A husband andwife team, Galen Boutte and Sylvia Chesson, opened the convenience store to cut travel time back and forth to Bandera for necessities. With visitors and hungry travelers in mind, they added Cajun cooking.

Red beans and rice; gumbo; boudin; Cajun barbecue; and po-boys dipped in special sauce brings a Louisiana flavor to the Texas Hill Country. The rodeo cowboys champions' monument honors local rodeo champions including Toots Mansfield, Ray Wharton, Buddy Groff, Todd Whitewood, Scooter Fries, Clay Billings and Jimmy Adams.

The war heroes monument is a memorial to Bandera County men who sacrificed their lives in World War I. Some 23 names are inscribed on the grante monument that has stood since 1924.

The veterans' monument is the newest monument on the courthouse square, and is placed in honor and memory of all war veterans by the Bandera County veterans and auxiliaries. It is pledged as a "tribute to valor" in "patriotic allegiance to sanctify God and country."

The Camp Montel monument is a memorial to the Texans who served in the Confederacy. It commemorates Captain Charles DeMontel, and the Texas Civil War Frontier Defense. The monument was placed by the state of Texas in 1964.

"Texas had 2,000 miles of coastline and frontier to defend from Union attack, Indian raids, marauders, and bandits from Mexico' it says on the back of the granite monument. "defense lines were set to give... protection with the few men left in the state."

The Clark monument is a huge granite boulder that was erected as a memorial to Banders pioneer Amass Clark, who died in 1927 at the age of 101. Clark, the first persanent settler in Bandera county, came here in 1852. He was a veteran of the Mexican war, and the stone marker originally stood in the National Cemetery at Pt. Sam Houston.

There's Gene Autry's old guitar, several hog heads, neon beer signs, an old pump organ, posters, and license plates from some of Blue's favorite customers. There are Elvis paintings, old boots, pictures, and even a pair of retired ballet slippers.

Bill Hendry, who owned the First National Bank at that time (now Bandera Bank) loaned Blue the Money on a handshake. Blue bought the Silver Dollar and paid it off in 15 years.

Over the years, Blue has donated his services as an entertainer to community events: parades; stock shows; and benefit dances.

Arkey Blue's Silver Dollar is known all over Texas for the sawdust on the dance floor and the famous personalities who come to visit. Parts of several movies have been shot in the Silver Dollar, Singer Hank Williams, Jr. still drops in from time to time to visit.

Blue's employees are known for their loyalty to their employer: staying with him for 20 years and more. He jokes that Billy Clyde (who delivers the Bandera Bulletin to customers around town) has been with him "forever" and that another employee has been with him "since Columbus came over from Spain."

One employee was not that loyal. She had been with him for over five years when she found a big, live lizard in the cash register. She picked up her purse and said, "good bye, Arkey Blue."

Among the attractions in Banders County are remains and evidence of pre-historic life, Fosail-hunting is a popular activity, as evidenced by this group of shell collectors who traveled from Corpus Christi recently to gather the fossilized remains of ancient sea dwellers. The Coastal Bend Shell Club found some choice specimens in a caliech hillside near Pipe Creek. The group is led by Don O'Nelll of Pflugerville, and the trip was organized by group-member Rosaile Taylor of San Antonio.

Medina Lake offers a variety of treats for the visitor

Fishing and boating are two of the favorite pasttimes at Medina

The lake is home to black bass, white bass, crappie, striped bass and perch, all catchable if the right bait is offered in a proper manner in a correct location. (Fishing's the same everywhere!) But catfish are the real secret of Medina Lake.

Anglers will find fishing from a boat most successful since Medina Lake is surrounded by private property. The general public can launch a craft from a public boat ramp located at the state park at the end of Park Road 37. There is no charge for launching.

Shore fishing is available and boats may be launched from privately owned ramps for a fee also. Some launch sites on the lake include Cedar Point Landing, Bob's Cove, Red Cove, Goat Hill Camp, Pop's Place and Wharton's Dock.

Medina Lake's Texas Parks and Wildlife game warden Ernie Lerma advises boaters to be sure they have the required safety equipment and current registration' before they launch. He also advises against driving a boat while under the influence of alcohol, and warns that, just like driving a car, DWI in a boat can also get you in trouble with Lerma says that a fishing license is required for anyone, ages 17 through 65, who is fishing in public waters, whether they are standing on private property or not.

Fishing license information, and TPWD boating safety information is available at local tackle shops and sporting goods stores, includin g Bandera Ice House and Lakehills Ice House.

For more information, Lerma can be reached at 931-3655.

Lakehills, located near Medina Lake on Park Road 37, can trace some of its early settlers back to 1854 Real development arrived with the completion of the Medina Dam in 1912.

Henri Castro, an early settler of what is now Castroville, dreamed of building an irrigation system and bringing faming to the area. During his lifetime, an earthen dam was built on the Medina River near the site of the present dam. It was later replaced with stone. A water-turned mill was added. But both of these were on a small scale and were unable to provide a steady source of irrigation to farmers.

Then, in 1884, Alex Walton took up the dream of a large dam. He was a young hunter with engineering fantasies and unshakable determination. He spent 17 years dragging engineers to the site of the present Medina Dam. Most were skeptical, but Walton's faith in the project never wavered.

The actual construction of the dam was a wonder in 1910, and still is today. It took only two years to construct the largest dam in Texas, and the fourth largest in the United States. And it was done with private

Texas International Apple Festival

Medina's 'Apple Festival' celebrates growing industry

The apple industry in Bandera County is now in its sixth year of production and still increasing. The Texas International Apple Festival, held annually in Medina, will this year be held on July 30.

The fledgling apple industry has grown from a small start of 900 trees at Love Creek Orchards near Medina in the early 1980s to the more than 400,000 trees now planted within a fifty mile radius of the Apple Capital.

Statewide apple production has reached 100,000 bushels and includes 22 varieties af apples. The Hill Country's crop has topped 5.000 bushels and 14 different apples grow in the hills.

State support for the emerging agri-business came in 1992 in the form of a grant of $20,000 to the Texas Apple Growers Market Cooperative located in Medina from the Texas Dept. of Agriculture. The co-op had to raise $30,000 in matching funds. Other monies came from a $12,500 gift from the Soil Conservation Dept. which was matched by Jam Orchards of Kerrville. The funds are being used to experiment with different root stocks and soil treatments in an attempt to fight cotton root rot which can decimal

The apple crop has also fostered a number of spin-off businesses in the area including food items made from the fruit, craft and curio products depicting an apple theme and grafted apple trees, ready for planting in new orchards or even patic containers.

All of the trees planted in the Bandera County area are dwarf varieties grown on grafted root stock and require supporting frames or a trellis to hold the plants up. Their small size facilitates harvest and allows growers to plant high density orchards that house up to 1,500 trees to the acre but the diminutive fruit trees still produce up to bushel of apples each season.

Visitors to Bandera County can get a good look at the apple industry and its related businesses and also sample good food and family fun during the annual Texas International Apple Festival held yearly in Medina on the last Saturday of July. An estimated 30,000 + people crowd into the Hill Country hamlet for one day of apple fun that includes live entertainment on three stages, more food and apple goodies than can be eaten and a spectacular fireworks display as a closing finale.

istorical postscript: Anglo-American settlers began arriving as early as the 1850s to live in the Sabinal Canyon. Some of them, to their sorrow, thought the maple trees they found there could be tapped for sugar, New England style. They killed the trees from which they attempted to extract syrup but made a success of farming with an unusual system of irrigation ditches by means of which they diverted river water to their fields.

They were unwittingly carrying out the dreams of a French socialist of the 19th century, Victor Prosper Considerant, acquired 20,000 acres in the canyon, to which he hoped to move his colony of political dissidents after a failure at La Reunion, now part of

While commenting on many of the natural aspects of the location, de Vaca did not say whether he enjoyed the fall color of the maple trees or the springtime music of warblers and vireos.

In western Bandera County lies a Utopia

Boyce and Davenport serves the community in a way that is otherwise lost forever alph Boyce and Kenneth Davenport bought out Kraut's Variety Store in Utopia, Texas in 1958. Adding to it grocery sales, custom deer processing, and feed, the two descendants of some of Utopia's original settlers manage the business "hands on". As small Texas towns get devoured by larger ones and huge retail chains swallow up small merchants, Boyce & Davenport serves the community in a way that is otherwise lost forever with the onslaught of "bigger is better" business prac-

Boyce & Davenport occupies the same social niche as the plaza does in southern latitudes. It is the town square, the barber shop, the coffee house, the drugstore and fountain, where people linger and take care of the business of being human.

Ralph Boyce unlocks the doors at 4:00 a.m. and puts on a pot of coffee like most other grocers who have to meet the produce trucks in the wee hours of the morning. Maybe that's the reason he arrives so early and

About this regular morning assembly, Boyce's partner. Davenport says, "You can hear anything you want to hear ... and the quality ... well ... it depends on the price you want to pay for it". unting the majestic white-tailed deer is one of Bandera County's major activities, and with good reason. Hunters here register as much success as those anywhere in Texas, and the place is fully geared to provide the tops in hunting fun. The scenery is unparalleled, the air is crisp most of the time and clear all the time, and the game is plentiful.

Hunting in Bandera County is almost exclusively done on private leases. The popularity of the area for hunting makes leases hard to find, but the hunters who shop around and make the necessary phone calls can find anything from deer-only leases and single-day leases to year-round all-season leases.

Most leases allow deer, turkey and dove hunting, and some leases have cabins. stocked fishing holes and other amenities. Most have a variety of stands and feeding

There is little public land hunting in Bandera County, but most hunters who have used both public lands and the lease system prefer the control they have over hunting access on private land.

Part of the appeal is the beauty of whitetailed deer. Many people enjoy just watching the graceful deer, and they say their beauty rivals any scenic view.

Boaters are reminded that the laws for registering and titling boats and motors has changed as per House Bill 1970. The change primarily affects owners of sailboats, small motors and small motorboats. Under the new law, which became effective Jan. 1, sailboats 14 feet and longer must be registered and titled. All outboard motors (internal combustion) and motorboats, regardless of size, must be titled. Canoes, kayaks, punts, rowboats or vessels under 14 feet long (including sailboats) when they are paddled, poled, oared or windblown are exempt from registration.

Currently, all sailboats, regardless of length, are exempt from the registration and titling rule when their only propulsion is windblown. Outboard motors 12 horsepower and under and motorboats longer than 14 feet currently are not required to be titled.

Col John Lapham, a WWII flying ace, created the Flying L on 542 acres of beautiful Texas Hill Country in 1946. His motto was "where a modern person can go and find himself in the midst of yesterday." With his love of flying he built the air strip and operated a flying school. A Frank Lloyd Wright associate redesigned the original single cabins into elegant villas. The layout of the ranch is such that an overview shows it to be laid out in the shape of an airplane.

An 18-hole golf course was created in 1972, and new luxury suites and a conference room were built. They have dude ranch capabilities, overnight lodging and great golf packages, 796-3001.

Hill Country Island is a rare find back to B.C.; the arrow heads; and the rare-to-Texas madrona tree; even without those things, Bed & Breakfast Hill Country Island is a rare find. Walter and Mary Autry opened the bed and breakfast nine years ago. They advertised in Texas Monthly magazine for the first five years of business. They have not advertised since, sold on Hill Country Island.

Actually, the Autrys built the two-story cabin with the sleeping loft and the screened in sleeping porch for themselves. Mary's sister had traveled in Europe and told Mary that what they really needed was a bed and breakfast. The idea caught on and when the Autrys found it was too to move a house on to their property expensive to move a nonse on to user property for a bed and breakfast, they moved out of their house. They now live in the mobile home they lived in before they built their cabin by the river. Hill Country Island is located on Red Buff Crock. The Autrya bought the land in 1969. It was a tangle of cedar and brush with the area where cabin now sits covered with debris from the flooding creek. They spent years clearing the land, cleaning up the debris, and building two dams along the creek to form the present lake and island. Now, the madrona tree sta the road, waiting to thrill visitors with its smooth, red bark and unusual shape. Wild cherry trees and wahuu trees dot the land. Wisteria and mustang grape vines climb up trees around the hed and breakfast.

The subject of my previous letter, which apparently upset the Mayor, was about bringing an item back to the Council when it had already been settled at the meeting before, probably just because one of the city employees didn't like the council's decision, the first time. I just don't think employees, working on tax money, should have days off while the business people are all open and working so they can pay their taxes! Libraries empower people

Dear editor:

I have just returned from the annual Texas Library Association conference. The theme of the conference, "libraries empower people," struck me as sadly ironic when speakers bemoaned the fact that public libraries were facing cutbacks and closings as they fought for a piece of the pie that was being shared with crime, gang violence and homelessness. California school libraries have lost the majority of been special meetings called by the Mayor that I have missed for one reason or another.

The Mayor suggests that the city pays some of the lowest salaries in the state. I invite you, the people, to check the salaries paid. As an example, I checked the average executive secretary salaries approximately $16,114.00.

Our city secretary is paid $20,280.00!

I know that the citizens of Bandera that know me, know me to be an honest and business person. I am not a politician. I again, wish to thank them for their trust and support when I was elected.

After hearing many famous writers and speakers over the years who had very humble and sometimes questionable beginnings say that the library literally saved them, I am convinced that libraries do empower people on a level that cannot be measured. On February 22, 1994, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company ("Southwestern Bell" or "Company") filled an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas ("Commission") for settructure the Company's Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of its Switched Access Service. This matter has been assigned to Docket No. 12784. The tartif sheets in Southwestern Bell's application, if approved, will bring the Company's interstate Access Service. Tartif into structural party with the Company's interstate Tartif No. 73 for Local Transport, Southwestern Bell's companion interstate tartif became effective on January 1, 1994.

Southwestern Bell proposes to implement the revised tariffs or a revenue neutral basis. Although the proposed tariff changes will affect all customers subscribing to Switched Access Service, the Local Transport and Directory Transport categories of Southwester Bell's Switched Access Service is primarily for interexchange carriers. It approved, this application will result in an increase in Southwestern Bell's revenues of approximately $1882.00 during the first year. Southwestern Bell proposes that the changes be effective on December 1, 1994.

Bandera Commissioners heard

911 rural addressing plan Monday M.J. Cave presented Ban-dera County commissioners with a rural addressing plan for the 911 emergency system during their Monday, April 25 meeting.

Cave said the Bandera County Appraisal District would serve as an entity for maintaining the 911 address system. She said that would work within Bandera's limited funds by avoiding the need to "start from scratch". It elimi-"start from scratch". It diminutes the purchase of one-time-use equipment and allows 911 addressing to be done, in part, from maps which the appraisal district already has. She says this system will also help the appraisal district in providing new information for tax base purposes.

First on the list for installing the 911 address system is to 'deconflict' existing road and street names. The 911 system will use mainly road names, rather than numbers. Roads that are not now named will be roads and the state confusion.

The purpose of bringing the automated address system to Bandera County, Cave explains, is simple. Someone in desperate trouble who needs to place a 911 call and may not have the statement of the st roads must be named. For roads which must be named, or reamed, public input will be invited. Road signs must be posted on all named roads.

Cave said that some road names may need to be changed to limit the theft of signs. She cited names, especially female names, as examples. Road signs stolen in Bandera County each year cost the State of Texas $38,000 to replace.

Once the method is in place for manual addressing, a vehicle-mounted measuring devise will be placed on a marked car.
This will reassure the public that the vehicle is working with the 911 system. Roads will be masured and addresses will be assigned. Even homes on private roads and behind locked gates will be included on the automated 911 system so they can be found quickly in case of emergency.

He says spend the money

Dear editor:
Please don't think that I am presumptuous, but 1 am concerned about the problem of the school district's money that is presently drawing so much interest, both in the community and in the respec-tive financial institutions. With the so called "Robin Hood" plan in effect, and harking over our Robin Hood' plan in effect, and harking over our shoulder, I question the windom of people not using this money rather than just leaving it lay in an institution. Regardless of where your groups that the properties of the properties of the state of the

This letter is concerning to the cheerleading event. I would like to know what ever happened to "Student Body?" Do they have any say so anymore? When did this change take place that strangers pick the cheerleaders?

Student Body is the best in choosing cheerleaders, because they are different every year. Student Body is the best in choosing cheerleaders, because they are different every year. Since I've been here, 4 years, I've see the same faces since Jr. High, please give me a break What is the use of any girl trying out if they are stuck on the same faces every year, that just gives all other girls less encouragement to ever try again. The request by Springhills Water Manage

The request by Springhilla Water Management District to be exempt from regulation, as published in the April 13 Bulletin, strikes me as a sort of sneaky request by the fox to be placed in charge of the hen house.

Has anyone ever seen Springhilla do anything to protect the Edwards Aquifer? ave they ever spent as much as one dollar to protect the water in Medina Lake from pollution? What programs, if any, have they actually conducted to protect and preserve the Medina Lake watershed? What are their credentials? Why are watershed? What are their credentials? Why are they qualified to operate without regulation in this day when over regulation seems to be the norm.

It seems that they might need a little more regulation, rather than none at all. Both agencies are in the business of selling at a nice profit, the surface water they take, free of charge, from the people of Texas. The people of Texas aloud demand that these water merchants be regulated and held accountable for their actions. It's just good business. He was a family man

Dear editor:
Ten months ago, when Pat Nixon died, those of us who knew the family, knew that our former President would not survive a year without her at his side. So be it. Richard Nixon, the 37th President of the United States of America is now back with his beloved wife. He now has the peace that he strived to attain for all of manhind while hat time was on earth.

History has been written-achievements and a blunder. There is no point repeating any of it. The one thing that needs to be pointed out is the sense of family and devotion that both Richard and Pat Nixon had. As vice-President and second family, that was the way it was. As President, times wore a changing after two Liberal Democrata. However, the Nixons had not changed. Public life is a fish bowl, but the Nixons maintained a level of privacy and amid public roles continued to raise two lowly girls. Devotion to each other and a strong sense of family made that possible. That is notworthy. That is what my memory will be: a family man. Susan Hooker Pipe Creek course...But there is a different kind of estate that never needs, or even can be probated...

The very best estate is an honorable name, a good reputation, a record of rightnous, useful inign...A legacy of an honorable name, a legacy of profound respect for facts, a deep reverence for character, a thirst for wisdom, a dedication for work-is far more important and more meaningful than money itself. These things can NEVER be detrimental, while money and assets at times CAN be.

A legacy of decency is NOT an impossible legacy....It is an estate ANY parent can leave to his or her children....In the funeral home field we have witnessed it time and time again...And if you look back, we are sur you can asy the same thing with equal or perhaps even more emphasis.

We welcome and appreciate any comments or thoughts you may have concerning the thoughts you read here...

Take your favorite mother out to lunch! For a heart-warm-ing story about one Bandera County mother, please turn to Page 6.

It was a wet and wild Bandera weekend!

Chili cooks from around the state braved the unseasonably cold and wet weather to compete in the first annual Cowboy Capital Chili Cookoff Saturday. The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce joined in the festivities at Mansfield Park for Bandera County's 138th birthday celebration. Sunday, more rain fell, but the annual St. Stanislaus Festival went off as planned. Above left, nine-year-old fiddler Regina Matthews and entertainer Johnny Dame took the stage and delighted the crowd Saturday. At right, Bandera's own 'Outhouse Gang' took second place in showmanship. For results of the chili cookoff, and more photos, please turn to Page 9.

Citizenship n. The status of a citizen, with its rights and duties. That's from Funk & Wagnalls. Take note the duality in the definition, rights AND duties. Let's confine this discussion to local affairs. What is the maxim. Think Globally, Act Locally. The theory is that if we take-care of our business on the local level, its effect will snowball up.

Can you imagine the state affairs would be in if everybody whined, "oh, what can I do? Our country, state and communities are in a mess now, but what a nightmare it would be if EVERYBODY gave up. At times we want to wring our hands of some community project because of the stress-often the negative energy of others. Before giving up, ask the question: "what if so and so gave up? Sure, we have dad days. But others have worse and, thank God, the next morning they are back on the job a dad days. But others have worse and thank God, the next morning they are back on the job a few more battle scars- but back and ready for the met on slaught of abuse, eggs and troublemakers, on top of the business at hand.

How long though, can they last without our support? Chew'em up, spit'em out, use'em up, throw 'em away. The disposable society. No deposit, no return.

Who are we talking about? Every organization and institution which is handed, or has taken, the responsibility of the success of our communities our churches, schools, civic organizations, and youth groups. These organizations, and youth groups. These organizations, notwithstanding setbacks and mistakes, are in the main, working for the advancement of civilization. In order to muster up enough enthusiasm to play a vital part in a community (on the local or national level), one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level), one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the common the part of the vectories of the part of the vectories of the part of the vectories of the community of the local or national level, one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the common the part of the vectories of the part of the vectories of the part of the vectories of the common that the reversion of the part of the vectories of the particular to maintain to maintain to maintain to maintain to maintain to maintain the number of the particular that the time tor maintain to a much the particular that the maintain to much the on the local or national level), one has to feel like he has a stake in the future of the community. It virtually takes a dose of self decide to believe this these days. But if there is a child in our lives- our own, a niece, grandson, goddhold, or some little person in the neighborhood who occupies a special place in our heart-that hold is our stake in the future, no matter how dismal these times seem.

My name is Tommy Joe Phillips. I am a candidate for trustee of the Medina Independent School District, place 5. My picture was not in the paper last week with the rest of the candidates for some unknown reason. I have worked with The Bulletin to correct that error.

Ladies and gentlemen, I feel that our young people are one of the most important parts of our community. We, as parents, should teach respect and discipline, so that when these kids go to school the teacher can be a teacher instead of a referee.

As a board member, I feel that all children should be treated the same. As a board member I want to treat parents and teachers the way I want to be treated. To have a strong community we have to have a strong school. To obtain that we need strong, qualified school board members. The responsibility of the Medina Independent School board is to insure the best possible education be given to these young people

I want teachers to be able to come to the board meetings and discuss problems that occur without fearing for their job.

As a tax payer, I feel we can provide a good education without going overboard on spending.

For place 5 there are three men running: JOE PHILLIPS, Wes Sawyer and E.C. Whitehead Jr. On May 7, ladies and gentlemen, our school needs a strong qualified person as trustee on our school board.

I urge you on election day to vote.

Saturday, April 30, offered stiff competition. Some 50 regis-tered cooks braved the rain and cooked up winning recipes for the event.

Proceeds from the cook-off will go to Bandera and Medina schools. However, while bad weather did not deter the cooks, it did apparently deter the crowd. American Legion member Bob Turner said that financial figures will be released to the public as soon as they are available. He said the Legion did not make as much money as it hoped to make, possibly due to the cook of the co had weather.

Turner says that an exit poll taken among the cooks at the event found that they liked Bandera, had fun and want to come back. They said the people in Bandera were friendly. That was the main thing they said.*

For showmanship, the Buzzard Back Chili Team from Kerrille took first place; The Outhouse Gang from Bandera took second place and the Chamber of Commerce took 3rd place. For chili cooking, Ray King took first place, the King is the Great Peopler of the Alamo Area Pod.

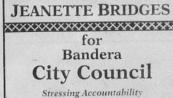

Terri Key, of Kerrvilke, won second place with her chili. Dwayne Ogden, of San Angelo, took third place.

Istand by my statements in the April 20 Bulletin. Mr. Stewart did not use the same school years as I did. Mr. Stewart, my figures are from the Texas Research League (Benchmark) which uses data supplied by TEA. I can understand you wanting to cover up the obvious and trying to discredit me. Strange you should volunteer so much info tion at this time, when so little information was made available during the bond election. Don't bankrupt BISD in your climb up the bureau-

Per pupil expenditures. Get it straight, James. I did not say "to educate students," I said, "not in classroom but in administration." (Too many chiefs, not enough Indians.) Cut admin. staff and hire more teachers.

In 1992-93 BISD had $3,852 per student. They spent $2,126 for classroom and $1,726 for administration and other items. It's easy to see where the increase was applied; an almost $600 increase per student spent for items compare it with your 1993 school tax rate of $1.44 per $100 valuation. Is that not an almost 100% increase?

Don't be surprised if our tax rate goes above the $1.50 cap imposed by Senate Bill 7. BISD has petitioned the State once for a higher rate but was turned down. I have reason to believe one of two things may happen: Use the permanent school fund to retire all debt services or raise the tax rate above the $1.50. This will be necessary to fund the bond for the school on FM1283. Look for similar information soon to be released by BISD.

Holks, you need someone on that school board who will let you know I what's going on before decisions are made so that you can have a chance to become involved.

Put Bobby Jones on the school board and he will keep you informed as to what the school board is up to and he will not condone closed door meetings nor join the "Good Ole Boy Club."

Approximately 165 sixth grade students from all around Bandera County attended what has become a more than a 10-year tradition last week. The Bandera Soil and Water Conservation District sponsored an all-day workshop and field day with seven different stations. Each 15 m' anutes, students would rotate to a new speaker. Rancher Bob Ramsey demonstrated animal calls. Randy Roberts, a director from Springhills Water Management District showed students a model of an aquifer and how water wells work. Students also learned about wildlife habitat, livestock products, soil and soil erosion, and how to shear sheep.

DISTRICT MOVES TO STOP POLLUTION

In a decisive move, the District

In a decisive move, the District adopted a new rule that will prevent pollution of freshwater in our aquilers from gypsum. The rule, supported unanimously by local drillers, mandates that gypsum or "gyp" be cemented off in new wells so that it will not mix with freshwater in the water well. Although gyp is sealed off by most drillers, recent well completion practices by some drillers have allowed gyp to mix with freshwater in water wells. This practice not only degrades the water quality for that water well, but lowers the water quality in the aquifer.

The whole experience was summed up in the words of one of the students as he was leaving. "That was cool!"

A new dimension was added to the District's presentation this year. Randy Roberts (wearing cap) used one of the District's newest teaching aides, a model water well, to show what a well is and how it works. He explained and showed with the model that the aquifer is not an underground river, but a water bearing rock formation. The students learned how a bit is used to cut through the rock formations. Mr. Roberts also showed how water is produced from the well. The students learned about check-valves and electric pumps. As an added treat Mr. Roberts gave out "collectable" rock cuttings.

A group of 30 concerned Bandera County residents met on Thursday, April 28 to discuss the major issues they feel are facing Ban-dera County over the next five years. Citizens from Bandera, Pipe Creek, Lakehills, Medina, Tarpley and Vanderpool who were knowledgeable and familiar with Bandera County and important issues facing the county were invited. Supporting the Bandera Volunteer Fire Department, the Hayes family says, is a job everyone can do. Donations to the volunteer department purchased this 1969 Chevrolet tanker which ices "old 1190" which "fell to pieces." A letter asking for ations was sent by the fire department, which has an account set up at Banders Bank, and brought in $10,000. The new 1190 tanker was purchased from the Medina Lake Volun-teer Fire Department for $8,000. Gene Hayes is the 3rd chief of the BVFD. Kim Hayes is the first woman fire fighter to be voted into the department as far as anyone can ren into the department as far as anyone can remember. (Daughtier Tammy is just in the picture, but the says she plans to join when sha's older.) Kim says more women would be a welcome addition to the BMPD. To her, fire fighting comes naturally, "guess it's in my blood. My grandfatther and my dad both retired from the fire department. I've helped cut in a lot of fires here in Banders including that big one in Medina. I've carried portable surross an additional manufacture in the second section. pumps up and down these hills- it's something other women could do. The thing to remember is...volunteer because someday it could be YOUR house you're trying to save." To join the department or receive more information, call chief Phil Tobin. Or, call Gene Hayes at 796-7465. More "man" or "woman" power will be welcomed. Those wishing to may make a donation at Bandera Bank or mail it to the fire department at P.O. Box 2006,

BHS parents support ag teacher at board meeting

Parents showed up in force at the Tuesday, May 10 Banders Independent School District toard meeting to address an squends item, a reduction in the vocational agriculture depart-ment, which would have cost as teacher Tom Maynard his job. Parents voiced a resounding "no" to that idea, even when Superintendent James Stewart announced as alternate nature Superintendent James Stewart announced an alternate plan which would keep Maynard in the Banders school system. Stewart told parents that the drop in the number of students taking vocational agriculture classes made it unsound, economically, to keep two vocational ag teachers. He said Maynard would be teaching biology next year and that Telvy Robbins would maintain the ag department by himself.

Stewart called Maynard "an outstanding teacher" and said he did not want to lose him. He said Maynard would be available for the ag department in the future if student numbers increase. He gave numbers to support his claim that it was not economically feasible to keep two teachers in the ag program.

Parents were unmoved by Stewart's figures and logic. They said the vocational agriculture program was diverse and that since students must be in an ag class to be in FFA, the reduction of classes following the removal of one teacher, would cut FFA students short. One mother drew applause when she said, "FFA has never been as active as it was this year. It is as important to some kide as sports and extra curricular activities."

Ag teacher Telvy Robbins agreed. He said it would be Stewart called his decision a matter of economics. He said funding levels barely cover salaries and the ag program dips into local funds for supplies.

Robbins replied, "you talk about numbers. I talk about students and kids because they are very important. The program is very essential and has a lot of merit. It helps a lot of kids."

He pointed out the large unumber of students signed up for next year from the special educational department. He asid 11 classes were scheduled for next year. He said that cutting those classes to six (the number one teacher could teach) would cut some of the students out of the program. He also pointed out that the agp program was just beginning to build strength with the addition of Maynard. He said Stiwart was "boss" and he would make the best of the final decision. He admitted that some students who take vocational agriculture do not want to be in students who take vocational agriculture do not want to be in class. He said most of those do not want to be in school at all. "Sometimes we can turn one of these around. We visit homes and parents and try to help the kids. Newly-elected Bandera Mayor Robert Skinner presided over a called city council meeting Friday, May 13, and he told those present that he planned to move forward and be positive about the future. With the deadline for completion of work on the city park project approaching, Skinner says there was "absolutely no chance of another extension" being granted in the project. Skinner, and newly-elected city council members Jeanette Bridges and Herb Kuykendall were sworn into office at the start of the May 13 meeting.

Isn't it true that some people have the gift of extending their influence on others? These are the leaders and the geniuses. They do influence periods of time and change human customs. But, let us remember that the influence of the greatest leader that ever lived can not compare with the daily influence we encounter and exert every day on our family, friends and acqualatinaces. Influence can be powerful, Let us not take it lightly for it is a powerful reality and one of serious importance.

State says BISD over budget in administrative expenses

Bandera Independent School District is among more than 100 school districts in Texas which could lose state funds because administrative costs are too high.
Changes must be made by next year, or state sid will be reduced. Bandera ISD superintendent James Stewart says he will "re-code" administrative salaries, putting some under instruction and some under administration to solve the problem.

anatruction and some under administration. Stowart says that Bandera is not heavy in administration. Tooking at the July, 1993 Bench Marke' (the most recent on Texas school budgets), the average administrative salary in Texas is 447,852. Our average in Bandera is $44,852.* No administrative positions or salaries will be cut for the 1996-96 school year, according to Stewart. In addition to the district's superintendent, the district's superintendent and assistant superintendent, the high school will have: a principal, vice principal and a director of special programs.

Bandera Middle School will have a principal and a vice have a principal and a vice principal.

Alkek Elementary school will have a co-principal team, Sandy North and Andy Kline.

After the new elementary school opens near Pipe Creek, one of the elementary administrators will probably be assigned to that campus. With a student population of about 1,740 students, Bandera falls within the Teras Education Agency's category of a 14 percent limit for administrative costs. Stewart says his goal is to reduce administrative costs and that he has conducted some reassigning of budget items from administration to instruction. "We're not trying to hide anything, We're just trying to take advantage of the state laws that allow us to do that."

He says administrative costs for the 1992-93 school year were 16.57 percent and those costs have been reduced to 14.59 percent for 1993-94.

Stawart says if the district consolidates tax collection, it will further reduce administration costs. 'Another problem we have in with attorney's fees for delinquent tax collection. We could reduce our costs by about $30,000 to $40,000 a year in attorney's fees.'

He says Bandera is one of the few school districts in the area collecting its own delinquent taxes. 'If we can convince the Appraisal District to collect all the taxes for us at one centralized location, it will save all tax payers money.'

The administrative budget for Bandera 1819 approximately $514,000, with an overall district budget of $7.6 million.

Bookkeeping procedures? Line item budgets are interesting, but the bottom line is all that really counts. The bottom line here is about $4,400 per year to educate one student. (I have a neighbor who is home-schooling her three older children while raising her two year old. It is not costing her any $13,200.00 a year-including sports, music, and exercise educate those three straight A students.) Attorneys fees? Simple arithmetic shows that spend-ing $30,000 to collect (or R.F.D. by MIKE MARLAND earn) $20,000 is a losing proposition. Most collection agencies work for a percentage of what they collect. In other words, if they collect nothing, they earn nothing, if they collect something, they get part and their client gets part. Now, you have some facts and some questions. It is my hope that the tax payers in Bandera will use them to nut the ruins on school spendir and focus on the real purnose of the schools-to educate the children. I really see no gain to the children from high-priced attorneys or uni-formed bond consultants. Buying books and paying teachers makes a lot more sense to me.

One more couple is needed for that class. The marriage ministry is world wide, all over the United States and in Third World countries. The goal of the classes is to build "power house homes." Some of the lessons covered are: one flesh, God's original plan for marriage; the scriptural roles of husbands and wives; forgiveness; biblical agreement; sex, God's original plan; and applicated warfare, the spouse is not the enemy. A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

n this Memorial Day let us remember that this day signifes, perhaps more deeply the soul of America. The patriots to be remembered on this day represent every generation of Americans. They fell in battles widey separated by distance and time. Some came from families ling established in American, many others were new to he land. These parties deferred in color in religious.

beliefs, in political faith and other ways which historically have divided the human family.

Yet, all had this in common: they loved their country and they died to make men free.

And so, on this Memorial Day, let us solemnly pay tribute to these fallen heroes. Let us spare a prayer of thanksplving that there have always been men and women willing to offer the utilitiate sacrifice so that our national ideals could endure...

It takes 25 acres of scruffy hill country land to sustain one "animal unit" (6 sheep or goats or 1 cow) and there are precious few large fields for grain or row crops. Ranch work centers around managing the land well. making it more productive..

On a 600-acre spread near Kendalia, Wayne and Karla Mathis raise horses, llamas and daughters Llamas, Spanish goats, quarter horses, hereford and F-1 program cattle, donkeys and a pot bellied pig. Along with dogs, cats, parakeets and fish. These are what the Mathis Family raises on their fifth generation, 600 acre ranch near Kendalia, in the heart of the Texas Hill Country.

"The Texas Legend Ranch" has been in the Kneupper Family since 1874 and parts of the original ranch house can still be seen, where the 100 year plaque is proudly displayed on the outside wall. The plaque is issued to all Texas ranches and farms that have been continuously run by one family for over 100 years.

Karla Kneupper was raised on this ranch, and when she was 12, the Mathis family bought the "Las Milagritas Ranch" next door. They just happened to have a 12 year old boy, Wayne. Wayne and Karla courted on horseback, went to school together, graduated, married and went off to Baylor University and on

The Mathis' livestock holdings include several members of the "camelyd" family-- (camelyds include llama, vicuna, slpaca and guanaco). The girls have a llama-guanaco cross, which stands 7 feet tall from the ears to the hoops and they call him Zephaniah. When they show him, the judges really don't like to get too close because he's so big, and they do spit! He's the "guard" llama for the Spanish

On July 6, 1986, the 5,000 square foot Agricultural Heritage Center was founded with the help of the city of Boerne which donated a three acre tract of land. The museum was formed in order to preserve the machines and equipment that were responsible for the transformation of the wild frontier to today's productive farm land .

Their objective is to transmit a sense of the heritage and life the early farmers and ranchers of Texas lived. Inside, an incredible array of tools and equipment from agricultural production of the 19th and early 20th century can be found. It exists as one of the few places whose main focus is early farm and

The museum has grown since its inception to six acres with an operating blacksmith shop and a soonto-be completed woodworking shop. The fully operational blacksmith shop is completely steam driven and is thought to be the only one of its kind West of the Mississippi. It has an observation window set-up for visiting children and tours can

Mohair and Texas' 1.5 million Angora goats rarely make headlines, and very few Texans are aware how important their state is as a world producer of the fiber. Texas produces more than 90 percent of the mohair in the U.S., and the U.S. produces more than 16 million pounds of mohair a year, almost 40 percent of the world's total. Other important producers are South Africa and Turkey. Raw mohair sold by Texas producers will re-enter the U.S. in the form of blended fashion yarn that commands $50 to $100 per pound. Haag family continues ranch tradition in Kendall County

Allen Haag has been ranching in Kendall County all his life. His wife Vera, daughter Karen Snyder and ranch hands Joaquin Ibarra and Alfredo Ramirez help keep it all going.

"If you plowed four acres a day you really thought you'd accomplished a whole lot," said Allen Haag about his childhood days plowing behind four mules and a double disc. After harnessing and hooking them to the plow for a morning's work, he'd bring them back at lunch, unharness them, feed them lunch too, re-harness and go back to work. Nowdays, machines can turn over 2 to 3 acres per hour.

When Allen's grandfather Fredrick Haag was 6 years old he settled near New Braunfels. Allen was born in a stone house not far from where they now live. His parents, Fritz Haag and Charlotta Magers received the 70th marriage license in Kendall County.

We talk in their friendly living room at the Haag Ranch. Allen and his wife Vera have an ease with each other that comes from deep affection over time. They tell their story together, without interrupting each other. He's got on khakis and she's wearing jeans cle to help make a point.

So what kind of changes have they seen since they started ranching? Plenty. Buyers used to come out to their place and put a contract on a whole herd. They'd also go to Union Stockyard in San Antonio, where priwith a bright western belt, jumping up vate treaty buyers gave them market from her chair to find a picture or arti-value for their cattle. Today's buyers Allen said that they rely primarily on two lamb crops per year. Feeding on oats planted in September, the spring crop is ready by Easter. The second crop is born in March and ready for the fall market.

For many years after the first subdivision was established not far away, the Haags lost 80-100 sheep and goats per year to dogs which roamed loose while their owners were at work. Now, 6 Great Pyrenees and Anatolian guard dogs are bonded with the goat herds and 4 with the sheep. They live on the range with the stock and have proven to be effective deterrents to both animal and human predators.

One of the most positive changes that he "wouldn't be able to operate without" was the state and rancher's successful campaign against screw worms. He used to see 5-7 cases a day the acrew worms didn't kill them, the medicine did." So he volunteered for a two round door to door drive in the Kendalia area to get ranchers to chip

They also raise Delaine, Suffolk and Merino sheep and Angora goats. Since the wool market "went under," in to the program 50 cents a head for the use of chemicals, "We eat the same cattle and 10 cents a head for goats food we sell - we'd be hurting ourselves and sheep. In this way the ranchers if we hurt the land." helped finance the successful antiscrew worm program which introduced sterile male flies to the wild population and has eradicated the closing lots of locked gates. HILL COUNTRY RANCHER Ostrich farming gives 'small time' operation a chance

Feather Ridge Farm, located just north of IH-10 on John's Rd., is an agricultural operation dedicated to producing and raising Ostriches. Allen Mace and John Bugg are the owners and operators of the two-yearold enterprise. They started back in July 1992 with a shipment of threemonth-old birds and have been raising them and promoting alternative agriculture ever since.

They were attracted to raising Ostriches due to the fact that with the birds they can make a living within agriculture on a limited amount of land. It's an "Alternative form of agriculture that is still in its infancy." commented Mace.

"Today you cannot buy a chunk of land and pay off that land while making a living raising the traditional animals such as cattle and sheep. " The Days of big cattle herds are not going to happen any more," Mace said.

With the ostrich, an opportunity exists for the small mom and pop farm to be economically viable. As ranches across the Hill Country are broken up into smaller and smaller pieces, animals that require less graz-

In South Africa the market is a defined as a consumer market. There you can purchase ostrich meat as easily and readily as Americans purchase beef and chicken.

leather of the ostrich has been used since the turn of the century and are still in great demand for feather dusters prized by the computer and automobile industry.

The feathers are renowned for their ability to attract dust without a static buildup.

Currently, a breeders market exists when we begin discussing ostrich mest. Which means there are physically not enough birds in the U.S. to go to a commercial market. Every genetically sound bird is not being raised for consumable product right now, but is being raised as breeder stock. It is estimated that in seven to ten years, or more, enough birds will be produced to push the price of the meat down from its curof expensive restaurants. The live ostrich itself is also expected to drop in price in the commercial rent price of $20-$25 per pound. At market from the current $6,000 per bird range to around a few hundred dollars each

> The attraction to this new up and coming business attracts not only the mom and pop operations but also large corporations. They are jumping on the bandwagon in a big way. This helps the ultimate goals of the small producers since it requires large sums of cash to build modern meat processing plants and push the establishment of the industry. It creates a place for the small producers to take their product for processing that is not cost effective for them to build.

this price it is found only on the tables

The ostrich may be a passing fad but the owners of Big Feather Ranch do not think so. They firmly believe they will be looking over a hundred acres of free ranging ostrich family groups in the near future.

Diamond K Ranch is a large Hill Country operation

With venison a major profit crop, the ranch also boasts 12 head of the once thought extinct Pere David Deer Current trends in agriculture seem to be leaning toward micro-ranching-100 head of hirds on 20 acres of land.

There are, however, still a few of the "big boys" left in the Hill Country. The Diamond K is definitely one of them with 3,300 acres of improved grassland and 1,300 acres of top whitetail producing natural vegetation. This 4,600 acre ranch located in Sisterdale has to be one of the largest in the area. It does however boast a progressive, new outlook on Hill Country ranching.

Within the next few years, the ranch will receive the majority of its income from venison. They now have approximately 500 axis deer contained in over 20 miles of game-proof fencing. Axis meat is low in cholesterol and fat and is one of the best tasting meats available.

Health trends and eating habits of the United States have caused a high demand for this product. Europeans currently consume 160 pounds of venison per person annually. To date, over 75 percent of the venison purchased in the U.S. is imported with New Zealand raising 80 percent of all veni-

The Pere David Deer was believed to be extinct at the turn of the century. They were re-discovered by a monk in China during the early 1900s and nursed back to a current, world population of approximately 3,500. The Diamond K has 12 head of this docile yet rare animal.

Ranch Rodeo: an alternative to spectator sports

MAY 1994

Ranchers in Bandera County are not always content to sit around and WATCH sports activities; they enjoy participating. Ranch rodeos offer an exciting alternative to specta-

Ranch rodeos allow real ranchers to exhibit the skills they use daily in their occupation. Rather than competing against a clock, they participate against each other. And instead of spectator events, they participate in practical skills: calf branding; steer tying; trailer loading; wild cow milking; and matched calf roping.

In the real world of ranching, it is not necessary to jump on a bull and ride him. It is, however, necessary to be able to load livestock in a trailer.

Some ranch rodeos find former world champion cowboys competing on teams. However, even all their skills as performers in the rodeo circuit, do not give them an edge in milking a wild cow or loading a horse on a trailer.

Practical day-to-day skills are showcased in ranch rodeos. Not only do ranchers enjoy competing against each other, their friends and families enjoy coming to watch. To say nothing of the tourist and visitor to the Texas Hill Country who goes home and amazes friends with tales of "how they do it in Texas."

His Goal? putting together 'a good piece of meat'

Rhea Mansfield has owned cattle for 85 of his 86 years, and he shows no sign of slacking off

Bandera rancher Rhea Mansfield says he doesn't need expensive ranch stock (like Boer goats, emus or ostriches) to keep him happy: give him a few Spanish goats, his Simbrasin cattle, and a "couple of dogs" and he's a happy rancher.

At 86 years of age, Mansfield is still climbing through fences, feeding livestock and working to perfect his vision of the past 20 years: a good piece of meat. Mansfield, who calls his ranch. The White Mill Ranch, does not take all the credit himself for the breed of cattle he is working to perfect. He says that he has had a lot of help to come up with "a piece of meat nearly as good as can be put

He explains that meat should have a very thin layer of fat around the outside edge. The inside should be marbled with fat, but should not have any large streaks or chunks of fat. "The meat should be tender and taste good."

Mansfield says that his grandmother gave each grandchild a heifer when each child was a year old. "That

To do this, Mansfield combined Simmental, Limousin, Angus and Brahma cattle to get the best composite possible. He named his new cattle "Simbrasin". He is now phasing out the Simmental in his cattle, and adding Jersey. "Now days," he explains, "you can go down to the meat market and get meat that looks good, but it's tough. I remember eating meat when I was a kid. It was so tender and tasted so good- and it was a Jersey cross. When I get this done, I don't know what else you can do to make meat better."

He says that if he had known 20 years ago what he knows now, he could have perfected Simbrasin within three generations. Now, finally, after 20 years, he feels he is nearly there. He says that everyone who raises beef should butcher his meat and eat it to test quality. "You've got to produce meat economically and go for quality, not quantity, to be compet

City of Bandera under yellow flag water alert

yellow flag water alert

Bandera has been under a yellow flag water alert since Friday, June 3 according to acting public works director Mike Cardenas. The water well pump on Mulberry is not working and the City of Bandera is relying on one pump only, the Dallas Street pump, for its water supply.

Cardenas said water conservation is voluntary, not mandatory, at the moment. The yellow flag stage means that watering of lawns and ornamental landscaping should be done only between the hours of 5 a.m. and 7 a.m. and 9 p.m. and midnight.
Mayor Robert Skinner says that the pump should be back on line by June 17. He says water levels are at 245 feet, a normal level for Bandera.

He also says that bids for the park rest rooms and pavillons will be opened at the Monday, June 13 city council meeting. Fence specifications will be approved at that meeting. Bids for the fencing of the park will be accepted after the specifications are approved. Construction on the fence is expected to begin by June 30.

The used oil recycling facility is open every Saturday at 3rd and Cypress Streets from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. It is for residential customers only.

Deadline for application; and 3:00 closing.

Deadline for application is Wednesday, June 8. Applications may be obtained at Bändera High School. Senior camp registration is $15, and junior camp registration is $15.

"We will have drills, games, individual and team competitions and plenty of fun during the week," says Coach Morris. For information call 796-3753.

"Slide! Hit the dirti" seems to be the message here, and Aarron Lacey was safe at third base when the Buildogs met (and defeated 7-2) Zapata in a Regional semifinal baseball game Tuesday, May 31. The 'Dogs advanced to the Regional finals on Friday, when they faced Orange Grove at Judson stadium. Bandera lost that contest 5-1, thus missing their chance to play in the state finals. This family needs a miracle for Melissa

Walter and Barbara Roach's youngest daughter was diagnosed with a rare genetic disorder

By Stephanie Logue Bulletin Staff Writer

Walter and Barbara Roach moved to Pipe Creek in Decem-ber with their daughters, Melissa, 15, and Theresa, 19. They are looking for a miracle for Melissa who has Niemann-Pick disease, a rare, incurable disease.

Pick disease, a rare, incurable disease.

Up until she was eight years old, Meliasa was a normal, healthy, active child whe suffered from ear infections and went through several pairs of tubes in her ears. At age nine, Meliasa's teachers became concerned about her. She seemed unable to comprehend leasons and her progress in school began to decline.

Walter and Barbara saw no problem with their child, other than the fact that she had begun to stumble and fall frequently and stuttered occasionally. They did not believe she had a problem even though williford Hall in San Antonio had diagnosed her as having a "storage disease" back in 1982. "Sea-blue" histiocytes were found in her bone marrow. The Roaches were warned that their daughter could have a rare, genetic disease and might begin to deteriorate mentally

When confronted about their school, by her teacher, Walter and Barbara looked at each other and instantly knew the truth. Meliasa had begun the gradual decline associated with a rare disease. The symptoms were present: the lack of upward eye movement, atumbing, difficulty in completing achool work, difficulty swallowing. Meliasa was diagnosed with Niemann-Pick type C dissease in 1987. Her parents were "shocked." There was no rocord

Walter is a Bandera County native. It was easy to research his family. Barbara, however, ran into unexpected problems; her mother had been adopted. Her mother had been adopted. Her mother found her birth mother, but she had also been adopted. While Walter and Barbara both carry the defective gene which causes Niemann-Pick (NPD), they still do not know how they became carriers. Nor do they know if Thereas is carrier. Scientists have linked the disease to a small region of human chromosome 18. Now work is underway to identify the gene for NPD. Thereas is eager for this research to be completed so she can find out if she, too, is a carrier. Approximately 200 to 300 Americans have Niemann-Pick type C disease. There are only four documented cases in Texas. The highest incidence of the disease is in the Spanish-American population of southern New Mexico and Colorado, and the French Canadian of Nova Scotia.

beginning began to surface.
Well, recent documents from HCI (Handgun Control Ind.), which is headed by Sarah Brady, began to leak out and make their way into certain areas of the news media. Th results will scare the dickens out of you whether you're a gun owner or not. It's a bold and evident attempt to strip the citizens of this country of their second amendment right to own any firearm.

Within the handgu contro papers that leadked out is ag rand scheme for legislating, throug outrageous licensing fees, firearms completely out of the hand of the America peo ple. The truly scary thing about it is that HCI, with its mere 160,000 members, is get-ting more positive media cover-age and recognition that is the NRA with close to 4 million

NKA with close to 4 million members.

The following proposals and figures are being handed out to our senators and congressmen:

For this year and next year, HCI proposes a license fee be placed on handguas from $50 to $75 annually which HCI states would "begin at a rela-tively low cost to discourage non-compliance." In 1996-97 the fee would be increased from $150 to $250 annually. Notice I sain annually. The in the years 1998 to 2000, the $625 annually. HCI notes that "if private ownership hasn't been prohibited by this time, then fees can gradually be then feen can gradually be increased to discourage private ownership."

Ultimately, a person's fail-ure to turn over his guns for destruction after the lapse of a license would result in penal-ties of $15,000, 18 months in jail, and revocation of their ability to own firearms ever again. "Failure to renew a license or notify issuing authority of change of status would be considered a felony" according to HCFs plan.

would be considered a felony according to HCFs plan.

HCl proposes a fee of $30 to $148 annually for a license to own a shotgun or rifle in addition to state license fees of $74 to $150 for firearms and local licensing fees of $48 to $113.
These fees would amount to hundreds of dollars which only rich people could even think of paying. That's not all. Then comes an 'inspection license' to verify the records of guns and storage of firesams, which would be required to be kpt in oceans during World War II. specially approved safes in

They also propose that dealers' fees range from $600 to $750 annually and manufacturing fees from $13,405 to turing fees from $13,405 to $18,210 annually. HCI places an estimated annual cost for owning a firearm from $1,558 to $3,473. The licenses that firearm own-ers would have to obtain ers would have to obtain include federal handgun license, federal rifle and shot-gun license, federal rifle and shot-gun license, arenal license feee to keep guns and ammunition, approved asfe for firense license, ammunition license, reloading license for ammunition, are requirement that gun owners purchase government approved storage facilities for ammunition, as well as paging to have the vaults and ammo inspected.

to have the vaults and ammo impected.

HCI also proposes taht a 1-890 telephone number be used to report violators of these laws, with the mitches receiving cash rewards for tipe that result in convictions. Imagine your own son or daughter or a close relative snitching on you for the reward and you ending up in prison. Is this their idea of "family values".

Since such gun lobbying groups such as the NRA would most likely encourage non-compliance, RCI notes 'nationally recognized groups will be technically organizing to break the law. Once this can be proven, these groups or organi-the law." Once this can be proven, these groups or organizations will be abulinerable to lawshits based on the "racketeering influence and corrupt organization" statute and drained of their financial resources through repeated legal action. Don't forget that the government has over two trillion dollars annually at its disposal to pursue these law-suits and objectives. These are our tax dollars and they will be our tax dollars and they will be used to criminalize previously law-abiding citizens while doing absolutely nothing to solve the real problems of crime in this country. Criminals don't care one bit about these license fees. It just

Bandera missed advancing to state baseball playoffs by four runs

Bandera's Bulldogs came up one game short of making the state 3-A baseball playoffs. The Dogs lost Friday in the regional finals to a very tough Orange Grove team. The game's final score wes 5-1

A special Father's Day message

As the newspaper begins its 50th year July 1, we present a tribute to the "father of the Bandera Bulletin," J. Marvin Hunter

By Stephanie Logue Bulletin Staff Writer

J. Marvin Hunter Sr., the father of the Bandera Bulletin was, first of all, a father to his own children. He helped estab-lish the Bandera Bulletin on July 13, 1945 for his daughter, Myra Jennette "Nettie", Mrs. John V.

Saul.

Hunter made secrifices for all of his four children. In his autobiography, Terregrinations of a Pionee Printer, he explains that he was born with 'wanderdust.' He defines 'peregrination' as 'traveling, travel, wandered through west Texas, New Mexico, Mexico and Arrivona before settling with his row Mexico, Mexico and Ari-zona, before settling with his family in Bandera. He settled for the benefit of his children, deny-ing the wanderlust that held him a captive for the first 40 years of his life.

During his 63 years in the newspaper business, Hunter established, owned or published If different newspapers, and set print and wrote for others as he wandered. He established the "Frontier Times Magazine" and wrote several books.

He lived in some of the roughty, est mining cames in the camer.

worked as a carpenter; and hauled work. As he wandered, he dodged rabid skunks; spent part of the night with a ratilomake draped over his feet on top of his blankst, avoided scorpions, centipedes, vinegarones and tarantulas whenever possible; learned to cook bean soup in a Dutch over, learned to mount his bronco "in the air", ate nothing but onions for over a week; learned that if you ent onions and aleep with your mouth open, mosquitos will not bite; learned to eat parched corn right along with the borse; and learned to castrate lambs with his teeth.

Hunter described sheep herding as the most "exasperating, profanity-producing job" in the world. It was necessary, befound, to protect the sheep from outgars and wolves. When his horse went lame, he herded the sheep on foot. When a huge time world is the sheep from the brew'd stampfedd the berd one night, he shot it then found that it had been the only black sheep in the herd.

After Hunter married and Sarah Lurker, a 1994 graduate of Bandera High School, escaped serious Injury when her 1972 Pinto went off Hwy. 48 and overturned in Kendall County, just past the Bandera County line. The car burst into flame, but Sarah managed to get out in time. Dod, Howard Lurker, says the car had just been completely rebuilt. A light, misty rain was falling at the time of the accident. Residents who live close to the accident scene told Lurker that many cars have gone off the road in the same spot and that they have requested action. Road engineers were reportedly conducting wet and dry traction tests on the road the day after Sarah's wreck.

Commissioners make historic decision

They will file application for water rights for 5,000 acre-feet per year

They will file application Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department fire chief, Ralph Dresser, who is also the president of Lake Medina Conservation Society (LAMCOS), praised Bandera County commissioners for making a historie decision on Monday, June 13. LAMCOS is opposing BMA's application to allow commercial sale of water from Medina Lake.

County commissioners voted unanimously to file an application with the State of Texas for water rights for 5,000 arc-feet per year from the Medina Lake. He told commissioners that Springhills Water Management District had already received 100 applications this syear, compared to 103 for all of ment District had already received 100 applications this year, compared to 103 for all of 1993, a good indicator of the fast growth in the county. He said that Bandera County's opposition to BMA's petition for change of use (from agriculture to commercial) would be hard to defend unless Bandera County addresses the need to find an alternate source of water for the county, which now depends on ground water.

on for water rights for 5,

BMA owns Medina Dam. In 1910, it was granted the right to take 66,000 acre-feet of water from Bandera County for irrigation annually. BMA is now asking to sell water not used for irrigation for municipal and industrial uses, using all 66,000 acre-feet.

Those in opposition to BMA's request fear that, if it is granted, Medina Lake would Both Dresser, and Lakehills real estate agent Ronald Basinger, told commissioners that Springhills' involvement with BMA is totally unaccept-able. Springhills has refused to take an active role in opposing the BMA permit change, they Basinger said that almo Basinger said that almost all the water coming down the Medina River originates in Bandera County. We are entitled to our water. It's ludicrous to turn around and buy our own water from BMA at whatever price they set."

That price, for now, is set at $85 per acre-foot. That means that if Bandera County were forced to purchase water from BMA, the cost could run up to $290,000 a year.

The school would use the facility during the building.

The community, under the Banders Christian Fellowskip, would spearhead the project. Youth from sixth to 12th grade would be targeted. The youth center would offer sports, an activity center and a tutoring service. Some senior citizens have already expressed a desire to tutor the youth. In the distant future, a swimming pool might be added to the youth center.

The pump in the well on Mulberry Street had been out of service. It is now working again. It will take approximately a week to complete the repair work and fill the tank with water.

Mayor Robert Skrinner asked council members to consider joining with five counties in a landfill/recyding program. Herb Kuykendall offered to get moriformation on the prospect.

Must give back

Dear editor:
Just a quick note to reply to Bungy's lovely article on us an our "family" in her column of June 8th. My father, Carl Cahen, lived his life and showed by example that to truly live a life to it's fullest. truly live a life to its fulles, you MUST give back to your community. He established Boys Ranch of West Texas, outside San Angelo, and I grew up knowing lith at it was a right and a privilege to volunteer in my hometown. So, shortly after we were lucky enough to move here, I was in a line at the bank. A vivacious lady, who seemed to know everyone them. seemed to know everyone there was in line behind me. When she saked if I were new in she asked if I were new in town, I was slightly taken aback, as in Houston, no one spoke and asked questions. I replied in the affirmative. She THEN asked where I intended to volunteer! Now, I WAS shocked. When I told her the shocked. When I told her the American Cancer Society in San Antonio, she told me in NO UNCERTAIN TERMS to go over to the Chamber of a love affair with Bandera. It's amazing what one person can do with a smile and a friendly demeanor. Thanks, Bungy, it's been a blast.

Dear Editor:
As a citizen of the Bandera Community, I deeply regret the way the teenage girls choose to use such profanity and pathetic bodily jestures in public places.

Last Saturday night while with family members and my own two teenage daughters at the cabaret. While dancing, my daughters rushed from the dance floor. They were embarrassed by the comments and bodily jestures given by some school mates nearby. I refused to believe them until I aw and heard them with my own eyes. There was a policeman standing there who said nothing. I thought at least he could have with family members and my thought at least he could have said something to them, how-ever, I realize he's not at fault. These children need some parental discipline and maybe even a little love or someone to watch over them.

VBS gets into full swing

"Leafy" (The Rev. Valli Seilheimer) led more than 100 youthful Vacation Bible School attendees in song, and choruses of "...the green grass grew all around, all around...." (and lots of other songs) were a part of Bandera United Methodist Church's Vacation Bible School last week. For more pho-tos, and information about upcoming VBS events, please turn to Page 10.

The invitation is given, "help clean YOUR city park" Those interested in helping with the continuing voluntary efforts to clean the Bandera City Park along the Medina River are asked to meet at the city yard at 303 Cypress Street at 6:30 p.m. on Thursday, June 23.

Volunteers are asked to bring their own gloves, and trash bags if possible, to the June 23 clean up. Heavy debris has already been removed from the area, but much tedious cleaning still remains. All assistance is appreciated.

Fencing champs set to entertain at Apple Festival

They use hiological pest controls and a garlic and pepper spray to repel insects. The main pest they face is deer. Deer find ways through the high fence and the electric fence into the orchard. For fertillizer, Robert and Tracy use compost, rotted hay and fish and seaweed fertilizer. They drive to Hondo to pick up pecan shells for their compost. Prior to moving to Medina, the Hurleys conducted extensive research, where could they find a favorable climate, good schools and a healthy environment for their children? They visited and comsidered communities all around the Hill Country before settling in Medina. They low it.

Progress! Work on city park is off to a fast start work on the rest rooms for the City Park could begin as early as Thursday, June 23 according to city council member Jeanette Bridges.

Plans for a pavilion were dropped because the lowest bid for the rest rooms and pavilion came in at over $89,000. The lowest bid for the rest rooms was awarded to International Construction Managers in Pipe Creek, owner Steve Montgomery. His bid came in at $58,547.

A meeting of the park committee will be held this Wednesday, June 22 at 6 p.m. A special city council meeting will be held on Monday, June 27, for the purpose of opening bids for fencing.

Three clean-ups have been held on the loop area of the park. Major items have been hauled out of the river and brush, leaving general trash which cam be bagged. Five pick-up truck loads of trash have been hauled away. Joe Glasscock is coordinating the park clean-up and has done much of the work himself, according to a park committee spokes person.

"Bobby G's Pizzaria" is a success even before the doors open on Monday, July 4 for the grand opening celebration because of the personal success of owner Robert Gutierres. A motorcycle accident at age 14 put Gutierres in a wheelchair, but did not put dreams out of his reach. Bobby G's is proof of Gutierres's ability to dream and to reach goals. the 4-H district horticulture show on Friday, June 17 at the Kendall County Fairgrounds of Boorne. She is the daughter of Ken and Linda Childers of Medias. Dr. Jerry Parsons judged the entries. Childers competed against 20 other contestants with her dry white onions. She said that in her first year of gardening, ahe has learned to "take good care" of her vegetable plants. She watches the soil for bugs, fertilizes and waters. She began her garden by working organic matter into the soil. She has also learned that when the tops of onions turn brown, it is time to step on them. That stops the bulb growth and keeps the onions from rotting prior to harvesting. Her mother, Linda, has taught the 4-Her a lot about companion planting and growing vegetables organically. Last year Childers grew 11-foot tall sunflowers and helped her mother make sauces from the garden. This year, ahe has planted corn, watermelon, cantaloupe, asparagus, tomatoes, beans, gourds, cucumbers, yellow squash, zucchini, bell peppers, carrota, and lettuce. She also fried squash for their family.

Lake Medina Conservation Society (LAMCOS) president, Ralph Dresser, explained to the new city council that BMA now holds all the water rights to Medina River and Medina Lake. He said their 66,000

Now they have gone to the TNRCO for a change of use permit which would allow them to sell the water for commercial, industrial or irrigation use.

Work on the Bandera City

Construction Managers, of Pipe Creek, turned in the lowest bid on the rest rooms and construction is underway.

Bids for fencing were opened at the special city council meeting on Monday, June 27. Affordable Fence Company of San bid on the fencing, $24,767.50.

Two other bids were received.
Greentree Services, of Banders, bid $37,307.50. International Construction Managers, of Pipe

Mayor Robert Skinner asked city council members to consider joining the county in filing an application with the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission (TNRCC) for

That decision comes with a $5,000 price tag, in the form of filing and legal fees. City council members will research the issue, then vote on it at the next meeting.

He also told the council that LAMCOS was formed by a group of private citizens who oppose the BMA's proposal and are willing to fight it. A hearing is set for Sept. in Austin.

Dresser said that the Springhills Water Board petitioned for 5,000 aere-feet in was "administratively incomplete" and was turned down.

Rather than going back to the TNRCC with a complete petition, Springhills made an

Because Bandera County is within the Edwards Aquifer's drainage area, the Edwards Underground Water District will install a rainfall and stream flow gauging network in Bandera County, Sir rainfall ganges and three stream flow gauges will be installed.

The gauging network effort covers a 10-county area, covering the drainage and recharge sones of the Edwards Aquifer. The data collection network will provide a more accurate assessment of the amount of water entering and leaving the recharge sone. The system will also be utilized by the National Weather Service and Bandera County for flood warning and emergency operation purposes.

purposes. It will be fully automated, instantly notifying the Edwards Underground Water District, National Weather Service, and participating communities of a potential flood event. The system will be in place by November.

Bandera county judge Ray Mauer says he is looking forward to having the network installed because it will enhance the existing system which relies on manual data retrieval. "There are many areas in the county which flood quickly, trapping people," he said. "Instant data transmission will help us get the word out faster about a pending flood, helping us with evacuations. Having this advantage will be of great value to Bandera County."

cements. Governor White, whose mother was a public school teacher, pointed out that a few years ago, the public schools in effect were subsidized by low-salaried, bright women who could find only teaching jobs in the communities where they lived, originally years hard from working if they were married. Now these women are lawyers, accountants, and travelling sales reps. Or brain surgeons, and doing exactly as they please. Remember the master teachers of Banders not solong ago—the wives of county ranchers or local officials. Winnie Hicks, Evelyn Reininger, Margaret Focke, Mattie Mae Pue, Knowles Teel to name only the first to come to mind. Back to the main thread of the discussion. We insist there is one. It is that we are about to throw the baby out with the blaming the public soloh blaming the public soloh blaming the public soloh blaming the public soloh brothems of social irresponsibility, breakdown of families, mobility of population, distractions like TV and arcade gamerooms, big time athletics taking priority over learning, hurdendollar jeans, and getting something for nothing by winning the lottery.

The school may be broke, but we can fix it. We can fix it by fixing ourselves.

Walter and Virginia Stricker celebrated their 25th celebrated their 25th anniversary at the home of Sophie Mazurek. Children, Watter, Jr.; Linden; Brandon; Jennifer; and other family members celebrated with a barbacue and all the trimmings. The Strickers were married on June 7, 1969.

country of freedom only because the men and women who lived in the past had the courage to Spit and the will to sacrifice. They won and held the freedom we enjoy. Without their vision, their hard work, and their savings, we would not have our great industries, our unmatched standard of living, our vast system of universal education and our desire for better living. Because of this debt to the past, ever generation in America has an obligation to the future. It is to pass on to those who follow us the freedom and opportunities we inherited. No generation has the right to squander the earning of the generation yet unborn. It is not right for the present to rob and ensiave the future. Rather, if there is such a thing as a natural moral law, every generat in must pay to the future the debt that it owes to the past...

On this most important day, the Fourth of July, let us be thankful for our past, be aware of our responsibilities of today, and pledge our obligation to the future...
