in many years that the four of us had all been together. (Larry had to go off and hide sometimes, because the four of us would talk so much)

Also there was Dwight Lopg, who taught me how to sail when I was 12, and who got me onto several of my cruises over the years.

We watched his video that's selling in Mystic, Conn. and other yachting places, of his sailboat trip around the world in a 32-foot ketch called the "Idle Hour," in 1934. It took him six years to complete it, and for fun, he had put in a little footage of me on the yacht Te Vega, when I was crewing through the South Seas.

And there were two birthdays celebrated-- Ba smashed cake in my face, and SHE thought it was hilarious.

Tarpley

Nettie Dean

The Tarpley Volunteer Fire Dept. is having two workdays on Sat. the 14th and 21st of August in getting the grounds prepared for the Annual Benefit Fire Dept. Labor Day Barbecue, always held on Sunday, Sept. 5, before Labor Day. All help will surely be appreciated as there's much work to be done.

This is also the Bi-Annual Tarpley school reunion and also the Rothe school is represented. It wouldn't be complete without the famous parade at 11:30 a.m. we have each year on the "famous" downtown Tarpley street!

Recent visitors of Mr. & Mrs. Anton Haner were their grandchildren, Erick & Holly of Mesquite. Their mother, Mrs. Doyle Haner, came for a week, spending time also with her mother, Mrs. Sheila Heyen of San Antonio. Doyle Haner came for his family the last weekend and visited his parents, Anton & Marilyn Haner. They also attended his grandparents, Mr. & Mrs. Richard Tatschs', 70th Wedding Anniversary in New Braunfels.

Visitors last Sunday night of Elzie & Nettie Dean were his cousin Delores Sauter Estes of Sherman, TX, and her daughter Earlene Scott of Deatsville, AL.

Mrs. Marie Hood recently returned from several weeks of visiting relatives. She drive to Baytown to her daughter & son-in-laws home, Mr.& Mrs. Harold Smith and daughter Steffani. She and her granddaughter flew to East Brunswick, N.J. where they spent 2 weeks visiting Maries daughter & family there, Sharon & Nabil Taha and son Adlai. Also, her granddaughter and family, Rhoda & Fred Makled and young daughter, and many of the Taha families there. Some of the highlights of their trip were seeing Atlantic City, N.J., Six Flags over Texas, & Asbury Park, N.J. Many of the houses on the boardwalk were damaged from the North Easterly storms. Also, they could see the floods of the mighty Mississippi River as they flew over it. After Marie & Steffani returned to Baytown, Gladys Ann Smith carried her mother to Cleveland & Shepherd to visit relatives. On Marie's way home to Tarpley, she stopped at Weiner, TX to visit old friends Emily & Buddy Rheins. Welcome home, Marie. We missed you.

Rev. & Mrs. Glenn Rhines went to Kerrville Monday night to Oak Park Baptist Church to attend the Medina River Association meeting. The speakers were Bob & Nelda Norris. Subject was on the Hospitality House of Huntsville, how it functions as a home to shelter loved ones who have families there. The program was a special conference on State Missions, also on Christmas giving to help the Hospitality House.

August birthdays: Artie Erfurt & daughter Sara, Ella Mae Sandidge, Mary Hietalahti, Nettie Dean & son Charles, Anton Haner, Elsie Perkins, and Lorene Billings.

August anniversaries: Arthur & Georgia Mae Erfurt, Dan & Ella Mae Sandidge, Lynn & Louetta Holt (25th).

Mr. & Mrs. J. E. Dean visited Mrs. Linnie Sandidge Friday at Bandera. Recently Mrs. Lynn Holt and son Perry visited with her parents, C. D. and Jo Perry in Ft. Worth, and her sister & husband, Robin & Wes Rayborn of Ogden, Utah. Louetta also attended the Eastover Baptist Church Reunion while there.

Bill Thompson & grandson Erik Harp recently returned from a great fishing trip to Lake Living (near Livingston, TX). It seems from reports Erik (9 yrs) did very well, but Bill has a few tall tales to tell us!

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Abominations to God

"There are six things which the Lord hates, seven which are an abomination to him: haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises evil plans, feet that make haste to run to evil, a false witness who breathes out lies, and a man who sows discord among brothers." — Proverbs 6: 16-19

God knows there are faults in all men. They are His creations, but He left them a freedom of will to determine for themselves the paths they would follow in their earthly lives. That did not mean, however, that God was unaware of the weaknesses of men, or that He would overlook their evil characteristics of shortcomings. The list of abominations in Proverbs fairly well sets forth those personality traits that God-fearing people themselves find detestable among those who sin or openly break the guidelines for a decent life set forth in the commandments. But before we cast our eyes for others' faults, we should look within ourselves for any we might have.

Lenna & Bill Walker enjoyed the company of Dr. & Mrs. Frank Ducket and their two daughters, Emily and Cecile over the past weekend. Mrs. Frank Ducket is a niece of Lenna Walker. On Sat. Rickey Walker, Bill Jrs. wife, prepared two beef roasts for the family dinner. Bill Sr. set up a portable table out in the yard underneath one of their large oak trees so they could all enjoy the dinner and the beauty of the area. Rachel and Roxanne, Bill and Lenna's granddaughters also set up their tent in the yard and talked Emily and Cecile to spend the night with them in the tent.

• The congregation of Walker Memorial Chapel had a very special treat last Sunday during morning service. Judy Hooper spoke and showed slides of her mission field in Nigeria. Judy has been serving in and around Ogboma-Sha Nigeria for nine years. A native of San Antonio, Judy graduated from Jefferson high and received degrees from Trinity University, Our Lady of the Lake (Worden school of Social Work) and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary. As a Southern Baptist missionary she has worked as medical social worker, teacher, director of social work training at the medical center and at Kersey Childrens Home. Judy is currently on furlough and taking the opportunity to join us in the Hill Country. She is building a home in Bandera Homesteads expecting to be a resident sometime in the future.

The slides and inspiration provided by Judy were thoroughly enjoyed by all in attendance. Judy has been a long time friend of Rev. Ken Brown and his wife Susan and family. Judy wore a native dress for her presentation and had a display of native materials that the congregation could look over.

• The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Dept. held training on Thurs, August 5, the first 30 minutes was with a VCR tape and then they moved training over to the river at Wharton's Dock, here they received hands on training using the floating water pump. This training came in use on Sat., August 7, when the request for the Lakeshore's big tanker came in to help support the fire fighting near Mico. The found a stream where they could place the floating pump and keep the tanker full while it was replenishing the water supply on other fire trucks. A little bit of training paid off. Fire Chief John Chancellor and fireman Earl Norwood manned the pump and tanker.

• Betty and I returned from Las Vegas late Monday evening, August 2. We left here on Friday, July 30 to take part in an invitational slot tournament at the Riviera Hotel and Casino in Vegas.

Invitations went out to many of the people who have been in their tournaments before.

The invitation included a complimentary room for four days and three nights, a slot tournament with top prize of $10,000 and a western barbecue with a murder mystery to solve and the swinging sounds of "Country Splash."

During the course of the evening of the barbecue, someone shoots the sheriff. Helpful hints to solve the shooting were given by some of the staff acting as characters from the old west.

Each table was asked to study the clues and piece them together and solve the mystery of who shot the sheriff.

There were rewards given out to the top five tables who solved the mystery with the top prize being $100.

It was a fun trip and we saw many old friends and made some new ones.

At our table was a couple from Santa Ana, California, Don and Joan Gray. It was Don's 71st birthday and we all tried to help the young man celebrate.

Raser announces for JP precinct 3

Roger Raser

Roger Raser has announced his candidacy for the office of Justice of the Peace, Bandera County Precinct #3 for the term of 1995-1999.

The formal filing period begins on December 6. Raser said he is announcing his candidacy now because he feels the public is entitled to information regarding political office candidates as early as possible.

Raser says that "Bandera County is growing rapidly as a popular place to live. We must be progressive to handle this influx of new residents. My efforts to gain the position of J P will encompass several issues. First, I will seek a full share of the county's collective responsibilities for handling and processing all criminal cases and legal matters within the jurisdiction of the Justice of the Peace Court"

Secondly, he says, "I would like to offer the private citizen, and our business community, the full assistance, support and services of the Justice of the Peace Court.

"Thirdly, I feel we must recognize the escalation of juvenile and gang related crimes in our county, as well as surrounding communities, and we must protect Bandera County residents against further development."

He also says it is necessary to "inititate a cooperative and collective effort within all levels of the judicial system and law enforcement agencies to insure prompt and positive action against all criminal activities within the county."

He says he is willing to dedicate the time and effort necessary to accomplish the above objectives and help keep Bandera County crime free.

Bandera County Helping Hand nears 10th milestone

Helping Hand will celebrate its 10th year in October. During the first six months of 1993, the non-profit organization has already aided 739 individuals and 204 familes.

When Helping Hand began, it offered food and clothes only. Those were the only commodities available. It was a struggle to pay the rent, the utilities, the expenses. Helping Hand has never at any time received state or federal money. It operates on donations from churches, individuals and non-profit organizations.

Helping Hand is the designated non-profit agency for Salvation Army vouchers. All donations made to Salvation Army from Bandera County residents are used for this program. Primarily, vouchers are used to purchase gas for transients to help them get to the next Salvation Army Center. Bandera County residents, also, are sometimes helped in emergency situations.

Mildred Treaster is beginning her eighth year as director for Bandera County Helping Hand Center. She says the center needs donations of: sugar, bread, canned meats, juices, men's jeans and children's shoes (all sizes).

For those who wonder, all food arriving at the center is dated. Everyone gets fresh food.

A bulletin board at the center advises those in the community of special needs including that of jobs.

Volunteers are special at Helping Hand. They always get hugs and are thanked for helping.

All clothes and household items at the thrift store have been donated.

Helping Hand loans out medical items needed: wheel chairs, canes, etc. For those needing these items, or other helps, call 796-3070. The center is approved for United Way, Combined Federal Campaign for 1993-94.

Affiliate members are needed. Those individuals or businesses making monthly pledges become affiliate members. They are non-voting members. Their names are engraved on a brass plate and mounted on the Affiliate Member Plaque in the center.

sure reducer installed in their line. Water service may also be discontinued.

Public Works Director Jon Murrell said that the water problem may take some time to fix. "We have taken turns getting up during the night for the last five nights to moniter the well. We are all concerned about getting water to the public. That's our job.

"We need a good response from the public, though, on curtailing their water use. It could take a while to fix this problem. People need to realize that under the restriction they are not to water outside or wash their car. They are limited to 170 gallons per day of water consumption."

"Why does a slight tax increase cost you nine hundred dollars and a substantial tax cut save you thirty cents?" - Peg Bracken

Would anyone out there like to read a good horror story? A book that you "can't put down?" Well, do I have the book for you. No, it is not a novel by Stephen King or Dean Koontz. In fact, unfortunately, it is not a work of fiction at all. The book I am referring to has been on the best seller list for 36 weeks. The book is entitled, "Bankruptcy 1995: The Coming Collapse of America and How to Stop It."

Having read it, I certainly understand why it's so popular, even though it is definitely not entertaining. In my opinion, it is extremely well written, and very will documented with statistics, charts, graphs, chapter notes and includes a glossary and index.

Rather than do a book review, I am going to take some excerpts from the book that I feel are particularly relevant and informative.

"America is at war. Perhaps not your standard definition of war, but a very real war nonetheless. We are at war economically...Our nation's wealth is being drained drop by drop, because our government continues to mount record deficits and, in order to finance its obligations, puts us at the mercy of foreign lenders. The security of our country depends on the fiscal integrity of our government, and we're throwing it away. We're doing nothing to protect it. Instead, it's politics as usual. " From the forward by U.S. Senator Warren B. Rudman.

"The problem, which is of our making, will precipitate an economic nightmare that will dwarf the great depression...this problem is government debt."

"If present trends continue, the federal government's accumulated debt will have reached approximately 6.56 trillion by 1995. That's roughly nine times the amount the government will collect in personal and corporate income taxes in that year. It's the equivalent of your piling up debts equal to nine times your annual income."

"By 1995, the United States won't be able to afford the annual interest payment on this debt."

"At least five times in the past ten years, Washington politicians have announced a new plan, passed a new law, or reached a new agreement that they promised would bring spending under control in order to reduce and eventually eliminate budget deficits. Each time, as we now know, they have been wrong."

The Grace Commission (set up under President Reagan in 1982) found that one-third of all U.S. tax dollars were consumed by waste and inefficiency in the federal government.

"Congress has resorted to pushing the balanced-budget target dates further into the future instead of facing the constraints of the law it passed. Today, our expenditures outstrip our receipts by 37 percent."

"...The responsibility for raising the alarm and goading public officials into action is ours—yours and mine. By failing to use our voices, we've conceded the creation of a political caste system in America and given elected officials leave to assign to themselves the prerogatives of a collective monarchy."

In closing, I highly recommend that everyone red this book. Hopefully, the predictions in this book will not ever come to pass.

Phil Tobin is certified as arson investigator

Phillip P. Tobin, Bandera Assistant Fire Chief, has been officially certified as a fire and arson investigator under the laws of the state of Texas, having completed the new training course conducted under the auspices of the Alamo Area Enforcement Academy, the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement Officer Standards and Education, and the Texas Commission on Fire Protection.

Tobin was a member of the first class of arson investigator trainees to be organized under new and stricter state guidelines. The course, involving 136 training hours, ended with the awarding of certificates, July 29, by Alamo Area Council of Governments and Bexar County Fire Marshal's Office, local organizers of the program.

Lead instructor was Earl W. Jones, Bexar County deputy fire marshal, who is also a member of the Texas Commission on Law Enforcement and the Texas Commission on Fire Protection. Jones brought in guest experts in the different aspects of laws and techniques relating to the field of arson investigation, who put on lectures and demonstrations during the six weeks of the course.

While Tobin was the only enrollee from Bandera County, students came from Kerr, Comal, Bexar and other counties who are members of AACOG.

Mary Ann Smith looked down from her perch high atop this ladder to give a little smile, as she and other Bandera school staffers showed up Saturday, Aug. 7 for a "paint up and fix up" party at Bandera Junior High School.

Alkek Elementary School PTO to conduct kindergarten orientation

The Alkek Elementary Parent/Teacher Organization (P.T.O.) will display information about the organization at the kindergarten orientation on Thursday, Aug. 12 from 5 p.m. to 8 p.m. They will also have an information table on the first day of school, Tuesday, Aug. 17, from 7:45 a.m. to 9 a.m.

All teachers, parents, grandparents and concerned citizens of Bandera are invited to join the elementary P.T.O. A two dollar membership donation is solicited. For those unable to visit the information tables on Aug. 12 and 17, to join or to obtain more information about the P.T.O., call Debbie Stratton at 796-4771, or Denise Griffin at 796-3513.

The P.T.O. is involved in many fund raising projects thoughout the school year. Monies raised in the past have: bought playground equipment, picnic tables, dictionaries, computers, teaching tools, and has enlarged the science department.

Traditional major fund raisers for the P.T.O. have been the carnival, catalog sales, Little Olympics and the Christmas bazaar.

P.T.O. members are looking forward to welcoming new and returning students. "We are looking forward to a very good school year and working together with you to continue making our school a better place for our children," Debbie Stratton says.

BJHS paint party was successful

School administrators and teachers joined parents and students on Saturday, Aug. 7 for a "paint party" at the Junior High School.

Principal Robert Weyman said the purpose of the painting party was to "put school colors out. Get some school pride at work here."

High School coach Brett Morris did much of the work at the junior high prior to the planned work day. "He did a fantastic job," Weyman said. "Far above and beyond any call made of him."

Weyman offered to buy paint for teachers so they could spruce up their classrooms. "I couldn't believe it," he said. "I offered them paint and they just took off. They did all the work themselves. They carried the ball down the field. There wasn't a lot left to do for the paint party!"

The work left kept the painting party of 21 adults and 7 students busy on Saturday from 8 a.m. until approximately 3 p.m. The group of volunteers shared lunch together at the school.

During the paint party, the hallway of the Merrick Building was painted. The hall by the gym and part of a classroom were also painted. The woodwork in the office was stripped and it was painted. Windows were also cleaned.

Junior High students will begin the new school year with a new principal, some new teachers, and a new-looking school, sparkling clean and freshly painted.

Bandera Junior High School PTO is "in the works"

One of this year's goals for Bandera Junior High School is to form an active Parent/Teacher Organization, or PTO. Those interested in helping reach that goal are urged to attend the organizational meeting on Thursday, Aug. 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bandera Junior High School cafeteria.

The purpose of the Aug. 19 meeting will be to organize the group, form a committee, elect officers and set dues. Fund raisers will also be discussed. Money raised by the group will go into purchasing playground equipment and making other needed improvements on the campus.

Spokesperson Brenda Brown said that Principal Weyman has already designated a room for use during PTO meetings. "I've met with teachers and the principal. They are willing to back us 100 percent. We need to have people come to the meeting who can do anything to help."

Brown said that the main PTO goal will be to fix up the school and playground "so the kids will take an interest in it. We want to maybe put up volleyball nets or tether ball. The kids get 30 minutes for lunch. They wolf their food down in about 10 minutes, then go out and have nothing to do. There is no playground equipment at the Junior High. We want to give them something to do- to keep them out of trouble.

"I have two children in the junior high myself. I see a lot that needs to get done."

Brown is making fliers on her computer for distribution at school. The fliers will announce the Aug. 19 meeting. "I work in Kerrville from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. That's just one example of why we need to get some more help in getting this started. I'll need someone to distribute these fliers."

For more information, or to offer help, call Brenda Brown at 796-7106 after 6 p.m.

Junior high begins team teaching during 1993-94 year

'Middle school' restructuring concept a part of principal Weyman's philosophy

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Newly hired Bandera Junior High Principal, Robert S. Weyman, says team teaching will be introduced for the 1993-94 school year. "The teachers are excited about it and dedicated teachers can't praise the concept enough.

"We have a theme for the junior high this year. 'Effort today, tomorrow the world.'"

A special in-service to discuss the middle school restructuring concept is being held this week. Teachers who have already attended a workshop on team teaching will present the in-service to other teachers on two of the four days. Those teaching will be: Jan Pease, Shirley Nedry, Yvone Fenner and Debbie Garrett.

Teachers will team up by grade level. Each team will meet each day. They will discuss student progress, discipline problems and needs. "It's a real plus," Weyman says. "One teacher can help another to understand how to best reach an individual student. If there is a common problem with a student, the teachers can make each other aware of it and work on finding solutions. Interdisciplinary lessons are a big plus.

"For example. If the science lesson is on the ocean, literature can center on stories about the ocean. Math problems can be introduced concerning the ocean. Every lesson can dovetail into that theme.

"When parents come to me with questions about team teaching and I explain what it is, they are in favor of it. Some of them have thought it meant a group of teachers all in one classroom. It doesn't.

"We are educating today's students better than they have ever been educated. But are we teaching them how to succeed in TODAY'S world? This faculty is anxious and modern. They are wanting team teaching badly. It takes a long time to change a big system. It takes time to get changes made that are needed. I'm predicting success for this year. I tell my faculty: 'jump on the bandwagon and go with me- or I'll drag you

Other Bandera campus administrators speak out:

High school principal Richard Delamain

Bandera High School principal Richard Delamain is excited about the 1993-94 school year.

"We have spent four days in staff development meetings," Delamain said. "Teachers are getting inside different techniques and styles of accelerated learning. Accelerated learning offers different activities geared to make learning more interesting.

"I'm looking for a very positive year for teachers. They will be able to apply what they've learned in these classes. Some kids learn through visual, some through audio, some through tactile. Teachers will be able to teach all these students by using methods the students can understand.

"I'm excited about being able to have accelerated learning this year and having these classes before school starts so we can get a jump on the school year."

Richard Delamain

High school vice principal Andy Kline

Andy Kline will serve as vice principal this year at Bandera High School. He and his wife have owned property in Pebble Beach for the past eight years, and are moving into the community.

He has a total of 14 years of teaching and administrative experience behind him. His wife is principal of Reddix Vocational Training Center in San Antonio this year. It is her second year as principal of that school. The couple's son attends Texas A&M.

Kline will spend most of his time working directly with students. He will supervise extra curricular activities, attending all sports activities. "I hope to help the new golf coach as a volunteer. Most of my time will be dealing with student situations; needs, discipline and counseling.

"I came here because I wanted a smaller setting. I have reservations about large schools. Some kids fall through the cracks in larger schools. I realize they do, also, in smaller schools. But it's easier to keep track of high risk students and work with them. I want to do what I can to help each student."

Andy Kline

Alkek Elementary principal Jack Massa

Jack Massa goes into his third year as principal of Alkek Elementary School this year. He has seen elementary enrollment jump from 680 to the current 862 students.

Massa attributes the rise in enrollment to growth in the community. "People are getting out of San Antonio."

He and his wife life in Pebble Beach in Lakehills. "I drive 1283 everyday coming in to work. I see more people moving in. The community is really growing and I'm looking forward to a good year here at Alkek.

"We won't have a final figure on enrollment until after school starts. All classrooms will be utilized. We have two portable buildings. Each one has two classrooms. I'm going to the school board tonight to try to get one or two more teachers.

"This will be our first year with integrated teaching. The philosophy behind it is that language usage and reading emerge better through immersion. We learn to read by reading. We learn to write by writing. Learning in all content areas has its foundation in language."

Jack Massa

Debbie Whitt Jarzombek, a reading specialist and independent consultant, taught the whole language philosophy of curriculum integration to Alkek Elementary teachers during the week of Aug. 9 through 13.

Massa is also looking forward to a return to teaching this year. He will teach junior high religion at his church, St. Victor's Chapel.

Alternative school to be offered here

Two BISD campuses set programs for 'discipline problem' students

This year, for the first time, alternative school will be held in Bandera for high school and junior high students.

Prior to the 1993-94 school year, students who were continuing discipline problems were sent to alternative school in Kerrville. This year, both junior high and high school students who have committed serious offenses will remain on the high school campus under the direction of Gary Chandler.

Superintendent Jim Stewart said that alternative school is for "young people who cannot operate under normal school classroom conditions. Often, the problems are emotional. We are getting more and more students coming to school with problems."

While in alternative school, students will complete their normal classroom requirements. The difference is that students will be isolated from other students and will have no privileges.

"Having it here will make it less awkward," Stewart said. "We paid Kerrville for four spaces last year whether we used them or not. And if we had more students, they had to wait. Now we can assign them as needed and as many as needed."

Alternative school, Stewart said, is a last resort. "We try on campus suspension first. If it doesn't work, we go to alternative school."

Chandler will be teaching several grade levels as the supervisor for alternative school.

Keeping Kids Safe

(NU) - To help you do your part to keep children safe on the way to school, AAA Auto Club South suggests:

- Slowing down around schools and residential areas.
- Watching for children.
- Remembering children are unpredictable in traffic.
- Looking for crossing guards, bikes and school buses — all signs of children in the area.
- Obeying school bus stop laws and other traffic signs.
- Being alert for late students running to catch the school bus.

Rev. Franklin Pullin from the First Baptist Church used for his text Sunday I Cor. 15:58. Marley Johnson was a guest.

Residents Ada Sehon, Mae Eidenshink, Evelyn Hostetter & Jeanetta Adamietz joined Annette Kalka-Schulte, Fannie Caffell, Dorothy Callahan and Aggie Batto of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church for singing, prayers and rosary Monday evening.

When the Melodiers came last Tuesday they put everyone in a "Happy Mood" with singing their "Happy Song's" program. Pianist was Florence Isaacs. Emcee and violinist was Judy Goodenough. Playing the autoharp was Lee Yeton. Other Melodiers were Dolores Heeg, Bettie Suddath, Floyd Portman, Betty Laganier, Loretta Hund, Helen Abrescia, Fannie Caffall, Mickie Causey, Lois Hayes, and Bob Wyatt.

The ladies and children from Hill Country Chapel came for their regular monthly visit last Wed. They looked and sounded like professionals with their singing and dancing. Attending were Judy John, Kevin and Kaci, Nita Pillet, Beau and John Paul, Linda Beschle, Sydney, Ryan and Lisa Parker, Linda McGhee, Sarah, Chris & Adam, Candy Wheeler and Kaysha, Codi Craddock, Lauren Mulligan, Robert, Robby & Dennis Miller & Mona and Meredith Miller.

This column will be writtenespecially for our Senior Citizens, with emphasis on the weekly upcoming events at Silver Sage Corral, and personal informative news items on our Senior Citizens, of whom we are so very proud. Please turn in all news items to Marti Holloway by Friday before closing, as this column will be written and submitted early Monday morning for publication. The Silver Sage Corral is located at the corner of 11th Street and Hackberry.

The Pan Cake breakfast is held the first Tues. of every month, everyone is welcome to a beautiful breakfast prepared by our hard working volunteers. Not only will you meet many new friends, but enjoy a filling breakfast of pancakes. The time is from 7 a.m.-9a.m. Don't forget, the first Tues. of every month, so mark your calendar for a fun time.

Roy & Mary Carpenter were busy this past week with a visit from their son, Glen, his lovely wife Melynda, and children Sam and Dana, all from League City, TX. Also joining a family get together with Jacky Buck was her son, Clayton and his lovely wife Sue, and children John & Adrian, from Tomball, TX. As everyone knows Mary & Jacky are sisters, so it was a very special event. I have seen pictures of the children and grandchildren, and they are a handsome family.

The Silver Sage Walkers are a fine group that meet at the front entrance of Silver Sage every Mon., Wed., and Fri., to start their walk at 7:30 a.m. sharp. Everyone is welcome to meet with them and join in their early morning walk. Walking is the best exercise for an easy but beneficial way to get in shape. The early morning hours are cool and the walk an enjoyable one. In a month of walking not only will you slim down, but you will feel like a new person.

We wish a speedy recovery for our dear friends, W. B. Kirkpatrick, Ty Goff, Edna Kalka, Frank Olague, Marion Bunch, and Charles "Chuck" Pulliam. Know that you have many caring friends at the Silver Sage Corral who miss you.

AUG 11 93

Felice and Pragedis Molina announce the upcoming marriage of their daughter Sally Molina to Kevin Parker, son of Rose Parker of Bandera and Phillip Parker of Fayetteville, N.C. The bride elect is a 1987 graduate of Bandera High School and a 1991 graduate of Southwest Texas State University, where she received a Bachelors of Business Administration in management. She is currently working on a second degree in accounting. Parker is a 1985 graduate of Bandera High School and is currently employed with Builders Square as Lumber Department manager in Austin. The couple plan to marry Aug. 28 at 7 p.m. at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church in Bandera.

Soccer registration begins Aug. 18

Practice scheduled to begin Aug. 23 for three divisions of youngsters

Bandera County Youth Soccer Association has helped youth participate in soccer for the past 14 years.

Registration for the 1993 season will begin on Aug. 18 and 19 at Alkek Elementary where it will be held from 3 to 4 p.m. Registration will be held at the Medina School from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Final registration day will be Saturday, Aug. 21 from 8 a.m. to noon. It will be held at the First State Bank in Bandera. If your child will be five years old before Sept. 1, 1993, he/she will be eligible to play soccer.

The "F" division is for children ages five and six. The "E" division is for those seven and eight. The "D" division is for youth 9 to 11.

The registration fee is $20 per child, with a $40 limit per family no matter how many children from that family participate.

Practice will begin on Aug. 23. The Soccer Association desperately needs anyone who still has league-issued shorts and/or soccer balls to turn them back in. They may be left with Alleen Ellinger at the Bandera Electric Cooperative.

Parents interested in becoming involved may contact coach Bill Wyman at 796-4817; referee Stan Lico at 535-6194; or a team mom or dad through your child's coach.

BISD changes new student registration procedure for more thorough verification

Beginning this year, Bandera ISD will change procedures for registering students new to the district in an attempt to verify student residence.

All three campuses will make more stringent demands for the verification of the student's address. Two new forms, a transfer request and a host family notary form, will be used.

Parents registering students new to the district need to bring with them some proof of residence. This might be the copy of a lease or a utility bill, or other identification placing them in the district.

Parents who reside with another family in the district must file a "host family notary form." Host families are responsible for reporting that school-age children attending district schools reside with them.

According to Texas Education Code 21.031, a person who knowingly falsifies information on an enrollment form is liable for tuition for the period during which the ineligible student is enrolled.

Monday, Aug. 9 marked the beginning of volleyball practice season in Bandera, and 34 girls showed up for the first day's workout, according to volleyball coach Eileen McDonald. The girls began practice by running a mile, then they came inside to practice volleyball hits, set ups and serves. Here, senior Courtney Cota practices her "bump." LETTER TO HOUSEHOLDS
NATIONAL SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM/SCHOOL BREAKFAST PROGRAM

Parent/Guardian:

The Bandera Independent School District takes part in the National School Lunch Program/Breakfast Program. Meal are served every school day. Children may buy lunch at the Elementary for $1.15, Jr. High for $1.25 and High School for $1.35 and breakfast for .55¢. Meals are also available free or at a reduced price.

If you now get food stamps or AFDC for your children, your children get free meals. If your total household income is the same or less than the amounts on the Income Chart below, your children can get free meals or reduced price meals. A foster child may get free or reduced price meals regardless of your income. The reduced price is .40¢ for lunch and 30¢ for breakfast.

TO GET FREE OR REDUCED PRICE MEALS FOR YOUR CHILDREN, YOU MUST COMPLETE AN APPLICATION AND RETURN IT TO THE SCHOOL. WE CANNOT APPROVE AN APPLICATION THAT IS NOT COMPLETE.

HOW TO APPLY

If you now get food stamps or AFDC for the children you are applying for, the application must have the children's names, a food stamp or AFDC case number for each child, and the signature of an adult household member.

If you are applying for a foster child, the application must have the child's name, the child's "personal use" income, and an adult signature.

If you do not list a food stamp or AFDC case number for all children you are applying for, then the application must have the children's names, the names of all household members, the amount of income each person got last month and where it came from, the signature of an adult household member and that adult's social security number or the word "none" if the adult does not have a social security number.

Reporting changes: If your children get free or reduced price meals because of your income, you must tell the school if your household decreases or your income increases by more than $50.00 per month or $600.00 per year. If your children get meals because you get food stamps/AFDC, you must tell the school when you are not getting AFDC or food stamps for them. You may then fill out another application giving income information.

CONFIDENTIALITY: School officials use the information on the application only to decide if your children should get free or reduced price meals.

Sincerely,

BHS gears up for football season

As two-a-day practices began last week, Coach Williamson expressed optimism

Bandera High School head football coach and athletic director Mike Williamson instructs members of his high school football squad during two-a-day practice on Monday, Aug. 9. 56 boys showed up for first day practice, according to Williamson. The Bulldogs will return 12 lettermen to the field, including five offensive and one defensive starter. Starters who are set to return this season include Robert Bradford, Aarron Lacey, Isaac Kenney, Dale Martin, Bill Wyman and Brian Flack.

With only a few practices under their belts, Bandera High School's head football coach and his 56 players have high hopes for the upcoming season. And they are all enthusiastic about the change in "two a day" workout practices.

This year, rather than coming out for practice once in the morning and once in the late afternoon, the athletes show up in the morning and practice until 1:30 p.m.

The football boys seem to like the new practice system, and head coach and athletic director Mike Williamson says he believes it is a definite improvement. Athletes are through with practice early in the afternoon, and he said there will "not be so much weight loss," because the boys will be able to eat a big meal in the evening.

His chief focus during these critical, early workouts will be learning and conditioning. The athletes will get a clear understanding of what is expected and what they will be doing; and they will be building strength and improving their general physical condition.

Williamson, who comes to Bandera this year after a nine-year stint in Uvalde, says Bandera's team is faster than the teams he has coached over the last four years.

There are about 15 seniors among the 56 10th, 11th and 12th grade boys who showed up for practices, and more juniors than seniors. The juniors, many of whom moved up from last year's undefeated junior varsity team, are obviously a source of great hope for Williamson.

"After (last year's) season-know they can do good," he says.

Bandera varsity's first football scrimmage will be Thursday, Aug. 19 at Jourdanton.

Bandera's freshmen and JV will scrimmage at Jourdanton Aug. 19.

Medina's football squad began practice last week, and by Monday they were working out in uniform. Medina High School will scrimmage at St. Michael's on Friday, Aug. 20. The Bobcats' first game will be Sept. 3, at Natalia.

'Showdown' set at Bandera Downs

On October 10, 1993, at Bandera Downs, the "Showdown in the Hill Country" match race will take place.

1992's Quarter Horse Distance Horse of the Meet, Physical Boy; and the Thoroughbred Older and Sprinter of the Meet, Raise the Govenor, will go head to head over a thousand yards.

Just like it was in the old days, a challenge was made and taken, and the time to put up or shut up is near in this winner-take-all match of the decade.

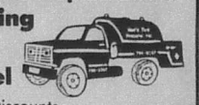

Rumors are flying throughout the industry, but the real story is that a purse of $20,000 is up for grabs.

Race fans may wager on this race. Twenty thousand dollars on just one race, just two amazing horses, only one winner.

Road saga continues

Commissioner says residents, developers provide paving materials for subdivision streets

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

After nearly a month's preparation time, 32nd Street in Lakehills has been paved. County Commissioner Dan C. Alanis says that your road could be paved if you, and others, are willing to buy the materials for the paving.

"The residents along that road raised $1,500 to get that road paved. We agreed to pave approximately 8/10 of a mile. Elmhurst was paved approximately 25 to 30 years ago. Other paved roads in Lakehills have been paved by the developers. We (County Commissioners) began requiring that back around 1982 or 1983.

"Brushy Creek, Lakeside and Goat Hill Road, all those were paved by the developers. I remember about Goat Hill. I wrote the check out for that one myself."

Alanis says that "in the long run" it saves money in maintenance when roads are paved. But he said there are two problems with paving roads; the amount of money needed "up front", and the other road work in the precinct which suffers while the three-man crew is out paving a road.

"A lot of people don't realize that we work the precinct with a three-man crew. When we spend time paving a road, we get behind on other work and get complaints. I must have received half-a-dozen complaints from people this past month while we've been working on 32nd Street. We don't have the money or the manpower to do it all.

"Working on these hilly roads with big, heavy equipment is also hard. Paving that road yesterday (Thursday,

Open horse show planned Aug. 21

The Bandera County 4-H project is sponsoring an Open Horse Show on Saturday, Aug. 21 at Mansfield Park. Registration begins at 8 a.m. and the show begins at 9 a.m. and will have 26 classes.

The show is open to anyone. There are three age divisions; junior (12 years and under), senior (13 through 18) and adult. Entry fees are $5 per class, or $25 for all day.

Rosette ribbons will be awarded for 1st through 6th place in each class. There will be a high point trophy for each age division. There will also be prizes donated by Bandera Ranch Store. The County Extension office and the Ranch Store have entry forms.

Bandera Bulldog season football tickets go on sale

Reserved seat season tickets for the 1993 Bandera High School Bulldogs home football games will go on sale beginning Thursday, Aug. 19 in the Bandera ISD business office. They will be sold from 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. for those who held season tickets last year.

Those who are first-time season ticket buyers may purchase tickets beginning Tuesday, Aug. 24, in the business office from 8:30 a.m. until 5 p.m.

This season, the Bulldogs are at home against Comfort on Sept. 10; Marble Falls on Sept. 17; West Campus on Sept. 24; Cole on Oct. 8; Somerset on Oct. 22; and Medina Valley 5.

The cost for a reserved seat for all six home games is $24, the same price per game as for a regular admission ticket purchased at the gate on the night of the game. Reserved seat ticket holders may pick up their tickets at the gate on the night of the game when he arrives at the game. The ticket holder does not have to wait in line to purchase the ticket on game night.

Bandera Bulletin to relocate

As of the end of this week, The Bandera Bulletin will have a new home--1105 Cedar Street, former home of Ken's TV.

"We're pleased with our new downtown location," said Bulletin publisher Dan Sandidge, "and we hope our customers will find it more convenient to stop by. We're [illegible] downtown Bandera."

All deadlines will remain the same, and next week's edition of the Bandera Bulletin will hit the streets at the usual time.

Crews of workers from San Antonio pumped a full week's worth of water from the Mulberry Well at the 500 foot level. Once the City of Bandera's two pumps are on line again, they should be capable of delivering 1,000 gallons of water a minute. The existing turbo pump was 500 feet down and was limited in its capacity to function, or to be repaired on the spot. It will be sent to Houston for repairs, or will be sold for spare parts for the Mulberry Street Well or will be sold for scrap metal. The yellow flag is presently pointing to be flown while a bad bearing is replaced on the booster pump at the Mulberry Street Well.

Opinion

Letters to the editor

He says he likes Pipe Creek

Dear editor:

I think the front page article in last weeks Bulletin about the city's dispute with the fire department should have a bit of explanation. The article is a good and accurate bit of reporting with the exception of one small mistake. I invite all the citizens of the city of Bandera to get their copy, or borrow one, of the August 11, 1993 issue and read the article. THEN call your council members and mayor and give them your opinion about the city furnishing and maintaining the four wheel drive fire trucks to fight grass and brush fires outside the city.

Although the statement about the Pipe Creek fire department, that I was called on the carpet about, was NOT made by me, I sincerely want to apologize for it anyway. The city of Bandera, and I am sure the county, also sincerely appreciate Pipe Creek's help with the fires in this area when help is needed. I know Bandera will help Pipe Creek when needed.

I would like to comment that the gentleman from Pipe Creek, that called me on the phone about the statement in the paper, and hung up on me before I could reply, be informed that it was NOT me that made the comment even though the paper named me as such. Also he should know that most of the fires that Pipe Creek has helped Bandera with are in the county and not in the city. Even though these fires are in the county the fire departments, including the city of Bandera, receive no compensation from the county.

I know Pipe Creek will help Bandera if we need them but lets hope Bandera does not have a bad fire.

Again, Pipe Creek, we appreciate your help!

Irvin Stevens
Bandera City Councilman

Hoorah for the Little League!

Dear editor,

Bandera County Little League has just finished their 1993 season. It was your typical year of Little League Baseball: several months of supper being eaten at 10:00 at night, coaches whose promotions at work are being delayed due to the number of days they had to leave work early to make a 6:00 game; parents who have strained vocal cords due to night after night yelling at umpires; and close to a thousand Bandera County kids who are ready for the big league scouts to call them up at anytime.

Due to the increase in our population, our Little League has also grown in numbers this past year. Several new teams were formed this year, which required the purchase of alot of new equipment.

The point of all this is to emphasize the financial hole we have dug for ourselves in Little League. We are approximately $4,000.00 in the red according to our President, and we still have many, many needs.

We need more community support, especially financially. If you are a member of a civic organization such as AARP, American Legion, Chamber of Commerce, Optimist Club, or a fraternal organization or a Church that needs a local outreach mission, please consider Bandera County Little League!

John Leland

She thought it inconsiderate

Dear editor,

I think that the lay-out and "story" on page 10A of last week's issue (49th yr.-NO.58) was very inconsiderate and rude to print. The placement of a very brief "News story" above Timothy Clayton Hartfield's obituary was cold and callous. It was almost as if the Bulletin didn't even acknowledge Clayton as a person, just a news item.

I mean, sure, a newspaper's purpose is to inform the community of what's going on, but first of all, not even a real story was written. Second, the placement was improper and to top it off the shaded box which brought extra attention to the article was totally uncalled for! I don't feel that any of this was appropriate. Was it really news-worthy material, or was it just a filler at the expense of somebody else's sorrow?

Hopefully, there won't be a "next time," but in the case that there is, please do be considerate of the grieving family and friends.

Clayton was a very special person to me and many others. I know none of his friends will forget the good memories and he will live forever in our hearts.

Jean M. Flores

jest & thyme — Janna Sandidge

There are days (and weeks) when my job is not so easy. Last week was one of those weeks.

I don't like upsetting people, and I certainly don't want anyone to think that I like that part of my job. But sometimes it goes with the territory.

And when my editorial news judgement provokes irate letters to the editor, it really bothers me.

When an 18-year-old commits suicide it is a real tragedy. Just at the time in a young person's life when they should be full of hope for the future, despair overwhelms them. Words cannot express the sense of sadness that I feel for the loss of this young person that I had never met. It is hard to imagine the pain his loved ones must have felt.

Newspapers traditionally have dealt with the topic of suicide in a very uncomfortable manner. There is a tremendous "grey area" as to just how much of the tragedy is reportable, according to whether the person was considered a "public figure;" and whether the suicide was on public property, etc. Family and friends, understandably, have such a lot to deal with, without sensationalizing the event and turning it into a "media circus."

In the course of my decision to print the brief story in last week's edition, I considered several alternatives.

But ultimately, my decision to print the news item and separate obituary was based on my decision to let people know that a suicide had occurred in our community. Right here in Bandera.

Statistically, the number of suicides (particularly young people) has risen dramatically in recent years. And often before committing suicide, the person has exhibited some type of behavior that signals their intention to harm themselves. If their loved ones are even a little bit educated or informed about the warning signs, they might be able intervene and help the suicidal one seek professional counseling.

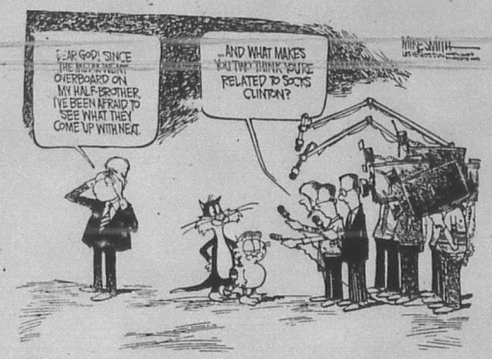

I apologize to the young man's family [illegible] your grief.

But perhaps if people are aware that [illegible] may be saved in the future.

A look back into Bandera's past...

21 Years Ago, Bandera Independent School District Superintendent Marvin Schnelle announced enrollment of 822 studnets for the first day of school. • Medina's Bobcat's and Bandera's Bulldogs were gearing up to play each other in the season opener for both football teams. • Twin Elm Guest Ranch won the Guest Ranch Horse Race at Lost Valley Downs. Track operator Rudy Robbins presented the winner's trophy to ranch owner Frank Anderwald and winning jockey Jesse Evans. • Southwestern Bell Telephone was advertising their new 1+ dialing as "the fastest, easiest way to call long distance". • The census bureau released results for the 1970 census. Bandera County had 3,402 households. 1,594 of those had television sets (175 sets were UHF equipped), 1,110 homes were air conditioned, 1,149 had washing machines, 342 had dryers, 88 had dishwashers. 2,947 houses had complete kitchens while 2,362 had complete bathrooms. Total county population was 4,747.

11 Years Ago, Bandera and Medina Schools both reported record high enrollment on their opening day of school. Bandera welcomed 1,068 students while 250 reported to class at Medina. • County Sheriff Guy Pickett announced construction on the new law enforcement center was complete. • Lone Star Ice and Food in Pipe Creek celebrated their Grand Opening. • BHS coach Danny Neuse predicted his Bulldogs would go "from underdogs to wonderdogs" in 1982. Neuse said returning starters such as Jim Jennings, Trey Shackelford, Charley Robinson, Greg Butler, Chuck Ford, John Fest Charles Newcomer and Paul Williams make the Dogs top contenders against district rivals Boerne and Randolph. • Gill Savings was paying 14% interest on 30 month certificates of deposit. • Bandera County Chamber of Commerce reported receiving over 600 entries in their upcoming Youth Rodeo.

AUSTIN — Superconducting Super Collider officials ordered most construction on the 54-mile tunnel suspended last week because of funding uncertainties.

The order halts construction by four subcontractors on $130.5 million in contracts for no more than 90 days.

Paul Gilbert, project director of team overseeing construction, said between 100 and 200 workers will be laid off, furloughed, forced to use vacation time or reassigned.

Most workers would be recalled if the $10 billion project in Ellis County received funding for fiscal 1994, Gilbert said.

Although only 11 U.S. senators have acknowledged support for the super collider, Texas lawmakers say they are amassing reinforcements for the project.

Texas Sens. Phil Gramm and Kay Bailey Hutchison say they have met with all 44 Senate Republicans and have lined up at least 30 GOP votes.

Newspaper Surveys Senators

In a recent telephone survey conducted by The Dallas Morning News, 11 senators said they had decided to support future funding for the giant atom smasher and 35 said they intend to vote it down.

[illegible] approving funding the [illegible] project and four are leaning against it.

Another 20 lawmakers told the [illegible] don't respond to media surveys.

To date, $1.6 billion in federal funds has been spent on the collider and the Clinton administration is seeking $640 million for the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

David Beckwith, an aide to Sen. Hutchison, said the senator has received pledges of support from at least two of the Republicans whose aides told the newspaper they would vote against it.

Notification Bill Eyed

State Rep. Pedro Nieto, R-Uvalde, says he will push legislation that would require parole officials to notify local law officials when violent offenders are moved into their community.

The bill — prompted by the move of convicted child-killer Raul Meza to a private residence near Uvalde — also would require the parole board to hold public hearings so that citizens could express their views.

After Meza's release from prison on mandatory supervision, he asked to live with relatives near Uvalde. That request initially was denied. Meza then was driven from El Paso, San Antonio, Wichita Falls and Sweetwater by intense public protests.

Denton Blasts TU Contract

State Rep. Betty Denton, D-Waco, last week urged cities served by TU Electric to reject service contract agreements proposed by the utility that include waiving rights to reimbursements in rate disputes.

[illegible] amount of money TU is offering cities essentially to waive their right to challenge the rate increase would be considered a 'bribe' at best," Denton said.

Denton has asked the Public Utility Commission to review the legality of the proposed franchise agreements. A request has also been [illegible] attorney general.

But TU Electric spokeswoman Kathi Miller said the agreements are legal and in the best interest of [illegible] Miller said [illegible] served by TU Electric have accepted the agreements.

TU Electric is seeking a 15 percent rate increase from 2.2 million customers it serves in central and north Texas.

Judge Donations Targeted

A coalition of public interest watchdog groups is asking appeals court judges and candidates to voluntarily limit how much they spend in their 1994 campaigns.

Pledge forms were mailed last week to candidates for the Texas Supreme Court, the Court of Criminal Appeals and state courts of appeals.

Suzy Woodford, executive director of Common Cause of Texas, said the pledges were being sought to restore confidence in the judicial system.

Candidates signing the pledge will agree not to:

- Spend more than $2 million in a contested election;
- Accept more than $5,000 from any individual;
- Accept more than $25,000 from members of the same law firm; and
- Accept more than $50,000 from political action committees, nor to spend more than $10,000 of their own money for their campaigns.

Rail Experts Help St. Louis

The Texas Railroad Commission has sent experts to assist officials in St. Louis who are working to stabilize propane tanks that lifted off their foundations due to heavy flooding.

"We are proud of our technical and safety expertise, and we were eager to provide assistance," chairman James Nugent said.

Volunteers requested for biannual MLVFD barbecue

Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department chief Ralph Dressa- [illegible] er said that volunteers are needed for the semiannual barbecue, which is one of two fund raisers held during the year. "I hope that volunteerism is alive and well in Lakehills," Dresser says.

"We need volunteers to cook potatoes, bake deserts and clean up the fire house and area and work in the serving line. Don't wait to be contacted. We might have lost your number. You call! We need you."

The M.L.V.F.D. Barbecue will be held on September 4 and 5. Those wishing to volunteer need to call 751-2217, or 751-3335.

32nd Street in Lakehills was paved last week after residents on that street raised money for the purchase of material to use in the paving project.

Aug. 12] was the toughest job I've had the 12 years I've been in office. Every piece of equipment we had broke down. The big truck kept breaking down all day. We finally towed it away that evening about 9 p.m."

Alanis said the cost of paving a road could run up to $12,000 or $15,000 a mile. He said residents both at Alamo Beach and at Rio Ranchero raised $5,000 to purchase material so their roads could be paved. "We're not selectively doing it. The people raise the money first."

Benny Barker, County Commissioner for precinct one, said that the paving issue has knocked him out of next year's race for County Judge. "I was re-elected last year and I committed to my voters that we would hopefully have all the major traffic areas in our precinct paved by the end of my next term. With the weather and money set backs, we still have three years left and I want to try and fulfill that committment as much as possible."

Barker says that it is a boon to the county that it owns paving equimpent. He said material for paving runs approximately $4,000 to $5,000 a mile. "Equipment and manpower are fixed cost for the most part. That expense is there anyway whether you are maintaining roads or paving them.

"We recently paved in the Lakehills area...it was so hot that our blood was boiling, but we got the job done. You have to be there with the paving crew to really appreciate them....Our county is growing so fast it is difficult to keep up with the increased road demands and there isn't much left for paving under current circumstances.

"It appears that it will take about a 3.66 percent property tax increase this year to meet the preliminary county road and bridge department, but there will be a condition attached," Barker said. "I will ask the Commissioners Court to place a half cent sales tax on the ballot for voter approval. It would raise about $150,000 annually. We would have to lower the property tax by that amount for the first year, but the second year we could return it to the original level and use the money to pave and improve our roads and help out law enforcement and EMS also and it could be specified for those purposes only...A sales tax would be paid by everyone and would not leave most of the burden on property owners alone."

Barker said that he had received some calls about the paving of 32nd Street in Lakehills. "Folks were complaining that we had just paved the County Judge's road and they were still eating dust and dodging post holes....It's a sticky situation no matter how you look at it. You cannot penalize the folks on a road that needs paving just because an elected official lives on it."

Precinct One's commissioner said that paving is the best answer to road problems and increasing traffic. He said the paving equipment was the best investment County Commissioners had made. He is hoping a paving patching machine can now be bought. He said it would cost about $50,000, but would pay for itself in a hurry.

Dave sells Bev Barn

New owners Carla Frerking and J.C. Newsom will take over business Monday

Dave Koehler, who built the Beverage Barn six years ago, has sold the business to Carla Frerking and J.C. Newsom. Frerking and Newsom will take over management of the Beverage Barn on Monday, Aug. 23.

Koehler, who calls himself a "real entrepreneur, I'm always coming up with something," will turn to wholesale car sales. He and his family will stay in Bandera, their home of 20 years. Dave and Sharon have two daughters. Natalie is a senior this year at Bandera High School. April will be in the eighth grade.

Koehler, who already operated an RV park at the Main Street location, said he built the Beverage Barn as "Bandera's first true convenience store. People can stay in their cars and shop."

He also owns Koehler cottages in Bandera, other rental property, and another convenience store outside Bandera County. He is a member of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and the Grace Lutheran Church.

Upper Sabinal Canyon — Lynn Scotty

When you heard there were going to be shooting stars last Wed. night, what was your reaction? 1. Which channel? 2. We don't let the kids watch violence. 3. Good. I hope Madonna's one of them. 4. Who cares? I'm not missing American Gladiators. If your answer was #4 it may not be too late to save a few brain cells. (You're kidding, I didn't think brain cells could survive an episode of American Gladiators.)

Atop any one of the divides was the place many people chose to be in the Sabinal Canyon on Wed. evening, watching the night sky as nature preempted T.V. It was restful in the starlight, being with friends, being soul mates with whatever might be out there, something so much greater than ourselves. And rare is the chance some of us get to be with something greater than ourselves...

Which brings to mind some earth bound stars...the Senior Citizens HeeHaw gang has been summoned back to Uvalde for a repeat performance of their show. If you missed HeeHaw in Utopia back in June, you can catch it at the senior center in Uvalde (across from the HEB) at 7:30 p.m. on Aug. 28. Music by the Highway 90 Gang will follow HeeHaw.

The Senior Citizens' annual rummage sale is Aug. 20 and 21, from 9-4. Don't miss the hot deals!

Next Senior Bingo is Tuesday, Aug. 24, featuring hamburger steaks as prizes, donated by Jack & Inez McClain.

MEETCHERTEACHER (Meet your teacher) will replace the PTO covered dish faculty supper held in years past at Utopia Park. MEETCHERTEACHER will be an open house at the school from 7-8 p.m. on Monday, Aug. 30. This is an opportunity for parents to visit with their children's teacher without having to bring a casserole! (Someone out there is working to SIMPLIFY your life.) The purpose is to visit with your child's teacher(s), to ask questions, to better understand what is going on in the classroom and what is expected from your student, and to share your ideas. there are four new teachers this year. Let's give them a hearty welcome.

Bandera sales taxes are up, state comptroller reports

Sales tax collections in Bandera continue to show increases over 1992 figures according to the latest report from the State Comptroller's office. The report indicates that both Bandera County and the City of Bandera had healthty increases in June 1993 collections over the June '92 figures.

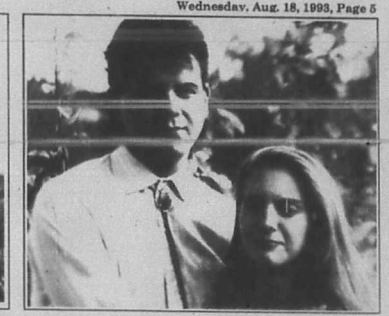

City figures show that Bandera will receive $19,984, up 18.78 percent over last year's figures. City's throughout the state averaged an increase of 15.9 percent over 1992 receipts.

The county's share of the sales tax collected by merchants was $22,715, up 12.51 percent over 1992's collections. Statewide averages show county figures up an average of 16.11 percent

Collections in the surrounding area show our neighboring cities all outpacing the statewide average. Boerne posted a 21.59 percent gain, Kerrville was up 20.54 percent, Hondo's figure was +17.85 percent and Castroville increased 16.91 percent over last year.

The Comptroller's office noted that San Antonio continues to lead the State's major cities in economic growth.

The overall statewide economic growth is attributed to more jobs. "Employment in Texas has continued to rise from last year. The service sector led all other industries by adding more than 59,000 jobs," State Comptroller John Sharp reported.

Charles and Karey J. Zitek III of Bandera announce the engagement of their daughter, Nelsha Zitek, to John Mallia. Mallia is the son of Lee and Debbie R. Mallia of Medina Lake. An April 2, 1994, wedding date has been set.

Hosts, hostesses play role in Cajun festival

Over the years, the annual Cajun Festival, sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, has grown in size and numbers. Last year, over 8,000 people attended, a success with built-in problems; like how to house 30 performers from Louisiana.

Volunteers solved that particular problem approximately five years ago when the festival began out-growing the rural, spread-out community of Lakehills. They volunteered to house the band members and dancers in their own homes. At times, this means having an entire band of five to six members in one home if the band does not want to be separated.

Hosts and hostesses mostly live in Lakehills. But some families in Mico and Pipe Creek also volunteer. And, often, the Louisiana performers are so pleased by their host families that they ask to be placed in the same home year after year.

Attorney Bob Caswell, the originator of the Cajun Festival, said it is a real compliment to the area that their visitors enjoy their stay. "Cajun people have a reputation for friendliness and hospitality. It really means something when they say how friendly we are and how well they have been treated. They can't say enough about how nice people here are. And they are thrilled with the local charisma; the hills and the local flavor."

Barbara Engel, Caswell's wife and one of the main promoters of the event, says that housing the bands and dancers is almost a necessity. "It's the only way we can get them for a reasonable price. I mean, sure; we do better every year and draw more people. But we also have more expense. This is our biggest fund raiser for the Medina Lake Betterment Association. We operate the Cajun Festival on a strict budget. A lot of strictly volunteer work goes into it."

Caswell and Engel say that hosting the Louisiana visitors is more than an effort to cut corners financially. "It cuts down on their travel time. And it makes it all more personal for them."

Hosts and hostesses pick up the Louisiana visitors at the airport. They house them, feed them and transport them back and forth from the festival. Even with all the extra work it places on host families, Caswell says he seldom has to find new families. "It helps that my wife runs a beauty salon," (Cutaway in Lakehills) he says. "She gets most of the host families from her customers. She just says to them, you have to do this for me or I will turn your hair green."

Those families who have acted as host families frequently in the past include: Knute and Doris Coyle; Dan and Loy Ed Alanis; Frank Reinhardt; Keith and Jean Cress; Bill and Sharon Reich; Gary and Penny Trial; and Kenneth and Susan Edwards.

David Lee Garza y Los Musicales will be among the featured Tejano artists appearing in concert Saturday, Aug. 28 at Sea World of Texas in San Antonio. Other artists scheduled to appear include Ram Herrera and Selena y Los Dinos. Season passholders get into the concert free, and others will be charged $2 in addition to park admission. After Aug. 22, Sea World is open weekends through Oct. 31, plus Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 6. For more information, call 210-523-3611.

by Bungy

We spent four glorious days at an RV park in Caspar, Calif. right on the beach, and since the water's average summer temperature is 52 to 54 degrees, there are really not that many people. One gets a good book and stretches out in the sun and breeze with a sweater on, and has the beach nearly to one's self!

Occasionally, scuba divers in wet suits come splashing in with their catch of abalone or fish. They can only stand (the temperature) for an hour and a half at the very most. We stood on a small bluff and watched the sun go down each evening.

• At Fort Bragg we had delicious hamburgers and malts at "Goodies," which was started in 1983 in a house built in 1870. The house has stayed in the same family since it was built, and "Grandma," the fourth generation of the original family, works in the kitchen, while the "fifth and sixth" generation cook and tend the soda fountain. This place is a must!

• In Boonville, we ate at the "Hom of Zeese." (Translation: "Cup of Coffee") They have a language of their own here called Boontling. The language, which was started in the 1880s, has been handed down and expanded-- here's an example: "It's bahl to deek on you. Hope you enjoy a harpin' tidric and are plenty scottied!" (Translation: "It's good to see you. Hope you enjoy a chat and that you are plenty hungry.") The language was started by workers in the hop fields so their children couldn't understand what they were saying. How they understood it themselves is beyond me!

• On through San Francisco to Santa Cruz, "Surfing Capital of the World," with a 12-foot bronze surf board and surfer on the courthouse lawn!

Larry's son, Tuck, picked us up and took us to the wharf where we had clam chowder at an open air fish store with a display about 30 feet long of lobsters and crabs in tanks; clams in big barrels of salt water; red, black and yellow fish laid out neatly in rows; squid and octopus, and who knows what else.

Sea lions lolling and barking under the pier and around the pilings would wait for one of the many fishermen to catch something, then whoosh! they grabbed it.

About 30 big outrigger canoes started on a 10-mile race-- from the end of the wharf to the beach, oars flashing in and out of the water--each boat had a Hawaiian in the prow, chanting the cadence. It was a thrill to watch. The pier was alive with Hawaiian singers and dancers. We bought fragrant carnation leis from vendors. The celebration was the area Polynesian Society's fund raiser.

We met Lee Fernandez, who is with the Monterey County Film Commission. We remembered a bit of the "old Hawaii," then she got up and did the softest, most elegant old timey style hula. It brought back many memories of Hawaii for me.

• Then, on to a Shakespeare festival-- "All's Well That Ends Well," set in the middle of a redwood glen. A "bowl" had been cleared out, and about 500 people brought blankets, picnics and wine. The snack shop sold vegetarian salads, quiche, desserts and espresso coffee. We rented beach chairs for a dollar and watched a great production, with the towering redwoods filtering the sun.

• The next day, Sunday, we visited Tuck's 1891 Methodist Church, then his godparents invited us over for the afternoon. They had built their own home with a huge deck overlooking a valley filled with majestic redwoods, and a circular staircase leading up to a tower room.

Later, we dined on more fish and chips, said fond farewells to my "new" son, and prepared for the next leg of the journey.

Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo Sept. 3-5

'Bad Company' will again produce Bandera event

The Bad Company Rodeo will produce the 1993 Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo in Bandera on Sept. 3, 4 and 5. Bad Company Rodeo calls itself the "wildest, most contemporary stock contacting company in the PRCA."

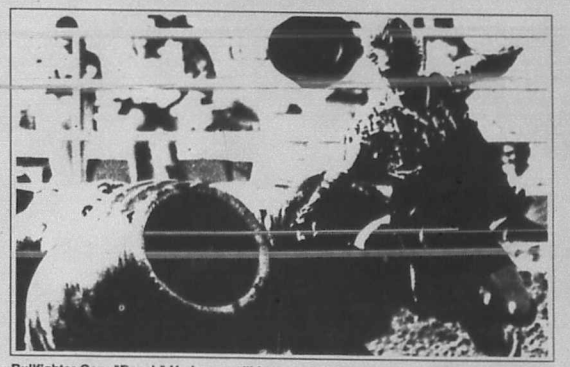

They expect to mix the best in music, contestants, stock and the "unexpected" to make their production a "complete, non-stop entertainment rodeo party package."

The rodeo will be set to the background of Rock 'n Roll music. They mix "the tradition and heritage of rodeo and the West, while meeting the challenges of the future." Bandera is on Bad Company Rodeo's "Circle the Wagons" tour for 1993.

Tickets are available at Sheplers in San Antonio and at Bandera locations. Adult tickets are $6 in advance and $7 at the gate. Children's tickets are $2 in advance and $3 at the gate.

Sponsors include Rodeo Chevrolet, The Cabaret, Pre-Cast Concrete, D&D Western Wear, KKYX, and others. Rodeo dances will be held nightly at the Cabaret following the rodeo performances.

Also coming to Bandera for the Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo is a 9-year old Brahma bull, "Party Animal." The bull will wear a Hawaiian glad red bandanna and shades. He serves as Bad Company Rodeo's mascot and will be at Bandera Downs and other locations in Bandera for photo opportunities.

Bullfighter Gary "Roach" Hedeman will be one of the rodeo clowns featured at Bandera's Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association's annual Labor Day Rodeo event.

Those wanting to have a picture taken with Party Animal will be able to find him on Sept. 3, 4 and 5 at 7:30 p.m. each night. Party and the rodeo clowns will welcome photos.

Party is an example of the "unexpected" at the Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo. He will be loaded up in a bucking chute. He will be turned out like the other contestants. But the rider looks like an escapee from a fraternity party atop the shade-wearing bull. When the buzzer sounds, the bull quits bucking, is haltered, and allows a small child to ride him around the arena.

First Cowboy Capital Rodeo Golf Tornament scheduled

The First Annual Cowboy Capital Rodeo Golf Tournament has been scheduled for Friday, Sept. 3, beginning at 8 a.m. It will be limited to 36 teams.

Anyone wishing to enter is invited. Teams will be made up of rodeo sponsors and rodeo constants. It will be a shotgun start for the four-man scramble. The constants may pick their own teams.

Cash prizes will be given for first through fourth places. Cash prizes will also be awarded for the longest drive, closest to the pin and a consulation prize.

The entry fee of $45 includes the cart, green fee, two Mulligans, and refreshments during and after the tournament.

Additional door prizes and prize drawings will also be held for contestants.

For reservations, call Flying L Guest Ranch, 1 (800) 646-5407, or (210) 796-8466.

Fields celebrate 40th with 160 friends and relatives

Mr. & Mrs. J. W. Field celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary, Sunday, Aug. 8, at St. Victors Chapel in Lakehills with a barbecue dinner for over one hundred sixty friends and relatives from California, Indiana, New York, Nevada and Texas.

Their son, J. Eddie from Lakehills and daughter, Merry Rose, son-in-law, James Banks and granddaughter Jamie Rose (8 months) from Alameda, Calif. were there to help them celebrate.

A surprise, mock naval wedding was officiated by CDR Richard McManus, USN Retired, and members and former members of the San Antonio Navy Recruiting District.

Prior to serving dinner the Navy tradition of "Parading the Beef" was conducted.

Also, a salute to all services was conducted, highlighted by Mr. Carl Palumbo, Navy Ensign and retired New York state school Superintendent, leading the guests in singing "Anchors Aweigh" accompanied by organist Dorothy Rieley.

Lee and J Field reside in their new home in Pebble Beach.

A family reunion was held at the Fields' home Saturday, Aug. 7 for the Field and Stanziana families. 30 people attended the event.

Some of the families had not seen one another in 38 years.

Clean up Bandera day planned, volunteers will meet at chamber

Volunteers are needed for a neigborhood cleaning day on Saturday, Aug. 28. The group will meet at the Chamber of Commerce office at 6:30 p.m. to "beat the heat" and will begin cleaning trash from problem areas. Plastic bags will be provided.

The effort is being organized by Tom Laxson of the River Front Motel, Carl (or E.W.) Carleson who wrote a "letter to the editor" about the trash problem in the Aug. 4 issue of the Bandera Bulletin, and Patricia Moore with the Chamber of Commerce.

Laxson named the target areas for Saturday's pick-up as the Hondo Highway (173) between the Dixie Dude Ranch Road and the Flying L turnoff; Highway 16 between Bandera River Ranch and the end of town; and the Highway 16 around Mansfield Park.

Between now and Aug. 28, problem areas will be identified and mapped and plans for the pick-up day will be completed. Later, Laxson hopes to organize an "adopt a highway"-type program for Bandera.

He says that youth from the Lutheran Church are already doing a good job along the Kerrville highway, Highway 173.

Last chance to use WIC coupons

Saturday, Aug. 21, is the last Saturday for the Bandera County Farmer's Market. Market manager Richard Thornber says, " If you have farmer's market WIC coupons, please try to use them this Saturday."

The Comfort market will be open for a few more weeks, says Thornber. Also several markets in the San Antonio area will probably be open for a couple more weeks.

"WIC farmer's market coupons may be used at those markets as well," says Thornber.

Have we ever talked about El Santo Nino de Atocha before? Somehow, we can't recall, although it would be surprising that a little saint so important in our and other lives would not have been mentioned here.

As often admitted, this columnist is a mere Anglican brought up in the basement of the Presbyterian Sunday School building. Even living in San Antonio, we only gradually became aware of the richness of the Catholic and Hispanic folklore which makes the Southwest such an interesting place to live.

Sophie Casanova, the old-time San Antonian who made a brave attempt to help us with a house full of little kids a long time ago, introduced us to the Santo Nino.

She came to the ranch with us on weekends from time to time and stayed in the guest house. We were always quite concerned with turning off lights and fires when we locked up each Sunday night to trudge back to the city and so were taken aback to find a votive candle left burning in a precarious spot in Sophie's house.

"Oh," she said, "I can't put out that candle. It's for my Santo Nino because he saved my life!" Then she told me story of how, as a young girl with cascading black curls, her long hair brushed against a kerosene lamp as she went whirling about on the dance floor at a party. Her hair ribbons flared up as the lamp fell, spilling kerosene on to Sophie's ruffled dress, which also ignited. As she screamed, she said she saw the Santo Nino de Atocha coming from the gasping crowd, bringing a blanket with which he enfolded Sophie and doused the flames.

She took a vow never to forget her debt to him. The Santo Nino with the blanket, she said, was the very Santo Nino, exactly as he is pictured on all the retablos, candles, and ex-votos painted by others helped by him.

The seven-day votive candle, still sold in most grocery stores, has the classic image Sophie saw through smoke and flame. We learned only recently that it was taken from a steel engraving first made in Austria in the 1850's. Flanked by vases of stiff flowers, the Holy Child sites in a wooden arm chair, dressed as a medieval pilgrim. He wears the broadbrimmed hat and the scallop shell of St. James, the identification marks of a pilgrim usually respected by brigands on the dangerous road. In one hand he holds a water gourd and a sheaf of grain tied to a staff, and in the other, a basket.

The water, wheat, and basket symbolize the food and drink which the Santo Nino, in his first appearance centuries ago in the town of Atocha in Spain brought to Christian prisoners. Close to death from starvation imposed by Moorish invaders, the prisoners were sure that the visitor at their window was the Christ Child himself.

Since first learning of his miracles from Sophie, we have encountered the Santo Nino everywhere in South Texas but especially out in New Mexico where he is a folk favorite. We found a crude cottonwood statuette of him there, but then acquired a carefully molded and painted plaster one right here in Bandera. Bungy didn't know who he was. We especially like the ex-votos which turn up in odd places. They are primitive paintings, usually on tin, meant to be hung near home or chapel alters, constituting pictorial prayers of thanks for dramatic rescues like Sophie's or release from sickness, etc. One we have gives thanks for recovery from grievous wounds, another apparently for either escape from attacking cattle or the recovery of a lost herd. We can't tell for sure.

Before our paint tubes dried up, we even painted a portrait of the Little Guy ourselves, flower vases and all, which guards the screen porch. Whether he works for Anglicans, we don't know, we just love him.

We all know that children are very sensitive to changes in the emotional climate in the home and their immediate surroundings. They know when something is wrong even though they may not understand what is happening. They have "built-in" lie detectors.

We have been asked many times how one copes with children when a death in the family occurs...Our thoughts are this: Talk to the child stating simple facts without cliches or expression that will have to be changed later on. Talk to the child when he wants to talk about it in a frank and honest way. Do not tell them, "Grandma went on a journey." "She is sleeping." "She was called away." Too many times this type of mental images can cause fears and false hopes that will have to be explained at a later time.

Edgar N. Jackson in his book, "Telling a Child about Death" makes this very important point. "Because grief is a [illegible] and fear, it is important to make every effort to give the child information where possible, closeness and warmth in many ways, and evidence of adult

Holly Hevenor Boyle gets teaching award

Holly Hevenor Boyle, of Bandera, is one of seven Texas educators to receive the Leon Jaworski Award for Teaching Excellence in Law Focused Education.

The Leon Jaworski Award is given to public or private school classroom teachers in Texas with a minimum of five years teaching experience, and teachers who further the use of law-related education materials in their classrooms. Award recipients receive $500 to purchase law-focused educational materials, or to cover travel expenses to conferences.

Boyle was presented with the award in July. Husband Johnny Boyle attended the ceremony along with the couple's son, John. Ken and Mary Kling also attended.

The award recognizes educators who: foster understanding of the values of our legal and judicial system; explain to students the societal roles of the law, the courts, the law enforcement agencies and the legal profession; stimulate a deeper sense of individual responsibility, instructing students to recognize their duties as well as their rights; encourage effective law focused educational programs in their schools or communities; and increase communication and understanding between students, educators, and those involved professionally in the legal system.

It is given in honor of Leon Jaworski, famed attorney and former president of the American Bar Association, whose 56-year career was dedicated to public service and the law profession.

Law Focused Education, Inc., the Texas Young Lawyers Association, and the State Bar of Texas Law Related Education Committee have co-sponsored the award since 1984.

Harvey won't be on KKYX radio

ABC Radio has informed KKYX Radio AM 680 in San Antonio that they are canceling their contract with the station-- effective at midnight, Sunday, Aug. 15, according to KKYX general manager Hugh Barr. And that means no more Paul Harvey on KKYX.

"The ABC Radio network--headquartered in New York City-- owns the rights to Paul Harvey's broadcasts that have been featured on KKYX for over 13 years," explains Barr. "With the network's decision to sever their relationship with KKYX, we will no longer have rights to the Paul Harvey broadcasts."

KKYX program manager Carl Becker says, "Like many of our listeners, we are big Paul Harvey fans and will miss his broadcasts on KKYX radio. But again, we want our listeners to fully understand that the decision to remove Paul Harvey from KKYX was made solely by the executives of ABC radio."

Bob and Virginia Fees will celebrate 60 years of marriage on Monday, Aug. 23. They were married in Waukegan, Illinois on Aug. 23, 1933. The Fees moved to Bandera after hearing "glowing reports" about the Texas Hill Country from their daughter, Nancy Fees. The couple who are celebrating 60 years of togetherness are the parents of five children. They have 16 grandchildren and 10 great grandchildren. Bob and Virginia moved to Bandera in March, 1988, from Chicago, Illinois. They say that people in Bandera have made their "later years comfortable," and that they appreciate that

Marti Hampton-Holloway

I want everyone in town to know how proud we are of our volunteers here at the Center. Lillian and Leon Ray started their volunteer work for the Center back in the original building on the grounds of the Baptist Church. When the new building was built, (by volunteers) the Rays moved to the new location and just kept right on with their hard work. You will find Lillian and Leon at the center every morning at 7:30 a.m. preparing the coffee, rolling the silverware in napkins for the lunch crowd, helping in the kitchen, cleaning up after lunch, helping at the front desk, and the list goes on for most of every day. Leon has his own project of collecting aluminum cans which he transports to San Antonio to redeem for cash, which he in turn donates to the Center. Leon hopes everyone will save their aluminum cans for him, either call him for a pick up or leave your sacked cans at the Center kitchen door for him. After their day at the Center, Lillian and Leon go home for a short rest, and then on to the Bandera Nursing Home, every evening to visit and give their time to those in need. Every second of every day is accounted for with working for others on a volunteer basis. Lillian summed it up by saying, "I feel that everyone was put on this Earth for a reason, and I guess our reason is to reach out to all human beings with the Love of Christ in our hearts." Lillian further stated, "Everyone should take the time to reach out to one another in kindness, actions, and good deeds, it always returns a hundred fold." Lillian and Leon are a devoted couple with a loving marriage of 56 years, and much happiness in a fellowship with the Church of Christ in Bandera. We thank you both for all of your hours of hard work, we do appreciate you both and your contribution to the Silver Sage Corral.

• Our Melodiers have been out sharing their beautiful music and love with a performance on Aug. 3 at the Bandera Nursing Home, and on Tues., Aug 10, the Melodiers and AutoAngels went to the Edgewater Care Center in Kerrville. Their program included a long list of fast paced "Happy Songs" that lifted the spirits of all within listening distance. Someone said it was at least a mile or two of happiness. Judy Goodenough said,"We were few in numbers due to the August heat, and vacations and illness of some members, but we were strong in spirit." A real treat is to listen to the Melodiers in their practice sessions on Tues. morning at the Center. Enjoyment guaranteed.

• A speedy recovery to Arantha Stein and Josephine Nuoto. Frank Olagua is now residing at Northgate Manor, 5757 Know, Room 306, San Antonio, TX 78240. Let us show our love and concern for Frank by flooding his room with mail. With his surgery behind him, his days of recuperation are long and difficult.

• Important [illegible] Center needs volunteers for driving the Van to deliver Meals on Wheels, picking up and delivering passengers; Also, helpers to the volunteer drivers. Must have a good driving record and a spirit of love and giving for our Senior Citizens. Please contact Delores Pokluda, Director of Silver Sage for details. Everyone's help is needed for this project. Also needed; volunteers for afternoons at the front desk, most important.

Both sides of the Civil War...

by Jason Story & Travis Bedwell

My great great grandmother, Ester Louisa Barbel, rode as a dispatcher for the Union Army. She would ride side saddle on the horse for miles. She would give messages to the armies. She would also keep track of the Confederate Army movements. She carried brass binoculars to watch them.

- Jason Story

A long time ago, my great grandfather, Tom, went to battle in the Civil War. One day in the field, as they marched forward, Tom was riding a mule in the calvary. Before they crossed the line, the mule ran toward the Yankee's side. As it reached the Yankees, the mule threw him off and then ran back to the Rebel's side as fast as it could.

State of emergency declared

Outdoor burning banned in Bandera County

A state of disaster has been declared by County Judge Ray Mauer due to hot, dry conditions which pose the threat of large, fast moving wildfires. Outdoor burning is banned in Bandera County until further notice.

A imminent threat of disaster from wild fire forced the Bandera County Commissioners Court and County Judge Ray Mauer to sign the emergency order. No combustible materials are to be burned outside of an enclosure which serves to contain all flames and/or sparks.No person may order another person to burn materials in an open flame.

Violations of the emergency order may be prosecuted.

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department battled a grass fire behind the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37 last week. Due to drought conditions, brush fires and grass fires are a continuing problem. County residents are urged not to burn trash or to have any open fire. Sheriff James MacMillian says that his department will file whatever charges are possible against anyone who is careless with a fire.

The 4-H Horse Project has been active since January with various activities and field trips. Any youth from third grade through 12th, and with an interest in horses, may join the group by signing up at the County Extension Office. There is no fee to join the 4-H Horse Project. You do not need to own a horse to join.

One of the winter activities will be to form several horse judging teams and to travel to competitions. Lee Hassall is the horse judging coach for the group. She will begin sessions this fall for those with an interest.

The group held a Horseless Horse Show. Participants pretended they were four-legged horses and competed against each other.

They also went to a cutting horse demonstration, had a speed clinic, a roping clinic and several horsemanship clinics, and three playdays. They plan to finish the year with an overnight ride at the Hill Country Natural Area.

For more information, call the 4-H Horse Project Leader, Julie Dinse, at 796-4866.

The Bandera County 4-H Horse Project held a "Horseless Horse Show" last February. Another Horseless Horse Show will be held this year with two-legged participants competing as four-legged participants in various events. Here, Michael McCartney leads "horse" Shelly White backwards through obstacles.

Savanah Nicole Thaler was born on Aug. 5 at Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville. She weighed 6 pounds and 12 1/2 ounces. She is the daughter of Daniel and Kathryn Thaler and joins a brother, Daniel, and a sister, Amanda. Grandparents are: Betty and James Kimbrell of Bandera and Mary and Randy Thaler of Pipe Creek. Great grandparents include: Emma Fryar of San Antonio; Scotty and Ethel Scott of Bandera; and great, great grandmother, Willie Hoh of Frankston.

Benefit set for livestock association

The Junior Livestock Association is planning $30,000 worth of improvements to the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park. Improvements planned include the addition of kitchen facilities, restrooms and meeting rooms.

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a benefit dance on Sunday, September 19 to help raise funds for the project. It will be hosted by the Cabaret.

Other corporate sponsors of the "Barn Raising" include Rodeo Chevrolet and the Bandera Bulletin.

The main event sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association is the livestock show and sale in January each year. Both 4-H members and FFA members work with their projects all year, keeping that goal in mind.

Speedy Hutcheson is the superintendent of the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show. The superintendent is elected each year for a one year term.

Battle of the Bulge vets set reunion

The Veterans of the Battle of the Bulge, Inc. (VBOB), will hold its 12th Annual Reunion in Bismarck, North Dakota, Sept. 15-18. Reunions are held annually to honor the Americans who served in the Battle of the Bulge and remember those who sacrificed their lives in this great battle.

Medina barbecue Aug. 26 will benefit school athletic department

Medina Children's Home will sponsor the seventh annual benefit barbecue at the Medina High School Bobcat scrimmage against Texas Military Institute (TMI), of San Antonio, Thursday, Aug. 26, at 4:45 p.m. The scrimmage game will start at 5:30 p.m.

The barbecue supper, which benefits the Medina School Athletic Department, will be served in the bus barn near the Medina High School Stadium. The meal is $4 for adults and $2 for children 12 and younger.

The event is sponsored by Medina Children's Home and its staff members. The Home will furnish the meat, tea, and all the supplies; the school will furnish the beans; the Booster Club will furnish the potato salad; and the cheerleaders will sell soft drinks and desserts to benefit the cheerleader fund. This event was started in 1987.

Everyone is invited to come eat and cheer the Bobcats on to victory.

"Ranch woman" Maud Marks honored

Bandera's Maudeen Marks says her mother would be pleased to have library named for her

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Bandera's Maudeen Marks said her mother received the greatest honor which could have been bestowed on her in having the Maud Smith Marks Library, between Katy and Barker, named after her. "She was just a humble ranch woman, but very elucidated and well read," says the owner and manager of the LH7.

The Maud Marks library opened to the public on July 27. Last spring, Maudeen Marks took a team of Bandera born, raised and trained longhorn cattle down to Barker for the ground breaking. She says the library is built on land which once grazed the Marks' cattle.

"I came here to Bandera in 1955. Houston has encroached on the ranch land. It grew all around me and I knew that I would eventually have to move out. I have cattle in both places. But now the balance has changed and more of the cattle are in Bandera."

Marks raises longhorn cattle on both ranches. She enjoys Bandera and hopes to stay. "I think a lot of people fail to realize what a fine library this little town has," she said. "What a fine library and museum. Everyone in my family loves to read, particulary my brother and myself. We caught that love of reading from Mother. That's why of all the honors which could have been bestowed on her, nothing could have pleased her more than having a library named after her.

"She taught us how wonderful books could be. We lived in ranch land. There was nothing for miles around us besides a general store with a Post Office in it. Someone built bookshelves for Mother. She would go into the Harris County Library and get books for that bookcase and check them out to people. When the Bookmobile started, she made sure it came to Barker.

"Her own room was always full of books. She cherished and treasured them and taught us to. I inherited some fine old books.

"She tried to promote the idea that all our horizons should be broadened. The only way that could be accomplished out where we lived, was through books. Few people back then even had radios. I learned geography from National Geographic magazines."

Marks learned a lot from her mother, a simple hard-working ranch woman. "She enriched my life so much. I learned so much from her. And I could have learned so much more, if only I had been listening. I wasn't always listening."

Maudeen's own love of reading helped her when she moved to Bandera. "It stood me in good stead when I didn't know anyone. When I came here, the first thing I did was to open a bank account and get a Post Office box. The next thing I did was to get a library card. I wanted to find out all about Bandera's past- its history. It has amazing history and I was amazed at what a fine library this little town has."

When friends found out about the construction of the Maud Smith Marks Library, they began collecting books for it. One individual donated 900 books. Some of the books collected may find a home at the Bandera County Library.

Crowds of well wishers joined together on July 27 to open the Maud Marks Library. Elected officials included Harris County Judge Jon Lindsay and Harris County Commissioner Steve Radack.

Maudeen Marks spoke at the opening, along with Atha Marks Dimon, Travis Marks, Vincent Kickerillo, Mary K and Kelli Kickerillo, and Margie Hudson. Hudson is the president of the Friends of the Maud Marks Library.

It was all possible because a "humble ranch woman" believed in expanding horizons and reaching for the stars. "And," Maudeen adds, "she sure could make good biscuits!"

Beloved Hope Academy begins 20th school year Sept. 1

Beloved Hope Academy, in Lakehills, will begin its 20th year of operation as a Christian School on Wednesday, Sept. 1.

Don and Kathleen Ashcraft continue as principal and teachers. Janice and Chester Campbell will be an addition to the staff this year.

Class will begin at 8:20 each day and dismiss at 3:15 on Monday through Thursday. On Fridays, school will let out at noon.

Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 6, will be the first school holiday for the 1993-94 year.

Present to open the building included Mike Smith, Louise Karr, Carol Lobert, and Rev. B.J. Rogers.

AA, domestic violence center now in Lakehills

The Lakehills United Methodist Church has donated a building on 29th Street in Lakehills for use by Alcoholics Anonymous and by SW Family Life Center.

Alcoholics Anonymous will meet each Wednesday night at 8 p.m. in the Lakehills location.

The building will act as an outreach office for Southwest Family Life Center, an organization dedicated to help victims of abuse and domestic violence.

Both organizations meeting on 29th Street share a common denominator: the identity of those needing their services is kept anonymous, or secret.

A spokesperson for Alcoholics Anonymous said B.J. Rogers, pastor of the Lakehills United Methodist Church, and members of that church had done "too much" in donating the building and getting it ready for the two groups to use.

"We really appreciate this," he said. "The building was a shack, a total wreck. They came in and cleaned it and made shutters and put in new windows- it's great. Now people who need help have a place to come."

Victims of abuse or family violence can reach the Southwest Family Life Center 24-hours a day at 796-3449.

Those wanting help for drinking problems can attend the Wednesday night meetings, or call Justice of the Peace Louise Karr at 751-3535 for more information.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Abominations to God

"There are six things which the Lord hates, seven which are an abomination to him: haughty eyes, a lying tongue, and hands that shed innocent blood, a heart that devises evil plans, feet that make haste to run to evil, a false witness who breathes out lies, and a man who sows discord among brothers."

— Proverbs 6: 16-19

God knows there are faults in all men. They are His creations, but He left them a freedom of will to determine for themselves the path they would follow in their earthly lives. That did not mean, however, that God was unaware of the weaknesses of men, or that He would overlook their evil characteristics of shortcomings. The list of abominations in Proverbs fairly well sets forth those personality traits that God-fearing people themselves find detestable among those who sin or openly break the guidelines for a decent life set forth in the commandments. But before we cast our eyes for others' faults, we should look within ourselves for any we might have.

Meet the Coaches night at Bandera High School gave Bandera Bulldog boosters the opportunity to meet the 1993-94 coaching staff for BHS up close and personal Thursday, Aug. 12. Here Kathy Flack and Beth White get a chance for a one-on-one visit with new boys athletic director and head football coach Mike Williamson.

The Bulldogs wrapped up two weeks of two-a-day practices and are looking forward to hitting someone other than their own teammates. They will get the opportunity on Thursday, August 19, when they go to Jourdanton for their first scrimmage. In a scheduling change, the following week's scrimmage has been changed to an away scrimmage. It will be in Lavernia and is still scheduled for Friday, August 27.

Showdown in the Hill Country set for October

On October 10, 1993, at Bandera Downs, the "Showdown in the Hill Country" match race will take place.

1992's Quarter Horse Distance Horse of the Meet, Physical Boy; and the Thoroughbred Older and Sprinter of the Meet, Raise the Govenor, will go head to head over a thousand yards.

Just like it was in the old days, a challenge was made and taken, and the time to put up or shut up is near in this winner-take-all match of the decade.

Rumors are flying throughout the industry, but the real story is that a purse of $20,000 is up for grabs.

Race fans may wager on this race. Twenty thousand dollars on just one race, just two amazing horses, only one winner.

Bandera gymnasts Rachel Wyman, left, Elizabeth Carpenter and Stacy Stehling competed in a statewide meet at the Austin Aquafest Saturday, Aug. 14. Carpenter won the all-around in her first outing at level six, beating last year's level five champion Kathy Shaw. Eleven-year-old 'Liz took first in vault and third in floor exercise, balance beam and fifth on the uneven parallel bars. Wyman, who is nine got a second on the floor and a fourth in the vault. Seven-year-old Stacy didn't place in the level five meet but according to coach Regis Turgeon of Regis Gymnastic Center in Kerrville where the girls train, she was really aggressive and showed a lot of confidence. The next outing for Carpenter is Sept. 25, again at Austin. Her team mates will compete in San Antonio Sept. 18.

Soccer registration begins Wednesday, Aug. 18

Registration for the Bandera County Youth Soccer Association's 1993 season will begin on Aug. 18 and 19 at Alkek Elementary School from 3 to 4 p.m. and at the Medina School from 3:30 p.m. to 4:30 p.m.

Final registration day will be Saturday, Aug. 21 from 8 a.m. to noon at the First State Bank in Bandera. If your child will be five years old before Sept. 1, 1993, he/she will be eligible to play soccer.

The "F" division is for children ages five and six. The "E" division is for those seven and eight. The "D" division is for youth 9 to 11.

The registration fee is $20 per child, with a $40 limit per family no matter how many children from that family participate.

Practice will begin on Aug. 23.

The Soccer Association desperately needs anyone who still has league-issued shorts and/or soccer balls to turn them back in. They may be left with Alleen Ellinger at the Bandera Electric Cooperative.

Parents interested in becoming involved may contact coach Bill Wyman at 796-4817; referee Stan Lico at 535-6194; or a team mom or dad through your child's coach.

Foursome wins with seven-under 65

A seven-under-par 65 fashioned by the team of Lee Finch, Curtis Brown, B. B. Williams and Larry Upton was good enough to win the bi-weekly scramble sponsored by the Flying L Golf Association on Thurs. Aug. 4, at Flying L Guest Ranch course here.

Three teams were tied for second place with six-under-par 66: Joe Morales, Pete Suddath, John Kitchen and Jerry Upton; Lew Lewis, Bill Craddock, Jim Martin and Flossie Allen; and Gerald Lutz, Sr., Jack Finger, H.C. Day, and Mike Horan.

The next tournament at the Flying L will be at 1 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 15.

Both men and women golfers are eligible to join the Association. Dues are $10 annually and tournament fees are $18 which includes entry fee, green fee and cart.

THE COST OF CARING

They arrived at the emergency room in different ways, but all were gravely ill. They were without insurance, and unable to pay for the life-saving care they desperately needed.

More often than people realize, the physicians and staff at Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital have healed the helpless, the elderly, and the poor, frequently without any compensation for the care provided.

Four cases, four successes

- A parent brought in infant Rebecca, who had been severely beaten and was dying.
- Jane, 80, staggered in complaining of shortness of breath and extreme weakness. She was near collapse.
- A screaming ambulance rushed 32-year-old John to the double doors of the Emergency Room because he was comatose from multiple overdoses of drugs and alcohol.
- A personal doctor admitted Bill, 56, for surgery.

All were greeted with emergency, life-saving care, then monitored around the clock in Intensive Care. In several cases, multiple surgeries with complicated procedures were required.

Patients depart; their bills remain

When these four area residents left weeks later, they left behind bills totalling $143,772. Of that, $18,191, or 12 percent, was paid to the hospital.

The primary reason for underpayment by government programs like Medicare and Medicaid is the system used for reimbursement of services. DRGs, or Diagnostic Related Groups, assign a fixed payment for each diagnosis and pay only that amount of money to the hospital, regardless of the actual cost for treating the patient. In cases with multiple complications, DRG payment falls short of covering the hospital's expense for providing care. DRGs fall short for paying hospital costs in Kerrville, and across the country.

The four actual cases we cite are representative of what's happening at Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital. When you wonder why health care costs are so high these days, remember how much blood these four people required and how much red ink they left behind.

The names and ages of Bill, Jane, Dave, and Rebecca were changed to respect patient confidentiality. But in all other respects, the information is accurate.

$47,000 unpaid

All too often, Emergency Room doctors receive critically ill patients without histories. They work from scratch. Bill, 56, was different.

His doctor had put him through an extensive outpatient workup resulting in a diagnosis of jaundice due to bile-duct obstruction. Bill needed surgery.

The operation corrected the problem, but surgeons discovered a badly diseased pancreas due to Bill's heavy smoking and alcohol abuse.

Bill got better, then much worse. In the next 30 days, personnel treated him for high fever, difficulty breathing, irregular heart beat, anemia, and a second bowel obstruction.

Treatment included nine days in intensive care, 98 lab tests, 4 units of blood, 4 CAT scans, 12 chest x-rays, 89 respiratory treatments, and 25 arterial blood gases.

His bill: $47,477. Paid: 0.

Even with Medicare 87 percent unpaid

Jane, an 80-year-old grandmother, had severe pneumonia, dehydration, and anemia compounded by a history of heart disease. For 23 days, physicians and nurses battled bacteria that were difficult to identify, and used 117 doses of antibiotics in a desperate fight.

In addition, Jane had 87 lab tests, 9 units of blood, and 16 chest x-rays. As is typical in many cases, she did have Medicare and a dab of co-insurance.

Jane's bill: $28,978. Paid: $3,994.

Addictions can mean no insurance coverage

Dave, 32, who was found to have overdosed on several toxicants and to have inhaled stomach contents into his lungs, was amazingly better after three days of intensive care, thanks to the hard work of the physicians and nurses in the SPMH ICU.

As plans were being made for discharge, however, he developed fluid in his lungs and required a respirator to get enough oxygen to stay alive.

Dave had no insurance and did not qualify for Medicare or Medicaid, or indigent health assistance. In keeping with the hospital's mission, Sid Peterson care-givers nevertheless treated the illnesses that resulted from his addictions.

Dave's bill: $39,617. Paid: $0

Medicaid did pay half

Infant Rebecca's case caused emergency-room personnel to become angry at someone who would inflict such pain on a child. Doctors and nurses rallied to save the severely beaten infant. Nonstop for hours, days, and weeks, they performed surgeries and treatments.

Because of her family's low-income and her age, she qualified for Medicaid. Even with this government-assisted medical care, the government's system of DRGs underpaid the hospital's costs.

Rebecca's bill: $27,700. Paid: $14,197. ■

While little Rebecca and the others left Sid Peterson feeling well enough to start anew, the American health care system that saved them—at no or little expense to the patients or families—is ailing.

Peterson Regional Health Care Center

Peterson Regional Health Care Center

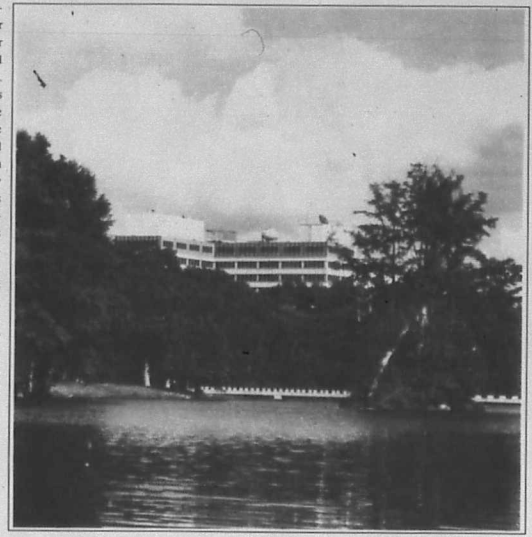

For 44 years, Peterson Regional Health Care Center has served residents in our six county area with a level of care unexpected in rural Texas.

"Caring for our community" was the vision of Hal and Charlie Peterson, who established the foundation which created Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in 1949. Since that time, Hill Country residents have enjoyed the benefits of sophisticated and comprehensive health care, without the hazards and inconvenience of long distance travel.

Sociologists say the business conducted by a community's most prominent structure reveals that community's values. Rising over the river and commotion of commerce, the hospital stands as a testament to pioneer foresight and steadfastness in the face of change. Visible for miles in all directions, the hospital and its health care campus help define the Kerrville area as a community that takes care of its people.

Because we care about our community, the management of Peterson Regional Health Care Center has prepared and paid for this newspaper insert. We feel it's part of our responsibility to help our community understand the complex issues associated with health care reform, and to provide the information needed for all of us to make informed decisions in the months to come.

It's important to form your own opinion about the type of health care system you want in Texas and in the United States. It's also important to communicate that opinion to our elected officials in Austin and Washington. The reforms passed by Congress and the Texas Legislature will determine what kind of health care is available when you or a loved one needs it. ■

Who we are

Peterson Regional Health Care Center (PRHCC):
The integrated health-care campus adopted this name in 1991, following a separation from the Peterson Foundation in 1990. Today, the medical campus consists of eight health-related facilities.

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital (SPMH):
A 148-bed, acute-care hospital providing a comprehensive range of medical and surgical services.

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital Board of Directors:
Governs the not-for-profit hospital and four other not-for-profit facilities on the campus:
1. SPMH Skilled Nursing Facility
2. Peterson Home Care
3. Townhouse Residential Center
4. Guy Griggs Professional Building.

Kerrville Radiation Therapy Center:
Privately operated, specialized therapy facility for cancer patients.

Heart of the Hills Cardiac Rehabilitation Center
Privately operated, specialized therapy facility for the rehabilitation of patients with heart disease.

Howard College Associate Degree Nursing School:
A branch of Howard College (whose main campus is located in Big Spring, Texas), which offers a 1-year, accelerated-degree program for LVNs to become RNs.

HEALTH CARE GLOSSARY

As more information is available about health care reform, it's easy to be confused by many of the terms. The following glossary is provided as a reference.

CAPITATION: Method of payment, commonly used by managed care plans, in which physicians and hospital are paid a fixed amount for each patient over a specified period of time, regardless of the nature and number of services provided.

COST CONTAINMENT: Policy or method for reducing health care expenditures.

FEE FOR SERVICE: Method of payment in which the insurer and/or patient pays the physician for a medical service according to the physician's established schedule of charges.

HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATION (HMO): Prepaid, managed care plan in which the emphasis is placed on preventive and primary care. Most HMOs operate their own clinics and hospitals staffed by salaried physicians. Other HMOs function as specialized insurance companies that contract with physicians to provide medical services to individuals in the plan for a fixed monthly premium. HMOs can either be for-profit or not-for-profit.

MANAGED CARE: System in which the insurer manages the delivery of health care and controls costs by emphasizing primary and preventive care services. Managed care plans use utilization review to ensure the appropriate delivery of care. HMOs and PPOs (Preferred Provider Organization) are examples of managed care plans.

MANAGED COMPETITION: Model of health care delivery embraced by the Clinton Administration. This delivery system focuses on shifting competition in the health insurance market from risk (insuring individuals who are healthy instead of those with preexisting conditions) to price. Free-market forces on price and quality would be the basis for consumer or employer selection of a health plan.

PREFERRED PROVIDER ORGANIZATION (PPO): Model of health care delivery in which an insurance company specifies physicians and hospitals that are approved to provide services to members of the plan. Cost containment is achieved by only allowing those physicians and hospitals into the plan who agree to provide services for a prearranged, contracted rate.

The High Cost of U.S. Health Care: The price is no longer right

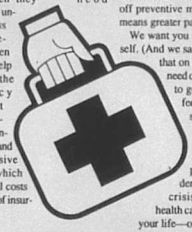

Problems are epidemic across the country

Billions of dollars in unreimbursed hospital care are one reason why health care has become the third largest industry, and why costs are rising faster than inflation.

In some hospitals across America, long waits in emergency rooms are frequent. And that's for patients who can get themselves seen. At hospitals outside Kerrville, more and more patients are being turned away.

The number of the untreated and the uninsured is growing like a cancer as our deficit-ridden federal economy forces government to legislate changes for us.

What ails our country's health care industry is complex and interrelated. One problem leads to another: As the cost of medical insurance rises, for instance, more and more families drop coverage; that means fewer people see doctors when they need to; they wait until an illness becomes severe, and then loved ones help them into the emergency room; in that condition, patients must undergo longer and more expensive treatment, which raises hospital costs and the price of insurance.

Unchecked ailments aggravate system

We at Peterson Regional Health Care Center (PRHCC) are concerned about these serious problems. You should be too.

We are in the business of serving our community with modern medicine that you can afford, and that we can afford to provide. It's getting harder and harder for us to carry on our mission, though. If we cannot find ways to continue to do that, the hospital, as we know it today, may not exist.

It doesn't help us at Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital (SPMH) for these problems to go unchecked. Just like the uncomfortable citizen who puts off preventive medicine, delay to us means greater pain down the road.

We want you to take care of yourself. (And we say a few words about that on Page 11.) But if you need our services, we strive to get you back on your feet and into the mainstream as soon as possible.

Regardless of your health, it's important for you to understand the health care crisis. Eventually, the health care system will touch your life—or the life of someone you love. Choices are going to be made. We had better be well informed.

A living memorial to their father

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital is a non-profit corporation dedicated to community service.

The hospital is supported financially in three ways: patient revenues, Medicare and Medicaid partial payments, and private donations. The hospital has been self-supporting (without tax money directly) since 1949 when two of the Peterson brothers, Hal and Charlie, erected a memorial to their father, Sid. The Peterson Foundation governed the hospital and oversaw the unique business. In the '50s, for instance, the hospital supplemented its revenues by renting retail space and selling gasoline in a first-floor service station at the corner of Water and Sidney Baker streets.

In 1990, the hospital separated from the Hal and Charlie Peterson Foundation. Now, SPMH has a separate board, the Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital Board of Directors, and is run as a non-profit corporation.

Most expensive care in world

In the beginning, the hospital joined a health care system in America that was the envy of the world. Today, it is arguable if American health care would rank as the best. Several statistics do not distinguish our system. In infant mortality, for example, the United States is 23rd lowest, according to Dr. Melvin Konner, M.D. and Ph.D., author of the book, Medicine at the Crossroads.

While quality may be questionable, there is no doubt our health care is the most expensive in the world. Studies find patients pay 10 times as much in America than they do in some industrialized countries.

Those who can pay, pay for the rest

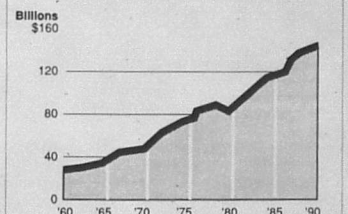

We already have mentioned several factors driving up health care costs. Here's another way to look at it: Those who can afford to pay for their medical care pick up the tab for those who can't. This situation leads people to ask an age-old philosophical question: Is health care a right or a privilege? See page 12 for our thoughts.

While we are not a charity hospital, we are dedicated to community service. We care for everyone who comes to us, but this caring is not without cost.

Total National Health Care Expenditures
(Adjusted for Inflation)

U.S. health care expenditures have been consistently on the upswing. By the end of the 1980s, costs were growing at a double-digit rate each year. From 1980 to 1990, costs jumped an estimated 187 percent, or 81 percent when adjusted for inflation.

Peterson Regional Health Care Center

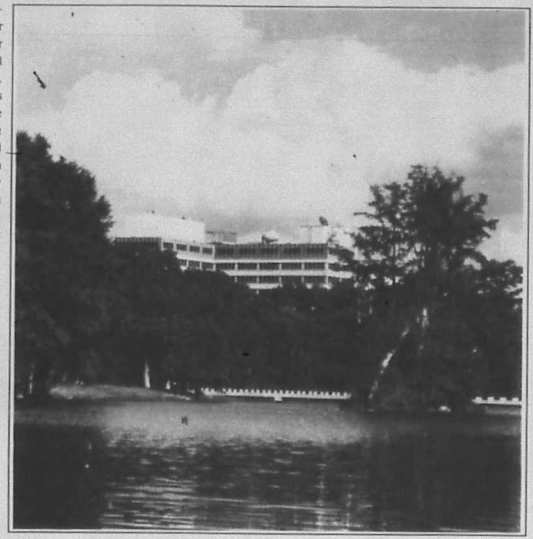

For 44 years, Peterson Regional Health Care Center has served residents in our six county area with a level of care unexpected in rural Texas.

"Caring for our community" was the vision of Hal and Charlie Peterson, who established the foundation which created Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in 1949. Since that time, Hill Country residents have enjoyed the benefits of sophisticated and comprehensive health care, without the hazards and inconvenience of long distance travel.

Sociologists say the business conducted by a community's most prominent structure reveals that community's values. Rising over the river and commotion of commerce, the hospital stands as a testament to pioneer foresight and steadfastness in the face of change. Visible for miles in all directions, the hospital and its health care campus help define the Kerrville area as a community that takes care of its people.

Because we care about our community, the management of Peterson Regional Health Care Center has prepared and paid for this newspaper insert. We feel it's part of our responsibility to help our community understand the complex issues associated with health care reform, and to provide the information needed for all of us to make informed decisions in the months to come.

It's important to form your own opinion about the type of health care system you want in Texas and in the United States. It's also important to communicate that opinion to our elected officials in Austin and Washington. The reforms passed by Congress and the Texas Legislature will determine what kind of health care is available when you or a loved one needs it. ■

As more information is available about health care reform, it's easy to be confused by many of the terms. The following glossary is provided as a reference.

CAPITATION: Method of payment, commonly used by managed care plans, in which physicians and hospital are paid a fixed amount for each patient over a specified period of time, regardless of the nature and number of services provided.

COST CONTAINMENT: Policy or method for reducing health care expenditures.

FEE FOR SERVICE: Method of payment in which the insurer and/or patient pays the physician for a medical service according to the physician's established schedule of charges.

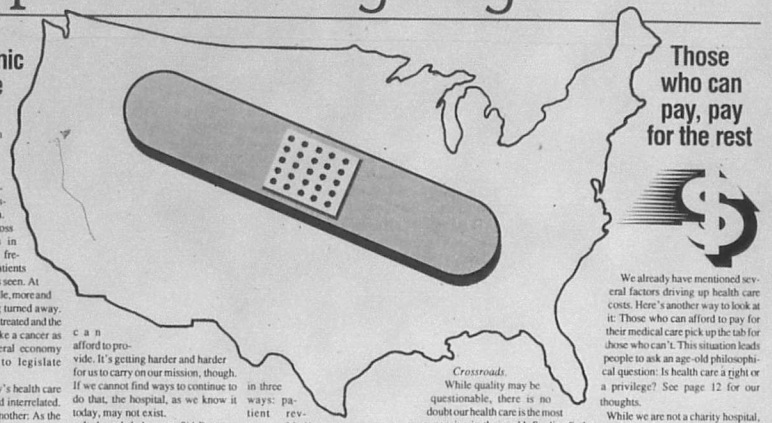

HEALTH MAINTENANCE ORGANIZATION (HMO): Prepaid, managed care plan in which the emphasis is placed on preventive and primary care. Most HMOs operate their own clinics and hospitals staffed by salaried physicians. Other HMOs function as specialized insurance companies that contract with physicians to provide medical services to individuals in the plan for a fixed monthly premium. HMOs can either be for-profit or not-for-profit.

MANAGED CARE: System in which the insurer manages the delivery of health care and controls costs by emphasizing primary and preventive care services. Managed care plans use utilization review to ensure the appropriate delivery of care. HMOs and PPOs (Preferred Provider Organization) are examples of managed care plans.

MANAGED COMPETITION: Model of health care delivery embraced by the Clinton Administration. This delivery system focuses on shifting competition in the health insurance market from risk (insuring individuals who are healthy instead of those with preexisting conditions) to price. Free-market forces on price and quality would be the basis for consumer or employer selection of a health plan.

PREFERRED PROVIDER ORGANIZATION (PPO): Model of health care delivery in which an insurance company specifies physicians and hospitals that are approved to provide services to members of the plan. Cost containment is achieved by only allowing those physicians and hospitals into the plan who agree to provide services for a prearranged, contracted rate.

Problems are epidemic across the country

Billions of dollars in unreimbursed hospital care are one reason why health care has become the third largest industry, and why costs are rising faster than inflation.

In some hospitals across America, long waits in emergency rooms are frequent. And that's for patients who can get themselves seen. At hospitals outside Kerrville, more and more patients are being turned away.

The High

Because of that commitment, we absorbed over $4 million in uncompensated care last year. Over $4 million! Together, Texas hospitals gave away a staggering $2.2 billion in care!

DRGs: Diagnostic Related Groups

How can the hospital say it suffered over $4 million in uncompensated care? Primarily due to shortfalls in the payment structures of the various reimbursement systems.

Hospitals are paid for services in one of three ways:

1) By the patient

2) By the patient's private or commercial insurance company, along with the patient's deductible or co-payment.

3) By government programs like Medicare and Medicaid.

For government programs, there is a flat fee per diagnosis that is paid to the hospital. This reimbursement is based on what are called DRGs, or Diagnostic Related Groups.

DRGs allocate a set amount per admitting diagnosis, no matter how simple or complicated the care for the illness, the materials and equipment required to treat the illness, or the length of the hospital stay. Quite simply, DRGs often do not cover the costs that hospitals incur when treating a patient. As a result, SPMH frequently receives less money than the cost of the treatment it delivers.

Because Medicare and Medicaid cover so little of the cost of treatment, private insurance carriers are desirable because their rate of reimbursement is not dictated by DRGs. However, when insurance carriers raise premiums to cover expenses, policy holders are charged more, or carriers reduce coverages and their portions of the payments, and, in some cases,

However, when insurance carriers raise premiums to cover expenses, policy holders are charged more, or carriers reduce coverages and their portions of the payments, and, in some cases, exclude poor risks.

This has resulted in millions of people who are under-insured. Stack those millions on top of the estimated 37 million who have no health insurance, and the cancer spreads.

The situation with our health care system is becoming critical if judged solely by those numbers. But there is more, much more.

More paper-handlers than care-givers

Complying with hundreds of federal, state, and local laws becomes part of the rising costs. A study in Rhode Island found one-quarter to one-half of health care costs were tied up with paperwork and the documentation required to comply with government regulations.

The mountain of paper is piling so high that it's not unusual to find four clerical workers for every caregiver in a U.S. hospital. Shouldn't that be the reverse?

Rightly, there is scrutiny of the SPMH facilities, policies and procedures to ensure quality patient care. But hospitals incur too-frequent inspections, and spend hundreds of hours—and dollars—addressing problems that have little to do with patient care.

Federal, state and local agencies whose regulations contribute to the cost of health care include, but are not limited to:

- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention
- Environmental Protection Agency
- National Labor Relations Board
- U.S. Department of Health and Human Services / Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA)
- U.S. Department of Labor/ Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA)
- State Department of Insurance
- Texas Department of Health
- Texas Department of Human Services
- Texas Air Control Board
- Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse
- Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation
- Texas Employment Commission
- Texas Workers' Compensation Commission
- City of Kerrville Department of Health
- City of Kerrville Fire Department

Patients and taxpayers, of course, end up paying for government excesses and redundancy.

At SPMH, we've experienced an increase in administrative jobs since the initiation of DRG's and other government programs, which were—ironically—originally designed as "cost containment" measures.

In 1981 when Frances Rische started working in the data processing department of the hospital, there was no Utilization Review Department, no Quality Assurance Department, no Patient Accounts Department, and no Risk Management Department.

"Today, combined personnel in these departments, along with staff increases in other areas, such as Social Services, account for over 30 administrative positions, even though the number of patient beds in the hospital has not increased," says Mrs. Rische. "And none of these people are directly responsible for patient care."

Medicare and Medicaid: 1965 programs

President Lyndon B. Johnson signed into law health care-benefit packages for senior citizens and the poor as Harry S. Truman and Hubert H. Humphrey looked over his shoulder in the Oval Office. Neither that legislation, nor the dozens of upgrades in 28 years, anticipated the cost of the graying of America, the need for cost containment, and a federal deficit which aggravates reform efforts.

Medicare and Medicaid underfund hospitals and doctors for standard services, and fail to deal with many needs, such as long-term care.

Some 33 million senior citizens used Medicare last year. The estimated costs to taxpayers this year will be $147 billion.

At SPMH, about 60 percent of the patients admitted use Medicare to help pay for care. That's high for a rural Texas hospital, where Medicare admissions in 1990 ran about 43 percent. Hospitals in urban Texas rely even less on Medicare, where these patients account for only 18.6 percent of admissions.

Any federal cuts in Medicare reimbursement would seriously cripple the hospital's ability to break even financially and continue operating with full services.

Medicaid, originally a federal program to care for poor mothers and their children, evolved over the years into a federal-state program for the poor. At that, Medicaid covers only half the poor in America, 31 million people.

Of the patients who come to SPMH, about 10 percent use Medicaid. Of the women giving birth at our hospital, 57 percent use Medicaid. Two years ago, that number was 23 percent.

The price is no longer right

The high price of liability

Those patients who pay also indirectly cover the costs for malpractice lawsuits and liability insurance.

The price tag on carrying such insurance has risen so dramatically, that Texas hospitals pay an average of $280 per bed per month, the American Hospital Association (AHA) found. Physicians across the country also pay hefty sums for malpractice insurance.

Defensive medicine is behind 15 percent of all diagnostic tests, the AHA reports. The AHA defines "defensive medicine" as doctor-ordered excessive tests to protect themselves against possible malpractice lawsuits.

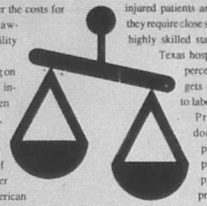

Prescription drug costs rose 152 percent during the 1980s for two key reasons: pharmaceutical manufacturers' liability concerns, and the federal government's lengthy approval process for new drugs.

Is technology worth the cost?

Technology is a blessing and a curse for the modern hospital. Of course, diagnostic tools such as the CAT scan, while very expensive, compensate for the cost in quicker, more accurate findings, and in fewer surgeries. But in general, Americans pay a high price for the highest medical technology in the world. U.S. surgeons perform 4.4 times more open-heart surgeries than do German doctors, the AHA says.

CAT scans make sense and cents, but some hospitals acquire other equipment before assessing the costs and benefits relative to existing technologies.

Health care is labor intensive

Because only acutely ill or badly injured patients are hospitalized, they require close supervision by a highly skilled staff. A study of Texas hospitals found 50 percent of their budgets were dedicated to labor costs.

Primary care doctors, nurses, pharmacists, physical therapists and other professionals are in great demand by hospitals, clinics, and other health care facilities. That's more of a problem in rural Texas where doctors make less money than their associates in metropolitan areas. We'll talk about this in more depth on page 6.

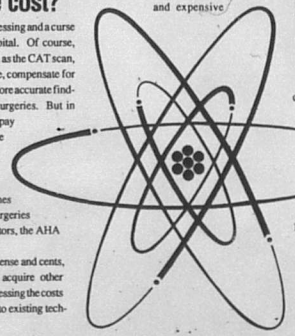

Less costly system means less freedom

Americans traditionally want every effort made for every patient, especially when the ill person is a loved one. But the health care crisis raises questions about that philosophy.

Should extraordinary and expensive efforts be made to save the lives of a few, say, who need liver transplants? Or should limited financial resources be focused on providing preventive and routine health care to everyone?

Studies show that the greatest percentage of lifetime health care costs are accumulated during the last six months of a person's life. Should care be rationed out to only those with the greatest chance of recovery?

If choices were limited or made for patients in advance, costs would decline, studies show. Managed care and "managed competition" is now being discussed as a cost-cutting measure, but in many cases these "managed" programs limit a patient's choice of doctors and hospitals — and often dictate the degree of care a physician may provide to a patient. Do we want managed care programs to enter into the business of "practicing" medicine?

Health care costs pass 13% of GDP

The impact of out-of-control costs is enormous. Try $940 billion on health care in America this year! That's triple what it was in 1980.

That's also more than 13 percent of the country's gross domestic product (GDP). At that level, health care is the third largest industry in America.

The Clinton Administration says rising health care costs are the chief cause of federal deficit growth.

Let's summarize what's happening

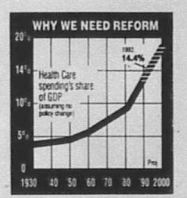

Before we move to the situation in Texas and locally, let's take a snapshot of what's happened to the health care system in America.

- Hospitals are experiencing sharply increasing demand for services as the population grows older and grays.
- American societal values continue to say: Perform whatever is needed no matter how expensive or damaging to the health care delivery system.
- By many gauges, our medical care may not be the best in the world, and yet it is the most expensive.
- New health care technologies are expensive, maybe too expensive for the health of the system.
- Medicare and Medicaid do not reimburse hospitals fully for services rendered.
- Prescription drug costs continue to rise.
- Hospitals spend 50 percent of budget on personnel, and those hospitals, despite paying good salaries, cannot find enough qualified people.

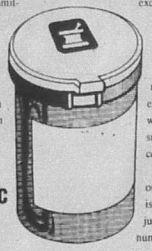

Through the turmoil, Peterson Regional Health Care Center has been a constant in our community, residing at one location for 44 years, and with one commitment to its community. We have maintained this commitment, despite operating in the State of Texas, which treats health and human services—and health care providers—as second class. ■

Where education has leveled at 6 per cent of the gross domestic product (GDP), health care has soared from 4 to 13 percent—and it's headed for 18 percent by the year 2000.

The High Cost of U.S. Health Care:

Because of that commitment, we absorbed over $4 million in uncompensated care last year. Over $4 million! Together, Texas hospitals gave away a staggering $2.2 billion in care!

Patients and taxpayers, of course, end up paying for government excesses and redundancy.

At SPMH, we've experienced an increase in administrative jobs since the initiation of DRG's and other government programs, which were—ironically—originally designed as "cost containment" measures.

In 1981 when Frances Rische started working in the data processing department of the hospital, there was no Utilization Review Department, no Quality Assurance Department, no Patient Accounts Department, and no Risk Management Department.

"Today, combined personnel in these departments, along with staff increases in other areas, such as Social Services, account for over 30 administrative positions, even though the number of patient beds in the hospital has not increased," says Mrs. Rische. "And none of these people are directly responsible for patient care."

Medicare and Medicaid: 1965 programs

President Lyndon B. Johnson signed into law health care-benefit packages for senior citizens and the poor as Harry S. Truman and Hubert H. Humphrey looked over his shoulder in the Oval Office. Neither that legislation, nor the dozens of upgrades in 28 years, anticipated the cost of the graying of America, the need for cost containment, and a federal deficit which aggravates reform efforts.

Medicare and Medicaid underfund hospitals and doctors for standard services, and fail to deal with many needs, such as long-term care.

Some 33 million senior citizens used Medicare last year. The estimated costs to taxpayers this year will be $147 billion.

At SPMH, about 60 percent of the patients admitted use Medicare to help pay for care. That's high for a rural Texas hospital, where Medicare admissions in 1990 ran about 43 percent. Hospitals in urban Texas rely even less on Medicare, where these patients account for only 18.6 percent of admissions.

Any federal cuts in Medicare reimbursement would seriously cripple the hospital's ability to break even financially and continue operating with full services.

Medicaid, originally a federal program to care for poor mothers and their children, evolved over the years into a federal-state program for the poor. At that, Medicaid covers only half the poor in America, 31 million people.

Of the patients who come to SPMH, about 10 percent use Medicaid. Of the women giving birth at our hospital, 57 percent use Medicaid. Two years ago, that number was 23 percent.

The price is no longer right

The high price of liability

Those patients who pay also indirectly cover the costs for malpractice lawsuits and liability insurance.

The price tag on carrying such insurance has risen so dramatically, that Texas hospitals pay an average of $280 per bed per month, the American Hospital Association (AHA) found. Physicians across the country also pay hefty sums for malpractice insurance.

Defensive medicine is behind 15 percent of all diagnostic tests, the AHA reports. The AHA defines "defensive medicine" as doctor-ordered excessive tests to protect themselves against possible malpractice lawsuits.

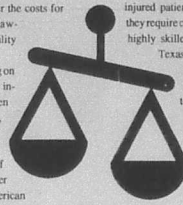

Prescription drug costs rose 152 percent during the 1980s for two key reasons: pharmaceutical manufacturers' liability concerns, and the federal government's lengthy approval process for new drugs.

Is technology worth the cost?

Technology is a blessing and a curse for the modern hospital. Of course, diagnostic tools such as the CAT scan, while very expensive, compensate for the cost in quicker, more accurate findings, and in fewer surgeries. But in general, Americans pay a high price for the highest medical technology in the world. U.S. surgeons perform 4.4 times more open-heart surgeries than do German doctors, the AHA says.

CAT scans make sense and cents, but some hospitals acquire other equipment before assessing the costs and benefits relative to existing technologies.

Health care is labor intensive

Because only acutely ill or badly injured patients are hospitalized, they require close supervision by a highly skilled staff. A study of Texas hospitals found 50 percent of their budgets were dedicated to labor costs.

Primary care doctors, nurses, pharmacists, physical therapists and other professionals are in great demand by hospitals, clinics, and other health care facilities. That's more of a problem in rural Texas where doctors make less money than their associates in metropolitan areas. We'll talk about this in more depth on page 6.

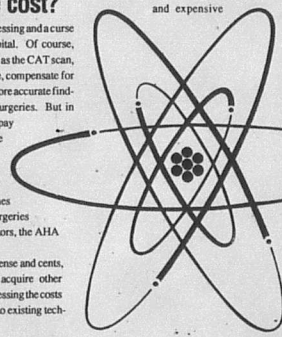

Less costly system means less freedom

Americans traditionally want every effort made for every patient, especially when the ill person is a loved one. But the health care crisis raises questions about that philosophy.

Should extraordinary and expensive efforts be made to save the lives of a few, say, who need liver transplants? Or should limited financial resources be focused on providing preventive and routine health care to everyone?

Studies show that the greatest percentage of lifetime health care costs are accumulated during the last six months of a person's life. Should care be rationed out to only those with the greatest chance of recovery?

If choices were limited or made for patients in advance, costs would decline, studies show. Managed care and "managed competition" is now being discussed as a cost-cutting measure, but in many cases these "managed" programs limit a patient's choice of doctors and hospitals — and often dictate the degree of care a physician may provide to a patient. Do we want managed care programs to enter into the business of "practicing" medicine?

Health care costs pass 13% of GDP

The impact of out-of-control costs is enormous. Try $940 billion on health care in America this year! That's triple what it was in 1980.

That's also more than 13 percent of the country's gross domestic product (GDP). At that level, health care is the third largest industry in America.

The Clinton Administration says rising health care costs are the chief cause of federal deficit growth.

Let's summarize what's happening

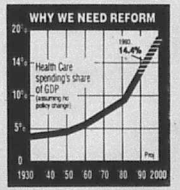

Before we move to the situation in Texas and locally, let's take a snapshot of what's happened to the health care system in America.

- Hospitals are experiencing sharply increasing demand for services as the population grows older and grays.
- American societal values continue to say: Perform whatever is needed no matter how expensive or damaging to the health care delivery system.
- By many gauges, our medical care may not be the best in the world, and yet it is the most expensive.
- New health care technologies are expensive, maybe too expensive for the health of the system.
- Medicare and Medicaid do not reimburse hospitals fully for services rendered.
- Prescription drug costs continue to rise.
- Hospitals spend 50 percent of budget on personnel, and those hospitals, despite paying good salaries, cannot find enough qualified people.

Through the turmoil, Peterson Regional Health Care Center has been a constant in our community, residing at one location for 44 years, and with one commitment to its community. We have maintained this commitment, despite operating in the State of Texas, which treats health and human services—and health care providers—as second class. ■

Where education has leveled at 6 per cent of the gross domestic product (GDP), health care has soared from 4 to 13 percent—and it's headed for 18 percent by the year 2000.

TEXAS HEALTH CARE: A State of Pain

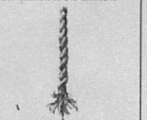

Texans, too, are feeling the pain of spiraling health care costs.

Our state is but one snapshot in an American roll of film that's out of focus. Texans are finding it difficult to get a clear picture of the problem when all they have is negatives darkened by millions of people who have fallen through the health care safety net.

Our state ranks 45th in health and human services expenditures, according to the Texas Hospital Association.

Uninsured Texans at 3 million-plus

Millions of children, teenagers, and pregnant women are without insurance or government assistance. The cost of ignoring them has turned out to be enormous. The problem cannot be ignored any longer.

> Part of the cost of providing services to the medically indigent has shifted to Texas doctors. In 1989, Texas physicians provided almost $1 billion in charity care. The average Texas physician cares for 169 charity patients a year.

The situation is worse in rural communities. A report to the Texas Legislature in January said:

Rural health providers often operate under conditions where needs are high, finances are unstable, and support is minimal. Such an environment is especially sensitive to changes in the regulatory or legal climate.

Additional paperwork or reporting requirements, or changes in reimbursement rates or formulas can dramatically affect a rural provider.

Rural providers repeatedly indicate that federal and state regulatory requirements take health care workers away from patient care, and add to administrative costs.

The Center for Rural Health Initiatives report went on to say there was no mechanism to ensure rural health care's needs would be considered.

During the 1980s, 131 hospitals in Texas closed. Without help and workable solutions, the problems that caused those closings persist. Costs keep rising. And, not surprisingly, there are millions of Texans suffering from lack of care, and millions more suffering the financial pain from paying too much for their own and others' care.

The high cost of health care has changed the staff down to its roots. The oil and gas industry, once the topsoil of the Houston area, now employs 44,000 fewer people than the 110,000 strong health care industry in that metropolitan area

Rural Texas: situation bleak

Some 56 of Texas' 254 counties are without a hospital—including the four counties which cradle Kerr and Gillespie. Many more counties lack a facility of at least 20 beds and a wide range of medical services. To find modern prenatal care, for instance, residents of 123 counties must cross at least one county line. Twenty three rural Texas counties lack even a single primary care physician, 25 counties have only one doctor, and 26 counties have only two.

In rural Texas, of course, average income is lower. Some 22.7 percent of families-of-four in rural Texas lives below the poverty line. As a result, rural residents are more likely than urbanites to be covered by government programs for health care, or some mixture of public and private insurance.

Rural Texas has 16 percent of its population 65 years and older, contrasted to urban areas where 8.8 percent are senior citizens.

More than 11 percent of rural Texans are enrolled in Medicaid, two percentage points higher than city dwellers.

In rural Texas, 17.5 percent (or about 500,000 people) have no health insurance coverage.

What is meant by rural Texas?

The phrase "rural Texas" is an important one in the health care business.

Our state government considers every county of fewer than 50,000 residents as rural. The big cities are labeled Metropolitan Statistical Areas (MSAs). Kerr County has about 37,000 inhabitants, and is not adjacent to Bexar County (which makes up part of the San Antonio MSA), so we're considered rural.

> In 1989, an estimated 120,000 Texas small businesses either changed carriers or dropped health care insurance for their employees.

Interestingly, 80 percent of Texas' counties are outside metro areas, and those 203 counties contain 3.1 million Texans.

Medicare and Medicaid reimburse hospitals and doctors according to these population designations. Health care providers in metro areas receive significantly more money than do those in rural areas, since the government has determined the cost of living is higher in urban areas than rural communities. Unfortunately, the cost of living index doesn't necessarily coincide with the cost of practicing medicine.

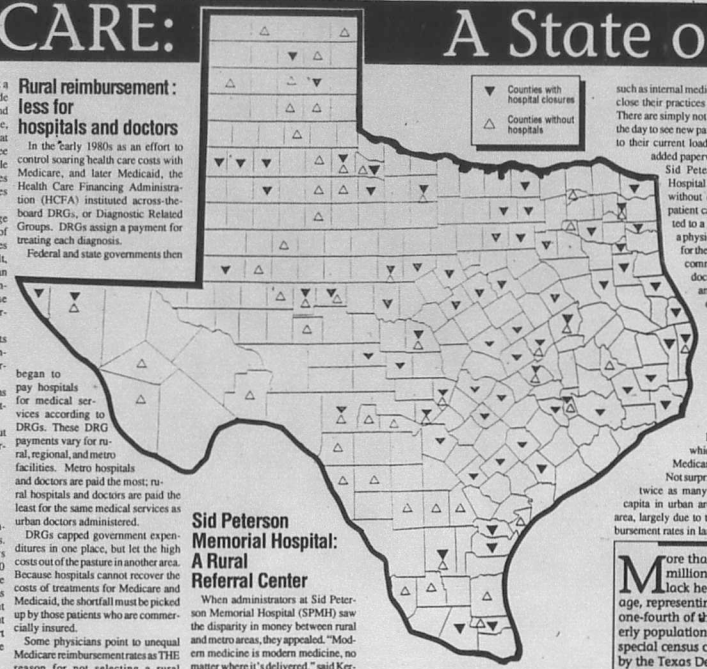

Rural reimbursement: less for hospitals and doctors

In the early 1980s as an effort to control soaring health care costs with Medicare, and later Medicaid, the Health Care Financing Administration (HCFA) instituted across-the-board DRGs, or Diagnostic Related Groups. DRGs assign a payment for treating each diagnosis.

Federal and state governments then began to pay hospitals for medical services according to DRGs. These DRG payments vary for rural, regional, and metro facilities. Metro hospitals and doctors are paid the most; rural hospitals and doctors are paid the least for the same medical services as urban doctors administered.

DRGs capped government expenditures in one place, but let the high costs out of the pasture in another area. Because hospitals cannot recover the costs of treatments for Medicare and Medicaid, the shortfall must be picked up by those patients who are commercially insured.

Some physicians point to unequal Medicare reimbursement rates as THE reason for not selecting a rural community to set up practice.

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital: A Rural Referral Center

When administrators at Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital (SPMH) saw the disparity in money between rural and metro areas, they appealed. "Modern medicine is modern medicine, no matter where it's delivered," said Kerrville physicians.

The hospital successfully demonstrated that it was providing the equivalent of urban medicine in a rural setting, based on the severity of illnesses treated and the sophistication of equipment, doctors and services. As a result, SPMH was able to become reclassified by Medicare as a Rural Referral Center (RRC), making the hospital eligible for a small increase in reimbursements over the basic rural rates. Our RRC serves an estimated population of 60,000 people who reside in all or parts of six counties: Bandera, Gillespie, Kerr, Kendall, Kimble, and Real.

Rural doctors: an endangered species

More hospitals shut down for lack of doctors than for lack of funding. Doctors in the Kerrville area, for the most part, are overworked. Many physicians involved with primary care, such as internal medicine, have had to close their practices to new patients. There are simply not enough hours in the day to see new patients in addition to their current load, as well as the added paperwork.

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital could not exist without doctors, since a patient can not be admitted to a hospital without a physician's order. So, for the hospital, and the community, keeping doctors in Kerrville and attracting new ones is a high priority.

However, physician recruitment in rural Texas is a difficult and frustrating process, especially in communities like Kerrville, which have a high Medicare population. Not surprisingly, there are twice as many physicians per capita in urban areas than in our area, largely due to the higher reimbursement rates in larger cities.

> More than 3 million Texans lack health coverage, representing almost one-fourth of the non-elderly population. The 1989 special census conducted by the Texas Department of Human Resources found 1 in 5 Texans under the age of 65 had no health insurance.

"Rural Texas continues to lack needed health professionals, especially those who deliver primary and preventive care, the first line of medical treatment," said the Center for Rural Health Initiatives report to the Texas Legislature in January.

"Recruiting physicians to a rural community like Kerrville is a challenge," says SPMH Administrator F. W. Hall, Jr. "Many are just out of their residency, with enormous student loans to repay ($100,000 and up), and they look at the limited reimbursement from Medicare, Medicaid and the patient mix, and can't see how they'll survive financially. Luckily, our existing physicians are a living testimony to the fact that it can work. We have found that our own medical staff has been the greatest asset in getting new physicians to take a look at our facility and the services we can offer, but many young doctors are still too anxious to take the plunge and open a rural practice."

William R. Rector, M.D., Chief of the Medical Staff, put it this way: "During our recruitment process, we have found a number of physicians surprised to find sophisticated technology and a medical staff that is 95% board certified or board eligible at SPMH. Since we're a rural community, they do not expect to have access to the same technology and peer support that they've been used to in major cities. We feel these factors, along with the lifestyle options of the Hill Country, have helped us attract greater interest than other rural Texas communities."

Children, teenagers, and pregnant women

Expensive health care in Texas places three groups of people in jeopardy: children, teenagers, and pregnant women.

Although Medicare assures access to health care for most elderly, there is no such guarantee to protect children. More than a million Texas children do not have private health insurance and do not qualify for Medicaid or other public programs. Nonexistent or inconsistent treatment of routine illnesses and injuries can leave children with permanent complications such as hearing losses from what started as minor ear infections.

Less than half the preschool children in many areas of Texas receive all recommended immunizations against childhood diseases.

The cost of one dose of measles-mumps-rubella vaccine is $20. At SPMH, the average cost of a 4 day hospital stay for a child with pneumonia is $2,500.

For every $1 spent on vaccines, approximately $10 is saved in the costs of treating complications of preventable diseases.

$1 on prenatal care saves $3 in costs

One in four pregnant women in Texas has no health insurance and often gets none or inadequate prenatal care. Inadequate prenatal care increases the risk that the mother will deliver a low-birth-weight baby who begins life with major health problems.

Other patients who end up paying for those babies' extended care are spending $3 for newborn intensive care when $1 in prenatal care would have sufficed.

Texans have paid dearly for teenage pregnancies for years, and yet this problem is worse in the Lone Star State than in any other.

In 1991, more than 131,000 babies were born to Texas mothers covered by Medicaid, at a cost of $215 million. Almost 29 percent of those births were to mothers 19 years of age or younger.

Texas is first in the nation in the incidence of teenage pregnancies in girls under the age of 15. Not surprising, the Medicaid payouts, which covers many young pregnant women, have increased.

> In Texas, 70 percent of residents below the federal poverty level are not covered by Medicaid.

TB increasing for lack of care

Tuberculosis is increasing in Texas due to the lack of primary care. Preventive care for TB costs $9.54 per person. To treat a person who has contracted standard TB, the drugs alone cost $631 per person for six months.

If the TB is the new multi-drug-resistant strain, the cost is $19,949 for drugs alone for six months. Hospitalization for that same period is $87,660.

A Texas Health Policy Task Force is working on ways to provide better, broader health care at more affordable prices.

Clintons' plan may increase failures, mergers

The Clintons' health care reform plan was being prepared as we were writing this information supplement. Reviewers predicted the plan would give most patients less choice of physicians, lower out-of-pocket expenses for primary care, and universal health coverage regardless of work status.

FORTUNE Magazine also predicted health care costs would fall for large companies, but rise for small ones.

Much of the plan that passes Congress will be phased-in over years. Right now, it is difficult to say for certain what will happen. As for rural hospitals, there was an ominous cloud in the early reports.

"Many community hospitals will fail or merge," the magazine predicted.

Medicare is the source for over half of rural hospital patient revenues

Peterson Regional Health Care Center:

Part of the Solution

American society and health care are on a collision course. Or are they? Observers say the resulting crash does not have to be catastrophic, sending everything and everybody into the ditch. At Peterson Regional Health Care Center, we're working hard to keep a handle on costs, and still deliver quality care to the Hill Country. We feel it's our responsibility to be "part of the solution" to the health care crisis, rather than just another part of the problem.

Fast Track

Access to care is an issue in Kerrville, with a shortage of primary care physicians in general, and those who do perform primary care unable to see new patients because of heavy case loads.

An average of 60 patients are seen daily in the SPMH Emergency Room, but many of these cases are not true emergencies. They are often folks who have no doctor and need minor medical attention.

Each person who comes to the ER is seen immediately by a triage nurse, who determines the severity of the patient's injury or illness. The most severe cases take priority over those with minor problems. During busy times, less urgent cases will be the last to see the doctor, resulting in long waits.

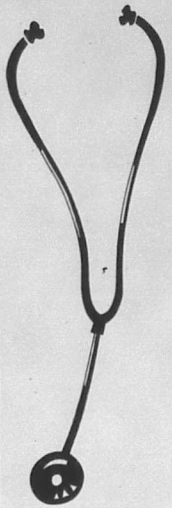

Starting in June, the SPMH Emergency Department instituted FAST TRACK, a service designed to get less severe cases in and out quickly.

Open from Noon to 8PM daily, FAST TRACK has a physician and nurse who operate separately from the regular Emergency Room. These health professionals deal only with the less severe patients, enabling them to be seen as soon as possible.

In the first month of operation, FAST TRACK patients were able to see the doctor within less than half an hour of their arrival.

By reallocating resources for FAST TRACK, the Emergency Department is able to not only work more efficiently, but also serve more patients, more rapidly. ▮

High tech saves lives and dollars

High technology is often cited as one reason health care costs are high. But high-tech equipment, purchased carefully and used wisely, can actually reduce overall costs to the patient.

Non-invasive imaging equipment, such as CAT scanners and MRIs, can enable physicians to make more complete diagnoses, without requiring expensive exploratory surgery.

After careful analysis, SPMH has decided to purchase its own CAT (Computed Axial Tomography) Scanner. This decision was made to not only upgrade scanning capability, but also to eliminate costs for the current lease agreement.

Besides enhanced imaging, the new scanner will operate more efficiently, enabling more patients to be scanned daily. Because volume will be higher, costs are anticipated to drop since labor expenses, per patient, will be reduced.

Plans have also been approved for the purchase of MRI (Magnetic Resonance Imaging) equipment. This new, improved equipment would be owned by the hospital and available at all times. Currently, the hospital contracts with a mobile MRI, which is in town only two days a week. Cost-savings could be realized as a result of increased patient volume, as well as the elimination of the contract service. ▮

One of the Best in the West

Recently, Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital was recognized as one of the top 10 hospitals in the Western United States. In a federal study conducted by the non-profit Center for the Study of Services, SPMH was ranked 10th for the entire Western Region. This area included California, Arizona, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Montana, Oregon, Utah, Oklahoma, and Washington.

This federal study looked at adjusted mortality for Medicare discharges and found SPMH to be among the hospitals with the very lowest mortality rates.

The study put our hospital in the company of famous facilities such as the University of Texas M.D. Anderson Cancer Center in Houston and UCLA Medical Center in Los Angeles.

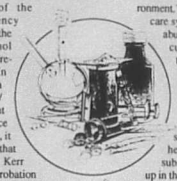

Published in the May 1993 issue of New Choices for Retirement Living magazine, the report was entitled "The Nation's Best and Worst Hospitals." The article acknowledged that even though the rankings were based on Medicare data, they reflected the general quality of the hospitals listed.

Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital distinguishes itself also in terms of value, or quality health care for the dollar. Texas Hospital Association figures for 1992 show SPMH charges are less than half the statewide average for inpatient days, even though the hospital has comparable professional staffing and services.

When compared to just hospitals of its size, and to just rural hospitals, Sid Peterson still is considerably less expensive, even with the extensive range of services offered.

Overall, the medical campus and its outreach programs mark Peterson Regional Health Care Center as a leader in the cost-conscious 1990s, and that's important to patients, their families, insurance companies, our government leaders, and the highly dedicated group of doctors, nurses, clinical staff, and managers at PRHCC.

Alcohol abuse, drugs costs us all

Too many of the SPMH Emergency Room visits are the result of alcohol abuse and drug related problems. In a report given at a joint health care/law enforcement alcohol task force meeting last year, it was announced that 1,800 people in Kerr County were on probation for alcohol abuse. At that same meeting, it was stated that every night in Kerr County, 1 in every 3.2 children goes home to a substance abuse environment. The cost to the health care system for substance abuse is difficult to calculate, but it's clear that taxpayers and hospitals are footing the bill for individuals who cannot; or chose not, to take responsibility for their health. Inevitably, substance abusers end up in the emergency rooms of SPMH and other hospitals across the country, with chronic, debilitating illnesses and no means to pay for the care they require. ▮

Quality the Deming way

There's a quiet revolution going on in Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital. For more than a year, the teachings and lessons of famed quality expert Dr. W. Edwards Deming have guided managers throughout the hospital to learn how to improve systems and services.

All department directors, supervisors and more than 300 employees have completed a 12-week course, based on the Deming Video Library. Eventually, all hospital employees will be trained in the Deming philosophy.

This philosophy promotes the concept that the "customer defines quality" and, in order to deliver customer-defined quality, an organization must constantly look at its systems and processes with an eye towards on-going improvements. It is management's job to improve systems and processes so workers can understand their job and take pride in their work.

When quality goes up, so does productivity and joy in workmanship. With increased productivity, and happy employees, costs go down, because rework (doing the same job to correct a problem) is eliminated.

Usually, improvements are small and incremental. But that's quality: making steady improvements all the time. Whoever said "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," was wrong. By adopting that slogan, the steel and auto industries in America became second rate.

When quality goes up, so does productivity and joy in workmanship.

Process Improvement Teams (PITs) throughout the hospital are studying key processes and making improvements. Teams are working to speed up the turnaround times of lab-results reporting, improve patient food service, streamline out-patient services ordered by physicians and outpatient registration, and improve access to the hospital by redesigning and relocating signs. ▮

There's no place like home

Thanks to modern medical technology, many procedures and treatments that once required hospitalization can now be done on an outpatient basis, or even in the comfort of one's home.

A few short years ago, the only alternative for skilled nursing care was a nursing home. Today, more and more patients can remain in their homes and still receive sophisticated treatment by licensed practitioners. Studies have shown that patients recover sooner in the home setting, and at greatly reduced costs than in a hospital or nursing home.

Peterson Home Care has been caring for Hill Country residents since 1985, and is rapidly growing. Visits have increased to over 2,500 per month. Besides the health benefits of home care, it is also cost-effective because of the reduced overhead required to operate a home care service. ▮

Mammography Services: Once Is Not Enough

During the last 12 month period, the SPMH mammography equipment, film processing and technicians have been inspected by six different state or federal agencies. In many cases, not only do the surveyors look at the same documents, they also review the other agencies' reports, adding to the redundancy. The agencies who review mammography equipment, procedures and services are:

- Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations
- Medicare / Health Care Financing Administration
- Texas Department of Health:
  3 different inspections:
  - Control of Radiation
  - A licensed physicist must inspect the machine to assure it's working properly
  - Control of Radiation for Medicare Screening Mammography
- American College of Radiology

Passing these many inspections has awarded us the highest certifications available. In fact, SPMH is the only facility in Kerrville which has received accreditation from the American College of Radiology for its mammography services. Even though a survey or inspection generates a tangible proof of quality, there can be quite a cost associated with the exercise. Preparation for the event can take several weeks and even months, since all documentation is usually reviewed (including policy and procedure manuals and staff certifications), as well as inspection of the equipment and film processors

Texas Hospital Association figures for 1992 show SPMH charges are less than half the statewide average for inpatient days, even though the hospital has comparable professional staffing and services.

When compared to just hospitals of its size, and to just rural hospitals, Sid Peterson still is considerably less expensive, even with the extensive range of services offered.

Overall, the medical campus and its outreach programs mark Peterson Regional Health Care Center as a leader in the cost-conscious 1990s, and that's important to patients, their families, insurance companies, our government leaders, and the highly dedicated group of doctors, nurses, clinical staff, and managers at PRHCC.

Alcohol abuse, drugs costs us all

Too many of the SPMH Emergency Room visits are the result of alcohol abuse and drug related problems. In a report given at a joint health care/law enforcement alcohol task force meeting last year, it was announced that 1,800 people in Kerr County were on probation for alcohol abuse. At that same meeting, it was stated that every night in Kerr County, 1 in every 3.2 children goes home to a substance abuse environment. The cost to the health care system for substance abuse is difficult to calculate, but it's clear that taxpayers and hospitals are footing the bill for individuals who cannot; or chose not, to take responsibility for their health. Inevitably, substance abusers end up in the emergency rooms of SPMH and other hospitals across the country, with chronic, debilitating illnesses and no means to pay for the care they require. ▮

There's a quiet revolution going on in Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital. For more than a year, the teachings and lessons of famed quality expert Dr. W. Edwards Deming have guided managers throughout the hospital to learn how to improve systems and services.

All department directors, supervisors and more than 300 employees have completed a 12-week course, based on the Deming Video Library. Eventually, all hospital employees will be trained in the Deming philosophy.

This philosophy promotes the concept that the "customer defines quality" and, in order to deliver customer-defined quality, an organization must constantly look at its systems and processes with an eye towards on-going improvements. It is management's job to improve systems and processes so workers can understand their job and take pride in their work.

When quality goes up, so does productivity and joy in workmanship. With increased productivity, and happy employees, costs go down, because rework (doing the same job to correct a problem) is eliminated.

Usually, improvements are small and incremental. But that's quality: making steady improvements all the time. Whoever said "If it ain't broke, don't fix it," was wrong. By adopting that slogan, the steel and auto industries in America became second rate.

When quality goes up, so does productivity and joy in workmanship.

Process Improvement Teams (PITs) throughout the hospital are studying key processes and making improvements. Teams are working to speed up the turnaround times of lab-results reporting, improve patient food service, streamline out-patient services ordered by physicians and outpatient registration, and improve access to the hospital by redesigning and relocating signs. ▮

There's no place like home

Thanks to modern medical technology, many procedures and treatments that once required hospitalization can now be done on an outpatient basis, or even in the comfort of one's home.

A few short years ago, the only alternative for skilled nursing care was a nursing home. Today, more and more patients can remain in their homes and still receive sophisticated treatment by licensed practitioners. Studies have shown that patients recover sooner in the home setting, and at greatly reduced costs than in a hospital or nursing home.

Peterson Home Care has been caring for Hill Country residents since 1985, and is rapidly growing. Visits have increased to over 2,500 per month. Besides the health benefits of home care, it is also cost-effective because of the reduced overhead required to operate a home care service. ▮

Mammography Services: Once Is Not Enough

During the last 12 month period, the SPMH mammography equipment, film processing and technicians have been inspected by six different state or federal agencies. In many cases, not only do the surveyors look at the same documents, they also review the other agencies' reports, adding to the redundancy. The agencies who review mammography equipment, procedures and services are:

- Joint Commission on the Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations
- Medicare / Health Care Financing Administration
- Texas Department of Health:
  3 different inspections:
  - Control of Radiation
  - A licensed physicist must inspect the machine to assure it's working properly
  - Control of Radiation for Medicare Screening Mammography
- American College of Radiology

Passing these many inspections has awarded us the highest certifications available. In fact, SPMH is the only facility in Kerrville which has received accreditation from the American College of Radiology for its mammography services. Even though a survey or inspection generates a tangible proof of quality, there can be quite a cost associated with the exercise. Preparation for the event can take several weeks and even months, since all documentation is usually reviewed (including policy and procedure manuals and staff certifications), as well as inspection of the equipment and film processors

1949: The Way It Was....

1993: The Way It Is

On July 3, 1949, at the grand opening of Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital, Hal and Charlie Peterson presented the following dedication:

"We have built this hospital as a memorial to our father. He grew up in the Hill Country, he loved it and he counted his friends on Hill Country farms and ranches by the score. We think he would want us to erect this sort of memorial to him; a hospital that fills a need of long standing, dedicated without profit to the service of the community he loved.

And so, here it is. It's yours to use. If it will ease a little the sufferings of the sick and injured; if it will help a little to mend their broken bodies; if it will provide a place where the next generation—and the next—can enter this world with the best of care and attention, and if it can do these things at a minimum of expense to those who must be patients, then our purpose in building it and giving it to the Hill Country community has been well served."

Rising on three sides of the intersection of Sidney Baker and Water streets, the hospital campus stands today for the same commitment to community that it did in 1949.

Healthy starts save lives and dollars

Teen pregnancy rates are higher in rural Texas than in urban Texas. In Kerr County, 54 young women under the age of 18 gave birth during 1990 and 1991.

A number of educational and outreach services have been available in Kerrville to support these young women, but physician assistance for prenatal care was often not accessible.

In 1991, the Social Services Department at SPMH arranged a meeting with the five Kerrville doctors who deliver babies. The goal was to work out a plan for helping these young mothers get adequate prenatal care.

As a result of the meeting, the SPMH OB/Medicaid Referral Service was started. Through the hospital, young mothers are educated and assisted with their Medicaid applications. They are then assigned a physician, on a rotating basis, to care for them during their pregnancy and delivery. The referral service is open to residents in Kerr, Edwards and Real counties, who qualify for Medicaid, and who are less than 18 weeks pregnant.

Since the referral service began, over 360 young women have been assigned doctors. In most cases, these young women would not have received any prenatal care, and just walked into our Emergency Room in labor. ▮

Intensive care: intensive consultation

Patients in the SPMH Intensive Care Unit not only benefit from advanced medical technology, but also from a "brain trust" of area physicians. Every weekday morning, ICU rounds are held in the Intensive Care/Coronary Care Unit, where internists, other primary care physicians and specialists get together to review each case in the unit, and consult each other about treatment options.

In this way, ICU patients and their families gain from the collective experience and training of the group, rather than that of a sole practitioner.

ICU rounds are indicative of the degree of involvement that area doctors have with the operation of SPMH. By law, physicians may not be employees of the hospital, but the doctors who are members of the SPMH medical staff are intimately involved with the management and functioning of the hospital.

This supportive relationship is about to be strengthened, as the hospital and medical staff have formed a Physician-Hospital Organization (PHO). This organization will be able to offer a complete package of physician/hospital services to area employers and their insurance companies, with an aim of reducing the overall costs of health care for area businesses. The Peterson Regional PHO is another way the community benefits from the close working relationship SPMH shares with area physicians. ▮

In most cases, these young women would not have received any prenatal care, and just walked into our Emergency Room in labor.

Honeywell Project improves energy efficiency

With annual energy costs running in excess of $375,000, SPMH believed there could be an opportunity for savings if we took a hard look at ways to conserve.

At the request of the Facilities Management Department, Honeywell conducted an energy audit throughout the hospital to determine what cost-savings might be realized by improving the heating, cooling and lighting systems in the building.

As a result of the audit, several adjustments were made, including an overhaul of the heating and cooling systems, and installing energy-efficient light fixtures and bulbs.

Another improvement was the installation of updated thermostats in all patient rooms, so patients may adjust individual room temperatures to their liking.

One innovation was the installation of light switches with motion-detector devices, which automatically turn off lighting in areas where no activity is occurring. Another improvement was the installation of updated thermostats in all patient rooms, so patients may adjust individual room temperatures to their liking.

The hospital environment is now computer-controlled and monitored on a 24-hour basis, with adjustments made automatically, depending on climate conditions.

These improvements in energy efficiency have saved the hospital over $84,000 annually. An additional savings of $5,400 per year has been realized in the parking garage alone, due to the replacement of old lighting with more energy-efficient units. ▮

No end to crisis unless patients comply

No one program or governmental move by itself will solve America's health-care crisis. The single most influential action would be for every person to take personal responsibility. If every patient would comply with doctors' recommendations for their return to health—and if everyone would act to take care of themselves, we would see a dramatic improvement in the cost of health care. An American Hospital Association (AHA) study found six personal-health factors were linked to 1 in 3 hospital stays. The factors were tobacco use, alcohol abuse, injuries, high blood pressure, overeating, and inadequate preventive care. ▮

Costs in Kerrville among the lowest

In keeping with our mission, the Board of Directors at SPMH has always been dedicated to keeping patient costs as low as possible, without compromising patient care. By innovative management in non-patient care areas, costs have been systematically controlled.

In a comparative study conducted quarterly by the Texas Hospital Association, charges for inpatient stays at SPMH were consistently lower than for other hospitals the same size, and even small rural hospitals with fewer services.

AVERAGE CHARGES, PER INPATIENT STAY:

Jan-March 1993

SPMH:	$ 5,648
Statewide Acute Care: (245 hospitals)	$ 10,289
Hospitals 100-199 beds: (46 hospitals)	$ 8,831
Rural Hospitals: (101 hospitals)	$ 5,853
San Antonio Area: (27 hospitals)	$ 8,951

Also, a 1992 study by the American Chamber of Commerce Researchers Association found costs of health care in Kerrville were 86.3 percent of the national average.

That average, the association found, was $6,535 per family per year. Another $3,693 was paid for that average family by business, so the total yearly outlay was $9,042.

In all, the survey tracked health-care costs in 291 cities nationwide.

Those paying for health care in San Antonio were paying 96.1 percent of the national average.

What YOU Can Do

The topic of health care reform and cost containment is complex, even mind-boggling. If you have read the information in this newspaper insert, it is obvious there is no quick-fix. No "miracle cure" for what ails health care in America, or Texas, or even Kerrville.

There are, however, many things each of us can do to keep health care more affordable for everyone. First of all, we can begin to take responsibility for our own health, and make some changes in our lifestyles. We can stop smoking, lose those extra pounds, watch what we eat and begin to exercise.

The best thing about these activities is that most can be practiced by anyone and everyone, regardless of age, income, education, employment status or whether a person does or does not have health insurance. The second best thing about these choices is that they cost little or no money to implement.

In addition, Peterson Regional Health Care Center offers a variety of quarterly health screenings, which are free and open to the public. These screenings are held at the Kerrville Municipal Auditorium, and provide a wide range of services. Plans are underway to offer similar health screenings for area businesses.

At the beginning of this insert, we stated that Peterson Regional Health Care Center wants health care to be there for you when you need it. These suggestions for changes in your personal lifestyle can directly or indirectly impact what you pay for health care:

Make regular physical exercise a part of your life.

Wear seatbelts and make sure your passengers do too.

Commit yourself to regular physical checkups.

Practice safety in the workplace and at home.

Limit the use of alcohol and tobacco.

Discuss with your family your wishes should you become critically injured or ill.

Register to vote and exercise your right to vote.

Choose a career in health care.

Think carefully before taking legal action.

Health Care: A Right or a Privilege?

Setting aside personal philosophies of life and politics, we at Peterson Regional Health Care Center answer this question simply: Health care is a privilege. Every patient should endeavor to share in the cost of health care—at whatever level the patient can afford.

We at Peterson Regional Health Care Center must look at health care that way in order to remain viable in the cost-conscious 1990s.

Having said that, if you observe our emergency room and admitting area, you would see this privilege extended to everyone. No one is turned away. For any reason. Least of all because of that patient's inability to pay for care.

Hall, Jr., SPMH Administrator.

A privilege worth protecting

We think this way because we are a caring member of our community. But healing all who are injured or ailing may not always be the case at our hospital. With all our hearts, we hope we never have to change as have many hospitals in south-central Texas and the nation.

We have our shortcomings. Over the years, being the beneficiary of a gracious and giving foundation allowed us to concentrate more on care than finances. But those days are over.

We are concerned about our ability to maintain our current level of care with the current financial challenges. Already, we're economizing in non-patient care areas. In all of these departments, we are continually improving in little ways through Total Quality Management.

We tried hard on these pages to tell you how we see the health care crisis in a straightforward way. Some of this information hasn't been good news, but we believed you should have the real facts.

Talk to us — your neighbors

If you agree or disagree with our information and our thoughts, or if you just want to learn more, let us hear from you. Call Peterson Regional people — your friends and neighbors. Our Community Relations Department wants to know what you think, and would welcome your calls at (210) 257-0628. Or, plan to attend one of our community forums and make your views known. Watch this newspaper for details.

We all have a limited time to get this right before the changing medical landscape paints us into a corner, and we may have to make decisions that not everyone will like. At present, we are dedicated to maintaining and providing medical services cost-effectively to folks in the six county area around Kerrville.

It's the intent of the SPMH Board of Directors to constantly look for ways to continue to provide comprehensive services at a minimum expense to our patients. We do this through prudent use of technology to achieve long-term savings, such as purchasing the CAT Scanner, and a new hospital information system that will streamline the flow of patient information throughout the hospital.

If the government mandates basic health care for everyone, we'll all benefit. At SPMH, we've shown we can survive with a patient population of whom 70 percent rely on Medicare, Medicaid, or other government programs to help pay their hospital bill. We're breaking even financially, and for a non-profit hospital, that's our goal.

Medicare reductions would be a red flag

If mandated health care for all comes at the expense of reducing Medicare and Medicaid reimbursements, then we're concerned. And you should be concerned, too. Our operations may have to be reduced appreciably.

Unlike publicly-funded county hospitals, SPMH receives no tax money directly. So raising taxes is not the answer for our hospital's health. In fact, higher taxes could contribute to lower patient revenues, due to an overall reduction in disposable income.

How you can help

We on the SPMH Board and in administration of the hospital need you to act. What can you do to ensure your hospital will be here delivering generation-after-generation of Hill Country babies for another 44 years?

First, learn about our services, consider us first, and chose Peterson Regional Health Care Center for your health needs. Every time you travel elsewhere for hospital services, you undermine our ability to serve you, both today and in the future.

Likewise, support our local doctors. Recent physician recruitment efforts have been successful, and we now have two new internal medicine physicians, a pulmonary/critical care specialist, a urologist, an anesthesiologist and a new neurologist who have opened practices in Kerrville. If you need a physician referral, contact SPMH Community Relations at 257-0630 during weekday business hours. Also, keep in mind that every physician in Kerrville is being heavily recruited to go elsewhere, so it's very important to support and retain the doctors we now have.

Prepare to live with tough choices

Our ailing health care system in this country will not revive itself. In the months to come, you will be hearing and reading lots of suggestions and proposals for change from many sources. Listen and read carefully.

Think about what's most important about our current health care delivery system, the elements that are essential to retain, such as being able to choose your physician or hospital, access to an adequate supply of health care professionals, easy access to the most current technology, physician-directed patient care, advocacy of patients' interests and rights. Consider what we could do without, or at least, be able to reduce or limit, such as redundant inspections, frivolous malpractice litigation, unregulated insurance rate hikes, and unnecessary paperwork.

Be prepared to take greater responsibility for your own health, and make some of the lifestyle changes we mentioned earlier. There's plenty of proof available to support the negative health effects of smoking, alcohol, stress, saturated fat and a sedentary, "couch potato" lifestyle.

Understand, also, that the absolutely lowest-cost, managed care plan may not be the best medicine for our community. If the companies in our area send their employees elsewhere, you can guess the consequences.

Those dying patients we talked about on the front page of this special newspaper section recovered and are healthy. Let's work together to keep the facilities which cared for them, healthy, too. We're here to help. ■

Two Bandera youths die in weekend wreck

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

A fatal accident claimed the lives of two Bandera High School juniors on Sunday, Aug. 22 sometime between 12:30 a.m. and 4:05 a.m. Jason David Holden, 17, and David Dustin Brown, 16, were traveling north on Bottle Springs Road when their 1981 Toyota pickup truck hit a wooden fence, ran parallel to the fence for 300 yards, then crashed through the fence. Although the truck belonged to Brown, law enforcement officers have not yet determined which youth was driving the vehicle.

Both youths were already dead when the accident was reported at approximately 4:05 a.m. DPS Trooper Glenn Scales says they had probably been dead for some time and that with the injuries they received, death could have been immediate. An investigation into the cause of the accident is underway.

Trooper Scales said that information on the cause of the accident will be released after the autopsy is completed. The preliminary autopsy listed Dustin Brown's cause of death as internal injuries. Jason Holden died as a result of skull fractures.

Holden is the son of Gary and Cherie Holden of Bandera. Cherie said Holden's dad is "devastated" by the loss of his son. "Jason was the sweetest- the best son. I'm his stepmother, but no one could have had a better son. He enjoyed working hard and he loved his friends. It's unusual to find a kid these days who enjoys hard work. Jason did."

Holden worked at Quality Welding and had planned to learn the welding trade. His hobbies were working on his truck and working at his job.

Dustin Brown

Brown is the son of Charlotte Brown of Bandera. He moved to Bandera from Lubbock in 1979 and was a member of Lakehills United Methodist Church.

High School principal Richard Delamain said that high school students are taking the death of their classmates "very hard."

Justice of the Peace Louise Karr said it was the worst accident she had witnessed to date. She pronounced Holden dead at 5:20 a.m. and Brown dead at 5:21 a.m.

Sheriff James MacMillan said, "We found one full beer can, one empty beer can and one half-empty can at the scene. But until we have the autopsy results, we won't know if they had been drinking."

Scales agreed. "We've had some kids tell us they had been at a party where drinking was going on. But until we have the autopsy results back, it is all speculation. It hurts a lot of people to speculate on something and run with it."

The Bexar County Medical Examiner's office is conducting the autopsy and may have the results as early as next week.

A full obituary for each youth appears elsewhere in this issue.

BHS football scrimmage relocated in La Vernia

Bandera Athletic Director Mike Williamson has announced that Friday's scrimmage against La Vernia has been changed to an away location. "On all our schedules we had this listed as a home scrimmage but when we started talking to the La Vernia people we found out it was our turn to go to their place," Williamson said. Time of the scrimmages will be 5:30 for the freshmen, 6:30 for the junior varsity and varsity will kickoff at 7:45.

'Barn Raising' date draws near

The Bandera County Junior Livestock Association is planning $30,000 worth of improvements to the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park. To help raise funds for those improvements, a benefit dance will be held on Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Cabaret, beginning at 3 p.m.

Performers will include Circle C and Justin Trevino. More performers are being contacted about the dance. Last year's stock show winners will be recognized. Plans are underway to raffle a pick up truck.

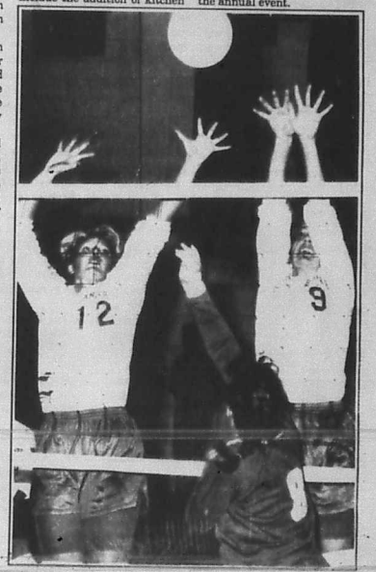

Improvements planned include the addition of kitchen facilities, restrooms and meeting rooms. The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the benefit dance.

Although the main event sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association is the livestock sale and show in January each year, the Ferguson Show Barn will be used year-round. Other activities held at Mansfield Park will benefit from the expansion of the barn. It was used for the annual Hunter's Barbecue last year. Organizers said the use of the show barn for the Hunter's Barbecue was a real boon to the annual event.

Megan Young, seven, gives her friend Kwik Top a glance while waiting for their event at a horse show in Mansfield arena Saturday, Aug. 21. Megan's brother, Kasey, who is nine, holds his mount, Charlie. The Horse Show was sponsored by the Bandera County 4-H, and results and additional information appear on Page 19.

Two respond to road story

Dear editor:

I do not write to criticize the County Commissioners. I am sure that if past criticism of them would have gotten perfect roads we would have them now. Commissioners, am I right? Questions: Don't home and property owners' taxes pay for road maintenance? If it isn't enough, why? Do you Commissioners determine the amount of road work that you plan to do in a year including an estimate for emergencies that may arise and submit your budget accordingly? Do you receive the amount that you request including an additional allotment for possible emergencies? Emergency money not needed, if any, can be carried forward and deducted from subsequent budget requests. If not, why not? Does your budget include new and additional equipment and additional workers that will be needed for opening new roads, if necessary, and maintaining existing roads? I note that in your article you now require developers to pave the roads. Do you have specifications for the developer to adhere to? If the commissioners need help from concerned citizens I am willing to help in any way I can. I do not agree that home and property owners should pay for road maintenance if we pay taxes for this purpose.

I am going to agree to something that I didn't think I would ever do. I will agree to the 3.66% property tax increase and a half cent sales tax if this tax increase will get the roads replaced or repaved as necessary in the Bandera River Ranch subdivision. I have no experience in road construction or maintenance but I question the adequacy of a three man crew. Using worn out equipment costs money. It does not save.

I suggest that the Commissioners and Bandera County citizens work together in harmony to arrive at a solution to the road problem. I don't know the answer but I know we need it now. The more we delay, the more it will cost. It may be painful but "no pain, no gain". Let's do it now! I believe that if we give the Commissioners the "tax money" they need to do a good job, they will do it economically. They will be inspired by our good faith. Right Commissioners?

I live in the Bandera River Ranch subdivision. The roads were bad when my wife and I bought a lot and built a home here. The roads have deteriorated more and are in very poor condition now. One might ask why we decided on the Bandera River Ranch if the roads were bad. My answer is that if our foresight was as good as our hindsight, we would be geniuses. Not withstanding the poor roads, the fine folks that live here make it a very desirable place to live. The roads are only a problem when you drive on them.

William F. Neff
Bandera

Dear editor:

What is Bandera County coming to? We pay taxes. We pay road and bridge fees. Our commissioners expect us to dig into our pockets yet a third time to buy materials to pave our roads?

That is the craziest thing in the world. Even crazier are the folks who paid to have their street re-paved.

There are two issues herein: 1. If the county will not maintain our roads, including paving and repairing them, why are we paying taxes to them to do so? If we have to pay for any part of the roads, it makes a lot of sense to stop paying taxes, and maintain our roads by ourselves as individual neighborhoods. 2. If the county wants to continue to brag about the huge mileage of roads that it supposedly maintains, the county officials need to find a way to pay for it fairly. I am not in favor of either property taxes or sales taxes, but Mr. Barker's sale tax increase is the best solution we seem to have right now.

Mr. Alanis is an out and out liar. He took over Timber Creek Road after 1983. It was not paved then; and it is now, thanks to the speeds that the Bandera and Northside buses use, a disaster area. The road is totally unsafe; and if Mr. Alanis does not fix it, he is going to find himself-along with the county-with a lawsuit for neglect and damages. That is not a threat. It is fact. Some of my neighbors have suggested adding discrimination charges to that. Dan, it is time to get off the "pot" before a bus full of children get off the road killing our little ones. You get more than enough tax revenues from Mountain Springs Ranch/Timber Creek Road in one year to pave this disaster area.

Our road is so bad that the sheriffs do not patrol up here any more. Even though that is understandable, it is wrong. It puts us in double trouble. Unfortunately, it is not bad enough to discourage vandals and thieves from coming up here!

At the risk of being even nastier, let me add that Pipe Creek is part of Bandera County, and I will continue to demand that we get the same services that other parts of the county have. That applies to our roads, mail service, and protection. I already have the federal postal inspectors in here investigating. This Yankee has a history of getting things done.

People reaching out to help

Dear editor,

Tragedy has struck our community again. Driving is dangerous and again we have lost 2 young men. There are many concerned parents and some of us have talked and agreed to the following: 1. We don't want to lose anymore kids. 2. We are willing to pick up anyone whose been drinking at any hour. 3. You won't be hassled-we just want to get you home safely.

This is not just for high school students, this is also for Jr. High School students. Parents don't be fooled-drinking is going on at ALL ages. Please talk to your children and encourage them to call us. Even if they aren't drinking, but are riding around with someone who is drinking. Tell them to get out of the car and call someone.

It is very important that when your child gets home there is not a confrontation at that time. Wait till the next day and talk with your child, listen to them, and work together so they know that making the phone call is the right thing to do. Explain to them they are endangering everyone on the road.

If you believe the kids have learned from the deaths of others-THINK AGAIN! To my shock, on the anniversary of Rodney & Monti's deaths their friends had a drinking party. This summer a high school girl that was drinking was crawling out on the hood of a car going 65 mph. Thank God when she fell off the car, she wasn't hurt. No police, no ambulance, no one was supposed to find out.

We pray every family in Bandera County will sit down, talk, and agree to call someone if you are drinking or with a driver who is drinking.

The newspaper has agreed to publish the numbers of volunteers, so if you will help, call someone on the list.

The following are available 24 hours a day:

Grateful for our firefighters

Dear editor,

We are grateful the Bandera, Pipe Creek and Medina Fire Departments for their prompt response to our call for help when a pasture fire was discovered on our property. We appreciated each and everyone who came to help.

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison last week was requested to appear before the Travis County grand jury that is investigating possible misuse of state employees and equipment while she served as state treasurer.

Steve McCleery, first assistant district attorney, said Hutchison, a Republican, has been asked to testify before the grand jury the last week of August or the first week of September.

McCleery said the request was made after Hutchison's lawyers asked that they and the senator be allowed to meet privately with prosecutors and investigators. That request was refused.

James Darnell of El Paso, one of Hutchison's attorneys, said the senator long ago agreed to appear before the grand jury "to attempt to bring this matter to a close."

Darnell criticized District Attorney Ronnie Earle for telling reporters Hutchison had been asked to appear.

"I have never heard of a district attorney breaching the confidentiality of the grand jury process in this manner," Darnell said. "The only purpose I can imagine for initiating such calls to the press is to attempt to create a public, political spectacle."

Untrue, McCleery said. Reporters from several Texas newspapers who had asked to be notified when or if Hutchison was scheduled to appear were called and told the possible dates, McCleery said.

Hutchison has denied wrongdoing and said the investigation is a partisan maneuver by Democrats.

PUC May Limit Inquiries

In a move opposed by consumer advocates, the Public Utility Commission is considering limiting the number of questions that may be asked of utilities during rate cases.

Critics contend the effect will be to limit the amount of information that can be sought from electric and telephone companies whose rate increase requests are complicated and affect millions of consumers.

"There's a world of money involved in these cases with a tremendous potential for additional costs being paid by ratepayers which they shouldn't have to pay," said Austin attorney Jim Boyle, who intervenes in rate cases on behalf of the Texas Ratepayers' Organization to Save Energy Inc.

"How you get to the facts or the truth in a rate case is not so much done in the hearing but during the discovery process," he said.

But PUC Chairman Robert Gee, who supports setting a limit, said rate case hearings end up drawn out for months while the costs associated with the proceedings are inflated by millions of dollars because of the unlimited number of requests for information that intervenors can make of utilities.

More Funds: Better Grades

Texas Education Commissioner Lionel "Skip" Meno last week called for more state funds for education, pointing to statistics suggesting that more wealth translates to higher performance.

Texas' 1,048 school districts and 6,184 public schools were ranked by student performance on an examination in a report released by the Texas Education Agency in early August.

Meno said the state's rating system suggests that students who attend predominantly white and economically nondisadvantaged schools score higher on Texas Assessment of Academic Skills, an exam that measures reading, writing and mathematics skills.

Ten districts that performed the lowest on TAAS were considered by TEA to be below average in taxable wealth per student.

Most top-performing districts were above average in wealth, the rankings showed.

Meanwhile, Meno said a proposed funding partnership between Dallas' wealthy Highland Park school district and the Houston area's Humble district "wasn't approvable because Texas is under orders not to allow for any resegregation of the state."

He said the proposal would have sent money from one primarily white district to another. While it would free state funds to help other districts, the benefit would be less than if Highland Park sent the money directly to the state.

Health Insurance Scam

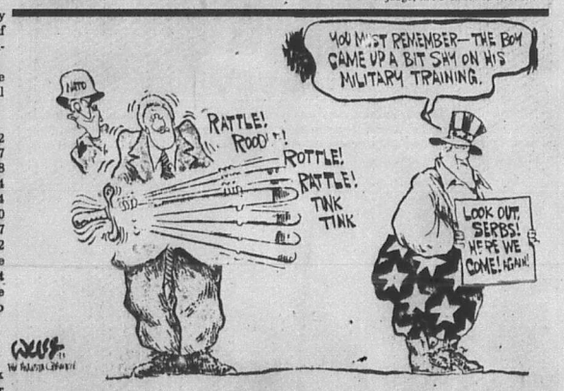

About 1,500 Texans, including employees of 17 small school districts, appear to have been victimized by an allegedly fraudulent health insurance operation.

State District Judge Jeanne Meurer issued a temporary restraining order last week against Contract Services Union Local 211 of Oklahoma City, and 35 other defendants who allegedly sold insurance packages without being licensed by the state.

State officials say about 30 claims totaling about $132,000 are unpaid. The state seeks restitution for the victims.

Other Highlights

- The mayors of Austin, Dallas, Houston and San Antonio announced support for the North American Free Trade Agreement. They said the agreement is good for Texas and the country because it will create American jobs, slow illegal immigration and help Mexico improve its environment.
- State Rep. Ashley Smith, R-Houston, who had been considered a top prospect to run for state treasurer next year, said he's not running for anything in 1994 — not state treasurer, not Harris County judge, not even for re-election.

A imminent threat of disaster from wild fire forced the Bandera County Commissioners Court and County Judge Ray Mauer to sign the emergency order. No combustible materials are to be burned outside of an enclosure which serves to contain all flames and/or sparks. No person may order another person to burn materials in an open flame.

Spur designer is now manager for Sims Spur Company here

Wayne Dollar makes spurs, designs belt buckles, and has been managing Sims Spur Company for the past two months. He donated his labor in making three belt buckles for members of the winning rodeo team for the summer, the Dixie Dude team.

He donated his time in making the buckles because he wanted to show local people what Sims Spur Company can do. "We have a lot of different kinds of buckles here," he explained. "We make belt buckles, head stall buckles, spur buckles, breast collar buckles. We can also make brown spurs. And we do a lot more engraving. We have Tony Lopez engraving. He's been with Sims about three years and he does good work and has a lot of nice ideas."

Sims Spur Company has added jewelry to the list of things it has to offer. All items at Sims are hand-crafted. Hand engraved earrings and bracelets are available.

Dollar began working metal 13 years ago when he was "starving to death" in Adrain. He owned a gas station and said there was "nothing to do in the winter. I made me a pair of spurs. Then I started my own business. I left my own business to come here to Sims. I've been making a lot more buckles since I came here."

The buckles he has made include the prize buckles which were given away to the winning summer rodeo team, buckles valued at $200.

Dollar says he loves Bandera, but it is "kinda tough" to have his wife and family still living in Hereford. His wife had already signed a contract to teach there before Sims took the job in Bandera. The couple have two sons, Chad, age four, and Flint, 11. "It will be worth it in the long run," Dollar says, "when they get moved down here."

Sims has six employees. It is a nationally known company and specializes in custom orders. "We can make anything out of metal," Dollar says with confidence.

4-H project workshops to be held

Two remaining 4-H foods and nutrition project workshops may be attended to work towards the required lessons needed to participate in the 4-H Foods & Nutrition Project and this year's Livestock Show/Bake Sale.

A "Dairy Production and Management" workshop will be held on Saturday, Aug. 28 from 9 a.m. until noon at the Mansfield Park pavilion. It is sponsored by the American Dairy Association and by Don White of Poteet.

Popa Mauldin will present "Ethnic food Cookery" on Saturday, Sept. 11 from 9 a.m. to noon. It will be held at the Bandera Bank Meeting Room.

All members of the project should participate in the "Helping Hand" food collection by donating canned or boxed food items. Canned meat products are especially needed.

The Bandera Bulletin has relocated at 1105 Cedar Street, and the Bandera County Appraisal District will soon occupy the Bulletin's former location at 1116 Main Street. Here, Bulletin publisher Dan Sandidge, left, and advertising sales representative Don Steele get a helping hand from Luke Parker as they move one of the larger pieces of furniture into the Cedar Street location formerly occupied by Ken's TV. Ken's has moved to 1001 13th Street. Did we hear someone say "checkmate?"

Spur designer is now manager for Sims Spur Company here

Wayne Dollar makes spurs, designs belt buckles, and has been managing Sims Spur Company for the past two months. He donated his labor in making three belt buckles for members of the winning rodeo team for the summer, the Dixie Dude team.

He donated his time in making the buckles because he wanted to show local people what Sims Spur Company can do. "We have a lot of different kinds of buckles here," he explained. "We make belt buckles, head stall buckles, spur buckles, breast collar buckles. We can also make brown spurs. And we do a lot more engraving. We have Tony Lopez engraving. He's been with Sims about three years and he does good work and has a lot of nice ideas."

Sims Spur Company has added jewelry to the list of things it has to offer. All items at Sims are hand-crafted. Hand engraved earrings and bracelets are available.

Dollar began working metal 13 years ago when he was "starving to death" in Adrain. He owned a gas station and said there was "nothing to do in the winter. I made me a pair of spurs. Then I started my own business. I left my own business to come here to Sims. I've been making a lot more buckles since I came here."

The buckles he has made include the prize buckles which were given away to the winning summer rodeo team, buckles valued at $200.

Dollar says he loves Bandera, but it is "kinda tough" to have his wife and family still living in Hereford. His wife had already signed a contract to teach there before Sims took the job in Bandera. The couple have two sons, Chad, age four, and Flint, 11. "It will be worth it in the long run," Dollar says, "when they get moved down here."

Sims has six employees. It is a nationally known company and specializes in custom orders. "We can make anything out of metal," Dollar says with confidence.

Expanded t service set

Bandera and Pipe Creek telephone customers will have the option of expanded calling capability to the San Antonio area beginning late Oct. as part of an agreement announced in 1990 by the Texas Public Utility Commission and Southwestern Bell Telephone.

The expanded toll-free calling plan will be offered for $36.80 per month for residence customers in Bandera and in Pipe Creek for $30.10 per month; business customers will pay slightly higher rates. This plan will give Bandera and Pipe Creek customers access to San Antonio metro numbers without incurring long distance charges.

Call to locations other than San Antonio will continue to be dialed at 1+ or 0+ long-distance calls.

Southwestern Bell is expanding optional toll-free calling to 32 cities around Austin, Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston and San Antonio as part of an accelerated program designed to help boost the Texas economy and provide customer benefits worth more than $1.2 billion through 1994.

Silver Sage Corral

Marti Hampton-Holloway

I mentioned in my first column, the 4th Tues. of every month is a delightful event at the Center, our Monthly Birthday Luncheon. I hope everyone marked their calendar. I hate the thought of you missing out on this very special event. The Birthday Celebration Luncheon is unique with everyone bringing a covered dish, made with living care from their favorite recipe. Some recipes have been handed down for many generations, with the dishes and desserts being as varied as they are delicious. All born in the month of the Birthday Luncheon are honored by being presented to the group, they do not have to bring a covered dish, and most importantly, they are allowed first in line for the feast. I am one of the Birthday people for August and I have looked forward to this event all year long, as I want to be first in line. I am certain being first in line goes back to grade school days, to be the very first in line was an honor. What a nice treat. Thank you to Joel Garcia for the lovely benediction. This month Ann Bramer is in charge of the kitchen. Lillian Ray and Alberta Clark are busy helping Ann serve the food. Thank you ladies and especially to all of the other volunteers who help to make this a very special luncheon for the Silver Sage Corral.

This past Friday Sally Daffern accepted a full time position at the Bandera Lodge and is presently working at the front desk in the Audit Dept. Ruth Palmer surprised Sally with ice cream and delicious cake (baked by Vanna Lee Palmer) at a little farewell party at the Center. Sally said she will miss everyone and working a the front desk, however, she won't be too far away to visit us.

Joel Garcia, our excellent language instructor, announced he will start a class in Conversational Spanish on Sept. 9. Please mark your calendars and come sign up for this class. I have talked to several former students who all agree, Joel Garcia is a wonderful teacher who makes learning Spanish a fun and interesting adventure. Welcome back to our fine instructor and friend.

Another excellent instructor, Olga Bolduc, is back from vacation and has started her Art Class for the new season. Most are familiar with Olga's creativeness and beautiful art work. We are so fortunate to have Olga give of her time and talents to the Center. So, hurry and sign up for her Art Class which is now in progress. The Art Class is held every Tues. at 10 a.m.

Volunteers who give of their time and talents are truly the backbone of our community, whose only pay is the love of giving. We sincerely thank each and everyone for your great contributions not only to the Silver Sage Corral, but to the city of Bandera.

Medina ISD explains lunch program

The Medina Independent School District school serves meals each school day. Children may buy lunch at a cost of $1 for kindergarten through third grade and $1.25 for fourth grade through 12, and breakfast for .50 cents.

Children may also get meals free or at a reduced price. Those receiving food stamps or AFDC for children qualify for free meals. If the total household income is the same or less than the amounts on the chart available at the school office, the reduced price for lunch is .40 cents and the reduced price for breakfast is .30 cents.

To receive free or reduced price meals for children, an application must be completed and returned to school. Applications must be complete to be approved.

Your eligibility may be checked at any time during the school year. You may talk to officials if you do not agree with the school's decision on your application or the results of verification. You may also ask for a fair hearing. To do this, call Tom E. Morris at 589-2855.

School officials use the information on the application only to decide if children are eligible for free or reduced price meals. If you are not eligible now but have a change in status during the year (like a decrease in household income, an increase in household size or unemployment), you may then complete an application.

Meal substitutions at no additional cost will be served to children who are handicapped, providing a physician has submitted a statement prescribing a substitute.

No child will be discriminated against because of race, sex, color, national origin, age or handicap.

We wouldn't be human if we, at some time or another, did not disagree with another person. We are all individuals; we have our own personal ideas and beliefs; our thoughts of right and wrong...As we all know, this can and does lead to quarrels and arguments. And yes, they can be small or they can be "humdingers."

According to this "tale" this is how early Indians resolved their quarrels:

"Burying the hatchet" is an old expression, said to have originated from an Indian custom. They believed that evil spirits in the air caused people to quarrel and put hatred in their hearts. Therefore, whenever a dispute was settled between the parties involved, the hatchet, the symbol of hatred, was placed where it could have no power. At the burying of the hatchet those quarreling would stand over the hole and talk out their differences and [illegible] buried their grievances.

This is superstition, of course, but the Indians firmly believed that it ended all personal trouble between them.

We are always happy to hear from [illegible] presented here.....

Making what is getting to be a regular run down the country from the Rocky Mountains, we found Northeast new Mexico and the Panhandle green and gorgeous and enjoying the play of thunderstorms out of the Sangre de Cristo which always seem to hang in that big sky around sundown. Pronghorns were leaping about among the happy cattle fanned out over the wide pastures, and unhappy cattle were disconsolately munching their fodder, shoulder to shoulder in the feed lots of Clayton. One of the storms blew enough "eau de vache" into the motel, where we were already trying to ignore the usual smell of cigarette smoke and cleaning compound, to make vegetarians out of the most dedicated carnivores.

The green began to fade into yellow as we left Lamesa behind and by the time we reached the hopefully named town of Eden, the pastures were burned to a deep ochre color. Actually the landscape was quite beautiful, with the dark green of liveoaks and juniper contrasting with the bright grass. The sunburned summer color is much nicer than freeze-dried winter grey. We were reminded of the rolling countryside of California around Santa Barbara.

We were not surprised then to find Bandera, after the June rain, quite back to normal—that is DRY. Over all the years we have been watching this place so carefully, dryness seems to be the true attribute of the land. Wet spells are exceptional and ephemeral. Though the Balcones country is listed as a transition zone between east and west, it is pretty plain to see that we are more an arm of the Chihuahua Desert than an outpost of the East Texas forests.

Native plants out by the driveway speak to that. All the sotol, yucca, cenizo, salvia, pavonia are standing up unperturbed by the heat. The hypericum or St. John's Wort, which occurs naturally in East Texas, looks as dead as a doornail despite some special watering before the red flag went up in town.

We were not surprised to see the red flag out in front of city hall as we lurched down Main Street after the long haul from Clayton, signifying a real water emergency. Fredericksburg had already instituted strict water rationing almost a month ago, and Boerne and Comfort have issued like restrictions on any but essential water usage.

It is dry as the proverbial bone out across the area of Texas where rain must fall to recharge the aquifers we vainly believe to be limitless. It is a hard thing, but a drouth like the one we are apparently in for, may be necessary to teach us that resources of any given area can be finite indeed and that the encouragement of population growth and development is foolhardy and probably sinful.

They say that the next war in the Middle East will be over water, not oil. And it is very likely that most of the political and social questions facing the hill country will have to do with the maintenance of water quality and supply under pressures created by poorly planned growth. Right now, we're thrilled that most of the refugees from California are heading for Vail and Sun Valley!

MEETCHERTEACHER is an open house at Utopia School on Monday, Aug. 30, from 7 to 8 p.m. It is hosted by the P.T.O.

Teachers will be in their classrooms ready to communicate with parents about their children's education. This open house is a grass roots effort to get the parents, the teachers, the students and the school all working on the same team. It will take hard work by everyone all year long. A teacher's success depends on the parents' contribution at home and the parents' support. You have only to look at the problems faced by schools and children in teh big cities for proof of this.

There will be a regular meeting of the P.T.O. in Septmeber, with urgent topics on the agenda including the Fall Festival. Then here will be a Hamburger Supper and dance at Utopia Park on Sept. 18. Paul Coffman will act as D.J. The funds will benefit the playground project.

Mothers' Day Out is cranking up again on Sept. 9 at the Methodist Church. They will take care of children aged 18 months through kindergarten on Thursdays. There will be a parents' meeting on Sep. 2 at 10:30 a.m. for more information, call Joann Tampke at 966-3368.

The ladies of Utopia Baptist Church are giving a miscellaneous bridal shower in honor of Tiffani Stewart, bride-elect of Jerahmy Webb. The shower is set for Sept. 2 at 7 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Baptist Church. Both ladies and gentlemen are invited.

A sign of relief echoed through the canyon on Aug. 3 declaring the end of Utopia Junior Horse Club for the season. It was fun, but hot! All-around buckles in the novice division went to Marissa Mauldin and Sterlin Boyce. Whitney Boyce took the All-around honors in the peewee division. In the senior division, Toni D. Clark and Jeffrey Moore won the buckles. Sportsmanship trophies went to Jack Wilson for the peewees and Erica Burjes in the senior division. The champion "Dummy" star roper award was won by Mitch Waltsperger. The Horse Club appreciates all those who supported the season, parents, grandparents and businesses.

Five Bandera students traveled to see the Pope

Five Bandera students participated in World Youth Day in Denver, Colorado, and were able to see the Pope in person. Thad Emmons, Chris Lukachik, Adam Diaz, Debbie Mangold and Sara Flores made the 22-hour bus ride to see the Pope, leaving on Monday, Aug. 9, and returning on Monday, Aug. 16.

The Bandera youth spent Tuesday and Wednesday at the YMCA Camp of the Rockies in Estes Park. They swam, hiked, played baseball, and shopped in Estes Park. On Thursday, they took a bus to Denver and made a two mile walk to the Denver Civic Center. Concerts were held there all day.

On Friday, the youth attended Morning Mass at Mile High Stadium in Denver and were treated to another concert. That night, they went to the Stages of the Cross, then returned to the YMCA.

Saturday, the youth packed and put everything on the bus. Then they left for Cherry Creek Park where over 250,000 youth camped out that night. They walked another 2 1/2 miles to Cherry Creek. It was an exciting experience for Emmons, Lukachik, Diaz, Mangold and Flores. They met people from different states and from countries all over the world.

Sunday morning, the Pope was scheduled for Mass. The public was let in at 5 p.m. Everyone waited patiently for Mass to begin. The Pope entered Cherry Creek in a helicopter. He blessed the crowd twice from the helicopter, then began Mass. The Pople blessed everything one more time before Mass ended. Then the youth packed everything and headed back to their bus.

Some 20,000 people became dehydrated or were injured during the Mass, but the Bandera group had no problems. They headed for home.

Lukachik described the World Youth Day. "It was a great experience that we will probably never have again. Not many people get to hear the Pope speak, much less meet people from all over the country. I'm sure none of us will ever forget this trip of a lifetime."

'Wheels for Life' Bike-A-Thon set

Bandera will participate in a "Wheels for Life" Bike-A-Thon on Oct. 9. Funds raised will benefit childhood cancer patients.

St. Jude Children's Research Hospital, founded in 1962 by the late entertainer Danny Thomas, is the largest childhood cancer research center in the U. S. in terms of the number of patients treated and in the success of treatments. Funding for the treatment and research programs conducted at St. Jude Hospital comes primarily from the public support of events like the Bike-A-Thon.

All Bandera residents and businesses are encouraged to support the Bike-A-Thon by making a contribution or becoming a rider.

For additional information, contact Barbara Myhre at 796-4460.

Utopia Church of Christ has new rector, Jeff Sweeten

The Utopia Church of Christ has a new rector, Jeff Sweeten. Sweeten took over the Utopia church on Aug. 1.

He has a wife, Kelly, and three children. Landa is 11; Andrew is 10 and Shane is six. The family moved to Utopia from San Antonio where Sweeten had been rector of SW Church of Christ for the past 5 years. He also preached in Natalia for three years.

Sweeten has been with the Post Office for nine years and currently works in Van Ormy. He is hoping to find a postal position closer to his new Utopia home.

He was raised in Uvalde and played basketball and football in high school. Kelly also played basketball in high school and ran track.

After high school, Sweeten attended college and joined the Navy, staying in for almost six years. He was a machinist mate, second class. His hobbies include riding BMW motorcycles, playing tennis and deer hunting in Colorado.

Construction back on line at Medina school after disagreement

Construction of a new special education/computer building is back on line at Medina Public School after a disagreement between the former general contractor and the school officials halted work on the project in June.

"We've got construction going again," said new superintendent Tom Morris. "The brick is being laid and the electricians and plumbers are working inside. Everything is moving along now," he said.

Morris hopes that the six-room structure will be ready for occupation by the first part of November but says "that's an optimistic date."

Work on the classroom building resumed about a week ago after the bonding company in charge hired a new general contractor to complete the job.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

God Shall Provide

"And do not seek what you are to eat or what you are to drink ... your father knows that you need them. Instead, seek his kingdom, and these things shall be yours as well." Luke 12:29-31

If you believe in God the Creator, then you cannot doubt that He will also provide for what He has brought into being. It is an unnatural parent who does not see to the well-being of his offspring. In exchange for that care, an earthly parent should expect respect of those nurtured by his provender. Is God to be judged otherwise? He asks for our devotion and adherence to His dictates. Those are not selfish demands but the wishes of a Deity concerned for His children both on earth and in their attainment of His heavenly kingdom. That is small sacrifice for us.

Can the dentist pitch?...

by Thad DuBose

In the 1950s while my grandfather was a football coach at The University of Texas, he had a player named Carlton Massey, who was an All-American college player. My dad followed his games as he went on to a pro career with the Green Bay Packers. Years later while the family was living in Lubbock, Massey came to visit my grandfather. My dad was very excited to meet him for the first time. After Massey and my grandfather played golf, they went to watch my dad play a Little League baseball game. My dad thought it was exciting, but he pitched terrible!

Medina Lake VFD enlists help readying for Labor Day barbecue

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department needs help in preparing for the semiannual barbecue on Saturday, Sept. 4 and Sunday, Sept. 5, from 11:30 a.m. to 6 p.m. For the barbecue, 1,600 pounds of brisket will be smoked, 200 pounds of beans will be cooked, and 400 pounds of potatoes will be prepared.

Volunteers are needed to cook potatoes, make deserts, assist in cleaning up the grounds and firehouse and to work in the serving line. Fire Chief Ralph Dresser says, "don't wait to be contacted personally. Please step forward and offer your assistance in whatever capacity you can.

"Remember: you are only helping yourself, your neighbor and your community to provide protection for lives and property. The citizens of the community are the greatest influence in determing the quality of emergency services they receive by the support they give to their fire department and EMS."

Marion Heisler, president of the MLVFD, says that "the all volunteer fire department operates entirely on donations and proceeds from their barbecues. No funds are received from county, state or federal agencies."

He said that homemade desserts and refreshments will be available. A drawing will be held for donated merchandise on Sunday, Sept. 5 at 5 p.m.

Adult plates will be $5. Children's plates will be $3.

Fire Chief Ralph Dresser said that the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department has been "running themselves crazy" this month as the 59-day drought continues. He said three to six fires a month are normal, but that number has already been surpassed. The MLVFD was called out on a fire on Goat Hill Road Saturday, Aug. 21 when a "controlled burn" got out of control. He warns that a county resolution is in effect prohibiting outdoor burning.

On Sunday, the volunteers were called to assist the Mico Fire Department with a brush fire along Paradise Canyon Road. Several hundred acres went up in flames while volunteer firemen fought the blaze.

Dresser said it is important for the community to support their fire department. "I know I keep drumming it into people, but it takes money to keep this equipment running. All we get is through our barbecues are donations."

Medina Lake Cajun Festival will add new features

At least two new features have been added to the Medina Lake Cajun Festival which will be held on Saturday, Sept. 25 at the Lakehills Civic Center from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m.

This year, spending money at the 13th Annual Cajun Festival will be easy. Dwane Lakin, the manager of Mobile Branch One, will bring out a 34-foot AT&M unit for the convenience of customers. That will give visitors at the event a chance to eat crawfish pie, jambalaya, shrimp and crawfish etouffee, and still have cash to by a Cajun Festival T-shirt and cookbook.

Also this year, Bruce Daigrepont will bring his Cajun band to the festival. Daigrepont has released two albums, has appeared on television and radio and is popular at festivals and tours. The Washington Post credited Daigrepont with bringing Cajun music to New Orleans.

Daigrepont is a Cajun singer/accordionist who holds a degree in accounting but has never used it. Twelve years ago, at age 20, music suddenly "hit" him. Most of his songs are written and sung in French, but he explains them to the audience. He says the language barrier is only as high as listeners build it.

He was born and raised in New Orleans and is proud of his Cajun heritage. He grew up knowing French but began using it when his career turned to music. He regrets the fact that the younger generation is not interested in Cajun music, but says that is changing. He understands their choice of rock and other music styles because it took him time to find his heritage. "I wasn't really playing Cajun music before this revival came about. I'd say the revival of Cajun music probably started in the early to mid-70s...when I went to the Cajun Music Festival in 1978- that's where I really got the strong desire to want to play Cajun music, French music...the younger people have revived the music and without that, the music would be just about gone."

Bandera schools' new food service director

His goal? 'good nutrition with a smile'

Kenny Alexander, from Lubbock, is the new food service director for the Bandera Independent School District. His goal, he says with a smile, is to make good nutrition attractive for students.

At the high school, Alexander will begin offering students a salad bar daily in October. He will also offer them Mexican type items at "Esta Fiesta" and pizza at "Iiza Pizza." Both the pizza and the Mexican food items will be offered with salad or fruit. When served with fruit or salad and milk, the popular student choices become USDA approved.

His first goal, Alexander says, is to get students more involved with meals at school. "I want to give them more choices; things they want and yet things that are nutritious. It's hard to hit that happy medium between what they want and what' good for them."

Alexander said it is important to teach nutrition and to promote nutritious items to students. He plans to begin both at an elementary level. "Bruce the Moose" helps promote good nutrition. Alexander also uses a food pyramid to show students what their food needs are each day.

Alexander and his wife, Rita, are new to the Bandera area. They love the Hill Country because of the beautiful scenery. They have an 18-month old daughter, Ashley, and are expecting another addition to their family.

Alexander entered the food service industry in 1989 after graduating from Texas Tech. He worked for Furr's Cafeteria for three years and has been with ARA Food Services for a year. ARA has been with the Bandera Independent School District for approximately 12 years.

He is analyzing past years to find popular menu items and will then conduct a survey among students to find their meals of choice. "My top priority is getting as many students as possible to participate in the school lunch program."

He said both school staff members and the community have been helpful. He said Superintendent Stewart "has the same cares about the students as I do. He has gone out of his way to help- they all have. All the teachers and the school board members. Everyone."

Alexander began the school year with the annual faculty luncheon which has become a tradition at Bandera High School. School board member served lunch to teachers on Friday, Aug. 13. "Even though it was Friday the 13th, it went off without a hitch," Alexander said. He is planning for the same success for the school year.

Entries for the 1993 Bandera County Hay Show should be turned into the Bandera County Extension Office or Soil Conservation Service office by Friday, Sept. 3.

At least one square bale or a large trash bag with about 20 pounds of hay from round bales is needed for each sample. Classes for the show will be: Class I, dryland coastal; Class II, irrigated coastal; Class III, other Bermuda; Class IV, other perennial; Class V, mixed grass; Class VI, summer annual; Class VII, winter annual; and Class VII, legume and legume-grass mixture.

Producers may enter up to two samples per class free of charge. Additional entries per class may be entered with a $5 per additional sample entry fee. Awards will be presented to the top winner in each class at the actual Hay Show, on Thursday, Sept. 23 at Mansfield Park.

The Hay Show is sponsored by the Bandera County Extension Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee and the Bandera county Soil and Water Conservation District.

Entries will be sent to Texas A&M University for protein analysis. This score, plus a physical appearance score will determine winners. Dr. Don Dorsett, Extension Forgage Specialist for Texas A&M University will again judge.

For more information, contact the County Extension Office at 796-7755, or the SCS office at 796-3334.

Rabies test negative in stray dog found in city

Residents along Cedar Street can breathe a sigh of relief. A dog from that area suspected of having rabies was picked up and tested; the results were negative.

However, Animal Control Officer Billy Graham says the rabies epidemic is not over yet. "Animals need to be vaccinated. One reason we had to pick that dog up and go ahead and test it was that there was no current record of a rabies vaccination."

Dr. Holmes, of Hill Country Veterinary Hospital, said that there were only two confirmed cases of rabies in Bandera County during 1992; a fox and a cow. This year, to date, a total of seven rabid animals have been found in the county. Confirmed cases of rabies were found in one dog, five foxes, and one racoon. One clinical case was reported in a fox which was shot and buried before it could be tested.

Bandera-area residents, from left,m Fred Moore, Xavier Cardenas and Debbie Mathis graduated from Schreiner College's 12-month vocational nursing program Aug. 23. Both Moore and Mathis work for Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville, while Cardenas plans to work in Kerrville and San Antonio. Mathis plans to continue her education and become a registered nurse. Schreiner's next nursing class begins Aug. 30.

Bandera's varsity, junior varsity drop games to Ro-Hawks

Bandera's varsity and JV volleyball girls dropped their season openers Tuesday, Aug. 18 to the Randolph Lady Ro-Hawks. The varsity girls were defeated 15-12, 15-7 in the home game.

Head volleyball coach Eileen McDonald said Wednesday that though the varsity team had some good moves, lack of concentration and poor communication were the main culprits in Bandera's defeat.

"Fundamentally we weren't very good," McDonald said. "We were picking up the spikes easily, but we weren't ready for the easy stuff."

Senior Melani Schneider served 10 for 11 for six points; Kelli Vos served eight for nine for four points; and Abby Nightingale served six for six, with two aces. Nightingale and Schneider spiked eight for nine, and Schneider was credited with three kills. Schneider was also credited with four stuff blocks and two tips.

Friday and Saturday, Aug. 20-21, Bandera faced teams from Samuel Clemens, LaVernia and Pleasanton High Schools, in a tournament in LaVernia.

In the first game Friday, Bandera lost 10-16, 6-15 to Samuel Clemens. Kelly Rigaby served nine for nine, with two aces; and Melani Schneider spiked seven for eight, with one kill.

Saturday, Bandera defeated LaVernia 16-14, 15-6. In the first game, Kelly Vos served for nine points, with one ace. She made 16 out of 17. In the second game, Schneider served for seven points, with one ace; Natalie Koehler spiked 12 for 12, with four kills; Adrinna Blow spiked a perfect three for three, with two out of three kills; and Kelly Vos had seven digs.

In their third game, Bandera lost 3-15, 1-15 to Pleasanton. Melani Schneider stuffed four blocks; and Wilynn Zickler served three points and spiked seven for eight, with one kill. Abby Nightingale had three digs.

Coach McDonald called Pleasanton a "strong team," adding that Bandera "hardly served and barely spiked in their third game."

There were 12 teams competing in the tournament, and Bandera played against Pleasanton for Consolation.

Bulldog gridders scrimmage Jourdanton

For the past 2 1/2 weeks the Bandera Bulldogs have put in many long and hot hours working on conditioning and learning a new football system. On Thursday, August 19, they finally got to line up and look at players across the line of scrimmage wearing different colored uniforms.

The 'Dogs and their new head coach, Mike Williamson, had the opportunity to gauge their progress in a scrimmage against Jourdanton. The Indians were a playoff team last year and are tapped by most observers to repeat again this year. Bandera's coaching staff welcomed the opportunity to test their progress against a playoff caliber team and overall were satisfied with what they saw.

"I am very pleased with our hustle and the progress we are making in learning this new system," commented Williamson. "I feel like we made a very good showing both offense and defense. We made a few mistakes but that's to be expected this early," he added.

Bandera travels to LaVernia Friday for their first scrimmage. They open the season September 3 with a road game against Dripping Springs.

Flying L Ladies Golf Association begins season in September

The Flying L Ladies Golf Association will begin their season Tuesday, Sept. 7 at 8 a.m. at the Flying L club house. Their season will run through May.

The group extended an invitation to "women in the area who like to play golf and have fun." The schedule includes play at neighboring courses as well as the Flying L.

"If you have clubs, join us... to get acquainted and for coffee," said Sue Kruse. "Tee time will be 8:30 a.m."

Group dues are $10 per year. For additional information, contact Kruse at 751-2121.

The group's schedule for September includes the following tuesday outings: Sept. 7, Flying L at 8 a.m.; Sept. 14, Flying L at 7:30 a.m.; Sept. 21, Scott Schreiner Golf Course in Kerrville; Sept. 28, Flying L at 8:30 a.m.

The 'Dogs and their new head coach, Mike Williamson, had the opportunity to gauge their progress in a scrimmage against Jourdanton. The Indians were a playoff team last year and are tapped by most observers to repeat again this year. Bandera's coaching staff welcomed the opportunity to test their progress against a playoff caliber team and overall were satisfied with what they saw.

"I am very pleased with our hustle and the progress we are making in learning this new system," commented Williamson. "I feel like we [illegible] a very good showing both offense and defense. We made a few mistakes but those to be expected this early," he added.

Bandera travels to Pleasanton Vernia Friday for their first scrimmage. They open the season September 3 with a road game against Dripping Springs.

Super S Foods employees and friends gathered at the Bandera store Thursday afternoon, Aug. 26, as store owner John Dieterle rode into the parking lot in a horse-drawn carriage to celebrate the 20th anniversary of the food store chain. Dieterle, who now owns 54 Super S stores, was "ambushed" by a wild bunch of "cowboys and bandits" as he approached Bandera. The store owner was then taken by carriage to his store where he was entertained by a live band and trick roper Kevin Fitzpatrick, and treated to an anniversary cake by store personnel and friends.

Benefit dance at Cabaret will help fund show barn improvements

The Junior Livestock Association is planning $30,000 worth of improvements to the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park. To help raise funds for those improvements, a benefit dance will be held on Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Cabaret, beginning at 3 p.m.

Performers will include Circle C and Justin Trevino. More performers are being contacted about the dance. Last year's stock show winners will be recognized. Plans are underway to raffle a pick up truck.

Improvements planned include the addition of kitchen facilities, restrooms and meeting rooms. The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring the benefit dance.

Although the main event sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association is the livestock sale and show in January each year, the Ferguson Show Barn will be used year-round. Other activities held at Mansfield Park will benefit from the expansion of the barn. It was used for the annual Hunter's Barbecue last year. Organizers said the use of the show barn for the Hunter's Barbecue was a real boon to the annual event.

Portable building installed to ease school overcrowding

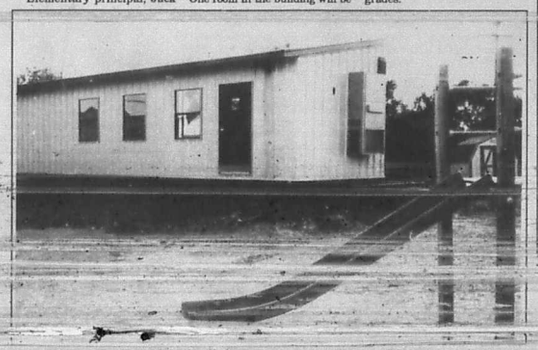

Alkek Elementary School opened its doors to 872 students this year. The school was originally designed for 800.

To relieve overcrowding, a portable building was purchased with Chapter One funds. It will be used for Chapter One reading and math programs. The 24 foot by 64 foot building was moved to the Alkek campus on Wednesday, Aug. 25.

Elementary principal, Jack Massa, said that he hopes the portable building will control the overcrowding. "We had 872 register and they are all in classes now. I think we're in fairly good shape."

The new building should be ready to use sometime this week. It was moved in two halves, then fastened together. Electrical wiring, carpet and ceiling tiles are being installed. One room in the building will be used for Chapter One Math. One room will be used for Chapter One Reading. Moving the Chapter One programs into the portable building frees up more needed classroom space for regular classroom instruction.

This year, Alkek has seven kindergarten classes; eight first grades; five second grades; seven third grades; seven fourth grades; and six fifth grades.

Bounty bull set for Cowboy Capital PCRA Rodeo

Bad Company Rodeo's challenge bull, "ZZ Bud Light", will be highlighted in the Friday night performance of the Cowboy Capital PCR Rodeo. The bull is worth $4,000 in bounty money to the bull rider who can stay on until the eight second buzzer.

He was unridden at Pecos, Lovington, NM, and Sonora. He is ready to rumble in Bandera- to the tune of $4,000.

Bad Company Rodeo has been dubbed "Pro Rodeo's Rockinest Show" by Pro Sports News. Bad Company is producing the Bandera rodeo and has been chosen to work the National Finals and Texas Circuit Finals. It has rank stock and draws top cowboys.

Among the 505 contestants entered to compete at Bandera are world champions, NFR contestants, and top 15 cowboys headed for NFR '93. Eight-time World Champion, Roy Cooper, of Chil-dress, will compete in calf roping and steer riding.

Three-time World Champion team roper, Tee Woolman, of Llano, is currently ranked number two in steer roping, number one in team roping and number two in the All-Around standings, behind reigning World Champion, Ty Murray. He will compete in Bandera in the Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo.

The rough stock events heat up with a tight match up between Stephenville's Tom Reeves, eight time NFR competitor, and Canada's Denny Hay, NFR competitor and Canadian Rookie of the Year. Canada's best and Texas' top bronc riders match up against the rank bucking stock of Bad Company Rodeo.

Each show on Friday, Saturday and Sunday will begin at 8 p.m. in the rodeo arena at Mansfield Park.

At press time, Bandera had just defeated Utopia in a three game varsity volleyball match, 17-15, 11-15, 15-12. The Lady Bulldogs met the Lady Buffaloes at the Bandera High School gym. Bandera's outstanding players included Kellner and Marcie Porter. More next week.

Letters to the editor

Responses to her criticism

Dear editor:

As a fourth generation resident of Bandera, I sometimes resent the published complaints of relative newcomers that have finally found their home in paradise. Too soon, they are full of ideas for changes. They do not take the time or effort to know our good people or our County systems of operation and management so are unable to offer any intelligent solutions to our problems. I am particularly disgusted with one big mouth, little brain, that called one of our elected officials a liar. I once was a candidate opposing Dan Alanis for the position of County Commissioner, Precinct 2 but now, I fully support him. He is very hard working, is knowledgeable and dependable, an honorable person and certainly not a willfull liar. He should try to ignore the incompetent source of the remark.

And to the road complainers, I must say that we have come a long way in my lifetime. I can remember when each resident was required to pay or work several days each year to repair County roads, often without the help of heavy equipment. We sometimes covered some rough spots by loading, with pick and shovel, the caliche into a wagon drawn by a team of horses. It was moved to the desired spot and unloaded by turning the 2x4 timbers in the wagon bed up on edge so the caliche could fall thru the cracks. Now, our equipment and roads are much improved and I can understand that every one wants better.

The County government is probably doing the best possible to improve the road system with the limited funds available. Only a portion of the dedicated public roads are accepted for County maintenance due to budgetary restraints. Gradually, more of these are being improved and paved. The roads having highest priority seem to have been previously accepted for County maintenance. For quickest action, the roads should have high usage to many residences, be a thoroughfare (not dead end), usage by school buses or emergency vehicles, and have cash contributions up front from users to offset costs over and above the budget. The cost of preparing the existing road base is also a big factor; the commissioners can explain this in much better detail. Without such priorities, users can vote for more taxes or save their money for shock absorbers.

Dear editor,

Why do you continue to print the totally illogical diatribes of recently arrived county resident, Susan Hooker??? On second thought, why am I stupid enough to keep reading them??

Her rantings are so convoluted, involuted, inane, distorted, and outrageous as to require 3 readings to simply decipher perhaps half of her "message".

I gather that she wants a whole lot from her federal, state, and county governments in exchange for damn little expense or discomfort to her.

Is Susan capable of understanding that the $10 bridge and road fee (included with license plate renewal) plus her gasoline taxes will not pay for a divided lane concrete highway up to her front door? Neither will it cover an escalator to deliver her mail.

I lived in Houston for 45 years before moving to Bandera county. Susan (as the teenagers say) should "Get a clue". Houston does have more paved roads per square mile than does Susan's subdivision. She and I agree on that. Houston also collects more taxes, has more gangs, more rapes, more dope, more drive by shootings, more smog, more traffic and general aggravation than does her subdivision.

Come on Susan, lighten up!! Country living has its plusses and minuses. If you really need good roads and your mail personally and gently delivered to your doorstep, then go back to Detroit (or wherever in Yankee land you descended from). If you enjoy country living, then realize that our roads will always be worse than in downtown Chicago or Detroit since we have fewer taxpayers per square inch than they do. Good grief!!!

(Editor's note: While everyone may not agree with what is espoused by others in their letters to the editor, the reason they are printed here is that it is exactly what this forum is created for. I certainly do not agree with everything contained in the letters to the editor, but I think that open discussion and communication are basically healthy.)

She met a Bandera celeb!

Dear editor:

I am proud and pleased to have met one of Bandera's famous citizens and authors. The best part is knowing she is also my new step-mother!

Thank you for the privilege.

The community is poorer

Dear editor:

On August 22, Bandera became immeasurable poorer. Two promising young men, Jason Holden and Dustin Brown, were killed in an automobile accident on a twisting stretch of road behind the Flying L. Their tragic and senseless deaths impact all us . I was fortunate to have been their freshmen English teacher (they were juniors at the time of their deaths), and I feel a keen sense of loss.

Teachers have the responsibility to guide and educate the students sent to their care. We try to impart knowledge to our precious charges, and then we send them on to the next teacher who continues the "process" until finally the student is ready to go out into the world. That involves a lot of time, effort, and many prayers. Consequently, I, as a teacher, feel cheated and disheartened by the deaths of these former students. A student may drop out of school, but there is always the hope that one day he will return. However, the death of a student is a permanent loss that not only affects his loved ones, friends, and teachers, but also the community as a whole. We are, after all, a community of man...and Jason and Dustin were a part of our special community.

Yes, we in Bandera have become poorer. Whether you knew Jason or dustin does not matter. What matters is we lost a part of our future. Though you cannot put a price tag on a life or our future (our youth), I feel we must examine at least one example of the magnitude of our loss. Last year Bandera received about $4,000 per student for their education. When you multiply $4,000 x ten school years x two, you can see that we lost an initial investment in education of $80,000 when Jason and Dustin died. We will never get that investment back.

If we, as a community, would have matched these funds invested by our educators, we could have built a nice community center for our youth and, possibly, prevented this tragedy. This same community center has been promised forever, yet where is it? Our youth hang out in unsafe, unsupervised places where accidents are inevitable. We need to provide a safe, alcohol-free environment with parental involvement for the young members of our community to go. Ranger Crossing jest doesn't cut it! We cannot afford to keep losing the potential of our youth to the deadly combination of drugs, alcohol, and boredom.

And I assure you that Jason and Dustin had potential. Dustin was a bright, friendly, young man and a wonderful writer. He had a spirited sense of humor that came out [illegible] fine young man. He had many friends, was a hard worker, and enjoyed being out and about in his truck. They were both typical teenagers' greatest fears is of dying. However, more of those same teenagers if we refuse to invest the time, effort, and yes, money necessary to secure them. How many crosses along the roads in Bandera County are we going to have to erect? I, for one, am tired of seeing the crosses, the empty desks, the lockers being cleaned out by weeping teens, and the textbooks being returned...unused.

Let's get behind a drive for a community center. Let's work together and prevent another horrifying accident like this one from ever occurring again. A group of concerned parents and Bandera citizens has already set up a hot line for a "Don't Drink and Drive" program for our youth. We can get involved too! I am willing to serve on any community center committee. Will you join me and help save our future?

K. Irene Stone
Bandera

P.S. One of my students, Sid Kalka, wrote a poem to emphasize the need of our youth for our help, time, and love:

Hear Us
We are youth!
Forever young,
Forever strong,
Forever unheard,
Running free,
Running wild,
Running away from our fears...
The fear of who we are,
The fear of where we belong.

Hear our voices.
Hear our cries for a guiding love.
Hear us.
Hear who we are.

Strong faces you see,
A weak spirit never seen by the guiding light.
See our pain.
Feel the hurt.
Touch our hearts.

-Sid Kalka

This week, I turn this space over to Gary and Cherie Holden and other concerned folks in this community. The Holdens, parents of Jason Holden who was killed last week in a tragic accident, wish to have their name added to the list of volunteers who are available 24 hours a day, as "designated drivers" kids can call if they find themselves in need of a safe ride.

"Kids need to understand that not only can they call us any time of the day or night, but that they will not be in trouble later (the next day) if they do. That might cause them to hesitate or be reluctant," Cherie Holden said.

So here, again, is a list of people you can call, who will come and get you and see to it that you have a ride home, so that you will not be forced into a "drinking and driving" situation.

I urge you to tear this list out and put it in your wallet or purse, and if the need arises, take out the list and CALL SOMEONE TO HELP YOU. We care about you.

The following are available 24 hours a day:

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — George W. Bush sought his father's advice about running for Texas governor last week and hopes to make a final decision soon, according to published reports.

Bush, managing partner of the Texas Rangers baseball team, was at the family retreat in Kennebunkport, Maine, talking with his father, former president Bush.

Republican sources told the Houston Chronicle that the younger Bush hopes to have made a final decision on whether he will run by the time he returns home.

But he may not immediately announce his plans, GOP political consultant Karl Rove said.

"The[illegible]'s got significant name [illegible] suppose of the [illegible] would be a formidable [illegible] position," Rove said.

State Rep. Tom Craddick of Midland said earlier he will not run if Bush enters the race, and Dallas [illegible] in 1990, said a Bush candidacy could [illegible] be run.

Another possible contender, Houston businessman Rob Mosbacher, does not intend to base his decision on whether Bush runs, spokesman Mark Sanders said.

Court Fees for Security

Courthouse security may be beefed up under a new law that goes into effect Sept. 1.

The bill, which Gov. Ann Richards signed into law June 19, establishes mandatory fees of $5 for offenders convicted of felonies and $3 for misdemeanors, with all proceeds to be spent on courthouse security.

The measure, authored by state Sen. John Leedom, R-Dallas, also allows counties to set fees of up to $5 on the filing of civil suits. If such fees are adopted on civil cases, the bill requires a $1 charge for other filings such as marriage licenses and liens, said Roland Greenwade, an attorney for Leedom.

Greenwade said the recent spree of violence at courthouses around Texas prompted Dallas County Commissioners to approach Leedom about providing a funding mechanism for security measures.

Judge Blocks Ethics Rule

A state district judge last week blocked enforcement of a new [illegible] rule [illegible] nations of local school board members.

Responding to a lawsuit filed [illegible] boards, District Judge Margaret [illegible] Comer of Austin issued a [illegible] ing court preventing enforcement of the law and scheduled a Sept. 30 hearing on the law.

The law prohibits trustees, their spouses or companies in which they have "significant interests" from signing contracts with school boards.

Counts Applauds Insurer

State Rep. David Counts commended Travelers Insurance Co. last week for cutting its workers' compensation rates by 13 percent.

Counts, D-Knox City, said the rest of the insurance industry should use Travelers' action as a model. He said the workers' compensation reforms passed in 1991 have helped reduce system costs.

"It does not make sense for insurance companies to continue charging rates based on their experience under the old workers' comp law," Counts said.

Guerrero to Graduate (Finally)

Former Texas Railroad Commissioner Lena Guerrero this week awaits official notice from the registrar's office that she has graduated from the University of Texas.

Guerrero, a Democratic appointee of Gov. Richards, resigned during her election campaign last fall, admitting reports were true that she had lied about having a college degree.

[illegible] completed course work for a bachelor of journalism degree.

Guerrero said she wants to continue running her Austin lobbying [illegible] ing a higher college degree. Manher to lecture students on the merits of earning a high school diploma.

Hay show deadline is this Friday

Friday, Sept. 3 is the deadline for entering the 1993 Bandera Hay Show. It will be held Thursday, Sept. 23 at Mansfield Park.

County Extension Agent Warren Thigpen said that he expects the number of entries to be down this year because of the lack of rainfall which has now lasted for two months. "Those with non irrigated hay only got one cutting this year," Thigpen said. "Some didn't get any. During the prime hay cutting time, we had rain every other day. A lot of hay matured or went longer before cutting."

Thigpen explained that as hay matures, it usually loses quality and is not as good. "Hay producers should enter this show anyway," he said. "They get a free protein analysis. That will let them know more about what kind of hay they have. They don't need to worry about winning. Just get it analyzed.

"When cattle are on hay that is 12 percent crude protein, that's usually all the nutrition they need. But they can be belly deep in five or six percent and starve to death.

"That's why this hay show got started and the purpose behind it: to let producers know how good their hay is and how to grow better hay. The competition just adds some fun."

Entries will be sent to Texas A&M University for protein analysis. That score plus a physical appearance score will determine the winners in each class. Classes include: dryland coastal; irrigated coastal; other Bermuda; other perennial; mixed grass; summer annual; winter annual; and legume and legume-grass mixture.

The hay show is being sponsored by the Bandera County Extension Agriculture and Natural Resources Committee and the Bandera County Soil and Water Conservation District.

For more information, contact the Extension Office at 796-7755, or the SCS office at 796-3334.

'Dogs scrimmage against LaVernia

Bandera's Bulldogs got one final chance to experiment with new players under a new system when they took on La Vernia in the season's last scrimmage. Beginning Friday night the games will all be for keeps.

"One of the things that impressed me the most about our team was our conditioning," commented head coach Mike Williamson. "It was a long and hot game and our players held up well under the conditions. It's good to see our two-a-day practices paying off like that," Williamson added.

The Bulldog defense showed signs that they will be a force to be reconed with this season. "We played an aggressive defensive game. We did a very good job of going to the ball. I was pleased with our showing on defense," said Williamson.

Offensively, the Dogs sputtered early. "We looked shakey. Our offense just had a case of nerves. We talked about it on the sidelines and the rest of the game went very well. We overcame our nerves and scored a couple of times. I was pleased with that," commented Williamson.

[illegible] injury in La Vernia. Kyle Everett injured a knee and will miss action in the season opener against Pa[illegible] Springs but should see action the following week against Comfort.

Bandera continues under yellow flag

Red flag warning has ceased, but city still mandates water conservation

Bandera City residents became acquainted with the red flag warning flying at City Hall when the entire city was on water restrictions due to a non operating well. The red flag advised residents of the emergency water situation and prohibited outside watering.

Some residents may have noticed that the Bandera County High School football field was watered during the red flag alert. One resident, particularly, was upset by this, saying that she was already paying school taxes. In addition, her water was being used up by the football field and her own valuable trees were dying.

Superintendent James Stewart called the incident a miscommunication. He explained that Jon Murrell expected the water to be on again "in a day or so" all during the red flag warning. When Stewart called Murrell and was told "don't water tonight, but we should have it going tomorrow," Stewart left a note to that effect to one of his coaches and went home.

Meanwhile, the coach read the note the next day and thought the problem had been solved and the red flag stage was over. The water was turned on at the football field.

Two other warning flags are also used by the city. A blue flag is a water shortage alert. Voluntary water conservation is urged. A yellow flag means mandatory water conservation measures are in effect.

When the static water level drops to between 275 and 299 feet below the surface in municipal wells, a blue flag is flown at City Hall. Voluntary water conservation measures are in effect. If the voluntary measures do not succeed, water pressure may be reduced in the entire water system.

A yellow flag means that the static water level has dropped to between 300 feet and 349 feet below the surface in the municipal wells. Outdoor water use for lawns or any ornamental landscaping shall be allowed only between the hours of 5 a.m. and 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. and midnight.

The red flag warns that the static water level has dropped to 350 feet or deeper, below the surface in municipal wells. The public must curtail water usage by limiting water consumption to 170 gallons per day per metered connection to the City water supply.

Commercial use of water shall be limited to no more than 50 percent of normal water usage per metered connection to the City water supply.

The water department may further reduce pressure in the water system and/or shut off the water during part of the day.

REMEMBER WHEN...it rained! Bandera County's last good rain may have been months ago, but they remember at the L.G. Wilder Ranch across from Bandera Downs. Lightning struck and killed seven prize cattle back before the continuing drought of 59 days began. Veterinarian Conrad Nightingale said he was called to investigate the "mysterious death" of seven cattle after the last major thunderstorm in June. He found that the cattle, who had taken shelter under trees, had been struck by lightning.

Sheriff's report

The Bandera County Sheriff's Department answered 59 calls for service during the week of Aug. 23 through Aug. 29. They included one call each for: vehicle fire, wild animal, livestock on road, alarm and major accident.

Other calls during the week included: burglary of a habitation, 2; assist EMS, 2; welfare concern, 2; criminal mischief, 2; suspicious vehicle, 4; Misdemeanor arrest, 5; domestic dispute, 5; theft, 5; fire call, 6; suspicious circumstance, 7; and civil dispute, 7.

On Aug. 23, a San Antonio man reported that items had been stolen from his weekend residence at Lakehills. Missing items included a lawn mower, chain saw, weed eater and generator.

A San Antonio couple reported that their weekend residence had been burglarized on Aug. 23. A drum set worth several thousand dollars had been taken. Investigation led to the recovery and return of the drums. Friends of the family were reportedly the perpetrators. At this time, no charges have been filed.

On Aug. 24, a Pipe Creek resident reported that a spare tire and rim had been stolen off his late model pickup truck.

District Judge Steve Ables sentenced 46-year old Rosalinda Sauceda to six years in the State Prison for Delivery of Controlled Substance, on Aug. 26. The conviction stems from cases made by undercover officers of the 216th Judicial District Narcotics Task Force. Sauceda had no priors, but due to the seriousness of the offence, the Judge did not allow probation.

Also on Aug. 26, Pete Orand day was sentenced to 20 years in prison for sexual assault.

Jerry Pipkin's probation was revoked. He received a five-year sentence.

Richard Martinez had has probation revoked and received a 10-year sentence.

A San Antonio woman was moving furniture to a Lakehills residence on Aug. 26 when a discarded cigarette caught the sofa and mattress in the bed of her 1989 GMC pickup on fire. The truck was a total loss. The quick response of the Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department prevented a brush fire from spreading and endangering the surrounding countryside.

On Aug. 26, a Pipe Creek woman made a call to the Sheriff's Department reporting a disturbance between herself and her husband. Arriving officers found the husband suffering from a bullet wound to the shoulder. The case is currently under investigation and will be forwarded to the Grand Jury.

On Aug. 28, a Bandera resident reported a snake in her pantry. By the time the officer arrived, the snake was gone.

Jay Chesson wins Calif. roping event

Jay Chesson, of Bandera, the son of Bo Chesson of Bandera, won a buckle roping event in June. He took first place in the header's buckle event in Loma Rica, Calif.

There were 67 teams in the warm up pot. Chesson and his partner, Earl Robbins, also took a third with 20.24.

Cowboy Capital PRCA Rodeo set

Labor Day weekend excitement will begin each evening at 8 p.m. at Mansfield Park

The Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association of Bandera will hold a Labor Day Weekend PRCA Rodeo on Sept. 3, 4 and 5, beginning at 8 p.m. each evening. It will be held at the Mansfield Park Rodeo Arena off Highway 16 North.

Friday night's performance is dedicated to the memory of Frank Anderwald. It will kick off with an 8 a.m. CCRA golf tournament at Flying L Guest Ranch. Leon and Vicky Adams will present a specialty act at the evening performance.

Mac Altizer and Bad Company Rodeo are producing the rodeo. Sponsors include the Cabaret, Pre-cast Concrete Products, Rodeo Chevrolet and Bandera Downs.

Admission will be $6 in advance and $7 at the gate for adults, and $2 in advance and $3 at the gate for children. Advance sales will continue until noon on Friday.

During the Frank Anderwald night on Friday, Leon and Vicky Adams will perform with the grey quarter horse Silverado, and Brahama bulls, Geronimo and Apache. Geronimo will leap though a hoop of fire.

With the motto, "Expect the Unexpected," Bad Company Rodeo's "Circle the Wagons" Tour, 1993, will make the Labor Day rodeo one of their stops. They bring award winning bucking stock including, "can't touch This", "Bad to the Bone", and "Party Animal."

Party Animal will pose for pictures with children.

Professional bullfighter, Mark Callihan, of Fort Worth, will "be there for the cowboy." He believes that what makes a good rodeo is saving lives and thrilling fans. "I believe the priority of any dedicated bullfighter is to protect the cowboy at all costs, and I work hard to combine quickness and coordination with instinct to get the job done...Once I see that the cowboy is free from danger, I know I did my job right." He has been fighting bulls for 10 years.

Brother and Vicky Taylor work together as a husband-wife specialty act. They live in Wiberley, but spend much time on the road. Brother has worked as a rodeo clown and bullfighter for the past 24 years. His three trained dogs, Blutus, Yoda and Jabo Cottontop, work with him. Vicky has been riding with Brother for 12 years. She performs trick riding with the help of Pretzel and Dakota, two horses she trained herself.

Miles Hare comes to the Labor Day rodeo with 25 years of bullfighting experience. He was the youngest bullfight to ever work a National Final Rodeo in 1977. He was named World Champion Bullfighter in 1981 and 1988. When he is not fighting bulls, he enjoys tennis, riding mountain bikes, football, sports and team roping.

Professional rodeo is becoming a major sport, breaking records and experience phenomenal growth. Bandera joins the trend by offering the Labor Day PRCA Rodeo on Sept. 3,4 and 5.

'Circle the Wagons' rodeo tour payout exceeds half-million dollar mark

"Outlaw" Pro Rodeo paid out over $36,000 in contestant prize money to bring the record breaking "Circle the Wagons" Tour to a total rodeo payout of over $511,000 with six events remaining on the schedule.

The "Circle the Wagons" Tour '93 is made up of PRCA Rodeos and top PBR Bull Riding events in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. As a major sponsor of the tour, Bud Light has contributed an additional $13,000 in Challenge Bull Bonuses and $8,000 in All-Around Cowboy Bonuses. Bad Company Rodeo is leading the way-increased payout and incentives for contestants, encouraging new sponsorship and corporate involvement, and by winning over a whole new generation of fans.

Sonora's "Outlaw" Pro Rodeo, Aug. 19, 20, & 21 was part of the excitement of the "Circle the Wagons" Tour. The West Texas town was hot and the Bad Company brand of rodeo was even hotter! With all of the top 10 Steer Ropers in the World standings entered and NFR contenders competing in each event, the competition was tight!

Stephenville's Tom Reeves won the Saddle Bronc Riding and moved into second place in the "Circle the Wagons" Standings.

Coming off a good showing at Lovington and Pecos, Brian Herman of Victoria, had a third place finish in the Bull Riding but it was enough to move him ahead of Tuff Hedeman and Ty Murray for a #3 position in the "Circle the Wagons" standings.

Local youth attended 'Sons' camp

The 40th annual Hermann Sons youth camping season, that ended in mid-August, attracted the third highest attendance since 1954. Included among the 3,483 campers were 10 from Bandera County.

Campers from Bandera County included: Miles B. Willis, II, Brandi D. Crist and Jessica L. Feriend from Lakehills; and Martin J. Gaffney, Michael J. Gaffney, Glenn M. Garcia, Jason Scott Garcia, Holly Louise Burrow, Kathryn Kay Miller, and Jennifer E. Stade, all of Pipe Creek.

The camp, located on the Guadalupe River near Comfort on a 330-acre tract, was in service for its second full 10-week camping season. It is operated by Hermann Sons, a fraternal organization of 80,000 statewide.

Texas 911 Day to be Sept. 11

Saturday, Sept. 11 has been designated as Texas 911 Day. Festivities will be held in Austin on Friday, Sept. 10.

Ten individuals, from across Texas, have been selected to receive awards for outstanding lifesaving 911 service.

For more information, contact Carey Spence at the Advisory Commission on State Emergency Communications, (210) 327-1911.

Additionally, six regional poison control centers will serve Texas. When operational, they will be linked to the 911 emergency systems to ensure fast response for poisoning emergencies.

More than 160,000 Texans suffered accidental poisoning last year. Approximately 60 percent of these cases involved children.

The 73rd Legislature created new funding to establish a network of regional centers in Galveston, Dallas, El Paso, Amarillo, Temple and San Antonio. The state will collect a surcharge on intrastate long distance calls to fund the new centers. The state's 911 services are already funded through a similar surcharge. A proposed rate of .3 cents per $1 charged for intrastate long-distance calls is being considered.

Dennis Perrotta, chief of the Texas Department of Health, said that "one of the most exciting features of the new regional poison center system will be that calls about poison emergencies will automatically channeled to the appropriate poison center when they are received by 911 operators."

He said the poison center availability will save lives and reduce the number of needless and costly emergency room visits, ambulance trips and precautionary treatments."

Kerrville State Hospital announces employee layoffs, more upcoming

Kerrville State Hospital will be announcing layoffs during the next two weeks in order to reduce its work force by six to seven percent due to a reduction in state funding. Figures are not yet available on how many Bandera residents will be affected by the layoffs.

Sue Low, public information officer for the hospital, said that the exact number of employees hit by the layoffs will be withheld until the layoffs actually occur. "Due to resignations, that number changes," Low explained. "It drops." She said the exact figure should be available within a week.

The hospital is funded on a per-bed basis. It is opening a new 200-bed residency building in January, but that will mean a drop in total bed capacity. The 315 bed figure for the last fiscal year will have dropped to 233, according to a press release from Kerrville state Hospital. The reduction in patient capacity is resulting in a reduction of staff.

Gloria Olsen, hospital superintendent, said that the hospital "deeply regrets" the layoffs and will work closely with displaced workers to help them through the transition. They will be given the first opportunity for other jobs within the Texas Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation, as long as they qualify for those jobs.

what's rustlin'

on the trail with Bungy

Route 99 goes from Los Angeles to British Columbia, and our part is filled with fun. We pulled off at "Casa de Frutos," which started in 1910 as an orchard and fruit stand-- four generations later it has a huge fruit stand, a "Casa de Sweets" (fruit bakery and candy factory, "Casa de Choo Choo" (miniature train that goes through a haunted tunnel), "Casa de Gifts" (enough said), and "Casas" de Cafe, Motel, Wine & Cheese and RVs. All this, plus vineyards, peach, apple and nut trees, strawberry and corn fields, and more.

The owner of all this is "empire builder" Eugene Sanger, and he is known all over the world for his "cup flipping." He comes into the restaurant every so often and goes from table to table actually flipping coffee cups out of their saucers one, two and even three times, with other flipping tricks. He's done this for over 20 years, and he figures he has flipped over 1,500,000 cups during that time. Neat guy!

• Next, we came to the San Luis reservoir and dam project. It was huge-- at least four times larger than Medina Lake, with hills all around it, golden with summer hay. They reflected in the water, and it looked like a giant bowl of gold. And it was made even more magnificent because there were no houses crowded along the edge-- no people, just a great expanse of solitude.

• Coming into Fresno, we passed a ranch of "African longhorns," similar to Texas longhorns, but with great thick horns curled around. Someone's bound to start raising them in Bandera.

And "Riverland" on the King River-- great, grassy common grounds with huge, shady poplar trees, a "fishin' hole" complete with geese and ducks wandering around, a swimming pool with crystal clear water spewing out of a fountain into the pool, and tons of water ski boats and jet skis dashing here and there.

• A side trip into Kingsburg, an old Swedish settlement with giant signs bidding visitors "Wilkommen," and with a Main Street right out of Sweden-- Hansel & Gretel houses and shops, great broad, clear streets with the nicest, friendliest people, and it was all topped of with a water tower shaped like a Swedish coffee pot, painted with fleur de lis.

• Visited with my niece and her family in Clovis, "Home of the Largest Rodeo West of the Sierra Nevadas."

Also met one of Larry's daughters in a mansion in Visalia (in a housing development filled with mansions). Larry's granddaughter has broken the record for freestyle swimming in the 50 yard dash for Fresno State University.

• Four cowboys rode from Visalia to the top of Mt. Whitney, the largest mountain in California at nearly 14,500 feet. The trip took two weeks, and they were the talk of this cowboy-ranching area.

• And so, we left Visalia, "Town of Prosperity," and headed down "The United States Veterans of Foreign Wars Memorial Highway;" past Tularosa "Farming is Everybody's Bread and Butter;" McFarland, "The Heartbeat of Agriculture;" Delano, "International Capital of the World;" Tehachipi, "World Wind Energy Center." Crop dusters flying oh-so-low over the huge valleys growing a million kinds of produce; cattle feed lots so huge they have stacks of hay over a block long and two stories high; a field with giant rectangular bales of hay as big as the round bales; a lumber yard with lots of antique tractors making a fence around it-- Louis Postert would enjoy that.

Medina Lake VFD gears up for barbecue

They plan to serve at least 1,600 plates Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 4-5

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department is gearing up to serve at least 1,600 plates of barbecue on Saturday, Sept. 4 and Sunday, Sept. 5. Serving will begin at 11:30 a.m. on both days at the MLVFD station.

Fire Chief Ralph C. Dresser says that the "food we serve is the best brisket we can buy, smoked with mesquite for 14 hours. We also serve beans, potato salad, condiments and beverages for $5 per adult and $3 per child's plate."

Dresser says that out of the 1,600 plates usually sold, the fire department makes about $1.25 in profit per plate. "Simple math says that gives us about $2,000 which keeps us in operation for less than two months.

"We budget $1,200 per month for fuel, oil, insurance and maintenance. Whatever is left goes to improvements. The success of our barbecues is determined by the cash donations and raffle tickets we sell. We have been fortunate that our community has supported us in the past and we have NOT had to begin charging fees for each fire OR go to a "membership" fee of $200 per year as other volunteer fire departments have had to do to continue their service.

"Again, there is NO tax support of any of the volunteer units in our area."

Since April, the MLVFD has responded to 37 emergency calls. They have included 13 brush fires, three of which involved 200 to 400 acres, and one fire which prevented damage or destruction to the Lakehills Community Civic Center. They have also responded to: 5 car fires; one structure fire; 4 boat launches including one drowning and one possible drowning; two citizen assists; and 8 EMS assists.

They have also bought, built, repaired or been donated the following: 5000 gallon tanker painted (donated) ; operational boat; boat fire pump (or order); new clutch in the 2,500 gallon tanker; dump valve built; 2,000 gallon dump tank bought; drying rack built, concrete apron and patio cover on fire house; "To Go" food area improved; radio encoder installed; 18 pagers/monitors bought; computer and printer (donated); 300 foot of fire house; 12 pair of fire boots; four high band radios bought; two walkie radios bought; and a replacement engine for the brush truck bought.

Dresser says that "the strength of any rural community is their willingness to volunteer or support their volunteer services.

A raffle will also be held on Sunday, Sept. 5. Three tickets are $1. Eighteen tickets are $5. Items to be raffled include: a fire extinguisher and smoke detector; a tabletop barbecue and charcoal grill; cash prizes; a mini windmill; food and dinners at favorite dining places; vehicle service; gift certificates; savings bonds; 100 gallons propane; and three days and two nights of camping. A complete list of raffle items and donors are found on the raffle tickets.

Two sides to the Texas Revolution...

by Somer Stone & Sonny Ybarra

My great, great grandfather, George Washington Carlisle served with Col. Fannin during the Texas Revolution. Fighting at Goliad, they surrendered because the Mexican officers said they would have food and shelter provided and would not be harmed.

Well, about 20 miles outside of Goliad, the Mexican soldiers surrounded the Texans and massacred them. My great, great grandfather, along with Col. Fannin and his troop were killed in the blink of an eye.

- Somer Stone

One of my great grandpas fought in the Alamo with Santa Anna. He was one of Santa Anna's horsemen. His wife was a cook for Santa Anna and his army.

Utopia volleyball results

Volleyball for the last week in August found the courts as hot as the weather. On Tuesday, Aug. 24, the Utopia ladies hosted the Harper Lady Longhorns for an evening of volleyball with a quality that was unbelievable. The Junior Varsity began the evening with a hard fought bought going three games bu tending in defeat by the scores of 15-11, 8-15, 14-16. To round out the evening, the varsities took to the court for 3 straight games of "tooth and nail" ball. Finally, the Lady Longhorns bested Utopia by the scores of 13-15, 15-13, and 14-16. On Saturday, Aug. 28, Utopia traveled down south to Asherton for an 11:00 a.m. match against the Lady Trojans. Utopia's Junior Varsity was ousted quickly by the scores of 8-15 and 9-15. The Varsity Ladies took the first game at 18-16 but made a better showing in the second with a 15-7 win. Their next outing is Sept. 7 when Utopia hosts Ingram at 5:30 p.m.

A perennial problem for Utopia's EMS is that of falling short of funds to cover its expenses. The EMS is funded in part by Uvalde County but the sum falls short of the EMS expenses each year. The EMS is therefore forced to rely on donations and fundraisers in addition to its collections just to meet the costs of operation.

Bandera County Commissioners Court has responded to the needs of the citizens of Bandera County who depend on the Uvalde County based EMS. In the past, Bandera County has given the Utopia EMS a token $600 annually. But when approached by a delegation from the EMS some time back, the commissioners court recognized the county's responsibility and approved a subsidy of $10,000 for the 1993-94 year. The receptive court recognized that the Uvalde County based EMS services a full one third of the area of Bandera County, going into Rio Frio and Tarpley and north on Highway 187 to the divide past Lost Maples Park. The EMS responds to all calls it receives in this area, some 800 residents and a lot of times collections are a problem. Says Phyllis Fussell with the EMS, 33 to 40% of their patients reside in Bandera County.

Although this year's financial support (and one source says there is talk of permanent assistance) by Bandera County will help the EMS meet its expenses, it still must rely on fundraising to upgrade and maintain equipment. Says EMSer Judy Hillis, "Our blood pressure monitor is almost extinct," adding that they are in need of more specialized equipment and a new ambulance.

Marvelous Mondays may soon like an oxymoron but it does happen at the Methodist Church. It's an after school program for kids, kindergarten thru sixth grade. It will be after school for six Mondays starting Sept. 13th, from 3:30-5:30. To enroll your child, call Betty Boyce at 966-3415.

Utopia's P.T.O. will meet for its first regular meeting of the 1993-94 school year on Thursday, Sept. 2, at 7 p.m. at the school. The P.T.O. agenda for the school year will be discussed, including the Fall Festival, the playground project, and the upcoming dance scheduled for Sept. 18.

Jeff Adam will lead Utopia student council

Sponsor for this year is Melissa Chrane. An exciting year awaits Utopia High School with these young leaders in charge. Help support our school and community through the Student Council.

Improvements at Flying L Golf Course

New pro shop, expanded facilities, and more sand traps

Major improvements are slated for the Flying L Golf Course, an 18-hole facility located off Highway 173, 11/2 miles from Bandera.

Director of golf, John Junker, said that a new pro shop with expanded facilities, and two additional sand traps will be constructed.

Construction and remodeling is scheduled for completion by Oct. 15.

The new pro shop will be installed in what had been the guest ranch's conference center. It is located directly across the street from the pro shop. A new conference center is being built about a block away. It will be adjacent to the ranch's main offices.

Junker said the new pro shop would feature a wider variety of food and drink. It will also be a teaching room, equipped with video and swing analysis equipment.

A later stage of construction will convert the present pro shop into a locker room and club storage area.

The number one starting hole will be toughened by the addition of a fairway and sand trap. A new sand bunker will be constructed beside the number eight hole. Both are par fives.

Improvements made the in the past three years include: concrete cart paths from tee to green on each hole; new all-weather parking areas; driving range; fairway and greenside bunkers; ponds for watering purposes; new tee boxes; new golf carts; yardage markers; and re-seeding and nurturing fairways.

Course improvements are being completed under the guidance of Jim Wunrow, director of golf operations, and his assistant, Keith McCormack.

Junker is assisted in the pro shop by: Mark Lascano, John Kitchen and Dick and Georgeanne Brestel. Starters and marshalls are: Lee Finch, Art Brown, James Ennis and Joe Morales. Other workers include: Lee Brown, Maria Rodriguez and Vanessa Cromwell.

Work will begin soon on major improvements to be made on the Bandera Flying L Guest Ranch golf course. Discussing the project here are from left, John Junker, director of golf; Jim Wunrow, director of golf operations; and Mike Seeland, president of Hill Country Management Corp. The center piece of the endeavor will be a new pro shop in the former conference center. Work is expected to be completed by Oct. 15.

The column is dedicated to Louie Allsup, who died recently after making his home with us fro over 22 years. Louie was born to Mr. & Mrs. G. W. Allsup on Sept. 13, 1918 on the North Prong of the Medina River now known as the Perry Ranch. Louie was the youngest of three sons. The family moved to Tuff where he attended school and then later attended school in Medina. He operated a shrimp boat at Rockport for a number of years. He couldn't believe the price of shrimp today, and would tell you he made money at $.30 a pound. He was critically injured in a car accident that left him partially paralyzed. He lived with his brother Allie and his wife until they could no longer care for him, and he came to make his home with us on July 20, 1971. Louie loved playing dominoes and bingo. He had two children and several grandchildren. We will miss him.

Thanks to Erna Koenig for bringing the beautiful flowers from Grace Lutheran Church given by Pastor Pete and Paula Peterson, last week.

1993 Property Tax Rates in City of Bandera

This notice concerns 1993 property tax rates for City of Bandera. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 66,555
Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 66,555
Last year's tax base	$ 33,277,500
Last year's total tax rate	$ .20	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 65,570
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 30,675,474
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .2137	/$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year.

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ -0-	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$ -0-	/$100
x 1.08 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$ .2201	/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 65,570
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 30,675,474
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .2137	/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$ .2308	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0-	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ .2308	/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines.

- Rollback tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

Old Tarpley School Days...

Sunday's Tarpley and Rothe School reunion will bring back lots of memories for returning students

Compiled by
Carolyn B. Edwards
Chairman, Bandera County Historical Commission

Loyd Douglas lived with his family in the Hondo Canyon from 1912 to 1918. The older members of the family lived there twice before, from 1899-1903 and 1905, when his father, Jody, and his uncle, Clarence, had a general merchandise store.

On their return in 1912, the family lived for a few months in a little house on Williams Creek between Joe and Ed Dial. Then they moved to Tarpley, where Jody Douglas ran a store until he bought the Ross place in 1916 below Gunsight Mountain, across the road from the Willis place and below the Simpson place.

Douglas, an English professor at Oklahoma State University, was working on a history of the family in the Tarpley area which was unfinished at the time of his death.

Portions of his material were provided to the Bandera County Historical Commission by Raleigh Moses, another Tarpley historian who now lives in Springfield, VA.

The following comes from Mr. Douglas' memories of Tarpley:

"Some other play items I associate with school for one reason or another. One of the most notable was our use of sleds. Sleds? In a no-snow (or little snow) country? Yes! And I believe we were the inventors of Tarpley-style sledding; after all, we had just come from a year in the snow country, up north in Oklahoma, and so were oriented toward the snow way of life. The sled idea may have been prompted by a one-inch snowfall we actually had in Tarpley. Anyway, we (I suppose Forrest[Douglas' elder brother]) assembled a sled from some pieces of scrap lumber--two 2x4s for the runners, front corners cut at a suitable angle, and enough cross pieces of one-inch lumber to make the thing secure and big enough for one passenger. So we tried out our different vehicle--lacking somewhat in ease of movement. The loaded sled needed a team to pull it: but as long as it was fun the team was never lacking.

"When it reached the school ground, it "took off" as the most popular thing around. In its early stage the small boys who rode it might seem to have the most of the fun with their free ride: but the "horses" quickly found ways to add to their entertainment at the expense of the rider. Two big boys could develop a good deal of speed, and speed plus a quick turn now and then would sometimes dislodge the passenger even when he held tightly to the short rope provided at the front. When the horses chose to run over a log of firewood, the passenger had a bumpy ride; and when they chose to see how fast they could go down the hill to the creek (Williams Creek), the passenger went along willy-nilly. That route was developed to a climax when the horses decided, without conferring with the passenger, to splash on across the creek instead of pulling off the road as usual. The "rules" were made as the ride proceeded."

To be continued next week...

Sunday, Sept. 5, is the big day in Tarpley when the Tarpley Fire Dept. Volunteers put on their annual benefit barbecue. This is also the Tarpley & Rothe School reunion year. Much preparation is taking place and all are hoping for a special time with the big parade on Tarpley's Main Street starting at 11:30 a.m.

Tarpley Baptist Church services will begin at 10:45 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 5, instead of 11:00 a.m. (Services will end at 11:30)

Sunday was a special day at Tarpley Baptist Church with several visitors and a delicious fellowship dinner at Noon. Vernon & Jolyn Shrock were honored by the singing of the Anniversary song on their 7th year of marriage. Also, Bill Morris was honored by the birthday song. Some of the visitors present were Rev. & Mrs. Graydon Howell of Ingram. He was the pastor in the 1940s and was here several years. Others attending church were David & Pam McCormick with their 2 daughters. Pam was the accomplished pianist for the church service. Another visitor was Wayne Brasington.

Good to have Mrs. Billie Riley back with us, as she's been in Humble, TX visiting her son & daughter-in-law, Rev. & Mrs. Don Riley. She also had eye surgery while there.

Rev. & Mrs. Don Spencer, along with their daughter Julie Shearhart and children Kelli, Brice and Brent, left Thursday for Mound Valley & Wichita, Kansas to visit relative. They returned Wednesday morning.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Nothing Is Too Hard for God

"Is anything too hard for the Lord? At the appointed time I will return to you in the spring, and Sarah shall have a son."
— Genesis 18:14

It was not surprising that Sarah, the wife of Abraham, should have expressed doubt when the Lord said she would be with child. Both she and her husband were old, and she was past the years of childbearing. Yet God had plans for Abraham and Sarah and these included their having a son — as came to pass. The Bible is full of such great happenings brought about by God, but then too so is life. Just think of creation, the world about you, and the mystery of birth itself. Man has proven that he can do great things on his own, but surely one must question how much of those accomplishments have been motivated by the Lord.

Silver Sage Corral

Marti Hampton-Holloway

The month of September is upon us, and there is a crispness to the early morning hours in Bandera that makes one think cool weather is just around the corner. The return of so many from vacations has brought renewed interest to the fall schedule at Silver Sage Corral.

Mark you calendar for our gala Quilt Show to be held Oct. 9 at the Center. People come for miles around for this event, so stitch as fast as you can and enter your beautiful quilts on that date. On Sept. 1, the Heritage Study Group will meet at 10 a.m. with a presentation by Maple Cowan who will demonstrate decorative embroidery stitching. The Heritage Study Group is a part of the Bandera County Extension Service, meeting the first Wednesday of every month. Anyone interested in joining this group please contact the Chairman, Wil Bachman or Co-Chairman, Judy Rodriquez at the Center.

• We have a big turn out for the Exercise class every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning, with the class starting at 8:30 a.m. sharp. This popular class of men and women, work with an instructor as well as video tapes which instructs step by step with the proper techniques to receive the best results for toning up the complete body. The age group of 55 years upward, is indeed a fun loving group who extends a warm welcome to all newcomers.

Still sending out an SOS for volunteer van drivers and helpers. Della Mae Cox and Leon Ray have volunteered to be helpers on the Meals on Wheels van. Thank you. Welcome back to the Center, Della Mae. Back in the early days of the Center, the year 1977, Della Mae was one of the first organizers. She retired as Director in 1980 and in 1983 served as van driver for Meals on Wheels. Della Mae has given so much of her time helping others in various clubs and projects in such a quiet and unpretentious manner, indeed a debt of gratitude will last forever from the many senior citizens of Bandera. Della Mae is a member of the First Baptist Church in Bandera.

Received word that our dear friend Ty Goff is new residing at 372 Jimmy Fisk Road in Hazel Green, Ala. 35750.

A speedy recovery to Susie Stevens, Henry Kalka, Winnie Hicks, Arantha Stein and Josephine Muoto. Hope you are feeling better dear, sweet Eva Lena Garrett.

Millie Siler, the daughter of Mr. & Mrs. Roy Stevens is visiting from San Antonio.

Bungy & Larry Hartshorn come visit and show us some pictures of your vacation. Steve Forest just returned from a vacation in the rugged Northwest. Welcome home, Steve, we all missed your smiling face and friendly howdy. Beverly Thomson is back from vacation, your bridge group certainly missed you. Time for everyone to come visit the silver Sage Corral and tell us all about your vacation over a cup of coffee.

Kevin Randles, 8, who suffers from cancer, is determined to set a world's record for collecting the largest number of caps. The caps will in turn be given to the medical center for other cancer patients.

Pottsboro youth determined to get his name in Guiness Book

Kevin Randles, 8, of Pottsboro, TX, has cancer. His dream is to get his name in the Guiness Book of World Records for collecting the most caps.

He has 93,000 so far, but he needs an additional 17,000 to make a record. He will be the first person in the record book for collecting caps. He hopes to have 110,000 by Oct. 5.

Kevin is a third grader. He has battled cancer for 2 1/2 years. After his first chemo therapy treatment in Oct., 1991, Kevin's hair began to come out. People gave him caps. The collection mushroomed and a dream was born. If he makes the record by getting 110,000 caps by Oct. 5, it will have taken him two years to make the record.

Emily Keith, of Bandera, wants to help Kevin's dream come true. She will pick up donated caps at the Bandera Bulletin each Friday and mail them to Kevin. "His cancer is in remission right now," she explains. "But if he is going to leave this world, I want him to be able to leave his name behind in the record book. He plans to donate the caps to the medical center for kids- cancer patients- who have lost their hair."

Those wishing to donate caps to Kevin may bring them by the Bandera Bulletin Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Anyone wishing to send caps directly to him may write Kevin at P.O. Box 835, Pottsboro, TX, 75076.

1993 Property Tax Rates in BANDERA COUNTY

This notice concerns 1993 property tax rates for Bandera. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

	General Fund	Farm to Market/ Flood Control Fund	Special Road/ Bridge Fund
Last year's tax rate:
Last year's operating taxes	$ 1,480,123	$ 150,099	$ 99,403
Last year's debt taxes	$ 107,356	$ 31,809	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 1,587,479	$ 181,908	$ 99,403
Last year's tax base	$ 497,019,245	$ 497,019,245	$ 497,019,245
Last year's total tax rate	$ .3194 /$100	$ .0366 /$100	$ .0200 /$100
This year's effective tax rate:
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 1,515,659	$ 173,679	$ 94,906
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 484,341,843	$ 484,341,843	$ 484,341,843
= This year's effective tax rate for each fund	$ .3129 /$100	$ .0358 /$100	$ .0195 /$100
Total effective tax rate	$ .3682 /$100

In the first year a county collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ -0- /$100
= Effective tax rate	$ -0- /$100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing $ .3792 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:
Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and including taxes for state criminal justice mandate.)	$ 1,590,178	$ 143,309	$ 94906
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 484,341,843	$ 484,341,843	$ 484,341,843
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .3283/$100	$ .0295/$100	$ .0195 /$100
x [illegible]	$ .3565 /$100	$ .0319 /$100	$ .0210 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ .0020/$100	$ -0- /$100	$ -0- /$100
= This year's rollback rate for each fund	$ .3765/$100	$ .0318/$100	$ .0210/$100

A county that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

- Rollback tax rate	$ .3993 /$100

Local 4-Hers compete at state judging

Two local 4-H members, Matt Sandidge and Windy Wagner, recently had their 4-H Record Books compete at State 4-H Record Judging in College Station.

Each 4-H'ers record book first had to win at county and district level competition. Sandidge's book in dairy goats placed 8th at the state level.

Wagner's book in clothing placed 13th.

Nearly 500 record books in over 50 categories competed at the state level this year.

County Extension Agent Warren Thigpen said that "Matt and Windy should be congratulated for representing Bandera County very well."

It seems very quiet around the hills of home. We've just recently come from the Front Range of Colorado where for two weeks before and two weeks after, millions of people were jumping about in varying states of frenzy. They were either trying to get a personal glimpse of Pope John Paul II and Bill Clinton or trying to avoid having to come face to face with one or the other of the two world leaders. One mountain man said, "The Pope maybe. Clinton no way." And he beat a retreat.

We don't recall such a gridlock of excitement and emotion when the pope came to San Antonio a few years ago. But then SA was not hosting World Youth Day, which brought tens of thousands of backpacking kids to Denver from all over the world. The pilgrims slept wherever they could, as in downtown parking garages, ate Big Macs, drank only cokes, and passed out from altitude-aggravated heat exhaustion walking fourteen miles out the site of the papal mass in Cherry Creek Park. His Holiness seemed supremely and otherealy oblivious to all the chaos as 20,000 people checked in to medical tents for I.V.'s and water.

We heard his homily on the car radio as we escaped the Denver traffic going on a back road to Cheyenne. Coverage of the mass was cut somewhat short in order to carry the pre-game warm-up of the Colorado Rockies baseball game. First things first.

A couple of days earlier, Bill Clinton had stood around on the wet tarmac of Stapleton Airport, tinkering with a mike that didn't work and waiting for the papal plane. He had that funny "look-at-me" little smile when His Holiness finally arrived and posed for pictures. One Denver columnist, still feeling sorry for our president despite all, characterized him in the presence of the pope as a "hapless dude."

Hapless dude indeed. Did Texas TV catch Mr. Clinton, on a plodding horse, riding through the aspens of Vail in a typical single-file parade of city-folk on the dude-ranch trail?

Every real cowhand, which of course includes everyone in Bandera County, knows that you hold both reins in your left hand, close to the horse's neck. That way you have more subtle control of the beast. (Not that dude horses are going to go anywhere anyway.) President Bill did have both reins in one hand, but it was his right hand, and he was not holding close down. His jeans were way too short, and he was wearing a squashy little pork-pie hat. He looked miserable. No wonder the Clintons fled the wild west for the safety of Martha's Vineyard.

Of course, the only reason Ronald Reagan looked good on horseback was that he had had Hollywood training appearing for so many years in Death Valley Days.

AND, Bill Clinton is not the worst horseman in presidential history. We have mentioned before the immortal photograph of Lyndon Baines Johnson, all "rared back" on his steed, reins wide apart and held at the knotted ends. Surely he learned better than that growing up on the Pedernales. (Guess not)

OK, so we have joined the chorus of kidding and complaining about Bill Clinton. Actually, we think that much of the time there is too much of a dangerous edge of hostility and hatred directed Clinton's way. We don't hate the guy. We feel sorry for him.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department will conduct training on Thursday, Sept. 2, starting at 7 p.m. at the firehouse.

The Walker Memorial Chapel Fellowship dinner on Aug. 29 had no one going home hungry. There was barb-q brisket, 3 kinds of meat loaf and some Mexican meat patties...that was just for starters. There were seven different kinds of dessert, eleven kinds of salads and much more good food.

From Aug. 26-28, Fran and Wayne Hildenburg and their son, Steve and his wife Sallie, visited with Steve's son Chris Hildenburg and his wife Sydney in Angleton, TX. On Sept.3, Chris and Sydney will be visiting Wayne and Fran in Wharton's Dock and stay for a family reunion to be held on Sept. 5. Attending the reunion will be the Hildenburgs daughter Vicki Jones and husband Jon and children Aaron and Dustin from San Antonio; son Jerry and his wife Sharon and son Jay Hildenburg from Seabrook, TX. Also from SA will be Uncle Bill Woegens & granddaughter Vallerie Sharp. Joshua Jones will be thinking about them but will be unable to come as he enlisted in the Army on Aug. 24 and is in basic training in North Carolina.

The granddaughter of Bill & Lena Walker, Roxanne Walker, is busy training for an upcoming track meet at her school. Roxanne is running 3 miles every morning prior to school. During the Fellowship dinner at the Walker Memorial Chapel on Sunday she was a great assistance to the ladies in setting up and cleaning up after the meal.

There's no month like September. Parents eye their six-year-olds as they take their first steps toward the school bus. Older students leave home for their first adventure in dormitory life. College and high school graduates find themselves looking for jobs. Year in and year out, September brings gradual and unusual changes in the lives of many of us.

Parents hold students wonder about the personality and influence of a new teacher. Teachers do not choose their students but may find themselves in a roomful of strangers. The first days of school often reveal which students will test a teacher's intelligence, patience and self-control during the ensuing school year.

September is a month of new things: books, tablets, pencils, prints, jeans. It is a time to start again with new ideas, new activities and new friends.

What happens in a new school year has far-reaching effects on all of us. If we are eight or Anonymous Call Rejection is a Caller ID service which permits a subscriber to automatically reject calls from callers who have blocked their number/name. Per-call and per-line blocking will be available when the service is deployed. Detailed information on Caller ID service and how to block will be sent to each customer in their telephone bill during the next few weeks.

WHAT MAKES THE ROSES GROW

Undaunted by the raging storm, heedless of the changing tide.
The swinging pendulum takes us closer to a destiny unknown.
To and fro it never changes pace, or wobbles side to side.
Each fleeting stroke itself momentous, then suddenly it's gone.

Swept into this seemingly endless race, we seek to know the fate of man.
Beyond this phenomenal world of nature, is there some immortal role?
Once around some say is all you get, reach for everything you can.
Does this mysterious life hold nothing more---simply man without a soul?

What's in the wild blue yonder, makes a pilot want to fly?
What's beyond the far horizon, man thinks that we should know?
Why does the sailor love the sea? What makes the fisherman lie?
Why does the rain fall on the mountain and make the river flow?

From an act of love a child is born, of which mankind is but a tool.
Can our impudence lead us to believe, 'tis something we alone begot?
The greatest miracle revealed on earth, can man be such a fool?
Can we humans take credit for such awesome power--I think not!

We learn to excell in the art of war, as each day the threats increase.
Giving thanks to God for victory, we claim to glorify His name.
Can victory come from such billigerence; grace from anything but peace?
Accept our humble thanks dear Lord, and forgive us for the shame.

So many things we take for granted, success we say is of our own.
Results of skill and knowledge, or perhaps how hard we try.
Fame and riches are just rewards for what we do alone.
A conclusion derived from human logic, still I wonder why.

We plant and cultivate with all the knowledge we can share.
Investing in a future harvest, from all the seeds we sow.
With patience we weed and water, and prune with utmost care.
Is life so simple we need not ask; what makes the roses grow?

Pipe Creek Baptist pastor Bosworth moving to Austin

After an eight-year stint here, he will accept call to Onion Creek Baptist

Ted Bosworth, pastor of First Baptist Church Pipe Creek, has accepted a call to minister to Onion Creek Baptist Church in Austin.

Bosworth has been pastor at the Pipe Creek Church for almost 8 years.

During his last sermon in Pipe Creek conducted Sunday, August 29, Bosworth reminisced about his years in the community.

"We've had some mountain-top experiences and we've shared many valleys with the people here," said Bosworth.

"For a short time," said Bosworth, "I was out of the will of God. But when we came to Pipe Creek, we were back in that will."

The Bosworth's expressed particular thanks to the Pipe Creek assembly for their support during the time of their daughter's cancer treatment.

"We're excited about this move," said Bosworth. "It will mean new challenges for us. But we are also filled with sadness to be leaving so many friends."

Members of the congregation spoke of their own memories of the influence of the Bosworth family on their spiritual growth over the years.

Many tears of sadness and joy were shed. Following the baptism of Andrea Fair, the congregation met in the Fellowship Hall for dinner.

Bosworth's wife, Georgia, was employed at Bandera Bank. His daughters, Sarah and Rachel, are graduates of Bandera High School. Daughters Anna and Leah will accompany the Bosworth's to their new Austin home.

Utopia, Uvalde Living Waters Churches sent representatives to the Ukraine

Senior pastor Randy Needham, Wallace Gallier and Robert Richarz of Living Waters Church of Utopia and Living Waters Church of Uvalde, have returned from a trip to the Ukraine in the former Soviet Union.

Their goal was to start and establish three churches and to set up two different printing plants to publish Bible literature. They joined forces with another member of the team, Slavic Kravchu, in Nikolayev, a town of 1.1 million people.

Three churches were started in the first part of July. Two are in Nikolayev. One already has approximately 400 in attendance. The other has between 700 and 800. The third church was established in Kherson, a community of 3600,000.

The former Soviet Union was an atheistic state. Many communities do not have a church. The Living Waters team also participated in street crusades. Within a few days, they saw approximately 1,300 people come to Christ.

Needham said, "When I think of our trip to the Ukraine, there were so many things that were overwhelming to us. After our crusade meetings, people would come up to us weeping and saying that they had at last found love and peace. One dear woman who spoke English said, 'Thank you, thank you, for telling me about Jesus. I have been looking for Him all my life!'

"The people are so hungry for the Bible or any literature about it. some of the time they would fall down on the ground fighting for a Bible, each person ripping away a piece. I also think of the privilege we had to sit in the former K.G.B. high offices where many crimes were committed against their people. Here we lead the vice president mayor of Nikolayev to the Lord Jesus Christ. We are now helping them set up cultural links with cities in America.

"One of the most special moments for me," Needham said, was to be on television and know that "our crusade was going...to millions of hurting people....many for the first and maybe last time were going to hear the good news that God loved them and wanted to forgive their sins. 'For God so loved the world that He gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him would not perish but have everlasting life.'"

The pastors say that much work remains to be done. "Our future plans are to immediately locate and ship an entire container of medical supplies to the regional hospital. Nikolayev has more people than San Antonio, yet the doctors have no medications or medical supplies to treat their patients. They are ripping open mattresses and using the material for bandages; washing them and reusing them again."

Richarz is tentatively scheduled to return in September. "At that time we hope to have a children's animated Bible stories program to be shown on prime television. We will also have printed 20,000 books for new Christians. In the next year, we hope to begin a Bible school and weekly Bible teaching program on television."

The pastors are asking that anyone who has leads on medical supplies contact them. "Any kind of medical supplies would be helpful." The number is (210) 966-2416.

Featured in Balentine's original show will be such familiar Patsy Cline songs as "Crazy", "I Fall to Pieces," Walking After Midnight," She's Got You," "Blue Moon of Kentucky" and "Leavin' on your Mind".

The Band includes Douglas Balentine on piano, as Owen Bradley; Genie Wright on bass, as Hilda; James Harris on guitar, as Charlie; Greg Bitkower on guitar, as Randy; and Mark Wright on drums, as Sam.

Free tickets to the Texas heritage Music Festival, also scheduled Sept. 16-19, will be given to each person attending the "Patsy" musical revue at the Point Theatre. The exchange between the H.C.A.F. and the Texas heritage Music Foundation is a cooperative effort to increase community-wide audiences for both events.

Rabies threat continues-- rabid fox found on PR 37

A Lakehills family experienced the agony of having four dogs destroyed on Tuesday, Aug. 31, after the dogs were exposed to a rabid fox. The family lives on Park Road 37 and had not vaccinated their pets against rabies.

Animal control officer Billy Graham said that rabies vaccinations and county tags are mandatory for dogs in Bandera County. "Rabies is still a threat and its going to get worse," he said. "Anyone who sees an animal acting abnormally needs to call the Sheriff's Department immediately and report it. This fox came into the fenced yard with the dogs during daylight hours. The dogs killed it. The owners took the fox to be tested on their own and it came back positive."

Graham points out that a $9 cost (seven dollars for the rabies vaccination and $2 for the county tag) can protect a pet both from the disease, and from being destroyed if it comes into contact with a rabid animal.

Thank You

We would like to thank the citizens of Bandera for the tremendous expression of love and support that was shown to us at the loss of our son Jason. Every person we met last week from law enforcement and judges, to local business people, including many we had never met, could not have been kinder.

Jason loved this community and had many, many friends. Our family feels very blessed to live here. Once again, thank you ever so much.

Sports

Volleyballers win five, lose five

Individual players have outstanding efforts

Bandera's Lady Bulldogs won a few, lost a few, and failed to place in a volleyball tournament Aug. 27 and 28 at Tivy High School in Kerrville.

However, according to head volleyball coach Eileen McDonald, the Bandera girls played "definitely the best game we have played yet," against Tivy Saturday.

"(Bandera) rose to the occasion," McDonald said. "I was pretty happy with our performance (Saturday)."

Friday, Aug. 27, Bandera first faced Uvalde, then Comfort and Ingram in a series of three 11-point matches. "It was somewhat of a roller coaster ride," Coach McDonald said. "We played good, then bad, then good and bad again. We weren't focused."

The Lady Bulldogs beat Uvalde 15-8, then lost to them in a second game 15-9. Kelly Rigsby served 7 for 10, with 4 aces; Natalie Koehler spiked 8 for 9 with 3 kills; Melani Schneider spiked 9 for 9 with one kill; and Kelly Vos spiked 6 for 6 with 2 kills.

The Lady Bulldogs lost their first game against Comfort 11-15, then they came back to beat the Lady Bobcats 15-6. Natalie Koehler served 6 for 6, with one ace; Melani Schneider served 7 for 7 with one ace; Abby Nightingale spiked 2 for 2 with 2 kills; and Kelly Vos had 3 assists.

Bandera won against Ingram 16-14, then lost their second game 13-5. Natalie Koehler served 6 for 6 with one ace and spiked 4 for 5 with 2 kills; Kelly Rigsby served 9 for 9 with one ace; Wilynn Zickler spiked 6 for 7 with 2 kills; Kelly Vos Vos spiked 4 for 4 with one kill and 2 assists; and Melani Schneider stuffed 5 blocks.

Saturday, Bandera beat TMI 15-11, 15-6, but later lost to Tivy 15-11, 15-5.

Against TMI, Wilynn Zickler served 5 for 7 with 3 aces, and spiked 8 for 8 with 4 kills; Natalie Koehler spiked 7 for 7 with 2 kills; Kelly Vos had 2 assists; and Kelly Rigsby had 3 assists.

Against Tivy, Kelly Vos served 8 for 9 with 2 aces and had 2 assists; Melani Schneider spiked 4 for 5 with 3 kills and had 4 stuff blocks; Wilynn Zickler spiked 5 for 5; Natalie Koehler had 11 for 16 perfect passes; and Courtney Cota had 2 assists.

Golfers scramble at Flying L

Oliver, D'spain, Hemphill and Young top field

Richard Oliver, Wiley D'Spain, Chris Hemphill and Barbara Young teamed up here on Aug. 15 to capture first place in the bi-weekly scramble sponsored by the Flying L Golf Association at Flying L Guest Ranch course here.

Tied for second place were the teams of Johnny Cardenas, Jimmy Locke, Bobby Salyers and Jerry Pawlik; and Scott Josephson, Ferdinand Gaenzel, Blake Ceasar and Bill Ceasar. Those teams shot seven-under 65.

Next outing for the Flying L Association will be at 1 p.m. Thursday, Sept. 2 at Flying L Guest Ranch course.

Flossie Allen, co-president of the Association, has issued an invitation for all Hill Country golfers to participate in the tournaments sponsored on the first Thursday and third Sunday of each month at Flying L course.

Medina quarterback Clifford Watts pitches out to a runningback during a scrimmage with TMI Thursday, Aug. 26. TMI outscored the Bobcats 2-1 in the practice game. Medina head coach Rick Ingram says his 'Cats are a little beat up going toward their season opener in Natalia Friday, Sept. 3. "We have four or five players hurting because of ankle injuries and bruised ribs," he said. "We also have a couple of guys who are questionable but will probably start this week." The Bobcats will not play at home until Sept. 24 when they host Sabinal.

Bulldogs will face Tiger in Dydalewiez Friday at Dripping Springs

When the Bulldogs open their season Friday night, Sept. 3 in Dripping Springs they will be facing one of last year's top offensive players.

The Tiger offense centers around the talents of senior tailback Greg Dydalewicz.

Last season Dydalewicz rushed for 1,095 yards, picked up 495 yards on pass receptions and scored 20 touchdowns. He earned All-District honors and was Honorable Mention All-State.

Bandera Head Coach Mike Williamson sees the question marks for Dripping Springs on the offensive and defensive lines. "They go into the season with a lot of inexperience along their lines," Williamson said. "But everywhere else they are a very good team. They will come into the game with a very talented offense. It will be a good test for us, a good opening game," Williamson added.

The Bulldogs will come into the contest with 12 returning lettermen from last year's team that missed the playoffs by only one game. Among the returnee's will be 5 offensive starters and 1 defensive starter.

Back for his final season will be senior running back Robert Bradford. Bradford lead the Dogs in rushing last year with 745 yard despite missing 2 1/2 games due to injuries.

The Bulldogs also will have the majority of last year's offensive line back. Returning will be the center Isaac Kenney and tackles Dale Martin and Bill Wyman.

Aarron Lacey is back for the Dogs at receiver. He will be among the corp of talented receivers that figure to see more action under the new offense of Coach Williamson.

Handling the quarterbacking chores this years will be either Jimmy Stroud or Kyle Woodland, both juniors.

The sole returning defensive starter will be Brian Flack. However, there will be an infusion of talent from last's JV team that was only scored upon once.

Kickoff for the game will be 8 p.m.

Utopia varsity spikes Lackland girls in two.

The Utopia girls volleyball team traveled to San Antonio to take on the Ladies of Lackland Friday, Aug. 20. The evening started off with a junior varsity 3 game match. Utopia struck first with a 15-7 win but were caught by surprise in the second game being downed 14-16. The ladies fought back for a short and sweet third game of 15-5. Following the junior varsity success the varsity ladies took the floor. The ladies walloped Lackland 15-5; 15-0 and it was over before you knew it. When asked for his viewpoint of the evening, Coach Allen Harris replied, "We're ready and we're still waiting."

The Bandera Bulletin
Our 49th Year, No. 62

Parade grand marshall Arthur Erfurt was among the former students that gathered in Tarpley Sunday for the biennial Tarpley School Reunion, and annual Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department Barbecue fund raiser. It was a big Labor Day weekend in Bandera County!

Bullfighting clowns try to distract a bucking bull during Friday's PRCA rodeo at Mansfield Park. Paid attendance was near 3,500. Meanwhile, in Tarpley, a clown entertained a child during Sunday's parade, prior to the Tarpley Volunteer Fire Department's barbecue. Another Labor Day weekend barbecue was held in Lakehills to benefit the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department. School was out and many businesses were closed over the Labor Day weekend, but Bandera County merchants who were open said business was good. "From all the traffic, Bandera's activities must have been popular," merchants said.

Tax hike is coming

Bandera County Commissioners vote for increase - public hearing is Sept. 16

When faced with voting for a tax increase or trimming the 1994 budget by $68,000, commissioners went with Bennie Barkers advice to "bite the bullet" and pass the increase.

Commissioners voted for the proposed tax rate of .4348 in a meeting on Wednesday, Sept. 1. County Judge Ray Mauer said he expects that rate to go down by the time the final tax rate is adopted on Monday, Sept. 20. "We've already made some changes. Until we finalize it, it will fluctuate."

A public hearing on the proposed budget for 1993-94 will be held on Thursday, Sept. 16 at 6 p.m.

A public hearing on the proposed tax rate will be held on Thursday, Sept. 16 at 6:30 p.m.

Barker said that commissioners are "up against it. We need more men and equipment. But we face the risk of the public coming in here with a roll back."

Dan Alanis said that since The Bandera Bulletin had run a road paving story on Aug. 18, he had three people with money ready who wanted their roads paved. He said one of the future paving jobs, Timber Creek, would be a big job. "We need to get it started soon. It's 4 1/2 miles and will take over a year."

Other commissioners had also been contacted about paving jobs. Additionally, they face a set time schedule to complete the road work covered under the $350,000 grant they received earlier this year.

Insects seeking water are a major hassle during drought

Many local residents report invasion of their homes by ants, insects

County extension agent Warren Thigpen said that complaints to him about problems with ants, roaches, scorpions and mice have increased since the 60-day plus drought in the Texas Hill Country began. "The total insect population is down from the heat and dryness, but the remaining insects are bothering people- mainly because they are looking for water."

He also said the fire ant population is down at the moment. The insects have gone deeper into the ground, seeking relief from the heat and drought. But don't, he warns, make the mistake of thinking they are gone. "After the first big rain, fire ants will be everywhere. They are a real problem now in well houses. They are looking for moisture."

Ants are one of the most successful insect groups because they adapt readily to changing environments, food sources and nesting locations. Several species readily invade homes for feeding, nesting or both. Ants are social insects with various castes living together in colonies while maintaining distinct nests. Worker ants often invade homes and infest food or other items in the pantry.

The most effective ant control is to find the nest and treat it with insecticide. An alternative is to use the workers to carry an insecticidal bait back to other colony members.

Homeowners may have ant problems when it is abnormally hot and dry, or very wet. The ants are [illegible] their preferred outdoor area. Most ants prefer to nest in soil or wood outdoors. However, cracks and holes in brick veneer, [illegible] exploited by certain ants.

Along with treating the nests, it is often advisable to treat a three to four foot wide swatch of soil around the perimeter of the home and treat the lower three to four feet of the house with insecticide. This "barrier" treatment should reduce or eliminate the invasion into the home.

With the exception of fire ants, it is unwise to treat the entire premises. Ants are beneficial in to landscape as they scavenge for food and prey upon other potential pests. Some are seed gatherers and reduce the weed problems in the lawn by collecting and feeding on weed seed.

Bulldog defensive back Brad Prather intercepts a Dripping Springs pass and finds plenty of running room up [illegible] to score a go-ahead touchdown in the final minute of the [illegible] na football action, please turn to Page 11B.

Bandera County Hay Show entries down from last year

Bandera County extension agent Warren Thigpen said that this year's hay show drew 17 entries. "It was down some from last year, but we expected that because of the drought."

Last year's hay show drew 25 entries and the 1991 show had 23. Thigpen said that the largest number of entries this year are in the summer annual, which was cut early. "A lot of the entries looked really pretty. Color doesn't mean much as far as protein. It will be interesting to get the results from A&M."

Dr. Don Dorsett, extension forage specialist for Texas A&M University, is judging the hay samples. The protein analysis, combined with physical appearance, will determine winners.

Winners will be announced at the 1993 Bandera County Hay Show on Thursday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. at Mansfield Park. Winners who are present at the show will be asked to give a brief history of their hay and explain how they obtained success with it.

Credit will be given for two CEUs (continuing education units) for those attending who are holding private applicator's licenses.

Other entries this year included two in dryland coastal; four in irrigated coastal; 3 in winter annual (oats and hay); and for the first time ever, an entry in legume and legume-grass mixture, alfalfa.

ACS to meet Sept. 13

The Bandera chapter of the American Cancer Society will meet on Monday, Sept. 13 at 2 p.m. in the First State Bank.

Eva Brightman will discuss services provid[illegible] which are available in the Bandera area.

The public is invited. Meetings of the American [illegible] held again this year at the First State Bank at a

Barn raising event will benefit livestock group

A fund raiser to help foot the bill for some $30,000 worth of improvements to the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Parkwill be held on Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Cabaret, beginning at 3 p.m. The benefit dance is sponsored by the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, and will specifically help the Bandera County Junior Livestock Association.

Although the main event sponsored by the Junior Livestock Association is the livestock sale and show in January each year, the Ferguson Show Barn will be used for other community events, including the annual Hunter's Barbecue held by the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Students in Bandera will join more than 100,000 students across Texas expected to gather around their school's flagpoles at 7 a.m. on Wednesday, Sept. 15 to pray for "God's intervention in the problems of: drug use, alcohol use, immorality, and in claiming God's power in the lives of students, teachers and administrators." A community rally of support is also planned Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. For additional information about the event contact Jay Brian or Amie McClane at 796-7696.

Opinion

Letters to the editor

He likes helpful suggestions

Dear editor:

Mr. Neff's recent letter about our county road problems was the kind that will help us get them solved. His idea about an advisory committee to work with the commissioners court in resolving our road maintenance funding shortages has a lot of merit.

I will be asking the commissioners court to put the one-half cent sales tax on the ballot for voter approval at our next meeting. I will also be voting for the proposed property tax increase in fiscal year 93-94 after voting against them for every year I have been in office.

We have a major problem with our road maintenance. We are underfunded by about 30 percent when compared to counties of similar size. We have an agricultural tax base and not much more. We need more men and new equipment to meet the demands for better road maintenance in our rapidly growing county.

We keep saying we raise taxes to offset inflation, but when our property values decreased, did anybody get a tax cut? No tax is a good tax, but I think a sales tax that is paid by everyone is a lot more equal, because everyone uses our roads, schools, law enforcement, EMS, etc., not just the property owners that are currently footing most of the bill for county services.

I would hope that every property owner in the county will support the one-half percent sales tax if commissioners court puts it on the ballot, otherwise, it will be property owners who have to shoulder the burden of bringing our county roads up to acceptable standards.

We can find the money to meet these needs and it does not have to be with annual, habitual property tax increases. We need to reduce duplication with a unit system rather than four individual precinct operations. We need to combine departments and increase efficiency and with these changes and the one-half cent sales tax, I think we can do the job and get our roads in good shape. We could even borrow against the sales tax revenues, pave our roads and be done with it. Every year we put it off, costs increase and more accidents happen.

Next year the voters will be electing a county judge. While commissioners court is the governing body of the county, the county judge plays a key role in helping the court find solutions to our problems. We have two announced candidates in the judge's race. I will cast my vote for the one that can best convince me that they will work diligently to help commissioners court solve our road problems and step into the 20th century on modern roads instead of wagon trails.

Bennie Barker
Bandera County Commissioner, Pct. 1

On behalf of the concerned

Dear editor:

I am writing on behalf of many concerned high school students. Everyone thinks there needs to be a place for teenagers. We are trying to get a place set up, but we need help. The students cannot do this by themselves. We need sponsors to help pay for expenses and a building. We think a good idea would be to have a couple of pool tables, video games, and a smack and drink bar. There also needs to be a smoking area. The deaths of Jason Holden and Dustin Brown hit me very hard, as it did alot of people. I am willing to help, but we need businesses and adults to help as well.

For more information, please feel free to call me at 796-4891; Adrianne Alanis at 796-4760; or Heather Harrell at 796-3323.

He asks for understanding

Dear editor:

I am reaching out from prison in hopes you may assist me in finding friendship. Anyone of any nationality to correspond with. The friends I once had only lasted through the good times which are now gone. So, I do not have anyone writing or visiting me. I am alone and lonely since my incarceration. I've come to realize the vital importance of receiving mail and being in touch with society. Without communication, a person's mind becomes stagnant, then they become institutionalized. I'm reaching out to prevent this from happening. Despite my many attempts of re-establishing some level of communication it has been in vain. I believe now that out of sight, out of mind. The realization of being alone really hurts. Loneliness is very devastating, a very sad state of mind.

I'm 35 years old, white male, 6'3", 215 lbs, brown hair and blue eyes. I enjoy reading, education, music, sports, outdoor life, animals and exercising. Since my incarceration, I've spent the majority of my time trying to better myself and get an education and exercise.

I hope you can find it in your heart to publish my plea, that it may catch the interest or attention of someone who has known the pain of loneliness I live with daily.

In conclusion, I want to thank you for your time and also any consideration you may be able and willing to extend. This is my only hope of reaching anyone!

On terminating the Wool Act

Dear editor:

I wonder how many people realize the full implications of terminating the Wool Act? Since most people have knowledge of the program only through news media, there is much confusion in the land. For instance, the average American taxpayer believes that the National Wool Act cost him millions of dollars per year. The reality is that the wool act does not cost taxpayers a penny—it is funded by tariffs on imported wool. Wool is the only commodity program with a dedicated source of funding.

Some taxpayers may think that the money collected should go to other more "worth-while" programs. Again, the fact is that $5.2 billion of the $7.1 billion collected over the like of the program has gone straight into the federal treasury to fund other programs! And what could be more work-while than keeping 350,000 Americans employed and productive, the rural areas of America alive and fruitful and a true-blue American industry functioning? Isn't that what the current administration claims it is working toward, or was that just a campaign promise?

Her concern is for retirees

Dear editor:

I wish you continued success in your new location. I also want to take this opportunity to thank you for printing news and pictures of animals needing a home. I appreciate this for the animals. They do need the help of caring people. Happy new location to you.

The sugar nightmare of 19 years ago

Betty Lee Ciarlo, the wife of John W. Ciarlo who was a Special Service Director for the U.S. Navy for Central and South American Countries at the time, has a favorite story about sugar. It happened 19 years ago and turned into a "nightmare" of an unusual sort.

It began when Ciarlo and two friends drove to Mexico. Since sugar was selling at $2.99 for five pounds, the trio had determined to bring some back with them. It was Ciarlo's first attempt to drive inside Mexico. "When we passed the sign at the bridge center, I sort of doubted the intelligence of us making this trip. We were too far along to turn back, so I kept my mouth shut and put on a brave front...we followed the directions to the market and got lost."

When they finally found the market, they each bought 10 pounds of sugar at .42 cents a bag. That was all they were allowed to buy. After they loaded their purchases into the car, they went back and each bought 10 more pounds of sugar, going through a different cashier.

They asked directions to another market which sold sugar. The owner agreed to sell them each a 50 kilo bag of sugar, 110 pounds in American weight. He warned the ladies that he would deny that he had sold it to them if anyone asked. Ciarlo and one of the ladies now had a total of 130 pounds of sugar each. They had only spent $12, and were deliriously happy.

That is when the nightmare began. It was bumper-to-bumper traffic all the way back to the bridge and they were running late. Husbands expected them to be back home already. They crept across the bridge, an inch at a time. Then, at customs, they were informed that they were only allowed one bag (50 kilos) of sugar per auto. "You have to pay duty on this sugar," the ladies were told. "It's $1.50 per bag."

Ciarlo told the man that was no problem. "We'll just pay the duty and head home."

"No," the man said. "Only on the one bag you are allowed to have. The rest has to be taken back to Mexico by you."

"Are you kidding?" Ciarlo asked. "It took us over half an hour to get to this side. I'll just leave it with you."

"I'm not allowed to accept it...No other way, the sugar must go back to Mexio."

One lady stayed at the U.S. Customs with the car. The other two left to find a cab. They found one, but the driver refused to carry the sugar. He said it would cost $4, one way, to go back across the bridge.

The ladies were in a real dilemma. They could not carry 110 pounds of sugar over a block by themselves. They went back to explain what had happened to the Custom's officer. He agreed to let them leave one bag on the table and take the other bag back. "What you ladies should have done," he said, "was to bring two cars."

Ciarlo had an idea. "If I drive this sugar back to Mexico, get a cab there and bring the sugar here, take it from the cab here in the Custom's area and put it into my car, that will be okay?"

"Lady," he said, "I can't tell you to do anything, but that would be legal."

Ciarlo remembers that well. "I knew I had lost all around. There was no way I could stay in the U.S. I had been denied entrance to my own country..." So Ciarlo and one of the ladies went back with the bag of sugar. The Custom's officer warned them that is was unlikely they would find a cab driver willing to carry it back for them. He also told them that Mexico only allowed two pounds of sugar to be brought into their country.

"What are we supposed to do with 108 pounds of sugar while we cross the bridge?" Ciarlo cried.

He just looked at her.

They left one lady standing in Customs with the pile of sugar they were allowed, then drove the other sugar back across, hiding it under sweaters. It looked like a body. They made it.

Finally, they found a very bewildered taxi driver to take one bag of sugar back. He didn't understand, even after explanations, why the ladies could not take it themselves.

"We returned across the Rio Grande without an international incident," Ciarlo remembers.

The taxi driver demanded $6 for transporting a bag of sugar. It was robbery, but they paid.

The Customs officer was so relieved to get rid of the ladies and the sugar, that he forgot to charge the $1.50 duty on it. Ciarlo did not go back to pay it when she thought about it. "I don't care if I never see that place again," she told her friends.

Two days after their trip to Mexico, the amount of sugar permitted across the border dropped to 50 pounds per auto.

"We are thankful this amount was not in effect the day of our trip," Ciarlo writes. "We would still be going back and forth across the Rio Grande."

She's kept the record and she's ready for a break

County Treasurer Elizabeth James plans retirement after 26 years

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Elizabeth James will have served as Bandera County Treasurer for 26 years when her term expires in December, 1994. Her predecessors, Thelma Jureczki and Mrs. John F. Hodges, were also both in office as county treasurer for 26 years.

She's never been opposed during her 25 years in office and she's never applied for a job in her life, although she has held many. She ran for County Treasurer in 1970 when Jurezzki retired. She's seen many changes over the years.

"I've seen the budget go from less than $300,000 in 1971 to over $3 million this year. There used to be plenty of room for everything in the courthouse. Now we're crowded. I started out as part-time, but quickly had to go to full time when revenue sharing began. There were 300 checks a month written in 1972 when we had a big ledger. Now there are over 600 a month written. We had 35 employees on the payroll. Now we have 95 employees."

James started working in the Bandera County Treasurer's office by herself. When she was hospitalized for 16 days in November, 1972, her doctor informed the commissioner's court that she needed help. Peggy Pingleton Adams was hired and has served a total of 18 years as a deputy in the treasurer's office.

One of the biggest challenges James has faced over the years was to get the computer system installed and working in 1989. She said it was a "nightmare" at first. "We had to post everything manually and on the computer to check out the computer. It took us two years to switch over to the computer and there are still occasional glitches in the software."

However, she admits the computer is a great time saver now. The general fund for Bandera County covers 18 pages. Other departments; the senior citizen's, the flood plain; the library, the Sheriff's Department, permits, and others, are all separate line items. Having the computer also helps compile the county budget.

"I did the county budgets and finalized and typed them for 17 years," she says. "I still have worker's compensation claims, health insurance premiums... all the money that comes to the county eventually makes its way here to my office. All the county bills are paid through this office. It's a tremendous job."

It is also a job which takes a lot of time. James arrives early and stays late to get her job done. It gives her very little time of her own or time to spend with her daughter, Minneana James. Minneana suffers from chemical allergies which caused her to drop out of Texas A&M in her junior year. She is allergic to hair spray, exhaust fumes, paint, ink, typewriter ribbon ink, insecticides, and even "Pam." She was forced to quit attending church when her condition worsened.

James says that her daughter is a talented writer. One of the projects she has planned for her retirement is typing manuscripts her daughter has hand written so they can be submitted to publishing companies.

James is a 1947 graduate of Medina High School and was valedictorian of her class with a 97.3 grade point average. Minneanna graduated from Bandera High School in 1976 and was salutatorian of her class.

Elizabeth is married to "Johnnie", a disabled veteran who won a Purple Heart in the Battle of the Bulge. He is a rancher and has worked in the past as a sheet metal worker for Mooney aircraft and other companies.

Before her election as County Treasurer, James worked at Bandera Bank; First National Bank; for the Bandera Bulletin; and carried the petition to get the late Otto Zuttermeister's name on the ballot. He subsequently became the county's first tax collector.

As a part of her job, she keeps track of revenues and expenditures for each department in the county.

The lady who has never faced an opponent in six terms of office and has never applied for a job (they have always called HER), has already been offered "a couple of jobs" when she retires. She plans to turn them down.

"I may work part-time, but I have a lot of things to do at home." Partly, she shops for her daughter, who is unable to leave her "clean" home. She chauffeurs Minneana also, who must carry oxygen with her on car rides.

"My daughter has a lot of faith. If she didn't, she wouldn't make it. She says, 'Mother, God has some reason for allowing this to happen to me. I just don't know what it is yet.'"

James says she has done a lot of praying for her daughter over the years, and for her job. "It's long hours and unending challenge and I have prayed a lot. I couldn't have made it at all without the support and encouragement of the people. I still enjoy my job, but I have other things to do before I get too old to do them. And Peggy (Adams) is going to run now. I feel she's qualified."

And, although she didn't say it, perhaps James doesn't want to be the one to break tradition. Being Treasurer for Bandera County seems to be a 26-year job.

Wharton's Dock

Bud Ciarlo

Tom Matlock, an attorney from McAllen, met Patricia Alvera, an attorney from San Antonio, and they drove to Bandera on their first date. They were so impressed with Bandera and the good time they enjoyed that they made it a ritual to return at least once a month. And finally, they decided to get married. Being good attorneys, they used the evidence of where they enjoyed most and decided to get married in the Bandera area. There is a little restaurant located on a floating dock in Wharton's Dock. So, Tom and Patricia decided to join hands in marriage at "The Place", as it is named, on Sept. 4. There were over one hundred attending the wedding. Toms' parents came in from Louisiana and Patricia's from San Antonio. Many friends and relatives drove or flew in from all over the states. A mariachi band entertained the crowd prior to the wedding.

• Sunday, Sept. 5, Lenna Walker and Betty Ciarlo attended a birthday fiesta in honor of Minnie Schumann's 80th birthday. This birthday party was hosted by Mrs. Schumann's daughter and family, Oatsy and Larry Fann of Fairfax, Va. and Janice and Allie Schwauch of Houston. The party was held under beautiful spreading oak trees and on the banks of the Medina River near McDonna. The guests were hosted to a tour of the beautiful old ranch home. This day brought back many happy memories to Lenna as she and Minnie were class mates at Santa Rosa hospital where they received their R.N. in nursing. There were two other guests who took their R.N. training at Santa Rosa, and the four enjoyed reminiscing.

• It is truly the last frontier, with its vast land masses and waterways teeming with wild life. This is the opinion of Lena and Ray Bowen, just returned from a twenty seven day trip through Washington State, British Columbia and our great state of Alaska.

The first eight days was spent in and around Seattle, with a side visit to Mr. Baker and Billingham. Then on to Vancouver, where they boarded a cruise ship, the "Regent Star", for a seven day inside passage cruise, where they stopped at Ketchan, Skagway, Juneau, Sitka and into Anchorage, where they disembarked. After an overnight stay they boarded the "McKinley Express" for an eight hour train ride to the Denali National Park, an overnight stay and a tour into the park where grizzly bear, caribou, moose and many other wild animals live in their own environment, undisturbed by man. After leaving Denali, it was on to Fairbanks where they spent two days on a tour through Indian villages and river boat excursions.

They proceeded through British Columbia, taking in the towns of Beaver Creek, White Horse, and Fraiser, where they boarded a narrow gauge railroad car over the white pass utilized by the Klondike Gold Rush. This was quite an experience since the track ran along a deep canyon all the way to Skagway. From Skagway where they spent the night, they boarded a ferry for a four hour trip to Juneau, the capitol of Alaska. After a night stay, they boarded a plane back to Seattle where they visited Ray's daughter and then back home. The temperature in Juneau was 48, in Houston it was 93. Ray said he came out of his jacket "pretty quick" after leaving the plane.

by Bungy

Bungy's back from vacation, and says it 'sure is nice being 'Back in the Saddle' Again, and also 'Home on the Range.'

What follows are highlights from the last leg of her journey, and a few observations upon her arrival back in Bandera.

Up, up and away through the Tehachipi Mountains and through the pass we went. Tall jagged mountain peaks towering over a green valley. On each mountain ridge was an energy windmill, turning slowly in the breeze, churning out electricity.

Slowly the terrain turned to desert, with pockets of mobile homes here and there, wherever water was possible. There were bunches of bee hives in valleys of joshua trees. And, rising up out of the desert like a phoenix, the town of Mojave, "Home of the Voyager." Edwards Air Force Base, where new air craft is tested, and where the Voyager lands after each flight, has the largest mirage in the western hemisphere.

Several years ago, when Larry was out there building rocket engine test sites, I was living in the same location. We found out we were both in Calgary at the same time, years ago!

• Next came a night in Calico, near the famous Calico ghost town, and a visit with old friends I hadn't seen in about five years. "Rosebud," at the spry age of 72, has just gotten her nursing license, and graduated top of her class.

The RV park in Calico had all kinds of antiques among a cactus garden, with a kids' playground designed like a miniature ghost town.

We walked out to the edge of the desert and watched a glorious brilliant orange sunset sky, that gradually turned to pale moonlight, then brilliant moonlight in a sky studded with twinkling diamonds. The desert smells of dust and sage wafting by us in the soft breeze was so sweet we could almost eat it.

• The next morning, up and out early, on to Needles, on the Colorado River. We backed the trailer right up to the edge, and had 20 steps down to Rainbow Beach. We dove instantly into the icy cold water that was a stark contrast to the hot hot hot weather. The air conditioner died on us, and we decided it was time to head home.

• We got to attend six different churches scattered here and there, and when the first reader at the last church we visited stood up, I did a double-take-- We'd had dinner with him in San Diego a few weeks before.

Most of the churches throughout the Southwest were early Spanish mission style structures.

Then, a night spent with tall, jagged Pichaco Peak looming its 3,374 feet above us. It was where the western-most battle of the Civil War was fought.

Finally-- home again!

• Opening up old copies of the Bulletin that had stacked up during our trip, my eye was caught by an ad that read: "One donkey with complete harness and cart, $350." But when I called, it had already been sold. What a wonderful parade entry that would have made!

"Reading at home not only builds your child's comprehension, it also allows you to inspire, to caution, to comfort. It's one of the few things we can do as adults to invite children into our world, to raise them to our level instead of coming down to theirs."

- Jim Trelease, the new read-aloud handbook.

Storytime for preschoolers is the ideal way to introduce your young child to the world of books and your library! Beginning Tuesday, Sept. 14, storytime for preschoolers will begin again. "Officially", the time is from 10 a.m to 11 a.m. The hour long program will allow at least 15 minutes for the children to choose books that they would like to check out.

Attending the program is the primary consideration, however, we encourage children to check out books afterwards. In the past when we allowed only 30 minutes for the program, we often felt that the children did not have an opportunity to "leisurely" browse the shelves for that special book or books of their choice.

Joyce Sellberg will be the teacher for the preschool storytime. Mrs. Sellberg is a retired kindergarten teacher and has been actively involved in our children's programs for many years. We are very fortunate indeed that she is, once again, willing to volunteer her time and efforts to the library in this much needed way.

In addition to the storytime for preschoolers, the GED and ESL programs, begin Monday, Sept. 13. A book discussion group will meet from 1-2:30 p.m. The idea for this group originated with Mrs. Dolores Heeg, a former Bandera County Library Board of Trustees member. You are a natural candidate for this group, according to Mrs. Heeg, if "You have had a long 'kid-filled' summer and you yearn for adult conversation - or - you simply love to read, and enjoy recommending books to your friends."

For any and all information regarding the various programs offered by your library, please call us at 796-4213.

Who remembers these local youths?

The tragic deaths of many Bandera County young people could have been prevented

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Motorcycle and automobile crashes, and suicide have claimed the lives of the following 10 Bandera County youth since 1990: Melissa Hendon, 19, of Bandera; Jason Wayne Chestnut, 19, Pipe Creek; Shane Moore, 18, of Lakehills; Thomas Walters, Jr., 18, of Lakehills; Rodney D. Rodriguez, 18; Monty Montgomery, 20, Pipe Creek; Scott "Danny" Motz, 17, Vanderpool; Timothy Clayton "Boots" Hartsfield, 18; Jason David Holden, 17; and David "Dustin" Brown, 17, both of Bandera.

Alcohol is a common denominator in all these deaths, except perhaps Melissa Hendon. No official alcohol level was available for her at press time. The accident occurred in the early morning hours of July 12, 1990.

Blood alcohol levels for the two most recent deaths, that of Jason Holden and Dustin Brown, have been released. Brown's blood alcohol level was 0.25 and Holden's was 0.21. Both levels are more than twice the legal limit of 0.1 percent.

Jeanne Montgomery, the mother of one of the accident victims, said Bandera County must wake up and realize that alcohol is a problem. "How many more crosses are we going to have to put up for our kids?" she asked. "It's against the law for these kids to drink. None of them were 21 yet, the legal limit. How did they get it? Who provided it for them? Those people should be prosecuted."

Justice of the Peace Louise Karr agrees. "If anyone comes through my court who has provided alcohol to these kids, I will prosecute them to the fullest extent of the law. There is a law against providing alcohol to minors. We can DO something about it. If anyone sees someone providing alcohol to a minor, that person needs to sign a citizen's complaint. They will be asked to be a witness, but too many people are afraid to speak out.

"If they are elected officials, they are afraid they will get voted out of office. If they are in business, they are afraid their profits will go down. If they are neighbors, they are afraid of losing a friend. Kids don't want to 'rat' on each other. But speaking out could save a life. We have to stop the killing off of our young people."

Sheriff James MacMillan said an investigation is underway concerning how Brown and Holden obtained the alcohol. "The problem," he explained, "is proving it. A lot of times these kids have a party. They meet together somewhere and bring their own beer. Unless one of them tells us, we have no way to find out where they got it. Sometimes adults purchase it for them. With Jason and Dustin, the only ones who can really tell us for sure where they got it are dead."

D.P.S. trooper Glenn Scales said he is continuing the investigation into how the underaged youth obtained the alcohol which led to their deaths on Sunday, Aug. 22.

Jeanne Montgomery said she has offered to be available "twenty-four hours a day" to give rides to young people who have been drinking and need a ride home. "I'm getting a lot of criticism from people who say I am condoning drinking. I'm not. I don't condone it at all. But some of these kids have no one at home to call, no one to care. I want to be there for them. I want to save them from injury or death and save the parents from grief. Believe me, as a mother, when I say that when you lose a child, the hurting never stops.

"We need to face up to the example we, as Bandera County, are setting for our kids. Drinking is accepted. It's going on everywhere. It's being made to look glamorous and attractive. We need to show kids the other side...the crosses along the road."

Karr agrees. "When adults go around blind, stupid drunk, what kind of examples are they setting for the kids? These kids that were killed in this county the past several years, that's only part of it. That doesn't include the fights, the discharged firearms, the accidents and injuries...I'm so tired of people saying, 'well, my kid's not into drugs. He just drinks.'

"Look where 'just drinking' is taking our kids."

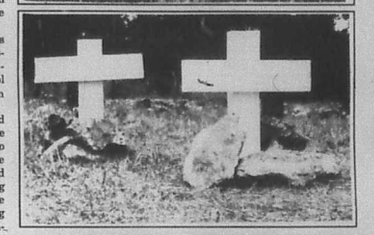

Other violent and tragic deaths which occurred in Bandera County since 1990 include: Vincent Morris, 19, of Tarpley, a suicide victim; Michael Lackey, of Kerrville, a motorcycle crash at 4:30 a.m.; Fred and Sandra Speer, 39, of Medina, a husband and wife involved in a single car accident; "Willie" Densford, Jr., 29, of Pipe Creek, a drug overdose; Valerie Estes, 7, of San Antonio, an early morning car wreck at the junction of Highway 16 and 46.

A Boerne woman, Sandra Jones, 39, visited a string of Lakehills bars on Oct. 9, 1990, then disappeared. Her blood spattered car, locked and with the engine running, was found the following day in Boerne. Her mummified remains were found several months later in Bexar County cave.

A 16-year old Pipe Creek girl was killed in an accidental shooting in October, 1990.

Alcohol was not necessarily involved in all of the above tragedies. But it was involved in the greater part of them. "People like to say, 'oh, it's just beer, it won't hurt us,' " Karr said. "But it does. We need to get the message out- to kids and to their parents."

How many more crosses will it take, concerned parents wonder, before Bandera County residents are concerned about youth and alcohol problems and are willing to take action. A cross for Monty Montgomery marks the site of his accident and death on Highway 16, northwest of Bandera. More recently placed crosses stand along English Crossing/Bottle Springs Road where Dustin Brown and Jason Holden died on Aug. 22.

Old Tarpley School Days...

Friends and classmates from days past gathered Sunday to reminisce

Part two in a series about the school's history.

Compiled by
Carolyn B. Edwards
Chairman, Bandera County Historical Commission

Loyd Douglas continues to recall the heyday of the Tarpley school in the early 1900s.

"For us boys, the everyday garb of shirt and overalls was enough for play; but school called for a little formality...For school we wore knickerbockers (...or short pants) buttoned or buckled above the knee, with enough looseness in length to permit a droop over the knee.

"These pants were store-bought, and were held up by a "waist," an undergarment which Mama made out of such indifferent materials as flour sacks.

"The "blouse" was also made by Mama; it differed from a shirt in ending in a band around the bottom which was buttoned at the waist and allowed to "blouse over"...This produced an effect not at all trim or even practical for playing--but dress clothes were not for playing anyway.

"The first day of school saw us distributed in two rooms; Herman being in the third grade and I in the first, we were in the same room. In the other room Forrest was in the sixth, Mabel in the eighth, and Lela would have been in the eleventh if the Tarpley school had had one; but after one year at Tarpley, Lela went to Tivy High School in Kerrville for her last year.

"Our school room furniture was mostly home made. There were perhaps four or five factory made double seats--the kind in which the seat part was attached to the desk part of the seat behind. They had been in use so long that they showed the wear and tear that goes along with pocket knives in the hands of ambitious initial cutters and artists.

"At the front (there was one long bench) at right angles to the teacher's desk to serve as a "recitation bench."

"The teacher of the lower grades that year was Miss Callie Gibbens, who was always addressed as "Miss Callie"...

"There were six of us beginners the first day--Addison Billings, Oscar Hermes, Lila May Ferguson, Eula Cozart, Cleophas (Boots) Hicks, and I...(and) eight more who may have started late: Murrell and Burrell Bales, Louis Dean, Ruth Hicks, Elva Martin, Evelyn Price, Henry Schmidt, and Edna Silvers.

"The principal my first year was Mr. Joy Tilley.

Miss Callie's successor was Miss Sauer, "an epitome of the devoted teacher we like to idealize...She became famous for her ways of keeping refractory students in line; everybody in later years had an anecdote to tell, usually with enjoyment, about coming off second best in some contest of wills.

"She was a persistent teacher, and insisted on learning of the basics...The tasks she set for us were moderate enough, but she was firm in her expectations of effort.

"Now Miss Sauer was a woman of buxom proportions, in her forties, of modest height but of considerable expanse in all directions, the control of which required substantial corseting--when she walked, she rolled.

"During the five years I attended school (in Tarpley) (1913-1918), it was presided over by Mr. Joy Tilley, Mr. Ed O'Bryant, and Miss Alma Garrison. One of those years...required a third teacher, Miss Stella Coughran.

"The area north of the school house was ordinarily the girls' playground...I didn't notice particularly how the girls used their domain, but at one time--perhaps 1916 or after--somebody brought a basketball to school, and somehow the boys started a daily "keep away" game with the basketball on the girls' side. Nobody knew how to play basketball...Probably after our departure in 1918 somebody managed to learn the game and teach it to others.

To be concluded next week...

Let the Bible Speak

WHY WE DO NOT ALL SEE THE BOOK ALIKE

From the divided state in the religious world, it is evident that people do not see the Bible alike. "Why?" This, my friends is an unsolved mystery to many. There is only one true God, one Lord, one faith, one Spirit, and one body. (Eph. 4:4,5) Jesus prayed for unity (John 17:20-23); and the Apostle Paul pleaded for the same (I Cor. 1:10-13). Why is it that all do not see the Bible alike?

All do not see the Bible alike today because of different rules of Bible study. (a) Some think that any practice in religion is right unless the Bible specifically forbids it. (b) Others practice in religion only what is authorized by the Scriptures. Following the first rule permits anything that men may devise, just as long as the Bible does not say "Thou shalt not." There is no end to where this rule leads--except hell. Following the second rule means walking by faith, which comes by hearing the word of God (Rom. 10:17). It means doing all in the name of the Lord--by his authority (Col. 3:17). It means NOT to go beyond the things which are written. (I Cor. 4:6); but to abide strictly in the doctrine of Christ (II John 9).

It is readily seen that as long as some walk by faith, doing only what is authorized, while others walk by opinion, doing what they like and think as long as the Bible does not say, "Thou shalt not," we shall never see the Bible alike. Employing different principles of Bible study leads to different conclusions. A man's will is understood by what is stated in the will, and not by what is not stated. Likewise, the Lord's will is to be understood by what is taught therein, and one of the most vital principles of the Bible is that of obeying Divine orders--without addition, subtraction, or substitution.

Ephesians 5:17 says, "Wherefore be ye not UNWISE, but UNDERSTANDING what the will of the Lord is." It IS possible for all of us to see the Book alike!! THINK ABOUT IT.

There are many complaints these days about alleged lack of old-fashioned courtesy, respect and manners. Too many times there is a disturbing trend toward incivility on highways, streets, in offices, stores and, yes, even in homes...Perhaps we should ask ourselves..."How can a youngster learn good manners without seeing them practiced?"

Certain facts are unmistakenly clear. Every human being is a person. Politeness between people honors people as people. Good manners cost nothing but buys a lot of happiness and contentment. Good manners is an excellent tie to bind families and nations together.

In manners as in everything else, mankind should take a closer look at the perfect example in the Man from Nazareth. Graciousness and gentlemanliness were constantly evident. He sloughed off the slights and insults. His standard of behavior was quite simple. Mainly, It was just being nice...regardless....

Silver Sage Corral

Marti Hampton Holloway

We have a new instructor...everyone welcome Joan Broomall who is such an interesting and creative newcomer to our group. Joan is forming a class in creative crafts which will meet every Monday at 1:00 p.m. Joan plans to instruct her students with original ideas concerning all phases of handcrafts, with the finished products to be donated to our Boutique. The proceeds from the sale of these items will be donated to the Silver Sage Corral. There will be no fee for the class, and in most cases the materials will be furnished. Joan would appreciate everyone signing up and working hard for the Christmas Bazaar which will be upon us soon. We want our Boutique filled with handcrafted items that are so in demand by our winter visitors. If you prefer to work on your own at home, your donations of handcrafted items to our Boutique would be greatly appreciated. We will set up a table for all of you who wish to socialize and work together. Better yet, bring a friend for lunch, call for your reservation before 9:00 a.m. ($2 donation for lunch) and then relax with the class at 1:00. They do have an enjoyable time. Sign up ASAP.

Welcome back to the Center Cliff Maston, who drops in for morning coffee, and lunch with friends. As many remember, Cliff was one of the first organizers of Helping Hand, and held the office of President for one term. It would be nice to see more of you fellows joining us for coffee and card games.

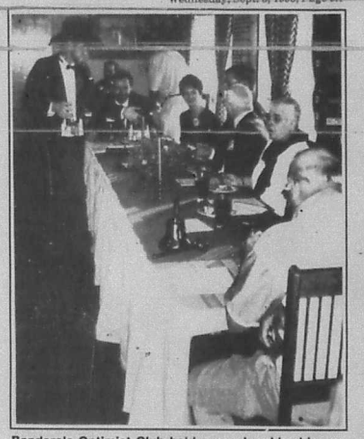

We have a few openings for volunteers in the Boutique. Doing an excellent job of working in the Boutique you will find on various days, Helen Abrescian, Fannie Caffall, Ann Stackhouse, and Agnes Pouppirt. Helen and Fannie also volunteer to work at the front desk, and our seasoned volunteers at the front desk are Bettie Suddath, Jacky Buck, and newcomer LaVern McCloskey. Thank you for volunteering and doing such a fine job.

Hooray for Floyd Portman and Roger Bolduc who have volunteered to be the drivers of the van for the Meals on Wheels. This is one of the most important jobs of the Center. We thank you so very much for answering our call for drivers. We can always use more volunteers for this difficult yet gratifying job.

In Oct., the exact date to be announced later, we will be hosting a group called the Deci-Belles from Houston. They are an independent women's barbershop chorus that we know you will enjoy hearing. This group of vocally talented women sing many familiar songs in unaccompanied four-part harmony, barbershop style. Striving always for the exceptional entertainment with choreography, costuming, props, and excellent singing, the Deci-Belles present an exciting and pleasing program. Their tentative plans include a performance for the Y.O. Ranch in Kerrville, and Lost Valley Ranch in Bandera, so watch for their appearance at Silver Sage.

We have on duty in the kitchen, helping as volunteers to serve the lunches, Bea Bradley, Earlene Cloud, Helen Williams, Marie Krueger, Essie Palmer, and Lillian Ray. Cheers of thanks from the hungry lunch crowd.

We wish a speedy recovery to Roscoe Hayes and Eleanor Merritt. Hope you feel better soon.

The Bandera County Commissioners will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1993 by .0693 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on September 16,1993 at 6:00 PM

FOR the proposal: Bennie Barker, Dan Alanis, Ralph Chancey and N.F. "Bud" Thompson
AGAINST the proposal: None
PRESENT and not voting: None
ABSENT: None

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the Effective tax rate that the unit published on September 1, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$ 50,000	$ 50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 45,000	$ 45,000
Tax rate	.3877 /$100	.4146 /$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 174.46	$ 186.57 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would Increase by $ 12.11 or .0693  percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would Increase by $ .0269 per $100 of taxable value or .0693  percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

1993 Property Tax Rates In Flying L Ranch PUD

1993 Flying L Ranch PUD

This notice concerns _____ property tax rates for _____. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 53,261
Last year's debt taxes	$ 74,919
Last year's total taxes	$ 128,180
Last year's tax base	$ 10,197,322
Last year's total tax rate	$ 1.257 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 128,180
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 9,105,714
= This year's effective tax rate	$ 1.407 /$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A /$100
= Effective tax rate	$ N/A /$100

x 1.05 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing $ 1.449 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 53,261
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 9,105,714
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .5849 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$ .6317 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ .8913 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ 1.523 /$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, must insert the following lines:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A /$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ N/A /$100

They Don't Make 'em Like They Used To...

by Jillian Peterson

My great grandma, whom we call Mema Carter, had an aunt named Skinner who owned a cafe. Well, one day a man came in the cafe and was chewing tobacco. Then he spit some on the floor. Skinner said, "If you spit on my clean floor one more time, I'll throw you out that window over there."

Then the man spit on the floor again and said, "How do you expect to throw me out that window?"

So Skinner got up and threw him right out of the big glass window in the front of the cafe.

SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 2, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Legislature to provide for the issuance of bonds for the state financing of start-up costs for historically underutilized businesses. The amendment provides that the legislature by law may establish a Texas historically underutilized business capital growth and start-up fund. The money in the fund may be used without further appropriation and only for a program established by the legislature to aid in the start-up costs of a historically underutilized business, as defined by the legislature. To carry out the program, the legislature may issue up to $50 million of general obligation bonds to provide funding. The legislature may require review and approval of the issuance of bonds, the use of the bond proceeds, or of the rules adopted by an agency to govern use of the bond proceeds. Bonds authorized by the amendment constitute a general obligation of the state.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the issuance of $50 million of general obligation bonds for the recovery and further development of the state's economy and for increasing job opportunities and other benefits for Texas residents through state financing of the start-up costs of historically underutilized businesses."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 86 proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature, by general law, to exempt from ad valorem taxation all or part of real and personal property used, constructed, acquired, or installed wholly or partly to meet or exceed rules or regulations adopted by any environmental protection agency of the United States, Texas, or a political subdivision of this state for the prevention, monitoring, control, or reduction of air, water, or land pollution. The amendment applies to real and personal property used as a facility, device, or method for the control of air, water, or land pollution that would otherwise be taxable for the first time on or after January 1, 1994. The amendment does not authorize the exemption from ad valorem taxation of real or personal property that was subject to a tax abatement agreement executed before January 1, 1994.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to promote the reduction of pollution and to encourage the preservation of jobs by authorizing the exemption from ad valorem taxation of real and personal property used for the control of air, water, or land pollution."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 3 proposes a constitutional amendment to clear land titles in which the State of Texas relinquishes and releases any claim of sovereign ownership or title to an undivided [illegible] interest in all oil, gas, and other mineral[illegible] in the Shelby, Frazier, and McCormick League (now located in Fort Bend and Austin counties) arising out of the grant by Act of July 24, 1824, and subsequently voided by the governing body of Austin's Original Colony on or about December 15, 1830. This to such interest in the lands now owned by an innocent purchaser for value as evidenced by a deed of record in the chain of title from the original owners of the preceding interest in the land.

The proposed amendment was appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the clearing of land titles by the relinquishment to the owners of the preceding interest, arising out of the voiding of an interest under a Mexican grant, in certain lands now owned by innocent purchasers for value in Fort Bend and Austin counties."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would prohibit a state personal income tax without voter approval and would dedicate the proceeds of any income tax, if enacted, to property tax relief and education. The amendment provides that a general law enacted by the legislature that imposes a tax on the net incomes of natural persons, including a person's share of partnership and unincorporated association income, must provide that the portion of the law imposing the tax not take effect until approved by a majority of the registered voters voting in a statewide referendum held on the question of imposing the tax. The referendum must specify the rate of the tax that will apply to taxable income.

The amendment also provides that a general law enacted by the legislature that increases the rate of the tax, or changes the tax in a manner that results in an increase in the combined income tax liability of all persons subject to the tax, may not take effect until approved by a majority of the registered voters voting in a statewide referendum held on the question of increasing the income tax. The referendum must specify the manner in which the proposed law would increase the combined tax liability of all persons subject to the tax. The legislature may repeal, or amend without increasing, a tax approved by the voters without submitting the amendment or the repeal to the voters. If the legislature repeals a tax approved by the voters, the legislature may only reenact the tax without voter approval if the effective date of the reenactment of the tax is within one year of the effective date of the repeal of the tax.

The amendment also provides that, in the first year in which an income tax is imposed, and during the first year of any increase in the tax, not less than two-thirds of all net revenues from the tax shall be used to reduce the rate of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes levied for the support of primary and secondary education. In subsequent years, not less than two-thirds of all net revenues of the tax shall be used to continue such ad valorem tax relief. The net revenues of the tax remaining after the dedication of money for reduction of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes shall be used for support of education. The maximum rate at which a school district may impose ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes is reduced by an amount equal to one cent per $100 valuation for each one cent per $100 valuation that the school district's ad valorem maintenance and operation tax is reduced by the minimum amount of money dedicated under the amendment, provided that a school district may subsequently increase the maximum ad valorem maintenance and operation tax rate if the increased maximum rate is approved by a majority of the voters of the school district voting at an election called and held for that purpose. The portions of the amendment relating to dedicating tax revenues to reduce the rate of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes apply on or after the first January 1 after the date on which an income tax takes effect, except that if the income tax begins to apply on a January 1, the amendment applies to ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes levied on or after that date.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment prohibiting a personal income tax without voter approval and, if an income tax is enacted, dedicating the revenue to education and limiting the rate of local school taxes."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 19 proposes an amendment to article VIII, section 13 of the Texas Constitution that would modify the provisions for the redemption of real property sold at a tax sale. The amendment deletes current language in article VIII, section 13 that allows the legislature to provide for the sale of property without trial to pay for delinquent taxes. It also states that the deed to the new owner vests a good and perfect title subject only to redemption as set out in this amendment or impeachment for fraud. Language is added limiting application of the current two-year redemption period to former owners of residence homesteads and land designated for agricultural use sold for unpaid taxes. When property is sold as the result of a suit to enforce collection of unpaid taxes, the amendment would allow the legislature to limit redemption to property used as a residence homestead or designated for agricultural use at the time the suit was filed. The amendment creates a second type of redemption for former owners of real property when property is neither a residence homestead, nor designated for agricultural use. These owners would have a six-month period in which to redeem their property by paying the amount of money paid for the property, [illegible] all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs paid plus an amount not exceeding 25 percent of the aggregate total. The amendment applies to redemption of properties sold at a tax sale for which the purchaser's deed is filed on or after January 1, 1994. For redemption of properties sold at a tax sale for which the purchaser's deed was filed before January 1, [illegible] finance law is applicable and remains in effect.

"The constitutional amendment to modify the provisions for the redemption of real property sold at a tax sale."

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 31 proposes a constitutional amendment relating to the [illegible] of members of local retirement systems [illegible] lated disability and death benefits for [illegible] be among on a statewide retirement system. The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing that the trustees of a local public pension system must administer the system for the benefit of the system's participants and beneficiaries."

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 23 proposes a constitutional amendment providing that any person accused of a violent or sexual offense committed while under the supervision of a criminal justice agency of this state or a political subdivision of this state for a prior felony may, after a hearing and evidence substantially showing the guilt of the accused, be denied bail pending trial. If the accused is not, however, accorded a trial within 60 days from the time of his incarceration upon the accusation or indictment, the order denying bail shall be set aside unless a continuance is obtained upon the request of the accused. In the amendment, the term "violent offense" means murder, aggravated assault (if a deadly weapon was used or exhibited during the commission of the assault), aggravated kidnapping, or aggravated robbery. The term "sexual offense" means aggravated sexual assault, sexual assault, or indecency with a child.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the denial of bail to certain persons charged with certain violent or sexual offenses committed while under the supervision of a criminal justice agency of the state or a political subdivision of the state."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes a constitutional amendment that amends article VII, section 17(a), of the Texas Constitution to provide that, of the $100 million currently appropriated by that section for the use of public institutions of higher education during each fiscal year, those institutions may also utilize this money to pay for acquiring, constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities. For the five-year period beginning on September 1, 2009, and for each five-year period thereafter, the legislature, during a regular session that is nearest, but preceding, a five-year period may, by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house, increase the amount of the $100 million constitutional appropriation for the five-year period. The amendment also reflects name changes that have been made to some of the institutions of higher education for which such funding is available. The amendment adds the Texas State Technical College System to those institutions eligible to receive such funding, but limits its allocation of the annual appropriation to 2.2 percent of the total appropriation each fiscal year. The amendment also provides that each governing board authorized to participate in the distribution of money under article III, section 17, may also issue bonds and notes for the purposes of refunding bonds or notes issued under that section or [illegible] capital equipment, library books and library materials, paying for acquiring, constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities. The amendment deletes language in article VII, section 17, which authorizes the [illegible] agency the authority to collect and pledge money to the payment of such bonds and notes as directed by the governing body [illegible] priated under article III, section 17, may [illegible] be used for the payment of constructing, equipping, repairing, or rehabilitating buildings or other permanent improvements that are to be used only for student housing, intercollegiate athletics, or auxiliary enterprises.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment relating to the amount and expenditure of certain constitutionally dedicated funding for public institutions of higher education."

PROPOSITION NO. 14 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 45 proposes a constitutional amendment that adds a new subsection (e) to article III, section 49-h, of the Texas Constitution. The new subsection provides that, in addition to the amounts authorized by subsections (a) ($500 million), (c) ($400 million), and (d) ($1.1 billion) of section 49-h, the legislature may authorize the issuance of up to $1 billion in general obligation bonds and may use the proceeds of the bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new corrections institutions, including youth corrections institutions, and mental health and mental retardation institutions and for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those corrections and mental health and mental retardation facilities. The amendment also provides that the provisions of subsection (a) of section 49-h, relating to the review and approval of bonds, and the provisions of subsection (b) of section 49-h, relating to the status of the bonds as a general obligation of the state and to the manner in which the principal and interest on the bonds are paid, apply to bonds authorized by this amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1 billion in general obligation bonds payable from the general revenues of the state for projects relating to facilities of corrections and mental health and mental retardation institutions."

PROPOSITION NO. 15 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 37 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the county commissioners court of a county to call an election to abolish the office of county surveyor. The office of county surveyor is abolished if a majority of voters of the county voting in the election approve the measure. If the office of county surveyor is abolished, the maps, field notes, and other records of the county surveyor are transferred to the county officer or employee designated by the commissioners court.

Senate Joint Resolution 44 proposes an amendment to article III, section 49-j(h) of the Texas Constitution, which currently limits the principal amount of bonds outstanding at one time for the Texas agricultural fund to $25 million and for the rural microenterprise development fund to $5 million. The amendment would raise the principal amount limit for the Texas agricultural fund to $100 million. The amendment would also make the principal amount limit for each fund apply to the total principal amounts of both bonds and notes issued or sold rather than just the principal amounts of bonds outstanding at one time.

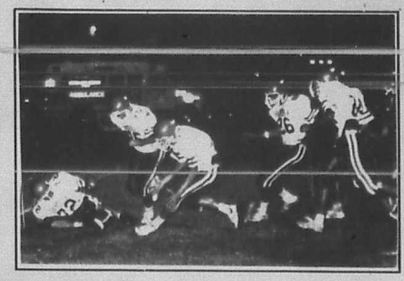

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $100 million in bonds and notes to be issued or sold to finance the Texas agricultural fund for providing financial assistance to develop, increase, improve, or expand the production, processing, marketing, or export of crops or products grown or produced primarily in this state by agricultural businesses [illegible] in the state."

TOUCHDOWN BULLDOGS!

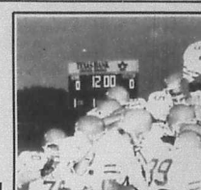

Top Left-Nothing reverberates through a stadium like the "thump-thump" of a blocked punt. In this case the first "thump" was the ball coming off the foot of the Dripping Springs' punter. The second "thump" was the ball being batted down by Bulldog lineman Greg Knutson. Top Right-As the blocked punt bounced toward the goal line the fast charging Bulldogs swarm all over it. Bottom-It's unanimous. The Ref says Brian Flack covered the ball in the end zone for a Bandera touchdown. Kyle Woodland and his Bulldog teammates agree with the decision.

Jimmy Stroud gets congratulated by Robert Bradford after Stroud scored on a quarterback keeper.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company (SWBT) is asking the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) for approval to offer Caller ID service in Texas. This service includes Calling Number Delivery, Calling Name Delivery and Anonymous Call Rejection (ACR). This service will be deployed statewide on a staggered, city-by-city basis, over a period of years in Texas in association with residence, business single and multiline services, but not PBX, Centrex or Plexar services, where facilities are available. Caller ID is an optional service which allows a subscriber to see date, time, and the phone number (Calling Number Delivery) and/or name associated with the number (Calling Name Delivery) of most direct dialed local calls and some select long distance calls before the telephone is answered. Anonymous Call Rejection is a Caller ID service which permits a subscriber to automatically reject calls from callers who have blocked their number/name. Per-call and per-line blocking will be available when the service is deployed. Detailed information on Caller ID service and how to block will be sent to each customer in their telephone bill during the next few weeks.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in this proceeding should notify the PUC before October 6, 1993. Other parties may seek to also obtain Caller ID service in association with PBX, Centrex and Plexar service. A request to intervene, participate or receive further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the PUC Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256 or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf. Property Tax Rates in

1993 Springhills Water Dist

This notice concerns property tax rates for presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 102,100
Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 102,100
Last year's tax base	$ 522,589,743
Last year's total tax rate	$ .0195	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 97,940
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 485,095,183
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .0201	/$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year.

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$ .0207	/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 97,940
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 485,095,183
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .0201	/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$ .0218	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0-	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ .0218	/$100

If a taxing unit adopts an additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

Helen Anderwald spent 36 years sharing music with others

Helen Anderwald, 78, played the church organ for 36 years under the direction of nine different pastors at St. Stanislaus Catholic Church. Even though she has "retired" now, she is always ready to play for special occasions.

"Music is something that stays with you all your life," she says. She has proved that. She encourages her granddaughter, Jessica, to practice playing the piano.

She married Albert Anderwald, one of Bandera's champion bull riders, in 1951. His Polish ancestors settled in Bandera around 1855 and were of the Catholic faith. Albert is now the parish bell ringer. The couple has a son, Todd. He works in the family's construction business.

Prior to her marriage, Helen was a Baptist. When she converted to Catholicism, she had to learn Latin for the hymns sung before Vatican II.

When her son started going to the parish school, Helen began to help the nuns. With a lot of perseverance and a strong attraction to the organ, she began playing the organ. It became a life-time calling. She began by playing for the children's choir. Eventually, she played at the weddings of the children who were once in the children's choir.

Helen says that each of the nine pastors for whom she has played the past 36 years has had a different approach to music. They all brought different talents to the parish. Some were very specific when it came to selecting music, especially for weddings.

"I got on with all the pastors. Each one was different and each had a different taste in music."

The present pastor, Msgr. Michael McManus, she says, "likes to hear everyone sing together." Even though Helen is "retired", he knows he can call on her in an emergency. Still, she likes her retirement.

"I spent all those years playing the organ with my back to the people in the pews," she says. "Now that I sit in a pew myself, I get to see the people!"

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

True Faith Needs No Signs

" 'Why does this generation seek a sign'?"
— Mark 8:12

Ours is a most practical age. We accept nothing as true unless we can experience it through one of our senses. Such values as truth, honesty and decency run poor competition against more materialistic articles that can be treasured for their monetary worth. The Pharisees whom Jesus queried about seeking signs would have felt right at home in today's society. Now, as then, they would believe nothing without seeing some concrete evidence of what Jesus was preaching. Yet true faith comes not through touch or sight. Faith is the belief that overcomes all doubts, an inner certainty that transcends visual or other sensory proofs. Such faith has no need of signs.

Local producers release show pig directory

In an effort to promote and market locally produced show pig prospects, the Bandera County Swine Breeders have issued their first show pig directory this week. County producers have nearly 250 head of prospective show pigs available.

The nine-page publication lists pig prospects from six Bandera county breeders. It analyzes the genetic heritage of each mating. Vital data such as farrowing dates and litter sizes are also included for each of the 26 pig litters featured.

"It was a very tough year for Bandera County pig producers," Richard Turner of Pipe Creek said. "Because of the heat this summer, we really don't have the numbers we expected. But we're very excited about the quality."

Turner produced last year's Bandera County Grand Champion market hog.

Bandera Agricultural Science teacher Tom Maynard has worked with the local producers in securing quality genetics and in gathering information for the directory.

Directories may be obtained from the County Extension office or from high school agricultural science teachers at Bandera or Medina.

Breeders listed in the publication include: Doug Townsend, Misty Wells and Charles Kneuper of Medina; Triple-J Livestock and Mangold Pig Farm of Bandera; and Turner Hog Farm of Pipe Creek.

ADD parent support group to meet Tuesday, Sept. 14

The Kerrville ADD Parent Support Group will meet Tuesday, Sept. 14 at 7 p.m. at Starke Elementary School in Kerrville.

Starke is located at Harper Road and West Main.

Any parent of a child with ADD or ADHD (Attention Deficit Disorder or Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder) is welcome to attend.

The disorder is caused by a chemical imbalance in the brain making it impossible for a child affected to focus his attention for any length of time.

Treatment generally consists of a muli-faceted approach including medication, behavior modification, and modification of the environment.

A group of concerned parents in Bandera have provided the Bandera County Library with several books, a video and a large collection of articles concerning the disorder.

For more information, contact Carolyn Edwards at 796-3718 or 535-4269.

Kindergarten students learned cooperation as they studied the basic food groups. Teachers Annette Nowell (pictured) and Ronda Dickinson took advantage of parent volunteers as students washed, cut and prepared food together.

Bandera fifth graders learn all about Africa

Bandera County Extension Agent Jan Bryson and daughter Kendra presented Alkek Elementary 5th grade students with a special lesson on Africa on Friday, Sept. 3.

The 5th graders are studying oral literature, including myths, legends, folk tales and fairy tales. They spent a week reading an African folk tale from Tanzania, The Orphan Boy by Tololwa Mollel. It was a story about trust.

They used reference skills to learn more about the continent of Africa and the country of Tanzania. They also viewed a tape of schools in Africa. Fifth grade teachers said that the tapes of schools in Africa made them realize how fortunate they are here in the United States.

Bryson and Kendra shared a collection of carvings and costumes from Africa with students. Kendra told her classmates about African cultures and heritage.

To end the unit of study, students wrote a theme on trust while sipping their favorite tea.

Alkek Elementary collects soup labels

Alkek Elementary School has started their Campbell soup label drive again. These labels enable the school to receive free educational equipment.

Dyan Terral would like to see this year's total reach 10,000.

Frost labels are needed from the cans. They may be dropped off at Boyles or Super S. Both stores have a list of other products that are acceptable for points.

The class collecting the most labels will receive a free blizzard party from Dairy Queen.

Special events loom at Bandera Downs

The fall race meet at Bandera Downs is filled with special events. On Friday, Sept. 10, trials for the Next Generation Futurity will be conducted. The finals of this ten thousand dollar-added race will feature Accredited Texas-bred two-year-old thoroughbreds going six furlongs.

The Fall Arts & Crafts Market at Bandera Downs is scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 11.

Two sets of trials are on the program for Saturday: The A.Q.H.A. Wrangler Juvenile Challenge trials for two-year-old quarter horses over 350 yards, and the A.Q.H.A. Sooner Trailer Derby Challenge trials for three-year-old quarter horses going 400 yards.

Saturday will also feature the running of the George Stodder Memorial Mile, named in honor of a Bandera Downs jockey who died several years ago.

An Ellis Park shipper (a horse hauled in from Kentucky's Ellis Park racetrack) will challenge local hero, Tellem Tony (the horse who outran Bandera Dons favorite Raise A Govenor two weeks ago), to a duel in Sunday's Bandit Stake for thoroughbreds at six furlongs. Stairs, the Kentucky horse, has run out over $100,000 during his career; this race is written for horses with high lifetime earnings preferred.

Sunday also marks the mandatory pay-out of the Tri Super Jackpot.

CCRA Rodeo featured tribute to Bandera's 'best trail boss'

By Bungy Hartshorn
Bulletin Correspondent

The "Cowboy Capital's"big week-end of the year arrived, the Labor Day PRCA Rodeo, and horse trailers by the hundreds were hauled through town and out to the rodeo arena at Mansfield Park. Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, Sept. 3-5, was the best rodeo yet, put on by the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association in conjunction with "Bad Company Rodeo Producers".

The weather, for once, over the past seven or eight years, did not pour down on Friday, nor mist and drizzle on Saturday or Sunday. Instead, each night, as the fans started pouring in, the sun would set with golds, roses, oranges and reds, and for the next two hours it would vie with a cowboy standing on two huge brahma bulls, riding around the arena. Then, putting on an entire act wherein both the bulls dragged themselves across a hot, dry desert, finally to "die" in each others horns! Then the animals got up to jump through a ring of fire.

The sunset also vied with funny rodeo clowns and with another cowboy galloping around the arena standing on two horses; and it vied with a million little kids in a calf scramble.

But on Friday, the sunset in all its soft colors, enhanced the memorial tribute paid by all to Bandera's Frank Anderwald, who spent his years here working for all rodeos and perpetuating the cowboy image of his hometown. Frank's widow, Mary Anderwald, who was always such a grand support to him in his endeavors, and the family, accepted a plaque of thanks from the CCRA. It was a great tribute to a great man.

The grand entry each night set the stage for a truly all-American sport. The glittering gals rode in, flags flying. The contestants all wove in and out while names were announced. The crowd rose for the "Star Spangled Banner" and "America the Beautiful". At first, only the recording was heard, then, slowly, all the men and boys with hats over hearts, the crowd started singing softly and finally full voiced-"Oh, say does that Star Spangled banner yet wave, Ore the land of the free, and the home of the brave"... And on with the rodeo, bull ridin', bronc bustin', ropin', barrels, hollerin' and hootin'. A real root tootin' time was had by all.

Golfers score in scramble

Birdies flew in all directions at Bandera's Flying L Golf Course Sept. 2 when the team of Steve Hodges, Todd Ford, Jim Martin and Flossie Allen racked up the score of 12-under-par 60 to take first place in the bi-weekly scramble sponsored by the Flying L Golf Association at the Flying L Guest Ranch course here.

In second place with 10-under-par were Curtis Brown, Bobbie Salyers, B.B. Williams, Dick Brestel and Mike Horan.

Third place with seven-under par 65 was taken by the team of Lee Finch, Bill McCullough, Moe Harbour and Darrell McKee.

The Flying L Association will present its next tournament at 1 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 19 at the Flying L Ranch course.

Flossie Allen, president, has announced that the club championship tournament has been set for Saturday, oct. 16. Members will be inserted into flights according to handicaps.

Your Basic Bandera

Peggy Tobin

So finally, just as August gave way to September, it rained on the just and the unjust—in Kendall County, that is. Here's praying that by the time you read this, it will have rained on the saints, strangers, and derelicts of Bandera County.

Meanwhile, it was nice to sit on the porch and watch somebody else's lightning and hear their thunder even though we were envying them their two inches of rain.

Just a few days earlier, we heard Iowa's thunder from our safe vantage point across the Missouri in Omaha, as Mother Nature dumped ten more inches of rain on Des Moines just as that courageous city was beginning to dry out from its nightmare summer. Then flying home, we got glimpses of all the standing water still plaguing the midwest as it tries to recover from the effects of record snowmelt, rain, and the misguided planning of the Corps. of Engineers in building levee systems. Recently from old friend Helen Witte of Memphis, we received some interesting data on Old Man River which she has gathered at the Center for River Studies. Since we are always concerned with flood as well as drought here in Balcones Canyonlands, it seems worthwhile to quote some of what Helen says:

"Two-thirds of the water flowing past our Memphis bluffs comes from the Ohio River. The Mississippi is, in fact, the drainage river for the whole continent, east of the divide, as are the Amazon and Nile. The way Mother Nature intended worked best, with flood water spreading over the lowlying areas, making them wonderful for agriculture. Memphis is here because it is built on what hereabouts is called the Third Bluff.

"In 1927, there was a flood which precipitated building of levees downriver. This worked, as the river is so wide here, but the levees upriver did not step back as they should have, creating in effect a much narrower channel, with faster flow and therefore more silt deposited on the stream bottom rather than spreading out to enrich soils.

"The Corps. of Engineers is set up as it is because West Point (1802) for years was the only place where engineering was taught. It provided the professors for later engineering schools, and the army became the branch dealing with this area. The Corps. built the fabulous Panama Canal, but many dumb projects since have been carried out by bureaucracies keeping themselves in business, such as the channeling in the 1950's of the San Antonio River below downtown, which only created faster flooding of southern communities like Berg's Mill."

Helen goes on to decry the continued insistence of developers to build on flood plains and floodways, an activity which is going on right now on the Medina River here. At some point we will all have to learn not to interfere so arrogantly with Mother Nature's plan. But for the forseeable future, it seems that insurance companies and the taxpayers will be paying dearly and going broke restoring the American Dream for people foolish enough to put up buildings in the paths of flooding rivers, recurrent earthquakes, and hurricanes.

The old planters of Natchez were smart. They lived on their bluff and let the river fertilize their fields across the river with flood silt.

1993 Property Tax Rates in Bandera Ind. School Dist

This notice concerns 1993 property tax rates for Municipal school district. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$	1,089,481
Last year's debt taxes	$	430,466
Last year's total taxes	$	1,519,947
Last year's tax base	$	364,071,572
Last year's total tax rate	$	0.4099 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$	1,477,894
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$	348,702,962
= This year's effective tax rate	$	0.42382 /$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless the school district publishes notices and holds hearing	$	0.43653 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

School maintenance and operations component	$	4,787,769
+ This year's tax base	$	354,639,312
= This year's local maintenance and operating rate	$	1.35003 /$100
+ $.06 cents = this year's maximum operating rate	$	1.41003 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$	0.14935 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$	1.55938 /$100

EXPLANATION OF CONVERSION FROM COUNTY EDUCATION DISTRICT TAXES

The state has abolished County Education Districts (CED's). In order to compare school tax rates from last year to this year, it is necessary to compare the combined school tax rate below to the school district's effective tax rate for this year.

The "effective tax rate" is the rate at which a school district must tax to raise the funds necessary to maintain the same services per pupil in 1993-94 as it did in 1992-93. It does not include the tax rate required to pay for the District's bonded indebtedness. The formula for determining the effective tax rate is sent to districts by the State Comptroller's Office. All figures, including the amount of state aid a school district can expect and the amount of local taxes necessary for 1993-94 are supplied by the Texas Education Agency or determined through the formula. The projected Bandera ISD average daily attendance for 1993-94 is the only figure established by the District.

Last year the Bandera Independent School District's tax rate was	$0.4099.
Last year the Bandera County Education District's tax rate was	$0.9500.
The combined School District and County District rate was	$1.3599.
The effective tax rate for the Bandera ISD for this year is	$1.3500
The tax rate to repay Bandera ISD's indebtedness for this year is	$0.1493
The rollback tax rate for the Bandera ISD for this year is	$1.5593

(The "rollback rate" is the tax rate at which an election must be held to determine if patrons wish to reduce the District's 1993-94 tax rate to the 1992-93 rate. It is figured by adding $0.06 to the effective tax rate plus the bonded indebtedness rate.)

Bulldogs cage Dydalewicz, defeat Dripping Springs Tigers 33-7

The first thing head coach Mike Williamson hoped to accomplish in the first game of his first season in Bandera was to score first. It worked.

"I felt like it was important for our confidence to get a quick lead on the scoreboard. So we called that play," Williamson said. The play he refers to is the wingback pass and he called it on the second play of the game. When Bulldog wingback Brian Flack got the ball he found his receiver J.R. Forsythe all alone down field. The completion was good for 63 yards and moved the Dogs to the Tiger 10 yard line. Two plays later Robert Bradford popped into the end zone. With 1:30 gone off the game clock Bandera claimed a lead they would not relinquish all night.

Bryan Warren handled the punting chores for the Freshman Bulldogs in their opener against Dripping Springs on Thursday, Sept. 2. The Dogs could not stay with the potent Tiger team and lost 41-0. Thursday, Sept. 9 they take on the Somerset Freshmen in Somerset. Kickoff is 5:30 p.m. Staff photo by Dan Sandidge

The Bulldogs' second TD came with 2:03 left in the first quarter. Bandera's defense stopped Dripping Springs deep in their own territory and the Tigers were forced to punt. Lineman Greg Knutson blew through the line and blocked the punt into the end zone. Brian Flack quickly fell on the ball and the Dogs were up 12 - 0.

The Tigers made their move early in the second quarter. On the first play of the quarter they connected on a 47 yard pass for a touchdown. They nailed the extra point and were back in the game trailing only 12 - 7.

On their next possession Dripping Springs completed a quick pass to running back Greg Dydalewicz and he displayed some of his explosive running through the Bulldog defense. Fifty four yards down field Marlon Santos showed some explosive running of his own and brought down Dydalewicz from behind on the three yard line. "That was a tremendous play on Marlon's part," Williamson noted. "It showed great determination and an unwillingness to give up no matter how hopeless it looks. It kept Greg D. from scoring on that play and gave our defense another chance to stop them. Sure enough, on the next play we jarred loose a fumble and recovered," added Williamson.

For most of the second and third quarters it was a punting contest. On their last possession of the third quarter the Bulldog offense began to click as they went on a 10 play 56 yard scoring drive. The drive ended with quarterback Jimmy Stroud scoring six on a keeper. The point after kick was down the middle and Bandera went up 19 - 7.

"Our offense was having trouble consistently moving the ball the whole first half," Williamson said. "During halftime we talked about what was and wasn't working and the players told us what they were seeing out there. We made a few blocking adjustments and our offense pretty much dominated the second half," he added.

To cap the win off the Dogs scored two more times. Linebacker John Minturn intercepted a Tiger pass and returned it 25 yards for a touchdown. Bandera Quarterback Jimmy Stroud found Jason Hearn wide open along the sideline and completed a 20 yard TD strike.

When the dust settled in Dripping Springs the Bulldogs had claimed a 33 - 7 victory.

"As for a game highlight I felt like our team play was the key to our win," Williamson said. Bandera did, in fact, score points in almost every way possible. The offense scored TD's on the ground and in the air while the defense scored on an interception and a blocked punt.

"Our defense really did shine. They shut down a strong offensive team and created seven turnovers," Williamson noted. The Dogs forced three fumbles, snagged three interceptions and blocked a punt. "We had exceptional individual efforts turned in by Greg Knutson, Bill Wyman, Bart Byerley and Ryan Gernentz up front, Kyle Woodland, Mike Kincaid, Lorenzo Molina and John Minturn at linebacker and our secondary of Brian Flack, Aarron Lacey and Brad Pfeiffer," added Williamson. The Bulldog defense also held Dripping Springs to only seven first downs in the contest.

Offensive statistics for Banders have Marlon Santos rushing 15 times for 54 yards, Robert Bradford ran 14 times gaining 51 yards and quarterback Kyle Woodland ran on five occasions for 33 yards. The passing game had Jason Hearn catching two passes for 29 yards and J.R. Forsythe one for 63. Jimmy Stroud threw six times, completed two for 29 yards while Brian Flack was one for one and it went for 63 yards. "In addition, we got some outstanding play from Bill Wyman and Dale Martin on the offensive line," Williamson said.

Bandera also held the edge in the punting game. "Our punter, Brad Pfeiffer, and our return man, Aarron Lacey, really gave us an edge in field position," noted Williamson.

The Bulldogs host their home opener Friday, Sept. 10 against Comfort. Comfort is coming off a narrow defeat against Center Point last week. "From the reports I hear Comfort always manages to get up for the Bandera game. I expect them to play us tough and it will be a good game for our first home game," said Williamson.

Randy Rose leads Medina Bobcats to 8-6 season-opening victory

Bobcat runningback Randy Rose was the season-opening man of the night Friday, Sept. 3 as Medina snuck past 2A Natalia 8-6.

Rose carried 18 times for a total of 100 yards and scored all of the Bobcat points for the night.

Natalia took a second quarter lead on a touchdown pass play from quarterback Augie Estrada to runningback Matthew Farias with 1:03 left in the half.

Medina's winning drive began with 7:16 left in the third period when the 'Cats forced Natalia to punt and then marched 50 yards in 11 plays to the Bulldog 10 yard line. Rose then got the call and rambled the final steps for the score. He capped the evening with a two-point conversion run to put the Bobcats ahead for good.

Fumbles slowed both teams with Medina losing two of two and Natalia losing one of three. Medina rushed 37 times for 107 yards while the 'Dogs gained 90 yards in 39 tries.

Medina is off this week and visits Asherton on Sept. 17.

Joshua Peche, 15, died in a one-vehicle roll-over in this truck.

Medina youth, 15, dies in stolen truck smash-up

By Larry T. Williams
Bulletin Staff Writer

Another youth is dead in Bandera County, the victim of a violent automobile crash.

Medina eighth grader Joshua Peche, 15, died Thursday evening, Sept. 9, when he lost control of the stolen one-ton truck he was driving and crashed near Ranger Crossing on State Highway 16 west of Bandera about 8:15 p.m. He is the 15th Bandera County resident under the age of 20 to die violently since Feb. 1990.

According to Department of Public Safety trooper Dan Butts, the vehicle Peche was driving swerved off the road to the right as he traveled toward Bandera at about 60 miles per hour, hit a dirt embankment and overturned. Peche was apparently partially thrown out of a window and the truck rolled on top of him. He died of massive head injuries.

Joshua Peche

Sonny Walling of Medina, who owns the 1978 yellow Chevrolet truck used for hauling cedar, said the vehicle was stolen from his home behind his Old Timer store around 8 p.m. "He (Peche) came in and sat down with my kids about 4 p.m.," said Walling. "They talked for a while and he left...Then he came back around about 6 p.m., I guess. I found out later he was asking my boy about our vehicles. The Chevy was down. It had a bad battery. He evidently removed a battery from a (1984) Nissan pick-up we have for sale and put it in the cedar truck. I came over (to the store) right at eight to close the store and walked right by that truck. He must have been hiding in it then, 'cause some of the kids told me they saw him leave about then."

Walling said that the keys to all his vehicles are kept in a basket on a counter so family members can find them when needed. "The boy could have taken the keys to the truck and no one would have noticed," said Walling.

No one seems to know what caused Peche to decide to steal the truck and run away. Medina Children's Home director George Rose described the youth as not much different from any of the other children who live at the facility north of Medina. "He was difficult at times but we never expected anything like this," said Rose. "We don't really know what happened."

According to Medina School principal Dale Naumann, Peche came to school Thursday but left during the noon hour. "During that time he or someone shaved his head," said Naumann. "We think he may have been trying to get to San Antonio. He has a grandmother there." Naumann characterized Peche as an average kid who gave no more trouble than most 15-year-olds. "He was respectful to me and his teachers and seemed to get along with other students."

Joshua Peche was born Aug. 14, 1978 in Fort Worth and moved to the Bandera area three years ago. He is survived by his parents, Robert and Corinna Peche of Lakehills; a grandmother, Gisela R. Flood of San Antonio; four brothers, Freddy, Ray and Ronnie Peche, all of Lakehills, and Bobby Forsythe of El Paso, and one sister, Vicki Lewis of San Antonio.

City council adopts 22 cent tax rate

Third deadline extension on park project

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Bandera city council members voted unanimously for a tax rate of 22 cents per $100 valuation for the 1993 tax year, up from 20 cents last year.

The increased tax will fund a proposed 1993/94 budget of $314,275 for Bandera City and $26,000 for Municipal Court for a total projected budget of $340,275.

The 1992/93 budget was $333,530 for the city and $30,000 for Municipal Court for a total of $363,530.

Out of the $340,275 total for 1993/94, the Fire Department is budgeted for $8,975; the Municipal Court is budgeted at $32,550; and the Police Department is down for $94,835. The remaining $203,915 goes to the city for other departments.

Council member Irvin Stevens said he would vote for the 22 cents per $100 valuation although he felt it was the beginning of Bandera City residents paying for the proposed City Park.

Dorothy Darden replied that the budget had actually decreased and that $3 million had been lost to a drop in property value. "You can't blame that on the park."

Stevens replied that the city had lost revenue from the race track to the park. That money, he said, could have helped offset the drop in property values and the resulting loss of tax revenue.

Meanwhile, Mayor Raymond Adamietz said that he has asked for another deadline extension on proposed construction the City Park. He cited design changes and slow

Some city employees snag hefty pay hikes

City secretary Judy Dunn will receive a 15 percent pay raise in October while other city employees get a 3 percent raise. City Council members Irvin Stevens and Mike Holan voted against the increase.

Heated discussion erupted in the Monday, Sept. 13 council meeting regarding the 15 percent increase. Holan said that he felt the increase was "way out there. It doesn't fly with me. It's a lot more than anyone around here makes."

Following his comment, council member Bill Bryce cut in on Holan and made a motion to give Dunn the raise. Ross Bailey seconded the motion.

A Bandera City resident, Linda Stein, pointed out that with the raise, Dunn would be making "almost as much as the Chief of Police does after 12 years."

Dunn has been City Secretary for five years.

Stein estimated Dunn's total salary increase during the past five years as 30 percent. She said her wages had "tripled in the last five years. She got a 10 percent increase two years ago...she's within $15 or $20 dollars of Walter and has been here less than half the time.

"Her salary was under $700 a month five years ago. She takes home $677.00 every two

'Major changes' ahead for Bandera Downs

'Restructuring' means loss of general manager

Major changes are coming to Bandera Downs, including the departure of general manager Billy Bowers, according to a statement issued this week by chairman of the board William Allen and president/chief executive officer Stan Scruby.

The changes come one month after Bandera Downs was denied racing days in 1994 by the Texas Racing Commission because of "lack of cooperation" with the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Calling the moves "restructuring," Allan said Sunday the position of general manager will be

Bulletin price goes to 50 cents

The price of the Bandera Bulletin increases to 50 cents with this issue. The move brings the Bulletin up to the rack price of the majority of other newspapers across the country.

"We've postponed increasing the single copy price as long as we can," said Bulletin publisher Dan Sandidge. "Very few papers are still less than 50 cents with the cost of printing and distribution what they are today.

"And despite the inconvenience of the extra fifteen cents," Sandidge added, "The Bulletin is packed with news and advertising values about Bandera County and is a bargain at 50 cents."

'Barn Raiser' at Cabaret to benefit livestock group

The Cabaret will host a "Barn Raiser" on Sunday, Sept. 19, beginning at 2 p.m., to raise money for the Junior Livestock Show Association's planned expansion and improvement program for the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park.

During the event, the 1992 winners of the Junior Livestock Show and Bake Show will be recognized. Their pictures will be mounted and hung on a wall. Last year's bake sale winners will also be selling their winning entries in a "Wheel of Fortune" type cake walk, from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

A 3 p.m. fashion show will allow FFA members and 4-H Club members to show off their textile and fabric projects.

Mechanical and shop displays will also be a part of the barn raising. The Medina FFA will hold project demonstrations. Bandera FFA members will present a video tape which contains the past two years of their mechanical and shop projects. The project display will be held from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

The Circle C band with Justin Trevino and Dusty Britches, will play from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m.

Fitzpatrick will present rope tricks from 6 to 7 p.m.

The Texas Honkeytonk Band will play from 7 p.m. to 11 p.m. Frenchie Burke will join them at 8:30 and continue with them until 11 p.m.

A 1993 Ford Ranger pick up truck will be raffled during the Barn Raiser. There is a one in 3,000 chance to win the truck. Tickets cost $10 and are available at many Bandera locations including True Value, Boyle's Market, the Cabaret and Moore Title.

Tickets for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association Barn Raiser will cost $6 for adults and $4 for children.

Eat, drink and join the beat at the 13th Cajun Festival

The 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival, on Sept. 25 from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., has added Cajun dance bands, Cajun dance lessons, a Cajun dance contest and Cajun heritage to the Cajun cooking for an authentically Cajun experience.

It will be held at the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37. It is sponsored as a fund-raiser by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, Inc., a civic organization. The Cajun Festival drew 8,000 visitors last year for the 13-hour fun and feast event.

Volunteers run the festival each year. Crawfish are imported from Breaux Bridge, Louisiana. Volunteers cook up crawfish pies, sausage and ham jambalaya, shrimp and crawfish etouffee, boudin, and other Louisiana and Texas favorites.

Traditional Cajun music is again co-sponsored by Mulate's Cajun Restaurant and will include the sounds of The Mamou Prairie Band, the Zydeco Band, Ear Food, and The Countrymen.

Letters to the editor

Presidents make mistakes...

Dear editor:

Reference Peggy Tobin's column of Sept.1 ridiculing the President of the United States, it appears to me that her remarks were in lieu of a prolonged cry of pain, knowing that come next tax time her share of the contributions to keep our great country operating will increase. This is not true for most of us, but a few of the more fortunate financially will pay more.

Her description of his vacation hat and his manner of riding a horse were rather humorous. It calls to my mind some truly funny memories of past presidents, such as George Bush on the golf course and his "read my hips" remark. Also, the many times Ronald Reagan's press secretary appeared after his news conferences and stated "the President misspoke", meaning he had either lied or was ignorant. And then there was Gerald Ford. On his visit to San Antonio he tried to eat a tamale, shuck and all. Oh well, we can't all be perfect and know the correct way to hold the reins while horseback riding.

Dorothy Grant
Tarpley

He still has a road gripe

Dear editor:

This letter is in response to County Commissioner Dan Alanis commenta under article, "Tax Hike is Coming", dated 9/8/93.

I was glad to see that Commissioner Alanis has an optimistic outlook concerning paving Timbercreek Road and that the funds are available, but that property owners must pay $20,000 for all materials and his crew would perform the paving. As a resident of Timbercreek, to my knowledge no definite decision has been made by the property owners.

On Aug. 29, a Timbercreek sub-division meeting occurred with 38 adults in attendance representing 22 different pieces of property. Commissioner Alanis statement concerning our $20,000 material cost was discussed, along with different ideas to raise the necessary funds.

It was then pointed out by several members that other sub-divisions had roads paved with only a $100 assessment against each property owner. We want to know why we are not entitled to the same deal.

It was decided that we issue an invitation to Commissioner Alanis and Judge Mauer to attend our next meeting Sept. 19, so they could answer our questions regarding this matter, as well as the lack of law representation in our area. As of this writing, we have not heard from either one.

I would like to acknowledge and thank Commissioner Alanis for his action of removing the 4 loads of base material left on Valley View Road for 6 months. Now, I'd like to know when action will be taken to remove the illegal dump that they have been working on the past 4-5 years.

Another plea from councilman

Dear editor:

This again is another plea to the citizens of Bandera to please come to the City Council meetings and make your voice heard.

If you continue to be silent, there are a choice few on the City Council who will continue to spend your tax dollars as they please. A good example of their deep pockets with your money is the 15 percent raise that was given to the city secretary, Judy Dunn.

What will it be next year? Maybe a city car? It is time for the citizens of Bandera to take hold of their city and stop some of the foolish spending.

So, please: let's all come together. Let's make the meetings. I know everyone thinks 'why bother?' Or, 'what's the use? It seems nothing ever changes.'

It can change, but only with YOUR help.

Michael Holan
Bandera City Councilman

Community center chatter

Dear editor:

Since my letter two weeks ago, I have received numerous positive comments about a community center. Some of the adult comments I received were "it's about time"; "we need to have something for our kids"; and "we have a senior citizen place for our older citizens, why not a place four our youth?" However, not all the comments were from adults. Several young people came up to me and said how much they agreed with my letter and were willing to help in whatever way possible.

One group of young people, in particular, has formed their own organization for the express purpose of saving our youth from alcohol and drugs. A community center is high on their list of "preventative medicine." They call themselves the DJ's after the two teens killed on Aug. 22; Dustin and Jason. Their goal is to prevent another tragedy like this from ever occurring again. They have asked me to sponsor them and I readily agreed. The togetherness and dedication they exhibit for their two lost friends and their noble goal is truly inspiring. Already, support has come to the club from the community as a result of a letter written last week by Shanna Milley.

But more support is needed. We still lack a community center for our youth. If you have a vacant building in Bandera, close to Main Street, please let us know. The DJ's have the talent and work ethnic background necessary to repair and renovate any building donated to our cause. We can trade repair work for rent. We are also setting up a fund at the First State Bank for donations from the community. To those of you who have already pledged support for the DJ's and the community center, I would like to say, "Thank You!" And remember, if our young people are willing to donate their free time and their own sweat for a community center, what about you?"

K. Irene Stone
Bandera

P.S. One of the DJ's, Shana Epting, has written a letter telling more about our club and the goals we hope to accomplish:

Dear editor,

We have recently lost two young men due to alcohol. As a youth myself, I hope that this will never happen again. That is why we have organized a group at school—to try and help other youths. We plan on establishing a youth center so that we will have a place to go and have supervised fun without drinking or using drugs. So far, we have received a lot of support and confidence. We hope that will continue.

As a group, we have learned how to cope with loss and how to recover. We give thanks to Mr. Mike Smith; Mrs. Vakey, our counselor; and our teacher-sponsor, Mrs. Stone. We talk about how this tragic accident and changed our lives and what we can do to stop it from happening again. We have come up with many wonderful ideas, but the one that has my attention is going to other schools such as the elementary school and the junior high. The reason is because doing drugs and drinking can occur at any age. But if we talk to the younger generation now, maybe our "Don't drink or use drugs" ideas can go into effect immediately!

We really need the support of the community to help get this dream going for all of us, and individuals support. For more information feel free to call Mrs. Stone at 796-3181; Shana Epting at 535-5570; Adrianne Alanis at 796-4760; or Heather Harrell at 796-3323.

Thank you.

jest & thyme — Janna Sandidge

"Moving Day" came and went at the Bandera Bulletin with very little ceremony and very much sweating and straining of the old back muscles and stirring up of dust. It sometimes takes a major move to appreciate the value of throwing things out when you really don't need them. A few of the things I found while going through "stuff" included notes from previous years' meetings of the BISD trustees, and some very interesting recorded comments from a previous discussion of a bond election to build a badly-needed new school. I'm sure that if I mentioned some names, those people would deny ever having said some of the things I recorded in my notes.

I also found lots of things that I had kept for years thinking they were not terribly useful, but somehow too good to be thrown away. I decided that they weren't all that great, and most of them got thrown away.

I found a tiny lizard who had been living in my corner for who knows how long. He was alive and kicking, and Stephanie captured him and I suppose she took him home to domesticate him. I envisioned the nightly ritual– "Luke, put the lizard out before you go to bed..." And how do you leash-train a reptile?

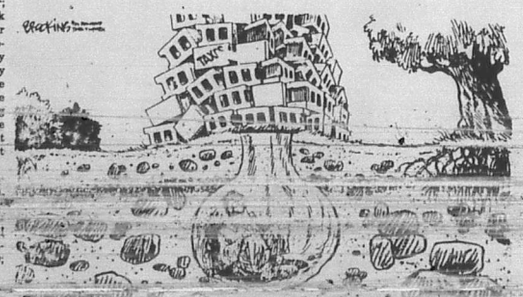

In one of the file drawers I discovered some recipe fillers with corresponding photos compiled by Lila McMillan in her pre-Shoreliner days.

And I remembered the many folks I have worked with at the Bandera Bulletin since I first started in 1986. Nick, Renae, Karoline, Lila, Lorraine, Janet, Helen... Faces I no longer see regularly. Somehow leaving that old building where we used to work together was like finishing another chapter in my life.

I guess now I'm officially a member of the "old guard." One of the employees who can remember what it was like in the old days at the old location.

As I pause, I look out my window at the front of the Scheele building, currently housing the Gingerbread House. In my personal archives, I have a photo of my father crouched in the doorway of that very building (where he had just opened up a Western Auto store), proudly holding an infant Janna in his arms.

I suppose the more things change, the more they stay the same. Just look how far I've come!

After game party Sept. 17

An after the football game will be held Friday, Sept. 17 at Bandera United Methodist Church from 9 p.m. to midnight.

Last week's party after the game was "a huge success," with plenty of food, fun and music, and with more than 100 kids attending, according to BUMC youth director Eric Stutes.

There is no charge for admission, and all junior high and high school youth are invited to attend the party.

Screening in Lakehills Sept. 18

The American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills is hosting a mammography screening on Saturday, Sept. 18. No doctor's referral is needed and the service is open to the community. Call 1-800-888-0978 to make an appointment.

Donations needed for PC EMS barn sale

The annual Pipe Creek EMS barn sale will be held on Saturday, Oct. 9 from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the EMS station on Highway 16. A bake sale will be held in conjunction with the barn sale.

Donations are now being accepted for the sale. Items needed include "almost anything": household items, furniture, toys, tools, jewelry, kitchen items, appliances and clothing. Large items will be picked up. For more information, call 796-3970, or 535-4817.

Volunteers are also needed to bake items for the bake sale. Call Mical Konvicka at 535-4497 or 535-4525 and let her know what you can bring.

Volunteers needed for PC VFD barbecue

The Pipe Creek ladies auxiliary needs volunteers from the community for the Sunday, Oct. 10 Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department barbecue which begins at 11 a.m.

The barbecue will be held at the volunteer fire department's building on FM 1283. Beverly Peters said that volunteers are needed from the community because the auxiliary itself has only about 15 members.

"We just took over this barbecue. It's only our second time and we don't have enough response. We usually serve between 700 and 750 plates.

"We need kitchen help especially. We need someone to help us clean up and get ready on Saturday. That would be Oct. 9. And we need someone to work where the cakes are sold."

Peters said that donations of cakes are also needed. "That would help us out very much."

The barbecue is a fund raiser for the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department.

To donate cakes, or to volunteer to help, call Peters at 535-4463 after 6 p.m.

Ten area youth enjoyed an alchol-free, drug-free outing at River Bend Estates on Saturday, Sept. 11. B.J. Timms decided to give his wiener one more brush with the coals after watching Sylvia Flores finish hers. The group also enjoyed swimming, eating, games and sports.

Your Basic Bandera

Peggy Tobin

Random notes and observations made while wandering out and about the hill country in earliest September:

It's too bad that Bandera has lost the Webbs of recent antique shop proprietorship in the old Denson building on Highway 16. As oft repeated, Bandera is a macho-image boots and beer place as far as tourists are concerned, but could use the mellowing influence of a few things to see more evocative of "family heritage values", shall we say.

Anyway, the neat nostalgic things at Webb Works were auctioned off in record time the other hot morning to be found again in shops in Fredericksburg and elsewhere. And the Webbs have gone to Wyoming, where a new big oil play is sparking hopes of a recovery for Casper, forever a town of boom and bust. We wish them and Casper well.

Kudos to Ben Nolen and associates of Ocean-graphics for the smooth and colorful job on the promotion brochure turning up around the countryside called "Discover the Texas Hill Country." The format is spiffy, the pictures good, and the writing well done. AND Bandera businesses participated in the stories and ads. So many times Bandera gives itself short shrift in failing to join in area-wide efforts to attract visitors and encourage locals. Could it be we are finally acquiring a bit of needed smarts?

Back to Bandera as a "macho" place for a minute. It is instructive to count the Main Street businesses owned and operated by WOMEN—let's see: Janett's, Everett's, Shoe Biz, Books 'n' Bloom, The Mercantile, the Trading Post, just to get started, without even going on down the street to Bandera Printers and Braun's Pharmacy or around corners to the Gingerbread House, Eckhart's Flowers, and Maxine's Plants. Guess you cowboys are too busy out on the open range to keep the town going. (Just kidding, fellers.)

Meanwhile over in Boerne, there is a new furniture shop well worth visiting if you need your mind blown with new ideas for color and whimsy in your life or your cabin. Susan and Richard Gross have left Houston behind to come to Boerne to open Heyday in a former flower shop on South Main, offering the hand-made furniture of David Marsh along with accessories and oriental rugs. The work of Marsh is too sophisticated to be called folk-art, but his fancifully painted benches, chest, and cupboards would fit into any hill country decorating scheme, whether traditional country, Santa Fe, or the latest "cowboy chic." Go see, if only to get an inspiration of what you could do yourself to dude up some old table or dresser stashed in the barn.

The September issue of Texas Parks and Wildlife magazine features an interview the Tarpley's Dorothy Mattiza, part of the outdoor heritage series of the publication written by Elaine Acker Albright. Dorothy repeated to Albright and Texas readers what she has been trying to tell us around here—that taking proper care of our unique hill country land, its plants, and wildlife is good business, not just wacko sentimentality.

Overgrazing and overdozing are painfully destructive of the basic capital of our ranches and small-holdings. We're thinking of any well-to-do blown-in who has horses, cattle, and exotics standing nose to nose on less than 100 acres. A typical case. His place looks like the Sahara Desert and his animals are jumping fence. He may not be broke yet, but his land has been bankrupted.

Constitution Week Sept. 17-23

Hill Country DAR will celebrate the document with a luncheon Sept. 20

The week of Sept. 17-23 has been designated as Constitution Week, and the five Hill Country Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR) chapters will help celebrate the document which was drafted in Philadelphia in 1787. The DAR will begin their celebration with a luncheon at noon on Sept. 20 at the Flying L Ranch on Highway 173 south of Bandera.

Guest-speaker Herbert Bilhartz's message will be "How Music Honors the Military."

The bicentennial of the document was celebrated in 1987, and Warren Burger, who was chief justice of the U.S. from 1969-1986, chaired the Commission on the Bicentennial of the United States Constitution. He had this to say:

"In the last quarter of the 18th century, no nation in the world was governed with separated and divided powers providing checks and balances on the exercise of authority by those who governed. A first step toward such a result was taken with the Declaration of Independence in 1776, which was followed by the Constitution drafted in Philadelphia in 1787; in 1791 the Bill of Rights was added. Each had antecedents back to the Magna Carta and beyond.

"The work of 55 men at Philadelphia in 1787 was another step toward ending the concept of the divine right of kings. In place of the absolutism of monarchy the freedoms flowing from this document created a land of opportunities. Ever since then discouraged and oppressed people from every part of the world have made their way to our shores; there were others too—educated, affluent, seeking a new life and new freedoms in a new land.

"This is the meaning of our Constitution."

- Janna Sandidge

> We the People of the United States, in Order to form a more perfect Union, establish Justice, insure domestic Tranquility, provide for the common defence, promote the general Welfare, and secure the Blessings of Liberty to ourselves and our Posterity, do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America.

Charles Georg is saving the taxpayers' money with footing support invention

Saving money is paying off for Bandera County Maintenance Foreman Charles Georg. He says, "I just couldn't see throwing money away." He's referring to an idea of his that could save the Department more than $122,000 a year.

It started when Charles saw a pile of multi-mailbox supports in the maintenance yard. "They were damaged, but only slightly," he says. "The only part that needed work was the footing support." Initially, the Department had been replacing the whole support. Charles and his co-workers devised a way to repair the damaged supports instead of buying new ones.

In May of 1990, the blueprints for the invention and a letter were sent to the District and then to Austin. The Division of Maintenance and Operations reviewed the invention, and over 200 were constructed to be used in and around Bandera County.

"We still needed to find a way to repair the supports without having to take two apart to build one," says Charles. Last year, the footing support invented by Charles was crash tested at College Station. It passed the test and on July 30th, the Texas Incentive and Productivity Commission tentatively approved purchasing the footing support only, instead of the whole support unit.

Charles says the savings from the invention will be tracked for one year. After that time period, he will be notified as to how much of a bonus he will receive for his idea. He is eligible to receive a maximum of $5,000. Part of the money will be used as a "thank you", according to Charles. He plans to throw a party for his co-workers in Bandera County because "if it weren't for them, I wouldn't have had the time to work with the idea as much as I did." His own estimate is that TxDOT will save over $50 for every multi-mailbox support.

The invention is only a small part of the many accomplishments Charles leaves behind as he prepares to retire at the end of September. He had been working on the family ranch in Bulverde before joining the Department. "Now", says Charles, "I plan to continue where I left off 31 years ago." He and his family will be moving back into the farmhouse that is over 100 years old.

He uses the same philosophy for running the ranch as he does for running the office. "I like seeing things change for the better," he says. "I like solving problems and seeing broken things get fixed." Charles concludes, "I've really enjoyed my career with the Department, and if I had it all to do again, I would do it all the same."

Perry Mason, Ironside, Shakespeare's King Henry VIII, movie villain, director, producer, gourmet cook, slapstick comedian, a great, warm, generous, fun loving human being - Raymond Burr, "went on" this week. (He'll live in memory for ages, so he didn't die) He was a true genius, who really knew everything about everything!

As a young person, I spent hours just "bumming" around with him, neither of us saying a word, just enjoying each others company. He took me to my senior prom in his WWII jeep (it was before Perry Mason and a steady income!), and I had the great privilege of doing a comedy routing with him on USO shows throughout the western states. He had a wonderful way of making EVERYONE feel special.

The world will miss him - and so will I.

• There was a beauty parlor in Tombstone called "Curl Up & Dye"! Reminded me of the gals over at "Special Effects". They're always adding something new. Now, they've got "Reflexology", which is foot massage. And, Carmella Brown, the great photographer, who just got her license for "massage therapy" (it took 300 hours worth to get it!) charges $35 for a "full body" massage! Then, they've opened up a neat "Christian Book Store" called "Affections", where you can get Bible study books, children's Sunday school literature, fun T-shirts and all kinds of nice gifts. And a section called "Pass It On" where they've got free inspirational pamphlets for any takers. All this besides regular perms, cuts, etc.

• The second Monday of each month, 'til January, "The Hickory Hut" in old town Helotes, is donating a sausage BBQ plate to be sold out of the Bandera American Legion Hall from 11-2. This is to benefit ten of our Bulldog Dance & Drill Team gals, to help them raise the necessary funds to go to National competition being held at the Citrus Bowl in Florida. Wouldn't it be fun if they won? They're pretty good, you know.

• The Cajun Festival out at Medina Lake is coming up Sept. 25, where we all get to dunk the sheriff and other county notables! The same day, Medina is having their Third Annual City-Wide Yard Sale. We're gonna have to really hop to it on that day.

• A big "three cheers" goes out to those wonderful, giving people who have listed their names and numbers in the paper, so kids can feel free to call them and get a ride home if they've gotten into a bind. What a grand idea.

• Tyne Mazurek, who is loaded with all kinds of interesting history from Bandera, Arkansas and Oklahoma said, "My life has been a challenge and I'll jump out to meet anybody or anything!" She's great.

• The new (old!) Photo Gallery on Main Street is wonderful for the "Cowboy Capital". The tin types and costumes are terrific, but best of all is Linda Romjue, the owner. We were having a fund raiser one time, and she set up a gypsy's tent and swathed herself in purple velvet and jewels and became "Madam Blabalot" and told everyone's fortune. She's also got "the smallest art gallery in the world" with little teensey paintings. Drop by and see her (and it) and get a Christmas card done at the same time.

• This was the first Labor Day Week-end I've ever had off in Bandera, so finally got to go out to Tarpley to their Annual BBQ and school reunion. What a treat. Tons of people meeting, greeting and eating all under great spreading oaks. The famous Hill Toppers played and played. The BBQ was deelish, and they poured in from all over the county and who knows [illegible] Bandera festivity. Missed the parade, though-Next year for sure!

Hill Country 4-H Club met

The Hill Country 4-H Club held its Aug. 30 meeting at the Medina Apple Festival Grounds. President Misty Wells conducted the meeting.

Reports were given on the officer's training class which was held and on the 22 record books turned in by the club. Of those 22, five came from the Hill Country Club. They were Cody, Culley and Ryan Doyle and Tiffany and Charles Cohn.

Jackie Doyle gave instructions on the county awards programs, the food and nutrition workshops and requirements for livestock show participation.

Junior reporter Charles Cohn says that it's not too late to sign up for 4-H. "But if kids are interested, they need to do it as soon as possible."

It isn't the things that go in one ear and out the other that hurt, as much as the things that go in one ear and get all mixed up before they slip out the mouth...

A wit once wise-cracked, "Nothing is opened more by mistake than the mouth." It was meant in jest but it also has a serious meaning. For instance, can any one honestly say he has never said the wrong thing at the wrong time? Hardly. When a faux-pas like that happens, one regrets it. An unthinking slip of the tongue can happen to any one. It is understandable. However, an outright lie--especially an untrue and unconfirmed rumor spoken behind the back of some one, is not a slip of the tongue. Instead, it is a slippery slide that debases a human mind.

Because malicious gossip can malign, tragically taint or ruin a person's character and reputation, the act is inexcusable. The offended person must really stretch religious instincts of compassion, forgiveness and understanting of a non-understandable offense. The victim must show considerable courage to believe the sureness of right will prevail. It takes even more courage to adhere to Ecclesiastes 7:9--"Be not quick to anger, for anger lodges in the bosom of fools"....

eliminated from Bandera Downs due to the drop in attendance and handle figures. In an interview with the San Antonio Express News, Allan said that the recent controversy with the DPS is not the reason Bowers was canned. However, when asked if the problems with the DPS had anything to do with Bowers departure, Allan said "I'm not saying it doesn't."

Allan said a total of 16 positions are being eliminated from the racetrack, and that former director of operations Brian Elmore will assume chief operating officer status. Dinah Lovett remains director of marketing and publicity.

"The ownership of Bandera Downs has not and will not change," Lovett said. Because of "declining business at Bandera Downs," the racetrack can no longer afford to pay a general manager.

But according to the Express News, Bowers owns the operating rights to the Graham Farms quarter horse series and the Quarter Horse of Texas Breeders series of races. The Graham Farms Futurity is usually one of the richest events in quarter horse racing. Though Bowers has taken his races with him wherever he has been, he admits that there "aren't many places to run these races." He called Bandera Downs the "ideal climate" for the races, and told the paper that he has "no intention of moving the races at this point."

Allan expressed the hope that Bowers would leave the races at Bandera Downs.

"We have nothing against Billy Bowers or his races except that we can't afford the expense we are having to pay," Allan said.

Another change announced by the racetrack this week will be an earlier Friday post time, starting Sept. 17.

On Fridays only, gates will open at 12:30 p.m., with post time set at 2 p.m.

"This change is to accomodate, as much as possible, daylight-saving time and Friday night football," Lovett said.

Saturday also marks the second round of the fall handicapping contest.

The prestigious Man O'War Stakes simulcast is on the schedule from Belmont, as well as the Woodward Stakes. These races will be simulcast on Saturday at Bandera Downs.

The Bandera Oaks, an added money race for thoroughbreds over seven and one-half furlongs is the feature race on Sunday, Sept. 19.

Sunday is also "Fifties Day at the races," a promotion featuring 50 cent draft beer and 25 cent popcorn, hot dogs and sodas.

The Thunderbird Club of San Antonio will display some of their classic automobiles on Sunday, and any fan dressed as Elvis gets free general admission.

The "best-dressed Elvis" wins a 1994 season pass to Bandera Downs.

engineering as continuing blockades to the actual construction. He said once Austin approves the submitted plans, the actual park construction can begin. He estimated a six-month construction phase for the completion of the park.

The City of Bandera has requested three extensions, so far, to keep the park project alive.

The meeting ended with a request from the newest council member, Mike Holan, to the other council members. He called Bill Bryce an "arrogant and rude dictator" who made no effort to cooperate with those at the council meeting or with other council members. "Let me know how we can work together," he urged, saying he was unhappy with being ignored during meetings.

Holan has asked questions during several council meetings about why lots in the city are not cleaned; why some city residents seem to get special treatment when it comes to paving, etc.; and what the status is of a project list given to the public works director.

Bryce accused him of being on a "witch hunt" during the Sept. 13 meeting.

weeks now."

Mayor Raymond Adamietz said that Dunn started out as Municipal Court Clerk, then became City Secretary.

Dorothy Darden said that Dunn was getting paid for two jobs after she started working for the city and that her increase in salary reflected that, rather than raises.

Holan and Tom Laxson said that they remembered a cap being put on Dunn's salary after her 10 percent increase.

Bryce said she was an executive secretary and made decisions while the mayor was not present.

Stevens pointed out that the state average for executive secretaries runs between $13,000 and $28,000 and averages at $20,280. He said the raise put Judy in the middle of those figures after only five years on the job. He said top secretaries in the federal reserve average only $16,000.

"I don't think giving one (city employee) a 15 percent raise and one a three percent is hardly fair any way you look at it."

Holan agreed, pointing out that Bandera is a low income area.

Bryce said that the "lady wants a raise" and that there was no point in worrying about what other municipalities similar to Bandera were paying their secretaries.

Stein brought out figures showing that Dunn took a three percent raise in 1992, a 10 percent raise in 1991, and was now requesting a 15 percent raise.

Darden attributed those wage increases to job changes.

Holan and Stevens voted against the increase. Darden, Bailey and Bryce put the raise through with their votes.

Dunn was making $17,600 a year. The 15 percent raise will put her salary at $20,200.

Let the Bible Speak
PURE CHRISTIANITY--IS IT POSSIBLE?
Are you interested in a sincere effort to worship God in exactly the same way the early Christians did when the Bible was written? Are you interested in hearing the Bible taught, explained, and made practical for your life?
We are making a genuine attempt to establish pure Christianity. Are you interested? In order to accomplish this we must lay aside all creeds, constitutions and traditions that have originated since the time when the Bible was written. The Word of God is referred to as "seed" (Luke 8:11), illustrating the fact that as physical seed will produce "after its kind" (Genesis 1:12), so also spiritually "pure" seed (ONLY Bible) will produce only pure" Christianity.
The things that make all denominations different from pure Christianity are the things man has added or subtracted. In order to belong to any denomination, you have to accept the Bible "plus" whatever unique doctrines YOU want. If you want to find a denomination that teaches what you want to hear, all you have to do is LOOK, for the Bible says "the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine ("the word"); but wanting to have their ears tickled, they will accumulate for themselves teachers in accordance to THEIR OWN DESIRES; and will turn away their ears from the truth (the Word of God--John 17:17), and will turn aside to myths."--II Timothy 4:3-4. If you accept the Bible "plus" you must also accept that what you practice will NOT be "pure" Christianity. We must not be so naive as to think that all churches who claim to be Christian are in actuality following Christ. Some denominational churches even wear the name of their human founder. Isn't this ironic, in view of the fact that the term Christian implies following Christ to the exclusion of others?
Jesus knew that men would try to take the "throne" of His church (His authority) away from Him, so we are warned, "if anyone advocates a different doctrine, and does agree with sound words, those of our Lord Jesus Christ, and with the doctrine conforming to godliness, he is conceited and understands nothing--I Tim. 6:3,4. Also in II John 9, the scriptures exhort "Anyone who goes too far and does not abide in the teaching of Christ does not have God; the one who abides in the teaching, he has both the Father and the Son."
In the book of Revelation, which is a prophetic book, the last chapter is a warning concerning the prophecy of this book, if anyone ADDS TO THEM, God shall add to him the plagues which are written in this book; and if anyone TAKES AWAY FROM the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part from the tree
Pure Christianity is not a "new idea". Sincerely thought up in order to start a
New Testament Christianity today. The Church of Christ, now worshipping at the corner of Hwy. 16 and Vanderpool Road in Medina, Texas, has dedicated itself to restoring New Testament Christianity and following the pattern of the New Testament church. Four-phase improvement set for livestock show barn

The Junior Livestock Association has mapped out a four-phase improvement plan for the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park. An estimate of the cost of the project puts it over $100,000. To fund the project, they have turned to the U.S. Department of Agriculture Alamo Resource Conservation and Development Area for help in obtaining a grant.

Phase one will begin immediately. It will include the installation of a septic system, the pouring of a concrete slab, and the erection of a shell to house restrooms at the show barn. The completion of that project is estimated at $40,000. Phase one will enable the building to be used comfortably for the Junior Livestock show and sale as well as many other activities during the year. It is scheduled for completion by the Junior Livestock Show and Sale in January, 1994.

Phase two will include the installation of electrical wiring and plumbing. The "turn key" estimate for the completion of phase two is $46,000.

Phase three will be putting down an asphalt floor inside the show barn. The $24,000 paving will allow other events and conferences to be scheduled during the year.

Bandera Chamber of Commerce president. Billy Walker said that the community could draw special events to it if there were adequate facilities to house them. "A gun show wanted to come here and they were really interested in Bandera. It was their first choice. But a sanctioned gun show can not be held on a dirt floor because of the dust problem."

The four-phase improvement project will add 30 x 200 feet of additional space to the Ferguson Show Barn. It will include restrooms, a hallway, a kitchen and concession area and a conference room. It will be built on the south end of the existing building.

Thomas H. "Bub" Keese, of the Junior Livestock Association, says that the building will be able to be used for exhibits, meetings, conventions, athletic events, and will be available to the youth of Bandera County. He said it will also provide a place for arts & crafts shows inside in case of bad weather.

Walker agreed. He said that the present dirt floor in the barn must be "wet down and rolled for a week" prior to events such as the annual Hunter's Barbecue.

Phase four of the building and improvement project will be to build portable metal pens for the annual stock show.

Courthouse smokers take non-smokers to task

During the Monday, Sept. 13 meeting of Commissioners' Court, the seven smokers in the County Courthouse asked for a gazebo structure to be built to accommodate them, according to County Clerk, Bernice Bates.

She said there are 23 workers in the Courthouse who are non-smokers. The seven who smoke have been going outside. They have complained of being forced outside to smoke during inclement weather.

Bates told commissioners that smokers do not need a gazebo, but that the county does need more storage space for records. She protested the request from the smokers to see if county funds were available to build a structure for the smokers to use.

Judge Ray Mauer and commissioner Ralph Chancy said they would study the budget and see if funds were available for the project.

Adult education classes are available at Bandera High School for those committed to self-improvement. Night classes for English composition and U.S. history are offered.

Silver Sage Corral

Marti Hampton-Holloway

The Melodiers and Auto/Angels sent me a news item of their recent activities. On Tuesday, Sept. 1, they played and sang for their friends at the Bandera Nursing Home, presenting a well received program of Stephen Foster songs. Doloras Greene was emcee, Florence Isaacs directed, Judy Goodenough played violin, and the ladies playing autoharps were Lee Yelton, Marion Bunch and June Westmeyer. They also entertained on Monday evening, Sept. 13, for the Elderhostel group at the Twin Elm Guest Ranch. The program consisted of authentic Cowboy songs, followed by a Sing-Along for the entire group. The general public is invited to come to the Silver Sage Corral to listen to their practice session every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m. A very interesting and enjoyable visit is assured.

The bridge players are back in force every Friday with games starting at 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Carol Browne, spokesperson for the group, wishes to invite the "Winter Texans" who are now arriving to town, to come visit the Silver Sage Corral and join the group. Carol further stated that the group will be meeting twice a week as the interest is certainly increasing. Anyone wishing to meet and play bridge please contact Carol at 796-3458. Tuesday all day, and Friday all day, will be the projected time slot for the players, meeting with all newcomers. The bridge players call in before 9 a.m. to reserve their lunch for the noon hour at the Center, ($2 per meal donation) and the entire day is spent having a wonderful time.

All visitors to Bandera are invited to the Center to pick up the lunch menu and schedule of events. A big hot pot of coffee is ready by 8 am. and everyone starts dropping in early to visit, a few laughs and warm friendships sounds like the perfect way to start the day.

Hot news item from Peggy Huffman, the Western Line Dancers will start their dancing on Sept. 16, 7 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral. A beginners session will be held for three weeks, every Thursday night at 7 p.m. on Sept. 16, 23, and 30.

Bungy and Larry, welcome home, we hope to see you with the Line Dancers.

The Silver Sage Corral Board Meeting will be held at the Center on Friday, Sept. 24, at 10 a.m. The Advisory Board meeting hour has changed from 2 p.m. to a morning hour of 10 a.m.. This is the new hour from now on. Please mark your calendars, all meetings are opened to the public.

Peggy and Dan Huffman had a wonderful vacation in Vail, Colorado. Welcome home.

Speedy recovery to Raymond Smith and Taylor Wootton.

Line dancing classes will resume at Silver Sage Corral

Line dancing classes will begin Thursday, Sept. 16 at 7 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral. The first three weekly classes will be for beginners only. All ages are welcome to participate. There is no charge.

On Oct. 7, regular classes will resume. Dancers who have taken lessons before or have danced elsewhere may join the class at that time. All dances previously taught at the Silver Sage will be reviewed.

Line dancing is a style of pattern dancing that is done without partners. It started in the discotheque of the 1960s and regained popularity in Western Dance Halls during the 1980s. Dances with names such as "Texas Freeze" and "Cowboy Boogie" are popular in Bandera.

"This is a great way to get your exercise, meet interesting people and enjoy dancing without worrying about stepping on anyone's toes," says Dr. Meador, sponsor of the class. "Also, you don't have to be asked and can't be turned down for a dance.

Local line dancers enjoy attending the many dances held in Bandera throughout the year. The Cancer Society's Sweetheart Dance, the Silver Sage's annual fund raiser and the St. Stanislaus Bar-b-que are just a few opportunities they have to socialize.

Dramatic and destructive weather, mixed with much-needed rain, lingered in Bandera County on and off throughout the past week. Friday, high winds and a possible twister were reported at the Lost Valley Ranch and at several residences nearby. From left, Lost Valley owner and manager Fred Morgan and golf pro shop employee Tana Sheplar surveyed the damage after the storm, examining a portion of the building's roof that was torn off by the winds. Plastic chairs, debris and even a golf cart were blown all around the ranch, and many of the ranch's massive oak trees were felled by the storm. A long metal strip torn from one of the structures was dropped by the wind onto a power line, and an employee of Bandera Electric Co-op was called to remove the dangerous object. Monday, Sept. 13, other storms with high winds traveled through Bandera County, dumping as more than 4 inches of rain on parts of the county. Louis Postert reported 4.35 inches at his residence in Bandera; Joy Gallagher reported that her residence in downtown Medina received 1.70 inches; the Postert and Koenig ranches between Tarpley and Bandera reported 2.75 inches; the Keneson residence near Privelege Creek received a reported 2.5 inches; and Bud and Betty Ciarlo received .6 inches at their Wharton's Dock residence. At the Rio Hondo Ranch subdivision near Tarpley, Ann Radley reported that a twister "did some damage" at her place on Rio Hondo Loop East Monday evening sometime after 9 p.m. Radley said the roof was lifted off her porch; the television antenna was twisted; power lines were down; and a metal shed was twisted on its foundation. Power was also reportedly off in the subdivision for a time.

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

Is There Virtue in Your Life?

"With all this in view, you should try your hardest to supplement your faith with virtue, virtue with knowledge."
— II Peter 1: 5

The process of maturing in our faith is one that takes discipline and work. So often we Christians emphasize the fact that our salvation is a free gift from God. In our emphasis on grace, however, we must not forget that we must develop solid behavior patterns or we will not mature. In this passage, the Apostle Peter emphasizes the importance of adding virtue to our faith. Virtue means character. Virtue means getting into the habit of having high moral and ethical standards. Virtue means taking the initiative in prayer, Bible study, worship, and Christian fellowship. Virtue means being faithful to God's ways in a world of unfaithfulness. How much virtue is in your life? You will never mature in your faith without it!

PUBLIC NOTICE

BRIEF EXPLANATORY STATEMENTS OF PROPOSED

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS

SPECIAL ELECTION
NOVEMBER 2, 1993

PROPOSITION NO. 1 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 9 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the Texas Legislature to provide for the issuance of bonds for the state financing of start-up costs for historically underutilized businesses. The amendment provides that the legislature by law may establish a Texas historically underutilized business capital growth and start-up fund. The money in the fund may be used without further appropriation and only for a program established by the legislature to aid in the start-up costs of a historically underutilized business, as defined by the legislature. To carry out the program, the legislature may issue up to $50 million of general obligation bonds to provide funding. The legislature may require review and approval of the issuance of bonds, the use of the bond proceeds, or of the rules adopted by an agency to govern use of the bond proceeds. Bonds authorized by the amendment constitute a general obligation of the state.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to provide for the issuance of $50 million of general obligation bonds for the recovery and further development of the state's economy and for increasing job opportunities and other benefits for Texas residents through state financing of the start-up costs of historically underutilized businesses."

PROPOSITION NO. 2 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 86 proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature, by general law, to exempt from ad valorem taxation all or part of real and personal property used, constructed, acquired, or installed wholly or partly to meet or exceed rules or regulations adopted by any environmental protection agency of the United States, Texas, or a political subdivision of this state for the prevention, monitoring, control, or reduction of air, water, or land pollution. The amendment applies to real and personal property used as a facility, device, or method for the control of air, water, or land pollution that would otherwise be taxable for the first time on or after January 1, 1994. The amendment does not authorize the exemption from ad valorem taxation of real or personal property that was subject to a tax abatement agreement executed before January 1, 1994.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to promote the reduction of pollution and to encourage the preservation of jobs by authorizing the exemption from ad valorem taxation of real and personal property used for the control of air, water, or land pollution."

PROPOSITION NO. 3 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 3 proposes a constitutional amendment to clear land titles in which the State of Texas relinquishes and releases any claim of sovereign ownership or title to an undivided one-third interest in and to the lands and minerals within the Shelby, Frazier, and McCormick League (now located in Fort Bend and Austin counties) which were granted under the Mexican Colonization Law of 1823 to John McCormick on or about July 24, 1824, and subsequently voided by the governing body of Austin's Colony on or about January 15, 1830. Title to such interest in the lands and minerals is confirmed to the owners of the remaining interests in such lands and minerals.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing for the clearing of land titles by the relinquishment and release of the state of any claim of sovereign ownership or title to an undivided one-third interest in and to the lands and minerals within the Shelby, Frazier, and McCormick League (now located in Fort Bend and Austin counties) which were granted under the Mexican Colonization Law of 1823 to John McCormick on or about July 24, 1824, and subsequently voided by the governing body of Austin's Colony on or about January 15, 1830. Title to such interest in the lands and minerals is confirmed to the owners of the remaining interests in such lands and minerals."

PROPOSITION NO. 4 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 49 proposes a constitutional amendment that would prohibit a state personal income tax without voter approval and would dedicate the proceeds of any income tax, if enacted, to property tax relief and education. The amendment provides that a general law enacted by the legislature that imposes a tax on the net incomes of natural persons, including a person's share of partnership and unincorporated association income, must provide that the portion of the law imposing the tax not take effect until approved by a majority of the registered voters voting in a statewide referendum held on the question of imposing the tax. The referendum must specify the rate of the tax that will apply to taxable income.

The amendment also provides that a general law enacted by the legislature that increases the rate of the tax, or changes the tax in a manner that results in an increase in the combined income tax liability of all persons subject to the tax, may not take effect until approved by a majority of the registered voters voting in a statewide referendum held on the question of increasing the income tax. The referendum must specify the manner in which the proposed law would increase the combined tax liability of all persons subject to the tax. The legislature may repeal, or amend without increasing, a tax approved by the voters without submitting the amendment or the repeal to the voters. If the legislature repeals a tax approved by the voters, the legislature may only reenact the tax without voter approval if the effective date of the reenactment of the tax is within one year of the effective date of the repeal of the tax.

The amendment also provides that, in the first year in which an income tax is imposed, and during the first year of any increase in the tax, not less than two-thirds of all net revenues from the tax shall be used to reduce the rate of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes levied for the support of primary and secondary education. In subsequent years, not less than two-thirds of all net revenues of the tax shall be used to continue such ad valorem tax relief. The net revenues of the tax remaining after the dedication of money for reduction of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes shall be used for support of education. The maximum rate at which a school district may impose ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes is reduced by an amount equal to one cent per $100 valuation for each one cent per $100 valuation that the school district's ad valorem maintenance and operation tax is reduced by the minimum amount of money dedicated under the amendment, provided that a school district may subsequently increase the maximum ad valorem maintenance and operation tax rate if the increased maximum rate is approved by a majority of the voters of the school district voting at an election called and held for that purpose. The portions of the amendment relating to dedicating tax revenues to reduce the rate of ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes apply on or after the first January 1 after the date on which an income tax takes effect, except that if the income tax begins to apply on a January 1, the amendment applies to ad valorem maintenance and operation taxes levied on or after that date.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment prohibiting a personal income tax without voter approval and, if an income tax is enacted, dedicating the revenue to education and limiting the rate of local school taxes."

PROPOSITION NO. 5 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 12 proposes a constitutional amendment that would change the requirements or qualifications of sheriffs. Currently, the constitution authorizes the legislature to prescribe the duties, perquisites, and fees of office, but not the qualifications for the office of sheriff.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to modify the provisions for the redemption of real property sold at a tax foreclosure sale."

PROPOSITION NO. 6 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 21 proposes a constitutional amendment that would abolish the office of county surveyor in Jackson County. The amendment also provides for the powers, duties, and functions of the county surveyor to be transferred to the county officer designated by the commissioners court.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment abolishing the office of county surveyor in Jackson County."

PROPOSITION NO. 7 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 57 proposes a constitutional amendment that repeals article XII, section 6, of the Texas Constitution, which currently provides that no corporation shall issue stock or bonds except for money paid, labor done, or property actually received, and that all fictitious increase of stock or indebtedness shall be void.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment repealing certain restrictions on the ability of corporations to raise capital."

PROPOSITION NO. 8 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 22 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the commissioners court of McLennan County to call an election to abolish the office of county surveyor. The office of county surveyor is abolished, the amendment requires the maps, field notes, and other records in the custody of the county surveyor to be transferred to the county clerk of McLennan County. After abolition, the amendment also grants the commissioners court of McLennan County the authority to employ or contract with a qualified person to perform any of the functions that would have been performed by the county surveyor if the office had not been abolished.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment to abolish the office of county surveyor in McLennan County."

PROPOSITION NO. 9 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 19 proposes an amendment to article VIII, section 13 of the Texas Constitution that would modify the provisions for the redemption of real property sold at a tax sale. The amendment deletes current language in article VIII, section 13 that allows the legislature to provide for the sale of property without trial to pay for delinquent taxes. It also states that the deed to the new owner vests a good and perfect title subject only to redemption as set out in this amendment or impeachment for fraud. Language is added limiting application of the current two-year redemption period to former owners of residence homesteads and land designated for agricultural use sold for unpaid taxes. When property is sold as the result of a suit to enforce collection of unpaid taxes, the amendment would allow the legislature to limit redemption to property used as a residence homestead or designated for agricultural use at the time the suit was filed. The amendment creates a second type of redemption for former owners of real property when property is neither a residence homestead, nor designated for agricultural use. These owners would have a six-month period in which to redeem their property by paying the amount of money paid for the property, including the Tax Deed Recording Fee, all taxes, penalties, interest, and costs paid plus an amount not exceeding 25 percent of the aggregate sum. The amendment applies to redemption of properties sold at a tax sale for which the purchaser's deed is filed on or after January 1, 1994. For redemption of properties sold at a tax sale for which the purchaser's deed was filed before January 1, 1994, the former law is applicable and remains in effect.

PROPOSITION NO. 10 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 34 proposes a constitutional amendment relating to the terms which provide recruitment and related disability and death benefits for [illegible] not belong to a statewide retirement system.

The constitutional amendment authorizing issuance of $750 million in general obligation bonds to augment the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund and [illegible] the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund II.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of $750 million in general obligation bonds to augment the Veterans' Land Fund and the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund."

PROPOSITION NO. 11 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 31 proposes a constitutional amendment relating to the board of trustees of a system shall (1) administer the system of benefits; (2) hold the assets of the system for the exclusive purposes of providing benefits to participants and their beneficiaries and defraying reasonable expenses of administering the system; and (3) select legal counsel and an actuary and adopt sound actuarial assumptions to be used by the system.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment providing that the trustees of a local public pension system must administer the system for the benefit of the system's participants and beneficiaries."

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 23 proposes a constitutional amendment providing that any person accused of a violent or sexual offense committed while under the supervision of a criminal justice agency of this state or a political subdivision of this state for a prior felony may, after a hearing and evidence substantially showing the guilt of the accused, be denied bail pending trial. If the accused is not, however, accorded a trial within 60 days from the time of his incarceration upon the accusation or indictment, the order denying bail shall be set aside unless a continuance is obtained upon the request of the accused. In the amendment, the term "violent offense" means murder, aggravated assault (if a deadly weapon was used or exhibited during the commission of the assault), aggravated kidnapping, or aggravated robbery. The term "sexual offense" means aggravated sexual assault, sexual assault, or indecency with a child.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment permitting the denial of bail to certain persons charged with certain violent or sexual offenses committed while under the supervision of a criminal justice agency of the state or a political subdivision of the state."

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes a constitutional amendment that amends article VII, section 17(a), of the Texas Constitution to provide that, of the $100 million currently appropriated by that section for the use of public institutions of higher education during each fiscal year, those institutions may also utilize this money to pay for acquiring, constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities. For the five-year period beginning on September 1, 2000, and for each five-year period thereafter, the legislature, during a regular session that is nearest, but preceding, a five-year period may, by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house, increase the amount of the $100 million constitutional appropriation for the five-year period. The amendment also reflects name changes that have been made to some of the institutions of higher education for which such funding is available. The amendment adds the Texas State Technical College System to those institutions eligible to receive such funding, but limits its allocation of the annual appropriation to 2.2 percent of the total appropriation each fiscal year. The amendment also provides that each governing board authorized to participate in the distribution of money under article VII, section 17, may also issue bonds and notes for the purposes of refunding bonds or notes issued under that section or prior law for the purposes of acquiring capital equipment, library books and [illegible] constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities.

The amendment shorter language to article VII, section 17 which authorizes the legislature to provide for the issuance of general obligation bonds for the purpose of providing financial assistance to develop, increase, improve, or expand the production, processing, marketing, or export of crops or products grown or produced primarily in this state by commercial businesses domiciled in the state.

[illegible] issue such bonds or notes in lieu of the governing bodies, and to transfer to that agency the authority to collect and pledge money to the payment of such bonds or notes.

PROPOSITION NO. 15 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 37 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the county commissioners court of a county to call an election to abolish the office of county surveyor. The office of county surveyor is abolished if a majority of voters of the county voting in the election approve the measure. PROPOSITION NO. 16 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 44 proposes an amendment to article III, section 49-j(b) of the Texas Constitution, which currently limits the principal amount of bonds outstanding at one time for the Texas agricultural fund to $25 million and for the rural microenterprise development fund to $5 million. The amendment would raise the principal amount limit for the Texas agricultural fund to $100 million. The amendment would also make the principal amount limit for each fund apply to the total principal amounts of both bonds and notes issued or sold rather than just the principal amounts of bonds outstanding at one time.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing up to a total of $100 million in bonds and notes to be issued or sold to finance the Texas agricultural fund [illegible] for providing financial assistance to develop, increase, improve, or expand the production, processing, marketing, or export of crops or products grown or produced primarily in this state by commercial businesses domiciled in the state."

new section 49-b-2 to article III of the Texas Constitution. This new section provides that, in addition to the general obligation bonds authorized to be issued and sold by the Veterans' Land Board (the "Board") by sections 49-b ($560 million) and 49-b-1 ($1.3 billion) of article III, the board may provide for, issue, and sell general obligation bonds of the state in an amount not to exceed $750 million to provide financing to Texas veterans. $250 million of the bonds authorized by this new section shall be used to augment the Veterans' Land Fund (the "Land Fund"). The Land Fund shall be used by the Board to purchase lands situated in Texas owned by the United States government, an agency of the United States government, the State of Texas, a political subdivision or agency of the State of Texas, or a person, firm, or corporation. The lands shall be sold to veterans in quantities, on terms, at prices, and at fixed, variable, floating, or other rates of interest determined by the Board. Lands in the Land Fund that are offered for sale to veterans and that are not sold may be sold or resold to the purchasers in quantities, terms, prices, and rates of interest determined by the Board.

New section 49-b-2 creates the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund II (the "Housing Fund II"), and $500 million of the general obligation bonds authorized by the section shall be used for the Housing Fund II. The Housing Fund II is a separate and distinct fund from the Veterans' Housing Assistance Fund (the "Housing Fund") established under section 49-b-1 of article III. Money in the Housing Fund II shall be administered by the Board and shall be used to make home mortgage loans to veterans for housing within this state in quantities, on terms, and at fixed, variable, floating, or other rates of interest determined by the Board. The principal of, and interest on, the general obligation bonds authorized by this section for the benefit of the Housing Fund II shall be paid out of the money of the Housing Fund II. The principal of, and interest on, the general obligation bonds authorized by section 49-b-1 of article III for the benefit of the Housing Fund shall be paid out of money in the Housing Fund. If there is not enough money in the Land Fund, the Housing Fund, or the Housing Fund II, as the case may be, available to pay the principal of, and interest on, the general obligation bonds authorized by this section or by sections 49-b or 49-b-1 of article III, there is appropriated out of the first money coming into the treasury in each fiscal year an amount that is sufficient to pay the principal of, and interest on, the general obligation bonds that mature or become due during that fiscal year.

If the Board determines that assets from the Land Fund, the Housing Fund, or the Housing Fund II are not required for purposes of the fund, the Board may transfer the assets to another of those funds or use the assets to secure revenue bonds issued by the Board. The revenue bonds shall be special obligations of the Board and payable only from and secured by receipts of the funds, assets transferred from the funds, and other revenues as determined by the Board and shall not constitute indebtedness of the State of Texas or the Board. The Board may issue revenue bonds from time to time, which bonds may not exceed an aggregate principal amount that the Board determines can be fully retired from the receipts of the funds. The revenue bonds shall be sold in forms, denominations, and in installments, and bear a rate or rates of interest as the Board determines.

The general obligation bonds authorized to be issued by the Board by this section or be sections 49-b and 49-b-1 of article, III shall be issued and sold in forms and denominations, on terms, at times, in the manner, at places, in installments, and shall bear a rate or rates of interest the Board determines. The bonds shall be incontestable after execution by the Board, approval by the Attorney General of Texas, and delivery to the purchaser.

The proposed amendment still appear

PROPOSITION NO. 12 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 23 proposes a constitutional amendment providing that any person accused of a violent or sexual offense committed while under the supervision of a criminal justice agency of this state or a political subdivision of this state for a prior felony may, after a hearing and evidence substantially showing the guilt of the accused, be denied bail pending trial. If the accused is not, however, accorded a trial within 60 days from the time of his incarceration upon the accusation or indictment, the order denying bail shall be set aside unless a continuance is obtained upon the request of the accused. In the amendment, the term "violent offense" means murder, aggravated assault (if a deadly weapo. was used or exhibited during the commission of the assault), aggravated kidnapping, or aggravated robbery. The term "sexual offense" means aggravated sexual assault, sexual assault, or indecency with a child.

PROPOSITION NO. 13 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 13 proposes a constitutional amendment that amends article VII, section 17(a), of the Texas Constitution to provide that, of the $100 million currently appropriated by that section for the use of public institutions of higher education during each fiscal year, those institutions may also utilize this money to pay for acquiring, constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities. For the five-year period beginning on September 1, 2000, and for each five-year period thereafter, the legislature, during a regular session that is nearest, but preceding, a five-year period may, by a two-thirds vote of the membership of each house, increase the amount of the $100 million constitutional appropriation for the five-year period. The amendment also reflects name changes that have been made to some of the institutions of higher education for which such funding is available. The amendment adds the Texas State Technical College System to those institutions eligible to receive such funding, but limits its allocation of the annual appropriation to 2.2 percent of the total appropriation each fiscal year. The amendment also provides that each governing board authorized to participate in the distribution of money under article III, section 17, may also issue bonds and notes for the purposes of refunding bonds or notes issued under that section or prior law for the purposes of acquiring capital equipment, library books and ir-constructing, or equipping or for major repair or rehabilitation of buildings, facilities, other permanent improvements, or capital equipment used jointly for educational and general activities and for auxiliary enterprises to the extent of their use for educational and general activities. The amendment secures payment of such bonds issue such bonds or notes in lieu of the governing bodies, and to transfer to that agency the authority to collect and pledge money to the payment of such bonds and ing, equipping, repairing, or rehabilitat-

improvements that are to be used only for student housing, intercollegiate athletics, or auxiliary enterprises.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment relating to the amount and expenditure of certain constitutionally dedicated funding for public institutions of higher education."

PROPOSITION NO. 14 ON THE BALLOT

Senate Joint Resolution 45 proposes a constitutional amendment that adds a new subsection (e) to article III, section 49-h, of the Texas Constitution. The new subsection provides that, in addition to the amounts authorized by subsections (a) ($500 million), (c) ($400 million), and (d) ($1.1 billion) of section 49-h, the legislature may authorize the issuance of up to $1 billion in general obligation bonds and may use the proceeds of the bonds for acquiring, constructing, or equipping new corrections institutions, including youth corrections institutions, and mental health and mental retardation institutions and for major repair or renovation of existing facilities of those corrections and mental health and mental retardation facilities. The amendment also provides that the provisions of subsection (a) of section 49-h, relating to the review and approval of bonds, and the provisions of subsection (b) of section 49-h, relating to the status of the bonds as a general obligation of the state and to the manner in which the principal and interest on the bonds are paid, apply to bonds authorized by this amendment.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing the issuance of up to $1 billion in general obligation bonds payable from the general revenues of the state for projects relating to facilities of corrections and mental health and mental retardation institutions."

PROPOSITION NO. 15 ON THE BALLOT

House Joint Resolution 37 proposes a constitutional amendment that would authorize the county commissioners court of a county to call an election to abolish the office of county surveyor. The office of county surveyor is abolished if a majority of voters of the county voting in the election approve the measure. If the office of county surveyor is abolished, the maps, field notes, and other records of the county surveyor are transferred to the county officer or employee designated by the commissioners court.

Senate Joint Resolution 44 proposes an amendment to article III, section 49-i(b) of the Texas Constitution, which currently limits the principal amount of bonds outstanding at one time for the Texas agricultural fund to $25 million and for the rural microenterprise development fund to $5 million. The amendment would raise the principal amount limit for the Texas agricultural fund to $100 million. The amendment would also make the principal amount limit for each fund apply to the total principal amounts of both bonds and notes issued or sold rather than just the principal amounts of bonds outstanding at one time.

The proposed amendment will appear on the ballot as follows:

"The constitutional amendment authorizing up to a total of $100 million in bonds and notes to be issued or sold for providing financial assistance to develop, increase, improve, or expand the production, processing, marketing, or export of crops or products grown or produced primarily in this state by agricultural businesses domiciled in the state."

Supercharged. That's the word that comes to mind to describe the Utopia volleyballers at the tournament on Saturday in Utopia. It came as no surprise that Utopia won the tournament. It was obvious during warm ups that they were rough and ready!

"Just leave the driving to us" promises Incredible Journeys, the travel agency which left the Seniors Citizens with mental journeys at their luncheon on Friday. The Seniors, never know to be sedentary for too long, are planning a group excursion to some place incredible.

The Sabinal Canyon Chapter of the DAR will begin its year with a meeting on Monday, Sept. 20 at the Baptist Ed Building. Janie Tubbs will address the members with a program on National Defense. The time is 7 p.m. Also, Sept. 20 is Constitution Day for the regional Hill Country Council of the DAR. They will gather for a luncheon and meeting at the Flying L Ranch in Bandera at noon.

Two speakers provided the program for the meeting of the Utopia PTO on Sept. 9. Utopia schooler, Steve Duke, shared some details of a citizenship seminar which be attended over the summer.

Jo Ann Tampke introduced the community to PRIDE, Parents Resource Institute for Drug Education. Tampke attended a PRIDE seminar this summer. She brought with her to the meeting, regional coordinator, Carlos Cortes of San Antonio to highlight the purpose of PRIDE. Tampke is ready, willing, and able to set up this program in our community. It is basically parent education and awareness. It is valuable to parents of elementary children as well as parents of teenagers. Contact Jo Ann Tampke for more information.

Bob and Jettus Craighead are in town with their 13 year old son looking for a home to rent. The Craigheads hope to move to the Sabinal Canyon and open a Health Care Agency. The center would offer professional home health care.

and Hamburger Cookout is this Saturday, the 18th. Hamburgers start at 7, dance starts at 8. Thirteen names will be drawn to win the Baker's Dozen raffle!

Golf scramble Sept. 18

The Flying L Monday Nite Mixed League will host a twi-nite Florida Scramble at the Flying L Golf Course starting at 4 p.m. on Sept. 18. Following a "daylite 9" participants will enjoy dinner and drinks at the home of Bill and Carmen Boyington; then at about 8:30 the group will tee off for another 9 holes of golf in the dark. Participation will be limited so those interested need to sign up by noon on Thursday Sept. 16. For further information please call 796-8466; 796-4546 or 535-4239.

ACS resumes meetings

The Bandera County chapter of the American Cancer Society will begin holding regular meetings again on the first Monday of each month at 2 p.m. in the meeting room of the First State Bank.

Communications chairman Melecee Rugh says that after a summer of no meetings "it was good to get back with friends and plan programs and activities." She said that 1993 has been a successful year for the American Cancer Society. "Our county raised over $10,000 to aid cancer patients. The next big event will be the Valentine Dance in February."

1993 Property Tax Rates in MEDINA I.S.D.

This notice concerns 1993 property tax rates for MEDINA school district. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 47,420
Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 47,420
Last year's tax base	$ 68,610,732
Last year's total tax rate	$ .0721	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 44,802
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 61,287,215
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .0731	/$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless the school district publishes notices and holds hearing	$ .0752	/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

School maintenance and operations component	$ 643,595
+ This year's tax base	$ 62,004,735
= This year's local maintenance and operating rate	$ 1.0379	/$100
+ $.06 cents = this year's maximum operating rate	$ 1.0979	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0-	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ 1.0979	/$100

The students chose to use their dramatic play center as a restaurant. The restaurant is complete with signs, menus and cooks. Kathy Flack is set to catch a $100 toss from Bandera businesswoman Margaret Parades as the Bandera County Little League seeks to raise more than $7,000 to pay some bills. Parades has issued a challenge to other individuals and businesses to match her $100 contribution. "If 70 other people will give as well, we'll have the necessary amount," she said. The shortfall this year was caused by having to outfit 12 additional teams, according to Flack. Those expenses as well as normal repairs and equipment purchases left the organization in the red. Contributions may be sent to or left at The Gingerbread House, says Parades.

Bandera blasts Comfort 48-8

"Score early and score often" seems to be the Bulldog's formula for success so far in this young season, and a winning philosophy it is. Friday's 48-8 triumph over the Comfort Bobcats raised Bandera's record to 2-0 for the season. A more impressive statistic is that Bandera has outscored their opponents 81-15 through the first two games.

The Dogs scored their first touchdown when quarterback Jimmy Stroud hit Aarron Lacey with a 28 yard strike in the corner of the end zone. Kyle Woodland was good with the point after kick and with 9:33 still to play in the first quarter Bandera was up 7-0.

Bandera continued it's first quarter scoring rampage when senior running back Marlon Santos, running around right end, found a defender waiting to cut him off. Santos hurdled that Bobcat and outran the rest for a 59 yard touchdown. The PAT failed and the Dogs were up 13-0.

Later in the quarter Comfort was forced to punt out of their end zone. Brian Flack got to the punter almost as fast as the ball did and smothered the punt. Flack recovered in the end zone and for the second consecutive week scored a TD off a blocked punt.

Bandera's first quarter scoring parade was capped when senior running back Robert Bradford found a hole in the Bobcat defense and romped 13 yards for a touchdown. Stroud kicked the extra point and as the quarter closed the Bulldogs sat atop a 27-0 lead.

The second quarter saw no scoring until almost half time. The Bobcats were trying to mount a scoring drive when Woodland intercepted for Bandera and returned the ball to the Comfort 37. The Bulldogs used backs Braon Moseley and Brad Parker to punch the ball down to the Comfort 1 yard line where Bradford popped it in for another TD. At the intermission the Dogs were leading 34-0.

Comfort came out in the third quarter determined not to be routed. They steadily took the ball the length of the field for a TD and were also successful on a two point conversion.

The Bulldogs immediately answered with a scoring drive of their own. They took the ball on their 26 yard line and with Woodland at QB and John Minturn and Perry Holt running the ball moved to the Comfort 24. From that point Woodland found his receiver Brad Parker for a touchdown. Stroud's PAT kick ran the score to 41-8.

Bandera tacked on one more touchdown to their already lopsided score late in the final quarter. With the ball on their own 40 yard line the Dogs' offensive line opened a huge hole for Bradford and it was a 60 yard romp into the end zone. The last point of the night belonged to Stroud as he put the kick through the uprights and made the score 46-8.

"Taking control of this game was a total team effort," noted head coach Mike Williamson. The statistics support his point. The Bulldog offense used six running backs and two quarterbacks to rush for 277 yards on 30 carries. Both quarterbacks were one for one in passing and both completions went for touchdowns.

"I think our offensive line showed tremendous improvement. We really got some excellent play from them," said Williamson. "Our offensive totals indicate that they were opening a lot of holes for our backs," he added.

"Defensively I thought we put forth a good effort but made some mistakes that allowed them to prolong some drives. However, when you have a big lead it's hard to maintain your focus and continue to play tough, mistake free football," Williamson said.

Another area Williamson likes to brag about is the kicking game. "Our success in blocking punts, hurrying their punter, Lacey's ability to stand alone down field and field their punts cleanly and strong punting from Brad Pfeiffer, all those things give us a big edge each week in field position," said Williamson.

The Bulldogs will stay at home this week and host Marble Falls, a team that hovers near the top of everybody's poll of top 3A teams in the state. "Marble Falls just has a good solid program. They have a very good team and they make no mistakes," Williamson said.

The strength of Marble Falls offense is their line. They are big and strong and are returning some experienced players. "They will also bring in a strong fullback and a QB with a strong, accurate arm. They will give us a lot of variety to defend against," Williamson said.

The heart of the Mustangs defense is a strong and talented group of linebackers. They also will have back the lineman that lead the team in tackles and QB sacks last year.

"No doubt about it, the game will be a good hard hitting game. But, if we continue to put out a total team effort we have an excellent chance of winning the game. Our team is well aware of the caliber of team coming to town and they respect that, but they aren't intimidated by it," said Williamson.

Friday's kickoff in Bulldog stadium will be at 8 p.m.

Bulldog defensive back Matt Mazurek is in position and breaks up the Bobcat's pass attempt.

It's a 'ragin' Cajun' weekend at Medina Lake Civic Center

Inside! The Official Program for the Medina Lake Cajun Festival. Includes schedule of events, map of the grounds and much more!

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

The 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival, on Sept. 25 from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m., has added Cajun dance bands, Cajun dance lessons, a Cajun dance contest and Cajun heritage to the Cajun cooking for an authentically Cajun experience. It has also added an ATM machine for the convenience of visitors and a new delicacy, Cajun chicken breast on a stick.

The Cajun Festival will be held at the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37. It is sponsored as a fund-raiser by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, Inc., a civic organization. The Cajun Festival drew 4,000 paying visitors last year for the 13-hour fun and feast event. With volunteers and workers and family members, over 6,000 people found their way to the touch of Louisiana-in-Texas celebration.

Volunteers run the festival each year. Volunteers are still needed for Saturday's event. The grounds must be cleaned on Thursday and a few workers are still needed for Saturday as well. Workers on Saturday will park at the American Legion and be shuttled to the Cajun Festival in a van. Volunteers will also be treated to a covered dish dinner at 6:30 Friday, Sept. 24. The public is invited, but asked to bring a covered dish to share. Many of the performers from Louisiana will be present at the covered dish dinner.

A media blitz is underway for the Cajun Festival. Television stations including Fox 35, Channel 12 and the Mexican station are advertising it. It will be featured on Channel 12's noon show on Friday, Sept. 24. The Express News is running a colored cover sheet of food at the Cajun Festival on their food section.

Crawfish are imported from Breaux Bridge, Louisiana for the popular annual event. Engel said that this year, the amount of food has increased tremendously. "We are ready for a big crowd. The only thing that could kill us is if it rained."

Volunteers cook up crawfish pies, sausage and ham jambalaya, shrimp and crawfish etouffee, boudin, and other Louisiana and Texas favorites. A pecan praline demonstration will be held this year in one of the booths. Another booth will feature a real Cajun shrimp

Volunteer Joyce Sellburg introduces a group of pre-schoolers to a book during story time at the Bandera County Library Tuesday, Sept. 14. Children ages three to five are encouraged to attend the free sessions every Tuesday during the school year from 10 to 11 a.m. Sellburg uses songs, music, puppets, visual aids and a lot of group participation as well as story telling and reading in her sessions, says library director Astrid Box. "We're getting good response," she says. "Our average attendance is about 25." For more information, contact the Bandera County Library at 796-4213.

Bulldogs drop heartbreaker to state-ranked MF Mustangs

Yes, the Bulldogs lost their football game to Marble Falls Friday night but along the way they scared the fire out of the number three team in the state and gave the Bandera fans a game full of major league thrills. The final score of the game was 27-20.

"From this game I think we learned a couple of things that will really help us later in the season," said Coach Mike Williamson. "I think the first thing we learned is that we can take the field with the big boys and stay with them from the opening kickoff to the final buzzer. The second thing we found out is that little mistakes are magnified by big games. The little mistakes that have gone almost unnoticed in the games we control become real tough obstacles in a close game with a top caliber team," Williamson added.

True to form, the Dogs took their first possession Friday night and scored a touchdown. The Mustangs showed early that they planned on running an aggressive, hard rushing defense. To counter, the Bulldog offense called a quick middle screen pass. Quarterback Jimmy Stroud tossed the ball over the on-rushing Mustang defense and Robert Bradford hauled in the pass with a lot of open field in front of him. After a 77 yard foot race Bradford crossed the goal line and the Dogs owned an early lead. The PAT kick was wide right and the scoreboard read 6-0.

Later in the first quarter the Mustangs mounted a scoring drive of their own. They scored a TD and were successful on the point after and claimed a 7-6 lead.

The Bulldogs answered back early in the second quarter with another long scoring strike. The drive was set up when Marble Falls fumbled on their own 37 and Greg Knuteon recovered to set the Dogs up with excellent field position. After a couple of unsuccessful running plays QB Kyle Woodland tossed the ball back to wingback Brian Flack. He in turn found Aaron Lacey sprinting through the Mustang secondary and connected for a 35 TD. The two point conversion to J.R. Forsythe was good and Bandera was back on top 14-7.

Marble Falls used most of the rest of the second quarter with a long, time consuming drive. The Mustangs took the ball on their own 35 and moved up field. On a couple of occasions during the drive they were confronted with fourth down situations. In both cases they gambled and went for the first and converted both times. As the first half drew to a close the Mustangs pushed the ball into the end zone for a touchdown but [illegible] went into the dressing room at halftime holding a 14-13 lead.

The defenses took charge of the game's third quarter and neither [illegible] on the board.

Late in the quarter Marble Falls did catch break when the Bulldogs were unable to get a

Bandera ISD considers new elementary school

After hiring Larry Manire of Evensen Dodge, Inc. to be the financial advisor for a bond election, Bandera Independent School District Board of Trustees considered proposals from three architects, each representing different firms.

Superintendent James Stewart said he thinks the solution to the Alkek Elementary School's overcrowding is to build a new school in Pipe Creek on the 12 acres of land the school district already owns. He pointed out, however, the need for a professional opinion first. A feasibility study on the expansion of facilities is now underway.

Stewart said that building a new elementary school in the Pipe Creek area would eliminate the long bus ride for Pipe Creek and Lakehills students. It would also enable them to participate in after-school activities.

Architects Fred Patterson, Randy Fromberg and Jim Landcaster talked to the board about the cost and results of hiring their individual firms to design a new school.

Patterson, from Texas A&M, said that he felt a building should be designed to be a learning experience in itself. He said he liked to keep his designs as open and flexible as possible and put in garden areas outside. He said he could work with a variety of budget considerations and had a good record with staying at or under budget and keeping [illegible]

His building projection featured classroom pods with restrooms in each pod.

Fromberg said he hoped the B.I.S.D. would hire him because he enjoys the drive to Bandera and was eager to learn more about the area. He said he could offer efficiency in design and [illegible] school districts. He said he had B.I.S.D. "Our projects run from $24.36 a square foot into the low $40,000 range."

Landcaster promised to utilize local talent and materials for the school. He said he uses computer matches and built clean, fresh buildings. He also complimented Bandera on the maintenance of their buildings. "Your 80 year old building is in better shape than some I've seen five years ago."

He said his goal was to make buildings as light and airy as possible and "not as a tribute to us."

Board members made no decision on hiring an architect during the Tuesday, Sept. 14 regular meeting.

County commissioners set higher tax rate

From .3875 last year to .4120 cents per $100

A tax rate total of .4120 cents per $100 valuation was set by Bandera County commissioners on Monday, Sept. 20.

The rate is comprised of .3790 for maintenance and operating costs, based on the 1994 budget, and interest and sinking at .0330 for a .4120 total. That is a .0627 percent increase from the 1993 tax rate of .3875.

Commissioners voted unanimously to pass the increase.

Judge Ray Mauer said that the .3790 tax rate set by county commissioners was less than the previously published amount of .4146, an .0693 percent increase, because commissioners had refined the budget.

He also said it would be impossible for Bandera County to revamp the present Courthouse to comply with ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act). He explained that to install an elevator to reach the second floor would entail eliminating two offices in the already over crowded building. He set the total cost of complying with ADA regulations in the present building at $500,000.

"For that, we could build a new court house."

Mauer said that he felt a bond issue and a raise in taxes would be needed to fund a building which would meet ADA standards.

Letters to the editor

One vote against 'blue' TV

Dear editor:

It came as no surprise to read in this morning's Express (Tuesday, Sept. 14) that the general manager of KSAT, after a great show of soul searching, had opted to show locally "NYPD Blue", beginning 9 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 21. For the first time in my life I called a television station to complain, or at least discuss, their programming, and wonder of wonders, I was able to talk to the guru himself, this man that has such power over our sight, our hearing, our very minds, and that of our children.

Would you care to guess what his defensive position was in justifying his and his station's and ABC's action in airing the show? In fact, you know what it was:

1. It is media art at its best (imagine!) and therefore the people should not be deprived of this great learning and entertainment experience.

2. It does not tempt children since all are, naturally, in bed by 9 p.m.

3. The series should be made public because the station, the network and the viewers all have that imbued constitutional right, to show it or to see it, regardless of its content.

The manager, this man who professes to having children that he cares for, failed to include the real reason in his defense, and you know what that is too-Money. The network and its chain of stations have reveled in the free publicity that "NYPD Blue" has been getting, and KSAT would not miss showing it for the world.

What shows of this type are in reality-a giant step downward into the sewer. Have you noticed how the TV and movie producers, directors, actors and owners have become the champions of the constitution as it protects the rights of the perverted and depraved? Forget the normal people possessed with reasonable and normal standards of conduct. Protect the kinkies and make a buck-that is their only standard.

It has occurred to me, perhaps a bit late, that we acting as individuals, can do a lot more than we have in the past in voting and in spending our assets to support out own principles. We can vote for a man on the basis of our judgement of his character and how he will react and decide, once elected, certainly not on the basis of what he promises. And we can put out money where our principles are.

By next week we will all know who the advertisers are on the "NYPD Blue" programs. I have heard that the major corporations have shied away from the notoriety of "Blue"-that remains to be seen. We, acting for ourselves, can purposely and steadfastly avoid buying the products and services of the "Blue" advertisers, and we can call or write them of our intentions. We can hit all of them, the filth pushers, where it hurts-in the pocket book. Do not ever give them credit for being moral or noble.

We can reverse the trend toward national depravity if we are purposeful and determined enough, acting for ourselves. I urge you to give it consideration.

His letter to the complainers

Dear editor:

This is an open letter to those who complain weekly in your (Letters to the Editor) column.

Dear Resident,

We are happy you chose to move to Bandera County. Welcome!

You left some big city for reasons known best to you. I suspect high crime rates, cost of living, street gangs, high utility rates, traffic congestion, etc.

You bought/built in a subdivision with streets not constructed to County specifications. You are remotely located, you do not have door to door mail.

You have a private garbage collection and that private water well company that furnished water to your general area seems to have a pump that is obsolete and new parts have to be manufactured. Again I say welcome!

Now that you have moved to a County with a small population and a small tax base, how about cutting some slack to your elected officials. They are well aware of the problems you have in these retirement/vacation/weekend type communities you have chosen for your residence.

There is no way that you can move from the

Janna Sandidge

I read a headline last week which intrigued me– "Open meetings dispute results in council arrests." In light of some of my observations of the overt violations of the Open Meetings Act, I had to read on.

It seems that the entire city council--including the mayor– of Granite Shoals was arrested and charged with violating the Texas Open Meetings Act. You know, the law that says city councils, school boards and county commissioners courts can't convene in closed sessions except in very specific and special circumstances. The language in the Open Meetings Act is very clear.

The Granite Shoals dispute appeared to be a result of ongoing friction that came to a head after an Aug. 27 meeting when a citizen stood to complain that the council was short-changing the police force. In mid-speech, the council approved a motion to adjourn. Then they waited until the citizen had left and they reconvened their meeting and continued discussing their budget.

Apparently there was a lot of finger-pointing and blame-dodging going on before Burnet County Attorney Robert Klaeger finally threw up his hands and filed criminal charges against all of them. He reportedly said:

"The main thing is, I wanted to get their attention, let them know what the law is and maybe get them to read all four pages of the Open Meetings Act."

Oh, good. Sarcasm! "All four pages," he said. I love it.

Then the county attorney had the whole bunch arrested. Now that I got your attention, Sparky... Klaeger continued:

"There was a very clear violation of the law and the statutes said it was in my prosecutorial discretion to file criminal misdemeanor charges. The folks in Granite Shoals have been fighting among themselves about something (for) ages. (Fighting among themselves–sound familiar?) So I decided, the heck with it. I'll just charge all of them and let them be mad at me for a change."

This guy has guts! Granite Shoals isn't much bigger than Bandera, and I'm sure that in a lot of circles Mr. Klaeger has become, even as we speak, a social pariah.

But what a victory! Finally, someone who forced those officials to actually pay attention to the letter of the law. Newspaper types have been trying to do this for years, but their protests often fall on deaf ears.

Part of the problem with that is that a lot of so-called "newspaper types" aren't acquainted with the old adage, "Choose your fights carefully." They spend a lot of time ranting about "secret" illegal meetings, and they end up sounding like paranoid lunatics, even though Texas law is technically on their side.

This battle, the one involving your "right to know" and where one entertain someone's your interest in government has been raging for a long time, and I trust it will continue for another long time. And with a school bond and general tax rollback [illegible], the stage is zon, with a lot of frank and opinionated discussion about just what constitutes the "representation" that goes along with taxation.

How Bandera looked through the years...

These photos were taken by Linnie Caffall, who owned and operated Linnie's Beauty Shop for many years in Bandera. The occasion was Bandera's first-ever Stompede, in 1948. For the next few years, people would flock to Bandera each year for the popular event, until the Stompede was finally discontinued in the early 1960s. One of the colorful revelers was Gordon "Dude" Biggs, who currently resides in Blanco.

"The mould was set in the late '30s, before the war, and around 1946 after World War II," Dude recalls. "Bandera was a western town, ranchers, cedar choppers, rodeo boys and dude wranglers and lots of dudes. Houston secretaries loved the atmosphere, and they drew the cowboys, and the bands added to the glamour. Groups from the ranches rode into town daily, and it was natural, no phoniness, a great bunch of misfits, but it was the beginning and an era never to be repeated." Dude recalled the names of those he knew in Bandera, including "Cactus Jack," J.B. Bradshaw, Felix Kindla, Mansfield Autry, "Uncle Ed" Mansfield, Sheriff Billy Burns and "a great personality," Bennie Adamietz.

"No one was ever like my friend Ralph Mitchell of the Cabaret," Dude says. "And there was Lucky Brooks, Eddie Farris, Ruth Whitley, Billie Crowell, Ned Pillows, R.L. Bland, Roy Calloway, Whiz Weisenhunt, Roy Fly, Vince Anderwald, Bobby Landry, George Cassara, Louis Postert and a lot of other great people through the years... Beau Chesson, Chili Cole, Jack Long, Elizabeth Mitchell, Ann Frost, Vance West, Ollie and Elmer Hargrove, Raymond Hicks, the Rugh brothers and Adolph Stricker... I sure don't want to slight anyone, as my memory is fading. Sash Jones, Slick Jones, Deputy Moss and his daughter Lucille, I.E. Adamietz, Ben Adamietz, Rhea and Bill Mansfield, Charlie the cook at the Cabaret, Marcel Bradshaw, Ann Tobin, Bud Smith, Dee Brown, Red Thompson, Hugo Werner, Elmo Jones, Crystal Balle and her roping brothers, Mr. (Joe) Glasscock who worked at the First National Bank, Tex, who worked at Dude's Drive In in the 40s, and a good-looking gal named Blackie.

"The bands were Smiley Whitley, Bob Wills, Texas Top Hands, Adolph Hofner, Harry Choate (of Jolie Blon fame), Hank Thompson and many more," Dude continues.

"Mike Robinson built the Frontier Hotel, later he built the Ramada Hotel chain. Mike, myself, Billie Crowell, Ruth Whitley, Ned Pillows and some more started the 'Bandera Stompede.' Jack Long drew the logo, this was about 47 years ago and a time of my life that I cherish today... this era is gone but not forgotten... what a time, great memories and great people. Many are gone but not forgotten. I hope Bandera never forgets them-- these are the ones that left a legacy for you guys who came later."

Dr. Pasto put the finishing touches on his office in Dr. Womack's Bandera Family Practice Clinic and is now accepting OB/GYN patients. Staff photo by Stephanie Logue

New ObGyn doctor comes to Bandera

Dr. George N. Pasto, M.D., who specializes in obstetrics and gynecology, will be in Bandera on Thursday afternoons at Bandera Family Practice Clinic, 1300 Cedar Street. Appointments may be made through Dr. Womack's office.

Pasto is from Portland, Oregon, and moved here from Arizona on Aug. 2. His goal is to provide rural health care in Bandera, Hondo, Devine and Castorville. He has been practicing medicine for over 23 years.

"People here seem very nice," Pasto said of the area. "I like the idea of living in a smaller town close to a bigger town. Some people want to come in and meet the doctor and talk to him to see what he's like before they select a physician. That's fine. I'll be glad to talk to them."

Pasto will perform routine exams and pap smears and give pre-natal care. He will stay with his patients all the way through their delivery. He will deliver babies at Medina Community Hospital in Hondo.

Work day scheduled Oct. 9 for Bandera Cemetery

Martin Smith, president of the Bandera Cemetery Association, has announced that Oct. 9 will be "an old fashioned work day" for Bandera Cemetery.

Funds for maintaining the grounds are affected by the current economic situation. Volunteers are needed to fill in the gaps. The cemetery association is a non-profit organization operated by volunteers who donate their time and energies to provide the cemetery facility to the community.

Board members include: Joe Preston, Mildred Bausch, Pauline Stevens, Eleanor Merritt, Louis Hayes, Raymond Hicks, Allan Burnes, Margaret Callahan, Joe Goodenough, Alleen Ellinger, Dan Ellinger, Kim Mikulik and Robert Mazurek. Officers are: Martin Smith, president; Judy Goodenough, vice president; and Dorothy Warmack, secretary/treasurer.

This work day is an opportunity for families in the community to give a day or a portion of a day to beautify the cemetery. The meeting time is 8 a.m. at the cemetery.

Sheriff's report

The Bandera County Sheriff's Department answered 62 calls for service during the week of Sept. 13 through Sept. 19. They included one each for: public assist; lost property; shots fired; mental commitment; reckless driver; emergency message; criminal trespass; assist EMS; recovered stolen vehicle; theft; runaway juvenile; and burning ban violation.

Other calls included; burglary of a habitation, 2; major vehicle accident, 2; alarm, 2; animal complaint, 2; abandoned vehicle, 2; loose livestock, 3; disturbance, 3; minor vehicle wreck, 3; welfare concern, 3; domestic dispute, 5; Misdemeanor arrest, 8; and suspicious circumstances, 15.

A Medina area resident reported that someone entered their residence on Sept. 13 and stole a TV, VCR and jewelry.

On Sept. 14, a vehicle occupied by a Pipe Creek woman and her daughter became stranded on the English Crossing bridge low water crossing. A Pipe Creek man, Mark Mayfield, assisted deputies in getting the car started and getting the passengers out of the high water.

a Bandera area resident reported items had been taken from their residence on Sept. 18. Taken was a rifle and a DC player.

Keith McCormack, 30, of Boerne was arrested on Sept. 19 on a Felony charge of DWI, third offense.

'Barn Raising' was success

The Sept. 19 "Barn Raising" at the Cabaret netted $7,000 in profit towards the Junior Livestock Association's barn improvement project.

Spencer Morris of Pipe Creek won the 1993 Ford Ranger pickup truck which was raffled.

Conrad Nightingale said that close to 400 attended the Barn Raising and there was "real good participation" in the bake sale. More fund raisers are planned for the construction project which spells improvement and expansion for the Ferguson Show Barn at Mansfield Park.

Bandera County Artists started their fall season

With the election of officers for the coming year, Bandera County Artists have lined up demonstrations and committees are working out details for the up-coming art and craft show for hunter's weekend.

New officers elected are Mary Alice Correa as president; Sylvia Saffell, vice-president; Mary Lou Scherer, secretary; and Jorge Alatorre, treasurer.

At the September meeting, water colorist Bobbye Burkhart of Utopia demonstraed her art. Bobbye went to Pearsall High School, received her B.S. degree from Southwest Texas University and her M. ED. from the University of Texas. She attended special watercolor workshops in Taos, New Mexico and the International String and Art Workshop in Lausanne, Switzerland. She co-authored a book, "Sketches of Refugio" with Katherine Henkel of Rockport. The book has drawings and histories of the historic homes of Rufugio.

She has been a public school teacher of art and other subjects for 38 years. During the summers she taught drawing and painting and art education at Southwest Texas University, Houston University and Bee County Junior College. Through region twenty in San Antonio, she has taught many art and science workshops for teachers.

She received from the National Art Association an "Award of Excellence" for furthering art for the youth of Texas. These awards were presented in Miami Beach, Florida and St. Louis, Missouri, respectively.

After retirement, Bobbye and her husband Richard opened "Wood-N-Things", a store dealing in woodwork arts and crafts consignments. You can find furniture and wood crafts done by Richard, as well as paintings and crafts done by Bobbye, and a variety of other items by other local people.

Right to Life advocates to sponsor 'Life Chain' at two Bandera sites

Bandera County residents from two different parts of the county will take place in the National Life Chain on Sunday, Oct. 3 from 2:30 to 3:30 p.m. They will line up along Main Street in Bandera and at the corner of Park Road 37 and FM 1283 in Lakehills and silently hold up signs as they pray "for the safety of unborn children."

Those who are uncomfortable with standing and holding a sign for an hour may pray, instead, at the local churches which choose to open for prayer during that time, says spokeswoman Michelle Rosenbaum. Those wishing to participate in the Bandera Life Chain may meet at the Courthouse between 2 and 2:30 p.m. For more information, call Michelle Rosenbaum at 796-3364.

For those wishing to participate in the Lakehills Life Chain, meet at the 4-way stop between 2 and 2:30 p.m.For more information, call Pastor Bob O'Dell at 751-2481.

Strange case of the attacking roadrunner

We came home after a 2 day visit and found that we were being attacked by a roadrunner! He hops and runs from window to window trying to get in and when we try to shoo him away with a towel, he slowly hops in front and then just runs around to the other side of the house and begins attacking the windows over there—And he can't see his reflection-so that's not it. Did anyone see that movie "The Birds", where thousands of birds attack this whole town! Watch out Bandera-it's the "attack of the roadrunners"!

If this keeps up, we may be having "roadrunner and dumplings" around our house.

• Mansfield Park Recreation Center is finally picking up on what it's there for! There'll be a gun show, Saturday and Sunday, and after it's a success, maybe we'll get other "trade" shows going. Everybody go out and support it!

• The Methodist Church is sponsoring on "after game" party for Jr. and High School kids after the football games. What a great idea. The first one had over 100 attending!

• Oct. 5 is the date to remember for the Friends of the Library annual BBQ, right smack dab on Main Street, at the firehouse. The Hilltoppers will, once again, donate their time, and Bruce Montague and family will, too. Bruce's children are growing up and getting into the act now and they all put on a real show.

• The Barn Raiser at the Cabaret was a grand success and a big plus was that everyone got to see what local owner, Patricia Godkin, and her partners, have done with it. It is great, and their dining facilities are booming.

• I loved last week's article for the "Native Plant Society". It says "Thousands present at native plant meeting." (Boy! I was thinking where ever did they get thousands in a population of 874?!) Thousands of SEEDS were present for exchange. and then, for their October meeting, Fred Collins will give a seminar on using native woods, and the November meeting, Baxter Adams will speak on "Propagating natives." Hmmm... have to ponder that one. South Sea Island natives?

• The Flying L had another moonglow golf balls and luminarios all over the golf course.

• The OST has a great, new-old look! It's really gone western with a lot more memorabilia and John Wayne hanging around, and neat, real saddles as seats at the old original bar. Looks like "The Cowboy Capital"!

• Line dancing has started again at the Silver Sage. Last year it went from age 8 to 80 (no kidding!), and the firs few times you kind of huff and puff, but then you take of and really get it. These lessons are great for people who claim to have "two left feet" and never danced before. Peggy Huffman gets EVERYONE up dancing.

• The Bandera Nursing Home has just started a wonderful program of "Adult Day Care." This service is perfect for the "care provider" because it allows a free day, and it's perfect for the "care providee", 'cause its a change of scenery and a chance to get out and meet others. Go check it out.

• I wish to thank those who abducted my pink plastic flamingos and left a ransom note. Since I met all the conditions in the note, they were returned! There are really some zany people in this town-and I love it!

• The Bandera American Legion Auxiliary meets every other Thursday, starting Sept. 23, for a quilting bee at around 10 a.m. They say anyone who wants to join in the fun just go on over and join in! They have only one rule of the day-that's NO GOSSIPING! That's a pretty good rule, I think.

Peggy Tobin

If we had been assigned a reading list for a college course n Hispanic Life and Culture, we could not have been more totally concentrated on one repetitive theme than we just happened to be all summer as we read along while awaiting various developments in mountain cabins, motel suites, and airplane window seats. We don't know if any of y'all care about the following, but you have to listen anyway.

It all started on a bus in Venezuela, with one Mariela Perez saying that if anyone wished fully to understand the Latin-American mindset and tradition, he should read the South American best-seller, first published in 1967 in Buenos Aires, "One Hundred Years of Solitude" by Gabriel Garcia Marquez. We couldn't find the book in Caracas, but back home were able to order an English translation.

Garcia Marquez, we were to realize as we read other books through the summer, created a much emulated way of storytelling known as magic reality. In "One Hundred Years etc." he follows the life of one family in a backwater Caribbean town whose seemingly futile existence is enlivened and explosively changed from time to time by bizarre and supernatural happenings. The story is too fantastic to summarize. We'll lend you the book!

The underlying serious theme of the author seems to be the basic hopelessness of women, enslaved by family tradition, devotion to duty, entrapment in the kitchen, and in the demanding rituals of the Church. But despite all, the matriarch survives tedium, heat, flood, and revolution before the last survivor is finally done away with. (Would you believe carried off by magic ants?)

OK, so we waded through this demanding book, gasping at every turn of the page, when a friend across the Colorado gulch handed us a copy of the book on current shelves here, "Like Water for Chocolate" by Laura Esquivel. This small easy novel was the 1990 best-seller in Mexico and has been made into a movie showing in the US with English subtitles. Our friend thought us pretty perceptive to catch on immediately to the use the author had made of the Garcia-Marques device of "magic reality." You guessed it, trapped in the kitchen, in this case by the tradition that youngest daughters may not marry but must stay home to take care of Mama. The kitchen and the food Tita grudgingly cooks for everyone in the household dominate the story. But again, supernatural happenings cause pyrotechnic turns of events in dull lives. And Tita in the end goes out in a blaze of glory.

We found that the idea is not new. The kitchen slave as heroine turned up again in two other books we picked up—nineteenth-century classic "Ramona" by Helen Hunt Jackson, set in early Spanish California, and "Andorra" by Isabelle Sandy, where, in a story published in Britain in the 1920s, our same deserving girl struggles against family tradition in a kitchen in the Pyrenees. (Thanks, Peter Chapman, for donating "Andorra" to the St. Christopher's book exchange.)

Last but not least is the hilarious piece of ribaldry we just finished, "The Devil, Delfina Varela, and the Used Chevvy", a brand-new piece of magic reality laid in the Mission District of San Francisco and narrated by Louie Garcia Robinson. Delfina sold her soul to get out of her kitchen and on to the freeway in a red Chevrolet. We can't say more. You must get the book before the movie comes out. A movie is bound to come out.

School tax rate set at 12 percent over last year's rate

If BISD wins appeal with the state, superintendent says tax rate may drop again

Bandera Independent School District Board of Trustees set a tax rate of $1.48, a 12 percent increase over last year's tax rate of $1.35, in the Sept. 14 school board meeting. Last year's combined total tax of $1.35 was a 22.9 percent increase over the prior year.

Now that County Educational District taxes have been dropped, school taxes in Bandera County address maintenance and operating costs and debt service from the last bond election. This year's maintenance and operating tax was set at $1.34 by the school board. The debt service tacks another .14 cents on the final figure.

Superintendent James Stewart said that $1.33 for maintenance and operating would "drive" the budget but would not allow for amending the budget in August when the final bills for the school year are due. He said the state had recommended an "effective tax rate" of $1.35. "The effective tax rate is the amount it would take to give the students the same services as the year before," he explained. He called the decision to set the rate at $1.34, "responsible."

Board member James Wagner reminded the board that an outcry from tax payers in the district had resulted in a rollback a few years ago. He said that to vote for the 12 percent increase, then ask tax payers to shoulder the cost of a new bond election was outrageous. "They're not going to take it."

He voted against the tax rate.

Other board members, Pat Cleaver, Scott Parker, Margaret Paradee, and T.H. "Bub" Keese voted for the tax rate. Ken Vakey and George Wesch were not at the meeting. Paradee said it was the 1993-94 budget was the first one she had supported since her election to the school board.

Stewart said the "bare bones" budget was necessary partly because the State of Texas had dropped the amount per student they pay to individual schools. "We spent over $100 less per child last year than the state average. That's responsible budgeting."

He also said it was necessary to build a new elementary school due to the current over crowding at Alkek. He said the school district owns 12 acres in Pipe Creek between Pipe Creek and Lakehills. "Building a school there would cut the bus ride for those children down from an hour and a half to 45 minutes and would allow children from that area to participate in after-school activities like Girl Scouts." He said that many parents who live in Lakehills are unable to pick their children up after school. That denies their children the chance to participate in after-school activities.

If B.I.S.D. wins their appeal to the State Stewart says, it may be possible to lower this year's tax rate. Bandera has appealed the decision on the number of students enrolled last year. The school district had more than the state's estimation.

Scott Parker said he had faith that there wasn't "a lot of fat in the budget." He said that any cut in the budget would be going backwards and the result is that students would get hurt. "We have to lay the facts out and let the voters vote their conscience."

Keese said that the budget could not be cut further without cutting staff.

Paradee said that she was afraid the tax wouldn't pass but that she was not willing to cut staff. "Our main responsibility is to take the kids and educate them."

Stewart said the 2.4 percent increase in students in the district has resulted in over 6 percent of additional staff which led to the 12 percent tax increase this year.

It is almost time again for the big annual fund-raiser! The Friends of the Library are making preparations for the ninth annual bar-b-q. This is a community-wide effort in support of our library. It will be held on Saturday, Oct. 2, from 4-7 p.m. at the fire station (next to the library).

The menu will consist of sausage bar-b-q, beans, coleslaw, trimmings and tea. There will be music by the Hilltoppers; trick roping and a bake sale and cake auction.

At its August meeting, the library board bade farewell to some of its members: John Maxwell, Dolores Heeg, Betty MacNaughton and Wendy Wheeler. These members will be missed for their support of the library. New members were welcomed to the board at this same meeting—Carol Adams, Holly Boyle, William C. Hayden and Jerald L. (Jay) Hoskelis. Dr. Orton Frisbie, the president of the Bandera County Library Board of Trustees presided over the meeting. Newly elected officers are: Orton Frisbie, President; Ann Edge, Vice-President; and Holly Boyle, Secretary.

As the saying goes, "All good things must come to an end." We are losing our part-time library clerk, Judy Georg! Judy has been a tremendous help to us this past year! If there is any such thing as "catching up" in the library albeit, temporarily, we have done so with Judy's help. She has been a delight to work with. We are very sorry to see her leave. Her husband, Charles, is retiring from the Highway Dept. and they are moving to their home in Bulverde. I know that I speak for all of us when I say that "We will miss you, Judy."

In closing, don't forget to join us at the barbecue...help support your library, please!

Historian Robert Reed will entertain, both in sharing Louisiana heritage, and with his cooking demonstrations. Entertainment on the Gazebo stage has also been increased this year.

The Cajun Festival originated as the "Great Gumbo Cookoff." Gumbo remains a strong attraction to the festival. Visitors can sample a wide variety of gumbos prepared by amateur and professional cooks from Texas and Louisiana. Interested Gumbo cooks should call (210) 736-8406, or (210) 590-4954.

Arts, crafts and games offer entertainment for the entire family. Cajun Festival T-shirts and Cajun Festival Cookbooks will be available.

Junior high sixth graders are learning to combine several subjects into each learning period; they use creative writing and English language skills while they master computer literacy.

Jessica Keegan and Lauren Murley teamed up to make a "ME" book for Murley. The creative writing class assignment involved junior high students and elementary students in a joint literary project.

Computer literacy + English = Jr. High fun

Sixth graders combine reading, English, creative writing and more as they compute

Junior high sixth graders are combining reading, English and computer literacy into one class, according to computer literacy and creative writing teacher Shirley Nedry.

Students read "Summer of the Swans" in reading class. For English, they set to work writing character sketches. Both are combined with computer literacy as students learn to write, edit and polish and file their work on computers.

Meanwhile, students in creative writing classes in seventh and eighth grade worked with Alkek Elementary first graders to produce a "ME" book for the younger students. Junior high students interviewed elementary students. They created original manipulative children's books for their elementary partners. Some were spinner books, others were fold-outs, flippers, peek-a-boos and pop ups. Each contained personal information about the elementary student.

Junior high students who teamed with elementary students to make books for them include: Cherl Aamodt, Lee Aldridge, Chris Bradberry, Shann Canellis, Ryan Epperson, Brand Gunther, Corbett Hayes, Spencer Hicks, Muriel Hooper, Christina Immel, Jolene Jeffery, Jaclyn Joseph, Jessica Keegan, Megan Lee, Jimmy MacMillan, Tiffany Momot, Jill Robinson, Ann Ross, Linda Slade, Santos Suares, Zulema Trejo, Matt Wied, Mycah Anglin, Valeri Brenner, Eric Brown, Erika Dinse, Kyndle Fischer, Tara Godfrey, John Gray, Sarah Harris, Ale Hutcherson, Johnmy Ingram, Fred Jennings, Christi Johnson, Franc Johnston, Jason McKinney, Carrie Pease, Jason Rubio, and Katherin Sloan.

The quarterly general membership meeting of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department was called to order by their President at 11 a.m. on Sept. 11 at the fire house. Apathy prevailed, with over 125 paid up members, and most of those married, so that would mean about 250 eligible to take part. Only 18 attended and that included some of the elected officers. Listening to many who do not attend any of the meetings, you find that they believe that they have all the answers on how the fire department should be run. It would be nice if they found the time to attend the next meeting, as they only last for about an hour.

• On Sept. 12 the congregation of the Walker Memorial Chapel was treated to the sounds of some special music. Phyllis White of San Antonio was accompanied by Judy Hooper on the guitar. Phyllis and Judy have sung together many times in San Antonio when they were roommates attending Trinity University.

• The annual general membership meeting of the Lake Medina Shores Owners' Association convened Sept. 4 at the Association's pavilion. Terms of two directors lapsed at the close of the meeting. Therefore, the main item on the agenda was the election of replacements on the board consisting of five directors.

Mr. Jack Comeaux was elected on the first ballot. A run off election for the other spot on the board resulted in Mrs. "Bea" Chavarria being elected.

Real-life potter Doug Marks presented his message about God's involvement in ever person's life at Faith Chapel in Lakehills on Wednesday, Sept. 15.

Faith Chapel in Lakehills hosted potter

Doug Marks likens potter's art to God's 'classroom'

By Stephanie Logue
Bulletin Staff Writer

Potter Doug Marks presented a pottery-making demonstration at Faith Chapel in Lakehills on Wednesday, Sept. 15. He said that God's classroom for the prophet Jeremiah was a potter's house and the potter's skill was God's choice for communication.

"Just as God worked with His clay, God was going to work with the nation He loved," Marks then tailored that message to fit today's world. He said God wants His people to know Him; God is personally involved with His people; and God, as Potter, has absolute choice in the shaping of the clay.

Marks also told the audience that they were to be vessels for the Lord. "God also plans the vessel to become His vessel," he said. "As God molds and makes us after His will, we are specifically and wonderfully His. All that we are is God's and our task is to know Him and live according to our 'God image.'"

His main message was that "God has a plan for each of us. God personally reveals Himself to us."

Using real clay, Marks demonstrated how the clay was a lifeless lump until harvested by the Potter. The Potter takes the clay and makes it HIS. The Potter loves the clay and works hard preparing it for shaping. It is not useful until it is on the wheel. God chooses the design. The power is in the Potter, not the clay.

The clay, Marks showed, must be balanced and centered. The clay sometimes pushes back, wanting to get off the wheel. The Potter must have a solid foundation and a firm hand. He uses water to ease the centering, just as God's word and Spirit washes and encourages Christians.

Marks said that the Potter sometimes grieves over the clay. He knows from the beginning what the vessel will look like when completed. He rejoices over it even in the early stages of shaping. No vessel is identical to another. Sometimes, in shaping the pot, it must be destroyed and begun again. All vessels must be trimmed.

"God removes things in our lives that keep us from being a vessel of honor," Marks explained, as he cut the clay.

The Potter fires his pots; seals them with glazes; no pot is perfect, yet the Potter sets its value.

The pot is signed and connected forever to the Potter. "We are called by God's name. He has made us, cleansed us by the death of His Son for our sins, sealed us by His Spirit, and jealously guards our lives in Him."

THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

God's Eternal Faithfulness

"...the faithfulness of the Lord endures forever."
— Psalm 117

The one true fact in the long existence of mankind has been the knowledge of God and His concern for His creations. Certainly, adversities befell man, but God was always there as a solace, to heal and restore that which had been ravaged or despoiled. God might not always be comforting; in fact, He could at times be most vengeful. However, in these instances, it was because mankind deserved such punishment for his own misdeeds. What must be kept in mind is that even in those instances, it was a caring God who acted for the betterment of His children — to bring them back to the righteous ways toward His kingdom. God exists, for us, and the sooner we accept that verity, the sooner harmony and peace will reign in the world.

The Heritage Study Group hosted a Christmas in September demonstration at the Center on Wednesday, Sept. 15 at 10 a.m. In attendance were the Rio Hondo Study Group, the Bluebonnets Study Group, Williams Creek Study Group and the Bandera Quilt Guild members, and various visitors who enjoyed discussions and demonstrations of gift ideas for the coming holiday season. Everyone enjoyed home baked cookies and punch. The atmosphere was filled with the holiday spirit of happiness. Recipes were exchanged and ideas for custom handcrafted gifts sent all home eager to create for the forthcoming holidays. On Friday, Sept. 17, the Group drove to San Antonio and visited the Quilt Show held in the Municipal Auditorium. Visitors are welcome to visit with the group. Meetings are held at the Center every Wednesday at 10 a.m. For further information, please contact Judy Rodriquez.

The Bridge Club will meet every Monday and Friday at 9 a.m. with games all day long. We now have 12 players. Anyone interested, please bring some friends to complete tables of 4 players. Those interested in other types of card games, Canasta, Samba, etc., please bring a group and we will set up the tables and in most cases furnish the cards. Contact Carol Browne at the Center.

Welcome Marlene Bryce, a newcomer to the Center. Marlene has volunteered 3 days of every week to work on the front desk. Everyone know Bill Bryce, our City Councilman. Bill has been kind enough to donate a few hours a week for the Meals on Wheels van as helper. Bill and Marlene have always been such a support of the Center, and now are active volunteers. Thank you both for your help.

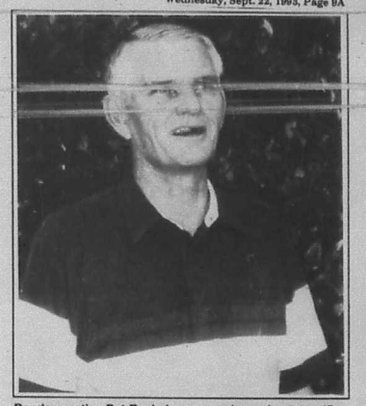

Next week, Sept. 28, will be our Birthday Luncheon. Please mark this date on your calendar, as we have a very special guest speaker, Carolyn Edwards. We want a nice turnout, so please call your neighbors and friends. Think of something special to bring for the luncheon. Remember, you birthday people will be first in line for all of the goodies.

Our director is enjoying a few days off, and with the "Boss" away, the staff and volunteers will be holding down the Center. Delores will return this coming weekend and will be back to work on Monday. We miss you Delores, hope you are having fun. Howard Strange, our devoted van driver, will be returning from his nice vacation soon and will be back on the job Monday also.

The Chamber of Commerce sent over a project for the Silver Sage: Sewing 500 little cloth sacks that will be used for sacking all of the printed brochures to be given out for the Hunters Weekend Bar-B-Q. Joan Broomall and her handy little sewing machine stitched all 500 cloth sacks, and Marie Larson was a helper. Thank you both. A community project well done by the Silver Sage Corral.

Bandera native Pat Boyle has opened a real estate office at 800 Main Street in the Guaranty Federal Savings Bank. He owned and operated Bandera Ice House from 1950 until 1978 when he sold it to the present owner, Herby Syring. Before settling into a new career, Boyle said he "took time to smell the roses." He tried his hand at farming and ranching and worked with another local realtor. "I always wanted to go into real estate. I thought it was a pretty decent occupation. It's always facinated me," Boyle says. He opened his office in August and handles local properties of all kinds. "You have to be flexible to make a living in this town," he explains.

The Baker's Dozen Raffle is now history. Thirteen winners names were drawn at the dance at Utopia Park on Saturday night! The winners and their families will be dining on some of the most decadent cholesterol catastrophic goodies known to humankind. (If only I'd bought more tickets...)

Although there was some teamwork involved in the middle stages of the Baker's Dozen Raffle, it was inspired and energized by the efforts on one. Lanell Kellner masterminded the plan which brought $1,023 to the P.T.O. playground fund.

The results of the hamburger/dance are still in the accounting office. But its success in terms of "a good time" was a firm 10. As one elementary student was overheard saying, "now this is what I call fun".

This notice is required by the Texas Legislature.

*The percentage increase shown in the first paragraph below may appear unusually high because it does not reflect 1992 taxes levied by the now abolished county education district (CED). In 1992, the CED levied a portion of the taxes used for school purposes, and the school district levied the remainder of school taxes. In 1993, school districts will levy all school taxes. For an explanation of the increase, attend the public hearing scheduled below or call your school district.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Medina Independent School District will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1992 by 1268 * percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on September 30, 1993 at 7:00 p.m.

FOR the proposal: Andy Lauterbach, Randy MacNaughton, Linda Barton, Keith Reese, Fred Burch & Neal Kelser.

AGAINST the proposal: None

PRESENT and not voting:

ABSENT: W.C. Johnson

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on September 16, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	(Optional) Last Year County Education District	Last Year School District	This Year School District
Average home value	$ 39,961	$ 39,961	$ 48,815
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemption)	$ 12,992	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 26,969	$ 34,961	$ 43,815
Tax rate	$ .95 /$100	.0721 /$100	1.00 /$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 256.21	$ 25.21	$ 438.15 (proposed)
	(Optional) Total 1992 School Taxes $ 281.42		(Optional) Total 1993 School Taxes $ 438.15 (proposed)

(School districts publishing optional information must publish the following:)
This paragraph compares last year's CED and school district taxes with this year's proposed school district taxes.

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 156.73 or 55.69 percent compared with last year's total school taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would decrease by $ .0221 per $100 of taxable value or 2.16 percent compared to last year's total school tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

(All school districts must publish the following:)
This paragraph compares last year's school district tax with this year's proposed school district taxes.

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 412.94 or 1638 percent compared with last year's school district taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the school district's tax rate would increase by $ .9229 per $100 of taxable value or 1207 percent compared to last year's school district tax rate.

THE ACCOMPANYING TAX NOTICE IS WRONG!

The Medina Independent School District is required by state law to publish the accompanying tax notice in this form, even though the notice is deceptive.

Because of an omission in the recently-enacted state law, Medina I.S.D. may not include revenue collected by the county education district in the calculation of taxes for the 1992-93 school year. The effect of this is to understate last year's actual school tax rate and produce an inaccurate comparison of last year's tax rate to this year's tax rate.

The correct comparison of tax rates is as follows:

Last year's (1992-93) total school tax rate (including county education district taxes): 1.0221

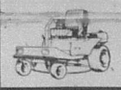

This year's (1993-94) proposed school tax rate: 1.00

Percentage change: (DECREASE) 2.16

The increase shown on the "NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING ON TAX INCREASE" is due in a large part to the loss of the 20% optional homestead exemption that had been granted by the Bandera County Education District.

Let the Bible Speak

DOES THE END JUSTIFY THE MEANS?

There is a philosophy in religion which has been accepted in many churches which claims to belong to Christ. It is the idea that the end justifies the means. In other words, if the result is good, then any means used to accomplish that result is permissible. Basing their approach upon this philosophy, many liberal religious groups today engage in many practices that are foreign and unknown to the New Testament, and were never present in the apostolic church, the church that Jesus built. Matt. 16:18. Numbered among such practices are such things as joy buses, movies, team sports, youth church, puppet ministries, and such like which have their appeal to the masses, but have no foundation in scripture. What was it in the early days that appealed to the people? Was it not the gospel? Paul did not need anything but the gospel to convict men of sin, and show them how to be saved. In Romans 1:16, Paul said that the gospel was God's power to save, and he was not ashamed of that fact. I think many times today we are ashamed to say what Paul did because it doesn't draw the masses. Other means to draw people are used, and other methods of salvation are offered instead of the gospel. The gospel offers sound doctrine, and Paul said in II Timothy 4:3, "For the time shall come when they will not endure sound doctrine..." Verse 4 says, "And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables."

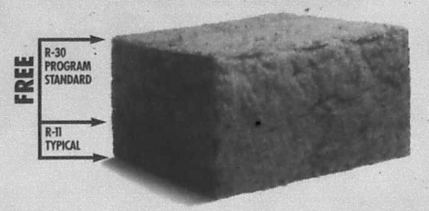

The Bible has given us a notable example of the folly of this philosophy in the case of Moses. When the children of Israel were encamped at Kadesh, there was no water. With anger in their voices, the people confronted Moses and "chode" with him (Numbers 20:3). God spoke to Moses and commanded him the take the rod, and speak to the rock before their eyes, and he promised that water would come forth. Moses obtained good results from what he did (he gave the people water) but his method was contrary to what God had commanded. He struck the rock instead of speaking as he should. (Numbers 20:11). Only a very small deviation, isn't it? So small that God would not allow Moses into the land of promise! (Numbers 20:12) THE END DID NOT JUSTIFY THE MEANS!

Let us examine every word of doctrine, every method of work, and every item of practice to see that it goes not beyond His rule--the New Testament.

Thoughts on the debt issue

Dear editor:

Whatever became of the wise old adage, "A penny saved, is a penny earned."?...or, "Waste not, want not."?

It appears that, those who were responsible for drafting the Constitutional Amendments, which we are to vote on Nov. 2, have no respect for "another man's money" (our hard earned "taxed" dollars!).

It appears that not less than four amendments (#1, 10 13, and 14) are for raising the debt/bond limits.

Are we no longer required to "pay for our debts to the last farthing"? And who shall pay off these bonds and the accrued interest when they come due and payable?

Easy money leads to wastefulness. Is this not just another form of the charge card fever that has hit the land? Should not our Federal, State and local governments tighten their belts and practice thrift in this time of need, rather than proliferate the borrow and spend ethics that is sinking our nation in a sea of debt?

Connie Butterfield
Bandera

P.S. Why shouldn't residents of a neighborhood chip in to have their roads paved? Have we become so weak and dependent on government handouts that we can no longer accomplish anything for the good without raising taxes and using other peoples money? (It's really our money-yours and mine, being wasted.)

P.P.S. Whatever happened to the state lottery revenues???

She thinks it's still a bargain

Dear editor:

I've always thought the Bulletin is the best bargain in town-- it still is at 50 cents!

More youth center ideas

Dear editor:

The recent loss of more of our young people has spurred discussion about the need for a youth center. We have a Bandera County Youth center on the drawing board. We have our bylaws, tax exempt status and an agreement with Bandera County for land at Mansfield Park. We are applying for a private grant through the newly formed Bandera County RC & D committee very soon and with public support and persistence we will get it.

The next meeting of the Youth committee is scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the old Bandera Bank building in Bandera. We need all the help we can get, young, old and inbetween. Hope to see you there.

A recent comment in the Bulletin suggested that politicians were afraid to do anything about liquor and drugs being available to our youth for fear of not getting elected. That was not a well thought out statement. I do not know of any politician who thinks that way. If you do, it's time to send them packing. If anyone has any knowledge of anyone making alcohol and drugs available to our youth, please let us know, we will do something about it.

BISD tax hearing set Sept. 28

The Bandera Independent School District (B.I.S.D.) Board of Trustees will hold a public tax hearing on Tuesday, Sept. 28 at 7 p.m. The public is invited to come and speak at the hearing.

Assistant superintendent, Skip Pfeiffer, said that last year no one attended the public tax hearing. They did, however, show up for the tax rate adoption when it was too late to speak out on the tax issue. He said that those wishing to address the proposed tax rate should be present at the Tuesday, Sept. 28 meeting.

The school board will adopt the tax rate on Tuesday, Oct. 5 at 7 p.m. That meeting is not a public hearing.

Bandera County youth center group to meet

The Bandera County Youth Building Committee will meet on Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bandera Bank.

Committee members are trying to find a building in Bandera to house a youth center. Some funds are on hand. Several ideas will be discussed in the Sept. 30 meeting. Adults and teens are urged to attend. "It will take community involvement to ever get a youth center built," Amy McClane said. "Once they have attended a few meetings, teens as well as adults, can exercise voting privileges. But we need people to come to these meetings."

For more information, call Brian McClane or Beverly McMeans at 796-7030.

Retirement dinner planned for PC Rev. Dale Hines

Rev. Dale Hines, who has served as pastor of Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church for nearly six years, will retire for a second time on Sunday, Sept. 26. He previously retired from the Air Force where he served as chaplain for 27 years.

Hines has served as a pastor in 14 different pastorates, world-wide, for a total of 40 years in the ministry. When his wife, Diane, retires from teaching, the couple plan to travel the country in an RV.

A special potluck dinner will be held after the worship service at the Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church on Sept. 26 to honor the Hines. Friends are invited to attend.

Medina boosts record to 2-0 with 24-2 win over Asherton

The Medina Bobcats used a powerful offense along with a strong defense to continued their winning ways with a 24-2 victory over the Asherton Trojans Friday night, Sept. 17 in Asherton.

The Bobcats received the opening kickoff and started the game on their own 12 yard line. Behind the running of Randy Rose and Eli Hickman the Bobcats took the ball out to their own 43 yard line where their drive was halted. After a Scott Faglie punt left Asherton on their own 21 yard line. The Medina defense held and forced Asherton to punt. John Melendrez downed the ball at the Bobcat 11 yard line. The Bobcat offense again would move the ball down to the Trojan 37 yard line before major penalties would bring the ball back to the Medina 33 yard line where the scoreless first quarter ended.

As the second period unfolded, the Bobcats held the Trojans on downs,and took over on their own 28 yard line. From here the running game worked and behind Rose, Hickman, and Clifford Watts, the Bobcats had a 1st and 10 on the Asherton 20 yard line. On a reverse play, Matt DeLeon took it in for a 20 yard touchdown run. The point after was no good, and the score was 6-0 with 7:20 left in the half.

Following the kickoff, Asherton was forced to punt after 3 plays. Medina took over on their own 35 yard line. and quickly moved to their 45 yard line.Two passes dropped incompletebut on 3rd and 10, Randy Rose ran around the right side for a 55 yard touchdown run, and a Clifford Watts pass to Scott Faglie added two-points to give Medina a lead of 14-0 with 4:54 left in the half.

The 'Cat defense stopped the Trojans and then moved to the Asherton 19 yard line before a interception killed the Medina drive with 52 seconds left in the half.

The Trojans opened the second half with a trick play that took the ball from their own 29 to the Medina 19. Medina's defense dug in and kept Asherton out of the end zone but when the Bobcat offense took over on downs at their own 12 yard line, they could not move.

After exchanging punts, the Bobcats would get the ball again at their own 3 yard line with 6:39 left in the 3rd quarter. On a 2nd and 9 play, running back Eli Hickman was tackled in the end zone for a safety giving the Trojans the only points they would get for the night.

Following Scott Faglies punt after the safety, Asherton had the ball on their own 45 yard line. The Trojans tried another trick play, but lost 11 yards. Bobcat Chris Whitehead would intercept a pass on the next play and give the Bobcats the ball at the Asherton 39.

The Trojan defense held and they took over on downs at their 30 yard line. On 3rd down and 6, again Whitehead intercepted a Trojan pass and this time gave Medina the ball on their own 41. The Bobcats moved the ball into Trojan territory as the 3rd quarter ends.

The Bobcats scored again on a Randy Rose run of 4 yards. A pass from Chris Whitehead to Jordan Vannatter made the score 22-2 with 8:55 left in the game. The Bobcats closed out the scoring when they recorded a safety with 2:39 left in the game to make the final score 24-2.

Leading rushers for Medina were Randy Rose with 167 yards on 23 carries and Eli Hickman 67 yards on 13 carries. The Bobcats had 22 first downs compared to 3 for Asherton. The Bobcat defense allowed Asherton just 27 yards rushing on 23 carries.

The Bobcats were penalized 9 times for 80 yards while the Trojans had 3 flags for 20 yards. Medina had 102 yards passing on 6 attempts. Scott Faglie had 89 yards receiving on 4 catches.

Medina, with a 2-0 record opens district play at home Friday night, Sept. 24 against Sabinal. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Vanderpool/Nalyon School Reunion set

Students who attended Sabinal Canyon schools will gather Saturday

A reunion of students who attended the Vanderpool and Nalyon Schools of Vanderpool will be held next Saturday, Sept. 25 at the Vanderpool schoolhouse.

The reunion will begin at 9 a.m. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish and any memorabilia about the schools, says spokesperson, Leota Clayton Hosman of Utopia.

"The Vanderpool and Nalyon Schools consolidated with Utopia in 1942," says Hosman.

"So many of us in this part of the county grew up together and went to these schools, but we're all getting older, so we want to get together while we still can, " says Hosman. This is the second reunion. The first was held 5 years ago.

Hoyt Foster, another former student of the schools, is also looking forward to the reunion. "The Vanderpool School was originally closer to the cemetery," says Foster, "but around 1926 or 27 the building was moved to the present location. I remember seeing the mules pull the cables attached to the building, which was rolled on big logs."

The Tabernacle near the school was erected sometime in the late 1920s, according to Foster's memories.

Neither Hosman nor Foster knew the origin of the name "Bugscuffle" which was used as the name of the Vanderpool school.

According to "History of Bandera County Schools for Over a Century" compiled by Mrs. Howard Graves in 1973 for the Bandera County Historical Survey Committee, Nalyon School was on the "East Prong of the upper Sabinal River, known as Mill Creek."

The land for the school was donated by Mr. Stigler for a combination school and post office in 1895.

Records of the Nalyon School from 1895 to 1938 show the number of pupils varying from 13 to 27. Teacher's salaries ranged from $50 to $70 per month. The last teacher, in 1938, was Mae Dell Perry.

Vanderpool School records show enrollments of 38 to 66 scholars from the years of 1887 to 1942. Teachers were paid from $50 to $105 per month. The last teacher, in 1942, was Nadine Perry.

Old Tarpley school days...

The third and final installment in a series about the history of that community

Compiled by
Carolyn B. Edwards
Chairman, Bandera County Historical Commission

Loyd Douglas continues to recall the heyday of the Tarpley school in the early 1900s.

"We had a schoolmate to thank for a splurge of bow-and-arrow making. These were made of course by everybody sooner or later with very modest standards of workmanship--little workmanship in fact being involved. But one day Earl Mackey appeared at school with a real bow he had made. Earl was one of the oldest boys in school--perhaps about sixteen, about the age to "graduate" from schooling to doing a man's work on the farm.

"We had never seen a bow of this quality, and as he strung it to demonstrate it we were all attention.

"To show how ignorant we were, we (or at least I) didn't even know that the bow should be unstrung after use.

"To demonstrate this, he showed how a properly made loop on one end would easily slip into the notches provided at that end when one bent the bow against his knee.

"And the bow was a beautiful piece of work. In the course of our bow-making lecture-demonstration we heard how he got the wood from a seasoned cedar post which he split to get at the beautiful red inside, beginning with a piece much larger than the finished bow so he could work it down to the proper size of solid wood. The tools required were an ax for splitting and a draw-knife for cutting it down to size, then a pocket knife for further shaping, concluding with a piece of broken glass which provided edges sharp enough for scraping to final smoothness.

"None of this, it seem was beyond our powers, if we just had the perseverance to carry out the painstaking work to its proper conclusion. But that wasn't all. A good bow deserved a better string than we usually had available, so he showed us how to twist a long string like kite twine until it could be doubled and allowed to make a secondary twist. This process was then repeated, to give us finally a cord of four strands, strong enough for the demands made by the strung bow.

"Several of us tried our hands at bow making, of course with much less success than he achieved; but although we fell short of his performance in every respect, it was a good lesson for us in good workmanship, and made us much more critical of our own sloppy work.

"The bow, of course, was just half of it. The arrow, which we had rather taken for granted as any straight stick, had its own special requirements, especially in the selection of wood, the feathering, and the pointing for its intended use.

"My all-too-short course in bow making with Earl Mackey was worth more to me than the archery that followed: like so many other things that we experienced in this young Tarpley, it added a beginning of something to my life inventory which paid multiple dividends to me later."

This notice is required by the Texas Legislature.

*The percentage increase shown in the first paragraph below may appear unusually high because it does not reflect 1992 taxes levied by the now-abolished county education district (CED). In 1992, the CED levied a portion of the taxes used for school purposes, and the school district levied the remainder of school taxes. In 1993, school districts will levy all school taxes. For an explanation of the increase, attend the public hearing scheduled below or call your school district.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1992 by 265.77 *percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on Sept. 28,1993 at 7:00 P.M. HS Library

FOR the proposal: Pat Cleaver, Scott Parker, Margaret Paradee & Thomas Keese

AGAINST the proposal: James Wagner

PRESENT and not voting: none

ABSENT: George Wesch & Ken Vakey

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on Sept. 8, 1993. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	(Optional) Last Year County Education District	Last Year School District	This Year School District
Average home value	$ 50,000	$ 50,000	$ 50,000
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 15,000	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 35,000	$ 45,000	$ 45,000
Tax rate	$ .95	.4099/$100	1.4893/$100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 332.50	$ 184.46	$ 670.19 (proposed)
	(Optional) Total 1992 School Taxes $ 516.96	(Optional) Total 1993 School Taxes	$ 670.19 (proposed)

(School districts publishing optional information must publish the following:)

This paragraph compares last year's CED and school district taxes with this year's proposed school district taxes:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 153.23 or 29.64 percent compared with last year's total school taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ 0.1294 per $100 of taxable value or 9.515 percent compared to last year's total school tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

(All school districts must publish the following:)

This paragraph compares last year's school district tax with this year's proposed school district tax:

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 485.73 or 63.32 percent compared with last year's school district taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the school district tax rate would increase district tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

THE ACCOMPANYING TAX NOTICE IS WRONG!

The BANDERA Independent School District is required by state law to publish the accompanying tax notice in this form, even though the notice is deceptive.

Because of an omission in the recently-enacted state law, BANDERA I.S.D. may not include revenue collected by the county education district in the calculation of taxes for the 1992-93 school year. The effect of this is to understate last year's actual school tax rate and produce an inaccurate comparison of last year's tax rate to this year's tax rate.

The correct comparison of tax rates is as follows:

Last year's (1992-93) total school tax rate (including county education district taxes):	1.3599
This year's (1993-94) proposed school tax rate:	1.4893
Percentage change:	9.515

A son, Trey Domingo Arizolo was born on Aug. 11 to Domingo Jr. and Melanie Arizolo. He weighed 6 lbs., 13 oz. and was 20 inches long. Grandparents are Domingo & Valeria Arizolo, Sr.; Kathy Grifffin of Bandera; and Ronald Wilson of Mercedes.

Junior High news flash

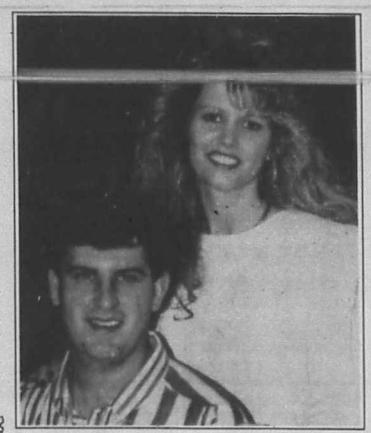

Robin Leland says that some "new and exciting programs are starting up at the Junior High."

A PTO (Parent/Teacher Organization) is being organized. Brenda Brown is president.

The PTO will sponsor several dances throughout the year. The first dance will be a Harvest Dance on Oct. 29.

An open house is being planned for Sept. 28 at 6 p.m. The first general meeting of the new PTO program will follow at 7 p.m.

Beverly McMeans is heading up a new program called Parents Assisting Learning (P.A.L.). An orientation for P.A.L. will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 21 at 9 a.m. in the Junior High School Cafeteria. Those interested may also contact Beverly at 796-7030.

Geena Zerbel, daughter of Roy A. Zerbel Jr. and Gwen Hanes Zerbel, is engaged to Craig Anthony Rohan, son of Elton and Leslie Rohan of Pipe Creek. The bride-elect is a graduate of East Central High School. Rohan is a graduate of Douglas MacArthur High School and has an associate's degree in electronic engineering. The couple plan an Oct, 23 wedding in Fair Oaks Country Club, Boerne.

Sandra Hons of Bergheim, the daughter of Stanley and Bernice Hons of Bergheim, is engaged to Charlie Stricker, the son of Harriet Stricker and the late Adolph Stricker of Bandera. The bride is a graduate from Smithson Valley High School. She is employed by Guadalupe Valley Telephone Co-op., Inc. as a programmer and analyst. The groom is a graduate of Bandera High School and TSTI in Waco. He is employed as a welder at Moore Erection Company. The couple plan an Oct. 9 wedding at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Honey Creek.

Order of Eastern Star awards scholarship to Christi Barnes

Bandera Chapter #643, Order of the Eastern Star, has awarded a special hardship scholarship to Christi Barnes of Pipe Creek. She was in the top 10 of her Bandera High School's 1993 graduating class.

Due to her outstanding achievements during her academic years in Bandera, Arizona State University has offered Barnes a full three-year scholarship if she could pay the $14,000 for her freshman year.

To help pay for this year, she will work part-time at the university and at the Wal-Mart in Tempe, Arizona. She has been working part time at the Wal-Mart in Boerne.

Medina ISD attempts to clear up tax rate confusion

A tax notice published in the Bandera Bulletin and paid for by the Medina I.S.D. may be confusing to some tax payers. It incorrectly states that he school tax rate will grow by 1268 percent.

In publishing the 1268 figure, Medina I.S.D. is complying with the state's "truth-in-taxation" law to publish an official notice reporting last year's tax rate; the proposed tax rate for this year; and the percentage of increase. However, due to a drafting oversight in the new school finance law, the notice significantly understates the tax rate for last year and produces a misleading comparison between last year's and this year's school taxes.

Last year, the combined school tax rate was $1.0221. This year, Medina is proposing a tax rate of $1.00, a decrease of 2.16 percent. In an effort to correct the information, Medina I.S.D. is publishing alongside the tax notice an advertisement indicating that the official tax notice is wrong. The supplemental advertisement is paid for by the school district and provides the correct tax information.

Recently I came across a little book, entitled "Life's Little Instruction Book." Five hundred suggestions, observations, and reminders on how to live a happy and rewarding life. I would like to share some of the words of wisdom with you. This little book is not without a bit of humor.

Compliment at least three people everyday...Be the first to say, "Hello." Say "thank you" a lot...Be forgiving of yourself, and others...Look people in the eye...Treat everyone you meet the way you want to be treated. Don't waste time learning the tricks of the trade. Instead, learn the trade. Never give up on anyone. Miracles happen every day...When playing games with children, be sure to let them win sometimes. Be tough minded, but tender hearted...Wear out, don't rust out...Measure people by the size of their hearts, not by the size of their bank accounts...Keep [illegible] about blurting a friend with your secret...Never lay anyone they look tired or that they look like they concerning matrimony, finances, or their hair style...Remember that overnight success usually takes about fifteen years...Try to always have a friend who someone else's parade.

Bruce the Moose entertained at Alkek Elementary School as he presented the message, "eat good food because it's good for your teeth." Staff photo by Stephanie Logue

'Bruce the Moose' visits, counsels Alkek students

Bruce the Moose made a [illegible] at Alkek Elementary on Wednesday. "Crunchy food is better than junky food," he told them, "because it's better for your teeth."

He entertained with balloons and "magic", involving the children in the program both orally and physically. They helped him make rainbow balloons to represent the food groups. They helped him perform magic with good food. They completed the chant: "Bruce the Moose likes to eat good food 'cause its good for your teeth."

Cracking jokes about milk help from his "moose-kteers" and driving a "moose-tang", Bruce the Moose kept the elementary children entertained while teaching them about nutrition.

He presented teachers in the group with his hand-sculpted balloons after using them to teach the object lessons. Bruce the Moose is the mascot of ARA School Nutrition Services. They contract with the Bandera Independent School District to provide hot lunches for the three Bandera campuses.

It's double bad new for the Mustang ball carrier. First Kyle Woodland wraps him up low, then Bill Wyman comes in high to finish off the tackle.

The Ref explains a critical 4th down/4th quarter penalty flag to Robert Bradford and Coach Williamson.

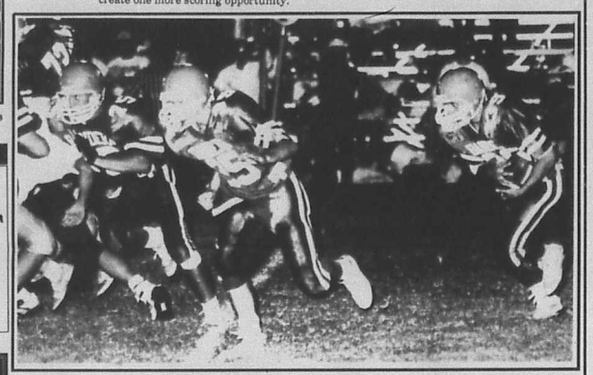

The "Never Give Up Bulldogs" rush the Mustang's final punt of the game, still hoping to create one more scoring opportunity.

ball on Bandera's 20 yard line. The Dog defense dug in and pushed Marble Falls to another fourth down situation. Once again the Mustangs gambled on fourth down and John Minturn came up with the Bulldog interception. At the same time a yellow flag flew with Bandera being called for illegal use of the hands. The officials took a very long time out to discuss whether the foul occured before or after the interception, with possession of the ball riding on the answer. After a long conference among themselves and a lengthy explanation to both benches it was ruled Marble Falls' ball very deep on the Dogs end of the field. A couple of plays later the quarterback option moved the ball into the end zone and the two point conversion was also good. Marble Falls was back in the lead 21-14.

Later in the fourth quarter the Bulldogs created another opportunity for themselves when Lacey picked off a Mustang pass and put the Bandera offense in business at their own 40 yard line. Once again they found a way to burn the Mustang defense. Quarterback Jimmy Stroud pitched the ball to Flack who found Bradford wide open and once again it was off to the races, Bradford vs. the Mustang secondary. Bradford was the easy winner and the TD put the Dogs within one point with the PAT still to come. Bandera elected to go for two points and the win rather than settle for one point and the tie. Woodland's pass was on target but batted away by a Mustang defender and Bandera trailed 21-20 with 4:06 remaining in the contest.

At this point Marble Falls had to play conservatively and the Dogs had to pull out all the stops. The Mustang defenders backed off and waited knowing that the Bulldogs would be filling the air with pass attempts. The defensive moved worked and the Mustangs got a quick six points off of an interception. They failed to convert the point after and the Mustangs sat precariously on a seven point lead over a Bulldog team that was refusing to give up.

Bandera put together one more serious drive but it too was thwarted by a defense that was sitting back waiting to pick off the passes they knew were coming. When the clock ran out on the Dogs they were on the short side of a 27-20 score.

"I was really proud of our kids," said Williamson. "I think we showed that we have a lot of talent and desire. Marble Falls is a very big, talented and well coached team and even though we lost, we learned some things that will make us a better team," he added.

"I thought our defense had a super game," Williamson noted. "We got some great individual efforts. Our front line of Greg Knutson, Bart Byerley, Bill Wyman and Ryan Gernentz really did an excellent job taking on their big line. We also got a super effort out of Kyle Woodland, Mike Kincaid, Brian Flack, John Minturn, Lorenzo Molina and Aarron Lacey," said Williamson. "Aarron had a very big night for us all the way around. He worked hard and really turned in some big plays," he added.

"Our offense looked great at times. We could move the ball right down the field and score. Other times we struggled, though. Small mental mistakes . . . If we can work those out we'll be in good shape," Williamson noted. "On offense we feel like we got strong individual effort from Lacey, Woodland, Flack, Robert Bradford, Isaac Kenney, Dale Martin and Kyle Everett (until he left the game with a knee injury)," he added.

Williamson also noted that the normally strong kicking game was plagued by several small errors. "Now that we have down the system and the techniques we will go back and spend some time on basics.

Commenting on the upcoming district opener against West Campus Williamson says "The are coming in with a good, sound ball club and a 3-0 record. They have quarterback that throws well and a receiver and running back that also really do a good job for them."

The Bulldogs open district on Friday, Sept. 24, at Bulldog Stadium. The kickoff for this game and all the remaining games on the schedule is 7:30 p.m.

'Laissez Les Bon Temps Rouler'-- Let The Good Times Roll! at the Medina Lake Cajun Festival

The 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival will be held at the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37 on Saturday, Sept. 25 from 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. For a few hours, the Lakehills Civic Center will be transformed into a world of down-home Louisiana Cajun fun, music, food and dance.

This year, a Cajun dance contest has been added and it will bring Jim and Mary Hebert to Lakehills for the increasingly popular event.

Mary Hebert says that she and Jim began dancing for exhibition about eight years ago. They will demonstrate an old Cajun dance to the audience. They will also judge the Cajun dance contest.

"We love to meet new people," Mary explains when asked why they are travelling to Lakehills. "We like to share our culture...and we have a lot of fun doing it. There's a lot of folks who come by the Cajun area every year to see us. I think some of them come by just to see if we're still dancin'"

The Herberts are senior citizens, and yes, they are still dancing.

"The dances we do are all traditional and have been handed down for generations. The traditional Cajun party is called a 'fais-do-do' which means 'go to sleep.' It got that name from our ancestors who were exiled from Nova Scotia and came to settle in Louisiana. They had to work hard in the fields all day and didn't have much in the way of entertainment. So they would gather in each other's homes, put the kids to sleep in the back of the house, clear away the furniture, and dance and sing and party all night."

Mary says that Cajun music and dancing speak about the Cajun people. "We work hard, but we still find time to laugh and enjoy life. We feel like you can have a good time even when times are tough and hard...Dancing is extremely important to Jim and me because it's really the only thing, outside of work, we enjoy doing- it's really our only recreation.

"We'll probably keep right on dancing 'til we drop. Like Jim always says: 'When I die, I want a vibrator attached to my coffin to keep it shakin' and I want a tape deck in there and I want to wear a pair of Bermuda shorts. That way I'll be ready to dance my way up or down.'"

"Kids" of all ages and descriptions come to the Cajun Festival.

Cajun eatin'!

Beans, bread pudding, beignets or boudin- the festival offers lots of delicious taste tempters and mouth-watering treats

...the best Cajun food in these parts.
- Barbara Engel

Food at the Medina Lake Cajun Festival, prepared by food chairman Barbara Engel and her crew of volunteers includes the following:

• Shrimp etouffee and crawfish etouffee are made with a mixture of bell pepper, celery, onions, sauteed garlic, a hint of tomato, spices, and broth. It is simmered with a roux and served over rice. "Etouffee" means "smothered", and the shrimp or crawfish are indeed smothered in the delicious sauce.

• Crawfish Pies, which were met with skepticism when first introduced at the festival, have become one of the most popular dishes offered. Very labor-inteeive to make, the pies' filling (similar to a crawfish e'touffee') takes most of a day to prepare, and the assembly of the individual pies takes most of another day. Pies are available on a first-come, first-served basis.

• Jambalaya, a popular Cajun dish, was invented to use up left-overs. The festival's chefs will make it from bell pepper, celery, onion, garlic, spices, tomatos, broth, ham, and smoked sausage.

• Red beans and rice are traditionally served on Monday in Louisiana, because Monday was "wash day" and the beans could be simmered while the lady of the house was up to her elbows in suds. Now wash is done any day, but Monday still remains "bean day". Though a humble dish, red beans and rice are almost revered by Louisianans, and much discussion is given to their preparation.

• Cajun Shrimp Boil is a delicious and simple-to-prepare entree. Louisianans boil their seafood with strong spices and cayenne pepper, which gives it a delicious, spicy taste. Festival cooks will prepare their shrimp boil with spices, corn, and new potatos, accompanied by a red horseradish sauce.

• Boudin is a Cajun meat- (usually pork) and-rice sausage. It will be served with Dijon mustard in bread.

• Bread Pudding with Whiskey Sauce is the most popular dessert at the Festival. It is slowly baked with french bread, milk, sugar, eggs, raisins, apple and vanilla. The whiskey sauce is made with sugar, egg, bourbon and real butter.

• Pecan Pralines are made from a recipe originating at a festival in Lafayette. The lady sharing the recipe was supervising 15-20 people cooking pralines there, and customers were lined up five-deep buying them.

• Fried Popcorn Shrimp will be prepared in a spicy batter brought from New Orleans.

• Barbecued Shrimp, a favorite, is marinated before being barbecued.

• Sausage-on-a-Stick is a perenniel favorite, and Cajun Chicken Breast-on-a-Stick is being included this year to round out the menu.

• Buzzy's Chicken & Beef Fajitas are favorites among visitors from Louisiana, since they can eat etoufee anytime. Wilbur Busby is famous for his fajitas, and both his beef and chicken fajitas are tasty, tender, and well-seasoned.

• French Donuts, or beignets, are tender, square donuts rolled or sprinkled with powdered sugar. A visit to New Orleans is not complete without beignets and chickory coffee.

Barbara Engel has put together the Medina Lake Cajun Festival Cookbook, which is available for sale at the festival. The cookbook includes lots of recipes including Gumbo Cookoff winner Cat Reilly's recipe for Seafood Gumbo. Below, to whet your appetite, are a couple of Barbara Engel's favorites that were included in the first "Great Gumbo Cookoff" recipe book.

Dirty rice

1/2 cup bacon drippings for sauteing
1/2 lb. chicken livers, cooked well
1 lb. sausage cooked well
4-5 ribs chopped celery (with tops)
1 med. chopped onion
1 med. chopped bell pepper
1 tablespoon chopped fresh parsley
2 cloves of garlic, minced
4 cups cooked rice

Saute' chicken livers until very well done. Saute' celery, bell pepper, onion and garlic. Drain until free of bacon drippings, and set aside to cool. Break up chicken livers by hand until it looks like cornmeal. Add to sausage and vegetables; combine all ingredients and stir until mixed. Add this mixture to cooked rice. Add parsley; heat and serve.

Pecan pralines

Pecan pralines are a much treasured candy, and Louisiana in particular is noted for its pralines. This recipe is a timesaver if you choose to use the microwave.

3/4 cups buttermilk
2 cups sugar
2 cups pecan halves
1/8 tsp. sale
2 tablespoons butter
1 tsp. baking soda

Stir together buttermilk, sugar, pecans, salt and butter in a 4 or 5 quart dish. Cook on high 12 minutes, stirring at 4 minute intervals. Stir in baking soda until foamy. Cook on high 1 minute. This last step gives pralines a caramel color. Beat mixture until tacky (about 1 minute). Drop by tablespoons on a sheet of foil.

Hosts & hostesses are a unique part of the Cajun Festival

Over the years, the annual Cajun Festival, sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, has grown in size and numbers. Last year, over 8,000 people attended, a success with built-in problems; like how to house 30 performers from Louisiana..

Volunteers solved that particular problem approximately five years ago when the festival began out-growing the rural, spread-out community of Lakehills. They volunteered to house the band members and dancers in their own homes. At times, this means having an entire band of five to six members in one home if the band does not want to be separated.

Hosts and hostesses mostly live in Lakehills. But some families in Mico and Pipe Creek also volunteer. And, often, the Louisiana performers are so pleased by their host families that they ask to be placed in the same home year after year.

Attorney Bob Caswell, the originator of the Cajun Festival, said it is a real compliment to the area that their visitors enjoy their stay. "Cajun people have a reputation for friendliness and hospitality. It really means something when they say how friendly we are and how well they have been treated. They can't say enough about how nice people here are. And they are thrilled with the local charisma; the hills and the local flavor."

Barbara Engle, Caswell's wife and one of the main promoters of the event, says that housing the bands and dancers is almost a necessity. "It's the only way we can get them for a reasonable price. I mean, sure; we do better every year and draw more people. But we also have more expense. This is our biggest fund raiser for the Medina Lake Betterment Association. We operate the Cajun Festival on a strict budget. A lot of strictly volunteer work goes into it."

Caswell and Engle say that hosting the Louisiana visitors is more than an effort to cut corners financially. "It cuts down on their travel time. And it makes it all more personal for them."

Hosts and hostesses pick up the Louisiana visitors at the airport. They house them, feed them and transport them back and forth from the festival. Even with all the extra work it places on host families, Caswell says he seldom has to find new families. It seems the host families are generally willing to open their homes and their hearts again and again.

Cajun 'delicacies' include Mamou Prairie, Bruce Daigrepoint bands

The Mamou Prairie Band of Lafayette will just be one of the Cajun sound offerings at the 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival on Saturday, Sept. 25.

Robert Reed is the leader, accordionist and singer. He is also a noted historian. He will be presenting demonstrations on Cajun heritage and even giving a cooking demo.

Kenneth Davis is on the fiddle; Carl Fontenot plays guitar; George Toups plays bass and sings. Nelda Balfa is on drums. She is the daughter of the late Dewey Balfa, a legendary "king" of Cajun Music similar to the country-western king Hank Williams.

Bob Caswell, the originator of the Cajun Festival, said the Mamou Prairie Band is "phenomenal. Simply incredible."

They will leave the day following the Cajun Festival and travel to Branson, Missouri, to record with Roy Clark. They have toured Europe, Canada and the U.S.

Also this year, Bruce Daigrepont will bring his Cajun band to the festival. Daigrepont has released two albums, has appeared on television and radio and is popular at festivals and tours. The Washington Post credited Daigrepont with bringing Cajun music to New Orleans.

Daigrepont is a Cajun singer/accordionist who holds a degree in accounting but has never used it. Twelve years ago, at age 20, music suddenly "hit" him. Most of his songs are written and sung in French, but he explains them to the audience. He says the language barrier is only as high as listeners build it.

He was born and raised in New Orleans and is proud of his Cajun heritage. He grew up knowing French but began using it when his career turned to music. He regrets the fact that the younger generation is not interested in Cajun music, but says that is changing. He understands their choice of rock and other music styles because it took him time to find his heritage. "I wasn't really playing Cajun music before this revival came about. I'd say the revival of Cajun music probably started in the early to mid-70s...when I went to the Cajun Music Festival in 1978- that's where I really got the strong desire to want to play Cajun music, French music...the younger people have revived the music and without that, the music would be just about gone."

The Daigrepont band is only one part of an effort to take visitors to the 13th Annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival to the Louisiana bayou.

Other activities include other Cajun entertainers; interviews, cooking and music demonstrations of Cajun heritage and history; the great gumbo cook-off; Cajun dance lessons, demonstations and contests; and arts and crafts and games.

The festival is a fund-raiser for the Medina Lake Betterment Association, Inc., a civic organization.

Commissioners contend with cachexy carcasses

Complaints from citizen lead to TDH investigation

County Commissioners heard a complaint during their Monday, Sept. 27 meeting from Gilbert Scheele. Scheele said that property joining his had become a dumping ground for animal carcasses and the carcasses were not treated with lime and covered as state health laws mandate.

Scheele complained of the stench and the flies. He said it had been two weeks since his livestock had been able to drink from a water tank on his own property. "The land belongs to John Bruce," Scheele said. "The first time I noticed horses dumped on it was April 10th. I called John and complained. He promised he would not let people dump anymore over by the fence and that the animals which had been dumped there would be covered up."

Scheele said Bruce did cover the animals that time, but that it was another five days before the overwhelming stench abated enough that he and his workers could repair the fence along that area. "Then," he adds, "this time, the sky was black with buzzards. Hundreds- maybe thousands of them. I drove down there and found nine dead horses, none of them buried. The flies were so bad that if you scuffed your feet through the leaves- under the trees, you know- flies just came out in a cloud."

The dumping site is approximately 350 feet from Scheele's fence line. He took commissioners pictures of the area. Pictures showed eight horses, which Scheele believes were race horses from the racing shoes and wrapped legs, one ranch horse, a llama and other scattered debris from former carcasses.

Commissioners, and Judge Ray Mauer agreed that the site was a health hazard and promised to deal with it. Mauer said he needed to check with the health department and see if having an open pit of dead animals was a state health violation.

The Bandera Bulletin contacted Jack Scott, a professional sanitarian with the Texas Department of Health, region 6, to find out if Bruce was out of compliance. The call went into Scott at approximately 4 p.m. on Monday afternoon. Scott said animal carcasses must be disposed of properly and buried immediately so they do not become a breeding ground for flies or a health risk from diseased animals. He was in Bandera on Tuesday morning to visit the open pit and investigate.

"I'm here to help the county," Scott said. "I didn't put on the boxing gloves before I came."

At the time when Scott visited the Bruce property, some work had been done but two dead horses had still not been covered. "We have to stop this fly breeding and public nuisance," Scott said. "State health laws say that dead animals must be limed and buried within 24-hours of the time they are dumped. If this man can't accomplish that, it makes this an illegal site. The next dumping place is in San Antonio and costs a lot more. But carcasses must be disposed of in a proper manner.

"When they are covered within 24 hours and heavily limed, it takes care of the fly breeding and disease spreading. They must be covered every day. Failure to do this also endangers surface water. It is a possible source of contamination."

Scott said he would work with Bandera County to see that the dumping ground is brought into compliance.

When John Bruce was contacted by the Bandera Bulletin, he stated, "nothing's been dumped out there. There was an old horse that died three years ago or so... Gilbert Scheele is just confused... I was all over there on horseback Sunday. I didn't see (anything)."

County commissioners support school prayer resolution

Bandera County Commissioners joined 53 other Texas counties in signing a resolution to reinstate prayer in public schools during their Monday, Sept. 27 meeting. Texas has 254 counties.

An attempt is being made to get every county in the state to support the resolution.

Commissioners also lifted the burning ban which was imposed during the 60-plus days of drought this summer.

A grant for $60,000 has been approved for a county airport feasibility study. County Judge Ray Mauer said that if the county aviation committee agrees, work will begin on the study immediately.

Week-long rabies clinic starts here Saturday, Oct. 9

Because rabies continues to be a serious threat in Bandera County, Hill Country Veterinary Hospital will offer a week-long rabies clinic, beginning at the Bandera Volunteer Fire Department building on Saturday, Oct. 9, and continuing at Hill Country Veterinary clinic from Oct. 11 through 16.

The clinic will be held from 9 a.m. to noon on Saturday, Oct. 9, then from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Monday through Friday and from 8 a.m. to noon the following Saturday. Rabies shots will be $5.

Veterinarian Layne Holmes said that there have been 8 confirmed cases of rabies this year, and one case in which the animal was not tested but was most probably diseased.

The most recent case involved a fox killed in Lakehills which was found to be rabid. Four unvaccinated dogs which had come into contact with the sick animal were destroyed. Earlier in the year, a Lakehills resident was attacked by a rabid fox.

Dr. Layne said that rabies infections are common in Mexico, probably due to lack of animal control, and are always present in wildlife. At this time of year, wildlife migrates northeast, passing through Bandera County. It puts humans and their pets in greater danger of contracting the disease. The last human death from rabies in Texas occurred in the 1980s.

Rabies is transmitted by the [illegible] virus which causes rabies can be present in the saliva for up to 10 days before the animal appears rabid. In skunks, bats

Letters to the editor

To clarify a point...

Dear editor:

Thank you for mentioning our upcoming Barrel Racing Series in last week's edition of the Bandera Bulletin! We are very excited about it and have worked hard to get it organized in hopes that it will give our community's youth another activity to participate in year round.

One clarification of the article that Mary Fogle, my co-producer of the series, and I wanted to point out is that this is to be a jackpot barrel racing series with a series award given at the end of the series. The mention of $150, $250 and $500 awards was incorrect as those are classes. Besides pee wee, youth, green novice and open classes, the $150, $250 and $500 classes indicate novice classes in which the horse has not won more than the amount specified before.

If you have any more questions, call Mary (535-4127) or Sybil (535-4096). We will soon be putting up flyers and run the list of dates and fees in the Bulletin. We are looking forward to these week-ends starting Oct. 16, as family fun for everyone, so we hope to see y'all then!

But are they Republican?

Dear editor (and Ms. Grant):

I beg to differ with you that Peggy Tobin's remarks in her Sept. 1 column were a cry of pain anticipating her "share of the contributions to keep our great country operating". Whether or not Peggy is one of the "more financially fortunate" is beside the point. I take strong issue to your blatant envy of those who are fortunate enough to have secured a financially stable future for themselves. I feel that your type of mindset has become the downfall of our country. Are you also upset that a black female talk show host, raised in circumstances not conducive to success, now earns 98 million dollars a year? If she can do it, why don't you put your energy to that end, instead of envying others' hard work and/or good fortune?

Raising money for youth

Dear editor:

I would like everyone to know that the first official DJ Club fundraiser was a success. The DJ's have been trying to raise money to put towards a youth center, plus provide counseling for area youth on the dangers of alcohol and drugs. The car wash we had on Saturday netted $181 in three hours.

Several of the garage sellers at the annual Medina Garage Sale donated their leftover goods to the DJ's, and we were able to load seven truckloads of goods! In three weeks the DJ's plan to hold a garage sale, and if you have a place available on Main Street that we could use, we would really appreciate it. Please contact me at 796-3181.

The DJ's are working closely with the Bandera Youth Center Committee, and I would like to remind area citizens, adults and youth, to attend BYC's monthly meeting on Thursday, Sept. 30 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be at the Community Room behind Bandera Bank. Hope to see you there.

They asked to be elected

Dear editor:

As usual, I find the letters to the editor to be the most interesting portion of the newspaper. I have not written in some time but the letter from Robert Reader, and the fact that tax season is finally over, seduced me back to my computer terminal.

Robert, I will address my letter to you, only because you were appointed spokesman for Bandera County. Robert, please remember, when you grudgingly turn to the second page of the Bulletin and force your eyes to the Letters section, that public outcry has been the driving force for some of our most revered documents including the Mayflower Compact (1620), the Constitution (1776), and the Bill of Rights (1791). In fact, real change rarely occurs until someone has the guts to speak up. Please don't shout them down just because you disagree with their point of view. Who knows, tomorrow it may be your point of view?

As for elected officials , they were not forced to run for office. They did so with the knowledge that they would be asked difficult questions and sometimes falsely accused of wrongdoing. Mr. Barker, whom I like very much, can attest to that. With all its merits, government might still be improved a little, don't you think?

Dead horses. That seems to be the topic of the week.

I ran into Jimmy Ray Beaudarc at Boyle's Market the other day, and he was absolutely fit to be tied. Seems he and his ma got into a screaming match over several hot local issues. First they were talking about the local rancher who has been allegedly letting folks dump dead horses on his property. Seems Jimmy Ray's ma is a wee bit over the edge in the "private property" category. She thinks once the government starts telling you what you can or can't do on your property, then your goose is cooked. I can sort of see where she's coming from on that one, but there are limits.

Then, somehow their discussion turned to the school issue, and the upcoming bond issue. And then the discussion turned real lively.

Seems Ma Beaudarc thinks we're being taxed to death, and rather than raise school taxes we should cut things out of the curriculum. "Those kids don't need all that fancy book larnin'," she says.

Well, Jimmy Ray told his ma under no uncertain terms that if you start cutting, you are in effect tearing down the schools, and if you do that you'd better get ready to start building more prisons. "Look to the future," Jimmy Ray says.

They batted it back and forth for a while, then Ma Beaudarc really started to pull out the ammunition. It was "Tax rollback" this, and "tax increase" that, punctuated with a few "county education district" harumphs and "too many administrators" huzzahs. Then, Jimmy Ray's ma drew herself up and delivered her high trump card:

You see, she has lived here for long enough to remember a time when the Bandera school district needed to build an elementary school, and they elected to build it on Hwy. 173 rather than in the Pipe Creek/Lakehills area because [illegible] "in the winter." Now, Jimmy Ray's ma says she will never forgive them for that one.

Talk about your dead horses!

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams and Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Six former employees of the Texas Department of Commerce took Democratic Gov. Ann Richards to federal court last week in Austin, accusing the governor of violating their rights by firing them because they are Republicans.

Richards, former Commerce Department board chairman Alan Khan; Cathy Bonner, executive director; and Margaret Donaldson, human resources director, are defendants in the civil action.

Plaintiffs are Jim Mikus, Eddie Aurisupa and Raymond Barnes, all of whom worked in a division of the department that administered the Job Training Partnership Act. All three reportedly supported Republican Clayton Williams, a Midland businessman who ran for governor in 1990.

Mikus, Aurisupa and Barnes were dismissed after Richards took office. They seek more than $2 million in back pay, future lost earnings, attorneys' fees and damages for mental anguish.

Derek Howard, an attorney for the plaintiffs, said Richards devised a scheme to fire only Republicans and to fill the vacated positions with her friends and political supporters.

Richards said her accusers were terminated as part of a program to streamline the troubled department. She called the allegation that the firings were political "absurd" and the lawsuit a waste of taxpayers' money.

Assistant AG Scrutinized

Assistant Texas Attorney General Gary Bledsoe's triple role as president of the Texas Chapter of the NAACP and chairman of the Democratic Party in Travis County last week was criticized by Texas Republican Party chairman Fred Meyer and the lobbying group, Common Cause of Texas.

Meyer said Bledsoe's activities outside his duties as assistant attorney general should be subject to scrutiny, comparing it with the ongoing grand jury investigation of Republican Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison for alleged misuse of employees and equipment for political and personal purposes while serving as state treasurer.

In his own defense, Bledsoe said he does nothing to compromise what he does in the attorney general's office, and that he works weekends and nights, giving taxpayers more than 40 hours a week.

Attorney General Dan Morales' press secretary Ron Dusek said there is no conflict of interest between Bledsoe's official duties and his advocacy work, despite his conducting NAACP business during regular office hours. His flat annual salary as assistant attorney general is $79,860. He is one of 32 employees in the agency who are paid more than Morales, Dusek said.

Bledsoe's main duties for the agency are to enforce Texas' open meetings and open records laws and to handle human rights issues.

Former Ag Officials in Court

Three top aides to former Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower went on trial last week in federal court in Austin for an alleged conspiracy to collect illegal campaign funds for Hightower.

On trial for committing theft and bribery from programs receiving federal funding and conspiracy to commit theft were former Deputy Agriculture Commissioner Mike Moeller, special assistant Peter McRae and division chief Billie Quicksall.

The theft charge carries a maximum 10-year prison sentence and the conspiracy charge a maximum five-year term.

According to testimony, Quicksall and consultants Bob Boyd and Russell Koontz (who were waived from the trial because of bad health) worked together to raise $60,000 in 1989 by hitting up businesses regulated by the agriculture department for campaign contributions.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Dan Mills told jurors that the consultants received contracts through a joint federal-state crop inspection program — about $195,000 in public money — so they could travel the state seeking campaign contributions.

Hightower, who could be called to testify, has not been accused of any wrongdoing in the case. The trial is expected to last about four weeks.

Other Highlights

▪ Gov. Richards has named three people to the Texas Workers' Compensation Insurance Board. The governor appointed Joe R. Fulton of Corpus Christi and reappointed Patricia Ann Crawford of El Paso and Larry K. Durrett of Jacksonville. All are subject to Senate confirmation.

▪ Calling Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison a "political hack," Dallas financier Richard Fisher, a Democrat who placed fifth in this spring's U.S. Senate race, announced he will run for that office again next year.

▪ The University of Oklahoma plans to survey some of its football fans for their opinions on whether half of the Oklahoma-Texas football games should be played in Norman. Oklahoma Gov. David Walters said it is a matter of pride and economics to play half the games in Oklahoma.

▪ More Texas parents are paying child support, Attorney General Dan Morales said, with collections during the past year rising to $370 million, an increase of $70 million over collections the previous year.

Brief highlights from recent trips:

Travel is so broadening, the old cliche went. It can also be confusing, if you go too many places in too rapid succession and are trying to pay attention to local scenery and culture. We have just had our mind blown by visiting Salt Lake city, capital of the empire of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and home of its abstemious adherents on one weekend, and before the next week was out, flying to Williamsburg, Virginia, colonial capital of early America and home of high-living cavalier aristocrats.

Coming down into Utah at sunset was an experience never to be forgotten, with all the strong colors of the desert mountains blending into the red sky, which in turn was reflected in Great Salt Lake. The natural setting for Brigham Young's daring venture is surrealistic and startling and a great contrast to the prim and orderly grid of the city the patriarch laid out on the arrival of his colony in the late 1840s.

Salt Lake is still prim and orderly, but enlivened with extravagant plantings of trees and flowers [illegible] The downtown is as clean as the center of Singapore, although perhaps people are not thrown in jail for chewing gum. But only ice-water and fruit [illegible] and many children lived next to the Beehive House, which served as territorial capital and Indian agency. Brigham Young, of course, not only headed his church as long as he lived but was also governor [illegible] possibly the greatest public service the LDS Church is rendering to the world has grown out of the church's practice of the baptism of the dead. A believing church member may "seal" all his known ancestors into a permanent family relationship in eternity. This interesting belief has fostered the growth of the largest collection of genealogical material in the world, which now occupies several floors of a new Family History Library across from one of the entrances to Temple Square.

User-friendly computers enable visitors to punch up names of ancest rs about whom they desire information. When we entered the name of a Georgia third great-grandfather, his name, his wife's name, and his parents' names magically came up on the screen, solving a mystery we had not been able to unravel by writing back to old courthouses. The volunteer "sister" who showed us how to use the machine was as thrilled as we were to find our man, and we have written a hitherto unknown cousin in Augusta, Georgia, to thank him for sending the material to the library.

That's how the Mormons get specific information on family-trees for their new computer project. Somebody sends it in on a diskett[illegible] no one has sent a certain lineage chart, those searching for names and connections must go upstairs and [illegible] places in the US and Canada is stored. Lakehills VFD arts & crafts scheduled Saturday, Oct. 16

The ladies auxiliary is holding their annual arts & crafts fair to benefit the Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department on Saturday, Oct. 16 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Lakehills fire house.

Hand crafted arts, crafts and gift items are welcome at the event. No garage or flea market type articles are accepted. Spaces will be available inside the fire house. They are approximately 8'x8' in size and cost $18.

Food, tacos and tamales, will also be sold. All money collected will go to the volunteer fire department.

To reserve a booth, call 751-2669; 751-3335; or 751-3760.

Fire chief Raiph Dresser says, "this is a costly business we're in. To start (and roll out) one truck is $25. The distance, time out, and etc. is extra. We are constantly upgrading, repairing and improving our equipment. We greatly appreciate the support the ladies give us."

Dresser said that after every fire, trucks come back and have to be repaired. "We don't run on nice, paved streets out here, you know."

This is the third annual arts and crafts fair to benefit the Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department. It was changed from November to October to eliminate the competition from hunting season.

Rescue workers remove Charles Menard from his 1986 Pontiac sedan after the vehicle crashed head-on with a Bandera ISD school bus Monday afternoon, Sept. 27. The bus, driven by Gloria Rice, was struck while turning left off of State Hwy. 16 onto Robindale Road and, according to Department of Public Safety trooper Randy Boysen, "failed to yield the right-of-way," to oncoming traffic.

'First serious school bus accident' injures Pipe Creek man, students

A school bus carrying students on one of Bandera Independent School District's 22 routes was involved in an accident with injury incident on Monday, Sept. 27 at approximately 3:30 p.m. Sheriff James MacMillan, and school officials, say it was the first serious school bus wreck "anyone can remember" in Bandera County.

The bus, loaded with between 45 and 50 students, was traveling east towards Pipe Creek on Highway 16 when it made a left turn at Robindale Road and was hit by a car. One student was transported to Medical Center Hospital. Three others were taken from the accident scene to Dr. Womack's office in Bandera to be treated for minor injuries. By Tuesday, three of the four students were back in school. The hospital patient had been treated and released but had not returned to school yet.

The driver of the car, Charles Menard, 21, of Pipe Creek, was transported to Medical Center Hospital where he was treated and released.

Menard was driving a 1986 Pontiac mid-size sedan. DPS trooper Randy Boysen, said the school bus driver "apparently failed to yield the right-of-way while turning left on Robindale Road and was struck on the right front quarter by the oncoming car."

Gloria Rice was driving the route 33 bus. She has been driving for the B.I.S.D. for "at least 10 years," according to Assistant Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer.

Rice broke her nose in the incident when the impact threw her forward into the steering wheel, according to her son.

Pfeiffer says that Bandera County has an excellent driving record for school buses. "We have 22 routes of over 1,400 miles each day. The distance from San Antonio to Chicago is 1,200 miles.

"We have 175 days of school. That mean we make over 3,850 round trips each year. In the 17 years I've worked for the school, this is the first serious bus wreck I can remember. We've had buses turn too sharply and hit a fence post and things of that nature. But we've never had an accident before when there were students on the bus."

Garrison named champion at Bandera County Hay Show

Paul Lavon Garrison, of Medina, was named the over all champion at the 1993 Bandera County Hay Show on Sept. 23. His irrigated coastal hay took first place with 96.5 percent out of a possible 100 percent, and a protein analysis of 16.4 percent.

There were 17 entries in this year's hay show. Winners were determined by the physical appearance of their entries and the protein analysis.

Randy Schott, of Lakehills, took first place in dryland coastal with 93.5 percent out of a possible 100 percent, and 14.5 crude protein. He also took first in winter annuals and legumes. His score for winter annuals was 92.5 percent and 16.7 crude protein. For legumes, his score was 92.5 and 24.2 percent.

Tony Jennings, of Bandera, took first place in the summer annuals class with 76.7 percent of a possible 100, and a crude protein of 8.7 percent.

This year's first place winners will have their entries sent to the State Hay Show in Beaumont in December.

Additionally, the winning entries will be displayed during the week of Sept. 27 through Oct. 1 at Bandera Ranch Store.

Willie and Olga Schmidt celebrate 60 years

Tarpley couple is devoted to their community ... and to each other

Willie and Olga Schmidt were married in 1933, and have been married for 60 years.

They've been married for 60 years and Olga Schmidt says she would not "trade Willie for anything."

The couple live in Tarpley where they own and run a 200-acre ranch, although the heavy work has been put aside. "We garden together," Olga explains. "But none of that heavy farming anymore. We're just not able." He is 86 and she is 81. They've known each other for most of their lives.

"We were neighbors," Olga explains. "We'd see each other now and then. Willie was born next door to here. We bought my mother's and dad's house from them."

Willie went to high school in Comfort. Olga went to high school in Tarpley, then had to transfer to Brackenridge when she was in a higher grade. She graduated from Brackenridge in 1929. Even when they attended separate high schools, Willie and Olga would "see each other now and then." That led to courtship and marriage. They married on Sept. 3, 1933 at Evangelical Church in San Antonio. They are now members of Bandera United Methodist Church.

The Schmidt's have committed themselves to Bandera County during their 60-year marriage. He served as a county commissioner from 1961-1964. She worked in the Courthouse for 21 years. She was a deputy clerk under Roscoe Hays for nine years and a clerk for 12 years.

Willie is a member of the Masonic Lodge. They are both members of Eastern Star.

For their 50th wedding anniversary celebration at Mansfield Park, 255 friends and relatives came to wish them continued happiness. Now, 10 years later, they celebrated quietly. Only "about 100" friends and relatives came to their 60th wedding anniversary celebration on Sept. 4.

I absolutely LOVE Bandera! Where else can you jump in your car and drive five minutes to a genuine buffalo race? Harvey Wallbanger, Jr. racing against quarter horses ridden by the best jockeys Bandera Downs has to offer. The race was called "The Buffalo Express".

The horizon was filled with great, billowy clouds. Overhead, a blue, blue sky. The flags flying, the crowds, all colorful, with loads of kids attending for this great occasion. And here he comes, the only racing buffalo in the world. He travels over 200,000 miles a year, all over the world, including 42 different states. His rides/trainer T C. Thorstenson, dressed in bright pink shirt, cowboy hat, great fluffy sheep skin chaps and white boots that looked like a pair of sneakers on the bottom half!, mounted on a regular jockey's saddle. "Harvey, Jr." was a huge shaggy, magnificent animal with a beautiful set of horns. And here they came, "cantering" out to the track, followed by the regular jockeys. "Buffalo Flat's Ranch" has to bring their own horses, cause "Harvey, Jr." would spook the regular horses-Bad! I imagine it might have something to do with his smell. Every once in a while, a soft breeze would waft our way and what a stink!

The race was to be 110 yards. They had a bit of trouble loading "Harvey, Jr." into the starting gate-but-then the bugle blew—and they were off! I mean thundering down the track. Swoosh-right by us to the finish line—and it was Harvey Wallbanger, Jr., the absolute, undefeated winner! His daddy, Harvey Wallbanger, Sr., raced 92 times in his career and won 76 of those!

Back the buffalo came, slavering great huge globs of spit, his tongue lolling out. T. C. side stepped him, backed him, circle eighted him. Then T. C. laid down flat on his back and this gigantic buffalo got down on his knees, slowly rolled over to lie down beside him, his great head on his stomach! Then, the finale. This bright pink 18 wheeler trailer was brought in with a ramp on the back, leading up to the roof.

T. C. ran the buffalo up the ramp, to the roof of the trailer (I imagine it was reinforced!) and then he stood up full on his back and waved his cowboy hat over his head. What a picture! From the ground to the tip of his hat must have been 20 feet, and silhouetted against the blue sky and white, billowy clouds, it was unbelievable. What a thrill! The scene was magnificent, but it was just another day in the "Cowboy Capital of the World"!

CAJUN FEST DRAWS 8,000

Dave Sallor of the Acadiana Cafe in San Antonio mixes up some of the gumbo brew that earned his restaurant third place in the professional division.

Some festival visitors needed a little help to try new taste experiences.

The food booths were as popular as the dance floor.

NEARLY 8,000 GUMBO FANS CAME TO LAKEHILLS AND ATE AND LAUGHED AND DANCED AND ATE AND DANCED AND ATE AND DANCED AND...

Continous Cajun music kept young and old alike dancing throughout the day and night.

13th Cajun Festival attendance equals last year's number

Robert Caswell, said that this year's attendance at 25 "equaled or was greater than last year's." An estimated 8,000 people flocked to the Lakehills Civic Center to participate in the 13th Annual Medina Lake Betterment Association.

Alkek Elementary first grade students entertained other grades on Friday with a "Butterfly Parade." The parade combined science with fun. The "butterflies" sipped nectar (a mixture of orange juice, bananas and fresh strawberries donated by Boyle's and Super S) at the end of their parade. All six first grade classes were involved in the parade.

Keep a keen watch and you will catch a glimpse of bobcats, wolves, and bears on the streets in Utopia. The cub scouts have migrated to the Sabinal Canyon. Boys who are interested in joining the cub scouts pack #222 can contact Lindy Padgett, den mother, at 966-3610 or Gary Davis, pack leader, at 966-3530. Kindergartners through age 10 years are eligible.

If you want a real Italian experience and you missed pizza nite at the senior citizens bingo on Tuesday night, your next chance is Sunday, Oct. 10. The UMYF is hosting a spaghetti supper at the Utopia United Methodist Church. Serving times are at 6 and 7 p.m. Adults plates are $4 and childrens plates are $3. Beverage and dessert are included.

The Fall Festival is only a month away, on Saturday, Oct. 30. And of course, everybody is ready, with their costumes hanging in the closet and the float is ready to roll. (Yeah, me too) Final plans for the festival will be discussed at the next P.T.O. meeting on Thursday, Oct. 7 at 7 p.m.

Medina volleyball girls struggle against Utopia

In Utopia Sept. 14, Medina's JV volleyball girls lost 14-16, won 15-11, and lost 13-15. The varsity girls lost 0-15 and 5-15.

In Natalia Sept. 18, the JV girls won 15-9, lost 7-15, and 10-15. The varsity girls won 15-12, lost 13-15, and lost 15-17. For the varsity girls, Laki Johnson had 4 kills, Courtney Alexander 2 kills, Alicia Mims 2 kills and 2 blocks, Sherri Scafidi had 5 assists, and Greta Floyd had 3 assists.

Lost Valley's rope challenge course is open to the public. It promotes team building, problem solving, trust building and facing ones fears, according to ranch manager and course director Minette Velvin. "It's also plain, old fun," says Velvin, who would like to see the junior high and high school participate in a climbing club. "I think it would keep kids out of drugs and alcohol. We have an orienteering course, too. Where one sets out with a map and a compass and overcomes obstacles- like climbing- to meet a goal."

Kevin says 'thanks' for all the caps

Pottsboro cancer patient has achieved his world-record-breaking goal

Eight-year-old cancer patient, Kevin Bandlar of Pottsboro, wants to thank Bandera Bulletin readers for helping him to set a world's record for collecting caps. He surpassed the goal of 110,000 hats on Saturday, Sept. 25, and is still counting the remainder of the tally.

People from all over Texas, and from four other states, heard about Kevin's dream to set a world record. Caps poured in to the Pottsboro address. Emily Keith, of Bandera, took charge of sending caps to him after word of Kevin's dream was printed at the Bandera Bulletin. Over 250 more caps came into the Bulletin office on Tuesday.

Kevin has battled cancer for 2 1/2 years. He plans to donate the caps to cancer patients who have lost their hair as a result of treatments. At least, he plans to give the hats away- as soon as he finishes counting them.

Lakehills youth center accepts challenge, recruits more volunteers for two shifts

At a time when many in Bandera County are planning youth activities in an attempt to prevent another tragic teenage death, organizers of the Lakehills Youth Center are begging for volunteers.

A meeting and registration will be held on Friday, Oct. 1 from 6 to 9 p.m. A hot dog party will be held for the youth attending and registering.

One organizer, Sharon Reich, says that the Oct. 1 meeting and registration will be an "ideal time" for concerned citizens to volunteer to help out at the center or to donate food for future recreation nights. She said that food items which can be stored and used during the fun nights are needed. "Last year, we sold food to the kids. This year, we would like to make it available to them free of charge. But if we don't get enough money or food donations, we'll have to sell the snacks again."

She also warns that the youth center might not be open as much as it was last year. "We have two shifts. We need someone to keep it open from 3:45 p.m. to 7 p.m. each Friday. Then we need someone to take the 6:30 to 10:15 (or until closing) shift. I am signed up for two nights a month. Unless we get more volunteers, we'll have to close the other two nights a month. Last year, I took all the nights. I can't do it again this year. My family needs me at home."

Youth invited to register and attend the recreation nights at the center are ages nine to senior high. Junior high, or younger, youth should bring their parents to the registration.

Activities include: ping pong, pool, board games, arts and crafts material, music and food.

Saloma Kinsey

Saloma M. Kinsey, 81, of Medina died Friday, Sept. 24 in Bandera Nursing Home. She was born May 16, 1912 in Bandera County and was a lifelong resident. She was a member of the Baptist Church.

Survivors include a daughter, Jo Nell "Jodie" Williams of Medina; two sons, C. A. Kinsey of Bandera and Jimmy Kinsey of Medina; four grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

Graveside services were held Sunday, Sept. 26, in Oak Rest Cemetery with the Rev. Gerald Evans officiating.

Woodmen of the World senior camp held here

Bandera County is now home for Camp Los Hacheros, or Woodmen of the World Camp. Some 350 youth enjoyed the camp this summer and 35 senior members of the fraternal insurance organization followed suit.

The camp is located off Highway 173, approximately 7 miles north of Bandera. It had previously been a church camp, Camp Covenant, owned by C.W. Rhodes. Woodmen bought the camp in April and held the dedication in July.

Senior campers enjoyed volleyball, horseshoes, archery and marksmanship, live music, swimming, and just visiting and camping together on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Sept. 23, 24 and 25.

Woodmen of the World is a fraternal insurance company some 22,000 members strong in southwest Texas. The company is 103 years old and provides membership privileges for its members as well as sponsoring community projects. Summer camp at an affordable price is one of their main activities. The southwest Texas organization also gave 1,000 teddy bears to Santa Rosa Hospital and is planning to give that same number to the city of Victoria.

These students; Kyle and Frank Forsyth, formerly of Germany; Victor Munoz, from Mexico; and Shelly Martin, formerly of Germany, are a few of Alkek's students who come to Bandera from different countries. Besides the students from Canada, Germany and Mexico, Doris Doebbler's computer class contains students who have moved to Bandera from Arizona, California, Colorado, Florida, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington D.C. and 21 different locations in Texas. "What we can't figure out," Doebbler says, is how all these people find Bandera!" Out of the 872 enrolled at Alkek Elementary, only pre-kindergarten and early childhood development students do not use the computer room. Since there are not enough computers to go around, Doebbler holds 12 classes each day and sees a total of 41 teacher's students every three days on a rotating schedule. Students double-up on computers during their class.

The independence celebration of the Walker Memorial Chapel on leaving the status of being a Baptist mission and becoming a full fledged church on Sunday, Sept. 26, was well attended. Folks came in from Leakey, Devine, Kerrville, Center Point, La Coste, Harper, San Antonio, Tarpley, Hondo and Fredericksburg. There were well over one hundred attending this celebration including nine ministers; most of these served at Walker Memorial Chapel at one time. Rev. Paul Flanders, the first full time Pastor at the Chapel lead the congregation in prayer. The big moment came when Rev. Frank Pullin made the presentation of property from the First Baptist Church of Bandera to Rev. Ken Brown of the Walker Memorial Chapel After the constitution service in the Chapel, most of the people went to the Fellowship hall where they enjoyed cake and ice cream and visiting with old friends.

Bill and Margaret Holmes, and Bills sister and brother-in-law, Betty and Lane Lewis, returned home Friday from Laughlin, Nev. They made the trip in Betty and Lane's motor home. On the way West, they stopped to see the Grand Canyon, Betty's first time to see it. Stayed at Riverside RV Park in Laughlin. Rented a car and drove on to Oatman, AZ., a little ghost town back in the hills on old Route 66. One day they drove to Las Vegas, saw Hoover Dam and of course, went into a few casinos before returning to Laughlin.

On the drive home they saw the Painted Desert and the Petrified Forest. Also, stopped to see the Carlsbad Caverns. Got home late Friday, very tired.

Jansky's road has led from C&W to gospel

Clifton Jansky, former country music star, will be in concert at the First Baptist Church of Bandera's Harvest Crusade on Oct. 10 through 14 at 7 p.m. each evening. The concert is a part of the tent revival.

The tent will be erected at 12th Street and Hackberry. Along with Jansky, the Fair family will be featured. Randy Fair, an evangelist, known for his "chalk talks" will be the guest speaker.

Jansky spent 22 years as a country music performer. He had recorded 12 country singles, an album and a cassette. One of his hits was "Amarillo by Morning." He says he has gone from being an entertainer to being a "full-time servant of the Most High God."

Jansky was born in Pleasanton in December, 1956. His family moved to San Antonio when he was four. They were not Christians. Jansky remembers going to church on Easter and Christmas. "How was I supposed to know about Jesus since I never went to church and no one outside the church ever shared the Gospel with me?" Jansky asks.

He was successful and popular. Country music was his life, his hope, his dream., and his primary source of income. Then he began to feel an emptiness inside him that was "impossible to fill. I no longer knew the person in the mirror looking back at me and I knew there was a void in my life, but I didn't know that it was Jesus."

Finally, in 1984, he realized he was lost and Jesus was His only hope. "I asked Jesus Christ to forgive me of my sins, to wash me white as snow, and to make me the kind of person He wanted me to be. He did and I felt as if I weighed only three ounces. He took my burdens and by faith I took Him as my personal Lord and Savior."

He turned his back on his country music career in 1989, and he and his family became solely dependent upon God's provision for them. His wife Barbara, and daughters, Bethany and Brandi, have seen empty cupboards. Through it all, they have experienced God's blessing in exchange for their obedience.

Jansky is now "on the road for Jesus." He sings and speaks, telling others how Jesus can change their lives, too. He has been in the former Soviet Union, Romania, Great Britain, Yugoslavia and Siberia.

He will take part in the Harvest Crusade at the First Baptist Church's tent revival on Oct. 10 through 14, beginning at 7 p.m. each evening.

St. Victor's Chapel in Lakehills honored Monsignor Michael McManus' (Father "Mac") 45 years of service in the priesthood on Saturday, Sept. 18. Some 80 people attended. THE ILLUSTRATED BIBLE

God Leads, Men Follow

"He uncovers the deeps out of darkness, and brings deep darkness to light."

— Job 12:22

One must always wonder what impels some individuals to transcend the bounds of their normal lives to seek out something that lies beyond. Christopher Columbus, whose epochal discovery we celebrate this month, was just such a man. Though there is evidence that men earlier had sailed unknowingly where he reached, the common belief of his time was that there was nothing but void beyond a certain distance from shore. The real impulse behind Columbus and others like him who break barriers of distance or ignorance, is faith — a faith that can only have its origins in God. For it is the all-knowing God who chooses those who follow where he would lead.

SOME THOUGHTS TO THINK ABOUT TODAY

A handful of common sense is sometimes worth a bushel of learning...

The secret of happiness is not doing what you like--but liking what you do...

The greatest of all mistakes is to do nothing because you think you can only do a little...

Life is like a mirror--if you frown at it, it frowns back; if you smile it returns the greeting...

It often takes a thousand words spoken softly every day...to bury just the three or four...we didn't mean to say...

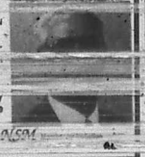

For every minute of anger--we lose sixty seconds of happiness...

Retentive memory may be a good thing--but the ability to forget is the best spice of life.

Always put off until tomorrow--what you shouldn't do at all...

Do what you can being what you are--shine and grow warm if you can not be a star...

Day by day, realize that nothing really matters in this world except love--the love we receive from others and the love that we give in return...

'Pastor Pete' leaves Bandera for studies

Rev. Eugene S. Peterson, pastor of Grace Lutheran Church, will be leaving Bandera on Sept. 30 after nearly four years. He is beginning a travel and study program to obtain his doctorate in rural ministry from Evangelical Theological Seminary in Dixon, Missouri.

Peterson said he came to Bandera "grieving", after the death of his first wife, and is leaving Bandera with a new lady love in his life. He and Paula were married in August, 1991. They grew up in the same Minnesota town and graduated from the same high school but had never dated. They each married somone else.

Peterson lost his wife to cancer and Paula lost her husband to cancer. They met again at a 35th class reunion, fell in love and married. Now they will begin travelling together as Peterson researches his doctorate. "We'll get to spend more time together than we have ever been able to," Peterson says with a smile.

He said he is leaving with another love as well; a love for Bandera, the people and the Hill Country. After spending 24 years as a chaplain in the Army, Peterson retired to the Hill Country. He says he will miss the cooperative spirit he has found in Bandera. "It's been tremendous. I will miss the fellowship with the other pastors in town and the Bandera County Christian Fellowship- and the congregation here."

He has had the joy of seeing Noah's Ark day care grow to an enrollment of 80. He has had the disappointment in having seen the Bandera County Christian Fellowship propose a youth center and form a committee only to see no results.

He sees the biggest challenge in Bandera and for Bandera as "getting something done." He gives the lack of movement on the youth center and the city park as two examples. "It's a way of life here. It needs to change. Things need to get done."

Meanwhile, he and Paula will embark on a program to get things done. They will travel through Texas, the southeastern and midwestern parts of the country. Peterson wants to find out why there is a decline in church membership and attendance in main line churches and why. "My purpose is to study how churches can be kept alive in rural communities."

George Schultz will act as interim pastor for Grace Lutheran Church.

Father McManus presented Pastor Eugene Petterson with a plaque of appreciation from the Bandera County Christian Fellowship Committee for his work during his four years as pastor of Grace Lutheran Church.

The Medina Class of 1944 had 13 members at their homecoming reunion 10 years ago. this year, the class will meet together again on Oct. 30. Medina's annual Homecoming celebration is scheduled Friday and Saturday, Oct. 29 and 30. Friday, Medina will play Leakey in high school football action, then Saturday morning, activities will include the annual parade at 10 a.m.

Community supported Medina garage sale Sept. 25

Over 58 vendors supported Medina's community-wide garage sale on Saturday. Nearly $800 was raised for the Kerrville Crisis Pregnancy Center.

Louis Vannatter acted as the security guard, watching over the displays the night prior to the sale.

Randy MacNaughton hauled porta potties to the Apple Festival Grounds, which were rented for the garage sale by the Medina Rotary Club.

Robert Cohn, Darrell McGlathery and Marshall Pond directed traffic. Left over items were sent to Mexico to be given to needy people there.

Other left over items were donated for future sale to: the proposed Bandera youth center and Pipe Creek EMS.

Dixie Cohn said that her "hearty thanks" went out to those who donated items for the Crisis Pregnancy Center and the EMS.

Let the Bible Speak

ARE YOU RESPONSIBLE FOR YOUR SALVATION?

"...Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling"--Phil. 2:12. This phrase, "work out," literally defined means, "to do that from which something results"--Thayer's Greek dictionary. To paraphrase this passage: "DO SOMETHING which results in your salvation." The popular doctrine that "your behavior has nothing to do with your salvation," is destroyed by such verses as this. One such man-made doctrine is "unconditional (individual) election." What this doctrine simply teaches is that man can do nothing in connection with his salvation. Therefore, in order for anyone to be saved, God had to choose (individually) those who would be saved.

The Bible, however, says nothing of the sort. It teaches that man does indeed have the ability to choose good or evil (Romans 2:4-11, Luke 8:15), and that man is held accountable by God for his choices (Romans 14:12). The "day of judgment" will involve man's decisions about God, not the other way around (I Peter 1:17).

Man could not save himself, for he had nothing to offer in exchange for Gods grace (Mark 8:36, 37). Salvation could not be bought by meritorious works so, thankfully, God offered His grace to ALL men--"For the grace of God has appeared, bringing salvation to ALL men"--Titus 2:11. Question: If God offered His grace to ALL men, why are not ALL saved? Those who believe in "unconditional election" have a hard time answering this question, however, the Bible gives us the answer. "...He (Jesus) became, to ALL those who obey Him, the source of eternal salvation."--Heb. 5:9.

[illegible] offered his grace to ALL (Titus 2:11), and ALL [illegible] (Romans 5:9) will receive it.

[illegible] certainly is not due to any fault or deficiency of God. It will not be because God was not willing to save them, for, as we have read, God "desires ALL [illegible]

A Bandera firefighter hoses down a blazing pickup Monday afternoon, Sept. 27, after a gasoline fire spread. Tommy Heinen was burned on his arms and body when the truck caught fire on State Hwy. 173 north of Bandera. According to a passenger the truck began running roughly, and Heinen stopped to check the cause. Gasoline from a broken fuel pump apparently was ignited by the truck's hot exhaust manifold resulting in the blaze that destroyed the vehicle. Heinen's wife and child and the passenger were not hurt.

Rabies

passed to the offspring prior to birth. All warm blooded animals and humans are at risk of developing rabies.

Layne says that skunks, foxes and raccoons are the most common carriers in the United States. Striped skunks are responsible for more cases of rabies than any other species. Second and third generations of skunks raised in wire cages have developed rabies under experimental conditions.

Foxes are prone to transmit the rabies virus because they migrate northeasterly prior to winter. Four to five of the eight confirmed cases of rabies in Bandera County so far this year have occurred in foxes.

Rabies in raccoons has increased dramatically since the early 1970s. This poses a threat since raccoons adapt readily to environments with humans and their pets.

Bats rarely cause rabies in the U.S., according to Holmes. However, in Mexico, blood-eating bats are a major threat to humans and domestic animals. The incidence of rabies in rats, mice, squirrels and rabbits is extremely low. No cases of human rabies have been documented as a result of a bite from rodents or rabbits. Rodent bites are a high percentage of animal bites in humans.

"Rabies in any geographic region changes according to population changes in wildlife," Holmes says. "Wildlife is the source of rabies for domestic animals. Domestic animals expose their human owners. Dogs are the main source of animal bites to humans in the U.S."

He says that because people who are bitten often seek anti-rabies treatment, the level of human rabies exposure from dogs has decreased. The vaccination of dogs against rabies has been another important factor in the decrease of rabies in domestic animals. Rabies in domestic animals are decreasing while rabies in wildlife is increasing.

According to Holmes, cats are becoming more of a threat for rabies exposure to humans. Beginning in 1981, the number of cases of rabies in cats has increased annually. More people choose cats as pets, yet do not get them vaccinated against rabies. The increase in the cat population puts them more into contact with wildlife. The high level of wildlife rabies is then transmitted to cats. Homes says that this, in turn, increases the frequency of rabies exposure to humans from cats.

"In fact, the rate of human exposure to rabies from cats is increasing at a greater risk than that of [illegible] dogs. Rabid cats often become vicious and will attack humans and other animals when they are disturbed." He emphasizes, "the best way to prevent the possibility of human rabies from cats is to make sure all pets are vaccinated every year.

"Rabies," Holmes says, "is a threat to both humans and domestic animals in Bandera County and the surrounding area."

There have been 8 confirmed cases of rabies in Bandera County this year and one which is strongly suspected, but not confirmed. Since 1991, animals with confirmed cases of rabies have included; a cow, a dog, a skunk, a raccoon, a bat, and several foxes.

Bike tour planned at Medina Lake

The first annual bicycle tour is scheduled for Sunday, Oct. 24 at Medina Lake. It is sponsored by Medina Lake Liberty Tour, an organization of the Libertarian Party of Bandera County, and the San Antonio Wheelmen.

Between 500 and 700 participants are expected. The early registration fee (through Oct. 15) is $13. Late registration, through Oct. 15, is $16. A portion of the proceeds will benefit the Lakehills EMS and Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department.

For more information, call Rowena McKinney at (210) 751-3847. McKinney says that one purpose behind the bike tour is to promote commerce in the Medina Lake area. "We hope to get people in here from Houston and Austin and other places around the state who will purchase things- who will fall in love with the Hill Country and buy lots and move here."

I am the owner of what used to be the "Bluebonnet Ballroom" and is now "Donny's". Last Friday night, a scuffle broke out at my establishment and I felt it important to make something clear to my patrons and future patrons: I intend to run a respectable business and will have no part of any fighting or other unruly behavior in my club. Let this be a warning to potential troublemakers that any violations of the law in my business will, I repeat, will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

It is hard enough to make a living these days without people causing trouble for small business. I ask all members of our community to help "keep the peace" by reporting rowdy behavior in any public gathering place so that the police can step in and prevent brawls before they happen.

I apologize to my customers who were at Donny's last Friday enjoying themselves when the fight broke out, and want to ensure them and their friends that I am taking steps to prevent such outbreaks in the future.

She asks church's support

Dear editor:

People tell us that history repeats itself. We should learn from the mistakes of the past yet history repeats itself. As Solomon observes in Ecclesiastes 1:9, "That which has been is that which will be, and that which has been done is that which will be done. So, there is nothing new under the sun."

In fact, if we turn back the clock 2000 years ago and study the Romans, we find that it was not uncommon for a baby to be left to die or be killed because it was weak or unwanted—and this act was carried out by the newborn baby's parents. But during the first century A.D., a group began emerging which refused to carry out this practice regardless of the child's condition. This group was the church—the Christians. The ones who were trained by Christ's apostless themselves, felt so strongly about this that they would often take home and raise babies which had been abandoned. Now we find that in America, babies continue to be put to death because the parents do not want them. The only difference is that today they are put to death in the womb before anyone has to see their face or hear their cry—anyone except their Creator. It is time for the church to once again help save the babies.

Help is a key word in that statement as the battle is not ours, but the Lord's. Will you please join with me in prayer that God will intervene on behalf of the unborn babies? On Sunday, Oct. 3, from 2:30 to 3:30, Christians from all over America will join together to pray for God's intervention. Many will join together in public and pray while holding signs which say, "Abortion Kills Children", "Adoption: the Loving Option", and "Jesus Heals and forgives." Others will join together in their church and spend the hour in prayer or pray in the privacy of their home. Won't you plase join with us as we cry out to God to put an end to this injustice?

If you have any questions, call me at 796-3364.

Bulldogs win district opener Friday

Bandera will travel to Ingram this week

Medina runningback Randy Rose (44) amassed 141 yards and scored a touchdown as the Bobcats defeated Sabinal's Yellowjackets Friday, Sept. 24. The 'Cats are now 3-0 overall and 1-0 in district 28-1A. Staff photo by Larry T. Williams

The most impressive thing about Bandera's game Friday was that they won 27-6 even though the team was experiencing a sub-par night.

"We didn't play with the intensity we had last week. Coming off an emotional game against Marble Falls and six weeks tests this week contributed to our lack of focus against West Campus," said Coach Mike Williamson. "But the team still won the game and that says a lot about these boys," he added.

Before the first minute had ticked off the game clock the Bulldogs were on top of the scoreboard. On the second play from scrimmage Marlon Santos found an opening and turned it into a 73 yard touchdown run. Kyle Woodland nailed the extra point and Bandera was quickly up 7-0.

The Dogs tacked on two more second quarter TD's. Midway through the quarter Robert Bradford crossed the goal line from 4 yards out. Jimmy Stroud tacked on another score when he went in from the one yard line. Woodland was one target on both PAT's and at halftime Bandera was leading 21-0.

The Bulldogs spent much of the second half on their heels as the Cougars found success both rushing and passing. To their credit the Dogs defense only allowed West Campus to score one touchdown, that coming in the third quarter.

Bandera and Santos answered with another long (33 yard) TD run in the fourth quarter and the Dogs claimed their first district win by a final score of 27-6.

"I thought we got a good effort from our offensive unit," commented Williamson. "Bill Wyman, Bobby Jones, Greg Knutson and J.R. Forsythe gave us some good blocking along the line. We also saw a productive night from our receivers. Aarron Lacey, Jason Hearn and Brad Parker all had a good game. Our quarterback (Jimmy Stroud) and running backs also had a fine outing. Santos finished the game with 124 yards rushing. Bradford didn't have those kind of numbers but he had a great night blocking," Williamson added.

"We also saw some very good individual efforts on defense. Bart Byerley, Wyman and Knutson on the defensive line and Brian Flack, Matt Mazurek and Lacey in the secondary performed well against West Campus," said Williamson.

Reflecting on the game Williamson said "This was not a weak team we faced. West Campus is good and they are going to beat some people in this district."

"Every week I get a chance to comment on our players and our team but the coaches would like to also comment on Bandera's fans. They're tremendous. This is a wonderful group of young men we have to work with and to get the enthusiastic and positive support from our fans in the stands has been great," Williamson noted.

In Ingram the Bulldogs will see the best team the Warriors have fielded in several years. In addition, for the first time in nearly a month the Dogs will not have the home field advantage.

"It will take a hard fought and mistake free game for us to win in Ingram," said Williamson.

Kickoff for the game will be 7:30 p.m.

'Cats advance record to 3-0 with 18-9 win over Sabinal

The Medina Bobcats stretched their overall record to 3-0 and opened their district 28-1A season with a 18-9 victory over the Sabinal Yellowjackets Friday, Sept. 24.

A capacity crowd was on hand to watch as the Bobcats played a tough defensive game and exploded on occasion for spectacular scores.

After a push and shove first quarter played between the 20 yard stripes, Sabinal recovered a Randy Rose fumble on the Bobcat 14. But with a five yard delay of game flag and an incomplete pass, the 'Jackets moved the ball in reverse to the 17.

A successful field goal attempt from that point gave Sabinal a 3-0 lead with 5:06 left in the first half.

Medina started from their own 43 with a handoff to Rose who fumbled again but maintained possession with a four yard loss. Two plays later quarterback Clifford Watts was chased from the pocket and with a desparate heave, hit Garrick Childers at mid-field. Childers twisted and turned through a surprised Yellowjacket secondary for the score. A two point conversion attempt failed and the 'Cats led 6-3.

Medina kicker Scott Faglie booted an onside hopper that the Bobcats recovered on Sabinal's 45 but the drive stalled at the 10 yard line.

The 'Jackets failed to advance and gave the ball back to the 'Cats on their own 41 with 1:10 left in the half.

On second and ten, Watts again dropped back and nailed Rose on the Sabinal 40 yard stripe. Rose also wound his way through the Sabinal defenders to the goal for the score. The point after attempt went wide and Medina took a 12-3 half time lead to the locker room.

In third quarter action Sabinal got as close as the Medina four yard line but the Bobcat defense stopped the drive.

Medina then marched steadily up the field, moving the last 35 yards on carries by Faglie who bulldozed his way to the Sabinal five. With three minutes left in the third quarter, Watts carried on a keeper for the touchdown. Another extra point attempt failed and left the score Medina 18, Sabinal 3.

After receiving the Bobcat kickoff, the Yellowjackets still had some sting however and scored on second down with a monster 65 yard pass play. The score was nullified by a illegal receiver penalty and the Sabinal effort stalled when Faglie recovered a fumble on the Bobcat 40.

On the next play Chris Whitehead went in for a shaken Watts and threw a first down pass straight to a 'Jacket defender who ran 60 yards for the touchdown. This time the score counted and the Medina lead was cut to 18-9 with 11 minutes left in the game.

Fourth quarter interceptions by Charles Kneuper and Brent Mansfield alowed the Sabinal offensive effort and Rose continued to grind out yardage for the 'Cats. The Medina runningback carried 38 times for a total of 141 yards. Watts passed for 94 yards and the Bobcats rolled up 17 first downs while only losing 40 yards to penalties.

Medina will visit D'Hanis Saturday, Oct.2 for their second district match. Game time is 7:30 p.m.
