Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Ciarlo
796-3225

Have you noticed the stockpiling of gravel in the area? Committee member Bennie Barker called and explained that they will be resurfacing the road as well as widening it in the Wharton's Dock area.

He wants residents to know there will be more gravel hauled in and drivers should be careful with those big gravel trucks who take their share of the road.

Starting date for work on the road some time this fall.

Jessica and Erin Avallone, daughters of Mark Avallone and granddaughters of Nola and Phil Bledsoe, are visiting from Delano, CA. This was their second time flying, so they are now experienced flyers and had a ball on the plane.

They could not wait for Wednesday night Bingo at the fire house and Erin came away a winner. Next stop— Fiesta Texas.

• I call them the "No Name Club" but it is just a group of ladies from Wharton's Dock area, Lake Medina Shores plus a few from Bandera. They meet every third Wednesday of the month for lunch. If you would like to join this group, call Dorothy Rucker at 460-4161. This is a good way to meet your neighbors and friends and make new friends. The next luncheon will be on Aug. 21 at the Copper Lantern. Those attending the last luncheon at Billie Gene's were Mary Blakney, April Byars, Betty Ciarlo, Punkie Eckhart, Marilyn Luce, Delaine McMullen, Dorothy Rucker, Patricia Bauer, Hank White and Lenna Walker.

• Bobby and Margaret Jones, along with their 16 year-old grandson Jake went to Harlan, Kentucky for Bobby's high school reunion. On the way they dug for diamonds in Arkansas, visited Graceland and toured Nashville. They also did a little research into the Jones family history at Cheney, Kentucky, visited Cumberland Falls and went to a rodeo.

Jake enjoyed seeing where his grandpa roamed the hills as a boy.

The school reunion was held at the Cawood School with lots of old friends from all over the country in attendance.

TARPLEY

Well, we are all busy listening to news reports to hear of any prospects of rain, but so far little prospects. And temperatures have hit 102 degrees some days.

Lewis Dean and Velma Saathoff celebrated birthdays on July 21 and Mike Dean had his birthday on July 22.

• Recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall were his neice Linda and Bill Kellum, 16-years-old son Clint and 5-year-old grandson Aaron Kellum of Lumberton, Texas.

• Eunice Meyer's visitors of the weekend were her daughter Mary Lou Champion, husband Dale and daughter Lisa of Beaumont.

• Nathan Patterson of Mexico is spending a month with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson.

• Ashley and Clacy Billings were honored on their tenth birthday Thursday night July 17 by their parents, Clay and Lindy Billings. The party was held at the swimming pool at the Palomo Ranch near Tarpley.

Many folks were present for this special occasion. They enjoyed barbecue, hotdogs and all the trimmings along with birthday cake. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Shchreves Menton of Dilly and Lorene Billings of Tarpley.

• Arthur and Georgia Erfurt, Artie and Bunny Erfurt, Dan and Ella Sandidge, and Les and Marcia Short attended the funeral of Donna Telschow of Houston Saturday. She was a former resident of Tarpley.

• Elzie and Nettie Dean attended a special birthday reception for his brother Lewis Dean on his 90th birthday Saturday. It was held at the country home of Maurice "Metz" Zerr and wife Betty Jean near D'Hanis. Among the large crowd in attendance were most of Lewis and Neva Dean's children, grandchildren and great grandchildren.

I asked Lewis to give us an account of how he had reached this milestone in his life. He said, "I don't know."

When I asked if it could be hard work, he replied, "I've had plenty of that!"

All history is but the lengthened shadow of great men.

Mammography hot line available for veterans

The Department of Veteran Affairs (VA) has established a toll-free number for women veterans to obtain information about the Department's mammography services. The number is 1-800-472-7844.

Staffed between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. ET, Monday through Friday, callers may obtain information on VA mammography policies and the locations of all VA and VA-certified mammography facilities within their geographic area. Callers also may comment on these services. During non-business hours, messages maybe left on a recorder for response the next business day.

VA's Women Veterans Health Care Guidelines call for breast screenings, including mammograms, as part of the Department's provision of basic primary care for women veterans.

Currently, 42 VA medical facilities, including the Audie L. Murphy Division of the South Texas Veterans Health Care System, have in-house mammography units. VA uses community facilities to obtain these services elsewhere.

During fiscal year 1995, 22,560 women obtained mammography services through VA.

California girls Erin and Jessica Avallone are enjoying a visit with their dad, Mark, and grandparents Nola and Phil Bledsoe.

Micronesian islanders entertain in Rio Hondo

Twenty three Micronesian Islanders were guests of the Rio Hondo Bible Study Club at the home of Monty and Pricilla Montgomery on July 16 for a barbecue luncheon.

Thirteen King's Kids, ages 10-18, a ministry of the international organization, Youth with a Mission, and 10 staff members under the direction of Esther Sebalt traveled from their home islands of Palau, Yap, Chuuk, Pohnpei and Saipan to attend a conference in Atlanta.

On July 15, the group arrived at the home of Barbara Kosko-Holm, a missionary of YWAM, where they will headquarter for three weeks.

The Kids demonstrate Bible stories in song, dance and pantomime.

"The hills resounded with joyful hymns to a guitar accompaniment as the group thanked their hosts for the welcome they received at Rio Hondo," reported Margaret Cain.

Keeping an eye on Texas

Cattle ranchers suffer losses

The price per head of cattle has dropped to its lowest point since 1975 due to an abundance of cattle, the Texas drought and the increased cost of supplemental feed. Imports from Mexico appear to have little effect on the market.

SOURCES: John Sharp, Texas Comptroller of Public Accounts, U.S. Department of Commerce, and Texas Agricultural Statistics Service.

After the North American Free Trade Agreement, Mexico and Canada have supplied only 2.7 percent of the demand for beef in the U.S.

Docents needed at SA museum

Do you love people? Love learning? Become a Witte Museum docent! The museum's Education Department seeks energetic, enthusiastic volunteer docents to help provide school groups with an in-depth museum experience.

Corcoran new Middle School assistant principal

Tommy Corcoran

Tommy Corcoran, the new assistant principal at Bandera [illegible] School, grew up in Boerne, and says his love of the [illegible] has led him back.

"I wanted to get back into the Hill Country," he said. "I like the community atmosphere and the more personal relationships you have with parents and community members."

Corcoran spent the last five [illegible] Independent School District in San Antonio, where he was a [illegible] coordinator.

In December 1995, he received his Master of Science in Education Administration from Texas A&M in Kingsville.

Corcoran says his duties at BMS will include all the discipline, the day to day operations, [illegible], building safety, [illegible] and counseling.

And initially, he will be helping to add to the educational experience of the children, he said.

"I hope I can bring my enthusiasm," he said. "I am a good motivator."

His goals for the year are to [illegible] scores and to help the school grow.

"I want to be someone the kids can turn to," he explained.

Corcoran is single and lives in Bandera. He has a daughter, Ashley, who is three.

His hobbies include anything outdoors and woodworking.

Heart of the Hills moves to new location on 173

Heart of the Hills Home Health Care Inc. recently moved to a new location on Hwy. 173 north of Bandera. Owners Keith Sanders and Cathy Clamon opened the business in Bandera in July of 1994.

The agency currently serves approximately a 150 mile radius with branch offices in Kerrville and San Antonio.

"Home visits are made providing medical services, such as IV therapy; wound care, skilled observation, post hospitalization care, diabetic care, and care of the terminally ill, to name a few of our services," said Clamon, R.N., DON. "Other services include providing personal care and meal preparation."

The staff is available 7 days a week and 24 hours on call.

"We're proud to call Bandera home and appreciate the support of the community and local authorities in allowing us to provide for the city's and county's needs," said Sanders, CPA, Administrator. "We have met and made such wonderful friends of the patients and families we serve."

"Please feel free to stop by our office for more information, a free blood pressure check or just to visit with our staff," said Clamon.

Staff members present at the recent open house of the agency's new office included Michelle Dexter, Candice Clamon, Billie Lacey, Cathy Fokti RN, Patricia Bradley RN, Lisa Schuh RN and Pat Grant.

Heart of the Hills Home Health Care, Inc. owners Keith Sanders and Cathy Clamon cut the ribbon officially opening their new facility located on Hwy. 173 north of Bandera. They are joined by friends, employees and members of the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce.

Questions and answers concerning the long range facility [illegible] and a new high school at Bandera Downs.

4. Why Bandera Downs Racetrack?

First, it is the only property available on Hwy. 16 between Bandera and Pipe Creek with enough size and with [illegible] elevations. Second, it has adaptable structures that the District could use for student spaces. Third, it is already completely fenced with a six-foot high chain link fence topped by barbed wire, it has two wells, it has its own sewer plant, it has plenty of paved parking area, and it has electricity and phone lines. Fourth, it contains existing structures that could, with little expense, allow the District to move its maintenance, central offices, and transportation facilities out of the current middle school and high school campuses, providing more space for student growth there. The cost of the racetrack is about $3,000,000.

5. Why should the property be restricted to Hwy. 16 between Bandera and Pipe Creek?

According to the Texas Municipal Reports of January 1996, our growing district covers over 400 square miles. The city of Bandera is fairly close to the geographical center of the District. To move a new high school (that would serve all students in the Distinct) too far from its present location could cause a hardship for those living on the extreme of the District. So, for the same reasons property in Tarpley would be unsuitable, property in the Lakehills area would also be unsuitable.

6. You say there are structures on the racetrack that can be converted to space for students. Can the racetrack be made to look and function as a school, or will it look and function like a converted racetrack?

The architectural firm selected by the District to perform this work is Garza, Bomberger and Associates, a well-respected and well-known firm from San Antonio with over 50 years experience in school architecture. They have assured the District that the racetrack can be made to look and function like a school through remodeling and facelifts of existing structures and the [illegible] of classrooms and [illegible] This work will be around $11,000,000.

7. I know that about $1,000,000 is designated for improvements at the Middle School. But why in the world would it cost $11,000, 000 to build a high school?

The 1978 bond issue for the current high school was only $2,200,000. It was designed for only 500 or so students. Assume that it would have cost, 21 years ago, $3,600,000 to build a high school for 800 students. That would mean that costs have increased by over 300 percent. A new pickup truck, in 1975, may have cost about $7,500. Today a comparable truck may cost about $18,500. So, in the last 21 years pickup truck costs have increased by close to 300 percent. And while it's true that you can get a lot more in a pickup today, the same holds true for new schools. They have to be built so that all persons, even those with disabilities, have access to the entire school, they have to be made of environmentally safe (and more expensive) materials, classroom space requirements have increased, and they must be more energy efficient.

European choir tour planned

Bandera ISD choir director Jerry Neuenschwander is looking for a few good voices.

Neuenschwander is organizing a performing choir to tour Italy in the summer of 1998.

"I am looking for members from our Community Choir, the Bandera High School Choir and anyone else who might be interested in participating," said Neuenschwander.

The 10 day tour will include three days in Venice, three days in Rome and two days in Florence.

The cost is approximately $1900. Interested persons have until Aug 15 to lock in that price," said Neuenschwander. After that time the cost will increase.

The director is looking for about 24 people who would be willing to rehearse once a week beginning in September.

To sign up, or to get more information, contact Neuenschwander at 796-3577.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

The funeral of every person, no matter how humble was his state of life, is just as meaningful and necessary to his survivors as the funeral of a well-known person is to his bereaved. Every man is equally important in the eyes of God. And who, but God, is to say which ones loved him more or served him better. The minister reminds us in the funeral ceremony of this equality of man as he offers spiritual comfort, hope and encouragement to the living.

We at grimes Funeral Chapels believe that the professional services we render are in direct response to the innate desire in all of us to care for and honor our beloved dead as individuals of worth. Thus, it follows that our philosophy of funeral service and our primary concern must be - Giving Dignity to Man.....

Water Management Committee members Fred Luddeke and Jim Hannah consider solutions for Bandera County's future water needs.

Committee hears water options

The Water Management Committee for Springhills Water Management District met Thursday, July 18 to consider proposals for ensuring water for the citizens of Bandera County in the future.

Among suggestions under consideration by the committee are:

• Rain water capture in home cisterns.

• Inclusion of well spacing and well depth requirements in subdivision standards.

• The use of aquifer storage recovery (ASR).

• Development of surface water sources.

• Getting state approval for changes in the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water Control District's permit which controls the water in Bandera County.

The committee will study the various options and make recommendations to the board of SWMD for possible action.

Bandera County wells get their water from the Trinity Aquifer which stretches from Oklahoma in a long curve through the Texas Hill Country. The aquifer permeates various formations, including the Glen Rose limestone, the Hansell Sand, Cow Creek Limestone, Hammett Shale, Sligo Limestone and Haseton Sand.

Members of the committee in attendance were Jim Chastain, Fred Luddeke, Jim Hannah, Randy Roberts, John Wedgworth, Joe Cantu, Cameron Cornett, Peggy Tobin, Jerry Sides and Marion Heisler.

Amazing facts --- about Drinking Water In Texas

Most public water systems-4,567 to be exact- are "community" systems that provide drinking water to residences. They serve 17 million Texans and treat 3.9 billion gallons of water each day.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi, y'all! Well, someone is still getting all our rain, because we aren't getting it. The recent rains we had have long since soaked in or evaporated. We have to start paying the preacher more or doing a better rain dance or praying harder. We are getting into a very dry stage.

We all need to do all we can to save our precious water. With us being on the lower end of our aquifer, we do not receive as much recharge as the folks above us do. When it gets this dry, our wells only get what's left after the cities and farmers above us take theirs.

Maybe we should presume to be as important as those critters up in the Comal Springs and file suit for pumping restrictions on those folks to the north.

• The raffle committee is about ready to send the tickets to the printer for the Medina Lake VFD fall barbecue raffle. If anyone has a prize to donate for the raffle, contact Gladys Heisler, Gus Limon or ourselves ASAP. The fall barbecue will be held Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 with over a ton of brisket served over the Labor Day weekend.

These barbecues and your donations are our only support for all our expenses to run the VFD. Insurance costs and operating costs are steadily rising while our donations have been falling. Everyone needs to ante up their share to support an organization which is badly needed in the community.

• We see from our American Legion Post 410 bulletin that on July 25 they will have their new officer installation. Be sure to attend and give your support to those running the Post for the next year.

• Did anyone notice the sign on the Civic Center? It is in a rather battered condition after the brakes on a car failed causing the car to hit the gate and the main sign post. The sign now reads, "This sign is a wreck, but you should see the car." Maybe after the car owner's insurance pays off, the poor sign can assume its proper stance.

Well, we better trot on and try to get something accomplished today. If we sit here writing all day some of our customers might take exception.

We'll be looking for you over the back fence.

FIRE DANGER
VERY HIGH

BURN BAN Cancelled.
RED FLAG Conservation Level

CRASH CLAIMS LIFE -- A Pipe Creek man was killed Saturday afternoon when the single engine plane he was a passenger in crashed and burned on Hwy. 46 just inside the Bandera County line. Roger Guinther, 49, was killed instantly. The pilot of the homemade airplane, Jack Oueline, also of Pipe Creek, was airlifted to Brook Army Medical Center with third degree burns. He remains in serious condition this week. Witnesses to the accident said the plane's prop hit the center of the highway before bouncing into the ditch and bursting into flames. Bandera County and Kendall County both had EMS and fire departments respond to the scene.

PARK CLOSED

The Bandera City Park closed Tuesday, July 30 due to unacceptable contaminant levels in the river water. City Director of Public Works Mike Cardenas announced the closing this week.

"If the levels of contaminants in the water go above 200 the water becomes dangerous," said Cardenas. The city staff has been testing the river water every Wednesday during the drouth. A fecal coliform count of 280 was found in the most recent test.

RC&D involves local volunteers

This is the third in a series of articles about the Bandera County Resource Conservation and Development Committee. The RC&D searches for grant funds for local organizations.

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Resource Conservation and Development program, a grassroots organization dedicated to helping people care for and protect their natural resources, is composed of diverse groups of local volunteers brought together to find solutions for community problems.

This process involves: identifying problems, establishing goals and objectives, developing alternative plans and implementing those plans.

The RC&D commitment emphasizes one or more of the following areas: land conservation, community development, water management, and environmental concerns.

"All of our projects are designed to keep money in the community and enhance our natural resources," says Joe Cantu, the chairperson of the local RC&D.

Groups can join for a $40 sponsorship fee, and individuals can join for $10.

For their $40, groups can expect unlimited grant and foundation money searches and help with filling out forms and budget planning, once their project has been accepted by RC&D.

The $10 individual fee stays in the county to help with smaller projects.

According to Cantu, the definition of what projects the RC&D will take on is so broad-based that almost anything will fit the guidelines.

When RC&D takes on a project, they search for private foundation moneys that are available throughout the nation.

"What I love about it is that these are non-tax dollars," Cantu said.

The group also aides projects with grant searches.

Currently the local group has accepted and is working on several projects in the community.

A central meeting place in the city of Bandera for the community and the youth has long been on the drawing board. With the help of RC&D, this community center is moving closer and closer to becoming a reality.

An equine-therapy center for mentally and physically disabled youth and adults is in the process of opening its doors in Bandera County, and RC&D is working on helping defray some of the costs.

Still on the drawing board, but one of the major projects, according to Cantu, is brush clearing in the county.

"This is a cedar clearing program to enhance our aquifer and spring flow and grazing land," Cantu said. "We are currently setting up a committee to investigate all the processes involved in cedar clearing."

Rain Wranglin' set to tempt the wet stuff

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to rustle up some rain, will host a rain wranglin' on Saturday, Aug. 3 at the courthouse.

Chamber officials encourage everyone to show up wearing their favorite rain outfit in the world's shortest parade. There will be prizes for the most outrageous costume and the dirtiest vehicle.

The parade will line up at the Silver Sage Corral at 11th and Hackberry beginning at 10 a.m. with judging at 10:20 a.m. The parade will start off at 10:30 with KENS-TV weatherman, Tony Mann serving as grand marshal. "We are going to ask Tony to order us up some rain for this day," said Patricia Moore, chamber director.

At the courthouse lawn, a prayer service will be led by area ministers. Fun and fellowship will follow the prayers.

"Anyone with a great rain poem or song is asked to share it with us," said Moore.

Bandera High School cheerleaders and some of their summer camp students will lead a yell for rain. Melvin King will demonstrate water witching techniques.

"There will be a very dry cow chip tossing competition and if you can get enough moisture in your mouth to spit, practice for the watermelon seed spitting contest," urged Moore.

Saturday's Rain Wranglin' hopes to bring more rain to all of Bandera County.

The chamber will also be looking for the fastest clothes washer in the county.

No attempt to wrangle rain would be complete without an outdoor wedding. Ray Buckner, also known as the Rev, will be on hand to conduct a wedding ceremony just for fun.

"The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce will not be responsible for the lack of rainfall for anyone who fails to attend," said Moore.

Sales tax rebates for the quarter show rebound

Sales jump from fourth quarter sales drop

Although fourth quarter sales and use tax totals for 1995 for Bandera County showed a 15 percent drop from the same period the previous year, July sales tax rebates in 1996 are down only .33 percent. The year to date change shows only a 4.03 percent drop in sales and use tax collections for the county.

Net payments of sales tax rebates for July of 1996 totaled $17,412.71. Comparable payments for the same period last year were $17, 471.08.

Due to the addition of the .5 percent sales tax in the city of Bandera, sales tax receipts for the city show a 56.04 percent increase. Net payments for July totaled $26,036.55 for the city. Collections for the same period last year were $16,684.77.

Statewide, sales tax rebates showed a 6.7 percent increase over the July 1995 allocations.

"The fact that local sales tax refunds statewide have averaged 8.6 percent ahead of the first seven months of last year is an excellent indicator of the state's continuing healthy economic climate," said State Comptroller John Sharp.

This month's sales tax rebates include taxes collected on May sales and reported to the Comptroller in June by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

The city of San Antonio was delivered a sales tax rebate of $7.4 million, 5.2 percent more than last July's payment of slightly more than $7 million.

The local increase in sales tax rebates may indicate a steady recovery from lost sales due to the closing of Bandera Downs last year.

Sean French, Bulletin publisher, presents a check for $750 to Bandera County DARE Officer Mike Bolton and Sheriff James MacMillan. The check represents proceeds from a recent subscription drive. "The Bulletin is pleased to have this opportunity to assist the DARE program," said French. "We are proud to support projects that benefit the children of Bandera County."

Deputy Mike Timm

Sheriff's Department welcomes participation in National Night Out

The Bandera County Sheriff's Department would like to remind everyone [illegible] and asks everyone to participate by leaving their porch light on that evening to show their support.

This year's slogan is "Give Neighborhood Crime and Drugs A Going Away Party."

"Basically, we'd like everyone to know that this is a night the entire nation participates in by having their porch lights on all night as a symbol of a stand against drugs and crime," said Mike Timm, crime prevention officer for the sheriff's department.

The sheriff's department would like to urge everyone to seam up with their neighbors and take a flashlight walk through their neighborhood.

Timm said the department had received many calls from citizens who want to know how they can get involved [illegible] Neighborhood Watch.

He also said the sheriff's department has programs that will enable people to receive a discount on home insurance.

On Aug. 6, the department will have a booth in front of the courthouse between 7 and 10 p.m., where personnel from D.A.R.E., TRIAD and Crime Prevention will be available to answer questions pertaining to home security, lighting, locks, alarms, neighborhood drug intervention and crime prevention against the elderly.

"The sheriff's department would like to encourage you to stop by and visit and get answers to your questions regarding home security and personal safety tips," Timm said.

Sheriff's Report

During the week of July 22 through July 28, the Sheriff's Department answered 104 calls for service. Among these were:

Three minor accidents, three assist other police agency, 15 animal calls, 10 suspicious circumstances, three assist the public, two shots fired and eight alarm calls.

There were also eight thefts, eight misdemeanor arrests, two reckless driving, one welfare concern, one family violence, five suspicious person, and three illegal dumping.

There were also three assist fire department, one found property, one disorderly conduct, two felony arrests, five keep the peace, one assist EMS and one harassment.

There were also two civil matters, two burglary, four suspicious vehicles, three criminal trespass, one sexual assault, one assault and one threat.

Arrested by the Sheriff's Department were:

Charles Van Zandt, 27, of Lakehills for assault by contact and issuance of a bad check.

Karen Tomlinson, 42, of Bandera for public intoxication.

Julio Diaz, 30, of San Antonio on traffic warrants and possession of inhalant paraphernalia.

Jose Perez, 27, of San Antonio for public intoxication.

Richard Williams, 41, of Madison for delivery of marijuana.

Betty Simons, 50 of San Antonio for public intoxication.

Jason Salmon, 24, of Pipe Creek for DWI.

William Taylor, 39, of San Antonio for driving with license suspended and driving with no liability insurance.

Teleofero Alvarado, 44, of Medina for public intoxication and making alcohol available to a minor.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 30 calls for service, issued nine citations, and arrested one person for the week of July 22 through July 28, 1996. Calls for service included four assist other agencies, five public assists, five suspicious circumstances, one burglary of a habitation, two suspicious vehicles, one unsecured door, two welfare concerns, one animal call, one possible drunk driver, one police escort, one keep the peace, one recovered stolen vehicle, three trees down on vehicles, one tree blocking road, and one loud music.

Chad Edward Menard, 25, of Bandera was arrested and charged with burglary of a habitation.

I have received several calls concerning the destruction of the headstones at the Bandera Cemetery. However, while the information is helpful, it is not enough to arrest someone at this time. I know someone knows the necessary information, and I encourage them to call me at 796-3456. They do not have to identify themselves. I would prefer that the person(s) responsible come forward and clear their conscience before the police department finds out who they are.

I would like to take this opportunity to extend a special thanks to City Officer Shane Merritt and Deputies Mike Bolton and Jackie Wright, both with the Bandera County Sheriff's Department. Through these officers' efforts, approximately seven burglaries, which occurred both inside and outside the city, have been solved. A substantial amount of property was also recovered by these officers. Several people have been charged, both adult and juvenile offenders. I would also like to thank Sheriff MacMillan. This is a fine example of what can be accomplished when law enforcement agencies join together in their efforts.

Pipe Creek garbage station planned by commisioners

John Skaggs shows commissioners court the versatility of a desktop sign making system.

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Progress is being made to set up a county garbage collection site in the Pipe Creek area. Commissioner-elect Jim Mormando reported to Commissioners Court Wednesday, July 24 that negotiations are underway for leasing a property in Pipe Creek for the collection site.

County Attorney Kerry Schneider was authorized by the court to begin a title search and work out a lease agreement for the facility.

The county currently operates garbage collection sites in Lakehills, Bandera and Medina.

The Pipe Creek site, which has been approved by BFI, will need a concrete pad, 3-phase power and a fence.

Commissioner Ralph Chancy asked the commissioners to consider setting up a tire collection site for the county.

"I've had several people ask me about it," said Chancy. "I've been seeing tires on the roadsides and we'll be seeing more and more of that if we don't do something."

Commissioner Dan Alaniz said the county had a "generator number" from the state that allows the county to collect tires and have them picked up.

The commissioners agreed to set up a collection site at the county yard in Bandera.

In other business, the court:

• Approved the use of county rights of way for South Texas Satellite Inc. dba Advance Cable Technologies to operate a cable system in the Medina area. STS Inc. has recently purchased the currently operating cable system.

• Heard a presentation from John Skaggs from Imagery demonstrating a desktop sign making system. The county's sign making machine can make only street signs. The Imagery system could produce not only street signs, but highway signs, vehicle decals and other signage.

• Agreed to submit a list of needs for grants to a grant writer.

• Heard a report from Sheriff James MacMillan that the jail population has been averaging [illegible]

"I've budgeted $100,000 for housing prisoners out of the county next year," said MacMillan, "but I would like to keep that money in Bandera County if possible."

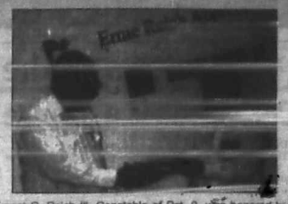
Commissioners gave MacMillan permission to approach the Texas Jail Commission about a plan to house low security prisoners in a dorm-type setting at Mansfield Park.

"This would be a temporary solution," said MacMillan, "but I don't know where else to go."

• Heard Carey Poe from 911 Rural Addressing report that new addresses for Route 1 in Pipe Creek have been submitted to the Postal Service. "Residents on that route should be getting their new addresses in 60-90 days," said Poe.

• Set a budget workshop for July 31.

Brief storm wreaks havoc



A brief rain storm blew through Bandera Thursday, July 25 and left behind considerable damage along with approximately one inch of rain.

City police received calls for three trees on vehicles and a large tree blocked 8th St. between Hackberry and Cedar.

There were also temporary power outages and reports of water damage to homes and businesses.

At left, a large hackberry crushed this pick up at Jellystone Park on the Medina River. No one was injured in the crash.

Reich honored by community

Ernest C. Reich III, Constable of Pct. 2, was honored by county officials, fellow peace officers, church officials, businessmen and friends at an Ernie Reich Appreciation Day gathering at the new Bandera County Government Center in Lakehills on July 24. Sheriff James MacMillan chose this occasion to notify Reich that he has been nominated for the prestigious Tom Tellepsen Award presented annually by the Sheriff's Association of Texas to a Texas peace officer who has made outstanding contributions to the advancement of law enforcement and criminal justice, has the respect of his fellow peace officers, and who has a deep love and respect for the law enforcement profession. The peace officer selected to receive the award will be announced at the association's annual conference on July 30.

Dress code is a change for the better

Dear Editor:

You can read about it any day in the papers: Teenage boy stabbed high school girl raped, junior high student shot to death, we say, we get more and want to know why doesn't somebody do something?

Well, the answer is too late when you have to post an officer at the front door or frisk kids for guns.

Something needs to be done before the kids ever get the idea that they could get away with it! It seems as though we're living in a generation of lawlessness and nobody is really taking responsibility for it.

Recently a change was made and everyone just blew their tops. A dress code was implemented, something that gets the message out that the time for a change has come. We don't want our kids to be beaten by a wallet chain hidden under a long T-shirt. We don't want our daughters dealing with sexual innuendoes just because we can see 90 percent of their flesh.

Come on, folks. Wake up! Are we just ignoring it all until it happens to us?

Let's teach our children that accepting authority is a good thing. It's always going to be in their lives, whether it's a parent, a boss, or a cop.

Our children will not be any less attractive by changing their appearance, for who they are really comes from within them.

Let's support the one's willing to make a stand, no matter how unpopular, and help us with changes that are for the better.

Vickie Stevens
Bandera

She disagrees

Dear Editor:

The new student dress code is taking away our freedom, individuality and personality. I think I speak for my schoolmates when I say it stinks. The school board should get a life and stop trying to give us our own personality. We should be able to express ourselves in any way we want. Chain wallets are not gang attire. They are used to protect peoples' wallets from getting stolen.

Saggy pants and oversized clothing are comfortable for some children. These children are being forced to wear uncomfortable clothing. People have their own likes and dislikes. What's next? We won't be able to wear certain colors. The school board needs a reality check.

Keep park clean

Dear Editor:

The following expresses my concern for the City Park on the Medina River:

The river's there, for you and for me,
It's a great blessing, all can readily see.
A bike ride or walk is just as much fun,
As roasting a wiener and toasting a bun.
There's plenty of room to find peace of mind;
If swimming or soaking is not in your line.
Just sitting and watching gratifies too;
Ah the laughter surrounds the swimmer's milieu.
They swing from the ropes tied high in the trees;
Or dive from the rock, like brown leaves in the breeze.
It's pleasant to hear the cries of the fun,
When the water splashes as each swimmer lands.
But all is not well in this wondrous place;
Most leave as they come, but some cause and abuse.
The employees work hard to make it clean,
But some of the users are thoughtless or mean.
They come in the day, they come in the night,
They enjoy the great park, trash it, and take flight.
Some leave cans and wrappers wherever they fall
They're not just the children, but also the tall.
They leave drink bottles some shattered and broke;
Awaiting the soft barefoot to step on a Coke.
Some toss their trash in the grass on the bank;
Or stuff it in crevices smelly and rank.
Fish hooks and bait boxes are left around,
And lots of cigarette butts litter the ground.
There's diapers and tissues and phooey, too,
While up on the hill is a very new loo.
My hands and legs have not bites and scratches.
From gathering their paper plates and matches.
I beg you take heed & hear what I hark;
Show your kids what's right and take care of our park.

If the City County allows the Bandera Regulars to camp in the park, I urge the council to ask members to bring their rakes to clean up the camp sites before leaving.

Too lovely for words

One writer described early Bandera as follows:

Resting for a day
we pushed on to Bandera, where the present finds us. The scenery through which we passed from Boerne to Bandera baffles my poor power of description.
Sometimes passing so near the foot of the mountain that it s steep, terraced sides looked like a giant stairway to the sky. On the other side again would be the plain, and beyond, in the blue distance, the mountains rose like gigantic frozen billows on a storm-tossed ocean. As we rode over and around these vast monuments of creative skill, the scene, shifting and changing line a grand panorama, we can find no language as expressive as silence, for words are too tame to express the deep emotions that swell
within us.

July Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

One summer, out there in the country, I decided to explain this to me - I guess I'm just too dumb to understand.

Okay, here is the situation. I find a very small black Lab puppy, wandering around a busy country road and street. I'm talking maybe six months old here.

Unfortunately, the reason I am at this particular place is to do an interview, so I'm kind of stuck with this puppy under one arm and my notebook and pen in the other hand.

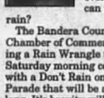
I borrow the phone and call Triple, animal control officer, to come get the dog, and as the people at this place realize who I am calling, I am met with looks of horror.

"Can't you do that!" they exclaim. "He might get put to sleep!"

It should have been my first clue that these were clueless people, but no, I went ahead and left the dog with them while I did my interview.

She begged to do it, too.

Of course, the pup conveniently ran off while being taken outside to do his business.



Well, I guess to these people being hit by a car and crawling off to die in the bushes; or slowly starving or dying of thirst, or being brought up by people who don't care enough to make sure that you are safe is preferable to being in a safe, clean, air-conditioned place where the possibility of adoption by someone who really wants you awaits.

And even if no adoption happens, isn't a painless euthanasia still preferable to the other ways a small animal can die that is left to fend for itself?

Come on people, wake up!

Carolyn's Corner

Have you been doing everything you can to make it rain?

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce is hosting a Rain Wrangle this Saturday morning complete with a Don't Rain on My Parade that will be a full block long. It's brevity will surely be made up for in its outrageous flavor! There's nothing quite like Bandera to come up with some wild and crazy ideas to make a big problem seem a little less overwhelming by adding a good bit of laughter.

And in the meantime, we should all be doing what we can to entice those wet drops to fall.

❑ Have you been leaving your umbrella at home? It almost always rains when you decide to clean out the vehicle and leave the brolley behind. "Doesn't look at all like rain," you say. "I'll just get this old useless thing out of here."

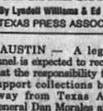
Then just about the time you get to work, it starts to pour about six inches an hour and you have to run from the parking lot to the office in your heels with nothing to cover yesterday's beauty shop effort but your ineffective little hands!

❑ Have you planned an outdoor wedding for your favorite child? You know that there is nothing quite like filling the backyard with white paper-covered tables decorated with flower arrangements to cause a thunderhead or two to pop up over the horizon.

Then when 200 or so nicely dressed guests are scattered around the tables, holding drinks and chatting, the first big drops of rain begin to fall. If the ladies are all wearing big garden-style hats, a nice hefty wind is sure to accompany the wet stuff.

Tables that were beautifully decorated with flowers and candles just hours earlier take on that nice fly-away look as everyone crowds into a living room you've never believed could hold so many bodies.

☆☆ Have you decided this drought was just what you were waiting for to haul those mattresses, pillows and pads outside to freshen up in the sun for awhile?



Does anyone still air out their bedding, like momma used to do?

Well, their is nothing like a pile of feathers and cotton to entice a nice little shower to start falling.

❑ Have you started that outdoor painting job? We all know how rain is attracted to wet paint. So get those old metal lawn chairs out and start brushing!

Child support collection moving

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — A legislative panel is expected to recommend that the responsibility for child-support collections be taken away from Texas Attorney General Dan Morales and given to a newly created "free-standing state entity."

The Senate Interim Committee on Juvenile Justice and Child Support has been reviewing the collections program for a year.

"The mothers and children of Texas cannot afford to keep this thing going," committee chairman Sen. Chris Harris, R-Arlington, told the Dallas Morning News.

A similar House panel, headed by Rep. Toby Goodman, R-Arlington, is studying the issue. Goodman said there is some sentiment among Democrats and Republicans on his committee for moving child support collections to another agency.

Morales, a Democrat, defended his handling of the child support collections program and said, "It wouldn't surprise me if maybe some politics are involved here. If that's the case, I think it's a shame because the children of Texas should never be used as political pawns."

Wife Resigns as Lobbyist

Diane Allbaugh, the wife of Gov. George W. Bush's executive assistant, Joe Allbaugh, announced her resignation last week as a lobbyist for AT&T and Texas Utilities — corporations that have issues to be considered in the 1997 Legislature.

Mrs. Allbaugh said she was resigning to avoid any appearance of influence peddling, the Dallas Morning News reported.

Her announcement came after Bush said he was troubled by the appearance of a conflict of interest. Bush also said he may initiate a policy to deal with such situations.

Joe Allbaugh said his wife's work did not conflict with his responsibilities in the governor's office, and Ray Sullivan, a spokesman for Bush, said the governor did not ask Diane Allbaugh to resign.

In a letter to Bush's general counsel, Mrs. Allbaugh wrote: "I regret that my effort to return my professional life has caused such distractions, and trust that this action on my part will address fully any possible concerns."

Mrs. Allbaugh recently registered with the Texas Ethics Commission and Texas Utilities as a lobbyist, as required by law. AT&T was to pay her $50,000 to $100,000 a year, the Austin-American-Statesman reported.

Mr. Allbaugh's annual salary is $125,000.

Sharp to Push for Tax Relief

Texas Comptroller John Sharp said last week he is confident Gov. Bush will address property tax relief during the 1997 legislative session.

If, however, Bush decides not to go forward with a plan, Sharp said he "would sure look at it then" because he's convinced that the tax burden shouldered by property owners is a problem — and besides, it's his job to Bush said he was troubled by the appearance of a conflict of interest. Bush also said he may initiate a policy to deal with such situations.

Joe Allbaugh said his wife's work did not conflict with his responsibilities in the governor's office, and Ray Sullivan, a spokesman for Bush, said the governor did not ask Diane Allbaugh to resign.

In a letter to Bush's general counsel, Mrs. Allbaugh wrote: "I regret that my effort to return my professional life has caused such distractions, and trust that this action on my part will address fully any possible con-help Bush find a way to fix it.

"I don't need public opinion polls or a set of hearings to tell me that the public is severely upset about what they see as trends in property taxes," Sharp said.

A special committee appointed by Bush and headed by Texas Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer is conducting hearings around Texas to gauge support of an alternative to local school property taxes — about $10 billion a year.

Bush and lawmakers are to decide what to do after Bomer's panel concludes its work in the fall.

Cancer Society Lauds Demos

The American Cancer Society praised the Texas Democratic Party for its decision last month to no longer accept contributions from tobacco companies.

"It's not easy to turn away money. They are very courageous, and we'd love to see lots of other states follow," American Cancer Society spokeswoman Jerie Jordan told the Associated Press last week.

California Democrats banned the acceptance of tobacco money over two years ago.

Lester Van Pelt III of the Republican Party of Texas said the state GOP plans no ban on tobacco donations, the AP reported.

The $50,000 the Texas Democratic Party received from Philip Morris last year made up about one-fourth of the state party's corporate account donations, according to reports filed with the Texas Ethics Commission.

Last spring, Attorney General Morales, a Democrat, filed a $4 billion federal lawsuit against the tobacco industry seeking reimbursement of Medicaid money spent on treating tobacco-related illnesses.

JP Mike Smith leads Montanans Mary and Norman Wolf in a wedding vow renewal ceremony at the OST.

Vows renewed at OST

On Thursday, July 25, Mary Wolf surprised her husband, Norman, known as Bus, by arranging to have their wedding vows renewed at the OST for their 21st anniversary.

Mary said that when she awakened that morning she thought it would be a great way to celebrate the day and ... [illegible] ... ow" and with a little help from the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, was able to "pull off" the event as a total surprise to Bus.

As Mary was finishing eating her late breakfast around 2 p.m. at the Main Street restaurant, Justice of Peace Mike Smith interrupted her and escorted the couple to the center of the bar where they renewed their vows.

This is the second visit to Bandera for the Wolfs. They stay in Bandera when visiting Mary's daughter and her family in San Antonio to avoid the hustle and bustle of the big city.

"Between us we have eight children and seven grandchildren," said Mary. "We travel in the summer to visit them, but we like to come home to Montana to care for their livestock during the bitter winter months."

The Wolfs live on the Crow Indian Reservation in the foothills of the Big Horn Mountains.

Encouraging signs in the middle of the hot discouraging summer. Oh, again has it rained BIG by the time this week's paper has come out? We keep hoping that drought discussions will be rendered moot.)

Back to encouraging signs. One: The lavishly colorful crepe myrtles, which never fail to brighten the scene in the dead of summer when every other blooming thing has run its course or dried up and blown away. This summer on our premises, they are outdoing themselves, even with the drastic cut-back in water. Specimens we planted twenty years ago which never had much ambition are blooming like Alabama azaleas in the 100 degree weather. Two possible reasons: They had a good serving of cow pie last spring when we were cleaning up the coastal fields after winter grazing, and dry weather has kept the mildew away which is the bane of crepe my[illegible]usally. Quien sabe.

Rejected as an ...port from Asia by native plant purists, crepe myrtles have been part of the cultivated Texas landscape for so many decades, they should be considered for at least associate membership in the society of Texas flora. There are towering crepe myrtles, their ancient trunks polished white, on the grounds Southwest Craft Center in S.A., planted a hundred years ago by the Ursuline sisters whose convent the place used to be. There is at least one brightening of every old country graveyard. Even the authorities at Bandera High School, not known for their interest in beautification, planted crepe myrtles by the entrance to the school when it was built back in the seventies.

These companionable trees, though recommended for acid or neutral soil, seem to be happy enough wherever they are planted, whether it be along the streets of Jackson, Mississippi or on our caliche slope. They come in many colors, especially now that hybrids have been developed, but the old color of choice is the blazing watermelon pink which shouts to the July skies when all else is silent.

Second encouraging sign: The total seriousness with which the members of the current board of Springhills Water District are meeting the challenge to guard and protect the aquifer on which their Bandrea County constituents depend for the water they need to continue to live-whether on a large ranch, a five-acre estate, or a town lot. Seeking to balance the community need to share against the traditional individual right to utilize a given well on private property as seep fit, the job facing the district board is awesome.

We're not used to accepting any kind of limitation on our activities in free and easy Texas, and it is hard thing to have to recognize that Old Mother Nature is in charge no matter what engineers or schemers try to come up with in the way of mechanical fixes to a given situation, whether it be flood or drought.

Springhills is facing reality. Let's get behind them with our own home efforts to save water and to think before we drill a new well. The life we save will be our own.

Coach holds out great expectations for '96-'97 Bandera Bulldogs varsity football team

Coach Mike Williamson

Eight coaches at Bandera High School are planning for this year's Bandera Bulldogs to make a comeback after last year's disappointing season.

"Every coach teaches every level," said athletic director Mike Williamson.

On the offensive side of the ball, coming back to start as quarterback will be junior Patrick Mazurek. Mazurek, 6', 190 pounds, started in the last five games last year, the last three of which Bandera won.

Back up quarterback will be Jeremy Leland.

"I'm very excited about having Patrick," Williamson said. "The exciting thing is he will be here for two more years."

Senior Chris Davis is slated to be in the fullback position.

"I really look for him to have a good year," Williamson said.

Senior Nate Moehring will also be a fullback.

Juniors Tim Gard and Jason Garcia will fill in the tailback positions. Last year, Gard rushed 585 yards and accomplished seven touchdowns, while Garcia rushed 550 yards and came in with six touchdowns.

"They are both good kids to have back there," Williamson said.

Senior Jeb Chesson, 6'3", 205 pounds, will pull the center position.

"He had a good year last year, making all-district as center," Williamson said.

Two juniors, Chris Sanders and Anthony Rodriguez, are slated to be guards.

"Both did an outstanding job and started on the line last year," Williamson said. "I expect great things."

Selma Pathfinders to explore Polly's Chapel

The Selma Pathfinders will hold a 10K country walk to Polly's Chapel on Saturday, Aug. 24.

The walk will begin beside Hwy. 16 and will cover a recently paved farm road on a portion of the walk, and continue on improved gravel surface to Polly's Chapel.

Polly's Chapel is a native stone church, hand built by Policarpo Rodriguez. Rodriguez was an army scout and guide, and one of the original settlers of the Privilege Creek community. He was also a Methodist preacher, and he, among others, preached at this little church.

Another stop will be at the small cemetery where Mr. Rodriguez and other settlers are buried.

The start time for the walk is 7:15 to 11 a.m. and the finish time is 2 p.m.

Walkers are encouraged to start the walk early, as the route is not totally shaded. Cold water and hard candy will be available along the route, but carrying water, wearing sunblock and carrying protection against the sun are advised.

The trail is rated a 2+, due to uneven surface along the gravel portion and to some hilly terrain.

The route is suitable for jogging strollers or wagons, but wheelchairs will have difficulty.

Pets are welcome, but must be kept on a leash at all times.

Pre-registration can be made up to Aug. 20 and will cost $5. After that the cost is $6.

If no award or stamp is desired the walk is free.

Pre register by mailing your check to Selma Pathfinders, 17314 Springhill, San Antonio, Texas 78232-1551, or call (210) 496-1402 for more information.

The event takes place regardless of weather.

Michael Nesbit, Bandera High School Principal

Nesbit excited about BISD opportunities

Michael Nesbit, the new Bandera High School principal, says the beauty of the Hill Country was just one of the attractions that induced him and his wife, Rachel, to move here from Huntington, Texas.

"It's beautiful country," Nesbit said. "It's rolling and I love the hill country. We've lived in East Texas since we were married."

Nesbit is also encouraged by the challenges here.

"I'm excited about the opportunities here in Bandera," he claimed. "It's a growing district and that's very attractive to me."

Nesbit was a high school principal in Huntington, but grew up in the Dallas area. He received a master's degree from Stephen F. Austin University in 1983 in history.

He taught for 10 years, before becoming a principal.

"I believe very strongly in education. It is the best hope for the future of the nation," he said. "If we are going to be competitive in a global market, we have to prepare our students."

He says his role at BHS will be to introduce new programs that will help prepare students for the future.

"Education has to change," he claims, "and we are changing. We are adjusting to the needs of our students."

One way that is happening, according to Nesbit, is that courses are more relevant to the real world.

"My role is to continue that process," he said. "I still view myself as a principal and teacher. I find it a very rewarding profession."

He has set several goals for himself and BHS.

One involves raising TAAS scores.

"We were very low in math last year," Nesbit said. "We've taken steps to try and improve that."

Those steps include having specialists come in to help teachers find ways to get TAAS objectives across to the students, targeting 8th-graders who did poorly on the math portion of the TAAS test and having them attend math class daily, as opposed to the regular block scheduling, and a TLAS preparation class for sophomores.

Another goal is to expand the concurrent enrollment program now in place at BHS.

Concurrent enrollment is where high school juniors and seniors who qualify can receive college credit for the work they do in high school.

"A goal is to have a high school senior walk into college as a sophomore," Nesbit said.

Nesbit's wife is a homemaker and a speech therapist. The couple have two daughters, Heather and Bethany.

Registration information for all schools

Middle School Registration
On Thursday, Aug. 1, the Middle School will register 6th grade students from 8 a.m. to noon, from 2-4 p.m. and 6-7 p.m. A special orientation for 6th grade students and their parents will be held from 7-8 p.m. Those with last names A-H will meet in the cafeteria, I-Z will meet in the gym.

High School Registration
High school students have already received their schedules in the mail and lockers will not be assigned until the first day of school. Principal Mike Nesbit emphasizes that there is no need for formerly enrolled students to appear to register. The above schedule for July 31-Aug. 1 pertains only to those whose schedule needs an alteration.

New Student Registration
With record level enrollments anticipated at all campuses, it is critical that all new students register prior to the first day of school. If it is impossible to register on the day scheduled for a particular grade level, parents are urged to call the campus and arrange for an alternate time.

Pre-K & Headstart Orientation
Alkek Elementary School will hold an orientation for Pre-kindergarten/Headstart and Kindergarten students on Thursday, Aug. 8. The orientation for boys will be from 6:30-7 p.m. and the orientation for girls will be from 7-7:30 p.m.

Alkek, Middle School and High School campuses can be contacted by calling 796-3763. Hill Country Elementary's number is 535-6151.

Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

In response to a letter to the editor from Mr. Alton Johnson in last week's paper concerning grants - the RC&D organization assists non-profit organizations in finding various funding through NON-GOVERNMENTAL entities. There are organizations such as the Silver Sage Corral that realize full well the many strings that are attached, volumes of paperwork, etc. when dealing with the government.

Several of our participants here at the Senior Minnie Hayes, Delia Mae Cox, Melecse Rugh and others, can also provide a colorful history relating to the struggle and hard work that went into the creation of this senior activity center.

Minnie and others carried furniture down the street (on foot) from Minnie's house to the old Baptist parsonage where the site if our first center was located. All work was performed by volunteers. Della Mae delivered meals (cooked by volunteers) to home-bound seniors in her own car for many years. Minnie manned the office and telephone. From this humble beginning, the organization grew and grew and in October of 1977, the doors were opened to our present center on 11th Street.

In the beginning, funds to support our transportation program, our nutrition program and activities were earned by holding rummage sales, quilt sales, dances, etc. Today the Center must still rely on volunteers to work in the kitchen drive meals on wheels, teach classes, work the front desk, manage the gift shop, create hand-made items for sale in our gift shop, serve on our Board of Directors, work rummage sales, plan benefit dances - the list is endless.

Presently, we do receive a government grant to subsidize our nutrition program, but we must also produce matching funds in order to receive this grant. We are also fortunate in having a County government that contributes to our support, financially as well as in spirit.

Through the TRIAD program, Sheriff MacMillan and Deputy Sue Walker have helped us help our seniors by protecting them against fraud and abuse. The TRIAD program also relies in volunteers to man the "Telephone Reassurance Program," whereby homebound seniors living alone may receive a daily call to check on their well being.

Absolutely NONE of the above can be accomplished without thousands of hours pit in by our faithful volunteers. From our inception to the present time, NONE of our volunteers have ever expected to be "diapered, powdered and bottle fed from the cradle to the grave." These wise people know what it takes to get the job done and have shown through their support that they are willing to sacrifice their time and efforts to accomplish whatever the task may be.

As Bandera County has grown, the needs of our center have grown, sometimes making it necessary to search for funds to support our services. It seems that those who scream the loudest about government spending are the ones who do not know the meaning of the word "volunteer."

God bless each and every one of our volunteers, we love you.

Please join us this Friday morning, Aug. 2, from 7 to 9 a.m. for our Pancake/Taco Breakfast. Pancakes or breakfast tacos with all the trimmings for $2.50. Proceeds help support our center.

The 20th reunion of the 1976 class of 1976 was held Saturday July 13 at The Farm Country Club. A large group enjoyed the hospitality of Homer and Kathy Stevens and a delicious barbecue dinner. The evening was filled with swimming, games and the exciting sounds of Ricochet the DJ, AKA Scott Hicks. Classmates traveled from as far as New Jersey, Louisiana and Oklahoma. "Friendships were rekindled with fun and laughter and we look forward to getting together again in 10 years," said a spokesman.

It is getting close to the time for those pumper races at the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department fire house. Aug. 18 is the day to mark on your calendar.

These races are a lot of fun to watch or take part in. All the fire departments in the county come out to compete and participate.

If you haven't already bought your tickets for the raffle supporting all the Bandera County fire departments, the pumper races will be a good time to support this good cause. It will also be a good time to look over the first prize, a Polaris Explorer 4x4 ATV.

Bring your billfold and get some tickets. Remember 95 percent of the money is returned to the fire department.

• Drue and Pat Helms just returned from chasing hurricane Bertha up the east coast so that they could make their long-awaited cruise to the Bahamas. The weather was so uncertain that they were sure the cruise would be canceled, but with good luck, they sailed on schedule.

Betty and Ron Holzmann, Pat's sister and brother-in-law, joined them on the cruise, along with two other couples that had attended the same high school together.

Engine trouble delayed flight connections, forcing them to stay overnight in Atlanta. But that was an added surprise since Pat's older sister Joyce Norris lives in Atlanta and they got to visit with her and see the Olympic stadium and the torch.

• Approximately 60 friends and relatives gathered at the home of Curtis and Mary Bird on Saturday, July 20 to celebrate his friend's marriage.

Numerous out of town and local friends and family gathered to enjoy the barbecue served in a screened tent in the yard.

John Adams assisted in preparing the chicken, pork ribs, beef ribs, brisket and venison. Marilyn and Al Luce used their new smoker to prepare brisket and chicken.

Many of the guests added to the menu with tasty dishes.

Tables and chairs were provided by the Lake Medina Shores Volunteer Fire Department.

Sparkling lights and wind chimes in the huge oak trees enchanted guests well into the evening.

Ingram plant will handle deer and exotic game

After almost a year of expanding, re-equipping, and refurbishing, Hill Country Meat Packing Co. in Ingram will open Aug. 1 as a virtually new full service packer for area producers. The plant will initially employ 16, [illegible] when the [illegible] enlarged kill floor, and is expected eventually to grow to 25 as orders increase.

The plant is the dream of co-owner and general manager Robbie Bertheola and his wife Judy, who have worked together in the meat business all their married lives. Bertheola worked as general manager for a major [illegible] has owned grocery and specialty meat stores. His co-owner is Larry Cook of Midland, an investor who has an avid interest in bow-hunting wild game in the Hill Country.

Bertheola has supervised the expansion to a 22,000 square foot facility, including a total rewiring, installation of new [illegible] a state-of-the art stainless steel kill floor with an electrical run on a rail and [illegible] puller. The plant can now process 225 head of beef per day or 1,000 goats. It will kill and package cattle, sheep, goats, and exotic game and also process pads, and ship deer or exotic game to individual order.

The plant will also serve a few large producers, but its primary market is area farmers, ranchers, and hunters in the Central Texas area. It is prepared to slaughter under custom-exempt guidelines for individual producers.

"Our primary focus is on providing the best quality service to area farmers and ranchers. We'll offer fast turnaround and competitive rates," Bertheola said.

Two USDA inspectors are on site during all operations, and every carcass is inspected. This allows producers to sell directly to the public. Because of the advance [illegible] plant design it is expected that Hill Country Meat Packing will [illegible] its capacity shortly after it opens.

The plant located south of I-10 on Texas Hwy. 27 at Ingram, about six miles west of Kerrville.

The plant has retail outlet featuring buffalo and prime beef, and a deli case with exotic meats. The Bertheolas have collected recipes and hints on how to prepare the more exotic meats.

"If anyone has questions about our services, rates, or shipping arrangements they can call us at 210-367-4477. Nor order is too large or too small," Bertheola stated.

With summer vacation almost over, students are enjoying a few last thrills at local water parks such as Schlitterbahn in nearby New Braunfels. RC&D encourages grassroots support

Wayne Griffin is the coordinator for the Alamo Area RC&D, a nine-county organization that encompasses Bandera County.

The more community support you have for a project, the easier it is to get funding," Griffin stated. "The more organized a group is, the more likely they will get funded."

To that end, Griffin suggests inviting other types of support groups such as city and county governments and agencies to act as a co-sponsor to the project.

"The funder feels that if they fund the project, it will then have the necessary support to keep it going," Griffin said.

According to Griffin, a proposed project has to be justified.

"There has to be a true need for it," he said. "The more people they can get on board really helps."

Other pluses include some other funding or donations to the project that have been raised by the group, independent of RC&D.

"Once you have started receiving funds from other sources, people want to help and be a part of the success story," Griffin said.

Once a group has decided it has a justifiable project that will benefit the community, or enhance or preserve natural resources, the process to submit a project is fairly simple.

According to Griffin, the group fills out a two-page form describing their project.

It is then reviewed by the county level committee.

"If they sign off on it, then it is automatically accepted as the council level," he said.

Griffin said that although foundations give their money primarily to non-profit organizations, there are ways around that.

"If your group does not have 501-C3 status, then RC&D will act as a conduit and receive the funds for you," he explained.

RC&D will also help organizations get that 501-C3 nonprofit status, if necessary.

They also offer grant writing courses to prepare organization members for that process.

"Over the last three years we have helped complete projects worth $1.4 million," Griffin said.

"If you have an idea and you've got a good project, you will get funded."

For more information on RC&D, or to become a sponsor, send your check to RC&D, c/o Joe Conte, P. O. Box [illegible], Bandera, Texas 78003, or call [illegible].

Under the Order of Sale issued pursuant to each Judgment above listed I did at the time specified for each suit levy upon each Property in such suit as described above as the property of the Defendants named or designated in such suit. On the sale date specified above, which is the first Tuesday of said month, I will offer and sell at public auction, for cash, each property described above, and all the right, title, interest and estate in and to each such property owned or claimed by the Defendants named in connection with each such property; PROVIDED, however, that no property shall be sold directly or indirectly to anyone other than a Tax Unit which is a party to that specific suit for less than the total amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due against that particular property or any adjudged value decreed, whichever is lower.

The Foreclosure Sales under this Notice will be held on the first Tuesday of said month, at the Courthouse door of said County, at the time set out by law and through the PARMER, STEEN & YOUNG, P.C., 3001 N. The sale of each property shall be subject to the rights of the Defendants named in connection with each particular property, and any successors in title, to redeem such specified property in the time and manner provided by law; and subject also to the rights of any defendants to have each particular property owned or claimed by such defendants divided and sold in less divisions than the whole as provided by law. The sale as to each property is to be made to satisfy the Judgment rendered against that particular property and the Defendants named in connection with that particular property. The proceeds of the Sale of each property are to be applied to the satisfaction of the Judgment against that particular property and the remainder of the sale proceeds, if any, are to be applied as the law directs.

Mammography services available

The Department of Veteran Affairs (VA) has established a toll-free number for women veterans to obtain information about the Department's mammography services. The number is 1-800-492-7844.

Staffed between the hours of 8:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. ET, Monday through Friday, callers may obtain information on VA mammography policies and the locations of all VA and VA-certified mammography facilities within their geographic area. Callers also may comment on these services.

VA's Women Veterans Health Care Guidelines call for breast screenings, including mammograms, as part of the Department's provision of basic primary care for women veterans.

Currently, 42 VA medical facilities, including the Audie L. Murphy Division of the South Texas Veterans Health Care System, have in-house mammography units.

VA facilities with mammography units are required to follow the American College of Radiology Quality Standards and meet all requirements of the Mammography Quality Standards Act, just like FDA-certified facilities. Community facilities used by VA must be FDA-approved and certified to provide mammography services.

During fiscal year 1995, 22,560 women obtained mammography services through VA.

MEDINA

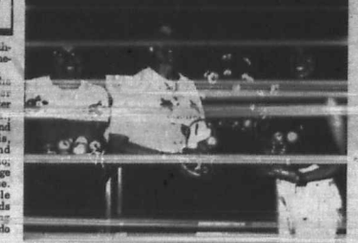
589-2619

The 9th Annual Medina Apple [illegible] festival is history. The crowds [illegible] were great, no significant heat-[illegible] related medical problems [illegible] and fun things for the kids to [illegible], and as usual the music was [illegible].

The festival stamp cancellation will be available at the Post Office for the next few days. All [illegible] volunteers deserve a [illegible] thanks, as well as the person responsible for the "cooling centers." What a neat idea.

Have you taken time to notice [illegible] Hwy. 16 north of Medina or the [illegible]?



Jordan Vannatter, currently completing Marine boot camp in San Diego, Cal. was sorely missed by all.

[illegible] commended for working together to create and maintain something of beauty for all to enjoy.

[illegible] home included Grant Vannatter of [illegible], Shannon Carvey Vannatter and Jason Arnold of Memphis, Tenn.; Nathan, Dusty and [illegible] of Del Rio; Major and Mrs. Dan Wooldridge of Randolph Air Force Base. Everyone enjoyed the Apple Festival, visiting with friends [illegible] Stokes and even managed to do [illegible].

[illegible]own? These trees are a part of [illegible]n ongoing program sponsored [illegible]y the Medina Development [illegible]Corporation to beautify our community.

The trees are watered weekly by volunteers from the Medina Volunteer Fire Department. Both organizations are to be [illegible].

First State Bank employees Elvie Duke, George Ann Aycock and Priscilla Obledo helped kick off the 9th Annual Texas International Apple Festival with an apple giveaway on Friday, July 26.

Ranch estate seminar at College Station

A two-day seminar on ranch estate planning will be held at College Station on Aug. 11-12 at Texas A&M University in conjunction with the Annual Beef Cattle Shortcourse.

The seminar is structured to help ranchers learn how to lower their tax burden and ease administrative burdens that affect passing their estates to their loved ones. In addition to discussing estate planning systems, tax savings possibilities will be discussed using corporations, partnerships and trusts when family members are involved in the business.

The speaker, Wayne A. Hayenga, is a professor and extension specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. An agricultural economist and attorney, Dr. Hayenga works extensively with farmers, ranchers and family-owned firms in financial, business and estate tax planning.

The registration fee of $60 and registration information is available from Wayne A. Hayenga, Agricultural Economics Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843, or call 409-845-2226.

Two readings determine blood pressure

Blood pressure is expressed as two readings — the systolic pressure over the diastolic pressure.

The higher, or systolic, pressure is the pressure in the artery when the heart's ventricles are contracting.

The lower, or diastolic, pressure is the pressure in the artery when the ventricles are relaxing.

True hypertension can be difficult to diagnose. For example, patients under emotional stress may exhibit a higher reading than normal. Or the size of the blood pressure cuff used to take the reading may be incorrect. A cuff that is too small for a patient's arm could produce a high blood pressure reading.

To diagnose hypertension, doctors should take two to three separate readings in two to three separate visits. Once high blood pressure is confirmed, several tests are recommended: a urinalysis to check for kidney damage; an EKG or electrocardiogram to check for heart damage; a blood cell count; blood chemistries to measure glucose levels, cholesterol, uric acid, potassium and creatinine (an indicator of kidney function); and other tests based on clinical judgment.

The classifications of normal and hypertensive blood pressures are listed in the accompanying chart, provided by Dr. Henry Bussey. The classification is based on whichever number is higher, the systolic or the diastolic blood pressure.

Classification	Systolic	Diastolic
Normal	150 or less	85 or less
High normal	130-139	85-89
Hypertensive:
Stage 1 (mild)	140-159	90-99
Stage 2 (moderate)	160-179	100-109
Stage 3 (severe)	180-209	110-119
Stage 4 (very sev.)	210 or more	120 or more

by Bungy

Pamplona, Spain had their 400th Annual Running of the Bulls. It's a half-mile sprint with thousand of brave ones being chased by 50-100 strong bulls. Only nine people were injured. I thought that was pretty good.

In the meantime, Medina held their 9th Annual Apple Festival, where folks come from near and far for terrific arts and crafts booths, lots of good food, great entertainment. Tommy Worrell's act with his longhorn and twirling plates was my favorite.

The German band oompahed, the cloggers clicked and clacked and the Peruvians blew through their noses! The wonderful Hilltoppers started it all off and the list goes on and on, including some great gospel music on the river.

I got my picture taken in front of Eric Marley's famous teepee in some Indian garb, so that made my day. Larry won second place in the Apple Anything Contest with his apple cheesecake, so that made his day. A thoroughly happy couple!

Then it was out to Lost Valley to hear a free concert by the visiting German band. Around 400 guests brought lawn chairs and set up near the swimming pool where the band proceeded to put on an excellent show with lots of fun along with the music.

The sunset, with peachy colored light fluffy clouds floating around, practically hid a near full moon. As darkness fell, the lights hanging in the huge oak trees were switched on, and turned Lost Valley into a genuine German Biergarten! Then, the Texas German band, from all over this grand state, played and they really sounded like a biergarten!

Next Saturday, beginning at 10 a.m. is our Wrangle the Rain event complete with everything you can imagine that might just make it rain. Wear your rain gear, or at least bring an umbrella and join the shortest parade in the world—one block!

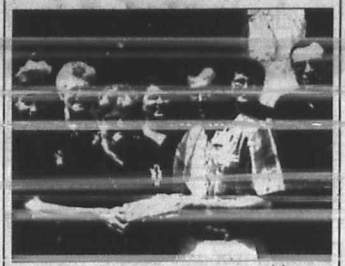
Tony Mann, that funny TV weatherman is the grand marshal. I hear they just might "hang" him in the courthouse lawn!

Be sure to bring your rain stick and help lead off the parade!

It's been a whole month of John Wayne movies on TV. My favorite was "The Singing Riders," in which a good guy vigilante group formed during Reconstruction following the Civil War. While they were waiting for a gig, 30 (I counted) white horses, complete with saddles, bridles, etc. would be standing out in the middle of nowhere, while their riders, complete with cowboy hats, black shirts and white scarves ("so they could tell who they were in a fight") sat around the campfire singing old cowboy songs! Even John Wayne sang a love song to a gal while strumming his guitar. It was lip-synced but it looked good.

They either wore highwater pants or jeans turned up 4 inches. The variety of cowboy hats made me drool!

Bungy enjoyed the Apple Festival.



SA's Folklife Festival ready for silver year

Spend your vacation in San Antonio at the Institute of Texan Cultures sampling the flavor of the best festivals Texas has to offer in just one event — the Texas Folklife Festival. It's the Lone Star State's colorful four-day spectacular that hosts over 10,000 participants from 70 Texas counties representing a smorgasbord of festivals from every area of the state.

This year the festival celebrates its silver anniversary, August 1-4.

The Institute is located in downtown San Antonio. Via park and ride is available to get to the festival.

Super S Foods contributes to EMS fund-raising effort

James Sloan, manager of Super S Foods in Bandera, presents a check for $1,000 to the Bandera County EMS for their AED Fund. Representing the various chapters are Pam Scharmin, Bandera; Brenda Reich, Lakehills; Dennis Winwright, Medina; and Micol Konvicka, Monica Wilson, and Dot McCracken. The EMS has now raised $14,000 of the $16,500 total needed for the purchase of three AED machines. "The county now has one on each main ambulance," said McCracken. "We're grateful to all of Bandera County for the support they gave us in this project."

Musicans gather at Pop's Place next week

The Annual Western Swing Country Musicians' Festival will be held at Pop's Place on Medina Lake five miles south of Pipe Creek on FM 1283 Aug. 5-10.

"This festival is an annual event at Pop's Place with bands entertaining from all over the country," said Pop's Place owner Milt Luchsinger.

Country western, bluegrass and popular music will be played on stage nightly for dancing.

Jam sessions will be playing continuously throughout the day.

Among musicians to be featured is Jerry Wallace and Caesare Masse, who have appeared with many nationally known bands. Also on tap are Ora Oubre, Singie Forman, Jesse Beaumont, Don Richards and James Blues Brussard and many others.

There is no admission charge and the public is invited to attend.

For additional information, call 210-535-4366.

Hi, y'all! It's hard to believe that July is over already! It seems like last week we were having the 4th of July parade!

We got to drive through some rain the other day over in Pipe Creek. It was a good shower but it went on down to S.A. We didn't get a drop here at the lake. The weather guesser just said maybe Wednesday we could get some showers. We are all watching the hurricane maps to see if we might have a tropical storm come on in from the coast and refill our reservoirs and aquifers.

We have been watching the Olympics the past few days. It is very inspiring to see the many young people putting forth so much effort and heart into the competition.

We haven't heard the Star Spangled Banner played so many times in a long time.

We hope the low-lifes who planted that bomb in the Centennial Park might muff their next one and it blows up on them just to give them a taste of their own medicine. We cannot imagine how someone can do something such as that to innocent people and say they are fighting for a just cause. Anyone who could do so is a sure candidate for the funny farm. There is one sure punishment for anyone convicted of such cowardly bombing and that would be to swing from the nearest tree!

Work is still going on with preparations for the fall barbecue for the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department. Raffle tickets are still available for the Bandera County Fire Chiefs and Presidents Association Raffle. There has been some confusion about where the proceeds from this raffle go. Each VFD purchased an amount of tickets voted on by their membership. Ninety-five percent of the proceeds go to the department making the sale. The remaining five percent goes to the Fire Chiefs and Presidents Association to help with their expenses. The many prizes, including the Polaris 4-wheeler make buying a ticket a very good deal.

Well, our business calls, so we had better answer. We look forward to your comments and any news to include. Let us know about that anniversary, special achievement or celebration. We will look for you over the back fence.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

How much do we really know? Very little, if the truth were known and frankly stated. During the lifetime of those people who have experienced fifty or more birthdays, the world has experienced many positive transformations. The fastest time President Washington ever made a trip from Philadelphia was six days. Today a plane hardly gets off a runway in Philadelphia before it is descending on the city of Washington.

This advance in knowledge is, we believe, a very great advantage. The more we learn the better we are prepared to face life and handle its problems. But now and again we are confronted with the realization that as a matter of fact we know very little compared with what there is to be known. New discoveries come so quick and fast that we can expect any morning we wake up to find that an utterly new era has been ushered in.

And when it is ushered in (if it ever is) then we can be rest assured that we will still be amazed over the little we know. . .What about the possibility of life on other planets? What about the marvelous area known only to those who travel in outer space?

Yes, indeed, today we live in one of the most interesting ages humanity has ever known.....

Realtors should note disclosure requirements for lead

A new regulation requires real estate agents and others to disclose hazards of lead-based paint when selling or renting dwellings constructed before 1978.

"The new disclosure targets the protection of children by calling parents' attention to the dangers of lead-based paint and its associated hazards," says Judon Fambrough, an attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

According to Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) estimates, one in every 11 children has elevated levels of lead in their blood. Lead paint poisoning can cause behavioral problems, learning disabilities, permanent brain damage and nervous system and kidney damage. Pregnant women exposed to lead paint can pass the poison on to the developing fetus.

"The new disclosure law contains pre-contractual, contractual and post-contractual requirements and carries civil liability and criminal sanctions," says Fambrough. "The law is unique because it covers both the sale and rental of certain residential real estate."

Several exemptions exist, however. Housing for the elderly and for persons with disabilities — unless a child younger than six years old will reside in the dwelling — are exempt from the regulations. Efficiency and studio apartments, dormitories, military barracks and individual rooms rented within residential dwellings also are exempt.

"A lead-based paint hazard is any condition allowing exposure to lead-contaminated dust, soil or deteriorated paint that would result in adverse health effects," says Fambrough. "A residence is defined to have lead-based paint when the surface coatings contain lead equal to or in excess of 1.0 milligrams per square centimeter or 0.5 percent by weight."

"Penalties for not complying with the new disclosure are harsh," says Fambrough. "Any person who knowingly violates the provision is jointly and severally liable to the purchaser or lessee in an amount equal to three times the amount of damages incurred."

For more information, request Fambrough's article, "Lead-Based Paint Hazards: New Disclosure Hits Home." Printed copies are $2. Send checks to the Real Estate Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115. The information is available free over the Internet at http://recenter.tamu.edu. Debate on abatements

Like Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde, tax abatements have their good and bad sides, according to Jared E. Hazleton, a research fellow with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

"Tax abatements were originally created as incentives to be used by local communities to attract new industry and to encourage the expansion of existing business. They have been used in Texas since 1981," says Hazleton.

"Tax abatements can compensate for locational disadvantages," says Hazleton.

"Communities may have profit-reducing characteristics, such as lower-than-average-quality infrastructure, a remote location or higher-than-average crime rates that are not fully capitalized into lower land costs.

"A community that desires to attract new businesses can increase its chances by offering incentives, such as an abatement of property taxes."

Tax abatements can be seen as the outcome of competition between communities for local development.

"Even if all cities would be better off if no cities offered abatements, competition for business investment leads cities to offer this incentive because they do not trust other communities not to do so," Hazleton says.

While tax abatements do have their advantages, they also have drawbacks. A number of academic studies have found that abatements can lead to higher costs for taxpayers or raise the cost of public services.

"In addition, some analysts doubt the need for property tax abatements to attract new industry because taxes represent a small part of doing business," Hazleton says. "Texans have heard both sides of the abatement debate in the past and will probably hear more in the future," says Hazleton.

"Property tax abatements have become an important public policy issue in Texas because of the state's unique tax structure and its heavy reliance on property taxes to fund public schools."

Hazleton says that local governments must decide if the benefits of offering abatements exceed the costs.

"...Some analysts doubt the need for property tax abatements to attract new industry."

"Given the current school funding policy, tax abatements granted by local school districts in many cases can impose additional expense on the state.

This gives the state a vested interest in ensuring that these abatements pass economic muster," he says. "At a minimum, they should generate sufficient state and local tax revenues to offset their costs."

Interest rates squeeze mid-priced homes

Mid-priced homes are the most vulnerable to interest rate increases, according to the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

"Homes in the $80,000 to $100,000 bracket are especially vulnerable," says Jack C. Harris, a research economist with the Center.

"A combination of factors makes the mid-price range more sensitive to rate changes than either lower- or higher-priced homes."

Rising interest rates affect the distribution of sales in two ways.

"Homes in the $80,000 to $100,000 bracket are especially vulnerable."

Combined with mortgage qualifying rules, higher rates tend to ration loans by making it harder for some to obtain financing.

"Lower-range buyers most often have smaller cash reserves that force them to take higher ratio loans. Their incomes strain the limits used by lenders to qualify borrowers for mortgage loans.

Any rise in rates washes many of these buyers out of the market, thereby thinning sales for lower-priced homes," he says.

"Buyers in higher price brackets have more cash to invest from previous home sales, and this reduces the impact of higher interest rates."

This "rationing" effect should shift the distribution of sales upward. Higher rates also force prices downward across the board.

"As demand weakens, sales tend to occur at lower prices. Either buyers move downward in their aspirations, or sellers become more accommodating and lower their prices," Harris says.

"This pricing down tends to shift the distribution downward. The net result of rationing and pricing down is to squeeze sales in the mid price ranges toward the upper and lower ends.

"Knowledge of interest rate sensitivity has practical applications," he says.

"Knowing that some parts of the market are more sensitive to interest rates helps the real estate firm anticipate changes in sales, particularly for those firms specializing in certain neighborhoods or types of houses."

Landlocked?

New state statute may provide relief with access roads

Access to landlocked Texas property finally may be easier if a new statute survives almost certain legal challenges, says an attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

"The new law states that a person who owns real property having no public access may request that a road be built to connect the property to the county public road system," says Judon Fambrough.

"An application for public access is required and must designate the route sought, include the names and residential locations of the persons affected by the proposed road and describe why the road is necessary."

County commissioners review the application and determine if the applicant's property is landlocked. They can issue an order declaring routes for a public road.

"The declared route may not be less than 15 feet or more than 30 feet on either side of the designated line," he says.

"Any marked trees or other objects used to designate the lines or corners of the survey may not be removed or defaced."

Fambrough says the new law closely resembles a similar statute that was declared unconstitutional in 1962. However, to date no constitutional challenges have reached the appellate courts.

"Perhaps after 30 years, the legislature feels that the courts, when again presented with the question, may find a constitutional public use by affording members of the community a way to and from their lands," says Fambrough.

Drought won't have long-term affects on land value

Farmers and ranchers who tough out the drought may discover that risk does reap rewards, says Charles E. Gilliland, associate research economist with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

"Despite the drought's impact on vegetation and livestock in recent months," he says, "the long-run demand for rural land will not be permanently weakened as rainfall patterns return to normal. Farmers who successfully negotiate the more dangerous operating conditions may seek to control the greater risk levels by acquiring good quality land and driving up values."

In the long run, Gilliland says changes in the federal farm program are more troubling than the drought.

"Analysts agree that the changes in farm policy will increase average income for farmers but will also result in increased risk," he says.

"Ranch land owners probably will see steady demand for their lands. Economists do not foresee a recession in the next year, and urban incomes that support many rangeland markets may well continue to increase," Gilliland says. "These markets are likely to continue to offer diminishing supplies of good quality tracts with an active pool of potential buyers searching out their ideal ranch. These conditions probably will persist in the long term and well as in the short

"Even though the long-term outlook is positive for rural lands, a lot of rain would greatly improve the less-than-optimistic, drought-stricken short run," says Gilliland. "All it would take to turn things around in the agricultural sector is for some good, heavy rains to replenish the ground water and some time for producers to recover their losses...."

Look for medical deductions on home improvements

Home improvements can provide medical deductions that lower income tax liability under certain circumstances, says a tax expert with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

Taxpayers can successfully secure medical deductions for swimming pools, whirlpools, elevators, humidity control equipment and air conditioning units," says Dr. Jerrold J. Stern, a research fellow with the Center and professor of accounting at Indiana University.

"For homeowners with significant health-care needs, the after-tax cost of health-care home improvements is lower if they generate tax savings," Stern says. "Actual tax savings depend on the amount of the taxpayer's other uninsured medical expenses, annual income and increased home value resulting from the improvement."

Two rules govern health-care deductions for home improvements. First, the taxpayer must prove that the improvement is medically necessary. Second, the deduction is limited to the "excess of the minimum reasonable cost of a functionally adequate facility" greater than the increase in home value resulting from a functionally adequate facility.

Stern says that, when planning to claim such deductions, the taxpayer should consider medical evidence, such as photographs, background of the problem and treatment strategies.

"As a general rule for any potentially controversial deduction," he says, "more documentation is always better than less. Appraisal and cost records also should be considered." For more information, send $2 to the Real Estate Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115 and request the reprint "Medical Deductions: Home Remedies." Beware of mandatory disclosure, defect law

Researchers say that mandatory disclosure of a home's defects by the seller only works some of the time.

A survey conducted last year of 900 buyers in Summit County, Ohio, found that 44 percent of the respondents asked their real estate agents for explanations of disclosure form items. Forty-two percent of the buyers received the disclosure form the first time they viewed a home, and 5.6 percent saw the form at closing.

The study reveals that one-fourth of the potential buyers chose not to buy the home after seeing the disclosure form. One in five buyers used the form to negotiate a reduced selling price. After seeing the disclosure, more than 45 percent of new home owners discovered defects in the residence not mentioned in the seller's disclosure.

The most frequently nondisclosed items included problems in the basement and crawl space, drainage, water supply, structural and mechanical areas.

Real estate experts suggest that sellers should be present when the property inspector is completing the tour of the house because it may reduce problems after closing.

Where the seniors are, and where they're going

Not all senior citizens move to Florida or Arizona upon retirement. Recent research reveals just the opposite.

A survey of 1,500 members of the American Association of Retired Persons concludes that 84 percent of senior citizens choose to stay in their current residence after retirement. They have definite ideas about their neighbors, too.

According to Karen Martin Gibler of Mercer University and George Moschis of Georgia State University, 86 percent of seniors responding to the survey indicated they want to live in neighborhoods with diverse age groups. "Young people keep you young," is a popular saying among those seniors who prefer not to surround themselves with people their own age. Only 14 percent of survey respondents say they would like to live in retirement-aged neighborhoods.

Of the less than 8 percent who say they want to relocate, 36 percent prefer to live in small towns, 26 percent prefer country settings, 23 percent like suburbs and 12 percent favor city locations.

Seniors also prefer homes with quality construction, top grade appliances, unique window treatments and landscaping. For more information on seniors' housing preferences, send $2 to the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University and request reprint NR-I 104, "Senior Homebuyers: Retired but Not Retiring."

Swails pleads guilty

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Kevin Swails, 35, the man accused of killing Lakehills resident Waldo Blanke, has pleaded guilty to the charge of capital murder and received a life sentence in District Judge Stephen Ables court last Monday, July 29.

Swails and Connie Swails, 34, both of Lakehills, were accused in the death of the 80-year-old man, found strangled in his home on Oct. 1, 1994.

Swails, who will be transported to the Texas Department of Criminal Justice sometime in the next couple of weeks, is no stranger to the Texas prison system. In the early 1980s he was convicted of burglary and spent time behind bars for that felony.

Connie Swails has had minor brushes with the law in the past.

Under the guidelines of Swails' sentencing, he will not be eligible for parole for at least 40 years.

"That is just his first parole hearing," Sheriff James MacMillan said. "It is doubtful that he will get it."

If Swails had chosen to face a jury trial, he faced the possibility of receiving the death penalty for the heinous crime.

According to sources, Blanke knew his killers and had hired Kevin Swails in the past to do yard work for him.

One of Swails' attorneys, Preston Douglas of Kerrville, said some issues raised at pre-trial hearings caused the state to back down on their request

State looks into nursing home complaints

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

A state survey of The Clark House nursing home in Bandera was conducted last week by the Texas Department of Human Services Long Term Care Regulatory office after complaints were lodged against the home.

"We had eight alleged complaints," said David Byers, administrator of the facility.

Byers, who came on board in December, admitted he has no experience as a nursing home administrator. Previously he owned a grocery store and said his volunteer work with caring for the elderly had led him to his new career.

A disgruntled ex-employee who was fired is probably who called in the complaints, according to Byers.

The results of the inspection showed a deficiency in temperature control inside the nursing home.

State guidelines state that the temperature inside the home must stay between 71-81°.

"They found the dining room to be 83°," Byers said. "They substantiated that complaint."

He claimed that he was already aware of the problem.

"We were reacting to this heat problem before they even stepped foot in the door," he said. "We have had no complaints from the residents about heat."

Some of the measures the home has taken to combat the heat, have been the addition of vents around the home to remove the heat from the ceiling, booster fans in the ducts, and the purchase of two window units for the front room and the dining room.

He also said that the air conditioning had been serviced recently.

Another complaint claimed that cigarette smoke was apparent in the halls. Byers blamed this on the ventilator in the employee break room.

"It is not doing its job," he said.

To correct the situation, Byers said that except for the few residents who smoke, the facility has become a smoke-free environment, with employees who smoke doing so outside.

In May, The Clark House underwent its annual inspection from the state, and although there were numerous citations in various areas, Byers claimed that overall it was a good rating, and said steps had been implemented to correct the problems.

In the annual report, under the heading "Quality of Care," several residents were found to be nutritionally compromised,

STATE 4-H WINNER -- Stephanie Byrd, 15, of Bandera won All-Around Texas State Champion at the recent Texas 4-H State Rodeo. She won first in pole bending and in the stake race with a record time of 8.16 seconds. Byrd also placed 5th in barrels to cinch the title. The win against 170 competitors earned her a saddle and two buckles. The previous week Byrd won first in the straight away event at the Stan Guthrie Memorial Rodeo in Brady, bringing home another saddle. Byrd is the daughter of Buddy and Karon Byrd.

Benefit sale planned for Cardenas family Saturday

After many long days of silence and minimal response, young Jesse Cardenas has begun to show much prayed for improvements in injuries in an ATV-related accident near Bandera.

Last week mobility began to return enabling him to walk with assistance, and his ability to speak has also returned. He now recognizes family and friends and can recall their names with prompting. He was allowed to visit home one day last week on a "day pass" from Santa Rosa Children's Hospital. The length of time for his rehabilitation has not yet been determined however.

Expenses for medical emergencies such as Jesse's are never fully covered by medical insurance. There the usual "deductibles" as well as other unusual expenses incurred by the family.

In accidents such as Jesse's there are costs of rehabilitation to be dealt with which exceed insurance limitations. There are also the "expenses" to the heart and soul of the family during the hours of uncertainty following such a tragedy.

"The entire community is invited to join in an effort to show the Cardenas family 'We Care,' " said Linda Balson. "A benefit garage sale will be held August 10, 1996 from 9:00 a.m. till 2:00 p.m. at the Bandera Bank Community Room to raise funds to assist Jesse's family in dealing with those deductibles and unusual expenses."

Donations of items for the sale are needed as well as participation in the set up and on the day of the sale.

Please contact Balson at 460-3220 or JoAnn Peterson at 796-3932 if you have donations of time or items to be sold. Pick up of items can be arranged, dropped off at Hevenor's Lumber during regular business hours, or brought to the Bandera Bank Community Room at 3-6 p.m. on Friday, August 9.

"The accounts set up at Bandera Bank and at First State Bank are also available for those of you who wish to make a direct monetary donation to show your support," said Balson.

Commissioners consider unified county road plan

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Bandera County Commissioners Court heard about the benefits of a unified road system from Leonard Odem Wednesday, July 31. Odem is the road supervisor for Kerr County.

Odem addresses the commissioners during a working budget session as they look for ways to cut county expenses.

"The road and bridge budget for Kerr County was higher in 1986 than it is now," said Odem.

Bandera County Auditor Tommy Tomlinson, who also works for Kerr County, confirmed Odem's cost efficient system. "His budget has been practically flat for several years," said Tomlinson. The road and bridge budget in Kerr County increased one percent last year.

Commissioner Bennie Barker commented, "Our road and bridge budgets go up 15 percent a year."

Odem told commissioners that some of the techniques he uses to cut costs include contracting out on scrapers and trac-loader work on an hourly basis, getting an annual bid on materials and supplies and setting priorities for road work.

The Kerr County operation runs on a 10 year maintenance cycle. Odem also manages the Kerr County maintenance shop.

"The unitized system is only as good as the person in charge and the plan of priorities," said Odem. "You may need a full time supervisor, part-time just someone to help you set up the system."

Odem encouraged computerizing all records to keep track of maintenance of machinery, complaints, and paving and grading schedules.

Odem said he realized switching over to the unitized system was a major change. "It's a real tough decision to give up a responsibility of the commissioner to someone who is not elected," he said.

"The unitized system is only as good as the person in charge and the plan of priorities."
–Leonard Odem

In a unitized road system all four precincts would combine their equipment, crews and budgets into one operation under the direction of a supervisor.

An example of possible savings was pointed out by Odem in the equipment inventory. Bandera County has four trac-loaders. "Do you run all four at once?" asked Odem. "Probably not. So get rid of two and get something you really need."

Odem also recommended hiring qualified crew people and paying them what they are worth. "If you put a $6 and hour guy on a $150,000 machine, you're looking at $50,000 in repairs," said Odem.

In the unitized system maintenance of equipment is a priority, said Odem. "If you have a piece of machinery down, you've got three men standing around idle. That's expensive."

Odem also encouraged commissioners to know how many miles of roads they have and keep track of it, adding on as new subdivisions open up. He also recommended that subdivision rules be updated to put the major cost of new roads on the developer. "Make them do the road signs, guardrails, and other expenses."

Leonard Odem, road supervisor for Kerr County, explains to Bandera County Commissioners how the unified road system has saved money for Kerr County taxpayers.

In other budget discussions, the commissioners agreed to drop a proposed $2,500 a year raise in their own salaries.

"We won't take a higher raise than the standard raise we approve for all county employees," said Commissioner Ralph Chancy.

and some had developed sores.

Byers said that one patient with sores had come into the facility that way from a Houston nursing home, and another had been laying on a special mattress that was improperly installed.

Under the heading "Dietary Services" complaints included failure to maintain sanitary conditions in the dietary department.

In one finding, inspectors discovered that dated products such as sour cream and diced turkey, which had been opened, were not marked by the date they had been opened.

In other findings, surveyors noted that the freezer temperature, which is required to be monitored daily, had not been recorded for two months, also that there was a build up of dirt and grime along the bottom of cabinets.

Byers said he had corrected these citations, and had hired a certified dietary technician to get a handle on the problems.

Other state citations included medication carts not properly stored, and soiled linens being improperly handled.

Byers said that he has reported to the state the ways he has fixed these problems, and that while the team was here last week, they checked up on his claims.

"They found us clear," he said.

He said part of the problem was getting the staff to cooperate with the state standards.

Food assistance plan needs Bandera location

The Community Council of South Central Texas, Inc. is setting up an emergency food assistance program for families in need in Bandera County. The program will be [illegible] Bandera for the distribution.

According to coordinator Cornelia Rue, this is not the old [illegible] program, but a new program.

"Each month 30 pounds of preboxed food will be distributed to each qualifying household," said Rue. "The pre-packaged boxes will contain assorted food items [illegible]."

Supplies are limited and will be issued on a first-come first-served basis.

All applicants must bring proof of income, proof of residency and identification. The program is available to Bandera County residents only.

Rue is currently in the process of setting up distribution points in the county for the program, which she hopes will eventually serve 400 households. "We need a distribution site in Bandera," said Rue. "The site needs to have parking, tables and be handicapped accessible. There will be no need for storage space and we will not leave any trash.

We will need to use the building for approximately four hours one day a month."

Contact [illegible] at The Bandera County Helping Hand at 796-3600 or [illegible] at 796-2124.

The food will be distributed in Medina at the First Baptist Church, in Pipe Creek at the First Baptist Church and in Lakehills at the American Legion Hall.

Council will purchase the food under a contract with the Texas Department of [illegible].

Grandparents are real Olympic winners

In Walmart I stood next in line to some real Olympic winners. Oh, there was no TV crew following them begging for an interview, but to me [illegible] were flashing. Here was a soft, gentle mother, loving grandmother, great-grandmother in fact. Three grandchildren, all under 10, fidgeted around her and asked for various candies while a great-grandson sat in the cart in the infant seat being pushed by a loving, and tired, granddad.

They were from the Valley, vacationing in the Hill Country in an RV. I told her that in my books, they were the real heroes. Without fanfare, day after day, they give their time, energy, and money to do something that will be more lasting than any gold medal in Atlanta.

With no drum rolls, no majestic orchestrated music, no morning talk show interviews, these grandparents are doing quietly and unnoticed a behind-the-scenes job no one else wants. Scores of hopefuls are in the wings, drooling anxiously to replace the Olympic medal winners four years from now. But who's going to replace these self-sacrificing grandparents?

No one will likely ask them for an autograph or ask them to write a book of their memoirs. And Wheaties boxes probably won't show their smiling faces.

But thank God for people like this. Their kids will carry these memories with them their whole entire lives, even when they have become parents and grandparents themselves. I think I really did stand in line next to the real American heroes, the winners who will never have anyone anytime anywhere replace them — not in four years or forty years. Their gold medal will never be taken by a younger, stronger, faster competitor, and it can't get lost or stolen. Their gold medal isn't hidden deep in the hearts and smiles of their children and grandchildren. I think I did stand next to some real Olympic winners.

School concerns

Dear Editor:

Regarding the intentions of the BISD school board to acquire Bandera Downs and build a new high school, the voter of the district should be aware of the following:

1. During a winter workshop, the board considered improvements to the middle school the top priority. No mention was made of a new high school, and board estimates were that the job could be done for about three million dollars. Subsequently that figure climbed to over five million dollars.

2. When Mr. Allen offered Bandera Downs at auction, the top bid was about six hundred thousand. According to the Express News, and local TV stations, Mr. Allen had a reserve of one million six hundred thousand. It appears that our board is willing to offer about double what the man was willing to take just a couple of months ago.

3. The 1997 legislature will consider proposals from the Governor to reduce the school finance burden of property owners. We won't know for some time the exact details of the Governor's proposal, or the legislative outcome, but it certainly seems prudent to hold off on bond elections, and so forth, until we do know. It isn't likely that any legislative relief for new school construction will be grandfathered for districts which have already "bitten the bullet" to finance new facilities.

The school board ought to hold their horses for a while. They ought to find out where the real center of the school population is; it certainly isn't Bandera. They ought to figure ways of centralizing facilities, rather than proliferating them; we don't need five campuses, ten principals and assistant principals, and [illegible]

Use water carefully

Dear Editor:

As I sat in Arlington, Texas Saturday night, tired from a full day of meetings and banquets, I watched the late news. Imagine my surprise when the news anchor stated those in drought areas of Texas are trying to make it rain.

"In Bandera, Texas, today they held a rain parade," he said. Then they showed a short clip of our parade.

I was surprised and delighted that the efforts in our little town were being broadcast around the state. The clip caused my mind to question why people in Dallas-Forth Worth, who have had over 10 inches of rain since June 1, would even care about our community.

My second thought was, I wish the local citizens who continue to water their lush green lawns and flowers would realize the importance of our local situation.

They may not live in the city limits, but their actions do affect all of us.

Creeks and wells are drying up. Please, people, wake up!

What a party!

Dear Editor:

What a day, what an event the Wranglin' for Rain turned out to be. Just right for a good old-timey, small town batch of fun.

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and their volunteers need to be thanked and congratulated for their imagination, resourcefulness and success in putting on a fun event for everyone, including visitors from England.

It was and will be seen and heard over the range of San Antonio TV and radio and shortly to be nationwide.

What publicity for Bandera! Priceless.

No meters from Springhills

Dear Editor:

The board of directors of the Springhills Water Management District are getting a lot of questions about our Water Conservation Committee's purpose. Somehow word that we are planning to meter private wells has been spread around. This has never been discussed other than it being what the Edwards Underground District might be considering for their aquifer.

The SWMD board is not in favor of anything that would infringe on private property rights. We do need more wells to use as monitoring sites to track the water levels and water quality of the Trinity Aquifer across Bandera County.

People seem to be afraid of SWMD getting access to their wells and then using them for some bad purpose, such as metering.

Our only purpose as a water management district is to protect the quantity and quality of our district's water resources. This is the purpose of the committee which I chair. We welcome any comments from the public which might help us carry out our goals. Our next meeting is Thursday, Aug. 8 at 7 p.m. at the Springhills office.

The first hour will be open to the public for comments and then the committee would like the rest of the evening to work towards our goal.

If you have any questions, call your SWMD director or me and we will try to answer. If we don't know the answer, we'll try to find it.

Judge Edward M. Ross was a native of New York. He was a veteran of the Mexican War.

He enjoyed his military service and reenlisted and for a long time was stationed at Camp Verde during his service in the military. He decided that the location had a great future and he decided to locate in the area.

He established a ranch, engaged in raising sheep, cattle and horses.

He was also one of the pioneer school teachers of San Antonio, living there in the early 1850's.

Ross served as county judge of Bandera County several terms.

July Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

Although I missed the Bungy-type of thing.

And as the thing was not into Wrangling" on Saturday I understand that the event was a huge success, at least as far as a whole bunch of free publicity for Bandera goes.

And you may not believe this, but the idea for that event was the brainchild of the Bandera Bulletin's own publisher Sean French.

It was actually on a Tuesday, a few weeks back, when Sean said out loud to no-one in particular, "What we need is a rain dance!"

Those of you who are familiar with us on a Tuesday know how that simple statement could and did easily spiral into greater and greater embellishments of imagination.

Editor Carolyn Edwards chimed in with "It sounds like a thing happened here in Bandera that was covered by three San Antonio TV stations, picked up by sister, brother, mother, and father stations all [illegible] daily getting reports from people who have relatives far and wide that saw a clip of Bandera's Parade for Rain, as they are calling it), radio stations, and lots of just plain folks who had a great time.

Wow!

You know, maybe I haven't given enough credit to the imagination and creativity of my fellow workmates. It is awesome when it is unleashed. Maybe the Chamber of Commerce honchos should make use of this FREE local talent to promote Bandera more often!

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

It didn't surprise me to learn that Hillary Rodham walks the long and lonely halls of the White House chatting with Eleanor Roosevelt.

Maybe it's a girl-thing. I suspect most of us women "chat" with someone from time to time. And as strongly as they might deny it, I've seen a few men moving their lips in imaginary conversations now and then, too.

I got to thinking over the phenomenon, making a mental list of my frequent talk-time partners. I was surprised to discover that I generally have my little chats with men. That probably means something to a psychologist, but I don't want to know what.

I can plop myself down on a chunk of Glen Rose limestone and watch the cracks forming on the bottom of my pond and call up old Hank Thoreau.

"H.D.," I say, "I'm having trouble simplifying my life.

"I have to go to work every day because my kids like to eat and the school and the government want tax money.

"There are some taxes I think are too high, Hank, but I'm really not willing to spend a couple of nights in James MacMillan's jail to protest them.

"Have you tried pencil making?" H.D. asks.

"It just doesn't pay the way it used to," I say.

When I'm in the mood for romance, I like to talk to Ben Franklin, who taught the French how to flirt back during the American Revolution.

Actually, I don't do any of the talking with Benji. I just sit back and let him tell me how wonderful he thinks I am. Every once in awhile I flutter my eyelashes in a provocative way. Benji prefers fans, but who owns a fan these days?

When he gets those blue eyes twinkling behind those cute little glasses of his, I just melt.

When he gets a little too fresh, I just smile at him and say in my best Greta Garbo smoked voice, "Bibi, go fly a kite."

When the household suffers those little mechanical breakdowns from time to time, I call up the ghost of Tom Jefferson. "Tommy," I say, "how could we fix this? Could we rig up some kind of pulley-thing that would swing the condiments out of the fridge and onto the table when we open the refrigerator door?"

Unfortunately, Tommy usually has a splitting headache and isn't much help.

Crackdown on Dirty Money

State Capital HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales said his office will provide banks with updated information and training to help detect drug money laundering schemes.

Up to 80 percent of the cocaine entering the U.S. each year crosses the Texas-Mexico border and an estimated $35 billion in illegal drug money is laundered in Texas each year, Morales told the Associated Press.

Christopher Williston of the Independent Bankers Association of Texas pledged that community banks would work to battle the money laundering, and Gregory Crane, president of Broadway National Bank and chairman of the Texas Bankers [illegible] assured the group of bank presidents who would knowingly launder money.

"My office and the Texas banking community have pledged to work closely with each other and with other law enforcement agencies to keep the dirty money out of the state," Morales said.

His office's financial crime division has access to U.S. Treasury information on money transactions and has been studying suspicious money transfers.

Colonia Aid Falls Short

Colonias along the Texas-Mexico border desperately need basic services that most Texans take for granted.

State, federal and private sources have contributed $750 million to a water and sewage plan, but to get the job done, it will take a billion dollars to provide water and sewage services to those 1,500 substandard subdivisions.

At an Austin conference, last week, state officials and colonia residents discussed ways to come up with the $250 million that is still needed.

Dan Torres, who coordinates colonia projects for the state attorney general's office, said a way to make up the difference would be to call a bond election, but added, "The question is whether there is the political will in the mid-1990s to approve something like that — the consensus is probably not."

Meanwhile, organizers are working on recommendations, such as asking private foundations to help, creating a board to guide public and private projects and seeking designation as a "federal empowerment zone" for the border area to help raise money.

Judges Eye Congressional Maps

A three-judge federal panel in Houston has received congressional redistricting maps from Democratic defendants, Republican plaintiffs and others in three predominantly minority districts in Dallas and Houston.

The U.S. Supreme Court in June upheld the Houston court's ruling declaring the district unconstitutional because race was the main factor in their creation.

The judges will decide by Aug. 8 whether they will void the March congressional primaries and order special elections in re-mapped districts.

Other Capital Highlights

• The U.S. Taxpayers Party has gathered the 48,962 required signatures to earn a spot on the November general election ballot in Texas, following a ruling by Texas Secretary of State Tony Garza. The party wants political commentator [illegible] as its presidential nominee.

Once again, Raleigh Moses sends from the hills of Wyatt [illegible] another priceless remini[illegible] to Texas

"When life was real and experience direct and pure. Please write a book, Raleigh! Meanwhile, here is another [illegible] of his unfinished longhand sprawling across yell[illegible]

"Ummm, the taste of agarita berry jelly! How good it was! I recall the taste like no other jelly. But my fingertips still remember the pain of picking out the berries from the spiny leaves after I helped my mother and Grandmother Smith beat the bushes to collect the berries and debris on an old sheet. (We can't admit to Raleigh that after all our big talk, occupations with indoor trivia kept us from getting berries last May. Now they're gone."

"And I remember Ellen Schulz Quillin (longtime director of Witte Museum in SA) though I never met her personally. As I write I have before me the ragged dog-eared copy of her Texas Wildflowers which I carried about the Tarpley area to identify wildflowers in the summer of 1932. Mae Beth "Peggy" Warren and I married during Christmas vacation in 1931. After a brief honeymoon in San Antonio, she returned to teach in Crane and I returned to Hewitt. Those were the days of the Great Depression so we were lucky to have jobs. In Crane, a barrel of water was worth more than a barrel of oil. (It probably is in 1996, too.)

"In the summer of 1932, we spent our real honeymoon living in a tent in Bandera County on the ranch of Lucius and Annie Hicks.

"We spent much of our time studying the wildflowers of the area, using the book by Ellen D. Schulz. My old copy still has many notes of dates and places where we found certain flowers. When we could not identify a flower, we would mail a specimen to Mrs. Quillin. We found a few which she had not included in her book, but she identified them for us.

"We also gathered specimens of ferns which we mailed to Dr. E.N. Jones, who was then Professor of Botany at Baylor University and was teaching a class in the taxonomy of ferns. Later he was for many years president of Texas Tech at Lubbock.

"Tagging after me as I hunted squirrels and rabbits, and after us as we searched for plants, was a little boy who had lost his mother and whom Lucius and Annie Hicks were raising. On his birthday, Peggy and I gave him a small lariat with a real "hondo." We called him Junior. I still do. You know him as Judge Tom Grant.

"We could not foresee that our honeymoon would last 60 years during which we raised six children. In retirement we saw much of the world before cancer took Peggy in 1992."

Beautiful. Raleigh then includes a copy of an old snapshot showing his camp on the Lucius Hicks Ranch and says, "An all purpose table was built under the tall tree. A large tool box served as a bench. The trees in the background were over an Indian mound or kitchen midden. Though I excavated part of this I found nothing but fire-blackened rocks. The tent faced a deep rocky ravine. The spring that supplied our water was across the ravine. A clear pool at the bottom of the ravine served as a bath tub.

"It was in this tent that we weathered the flood of July 1932 when 18 inches of rain fell in 36 hours on the Hicks Ranch. Our breakfast one morning during the rain was a can of pork and beans.

Swinford holding one-woman show

Merrilee Swinford's new and creative art will be on display at Hill Country Art Gallery from Aug. 10 until Aug.31, 1996.

It is difficult to describe the Bandera artist's work. Of course [illegible] loose with some acrylics or watercolors or even a computer and she will produce fun, exciting, colorful, unique pieces.

There will be a reception to begin the showing at Hill Country Art Gallery on August 15 which just happens to be the artist's birthday! "So come between 4:30 and 6:00 to meet Merrilee, enjoy her work and join in the birthday celebration," said gallery owner Judith Hooper. "All items on display will be available to purchase."

Congressman's rep here Friday

1996 Property Tax Rates in BANDERA I.S.D

This notice concerns 1996 property tax rates for Bandera school district. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the school district used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the school district can set before it must hold a rollback election. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes and state funds by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 5,435,611.
Last year's debt taxes	$ 632,908.
Last year's total taxes	$ 6,068,519.
Last year's tax base	$ 401,446,010
Last year's total tax rate	1.55836	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 5,723,320.
÷ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 379,000,875
= This year's effective tax rate	1.5101	/$100
x 1.03 = maximum rate unless the school district publishes notices and holds hearing	$ 1.5554	/$100

This year's rollback rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes	$ 5,102,352.
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 379,000,875
= This year's local maintenance and operating rate	$ 1.347	/$100
x Student enrollment adjustment	1.091

= This year's debt rate	$ 0.15206	/$100
+ Rate to recoup loss certified by commissioner of education	$ 0.00	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ 1.70156	/$100

For a school district with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rate for pollution control	$
= Rollback tax rate	$

Board looking for cuts in $10 million school budget

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Superintendent Gus "Skip" Pfeiffer presented a proposed [illegible] budget to school board members Tuesday night [illegible] board members will begin looking for places to make cuts in that budget to avoid a tax increase.

[illegible] $1,313,462 increase over the 1995-96 original budget and makes no provision for an increase in the fund balance, said Pfeiffer.

The fund balance is a reserve balance kept to cover operating expenses for approximately three months. The fund balance provides funds for payment of the district's bills when revenue is slow in coming in. Although the fund balance recommended for Bandera ISD is $2.5 million, the district will have a balance of only $1.5 million.

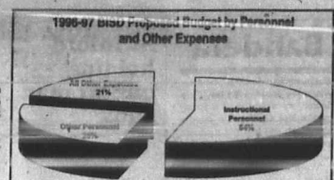
Pfeiffer told the board that he and the school district business manager Barbara LeStourgeon had gone over the budget and made as many cuts as they could find. "Although this budget includes many compromises, it contains sufficient dollars to fund a quality education," Pfeiffer told the board.

The proposed budget includes salaries for 23 more teachers than 1995-96. It also provides for an increase over last year's teachers' budgeted salaries of about 5 percent. Pfeiffer reported. While the amount the district will pay to teachers over the state minimum is determined from $1,000 to $500, all teachers will receive varying state-mandated salary increases.

"Overall, the budgeted amount of teacher salaries for 1995-97 increased by $743,554 over last year," said Pfeiffer. "State-mandated increases plus the additional teachers make up $658,154 of the total increase."

The proposed budget also includes a $159,531 increase in health insurance premiums with the district paying $89 per employee. Last year the district paid $50 per employee on health insurance premiums.

The budget is based on a projected enrollment of 2,257 students.



The school gets about 58 percent of its revenue from local sources and 42 percent from the state.

Board member Scott Middleton looked at the proposed budget and said, "If we cut anything, it has to be in personnel to have any effect at all on this budget." Personnel costs make up about 78 percent of the total budget.

Trustee Pat Cleaver pointed out that three extra teachers were budgeted for growth. "We might be able to get by without those," Cleaver said.

Bandera principal Sandy North then informed the board that she had enrolled 30 new students that very day.

The Bandera ISD board will hold a budget hearing at 7 p.m. on Aug. 13.

Questions and answers regarding BISDs long-range plan.

8. If I found 100 flat acres on Hwy. 16, would the district consider it instead of the racetrack and would it save taxpayers any money?

The District would consider any viable alternative solution to our growth problems. Although considerable effort has been expended, suitable property has not been found. But if it became available, the architects have reported that it would cost about $400,000 less to build a brand new facility, bring electricity, drill a well, put in a sewer plant, fence it, pave a parking area, and bring in phone lines. This is assuming that about 10 acres of highway frontage land could be purchased for about $5,000 per acre.

If this new site were found, however the District would not have the opportunity to move the bus fleet out of town, move the maintenance facility, and move the central offices, all of which would provide for additional space at the current Middle School and High School. It would also not have a covered football station or a new football stadium of any type.

9. We already have a football stadium. Why would we need another?

The fence enclosing the field itself is dangerous to players due to the closeness of the fence to the sidelines. It is becoming difficult to seat all of Bandera's fans already, although some of the schools we now play do not bring many spectators. The stadium seats about 1,500. Some people are beginning to stay away from football games because of the lack of parking we have at our stadium. The visiting team's dressing facilities are not adequate. In about three years, the high school enrollment will be over 700 students, enough to make BHS a 4A school starting in the fall of 2000. We will be playing larger schools that will bring more fans to our stadium. The racetrack stands seat about 2,500 under cover.

10. If we are growing that fast, how big is the proposed high school going to be?

The architect will plan "core" facilities (library, cafeteria, auditorium, band hall, gymnasium, and office space) for 1,500 students. The reason for overbuilding these facilities is that they are impractical to add on to later. They are planning classroom space for 800 students. If designed properly, the same classrooms could accommodate up to 1,000 by adjusting the student/teacher ratio, although this would not be educationally sound. More classroom space is not planned now, because it would be underutilized or unused for an extended period of time. As the new high school grows beyond that capacity, additional classrooms could be added at relatively little cost.

This little Brindle-colored puppy on the right is the sweetest, gentlest little guy, I can attest to that. He would make anyone a good, loving pet, and he won't get much bigger. Please, if you can make some room in your home and heart, go see this little pup, he will steal your heart! On the left, a gorgeous collie who also needs a good home. Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Sylvia Saffell

The hot summer sun may be beating down in Bandera County, but each and every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, you'll find a cool spot at the Silver Sage Corral to get your heart rate going in the exercise class.

This wise group knows what it takes to stay fit as a fiddle!

Tuesday finds the ever-faithful quilters creating a work of art which will eventually be sold or auctioned. Many hours and a lot of love go into each quilt that comes off the frame.

Over in the weaving room more creations are made on the looms, while music practice by the Melodiers goes on in the main room.

And although the Heritage Study Group is on summer break, Wednesday mornings will find a few members sitting sharing conversation over coffee. They have a difficult time staying away!

And while we're working on our recycled greeting cards, folks visit the Gift Shop and admire the cards which have just been completed.

Thursday mornings will find the quilters teaching school age students and one or two of the mothers to quilt. By summer's end each girl will have completed her first quilt design.

And a few feet away, the crochet class is learning an intricate new stitch.

Friday finds a great group of folks playing bridge.

And every weekday nearing the noon hour all volunteers for Meals on Wheels assemble to distribute lunch to all the homebound folks, not to mention the ladies in the kitchen preparing for the lunch group at the Center.

And if you haven't had breakfast at our First Friday Pancake and Taco Breakfast recently, you're missing some great food and a nice morning visit with friends.

A group of Heritage Group members accompanied by Ms. Betty spent a fun Saturday on a trip to New Braunfels, where they enjoyed a quilt show, lunch and what else, shopping!

Organizers of our own October quilt show began making plans during the ride home. We should have some pleasant surprises for everyone who attends this year. And be sure to stop by the Center to see the gorgeous "Grandmother's Fan" quilt the Heritage Study Group has made for this year's show.

Any member will be happy to sell you a raffle ticket.

Did I hear someone say the Silver Sage Corral is quiet during the summer?

TRIAD meeting: Thursday, Aug. 8 at 2 p.m.

Congressman Lamar Smith Outreach: Friday, Aug. 9 from 9:30 to 3:30 - "Come tell 'em how the 'gurment' should be run."

Second Sunday Social: Aug. 11 from 2 to 4 p.m. - featuring the Doc Meador Combo. "Let's boogie!"

There will be no line dancing during the month of August.

Four Generations.

Germania.
Grandpa bought his first Germania farm insurance policy the same year he bought his first Model T. He always said the Model T took a load off his horse and Germania took a load off his mind. He joined Germania because he liked the idea of farmers banding together to protect one another. But he stayed because Germania never let him down. Dad saw the farm through lots of changes. Some of them were pretty scary, but it helped knowing that a strong, reliable company like Germania was there if he needed it. Now that I'm raising my own kids, I know why Dad and Grandpa trusted Germania. It's good doing business with a homegrown Texas company that really understands Texans. Today, Germania provides the home, life, and auto insurance that my family needs. I'm proud to carry on two family traditions: farming and Germania insurance. They've been good to our family for generations. My kids may not end up on the farm, but if I've raised them right, they'll end up with Germania.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Ciarlo

Wednesday July 31, our daughter Judy [illegible] know that she and her husband were in Kerrville to drop off their grandaughter Ashley who had spent the summer with them in North Carolina.

The first thing Judy asked her mother was, "Are you going to bingo tonight?" The answer was yes so Bob and Judy headed to our house and off they went to the Lakeshore VFD fire house for their Wednesday night bingo. Judy enjoyed winning and seeing many of her friends there. The bingo nights are fund raisers for the VFD, so don't forget to come on out and help out the department while you have some fun.

On Friday, Aug. 2, our grandson Tim Hines and his wife Brenda and their three children arrived. The youngest is about two and showed enough energy to keep everybody on their toes. What would summer be without those visits from the grandchildren?

Betty and I just returned from another trip to Vegas and a side trip to Reno. [illegible] ask me how we did. We did not lose and had a good time visit lots of friends. The weather kept us inside most of the time, with temperatures getting up to 118 degrees in the afternoons.

We joined some friends for a show at the Westward Ho. Waiting for the curtain to go up the eight couples at our table got [illegible] salaries of ball players today. Prior to WWII, we did not pay as many games as they do today in the old National Basketball League. We had maybe two or three games a week. Most of us got $10 a game plus a little expense money. You needed another job to make a living.

Under the Order of Sale issued pursuant to each judgment above listed, I did at the levy specified for each suit levy upon each Property in such suit as described above as the property of the Defendants named or designated in such suit. On the sale date specified above, which is the first Tuesday of said month, I will offer and sell at public auction, for cash, each property described above, and all the right, title, interest and estate in and to each such property owned or claimed by the Defendants named in connection with each such property; PROVIDED, however, that no property shall be sold directly or indirectly to anyone other than a Tax Unit which is a party to that specific suit for less than the total amount of taxes, penalties, interest and costs due against that particular property or any adjudged value decreed, whichever is lower.

The Foreclosure Sales under this Notice will be held on the first Tuesday of said month, at the Courthouse door of said County, at the time set out above, by and through the PARMER, STEIN & YOUNG, P.C., 3001 N. The sale as to each property is to be made to satisfy the Judgment rendered against that particular property and the Defendants named in connection with that particular property. The proceeds of the Sale of each property are to be applied to the satisfaction of the Judgment against that particular property and the remainder of the sale proceeds, if any, are to be applied as the law directs.

What's Rustlin'

by Bunny

Bandera's Wranglin' the [illegible] was a huge success — except for one [illegible] Wednesday, and there's still no [illegible]. But otherwise, it was a typical Cowboy Capital event.

Cristy Kitchens' horse showed up with an umbrella hat and sunglasses, while Christy herself wore a slicker and an umbrella that dripped silver rain! The horse was a "reining" champion, said Christy.

Another [illegible] two slicker clad participants complete with clothesline with long underwear. A golf cart drove in with its own big black cloud and thunderbolt hanging over it.

Chris Davis' big black truck was so covered with mud we're just guessing at the color. Where did he and his cohorts find all that mud? Chris said they cleaned out the horse trough.

The stagecoach brought in local and San Antonio dignitaries and the BHS cheerleaders and future cheerleaders led in shouts for R-A-I-N!

A large group gathered on the courthouse lawn and joined in prayers led by various local ministers for rain. Many denominations were represented and included prayers delivered in Spanish and with an Irish accent! How American can you get.

Melvin King showed everybody how to "witch" for water, or dousing, as it's called.

Then the crowd enthusiastically joined in the cow chip toss, the clothes washing relay and the watermelon seed spitting contest. Then, just to tempt the rain clouds a bit more, an unfrocked preacher led our worthy publisher and an innocent young girl in a mock wedding ceremony worth lots of laughs.

And the whole crowd joined in "Singing for the Rain." The amount of lemonade drunk and the amount of watermelon seeds spit all over the courthouse lawn was [illegible] out of their jobs at the courthouse to [illegible] it's over rains!

The publicity for Bandera that was generated by all this fun was fantastic. Channels 4, 5 and 29 carried the story several times and reports have come in from all over the state that heard about our rain wranglin'.

In September we'll be on Texas Country Reporter and Texas Trails up in Dallas. All of those reporters have been to Bandera many times — they love us!

Country Depot has a new owner and the first room going in has a lot of nice antiques and collectibles, so be sure to stop by.

We had lunch at the Cabaret on Saturday, and the food was decilish. I had a hamburger that was like an original WWII one, you know, huge and juicy. They've redone the dance floor and it was hard not to dance across it, it was so magnificent!

Fire department benefit raffle now under way

The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department's fall barbecue raffle tickets are available now. This raffle has prizes donated by our local supporters worth over $2,000.

Tickets are three for a dollar and are available from any fire department member.

The drawing will be held Sept. 1 at the fire house starting at 1 p.m. and there will be a drawing on the hour until 5 p.m. when the top prize of a 30.06 deer rifle or its equivalent cash value will be awarded.

The proceeds from the raffle join the barbecue proceeds in supporting the Medina Lake VFD in its mission of protecting lives and property.

Chris Davis, along with brother Chad and friend Cody North cleaned out the horse trough to make enough mud to win the "Dirtiest Vehicle" contest at Saturday's Rain Wranglin'.

New owners take over at USA Postal Center

Former owners, Mason, Sherry and Sugar Clark (front, left) assist at the ribbon cutting and grand opening of USA Postal Service now owned by Jimmy, Amber and Brittany Pitts (front, right). USA Postal Service can assist with all mailing needs, including packages. They also provide postal boxes. USA Postal is located at 805 Main St. next to Family Dollar. Also present for the event were friends, customers and Bandera County Chamber of Commerce members.

Over the Back Fence

by Marlon Holder

Hi, y'all! Here we are again, still very hot and [illegible]. We sit and watch the [illegible] pictures of thunderstorms moving across normally dry Midland-Odessa and wonder why they can't just drop a little lower and help us out down here.

We want to thank everyone for being fire safety conscious these last few months. The fire danger index is just about off the scale these days. We all have to be careful about our actions whether it is burning trash or using a cutting torch.

We had a close call last week at the Fred Mueller residence over in Bob's Cove. An electrical fire on a shelf over a water softener was probably self-extinguished when it melted through a water line. This water spray had the fire pretty well damped out when the fire fighters made their way through thick smoke into the garage.

The garage and a workroom sustained smoke and water damage while the inside of the house had light smoke damage and the occupants were able to return after a little airing.

The preparations for the Medina Lake VFD - Fall [illegible] are [illegible] by a dedicated group with everyone getting their assignments for the Labor Day weekend event. Bill Mooney and crew are laying in all the supplies that go into an event like this.

If anyone is interest in helping with the event, all help is welcomed.

Ready, set, go back to school & sports...

Michelle Dexter gets ready for a brand new volleyball season at camp Tuesday morning. Football practice starts Wednesday, and volleyball practice starts two-a-days on Monday.

New coach hopes for better Bobcat season

Coach Joe Salinas

Last year the Medina Bobcats were 0-10, and this year a new coach is hoping to turn that around.

Joe Salinas, the new head football and track coach at Medina School, comes from Orange Grove where he was the assistant varsity coach.

"I hope we can get some numbers out and be more competitive," he said. "So far this year we haven't had enough kids to fill a football team."

That was a large part of last year's Bobcat woes. The few kids that did turn out for football were plagued by injuries and accidents.

This year, Salinas plans to make a few changes. He has sent out 61 letters, and hopes to have at least 20-25 kids come out.

"We are going to incorporate an offense that is suitable for these kids," he said. "We will be more successful, have more ball control and be able to score."

Salinas has had experience turning a school's football team around. At one time he was offensive coordinator for Skidmore-Tynan, another 2A school with a dismal record.

"They were expected to be 0-10 and ended up going 5-5," Salinas said.

The team line-up so far this year includes Brad Armstrong, a sophomore who will start as quarterback and fullback.

Every kid on this team can expect to play both sides of the ball, according to Salinas.

Junior Zach Joseph will play linebacker and tackle, while Phillip Haines, a junior who was sidelined last year with injuries, will come back as a starting quarterback.

Sophomores Jaime Padilla and Jason Crowther will start as guard and center, respectively.

Matt DeLeon, a senior, will come out as a tailback and senior Rick Mayfield will start as a tight end.

Sophomore Amaro Villareal, who stood out in last year's play, will be sidelined this year from an injury sustained over the summer.

Coach Salinas said the coaching staff he will work with at Medina School is a good one.

"The coaching staff here is great," he said.

Coach Royce Lumpkins will be defensive coordinator, Coach Randy Joseph will handle the offensive and defensive lines, and Coach Rick Ingram will fill in as secondary coach.

On Aug. 8 at 7:00 p.m. there will be a meeting in the high school gym for parents of all high school girls scheduled to play volleyball this year.
On Aug. 15 at 7 p.m. there will be a meeting in the middle school cafeteria or parents of all middle school girls in athletics.

Bandera Youth Soccer Association meet

The Bandera Youth Soccer Association is holding a meeting on Aug. 13 to establish officers as well as plan the upcoming season. Anyone interested in becoming a much-needed volunteer, please attend. Call 612-2973 for more information.

Important Notice from the Coaches: All 7th- and 9th-grade students who plan to participate in sports this year must have a physical before they will be allowed to play. If you missed the school-sponsored physicals, you must make other arrangements before the first day of school.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

"I'm sorry." - What power there is in these two little words! A true apology is more than just acknowledgement of a mistake. It's recognition that something you have said or done has damaged a relationship and that you care enough about that relationship to want it repaired and restored. A heartfelt apology can not only heal a damaged relationship but make it stronger.

Granted, it's never easy. Admitting to being in the wrong hurts. But once you make yourself face up to it, swallow your pride, it can be a wonderful cleansing and healing thing.

Being human, we all need the art of apology. Look back with honesty and ponder how often you've judged harshly, said unkind things, pushed yourself ahead at the expense of a friend. Then count the occasions when you indicated clearly and truly that you were sorry. A bit scary, isn't it? Scary because some deep wisdom in us knows that when even a small wrong has been committed, some mysterious ethical equilibrium is disturbed; and it stays out of balance until fault is acknowledged and regret expressed.

"I'm sorry". - Two of the most healing words in all the world.

Local couple celebrates 50 years

R.L. and Billie Walker celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Aug. 1 with a family dinner at the Dragon Garden Restaurant in Bandera.

Hosts of the dinner were their [illegible] and their [illegible] Travis and Jerry Feagan, Elayne and Buddy Mills of Medina, and Jackie and Ken Ross of Kerrville.

R.L. and Billie have just recently returned from a fishing trip to Alaska, where their son, Clay of Lakehills and brother-in-law Larry Friedman of Valrico, Fla. witnessed Billie catching a 127 pound halibut.

Not to be outdone, R.L. caught enough salmon on each trip to have the most poundage.

The former Billie Marie Davenport married R.L. Walker on Aug. 1, 1946 at the Bandera Methodist Church. They have a son and one granddaughter, Leigh Limon of San Antonio.

Cowboy Church welcomes Johnny Saculla

Johnny Saculla will again be returning to minister in song and word at Cowboy Church in Bandera on Monday, Aug. 12.

"Johnny's smooth voice and love for God and people is so evident," said Pastor Ronnie Christian. "He will be singing some new songs as well as some old favorites. Johnny is one of our favorite guest ministers. He always encourages us to appreciate God more."

The Cowboy Church now meets outdoors every Monday at 7 p.m. at 903 13th Street at Hwy. 173.

"This has been a busy summer for us," Christian said. "Several [illegible] came to Bandera."

Ronnie and wife Judy took two trips to Colorado to establish Cowboy Churches in Monte Vista and Canon City. They also ministered to about 50 cowboy ministries in Saskatchewan, Canada.

Ronnie and his 14-year-old daughter, Starla, drove to the Cheyenne, Wyo. rodeo in July for an outreach and some one on one ministry.

In August, Ronnie and Judy will be going to Cassville, Missouri for a big bull riding event, where they will promote the Cowboy Church and Ronnie will judge bull riding.

"We will be at two other Cowboy Churches on Sundays in August," Ronnie said, "one at Mason, Texas and the other near Orchard, Texas.

For more information, call the Christians at 796-7027.

"Everyone is welcome!" Ronnie said. "You don't have to be a cowboy to come."

WASTE WATER AND YOU COULD GET SOAKED.

About 75% of a typical household's indoor water use takes place in the bathroom. Saving water saves you money. Especially hot water, since it takes energy to heat water. So Be Water Smart and

- Reduce volume of water in toilet tank by placing a plastic bottle full of water in tank (do not use bricks - they crumble);
- Do not use toilet as a trash can;
- When brushing teeth or shaving, turn water off until it's time to rinse;
- Take short showers instead of baths; and
- Install low-flow showerheads and low-flow toilets.

The average shower uses 42 gallons of water. A low-flow showerhead can save a family of four almost 35,000 gallons a year. A low-flow toilet can cut indoor water use by an additional 20%.

Practice saving water and Be Water Smart!

Every Drop Makes a Difference.

RED FLAG Conservation Level

Cassie Kennedy returned to school for the new term on one of 23 Bandera ISD bus routes.

Amended city water ordinance may force conservation habits

In a special city council meeting on Aug. 7, Mayor Bob Cowan signed an amended water ordinance for the city that will force water customers who use more than 6,000 gallons of water per month during the red stage of water conservation to pay a surcharge.

"In a nutshell, I'm hoping we can get everyone's attention," Cowan said. "There are many of us who are trying to conserve water."

Water customers normally pay $1.25 per 1,000 gallons of water used in a one month period.

With the new ordinance in effect, those who use over 6,000 gallons will pay more.

People who use between 6,000 and 8,000 will pay $2.50, instead of $1.25 once they go over their 6,000 gallon limit. They will not be charged any extra for the first 6,000 gallons used.

Those who exceed the limit by 8,000 to 10,000 gallons will be charged $6.25 per 1,000 gallons over 8,000.

Anybody who goes over 10,000 gallons will be given a warning the first time, and then charged a $50 surcharge.

In addition, council members decided to ban all outdoor water use for lawns or ornamental landscaping except with a hand-held hose.

"We aren't going to run out of water in the next day or so, but in order not to in the future we need to save now," Cowan explained. "We want as many as possible to save water."

Bond election called

Board takes committee recommendation

Bandera ISDs board of trustees voted Tuesday evening to hold a $15 million bond election Sept. 28.

The vote followed a recommendation from the district's bond advisory committee to hold the election.

Following the recommendation presented by committee member Leslie Yurrita, the board adopted a resolution that called for a bond election for the amount of $15,070,000 for the construction and equipment of school buildings in the district and the purchase of a school site.

The advisory committee recommended that the board purchase the Bandera Downs property for the building of a new high school and to add to and remodel the Middle School Campus in downtown Bandera.

The district had earlier reached an agreement with Bandera Downs owner Bill Allan to accept an earnest money contract that would effectively hold the property until the results of a bond election were known.

The school board began looking at plans and costs of remodeling and adding on to the Middle School last Spring, hoping to expand the facility for approximately $3 million. Later meetings with architects upped the cost to $5 million with provision for approximately 5 years growth at that campus. At the end of that time another Middle School would need to be built.

Options currently under study by the district include the construction of a new high school, moving the seventh and eighth grade to the current high school, and moving fifth grade to join the sixth grade at the Middle School campus.

Moving the fifth graders to the downtown campus would alleviate overcrowding at Alkek Elementary which is again operating at capacity.

Members of the advisory committee include Patti Adamson, Barbara Bendele, Bill Boyington, Jan Bryson, Joe Cantu, Louis Dubose, Sean French, Vicky Bruton, Denise Griffin, Bill Lamb, John Leland,

Super S Foods takes advantage of outdated city code

City council finds itself unwilling to enforce permit regulations

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Super S Grocery Store located on Bandera Road started expanding without the proper permits, and was not fined for the building code violation, according to a council member at the regular city council meeting Monday night.

Curtis Wilson said the violation and the way it was handled are examples of the problems the city is encountering with trying to enforce outdated and confusing city codes.

Mayor Bob Cowan admitted that Super S had violated the code and was not fined.

"Columbus told them they could go ahead and move dirt around," Cowan said, "but by the letter of the law, they should have a permit before they raise a hammer or dig a hole."

Cowan said that by the spirit of the law, Super S had not violated any codes.

"Half the businesses in town would be closed down if we followed all the codes," Cowan said.

Super S manager James Sloan said he was sure that his contractor, Allen Williams, had followed the correct procedure and obtained a permit before construction was started.

Williams, of A.F. Williams General Contracting, from Dallas, said that although they did not receive their permit until Wednesday or Thursday, the only work they did before that was to dig a trench.

"There is no city I know of that does not allow digging on your own property without a permit," Williams said. "Mr. Stutes was aware we had started digging on Monday."

Williams said the lack of a full-time building inspector for the city of Bandera was part of the problem. Stutes works only three days a week.

In a related decision, council voted for a moratorium on all new peddlers permits until the council can work out an updated set of ordinances and codes, probably in October.

In other council business, two council members voted for Walter Welch's motion to deny the Rodeo Practice access to the city park for their traditional Memorial Day weekend trail ride in 1997, while two voted against the motion.

Welch and Wilson voted for the motion, while Dorothy Darden and Tommy Kindla voted against it.

The tie was broken by the mayor, who voted for the motion.

Bandera Regulars spokesperson Adele Matthews presented the council with approximately 253 signatures on a petition from business owners and residents in favor of allowing the Regulars to come back, but to no avail.

Last year, the city council voted to deny the Regulars access to the park in 1996 after citizen complaints.

"I don't think trail riders, or any large group, should travel through any residential neighborhood," citizen Bill Bryce told the council. Bryce, along with several other citizens present, lives on Cypress Street, a route the trail riders used the last time they were here in 1995.

Bryce repeated his complaint from last year that the horses left piles of manure along Cypress Street, and only a heavy rain saved the residents from having to deal with it.

Lahrae Wilson, wife of council member Wilson, and also a resident on Cypress Street, told the council that she and her husband had cleaned up trash left behind by the Regulars.

"We picked up bag after bag of trash," she said.

The mayor suggested that the Bandera Regulars look for another site on the river for their annual visit.

In other business, council members tried to decide if the Bandera Overland Stagecoach ticket booth was in violation of a portable buildings ordinance in the city, and Cowan reminded them that the owner, Mike Trejo, had been asked to move the ticket booth.

Patricia Moore, representing the Chamber of Commerce, said that it should be considered more of an information booth since Trejo keeps and hands out brochures about Bandera and the surrounding area to tourists.

Cowan told council members that he had been receiving phone calls from a few people who want the booth there. The matter was tabled until the next council meeting and the mayor urged council members to find a way to allow the ticket booth to stay.

Letters to the Editor

He can recommend courthouse grass

H-o-o-o-y Bandera:
I just found out that I was on last week! (All my mail comes by your mail so sorry.) I was so

I picked up my hosts and scared the dogs half to death.

Bandera has always been my favorite place to take my other friends and family. I can always find a "parking" place, and the grass on the square here is most delicious.

My compliments to the county!

Of course, there is my favorite corner behind the Inn House and the Ranch Store. Between the history and the food smells, I could sleep there all day.

My sister and I had a great time trying to Wrangle the Rain.

I'm no neigh-sayer (O.K., I am a neigh-sayer, but I think positive) but I was skeptical when I first heard of the event. It was so much fun, I'd like to do it again.

I feel bad that I didn't live up to my reputation as a "raining hoss" though. Next time I want to ditch the ol' lady and get at that watermelon!

Happy trails, Bandera!

It was viel Spass

Dear Editor:

On the morning of July 27 the 56-member "Almenrausch" Town Band of Rehlingen, Saarland, Germany played a concert and took part in the opening ceremonies at the Medina International Apple Festival.

The same evening the band was joined by our Blasmusik Texas group for a barbecue and three-hour "German Musik-Fest" at Lost Valley Ranch attended by 400.

Their final musical appearance in Bandera was at the St. Stanislaus Catholic Church, where a 15-piece small band 11 a.m. mass.

[illegible] was most grateful to all who extended hospitality to our visitors from Germany, who along with family members touring with them numbered almost 90. Special thanks go to Jeannie Strickland and Peggy Rather of the Medina Apple Festival; to Susan DiSpain and James Sloan for their help and preparations; to Father Michael McManus and the people of St. Stanislaus, including Father Jim Galvan for their hard work and hospitality; finally, to the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, who helped so much with publicity and many other details.

I'm sure many local people encountered the German visitors at some of the popular "cowboy hangouts" on the streets of Bandera. We must realize that the western atmosphere of Bandera is particularly appealing to visitors from Europe, and many members of this group from Rehlingen told me what "viel Spass" - "a big kick"- they got of their visit here.

Individuality is safe

Dear Editor:

As a current teacher working in Uvalde, I would like to address this to all the students and parents who feel that enforcing a stricter dress code denies a child freedom, individuality, and personality. First of all, true freedom is earned and comes from learning self-control. Most of the young people in this country will earn this freedom through a series of life experiences that will clearly reveal to them that losing self-control results in loss of freedom. Teenage pregnancy, drug abuse, [illegible] are instances where a lack of self control results in a loss of freedom.

As for individuality and personality being taken away because one has to be abide by a certain dress code, I can only hope that people do not truly believe this. Personality develops over a lifetime. From the very moment of conception, we are given a totally unique set of characteristics. Our individual DNA code can never be reproduced.

A dress code can never take away one's individuality or personality. However, it can instill the knowledge of the necessity to respect authority. If I don't learn this early in life, the chances are I will not be able to hold down a job, and the possibility of my ending up in jail is greatly increased.

I can understand [student] Kate Edwards' feelings because as a former student I had similar feelings. However, when I was a student, parents would never have allowed the inexperience of youth to override the wisdom of the elders. Parents should help the schools by preparing their children for the "real" world where we all have to abide by rules and regulations.

It was our pleasure

Dear Editor:

It was a grand time! The 9th Annual Texas International Apple Festival is now a swirl of wonderful memories. In these days and times, it is so important to bring back the wholesome country fair feeling to community events. Your participation made that feeling come alive.

It is exciting to show how easy it is to hold a successful drug-free event. Your participation made it successful! It is the contributors and volunteers that give so freely of their time that makes the Texas International Apple Festival a shining star in Bandera County.

With our most sincere gratitude, we thank you for the pre-festival news coverage. You played an important role in making this event happen.

Fabian L. Hicks

Fabian L. Hicks came to Texas in 1855 from North Carolina.

He married Hedwig Anderwald and raised a family of 10.

Mr. Hicks went on many scouts after Indians, and was always ready to fearlessly take the trail and follow them as long as there was any chance to overtake them.

Shortly after arriving in Texas Hicks joined an expedition under Capt. James H. Callahan to cross the river into Mexico to pursue a tribe of Indians that had been depredating on the frontier of Texas and escaping into the sister republic.

On one occasion Hicks was with a number of others pursuing a band of Indians and Hicks wounded one of the fellows. He wanted to follow, but others, including a man who had been struck by an arrow in Bandera refused to go along.

All the news affordable to print

Because of rising paper costs, many small weekly newspapers have had to raise subscription rates. In the Houston Post, when it folded in April 1995, cited higher newsprint costs as a major factor.

Newsprint prices

Over an 18-month period, average newsprint costs jumped by 80 percent, demonstrating the effects of soaring timber prices.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

I love music. Music of all kinds.

Here's a look at what I am currently carrying in my Ranger cassette basket.

Let's see, there's a little easy listening from B Tribe. I like their "You Won't See Me Cry," and "Fiesta Fatal." Well, in fact there really isn't anything on this particular tape that I don't like.

Next there is Beausoleil. Cajun Michael Doucet makes it hard to drive while listening to "Quelle Belle Vie" (Oh, What a Life) and "Zydeco X." I'm always tempted to stop, pull over and do a little jig.

Here's on e I'd forgotten I had in the basket: Bach's Greatest Hits (on the Hit Parade sometime in the early 1700s). Ah, yes, there is "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring." One of my favorites.

For a little electronic guitar, I've got one of Acoustic Alchemy's tapes. And when I get tired of listening to commercials on the radio, I pop in John Anderson and listen to him singing through his nose for awhile.

One of my favorite groups of all is those Andes musicians with Wayanay. The flutes and drums are very stress-reducing.

For those days when I need a little spiritual uplift, I've got Greg Long to tell me "Faith Can Light a Candle," and there is "Hope in the Night." Or I pop in America's 25 Favorite Praise Choruses and sing along with "Awesome God" and "Holy Ground." Of course, I only sing when I'm alone in the vehicle. My kids informed me when they were about three or four that my "singing" hurt their ears.

But despite that lack of talent, I've decided to join up with Jerry Neuenschwander's trip to Italy in 1998. The year is one of those big birthdays for me and I figured I ought to have something better to look forward to or I'd get really depressed.

Jerry is organizing a choir to visit three Italian cities. I told him I can't sing. He said I could bring as big a bucket as I needed to carry tunes in. We finally decided that I could go along as his official Baton Fetcher.

Actually, he assured me that any number of non-singing participants were welcome to come along on the tour, so I probably won't be the only non-musical person in the group.

But, come to think of it, if it weren't for us "listeners" there wouldn't be much need for the singers, would there?

Re-districting affects 13 congressional districts

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Federal judges last week annulled the March primaries in three-Texas congressional districts where race was ruled to have been the main factor in drawing boundaries.

The panel of three judges — all appointed by Republican presidents — approved new, more compactly shaped districts. Redrawing those districts affected the shape and makeup of seven contiguous districts in the Houston area and six in the Dallas area.

So, the panel ordered special elections in those 13 districts set for Nov. 5, the same day at the general election for the rest of the state. The special elections will be open to all candidates of either party, and runoffs will be Dec. 10.

But, the redistricting plan did not sit well with House Speaker Pete Laney and Attorney General Dan Morales, both Democrats. The officials are contemplating an appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court last week to overturn the lower court decision.

Laney and Morales said voter confusion and unnecessary shifting of boundary lines will be key arguments if they appeal the order.

Laney, who had a plan that would have changed the shape of only nine districts, said an early analysis of the court order is "more intrusive than necessary." Morales said only six districts need be changed.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, a Democrat, had asked the judges not to take action and instead leave the matter to the 1997 Legislature. After the panel approved the new boundaries, Bullock praised their efforts. "The plan does no smack of politics or needlessly change boundaries that had already been set," he told the Austin American-Statesman.

Minimal changes were made to the two black majority districts in Dallas, but a largely Hispanic district in Houston lost about 15 percent of its Hispanic voters and no longer has a Hispanic majority.

Principals to Receive Cash

Some Texas public school principals will be getting more than a jolt of self esteem for their role in improving their campuses. They will receive cash awards of up to $5,000.

In the fall, principals of the state's most improved schools will receive checks — to use as they wish — based on the school's rating and the criteria being developed by a panel appointed by Gov. George W. Bush. The criteria are to be completed by Sept. 1.

"It's a check written to the principal. There are no strings attached," Criss Cloudt of the Texas Education Agency told the Associated Press.

Under the Principal Performance Incentives Program — part of the sweeping education bill passed by the 1995 Legislature — $5 million will be disbursed. The program was tacked onto SB 1 by Rep. Kent Grusendorf, R-Arlington.

Some teachers, however, criticized the program because it left insolvent the Texas Successful Schools Awards System, another student performance-based program that did not focus on principals.

Drivers Skirting Insurance Law

Many Texas drivers are finding illegal ways to skirt a state law that requires them to carry liability car insurance all year.

The Austin American-Statesman analyzed state data and found that about 21 percent of drivers involved in accidents last year were not insured or their insurance status was unknown.

One way consumers avoid paying costly premiums is to purchase a six- or 12-month policy and then cancel it after a month — long enough to receive their proof of insurance card that allows them to renew their driver's license and vehicle registration or obtain an inspection sticker.

Another method cheaters use to acquire an insurance card is to purchase a one-month from businesses that advertise them in the telephone book.

Lack of enforcement is part of the problem. Lawmakers have rejected enforcement proposals as too expensive for the state, too burdensome on insurers and too heartless toward low-income drivers, the American-Statesman reported.

Other Capital Highlights

• Bruce Casteel has been named senior captain (commander) of the Texas Rangers, succeeding Maurice Cook who retires at the end of the month. Casteel, 54, is a 23-years veteran of the 173-year-old elite law enforcement unit. He has served as assistant commander of the Rangers since 1992.

• Texas Republican Party Chairman Tom Pauken was awarded $180,683 by a Dallas County jury which concluded that a former business associate stole information from his firm, Texas Voter List, and sold it to Pauken's opponents in his unsuccessful 1991 race for the 3rd Congressional District seat.

Hays County Gals and Pals feature from L-R: Ginger Evans, Greg Lowry and National Champion Female Yodeler Jill Jones. The musical group will be among the headliners at the All-American Cowboy Get-Together Labor Day weekend at Mansfield Park.

Authentic cowboy life showcased at Labor Day fest

Cowboy musicians, cowboy poets, chuckwagon cooks, western artists and craftsmen, old west collectors and those who love our western heritage will be gathering in Bandera on Labor Day weekend for the All-American Cowboy Get-Together to be held at Mansfield Park. One of the most enjoyable features of this event will be the cowboy music.

National Champion Female Yodeler Jill Jones will be doing her stuff with the Hays County Gals 'n Pals, a group that has been a big hit every place that they have performed.

Bandera's own Spirit of Texas will be joining them, both groups doing cowboy music reminiscent of Roy Rogers, Gene Autry and the Sons of the Pioneers.

Cowboy and ranch manager Dean Foster, from Edgewood, New Mexico will lend his fine singing voice to the program, along with father and son, Ken and Allan Rozzell of Idaho, Tex Hill from Arizona, The Saddle Tramps from Illinois, and several area singers. Wilton Crider from Medina, Roxy Huggins, Makin' Dust, and Trey Veivin of Bandera will all be performing.

The event will also feature a cowboy poetry session both days of the event. The chuckwagon cookoff allows spectators to enjoy a meal cooked over hot coals, just like out on the range. There will also be various western vendors and other features of this western celebration.

The All-American Cowboy Get-together is a benefit for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association. It will be at Mansfield Park Saturday, Aug. 31 and Sunday, Sept. 1 from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the show barn.

Ticket prices are $5 for adults, $2 for kids 12 and under and lap young'ns are free.

For more information, call Rudy Robbins at 210-796-3269.

Basic Bandera

True confession. We're hooked on books and reading is the main [illegible] we buy, books, not baubles. When cruising garage sales, we're looking through boxes of paperbacks and old hardcovers to find unrecognized collectibles or — just something to read. a ten-cent table of dog-eared volumes at a library fund-raising [illegible]

Recently, Pine Community Library on the South Platte in Colorado fell heir to several pick-up loads of old books left over from at charity event in Denver. Because it was raining on the day of the Rhubarb Festival, people from all over the mountains pored over the piles of books on offer after the parade was called off and the Rhubarb Queen went on back home.

Our find that day was a 1945 fictionalized biography, "Immortal Wife," by Irving Stone, better known for his telling of the life stories of greats like Michelangelo and Vincent Van Gogh. The immortal wife was Jessie Fremont, hard-driving ambitious spouse of General John Fremont, the so-called Pathfinder. Who knows about him? He is certainly not immortal!

But inspired, prodded, and ghost-written by his little wife Jessie, Fremont went off on expeditions to open the West back in the days of Manifest Destiny of the 1840's, in effect grabbed California from Mexico before the Mexican War even got started, made a fortune in gold-mining and railroading, and almost unseated Abraham [illegible] for the GOP nomination for the presidency. All along, Fremont, a basically insecure man of modest origins, was spurred on by his brilliant wife Jessie, who took charge over the heads of whoever had the say in Washington or the West to push her husband to the heights.

Daughter of Missouri U.S. Senator Thomas Hart Benton, little Jessie learned the [illegible] from her powerful father, but [illegible] of Art, could not seek power on her own. She could only act behind the scenes, pulling the strings of her spouse. But needless to say, she was harshly criticized for being an uppity schemer and a traitor to the gentle sex.

We were reading about Jessie Benton Fremont during the weeks when Hillary was being pilloried for her conversations with Eleanor Roosevelt. We could not help but wonder why Hillary had not gotten in touch with Miss Jessie, who in her lifetime had suffered and triumphed over even more slings and arrows.

We also could not help but wonder why Hillary, not bound by the constrictions of nineteenth-century views of "woman's place," did not have the courage to strike out on her own after graduation from Yale Law School. She did not have to tie herself to those wackily corrupt Arkansas crackers.

Jessie could not possible make it on her own. Hillary could have.

It's interesting. Women who make it on their own are, for the most part, not put down as uppity or domineering. Look at Mrs. Thatcher, the beloved President Mary Robinson of Ireland, common-sensical Kansas Senator Nancy Kassebaum, the late Senator Maine Senator Margaret Chase Smith. Even Kay-Baby of Texas. Only the women who pull their husband's strings are subject to condemnation.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE CITIZENS OF BANDERA COUNTY

Did you know that there are six republican candidates seeking the office of Bandera County Judge? Only one will appear on the ballot in November.

If you have a candidate that you would like to see on that ballot, you should call or write to your Party Precinct Chairperson and let them know who your favorite candidate is.

This particular part of the election is different because the office to be filled was vacated in mid-term after the primary date had already passed. Normally you have a vote for your candidate of choice within your party at the primary election. That is not the case in this particular election. Only one candidate per party is going to be on the ballot in November. Selection of that candidate will be made by the party Executive Committee. If you want a voice in that selection, you should call your Precinct Party Chairperson.

I was your County Judge for 8 years and thought maybe it was time for some fresh ideas, but upon returning to this office on the request of Commissioners Court, I found this was not the case. We need a County Judge that is very knowledgeable of the functions of the office and one who is willing to work hard to get things moving in the right direction.

Since I am in good health and concerned about our County Government, I have decided that it is time for me to offer my services again. I have made application to the Republican Party Executive Committee to consider me as their candidate for Bandera County Judge. If you agree with me, I would appreciate your support. Call your Precinct Chairperson and tell them how you feel.

Sincerely,

Judge Ray F. Mauer

OST marks 75 years of service in Bandera

[illegible] Staff Writer
[illegible] with special help from [illegible]
[illegible] anniversary dinner [illegible] moved it across the street, into the old Davenport Building, [illegible] management many sweeping changes took place at the OST [illegible] some regular [illegible] ion.

The major change was the closure of the three bars operating in the establishment.

Mary said she took the liquor license off the wall one day, handed it to then-[illegible] couldn't take the hard drinking regulars anymore.

"I stopped the alcohol," she declared. "People were saying to me 'You aren't going to make it.' I had no regrets."

Mary was born and raised in Ireland and she came to Bandera with some ideas that failed and others that blossomed.

"I came over with the idea of white tablecloths and fine silverware," she admits, "but I was soon disillusioned. Bandera is a place where they let it all hang out."

She wanted to start a family restaurant, and over the many years that is exactly what the atmosphere of the OST has become.

"I think I tamed it down," she said. "They said it was a lot wilder."

Mary remembers many luminaries that visited the OST, including Charley Pride, Willie Nelson and Johnny Cash, entertainers who would come over for a bite to eat after Arkey Blue's Silver Dollar across the street closed for the night.

"They would sit around and play until six in the morning," Mary recalls.

She had her own way of dealing with mean drunks who came into the eatery after the bars had closed down.

"I'd send them up the street to [illegible] OST [illegible] course, they were all closed."

During the time Mary owned and managed the OST, her husband Pat died, and she later remarried and became Mary Smith.

One of Mary's favorite memories of her time at the helm of the OST was when an older couple came in to [illegible] 60th wedding anniversary.

They asked to sit in the booth that they got married in.

It seems that the couple, as youngsters, had met at a dance at The Cabaret, and on their second date, stopped off at the OST for a bite to eat.

Through various mishaps, the couple fell asleep in their booth and were awakened by the young lady's father, holding a shotgun and demanding that the man, who had now spent the night with his daughter, do the right thing and marry her.

Of course, the fellow did. He admitted to Mary that he had fallen in love with the girl on their first date.

They both were still in love with each other 50 years later.

"This place is an old stomping grounds, it is still the same," she says. "The children and grandchildren of the old regulars are still coming here.

Over the years, the dance hall portion of the restaurant has seen many different businesses including a bounty shop, auto parts store, and a western-wear store. Now it is the John Wayne Room.

This transformation was wrought by the latest woman owner, Gwen Robbins.

Gwen and then-husband Harvey Raab bought the business from Mary Smith in May 1978, the year of the great flood.

"The flood actually gave us a big boost," Gwen remembers. "We were the only place in town with electricity."

Because the area was crowded with telephone repair crews for several months, the telephone company provided the Raabs with a generator so they could [illegible]

In 1990, the Raabs divorced and Gwen bought Harvey's half of the restaurant. Gwen went on to purchase the building.

She has had to put a career as an LVN on hold, as she became the sole proprietor of the busy business.

Trail Restaurant in Bandera, strong women have formed the backbone of the old and the new eatery that many have come to call their home away from home.

This month the OST marks 75 years of operating in a business notorious for quick opens and middle-of-the-night close downs.

The real Old Spanish Trail, or Old Slave Trail, was carved by Spanish missionaries and was also used by raiding Native Americans. It ran up from Mexico, through Texas and crossed over into California, where it is now known as El Camino Real. Cafes grew up along the trail as a source of food and supplies.

The OST Restaurant was first established in 1921 on the east side of Main Street in Bandera which she leased from Mike Boyle.

Next door was a parking lot for horses and buggies that was eventually turned into an addition that served as a dance hall.

In 1945, Cleora sold the business, which now saw buses full of young men and women from three military bases in San Antonio arriving in the parking lots, in place of the horse-drawn buggies of yore.

For two years, the OST belonged to a man, Red Thompson, but soon passed again into the hands of a woman, Katie Love.

Katie leased the building from Pat and Mary McGroarty, and in 1960 Mary took over the restaurant and operated it until 1978.

During the time of Mary's

Irish immigrant Mary McGroarty envisioned white linen and fine silverware, but she made a success in a town that "let it all hang out."

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) — A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work. Full-time respiratory department on line at Bandera's Clark House

Marvin Kyburz, director of respiratory therapy at The Clark House, poses with an LP6 Ventilator. Kyburz, who has 18 years of experience, says the administration and owners of The Clark House have been overly-supportive and have done everything they can do bring in a first-rate respiratory department.

Staff Writer

The Clark House Nursing Home in Bandera is only one of four in the state to boast that it accepts Medicaid ventilator-dependent patients, according to administrator David Byers.

On June 1, the facility opened a full-time respiratory department. The staff are on duty 24 hours a day, and Byers said they have already seen some miracles.

One patient, a 24-year-old car accident victim who was left paralyzed from the neck down, has blossomed under the care he has received at the home.

Currently, he is out of the facility receiving rehabilitation. That is because staff at The Clark House were able to detect movement in the young man's arms and started working with him. Once it was perceived that he could move more than what was initially thought, he was transferred temporarily to another facility with rehabilitation capabilities.

Another patient, who was bed bound in another facility for the last seven years, has found mobility again and can be seen cruising the grounds and the TV room in her wheelchair after staff rigged up a way for her wheelchair to carry her ventilator.

"We are actively recruiting a younger, ventilator-dependent group because they are fun and inspiring to work with," Byers said.

In another positive development, it has been learned that people who are interested in becoming CNAs, or Certified Nursing Assistants, can attend the two-week school at the expense of The Clark House if they want to work there.

"CNA's are the backbone of the staff," Byers said. "Anybody who is interested can come up and observe what a CNA does."

Currently there are 15 CNAs on staff at The Clark House.

Byers also praised the volunteers who enrich the lives of the residents of the local nursing home.

"Bandera is great for volunteers," he said.

Byers said the public is welcome to come and visit at The Clark House anytime.

"We challenge the public to come and visit and see the changes we have made," he [illegible]

No candidate for Demos in county judge race

"The Democratic Party will not have a candidate on the General Election ballot for the office of County Judge," said Mary Autry, Democratic [illegible]

Autry made the announcement following a meeting of the County Democratic Executive Committee on Aug. 6.

The Committee appointed Jerald J. Ruth (their Pct. 6 chairman, replacing Rene Skinner who moved.

The Democratic Club of Bandera County will elect new officers at its next meeting on Aug. 20 announced Olga Bradford, president.

The Democrats will meet from 7-9 p.m. at the Pioneer Realty log house located on FM 1283 just south of FR 37. Plans for the November election will be discussed.

"New members and guests are welcome," said Bradford.

dreds of customers means wearing a number of hats.

"I'm a baby-sitter, a counselor, a bank," she said. "You hear everything."

On a more positive note, Gwen says the guests who frequent her restaurant make her job worthwhile.

"You get to meet people from every walk of life," she said, mentioning visitors from France, Germany and England who return again and again.

One way that Gwen keeps people coming back is her instructions to her waitresses.

"I tell them to smile, no matter how bad things get," she said. "They work hard. They earn their money."

Another way is to keep the restaurant fresh, and to change the menu occasionally.

"It is a constant and continual battle to keep it that way," she said. "I stress teamwork."

She has learned the hard way that you can't please everybody all the time.

"You learn to accept it and just go on," she said.

She has also had to learn how to delegate responsibility and how to fire people.

She placed her sister in the role of manager, and long-time employee David Gould in charge of the kitchen.

"At first it was hard to let people go, not anymore," she admitted. "Somebody has to take charge of this place or it'll fall apart."

Gwen says her experiences have made her more confident and resourceful.

"I'm still here, I'm still doing it, it can't be that bad," she said.

"To me, 75 years is a very long time for a restaurant to survive."

The OST Restaurant will celebrate its 75th anniversary on Wednesday, Aug. 21 all day with free cake, coffee and ice tea.

1996 Property Tax Rates in City of Bandera

This notice concerns 1996 property tax rates for City of Bandera. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$	37,238
Last year's debt taxes	$	42,881
Last year's total taxes	$	80,119
Last year's tax base	$	34,834,538
Last year's total tax rate	$	.2300 /$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$	80,119
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$	35,574,569
= This year's effective tax rate	$	.2252 /$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

- Sales tax adjustment rate	$	N/A /$100
= Effective tax rate	$	N/A /$100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing $ .2319 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$	37,238
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$	35,574,569
= This year's effective operating rate	$	.1046 /$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$	.1129 /$100
+ This year's debt rate	$	.1146 /$100
= This year's rollback rate	$	.2275 /$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

1996 Property Tax Rates in Springhills WMD

This notice concerns 1996 property tax rates for Springhills WMD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 94,334
Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 94,334
Last year's tax base	$ 518,323,553
Last year's total tax rate	$ .0182	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

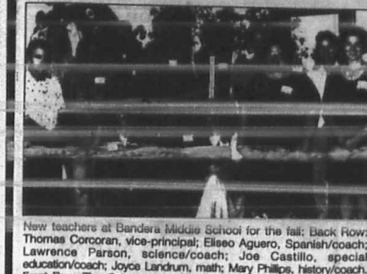
Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 94,334
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 544,213,885
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .0173	/$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

– Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing $ .0178 /$100

This year's rollback tax rate:



Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 94,334
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 544,213,885
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .0173	/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$ .0187	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0-	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ .0187	/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

– Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

For a taxing unit with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rate for pollution control	$	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$	/$100

Over the Back Fence

Hi, y'all! It must be Monday. As we sit here on the side of the road waiting for a new belt for the truck. We don't mind Mondays so much but sometimes the whole week turns into Monday lookalikes.

We heard from Dolly Dresser last night that the Ladies Auxiliary of the Medina Lake VFD is needing some serving line help on the to-go line. These ladies put in a hard day dishing out all that good food, but they have enough fun while doing it to make up for the work.

They don't like sharing the fun with the men though! Anyway, if you're interested in helping on the line, contact Mary Alice Correa or Dolly. If you are interested in helping with our fall barbecue anywhere else, call us!

We lost a good friend down at Soriano's Saturday night. Josh Valadez Sr. had a heart attack. Josh was a friend to all and will be missed.

The rain did it again! Showers hit all around, but all we got was enough to make tracks in the dust. With all this dry weather we must all do our best to conserve water. Our wells are dropping very fast. We have had to deepen the pumps in quite a few wells lately.

We have lost all our grass and several less hardy trees in the past month. It hurts to see a tree you have nurtured and pampered for so long turn brown. We have a feeling we will be watching lots more follow before this drought is over.

Oh, boy, we get to see a whole week of Republican Convention on TV this week! Maybe we will get more around-the-house projects done. We have heard all the things they have to say, so why must we have to hear it again?

Well, here are our belts, so we better go to work. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

Stuntmen honor Robbins

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Local cowboy entertainer [illegible] was presented with an honorary membership by the Stuntmen's Association of Motion Pictures Thursday evening, Aug. 8, in the John Wayne Room of the OST.

"Membership in the association is by invitation only," said presenter Bill Hart, "and honorary membership is also by invitation only. We've never had anyone refuse the offer."

Robbins received a certificate, a wall plaque and a western belt buckle to signify the honor.

Robbins had worked as a stuntman in Hollywood until the early 70s when "westerns went out of popularity." He did trick riding and other stunts during his career.

"There are people who would pay $10,000 to be able to say they worked in a John Ford movie," said Hart. "Rusty is one of the few who came by that honor legitimately."

Robbins made several movies with John "Duke" Wayne, including "The Alamo." He also did stunts in several TV series, including "Davy Crockett."

One of his most exciting moments came when he was hired to double for Jim Arness in Gunsmoke.

Rudy Robbins receives a plaque naming him an honorary member of the Stuntmen's Association of Motion Pictures from Bill Hart in the John Wayne Room of the OST.

"The first day I was supposed to vault onto this very tall horse, holding a knife in one hand and rifle in the other," said Robbins. "Normally when you jump onto a horse from behind, you have to use your hands. I wasn't sure how I was going to manage it with both hands full. But I was so full of adrenaline, I could have vaulted over Dumbo!"

Robbins joins a prestigious list of honorary members to the SAMP, including John Wayne, Charlton Heston and Clint Eastwood.

Hart and Robbins had worked together in Hollywood and recently recognized each other in the OST. Hart has purchased property in Bandera County. His sons, Jimmy and Ch..k, work as stuntmen and were on hand for the presentation, along with several friends of Robbins.

When asked about doing stunts from great heights, the stuntmen said that 30 feet was the death height.

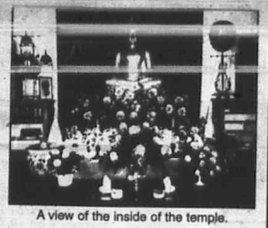
"Anything over that and you're just as dead if you miss the pad."

Hart said his most challenging stunt was the blowing of the bridge in "The Wild Bunch."

"We were 20 feet up and there were 30 sticks of dynamite below," he said. "We had all jokingly said we'd go out on the bridge whistling the theme from 'The Bridge On the River Kwai.' But as we started out, we were all so nervous that no one could whistle."

Was he afraid?

"Well, fear is excitement without breath," said the stuntman, "and I've been excited many times."



Sea World campers

Lauran Aldridge and Amy Walters of Bandera attended Camp Sea World in San Antonio from July 22-26 with a sleep-over on July 26 in the Coral Reef/Shark Aquarium building. The week was spent educating students in all aspects of marine [illegible]. San Antonio Sea World is the only Sea World facility that provides camps on site in the summer educating students of all ages in marine life.

SOMETHING NEW IN BANDERA COUNTY!

Harold and Germaine Trent have donated part of the Cross Dot + Ranch, for a Buddhist monastery to Venerable Samarn Saengsee. He is currently the head abbot here, and is vice president of the Dhammayut order of America. Ven. Samarn, ordained at the age of 20, has been a monk for 33 yrs. He has worked here in America for 20 yrs. with 33 temples to show.

A view of the inside of the temple.

The monks, along with the lay follower,s worked constantly to renovate the ranch buildings into a beautiful monastery. The wonderful job done is greatly appreciated by the Trents who are very happy with all that has turned out.

"BUDDHISM IS AN INTERESTING RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY."

QUOTE:

"Buddhism is neither pessimistic nor escapist nor does it deny the existence of gods or the soul, though it places its own meaning on these terms. It is, on the contrary, a system of thought, a religion, a spiritual science, and a way of life, which is reasonable, practical and all embracing."

Harold Trent stands with the Ven. Samarn Saengsee and two visiting monks at left. On the right is Germaine Trent.

Everyday services consist of;

5 a.m. Morning chanting and meditation

11 a.m. Lunch service

9 p.m. Evening Chanting, meditation and talks are given.

The monks are only allowed one meal a day, at 11 o'clock in the morning. It is customary for everyone, like pot luck, to donate a dish of food. No one is obligated, however people donate for merit and blessings.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

We were invited to a small dinner party at the OST last week where Rudy Robbins was presented with a gorgeous plaque and belt buckle making hi an honorary lifetime member of the original Stuntman's Assoc. of Motion Pictures. It was presented by charger member, Bill Hart, who can't even begin to remember the count of the movies he's performed fi!

Everyone there were show folk, except our worthy editor and us and the stories of "do you remember... " flew thick and heavy. It was a who's who of the old Hollywood.

Bill had his two sons with him, Chuck and Jimmy, who are also stuntmen, but on motorcycles and surfboards. Since Bill, Rudy and their buddies had their own stunt horses called "falling horses" then, there could've been a generation gap, but none was evident.

In training these falling horses, who had to fall to cue, at a fast run (we've all seen them in the movies!) they used a cavalry bib and soft sand. Rudy said his scariest stunt was when he had to do a stirrup drag. He was supposed to be unconscious, with his foot caught in the stirrup, when the horse ran away into a pretty deep creek and then he would become conscious again. It was a bit worrisome and he was glad when it was over and he came out of it unharmed, but wet!

Max Konz was there, too. He was that darling young man who was always getting shot and falling off the top of the ghost town at the Flying L's summer western show a few years back!

Gwen put on a really great feed bag, with grilled chicken and the cobbler of your choice. Yum yum! An enjoyable evening.

Special Effects here in Bandera is now carrying a complete line of cactus. You couldn't go more native plant than that!

Bandera County may be becoming the Flea Market capital of the world, what with the Pipe Creek Flea Market that has lots of antiques, too; the CW Flea Market in 173 that has lots of good junque, the yearly St. Victor's Flea Market out at the lake; and now, a flea market at the Race Track. Is this one called "A run for your money?"

The Lone Star Dutch Oven Assoc., which has lots of local members, got a good write-up in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Magazine and from that gained 23 new members in just a few weeks. Lid liftin' must be the fastest growing hobby in Texas.

Coach has high hopes for 1996 Lady 'Dogs

Coach Darcy Rogers

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Despite a tough preseason, Lady Bulldogs Coach Darcy Rogers expects her volleyball players to do well in the 1996 season.

"We have a tough preseason which will prepare us for our district play," Rogers said, "which I am expecting them to do really well in."

In addition to Devine, Medina Valley, Hondo, Somerset and Ingram, the girls will face a newcomer to District 5AAA action this year in Lytle.

"Also we will be playing Johnson City," Rogers said.

Johnson City, a 2A team, went to state last year. The Lady Dogs will face them in tournament action.

"We have pretty tough tournaments this year," Rogers said. "We scheduled against some really tough state qualifiers."

A new rule instituted in this year allows players to use the whole baseline to serve.

"It will add a lot more offense and strategy to the game," Rogers explained. "Because of that a new type of volleyball will be played, especially here."

Rogers said spectators could expect to see a more aggressive game with improved offense.

"I'm expecting great things from all the players, especially team captains Heidi Hicks, Sara Erfurt, April Koehler, Shandra Zickler and Kelli Knutson."

A middle blocker and hitter, Carissa Machetta, will take graduating senior Abby Nightingale's place.

"She came on towards the end of district last year," Rogers said. "April and Shandra are very aggressive, strong hitters who have improved tremendously since last year."

Heidi Hicks said Rogers is a very strong all-around player.

"She is very respected by opponents," Rogers said. "She is very powerful."

Rogers called Erfurt the best defensive player on the team.

"She is always very enthusiastic and a strong leader," Rogers explained.

Setters Mary Domine and Michelle Dexter are very eager to learn and very athletic, according to Rogers.

"Both are smart enough to run the offense the way we need to run it," Rogers predicted.

Knutson is a strong blocker, Rogers said.

"She has improved a lot through hard work," the coach said.

She reserved special praise for player Tracy Edwards.

"She is an all-around good player," Rogers declared. "She is the strongest and most consistent in her fundamentals. She adds a lot of depth to our team."

Rogers said that all the Lady Dogs are positive about the 1996 year. She said that several collegue looking at a couple of the varsity players for scholarships.

"Because we have a lot of returning players we will be more consistent and confident this year," she predicted. "We have a good chance of taking district this year.

"We want public support. The girls need it. Come and see these girls play. You will be surprised."

Season tickets available

The Bandera Bulldogs varsity team will play five home games in 1996. The dates for these home games are Sept. 6 and 20, Oct. 4 and 18, and Nov. 8.

Season ticket buyers in 1995 may purchase the tickets they held last year from Monday, Aug. 19 through Friday, Aug. 23, in the BISD Business Office from 8:30 to 5 p.m.

Prior year season ticket holders who wish to change seats and first-time buyers may purchase tickets beginning Monday, Aug. 26 at the Business Office from 8:30 to 5 p.m.

The cost for a reserved seat for all five games is only $20, which is the same cost per game as for a regular admission ticket purchased at the gate on the night of the game.

Having a reserved seat ticket ensures the ticket holder of a good seat, no matter what time he or she arrives at the game and the ticket holder does not have to wait in line to purchase the ticket on game night.

Drought should not affect dove hunting season

Considering opening day of [illegible] hot and dry anyway, don't expect this year's drought to have much of an impact on the birds or the hunters, according to state wildlife officials.

"If you've hunted doves much in Texas, you know it's probably going to be hot," offered Vernon Bevill, migratory bird program director for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. "And, mourning doves are accustomed to Texas weather conditions. I expect this year's hunting prospects to be similar to past seasons and potentially better in some areas due to dry conditions."

Local Game Warden Lewis Rather said hunting the birds in areas that have water may be a good strategy.

"Dove hunting in Bandera County will be as good as the preparations of the dove hunter," Rather said. "Although food sources are important to doves, of primary importance will be a water source."

To that end, Rather suggested that hunters find sources of water, such as water tanks, ponds and creeks.

"Hunting early in the morning is best," Rather advised.

Texas will normally produce about 50 million mourning doves annually, according to Bevill, and even though biologists around the state have documented a decline in numbers based on their breeding season [illegible] plenty of birds in September.

"Even if statewide production is down to 35 or 40 million mourning doves, that's still a very hardy population and we also get millions of migrant birds passing through Texas that were produced in states to our north," Bevill said.

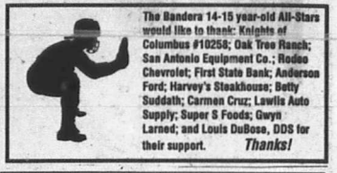
Because mourning doves can [illegible] day during the nesting season and prefer watering and feeding in relatively dry areas, bird activity could actually improve this year, according to Ron George, TPWD wildlife division deputy director. "If there is seed on the ground, dry weather usually makes it easier for doves to feed. They prefer feeding on open ground where they can get to the vegetation and they like to land on dry ground near tanks and lakes when watering."

If the dry weather persists, George added, it may actually be of benefit to hunters, too. "With fewer sources of water, the birds are going to congregate around those remaining water places," he explained. "I wouldn't recommend sitting over a water hole, because doves tend to avoid heavy hunting pressure and you could burn out a spot in a hurry."

George suggests allowing the water to serve as an attractant.

"Back away from the water and take advantage of passing shots at birds coming by. [illegible] somewhat reduced this year, doves will likely be more concentrated and hunting opportunity can be better than usual."

Dove hunting season opens Sunday, Sept. 1 in the North Zone for 60 consecutive days. The Central Zone season runs [illegible] Sept. 1-Oct. 10 and Dec. 26-Jan. 5. In the South Zone, dove season runs Sept. 1-Oct. 10 and Dec. 26-Jan. 5. The daily bag limit is 15 in the aggregate, including no more than six white-winged and two white-tipped doves.



Dove hunters are reminded that a valid Texas hunting license is required, along with a Special White-winged Dove Stamp in order to take white-winged doves in the Special white-winged [illegible]

A PROUD PAST WITH A SOLID FUTURE

Four Generations.
One Insurance Company.
Germania.

Grandpa bought his first Germania farm insurance policy the same year he bought his first Model T. He always said the Model T took a load off his horse and Germania took a load off his mind. He joined Germania because he liked the idea of farmers banding together to protect one another. But he stayed because Germania never let him down. Dad saw the farm through lots of changes. Some of them were pretty scary, but it helped knowing that a strong, reliable company like Germania was there if he needed it. Now that I'm raising my own kids, I know why Dad and Grandpa trusted Germania. It's good doing business with a homegrown Texas company that really understands Texans. Today, Germania provides the home, life, and auto insurance that my family needs. I'm proud to carry on two family traditions: farming and Germania insurance. They've been good to our family for generations.

My kids may not end up on the farm, but if I've raised them right, they'll carry on.

Rio Hondo enjoys King's Kids ministry

Residents of Rio Hondo enjoyed songs and dances presented by the King's Kids, ages 10 to 18, a ministry of the International Organization, Youth With A Mission, at the subdivision park on August 3.

The Kids have been the guests of Barbara Kosko-Holm since their arrival on July 15.

During this time, the 13 Kids and their 10 sponsors, have presented their Bible stories in song, dance and pantomine at area churches and in South Texas and Mexico.

Most effective of these demonstrations was at the Juvenile Detention facility and at an orphange made up of children whose parents are currently imprisoned in Matamoras, Mexico.

The group returned to their home islands of Palau, Yap Chunk, Pohnpei and Saipan on August 4.

On Dec. 31, 1995, tough, new federal regulations aimed at telemarketing fraud took effect. Passage of the Telemarketing and Consumer Fraud and Abuse Prevention Act may put significant dents in the activities of con artists specializing in defrauding consumers over the phone. Some of the things you need to know are:

• If a prize is offered, you have to be told immediately that no purchase or payment is needed to win it.

• It is illegal to make you buy something or to say that a purchase will improve your chance to win. You cannot even be required to pay "shipping charges." The caller must tell you how to enter without making a purchase.

• You cannot be asked to pay in advance for certain services, including cleansing your credit report of damaging credit scammed from you by someone else or acquiring a prize that some telemarketer falsely said you had won. Under the new rules, you pay for these services only if they are actually delivered.

• Telemarketers may not intimidate you or use profane language.

• If you are guaranteed a refund, the caller has to tell you the limitations and particulars. If no refund is mentioned, however, the caller need not tell you anything, so be sure to ask. If no refunds are allowed, however, all telemarketers must disclose [illegible] in addition, so is a good idea to:

• Never give your bank account number or credit card number to strangers who call.

• Ask for written information about the opportunity (this will usually stop most calls immediately).

• Never let anyone send a courier to pick up your check.

• Tell those [illegible] call you again. If they do, they are breaking the new federal law - the Telemarketing and Consumer Fraud and Abuse Prevention Act.

You can have your phone number removed from many national telephone sales lists by writing to: Telephone Preference Service, c/o Direct Marketing Association, P.O. Box 9014, Farmingdale, N.Y. 11735-9008.

The Second Sunday Social for [illegible] combo drew quite a crowd this past Sunday. They honor requests, so make a list of your favorite tunes and join us for the next Social on Sept. 8.

Our weaving class is now open for registration. Classes are held each Tuesday [illegible] Call 796-4969 to register. Cost is $40 per session. Weaver Harry Webb and are lots of fun.

Serena-Fernandez

The semi-formal morning nuptials of Jennifer Elizabeth Serene and Federico Torres Fernandez were held on June 17, 1996.

Serena is the daughter of Lt. Col. and Mrs. Fred L. Serena, Jr., US Army, Ret., of Pipe Creek.

The groom is the son of Maria Rita Zapata and the late Federico Fernandez, Sr. of San Antonio.

Rev. Robert C. Ortiz , Oriente Baptist Church of San Antonio, performed the double ring ceremony at The Historic Little Church of La Villita.

The bride and groom's mothers participated in a unity candle ceremony with their children.

The bride, escorted by her father, wore a formal, floor-length, off-the-shoulder, long-sleeve, ecru satin gown. The bride wore a special head piece with cathedral-length tulle veil. She also wore a gold chain and pave diamond-encrusted heart pendant necklace, a keepsake given to her aunt by the bride's late grandmother, Lee Beth Lowe. The head piece and necklace was loaned for the occasion by the bride's aunt, Terri L. Rodriguez.

Shannon L. Nelson-Serene attended her sister as matron of honor. She was attired in a formal, floor-length hunter-green crepe gown with scooped neckline.

Joe Arredondo, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man. The bride's second cousins, Katie Towns and Samuel Towns, served as flower girl and ring bearer. The bride's uncles, Gary Nelson and Victor Rodriguez, served as ushers.

The bride was proud to have four of her five grandparents, Houston Lowe, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Serena, and Althea Nelson in attendance as special guests.

The bride and groom rode from the chapel to a luncheon reception at the Holiday Inn Riverwalk via a white carriage drawn by a white horse. A cold buffet luncheon meal was served. The wedding flowers, bouquets, boutonnieres and table swags were of pale peach and wedding white silk roses.

The bride is a 1994 graduate of Moanalua High School in Honolulu, Hawaii. The groom is a 1990 graduate of Burbank High School, San Antonio, and completed four years of active duty with the U.S. Army. Currently he is a Petty Officer 3rd Class in the U.S. Naval Reserves.

Both the bride and groom are attending San Antonio College and are employed at the Holiday Inn Riverwalk. After a brief honeymoon in Laredo and Mexico, the couple are residing in San Antonio.

Castroville gearing up for big day

Castroville — The usually peaceful town of Castroville is bracing itself for its biggest event of the year - St. Louis Day. The famed celebration, designated by the Texas Tourist Agency as "the Homecoming for the State of Texas" is slated for [illegible]

The 114-year-old picnic will kick off in dignified style this year with a 9 a.m. Mass in historic 136-year-old St. Louis Catholic Church. Former assistant pastor Rev. David Meurer will celebrate the Mass and inspiring music and song will be provided by the famous Liederkranz Men's Choir of San Antonio. Rev. Mike Moran is pastor of St. Louis parish.

After the church service, Father Meurer and the Men's Choir will make their way down to shady Koenig Park where all will enjoy a part of Castroville-style food, fun and fellowship.

The main attraction, under the spacious dining pavilion, will be a heaping plate of Alsatian-style sausage and BBQ beef with all the trimmings, followed by a moist slice of homemade cake and a cup of coffee. The two efficient serving areas eliminate any long waiting lines for hungry picnickers. Advance meal tickets are available at the regular ticket price of $5. Send check or money order to St. Louis Day Celebration, 610 Madrid, Castroville, TX 78009.

Besides the scrumptious meal, there will be activities, games, booths and entertainment of all kinds on the Koenig Park grounds all day. The entertainment during the day will include live performances on an outdoor stage by popular bands and singing and dance groups.

The best Alsatian Dancers of Castroville, Texas will kick off the afternoon entertainment with a noon performance.

Other groups following will be the Polish Dancers of Texas, the Flemish Folk Dancers from the Belgium-American Club, the Pre-on-the-mountain Choppers of San Antonio, The New Republic, featuring the music and song of locals Teresa and Tony Hackebeil, and the ever-popular San Antonio Community 50-piece band.

An afternoon silent auction, in air-conditioned Koenig Park Hall, will feature antiques, as well as specialty items, arts and crafts, horseshoe pitching and volleyball tournaments, Bingo, and game booths for young and old. One drawing will see two beautifully hand-stitched quilts, valued at $1200 to $1500 each, given to some lucky winners.

Free parking is available at or near the park on picnic day, or visitors may use the free shuttle buses that will travel between the park and the town square at the church all day long. There is no admission charge to get on the park grounds on picnic day.

Checking that good barbecue beef at a recent St. Louis Day Celebration in Castroville are a couple of the many expert barbecuers. Celebration date this year is Aug. 25, at Koenig Park.

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the EFFECTIVE tax rate that the unit published on AUGUST 7, 1996. The following table compares taxes on an average home to the taxes imposed on the home last year and the proposed taxes. Actual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$ 56,252	$ 58,686
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 5,000	$ 5,000
Average taxable value	$ 49,252	$ 53,686
Tax rate	1.05 /100	1.05/100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 517.14	$ 561.60 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would INCREASE by $ 44.46 or 8.6 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would INCREASE by $ -0- per $100 of taxable value or -0- percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

The Clark House

Mada Fitzgerald

Howard Cain from the First Baptist Church preached on "Loneliness" Sunday afternoon. Maria Cain was the soloist. Fred [illegible] was the pianist and Rose Greenawalt was the song leader.

[illegible] Fitzpatrick, Dorothy Clark, Aggie Batts, Dorothy Callahan, Fermie Caffall, Josie Kluna, and Annette Kalka-Schulte of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church visited, played and sang with resident friends Brenda Adam, [illegible] Faris, Merle Shiflet, Maude [illegible] Heinrich and Nedene Clark.

A group of residents enjoyed playing Bingo Monday morning, thanks to Ann Stackhouse.

The residents always look forward to the first Tuesday of each month when The Melodiers come for their monthly visit. Their program was about Western Songs.

Thad and Joyce Gillaman visited Ette Autry.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ had Bible reading for the residents Wednesday morning. He also took Jack Holloway to services Sunday morning.

Harvey Rogers entertained the residents Thursday with songs. Everyone always enjoys his visits.

Another group the residents look forward to is from St. Stanislaus. They come every [illegible] snacks to the residents and give them flowers from a local flower shop.

A big thanks to Mallory Herbst, Kathryn Miller, Jennifer Bates, Megan Plunket, Brandi Crist, Shannon Patrick, Ashley Knox, Tamma Bruton, Shane Patrick and Kristina Miller from Bandera 4-H who brought the residents Red Buddies to keep Bingo by their cards.

Beulah Faris's guests last week were R.E. and Geri Buckelew, Linda Barnes, Mary Faris, Lois Buxkemper, Etta Sutton, Ernest and Frances Faris and Howard Rash.

I would like for you to get to know our administrator David Byers. After graduation from high school in Alaska, he owned a grocery store before deciding he wanted to be a nursing home administrator. He graduated from UTSA, and took his internship for one year at Autumn Winds Nursing Home in Schertz, before coming to The Clark House in Bandera where he is doing a good job. We invite everyone to come by and get acquainted with David and other members of our staff.

We are very proud of our employees for their love and care they give the residents.

School is in! Watch out for the kids!

Bandera County
Emergency Medical Service
"When Seconds Count"

by...Micol L. Konvicka, EMT #34

Thank you Bandera County residents and businesses!! It was a lot of hard work, but we have reached our goal of $16,500 and now have a new AED, heart monitor on each of our four primary ambulances.

The training class is set to begin shortly. What this means for the residents of Bandera County is there will be approximately 10 more EMTs trained who can perform advanced skills such as IV's, etc. This will greatly improve our EMS system.

This class will require approximately 150 hours of training and hospital time in order for the EMTs to take the state certification test. All of the Bandera County volunteer EMT's have the same training and have to pass the same state requirements as the larger paid systems.

Approximately 23 Bandera County EMTs took the Prehospital Pediatric Providers course this past weekend from Kendall County paramedic Joelle Madden. The EMTs would like to thank everybody who brought children to the class and those who provided food.

A Basic Trauma Life Support class is planned this fall for the EMTs. Anyone who has not signed up and would like to, needs to contact their chapter representative.

The following is from an article that was published in the Firehouse/May 1995 magazine. It describes rural EMS responders very well.

"The reality of rural EMS is that almost every patient is a friend, neighbor or relative. In the city, EMS crews can just transport their patients, we have to treat them, too.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Today there are some who find themselves asking, "What good does a funeral really do?" Beyond providing a [illegible] deceased, the funeral does a great deal for those whose lives go on. For the bereaved family, their friends, their close acquaintances in the community, it is a shared moment. . .to realize, to reflect, to reaffirm. . .

Encircled by the strength of others who care, those who grieve begin to accept the reality of death. They know it has happened, even though a part of their mind rejects it. The funeral service takes them gently by the shoulders and turns them to face it. And having faced it, having viewed it in [illegible] moments shared together, things are easier.

One other thing a funeral does for us - is to reaffirm the faith, the creed, or philosophy by which one's life was guided . . . As the poet John Donne said: "No man is an island - His death touches the world." . . A funeral considers the feeling of all those who shared his life. . .a most unique moment of sharing. . .for family. . .for friends. . .for society.

All persons named in the captions above are delinquent tax suits in which judgments of foreclosure have been rendered and Orders of Sale have been issued. The listing for each suit sets out: (1) the Cause Number; (2) the Plaintiff Tax Unit; (3) the Defendants; (4) the date of the Judgment; (5) the date of Levy; and (6) the Property Description.

Under the Order of Sale issued pursuant to said judgments, I have noted that I did at the time specified for each suit levy upon each Property in such suit as described above as the property of the Defendants named or designated in such suit. On the sale date specified above, which is the first Tuesday of said month, I will offer said Property at public auction, for cash, each property described above, and all the right, title, interest and estate in and to each such property owned or claimed by the Defendants named in connection with each such property; PROVIDED, however, that no property shall be sold directly or indirectly to anyone other than a Tax Unit which is a party to that specific suit for less than the total amount of taxes, penalty, interest and costs due against that particular property or any adjudged value decreed, whichever is lower.

The Foreclosure Sales under this Notice will be held on the first Tuesday of said month, at the Courthouse door of said County, at the time set out above, by and through the PARMER, STEEN & YOUNG, P.C., 3001 N. Lamar Blvd., Suite 306, Austin, Texas 78705, Telephone (512)476-4688 and Telecopier (512) 476-0325, my authorized representative.

The sale of each property shall be subject to the rights of the Defendants named in connection with each particular property, and any successors in title, to redeem such specified property in the time and manner provided by law; and subject also to the rights of any defendants to have each particular property owned or claimed by such defendants divided and sold in less divisions than the whole as provided by law. The sale as to each property is to be made to satisfy the Judgment rendered against that particular property and the Defendants named in connection with that particular property. The proceeds of the Sale of each property are to be applied to the satisfaction of the Judgment against that particular property and the remainder of the sale proceeds, if any, are to be applied as the law directs.

Howard Cain from the First Baptist Church preached on "Loneliness" Sunday afternoon. Merle Cain was the soloist. Fred [illegible] was the pianist and Rose Greenawalt was the song leader.

[illegible] were Mary Fitzpatrick, Dorothy Clark, Aggie Bette, Dorothy Callahan, Fannie Caffall, Josie Kluna, and Annette Kalka-Schulte of St. Stanislaus Catholic Church visited and sang with resident friends Brenda Adam, [illegible], Beulah Faris, Merle Shiflet, Maude [illegible], Elizabeth Bass, Heinrich and Nadene Clark.

A group of residents enjoyed playing Bingo Monday morning, thanks to Ann Stackhouse.

The residents always look forward to the first Tuesday of each month when The Melodiers come for their monthly visit. Their program was about Western Songs.

Thad and Joyce Gillman visited Ette Autry.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ had Bible reading for the residents Wednesday morning. He also took Jack Holloway to services Sunday morning.

Harvey Rogers entertained the residents Thursday with songs. Everyone always enjoys his visits.

Another group the residents look forward to is from St. Stanislaus. They come every [illegible] and bring refreshments, snacks to the residents and give them flowers from a local flower shop.

A big thanks to Mallory Herbst, Kathryn Miller, Jennifer Stacie, Megan Plunket, Brandi Crist, Shannon Patrick, Ashley Keen, Jemma Bruton, Shane Patrick and Kristina Miller from Bandera 4-H who brought the residents bed baskets to keep things by their beds.

Beulah Faris's guests last week were R.E. and Geri Buckelew, Linda Barnes, Mary Faris, Lois Buxkemper, Etta Sutton, Ernest and Frances Faris and Howard Raab.

I would like for you to get to know our new director David Byers. After graduation from high school in Alaska, he owned a grocery store before deciding he wanted to be a nursing home administrator. He graduated from UTSA, and took his internship for one year at Autumn Winds Nursing Home in Schertz, before coming to The Clark House in Bandera where he is doing a good job. We invite everyone to come by and get acquainted with David and other members of our staff.

We are very proud of our employees for their love and care they give the residents.

School is in! Watch out for the kids!

Bandera County
Emergency Medical Service
"When Seconds Count"

by...Micol L. Konvicka, EMT #34

Thank you Bandera County residents and businesses!! It was a lot of hard work, but we have reached our goal of $16,500 and now have a new AED, heart monitor on each of our four primary ambulances.

The [illegible] ing class is set to begin shortly. What this means for the residents of Bandera County is there will be approximately 10 more EMTs trained who can perform advanced skills such as IV's, etc. This will greatly improve our EMS system.

This class will require approximately 150 hours of training and hospital time in order for the EMTs to take the state certification test. All of the Bandera County volunteer EMT's have the same training and have to pass the same state requirements as the larger paid systems.

Approximately 23 Bandera County EMTs took the Prehospital Pediatric Providers course this past weekend from Kendall County paramedic Leslie Madden. The EMTs would like to thank everybody who brought children to the class and those who provided food.

A Basic Trauma Life Support class is planned this fall for the EMTs. Anyone who has not signed up and would like to, needs to contact their chapter representative.

The following is from an article that was published in the Firehouse/May 1995 magazine. It describes rural EMS responders very well.

"The reality of rural EMS is that almost every patient is a friend, neighbor or relative. In the city, EMS crews can just transport their patients, we have to treat them, too.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Today there are some who find themselves asking, "What good does a funeral really do?" Beyond [illegible] the deceased, the funeral does a great deal for those whose lives go on. For the bereaved family, their friends, their close acquaintances in the community, it is a shared moment. . .to realize, to reflect, to reaffirm. . .

Encircled by the strength of others who care, those who grieve begin to accept the reality of death. They know it has happened, even though a part of their mind rejects it. The funeral service takes them gently by the shoulders and turns them to face it. And having faced it, having viewed it in [illegible] moments shared together, things are easier.

One other thing a funeral does for us - is to reaffirm the faith, the creed, or philosophy by which one's life was guided . . . As the poet John Donne said: "No man is an island . His death touches the world." . . A funeral considers the feeling of all those who shared his life. . .a most unique moment of sharing. . .for family. . .for friends. . .for society.

Sheriff looks at Mansfield Park for jail space

State Jail Commission requires solution to over-crowding in the county jail

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

With tougher laws and sentencing becoming the norm in the war against crime, counties all over Texas are having to deal with jail overcrowding, and Bandera County is no exception.

The Bandera County jail, built to hold 15 prisoners, had an average daily population of 25 inmates for the month of July.

"The Texas Jail Commission has asked us what we plan to do to deal with our overcrowding," Sheriff James MacMillan said. "And they'd like to know a time frame, so they don't have to set one."

Although the sheriff said that it is his job to administer the jail, he said the county will have to come up with a solution to the jail overcrowding problem.

Many recent studies have been done in the county, with architects and engineering firms submitting different feasibility studies such as building a new jail, or expanding the old one.

But these options will take time and money, and the need to remedy the overcrowding is pressing.

In neighboring Medina County, thousands of dollars have been spent farming out prisoners to larger, less crowded facilities in other counties.

This option is becoming more and more a reality in Bandera.

In the 1996-97 budget, which has not yet been approved, MacMillan says he has requested $100,000 be set aside for housing prisoners out of county.

Terry Julian, from the Texas Jail Commission looks over the Mansfield Park Rec Center with Sheriff James MacMillan.

"$100,000 is probably underbudgeted, and that does not include transportation," MacMillan said. It is also based on housing only 10 prisoners a day out of county.

Another option, presented to the county commissioners at court Wednesday morning, involved the temporary housing of up to 96 minimum security prisoners at the recreation center in Mansfield Park.

The cost for such an operation would be $10,000 to $15,000.

"It is something that shows [the state Jail Commission] we are working towards a solution and it may give us some breathing room," MacMillan told the commissioners.

A representative from the Texas Jail Standards Commission has already visited the facility.

"It's a doable plan," said Terry Julian, who looked over the building with MacMillan two weeks ago. "You need to do something pretty quick."

MacMillan stressed that the men who would be housed at the rec center are non-violent, minimum security prisoners.

"They are non-violent and they would be guarded at all times," he said. "They are short-term offenders sitting out fines."

MacMillan said that most of the men are people who haven't paid a traffic ticket, or misdemeanor offenders who don't pay their fines.

Many of these people are presently free, and that is partly because of the jail overcrowding.

"Do we just not put people in jail, or put people out on PR (personal recognizance) bonds that shouldn't be out?" MacMillan said. "This is only a temporary immediate solution, but we still need a long-range permanent plan."

Bo Evans exhibited the Grand Champion and Reserve Grand Champion Angora Doe at the Texas Angora Goat Raisers annual show and sale held in Rocksprings July 26 and 27. Bo also showed the first place Get-of-Sire and the first place Breeders Flock. At the Mills County Registered Angora Goats Breeder's annual show and sale, Bo had the first, second, and third place yearling does and the fifth place buck kid. At the Sonora Wool and Mohair Show held in June, Bo won the Premier Exhibitor Award for the third time in the past five years.

BISD board approves $9.9 million budget

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

A divided Bandera ISD board finally agreed to adopt an almost $10 million budget for the 1996-97 fiscal year at a meeting held Tuesday, Aug. 13. The approval came after a tie vote that blocked acceptance of the first budget presented by Superintendent Gus Pfeiffer.

To fund the budget, Pfeiffer recommended a total tax rate of $1.55536, which is just slightly lower that last year's total tax rate of $1.55836.

The $9,997, 320 budget will need to raise $5,376,758 from local revenues and will take $15,000 from the district's fund balance.

The board had spent several budget workshops looking at the budget which reflects a 14 percent increase over the previous year.

When first presented to the board Tuesday, the budget was opposed by trustees Margaret Paradee, Dave Koehler and Pat Cleaver. Rand Hicks, Scott Middleton and board president Scott Parker voted for it.

Items causing contention included using an already low fund balance to make up part of the budget expenditures for the purchase of four new school buses.

Superintendent Gus Pfeiffer told the board he did not see any fat in this budget. But several board members continued to look for areas to trim expenses.

At a budget workshop held earlier this summer, Cleaver told the board, "I don't like spending more than you make. Maybe we need to rely more on the parents and booster clubs for some of the extra-curricular needs."

"I'm not saying we don't need [the buses]. But we need to stay within our income."
–Dave Koehler

Cleaver and Paradee bemoaned the fact that the district does not use zero-based budgeting.

"Last year the football budget went way up and we were told it was for uniforms and it was a one time deal," said Cleaver. "Now this year that amount is still there plus some more."

"The time has come to re-evaluate every item," added

BMS sponsoring TAAS Back-to-school dance

The Bandera Middle School will sponsor a TAAS "Back to School" Dance on Friday, Aug. 23 from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. The dance will be held in the Middle School gym and cafeteria. All students are invited. The dance will be chaperoned by school personnel and PTO parents as well as representatives from local law enforcement agencies.

Cost of the dance is $1.00 or students may present their TAAS CARD for free admission. The PTO will also sponsor a concession booth which will include nachos, Frito pie, snacks and soft drinks at nominal prices. Complimentary fruit punch will also be available.

Students may be dropped off at the gym beginning at 6:45 p.m.

In an effort to insure that all students get home safely, parents are requested to personally come to the cafeteria area to pick up their child and any others who may be riding with them. No students will be allowed to leave the dance unless a parent or other adult is there to pick them up. Parents are also urged to be as prompt as possible.

For questions or additional information, please contact the Middle School office.

Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

The exhibit is entitled First Artist of the West: Paintings and Watercolors by George Catlin, From Gilcrease Museum, and runs through Sept. 22.

The exhibit will include 25 rare watercolors and 35 key oil paintings created by Catlin over 150 years ago.

Speeders, beware...

The sheriff of Bandera County has a new weapon in his arsenal of equipment to deal with school zone speeders.

The speed monitor flashes the speed of drivers on a bright LCD display as they approach a school zone.

"Our intention is to remind people [illegible] in school zones," Sheriff James MacMillan said. "We can issue citations, but we have established our purpose if we can get them to slow down."

For the most part, the sheriff says, he just wants people to be aware of their speed, but if it is necessary, a video camera in the patrol car will take a picture of the driver of a speeding vehicle for use later in court.

"If it keeps one kid from getting hurt, or one accident from happening, it's worth it," MacMillan said.

Kerrville Deer feeding seminar sponsored by Texas A&M

A two-day symposium, "Supplemental Feeding for Deer: Beyond Dogma" is set for Oct. 8-9 at Kerrville's YO Holiday Inn.

An optional tour and mixer at the historic YO Ranch has also been planned for 3 p.m. Oct. 7.

Formal symposium activities start at 8 a.m. on Oct. 8 with registration and refreshments at the YO Holiday Inn.

The event is sponsored by the Texas A&M University System.

"Supplemental feeding is the practice of supplying feedstuffs to correct nutritional deficiencies in a deer's "natural" diet," said Dr. Dale Rollins, San Angelo-based Extension wildlife specialist and a symposium coordinator.

"With few exceptions, no other aspect of deer management is applied with such enthusiasm and uncertainty as is supplemental feeding. As the quest for producing quality white-tailed deer intensifies, so does the interest in practices designed to fast-forward the process."

Rollins said many hunters use corn feeders during hunting season, but the practice is only halting since no thought is given to the specific needs of the animals.

"This symposium is for the 'graduate level' deer managers who are serious about the science of supplementing ruminants, and in evaluating the impacts of supplementation on deer and their habitat," he said.

Topics in the first session includes the nutrient requirements of deer, the range and supplement interaction, feeds and feeding, evaluating rations and not-traditional feedstuffs, and setting up a feed program.

The second session begins at 1:15 p.m. Its talks include food plot strategies, evaluating feeding programs, case studies of supplemental herds, and a "shoot from the hip" session that deals with social concerns relative to supplementation of "high fenced" deer herds.

Feeder designs, feeding strategies, and record keeping will be included in the third session on Oct. 9 at 8:30 a.m.

Session 4 concludes the symposium. The concerns are potential impacts of range, aflatoxins and disease concerns, ethics of feeding and hunting and research needs.

Registration is $100 per person until Oct. 1 and $125 after Oct. 1 and at the door. The mixer at the YO Ranch is $15. For further information contact Dr. Dale Rollins at (915) 653-4576.

Property tax relief committee holding public hearing in SA

As local taxing entities try to hold the line on budget to avoid tax increases, more and more property owners are asking for relief from the tax burden that continues to climb.

The Citizens Committee on Property Tax Relief will hold a public hearing Monday, Oct. [illegible] at 9:30 a.m. at the City Council Chambers, 103 Main Plaza in San Antonio.

The committee is charged with replacing the property tax for school funding.

Bandera ISD superintendent Gus "Skip" Pfeiffer encourages local taxpayers to become involved in the hearing process. "The state legislature continues to send mandated programs to the local school district with no funding provided. The local district then has to look to increased property taxes to fund the mandates."

Several months ago, Gov. George W. Bush asked Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock, House Speaker Pete Laney and State Comptroller John Sharp to assist in a multi-agency work group to develop possible replacements for the school property tax. The group reviewed a variety of taxes and developed a series of property tax alternatives.

Texas property taxes totaled more than $15.4 billion in 1994 and have more than doubled over the past decade. School property taxes account for almost 60 percent of the total property taxes, with school taxes increasing from $9 billion in 1994 to $9.3 billion in 1995. For [illegible] an estimated 30 percent to a typical mortgage payment. For [illegible], property taxes fall heavily on capital investment.

The work group submitted a March report to the Governor as a beginning point for discussing the replacement of the school property tax.

The Governor has announced plans for a series of regional seminars around the state conducted by a select committee. The committee's purpose is to hear comments on the alternatives. The work group's report identified three options: a business activity tax, a business gross receipts tax and changes to the current state sales tax.

The business activity tax would be a broad-based Texas business tax applying to "mark-up" with a deduction for capital investment. All types of businesses, corporations, partnerships, proprietorships, would pay, impacting each industry in proportion to its role in the Texas economy. This tax is similar to the European value-added tax that taxes production uniformly throughout the economy and eliminates tax pyramiding.

The gross receipts tax would be a broad-based business tax applying to gross receipts from business in Texas. Again, this tax would apply to all types of businesses. Gross receipts would include all business and investment income apportioned to Texas; receipts from sales outside of Texas would not be taxed.

Changes to the sales tax would include broadening the sales tax base, with possible adjustments in the tax rate. Almost 600,000 businesses in Texas collect a sales tax at the time a taxable item is purchased. While the state sales tax rate of 6.25 percent is the fifth highest in the nation, its sales tax base ranks about in the middle of all the states.

Texas exempts some items that other states tax, such as food, residential utilities and gasoline; but, Texas does tax [illegible] other states do not. By eliminating all sales tax exemptions and exclusions, an additional $12 billion in revenue would be available, more than needed to replace the school property tax. The sales [illegible] would be used at the same time to create an overall revenue neutral effect.

Citizens should contact the office of the Governor, State Rep. Bob Turner and State Senator Jeff Wentworth to express their views regarding changes to the property tax school funding. Addresses and phone numbers may be found on page 4 of The Bulletin.

Buddhists welcome visitors, students and practitioners

Every day services at the Buddhist monastery on the Cross Dot Ranch in Pipe Creek are as follows: 5 a.m. morning chanting and meditation; 11 a.m. lunch service; 9 p.m. evening chanting, meditation and talks.

The monks are allowed one meal a day, at 11 a.m. It is customary for everyone to donate a dish of food, in pot-luck fashion, for merit and blessings. There is, however, no obligation to contribute.

Everyone who wishes to practice, learn about Buddhism or just visit is welcome.

Benefit sale a huge success

Young Jesse Cardenas, center front, enjoyed visiting with some of the many volunteers at a benefit sale held for him and his family. "Although he has a long road ahead of him including surgery and rehabilitation, he is a marvelous miracle to behold. His huge smile and bubbling happiness were an honor to receive," said Linda Balson, sale organizer. Johnny Cardenas, father of young Jesse, expressed his thanks to this remarkable community for the love and support, donations of items for the sale, participation in collecting, moving, storing, setting up, "manning the post," and cleaning up. The sale was a huge success, say organizers.

Letters to the Editor

Commissioner deserves thanks for performance

Dear Editor:

many of us are quick to criticize our elected officials when they don't do what we feel is appropriate. By the same token, we should commend them when credit is due.

Having said that, I believe we owe a debt of gratitude to Commissioner Jim Adams for all of the work he has done in planning, designing and actually building the new county annex in Lakehills. After the bids to finish the interior of the building came in considerably over budget, he and others involved decided to do the work themselves. Although a number of volunteers assisted in the construction, no one worked as hard or put in as much of their own personal time as Alanis. It seems his truck was always there so it was easy to tell when he was working. He did all of this without tooting his own horn and I believe recognition for his efforts is overdue.

As soon as the building was finished, with the concurrence of his fellow commissioners, he took on the project of trying to make the county maintenance facility operate more effectively and efficiently. You have documented his efforts in that regard.

We appreciate Commissioner Alanis' efforts.

Do we need room?

Dear Editor:

Here we go again! I thought Pfeiffer's (BISD Superintendent Gus Pfeiffer) theme sounded familiar, so I did some research. In 1974 the school reported enrollment of 886 students. At the end of this past school year, they reported about 2082 students. This is an average yearly growth of 55 students over the last 22 years.

Since then we have built a high school and two elementary schools. According to school records this made room for 2,000 more students.

The school now has 1,196 students.

Each of the three newly built schools were designed for future growth by adding wings at a minimum cost. There is more than enough room on each site for expansion. There is currently eight new classrooms being built at the junior high. This could house about 200 more students there.

In 1974 four sites were studied for the current high school. In these studies the TEA reported that site #3 (Bandera Downs) was a poor site. One reason you can only reach it by one entrance. Another reason was the drainage problem which hasn't been resolved today. This drainage problem, according to TEA would create a serious health problem due to poor sewage drainage.

The high school was built to hold 600 students. Last school year's enrollment was an average of 520 students. Furthermore, the design of the building allowed expansion by building between the wings. This would be much cheaper and increase the capacity to over 1,000 students. The current site has 54 acres, plenty of room for expansion.

The junior high school in 1974 when school enrollment was 886 students housed grades 1-12. So, we can assume it holds at least that much, if not more due to the eight new classrooms now being built. The last year's junior high enrollment was about 511 students.

Hill County Elementary was built to house 700 students. The last school year's enrollment was about 400 students.

Alkek Elementary was also built to house 700 students. It's last school year's enrollment was about 650 students. Both elementaries were built to be added on to by building another wing which would save taxpayer's money.

If you take the elementaries at 700 each and the current high school at 600 and add the junior high at about 800 then you have room for about 2,800 students. This is before adding the eight new classrooms at the junior high. The last year's enrollment was about 2,100 students. If we are averaging abut 55 students per year growth then we have about 10 years growth without building anything else. Apparently, Pfeiffer wants a 20 million dollar football stadium at taxpayer's expense.

Watch out for kids

Dear Editor:

To the dark sedan on Highway 16 South just past the race track around 3:20 p.m. Wednesday:

Did my honking annoy you? I hope so- it may have saved a little girl's life. Remember the stopped school bus? The bus had already gone from flashing its yellow lights to red, was at a complete stop straddling the broken white line, and had its stop sign out when you chose to ignore it.

As I sat there waiting I saw in my rear view mirror that you were NOT going to stop. The bus door was open and I just had time to hope the student (a) lived in the South side of Highway 16 and not the North (thus having to cross blindly into your car's path) when you sped by.

Luckily, your 60 MPH car missed the little girl as she skipped across the highway. You missed her by a whole 2 seconds. She stepped out from the front of the bus just after your car passed, straddling the double yellow line to squeeze by the bus.

As I watched you turn down Privilege Creek Road I wondered if you realize how close you were to killing that child? And as I looked up I realized with horror that the bus you roared by was MY CHILDS bus.

Please, Please obey the law and STOP for school buses when their red lights are flashing- the child you save may be mine.

Election not fair?

Dear Editor:

I am appalled to learn that a small group of people (the Republican Executive Committee) will determine who will be our next county judge. I do not question the integrity, knowledge or ability of the members of the committee, but I do question the process that takes the vote out of the hands of the citizens of the county.

The people of Bandera County should be the ones to determine who the next judge will be, that is our right and our responsibility. With our county growing faster than ever and starting to see problems and challenges that we have never before faced, it is extremely important that our officials be selected through the voice of the people and not by a small group whose intentions are undoubtedly above reproach.

The county judge, commissioners, leaders of the Republican and Democratic parties, and if necessary, the state attorney general need to solve this problem.

Possibly a special election could be held or multiple candidates representing the party could be placed on the November ballot. Granted this will be an expense to the county and there will also most likely be a run-off election, but it sure beats the alternative that deprives the voters of the county of their right and responsibility.

Jim Martin
Pipe Creek

ed. note: All political parties have the opportunity to place a nominee on the November ballot for the office of county judge. Both the Democrats and the Republicans have been holding public meetings and have welcomed input from all county citizens on this matter. In addition, candidates had the opportunity to file as independents. This nomination process is a somewhat unusual circumstance following the resignation of County Judge Roger Raser.

Editorial...

The Bulletin would like to present all sides of the bond election issue, but one requirement of the presentation will be a careful attention to facts. And we will be the first to admit that finding the facts in as complex an issue as a school bond election can be very difficult.

We anticipate many letters on the issue. One letter in today's edition contains information that bears deeper scrutiny.

When a bond issue was put before the taxpayers in 1971, it was intended to build a new high school and provide significant renovations to existing facilities.

That bond election failed even though the school was so crowded that classes were held on the lawn on election days because a classroom was a polling place. In 1974 the bond was re-submitted to the public. Costs had risen from $15 a sq. ft. to $22 a sq. foot. The 3¢ mission bond was to include money to purchase an elementary school site in the Pipe Creek area.

It was only the sale of the 17,674 acres of school land in South Texas that promised no increase in taxes that allowed the 1974 bond to pass.

The original plan included moving 7-12 grade to the new facility. However, before the bond passed and the new high school was built, the population of the school had grown enough that it was no longer considered feasible to move the junior high classes to the new school.

Using "facts" from 1974 can be misleading in other ways as well. In 1974 the maximum allowed in a class was 35 students. In 1984, the state legislature lowered that maximum to 22. While the state allows some leeway of a couple of students, if we have three sections of fifth grade with say, 22, 22 and 25 students, we have to plan to divide the fifth grade into four sections and hire another teacher. That is not a local rule, but a state rule.

It's also difficult to use 1974 data for capacity figures at Bandera Middle School. In 1974, some classes were held in several rather run-down surplus military barracks. Those buildings were removed some time ago. The Merrick Educational building was constructed and a series of temporary portable buildings have been set up, removed and set up again on the campus to keep up with changing student populations at that campus.

And while 55 students per year in growth may be an average since 1974, since 1992 the school population has grown by over 130 students per year. Last year, the increase was 188 students. School officials do not expect that growth to slow in the foreseeable future.

In 1995-96 BISD spent $176,759 for temporary portable buildings on school campuses, an expensive source of campus facilities.

In addition to the lower maximum student per teacher ratio now required, the state has sent down a variety of other regulations that local districts have to meet. The Texas Legislature mandated that the High School must offer all of the courses for which the State Board had "essential elements," and if 10 or more students chose to take a course that was offered, the school had to implement it.

As a result, BISD now offers physics, 3rd and 4th year foreign language, calculus, advanced placement English, physiology and anatomy, chemistry II, biology II and other courses. Math and English acceleration classes for students who have not done well on the TAAS test are also required. Enrollment in these classes is usually under 20.

Special ed and vocational programs have also increased space demands for the district.

Jim Pfluger of Pfluger and Associates of Austin, the architects for Alkek Elementary School, said that school was planned 11 years ago to hold 800 students with three shifts in the cafeteria for lunch. "But changes in programs and mandates can change capacity totals," said Pfluger. "We've been re-doing a lot of high schools built to hold 1800 students 15 years ago which now cannot provide programs for 1200."

A spokesman for Fromberg and Associates of Austin, architects for Hill Country Elementary, said that school was built to hold 600 students and was designed to have an additional wing added on.

We encourage interested citizens to contact their school board members and Superintendent Gus Pfeiffer to share their views on the bond election.

We also encourage everyone, school officials and taxpayers, to stick to the facts in this very emotional issue.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

I did a little late evening grocery shopping the other evening. (Well, as late as you can shop in Bandera.) I was tired and running at low mentally. You know the feeling. You're still functioning, but everything is on automatic pilot. Just as long as no one asks you a question requiring you to think, you can keep moving.

So I'm leaning heavily on my cart, dragging slowly through the produce department, when two kids, maybe 7-8 years old or a little older, come tearing around the corner racing with a couple of grocery carts.

They just barely miss hitting my cart and a couple of cans of bean dip go rolling across the floor as they bang against the chip and dip rack as they disappear down Aisle 3.

As I continue through my dazed shopping, I am vaguely aware of childish squeals and cans crashing in adjoining aisles.

Coming out of Aisle 4, I just barely stop in time to avoid the little hellions again as they race past. "Who are these kids anyway?" I wondered.

Since there were a few store employees stocking shelves throughout the store and none of them was stopping the destruction, I guessed that they might be the children of the boss or someone really important.

But even boss's children should be expected to behave in public places, don't you agree?

The pair finally decided they had frightened enough shoppers and done enough damage and laughingly ran from the store.

I don't know who they were, but every aisle I went down had groceries knocked onto the floor that I had to dodge around. There was even a torn bag of insecticide dribbling its contents onto the floor.

Why did no one stop the villains? Why didn't I?

I believe we can let the vandals and punks take over the world by our apathy, or we can do something about them. I regret that this time I let them have their way when all I needed to do was grab hold of the racing carts and not let go. Their fun would have been over and they'd have left, I'm sure.

Instead, I kept on doing my shopping, telling myself it was someone else's responsibility, and I was too tired to get involved anyway.

Shame on me.

Noted cowboy poets share their stories at Labor Day gathering

Some of the nation's top cowboy poets and storytellers will be performing in Bandera next weekend.

Sessions at the All-American Cowboy Get-Together here in Bandera Labor Day weekend.

Rudy Gonzales, noted cowboy poet from Eagle, Idaho will be there, doing some of his poetry that has made him one of the most sought-after poets in the country. Rudy has two nationally distributed videos of his performances on sale.

Other noted poets who will be performing here are Bob Kahla or Stowell, TX; Don Pitts of Abilene; Wayne Cornett of Midland, and Ron Moore and Pete Davis, both of Kerrville, to name just a few.

"Cowboy poetry can be hilariously funny, or very serious and touching," said Get-Together organizer Rudy Robbins. "If you have never heard cowboy poetry, do yourself a favor. Sit in on these sessions Labor Day weekend."

Along with the poetry, the Get-Together will have two stages of grand old cowboy music, reminiscent of the songs of the Sons of the Pioneers and the singing cowboys of the silver screen.

A chuckwagon cookoff will offer a chance for you to eat a meal cooked over hot coals and served right out of the pots.

Additionally, there will be numerous cowboy arts and crafts booths to browse through.

A benefit for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association, the All-American Cowboy Get-Together will be Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 at the show barn at Mansfield Park.

The event runs from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. both days. Tickets are $5 for adults, $2 for kids 12 and under, lap young'uns free.

For more information, call Rudy Robbins at 210-796-3269.

Satin Dolls conduct local dance camp

Earlier this month the Bandera High School Satin Dolls attended summer dance camp. This year the camp came to Bandera.

Additionally, there will be numerous cowboy arts and crafts booths to browse through.

Director Cindy Fearon reported the girls worked extremely hard for three days learning dance routines that will be performed during the upcoming football season.

At the end of camp individual team members auditioned for All Star Dance Company and All Star Kick Company. The girls were chosen for these spots through an audition process as well as their performance, discipline, and dedication shown throughout the week. The following girls were named to the All-Star Dance Company: Stephanie Garza, Shannan Hubbard, Crystal Comer, Cherise Stricker, and Sommer Camden.

Members of the All-Star Kick Company include: Garza, Hubbard, Comer, Stricker, Camden, Nancy Donovan and Rena North.

Cherise Stricker was named All-Star Kick Champion and Stephanie Garza was named All-Star Dance Champion.

These girls will be eligible to perform at several out-of-town performances such as bowl games and parades throughout the year.

"The Satin Dolls are excited about their upcoming season and looking forward to performing during the Bulldog football games, pep rallies and more," said Fearon.

The two hardest things to do are to leave home here in the Bandera hill country to go anywhere, and then—once we've made the big leap across the water—to leave home in Ireland for anywhere. There is something so mystically compelling in the sky, the mountains, the changing colors of the sea in Ireland that time stands still, only real things matter, and the universe truly seems at one. I found it at the end of the peninsula said at the end of a gorgeous evening, "We've been here sixteen years, and it seems like only a weekend."

Not that Ireland doesn't have its daily troubles—like dropped-out distance runners in the Olympics, fears of mad cow disease, and troubling echoes of the jingoistic strife in the North—most recently in Derry. But Ulster is learning. It's the marching season up there where Unionists in their sashes and swords parade through Catholic areas just to show who's boss. This year things started to get out of hand after the wrong-headed breaking of the cease fire by the mob calling itself the IRA. But just as the Apprentice Boys, 10,000 strong, assembled to march around the ancient walls of Derry, they suddenly had an attack of common sense and backed down from exercising their so-called traditional rights. Likewise the Catholic crowd called off planned retaliation.

As for fears of mad cow disease, the media across Britain and Europe have whipped up anxieties to the point that the farmers up and down our road are genuinely apprehensive of what the future holds. Just as the drouth here in Texas has forced livestock prices down to the point that some auction sale days have been cancelled, so the drop in European demand for beef over there has shut down market Wednesday in Skibbereen to some extent. Though Ireland has no official incidence of the disease, it suffers guilt through association with England.

There on top of everything else the rumor has gotten going that cows can pass the mysterious ailment on to calves and that it is also turning up in milk. If the dairy industry goes, Ireland goes. Tim Joe depends on selling his quota-milk plus a small herd of bullocks he keeps each year up on the mountain. If the world [illegible] it.

If Joe and Charlie and Curly and Thomas have to pack it in, there won't be any productive activity left on our road except pottery-making by two German emigres, bed and breakfast for bicycle ramblers, and hand-knitting of sweaters by one dear lady.

As the old saying goes, you can't eat scenery. Our good friend Mary says that the bay she was tranquil and peaceful to tourists and summer people, but that intense stress is now the daily feeling of the locals who have lived and worked peacefully on their land for more than two centuries.

Meanwhile, the summer hay harvest is over, and the big wrapped round bales are stacked up next to all the tractor sheds, beginning to give off the heady redolence of fermentation as they turn into silage. How the cattle love the winter feed. We remember seeing them one January half-way up the mountain lolling for hours over the mound of silage put out for them each day.

And now we're back to Basic Bandera, where we shop for clothes at the ice-house, have lunch at the car wash (for y'all just come to town that's what Harvey's yellow cafe used to be) and—it appears— go to school at the race track. Only in Bantucky!

1996 Property Tax Rates in Flying L PUD

This notice concerns 1996 property tax rates for Flying L PUD. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$ 81,873
Last year's debt taxes	$ -0-
Last year's total taxes	$ 81,873
Last year's tax base	$ 9196,187
Last year's total tax rate	$ .8903	/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$ 81, 873
+ This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$ 8,811,526
= This year's effective tax rate	$ .9291	/$100

In the first year a hospital district or city collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, it must insert the following lines unless its first adjustment was made last year:

– Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Effective tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

x 1.03 = maximum rate unless unit publishes notices and holds hearing	$ .9569	/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for transferred function)	$ 81,873
+ This year's adjusted tax base	$ 8,811,526
= This year's effective operating rate	$ .9291	/$100
x 1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	$ 1.003	/$100
+ This year's debt rate	$ -0-	/$100
= This year's rollback rate	$ 1.003	/$100

A hospital district or city that collects the additional sales tax to reduce property taxes, including one that collects the tax for the first time this year, must insert the following lines:

– Sales tax adjustment rate	$ N/A	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

For a taxing unit with additional rollback rate for pollution control, insert the following lines:

+ Additional rate for pollution control	$ N/A	/$100
= Rollback tax rate	$ N/A	/$100

The CCPS has already scheduled its first event at the Great American Cowboy Get-Together Aug. 31-Sept. 1 at Mansfield

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Clarlo
796-3225

Not much to write about this week. Most people in the area were trying to find a way to get some rain and cooler temperatures. I tried jumping up and getting a good hold on one of those black clouds that tease us in the morning hours. Yes, I tried to lasso one of the clouds, but no luck!

The volunteer fire departments of the county canceled their scheduled pumper races Sunday. You know these pumper races use more than a few gallons of water, so in line with water conservation, the races were called off.

Saturday, Aug. 24, there will be a meeting at the Lakeshore VFD's fire house at 5:30 p.m. This meeting should be of great concern to all residents of the Lake Medina Shores and Wharton's Dock area. Bennie Barker, our county commissioner, will be there as host and the subject will be the drought. He will inform us as to what the county is hoping to do to get rain or water for the county.

Come early as there are only so many seats and you don't want to be standing for the whole meeting.

TARPLEY

Nettie Dean

Tuesday afternoon a very high wind came in from all directions with an electrical storm and small hail fell for a short time. The most rain heard of was one inch near Tarpley. Most of us had 6-8 tenths. The wind tore the top off of one of our sheds.

• Recent relatives visiting Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hall and Margaret Cain were their brother John Joseph Brosnahan of Kansas City, Mo. and son John William of La Salle, Col., and John's grandchildren Philip and Sarah Brosnahan of Kansas City.

• Sunday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Schmidt were Mr. and Mrs. Ehme Saathoff of Hondo.

• Glad to report Arthur Erfurt is doing well following surgery recently. He and Georgia Mae went to Audie Murphy Tuesday for his checkup and they report he only has to go back for a check up in six months.

• Happy also to report Lorene Billings was able to return home Friday after several weeks in San Antonio for medical care.

• Among those from Tarpley area who attended the committee meeting of the Bandera County Family and Consumer Science Monday were Betty Edwards, Priscilla Montgomery, Edna Lea Coffey and Nettie Dean. The meeting was led by Jana Osbourn, county extension agent.

• I and my son Charles Dean celebrated our birthdays this weekend. Those present were Dr. and Mrs. M.L. Dean of Abilene; Charles and Marcia Dean, Jacob and Rachel of New Braunfels; Marie and Jim Carson of San Antonio. A surprise call came from granddaughter Sara Hope Dean in Seattle.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

"All day I face the barren waste, without a taste of water, cool, clear water"

As all thoughts turn naturally to water nowadays, several different water situations I've been through come to mind.

In my youth, we had a 200 foot long cove, all our own, right on the Pacific Ocean in Southern California. Our only water source was a huge, old electric pump with a flywheel that was at least two feet across. It pumped undrinkable sulfurish water up from a well, to a round galvanized tank that hung precariously to the side of a 250 foot cliff above the house and my dad's workshop. There was a block of wood that floated on top of the water inside the tank that was attached to a string that had a weight on it, that ran down a wooden track outside the tank. That was so we could tell how much water was in the tank?

Well, each week, one of us girls (there were four of us) was in charge of keeping the tank filled, and if you let it go dry, you were in big trouble, 'cause then you had to "prime the pump." That meant going to a tide pool on the beach and lugging a bucket of water from there, up a little cliff and to the pump house. Then you had to take a BIG ol' pipe wrench and unscrew a great, heavy cap, take it off, set it on the ground, turn on the pump, and as the fly-wheel turned once, pour the bucket of water into the well.

One time, it was so long, it caused a landslide that moved my Dad's workshop over a full two feet.

For drinking water, we'd have five gallon bottles of water delivered and when we'd run out we would have to take a couple of bottles up to the city park, lug them over to the water faucet, fill them and lug them back again. We must have been pretty strong!

When the pump broke down, which was often enough, we had to haul buckets of sea water up for everything, and early in the morning, just as the sun was peeping over the cliff, to shine on the blue, blue sea, before I went to school, I'd hop into my bathing suit and head for a tide pool where I would bathe in 60 degree water and even shampoo my hair with old-fashioned hard water soap (vinegar made a good rinse)! It was quite a life!

Then we finally got started pumping and the water started gushing up and out from the well, you had to slap the heavy cap back on and quickly screw the bolts back into place, all the while huge amounts of water are pushing out all over you and the pump house.

In the summer you didn't mind too much, but in the winter it got mighty cold!

Not only did you have to watch the emptiness of the tank, you also had to remember to shut off the pump when the tank filled up. It was always running over and down the cliff and out to sea and someone would finally notice and yell, "Shut off the pump!" Kind of like, "Fire in the hole!"

Bungy's Water Saving Tips

1. Use paper plates and cups.
2. Keep a bucket near the sink for all gray water. Empty the bucket on plants.
3. Divert gray water for yard use.
4. Put a section of [illegible] hose on the AC outlet and water nearby plants.
5. Hook up a shower head to an outside faucet and let the shower water nourish nearby flora.
6. When taking a shower, wet yourself then turn off the water while you soap up. Turn the water back on to rinse. Use the same off-on procedure while shaving and brushing your teeth.
7. Mulch all trees and garden plants.
8. Barbecue and save on pans to clean.
9. Take dirty things with you when you visit out of town and use their water!

Handley named sales manager at KRNH

Longtime Hill Country resident Jim Handley has been named Sales Manager at The Ranch Radio Station, FM 96.1, KRNH, according to station owner/general manager Mark Grubbs.

"Jim is one of those rare individuals who takes the extra step and works very hard for stations clients," Grubbs said.

"The decision to promote Jim to sales manager was an easy one."

Handley was regional sales manager for Pacific Motor Trucking in Dallas and also owned his own business for seven years.

The Handley moved to the Hill Country to operate a family ranch in 1991. Jim is married to the former Peggy Wiedenfeld and has two grown children and a grandson. He is also a Chamber Ambassador.

"I look forward to serving the Hill Country," Handley said. "The Ranch is a great place to work because we have so many wonderful listeners in the area. I'll be glad to field any questions or help with anyone who has questions about The Ranch."

Auxiliary hosting informative programs

On Saturday, August 17, at 10 [illegible] guest speaker on the topic of drug abuse at the Pipe Creek VFD fire department. The program was hosted by the VFD auxiliary.

Drug abuse is a high-ranking problem among today's society that is not going to go away on its own. Everyone needs to be aware of what to look for and how to handle drug abuse in order to keep friends and family free from substance abuse. Although you may have no reason to feel your family is in danger of the abuse, please attend this free meeting and see what each of us can do to help keep drugs from destroying our community.

One person alone cannot resolve this problem, but if we work together there is a good chance we can keep our community free of crime fed by drug abuse.

On July 27, George Hohon showed how to identify the chemical content code and explained the intended usage of each chemical contained in a fire extinguisher. This was just the first of many summer programs sponsored by the Auxiliary.

Future topics, all of which will be held at 10:00 a.m. at the Fire [illegible]

George Hohon explained all about fire extinguishers at a public service meeting hosted by the Pipe Creek VFD Auxiliary recently. Saturday, Aug. 24 the subject will be What Every Woman Should Know About Her Car. The meetings begin at 10 a.m. at the fire house.

House, include: What Every Woman Should Know About Her Car, August 24; Decorating on a Shoestring, September 14; and Stamping Up, September 28.

All sessions are free and if you are interested in attending, please sign up in Pipe Creek at Lone Star Ice, The Barrel House, or Pipe Creek Car Wash. You can also call Billie Ford, 510-4878. We only ask for notification so we can ensure proper arrangements are made to best accommodate those attending.

More questions and answers regarding Bandera ISD's long-range plan.

11. The Board of Trustees have had a couple of closed session meeting to discuss the racetrack. Why were those meetings not open to the public?

The Board wants to be as open as it can be when it conducts its business. It met in closed session to discuss the value of the race-track to the District so that it might be able to negotiate a fair price with Bandera Downs. The Board learned that there was approximately $2,000,000 to $2,500,000 worth of land, infra-structure, and building at the racetrack. Bandera Downs, however, has remained firm on its price of $3,000,000. It is the District's understanding Bandera Downs has had an offer of $3,000,000 by another party and the District's attorneys have confirmed that there are over $3,000,000 of debt owed by Bandera Downs, so it is reasonable on their part not to settle for less.

12. What will prevent Bandera Downs from selling the property to someone else once a bond election is called?

The District has offered Bandera Downs an earnest money contract of $150,000 to hold the property off the market until it can determine from the Citizens Bond Advisory Committee if the long-range plan is acceptable or until a bond election is held. The contract stipulates that the money is to be invested in an interest-bearing account and that if the District decides against purchasing the property for any reason or if a bond election is not successful, the money plus interest it had earned will be refunded to the District. Bandera Downs has agreed to its terms, and will be taking the risk of losing prospective buyers until the District decides it wants the property and then until a bond election can be held. The District is not risking public funds.

13. Why haven't you had public meetings on your long-range facility plan?

The District had not finalized the plan. It was in committee to be recommended or not recommend to the Board. Since the Board has now decided to call a bond election based on the recommendation of the Citizens Bond Advisory Committee, a number of meetings will be held in various locations throughout the District to explain it.

Budget

Parades. "Everyone is going to have to sacrifice."

Pfeiffer had re-submitted a budget to the board that would require $91,000 to be taken from the fund balance.

He said the only way to avoid dipping into the fund balance would be to take two new buses from the budget.

Dave Koehler expressed his opinion by saying, "I'm not saying we don't need [the buses]. But we need to stay within our income."

Pfeiffer pointed out that the district expects about $120,000 in funds from the state in September, which could replenish the monies taken from the fund balance.

Paradeo said, "It may seem hard-headed to you (not to order the buses now), but if that (state) money doesn't come in we're in trouble."

Expenditures for athletics, the new buses and school libraries seemed to be the focus of disagreement among board members.

Pfeiffer told the board that personnel costs have increased over all for the school district but that all other costs have decreased. "Teacher pay raises were mandated by the State Legislature," said Pfeiffer.

Board president Parker asked the board if they could compromise by taking two buses out of the budget and "pass this thing tonight." The compromise would need only $15,000 to be taken from the fund balance until the state monies arrive in September.

The compromise got unanimous approval. Trustee Bub Keeen was absent.

In 1912, Meadacres was bought by Selma and Aaron Meadows who were teachers in Bandera. Grandma Selma Meadows was from Pipe Creek, and her first teaching job was at Privilege Creek School. A PROUD PAST WITH A SOLID FUTURE

Four Generations. One Insurance Company. Germania.

Grandpa bought his first Germania farm insurance policy the same year he bought his first Model T. He always said the Model T took a load off his horse and Germania took a load off his mind. He joined Germania because he liked the idea of farmers banding together to protect one another. But he stayed because Germania never let him down. Dad saw the farm through lots of changes. Some of them were pretty scary, but it helped knowing that a strong, reliable company like Germania was there if he needed it. Now that I'm raising my own kids, I know why Dad and Grandpa trusted Germania. It's good doing business with a homegrown Texas company that really understands Texans. Today, Germania provides the home, life, and auto insurance that my family needs. I'm proud to carry on two family traditions: farming and Germania insurance. They've been good to our family for generations.

My kids may not end up on the farm, but if I've raised them right, they'll end up with Germania.

County refuses to release school funds

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The four school districts that service Bandera County were dealt a financial setback by county commissioners on Wednesday morning when the [illegible] to the distribution of permanent school funds as promised in last year's meeting.

According to minutes from the Sept. 13, 1995 commissioners court meeting, a fixed annual date for annual distribution of permanent school funds was voted on and approved.

In Wednesday's meeting, however, BISD Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer was not granted his request for disbursal of the funds.

"I don't think we should release the funds until such a time as a firm plan for that disbursement can be reached," County Judge Ray Mauer said.

County treasurer Kay Welch protested that such a plan was worked out last year and that the school districts count on the money.

"If they are going to do this, they need to go back and undo the motion from last year," Welch said.

The permanent school funds will amount to approximately $300,000 this year.

According to Welch, the request for the funds is a formality, since the county is only a holder of the money, and cannot spend it or specify how the school districts spend it, except that it be used for capital improvements.

The funds are based on average daily attendance, and according to superintendents from the districts, are figured [illegible]

Bandera Independent School District was dealt the hardest blow, since last year they received $273,206.62 from the fund, which was set up by Albert Alkek, and is based on oil and gas royalties from property located in Maverick County.

"It left me with an empty feeling," [illegible] ing off debts with that money. I'd like to see the agreement be consistent. There is no real use for that money if they don't give it to the schools."

Utopia school district received $14,848.89 last year, while Medina received $51,098.47 and Northside received $3,388.78.

The permanent school funds, interest accumulated and gift deeds are to be used for specific purposes such as capital improvements. This has been used in the past for renovating campuses, cafeterias, football stadiums, roof repairs and replacements, paving, sidewalks and numerous other improvements at various campuses.

Two school districts, Utopia and Medina, spent the latter part of the 95-96 and the summer constructing new buildings on their campuses.

Lone Star Farmer Degrees awarded

Lisa Evans (top) and J.T. Turner (left) of Bandera received their Lone Star Farmer Degrees at the 68th Annual Texas Future Farmers of America Convention in Houston in July. Evans is the daughter of Richard and Theresa Evans and plans to attend Texas A&M Univerasity. Turner, the son of Richard and Nancy Turner, will be attending Tarleton University. The degree is the highest award given at the state level, according to Bandera High School agriculture teacher Telvy Robbins.

Commissioners approve Lakewood Estates Unit 6

During the regular meeting of Commissioners' Court Wednesday, preliminary approval for the platting of Unit 6 in Lakewood Estates was granted.

The commissioners approved a request from BISD Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer to use the Lakehills Courthouse Annex for a school bond election on Sept. 28, 1996.

Gloria Arriago, from AACOG, came before the commissioners to explain the AACOG Area Work Force Development Interlocal Agreement.

Constable Allen Hatley received approval to purchase a 1992 Ford Crown Victoria from the Department of Public Safety.

Sheriff James MacMillan received approval to renew the phone contract for the inmates of the county jail. The contract, with Southwestern Bell, allows for the phone company to furnish all the equipment and to pay Bandera County a 10 percent commission on all phone calls. All phone calls made by inmates are collect.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi, y'all!! Well, how was your week? We traveled to San Marcos Sunday to get a brief peek at yesteryear. The Confederate Air Force was there with their WWII planes. After fixing a well, we got to see about an hour of their flying program and spend a half-hour looking at the static displays. We even got to feel some rain as a short shower hit us while there. It sure felt good!

There was a big blowout down at Adolph's the other night. It seems they were celebrating Evie Angel, Liz White and Mary Beth Mowak's birthdays. Evie says they all had a blast and they want to thank their friends and neighbors for the fantastic celebration. We know that if you took these three's ages and added them together it would total less than 60 we are sure! Glad to hear they had such a good time.

Hey, folks! The tickets for the Medina Lake VFD fall barbecue raffle are on sale now. See one of your MLVFD fire fighters to get your tickets. The businesses of Bandera County have contributed generously to this raffle. We have well over $2,000 worth of prizes in the kitty. Anyone out there not finding a fire fighter with tickets can call us and we will get them to you.

The fall barbecue preparations are headed down to the wire. We hope to see all of you getting your share of that delicious brisket Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

Then about the time you get recovered from all the barbecue, it will be time for the Cajun Fest at the Civic Center. Ragin' Cajun Bob Caswell tells us that they are busy getting ready for the celebration. All the crawdad festivities will take place on Sept. 28 at the Civic Center.

If you would like to help, contact Caswell or Barbara Engels and they can point you in the right direction.

Well, the clock on the wall says it is time to get on so we will head on out. Don't forget to try to save as much water as you can during these dry times. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

Getting ready

The Bandera Bulldogs are getting ready for the upcoming season with practices and mock games. The varsity, junior varsity and freshmen 'Dogs have a scrimmage against Jourdanton on Aug. 22, and one against LaVernia on Aug. 30.

Girls do well in first two v-ball scrimmages

Coach Darcy Rogers said the Lady Bulldogs came away from their first scrimmages showing some real promise for the season ahead.

"We have to work more with our movement on court," Rogers said. "We were real aggressive and came out and hit the ball well."

The Lady 'Dogs faced off against New Braunfels and Austin McCollum on Friday night and Kerrville Tivy on Saturday. All three are 5-A schools.

"Sara Erfurt played excellent defense Friday night," Rogers said. "April Koehler and Heidi Hicks came on very strong with blocking and hitting."

Rogers also cited Mary Domine and Michelle Dexter for an outstanding job hustling to the ball.

The 1st Annual Bandera County TRIAD Golf Tournament will be held on Sept. 20, 1996 at the Flying L Golf Course in Bandera.

This event will raise funds for furthering the TRIAD program, which is totally funded by citizen donations.

Individual and/or business sponsorships can be purchased for $75 per hole. There is no limit to the number of sponsorships that may be purchased. Each sponsor's sign, measuring 16"X16", will be hand-painted by members of the Bandera Silver Sage Corral Senior Center.

To assure sufficient time for sign preparation, sponsorships must be mailed or delivered to the Bandera County Sheriff's Department, P.O. Box 607, Bandera, Texas 78003 as soon as possible.

Karate kids take honors

special to The Bulletin
by Francis Peterson

The 1996 Taekwondo Junior Olympic Team competed in New Orleans at the Superdome August 7-10. This national competition started in September 1995 with over 400,000 athletes in 23 sporting events. The process of elimination through local, regional and state competitions reduced the number to 10,000. Taekwondo had the second highest number of competitors with 798 athletes.

Black belt Danny Schultz competes in forms.

The 21 team members from Bandera Martial Arts brought back 18 hard-earned medals. Kenny Ray Haywood, Stephanie Schindler and Tiffany Momot all captured silver medals in the forms division. Chris Martinez won gold and Kenny Ray Haywood won silver in international sparring. In the point sparring division, the medal winners were: Kenny Ray Haywood, gold; John Kelly, bronze; Danny Schultz, bronze; Dale Keith, bronze; Jessica Wunrow, bronze; Judah Leggett, silver; Chris Martinez, bronze; Stephanie Schindler, silver; Jeannie Royall, bronze; Tiffany Momot, gold; Ernest Martinez, gold; Reagan Peterson, bronze; and Kirra Ingram, bronze. Completing the team were Quint Cabiness, Justin Alexander, Jimmy Martinez, Jon Leggett, Ryan Taylor, Gary Galland, Jacob Reinartz and Travis Lara. Congratulations go to all of these athletes for their time, dedication and efforts to compete in this national event. The experience for these kids to be able to compete in the Superdome made all of them winners.

Fifth Annual Flying L Fling to help Santa Rosa Children's Hospital

The fifth annual KKYX Radio Flying L Fling golf tournament has been set for Friday, Oct. 4.

As in previous years, the event will benefit Santa Rosa Children's Hospital, a regional facility in San Antonio owned and operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

The affair will feature two shotgun start scrambles starting at 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Some 250 players are expected to participate.

Cost to enter one of the tournaments will be $50 if paid by Sept. 27, $60 thereafter. The fee will include green and cart costs, a fajita dinner, refreshments and a chance to win valuable prizes.

Serving as general chairman again will be Al Heep, prominent Bandera rancher.

"I know there are a lot of golf tournaments out there being played for very good causes, bit I think there's nothing like the good feeling that comes from helping a very sock child regain health," Heep said. "And that's what this tournament is all about."

One of the major sponsors of the affair is KKYX Radio, whose early-morning show host Jerry King will do his broadcast from the Flying L clubhouse on tournament day.

If tradition holds, the tournaments will be filled up early with players. Sign up will begin next week.

Meanwhile, members of Heep's volunteer committee will be asking merchants and individuals to invest in a corporate sponsorship and/or to donate prizes that embellish the tournament.

Last year's tournament netted some $25,000 for the hospital.

On Thursday, Aug. 22, there will be a Lady Bulldogs Serve-a-thon in the high school gym from 5:15 to 6:15. Everybody is welcome.

Cowboy Eucharist with Biscuits

Biscuits O'Bryan

The second annual "Cowboy Eucharist" will be held on Sunday, Sept. 1 in the area between Grace Lutheran and St. Christopher's Episcopal churches on Hwy. 173 north.

The celebrant of the Eucharist will be the Rev. Monte Jones, who is Rector of St. John's Episcopal Church of Sonora, Texas, and Vicar of St. James' Church in Fort McKavett, Texas. The Rev. Jones is better known in our area as "Biscuits O'Bryan," a cowboy poet, storyteller and chuckwagon cook of the "I.O. Everybody Ranch." The service will begin at 11 a.m. This is "Biscuits" second year to come to Bandera as celebrant of this Cowboy Eucharist.

At 10 a.m., Linda Allen and the Roadrunners, The Gibson Sisters and Hoot Gibson are just some of the local musicians who will be playing old-fashioned gospel music, while a cowboy breakfast is served to those in attendance.

The "Happy Cookers" will again be serving up their delicious Dutch-oven biscuits, Richard Thornber will be cooking his famous cowboy coffee and the ladies of both churches will have homemade gravy and great preserves.

There is no charge for any of this. Everyone, regardless of religious affiliation, is welcome. Blue jeans are appropriate, as are horses. A hitching rail will be provided.

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

Oct. 1 marks another new beginning at the Silver Sage Corral. At that time, Billy Gene's Restaurant will begin supplying the meals for our nutrition program, both home-delivered Meals on Wheels and congregate meals served at the Center.

As mentioned in previous articles, we have experienced difficulty in covering the cost and delivery of the meals. In October 1995, the Silver Sage applied for and received its own grant from the Alamo Area Council of Governments making it possible to operate on its own for the first time.

Prior to that time, we operated under the auspices of Dietert Claim Senior Citizens Center in Kerrville. For the past year, we have continued to purchase our meals from Dietert Claim, which required a daily trip to Kerrville to pick up the meals.

In an effort to cut costs and time, the Board of Directors began looking for a local supplier for the meals. Billy Gene Smith indicated an interest on helping the community and the senior citizens of Bandera County and on Aug. 6, a one-year contract was executed. Purchasing the meals locally, thereby eliminating the daily trip to Kerrville, will also benefit the county of Bandera, who supports our transportation program, by saving on fuel costs and vehicle maintenance.

We are all extremely excited about this new venture and invite everyone to come to the Center after Oct. 1 for a different kind of lunch at a very reasonable price. Age 60 and over are $2 each, under 60 are $3 each.

You may make reservations in advance, at least by 9:00 a.m. the day you are coming, by calling 796-4969. Come tell us what you think.

Following the summer break, all classes at the Silver Sage will resume beginning Sept. 3. Olga Bolduc's oil painting class will resume Monday, Sept. 9 at 9 a.m. The Melodiers and Autoharp Players will meet to practice on Tuesday, Aug. 27 at 10 a.m. and on Sept. 3 at 9:45 a.m. to rehearse. At 11 a.m. they will present a program of Texas songs at The Clark House Care Center in Bandera. The Melodiers regular schedule will resume on Sept. 10.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

At this time of the year, most people's thoughts turn to the coming change of the season, and the beginning of school. Kids of all ages will be standing, walking, running, and in all when driving . .But we'd like to take this beyond the basic "School's starting, drive safely" theme, to include some other hopes for the coming school year.

We hope that all teachers, administrators and students approach the new school year with a zest for teaching and learning, to provide the best education that is possible. And we would like to see all the parents of school children examine their own ideas and behavior and make a positive commitment to help in the education of their own kids. . .Too often, people criticize the schools, the is a general malaise among our youth. When, in fact, a lot of the blame for the malaise starts and grows in the home. . .

Let us remember that schools, teachers and parents working together can mold young minds and head them in a positive direction.

Cowboy get-together celebrates Texas heritage

It seems appropriate that the Cowboy Capital of the World should play host to the All-American Cowboy Get-Together this weekend, Aug. 31 and Sept. 1.

The event, featuring cowboy poets, story-tellers and musicians, will take place at Mansfield Park beginning at 10 a.m. each day.

Headlining the program will be Bandera County's own Spirit of Texas Band, designated by the Texas Legislature at the Official Cowboy Band for the State of Texas. The Spirit of Texas, with Johnny Way, Roger Heinen, Ray Tate and Rudy Robbins have entertained folks from Texas to Branson and points between with their traditional cowboy music.

"The band is dedicated to preserving the music of the cowboy, a significant part of Texas' heritage and culture," said Rudy Robbins.

The word "cowboy" was first used by a newspaper reporter, in the late eighteen hundreds, to describe the Texas trail hands who drove the great herds of cattle from Texas to the railheads of Kansas.

The word caught on and soon everyone was using it to refer to these men.

The Labor Day event will celebrate the heritage of the cowboy with lots of great music and the skills of noted cowboy poets and storytellers.

For authentic cowboy food, a chuck wagon cookoff will be held both days. Buy a ticket and enjoy a taste of camp cooking at it's best.

Each evening, the ranch rodeo will be held for some old-fashioned ranch-type fun.

In addition to continuous entertainment all day long, western merchants will exhibit their wares along with arts and crafts, Indian and cowboy memorabilia, western clothing, celebrity items and tapes.

Sunday morning there will be a cowboy church service.

The event runs from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m. each day. Tickets are $5 for adults, $2 for kids 12 and under, lap young'uns are free.

The All-American Cowboy Get-Together is a benefit for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association.

For more information on the Get-together schedule, see the official program inside today's issue of The Bulletin.

The Saddle Tramps will bring authentic cowboy entertainment to Mansfield Park this weekend.

Subdivision begins severe water use restrictions

The Bandera River Ranch subdivision has entered into stage III severe water rationing by order of their water company located in San Antonio.

On Aug. 7, a 60-day water rationing period began for the residents.

Included in the stage III rationing plan is no outside watering, and a limit of 1,500 gallons of water per customer per week. Meters will be read every week, or more frequently, in order to enforce this restriction.

First-time violators of the restrictions will have a flow-restriction device installed in their line which will limit the amount of water passing through in a 24-hour period. The cost will be charged to the customer's account.

Subsequent violators may find their water service terminated for the balance of the week. A reconnect fee of $25 shall apply for restoration of service.

The subdivision is one of several in the county entering water rationing procedures.

Ranch rodeo benefits Jr. Livestock Show Saturday

The Bandera Ranch Rodeo, benefiting the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association, will be held Saturday, Aug. 31 and Sunday, Sept. 1 at Mansfield Park. Admission for adults is $5 and children are $3.

Events on Saturday start at 7:30 p.m. and include: wild cow milking, calf branding, steer roping and trailer loading.

Teams competing are San Geronimo Ranch, Bandera Veterinary Clinic, Middle Verde Ranch, Death Valley Ranch, Medina FFA, Hanging Tree Ranch, Flying L Ranch and Moore Title Company.

On Sunday, Sept. 1 at 8 p.m. there will be open bullriding, match calf roping and match barrel racing. T.J. Sapp and Jeb Chesson will be competing in the match roping while Stephanie Byrd and Michelle Knowles will compete in the barrel racing.

Bring your own coolers.

All the proceeds from the Ranch Rodeo go to retiring the debt on the new additions to the show barn at Mansfield Park.

"It really helps the community the way the show barn has been improved," said Speedy Hutchison, a director for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Association. "It can easily handle functions that have up to 2,500 people in a covered building."

Hutchison, whose ranch team has walked away with the first place prize for the last six years, says his team will not compete this year.

"Come out and see who the new champions will be," he said. "The Hutchison Ranch team has retired."

The events at the rodeo are designed to showcase the natural ingenuity and talents of the working cowboy.

"The events are pretty funny," Hutchison elaborated. "We'd like to encourage everyone to come because the proceeds will benefit the whole community."

The retired Hutchison Ranch team holds the record for the wild cow milking event at 24.4 seconds, the calf roping event at 21.6 seconds, and the steer roping event at 29.6 seconds. The champions also hold the all-around record time of 143.7 seconds.

Other outstanding teams and their records include trailer loading, 27.8 seconds by the Chesson Ranch team; calf branding, 31.2 seconds by the Driskill Feedyard team.

Derrie Dickson celebrates 101

Derrie R. Dickson celebrated her 101st birthday Saturday, August 17. A lifelong Texan, born in Nathan, Texas in 1895, she has lived in Bandera for the past eleven years.

In her lifetime, she has seen the horse and buggy, man walk on the moon, and move into cyberspace.

When asked about her longevity, Mrs. Dickson says "I'm just hangin' around to see what happens next!"

On her birthday, Mrs. Dickson, better known as "Tessie" to family and friends, was visited by her granddaughter, Melinda and her husband Bill Holmes of Albuquerque, New Mexico; her grandsons, Thom Allen of Long Beach, California; Mike Allen and his wife Beth of Ardmore, Oklahoma; Rick Duncan and his wife Tammy of Bandera; and great-granddaughter, Carey Ann Rhoades of Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Mrs. Dickson make her home with her daughter and son-in-law, Dottie and Kerry Hevebor.

Sales tax rebates staying level for the year

A total of $206.9 million in August sales tax rebates were paid out to 1,082 Texas cities and counties last week, a 2.2 percent increase over the Aug. 1995 allocations.

The city of Bandera received $40,064.71, a 76.69 percent increase over the $22,675.06 received last year. The huge increase reflects the increased tax rate approved by voters last year for improvements to the city infrastructure.

Tax rebates for Bandera County went down 10.07 percent with $21,023.62 collected, compared to $23,379.93 collected for the same period last year.

"Sales in Texas continue to reflect a healthy economy, with year-to-date sales tax rebates 7.6 percent ahead of total rebates for the first eight months of last year," said the State Comptroller's office.

This month's payments include sales taxes collected by monthly filers on June sales and by quarterly filers for April, May and June and reported to the Comptroller in July.

The city of San Antonio received a sales tax rebate totaling $10.27 million, an amount that is virtually unchanged from last August's payment of $10.22 million.

WHAT IS THAT WET STUFF? -- Thanks to Hurricane Dolly, Bandera County saw some moisture this past week. Reports of over two inches came from around the county. For the first time in many months water was running in the bar ditches. It will take a lot more rainfall however, to break the drought in the Central Texas region.

Retirement not necessary to quality for Medicare

You do not have to retire to qualify for Medicare at age 65. Medicare consists of Part A and Part B, which refer to what are commonly called the hospital (A) and doctor's (B) parts of Medicare. Part A is paid for by a portion of the Social Security taxes you pay while working. Part B is paid for by general tax revenues and by the monthly premiums of those who enroll. You should contact Social Security shortly before your 65th birthday so that your Part A coverage can begin the month of your birthday. In some circumstances, your Medicare premium will be higher if you delay applying for the medical insurance.

High consumer prices remain while cattle prices slump

by Jonathan J. Soukup

COLLEGE STATION— Retail beef prices haven't fallen as much as beef cattle prices during the past year because of the sheer volume wholesale meat packers are delivering and the demand of beef by the consumer.

Texas Agricultural Extension Livestock Marketing Economist, Professor Ernest Davis said when cattle raisers produce more than 23.5 billion pounds of beef a year, cattle prices go down. He said with production numbers of 24 billion in 1994 and 25 billion in 1995 prices have gone down.

Speaking at the 1996 Beef Cattle Short Course at Texas A&M University, Davis said these numbers pushed cattle prices down and the drought kept feed corn prices high. He said with every $1 increase per bushel of corn, cattle prices decrease by $10 to $11 per 100 pounds pushing prices below $55 per 100 pounds and causing cattle raisers to liquidate herds.

Davis said meat packers really don't have to worry about the low prices, because when they purchase beef they only have to bid what the market allows. He said the retailers will only order as much beef as they sold in the previous year. The packers begin to accumulate a surplus of beef.

He said these packers deal on volume and margin, so they are able to offer lower prices to retailers just to get them to purchase all of the beef they have on supply. The retailer then is able to lower his prices just enough to encourage consumers to buy more beef without sacrificing profits.

Davis said the only way he feels that cattle raisers can benefit from this situation is to become involved with purchasing the beef from the packer for packaging, distribution and sales taking a larger share of the market away from the retailers and packers.

He said an effort of this nature would take a lot of cooperation and coordination between cattle raisers, but it could be done.

Arbor foundation prints pocket tree guide

"What Tree Is That?," a pocket guide for identifying trees, is available free-of-charge from The National Arbor Day Foundation.

The 72-page guide will help you identify 135 different trees found in the eastern and central U.S.

Well-know trees are included: oaks, maples, spruces, and pines. Also species such as horsechestnut and mockernut hickory, sassafras and shadbush, persimmon and pawpaw and pagoda tree and pecan.

Dozens of drawings illustrate the trees' leaves or needles and their acorns, berries, seed pods, cones, etc. "What Tree Is That?" is organized to make it easy to identify trees in a simple step-by-step fashion.

"Helping people enjoy and appreciate trees is central to the educational mission of the Arbor Day Foundation," John Rosenow, the Foundation's president, said. "Being able to identify trees is important to knowing how to care for them and how to plant the right tree in the right place."

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

"A habit of labor in the people is as essential to the health and vigor of their minds and bodies as it is conducive to the welfare of the state." - Alexander Hamilton

Today we pause to pay tribute to the workers of America. . .the men and women whose love and labor have made our country great. These who brought it from a wilderness to a land of plenty with opportunity for all. Today we honor those craftsmen who have taken the brainchildren of scientist, engineer, and inventor and turned them into products of mass production. This melding of talent has resulted in a better life for all Americans.

Tomorrow we'll go back to work, each to his own particular job; student, farmer, scientist, businessman, doctor, lawyer, laborer. . .Let us all go back to work with dedication and vigor anew. . . . .

Republicans name Evans to run for county judge position

On Aug. 24, the Bandera County Republican Executive Committee spent over five hours interviewing the six potential candidates for County Judge. The 11-member committee then voted and selected Richard Evans, 49, to be the Republican candidate on the November ballot.

The 1996-97 Edition of the Texas State Election Code, Chapter 202 Section 202.006, mandated that, because of the time frame in which Judge Raser resigned, the party's executive committee would select the Republican candidate for the November general election, explained County Republican Chairman Janet Cave. "If our county executive committee had been unable or unwilling to select a candidate, the state Republican Executive Committee had been unable or unwilling to select a candidate, the state Republican Executive Committee would have had the option of selecting a Republican candidate for our county Judge's position," said Cave. "Had the State Republican Executive Committee been unable or unwilling to choose a candidate then the Bandera County Republican Party would not have had a candidate on the November ballot.

"Contrary to persistent rumors, no other options were open to our party's executive committee," said Cave. "We did what the law said we should do in order to get a Republican candidate on the ballot.

"Obviously, we did not have an easy time deciding amongst our six good applicants," said Cave. "The input we received from hundreds of citizens was helpful but also made us aware that all six had strong support in our county. It was pleasant to see that the five applicants who were not selected were gracious toward and supportive of Richard Evans. I am certain that their supporters will demonstrate the same [illegible] attitudes."

Running as in independent for the county judge seat is local businessman, L.C. Kelley of Pipe Creek.

Kelley and Evans will be running for the post vacated by the resignation of Roger Raser. Raser left the office citing health reasons.

The winner of the November election will serve until 1998.

The Bandera County Democratic Party chose not to name a candidate for the race.

Montague family completes 20 years with Folklife Festival

Texas Heritage. Bruce and Anna Montagne have just completed their 20 years of participation in the Festival.

The photograph shown in the background labeled "Roping a little cowpoke" was taken during the 1982 Folklife Festival. Bruce Montague of Bandera is shown roping his son Paul, age 4, by throwing his lariat down the length of his 30 foot roping rope while his daughter Regina, age 2, looks on.

Looking at the photo during the 1996 Folklife Festival, 14 years after the first photo was taken are Paul and Regina Montague. Paul is now 18 years old and attending St. Mary's University in San Antonio. Regina is 17 years old and a [illegible]. She is active in a number of community related activities.

Bruce's wife Anna has served as Master of Ceremonies and narrator for the 20 year period and has described the performances of the Montagne family. The children, Paul, Regina, and Cyrus all participate.

Mr. Hendrick Kilpatrick also performs each year at the festival with his famous trick roping and whip cracking. "If you smoke and want to break the habit, Kevin would be happy to pop the cigarette out of your mouth with his whip," said Bruce.

In commemoration of the Silver Anniversary of the Texas Folklife Festival a special photographic display is being presented in the Exhibit Hall of the Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio. For 25 years the Texas Folklife Festival has brought together the various ethnic groups which make up the 7.5 million people use the facility, and there are only 5,000 parking spaces.

Women pilot's organization lead school tours

Members of the San Antonio 99s international organization of licensed women pilots recently escorted teachers, honor students and their parents from the first and second grades of McDermott Elementary School on a tour of San Antonio International Airport. Regional Aviation Safety Chairman Gloria Blank, of Pipe Creek, and local Aviation Activities Chairman Margaret Cosby, of Boerne, were on hand to assist Rebecca Aleman, of San Antonio International Airport Public Relations Department, who conducted the tour especially geared to elementary students.

This was a first-time visit to the airport for some of the students whole others were old-timers. Ms. Aleman explained that 7.5 million people use the facility, and there are only 5,000 parking spaces.

At Alpha Tango Flying School, Alyce Taylor's flight school across the airport, the students received pre-flight training on one of the Cessna 172 aircrafts conducted by a certified flight training instructor. On returning to the school from the flightline, having received advance notice, they were given a quiz naming the parts of the airplane.

Student groups are welcome to schedule a tour of the airport suitable for their age, and the 99 lady pilots are always eager to help. For additional information, call San Antonio International Airport Public Relations, or for 99 youth activities and Girl and Boy Scout aviation badge seniors, contact Mrs. Blank at 210-510-4693 or Ms. Cosby at 210-249-8838.

Letters to the Editor

Water regulations fail to consider needs of families

Dear Editor:

I am very concerned about the water shortage in the city of Bandera, and I am more concerned about who is using too much. My husband and I have three girls and now we will be penalized because we want our family to be clean.

I went to the last city council meeting and asked about the new water ordinance. The ordinance shows penalties on the 1,000 gallon rate of 100 percent for 6,000-8,000 gallons usage, 400 percent for 8,000-10,000 gallons usage and a $50 additional charge for usage over 10,000 gallons.

I agree that a water conservation program must be adhered to, but I don't believe that a family of 4 or 5 should be expected to use only 6,000 gallons of water a month.

There was one council member who said that he and his wife "only use 3,000-4,000 gallons a month" so my question is: How do you come up with 6,000 gallons for every home? Simple math would tell us that at least 3,000 gallons is needed for four people.

He then told me "We already raised to from 5,200 to 6,000 to accommodate people with kids." One council member than stated, "I only water once a week and that is just to keep my house foundation from cracking."

If only one or two people live in a house, they can water their foundation, their grass, and their flowers as much as they want (with a hand-held hose) and usually not exceed the 6,000 gallon limit. If there are 4-5 people in a house, like my own, we can't water our grass or anything else because we will have already used our allotment of 6,000 gallons just washing clothes, dishes and our bodies.

I propose that the city council look for other ways to solve a terrible problem. They could determine your average water consumption and then use that amount as a basis for penalties. There has to be a better way to determine who are Water Wasters and who are just Water Users.

She can't believe it

Dear Editor:

Just received my Bandera Bulletin for this week. and I could not believe what loomed out at me.

"The possible use of the Rec Center at Mansfield Park as a jail facility." This is the most ridiculous idea to come out of Bandera county in my life time. Alot of people will no doubt say "Well, she doesn't live here anymore so why should she care!"

True, I don't live there anymore, but I still have many friends and lots of family who do live in Bandera County with young children growing up. What happens to these children with no really safe place to go play T-Ball or up to baseball or participate in youth rodeos and much more?

What happens when people would like to rent the facility for family parties, weddings and such? Not to forget the older retired folks who like to use the camp grounds every year. Are they going to feel safe? Heavens, no!

The article said it would only house non-violent, short-term offenders such as misdemeanors who don't pay their fines, but how long will it be before the jail is so full and "oh my, we must put this child molester out at the park since the jail is so full." Does this sound far-fetched? Maybe to some, but think about it for a while, it could happen!

My goodness, how all of the Mansfield family must be feeling about this! This land of their ancestors was to be used to benefit the children of Bandera County and their families, not house so called non-violent criminals. I am sure this family is not very excited or pleased over this ridiculous idea.

What happens to all the ball games, the Jr. Stock Show, the youth rodeos, family get-togethers? Are these people going to have to share their popcorn, baked goods and barbecue with their new-found "friends?"

Bandera has never had a whole lot to offer young people, so are good citizens of Bandera County going to allow this last and only family facility to be taken away from them?!! I sure HOPE NOT!!!

It's a friendly town

Dear Editor:

The people sure are friendly and helpful here in Bandera. My family and I are on vacation at the Mayan Ranch. While returning from a day trip to Kerrville, my truck broke down on Hwy 173. We were just able to coast in to the parking lot at Lawlis Auto Supply (NAPA Store). Mr. Randy Lawlis, owner, helped me arrange towing to the Ford dealer. Then he drove my family to the dealership, picked me up, and drove us all back to the Mayan. Mr. Lawlis refused payment for his time and trouble. I would sure appreciate you publishing this letter to thank the man who saved our vacation. We certainly are planning more visits to Bandera.

Time to set goals

Dear Editor:

After the ill-advised school bond and school construction plans have been defeated it will be the duty of informed, reasonable people of good will to get together and help our school board out of the hard place they are in. Just saying no is not reasonable; we do have long term problems of growth in the school district, and the board deserves our help and support.

1. A reasonable plan would make more efficient use of current facilities while looking toward eventual consolidation of the junior and senior high schools. I attended such a public school, with no evident harmful effects. My daughter's school district in Wisconsin just completed such a facility, and the saving gained from major core facilities in common to both schools (auditorium, gym, cafeteria) allowed many amenities to be provided (swimming pool, for example).

2. Help the school board get control of the budget. For the most part, the strongest voices in the process are the administration and the faculty. If the board knows that the taxpayers want, and will support, fiscal sanity, they can get the job done. Instead of letting the superintendent prepare a draft budget and then nibbling around the edges (a procedure which gives the superintendent all of the cards), the board must set a budget target and see to it that he meets the target. If the superintendent can't do it, then get one who will!

We are currently spending more than five thousand dollars per student per year. Granted, some of that is State money (still our money), and a lot of it is not presently calculated into the published cost per student figures. Nevertheless, that is what we are paying, and baloney is baloney no matter how you slice it and prepare it.

These are two important issues for the board, and I hope to see some responsible, and independent, citizen advisories which address them.

Help make life Brighter

Dear Editor:

Please allow me to take a little of your valuable to express what we feel is a community concern. There is a wonderful place in the country between Bandera and Boerne called Brighter Days Horse Refuge.

The horses at Brighter Days were neglected, abused, abandoned, etc. by their owners who live in the greater San Antonio area. There was not a place remotely close that allowed these animals to heal and live the rest of their lives in a decent and loving environment. Hence, Bill and Jeannie started Brighter Days.

We are heartbroken to find out they are in very desperate straits this year. They have had to turn away in excess of twenty horses who are either dying or have been terribly abused. They only have twenty acres, limited stalls, limited money, and of course, their feed cost has more than doubled this year due to the drought conditions.

Money is not the only thing needed. Other areas of need are: donated time to help feed and clean the horses and stalls; donated lumber; hay racks, hay feeder and of course, hay; bags of concrete; paint; etc. These animals have had enough abuse- now they need to live with a few comforts and with Jeannie and Bill they will receive the love and caring they need.

Donations may be sent to Brighter Days Horse Refuge, HC 2, Box 6635, Pipe Creek, Texas 78063.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

the best news stories are the ones we can't print. This one I heard second hand. I wasn't there to witness the phenomenon, but it was told to me with a straight face by "a reliable source," as they say, so I'll say it's probably true.

The story went something like this:

Last week, the girls volleyball team traveled to Uvalde to play a few games. Sometime during the junior varsity battle a couple of bats decided to start eating the mosquitoes in the Uvalde gym and began swooping through the crowd.

By the time the varsity took the floor, 20-30 bats were apparently having themselves a time snacking on whatever happened to be flying around the lights of the gym. (Of course, it may just be that bats are volleyball fans.)

The swift swoops of the little mammals fluttering through the crowd gave new meaning to "the wave," as the fans ducked and dodged.

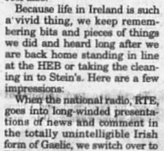
(Now this next part is not too pleasant, so you might want to quit reading or send your little ones from the room.)

Suddenly, the madness sometimes engendered by the basically harmless little furry critters caused a young and agile youth to run from the

He held a tennis racket in his hand.

Racing onto the playing floor, the distraught young man took a backhand swing at an innocent little bug-catcher and swatted him into another realm.

Then, the gladiator took a victory lap around the gym, holding his bat-weapon on high, like an Olympic star, enjoying the adulation of the crowd.



The little critters also caused some loss of discipline among the cheerleader ranks. At one point, the referees had to stop the game and explain to the shuddering teens that their high-pitched squeals were actually disturbing the bats and keeping them stirred up!

Our varsity girls lost their volleyball match. But frankly I don't think it's fair to expect our Lady Bulldogs to play at their best when they haven't had a chance to practice in the midst of bats.

Before the team takes on Uvalde again, they should ask those westerners to send a couple of the little fellows over ahead of time so our girls can get used to volleying, spiking and digging around them.

Drought joke of the week: It's so dry mud daubers, mud swallows and mud wrestlers are all endangered species.

Senator Montford takes Texas Tech U. post

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Democratic state Sen. John Montford resigned last week to become chancellor of Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock appointed Republican Sen. Bill Ratliff of Mount Pleasant to replace Montford as chairman of the powerful Senate Finance Committee.

Ratliff, former chairman of the Senate Education Committee, rewrote the state's education law in 1995. Bullock, a Democrat, told the Austin American-Statesman, "I'm sick of partisan politics. The extremists in both parties are missing the mainstream Texans. Bill Ratliff works for everyone."

As chancellor, Montford, former Lubbock County district attorney, becomes Texas Tech's chief fund-raiser and government liaison.

Montford's departure from the Senate makes his district a prime target for the Republican Party of Texas, said Tom Pauken, state GOP chairman. Now, a GOP majority is possible: Republicans hold 14 of the Senate's 31 seats, and half of the seats are up for election in November.

Montford was elected to the state Senate in 1982. He was roundly praised for his service over the past 14 years. Gov. George W. Bush, who will call a special election in Sept. to fill Montford's seat, said, "I am sorry (Montford) is leaving the Senate. He has been an unbelievably good member."

Anne Marie Kilday, spokeswoman for the state Democratic Party, said "It is Texas Tech University's gain and the entire state of Texas' loss."

Montford, 53, said he sees himself at Tech for five or six years.

Laney Appeals Redistrict Order

House Speaker Pete Laney asked the U.S. Supreme Court last week to overturn an Aug. 6 federal court order to redraw boundaries and set special elections in 13 Texas congressional districts.

In his appeal, Laney argued that redistricting is a "legislative duty" and that state legislators should be allowed to redraw the boundaries during the 1997 Legislative session, beginning in January.

Laney has said that special elections with Dec. 10 runoffs would be confusing to voters. And, he said, the panel of three federal judges redrew more districts tan necessary to correct the three districts in Dallas and Houston declared unconstitutional because of "racial gerrymandering."

"I hope the mid-election confusion and expense the judges have caused in 13 districts within 28 counties can be eliminated and elections can be held as planned," Laney was quoted in the Dallas Morning News.

Slots Banned in Bingo Halls

The Texas Lottery Commission ordered all bingo license holders to move "eight-liner" slot-type gambling machines from their bingo halls by Sept. 1.

Billy Rhea, security director of the commission, said the machines violate state laws which bars other forms of gambling at bingo halls.

Any halls that have the machines after Sept. 1 could lose their licenses and the operators turned over to law enforcement agencies for prosecution.

Under state law, gambling devices are legal as long as they pay no more than 10 times the cost of a single play or $5, whichever is less.

In some of the banned machines, a dollar can be inserted and credits can be built up to hundreds of dollars.

Other Capital Highlights

• About 1.3 million Texas children under age 18 have no health insurance, and state officials are looking for ways to help parents who can't afford coverage. Texas Health Commissioner David Smith said it would cost nearly $1 billion to insure those youngsters. Of the billion dollars, $300 to $400 million might come through some type of health premium subsidy provided by the state.

• The Texas Commission on Judicial Efficiency has forwarded a list of proposals to lawmakers to consider in efforts to improve the state's judicial system. One proposal is to raise state judges' pay 30 percent. Doing so would cost taxpayers about $16 million a year.

Another week back stateside, and we're getting used to watching furtive whitetail deer edging along the yard fence, nosing into the grapevine thicket. Not many days ago we were looking out at scudding sailboats and plodding fishing vessels cutting the waves on the bay. Both views are heartwarming.

So was the rain which woke us all up the other night as Dolly moved closer in to the Mexican shore. Rain on the roof in Ireland is no big deal, though at times it can be as welcome there as here. But rain on the roof in Texas this year is a major thrill. Hope you heard it on your roof also!

Because life in Ireland is such a vivid thing, we keep remembering bits and pieces of things we did and heard long after we are back home standing in line at the HEB or taking the cleaning in to Stein's. Here are a few impressions:

While the national radio, RTE, goes into long-winded presentations of news and comment in the totally unintelligible Irish form of Gaelic, we switch over to BBC from across the Irish Sea. One rainy afternoon we tried to listen to the broadcast of the cricket match between England and Pakistan. Though the action proceeded with the proverbial speed and excitement of drying paint as far as we were concerned, the spectators on the scene were pretty stirred up. Here is what the game announcer said, not turning up the intensity of his slow languid drawl at all:

"Oh deah, there is no need for this!"

"There seems to be a chap hurling a bottle."

"The umpires seem to be expressing concern."

"One of the players has knelt down as if in supplication."

At that point, since we couldn't in any way understand what was going on anyway, we turned off the wireless and went back to the crossword in The Irish Times, which proved to be just as unintelligible as a Gaelic newscast or an English cricket game.

In so many ways, we Yanks just don't get it! But we love it!

Coming home to Main Street, we made a point of heeding Mayor Cowan's earnest suggestion to utilize the parking lot on Cedar and Eleventh rather than cluttering up a space in front of the OST. It was just a short walk, dodging the BFI bin by Busbee's, to come around the corner to our destination. We laughed, thinking of the controversy stirred up here over the taking up of Main Street space by The Stagecoach and contrasting it with the huge row in Bantry town over the disappearance of parking there.

The Super Value and Barry's, the two grocery markets, are on narrow little New Street. Shoppers unable to park their tiny Japanese cars in the few spaces in front of the stores have always had a bit of a walk pushing trolleys-ful of purchases down a block to Wolfe Tone Square, a former market-day space recently made into a car park.

This past spring, the town council, offered big bucks, or should we say—ponderous pounds—by the European Community, decided to turn the square into a people place, banning cars in favor of benches, street-lamps, a fountain, skinny new trees, and a French-style bowling court. (So far, nobody sits on the benches, nobody bowls.)

The unintended consequence of the beautification project has been total gridlock on the narrow crooked streets of the town, loss of business at stores on New Street, and howls of pain from Irish mamas wheeling both prams and grocery trolleys all the way down to the wharf, where even there most people haven't found a place to park.

A sign up in the front of the "Super V" now says, "If you would wish your bags taken to your car, please speak to one of the clerks." Super V is probably going to have to run a shuttle bus. If the shuttle bus can find a place to park. Meanwhile a lad has been hired to cruise all over town, collecting abandoned trolleys.

So don't say another word about The Stagecoach, y'all.

Robert Moller receives thank you note from Dunblane school

Robert and LaJune Moller received the following thank you note from the Dunblane Primary School in Scotland recently.

Dear Friends:

I am writing you on behalf of the community of Dunblane to thank you for your generous donation following the recent tragic events. The kindness shown by you and people all over the world has helped support and sustain the whole community.

With your help we will once again make Dunblane the happy place it was before the incident. Indeed we hope that we will learn from our experiences and become stronger.

Once more may I express my appreciation for your consideration.

Thank you very much for the three boxes of teddies. They are really appreciated.

Jona Howie

On behalf of the community of Dunblane.

Robert had sent several boxes of stuffed toys to the victims of tragedy at the school. He won the toys with his expertise playing the crane machines around Bandera.

Moller has provided stuffed toys for children for the Sheriff's Department, EMS, the Oklahoma bombing, hospitals and other causes.

"Whenever the back seat of the car is full, we start looking for some place to send them," he said.

Assisting Moller with shipping and other expenses for the Dunblane school were Bobby Heuer, Sam McCutchin, Daisy Knight and Diana Myers.

Terry studies agriculture, environment

Elementary teachers attending Texas Farm Bureau's Summer Agricultural Institute at Tarleton State University here this summer are now better equipped to explain agricultural and environmental issues to Texas school children.

Vicky Terry of Pipe Creek, a fourth grade teacher with the Bandera ISD was among those attending one of the two sessions designed to provide teachers with science-based information and resource materials on the agricultural industry for use in the classroom.

As a participant, Terry and other educators toured one of Erath County's state-of-the-art dairies and took part in a comprehensive workshop conducted by the Texas A&M Research Center.

The Summer Agricultural Institute is a Texas Farm Bureau program held annually in conjunction with Tarleton State University. Graduates of the five-day Institute earn 3 hours of graduate credit plus 17 clock hours of Environmental Education credit through the Texas Education Agency. For more information, contact your local county Farm Bureau office.

Robert Moller receives thank you note from Dunblane school

Robert and LaJune Moller received the following thank you note from the Dunblane Primary School in Scotland recently.

Dear Friends:

I am writing you on behalf of the community of Dunblane to thank you for your generous donation following the recent tragic events. The kindness shown by you and people all over the world has helped support and sustain the whole community.

With your help we will once again make Dunblane the happy place it was before the incident. Indeed we hope that we will learn from our experiences and become stronger.

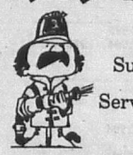
Once more may I express my appreciation for your considerate three boxes of teddies. They are really appreciated.

Jona Howie

On behalf of the community of Dunblane.

Robert had sent several boxes of stuffed toys to the victims of tragedy at the school. He won the toys with his expertise playing the crane machines around Bandera.

Moller has provided stuffed toys for children for the Sheriff's Department, EMS, the Oklahoma bombing, hospitals and other causes.



"Whenever the back seat of the car is full, we start looking for some place to send them," he said.

Assisting Moller with shipping and other expenses for the Dunblane [illegible] Heuer, Jan McCutchan, Daisy Knight and Diana Myers.

Sergeant Rhonda Carrille Fleming has been promoted to Lieutenant and will take her new assignment in late September in El Paso, Texas.

Rhonda is a graduate of Bandera High School and of Angelo State University. She is the daughter of Harry and Alicia Fleming of Bandera, Texas. Rhonda has served D.P.S. for over 12 years.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Ciarlo

The ladies of the area had their monthly get together with a lunch at the Copper Lantern on Wednesday, Aug. 21. Sixteen ladies attended and discussed many things about the area but the main topic was "Rain." After eating, the ladies got busy and made plans for the Fall-Winter shuffle board bowling league at the Copper Lantern. It looks like there will be three teams taking part. The teams sure had a good time playing in the Spring.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department will have a General Membership Meeting on Sept. 27 at the fire house at 6 p.m. The department will be providing hot dogs, so bring a covered dish and take part in the meeting.

The Lakeshore Fire Department reports the truck fund is doing very well, but more money is needed to reach their goal. At the general membership meeting, the Truck Committee will inform the membership on the truck that they have decided will be the best for our area, the approximate cost and how the truck will be paid for.

Remember Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department has training on the first Saturday of every month at 10 a.m. Fire Chief Bob Rucker reports the turn out is good but he would like to see more attending. There is a lot more in fighting a fire than just having a hose with a little water coming out the end.

The Lakeshore Property Owners Association will hold a general membership meeting on August 31 at the Pavilion starting at 10 a.m.

The Copper Lantern will host the First Saturday Community Supper Saturday, Sept. 7. Live music will accompany the barbecue. Bring a covered dish and get to meet your neighbors.

Fall Classic Horse Show features western and English classes

Jumping events will be an exciting feature in the two-day Fall Classic Horse Show at Mansfield Park Sept. 14-15.

The organizers of the Bandera Fall Classic Horse Show are gearing up for their annual show, set for Sept. 14-15 at Mansfield Park Arena in Bandera.

Due to the large turn-out last year, the format has been changed to a 2-day show.

All Western Classes and speed events will be held on Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. Awards will include rosettes, buckles to three age division winners, with a big horn western show saddle for the high point individual of the day.

All English classes will be held on Sunday beginning at 10 a.m. with awards of rosettes and bridle bags to three age division winners and a Courbette all-purpose close contact saddle to the high point individual of the day.

All of the prizes have been donated by the Horseman's General Store of Bandera. All proceeds from the show go to the Bandera County 4-H Horse Project to help fund their activities for the coming year.

Entry fees are $5 per class if pre-paid by Sept. 5, or $7 the day of the show.

The public is invited to come out and watch both days. There will be no admission fee. Concessions will be available.

To request an entry form, call or write Julie Dinse, Rt. 1 Box 785, Bandera, 78003; 210-796-4866, or pick one up at the Horseman's General Store at 1203 Cedar St. in Bandera.

Judge for both days will be Randy Shurig from New Braunfels.

According to Dinse, the clothes, the tack and the activities all differ for the two general classes in the horse show.

"We're hoping lots of people will come out to observe the English class on Sunday," said Dinse. "It's quite a contrast to the Western class most Texans are more familiar with."

Events in the Western class include the familiar barrel racing and pole bending, along with keyhole, reining, riding, horsemanship, pleasure, trail, walk-trot and halter.

The English class will feature model in hand, showmanship, pleasure, Texas hunter suitability, hunter under saddle, hunter seat equitation, hunter hack, working hunter and open jumping.

The 4-H Horse Project will have its first meeting this year on Tuesday Sept. 3 at 7 p.m. in the Bandera Bank Community Room. Horse Project activities and goals will be discussed and officers will be selected. Prospective new members and new ideas are welcome.

If you are interested in participating come and hear about the activities. Lots of help will be needed for the yearly fund raising open Horse Show to be held on Sept.14-15, say project leaders.

TARPLEY

Nettie Dean
562-3464

At last the rains came. Started off last Tuesday and has continued with slow drizzles of showers. But Sunday noon, our area got a hard downpour of eight inches in an hour. It also flushed the creeks out somewhat. Most of us had two inches in all, some more.

This Sunday, Sept. 1 is the big Tarpley VFD annual benefit [illegible] Everyone is welcome to come. Former Tarpley folks from other towns that they plan to come for this grand occasion. We hope many of you will plan to come and have fun and fellowship. See you there!

Shane Wernette of Houston spent the week end recently with his grandparents Bill and Edna Lea Coffey.

Elsie and Nettie Dean visited with Helen McKandles at Pipe Creek Monday morning.

• Tarpley Baptist Church services will dismiss at 11:30 a.m. Sunday for the parade which will start there on the main downtown street of Tarpley. There won't be any church service Sunday night.

• Edna L. Cheatham of Kingsland was a guest of her mother Mrs. Earl Hood this weekend and also attended church services at the Tarpley Baptist Church Sunday.

All that I have or ever hope to be, I owe to my sainted mother.

More questions and answers regarding BISD's long-range plans.

14. Can the growth problem be solved by adding on to the current high school campus and moving grades 7 and 8 to Bandera High School. But isn't the roadwork more than it can handle?

There are 134.5 acres in Bandera Downs. One hundred acres may be sufficient to house a campus for 1,500, but 100 acres on Hwy. 16 are not for sale. The District may not require the additional 34.5 acres now, but the possibility of continued growth remains in the future. If growth slows, some of that acreage could be sold. Certainly, to move the bus fleet and maintenance department out of town and onto the racetrack, a number of acres will be required to house these facilities and to have them situated far enough from academic programs not to interfere.

15. What about the possibility of purchasing additional land adjacent to Alkek Elementary and building a campus for 5th and 6th grade students there?

That would allow the current middle school campus to house only 7th and 8th grades and the high school campus can remain as is.

This possibility would allow for a few years growth at the Alkek Annex, but the new campus would require an additional cafetorium, and additional library, and enough classrooms to house more students than Alkek now has. It would also allow for a few years growth at the High School (by adding more temporary buildings), but the high school campus will soon run out of space for additions, as will Alkek.

16. Granted, there's not enough room at the current high school campus and moving grades 7 and 8 to Bandera High School. But isn't the roadwork more than it can handle? Isn't the current campus big enough?

There are 134.5 acres in Bandera Downs. One hundred acres may be sufficient to house a campus for 1,500, but 100 acres on Hwy. 16 are not for sale. The District may not require the additional 34.5 acres now, but the possibility of continued growth remains in the future. If growth slows, some of that acreage could be sold. Hill Country students shine on TAAS tests

Hill Country Elementary principal Andy Kline presented his school's TAAS results to the BISD board Tuesday, Aug. 13. Kline expressed his satisfaction with the results but plans to set his goals even higher next year.

"We made major strides across the board," said Kline.

The Hill Country students achieved over 90 percent passing scores in three categories. In third grade reading, 91 percent of the students met the minimum requirements. In third grade math, 92 percent met the minimum and in fifth grade reading, 96 percent met the minimum.

Seventy-nine percent of fourth grade readers met the minimums and 85 percent of the class met the minimums in math. In fifth grade math, 83 percent of the students met the minimum standards.

Kline was really excited at the level of accomplishment shown in the over-all mastery of reading, writing and math.

"We will continue with the same programs we have in place now to get more kids to the mastery level," said Kline. "I think the state is wrong to focus on the minimum passing scores. When you teach to the highest level, the lower level kids will automatically come up, too."

In every category but fifth grade math, the Hill Country students improved the over-all mastery skills from the previous year. Huge improvements were seen in third grade math mastery scores, where 55 percent mastered all of the TAAS math objectives. Only 8 percent mastered all of the objectives last year. Fifty-one percent of the fourth grade readers mastered all objectives, an increase over the 29 percent mastery last year. The improvement in reading scores was also evident at the fifth grade level where 69 percent achieved mastered of all objectives. Only 38 percent had that mastery last year.

"I want more of our kids at the mastery level next year," said Kline.

TAAS tests set for Oct. 22-24

The administration of the Exit Level Texas Assessment of Academic Skills (TAAS) will be October 22-24 at Bandera High School. This test administration is for any current junior or senior, or individuals no longer enrolled in Texas public schools who have yet to pass a portion of the TAAS. Passing all portions of TAAS is a graduation requirement in all Texas public schools.

The TAAS writing test will be administered on Tuesday, October 22, the math test will be on Wednesday, October 23, and the reading test will be on Thursday, October 24.

Individuals who are no longer enrolled in a Texas public school who wish to register to take portions of the TAAS may pick up a registration packet at the high school counselor's office, Monday-Friday, between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. The test registration form must be completed and returned in the pre-addressed envelope and must be received in Iowa City, Iowa, no later than 5 p.m. Sept. 20, 1996.

Silver SageCorral

by Sylvia Saffell

On Wednesday, Sept. 4, the Heritage Study Group will have their first meeting of the Fall Season. Meeting every Wednesday morning beginning at 9:30 a.m. at the Silver Sage Corral, the group will begin making plans for the annual Quilt Show, which will be held at the Silver Sage on Saturday, October 12.

The Heritage Study Group is one of four Family and Community Education Study Groups in Bandera County. The youngest of the Study Groups, the Heritage Study Group wanted to center their meeting around quilting, a love that each member shared.

In four years the group has grown from less than 10 members to over 30 members, and although their main objective is still the share-their-love-of-knowledge of quilting with anyone who wants to learn or simply listen, there is a lot more to this group today.

The start of the year found them planning the 1996 Raffle Quilt which will be presented to the lucky winner during the Quilt Show. The "Grandmother's Fan" design was selected and over the months, a number of individual blocks made by the members turned into a lovely quilt, which is on display at the Silver Sage Corral.

In March, one of the members told the group that [illegible] the Clark house were in need of adult size bibs, and another project quickly began, with over 40 bibs being completed and given to the Clark House.

Other members were busy working with Bandera school students, teaching them to quilt, and even appearing on a television news cast! During the summer a second group of school age students (and one or two mothers) were given lessons in quilting.

Members also donate many of the handmade articles to the Silver Sage Gift Shop, since the Silver Sage so graciously allows the group to "take over" every Wednesday morning! And if there is a Quilt Show in the area, you can bet that one or more members will be there!

Ten members and guests will be departing Bandera for the International Quilt Show in Houston, Nov. 9 and 10, and plans are in the works for a trip up to the Dallas Quilt Show in March, 1997.

If meeting wonderful people and sharing information on things from recycling to quilting interests you, join us on Wednesday morning. No one is a stranger in this group.

• Line dancing classes will resume on Monday, Sept. 2 from 7 to 8 p.m. Everyone is welcome.

Members of the Heritage Study Group frame their Grandmother's Fan quilt to be raffled off at the group's annual Quilt Show at the Silver Sage Corral Oct. 12. Kneeling are Sylvia Saffell, Kay Welch, Peggy Huffman and Gloria Kelley. Standing are Judy Rodriguez, Bettie Studstill and Maple Cowan.

Silver Sage Benefit Dance, Sept. 12

The 1996 Benefit Dance for the Silver Sage Corral will be held Thursday, Sept. 12 from 8-11 p.m. at The Cabaret.

Music will be provided by Linda Allen and the Roadrunners.

There will be a quilt raffle, cake auction and door prizes.

Tickets are available at the Silver Sage Corral and at the door on dance night for $4.

Guild plans style show

The Greater San Antonio Quilt Guild Style Show and Luncheon, "Funtastic Threads" or "Wearables: What we do for fun!" will be held at noon Saturday, Sept. 28, 1996, in the Embassy Suites Hotel Ballroom on Cherryridge Dr. off IH-10/410.

Items to be modeled include traditional garments and unique fiber arts designs. Luncheon/show tickets are $18.

For reservations or further information, contact chairman Kay Allison at 210-733-1744.

What's Rustlin'

...olde Bandanitas, get ...er rip-snortin', whing ding of a weekend.

It's the first All-American Cowboy Get-Together, and it's out at Mansfield Park on Saturday and Sunday from 10 ...

The'll be cowboy everything ... cookoff, art, merchandise, special events and more, including the world's smartest Texas longhorn steer. A ranch rodeo and bull riding contest will be held each night, too.

So, put on your boots, saddle up your cayuse, put a loop around your favorite gal or guy, and mosey on down to the ol' corral (actually Mansfield Park!) and let's make this first gathering the best ever!

Did you see where a chihuahua gave birth to a little (must have been) pup, and then adopted three abandoned kittens? Wasn't that great!

Carole Latimer has written a cookbook for campers, called "Wilderness Cuisine," which is really gourmet cooking that is light weight enough to carry on your back and can be made over a campfire.

She also had this funny idea. You pack a big plastic garbage bag and when you want a bath, you fill it half way with water, set it in the sun, and when it's warm enough for you, you just ... what I said imagination!

The U.S. Marine Corps didn't ... had enough moral values, so they have expanded "values-based instruction" in boot camp. Pretty good, eh!

Poore Bros. Potato Chips, found in your local stores have jalapeno chips (really jalapeno!), ... and cheese chips (to eat with your fish like the English!), ... and who knows what else. They are delish chips!

And Taos Cow Ice Cream Company in New Mexico has flavors like Holstein Sunset, Buffalo Chip, Chocolate Rio Grande and more. There may be a lot of bad happening in the world today, but when you read of these great imaginations for fun, then there's hope.

Get you and your horse signed up for the Western Fashion Show on Horseback on Dec. 14. This will be part of Christmas in Bandera and ought to be a lot of fun.

Talking of fun, Wrangle the Rain got picked up by CNN and friends from Washington, California, Virginia, Illinois, Maryland, Washington D.C., Kansas, Colorado and more are calling their friends in Bandera to let them know they saw it. That was quite a bit of free publicity the Chamber created for Bandera. Surely the dude ranches, hotels, bed and breakfasts and RV camps will pick up a nice bit of business from it.

Beware of cruise scams

How would you like to win a fabulous cruise to the Bahamas, where you can relax by day on the beach and dance the night away in some of Nassau's greatest night spots? Best of all, every is free. Or is it?

These idyllic vacation cruises are nothing more than clever sales campaigns specifically designed to part you from your cash as quickly as possible.

What is not revealed are the hidden costs, marketing ploys and some downright deception, as defined under the Texas Deceptive Trade Practices Act.

Certified winners?

This is what really happens, and this how it works.

Out-of-state travel companies send out masses of junk mail. Each piece contains a certificate that looks like an engraved announcement that you have won a "fabulous Caribbean cruise."

Printed in big, bold letters is your so-called winning reservation and a toll-free telephone number to call.

You call, and a high-pressure salesperson answers. He or she tries to convince you to make up your mind right away and, by the way, give him or her your credit card number for assorted taxes, fees, and costs.

The deal is good only for today, and you must sign up right away or lose a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity. If you do, you will win a side trip to Orlando or Daytona. If you do not, your prize might go to someone else.

Losing proposition

Here is what they will not tell you, or what they might mention only in passing:

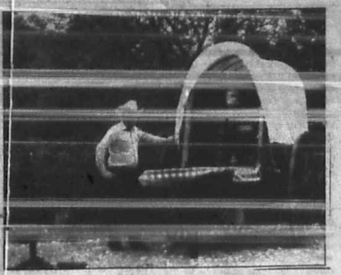
• You have not won anything, no matter what the certificate says. Millions of Americans "win" this not-so-free deal.

• Air fare is not included. To get to Florida, where most cruises originate, you will have to pay at least $180.00 per person.

• Departure taxes and fees are not included. That can add up to hundreds of dollars more.

• The cruise will cost $198-or more- per person.

• Hotel, service, port and other taxes will also be added.



The island hotels you stay in often are little more than shacks, with poor service, poor facilities and poor dinning. In any case, you will never stay at a five-star property.

Your side trip to Orlando or Daytona? Just a sale meeting with a time-share salesperson.

Protect yourself

Kelly Scott poses with his authentic chuckwagon. The Chuckwagon Cookoff at Mansfield Park this weekend will feature authentic cattle trail cooking.

Cookoff celebrates the cowboy way

The big cowboy celebration at Mansfield Park this Saturday and Sunday will include, among other attractions, a chuckwagon cookoff, an event that is becoming more and more popular around the west. Five authentic ranch chuckwagons will set up camp just outside the livestock show barn, stoke up a campfire, set up their Dutch ovens and other cooking pots and prepare a complete meal of chicken fried steak and gravy, pinto beans, potatoes, camp bread, either sourdough or plain and peach cobbler. Awards will be presented for best of each dish, plus best wagon and camp. The best part of the contest, is that for $5 the spectators will be able to enjoy a plat of this great camp cooking.

Wagons are coming from St. Hedwig, Poteet, Early, Pleasanton and San Antonio. Each wagon is being sponsored by a local ranch.

Over the Back Fence

Over The Back Fence with Marion Holder

Hi y'all! Hello Dolly! ... we have had about an inch and a half of rain this past week and it looks like that tropical push might push a little more moisture our way. Every drop is welcome. Maybe we will get enough to recharge some of our aquifer and maybe even get some creeks and our river looking like creeks and rivers instead of dry washes!

We hear Nikki Wyllie had a wonderful time on her Chrysalis Walk a few weeks back. She was expressing her thanks to all for their support and fantastic letters.These walks are a spiritual uplift for all who participate.

The folks at Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department are going down to the wire on the preparations for the Fall Barbecue. A crew worked this weekend getting the firehouse and the trucks cleaned up. The publicity committee has raffle tickets on sale. The raffle has over $2000 worth of prizes. You can get your tickets from any firefighter or call us and we can get you some. Also tickets will be on sale at the firehouse during the barbecue.

The drawing will start at 1 p.m. on Sunday with another drawing each hour until 5 p.m. when the major prizes will be drawn. So for a very good barbecue meal, a chance at some good prizes, a chance to support a very good cause, and a grand time, come on down Aug. 31 and Sept. 1 for the MLVFD Fall Barbecue!

After we get over enormous volumes of hotshot, Sept. 28 will ... tion. The Cajun Fest will take ... off with all kinds of Cajun food. The folks at the Civic Center are busy getting ready for this annual event. Anyone wanting to help should contact Barbara Engel or Bob Caswell.

Farewell to a friend. We found ourselves at Freedom Hall in Bandera last Saturday for the memorial services for Jim Kaufman. Jim died last week as a result of cancer. Jim was a fellow EMT and one with extreme dedication. Even when battling cancer, Jim insisted on taking his calls with the EMS service. Jim enjoyed his work serving the people of his community to the point where he put them above his own personal welfare. Just last spring Jim was diving in Medina Lake in the search for a drowning victim. He took his EMS calls up till he finally had to be taken to the hospital for the last time. It was an emotional time for us listening to the ambulance transporting Jim for his final run!

Saturday, All the EMS Chapters of the County took their unite to the memorial service. More than 22 EMTs attended with most of Bandera to say good-bye to a dedicated man. We must say we did O.K. until the dispatcher toned the tones for EMT 25 and announced "EMT 25 is 10-7" (10-7 means out of services) this was a fitting tribute for Jim. So we say good-bye to Jim and we will try to live up to your example!

We will say good-bye now and we will be looking for you over the back fence.

Popular Santa Rosa benefit tourney looking for players and sponsors for October event

The fifth annual KKYX Radio Flying L Fling golf tournament has been set for Friday, Oct. 4.

As in previous years, the event will benefit Santa Rosa Children's Hospital, a regional facility in San Antonio owned and operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Incarnate Word.

The affair will feature two shotgun start scrambles starting at 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Some 250 players are expected to participate.

Cost to enter one of the tournaments will be $50 if paid by Sept. 27, $60 thereafter. The fee will include green and cart costs, a fajita dinner, refreshments and a chance to win valuable prizes.

Serving as general chairman again will be Al Heep, prominent Bandera rancher.

"I know there are a lot of golf tournaments out there being played for very good causes, but I think there's nothing like the good feeling that comes from helping a very sick child regain health," Heep said. "And that's what this tournament is all about."

One of the major sponsors of the affair is KKYX Radio, whose early-morning show host Jerry King will do his broadcast from the Flying L clubhouse on tournament days.

If tradition holds, the tourna... ment will be filled up early with players. Sign up will begin next week.

Meanwhile, members of Heep's volunteer committee will be asking merchants and individuals to invest in a corporate sponsorship and/or to donate prizes that embellish the tournament.

Last year's tournament netted some $25,000 for the hospital.

Cannon leads Over 50 golfers at Flying L

Bandera— Lacy Cannon of Boerne led a crack team of area golfers to a one-shot victory in the Over 50 Golf Association weekly scramble played Aug. 20 at Flying L Guest Ranch course here.

Long- hitting Lacy was joined in the winners circle by Burt Bednarz, Phil Rodriguez, and Ben Hughey. They combined talents to shoot an eight-under- par 64 for top money.

Second place with a 65 went to the team of Jim Terry, Lynn Boehme, Larry Upton, and Bev Rust.

Three teams tied for third place with 66's, but the squad led by Melvin White of Sabinal claimed the prize with a score-card payoff win. White had on his team Bill Kelly, Mark Bucalo, and Jack Finger.

Fourth place was grabbed by Don Peine, Aubrey Freeman, Flossie Allen, and Charles Huff. And the fifth place spot went to Gerry Edwards, Fritz Houston, Ed Clark, and Jack Kempf.

A large field of 68 golfers participated, making possible the five-place payoff.

Next tournament for the senior circuit will be at Devine's Municipal course on Sept. 4 at 8:30 a.m. After that the old-timers will return to Bandera's Lost Valley layout on Sept.11.

Two other major tournaments were staged during the past week at Flying L.

On Aug. 18 the Flying L Golf Association staged a four-person, two-best all tournament with the team of Pat Garcia, Ron Mercier, Gary Whitfield, and Flossie Allen outshooting the field with a score of 52.

In second place with 54 were Curtis Brown, Wiley D'Spain, Rickey Hinton, and Bill Polly.

The Good Old Boys play each Monday at 9 a.m. Scoring offers three points for birdie, two for par and one for bogie. Handicaps are refigured for each tournament.

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE TAXPAYERS IN THE BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Recently, the Trustees of the Bandera School District approved, without public hearings, the purchase of the race track, Bandera Downs, for $3,000,000 and authorized a $15,000,000 school bond issue for the purpose of purchasing the race track and building a new high school. The bond issue is to be voted on September 28, 1996.

While I fully support our children and young men and women having a clean, pleasant, convenient, nice place to be introduced to the learning process, I cannot support the present plans to purchase the race track and build a new high school for $15,000,000 for these reasons:

1. The logic in the purchase of the race track fails to stand up to close scrutiny. First, the value of the track, for school purposes, is substantially less than $3,000,000. Second, everyone who has remodeled or torn down buildings to build new ones knows the heavy expense involved. For example, what is the high school going to do with over 1,000 horse stalls? Why not purchase Arkey Blue's to teach ball room dancing to the children? Same logic! Third, the excuse that there is no other land available is simply nonsense. Bandera County's major industry is ranching and land. If the public had been asked to come forward, I know this problem could have been solved for the Trustees.
2. By the School Administration's own admission, the two elementary schools, Alkek and Hill Country, both built in the last five years, are adequate with some growth room. Thus, the problem seems to be in the intermediary school (6th, 7th, and 8th grades...560 students) and, to some extent, the high school (9th, 10th, 11th and 12th grades...600+ students). Lingering in the background are the athletic facilities which are apparently deemed to be inadequate.

Without the benefit of an in depth study, it is difficult to say that all of these problems can be worked out; but, based on years of business experience, there appear to be a number of less expensive solutions. Provided, of course, the objective is a pleasant, clean, convenient, nice facility for the teaching of our children.

3. The figures I have seen indicate that the school taxes on your property will go up approximately $183 per year on a $100,000 valuation. This increase in taxes would be to service the new $15,000,000 bond issue. If you accept these estimates made by the Trustees, then what about the increased operating budgets to operate this new $15,000,000 facility? The current operating budget ($9,997,320) is up 43% from 1994. So, the bond tax increase may be only the tip of the iceberg!
4. The Trustees are asking us to provide them with $15,000,000 in cash without complete plans for its use. We only know that $3,000,000 will be paid for the race track. Yet, the Trustees apparently do not have any completed plans for the expenditure of the remaining $12,000,000 except as provided by a firm of architects whose fees are usually based on how much we spend. Doesn't this bother you? It does Me!

WHAT SHOULD YOU AND I DO IN LIGHT OF THESE DEVELOPMENTS?

FIRST, VOTE NO ON THE BOND ISSUE ELECTION TO BE HELD SEPTEMBER 28, 1996, IF DEFEATED, WE WILL THEN HAVE TIME TO ASSIST THE TRUSTEES IN REACHING A BETTER SOLUTION.

SECOND, REQUEST THAT THE TRUSTEES HOLD PUBLIC HEARINGS ON THE SCHOOL BUILDING REQUIREMENTS AND DEVELOP A LONG RANGE PLAN WITH THE AID OF THE TAXPAYERS WHO PAYS THE BILL.

THIRD, SUPPORT THE TRUSTEES IN THEIR FINAL CONCLUSION.

I can personally assure you that if we take the above actions, some good things will take place for the benefit of both our school system and its taxpayers.

Respectfully yours,

Al Hamilton

Grace Lutheran, St. Christopher's host Cowboy Eucharist and breakfast

The grandfather of Biscuits O'Bryan, well known cowboy poet and story teller, will appear here at the Cowboy Eucharist that is being co-hosted by Grace Lutheran and St. Christopher's Episcopal Churches Sunday morning.

John O'Bryan is a circuit rider Episcopal priest from the 1880's. Biscuits learned his great story telling ability at his grandfathers' knee, and he says that "grand-dad is the story teller that I want to grow up and be."

The public is urged to come at 10 a.m. to the area between St. Christopher's and Grace Lutheran on Hwy. 173 north for a cowboy breakfast of home-made biscuits and gravy and cowboy coffee. During the time before church, Linda Allen and the Roadrunners, Hoot Gibbon and the Gibson Sisters will be offering old fashioned gospel music.

The Eucharist starts at 11 a.m., with Monte Jones (a.k.a. John O'Bryan) from Sonora, TX. as the preacher. Rev. Don Lee, Rector of St. Christopher's and the Rev. Glenn Moerhing, Pastor of Grace Lutheran, will be the celebrant and assisting clergy. The public is invited to attend. This is a ministry to the people of Bandera by these two churches, so there is a no charge to anyone. Blue Jeans are appropriate apparel and a hitching rail will be provided for horses.

Welcome to the All-American Cowboy Get-together

The best known and most admired folk hero in the entire world is the American Cowboy. This get-together is meant to be a tribute to cowboys and cowgirls from throughout America, both past and present, and to the cowboy and western culture that they gave birth to. And what better place to do that, than in Bandera, Texas, the town that is known as the "Cowboy Capital of the World."

Bandera lies on what was once known as the Western Trail or some-times called the Dodge City Trail. Millions of Texas Longhorn cattle were driven up that trail to the railhead in Dodge City, Kansas, and some on farther to Ogallala, Nebraska. Through Bandera and up the Western Trail went the thousands and thousand of cattle that were the seed stock to start America's ranching industry throughout the western states. This is another reason that Bandera, Texas is a very appropriate place to hold an event such as the All American Cowboy Get-Together.

You will be able to enjoy cowboy and western music on two stages, at opposite ends of the show barn. There will be one hour of music on one stage, then one hour of music on the other stage, then back to the other stage, and so on all day. This give you the chance to get up and stretch your legs and browse through the exhibitors' booths on your way to the other musical performance, making for a more relaxing and comfortable day.

Our cowboy poetry sessions will be on a third stage, and you will surely want to sit in on some of that. Some poems are hilariously funny, while some are quite serious and touching. If you have never heard cowboy poetry, you have missed a real treat. Be sure to stroll through the chuckwagon cookoff encampment. You will see authentic chuckwagons that were the "home on the range" for the old time cowboys. For $5 you can buy a ticket that can be exchanged at any of the wagon for a full meal, cooked right there over hot coals.

And last but not least, be sure to shop with the various exhibitors at the Get- Together. You will find a variety of very fine western products available for sale. We also encourage you to visit and shop in Bandera. You may leave the show ground, go into Bandera, then come back for more of the Get-Together. Please do business with our sponsors in town. Without them we could not have the All American Cowboy Get-Together.

A big THANK YOU to our sponsors:

THE CHUCKWAGON

Right after the Civil War, during the 20 year era of the great cattle drives from Texas to the railheads in Kansas, a legend was born; the American cowboy. These men spent months on the trail, pushing cattle north, sleeping on the ground, and eating meals cooked at a wagon that came to be known as a chuckwagon.

Texas cattleman Charles Goodnight is credited with inventing the chuckwagon in 1866. Goodnight had a box made with drawers and compartments into which food supplies and cooking and eating utensils could be stored.

This box, which came to be called a chuck box, was placed in the rear of a ranch wagon. It was designed a such a manner that a hinged lid that fit across the back of the box could be let down to a horizontal position, and braced with a leg under it to form a working table for the cook.

Other features of the chuckwagon were a wooden water barrel attached to the side, ax edels and ends box on the other side, and a "possum belly" underneath the wagon made of a cowhide that held firewood.

Into the wagon went the cowboy's bed rolls and other personal items. The cook always kept a few medicinal supplies in the wagon. The chuckwagon was the center of the cowboy's life while out on the range or on the cattle trails.

The chuckwagon was his home on the range. When on the long trail or out on the range for long periods, the chuckwagon cooks had to select food supplies that would not spoil easily. One of the staples was beans. Beans, potatoes, beef, bread and often a cobbler made with canned fruit was a common menu.

For this reason the contestants in our chuckwagon contest are preparing the same meal. Awards will be given for the best meat, best beans, best potatoes, best bread, best cobbler, and best wagon and camp.

We invite you to enjoy a chuckwagon cooked meal. For $5 you may purchase a ticket that can be exchanged, at one of the wagons of your choice, for a complete meal including chicken-fried steak, pinto beans, potatoes, camp bread and peach cobbler.

We wish to thank Gwen Robbins of the O.S.T. Restaurant in Bandera for supplying all of the food for this chuckwagon cookoff as well as the various ranches that sponsored each wagon: Bill Castle Ranch, Bandera; Prison Canyon Ranch, Camp Verde; Richter's Moss View Ranch, Bandera; and Faris Bros. Ranch, Medina.

POETRY IS BIG BUSINESS HERE BY COWBOY

Of the many aspects of the renewed interest in our cowboy culture, one of the fastest growing is the interest people are showing in cowboy poetry. A small gathering of cowboy poets in Elko, Nevada a few years ago has grown to a major event, attracting thousands of poets, musicians, and spectators from all across America.

That one-time poetry gathering has given rise to similar gatherings of cowboy poets in cities and towns throughout the West.

Cowboy poets draw from their experiences as working cowboys and ranchers to get material for their poems. Some of these poems are hilariously funny, while others are very serious, dramatic, tales of tragedy that happened.

Some are about life and death on the range, and many are of a very humble reflection of an almighty, higher power that the cowboy confronts on. Some are about family, dogs, horses, wild cows and bad broncs.

Cowboy poetry covers the whole range of life in the West. Cowboy poets are the cowboy storytellers. Their stories also cover the complete western ranching experience.

Along with the camp fire, storytelling was one of the few ways cowboys to lonely bunkhouses or out on the trail had to entertain themselves, or pass the time on cold winter nights.

The All American Cowboy Get-Together is proud to present a fine lineup of cowboy poets and storytellers. If you have never before sat in on a cowboy session, you have missed a real treat.

ENTERTAINMENT, MUSICAL

The Spirit of Texas is considered by many to be one of the most entertaining cowboy harmony groups in the country.

Rudy Robbins, leader of the band, has been a ranch cowboy, movie actor/stuntman, wild west show performer and action director. Rudy plays rhythm guitar.

Ray Tate, lead guitarist, also plays dobro, banjo, and mandolin. Ray has won several national music awards. Roger Heinen plays bass fiddle. He is from an old pioneer ranching family, and is still raising a few cows on land that has been in his family sine 1866. Johnny Way plays fiddle and takes care of the yodeling chores. When not making music, Johnny is a hunting guide on some of the big Texas hill country ranches.

In 1991, the Texas Legislature designated them "The Official Cowboy Band For Texas."

The Hays County Gals formed in 1986, creating educational and entertaining programs for schools.

Demand has grown, and they've since performed their musical magic with traditional cowboy trail songs, western classic of the 1930s-40s and western songs of today, featuring three-part harmony and acoustic instrumentation.

The group consists of Jill Jones, Ginger Evans and Greg Lowry. Jill plays rhythm guitar and is a great yodeler. Ginger plays stand-up bass and does smooth harmony. Greg sings harmony and plays dobro, accordion and mandolin.

This is a real tight group that has that great old-time harmony sound. They are sometimes joined by Bob Rohan who also sings and plays fiddle.

The Saddle Tramps perform in shopping malls throughout the U.S. with their unique show, which includes a portable western town front. They have furnished cast and livestock for numerous TV movies and commercials, including the NBC mini-series The Awakening Land, and the CBS mini-series The Chisoms. A national touring troupe, The Saddle Tramps have entertained audiences from coast to coast and Canada for over 20 years. Their toe-tappin' tributes to the Old West have thrilled audiences young and old alike.

Jessica Avallone is about as "cowboy" as you can get!

Roll Call of Performers

DON PITTS Cowboy poet and humorist Don Pitts from Abilene, Texas is one of the more educated cowboys around, with a Master of Science degree in range animal science from Sul Ross State College in alpine. His first poem was published in Western Horseman. He has since had about 70 other poems, all humor, published in various horse, cow, and ag publications. He may sometimes appear to approach the limits of good taste, but he never crosses the line.

WAYNE CORNETT Cowboy poet, Wayne Cornett, comes to us from Midland, Texas. Wayne's poems range from historical to every day ranch life, and from humorous to serious. Wayne is presently the president of the Texas Cowboy Poets Association.

PETE DAVIS Cowboy poet, Pete Davis grew up in Kent County, Texas and has made Kerrville his home for the last forty seven years. Pete has recited his original cowboy poems at many of the leading gatherings and western events around the West, as well as at church functions and private parties.

RON MOORE & WILL Here's a cowboy poet/singer that has a little help from his dog Will. Ron is a horse trainer from Kerrville, Texas and his dog Will is an Australian Red Heeler. In doing his daily work, Ron feels the Lord has given him what he calls "Christian Cowboy Poetry." Ron and Will's brand of poetry presents the gospel in a unique and humorous way.

ADRIAN LOPEZ Here's a cowboy poet and storyteller whose family can be traced far back into Texas history; all the way back to a Spanish Land Grant. Adrian started cowboying at an early age around his hometown of Alice, Texas. He worked for six years as a cowboy during the screw worm eradication and the fever tick quarantine in Jim Wells County, Texas. It was here he learned the art of storytelling around the camp.

BOB KAHLA Bob is a fourth generation cowboy who grew up on a ranch where his father had a rodeo string, so riding broncs and bulls came naturally. His poetry and songs demonstrate that a tough cowboy can also be literate and sensitive.

J.D. YOUNG Hamilton, Texas is the home of cowboy storyteller J.D. Young. J.D has the rugged cowboy look that landed him work in quite a few commercial ventures. He enjoys telling humorous cowboy stories and can plunk a guitar too.

TOM TAYLOR is a saddle maker from Camp Wood, Texas. Camp Wood sits right in the middle of ranching country, so his poems come from being where it happens.

TEX HILL, "The Rhinestone Ranger," evokes fond memories of the golden age of the singing cowboys of the silver screen. Tex always dresses in fancy outfits reminiscent of the attire of such movie greats as Roy Rogers and Gene Autry.

Tex is a multi-talented western performer, being proficient with six guns, bull whips and knife throwing. On many of Tex's shows he performs with his trick horse, Silver Flash, when he is in an arena Tex has spent most of his 30-year career as a studio recording musician and backup artist for many famous entertainers. In 1990, he decided to follow his lifelong dream to be a western balladeer and storyteller. These talents he comes by naturally, being raised in rural Texas by his grandfather, who was one of those marvelous campfire storytellers himself.

KEN & ALLAN ROMRIELL Father and son team, Ken and Allan Romriell are fourth and fifth generation Idahoans, both born and raised in the shadow of the old Oregon Trail in southern Idaho. They play a mixture of original and traditional songs, with a western folk flavor. Ken's interest in western lore and western music goes back to his childhood. His son Allan has played guitar and sang off and on since his high school days. In 1994, Ken wrote a few poems that son Allan put to music and the duo was born. Ken lives in Caldwell, Idaho, while son Allan lives in Fruitland, Idaho.

JIM GARRETT Storyteller Jim Garrett makes his home in McDade, Texas. He began writing his cowboy tales in 1993, selling them by mail and in person at western festivals throughout the state. Jim also tells his stories at churches and schools. Jim appears in authentic 1880s garb as part of his storytelling. He has been a cowboy fan since seeing his first Roy Rogers movie. At age 58, his ambition is to have the chance to appear on the stage with Red Steagall.

RUDY GONZALES Cowboy poet and humorist Rudy Gonzales was born in Ragged Mountain, Colo. and was ranch raised. He is a trial working cowboy who has become one of the nation's top cowboy entertainer. He has earned his living as a full time horse trainer and farrier. He and his wife Rose still maintain and operate a full-time horse ranch west of Boise, Idaho and they still live the lives that his poems and stories tell about.

ROXIE HUGGINS Roxie lives with her husband Johnny and two children on their DoubleTree Ranch just out of Bandera. She has been playing guitar and singing since high school days, but decided to get serious about it three years ago when a local fiddle player told her that if her fingers were not getting sore then she wasn't practicing enough.

Roxie works at the Dixie Dude Ranch in Bandera where she helps entertain the guests.

RANDY WALLER Cowboy poet, storyteller and humorist Randy Waller spent his boyhood days on his grandfather's ranch learning about the cattle business. Later he became involved in rider as a bullrider and rodeo clown. For several years this was his life, while still spending time working on his grandfather's ranch. In 1992 a bad bull bucked and trampled him several times while he was trying to free a bullrider who was hung in his rope. The injuries Randy received caused him to leave the arena for the stage, where he now shares his experiences of ranch and rodeo life in rhyme and story.

DEAN FOSTER A fifth-generation New Mexico cowboy and rancher, Dean's family has owned and operated the Mangus Creek Ranch since the 1860s. He is currently ranch manager of a small cowcalf outfit, and still finds time to song his brand of cowboy music at some of the big cowboy events in the West, including the National Cowboy Symposium in Lubbock, Red Steagall's Cowboy Gathering and Western Swing Festival in Fort Worth, the Colorado Cowboy Gathering, and New Mexico's Silver City Cowboy Gathering.

Commissioners vote no on rec center jail

Cite public concerns for safety

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Bandera County Commissioners voted no to Sheriff James MacMillan's proposal to temporarily house prisoners in the recreation center at Mansfield Park.

Commissioner Bennie Barker said, "The public input on this plan has not been good. I suggest we budget for farming the prisoners out of the county."

Some citizens objected to the housing of prisoners so close to the playing fields of the county's children. The sheriff has been using prisoner labor and community service workers for various jobs at Mansfield Park for some time, however.

Other objections concerned the loss of the facility for reunions and weddings. Some expressed a belief that "temporary" has a way of turning into "permanent" when dealing with government bodies.

MacMillan has estimated that housing excess prisoners in out-of-county jails will cost taxpayers approximately $100,000 in the next year. The sheriff had recommended to the commissioner's court that modifications be made to the recreation center to create a low-security facility. "I'd like to keep the money in Bandera County," the sheriff told the court earlier.

According to a report submitted by MacMillan to the court, the proposal would be a temporary solution only. "By the end of three years, it would be expected that our new facilities would have been constructed and put into use," the report stated.

> "The public input on this plan has not been good."
> --Commissioner Bennie Barker

The report further stated that the proposal "meets the Jail Commission Guidelines for temporary housing of minimum security inmates only."

Approximate cost for the modifications to the Mansfield Park facility would be $31,000, according to the report. The modifications would have included remodeling the restrooms to include shower facilities and updating the septic system.

Sheriff MacMillan has budgeted only $25,00 for housing prisoners out of the county for the next year.

"I had 26 prisoners in the jail again yesterday," MacMillan told the court, which is responsible for providing jail facilities for the county.

For more commissioner's court news, see page 3.

Mountain rescue team prepared for serious cliff-side emergencies

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

It's as dangerous for the rescuer as for the victim, and that is why the Utopia EMS and volunteer fire department spend hours practicing the skills they will need when a hapless hiker tumbles down an incline at Garner or Lost Maples parks.

In August, those skills were called into use when two 16-year-old park explorers at Garner both fell approximately 50 feet.

"She slipped and started to fall, and he grabbed her," said Jim Cantrell, a fire fighter who also has recently become an emergency medical technician and who responded to the rescue scene. "They both fell, slid and rolled approximately 50 feet on a pretty steep incline with rocks and debris."

Both victims were hurt, with injuries including head injuries, chest wall contusions and internal injuries.

"The rescue unit packaged them and lowered them 80 to 90 feet to the waiting EMS," Cantrell said.

The two were flown out by MAST.

According to Bandera County EMS Training Coordinator Carolyn Rutherford, the idea for a wilderness rescue team originated about 20 years ago, with Utopia Fire Chief Jody Rutherford.

But in recent years, the calls for help have become more frequent, and now the wilderness, or high angle, rescue team has been meeting once or twice a month for a year.

"Here lately with the call rate picking up over there, somebody can be available all the time who knows how to handle vertical rescue," Rutherford said.

Allan Boutwell, a paramedic and physician's assistant at Utopia Medical Clinic, and Rutherford, are the only two paramedics on the team, which is comprised of a mixture of fire fighters, EMTs and some who are both.

The team met two weeks ago for vertical rescue training at Lost Maples State Natural Area, and spent the day rappelling

Property tax relief committee holding San Antonio hearing

AUSTIN -- The Citizen's Committee on Property Tax Relief, appointed by Governor George W. Bush to gauge public opinion on property tax reform, will conduct a town hall meeting in San Antonio on Monday, Sept. 9.

The committee will meet at the City Council Chambers, 103 Main Plaza. A public briefing on the property tax will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the town hall meeting will begin at 10 a.m.

The hearing will be the 13th of 14 held throughout Texas. The 17-member committee is charged with examining the property tax and exploring three possible options -- or a combination of options -- to ease the property tax burden.

"We are talking about property tax relief," said Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer, chairman of the committee. "We are trying to find out whether the public wants to replace the property tax as the primary source of school funding. The property tax money would be replaced on a dollar for dollar basis.

"The hearing in San Antonio is an opportunity for people from throughout the area to give us their opinions. We hope to hear from a broad range of people," said Bomer.

Texas currently raises about $10 billion a year for public schools from the local property tax. That makes up about 54 percent of the total amount spent on public schools. The average tax rate in Texas is $2.30 per $100 property value with about three-fifths of that levied by school districts.

The committee will explore with the public three replacement options. Those are:

- Business activity tax: essentially a business mark-up, less a deduction for new capital investment.
- Gross receipts tax: total in-state business revenues.
- Sales tax expansion/rate

Pipe Creek EMT Bernie Hatcher stabilizes Johnny Harvey, the driver of a one-car accident at Privilege Creek Aug. 22. A trailer hauling family items jackknifed on the bridge, causing the rainy-day wreck. Pipe Creek and Bandera EMS responded to the call.

Rain causes wreck

Rain, slick streets and bald tires contributed to this wreck at Privilege Creek on Thursday, Aug. 22, according to DPS Trooper Glenn Scales.

Johnny Harvey, of Spring Branch, was the driver of the pickup truck hauling a trailer that left the road and plunged down the embankment into the creek bed. The passenger, Luther Breland of Amarillo, was thrown approximately 50 feet in the roll-over accident.

"A contributing factor was insufficient tread on three of the tires on the trailer," Scales said. "The wet highway caused the trailer to hydroplane and it jackknifed on him."

Both men were transported to Methodist Hospital in San Antonio with non-life threatening injuries.

Sheriff's Report

During the week of Aug. 26 through Sept. 1, 1996, the Sheriff's Department answered 99 calls for service. Among them were:

Four minor accidents, two assist other police agency, eight animal calls, 12 suspicious circumstances and two assist EMS.

Also three alarm calls, three thefts, four misdemeanor arrests, three reckless driving, [illegible] domestic disputes, three suspicious persons, one disturbance, two assist Department of Public Safety officers, one [illegible] and one assist animal control.

Also three felony arrest, six suspicious vehicle, six disorderly conduct, three traffic hazard, two assault, four shots fired, three civil matters and five assist public. Also four burglary, one major accident, six criminal mischief, one forgery with a child and one criminal trespass.

Arrested by the sheriff's department were:

Paul Attawy, 39, of Bandera, for aggravated assault.

Corey Flores, 23, of Pipe Creek for burglary of a building.

Landon Scott, 21, of San Antonio for possession of a controlled substance.

Arrested by the Texas Department of Public Safety officers were:

Barry Autry, 48, of Yancey, for DWI and unlawful carrying of a weapon.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is presented at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 36 calls for service, issued eight citations, and arrested three persons for the week of Aug. 26 through Sept. 1, 1996.

Calls for service included five assist other agencies, seven public assists, two suspicious circumstances, one gas drive-off, one suspicious person, four accidents, one assault, one theft, three criminal mischiefs, one disturbance, one injury to a child, three fights, one welfare concern, one reckless driver, one criminal trespass, one loud music and two alarm calls.

Donald Dowell, 69, was arrested and charged with public intoxication.

Danny Bulsterbaum, 20, of Pipe Creek was arrested and charged with assault with bodily injury.

Robert Brown, 22, of Bandera, was arrested on seven warrants issued by Justice of the Peace, Pct. 1.

A SECOND OPEN LETTER TO THE TAXPAYERS IN THE BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Last week, I asked you to vote NO on the September 28, 1996, $15,000,000 bond issue of Bandera Independent School District (BISD) for the many reasons expressed there.

This week, as the radio commentator, Paul Harvey, says, "And now for the rest of the story..."

BISD operates from four major facilities with a $10,000,000 annual budget. In the business world, this would be a major business requiring top notch business managers.

To my knowledge, the only business in Bandera County that exceeds the BISD is Bandera Electric, a $20,000,000 business.

Before the directors of a business the size and extent of BISD would even consider requesting a $15,000,000 loan from their banker, management would be required to come forth with a detailed, highly comprehensive plan for the need, the use and the method of repayment of the loan.

None of these items is present here -- a detailed and highly comprehensive plan for the need and use of $15,000,000 and how it is to be repaid (except by significantly raising our taxes).

The School Administration admits that the school bus facilities, the administrative offices, and the athletic facilities could, and in some cases, should be separate from the teaching classrooms. Yet, the purchase of the race track property would dictate that all of these functions be located together. Is this efficient planning?

Moreover, when facilities are separated, sometimes major economies can result.

Of course, our school officials are limiting their options severely since the race track now appears to be the tail wagging the dog (no pun intended since I am a hearty supporter of our Bulldogs).

I am told that the architects walked the race track facility and suggested ways that its existing facilities might be renovated so as to be used for school purposes. And without charging a fee!

How many of you taxpayers have gotten something for nothing which is really worth anything? I dare say not many of you!

No, a $10,000,000 business would have hired qualified experts to help it study the need for expansion, considering the four locations now available. If the need was alteration of existing facilities or a brand new facility, then architects would be hired to study the problems and recommend several solutions.

Did our BISD do this? If so, I have been unable to uncover the results of any such studies.

Without belaboring the matter and without much additional information and fact finding, I cannot say that some need for additional facilities does not exist at BISD. But I do know that the present plans are flawed.

I am certain of several things which are self-evident. These are:

1. The purchase and expensive conversion of the race track is a poorly thought out idea.

2. BISD needs to get paid professionals to assist in developing both a short and long range financial plan including adequate facilities.

3. The taxpaying public should be involved and kept fully informed. As Candidate Dole says, "I trust the people."

4. After a plan has been approved, we should endorse the decision of the majority and fully support its adoption.

In order for us to accomplish these things, we need to vote NO on the upcoming BISD bond issue.

Respectfully yours,
Al Hamilton, Rancher

Commissioners look at $4.6 million budget

County dads try to hold the line on taxes

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The proposed budget for Bandera County for 1996-97 is available for review by citizens at the county courthouse and the Annex in Lakehills.

The $4,569,321.00 budget put the county just $190,000 away from last year's tax rate, County Auditor Tommy Tomlinson told county commissioners Wednesday, Aug. 28.

Tomlinson said the county is looking at a proposed tax rate of .4343.

The budget puts deep cuts in almost every department's proposed spending for the next year.

A public hearing on the proposed budget will be held Wednesday, Sept. 11 at 6 p.m. at the courthouse. The budget will be adopted at a meeting scheduled for Sept. 18 at 6 p.m.

In other business, the court:

• Heard a request from William C. Morris, Rio Hondo Ranch, to correct and modify an error made by the surveyor on the recorded plat of that subdivision. The error effects lots 1, 2 and 3. A survey mark labeled "E" needs to be changed to "W" to be correct, said Morris. County Clerk Bernice Bates was instructed to consult with County Attorney K.H. Schneider to see whether a resolution regarding the correction may be attached to the plat.

• Accepted a bid from Jennings Anderson Ford for two dump trucks. One of the trucks is for Pct. 3 and one is for Pct. 4.

• Approved the appointment of Tom Morgan to the Bandera County Library Board.

• Heard a report from Commissioner Dan Alanis about the operation of the county maintenance shop. Alanis said he was willing to continue to serve a supervisor of the shop through the next budget year. The commissioners accepted the offer.

Commissioner Bennie Barker wondered if septic tank inspection fees could be increased to help defray some of the costs of operating the shop. The clerk at the shop keeps maintenance records, animal control records and septic tank inspection records.

The county currently charges $70 for a septic tank permit County Inspector Mack Green keeps $50, the county gets $10 and the state gets $10. With approximately 500 septic tank permits expected to be issued next year, Green, who works on a verbal contract with the county, is one of the county's highest paid officials.

"We need to look at fee schedules overall," said Alanis. "Septic tanks, ambulance fees, everything."

• Heard a report from 911 Rural Addressing Coordinator M.J. Cave that two hearings are scheduled in September. A Sept. 9 meeting scheduled for 6:30 p.m. at the courthouse regards 30 roads throughout the county proposed for adopting. On Sept. 11, a public meeting will be held at 6:30 p.m. at the Lakehills Courthouse Annex in an attempt to name unnamed roads in the Lakehills area.

• Authorized Constable Ernie Reich to advertise for applications for a County Environmental Enforcement Officer and to advertise for bids for a patrol car. Funding will come from a grant from AACOG. For more, see the story elsewhere in today's Bulletin.

Commissioner Bud Thompson was absent from Wednesday's court session.

off a 70 foot cliff.

"We have double safety on everything," Boutwell said.

But there are still risks.

"This kind of training is probably one of the most dangerous kinds of training we have," Rutherford said, "because we are dealing with nature, and we don't know exactly what it is going to do."

She admitted that rappelling is inherently dangerous, since the ropes and other equipment are all man-made, and therefore subject to the mistakes humans make.

"It is supposed to be safe, but it can break," she said. "The only thing we have strict confidence in is tying off to something God made."

The rescuers face the same perils and hazards that the person who fell is facing, including the elements and human error.

"Learning to avoid mistakes is the reason we train so often," Rutherford explained.

The reason people fall at Lost Maples and Garner, according to Rutherford, is that the inclines and hills don't seem so bad until hikers and climbers are already in too deep.

"If you have to do any reaching or climbing, then you don't need to be there," she warned. "In Garner, if they climb, they could very well die."

Rutherford offered some tips for people who find themselves in a bad way on a mountain side at one of these parks:

• Never hike alone.

"If you do fall, and you are with somebody they can go for help," she said.

• Yell and holler.

"If they can't move, their best line of defense is to try to stay awake, holler and not move around," she advised.

• Take a wilderness survival course.

"If they feel like they must do this (climb in the park), be prepared," she said. "Take something like a garbage sack to cover yourself with if you do fall. A lot of these patients have hypothermia."

The Utopia Rescue Team members are Roy Bomer, Bobby Mauldin, Allan Boutwell, Chris Calk, Gary Davis, Jody and Carolyn Rutherford, Shawn Rainey, Jim Cantrell, Richard Dunn, Mel Green, Matt and Rhonda Gobert.

This solution to jail problems: rent

Dear Editor:
In other cities throughout the country, jail inmates are being charged room and board.

Most repeat offenders do not fear going to jail. To most it's a rest. No worries, free lodging and food.

They are not privileged guests, make them pay. This will, I presume, help with the cost of running a jail.

Look for compromises

Dear Editor:
Bandera government has added another example of insulating our city from visitors. We, as a city, are quickly developing a reputation of being resistant to outsiders. For a city that heavily depends on tourism, this is a dangerous reputation. The example recently is the vote of the city council for the motion to deny the Bandera Regulars trail riders (access to the City Park.)

The Bandera Regulars, like [illegible] bring revenue to our local businesses. While so many of the local population travel to San Antonio and the nearby Wal-Marts to shop, we should embrace those who look forward to their stay in our town and enjoy shopping in the locally-owned stores. During this time of drought and hardship, we desperately need the infusion of cash from visitors.

Bandera boasts about it's Western heritage and the openness of the community. The city council vote, however, seems to negate the spirit of Bandera.

Although I strongly promote welcoming tourists to our city, I do not suggest that this should be done without limits. If there were problems during the previous visit of the Bandera Regulars, could we not establish some guidelines without ban[illegible]

My disagreement with the council's vote is more about the extremity of their action than the vote itself.

We must find compromises in order for Bandera to remain the fabulous place that it is.

Dangerous killers

Dear Editor:
I recently moved into Enchanted River Estates which seemed to be a family-oriented neighborhood. However, I'm now concerned about several very vicious dogs who live here.

Just recently we had an incident of one of them attacking and killing a little poodle who belonged to an elderly couple. They had had the little dog for 12 years, so you can imagine how devastating it was for them.

I myself have two young dogs who absolutely love other dogs. I like to take them for walks in the evening but I'm scared to death to go anywhere near where any of these other dogs live. They are on chains, which besides being very cruel, is certainly not fool-proof.

What really concerns me the most is that there are a lot of children who live here. It's just so dangerous.

I guess there's no law against raising a killer, but I wish the owners would realize what a terrible thing they are doing, not only because of the danger it presents to all of us around here, but I really think it's unfair to the dog to have it live that way.

Columnists' humor appreciated

Dear Editor:
We enjoy all of your writers. They make us laugh and fill our lives with joy. You can get doom and gloom anywhere. Your writers are creative, active, light hearted people. They write from their souls and get out to see what's going on in their community. Your writers have a sense of humor. We really enjoyed the drought joke of the week the past months. September Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

For all of you who heard about my little nephew and prayed and thought about us, thanks!

The great news is that he came home from the hospital after 11 days, and seems to be doing fine.

One neat thing about the trip was that the baby's room was on the 8th floor of Good Samaritan hospital in Phoenix, and one night while I was doing the overnight duty, they had one of their famous "monsoon" type of lightning storms.

Wow!

The sky was alive with flashes and streaks, one right after the other. The lightning seemed to come all the way from the top of the heavens to earth. It was scary and exhilarating.

For a while, it was right around the hospital, and I could see that the winds outside were blowing like crazy (they actually were blowing at about 60 mph, I heard the next morning on the news).

There was little or no rain, but they aren't in a drought, anyway. This was obvious, as I pointed out to my sister's mother-in-law who was cleaning up the kitchen and walked away from the sink and left the water running!

This was an amazing sight to me, and I realized how water conscious some of us have become. I know, please, that there are many of you who have always been water saving conscious, but it isn't the way I was raised.

However, I am now, and my son is, too. And that's a hard lesson for someone who is used to using the shower in the morning as the place where he can fall back to sleep without Mom knowing.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Is there anyone out there who is not concerned about their taxes? Almost everyone I talk to about the school bond election says they see a need for expansion, but they just can't afford any more taxes.

In addition to school growth, the county is looking at adding space, making the courthouse handicapped accessible, and expanding the jail.

All of those things cost money, and that means taxes.

Neal Dalton dropped off a clipping of an old Will Rogers column that shows that concerns about equitable taxes are not a phenomenon of the 90s.

Rogers, the Oklahoma humorist and trick roper, wrote the column from aboard the SS Rawalpindi as he was traveling around the world.

Rogers wondered what was being done about the sales tax back home.

He speculated that if the gasoline tax was used to keep up the nation's roads, it might be just as appropriate to use a tax on wines and beers to "keep up the house of representatives, one on Coca Cola and Jamaica ginger and Camembert cheese to keep up the senate."

Rogers recommended that we just have a tax on "everything that we have to have or hire."

Rogers went on to suggest that "if people wasn't drinking much beer we wouldn't have many congressmen; if tooth paste and facial creams had a slump, why cut the president's salary in proportion."

Gov. George W. Bush has formed a committee headed by Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer to study options to using property taxes to fund our school system in Texas.

The committee has been holding public hearings all around the state and will convene in San Antonio Monday. I hope that local business people, elected officials and school representatives will be present for the hearing, prepared to share the concerns of local taxpayers.

It is to be hoped that the committee will come up with some sound proposals to present to the Legislature when it convenes in January.

We all know that death and taxes will always be with us, but some of us are concerned that taxes will be the death of us!

❑ Drought joke of the week: Have you heard that they are outlawing jet akis on Medina Lake? Lakeside property owners have been complaining about the dust they raise.

Legislature planning to clamp down on teen drinkers

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Drunken teenagers could call the police for a free ride rather than risk making the rive home themselves, under a proposal adopted last week by a state Senate interim committee.

The proposal — to be considered during the 1997 Texas Legislature is part of a list of law-toughening recommendations passed by the Senate Interim Committee on Juvenile Drinking While Intoxicated Laws.

The committee also voted to establish a zero-tolerance policy for minors, in which drivers under age 21 caught with any alcohol in their system would face a first-offense fine up to $500, suspension of their license for up to 120 days, community service and alcohol awareness courses.

"Juvenile drinking is wrong, period. We all know 21 is the legal age to drink and nothing below. Juvenile drinking and driving is absolutely unacceptable behavior. It is a serious and deadly action and we in the Legislature mean business when we say it will no longer be tolerated," said committee member Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano.

Other recommendations by the committee include:

*Increased punishment for those who buy or provide alcohol to a minor; and

* New rules restricting late-night driving for younger teenagers.

Committee chairman Sen. Royce West, D-Dallas, predicted a "tremendous reduction" in underage drinking if the recommendations become law.

Department of Public Safety records show that in 1995 , 158 Texans between the ages of16 and 20 died in drunken driving accidents. Also in 1995, 3,045 teenagers were involved in traffic accidents in which the drivers were drunk.

Bush Opposes Welfare Cuts

Gov. George W. Bush said last week that some Texans will "fall through the cracks" if the federal welfare bill signed into law by President Clinton cuts payments to older and disabled Americans.

Federal welfare cuts totaling about $55 billion are planned over the next seven years.

Bush also voiced concern for legal immigrants, whose benefits face big cuts or elimination under the legislation. He said he hopes Congress will revisit the welfare law, regardless of who wins the election in November.

About 13,000 disabled children and 61,000 legal immigrants who are elderly or disabled could lose social security benefits. Thousands of legal immigrants also lose food stamps.

What course Texas takes will depend on the final shape of the new welfare law. Requirements the new welfare law places on states could hurt Texas' welfare reform plans which aim to move Texans off assistance and into jobs and job training programs.

"Unless we're able to construct the system in a Texas fashion, it will hamstring our ability to get the job done properly," Bush said.

Ag Offers Enrollment Guides

Racial and ethnic student enrollment need not erode if Texas colleges and universities follow race-neutral guidelines recommended last week by Texas Attorney General Dan Morales.

Morales said state colleges and universities could boost minority enrollment, although a March federal court ruling set limits on affirmative action.

In a letter to state higher education officials, Morales said that in addition to applicants' test scores and grades, schools should consider age, gender, talent, military service, leadership, public service, hometown, employment history, extracurricular activities, financial status,and family socio-economic history.

"Our young, minority children must know that with hard work, sacrifice, commitment and perseverance, educational and professional opportunities await them," Morales said.

Many Texas universities including the University of Texas and Texas A&M systems have already instituted some of the admission and scholarship criteria Morales recommended.

Other Capital Highlights

* The Texas Insurance Checking Office, an affiliate of the Texas Insurance Advisory Association, has been hired by the state to collect and analyze information about auto insurance companies. The Texas Department of Insurance will use the data when the state sets its insurance rates each year. State law allows insurers to set their rates up to 30 percent above or 30 percent below the state's benchmark rates.

* Texas consumers and businesses should save at least $400 year because of liability rates reduction factors approved last week by Texas Insurance

Sometimes beauty is not one of our areas of great knowledge, or who knows what is coming up. All we can tell is that it is green and wonderful. Perhaps the deer will now come out of the bermuda field once in awhile now so that we can raise hay for the horses around here.

Meanwhile back in Ireland and England, fields are yellowing for the winter and the landscape as viewed from the air is no longer a collage of greens stitched together with the dark lines of hedges or white cross-hatching of stone fences. It's a crazy quilt of green and gold.

We read somewhere that it was Thomas Jefferson who worked out the surveying system which was followed so precisely in the Midwest we flew over recently coming down from Greenland's snow mountains across the continental US to Houston. So much of our agricultural countryside is laid off in monotonous grids divided into perfect squares. The haphazard system in the British Isles makes for a much more satisfying stage setting for the daily drama of work and family life.

Likewise, our part of Texas, was parceled out in irregular chunks from Spanish times forward, trails made by buffalo became cattle trails which in turn became interstate highways, streets in a city like San Antonio followed the contours of the land along irrigation ditches We think these elements ha[illegible] made for a more interesti[illegible] scene by far than have the surveys, townships, and ranges in the more "civilized" parts of the country.

Our own ranch was laid out starting from an "X" on a certain cypress tree. Hence it is "pile of rocks" somewhere. The farm in Ireland was once divided between two families in an also seemingly haphazard fashion, but one which allowed each heir to have a "sweet" field and access to the waterfall pouring off the mountain. Early Texas surveys followed the lay of the land and the meanings of [illegible] [illegible] got down over the map without regard for actualities on the ground.

How did we get off on this? Guess it's just our ongoing fascination with the land itself -- all over the world -- rather than with the so-called "built" environment. When the plane comes down into London or Houston and rows of apartments or warehouses begin to take the place of trees and fields, we immediately think "yuck." But isn't it great that most people wish to stay in London or Houston and work to make it easy for the likes of us to luxuriate in the open spaces of West cork or Bandera?

One of the things Texas is losing though is the long-time attachment of most of its citizens to the land. Not long ago, almost everyone in Houston had either grown up in the country or had grandparents still on the ranch. Now too many Texans honestly believe that tomatoes and potatoes come into the world already wrapped i cellophane ready for the HEB.

The Geologist had a heartwarming conversation with a telephone receptionist out in Midland this week. Before she asked the nature of the business call, the good ole West Texas girl asked, "did y'all get any rain down there this week?" She works in an hermetically sealed office building, but she hasn't forgotten what the real world needs to live. Water. Well -- and oil.

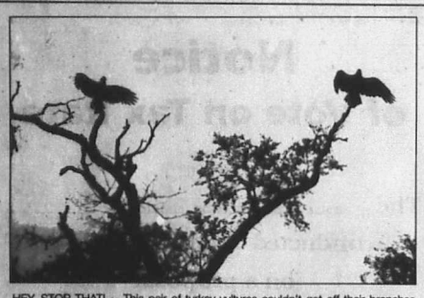
Board keeps tax rate stable

The Medina ISD board held at special meeting at 7 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 9 to consider amendments to the 1995-96 budget. At a meeting held at 7:30 the same day, the board proposed a property tax rate for 1996.

The largest adjustment to the budget came in the facilities acquisition and construction function which saw a $298,375 increase from the amount originally budgeted.

The changes in the budget approved by the board saw a total decrease to the budget of $150,925 which was added to the fund balance.

The board proposed a property tax rate of $1.05 per $100 valuation for 1996, the same rate established for the previous year, reported Gary Ott, Medina ISD superintendent.



The board will adopt the 1996 tax rate at the September regular board meeting.

Notice of Public Hearing on Tax Increase

The Bandera County Commissioners Court will hold a public hearing on a proposal to increase total tax revenues from properties on the tax roll in 1996 by 5.793 percent. Your individual taxes may increase at a greater or lesser rate, or even decrease, depending on the change in the taxable value of your property in relation to the change in taxable value of all other property.

The public hearing will be held on September 11, 1996 at 6:30 P.M. Bandera County Commissioners Court

FOR the proposal: Bennie Barker, Ralph Chancy, Ray Mauer

AGAINST the proposal: Dan Alanis

PRESENT and not voting:

ABSENT: N. P. (Bud) Thompson

The statement above shows the percentage increase the proposed rate represents over the effective tax rate that the unit published on August 14,1996. The following table compares taxes on an average home in this taxing unit last year to taxes proposed on the average home this year. Again, your individual taxes may be higher or lower, depending on the taxable value of your property.

	Last Year	This Year
Average home value	$ 50,000.00	$ 50,000.00
General exemptions available (amount available on the average home, not including senior citizen's or disabled person's exemptions)	$ 5,000.00	$ 5,000.00
Average taxable value	$ 45,000.00	$ 45,000.00
Tax rate	.4049/100	.4343/100 (proposed)
Tax	$ 182.21	$ 195.44 (proposed)

Under this proposal taxes on the average home would increase by $ 13.23 or .0726 percent compared with last year's taxes. Comparing tax rates without adjusting for changes in property value, the tax rate would increase by $ .0294 per $100 of taxable value or .0726 percent compared to last year's tax rate. These tax rate figures are not adjusted for changes in the taxable value of property.

Pastor George Schultz from the Grace Lutheran Church had church services at the nursing home Sunday afternoon. Betty Schultz was the pianist.

It was with mixed emotions when we told Arianna Marley goodby last Monday morning. She came to make her home with us several months ago. With therapy and lots of tender loving care, she recovered enough to return to her family and home in Colorado. We were happy to see the young lady leave, but were sad to say goodbye to her. We will certainly miss her charming personality and lively smile.

On Monday morning, Mary Fitzpatrick, Aggie Batto, Dorothy Callahan, Fannie Caffall, Dorothy Clark, and Annette Kalka-Schulte from St. Stanislaus Catholic Church visited, prayed and sang with resident friends Brenda Adam, Jeanetta Adamietz, Nadene Clark, Merle Shiflett, Jack Holloway, Beulah Faris, Maude Spratt, Anna Childs, and Letha and Raymond Smith.

The group will miss Rena Heinrich, who passed to her eternal reward last week. Our sympathy to her family.

Claude Sessions visitors have been his wife, Lil and Sharlet Lee and Horace and Gladys Hines.

We're happy to report Ester Gibbs home from the hospital feeling better, but sorry to report Beulah Faris, Marley Johnson and Loyce Cox in the hospital. We hope for a speedy recovery. We miss them.

Martin Smith from the Church of Christ had Bible reading for the residents Wednesday morning.

Judy Goodenough and Chris Henderson from the United Methodist Church came for the monthly sing-along. The residents always enjoy them as they like to sing along.

Fannie Caffall and Ann Stackhouse from St. Stanislaus served juice and snacks to the residents Thursday morning.

We thank the family of Richard Newnan for sharing the beautiful memorial flowers with the residents. Our sympathy to all his loved ones.

Our sympathy to the family of Rena Heinrich who passed away last week. She will be missed by everyone.

Bob Keese took Jack Holloway to services at the Church of Christ Sunday.

Investing in your property is a matter of providing habitat

Wildscaping means inviting critters to fly, crawl or hop on over to your yard for a lovely stay or a quick bite to eat. Hummingbirds and butterflies may simply pass through to take advantage of nectar sources like clematis vine, lantana, mist-flower, [illegible]

Or you can attract mosquito eating birds and bats as permanent residents by putting up a bird or bat house.

A wildscaped yard is a small habitat area that provides places for birds, toads, frogs and small mammals to find and drink, escape from predators and raise their young. It can be as simple as providing water, [illegible] and nest boxes for birds, or as elaborate as creating rock-lined ponds and restoring native vegetation.

Texas Wildscapes suit residential yards, business and office properties, parks, apartment complexes and even ranches and farms.

Five evening sessions will be held on the dates of Sept. 16, 18, 23, 25 and 30.

Cost of the class will be $30 per person.

Some of the topics to be covered will be: understanding Windows, using icons, loading programs, using floppy disks, using command disks, word processing basics, formatting disks, saving, deleting and moving files, screen savers and much more.

Payment should be sent to the school by Sept. 10.

For more information, contact computer teacher Brad Dennerson at 460-3100 or the school at 510-9585.

Questions and answers about BISDs long-range plan

17. What will the District do if a bond election is not successful?

The District will be forced to expand its facilities by purchasing more temporary buildings (not a good value). Having to purchase these buildings out of Maintenance and Operations (M&O) dollars will have a negative effect on other purchases the school may need to make. For instance, additional buses will be needed for increased enrollment. The District will not be able to purchase additional buses, and routes will become longer and more crowded than they are now. Some co-curricular or academic programs may have to be severely cut back if M&O funds are used to purchase temporary buildings. The District may not be able to afford to employ sufficient teachers to keep the student/teacher ratio at an acceptable level. Student/teacher ratios will have to increase (more students per teacher), allowing teachers to give less individual attention to students.

Another possibility is operating the school on a quarter system, in which students till attend 3/4 of a year, but all would not have summer vacations. Some would have their vacation during the spring, other during the winter, and others during the fall. This type of schedule would enable the District to house only 3/4 of the enrollment during each quarter, but would require additional teachers and culd play havoc with family vacation schedules.

Yet another possibility is operating school in shifts, where 1/2 of the students attend school only in the morning and the other 1/2 in the afternoon. This adds to the total length of each school day, increasing utility costs and would require buses to make two round trips daily instead of one, adding to transportation costs.

Any solution other than a new campus would add to the M&O budget. (Buildings are built through bond issues, which are in a separate budget called the Interest & Sinking (I&S) budget.

Ground-breaking for new medical facility Thursday

KERRVILLE — Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital and the Methodist Healthcare System have announced a partnership to create a new facility for the existing Bandera Medical Clinic. The new clinic will be located at 1209 Cypress Street in Bandera, with groundbreaking ceremonies scheduled for Thursday, Sept. 5 at 12:30 p.m.

The new clinic will be located in an existing 3,000 square-foot building that will be converted into medical office space. Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital is assisting with the renovation costs and some equipment purchases, while the Methodist Healthcare System will provide the staff and on-going operation of the clinic.

As part of the expanded services planned, physicians from Kerrville and San Antonio will provide periodic specialty clinics in urology, obstetrics/gynecology, orthopedics and cardiology. Enhanced laboratory and x-ray capabilities will also be included in the new facility.

The public is invited to attend the Sept. 5 ground-breaking ceremony and reception. Projected opening for the new clinic is Nov. 7.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Clarke 796-3225

What a sight! When the wife and I drove over the bridge crossing the Medina River [illegible] we saw [illegible] running over the dam at Bandera as we were on our way home from the San Antonio Airport. We left on Aug. 4 for Las Vegas and no water running over the dam but it was sure a pretty sight on Aug. 31 [illegible] got enough but thanks for what we got.

• COMMUNITY MEETING: I tried to notify everyone in our area, through my article of Aug. 21, that there would be a meeting at Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department on Aug. 24 at 6:30 p.m. concerning our water situation. Fifteen individuals were present. Bennie Barker, our County Commissioner, had no current solution. The resident representative for Holiday Water Systems stated they were doing everything possible to furnish their 308 customers with water.

Several questions were left unanswered as they were beyond his authority. Questions dealing with the selling of more lots and more water connections, was of the greatest concern. Residents also wondered about the effect of drilling wells and buying water from existing wells would have on the water level of current private wells.

It is hoped that another meeting can be scheduled in the very near future, when a representative of Holiday Water Headquarters in Dallas can attend and answer these questions.

Everyone in the area needs a wake up call to attend the next meeting. This subject is of great concern to each and everyone of us, apathy is not the answer.

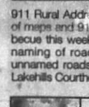
• BAKER BIRTHDAY: On Sept. 1, several friends of our local sculptor Don Baker gathered together to help Don celebrate his 50th birthday. They couldn't have picked a very fair or muddier day. They said, "Just what we needed to make the rain come — an outdoor party." May be they should do it more often. Happy Birthday, Don.

Oh yes, this was also a sort of house warming as Lori and Don had their new mobile home put in place two weeks ago. One of the guests was Chuck Braswell and his closest friends Gordon and Kim Prest of Yorkshire, England. Chuck was to leave on Monday, Sept. 2 for Mesa, Arizona and then to Beaverlown, Oregon where he will supervise the construction of a Early Childhood Development Center.

• O'BRYAN-YARRA WEDDING: On Sunday, Sept. 1, Vivian O'Bryan and Joey Yarra were joined in holy matrimony in an outdoor ceremony. There were over fifty in attendance to wish the young couple a happy marriage and to enjoy the lovely barbecue. The best man was Joey's brother Albert and the brides maid was Cindy Adaberry.

The newlyweds had a mobile home put in place two weeks ago. Joey stated that the people in the area are very friendly and polite and he hopes to have time to join the Fire Department.

Parents of the groom are Hope and Tony O'Bryan of San Antonio. Mother of the bride is Gloria Yarra of Carrizo Springs.



• RUSH WINS: I got the word that Bill Rush of Whartons Dock was the lucky winner of the Polaris Explorer 4 X 4 all terrain vehicle that was raffled off Sunday at the Tarpley VFD barbecue. The raffle was a fund raiser for all the Bandera County fire departments.

• VFD MEETING: Don't forget the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department will hold it's quarterly general membership meeting on Sept. 7. The fire department will furnish hot dogs so bring a covered dish and enjoy visiting with other members.

• CHAPEL DINNER: Walker Memorial Chapel will have a covered dish lunch on Sunday, Sept. 15 following regular morning worship services.

911 Rural Addressing Coordinator M.J. Cave had an assortment of maps and 911 goodies available at the Medina Lake VFD barbecue this weekend. The 911 staff is preparing to complete the naming of roads in the Lakehills area. A public hearing on unnamed roads is scheduled for Sept. 11 at 6:30 p.m. at the Lakehills Courthouse Annex.

TARPLEY

Good news for our area on the rain. We've had around six inches in all.

The creeks are running nicely.

• The Tarpley volunteer fire fighters had a great barbecue Sunday with approximately 850 folks present to enjoy all the festivities. They are grateful for the good turn out and all the help given. Much work went into getting ready and all the work on their special day.

Arthur and Georgia Erfurt were honored by the fire department when they were presented a special plaque by Anton Haner for their dedicated service to the department and to the community.

Georgia was also present with a rose arrangement.

Arthur was recognized as Tarpley's grand marshal this year and rode in the parade.

• Sept. 17 will be a special day at the Tarpley Community Center when the Williams Creek Study Group will host the early Christmas ideas program.

The meeting starts at 10 a.m. and continues after a covered dish lunch at noon. Jana Osborn will demonstrate bread making for the program. Every one is invited.

• Mrs. Clay Taylor was taken to Sid Peterson Hospital last week and is undergoing tests and medical care.

• Weekend guests of W.J. and Olga Schmidt were their nephews and wives: Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Schmidt of Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Hull of Colorado Springs, Col. They also attended the barbecue.

• Tarpley Baptist Church visitors Sunday were the Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Andrews and granddaughter Stephanie of Natalia.

• So many folks present Sunday we couldn't begin to name them, but Mr. and Mrs. Roy Estes of Las Vegas, Nev. said they keep up with Bandera news by getting the Bandera Bulletin.

Some folks got no more conscience than a cow in a stompede.

Fall horse show grows to big two day event

The Bandera Fall Classic Horse Show will get under way Sept. 14-15 at Mansfield Park Arena in Bandera. The public is invited to come out and watch both days. There will be no admission fee and concessions will be available.

The two-day schedule is a result of the show's popularity. "We were there after midnight last year," said show organizer Julie Dinse.

All Western Classes and speed events will be held on Saturday beginning at 9 a.m. All English classes will be held on Sunday beginning at 10 a.m.

Entry fees are $5 per class if pre-paid by Sept. 5, or $7 the day of the show.

Pick up entry forms at the Horseman's General Store at 1203 Cedar St. in Bandera.

Judge for both days will be Randy Shurig from New Braunfels.

According to Dinse, the clothes, the tack and the activities all differ for the two general classes in the horse show.

"We've hoping lots of people will come out to observe the English class on Sunday," said Dinse. "It's quite a contrast to the Western class most Texans are more familiar with."

Events in the Western class include the familiar barrel racing and pole bending, along with keyhole, reining, riding, horsemanship, pleasure, trail, walktrot and halter.

The English class will feature model in hand, showmanship, pleasure, Texas hunter suitability, hunter under saddle, hunter seat equitation, hunter hack, working hunter and open jumping.

In some events the horse and rider will be judged, in others only the horse is judged. Some events are skill events and still others are timed competitions.

What's Rustlin'

by Buggy

Rustlin' Whoopi ti yi yea, we're on our way to keeping our title as Capital of the World again with the All American Cowboy Get-Together was a grand success. Never saw so many western characters wandering around since the gold rush days in the Klondike! It really was a movie set out in Bandera this past weekend. There was continuous good entertainment going on from the young cowboy (girl) poets from Utopia!

The professional cowboy poets were good, but our own Maudeen Marks of LHT fame, wiped them out. I've been around a lot of "show folk" in my time, and I swear, watch for her to hit the big time! She's terrific. I went home, got into my room by myself, and tried to "do" a poem like she does- didn't even come near. Plus, she's loaded with real Texas ranch history.

Lots of local merchants set up, wonderfully, western booths, and the chuck wagon cook-off sent out delicious smells of chicken fried steak and peach cobbler. At noon, tickets sold like hot cakes (actually biscuits) for chuck wagon plates. The cowboys loved it! Next year, it ought to be bigger and better.

And the "2nd Annual Cowboy Eucharist," put on by both the Episcopal and Lutheran Churches this year, was a huge success with well over three hundred guests. Kelly Scott brought his chuck wagon up and [illegible]

There were tent-loads of musical talent singing all the old favorites like "Amazing Grace" and "Shall We Gather at the River," a whole trailer load of hay bales for everyone to sit on. Over 700 biscuits graced by seven gallons of gravy, and tons of steamy hot campfire coffee [illegible] bread was big round loafs of homemade sheep herders bread. Everyone came in western togs some fancy, some plain ol' working togs, and there were even shorts (jeans of course!). It was quite a church service. What a complete cowboy week-end it was, and Labor Day Weekend really needed this, since the Pro-Rodeo moved to Memorial Day.

The Ranch Rodeo was funny and great and the Sunday Night Bull riding was terrific!

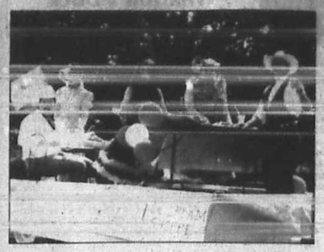
There's a BBC TV Production on Bravo Channel each Friday Night called " Texas Saturday Night", and we just happened to flip it on and there was Bandera's own Larry Mahan being interviewed whilst rounding up cattle. There was also a clip of him bronc busting at a rodeo. It was fun to see him winning one of his many "All Round World-Wide Cowboy" trophies.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Holder
612-2509

Hi, y'all! Whew, what a weekend! We managed to survive another fire department barbecue. We really enjoyed seeing all of you and enjoyed the comments on our column.

There will be a reception at the Lakehills Civic Center on Sept. 7 from 2-4 p.m. for Jake and Dot McCracken. It will be in honor of their 50th anniversary. Everyone is invited and it is a no gift celebration. We figure Jake could use some support from everyone for putting up with Dot all these years! Of course she feels the same way! Be sure and come help them celebrate a big milestone in this day and age.



Cathy Poe with 911 Rural Addressing had a table set up at the barbecue to help people who might want to name their street. There will be a public hearing at the Lakehills Courthouse Annex on FM 1283 on Sept. 11 at 6:30 p.m. By attending this hearing, you can have some input for street names and numbering. If you do not make the hearing, you might have to forever hold your peace, as they say.

We sold close to 1,300 plates and a big bunch of meat to go at the barbecue. We do have some whole briskets left, so if you missed out or want some more, just call us at 612-2509, Ralph Dresser at 613-3335 or Ronnie Smith at 612-2420. These whole briskets weigh from 4.5 lbs. to 7.5 lbs. and they freeze real nice.

The Junior Fire Fighters had a table set up at the event both days. On Saturday and Sunday morning they sold the ATV tickets like they were going out of style. The rest of the time they did a very good job of selling our Fire Department raffle tickets. They also kept the barbecue workers supplied with refreshments and helped the customers carry their to go meat and plates to their vehicles. We sure want to say thank you to all those workers. Well done!

We are taking a week off this week. We'll put the pontoon boat in what's left of the lake and see if less water might mean more fish. We will try to unwind a bit. If this column seems a little strange next week, it might mean we unwound too much! We'll look for you over the back fence.

Bulldogs ready for first game

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Although Bandera Athletic Director Mike Williamson says he is grateful for the rain, the three inches that fell Friday night have caused some tense moments for the Bandera Bulldogs.

"We are kind of apprehensive because we didn't get to have our second scrimmage last Friday night due to the rain," Coach Williamson said.

On this Friday night the Bulldogs face off against Dripping Springs, a team who Williamson says has made a good showing and did get in both their preseason scrimmages.

"They look pretty sound," Williamson said. "They are quite a bit larger than we are."

Last year, Dripping Springs beat Bandera 50-7, but Williamson is optimistic that the 'Dogs will make a good showing.

"I think we can equalize their size with our confidence," he said. "We are ready to go, and we are healthy going into our first game."

Starting center Jeb Chesson had missed several weeks of practice due to illness, but was back at the Labor Day practice.

"That put us back to 100 percent with our kids," the coach said.

Williamson said several players had shown promise at the practices and the scrimmage against Jourdanton.

Tim Gard, Pat Mazurek, and Nate Moehring all showed good defensive and offensive moves.

"Also, Jeremy Leland as our reserve quarterback did an outstanding job the other night," Williamson said.

He also praised the junior varsity group as a whole.

"They have shown a lot of improvement over last year," he said.

Floresville drops to Lady 'Dogs in first season victory

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Lady Bulldogs pulled off their first victory this season against Floresville on Aug. 27.

In the first game, the Lady 'Dogs trailed 12-15, but came back in the second and third games to pull off the win with 15-11 and 15-10.

"We played one hour and 40 minutes and seemed to be flat," Coach Darcy Rogers said. "We showed some strong signs, but lacked consistency."

Rogers gave credit to Michelle Dexter and Shandra Zickler for two aces, and Carisa Machetta and Zickler for nine digs.

April Koehler was cited for nine blocks and 13 kills, while Heidi Hicks scored 10 kills. Mary Domine received credit for 13 assists in the games.

Serving was at 87 percent.

"Our team is starting to gel somewhat as we continue to work through the kinks," Rogers said. "I'm looking forward to a stronger style of play and expect to be ready by district."

On Saturday, Aug. 31, the Lady 'Dogs took fourth place in the Kerrville-Tivy Tournament.

Bandera beat Pearsall in the first match 15-10 and 15-7, but went on to lose to Tivy 14-16, 15-3, and 15-3, and then lost against Georgetown 15-13 and 15-13.

"We played pool play on Friday and placed third in our pool which included Georgetown, Sam Houston, Dripping Springs, Marble Falls, and Bandera," Rogers said.

Bandera played Pearsall in the Championship Quarter Finals and beat them 15-10 and 15-7.

The Lady 'Dogs then advanced to the semi-finals and lost to Tivy.

"We then played for third place against Georgetown and tried to battle through our fatigue but lost," Rogers said. "We placed fourth and hope to improve in our next tournament on Sept. 7 at San Antonio Southside High School."

Making the All-Tournament team were April Koehler and Michelle Dexter.

The varsity Lady Bulldogs record for the season is 2-5.

The junior varsity Lady 'Dogs did not fare as well, coming in at 7-15 and 14-16 against Floresville.

Shawna Teniente received credit for two aces, and four digs, while Jessica Leland and Nicole Torans also were cited for four digs each.

Cindy Toddes and Brittany Blow each received credit for two blocks and Blow was also cited for three kills. Liz Carpenter was noted for five assists.

Serving in the game was at 80.6 percent.

Outstanding defensive player was Jessica Leland, while outstanding offensive player was Brittany Blow.

A Friday night match on Aug. 30 saw the junior varsity girls take a loss against Ingram 15-10 and 15-10.

Breanne Hicks took the outstanding player distinction after accomplishing three kills, and also was cited as the offensive outstanding player. Jessica Leland received honors as the outstanding defensive player in the game.

In the Hondo tournament on Aug. 31 the JV girls beat Fredericksburg 15-7 and 15-9 and went on to smash Poteet 15-4 and 15-5, coming away with the consolation honors.

The freshmen girls also lost to Floresville 12-15 and 4-15, with Erin Esparza receiving credit for one ace, and two digs. Jennifer Herrera, Sandy Heath and Cindy Garcia also received credit for one ace. Tracey Reed was cited for two kills, while Sandy Heath had two assists.

Serving was at 82 percent.

Lady Bobcats sweep up on Fredericksburg

The Medina Lady Bobcats tromped Fredericksburg on Aug. 27, with 15-11 and 15-12.

Megan Mills led all servers with a perfect 10-10 for the night. Jana Craddock, Joanna Harvey, Jennifer Reed and Sherri Lautzenheiser each added an ace from the service line.

Harvey led the offensive attack with three kills, bringing the team's record to 2-3.

The team served 78 percent for the night.

The junior varsity Lady 'Cats also smashed the Fredericksburg girls 15-9 and 15-8.

"Serving was also the key to the J.V. victory," Coach Gina Lumpkins said.

While the team carried a 78 serving percentage, Amanda Alexander, Nikki Rainey, and Cassie Rios all contributed two aces each.

"Teamwork, led by setters Tiffany Huizar and Crystal Lange, added to the fine serving effort by the Lady Bobcats," Lumpkins said.

This victory brings the J.V. team to a 4-1 record after bringing home the consolation trophy from the Natalia tournament last weekend.

The freshmen girls also did Medina proud, beating the Fredericksburg team 15-9 and 15-2.

Tiffany Garza led the Lady Bobcats to victory with a perfect serving percentage.

"She was 12-12 in the first game and 10-10 in game number two," Lumpkins said.

This victory brings the freshmen team to a 2-0 record after a win against Comfort on Aug. 20.

7th, 8th grade Lady 'Dogs off and running

On Monday Aug. 26, the middle school Lady Bulldogs were off and running with their season opener against Natalia.

The 7th-grade "A" and "B" teams showed superior power on both sides of the ball, by taking wins in both matches.

The 8th-grade "B" team, despite power serves from Patricia Domino and good team hustle, fell short in both straight sets.

The 8th-grade "A" team started off losing their first game in a very close battle 13-15, only to rally back in the second game from a 7-9 deficit to take the win 15-9.

[illegible] took over service for Bandera at 7-2 and held serve for the remainder of the game with six [illegible]. Four other two points came with two big-time saves from Kim Schindler and Kasi Chesson.

After leading the third and final game 3-0, and some very powerful serving from Amber Johnson, Crystal Cruz and Lela Brown, the young Lady Bulldogs fell just short at 13-15.

Head Start coordinator graduates with credentials

Diana Klepac, a Head Start coordinator at Alkek Elementray, was one of 131 Head Start staff that graduated from the National Head Start Association (NHSA) Academy with a Mentoring and Administrative Credential on Aug. 3, 1996.

Head Start makes history this month as approximately 170 staff gather at Albuquerque's Old Town Sheraton Hotel to participate in the NHSA Academy's crossmining course. The training academy is the first of its kind to offer Head Start senior managers advanced studies specifically designed to address Head Start Performance Standards and program quality issues confronting Head Start today and in the future.

Dr. Mary Tom Riley, professor at Texas Tech University, has developed curricula that offers credentialing to Head Start staff in the areas of family services, education, and health. Participants acquired valuable administrative and mentoring skills needed to meet the complex challenges of the 1990s and beyond the year 2000.

The National Head Start Association serves the needs of 750,000 Head Start children, their parents, and 150,000 staff. NHSA provides its membership with high-quality training that [illegible] value.

In January 1996, NHSA president Ron Herndon shared his vision of expanding training for Head Start staff to include earning credentials in specific Head Start components while receiving college credits.

The Academy course curriculum is approved by Texas Tech University for graduate and undergraduate hours and offers participants up to 6 college credits along with the credential.

"These outstanding Academy candidates are significantly strengthening their management skills," Riley said. "I am confident they will have a profound impact on their local programs and communities."

Free U.S. Air Force band concert coming to Kerrville

The Hill Country Chapter of the Retired Officers Association is pleased to bring The Band of The West at Kerrville Municipal Auditorium on Sept. 10 for the sixth consecutive year.

The oldest specialty group in the Air Education and Training Command Band, the Band of the West generates a unique excitement while performing America's favorite music - complete concert band, ceremonial band, jazz ensemble, rock & roll and country western groups and woodwind and brass quintets, said a spokesperson.

The performance will be from 7 to 9 p.m. and is free to everyone.

Lakehills resident Brandi Crist won awards in a 4-H photography contest with this picture of a barn.

Young leader

Bandera High School senior Toba Perez, of Pipe Creek, was invited to attend the National Young Leaders Conference in Washington, D.C. this fall and become a National Scholar, representing Texas. Perez has been recognized as a promising leader at school by Regina Montague (alumni representative) and Bandera High School. Perez spent the summer working for Texas Parks and Wildlife and her goal is to become a marine biologist. She is the photo editor for the year book and vice president of student council. Her parents are Mary and Roberto Perez.

Hill Country Fall Festival signing up now for food and craft booths

The Hill Country Fall Festival, held on Saturday, Sept. 21 from 9 to 5 in Fredericksburg Marketplatz, is asking anybody interested in having a food or craft booth at the event to sign up now.

The only charge for a booth is a contribution of at least 10 percent of your sales. Please call Lanne or Patsy Brehmer at (210) 755-8226 to reserve a booth.

The festival is sponsored jointly by the Lutheran Brotherhood Hill Country Branch #8528, Rocky Hills Branch #6953, and Lutheran Men in Missions. Money raised, along with matching funds from Lutheran Brotherhood, are designated to help Lutheran Outdoor & Retreat Ministries for Ebert Ranch Camp. The camp suffered a fire in January which totally destroyed the site. It was rebuilt, but insurance money did not cover all of the expenses.

A Bill Miller catered bar-b-que meal will be served. Advance $6 meal tickets should be purchased by Sept. 10. Only a few tickets will be sold at the door. For tickets, please call Caroline Stafford at (210) 977-3436, or mail your money to her at 2534 Lower Crabapple Road, Fredericksburg, 78624.

The event will include:

- chili cook-off
- auction (items valued at $10,000+ including: bed and breakfast, camp scholarships, deer hunt, airplane ride, golf lesson by golf pro)
- entertainment
- craft and food booths
- 42-tournament
- cake walk
- dunking booth
- Pastor Plaster (wet sponge toss at Lutheran pastors)

If you have a mall-order business in the county, and would like to be listed in the 1996 Fall/Winter Visitor's Guide, please call the Bulletin at 796-3718.

Fund set up to help rebuild burned churches

The National Council of Churches, through Church World Service, its disaster relief arm, has formed a partnership with Habitat for Humanity and United Way of America. This partnership will put together ecumenical work teams to help in the reconstruction of Black churches which have been targets of arson. The partnership will work cooperatively with the Coalition of Black Pastors - pastors of the burned churches.

At least 60 predominantly Black churches have been firebombed, burned or vandalized during the past six years in more than a dozen states - more than 30 of them in the past six months. Many of the congregations have been deeply involved in serving their communities.

Contributions will be used for repair of and rebuilding churches, raising public awareness about the crimes and stimulating legal action to expose the complicity of hate groups in such acts.

Many of the churches are in poor, rural areas; are uninsured and have little to spend on costly rebuilding and repair work.

Contributions for the Burned Churches Fund may be sent to: National Council of Churches/Church World Service, P.O. Box 968, Elkhart, IN 46515. To make a phone pledge or credit card contribution, please call 1-800-762-0968.

The National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. is comprised of 33 Protestant and Orthodox denominations. Church World Service, its interdenominational relief arm, is celebrating fifty years of disaster relief and development work in the U.S. and 70 nations internationally.

Affordability suffers from surging interest rates

Surging interest rates and higher prices made buying a Texas home slightly more expensive in the second quarter. The overall picture, however, remains favorable for home buyers.

"Interest rates are still historically low and housing affordability remains very good," says Jack C. Harris, research economist with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. The Texas Housing Affordability Index (THAI) was 1.65 for the second quarter, down from 1.78 the first three months. The THAI was 1.70 for the same time last year.

Harris calculates the quarterly THAI. An index of 1.0 means that a family with the median income has just enough income to buy a home priced at the state median sales price assuming typical financing at current interest rates. The higher the index, the more affordable the housing.

"The most recent index indicates that the typical Texas household has 65 percent more income than needed to buy the median-priced home," says Harris. Harris estimates 69 percent of Texas households can afford the median-priced home. That compares with 72 percent in the first quarter and 71 percent one year ago.

"Mortgage interest rates jumped in the second quarter as inflation fears ran through the capital markets," says Harris. "The average contract rate in Texas was estimated at 7.73 percent during the second quarter, only slightly lower than the 7.79 percent prevailing during the previous spring when interest rates were peaking."

The median sales price of a Texas home sold through reporting Multiple Listing Services was $87,100—a 7 percent increase from the second quarter of 1995. At the same time, median household income rose only 3 percent. The Real Estate Center was created in 1971 by the Texas Legislature to meet the needs of many audiences, including the real estate industry, instructors, researchers and the general public. The Center's comprehensive program of research and education yields publications and periodicals distributed widely under the slogan "Solutions Through Research." Mobile homes can create legal dilemmas

Mobile homes can create legal dilemmas for any Kendall County resident unfamiliar with the laws of real property and personal property, says an attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University.

"Legal terms rather than physical qualities distinguish mobile homes, manufactured homes and house trailers," says Judon Fambrough. "At issue is whether the laws of personalty or realty govern their ownership, taxation and transfer."

Fambrough says that one of the best ways to distinguish between mobile homes, manufactured homes and house trailers is by their title. Mobile and manufactured homes have documents of title, while house trailers have certificates of title.

A mobile or manufactured home is personal property as long as it is not attached to the ground. When the home does become permanently attached, the ownership, taxation and transfer are governed under the laws of realty and the house becomes a fixture.

"A fixture is literally personal property so attached to the soil that it becomes part of the realty," Fambrough says. "Three conditions must be examined before a mobile or manufactured home becomes a fixture. The mode and sufficiency of attachment, the purpose of the realty and the intent of the homeowner must be considered first."

Mobile homes permanently attached to the ground are subject to any pre-existing liens on the real estate. The Texas Department of Labor and Standards will not cancel the title of an existing lien if registered with the department or noted on the title. Once the liens have been released, the "Manufactured Home Affidavit of Transaction" form issued by the department must be completed.

A desire to cancel the original title must be indicated by the owner along with a legal description of the property. Once a house trailer becomes permanently attached, there are no statutes regarding certificate of title cancellation.

"There have been many advertising real estate tricks if a manufactured home has been permanently attached and affixed," Fambrough says.

For more information on mobile home laws, send $2 (out-of-state residents send $2.50 to the Real Estate Center, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843-2115 and request publication No. 762, "Mobile Home Dilemmas." For faster delivery, use a credit card and call 1-800-244-2144.

Buyers, sellers focus solely on price

Just as a few inches can decide the outcome of a football game, a few dollars can seal the fate of a real estate transaction, says an attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. "When buyers and seller negotiate, they usually focus solely on price," says Judon Fambrough. "This can quickly lead to a stalemate. A compromise may be reached, however, by varying the customary apportionment of property taxes."

Kendall County residents familiar with the variation and impact of the income tax laws on buyers and sellers will be in a better position to negotiate.

"Property taxes are apportioned according to the date of closing, says Fambrough. "If a transaction closes July 15, the seller is responsible for 196/365 of that year's property taxes. For a residence with a $1,500 annual assessment, the seller would be liable for $801.37 and the buyer for $698.63.

The buyer and seller can deduct their share of property taxes on their income taxes as long as two conditions are met: first, they itemize their deductions and, second, the total itemized deductions exceed each taxpayer's standard deduction.

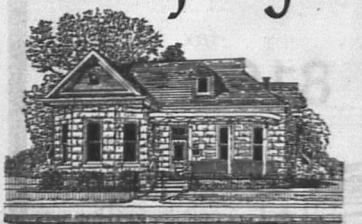
"Rather than bartering solely on price, focus on the amount each party costs/nets toward property taxes. For example, suppose the seller agrees to pay all the property taxes as long as the sales price remains constant. This lowers the out-of-pocket costs for the buyer nearly $700 but permits an additional deduction on the seller's income tax of approximately $200, depending on the tax bracket. Both parties benefit to some degree," he says.

"Obviously, this procedure does not work for every home sale," Fambrough says. "It does have a better chance of influencing a transaction when the property serves as the seller's principal residence, property taxes are substantial, sale closes toward the end of the tax year and the seller is in one of the higher income tax brackets," he says.

Texas Water Code being argued over in civil courts

A few drops of rain can turn into a flood of problems for Kendall County landowners unfamiliar with the Texas Water Code, says an attorney with the Real Estate Center at Texas A&M University. The problem occurs most often as the result of new urban construction.

Two laws govern a landowner's right to repel surface water — the common-law rules and the civil-law rule. Texas is presently governed by the civil law rule; several controversies have arisen over its interpretation.



"According to the Texas Water Code," says Judon Fambrough, "no person may divert or impound the natural flow of surface waters in this state, or permit a diversion of impounding to continue in a manner that damages the property of another by the overflow of water diverted or impounded." The courts have struggled with the definition of surface waters.

"Initially, the courts applied the definition only to water outside of a watercourse," says Fambrough. "Surface waters are those created by falling rain or melting snow flowing over the surface before reaching a watercourse.

"In 1974, the definition was expanded to say that once water was impounded in a watercourse and subsequently intentionally released, liability arises regardless of the source."

The definition of natural flow also have given the courts some problems.

MADE FROM SOLID maple hardwood, the custom-built, underbed storage and under-the-window cabinetry loosens up space in this one-bedroom apartment. (Photo by Hardwood Manufacturers Association)

Add Extra Efficiency — and Space — To Your Home With Built-in Storage

It's in the heart of Manhattan, but architect Michael Rubin's 750-square-foot apartment might as well be in the middle of Hudson Bay.

"I designed the space as if I were building a ship," he says. "Every square inch had to have a purpose."

Today's homes may be larger and have fewer people living in them than in years past, but like Rubin and his "ship," Americans demand that their rooms have maximum space efficiency, especially when serving multiple purposes.

So, when there's no backyard patio for you to "bump out" onto, you have to look inward and rely instead on creativity, efficiency and, in Rubin's case, U.S. hardwoods as a material.

A tour of Rubin's one-bedroom apartment uncovers unique ways to steal extra space; accessorizing furnishings so they serve several functions, snaring space from underutilized closets or ceilings, and selecting materials that are both functional and beautiful.

For example, his bedroom boasts built-ins like handy underbed storage; under-the-windowsill cabinetry for storing everything from clothes to wine; and a home-office desktop that raises, allowing access to a balcony with panoramic views of Manhattan.

Rubin's choice in building materials was easy: pale northern maple, a subtly grained hardwood that is light and warm-looking at the same time. "Having taught architecture for many years, my classes cover formal concerns quite extensively," he says. "That is, materials or designs that are more purposeful than decorative. I used solid hardwood because I wanted the material to be a determinant, a form-giver."

Rubin considered veneers for his small space, but says, "Veneers are more decorative, like wallpaper. Solid hardwood is a material of substance."

Here are some ideas from the Hardwood Manufacturers Association, a national trade group, for squeezing out every last inch of available space. For free information about solid hardwood furnishings, contact the Hardwood Manufacturers Association, Dept. ME4-96, 400 Penn Center Blvd., Suite 530, Pittsburgh, PA 15235. Phone toll-free 1-800-373-WOOD. Or, visit the Hardwood Information Center on the Internet at http://www.hardwood.org.

- Keep rooms free of clutter: Keeping a lid on accessories and furniture gives the illusion of more space and openness.
- Vary heights and depths: Rather than having all cabinetry and furniture at the same height and depth, mix it up to give the space a larger feel.
- Keep color schemes the same: Use colors in the same families for small spaces. For example, tropical colors like yellows, corals or blues, or neutrals of whites and taupes help visually expand a space.
- Include vaulted ceilings: Where possible, raise the ceiling height. Vaulted ceilings not only give you an open, airy feeling, but they also enable you to use taller cabinetry for expanded storage, especially in the kitchen.
- Remove a closet: Your closets may be built back to back. Convert this newfound space into a home office, sewing room or extra bath.
- Remove a wall: Removing a nonbearing wall without mechanical lines is easily done and can create much-needed space.
- Move outdoors: Enclose a balcony or terrace by using sliding glass doors and adding electric baseboard heat. FH964109

Fall Cleanup Is Becoming Easier

Thanks to advances in materials technology and new ergonomically designed tools, fall cleanup is becoming easier and faster for today's busy homeowner. For instance, raking leaves need no longer be the backbreaking chore it used to be with the new Mongoose leaf rake from Ames Lawn & Garden Tools.

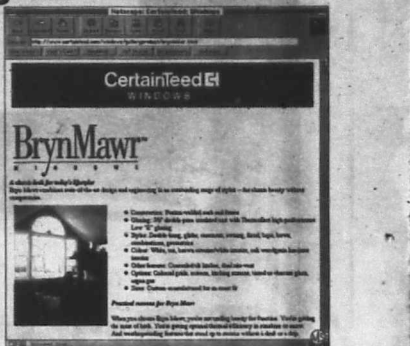
This ergonomically designed rake features a lightweight aluminum handle "bent in all the right places" that keeps your back in a more natural, upright position to reduce fatigue and backache while raking leaves and brush.

Picking up and transporting the leaves is also easier when using the new Ames Easy Roller Jr. Lawn Cart. It transports up to 200 pounds of material, has a conveniently positioned handle to eliminate bending and stooping, provides a deep, recessed tray ideal for hand tools and gloves, and is equipped with clips on the side to store and transport long-handled tools. FH964068

The Latest Power Tool for Home Remodeling: the World Wide Web

(MS) — If you are like many people, remodeling is a dirty word. You picture dust, sawdust, footprints, noise, strangers in the house and all that inconvenience. Not to mention the equipment — hammers, nails, saws, paint and power tools, like your PC.

That's right, your PC. It's the tool that can get you started out right and into remodeling from a dirty word to a beautiful phrase. Through the World Wide Web, you can get all kinds of helpful information relating to your remodeling project.



With more and more folks concerned about the beauty, cost and energy efficiency of their homes, sites on the Web now are providing direct access to a depth of information previously available only to people in the trade. Armed with information from the Internet, you can save yourself money and grief, because you'll be able to talk knowledgeably to your remodeler.

It's easy. Even neophyte Web users can find the help they need. For instance, the most popular Web directory, Yahoo, offers links to scores of useful sites. Look under the "Home and Garden" and "Construction" categories listed in the "Business and Economics" section. You'll pull up many choices, ranging from directories of related topics like "Windows and Doors" to individual companies.

Say you're looking for replacement windows, for example. A trip to a site like http://www.certainteed.com is a good place to start. Sponsored by CertainTeed Corporation, this site offers information on windows, as well as roofing, vinyl siding, insulation, roof ventilation and other building products.

If you want style ideas for your replacement windows, look under "Windows," where you'll find the "Gallery of Styles." You'll see photographs of CertainTeed's many styles of windows installed in beautifully decorated homes.

If you're wondering about window thermal efficiency and performance, CertainTeed's site lets you access information on the superior thermal ratings of its windows compared to standard windows. With Thermaflect™, the company's proprietary Low "E" glass system, you can see the superiority — in real numbers.

YOU CAN SEE DOZENS of ideas for your home at CertainTeed Corporation's home page (http://www.certainteed.com). Here, in the "Products" section, you'll learn that CertainTeed has a window for every home and budget and a window style to fit the personality of any room perfectly.

Perhaps most important, if you want help finding windows that suit your wallet, CertainTeed's "Product Lines" section will give you information about three lines of affordable replacement windows — there's one for every home and budget.

And, because the Web is interactive, you actually can get personal answers to your specific questions. The "FAQ" (Frequently Asked Questions) section lets you read other people's questions and the answers to them. In addition, you have the chance to submit your own questions, which will be answered via email by CertainTeed experts.

If going about business in a newfangled way like surfing the Web gives you reason to pause, CertainTeed's Web site gives you reassurance — you'll see that the company has been around for almost a hundred years and stands behind its products for a lifetime — with the best warranty available in the window industry.

For more information on CertainTeed's complete line of quality windows, or the company's other building products, visit http://www.certainteed.com, or call the CertainTeed Home Institute at 1-800-782-8777. FH964102

Men and Women Split on Household Chores

(MS) — In the past, there was a common belief that women were in charge of doing the housework, while men barely lifted a broom. Even in the politically correct '90s, perceptions of "women's work" and "men's work" seem to persist in the home front.

With the many household chores that pop up in any given day, it is no longer true that women should do all of the cleaning, ironing and laundry by themselves. Likewise, it's not correct to assume that only men mow the lawn, fix a leaking faucet and hang up picture frames around the house. These days, housework, including home-improvement repairs, knows no gender barriers.

According to a recent survey conducted by Bissell, both men and women agree that vacuuming the stairs is one of the least favorite household chores. However, when it comes to other unsavory household duties, preference falls distinctly along lines of gender. When compared to vacuuming the stairs:

- 70 percent of men, but only 39.6 percent of women, would rather "wash the car."
- 85 percent of women vs. 66 percent of men would rather "do laundry."
- 88 percent of men would prefer to "take out the trash" vs. 77 percent of the women surveyed.
- 72.8 percent of women vs. 51 percent of men would rather "dust furniture."

The survey sampled 1,000 randomly selected American men and women.

According to Bissell spokesman Dave Kagas, the company knows that vacuuming the stairs is an unpopular task due to the cumbersome design of most upright vacuums, but officials are surprised at the gender preferences of the other common household tasks.

"Although we don't have a solution for the other distasteful household chores, our Bissell Plus™ vacuum introduced earlier this year is designed to take the strain out of vacuuming the stairs," Kagas says.

"We believe our survey results indicate a universal consumer frustration with most of today's upright vacuums and an understandable reluctance to try to vacuum stairs," he adds. "The data really shows consumers are in need of a more convenient way to clean stairs — which confirms the value of Bissell's first-ever upright vacuum, the Bissell Plus."

Featuring a unique two-in-one design, the vacuum instantly converts from a full-power upright to an easy-to-handle portable unit for cleaning stairs, drapes, chairs or auto interiors. Through the use of a special twin-motor system, the detachable portable vacuum maintains the full power of the upright, but weighs about as much as a gallon of milk.

"We wanted our first upright vacuum to really meet the needs of today's consumers," Kagas says. "Stair cleaning may never become the most popular activity in the home, but with the Bissell Plus, it can now be done quickly and easily." FH964313

Council raises yellow conservation flag

Water restrictions eased as levels rise

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

City council members voted to lower the red flag of water emergency conservation and raise the yellow flag after Public Works Director Mike Cardenas told them water levels in the city wells had risen.

"The well is up 33 feet at 475 feet," Cardenas said. "If we get up about ten more feet, we'll be where we started."

This move effectively cancels ordinance 164, which charges a surcharge for water used by families over 6,000 gallons per month.

In the yellow stage of water conservation, ornamental fountains and waterfalls are still prohibited, but people can water their lawns between the hours of 5 and 7 a.m., and 9 and 12 p.m.

Citizen Linda Stein raised several issues with council members.

In her first address, she told council members that she understands that Phil's Automotive in Pipe Creek is taking care of the maintenance needs for the city's fleet of police cars.

Stein was objecting to the placement of oil change stickers in the windows of the patrol cars.

"I don't believe the city should be advertising for Phil's Automotive," Stein said, adding that her husband's business, Bandera Garage, was not interested in having the city business since the city is habitually tardy in paying their bills.

City secretary Judy Dunn said the city is not tardy in paying bills, but that the bills must be approved by city council before payment.

Stein next said that it was her understanding that the city has a towing contract with Johnny Rodriguez of Bandera Body Shop.

"Johnny Rodriguez is designated as the impoundment lot," Stein said.

Stein said it is an inconvenience and cost to people who have been arrested, or have had their cars impounded for other reasons, to retrieve their cars from other towing companies in the county.

Next, Stein pointed out to council that when Guaranty Federal changed over District judge Davis prohibits sale of Medina Lake water for municipal use

'96

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

"We won this round," said Ralph Dresser, president of LAMCOS last week when word came that district court judge Paul Davis had reversed a TNRCC order regarding the sale of Medina Lake water.

The reversal from the 201st Judicial District in Travis County effectively prohibits the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water Conservation and Improvement District (BMA) from selling Medina Lake water for municipal or industrial use.

A TNRCC decision in January 1995 had allowed BMA to sell excess Medina Lake water for those uses.

LAMCOS (Lake Medina Conservation Society) and Bandera County had filed the suit to block the sale of the water to municipal users.

BMA holds a permit from the TNRCC (Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission) to sell 66,000 acre feet of Medina Lake water for agricultural irrigation purposes. They had asked the TNRCC to change the permit to allow the sale of some of that water for municipal and industrial use.

"We contended that the water laws say you can't do that," said Dresser.

LAMCOS has said that if BMA actually uses 66,000 acre feet every year the 254,000 acre-foot Medina Lake will soon be empty.

"The community around Medina Lake has been built on the historic non-use of the lake water," said Dresser.

BMA has never used all 66,000 acre feet allowed by their permit, which was granted in 1912 to the company that built Medina Dam. Average use has been around 37,000 acre feet.

Traditionally, the TNRCC has held a "use it or lose it" policy regarding water permits for small users, said Dresser. "We think the same rule should apply to BMA."

Bandera County commissioners voted to joined the lawsuit in an attempt to safeguard rights to Medina Lake water for the county's residents.

"Bandera County provides 99 percent of the water in the lake," said Dresser, "but we have no control over a bit of it."

Norwest offers banking customers wider services

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

First State Bank will celebrate its name change to Norwest Bank Texas, Bandera on Friday, Sept. 13, and bank president Sully Woodland says the change is a positive one.

"We think this will be a good move for everyone in the community," Woodland said. "As First State, we have always tried to provide the best customer service possible. That will not change."

What will change are the expanded services that Norwest will bring to town.

"Norwest brings to the table more products, technological advantages and added convenience," Woodland explained.

Some of those services that customers can expect to see are instant cash cards that can be used at no charge to get cash at 170 locations in Texas; investment services like stocks, bonds, mutual funds, and treasury securities; annuity services; trust services; expanded mortgage services; student loans; and debit cards.

Expanded checking account services will also be a positive change for Norwest customers.

Several accounts have a variety of options, including Norwest Free Checking, Interest Plus Account, and the Advantage Accounts.

Several of the new checking accounts have as a feature the Ready Reserve Line of Credit, which provides a hassle-free, automatic loan with initial credit approval once an application is submitted, and one of the new various accounts is opened.

Woodland explained that the new Advantage accounts reward the customer by taking into consideration the complete relationship the customer has with the bank.

For example, if a customer has a $10,000 loan and a $500 checking account, they could qualify for the Advantage Plus account, which carries a required combined minimum balance of $10,000. This account has many benefits, according to Woodland, including free standard checks, unlimit-

My office has received several complaints concerning persons dumping trash in dumpsters when the person doing the dumping does not own or have permission from the owner to place trash in the dumpster. Please don't do it or you may find yourself facing criminal charges. The owner of the dumpster has to pay a fee to have the dumpater emptied. The more often it becomes full the more often it has to be emptied. This causes the cost of the dumpster to increase significantly.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work. Use only as directed.

THIRD OPEN LETTER TO THE TAXPAYERS IN THE BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Again, I urge you to vote AGAINST the school bond issue for the reasons in previous letters.

So, today, let's talk about the impact of the substantial tax increase which will come with any passage of the school bond. Our friends at the school are asking us to burden ourselves with $15,000,000 additional debt. Sometime AFTER we give them the $15,000,000 in cash, they will tell us what we bought for that amount of money! Our school friends would have you believe that you will hardly feel the impact in your pocketbook. On the contrary, small home owners, persons renting houses and everyone who buys anything in Bandera, whether they own property or not, will get it right between the eyes. Our Bandera merchants will have to pass on to their customers their tax increase. Otherwise, they can't stay in business. Moreover, owners of rental houses and properties will pass on to their renters the increase in taxes. The small home owner will get it with both barrels. He or she will pay the tax increase on their home and will pay a share of the tax increase on the Bandera merchants when shopping in Bandera.

Have you heard this story before -- the little guy taking the brunt of the burden! But the proponents of the school bond know they have one thing working for their favor -- ordinary taxpayers fail to defend himself or herself at the polls. In other words, they depend upon your not exercising your cherished right to vote. No, too often the majority of taxpayers want to go down to the local beer hall and physically whip someone over the issue. Yet, he has a much more lethal weapon which is more feared by those seeking to do him in -- The Right To Vote. Finally, the back room talk is about how dumb and stupid you and I are, as taxpayers. Therefore, they reason that we cannot comprehend and evaluate the nature of what is being offered and will not bother to vote against it although it is obviously a poor and expensive idea. Personally, I firmly believe that the taxpaying public can and will respond to this type of challenge. When given the facts, the taxpayers can make good judgment for the common good of the community.

Early voting on the school bond began Monday, September 9, 1996, and will continue through September 23, 1996, at the following polling places on the dates indicated:

TEMPORARY BRANCH OFFICES FOR EARLY VOTING BY PERSONAL APPEARANCE

Monday	Bandera High School Superintendent's Office	8:30-9:30pm
September 23	Old San Antonio Highway, Bandera, TX

It will take about 5 minutes of your time to exercise your voting right. Prove to the school folks that you do count! There is a better and more economical way to accomplish the objectives of adequate school facilities. Vote AGAINST the bond issue so we may move forward without the burden of substantial tax increase!

Respectfully yours, Al Hamilton, Rancher

"2 NEWEST NORTHSIDE SCHOOL COSTS OVER BUDGET"

By Daniel J. Vargas
SUN STAFF WRITER

In what is becoming a costly trend, Northside trustees and staff had to rework and cut bond budgets last week to offset almost $7 million in unexpected costs for its new high school and middle school. But Superintendent Ed Rawlinson insisted the projects will be done under the tax rate promised to voters during the bond election that made the school possible. Rawlinson blamed the increases on a busy construction market and estimates that were too low. He said estimates came from staff and bond committee members. "The problem was that the original estimate was too conservative," Rawlinson said. "I think there was a desire to try and build a school for an extremely low amount. It was well-motivated but not realistic."

Letters to the Editor

Race track purchase not a good deal

This Bandera voter is concerned about the proposed BISD race track purchase. Editor, I am FOR: our younger generation, education and learning, schools, doing the responsible thing.

But, I am AGAINST the race track purchase, precisely because it is not the responsible thing to do.

Does it make economic sense to purchase a defunct race track for $3 million with plans to use only some of the improvements? No! No!

1. BISD is paying more than $22,000 per acre! (That's 22 thousand, not 22 hundred!)

2. BISD's price is more than four times greater than the highest bid at the recent public auction of the track!

3. We are told that this is the last large flat, highway accessible tract available — although a different large, flat tract is immediately available on Hwy. 1283 for less than $4,000 per acre!

There are other reasons that this purchase is only a "good deal" for the current owner, the architect, and the bond salesmen.

This is not a "good deal" for local taxpayers or current students (future taxpayers) who will be paying off this debt.

Vote no bonds!

Steve Muller

Questions need answers

Dear Editor:

I believe the school board should openly answer the following questions before we vote on a bond issue that does not include the building of a new high school.

1. Why is the Merrick Building at the Middle School now used for storage? It is less than 12 years old and made of rock. It consists of a principal's office, secretaries office, nurse's office and I believe it's six classrooms.

2. Why were three temporary buildings added to the Middle School for approximately $150,000? These buildings are used for classrooms. Wouldn't it have made more sense to open the Merrick building for classrooms and use the temporary buildings for storage?

3. Why is Alkek Elementary's classrooms leaking? That school is approximately 12 years old. Is this money included on the bond issue?

4. What are we going to pay for the clean up and removal of buildings at the track?

5. How is the school going to fix the drainage problems at the track?

6. How can we pass this bond issue that doesn't include the building of a new high school? What will the new high school cost taxpayers?

7. Where is the lottery money designated for schools?

Linda Stein
Bandera

ed. note: Regarding question #1 and #2, we walked through the Merrick Building on the BMS campus at 10:30 a.m. Monday morning. Every classroom was being used by students and teachers except one. That room was set up as a classroom, not a storeroom. The former principal's office is being used as a teachers workroom and three teachers were using it as we passed by.

#3. General repairs to existing buildings are budgeted for in the district's maintenance budget in the general fund. Repeated calls on Monday to Sandy North, Alkek principal, to ask about leaks at the school were not returned.

#6. The bond election notice states that the $15 million bond will be used for three things: 1) to construct a new high school, 2) purchase a site for that new high school, and 3) construct new facilities and remodel existing facilities at the Middle School campus.

#7. The state lottery money was never, to our knowledge, designated for school funding. That is a state issue over which local officials have no control.

First Courthouse

After the creation in 1856 of Bandera County as a political entity separate from Bexar County, county offices were housed for more than 20 years in various rented rooms.

The building, which in 1877 became the first courthouse, still stands on its original site on a high bank above the Medina River. It is currently used as a Justice of the Peace office and will soon house the County Treasurer's office upstairs.

In 1877, the commissioners court agreed to purchase the building housing H.H. Carmichael's store. The Masonic Fraternity used the upper floor.

County Clerk Charles Montague lamented the fact that he had only one little drawer in present cramped quarters in which to store county records.

Purchase price of the building, which had been constructed by Confederate Henry White in the 1860s, was $2200.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Wow! Hasn't this rain been wonderful? I guess it won't be long before we start complaining about the mud. I've been reading the big city paper to find out when the drought officially ends so I can stop trying to come up with my pathetic drought joke of the week.

Everything has greened up on my place. We got a couple of run-off downpours that finally put some fresh water in the ponds, but so far the springs and creeks are not yet flowing.

It's amazing how fast nature responds to the wet stuff. Plants that looked sure to die a week ago are now furiously blooming out in the yard. Every kind of sage I have has decided to entice the hummingbirds and get on with reproduction after all.

The yard is full of reds, yellows and purples after a long and colorless summer.

Having converted over to native plants in my yard a long time ago, I haven't spent a lot of time watering anything. I figured it would either survive or not. I'm happy to say that everything was hanging tough, but there were very few flowers to enjoy.

Now they all seem to be making up for lost time and it's really delightful.

If you haven't gotten into xeriscaping yet, I hope this drought has got you thinking about it. This isn't the first or the last one we will have. The Texas Hill Country is on the edge of the desert and we need to remember that even during the wet years.

Think soaker hoses and drip irrigation all the time.

I'm even considering putting in a cistern to catch the rain water off of my roof. It sure would come in handy for watering the yard and garden.

Well, I'm looking out the window and suddenly realized that I've forgotten where I put the lawnmower! Haven't had to use it all summer. It must be around here somewhere.

❑ Rain is the-midst-of-the-drought joke: Did you hear about the guy who was floating down a stream on the top of his house? A man in a boat came by and said jump in, but the fellow said, "I'm relying on the Lord to save me."

A little later a helicopter hovered and offered to lower a ladder. "I'm relying on the Lord to save me," he says.

Soon the house hits a bridge and explodes and the guy drowns. He goes to heaven and tells the Lord, "I was waiting for you to save me."

"Well," the Lord replied, "I sent a boat and a helicopter. I just couldn't think what else to do."

Bush announces new ethics rules for former staff members

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. George W. Bush announced new rules on ethics last week to prohibit lobbying by former staff members.

Bush asked his 184-member staff to sign a promise that if they leave their jobs, they will not lobby the governor's office for at least one year, the Dallas Morning News reported.

"My administration will uphold the highest ethical standards. We must all continue to conduct ourselves in a manner which makes Texas proud," Bush said in a memo to his staff.

In July, Diane Allbaugh, the wife of Gov. Bush's executive assistant Joe Allbaugh, resigned as a lobbyist for AT&T and Texas Utilities - corporations that have issues to be considered in the 1997 legislative session.

Also [illegible] that three former Bush aides, Dan Shelley, Reggie Bashur, and Cliff Johnson worked as lobbyists after leaving the governor's staff.

The governor said he was troubled by the appearance of a conflict of interest and said he would initiate a policy to deal with such situations. The new policy, however, does not forbid former staffers from lobbying state agencies or the legislature.

It has not been unusual for former legislators, aides and governor's staffers to accept lobbying posts after leaving the state payroll.

Treasury, Treasurer Close Doors

Texas Treasurer Martha Whitehead scraped her name off the window of her office in Austin on Aug. 30, her last day on the job.

The 150-year-old Texas Treasury officially ceased operations Sept. 1, in accordance with a constitutional amendment to close the agency and transfer its duties to the office of Comptroller John Sharp.

Whitehead, who campaigned in favor of closing the agency in efforts to streamline state government, was appointed to office in 1993 by then- Gov. Ann Richards.

RRC Chief Returns Money

Texas Railroad Commissioner Carole Keeton Rylander has returned more than $25,000 [illegible] have had cases before the regulatory panel.

Two years ago, when she was elected to the railroad commission, which regulates the oil and gas and shipping industries, Rylander pledged not to accept money from any companies with business pending before the agency.

She told the Austin American-Statesman her ethics policy "goes far beyond what my predecessors did and what the law requires."

Rail Line to Be Studied

In hopes of relieving traffic congestion along IH 35, the Texas Transportation Commission wants to see whether building a commuter rail link between San Antonio and the city of Round Rock, 10 miles north of Austin, has merit.

The agency approved a study that will show how much an 80-mile passenger rail would cost and how it would be operated. The state will pay half the cost of the study, which could cost up to $500,000.

The study likely will begin in the spring. Union Pacific has said it would cost about $5 million per mile to upgrade the existing track.

Insurance Firms Raise Rates

Insurance rates for Texas drivers covered by Allstate and State Farm Insurance companies may increase under new rates filed at the Texas Department of Insurance.

State Farm said its average rate in Texas will increase by 2.9 percent on Oct. 29. Individual costumers could see smaller increases or no increase based on where they live and their driving records.

Allstate reported it would raise overall rates by 1.3 percent. That change will take effect Sept. 9.

Bingo Control Transfer OK'd

A special Senate committee voted 3-0 last week to move charitable bingo regulations from the Texas Lottery Commission to the Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation.

Committee chairman state Sen. Eddie Lucio, D-Brownsville, said, "Bingo licensees did not feel comfortable with the staff or the attitude of those working to regulate bingo."

The regulation transfer proposal and other suggested changes in state bingo laws will go before the Legislature in January.

Other Capital Highlights

• Col. James Wilson, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety for five years, has retired. Wilson, 55, was among about 3,000 state employees who retired Aug. 31 to take advantage of increased benefits for taking early retirement. Wilson served in the DPS for 33 years.

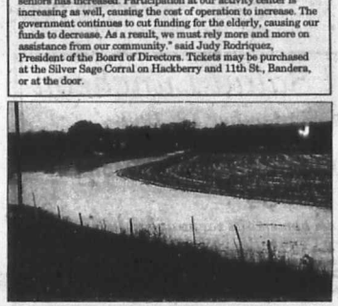
The Friday morning bridge players are among the many Bandera County citizens who enjoy meeting at the Sever Sage Corral. Support the activity center's projects by buying tickets to their annual fund-raising dance. The event is scheduled for Sept. 12 from 8-11 p.m. at The Cabaret.



Thursday night dance benefits senior activity center

The Silver Sage Corral is out riding the range in an effort to round up all the stray "bucks" they can find. They need help in funding the Meals on Wheels program as well as in defraying some of the operating costs down at the old corral.

A "Benefit Barn Dance & Auction" at Bandera's own Cabaret will be held Sept. 12. Linda Allen and the Roadrunners will provide the best dance music this side of the Rio Grande. A quilt and cake auction will be held. Door prizes will also be awarded.

The dance runs from 9 to 11 p.m.. Tickets are $4.00 each.

"As you all know, Bandera County is growing at a very rapid pace, consequently the demand for meals for home-bound seniors has increased. Participation at our activity center is increasing as well, causing the cost of operation to increase. The government continues to cut funding for the elderly, causing our funds to decrease. As a result, we must rely more and more on assistance from our community." said Judy Rodriquez, President of the Board of Directors. Tickets may be purchased at the Silver Sage Corral on Hackberry and 11th St., Bandera, or at the door.

This flooded field was a welcome sight to water-starved Bandera County last week as showers crossed the area.

from University Savings they were required under a city ordinance to lower their sign to conform to city standards.

"They were no longer protected under a grandfather clause, and neither is First State Bank," she said.

She said something needed to be done before the new Norwest sign went up.

Debbie Newcomer of Guaranty Savings later confirmed they had to lower their sign quite a bit.

Later, Stein asked city council to reinstate the traffic control during the afternoon that was a procedure under ex-police chief Walter Welch.

Welch used to stop traffic on Main Street until all the buses from Bandera Middle School had exited from Oak.

"It's nuts on Main Street from 3:15 to 3:30," Stein said.

Current Chief Lynn Holt told council that many people had asked him when he assumed the job not to stop traffic anymore, and also that he had an arrangement with the school transportation officials.

"I made a decision to allow the buses to move into the normal flow of traffic and so far I haven't had one complaint," Holt said.

He said that increased traffic, and the increased numbers of buses over the last two years were going to cause traffic snarls, and holding traffic up on Main Street was not a solution.

In other business, city council members voted two for and one against to cancel an amendment to a city ordinance that allowed the Bandera Overland Stagecoach to use two parking spaces on Main Street, after the stagecoach allegedly left town. The stagecoach and its parking spaces were the subject of hot controversy at the beginning of the summer, when several business owners objected to parking spaces on Main being tied up by the coach.

"We have put up with the inconvenience and lack of parking," Pipe Creek Realty owner Geri Valdez told council. "It doesn't make any sense to block off a street as a runway just in case someday a plane might land there. It doesn't make any sense to block off parking just in case a stagecoach might someday come back and park there."

According to Valdez and other people present, the stagecoach has not been seen in town for the last three weeks.

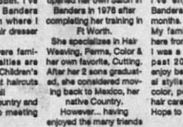
Dorothy Darden voted against the motion, while Tommy Kindla and Walter Welch voted for canceling the parking spaces.

Representatives from First Baptist Church of Bandera received council permission to allow two to eleven trailers on the church property from Oct. 4 through Oct. 26 to house people who will be helping construct an addition to the church.

In other business council:

• denied James Kalka's request to place a double-wide mobile home on his lot in Bandera.

• accepted Columbus Stutes' resignation as city inspector.



• approved advertising for the position of city administrator.

• set the date of Sept. 23, 1996 at 7 p.m. for a public hearing on the proposed budget for the 1997 fiscal year.

• set the date of Sept. 16, 1996 at 7 p.m. for the organizational meeting of the City of Bandera Development Cooperation.

Dresser expects that BMA will appeal the district court decision.

The water district has accepted millions of dollars from Bexar Met, a water provider in the San Antonio area. "I expect they will have to cut off the small users in their system to provide water to Bexar Met," said Dresser.

The BMA board met Monday morning, Sept. 9. According to Johnny Ward, BMA president, "The board reviewed our options, but did not come to any decision." BMA has 30 days to appeal the court's decision.

Class of 56 compares memories

The Bandera High School graduates of 1956 met for a class reunion July 13 at the home of Jerry and Opal Word.

Everyone enjoyed the day catching up on where the class [illegible] make it," has led each classmate. There was lots of looking at photo albums and good old-time visiting.

Few remembered the motto, the class colors of pink and silver, the class flower — the pink gladiola, or the class song, "Moments to Remember."

A barbecue brisket dinner prepared by the hostesses was served to Ray Allen and Sandra Weber, Billy and Helen Morse, Jeanne Focke Davis and daughter Lisa Bullock and baby, Lester and Jane Johnson Buck, Dr. Donald and Natalie Risinger, Muriel Whittaker Paschal, Jimmie Gray, Eva Herrera Zweiner and host and hostesses Jerry and Opal Baker Word, Joslyn Wright Tucker, Jim and Coy Richards Word, Jean Searcy Stevens and David Rainey, Margie Schoenert Bratton and Sterling Brown and John and Anna Lee Edwards Tucker.

"A special thank you to Baine Tucker of Alpine for barbecuing the delicious brisket, to Leanne Miller for making the motto banner, and to Jerry and Opal Word for the warm welcome into their pretty home and their great hospitality," said class members.

Wasn't it fun that our recent little old wilty-model hurricane which rained everybody and didn't really hurt anybody that [illegible] user-friendly money little name like Dolly. Somehow, if OUR hurricane had been Feminized "Edouard", it wouldn't have seemed the same. The Bulletin front page feature column said "Thanks Dolly." Could we have managed "Merci beaucoup, Edouard"?

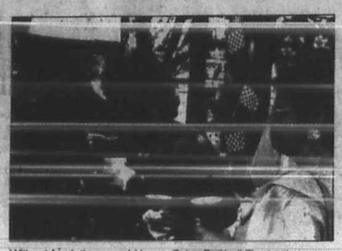
Well, sure, if he had brought the air and a half easy inches which some lucky folks in our immediate neighborhood measured in rain gauges during the two weeks leading up to a few bye-bye showers on Labor Day weekend.

Know what? The first patch to green up and start growing as if nothing had happened all summer long to our poor old premises has been — the relict St. Augustine. As stated here before, we don't water the stuff, now that we've learned our xeriscape catechism, we don't fertilize it, we pray it will freeze or burn up. But — not even the KR bluestem is coming back so far. Only the hated and put-down water waster. St. Augustine.

Probable moral: All them city fellers shouldn't oughta have been carrying on about losing their lawns thanks to Judge Bunton. You can't kill that there grass. No way. No how.

During the long dry spell, the birds either took off searching for a wetter climate, wherever that might have been, or hidden out in the shade, just fell silent. The only song left to be heard has been that most moving avian melody of all — the song of the canyon wren who lives in the hayshed, cascading down the scale and chirruping after "Do." Most of the year Miss Wren has tuned up early mornings and evenings. During hot August, she sang all day long. What did that mean?

There were a couple of cardinals around, teaching their fledglings to crack seeds. But they weren't even clicking and chirping. What did that mean?



One no-brain weather center on a local channel—Not expert Steve Brown nor bright Jim Thomas, we hasten to assure Channels 12 and 5 — said as rains tapered off: "The good news is that the rains are moving away from San Antonio and heading to the coast."

Good news? Doesn't this dork realize that double-dose-of-Dolly, we are still in a drouth and are forecast to continue to be for some time to come? We don't wish to seem greedy, but we're still hoping those clouds over Boerne-way or down around Castroville are fixing to head for Bandera County. There are only a few puddles in Miller Creek, and the brief spate of brown water which covered the rock bottom of Bandera Creek there at Joleta on Hwy. 16 East was gone again the next day.

Nobody knows what if any recharge went into our sprawling Trinity aquifer which we must continue to guard carefully as we get the leavings in the system after Kerrville and environs take their big swigs from it.

If it ever really really rains, the price of cattle goes up, the price of hay goes down, and as the late great County Agent Herman Schlemmer used to say, as if it were the most wonderful thing he could think about—"That old deep caliche goes to seeping"— if all that happens — What Will Basic Bandera Find To Talk About?

Without food, there would be no Cajun Festival! That's what many visitors to the annual Lakehills over-the-top, authentically prepared Cajun food items include crawfish pies, sausage and ham jambalaya, crawfish étouffée, red beans and rice, boudin, boiled Cajun shrimp, hot French beignets, bread pudding with whiskey sauce and pecan pralines made by local volunteers every year. The festival uses imported crawfish from Breaux Bridge, La., the "Crawfish Capital of the World." But if Cajun food seems too exotic for the taste buds, there will be plenty of beef fajitas, sausage on a stick, and hot dogs. The 16th annual family fun festival will be held Saturday, Sept. 28 at the Lakehills Civic Center. In addition to food, there will be plenty of Cajun music, dancing and the Great Gumbo Cookoff. Activities begin at noon.

Gumbo cookoff entries due

The Great Gumbo Cookoff will again be held in conjunction with the 16th Annual Cajun Festival at the Lakehills Civic Center on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Some 25 cooks will be vying to cook the best gumbo and win one of three very tall trophies. They'll all be competing in the showmanship category, so expect some foolishness and even outrageousness among the participants.

The gumbo cooks will do their best to impress festival goers, because the festival goers will be the judges of the gumbo. For a $1.50 ticket each, attendees may sample the gumbo and then vote for the best one.

Persons interested in entering the cookoff can call 210-612-3015.

Demos dancing at next meeting

Continuing the fun had by the delegates at the Democratic National Convention last month in Chicago, the Bandera County Democratic Club members and guests will be learning the latest dance craze, the macarena, at their Tuesday, Sept.17 meeting to be held at the Bandera Bank Community Building.

Starting at 7 p.m. and open to the public, a free light supper will be served. Participants from the convention will share their experiences, followed by a brief business meeting, announced Bandera County Democratic Chairman Mary Autry.

Fall Classic Horse Show this weekend

The Bandera Fall Classic Horse Show will get under way Sept. 14-15 at Mansfield Park Arena in Bandera. The public is invited to come out and watch both days. There will be no admission fee and concessions will be available.

The two day schedule is a result of the show's popularity. "We were there after midnight last year," said show organizer Julie Dinse.

All Western Classes and speed events will be held on Saturday beginning at 9 a.m.

All English classes will be held on Sunday beginning at 10 a.m.

"All proceeds from the show go to the Bandera County 4-H Horse Project to help fund their activities for the coming year," said Dinse.

Judge for both days will be Randy Shurig from New Braunfels.

According to Dinse, the clothes, the tack and the activities all differ for the two general classes in the horse show.

"We're hoping lots of people will come out to observe the English class on Sunday, said Dinse. "It's quite a contrast to the Western class most Texans are more familiar with."

Events in the Western class include the familiar barrel racing and pole bending, along with keyhole, reining, riding, horsemanship, pleasure, trail, walk-trot and halter.

The English class will feature model in hand, showmanship, pleasure, Texas hunter suitability, hunter under saddle, hunter seat equitation, hunter hack, working hunter and open jumping.

FANS OF COWBOYS BENEFIT YOUTH -- Rudy Robbins, R, presents a check to Dale Naumann, superintendent of the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show. The check reflects the proceeds from Robbins' All-American Cowboy Get-Together which was a benefit for the livestock show.

In a very impressive and emotional ceremony, Brothers Orville Wise and Paul Garrison received recognition for fifty years of Masonic membership last week.

Brother Wise was raised to the degree of Master Mason in Feb. 1947, and has held one office or another in the lodge since that time. He was Master of the Lodge on four separate occasions.

Brother Paul (Pappy) Garrison was raised to the degree of Master Mason in March 1947, and has held office for many years, including two terms of Master of the Lodge.

Both men are charter members of the Medina Masonic Lodge and each had some fond memories of the early years of the Lodge, which they shared with family and friends.

District Deputy Grand Master Dan Glenn, of the 51st Masonic District presented Brothers Wier and Garrison with their 50-year pins and remarked that he well remembered both of these men, as a youth growing up in the Medina area, and the profound influence they had on him. The Medina Chapter of the Order of the Eastern Star had the hall decorated for the occasion, and as usual the food was bountiful and delicious.

AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Ciarlo 796-3235

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department held their quarterly general membership meeting on Saturday, Sept. 7 at the fire house. There were a few present with 34 members present. Treasurer Dotti Bendele resigned following a lively discussion about the treasurer's report and what money should be in the truck fund. After the meeting and tempers cooled off, most of the people enjoyed the covered dish dinner.

• The Walker Memorial Chapel will have a covered dish dinner on Sunday, Sept. 15 after morning service. Bill Walker will be barbecuing brisket for the meal.

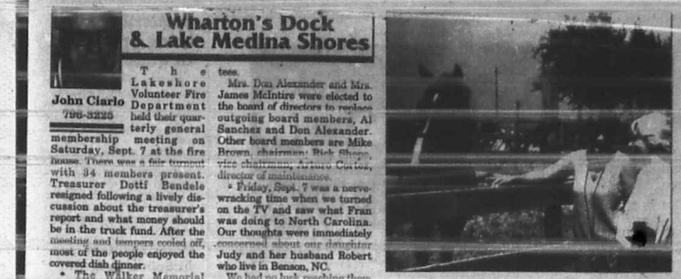
Rick Shope, treasurer, submitted the budget for the next year which was approved by the members. To assure more member input, a financial committee was established with Dotti Bendele as chairman.



Anyone wanting to participate in the Neighborhood Watch program should call the LMS office at 460-8269.

Bob Bendele will serve on the road committee. A fund will be set aside and increased on a continuing basis for roads. Bendele also serves on the architectural control committee and has been working with newcomers on meeting the property restrictions for LMS. He needs volunteers for both of these committees.

Mrs. Don Alexander and Mrs. James McIntire were elected to the board of directors to replace outgoing board members, Al Sanchez and Don Alexander. Other board members are Mike Brown, chairman; Bob Shope, vice chairman; Arnold Curtis, director of maintenance.

• Friday, Sept. 7 was a nerve-wracking time when we turned on the TV and saw what Fran was doing to North Carolina. Our thoughts were immediately concerned about our daughter Judy and her husband Robert who live in Benson, NC.

We had no luck reaching them by phone. About 9:30 a.m. Judy called to let us know she was OK. The red tile roofing was badly damaged and she had 16 containers catching rain water in the house. A dozen tall pine trees in the back yard were "undressed." with most of the limbs blown off. Judy reports both are fine and "singing in the rain."

BigMac finds a home at Youth Habitat

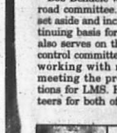
The boys at Youth Habitat of Texas (YHT) got a suprise gift recently when Julie Dinse of Bandera called to say her family had an older horse that needed a good retirement home where he would be loved and cared for.

A few days later Dinse came to Indian Meadow facility with BigMac in tow. "I was agreed by staff and kids that he was the perfect horse for our little guys — gentle and friendly. The Dinse family agreed to donate BigMac with the understanding that he would be cared for and given the attention he deserves.

YHT (a residential treatment center for boys) was able to waive the equestrian program last fall when Center Point coach Jerry Moore, who teaches at one of the YHT's campuses, donated a young thoroughbred colt to the boys.

The equestrian program is part of YHT's recreational therapy program designed to build self esteem.

A group of residents built a 65 foot round pen for riding lessons, and have trainings many more hours on the day to day responsibility of caring for the horses.



"The program, thanks to the Dinse family, is now well equipped with a horse for all ages," said Tilli Adams, Special Programs Coordinator, "but the children could use a couple of more donors, and other tack and equipment."

TARPLEY

The heavy rain that hit Wednesday afternoon between Tarpley and Hondo skipped our area and what rain fell in the Tarpley area. So we are back to hot, humid days.

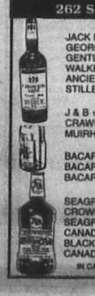
• We dedicate this column to the memory of a very gracious lady and homemaker from the Rio Hondo area, Susie Loleta Morris, 79, who died suddenly Thursday at the Medina Hospital in Hondo after a short illness. She is survived by her husband, Bennett Morris, daughters Helen Young of Beuville, Susie Craig of California and Carol Morris. Loleta was a wonderful outstanding wife, mother and grandmother and a lovely friend. Her sweet voice will long be remembered and her dedicated Christian life.

• A.B. "Skeets" Singleton was happy to receive a phone call from his son Leonard that he and his family were safe from the hurricane. He lives near Charlotte, S.C. Recent weekend visitors were Virginia Terrell and her daughter Dorothy Maness of San Antonio. They never miss the Tarpley VFD barbecue.

• Mr. and Mrs. Harold Jackson left last Tuesday for Amarillo where they visited a few days with harold's sister Bernice Wickware and other relatives before going on to Wyoming. There they visited Harold's sister and husband Mabel and Bill Dycus and enjoyed a family reunion in Laramie. In Colorado Springs, Col. they visited Harold's brother Dennel and wife Janice.

• Birthdays include Viola Jackson, Sept. 1; Peggy Pauline Ball, Sept. 15; Marilyn Haner and Mary Ann Woods, Sept. 18.

• Elzie and Nettie Dean were in Hondo Wednesday for Elzie's medical checkup, then on to D'Hanis to visit Marvin and Mary Jo Dean.



Trying to get even is a sure sign someone was wrong.

What's Rustlin'

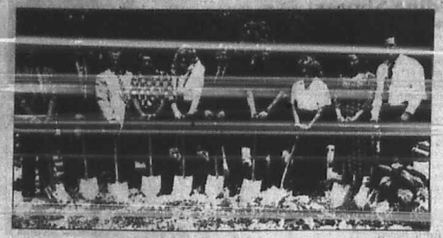
by Bunny

The BCCF (Bandera County Christian Fellowship) kicked off their first Friday night youth dance and granddads and the whole gang have a good time! It's free!

We have two new restaurants in town, and we haven't gotten to either of them yet. Just thought they'd better be mentioned, because the feedback has been great.

El Durango, in the Frontier Hotel, has put a lot of money into re-modeling with a bright new kitchen and lots of elbow grease into cleaning it up, and I hear their chili rellenos are delicious!

The other is Dan Alamo's at the back of the River Oak Motel, and from what I hear, they have great food, too. If you've never been to that particular location, (it's kind of hidden from view!) be sure and stop by and eat outside on the verandah, over-looking our beautiful Medina River. It's the only eatery in town that sits right on the river.



This Thursday is a busy evening. At 7 p.m. our own Larry "Cookie" Hartshorn will be giving an orchid slide show and talk for the Native Plant Society at the Episcopal Church, and then, you have to jump in your car, or horse and buggy, and dash over to The Cabaret, for the Silver Sage Annual Benefit Auction, where Linda Allen and the Roadrunners will be playing for lots of toe-tapping and good old Western dancing.

I've heard that Linda, by the way, out there at the Bella Union puts on a first Sunday of the month pot luck dinner. Starts around 2 p.m. and if you can't bring a pot, you can pay $4 and get in on all the fantastic dishes, and dance between courses. Sounds fun to me!

City students check out small-town lifestyle

Parker Borofsky, Dustin Friesenhahn, Michelle Deininger, Kenny Flannigan and Anna Wong paid a visit to Bandera Thursday, Sept. 5. The MacArthur High School students from San Antonio were completing an assignment for their English class. They made their way around town interviewing folks to find out what life is like in a small town.

Patrick Murphy, Sid Peterson assistant administrator; Louis Garcia, CEO San Antonio Community Hospital; Tony Hall, Sid Peterson administrator; Francisco Barrera MD; Patricia Kern Butler PAC; Ron Woodruff PAC; Dennis Thompson, pastor Bandera United Methodist Church; Fonda Chesson, office; Tammy Bennack, office coordinator; and Gary Woodward, Director of Rural Health Methodist Health Care System break ground for a new medical facility on Cypress St. in Bandera. The facility is a joint venture of Methodist Health Care System and Sid Peterson Hospital.

Studstill to bring program to quilt guild

The Bandera County Quilt Guild will meet Wednesday, Sept. 18 at the Silver Sage Corral.

The meeting begins at 9:30 a.m.

At 10:15 a program will be presented by nationally acclaimed fabric artist Pam Studstill of Pipe Creek.

Studstill's work has been featured in quilt books and calendars, museums and collections around the world.

Trees top next Audubon program

At a meeting of the Bexar Audubon Society, Thursday, Sept. 19, at 7:30 p.m., Paul Cox, supervisor of the San Antonio Botanical Center and co-author of Texas Trees: A Friendly Guide, will discuss the trees of Central Texas, their use in landscape, and their use in landscape, and their benefits for wildlife.

The location is the Ruble Center, 419 E. Magnolia.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi, Y'all! Well, we were just watching the news and they have flood warnings out for low water crossings in S/A. But out here a dog going at half trot would stir up a cloud of dust! Guess we don't pay the preacher enough to get rain here!

Although each time we went to put the boat in last week it came a storm! We had a very laid back week with Kay and I getting to know each other again. After working side by side for so long it still takes some getting used to her working at the Courthouse. Her coffee pot note to us this morning was "you're going to miss me!" and you know, she's right.

Well, our barbecue was a success over the Labor Day Weekend. Everyone worked their hearts out and put on a grand feast as usual. There are still some briskets left over. If you would like to purchase some get in touch with us.

The folks over at the MLBA are putting the finishing touches on the Civic Center in preparation for the Cajan Festival coming up Sept. 28. All the booths are being readied, the hall polished up, the fences readied. We wonder what the weather will be like since the VFD will be out directing traffic and parking. Help is still needed throughout the event, so if you would like to participate in putting on this event contact Barbara Engels at 751-2727. If you want to help us with traffic control call us.

We see more updating going on at the downtown Lone Star Ice House. It is good to see a business putting that kind of investment in revamping the gas sales end of the business.

This fits in with the large growth of our community which we have been watching for the past several years. We have seen churches growing, a new Annex to the Courthouse, more businesses. All must come with our population growth. We just hope we can maintain our laid back lifestyle and neighborly attitude Lakehills has always been famous for! So let's all strive to keep what made our community famous, our friendly-neighbor attitude!

Oh, boy! We always have to get up on our soap box about something. We guess that should take care of it. For now!

How many of you know the County Garbage Collection Service is open on Monday as well as Saturday and Wednesday? This service is to give people more access to the county trash disposal services in Lakehills. So take advantage of these added hours and keep our community clean.

Well, time is marching on and we better try to trot on and try to keep up. We will be lookingfor you over the back fence.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Perhaps it would be wise if everyone of us examined our basic philosophy of life once in a while and asked ourselves how sound it is. If it is based on selfishness, it is unsound. If it is based on good will, helpfulness, right living, and good works, it is sound.

Legend says that on one occasion General R. Lee came suddenly upon one of his young officers gazing at himself in the mirror with obvious pleasure and admiration. "You must be the happiest man in the world.", said Lee. "Why do you say that, Sir?", asked the soldier. "Because you are in love with yourself, and have no rival in your affection.", replied Lee.

We do not know if this story is true, but it reflects a truth. The surest way to lose the love of others it to devote all our love to ourself. And the more intense our self-affections become, the surer we can be that no one else will share it. But fortunately for humanity, the reverse process is equally true. Unselfish affection for others inevitably draws affection in return. The man who can forget himself in his interest in the welfare of others is safe in forgetting himself, for others will not forget him. Love for others is the key to human happiness that is within the reach of all. It does not depend upon riches, nor education, nor power, nor social position. It relies within the grasp of anyone who, in the midst of others, will hold out to them the hand of love and fellowship.

Tigers pull past 'Dogs

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Despite being plagued by injuries throughout the game, the Dripping Springs Tigers managed to pull off a last minute touchdown that cost the Bandera Bulldogs a hard-fought season opener Friday night.

The final score was 21-24.

Neither team managed to score in the first quarter, but a one-yard plunge in the second by Bulldog Tim Gard gave the home team the first score of the night with 9:54 left on the clock. The extra point was good, and the score was 7-0, Bulldogs.

With 5:49 left in the second quarter, the Tigers punted. Bandera's Stephen Rodriguez ran the ball to the 8-yard line and with 1:50.left, Bulldog Tim Gard scored another touchdown from eight yards out.

The extra point was good, and the first half ended with a 14-0 score.

After the half, both teams pulled off touchdowns on runs in the third quarter.

Dripping Springs scored their first TD of the night, with 11:02 on the clock.

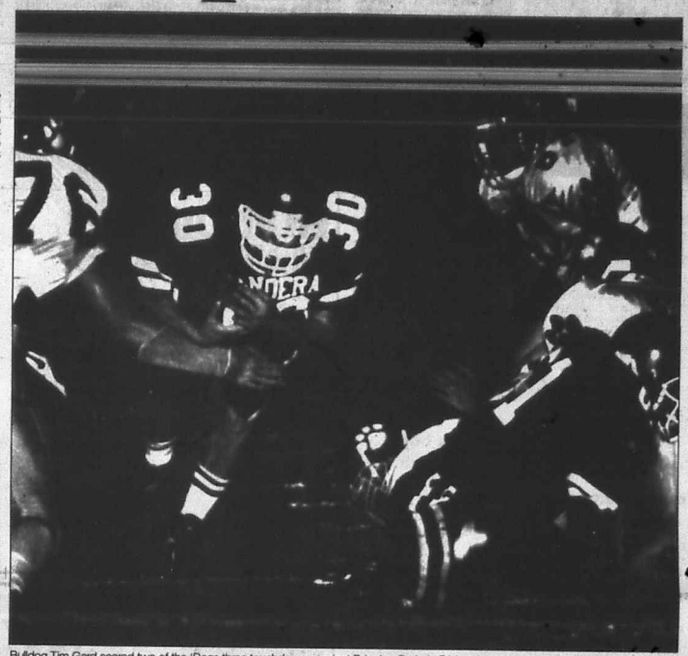
Bandera's Patrick Mazurek came in for another seven points on a sweep and run play with 3:26 left on the clock.

At the end of the third, the score was 21-7, Bulldogs.

The 'Dogs seemed to lose their momentum and their grip, however, once the fourth quarter started, letting the Tigers score 17 points on blindsides and fumbles.

Another injury time-out for the Tigers did not stop them from making a last minute six-yard quarterback run into the end zone for a touchdown with 35 seconds left on the clock.

"We played hard but didn't do the little things necessary to win," Coach Mike Williamson said.



The Bulldogs outrushed the Tigers 259 to 123 yards, with Jason Garcia contributing 115 yards and Tim Gard adding 81 yards to the attempt.

Outstanding offensive players cited by Williamson included Anthony Rodriguez, Nate Moehring, Tim Gard, Chris Davis, Jason Garcia, Justin Knight, and Cody North.

Outstanding defensive players were Tim Gard, Jeremy Elder, Jeb Chesson, Randy Gage, Jeremy Leland and Nate Moehring.

This Friday, the Bulldogs travel to Llano. Assistant coach Eliseo Aguero said the team is ready.

"The teams are pretty evenlt matched," he said. "It's going to be a really good game."

Bulldog Tim Gard scored two of the 'Dogs three touchdowns against Dripping Springs Friday night. Above, Gard shows the moves that brought him into the end zone on a one-yard plunge.

Lady 'Dogs take fourth in tournament

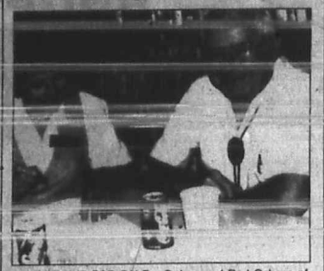
For tickets and information call 796-3849.



Pipe Creek VFD offers classes

The next topic to be presented at the Fire Department will be "How to Decorate on a Shoestring," which will be held this Saturday at 10 a.m.

"Anyone who has trouble changing the looks of things in their household due to thinking it costs too much will be interested in attending this session," the spokesperson explained.

"Stampin' Up" will be presented on Sept. 28 at 10 a.m.

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

Tomorrow night, Thursday, Sept. 12, beginning at 8 p.m. the Silver Sage Corral is sponsoring a Benefit Dance & Auction at the Cabaret.

Linda Allen and the Roadrunners are providing this dance for this event. If you haven't been out lately to hear the Roadrunners, you're missing out on a real treat. This is what dance music in Bandera is all about.

The Roadrunners can play all the good old country music as well as the new, but most importantly, they know how to make everyone feel at home. Tickets are $4 each and the proceeds help support our Center. The auction will feature handmade quilts, home baked cakes and pies, etc. There will also be lots of great door prizes.

Speaking of good music, Doc Meador and his combo create some really great sounds for our "Second Sunday Social." The combo features Clarence Adamietz on the keyboard, Bob Bendele on the guitar, Steve Forest on the fiddle and guitar and, of course, Doc Meador plays the fiddle and sings.

This group sounds better every time they play and they sounded darn good to start with. This past Sunday, 25 to 30 folks showed up for the Social, including [illegible] and had a great time just socializing.

This is a great way to spend a couple of hours on a Sunday afternoon (2-4 p.m.) and unwind a little before having to gear up again for Monday morning. The next Social is scheduled for Oct. 12.

TRIAD will meet at the Center tomorrow at 2 p.m. (Sept. 12).

Postmaster Tony Ramires will speak on mail fraud. TRIAD is an organization that promotes cooperation between law enforcement and senior citizens. Its goals are to reduce criminal victimization of senior citizens, to provide crime prevention information and reassurance programs and to educate law enforcement and the community in dealing more effectively with seniors and their concerns.

Join us tomorrow at 2 p.m. and hear how this program is working successfully in Bandera County.

Just a reminder - our Birthday Luncheon for September will be held in the third Tuesday, Sept. 17. This is the week of party voting and we will have a very short presentation by a member of the committee appointed to study the school bond election concerning the purchase of the racetrack.

This will start at 11:45 and lunch will be served at 12 noon. Bring a casserole, side dish or dessert and come join us. We'll be celebrating July, August and September birthdays.

Weaving classes will resume on Tuesday mornings, 9 a.m. to noon, as soon as we have enough people signed up. If you are interested in learning to weave, this is a wonderful opportunity to learn from a master weaver, Col. Harry Webb.

Drop by the Center anytime and we'll show the weaving room and samples of projects created by previous students.

Pipe Creek EMS Support Team plans for its annual fundraiser

Another year has passed and it's time again for the Pipe Creek EMS Support Team's annual fundraiser.

"Currently, the barn sale is the only fundraiser of the year, which means we must raise enough money for maintenance and upkeep on the building for the entire year," said Bennie Honaker, publicity chairman.

The support group will be collecting items from now until the sale which will be Oct. 5, so get all your unwanted, recyclable items together and call.

"We will accept any salable item," Honaker said.

That includes furniture, kitchen utensils and appliances, tools, toys, jewelry, clothes and miscellaneous.

For further information, or to have large items picked up, call Helen McKandles at 796-3970 or Fay Honaker at 535-4817.

"Your support is our only means of survival," Honaker said. "Thank you again for keeping us going and we'll be there when you need us."

Native Plant features orchids

The Native Plant Society will feature Larry Hartshorn, a Bandera resident, as their guest at their next meeting Thursday, Sept. 12 at 7 p.m. at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church.

Hartshorn is an orchid expert and photographer.

Fix it yourself!

"What Every Woman Should Know About Her Car" was a great success as a topic for the Pipe Creek Fire Department Auxiliary's community service events. Phil Martin, of Phil's Automotive, explained various subjects and showed those attending what to check and where to find it.

"Those who attended left with a greater knowledge of their vehicle and how to maintain it," a spokesperson said.

Proposed county budget dips into fund balance

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Bandera County Commissioners held public hearings on the budget and the proposed county tax rate Wednesday, Sept. 11 at 6 p.m. in County Judge Ray Mauer's office.

The $4.6 million proposed budget for the county reflects a $150,000 increase over last year's expenditures.

Independent candidate for county judge, Letcher Kelley of Pipe Creek, questioned the growth in the budget.

"Is this the usual government plan? Just inflate everybody's budget?" asked Kelley.

Commissioner Dan Alanis assured Kelley that was not the case here.

"We've gone over this budget line-item by line item," added Mauer. "There just isn't any fat left in this budget."

Alanis pointed out that the tax base today in Bandera County is still lower than it was in 1983-84 when property values were low.

Commissioner Bennie Barker reminded the small group of interested citizens who attended the budget hearing that the county also is the victim of unfunded mandates that are sent down by the state and federal government.

The juvenile justice program, for example, had a grant, but that funding is now depleted. However, the county must continue juvenile services.

Kelley pointed out that in his opinion, "services like garbage collection should at least break even."

Barker replied that it usually takes a couple of years for some services to break even.

About half of the county budget is funded by local tax revenues.

Commissioner Alanis told the audience that new tax exemptions granted by the state legislature took about $4.5 million off of the County's tax base.

Jim Morp ndo, commissioner-elect for P.... 2 expressed dismay that the budget dipped into

Heroic family pet saves kids from large rattler

Blue heeler dies from multiple bites

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

A one-year-old Blue Heeler is being credited with saving two small children from the deadly bite of a seven-foot rattlesnake. Unfortunately, the heroic dog, "Heeler" died after being bitten several times by the snake.

Sherry Rodriguez says she was in the chicken coop about 6:45 p.m. last Thursday at their home in Wharton's Dock, while her two children, Shelby, 3, and Sheldon, 2, played nearby.

Suddenly she heard the family's dogs, Heeler and three dachshunds, barking wildly.

When she came out from the coop, she saw the big snake, only feet away from Shelby, already coiled.

As she hurried to get the kids to the safety of the porch, Sherry says Heeler ran around and confronted the snake.

Sherry left the children on the porch and ran to get a gun.

"I was just so thankful that my husband taught me to shoot that .22," she exclaimed.

As she was running back, she heard a dog yelp. It turned out it was Heeler, bitten several times about the head.

Sherry emptied the gun into the snake, and after making sure it was dead, took the dog to the vet.

"It is the first time we have ever seen a snake out here," she said. "Heeler was just protecting these kids. I've never been so scared in my life. I just kept hearing that rattle."

Sherry Rodriguez and her children, Shelby and Sheldon, are grateful to their dog, Heeler, for saving the children's lives. The bullet-riddled body of a seven-foot long rattle snake hangs from a tree in the background.

Board sets school tax rate slightly lower than last year

The Bandera Independent School District board adopted a tax rate very close to last year's rate at their Sept. 10 regular session.

The Maintenance and Operating tax rate of $1.4033 was earlier determined by the board to be sufficient to fund the $9.9 million budget for 1996-97.

The M&O rate is a 1.33 cent increase over last year's rate, but the board lowered the Interest and Sinking rate to keep the overall rate three tenths of one cent less than last year's total tax rate.

The board approved an I&S rate of $0.15206 to fund debt service payments owed during the 1996-97 school year.

The total tax rate for 1996-97 will be $1.55536.

Approval of the tax rate was unanimous. Board member Pat Cleaver was absent. For more school board news, see page 10.

Lowlifes take VFD brisket and beer

The Castle Lake Volunteer Fire Department's 1st annual barbecue fund-raiser went well despite all of the meat and beer being stolen just days before the event.

"Somebody broke into the fire station and stole all the meat," Fire Chief Ronnie Schultz said. "It was all frozen in the freezer."

But unknown to the despairing fire fighters, several people who could and did help, were listening to the police scanner when the robbery was discovered.

Chief among them were several members of the Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department, who had some meat left over from

Need your GED? Just call "the Teach"

GED class instructor Neal Dalton displays the diploma he takes pride in helping many local persons earn.

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

People around Bandera call him "the teach." And that is probably because to many, he is and was the teacher who helped them take a step to a better way of life.

Neal Dalton has been the force behind the G.E.D. tests, or General Education Development tests, in this area since 1986.

A dapper man, with a sly and delightful sense of humor, Dalton graduated with a master's degree in education administration from Southwest Texas State University before being drafted in the U.S. Army.

He says that getting a G.E.D. can lead someone down the road to a better education, a better job, or service in the military.

For instance, Schreiner College in Kerrville and San Antonio College in San Antonio will accept students with a G.E.D.

"These schools could open the door for higher education and job qualifications," Dalton explained. "Some businesses are encouraging their employees who did not graduate to get the G.E.D.

"It's just a way to raise yourself above the minimum wage and get on a different plane."

Dalton said the course that he teaches at the Bandera County Library two nights a week is styled so that a person can go as fast or slow as they like.

The test is administered once a month.

"It's self-guided and individual," he said.

The course is designed for adults who have not completed high school, and want to go to college, or who need something to complete job requirements.

"For instance, I had a welder who couldn't get certified until he got his G.E.D.," Dalton said. "He could only be [illegible]."

The test is divided into five parts: two writing skills, social studies, science, literature and art, and math.

Dalton became the G.E.D. coordinator here when a previous library director vacated the post, and asked him if he was interested.

He says the rewards are many.

"I enjoy it mainly because of the people you meet," he explained. "Most of them are motivated to improve themselves and that's nice."

And your typical G.E.D. taker isn't that typical.

"We get everything from busboys to real estate brokers," Dalton claimed. "You'd be surprised who you see walk in there."

The classes are free, and the test, which is given at Bandera High School once a month, costs $45.

Registration for the classes occurs at any time on Monday and Tuesday nights from 6-8 p.m.

"Anybody can just walk in off the street," Dalton invites.

The classes roughly follow the same schedule as the public schools with the same holidays.

Call the library at 796-4213, or Dalton at 460-3556 for more information.

In a regular meeting that very night, the group voted to donate their left-over meat to the Castle Lake VFD.

"It was overwhelming," Schultz said. "It is a good ending to the story."

Besides Lakehills VFD, Schultz said that Pipe Creek Junction Cafe donated all the ice and cobbler, H.E.B. Grocery Stores donated the bread and Bill Miller Barbecue donated 25 pounds of potato salad after they heard about the stolen items.

Rains alleviate tight water situation

River Ranch Subdivision goes back to Stage II water conservation level

The Bandera River Ranch Water Company has announced the cancellation of the severe restrictions imposed by their Stage III water [illegible].

Notices mailed to customers last week returned water users in the Bandera River Ranch Subdivision to Stage II.

"We are still in a severe drought condition and the relief from recent good rains may be only temporary," said water company president Leonard Davis. "Nevertheless, we are optimistic that the ground water situation will improve."

The #2 well in the subdivision has been down [illegible] situation, Davis said.

Stage II limits outdoor water usage to hand held hoses.

Bandera River Ranch was one of several Bandera County subdivisions forced to curtail water use due to the drought.

Commissioners clarify rental waiver process

Bandera County Commissioners approved a waiver of the rental fees for two non-profit organizations using Mansfield Park at their regular meeting Wednesday, Sept. 11, but agreed that the waiver agreements need to be in writing to avoid misunderstandings.

Executive assistant Doyle Haner told commissioners that many organizations that get waivers for the rentals don't realize they are still responsible for clean-up and utility fees.

"We're rapidly going broke out there on utilities," said Haner.

The court voted to grant waivers with a written notice that specified the necessity of clean-up and payment of utility fees by the organization using the facility.

In other business, the court:

• Approved a request by Kelly Ranson for preliminary approval of Brushy Creek Unit 5 with a variance granted for the roads, which are private.

• Adopted regulations for abating litter as a public nuisance.

• Set Oct. 9 for a hearing on regulations licensing junkyards and automotive wrecking and salvage yards.

• Authorized County Judge Ray Mauer to apply for a federal grant for $4,600 under the Church Arson Prevention Grant Program.

• Heard Sheriff James MacMillan's monthly report. The sheriff had a daily average of 22 prisoners in the jail for August. MacMillan reported he is working on a contract with Kerr County for housing excess prisoners in the Kerr County jail. He has also received an official letter from the State Jail Commission regarding the overcrowded conditions in the Bandera County facility. "We will be in an emergency condition in a matter of months," said MacMillan. "We've been talking for three years and it's time to put some numbers on paper." MacMillan had budgeted $100,000 for out-of-county housing of prisoners for the next fiscal year, but commissioners cut that back to $25,000 in a budget workshop.

Cowboy fest earns a thousand plus for Junior Livestock Assoc.

The first annual All-American Cowboy Get-Together, held in Bandera on Labor Day weekend, was a tremendous success, reports organizer Rudy Robbins.

"Not only did it provide a great economic generator for the town, but it raised $1,154 for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association.

Some spectators who came from out of town said that there were no motel rooms available, and they had to book rooms in surrounding towns in order to spend the weekend.

"Several of the vendors who had booths at the get-together have called, and asked if they can reserve a booth for next year," said Robbins. The singing and yodeling Hays County Gals and Pals, who performed at the event, set an all-time record for album sales at the show.

Winners of the chuckwagon cookoff are as follows:

Best meat and best potatoes: Richard Newsom wagon, sponsored by Faris Bros. Ranch.

Best beans: Glen Dorn wagon, sponsored by Richter's Mesa View Ranch.

Best bread: Jim Collum wagon, sponsored by Bill Castle Ranch.

Best cobbler: Lon Gillespie wagon, sponsored by Running R Ranch.

Best wagon and camp: Glen Dorn wagon.

Plans are already under way for next year's Get-Together, said Robbins, with hopes of making it bigger and better.

Anyone wanting to be a part of next year's event should contact Robbins at 210-796-3269.

Budget hearing sees opposing views ....cont. from p. 1

the county's fund balance.

"This is not a consistent budget," said Mormando. "It only works because we're taking $300,000 from the fund balance.

County auditor Tommy [illegible] goes about as low as we can safely go on the fund balance.

"What concerns me is that we're at the minimum fund balance now," added Tomlinson. "When your costs go up, you'll have to increase taxes."

Commissioner Alaniz called for approval of a tax rate of .4257 to fund the budget while [illegible] the fund balance.

Commissioner Barker urged a .4343 tax rate to "avoid a big increase next year."

"We've worked hard on this budget, said Alaniz, "so done with it next year. Hopefully the legislature will give us some property tax relief."

Well, God help the new commissioners and county judge."

Commissioners went on to three meetings Wednesday, Sept. 18. At 5:30 p.m. they will vote on proposed salary increases [illegible] vote will be taken on the budget, and at 6:30 the court will vote on the proposed tax rate.

BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT BOND ISSUE INFORMATION BULLETIN #1

THE SITUATION:

- OUR ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS WILL BE AT CAPACITY IN 2 TO 4 YEARS.
- OUR MIDDLE SCHOOL IS CURRENTLY AT CAPACITY AND DOES NOT HAVE ENOUGH LAND LEFT TO ACCOMMODATE THE ADDITION OF MORE PERMANENT CLASSROOMS AND SUPPORT FACILITIES.

THE SOLUTION:

- CONSTRUCT A NEW HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUS TO ACCOMMODATE THE ANTICIPATED GROWTH THROUGH THE YEAR 2006.
- MOVE 7TH AND 8TH GRADES TO THE CURRENT HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUS WHICH WILL ACCOMMODATE GROWTH IN THESE TWO GRADE LEVELS THROUGH THE YEAR 2006.
- CONSTRUCT A NEW CAFETERIA AND EXPAND THE LIBRARY FACILITIES ON THE MIDDLE SCHOOL CAMPUS TO ACCOMMODATE GROWTH THROUGH THE YEAR 2006.
- WITH 5TH GRADE MOVED OUT OF THE ELEMENTARY SCHOOLS, NO EXPANSION NEEDS ARE ANTICIPATED ON THESE CAMPUSES PRIOR TO THE YEAR 2006.

WHAT WOULD BE POSSIBLE ALTERNATIVES IF WE FAIL TO PASS THE BOND ISSUE AND PROCEED AS OUTLINED ABOVE?

- POSSIBLE YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL
  THIS WOULD UNDOUBTEDLY CREATE SITUATIONS IN SOME FAMILIES WHERE CHILDREN IN VARIOUS GRADE LEVELS WOULD HAVE VACATIONS AT DIFFERENT TIMES. YEAR-ROUND SCHOOL WOULD REQUIRE MORE TEACHING PERSONNEL AND CREATE ADDITIONAL OPERATING EXPENSES IN THE AREAS OF UTILITIES AND TRANSPORTATION.
- ADDITION OF UP TO 40 MORE PORTABLE CLASSROOMS
  WE ARE FAST APPROACHING A PORTABLE JUNGLE, ESPECIALLY AT THE MIDDLE SCHOOL CAMPUS. COST FOR THIS TYPE OF FACILITY MUST COME FROM THE "MAINTENANCE AND OPERATING" BUDGET, THUS CREATING THE NECESSITY TO CUT IMPORTANT ACADEMIC PROGRAMS.
- SPLIT SCHOOL DAYS
  STUDENTS WOULD ATTEND SCHOOL ON HALF-DAY BASIS. AGAIN, THIS WOULD CREATE THE NEED FOR ADDITIONAL TEACHING PERSONNEL, INCREASED UTILITY COST AND ALMOST DOUBLE THE BUSING COSTS DUE TO THE NECESSITY OF MAKING DOUBLE RUNS EACH SCHOOL DAY.

IF WE TAKE THIS BAND-AID APPROACH, BY THE YEAR 2000, WE WILL BE FACED WITH NOT ONLY BUILDING A NEW HIGH SCHOOL, BUT ALSO A NEW MIDDLE SCHOOL. AND THE COST BY THAT TIME WILL BE MUCH MORE THAN THE PROPOSED $15,000,000.00

A STRONG, MODERN SCHOOL DISTRICT IS ESSENTIAL TO MAINTAINING A STRONG VIABLE AND PROFITABLE COMMUNITY. A FIRST-RATE SCHOOL SYSTEM WILL ATTRACT BOTH FAMILIES AND BUSINESSES TO OUR COMMUNITY AND ULTIMATELY CONTRIBUTE TO OUR OVERALL TAX BASE.

ENSURE THE FUTURE FOR OUR CHILDREN!
VOTE "YES" ON THE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE!

Letters to the Editor

Distance to heaven finally determined

Dear Editor:

Four weeks ago a prayer fest was held in Bandera in which God was beseeched to send much needed moisture to our drought-ridden county.

[illegible]

Aside from the obvious benefits from the rain, I see an even greater value in the event. It allows us once and for all to affix the distance to Heaven.

Physics tells us that no force in the universe can travel faster than the speed of light, approximately 186,000 miles per second. This would, of course, include prayers.

It follows then, that Heaven must only be about three lightweeks away from Bandera in some unknown direction. It obviously cannot simply be up because the Earth spins at approximately four feet per [illegible] so that up is never in the same place at any given time than it was only a second prior. But at least we can be comforted to know that it is not plumb across the universe.

Race Track High best solution

Dear Editor:

I would like to respond to Mr. Al Hamilton's statements in The Bulletin lately.

He says that the value of the racetrack is less than $3 million. The Bandera County Appraisal District has appraised the track at $6,500,000 for this year. The school's architects have placed a value of about $9,500,000 on the land and structures and at least an additional $500,000 in construction time savings from adapting the existing site.

He asked what the high school would do with the horse stalls. One or more would be converted into an Ag facility. One would be converted into a maintenance facility. One would be converted into a transportation facility. One would be converted into a warehouse facility. The rest would be auctioned off and the District has already started receiving phone calls from prospective buyers.

He also says other land is available. A real estate agent has diligently searched for 100 or more acres on Hwy. 16 or with good access to Hwy. 16 between Bandera and Pipe Creek. There are few sites that large, and no one was found who would consider selling.

Land owners are aware of the upcoming bond issue, but none have called the District to offer to sell.

Other land might be found on Hwy. 1283 or 470, but to serve all high school students in the District at one campus, it makes better sense to locate the campus close to the geographic center of the District.

I hope people will take the effort to find out the truth before they vote. If they do, they will see that the plan to build on the racetrack is the best fiscal solution to our communities' growth.

Doris Marshall
Bandera

ed. note: In response to Ms. Marshall's 4th paragraph: We called three local real estate agents and all three questioned the statement that no 100 acre or larger tracts would be available on Hwy. 16. Pipe Creek Realty owner Geri Valdez went further to say, "Who says we need 100 acres? Boerne has recently passed a bond issue for a new high school on only 50 acres." Valdez went on to say that a location off of Hwy. 16 might be safer for the children and "we need to find something that fits our budget."

Grateful to Sheriff's Department

Dear Editor:

By 9 a.m. on Saturday, Aug. 31, my wife and I had become very worried. Our [illegible] ter was driving to Pipe Creek from Dallas through extremely heavy rains and she was two hours overdue.

After numerous telephone calls to law enforcement officials with no success, we had picked up our car keys with the intention of attempting to retrace her route from Dallas. Before leaving, we placed one more call — this one to Sheriff James MacMillan's office and Della Baker answered the phone at about 2:30 a.m. Della is a real professional. Within a matter of minutes, she had faxed every law enforcement agency, both state and local, between Dallas and Pipe Creek. Within about 45 minutes, our granddaughter was located. She had become lost in the rain.

Bandera deserves to be proud of Della Baker and James MacMillan. We certainly are.

Don't miss city meeting

Dear Editor:

Next Monday, Sept. 23 at 7 p.m. the city will hold a public hearing on next year's budget and vote on it.

Please attend and let the council know that the department heads asking for 33 percent increases is ridiculous.

Another reason to attend is this [illegible] city secretary reworked the utility department's budget and didn't even tell that department about the changes.

September Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

You read about it all the time, and if you are like me, it just makes your skin crawl.

I'm talking about people, I guess they call themselves people, who rip off non-profit organizations, or volunteer organizations, or for crying out loud - [illegible]

Who are these jerks?

Last week somebody stole all the meat and beer from the Castle Lake VOLUNTEER Fire Department that they were planning to use for their first fundraiser barbecue.

Do you think these skunks enjoyed it when they got drunk and ate the meat that was supposed to raise much needed funds for this organization? Do you think that afterwards, if they thought about it at all, they thought, "Gee, what if MY house catches on fire? Are it's gonna have the equipment and training necessary to save me and my stuff?"

Well, we know that some really civic-minded people came to the rescue, and they are to be commended.

But I wish I didn't have to share my space in this world with such creeps.

[illegible] reason in El Jacalito's Mexican Restaurant on roller blades!

Last week as Ben and I ate breakfast, the sole early-morning waitress was trying to serve the customers, who were all sitting as far apart as possible, and answer the phone, too.

As she passed she said she wished she had roller blades.

Well, just so you know, Ben said he would rent you his for $2 a day.

Come out for the Homecoming game this Friday!

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

I have recently been added to the mailing list of local poet Travis H. Redman. Travis and I served on a committee many years ago to devise a 20-year plan for Bandera ISD. I didn't keep a copy of our final report. I wonder how close we came in our many predictions? I expect we underestimated the growth the school district has experienced.

And I know we didn't consider the impact of special ed programs, the Americans with Disabilities Act and other mandated programs.

Travis creates poems that are frequently amusing word studies, a quality that appeals both to my sense of humor and love of the English language.

A recent offering from the Redman computer included a selection written by Redman Jr., a teacher in Vermont.

Young Redman's selection included an explanation of a newly discovered element, "Administratium."

It seemed appropriate, during the school bond election fireworks, to throw a little humor on the flames.

According to Redman, "Administratium has no electrons or protons, but one neutron, 125 assistant neutrons, 75 vice neutrons, and 111 assistant neutrons, which give it an atomic mass of 312. These 312 particles are held together by a force that involves the continuous exchange of meson-like particles called morons."

I want to congratulate all of you out there for keeping relatively calm about the $15 million school bond issue.

There are many reasons to be both for or against the bond. Being on one side or the other does not necessarily make one a villain, anti-kids, or anti-school.

Next week, we hope to have a page full of letters to the editor regarding your views on the subject. Remember to keep your letters brief, to the point, and factual-factual-factual! Stick to the issues, not the personhalities. Don't forget to sign your letter, and include a phone number for verification.

Our deadline is Monday at 5, but we'd appreciate it if you could get your letter in earlier.

As always, we reserve the right to edit letters.

• Is there a butterfly expert among our readers who can give us an explanation about the current butterfly plague we're undergoing? They are cute little fellers, but are we looking at a devastation of web worms or something equally obnoxious next spring? Give us a call if you have answers.

Bullock proposes abolishing prison board

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN- Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock called the state prison system a "great big mess" and said the nine-member Texas Board of Criminal Justice that runs it should be abolished.

Speaking at a Rotary Club meeting last week, Bullock suggested that the governor replace the Texas Board of Criminal Justice with one person who would direct the 37,000-employee prison system and "go clean it up." The Board of Criminal Justice oversees the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, which manages the prison system.

Over the past year the department has been under investigation for questionable construction practices and bidding and purchasing procedures- most notably the $33 million VitaPro meat substitute contract approved without board action by former TDCJ executive director Andy Collins.

The present board is composed of nine Senate-confirmed citizen members, five appointed by Gov. George W. Bush and four by former Gov. Ann Richards.

Bullock said he has discussed with Bush his idea to eliminate the Texas Board of Criminal Justice. Ray Sullivan, a spokesman for the governor, said Bush thinks it's an "interesting idea worthy of exploration."

Bullock, who presides over the Senate, said he has the support of the chairman of Senate Criminal Justice Committee, Sen. John Whitmire, D-Houston.Whitmire said the necessary legislation is being drafted at Bullock's request, and will be considered when the Legislature convenes in January.

Regarding Bullock's proposal, Board of Criminal Justice chairman Allan Polunsky of San Antonio told the Houston Chronicle, "I have no position on it. That's the prerogative of the state Legislature."

Undisciplined Nursing Homes

Also, last week, Bush and Bullock fumed over reports that another state board- the Texas Board of Nursing Facility Administrators, which licenses and regulates nursing home administrators- has not disciplined anyone in three years, despite hundreds of complaints.

Reacting to a multipage report on nursing home care published by the Austin American-Statesman, Bullock told the newspaper he is offended by the board's inaction and added, "We have to get to the bottom of this and find out what we have to do to correct it."

During a two month investigation, the American-Statesman found that since 1993, the board failed to discipline any of the state's 2,700 nursing home administrators though it received more than 500 complaints about serious problems at facilities. Nearly 100,000 people live in Texas' 1,200 nursing homes.

Bush spokeswoman, Karen Hughes, said, "Gov. Bush is going to continue to look at this issue, and he believes things have to change."

Lack of enforcement by the board can't be attributed to a lack of funding. In a subsequent story, the American-Statesman reported that the board has a budget surplus it is trying to eliminate.

Pleasant Surprise: More Money

The State of Texas ended its fiscal year Aug. 31 with a nearly $2.3 billion surplus- about $1.4 billion more than expected, the San Antonio Express News reported.

In a copyrighted story, the Express-News said the surplus came from a buoyant economy that helped increase revenues, coupled with the fact that some state agencies spent less money ($484 million) than they were budgeted.

Andy Welch, a spokesman for state Comptroller John Sharp, said most of the surplus - $573 million- came from increased sales taxes, franchise taxes, lottery proceeds, motor vehicle taxes, interest on state deposits and other revenue increases.

Also, the Express-News reported, there was $336 million more in other accounts that include fees and federal money.

"It's certainly a good problem to have," said state Sen. Bill Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, the new chairman of the Senate Finance Committee.

Whether the money is saved or spent is a question to be answered when the Legislature is going to do with the surplus. "But," he said, "I would at least advise caution because we don't know what federal changes in welfare are going to do with the state budget."

Basic Bandera

The burning questions facing the Texas hill country in regard to exploding population growth, degradation of quality life, land, and water quantity and quality were topics of a day-long gathering of interested citizens way back last June at Selah, on the David Bamberger Ranch near Blanco and Johnson City. When we had to miss it, we wrote to Mr. Bamberger to express regrets and to thank him for his beautiful example of stewardship in the way he has brought his ranch from a brush-covered, overgrazed place to the verdant paradise it is now seen to be.

In the tub of mail awaiting our return from summer journeys was a good letter from Mr. Bamberger which is worth quoting and remembering.

"...The cedar question, population, and land use are all tied together. The current drouth may give these issues some attention, but I am not an optimist when it comes to society's resolve to work out solutions.

"I've cleared over 3000 acres of cedar from this place, and you're sure right about what happens. We figured 38 little fellows came up for every one we took out. Fire is not an option at first, because you still don't have enough fuel.

" If you want everything green taken out after clearing, goats are very good, and I have utilized them. But the hand cutting with shears is the only [method of permanent cedar eradication] I've found that suits me. I do have some interesting data and pictures on this work here. It take a real commitment to stay with a program or, as you say, it (cedar) will all be back.

"Grass on the ground is the single best conservation tool we have and we now get all of our water from springs that were non-existent when the place was all clear. Say what you want and some folks don't like to hear it, but poor land management practices of the past brought on the problem.

"I'd like to see a CCC-like program initiated to clear most of the cedar out. The old timers don't have the capital or the energy to get it done.

"Don't you think that cedar heart is determined by age and rainfall? The real good heart staves are sticking out—dead—as lower limbs on the old trees. I've never seen any heartwood on younger, bushy trees, 35 years old and under." (Well we found it on mere seedlings.)

But thank you Mr. Bamberger. Your views agree with those of so many people who write or call this writer, especially those of Paul Flowers, keen observer of the scene up at Medina.

Meanwhile, the summer heat has kept The Geologist from his weekly forays with the hand clippers to slay juniper seedlings coming up where we have previously cleared several times. He spent his energies recently tamping rampant fuchsia and bramble threatening to devour our little square of house-yard in County Cork. We worked in jackets and wool caps there. But come fall (please come, Fall!) in Bandera County, and them lil cedars better watch out!

What do you think of David Bamberger's suggestion that such a program as the old CCC be instituted to work on clearing cedar? It wouldn't have to come from the feds. Local able bodied probationers could put in their community service hours chopping cedar. Or getting rid of the [illegible] skeletons of oak trees done by the blight.

Dear Editor:

Evidently, you did not review the proposed school budget for next year, when you wrote of "Deep cuts in almost every department". I have read the budget and in fact find NO DEEP CUTS, NO SMALL CUTS, BUT SEVERAL PROPOSED INCREASES.

If you own an average $50,000 home, as printed in the proposed tax increase, it will only take about 1500 of us so called average home owners just to pay for the pay raises proposed for our elected officials.

A FOURTH OPEN LETTER TO THE TAXPAYERS IN THE BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT

If you haven's already decided to vote NO on the school bond issue on September 28, 1996...then I believe you will after you consider and examine the math used by our school officials.

Why is it that the public institution charged with teaching young people the basics of math seem to know so little about the subject?

For instance, depending upon their objectives, 10 + 10 can be 25 or 15, but not 20! Are you following? If not, let's examine some specifics:

1. The new Alkek Elementary School was originally built to school 800 children in Kindergarten through 5th grade. Now, according to our Superintendent, it can only handle 600 students. 800=600.

2. The new Hill Country Elementary School with the addition of another wing can accommodate 700 small ones. But its capacity is rated at 500. 700=500.

3. The present enrollment in Bandera High School (grades 9-12) is approximately 600. Yet, the new high school "core facilities" (library, cafeteria, auditorium, band hall, gymnasium and office space) would be designed for 1500 students. 1500=600..

4. The State of Texas mandates not more than 22 students to a class. Our school system has 164 teachers or one teacher for every 12 students. 22=12.

5. The bond issue will cost you, the taxpayer, only $15,000,000. Yet, a 30 year bond at 6% interest payable in equal annual installments would cost about $29,000,000 with interest added. $15 million = $29 Million.

6. A 100 acre land site for a new high school could easily accommodate 1500 students. The school wants a 135 acre race track. Maybe they want the extra 35 acres for teaching ranching, which isn't such a bad idea, considering! 100=135.

7. There are currently about 186 students per grade in Middle School and about 150 students per grade in High School. You are told that High School is to grow at a greater rate than Middle School. 186=150.

8. Middle School enrollment increased this year by about 38 students (512 to 550). In order to accommodate this huge increase, eight temporary classrooms were added. If you have 22 students per class as mandated by the State, it appears 22 X 8 = 176 students. Get the idea? 38=176.

I could go on and on, but I think you get the picture.

The same people who have given us this math are the ones asking you to vote on a bond issue eventually costing almost $30,000,000, principal and interest.

Let's rework their math so that 10 + 10 = 20 as we were taught!

Vote NO on the school bond issue and vote FOR sanity in Math!

Respectfully yours,
Al Hamilton, Rancher

Don't forget the blood drive at the Lodge on Sept. 24. This is a good way to help those in need, only takes a few minutes and you get refreshments afterwards. Additionally the Blood Bank will send you a card telling you what your cholesterol is.

• The elevator in the Masonic Lodge is now a reality. After many years of being studied, discussed, priced and put off, it is now in place and operational. The Lodge wishes to thank all members of the community that supported the yard sale and Fourth of July barbecue, these were the primary fund raisers. Of course without the efforts of Winston Skiven, Lindon Kelley, Doug Watkins and the supervising of Sam Quaid, the elevator might still be in the planning [illegible] and watch the column for the date of the Grand Raising and Lowering.

• Ralph Chancy informed me that he will be going in the hospital this week to have the rods removed from his back.

• The First Baptist Church will have a covered dish lunch after morning services on the last Sunday of the month. Also they have a revival scheduled Sept. 22-25.

• The Medina Garden Club reconvened this past week after a summer holiday and are looking forward to some interesting speakers and activities over the next eight months. New members or visitors are always welcome.

Actually, they made a weekend of it, went to San Antonio, stayed overnight in a motel, visited the Wax Museum, Ripley's Believe it or Not, rode a trolley to Market Square, tried to talk to a mime, ate an expensive hamburger at Planet Hollywood, went to the Hall of Horns, the Childrens Museum and the FX Theater. They had a great time and can hardly wait for their next "Kids" day.

Annual hunter's supper should be bigger and better

The 33rd Annual Hunter's Barbecue will kick off Friday, Nov. 1 at Mansfield Park, announced chairman Russell Hevenor this week. He anticipates the event will be bigger and better than ever before.

"The newly cemented floor and expansion of the Show Barn should make this one of the best Hunter's Barbecues ever," said Hevenor.

The event will feature the traditional supper for hunters and guests, a big prize raffle, auction, product booths and music by Linda Allen and the Roadrunners.

Now this year will be a large trout tank with 500 Missouri trout ready to be caught. A small fee will entitle the fisherman to 10-15 minutes of angling. Any trout caught can be taken home to eat.

A popular crowd pleaser, the "Hunter's Camp," sponsored by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, will return this year, along with the TP&WD Hall of Shame and videos of not-so-legal hunters being caught by the good guys.

"It's amazing how this thing is coming together," said Hevenor. "There are so many volunteers working so hard. They are just wonderful. I can't say enough about them."

More volunteers are always needed for the event. If you want to earn a T-shirt by participating, call volunteer coordinator Linda Marks at the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce at 796-3045.

If you would like exhibit space, contact exhibit space chairman Judy Hawkins at 460-8488.

Studstill teaching HCAF quilt class

The Hill Country Arts Foundation is pleased to have an outstanding instructor scheduled to teach art classes during the month of October. Pamela Studstill of Pipe Creek will teach a class titled Pieced Quilt Design. Studstill holds a BFA from the University of Texas. Her work is in public, private and corporate collections including the American Museum in New York City.

As with all of the instructors, the HCAF has retained artists that bring to their classes outstanding credentials, experience and enthusiasm. Additionally, classes are limited in size to maximize individual guidance and strengthen the learning experience.

An Introduction to Pieced Quilt Designs with Pam Studstill will be offered October 15-18. This workshop is for quiltmakers who are ready for the adventure of designing original pieced quilts for the bed or wall. Participants will experience the design process form inspiration to completion. Included will be an introduction to basic design principles, ideas for generating patterns, drawing patterns to scale, making templates and deciding on colors. Tuition is $150.

For additional information on these classes and other upcoming art workshops, call the Hill Country Arts Foundation at 210-367-5120.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

It is said that criticism is the one thing most of us think is more blessed to give than to receive! How true this is! Yet none of us are perfect. So why do we expect and demand perfections from other people? Too many times we are too quick to criticize both our peers and those who are in authority over us. Too many times we find it easy to say what was wrong - or should have been done.

Criticisms do occur and often times happen in silly ways about silly things. . .For example, did you ever write a letter and be told it was too long or too short? Did you ever attend a committee meeting and speak out - only to be told you were "butting in?" When you don't go to a meeting, have you ever been to accused of being disinterested? Have you ever been accused of being incompetent because you asked for advise? Have you ever expressed an opinion - only to be told you're trying to run things? And if you remain quiet be told you lack interest. .

Chances are one or more of these things have happened to you, if so, cheer up! Think nothing of it. It happens to everybody with more frequency than you think.

IT'S AS EASY AS A-B-C

(A) WHO ARE WE?

ABC is the Alliance of Bandera Citizens.
Secretary: Bobby Jones
Treasurer: Steve Muller

(B) ARE WE AGAINST KIDS?

ABC is FOR kids, ages 0 to 90. We don't want our children to pay for these bonds for 30 years!

(C) WHY ARE WE OPPOSED TO THESE BONDS?

Spending $3,000,000 for 135 acres of a defunct race track makes no economic sense. This price is $22,300 per acre! This may produce the best "covered" 3A football stadium within 500 miles - BUT - the cost is far too HIGH. NONE of these funds will pay for classrooms, books, or teacher salaries. Bandera gets covered football stands; a sewer system that may not be adequate; and 2 water wells!! This is NOT worth $22,000 per acre. If you missed last weeks edition we hope you will read our letter to the editor.

Race track purchase not a good deal

Dear Editor:

This Bandera voter is concerned about the proposed BISD race track purchase. Editor, I am FOR: our young generation, education and learning, schools, doing the responsible thing.

But, I am against the race track purchase, precisely because it is not the responsible thing to do.

Does it make economic sense to purchase a defunct race track for $3 million with plans to use only some of the improvements? No! No!

1. BISD is paying more than $22,000 per acre! (That's 22 thousand, not 22 hundred!)

2. BISD's price is more than four times greater than the highest bid at the recent auction of the track!

3. We are told that this is the last large flat, highway accessible tract available - although a different large, flat tract is immediately available on Hwy 1283 for less than $4,000 per acre!

There are other reasons that this purchase is only a "good deal" for the current owner, the architect, and the bond salesmen.

This is not a "Good deal" for local taxpayers or current students (future taxpayers) who will be paying off this debt.

Vote no bonds!

Ramirez warns of mail fraud

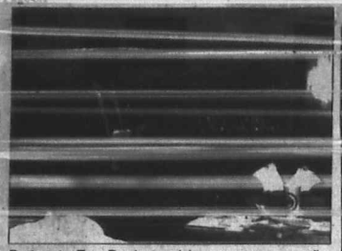
Bandera Postmaster Tony Ramirez pointed out some mail fraud schemes to a meeting of the Bandera County TRIAD this week.

"Mail fraud is a scheme to get money from you by offering a product, service or opportunity that does not live up to its claims," said Ramirez.

Senior citizens are especially vulnerable to mail fraud.

Among the top mail fraud schemes are medical fraud, work at home schemes, land frauds, premium prize advertising and travel/vacation fraud.

Ramirez reminded the audience that there are no overnight medical cures or treatments which are effortless and painless.



He advised people to check up on charities. "Your donation may go to the fund-raiser's administrative costs," he said. Many charity frauds have names very similar to genuine organizations.

Prize notifications often do not tell you how much it will cost you to get the prize. Travel and vacation frauds also include hidden costs that can be very expensive.

Fund raising chain letters usually earn money for the first investor in the chain. Everyone else loses money.

Credit fraud is another mail fraud scheme. "For a fee a company claims it can repair your credit or help you get a credit card," said Ramirez. "They will send you information on how to go about it rather than fix your problems. Or they will simply keep your money."

If you have been a victim of mail fraud, get help from the Texas Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division, P.O. Box 12548, Austin, TX 78711-2548 or the Direct Marketing Assoc., 1101 17th NW Ste. 705, Washington D.C., 20036.

Postmaster Tony Ramirez explains some common mail fraud schemes to the Bandera County TRIAD. The TRIAD is a joint effort of law enforcement and senior citizens to protect and educate seniors.

BISD board adopts internet use policy

Agrees to go after $300K telecommunications grant

The Bandera ISD moved onto the information highway with the adoption of policy pertaining to electronic communication and data management.

The adoption of the policy was a necessity brought about by the possibility of internet access for students in the district provided by a grant sought by Instructional Technology Director Shirley Nedry.

Nedry got the approval of the board at its regular meeting Sept. 10 to pursue a $300,000 grant from the state's Telecommunications Infrastructure Fund. The grant, if approved would provide access to the internet for the Middle School and the High School.

"Grant funds may be used for equipment, including computers, printers, video equipment, software, training program development, and installation costs," said Nedry.

Nedry told the board that the state may accept or reject the grant bid for either school or may partially fund any part of the proposal.

In anticipation of internet access by students in the district, the board adopted the new school policy which would limit and monitor use of the net by students.

Citizen activist George Hamilton asked several questions of the board concerning the bond election. Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer told Hamilton that bonds are selling for around 5 percent right now and it would be a 30-year issue, in answer to Hamilton's query about the total cost of the bond.

When Hamilton questioned the quality of the septic system at the race track, Pfeiffer replied, "Our engineers have looked at it. We will need to spend some money on it. That is included in the bond."

Pfeiffer assured Hamilton that current plans do not include the building of an all-weather track at the new high school.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

It was a rip-snortin', foot-stompin' good ol' fund raiser for the Silver sage Corral last Thursday night. The Cabaret donated their dance floor and Linda Allen and the Roadrunners donated their great music, which filled the night with fun.

I've never seen an "older" crowd having more fun than they did that night, and the floor crowded up every time the band struck up! All the donations of quilts and homemade goodies were auctioned off at terrific prices, and everyone had a jolly time.

On Saturday, there was a wedding to beat all weddings. It was a magnificent production. Sid and Joy Mazurek were joined in holy matrimony, and I've never seen two people happier.

When they arrived at the entrance to the reception, which was held at The Farm, in a surrey with the fringe on top, Lohengrin's Wedding March boomed out from the pavilion, everyone jumped up from their seats and started clapping and cheering and the bride and groom just beamed. And the smiles never left their faces for the whole party.

The Farm catered a delicious barbecue and they figured out the serving lines so that about 400 guests were served in about 10 minutes! Fantastic!

The bride's cakes filled a table and they were decorated with white orchids and baby's breath. The groom's cakes were decorated with a model of a pickup truck and loads of huge red strawberries dipped in white chocolate. Yum, yum.

The had the old fashioned grand march and everyone joined in weaving in and out and having a grand time. It was a fairytale love story set off by a wonderful wedding.

Then the First State Bank became Norwest Bank on Friday and what a Bandera blast it was. Kelly Scott had his famous matched pair of palomino mules pulling his surrey, along with other assorted wagons and carriages. Bales of hay sat out in the parking lot for guest seating. The lobby was filled with balloons, cake and lemonade, and happy people talk, talk, talking! Outside, the El Jacalito folks were serving savory fajitas and the Hill Toppers played and played.

All the Norwest employees had on bandannas and the ribbon cutting was a rope cutting, naturally. Sully Woodland presented checks to four different non-profit organizations in town to show Norwest's commitment to the community.

It was truly another showing of Bandera at it's best!

The EMS out at Pipa Creek is going to have their annual barn sale Oct. 5 and they're looking for donations. Year before last, I bought a little, tiny Dutch oven there and have had a great time showing it off at Dutch oven competitions. It looked great next to those other huge black pots.

Arkie Blue of Silver Dollar fame recorded a new CD about three months ago called "Texas Dance Hall Music." Willie Nelson sings "Two Timin', Two Steppin' Cowboy" on it and Kathi Timm sings all through it.

The CD was recorded at Nelson's studio in Austin and is #1 in Sweden, Italy and England. It's selling like hot cakes all over Europe. I'd call that Bandera Boy Makes Good World-Wide!

BISD rated "acceptable" on TAAS scores

All BISD campuses have received "acceptable" ratings from the Texas Education Agency, announced Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer this week.

The District as a whole is accredited as "academically accept-

The accreditation ratings are based on TAAS results, attendance, dropout rates, graduation on college entrance exams.

Bandera High School received additional acknowledgment of "recognized" due to the high percentage of seniors who took and scored well on the college entrance exams.

Pfeiffer said two indicators kept the district from being accredited "recognized": 1) Only 54 percent of all tested Hispanic students and 68.1 percent of all tested economically disadvantaged students in the district passed the math portion of the TAAS tests; 2) Hispanic and economically disadvantaged students did not meet the criteria for required improvement in reading and writing.

"The district is working this year to improve in both of these categories," said Pfeiffer.

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

We're all walking on clouds after the big Benefit Dance and Auction last Thursday at the Cabaret. The attendance was overwhelming and the auction, thanks to auctioneer Murry LeStourgeon, went extremely well. The Eugene Turners purchased the top selling quilt. Roger and M.J. Raser purchased the top selling cake. The Cabaret and Linda Allen and the Roadrunners were probably our biggest drawing cards.

It is always amazing to observe how the citizens of this community respond to a needy cause. There were so many nice donations from local merchants and individuals which contributed to the success of the event that we are thanking them in a separate article. Part of the proceeds will be used to purchase new kitchen appliances (some of the current ones came over on the Ark).

Last Friday we had a pleasant surprise waiting for us at Norwest Bank's (First State) open house. It seems that the Silver Sage was one of four local non-profit organizations chosen to receive a nice donation from the bank. The unveiling of the new Norwest sign was very impressive, the music was great, and the fajitas cooked by El Jacalito's were scrumptious. This show of community involvement was wonderful and we wish the bank and its employees the best of luck under the new regime.

Again, a big thank you to all those individuals who purchased tickets to our dance, many of whom were not able to attend but donated nonetheless. Only through the support of our community are we able to continue our many services - Meals on Wheels, transportation to doctor's offices, grocery stores, post office, and to the Center for all of our many activities.

Remember, when you support our programs, you may be paving the road to your own happy future. Last but not least, thank you to the faithful chair people who organized the dance: Mary Carpenter, Jacky Buck and Sherman Vangsnes.

Local Dutch oven cookoff adopts one-rule standard

This year's Texas Championship Dutch Oven Cookoff in Medina will be a no-limits terrain event aimed to please cooks and attendees alike.

"Cooks will be able to sell their cooking at our event and win prizes, too," said coordinator Peggy Rather.

This year's event will be held at the Apple Festival Grounds in downtown Medina on Saturday, Oct. 26 beginning at 9 a.m.

The event this year will be a one-rule contest. "One rule means just that," said Rather. "Cooking must be done in a Dutch oven." Other than that rule, cooks can cook what they want, when they want, with no entry fees, no field judges, no competition.

Visitors to the event can purchase 50 cent tickets to exchange for food. Then they can vote for their favorites. The team with the most votes at the end of the day wins the People's Choice Awards.

Prizes will be awarded in two categories: (1) Main dish or Breads and (2) Desserts.

Anyone interested in participating in the cookoff should contact Rather at 210-589-7224.

"No holds barred," said Rather, "this has got to be fun!"

Birthday festivities at Noah's Ark

Alec, Korbi and TK helped Clara Keen (seated at the end of the table) celebrate her second birthday recently at Noah's Ark Child Care Center. A large group of friends enjoyed cake and entertainment by Two Ties the Clown.

4-H club enrollment taking place now

The Bandera County 4-H program has geared up for the 1996-97 4-H Year. This program of the 4-H youth development is a dynamic tool that allows kids 9 years of age old (or 3rd grade), through 18 years old to "learning by doing."

Projects range from Poultry to Public Speaking; Foods & Nutrition to Field & Stream; and Horse Horticulture. The list of active 4-H projects in Bandera County is long and varied with qualified leaders willing to help in each field. 4-H members participate in both monthly club meetings and project meetings tailored to their interests. Silver Sage Corral

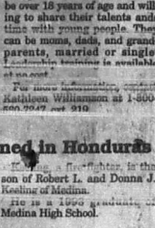
Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

We're all walking on clouds after the big Benefit Dance and Auction last Thursday at the Cabaret. The attendance was overwhelming and the auction, thanks to auctioneer Murry LeStourgeon, went extremely well. The Eugene Turners purchased the top selling quilt. Roger and M.J. Raser purchased the top selling cake. The Cabaret and Linda Allen and the Roadrunners were probably our biggest drawing cards.

It is always amazing to observe how the citizens of this community respond to a needy cause. There were so many nice donations from local merchants and individuals which contributed to the success of the event that we are thanking them in a separate article. Part of the proceeds will be used to purchase new kitchen appliances (some of the current ones came over on the Ark).



Last Friday we had a pleasant surprise waiting for us at Norwest Bank's (First State) open house. It seems that the Silver Sage was one of four local non-profit organizations chosen to receive a nice donation from the bank. The unveiling of the new Norwest digs was very impressive, the music was great, and the fajitas cooked by El Jacalito's were scrumptious. This show of community involvement was wonderful and we wish the bank and its employees the best of luck under the new regime.

Again, a big thank you to all those individuals who purchased tickets to our dance, many of whom were not able to attend but donated nonetheless. Only through the support of our community are we able to continue our many services - Meals on Wheels, transportation to doctor's offices, grocery stores, post office, and to the Center for all of our many activities.

Remember, when you support our programs, you may be paving the road to your own happy future. Last but not least, thank you to the faithful chair people who organized the dance: Mary Carpenter, Jacky Buck and Sherman Vangunes.

Local Dutch oven cookoff adopts one-rule standard

This year's Texas Championship Dutch Oven Cookoff in Medina will be a no-holds barred event sure to please cooks and attendees alike.

"Cooks will be able to sell their cooking at our event and win prizes, too," said coordinator Peggy Rather.

This year's event will be held at the Apple Festival Grounds in downtown Medina on Saturday, Oct. 26 beginning at 9 a.m.

The event this year will be a one-rule contest. "One rule means just that," said Rather. "Cooking must be done in a Dutch oven." Other than that rule, cooks can cook what they want, when they want, with no entry fees, no field judges, no samples.

Visitors to the event can purchase 50 cent tickets to exchange for food. Then they can vote for their favorites. The team with the most votes at the end of the day wins the People's Choice Award.

Prizes will be awarded in two categories: 1) Main dish or Breads and 2) Desserts.

Anyone interested in participating in the cookoff should contact Rather at 210-589-7224.

"No holds barred," said Rather, "this has got to be fun!"

Calling all volunteers

Cajun fest counts on lots of willing hands for the success Sept. 28 fundraiser

The Medina Lake Betterment Association is asking for volunteers to help clean up the [illegible] during Cajun Festival and after the Medina Lake Cajun Festival scheduled for Saturday, Sept. 28.

The grounds, building and pavilion need a good once over, Sept. 21. The work begins at 8 a.m. Grounds clean up and installation of temporary fencing to the main item on the agenda. [illegible] also setting up of tables, chairs, and putting out garbage cans. Call C.L. Mendenhall at 612-8071 to see how you can help. (Or just show up.)

The main workday is Friday, Sept. 27, beginning at 9 a.m. and will probably go on most of the day. Food preparation is the main item on the agenda. According to Barbara Engel, this is the day volunteers prepare the bread pudding, skewer shrimp and sausage, and get the fajitas ready to marinate. Booths need to be decorated as well as other jobs. Carol Beasley is coordinating volunteers to help decorate booths and the pavilion (612-3645).

After the work is over, there's a chance for workers to kick back and relax a little before the big event. A covered dish social begins at 6:30 p.m. at the Civic Center. This is also an opportunity to meet the out-of-town guests, many of whom travel from Louisiana.

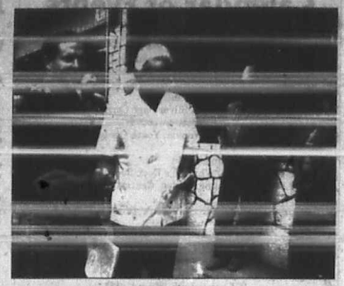
"Bring your family and please bring a bit of extra food to feed our guests and any workers who won't have a chance to prepare a dish," said Engel. Drinks and keg beer will be provided by the MLBA. Zydeco dancers from Louisiana are expected to be special guests.

The festival is Saturday, Sept. 28 from noon to 10 p.m. and the MLBA could always use more volunteers. Call Susan Edwards at 751-3603 or Leslie Skelly at 510-4877 to volunteer for food and entry booths. Sam Granberry is in charge of beer. Call him at 612-2818 to see if he needs more volunteers.

Volunteers need to be sure they contact a committee chair so they can be registered so there will be a pass at the front gate for them. Jean Cross is in charge of the volunteer booth and she could use some help there. Call her at 612-2577.

Volunteer parking for the day of the festival is at the Lakehills American Legion Post. They will have a shuttle running all day and night to get you back and forth to your vehicle.

Once everything is over, there's more cleanup to do. Beginning at 9 a.m. Sunday, Sept. 29, volunteers are needed to put up tables and chairs, clean equipment, and in general, clean up whatever mess didn't get cleaned up the night before. This is where the MLBA could really use some help because many of the workers from the night before. Even a hour or two before or after church will help in a big way.



And finally, there's one last party. The Cajun Festival Dinner and Dance. The date is Saturday, Nov. 23, (which is a change from the originally scheduled Nov. 16.) The MLBA has booked Ray White and his Swingin' Country Band for the dance. Bring a covered side dish/dessert (the MLBA will provide a meat dish) for a ham and potluck dinner that begins at 7 p.m. and the dance starts at 8 p.m. at the civic center.

Give the precious "gift of life" at the Medina Texas Development Corporation blood drive on Tuesday, Sept. 24 from 4 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. in the South Texas Blood Center vehicle in the Garden Club Center parking lot.

Anyone between 17 to 72 years of age, who weighs at least 110 pounds and is in good general health is encouraged to give.

Bank on it...

Sam Braswell, manager of the Lakehills branch of Norwest Bank, presents a donation of [illegible] for $1,000 for the Lakehills Civic Center. "Norwest Bank is dedicated to support the community," said bank directors Roger Stevens and Margaret Evans. Norwest Bank served up an all-you-can-eat cowboy breakfast at the official rope-cutting celebrating the change from State Bank to Norwest. The celebration was held Friday, Sept. 13.

Hi Y'all! Boy, what a thunderstorm! At straight over 4 a.m. Sunday morning this terrific display of lightning and rain came through with a bang. We gauged about 2 inches out of it. Kay says we had some hail but we couldn't tell you, having fallen [illegible] to the sound of rain on a tin roof!

Well, it being September we had the election for officers at the Medina Lake VFD Sept. 10. Ronnie Smith, Gary Cook, and Ray Heisler are back in for offices of President, Vice President, and Secretary. Gus Limon is the new Treasurer replacing retiring Joseph Correa. Ben Hicks takes over as Sergeant at Arms, yours truly as Fire Chief replacing retiring Ralph Dresser. The Board of Directors consists of Jack Thornton, Ralph Dresser, Mike Stroud, and Mark Burke. We ask your support of these new officers as we strive to take care of our community's fire safety and general well being.

We would like to put in a good word toward Ralph Dresser and Joseph Correa. Ralph has put in many long years starting as president and finishing as chief for the past eight years. Now he is going to try to slow down on his volunteer jobs having had as many as 13 such at one time. Maybe Dolly can get some of those Honey Do's out of the Job Jar!

Joseph Correa has been our Treasurer for longer than we can remember and has to slow down a little and help Mary Alice take care of things around the house. To both we say, well done, guys!

We had a call from the Ragin' Cajun about our paper misspelling Waylon Thibodeaux's name with a name like that we imagine Waylon is glad they can pronounce it much less spell it right! Anyway the MLBA Great Cajun festival is coming up soon. Sept. 28 is not so far down the line. They still need help in all aspects so if you can help call Barbara at 751-2727.

The MLVFD will be handling parking and traffic control so if you would like to help there give us a call.

We have been corresponding with Don Asherafi, formerly of Lakehills. Don and wife are working with a Christian group called "Friend Ship." They are currently endeavoring to help the people of the island of Roatan of Honduras to build a town. Don has asked the MLVFD for help in planning and setting up a fire department on this island. This sounds like an interesting project and we hope to get the whole department involved in helping from this end. They have had an old fire truck donated and we are waiting to find out the specifics so we can help get it outfitted. We will keep you posted on that project.

The old clock on the wall keeps flying around so we better go try to earn a living. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

Bulldogs get stung by Yellowjackets 28-0

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Bandera Bulldogs lost their second game of the season to the Llano Yellowjackets Friday night 0-28, with Llano making all their touchdowns in the first half.

In the first quarter, Llano's Comerford went in on a 12-yard run, with the extra point being no good. Another run for 4-yards with 1:09 left on the clock gave the Yellowjackets their second score, with the 2-point conversion good.

In the second quarter, a 43-yard run from Llano's Bauman gave the home team their third touchdown, with the kick no good. The fourth touchdown, with :51 left on the clock was a combination of passing and running by the Yellowjackets.

Bandera was outrushed and outpassed in the game, with Llano rushing for 271 yards to Bandera's 190 yards. The Yellowjackets attempted nine passes, and completed three for a total of 44 yards. The Bulldogs attempted eight passes, completed none and threw one interception.

Bandera Coach Mike Williamson said that once again it was the little things that did the Bulldogs in.

"We were given a leason in football by a good Llano team," Williamson said. "We did not do the things we should have in certain situations and this will always come back to hurt you when you play quality football teams."

Individually, Williamson said that Jay Pease, Tim Gard and Jason Garcia played well Friday night.

Garcia rushed nine times for 51 yards, Chris Davis rushed 12 times for 49 yards, Pat Masurek rushed eight times for 42 yards, and Robert Wagner rushed four times for 40 yards.

Friday night, the Bulldogs will meet up with the Wimberley Texans at Bulldog Stadium in their homecoming game.

"We will have to play a mental as well as a physical game against Wimberley," Assistant Coach Efisio Aguero said. "They are a pretty good-size team. We are looking forward to a successful week."

JV 'Dogs exterminate Yellowjackets 24-7

Junios varsity Bulldog #29 David Cantu had a great night against the Llano Yellowjackets, carrying the ball 20 times for 96 yards and giving the 'Dogs their first touchdown for the night.

Young 'Dogs are undefeated

The Bandera JV Bulldogs brought their season record to 2-0 with a 24-7 win against the Llano Yellowjackets on Thursday, Sept. 12.

Bandera took the opening kickoff and marched 75 yards for the first score of the game. The drive was highlighted by a 35-yard pass from Brent Morris to Cliff Despres. David Cantu provided the touchdown on a five-yard run. Bryce Davis kicked the point after the give the Bulldogs a 7-0 lead.

Llano scored their only touchdown of the game on their first possession. The Yellowjackets drove the length of the field to [illegible] and added the extra point to tie the score 7-7.

The Bulldogs came back and kicked a field goal on their next possession. Davis connected from 25 yards out to give Bandera a 10-7 lead early in the second quarter.

Following an injury to quarterback Morris, Davis entered the game and provided Bandera with their last tow scores.

In the third quarter, he connected with split end Despres for a five-yard touchdown pass, and in the fourth, Davis hooked up with wing back Robert Herold on a 26-yard touchdown pass.

"The Bulldog defense put forth a great effort holding Llano to only one first-quarter score," Coach Steve Kidd said.

Kidd cited defensive players Joey Leal, Evan Dews, James Cammack, Lee Turner and Cliff Despres.

The team rushed 35 times for 195 yards and completed seven out of 12 passes for 130 yards.

7th-grade girls undefeated

The 7th-grade A & B volleyball girls rolled past Lytle Monday night to continue their unblemished 4-0 record.

In the A team game, the Lady 'Dogs beat Lytle in two straight games 15-5 and 15-11.

Kacee Dexter pulled out 17 super serves, an unbelievable save and finished out the game with a wonderful spike.

The B team was just as exciting, and finished off Lytle 15-2 and 15-5.

Lorie Solis served for 13 points, while Jennifer Jennings and Audrey Nowell both served 5.

"The whole team worked as a unit to dominate Lytle," Coach Mary Phillips said.

The 7A volleyball girls took another win last Monday night when they beat Notre Dame in two straight games 15-5 and 15-12.

Kacee Dexter, Heather Cromwell, Shelby Stehling and Kristi Mace were leading servers, while Vanessa Ramirez, Monica Schmidtke and Lis Hernandes had some terrific sets and spikes off of great passes from Rachel Wyman and Jessica Johnson.

"Medina's second place finish was a result of great teamwork throughout the day," Lumpkins said. "Tiffany Huizar and Crystal Lange were selected to the All-Tournament Team."

Lady 'Dogs move into district play after wins

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Lady Bulldogs will approach district play this week with wins against Pearsall and Pleasanton in a dual match on Sept. 10 under their belts.

The Lady 'Dogs came up against Pleasanton and took the match in two games, 15-12 and 15-11.

April Koehler was cited for two digs, Shandra Zickler had seven blocks, Kelli Knutson had four kills and Ashley Godfrey had six assists.

The girls served at 87 percent.

"We played sluggishly at first, missing too many serves," Coach Darcy Rogers said. "That set the tone early and we didn't pay to our potential."

Rogers said that although the girls won both matches, the team did not dominate the way they should have.

In the game against Pearsall the Lady Bulldogs took the match in three games 14-16, 15-5 and 15-12.

Heidi Higks and Ashley Godfrey each had one ace, Tracy Edwards came away with six digs, April Koehler had six blocks, Carisa Machetta had four kills and Michelle Dexter had five assists.

The girls served at 87 percent.

"We showed a lot of team unity and depth during the competition when Mary Domine went out with a sprained ankle," Rogers said. Several players had to change their positions to accommodate the loss of Mary. They really showed strong character as a team."

Rogers said Domine should be ready for opening district play.

Over the weekend the girls competed in the Cornerstone Tournament, where they beat Baptist of Houston in the first round 15-5, 7-15 and 15-4.

In the quarterfinals, the Lady 'Dogs dropped to St. Agnes of Houston, a three-time state champion in the TAPPS division, in a close three-game match.

April Koehler and Heidi Hicks made All-Tournament.

"I was proud of how we came together as a team," Rogers said.

POWER POINTS OFFICIAL RULES

1. Object of the game is to amass as many of the 136 possible points as you can. Simply review the week's schedule of games, listed on entry form, and decide which game you are surest of picking a winner in. Write the name of your projected winner on the 16-point line. If that team wins its game that week, you win 16 points. Write the name of your second surest winner on the 15-point line, and so on down to the 1-point line, which gives you figure to be a toss-up. Next, tie in Tiebreaker 1, the total points scored by both teams in the week's Cowboys or Oilers game. If this step fails to produce a winner, the judges will apply Tiebreaker 2, total offensive yardage from scrimmage in this game. If a winner still doesn't emerge, a drawing will be held among those contestants still tied. Decisions of the judges are final. The weekly winner of the contest will receive $1,000.
2. Any entry form that does not contain a legible name, address, etc., will be disqualified.
3. Entries that fail to forecast a winner from each and every game will be disqualified, as will entries that fail to distinguish between the Jets and Giants of New York and Pitt and Pittsburgh.
4. No points are awarded on tie games or in case any game is not played for any reason during its scheduled week.
5. Entering POWER POINTS constitutes permission by contestant for his or her name and photograph to be used for news and reasonable promotional purposes at no charge.
6. Employees of this newspaper and their immediate families are ineligible to participate.
7. Any inquiry about or protest of weekly results must be made by Noon on the Friday following the announcement of winners.
8. No purchase necessary. Facsimile game entry forms will be accepted. Enter contest by dropping entry form into POWER POINTS container at participating co-sponsors.
9. Weekly deadline for entry will be 2 p.m. Fridays except when noted otherwise on weekly entry form.
10. Neither this newspaper nor any co-sponsor will be responsible for illegible entry forms or those lost, stolen or damaged in any way.
11. Limit: one entry per person per week. Each entry must represent the original work of one entrant; "group" entries, "systems" or other attempts to enter multiple entries will be disqualified. Filling out extra forms and putting your friends' and relatives' names on them violates this rule. Any such entries are destroyed prior to grading.
12. Contestants must have reached the age of eight (8) years by the Sunday of any week's play.

Borchers named as Duchess

Candace Jannelle Borchers has been nominated and accepted to participate in the Lutheran Coronation's Court of Winter Wonderland as the Duchess of Frigid Blue Northern, escorted by her honorable Duke, Greg Arms.

The Lutheran Coronation was a formal ball established in 1957 as a way for Christian girls to serve and be recognized in their community and raise money for Christian charities. Today the Lutheran Coronation recognizes the girls by royal robes and trains designed by Farrell Tyson. The girls display the dresses and trains their family makes on the night of the Lutheran Coronation, which will be held on Nov. 16 at 8 p.m. at the Municipal Auditorium.

Admission to the Lutheran Coronation is charged to defray the cost of production, but each year the profit that is realized from tickets, ad sales, and donations are given to various charities. Ads from local businesses are printed in the annual yearbook handed out the night of Coronation.

Borcher's dress and train will be made by her family and friends. She will also participate on a number of parades across the state of Texas to display her family's handiwork.

Voters decide $15 million bond issue Saturday

PRO - by Carolyn B. Edwards, Bulletin Editor

Bandera ISD superintendent Gus "Skip" Pfeiffer hopes voting taxpayers will give the district the go-ahead in Saturday's $15 million bond election. Passage of the bond would allow the district to expand school facilities to take care of projected needs for the next 10 years or more.

Pfeiffer said that contrary to comments made in some ads, the school board followed proper procedures for the bond election. "We established a citizens bond advisory committee, which included a broad spectrum of representatives, to review the alternatives. We consulted the district's financial planner to establish cost and repayment schedules." The school district also called in structural and environmental engineers and a mechanical and electrical engineering firm.

Pfeiffer said the board opted to pursue the $15 million bond when two architectural firms gave them a $5-$6 estimate to upgrade and remodel Bandera Middle School earlier this year. "The upgrade was a band-aid solution that would require another bond issue in five years or less," said Pfeiffer.

"We feel the race track

WHERE TO VOTE

Saturday, Sept. 28, voting for the Bandera ISD school bond election will be held at the following locations from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Location No.1 (all or part of Bandera County Election Precinct Nos. 5, 7, 8, 411 located in the District.) at Bandera Middle School, Room 9. 11th & Cherry Sts.

Location No.2 (all or part of Bandera County Election Precinct Nos. 1 & 2 located in the District) at Pipe Creek Community Center, Hwy. 16 & Hwy. 1283, Pipe Creek, TX.

Location No. 3 (all or part of Bandera County Election Precinct Nos. 3 & 4 located in the District.) at Bandera Courthouse Annex, Hwy. 1283, (1/4 Mile N of PR 37) Lakehills,TX.

The $15 million bond election will fund the construction of a new high school and a site for the school, as well as additions to and improvements to the existing middle school facility.

CON - by Carolyn B. Edwards, Bulletin Editor

Bandera businessman Ray D'Spain believes that the Sept. 28 school bond election is one of the most important issues facing the citizens of Bandera County in a long time.

"We have to use the property we have and do it in a prudent way that the taxpayers can understand," said D'Spain.

D'Spain also says, "the race track has a lot of potential as a business location. We need to keep it on the tax base."

D'Spain has given the bond election a lot of serious thought and he makes it clear that his opposition to this bond does not reflect an opposition to the school or to expansion.

"We've support school expansion, personally and through our business," said D'Spain. "We were active supporters of the BACIT projects, for example."

D'Spain believes that there is still plenty of usable space at the current high school location that hasn't been considered. "We've got a state-of-the-art football field and track up there. There is no reason grandstands can't be put up at that field," he says. "There are three or four heavy construction businesses in the county who could tell them

Robert Reed, R, and friends will share some Cajun history with the crowd at Suturday's Cajun Festival

Cajun fest will let the good times roll

The fun starts at noon Saturday, Sept. 28 at the Lakehills Civic Center. There will be plenty of authentic Cajun music, food, heritage and fun for the 16th annual fundraiser to benefit the center.

The featured band is "Louisiana's rockin' fiddler" Waylon Thibodeaux and his Cajun Band. They will play for the dance in the evening.

There will be plenty of Cajun music sounds throughout the day with the Mamou Prairie Band and Miss Nessie and the Ear Food Zydeco Band. There will also be the jazz sounds of the Band-Aids Jazz Band. Music runs continuously on two dance floors.

"Without the food, there'd be no festival," said volunteer Barbara Engel. Engle and her crew of hard-working volunteers will have plenty of crawfish pies, sausage and ham jambalaya, crawfish etoufee, red beans and rice, boudin, lots of shrimp, hot French beignets (donuts), pralines and the ever-popular bread pudding with whiskey sauce.

The Great Gumbo Cookoff is held in conjunction with the festival. Buy a ticket and taste them all, then vote for the People's Choice winner.

Kids can find plenty of fun at the festival with dart balloons, ring toss and rides.

Parking is free and includes shuttle bus service.

Admission is $4 and children under 12 are free.

The Civic Center is located on PR 37 in the heart of Lakehills.

City's new budget includes manager

by Cyndi Wright, Staff Writer

The Bandera City Council adopted a 1996-97 budget Monday night that will allow for a city manager to be hired at a salary of $30,000 a year.

With the resignation of Columbus Stutes, who is leaving to accept the position of fire chief for Terrell Hills in San Antonio, Mayor Bob Cowan told council members and citizens that the city needs someone at the helm when he or council members are not available to make decisions and also to plan for the city's growth.

The new budget also makes room for a new city police car, a new pickup for Director of Public Works Mike Cardenas, and increases the city employee's health insurance to 100 percent. Currently the health insurance is only at 75 percent.

The council also approved five percent raises across the board for all city employees, to be awarded as merits, and allotted a salary for injured city police officer Will Honeycutt at such time as he comes back to work.

The approved budget ended at $466,643, up $88,230 from last year's budget of $378,413.

For the police department, Chief Lynn Holt told council he would be satisfied with $107,864, but ended up with $108, 476 plotted by council member Walter Welch. However, according to the chief, the money he had earmarked in his budget for raises for the officers was allotted by Welch in equipment and other areas.

Although Holt's proposed budget was less than the council's budget by $612 for the department, council members voted to accept Welch's budget.

Other changes in the police department included $1,000 more for training and dues than last year's budget and $450 more for supplies.

The volunteer fire department budget request of $12,000 for the year was approved, with supplies rising from $700 to $950, and equipment dropping from $5,000 to $4,000. The department's budget last year was $12,155.

The municipal court budget was approved at $31,745, and stayed the same as last year's budget. Equipment rose from $0 to $500, while professional fees dropped from $2,600 to $2,105.

The Bandera Park budget dropped from $80,960 to $61,000.

Cowan told council and audience that the city has $139,700 in reserves and that he wants to see at least some of that designated over the next year for repairs to water and streets in the city.

Also, the new city sales tax has added an estimated $40,000 since April to the city coffers.

The council voted to keep the sales tax rate at 23 cents per $100, the same as it currently is.

Stampin' Up Session at Fire House Saturday

If you forgot to mark your calendar for the decorating session held earlier this month, mark it now for this weeks Stampin' Up session at the Pipe Creek VFD fire house on FM 1283. Learn how to make cards, decorate walls, and even clothing.

"Even if you feel you're not a crafty type, you'll be surprised what can be done with a rubber/ wooden stamp and a stamp pad," said organizers. "Add a little color and you have a work of art."

The class will be held Saturday morning, Sept.28 at 10 a.m.

This will be the last session community information session before the PCVFD barbecue on October 13.

Bandera and Pipe Creek VFDs and the Bandera Chapter of Bandera County EMS responded to a structure fire at the Pember residence last week. The smoldering fire was underneath the kitchen floor and was thought to be caused by an electrical short.

Butterflies no threat to local flora

Migratory snout butterflies feed on hackberry trees

by Warren Thiepen, Bandera County Extension Agent

The large numbers of butterflies migrating through the hill country the past few weeks are called the Snout Butterfly (Libytheanna carinepta larvata).

A short protuberance resembling a nose gives the little bugs their name. The butterfly's brown wings, when closed, resemble a leaf, which is very effective camouflage.

The snout butterfly lays eggs on spiny hackberrys. After the eggs hatch, the velvety green larvae with yellow stripes down each side feed on leaves for about 10 days and pupate under the leaf or along a stem. Butterflies hatch in about a week.

Huge numbers often hatch out in the fall of the year. North and Eastward migration is quite common. This year large numbers have been flying from the Rio Grande Valley northward.

The large numbers of butterflies should pose no problem in the area except for the inconvenience of cleaning your windshield. The larvae do feed on hackberry trees, but usually don't eat enough to worry about the damage. The butterflies should provide a food source for birds and other insect-eating animals.

The adults hibernate through the winter and lay eggs in the spring on more hackberry.

When large numbers occur in an area other insect predators or disease usually controls the population.

809 pager scam can cost big bucks fast

Bandera County Sheriff James MacMillan has informed The Bulletin of a scam currently [illegible] and other persons.

The warning [illegible] received advised pager owners not to call any number beginning with the 809 area code unless the callers are familiar with the number and who is calling.

The 809 area code covers the Caribbean islands and is a haven for drug smuggling, long distance theft and other illegal enterprises, the warning stated.

One victim received a page and returned the call. The 809 number could cost just a few dollars, advised the memo.

County court sets tax rate

Bandera County Commissioners voted to approve a $4.67 million budget at a meeting held Wednesday, Sept. 18. Along with the budget, the court approved a .4257 tax rate. [illegible] increase over last year's rate, said County Auditor Tommy Tomlinson.

The county court had advertised a proposed tax rate of .4343, but voted to go with a lower rate that would fund the the county's fund balance.

Commissioner Dan Alanis, asked why he supported the lower rate, replied, "We've worked on this budget and it can be funded with the lower rate. I think we have enough of a surplus to go into the next fiscal year."

A bookkeeping strategy of dividing county employees' pay raises into two steps will save the county approximately $25,000. The move had been approved last year, but most county department heads had inadvertently budgeted the 5 percent raises to go into effect on Oct. 1. Th s $25,000 will be saved by increasing salaries by 2.6 percent on Oct. 1 and then bumping up to the second increase of 2.4 percent on the employee's anniversary date.

Commissioner Bennie Barker moved the court accept the .4343 tax rate that was advertised. "This would preserve our fund balance," said Barker. "If we have to go over the roll-back tax rate next year, we'll have real trouble."

Alanis replied that the county was faced with a similar financial problem several years ago when property values took a sharp dip, "and we managed to survive."

Barker's motion died for lack of a second.

When an interested citizen pointed out that appraised values have gone up and that should give the county more to work with, Tomlinson pointed out that the $24 million increase in appraised values is only a 4.6 percent increase overall.

Commissioner Bud Thompson moved to adopt the .4257 tax rate which was approved.

County treasurer moves to new location

County treasurer Kay Welch, center, and her staff are ready to welcome patrons in their new location in the Old Courthouse building previously occupied by the County Extension offices. Staff members are Joy Johnson, Paula Stufles, Helen Hansen and Nona Tucker. The Old Courthouse is located just behind Bandera Ice House.

Commissioners get a handle on litter, abandoned vehicles

Bandera County Commissioners adopted an anti-littering order during their regular meeting held Wednesday, Sept. 11, and scheduled a hearing on an order adopting regulations for licensing junkyards and wrecking and salvage yards in the county.

The anti-littering order will be enforced under the authority of the Pct. 2 constable's office.

The order declares junked vehicles and other litter visible from a public place or within 50 feet of a public highway for more than 30 days a public nuisance. It provides for a 10-day notice and a hearing procedure before removal of the litter.

The public hearing on the junkyard licensing order will be held Oct. 9 at 10 a.m. during the regular session of commissioners court.

In the order, an automotive wrecking and salvage yard means any person or business that stores three or more wrecked vehicles outdoors for the purpose of dismantling or otherwise wrecking the vehicle to remove parts for sale or for use in an automotive repair or rebuilding business.

A junkyard is defined in the order as a business enterprise that owns or is operated to store, buy or sell junk, all or part of which is kept outdoors until disposed of.

The order will be enforced by an officer of Pct. 2 Constable's office.

Under the terms of the order, owners of wrecking and salvage yards and junkyards will need to obtain a license to operate in Bandera County.

Such businesses will need to meet the screening requirements of the Texas Transportation Code as well as other requirements. Such businesses must be screened by a six foot high screen of natural objects, plants or solid fences.

The licensing provisions of the order do not apply to any junkyard or automotive wrecking [illegible] operations before June 1, 1997.

The screening requirements of the order do apply to all junkyards or wrecking and salvage yards in Bandera County not contained within the Bandera city limits, regardless of when they were established.

The annual license will cost $25.

A new ordinance being considered by county commissioners would require junk yards and salvage yards to be screened from public view.

how to use that property fully."

D'Spain also recommended that the bus barns and transportation department out to Alkek where there is some unused acreage. "That would open up an entire block of space for expansion at the middle school," he pointed out. Moving the football stadium out to the high school would provide even more space for the Middle School.

D'Spain said he is concerned that the school is looking out only for itself and not considering other needs caused by growth in the area.

"The county is in need of all the tax base it can get," he said. "The county will probably be needing to pass a bond for a jail. The growth we're experiencing won't offset the cost of (providing services) for that growth. The county serves far more people than the school district, and is having to operate at a third of the school's budget."

D'Spain says he doesn't support buying more land "until you use the square footage you've got.

"We can do a $8-9 million expansion on current properties and pay for it in 15 years," he said. "I don't see why we should buy 154 acres just to meet somebody's projections."

D'Spain says he sees the need for eventual land purchase in the Lakehills area for a middle school. The current bond issue does not take that [illegible] consideration.

A loosely organized group calling itself the Alliance of Bandera Citizens has taken an active approach to opposition of the bond election. The group, headed up by Steve Muller of Bandera and Bobby Jones of Winston's Dock, has placed ads in The Bulletin and erected signs around the district urging citizens to vote against the bond.

"Our main objection is to the price," said Muller. "No tract of land is worth $22,300 per acre.

"We also believe that there are a lot of unanswered environmental questions regarding the race track property," said Muller. "Have we done the environmental research needed to be sure we're not inheriting a Dome Dirt mess?"

Other members of ABC are concerned about the loss of the property to the county's already limited tax base.

"We've also heard from a lot of people who want to know why a little guy who owns $1,000 in back taxes stands to lose his land, while the Bandera Downs owners, who owe $250,000 got offered a $3 million deal," said Muller.

ABC is hosting a public forum on the bond issue Thursday evening, Sept. 26 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bandera Bank Community Room.

"The race track has a lot of potential as a business location. We need to keep it on the tax base."

BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT BOND ISSUE INFORMATION BULLETIN #2

A SUMMARY OF THE INVESTIGATIONS INTO THE BANDERA DOWNS SITE AND COMPARABLE FACILITIES

WHY THE TRACK?

THE BANDERA SCHOOL BOARD AND BOND ADVISORY COMMITTEE, COMPOSED OF SCHOOL DISTRICT CITIZENS FROM ALL WALKS OF LIFE, AFTER EVALUATING SEVERAL OPTIONS INCLUDING SOLELY UPGRADING AND EXPANDING THE MIDDLE SCHOOL, EXPANDING THE CURRENT HIGH SCHOOL, PURCHASING RAW LAND AND CONSTRUCTING A NEW HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUS FROM SCRATCH FINALLY DECIDED ON THE RACE TRACK OPTION BASED ON SEVERAL PRIME FACTORS.

LOCATION AND SIZE

- CONVENIENTLY LOCATED NEAR THE GEOGRAPHIC CENTER OF THE DISTRICT
- EASY AND DIRECT ACCESS FROM THE MAJOR COUNTY ARTERY.
- CONVENIENT FOR THE PARENTS AND STUDENTS AND WILL HELP CONTROL DISTRICT'S TRANSPORTATION COSTS.
- WITH 134 ACRES, THIS SITE IS VERY COMPARABLE IN SIZE TO THE SIZE SITES MOST DISTRICTS TRY AND ACQUIRE FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOL CAMPUSES.
- THE 134 ACRES NOT ONLY WILL ACCOMMODATE THE NEEDS ANTICIPATED THROUGH THE YEAR 2008, BUT ALLOWS FOR ADDITIONAL GROWTH AS THE DISTRICT CONTINUES TO GROW.
- ALLOWS FOR THE RELOCATION OF DISTRICT SUPPORT FACILITIES THUS PERMITTING USE OF SCHOOL CAMPUSES FOR EDUCATIONAL ACTIVITIES.

WHILE THE DISTRICT ACKNOWLEDGES THAT OTHER PARCELS OF LAND MAY NOW BE AVAILABLE, OR MAY BECOME AVAILABLE IN THE FUTURE, THIS SITE'S SIZE AND LOCATION AND EXISTING INFRASTRUCTURE ARE PARTICULARLY WELL SUITED FOR A NEW CAMPUS.

VALUE

- COUNTY TAX ROLES PLACE THE VALUE OF THE RAW LAND, NOT INCLUDING THE STRUCTURES, AT $350,000
- THE ARCHITECT'S SURVEY INDICATES THAT MOST OF THE PRIMARY STRUCTURES, ELECTRICAL DISTRIBUTION, WATER AND SEWER DISTRIBUTION AND MECHANICAL EQUIPMENT CAN BE REUTILIZED IN THE NEW CAMPUS. THE VALUE OF THESE USABLE IMPROVEMENTS HAS BEEN ESTIMATED BY THE ARCHITECT AT BETWEEN 2.0 AND 2.5 MILLION DOLLARS. THIS 2.0 TO 2.5 MILLION DOLLARS WOULD HAVE TO BE SPENT DEVELOPING A NEW BARE SITE PROJECT.
- THE DISTRICT'S ARCHITECT ESTIMATES THAT THE EXISTING STRUCTURES AND UTILITIES COULD SAVE THE DISTRICT UP TO ONE YEAR IN CONSTRUCTION TIME THEREBY INCREASING THE LIKELIHOOD OF SECURING GOOD BOND RATES AND LOWER CONSTRUCTION COSTS. WHILE THESE VALUES ARE VERY REAL, BECAUSE IT IS NOT POSSIBLE TO ACCURATELY PREDICT THE MOVEMENT OF THE MARKET OR FUTURE INFLATION TRENDS, THESE DOLLAR SAVINGS ARE NOT REFLECTED IN THE ARCHITECT'S VALUE OF THE RACE TRACK.
- WHILE THE SUM OF THE LAND VALUE AND VALUE OF THE IMPROVEMENTS FALLS SHORT OF THE 3 MILLION DOLLAR ASKING PRICE, IT IS THE OPINION OF THE SCHOOL DISTRICT AND THE CITIZEN BOND ADVISORY COMMITTEE THAT THE RARE OPPORTUNITY PRESENTED BY THE SIZE, LOCATION AND TIMING MORE THAN COMPENSATES FOR THIS SHORT FALL.

COMPARABLE FACILITIES

IT IS ONLY WHEN EXAMINING COMPARABLE FACILITIES CURRENTLY IN THE PLANNING STAGE THAT THE BENEFITS OF THE TRACK AND THE TIMING OF THE PROJECT BECOME OUTSTANDINGLY EVIDENT. TWO OF THE MAJOR SAN ANTONIO SCHOOL DISTRICTS ARE CURRENTLY IN THE PLANNING STAGES FOR NEW HIGH SCHOOLS. ONE IS ESTIMATED TO HAVE A CONSTRUCTION COST OF $35,000,000 ($12,000 PER STUDENT), THE OTHER $33,000,000 ($15,000 PER STUDENT). COMPARE THIS TO OUR $10,000,000 CONSTRUCTION COST ($10,000 PER STUDENT) AND VOTE YES!

Letters to the Editor

Prison is not a laid-back easy-going rest from society

Dear Editor:
I am an inmate in the Texas Department of Corrections. I am just writing to inform the people of Bandera that not all of the people incarcerated in Bandera, rapists, child molesters; and all of us inmates are not the monsters that everyone thinks we are!

I myself committed a crime of theft of a building. I have been locked up for two and a half years.

Hopefully some of Bandera's youth will read this. Prison is not a laid back easy going "Rest from society" like so many think.

When you get here, on your first day at your assigned unit, you will have to "fight" maybe once, maybe five times that day. The next day it may be ten times! And if you don't fight then you'll pay protection. It don't matter what race — White, Black, Hispanic. And after you fight, broken nose, broken jaw, both eyes black, you have riots. People get killed.

There are some good things about when you're here, if you use it to your advantage. Right now I just took my G.E.D test. After I find out whether or not I passed, I am going to take a college course. And I enrolled in computer classes.

It's not what people think, it's very hard in here. I just hope at least one person can read this and think to his or herself, I don't want to go there. Maybe I can turn my life around. It is never too late. Some of us want a better life.

Methodists host fellowship

Dear Editor:
Bungy's, "Whats Rustlin" is one of the best columns in the paper, but there was some misinformation (in a recent column) that I'd like to correct.

It was not the Bandera County Christian Fellowship that put on the First After Game Party of the season on Friday, Sept.6. It was the Bandera United Methodist Church under the direction of the youth leader of the church. There were seven adult Methodist sponsors who gave so willingly of their time and services. They certainly would welcome anyone who would like to help out in any way.

We'd like all the youth of Bandera to know they are warmly welcomed to these events and any other church events. You don't have to a Methodist to come. The third paragraph in Bungy's column said it all- "This was a well-organized safe activity for the kids of Bandera."

Vote yes on bond

Dear Editor:
Recent advertisements in the paper have hinted that the B.I.S.D. is pa over $22,000 per acre for land for a new high school. I wonder if the individuals making this statement realize that this is land and improvements, water systems, septic, electrical and buildings, etc.? Would they sell their homes with improvements for just the price of the land?

A citizens' advisory group considered several options before recommending to the school board the purchase of the race track as the best solution to our growth problems. Several individuals have countered this recommendation with shady innendoes that have little merit.

We have professionals to deal with the school growth issues and I am amazed at the number of the self-appointed experts that surface everytime a school bond election is recommended. Perhaps, they should research the facts before they make any comments. The growth of Bandera County has been excessive over the past years and will continue.

Some "experts" have recommended teaching our students under a tree but I would prefer that they be taught in a modern, high-tech, up-to-date, progressive school. Believe it or not, education is the best buy of all our tax dollars.

Please vote "Yes" on this school bond.

Didn't like the heat

Dear Editor:
Speaking of the All American Cowboy Get-Together. I am very proud that $1,154 was raised for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Association.

I saw in your last issue dated Wednesday, Sept. 18 all the gratitude extended to the sponsors, but who would have paid $5 a head to walk into a barn with no vendors? Each vendor paid a substantial sum of money for space to contribute to this event. Each suffering from no ventilation and heat. I see no reason as a vendor, to be as uncomfortable as we were, to participate in such an event again. Better luck next year.

Flip Abbott
Bandera

Why not go up?

Dear Editor:
"Land-locked." We've heard it before from BISD and now they are parading that phrase around again to justify their "need" to purchase more land. Why is there no talk of constructing multi-level buildings on existing property? Construction of such buildings could solve the need for more land.

BISD also claims the existing football stadium is inadequate for our inevitable move to 4A. BISD has already expended considerable funds to construct a full-sized football field surrounded by a new track. With the addition of lights and seating, could this not be our new stadium? Imagine the space that this would make available for multi-level construction at our Middle School. Still need more space at the Middle School? Move the Transportation Department to some of that unused land at Alkek.

The race track property is not the answer to BISD's problems.

Traveling ballot box

Dear Editor:
I have a teenage son who sometimes gets his desires mixed up with his needs. This seems to be the case with our school board.

Now, I find that when you go for early voting you are in the office of the school superintendent, looking directly into his eyes while you vote. I think there would be a better way to set up that location.

Now, I find out that the ballot box has been taken to a variety of school events for parents and participants to express their opinion. I doubt if the box has been taken to places where a potential less-favorable vote [illegible] less likely to reap benefits from the election. This makes me question the motives and the actions of the school board. I don't know if the act of moving the box around to selected locations [illegible] opinion that it ought to be.

I'm not going to tell the undecided have to vote but I want everyone to understand that what is needed for our schools is different from what the school board wants.

By the way, I voted "No" on the school bond issue.

Keith Gideon
Bandera

(ed. note: it is not illegal to hold early voting in a number of places.)

Unify facilities

Dear Editor:
Mr. Hamilton, in his ads, advocates separating the school bus facilities, the administration offices, and the athletic facilities from t[illegible] school campuses. I suppose h[illegible] is unaware the District does not own property that would allow this to occur.

Would you vote for a bond issue to buy land and build offices, a football stadium, and a bus garage and parking facility? Probably not. If these facilities are necessary, would it make good sense to build them at relatively little cost on a site large enough to house a high school campus as well? Yes! Would it make even better sense to adapt structures that are already existing, saving even more money? Of course!

This is only one part of the School District's plan for the use of Bandera Downs. Surely, the voters will arm themselves with the facts of this issue before September 28 and not take paid advertisements as gospel.

Rain?

Rain
Cascading rain
Falling on a South Texas plain
Too late for crops
Too late for stock
But everything will be green again

Dry
Seven years dry
No cattle left to call
We sent them away
When we ran out of hay
And now...the rain starts to fall!

Dust
Nothing but dust
When we plowed the crops under ground
But that's alright
They'd never matured
After all the leaves turned brown

Brown
Everything's brown
Even cedar, live oak and mesquite
It seems I fear
It has been a year
Since rain left mud on my feet

Stand
Here I stand
With cool rain running down my face
All bad times
Will soon be forgotten
Cause of rain and God's good grace

Confused by voting process

Dear Editor:
I am chagrined at the manner the BISD is conducting the current Bond Election. It is very difficult to accept that the party requesting the bond is wholly in charge of voting information, the voting process itself and the safe-guarding of the ballot boxes.

After some effort I found I could vote at the Bandera Middle School on Thursday last. There was only one person in charge, a BISD employee. There were no others there to assure the integrity of the voting process.

This is a hell of a way to run a multi-million dollar bond election.

F.N Villasana

Corrections:

- Candidate for County Judge Letcher Kelley was questioning the county's budget in his ad last week, not the [illegible] budget as stated. We regret the error.
- While Doris Marshall brought in the check to pay for an ad in last week's Bulletin supporting the school bond, she was representing a large group of people.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Hope you have your grains of salt ready to face the barrage of bond election ads in today's paper.

I advise you to take everything you read in the ads, both pro and con with a hefty grain of salt.

For example: Will education as we know it come to an end in the Bandera ISD if the bond issue fails?

Probably not. Take those direst predictions with a grain of salt.

Is the race track property worth $22,000 per acre? That's a really huge and scary number, isn't it?

But if you live on five acres in a $75,000 home, with a $5,000 shed, a $10,000 workshop and an $8,000 caboose, do you think of your land as worth $19,000 per acre?

Probably not.

Take those numbers with a grain of salt.

If someone's ad says Alkek was built to hold 800 students, call the architect and builder for the real number.

Take that statement with a grain of salt.

While we can try in our news articles to be as fair as possible in our coverage of the bond issue, folks have a little more leeway in advertisements they pay for.

They can stretch the truth a little or a lot. They can present feelings and opinions as fact. But if you read them with the same attitude you keep for the political ads you are seeing and hearing on TV, you just keep those grains of salt handy.

Don't take numbers, for example, at face value.

The bond issue, if passed, will increase your school taxes by approximately 18.3 cents. That's a pretty big increase all by itself...but it doesn't double your taxes, as one ad implied.

Grain of salt.

Check those numbers. Call someone who is a real math whiz. Think.

Then when you're done, brush the salt from your clothes and get down to the polls to vote.

It's probably one of the most important things you can do.

Lege set to look at property tax relief

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin- Texas homeowners who have cried far tax relief may see their school property taxes cut next year if the state Legislature puts more of the burden on the business sector.

Speaking to reporters following a Rotary Club meeting, Sen. Bill Ratliff, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, suggested that a "hybrid" tax could spread the burden evenly among businesses.

Ratliff said a sales tax increase would not be a good option, but the combination of a gross receipts tax on business and a value-added tax on goods might fare better in the Legislature.

"We have to fashion a system that doesn't have a disproportionate impact on any one business sector," he said, and predicted,"You will see a plan from the governor's office, if no where else, that will have a significant reduction of property taxes."

Ratliff and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock both expressed doubt regarding legislators' willingness to fight the battles that must be fought to shift the tax burden. The school property tax raised $10 billion last year.

Meanwhile, last week, the Citizens Committee on Property Tax Relief had its final meeting. The panel, appointed by Gov. George W. Bush, traveled the state seeking public input on relief from school property taxes.

Bush spokesman Ray Sullivan told the Austin Amerian Statesman the governor is looking forward to the committee's report.

Sports Park Tax Discussed

The House Business and Industry Committee discussed a proposal that would allow a city, county or group of counties to put a resolution before local voters to acquire, build or to renovate a sports venue with specific taxes.

The state comptroller would review such resolution to ensure they wold not cost the state money.

Committee chairman Kim Brimer, R-Arlington, worked to defeat a similar bill in the 1995 legislative session that would have allowed tax dollars to be used for professional sports facilities.

"Since I killed it, I thought I ought to come back and try to clean it up and see if I can do something with it," Brimer told the Associated Press.

Brimer called the 1995 bill "corporate welfare" and said sports facilities are regional projects and should be financed regionally, the AP reported.

The new proposal includes local taxing options that would raise sales and use taxes 0.5 percent, car rental tax up to 5 percent, admission taxes up to $2 per person, parking tax up to $1 per vehicle and hotel occupancy tax up to 2 percent of the room price.

Brimer said the sports facility proposal is opposed by car rental companies and the Texas Hotel & Motel Association.

Welfare Plan Raises Questions

Mike McKinney, Texas Health and Human Services Commissioner, last week recommended that top state officials accept money from the federal government now to fund welfare programs.

Every day the state waits after Oct. 1, it stands to lose money- about$270,000 a day- because the welfare rolls are shrinking, McKinney said.

But Gov. Bush, Lt. Gov. Bullock and House Speaker Pete Laney aren't ready to accept the money until they are sure that doing so won't hurt Texas' budget. Losing money by waiting must be balanced against other costly measures that will be triggered once the law goes into effect, they said.

"Remember 60 years of welfare as we know it has been changed very quickly in a 700-page bill. That has far-teaching consequenss for the states and for the federal government too," Bullock told the American-Statesman.

The Health and Human Services Commisson will have a public hearing on the issue Sept.24.

His rollicking, crowd-pleasing performance on stage is exactly what one would expect from someone, who at age 16, was Louisiana's state fiddle champion.

16th Annual Cajun Festival features authentic food

Authentic Cajun food including crawfish etouffee and jambalaya will be featured at the 16th annual Medina Lake Cajun Festival Saturday, Sept. 28 at the Lakehills Civic Center on Park Road 37 in Lakehills.

There will be Cajun, jazz, and country music from noon to 10 p.m. on two stages, along with Cajun heritage, arts and crafts, games, and rides for the children at the festival.

But without food, there'd be no festival. Authentically prepared Cajun food items include crawfish pies, sausage and ham jambalaya, crawfish etouffee, red beans and rice, boudin, boiled Cajun shrimp, barbecued shrimp, hot French beignets (donuts), bread pudding with whiskey sauce and pecan pralines made on the site.

All the food at the festival is prepared by volunteers. No outside vendors are allowed. This ensures that the food is as authentic as you can get.

Cajun food makes use of bell pepper, celery, onion and garlic, the most commonly used Cajun vegetables. Spices are cayenne pepper, thyme, Tabasco, basil and bay leaf.

Barbara Engel, who is in charge of food preparation, said they don't overspice the food.

"It's a mistake by some people who make ethnic food with too much spice," she said. "There's a bottle of Tabasco sauce for those who don't think it is hot enough."

CAJUN FESTIVAL

16

The 16th Annual Cajun Festival has a HOT history of authentic food, music

1996 marks the 16th year of the Medina Lake Cajun Festival, and this year promises to be an [illegible] Medina Lake into Cajun Country.

On Saturday, Sept. 28, the small town of Lakehills magically transforms this part of the Texas Hill Country on the shores of beautiful [illegible]

The event, which is sponsored by the Medina Lake Betterment Association, Inc., a civic organization, now attracts thousands of visitors each year.

The festival is the original Cajun Festival and Gumbo Cook-off in Texas; it remains unique in its ability to bring the food, music, and culture of Louisiana to deep within the heart of Texas.

From the marshes of Barataria Bay around Grand Isle and the swamps of the Atchafalya Basin in South Louisiana, the banks of Cibolo Creek in South Texas, and the woods along the Guadalupe River in the Texas Hill Country, emerge Swamp Angels. As the legend goes, Swamp Angels are what the cowboys in South Texas called the Cajuns who came across the Sabine River, in the 20s and 30s to work the cattle ranches. And when they came, they brought the sound of Cajun and Zydeco music. The word Angel was derived from the Greek word angelos, meaning "Messenger." And so the name Swamp Angels seemed appropriate for the band, as these veteran musicians travel South Texas, to help spread the word about Cajun & Zydeco music. It's hot!

GUMBO--Gumbo remains one of the great attractions of the Cajun Festival. Visitors can sample a wide variety of gumbos prepared by amateur and professional cooks from Texas and Louisiana. Come early for the best selection.

At right, Barbara Engel, food preparation director, with volunteer Marti Couser, get ready to make the good stuff people have come to expect at the Medina Lake Cajun Festival.

Ear Food, a San Antonio-based blues, zydeco, Cajun and quirky original rock-n-roll band, that has been around for more than a decade. The band rose from the ashes of a three-quarters-legendary maniac party band called Anarchists' Convention when, very late one night on a New Orleans street corner, the band members decided they'd played "Wooly Bully" and "96 Tears" about one thousand times too many. Enter Ear Food, a band dedicated to playing the music it loves - lowdown blues, potent zydeco and swamp-bred Cajun tunes. To augment those sounds, Ear Food went out on a long, frightening limb a looked to the mind of drummer Ollie Morris for original lyrics; lyrics that have managed to capture the formidable imaginations of the fans who frequent Ear Food gigs. With the moniker Ear Food came the band's motto" "We play what you need, not what you think you want."

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

The Lake Shore VFD will have training on the first Saturday of the month, Oct. 5 at 10 a.m. The subject will be not on how to fight a fire but on how to save a live. Instruction in cardiopulmonary resuscitation, more commonly known as CPR, will be given. Plan on attending. You never know when this knowledge might save a loved ones' life.

• The Copper Lantern will be closed for inventory Sunday, Sept. 29 through Tuesday, Oct. 1. They will reopen with regular hours on Oct. 2.

• The fire department was called to a controlled burn that looked like it might get out of control at the Whitman's property in Lake Medina Shores Saturday, Sept. 2. J.B. Whitman called in when the controlled burn looked like it might get out of control and asked for help. This was a smart move, not waiting until the fire was completely out of control.

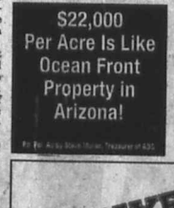
Two young women took an active part with the fire department: Sue Broa worked the radio at the fire house, and Kim, who works at the local swimming pool went out with the brush truck and did a fine job.

So as you can see, the women can play an important part in the fire department.

• It is time to start to get that shooting eye in good shape. The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department's annual Turkey Shoot will start at 11 a.m. on Oct. 26 at the fire house.

• It is getting closer to casting that vote for or against the school bond on Sept. 28. Arguments for and against have made me do some research concerning the high school that the wife an I attended back in Dayton, Ohio.

Construction for Roosevelt High School began in 1921 and by Sept. 1923, the doors were opened to some 2,000 students. The school was to be the first of its kind to combine academic studies with vocational emphasis.



Grades 7-12 attended the 400 airy, well-lighted and heated classrooms divided by wide locker-lined hallways. There were two swimming pools, two gymnasiums (one with an indoor track), a large cafeteria and a 5,000-book library. The home economics class had a full complement of kitchen appliances and a sewing room. The lower floor of the 4-story building was devoted to vocational training: printing, woodworking, foundry and forge, auto mechanics and machine shops.

In 1975 the doors of RHS closed forever, a victim of diminished enrollment and vandalism. The hearts of all alumni were gladdened when they learned the building would not be destroyed, but used for other purposes.

Central State University's West Extension is housed there. City offices are located in the building and it is the home of the Third District of the Dayton City Police Department.

Bandera County Republicans have opened their headquarters adjoining the parking lot next to Janett's. The office will be open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Saturday. Citizens are invited to stop by and pick up candidate signs and bumper stickers. L-R: James Mormando (Commissioner Pct. 1 candidate); Ben Barrow, Lois Easley, Richard Evans (County judge candidate) and Phil Tobin (Constable candidate); seated, Janet Cave and Gail Buck.

TAXPAYERS! WAKE UP!
VOTE NO SEPT 28
MORE POINTS TO CONSIDER:
1. If this bond passes, you will have, in effect, given BISD Permission to put a mortgage (increased debt service taxes) on your property for 30 years.
2. BISD can set a tax rate without limit on the 15 million for 30 years. (Bandera Bulletin, Sept. 11)
3. Those of you who are over 65 and have your taxes frozen may feel good: Your taxes will not increase but unless you live to be over 100 your children and heirs will pay on it. If you leave your property to them they will pay on the full value. All exemptions will be removed.
4. The group of taxpayers who will pay the most and for the longest time will be property owners in the 20 through 40 age group.
5. A child entering school this year at age 5 will graduate in 2009 at age 18. The bond debt will continue 12 more years for him. Do you really want to put this debt on him?
6. Every person living in Bandera for the next 30 years will pay some on this debt either through higher property taxes, higher rent, or higher prices on purchases made at the merchants. No business can survive without passing on to the consumer the cost of overhead expenses, taxes being one.
7. Why do you suppose the magic date of Sept. 28 was picked for this Bond Election? Wait until you get your school tax statement in October. The mystery will be solved.
8. Any way you slice it, dice it or cut it...

Rabies drive slated to help rid Bandera county of disease

Bandera County is adjacent to the county which has the most ... cases reported in the state of Texas, Uvalde County. From January 1 through August 5, Uvalde County reported positive rabies in one horse, 3 cats, 2 dogs, 5 fox, 3 skunk, 1 deer and 1 goat.

The threat of rabies transmission is compounded by the high population of stray animals in South Texas, reports the Texas Dept. of Health. Strays, whose vaccinations are at worst ... will become more active and start breeding as the summer heat subsides, increasing the possible interaction with domestic dogs.

Bait drops of rabies vaccine for coyotes and foxes, although reported as successful, have a price tag of $2 million annually. That might sound high but when you consider human health-care costs are climbing at 24% annually, the cost of this mass vaccination program for wildlife is much less expensive than treating people for rabies later.

Understanding that rabies transmission can go undetected is more important. Several people in the U.S. have died from exposure to a rabid animal without being aware that they had experienced a serious contact with the rabies virus.

Texas law mandates that pets be vaccinated for rabies each year starting at 3 months of age. More than 2,000 Texans who were treated for rabies last year were exposed to rabies from their own pets.

You, the public, need to leave the handling of stray dogs and cats to experienced persons. Animal control officer "Triple" Kocurek may be reached by calling the Bandera County Sheriffs Office at 796-3771.

Do not under any circumstances handle a wild animal!

Have your pet dog, cat or horse vaccinated for rabies the week of October 7 to 11 at Hill Country Veterinary Hospital ... on Highway 173 near Alkek Elementary ... and dairy or as the business was station 8-1pm on Sat. October 12th. Rabies vaccine for cats is $5, dogs $6 also at County ... Lounge, horses are $10.

Other vaccines and heartworm tests are offered at $12.

BANDERA INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICT BOND ISSUE INFORMATION BULLETIN #3

THE DISTRICT'S PLAN AND IT'S IMPACT ON THE TAXPAYER

STATE LAW PROHIBITS THE DISTRICT FROM PAYING FOR THE DESIGN OF FACILITIES THAT THE DISTRICT DOES NOT HAVE THE FUNDS TO CONSTRUCT. THIS HAS PROHIBITED THE DISTRICT FROM DEVELOPING DETAILED PLANS AND SPECIFICATIONS FOR THE WORK ASSOCIATED WITH THIS BOND ELECTION. THIS HAS NOT PREVENTED THE DISTRICT FROM INVITING OVER 35 ARCHITECTURAL FIRMS TO PRESENT THEIR QUALIFICATIONS AND MAKE PRESENTATIONS. FROM AMONG THE FIRMS INVITED THE FIRM SELECTED BY THE DISTRICT NOT ONLY HAD OUTSTANDING QUALIFICATIONS IN THE DESIGN OF PUBLIC SCHOOL FACILITIES BUT SHOWED A WILLINGNESS TO ASSIST THE DISTRICT IN THE PRELIMINARY STAGES BY PROVIDING THE SERVICES NECESSARY TO DO THE STUDIES AND PROVIDE THE ANALYSIS AND ESTIMATES. IN ADDITION THE FIRM HAS REPRESENTATIVES THAT ARE BISD TAXPAYERS GIVING THEM A PERSONAL UNDERSTANDING OF THE DISTRICT. THEIR PRELIMINARY RECOMMENDATIONS WHICH WERE CONCURRED TO BY THE SCHOOL BOARD AND THE CITIZEN BOND ADVISORY COMMITTEE, ARE THE BASIS FOR THE BOND TOTAL.

TAXPAYER COST
THE DESIRE TO MINIMIZE THE IMPACT ON THE TAX PAYING CITIZENS OF THE BANDERA ISD IS THE FINAL FACTOR THAT MAKES THIS THE TIME TO ACT, VOTE YES, AND MOVE FORWARD.
- WE ARE CURRENTLY IN A PERIOD OF LOW INTEREST RATES AND LOW INFLATION RATES.
- THE HEAD START IN FACILITIES WHICH ALREADY EXISTS AT THE RACE TRACK SITE WILL HELP EXPEDITE CONSTRUCTION BY AS MUCH AS ONE YEAR, HELPING TO ENSURE LESS IMPACT BY INFLATION AND HIGH INTEREST RATES; DELAY COULD SUBSTANTIALLY INCREASE THE BURDEN ON THE BANDERA TAXPAYER.
- CURRENTLY WE ANTICIPATE THAT THE AVERAGE HOME OWNER IN BANDERA WILL EXPERIENCE AN INCREASE IN PROPERTY TAX OF APPROXIMATELY $82.35 PER YEAR, ON A $50,000 HOME WITH A HOMESTEAD EXEMPTION. FOR THE FIRST FOUR YEARS AND $73.00 THEREAFTER. THE ONLY OPTIONS TO THIS BOND-TEMPORARY CLASSROOMS OR 12 MONTH CLASS SCHEDULES, WILL ONLY DRAIN DISTRICT RESOURCES DETERIORATING THE QUALITY OF EDUCATION AND INCREASING THE FUTURE AND INEVITABLE BURDEN ON THE TAXPAYERS. ACT NOW,

Springhills keeps last year's tax rate to fund $124,493.50 district budget

The Springhills Water [illegible] Board member Randy Roberts [illegible] discussion passing a new curve on an old book and drawing new conclusions from existing data."

The study would look at waste water in the study area.

Audience member Richard [illegible] called the board how accurate the county's septic tank records are.

"They're not very good," Basinger. "Most of them are stuffed in a box somewhere. That's one of the reasons Springhills wanted to take over the septic tank permit process (from County Commissioners Court)."

James Chastain joined Luddeke in voting against the grant endorsement.

[illegible] ed budget for fiscal year 1995 at [illegible] called meeting held Tuesday, Sept. 17.

The amendments included $11,163 for legal fees for which [illegible] Utilities ran $2,031, a 200 percent increase over the $1,000 budgeted. Office supplies and [illegible] largely under-budgeted. Total expenditures for 1995 were $114,609.

Springhills' directors were able to keep their tax rate the same as last year to fund a 1996 budget of $124,493.50.

Salaries of the district's staff in the '96 budget are as follows: Manager — $38,500; Secretary — $12,000; Technician — $17,000.

Attorney's fees are budgeted at $5,000.

In other business, the board endorsed a grant application by AACOG to the Texas Water Development Board for a water study. Director Fred Luddeke expressed opposition to the endorsement, saying, "I think you can study things to death, until all you're doing is study-ing."

Luddeke felt that the study would merely re-state old data.

Sutherland on Merit Scholar list

David Wesley Sutherland, senior at Utopia High School, has been named a semifinalist in the 1997 National Merit Scholarship Competition.

Sutherland entered the Merit [illegible] by taking the [illegible] PRATNMSQT exam along with approximately one million other students. Only 15,000 are named semifinalist.

These students show exceptional ability and potential for success in rigorous college studies and will have the opportunity to continue in competition for about $27 million in scholarship awards.

Sutherland participates in sports and academics at Utopia High School where he has served as Student Council President and held offices in his class and FFA. He has competed in UIL Academics on the state level in journalism and current events and was the State Champion Class A Feature Writer in 1995.

After graduation, Sutherland is planning to enter a four-year college to pursue a degree in engineering.

[illegible]

Fisher Vandiver of Utopia and David Sutherland of Dripping Springs. He is also the grandson of Harrell Sutherland of Uvalde and Alice LeMond and Billy Fisher of Utopia.

from the Superintendent's Desk
by Gus Pfeiffer, BISD Superintendent

This Saturday, voters will decide on whether the Bandera Independent School District will be able to sell $15,070,000 of bonds to build a new high school and construct a new cafeteria and make other improvements at the middle school, allowing the District to move grades 7 and 8 to the current high school and move grade 5 to join grade 6 at the current Middle School campus.

Student enrollment has grown by 42 percent in the last four years, overcrowding three of the district's four campuses and space to add classrooms at the high school and middle school is limited. The growth rate is not expected to decline.

Polling places will be open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. and are located at the following sites:

Pcts. 5, 7, 8, and 11 — Bandera Middle School.

Pcts. 1 and 2 — Pipe Creek Community Center, and Pcts. 3 and 4 — Lakehills Courthouse Annex.

About $2 million will be spent at the Middle School on the construction of a new cafeteria, remodeling the current cafeteria into a library, and the converting of the existing library into classroom space, in addition to bringing the rest of the campus up to safety and handicapped codes.

About $3 million will be spent on acquiring Bandera Downs, and $10,000,000 to convert existing buildings into usable school spaces and the construction of additional classrooms, auditorium, gymnasium, band hall, etc.

The district estimates that the new campus and improvements at the Middle School will satisfy growth needs in the district for at least 10 years.

The bond issue is expected to add 18.3 cents to the tax rate.

A Thought For The Week
by John M. Grimes

One of the things that makes life interesting and at the same time turbulent is the prevalence of different viewpoints.

Someone once said that there is a good chance that if you believe what everyone else appears to believe, you are probably wrong. As times change and the world changes, opinions strongly held at a certain point in time might now be invalid. A lot depends on where one is standing when he makes his observation.

If one looks at the palm of his hand, he could describe a hand as being smooth-skinned and without hair, pores or nails. The back of the hand presents a different picture, as do the two sides of a coin.

Next time you get to thinking that your idea is the only one that possibly is correct, take another look. There just might be something in the way the other fellow sees it.

Incidentally, your views on this or any other thought you read here are always welcomed and appreciated.

property is well located and adaptable," said Pfeiffer. The district would reuse some of the facilities already located on the property.

The district is currently using 11 temporary buildings, which are inefficient and costly, said Pfeiffer.

"Bandera ISD is projected to grow annually at a rate of 7.5 percent, doubling enrollment in 10 years," said Pfeiffer.

The bond issue, if approved by the voters Saturday, would purchase Bandera Downs and construct a new high school at that site. The transportation department would be moved to the new site. Upgrades and remodeling would be done at Bandera Middle School. The fifth grade would be moved from the elementary schools to the Middle School campus, alleviating crowding at the elementary campuses. Seventh and eighth grades would move to the current high school campus.

The school board voted to move ahead with a bond election this fall on the advice of Larry Manire of Evanson Dodge, the district's financial advisors. "He predicts interest rates will go up following the presidential election," said Pfeiffer.

"Bandera ISD is projected to grow annually at a rate of 7.5 percent, doubling enrollment in 10 years."
--Gus Pfeiffer

The superintendent said the $15 million would include the construction of a football field at the race track property. "With the stands already in place, that would involve grading and planting grass," said Pfeiffer.

A number of people have objected to approving a bond issue without having any architectural plans to look at. "Detailed plans are generally done after a bond issue passes," said Pfeiffer. "At this point we're still gathering ideas about the best use of the facility."

Pfeiffer does not think the $3 million asking price for the 134 acre race track tract is too high. "It's a good deal — location, contour, existing structures. It will wind up saving us money in the long run."

Pfeiffer pointed out that the growth the district is struggling with is here now. "This (new construction) wouldn't be finished until the 1998 school year.

By that time our high school and Alkek Elementary will be overflowing, as the Middle School is now," said Pfeiffer.

One BISD board member said, "If the bond passes, I think that 20 years from now this board will be considered to have been very far-sighted."

SMALL BUSINESS TIPS

Q. Where can I find a quick checklist of the steps that I should go through to open a new business?

A. The Small Business Administration publishes a booklet entitled "Checklist for Going into Business," in it you will find just that — a checklist of required registrations, filings, etc. One of the first items which you must be sure to cover is your business name registration with the county clerk's office. From there [illegible] you will [illegible] should be the state comptroller's office to obtain a federal employer identification number (Form SS-4). Other areas in need of study as applicable to your situation are job safety and health regulations, environmental regulations, local and/or state business licenses(s), financial and tax requirements, and the organizational structure of your business (if not previously determined).

While researching your business plan, be sure that you thoroughly research the whole concept. Pay particular attention to [illegible] personnel and inventory management, market strategy and/or position, and advertising. Above all, be sure that you have clearly defined what it is that you are selling and who exactly is your buyer. This misidentification is often a kiss of death.

The UTSA Small Business Development Center is part of the largest management and technical assistance network in the United States. The SBDC has been serving Bandera County for several years, making monthly visits to meet with local businesses. Services include assistance with startup businesses, business planning, preparation of loan proposals, and evaluation of business expansion needs. The counselor for this area is Bob Terry, former bank loan officer with real estate and retail management experience. If you would like some assistance with your business, call the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce at 796-3045 to schedule an appointment. Terry visits Bandera on the first Thursday of each month. All information is held in strictest confidence and there is no charge for the counseling.

Bandera High School Volunteers Michael McCartney, Karyn Utterback, Jamie Lynch, Frank Cooke, Robert Sanders, Ernie Rangel, Juan Lopez, and Darrel Livingston pitch in to change a flat tire on the Silver Sage Corral van. The group picks up trash and various other good deeds every day.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi, y'all! How are you liking these cooler days and nights? We have sure been sleeping better! The cooler temps during the day have made working a tad easier.

Well, the gremlins got in last week's column. Kay with a "K" was re-elected as secretary of the MLVFD, not Ray with an "R" We have caught a lot of ribbing about that typo!

Speaking of the fire department, we had a very good training series Wednesday and Saturday on the jawa of life tools. Paul Minor and Ray Heisler had some good training in the classroom on Wednesday and on the actual tools Saturday. We had 14 people attending and getting actual hands-on experience on the various tools. We had cars donated by D&H Conoco to use for the training. We want to thank Doris and Harold for their help and for always being there for us.

The Medina Lake VFD wants to invite all our neighbors to come and join. We can find a job for everyone in our endeavor to protect lives and property in our community. We have members who range in age from 18-? and we have a good job for every one. This organization can help anyone have a good feeling about helping your community. We also have a good time while training and maintaining our facilities and equipment. How's that for a recruiting spiel?

• The Cajun Festival is coming up this Saturday, Sept. 28. The Medina Lake Betterment Association folks can still use some help and so can the fire department on traffic control and parking. If you are interested in helping in any way, please get in touch with us! If you are feeling lazy, just come on down and mingle with the crowd and have a Cajun good time. We understand there will be live music and dance lessons all day long. To keep your energy up there will be all kinds of food. Now that gets our attention!

• Has anyone been having trouble with fire ants in the house? Boy, we sure have. We have been spraying, dusting and cleaning all over the place. We still have to check the chairs before sitting or the bed before hitting the sack. We figure the heat and dry weather drove them inside. Anyhow, we are still doing battle with the fiery creatures.

Well, duty calls so we better get with it and see if we can get anything accomplished this week. We will be looking forward to seeing all of y'all at the Cajun Fest this Saturday. Until then, we will be locking for you over the back fence.

Bulldogs hang Texans at rainy homecoming

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Bandera Bulldogs seemingly took the advantage of the home turf and driving rains to trounce the Wimberley Texans 15-6 at Friday's Homecoming game.

It was the first win for the Bulldogs.

Neither team scored until late in the second quarter, when after seven fumbles, the 'Dogs Tim Gard racked up 12 points. The Texans dropped the ball five times, and the 'Dogs recovered three of those.

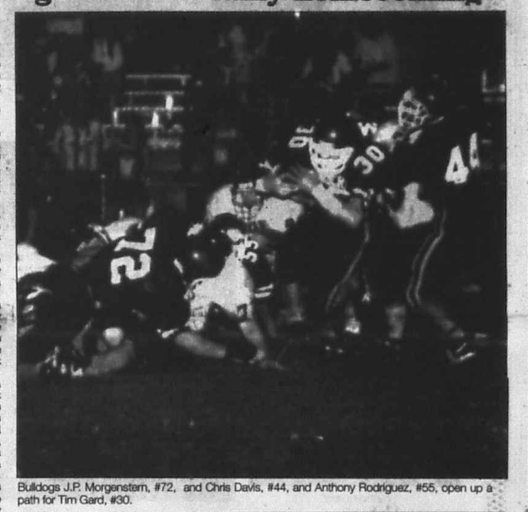
After a homecoming half-time, the 'Dogs got on the board again when Patrick Mazurek scored a field goal from eight yards out.

Wimberley came back in the fourth with a touchdown run by Mike Whalen with 4:41 left on the clock.

"It's good to get the boys win a game, they've been working hard for it," Coach Mike Williamson said. "We hope this will give us renewed confidence as we prepare to begin district play this week at Lytle."

Bandera and Wimberley both racked up 20 first downs, but the 'Dogs outrushed the Texans 186 to 108 yards. The Texans both attempted and completed more passes than the Bulldogs, however, Bulldog David Gibson received a pass from the Texan quarterback for an interception.

Tim Gard rushed for 90 yards in the game, and has racked up 203 total for the season, putting him in the lead for the 'Dogs.



Jason Garcia has totaled 188 rushing yards for the season.

Gard and Garcia also lead the team in tackles for the season.

Williamson cited as offensive standouts Pat Mazurek, Tim Gard, Robert Wagner, Cody Elder, J.P. Morgenstern, Jeb Chesson, Jay Pease and Nate Moehring.

Defensively, Tim Gard, Pat Mazurek, Jason Garcia, Justin Knight and David Gibson as standout players.

The Bulldogs travel to Lytle for the district season opener this Friday.

Bulldogs J.P. Morgenstern, #72, and Chris Davis, #44, and Anthony Rodriguez, #55, open up a path for Tim Gard, #30.

Bobcats put holes in Trojan defense

The Medina Bobcats got on track this week by defeating the Asherton Trojans 26-0.

The Bobcats exploded for two touchdowns in the second quarter with 7:24 left on the clock. Matt DeLeon raced around the right side for a 10-yard touchdown run. The 2-point conversion failed.

With 4:55 left in the second, Codie Rainey capped a three-yard run to make the score 12-0 at half-time.

The Bobcats had a nice return in the second half as Rodney Garcia took the opening kickoff and returned it 44 yards. With 8:57 left in the third, the Bobcat's Rainey raced up the middle for a 14-yard touchdown.

Finally, with 11:53, the Bobcats sealed the game with a DeLeon 16-yard run up the right side for his second touchdown of the night, with Rainey adding the 2-point conversion.

Rainey rumbled for 104 yards on 18 carries and DeLeon was 10 for 83. The offensive player of the week is Clint Singleton, a freshman who guided the team at quarterback, replacing the injured Phillip Haines.

"Defensively, the Bobcats held the Trojans to merely 72 yards rushing on 33 attempts and 160 yards," Coach Joe Salinas said. "Mike Parks played outstanding defense accompanied by Eric Morrison and the rest of the Bobcats."

Parks was named the defensive player of the week.

Lady Bulldogs begin district with a win and a loss

Tracey Edwards gets ready to return a serve

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Although the Lady Bulldogs lost their first district game to Medina Valley, they rebounded on their second to beat Ingram, making their district record 1-1.

The host Lady 'Dogs lost to Medina Valley 7-15 and 10-15 on Sept. 17.

"We started off on the wrong foot," Coach Darcy Rogers said. "In the first five minutes, we missed serves."

Bandera served 77 percent in the match, compared to Medina Valley's 95 percent.

Heidi Hicks led the Lady Bulldogs with five kills. Michelle Dester and Ashley Godfrey each had eight assists. April Koehler led with five blocks and four digs.

On Sept.. 21, the girls came back against Ingram, beating the Warriors 15-3 and 16-14.

"The girls came back in a more controlled and consistent manner," Rogers said.

She attributed some of it to three excellent practices on the days preceding the match.

"We came out with confidence and control," Rogers said. "As long as we continue to play with that kind of poise, we'll do real well for the rest of the season."

Mary Domine dominated the stats with 10 digs, while Shandra Zickler contributed eight kills and Dexter came in with seven assists.

The Lady 'Dogs served at 91 percent.

First week district standings have all teams at 1-1, except Medina Valley who has missed a game, and stands at 1-0.

JV Bulldogs stay on top

The Bandera Junior Varsity Football Team extended its record to 3 wins, 0 losses Thursday, Sept. 19, when they defeated a sophomore team from San Antonio Clark High School.

Bandera's first score was made on a five yard run by Jonathan Bossom. The touchdown was set up by a 20 yard pass from Brent Morris to Logan Wheeler. Bossom also added the two point conversion on a 3 yard run.

The Bulldogs' second score came on a 7 yard run by T.J. Odom. The conversion try failed, giving Bandera their 14 to 0 margin of victory.

The defense did an outstanding job, keeping the Cougar sophomores out of the end zone. James Cammack, Lee Turner, Melchor Fernandez, Ernie Rangel, Evan Dews, Cliff Despres, Logan Wheeler, and David Cantu all had outstand-
