Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Betty Suddath

Seniors sure are missing a free bet! There is great entertainment at the Silver Sage Corral presented by well-known outstanding musicians in the persons of Dr. George Meador, Steve Forest, Bob [illegible] and (last but not least) Clarence Adamietz. Don't miss the opportunity to [illegible] and meet your neighbors on June 9. Come on down, especially you men folks!

The Second Sunday Combo of violins, guitars and keyboard featuring special arrangements of all the old favorites of the 30s, 40s and 50s.

Their May 5 performance was enhanced by Clarence's relatives dropping by the Senior Center. They are annual visitors to the St. Stanislaus bar-b-que. Walter Jureske and wife, Judy, are from Coral Gables, Florida. Walter and his niece, Jean, (Bandera natives) and Jean's family of San Antonio were a talented group.

Rodney and Toni and children, Brandon, Gabriel and Ariel are a roller-skating family who compete all over the U.S. in their age brackets. Brandon and Gabriel recently won the Silver Medal at Syracuse, N.Y. National Roller Skating Competition.

The whole family loved the music and [illegible] to [illegible] also. The highlight of the day was Gabriel doing her routine, like a "pro." Young people are urged to come and hear our kind of music.

Remember: 1 to 4 p.m. on June 9 at the Silver Sage Corral. Let's make it a musical summer.

Director's Note: Sue Walker, Triad coordinator, the Silver Sage Corral and all who took part in the Triad signing on May 9 wish to thank the entire community for attending this event. Approximately 150 city and county leaders and friends showed up to welcome Attorney General Dan Morales and to witness the signing of the Triad agreement. What a tremendous show of support for the senior citizens of our community.

Chafin wins Will-to-Win

Bandera senior B.J. Chafin received both the prestigious Will-to-Win Award and the McDade Bulldog Award at the high school's annual awards ceremony held Tuesday, May 7.

"B.J. is an excellent student," said school counselor Liz Vakey. "He is graduating 12th in his class with a GPA of 4.65."

Chafin, in addition to his academic achievements, has participated in basketball and cross-country for four years. He is president of the Business Professionals of America and competed at the national level this spring. Chafin is secretary of the National Honor Society and is a member of the FHA.

The outstanding student works at Heartland as a carpenter's apprentice and plans to go the San Antonio College to study computer science.

Chafin has attended Bandera schools for thirteen years.

His parents are Dwight Chafin and Maudie Chafin.

The Will-to-Win Award, made up of parts from many old Bandera school trophies, recognizes a student that has, in the opinion of the faculty, overcome many obstacles to excel.

The McDade Bulldog Award is a monetary award presented each year by Tom and Dorothy McDade to a student that "captures the imagination and respect of the Bandera High School faculty."

I want to thank everyone who voted for and supported me in the BISD election. Thanks also to those voting for my two opponents; at least you demonstrate concern and interest in an important local matter.

Now that the election is behind us, I look forward to working with the school board, faculty and staff, and members of the community on various school district challenges for the next three years. The severe over-crowding and facilities problems at the Middle School is a priority. Thanks again for your support.

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly congratulate Linda Barton on her victory in the School Board Election on May 4th. I know she will continue to do a good job and she has my support.

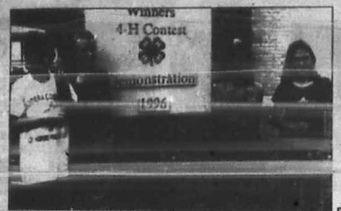
I would appreciate it if in the future the residence of Medina would give me the opportunity to respond to anything that they may have heard in the notorious Medina Rumor Mill. As my friends will tell you, I am a straight forward person and I will be glad to tell you what I said or did. This will guarantee you the facts and not the false rumors that keep going around Medina. A select few in Medina went to the trouble to ask me what my views and opinions were prior to the election. The rest of you decided that the Rumor Mill was probably more interesting. More people should take the time to ask the person in question to their face, there would be a lot less to gossip about and people would not be hurt by your accusations and innuendos. You deserve and have the right to hear both sides of a story in order to make a fair judgment.

Recently, I have been at the school discussing the Cheerleader procedures and policies that concerned my daughter. That is my right as a parent. My child's happiness and welfare come first in my life, as I am sure that most of you with children will concur. However, I have been criticized and bad-mouthed for being a concerned mother. The last time I checked, we live in a democracy, but in the past 6 weeks; between the School Board Election and the Cheerleading situation, I am not allowed to be a mother or have an opinion.

When my family and I moved to Medina, we felt it was a great community to raise our daughter in. I hope that each of you can re-evaluate your positions in the community and help mend the division that has taken place these past few months. If questions or comments arise, please take the time to find out the facts for yourself from the appropriate individual and not listen to the Rumor Mill. Maybe then we can rebuild the fences and create the harmony Medina once had.

Sincerely,
Suzy Bulter

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores



The Walker Memorial Chapel Youth Director reported that the Friday night youth program got off to a good start on Friday, May 10. There was a good turn-out of youth and adults. This says there is room for many more. All youth in the area are welcome.

Debbie Cody and her husband, Bill, spent Mother's Day with Marietta Overholser, Debbie's mother. They all attended and enjoyed worship services at Walker Chapel.

The wife and I and our daughter, Judy Hines have been enjoying sitting on our dock looking at what used to be a river, but is now just a small stream of water. The scarcity of water in the pastures has many animals coming to the river in front of our house. Early morning there are deer getting a drink. We have also seen two peacocks, guinea hens and other forms of wildlife. Snakes are also moving down to what is left of the river for their water. I've spotted a moccasin and a coral snake, so be careful on your nature walks. We feel sorry for those people living in the big cities that can only read about mother nature!

I was surprised the other day when I was asked why fire departments have fund raisers. Don't they get enough from taxes, the questioner asked. Well, as a matter of fact, no, there is no help from the federal, state, county or city to help cover the cost of equipment or operation for our volunteer fire department. That is why we need to have our barbecues, bingos and other types of fund raisers. It costs big money for the operations of our department.

It is only 10 days until the big day at Wharton's Dock, when Department has their barbecue. There will be many nice items for the auction, flea market and country store. For you bingo fans, the games run from 2 to 4 p.m.

Megan Tracy, Megan Hayes, Ashley Tobin and Sarah Murphy place first at the District 10 4-H contest field recently. They make up the junior 4-H livestock team.

The following were elected to serve for the new board year: Randy Sawyer, vice-president; and Linda Barton, secretary.

MEDINA

C. Rose Jones

This weather has been a nuisance recently and the rain a blessing. Some areas received as much as 4 inches off Hwy. 46. I did my part to help my husband feel really good about the rain. I added two inches of water to the rain gauge and didn't tell him! He was out bragging about how much rain we got here on the west prong.

• There will be a miscellaneous wedding shower for Jeanette Williams and Chris Lewis Saturday, May 18 at 3 p.m. at the Methodist Church. Jeanette is the daughter of Arlen and Linda Williams.

• For all you kids and parents who want to learn to swim this summer, now is your chance. Summer Swim Team and Red Cross swimming lessons are being offered on an individual or group basis at the Hurley's on North Prong in their 25 meter lap pool. Call 589-7274.

• Brad Harvey received his degree from Tarleton State. Mom and dad, Jim and Pat, along with sisters Jamie and Joanna, and grandmother, Mildred Harvey from San Antonio; Thelma Gallant, Kristina Ashley and Mike and Misti Harvey were in attendance. Grandparents James A. and Neda Gallant were unable to attend due to illness.

Other graduates are: Cody Doyle and Wendie Holt from Southwest Texas Jr. College and Melissa Hubble from Texas A&M.

• Congratulations to Misti Wells for winning a third and fourth place in Cutty Doyle who got a fifth at the area UIL meet.

• It's time for youth to sign up for Baptist summer camp which begins July 8 and for a weekend camp beginning July 5 for high school age kids. Children's Camp at Alto Frio in Leakey will be June 24-27 for 3rd through 6th grades.

• Jaye Lowe is now certified as a Postmaster Relief and is working in the post office as well as still having the cleaning contract there.

Hospital

The lady that is home after receiving a by-pass is Mrs. Boyd Reed (Marie). Please excuse the mistaken name in last week's column, Marie.

Tom Harrison went in Monday for treatment at Methodist.

Birthdays

May 19: Jack Huie, Dorothy LeStourgeon.

May 20: Faye Kelley, Corky Craddock.

• Remember about the family with the winning streak going for them last week? Get this: Barbara's nephew was recently on The Price is Right and won nearly $7,000 in prizes. The show will be aired May 24. This makes all of Marilyn Hansett's grandchildren winners of money, prizes or raffles in a two week time frame. What a coincidence!

T-shirt designs due today

May 15 is the deadline for placing an entry in the 1996 Texas International Apple Festival T-shirt design competition. Aspiring artists with a clever idea for this year's festival shirt design won't want to miss this competition.

Methodists dedicate education building

The new educational building of the Medina United Methodist Church was dedicated to the glory of God and to the ministry of Jesus Christ on Sunday, April 28.

About 100 persons attended the service of dedication, including 25 pre-school and elementary-aged children and 15 youth who are enrolled in weekly Sunday School classes.

There are eight class rooms, an office, a reception area and rest rooms included in the building design.

Most of the rooms have been in use for about a year while final work was completed. Much of the finishing labor was done by volunteers.

The cabinets throughout the building were designed and constructed by John McClothlin and Gladford Toalson. During the dedication service the cabinets were dedicated to the memory of Gladford Toalson who died on December 26.

During the service, Fourth Coates, the building committee chairman, recognized the contributions of other committee members, especially the work of King Stokes, who served as the on-sight overseer on a daily basis during the construction of the building.

Harold H. Zirkel, the church's pastor, recognized the continuing work of many volunteers who serve as teachers and leaders in teaching the Bible and in witnessing to Christ every week.

Hi, y'all! Another week gone by. At least this one was a little less hectic.

The American Legion Post 410 will have their Memorial Day service at 10 a.m. Monday, May 27 at the Legion Hall. Plan to attend to honor our service people, past and present.

We had the pleasure at our barbecue to get a hug from Ruth Glover. All of us out here know Ruthie and how she has been recovering from a very serious auto accident some months back. When this EMT arrived at the scene he thought he would not see her alive again. Her sons, Ron and Bob Solomon kept us up to date and at the barbecue in she walks just about as perky as ever!

Kay and I actually did a little fishing Sunday. Our son-in-law took us to Calaveras Lake and we fed the perch and catfish. Caught one fish about the length of our hand and spent the rest of the time practice casting and putting new hooks and weights on my line.

The area east of us around the Schott Ranch took a bad pounding from hail. When we drove through after the storm, there were trees down and leaves knocked off by the hail were two inches deep on the road. We guess you have to take the bad with the good.

Gus Limon has a birthday on the same day as Kay. We forgot to mention it last week.

Coming up on June 2 will be the St. Victor's Spring barbecue. This is another chance to enjoy good food and meet your neighbors and friends that we are too busy to see otherwise. They will have their usual carnival booths and plenty of fun and food.

We will be looking for you, so keep the comments coming. We will see you over the back fence.

Thank goodness Bandera is still keeping up its reputation as the Cowboy Capital. The other day, on one end of Main Street, a saddled up, ready to go, longhorn was hitched up outside the Opry, and on the other end, parked outside the Cabaret, was a pick up truck with a big freshly cut up buffalo, complete with head and hide.

Dusty Britches' Crawfish Race and Festival just keeps growing each year. I can remember when they used to race them across the sawdust at the Silver Dollar. Now there is not only a bunch of deelish crawfish and lots of music, but there's a golf tournament involved, too!

There's a place just north of Austin called the Jordan-Bachman Pioneer Farms and they have a great schedule of summer "living farm" activities, like cooking on a wood-burning stove, planting sweet potatoes, making jams and jellies, pressing sorghum and pioneer games. You can call Austin Parks and Recreation for a schedule, or wouldn't it be fun to throw at least one Pioneer Day here, with all that and maybe a tour of historical buildings with living history guides. Maybe our County Birthday Party will evolve into just that kind of event!

There's a wild horse and burro adoption on May 18 at the Freeman Coliseum. Adoption fees are $125 per horse and $75 per burro. Sounds like a bargain to me. Over 100 horses and 70 burros are available.

Rov's Downunder, which originally was Crazy Bob's, will be having our very favorite, Darrell McCall, who, by the way, lives in Helotes. He was our grand marshal, one year, on Memorial day. And speaking of parade, all over town, locals are getting really excited about their floats they are creating for the grand parade on May 25. I can remember when we couldn't get any locals except trail riders into the parade —what fun to see them having such fun!

The wonderful Mrs. Alkek has put $75,000 into an account in a local bank, to be used as matching funds for a youth center. Any ideas how to get the other $75,000? We need a youth center.

Tarpley's Dorothy Mattiza has struck again. Her photo, in living color, of sunflowers and butterfly, is on the cover and inside of Texas Gardener magazine.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

As we travel our journey through life we all experience, at some time or another, unhappiness and sorrow. We don't like to be unhappy or to feel sorrow. But too often when sorrow strikes us we close not merely the windows of our houses, but the windows of our souls. We sit in the dark with our grief. We keep away from the light, from the things that give happiness.

There is so much joy in the world-if we would only take time to enjoy it. It need not be much to make us happy-just the everyday things in life, the beauty around us, the pleasures of work, of companionship, of friends.

I have often wondered how different the world would be if people felt free to enjoy life. To say "I am happy" and to spend more time thinking of that happiness, no matter how simple, than to ponder on the sorrow that preceded it. A great man once said: "Joy is the grace we say to God."

Be happy. You can be, if you will but open the windows of your soul to God's sunlight.....

RIDE 'EM COWBOY -- Top professional rodeo cowboys will be providing lots of Cowboy Capital of the World-type excitame this weekend as the PRCA rodeo comes to Mansfield Park Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Slack performances will be held at t park arena beginning on Thursday. The Rodeo Queen will be crowned at Sunday evening's performance. The rodeo is spc sored by the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association. Photo by David Jennings.

Rodeo - ready to ride

Once again Bandera's Memorial Day PRCA Rodeo will be brought to the fans by the rodeo company known for its innovative and progressive ideas — Bad Company Rodeo.

Bad Company's 1996 "Turn the Page" Tour promises to be the best and most exciting ever by setting more records in the book.

The rodeo will kick off with an autograph party featuring rodeo clowns and contestants at the Bella Union Dance Hall from 6-8 p.m. on Wednesday, May 22. That will be followed by a big rodeo kick-off party.

Rodeo performances will be held Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings at 8 p.m. at the Mansfield Park arena.

Slack performances, in which the over flow contestants compete, will be held in the steer roping category Thursday morning. Slack in all other events will be Thursday evening.

Each evening performance of the rodeo will open with one of the most exciting events in rodeo, mutton busting. The event has proven to be a real crowd pleaser as the littlest cowboys cling to a wooly sheep with spirited determination until the buzzer sounds. Rodeo organizers encourage you to get out to the arena early to see this exciting display.

Barrel racing is the purest race in rodeo, say the experts.

Contestants are competing against one another, but first they are racing against the clock.

Cowgirls enter the arena at full-throttle, maneuvering their mounts through a three-barrel cloverleaf pattern, then exiting still on the fly. Barrel racers are members of the Women's Professional Rodeo Association, sister organization of the PRCA.

While other timed events are clocked in tenths of a second, barrel racing is the only event timed in hundredth — and sometimes even thousandths — of a second because times are so close.

Kristie Peterson of Elbert, Colo. currently holds the lead for champion barrel racer with $35,855 in winnings.

IT'S NOT ENOUGH -- Bandera Downs owner Bill Allan decided a bid from an Austin engineer for the property was not enough at a real estate auction Saturday.

Allan refuses $625,000 bid

Race track remains unsold

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Saturday's auction of properties belonging to William Allan did nothing to settle the question of what is going to happen to Bandera Downs.

After months of rumors about country music stars and Arab sheiks coming up with the big bucks to turn the property into a money-making venue once again, no one came up with enough money to entice Allan to accept an offer to sell the closed racing facility.

The Downs was at the end of a long list of properties owned by Allan and his associates put up on the auctioneer's block Saturday at the Marriot Rivercenter Hotel in San Antonio.

The auction was conducted by J.P. King Auction Company, a real estate auction company out of Alabama.

Bidders found bargain prices for tracts of land in San Antonio and central and west Texas. The largest tract was a 51,000 acre ranch near Dryden in Terrell County which sold in pieces from $32 to $65 per acre.

Bandera Downs was one of the few properties offered with an owner's reserve.

When Majid Hemmasi, an Iranian-born engineer from Austin won the top bid of $625,000 for the track facility, Allan exercised his option and refused the bid.

A Bandera County realtor at the auction said he had a group that had planned to put together a million dollars to bid on the property, but did not follow through. "They'll be kicking themselves now," he said.

According to track officials, Allan wants to pay off debts owed by Officer cited for bravery in action

VFW Post Commander Bill Bryce presents officer Shane Merritt with a plaque of honor.

The Veteran's of Foreign Wars Post #9176 presented city police officer Shane Merritt with a plaque honoring him for bravery and outstanding action while in the line of duty after an accident in the city in March.

"I think we all owe Officer Shane Merritt a big thank you for his actions which possibly saved lives," Commander Bill Bryce said.

The accident occurred when a vehicle on Hwy. 16 lost control, skidded across both lanes, jumped a double stack of railroad ties and came to rest on the passenger side just inside the parking area of Jennings Anderson Ford.

Additionally, the car had struck a utility pole and a gas meter before coming to rest. The utility pole supported a large outside light, which landed on the ground near the vehicle. The gas meter had been torn from its supply line and was laying about 80 feet away. The supply line was bent toward the wrecked vehicle and was spraying the rear axle area of the car with gas.

To make the situation even more dangerous, the hood of the vehicle had popped open and the engine was on fire.

Merritt was the first officer to arrive on the scene.

"In ten seconds the officer knew what he faced, and made his decision to act," Police Chief Lynn Holt said.

Merritt first called for the fire department, then approached the vehicle to remove any people from inside.

"He could not approach the vehicle in a safe manner, but approached it in a manner which presented the least danger, given the fire, spraying natural gas and electric wires," Holt said. "The officer later learned that the occupants of the vehicle had fled the scene just seconds before his arrival...His concern was not for himself, but for the people that might be inside."

Police work, Holt said, is often hours and hours of boring and routine work punctuated by moments of sheer terror.

Holt said, "The fact that this officer suffered no injury to himself only re-enforces the belief that at certain times officers must place themselves in the hands of a power greater than of this earth."

Cemetery Association plans Memorial Day service

The 1996 Memorial Day Service and business meeting of the Bandera Cemetery Association will be Monday, May 27 at the Cemetery in Bandera.

The $10 per lot annual dues will be payable at this time for those not members of the Permanent Fund. Membership in the fund may be obtained at any time by use the fee of $100 for each burial space or $200 for lots with no more than five burial spaces.

After the Memorial Service, a business meeting will be held. The officers and directors for the coming year will be nominated and elected.

The public is invited to attend.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 39 calls for service, issued two warning citations, and eight citations, for the week of May 13 through May 19, 1996. Calls for service include ten assist other agencies, three accidents, two suspicious circumstances, one domestic dispute, one loud music, four suspicious vehicles, two suspicious persons, four public assists, two animal calls, one juvenile referral for burglary of a vehicle, two alarms, one fight, one public intoxication arrest, one attempt to locate, one disorderly conduct, one extra patrol, one making alcohol available to minors, and two truant juveniles.

Wyatt Charles Jones, 67, of Bandera was arrested and charged with public intoxication. One juvenile, 15, of Bandera County, was referred to juvenile authorities for burglary of a vehicle.

"A Memorial day holiday is upon us this weekend. A large increase in traffic of all kinds will be in and around Bandera. A parade with over 100 entries, and the many other activities will certainly draw a large number of people to Bandera. Please be extra careful when walking or driving. Do not drink and drive this holiday, as we all wish for a safe holiday," Police Chief Lynn Holt reminds us.

Burn ban ended

Bandera County Commissioners Court met for a called meeting on Friday, May 17 and voted to end the county-wide burn ban.

Scattered showers throughout the county in recent weeks, plus the spring green up has lessened the danger of fires.

Commissioners ask citizens to continue to exercise caution with any outside burning.

The commissioners also rejected two bids for contracts on county vehicle maintenance. Commissioner Dan Alsnia of Precinct 2 will supervise the county [illegible] months instead.

Ranch riding policies changed

Silver Spur Dude Ranch [illegible] have changed in the wake of an accident there two weeks ago that left a New Jersey woman dead.

The woman died two days after falling off her horse during a routine trail ride at the guest ranch.

"It's always been our policy that inexperienced riders do not run," Winchell said. "An experienced rider could canter a little, but very slowly."

According to Winchell, the woman's horse was running when she fell. He speculated that the horse spooked and bolted, or possibly the woman kicked the horse into a run.

Now, however, Winchell said that no-one will be allowed to run. He said that guests are well versed in the rules before they [illegible]

"We have a video on horseback riding that they are required to watch," he said. In addition, the wranglers tutor people.

"They (the wranglers) are always on the lookout for things that might cause an accident," Winchell said. "We don't want anybody to get hurt. Any accident is horrible."

The owner also said that the ranch will set up a fund for the woman's family. Her husband and two daughters were with her when the accident occurred.

Money for the fund will be a portion of every guest's fee for the next year.

"It's not that we think it is our fault," Winchell said. "It's to help the family."

Memorial Day for remembrance

Dear Editor:

On this Memorial Day, I wish to remember and to express my [illegible] to recognize those not so ordinary citizens, both military and civilian, whose contributions have enabled us to maintain the degree of freedom we now enjoy. More than that, I would like for Memorial Day to be a day of re-dedication. It should be a day when, as individuals and as a nation, we recommit ourselves to uphold the principles of freedom we hold so dear but take for granted.

Ours is a government of the people, for the people and by the people; the people who participate, that is. I encourage you all to become more active.

Asphalt elegant?

Dear Editor:

re: The Bandera County [illegible] cent Bandera County portion of this 4.5 million dollar project (that's $450,000 to Bandera County)?

What about the long-term maintenance and upkeep of this expensive complex? Who is to pay for it? It will be the taxpayers of Bandera County? Does that sound like a familiar refrain?

Proponents of the airport will tell you of the growth and business development that will follow the airport. I cannot say for certain that business expansion will not follow the building of an airport, however, neither can the supporters of the project guarantee that it will. I can tell what will follow with 100 percent certainty: bills for maintenance and upkeep, noise pollution, visual [illegible], a reduction in the [illegible] affecting [illegible] tourism industry and a permanent eyesore in the midst of some of the finest ranch and residential property in the county.

Finally, ask yourself who has the most to gain from this project. Is it the taxpayers of Bandera County or is it consulting firms from Austin, airport engineering and design firms from Dallas, or airport construction companies from Houston? Who will benefit most from sucking up $4.5 million of public funds, then leaving local property owners to pay the continuing costs of maintaining a monument to official malfeasance and bad judgment.

If you believe as I do that this is a classic case of a poorly planned, poorly thought out project that has found a following among those who expect to get something for nothing or those that expect to get healthy at taxpayer's expense, then join in the fight to defeat the Bandera Airport boondoggle. Attend the meeting June 11 at the courthouse or join us at a meeting on June 5 in which we will explore ways in which to protest and defeat this Asphalt Elephant.

Wants speed trap

Dear Editor:

As a landowner and taxpayer in our fair county, I would like to know why we on Wharton's Dock Road are not entitled to the services of our county.

There is no regulation of speed on our roads. There is no traffic control. Do we not pay the same taxes as those in our fair city?

[We've heard some judges] arrange speed traps. Why, in heaven's name, are there none on our road? How many people have to be injured or die before action is taken?

It's time to slow the idiots down.

Come on, judge, it's time to give those visitors on 16 and 173 that come to Bandera to spend their money a break! Pay attention to your good law-abiding citizens at Wharton's Dock that take their lives in jeopardy every morning going to work and coming home in the evening.

Langfords settle in Privilege Creek area

When Edwin P. Langford and Miss Matilda Lane were married by the Rev. J.N. Mickle on August 20, 1902, they came to a small cabin on Privilege Creek to make their home.

They were substantial citizens of the community and had four children who grew up there.

The four children were Arantha, Frank, Lane and Jewell.

The little cabin was added onto to make room for the growing family.

The Langford Ranch was located in a very picturesque part of Bandera County.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Well, my world is rocking this week.

I find myself agreeing with both the American Federation of Teachers (see editorial below) and the American Civil Liberties Union in the same week! Whoa. This is pretty scary for this little conservative girl, I'll tell you right now.

The ACLU is intervening in Oregon to try to stop a district attorney from using a tape of a confession by a prisoner to his priest.

The prisoner is charged in the murder of three children, a particularly heinous crime. While in jail, he asked to see his priest and made his spiritual confession to him.

Unfortunately, the entire exchange between priest and prisoner was taped and now the prosecutor intends to use the tape in the presentation to the grand jury.

Sometimes the line between church and state becomes somewhat blurred, but surely there is nothing confusing about the sanctity of the confessional.

Is it to the point that common sense is no longer possible from the judicial system?

John Cole, president of the Texas Federation of Teachers, seems to think it is.

I usually toss anything I get from his organization in the trash after reading the first couple of paragraphs, since I haven't agreed with much of any of their propaganda since I quit teaching 18 years ago. So, I was somewhat surprised to find Cole reflecting my own thoughts on IDEA. Be sure to read what he has to say. And if you agree, write Lamar Smith and let him know how you feel. (If you disagree, you can write Smith, too, of course. I just wish you wouldn't!)

• We don't want to be too serious for too long here in good old Bandera. So don't forget to head on out to the rodeo out at Mansfield Park this weekend, line up for the big parade Saturday, take in the arts and crafts fair, have lunch with the Lakeshore VFD fire fighters, and buy something from some of the groups who are having bake sales, rummage sales, car washes and other fund raisers this weekend! Help out a good cause.

Have a good time, and on Monday, spend a few moments reflecting on what the whole holiday is all about -- remembering our soldiers who have paid the ultimate price to defend this wonderful country of ours.

If you spot a veteran this weekend, you might tell him or her, thank you! Without them, we wouldn't be having parades, car washes...or idiot district attorneys.

Time for common sense in education?

a guest editorial by John Cole, president of the Texas Federation of Teachers (AFT, AFL-CIO)

During the 1970s American educators came to realize that our schools were unjustly denying an education to children with physical and mental disabilities. As a result, an injustice was done to hundreds of thousands of children.

To correct this injustice several education groups (including the American Federation of Teachers) pushed for legislation that would require school districts to provide an education to handicapped students and to accommodate those students in the least restrictive environment that would be appropriate for each student, considering the student's handicap. This law was passed by Congress under the title "Public Law 94-142." Today it is known as the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act (IDEA).

The concept behind the IDEA is good. The AFT supported it when it was proposed, and we support it today. However, even a good law can have some bad side effects, especially when judges interpret the law. In this case, a fine law has been twisted and perverted by rulings from various judges, so that implementation of this law has created nightmarish situations for children and teachers in our public schools.

The main problem concerns a small percentage of students who are categorized as "emotionally disturbed," a handicapping condition listed as part of IDEA. Under the law, a handicapped student must be provided an education in the "least restrictive environment" appropriate for that student. Common sense would seem to indicate that some "ED" students should not be educated in the regular classroom. For one thing, the violent and disruptive behavior exhibited by "ED" kids can constitute a threat to other children. For another, "ED" kids require more structure, more external discipline, and a more controlled setting than other children.

Flouting common sense, various courts have ruled in some pretty outrageous situations that "ED" kids must be educated in a regular classroom setting. I read of a case where an "ED" student set fire to the classroom repeatedly, attacked teachers and other students on a daily basis, and refused to follow any classroom direction, and yet the court ordered that student back into the classroom again and again, citing the IDEA's "least restrictive environment" rule.

Many of these disturbed children come to understand early on in their school career that they are privileged persons who need not follow any teacher's directions. They learn, quite accurately, that the school rules that apply to other children do not apply to them. They learn there is a "double standard" at work; other students have to follow the rules, but they do not.

What happens when a person already predisposed to violent outbursts and disruptive behavior learns that he or she can act with no fear of any adverse consequences? Any person with an ounce of common sense should understand the consequences of such an irresponsible and foolish policy.

Last year a high school student who had been previously convicted of a felony involving a firearm brought his gun to school. The school authorities discovered the gun, convened an ARD meeting, and decided to expel that student. A hearing officer for the Texas Education Agency overturned that school's expulsion! The hearing officer claimed that the student may have been carrying that gun because of his handicapping condition, so the school district could not refuse that gun-toting felon access to school. Apparently, this hearing officer conceived in his mind of a new handicapping condition: Firearm Deficit Disorder.

We now have a chance to end this double standard and restore a measure of common sense to the federal law. Congress is now considering the reauthorization of the IDEA, and the AFT is lobbying hard for changes that would allow schools to discipline "ED" students. The U.S. Senate has approved language that would go a long way toward fixing this problem, and the measure is now before the U.S. House of Representatives. You can help by urging Congress to support changes that would allow schools to discipline all students in a fair, even-handed fashion, without a double standard for the "ED" kids.

Tell your Congressional representative, Lamar Smith, that the IDEA must be changed so that teachers can effectively discipline, and if necessary remove, violent students from the classroom. Emphasize that we do not want to deprive handicapped children of an education, but teachers must have the right to discipline students so that all children have the opportunity to receive an education. We must teach children how to behave in a civilized society, and we should teach children that violence is not tolerated. We do no favor to the "ED" kids when we teach them that they are privileged persons who have license to perpetrate acts of violence and to disrupt other children's right to an education.

One of the buzz phrases repeated ad nauseam in education is the slogan, "All children can learn." I agree with that slogan, but I have a corollary: "If all children can learn, then all children can learn to behave."

It is time that we put an end to this double standard and insist that all our students live up to the same standard of behavior.

todo — or for all our readers in Quebec "un peu de tout."

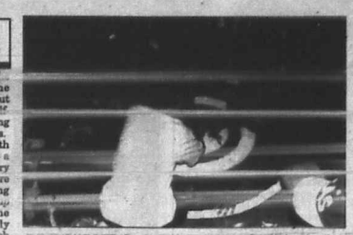
A cute lady stopped us as we were collecting ice teas at the recent St. Stanislaus Festival to [illegible] moved to Bandera after checking it out by means of a six months subscription to The Bandera Bulletin. The decision to come here, she said, was based on what she read in this column and in Bungy's Wine's Rustim.

You're the reason, she said, that I'm one of those people drilling all those new wells.

So, we couldn't resist saying, the latest thunderstorm having missed us again, well, please don't waste water!

Lured by the little bit of water we've spared the trees around the house, Ben Hevenor's TeeTock, the peahen from the river, has returned to graze in the yard and hang around the barn. This spring she brought her boy friend, Generalisimo Pavo Narciso Fulano de Tal, a splashily gorgeous cock, decked out in his colors of peacock blue, black, white, sienna, green and dragging his long magnificent tail.

For a day, Narciso followed his quiet little mate around, now and then fanning out his fancy tail. But then he discovered his image in the shiny bumper of the Geologist's old Caddy in the carport. He became utterly transfixed, spending hours swaying back and forth in rapt admiration of himself. When we, fighting the accumulation of droppings thereabouts, hung an old sheet to hid the rear of the [illegible] back of the pickup. All the bumper stickers interfered but did not deter him for [illegible] absorption. Neither did yelling at him and brandishing brooms.



Dawn Mansfield came up with the suggestion that we put up a real mirror somewhere and try to divert him to a location where he could at least be fertilizing the lawn. So up went a [illegible] old rotating mirror from the green house. Narciso finally noticed it and has started each day since turning and staring and turning a staring. We all call him Narciso because he needs to join Egoists Anonymous and get his mind on some constructive activity. Like helping Pavita sit on the nest. All all peacocks like this? Total narcissists?

The other day at lunch in New Braunfels, the ebullient Monsignor Eugene O'Callaghan, family friend and chaplain, was holding forth in his usual County Cork enthusiasm. He was telling all present of the visit to St. Peter and St. Paul of a missionary father fresh from Central America. The priest was recounting stories surrounding the many baptisms he had performed at his remote outpost and how interesting some of the names of the babies were.

One eager couple presented an infant to be named Madeinusa. Quite extraordinary, Father thought, not a typical Indian or Spanish name. How, he asked the parents, did they think of it? Oh, said the mama, we read it on a big carton at the warehouse where we go to receive donations from abroad.

Get it? Madeinusa. Made in USA!

There was an energetic young trucker from Clad, Texas parked this past week on Hwy. 16 in front of the erstwhile race track, with a load of beautiful hay. From the San Luis Valley of Colorado, i.e said, kept green in the barn all winter. Alfalfa and timothy. Eight dollars a bale. He was gone next day. Did he sell out?

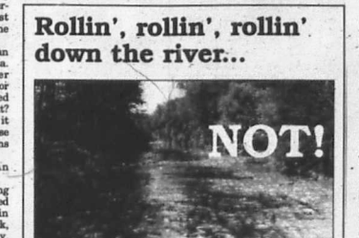
Legion invites everyone to their Open House



Bandera American Legion Post 157 will host an Open House following the Memorial Day parade Saturday.

"There will be free tamales and refreshments while they last," said post commander Bob Turner.

"We will also have ice cream and goodies for the kids, so bring them to meet and talk with the veterans," said Turner.

The post will enter a float in the parade that will demonstrate a valuable history lesson and instill a sense of pride in all who see it, said Turner.

Rollin', rollin', rollin' down the river...

It will be a bumpy ride down the Medina for any river tubers this weekend. It might be more fun to look for dinosaur tracks.

County dads hear airport impact report

Hearing scheduled for June 11

by Carolyn B. Edwards Bulletin Editor

"We predict a $3.39 million per year impact if we had the airport today," said CharlesWillis to Bandera County Commissioners. "An airport creates employment and stimulates economic activity."

Willis, of Willis and Associates, presented a report to Bandera County commissioners on the status and progress of the proposed county airport at the regular session of the court Wednesday, May 8.

The firm of architects, engineers and planners have completed a 2-year study that looked for an appropriate airport site, developed a master plan for development and conducted the environmental impact study and looked at the economic impact of a county airport.

"It's been found that a every time a plane lands at a local airport, approximately $150 is spent before take-off," said Willis. "That money circulates in the community."

Pilots and aircraft owners in the Bandera County area surveyed by the firm indicated a high degree of interest in a county airport. Two private air strips, one at Flying L and one at Purple Sage Ranch owned by Conoco, were closed to public use several years ago. The closest airstrip to Bandera now is in Boerne.

The study looked at 10 possible sites north, east and south of Bandera. Those sites were judged by various criteria. The study recommends a 220 acre site largely owned by one owner off of FM 3240 north of Bandera. The location is the site of an old landing field, does not cut across any roads and is in a non-residential area.

The site would allow space for a 5,000 foot runway which would accommodate small private and corporate jets.

Funding for small airport projects is available from state and federal sources, up to 90 percent of the cost of development.

Former county judge Ray Mauer, who has been serving as chairman of the airport committee, told commissioners that Kerrville's airport is operating at a profit and the Gillespie County airport had several companies move into their facility after they heathened their way to accommodate themself jets. "That's by a successful county airport is good management," said Mauer.

Judge Roger Hager told the commissioners that the state will want the county to acquire the land as a sign of good faith before moving ahead with the project.

"An aggressive pursuit of the project could see a county airport here in 3-5 years," said Willis.

A public hearing about the airport project will be held June 11 at 7 p.m. at the Bandera County Courthouse. It will consider the social, economic and environmental effects of the airport development. The hearing will also consider the consistency of the airport with the goals and objectives of existing planning that has been carried out for this area.

All interested citizens are invited to attend the hearing. Verbal and written comments from the public regarding the proposed project are requested.

An environmental impact statement is available for review at the courthouse and the Bandera County Library.

Use caution in summer job search

Summer is almost here, and [illegible] pounding the pavement looking for a summer job. There are many legitimate jobs out there, but young people should use caution when looking at "help wanted" ads.

Some tips when looking for a job include:

• Ask questions about the person running the ad.

Chances are good, especially in a small community such as Bandera, that someone known to the person seeking help and can give information about their character.

• Check with the sheriff's department, the city police and the Chamber of Commerce for both good references and previous complaints.

• Be wary of working for individuals.

There are many self-employed people who can offer a student or recent graduate a good summer job, however, this area is also where a person can expect to find less scrupulous people operating.

• Never go to someone's house alone to answer a "help wanted" ad or for a job interview. This warning also includes meeting in a hotel room, or any secluded place. If they don't have an office, arrange to meet in a public place or take one or both parents along. Mention in the initial phone call that a parent will be coming along. If this presents a problem, be very suspicious about the person's motives.

• When answering the ad, ask very specific questions about the job and the pay. Someone offering a legitimate job should have no problem answering any questions. Be very wary of promises for fringe benefits such as extra money, free gifts or anything not usually involved in a regular job.

New members inducted into the National Junior Honor Society are [illegible] School include: eighth graders Erin Esparza, Billy Lamb, Dustin Mayfield, Raenetta Nance, and Sharvon Patrick; seventh graders Aubrey Hearn, Trey Hoehne, Travis Lara, Tiffini Morris, Jennifer Robinson, Tiffany Sorrell, Kendra Bryson, Kasi Chesson, Stacie Clark, Brandi Crist, Carrie Cummins, Cristina Hernandez, Bryan Johnson, Nicholas Leonard, Kate Murphy, Kimberly Schindler, Jennifer Stadje, Jennalee Teich, Joshua Terry, Latisha Wise, Geoffrey Zickler and Walker Williamson.

In a candle-lighting ceremony on April 15 the 27 students in the seventh and eighth grades were inducted into the National Junior Honor Society at Bandera Middle School.

Ms. Renee Schulze, Middle School principal, addressed parents, stressing how proud she is of these students for achieving this honor. Selection is based on five qualities, which are scholarship, leadership, character, service, and citizenship. This policy follows national guidelines from the main office of student activities in Virginia. President Nicole Coffey introduced each quality, which was then explained briefly by other NJHS members.

Sharon Anderwald, sponsor of the organization for three years, lit a candle as each student spoke. New members than recited the Honor Society pledge in which they promise to maintain the high standards of the National Junior Honor Society.

Certificates of membership were presented to the students by President Coffey and Ms. Schulze.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, parents were invited to stay for cake and punch.

New members will elect officers for next year on May 8 and will be ready to start 1996-19977 school year off and running.

Bandera County Emergency Medical Service
"When Seconds Count"
*by...*Micol L. Konvicka, EMT #34

Thousands of Texas residents die from sudden cardiac arrest each year before they reach a hospital. Many of these lives could be saved if more EMS squads carried a defibrillator, a machine that can save the lives of cardiac arrest victims by resetting the heart's natural beating pattern.

Bandera County EMS is trying to raise the money to buy four of these valuable machines with the help of The Prudential Helping Hearts Program.

Please send your tax deductible donation to: Bandera County EMS Fundraiser, P.O. Box 5, Bandera, Texas 78003.

Or purchase a $10 raffle ticket from an EMT or at the EMS office.

When you have a medical emergency, you may well be asking for the assistance of your local volunteer EMT's. Today we are asking for yours. Thank you!

High School Writer awards certificates

Gardenia Gonzalez, Carrie Love, Sarah Gossmann and David Chupp of Bandera High School have received certificates of literary merit awarded to them by the High School Writer.

The High School Writer is a monthly classroom teaching magazine developed to provide a "real audience" for students and to thereby foster the desire among young people to learn good reading and writing skills.The magazine consists of works written by students and includes fiction as well as nonfiction, essays, and poetry.

Good writing skills are an essential ingredient in the recipe for success, and teachers at Bandera High School are striving to ensure that their students are equipped with these important skills.

The magazine received more than 30,000 manuscripts from all over the U.S. during the school year. Among the 3,000 pieces selected by the editorial staff and published in nine monthly issues were pieces by the four BHS students.

"I applaud the efforts of teachers at Bandera High School for their dedication to the teaching of reading and writing," commented Writer Publications' founder and publisher, Donald Kain. "Your teachers deserve a real pat on the back for a job well done."

Gleaners needed for the needy

Volunteers are needed to help the Society of St. Andrew salvage produce from a Batesville Farm and distribute it to hunger relief agencies across Southwest Texas on Saturday, May 25, 1996. Volunteers will glean, or hand pick, cabbage which is left behind in the field after harvest. They will then help deliver this produce to area soup kitchens, shelters, food pantries, children's homes, and senior citizen nutrition programs.

Gleaning is a fun activity which people of all ages will enjoy. To learn more about how you can help, please call Beth Ann Noak at (210) 665-6454.

Explanation of new farm bill available

A meeting to explain the new Farm Bill will be held Wednesday, May 29 at 7:00 p.m. in the Bandera County Farm Service Agency conference Room at 1110 Main.

FSA County Executive Director Joy Gallagher said the meeting will specifically cover the new seven years production flexibility contracts.

"Eligible producers are those [illegible] said Gallagher.

President Clinton signed the Federal Agriculture Improvement and Reform Act (FAIR) on April 4, 1996. The act provides for the Agricultural Market Transition Act (AMTA) Program. AMTA replaces ARP of previous farm bills. AMTA created Production Flexibility Contracts. Contracts are for seven years, beginning in 1996 and ending in 2002.

Producers may plant any crop except for fruits and vegetables on their contract acres. Contract [illegible] or left fallow as long as weeds are controlled.

Crop insurance does not have to be purchased in order to be eligible, but if it is not, a waiver must be signed.

[illegible] and wetlands provisions continues to be a condition of participation.

Producers will have only one opportunity to enroll a farm in a production flexibility contract. Producers who miss this one sign-up will not be eligible to enroll the farm at a later date. Sign-up will begin May 20 and end July 12, 1996.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

We are finally getting to that big Saturday, May 25 at Wharton's Dock where the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department fund raiser is held.

My family and I are ready to enjoy like always the best barbecue in the county, with all the trimmings and served with a smile. Cathy Stocker, who is like a daughter to the wife and I, loves to play bingo but doesn't get much of a chance in Austin so she tries to get a day off and play at the fund raiser. She has made it for the past eight years and usually helps work at the flea market.

Talking about flea market, how is it I always find some thing that I did not know I was looking for and needed?

Come on out and of course bring a money-loaded pocket book so you can find that treasure you have been looking for.

For those of you who do not have the time or may be just a little timid about baking but like home-baked goods, stop at the country store.

I am told there are some real nice items to be auctioned off starting at 4 p.m. Following the auction will be the raffle. Prizes for the raffle include some great items, such as a shotgun, 13" color T.V. and a Pro Bass Fishing Combo plus much more, so get your tickets for this event.

Thinking about it now, I realize that I have to get more tickets, it's too good of a chance plus it's for a good cause, The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department.

You to should be there! I hope to see many of you Saturday at the fire house. Come on out after the parade in Bandera.

IRS exam set

Local youth makes cereal

Nine-year old Waco Jamison's face may be looking back at you while you enjoy your morning bowl of cereal. That is, if you like Kelloggs Raisin Bran.

Waco, a student at Alkek Elementary, just happens to be the nephew of six-time world champion rodeo cowboy Ty Murray. And when Kelloggs asked Murray to grace the front of their cereal box, he got two of his nephews to join him for the back photo.

Murray, now 25, was the youngest cowboy to pass $1 in career earnings in the sport of rodeo. He is now pursuing a lucrative career in bull riding.

Young Waco is the son of Kimber Jamison, who works at Janett's in Bandera, and John Jamison, the racing director at Manor Downs.

Bible study group goes to new summer schedule

The Rio Hondo Bible Study Group held a grilled hamburger and salad picnic at the home of Priscilla Montgomery on May 8.

Guests attending included Mary Cunningham of Utopia, Tammy Morris of Wharton and Georgina Symons of San Antonio.

The hills came alive with the sound of hymns accompanied on the guitar by Olivia Richards and Jan Hartson on the keyboard.

Hostess gifts of flowering plants were won by Eunice Meyer, Barbara Kosko and Richards.

Regular study sessions have been postponed until September but plans are in the offing for summer social gatherings to include hymns and praise activities.

Heat brings threat of EEE, WEE and VEE

Mosquito-born diseases on the increase in Texas horses, poultry

The warmes temperatures of summer bring more mosquitoes, which lead to an increased risk of mosquito-borne zoonoses, particularly equine encephalitides.

Texas experienced an unusually [illegible] equine encephalitis in 1995, according to the Texas Department of Health. The majority of these cases in East Texas, where at least 24 horses and numerous emus were [illegible] encephalitis (EEE).

Western equine encephalitis (WEE) antibodies are routinely detected in chickens kept for surveillance purposes in Lubbock and El Paso, indicating [illegible] West Texas. Two human cases of WEE were reported in Amarillo recently. Although rare in Texas, Venezuelan equine encephalitis (VEE) is a potential threat, as evidence by [illegible] WEE (80-90%), with most deaths occurring one to three days after the onset of clinical signs. Clinical signs of EEE and WEE in horse appear five days to three weeks after infection and may be similar to other forms of encephalomyelitis, such as rabies. These signs include fever, irregular gait, wandering, circling, uncoordinated, yawning, [illegible] ness, pendulous lower lip, inability to swallow, head-pressing, impaired vision, inability to rise, paralysis and occasional convulsions. The mortality rate of EEE and WEE is [illegible]

The TDH urges everyone to remember that the best protection against these diseases is proper immunization. Outbreaks of mosquito-born precede outbreaks in humans by a couple of weeks. For this reason, by state law to report all diagnosed cases of EEE, WEE and

HAY HOTLINE

Ranchers who are suffering from the severe hay shortage in Texas may benefit from a new hay hotline established by the Texas Department of Agriculture.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association newsletter said the hotline connects Texas ranchers with hay sellers from across the country. The number is 800-687-7564.

Ranchers who call the hotline will be given a master list of hay suppliers, and suppliers who call will be added to the master list as well. The TDA hotline will be in operations until the drought breaks and pastures improve.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi, y'all! Is it Monday already? We finally took a day off Sunday and it sure didn't last long.

We attended the Pipe Creek VFD barbecue and got to eat some good food and talk to a lot of people we haven't seen in awhile. We think at least half of Lakehills was there.

Those Mayfield boys were doing a good job auctioning off all the donated items. It was particularly fun hearing, "Gimme three dollars. Your bid is out, Mom!" This must be a new way to get money out of Mom.

Gus Limon reports that St. Victor's Catholic Church held an historic event Sunday, May 19, when they held their first confirmation celebration in the church. Usually these proceedings take place up at St. Stanislaus in Bandera, but this time Father McManus and Archbishop Flores had the ceremonies in our local church. There were 12 youngsters and one adult confirmed. A dinner followed for confirmees, family and friends.

Gus says preparations for the St. Victor's spring barbecue are going well. We will look for all of you June 2 for this event.

Well, you can tell that the summer season is here. Even with the lake 27 feet low, the traffic from S.A. is getting as bad as ever. We enjoy the quiet times of winter when the traffic count is lower. The increase is good for local businesses though. Just watch out for those idiots who do not believe in the designated driver program when they are partaking of alcohol.

The County Commissioners in their infinite wisdom have lifted the burn ban. To the best of our knowledge, the Texas Forestry Service issued a burn ban statewide some time ago. We are trying to see what each county is supposed to do to support this statewide order. We wonder how an inch of rain can remedy a drought that is copying conditions from the 1950s.

As someone said on the scanner when the lifting of the ban was announced, "It must be all that rain we didn't get." Well, this puts the burden on all of us to be very careful with any burning we do, including the backyard grill. Remember, if you start a fire and it gets away from you and damages a neighbor's property, you are liable for damages and possible prosecution. So, learn not to burn!

Well, we better get on down the road! We will be looking for you over the back fence.

World famous trip roper Kevin Fitzpatrick will be the grand marshal of Saturday's big Memorial Day parade.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

Here it comes! The BIG weekend of the year — Funtier Days — big PRCA rodeo, big arts and crafts (they had to turn people down for booth space), and big parade, along with the big parties!

Kevin Fitzpatrick is the grand marshal. He is now a world renowned trick rope artist and he showed me a fantastic photo of him about three feet in the air, above his horse, with his rope twirling in an action shot. He's a great ambassador for the Cowboy Capital of the World.

Why not have brunch at The Cabaret at 9:30 a.m. Saturday, that way you can have grandstand, air-conditioned seats for the over 100 entries. This parade is now billed as the largest parade for the smallest town in the whole state of Texas.

Since I stepped down as parade runner, I begged them to allow me to be announcer this year. And you know what? They agreed! What fun, but watch out all you float persons, it's guaranteed, I'll have fun!

Friends from Ft. Worth came down and checked into the Mayan for the weekend so we made reservations for the Saturday night steak cook-out and joined them.

What a grand time. A hayride down (actually it was a trailer ride 'cause they lost all their hay in that fire, but it was fun anyway!)

And then, huge salads, huger steaks and potatoes, and black berry cobbler and vanilla ice cream for dessert. Mmmm, mmm. Then we went into their lounge and lo and behold a new Bandera star was entertaining!

Dustin Fitzpatrick was terrific, with a nice selection of old timey cowboy songs and some sing-alongs. He was quite handsome in his elegant cowboy attire and his smile is going to knock those young things for a loop! Attaway to go, Dustin.

Jeanie and Comet are back, and Comet is A-OK after his health problem of this past year. So we'll have them trotting up and down Main St. again.

I also hear a stagecoach imported from Tombstone is going to be starting up, too.

Why, Bandera's going to look more like the old Western Trail Drive days than it looked then!

O'Bryants meeting in Utopia

O'Bryants from Texas, New Mexico, California, Arizona, Oregon and Florida will gather at the Utopia Park in Utopia for the fourth consecutive year on Saturday, June 1 to share a covered dish lunch, renew kinships and learn about family history.

Plans include family members arriving around nine in the morning, a horseshoe tournament, lunch, bingo and 42.

Family members are encouraged to bring their musical instruments for a jam session.

For more information, call Jacque Chaney at 210-966-3766.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

DO YOU HAVE AN UNDERSTANDING HEART?. . . Someone once said that the realization that there are other points of view (other than you own) is the beginning of wisdom. Understanding what they are is a great step. . . And the final test is understanding whey they are held.

With this thought in mind, let us all work towards "Building bridges of understanding." Today, perhaps more than ever in history, we need to "Build these Bridges."

This need today for understanding hearts is just as great as it ever was. The lack of them explains much of the mindless cruelty at work in so many parts of the world today.

Today we can not ignore the visible and invisible wall dividing countries, races, and families. We must tear the walls down and build bridges instead. Each bridge is worth building, even in frustrating times and on unknown territory.

Fees rise at state parks, charge now per person

Austin — Beginning May 1, Texas state parks will charge visitors the same way movie theaters, ball parks and other recreational facilities do - by the person.

Instead of paying a per-vehicle price, adult visitors will pay fees from $1 to $5 per person, with 76 percent of the parks charging $2 per person or less. Only three state parks - Devils River, Dinosaur Valley and Garner - will charge $5.

There are 125 state parks, 84 of which charge entrance fees (many of the others, such as historic sites, charge tour fees, but not entrance fees).

To encourage family visitation, children 12 and under will get in free to all state parks under the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's new fee schedule. Avid park users will still have an option to save on entry fees and tours with special licenses. Beginning May 1, the new Gold Texas Conservation Passport will be sold for $50, replacing the curren: $25 TCP.

The move-to per person pricing is one part of a plan to fund a huge backlog of statewide park repair needs.

"This agency is currently operating on a lean budget with increased customer demands and a growing backlog of deferred maintenance at state parks," said Richard Heath of Dallas, TPWD Commission member. "And while per person pricing alone won't solve that problem, it's an important step."

In the last ten years, TPWD has opened 23 new state parks, mostly the outcome of plans laid decades ago. Many of these were opened in response to growing public demand in urban areas, including Ray Roberts Lake and Cooper Lake near Dallas, Choke Canyon near San Antonio, Lake Houston and San Angelo State Parks.

In a 1995 management audit, the Texas state auditor's office estimated a $186 million backlog of state park repairs and capital project needs through the end of the century. Many of the state's most beloved parks face serious problems, from lagging water and wastewater systems at Garner to dilapidated restrooms and other facilities at Palo Duro Canyon to aging electrical wiring at Davis Mountains.

It costs TPWD about $32 million a year to operate state parks, while park fees generate about $21 million annually. Per person pricing is estimated to generate an additional $5 million to $7 million for state parks.

This bovine not lonesome in Bandera

special to The Bulletin
by Rob D'Amico

How do you bring home the bacon with a steer? Ride 'em cowboy. And that's just what Craig Davies is doing—training his Longhorn steer "Lonesome" to be ridden like a horse.

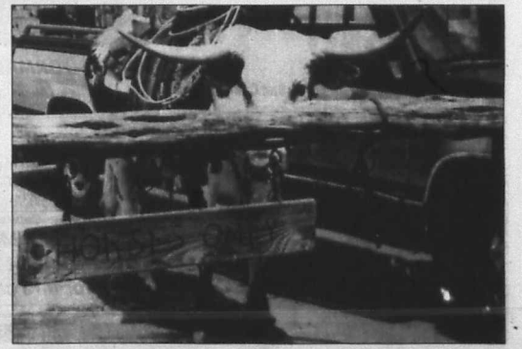
You'll likely find Davies on weekends at The Forge on Main Street in Bandera letting kids jump in the saddle with Lonesome, who stands parked out front in the bar's spot marked "Horse Only."

Davies, a Fort Worth resident who's spending the summer with friends in Bandera, said he used to train and ride another steer named Handsome Hank for a woman in Fort Worth. Hank was rented for parties and weddings, and appeared in several movies and television commercials. "She averages $300 day with Hank," he said.

So he figured he might as well give it a shot with his own steer, especially since Hank's owner wanted about $15,000 for him. Davies, who got into the tricky side of the Cowboy business as a mule driver for the Pawnee Bill Wild West Show, bought a longhorn calf, castrated him, put in a nose ring, then set him out to pasture to fatten up.

He said the idea of saddling cattle is nothing new, but nevertheless it takes a lot of work. Now Lonesome is going on three and is learning the ropes of riding more and more each day. "He's just a baby, but he's coming along."

"He handles real well and should get better," Davies said. "I can even rope a few calves on him."



Davies said Lonesome livens up every party. "He's an attention getter. The crowds love him."

It's obvious that Lonesome is a big draw at the Forge, since motorists stop to get out and take pictures of the peculiar sight.

And what does Lonesome think about all the attention. Who knows for sure, but Davies said, "He loves it. He's like a big old pet."

He said Lonesome is great with people and kids, but that he's like a horse in one respect—he senses the apprehension of people. "If someone is afraid of him, then he's afraid. They're very smart animals."

Davies said Lonesome is available for parties and events. Just give him a call at The Forge at 210-796-7184 or at home at 210-796-8463.

Parties prepared to check out prospective nominees for judge

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The resignation announcement by County Judge Roger Raser at Commissioners Court May 8 has placed that elected seat up for grabs at the Nov. 5 general election.

Since there are in excess of 65 days before the election, there will be names placed on the ballot.

The job encompasses many duties, including supervisory functions over the Bandera County Library, Medina Lake Park, the EMS Program and many others; administrative duties over Commissioners Court, AACOG and others; and judicial duties, such as county court, misdemeanors, civil court and juvenile court.

"The executive committees of the political parties of the county will meet and make a nomination to me for a candidate to be placed on the ballot," County Clerk Bernice Bates said.

Janet Cave of Bandera is the chairman of the Republican party and Mary Autry of Pipe Creek is the chairman of the Democratic party.

"If anybody wants to run, they just need to give me a call," Autry said.

Cave said she would like to encourage people to attend the executive committee meetings. The next one will be held on June 7 at 10 a.m. at First State Bank.

"We expect a cover letter and a resume from anybody who is interested in running," Cave said. "They should contact me at 796-7358."

Anybody who wants to run as an independent candidate in the election for the county judge's seat must act quickly.

"When a vacancy occurs after a deadline, they have 30 days to get their signatures and application on file with the county judge after the resignation has either been accepted or turned in," said Melinda Nichols, director of election administration at the Secretary of State's office in Austin.

Since Raser announced his resignation on May 8, the same day it was accepted by Commissioners Court, independent candidates must file before June 6 and they must gather 150 signatures or pay a MEMORIAL DAY PARADE -- The biggest Memorial Day parade ever to march down Bandera's Main Street thrilled viewers with lots of horses, beauty queens, floats and music. This honor guard carried flags representative of Texas during the Civil War era. World renowned trip roper Kevin Fitzpatrick was this year's grand marshal. A huge and enthusiastic crowd came to town to enjoy the festivities.

Mauer appointed

Former county judge Ray Mauer has agreed to accept an appointment by Bandera County Commissioners to take over the seat of County Judge Roger Raser when Raser's resignation from that office becomes effective July 1. Raser recently announced his resignation, citing health reasons. Mauer held the top county office prior to Raser's election in November of 1994. Mauer will serve in the office until a new judge is elected in the November 1996 General Election.

Water rationing begins at River Ranch Subdivision

Bandera River Ranch Subdivision and Bandera Homestead is among several Bandera County subdivisions to institute a water rationing program.

A notice of water rationing procedures has been issued by Leonard Davis, president of Bandera River Ranch Water Co., Inc. and is published in full in the classified section of this week's Bulletin.

Rationing began on Wednesday, May 22 and is effective for 60 days.

The mild rationing program limits outdoor watering to two days a week and customers are divided into two groups.

Outdoor watering will also be limited to the hours of 9-11:30 a.m. and 10-12 p.m.

The first violation of the rationing program will result in the installation of a flow restriction device in the customer's service limiting the amount of water which will pass through in a 24 hour period. Subsequent violations may result in terminated service.

According to Davis, the water company decided to institute rationing due to the general drought conditions prevailing in Bandera County.

Commissioners to consider new animal control ordinance

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Administrative assistant Doyle Haner presented a new animal control order to county commissioners for their consideration at their Wednesday, May 22 court session.

"We have ongoing problems with dogs in this county," Haner told the court. "We are currently operating under state guidelines."

The new order would add some teeth to the state regulations.

The proposed new ordinance would slightly increase the county dog registration fee, but would provide for a lifetime registration if the animal has been spayed or neutered.

The order also recommends the use of a microchip inserted under the skin for a permanent tag.

Justice of the Peace Bonnie Towers pointed out that if the county approves an ordinance the loose dog cases will be heard in county court, rather than JP court. That would add to an already heavy county court case load.

"I don't care where the cases are handled," said County Judge Roger Raser. "What we need is something enforceable."

Local rancher Gilbert Scheele objected to a new ordinance on the grounds that in some instances "it is not as good as what we have now.

"There are still too many dogs out there, " said Scheele. In referring to a recurring plan to build a county dog pound, Scheele said, "I don't think the people in the county are ready to subsidize a shelter."

Scheele implied that the county's animal control officer has not been doing an adequate job.

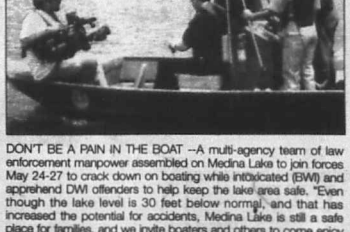
Bandera's American Legion Post 157 will play host to chili cooks from all over the country at Saturday's chili cookoff at Mansfield Park.



The world's best chili cooks will be firing up their pots and preparing to entertain visitors in their quest for the showmanship trophy.

There will also be a big arts and crafts fair along with plenty of music throughout the day.

There will be free admission and parking.

Showmanship will be judged beginning at 1 p.m.

Wardens work Medina Lake

DON'T BE A PAIN IN THE BOAT --A multi-agency team of law enforcement manpower assembled on Medina Lake to join forces May 24-27 to crack down on boating while intoxicated (BWI) and apprehend DWI offenders to help keep the lake area safe. "Even though the lake level is 30 feet below normal, and that has increased the potential for accidents, Medina Lake is still a safe place for families, and we invite boaters and others to come enjoy themselves here," said Capt. Bill Hellums of TPWD law enforcement. "But for those who violate the law, our message is that illegal or unsafe behavior will not be tolerated." This past weekend, about 30 law enforcement personnel teamed up for the crackdown, with 14 game wardens instead of the normal four patrolling the lake. Pictured with newsmen are officers Shane Teeters and Lewis Rather and intern Shayne Felton.

Commissioners pass on bid for new dump trailer

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Bandera County Commissioners voted to table dump trailer for county road maintenance at their regular

The county had

bids on the trailer and the only one received came in at $35,000.

Commissioner Dan Alanis told the court that he did not want to spend that much money. "I think we can find a used trailer for $5-$10 thousand," said Alanis. Alanis also expressed doubts that the county's Kenworth tractor could handle a trailer of that size.

Administrative assistant Doyle Haner told the court that he had checked with several experts who had assured him that the Kenworth was adequate but would need some work on its hydraulics.

Commissioner Ralph Chancy said the used trailers he has seen "are pretty well beat up."

Commissioner Bud Thompson told his fellow court members that he can not proceed with necessary road work because he has no way to haul gravel since the county's dump truck broke.

Alanis recommended that Thompson pay the freight and "get someone to haul it in for you."

The court will explore the used trailer idea further.

Constable Ernest Reich presented a report to the court regarding an AACOG grant for handling municipal solid waste for FY 1997.

The fully funded grant pays for a vehicle, an enforcement officer and support for one year, said Reich.

"This funding could be used to problem in the county," said Reich.

approve the grant application.

Emmit Schmidt, chairman of the Community Livestock and Wildlife Protection Association appeared before the court to point out that matching funds budgeted for the committee had been decreased.

"We thought we had $8,400 in matching funds," said Schmidt, "but there is only $5,000."

Schmidt pointed out to the commissioners the steadily increasing territory covered by the association. The funds are used to pay bounties on coyotes and for trapping of predators.

Commissioners agreed to consider the matter of matching funds in their budgetary discussions for next year.

County Judge Roger Raser asked commissioners to consider a resolution prohibiting the carrying of concealed handguns in all county facilities but no action was taken.

County Clerk Bernice Bates told the court, "We have lots of people come in to our office who are in the midst of problems. They are angry, it's just as easy that they didn't have a gun."

Commissioner Chancy said he opposed the resolution.

Commissioner Alanis noted

"The Legislature saw fit to pass the law. Carriers have to take an extensive course to get the permit.

"We'll always have the nuts out there," said Alanis.

In other business, the court:

• Heard from 911 Rural Addressing that addresses for Route 2 in Pipe Creek had been submitted to the postal service on Jan. 24. Route 1 is about 95 percent complete, said Carey Poe in her report.

• Placed Commissioner Benny Barker in charge of scheduling the seal coating of the First Baptist Church parking lot, which will be available for use by courthouse patrons.

• Heard from Alanis that prices for service at the county vehicle maintenance shop will drop from $36 per hour to $25 per hour for the remainder of the budget year.

Commissioner Barker was absent for the court session.

Animal control officer Triple Kocurek replied that he hasn't picked up more dogs because there is no place to put them for the three days required by law.

"We have to subscribe to the state laws," said Raser. "If a dog is picked up, he has to be placed in a facility."

The proposed animal control ordinance is available for review at the county judge's office.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 44 calls for service, and issued 31 citations for the week of May 20 through May 27, 1996. Calls for service included four assist other agencies, four accidents, nine suspicious circumstances, one forgery, one keep the peace, one disturbance, four public assists, two animal calls, two gas drive offs, three alarms, one missing person, one welfare concern, two harassment, one criminal trespass, one funeral escort, one shots fired, two parking violations, one assault, one theft, and two reckless drivers.

Kyle Michael Skinner, 17, of Bandera County, was arrested and charged with forgery. Marlon Schrader, 19, of Bandera County, was arrested and charged with forgery. Bernadette Rodriguez, 22, of Bandera, was arrested on an outstanding warrant issued by Justice of the Peace, Pct. 1. James Bryon Taylor, 32, of Bandera, was arrested on an outstanding warrant issued by Justice of the Peace, Pct. 1. Manuel Avina-Rangel, 29, of Boerne, was arrested and charged with possession of marijuana.

"TNRCC (Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission), which regulates water use in Texas, has issued warnings," said Davis. "They tell us that we are about two years deep into a seven year drought."

Davis reports that due to a lowering water table, the water system is getting about half the usual flow of water. "The pump is having to lift the water higher," said Davis. "The lower water table causes the pump to have to work harder to provide the same amount of water as before."

As water is pumped from a well, a cone of depression forms across the top of the water table. If the table is too low, or if too much is pumped at once, the cone can sink below the well pipes, causing the pump to suck air. "That can rapidly destroy the equipment," said Davis.

Rationing procedures and penalties are provided by TNRCC as part of the water system's tariff procedure.

"We have to send a notice to TNRCC that we are going into a rationing program, and we have to give notice to our customers," said Davis.

Ordinance attacks free enterprise

Dear Editor:

[illegible] the last vestige of free enterprise by the City Council's passage of an ordinance to regulate [illegible] sales. The article in [illegible] institution as [illegible] portable signs are allowed [illegible] Are they not? Are they not connected and the fine for violation is exorbitant for such penny ante business. That such sales should be regulated in any way is shocking and preposterous.

If the reason for such high-handed restrictions is that other cities have such regulations, that is no excuse for Bandera to follow suit. Or if the reason is to force people to be neat, two thoughts occur: it can't be done any more than you can force people to be moral by passing a law. Then, it's pretty well admitted that beauty is in the eye of the beholder. Isn't it logical that [illegible] beholder?

If someone objects to his neighbor's messy yard, let the neighbors work it out or change their attitude, or try request, mon permission and even offer a helping hand, which would do more good to convince people to be orderly than having government use forceful restrictions and threats of fines; and far better than another attack on property rights and the curtailing of the right to free trade.

This may seem like a small issue to some, but it is quite serious. It's bad enough for the federal government to issue edicts and regulations and they are difficult to combat at that level. I hope the citizens of Bandera will rise up and deluge the city council with protests so it will rescind the ordinance and people may [illegible]

Dear Editor:

I had the pleasure of exhibiting my artwork at the Frontier Times Museum in April. I had a guest book out for visitors to sign, and I was surprised and pleased that the signatures represented people from 14 states, Germany, France, Poland, several from the United Kingdom and many, many people from Bandera County and all over Texas.

It's a great place to exhibit and I want to thank the patrons and volunteers for their work in providing us with such a cosmopolitan museum.

Salute to 4-Hers

Dear Editor:

We all need to congratulate the Bandera County 4-H senior horse show judging team on their first place win at district. I feel that we all owe Carey Poe a huge thank you for giving these kids the confidence to win at district.

Carey had to overcome a lot with these kids. They had been told that they would never win at district because they could not judge horses.

The kids thought they were wasting their time going to district until Carey made them believe in themselves. She showed faith in them and in return the kids rewarded her with a first place team ribbon, Amy Smith got tenth place individual, Brandi Guenther got ninth place individual and Cheri Aamodt got first place individual. The individual awards are based on each person's score and only the top 10 kids were recognized.

Good luck to all of the team at state. You kids can win if you truly want to. Let's keep all the kids going to state in our prayers and hope they come back as state champions also.

May Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

It never ceases to amaze me how some people's minds work. I am sure that my own thought processes are pretty alien to everybody but me, but here are some recent examples I have "heard" about that just kind of make me wonder.

A new business opens on Main Street. The people have followed the correct procedure, they are responsible business owners, and everybody agrees that their business is a positive addition to the town. However, a very vocal minority immediately starts raising hell about, of all things, how this business is limiting parking on Main Street. Hello. The last time I looked, the parking on Main Street was extremely limited anyway. It doesn't help that these same business owners park on Main Street themselves, instead of walking a block.

Cheerleaders are not selected the way they were when I was in high school. Then, and I went to a 5A school by the way, the student body watched the candidates in the gym on an afternoon, then voted as to who they thought would best represent them. Now it is real high tech, with an outside firm coming in to pick these "ambassadors." To me the whole thing has gotten about as silly as it can, but that is just my opinion. However, I do think that if there is going to be a constitution then it should be followed - no exceptions. You aren't doing a child any good if you don't hold them accountable for their actions.

Last, but not least - folks, if by some strange accident you happen to be awake enough when you are driving to notice a vehicle behind you with flashing lights - GET OUT OF THE WAY. The next time it may be you or one of your loved ones that needs help in a hurry.

Clark finds plenty of game

Amasa Clark was hunting with some Delaware Indians when he first saw the Medina River Valley in 1852.

In his autobiography, Clark recalled: "These Indians were good neighbors to us. One of them injured his ankle and I put some whiskey on it. After that they called me Doctor. We became very good friends.

The shingle camp headed by Williamson and Gillis on the Guadalupe River employed an Indian hunter to keep us supplied with fresh meat.

The country was full of bear, deer, turkey, and there were bee caves and bee trees to be found everywhere.

In 1853 Clark moved to a shingle camp on the Medina and the Delawares moved to the Brazos reservation near Fort Belknap.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Well, I read in the Medina Valley Times out of Castroville that the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District (BMA) board may have held an illegal meeting recently.

According to the MVT report, BMA board president Johnny Ward hosted a meeting of the board at his house on April 30 after an executive session scheduled for earlier that day was cancelled. Present at the meeting were Ward, BMA's lawyers, and a director.

Ward alleges that the meeting was legal because no quorum of board members was in attendance, said the MVT story written by Natalie Spencer.

An attorney with the state attorney general's office, Chris Leavers, told the MVT that "the meeting was illegal, quorum or no quorum."

Section 551.143 of the Open Meetings Act states, "it is a misdemeanor for members of a governmental body to meet in numbers fewer than a quorum to deliberate public business in an effort to circumvent the Open Meetings Act."

Ward and BMA's attorney state that they don't believe the meeting was illegal. Ward stated in a letter that the meeting's purpose was to "receive information and legal advice from our attorneys about various BMA matters, including the events of that evening."

According to Leavers, section 551.143 prohibits secret deliberation. He indicated that the law doesn't say that governmental bodies could have secret meetings every day of the week, as long as there wasn't a quorum. "Then they could go out in the open, take a vote, and the public has no idea what went on before," said Leavers.

Meetings of public bodies are subject to the rules and regulations of the Open Meetings Act, a piece of legislation that assures us, the voting public, that the guys in charge don't make decisions about what to do with our tax money in some secret session.

Officials can get together over a cup of coffee at the OST if they like, but they better not discuss official business while sipping that hot cup.

All public officials should have a working knowledge of the Open Meetings Act and protect its standards as an inviolate responsibility to the public that elected them.

All public business should be conducted publicly. Secrecy is of no benefit to anyone.

by Bob Cowan, Mayor City of Bandera

WATER: Cool, sparkling, crystal clear, refreshing water. What a wonderful gift we have been given. One of the delights I look forward to when I return home from an out-of-town trip (especially to big cities like Houston) is a tall glass of delicious Bandera water. With this gift come a big responsibility, one that each of us must shoulder, namely the care and protection of our water system. As you know, our present water system has been in place for a long, long time. Yes, it has served us well. However, we are about to run out of bandaids and temporary repairs to keep it operating in any kind of safe manner.

Thanks to the hard work of the previous council, the first step of financing new utilities systems is in place. We need to follow through with action and begin the project. My goal is to have new water and sanitary systems in place and operating by the year 2000. Hey, folks, that is only three and a half years away. Water will be on the agenda of each meeting pursuant to this goal. With your help, we can do this, so think "water."

COUNCIL: Our council has become a council of elders, with the exception of John Pina. Adding to our incumbents, Dorothy Darden and Johnny Pina, are new members Tommy Kindla, Walter Welch and Curtis Wilson. These members represent a huge amount of experience in the working or our city government. I am looking forward to working with each of them. I will be the first to admit that we have much homework to do to bring ourselves up to speed. Rules, regulations and laws change. As long as we keep an open mind and open heart, we can serve our city in good stead. As for the meetings, we want to keep communications open with all citizens and will appreciate your input. We ask that you confine your remarks during the meeting to the "visitors" time and/or breaks we will take during the sessions. With your cooperation, the council can dispense the business at hand in an orderly and efficient manner avoiding meetings that last into the late hours.

I thank Cyndi Wright for the positive remarks in her editorial about our first council meeting fir this term.

I would have preferred that her emphasis be on the positive things such as awards to Police Officer Shane Merritt and to the Bandera Volunteer Fire Department instead of focusing on employee positions.

As for our employees, I have no desire nor would I believe the council would have any desire at this time to bring in and train

The first step of financing new utilities systems is in place. We need to follow through with action and begin the project.

new people. I always try to work with those already in place. One of my tasks will be to encourage, motivate and help the employees in correcting errors, mistakes and misunderstandings. Of course, if there is a real problem, it will be addressed and action taken.

Visitors have often been told that Bandera is a city of around 1,000 people with two or three old grouches to add character and a few gossips to add intrigue. If you, as citizens, have complaints, or things you would like to see changed, please send me a written and signed statement so that necessary action can be taken. My reason for requesting a written statement is to avoid hurting people unnecessarily because of unsubstantiated rumors. In other words I would rather have one documented fact than a washtub full of rumors and innuendoes.

Our community of Bandera has headed to jump on the horse and ride off in all directions. I ask that we jump on our horse and ride in one direction, namely after "water."

Despite all the setbacks of cold and dryness, there seems to be a pretty big crop of agarita berries turning red along the county road and out in the pasture. Mid-May is the time these difficult little fruits are ready to harvest. The question is — is the agarita jelly worth all the trouble it will be to gather enough berries to make a few pints?

The historic method of beating the bushes to shake the berries on to a tarp or old sheet just is not worth the trouble in our view. Sticks, bugs, sharp leaves and unidentifiable crud all prove to take as much time to sort out as does the tedious time picking berries off one by one by hand. We have spotted the bushes where the berries tend to hang down, free from all the stickery stuff, and can gather a few coffee-cans-ful in a reasonable length of twilight time.

Slowly picking agarita berries is a good therapy to aid in the forgetting of the usual mess the world of man is in — enjoying the long cool evening before the sun goes down back of Medina. So the quiet hour outdoors is worth as much as the little jars of jelly.

Years ago, two ladies we used to know in San Antonio, would come out around this date in May to gather berries from which they made agarita wine. What a rare treasure they created. Has anyone around her tried to do this?

It's fun to look up references to native plants in the old 1926 book "Texas Wildflowers" put together so long ago by old-time Texian original, the late Ellen Schulz Quillen, founder of Witte Museum. Without the benefit of color pictures and high-tech botanical research Mrs. Quillen's writings are usually more informative than later slicker efforts by PhD. types. Here is what she says about agarita, AKA agrito, chaparral berry, wild currant:

"Evergreen bush with stiff shiny 3-foliate, spine-tipped leaves, and clusters of small yellow honey-fragrant flowers that remind one of miniature roses....Fruit a red, acid, stony, edible berry the size of a pea. Grows in dry soil and stony hillsides. [We've got the right habitat!]

"The wood and roots are yellow and are used for making a yellow dye. The berries are gathered in early summer, usually by threshing the bushes with a stick, causing the ripe berries to fall into an upturned umbrella or on a sheet. [Along with everything else!] The berries are made into excellent jellies and wines.

"Agarita mixed with Amur privet makes an excellent and artistic combination hedge. Small agarita plants are easily obtained from underneath the older plants and should be transplanted in November or December as they blossom as early as January and February. The barberries, used as hedges and ornamentals in Northern and Eastern lawns are close relatives of the agarita. (The botanical name for agarita is Berberis trifoliatus, a barberry.)

"The berries furnish food for birds and these little friends scatter the seeds in thickets, open woodlands, along roadsides, in fence corners, and other waste places.

The name "agrito" is the Mexican name meaning "little sour."

Well-known Dash For Cash dies

At 11:15 a.m. on May 20, at the Burnett Ranches' Four Sixes Ranch in Guthrie, Texas. The 28-year-old stallion, the all-time leading sire of racing Quarter Horses by progeny earnings, had not bred any mares this year because of complications from equine protozoal myeloencephalitis. The condition, a progressive neurological disease, causes horses to lose coordination in his hind legs.

"In the last week, he was spending more time laying down than in the past," Dr. Glenn Blodgett of the Four Sixes said. "The time that he spent up, he was a lot more unstable. Last night, he was down the whole night and was unable to get up."

At 5:30 a.m. on May 20, Tonja Hawley, an intern from Colorado State University who serves as the night watchperson at the Four Sixes equine facility, called Blodgett to inform him that Dash For Cash had not been up all night. Blodgett examined the stallion a short time later and informed syndicate manager Mike Carr of his recommendation to euthanize the stallion.

"We have always tried to make him as comfortable as possible," Blodgett said. "We don't feel he was ever in any real pain, except for the anxiety of wanting to get up and not being able to."

Dash For Cash's body was sent to the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory in Amarillo for cremation. The ashes will be hitched

Dash For Cash, which entered stud in 1978 at Phillips Ranch, was syndicated for $3 million. Signs of EPM in the fall of relapse in July 1993, prior to that month's Phillips Ranch Dispersal. To give him time to recover, Dash For Cash was not moved to the Four Sixes until later that year. There, an individual barn constructed to resemble his home at Phillips Ranch served as his new quarters.

"It's really been pretty empty around here, especially with the daily effort we put into caring for him," Blodgett said a little more than two hours after Dash For Cash's death. "We got a lot of concerned people - shareholders and others - calling to check on him."

Bred by B.F. Phillips Jr., Dash For Cash (Rocket Wrangler-Fled A Buyer (TB) by To Market) won 21 of 25 races and earned $507,688 in 1975-77. He won the Champion of Champions in 1976-77 to become the first horse to win consecutive runnings of the classic. He was named world champion for both years. Dash For Cash's time of :21.17 from the 1976 Champion of Champions remains a Los Alamitos track record and the fifth-fastest time recorded at 440 yards in racing career, Dash For Cash began compiling a brilliant record as a stallion. From 1,038 starters in 17 crops to race, he has been rejuvenated among Quarter Horse sires the world's 10 leading Dash For Cash's sons and daughters have won a total of 39 racing championships. He has been represented by 726 winners and 129 stakes winners to rank him second in both categories only to Easy Jet.

Sixteen of Dash For Cash's sons were ranked among the sport's 50 leading sires of earners in 1995. His son First Down Dash, the 1987 world champion, has been leading sire of earners every year since 1991. His son Takin On The Cash, a champion at two and three was the leading freshman sire last year. Another son, the oddly named Miss N Cash, is a leading sire of cutting horses. Another, Gotum Gone, last December became the first AQHA Supreme Champion in 16 years.

Last year, in his final year at stud, Dash For Cash impregnated 44 of 45 mares sent to him. Several members of his final crop were foaled this year at the Four Sixes.

"I really feel honored to have been around him for part of his life," Blodgett said. "I feel like he'll be the greatest horse I'll ever be around."

Mazurek wins third varsity letter

Kings Point, NY — Mike Mazurek earned his third varsity letter as a member of the baseball team at the United States Merchant Marine Academy this past season. Mazurek, a 6-3, 210-pound senior pitcher, went 2-3 in seven appearances for the Mariners. The right hander was second on the team in innings pitched (31.2) and was third on the team in strikeouts (19).

The Mariners ended the 1996 campaign on a four-game winning streak to finish the year with a 10-12 overall record and a 3-5 mark in the Skyline Conference. Kings Point finished on fourth place on the Skyline Conference. While the Mariners final record was below the .500 mark, Kings Point showed that they will be one of the top teams in the region in the next few years.

"The team improved in many areas this season and I was pleased that the freshmen were able to step up their game and contribute in their first season of varsity baseball," stated head coach Tim McNulty. "If we want to be competitive next season, we need to continue to work hard and to improve our pitching."

Mazurek, a graduate of Bandera High School, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mazurek of Bandera.

Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

The way this community networks is sometimes amazing. At 9:30 the night before our Pantier Parade I received a call from Carmilla Brown, our local massage therapist. It seems Carmilla had made up her mind that residents from the Clark House, Carmilla and her friend, Todd Anderwald, we transported a group of excited residents downtown to see the parade.

Sylvia Saffell reports a great day at our arts and crafts booth on Saturday as well. With the help of her husband Harry, Sylvia got the booth set up on Friday evening and was ready for business early the next morning. Sylvia says she had to pin everything down everything down in the booth to keep it from blowing away but with the help of participants of the Silver Sage, sales exceeded last year's. Lots of raffle tickets were sold for the beautiful "apple" quilt, which will be given away at the Apple Festival in Medina on July 27. If you take one look at this gorgeous creation, you'll want to buy all the tickets available. Tickets will be on sale at the Center so come take a chance.

Judy Goodenough, coordinator for the Melodiers, reports that May was a very busy month for this musical ensemble. On May 7, they visited the Clark House to share a program of "Happy Songs" with the residents. After that, they "took the show on the road" to Kerrville. On May 13, the Melodiers fulfilled an invitation to present a program for the Guadalupe chapter of AARP, which meets at Dietert Claim Senior Center in Kerrville. The next morning, they shared their music with members at Edgewater Care Center in Kerrville.

Summer Schedule for Melodiers: For June, July and August, the Melodiers will meet at the Center only on the first Tuesday of each month at 9:45 a.m., then present a program at the Clark House in Bandera at 11 a.m., following practice.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A new drug has been approved that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain. This material has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis..." and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis... relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis... is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work. Use only as directed.

by Bunny

Rain! Rain! Glorious rain! ____ an inch worth ____ at the time of this writing Monday, May 27, and still cloudy skies.

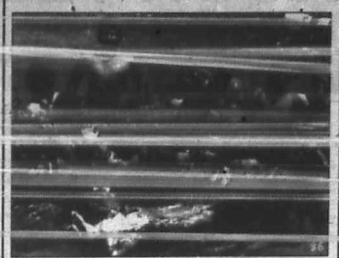
What a weekend just went by. Puntier Days, Bandera-style gave a hearty shout! The rodeo had been contesting over two more attendance and more competition money than ever before. The crowds roared, the horses came galloping in for the grand entry with flags flying. It was rodeo at its finest. Will Anderwald rode one of the wildest bulls for a great score and when he jumped off, he sailed his cowboy hat into the air— what exuberance!

The parade was the biggest and best yet, with Kevin Fitzpatrick, our grand grand marshal, twirling his loops down Main Street astride his mighty steed.

Bands, horses, clowns, queens, kings, kids, Democrats and Republicans — over 1400 people making up the parade — what a grand show!

The arts and crafts show had lots of unusual items and constant entertainment. Ms. Rheta's dance class tapped and balleted their way around the fire house. Fire fighters were serving fajitas. All the restaurants, shops, dance halls and museums were loaded all day long. The Forge was so popular, folks were flowing out into the street.

We took a ride down Main Street in our brand new stagecoach and it was a terrific ride, just like famous years ago. How they got the history of Bandera so fast was great! What a grand idea for Bandera, Cowboy Capital of the World!



Now, I'm going to get myself into hot water once more by announcing that the rodeo board is bid on the race track. If we're going to have to spend over a million to build a new race track, life's offices, why don't we spend it for prime property that already has some structures on it and not have to start entirely from scratch. Then, maybe, we could make a deal with Lost Valley for the property they have that would make a good airport and we'd have everything together (as long as they put a western front on it!) Why do we let out of towners get all the good deals? There, I've said it, and I'm glad.

In the northern part of Germany there's a big outdoor bowl where they hold wild west shows where the Indians win. The big Indian chief is a Frenchman, some of the Indians come from Italy and the rest of the cast is from all over Europe! Isn't that funny?

Don't forget the big chili cookoff this coming Saturday at Mansfield Park. Lots of neat entertainment, including western bands, chili cooks, cowboy poetry, line dancers and tap dancers.

See ya' there!

School's out...

LOOK OUT, BMS, HERE WE COME! -- Members of Adelene Pless's class from Alkek school enjoyed a PTO sponsored fifth grade graduation party at The Farm on May 16. One hundred fifteen fifth graders thoroughly enjoyed their last splash as "elementary students."

Farm Bill changes explained

A meeting on the 1996 Farm Bill will be held Wednesday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bandera County Farm Service Agency conference Room at 1110 B Main St. in Bandera.

FSA County Executive Director Joy Gallagher said the meeting will specifically cover the new seven years production flexibility contracts.

"Eligible producers are those with cropland acreage bases," said Gallagher.

Producers will have only one opportunity to enroll a farm in a production flexibility contract. Producers who miss this ____ will not be eligible to enroll the farm at a later date. Sign-up will began May 20 and will end July 12, 1996.

Over the Back Fence

Hi, y'all! Hey, what was that wet stuff that soaked all my tools and truck seat early this morning? We got half inch and a bunch of marble sized hail. This little bit of moisture got the fire phone ringing with folks wanting to burn. With the burn ban in effect again, we have to tell them no way.

We had some calls Sunday night from people wanting to do controlled burns. The winds at the time were a steady 20 mph with gusts fast enough to blow the hair off your head. Now something is missing in common sense about when to try to do a controlled burn. Wonder why so many controlled burns become uncontrolled?

While we are on our soap box we have another gripe to air. There is a new ball park on FM 1283. The other night there was a game there and people parked along the fence line very orderly with no traffic hazards. The next day a TxDOT truck was there putting up No Parking signs! What gives, TxDOT?

Sunday, June 2 will be the St. Victor's Festival. We will look forward to seeing all of you there. There will be barbecue and games and bingo. Wonder if they will have a dunking booth?

Our well business has kept us busy lately. With our increasing population, we need to keep an eye on our water supplies and not end up like our neighbors to the east. So don't waste water, recycle your grey water and like they say, take a navy shower.

Well, the humidity has us boiling in our own juices so we are going to find a cool spot for awhile.

We will be looking for you over the back fence.

Betty and I and daughter, Judy just returned from Vegas where we had a good time and saw old friends.

We got back home on Friday afternoon, just in time for the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department fund raiser on Saturday.

The wife and Judy worked the flea market and played some bingo. The weather was very cooperative and the crowd, though not overwhelming, was steady.

The barbecue was delicious and tender and I hope the profits were good.

Oh, what a way to start the week off – I found out what rain looks like and how it feels on a bare back. We got a little more than half an inch with a little hail for good measure. We need more, but are grateful for every little drop.

The Lakeshore VFD will meet for fire training at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

TARPLEY

Someday soon I would hope to report rain. Cloudy mornings sort of make us feel hopeful. We've been through many bad droughts, but reports on the news this is the worst and may last until 1998. Hope reports are wrong.

• Saturday, June 1 is the Tarpley Fire Department grounds workday. Please give a hand.

•Louise Dorang was hostess at her home for the Rio Hondo Extension Club on May 15. The 16 women attending enjoyed a Spanish luncheon consisting of gazpacho, pinchitos and flan.

This was the last club meeting until September. However, the group will meet informally during the summer to work on early Christmas ideas and to landscape a flowerbed at the subdivision's firehouse.

• Jan Harton will host a meeting at her home to plan the landscaping of a flower bed at the Rio Hondo firehouse.

Harton will also be teaching a class on calligraphy.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

This Memorial Day our American Flag was flying in memory of all who served in their country's time of need...

"I AM OLD GLORY . . . For over 200 years I have been the banner of hope and freedom for generation after generation of Americans. Born amid the first flames of American's flight for freedom. I am the symbol of a country that has grown from a little group of thirteen colonies to a nation of fifty sovereign states. Planted firmly on the high pinnacle of American faith. My gently fluttering folds have proved an inspiration to untold millions. They have looked upon me as a symbol of national unity. They have prayed that they and their fellow citizens might continue to enjoy life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness, which have been granted to every American as the heritage of free men. So long as men love liberty more than life itself; so long as they treasure the priceless privileges bought with the blood of our forefathers; so long as the principles of truth, justice, and charity for all remain deeply rooted in human hearts, I shall continue to be the enduring banner of the United States of America." . . . What's Rustlin'

by Buzzy

Rain! Rain! Glorious rain! ... an inch worth ... as the time of this writing Monday, May 27, and still cloudy skies.

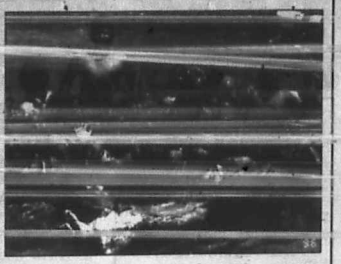
What a weekend just went by. Buntier Days, Bandera-style ... [illegible] ... had a capacity crowd ... more attendance and more competition money than ever before. The events rodeo, the dances came galloping in for the grand entry with flags flying. It was a rodeo at its finest. Will Anderwald rode one of the wildest bulls for a great score and when he jumped off, he sailed his cowboy hat into the air — what exuberance!

The parade was the biggest and best yet, with Kevin Fitzpatrick, our grand grand marshal, twirling his loops down Main Street astride his mighty steed.

Bands, horses, clowns, queens, kings, kids, Democrats and Republicans — over 1400 people making up the parade — what a grand show!

The arts and crafts show had lots of unusual items and constant entertainment. Ms. Rheta's dance class tapped and balleted their way around the fire house. Fire fighters were serving fajitas. All the restaurants, shops, dance halls and museums were loaded all day long. The Forge was so popular, folks were flowing out into the street.

We took a ride down Main Street in our brand new stage- ... it was a terrific ride, just like [illegible] ... How they got the history of Bandera so fast was great! What a grand idea for Bandera, Cowboy Capital of the World!



Now, I'm going to get myself into hot water once more by suggesting ... [illegible] ... bid on the race track. If we're going to have to spend over a million ... [illegible] ... it's office, why don't we spend it for prime property that already has some structures on it and not have to start entirely from scratch. Then, maybe we could make a deal with Lost Valley for the property they have that would make a good airport and we'd have everything together (as long as they put a western front on it!) Why do we let out of towners get all the good deals? There, I've said it, and I'm glad.

In the northern part of Germany there's a big outdoor bowl where they hold wild west shows where the Indians win. The big Indian chief is a Frenchman, some of the Indians come from Italy and the rest of the cast is from all over Europe! Isn't that funny?

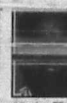
Don't forget the big chili cookoff this coming Saturday at Manafield Park. Lots of neat entertainment, including western bands, chili cooks, cowboy poetry, line dancers and tap dancers.

See ya' there!

School's out...

LOOK OUT, BMS, HERE WE COME! -- Members of Adelene Plesa's class from Alkek school enjoyed a PTO sponsored fifth grade graduation party at The Farm on May 16. One hundred fifteen fifth graders thoroughly enjoyed their last splash as "elementary students."

Farm Bill changes explained



A meeting on the 1996 Farm Bill will be held Wednesday, May 29 at 7:30 p.m. at the Bandera County Farm Service Agency conference Room at 1110 D Main St. in Bandera.

FSA County Executive Director Joy [illegible] said the meeting will specifically cover the new seven years production flexibility contracts.

"Eligible producers are those with cropland acreage bases," said Gallagher.

Producers will have only one opportunity to enroll a farm in a production flexibility contract. Producers who miss this [illegible] will not be eligible to enroll the farm at a later date. Sign-up will began May 20 and will end July 12, 1996.

Hi, y'all! Hey, what was that wet stuff that soaked all my tools and truck seat early this morning? We got half inch and a bunch of marble sized hail. This little bit of moisture got the fire phone ringing with folks wanting to burn. With the burn ban in effect again, we have to tell them no way.

We had some calls Sunday night from people wanting to do controlled burns. The winds at the time were a steady 20 mph with gusts fast enough to blow the hair off your head. Now something is missing in common sense about when to try to do a controlled burn. Wonder why so many controlled burns become uncontrolled?

While we are on our soap box we have another gripe to air. There is a new ball park on FM 1283. The other night there was a game there and people parked along the fence line very orderly with no traffic hazards. The next day a TxDOT truck was there putting up No Parking signs! What gives, TxDOT?

Sunday, June 2 will be the St. Victor's Festival. We will look forward to seeing all of you there. There will be barbecue and games and bingo. Wonder if they will have a dunking booth?

Our well business has kept us busy lately. With our increasing population, we need to keep an eye on our water supplies and not end up like our neighbors to the east. So don't waste water, recycle your grey water and like they say, take a navy shower.

Well, the humidity has us boiling in our own juices so we are going to find a cool spot for awhile.

We will be looking for you over the back fence.

Betty and I and daughter, Judy just returned from Vegas where we had a good time and saw old friends.

We got back home on Friday afternoon, just in time for the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department fund raiser on Saturday.

The wife and Judy worked the flea market and played some bingo. The weather was very cooperative and the crowd, though not overwhelming, was steady.

The barbecue was delicious and tender and I hope the profits were good.

Oh, what a way to start the week off -- I found out what rain looks like and how it feels on a bare back. We got a little more than half an inch with a little hail for good measure. We need more, but are grateful for every little drop.

The Lakeshore VFD will meet for fire training at 10 a.m. Saturday morning.

TARPLEY

Someday soon I would hope to report rain. Cloudy mornings sort of make us feel hopeful. We've been through many bad droughts, but reports on the news this is the worst and may last until 1998. Hope reports are wrong.

•Louise Dorang was hostess at her home for the Rio Hondo Extension Club on May 15. The 16 women attending enjoyed a Spanish luncheon consisting of gazpacho, pinchitos and flan.

This was the last club meeting until September. However, the group will meet informally during the summer to work on early Christmas ideas and to landscape a flowerbed at the subdivision's firehouse.

• Jan Harton will host a meeting at her home to plan the landscaping of a flower bed at the Rio Hondo firehouse.

Harton will also be teaching a class on calligraphy.

City debates Main Street stagecoach

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Saying that Bandera might be the only town in the state of Texas with a continually-running stagecoach, Bandera Chamber of Commerce representative Patricia Moore came before the city council Monday night to support the Bandera Overland Stagecoach company.

"Since losing Bandera Downs, we need something that will be a draw for visitors," Moore said. "It is our understanding that it enhances the community very fully."

The special city council meeting was called after some business owners on Main Street objected to the mule-driven coach.

Geri Valdez, owner of Roundup Realty, said she was in favor of the stagecoach operation, but that parking was a problem.

"We came to work one day and our parking spaces were gone," Valdez said. "It sounds silly to be fussing over two parking spaces, but you have no idea of the problems."

Earlier in the day, Valdez had also expressed concerns about safety.

Mayor Bob Cowan said in an opening dialogue that the council had probably moved too hastily in granting owner Mike Trejo's request to park his coach on the corner of Main and Cedar.

"We were enthusiastic about it and still are," he said. "I think the idea of the stagecoach is excellent. Anything western, I'm all for."

Cowan told council members and the audience that he saw two issues.

One issue concerned giving an individual a right to use a parking slot over another individual.

A second issue concerned the portable building the Trejo's are using as a ticket booth.

He suggested that the council not make a decision immediately, instead he said he had been talking with Fred Moore, owner of the lot next to Janett's Western Boutique as a possible site for the stagecoach.

Jeannie Parker, owner of the only other animal-drawn business in Bandera, said she supports the Bandera Overland Stagecoach.

"I think it's an asset to our town and I look forward to working with you and not against," Parker said.

Corporation behind Apple Festival generous with funds

Since the beginning of the Medina Texas Development Corporation in 1988, over $12,500 has been awarded to Medina students from funds generated directly from the Texas International Apple Festival. The funds from the auction, along with the funds generated from the profits of the Apple Festival are given back to the community in the form of not only scholarships but also grants to organizations for projects that directly improve the growth, service and improvements in the town of Medina.

Grant recipients for 1995 were the Bandera County Spirits of Christmas Presents, Wish Upon a Star, Medina Athletic Boosters, Medina Chapter of the Bandera County EMS, and the only regional children's hospital serving Bandera County: Santa Rosa Children's Hospital.

In total, MTDC has awarded grants, scholarships and made community improvements totaling more than $70,000 with funds generated from the Texas International Apple Festival.

Recently, the Festival announced some new rules in the Best Apple Pie Competition and the Best Apple Anything Competition that could mean some serious money for competitors.

This year, the youth contestant will receive 25 percent of the auctioned price along with the beautiful apple trophy. The adult division winner will pocket 15 percent of the auctioned amount, and the professional division winner will have a donation made in their name to the Medina charity of their choice of 10 percent of the auctioned amount. The remaining auction money will go to the scholarship fund for graduating Medina seniors and the continuing education scholarship given by MTDC each year.

In the past, all money received from the auction went directly to the scholarship fund for graduating seniors and to the commu-

May sales tax collections down

City and county both see drop in rebates

Local May sales tax payments to Texas cities totaled $181.3 million, 2.6 percent above the $176.7 million in May 1995. Rebates to Texas counties were $15.4 million in May, down 10.5 percent from last year's rebates of $17.2 million.

The city of Bandera received $19,257.39 in sales tax rebates for May, which was down 6.87 percent from the $20,680.07 collected last year. To date, however, the city's take is up 2.52 percent over a comparable time last year.

Bandera county's rebates fell 20.86 percent, however. The county received only $16,409.84 in May collections, compared to $20,737.17 taken in last year. For the year, however, the county is down only 2.34 percent on sales tax rebates.

According to the state comptroller of public accounts John Sharp, "City rebates were up slightly from last year's, while county payments were down. This apparent reduction really reflects large audit collections that inflated county allocations during this same period last year."

Arrested by Pct. 2 was Sutton Shelby, 31, of Bandera for public intoxication.

Arrested by DPS officers were: Clint Hampson, 19, of Pipe Creek for possession of marijuana.

James Williams, 18, of Pipe Creek for possession of marijuana.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 35 calls for service, and issued 4 citations for the week of May 27-June 2, 1996. Calls for service included two assist other agencies, three accidents, three suspicious circumstances, one disturbance, six public assists, three animal calls, two gas drive offs, one alarm, one welfare concern, two assaults, one theft, one criminal mischief, one protective order violation, one threat, three fights and four suspicious vehicles.

Arrested was Patrick Donovan, 31, on outstanding DPS warrants.

"The Bandera Police Department would like to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Dan Reese for his valuable assistance to the city of Bandera," said Chief Lynn D. Holt. Reese donated a 386 computer, complete with keyboard and monitor for use in the police department.

"The department can now begin to computerize our records and reports, thereby becoming more efficient to better serve the community," said Holt. "But we still have a need for one more computer. If anyone can help, we would certainly appreciate any effort."

Commercial drivers will need pre-trip inspection

Beginning June 3, applicants for Class A or B Texas Commercial Driver Licenses are required to pass pre-trip vehicle inspection tests.

"This is really just some fine-tuning of our CDL program," said DPS Inspector John Hall. "New applicants will be required to pass a test to make sure they can determine whether a commercial vehicle is safe to operate on the highway. It should only take about 10 minutes."

CDL applicants previously [illegible]oply had been required to pass an airbrake inspection of their vehicle, Hall said.

The new pre-trip vehicle inspection test, which will include the airbrake inspection, is mandated by federal and state regulations, the inspector said.

CDL applicants should prepare for the test by obtaining and studying a copy of Section 10 of the Texas CDL Handbook at any DPS Driver License office.

Since Texas' federally mandated CDL law went into effect on Sept. 1, 1990, some 560,000 Texans have been issued Commercial Driver Licenses. The pre-trip vehicle inspection test requirement is the first change in the licensing program since then, Hall said.

Anyone needing more information on this new requirement should contact their local Driver License office.

Fifty-six Massey Ferguson Tractor Company dealers and their wives from Denmark recently enjoyed a tour of the Sims Spur Company in Bandera. FB hosts tax-saving seminar

An educational seminar addressing how self-employed farmers and small business owners may qualify to reduce tax bills by $1,000-$2,000 will be held on June 19 at the Bandera County Farm Bureau office. There is no charge to attend the seminar.

"According to last year's statistics, over 25,000 self-employed business owners reported an average tax savings of over 2,000 by fully deducting family health insurance premiums as well as medical, dental and vision care expenses not covered by insurance," said Barbara Mazurek, Bandera County Farm Bureau.

The meeting, which is being sponsored by the Bandera County Farm Bureau, will begin at 7 p.m.

All self-employed Farm Bureau members are invited to attend and reservations are required. To make your reservation, contact the local office at 210-796-3077 by June 17.

Trejo said he had promised at the first meeting to work with the city council.

"I did say if there was a problem I'd work with you on it," he said, adding that he was not opposed to moving to the corner of Main and Cypress if logistics, such as turning the coach around, could be worked out.

Several business leaders stood up to voice their support of the fledgling business.

"Bandera is one of the most unfriendly communities to new people coming in," Joe Davis, owner of Busbee's Barbecue said. "From an economic standpoint it doesn't mean anything to be the Cowboy Capital of the World if we don't have anything western. Why don't we work together?"

Cabaret owner John Necker, also the chairman of the Economic Development Committee, agreed.

"A goal of the Economic Development Committee is to make Bandera one big dude ranch," Necker said. "We commend the council for being enthusiastic about new businesses."

Both Necker and shop owners from Bandera Village said they would like Trejo to have stops at their ends of town, and possibly, ferry visitors from one end of town to the other.

My World owners, Janice and David Kelly, expressed a desire for their older clientele to be able to park close and safely get to their business, a sewing needs and fabric shop on Main Street.

Council member Dorothy Darden made a motion to table the problem until the next regular council meeting on June 10, with the proviso that they do make a decision at that time. Until then, Trejo will be allowed to run his business as he has been.

The Bandera Overland Stagecoach takes customers on a 10-15 minute tour of Bandera's historic buildings, mentioning places to eat and shop.

Fall improvement group seeks funding

The Citizens for the Improvement of Mansfield Park, [illegible] finance a cover over the arena, continues to work on the project, said finance committee chairman Carey Poe.

The group will be attending the June 10 city council meeting and the Convention and Visitors Bureau meeting on July 10 to ask for funds.

"The funds we are requesting are bed tax funds and not tax dollars," said Poe. "We feel that covering the arena would promote tourism and in turn benefit all of Bandera County. Please contact your city council members or the members of the CVB board and urge them to support this project."

Story time will be held at the Bandera County Library for pre-schoolers Thursday, June 13 from 10:30-11:30 a.m.

Tax workshop planned

For people staring a business, the IRS announces a free Small Business Income Tax Workshop in San Antonio, co-sponsored by the Small Business Development Center.

The workshop runs Thursday, June 13, 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. at UTSA Downtown, 1222 N. Main. Topics include record-keeping, self-employment taxes, selecting a business structure and IRS procedures.

Seating is on a first come, first served basis. For futher information call IRS Volunteer & Education Programs at (512) 499-5439.

Commercial drivers will need pre-trip inspection

Beginning June 3, applicants for Class A or B Texas Commercial Driver Licenses are required to pass pre-trip vehicle inspection tests.

"This is really just some fine-tuning of our CDL program," said DPS Inspector John Hall. "New applicants will be required to pass a test to make sure they can determine whether a commercial vehicle is safe to operate on the highway. It should only take about 10 minutes."

CDL applicants previously only had been required to pass an airbrake inspection of their vehicle, Hall said.

The new pre-trip vehicle inspection test, which will include the airbrake inspection, is mandated by federal and state regulations, the inspector said.

CDL applicants should prepare for the test by obtaining and studying a copy of Section 10 of the Texas CDL Handbook at any DPS Driver License office.

Since Texas' federally mandated CDL law went into effect on Sept. 1, 1990, some 560,000 Texans have been issued Commercial Driver Licenses. The pre-trip vehicle inspection test requirement is the first change in the licensing program since then, Hall said.

Anyone needing more information on this new requirement should contact their local Driver License office.

Letters to the Editor

Wharton's Dock Road needs policing

Dear Editor:
This is a plea for Bandera County to notice that Wharton's Dock is a [illegible]

[illegible] paying citizens that are afraid to [illegible] such times we drive Wharton's Dock Road.

There have been too many accidents already, one of which was fatal.

Please! We realize that our law enforcement is stretched, but wouldn't it be better to have an officer on this road checking for speeders, dangerous passers and middle of the road drivers, than to have one innocent person lose their life.

This road is not conducive to 50 or more mph. The signs are posted for a reason but go unheeded. Wharton's Dock Road was in need of better policing two years ago when we fell in love with the area and the people and moved here. Now, it's an absolute necessity!

Mr. and Mrs. A. Luce
Wharton's Dock

"our hats are off to you."

Denny Foster
Director, Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association

Good [illegible], John

Dear Editor:
I had the pleasure of working with an outstanding county employee over the last few weeks, John Bruce, Manager of Mansfield Park. John worked beyond his regular 8 hours a day preparing for the Cowboy Capital Rodeo. many night he worked well into the morning hours. John never asked for, nor did he receive over-time pay for this additional work. His focus was totally on the success of the rodeo.

In today's times, where many people won't lift a finger to help, it is nice to meet a man with the pride and work ethic of John Bruce. John is an asset, not only to Mansfield Park, but to all of us in Bandera County. John,

Cooks love Bandera

Dear Editor:
Talk about grapevine! CASI chili cooks have one that equals or surpasses the very best. The word is out on their grapevine that Bandera is a good place to meet to cook in competition with other chili cooks. They like the picturesque country side and Mansfield Park, but more importantly, they appreciate the fair and friendly manner in which Bandera treats them.

Such treatment and friendliness has given our post another successful cookoff for our student benefit fund. We thank Bandera, especially those who so willingly donated their talent to showmanship and entertainment.

Reject Springhills

Dear Editor:
The Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water District and the Springhills Water Management District are both monuments to bureaucracy and poor management.

To document the mistakes of the BMA over the years would require a ream of paper.

The blunders by Springhills are likewise too voluminous to document. Basically, all ground water in the Springhills District belongs to the landowners and all the water flowing down the Medina River belongs to a few Bandera County landowners for irrigation and the BMA. Springhills rekilly doesn't have anything to manage!

Springhills tries to justify its existence by duplicating tasks that have been performed for years by the United States Geological Survey, the state and the county. They are also attempting to create work for themselves by creating new rules. Since Texas was formed it has been possible to drill your own well, on your own land, to use your own water. Not any more. Now you have to buy a permit from Springhills.

Given time, you will need a permit to brush your teeth.

Unfortunately, in all governments, the bureaucracy expands and personal freedoms are lost. Surely there must be some better way to manage water than with water districts.

June Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

I've had the occasion over the past couple of weeks to work for a few hours in a place where the people in charge really hate their job. The underlings sensed a hurry happy bunch, this wasn't [illegible] happy, it's hard for anybody to move about with ease and do the job right.

In this particular place, tension and stress are a large part of the job. Plus, take-over movements by a huge corporation are in the wings. The jobs aren't secure and the changes being wrought daily are affecting everyone.

It's been a while since I've been in the position to have to make nice to someone who was really just a jerk, but unfortunately, I needed these hours in this place to achieve a goal I have set for myself. So, I bit my tongue, moved about as silently as possible and tried like hell to avoid [illegible] people.

It goes without saying that I didn't learn nearly as much as I had hoped to upon going in.

It also made me realize how many [illegible] to have found a job to work where the atmosphere is one of friendly, happy people who work together to put out as good a product as possible.

It ain't Shangri-la all the time, don't get me wrong. We all have our days! But when we have problems, we work them through.

I think we all realize that working problems out, instead of holding them in and nursing them till they blow up, is the best way to achieve a pleasant work-place atmosphere.

We have fun together, and since I spend more time with these people than I do my own family, that's worth a lot.

1973 Business

Some of the advertisers in the Dec. 28, 1973 issue of The Bandera Bulletin were the following.

D&W Fur Company of Hallettsville was looking for fur sellers at Petersen's Drive-in Fresh Fruit and Vegetable Stand on Main St.

Homer Bolen was also buying furs from local trappers.

Free State Oil Company advertised butane and propane for sale.

I.E. Adamietz & Co. offered insurance coverage for every need.

Langford's Hardware and Lumber Co. advertised remodeling, new homes and plan service.

The Cunningham Brothers offered residential and commercial contracting and complete remodeling service.

Boyle's Shopping Center had Falstaff beer on sale for 99 cents a six pack.

Paxton's Landscape Service had tree maintenance among their many services.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Sometimes the question is asked: "Why don't you Texans do things the way we do it in New York City?"

The question can be answered in several ways.

1. We're just too darned stubborn to do it any way but our way.

2. We're just too darned stupid to do it any way but our way.

3. Our way is better.

Now, funderstand that you might not prefer any of those answers. Sometimes we have to look at Texas culture and history to find the explanation for our seemingly strange ways of doing things.

While for a long time now Texas has been subject to the Anglo-Saxon coloring to rules, regulations and legislations that govern the eastern half of our country, Texas also has an invaluable legacy from Mexico and Spain.

That legacy is older and many of our modern laws overlay an Hispanic foundation laid centuries ago.

I've recently been reading "Tejanos and Texas under the Mexican Flag, 1821-1836" by Andres Tijerina.

It's one of those $20 paperbacks my son had to buy for a college history class that he brought home with the cellophane wrapper still in place.

Dr. Tijerina is an assistant professor in the history department at Texas A&M University--Kingsville.

In the book, Tijerina outlines how the Mexican culture already in place in Texas just before the Texas Revolution influenced the incoming Anglo-American pioneers.

In addition to changing farmers to boot-wearing cowboys on horseback, the Mexican ranch culture influenced words, practices and legal principles.

As a result of that culture clash, many of our water laws today reflect the Spanish view of water as the life blood of the land, a precious commodity to be used carefully.

The Hispanic land-water concept was introduced into Texas on the earliest Spanish explorations.

The public nature of water ownership is probably the most notable of the Hispanic traditions. Ancient Spanish codes declare all waters of New Spain belong to all the inhabitants of the land.

An 1852 irrigation law written by Robert S. Neighbors of Medina County and Samuel A. Maverick of Bexar noted its derivation from the Spanish water regulations they were familiar with.

In 1889 and 1895 the Texas legislature officially declared unappropriated waters the property of the public.

Just say whoa to legal system woes

GUEST EDITORIAL by Clay C. Conoly

Let's set aside common sense for the time being and examine our legal system. That is just what the architects of our current legal system did when they designed this system that affects all of our lives. Did they design our system of justice with the well-being of their fellow man in mind? And who are these tort architects?

They are, of course, our State Legislators. "Lawmakers": the name says it all. They are also politicians who are dependent upon campaign contributions in order to get into and remain in office. Where do they get these contributions? From many sources, mainly special interest groups.

Let's narrow it down and look at one particular interest group: the Texas trial lawyers. This group contributed over $8.8 million in campaign contributions from 1990 to 1994. Why shell out all this dough with nothing in return? The fact is, their campaign funds produce a very high rate of return. Their extraordinary amount of political power is measured by their enormous monetary contributions. Here's how it works: the trial lawyers give the candidates enough money to get into or remain in office. The elected lawmaker then adopts legislation which designs our legal system, much of which directly benefits the pocketbooks of the trial lawyers. Why do our lawmakers perform political favors for this special interest group? There are more lawyers who make up the body of our State Legislature than any other profession. Approximately 31 percent of our lawmakers are lawyers.

Now let's look at the pitfalls of our legal system. Its design has turned society against itself, turned our courts into litigious battlegrounds while lining the wallets of the trial lawyers. Its design encourages corruption, extortion and frivolous lawsuits. With the backlog of thousands of civil suits, our courts are overwhelmed. As a result, this problem contributes to jail overcrowding at the expense of the taxpayers. Who's idea was it that each prison must provide its inmates access to a law library? What does this say to our criminals? Commit a felony, then go to law school for free at the expense of the taxpayers!

With access to a how-to law library, it is the prisoners who are filing many of the frivolous grievance suits. Who's idea was it to give these prisoners more rights than the victims of their crimes?

It is not that our society has become so complex that we just throw up our hands in frustration and say there is nothing we can do — we can do something before greed creates the extinction of our species. One contemporary buzz phrase is "the Blame Game." Has society accepted the concept that no one is responsible for himself or his actions? Has our legal system redefined "right" and "wrong" to mean something in between? Our world does not have to be that complicated where one is unable to decipher between right and wrong, to identify what makes good common sense and what does not.

Our legislators have in recent years been working on tort reform. Issues such as joint and several liability, caps on punitive damages, venue shopping, etc. have been rewritten; however, these issues scratch the surface. Michael Graham, partner with Baker & Botts law firm, has drafted some of the recent reforms. He said that the current wave of reforms has been to get our existing civil justice system back to what is fair and normal.

What our legislators know, but do no want the public to see, is the Big Picture. The Big Picture is simply "Loser Pays." In civil disputes, the loser would be ordered to pay the winner's costs along with his own. This concept would make lawyers think harder before suing anyone, and it would make it harder to bully a defendant into an early settlement. In other words, Loser Pays would dramatically decrease the number of frivolous lawsuits. Another idea would be to limit contingency fees — what lawyers charge a client as a percentage of any recovery they make. Under Loser Pays, it should also be provided that the lawyer must pay his proportionate share of costs if he is hired under a contingency contract.

You can bet your bottom dollar that the trial lawyer group will passionately oppose these solutions. For good reason — it will dramatically affect their pocketbooks. But why shouldn't it? Are we not a little tired of having them (indirectly) in our pocketbooks for the past three decades?

Adoption of the Loser Pays plan will create a trickle-down effect. After its implementation we will begin to see the woes of other institutions remedy themselves, i.e., health care, education, crime and economic growth to name a few. More importantly, we will begin to nurture one another. The Blame Game will be over and people will begin to take responsibility for themselves. We will see more research in the cure for cancer and other diseases as doctors and researchers no longer fear frivolous malpractice and product liability exposure. We will see ourselves as a more highly evolved civilization. How do we know this? We are the only advanced legal system in the civilized world that does not have a Loser Pays plan. Our legal system is the laughingstock of the civilized world because we have allowed the lawyers to run the system. It is now time to bring common sense back into our system of civil justice.

Clay Conoly is the owner of the Dixie Dude Guest Ranch in Bandera County.

HCE students add it up for good cause

Hill Country Elementary students recently raised over $4,000 for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital.

The funds were raised with a math-a-thon, reports Kim Villanueva from the school.

Over 146 students from kinder through fifth grade obtained sponsors to pledge money for working math problems. Students worked over 200 problems from April 25-May 16.

"The community showed their support for our youth by participating in such a worthwhile endeavor; helping our children realize the need to help others," said Villanueva. "We exceeded our goal by $2,389.50 thanks to students, parents and the whole community."

Basic Bandera

Peggy Tobin
796-4420

Fire and water. The two most basic elements necessary for the creation and survival of life.

What is more wonderful or warming, literally and figuratively, than a crackling fire in the stone fireplace in winter or a bonfire circle of friends on a cold night?

What is more pleasing than the sight and sound of clear water rippling over the rocks of a hill country stream or whooshing out of a big center-pivot sprinkler watering a farmer's field to bring forth food for man and beast?

But these same basics which maintain our life and nurture our souls likewise are capable of unleashing the most awesome destruction. By the happenstance of geographical location and weather condition at a given time, we have personally experienced the death-dealing power of both fire and water.

That strange morning of August 2, 1978, when it had not rained more than an inch and a half on our place down river from Bandera, we had a call from Tim Tobin shouting that he had just seen Gayle and Clay Jones floating past the corner of Cypress and seventh on top of their house! Overnight, the tropical disturbance heading up country had stopped like a hovering helicopter over the Medina and Guadalupe watersheds and dumped, according to some reports, as much as forty inches of rain.

Everyone living here at the time remembers the terrifying tales of losses of life alongside which the reports of downed trees and lost houses seemed less daunting. When we heard from town of the approach'ng flood, we rushed over to the Red Barn and Log Cabin, where it was already too late to save a pile of heart-cedar posts. We saved the Kansas antiques in the cabin by floating dressers and cupboards out the door like boats. The cabin itself and the old barn stood firm as they no doubt had in the earlier big floods of the century.

It was a good thing we were where we were. Coming down the river holding up a desperate hand was Gayle Jones whose little cry for help was barely audible above the roar of the water. Because there was a CB in the old pickup, we were able to call for the rescue helicopter already in the area. Not five minutes later, a thoroughly shaken Gayle was wrapped in a blanket and brought into Phil's house. The danger after that was posed by the rude impertinence of TV cameras trying to ask her "How do you feel?" Soon after, we all learned that Clay Jones had been pulled out of a tree farther upstream. Remnants of his house no doubt now rest somewhere in Medina Lake.

There were calls from all over the country as Bandera had its 15 minutes of fame on the news networks.

And in 1996 on the weekend before Memorial Day, we started getting those calls again. "Is your cabin all right?" "Did the Chapel in the Hills burn?" "How close did the fire come?" (Eighty feet!)

Buffalo Creek, Colorado, previously unknown to anyone outside the families who have been there for over a century, was having its 15 minutes of fame. Careless [illegible] campers in the Pike National Forest had left a fire to go hiking. As the drought-stricken woods literally exploded with a force people seeing it from a distance likened to an atomic blast, the Careless Campers, several hundred mountain bikers, and a troop of Boy Scouts ran hard for their very lives.

Thanks to the totally trained, dedicated, and efficient North Fork Volunteer Fire Department, the enclave of old cabins, including ours, was saved from the vast fire which wiped out almost eleven thousand acres before professional fire fighters, the Forest Service and the National Guard stopped it from jumping the South Platte River and heading into Denver suburbs.

Lesson: Despite recent showers here and there, Bandera County still faces great risk of a major fire. Our cedar brakes will burn just as hard and fast as do the dry pines of the Rockies. And now those brakes are dotted with houses and people and all the stuff we stack around to feed the flames.

So far so good despite some foolhardy risks on the part of local officials in lifting burn bans. Please let's be careful! We know what water can do. Let's not find out about fire!

Low-cost power and much more
From Fredericksburg to La Grange, community leaders throughout the region are working hard to bring new and expanded businesses to their towns. The LCRA is working alongside them providing a variety of services, including economic-development assistance and low-cost electricity, without the use of tax money.
"The LCRA offers expertise that a lot of utilities don't have the budget or people for. The bottom line to our customers, of course, is the low power cost."
Bob Loth, General Manager

Lake saturation was successful, warden says

Game warden Lewis Rather said the Memorial Day weekend lake saturation patrol was a success.

"We are surprised there were no BWI (boating while intoxicted)," Rather said. "Even though we wrote 106 citations it was a successful weekend because we only had one boating accident and no fatalities."

Rather said that there were 14 game wardens, 10 DPS troopers, five motor vehicle theft investigators and four TABC officers involved in the sweep at Medina Lake.

According to him, the game wardens issued 106 citations that broke down into 94 water safety violations, six fishing violations and six minors in possession of alcohol violations.

TABC issued 20 citations, 18 for minor in possession and two for no fishing license.

DPS issued 125 citations that included two major accidents, traffic violations, possession of drug paraphernalia and three felony charges of possession of a controlled substance.

Rather said that 1,036 people were checked by Texas Parks and Wildlife officials, and 398 boats were checked.

A boy and his bike - riding the sky

by Glenn Wright
staff writer

Fourteen-year-old Stanley Keith says that he wants to race dirt bikes for the rest of his life, and at his present rate, he may get his wish.

Keith, who started racing about three years ago, hasn't won a race yet, but it hasn't put a damper on his enthusiasm.

In his last race, he finished fifth in a crowd of 22 bikers.

His odyssey into the world of bike racing started when a friend of the family taught him to ride a little dirt bike he kept around the house.

Stanley Keith, as he looks without all his riding gear.

"I bought that little bike from him," Keith said. He has since graduated to what he calls a top-of-the-line Honda CR125.

Before that, however, he got involved with racing at a track in Natalia. His mother and brother are responsible for getting him and his bike to the track about once a month for races. The races are not categorized by age, it is done by bike size.

The thrill of racing is not lost on Keith.

"At first you are nervous," he admitted, "but once you get going it's fun. The best thing to do is to get the whole shot and stay in the lead, that way they have to pass you, you don't have to pass them."

Keith described the track as having different kinds of jumps, ditches, sharp turns and straight-aways. Four laps around the track is called a "moto." Each race, with drivers traveling at around 65 mph, is comprised of two motos.

The track is dirt and Keith says that optimum conditions are when it is slightly wet.

He is not nervous about getting hurt.

"I haven't broken any bones yet, but I've had some bad wrecks at about 65 mph in mid-air," he said.

Keith's mom said her son had bailed out and gone over the handlebars on occasion.

"I got up and started riding again," Keith said.

He says that he will need sponsors in order to advance in his chosen sport. He must write letters and resumes to Hondo, oil and tire companies to get them interested enough to come to Natalia and watch him ride.

Local people can help by donating money for uniforms and gear.

During the school year, he confesses that juggling school work and dirt bike racing can get to be a pain, but he isn't going to give up either.

"It's fun and I like doing it," he said. "I'm going to practice a lot more and get help from some pros."

He already has a built-in pro to consult with in his mechanic, a man that Keith says is the No. 1 "hairscrambler" in Texas.

Hairscrambling, something Keith aspires to master, involves biking through woods, swamps, cliffs, etc, without stopping for a break.

When Keith isn't covered from head to toe in protective gear, he is an eighth-grade student at Bandera Middle School.

His parents are Dale and Emily Keith of Bandera.

Over 50 golfing group making the rounds for summer

Led by Robert Bradley of Boerne, the team of Lorraine French, Al Kindla, and Ray Lee put together an eight-under-par 64 to win the weekly scramble tournament sponsored by the Over 50 Golf Association on May 21 at the Flying L Guest Ranch course.

Claiming second place with a 66 were Wiley D'Spain, Wright Carfisle, Richard Schott and Jack Kempf.

In third place with a 67 was the team of Lee Finch, H.C. Day, Al Gray and Ray Maurer.

Fourth place was captured by Jim Terry, Moe Harbour, Charles Trotti and Bill Araiza. They also shot best ball 67, but lost out to a scorecard playoff.

Next month the Over 50 gang will begin to sponsor a tournament each week. The Association has added a fourth tournament at Bandera's Lost Valley course on the second Tuesday of each month.

That means there will be a tournament in Devine on June 6, at Bandera's Lost Valley on June 11, at the Flying L on June 18 and at Castroville on June 26.

Each tournament begins at 8:30 a.m.

A Thought For The Week
by John M. Grimes
Because of the changes in society, men, today, are developing family relationships quite different from those they had with their own fathers. Fathers, today, may not be the sole breadwinner or the unquestioned spokesperson for the household. Yet, at the same time, many fathers are receiving more admiration, more respect, and love than many fathers received in previous generations.
For today it is undeniably true that most husbands and wives make most family decisions a matter of mutual agreement. Today, fathers share and share alike. . . in child rearing. . . in housework. . . in cooking. . . and extending the father image outside the home. Agencies such as Big Brothers, the Boy Scouts and the Y.M.C.A. are quick to admit they would be in big trouble were it not for the fathers who volunteer and work with young people.
To all fathers who read this may we salute you. May you have a happy, happy day. . . . .

TARPLEY

Well, last week I sent in news early due to Monday's holiday, so missed reporting one and two-tenths inches of rain on Monday. Some run off in tanks was a surprise after being so dry. Happy to report since last Monday we've had three inches of rain total. A report from the Bill Coffey's lists the same amount. They have been missing the rains.

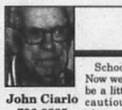
On the silling list are Virgil Beck in the Medina County Hospital; Mary Hietalahti, Marie Hood, Jolyn Shrock, Viola Jackson; Tom Hall had knee surgery at Sid Peterson last week. Raymond Wright is improving.

• Jolyn Shrock and daughter Kimberly drove to Ft. Sill, OK. over Memorial weekend to visit her son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Register and son Austin. They helped little Austin celebrate his second birthday.

• Don and Ginger Spencer came in from visiting relatives in Kansas Friday night. They were gone two weeks.

• Mary Ann Sellers Woods of Hemet, Cal. came in for a few days visit with her aunt and uncle, Nettie and Elzie Dean and also to attend the Ellis reunion.

• Saturday, the family reunion of W.T. Bud and Susan Kutch Ellis descendants was held at the Bandera Bank Community Room.



Fifty-five relatives were present to enjoy food and fellowship. From the children of the W.T. Ellis family were Charlottie Noah, Ettie Krause, Dee Ellis, Nannie Dean, Bessie Causey, Clyde Ellis, Birdie Newcomer and Hampton Ellis.

• Elzie and I celebrated our 57th wedding anniversary June 3. We were married in 1939 at the Pipe Creek parsonage.

He who complains how the ball bounces is more than likely the one who dropped it.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

School's out! Now we have to be a little more cautious driving on that narrow, dangerous blind curve road called Wharton's Dock Road. With the brush crowding the road on the curves, it is impossible to see if anything is coming or children are riding their bikes in your lane. Let's protect these young ones by driving safely. I suggest that parents tell their children, particularly the real young ones to keep both hands on the handle bars and not try and wave to people as they pass by. Saturday I saw a young girl about six years old take her hand off the handle bar and wave and lost her balance and landed on the street. Luckily, she only got a little scratch on her hand as she fell.

• Now that we have got a little rain — three quarters of an inch at our place, don't get careless about burning. It is so easy for what you think is a controlled burn to become an uncontrolled burn in seconds.

• The time for Vacation Bible School is fast approaching. The Walker Memorial Chapel will conduct VBS from 6:15 through 8:30 p.m. June 17-21, Monday through Friday. Make plans now to attend.

Some of the youth at the chapel are hoping to attend the Alto Frio Summer Camp at Leakey for a week this summer. It costs $70 to send a child for a week. The children are willing to work and earn their camp funds. If you can use their help around the house, let them know.

• The Ladies Shuffleboard Bowling League has finished play for now but will start again in the fall. Dorothy Rucker, Danna Simmons and April Byars were the three winners for this season. The women will have an awards dinner Monday June 10 at the Copper Lantern.

USGS needs test wells

The U.S. Geological Survey (USGS), a non-regulatory scientific agency, will conduct a study of the quality of ground water in the Edwards and Trinity aquifers in Central Texas this summer. The Trinity aquifer supplies most of the water for most of Bandera County.

The sampling is part of the USGS National Water Quality Assessment (NAWQA) Program. The NAWQA Program is designed to assess the status of and trends in the quality of the nation's ground- and surface-water resources.

Water analyses and data collected from wells and springs in Central Texas will be provided to owners at no cost. The study will look for a wide variety of chemical constituents, including nitrate, selected metals pesticides and volatile organic compounds, many of which are routinely monitored for in drinking water," said Lynn Fahlquist with the USGS.

Anyone interested in participating in the NAWQA study by allowing their well or spring to be sampled, please contact the U.S. Geological Survey at 8011 [illegible] Road, Austin 78754, phone 512-873-3008, fax 512-873-3090 (Attention: Scott [illegible]).

The Bandera Bulletin will publish a Hill Country Summer Recreational Guide on June 19, 1996. This guide will inform you of where to fish, eat and swim in the Hill Country. If you would like to put your business advertisement in this summer guide call Sean or Tom at the Bandera Bulletin. 796-3718

GIRLS STATE REPS -- Regina Montague and Sara Erfurt, seniors at Bandera High School, will represent Bandera American Legion Post 157 auxiliary at Bluebonnet Girls State this summer. The government in action seminar held at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin from June 11-21 provides practical training in the working of city, county and state government. The two girls who were born on the same day and have been attending Bandera schools all their lives together. They look forward to spending 10 days at Girls State. "It would be neat to be elected to an office," said Regina.

Does the BISD board have too may closed (executive) sessions?

The law is very specific about reasons for which a school board may conduct a closed session and your school board is very conscientious about complying with the law. Among the reasons it may conduct a closed meeting are to:

- conduct a private consultation with its attorney when seeking advice about pending or contemplated litigation or a settlement offer. (If you were thinking about suing or thought you might be sued, would it be in your best interest to discuss legal strategies in front of possible adversaries?);
- deliberate the purchase, exchange, lease, or value of real property or deliberate a negotiated contract or prospective gift donation to the district (Would you want a party with which you were negotiating to know your position?);
- deliberate the employment, evaluation, reassignment, duties, discipline, or dismissal of an employee or hear a complaint or charge against an employee unless the employee requests a public hearing. (Would you want facts about your performance, along with unsubstantiated allegations and rumors which may not be soon forgotten, to be heard in a public meeting?);
- deliberate in a case involving discipline of a school child unless the child's parents or guardians make a written request for a public hearing. (If your child had behavioral difficulties in school, would you want them known publicly?).

The board may not take action (or even a straw poll) on any of the above items while they remain in closed session. Action, in the form of voting, may only be taken in open session. Your board is very thorough. It does not take its authority lightly, but questions the administration extensively to ensure that its rights and the rights of others have been ensured and that all parties are treated fairly in all respects. Only after it has satisfied itself of these concerns is the board comfortable in either accepting or rejecting the superintendent's recommendation for action in open session.

Why does the board have a closed session at just about every meeting? Simply put, personnel. We are a growing district and have almost 300 employees. The board conducts regular meetings only once a month, and in the time between meetings, many personnel issues arise: employees resign and must be replaced, new positions are created out of need and personnel must be employed, and sometimes the performance or assignment of personnel needs to be discussed.

Quilters sought for Festival competition

What's more American than mom, baseball and apple pie? Quilts, of course! That is why the Bandera County Quilt Guild will again host a quilt competition at the Ninth Annual Texas International Apple Festival on July 27.

Quilting roots come from many cultures. Early records include Egyptians as well as the pieced/quilted, appliqued, or a combination of both. Other quilted projects such as yo-yos, cathedral or crazy quilts include the same categories. This year there will also be a youth division for quilts entered by anyone 18 or younger.

If you have an old family quilt or one that has an interesting history you may enter it for competition or for exhibit only. A written history is desired. Quilts may also be sold at the festival.

All items will be judged using National Quilt Association standards. Judging of quilts will begin at 8 a.m. on the day of the festival. Winners will receive specifically China and Japan are rich in quilting history. Patchwork, as we know it, became common in the early-mid 1700s around 1725 to 1760. Most people did not have scrap material then so most of the quilts and patterns belonged to select wealthier families.

Around the 1800s quilts became more common. Scrap material was more available and the women spent time together quilting. Quilting bees formed and patterns began to develop into traditional designs as we know them.

At this year's Apple Festival, there will be categories of ribbons, cash and/or gift certificates from local and area merchants.

Applications for the event can be picked up at the following locations: in Bandera at Eckhardt's Flower Shop or at My World at 310 Main. In Kerrville at Creations at 832 Water Street. In Boerne at Heyday," 615 S. Main, or at Thimble and Thread at 195 S. Main.

Announcement: Conrad Nightingale, DVM, at Hill Country Vet Clinic, treated a beautiful black Lab, approximately two years old. This unfortunate animal was hit by a car and was homeless. After hearing of his plight, our residents banded together and decided to adopt him. The residents are thrilled to announce the adoption of "Clark." He is a gentle animal who has become very protective of all his mamas and papas. He is very playful or sorrowful when he needs to be. He loves to play ball and to everyone's relief he is "potty-trained." The Clark House suggests you visit Dr. Nightingale, you may find an animal to love. He has so many animals who need homes.

Update: Our fish have sure grown up fast! The residents named them Diddy, Doddy, Waddom & Do, Perchy, Coddy, Blue & Lu. They are avid swimmers and practice day and night. They bring joy to each resident who watches them.

A big thanks to everyone who helped with assisting the residents to the parade. They are still talking about the good time they had.

Water color artist has dabbled in many mediums over life

A water-color artist, Gerry Sharp, will be featured for the month of July in the Doane Gallery at The Frontier Times museum.

"Art has always been a part of my life," Sharp said. "Doing art in some form helped keep me balanced while five children were growing up."

Her first dream was to be a dress designer, however, marriage and children put that dream on hold. She still designed her own clothes.

Later, Sharp moved into ceramics, teaching and doing greenware and hand-formed.

She next tried her hand at paper mache.

"I decorated a huge box for the 1969 Decorator Showcase sponsored by the National Council of Jewish Women," Sharp said.

Furniture and trunk decorating is also an area that Sharp has experimented in, lecturing on the subject at the Decorator Showcase of 1970 in La Villita Assembly.

"When we moved to Bandera in 1985, I turned to water color painting, something that has intrigued me all my life," she said.

Since that time, Sharp has taken workshops with Margaret Scanlan, Milford Stornes, Judi Betts, Susie Short, Mary Zirkel, and Bell Palmer. This is her first one-man show.

Sharp belongs to Bandera County Artists, Kerrville Art, Guadalupe Watercolor Group, the Coppini Academy of Fine Arts.

MEDINA

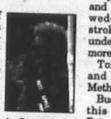
C. Keese Jones
589-7223

Well, we got another half inch of rain on Sunday evening out here on the west prong of the Medina, along with some mighty strong winds.



Sorry about the mix-up in last week's paper. I sent the column in on Tuesday as Monday was Memorial Day, so I took the day off. Guess the paper decided not to.

Miscellaneous

• The local car wash and mini-dromat is now under new ownership, so look for some changes to start happening on that end of town. Ray and Linda Neil Barton are the new owners.

• The apple festival royalty rode in the Memorial Day parade in Bandera. It was some parade they put on with lots of really nice floats. Lasted over an hour!

Speaking of our float, it is that time of year to be thinking about the replacement of Miss Apple Blossom. The voting boxes will be set up soon, so put on your thinking caps as to who would be a good representative for our community. Mary LeStourgeon has done an excellent job this year.

LeStourgeon

• Jordan Vannatter took off for San Diego on Monday to be a Marine reservist and will go through a 12-week basic training program.

• This past Friday night a "micro burst" as the weather man called it hit here in some areas. Extensive damage was done to the White residence on Stringtown Rd. The water line was severed as it uplifted a portion of the house, uprooted a tree and whacked a big oak tree in half and turned the canopy of it upside down.

Also did lots of tree damage in the area to other people's homes.

Sounds like a small tornado to me.

On Sunday night out on North Prong, the storm blew a portion of the roof off of the Leutzenheiser residence.

Visitors

Lots of people came in for Memorial Day weekend. Bob and Peggy King had two couples here: Mr. & Mrs. Milton Jones of Ardmore, Ok. and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Michael of Midland, old high school friends of Peggy's.

Condolences

A memorial graveside service was held Sunday, June 2 at 2 p.m. at Oakrest Cemetery for Joseph Thompson of Rocky Creek. He was the husband of Barbara Jean.

Mary Coose, the widow of John Coose, was buried at Oakrest Cemetery recently. About 25 people gathered for the service. Sympathy goes out to the LeStourgeon and Coose families.

Illness

Henry and Ruth Lewis have been in Houston for about 10 days and he also underwent treatment while there.

James Hegdal has now been moved to Warm Springs Rehab in San Antonio after being in the Corpus hospital for awhile. He and his wife were visiting for a wedding and he suffered a stroke while there. He will be undergoing therapy for several more weeks.

Tom Harrison is now home and improving after being in Methodist.

Buddy Mills suffered a stroke this past week and is in Sid Peterson.

Anna Childs is in Sid Peterson.

Pappy Garrison had eye surgery in SA on Monday.

Jiggs Burch is home from the hospital.

Birthdays

June 6: Lenval Mayfield. June 6: Wes and Gina Sawyer anniversary.

June 7: Joe and Virginia Britt anniversary.

June 9: Steven Jenkins, H.M. Adams Jr.

June 10: Jim Rather, Sue Nesting Chandler.

June 11: Lynda Coates.

June 12: Neal and Sue Keiser anniversary.

Barbecue on 6/22

The Medina Livestock and Wildlife Association fires up the barbecue pits for their annual fund raiser on Saturday, June 22.

A variety of cabrito, brisket and pork will be on the menu, along with all the trimmings.

The festivities will be held at the Apple Festival grounds beginning at noon. and include an auction and raffle.

The kindergarten winners in the Medina Elementary science fair included Mari Catherine Hagan who won first place. In a three-way tie for second were Raymond Edwards, Raymond Morrill and Andy Hunt, and Geneva Haines. The Bulletin regrets the mispelling of Mari Catherine's name last week.

I would like to take this opportunity to publicly congratulate Linda Barton on her victory in the school board elections on May 4. I know she will continue to do a good job and she has my support.

I would appreciate it if in the future the residents of Medina would give me the opportunity to respond to anything that they may have heard in the notorious Medina Rumor Mill. As my friends will tell you, I am a straight forward person and I will be glad to tell you what I said or did. This will guarantee you the facts and not the false rumors that keep going around Medina. A select few in Medina went to the trouble to ask me what my views and opinions were prior to the election. The rest of you decided that the Rumor Mill was probably a lot more interesting. More people should take the time to ask the person in question to their face -- there would be a lot less to gossip about and people would not be hurt by your accusations and innuendos. You deserve and have the right to hear both sides of a story in order to make a fair judgement.

Recently, I have been at the school discussing the cheerleading procedures and policies that concerned my daughter. That is my right as a parent. My child's happiness and welfare come first in my life, as I am sure that most of you with children will concur. However, I have been criticized and bad-mouthed for being a concerned mother. The last time I checked, we lived in a democracy, but in the past few weeks, between the school board elections and the cheerleading situation, I am not allowed to be a mother or have an opinion.

When my family and I moved to Medina, we felt it was a great opportunity to raise our daughter in. I hope that each of you can re-evaluate your positions in the community and help mend the division that has taken place these past few months. If questions or comments arise, please take the time to find out the facts for yourself from the appropriate individual and not listen to the Rumor Mill. Maybe then we can rebuild the fences and create the harmony Medina once had.

Sincerely,
Suzy Huizar

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

Say, how'd you like all that color in our dear old Bulletin a few weeks ago? Looks like we're gettin' uptown!

The Cowboy Capital now has another calf roping arena — the Rockin' M. Bobby Malone is the trail boss on this one, so I'm sure it will be a great success.

Ruddy Robbins is heading up a whing ding Labor Day celebration of a "Cowboy Gathering." It'll be cowboy everything, from rodeos, parade, pets, musicians, entertainers and whatever. If you want to volunteer, give him a call. He's got pets and musicians coming in from all over the U.S. and is looking for private homes to put them in. It'd be kind of fun to entertain a cowboy poet or wake up to the yodeling of a cowboy singer, warning up in the guest room.

And speaking of cowboy — the American Legion chili cookoff at Mansfield Park Saturday was a wonderful show of what Bandera is all about. That great longhorn steer, complete with saddle, was wandering around, letting you get on for a picture. He had a lot of takers, too!

Then the terrific stage coach was carrying passengers all over the place, lots of old timey cowboy music and poetry. Of course, Wilton Crider was there. It wouldn't be cowboy without him!

The chili cooks put on great shows. There were several authentic chuck wagons set up, with characters cooking that looked straight out of the wild west. Line dancers, kazoo band, and Ms. Rheta's tapping tappers. Then, there were really neat arts and crafts booths and Larry set up his dutch ovens and cooked some crowd pleasin' peach cobbler. All-in-all, it was a perfect Bandera production.

On Sunday, at the high school auditorium, it was Showtime '96, with 32 different acts of Ms. Rheta's tapping, ballet and jazz students. It's amazing that all those little kids get up on that huge state and sing and dance their hearts out, just as if they'd been born into showbiz! I read that they had a survey and found out that kids who take music and dance are better, on the whole, in science and math, than kids who don't. It's probably the discipline of thinking that does it. It's just amazing, the support of parents, grandparents, and great grandparents those students get.

LH7 is one of Bandera County's "working ranches" that welcomes guests. Working farms and ranches are the in thing now. From upstate New York to North Dakota to Colorado to New Mexico. Even Kansas has an overland wagon trip where tourists can go for a week and play pioneer.

Hurricane season is upon us and did you know that hurricanes only move counter clockwise?

Over the Back Fence

By Marion Heider
612-2509

Hi, y'all! Boy, last night brought back memories. We had two thunderstorms come together over the Medina Lake area. We had lots of old-time thunder and lightning and two inches of fairly slow rain. There was a little runoff but most of it soaked in. You can almost hear the plants saying, "Thank you, thank you!"

However, this will not cancel the burn ban! There is still a bunch of dead grass and dry conditions where the rain didn't fall. If you have a bunch of brush to get rid of you might think of renting a brush chipper. This would give you a heap of mulch (which conserves water when you place it around your yard and garden plants) and take care of the brush pile.

We all went to St. Victor's Festival Sunday and had a great meal and got to see lots of friends and neighbors. Gus Limon set a good example by having a brush fire truck on hand to watch over the coal fire for the barbecue.

We've got to give Cindy Gray a birthday hug, Sunday being her birthday. If you see her, wish her a belated happy day!

We understand, through talking to his granddaughter, that Milton Leibold is doing better in a care home in Kerrville. Milton suffered a slight stroke some weeks ago. We hope he can be back soon to supervise Leibold's Camp.

The Parks and Wildlife boys have been busy out on the lake each weekend. They are trying to help people boat and swim safely. We wish them the best because the safer people do their thing, the less we have to do through the fire department and EMS. We appreciate the work of Ernie, Malcolm and Gazaway.

Well, news is short and work is behind, so we will trot along. Please call and let us know your news. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

What's Rustlin'

Say, how'd you like all that color in our dear old Bulletin a few weeks ago? Looks like we're gettin' uptown!

The Cowboy Capital now has another calf roping arena — the Rockin' M. Bobby Malone is the trail boss on this one, so I'm sure it will be a great success.

Ruddy Robbins is heading up a whing ding Labor Day celebration of a "Cowboy Gathering." It'll be cowboy everything, from rodeos, parade, pets, musicians, entertainers and whatever. If you want to volunteer, give him a call. He's got pets and musicians coming in from all over the U.S. and is looking for private homes to put them in. It'd be kind of fun to entertain a cowboy poet or wake up to the yodeling of a cowboy singer, warming up in the guest room.

And speaking of cowboy — the American Legion chili cookoff at Mansfield Park Saturday was a wonderful show of what Bandera is all about. That great longhorn steer, complete with saddle, was wandering around, letting you get on for a picture. He had a lot of takers, too!

Then the terrific stage coach was carrying passengers all over the place, lots of old timey cowboy music and poetry. Of course, Wilton Crider was there. It wouldn't be cowboy without him!

The chili cooks put on great shows. There were several authentic chuck wagons set up, with characters cooking that looked straight out of the wild west. Line dancers, kazoo band, and Ms. Rheta's tapping tappers. Then, there were really neat arts and crafts booths and Larry set up his dutch ovens and cooked some crowd pleasin' peach cobbler. All-in-all, it was a perfect Bandera production.

On Sunday, at the high school auditorium, it was Showtime '96, with 32 different acts of Ms. Rheta's tapping, ballet and jazz students. It's amazing that all those little kids get up on that huge state and sing and dance their hearts out, just as if they'd been born into showbiz! I read that they had a survey and found out that kids who take music and dance are better, on the whole, in science and math, than kids who don't. It's probably the discipline of thinking that does it. It's just amazing, the support of parents, grandparents, and great grandparents those students get.

LH7 is one of Bandera County's "working ranches" that welcomes guests. Working farms and ranches are the in thing now. From upstate New York to North Dakota to Colorado to New Mexico. Even Kansas has an overland wagon trip where tourists can go for a week and play pioneer.

Hurricane season is upon us and did you know that hurricanes only move counter clockwise?

Airport no blessing

Residents near proposed location say it will be a long-term drain on county

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

If the county can not maintain the roads in Mansfield Park - how could it maintain an airport?

That's just one of the questions raised by Don Jones, a retired Air Force colonel, a certified flight instructor and a resident in Montague Ranch Estates. Jones addressed a gathering of neighbors Wednesday evening. "I don't want an airport in Bandera County, and certainly not next to us," said Jones.

The colonel was hosting a neighborhood rally to garner opposition to a proposed Bandera County airport. The airport might be constructed on the LH7 ranch, which adjoins Montague Ranch Estates on FM 3240 northwest of Bandera.

Approximately 40 people attended the meeting.

Jones presented a summary of the county airport proposal drawn up by an engineering firm for the Aviation Division of the Texas Department of Transportation. A public hearing on the proposal was held at the Bandera County Courthouse Tuesday, June 11.

"An airport is more than just a piece of flat property," said Jones. "There's lights, towers, fences. This airport has to have a rotating beacon. On a good night we can see the one from Kerrville. People well be able to see this airport for miles around."

> "The airport may not be in their backyard, but it's in their back pocket."
> --Tom Gernentz

Jones also pointed out that in his experience planes would be maneuvering at 800 feet above the ground within three to five miles of the landing strip. "During bad weather, on instrument approach, aircraft will be coming in about five miles out," Jones said.

Jones said the engineering study predicts 57 landings or take-offs a day. The group found that prediction somewhat amusing.

"There is no way to know what the economic impact of an airport will be," said Jones. "But will the county be able to maintain the airport once it's built?

Bandera Creek may be flowing in the future with water for San Antonio if the Trans-Texas Water plan goes into effect.

Trans-Texas Water Program looks at inter-basin transfer

Water for San Antonio may flow through Mason and Bandera Creeks on its way to Medina Lake

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Like the many-headed Hydra, San Antonio sits to our south and searches for water to quench her growing thirst. Thanks to Kay Turner and her ilk, there is no Applewhite Reservoir to supplement Edwards Aquifer water for the thirsty city. So, San Antonio looks to Medina Lake and other sources to recharge her aquifer.

Plans to pump water from the Guadalupe River through Bandera County and into Medina Lake are a part of the Trans-Texas Water Program. Trans-Texas is a state-wide water study conducted under the auspices of the Texas Water Development Board.

The TWDB is a state agency responsible for the study of and management of water resources. The firm of HDR Engineering, Inc. in association with Paul Price Associates, Inc., LBG-Guyton Associates and H.B. Zachry Company recently completed a regional report for the West Central region for the Trans-Texas study. The region includes Bandera County.

The report presents a series of alternative programs to enhance the recharge of the Edwards Aquifer.

The primary program, referred to as G-30, involves diverting Guadalupe River water through Bandera County into Medina Lake where it would recharge Fathers and sons...

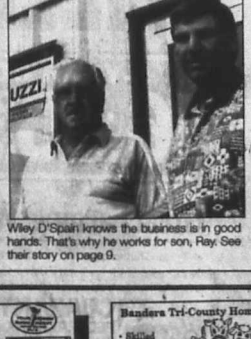
Working together makes every day Father's Day

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer



Rod Adamson has owned Adamson's Exxon since May 1982. The service station sits on the corner of Main and Cherry, where it has been located since December 1986.

Although Adamson attended first grade in Bandera, his military family moved all over the world before coming back to Bandera in his junior year of high school.

That's when he met the woman who would become his wife, Patty Callahan.

The newlyweds moved to San Antonio, but came back to Bandera in 1974 and after different jobs, Adamson bought the Exxon franchise, and settled down.

His only son Mark came along, and at the age of 15 began working for his father at the station.

Wiley D'Spain knows the business is in good hands. That's why he works for son, Ray. See their story on page 9.

Council votes to keep stagecoach running

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Mike Trejo, owner of Bandera Overland Stagecoach, will be allowed to continue running his mule-driven stagecoach from the southwest corner of Main and Cedar, but the ticket booth will have to go - at least for now.

At the Bandera City Council meeting Monday night, council members voted to amend Section 10-110 of the city code which allows for taxi stands to include carriages and stagecoaches.

Council members Dorothy Darden, Johnny Pina, Walter Welch and Curtis Wilson voted for the change, while Tom Kindla abstained.

Because Welch, Kindla and Wilson felt that the ticket booth constitutes a portable building, they voted against leaving that structure in place, at least until a city ordinance against portable buildings can be rewritten.

In other business, council members voted to give city utilities employee Gay Campbell a $50 per week raise and a new title. Campbell, whose title was "utility department clerk" is now "utility billing secretary."

City Public Works Director Mike Cardenas had suggested a 4 percent pay raise since Campbell had been instrumental in computerizing the billing for the department.

In other business:

- Dan Keen, and several residents of Sunset Hills Estates, came before the council to find out when they can expect to receive sewer lines to their subdivision. The neighborhood was annexed by the city, but has yet to receive the lines. Dorothy Darden was appointed to Fire injures resident

by Cyndi Wright

Smoking in bed was the probable cause of a late-night house fire in Bandera June 3 that sent the resident of that house to the hospital.

Nelson Hamilton was transported to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville [illegible] with minor injuries.

His daughter said that Hamilton is still in the intensive care unit and that he may have suffered a minor heart attack during the fire.

Bandera Volunteer Fire Department Chief Tommy Adams said that the structure was fully involved when the first Bandera, Adams said.

Pipe Creek and Medina VFD's also responded to the scene.

"It was pretty close to some thick cedar groves and there were other houses close by," Adams said.

"We responded with two [illegible] ment arrived, about three minutes after being alerted.

Adams said ammunition in the house posed an additional threat.

"Ammunition was going off while we were hooking up the truck," he said. "Luckily, no-one was in the house."

The Bandera home of Nelson Hamilton was destroyed by fire June 5.

Wharton's Dock Road remains hazardous for local drivers

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

A tragic head-on collision on Wharton's Dock Road two weeks ago left a Bandera High School senior with massive injuries and scarring that she will have to live with for the rest of her life.

In November, a Vietnam Vet lost his life in a similar head-on collision on the same road.

Christina Clevenger's car was hit by a car driven by a man attempting to pass another vehicle.

Robert Tolley lost his life when his car traveled into the wrong lane on a curve.

"She missed her finals, so now she won't be able to attend college as scheduled," said Pam Hecke, Clevenger's mother. "She will be on crutches for at least two months. Our goal right now is to get her diploma."

Clevenger's injuries included a open fracture of her femur, a collapsed lung, burns on her legs from the engine, a broken forearm bone and cuts that left scarring on her face. She required several blood transfusions.

"She is basically a cheerful person, but emotionally it's been a real test," Hecke said, with tears in her eyes. "She has a ton of scars to deal with."

Although Clevenger is home from the hospital, where she was taken by AirLife, she still needs help with many basic things.

"I still have to bathe her and clothe her," Hecke said.

Clevenger's ordeal is far from over. The family must be constantly on guard, lest she get any kind of infection.

"Six months from now, she could catch a cold and get an infection that could mean more surgery," her mother said.

Hecke said that her daughter is just grateful to be alive.

Hecke, and other Wharton's Dock residents, have complained about the excessive speeds some drivers use on the road, and the unsafe passing conditions.

"I go up and down that road two or three times a day," Hecke said, "and I have yet to see a place where passing is possible. It should be no passing all the way."

Sheriff James MacMillan said he has beefed up patrols and radar traps along the dangerous road.

"I've got deputies patrolling there daily using radar," MacMillan said, "but they have not found that many people running above the speed limit."

MacMillan said the deputies are handing out only two or three citations a day.

He said he has left messages for Precinct 1 commissioner Bennie Barker, but that Barker has failed to return his calls.

"The signs on that road are messed up," MacMillan said.

There is a stretch where the speed limit is 20 mph going into Wharton's Dock and 45 mph coming out.

MacMillan said he has talked to members of Lakeshores Volunteer Fire Department about holding a neighborhood meeting.

"I'd like to get their input," MacMillan said.

Drowning victim recovered

The body of 44-year-old Ronald Frank Thomas was recovered from Medina Lake Monday, June 10.

Thomas drowned in the lake on Valentine's Day after being thrown from his boat near Red Cove.

Volunteer fire fighters and law enforcement officers retrieved the body after it floated to the surface near the accident site.

"Everybody is just glad we've got him up," said Mico fire chief Jack Love.

Volunteer fire fighters, EMS personnel, Parks and Wildlife officers and members of a professional dive team from the San Antonio Fire Department searched fruitlessly for the body when the accident occurred.

Sheriff's Report

During the week of June 3 through June 9, 1996, the Sheriff's Department answered 87 calls for service. Eleven of the calls were animal calls.

Arrested by the Sheriff's Office were:

Randy Norwood, 38, of Lakehills on a warrant.

Michael Meiners, 17, of San Antonio for theft.

Todd Hixson, 34, of Lakehills for assault and various warrants.

Lonny Hall, 36, of Bandera for contempt of court.

Charles Anderson, 35, of Lakehills for contempt of court.

James Fraser, 35, of Bandera for assault by contact.

Mark Flores, 35, of Bandera on various warrants.

Debra Jones, 17, of San Antonio, for burglary of a habitation.

James McNeal, 32, of Boerne for DWI, driving on the wrong side and no liability insurance.

Dwight Hardin, 31, of Humboldt for driving without a license, no liability insurance and failure to ID.

Medlanie Hollis, 33, of Pipe Creek for assault by contact.

Ramon Maldonado, 43, of Lakehills for DWI.

Arrested by Pct. 2 were:

Genera Urbanski, 52, of Lakehills for public intoxication.

William Urbanski, 39, of Lakehills, for public intoxication.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Growth brings higher property appraisals for some residents

Smaller properties seem to be jumping in value, says appraiser

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Bandera County residents recently found their 1996 [illegible] and many homeowners are not happy with the increases on their holdings.

Appraisal District manager Fourth Coates said that the appraisals are based on market sales of real estate and what similar properties in that area sold for.

[illegible] said. "It's supposed to be fair and equitable."

Coates said that the appraisal district classes the land, for example, as a small ranch, flat land (native pasture), native [illegible]

After that, a value is assigned for that piece of property.

"What has increased in value is the smaller properties across the county," Coates said. "They seem to be jumping."

He attributed that to the increase in people who can [illegible] want to leave the cities and move into the country.

"The water front property is also selling very high," he said. "It's taken a big jump in the last year."

Another trend is the larger [illegible] being broken up into smaller pieces, according to Coates.

An example is the eastern tip of the county, along Hwy. 46, where two large ranches have recently undergone splitting.

"The jump in value is just phenomenal," Coates said.

[illegible] gone up in appraisal is related to increased construction costs that the county saw a little over a year ago and the demand for that housing, according to Coates.

"I'm not trying to raise [the valuations] just to raise them," Coates said. "I'm trying to base it on market value."

The tentative overall taxable value of Bandera County this year is $559,136,131, compared to $520,601,475 last year.

It's a common belief that when property values increase, tax rates are supposed to go down, but that's not always the case.

"If the taxing entities budgets stay exactly the same, then tax rates would go down," said Margrit Gunther, tax collector for Bandera independent School District.

"But that's not likely to happen."

Gunther said that the she doubts that the appraisal values at this point are final.

"I myself got a notice and I'm going to appeal," she said. "There's probably a lot of people that way."

Coates says he welcomes calls and/or visits from people who feel that their appraisal is incorrect.

• Chief of Police Lynn Holt asked the council to transfer $250 from "contract labor" into "equipment" in order to purchase fire extinguishers for the police cars. The council [illegible] approved the request.

• Mike Cardenas requested permission to purchase two back-up motors for booster pumps on the city wells at a cost of $1,000 each. Council approved the request.

The Bandera County Republican Executive Committee met June 7 to lay the groundwork for selecting a Republican candidate for the office of Bandera County Judge. The committee will meet Saturday, July 20 at Bandera Bank to determine procedure and Saturday, Aug. 24 to interview prospective candidates and possibly vote on a selection. Committee members at Friday's meeting were L-R: Janet Cave, Johnnie Newcomer, Linda Barton, Lois Easley, Gayle Buck, Peter Chapman and Bobby Jones. The following people have submitted a letter and resume to the committee indicating their interest in running: fire chief Ralph Crouse of Lakehills, businessman Richard Evans of Bandera, banker Janet Lurker of Bandera, businessman Paul Belzung of Lakeside, and social worker Louise Karr of Lakehills. The committee must announce its choice by Sept. 6.

SW Bell updates lines

Southwestern Bell Telephone is updating their equipment in Bandera County. New and additional copper cable is being laid in the Pipe Creek and Lakehills area.

"This is not a response to growth now," said Roland Ruiz, spokesperson with Southwestern Bell's public relations office. "We are just preparing for future growth. This work is part of our long-range planning for the area."

About a mile of new copper cable is being put in Ruiz said.

"It was Bandera County's turn for an upgrade," said Ruiz.

Tom Gernentz, Don Jones and Maggie Swiers address a group of residents opposed to the building of a county airport.

They can't maintain the roads at Mansfield Park."

Jones and Tom Gernentz, who lives at the south end of the proposed airport location said they figured the county would need to clear $100,000 a year to make a profit.

Neighbor Hal Buxton reported that he had studied the budget of the Kerrville airport. "It is not operating at a profit," said Buxton, disputing the engineering study which indicates that it [illegible] is.

Jones reported that in a conversation with Michelle Hannah at TxDOT, Aviation Division, she said the lack of an airport in Bandera County is an inconvenience to wealthy people from Dallas and Houston who would like to come here.

"Well, if I have to inconvenience some wealthy people in Dallas because they have no place to land a plane, I say to hell with Dallas," replied Jones.

Gernentz shared his concerns about liability risks for the county. "The airport will become a fixed cost in [the county] budget to provide a service for a very few people. That just doesn't make sense," said Gernentz.

Gernentz urged attendees to talk to their friends and neighbors to encourage opposition to the airport. "It's not in their backyard," he said, "but it is in their back pocket."

Letters to the Editor

Wildscape belongs to her and the deer

The Rancher Guide supplement with the June 5 Bulletin was very informative and entertaining. I especially enjoyed the "Consider Wildlife Nutrition" and "Wildscape" articles.

We moved to our property in October of '94 and kept all the [illegible] that was moved. As a result we have lilac and [illegible] sides of the property.

As for the critters, Bambi and the rabbits were here first and they have the right to eat whatever they desire. I say this as I plant more herbs, mints and deer resistant plants.

I may be naive, but I'm not stupid.

Problems in racing

Dear Editor:

I recently received a letter from the governor in response to my letter.

I respectfully have to disagree with him on the qualifications and competency of the people serving on the Texas Racing Commission. I'll tell you why. These people have taken Texas pari-mutuel betting industry from good to bad and from bad to worse, never looking for solutions or ideas on how to better the situation.

If these people had been in the same position with any private business corporation they would have been kicked out a long time ago.

There is a solution. It costs no money. It takes a lot of work. It's there, just to put in place.

I'm not talking of off-track betting. Off-track betting does not help the racing business.

We have here in Texas a gold mine, in the form of the pari-mutuel betting industry.

Let's get the gold out.

Do we want BISD to do a deal with Downs' owners?

Bandera Downs chairman William Allan said last week that Bandera Independent School District's purchase of the race track was "in their court now."

Could this be the old sales ploy to get school officials to rush into purchasing the defunct facility?

Allan and the school district have been negotiating a deal that involves the transfer of $200,000 in back taxes owed by the track to BISD as part of a purchase deal.

Although The Bulletin knew last week that possible negotiations were underway, school officials would not confirm the details.

Unconfirmed stories are circulating that Allan was being heavily pressured to sell the property to a California religious group. The stories indicate the group intends to use the facility for a drug rehabilitation center. According to those stories, Allan has been hiding from the Californians, who came to Bandera County with a contract and cash in hand, to make the purchase.

At first glance, the idea of the school district using the race track may seem ridiculous, but the 135 acre tract may be a solution to the district's long-term problem with explosive growth. The district has had to add portable buildings at $50,000 each to the high school and Middle School campus. One portable is in use at Alkek for the Headstart program. A wing was also added onto the high school last year and the new Hill Country Elementary School completed its first year in the center of the county's fast-growing east end.

For the past few months, the board has been considering a bond issue to remodel and add on to the Middle School located in downtown Bandera. They have learned that the expense of a remodel would almost equal the cost of a new facility and the board has more or less rejected that plan.

This led officials to consider buying Bandera Downs which comes with offices ready for administration, a huge parking lot, a septic system and water treatment plant in place and lots of room for a new school, bus barns, athletic facilities, etc.

An Express News article said Allan wouldn't divulge a price in the negotiations with the school. Downs spokes-reporter Tim Price said that another unidentified buyer had offered $3 million. That sounds like an old real estate sellers' ploy, doesn't it? "Hey, I've got someone on the line with cash ready to buy. If you want in , you'd better do it now!"

Is $3 million a price the school district's taxpayers would be willing to pay? Mr. Allan may be hugely optimistic. Or he may be ignorant of Bandera County's taxpayers' frugality.

Questions still remain about the legality of the use of funds by track officials in the closing months of operation...those same months when if The Bulletin called and asked what the problems were at the track, we were told, "Everything's fine."

Here at The Bulletin we have long listened to the various and sundry management types from the track come in here and cry about how this community has never supported the track. And we have become accustomed to being the last to be informed by track officials about what may be going on out there.

Perhaps the school district should proceed cautiously in doing business with someone who owes $200,000 in taxes, and since closing a year ago has not yet paid fees owed to horsemen who operated out of the facility in good faith.

We wonder if everything will be fine if BISD buys the track from its current owners.

Number of day-care inspections may drop

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Starling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — State inspectors pop in so infrequently at registered in-home day-care facilities that bad situations can slip through the cracks.

Inspectors are required to visit each of the 12,769 registered family homes in Texas only once every three years, according to a report by the Associated Press.

An internal audit of the Texas Department of Protective Services shows infrequent monitoring of registered family homes that care for four or more unrelated children "has a questionable impact on the protection of children" and might as well be out to save money.

Child-care advocates oppose cutting the monitoring.

Ronnie Earle, Travis County District Attorney, opposes curtailing the unannounced inspections, but said that if the monitoring is cut, there must be an alternative program. "We have to provide for the safety of our children, and that means these homes have to be monitored," he said.

Meanwhile, last week, the Texas Sunset Advisory Commission released a study recommending the Department of Protective Regulatory Services be given power to fine deficient or dangerous day-care facilities, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

"I think it would put some teeth in the laws out there," said Fred Seale, deputy director of programs for the agency. "It becomes more of an issue...if there's a penalty associated with a non-compliance finding," he told the American-Statesman.

The agency has authority to revoke licenses or file lawsuits, but the authority to fine would expand enforcement power to deter violations of state law, the sunset commission report said.

Last year, state regulators found about 92,000 violations of child-care standards, but imposed only 122 sanctions and of those revoked only 48 permits to operate.

No Refund for Eaten Food

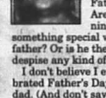
Attorneys for the State of Texas last week withdrew their demand for a $3 million refund for a soybean-based meat substitute purchased — perhaps illegally — by the Texas Department of Criminal Justice.

Why? Most of the granular, just-add-water foodstuff made by the Canadian firm, VitaPro, has already been eaten by Texas prison inmates and guards.

Seeking a refund also could have required switching the location of the trial from prison headquarters in Huntsville to a court in Austin. State attorneys opposed the move because their witnesses and records are in Huntsville.

The state's attorneys continue in their efforts to void a $33.7 million contract with VitaPro, contending the contract violates Texas' competitive-bidding laws.

VitaPro attorneys argue the contract is valid because the company complied with its terms.



Children Rally Against Dump

More than 500 Mexican children gathered in Austin last week to protest a proposed low-level nuclear waste dump to be built near the small West Texas town of Sierra Blanca.

Sierra Blanca, population about 700, is 16 miles from the Mexican border and about 80 miles southeast of El Paso. The children came from Ciudad Acuna, Coahuila, a town 300 miles from Sierra Blanca that relies on the Rio Grande for its water.

Critics of the dump-building proposal say the proposed dump site is in an earthquake-prone area that has many faults in it subterrain.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Sunday is Father's Day. Are you planning to do something special with your father? Or is he the type to despise any kind of fuss?

I don't believe I ever celebrated Father's Day with my dad. (And don't say to yourself, Fathers Day hasn't been around that long!)

My dad wasn't that big on doing things with his kids for fun. He wasn't very tolerant of or patient with childish mistakes and timing.

When we got older, he didn't mind playing dominoes or checkers with us or doing some target shooting. He just preferred adults to children.

And he certainly didn't mind working with his kids. When a job needed doing, we all worked together on it until it was done.

I got to thinking about what we call our fathers. I know I never called dad "father." He was always daddy when I was little, but that got shortened to dad as I grew older.

I had a few friends who called their fathers by their first names, but somehow that was never even a consideration in my relationship with dad. I'm not sure he would have answered me had I called him, "Bill."

I'm sure your family has its share of family stories, those old chestnuts that are trotted out at Thanksgiving, Christmas and family reuniona for fresh telling to new family members and re-enjoyment by the old-timers.

One story that my family tells about me involves my first day of school.

The teachers were seated behind a table looking very stern. I waited my turn to approach them and give them the necessary personal information so that I would be officially registered to begin first grade. (No pre-K, no K? I am old!)

"What's your name, dear?" the teacher asked.

"Carolyn," I replied.

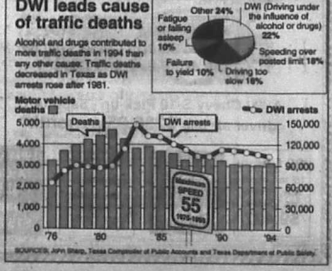
"What's your father's name?"

"I don't know," I answered after giving it some thought.

"Well, what doe , your mom call him?" she asked.

I hesitated to answer, unsure as to my best choice when she asked, somewhat impatiently, "Do you know what other people call him?"

"Oh, yes, ma'am. They call him Bill."



"And you're sure Bill is your father?"

"Well, I'm pretty sure he's my father," I said. "He sleeps with my mom."

Basic Bandera

Peggy Tobin
796-4420

What a pleasure it is always to turn this space over to the redoubtable Raleigh Moses of Virginia, who once lived in Tarpley, has worked many places as an ag specialist for the government, but continues to care and comment on the Bandera County scene:

"You ask," he begins, "How much do you think the preacher charges to bring this about i.e. rains to bring out the bluebonnets and young grass?"

[Note: Every time we devote our weekly lines to the Drought of '96, we hope the question will have been rendered moot by big rains before The Bulletin goes to press. Let's hope it happens this time.] Meanwhile, back to Raleigh's latest letter:

"Maybe you should invite the members of the Native Church of North America to come to Bandera County and hold a peyote ceremony to pray for rain.

"Peyote is a small cactus which grows only in a limited area along both sides of the Rio Grande between Rio Grande City and Laredo. Since before the white men came, the Indians in that region have performed religious ceremonies in which they chewed peyote buttons which contain a bitter alkaloid, mescaline, which causes them to see visions in very vivid colors. The members of the Native Church of North America still practice such rites.

"When I was resident inspector in Houston, I was assigned to periodically visit the individuals who harvest the peyote buttons, dry them in the sun, and ship them. The Food and Drug Administration never interfered with the use of peyote strictly for religious purposes but wanted to make sure the shipments were to bona fide representatives of the Church and not being used for other purposes. I never witnessed one of the ceremonies but participants described them to me as follows:

"A teepee would be set up with the opening facing the rising sun. The leader of the ceremony would sit in this opening. A bonfire would be built in front of the opening and the man appointed to attend the fire would keep it going all night. The members would sit on the ground in a circle. A man would then move about the circle offering the peyote buttons much as the elements of communion are passed in Christian churches. Each participant would take one or more buttons and chew them until he beheld the vividly colored visions.

"They then believed themselves in direct communion with the Great Spirit and that their prayers would be answered. The ceremony would continue until the rays of the rising sun shone into the teepee. The fire would then be doused and the participants would go back to their encampment to gorge on canned fruit, especially peaches. The grocers in the area knew that a peyote ceremony was being planned because their sales of canned fruit would skyrocket.

"One year during a long severe dry period, a ceremony was scheduled to pray to rain. Just before the people were to gather, a gully-washing cloudburst, not unlike the one that hit the Texas Hill Country in July 1932, washed out roads and bridges and prevented the gathering.

"I believe Bandera now wants gentle prolonged rain rather than such a cloudburst, so it may be safer to adopt the philosophy expressed in the poem by James Whitcomb Riley:

It hain't no use to grumble and complain
It's just as cheap and easy to rejoice

So when the Lord sorts out the weather and sends rain,

Why, rain's my choice!"

"Some day you will see 'mare's tails' in the sky, and the barometer bushes will bloom. If at the same time you notice that snails have crawled up a foot or so on the bushes and weeds — head for the hills!"

Calluses should not be treated at home

Houston—"Don't be a 'bathroom surgeon,'" Dr. Jeffrey Ross warns athletes who shave calluses on their feet with a razor blade.

"If you cut deep enough to cause bleeding or lacerate the skin, the cut can become infected," said Ross, a sports medicine foot specialist at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston. "The infection could develop into localized cellulitis - an inflammation of the connective tissue - which can spread up the foot or to the bone."

Ross recommends having calluses trimmed by a skilled podiatrist, who can determine what's causing the callus and suggest ways to prevent recurrence.

Calluses build up on areas of the foot rubbing against shoes, often the result of structural imbalances, gait abnormalities, hammertoes or other toe deformities, or "dropped" metatarsals - the foot bones connecting to bones in the toes. In some cases, the problem can be solved simply by wearing better-fitting shoes or wrapping foam cushioning or other protective coverings around the affected toe. In other cases, the solution may require orthotic devices that elevate the metatarsals, or surgery to correct irregularly shaped bones.

Fishing Report: Water clear; 27 feet low; black bass are good on Power Worms and spinners; striped bass are slow to fair; white bass are slow to fair on spinners and slabs; crappie are fair on minnows and small jigs; catfish are good on rod and reels baited with minnows and cut bait.

Property Tax Protest and Appeal Procedures

The law gives property owners the right to protest actions concerning their property tax appraisals. You may follow these appeal procedures if you have a concern about:

- The value placed on your property.
- Any exemptions that may apply to you.
- The cancellation of an agricultural appraisal.
- The taxable status of your property.
- The local government which should be taxing your property.
- Any action taken by the appraisal district that adversely affected you.

Informal Review
Contact on of the staff for an appointment with an appraiser.

Review by the Appraisal Review Board
If you can't resolve your problem informally with the Appraisal District staff, you may have your case heard by the Appraisal District Board (ARB).

The ARB is an independent board of citizens that review problems with appraisals or other concerns listed above. It has the power to order the Appraisal District to make necessary changes to solve problems. If you file a written request for an ARB hearing (called a notice of protest) before the deadline, the ARB will set your case for hearing. You'll receive written notice of the time, date and place of the hearing. The hearing will be informal. You and the appraisal district representative will be asked to present evidence about your case. The ARB will make it's decision based on the evidence presented. You can get a copy of a protest form from the Appraisal District office at 1116 Main Street.

Note: You shouldn't try to contact the ARB members outside the hearing. The law requires ARB members to sign an affidavit saying that they haven't talked about your case before the ARB hears it.

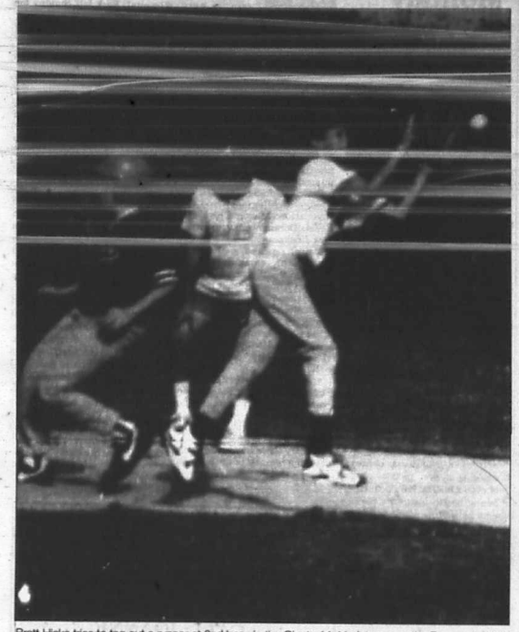
Review by the District Court
After it decides your case, the ARB must see a copy of its order by certified mail. IF you're not satisfied with the decision, you have the right to appeal to district court. If you choose to go to court, you must start the process by filing a petition within 45 days of the date you receive the ARB's order. If the appraisal district has appraised your property at 1,000,000 or more, you must file a notice of appeal with the chief appraiser within 16 days of the date you receive the ARB's order.

More information
You can get more information by contacting your appraisal district at the Bandera County Appraisal District Office at 1116 Main Street in Bandera, TX 796-3039. You can also get a pamphlet describing how to prepare a protest from the appraisal district or from the State Comptroller's Property Tax Division at P.O. Box 13528, Austin, TX 78711-3528.

Deadline for Filing Protest with the ARB*

Usual Deadline:
On or before May 31 (or 30 days after a notice of appraised value was mailed to you, whichever is later) July 6, 1996.

Late protest are allowed if you miss the usual deadline for a good cause. Good cause is some reason beyond your control, like a medical emergency. The ARB decides whether you have a good cause.



Late protest are due the day before the appraisal review board approves records for the year. Contact your appraisal district for more information.

Special Deadlines:
For change of use (the appraisal district informed you that you are losing agricultural appraisal because you changed the use of your land), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of the determination was mailed to you.For ARB changes (the ARB has informed you of change that increases your tax liability and the change didn't result from a protest filed), the deadline is before the 30th day after the notice of determination was mailed to you. If you believe the appraisal district or ARB should have sent you a notice and did not, you may file a protest until the day before taxes become delinquent (Usually February 1). The ARB decides whether it will hear your case based on evidence about whether a required notice was mailed to you.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

On Flag Day, June 14, let us fly 'Ole Glory' proudly. Let us take pride in the knowledge that when OUR flag was born, it brought into the world a new concept of government: a government OF THE PEOPLE, BY THE PEOPLE, and FOR THE PEOPLE. That concept could be based on no other principle than that of which our flag is the symbol; the PRINCIPLE OF FREEDOM.

Let us pre our loyalty and appreciation by believing, loving and maintaining in our minds and hearts that founding principle of our great and precious symbol, THE LAW OF HUMAN FREEDOM.

Let us salute that flag, and pledge allegiance to it; let us never fail to remember that fundamental and universal principle of Freedom, of which our symbol is: the Edwards. The inter-basin transfer of water is a new consideration for Texas water gurus.

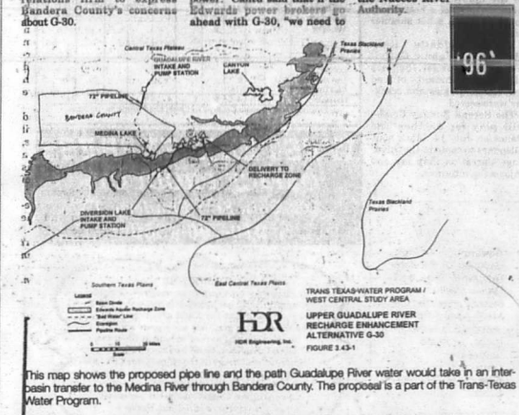
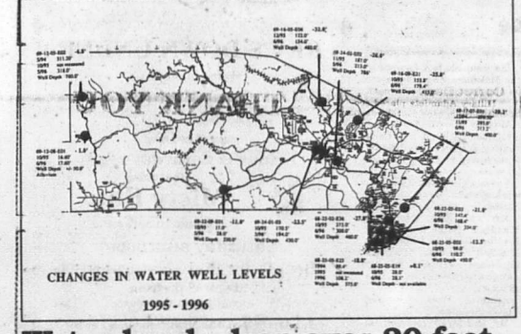
Under the G-30 proposal, a pumping station would be installed at the Guadalupe River near Comfort. Water would be pumped through a 72 inch pipe "over the hump" of hills to Mason Creek where it would [illegible] Bandera Creek and into the Medina River just east of Bandera.



The Springhills Water Management District has appointed a focus group to meet with the Trans-Texas public relations firm to express Bandera County's concerns about G-30.

Members of the group include real estate broker Gary Johnston; former Springhills board member and member of the Alamo RC&D, Joe Cantu; Bulletin editor Carolyn Edwards; LAMCUS activist Darby Reynolds; rancher and property rights defender Richard Evans; Springhills general manager Cameron Cornett; [illegible] active in water issues in Bandera and surrounding counties.



At a meeting Wednesday June 5, Cantu told the group, "The Edwards Aquifer pays into all the money and all the [political] power." Cantu said that if the Edwards power brokers go ahead with G-30, "we need to see what Bandera County can get out of it." Cantu said a primary objective of Bandera County should be to see that we have at least 5,000 acre feet of water reserved for our use.

Members of the group also expressed environmental and property rights concerns about G 30.

Involved with the TWDB in [illegible] are the San Antonio River Authority, San Antonio Water System, Edwards Underground Water District, Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority, Lower Colorado River Authority, Bexar Metropolitan Water District and the Nueces River Authority.

This map shows the proposed pipe line and the path Guadalupe River water would take in an inter-basin transfer to the Medina River through Bandera County. The proposal is a part of the Trans-Texas Water Program.

Water levels drop over 30 feet in some Bandera County wells

Water levels in Bandera County wells have dropped as much as 32 feet in the last eight months. That is according to a report by Springhills Water Management District technician John Jones.

The biggest drops have occurred in the eastern end of the county. Only one well, in the Lakehills area, showed an increase, said Jones.

Springhills monitors water wells throughout the county for water quantity and quality.

Growth in the eastern quadrant of Bandera County may contribute to the dropping water levels, as well as lack of rainfall, Jones said.

A little over 200 new wells were registered in the county last year. "In 1996, there have been 80 new wells drilled since the beginning of March," said Jones.

The Trinity aquifer, from which Bandera County gets its water, is a limestone aquifer which stretches across central Texas up to Oklahoma. Water moves through the limestone very slowly, said Jones.

That slow transmissibility in the Trinity means that wells take longer to recover after use.

Fathers and sons....continued from page 1.

"I anticipate that Mark will work here at least until I sell it someday," Adamson said.

Mark Adamson said he came to work for his father, because he was offered a job.

"I know he needed the help," he said. "I've worked here for 13 years.

He says he wants to take the station over when his father retires.

"I'll try to stay in this business after he retires," Mark said.

Stephens, but he is handling everything over from him.

"I'll let him decide what he wants to do," the youngest Adamson said.

It's somewhat unusual, but the D'Spain's enjoy a working relationship that has dad working for son...

Wiley D'Spain opened D'Spain Sales and Service in October 1974, with himself and one other man as the only two employees.

Initially, his son Ray had no plans to enter the business that he now runs and that now employs 18 full-time employees.

"I didn't really intend to come in full-time but that's how it ended up," said D'Spain, who at 23 had graduated from Southwest Texas State University with a degree in criminal justice.

"I wanted to get into the construction business, but at that time the construction business was in a slump and my dad needed help."

Originally the business was a water well service, with air conditioning service playing only a small part. That has changed over the years, and now it is almost exactly the opposite.

D'Spain Sales and Service does air conditioners, water well and electrical repairs and installation. They also carry appliances and repair appliances.

Ray D'Spain said his mother took care of the books until 1990.

"She was a full-time behind-the-scenes employee."

Although Wiley is officially retired, he still comes in every morning to get the place going.

We also fills in when another employee is ill or out for whatever reason.

"The business continues to grow," Ray D'Spain said.

D'Spain has two sons himself, and a step-son. The oldest boy is in the Navy, while the two younger ones are in and help at D'Spains on Saturday mornings.

"I've been careful with the boys," D'Spain said. "I didn't let them think they had a ready-made [illegible]

Springhills & private well driller reach agreement

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Mike Richards of Bandera drilled a well that is now dry, but Springhills Water Management District still expects him to get his paperwork filed.

Richards, who drilled his own well on his property, failed to get a permit for the well when he began drilling last year. Richards says he wasn't aware that a person drilling his own well needed a permit.

Springhills Water Management District had been considering filing suit against Richards for failure to get the $25 permit which is required for all wells drilled in Bandera County.

Richards appeared before the Springhills board Thursday, June 6 to get clarification from the board about what he was required to do.

The well was first checked by water district personnel in July of 1995. "I was told at that time that I had 60 days after completion of the well to file my papers," said Richards. What Richards may not have understood is that while completion forms are filed after a well is completed, a permit to drill is needed prior to drilling.

"I didn't file prior to beginning because I didn't know I had to," Richards told the board.

Board president Ron Basinger told Richards, "Every well in Bandera County needs to have a permit." Completion papers are due when the well is drilled and cased.

Please help with fundraiser, be a part of saving lives

In the past few weeks we have been telling you about the AED Fundraiser and how important this equipment is to every individual in the county. This is very expensive equipment, but the importance of it is immeasurable. At this time we are very short of our goal of $18,000 that is needed to purchase four of these machines, and the deadline is quickly approaching to secure our grants for the matching funds from Prudential.

Bandera County EMS is manned by volunteer EMT's who work very hard to provide you with the absolute best care we can provide for the county. We give numerous hours of our time away from our families for training, answering calls, retraining, and keeping our equipment in good working order.

Now we are giving more of our time to raise the money for equipment that will greatly improve the care we are able to give and help us to save more of your lives. Please be generous in your donation or purchase of raffle tickets. We have donation jars at a few businesses in Bandera and Pipe Creek, along with EMT's selling raffle tickets. Please give us your support with any size donation, even if you chose not to purchase a raffle ticket.

You and your loved ones deserve every chance at life that we can give them.

Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Peggy Huffman

Toe tapping, foot stomping, swinging-swaying music rocked the Silver Sage Corral Sunday afternoon. The Second Sunday Combo kept the crowd dancing, singing and smiling at the Silver Sage's 2nd Dance.

Clarence Adamists' nimble fingers tickled the keyboard. His talent is awe-inspiring. George Meador played the violin and sang. George's earnest, [illegible] ing voice is perfect for those [illegible] ballads the Combo does so well. Ben Benedeis, on guitar, backed up the group brilliantly. He is a joy to listen to. It was Steve Forest on bass who got the dancers swinging. He hit the beat and the feet just had to move. This is a dance band that makes one want to dance all night.

Fancy footwork by Irvin and Stella Stevens got the party rolling. They were quickly joined by Mary and Floyd Portman. Other dancers displayed skills in the jitterbug, rumba and Cha Cha to the delight of onlookers.

Some of the older melodies brought back memories of long ago ball rooms. This wasn't a [illegible] but the crowd [illegible] joy. Jackie Buck and Mary Carpenter gave some wonderful renditions of World War II love songs.

County treasurer Kay Welch caused in her busy schedule to come in for a visit and listen to the music. She said she couldn't think of a better way to get a lift on a hot summer afternoon.

Bettie Suddath, Ruth Meador and Fannie Caffall were hostesses for the gala affair. Refreshments of iced tea, coffee, cookies and crackers were served.

The Second Sunday Combo will play for another Tea Dance on July 14. Mark your calendars to come to the Silver Sage Corral on that day and enjoy a fun afternoon.

Bandera County Artists report successful weekend

The results are in! All who participated in the annual Memorial Day Weekend Art and Craft Show report a great weekend. A few artists had quite a battle with the wind on Saturday.

Barbara Young reported an angel or two flew away in the wind and most of the handiwork in the Silver Sage's booth had to be pinned down, as were the creations of Mary Alice Driffill. Verna Schafer's oil paintings fared well, as did Nancy and Merlin Campion's works.

Linda Barton's quilts blew in the wind while her band, Calicie Hill, entertained everyone both Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

Saturday night proved a battle of strength between Olga Bolduc's booth and the wind. By early Sunday morning the wind had won and Olga's booth had blown over, but thanks to the quick thinking of the security guard, her losses were minimal.

Many thanks to Dorothy Alatorre and to Gerry Sharp for coordinating the show, and to everyone who helped get it set up.

[illegible] plans to attend the Bandera County Artists June meeting.

"We're sure there will be more "wind" stories! Or, you can find out when your favorite artist will be giving a demonstration, as talented acrylics artist Dwade Engle did at the May meeting.

In one short hour, Dwade turned a blank canvas into the start of a lovely, outdoors scene. With an emphasis in design, light and color, Dwade's work in acrylics has earned her numerous awards and ribbons.

The next meeting of the Bandera County Artists will be held on Monday, June 17 at the Bandera Bank Community Meeting Room at 7 p.m. For more information, call President Gerry Sharp at 460-8462.

Time to pay the tax man

Caitlyn Haynes is reluctant to pay Levi, the tax collector, also known as Dan Woodard, in last year's Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church Vacation Bible School. This year the church will have the same theme at VBS - "Market Place AD 29." The school will be from June 24-28 from 6 to 8:30 p.m. To register, call 535-4775.

Maybe we should all get our costumes on and do a rain dance on the town square for rain. Think it would work?

Congratulations to Jay Low for winning the t-shirt design this year for the Apple Festival. This is the second time for her to win.

Cindy Rather and Dan Hatfield placed third at the Toadstool Holler Cookoff in DeSota near Dallas with their frog leg delicacy.

Condolences go out to Patty Hautzenheiser for being called up to serve on the federal jury in San Antonio for the past two weeks. And she has to be there by 8 a.m.! Horrors!

Dates to remember:

• The Whitehead family reunion is this Saturday, June 15 at Camp Corpus Christi. Dinner will be served up at 1 p.m. and they start gathering around 11:30 a.m. The family auction will be held after all are finished eating.

• A town meeting will be held on June 21 at the festival grounds following a covered dish dinner. All are invited.

• It's time for parents to sign up their chillun for the Miss Apple Dumpling and Mr. Johnny Appleseed contest. Call the apple office at 589-7224 for applications, or stop by and pick one up.

By the way, all volunteers will receive a t-shirt again this year for doing their good deed for the community.

Chamber listing leases

"Not a day goes by without the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce receiving at least one or two inquiries for hunting leases," says chamber director Patricia Moore.

"These inquiries range from persons requesting season leases to day leases to hog hunts and exotic game hunts."

The Chamber of Commerce attempts to keep a current list available for hunters.

Anyone wanting to list their available lease or hunting service with the chamber should call 796-3045 or write P.O. Box 171, Bandera, Texas 78003.

Bandera Electric Cooperative's new power line was dedicated by Bill Taylor, Kerrville PUB; Allan Kunze, LCRA; Walter Bergmann and Jerry Word, BEC directors; Russ Vander Zee, general manager of BEC; Raymond Hicks, BEC director; and Ray Schwertner of LCRA.

LCRA and BEC complete power line

Trans-county transmission line replaces 45-year-old system

Tarpley, Utopia and Leaky residents who have enjoyed the benefits of low-cost electricity for decades now have a more efficient system for receiving that power from the Bandera Electric Cooperative Inc. and the Lower Colorado River Authority.

Bandera Electric recently completed replacement of a 27-mile electric transmission line, originally built in 1952, from Bandera to Utopia. The line can be operated if needed at 138 kilovolts and can meet growing demand for electricity in an area that has increased power usage by 6.5 percent each year for the last three years.

In addition to the Bandera-Utopia transmission line, a newly constructed transmission line owned and operated by the LCRA was built for emergency service. The transmission line runs from Leaky west to Camp Wood, where it connects LCRA's system with Central Power and Light. In the event that electricity could not reach the area through transmission lines from Bandera, electric service would continue through LCRA's interconnection with CP&L at Camp Wood.

Bill Taylor, general manager of the Kerrville Public Utility Board, said he is happy to see completion of the Bandera transmission line. Taylor chairs the Power Supply and Transmission Planning committee of the Association of Wholesale Customers.

"Bandera's project is a good example of the benefits of joint planning between the LCRA and its customers," he said. "Together, we can find problems and can allocate funding to those areas that need improvements the most."

Although the LCRA annually meets with its customers to recommend improvements to the transmission system, the LCRA meets monthly with the Power Supply and Transmission Planning Committee to discuss operational, maintenance and on-going system improvements, said Allan Kunze, LCRA's manager of Transmission Engineering.

"We are always developing additional information about the need, funding and scheduling of transmission construction projects," he said.

HCAF summer comedy on tap

The play captured the Pulitzer Prize and won an Academy Award when it was converted into a movie. The play was written by two of the stage's most esteemed authors, Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman.

The play will be performed July 17-August 3 at Hill Country Arts Foundation in Ingram.

WASTE WATER AND YOU COULD GET SOAKED.

If you do your part to conserve water by saving water inside your home you will also save money:
- Use cold water instead of hot whenever possible;
- Use a sink of water or scrape dishes instead of turning on the faucet each time a rinse is needed;
- Use a bowl of water instead of rinsing fruit clean;
- Operate garbage disposal only when necessary;
- Keep drinking water in refrigerator to avoid running tap until water gets cool; and
- Wash only full loads of dishes and clothes.

Practice saving water and Be Water Smart!

Water Smart — Every Drop Makes a Difference.

THANKS to everyone who helped with the 4-H Horse Projects concession stand at the rodeo. Our 1st effort was a great success! A very special thanks to Harvey Rauh for cooking the good brisket we purchased from Boyle's Market.

THANK YOU

We would like to Thank the YMCA Hamilton Ranch for the use of their camp and facilities during our stay on June 1, 1996. The kids had a WONDERFUL time there! We would also like to Thank Pastor Bryan Basden for his music and worship. Bus drivers Lynn White and Brad Cummings and all the parents and people who donated their time and financial support made this trip a GREAT SUCCESS!!!

Friends raising funds for Cains

Friends of Jack and Marie Cain have set up a fund to help send the couple to a family reunion in Pennsylvania. They recently heard from family members he had last seen over forty years ago. He hopes to join his long-lost sister and four brothers for a get-together in Sayre, Pennsylvania.

Jack Cain

"The problem is now that without our help, Jack and Marie just cannot afford to go," said fund raiser spokesman Pat D'Spain. "Many of their friends are trying to help them realize their dream as they are a genuinely deserving couple who have been a credit to our community since moving here a few years ago."

A benefit will be held under a tent at the First State Bank on Saturday, June 15 with fresh baked goods, yard sale items and crafts of all kinds on sale from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

"People can come together to help one another, and if we all come together in this, this story will have a happy ending," said D'Spain.

For more information, or to volunteer or donate to the cause, call Pat at 796-4947, Sonja at 460-3297 or Ruth Ann at 460-8273.

Applications honoring grass-roots volunteers who work for Texas school children are now being accepted for the annual State Board of Education Hero for Children Award.

Now in it's third year, the program recognizes excellence in advocacy for education and provides a forum to spotlight individuals whose efforts have made significant contributions to public school education in Texas.

The Hero for Children award will be presented at the October 1996 State Board of Education meeting deadline for nominations is Monday, June 17.

This award recognizes a Texas resident whose efforts have benefited the schoolchildren of Texas or who has, in the Board's judgment, been an advocate for Texas schoolchildren.

For an application, or if you have any questions, please contact the Texas Education Agency's Division of Communications, 1701 N. Congress Ave., Austin, TX 78701-1494, (512) 463-9000.

Film location and props needed

Robert Carrier of the San Antonio Living Historical Association has contacted the Bandera County Film Commission in search of appropriate locations for a mini-pilot series.

The pilot will be shot on July 16-18 with re-enactments of the battles of New Orleans and San Jacinto.

Locations and items needed are: A high grass prairie, preferably with stock pond or tank; oxen or longhorns, preferably oxen; an oxcart; an early period wagon. Also needed will be horses and riders.

The film crew will need an area for camping during periods of night filming.

Susan D'Spain, chairman of the Bandera County Film Commission says that anyone wishing to submit their property as a possible location should go by the Chamber of Commerce office in Bandera Village and pick up a film shoot contract.

Photographs of the property will be needed and can be turned in with the completed contracts.

Hi, y'all! We missed our weekend shower. We were looking forward to having to jump and rush to put up things that the rain would damage. We leave them out to see if we can tempt the rain some more, but this time the temptation must not have been enough.

For those of you with scanners, you already know the Parks and Wildlife boys are concentrating on the lake each weekend. Isn't it a shame that they have to work so hard to make all of us do what we all know needs to be done for our own safety? We all appreciate the work these guys do though.

Maybe their presence on the lake will remind all of us of our responsibilities while boating and swimming.

Gus Limon tells us that the St. Victor's Festival was a big success. We had a bunch of fun there. We are sitting here wondering where the next barbecue will be.

This Friday, June 14 is Flag Day and the American Legion Post 410 will have their Flag Day ceremonies at 6 p.m. at the Legion Hall. Everyone should plan to attend and see what goes on to honor our grand ol' flag. Let's see all those flags flying on Friday!

While reading our paper last week we came up with a superb idea to save the taxpayers a lot of money. The only drawback would be that some very hard working people would be out of work. With these judges giving out probation or suspended sentences for all the cases on their docket why have the expense of collecting and holding and trying them in the first place? We could do away with the courts, the judges and jailers and save all that money. Then we'd have no more rolling these people. The judges are going to turn them loose anyway! Maybe at election time the track record of the judges can see how many got hard time and how many slipped by. This trend of probation and suspended sentences for major crimes cannot be good for the morale of our law officers who work so hard on the investigations and apprehensions of these people. Weren't some of those increased taxes to build more prison space so this wouldn't go on? We don't usually get this worked up, but reading all those suspended or probation rulings got our dander really ruffled. Like we said, this should have a bearing on the votes in the next election. Many of our officers call this the revolving door policy. We wonder why!

Oh, well, no matter how worked up we get we still have to go on with life. We look forward to seeing all of you over the back fence.

An 80 percent improvement in TAAS at BMS

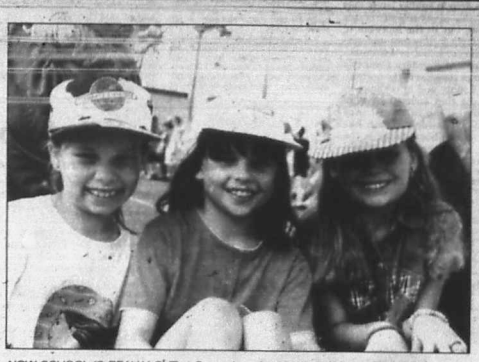
Schulze

by Carolyn B. Edwards Bulletin Editor

Bandera Middle School students aimed high for their TAAS test results this year, and hit their target.

BMS scores in math showed a large increase from the previous year.

Sixth grade math scores rose from 53 percent passing last year to 85 percent passing this year. Seventh grade math scores rose 80 percent, from 45 percent passing in 1995 to 81 percent passing this year. Eighth grade math scores rose to 70 percent passing this year from a 59 percent passing last year.



Reading scores reached 88 percent passing for sixth graders, 91 percent for seventh graders and 89 percent for eighth graders.

"Even in the sub-populations, which include what are referred to as 'at risk' kids, the scores are in the 80's," said BMS principal Renee Schulze. "We're really pleased with that."

The at risk students classification includes the economically disadvantaged and minorities.

In math, only one sub-population scored a 69 and Schulze thinks that re-adjustments on the scores for students who have moved into or out of the district may pull that up to a 70 before the state issues its final tabulations in August. A score of 70 percent passing in all categories would put BMS in the "recog-

NOW SCHOOL IS REALLY OUT -- Second graders Amanda Wilson, Rachel Burnett and Carly Boeselt enjoyed the field day held at Hill Country Elementary School for their last day of school June 13. The brand new elementary school opened a little later than other BISD schools in order to finish construction. Students enjoyed their first year, but said it was hard to still be going to school when other Bandera County students were already enjoying their summer vacation.

City wells dropping

Red level of conservation continues

by Cyndi Wright Staff Writer

Bandera City Public Works Director Mike Cardenas said city water levels are dropping dramatically.

Last year at this time, the wells were down 20 feet. This year, for the month of May, they were down 26 feet.

"This last month, May, has accounted for that six foot difference," Cardenas said. "But in the month of June alone, in 17 days we have lost another six feet."

He said that levels of the well water have only been kept for the last two years, so it is impossible to compare the drops with previous years.

"It's really hard to tell anybody how we are doing," he said. "I can't tell you what it was five or six years ago."

The city is in the final stages of water conservation - the red stage.

The city ordinance that covers the water stages will have to be re-written soon, Cardenas said, since it was originally based on water levels in the Cedar Street well. The Cedar Street well is not pumping now, is capped and remains at a constant 250 feet.

Although the ordinance is based on that well, Cardenas said that the water stages the city goes through are based on the active wells on Dallas and Mulberry Streets.

The blue stage comes into effect when the water is between 275 feet and 299 feet below the surface in the

Medina barbecue Saturday

The Medina Livestock and Wildlife Association fires up the barbecue pits for their annual fund raiser on Saturday, June 22.

A variety of cabrito, brisket and pork will be on the menu, along with all the trimmings.

The festivities will be held at the Apple Festival grounds beginning at noon.

Following lunch an auction will be held. Association members are also selling raffle tickets for a large selection of prizes.

"We invite everyone to come to Medina and enjoy the best food in the county," said a spokesperson.

BISD pursues Downs purchase

by Carolyn B. Edwards Bulletin Editor

The Bandera Independent School District has begun negotiations with Bandera Downs Inc. to purchase the race track property on Hwy. 16 east of Bandera.

"I have been authorized to extend an earnest money contract to Bandera Downs Inc. to hold that property until we can have a bond election," said superintendent Gus "Skip" Pfeiffer. The board voted the authorization during their regular session Tuesday, June 11.

A bond election for the construction of a new school for the district is scheduled to be presented to the voters for approval sometime this fall.

The race track property failed to bring an acceptable price at an auction held May 18 in San Antonio. A $600,000 plus bid by an Austin engineer was refused by the owners.

"We don't know if Mr. Allan will accept this contract," said Pfeiffer Friday. "We haven't met with him yet."

William Allan, a construction contractor, is the principal owner of the defunct race track.

Pfeiffer said the board had originally thought they might be able to use the approximately $200,000 Bandera Downs owes the district in back taxes as funding for the earnest money contract.

"Unfortunately, we can't forgive delinquent taxes, so if the bond election fails, the district would lose that money," said Pfeiffer. "That's not something the board wants to do."

"The board is now asking Mr. Allan to hold the property off the market until the bond election without putting the district's money at risk," said Pfeiffer.

"We're asking him to forgo a sale while we wait for a bond election," said Pfeiffer. "If he does that, it's a very civic-minded thing to do."

The BISD has experienced a 42 percent growth spurt over the last four years. Enrollment in 1991-92 was 1,476 and went up to 2,091 by 1995-96.

Young boy injured in ATV accident

A local youngster was critically injured when an ATV (all-terrain vehicle) the boy was riding ran off an embankment on a ranch outside of town.

Jesse Lee Cardenas, 7, was airlifted to Wilford Hall Medical Center with severe head injuries last Wednesday, June 12.

Russell Hevenor, owner of Hevenor Lumber, and employer of the boy's father, Johnny Cardenas, said that the family is optimistic.

"Yesterday morning (Monday) he had taken a step back, but last night he was doing better," Hevenor said. "It's much better than the first night."

Although the boy remains in critical condition in the Intensive Care Unit, Hevenor said he is a fighter.

"The swelling in the brain has really started to go down," Hevenor said. "I think there is a lot more hope than anything negative."

Jesse Lee has undergone at least one surgery to relieve pressure on his brain. In addition, a pre-existing asthma condition has caused a lung problem that doctors are also fighting.

Doctors have kept the small patient medically sedated to keep inter-cranial pressure from building up and to keep him stabilized and immobile.

"He is opening his eyes some," Hevenor said, "and acknowledges his dad."

Johnny Cardenas has worked at Hevenor Lumber for 15 years.

Accounts have been set up at both Bandera Bank and First State Bank to help the family defray the mounting costs of Jesse's care and their extended stay in San Antonio in order to remain at his bedside.

Treasurer wants out of cramped quarters

Suggests moving into extension service offices

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Citing crowded conditions, Bandera County Treasurer Kay Welch asked County Commissioners for permission to move her office at Wednesday's regular court session.

"We have to have more room," said Welch. "Our typewriters and records are parked in the hall. One of us can't move without someone else being in the way."

Welch wants to move her office into the Old Courthouse next to Bandera Ice House.

The upstairs offices currently used by the county extension service agents will be vacated in July. The agents are moving to new offices at Mansfield Park.

In a separate interview, Welch told The Bulletin that the upstairs location would not be a problem for her office. "We really don't have that much contact with the public," said Welch. "And we can always arrange to meet with someone downstairs if the steep stairs are a problem."

Welch presented some preliminary cost estimates for the move to commissioners, but the figures did not include computer costs. "That's all rather complex, and I didn't want Mae Vion [Meyer, head of the county's computer department] to do all that work if the court did not approve the move," said Welch.

Funding for the move would come out of what is left from funds from tax anticipation notes taken out last year for courthouse improvements. Most of that money has been used to shore up the second floor of the courthouse and to finish the Lakehills annex.

Commissioners asked Welch to bring the court exact figures for the cost of the move and asked her to meet with the Capital Improvements Committee to find out what they might suggest for the future provision of more office space.

Welch's office currently holds four employees, storage shelves, desks and equipment in a 220 square foot space. It's designed to hold two, maybe three workers," said Welch.

In other business, the court:

• Closed a road located in Medina River Encampment.

• Accepted a 60 foot wide strip, approximately 870 feet long, of Starvation Hill Road by dedication deed from Gus M. and Lola Heisler and accepted the road for county maintenance. The road adjoins Hill Country Elementary School and is used by the school buses for ingress and egress at the bus lane. "We're glad the Heislers donated this property to the county so that it can be maintained," said Pct. 2 Commissioner Dan Alanis.

• Voted to cancel the June 26 commissioner's court session due to the expected absence of several commissioners.

Office employee Helen Hansen surveys boxes and equipment that are kept in the courthouse hallway due to lack of space in County Treasurer Kay Welch's office.

Group hopes to start local humane society

Anybody who is interested in seeing Bandera County find a resolution to the stray animal situation here is invited to a covered dish supper at Pop's Place on Alamo Beach Thursday, June 27 at 7 p.m.

Animal control officer Triple Kocurek, and Pipe Creek animal refuge owners Bill and Jean Harmon, are among several who are planning to be there to discuss various options and see about starting an animal defense league in the county.

"It would be beneficial for the county to have one," Kocurek said.

He has spent time recently researching how Kerr County started their humane society.

"What would be ideal would be to get a piece of property donated or a very reasonable lease with an option to purchase," he said.

The perfect spot would be on Hwy. 16 between Pipe Creek and Bandera, according to Kocurek.

Bill Harmon said discussions will include items such as a possible board of directors, donations, mailing lists, possible volunteers and property.

"We are just trying to help out on it," he said.

Kocurek said everybody is invited to the supper and meeting.

"If the humane society gets started right, the facility could also board pets and provide an ongoing income," he said.

Anybody interested in helping, attending the meeting or needing more information, can call Bill or Jean Harmon at 510-4751.

Tap on the wrist penalty dismays this citizen

Dear Editor:

I read with sadness, dismay and a sick feeling in my gut, the punishment handed out by Judge Stephen Ables for the recent convictions of murder and child molestation in our county.

Did I read this correctly? Probation? Community service? [illegible] We want to serve our community?

To me this says loud and clear that the lowest of humanity are welcome here. I feel certain that they are not.

How has this happened and what can we do?

Fringe benefit?

Dear Editor:

This letter is in support of Clay Conoly's guest editorial "Just say whoa to legal system [illegible] worse." Thoughtful, well written and timely.

In order to partially nullify the trial lawyer's financial support of all the wrong folks, I'd like to suggest voting against any [illegible] Democrat on Election Day. Cowboy Capital loss

Dear Editor:

Bandera— Cowboy Capital of the World? Are you really sure? The manner in which the Bandera Regulars' Trail Ride was received this year does not in any shape, size or form relate to the town's renowned slogan.

My family are of the first to settle in Bandera. For many years we have been associated with your celebrations, including Fugitive Days with the Bandera Regulars. The memorial day weekend trailride has always been a family and special occasion. Who is to blame for the 1996 failure?

Such a shame for the businesses to lose the profits from the many folks who visit for the ride. Think of the supplies, lodging, fuel, souvenirs, clothing that are purchased on this particular weekend.

In our group alone, 25 attended this year — spending approximately $100 each. When visiting with your town business owners, they also were confused about the exile of the trail ride.

We also live in a small community and very well know the importance of visitors' participation in town events to promote revenue.

Taking away the camping along the river was your first mistake, booting the ride out of the natural area, designed for such, was your second.

You have heard of three strikes and you are out? Whoever is causing these changes is destroying the town's invitation to visitors.

Only in Bandera

Dear Editor:

From the front page of the June 12, '96 Bulletin: "An airport is not needed in Bandera County."

"Bandera city council votes to keep stagecoach running."

Neal Dalton
Bandera

Where will all the planes come from?

Dear Editor:

This letter is to voice our opposition to the proposed Bandera County airport that might be constructed on Ridge Route Road or FM 3240.

We see no value in building this airport to the citizens of Bandera County, that is to 90-95 percent of the citizens.

But the same citizens will be asked to foot the bill for the other 5-10 percent with higher taxes, more traffic, drug traffic, noise level and a decrease in the quality of life in this area.

We do not see how this proposed airport can be as busy as the study said it will.

Where is all of this corporate and business aviation going to come from? Where are all of the general aviation users going to come from?

(If the firm of Charles Wims & Associates Inc.) had talked to all the citizens of Bandera County, perhaps their report would have been less one sided.

Since there was no one present at the public hearing on June 11 to answer any questions, we request a second public meeting with the Bandera County Commissioners and the Airport Committee so that all the questions the county citizens have for this proposed airport are clear.

Millions for GBRA

Dear Editor:

re The Bulletin article on the Trans Texas Water Program June 12, 1996:

Inter-basin transfers of water were prohibited by the Texas Water Code until 1991, when state legislation (SB 1059) sponsored by Senator Bill Sims slid through the Legislature unchallenged, allowing for the most important policy change in the water code in decades. Besides allowing inter-basin transfers, the bill allowed the Texas Water Development Board's bond insurance program to be utilized by private non-profit and supply corporations utilizing the Board's programs.

One such agency is the Guadalupe-Blanco River Authority. GBRA greased the skids for this Bill at the same time it was supporting the Sierra Club's endangered species lawsuit and other legislation (SB 1477) that has needlessly attempted to limit pumping from the Edwards Aquifer. GBRA stands to make millions in inter-basin sales.

The Trans Texas proposals for inter-basin water transfers seem unreasonable in light of what has been learned from such transfers into places like Los Angeles, California.

Historically, importation of water creates more usage, and, ultimately, a higher crisis point of demand.

Here, and throughout the Hill Country, do we still hold onto a common sense understanding of limits in nature and our economy? In the future, perhaps we will be less threatened for our water and other resources, such as liberty, if we take a stand, like Kay Turner, against the Goliath of Trans Texas.

June Moments

Well, I just finished the Emergency Medical Technicians course offered here in Bandera County and all I can say is [illegible] left is the state test, yikes, I hope I don't get a bloody nose like I did the last time I had to take a [illegible] test.

You probably don't realize the kind of training that goes into being an EMT, even a volunteer who isn't going to get paid anything! We had over 100 hours of classroom training, TESTS, skills training (like how to use bandages, splints, etc.), TESTS, one really long hot day of extrication training, and TESTS.

And let me tell you, our county training coordinator Carolyn Rutherford gives pretty hard tests. Our final exam was 200 questions - can you imagine?

Of course, I hope that this reassures those of you who see us coming to help you in your time of emergency that the EMT's in this county don't just decide one day, "Hey, I guess I'll be a volunteer EMT," and walk in and don a blue smock and hop on the ambulance.

[illegible] too, what with all the nasty, creepy little bugs and germs out there.

The typical Bandera County EMT spends a lot of time away from their family and sometimes goes without much sleep, in order to provide a non-paid service to help out his/her neighbors. Most hold down full-time jobs, too.

Anyway, I took Ben fishing Saturday - to try and make up for his not seeing much of me while this class has been going on, and everything was great. He didn't catch anything, though, so if you want to help me get back into the mommy hall of fame, and you know a good fishing hole, call!

I promise to keep it secret!

Carolyn's Corner

Going to the dentist these days isn't like it once was. I realized that last week as I lay back relaxing in the chair at Dr. D's, watching a female cardinal getting a snack in the shrubbery framed in the window.

Relaxing? Exactly. You see what I mean.

Going to the dentist used to mean fear and trauma. Folks put it off as long as possible. So long in fact that usually the tooth was no longer salvageable and had to be pulled. Nowadays, the dentist's office is full of hygienists and techs who spend a lot of time scraping and polishing so that we can go to our graves with most of our own teeth still firmly set in our jaw bones. That's something our grandparents only dreamed about.

We've improved our flossing rate by taking a tip from Gina, the hygienist. She said to put one of those little floss packets in every room of the house and in every vehicle. Just seeing them will remind you to get after that nasty plaque!

The most awful thing about a visit to the dentist these days is the wait in the waiting room. I don't seem to have enough time in my days to like spending more than 15 minutes waiting to get in. I always find myself wishing I had one of those lap-top computers, so that I could get some work done while I sit. I could write this column, for instance.

And though I fight it like an addict kicking a habit, after about 10 minutes, I find myself giving in and grabbing one of those mind-numbing magazines that always seem to be lurking in medical waiting rooms. (Do the world's missing socks turn into Better Homes and Gardens?)

Dr. George Meador's office was an exception to the rule here. He always had copies of the New Yorker, with real music playing on a good sound system for accompaniment. Nice!

In the dentist's waiting room last week I found myself reading a column about a new cookbook written by a woman who previously went on the road with some country music star. The title of her book? "Stand by Your Pan."

Recipes included such delights as Caky Flaky Tart, Basted Dates and Basted Rice, I Fall to Peaches, You Lima My Life, Four Part Hominy and Boot Scootin' Tabouli.

But we don't have to go out of town to find folks who are clever with words. We got a yard sale ad this week advertised as "Domestic downsizing!"

Tobacco industry says state is asking too much

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams & Ed Starling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Tobacco industry lawyers last week formally denied charges in Texas' $4 billion lawsuit seeking reimbursement for Medicaid money spent on the treatment of tobacco-related illnesses.

Lawyers for Phillip Morris, R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., the Tobacco Institute and other firms also filed motions that the lawsuit be either dismissed or moved from federal court in Texarkana to Austin, where they say many of the witnesses and documents are located, the Dallas Morning News reported.

But Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney general Dan Morales, said the request for a change of venue was only a delay tactic.

"We are in a court right now where we can put this case on a fast track and get the issue resolved," Dusek said.

Tobacco lawyers also challenged Morales' hiring outside law firms to help prosecute the state's case and receive a share of any damages awarded in the case, and claimed that the state is seeking more money than it spent on tobacco-related illnesses.

Handgun Incidents are Few

Col. James Wilson, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says he is "impressed" with the responsible behavior of concealed handgun permit-holders.

At a Senate Criminal Justice Committee hearing on concealed handguns in Houston last week, Wilson, who heads the agency in charge of background checks for permit applicants, said, "So far, it has impressed me how remarkably responsible the permit holders have been."

Since the concealed handgun law went into effect Jan. 1, two permit holders have fatally shot other people, and there have been two suicides by permit holders.

A total of 51 shots have been fired from lawfully carried handguns, 40 of them fired by an individual at a tree in a public park.

As of last week, 83,600 applications for concealed handgun permits have been received by the DPS and some 67,000 permits have been issued.

Bush Wants Thorough Checks

Meanwhile, Gov. George W. Bush said he would like to see more thorough mental background checks on people applying for concealed handgun permits, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Wilson told the committee that mental health background checks have been run on less than 1 percent of the 83,158 Texans who have submitted applications, due to rules regarding confidentiality.

Bush said he would like to "be practical about it" but see if there is a way to conduct more thorough checks within legal limitations.

Bush said he believes the handgun law has made Texas safer and indicated there may be a correlation between the drop in violent crime and the new law.

Contractor Suing TDCJ

An Alabama company has filed a lawsuit in Lamesa claiming the Texas Department of Criminal Justice's construction program was so mismanaged the company lost millions of dollars building three prisons.

Harbert International seeks $12.3 million for expenses allegedly incurred because of the state prison agency's "confusion, disorganization, mismanagement and...uncooperative approach," the Houston Chronicle reported.

The firm signed contracts in 1991 to build 1,000-bed units in Hondo, Lamesa and Pampa.

Carl Reynolds, general counsel for the Texas Board of Criminal Justice, called Harbert's lawsuit "frivolous litigation" and said the TDCJ pays its debts and settles claims "where money is owed."

Under Texas sovereign immunity law, any party who wants to sue the state must get the state's permission to do so.

Marshall Gramm campaigns in the Cowboy Capital

Marshall Gramm, son of U.S. Senator Phil Gramm, paid a visit this week to Bandera while campaigning throughout Texas on behalf of his father who is seeking re-election to the United States Senate. Marshall, a 1995 graduate of Rice University, walked the streets of Bandera, talking with citizens and business owners and listening to their concerns. Marshall, 23 is a graduate student at Texas A&M University, and is working on his Ph.D. in economics.

"My dad is fighting hard to balance the federal budget so people my age won't have this national debt to pay off and the higher taxes that go with it," Marshall said.

Attention Dutch oven cooks! Would this recipe work for you? And where did it come from? Well, actually from a file, given long ago to either Maple Cowan or this writer, of recipes gathered at the old high school for a cookbook never published. Tobin and Cowan were going to collaborate on a cookbook— and who knows, still may get one together. In the meantime, try to believe this, written with a scratchy masculine scrawl on a sheet of notebook paper:

Mexican Beef.

There is a few gawpokes who won't have nothing to do with sheep, but ever now and then a little woolly booger sweat won't hurt nothing. Here's a way to fix lamb that ain't too bad iffen you like lamb that ain't to bad iffen you like lamb and it belongs to your neighbor.

Ingredients:

Onions, bacon, peppers, potatoe [spelled the Dan Quayle way] for each person and salt and black pepper. Oh yeah, a big ole hunk of lamb.

Dig hole in the ground one and a half feet deep. Line the bottom of the whole (sic) with a good bed of hot coals. I mean a gooden. Place the lamb quarter in a big Dutch oven and slice into the top side of the meat about 8-9 times. Now slice up that onion and take some bacon and place a piece of each in each slice. Throw in the peppers and salt and black pepper. [Hey, y'all, don't forget the potatoes!]

Make sure the lid is on tight and place the oven on the coals. Cover the whole thing with more coals and then cover that with a couple of inches of dirt and sod. Let it cook all day or night depending on when you want to eat it. Take about nine hours either time.

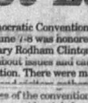
Long as you got that good ol fire goin you might as well fix a good mess of sack coffee to go with it. Easyest (sic) thing in the world.

Take one old sock with no hole in the toe and put in plenty Arbuckle. Any other kind will work as well. Get a good can of water boiling and throw in the sock and let boil 10 minutes, then let steep for another 4-5 and you have got a fine mess of bellywash to go with that sheep meat.

Who wrote and turned in the foregoing? Some Bandera bulldog of 20 years ago, fess up! We might get you on the Tonight Show even at this late date!

Don't you think the resulting slow-cooked roast would be right good to eat? Especially if served with Medina River Pinto Beans — cooked thisaway:

Cover picked over beans with water and boil hard until the spots are gone. Then add a dollop of fresh bacon grease, onion, garlic, salt, pepper and oregano. Simmer slowly until beans have reached desired consistency — whole in a thin sopa or cooked down until the whole dish is thickened.



Most people cook pintos with only bacon or salt pork. Clara Brown of Ruiz Street, San Antonio, said she learned to add the special seasonings from "Them Spanish Peoples" who lived in her West Side neighborhood in the olden days. We decided to apply the name "Medina River" to Clara's recipe because we have cooked them on the average of once a week out here for a good quarter-century after renouncing almost every other thing we ever learned in the city.

Medina Apple Festival offers exciting glimpse of pentathlete fencing

Webster's Dictionary defines "modern pentathlon" as a composite contest in which all contestants compete in a 300-meter freestyle swim, a 4000-meter cross-country run, a 5000-meter 30-jump equestrian steeplechase, epee fencing, and target shooting at 25 meters.

But it sounds much more romantic when Medina residents Bob and Tracy Hurley describe the event and its history.

Naturally, it was the skills of a good courier," Bob Hurley said. "It started ...

A courier was responsible for taking messages from one camp to another, in a time before field radios and telephones were available.

Tracy Hurley takes her horse through the jumps.

According to Hurley, a good courier was supposed to run, jump on his horse, ride through enemy lines while being shot at and shooting back, the horse would be shot out from under him, and he'd have to start running, he would run out of bullets and have to fight with his sword, and finally he would reach a river that he would have to swim across to get to the other camp.

The modern pentathlon was one of the original sports in the modern Olympics in 1896, according to the Hurleys.

"In recent times the sport has come under fire," Bob Hurley said because it is not very accessible financially, and because ...

"It takes a lot of money to do this sort of thing," Hurley admitted.

The U.S. Army at one time supported the sport and still contributes some support, but a civilian organization, the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Association, has taken over running the sport.

The 5-event competition has come under scrutiny recently from the International Olympic Committee, who are asking the question "Is this really a representative sport?" according to Hurley.

"It's very important to stay in the Olympics," he said. "That's where funding comes from."

To that end, rules have been changed in order to make the sport more accessible.

Some of those changes include:

- The sport used to be run with one event per day. Now, all five events are run in one day.
- The shooting event has changed - instead of using a .22 with turning targets at 25 meters, now an air pistol with stationary targets at 10 meters is the rule.
- The order was changed - riding used to be last, running is now last.
- The scoring of the events has changed to make easier to understand and keep track of who is in the lead.

"It's very hard to get these five events in one day," Hurley said, who was a scholarship runner in college.

"I always had dreams of the Olympics," he said.

He went on to medical school, but kept up his training. It was while he was interning in Seattle that he first heard of the pentathlon.

"When I heard of it I was fascinated," he claims.

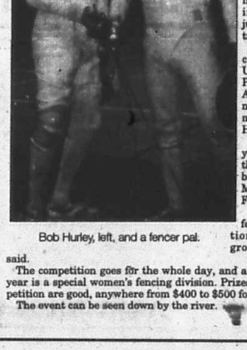
Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio was, at that time, a leading training center for pentathletes, and Hurley immediately went there to try his hand at the demanding sport.

He found he was good in all but one of the sports.

"Swimming gave me the most trouble," he said. "It was the event that undid me. It is one of the greatest crosses I've had to bear in my life, I could never get a good swim."

Because he excelled in fencing, he concentrated on that, and it is how he met his wife.

Tracy Hurley was a fencer in Houston at the time, and they married in 1979.



Both decided they did not want to bring their children up in the big city.

"We got really fed up with Houston," Hurley said.

In 1991 they found their present spread in Medina. Bob Hurley says the couple tried farming first.

"We found out we are not farmers," he admitted, with a grin.

Both were still going to Ft. Sam Houston to fence, and Tracy still competes in the pentathlon.

Since they were building facilities on their property to train in, they decided to have athletic camps for the local children and adults.

Bob and Tracy have done most of the work themselves. They have a racing pool, a fencing barn, and jumps for equestrian training.

"We became a chapter of the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Association, a non-profit organization," Hurley said.

For the third year in a row, the Hurleys will be at the Medina Apple Festival.

"We put on a fencing competition at the fairgrounds," Hurley said.

The competition goes for the whole day, and a new event this year is a special women's fencing division. Prizes from the competition are good, anywhere from $400 to $500 for first placers.

The event can be seen down by the river.

The 5-event competition has come under scrutiny recently from the International Olympic Committee, who are asking the question "Is this really a representative sport?" according to Hurley.

"It's very important to stay in the Olympics," he said. "That's where funding comes from."

To that end, rules have been changed in order to make the sport more accessible.

Some of those changes include:

• The sport used to be run with one event per day. Now, all five events are run in one day.

• The shooting event has changed - instead of using a .22 with turning targets at 25 meters, now an air pistol with stationary targets at 10 meters is the rule.

• The order was changed - riding used to be last, running is now last.

• The scoring of the events has changed to make easier to understand and keep track of who is in the lead.

"It's very hard to get these five events in one day," Hurley said, who was a scholarship runner in college.

"I always had dreams of the Olympics," he said.

He went on to medical school, but kept up his training. It was while he was interning in Seattle that he first heard of the pentathlon.

"When I heard of it I was fascinated," he claims.

Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio was, at that time, a leading training center for pentathletes, and Hurley immediately went there to try his hand at the demanding sport.

He found he was good in all but one of the sports.

"Swimming gave me the most trouble," he said. "It was the event that undid me. It is one of the greatest crosses I've had to bear in my life, I could never get a good swim."

Because he excelled in fencing, he concentrated on that and it is how he met his wife.

Tracy Hurley was a fencer in Houston at the time, and they married in 1979.

Both decided they did not want to bring their children up in the big city.

"We got really fed up with Houston," Hurley said.

In 1991 they found their present spread in Medina. Bob Hurley says the couple is not farming grain.

"We found out we are not farmers," he admitted, with a grin. "We have wanted to leave."

Both were still going to Ft. Sam Houston to fence, and Tracy still competes in the pentathlon.

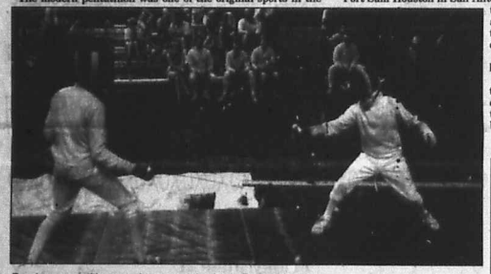
Since they were building facilities on their property to train in, they decided to have athletic camps for the local children and adults.

Bob and Tracy have done most of the work themselves. They have a racing pool, a fencing barn, and jumps for equestrian training.



"We became a chapter of the U.S. Modern Pentathlon Association, a non-profit organization," Hurley said.

For the third year in a row, the Hurleys will be at the Medina Apple Festival.

"We put on a fencing competition at the fairgrounds," Hurley said.

The competition goes for the whole day, and a new event this year is a special women's fencing division. Prizes from the competition are good, anywhere from $400 to $500 for first placers.

The event can be seen down by the river.

The one that didn't get away...

John Keeling, of Medina, landed this nice 8'8" hammerhead that weighed in at 210 pounds after a two-and-a-half hour battle that covered over four miles while fishing 15 miles out of Port Aransas.

Calf roper wins enough money at Bandera rodeo to place

The name Rusty might be okay for some, but for others, the nickname just doesn't fit.

By winning two Memorial Day weekend rodeos, calf roper Rusty Sewalt proved he is a money winner.

Sewalt, 29, of Del Rio, Texas, was the top roper at the two rodeos to earn $1,280 and win the calf roping title at the $55,461 PRCA Memorial Weekend Rodeo, May 24-26 in Bandera. And at the Festival of Flags, May 23-25 in Killeen, Texas, Sewalt tied his calf in 8.2 seconds to earn $1,378 en route to the calf roping title there.

Sewalt moved from 14th in the Crown Royal world calf roping standings to 11th with $18,149 in 1996 earnings.

Some other big checks for Sewalt this year include $7,678 from the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, Feb. 3 through March 1, and $3,460 from the Southwestern Exposition and Livestock Show, Jan. 19 through Feb. 4 in Fort Worth, Texas.

Sewalt, a two-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier, missed the 1995 NFR by less than $6,000. He finished the 1995 season ranked 18th.

Steer wrestler Gary Taylor of Agua Dulce, Texas, was another winner in Bandera. PRCA permit holders - apprentice members of sorts - must earn at least $1,000 at sanctioned rodeos before they are eligible for full membership. Taylor needed to earn $567 to fill his permit at the start of competition in Bandera. But the 39-year-old cowboy earned more than twice that by turfing his steer in 3.7 seconds to win the steer wrestling title and $1,196.

"It was just a nice run," Taylor said. "I give a lot of credit to my hazer (Clay Gaine)."

Taylor, who runs a car dealership with his family, said lately he's been practicing bulldogging two to three times a week.

"I'm just going to keep going around here in the Texas circuit," he said, adding that he hopes to qualify for the Texas Circuit Finals Rodeo.

Who will pay for YOUR RETIREMENT?

In 1945, the Social Security Administration took in $4.60 for each dollar it paid out to retirees.

Today, Social Security is barely breaking even, taking in $1.15 for each dollar it pays out.

By 2025, Social Security expects to pay out more than it takes in.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Many prominent men through the years have been chosen as "Father of the Year." Our selection this year, and every year, is and had been plural. These fathers are seen everywhere. . .are known everywhere in every community. These fathers are making their presence known from diaper time to diploma time. . . In their circle of family and friends these typical fathers deserve the distinction of being Father of the Year-just as much as the nationally publicized men. These fathers have devoted a lifetime to the needs of their families. They are loyal employee's. They are considerate and thoughtful employee's. They have shown, by example, how to face realities; how to be loving and tender; how to have a humble trust in God.

To all Fathers of the year. . .everywhere. . .we hope was a day of love and understanding. We salute every one of you.

We hope you all enjoyed Father's Day this year!!

Silver Sage Corral 796-4969

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

The cattle seem to be stampeding out of the Silver Sage Corral at this particular time. Volunteers are on vacation or finding themselves with health problems which have caused us to be short handed.

Peggy Huffman is at home recuperating from a broken foot. Peggy is normally busy one hundred percent of the time, either traveling with husband, Dan, teaching line dancing, volunteering here at the Center or at the Chamber of Commerce. Our sympathy goes to Dan, who is attempting to help with a lot of Peggy's "footwork."

Jack Buck had a stint inserted in an artery last week and is back home and doing well. Her twin sister, Mary Carpenter, is always right there helping out. Hope we'll have them both back soon, we miss them.

The government keeps cutting funding, consequently, we're out of Meals on Wheels money. We're trying to come up with alternative funding, so if anyone has any suggestions or any money just laying around the house, bring it on down. We'll welcome you with open arms.

Please remember the monthly Birthday Luncheon coming up on Tuesday, June 25. We'll be honoring Delores Neuser, Mary Young, Lillian Bradford, Maple Cowan, Zoe Hosmer, Lois Buxkemper, Sam Bayliss and Dan Huffman, who all have birthdays in June. Bring a casserole or side dish and help us celebrate.

Variety.

That's the by-word of organic gardener Don Ramey of Bandera.

"A large variety of plants keeps your soil healthy," says the 56-year-old horticultural specialist. That variety includes what most of us think of as weeds.

"There's no such thing as a weed," says Ramey. "Many of them are herbs, edible and good."

[illegible] McAnulty, raises a large variety of vegetables on about a quarter of an acre just north of Bandera.

In keeping with Ramey's philosophy, there are a lot of wildflowers blooming in amongst the squash and beans.

Ramey uses a modified French intensive method of gardening. The four-foot wide beds are tilled up to 12 inches deep. Plants are allowed to grow very close together in a broad-cast manner.

[illegible] drought-resistant garden, so this year, he's just doing more of the same.

Some of Ramey's drought-resistant tips: Use a drip irrigation system, plant high plants and low plants together and run vines up on trellises to help cut the drying wind, and plant drought-tolerant varieties.

Ramey uses no chemical pesticides on his garden, so it was a pleasure to Don Ramey stands amid his thriving garden, which includes a lot of what most would call "weeds."

"I think of variety is life leaves as a green mulch," says Ramey. "The leaf surfaces completely shade the ground, and that saves water."

The earth between the beds is mulched. Ramey says that he take a tour while munching on radish flowers, purple beans and pear tomatoes.

Ramey says he has been gardening since he was 11 and has been organic gardening since 1970.

"I began to understand the relationship between soil health and plant health," he says. "The average healthy garden may have 10 percent disease and insect loss. Well, they're welcome to 10 percent."

Ramey and the McAnulty's get rid of their surplus produce through a subscription gardening service. For a monthly fee, subscribers can receive a bag full of a variety of fresh organic vegetables delivered to their door. Call 796-4478 for more information.

Summer is surely is here with very warm days and nights. The pastures looked good after the last rains but not anymore. Some of you probably remember years ago when the clouds were seeded to bring rain and some places there were floods. But one does have to have clouds for such purposes.

• Kimberly Smith recently went to Abilene where she attended a week of Christian Youth Camp activities. She was with friends from the First Baptist Church of Roundrock, Texas.

• There were 40 folks that attended the Rio Hondo Property Owner's Association pot luck dinner on June 8.

• We have some industrious workers in our little community. Those working on the highway clean up Saturday were Jolyn Schrock and daughter Kimberly and their neighbors Jack and Bess Massa. Anyone interested in this worthwhile project give Schrock a call at 562-3233.

• Idabell Farr reports her company over the weekend are as follows: her grandson and family Dean Jaks of Fremont, Cal., his wife Karen and children Janelle and little son Dillon, and Karen's niece Leah. Others visiting were Buzzy and Bonnie Jaks of Rio Medina, Marilyn Riggs of Sabinal, Billie Ann Burrell and son Corey of D'Hanis and Skooter Webb of San Antonio.

• Those celebrating Father's Day with Arthur and Georgia Mae Erfurt were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Dan Sandidge and family, Mr. and Mrs. Artie Erfurt and family, Mr. and Mrs. Les Short and Nora Anderson, and Irving and Florence Lineweber.

• Elzie and Nettie Dean drove to Divot Chapel Saturday to attend the last rites of a former neighbor, Frank Kolos Jr. Services and interment were held at the little chapel.

We think the drought is bad here, but the pastures were bare in the Pearsall-Divot areas.

• Mrs. Earl Hood's weekend visitors were her daughter Gladys Ann Smith and her daugher Stephanie of Baytown.

• Saturday visitors for Mr. and Mrs. W.J. Schmidt were their niece Patricia and Ronald Wood and daughter Candice of Boerne.

nized school" category.

What contributed to the rise in TAAS scores for the school?

"We implemented a TAAS Acceleration class for kids struggling to pass one or more parts of the test," said Schulze. "It's a small group that meets every other day."

To improve math scores, BMS students "double done" in math, taking math skills one day and working on applications the next.

Saturday school for students and teaching staff with the school's success with TAAS. The staff made sure the students knew how important the TAAS is for their future.

"And these kids, as soon as they took their tests, they wanted to know their scores," said Schulze. "They understand the importance of this test."

The school gave the students two mock tests and then gave them last year's test for practice. "Sometimes kids just don't understand test taking," said Schulze.

Teachers called students the night before the tests to remind them to get a good night's sleep and then served up breakfast tacos and orange juice in the morning.

Successful TAAS takers will get TAAS-Dog credit cards that will entitle them to certain privileges such as [illegible] wearing caps and getting in free to school dances and athletic events.

"Last year we had 13 students get 'academic recognition' on the TAAS," said Schulze. "This year we had 167."

"My kids and my teachers say that we are going for 90 percent next year," says Schulze proudly. "I told them that if we do it, I'll get a 90 tattoo on my ankle!"

beyond capacity, the high school is at capacity and Alkek is just about at capacity again," said Pfeiffer.

"We're looking at possibly $16 million to add on and/or remodel existing facilities over the next five years just to keep up with growth," said Pfeiffer. "That would be piece-mealing everything and it still wouldn't solve our long-range problems."

Pfeiffer said it's important for taxpayers to understand that they are the ones who will ultimately make the decision on whether or not the district goes ahead with the race track purchase.

"The bond election will be their chance to decide," said Pfeiffer.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

Pct. 1 road crews will be out along Wharton's Dock Road in the next few weeks delivering road material. So be on the lookout for those gravel and dump trucks. Drive a little slower and stay alert!

The Walter Memorial Chapel will hold vacation Bible school July 22 through July 26, a change from a previous announcement. Plan now to attend.

The Chapel will have another of their gourmet-style covered dish fellowship dinners following morning service on June 23. Plan to attend and invite someone along to enjoy the good food with you.

On Monday, June 17, it was off to Alto Frio Summer Camp at Leakey for six children from the Chapel. The children are in an age group attending the third grade to the sixth. Robin Hodges went along to try to keep up with those young ones. They should return Friday tired but happy.

• On May 17, Dottie and Bob Bendele flew from San Antonio to San Juan Capistrano, Cal. to attend the graduation of Dottie's son, Stephen K. Leathers from Western State University College of Law in Irvine, Cal. Stephen, a former high school drop-out, received his doctor of jurisprudence degree and plans to practice criminal law. Following the graduation celebration, the Bendele's flew to Vegas for a few days. Dottie reports that all-in their party were lucky on the slots and keno except Bob.

• I cannot list all the volunteers it took to make the Lakehore Volunteer Fire Department fund raiser a great success. I would like to recognize one couple who have volunteered for every one of the department's fund raisers. Boots and Perry Johnson of Corpus Christi have a vacation home at Wharton's Dock. For the past few years, the Johnsons have brought materials to decorate the store and Boots brings many of the craft items she made during the year. It is great to have dedicated members like this.

There is always something for everyone to do to get involved in your local fire department.

• The shuffle board bowling team at the Copper Lantern celebrated the end of their season by having a luncheon at the Lantern. Diners had a choice of chicken fried steak, steak fingers or fried shrimp. The mashed potatoes, corn on the cob and a salad.

Susan Broa handed out plaques to the winners. First place team was Dorothy Racker, April Byers and Dana Simons.

"Everyone enjoys the game and do not mind losing. We will be back up in August," said a spokesman for the league. "Ms. Hansen did a great job as secretary-treasurer and Hela Schaefer and Mary Adkins prepared and served the delicious lunch."

Road construction planned. Drive carefully.

Stephen Leathers

Perry and Boots Johnson man the cheerfully decorated Kountry Store at the Wharton's Dock VFD barbecue and fund raiser recently. The Johnsons have been hard-working and willing volunteers for a number of years.

Local educator called 'one of the best'

Claire Roberts of Bandera was selected to participate this June in the annual reading and scoring of the College Board's Advanced Placement Examinations in Government and Politics.

Each year the AP Program, sponsored by the College Board, gives hundreds of thousands of capable high school students an opportunity to take rigorous college-level courses and examinations and, based on their exam performance, to receive credit and/or advanced placement when they enter college.

More than 770,000 examinations in 16 disciplines were evaluated by almost 7,500 [illegible] consultants from high schools and universities across North America. Drawn from various ethnic groups and from nearly every state, these men and women are some of the best high school and college educators in the United States and Canada. They represent some of the finest academic institutions in North America. In addition, there have faculty consultants from Mexico, New Guinea, Sweden, Germany, Japan, Belgium and the United Kingdom.

The AP Reading is one of the few settings in which academic dialogue between school and college educators is fostered and actively encouraged.

"The Reading draws upon the talents of some of the finest teachers and professors that America has to offer," said Dr. Wade Curry, AP Program Director at the College Board. "It fosters professionalism, allows for the exchange of ideas and strengthens the commitment to students and to teaching. We are very grateful for the contributions of talented educators like Ms. Roberts."

Bruney dancing with Texan Stars

Ask Kelly Bruney what it's like to be a member of the Texan Stars dance team and she may tell you it's a "once in a lifetime experience." The Tarleton State University sophomore from Bandera was a member of the 1995-96 dance team that participated in the International Music Festival last January in London, England, in Nashville, Washington D.C.; and Cancun, Mexico.

Stars dance team is likely to show up just about anywhere to perform their precision routines and promote their alma mater. MEDINA

C. Rosen Jones

The Medina VFD will meet this Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the station. All members are encouraged to attend. Officers will be elected and a quorum of 15 people is required.

A big draft [illegible] will be held by the Livestock and Wildlife Association at the festival grounds. An auction will follow the lunch. There will also be a raffle to add to the fund raising.

While on the road, look out for [illegible] town as drivers ed is in effect for all qualified Medina ISD students. They are grateful to Mr. Seale at Jennings Anderson Ford for the provision of a new Ford Contour for use as a training vehicle. The program runs through July 8.

• Bon voyage is in order for two families leaving the area that will be missed by many. Ann and Chip Landry are headed for South Carolina along with their daughter, Anna Carol, to start a new beginning. Their leaving will cause a big void in the hearts of Baxter and Carol Adams. It's one thing for the kids to leave, but to take the grandkids too is a killer! Ann and Chip have been Medina residents for over nine years and given much to the community and we all wish them the very best life has to offer.

Good luck also goes out to Doug and Jan Townsend as they move to the Harper area. Doug has been the ag teacher and Jan has been one of the elementary teachers and they, too, have been here for nine years. There will be a pot luck social held in their honor on June 27 at 6:30 p.m. at the festival grounds for all to bid them farewell. Iced tea and paper goods will be provided.

• Tom Carpenter Jr. and wife, Barbara and daughter Amanda are in the process of building them a new home on the West [illegible] to relocate to this area from Abilene as soon as possible.

• Victor and Genie Strickland are now here for several months to help out with organizing the Apple Festival and then will probably return to Palacios.

• Jason Childers stationed at Baumholder, Germany made rank of sergeant this past week and the army contacted his brother, Garrick Childers, airman first class, a security policeman, who is stationed 30 minutes away in Ramstein AFB, Germany, to pin on his brother's new stripes. Mom and dad are really proud of these boys.

Sickness/hospital

[illegible] but is home.

Darrell McGlathery had hernia surgery last week and is now home and even went to a family reunion in Mt Pleasant, Tex. this past weekend with his wife [illegible].

King Stokes was released from Sid Peterson this past weekend with a high fever.

Anniversary

On Saturday, June 29, the Garden Center will be the site of a reception honoring Laura Jean and George Mack Holliman as they celebrate 50 years of wedded bliss. Dutch's sisters, Edna and Annie Lee, are hostessing this event and all their friends are invited to come join them for the occasion. No gifts, please.

Grand Opening

El Jacalito at the auction barn is in full swing. They open for breakfast at 7 a.m. and serve up some mighty good cooking for lunch and dinner also. The manager is having to run off to reserves next month for a 3-week period so that may put them in a bit of a bind.

New Venture

Cherry Jones and Carolyn Watson are readying a building downtown in order to open a little shop. They hope to have consignment pieces along with a few antiques, art work, and gift items, etc. Have we gone and taken our crazy lady pills again? Well, nothing ventured, nothing gained.

Birthdays

June 21: Betty Garrison. June 22: Rex Simons. June 23: Dixie Cohn. June 24: Scott Zirkel, Elizabeth James. June 25: Florence Jones, Dorothy Pue, Audrey Hardaway. June 26: Brad Zirkel.

Temple-Inland Foundation presented two scholastic achievement awards for $1,000 each to the two highest ranking graduates of Medina High School. Debbie Newcomer of Guaranty Federal Bank's Bandera office presented the awards to David Derry and Jeanette Williams recently.

Board hears construction reports

Jim Gilliland, [illegible] superintendent, reported to the Medina ISD board concerning construction progress when the board met Thursday, June 13 at 7 p.m. The Medina School is constructing a new business office, elementary school, parking facilities and secondary school renovations.

The board also opened and awarded bids for various school services.

No bids were received for fuel, produce, nonfood items and meat.

Bids were awarded for bread to Klemm's Bakery of San Antonio Inc., for other food items to J&W Distributing and Alliant, and for milk to Borden/Meadow Gold Dairies Inc.

The board also adopted several policy changes which were approved for placement in the Medina ISD Policy Manual.

The board also approved membership in the Bandera ISD Alternative School Cooperative. In addition, the board approved the purchase of two reserved places in the alternative school at a cost of $5,500.

The board also approved the student and athlete insurance plans with American Youth Insurance for the 1996-97 school year. The rates and plan are the same as offered to students for the 1995-96 school year.

All members of the board were present.

Girl Scouts learn navigation skills from Ninety Nines

Girl Scouts from four troops in the Boerne area attended an aviation workshop at Boerne Airfield recently. The workshop was presented by the San Antonio Chapter of the Ninety-Nines, an international organization of licensed women pilots for 27 scouts.

Gloria Blank, a Pipe Creek 99, aided by Winnie Clements, held classes on reading a section chart and plotting a flight using charts for navigation. San Antonio charts were used for each girl to study.

Other classes were held on flight planning, pre-flight inspection of an aircraft, parts of an aircraft, safety factors and use of Federal Aviation Administration forms.

The Scouts were introduced to a variety of small planes during their workshop.

Gloria Blank, foreground, and Winnie Clements show Girl Scouts how to plot a navigation route.

Comfort readies for 4th celebration

Comfort's annual homecoming celebration, Julyfest, will be held Saturday, July 6. a 10:30 a.m. downtown parade will launch a full day, and evening, of activity at Comfort's Park and Pavilion.

Barbecue lunch, bingo, youth games, arts and crafts and food booths, musical entertainment, and a lot of visiting will make the afternoon pass quickly. Anyone interested in entering the parade should contact Mickey George at 210-995-3900.

Business briefs

John Eis of Bandera has recently completed factory training on Briggs and Stratton engines. Eis is employed by DKL enterprises, a lawn mower and small engine repair shop.

Still time to register for Kerrville scout camp

The San Antonio Area Council of Girl Scouts will host the Key to the Hills Association Olympic Twilight Camp July 22-26 for all girls ages 5-18.

The camp will be held at the Kendall Co. Fair Grounds in Boerne from 5-9 p.m.

The cost for registered girl scouts is $30, and $36 for non-registered and includes a t-shirt.

Activities include songs, nature activities, camping skills, crafts, games, swimming, first aid and a cook-out.

Volunteer staff is needed and children of volunteers will pay a reduced fee. Cadettes and seniors are also needed to help with the camp.

Registration is open from May 1-June 24. For more information, call Sherry Taylor at 698-0663 or Suann Agold at 249-8363.

Girl Scouts learn navigation skills from Ninety Nines

Girl Scouts from four troops in the Boerne area attended an aviation workshop at Boerne Airfield recently. The workshop was presented by the San Antonio Chapter of the Ninety-Nines, an international organization of licensed women pilots for 27 scouts.

Gloria Blank, a Pipe Creek 99, aided by Winnie Clements, held classes on reading a section chart and plotting a flight using charts for navigation. San Antonio charts were used for each girl to study.

Other classes were held on flight planning, pre-flight inspection of an aircraft, parts of an aircraft, safety factors and use of Federal Aviation Administration forms.

The Scouts were introduced to a variety of small planes during their workshop.

Gloria Blank, foreground, and Winnie Clements show Girl Scouts how to plot a navigation route.

Brewfest serves up suds

Micro brews on tap at Lakehills fund-raiser Saturday

If you love the Medina Lake Cajun Festival and Great Gumbo Cook-off, then you'll love the Medina Lake Brewfest set for Saturday, June 22 from 4-10 p.m. at the Lakehills Civic Center on FR 37 in Lakehills.

The Brewfest will offer festival goers the chance to try several micro-brewed beers and listen and dance to "beer drinking" music: Chicken polkas and waltzes and country the Jubilee Polka Band of San Antonio will play from 6:30-10 p.m. and Texas Thunder will play top 40 country from 4-6 p.m.

Micro brewed beers are those made by brewers who make fewer barrels of beer a year than the mass-marketed brews.

The advantage of micro-brewed beers is the brewer can add that tender loving care that's just not possible with the commercials," says the public is more familiar with.

Three micro-brewers are scheduled to bring their beers from San Antonio and Selis is from Austin. The brewers will bring at least 12 different beers.

Gate admission of $3 will get you a 14 oz. mug to sample the beers in. Beer to be sampled will be paid for separately, but organizers say, "You'll find it's worth it!"

Fried catfish or sausage plates will be available along with desserts.

The winners of the Brewfest Home-brewed Beer Contest will be announced during the event.

The Brewfest is a fund-raiser for the non-profit Medina Lake Betterment Association which serves Mico, Lakehills and Pipe Creek.

Sgt.-at-arms George Wallace presents a worn and tattered American flag for inspection to 2nd Vice Commander Jim Terry at the moving flag disposal ceremony conducted by American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills on Flag Day, June 14. Nineteen flags were honorably burned.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

Duncanville, up by Dallas, has begun a Youth Court, where the youth judge and sentence the youth who have gotten themselves in trouble. It sounds like it's working very well. Their juvenile problem has dropped a lot.

We had a relative visiting us from California, and so it was on with the tourist spots, once more! One day, we drove out to the Cider Mill in Medina, had a cup of apple dumpling coffee and an apple turnover, fresh out of the oven, then we toodled along Hwy 337 and were surprised at the SAS ranch. They've imported all these authentic log cabins from all over the south and they are either being reconstructed or are neatly piled, with numbers on them, waiting their turn to be put up. It's a fascinating project. And as we drove along the thought came that someday soon 337 will be the hottest tourist road in Bandera County.

The Garrisons could give emu ranch tours ($4 per head!), then the apple orchard tours, Lost Maples State Park, horseback riding and pony rides, and then, the Lost Maples Cafe in Utopia.

The gals out there have done a terrific job with their expansion, using lots of old tin roofing, cedar posts and antiques. They should register with the Bandera County Film Commission, who, by the way, is looking for cowboys, ranch land etc. for someone's filming right now.

Out in Lakehills is a non-profit organization called "The Door in the Wall" to provide answers to people with disabilities. They put on a TV program on Channel 20, Paragon, Sundays at 10 a.m. The program includes any announcements of activities such as social outings, services offered throughout the area. They'll even come out and film your special event and put it on TV for free.

This is a wonderful service, like a clearing house for everything to do with any disability. So if you have information on any activities, or want to know of activities and services give of activities and services give them a call at 637-8318. They also have a radio program on KCHC 810 AM at 12:30 p.m. Country People in the Express News is the host. There is a special 24-hour hotline for wheelchair sports, special events, support groups, etc. at 979-5402.

On June 29, the Diamond W Longhorn Ranch is putting on a Western Jamboree benefit for this organization. It's called a "Celebration of Cowboy Life." Right up our alley. Kevin Fitzpatrick is donating his time and ropes. The Spirits of Texas Band will be there giving their unique performance. Also, Bandera County Dutch Oven cooks, along with some from San Antonio, will be turning out Love Creek apple cobbler.

Storytellers, cowboy poets, artists, western singers, yodelers, cloggers, dancing and more, and the admission is free. The funds will be raised with a silent auction of really neat donated items.

If you've never been to the Diamond W, now is the time to go. It is really a fun place. They are capable of serving 350 people a chuck wagon supper in 23 minutes! Then, Tommy Worrell gets his longhorn steer (Maudeen Marks really ought to go!) up on stage where he does fantastic tricks and the finale is Tommy lying down and the longhorn walking right over him. It's like a stampede in slow motion! That's Saturday June 29 from 10-7. See ya there!

Plan to get in the Legion parade

The American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills invites everyone to join their annual parade and celebration on Thursday, July 4.

"This event continues to grow each year," said spokesman Lee Newnam.

The greatest little parade in the Hill Country gets under way at 11 a.m., traveling on PR 37 from St. Victor's Church to Turk's Store. Entries will be judged at 10:30 a.m. and trophies will be awarded.

"Entries may be floats, cars, horses or on foot," said Newnam. Any group or individual interested in entering the parade should call Sam Brown at 751-3434.

A barbecue chicken dinner will be sold immediately following the parade.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heider
612-2509

Hi, y'all! Well another week gone by faster than we can imagine. With everything going on, we can't seem to comprehend how fast time is flying by. It's times like these that the phrase stop and smell the roses seems to be really appropriate. Now the only thing we need to do is actually take the time to do so.

We had a good Father's Day if you don't count coming down with a stomach virus on Sunday afternoon and having to take a rain check on supper for #2 daughter Doni and husband Glen.

We did get to shoot some levels on their new home site in Bear Springs before the bug got us. They plan to be residents of Pipe Creek by July. They are waiting for us to put in a well and the co-op to get power in and then their modular home to be delivered.

Hopefully, the power will beat the home in so they can move in as soon as possible. This puts all the kids back in Bandera County for the first time in over ten years! It's nice to be able to walk across the drive or make the short drive to Bear Springs to see the kids. Now when we get the final two out of the house, we can see what the empty nest syndrome is like.

On Friday night we were watching Letterman, who had Kelsey Grammer singing the national anthem. Is there anyone who can stand, saluting our flag, listening to that song and not get goose bumps? Maybe some will say that's being old fashioned but that's the way we will continue to be. Maybe a few more people feeling this way would help this country a little.

We were talking to Lewis, our local game warden, Sunday about the drive the Parks and Wildlife has on water safety. There have been many citations written out on the lake. This serves as a reminder to all that we are all responsible for safe boating. This drive has helped keep the Medina Lake VFD rescue boat in the barn and the Lakehills EMS not transporting near as many water-related injuries. We must remember that safety is all of our jobs no matter where we are.

Also remember to make an EMT happy — wear your seat belt.

Lewis was telling us of some old barrels that the declining lake waters have exposed. One of these barrels was leaking some sort of petroleum product making a sheen on the water. The BMA and TNRCC were to take care of the barrels on Monday.

If you have a place on the lake and see some old barrels, it would be smart to remove them and dispose of them. We need to protect our waters.

Well, enough of my lectures. It's time to see how fast this week goes by. We will be watching for you over the back fence.

Summer Fun

A special edition of The Bandera Bulletin – Summer 1996

Tan Commandments:

1. Consider Clouds. Clouds do filter some of the sun's ultraviolet radiation, but not enough to protect your skin without sunscreen. Always wear sunscreen when outdoors for long periods, especially if you have fair or sensitive skin.

2. Screen First, Ask Questions Later. To make sure sunscreen is active prior to exposure, apply 30 to 60 minutes before going into the sun.

3. Always Re-Apply. Anytime your skin gets wet or wiped, re-apply sunscreen thoroughly.

4. You Can Leave Your Hat On. Super-sensitive skin on the neck, scalp, lips, ears and face will be protected if you wear a wide-brimmed hat outdoors, even when tanning. Wear special sunblock made for lips and face if you must go lidless. Sunscreen is available in lip balms and waterproof sticks that make application easier.

5. Be Thorough. Don't be stingy—apply a thick, even coat of sunscreen. The average person usually needs about an ounce of sunscreen from head to toe.

6. Play the Fake. Self-tanners won't prevent sun damage to your skin, so sunscreen is absolutely vital for the fair-skinned when out of doors—self-tans aren't enough by themselves, though they do offer a chance for a healthy, well-traveled glow.

7. Stop on Red. Red skin, or even pink skin, is a sure sign to get out of the sun. It's your skin's way of giving up to photo-damage, so at first sign of redness, find shade and apply hydrating body lotion or alcohol-free aloe vera gel to help your skin fight back.

8. Dabble Daily. A layer of sunscreen over exposed areas and under make-up offers protection against the incidental damage that comes from daily sun exposure. Sunscreen year-around makes for healthier skin when heavy summertime exposure rolls around. Always were sunscreen when you think you'll be in the sun for long, especially on the face.

9. Screen Seniors. Research has shown that photo-damage to the skin—wrinkles, age spots and the like—is reversible if the body is allowed to heal. As the body ages, people grow discouraged with the signs of wear and tear on the skin, but sunscreen may allow skin to fix itself by fending off new damage. It's never too late to cover up—and beat aging.

10. Shop Wisely. When purchasing sunscreen, make sure the SPF (Sun Protection Factor) is listed on the packaging, or at least that the product is a "sunblock" or "sunscreen." Otherwise, you may be buying nothing more powerful than a tanning lotion with no protection, and some protection is always vital when tanning.

Stock up on sunscreens, caps and hats at the Lakehills Ice House, Gas Go in Bandera and Bandera Beverage Barn.

Jet skiing has risen in popularity, but you still need protection against the sun.

Take care of fishing equipment

When was the last time you gave your fishing rod the once over? Chances are that it was at the very start of the season, and how many times have you been on the water since then?

Here are some easy maintenance tips to keep your fishing rod looking and performing at its best:

• Pull a strip of nylon hose through each guide. If the material sticks or threads, there's probably a nick in the guide which could lead to line damage. Replace the guides as necessary. Most local dealers offer this service for a very nominal fee.

• Inspect guide wraps for hints of wear. Re-wrap if necessary or seal any loose ends with a dab of clear nail polish or epoxy. Again, a local dealer may provide this service for a very reasonable fee.

• Clean the cork grips by gently rinsing with a warm water and soap solution. If fish scales and slime prove stubborn, gently rub the grips with a piece of fine steel wool. If the rod is fitted with EVA foam grips, wipe them with a soapy dish rag, then rinse with cool water.

• Check the reel seat for any buildup of residue, or evidence of corrosion. This is common in a salt-water environment. The reel will not set properly with "gunk" on the seat, and the seat may be difficult to move or could even seize up if corroded. This can be remedied by rubbing with a soapy sponge, rinsing with cool water and drying thoroughly with a towel. The use of WD-40 will help prevent corrosion.

• If utilizing a two-piece rod, rub a very light coating of paraffin onto the ferrule. (This not only makes for a firm, sure connection, but also makes it easier to separate the sections.

• Store the rod(s) in a horizontal or vertical rack as opposed to leaning against a wall or stacked in a corner where the rod might bend and actually take a "set."

• Run your fingers over the length of the blank. Should you detect any dings, the rod may have incurred damage that may cause it to break during use.

K.I.S.S./Keep it simple, Skipper fillet recipe

Speaking of simple, it's hard to improve on this basic, time-proven recipe for fish fillets.

• 2 pounds fresh fillets
• 1 bottle (12 oz.) Lawry's Herb and Garlic with Lemon Juice Marinade
• 1 box (26 oz.) cornmeal
• 1 quart peanut oil
Lawry's Seasoned Salt
Lawry's Garlic Pepper with Parsley
Lawry's Lemon Pepper

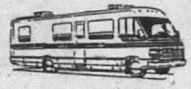
In resealable plastic bag, combine fillets and Herb and Garlic with Lemon Juice Marinade. Seal bag and refrigerate for at least 30 minutes. In an additional resealable plastic bag, place cornmeal; drop in fillets one at a time and shake to coat.

Fry fillets in hot oil until golden brown and they flake easily. Drain on paper towel. Sprinkle with Seasoned Salt, Garlic Salt with Parsley, and Lemon Pepper to taste.

Serve with hush puppies and a fresh spinach salad.

Freshwater fish are among the tastiest of game fish, but many anglers never savor the full flavor because they mistreat the meat before reaching home.

The first, and most common mistake anglers make is is dumping their catch in the bottom of the ice chest where it soak in the water. The other field dressing mistake is washing either the whole fish or the fillets in lake water, then stuffing the wet fish in a plasic bag.



Fish cleaned in the field should never come in contact with water. Water attracts bacteria and softens the firm flesh. The best way to care for cleaned fish is to wipe out the body cavity with a paper towel.

Fish should be kept alive as long as possible either in the live well or on a stringer. The moment the fish dies, clean it and place it on ice.

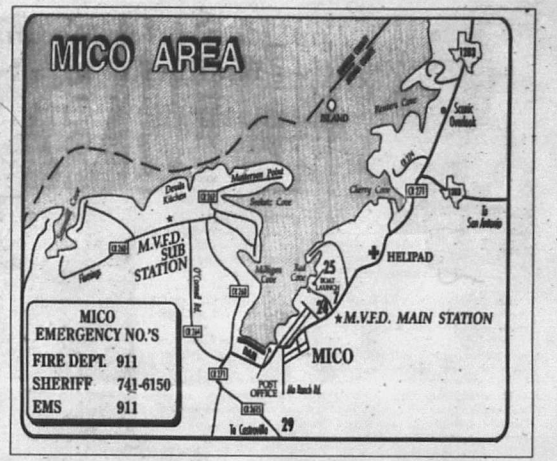
History of Medina Dam tied to Mico

The main attraction of Mico, Texas is the Medina Dam itself.

Although vehicular traffic is prohibited, it's a wonderful short walk across this historical dam and there is no charge for admittance.

The Medina Dam is located approximately two miles south of the intersection of FM 1283 and Medina Dam Road, next door to Cedar Point Landing.

In 1912, the grand ambitious dream became a reality when the Medina Dam was completed. At the time, it was the largest in Texas and the fourth largest in the world.



Today it stands solid as a testament to turn of the century technology and sheer human strength and endurance.

To pour 292,000 cubic yards of concrete (there is no structural steel within the dam) up to 3,000 men worked 20 hour-days, six days a week to construct this massive project in one year and five months time.

Incorporating a natural rock base spillway, the resulting lake is approximately 18 miles long with a maximum width of three miles. It contains 83 billion gallons of water when at the spillway level.

The name Mico represents Medina Irrigation Company, which constructed the dam, spillway, Diversion Dam and canal system.

A portion of the waters of Medina Lake are still used to irrigate fertile lands downstream.

Johnny Appleseed entertains...

Apple festival in Medina... Family fun in a beautiful setting

The ninth annual Texas International Apple Festival will take place this summer on the banks of the Medina River the last Saturday in July.

Families will enjoy good food and good music while strolling in the shade of giant pecan trees.

Saturday, July 27 will see thousands of festival goers converging on the quiet little hill country village of Medina for a day of apple fun.

Located in the center of scenic Bandera County, Medina became the heart of Texas' apple industry a few years ago and celebrates the new agricultural boon with the annual festival.

There are menu items to tempt the most particular. Apple products to whet your tastebuds include apple pies, apple cobblers, apple ice cream, apple tarts and apple cookies.

Then quench your thirst with a nice cold glass of apple cider.

There is plenty of time to stroll through the ever-growing arts and crafts show. Every year the very best artisans set up their booths and display their wares on the shady site. There are woodcarvers, jewelry artists and furniture makers.

Scattered around the festival site, visitors will be able to observe craftsmen demonstrating pioneer skills.

A signature feature of the festival since its beginning has been its wonderful and varied music. On various stages scattered around the grounds, fans can hear country music, gospel, jazz, blues and various ethnic groups.

When the festival winds down in the evening, everyone can sit back, look up and enjoy one of the most spectacular fireworks displays in the hill country.

Kids find lots to do at the festival...

New Braunfels: water, antiques, water, museums & water

Water Sports

A wonderful variety of recreation is afforded by the waterways in and around New Braunfels. Not one but two lovely rivers wind through this delightful city.

The Comal River, often referred to as the shortest river in the world, springs up, clear and sparkling, from natural rock formations in Landa Park. It meanders through the park before merging with Texas' famous Guadalupe River near the heart of town.

The Comal is popular for tubing and swimming, while the white water rapids of the Guadalupe appeal to the canoeist, rafter and kayaker.

Another major attraction is Schlitterbahn, one of the nation's largest water parks, featuring 65 acres of water slides, tube chutes, a wave pool, children's play areas and hot tubs. Schlitterbahn's newest addition, The Surfenburg, offers the world's first body board surfing ride and a new children's water adventure park.

Old New Braunfels

Founded by Prince Carl of Solms-Braunfels in 1845, this picturesque community still reveals handiwork of the many artisans and craftsmen among the original 6,000 settlers.

Many interesting historical sights are available for tours, including Conservation Plaza, the Lindheimer Home, Museum of Texas Handmade Furniture, and the Sophienburg Museum.

You can also experience this German Heritage through a walking tour of the city. This tour includes many homes built of the old German fachwerk (half timber, half masonry) construction, with "gingerbread" on the gables and verandahs.

Museums include the Hummel Museum, with the world's largest collection of Sister M.I. Hummel Art, the Alamo Classic Car Museum, the Children's Museum, and the Railroad Museum.

Colorful Gruene

Four miles northwest of downtown New Braunfels is Gruene (pronounced "green") historic district.

You'll enjoy this restored turn-of-the-century cotton farming town. It now houses antique shops, craft shops featuring pottery and other unusual items, wineries complete with tasting rooms, delightful restaurants and Texas' oldest dance hall, which comes alive with well-known performers.

Hummel Museum

Others...

A "must" for visitors to New Braunfels is a ride along River Road, a scenic drive that stretches 15 miles from Loop 337. This beautiful drive crosses the Guadalupe River four times, passing by tumbling rapids, majestic cypress trees and rugged bluffs.

Canyon Lake is a popular water resort area used year-round for scuba diving, sailing, boating, water skiing, fishing and swimming.

Near New Braunfels is Natural Bridge Caverns, Texas' largest cavern with many unusual geological formations whose vivid colors make this an unforgettable wonderland.

Natural Bridge Wildlife Ranch is a 200-acre park in which to view and photograph both native Texas wildlife and imported species.

Home gardening is simple as 'just adding water'

Finally, a highly productive vegetable garden that feeds and waters itself. A revolutionary new container system developed by commercial growers is now available for home use. This new system makes the fine art of vegetable gardening as easy as "just adding water" thanks to an environmentally friendly container garden called The Earthbox.

The compact 15" by 30" by 1' high Earthbox grows full-size vegetables, flowers and herbs anywhere you have sunlight. It's perfect for the patio or deck. You don't need any tools and you don't need a yard. Best of all, there's no digging, no weeding, no fretting and no guessing about when to water or fertilize. The Earthbox does it all for you - automatically.

It's so completely fool-proof that even first-time gardeners are reporting 50 pounds of vine ripe tomatoes from just two plants on the Earthbox. It's a natural and effortless system that saves time and puts the fun back into gardening.

The Earthbox is the perfect garden for people who want to enjoy fresh garden fruits and vegetables, but don;t have the time or space. And it's even good for the environment. The Earthbox uses 90 percent less water and 50 percent less fertiliner than conventional gardening. There's also no contamination to the soil or ground water and the Earthbox is made in America from 100 percent recycled material.

The Earthbox is so effective and simple to use that it's guaranteed to work every time. It's available from the manufacturer for $29.95, plus shipping. To order or for a free brochure, call (800)-821-8836.

Round-up

Joseph Leyva, seen here being escorted into Justice of the Peace Mike Smith's office by law enforcement officers, was one of 15 people the grand jury indicted on various charges in court Monday, June 24.

On Tuesday morning, the 216th Judicial Task Force agents, sheriff's deputies and city police joined forces to round up the alleged law-breakers.

Leyva, 21, of Bandera was indicted on two counts of delivery of marijuana. His bonds were set at $10,000 each.

"All transactions except two were inside the city limits," said Jim Kimbrell, of the 216th Task Force. "The investigation has been going on for 10 months."

Kimbrell gave credit to the sheriff's department and the city police department for their assistance in the effort.

School board increases meal prices by 5 cents

The Bandera Independent School District School Board met for a special meeting on June 18.

The board voted to increase meal prices five cents for the 1996-97 school year. At the elementary schools, lunch went from $1.15 to $1.20; at Bandera Middle School lunches increased from $1.25 to $1.30, at the high school, lunches went up from $1.35 to $1.40, and staff lunches increased from $1.75 to $1.80. All school's breakfasts went from 65 cents to 70 cents.

The board also voted to extend Superintendent Skip Pfeiffer's contract for another six months to fit the fiscal year budgeting considerations. A budget workshop was scheduled for July 11 at 6 p.m. in the library.

The school board voted to join the Region 2 Purchasing Consortium, in addition to the Region 20 Purchasing Consortium they already belong to.

"It entails trying to find better prices on some items," said Jim Story, BHS principal. "We are just trying to get the best price we can."

Items that may be purchased through the new consortium include library books, copiers, duplicators, projector lamps, athletic and nurse supplies, among others.

The board also voted to give the transportation supervisor and transportation mechanic raises.

New employees approved for the coming school year are: Dawn Jones, speech/theater arts at BMS; Tim Mooney, special education at Hill Country; Linden Roberts, ESL program; Jeffrey Bettison, business at BHS; and George Withers, math at BHS.

Crowned

Terri Lee Turner, who won Miss CCRA in May at the PRCA Rodeo here in Bandera was crowned Miss Rodeo Texas last week in San Antonio. Turner will be going to the National Finals Rodeo in December to compete for Miss Rodeo America and will represent Bandera and the state of Texas. Anyone interested in helping Turner with the cost of her trip can call her at 257-2063.

Countywide EMS fundraiser and appreciation party July 29

special to The Bulletin by your Bandera County Volunteer EMS Service

The key to surviving a cardiac arrest (heart attack) is early rapid defibrillation. This defibrillation (electrical resetting) of the heart muscle was declared a "standard of care" in 1990 by the American heart Association (AHA).

Studies have shown a higher percentage of survival for victims of cardiac arrest when the following links in the AHA "Chain of Survival" occur in rapid succession:

- Immediate recognition that an emergency exists.
- EMS or First Responders are rapidly dispatched.
- Early bystander CPR.
- Early defibrillation.

Several studies have shown rural communities survival rates from cardiac arrest go from 7 percent to more than 20 percent when AED"s were implemented in to the AHA "Chain of Survival."

Help us to restore the life of those who fall victim to cardiac arrest. An AED is a machine that gives us a real chance to save these people. The AED is a semi-automatic defibrillator which is portable, automatic and will allow us to provide the latest life-saving techniques and do it fast when time is most critical.

These machines are very expensive monetarily, but crucial in saving the lives of victims of cardiac arrest.

The AHA strongly endorses the position that every emergency vehicle that may transport cardiac arrest patients be equipped with a defibrillator, and that the emergency personnel be equipped, permitted and trained to use and operate this device.

These devices analyze the rhythm and either automatically defibrillate or advise the operator to defibrillate. In Bandera County, having all of our EMT's trained in using AED's and having this type of defibrillator on our ambulances may be the key intervention to increase the survival chances of out of hospital cardiac arrest patients.

Of the 48 EMS volunteer personnel in the county, there are only eight paramedics at this time, which dramatically decreases the availability for having a paramedic onboard for each EMS call.

Since we have so few paramedics, it is imperative that we acquire these machines so that our EMT's may implement these devices and life-saving procedures.

At this time we are trying to purchase at least one AED for each of Bandera County's four EMS chapters. We have placed one on Medina's Unit #143, and with everyone's help, we hope to purchase an AED for Bandera Unit #146, Pipe Creek Unit #145,, and Lakehills Unit #148.

We are falling very short of our goal of $18,000 to match the grants we have in place and time is running out. We have two grants from Prudential for $2,500 each, but we still need about $10,000 to reach our goal.

Please help and send any amount of donation to Bandera County EMS AED Fundraiser, P.O. Box 5, Bandera, Texas, 78003. Remember your donation is tax deductible. Or buy a raffle ticket from any EMT. For only $10, there are many great prizes that will be raffled off at the June 29 EMS Appreciation Party at Mansfield Park at 7 p.m.

Please come out and meet the EMT's and have a great time.

Tax rebates up from last year

John Sharp, State Comptroller of Public Accounts, today delivered a total of $154.5 million in June sales tax rebates to 1,081 cities and 115 counties, a 23 percent increase over the allocations for June 1995.

"Total sales tax rebates thus far in 1996 are a very respectable 8.9 percent higher than those through June of last year," Sharp said. Payments for June 1996 show a significant increase over those of June 1995 due in part to a procedural change in the way the rebates are now processed by the Comptroller's office.

Texas cities received monthly sales tax rebates of $140.9 million, 23.8 percent above the $113.7 million last June. Counties in Texas were sent rebates of $13.6 million, 15.2

Police officer learns to live with life of pain after run-in with bull

City officer Will Honeycutt

by Cyndi Wright Staff Writer

On a foggy night last December, Bandera City Police Officer Will Honeycutt's life changed forever.

The night, probably one of the foggiest nights ever in Bandera County, left a trail of destruction as visibility on the roads sank to zero.

The night's events began with an ambulance involved in an accident while on the way to Sid Peterson Memorial Hospital in Kerrville. A wrecker, driven by Phil Martin of Pipe Creek, was dispatched to tow the disabled ambulance to the county yard for repairs.

On his way back home, Martin's wrecker plowed into an errant bull that had found its way onto Hwy. 16 in front of Bandera Lodge.

Although the wrecker was totaled, Martin walked away from the accident.

Officer Honeycutt was on duty that night and answered the call for the accident.

After checking with Martin and finding that he was not hurt, Honeycutt said he was on his way back to his patrol car when he saw the bull re-entering the highway.

"I saw him for a brief moment facing me," Honeycutt said. "There was traffic enough on the highway to be concerned about. A car was coming, I had to make a decision: let another vehicle have an accident or herd a bull.

"Some people call it chasing, I call it herding. I didn't push him, he was walking."

Honeycutt said the bull returned to the grassy area.

Somewhere in the fog he could hear Brad Cummings, a friend who was helping him, calling something to him, but because of the fog, he couldn't see Cummings.

As he turned around, he saw the bull.

"He was already in a full charge and was on top of me," he said. "I got one step and he hit me."

Honeycutt said he remembers the impact of the 2400 pound bull hitting him.

"I remember flying, hitting the fence and landing on my neck. It was like a gun going off in my head when I landed."

After that, he says, he doesn't remember much. He was in and out of consciousness and he woke up in the ambulance and then again in the emergency room in Kerrville.

Months later, Honeycutt says the pain

A home in Bandera...

The Bandera Overland Stagecoach will remain in Bandera, after at least 20 businesses pledged to support the beleaguered company.

"Our phone has rung off the wall," said Mike Trejo, who owns the stagecoach, along with wife DeeDee. "It made us decide that people wanted us, and that has got to be good."

The stagecoach was under fire from two businesses who objected to the ticket booth and the parking spaces the coach takes up on Main Street.

"We are planning to put more booths in and a horse-drawn trolley," Trejo said, adding that the trolley will serve to move people from one end of town to the other, while the stagecoach will offer historical tours.

The stagecoach will operate Thursday through Sunday.

All-American Cowboy Get-Together

The All-American Cowboy Get-Together, planned for Labor Day weekend here in Bandera, is seeking volunteers who are willing to help in the various aspects of putting this event on.

The get together, to be held at Mansfield Park, will feature two days of cowboy music, cowboy poetry, storytelling, a chuckwagon cookoff, western merchandise, art and collectibles, plus other attractions.

Over 27 cowboy musicians and poets are coming from as far away as Idaho, Arizona, and New Mexico to perform.

"It is hoped that this event can become an annual affair that will bring in a large number of tourists on Labor Day weekend and take up the slack left when our P.R.C.A. rodeo changed their dates," said spokesperson Rudy Robbins.

The big, cowboy get-together will also be a benefit for the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show Association, as a percentage of the gross ticket sales will come right off the top and be donated to them.

If you would like to help with this event, please call Rudy Robbins at 796-3269.

Local citizen endows grant, local students will benefit

Due to the generosity of one Bandera citizen, residents of the county who want to attend Schreiner College will be eligible to apply for a new need-based grant that was endowed especially for them.

According to Vice President for Student Affairs Dick Harben, the Jonnie R. Davis Endowed Grants are available to all Bandera County residents enrolled at Schreiner who can demonstrate financial need through a federally-approved need analysis computation.

FAFSA forms and applications for the Jonnie R. Davis Grants are available at Schreiner's Admission Office or the Financial Aid Office. Call the Admission Office at 210-896-5411 or 1-800-343-4919 for more information.

The value of the grant for a full-time student is $1,000 per academic year ($500 Fall and $500 Spring terms only.) The grant amount will be pro-rated for students carrying less than full-time loads. The College reserves the right to increase the total amount of the grant to be awarded.

Typically, students who can show need through the FAFSA form will be eligible for several types of tuition assistance, both from Schreiner and from the federal government.

Jonnie Davis bequeathed the funds to Schreiner for the purpose of endowing these grants for Bandera County residents.

Harben says, "She had a concern for person from Bandera County who needed job skills. It was her desire that they be able to attend Schreiner College and obtain more education and training so they could compete for better jobs."

An artist with wood; Cheatham gives them something to take home

Cheatwood invites anybody to come take a picture in the giant rocking chair next door to her business located behind the [illegible]axaco off Main Street in Bandera.

by Cyndi Bright
Staff Writer

Barbara Cheatwood, owner of Western Flair in Bandera, has come a long way in her life. [illegible] she had to take a piece of furniture and drive it around in the back of her truck to sell it in order to make payroll.

"I called it 'driving for dollars,'" the down-to-earth Cheatwood laughed.

Now she claims she is overwhelmed with business [illegible] that included herself and one other employee, she now employs six.

"Actually, I need more, but I have outgrown my building," she said.

Cheatwood has lived in Bandera for six years, and recently bought a piece of land with her fiancee. She originally came here with the opening of Bandera Downs as a racing official.

"I enjoyed being around the horses and the horse [illegible]," she explained.

When the race track started slowing down, Cheatwood cast about for another form of livelihood, and landed a job where she earned experience making outdoor furniture. She discovered she enjoyed the work and had a talent for [illegible].

So she opened her own [illegible] Western Flair, and business has been booming.

Some people would say that crafting furniture out of hill country wood is an art form, and many of Cheatwood's satisfied customers have come back time and again to use the pieces to decorate their own homes.

"I would say that 85 per[illegible] of my business [illegible]," she explained.

Although she started out making only outdoor furniture like rocking chairs, benches and tables, because of demand she now produces an incredible amount of indoor furniture like beds and dressers.

And making one bed takes three days.

[illegible] is stripping the wood and sanding and [illegible] surface, according to Cheatwood.

Like herself, her original employee, Tony Simons, has ventured out on his own.

"I don't begrudge anybody trying to better themselves," Cheatwood said. "I think people should strive and do the best they can."

[illegible] she once operated a high pressure washer in the oil fields, Cheatwood is confident that no matter what happens, she will land on her feet.

After raising two children as a single parent, and an early career as a country music singer where she [illegible] Merle Haggard and opened [illegible] and Ernest Tubbs, Cheatwood faces the future with a smile.

"I hope it lasts a good few years, but if something happens to this, I'll try something else," she said.

and stress of the incident are very alive.

"The pain has been so bad, you can't sleep, eat," he admitted. "The stress it puts on the family is another thing. All your normal family activities are immediately discontinued."

And although, according to Police Chief Lynn Holt, Honeycutt's job is still there, the family has had to make financial concessions since his disability pay from workman's compensation is about 70 percent of what he was bringing home.

"He is on leave from the police department," Holt said.

The family sold their car and has held numerous garage sales to raise a little extra money.

The support from family and friends has helped a lot, Honeycutt said.

Recent surgery has also helped some, but pain has just become a way of life for Honeycutt.

"The medication dulls it but it is a constant, chronic pain."

The surgery left Honeycutt with a 2" x 1" stainless steel plate and five screws in his neck that he can feel when he swallows.

The damage to his lower back is pending surgery.

Honeycutt says the emotional factor of going from a very active person to an inactive one is hard to believe.

Many people will remember seeing Honeycutt as he traversed the town after hours on his bike, he says he once foiled a burglary that way.

"There are days I try to go for a walk and visit with people and there are days when I stay in the house when the shades drawn," he admitted.

"Nothings the same, you lose a lot of self respect."

Tobin accepts BCHC post

Peggy Tobin has accepted appointment by Bandera County Commissioners Court to serve as chairman of Bandera County Historical Commission until January 1997 following the recent resignation of Patty Adamson as head of the commission.

There will be no changes in the membership as currently constituted, Tobin stated.

A meeting will called in July.

Created by state statute, a county historical commission, Tobin said, is a quasi-official agency of local government under the supervision of the Texas Historical Commission in Austin. It is charged with receiving and processing applications for state historical markers and educating the public as to the historical values of the community.

Since 1978, Bandera County Historical Commission has published Bandera County Historian, containing articles on previously unrecorded aspects of county history. Jay Edwards was the originator of the project which has been carried on since by Peggy Tobin and Carolyn Edwards serving as commission chairmen and editors. A 1995 issue is due off the press in the next week according to information from Tobin.

She returns to the chairmanship after several years away from the position she held for nine years upon the retirement of long-time chairmen, Sallie Lewis and the late A.B. Lewis.

Pilot has some questions about airport

Dear Editor:

Approximately 130 concerned citizens crowded the Bandera County courthouse on June 11 for a presentation on the environmental impact assessment of the [illegible] Airport. Charles Willis represented the company out of Arlington conducting the study. Willis said questionnaires were mailed to approximately 400 licensed pilots in the Bandera County usage area and that a 25 percent response was received in favor of an airport.

Assuming the 25 percent was accurate, it tells us that approximately 100 would-be users which Bandera County to build and maintain a costly airport for the recreation and economic use of a few.

Hal Buxton, a pilot, presented expense reports showing Kerr County airport is still being supported by taxpayers, contrary to earlier reports from airport proponents that a Bandera County airport would operate at a profit like Kerr County's.

Homeowners adjacent to or near the proposed airport have a legitimate quality of life concern. [illegible] have a legitimate pocket-book concern.

We need to ask ourselves these three questions:

1. Are there no more pressing needs for our current tax dollars (roads, schools, library, court house renovation)?

2. Are we willing to add on an airport tax burden, be it county, state or federal?

3. Is it morally correct to burden the many for the benefit of a few?

Now we need to put our answers in writing to our County Commissioners and remind them we are the taxpayers and we vote.

Glen Ingram, pilot

A snow job?

Dear Editor:

At the June 11 public hearing on the county airport, no one seemed to recall the names of the members of the Airport [illegible] who voted to bring to being a member of the committee that [illegible],000 had been spent on the airport to date, and "we" paid some $6,000 of our county budget on this project.

The Texas Department of Transportation now appears to be both the advocate and the promoter of the Bandera Airport, its study and approval. They paid 90 percent of the study costs and will agree to pay 90 percent of the funds for much of the construction costs. Bandera County citizens will directly pay between $300,000 to $500,000 of construction costs.

The truth is that the government consultants who conducted and presented the study were very "fuzzy" about the final costs of Bandera's airport.

What's going on here — is a snow job.

Improvements due

Dear Editor:

By the time this is printed, I assume that the Sheriff and I will have made contact and discussed the concerns about Wharton's Dock Road. We will probably discover that the culprit regarding the unreturned telephone calls is our aging recorder at the county shop.

I deeply appreciate the effort by the Sheriff and his deputies to slow folks down. The speed limit on Wharton's Dock Road is 45 mph unless posted otherwise. Some idiots keep switching signs, running over them and shooting them full of holes or decorating them with graffiti. I keep praying we can catch them in the act.

We will be widening where possible and resurfacing Wharton's Dog Leg this fall. When it is completed we will do reflective side stripes and a centerline as I informed a delegation from Wharton's Dock several months ago.

Too bad for Bandera

Dear Editor:

We have heard that the stagecoach has been run out of town. It was a needed tourist attraction for Bandera.

Huffmeyer: storekeeper

Emil Huffmeyer was born in San Antonio in 1845 and came to Bandera in 1873. He first owned a store near the current Bandera Middle School.

Afterwards he put up a log building where he eventually erected the stone building that became the Davenport Building on Main street.

In 1878 he and his brother Adolphe Huffmeyer became business partners. The partnership continued for many years.

When the courthouse was built in Bandera, the Huffmeyer brothers were on the contractor's bond and were compelled to complete the contract, thereby losing several thousand dollars. In 1893 Emil sold his interest to his brother and moved to San Marcos.

ECHOES

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Well, I managed to take a few days off. Spent Thursday, Friday and Saturday as a delegate to the State Republican Convention held in San Antonio.

I had previously attended a state convention a number of years ago, so I was really looking forward to going again.

Political conventions kind of capture the fun and excitement of politics, even though they can get a bit dry and dirty, too. Some folks just don't know the meaning of the word "compromise," and don't want to learn it either.

I always enjoy collecting as many buttons for the various candidates and causes as I can. And I like to wave a flag or two as well. And I got to have lunch with the Gov and his wife -- it's all part of the party.

Lots of people have gotten real turned off by politics here in America. They express their dismay by refusing to vote. I think that's a big mistake. What they really need to do is vote in every election. They need to get acquainted with their local party officials and get involved.

I am always a little appalled when I see pictures of people voting in Africa and South America. The lines stretch forever as people who have never before had the right to vote get in line to cast their first ballot. Even the Russians, whom we don't generally think of as ideals of democracy, had a 70 percent turn-out for their recent election. We don't even come close to that amount in a presidential election year! Shame on us.

There is some confusion about the election for county judge to be held here in Bandera County in November. The election came about because of the resignation of Roger Raser from that office.

The procedure for holding such an election is outlined by the State of Texas. Political parties in the county are gearing up to select their candidate to put on the ballot. The Republican County Executive Committee is holding public meetings to decide on procedure and to interview prospective candidates. I hear there are also some independent candidates who have filed to get their name on the ballot. The Democratic Party will be looking for a candidate, too. Whatever your political affiliation, get involved in the process as much as possible.

Speaking of involvement, be sure to let your commissioner know how you feel about a possible county airport. And have your reasons ready to share.

Guest Editorial

by Larry Cothran

Bandera County Commissioner's Court received a proposed new animal control order Wednesday, May 22 from administrative assistant Doyle Haner which will deal with supposed ongoing problem with dogs by increasing an ongoing problem with overpopulation of legislation.

To stop a problem you must first identify the cause of the problem. Lack of more legislation, more revenue, more fees and more fines only cover the symptoms of the problem.

Fact: Population statistics indicate less than 2 percent of the dog-owning population are responsible for the surplus dog population.

Penalizing the 98 percent of the responsible dog and pet owners with higher fees, fines and increasing the legislation will only result in more governmental control of the activities of its honest citizens.

By presenting the dog problem as a crisis out of control, it enables behind the scenes animal rights activists to gain favorable legislation by local officials to further their agendas. PETA (People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals) National director, Ingrid Newkirk stated in the Chicago Daily Herald, "For one thing, we would no longer allow breeding. People would not create different breeds. There would be no pet shops. If people had companion animals in their homes, these animals would have to be refugees from the animal shelter and the streets...But, as the surplus of cats and dogs declined, eventually companion animals would be phased out and we would return to a more symbiotic relationship—enjoyment at a distance."

Documented facts were presented at the national Animal Interests Rescue Symposium where 60 animal rescue advocates shared ideas, questioned representatives from the American Kennel Club, and listened to highly qualified speakers as they covered a multitude of topics affecting rescue work.

Veterinarian Gary Patronek, faculty member at Purdue University Veterinary College and former shelter director discussed canine shelter population issues. Using public health statistical techniques, Patronek assessed risk factors leading to animals being turned over to shelter.

Identifying animals at risk:

1. Lack of obedience training.
2. Fewer than two veterinary visits per year.
3. Finding out that the dog is too much work.
4. Dog not sterilized.
5. Dog not house trained.
6. Dog destructive.
7. Dog hyperactive.
8. Dog adopted from shelter.

Mixed breed dogs are at higher risk than purebreds, as well as dogs that were free of charge.

Building a county-run facility will not solve surplus pet problems due to the fact they encourage the two percent of irresponsible pet owners to obtain animals they can not take care of knowing that there is a facility where they can drop them off when the animal is no longer wanted. Most of the privately run rescue centers are operating at maximum capacity in the county right now.

Initial problems that lead up to unwanted pets include:

• Selecting a dog based on characters in movies, television shows, or animation productions, i.e. 101 Dalmatians.

• The pet you purchase will not automatically act like the well-trained, well-groomed pet in the shows you've watched. Animated dogs seldom resemble anything like the real animal except visually. • Each breed of dog had basic tendencies and characteristics in their bloodline which would be considered when selecting a dog.

Common reasons given when surrendering a dog to the rescue worker include:

• This dog won't obey me.

• This dog keeps tearing up my stuff.

Both of these complaints stem from a lack of quality time being spent with the dog.

Dogs need attention. They will take positive or negative attention. Obedience training is an excellent way to spend quality time with your dog in positive attention. If you neglect your dog and treat him like a toy on a shelf, it may lead to your dog becoming destructive as he learns that you'll come running each time he destroys your plants, furniture, etc.

More money, more legislation and heftier fines will not solve any surplus animal problem. Personal responsibility, educational pamphlets produced and distributed by local rescue organizations, dog food companies, and the American Kennel Club as well as communication between the animal control officer with the pet owners/land owners is vital to solving any surplus dog problem. If you would still like to throw money at the problem, make a personal donation to any of the local rescue operations or private individuals who rescue and/or train dogs in this area.

Larry Cothran is the owner and operator of St Adobe Dog Parish in Lakehills. He believes that many dogs now abandoned are salvageable with proper training of both dog and owner.

While TV and other diversions may have caused the dying off of the old pastime of summer reading, some of us enjoy a lifestyle which includes reading, reading, and reading -- for learning as well as pleasure.

Having had a nostalgic conversation recently with Clovis Heimsath of Austin recalling the old days on his parents' Star and Dr. Charles Heimsath, [illegible] home on Belknap Ave. in San Antonio and their ranch on the North Prong of the Medina, we remembered once again the summer reading lists the Heimaths used to issue to members of the Medina River Reading Club back in the early 50s.

Most of the recommended books, to be discussed at weekly club meetings up and down the county, were classics reflecting the interests of the Heimsaths in their work teaching philosophy and humanities at Trinity University while guiding the early destinies of St. Christopher's Church which Charles served as rector for some years.

So how about a new summer reading list? If you're not into seriousness, try any of the breezy novels by Dublin newspaper columnist Maeve Binchy. Ms. Binchy has human nature down cold, translating small-town situations and characters from contemporary Irish life into universal meaning with which we can all identify. The latest, on the shelf in Boyle's is "Class Lake." Perhaps you saw the movie "Circle of Friends." The best of all is an early opus, "Light a Penny Candle."

As mentioned here before, Elmer Kelton of San Angelo has the same true touch in writing about the land and people he knows best. Look on book exchange racks for "The Time it Never Rained," "The Day the Cowboys Quit," and "Good Old Boys." Another reissue, "Manhunters" from 1974, we haven't been able to get into. The story is a fictionalization of the life and hard times of a South Texas outlaw, an actual folk hero named Gregorio Cortez. We'll try again in Cooler Quieter Colorado.

But here are some serious suggestions, themed to the list of items to be worn by the June bride.

Something Old. Ralph Waldo Emerson's "Essays." Better than almost anyone else writing in American English, the 19th century Sage of Concord helps anyone trying on his own to think through the dilemmas of life and nature. Yes, some of his friends were flakes, but aren't all prophets without honor?

Something New. Kathleen Norris' "The Cloister Walk." This 1996 collection of poignant essays and observations by a married South Dakota poet and teacher who entered a Benedictine monastery as an oblate, follows an earlier book "Dakota" in which Ms. Norris describes the beauties of the [illegible] and the [illegible] and her struggle as a nominal Protestant "too serious about religion to go to church." Thanks go to Maple Cowan for introducing us to this challenging stuff. Would that Mr. Emerson could read it too.

Something borrowed. Carlos Fuentes' "Constancia and Other Stories for Virgina." this collection of short stories, translated from the Spanish, gives an intriguing look into the mind and thought of a culture almost totally different from our prosaic common-sense Anglo way of thinking and doing. The best story is the hilarious "Prisoner of Las Lomas" telling of the takeover of the elegant upscale home of a prominent Mexico City playboy promoter by his servants from an outlying village, camping in the carport and holding him hostage.

Something Blue. C.S. Lewis' "A Grief Observed." If you saw the movie of a couple of years ago based on the true story of the Oxford professor and self-taught theologian and the short-lived happiness he found with a sassy American wife, you know that this little book is indeed about Shadowland" and Lewis's fight come to terms with his wife's untimely death. Short and bittersweet.

special to The Bulletin
by Coach Bobby Clark

The Bandera County Little League Softball girls division championship, ages 13-15, was secured Thursday evening with a strong, decisive victory by the Bandera County Athletics over the Bandera County Wildcats.

The stage was set, and the whole season was to hinge on this game. The A's came to the game with an impressive 7-and-1 record to their credit; due to an incredible starting line up with an over all 450 batting average for their first six batters; and a defense strong enough to support four previous 10-run rule game victories.

Impressive stats you say? You bet! But not so impressed were the Wildcats. This scrapping "Wild Cat" team with an arsenal of their own had already tasted victory over the awesome A's earlier in the season, and a victory for the Cat's could conceivably throw the season into a tie for first place, with one regular season game left, and present a need for re-scheduled games to be played.

The stage is set, the stands are full, coaches tense, players anxious, the nachos hot, drinks cold, the field marked, the umpires suited, and the home plate umpire hollers "play ball!"

Up to the plate steps Sandy Heath of the A's, totaling a 470 avg. After she takes one ball, she rips one to short stop, only to have it scooped up and fired to first by the Cat's Liz Carpenter. Oh, what a play, this game is already off to a fantastic start.

Next up, Jessica Leland, the hottest batter on "Team Athletics," and possibly the league. Jess steps up carrying enough confidence in that aluminum bat to boast a 520 avg. at present, and at one time over 600. However, this time, the thunder would not be heard, as she draws a walk. Next up, Stacie Clark, this young rookie to the senior league circuit packs a few credentials of her own, a previous major league baseball championship and all star selection, and currently holding the second spot on the team batting average.

First pitch, Clark squares to bunt in an attempt to buy time for Leland to steal second and scoring position. One problem, Cats pitcher Nichol Torans wasn't buying that move and snapped a shot to first base, where Erin Esparza applied the tag just after Leland returned safely. Next pitch from Lela Brown, and again no thunder as Clark stretched-out for a low pitch only to pop-up to an awaiting Cindy Toddes.

The count was two outs, one on.

Next up Breanne Hicks, a two-time previous all star selection, had sent chills through the spines of opposing managers with a barrage of doubles, triples and the speed of a sprinter. But again, after working the count to an even 2-2, the thunder was silenced by Brown, with another pop-up to short stop and Carpenter responded, side retired, with a bevy of yells from the Cats bench and stands.

Now, the Cats would have their turn at bat.

First up, Liz Carpenter, lightning quick like a cat, could take a routine out, and turn it into a hit. Not tonight, Carpenter hit the first pitch late to the awaiting sure hands of Clark at first base, where she made the unassisted out.

Again the crowd applauded the play.

Enter Erin Esparza, another fleet of foot, had the A's defense up close to gain the throwing advantage.

Esparza cracked the ball, but right back to pitcher Heath and a soft toss to Clark at first, had the mighty Cats wondering also, where is our thunder?

With two outs, the next batter could be the answer.

Cindy Torres, the "quiet one" with the loud stick, this young lady carried an on-base percentage second to few, and a rookie to this league, impressed many.

This night would be no different as Toddes got a hit through the infield that brought the crowd to its feet, as a quick reacting Ashley Newman at left field returned the ball to hold Toddes at first.

Next up, Joli Bermudez, a sight [illegible] usually with runners on. And again, as many times before Joli's thunder would be heard.

With a good jump from first, Toddes advanced to third as [illegible] a quick relay to short stop, two-year vet Melissa Hoesen [illegible] Bermudez to first and Toddes tight on third.

The next Nicole Torans, this three-year vet to the league and last year she was [illegible].

Heath, knowing of Torans power, kept the ball inside, making Torans fight them off, and fight them off she did, to a 3-2 full count. The tension was thick and the crowd silenced with anticipation as Heath fired a smoker down the tube, and Torans responded with a shot back to Heath, as the threat was stopped with a toss to Clark at first, and now the cheers abounded from the A's bench and fans.

Apparently the fire that erupted from that defensive stand of the A's carried through to the hands and lots of those young ladies, with a barrage of 12 hits and 13 runs. The A's had now set the standard with the mid and lower half of their line-up, starting with a lead-off walk by two-year vet Sarah Harris.

With Harris' speed, (a regional high-school qualifier), any hit would be sure to spark a score.

Enter Kristen Leonard, fleet of foot, tall in stature, and with a red-hot bat. With Harris easily stealing second on Leonard's fake bunt, Kris now knew the next pitch was hers, and hers it was.

A rip stand-up triple sent Harris home and Leonard to third with a smile big as the A's rally. Amanda McPhail, Melissa Hoesen, Ashley Newman along with the top of the line-up, all balled twice in the top of the second inning to take apparent control of the game.

As the bottom of the second inning finally came along, the mighty Cats had their backs to the wall. Would they fold, or would they rally?

The next batter up had her mind set, and rally was her answer.

The young, 13-year-old rookie Christine Combs stepped up to the plate and smoked the ball past second to keep the Cats alive. Next up, Melenee Martinez, also a rookie to the league, had come up with clutch hits before.

On the first pitch, Martinez was taking and Combs was smokin' them up to second. The young one's smoke, however, was no match for the veteran gun of Hicks as short stop Harris applied the tag.

Now with one out, the next two batters of Martinez and the powerful rookie Lela Brown, both fell prey to the heat of Heath, as both batters along with the Cat rally went down swinging.

The next at bat for the A's was as awesome as the previous, in fact, exactly as awesome. Another 13 run rally, with all nine batters batting twice, and one batter batting three times, all in the same inning.

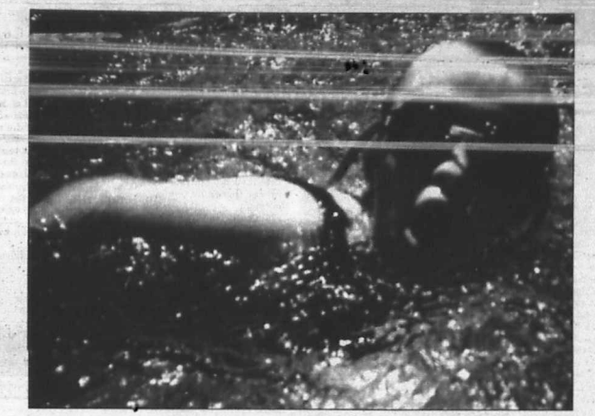
As the Cats eventually came to bat again, the catch-up game seemed too tough, as they managed only one run in the third.

The fourth inning was a defensive struggle as neither team scored a run.

Now in the fifth and final inning, Crystal Cruz, a 13-year-old rookie pitcher cam in to close out the game.

Along with Cruz, Lisa Sloan, a 2-year vet, Jessica Harrison, a two-year vet, Jennifer Stricker, a 13-year-old rookie, and Melinda Edwards, also a 13-year-old rookie, rallied late to combine for yet another run, and then held on to stop a late Wildcat rally which resulted in a bevy of six runs on six hits.

The late rally proved to be too little too late, as the A's slipped away with the lop-sided victory 27-7, and the league championship.



Melinda Rossow, a two-year-vet with the A's was unable to play, due to a shoulder injury. She assisted her team as a base coach.

A Thought For The Week
by John M. Grimes

It has been said that there is no possession more valuable than a good and faithful friend. It has also been said "Never require from a friend what he cannot grant without a breach of his honor; and always be ready to help him whenever this principle is compiled with." -Cicero The best way to have friends is to be one. "If you see a friend slipping away from you," wrote david grayson, "stop whatever you are doing and bring him back, for friendship is one thing you cannot afford to be without."

In youth every chance-met acquaintance is hailed as a friend. But as one grows older and the real nature of friendship becomes better understood. And the man or woman who has reached the middle life with half a dozen friends, real friends who will bear all the test of friendship is, fortunate.

This quote expresses these thoughts quite beautifully: "blessed is a man who has the gift of making friends, for it is one of God's best gifts. It involves many things, but above all the power of going out of one's self, and seeing and appreciating whatever is noble and loving in another man." - Thomas Hughes.

The following poem is dedicated to all of our volunteers, and especially to those very special people who recently rallied to my support at an extremely [illegible] time. Dale Marshall, Judy Hawkins, Juanita Holleran, Della Mae Cox, and board members Judy [illegible], Mary Garcia, Jack Mackey, Ken Clark and Ray Mauer.

Volunteers
God Bless Them

Many will be shocked to find
When the day of judgment comes,
That there's a special place in Heaven
Set aside for volunteers.
Furnished with big recliners,
Satin couches and footstools,
Where there's no committee chairman,
No group leaders or car pools.
No eager team that needs a coach,
No bazaar and no bake sale,
There will be nothing to staple,
Not one thing to fold or mail.
Telephone lists will be outlawed,
But a finger map will bring
Cool drinks and gourmet dinners
And treats fit for a king.
You'll ask, "Who'll serve these privileged few
And work for all they're worth?"
Why, all those who reaped
the benefits
And not once volunteered on Earth.

Thank you dear Harry Webb for remembering my first year anniversary with that beautiful corsage. Also, my sincere love and gratitude for all those generous souls who offered me a home in my recent search for living quarters.

So long to Don Nichols, our van driver, who has taken a full time position with Kerrville Bus Lines. We'll miss you, but we'll expect you to drop in from time to time for some of those home baked goodies you are so fond of.

The Corral will be closed on Thursday and Friday, July 4 and 5, therefore there will be no Pancake/Taco Breakfast in July.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department will conduct a membership drive during the week of July 1 through 6. There are many new families that have moved into the area and do not realize that there is a local fire department. President T.R. Andreas, fire chief Bob Bodine and other members of the fire department will be out going door to door to inform people of the need of the fire department in our area.

The Walker Memorial Chapel Fellowship Hall was filled to capacity after the morning service the 23 June when over sixty showed up for the fellowship covered dish dinner. They all seemed to enjoy the government food that the ladies of the Chapel prepared.

The wife and I enjoyed having grand sons and great-grand children at our home this past week end. There was Chris Hines and his girlfriend Stacy Shoemaker from Mulvane, Kansas, Robert Hines and two of his children, Trey and Gianna from Kerrville, Texas. It was a good visit and Grandma to tell them how she was chased out of Korea when the Korean war started on June 25, 1950.

Another group of children from the Walker Memorial [illegible] were [illegible] for the Alto Frio Summer Camp at Leakey for the week. These are children of age group for the 7th to 9th grade of school, later in July the teen age group will go for a week.

June 23 at the Copper Lantern will have a covered dish dinner, Bar B Q style with Pig and Goat as the main course. Serving will start at about 8:30 p.m. There will be live music starting at 8 p.m. for all you line dancers, so plan on having a good time and gourmet food on Sat. June 29 at the Copper Lantern.

The question is occasionally asked, why isn't the school district's fund balance used to pay debt service principal?

The annual payments on the bond issue for Hill Country Elementary School are being held as low as possible because citizens are still paying for other long-term bond issues (Bandera High School and Alkek Elementary School). In order to keep total payments at a minimum, the district is paying interest only on the Hill Country bonds for a number of years. When the other bonds are retired, we will pay interest and principal on the Hill Country issue.

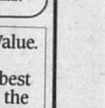
The district's fund balance is maintained at about three months operating capital; that is, the amount of money we generally spend during September, October and November. The reason for maintaining this amount is that taxes generally do not start coming in until late October and in substantial quantities until December, but teachers start work in August (and expect to be paid) and heavy bills for supplies and materials start coming in September.

If we did not maintain this fund balance, the District could be forced to borrow money in order to meet its obligation to open school and meet debt service requirements. Borrowed funds require high interest payments which are not necessary if an adequate fund balance is available.

The district also has large deductibles on property and casualty insurance policies. A fund balance can accommodate these losses and thereby save thousands of dollars in premiums. Emergency repairs and unexpected replacement of major equipment such as boilers and chillers can be financed through the fund balance.

Our fund balance is invested in government bonds or certificates of deposit which generate revenue for the District. This income is budgeted as revenue which can help make tax increases as small as possible.

If the fund balance grows beyond about three months of operating capital, the overage could be used to finance small building projects.



A fund balance should never be budgeted in the operational budget, even though to do so could mean a decrease in taxes.

If, for instance, $1 million of fund balance were placed in the budget, that would be $1 million which would not have to be raised in taxes for that year. The following year, if it was impossible to again budget $1 million of fund balance, a large tax increase would have to occur just to regain the $1 million (to keep the budget the same). To that tax increase an additional one would have to be added to fund any increases.

This could cause the District to raise taxes beyond the rollback rate. This scenario is not theoretical. It is the cause of the rollback that occurred in Bandera in 1990-91.

Way To Go George!
Congratulations on your graduation from Hallmark Aeronautics!

TARPLEY

Well, a common conservation topic in our area is will any of the rain ever reach us? Creeks are almost dry, at least Williams Creek is in our little city of Tarpley. Then is how much longer will one be able to hold on to cow stocks? Stock water tanks dropping from heat evaporation and even the deer are coming more to drink. A lovely large white buck (horns in velvet) was at our yard fence recently. Not afraid at all!

This coming Saturday, June 29, there will be a fire department grounds work day. Arthur Erfurt asked everyone who can to be there at 8 a.m. Before the heat is so bad. Much is to be done and time is getting short to prepare for the Labor Day benefit barbecue! As always, we say all help is appreciated!

The Williams Creek study group met recently at Barbara Brosius's home in Bandera. The highlight of the impressive program was brought by Sheriff James MacMillan and Sue Walker. We learned a lot about the new TRIAD program the Bandera County Sheriff's Department is associated with. Many things are most helpful with TRIAD. It is the link between senior members of the community. Seven members were present and the two guests.

Marilyn Hanier won the lucky card. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. I forgot to mention if you need help from TRIAD, dial 796-4999, at the Silver Sage, at Medina you may call 589-7758.

The Williams Creek Study Group women decided this May not to have a benefit bake sale to go towards the upkeep of the old Tarpley Community school building. It is hoped some work can be done this year as much repair is needed. If you can help, then send your donation to Marilyn Haner, Box 35, Tarpley, Tx. 78883.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Erfurt visitors over the weekend were Alice Mumme and a friend, Roy Hartman of Hondo. Mrs. Nora Anderson of Bandera is spending awhile with the Erfurts. Sorry to report she isn't well.

Raymond Wright was able to return home from Audie Murphy VA Hospital recently.

"I want to be friends with all of them..."

Jennifer Sagebiel

St. Christopher's Episcopal Church and Grace Lutheran Church have joined together to hire a youth minister.

Jennifer Sagebiel, 22, is from New Braunfels and recently graduated from Texas Lutheran College where she majored in psychology and minored in theology.

Sagebiel will work with ages elementary through high school and already has many activities planned.

She plans to meet with the different age groups on different days, and will let them decide what they want to do.

"I hope that I can provide leadership for them and a good Christian atmosphere for them to grow together," she said.

Trips to Schlitterbahn, Fiesta, Texas with appeal to junior high and high school ages, Sagebiel thinks, and also free activities like going to the park and going tubing.

Another major activity will be a fundraiser, possibly a carnival in August, to raise funds to send some of the kids and Sagebiel to the National Youth Gathering in New Orleans next summer.

"Most of my time will be spent in one-on-one relationships with the kids," she explained. "I want to be a friend to each and every one of them."

Sagebiel is engaged to be married in January, and she plans to attend seminary school and become a Lutheran pastor.

Don't throw those old glasses away

Since 1978, Mercy Ships has operated the world's largest privately-owned hospital ship.

Thousands have been touched through the fleet of ships, but there is more than medicine that makes our work effective. Mercy Ships are committed to an integrated approach in meeting some of the world's most troubling problems.

Mercy Ships' uniqueness is demonstrated through practical assistance.

The efficient and effective work of Mercy Ships has been well-received in many nations. In fact, every host nation in the developing world has invited the ships back for repeat visits.

The need is great. Of the 40,000,000 blind in the world, half could gain their sight if they could visit the hospital ship. An operation which usually costs $10,000 is performed for approximately $100 through volunteer professionals who compassionately staff the ships.

Both long-term and short-term volunteers are accepted on the ships, and are trained.

Another easy way to help this worthy cause is to donate old eyeglasses.

If there are old or no longer used glasses lying around your house, bring them by the sheriff's department and help the world's blind.

Theft:

The big scoop this week is about a " theft" in our m ist.

Only a real low life would steal 52 shoulders and 52 hindquarters of goat meat all cut up and ready to go a the grill for a town wide feast the following day! And this group being a non profit group to boot! Someone knows who the thief is and it's their duty to turn him into the authorities. Better by far to the authorities than to some of these boy's who would like to see them hang! But, inspite of the lowlife and the trouble he caused the Wolf Club carried on and put on a dandy bar b q and lots of people turned out for the event.

Reunion

The 1996 Ex student and teacher school reunion will be held on July 13th at the school cafetorium from 11 am until 2 PM. This means ANY former student or former teacher is invited and they do not have to be a graduate to attend. Many addresses have been lost so please contact any and all old friends from out of town that may have been overlooked with an invitation. The host families this year are the Hinds and Reeds.

Great time to see how all that your old friends have gotten and how much have left to grow!

Preacher

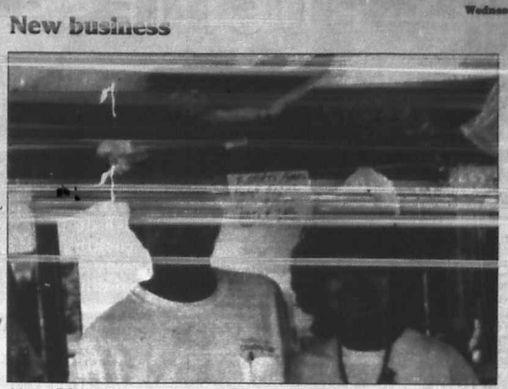
The First Baptist Church is pleased to announce to the arrival of their new pastor, Timothy Walkie and his family to the Medina area. He has a wife, Brenda, and 2 children. One daughter in college and one son , 16, Michael, who will be attending school here. His first sermon will be preached on June 30th so please join the church in welcoming he and his family to our community.

PKIA- Queen

Jayne Rambin called to report that her cousin, Teri Turner, who won the Rodeo Queen title in Bandera on memorial Day recently went to San Antonio and won the Miss Rodeo Texas title and is now headed to Las Vegas, NV to try for the Miss Rodeo America Title.

Collision

Phillip Haines and Ryan Pipes evidently decided to play chicken downtown and ended up having a pretty bad head on collision this past week. Not smart, boys.



Condolences

are extended to the Keiser family. Neals mother recently passed away in Indiana and he and Sue have gone for the funeral.

New business

John and B.G. Watson hope to attract good, clean fun to their new club in Lakehills.

John and B.G. Watson have opened a new business in Lakehills, the Medina Lake Country Club.

John is retired from the U.S. Air Force after 26 years and his wife B.G. has been in banking for over 20 years. Between them, the couple have three grown children and one grandchild.

"John is an avid bass fisherman," B.G. said, "and displays his 12. 96 pound bass that his is so proud of at the club. He has fished Medina Lake for many years and absolutely loves it."

They decided two years ago to build a home at Medina Lake.

"If I never had to go past 1283 I'd love it," John says.

The new club offers J.W.'s Sawmill Cove Nachos, Turk's Head Tamales & B.G.'s Polecat Hot Sauce, Seekatz Cove Sausage, Reuters Cove Pig in a Blanket, Antone Hollow Popcorn & Pizza, beer, wine, wine coolers, set-ups and Skunk Hollow coffee.

The club also offers live country bands on Fridays and Saturdays and every Sunday "jam Sessions". The Watsons say they never charge a cover charge.

"Our dream is to have a good, clean place where you can feel safe, relaxed, meet your friends, laugh and consider your home away from home," B.G. said of the club that boasts the biggest dance floor in Lakehills.

The club opens on Monday, Thursday and Friday at 4 p.m.; Saturdays at 1 p.m.; and Sundays at 2 p.m.

Summer meetings to focus on land use issues

Controversies surrounding land use and land ownership will be discussed in a series of meetings in Bandera, Kerr and Real counties. Project director Glen E. Lich, of the Hill Country [illegible]

"This is a project," Dr. Lich says, "that looks for carefully articulated but contrasting concepts that can develop into useful alternatives to share with the public, government and business."

Two teams of participants will work in a 'sanctuary' environment to examine policies relating to conservation, development, and recreational uses of land. The goal will be to describe practical alternatives.

By year's end, Dr. Lich, a former nation-building officer for the U.S. government, thinks that the two semi-independent task forces may be able to present their ideas in a public report.

"This won't be an idle effort," Lich says. "We want to enable informed people in this area to do something with what we produce."

The project is funded by the Interactivity Foundation, a non-profit operating foundation in West Virginia dedicated to improving analysis and decision-making on public policy.

4-H Apple Butter contest new feature at Apple Festival this year

A new event at this year's Ninth Annual Texas International Apple Festival in Medina will be an apple butter contest open to only the 4-H clubs in Bandera County.

Each 4-H club can enter as many club members.

The items entered will be two quart jars of apple butter made with Texas apples. One jar will be opened and used for sampling. The second jar should be decorated to help attract bidders during the auction.

The contest will take place at 10 a.m. on July 27, 1996.

Contestants need to bring one card table decorated to attract attention to your table and advertising the following: your name and the name of your club; one, one gallon jar to collect money for your club; crackers, bread or apples to put apple butter on for sampling; paper towels, scoop, and dish to put apple butter in that you will be sampling.

In order to earn money for your club, festival attendees will pay you to sample your apple butter. There can be no set amount a person must pay. They can sample for .01 to $100. At the end of the hour, that child that has earned the most money in their jar will receive the honor of first place.

If you are one of the top three winners, your un-opened apple butter in the decorated jar will be auctioned off. Winners will receive a ribbon and one half of the auctioned amount.

The remaining amount will go to the Medina Texas Development scholarship fund.

"Be sure to dress up in your best apple attire to help you get those bids up," spokesperson Jeannie Strickland said. "The more money you raise, the more money you could win!"

In order to enter the contest, get an application from your 4-H leader or the County Extension Office. All Applications must be turned in by July 20. Each competitor will receive one free pass to the apple festival for yourself and one for each of your parents.

Call 589-7224 for more information.

What's Rustlin'

by Bunny Bourne Bergen

We has some fun this past week! We headed over to Fort to listen to the "umpah" music (it was great!) and we sure enjoyed ourselves (after we finally walked into!) Leroy and Susan Ybarra and their wonderfully polite children.

I got down on my knees and begged Leroy to enter the wheelbarrow race with me and we did! We were #26 and were flexing all the angles as we waited out turn.

Leroy tipped the wheelbarrow down so's I could ease myself in and then, they put a bandanna over his eyes and I had to guide him though an obstacle course.

I think they were a little afraid that he might dump me, 'cause one of the burly guys that was running this race kept near us the whole time, while I was SCREAMING "Go right, go left, back up!" - we lost!

Then Patsy Swenson of cooking fame at noon on Channel 5, filmed us doing our apple cobbler in the Dutch ovens. Actually, she filmed Larry doing the cooking and so I had to act silly to get my minute of fame! She was so funny and kept everyone laughing the whole time.

"Our" longhorn from Main Street was there and saddled up and Patsy had a really fun time on him!

She filmed five days worth of shows in about four hours and kept changing clothes for each segment. It was up at The Diamond W, as a preview of what's happening this coming Saturday at their Cowboy Jamboree.

Then, we went to a computer seminar at the Convention Center in San Antonio. It was a two-hour session to show us WordPerfect Suite 7 could do.

The audience was filled with executives (male and female!), school administrators, ordinary folk - and me, who can barely [illegible] a computer on. As the guys started showing what this program could do, the audience got wilder and wilder! The enthusiasm was catching and I didn't even know what they were talking about! At the end, the line up to buy it snaked around the huge room! This computerized world is truly amazing.

The Corel people sponsor the Tacoma to Toronto Old Fashion Car Races, European Championship Bobsledding, Olympic Rugby Team, Women's Professional Tennis, and hold three hot air balloon records. That's quite a bunch of corporate sponsorship!

Then, there was the hugely successful Chamber of Commerce mixer, out at Country Accents. The Chamber mixers are true mixers - everyone moves all around and talks to everyone. The food was great and Country Accents is like a fairy land. They have turned an ordinary backyard into an antiques paradise.

And the inside store is without a doubt, the best antique store I've ever been in. Guar-on-teed (Cajun talk!)

How well is your well?

special to The Bulletin
by Marion Heisler

We have been asked to write a short piece about what to look for in order to keep your well healthy in these dry times. This being a subject dear to our hearts, here we go.

You city folk on a water system or in a subdivision with a water system do not have to read this, but you might move out to the sticks and need this information, so read along!

The first thing to watch for would be an extended running time for the pump. If the water table should drop low enough for the pump to pump down the water level, it would sit and run for an extended time, with the possibility of damaging the pump being very high.

If you suspect the pump is running for an extended time, it might be best to call your well man and have it checked. If this condition is corrected before the pump damage occurs, the cost of repairs can be held to a minimum.

Another condition, not related to water levels dropping, is called water logging.

In a water logged condition, you might notice the pressure at the sink or in the shower fluctuating rapidly. In this condition, the tank has an insufficient amount of air to give the proper performance.

The pump will turn on as soon as the faucet is turned on and off, when the faucet is turned off, this condition can kill a pump faster than any other cause. If the pressure is changing rapidly, contact your service man. We have told many people over the phone how to correct a water-logged tank.

Many people say they don't know from scratch about how to fix a water system. If this is your case, maybe a service contract with arrangements to check the system every month or so would be a good investment in preventative maintenance.

Hopefully, the rains will start and fill our aquifers back to overflowing. Until then conserve water and watch for problems with your well.

Don't be afraid to call the service man with any question you might have. Until the rains come, we will be looking for you out by the pump house.

[illegible]

Hi y'all! Hey we got three drops this weekend! Isn't it bad when a rainstorm is measured in drops? The people in the Houston area are getting bunnies of rain as usual. We think they are being kind of stingy with all that rain!

Well, the fourth of July is fast coming up and the folks at the American Legion Post #410 are rushing around getting things ready for the Annual Fourth of July Parade and Barbecue.

People all around are getting their floats ready and calling Sammy Brown to reserve their place in the parade. We bet that if you have never seen our 4th of July parade, that you have missed out on some of the biggest pleasures in life.

So plan on coming to the parade starting at 11 a.m. on July 4 and finish up with barbecue chicken with all the trimmings and games afterward at Post #410 Legion Hall on 26th Street.

Coming up on June 29 at the Lakehills Ice House and the Downtown Lone Star will be a bake sale for the Martial Arts Academy of Bandera. There will also be martial arts kiddos on the corner of 1283 and 37 selling raffle tickets to raise funds to help send the younguns to the Junior Olympics in New Orleans. For more information, contact the Martial Arts Academy in Bandera.

This weekend was a slow one for fire and EMS. We hope people will remain aware of our extremely hazardous fire conditions. [illegible] Our grasses are much like gasoline waiting for a careless piece of fireworks to set it off and let it turn into a raging brush fire.

People in Nevada, Utah and Arizona are feeling the effects of these fires right now, so be very careful, if not doing without fire works in these dry times. We don't like saying no to the kiddos about fire works, but are they worth endangering our and our neighbors homes and property?

Well, work calls so we better load up and hit the road. We will be looking for you over the back fence!

Don't miss the 4th of July parade in Lakehills!

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A new drug has been approved that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain. This material has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis™" and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis™ relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis™ is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work. Use only as directed.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

We has some fun this past week! We headed over to Boerne Berges Pool to [illegible] the "unpub." music (it was great!

[illegible]ly walked into!) Leroy and Shawn Ybarra and their wonderfully polite children.

I got down on my knees and hooved Leroy to enter the wheelbarrow race with me and he did! We were 3rd and were favorites all the angles as we awaited our turn.

Leroy tipped the wheelbarrow down so's I could ease myself in and then, they put a bandanna over his eyes and I had to guide him though an obstacle course.

I think they were a little afraid that he might dump me, 'cause one of the burly guys that was running this race kept near us the whole time, while I was SCREAMING "Go right, go left, back up!" - we lost!

Then Patsy Swenson of cooking fame at noon on Channel 5, filmed us doing our apple cobbler in the Dutch ovens. Actually, she filmed Larry doing the cooking and so I had to act silly to get my minute of fame! She was so funny and kept everyone laughing the whole time.

"Our" longhorn from Main Street was there and saddled up and Patsy had a really fun time on him!

She filmed five days worth of shows in about four hours and kept changing clothes for each segment. It was up at The Diamond W, as a preview of what's happening this coming Saturday at their Cowboy Jamboree.

Then, we went to a computer seminar at the Convention Center in San Antonio. It was a [illegible]-hour session to show us WordPerfect Suite 7 could do.

The audience was filled with executives (male and female!), school administrators, ordinary folk - and me, who can barely turn a computer on. As the guys started showing what this program could do, the audience got wilder and wilder. The enthusiasm was catching and I didn't even know what they were talking about! At the end, the line up to buy it snaked around the huge room! This computerized world is truly amazing.

The Corel people sponsor the Tacoma to Toronto Old Fashion Car Races, European Championship Bobsledding, Olympic Rugby Team, Women's Professional Tennis, and hold three hot air balloon records. That's quite a bunch of corporate sponsorships!

Then, there was the hugely successful Chamber of Commerce mixer, out at Country Accents. The Chamber mixers are true mixers - everyone moves all around and talks to everyone. The food was great and Country Accents is like a fairy land. They have turned an ordinary backyard into an antiques paradise.

And the inside store is without a doubt, the best antique store I've ever been in. Guar-on-teed (Cajun talk!)

How well is your well?

special to The Bulletin
by Marion Heisler

We have been asked to write a short piece about what to look for in order to keep your well healthy in these dry times. This being a subject dear to our hearts, here we go.

You city folk on a water system or in a subdivision with a water system do not have to read this, but you might move out to the sticks and need this information, so read along!

The first thing to watch for would be an extended running time for the pump. If the water table should drop low enough for the pump to pump down the water level, it would sit and run for an extended time, with the possibility of damaging the pump being very high.

If you suspect the pump is running for an extended time, it might be best to call your well man and have it checked. If this condition is corrected before the pump damage occurs, the cost of repairs can be held to a minimum.

Another condition, not related to water levels dropping, is called water logging.

In a water logged condition, you might notice the pressure at the sink or in the shower fluctuating rapidly. In this condition, the tank has an insufficient amount of air to give the proper performance.

The pump will turn on as soon as the faucet is turned on and off, when the faucet is turned off, this condition can kill a pump faster than any other cause. If the pressure is changing rapidly, contact your service man. We have told many people over the phone how to correct a water-logged tank.

Many people say they don't know from scratch about how to fix a water system. If this is your case, maybe a service contract with arrangements to check the system every month or so would be a good investment in preventative maintenance.

Hopefully, the rains will start and fill our aquifers back to overflowing. Until then conserve water and watch for [problems with your well.

Don't be afraid to call the service man with any question you might have. Until the rains come, we will be looking for you out by the pump house.

Let fire department handle fireworks

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Scattered rain showers across the state have done little to dampen concerns about the use of fireworks this July Fourth holiday.

"We're optimistic," Bobby Young, associated director of Forest Resource Protection with the Texas Forest Service, says of the recent rains. "But we also realize that we're not out of the woods by any means. By the Fourth of July it (rainfall) may be all gone, so we're concerned."

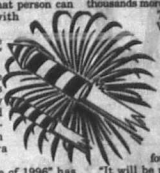
"It scares us to death," said Ralph Dresser, chief of Lakehills Volunteer Fire Department. "We are just holding our breath."

Dresser said that fireworks last year caused a structure fire and several grass fires.

"Fortunately, we haven't had the strong winds," Dresser said.

He expressed concerns that San Antonio's ban on fireworks will drive people up here to celebrate the holiday.

"Fireworks are one thing, but these rockets are another," he said. "They fire up at least 75 feet in the air, then fall back down and are still active enough to start the grass on fire."



Dresser warned that if it is proven that somebody's fireworks started a fire that damages property, that person can be charged with arson.

"Each year we have problems," he said.

Much of the state remains gripped by drought, and wildfire conditions remain high in Bandera County.

The "fire siege of 1996" has claimed more than 500,000 acres so far this year.

And drought has dried up thousands more.

The Bandera Volunteer Fire Department hopes that people will choose to attend their professional quality fireworks display and fund-raiser dance at Manafield Park the night of the fourth instead.

"It will be professional fireworks," said Tommy Adams, fire chief for BVFD. "We hope every-

Bacteria count up -- caution urged for July 4th swimming

The unalleviated drought may be contributing to health problems here. Several cases of infection have occurred in the Bandera County area, possibly as a result of swimming in slow-moving or stagnant water.

"The dropping water table in Bandera County is evident in the decrease in flow of our rivers and streams," said Cameron Cornett, general manager of Springhills Water Management District. "Hondo Creek, William's Creek and the West Sabinal River are dry or are about to go dry."

The water district keeps tabs on the water quantity and quality in Bandera County by monitoring several stream locations around the county on a monthly basis checking for fecal coliform bacteria.

The accepted fecal coliform count in water for recreational use is 200.

"As of July 1, two areas in Bandera County have exceeded the 200 count," said Cornett. "One is the Medina River at English Crossing and the other is Williams Creek North Prong off of Hwy. 16 north."

"If the water is stagnant or not flowing well, these along with hot temperatures combine to create an incubator for bacteria," said Cornett. "If these conditions exist, we recommend you stay out of the water."

Masons hosting barbecue

The Medina Masonic Lodge #1319 will hold their annual 4th of July barbecue at the Apple Festival grounds in Medina.

Parade on tap in Lakehills

The American Legion Post 410 in Lakehills invites everyone to join their annual parade and celebration on Thursday, July 4.

"This event continues to grow each year," said spokesman Lee Newnam.

The greatest little parade in the Hill Country gets under way at 11 a.m., traveling on PR 37 from St. Victor's Church to Turk's Store.

Entries will be judged at 10:30 a.m. and trophies will be awarded.

A barbecue chicken dinner will be sold immediately following the parade at the Legion Hall. "The dinner will include Charles "Boots" Laue's world championship beans," said Lee Newnam.

Activities will include games for the kids, a country store, dancing to the Swinging Country Bank from 1-5 p.m.

"Don't miss out on the fun, food and festivities," added Newnam.

IT TAKES CONCENTRATION -- Katelyn Markel, 3, daughter of Medina EMT Christine Markel, drew the winning raffle ticket for the $1,000 gift certificate from H-E-B Grocery Store at Saturday's EMS fundraiser. Pipe Creek EMT Faye Honaker held the winning ticket.

4-H horsemen advance to state

Jamie Dinse, Erika Dinse, Stephanie Byrd, Justin Teich and Samantha Teich will represent Bandera County 4-H at the State 4-H Horse Show in Abilene July 21-27.

Rodeoers Stephanie Byrd, 15, Samantha Teich, 10, and Justin Teich, 14, qualified in the District 4-H Horse Show to advance to the state finals in Abilene this month.

Byrd and Samantha Teich qualified in various events, including barrels, poles, stakes and break-away roping. Justin Teich qualified to participate in the break-away roping event.

In the horsemanship division, Erika Dinse will compete in the hunter hack, western riding, working hunter and open jumping events in Abilene. Jamie Dinse will compete in the 2-year-old western pleasure futurity class at the state competition.

Judge Roger Raser gave much of the credit for his success in office to his staff, Evelyn Schmidt and Marcia Short. Not pictured is administrative assistant Doyle Haner.

Raser says farewell

Friends and co-workers said goodbye to County Judge Roger Raser during his last day in office Friday, June 28. A cake and punch reception was held in the judge's office in the Bandera County Courthouse. Raser resigned his position as head of county government due to health reasons. Former county judge Ray Mauer was appointed by Commissioners Court to serve in the position until a new judge can be elected in the November 1996 General Election. Mauer was sworn in Monday, July 1 by County Clerk Bernice Bates.

missioners grant stay on address change nd J Subdivision numbering system fits 911 standards

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Writer

A delegation from Diamond J Ranch subdivision in Pipe Creek [illegible] allow them to keep their current addresses at a special called meeting of the commissioners court Wednesday, June 26.

Patti Smith acted as spokesman for the group. "We were told the last time the post office changed our addresses [illegible] to the criteria for 911," said Smith.

Residents of the subdivision live in Route #2 in Pipe Creek which recently received new addresses to coincide with the 911 Rural Addressing program.

The county's 911 coordinator, M.J. Cave, told commissioners that some subdivisions in the county have roads named and numbered in a numbering scheme that fits the 911 criteria.

Carey Poe, also with 911 [illegible] said the 911 system of addressing is done by calculating a certain number of [illegible] a road, in order to make the numbering consistent throughout the county. Poe pointed out that one lot in the subdivision has already been [illegible] since the last post office numbering was done.

"That happened before the current deed restrictions were adopted by the [illegible] Smith pointed out.

Both Smith and Commissioner Dan Alanis pointed out that the official county policy states that the 911 addressing system should avoid changing address numbers if it is not necessary.

"The way this county is [illegible] five years your system will no longer work," said Poe.

The commissioners voted to allow the subdivision residents to keep their current addresses.

The 911 Rural Addressing system will eventually provide new [illegible] for Route #1 in Pipe Creek is almost ready to submit to the postal service, said Cave. The purpose of the system is to make it easier for emergency services and law enforcement to find locations.

Humane society holds 1st planning meeting

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

A small group of concerned citizens met Thursday evening with Animal Control Officer Triple Kocurek to talk about forming an humane society in the county.

Kocurek presented the group with a copy of by-laws from the Kerr County Humane Society. He also informed them that after this meeting, he would have to step out because of his position as county animal control officer.

"This week alone, I've had five to six calls from people who have litters of puppies and kittens who don't want them destroyed," he said. "They want homes for them."

The Humane Societies in both Boerne and Kerrville raise funds in various ways, Kocurek said. In Kerrville, the shelter takes in boarding, while the Boerne group runs a thrift shop.

He also said that having an educational program in place to help teach owners how to get along with pets with bad hat its was a good idea.

"Make contact with the differ- ent veterinarians to work with the society," Kocurek advised the group. He told them that they could possibly get a lower rate for people who adopt pets for spaying and neutering.

"Keep animals for one to two weeks before adopting them out," he said. "You want to know this animal - it's quirks, and match the animal to owner."

He told the attendees, who brought covered dishes to Pop's Place in Alamo Beach for the meeting, that they would need to set up a board of directors immediately and have one paid position to start with.

"My goal is that this time next year, animal control will run on its own, not taking money from taxpayers, bu. from the offend- ers," Kocurek said.

Offenders are people who do not register their animals, do not have up-to-date rabies vacci- nations for their animals, who allow their animals to run loose, and other violations.

"We are going to try and get some more people interested," Bill Harmon, who attended the meeting and runs an animal shelter with wife Jean, said. "We will call another meeting."

"We did not have very much participation from other parts of the county," he said.

Harmon said that anybody who wants to volunteer, or serve on the board, is welcome to call him at 510-4751.

Womack providing TDH services here

The Texas Department of Health has awarded a Title 5 grant to Medina Community Hospital to handle all of the clin- ical aspects of treatment that TDH used to provide.

Locally, Dr. James Womack will be the provider.

The grant, worth $112,971, will be split up between the hos- pital and several doctor's offices.

"We are excited about this," said Dr. Chip Riggins, TDH regional director. "I hope folks will appreciate being able to get these services from a primary medical home."

The move to farm out the medical side of the business will allow TDH to focus on public health issues such as education and disease prevention.

Womack said his office will not make any major changes to handle the new business.

"We already have a lot of them coming here for these services," Womack said. "We shouldn't have to do anything different."

Womack said his office has always offered this type of care, which includes Preventative and Primary Child Care and Family Planning.

"We are happy to have them," he said. "The financial burden for these families should not change."

Rain wet streets had a hand in causing an accident on Park Road 37 that sent a mother and two children to the hospital last Wednesday. None of the injuries was life-threatening.

Chief's Blotter

The past week the Bandera County Grand Jury handed down eight felony indictments on five defendants for the sale and delivery of illegal narcotics: Joseph Leyva, delivery of mari- juana twice; Joseph Valdez, delivery of marijuana twice; Jesus Longoria III, delivery of marijuana; Michael Newkirk, delivery of marijuana; James Duff, delivery of marijuana and methamphetamine. It is inter- esting to not, according to the 216th Drug Task Force records, six of the eight sales of illegal drugs took place in the city lim- its of Bandera. In the other two cases, negotiations for the sales took place in Bandera and the sales were completed just out- side the city limits.

This department has received complaints from citizens con- cerning vehicles exceeding the posted speed on Montague Drive. Please observe all posted speed limit signs. We will be checking Montague along with Cedar, Cypress and Pecan.

Meals program shortfall

Some county dads reluctant to help out

A delegation representing the Silver Sage Corral narrowly received approval from Commissioner's Court for financial help to keep the Meals-on-Wheels program going through the end of the fiscal year. The group approached the court at a [illegible] Wednesday, June [illegible].

"The demand this year for meals far exceed our expecta- tions," said Mary Garcia, Silver Sage board treasurer.

The group asked the county dads for $7,500 to be able to con- tinue the program through September.

The Meals-on-Wheels program is funded in part from federal grants, grants from the Alamo Area Council of Governments and from donations.

"Our donations were also lower than anticipated," said Garcia. "We expected a $2 dona- tion per meal, but averaged only $1.52."

County Judge Roger Raser told commissioners that there was enough money in the coun- ty's contingency fund, set aside for emergencies, to cover the shortfall.

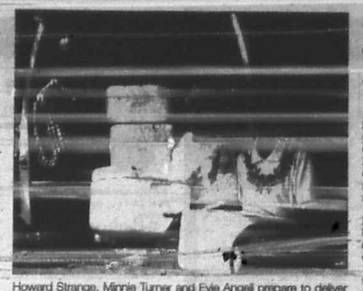
Commissioner Bennie Barker said, "The senior center con- tributes more to this county than any other organization. The Meals-on-Wheels is for seniors who cannot get out."

"The bottom line is, if we don't approve this, the senior center may have to shut down," said Raser.

Silver Sage Board President Judy Rodriguez explained to the court that the meals program is not only food, but for many shut-in senior citizens, "it's their only outside contact."

Commissioner Ralph Chancy recommended that the court simply consider the matter in the budget in September. Garcia told the court that would have to be done in any case. "As federal funding dries up, we are more and more going to have to take responsibility on a local level," she said.

Commissioner Dan Alanis said, "I have a hard time under- standing why the director is get- ting a $14,000 salary."



A director is required by law to administer the program, and Silver Sage Director Betty Lebo handles all the paperwork for all the center programs, administers the programs, coordinates volunteers for Bandera, Lakehills and Medina, manages all the many other center activi- ties, directs transportation ser- vices, and oversees the mainte- nance of the building.

"Many times I've seen her still working until 7 or 8 at night," said Garcia.

Commissioners receive a salary of $12,500 with a $4,800 travel allowance along with expenses paid for schooling. In recent budget discussions, coun- ty commissioners voted them- selves a $2,500 raise for next year.

The first vote on the financial assistance was Barker and Raser for, Alanis and Chancy against. Judge Raser reopened discussion, chastising the com- missioners for not helping out the county's senior citizens. "We'll all be there one day," he said. A second vote was unani- mous in support of the measure.

For more on the operation of the Silver Sage Senior Center, see page 8.

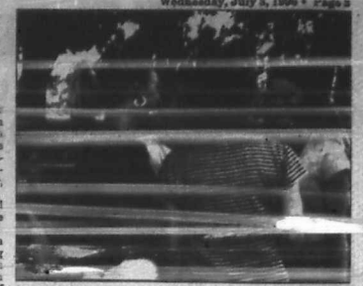
Howard Strange, Minnie Turner and Evie Angell prepare to deliver meals to shut-ins in Bandera County. The volunteers assist with the Meals-on-Wheels program which is in danger of shutting down due to lack of funds.

Center volunteers needed

An old rock building on Cedar Street is transforming into a popular place. The Ryan Youth Center, formerly known as the Ryan Building, is being renovat- ed so that the youth of the com- munity have a place to gather, meet friends and have fun.

The Bandera United Methodist Church, owners of the building have taken on this mis- sion project to re-vitalize a dream from the past. During 1988, the church, Bandera Optimist Club, Grace Lutheran and Community Assembly of God formed the Bandera County Youth Forum. Their mission was to provide a safe location for the youth of Bandera County to meet and be involved in activi- ties.

From February through October the building was open weekly on Friday and Saturday nights and hosted various activi- ties including movie night, ice cream socials, and dances. Due to the lack of funding and com- munity support the program was discontinued. The church feels that they now have a great opportunity again to provide a safe place for the youth.



The people involved in this project say, "The future is not in the hands of fate, but in our own. We must get involved, for our youth and for our future."

Currently a local artist, Yvette Wyatt, has taken on the project of sketching murals on the walls and will have the assistance of the youth in painting them. A new kitchen has been installed and earlier this year the roof was replaced. Materials have been donated by many business- es and individuals which has certainly helped to keep costs to the minimum.

A target date of Friday, July 19 has been set to kick off the schedule of being open every Friday night. The times are ten- tatively set for 7-10 p.m. Games, ping-pong, pool, music and some refreshments will be made avail- able.

Volunteers and funding are always welcome. Currently it is imperative to have at least two volunteers each night the center is open.

Individuals or organizations who would like to assist with this project should contact Eric Stutes, Coordinator of Youth Ministries or the Rev. Dennis Thompson at 796-3849 Tuesday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Local young people are enjoying the opportunity to get together with friends at the Ryan Youth Center on Cedar St. in Bandera.

Clinic reports that she has been seeing an increase in outer ear infections. "They are very com- mon this time of year, but we're seeing more than usual," said Butler. She attributes the increase to poor water condi- tions.

Butler said that due to low water levels, calcium, salts and other minerals are even more concentrated in our usually hard water. "That is leading to an increase in allergies and skin irritations," she said.

Butler said that swallowing river or lake water places bacte- ria and parasites into the sys- tem. "Pockets of standing water, slow moving water that fails to flush feces downstream and heat all lead to increased bacter- ial growth," said Butler.

Butler said there is also a stomach flu and strep throat going around, so symptoms of nausea, diarrhea and fever may not be the result of swimming in bad water.

Exercise caution in your sum- mer recreational fun and be sure to check with your medical advisor if any symptoms appear.

Letters to the Editor

We're the friendliest place to lose weight

Dear Editor:

Bandera is not only the Cowboy Capital of the World, it also has the nicest people in the world.

I found this out when my doctor told me that if I wanted to [illegible] a lot of weight. That is when I found out to my wildest expectations just how nice people are [illegible]

I have never gotten the support like I got from the good people of Bandera.

What helped me reach my goal was all the support and compliments I got from everyone. Nowhere did I ever hear any negative comments.

I live out in the country and I walk to town every day. And after people learned I didn't need a ride, the shouts of encouraging words and waves lifted my spirits and made it easy to reach my goal. I sure want to thank all the kids that waved at me every morning when they were on their way to school. I sure do miss them this summer.

So far to this date I have lost 101 pounds. And I have enjoyed doing it with all the support I got.

Go for 90; avoid tattoo

Dear Editor:

Congratulations to the Bandera School students and their teachers on their TAAS achievement! I'm sure the 90 percentile goal is attainable. However, I hope their principal will reconsider her promise of an ankle tattoo (even if she applies a removable tattoo). The recently adopted dress code prohibits body piercing and to many parents and grandparents, tattoos are every bit as unacceptable.

Subject matter on t-shirts will be monitored. Tattoo designs can be just as objectionable. Although butterflies and roses may be attractive, strategic placement can make a negative statement.

I suggest adding tattoos to the list of dress code violations and that Ms. Schultz, as a role model, consider a more appropriate method of showing appreciation for a job well-done.

Can't afford more

Dear Editor:

I did it again. I said I would never attend another school board meeting, but I lied. After hearing rumors and news items suggesting we would soon be asked to build yet another school and purchase the race track to do it, I decided at my age I couldn't stand yet another tax increase to support another "nightmare."

If you add up the taxes on your phone bill, electric bill, water bill, gas bill, school taxes, county and state taxes, sales taxes, income taxes, mortgage taxes, inventory taxes and on and on, you might soon realize you are being taxed to death and it is getting worse.

People we elect seem to lose their minds when they get elected. Either that or they don't have enough guts to stand up for the taxpayer. This old saying "it's fur the kiddos" has just about seen its day.

I don't mind paying a share of taxes. I do mind getting older and watching my paid-for home become a real property tax because I can no longer work and keep up with the taxes.

I firmly believe it is time for a tax revolt. Either that or find some other way to pay for school and get off the property owner.

Where are all of these children coming from? Not only do we educate our own, we seem mandated to educate, feed, clothe, house and furnish medical care for people of other countries.

I have to work to furnish these things for other people and I myself am not entitled to any of these same benefits.

It is time our elected officials be held personally accountable for the decisions they make on the taxpayers behalf.

Get out and vote....go to a school board meeting...demand answers.

Carmichael serves the community

The City of Medina now nits in what was once the pasture owned by H.H. Carmichael.

Carmichael first came to Texas during the Civil War from Missouri when he was only 14. At the close of the war the family returned to Missouri and Carmichael completed his education.

When he was 20 he came back to Texas to get a herd of cattle to take up the trail.

In 1873, he was in Bandera County buying cattle at the Jones Ranch.

After his marriage to Mary Risinger, he returned to Bandera County to build his home in the Medina area. An Indian raid, killing Mr. Phillips, caused the Carmichael's to decide to move to Bandera. There he went into the mercantile business with George Hay and acquired an interest in the mill and gin in Bandera.

On the lighter side

by Sean French, publisher

Over the last couple of weeks everyone in Bandera county has been stirred up over two big controversial issues.

The letters to the Editor have been coming in steadily here at the office and the rumors have been flying far and wide throughout the county. These two issues are the airport and the school district's attempt to purchase Bandera Downs. In my opinion, one is definitely more important than the other.

The airport is not a necessity at this point and time, but schools for our children are! Over the next couple of months I encourage everyone to call a school board member or the superintendent and find out just how badly we need another school in Bandera. I think you will be surprised at the growth our school district is undergoing.

Without planning and preparing for the growth that is already here, our children will not have a place to go to school because of the overcrowding.

[illegible] the only way you [illegible] you is to pay for another school, but I do know that a new high school has to be built whether it is at Bandera Downs or some other location in the county.

Here at the Bulletin, we want to hear what you think about the whole situation of a new school. Call your school board members and listen to what they have to say and make your decision. I have heard just about all the rumors and they seem to start from lack of knowledge on the situation.

Have a safe and wonderful 4th of July weekend!

Carolyn's Corner

Does anyone have an answer to all the anger out there? Why is it that people no longer practice the most basic good manners? Why is it that we can no longer discuss differences of opinion without it turning into a shouting (or worse) match?

Shouldn't it be possible to find that out of 100 philosophical ideas, Mr. A and Ms B agree on 75 and agree to disagree on the other 25? But it seems that more and more, we must agree 100 percent with the powers that be or our voice is not listened to.

I found myself in an interesting position at the recent political convention I attended. I went there pretty much convinced that I'm a political conservative and left labeled a flaming liberal by certain groups in attendance.

The battle raged between the "one-plank-in-my-platform anti-abortionists." You would think there wouldn't be a lot to argue over between these two groups, wouldn't you?

But there seems to be more and more an attitude of "my way or no way" in politics, and group No. 1 is ready to destroy the Republican Party to get their way.

The pro-choice folks surprisingly were allowed to have a booth in the exhibit area. They weren't made to stand out in the blazing sun in front of the Alamodome like the Log Cabin Republicans, who had the effrontery to accuse the GOP of bigotry.

I also listened to three days of being labeled among those scum-of-the-earth LIBERAL MEDIA. I tried to keep my sense of humor by wearing a button that said, "Trust me, I'm a reporter."

And then I came home to Bandera and found a few things here at home that make me angry:

• Goat-meat stealing punks. What kind of low-life would take 200 pounds of cabrito, ready to go on the pit to raise funds for a do-good organization? Shall we consider an appropriate punishment for these wizards? After making them pay for the meat and the time it took to prepare it, we could....hmmm...so many ideas, so little time.

• The studs that think knocking over road signs is a great way to spend the evening. What's the thrill here? Is it to see how much you can hit the taxpayers for without putting a dent in daddy's truck, or what?

Listen, get a job. Grow up.

Morales files suit against anti-government terrorists

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Texas Attorney General Dan Morales filed suit last week against the "Republic of Texas" accusing the group and 25 of its members of filing fraudulent liens, tampering with government records, interfering with property sales and restraining trade.

State District Judge Paul Davis of Travis County signed a temporary restraining order prohibiting the Republic of Texas or the 25 members from breaking the law or filing false claims.

The restraining order also allows the attorney general's office to undo liens without going to court.

The Republic of Texas members believe the state and its officials are acting without authority, and the group has created its own common-law courts, filed "charges" of sedition against Morales, Gov. George W. Bush and others.

Morales said members of the group "are not free to misrepresent their organization as an official government" and he spoke of the havoc group members have caused, costing time and money of public clerks, title companies and property owners trying to sell their land.

The Republic of Texas' chief ambassador, Richard McLaren of Fort Davis, has been arrested on federal charges connected with filing false documents.

District-Shuffle Hearing Set

A July 11 federal court hearing has been set for the changing of congressional district boundaries in Dallas and Houston.

The changes were required following a June U.S. Supreme Court ruling — in favor of Republican plaintiffs — declaring two districts in Houston and one in Dallas illegal because of racial gerrymandering.

Because so little time separates the scheduled hearing and the Nov. 5 general election date, Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock and the districts' congressional representatives — all of whom are Democrats — want the court to put off the changes until the 1998 mid-term election.

But Attorney General Morales said, "I think it is wishful thinking to believe that this court will allow us to go through the 1996 election cycle with unconstitutional districts."

If the boundaries are changed, new elections would be required in each district in which boundaries change, even though voters selected nominees from the two major parties in the March and April primaries and runoffs, the Houston Chronicle reported.

Secretary of State Tony Garza listed three ways the scenario could play out in the redrawn districts, in which the court could:

• Order new primaries, to be conducted by Sept. 6; or

• Order a special election on Nov. 5 that is open to candidates from all parties; or

• Order the precinct chairman in each party to select new nominees without primaries.

SSC Land to be Resold

Land bought by the federal government for the Superconducting Super Collider project — which lost its funding in 1993 — is going to be resold to the public.

The Texas Natural Research Laboratory Commission and the Texas General Land Office are coordinating the resale of about 10,000 acres of land in Ellis County, southeast of Dallas. The federal government eventually gave the tracts of land to the state of Texas after the project was suspended.

General Land Office spokesman Ron Calhoun said the land sales will be done in a "systematic prudent way" but people who lived on the land before it was taken over by the federal government will get no special privileges.

Official Wants Tobacco Dumped

State Board of Education Chairman Jack Christie sent a letter dated June 17 to the managers of the Permanent School Fund asking that they sell off any holdings in tobacco-producing companies.

"This is to let them know how a few of us feel," Christie told the Dallas Morning News.

"I find it incredible that we generate funds through investments in tobacco, which have to be used to educate students to avoid the very product that our investments support," Christie said in the letter.

The state filed a lawsuit March 31 against major tobacco companies, seeking $4 billion for money spent on treating tobacco-related illnesses.

Other Capital Highlights

• The cost of providing ATM services is decreasing but Texans are paying more for them, according to the Texas Consumers Union. When a bank customer uses another bank's automated teller machine, 65 of 93 Texas banks surveyed charges fees of up to $1.50 per transaction. The report urges the Texas Legislature to monitor ATM fees for a possible cap, or prohibition of the non-customer surcharge.

Wreck takes one life

Daniel Wayne South, the driver of a Ford [illegible] evening that took the life of Lakehills resident Darlene Smith, is extricated from his vehicle by Lakehills paramedic Dot McCracken, Lakehills Fire Chief Ralph Peterson and Lakehills EMT Ray Heisler. The accident occurred on FM 1283 just outside Bandera County. According to a witness, South's truck crossed over into oncoming traffic, struck one vehicle, then hit Smith's vehicle head on. It is one thing to watch a few video bytes of a major disaster like the recent forest fire southwest of Denver. It is quite another terrifying thing to view the actual scene even after the flames have been doused — 12,000 plus acres and $3 million of the taxpayers' money later.

The drive through Pike National Forest from Woodland Park to Buffalo Creek is always through calm greenery. And so it was again this June until the green gave way to stark slick sooty-black ridges marked by the bare charred skeletons of trees. Nothing left.

Through the Herculean heroism of volunteer and Forest Service firefighters, the fire, which reached 2000 degrees with flames 200 feet high, was finally stopped. It did not come on down the gulch to destroy the village or, having crossed Raleigh Peak, could not jump the South Platte River to threaten Denver.

But it's not over. The U.S. Forest Service has sent in specialists from Montana to build coffer dams and spread loose straw and oat seed to try to stem the hideous erosion even a small rain shower causes on hard cooked land.

The biggest flood on Buffalo Creek in 30 years sent black crud into Denver city reservoirs downstream after only three-quarters of an inch of rain. Water ran down creosote slopes like water down an asphalt parking lot.

Who is paying to repair the damage resulting from an illegal campfire left by four poorly supervised city teens on a school field trip? It's your federal tax dollars at work, folks! And a century of slow healing by Nature. Guess that's OK because the kids say they're sorry and their teacher says it wasn't his fault!

Smarting from all this outrage, we came home to Bandera to find, all of a sudden, not a dollar drain because of careless stupidity, but official proposals to put our local tax dollars to work on big-time major projects..

We're to pipe water from the Guadalupe, going down so fast right now Kerrville has been put on drought restriction, to evaporate its way down Mason and Bandera Creeks to the river and thence to Sea World via Medina Lake.

We're to take the potential jobs and revenue-producing property of Bandera Downs off the tax rolls and turn it into a tax-consuming school campus.

We're all to pay and maintain the luxury of an airport for the minuscule few who might choose to land out on the Big Flat rather than suffer the drive of a few miles from nearby airports and landing strips. What do you bet? People get here faster from the airport in Kerrville than they now do going from SA International to downtown, or Sea World. What's the big deal?

OK. So we need good schools and transportation and the City demands water. But let's try to think of common sense ways to make money and jobs around here rather than to just spend on public projects the hard-earned dollars most of us have to work elsewhere to get.

Hope you had a Happy Birthday Rand!!! From your family and friends!

Little League action

All-Stars Johnny Cardenas, Jr. tries to tag out a Devine player at second base.. The 11-and 12-year-old All-Stars beat Devine Monday night.

9- & 10-year-old All-Stars take lead

by Carolyn B. Edwards

The Bandera All-Stars in the 9 and 10-year-old division set off a little premature Fourth of July fireworks with a 13-6 victory over Devine Saturday evening. The game was the first for the team in the District 21 Little League All-Star Tournament currently being held at Mansfield Park in Bandera.

Seven explosive runs in the third inning put the Bandera team on top after Devine had played a tight defensive game along with sending three of their own men across home plate.

The sixth inning saw Bandera's hitters coming alive again, with five runs batted in in response to three runs scored by Devine in the fifth.

Cass Escalante pitched the team to victory after Wyatt Lautzenheiser opened up on the pitcher's mound.

In the third inning, a double by Josh Faglie brought two runners in for Bandera. After loading the bases, three more Bandera runners crossed the plate on a triple by Chris Kinsey. Shortly thereafter, a triple by Cody Fields sent two more Bandera teammates into home.

Speedster Taylor Koerth stole everything but the concession stand cash box as he worked his way around the diamond in the ninth, taking advantage of a catcher's error. Koerth brought in run number 6 for Bandera.

In the sixth inning, Ricky Richards' double brought in Faglie and Escalante. Koerth got a nice single and Richards stole home. Justin Bridges popped up a nice fly ball for a single and Koerth sailed in.

A smashing double by John Paul Lico brought Bridges across home plate to give Bandera 13 runs.

Koerth made a leaping magical catch in the bottom of the sixth worthy of baseball's best to wrap up the victory.

The team was under the direction of coaches Reed and Faglie and manager Cass Escalante.

The All-Star Tournament will be taking place at Mansfield Park through-out the next few weeks.

Pitcher Wyatt Lautzenheiser warms up for the Bandera vs. Devine game in the Little League All-Star Tournament. Lautzenheiser's team in the 9 and 10-year-old division won 13-6.

Over the Back Fence

Hi y'all! Well, here we are at the start of another July Fourth holiday weekend. Everybody will be out trying to have fun, but the real meaning has become half the meat in the U.S.A. How many think of why we celebrate the fourth?

We need to stop and think of why we are celebrating the beginning of a great adventure in democracy that allows us to do this celebrating and pursue our individual ways of having fun.

We hope you will be joining us in our annual Fourth of July Parade in Lakehills. It will start at 11 a.m. by St. Victor's and proceed to Turks as per usual and then everyone musters at the American Legion Post #410 Hall on 26th Street for games, Bar-B-Que and fun. This parade is one that gives the participants as much fun as it does the viewers!

On a sadder note, we lost a friend and neighbor, Darlene Smith last week in a tragic auto accident. Darlene worked at Southeast Baptist ER and was always leaving bags of head chocks and such on our EMS door. This little benefactor will be missed by all. We wish her family the best and offer our condolences.

The rescue unit was used on this accident. This unit was built up with donations over and above your regular donations to our VFD. The fire fighters will be using the name of 97 and 1997 it's marked to take more donations for more equipment for our rescue truck and also to sell raffle tickets for the Fire Chiefs and Presidents Association raffle.

The grand prize is a big four-wheeler donated by Tuff Texas. The demand for tickets has been awesome! Every fire fighter who hunts or just likes to four wheel is hoping to win this prize. There are many other prizes available on the tickets, so don't hesitate to look up a fire fighter and by some chances.

The funds from this fund raiser will go to whichever department sold the most tickets. Also five percent will go to the Fire Chiefs Association to help with their expenses. So, buy the tickets from your local VFD representatives and keep the money local!

Speaking of keeping the money local, if someone is thinking of starting a local business, maybe someone would like to start a fire equipment sales in Bandera County. We could purchase all our needs locally and keep the money in Bandera County!

Well, time flies, so we must draw to a close. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

July and aren't we having fun! Hot dogs and hamburgers on the grill, baseball, swimming, and the Fourth of July fireworks. This is the life, isn't it?

This year we will celebrate the birthday of this great nation. Do you think our founding fathers thought the experiment in Democracy would last this long? We believe they did, because they took great care in preparing the Declaration of the United States and the Bill of rights. These two pieces of paper were drawn up in such a manner as would guarantee as strong a foundation for a nation as the world would ever see. . .They gave to the world a model for all to copy and insure that the direction of its progress would determined by the people of this land and all the following generations of Americans in the future. They gave to each one of us the ability and the duty to carry out the experiment long after they themselves would perish.

We must remember that this is still an experiment and be every watchful of the reactions which it will produce and of the ingredients which we use to power the cycles of change which this Country will continue to undergo. If we fail to be vigilant or get careless in our beliefs and principles, then the experiment will end and the data will be stored for someone else to study at a later date. HAPPY FOURTH OF JULY TO ALL OF US.

Silver Sage Corral

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

Aging is EVERYONE'S future. The future is not something you enter, it is something you create. The primary goal of the Silver Sage Corral's to assist the citizens of Bandera County to create a happy and healthy future in their twilight years.

Our center offers activities that keep the mind and body active, i.e., exercise, dance, oil painting, quilting, Spanish lessons, weaving, ceramics, arts and crafts, brides and other card games, music and dancing. The center is also available as a meeting place for other nonprofit groups.

In addition to the social activities, we also maintain a very active Meals on Wheels program, delivering meals to at east 50 homebound clients in the Bandera, Medina and Lakehills areas at least 250 days a year. For those who are more active, meals are also served at the center during the noon hour, Monday through Friday, for at least 250 days of the year.

The demand for Meals on Wheels has increased by 25 percent this fiscal year, almost twice the amount of increase from previous years. We assume the fact that Bandera is the second fastest growing county in the state partly explains this tremendous increase.

The Silver Sage also offers transportation to the center and trips to doctor's offices, grocery stores, post office, drug stores, etc., in Bandera, Kerrville and San Antonio.

The center provides information and assistance for the aging, acting as a catalyst between the client and other help agencies such as TRIAD, Helping Hands, St. Vincent de Paul Society and other church outreach ministries, Department of Human Services, Home Health Agencies, etc.

The transportation program is funded by Bandera County and all other programs are partially funded through a grant from the Alamo Area Council of Governments (AACOG), a subsidiary of Texas Department on Aging. All of these programs must be coordinated daily, logged daily and require extensive monthly and quarterly reports.

All duties connected with the programs are performed by one director, one part-time employee (paid by the state through the Senior Texan Employment Program) and lots and lots of wonderful volunteers. The volunteers coordinate the activities, help in the kitchen, at the front desk and in the gift shop.

In order to subsidize the cost of these programs and other Center expenses, we rely on proceeds from our gift/resale shop, hold rummage sales, monthly pancake/taco breakfasts, monetary donations, etc. We have a Memorial Fund as well.

Donations to the center and memorials may be mailed to the Silver Sage Corral, P.O. Box 1416, Bandera, Tx. 78003, or drop into the center at 11th and Hackberry.

Frontier Times features three-artist show at Doane Gallery

Watercolors in traditional, as well as abstract designs, and color photographs tracing sunlight's effects on the landscape, will be the featured exhibit in the Doane Art Gallery at Frontier Times Museum during the month of July.

Local artist Norma Anderwald, winner of the Coppini Academy's Artist of the Year for sculpture in 1967, and Kerrville Art Club's Artist of the Year for 1995-96, offers a variety of watercolors while sharing the exhibit with amateur photographer Minneana James, and special guest artist, Judy Schultz.

Studies for many of Anderwald's paintings, including "Minneana's View of Winter Fog" with which she won the Kerrville Art Club award, were drawn from James' photographs, and this is their third joint exhibit at the museum.

Featured among Anderwald's paintings will be two floral works, one on loan from the Gay Guilott collection. These are the result of Anderwald's recent attendance at a seminar held at the Corner Stone Gallery in the Ingram Art Center.

While Anderwald has also expanded her venue of rural and hill country scenes to include several abstract works, James has limited her photographs to a single subject. Sunlight and clouds from dawn to dusk, and from the hill country to the Texas coast will be featured in archival styled frames and mounts.

A watercolor featuring cats will be Kerrville artist Schultz's contribution to the exhibit.

Wharton's Dock & Lake Medina Shores

John Ciarlo 796-3225

The chairman of the Lake Medina Shores Owners Association, Albert Sanchez, stopped by and gave us some news bits. Albert wants you to know there have been many complaints about dogs roaming the area. Now if your dog is not fenced in or on a leash when you have it out, you just might lose that pet.

There are many things that go on over in Lake Medina Shores such as family picnics, grandkids visiting, graduation parties and so forth, but if you don't tell me about them I won't know. So call with your news items.

Swimming pool hours of operation are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. seven days a week. You are reminded to comply with the pool rules which were enacted for your safety and enjoyment. Starting on July 1 there will be a pool attendant checking membership cards. You must have one before you will be admitted to the pool.

For you golf fans, the owners association is in the process of replacing the carpet on the miniature golf facility.

Deepest sympathy goes out to the families of members Frank Curry and Ivan Crossley who recently died.

Also, our sympathy goes out to Betty Wilson of Wharton's Dock. A sister of Betty's died in Florida and about four hours later another sister died in Amarillo.

The Lakeshore VFD will hold fire training this Saturday, July 6 at 10 a.m.

Another reminder to drive with caution in the Wharton's Dock and Lake Medina Shores area as there are many children spending the summer in the area.

The Copper Lantern's party was once again a big success with delicious barbecue and lots of covered dishes. Music was provided by the newly formed Borderline Band from Freer. Members are singer Jesse Lopez, drummer Amalio Rangel, guitar Richard Alaniz, lead guitar Vince Simmons, all very talented.

MEDINA

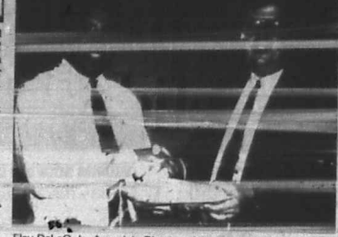
Correction

An accident involving Phillip Haines and Ryan Pipes was not the result of [illegible] in last week's Bulletin. We regret any misunderstanding our account may have caused. The two young men are doing fine, according to family sources.

The VFD program Department invites everyone in the community to a Flood Awareness Program to be held Friday, July 5 at 7 p.m. at the festival grounds in downtown Medina.

The program will be presented by Howard Tucker, a certified swift water rescue technician who was involved with water survival training in the U.S. Army for 10 years.

The program should last about one hour, said spokesperson Barbara Walters.



Correspondent needed

The Bulletin regrets that Cherry Jones will no longer be able to continue as our Medina correspondent. Cherry has done a wonder ful job filling this corner of the paper every week with Medina news and we will miss her. Anyone interested in the job should call The Bulletin at 796-3718.

50 GOLDEN YEARS -- The family of Ava and Nolus Parker will host a reception honoring their 50th wedding anniversary on Saturday, July 6. The event will be held at the Medina School Cafeteria from 2-4 p.m. Family and friends are invited to come by and enjoy cake and coffee and offer congratulations to the honorees.

Eloy DeLeO Jr., Associate Director of Sales for Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems, congratulates Tom Hagan, Associate Director of Public Relations for Medina Children's Home, for the success of their joint marketing promotion.

SW Bell project benefits Medina Children's Home

Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems, located in San Antonio, recently finished a marketing promotion benefiting the 100+ children, 18 mothers and families at Medina Children's Home.

The promotion allowed donors to receive a new cellular phone in exchange for a minimum $20 donation. Due to overwhelming response, SBMS extended their marketing promotion twice before bringing it to a successful conclusion.

"We are pleased to be able to support the community in ways which help improve the quality of life, such as this program at Medina Children's Home which will directly impact the lives of so many children," remarks Eloy DeLeO Jr., Associate Director of Sales for Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems in San Antonio.

"We are thankful for the strong support the local community continues to provide for our children. We are especially grateful for the commitment Southwestern Bell Mobile Systems made to us through this promotion," states George Rose, Chief Executive Officer for Medina Children's Home.

First ladies hear local historian

On June 27, 125 First Ladies and their guests enjoyed a book review by Annalee Burns of Utopia. Burns has written a number of local history books, one of which is "Gone are the Days." Her review provided a stroll down memory lane for a number in attendance.

The review followed a catered lunch at Lost Valley Resort Ranch.

First Ladies is a group affiliated with First State Bank in Bandera.

Governor urges water conservation during drought

AUSTIN — At a press briefing recently, Gov. George W. Bush and state agency officials urged local Texans to conserve water to help minimize the impact of the ongoing drought on the general public. They also outlined ongoing state activities to monitor and effectively respond to the drought.

"We need a lot of rain, but neither the Governor nor the state of Texas can make that happen," said Governor Bush. "What we can do is provide expertise to help local communities maintain safe drinking water supply and urge conservation to extend our water resources as much as possible."

"I urge every Texan to join us in conserving our water, literally one drop at a time. Conservation can take place every time you brush your teeth, wash the dishes or take a shower, " said Bush.

About seven weeks ago, the governor's office contacted several state agencies and asked them to work together to provide support and advice to local water districts. "This working group is on call to help local communities. Our state agencies have scheduled conservation and training seminars throughout Texas and are available to send experts in to help maintain local drinking water supplies and manage drought conditions," said the Governor.

"The overwhelming majority of the 6,680 public drinking water systems in Texas have more than adequate supplies of drinking water to meet the needs of their customers," said TNRCC Chairman Barry McBee. "But the increased demand outdoor water use is placing on pumping and treatment facilities can pose real risks to water systems, particularly in smaller communities. The Governor's Drought Response Working Group is urging all citizens to make the most of available drinking water by using efficient water management habits. Water conservation is the best tool we have for managing our drinking water supplies."

The Texas Water Development Board is monitoring statewide drought and water supply conditions and providing communities technical assistance with drought contingency planning, water conservation, and identification of alternative water supplies," said TWDB chairman Bill Madden.

Comedy set at HCAF stage

"You Can't Take it With You," is a merry, mad comedy about a wacky Manhattan family whose members do exactly as they please. The play captured the Pulitzer Prize and won an Academy Award. The play will be performed July 17-August 3 at Hill Country Arts Foundation in Ingram. For more information, call the HCAF at 210-367-5122.

MAYOR'S MEMO

Bob Cowan

USE IT OR LOSE IT...

Complaints continue about parking along Main Street between Cypress and Cedar. I am frustrated [illegible] to encourage [illegible] to consider on the corner of Cedar and 11th to help alleviate the Main Street [illegible] and their employees continue to park in front of their respective businesses or [illegible] leaving spaces for their customers. I must confess that when I had my office in the old bank building, I also parked on Main Street occasionally, but usually parked in the alley.

What is even more frustrating to me is that [illegible] you, the City owned the 11th St. parking lot only to learn that this is not the case. We are leasing it. The cost this year was $1,948 and will be higher next year. If the parking lot was fully utilized, this would be money well spent. If [illegible] lot is not used or used minimally, the [illegible] the lease is automatically renewed on Sept. 30 of each year, but written notice of cancellation must be sent by April, 1997 should this action be needed. Business owners and employees along Main Street, it's up to you: Use it or lose it. By making full use of it, you free up parking spaces for your valuable customers [illegible] has a short, healthy walk to and from work.

Meanwhile, back at City Hall, we are still on track towards our primary goal of updating the infrastructure in spite of all the "grass fires." Please continue thinking "water" and come join us at our regular council meeting Monday, July 8 at 7 p.m. at the City Office on Main Street.

the Appreciation Party held Saturday, June 29: back row: Fay Paige, Candy Martin, Marcel Wilson, Randy Hunsaker, Pickett Butts and Tiger Meyer. Front row: Faye Honaker and Micol Kershaw.

The Bandera chapter of EMS who attended the Appreciation Party were Cyndi Wright, Sheila Pumphrey, Lynda Cook, Bill Lowman and Pam Schermen.

Deferred adjudication the result of several factors, says DA Curry

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

[illegible] year-old girl from San Antonio whose body was found July 18, [illegible] bed of Red Bluff Creek near Pump Gate Road shocked and saddened Bandera County residents.

Jermaine Surgent was reportedly killed by blunt trauma to the head and face.

Her killers, David Womack and Shawn Patrick Monohan, were rapidly apprehended.

Womack, 20 years old at the time of the murder, was represented at trial by attorney Phillip Meyer, while the younger Monohan, 16 years old at the time, was represented by attorney Steve Pickell from Kerrville.

Womack received life in prison for his part in the slaying.

"He will be in for 35 years before he will be eligible for parole," Meyer said.

Pickell said his client, who is also known by the name Patrick Shawn Morse, has not been out of custody since being arrested. Monohan received a sentence of 10 years deferred adjudication from Judge Stephen Ables in [illegible] County [illegible] the part in the murder, but he also received a conviction in Kendall County [illegible]

That conviction resulted in a [illegible] year term.

Pickell said his client's light sentencing for the murder rap [illegible]

"He was a juvenile at the time and that had a lot to do with it," Pickell said. "The main actor was the uncle." Womack is Monohan's uncle through marriage.

Pickell said Womack had been in prison before, and although Monohan's past history on the wrong side of the law is sealed information, Pickell said there wasn't much to it.

"Shawn did not have any serious juvenile problems and no history of violence," he said.

The sexual assault charge was not a forcible rape, according to Pickell.

[illegible] was under age, and so was he," he said.

Monohan went to Texas Youth Commission [illegible] turned 18 years old, at which time he was transferred to prison, where he will serve at least four more years.

[illegible] who prosecuted the case, echoed Pickell's comments.

"The evidence at the scene was very thin," Curry said. "There was absolutely no lab evidence."

Curry said that Monohan provided the testimony that enabled law enforcement to prosecute Womack.

He said that the two men met the girl at a party in Kendall County on July 17. The next day, the three came to Bandera County to swim and the murder occurred at the swimming hole.

He said that with the 10 years deferred adjudication sentence handed down to Monohan on the murder charge, that if Monohan commits any other crime in the future, the murder charge that he pled guilty to can be used against him.

"The downside to his deferred adjudication is that if he is revoked it is an automatic five years to life," Curry said. "He is in the penitentiary now and I'm not sure he will ever see the light of day."

Curry said there was evidence that drugs and/or alcohol played a part in the murder.

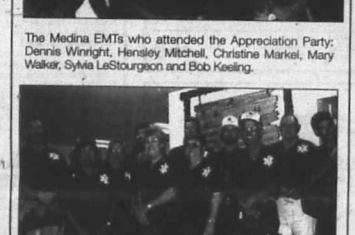
What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

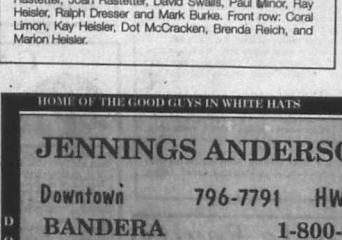
I found out, a few years back, that it costs $10,000 minimum if you want to throw an Indian Powwow. That's where Indians come from all over the U.S. and compete in teepee raising, tomahawk throwing and dancing. Now, if we could only get the $10,000 together, we could throw one out at Mansfield Park and give a grand prize for the best rain dance!

The Diamond W Ranch really threw a whingding of a Cowboy Jamboree Saturday. Everyone and his brother from Bandera donated their skills for this benefit.



Our very own stagecoach, with Hagen of Flying L fame riding shotgun; our very own saddled up longhorn steer; our very own Spirits of Texas Band; Kevin and his ropes; Dutch oven cooks; cowboy poets; artisans with their crafts, it was great. Bandera really knows how to play cowboy!

There were gunfights and trick shooting and real Indians doing ropes tricks, and tons of living history wandering around dressed up in 1800s outfits and musicians galore. My favorite, besides Spirit of Texas, naturally, were the Whoosits. They play out at the Cajun Festival in Lakehills. The guy on the wash board was fabulous! It was a foot-stompin' yee hawin' time.



One of our Bandera residents, Richard Wiltsberger who has picked up a lot of highway trash since he's moved here because he feels it's his way of volunteering, gave me a letter from some friends in Wales, of all places, who had seen a really good travel special on TV there about Bandera. The special featured Western Ivy, Janett's, the Silver Dollar, the Mayan Ranch and Bandera Forge where Joe Reidy said, "Weekends start in Bandera about Wednesday and don't finish 'til the following Tuesday!" Pretty good description, I'd say!

Hope you are all gearing up for the Texas International Apple Festival, where they'll have cooking contests for everything to do with apples. There's even a special youth contest, so all you kids, be sure to enter. The festival is a family affair, but singles can have a great time, too.

The county is bursting with riding stables now. Lightning Ranch, out is Pipe Creek, Runnin' R out on Dixie Dude Road, Lost Wind Livery behind Lost Valley, various dude ranches and a brand new one called the Desert Hearts Cowgirl Club give two hour rides in the Hill State Natural Area. With a name like that, surely they "strum their guitars and sing this tune, as you ride along the trail!"

The Medina EMTs who attended the Appreciation Party: Dennis Winright, Hensley Mitchell, Christine Markel, Mary Walker, Sylvia LeStourgeon and Bob Keeling.

year-old girl from San Antonio whose body was found July 18, bed of Red Bluff Creek near Bump Gate Rd.it shocked and saddened Bandera County resi-

Germaine Surgeon was repor- edly killed by blunt trauma to the head and face.

Her killers, David Womack and Shawn Patrick Monohan, were rapidly apprehended.

Womack, 26 years old at the time of the murder, was represented at trial by attorney Phillip Meyer, while the younger Monohan, 16 years old at the time, was represented by attorney Steve Pickell from Kerrville.

Womack received life in prison for his part in the slaying.

"He will be in for 35 years before he will be eligible for parole," Meyer said.

Pickell said his client, who is also known by the name Patrick Shawn Morse, has not been out of custody since being arrested. Monohan received a sentence of 10 years deferred adjudication from Judge Stephen Ables in

That conviction resulted in a four-year term.

Pickell said his client's light sentencing for the murder rap

"He was a juvenile at the time and that had a lot to do with it," Pickell said. "The main actor was the uncle." Womack is Monohan's uncle through marriage.

Pickell said Womack had been in prison before, and although Monohan's past history on the wrong side of the law is sealed information, Pickell said there wasn't much to it.

"Shawn did not have any serious juvenile problems and no history of violence," he said.

The sexual assault charge was not a forcible rape, according to Pickell.

was under age, and so was he," he said.

Monohan went to Texas Youth Commission until he turned 18 years old, at which time he was transferred to prison, where he will serve at least four more years.

who prosecuted the case, echoed Pickell's comments.

"The evidence at the scene was very thin," Curry said. "There was absolutely no lab evidence."

Curry said that Monohan provided the testimony that enabled law enforcement to prosecute Womack.

He said that the two men met the girl at a party in Kendall County on July 17. The next day, the three came to Bandera County to swim and the murder occurred at the swimming hole.

He said that with the 10 years deferred adjudication sentence handed down to Monohan on the murder charge, that if Monohan commits any other crime in the future, the murder charge that he pled guilty to can be used against him.

"The downside to his deferred adjudication is that if he is revoked it is an automatic five years to him," Curry said. "He is in the penitentiary now and I'm not sure he will ever see the light of day."

Curry said there was evidence that drugs and/or alcohol played a part in the murder.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

I found out, a few years back, that it costs $10,000 minimum if you want to throw an Indian Powwow. That's where Indians come from all over the U.S. and compete in teepee raising, tomahawk throwing and dancing. Now, if we could only get the $10,000 together, we could throw one out at Mansfield Park and give a grand prize for the best rain dance!

The Diamond W Ranch really threw a whingding of a Cowboy Jamboree Saturday. Everyone and his brother from Bandera donated their skills for this benefit.

Our very own stagecoach, with Hagen of Flying L fame riding shotgun; our very own saddled up longhorn steer; our very own Spirits of Texas Band; Kevin and his ropes; Dutch oven cooks; cowboy poets; artisans with their crafts, it was great. Bandera really knows how to play cowboy!

There were gunfights and trick shooting and real Indians doing ropes tricks, and tons of living history wandering around dressed up in 1800s outfits and musicians galore. My favorite, besides Spirit of Texas, naturally, were the Whoosits. They play out at the Cajun Festival in Lakehills. The guy on the wash board was fabulous! It was a foot-stompin' yee hawin' time.

One of our Bandera residents, Richard Wiltsberger who has picked up a lot of highway trash since he's moved here because he feels it's his way of volunteering, gave me a letter from some friends in Wales, of all places, who had seen a really good travel special on TV there about Bandera. The special featured Western Ivy, Janett's, the Silver Dollar, the Mayan Ranch and Bandera Forge where Joe Reidy said, "Weekends start in Bandera about Wednesday and don't finish 'til the following Tuesday!" Pretty good description, I'd say!

Hope you are all gearing up for the Texas International Apple Festival, where they'll have cooking contests for everything to do with apples. There's even a special youth contest, so all you kids, be sure to enter. The festival is a family affair, but singles can have a great time, too.

The county is bursting with riding stables now. Lightning Ranch, out is Pipe Creek, Runnin' R out on Dixie Dude Road, Lost Wind Livery behind Lost Valley, various dude ranches and a brand new one called the Desert Hearts Cowgirl Club give two hour rides in the Hill State Natural Area. With a name like that, surely they "strum their guitars and sing this tune, as you ride along the trail!"

Council considering 40% water surcharge

Public works director says city in critical stage

by Cyndi Wright
Staff writer

WATER '96

Saying that in his opinion the city has reached a critical stage in water usage, Public Works Director Mike Cardenas told city council Monday night that the city needs to enforce the red stage water ordinance that allows water users who exceed the allowed 5200 gallons per month to be fined or cited.

Cardenas said that 150 customers had exceeded the 170 gallons per day limit.

Currently, the level of water in the two city wells is only 92 feet above the pump. If the pumps have to be lowered, it could cost the city up to $20,000 per well.

"If you are going to do it to one well, you might as well do it to both," Cardenas said.

He said that making people pay a surcharge for excess water used might make them consider their water usage more seriously.

"The only way you are going to slow them down is to hit them in the pocket," council member Walter Welch said.

To that end, the council is considering a 40 percent surcharge on every 1,000 gallons used above 6,000 gallons per month.

The city charges $1.25 per 1,000 gallons used a month. So, in effect, a customer can expect to pay an additional .50 cents per 1,000 gallons used over 6,000 gallons per month if the surcharge is approved.

The council will meet July 15 to consider approving a new, or revised, red stage water ordinance that will allow for the surcharge to be charged. The surcharge will only be charged when the city is in the red stage of water conservation. Another addition to the ordinance will be the prohibition of sprinklers used to water lawns, although hand-held watering will be allowed as long as the 6,000 gallon limit is not exceeded.

Cardenas said that the 40 percent surcharge may help pay for the lowering of the pumps in the wells, if it comes to that.

Everyone enjoyed the parade...

PROUD WINNER -- Letcher Kelley displays the two trophies won by the Kelley's Tavern float. The Pipe Creek business won in the Lakehills American Legion Post 410 parade held on the Fourth of July. It won first place over all and also won first for originality. There were over thirty entries in the annual event. For more parade pictures, see page 16.

Baptists break ground

First Baptist Church of Bandera broke ground Sunday June 30 for a new 7,000 square foot educational building. The building will house nine classrooms and is part of a long-term building and renovation plan adopted by the over 100-year-old church. Joining pastor Franklin Pulin, second from right, at the shovels are members Raymond Hicks, Art Koog, Ruth Mansfield, Joe Preston, James O'Quinn, Clifford Herbst, and construction foreman Bill Kinney.

The new educational building will connect existing structures on the property.

Box lunch social funds Cowboy Christmas projects for Bandera

It's that time again to make your decision about what goodies you are going to put in your box lunch for the 3rd Annual Cowboy Christmas Box Lunch Social.

The festive event will be held Sunday, July 21 at 12:30 at the Cabaret in Bandera. All proceeds go to purchasing additional Christmas lighting for Bandera.

"Bring a decorated picnic basket, box or bag to be auctioned off to the highest bidder by Jay Revels, auctioneer extraordinaire," said organizer Judy Hawkins.

Prizes will be awarded for your artistic endeavors, including a one night stay at the historic Hackberry Lodge, donated by Janice Kuykendahl and a wall hanging donated by Laurie Neff.

Participants are asked to decorate a basket, box or unusual container and fill it with lunch for two, four or however many people are in their party. Label the container with how many people it will feed and the contents. Then be prepared to bid on your own or someone else's basket.

Previous winners included decorated baskets complete with homemade tablecloths and napkins, antique picnic tin, decorated garden boxes with flower pots to eat in.

Lemonade, iced tea and ice cream will be furnished to go along with the lunches and also the homemade desserts that will be for sale.

Following the lunch there will be an art and merchandise auction.

"If you are new to Bandera, or a dyed-in-the-wool local, come out and enjoy the fun and maybe pick up a valuable art work for your home," said Hawkins.

Anyone interested in donating artwork, merchandise or dessert should call Hawkins at 460-8488 or Neff at 460-3942.

Drought may cause park closure

Deteriorating river water quality causing concern for public safety

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Bandera Police Chief Lynn Holt told city council members Monday night that for the pub- [illegible] recommending that the city park be closed completely if bacteria levels in the water remained at their present level [illegible] ping, the bacteria in the water was at 190 parts per million col- lons of water. The state level for safety is 200 parts. Holt told council that the next sample will be [illegible] Wednesday.

According to Public Works Director Mike Cardenas, a mother with two small children called the city office to complain that both her children had become ill after swimming in the river at the park. One child had an eye infection, and the other had a high fever.

The council agreed to let Holt and Mayor Bob Cowan close the park if necessary.

If the park is closed, Holt and Cardenas told council members that it would be a good chance to coat the road and install speed bumps.

In other business, council member Welch grilled Police Chief Lynn Holt about repairs made to one of the city police cars.

Although, in his monthly report, Holt listed that the 1991 Ford had had two tires replaced, Welch appeared confused about the manner of the report.

"What car did you put the tires on?" he asked Holt.

Holt replied that, as it is listed in the report, the tires were placed on the '91 Ford.

"Put it in separate lines," Welch directed.

In the report, under the heading 1991 Ford, the last entry is repairs. In that category, "See attached repair bill and two tires replaced," is entered.

Welch then appeared to warn Holt that he (Holt) was going to be over his budget before the end of the fiscal year, although Holt is actually under budget by 3 percent for this time of the [illegible] year.

"The rate you are going, you will just barely get over the fence," Welch told Holt. "You are running a pretty close race."

Earlier in the meeting Welch complained about a repair bill turned in by the chief for $1097.84 paid to Phil Martin's Automotive for repairs to the 1992 Ford, even though the amount had been preapproved by the mayor.

Welch told Holt that he needed to go out for bids on repairs to the police cars, although according to Holt, Martin is the only repair place in the county that has the capability to handle computerized repairs on a car like this one.

He fixed that car, and he is the only one who has fixed that car, after two years of it being in for repairs at different places," Holt said.

Welch then accused Holt of allowing his police officers to do what he called "call hopping."

Welch said after listening to his police scanner, he heard the city police officers responding to calls that the dispatcher had put out to the sheriff's deputies.

Holt defended his officers, saying that he had a mutual aid agreement with the sheriff.

Welch disagreed with the chief, saying that he had spoken to the sheriff himself, and that the sheriff had told him that the dispatchers have been instructed not to ask for city officers.

He accused Holt of trying to rack up a larger number of cases by arriving to the scene of an incident before a sheriff's deputy could get there, therefore, in some cases, having the credit go to the police department instead of the sheriff's department.

"We want to promote mutual aid and cooperation between the departments," Holt defended himself.

Welch made a motion that unless a deputy specifically asks for assistance by a city police officer, over the radio, then they not respond to calls, unless the deputy is in trouble. Welch could not explain what "in trouble" meant, except to say, "You know what I mean by trouble." He further added to the motion that the officers, if requested, could not respond to any calls further out than a two-and-a-half mile radius around the city limits.

The motion passed with Welch, Tom Kindla and Curtis Wilson voting for, and Johnny Pina abstaining.

Bandera County Sheriff MacMillan said that he had instructed the dispatchers to not routinely dispatch city officers on county calls, but that he and Lynn Holt have the same concerns.

"They've got their business and we've got ours," MacMillan said. "There does need to be some guidelines. Both sides need to wait to see if their assistance is needed."

Bandera volunteer fire fighters handled a grass fire on English Crossing Road Wednesday, July 3. The fire may have been caused by a cigarette tossed into the dry roadside grass.

Fire department gets LCRA/BEC grant

The Bandera Electric Cooperative and the Lower Colorado River Authority recently awarded $25,000 to the Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department to buy a new pumper truck.

The grant is part of $504,472 awarded in the second round of LCRA's Community Development Partnership Program. Grants were awarded to 33 communities in LCRA's service area.

The LCRA was granted authority by the Texas Legislature in 1995 to assist communities in its 58-county electric and water service area. The authority then established the Community Development Partnership Program and the LCRA Board approved a $1 million fund to provide grants to cities, counties, volunteer fire departments, regional development councils and other nonprofit economic and community development groups.

Demos search for candidate

The Bandera County Democratic Executive Committee met Tuesday, July 2 at Bandera Bank to set guidelines for selecting the party's nominee for the position of county judge.

The executive committee is composed of the Democratic County Chairman, Mary Autry of Pipe Creek, as well as the Democratic chairmen of each voting precinct in the county.

Autry told the committee that, "At this time I have not received a single call from any prospective Democratic candidate." Autry told the committee that they needed to find a good candidate for the job.

The committee approved an application form for prospective candidates that will also be used for precinct chairs.

Carol Lobert of Lakehills said, "We need to be more emphatic. We need a candidate who is not wishy-washy (as a Democrat."

A series of questions that might be asked of prospective candidates included several that would determine the candidates loyalty and support of the Democratic Party.

The committee may also ask candidates for information about their credit history, driver's license record and criminal history.

The party currently is seeking precinct chairmen in precincts #1, 5, 9 and 11.

"If they are not willing to answer these types of questions, we probably don't want them representing us," said Autry.

Anyone interested in being a candidate for county judge on the Democratic ticket on the November general election ballot should contact Autry at 535-4050.

Letters to the Editor

Two views on new school dress code

Dear Editor:

I am concerned about the new dress code at Bandera schools.

I am concerned about the students' rights regarding freedom of expression.

I can understand taking away our hats, because hats sometimes lead to be a distraction in both teachers and students.

As for facial hair, and our shirts having to be tucked in, I am confused as to how that is relevant to our learning environment. And for our shirts having to be tucked in, I am concerned because a lot of students feel self-conscious about their size and would rather have their shirts left out for that reason and for comfort.

My two concerns are these:

1. If the dress code is a problem with education, then why don't the teachers have to follow them? Is this a case of "Do as I say, and not as I do?"

2. What's next? Are they going to outlaw tattoos and earrings? Where is the balance between safety and individuality? What about our inalienable rights of life, liberty and pursuit of happiness?

[Some] students are already frustrated with the dress code as it was, and with this new dress code, I feel that this will cause more frustration between students and teachers. What's to be gained from all this?

Lauran Aldridge
Bandera

Dear Editor:

Whoopee, hooray and it is about time the school district did something about the dress of these kids. To a lot of the students this won't mean much as they do try to look nice. But some of the students look like they were drop outs from a drug-crazed rock band. It is a shame that lots of kids feel so insecure that they feel they have to copy some out they see on television. Some of the hair styles remind me of the soup bowl haircut of the depression. That was, put a soup bowl on top of the head and cut off everything below the rim.

As for the sweetie ear rings and the rings in the eyebrows of the boys, well what can I say? I think if they want to look like girls then they should be made to wear dresses, too. However, I can see trouble ahead in trying to enforce these rules when some of the parents either encourage their children or just don't care what they look like.

I would like to congratulate the school board for this step in the right direction. It will make better citizens of our children.

Cowboy capital not very welcoming

Dear Editor:

Once again we made our way to Bandera for the annual Bandera Regulars Memorial Weekend Trailride. Camping on the river has been a tradition for many years and one that has been looked forward to by all.

But this year the camping facilities were an insult to the group. We were ousted as if we had some incurable contagious disease.

There were no trees at the campsite and having no shade was difficult for the animals.

Being a trailrider does not mean trash. Quite the contrary, we spend thousands of dollars to buy and maintain our equipment, trailers and animals. We maintain the campsites during our stay and generally leave them in better shape upon departure than what they were on arrival.

As for me and mine, we are very generous with our hard-earned money when we visit the Cowboy Capital of the World. We purchase groceries and other items from the merchants during our visit. We also patronize other establishments and manage to leave a few bucks with them, as well.

If the town is trying to rid itself of trailriders, it's off to an excellent start. It is really sad because we really do enjoy your town.

A change must occur, otherwise me and mine will not be back next year, nor will our friends and their friends.

July Moments
by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

To a certain city council member - enough is enough already. Like I tell my child, the first time was cute, but now it is becoming boring and unnecessary.

I wonder how your constituents would feel if they could see you up there month after month grinding some imaginary ax, instead of protecting their interests, which I feel sure is why they elected you.

Of course, all city employees must answer to the city council, but this third degree is too much. Let the man do the job he was hired to do, please, and let the rest of us get on with dealing with and recording the REAL business of running the city.

THANKS

To Johnny Rodriguez, of Bandera Body Shop, for fixing the dent in my car in a fast and very reasonable manner. He did a good job, too.

FIDO

I know that you all are extremely attached to your faithful pooches, also who would you drag them with you everywhere you go in the back of your truck?

Please, I have noticed this and so have others, who have called me - if you have to take your dog with you in this heat, have the courtesy to park in the shade and provide the animal with some water while you go have an extended coffee break in a local restaurant.

To those of you who bring your dogs with you in your car, shame on you! Even with the window cracked, the temp in your car will be unbearable soon.

Your dog may act like you are committing the ultimate betrayal by leaving him home - I know mine does, but really, you are supposed to know best, right? RIGHT?

Come to Bandera

The heat of the summer months is unfailingly tempered by the delightful Gulf Trade wind, which, springing up about 10 o'clock in the morning, blows refreshingly all day and makes the evenings deliciously cool. Spring and Autumn months are always exhilarating, and the Winter months mild and agreeable. No case of pulmonary consumption has ever been known to originate in this county, and it is becoming a resort for invalids from all parts of the Union. With pure water, bracing mountain air, and absence of stagnant water, malarial diseases are almost unknown, and make Bandera one of the most healthy sections in the State.

Carolyn's Corner
by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

I learned to sew sitting in a window.

Our little old frame farm house sat on top of a pleasant hill in Gonzales County providing us with a nice view of Rocky Creek and the surrounding countryside. The south side of the house had a screened porch where I slept sometimes in the summer, watching the stars move through the heavens. There were two windows opening from the porch into the dining room keeping the high ceilinged room nice and cool with the constant southern breezes.

Mama kept her sewing machine backed up against one of the windows where she had plenty of light and natural air conditioning as she worked.

I got to sit on the window sill and "help."

At the side of the machine, Mom would have stacks of fabric cut in various geometric shapes. She would grab a red triangle and flip it on top of a yellow square and sew them together. Then she'd repeat that process about a zillion times, until she had a long line of red and yellow pieces trailing from the machine.

My job, as official helper, was to catch the line of pieces before they reached the floor and snip them apart with the scissors.

I'd then restack them on the machine for Mom. She would then pick up a green triangle and flip it onto the red and yellow piece and sew that together, making another long line of bright colored flags for me to snip apart.

Eventually the pieces would form beautifully patterned squares , the squares would be stitched together to form rows, and finally the rows would go together to form a big beautiful top for a quilt.

Mom never bought any fabric for her tops. She always recycled those bits and pieces left over from all the sewing she did for her family.

I could look at one of her quilts and see a piece from my favorite dress in third grade. It was a pale yellow check. I liked it because it had a full gored skirt that swirled out beautifully for dancing.

Another piece would be a bright colored plaid from Comal Cotton in New Braunfels that had made a really sharp looking western shirt for my brother.

There might be a little piece of white eyelet that had been used to dress a tiny grandchild. And a square with some blue chambray in it from daddy's workshirts.

There were lots of memories in that window seat for a little helper.

Morales gives broad interpretation to Hopwood decision

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN— Attorney General Dan Morales said last week no college or university in Texas should consider race as a factor in admitting students, granting scholarships or giving financial aid.

Morales issued the statement after the U.S. Supreme Court refused to hear a reverse-discrimination case against the University of Texas (Hopwood v. UT Law School) that had been heard in the spring by the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans. The court's ruling applies only to Texas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Commenting on the issue, UT President Robert Berdahl told the Austin-American-Statesman, "If anybody believes we can sustain the number (of minorities) without taking race into account, I think they are naive. We can't. And I think that's a loss for the university and a loss for the state."

Berdahl predicted the university will lose "an awful lot of the top minority talent from Texas, who will go out of state where affirmative action practices continue and minority scholarships will be available.

Clinton Authorizes Drought Aid

President Clinton last week authorized the U.S. Department of Agriculture to sell up to 15 million bushels of grain from reserves in order to make drought disaster assistance payments to farmers in drought-stricken West Texas and parts of the Southwest.

Though Texans had sought the release of the entire 45 million bushels of feed grain in the emergency reserve, U.S. Sen. Kay Bailey Hutchison said she was satisfied with the authorization.

"Relief is on the way for Texas farmers and ranchers who have been hit hard by the drought. This will provide direct assistance for those most affected by drought conditions," she said.

The drought has cost Texas farmers and ranchers an estimated $2.4 billion, making it the second worst natural disaster to hit the state this century, the Associated Press reported.

Report: Dissolve School Boards

A new report by the non-profit research organization, Education Commission for the States, suggests that states dissolve school boards, requiring new elections and sending tax money directly to schools.

The report, "Bending Without Breaking," says that for education to radically improve, the system governing schools must radically change.

Gov. George W. Bush signed the report's foreword but does not necessarily endorse it. Last week, at an Education Commission for the States conference in San Antonio, Bush told reporters he had not read the report, but said he endorsed only the parts of the report that agree with the changes in Texas, such as the establishment of charter schools and less power in central education agencies.

Texas Education Commissioner Mike Moses, who also attended the conference, said that sending tax money directly to the schools could cause as many problems as it cures, the Dallas Morning News reported.

Moses said that if schools were granted such autonomy, there are questions about who would sit on the committees controlling the money and who would hold them accountable.

"Are we going to open up 6,300 new bureaucracies?" Moses asked, and suggested that it might cost schools more if they were to individually negotiate contracts for services, such as food service, bus transportation and copy machine repairs.

Rail Merger Plan Draws Fire

Texas officials and others last week urged the Federal Surface Transportation Board to reject a plan merging the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific railroads.

"It's going to hurt Texas. It's going to hurt our ability to compete," Texas Railroad Commissioner Barry Williamson told the three-member board.

"In Texas, this railroad (merger) is about as welcome as the drought we're experiencing," U.S. Rep. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, said.

Union Pacific and Southern Pacific own nearly all of the rail lines from Interstate 35, east.

But the Texas Railroad Commission and other Texas officials would be content if the board approves the merger on the condition that Union Pacific and Southern Pacific sell some of their parallel lines to competing railroad companies, such as Consolidated Rail Corp., the Austin American Statesman reported.

Texas, Mexico to Fight TB

Because U.S. and Mexican communities along the Rio Grande have unusually high rates of tuberculosis, Texas authorities and their counterparts from the Mexican state of Coahuila are taking action.

Texas Commissioner of Health Dr. David Smith and officials from Saltillo, Mexico signed an agreement last week to fight the spread of disease.

The drought is so intensely bad for so many Texans, we must rejoice in rain wherever it falls. we wish to report the elation we felt recently driving down lonesome Hwy. 163 through Tom Green and Irion Counties from Sterling City to Ozona. Only a few pumpjacks and oil company gates to mark the presence of people till you get to Barnhart. But the curtains of rain coming out of black clouds made the rocky landscape almost the most beautiful we had ever seen. Not till we got out of the Middle Concho breaks onto the mesquite flats north of Ozona were we out of the showers.

It is good to know it can still rain somewhere.

The heaviest box in a long time to be dragged in by UPS contained the long-heralded new edition of The Texas Handbook, product of years of meticulous work on the part of members and staffers of the Texas Historical Association. Six enormous volumes contain almost more than anyone might want to know about the Lone Star State—covering geography, biography, politics, art and music, folklore — well, everything.

The new handbook replaces an older one brought out many years ago, which was a marvel in its own time. This writer feels honored to have been assigned to write three entries: Bandera, Bandera Pass and the Medina River. A long comprehensive piece on the county of Bandera was put together by Christopher Long, staff writer for TSHA.

There is too much territory to cover in looking through the thousands of entries, but we have already found references to John James, Bandera founder; J. Marvin Hunter; the Frontier Times Museum; and Hicks Creek! Probably no named water way in the state goes unmentioned!

We looked up "Chisholm" under the Cs when Geri Valdez called to get a second opinion on her insistence as to the spelling of the name of the road she and her neighbors down on 46 had voted to call "Chisholm Trail." The 911 Rural Addressing had taken out the second "H" in the surname of the old Scottish traildriver from Tennessee, Jesse Chisholm, who laid out the first longhorn route to Kansas along what is now IH 35. Yes, 911-ers, there is a middle H. It is true that there are other spellings of the name, as so often is the case in our very irregular English language, but Ole Jesse spelled his the way Geri thought!

Geri agreed with us that having to live on a named street or road is really not that much fun and is another concession to the civilization creeping up on us around here. It used to be interesting to shock incredulous Yankees on the other end of catalog company 800 lines telling them that, no, nobody had street numbers and addresses, and then, the UPS man could find everybody anyway. Isn't it a shame there are so many of us now we have to get organized?

Anyone for Irion County?

Going down Hwy. 168, we saw one little bunch of sheep and a truck hauling a workover rig coming in the opposite direction, the driver of which looked surprised to see a red pickup he didn't recognize.

The Arbuckle boys will be among the featured entertainers at the Apple Festival July 27 in Medina. The band is dedicated to preserving the musical spirit and style of the American cowboy. They'll sing Tumbling Tumbleweeds as it was meant to be done on the cattle trail.

A Thought For The Week
by John M. Grimes

We are, by nature, I think, creatures of habit. I have heard it said that most of us will not change until the pain of remaining the same is greater than the pain of changing. We are like the old dog the preacher encountered when he went to visit an elderly church member. As the two men tried to visit, the dog continually moaned and growled. The old man explained why. . ."The old dog is trying to sleep, but he's lying on a nail. He hurts enough that he can't sleep, but doesn't hurt enough to make him get up and move."

Often we hurt enough to moan and growl about the way things are and never consider trying an attitude of thanksgiving to improve our lives. The Apostle Paul said in I Thessalonians 5:18 we are to "Give thanks in all circumstances." He believed it would make a positive difference in our lives.

Attitude is a choice. Victor Frankl wrote: "The last of the human freedoms is to choose one's attitude in any given set of circumstances." You don't just evolve into a thankful person, you choose to become one. . .One preacher wrote, "If your abilities are equal to those of other people and you are not charing in equal success, then your attitudes are probably the difference. Since God created you with the freedom to choose your attitude, the choice determines much of what happens to you."

The Bandera 11 & 12 year old All stars played Monday night against Somerset at Mansfield Park and came out a winner. Somerset took advantage of errors in the 1st & 2nd innings to take a 7-0 lead in the bottom of the 2nd. Bandera heated up their bats and scored 6 runs in the bottom of the 2nd to close the gap to within one. After the big 2nd inning Bandera never looked back as Johnny Cardenas brought them home from the mound and the rest of the team did a great job both defensively and swinging the bat to win the game by 3 runs 11-8. The 9-and 10-year-old All Stars lost their game Monday night 6-5.

Over 50 meets each week

The Over 50 Golf Association will sponsor another monthly tournament starting at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday, July 16 at the Flying L Guest Ranch course.

The following week, on Wednesday, July 24, the old timers will assemble at the Alsatian Golf Course in Castroville.

The Over 50 Association sponsors tournaments each month at Dewins, Bandera's Flying L Guest Ranch and the Lost Valley course and the Alsatian golf course in Castroville.

In the club's most recent outing, the team of Alex Garcia, John Jennings, Tom Nate and Ted Fowler emerged to finish in first place with an eight-under-par 64.

Second place went to Wayne Marty, Pete Suddath, Howard Wells Winkel and Horace Fincher with 65.

In third place, also with 65, were Chick Neal, Richard Schott, Lester Landrum and Ray Lee.

Both men and women golfers over 50 years of age are eligible to join the association. Dues are $10 annually and tournament cost is $21.

Beaver breaks wrist

World Champion All-Around cowboy Joe Beaver, from Huntsville, is expected to be sidelined from rodeo competition for six to eight weeks after breaking his wrist.

He broke his left wrist at the Eastern Oregon Livestock Show and Rodeo June 7-9 in Union, Ore. He was competing in team roping when the barrier rope wrapped around his left arm. He broke the navicular bone in his wrist when he was jerked from his horse.

Beaver, who leads the world all-around standings, had intended to continue team roping while his wrist heals. But after further evaluation by Dr. Tandy Freeman in Dallas, Beaver was put in a cast from his elbow to his thumb. Beaver said he will not compete for at least six weeks to lessen the chance that he will need surgery to repair the break.

Alligator management hunt applications accepted now

Austin—For those who have savored it, alligator hunting in the swampy wetlands of Southeast Texas is an absolutely unique experience. To make this experience more available to Texans, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department is accepting applications in drawings for general and youth alligator public hunts on public land until 5 p.m. on Aug. 5.

The hunts will take place on various dates in September at four TPWD sites: Guadalupe Delta Wildlife Management Area (WMA) in Calhoun County (16 permits); J.D. Murphree WMS near Port Arthur (170 permits); Mad Island WMA in Matagorda County (32 permits); and Sea Rim State Park near Port Arthur (40 permits).

Hunters can enter a drawing for the general alligator hunts for $2 per entrant for those 17 and older. Those 17 and older drawn to hunt will pay a $50 hunting permit fee.

Applications and hunt fees are waived for youth hunts at the J.D. Murphree WMA (8 permits), although all hunters must possess a current Texas alligator hunter's license ($35 for residents, $300 for non-residents). Youth hunt participants with supervising adults will be introduced to basic wildlife management principles and appropriate use of renewable natural resources.

To receive an alligator hunt application packet with detailed information, the public may pick up a packet at the J.D. Murphree WMA, call 800-792-1112 and ask for wildlife information, or write to Public Hunt Coordinator, Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, 4200 Smith School Road, Austin, Texas 78744.

Hunting rules may change at meeting set for tomorrow

Austin—Hunting season dates and bag limits for mourning dove, white-winged dove, teal, rails and gallinules for 1996 will be set by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission on July 11 in Austin.

Noteworthy proposed changes include allowing the taking of waterfowl from floating craft when forward progress by sail or motor has ceased, retaining the 60 day mourning dove season with a 15 dove daily bag limit and opening the teal season on the third Saturday in September.

The proposed teal season would be Sept. 21-29 for nine consecutive days. The proposed bag limit is four daily, eight in possession. Department data indicates higher teal harvest and hunter success when teal seasons begin after September 16. However, these proposed dates are tentative pending approval by the USFWS. If teal populations warrant, additional days or higher bag limits may be authorized.

Proposed dates for mourning doves are Sept. 1-Oct. 30 in the North Zone; Sept. 1-Oct. 19, Dec. 26-Jan. 5 in the Central Zone; and Sept. 20-Nov. 7, Dec. 26-Jan. 5 in the South Zone.

The department is proposing no change in either the daily bag limit of 15, the season length of 60 days or all-day shooting hours. There is no information to indicate any of these regulations are harmful to statewide breeding population.

Other proposals include elimination of the requirement that a fully-feathered wing must remain attached to doves taken in the South Zone. Last year a wing was required to remain attached to doves while being transported between the place taken and the person's home for species identification. This restriction has not been in effect in the Central and North Zones. Now the proposal is to simplify regulations and make the requirement consistent statewide.

The proposed white-winged dove season is Sept. 7, 8, 14 and 15 in the Special White-winged Dove Area of South Texas. Bag and possession limits would be 10 white-winged, mourning and white-tipped doves in the aggregate, including no more than five mourning doves and two whitetips per day. Shooting hours would be noon to sunset.

As last year, the department proposes to hunt rail and gallinules concurrent with the waterfowl seasons. Proposed dates are Sept. 21-29 and Nov. 16-Jan. 15, but these dates will likely change somewhat when actual waterfowl season dates are determined.

About a hundred persons statewide who hunt using falcons may have regulations reduced. The department proposes to allow these individuals to possess a firearm while falconry hunting either during the general gun season or the extended falconry only season.

Anyone wishing to comment on these proposed changes can call Roberson at 1-800-792-1112, ext. 8011.

Petty Officer Teague serves as Black Knight

Special to The Bulletin
by Daniel J. Caldwell

On the USS Carl Vinson — Navy Helicopter Anti-Submarine Squadron 4 (HS-4), better known as the Black Knights, has had a busy year so far.

Now, they are embarking on their latest challenge: a six-month overseas deployment on the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Carl Vinson.

Navy Chief Petty Officer James L. Teague, the 37-year-old son of Jennie Marchand of Bandera, is an aviation weapons handler with HS-4. Teague plays an important role in maintaining the safety of the aircraft whether training off the coast of Southern California or operating on the other side of the world.

"I must ensure all weapons systems are fully operational at all times," said Teague, a 1976 graduate of Bandera High School. "Weapons must release from the aircraft properly or people will get hurt or killed, or the weapons might not work when they are supposed to."

Safety has always been a trademark of the Black Knights. The squadron has been awarded the Chief of Naval Operation's Safety Award six times and the Navy's Battle Efficiency Award for operational excellence five times.

The squadron flies the HH-60H and the SH-60F Seahawk helicopters conducting all-weather, anti-submarine warfare and combat search and rescue missions. HS-4 also provides fleet support for naval special warfare units, plane guards and utility operations while embarked aboard the carrier.

HS-4 has had an illustrious history. The squadron has performed combat search and rescue in the Gulf of Tonkin during the Vietnam War, supported U.S. forces in the Sea of Japan during the USS Pueblo crisis and participated in the Apollo Space program performing capsule recoveries for five Apollo missions. Most recently, the Black Knights supported Operation Restore Hope in Somalia and Operation Southern Watch in the Arabian Gulf.

The squadron left San Diego for the deployment to the Western Pacific and Arabian Gulf on May 28. Teague and the members of HS-4 have made full use of the last several months training in preparation for the cruise.

"We have had several big inspections to prepare us for deployment that ensured the aircraft are being properly maintained," Teague said.

Although the deployment will mean long hours and hard work for Teague, he is still looking forward to accomplishing some personal and professional goals as he travels halfway around the world.

"I hope to finish my associate's degree and to bring all my people back safely," he said.

Today, U.S. aircraft carriers continue to operate from the Indian Ocean and Western Pacific to the Arabian Gulf and the Mediterranean Sea. Aircraft carriers like the Carl Vinson, with more than 80 aircraft, serve as a deterrent to potential aggressors and can respond on short notice to any crises around the world.

Teague thinks it's important for Navy carriers to deploy with their powerful air wings.

"We need to keep the sea lanes open and without a Navy presence the smaller countries would be overthrown," said Teague, a 19-year Navy veteran.

It is aircraft like the Seahawk and sailors like Teague that will keep the Black Knights on the leading edge of the battle group well into the next century.

New lung surgery helps patients to breathe easier

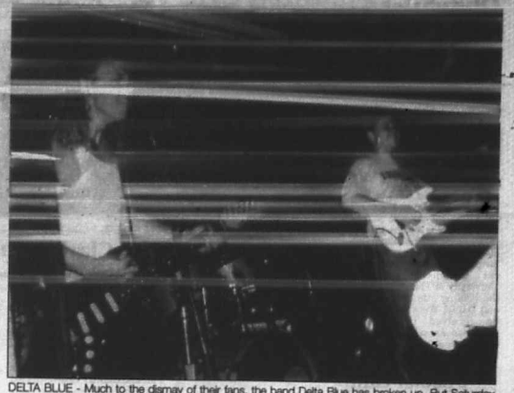
Houston—An improved type of lung surgery can give some people with emphysema "room to breathe" - literally.

Emphysema is a chronic lung disease that damages some of the millions of air sacs needed for oxygen to enter the body.

During a procedure known as volume reduction surgery, damaged parts of the lung are removed, allowing the rest of the lung to expand and breath better.

"Volume reduction surgery has been around the since the 1950s, but it wasn't performed very often because needles and sutures caused air leaks in the lungs," said Dr. Rafael Espada, a surgeon at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

The problem has been avoided with surgical staples and other improved instruments.



Espada is analyzing information on volume-reduction-surgery patients to determine which patients are best candidates for the procedure and to measure its long-term results.

Morris trains in cryptology

Killy Morris of Bandera, son of Alice Shearer, recently enlisted in the United States Navy for guaranteed training in the Navy's Cryptologic Technician program.

Morris enlisted under the delayed Entry Program, and will report to Recruit Training Command Great Lakes, Illinois in September 1996 for active duty, where he will undergo basic training.

Upon completion of basic training, Morris will begin nine weeks of schooling at Pensacola, Fla., in the Cryptologic Technician field. Cryptologic technicians control the flow of classified messages and information. The kind of work they do is classified and there are six separate career areas in which they may specialize.

Morris is a 1988 graduate of R.W. Traip Academy High School.

Quilters take note! The Gift Shop has a new stock of fat quarters on sale at a great price! The talents of Olga Bolduc are evidenced on some brightly decorated T-shirts she just brought in and Win Knuepper is working on a special crocheted surprise as she awaits visitors to come and browse in the Gift Shop.

Agnes Pourpirt has made a fresh supply of hot pads and Peggy Huffman has just donated [illegible] supply in our recycled [illegible] always changing; soon as we get them made, they're sold! All the wonderful volunteers who help in the Gift Shop are loved and appreciated! Without each of you we would not have a Gift Shop.

The call is out for another type of volunteer. If you have some knowledge of working on a P.C. and also enjoy working with numbers, we need you! A volunteer who can help us fill this gap would be a welcome addition here at the Silver Sage. Bandera County Emergency Medical Service

by...Micol L. Konvicka, EMT #34

We wish to say "Thank You" to the businesses and citizens who helped make the Bandera County EMS A.E.D. Fundraiser the success it was. We raised a total of $11,765. While we were short of our goal of $18,000, we did raise enough to purchase the two units we had grants on and $3,163 towards another unit. We will still be accepting cash donations for the other unit for awhile and we will have donation jars at Barrel House in Pipe Creek and at Boyle's Market in Bandera.

A special "Thank You" to Mark Mayfield, who donated his time to hold our cake auction. He made the event a fun experience for all who attended.

Now that this is behind us, we are on to bigger and better things. Our Intermediate class is set to begin on Aug. 8, 1996 and is an enormous undertaking for the EMT's who will be taking it. Applications must be submitted no later than July 8, 1996 at 4:30 p.m. and will then be called for an interview and must pass an entrance exam before being considered for this class. This class requires approximately 150 hours of classroom and hospital rotations along with a number of ambulance runs that require Advance Life Support Skills. This will be in addition to the everyday runs that the volunteers will be doing.

In the past few weeks, we have made approximately 77 runs. So you can see the volunteer EMT's in Bandera County give a lot of themselves and their time to help their friends and neighbors. If you know an EMT, let them know you care.

New York artist happy to call Bandera home

Sculptor Esther Benedict with one of her life-size or larger pieces. This wolf has a benevolent attitude.

New York state artist [illegible] has moved [illegible] to the hill country [illegible] Bandera her home.

Benedict is the daughter of a preacher and the youngest [illegible] being an artist in church as a very small child. While her father was preaching and her mother played the organ in the little country church, the children had to be quiet. Given paper and pencils, Benedict visited the old West, Africa and other exciting places in her imagination.

Benedict did not pursue art after high school. Instead her love for horses led her to get a animal and life sciences degree and to take up horseshoeing.

In 1991, following an urge to get back to her art, and encouraged by her sculptor brother, Benedict cut back on her farrier business and began sculpting.

After handling and working steel for 15 years in shoeing, it was a medium where she felt comfortable.

Since January 1995, Benedict has worked full time as an artist. Her works range from small table top pieces to life-sized. "To catch real life in cold metal is thrilling to me," said Benedict.

Benedict's work is on display at galleries in New York, Texas, Nevada, Colorado and New Mexico.

For more information about Benedict's sculptures, call 796-7863.

What are BISD's long-range plans?

Questions and answers concerning the long-range facility plan and a new high school at Bandera Downs

1. What is the new long-range facility plan?

Bandera ISD is growing rapidly. In the last four years, the district has experienced a 42 percent increase in students, with the largest increases in the elementary and middle school grades. Over the next three years, projections show a continued, similar increase, with the high school projected to grow at the highest rate.

By building a new high school at Bandera Downs or on another level site large enough to allow for expansion, the district can provide room for growth at all campuses over a long period of time.

Grades 7 and 8 would be moved to the current high school campus. By serving only two grade levels at a campus that is currently handling four, room could be provided to handle future enrollment growth.

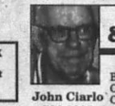
Grade 5 would be moved to the current middle school campus to join grade 6.

Again, serving fewer grade levels at that campus would provide space for future growth. Primary to the long-range facility plan is some essential renovations at the current Middle School campus.

The removal of grade 5 from the two elementary campuses provides growth space at Alkek and Hill Country.

2. How many years do you think this plan will satisfy your growth needs?

That's hard to say. According to growth projections, the district feels that the plan will be good through at least 10 years— maybe 15— for the secondary schools.



But growth projections are based on past history and are not always accurate.

For instance, in 1993-94, projected growth for 1994-95 was very close, low, but within a fraction of a percent. Using the same techniques, projections made in 1994-95 for 1995-96 were low by more than two percent.

Projections are based on the past. Whenever something occurs that represents a change in a district that has not been there in the past, such as the relocation of a business or industry or the addition of a new elementary school or the construction of a new high school, historical date could become less meaningful and forecasts more inaccurate.

For example, if a new industry were to relocate in the district, it might bring with it many families whose children were not considered in past enrollments. Hill Country Elementary School may prove to be so convenient to prospective new residents, that more would move into the area.

If gasoline prices continue to rise, parents who now reside in the district and work in San Antonio or Kerrville may be forced to move out of the district to avoid the economic hardship of unaffordable gasoline.

• The Bandera County Fire Chiefs and Presidents monthly meeting was held at the Lakeshore VFD's fire house on July 1. After a fine meal of fajitas, the group discussed radio communication and the raffle of an ATV donated to all the fire departments by the chamber of commerce. The ATV was on display at the fire-[illegible], mounted on a utility trailer that can be pulled around throughout the county for display. This raffle will help all the fire departments in the county, so ask any fire fighter about purchasing tickets.

• Walter Wilson underwent bypass surgery on July 8. We hope for a quick and full recovery.

• Well, we made it through the Fourth without having a fire call in our area, thanks to all of you who used caution at your barbecue and let the Bandera VFD handle the fireworks.

• On the Fourth, Bob and Dorothy Rucker hosted a neighborhood covered dish fish fry. Bob cooked the fish and made the hush puppies enjoyed by around 20 guests.

• Monday morning July 8 twelve young people left the Walker Memorial Chapel with two adults headed for Leakey to attend the Alto Frio summer youth camp. This is the third group of young ones to attend the week-long camp. They will be returning on Friday.

The time for vacation Bible school is getting closer, so make plans to attend. The fun runs from July 22 through July 26.

• The VFD membership drive is still on. Bob Rucker, fire chief, recently received a call from a new property owner asking how to join. There are more of you out there who could do the same thing. All talents and abilities are needed.

• Don't forget to drop off your aluminum cans at the fire house. The cans are sold and the money used for gas for the trucks and pumpers. This is a lot better than throwing the cans along the road. My wife walks the dog every morning and it is a rare walk when she does not bring a few cans that she picked up along the road. Help the fire department and help make the area look a little better.

• The Lake Shore VFD will host the pumper races on Aug. 17. These races have the VFD's competing against each other in various ways. Plan on being at the races to cheer your department along. There are always lots of good laughs too.

A Special Independence Day Celebration Thank You

As a candidate for County Judge, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all the folks in Bandera County who put the float together and showed their support for my candidacy by inviting me to ride on it. Also a special thanks to the gentleman who flew the banner, and pulled the float. We appreciate the hard work and dedication of the men and women of the Veterans Of Foreign Wars and enjoyed the parade and barbeque which they worked so hard to make successful. Thank-you for your consideration in caring so much for our Country and the Citizens of the County.

Medina welcomes new pastor

Tim and Brenda Walshe

The First Baptist Church of Medina has welcomed a new pastor to its fold. Tim Walshe, with wife, Brenda and son, Michael have moved to Medina from Dodge, Texas.

"We want to meet the holistic needs of the community," Walshe said. "We are looking to help the church reach the younger community."

Walshe graduated from the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary in Ft. Worth, after a first career as a teacher.

Walshe and his wife have been married for 23 years and will celebrate their 24th wedding anniversary on Aug. 19.

Being a preacher's wife is challenging, yet rewarding, Brenda said.

"I help him wherever I feel there is a need," she said.

Walshe said that future plans for the Medina church include a youth minister, and events that will attract youth.

"A church in time will cease to exist if younger people are not a part," Walshe said. "The older members are a vital part also."

The new minister and his wife said the first Sunday in their new church went wonderfully.

"The people made us feel so welcome," Brenda said. "Medina is a friendly, friendly town. I feel like I've lived here all my life."

Their 16-year-old son Michael, who loves sports, will attend Medina School in the fall.

The Walshe's say they love camping, singing and sightseeing. He likes to golf, fish and hunt and she enjoys cooking and playing the piano.

"We want to make the church a place where people feel love and feel welcome," Walshe said.

The class divisions are ages 2-[illegible], 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, youth and adult.

Cattle raisers advised to sell

Cattle raisers suffering from severe drought, high feed prices and poor cattle market conditions gained insight on dealing with these and other industry issues at the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association Board of Directors meeting last month.

Ranchers at the Corpus Christi meeting received some hope for drought relief from climatologist Evelyn Browning-Garriss. She predicted that, although the current climate resembles the disastrous weather of the 1930s, the drought would break in North Texas, East Texas and Oklahoma late this summer. She also said a particularly active hurricane season is likely, and that could help bring moisture to South and West Texas.

Cattle raisers' checkoff dollars are funding innovative marketing programs to help beef recapture its share of the meat market, John Huston of the national Cattlemen's Beef Association said on Saturday. He said NCBA is working with food companies to develop beef meals that will meet consumers' growing demand for fast, easy-to-prepare meals. He also showed the audience new checkoff-funded "Beef. It's What's For Dinner" television advertisements that emphasize beef's quality and convenience. Huston explained that checkoff money is used strictly for beef marketing programs and that NCBA membership dues fund programs related to association policy and legislative issues.

Dr. Ron Gill told the animal Health Committee that the key to successful forage management during drought is to cull and destock early enough so that adequate forage will be provided for the remaining cow herd. "To economically maintain cows, they must be able to maintain body condition on standing forage," he said. "When the only option seems to be buying hay, sell cows. Even though cow values are extremely low, the best long-term economic scenario appears to be to liquidate," he added.

Lakehills has a glorious 4th!

Kelley's Shamrock Tavern in Pipe Creek took home the first place trophy in the American Legion Post 410 4th of July parade in Lakehills. Kelley's also won the prize for originality.

There were 32 entries in this year's parade, reports Legionnaire Lee Newnam. They were led off by parade marshals Bob and Sue Simms of Western Title in Bandera riding in a Hummer.

The Fulks Family earned second place with their Medina Nessie float with the message, "Praying for a hurricane!"

Coming in third was a children-laden float from Thousand Trails Campground.

Raffle winners included Melanie Graham, $500 savings bond; Si Turner, $300 savings bond; and Katherine Bradshaw, $200 savings bond.

"Overall the parade, the barbecue and the raffle was a huge success," said Newnam. "Swinging Country band played for dancing from 1 p.m. to 6 and everyone had a great time all day."

Hi, y'all! How do you like this heat! This summer is very much like the memories we have of the 50s when we were growing up or, Grandma's place in Pipe Creek. We hope this is not the start of a drought like we had then.

The weather guessers are saying a cold front is working its way down and that our temps should fall back to [illegible] mal? They are also tracking a hurricane. It is a shame we have to hope for a storm such as this to get a little rain.

The rescue crew from Medina Lake VFD braved the scorching heat over the weekend to collect donations on the corner of 37 and 1283. We collected enough to get started on the purchase of some air bags and other equipment for the rescue truck. Lots of people told us they were sending checks in the mail, so if you didn't get to drop anything in the boots or baskets, you can still send something in the mail. The P.O. Box 461.

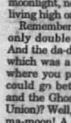
After this weekend our feet know what a hot dog feels like on a grill!

Also a note to those of you who didn't have any change or didn't feel you wanted to donate. We don't hold it against you. But don't try to ignore the people on the corner to the point of almost running them down. Just give a friendly wave and go on your way. This is a much more friendly way to pass through the intersection. We do want to say thanks to all who donated and to those who helped collect.

The parade on the 4th was a blast and seemed to go off with no serious problems. Sammy Brown did a good job of marshaling the group. We got a lot of positive comments from visitors about our annual parade.

Lots of folks continue to have problems with their wells as the water level continues to drop.

We just received a call from a reader who has fire ants in her well! [illegible] These pesky little critters have helped our business a lot while causing [illegible]



Some people use Sevin dust to control them while others use more powerful insecticides. We favor sprinkling Sevin inside the switch, but we hesitate to put any insecticide near the well head where it could get inside the well and into our aquifer.

A better solution might be diatomaceous earth. D.E. is used in a lot of pool filters and is a good deterrent for insects. It is very fine but it has jagged edges small enough to cause insects to avoid where it is. Try these solutions and let us know how it works!

We'd better get to work, so we will be looking for you over the back fence.

Get Ready... APPLE FESTIVAL is almost here!

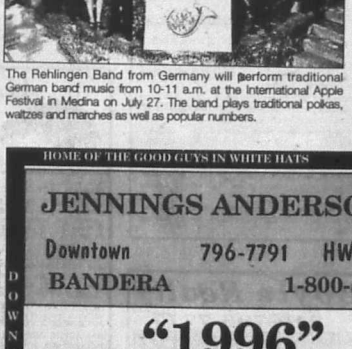
And one again, the official program of events will be right here in The Bandera Bulletin! Don't miss it!

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

We try to eat out on the porch as much as possible. There's an overhead fan when it gets too hot! But, this last week, you talk about spectacular breakfasts! At 6 a.m., with the whole valley and ourselves bathed in the full moonlight, now that's what I call living high on the hog.

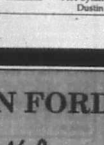
Remember the pa-parade, the only double parade in Texas? And the da-dance at Lost Valley which was a New Year's Dance where you paid one ticket and could go between Lost Valley and the Ghost Town (now Bella Union)? Well, now we just had a ma-moon! A double moon. And because of this ma-moon (aka a blue moon), we got our extra day to be flooded with moonlight. A cup of hot, steaming apple dumpling coffee with a croissant dripping butter, all in the soft glow of a full moon, with just a tinge of pink slowly appearing on the eastern horizon. What a place to live!



Shame on me! The Old West Imports, on the corner of Main and 16, has been open for over a year and I finally got around to stopping in. It's fantastic! They've done such a good job of merchandising, it looks just like Nuevo Laredo. They've got every inch filled with wonderful imports. If you're like me and haven't made the effort yet, do so now!

The oohs and ahhhs at the Bandera VFD's annual fireworks display were heard for miles around. It was such a gorgeous display of rockets and aerial bombs that some said it was way better than Fiesta Texas. Imagine, little ol' Bandera pulling off something like that! Our hats (cowboy, naturally) are thrown into the air saluting the volunteer fire department.

There is a state program called K'Star for the express purpose of counseling families in trouble. Our own Louise Karr is the counselor for our area which goes from Bandera to Lakehills, Boerne, Kerrville and Uvalde. That a fur range to ride, but what a rewarding ride it must be, especially when you know you've really saved a family.



I hear that Dusty Britches is now arranging full weddings, from start to finish. One thing is for sure, they'll be memorable and fun!

German band plans Apple Fest performance

The Rehlingen Band from Germany will perform traditional German band music from 10-11 a.m. at the International Apple Festival in Medina on July 27. The band plays traditional polkas, waltzes and marches as well as popular numbers.

Peace of mind ...for you, for your family.

BISD board approves earnest money contract

After meeting in executive session Tuesday, July 9, the Bandera ISD board voted to sign an earnest money contract to purchase Bandera Downs to use as the site of a new high school.

The $150,000 contract will be held at Chicago Title in San Antonio in an interest-bearing account.

"If we decide we don't want the property for any reason, or if the bond election (scheduled for the fall of this year) is unsuccessful, all of the money plus the interest comes back to us," said BISD superintendent Gus "Skip" Pfeiffer. "So we are not putting any of the taxpayers' dollars at risk with this move."

Pfeiffer said the board is working with architects and a bond advisory committee made up of a cross-section of school district residents to make the best decision regarding a new school.

"I feel like this property would be our best long-term solution to our growth problems," said Pfeiffer.

The superintendent invites concerned taxpayers to call him to share their views and have any questions answered.

Despite the recent completion of a new elementary school and the addition of a wing to the high school, rapid growth throughout the county sees district campusses at capacity.

Two other Bandera County school districts, Medina and Utopia, are just completing building projects.

For more school board news, see page 10.

There's free money out there. Everybody knows it, but getting it is another thing.

Just ask the city that spends thousands to hire a grant writer to make sure their application is right.

Or ask the volunteer fire department member who spends time and effort becoming proficient in the intricacies involved in getting that free money for a new pumper truck.

Would these people, organizations, and cities spend $40 to have someone do this groundwork, research and help with the application-filing for them?

A grassroots organization in Bandera County called the Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) will do just that, and already has in the county.

Just ask First State Bank president Sully Woodland.

Woodland, who is also president of B.A.C.I.T., or Bandera Athletic Capital Improvements Team, has high praise for the services of RC&D, who found between $55,000 and $60,000 for B.A.C.I.T. to finish the high school baseball field.

"What they do is they go out and do grant searches for you," Woodland said. "We were able to find an organization that provided us funding to finish the baseball field."

He went on to say that the group will assist in every way possible.

"I think everybody ought to explore what they might see very helpful to us," Woodland said. "There are other organizations that I am involved with and I plan to get them involved with the Bandera RC&D. It is really a good service to the community."

The mission statement of RC&D is simple. It reads: "RC&D is a unique program that helps people care for and

Burglary string ended with arrests

The Bandera County sheriff's department announced this week that four arrests have been made in a recent string of burglaries in the county and another man is being sought.

On July 11, in the wee hours of the morning, the silent alarm at Dusti's Supermarket in Lakehills alerted sheriff's deputies and the grocery store owner that someone had breached the business.

"Deputy Ralph Stricker and the owner were able to surround the building with three of the burglars inside," Sheriff James MacMillan said.

Two men and a juvenile were arrested in the building, while a fourth suspect waiting outside was able to run away. He was arrested later that same day.

Drought costing Texans $6.5 billion

COLLEGE STATION - The statewide economic impact of the record-setting drought for Texas agriculture could be more than $6.5 billion, according to figures released by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The projected direct economic loss to agricultural producers is about $2.4 billion, said Dr. Roland Smith, associate department head for the department of agricultural economics at Texas A&M University. The remaining $4.1 billion economic loss could result from industries associated with the harvesting, transportation, processing and marketing of agricultural and food products in the state. One in five Texas jobs depend on agriculture and agribusiness.

In 1995, sales of farm and ranch products in Texas totaled about $14 billion. Adding the economic multiplier effect, the total impact of agriculture in the state was about $45 billion last year.

Firm figures on the drought's devastating effects are not available because in the northern areas of the state, not all crops have been planted yet, Smith said.

County government in need of expanded facilities soon

Capital Improvements Committee sees need to double current office space in the next 10 years

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Bandera County Capital Improvements Committee (CIPC), headed by Jean Cress of Lakehills, presented a report to county commissioners Wednesday, July 10. The report indicates the county may be looking at $1.5 million in spending to expand courthouse facilities.

The study the report is based on will be available for public study in various location around the county for 30 days.

The report follows a study conducted by Wagner & Klein Inc. on building use by Bandera County.

Wagner & Klein's study predicts a need for 19,000 square feet of office space over the next 10 years. The courthouse has 8,772 square feet.

The study indicates that it is impossible to fully meet all building code, safety and ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) requirements by remodeling the historic courthouse.

Any remodeling would also have to consider preservation of historic aspects of the building.

The CIPC presented a proposed budget for providing adequate space for the county. The estimate includes construction costs, architect and engineering fees, printing and testing.

Phase I would include the installation of an elevator, modification of restrooms and the district courtroom to meet ADA requirements for a cost of $95,000.

Phase II would see the completion of the renovation of the Law Enforcement Building into county offices for $656,000.

Phase III would renovate the South Wing for $84,000.

Phase IV would see the complete renovation of the courthouse, including new mechanical and electrical systems, new interior finishes, sprinkler system, glass stairwell enclosure and permanent structural repair to the roof for $592,000.

The total estimated cost is $1,427,000 with an anticipated 5-10 percent increase each year the project is put off.

Fourth quarter sales down 15 percent

The 1995 Fourth Quarter State Sales and Use Tax Analysis Report recently released by the Texas Comptroller's office shows a business slow-down in Bandera County from the previous year.

Overall gross sales fell 15.4 percent from the same quarter in 1994.

Only 560 business outlets reported sales in Bandera County in the fourth quarter of 1995. In 1994 there were 605 reporting outlets.

Gross sales for the 95 fourth quarter totaled $24,195,814. That was a drop from the $28,598,499 reported in the same quarter in 1994. Of the $24 million in gross sales, $9,724,310 were subject to sales tax.

Retail sales outlets reporting sales taxes dropped from 360 in 1994 to 330 in 1995. Gross sales in retail dropped to $15,323,772 from $19,971,854. That reflects a 23.3 percent decrease for the quarter from the same time last year.

County paving work continues

Pct. 2 road crews have been at work paving the portion of Starvation Hill Road next to Hill Country Elementary School to improve bus access. It's just one of many paving projects underway throughout the county.

Alanis shaping up county shop

Brings county tire business to Bandera

Pct. 2 Commissioner Dan Alanis told Commissioners Court that progress is being made in shaping up the county's maintenance shop.

Alanis took over management of the shop three months ago and has reduced rates charged the precincts for work done on equipment there.

"We've hired a new assistant mechanic who is working out very well," said Alanis. "We got 41 applications for a clerk's position and I will start interviewing soon."

Alanis said he is getting a handle on the paper work problems and is doing a better job with purchase orders and fuel orders.

"Our next priority is to get the records in order," said Alanis. He told commissioners that there is free software available from Texas A&M to keep maintenance records on equipment and roads.

Alanis has also arranged to get tires from a Bandera business at the same rate as was previously provided by a Kerrville firm.

In other business at the Wednesday, July 10 court session, the court:

• Approved a petition to provide county maintenance of Cheyenne Trail in Madrona Ranch Subdivision in Pct. 1.

• Approved the coordination of the rural transportation system with Medina County.

• Approved a request from County Treasurer Kay Welch to move her office to the Old Courthouse Building near Bandera Ice House. Welch told the court that construction, refurbishing, electrical work and other repairs would cost approximately $5,000. Installation of computers, modems and designated lines would cost an additional $4,000. "The air and heat were replaced earlier this year," said Welch. The offices previously housed the County Extension Service which has moved out to Mansfield Park.

Commissioner Ralph Chancy expressed his concern about handicapped access, but Welch said that she and her staff would be happy to meet with any citizen downstairs or make whatever accommodation necessary.

The move will be funded from non-departmental funds in the budget.

• Heard a report from the Capital Improvements Committee.

• Held a budget workshop.

Judge Ray Mauer presided over the session.

Bandera Regulars protest treatment by City council

Bandera Regulars member Adele Matthews asked city council on Monday, July 8 for another chance for the group to make their annual pilgrimage to Bandera City Park during [illegible]

The Bandera Regulars have been meeting in the park for over 10 years.

Last year, the city council voted not to allow the Regulars back in 1996, after complaints from several citizens who live in the area about the noise and the trash.

"I feel like we have been given a bum rap," Matthews told council members. "We haven't been given a chance to redeem ourselves."

Matthews said the group had paid a dollar per person to stay in the park during Memorial Day weekend in 1995. The total came to $438.

Residents who live primarily on Cypress Street had complained about late night noise, trash, horse manure and nudity.

"If someone had just come down there we could have worked something out," said Matthews, who lives in Manvel, Texas near Houston. She said most of the Bandera Regulars live in and around Houston, but some come from Austin and the Valley.

Pipe Creek resident Jim [illegible] the one-time park commissioner set up by Raymond Adamietz, said the problems could be easily fixed.

"The park was originally designed to house such events as the Bandera Regulars," Hannah said. "By changing around a couple of gates next year, they (the Bandera Regulars) can move around without using the streets in the area. It's going to be an easy fix."

Carey Poe, representing the group Citizens for the Improvement of Mansfield Park, came before the council again to ask for money to pay for an engineering study and architects plans for Mansfield Park.

The money Poe requested comes from a bed tax.

According to council member Curtis Wilson, the bed tax in the city and county is 6 percent, with the city receiving three and the county receiving three percent. But an agreement reached in the 1980s gives two of the city's three percent back to the county, making the county's total five percent and the city's total one percent.

Since the city only receives that small percentage, the council voted unanimously not to give any funds to the project at this time.

Bill Langford, a grant writer from Austin, came before the council asking to write grants for the city. Langford has been hired by the city in the past for this purpose.

"I did work for Bandera about seven or eight years ago," Langford said. "Unfortunately for all of us, we entered competition and were not successful either year. It's very stiff competition."

Langford told the council members that they needed to lay the groundwork and get to know people who can be of help when they apply for their grants.

"You work on it year round," he said. "You don't score if you don't get up to bat. We'd like to try it again, if you would."

In other business;

• The council unanimously agreed to give city employee Joe de la Fuentes a $1 an hour raise.

• The council bandied about several names of possible board members to help administer the new sales tax income. Some possible names for the board are Joe Davis, Denise Griffin, Martin Smith, Bob Cowan, Melvin King, John Jenschke, and Neal Dalton.

GOP introduces office seekers Saturday

The Bandera County Republican Executive Committee will meet at 10 a.m. Saturday, July 20 at the Bandera Bank Community Room. After conducting regular business, the potential candidates for county judge on the Republican ticket will be introduced. Members of the audience will have the opportunity to question the potential candidates, get copies of their resumes and speak to them personally.

"We encourage public attendance at all of our executive committee meetings," said Republican Party County Chairman Janet Cave. "Now, with the executive committee assigned, by law, with the responsibility of choosing our Republican candidate for county judge, we especially welcome public input."

"Share your opinions and suggestions with the members of the executive committee," said Cave. "Join us and be a part of the process, before the decision is made in August."

At this time the following people have submitted their resumes to the Executive Committee indicating their interest in being the Republican nominee on the November ballot for the office of county judge: commissioner Bennie Barker, fire chief Ralph Dresser, businessman Richard Evans, retired military man Tom Gernentz, social worker Louise Karr and banker Janet Lurker.

WORKING ON SENIOR SAFETY — Bandera County TRIAD met Thursday, July 11 and elected the following officers for the SALT Advisory Council: Mary Frazyolon, chairman; Betty Baxter, vice-chair; Liz White, secretary/treasurer. Tony Ramirez volunteered to keep track of the scrapbook. Brenda Reich will serve as chairman of the nominating committee. The group also approved the by laws. The next meeting will be held the second Thursday of August, Aug. 8, at 2 p.m. at the Silver Sage Corral in Bandera. The public is always welcome.

protect their natural resources in a way that will improve the area's economy, environment, and living standards. It provides a way for people to work together to plan and carry out activities that will make their area a better place in which to live."

Pipe Creek resident Joe Cantu is the president of the local RC&D. He says they look for any source of money that becomes available, including grants and private foundation money.

The only qualification is that the project be a benefit to the community.

In order to make use of the unlimited grant and money searches, an organization merely pays an annual fee of $40. The city of Bandera recently became members.

"It's a chance that the city might get some money," Mayor Bob Cowan said. "I would encourage other groups to join."

Individuals can join also, for a $10 annual fee. This money goes into a fund that is used for smaller projects, or emergency projects, in the county.

Cantu gave as examples for the use of this money such things as a Jaws of Life for a fire department, or T-shirts for a Little League team.

"There are lots of pluses and very few minuses in this program," Cantu said. "All of these projects are designed to keep money in the county and enhance the natural resources in the county."

"Remodeling the courthouse and the law enforcement center still won't provide the total space needed," said Cress.

Commissioners approved a request from the CIPC to place copies of the full study in the courthouse, the Bandera County Library and at the Lakehills Annex for 30 days to make the information available to the public.

"The committee also asks the court for an accounting of $80,000 from the tax anticipation note that had been set aside for an elevator," said Cress. Only $45,000 of that budget item is still available in this year's budget, Cress pointed out.

The funds were used on the emergency repairs to the courtroom upstairs. "That spending was approved by the financial advisors and attorneys who drew up the tax anticipation note," explained county auditor Tommy Tomlinson.

"The committee is just concerned that the money for the elevator be there in the next budget," said committee member Kathryn Thompson.

Members of the committee are Ray Mauer, Janet Cave, Bill Weber, Kathryn Thompson, Tommy Tomlinson, Kerry Schneider, James MacMillan, Bernice Bitter and Cress.

Get up earlier and arrive alive

Dear Editor:

I'm prompted to write at this time in view of the careless driving on FM 1283 which is resulting in [illegible] recklessness and excess speed.

Just days ago a senior resident [illegible] no-passing zone. This was very dangerous and I fail to see his reasoning since he arrived at the Texas-Crimson-Culebra intersection at the same time as I.

If you are a daily commuter, please in the name of safety, yours and mine, get up and leave earlier.

Talents diverge, band retires

Dear Editor:

Since The Bandera Bulletin publicized the retirement (we prefer that to break-up) of Delta Blue, many fans have asked "Why?" Since the interest has [illegible] than we anticipated, I'll answer that question.

When Delta Blue was formed, Tybor Cook and Bryan Bliss were content to perform cover songs (songs written and recorded by others). But as time passed, we began performing some of our own original material. This creativity eventually led to the end of Delta Blue. Let me explain.

As Tybor and Bryan improved as songwriters, Tybor began writing pop and Bryan began writing country. Delta Blue, a classic rock and roll band, could accommodate neither of these styles. So both singer/songwriters began searching for an outlet for their music. Tybor formed Unspoken Word and Bryan formed Rodeo Drive (now Bullseye). As those bands developed, they left little time for Delta Blue. Unwilling to let our end it.

We hope to be remembered as the band that brought live rock and roll music to Bandera. We also hope to reunite occasionally, in Bandera, for old times sake.

On behalf of Tybor, Bryan and Mike, I thank the fans who have enriched our lives. We love ya. Rock on!

Van Cook

Remember the Beatles

Dear Editor:

In response to last week's letter regarding the school dress code: It seems that a percentage of people here feel that if a person looks like or dresses like a "drop-out from a drug crazed rock band," then they must be one!

I cringe to think how we all might be judged by others from large metropolitan areas.

What really bothers me is that example adults are setting for our kids by their prejudice. In this country, prejudice is a real problem that divides our youth. How can we expect kids to be tolerant of others when adults cannot accept kids for their differences?

Remember the weird haircuts on the Beatles?

As long as the kids are decent and neatly dressed, why can't they be different from adults? There are lots of good kids with haircuts and clothes I wouldn't wear, but [the kids] are not "bad" because of their choice of style.

Choices are the foundation of our constitution.

I love and trust my kids enough to allow them a voice in their attire and haircuts. Boy, am I generous!

But then, I still love the Beatles!

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Despite a "fashion show" by a group of neatly dressed teenagers, the Bandera ISD board voted Tuesday night to accept the dress code presented to them by school administrators last month. The kids, despite their pleasant appearance, were all in violation of the code in some way. Most of them were wearing shorts that were more like six inches from the knee instead of the required three. But none were wearing what could be called short shorts. Some had their T-shirts out.

(If was really shocking, I tell you!)

I can understand the administration's concerns about keeping gangs from penetrating the school system with their fashion statements, which include long and dangerous chains. Sometimes those weapons are hidden under over-sized T-shirts.

But the problem with dress codes has always been in the enforcement of them.

As one parent asked the board, "Who's going to touch my daughter's knee to determine where the top of it is?" She felt the current "fingertip length" much easier to measure by sight, without any possibility of "sexual harassment."

In the 70s we sent boys to the office if their hair curled over their collar. Although it was possible for a female to learn quite well with hair down to her waist, apparently, guys just couldn't manage it. I didn't send the long-haired guys to the office because I believed I had a lot more important things to teach them than the barber did.

It's always puzzled me too that while it is OK for girls to wear earrings, it is apparently "unsafe" for males to do so.

I want to issue a challenge to any BISD board member. Come by and pick up my daughter and my VISA card and take her to San Antonio and come back with three pairs of shoes that come within three [illegible] of her knee. I'll be happy to treat you to a nice dinner if you have any success.

• Some kids have had to give up their usual dip in the river to cool off on these hot summer days due to high bacterial counts. Don't swim in slow moving or stagnant lake or river water.

The drought is bringing us some other problems as well.

We've received a number of calls about snakes showing up around homes. The sneaky critters are probably looking for water. One account said a four-foot rattler killed the family dog.

Fire ants, scorpions and centipedes are also moving indoors.

So be careful and watch where you put your feet!

Drought joke of the week: It's so dry a frog can live and die without ever learning to swim.

A healthy place

Our little city needs no sewers, is naturally drained on all sides, and is admitted to be the healthiest place in Western Texas. For home comforts, variety of food other than the razor-back hog, and for beautiful scenery, lovely drives and quiet solitudes, we excel other places more frequently spoken of and recommended.

Are the above advantages not enough to please the sick and debilitated?

We can assure them that in Dr. Rice they will have skilled and faithful attendance. And, what is of first importance and what few places in Texas possesses, we have in Mr. Lincoln a practical pharmacist of experience, who can fill local and foreign prescriptions with an exactitude and correctness that inspire confidence and puts aside all fears.

Tenure may go at Texas universities

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Stading
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — A proposal passed by the state Senate Education Committee will eliminate tenure — the lifetime guarantee of employment for some college professors and a "carrot" often used to attract the best faculty.

The proposal, which is only a proposal, could strip tenure from professors at public colleges and universities or fire them if they are rated poorly for two consecutive years by peers and students, the Austin American-Statesman reported.

Mary Burgeon, general secretary of the Washington, DC.-based American Association of University Professors, said that eliminating tenure would have "a chilling effect on Texas' faculty and a chilling effect on the state's ability to recruit."

An education committee member, Sen.. David Sibley, R-Waco, disputed claims by educators groups that killing tenure would hurt faculty recruitment.

"What this is saying is, if you're a bad professor, don't come to Texas," Sibley told the American-Statesman, adding that the proposal is not a response to abuses of the tenure system, but addresses a growing belief that tenure has outlived its purpose.

David Merkowitz, spokesman for the American Council on Education, said an "extreme intervention" like eliminating tenure "can do extraordinary damage to Texas universities."

Presently, the Texas A&M University System is under a regents' directive to revise policies so tenured professors could be removed for poor performance. University of Texas President Robert Berdahl said he favors a post-tenure review that would help professors identify their strengths and improve on their weaknesses.

Reform Party Ballots Mailed

The Reform Party sent out a million presidential nominating questionnaires last week naming Dallas billionaire H. Ross Perot and former Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm as "the potential candidates most frequently mentioned," but Reform Party members can write in any name they wish. Lamm formerly announced his candidacy on July 9.

The questionnaires were mailed to people who signed petitions to get the Reform Party on the general election Ballot. Party members will have until July 20 to mail in a response.

Candidates who qualify for nomination will be allowed to speak to a Reform Party convention Aug. 11 in Long Beach, Calif.

The name of the nominee will be announced Aug. 18 at a Reform Party meeting in Valley Forge, Pa.

Ruling: Adultery Not Protected

Adultery is not protected by the constitutional right to privacy, the Texas Supreme Court declared last week.

The ruling was against a Sherman police officer who was denied a promotion because of an affair with another man's wife.

The majority opinion, written by Justice Greg Abbott, concludes that the right to privacy "does not include the right to maintain a sexual relationship with the spouse of someone else" but stipulated that the court's decision does not mean that the government is free "to engage in intrusive investigation methods to determine the sexual practices of individuals."

Urine Vows to Dissolve RRC

Texas Railroad Commission candidate Hector Urine of Brownsville says he intends to work on dissolving the three-member panel if he is elected Nov. 5.

He said the offices of the three commissioners are "historical anachronisms" that need justification.

Urine, who is running against Republican commission chairman Carole Keeton Rylander, acknowledged the passage of a constitutional amendment would be necessary to close the agency, but he said the commissioners' jobs could go unfunded in the meantime.

Urine, a Democrat, served in the Texas Senate from 1981 to 1990 and in the Texas House from 1978 to 1981.

Expect traffic slow-downs on 173

The Texas Department of Transportation has announced that due to bridge construction on SH 173, the public should expect minor delays.

[illegible] expected between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. The work involves setting new beams on the widened sections of Turtle Creek and Verde Creek bridges. One-way traffic control will be in effect during this period and delays of approximately 20 minutes should be expected.

An alternate route between Kerrville and Bandera is utilizing state highways SH 27-FM 480-SH 173. For small vehicles, SH 16 through Medina is a second optional route.

Rural transportation available for seniors

Bus service can take seniors to medical appointments, shopping

Jeannie Sagebiel tells commissioners Ralph Chancy and Bernie Barker about the services provided by ACT. The rural bus service can transport senior citizens anywhere in an 11 county area for a reasonable fee.

Bandera County's senior citi[illegible]tage of a rural transportation service coordinated by the Alamo Area Council of Governments (AACOG).

The bus service, run by Alamo Coordinated Transit (ACT), serves an 11 county area surrounding Bexar County and provides transportation into San Antonio or anywhere in the service area.

With 24-hour notice the bus service can pick up anyone needing transport for medical appointments, airport pick ups, special events and shopping.

Reasonable fees are charged for the service.

Jeannie Sagebiel, rural public transportation specialist with AACOG, asked Bandera County Commissioners Court for approval for the program to coordinate with Medina County to expand services.

"This is not a government [illegible] service offers reduced rates due to a grant." A round-trip to San Antonio might run $15-$20.

Groups may also arrange to use the bus service for special events or shopping trips at special rates.

So it is happening — Powers That Be are closing in on the once-free-flowing waters of our Balcones canyonlands. With the recent court decision in favor of an overall authority to control the use of the water from the Edwards Aquifer, the former primeval Country of Eleven Hundred Springs, (how many of y'all remember that advertising motto?) will be turned into a managed system of treated water.

But Nature will still be in charge, no matter what the engineers and development gurus try to do. If'n it don't rain someers, there won't be no water, at least nearby, to pipe nowhere. Somebody called a talk show the other day to propose that upper midwest floodwaters be piped down here to alleviate recurring drought in areas gaining population from migration from the north to the southwest. Wouldn't it be more commonsensical for people to just stay where they were rather than coming to the desert to demand it be made as green as the place they left?

Speaking of drought — we have begun to spell the word that way after our old friend DROUTH — was blue-penciled by Editor Carolyn three or four times. OK, we surrender.

But old clippings we have from the Big One in the 1950s spelled the word our way. When did the rule-book change?

This question came up once before in these pages when a reader from Pipe Creek called to chide us for writing DROUTH. We looked the word up in the dictionary then and ascertained that DROUGHT and DROUTH were indeed interchangeable.

Reinforcement for our previous spelling came this past week from Linda Mussehl in her column in the Castroville-based paper "Heartland." Sub-head on Linda's piece for July 4 is "DROUTH takes are dry humor." And Linda says,

"People in the Southwest would rather joke about the hard times than whine. Drouth, spelled "drought" by Easterners and TV meteorologists is hardly a laughing matter, but the literature of the region is filled with... bitter jokes as hard as the bare packed soil and dry as the west wind... the scarcity of water is enough to make the Baptists favor baptism by sprinkling. When Noah had his flood, we got only an inch and a half."

We're calling Linda, whose well-written column is called "View from the Porch," to report that once again we have looked up the spelling of the word, this time in the Oxford Dictionary of Etymology. The erudite Brits say this:

Drought, meahing dryness, comes through Old English from Middle Dutch "droog," dry. "For the Scottish and North, DROUTH, which has been used also by English poets."

OK, doesn't the preceding quote sort of explain things? Much of Texas was settled by English-speakers from the Southern highlands, whose forebears had come from northern England, Scotland, and the north of Ireland.

In the 1950s we were still under the influence of our root culture, and DROUTH was still the way we spelled the word describing the dry mess we were in. Now of course we have been invaded by Easterners and TV meteorologists from elsewhere, who in addition to expecting grass always to be green have foisted their spelling rules off on us. Linda Mussehl of Castroville and this writer—are we hillbillies or English poets?

Legion Post installation planned

American Legion Post 157 in Bandera will install its slate of officers for the coming year on July 18 at the post home.

Dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m. followed by the installation.

Bandera veterans who wish to attend are welcome. Members of the post are especially encouraged to attend.

Installation will be conducted by Hank Nauman, Past Department Commander.

VFDs raising funds with ATV raffle

All the volunteer fire departments in Bandera County and the Utopia VFD are joining in an effort to raise funds for their respective fire departments with a raffle.

The first prize is a Polaris X-plorer 4x4 ATV. There is also an 18,000 BTU Amana heat pump window air conditioner, plus some cash prizes.

Each department gets to keep the money from the tickets they sell. The drawing will be the Sunday before Labor Day at the Tarpley barbecue.

"Buy your tickets from your favorite fire fighter," said Marilyn Haner of the Tarpley VFD. "It's a chance to help the fire departments as well as a chance to win a great prize."

Haner reminds everyone that donations are needed for the auction held each year at the department's barbecue. To arrange for pick up of any item, contact Anton Haner or any Tarpley volunteer.

"We look forward to seeing all our friends on Sept. 1," said Haner.

German band due at Lost Valley

The Musik-Fest, beginning at 7:30 p.m is open to the public at no charge. Beer and soft drinks will be available at a nominal charge. Spectators may want to bring lawn chairs, but no ice chests. A barbecue brisket and sausage plate with all the trimmings will be served beginning at 7 p.m. and is available to the public by advance reservation. Price of the dinner is $5. Requests for tickets should be sent with check or money order and a stamped self-addressed envelope to German Band of Texas, Box 162, Medina, Texas 78055. season ends

TPWD says hurricane may be blessing

The worst natural disaster ever in Texas was caused by a hurricane. Ironically, it may take a hurricane to help overcome some of the effects of a drought which is threatening to displace Hurricane Alicia atop the state's list of all-time calamities.

"This is going to be one for the books," declared Dr. Larry McKinney, senior director for Water Policy with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department (TPWD), in a briefing on the drought to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission Thursday.

Noting the $3 billion in damages caused by Alicia, which struck Houston in 1983, McKinney stated the current drought has already cost the state $2.4 billion in lost agricultural production alone. "And, predictions do not look good for any relief from current conditions through the remainder of the summer," he noted. "A hurricane may be the only possibility for relief in the near future."

In assessing the state's current overall conditions, McKinney told commissioners the drought is impacting Texas' natural resources in ways which are evident now, but could also have long-term repercussions.

"Because of low reproduction, we're probably going to see an impact on future population profiles of many wildlife species, particularly deer, quail and Rio Grande turkey," said McKinney.

"The same will hold true for fish, particularly in severely affected lakes in the western half of the state."

Lake Mackenzie, for example, is 44 feet below normal and many of the playa lakes in the High Plains region that normally sustain shorebirds and waterfowl over the winter are now dry. Amistad and Falcon reservoirs in South Texas are at a combined all-time record low and in Central Texas, the Comal Springs are expected to go dry this summer.

And, according to McKinney, the drought's impacts have extended beyond inland resources. "Many of the commercially and recreationally important coastal resources have been affected due to high salinities in our bays and estuaries."

Salinities in Upper Lavaca Bay are at the highest levels recorded in 29 years. Those salinity levels are also threatening the closure of operations within the next couple of weeks at TPWD's GCCA/CPL Marine Development Center in Corpus Christi.

"I don't want to misrepresent current hunting and fishing prospects, because both are good right now and will likely hold through the fall," said McKinney. "With record flights of ducks and geese expected in Texas this fall, any pe with water will likely be excellent, as will hunting around stock tanks and around feeders. Fishing remains good in both inland and coastal waters."

State parks are also taking a hit due to the drought, as declines in visitation have resulted in $212,000 in lost revenues at 71 parks for the month of June alone. Much of that fiscal loss ($210,000) can be attributed to a lack of recreational opportunities at 28 water associated parks.

Several parks, such as Guadalupe River, Caprock Canyon and Choke Canyon, report extensive water supply problems. Others, like Kickapoo Caverns, Colorado Bend, Garner and South Llano, are suffering some form of habitat damage.

McKinney said the department has been active in all the Governor's Drought Response Working Group, which is coordinating all state agency responses to the drought, and is preparing contingency plans for facilities and activities which might be affected by an extended drought.

"There will be a ripple effect from the drought, the extent of which we may not know until it's over," McKinney said. "No one wants a hurricane, but that might be our only way out at this point."

Trot lines helpful for many different fish and waters

by Keith Warren

Have you ever heard of a trot line? I have, many times, and I'm sure you too. First off, as far as I know there is no such thing. The proper word is "trot" line.

A trot line is single line (run between [illegible] (small drop lines with hooks) that is primarily used to catch catfish. Trot lines are a great way to catch fish for many reasons.

First off, trot lines have lots of hooks baited giving you greater odds of getting bites. Secondly, a line which is properly secured on each end keeps the bait ion a specific area without moving. The numerous hooks allow anglers to use a variety of bait.

Trot lines as used primarily by catfishermen. However, I recently heard of several fishermen in East Texas who use trot lines for crappie.

After doing alittle research, I found one of the fishermen named A.J. Byrd, and asked him to explain his system.

Byrd uses a trot line made by "EZ Trot" as to the simplicity and safety setting and removing the line.

"Any trotline will work, but most of the time I run lines by myself and regular lines are just too hard to work with. The EZ Trot is the first and easiest to work with, especially for the guy who trotlines by himself," Byrd said. "I really discovered catching crappie by accident. Years ago, I'd go for catfish and alternate baits on my lines. I'd use large minnows and shrimp. Sometimes I couldn't get large minnows and would use small and medium size ones. That's when I started catching crappie. Occasionally, I'd catch a crappie on every staging that had a small minnow. This was especially the case in the summer when the crappie move to deeper water."

Byrd told me that he still catches some catfish on his lines but crappie make up most of his catch.

The best places for these minnow-baited trot lines are running parallel to submerged grass lines, river channels, and deep tree lines.

Summertime is the best time of year to catch crappie using this technique. Don;t be surprised to catch some good sized bass on these lines. Byrd's largest bass to date was a 10-pound lunker that he caught while crappie fishing. For more information on the EZ Trot Line call 713-923-3977.

Houston—Pinpointing peak periods of calcium absorption during childhood and adolescence may help young girls build stronger bones.

"Most of an adult's skeleton is built and enlarged during childhood and adolescence, so getting enough calcium at the right time is important," said Dr. Steven Abrams at the USDA's Children's Nutrition Research Center at Baylor College of Medicine in Houston.

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

No, it's not officially Thanksgiving, but this seems to be the appropriate time to extend our gratitude to those in our community who have been [illegible] to the meals on wheels program in Bandera and Kerrville.

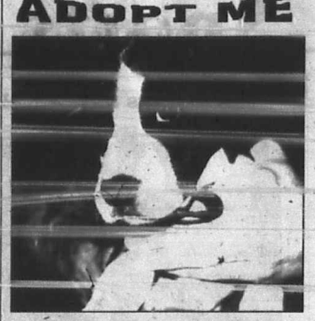
Recently, members of our board of directors attended Commissioners Court and were successful in convincing the court to help us finance our meals on wheels program through the end of this fiscal year.

As mentioned in a previous column, our meals program has increased by 25 percent just through May of this year, leaving us with a budget deficit. We wish to thank the commissioners for this assistance and I'm sure we speak for all the Meals on Wheels recipients as well.

A local car dealership came to our rescue this past week by loaning us a van. One of our vans was in the shop with radiator problems. We need one van to deliver the meals and one to transport clients to doctors appointments, grocery store, etc.

A local restaurant sent over several dozen delicious muffins last week and they were enjoyed by all our participants, including those who attended the TRIAD meeting on Thursday.

A local flower and gift shop has been furnishing us with beautiful fresh flower arrangements for our birthday luncheons which are held on the [illegible] Tuesday of each month. The flowers seem to add just the right touch.



Remember, there will be no birthday luncheons in July or August. Birthdays for these months will be celebrated in September.

Last, but not least, we thank all of you who have shown their support by volunteering, making contributions and offering words of encouragement. This is truly a wonderful show of community spirit!

Our Second Sunday Concert featuring the Doc Meador Combo drew quite a crowd this past Sunday. Doc's group creates some wonderful sounds, for listening, for dancing and for reminiscing. What better way to spend your time on a hot summer day. The next social will be on Aug. 10 - hope you'll join us.

We are now offering crochet classes on Thursday mornings at 9 a.m., taught by Win Knuebber. If you decide to try crocheting, you'll need to bring one skein of 4 or 8 ounces yarn, one size G plastic crochet needle and a pair of scissors. Sounds like something fun to do while you're trying to cool off.

ADOPT ME

This little cutie is a Boston Terrier mix, male, 10-weeks old, with a tail that you have to see to believe! He was found near Privilege Creek with a collar, but no tags. There are lots of puppies available for adoption right now at Hill Country Vet, 796-3787.

Vets looking for homes

The Community Residential Care Program, foster care for disabled veterans, needs homes in the Hill Country. The South Texas Veterans Health Care System (STVHCS) is seeking home owners who are interested in providing room, board, and supervision in a homelike environment for stable, disabled veterans.

Residential care homes may house up to five veterans who pay a pre-determined VA-approved fee for room, board, supervision, occasional transportation to medical appointments and some family or group activities. While in the program, veterans are outpatients of the STVHCS.

A STVHCS social worker visits the homes to support the veterans and the homeowners. Sponsors and veterans find the program satisfying and enriching. Veterans flourish in a homelike, non-institutional setting and sponsors also benefit from the experience.

For more information call Phil Grota, MSW, Program Manager, at (210)949-3100.

Everybody should watch out for fraud

Why Does Fraud Work?

It is sometimes said that greedy people are the easiest victims of con artists, telemarketing schemes and fraud. Well, that is simply not true, according to a study conducted by Princeton Survey Research Associates.

Nice, honest people are more likely than others to send money to a total stranger in exchange for the promise of a sure-fire business opportunity, a cash prize or a fantastic vacation.

Many seniors are ashamed or embarrassed to report being victimized by fraud. They think that it was their fault, or that they should not have been so gullible.

The truth is that con artists and telemarketers are finely honed professionals who take advantage of older people precisely because of their trusting nature.

The Facts

What characteristics make an easy mark? Who is likely to be tricked, and who is not? The Princeton study found that:

• Older fraud victims are more likely to be in the workforce than other adults.

• The social and community activities of older fraud victims rival or surpass those of their peers.

• Affluent and well-educated Americans are often targeted - and tricked out of their money - by con artists.

• People who have suffered a recent tragedy are more likely to give money.

• More than one-third of older fraud victims do volunteer work on a regular basis.

• Two-thirds of fraud victims went to church at least once during the week before the study interview.

The Reason Why

It turns out that courtesy and trust are the most reliable traits in indicating whether a person may be a victim of fraud.

Unfortunately, it stands to reason. If you comport yourself in an honest and upright manner, you are likely to think others will do the same. Sadly, this is far from true.

Con artists take advantage of people who just cannot bear to hang up the phone on a caller that keeps talking.

Beware

If you recognize any of the following traits in yourself, you may be an easy touch.

Are you reluctant to hang up the phone or shut the door in a salesperson's face?

Do you believe that phone salespeople are all just doing their job, and need to make a living like everybody else?

What You Should Know

Think of the following the next time you get a sales call. If you hear anything that reminds you of these tips, you have the permission of the Attorney General of Texas to hang up:

• First of all, it is just plain illegal for anyone to ask you to pay anything, even shipping costs, for a "prize."

• Ask for written information through the mail; illegal "boiler room" callers will usually hem and haw or hang up quickly.

• Never let anyone send a courier to pick up your payment, that is just a way to avoid mail fraud laws.

• Never give out your credit card or bank account number to strangers over the phone.

• If you do not want to be called again by a particular phone salesperson, ask that person not to call you again and to take you off his or her calling or mailing list. If they call again, they will be breaking the federal Telemarketing and Consumer Fraud and Abuse Prevention Act.

Be an assertive consumer- don't let others take advantage of you.

It is only a few days until the fun begins for the children of the area. Walker Memorial Chapel Vacation Bible School gets under way on Monday, July 22 from 8:15 to 8:30 p.m. finishing up on Friday, July 26.

We ask that drivers be very careful. Children get so involved in their games they sometimes forget to be careful about running out into the street.

Every morning I have been going out to the car and check the windshield wipers to make sure I remember how to operate them and they are still in working order. I hope I will have to use them soon.

Farm Bureau's petition calls for property tax relief

The president of the Bandera County Farm Bureau is calling on local property owners and homeowners to sign a petition in support of responsible tax relief.

Petitions are located at the County Farm Bureau office.

"The property tax remains one of the most unfair taxes levied on Texas citizens," said Barbara Mazurek, president of Bandera County Farm Bureau. "It taxes non-liquid assets that have very little to do with the property owner's ability to pay."

Governor George W. Bush appointed a 17-member Citizens Committee in May to explore alternatives to the property tax. Texas Farm Bureau President Bob Stallman serves on that committee. Bush said a state income tax is not an option, but is interested in other tax alternatives.

The petition states, "We, the undersigned residents of Bandera County are very concerned about our property taxes. We believe the property tax is an unfair method to fund public schools, and it discriminates against home and land owners. We strongly urge that a more broad-based and equitable means of taxation be substituted for the current property tax. We applaud your efforts to find such an alternative without considering a state income tax."

"We must let the Citizen's Committee know how we feel about the property tax," Mazurek said. She urged all local property owners and homeowners, TFB members and non-members alike, to sign the petition a the Bandera County Farm Bureau office, located at 1003 13th St.

"This is one of those times when citizens and taxpayers have a chance to make a difference," Mazurek said.

BISD board adopts dress code, student code of conduct

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Bandera ISD board met in regular session Tuesday, July 9 at 7 p.m. and gave final approval to a new dress code for the district's students.

A large delegation of parents and students appeared before the board and shared their concerns with the board about the code. Spokesman for the group was Denice Griffin. Griffin said the group was basically in favor of a dress code, but objected to the requirement of keeping t-shirts tucked in and wearing shorts within three inches of the top of the knee.

"The dress code committee did not recommend tucking," said Griffin. "We are concerned about students who are overweight and feel self-conscious about it."

Griffin pointed out to the board that families will be forced to buy whole new wardrobes since last year's fingertip length for shorts is no longer acceptable.

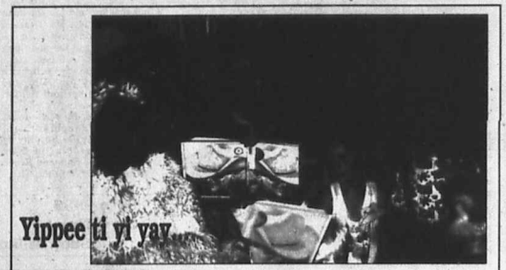
Griffin also asked, "Who finds the top of the knee? Who measures?"

Another citizen recommended the school try the code for one year before making changes.

Board member Thomas "Bub" Keese expressed his opposition to the tucked in shirts and questioned the length for shorts. "Being short and fat, I can understand the kids' concern about self esteem. Randy (trustee Rand Hicks) can wear anything and look good. I can wear anything and look bad," said Keese.

Board member Pat Cleaver said she saw a lot of ambiguity in the code. "What's too long, what's baggy? Let's try it for a year and if it's too much trouble, we can go to uniforms next year," said Cleaver.

Trustee Margaret Paradee said she would just as soon do away with shorts entirely. "Our teachers have better things to do than check shorts length," she said.



Hicks said he did not see why kids could not just wear shirts and blouses that are intended to be worn out if they did not want to tuck in their shirts.

The new dress code is a part of the 1996-97 Student Policy Handbook approved by the board Tuesday evening.

In other business, the board:

• Approved the Student Code of Conduct.

• Gave the superintendent the authorization to hire any professional personnel still needed for the new school year.

3. What plans, other than building a new high school, have been considered?

Plan A - The original plan, developed in 1993, proposed to construct a new elementary school(Hill Country) to alleviate the crowding at Alkek. It also called for the District to construct a new wing of classrooms at the High School (the Winnie Hicks Wing) and to expand the cafeteria to accommodate growth at the High School in 1997-98. At the Middle School, the construction of 35 new classrooms and the renovation of the existing gym and cafeteria were proposed for the 2000-2001 school year.

Plan B - The District has had to revise the 1993 plan because of growth that has outstripped projections. It begun examining its most pressing current needs- those at the Middle School. The Building Committee met to brainstorm this project. Although the current buildings are sound, the campus is out-of-date with legal requirements such as handicapped access and fire codes, has too few classrooms for even the current enrollment much less projected growth, and has core facilities (library, gym, band hall, office spaces, cafeteria, etc.) that are too small.

Additions and renovations to the Middle School could make the campus suitable for about 750 students, but if current growth trends continue, it was decided that the project would meet the Middle School campus' needs for only a short time before new land and a new Middle School would have to be built somewhere near Hill Country Elementary and a search for an additional site was begun.

This plan still did not address growth needs at the High School or at the Elementary Schools. Projections showed that the High School, even with the additions that were made last year, would be at capacity in 1996-97 and within a few years would run out of space to add on classrooms. Alkek is already at capacity again. Attendance zones could be redrawn to shift more students to Hill Country, but depending on Alkek's and Hill Country's growth, the District could have to redraw lines annually, giving elementary parents fits. Plan B was a short-term plan and additional space and facilities for other campuses would be needed in only a few years.

The Building Committee decided that the best way to handle the needs of all campuses was with a long-term plan to build a new high school on the site presently occupied by Bandera Downs and reorganize the other campuses and recommended this approach to Citizens Bond Advisory Committee. It was the consensus opinion of the Bond Advisory Committee that the long-term plan was most appropriate to the District's overall needs.

The District, in its new long-range plan, still proposes to renovate the Middle School campus, bringing restrooms up to handicapped codes, complying with fire codes, and remodeling some areas, such as the library and gym, but building a new cafeteria, a new library, moving dressing rooms to the old cafeteria, and constructing new classrooms will not be done. While all figures are not final, this renovation will cost around $1,000,000.

The biggest problem in addressing the growth the District is experiencing is space. Both the High School and the Middle School have limited space to build and the space that can be utilized would soon be filled.

Band rehearsals begin July 29

Bandera High School band director Tim Howell announced last week that full band rehearsals will be held Monday through Friday, July 29 through Aug. 9 from 5:30 to 8:45 p.m. and Monday, Aug. 12 from 5:30-7 p.m.

Along with the full band rehearsals, the percussion section and the assistant drill instructors will meet on the same days from 4-5 p.m.

"These rehearsals are important and mandatory," said Howell. Missed rehearsals will have to be made up before the first football game.

Hi y'all!

We got a call from Mary Alice Driffel telling us that the helpers and sponsors thank you get together for the American Legion Post #410 has been changed. It was supposed to be on Saturday, July 20 at 6 p.m. but has been changed to Sunday, July 21 at 5 p.m.

They will have keg beer and finger foods. This party is in appreciation of all those who worked at the Post #410 July 4 parade and barbecue, or were a sponsor. So all you workers and sponsors go get appreciated!

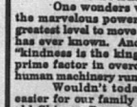
The Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department is getting their fall barbecue raffle set up. They are looking for donations of prizes to put on the raffle tickets. If any of y'all out there are interested in donating a prize, please contact Gladys Heisler, Kay Heisler or Gus Limon. They hope to have lots of prizes on this year's tickets. You also need to start planning on helping us put away some of that delicious brisket coming up this Labor Day weekend. It's just around the corner.

We had another Springhills WMD meeting last Thursday. The major topic was water conservation! The test levels have been steadily dropping each month.

We all need to do what we can to conserve our water. Any recycling of water would help us all to keep our water resources from being depleted. We have plans for a project to someday put in a storage tank to catch all our gray water and pump it to our trees and lawn. We could use those 40-50 gallon cycles of the washer and the kid's long showers to keep our lawn and trees looking good. Maybe one of these days we will get to do a project for ourselves.

The past week's rains helped the plants and all. But was not enough to help our aquifers. Any water conservation steps taken will help to assure water for all to use if this drought stays. We will keep you posted on any measures decided on by SWMD.

Our granddaughter, Amber, celebrated her 8th birthday last Friday. We had the ice cream, cake and lots of fun. The most fun was watching her dad try to put together the fast assembly toys she received. We once had a devil of a time with a swing set with a "5 minute" assembly time on the box!



Sunday, Amber, aunts and friends, went to Pear Apple Country Fair and had a blast. Even Grammy went along to keep them all in line! Uncle Ray and I had to stay here and work, but it was fun listening to the stories of a fun day from Amber.

Well, we better go earn some money. We will be looking for you over the back fence.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

We all know that people of all ages and circumstances respond to kindness. It has been said that kindness is the oil that reduces friction between people, a salve that heals wounds.

With kindness you can give back a man his self respect; you can bring life to smothered dreams; you can mend broken hearts; you can bring heaven down to earth; and in so doing you become great, for only those with kindness are truly great.

One wonders why people don't make more of the marvelous power there is in kindness. It is the greatest level to move the hearts of men that the world has ever known. Andrew Chapman puts it this way: "kindness is the king pin of success in life; it is the prime factor in overcoming friction and making the human machinery run smoothly."

Wouldn't today be a good time to make life easier for our family and friends with kindness? An old Chinese Proverb states-Better to do a kindness near home than go far to burn incense.....

McKandles celebrates with a serving of "Jack's Order"

by Bunny

Go into the OST and ask for Jack's Order and you'll get two pancakes with an egg on top. It's a breakfast that Jack McKandles has been enjoying at the local eatery for 30 years.

Jack was born above Bandera on the John Mansfield Ranch. He later moved to Pipe Creek where his daddy ranched and Jack went to a one-room school called Happy Holler or the Deeline School.

His daddy was known as the greatest deer hunter in the county, says McKandles. "I was raised on deer meat, young squirrel and white wing dove soup, and I've still got my own teeth!" says McKandles.

McKandles doesn't let a few decades keep him from serving his guests.

90-year-old Jack McKandles enjoyed his recent birthday party hosted by wife, Helen, on the third generation Pickens Ranch in Pipe Creek.

There were four children in the family and in 1910 they all loaded up into a wagon and took off to go homesteading in New Mexico. That lasted only a couple of years. "It was real hard goin'," says Jack.

In 1918 times were so hard in Bandera, that they went in a covered wagon to pick cotton around Edna and Taylor. A big flu epidemic swept the camp. "They were dying' like flies and ever mornin' they'd check the tents to see who'd gone the night before," says Jack.

So the family came back to Bandera and it was back to school again for Jack.

One winter their house burned down and everything in it, so he had no shoes, but his dad made him go to school anyway. He walked the miles to school in the ice and his feet bled.

Once someone gave his momma an old pair of trousers, so she cut them down and made a pair of "brand new" pants for Jack.

"I was shore proud of those pants," he said, looking off into the distance, remembering, "until I bent down to pick up a pretty little flower for the teacher and the whole back ripped out. She pinned me up with safety pins for the day. It was a real disappointment."

During WWII, Jack joined the Seabees, which was the first military construction battalion ever. He served on Guadalcanal, the Philippines and other Pacific islands. McKandles has a really good shell collection to show for his time there.

Jack worked for Humble Oil Company on their pipe lines all over Texas for 29 years, until he had a heart attack and had to retire.

Jack is a few years older than Helen and remembers her, when she was five, climbing a big old pecan tree as he rode by on his mule! When his first wife died, he remained single for nine years, until he met Helen again at a family gathering. They courted for four years and have been married for thirty.

Jack enjoys driving his brand new truck around, to feed and water his deer and to go to the OST twice a day. In the morning he has two pancakes with one egg on top, a dish he has been enjoying for 30 years. They call it Jack's Order. At four in the afternoon, he returns to catch up on all the news of the day.

McKandles doesn't look, act or think old. He recalls running into O. Judd Clark at the OST when Judd was three months short of 100 and Judd did a little jig for him. "I hope to do the same one day," says Jack.

Ranchers should beware of toxic feed

Local cattlemen should be aware that cases of toxic hay and feed have been found in the local region.

Heat-stressed and water-starved plants have been testing positive for nitrate poison in Medina County.

According to Bandera County Extension Agent Warren Thigpen nitrate poison is more usual in grain crops such as corn and grain sorghum. "These crops are the ones farmers put a lot of fertilizer on. Then when there is no rain, the nitrates from the fertiliser just build up in the plants instead of being absorbed by growth," said Thigpen.

Hay crops are not as susceptible, said Thigpen, due to lower fertilizer rates.

"Most farmers and ranchers here in Bandera County haven't got enought rain for any harvest," said Thigpen.

Thigpen might want to exercise caution in making hay purchases, advises Thigpen.

Hay and grain can be sent to Texas A&M University for testing, but it takes about 10 days to get the test results.

Byways program encourages tourism

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) has contracted with Southwest Texas State University to assist in the preliminary development of a Scenic Byways Program for Texas. Scenic Byways Programs have been used successfully in many states to develop local and regional tourism.

A meeting will be held in Kerrville on July 31 at 7 p.m. in the Kerrville City Council chambers, 800 Junction Highway.

TxDOT will partially judge public interest in the Byways Program based on attendance at these meetings. The Texas Transportation Commission will decide this fall whether or not to continue with the development of a Scenic Byways Program.

A Scenic Byway is a road that has high levels of scenic, natural, cultural, historic/archaeological or recreational attractions. They encourage local economic development through tourism, conservation and learning about Texas' natural and cultural features. A Scenic Byway can attract visitors to your community, who may spend $70 or more each per day.

Stawbale workshop in Kerrville

A stawbale house workshop will be held July 26-28 in Kerrville. The weekend seminar begins at 7 p.m. on Friday evening.

The topic of the hands-on workshop is stucco. Participants will have an opportunity to see a strawbale house under construction, to have their questions answered, and learn preparation techniques for stucco. The workshop will include wrapping, sewing and application of cement plaster.

This 100 year-old tradition has recently experienced a revival especially in the Southwest. Strawbale houses use straw as a primary ingredient. The houses are energy-efficient (R-40 insulation), environmentally-sensitive, and economical to build (as low as $10 per square foot).

The hands-on workshop will be led by Mike Rilling, a local builder of strawbale homes. The workshop is $20 and includes meals. The fee is tax-deductible.

The workshop is being hosted by Quakerland, a non-profit intentional community and retreat center being built by the Quakers near Kerrville.

Deadlines for registration is July 22. Space is limited. For information and registration, contact Sarah or Mike Rilling at (210) 537-5235.

KEEPING COOL IN THE SHADE—Arlin Bakken, right, has joined forces with partners Punkie Eckhart, left, and Mark Lefor to open a full-service nursery behind Eckhart's Flower Shop. "We took a great deal of time and care to find what we could that was adaptable to this area and affordable," Bakken said. "We also do landscaping and lawn maintenance." There are over 120 variety's of trees, shrubbery, bedding plants and decorative plants, both natives and tropicals, available. Bakken has been in the nursery business for 13 years, and will be the general manager.

The Back-to-School issue is coming up on July 31, 1996. The issue will contain all school supply lists, bus routes, sports schedules, plus some exciting glimpses of new teachers in the district. This issue promises to be very popular, so call Tom Joiner or Sean French at 796-3718 to reserve your advertising spot today!

Couple celebrates 50 years together

Glenn and Nell Baker of Pipe Creek recently renewed their vows to celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary. The ceremony took place June 22, 1996 at the First Assembly of God Church in San Antonio with the Baker's former pastor, Thomas Crick, officiating. Six of the couple's seven children were present for the special occasion.

Their children are Truman Baker of Houston; Glenda Stanley of Springfield, Mo.; Priscilla Crossley of Middleton, Idaho; and Walter, Ed, Garland and Ray Baker, all of San Antonio.

The Bakers married on Sept. 1, 1946, after Glenn Baker returned from Europe where he served with the U.S. Air Force. In addition to their children, the couple has 16 grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren. They have lived in Pipe Creek for one-and-a-half years, after moving here from San Antonio.

Nell Baker says her advice to young couples starting out is simple.

"Say 'I love you,'" she said.

Tanner Rasmussen shows Shane Baker how to form the dough for his bread as his tribe prepares their own food for Pipe Creek Presbyterian's Vacation Bible School.

Utopia Baptists planning two great weeks with revival, VBS

The Utopia Baptist Church has two exciting events to announce.

From July 15-21, the church is holding a revival at 7 p.m. nightly.

The evangelist is Rev. Joe Knowles from Arizona Southern Baptist Convention. The music evangelist is country/western singer Clifton Jansky.

Featured events include a [illegible] Thursday night, "Chalk Talk" by Mrs. Zane Williams, and a Youth Night with hot fudge sundaes and build-your-own banana splits.

"All area youth are invited," said Pastor Jimmy Linn.

On Saturday night, the Kings Kids from Micronesian Island will appear.

[illegible] services will be held at noon on Wednesday and Friday.

The Sunday service will be at 10:45 a.m.

The following week, Vacation Bible School will begin from July 22-26.

The theme this year is "Go For The Goal" Phil. 3:14.

VBS is from 9 a.m. to noon and is for four-year old to 12 year-old.

On Friday, July 26, the group will hold its Water Olympics.

"We are really expecting two great, power-packed weeks here at the church," Linn said. "I'd like to invite everyone in the county to come and participate."

St. John's Fest in Hondo July 21 will feature food, fun, music

St. John the Evangelist Catholic Church will be holding its annual Parish Festival on Sunday, July 21, 1996 at Hondo City Park.

"As usual this year's event promises to be a lot of fun for everyone," a spokesperson said. "Admission is free.

The day will start off with an open air Mass, to be celebrated at 10 a.m. under the large oak trees at the park. Dinner will be served immediately after the Mass. This year, barbecue beef brisket will be served, along with all the trimmings. Plates will be served from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m., and will cost $4.50. Barbecue sandwiches and tamales will also be available.

All kinds of games and rides will be available during the day. Bingo will be played between 12 and 4 p.m. The famous St. John's Pillow Wheel and Cake Wheel will make their annual appearance, and other game booths will be open.

For those with more athletic skills, a volleyball tournament and horseshoes tournament will be taking place. Finally, a raffle featuring lots of great prizes will be held at 4 p.m. with tickets available in advance and during the day.

No festival would be complete without music and there will be plenty of it throughout the day. Mariachi music will be featured during meal time. Other great entertainment will follow during the afternoon. The day will be topped off with a dance featuring the music of D.J. "Mr. T-Bone."

"Everyone is invited to come out for a day of great food, good fun and outstanding entertainment," the spokesperson said.

Ondrovik attends Farm Bureau

Jessica Ondrovik of Utopia attended the Texas Farm Bureau's 53rd Annual Citizenship Seminar, sponsored by the Bandera County Farm Bureau with approximately 400 high school juniors and senior students. The purpose of the seminar is to provide the students with a better understanding of their American heritage and the capitalistic free enterprise system.

New summer shows at Sea World of Texas in San Antonio include magical and mythical figures such as King Neptune in the marine life park's dazzling pyrotechnic and laser light finale each evening through Aug. 11.

Only exercise can help in weight loss

Exercise alone, not diet and exercise, is the key to keeping weight off, study findings show.

According to a two-year study conducted at Baylor College of Medicine's DeBakey Heart Center, people who exercise without following a restricted diet maintain their weight.

"This confirms what we have known all along— people who diet fail at it because they feel deprived," said Dr. Ken Goodrick, an assistant professor of medicine at the Behavioral Medicine Research Center at Baylor. "By overcoming negative attitudes about exercise, people can learn to enjoy it and appreciate the benefits."

The study consisted of 127 overweight men and women who were placed in one of three groups— a diet and exercise group, a diet-only group, and an exercise-only group.

The first year involved group instructional sessions led by registered dietitians.

After the first year, the diet-only and diet and exercise groups lost the most weight. But the second year, both groups regained the weight. The exercise-only group lost weight and maintained the loss.

Exercise-only participants were taught the psychological and physical benefits of exercise and how to exercise vigorously, not strenuously. They gradually increased their exercise to 45 minutes three to five times a week.

The study findings were published recently in the Journal of the American Dietetic Association.

The DeBakey Heart Center is a joint program of Baylor College of Medicine and the Methodist Hospital supporting cardiovascular research, treatment and education.

Gospel stars on Festival program

Top gospel performer Faye Yates with her Texas Heart 'n Soul band will headline the gospel music stage at the Apple Festival July 27.

Yates, of San Antonio, has six gospel albums to her credit. She is also a songwriter and author. In addition to touring the U.S., Yates has performed in Israel, England, Romania and Yugoslavia.

She was the featured soloist at the 1995 Christian Country Music Association's convention in Knoxville, Tenn. Her latest album is titled Lord, Give Us America.

Newcomer Greg Long will be performing his hit single, How Long, along with tunes from his album Cross My Heart. Long, a minister's son has been on the road most of his life. "It's my second skin. I've been on the road since I was six months old. I started singing when I was two."

Local artist Clifton Jansky will bring his country gospel style to the stage along with festival favorites Caliche Hill and the Jordan Family of Bandera.

The gospel stage is sponsored by KSLI radio of San Antonio, said festival director Genie Strickland.

"Other sponsors are Minith Meier New Life Clinics and Woodmen of America," said Strickland. "We are really appreciative of these organizations making it possible to bring top quality gospel entertainment to the Apple Festival this year."

The gospel concerts will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, July 27 and play all day. The International Apple Festival is held at the pecan-tree shaded festival grounds in downtown Medina.

The Festival features plenty of musical entertainment of all kinds, all with great food, arts and crafts, pioneer skills demonstrations and fun for the whole family.

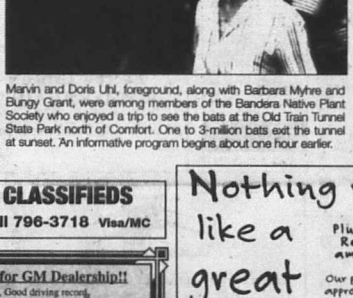
Hot flash! Native Plant Society goes batty!

Twenty-six members of the Native Plant Society headed out to the Old Tunnel State Park to see 1.5 million bats come out of their cave for the nightly feeding.

The benches that formed a half circle up on the cliff above the entrance to the old rail road tunnel were filled with eager onlookers. Park ranger Mike Wallace gave a talk on bats while we waited the expected event.

He gave us lots of bat facts. There are over 1,000 species, mostly in the tropics. They go from itsy bitsy to an over six foot "arm" span. Some look like flying foxes while others that look like flying chihuahuas. Bats fly approximately a 30 mile range a night. They can have about two million babies, or pups, in a nursery of 500 square feet. And the mamas can find their own in that crowd!

Before the oil boom, bat guano was the number one mineral export of Texas. It has to be mined in winter, while the bats are migrating.



The smell around the train tunnel was pretty bad, so you sure hope those guano miners took a bath before they headed home to their dear ones.

The sun was setting.

Suddenly, a single scout bat flew out of the tunnel. Around and around he swooped. A hush fell on the crowd.

Then, they started coming. They poured out of that tunnel and around and around they flew at the entrance, then formed a steady stream looping over the tree tops and off into the sky. A steady whirr of fluttering wings filled the air. Ten or fifteen minutes later they were all gone. It was quite an experience of nature. You should try it! The drive up on old Hwy. 9 out of Comfort is lovely, too.

• At around 6:30 the other morn, we looked up and there was a brilliant, full rainbow, from end to end, right over the whole town of Bandera. Think maybe it was telling us something?

Marvin and Doris Uhl, foreground, along with Barbara Myhre and Bungy Grant, were among members of the Bandera Native Plant Society who enjoyed a trip to see the bats at the Old Train Tunnel State Park north of Comfort. One to 3-million bats exit the tunnel at sunset. An informative program begins about one hour earlier.

MMM GOOD! It's no telling what's in this box lunch, but it's sure to be delicious. It will be auctioned off Sunday at the Cowboy Christmas Box Lunch Social at the Cabaret beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Box lunches, art raise funds for Christmas decor

The festive 3rd Annual Cowboy Christmas Box Lunch Social will be held Sunday, July 21 at 12:30 at the Cabaret in Bandera. All proceeds go to purchasing Christmas lighting for Bandera.

"Bring a decorated picnic basket, box or bag to be auctioned off to the highest bidder," said organizer Judy Hawkins.

Prizes will be awarded for the most artistic boxes.

Participants are asked to decorate a basket, box or unusual container and fill it with lunch for two, four or however many people are in their party. Label the container with how many people it will feed and the contents. Then be prepared to bid on your own or someone else's basket.

Lemonade, iced tea and ice cream will be furnished. Desserts will be a sale. Following the lunch there will be an art and merchandise auction.

"If you are new to Bandera, or a dyed-in-the-wool local, come out and enjoy the fun and maybe pick up a valuable art work for your home," said Hawkins.

Foundation seeks 4-H alumni

COLLEGE STATION - When you ask people what football legend Don Meredith and actress Sissy Spacek have in common, the most frequent answer is that they are both famous. What's also unique is that they are both former Texas 4-H members.

The Texas 4-H Foundation and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, at Texas A&M University are conducting a "4-H Heritage Search" to find as many former 4-H members and friends as possible to join The 4-H Friends and Alumni Association of Texas. The search continues through Dec. 31, 1996.

"The 4-H Friends and Alumni Association of Texas is being established to identify alumni and eventually help strengthen the ongoing Texas 4-H Youth and Development Program," said Bonnie McGee, assistant to the Extension director. "Over the years, alumni have shown support for 4-H in various ways, contributing time, skills, services and dollars."

The new organization allows people to continue their support and enables members to help "today's youth develop such key attributes as leadership, commitment, responsibility, self-confidence and communications skills," McGee added.

The afternoon session from 1-4 p.m. will be an in-depth look at researching Georgia records.

The workshop is sponsored as a public service by the Hill Country DAR Council. The charge is $5 for all day and $3 for a half-day.

The workshop will be conducted by Ella E. Lee Sheffield of Smithville.

Gospel stars on Festival program

Top gospel performer Faye Yates with her Texas Heart 'n Soul band will headline the gospel music stage at the Apple Festival July 27.

Yates, of San Antonio, has six gospel albums to her credit. She is also a songwriter and author. In addition to touring the U.S., Yates has performed in Israel, England, Romania and Yugoslavia.

She was the featured soloist at the 1995 Christian Country Music Association's convention in Nashville. Her latest album is Lord, Give Us America.

Newcomer Greg Long will be performing his hit single, How Long, along with tunes from his album Cross My Heart. Long, a minister's son has been on the road most of his life. "It's my second skin. I've been on the road since I was six months old. I started singing when I was two."

Local artist Clifton Jansky will bring his country gospel style to the stage along with festival favorites Caliche Hill and the Jordan Family of Bandera.

The gospel stage is sponsored by KSLI radio of San Antonio, said festival director Genie Strickland.

"Other sponsors are Minith Meier New Life Clinics and Woodmen of America," said Strickland. "We are really appreciative of these organizations making it possible to bring top quality gospel entertainment to the Apple Festival this year."

The gospel concerts will begin at 9 a.m. on Saturday, July 27 and play all day. The International Apple Festival is held at the pecan-tree shaded festival grounds in downtown Medina.

The Festival features plenty of musical entertainment of all kinds, all with great food, arts and crafts, pioneer skills demonstrations and fun for the whole family.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy Batty

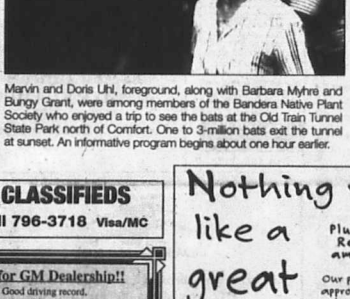
Hot flash! Native Plant Society goes Batty!

Twenty-six members of the Native Plant Society headed out to the Old Tunnel State Park to see 1.5 million bats come out of their cave for the nightly feeding.

The benches that formed a half circle up on the cliff above the entrance to the old rail road tunnel were filled with eager onlookers. Park ranger Mike Wallace gave a talk on bats while we waited the expected event.

He gave us lots of bat facts. There are over 1,000 species, mostly in the tropics. They go from itsy bitsy to an over six foot "arm" span. Some look like flying foxes while others that look like flying chihuahuas. Bats fly approximately a 30 mile range a night. They can have about two million babies, or pups, in a nursery of 500 square feet. And the mamas can find their own in that crowd!

Before the oil boom, bat guano was the number one mineral export of Texas. It has to be mined in winter, while the bats are migrating.



The smell around the train tunnel was pretty bad, so you sure hope those guano miners took a bath before they headed home to their dear ones.

The sun was setting.

Suddenly, a single scout bat flew out of the tunnel. Around and around he swooped. A hush fell on the crowd.

Then, they started coming. They poured out of that tunnel and around and around they flew at the entrance, then formed a steady stream looping over the tree tops and off into the sky. A steady whirr of fluttering wings filled the air. Ten or fifteen minutes later they were all gone. It was quite an experience of nature. You should try it! The drive up on old Hwy. 9 out of Comfort is lovely, too.

• At around 6:30 the other morn, we looked up and there was a brilliant, full rainbow, from end to end, right over the whole town of Bandera. Think maybe it was telling us something?

Marvin and Doris Uhl, foreground, along with Barbara Myhre and Bungy Grant, were among members of the Bandera Native Plant Society who enjoyed a trip to see the bats at the Old Train Tunnel State Park north of Comfort. One to 3-million bats exit the tunnel at sunset. An informative program begins about one hour earlier.

MMM GOOD ... It's no telling what's in this box lunch, but it's sure to be delicious. It will be auctioned off Sunday at the Cowboy Christmas Box Lunch Social at the Cabaret beginning at 12:30 p.m.

Box lunches, art raise funds for Christmas decor

The festive 3rd Annual Cowboy Christmas Box Lunch Social will be held Sunday, July 21 at 12:30 at the Cabaret in Bandera. All proceeds go to purchasing Christmas lighting for Bandera.

"Bring a decorated picnic basket, box or bag to be auctioned off to the highest bidder," said organizer Judy Hawkins.

Prizes will be awarded for the most artistic boxes.

Participants are asked to decorate a basket, box or unusual container and fill it with lunch for two, four or however many people are in their party. Label the container with how many people it will feed and the contents. Then be prepared to bid on your own or someone else's basket.

Apple Festival this Saturday

STEP CAREFULLY -- Tommy Worrell and his longhorn, Sundance, will be on hand to entertain the kids at Saturday's Texas International Apple Festival in Medina. Sundance has been on national television including Discover America on the Disney Channel. He has been on commercials and has performed all across the state. He currently performs on stage at the Diamond W Longhorn Ranch Chuckwagon Supper and Cowboy Show in Helotes. Worrell has appeared with eight Academy Awards winners, including John Wayne, Red Buttons, Shelly Winters and Ernest Borgnine. Happy Shahan at Alamo Village aroused Tommy's interest in longhorns. "I've learned that longhorns are smart animals and are capable of learning how to perform tricks," said Worrell. Check the schedule inside the Apple Festival Program in this issue of The Bulletin to see when Sundance will be performing.

A day at the 9th Annual Texas International Apple Festival will delight the child in everyone! This family-oriented event is designed with the young and the young-at-heart in mind. There are many fun events and plenty of great food - all this Saturday, July 27.

The festival is held on the cool pecan tree shaded banks of the Medina River in downtown Medina.

One of the biggest events of the day is the Apple Pie Contest and the Apple Anything contest.

Much anticipation comes over local and area growers as the judges begin the difficult task of identifying the best apple grown in the state of Texas. Growers from around the world are invited to have their apples judged against Texas pomes. Since no one has apples in July but Texas, the local growers only have each other to fear!

After the winners are selected in these three events there will be an auction of the competitor's products that helps raise money for scholarships for local students.

Take a healthy appetite with you to the festival because you will find a great selection of food to choose from - apple pies, apple ice cream, tarts and cookies are just some of the apple goodies available.

Grab a cold glass of apple cider and sit back and listen to concerts for all musical tastes from blue grass to gospel to German.

Non-profit organizations are urged to enter the Big-Apple-on Races for an attempt to win $100 for their organization. The games start at 2:30 p.m. and the winning team gets the $100 prize. See registration form elsewhere in this issue.

If you have ever been in a Texas apple orchard, there are four starting at the main gate of the festival throughout the day.

RC&D: Searching for project funding

This is the second in a series of articles about the Bandera County Resource Conservation and Development Committee. The RC&D searches for grant funds for local organizations.

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

The Resource Conservation and Development (RC&D) is a grassroots organization dedicated to helping communities develop and protect their natural resources. The group does this by pursuing grant monies that are available throughout the United States for projects that will help to better a community's way of life.

For a $40 membership fee, a group can make use of RC&D's grant searching capabilities, receive assistance with filling out grant request applications, get help putting together a budget that will pass the scrutiny of grant-funders, and more.

In Bandera County, the group B.A.C.I.T. received around $60,000 through the efforts of RC&D to help finish the high school baseball field.

Individuals wishing to help their community can join for $10. This money stays in a fund used for smaller projects in the county.

Although RC&D has been active in Bandera County for only two years, the idea was conceived at a national level over 30 years ago.

Set up by the U.S. Federal Government as a provision of the Food and Agriculture Act of 1962, RC&D falls under the auspices of the Natural Resources Conservation Service.

Bandera County RC&D: Making things happen. Resource Conservation & Development

Bandera County belongs to the Alamo RC&D, a group made up of nine counties, including Kerr, Kendall, Comal, Banders, Guadalupe, Bexar, Medina, Frio and Atascosa counties.

The coordinator for the Alamo Area is Wayne Griffin, and he and his secretary are the only paid people in the organization. Although his offices are in Hondo, Griffin is usually on the road. His salary is also a proviso of the Act.

In each county, a committee meets and receives proposals from different groups, and tries to focus on areas where natural resources can be used to improve the county, or conversely, areas that need improvement.

The Bandera County Committee consists of Joe Cantu, chairman, Ernie Reich, vice-chairman, Jean Cress, secretary/treasurer, Ralph Dresser, Ray Mauer, and Raymond Hicks.

One person from each county committee serves on the nine-member board that represents the Alamo area. This person brings their county's proposed projects before the board, or council.

"Once a project is reviewed by the county level committee and they sign off on it, then it is automatically accepted at the council level," Griffin said. "It has to fit with the objectives in the plan of work, but those are so broad that almost anything will fit in."

Pipe Creek resident Joe Cantu is the Bandera County representative.

"At the beginning of the year we have a work plan," he said, "but it is very flexible and we add projects as they come in."

Almost all the counties in the group have seen some positive effect from their involvement in RC&D.

Bexar County recently was able to build a clubhouse for their 4-H Booster Club.

"For 12 years, they had tried to get

Chamber gets set to wrangle up some rain

Have you had enough of the drouth? Then the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce invites you to come help them "Wrangle the Rain." On Saturday, Aug. 3, the Chamber will sponsor a Wrangle the Rain roundup on the courthouse lawn in downtown Bandera.

"We'll be doing everything we have ever heard of that causes a downpour: a parade, a wedding (shotgun, of course), picnic games, a hangnig out the wash contest, and more," said Patricia Moore, chamber director.

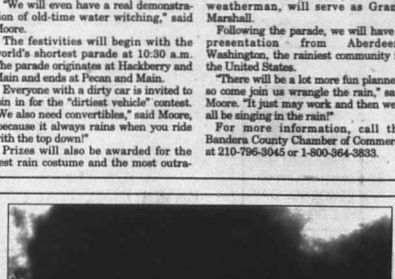
"We will even have a real demonstration of old-time water witching," said Moore.

The festivities will begin with the world's shortest parade at 10:30 a.m. The parade originates at Hackberry and Main and ends at Pecan and Main.

Everyone with a dirty car is invited to join in for the "dirtiest vehicle" contest. "We also need convertibles," said Moore, "because it always rains when you ride with the top down!"

Prizes will also be awarded for the best rain costume and the most outrageous, so everyone is invited to participate in full rain regalia, or at the very least, with an umbrella.

The first person to arrive with a rain stick gets to be drum major of the parade and all other rain stick wielders will bet to be assistants.



Line-up for the mini-parade is 10 a.m. in front of the Silver Sage Corral on Hackberry and 11th.

Judging will take place at 10:20 and awards will be presented in front of the courthouse. Tony Mann, KENS-TV weatherman, will serve as Grand Marshall.

Following the parade, we will have a presentation from Aberdeen, Washington, the rainiest community in the United States.

"There will be a lot more fun planned, so come join us wrangle the rain," said Moore. "It just may work and then we'll all be singing in the rain!"

For more information, call the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce at 210-796-3045 or 1-800-364-3833.

During this past week an incident occurred in our city that I find hard to believe happened. Someone entered the cemetery on Hwy. 173 and caused extensive damage to several headstones. I do not see how a human being can bring themselves to do such a thing. I wonder how this person or persons would feel if this happened to their mother's, father's, or grandparent's grave. Has our society come to the point that we are not safe in our graves?

"I wonder how this person would feel if this happened to their mother's, father's or grandparent's grave."
–Chief Lynn Holt

This is a felony offense in the State of Texas. The police department is investigating this incident fully. Some evidence was recovered and the stones were dusted for fingerprints. I want to encourage anyone having information concerning this incident to contact the police department. You will not be required to give your name or any other identifying information that you do not desire to give.

funding for this project," Griffin said. "They had put together a good project and had already purchased the land."

The group needed an additional $100,000 to construct the building.

"We located 15 to 20 possible funding sources for them," Griffin said. "We were able to get $65,000."

The group made up the additional $15,000 through fundraisers. The building was finished in a year, and is now open for business.

"What we have found is once you start receiving funds from other sources, people want to help and be a part of the success story," Griffin stated.

In Kerr County, RC&D used $17,000 of its own money to help the YO Ranch Fire Department convert a used fire truck they had purchased into a brush truck. It worked well and ...

"For smaller projects, we have funds we are allowed to allocate," Griffin explained. "RC&D is unique that way."

Through working with RC&D, the fire department found ways to save themselves an additional $23,000 they had planned on spending for labor costs.

In Atascosa County, the Evergreen Underwater Management District asked for help putting on a three-county youth camp to discuss and participate in water conservation activities.

"They initially asked for $4,000," Griffin said, "but when we sat down with it, we realized that it would cost them $14,000 to do what they said they were going to do."

RC&D came up with 40 percent of that.

Griffin said that failing to produce a realistic budget was the main problem groups run into when they apply for grant funds.

"The budget needs to be in line with today's costs," he said. "Give a true valuation of the project."

In other words, that project that has sat on the back burner for a few years will probably need to be updated before it will be seriously considered by grant-funders.

"The general rule is that budgets that come to me are about 25 percent of what they really need," he said.

According to him, this makes grant-funders wary of getting involved, and a project with a bad budget will probably end up in the trashcan.

"Even though you may have a good project, how are you going to manage this funding if you can't do a good budget?" he asked. "That's one of the most important things I do. I sit down with them and go over that budget line item by line item. It is called budget justification and it proves that we can do what we said we could do."

Some of Griffin's hints for putting that budget together include showing all donations of time and materials at fair market value.

For example, lumber at cost should be shown at fair market value with any discount shown as a donation.

Or, if there is a carpenter in the organization who plans to donate his time and labor, it should be shown on the budget at labor cost in his profession.

100-year family farms sought

The Texas Department of Agriculture is accepting applications for the 1996 Family Land Heritage Program. The program recognizes farms and ranches that have been in continuous production by the same family for at least 100 years. Some 3,002 farms and ranches have qualified since the recognition program began in 1974.

Announcing the availability of applications, Agriculture Commission Rick Perry called these farm and ranch families the bedrock of Texas agriculture.

"These individuals along with their parents, grandparents and great-grandparents, laid down a solid foundation that helped build Texas agriculture into what it is today — the state's second largest industry," Perry said. "And these honorees will continue to strengthen Texas agriculture through their commitment to hard work and their love of land."

Program applications are available through county judges and the TDA. Deadline for applications to be submitted to TDA is Sept. 15.

Those farms and ranches that qualify will be honored during a January 1997 ceremony in Austin.

Applications may be obtained by writing to Debbie Ellis, the Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, TX 78711; or by calling Ellis at 512-463-7653.

Hearings on new area code planned by Texas PUC

The Texas Public Utility Commission has scheduled five public hearings ... of Aug. 15 or sooner ... and provide information on the implementation of a new area code in the 210 calling area. The 210 area code is projected to run out of numbers in late 1997.

A meeting is scheduled to be held in Kerrville on Thursday, Aug. 15 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Kerrville Railroad Commission Training Center, 125 Lehman Drive and in San Antonio on Aug. 15 from 4:30-7:30 p.m. at the Downtown Central Library, 600 Soledad St.

The Commission will present the following three proposals at the public forums:

• Two area codes: the 210 area code is split so that the San Antonio Metropolitan Exchange, the extended metropolitan ... and the contiguous ... of San Antonio are included in a single area code. The outlying areas which would include Kerrville, Uvalde, Laredo and all the border communities would be in the second area code. The metropolitan area code would exhaust in 2001 and the outstate code in 2005.

• Two area codes initially, then a third area code: the 210 area code is split as above. An additional area code would be implemented as an overlay in the metropolitan area when permanent number portability becomes available. The metropolitan area code would exhaust in 2008 with the addition of an overlay by the year 2001.

• Three area codes: the 210 area code is split into a "donut" ... shape with most of San Antonio in one ... with the ... area code. The norther outlying metropolitan area would be assigned a second area code, and a third area code would be assigned to the south, bordered by the south boundary of Bexar County and including all the territory to the Texas-Mexico border. This will include Laredo, Brownsville and many border cities. Metropolitan area code would exhaust in 2004; north outstate area in 2011 and south outstate area in 2009.

Cowboy poets organize here

The Cowboy Capital Poets Society has recently been organized and is gaining popularity at a rapid pace, says Ken Langley.

Native of Camp Verde and of Bandera County since 1990, Ken Langley echoes the response from locals and tourists alike, "No better headquarters for an organized gathering of cowboy poets than Bandera, the Cowboy Capital of Texas. And it's time to promote the talent in the area."

Cowboy bards and stories are being readied in anticipation of the CCPS feature at the Labor Day All-American Cowboy Get Together sponsored by the Spirit of Texas Band and Saddle Tramp Gap, Inc. at Mansfield Park.

Langley and Rita Cox of Utopia, co-organizers of the CCPS invite all those interested in joining the organization to call 460-8050 or write CCPS, Box 334, Bandera, TX 78003.

Letters to the Editor

You say "drouth," but the computer says "drought"

Dear Editor:

I was heartened to read Peggy [illegible]'s defense of the word "drouth" (instead of drought). I lived in East Texas and Houston most of my life and my family on [illegible] states. When I was growing up I never heard the word "drought"— neither in casual use nor in the various schools I attended. The word used in most speech and writing to name a dry, rainless period of time was "drouth."

Only after the advent of television did we begin to hear an occasional "drought"— and always it emanated from mid-westerners or north-easterners who had begun to pour into Houston. Suddenly weathercasters became popular on TV and they began to display a homogenous speech pattern, not typically Houstonian, which included the word "drought."

My current Random House unabridged dictionary give credence to both words on an equal basis. I personally like the sound of "drouth" much better and certainly can't say "drought" with a southern drawl!

Grants come from your pocket

Dear Editor:

As I read the July 17 Bandera Bulletin I was bewildered and disturbed. So many items in the paper dealt with obtaining money with grants. Here are a few of them:

1. Front page article regarding the RC&D organization. It starts off, "There's free money out there."

2. Page 5 article regarding rural transportation available for seniors. In the latter part of the article, "This is not a government handout." Don't think for a minute that those buses come free and that the fee you'd pay would even come close to covering the cost of the program.

3. Page 9 article regarding the development committee meet-[illegible] programs range from grants to loans." If you use electricity generated by the LCRA then you're paying for it.

I would like to say that there ain't any such thing as free money and that grants DO cost money. They cost each and every one of us thatpays taxes or utility bills. Don't think for one minute that services are FREE. I just can't conceive of people being so naive.

I realize that in these days and times we seem to want someone to diaper, powder and bottle us from the cradle to the grave. Further, there are so many services provided today (paid by tax money) that cause all of us to act irresponsibly. We'd rather let the government do it than assume our responsibility. Consequently, more taxes for more grants.

It is no wonder that our elected officials tell us that they will reduce taxes when and if they're elected. Then when they attempt to do so we scream so loud about cutting services that they can't cut services and reduce taxes.

It can't go on forever. Wake up! It comes out of your pocket and mine.

Alton G. Johnson
Medina

ed. note: We agree the government grant system of funding is not good. But it seems a shame, Mr. Johnson, that since we have already paid the tax money that produced the grant, we should let Hichsville, Idaho build a new park with our tax money and not at least attempt to bring some of it back to Bandera County.

More on dress code

Dear Editor:

Where is Charles Hundley when you need him? When I read about the latest controversy concerning a new dress code, I immediately thought of Mr. Hundley. Some of us remember him as just about the last academic administrator at Bandera ISD (administrators are usually the ones who formulate dress codes.) Now, many administrators are "recycled coaches," as one friend described them.

Remember when the big dress code problems were boys' long hair and facial hair? After several parents called, asking him to enforce rules that most teachers think are a waste of time), he recommended that rules restricting students should be kept to a minimum and aimed to those intended to prevent a disruptive classroom situation.

Disruptive was the key word and productive learning was the goal.

Times do change. Since I left the teaching profession, I work at a job where I meet the public daily. In hot weather I wear shorts. When I wear a t-shirt, it's not tucked in because I find it more comfortable, but it is long enough to hang past the waist. Does it hurt business? Do the customers care? Many, if not most, of them are similarly dressed. Of course, Sully wouldn't want me working in his bank dressed this way, but he wouldn't get too upset if I made a deposit wearing this garb.

No one wants student dress or actions that are disruptive or promote gangs, drug use, or the like. But aren't rule changes better received when teachers, students, parents... all of whom are closely involved in the matter... are consulted and their opinions respected?

Ruth Hay
Bandera

Dear Editor:

Kids should feel comfortable with their dress. We don't all look the same. Some of us are short, tall, skinny, over weight, black hair, red hair, blond hair. We do what we do in order to feel comfortable with ourselves, like leaving our shirts out and coloring our hair. So why are we going to make these kids more self-conscious?

I have a son in the 7th grade who has some facial hair. To me my son is too young to start shaving. I will not let him start shaving, because once you start you can never stop.

The school board should take a really close look at the new dress code. It is not all bad, but some items should be revised.

I know we elected them to do their jobs, and they do a great job, but we did not elect them to do mine as a parent.

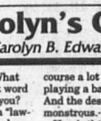
July Moments
by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

It is coming up on my annual summer "bachelorette days" as Poppy and Ben become world-travelers and leave me and the dogs and cat to our own means.

Of course, Ben 'the little traitor' has been gone since the first week. Why a traitor? We took scuba diving lessons TOGETHER this spring, which I PAID FOR, and where is Ben? Off scuba diving in Florida, in fact, he and his dad are exploring an old sunken Spanish galleon.

And do you imagine for a minute that my darling little boy said "Oh, I can't go until mom can come too."

Yeah, right.



Well, he'll come back all tanned, and with a scuba diver attitude, and it will take me at least a month to deprogram him after spending 30 carefree days with his footloose father, where there are no rules, no restrictions, no showers, etc.

It will take a week alone just to get him clean.

Poppy is off for 10 days to San Diego where he will commune with one of his other daughters, and two of his other grandsons.

Back here in Bandera, we have the Apple Festival to look forward to. And it is going to be a great one! It is a great place to get those early Christmas gifts!

Law. What does that word mean to you?

Are you a "law-abiding" citizen? Or is the law something you keep only when it's convenient?

The United States is a country built on law. The U.S. Constitution laid the foundation of law for the country in the 18th century.

The general nature of the document has made it a flexible, living statement of laws that changes with the times but always keeps in touch with the basic foundation.

I haven't really thought much about Law in the past, but recently I began to realize that I have taken it very much for granted.

It's always there, isn't it? So we tend not to think about it much, like the air we breathe.

What happens when someone takes the Law and bends it, twists it to fit his needs? What happens when someone takes only those laws or definitions that suit his situation and applies those little bits and pieces, disregarding the whole body of Law?

Well, I figure that it's something like a basketball game in which four players are playing by the rules while one decides he's going to play however he sees fit. After awhile, the game isn't nearly anymore fun and it really isn't much fun for the players or the spectators.

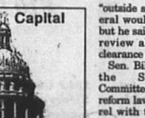
Instead of having a good time, folks start getting frustrated and angry, because THE GAME DOESN'T WORK ANYMORE!

Playing with the Law is of course a lot more serious than playing a basketball game. And the destructive effects are monstrous.

Here's the thing about a country based on Law. If there is a law that you don't like, or feel is oppressive, there are ways (rules of the Game) to change the law. But to be fair to others, and to preserve the Law that is the foundation, the rules have to be followed. Otherwise, you soon find yourself with no game to play.

• It's Apple Festival time again. I don't think I've missed one yet and still look forward to going every year.

With all the bags and boxes of apples for sale from the various local orchards, it's one of the best-smelling festivals you can go to. I just like to stroll along and take deep breaths of apple-scented air.



Genie Strickland and her crew have been working all year to bring the best in music, food, arts and crafts for the enjoyment of the thousands who will trek to scenic Medina this Saturday. It's the best festival in the state, and it's right here in Bandera County!

Be sure to look over the official program of the Apple Festival inserted in this issue of The Bulletin and make your plans to attend. While cool is a relative term in our Texas summer, the Festival grounds, shaded by big pecan trees, are generally pleasant throughout the day.

Board awaits AG's ruling on textbook screening

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN— Ignoring protests by religious conservatives, the State Board of Education voted last week to begin screening textbooks only if the attorney general says it is legal.

In a 10-5 vote that followed some heated debate, board members agreed to ask the attorney general to decide whether they still have authority to screen textbooks for objectionable materials.

Some state officials agree that power to screen textbooks was taken away by the Legislature in its school reform law last year.

But religious conservatives and some lawmakers have argued that the board is not pro-[illegible] books it considers inappropriate.

Board chairman Jack Christie acknowledged that was only an "outside shot" the attorney general would approve screening, but he said the board is ready to review all textbooks if given clearance to do so.

Sen. Bill Ratliff, chairman of the Senate Education Committee, who wrote the 1995 reform law, said he has no quarrel with the board asking the attorney general for an opinion.

"But I am very clear about the law," Ratliff, R-Mount Pleasant, told the Dallas Morning News, insisting that his intent was to shift the major decisions on textbook content from the state to local school boards.

Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney General Dan Morales, said the office will review the question and provide the board with an answer as soon as possible.

GOP Targeting Laney

House Speaker Pete Laney accused a Republican group attempting to seize control of the Texas House of seeking to make the Legislature look like Congress — grid-locked.

"A small group wants the Texas House to adopt the worst partisan aspects of Congress," Laney said.

State Rep. Ken Grusendorf, R-Arlington, chairman of the Campaign for Republican Leadership, said "it's entirely possible that we can achieve a majority in the Senate and an 86-64 majority in the House.

Grusendorf's group listed 27 House seats where it envisions potential Republican victories, including Laney's West Texas District. His GOP opponent is Springlake rancher Hollis Cain.

The Republicans say Gov. George W. Bush would have been able to achieve more of his legislative agenda with a Republican speaker.

But Bush's press secretary, Karen Hughes, said the governor would not campaign against Laney or others in the Legislature who helped him pass his program.

Insurance Rules Invalid

A state "blacklisting" rule blocking inadrance companies from considering another company's decision to drop or refuse to cover a prospective customer is invalid, the Texas Supreme Court has ruled.

The rule, along with another thrown out by the court, was adopted by the Texas Board of Insurance, which was replaced in 1993 by an appointed commissioner.

The first rule also prohibited insurers from denying cove. age or setting rates based on the fact that a prospective customer had been covered in a high-risk pool.

The second rule prohibited insurers from conditioning the [illegible] the purchase of another policy or refusing coverage because the customer owned only one vehicle.

Rod Borderlon, executive director of the Office of Public Insurance Counsel, said when insurers rely on other insurers' decisions, consumers don't get a fair shake from either company.

He said the court made clear that the procedure, not necessarily the rules, was wrong.

But Jerry Johns, president of Southwestern Insurance Information Service, said insurers must consider all the information available.

"The insurance industry is making every effort to provide the best possible price for our customers, and we cannot do that without the tools necessary to evaluate risk," Johns said.

Locals May Share Lottery Cash

State Sen. Tom Hayden, R-Wichita Falls, said he will introduce a bill next year to give cities and counties five cents of every $1 lottery ticket sold within their boundaries.

All lottery revenues now go into the state general fund.

With ticket sales of almost $3.5 billion in the past 12 months, the Texas Lottery is the most successful in North America.

And Sen. Hayden thinks local governments should share in that success.

[illegible] could spend their share of the money under his proposed legislation.

With so many billowing clouds around, we keep thinking that by the time you-all are reading whatever we're managing to write, it will have rained BIG but not too BIG, that the pastures will have greened up, the constal will have made a crop on its own, the river will be running turquoise blue with white riffles, and that the horses can drink in the creek.

Meanwhile, let's hope your well is holding up and that you're employing the kind of conservation measures which will keep our slow-moving Trinity aquifer up to the task of keeping us all alive.

We all live here because we like the feeling of being free, yes? Time was— in the memory of many still around— when we were indeed free. We heated the old cabin and cooked the cornbread with our own wood dragged in from the pasture. Some folks had a shallow well from which they pulled water up on buckets. But Doc Gray remembers walking down what we now call our Cedar Flat to the spring on Miller Creek to carry buckets of water back up the hill to Mama. Thelma Jureczki used to talk about going down the river from the big stone house on Cypress Street in town to fetch buckets for the kitchen. In dry times there was no water in the cistern. Lights at night were provided by coal-oil lamps. That was freedom. Nobody was hooked up to the Big Grid. We succeeded or failed on our own.

Now of course, we all take the Big Grid for granted. With the innovations of the New Deal, brought to Texas by Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson, we plugged into electricity by means of which most of us do almost everything— pumping water, cooking, heating, cooling, running the TV, the computer, and the radio. (It is interesting, isn't it, listening to all those talk-show characters railing against the "gumment," brought to us through the magic of one of the greatest federal projects of all time— the Rural Electrification Administration).

We digress. Citizens inside the city limits of Bandera are on other grids— the city water system and the lines of the Lone Star Gas Company. They work to pay the bills, but don't have to haul water from the river or chop wood. They still feel free.

There is another Big Grid we're all on, town and country, though we don't seem to want to admit it. That is the Big Water Grid of the Trinity Aquifer. The water we so heedlessly bring up from the well we drilled so confidently out in back of the new house doesn't lie just under OUR place. We do have the legal right to capture it there, but it is really part of a vast poorly understood system stretching across the hill country area mostly north of the outcrops of the Balcones Fault. The Trinity Aquifer does not recharge easily.

If the well goes dry that Glen Heinen drilled on our place in 1947 and which the late Howard "Big Foot" Denson, followed by Randy Roberts, has kept going over the fifty years we've had it. We can't stay here. We ain't-a goin' down to the creek, like Doc Gray, to fetch buckets for Mama.

You aren't either. The creek is dry anyway.

In this period of drought stress, with populations exploding in all the hill country counties drawing from the Trinity like Kerr and Kendall, we must try, each on our own, to use as little water as possible. Not just so the next feller down the country can keep his well, but so we can keep ours. If we lose our wells, we lose our freedom, what little we have left.

Thanks to everyone who attended and made the Box Lunch Social a success! Especially the Cabaret for hosting this event.

Don't be a pain in the boat: How to handle storms while on water

Thunderstorms are created when warm, moist air rises, cools and condenses. The transition from a small cloud into a turbulent, electrified storm front can occur in as little as 30 minutes. Although sportsmen may have better luck on cloudy or windy days, being out on a boat in bad weather can be very risky.

When you go out on your boat, you should know the current forecast and have a way to receive warnings and weather advisories while underway. You may want to purchase a small, inexpensive, battery-operated weather radio.

Before setting out, equip your boat properly so you won't be stranded in an emergency:

- A sturdy anchor and line of the appropriate size and length.
- Paddle or oars in case of engine failure or torn sails.
- Visual distress signals to call for help.

If you are caught in a thunderstorm:

- Make sure everyone aboard is wearing a life jacket.
- Secure all loose gear, hatches or ports.
- Determine your location and the best course back to shelter.
- Keep a sharp lookout for other boats and obstructions.

Once the storm hits:

- Try to take the first (and heaviest) gusts of wind on the bow, not abeam. Heading into the wind is the most seaworthy position for most small boats.
- Approach waves at a 45 degree angle to keep the propeller underwater, to reduce the pounding, and to provide a safer and more comfortable ride.
- If there is lightning, unplug radios and all electrical equipment.
- Stay low. Don't make yourself the tallest target.
- Keep away from metal objects that aren't grounded to the boat's protection system.

Mini-Cheer

The BHS Mini-Cheer Camp will be from July 31 to Aug. 2 from 5:30 to 7:30 at the high school. Registration is from 9 to noon on July 24. The cost for the camp is $20 and includes a T-shirt. It is open to ages Pre-K through 6th grade.

On Friday, Aug. 2, at 7 p.m., a performance by all the participants will be given.

The cost is $1 for adults and .50 cents for students, with all the proceeds helping pay for the cheerleaders to attend several competitions.

For more information, call Sara Erfurt at 796-3618 or Pam Lico at 510-6194.

Exercise to feel better

Houston — Want to get more zip in your life? Exercise.

A new brochure produced by the Office of Health Promotion at Baylor College of Medicine on Houston titles, "Vitality, Vim & Vigor: Six Steps to More Energy," recommends ways to boost your energy level.

"Believe it or not, exercise can make you feel less tired," said Dr. Ken Goodrick, an assistant professor of medicine at Baylor's Behavioral Medicine Research Center. "Adopting an exercise routine may not be easy, but it gets easier as you start enjoying the benefits.",

Besides exercise, following a high-carbohydrate, low-fat diet, getting adequate rest, and controlling stress are important ways to reduce fatigue.

"Contrary to popular belief, caffeine can lead to a vicious fatigue cycle," he said. "Gradually decrease the amount of caffeine you drink by one cup of coffee or soda a day. You'll begin to feel more energetic."

Softball Romance

By Jessica Johnson

Geez, what am I doing here, to give satisfaction, to hear crowds cheer?
Or is it solitude and then slowly recuperate.
I can't, I won't, I don't know how sure I've practiced, somewhere, somehow.
The fields so large and I'm so small could I have a chance to hit that ball?
Could I really swing that bat and cause the players to lose their hats by looking up into the sky at my ball, would it fly?
Could I really touch a base
kicking up dirt as I race?
Nah, never, there's not a chance.
My mother says I need romance,
but I want glory and I want pride and I want crowds cheering for my side!
Bit I guess some dreams aren't meant to be not for you and not for me.

Jessica Johnson is a member of the Bandera Major Girls All-Star softball team.

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Guest columnist: Juanita Holleron

The first rule of writing is to write about "what you know best" and that is what I'm going to attempt here.

Silver Sage Corral Senior Activity Center - let's just remove the "Senior" here, for this moment only.

"Old age is in all of our futures" - a good truism. I think mine has done went and gone. Anyway, I want to point out that activities at the Center are all inclusive. All ages can and should benefit from this wonderful place.

If you desire, learn to weave on an old-fashioned loom. This is taught by an outstanding authority, Mr. Harry Webb, one of the volunteers. Harry has traveled extensively to attend weaving schools and seminars, learning new methods of weaving so that he can pass this knowledge in to his students, no age requirements.

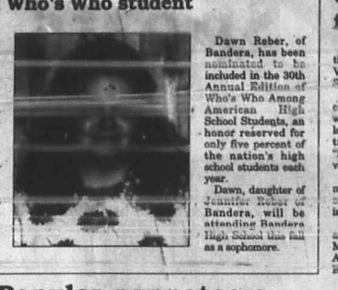
Do you like games? Come and play bridge, skip-bo, dominoes ands others. There's always a friendly person to take up a game with you.

This fall, when activities start picking up again (some of our volunteers are taking a much needed rest and vacation), the Spanish class will begin with our good-natured Rev. Joel Garcia as "el Profesor."

Need a gift for someone, even for yourself? Come and visit the boutique. It has very nice items to offer at a very reasonable donation price.

When you need to find a cool, comfortable place to hang out for a few hours, maybe while they're fixing your car or fumigating your home for ants, etc., come and fill in your time at the Center.

Nice comfortable chairs, plenty of good books, all kinds, to read. On certain days just listen to the music by the Melodiers as they practice for their next performance at some hospital or nursing home, even join in their singing. I'll bet they'll welcome you.



Folks, I said I'd try to write about what I know best. I've left out several things like the once a month birthday luncheons and other activities like ceramics, etc., but I do know about all the things I've written about above.

I help in the kitchen at lunch time, on Thursdays I deliver Meals on Wheels from the Center to Medina (twice a month), and I also take advantage of the weaving classes. I'm sincerely thankful for such a wonderful, caring place to "hang out."

Betty Lebo, I wish to thank you, here, for your splendid management and work at this activity house. You do us all proud.

The Melodiers and the autoharp players will meet to practice on Tuesday, July 30 at 10 a.m. and they'll meet on Tuesday, Aug. 6, at 9:45 a.m. to rehearse and at 11 a.m. will present a program of western songs at the Clark House in Bandera.

Who's Who student

Dawn Reber, of Bandera, has been nominated to be included in the 30th Annual Edition of Who's Who Among American High School Students, an honor reserved for only five percent of the nation's high school students each year.

Dawn, daughter of Jennifer Reber of Bandera, will be attending Bandera High School this fall as a sophomore.

Popular puppeteers playing at Apple Fest

Randy Jordan, director of Welcome Christian Center of Bandera, his wife Kay and their five children will sing and perform their popular Jordan Puppeteers program at the Texas International Apple Festival this Saturday, July 27 in Medina.

The Jordan's ministry primarily focuses on bringing hope and a new start to troubled youth throughout South and Central Texas, said a spokesperson.

They present their concerts inside various TYC units, detention centers and children's homes.

Their children, Gabe, Sarah, Jared, Annah and Lydia range in age from 8-15. For more information about their performances Saturday, refer to the enclosed Apple Festival Program.

The Clark House

Pastor Dennis Thompson from the Bandera United Methodist Church used for his text Sunday, Matthew 12:1-8, "Doing Good." Pianist was Judy Goodenough and guest was Doloras Greene.

On Monday morning, Fannie Caffall, Josie Kluna, Dorothy Callahan and Annette Kalka-Schulte from St. Stanislaus Catholic Church visited, prayed and sang with resident friends Brenda Adam, Jeanetta Adamietz, Nadene Clark, Beulah Faris, Marie Shiflett, Elizabeth Parker, Rena Heinrich and Maude Sprott.

We welcome our new DON, Jill Turner, and assistant DON, Linda Simcox. Come by and get acquainted with our new employees.

Claude Sessions enjoyed a visit from his wife Lillian. Also visiting Claude was Sharlet Lee and Annette Pearce.

Brenda Adam's guests last week were her husband Herb and son Pete of Kerrville, her daughter, Susan Flinger of San Antonio, and another daughter, Wendy Jungman and her daughter Katy of Alva, Okla.

Ann Stackhouse and Olga Bolduc from St. Stanislaus served treats to everyone and passed out beautiful carnations to everyone from a local flower shop.

Bro. Gerald and Sis Pat Desormeaux of Kerrville came by to visit and sing for the residents.

Rev. Michael McManus from St. Stanislaus served communion to members of the church.

We welcome Raymond and Letha Smith to our home and hope they enjoy their stay with us.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

(SPECIAL) -- A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis." and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, buritis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis™ relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis™ is an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream and is available immediately without a prescription and is guaranteed to work. Use only as directed
