The funding for the dry hydrant kits will be supplied by the county, and reimbursed by the Texas Forest Service.

According to Joe Cantu, president of the local RC&D chapter, the Medina Lake Volunteer Fire Department has located containers which could be used to store water above ground in areas where there is no access to a water source.

The Alamo Area RC&D, of which Bandera is a part, is a grassroots organization dedicated to finding funding for projects in counties that enhance and preserve the natural resources of the areas.

Benefits of the dry fire hydrant program include improving fire protection, conserving water, saving money and energy, lowering insurance premiums and operating expenses.

"We are envisioning, county wide, at least 100 of these tanks put in," said MLVFD president Marion Heisler.

The local RC&D asked the commissioners if they would provide refundable financial support to purchase the dry hydrant kits and help retrieve and store the 10,000 gallon tanks the fire department has located.

"It won't cost the county anything," said Wayne Griffin, coordinator for the Alamo Area Conservation and Development Area.

Special concert

Dr. Sigurd Christiansen will direct the Texas Lutheran University Choir when the choir presents a concert of sacred choral music at Grace Lutheran Church in Bandera on Sunday, March 16 at 4 p.m. The public is invited and admission is free.

Comfort theater only for people who like to laugh

That "Crazy Comfort Bunch" as Hondo Crouch (famous humorist and mayor of Luckenbach) once called them, are at it again!

Everyone is in for a wild ride again this year on April 25 and 26, so hold on tight and get ready for "All Roads Lead to Waring" or "It's a Hard Drive with a Floppy Disk in a Two-Bit Ram."

"We want you to laugh, so we are working up some outrageous skits with titles like 'Psychodoodle,' 'Genie,' 'The Statue,' 'Disasters,' and 'Parrot Head' just to name a few," said spokesperson Deborah Hogan.

Comfort Little Theater is a non-profit organization made up of local volunteer talent who work together to write, act and direct this adult humor/variety show. The proceeds from the show each year go to various community organizations and a senior scholarship for a CISD student.

"If you like to laugh and don't mind doing it so hard that you cry, then join us at dark-thirty in Waring, Texas at the Waring Hall," Hogan said.

Tickets are $5 for adults, $10 for children and $50 for crying babies. Homemade sandwiches and a variety of drinks will be available. For more information, call Beth Bourland at 995-2158.

Melius Christiansen, fountier of Minnesota's St. Olaf Choir, and continued by his uncle Olaf Christiansen, director at St. Olaf from 1941 to 1968, and his father Paul Christiansen, long-time director of the Concordia College Choir in Moorhead, Minn.

In its 68th year of touring, the Texas Lutheran University Choir has traveled the nation since its founding. Last year's tour took the choir to California, while the tour this spring includes concerts in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota, and Minnesota.

Choir members are from throughout the nation and beyond, with current members in the select 40-voice choir from [illegible] Tennessee, Texas, Panama, Norway, and Germany.

The choir is open to all majors, so choir members represent a variety of vocational and co-curricular interests.

Bach's motet "The Spirit Also Helpeth Us," Normand Lockwood's "Inscriptions From the Catacombs," John Paynter's "Exultet Coelum Laudibus," African and Scandinavian folk songs, and American spirituals. Also on the program are hymn arrangements including "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Beautiful Savior," "Praise to the Lord," and "Lift High the Cross."

The public is invited to attend the concert. In lieu of an admission charge, contributions will be collected through a voluntary offering to assists in offsetting tour expenses.

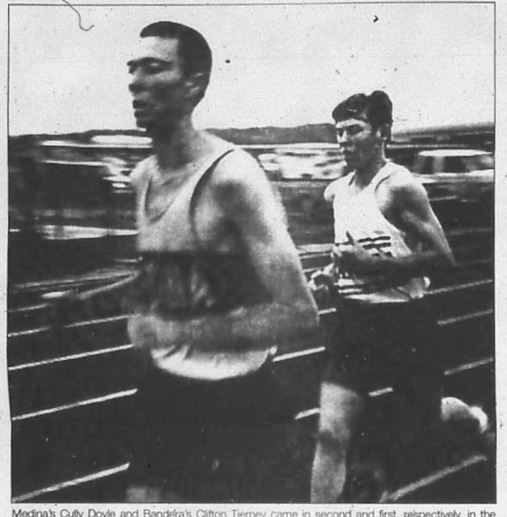
Center Point track meet produces two local winners in Tierney, Doyle

The Bandera varsity boys track team came home with a fourth place as a team from the Center Point Track Meet.



Those scoring took first place in the discus with 155'4" and first in the shotput with 52'. Clifton Tierney took first place in the 3200m run with 10:42.65 and first in the 1600m run with 5:52.65.

"It was a very good meet for the boys in the rain and wind," Coach Greenshields said. "Cliff Tierney ran two very smart races, not for time but to win, using the other runners as wind breaks until time to take the lead. Moehring used his experience in the wet rings to win his events. All the members of both teams showed their competitive spirit in the poor weather conditions."

In the JV division, the young Bulldogs brought home third place as a team.

Ryan Kenney took a first in the 3200m run, and a third in the 1600m run. Jason Cox took a first place in discus and second place in shotput. Michael Gaffney brought home a third in pole vault.

On Saturday, Medina also participated in the Center Point Track Meet and for Medina Rodney Garcia won first place in the JV 1600m run with a time of 5:12.21. He also took second in the 400m dash. Cameron Smith won first place in the JV high jump and teammate Matt Bogler won second in the JV high jump. Cully Doyle won second place in both the varsity 1600m run and the 3200m run.

Medina's Cully Doyle and Bandera's Clifton Tierney came in second and first, respectively, in the Center Point Track Meet's 3200m and 1600m runs.

In the second game, Brent Flack led the team with three runs, followed by MacMillan, Matt Ervin and Jason Salesberry with two each, and Neal Ervin and Jerold Fields with one each.

The coaches cited Brent Flack who pitched over three innings as relief with six strikeouts and one earned run.

Flack also had 4-for-3 with one RBI, Manuel Hernandez was 3-for-two with one RBI, and Neal Ervin was 1-for-1 with two RBI's.

"The Dogs could not hold on to an early lead," Coach Milner said. "Once again, the offense was successful."

The Floresville double header with the blue team saw the young Dogs take the first game 5-0, and lose the second 0-7.

Danny Richardson and Kerry Schindler scored runs for the Bulldogs in the second inning, while Robert Oliver, Robert Herold and Justin Knight had runs in the third.

Bo Pillet, Oliver, Herold and Schindler each stole bases, while Herold and Knight each had an RBI.

Pitcher Kerry Schindler had six strikeouts.

"It was a great first game," Coach Castillo said. "Kerry had good command of his pitches, with a good defensive performance by his teammates."

Nine errors categorized the second game, but pitcher Sonny Ybarra had five strikeouts, and pitcher Danny Richards, coming in at the fourth, had three strikeouts.

"Sonny Ybarra did his job on the mound," Castillo said. "Making the routine play was a problem in the second game. Floresville played a good second game and silenced our bats as well."

On March 7, the JV White team beat Jourdanton 14-6 with pitcher Robert Oliver and relief pitcher Brad Dickey.

"The young men continued to swing the bat well, scoring early and often," Milner said. "We had a better defensive performance than the other night up in Blanco. That made the difference."

Danny Richardson, and Neal Ervin each had three runs, while Jimmy MacMillan, and Matt Ervin each had two runs.

Local homeschoolers Chris and Adam McGhee, pictured with assistant coach Mac McGhee, have been part of a winning basketball team this year. Along with other homeschooled students from Boerne, Helotes, and Bulverde, the Patriots ended their season with 25 wins and only five losses.

Their rivals were other homeschool teams from San Antonio, as well as private schools in the area. Chris and Adam both led the team in points, assists and blocks in many of the games. In the last game, they were both high scorers again with 10 points each.

On March 6, the team will travel to Houston for the State Homeschool Basketball Tournament. When they return they will gear up for the National Homeschool Basketball Tournament and Conference which will be held at UTSA. Basketball teams from all over the United States will come together to compete as well as participate in the conference.

"I am proud not only that the season turned out so well, but I am also proud of the fine character each player displayed throughout the season," Coach McGhee said.

Speed Williams of Sanderson, Fla., and Clay O'Brien Cooper of Bandera, tied for second place in the team roping competition with Ocala, Fla. ropers Brent Aldoff and Fletcher Nail. Both teams clocked 6.5 second times and each man earned $1,820.

Cookoff, river cleaning approved

by Cynthia Wright

A chili cook-off got the go ahead from city council meeting Monday night.

Street Lounge owner Susanne Summers asked for permission to close Main Street between Cypress and Cedar for the event.

Summers plans to hold the [illegible] midnight, and will have chefs from all over Texas. Another attraction will be the 1st Annual Songwriters Exposition, with [illegible] and Luckenbach, among other places.

Cage Corral will also be held.

"We've given this thing a lot of thought," Summers told council members.

Police chief Lynn Holt asked Summers if she would object to [illegible] security using the department's reserve officers.

"I'd love that," Summer said.

Council member Dorothy Darden moved to allow the chili [illegible] ing. The motion passed unanimously.

River Cleaners approached council asking permission to camp in the park while they clean the bottom of the Medina River.

The two men, both scuba divers, clean glass, clean fish hooks, metal, sharp and rusted objects, papers, and other items dangerous to swimmers, from the river bed. Their payment comes from keeping jewelry and other valuables they find.

"Our base pay is what we find in jewelry, coins, relics like old guns," said Tom Conrad, one of the C's in C&C. "For the most part, you wouldn't even know we were there."

The two plan to spend two or three days a week at the city park for three to four months.

Some of the metal value to the city will be turned over to the museum, and the men said they will attempt to locate the owners of class rings.

Although Walter Welch made a motion to deny the men permission to camp in the park, citing a city ordinance that prohibits overnight camping in the park, it died for lack of a second.

Darden remotioned to allow the men to put their camper trailer on the south side of the park. Wilson seconded the motion, and it passed unanimously.

Local students show winners at goat show

Members of Bandera 4-H Club's "Bandera Goat Project" returned home from San Angelo March 3 carrying fistfuls of award ribbons, with Ashley Chaney-Tobin's entry winning the blue ribbon at first in the category of light-weight market goats.

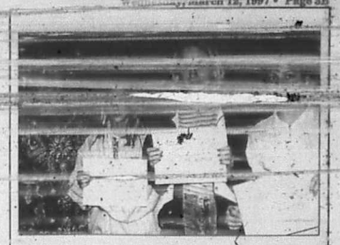
Tara Thigpen's goats placed third in the middle-weight group and seventh among the heavy-weights. Jason Thigpen entered two tuinmals in the heavy-weight category, with high showings of fifth and 19th. In each category the Bandera team was competing against entries of more than 100 goats, with more than 800 entered in the overall competition.

Ashley's goat, "Angelo", a Boer-Nubian cross, had the honor of competing with seven other section winners for grand champion. The winner came from the heavy-weight class.

Team members Melinda Griffin and Nicole Griffin also took part in the show with their market goats.

Accompanying the Bandera team to the show in San Angelo, the sheep and goat capital of the world, were parents Melanie and Warren Thigpen, Denise and Billy Griffin, and Georgina and Tim Tobin. County Extension Agent Thigpen is also the coach and sponsor of the Bandera 4-H Goat Project.

Teams from all over Texas sent entries to the competition, so the high ranking of Bandera is especially noteworthy, said Thigpen. Project members returned to San Angelo Saturday, March 8, for the sale winding up the week-long exposition.



DAV seminar Saturday

Detailed explanations of the full range of benefits available to disabled veterans and their families will be presented at an upcoming Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Veterans Information Seminar.

Like all services provided by the nonprofit DAV, there will be no charge for this informative seminar. It will be presented from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 15, 1997, at the Kerrville VAMC-Auditorium, Memorial Blvd., Kerrville.

A National Service Officer from the DAV's San Antonio office will conduct the seminar. "This veterans' benefits expert offers you the best counseling and claim filing assistance you and your family can get," said Arthur H. Wilson, DAV National Adjutant.

Veterans and members of their families need not be DAV or DAV Auxiliary members to take advantage of this service. They should bring their Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) claim number and Social Security number to the DAV Veterans Information Seminar.

DAR HONOREES -- The Bandera Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution honored three Bandera Middle School students at the Academic Pep Rally held in the Middle School gym on March 3. Latisha Wise, 8th Grade; Saralyn Howell, 7th Grade and Sarah Murphy, 6th Grade were presented with winner's certificates for the DAR's History Essay Contest. Coordinator of the class' participation is 8th grade history teacher, Nancy Erickson,(L). The winners received medals at an earlier meeting of the DAR.

City's main fire truck out of action

CITY Because the city council put a spending cap of $500 on the mayor in the Oct. 14, 1996 meeting, the city has been without the protection of its main fire truck since last Thursday.

Mayor Bob Cowan and council member Dorothy Darden both raised concerns at the meeting about emergencies such as this one arising if the cap, instigated by council member Walter Welch, was implemented.

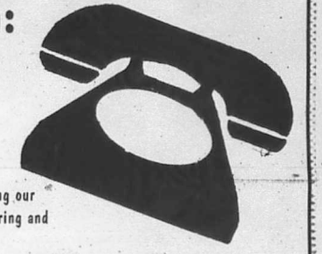
"What I have a problem with is money being spent that we don't know where it went," Welch said, defending his motion.

Council members receive a copy of all bills paid for the previous month at each regular meeting.

Last Thursday, tanker truck #1190 broke down while en route to a brush fire, leaving the city protected only by the smaller truck #1194 since then. The tanker that broke down carries the bulk of the water fire fighters use at structure and brush fires.

Fire chief Tommy Adams, although not on the agenda at Monday night's regular meeting, called for an emergency situation. He told council members it would cost $1700 to get the tanker fixed.

Since Adams was not on the agenda, no motion could be passed to get the money allotted and the truck fixed.



"Will the shop start work on the truck with no money up front?" Mayor Cowan asked Adams.

Adams replied that he thought the shop probably would.

No action was taken.

Danny Richardson and Kerry Schindler scored runs for the Bulldogs in the second inning, while Robert Oliver, Robert Herold and Justin Knight had runs in the third.

Bo Pillet, Oliver, Herold and Schindler each stole bases, while Herold and Knight each had an RBI.

Pitcher Kerry Schindler had six strikeouts.

"It was a great first game," Coach Castillo said. "Kerry had good command of his pitches, with a good defensive performance by his teammates."

Nine errors categorized the second game, but pitcher Sonny Ybarra had five strikeouts, and pitcher Danny Richards, coming in at the fourth, had three strikeouts.

"Sonny Ybarra did his job on the mound," Castillo said. "Making the routine play was a problem in the second game. Floresville played a good second game and silenced our bats as well."

On March 7, the JV White team beat Jourdanton 14-6 with pitcher Robert Oliver and relief pitcher Brad Dickey.

"The young men continued to swing the bat well, scoring early and often," Milner said. "We had a better defensive performance than the other night up in Blanco. That made the difference."

Danny Richardson, and Neal Ervin each had three runs, while Jimmy MacMillan, and Matt Ervin each had two runs.

Bobcats take loss at Comfort

The Medina baseball team traveled to Comfort on Tuesday, March 4 and came away with the loss 4-14 when the game was called in the fifth inning due to the 10-run rule.

For Medina, Phillip Haines pitched the first of the fives inning game and Medina trailed 7-1. Cully Doyle stepped up to the mound and Medina trailed 13-2 after four innings of play. Jonathan Johnson took a turn at pitching for the end of the fifth.

For Medina, Haines had a two-base hit and walked twice, making one run. Bo Evans was walked once as he took a hit by the pitcher and scored one. Brad Armstrong walked twice and scored one, Michael Walshe had a base hit and an RBI, Johnson walked once, Chris Pump had a walk and Mike Parks had a solo left field homerun.

Texans win at roping

In professional rodeo news, Turtle Powell of Alpine, Texas and Wayne Folmer of El Paso, roped their steer in 5.9 seconds to win the team roping title at the $84,768 Silver Spurs 98th Semi-Annual Rodeo Feb. 21-23 in Kissimmee, Fla. Each man earned $2,263.

Speed Williams of Sanderson, Fla., and Clay O'Brien Cooper of Bandera, tied for second place in the team roping competition with Ocala, Fla. ropers Brent Aldoff and Fletcher Nail. Both teams clocked 6.5 second times and each man earned $1,820.

Local homeschoolers Chris and Adam McGhee, pictured with assistant coach Mac McGhee, have been part of a winning basketball team this year. Along with other homeschooled students from Boerne, Helotes, and Bulverde, the Patriots ended their season with 25 wins and only five losses.

Their rivals were other homeschool teams from San Antonio, as well as private schools in the area. Chris and Adam both led the team in points, assists and blocks in many of the games. In the last game, they were both high scorers again with 10 points each.

On March 6, the team will travel to Houston for the State Homeschool Basketball Tournament. When they return they will gear up for the National Homeschool Basketball Tournament and Conference which will be held at UTSA. Basketball teams from all over the United States will come together to compete as well as participate in the conference.

"I am proud not only that the season turned out so well, but I am also proud of the fine character each player displayed throughout the season," Coach McGhee said.

The family of Bob Ashley wishes to thank each and every one for the kindness shown to us during this difficult time.
Your prayers, cards, comforting words, andhelpful deeds are greatly appreciated.

Cookoff, river cleaning approved

by Cyndi Wright

A chili cook-off got the go ahead from city council members Monday night.

Street Lounge owner Susanna Summers asked for permission to close 14th Street between Cypress and Cedar for the event.

Summers plans to hold the midnight, and will have chefs from all over Texas. Another attraction will be the 1st Annual Songwriters Exposition, with [illegible] and Luckenbach, among other places.

[illegible] Stage Corral will also be held.

"We've given this thing a lot of thought, Summers told council members.

Police chief Lynn Holt asked Summers if she would object to [illegible] security using the department's reserve officers.

"I'd love that," Summer said.

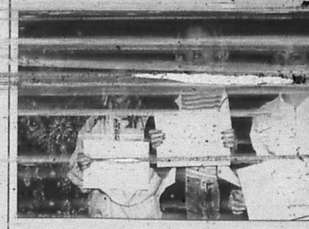
Council member Dorothy Darden moved to allow the chili [illegible] ing. The motion passed unanimously.

River Cleaners approached council asking permission to camp in the park while they clean the bottom of the Medina River.

The two men, both scuba divers, clean glass, cans, fish hooks, metal, sharp and rusted objects, papers, and other items dangerous to swimmers, from the river bed. Their payment comes from keeping jewelry and other valuables they find.

"Our base pay is what we find in jewelry, coins, relics like old guns," said Tom Conrad, one of the C's in C&C. "For the most part, you wouldn't even know we were there."

The two plan to spend two or three days a week at the city park for three to four months.



[illegible] we find [illegible] coins, relics like old guns."

-Tom Conrad

Some of historical value to the city will be turned over to the museum, and the men said they will attempt to locate the owners of class rings.

Although Walter Welch made a motion to deny the men permission to camp in the park, citing a city ordinance that prohibits overnight camping in the park, it died for lack of a second.

Darden remotioned to allow the men to put their camper trailer on the south side of the park. Wilson seconded the motion, and it passed unanimously.

DAR HONOREES -- The Bandera Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution honored three Bandera Middle School students at the Academic Pep Rally held in the Middle School gym on March 3. Latisha Wise, 8th Grade; Sara Howell, 7th Grade and Sarah Murphy, 6th Grade were presented with winner's certificates for the DAR's History Essay Contest. Coordinator of the class' participation is 8th grade history teacher, Nancy Erickson (L). The winners received medals at an earlier meeting of the DAR.

Local students show winners at goat show

Members of Bandera 4-H Club's "Bandera Goat Project" returned home from San Angelo March 3 carrying fistfuls of award ribbons, with Ashley Chaney-Tobin's entry winning the blue ribbon at first in the category of light-weight market goats.

Tara Thigpen's goats placed third in the middle-weight group and seventh among the heavy-weights. Jason Thigpen entered two animals in the heavy-weight category, with high showings of fifth and 19th. In each category the Bandera team was competing against entries of more than 100 goats, with more than 800 entered in the overall competition.

Ashley's goat, "Angelo", a Boer-Nubian cross, had the honor of competing with seven other section winners for grand champion. The winner came from the heavy-weight class.

Team members Melinda Griffin and Nicole Griffin also took part in the show with their market goats.

Accompanying the Bandera team to the show in San Angelo, the sheep and goat capital of the world, were parents Melanie and Warren Thigpen, Denise and Billy Griffin, and Georgina and Tim Tobin. County Extension Agent Thigpen is also the coach and sponsor of the Bandera 4-H Goat Project.

Teams from all over Texas sent entries to the competition, so the high ranking of Bandera is especially noteworthy, said Thigpen. Project members returned to San Angelo Saturday, March 8, for the sale winding up the week-long exposition.

City's main fire truck out of action

CITY Because the city council put a spending cap of $500 on the mayor in the Oct. 14, 1996 meeting, the city has been without the protection of its main fire truck since last Thursday.

Mayor Bob Cowan and council member Dorothy Darden both raised concerns at the meeting about emergencies such as this one arising if the cap, instigated by council member Walter Welch, was implemented.

"What I have a problem with is money being spent that we don't know where it went," Welch said, defending his motion.

Council members receive a copy of all bills paid for the previous month at each regular meeting.

Last Thursday, tanker truck #1190 broke down while en route to a brush fire, leaving the city protected only by the smaller truck #1194 since then. The tanker that broke down carries the bulk of the water fire fighters use at structure and brush fires.

Fire chief Tommy Adams, although not on the agenda at Monday night's regular meeting, called for an emergency situation. He told council members it would cost $1700 to get the tanker fixed.

Since Adams was not on agenda, no motion could passed to get the money allo and the truck fixed.

"Will the shop start wor the truck with no money front?" Mayor Cowan as Adams.

Adams replied that he tho the shop probably would.

No action was taken.

DAV seminar Saturday

Detailed explanations of the full range of benefits available to disabled veterans and their families will be presented at an upcoming Disabled American Veterans (DAV) Veterans Information Seminar.

Like all services provided by the nonprofit DAV, there will be no charge for this informative seminar. It will be presented from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. on March 15, 1997, at the Kerrville VAMC-Auditorium, Memorial Blvd., Kerrville.

A National Service Officer from the DAV's San Antonio office will conduct the seminar. "This veterans' benefits expert offers you the best counseling and claim filing assistance you and your family can get," said Arthur H. Wilson, DAV National Adjutant.

Veterans and members of their families need not be DAV or DAV Auxiliary members to take advantage of this service. They should bring their Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) claim number and Social Security number to the DAV Veterans Information Seminar.

Springhills WMD urges citizen input for SB 1

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Staff Writer

Springhills Water District General Manager Cameron Cornett finds cause to like some Senate Bill 1, but he also sees some matters for concern.

Cornett hopes local citizens will contact their state representatives expressing their opinions on the bill that will set the course for Texas water law for the next 50 years.

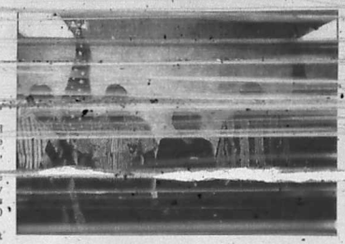
"We got a lot of what we asked for," said Cornett, referring to changes made to SB 1 as it goes through the legislative committee process.

"We kept the right of capture," Cornett said. The right of capture has been a traditional cornerstone of Texas water law, giving property owners the right to any water that lies under their land. "We were concerned about what separating the water rights from the property would do to land values," Cornett said.

Cornett was also pleased that the bill looks at providing funding for various water studies. "That's something we need here," Cornett said.

Cornett remains concerned about the regionalization of water districts in the bill and the power given to the Texas Water Development Board to control and even dissolve locally elected water districts like Springhills.

"Austin could come in here and tell the local people what to do," said Cornett. "They could dissolve the district and the assets would go to the state."



The senate bill proposes to require local water districts to develop water management plans. Cornett likes that idea, but he says "they want our management plan to fit in with a regional plan." Cornett would prefer that any regional plans be developed from local plans instead. "We're also concerned about who will control the regional districts," Cornett said.

The bill also proposes changing areas previously designated as critical water areas to priority areas. The time frame would cause nearly all of Texas to be categorized as priority areas, Cornett said.

Cornett also feels some of the fines which can be assessed by the Water Master for violations are excessive at up to $10,000 per day.

For more information about SB 1, call the Springhills Water Management District at 796-7260.

Citizens can contact Bandera County's State Senator Jeff Wentworth at 210-826-7800. State Representative Bob Turner will sponsor the House version of the bill. Contact his office at 512-463-0644.

Woodmen of the World representatives Dand Sandidge (R) and Martin Smith (L) presented new flags and stands for use in the Justice of the Peace Court in the Lakehills Courthouse Annex. Accepting the flags were Constable Ernie Reich, JP Bobbie Basinger and Commissioner Dan Alanis.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi Y'all! As we sit here writing this there is a stationary front up over the Fredericksburg, Kerrville area dumping some of that wet stuff. We are hoping it will drift down here and stall out over us. We sure need a lot more rain to soak down into our aquifer.

With very heavy heart we received the sad news of the passing of Mary Biederman. Mary always had some kind of barb to trade with us when we met somewhere. We will all miss this fine lady and we extend our sympathies to Rudy, Bill, Susan and Billy and the rest of the family.

Former EMT Fern MacDonald went into the hospital last week. She suffered a stroke but is recovering at the Methodist Hospital in S.A.

We are still working on our data bank for our MLVFD fee letter mail out. We are still receiving checks from those who don't want to wait. For those who need any info on our new system please call us and we can talk all night about it. For those who still need this information the voluntary fee is $24.00 per year, mail to MLVFD P.O. Box 451, Lakehills, Texas 78063. We hope to have our letters out shortly. Those who have already mailed checks will be receiving a card acknowledging receipt of your fee. The MLVFD appreciate your generous response.

While we were sitting here thinking about the fee system, we happened to think that in a little over a month we will be putting on our spring Bar-B-Que. This annual event will be on Saturday only now. So everyone will need to make adjustments to their schedules and calendars. The event will still have the delicious barbecue with all the potato salad and such but will go on from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, April 26. We hope all our friends who usually come on Sunday will get the news and come in on Saturday. We don't want anyone missing this good food! Be sure to ask your friends and neighbors if they heard about our new schedule.

Our peach trees are starting to bloom but we still haven't seen any buds on the mosquitos so we figure the Easter cold spell is still up there somewhere just waiting to get all our tomato plants. We will all have to pay close attention to the weather guessers and use our sixth sense to beat old-man frost. We wish all of y'all good luck in this effort.

Well, we have been ambling on long enough. We better go get to work. Till next week we will be looking for you over the back fence.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

The auditorium was full to over flowing, with standing room only at the back. The lights dimmed, and a voice boomed out, "Tonight, Bandera High School. Next year, the Alamodome!" The crowds stood and cheered and thus began the 21st annual Amateur Show for grades K through 5! And what a show. This was Karla Kelley's 11th year as production manager and when she was introduced, the crowd went wild. They love her!

The "Colors" came down the aisles and were presented on stage. The huge crowd rose as one, " I pledge allegiance to the flag . . ." And, then, the show began. Act after act, 44 in all, came on, each one unique and wonderful in its own right. Children and young people reciting poetry, doing jokes, acting in skits, dancing, singing, acrobating, lip sincing, baton twirling, and fiddle playing and on and on.

Costumes were fantastic. Some store bought, and all agliter and shimmering with sequins; others home made-exactly right for whatever the act. A lot of thought and effort were put into them.

And the acts themselves were terrific. Bandera must be a county to beat all counties when it comes to talent. They had it all and were so poised as if they had been in show biz forever!

The 5th graders annually put on this production. They are ticket collectors, ushers, runners, stage hands, lights, sound techs, and a 5th grader even did a magnificent backdrop that was the theme of the evening, "Power of the Dream." The backdrop was so alive, it was jumpin' for joy!

The annual tradition cracked up the audience. We were holding our sides with tears running down our cheeks. A group of boys dressed up like their favorite teachers at Alkek (women, that is!) They were so funny as they imitated these teachers.

Then, the last act came on, the curtain raised-and it was The Beatles! "Shake it up baby, twist and turn." Behind them, came a whole chorus line of "Beatles" twisting and turning. Then in front came a whole chorus line of darling, handsome little boys, who, you could tell, were all boys but were dressed as all the women teachers of Alkek. They were a riot and put the whole audience into an uproar.

Prizes were then given out, but who cared! They all won, the audience won, the school won, the world won! Don't miss this next year. The only charge One Dollar and that's for over four hours of sheer fun!

Over 50 group returns to new EZ-Go golf carts

The Over 50 Golf Association will return to Bandera's Flying L golf course for its next outing to start at 9:30 on Tuesday, March 18.

Sixty-seven players turned out at Devine's Municipal course on March 5. Cold north winds contributed to the high scores that were registered.

Emerging in first place with a card on only three-under-par 69 was the team of Easy Eason, Janie King, Harry Brehm and Sid Garcia.

Second place money went to Al Kindla, Luke Collett, Warren Healer and Ray Raymond with a 70.

One shot off that pace was the team of Drury Hinton, Doris McOskar, Floyd McOskar and T.L. Proctor.

Also posting a 71, but losing to a scorecard playoff, were Howard Van Winkel, Gary Prejean, Bev Rust and Jack Lawlor.

Because of the large field, five places were paid and the fifth spot at even par went to Terry Hedrick, Val Edwards, Scotty Sleeth and Charles Hood.

At Bandera's Flying L course, golfers will be happy to see a new fleet of EZ-Go golf carts.

"The new carts have been purchased and they have more power, coolers and sand buckets," said John Junker, general manager.

Ladies play Scramble

On Tuesday, March 4, the Flying L Ladies played a Florida scramble. The team comprised of Pat Andrews, Mary Conley, Dorothy Darden, Jeanine Donahoo, and Sue Kruse won the tournament with a sizzling 73. Prior to play, Cissy Elkins hosted a luncheon meeting.

Bandera Bulldogs already surpass last season's record

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Robbie Garza

The 1997 Bandera Varsity Bulldog baseball team has already left last year's record in the dust after winning their first game against TMI 2-1, and taking on Mason in a double header on Feb. 28 that ended with the Bulldogs recording wins in both contests.

The Dogs also lost one game to Pearsall on March 3 with a score of 6-8.

New head coach Robbie Garza has optimistic hopes for his team.

"The scrimmages were fine," Garza said. "Basically for our pitchers it's coming along fine."

Defense is where the team seems to stand out the best, however. Most of the team are returning players from last year.

"What has stood out in the games is our defense," Garza said. "We are making good progress. We need to work every day to be able to compete."

Unfortunatly the early spring weather has not cooperated with the team. Rain washed out many of the practice days.

Some of the up and coming players the coach cited for this year included seniors Travis D'Spain, Stephen Rodriguez and Allan Torans.

"Travis looked well pitching," Garza said. D'Spain will pitch and play first base.

Rodriguez will work some as a pitcher, but will mostly be used as a back-up catcher.

"He is a versatile player," the coach said.

Torans will pitch and play right field.

"He is our starting right fielder," Garza said, adding that Torans made a diving catch that helped win the game against TMI.

"The kids are working well together," he said. "We are looking to the future. Their confidence is at a real high level. They believe in themselves and what they are doing."

Highlights - Mason

The Bulldogs came up against Mason in a doubleheader on Feb. 28, and came away with the win in both games.

IN the first contest, the Dogs took the win 17-4.

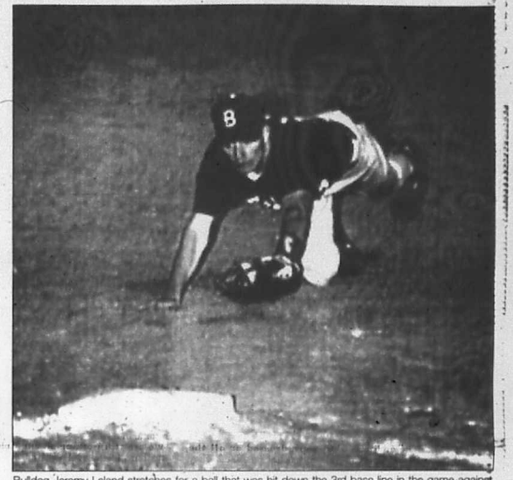
"The team shows promise at the plate with nine different players contributing at least one hit," Coach Garza said.

The coach cited Simon Gray as four for five with a double and four RBI's, Pat Mazurek as four for six with a double and four RBI's, and Bryan Bass as two for two with two RBI's and four walks.

In game two, Gray was again cited for three of three with three RBI's, Leal was cited for striking out three, and Allen Torans was cited for one for two with one RBI and scoring three runs.

"Leal looked exceptional on the mound," Garza said. "It was another impressive hitting performance by the Bulldogs."

Highlights - Pearsall



The Bulldog's took on Pearsall on March 3 and came away with their first loss of the season 6-8.

Coach Garza attributed the loss to the lack of practice time the Bulldogs experienced earlier.

"The Bulldogs had a very poor defensive game, but did show a lot of promise at the plate," he said.

Torans went two for three in the game, and Bass was two for four.

The win was aided by Lytle pitchers walking the Lady 'Dogs 11 times.

"We played with only 10 girls since some were competing in regional choir," Coach Darryl Rogers said. "We played a slow game and hope to pick up the pace against Medina Valley on Friday."

Carilee Robbins was cited by the coach for a single and bringing in one RBI. Nicole Wyllie hit a triple with no one on.

Pitcher Sandy Heath struck out five girls in the three innings she pitched.

The Bandera JV White baseball team took two losses to Blanco in a double header on March 3, but the JV Blue team snagged a win against Floresville in a double header on March 4.

In the Blanco games, Coaches Milner and Castillo blamed the losses on a poor defensive showing by the young team who saw a 9-1 deficit in the second inning of the first game. The Bulldogs lost the first game 8-15, and the score of the second was 11-17.

In the first, Jimmy MacMillan and Matt Ervin led the team in runs, scoring two each, followed by Dustin Mayfield, Neal Ervin, Jerod Fields and Logan Pike with one each.

Matt Ervin was cited by the coach for 3-of-2 with two RBI's, Mayfield was 3-for-2 with two RBI's, Neal Ervin was 3-of-2 with two RBI's, and Brad Dickey was 1-for-1 with two RBI's.

"Offensively we did a good job, but our defense will have to improve in order to be successful down the road," Coach Milner said. "They played with a lot of heart, not giving up."

Springhills WMD urges citizen input for SB 1

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Springhills Water District General Manager Cameron Cornett finds order to the Senate Bill 1, but he also sees some matters for concern.

Cornett hopes local citizens will contact their state representatives expressing their opinions on the bill that will set the course for Texas water law for the next 50 years.

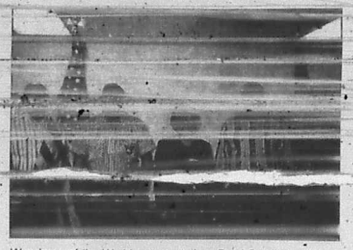
"We got a lot of what we asked for," said Cornett, referring to changes made to SB 1 as it goes through the legislative committee process.

"We kept the right of capture," Cornett said. The right of capture has been a traditional cornerstone of Texas water law, giving property owners the right to any water that lies under their land. "We were concerned about what separating the water rights from the property would do to land values," Cornett said.

Cornett was also pleased that the bill looks at providing funding for various water studies. "That's something we need here," Cornett said.

Cornett remains concerned about the regionalization of water districts in the bill and the power given to the Texas Water Development Board to control and even dissolve locally elected water districts like Springhills.

"Austin could come in here and tell the local people what to do," said Cornett. "They could dissolve the district and the assets would go to the state."



The senate bill proposes to require local water districts to develop water management plans. Cornett likes that idea, but he says "they want our management plan to fit in with a regional plan." Cornett would prefer that any regional plans be developed from local plans instead. "We're also concerned about who will control the regional districts," Cornett said.

The bill also proposes changing areas previously designated as critical water areas to priority areas. The time frame would cause nearly all of Texas to be categorized as priority areas, Cornett said.

Cornett also feels some of the fines which can be assessed by the Water Master for violations are excessive at up to $10,000 per day.

For more information about SB 1, call the Springhills Water Management District at 796-7260.

Citizens can contact Bandera County's State Senator Jeff Wentworth at 210-826-7800. State Representative Bob Turner will sponsor the House version of the bill. Contact his office at 512-463-0644.

Woodmen of the World representatives David Sandidge (C) and Martin Smith (L) presented new flags and stands for use in the Justice of the Peace Court in the Lakehills Courthouse Annex. Accepting the flags were Constable Ernie Reich, JP Bobbie Basinger and Commissioner Dan Alanis.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler

Hi Y'all! As we sit here writing this there is a stationary front up over the Fredericksburg, Kerrville area dumping some of that wet stuff. We are hoping it will drift down here and stall out over us. We sure need a lot more rain to soak down into our aquifer.

With very heavy heart we received the sad news of the passing of Mary Biederman. Mary always had some kind of barb to trade with us when we met somewhere. We will all miss this fine lady and we extend our sympathies to Rudy, Bill, Susan and Billy and the rest of the family.

Former EMT Fern MacDonald went into the hospital last week. She suffered a stroke but is recovering at the Methodist Hospital in S.A.

We are still working on our data base for our MLVFD fee letter mail out. We are still receiving checks from those who don't want to wait. For those who need any info on our new system please call us and we can talk all night about it. For those who still need this information the voluntary fee is $24.00 per year, mail to MLVFD P.O. Box 451, Lakehills, Texas 78063. We hope to have our letters out shortly. Those who have already mailed checks will be receiving a card acknowledging receipt of your fee. The MLVFD appreciate your generous response.

While we were sitting here thinking about the fee system, we happened to think that in a little over a month we will be putting on our spring Bar-B-Que. This annual event will be on Saturday only now. So everyone will need to make adjustments to their schedules and calendars. The event will still have the delicious barbecue with all the potato salad and such but will go on from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. on Saturday, April 26. We hope all our friends who usually come on Sunday will get the news and come in on Saturday. We don't want anyone missing this good food! Be sure to ask your friends and neighbors if they heard about our new schedule.

Our peach trees are starting to bloom but we still haven't seen any buds on the mesquites so we figure the Easter cold spell is still up there somewhere just waiting to get all our tomato plants. We will all have to pay close attention to the weather guessers and use our sixth sense to beat old man frost. We wish all of y'all good luck in this effort.

Well, we have been ambling on long enough. We better go get to work. Till next week we will be looking for you over the back fence.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

The auditorium was full to over flowing, with standing room only at the back. The lights dimmed, and a voice boomed out, "Tonight, Bandera High School. Next year, the Alamodome!" The crowds stood and cheered and thus began the 21st annual Amateur Show for grades K through 5! And what a show. This was Karla Kelley's 11th year as production manager and when she was introduced, the crowd went wild. They love her!

The "Colors" came down the aisles and were presented on stage. The huge crowd rose as one, " I pledge allegiance to the flag. . ." And, then, the show began. Act after act, 44 in all, came on, each one unique and wonderful in its own right. Children and young people reciting poetry, doing jokes, acting in skits, dancing, singing, acrobatting, lip sincing, baton twirling, and fiddle playing and on and on.

Costumes were fantastic. Some store bought, and all agliter and shimmering with sequins; others home made exactly right for whatever the act. A lot of thought and effort were put into them.

And the acts themselves were terrific. Bandera must be a county to beat all counties when it comes to talent. They had it all and were so poised as if they had been in show biz forever!

The 5th graders annually put on this production. They are ticket collectors, ushers, runners, stage hands, lights, sound techie, and a 5th grader even did a magnificent backdrop that was the theme of the evening. "Power of the Dream." The backdrop was so alive, it was jumpin' for joy!

The annual tradition cracked up the audience. We were holding our sides with tears running down our cheeks. A group of boys dressed up like their favorite teachers at Allek (women, that is!) They were so funny as they imitated these teachers.

Then, the last act came on, the curtain raised and it was The Beatles! "Shake it up baby, twist and turn." Behind them, came a whole chorus line of "Beatles" twisting and turning. Then in front came a whole chorus line of darling, handsome little boys, who, you could tell, were all boys but were dressed as all the women teachers of Allek. They were a riot and put the whole audience into an uproar.

Prizes were then given out, but who cared! They all won, the audience won, the school won, the world won! Don't miss this next year. The only charge One Dollar and that's for over four hours of sheer fun!

Over 50 group returns to new EZ-Go golf carts

The Over 50 Golf Association will return to Bandera's Flying L golf course for its next outing to start at 9:30 on Tuesday, March 18.

Sixty-seven players turned out at Devine's Municipal course on March 5. Cold north winds contributed to the high scores that were registered.

Emerging in first place with a card on only three-under-par 69 was the team of Easy Eason, Janie King, Harry Brehm and Sid Garcia.

Second place money went to Al Kindla, Luke Collett, Warren Healer and Ray Raymond with a 70.

One shot off that pace was the team of Drury Hinton, Doris McOskar, Floyd McOskar and T.L. Proctor.

Also posting a 71, but losing to a scorecard playoff, were Howard Van Winkel, Gary Prejean, Bev Rust and Jack Lawlor.

Because of the large field, five places were paid and the fifth spot at even par went to Terry Hedrick, Val Edwards, Scotty Sleeth and Charles Hood.

At Bandera's Flying L course, golfers will be happy to see a new fleet of EZ-Go golf carts.

"The new carts have been purchased and they have more power, coolers and sand buckets," said John Junker, general manager.

Ladies play Scramble

On Tuesday, March 4, the Flying L Ladies played a Florida scramble. The team comprised of Pat Andrews, Mary Conley, Dorothy Darden, Jeanine Donahoo, and Sue Kruse won the tournament with a sizzling 73. Prior to play, Cissy Elkins hosted a luncheon meeting.

Bandera Bulldogs already surpass last season's record

Robbie Garza

The 1997 Bandera Varsity Bulldog baseball team has already left last year's record in the dust after winning their first game against TMI 2-1, and taking on Mason in a double header on Feb. 28 that ended with the Bulldogs recording wins in both contests.

The 'Dogs also lost one game to Pearsall on March 3 with a score of 6-8.

New head coach Robbie Garza has optimistic hopes for his team.

"The scrimmages were fine," Garza said. "Basically for our pitchers it's coming along fine."

Defense is where the team seems to stand out the best, however. Most of the team are returning players from last year.

"What has stood out in the games is our defense," Garza said. "We are making good progress. We need to work every day to be able to compete."

Keen's unique style bringing success

Major music star Robert Earl Keen, and his award-winning Readhouse band, will be showing off their major Saturday, March 22 at The [illegible] first time to perform in Bandera, his hometown, and he says he is doing it now because it sounded like a worthwhile project.

[illegible] summer, Lee Winright told me there was nothing to do here, no place to go," Keen said. "At the same time, Johnny Boyle approached me about this youth center. It just happened at the right time."

Winright, who is from Medina, works for Keen.

The performance celebrates two of the [illegible] youth, Bandera County Youth [illegible] Bandera Aggie Association. [illegible] Bandera, eighty percent of the receipts will go the youth center, with 20 percent going to the scholarship fund.

"Tickets for this major event are $15 at the door, or by credit card at (210) 460-3095.

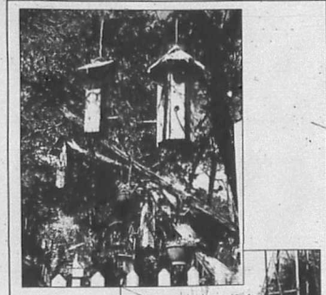
Keen said he and his band are used to major crowds.

"We sell out all the places we go all over Texas," he said. "I'd like to sell out The Cabaret if possible. I want them [illegible] to be as much [illegible]

And just because it is a benefit concert, Keen says the concert attendees won't be getting anything less.

"It's a full-blown concert," he said. "It's going to be a regular Robert Keen show. All the songs everybody likes to hear that I'm known for, plus some new ones from my upcoming album."

Keen crosses the line dividing folk and country and travels far from popular songwriting's beaten path, exploring the trails of loneliness, the raod and regret. His lyrics are recognized by the heart and soul. In [illegible] combines [illegible] wah and rap, Keen delivers the complex worlds of the [illegible] with hope, humor and virtue.



Keen's journeys, and the songs resulting, have yielded six albums and turned him into something of a cult hero, with a new crowd of young, enthusiastic followers that flock to his concerts and sing along with every song.

And although he has [illegible] save he likes Bandera best.

"I like the size of the town, the Medina River," he said. "It's been the best place I've ever [illegible] seem to defy some of the small-town stigma that you don't have to live here for five generations to be part of the town."

Keen will release a new album, "Picnic," on April 29, 1997.

It's plants and more at Richard's Plants

Richard Bendele and Debbie Trimble opened Richard's Plants in Lakehills at the beginning of winter. "Everyone said it was a crazy time to open a nursery," Bendele said. But Bendele and Trimble said they had a lot of work to do to set up the nursery and be ready for Spring.

Now all the cleaning up and fixing up are done and the store is ready to take care of all your garden and house plant needs, saving you that trip in to San Antonio.

Richard's Plants is open from 10 to 6 Tuesday through Saturday and is located in the Viking Center next to the windmill.

The nursery has tomatoes and bell peppers ready for planting, along with 25-30 varieties of herbs, and a generous selection of seed packets.

Bendele, who apparently has green fingers in addition to green thumbs, has a wide variety of begonias, many of which he started from cuttings. "It's a hobby that kind of got out of hand," said Bendele.

In addition to plants, Richard's Plants also supports local artisans by offering for sale their art, plant hangers and unique birdhouses.

Bendele and Trimble invite everyone in Lakehills to stop in and stock up on those spring garden plants.

WHARTON'S DOCK
ON LAKE MEDINA SHORES

Thanks to Tom Ciarlo and Kim Weeks who have been regularly cleaning the brush, debris and grass from around the boat ramp at Wharton's Dock on Lake Medina Shores. Tom, a San Antonio police officer, took over and did all the work. Thanks again, Bill.

Standing on our deck, looking out towards the river, it sure looks like spring has sprung: seven peach trees, four plum, two apricot and a red bud in full bloom. Now if we don't have a late freeze and we get enough rain, there is sure some good eating to be had this year.

Stock show winners

TOP GOAT -- Beverly Short of Pipe Creek won the Grand Champion Angora Doe title at the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo in February. Short also had the Reserve Champion Doe for the open angora goat show.

BEST BOAR -- Richard Turner of Pipe Creek took home the Grand Champion Poland China/Spot Boar title at the San Antonio Livestock Show Feb. 6.

Termites are the No. 1 leading wood destroying insect in the world. These tiny blind insects of only 9mm length cause more dollar damage to homes that hurricanes, tornados, fire and wind combined. A normal size colony of termites may consist of 250,000 termites or more. The queen can lay up to 1,000 eggs every day for 25 years. They can eat a 2x4, 12" long in 52 days.
Signs you as a home owner or business owner should look for are: mud tubes going up the wall on the outside or inside of the building; weak floors or wall or sheetrock that will press in when touched. Don't think you don't have termites if you do not have any of these signs. Termites in a kit of cases. A kit colony starts in early stages of entrance to the house, nevertheless doing damage to the building just the same.
For a professional treatment, call us. We stand behind our treatments for up to 1 year, or longer on contract.

TARPLEY

Well, folks, most everyone has been wishing for rain, so we're happy to report we had half an inch in the last two days. The storm last week did a good deal of damage to the Clay Billings home on Hondo Creek Ranch and Anton Haner had barn damage on his place.

• Harold and Viola Jackson left Wednesday for Laramie, Wyoming to attend the funeral service of his brother-in-law Bill Dycus.

They picked up seven relatives in Amarillo to travel to Laramie.

On the way home they visited with Harold's brother Donzel and Janice Jackson in Colorado Springs and then were snowbound in Raton, NM for a day and night. They were happy to arrive home after all the cold weather.

• Visitors at the Baptist Church Sunday were Jeanene Mansfield of Bandera, Allen and Becky Baskin and sons Jason and Joshua of Austin; Brent Shearhart was honored for his fourth birthday.

• The Allen Baskins spend the weekend with his parents, Bill and Luris Baskin. The grandsons are spending spring break in Tarpley.

• Edna L. Cheatham of Kingland visited her mother Mamie Hood for two days. They drove to Leakey sight-seeing and also visited Letha Berry.

• Lorene Billings was able to come home last week after several weeks in San Antonio for medical treatment.

• Did you read John Willing's explanation regarding the old saying about thunder in February, frost in April? He said he checked the last 14 years of weather records and found this saying to have a terrible track record. Since 1983 there were 11 of 14 years with February thunder with anywhere from one to four thunder storms. In the Aprils following the coldest temperatures were in the 40s. In 1987 however, after four thunderstorms in February, April had 31 degrees.

MCA seeks new director

Lenny Leinweber of Mountain Home, president of the Mohair Council of America, has announced that the search for an executive director of the MCA is now underway.

Leinweber told the council's executive committee met in executive session in Junction to discuss the replacement of Duery Menzies, who has served as the council's chief executive officer for the last three years. Menzies resigned effective the end of April to pursue other interests.

"It will be difficult to find a replacement for Duery. He has done a good job for us the industry," Leinweber said.

According to Leinweber, the council is seeking a person who is knowledgeable about production agriculture and has experience in marketing and in public relations.

Persons interested in the job are invited to send an application and their resume to the Mohair Council Search Committee, P.O. Box 5337, San Angelo, Texas 76902. Deadline for applications will be March 26.

This is termite & wood ant swarming season!
This is a winged ANT — Elbowed antennae, Narrow waist. Front wings longer than back wings. Actual size 1/2-inch
This is a winged TERMITE — Straight antennae, Thick waist. Both pairs of wings same size. Actual size 1/2-inch

ASK THE PROFESSIONALS FIRST
Termites are the No. 1 leading wood destroying insect in the world. These tiny blind insects of only 9mm length cause more dollar damage to homes that hurricanes, tornados, fire and wind combined. A normal size colony of termites may consist of 250,000 termites or more. The queen can lay up to 1,000 eggs every day for 25 years. They can eat a 2x4, 12" long in 52 days.
Signs you as a home owner or business owner should look for are: mud tubes going up the wall on the outside or inside of the building; weak floors or wall or sheetrock that will press in when touched. Don't think you don't have termites if you do not have any of these signs. Termites in a lot of cases don't show signs in early stages of entrance to the house, nevertheless doing damage to the building just the same.

WHARTON'S DOCK
AT LAKE MEDINA SHORES

Thanks to [illegible] and was studying it as I had [illegible] site direction. They stopped and turned around and came to my [illegible] and I was [illegible] Lake Medina Shores. Bill, a San Antonio police officer, took over. And did all the work. Thanks again, Bill.

Standing on our deck, looking out towards the river, it sure looks like spring has sprung: seven peach trees, four plum, two apricot and a red bud in full bloom. Now if we don't have a late freeze and we get enough rain, there is surg some good eating to be had this year.

[illegible] Carrio and Kim Woods who have been [illegible] lately doing patrol duties for residents of Lake Medina Shores and Wharton's Dock. These control burns not only have made for a fire safe area, they have brought the Lakehoe Volunteer Fire Department some nice donations for the new truck fund.

On Friday afternoon I had a blow out on Wharton's Dock Road. I found a safe place to pull off the road. I got the jack out [illegible]

TARPLEY

Nettie Dean

Well, folks, most everyone has been wishing for rain, so we're happy to report we had half an inch in the last two days. The storm last week did a good deal of damage to the Clay Billings home on Hondo Creek Ranch and Anton Haner had barn damage on his place.

• Harold and Viola Jackson left Wednesday for Laramie, Wyoming to attend the funeral service of his brother-in-law Bill Dycus.

They picked up seven relatives in Amarillo to travel to Laramie.

On the way home they visited with Harold's brother Donzel and Janice Jackson in Colorado Springs and then were snowbound in Raton, NM for a day and night. They were happy to arrive home after all the cold weather.

• Visitors at the Baptist Church Sunday were Jeanene Mansfield of Bandera, Allen and Becky Baskin and sons Jason and Joshua of Austin. Brent Shearhart was honored for his fourth birthday.

• The Allen Baskins spend the weekend with his parents, Bill and Luris Baskin. The grandsons are spending spring break in Tarpley.

• Edna L. Cheatham of Kingland visited her mother Marie Hood for two days. They drove to Leakey sight-seeing and also visited Letha Berry.

• Lorene Billings was able to come home last week after several weeks in San Antonio for medical treatment.

• Did you read John Willing's explanation regarding the old saying about thunder in February, frost in April? He said he checked the last 14 years of weather records and found this saying to have a terrible track record. Since 1983 there were 11 of 14 years with February thunder with anywhere from one to four thunder storms. In the Aprils following the coldest temperatures were in the 40s. In 1987 however, after four thunderstorms in February, April had 31 degrees.

MCA seeks new director

Lanny Leinweber of Mountain Home, president of the Mohair Council of America, has announced that the search for an executive director of the MCA is now underway.

Leinweber said the council executive committee met in executive session in Junction to discuss the replacement of Duery Menzies, who has served as the council's chief executive officer for the last three years. Menzies resigned effective the end of April to pursue other interests.

"It will be difficult to find a replacement for Duery. He has done a good job for us the industry," Leinweber said.

According to Leinweber, the council is seeking a person who is knowledgeable about production agriculture and has experience in marketing and in public relations.

Persons interested in the job are invited to send an application and their resume to the Mohair Council Search Committee, P.O. Box 5337, San Angelo, Texas 76902. Deadline for applications will be March 26.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Today we live in a very mobile society. In these days of moving about, more families than ever before are faced with emergencies that occur away from home.

Through the years we have always maintained close contact with many highly respected and responsible funeral directors throughout this country who are experienced in handling all details to your complete satisfaction. And, if so desired, we will take charge of all the complex details.

Remember our long experience and knowledge of requirements are available at any time--day or night--whenever the need arises. Remember we care and we show we care by the service render.

SILVER SAGE CORRAL

Kay Lewis

[illegible] successful fund [illegible] using businessmen to model women's clothing. About two days later, it dawned on me that in my description of how this could be done in Bandera, I left out one local businessman who would undoubtedly be the cutest model, of all. --Fred Moore (Janett's husband). Sorry, Fred! Doubtless I've missed a few others, but something tells me we won't be experiencing an onslaught of those wishing to participate. And for some strange reason, we haven't had anyone come forward offering to volunteer to chair this committee.

We were recently advised of a scam operation going on in town. Some guys are going around trying to sell "leftover" asphalt to unsuspecting citizens for only $1,800. These people were not licensed contractors. Seniors, please remember to check out any door-to-door or [illegible] exactly what TRIAD is for - to protect seniors against fraud.

Speaking of TRIAD, the next meeting is this Thursday, March 13, at 2 p.m. here at the Center. TRIAD has a small group of volunteers who participate in the "Telephone Reassurance" program. This program was created to help check on the well being of seniors who are home-bound and have no one who checks on them on a day to day basis. If you are interested in becoming a part of TRIAD, please come join us Thursday.

The Retired Teachers are meeting here at The Canter today, Wednesday, March 12 at 4 p.m., 11th and Hackberry.

Best wishes to Corky Craddock of Medina who is recovering from knee surgery. Get well soon, we need you and Bill back on the Meals on Wheels delivery.

Quilt Guild features ribbon embroidery

The Bandera County Quilt Guild will hold its regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. at the Silver Sage Corral on Wednesday, March 19.

Los Colchas Quilt Shop from San Antonio will provide a special program on how to make a quilted needlecase with silk ribbon embroidery. Fees are $3.50 for members who have paid current dues and $8.50 for guests. This incudes instructor fee and a needlecase/silk ribbon kit.

Please bring your basic sewing supplies (needle, thread, scissors, thimble, etc.) and embroidery floss (several colors, plus black).

If you have questions concerning the class, please call Betty Brister at 460-7313, or Rita Recker at 460-4985.

SILVER SAGE CORRAL

using businessmen to model women's clothing. About two days later, it dawned on me that in my description of how this could be done in Bandera, I left out one local businessman who would undoubtedly be the cutest model of all - Fred Moore (Janett's husband). Sorry, Fred! Doubtless I've missed a few others, but something tells me we won't be experiencing an onslaught of those wishing to participate. And for some strange reason, we haven't had anyone come forward offering to volunteer to chair this committee.

We were recently advised of a scam operation going on in town. Some guys are going around trying to sell "leftover" asphalt to unsuspecting citizens for only $1,800. These people were not licensed contractors. Seniors, please remember to check out any door-to-door or exactly what TRIAD is for - to protect seniors against fraud.

Speaking of TRIAD, the next meeting is this Thursday, March 13, at 2 p.m. here at the Center. TRIAD has a small group of volunteers who participate in the "Telephone Reassurance" program. This program was created to help check on the well being of seniors who are home-bound and have no one who checks on them on a day to day basis. If you are interested in becoming a part of TRIAD, please come join us Thursday.

The Retired Teachers are meeting here at The Cantèe today, Wednesday, March 12 at 4 p.m., 11th and Hackberry.

Best wishes to Corky Craddock of Medina who is recovering from knee surgery. Get well soon, we need you and Bill back on the Meals on Wheels delivery.

Quilt Guild features ribbon embroidery

The Bandera County Quilt Guild will hold its regular meeting at 9:30 a.m. at the Silver Sage Corral on Wednesday, March 19.

Los Colchas Quilt Shop from San Antonio will provide a special program on how to make a quilted needlecase with silk ribbon embroidery. Fees are $3.50 for members who have paid current dues and $8.50 for guests.

This incudes instructor fee and a needlecase/silk ribbon kit.

Please bring your basic sewing supplies (needle, thread, scissors, thimble, etc.) and embroidery floss (several colors, plus black).

If you have questions concerning the class, please call Betty Brister at 460-7313, or Rita Recker at 460-4985.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Our highway speed math doesn't add up

Dear Editor:

A recent letter about speed limits was incorrect with some numbers on the closure speed of cars approaching each other head on. At 70 miles per hour, the distance between the cars is reduced by 68 yards per second, not 200 as stated in the letter.

They are coming back to Bandera

Dear Editor:

We have spent the past 16 winters in Florida, Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and California, but nowhere have we been welcomed with more warmth than here in Bandera, Texas.

One cannot help but to appreciate the friendliness of store clerks or the greeting from a stranger with, "Howdy, Ma'am" when passing through the door of the Post Office. We have contrasted this with the experiences of standing in lines to eat at restaurants in Mesa, Arizona, traffic, smog and congestion of Southern California and the "Damn Yankees Go Home" in Florida.

Our winter experience here was culminated Wednesday evening at the Cabaret when the Chamber of Commerce and the RV park owners hosted an appreciation dinner and dance.

We sincerely appreciate the effort and expense involved by all those who contributed and particularly those folks we met, Linda of the Cabaret, Linda Allen and the Roadrunners and especially to our hosts for the winter, Lou and Shermalee Mack of Skyline Ranch RV Park. In spite of serving almost 600 people, the dinner was delicious and the music great.

So, thank you, good folks of Bandera and to paraphrase one famous American, "We shall return."

Help in a crisis

Dear Editor:

We would like to commend Juanea Rucker for her kindness and understanding during a recent incident. Because of a family emergency, we were stuck with no one to watch our 2-year-old daughter. Completely unannounced, we had our daughter taken to Imagination Station early one morning. With no hesitation, Juanea made special arrangements to accommodate her until we could pick her up. In the hectic world we live in, it is reassuring to know there are people like Juanea who are willing to help those around them.

Unchained melody

Dear Editor:

[I am concerned about] dogs living at the end of a short cold chain, dogs whose collars are never adjusted, dogs that are slowly strangling.

Although it is not as cold here as in Minnesota, it is cold in a make shift dog house, sitting on the damp ground, surrounded by dog-mess and fire-ants.

These are dogs who are loyal and love their owner no matter how cruel they are to them, never get a pat on the head, or a kind word. These dogs are lucky to get a meal now and then.

Their loyalty is repaid by neglect. Where I live I hear the cold sad whimpers of the chained dogs.

We need to organize a strong active "animal rights" league in Bandera, we need to make their ignorant and cruel animal owners responsible.

I'll be the first to sign up and volunteer, (given the authority to) seek out, ticket and press charges against the poor excuses for human beings who mistreat chain dogs.

MARCH MOMENTS

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

It's hard to be humble, and that old adage was more than proved at Monday night's city council meeting. There was a whole group of people there who find it hard to be humble.

People who ignored the rules of civility, talked out of turn, expected everyone to pay attention to them when they had the floor, but could not or would not extend the same courtesy to others when they had the floor. Even when those people did it the right way and put themselves on the agenda.

These people, who I have never seen at a city council meeting in the two and a half years I've been going, had no compunction about openly ridiculing others whose thoughts and ideas apparently were not as important as theirs.

These great people deigned to make their presence known to us Monday night and I must say, for me it certainly was a humbling experience. It made me very humbly grateful that I cannot count these great ones (to whom the rules of civility that govern the rest of us lesser beings obviously do not apply) among my friends and supporters.

And what was really surprising, or maybe not, was that our usually hungry council members did not chew up and spit out these interlopers from on high as they are normally wont to do with less flamboyant folk who appear before them hat in hand.

In fact, several times the meeting turned into a bizarre sideshow with adults screaming at each other. One has to wonder if the new city administrator, who was there with his wife, hasn't taken off on a slow boat to China.

When is the city council going to get smart and start charging admission to these circuses to raise some funds for the city?

CAROLYN'S CORNER

BY CAROLYN B. EDWARDS, EDITOR

As I begin my slow decrepit slide into my 50th year on this good earth, I figured I ought to be giving some thought to getting on with things. A half-century, after all...one can't live forever."

I already have plans to spend the actual day next March in bed with the covers pulled up over my head, reflecting on the gray hairs, the aches and pains of arthritic joints and failing eyesight.

Filled with the somewhat, panicky feeling that the sands of time are running out, I'm convinced this is the perfect time to make that list of 50 things I want to do before I die. I won't put them in any order of importance or anything and of course, the list is always subject to change at a moment's notice.

1. Learn to swim. (I've almost got this one done!)
2. Read War and Peace, or maybe not.
3. Travel to Europe.
4. Dance at my wedding.
5. Buy a piece of West Texas.
6. Build a "green" house with passive solar power and recycled materials.
7. Ride the Copper Canyon train.
8. Go on a cruise. (Now that the fear of water is under some control, I think I can handle this one.)
9. Work on an archaeological dig-either the Montana dinosaurs or someplace in Mexico.
10. Have a grandchild.
11. See my children loving and serving God.
12. Climb the pyramids in Mexico.
13. Learn to fish. (See note about fear of water above.)
14. Make quilts for my kids.
15. Learn to weld.
16. Learn to sing.
17. Paint a really large painting, one where the canvas is measured in feet rather than inches.
18. Go back to college.
19. Work on being more hospitable.
20. Cultivate friendships.
21. Buy a leather couch.
22. Look at the stars through my own telescope.
23. Make enough money to hire a housekeeper.
24. Write that darn novel.
25. Write more personal letters.
26. Learn to bake cookies.
27. Write cowboy poetry.
28. Visit the Holy Land.
29. Finish the house I live in now, because I may spend the rest of my life in it.
30. Get that tattoo.
31....

Well, I'm going to keep a few secrets!

Exemptions cost state $700 million says Sharp

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndall Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — In looking at ways to answer the governor's call for property tax relief, the House Select Committee on Revenue and Public Education Funding last week asked the Texas comptroller's office for a list of organizations and businesses exempted from the state's franchise tax.

Comptroller John Sharp's office reports those exemptions cost the state $700 million a year. Among those entities presently exempted are hundreds of country clubs, yacht clubs and racquet clubs, and certain:

• • Lobbying groups and state associations;
• Civic groups;
• Homeowner groups; and
• Religious organizations.

Committee member Kim Brimer, R-Arlington, said it's time to look at sacred cows. "The public needs to realize that if we are going to tackle this major reform that the governor has put on the table, any and all funds are fair game."

At a later meeting, the panel concluded that it could raise about $5 billion a year by taxing items now exempt from the sales and franchise taxes, including utilities, school lunches, manufacturing equipment, aviation fuel and advertising.

Only food, drugs and a few other goods would be exempt from sales taxes. Also taxed would be services provided by physicians, attorneys, accountants, real estate brokers, barber and beauty services and freight hauling.

Committee chairman Paul Sadler, D-Henderson, said the committee was attempting to determine how much money would be raised if lawmakers chose to eliminate various exemptions. He said that the panel would make a decision later on which exemptions, if any, would be retained.

Insurance Rates on Internet

The Texas Department of Insurance announced a new service last week: an on-line guide that makes it easier to comparison-shop for auto and home rates.

It can be found on Internet home page http//www.tdi.state.tx.us. Many public libraries provide free Internet access. Printed rate guides that will be ready later this month can be ordered by calling 1-800-599-SHOP.

"Texans should shop as carefully for home and auto insurance as they do for any big-ticket item because rates can vary widely from one company to another," said Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer.

For example, for a Dallas driver, the premiums listed in the guide for minimum liability coverage is $291 a year to as much as $1,932.

"The examples may not fit your home or auto exactly," Bomer said, "but they can provide a useful way to compare the range of premiums offered by different companies."

Child Support Overhaul Sought

Rep. Leticia Van de Putte last week filed a bill that would create a new state commission to oversee child support, stripping the responsibility from the attorney general's office.

The commission would do a better job collecting billions of dollars in unpaid child support, said Van de Putte, D-San Antonio.

"If we didn't feel we were absolutely forced against the wall, we wouldn't be doing it," she said.

But Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney General Dan Morales, told the Dallas Morning News Van de Putte's bill is at best uninformed and at worst, politically motivated.

The bill has 28 sponsors: 11 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

Senate Reconfirms Bomer

The Texas Senate voted 30-0 to confirm Insurance Commissioner Bomer for a second two-year term expiring Feb. 1, 1999.

Last year, Bush appointed him chairman of the Governor's Citizens Committee on Property Tax Reform.

Make your land a star

Commission is looking for property that ... film production companies

Staff Writer

... and not so much for people, although they will be needed too, but for land.

The ... Commission, started in February 1996, has already brought lots of money into the county as a result of the movie "Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders," and they are looking for other pieces of land that may tempt film producers to shoot their movies in Bandera County.

"It's a way to bring additional positive revenue into the county without hurting the environment or the natural resources," said Susan D'Spain, film commission president. "It would be a positive resource for the county."

And the revenue numbers are mind-boggling.

In Texas last year, over $300,000,000 was spent by film companies producing movies, and the film commission here wants to see some of that money come into the county.

D'Spain said the county is a natural draw for film companies since there is a large city 35 miles away, a variety of scenery including cliffs, exotic animals, streams, an old town square, and accommodations.

"It has made us really attractive to film companies," she said.

What the film commission wants to do is develop a pictorial video library showing scenes, locations, people, animals, unique props and other interesting items that can be accessed within minutes by scouts for the production companies.

"If someone called and said 'we need a windmill,' I can say, 'OK, we have a windmill up on Hwy. 16,'" D'Spain explained.

The film commission is a volunteer force that puts production companies together with property owners and talents.

"We have five films we are looking at now, and we have to do a lot of work quickly," D'Spain said. "If anybody is interested in getting involved with an industry that will be positive for Bandera and for themselves, they should call the Chamber of Commerce."

Once a landowner contacts the chamber, they will fill out a property description survey.

Not all the films have a western theme, according to D'Spain. One they are looking at is set in a modern-day drought theme, another is historical, and yet another is a science fiction movie.

"Different companies pay different amounts, but it can range from several hundred dollars a ... to ... dollars a day," D'Spain said. "You are talking about a substantial amount, and they won't lose their agriculture exempt status."

She hastened to add that property owners do not have to worry about their land being torn up or violated in any way.

"There is a contract signed with the producer that states how your property should look after they leave," she said, adding that the Chamber of Commerce has sample contracts to look at. "We will help with the contract agreement to make sure that these local people are protected."

And the lucky landowner who has a movie shot on their property is not the only beneficiary of the money coming to town.

"It helped us tremendously," said Doreen Wheeler of the Bandera Lodge. "We had the best November we've ever had."

Wheeler said she estimates the boost to the hotel's normal revenue was in the thousands of dollars.

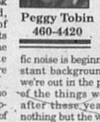
"We had groups in and out," she said, including the make-up and costume crews and the construction crew.

"We had everywhere from one to 35 rooms filled at all times," Wheeler said of the months between late August and early December that the movie company was in town.

She said she observed the guests eating in the restaurants, shopping at the grocery stores and coming home with bags of clothes and boots from local retailers.

"On several occasions I saw them returning from shopping trips with clothes and boots," she said. "It was really a boost and we had absolutely no problems with them at all."

Local lumberman Russell Hevenor also saw a boost to his company's profit margins while the movie group was in town.



"They bought everything from us to build the set," Hevenor said. "They were valuable customers."

Hevenor said that not only did they buy lumber locally, they also hired local carpenters, and other workers.

"They were willing to use the local sources and employees," he said. "They drew from the community as much as possible and ... they asked further ... [illegible] ... company personnel were friendly and polite.

"They really enjoyed working here," he said. "They said Bandera was full of friendly people. I was sorry to see them go."

BASIC BANDERA

Though we live on an "inside" place, separated from the highway by another ranch, traffic noise is beginning to be a constant background sound when we're out in the pasture. It's one of the things we must accept after those years of hearing nothing but the wind, the calling of Inca doves, or the skittering of armadillos in dry leaves.

But the other Sunday afternoon, the intermittent roar was punctuated by the terrible sounds of the ambulance and fire-truck running their sirens toward Pipe Creek. Come to find out that there had been a second serious car crash in almost as many days.

So though we would rather report the appearance all over the pasture of the windflowers Dorothy Mattiza recently found first, or the blooming of redbuds in town, or the dogged blooming of the one scraggly apple tree by Edna's Road—we must think about that major problem we're all facing. That is the increased danger on local highways because of the idea drivers seem to have that there is no longer any speed limit at all anywhere.

Martha Tobin Bersch recently sent a clipping of a story by Houston Chronicle writer Dan Feldstein. We understand the same facts have been reported in the San Antonio paper. Under the headline "Jump in highway deaths gets attention of state officials," Feldstein points out the apparent correlation with the 17 percent rise in highway traffic deaths in 1996 with the raising of the speed limit on most highways to 70 mph. The statistics reverse what state officials had noted as a 15-year trend of decreasing deaths per miles traveled.

Much of the rise in fatalities has been recorded on two-lane rural highways. (Like 16, 173, and—heaven help us—1283?)

Governor George W. Bush says the new numbers trouble him, and along with Texas Transportation Commissioner David Laney and DPS Chairman James Francis Jr., has called for a close study of the problem and the calling of public hearings in each of the 25 highway districts statewide to gain opinion of local officials and citizens.

On reading this, we phoned our new buddy, Patrick Erwin in the highway office in San Antonio, who said he hadn't heard anything about hearings other than the press stories we were quoting. He agreed the problem is a big one and said he hoped that when hearings are held, they will be called in venues convenient to citizens from all sections of the state.

Meanwhile, Department of Public Safety spokesman Mike Cox called the overall increase in highway deaths "compelling" and pointed out that the percentage increase means that 540 more people than previously counted likely will have died when 1996 statistics are completed. If so many lives were lost all at once, the Chronicle quoted him as saying, it would be considered a "staggering disaster."

"Once people start driving 70 MPH, " Cox told the Houston Chronicle, "They forget where they are." Thus the rise in deaths on farm and county roads.

And of course seventy means eighty, as some wilding characters have been clocked roaring, past the Pipe Creek Post Office, the caution light, the Pipe Creek Junction Cafe, and the Baptist Church.

Thanks and praise go to all y'all writing to The Bulletin as worried as the rest of us.

There was plenty of good food, music and prizes at the Winter Texan Appreciation Party at The Cabaret Feb. 26. The popular event was hosted by the Chamber of Commerce and local RV parks.

MAKING MEMORIES
Family Hospice is recruiting volunteers to work with terminally ill patients. Participants will attend volunteer training sessions beginning in mid April. Classes will be held at the Butt-Holdsworth Library Meeting Room.
Volunteers visit hospice patients and families in their own homes, offering friendship, assisting with errands and relieving caregivers for short periods of time. Training for hospice volunteers covers issues of family dynamics in aging, grief and bereavement and includes an orientation to the history, philosophy and daily operations of hospice.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Our highway speed math doesn't add up

Dear Editor:
A recent letter about speed limits was incorrect with some numbers on the closure speed of cars approaching each other head on. At 70 miles per hour, the distance between the cars is reduced by 68 yards per second, not 200 as stated in the letter.

They are coming back to Bandera

Dear Editor:
We have spent the past 16 winters in Florida, Mexico, New Mexico, Arizona and California, but nowhere have we been welcomed with more warmth than here in Bandera, Texas.

One cannot help but to appreciate the friendliness of store clerks or the greeting from a stranger with, "Howdy, Ma'am" when passing through the door of the Post Office. We have contrasted this with the experiences of standing in lines to eat at restaurants in Mesa, Arizona, traffic, smog and congestion of Southern California and the "Damn Yankees Go Home" in Florida.

Our winter experience here was culminated Wednesday evening at the Cabaret when the Chamber of Commerce and the RV park owners hosted an appreciation dinner and dance.

We sincerely appreciate the effort and expense involved by all those who contributed and particularly those folks we met, Linda of the Cabaret, Linda Allen and the Roadrunners and especially to our hosts for the winter, Lou and Shermalee Mack of Skyline Ranch RV Park. In spite of serving almost 600 people, the dinner was delicious and the music great.

So, thank you, good folks of Bandera and to paraphrase one famous American, "We shall return."

Help in a crisis

Dear Editor:
We would like to commend Juanea Rucker for her kindness and understanding during a recent incident. Because of a family emergency, we were stuck with no one to watch our 2-year-old daughter. Completely unannounced, we had our daughter taken to Imagination Station early one morning. With no hesitation, Juanea made special arrangements to accommodate her until we could pick her up. In the hectic world we live in, it is reassuring to know there are people like Juanea who are willing to help those around them.

Unchained melody

Dear Editor:
[I am concerned about] dogs living at the end of a short cold chain, dogs whose collars are never adjusted, dogs that are slowly strangling.

Although it is not as cold here as in Minnesota, it is cold in a make shift dog house, sitting on the damp ground, surrounded by dog-mess and fire-ants.

These are dogs who are loyal and love their owner no matter how cruel they are to them, never get a pat on the head or a kind word. These dogs are lucky to get a meal now and then.

Their loyalty is repaid by neglect. Where I live I hear the cold sad whimpers of the chained dogs.

We need to organize a strong active "animal rights" league in Bandera, we need to make their ignorant and cruel animal owners responsible.

I'll be the first to sign up and volunteer, (given the authority to) seek out, ticket and press charges against the poor excuses for human beings who mistreat chain dogs.

MARCH MOMENTS

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

It's hard to be humble, and that old adage was more than proved at Monday night's city council meeting. There was a whole group of people there who find it hard to be humble.

People who ignored the rules of civility, talked out of turn, expected everyone to pay attention to them when they had the floor, but could not or would not extend the same courtesy to others when they had the floor. Even when those people did it the right way and put themselves on the agenda.

These people, who I have never seen at a city council meeting in the two and a half years I've been going, had no compunction about openly ridiculing others whose thoughts and ideas apparently were not as important as theirs.

These great people deigned to make their presence known to us Monday night and I must say, for me it certainly was a humbling experience. It made me very humbly grateful that I cannot count these great ones (to whom the rules of civility that govern the rest of us lesser beings obviously do not apply) among my friends and supporters.

And what was really surprising, or maybe not, was that our usually hungry council members did not chew up and spit out these interlopers from on high as they are normally wont to do with less flamboyant folk who appear before them hat in hand.

In fact, several times the meeting turned into a bizarre sideshow with adults screaming at each other. One has to wonder if the new city administrator, who was there with his wife, hasn't taken off on a slow boat to China.

When is the city council going to get smart and start charging admission to these circuses to raise some funds for the city?

CAROLYN'S CORNER

BY CAROLYN B. EDWARDS, EDITOR

As I begin my slow decrepit slide into my 50th year on this good earth, I figured I ought to be giving some thought to getting on with things. A half-century, after all...one can't live forever.

I already have plans to spend the actual day next March in bed with the covers pulled up over my head, reflecting on the gray hairs, the aches and pains of arthritic joints and failing eyesight.

Filled with the somewhat panicky feeling that the sands of time are running out, I'm convinced this is the perfect time to make that list of 50 things I want to do before I die. I won't put them in any order of importance or anything and of course, the list is always subject to change at a moment's notice.

1. Learn to swim. (I've almost got this one done!)
2. Read War and Peace, or maybe not.
3. Travel to Europe.
4. Dance at my wedding.
5. Buy a piece of West Texas.
6. Build a "green" house with passive solar power and recycled materials.
7. Ride the Copper Canyon train.
8. Go on a cruise. (Now that the fear of water is under some control, I think I can handle this one.)
9. Work on an archaeological dig—either the Montana dinosaurs or someplace in Mexico.
10. Have a grandchild.
11. See my children loving and serving God.
12. Climb the pyramids in Mexico.
13. Learn to fish. (See note about fear of water above.)
14. Make quilts for my kids.
15. Learn to weld.
16. Learn to sing.
17. Paint a really large painting, one where the canvas is measured in feet rather than inches.
18. Go back to college.
19. Work on being more hospitable.
20. Cultivate friendships.
21. Buy a leather couch.
22. Look at the stars through my own telescope.
23. Make enough money to hire a housekeeper.
24. Write that darn novel.
25. Write more personal letters.
26. Learn to bake cookies.
27. Write cowboy poetry.
28. Visit the Holy Land.
29. Finish the house I live in now, because I may spend the rest of my life in it.
30. Get that tattoo.
31....
Well, I'm going to keep a few secrets!

Exemptions cost state $700 million says Sharp

State Capital

HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams & Ed Sterling
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — In looking at ways to answer the governor's call for property tax relief, the House Select Committee on Revenue and Public Education Funding last week asked the Texas comptroller's office for a list of organizations and businesses exempted from the state's franchise tax.

Comptroller John Sharp's office reports those exemptions cost the state $700 million a year. Among those entities presently exempted are hundreds of country clubs, yacht clubs and racquet clubs, and certain:

• Lobbying groups and state associations;
• Civic groups;
• Homeowner groups; and
• Religious organizations.

Committee member Kim Brimer, R-Arlington, said it's time to look at sacred cows: "...The public needs to realize that if we are going to tackle this major reform that the governor has put on the table, any and all funds are fair game."

At a later meeting, the panel concluded that it could raise about $5 billion a year by taxing items now exempt from the sales and franchise taxes, including utilities, school lunches, manufacturing equipment, aviation fuel and advertising.

Only food, drugs and a few other goods would be exempt from sales taxes. Also taxed would be services provided by physicians, attorneys, accountants, real estate brokers, barber and beauty services and freight hauling.

Committee chairman Paul Sadler, D-Henderson, said the committee was attempting to determine how much money would be raised if lawmakers chose to eliminate various exemptions. He said that the panel would make a decision later on which exemptions, if any, would be retained.

Insurance Rates on Internet

The Texas Department of Insurance announced a new service last week: an on-line guide that makes it easier to comparison-shop for auto and home rates.

It can be found on Internet home page http/www.tdi.state.tx.us. Many public libraries provide free Internet access. Printed rate guides that will be ready later this month can be ordered by calling 1-800-599-SHOP.

"Texans should shop as carefully for home and auto insurance as they do for any big-ticket item because rates can vary widely from one company to another," said Insurance Commissioner Elton Bomer.

For example, for a Dallas driver, the premiums listed in the guide for minimum liability coverage is $291 a year to as much as $1,932.

"The examples may not fit your home or auto exactly," Bomer said, "but they can provide a useful way to compare the range of premiums offered by different companies."

Child Support Overhaul Sought

Rep. Leticia Van de Putte last week filed a bill that would create a new state commission to oversee child support, stripping the responsibility from the attorney general's office.

The commission would do a better job collecting billions of dollars in unpaid child support, said Van de Putte, D-San Antonio.

"If we didn't feel we were absolutely forced against the wall, we wouldn't be doing it," she said.

But Ron Dusek, a spokesman for Attorney General Dan Morales, told the Dallas Morning News Van de Putte's bill is at best uninformed and at worst, politically motivated.

The bill has 28 sponsors: 11 Democrats and 17 Republicans.

Senate Reconfirms Bomer

The Texas Senate voted 30-0 to confirm Insurance Commissioner Bomer for a second two-year term expiring Feb. 1, 1999.

Last year, Bush appointed him chairman of the Governor's Citizens Committee on Property Tax Reform.

Make your land a star

Commission is looking for property that ... film production companies

by Staff Writer

Additional [illegible] and not so much for people, although they will be needed too, but for land.

The Bandera [illegible] Commission, started in February 1996, has already brought lots of money into the county as a result of the movie "Teddy Roosevelt's Rough Riders," and they are looking for other pieces of land that may tempt film producers to shoot their movies in Bandera County.

"It's a way to bring additional positive revenue into the county without hurting the environment or the natural resources," said Susan D'Spain, film commission president. "It would be a positive resource for the county."

And the revenue numbers are mind-boggling.

In Texas last year, over $300,000,000 was spent by film companies producing movies, and the film commission here wants to see some of that money come into the county.

D'Spain said the county is a natural draw for film companies since there is a large city 35 miles away, a variety of scenery including cliffs, exotic animals, streams, an old town square, and accommodations.

"It has made us really attractive to film companies," she said.

What the film commission wants to do is develop a pictorial video library showing scenes, locations, people, animals, unique props and other interesting items that can be accessed within minutes by scouts for the production companies.

"If someone called and said 'we need a windmill,' I can say, 'OK, we have a windmill up on Hwy. 16,'" D'Spain explained.

The film commission is a volunteer force that puts production companies together with property owners and talents.

"We have five films we are looking at now, and we have to do a lot of work quickly," D'Spain said. "If anybody is interested in getting involved with an industry that will be positive for Bandera and for themselves, they should call the Chamber of Commerce."

Once a landowner contacts the chamber, they will fill out a property description survey.

Not all the films have a western theme, according to D'Spain. One they are looking at is set in a modern-day drought theme, another is historical, and yet another is a science fiction movie.

"Different companies pay different amounts, but it can range from several hundred dollars a [illegible] lars a day," D'Spain said. "You are talking about a substantial amount, and they won't lose their agriculture exempt status."

She hastened to add that property owners do not have to worry about their land being torn up or violated in any way.

"There is a contract signed with the producer that states how your property should look after they leave," she said, adding that the Chamber of Commerce has sample contracts to look at. "We will help with the contract agreement to make sure that these local people are protected."

And the lucky landowner who has a movie shot on their property is not the only beneficiary of the money coming to town.

"It helped us tremendously," said Doreen Wheeler of the Bandera Lodge. "We had the best November we've ever had."

Wheeler said she estimates the boost to the hotel's normal revenue was in the thousands of dollars.

"We had groups in and out," she said, including the make-up and costume crews and the construction crew.

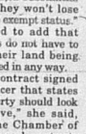
"We had everywhere from one to 35 rooms filled at all times," Wheeler said of the months between late August and early December that the movie company was in town.

She said she observed the guests eating in the restaurants, shopping at the grocery stores and coming home with bags of clothes and boots from local retailers.

On several occasions I saw them returning from shopping trips with clothes and boots," she said. "It was really a boost and we had absolutely no problems with them at all."

Local lumberman Russell Hevenor also saw a boost to his company's profit margins while the movie group was in town.

"They bought everything from us to build the set," Hevenor said. "They were valuable customers."



Hevenor said that not only did they buy lumber locally, they also hired local carpenters, and other workers.

"They were willing to use the local sources and employees," he said. "They drew from the community as much as possible and [illegible] company personnel were friendly and polite.

[illegible] here," he said. "They said Bandera was full of friendly peo- [illegible] ple. [illegible] sorry to see them go.

[illegible] your property listed with the Chamber of Commerce as a possible film site, or if your property [illegible] aspects, please call the Chamber at 796-3045.

Volunteers visit hospice patients and families in their own homes, offering friendship, assisting with errands and relieving caregivers for short periods of time. Training for hospice volunteers covers issues of family dynamics in aging, grief and bereavement and includes an orientation to the history, philosophy and daily operations of hospice.

Sheriff's Report

Among the calls made by the Sheriff's Department during the week of March 4-March 10, 1997 were:

[illegible] and a 15-year-old boy at Bandera High School for fighting on school property. The youths were transported to the Juvenile Detention Center in Hondo.

Deputy Walker of the TRIAD program answered a call for assistance regarding an elderly couple in a rental home without heat or running water. After investigation, the landlord agreed to correct the problems at the residence.

Arrested by the Sheriff's Department were:

Jesus Aquilar, 66, of Bandera for public intoxication.

Donald Edmonson, 18, of Bandera for assault with bodily injury.

Charles Edwards, 43, of Bandera for assault with bodily injury.

James Fitzgerald, 48, of Medina for public intoxication.

Robert Bendele, 42, of Quihi on a warrant.

William Wright, 38, of San Antonio on a felony warrant.

[illegible] Leo Stewart, 19, of San Antonio for possession of marijuana.

Richard Lopez, 18, of Bandera for possession of marijuana, a Class B misdemeanor.

Lenny Mystic, 20, of San Antonio for possession of marijuana.

Arrested by Pct. 1 was Cindy Sims, 36, of Leakey.

Arrested by Department of Public Safety officers was Gilbert Leal, 25, of Bandera for driving while license suspended.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Tourism Talks

Ben Nolen

Many times the terms Chamber of Commerce and the Convention and Visitors Bureau (CVB) are used synonymously. They occupy the same office space, employ the same people and both promote Bandera County. Many folks have asked, "If they do the same job why do we need both?"

Although they overlap in some areas, they are definitely two separate entities performing separate services for the county. The Chamber promotes almost everyone. This includes all businesses, churches, schools and civic/social organizations. It is funded locally by membership dues and fundraisers. Membership dues range from $25 for an individual, church or nonprofit organization to $100 for a business membership. Chamber officers are elected by membership vote.

The CVB derives its funds totally from the bed tax collected throughout the county. By Texas law, it can only spend these funds to promote tourism, conventions and for arts and historical preservation projects. The CVB has the authority to offer grants for activities or functions which promote tourism in the county or promote our Western heritage. Presently, CVB grants have been allocated to the Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association, Bandera County Historical Association, Cowboy Christmas, Frontier Times Museum, Cajun Festival, Apple Festival and the Bandera County Junior Livestock Show.

The CVB is also responsible for footing the bill for all expenses incurred with the promotion of Bandera County at regional and national trade shows...almost $10,000 budgeted for 1997. The CVB is also responsible for the lion's share of all County publicity, public relations and advertising for the promotion of the County...just over $79,000 for '97. The CVB has no membership or dues. Its 13-member board of directors consists of six individuals whose businesses collect bed tax, three commercial business owners (one of whom is the Chamber president), one representative each from the North, West and East portions of the county and one representative of the Bandera County Commissioners Court.

General expenses such as salaries, rent, utilities, etc. are shared by the CVB and the Chamber. The CVB picks up 75 percent of the charges.

Although similar in their goals, they are different. Without either the County would definitely suffer.

[illegible] meeting will be at USA Postal next to Family Dollar on Tuesday, March 18 at 6:30 p.m.

You are all invited.

Council struggles with sign ordinance

Task force appointed; public hearing planned

Staff Writer

Several concerned Bandera city residents and business owners came before the city council Monday night to speak on both sides of the city's sign ordinance.

Questions over the ordinance [illegible] have called unclear in the past, are not an unusual occurrence. The latest controversy over the ordinance arose when Diamond T Trading Post in Bandera erected a new sign to [illegible] of being in business in the city.

The new sign, painted by local renowned artist Bill Stevens, sits 18" above the roof of the shop.

[illegible] the sign ordinance, signs may extend no more than 18" beyond the roof. And it's the interpretation of that clause that has some people in an uproar.

Connie Manal, representing Trading Post owner Elaine Small, said that safety concerns were one issue that prompted the change in signs.

According to Manal, struts and other supporting units for the original sign were rotted and posed a danger. She said the safety concerns came to light at the same time of the 50th anniversary, so a decision was made to celebrate by commissioning the new sign. Manal said they interpreted the sign ordinance to mean a sign could extend 18" in any direction from the roof.

[illegible] ordinance) intentionally," Manal said.

She presented pictures of the sign before and after the change, plus petitions with over 200 signatures [illegible] supporting the sign, to the council.

City resident Bill Bryce called the validity of the petition into question, saying that some of the signatures were from people who do not reside in the city.

"We just wanted to know how many people supported us," Manal said.

Small declined to speak, except to say that "after 50 years, I think this is ridiculous."

Another thorny point in the affair came to light when Bryce said that Small did not have a permit to erect a new sign. Although she says she has since received one, when the sign was erected on a Sunday afternoon, there was reportedly no permit.

City business owner Russell Hevenor spoke to the crowd, saying the ordinance needs [illegible] "I think it's wonderful that we've got a sign [illegible] and I admire everyone who has worked on it," he said. "Having said that, I would like to say that there are parts of it that are extremely cumbersome. I don't know what the answer is, I do think some common sense has to be injected."

Former city council member Tom Laxson showed a slide presentation highlighting the cities of Lubbock and Fredericksburg, before and after their sign ordinances were put into place.

"I'm not in opposition to the person," Laxson said. "I don't have an answer to your particular concern. It's true that the sign ordinance could use some fine tuning."

City council members passed a motion to appoint a task force to study the sign ordinance, and will later hold a public meeting to hear concerns from business owners.

County requests road upgrades

Commissioner Jim Mormando presented a list of road and bridge priorities to the Texas Department of Transportation in Kerrville Feb. 27. The presentation was made at a Transportation Improvement Program meeting conducted by the TxDOT.

The TIP is a three-year funded program and the transportation department is developing a list of projects from Bandera, Kendall and Kerr Counties.

The Bandera County list includes 13 major projects.

Number one on the list includes the upgrade of English Crossing/Bottle Springs Road from a county road to a Farm to Market Road due to increased traffic connecting Hill Country Elementary and Alkek Elementary Schools.

The list also includes bridge work on Heisler Road, English Crossing, Julian Creek, Bottle Creek, Elm Creek, and Moffett Road; upgrading of Wharton's Dock Road to a Farm-to-Market Road, work on the intersections of SH 46 and SH 16 and Polly Peak Road and SH 16 as well as other projects.

HOPPING DOWN THE BUNNY TRAIL -- Volunteers for Bandera's Baskets and Bunnies wrapped up lots of colorful Easter baskets last week to be distributed to some of the county's children through Bandera County Helping Hand. Assisting organizer Kay Welch were Florence Lent, Adair Duff, Jean Tinapp, Shirley Costain, Ann Austin, Roberta Noble, Sandra Darby, Susan Bevan, Sylvia Saffell, Mary Young, Carolyn Pursch, Judy Rodriguez, Mary Garcia, Jana Osbourn, Dorothy Callahan, Marie Krueger, Pat Mayfield and Dorothy Benham.

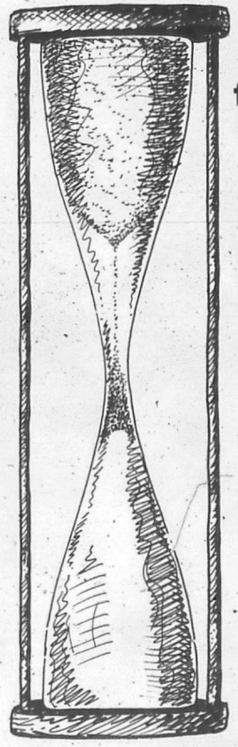
Zavorka announces

Dan Zavorka, a science teacher at Northside ISD for 7 years, has filed as a candidate for Place 5 on the ballot in the Bandera ISD school board election. Zavorka and his wife Sheila have three children, his oldest will enroll in kindergarten this fall.



Zavorka, a fiscal conservative, considers the district's recent attempt to acquire Bandera Downs ill-conceived and unrealistic. "I am not an advocate of outcome based education," said Zavorka. "I consider it a means to 'dummy down' education."

Zavorka has received the Sigma Xi Outstanding Science Teacher Award; has been selected twice to teach physics for the National Institute of Health's Science Enrichment Program, has coached UIL science, Science Bowl, and National Engineering Design Challenge teams. He has written curriculum for physics I and physics II AP, and has served on numerous district textbook committees.

Keen stars at center fundraiser

Music star lends his talent for local youth project

Bandera's own Robert Earl Keen will be performing in concert at The Cabaret on March 22 to help raise funds for a place where the youth of Bandera can go to relax, and socialize, without driving the dangerous miles into San Antonio or Kerrville. It has been a dream of many for years.

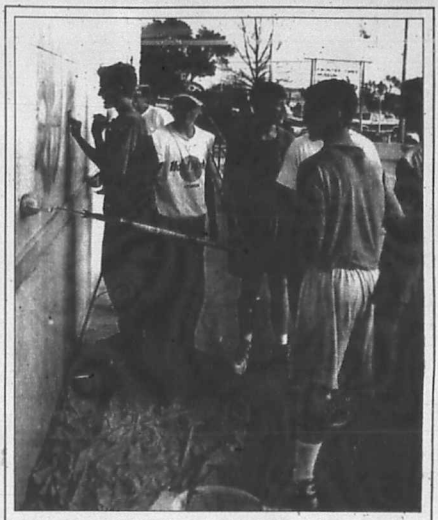
And that dream is finally coming to fruition, the result of hard work by a myriad of folks in the county from different walks of life.

Yesterday, a groundbreaking ceremony was held at 8th and Maple Streets in Bandera, the site for the long-awaited youth center.

Board member Don Lee, the pastor at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, said the project is well underway.

"It's going to be a nice facility," Lee said. "It's just the beginning of a wonderful situation for the county."

Phase 1 of the project includes a 75' X 150' metal building that has already been ordered. The building will encompass a full, covered basketball court, open on three sides, with one end of the building devoted to restrooms, equipment storage and classrooms. That end will be closed on all sides.



"The classrooms will be devoted to after-school programs, such as mentoring and tutoring," Lee explained. "It can be divided into four rooms, or left open for community meetings."

Lee said the project will not stop there.

"Our goal is to continue to improve and grow with outdoor fields for other sporting events," he said. "We need lots of community support and volunteers. We are really excited we are getting it off the ground. It's been a long time coming."

Other board members include: President Mike Smith, Johnny Boyle, Billy Walker, Bob Cowan, Glenn Moehring, Father Michael MacMillan, Brenda Smith, treasurer, and Nell Smith, secretary. Kenneth Mazurek has volunteered as construction supervisor and Harold Plecek has volunteered to solicit for donations.

For more on Keen, see p. 11A

BULLDOG PRIDE EXTENDS TO COMMUNITY -- Bandera High School athletes paint over graffiti left by vandals on the Post Office wall. The boys were determined to let people know that most teenagers take pride in their community's appearance said BHS Athletic Director Mike Williamson.

Youth center committee members Justice of the Peace Mike Smith and businessman Johnny Boyle complete plans for the Robert Earl Keen concert to raise funds for the facility. The concert will be held at The Cabaret Saturday March 22.

Folk festival leads off Downs event calendar

It's not exactly the sport of kings, but the new lease-to-purchase tenants at Bandera's defunct horse racing facility Bandera Downs say "they're off."

Roch Jimenez, Dave Joyner and Executive Event Coordinator Charles 'Pat' Colwell are looking for vendors for a Bandera Folklife Festival at the renamed Bandera Downs Recreational Complex.

The event, scheduled for the first weekend in April, will feature arts and crafts, antiques, a business, home and leisure expo, cookoffs, cash award bingos, casino days, a family carnival complete with petting zoo and live entertainment.

"Upcoming events include country music festivals, a ranch dog competition and a regional flea market," Jimenez said.

To reserve a space for the April 4-6 Folklife Festival, call 460-8572 or 796-4765.

The former thoroughbred and quarter horse race track closed in June of 1995 following devastating loss of business that came on the heels of the opening of San Antonio's Retama Park, a Class I racing facility. Owner William Allan of Tarpley failed to get an acceptable offer for the property when it was offered at auction in May of 1996. Allan said at the time that he hoped to get enough for the property to pay back taxes as well as fees owed to horsemen when the facility abruptly closed.

The Bandera Independent School District attempted a bond issue to purchase the property, but voters overwhelmingly defeated that measure in October of 1996.

Upcoming events include music festivals, dog competitions and flea markets.

TxDOT plans for County roads & bridges fall short

The Texas Department of Transportation (TxDOT) currently includes $1.8 million in roadway improvements for Bandera County, county representatives learned at a TxDOT meeting held last week in Kerrville. Candidate projects will be considered for funding in the Transportation Improvement Program (TIP) for Bandera, Kendall and Kerr Counties, said Bill Tucker, area engineer.

Bandera County's list comes far short of projects submitted by neighboring counties. Kendall County has $5.8 million"on the list of possible projects and Kerr has $16 million.

Clay Smith, TxDOT engineer, told county representatives that the county "isn't getting the money because of a lack of foresight and long-range planning."

County Judge Richard Evans said Bandera County has not participated actively in the TxDOT meetings in the past. "They count votes," said Evans, "and we just haven't had the public present at the meetings in the past." Evans said the number of Bandera County people at the Kerrville meeting impressed the TxDOT staff. Representatives included county officials, school officials, real estate people, the press and members of the county's capital improvements committee.

Commissioner Jim Mormando presented a list of Bandera County's top road and bridge priorities at the meeting.

Smith told the attendees that the state gets 82 cents on the dollar in federal funds for approved highway projects.

Road project priorities are set by considering six elements. The state department looks at preservation of the system, safety, congestion relief, environmental protection, economic development and athletics.

The TIP is a three-year funding program for road improvement.

Legion serves up soup and salad

The Bandera American Legion Unit 157 will host its eleventh annual spring luncheon on Thursday, March 13 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.; at the American Legion Hall, located at Cypress and 12th Streets in Bandera.

Two kinds of soup and over 20 different salads with iced tea or coffee will be served for only $4 per person. Homemade desserts will be available for 50 cents each. Take out orders will also be available.

Last year's representatives were Regina Montague and Sara Erfurt. The girls are selected by the school on the basis of academics and other qualifications.

Clay Smith, TxDOT engineer, told county representatives that the county "isn't getting the money because of a lack of foresight and long-range planning."

County Judge Richard Evans said Bandera County has not participated actively in the TxDOT meetings in the past. "They count votes," said Evans, "and we just haven't had the public present at the meetings in the past." Evans said the number of Bandera County people at the Kerrville meeting impressed the TxDOT staff. Representatives included county officials, school officials, real estate people, the press and members of the county's capital improvements committee.

Commissioner Jim Mormando presented a list of Bandera County's top road and bridge priorities at the meeting.

Smith told the attendees that the state gets 82 cents on the dollar in federal funds for approved highway projects.

Road project priorities are set by considering six elements. The state department looks at preservation of the system, safety, congestion relief, environmental protection, economic development and athletics.

The TIP is a three-year funding program for road improvement.

Folk festival leads off Downs event calendar

It's not exactly the sport of kings, but the new lease-to-purchase tenants at Bandera's defunct horse racing facility Bandera Downs say "they're off." Roch Jimenez, Dave Joyner and Executive Event Coordinator Charles 'Pat' Colwell are looking for vendors for a Bandera Folklife Festival at the renamed Bandera Downs Recreational Complex.

The event, scheduled for the first weekend in April, will feature arts and crafts, antiques, a business, home and leisure expo, cookoffs, cash award bingos, casino days, a family carnival complete with petting zoo and live entertainment.

"Upcoming events include country music festivals, a ranch dog competition and a regional flea market," Jimenez said.

To reserve a space for the April 4-6 Folklife Festival, call 460-8572 or 796-4765.

The former thoroughbred and quarter horse race track closed in June of 1995 following devastating loss of business that came on the heels of the opening of San Antonio's Retama Park, a Class 1 racing facility. Owner William Allan of Tarpley failed to get an acceptable offer for the property when it was offered at auction in May of 1996. Allen said at the time that he hoped to get enough for the property to pay back taxes as well as fees owed to horsemen when the facility abruptly closed.

The Bandera Independent School District attempted a bond issue to purchase the property, but voters overwhelmingly defeated that measure in October of 1996.

Upcoming events include music festivals, dog competitions and flea markets.

WHAT'S RUSTLIN'

by Bungy

We all know that the "Winter Texan" business has become big business for little ol' Bandera. It effects the restaurants, the gas stations, (You bet! With some taking over 50 gallons!) the grocery stores, the repair shops, beauty shops, clothing stores, jewelry shops, souvenir shops, and even the real estate businesses. And the newest business to directly connect with the RV crowd is the new boat and RV storage which is soon to open at Polly Peak Storage. Ideas just go on and on.

Two things that I've heard along the way are, first, one dollar spent in a community creates five; and, and when you see a community where the store signs are freshly painted, then, that's a prosperous community!

The Boerne church case that is supreme court fodder is terrible for them, especially since the church and city hall have already figured out a solution. They're on a runaway train and the expense is awful. The statement that one fair citizen made was perfect. She said, "I can't believe the church is using my (tithe) money to sue the city, and the city is using my tax money to defend itself!"

Our celebrities of the week are Vickie Bruton, who teaches handwriting and calligraphy, and who got to be a TV Channel 4 "Weather Wanabe." She did a great job, too!

And Buddy Byrd who I hear was a smashing success at the San Aritonio Stock Show and Rodeo, when Wynona Judd asked him to come up on stage while she sang a song. She borrowed his beautiful cowboy hat (Oh, no!! Buddy without a hat!) and he was having such a good time with her that he nearly stole the show, and was swamped with fans when he tried to get back to his seat! I personally think he ought to be nominated "Father of the Year" for the tremendous effort he puts out for his kids!

Have you ever had something you want to do, and your mouth just waters to do it? I have, and it's to build a straw bale house! And the city of Colorado Springs has just paid to have one built to show how energy efficient they are. There's an organization similar to Habitat for Humanity in Mexico, and for $500.00 they put a whole family in a wonderful, cozy, straw bale home, which no wolf can blow down.

There's the old saying, "In Texas, if you don't like the weather, wait around a minute and it'll change!" We must have had a "down draft" or something. That storm that blew in (and out in a hurry) early, Sunday morning, uprooted a big tree, tore our swimming pool dome cover to pieces, threw all the porch furniture this way and that way, even a day bed (for my naps in good weather) was heaved all the to the other end. Blew the roof off our martin house, and didn't touch another thing! It was really odd.!

And speaking of weather, with winter nearly over, here are some "soup" facts! Cambells Soup sells 700,000 tons of soup each year. Americans buy 65 cans every second of everyday, and we consume more than 10 billion bowls a year!

And that ain't hay!

OVER THE BACK FENCE

Marion Heider
[illegible]

Hi Y'all! Well, about Texas weather! Saturday night, balmy evening, then a windy early night with a crashing middle of the night, and a sunny breezy Sunday morning. The wind, heavy rain, and hail was enough to wake [illegible] from a deep sleep!

The reason we were in such a deep sleep was that we were preparing a garden spot on the front of our place all day Saturday. As the tiller died a hard death long ago, we had to resort to those one handled turning machines called a shovel and spading fork. Is a garden really worth this much work? We hope eating the fruit of this garden will make memories of the toil go away!

We are seeing people coming back to their summer places and getting them ready to use this summer. Our little community is [illegible] and [illegible] pace of our town. Is that our population growing so fast with permanent residents, the summer folks, or are folks [illegible] minority. We try to keep up with all the new folks, but are fast [illegible]

This March 3 was our baby boy's (who is larger than us) 27th birthday. It sure does not seem like 27 years ago that the ambulance took Kay on that scary trip through Japanese traffic from Yokohama to Yokuska Naval Hospital for his appearance. Then Kay's surprise to learn he had been named Marion Ray, Jr. by me after all my saying I would not name my son Marion! Anyway, this made-in-Japan kid has out grown Mom and Dad in size, but we can still get the best of him in other ways! Happy Birthday, Ray-San.

The twin girls that Heather nannies for have their first birthday on March 7. This pair of bundles of joy really make Heather earn her pay! We wish them a happy day and good luck putting up with their nanny.

The first log [illegible] is ready for service and filled with 10,000 gallons of water for fire fighting. A.R. and Gladys [illegible] their land on Blue Bill Cove Road. To place one of the tanks under our dry hydrant program. A.R. poured the saddle stands and set the tank and did the [illegible] started. Fire truck #2398 was used to pump in 10,000 gallons of water to put tank #1 in service. We have a projection of 100 of these tanks being installed in the County. The Bandera County Fire Chiefs and Presidents Association is sponsoring this project with the Medina Lake VFD as the lead department. Help for this project will come from the Texas Forestry Service, Bandera RC&D, and from donated help and materials. We are still looking for sites to install these tanks, so give us a yell if you might be interested.

Well, time is still flying by so we better try to catch up. We welcome your calls and comments, so keep them coming. Hope to see you soon over the back fence.

First annual Fun Run big success

It was a perfect day for the first annual Cowboy Classic 5K Fun Run/Walk. Runners came from as far away as Spring Branch to join most of the participants from the Bandera County area. The weather was cool, and the sun stayed behind a cloud until after the race was over.

Fifty people experienced the course, which included a steep run up Silver Spur hill. Most of the runners were heard to say that the course, selected by Coaches Randy Morrison and Larry Parsons, was challenging, yet beautiful.

All of the runners and walkers finished up the event in less than an hour with the first place overall going to a man from New Jersey who is visiting his parents in Kerrville.

Chuck Crabb did the 5 kilometers with a time of 14:33. The first place overall for women went to Shawn Morrison with a time of 22:06.

Other placers included: for women under 14, Tori Huggins 1st, Brittany Dinhobl 2nd, and Stacy Stehling 3rd; ages 15-19, Nicole Coffey 1st, Stephanie Sells 2nd, and Shannon Patrick 3rd; ages 26-30, Shawn Morrison 1st; ages 31-35, Meredith Ward 1st, and Mindi Hauck 2nd; ages 36-40, Kathy Crabb 1st, Rose Samsel 2nd, and Elva Welborn 3rd; ages 41-45, Diane Payne 1st, Pam Hillis 2nd, and Margie Broomall 3rd; ages 46-50, Darlene Howery 1st and Kay Gwin, 2nd; and over 50, Lucy Cunningham, 1st.

For men under 14, Cyrus Montague 1st, Ernie Martinez 2nd, and Chance Haby, 3rd; ages 15-19, Daniel Martinez, 1st; ages 26-30, Ricky Biediger 1st, Rick Gomez 2nd, and John Milner 3rd; ages 36-40, Chuck Crabb 1st, John Lupatzie 2nd, and Paul Clark 3rd; ages 41-45, Perrio Wells 1st, Bill Hoesep 2nd, and Mark Campbell 3rd; ages 46-50, Gerald Vradenburg 1st, and Sully Woodland 2nd; ages over 50, Dave Cunningham 1st, Steve Vradenburg 2nd, and Ron Hillis 3rd.

Paul Clark from San Antonio and Luke Oliver from Spring Branch discuss strategy before the race.

Lady Bulldog Nicole Torans, throwing ball, contributed a single in the game against Kerrville Tivy. The Lady 'Dogs lost the contest 1-4.

After two losses, Lady 'Dogs start district play

On Feb. 27, the Lady Bulldogs met up with Bracketville and came away with a loss 13-23. The girls pulled to within two runs in the fourth inning after a double play by Carilee Robbins, but 10 runs in the fifth by Bracketville were too much for the Bandera girls to overcome.

Coach Darcy Rogers cited player Georgina Gonzales for four RBI's on two doubles and player Shawna Nihart for two RBI's on a single.

"Our pitching was a little rusty and we walked too many batters," Rogers said. "Hopefully, the weather will cooperate and we will get out and really work the fundamentals of the game."

On Feb. 28, the Lady Bulldogs came up against 3-0 Tivy Lady Antlers and took a third defeat, holding the scoreboard to 1-4.

Tivy's Lindsey Rippee struck out 14 Bulldog batters, for a season high.

"Our defense and pitching was much better, but our hitting was weak, especially against Rippee, Tivy's 'fast' pitcher," Rogers said. "It was the first time we have come up against a pitcher that fast."

Robbins brought in the only run for the Lady 'Dogs on a Gonzales triple. Gonzales also had an RBI, and Nicole Torans had a single.

The coach also cited Robbins and Nihart for a double play each.

White bass may be waiting for water temperature to warm up

Last year, a lack of rainfall during the annual white bass spawning migration on Texas rivers signaled a poor run and the start of a severe drought. If rainfall is an indicator for the white bass run, anglers take notice - it's been pretty wet lately.

According to field biologists with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the only thing holding back the white bass run is the rain, which has recently muddied up river systems across the eastern half of the state and through much of the Hill Country.

White bass anglers typically begin testing the waters for the run in early January, with the peak activity usually occurring during the month of February. In some areas, the white bass have been hitting since Christmas, yet in other areas are still staging in the upper reaches of reservoirs. The only telltale sign the white bass run is on is a line of parked vehicles near any river access point.

"I counted 31 vehicles parked along Highway 31 between Chandler and Tyler," said TPWD biologist Kevin Storey of activity along the Neches River. "I guess that means the fish are biting."

Regardless of the report, now's the time to grab an ultralight spinning rig spooled with six-pound test line, bring along a good supply of 1/8th ounce spinners and jigs, and head to the river. Of all angling pursuits in Texas, white bass fishing remains one of the most popular, and economical, since most fishing can be done from the bank or by wading along shallow shoals.

According to Jim Gallagher, owner of Jim's Rebait Tackle Shop in Lakehills, the white bass are not biting yet.

"It's kind of early," he said. "The water temperature is too cold. It will have to warm up. They are just not real active right now."

Gallagher predicted that if the current weather pattern holds, fishermen should see white bass biting in about three weeks.

"We ought to do better than we did last year," he said. "People have caught a few whites."

Gallagher advised anglers who can't wait to try the area around Turk's Head, where the fish stage.

Schreiner College athletics becomes NCAA Division III

Schreiner College's Board of Trustees announced recently that the independent Presbyterian-related four-year liberal arts college will switch from membership in the National Collegiate Athletics Association Division II to NCAA Division III.

Nearly two years ago, Schreiner became a provisional member of the NCAA Division II and a dual member of the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics' Heart of Texas Conference. Six months ago the college's governing body appointed a committee to re-evaluate the school's athletic programs.

Schreiner president Dr. J. Thompson Biggers explained, "We are in the second year of our three-year provisional status in the NCAA Division II. From the perspective of that experience, naturally we wanted to make sure we are doing what's in the best interests of this school and its students.

"At Schreiner, education is our primary mission," Biggers said. "At the same time, we recognize that intercollegiate athletics is an important part of college life. We want the right balance."

Schreiner fields teams in men's and women's basketball, soccer and tennis, men's baseball and women's softball and volleyball.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

We all know that the "Winter Texan" business has become big business for little ol' Bandera. It effects the restaurants, the gas stations, (You bet! With some talking over 50 gallons!) the grocery stores, the repair shops, beauty shops, clothing stores, jewelry shops, souvenir shops, and even the real estate businesses. And the newest business to directly connect with the RV crowd is the new boat and RV storage which is soon to open at Polly Peak Storage. Ideas just go on and on.

Two things that I've heard along the way are, first, one dollar spent in a community creates five; and, and when you see a community where the store signs are freshly painted, then, that's a prosperous community!

The Boerne church case that is supreme court fodder is terrible for them, especially since the church and city hall have already figured out a solution. They're on a runaway train and the expense is awful. The statement that one fair citizen made was perfect. She said, "I can't believe the church is using my (tithe) money to sue the city, and the city is using my tax money to defend itself!"

Out celebrities of the week are Vickie Bruton, who teaches handwriting and calligraphy, and who got to be a TV Channel 4 "Weather Wanabe." She did a great job, too!

And Buddy Byrd who I hear was a smashing success at the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo, when Wynona Judd asked him to come up on stage while she sang a song. She borrowed his beautiful cowboy hat (Oh, no!! Buddy without a hat!) and he was having such a good time with her that he nearly stole the show, and was swamped with fans when he tried to get back to his seat! I personally think he ought to be nominated "Father of the Year" for the tremendous effort he puts out for his kids!

Have you ever had something you want to do, and your mouth just waters to do it? I have, and it's to build a straw bale house! And the city of Colorado Springs has just paid to have one built to show how energy efficient they are. There's an organization, similar to Habitat for Humanity in Mexico, and for $500.00 they put a whole family in a wonderful, cozy, straw bale home, which no wolf can blow down.

There's the old saying, "In Texas, if you don't like the weather, wait around a minute and it'll change!" We must have had a "down draft" or something. That storm that blew in (and out in a hurry) early, Sunday morning, uprooted a big tree, tore our swimming pool dome cover to pieces, threw all the porch furniture this way and that way, even a day bed (for my naps in good weather) was heaved all the to the other end. Blew the roof off our martin house, and didn't touch another thing! It was really odd!

And speaking of weather, with winter nearly over, here are some "soup" facts! Cambells Soup sells 700,000 tons of soup each year. Americans buy 65 cans every second of everyday, and we consume more than 10 billion bowls a year!

And that ain't hay!

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler
[illegible]

Hi Y'all!

[illegible] Texas weather! Saturday night [illegible] balmy evening, then a windy early night with a crashing middle of the night and a sunny breezy Sunday morning. The wind, heavy rain, and hail was enough to wake [illegible] from a deep sleep!

The reason we were in such a deep sleep was that we were preparing a garden spot on the front of our place all day Saturday. As the tiller died a hard death long ago, we had to resort to those one handled turning machines called a shovel and spading fork. Is a garden really worth this much work? We hope eating the fruit of this garden will make memories of the toil go away!

Five up for MLBA board

Five persons were nominated for five posts on the Medina Lake Betterment Association board of directors at the association's regular meeting Thursday, Feb. 13, at the Lakehills Civic Center.

Persons nominated for the board by the nominating committee and from the floor were Ben Hicks and incumbents C.L. Mendenhall, Tom Walton, James Frazer, and Rupe Metting.

Ballots will be mailed out to MLBA members this month. The ballots are to mailed back to the address on the ballot or be returned to the Lakehills Civic Center Thursday, March 13, by 7:30 p.m. when the March monthly meeting begins.

Membership and therefore voting privileges in the association is $5 per year, payable by the March meeting.

The association presented plaques to the EMS and the Constable's office for their dedicated assistance to the MLBA over the years.

Upcoming events including the April 12 Brewfest, March 29 Easter Egg Hunt, and March 22 Membership Dance were discussed.

We are seeing people coming [illegible] getting them ready to use this summer. Our little community [illegible] part of the year. With our population growing so fast with permanent residents, the summer folks are [illegible] minority. We try to keep up with all the new folks, but are fast losing ground.

This March 3 was our baby boy's (who is larger than us) 27th birthday. It sure does not seem like 27 years ago that the ambulance took Kay on that scary trip through Japanese traffic from Yokohama to Yokuska Naval Hospital for his appearance. Then Kay's surprise to learn he had been named Marion Ray, Jr. by me after all my saying I would not name my son Marion! Anyway, this made-in-Japan kid has out grown Mom and Dad in size, but we can still get the best of him in other ways! Happy Birthday, Ray-San.

The twin girls that Heather nannies for have their first birthday on March 7. This pair of bundles of joy really make Heather earn her pay! We wish them a happy day and good luck putting up with their nanny.

The first fire hydrant tank is ready for service and filled with 10,000 gallons of water for fire fighting. A.R. and Gladys [illegible] their land on Blue Bill Cove Road. To place one of the tanks under our dry hydrant program, A.R. poured the saddle stands and set the tank and did the [illegible] started. Fire truck #2398 was used to pump in 10,000 gallons of water to put tank #1 in service. We have a projection of 100 of these tanks being installed in the County. The Bandera County Fire Chiefs and Presidents Association is sponsoring this project with the Medina Lake VFD as the lead department. Help for this project will come from the Texas Forestry Service, Bandera RC&D, and from donated help and materials. We are still looking for sites to install these tanks, so give us a yell if you might be interested.

Well, time is still flying by so we better try to catch up. We welcome your calls and comments, so keep them coming. Hope to see you soon over the back fence.

First annual Fun Run big success

"It was a perfect day for the first annual Cowboy Classic 5K Fun Run/Walk. Runners came from as far away as Spring Branch to join most of the participants from the Bandera County area. The weather was cool, and the sun stayed behind a cloud until after the race was over.

Fifty people experienced the course, which included a steep run up Silver Spur hill. Most of the runners were heard to say that the course, selected by Coaches Randy Morrison and Larry Parsons, was challenging, yet beautiful.

All of the runners and walkers finished up the event in less than an hour with the first place overall going to a man from New Jersey who is visiting his parents in Kerrville.

Chuck Crabb did the 5 kilometers with a time of 14:33. The first place overall for women went to Shawn Morrison with a time of 22:06.

Other placers included: for women under 14, Tori Huggins 1st, Brittany Dinhobl 2nd, and Stacy Stehling 3rd; ages 15-19, Nicole Coffey 1st, Stephanie Sells 2nd, and Sharinon Patrick 3rd; ages 26-30, Shawn Morrison 1st; ages 31-35, Meredith Ward 1st, and Mindi Hauck 2nd; ages 36-40, Kathy Crabb 1st, Rose Samsel 2nd, and Elva Welborn 3rd; ages 41-45, Diane Payne 1st, Pam Hillis 2nd, and Margie Broomall 3rd; ages 46-50, Darlene Howery 1st and Kay Gwin, 2nd; and over 50, Lucy Cunningham, 1st.

Paul Clark from San Antonio and Luke Oliver from Spring Branch discuss strategy before the race.

Lady Bulldog Nicole Torans, throwing ball, contributed a single in the game against Kerrville Tivy. The Lady 'Dogs lost the contest 1-4.

After two losses, Lady 'Dogs start district play

On Feb. 27, the Lady Bulldogs met up with Bracketville and came away with a loss 13-23. The girls pulled to within two runs in the fourth inning after a double play by Carilee Robbins; but 10 runs in the fifth by Bracketville were too much for the Bandera girls to overcome.

Coach Darcy Rogers cited player Georgina Gonzales for four RBI's on two doubles and player Shawna Nihart for two RBI's on a single.

"Our pitching was a little rusty and we walked too many batters," Rogers said. "Hopefully, the weather will cooperate and we will get out and really work the fundamentals of the game."

On Feb. 28, the Lady Bulldogs came up against 3-0 Tivy Lady Antlers and took a third defeat, holding the scoreboard to 1-4.

Tivy's Lindsey Rippee struck out 14 Bulldog batters, for a season high.

"Our defense and pitching was much better, but our hitting was weak, especially against Rippee, Tivy's 'fast' pitcher," Rogers said. "It was the first time we have come up against a pitcher that fast."

Robbins brought in the only run for the Lady 'Dogs on a Gonzales triple. Gonzales also had an RBI, and Nicole Torans had a single.

The coach also cited Robbins and Nihart for a double play each.

White bass may be waiting for water temperature to warm up

Last year, a lack of rainfall during the annual white bass spawning migration on Texas rivers signaled a poor run and the start of a severe drought. If rainfall is an indicator for the white bass run, anglers take notice - it's been pretty wet lately.

According to field biologists with the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, the only thing holding back the white bass run is the rain, which has recently muddied up river systems across the eastern half of the state and through much of the Hill Country.

White bass anglers typically begin testing the waters for the run in early January, with the peak activity usually occurring during the month of February. In some areas, the white bass have been hitting since Christmas, yet in other areas are still staging in the upper reaches of reservoirs. The only telltale sign the white bass run is on is a line of parked vehicles near any river access point.

"I counted 31 vehicles parked along Highway 31 between Chandler and Tyler," said TPWD biologist Kevin Storey of activity along the Neches River. "I guess that means the fish are biting."

Regardless of the report, now's the time to grab an ultralight spinning rig spooled with six-pound test line, bring along a good supply of 1/8th ounce spinners and jigs, and head to the river. Of all angling pursuits in Texas, white bass fishing remains one of the most popular, and economical, since most fishing can be done from the bank or by wading along shallow shoals.

According to Jim Gallagher, owner of Jim's Rebait Tackle Shop in Lakehills, the white bass are not biting yet.

"It's kind of early," he said. "The water temperature is too cold. It will have to warm up, They are just not real active right now."

Gallagher predicted that if the current-weather pattern holds, fishermen should see white bass biting in about three weeks.

"We ought to do better than we did last year," he said. "People have caught a few whites."

Gallagher advised anglers who can't wait to try the area around Turk's Head, where the fish stage.

Schreiner College athletics becomes NCAA Division III

Schreiner College's Board of Trustees announced recently that the independent Presbyterian-related four-year liberal arts college will switch from membership in the National Collegiate Athletics Association Division II to NCAA Division III.

Nearly two years ago, Schreiner became a provisional member of the NCAA Division II and a dual member of the National Association for Intercollegiate Athletics' Heart of Texas Conference. Six months ago the college's governing body appointed a committee to re-evaluate the school's athletic programs.

Schreiner president Dr. J. Thompson Biggers explained, "We are in the second year of our three-year provisional status in the NCAA Division II. From the perspective of that experience, naturally we wanted to make sure we are doing what is in the best interests of this school and its students.

"At Schreiner, education is our primary mission," Biggers said. "At the same time, we recognize that intercollegiate athletics is an important part of college life. We want the right balance."

Schreiner fields teams in men's and women's basketball, soccer and tennis, men's baseball and women's softball and volleyball.

Fourth graders working on book of the states

Kids writing for kids is a wonderful way to promote reading and writing across our country. Teresa Moore's seventeen fourth graders at Hill Country Elementary School will see their work published in a book with national distribution. These lucky fourth graders have been chosen to prepare four pages about Texas for the newly published book, titled "The Fifty Great States Scrapbook." This book will be published by Scholastic Books and sold in bookstores, carried by libraries, and used in schools nationwide.

Each of the fifty classrooms that are taking part in the national project will study their state and complete a section of four pages filled with writing, illustrations and photos about their state. The Texas pages will include a photo of Moore's class. The school will receive five free copies of the book and get a chance to purchase additional copies at a reduced rate.

This learning task will help young authors experience a small piece of publishing a book. Students will research information about their state and, after an in-depth study, will write, edit and revise scrapbook pages and then send them off to an editor. The editor will evaluate the students' material and return it with specific comments for revision. The final draft will be due later in March.

On the 19th, when we had all the rain, the lane that my family has to travel to reach the highway was blocked by brush and trees. I called Mr. Arthur Hines and Mr. D.E.Welch for help. They came with a tractor, worked in the rain and cleared the lane. I really appreciate their help. Its wonderful to have neighbors like these two. God Bless you both.

Educational TV anchor inspires BHS students

By: Carrie Sandidge

On February 13, BHS broadcast students got the opportunity to listen to Kate Brown, the anchor of a popular educational show called "Satellite in the Classroom." The show airs on Tuesday mornings through educational broadcast television nationwide.

After beginning her career in public relations at the Texas State Aquarium, Brown received the opportunity to host "Satellite in the Classroom" sponsored by H.E.B.

While at BHS she shared her first hand experience in the journalism field. She spoke about her travels throughout Texas and Mexico.

Brown has produced on location from the Texas State Aquarium, San Antonio Zoo, Houston Museum of Art, and the coral reefs of Cozumel.

The show is looking to expand to such locations as the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C.

Brown spoke of the importance of her education at Texas Christian University in Fort Worth. She inspired, motivated, and gave advice to the aspiring journalists of Bandera High School.

Brown is a native Texan who resides in San Antonio. One of her former educators is Bandera's own Shirley Nedry. Nedry is a computer educator for Bandera I.S.D.

WHARTON'S DOCK & LAKE MEDINA SHORES

John Ciarlo 796-3225

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department held training on Saturday, March 1. The training covered the care and use of air packs. Mike Avallone and Kim Wood really got into this training as it will be the main subject when they return to Refugio, Texas, in March 15 and 16 for the second half of training for being a Fire Fighter 1.

The Once-a-Month Lunch Bunch of ladies will have their next get together on March 19 at the Copper Lantern.

The military vets and retirees will have a meeting on Thursday, March 13, at the fire house at 7 p.m. One thing has been accomplished from only two meetings. It was brought to the attention of the right people at Lake Medina Shores concerning the easy access for burglars and vandals to the storage area where boats, RVs and other things were hanging over the fence and the high brush around the fence made for easy hiding. If you drive by take a look at the grounds, they look more like a park grounds now.

The Lakeshore VFD held a general membership meeting on Saturday, March 1 with 28 members attending. Bob Rucker was appointed Chairman for the annual Fund Raiser which is scheduled for May 24, 1997. Watch this column for dates and times that items will be accepted for the Flea Market and Auction.

Olivia Andrade, newly elected to the Executive Board, had five helpers on Saturday to clean and straighten the store rooms to make them ready to receive items for the fund raiser.

TARPLEY

Nettie Dean 562-3464

Saturday morning we remarked the March surely had come in like a lamb, but the lion hit with lightening and thunder and high winds and hail early Sunday morning. Many neighbors reported limbs, debris and uprooted trees.

- Charles Dean was a dinner guest Sunday to help repair damaged barn roofs.
- Tarpley area folks who attended the 65th wedding anniversary of Ernest and Lois Heinen Morgenstern at Lost Valley were Willie and Olga Schmidt, Elzie and Nettie Dean and Gerry Sharp. All enjoyed a barbecue dinner and music by the Hill Toppers. Ernest said he is looking forward to a 70th anniversary celebration.
- Correction from last week. The Cemetery School consolidated with Happy Hollow School and students moved to the current location of the Pipe Creek Community Center in 1923. The Cemetery School building was moved by Adolph Reinarz's steam tractor and some horses.

The Happy Hollow School was bought by Albert Voght and moved to his place in the neighborhood where the Webb and Emma McKandles Sr. family lived. Sometimes the school was called Deskin School because that family had the most children attending. Jack McKandles, 90, contributed most of this information.

Worry never robs tomorrow of its sorrow, it only saps today of its strength.

The Bandera DAR presented 32 Certificates of Participation to students in the 5th grade at Alkek on Friday, Feb. 27. A Thought For The Week

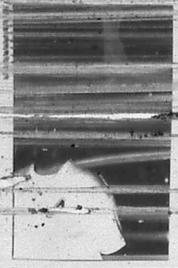
by John M. Grimes

It is surprising how much people can do when they think they can. Self-confidence, providing of course that it does not become vanity, is one of the most helpful characteristics a person can possess.

Yes, an outstanding trait of a successful man is self-confidence. Whatever he may think of others, he believes in himself. He believes he can do anything he sets out to do. He has not only faith but courage. But such self-confidence is not conceit. It is always based upon solid-things such as knowledge, skill, and the willingness to work. Self-confidence is not a gift of nature, but one of her awards that anyone can earn.



It has been said that there are no limitations in what you can do except the limitations of your own mind as to what you can not do.

Don't think you can not. Think that you can . . .

Fourth graders working on book of the states

Kids writing for kids is a wonderful way to promote reading and writing across our country. Teresa Moore's seventeen fourth graders at Hill Country Elementary School will see their work published in a book with national distribution. These lucky fourth graders have been chosen to prepare four pages about Texas for the newly published book, titled "The Fifty Great States Scrapbook." This book will be published by Scholastic Books and sold in bookstores, carried by libraries, and used in schools nationwide.

Each of the fifty classrooms that are taking part in the national project will study their state and complete a section of four pages filled with writing, illustrations and photos about their state. The Texas pages will include a photo of Moore's class. The school will receive five free copies of the book and get a chance to purchase additional copies at a reduced rate.

This learning task will help young authors experience a small piece of publishing a book. Students will research information about their state and, after an in-depth study, will write, edit and revise scrapbook pages and then send them off to an editor. The editor will evaluate the students' material and return it with specific comments for revision. The final draft will be due later in March.

The Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department held training on Saturday, March 1. The training covered the care and use of air packs. Mike Avallone and Kim Wood really got into this training as it will be the main subject when they return to Refugio, Texas, in March 15 and 16 for the second half of training for being a Fire Fighter 1.

The Once-a-Month Lunch Bunch of ladies will have their next get together on March 19 at the Copper Lantern.

The military vets and retirees will have a meeting on Thursday, March 13, at the fire house at 7 p.m. One thing has been accomplished from only two meetings. It was brought to the attention of the right people at Lake Medina Shores concerning the easy access for burglars and vandals to the storage area where boats, RVs and other things were hanging over the fence and the high brush around the fence made for easy hiding. If you drive by take a look at the grounds, they look more like a park grounds now.

The Lakeshore VFD held a general membership meeting on Saturday, March 1 with 28 members attending. Bob Rucker was appointed Chairman for the annual Fund Raiser which is scheduled for May 24, 1997. Watch this column for dates and times that items will be accepted for the Flea Market and Auction.

Olivia Andrade, newly elected to the Executive Board, had five helpers on Saturday to clean and straighten the store rooms to make them ready to receive items for the fund raiser.

Nettie Dean 562-3464

Saturday morning we remarked the March surely had come in like a lamb, but the lion hit with lightening and thunder and high winds and hail early Sunday morning. Many neighbors reported limbs, debris and uprooted trees.

- Charles Dean was a dinner guest Sunday to help repair damaged barn roofs.
- Tarpley area folks who attended the 65th wedding anniversary of Ernest and Lois Heinen Morgenstern at Lost Valley were Willie and Olga Schmidt, Elzie and Nettie Dean and Gerry Sharp. All enjoyed a barbecue dinner and music by the Hill Toppers. Ernest said he is looking forward to a 70th anniversary celebration.
- Correction from last week. The Cemetery School consolidated with Happy Hollow School and students moved to the current location of the Pipe Creek Community Center in 1923. The Cemetery School building was moved by Adolph Reinarz's steam tractor and some horses.

The Happy Hollow School was bought by Albert Voght and moved to his place in the neighborhood where the Webb and Emma McKandles Sr. family lived. Sometimes the school was called Deskin School because that family had the most children attending. Jack McKandles, 90, contributed most of this information.

Worry never robs tomorrow of its sorrow, it only saps today of its strength.

Educational TV anchor inspires BHS students

By: Carrie Sandidge

On February 13, BHS broadcast students got the opportunity to listen to Kate Brown, the anchor of a popular educational show called "Satellite in the Classroom." The show airs on Tuesday mornings through educational broadcast television nationwide.

After beginning her career in public relations at the Texas State Aquarium, Brown received the opportunity to host "Satellite in the Classroom" sponsored by H-E-B.

While at BHS she shared her first hand experience in the journalism field. She spoke about her travels throughout Texas and Mexico.

Brown has broadcast from the Texas State Aquarium, San Antonio Houston Museum of Art, and the coral reefs of Cozumel.

The show is looking to expand to such locations as the Smithsonian Institute in Washington D.C.

Brown spoke of the importance of her education at Trinity Christian University in Fort Worth. She inspired, motivated, and gave advice to the aspiring journalists of Bandera High School.

Brown is a native Texan and resides in San Antonio. One of her former educators at Bandera's own Shirley Nedry is a computer educator for Bandera I.S.D.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

It is surprising how much people can do when they think they can. Self-confidence, providing of course that it does not become vanity, is one of the most helpful characteristics a person can possess.

Yes, an outstanding trait of a successful man is self-confidence. Whatever he may think of others, he believes in himself. He believes he can do anything he sets out to do. He has not only faith but courage. But such self-confidence is no conceit. It is always based upon solid-things such as knowledge, skill, and the willingness to work. Self-confidence is not a gift of nature, but one of her awards that anyone can earn.

It has been said that there are no limitations in what you can do except the limitations of your own mind as to what you can not do.

Don't think you can not. Think that you can...

600 Club members earn passes to Six Flags

Utopia School Library has been a happening place lately. One recent project was the Read To Succeed program that was sponsored by the Six Flags Theme Park Inc. This program was for kindergarten through 6th grades to read 600 minutes to become a member in the 600-Minute Reading Club. With the club membership each student will receive one free admission to a Six Flags Theme Park. These passes are good between June 21 and Aug. 3. The club was designed to give students an achievable goal in outside reading and to provide them with a strong motivation for reaching that goal. Participating in the 600-Minute Reading Club has proven to be a powerful way to motivate all students to read for recreation.

Another library project was a successful book fair which raised over $600. These funds will go to purchase new books for the library.

OBITUARIES

Susan Lich: artist

Susan Lich, 69, of Cypress Creek, Texas, died Sunday, March 2, 1997 in a Boerne nursing home.

Mrs. Lich was born in Newton Sloan and Thelma Olive Rust. She came to Cypress Creek in 1945 when she married Ernst Perry Lich, the grandson of pioneer settlers of Kerr County.

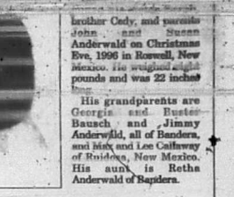
Mrs. Lich was an artist whose landscapes today hang in collections on three continents. She was a founder of the Comfort Art Guild. Under the tutelage of her parents-in-law, rancher Ernst Lich and wife Antonia Hoerner, Mrs. Lich became one of the principal interpreters of German culture. Her amateur archeological work pushed back the history of human habitation of central Texas by several thousand years.

Her and her husband's work in historical and prehistorical preservation is attested to by two state historical markers. Their work in soil, water, plant, and wildlife conservation preserved the Hill Country's natural beauty for generations to come.

Mrs. Lich was a member of the Cypress Creek Garden Club, the Cypress Creek Study Club, the Cypress Creek Historical Society and the Cypress Creek Conservation Club.

Survivors include her husband, Perry; son, Glen; daughter, Nancy; a daughter-in-law and a son-in-law; and grandchildren, Stephen Woolley Lich-Tyler, Elizabeth Lich-Tyler, Noel Jones, Annie Jones, Erik Jones, Ian Jones and Victoria Jones.

Services were held on March 4, 1997 at the family and community cemetery.



Funeral arrangements were under the direction of Grimes Funeral Chapels of Kerrville.

Willie Wright: of Lake Jackson

Willie Wright, 71, of Lake Jackson, Texas, died Sunday, March 2, 1997 in a Bandera care center. Funeral arrangements are pending and when complete will be announced by Lakewood Funeral Chapel, Lake Jackson, Texas. Local arrangements are with Grimes Funeral Chapels of Bandera.

VetSignia to show veteran pride in service

Men and women who served in the military during the past four major United States wars can now proudly display their branch of service and the war they were involved in with VetSignia Window Stickers.

The stickers are two by four inches, black on shiny silver metallic film, with an American flag background. Twenty-six different stickers are available for four major wars (WWII, Korea, Vietnam, and Persian Gulf) and five services (Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard).

Veterans who served in peacetime can get stickers that show their branch of service.

Retired veterans designed and make the unique, attractive, long-lasting stickers.

"The idea came up during a vets' ball session," said Bob Kline, the WWII Marine who handles requests for the stickers. "We were brainstorming about how we could help veterans get recognition on more than just a few special holidays.

"The stickers let veterans say, 'I did it when it had to be done and I'm proud of it.'"

Sticker requests should include name, address, war served in, and branch of service. The stickers cost $4 each or three for $10. Interested vets can get their stickers from Bob Kline, Box 382, Blue Bell, PA 19422. The phone number is (610) 277-1171.

SILVER SAGE [illegible]

Wednesday, March 5, 1997 • Page 7A

[illegible] Silver Sage Board of Directors there was a discussion concerning fund-raising possibilities. Of course, tossing ways to keep the place going is always a challenge.

[illegible] raisers I've heard about was held in Boerne this year to help with the cost of building a new senior center. They decided to have a style show, a very unique style show. The models were all leading Boerne businessmen, modeling women's clothing. Ruth Shell, director of the Boerne senior center, tells me that some of the models were absolutely beautiful with their makeup, wigs, high heels, etc. These models had to have escorts which turned out to be guys from the high school football team.

Can you think of any better way to involve the entire community in a fund-raising event? Besides the fun and side-splitting laughter, proceeds totaled around $15,000. The volunteer who suggested this event was kind enough to organize and produce the entire deal.

Now, let's see...first we need to find that wonderful volunteer!!

VetSignia to show veteran pride in service

Men and women who served in the military during the past four major United States wars can now proudly display their branch of service and the war they were involved in with VetSignia Window Stickers.

The stickers are two by four inches, black on shiny silver metallic film, with an American flag background. Twenty-six different stickers are available for four major wars (WWII, Korea, Vietnam, and Persian Gulf) and five services (Army, Navy, Marines, Air Force and Coast Guard).

Veterans who served in peacetime can get stickers that show their branch of service.

Retired veterans designed and make the unique, attractive, long-lasting stickers.

"The idea came up during a vets' bull session," said Bob Kline, the WWII Marine who handles requests for the stickers. "We were brainstorming about how we could help veterans get recognition on more than just a few special holidays.

"The stickers let veterans say, 'I did it when it had to be done and I'm proud of it.'"

Sticker requests should include name, address, war served in, and branch of service. The stickers cost $4 each or three for $10. Interested vets can get their stickers from Bob Kline, Box 382, Blue Bell, PA 19422. The phone number is (610) 277-1171.

600 Club members earn passes to Six Flags

Utopia School Library has been a happening place lately. One recent project was the Read To Succeed program that was sponsored by the Six Flags Theme Park Inc. This program was for kindergarten through 6th grades to read 600 minutes to become a member in the 600-Minute Reading Club. With the club membership each student will receive one free admission to a Six Flags Theme Park. These passes are good between June 21 and Aug. 3. The club was designed to give students an achievable goal in outside reading and to provide them with a strong motivation for reaching that goal. Participating in the 600-Minute Reading Club has proven to be a powerful way to motivate all students to read for recreation.

Another library project was a successful book fair which raised over $600. These funds will go to purchase new books for the library.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Winter Texans say they had a good time at their party

Dear Editor:

Thanks for the Winter Texans Party!

To everyone involved (you know who you are) thanks for a real fun evening. This is our second trip to Bandera and you folks really make us Northerners feel welcome. We recommend Bandera to all we meet.

Thanks to those who prepared and served the delicious meal, to the Cabaret, and to those who provided the entertainment. It was a real treat to just sit back and watch a whole lot of people having a wonderful time. Thanks for the gift certificates from all the businesses. Last but not least, thanks to our RV park hosts Lou and Shermalee Mack for the free tickets and a wonderful place to stay.

God bless Texas.

Monte and Marlene Van Muteren

Get involved

Dear Editor:

I appreciate Mr. Ott's letter on the expenditures of the Medina I.S.D. The tax payers of the district can appreciate his accounting of the funds collected and so wisely spent and invested for the future.

Taxpayers, please get involved with your school districts and help them solve the exploding growth rate and be supportive.

Good teachers and administrators are at a premium with [illegible] the citizens of tomorrow. Let's not waste a mind or lose a student.

It's time to change the law

Dear Editor:

I have been following an abuse case, hoping to help the abused. This is another animal abuse case, not a child, wife, or elderly person.

Of course there are hundreds of these sad cases also. Meanness abounds. In this abuse case the animal was returned to the abuser owner, I guess due to pressure of laws concerning ownership. Isn't it time to change these laws of ownership to include a clause of protection if abuse is shown?

Well, yes it is.

Will speak up

Dear Editor:

As reported in The Bandera Bulletin, I spoke up during school board deliberations at their last meeting. The president of the board told me if I said one more word I would have to leave. The details of the altercation are not important; what's at issue here is the denial of a citizen's constitutional rights of free speech.

The school board allows "patrons" to speak only during the time allotted on the agenda, usually prior to any substantive discussions about issues of concern to taxpayers. Speaking at any other time will, in my experience, result in being cut off by the board president.

Now I realize that the board agendas are lengthy, and continuous disruptions by the public could interfere with the work of the board, but the first amendments rights of a citizen may not be infringed.

I will continue to speak whenever what I have to say is relevant to the discussion at hand. I will try not to be frivolous or tedious, but I will speak out.

I found it interesting that, just prior to the incident, Miss Regina Montague gave a very moving reading of her composition about the cost and value of liberty. Her description of the National Cemetery at Arlington, and what it revealed to her about sacrifice, is a lesson and reminder to us all. I believe it was George Washington who said that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and we should all be very quick to protest any diminution of rights granted by our beloved constitution.

Why note beauty?

Dear Editor:

I am puzzled. Why was it necessary for Staff Writer, Cyndi Wright, to describe the new Bandera policewoman as "the tall, pretty blond?" Would a new policeman be described as "a tall, handsome blond?"

In reading the interview I came to the conclusion that Shannon Robles will be an excellent addition to the Bandera police force. Will this be because she is a "tall, pretty blond" or because she is a dedicated police officer? We have enough emphasis on "beauty" without it extending into law enforcement.

I look forward to reading more about Shannon's contributions to the Bandera community.

March Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

Wow, just now when I filled in the heading of this column I realized that I wrote my first column titled March Moments two years ago. And it was my first column for this paper.

I wrote it about two guys who were riding their bicycles from someplace to someplace else - I can't remember all the details now - and they were passing through Bandera.

Carolyn decided that was the title of my column and so it has been ever since. Let me tell you, if I had known I would be writing a regular column I would have chosen a name that didn't have to be changed every time the month changes. Once, the column went to press with the wrong month on it, and countless times one or the other of us has caught it before it goes to press.

Oh well, it keeps us on our toes!

The first annual Cowboy Classic 5K Run [illegible] happened on Saturday morning, and people came from all over to take part. It was really neat to see serious runners (one guy ran the course once before the race started!), the kids, parents pushing baby strollers, and one man who brought his dogs.

Quite awesome to one who considers reading a good book the ultimate sport. No really, I manage to get exercise (but not by running!)

The city council elections are coming up and I do not want to see a rerun of last year's fiasco when only 68, yes you read it right, only 68 people actually managed to drag themselves out and vote for the people who are going to decide how you live!

Come on city residents! How long does it take to vote - five minutes?

CAROLYN'S CORNER

BY CAROLYN B. EDWARDS, EDITOR

Well, it's Friday afternoon and I haven't got one single brilliant idea about what to write about for this column, so I guess we will just go with the old stream of consciousness flow and see what washes up 400 words later.

I was gratified by the response to last week's column on the erosion of our common language. Most of the response was positive. Apparently many of you share my concern about the growing "separateness" that seems to be everywhere in America today.

There also seems to be a related movement to take offense at any thing and every thing, with a generous slinging of accusations of racism to top it all off. Folks, it has about reached the point that you have to be a certified German-American to buy sauerkraut at the grocery store. Anyone else eating pickled cabbage might be accused of committing a racist slur.

• A Christian woman friend of mine called to express her concern about some classes she is taking over at UTSA. For her sociology class, she was required to cover some events taking place on campus for women's history month. Needless to say, the events were not the kinds of activities she would spend time at normally. What to do?

Maybe she can come up with some creative options to present to the professor. Christian women have history, too.

• I see in this week's Basic Bandera that Peggy Tobin names her trees. We have three pecan trees in the front yard named Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. Daniel stands alone in the lion's den of the back yard. We also enjoy Justin's Bush and Jerome's Rose.

• Cyndi and I went to a newspaper design seminar in Austin Thursday. We picked up a few pointers in how to improve the look of our paper and you may notice some of them in this issue. We will be doing a little more cleaning up and polishing as we go along. Let us know how we're looking.

The whole point of good newspaper design, said the seminar director, is to make the paper easy to read.

So we will be working on doing just that for you.

• I don't know if it is the spring weather or a response to my column a couple of weeks ago encouraging letters to the editor, but we sure have been getting a lot of them lately. If you don't see yours in this issue, just be patient, we will try to get to all of them as soon as we can.

Mayor's Memo....

by Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan

Riding off in all directions!

When people ask me what kind of community Bandera is, I usually reply that it is a peaceful city nestled in a horseshoe bend of the Medina River. It is a community of good people who love to do their own thing and therein lies the problem. We love to get on our horse and ride off in all directions. Then we wonder why we get very little accomplished. Oh, this is not only between city, county and school, but all the associations and volunteer organizations.

There is hope though, and I am beginning to see it in some of the meetings I have been attending lately. Imagine, if you will, the present county judge, the previous county judge, commissioners, mayor, council members, representatives from our school systems, representatives from our many churches, our newspapers and business people interested in our community all meeting for the common good of all. It just might be that we are all going to get on our horses and focus on riding in the same direction. Miracles do happen.

In the meantime, and after some 10 months of fighting brush fires, it looks as if the city may be able to get on its horse and all ride in the same direction, too. For those of you who are wondering why some of the city staff have been to see you and ask questions, let me put your mind at ease. We are underway towards working for a grant to help defray the cost of repairing the infrastructure (water, waste water, storm drains and streets) and one of the requirements is to determine by survey if we are a rich (only in natural beauty), moderate (average income) or poor (below average income). Most of us that live here know the answer as shown by salaries of those who work in our city. We ask your cooperation in helping us to carry this out. It will benefit each and every one of you.

And at the end of the month (March 23-27) there will be engineers from Leak Busters checking all the lines in our water system for leaks. Stopping these leaks could mean a large savings in our costs of water. Again I would ask you to show them our wonderful Bandera friendliness as they go about their tasks.

We are also getting much closer to having a city administrator on board. I hope that we will be able to take care of most of the brush fires in a much more efficient and speedy manner.

Yes, things are beginning to happen (did I hear a "it's about time" uttered?).

Come on down to our regular city council meeting which will be held Monday night, March 10 at 7 p.m. at the City Municipal Building, 503 Main Street.

See you there.

City Council meets Monday, March 10 7 p.m. Municipal Building 503 Main Street

BASIC BANDERA

The sign in front of the Car Wash says [illegible] Bandera. But [illegible] the Exxon on Main Street: Dorothy Mattiza, please identify. We didn't get out of the car the other day for a detailed look.

Also—though the tufted titmice have been trooping away with their Johnny-One-Note song for some days, just now the cardinals have tuned up with their assertive singing. A sure sign of spring. Soon one dominant male will have vanquished the several others who have been coming in for seeds and taken possession of the housewife's yard for the breeding season. June Osborn says a head-cardinal-in-charge needs about five acres for his domestic domain and jealously guards his boundaries.

There was a scorpion on the cold tile floor under the birdseed tub when we moved it the other morning. What a miserable damp place to have been hibernating all winter if that is what he was doing. He was ready for battle when we blew his cover. Another sign of spring.

The transplanted bigtooth maple trees by the front porch are showing fat buds—so soon after dropping their red leaves just before Christmas. We call these two trees, now taller than adjoining oaks and junipers after twenty years, Scott and Kelly because as tiny saplings they came from the river bank out at the Mayan.

The occurrence of the maples in random places around the county other than the head of the Sabinal would indicate that were it not for browsing animals in increasing numbers, we might enjoy these delightful trees almost everywhere. But deer have been exploding in population since the old days, and we all know that too many [illegible] tures have been "goated out." It would be interesting to observe [illegible] happen if there [illegible]

There is one lone maple on the cliff across the river from our [illegible] property. Flaming out like a bright beacon in the fall through the [illegible] area-rug, shall we say—or purply-pink wildflower blooming in [illegible] goat has been able to reach its sugar-sweet leaves.

You will remember the reports that early settlers in the Sabinal thought the native manles could be tapped for syrup like their northern counterparts. But the trees couldn't take it. They died after one bucketful was withdrawn.

So now, after these spring fever musing, how about an abrupt non sequitur of aphorisms we've noted in reading and listening lately? Incidentally, the one-liner in last week's paper by Raleigh Moses was wonderfully repeatable, referring to speeding on the road: "I'd rather arrive home thirty minutes late than get to hell thirty years early."

Legion luncheon coming up

for Bandera's best

The Bandera American Legion Unit 157 will host [illegible] cheon on Thursday, March 13 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the American Legion Hall, located at Cypress and 12th Streets in Bandera.

Two kinds of soup and over 20 different salads with iced tea or coffee will be served for only $4 per person. Homemade desserts will be available for 50 cents each. Take out orders will also be available.

Proceeds from this luncheon will help send girls from Bandera and Medina High Schools to Bluebonnet Girls State in June.

Last year's representatives were Regina Montague and Sara Erfurt. The girls are selected by the school on the basis of academics and other qualifications.

A field of enthusiastic runners set off on an uphill run at Saturday morning's 5K Fun Run to benefit the Bandera Middle School Booster Club. At right, Nicole Coffey (C) placed first while BHS Cross Country team mates Shannon Patrick (L) and Stephanie Sells came in third and second respectively in their age bracket.

Demos meet

On Feb. 20, the Bandera County Democratic Club met at the Bandera Bank Community Building. Guest speaker was Regina Montague, a senior at Bandera High School, who attended the inauguration of President Bill Clinton as a delegate to the Presidential Inauguration Youth Conference.

Regina returned from Washington D.C. with a lot of pictures and wonderful memories which were articulately shared with the club members. One of the highlights of her trip was the visit to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum.

The next Bandera County Democratic Club meeting will be March 20,1997 at 7 p.m. at the Bandera Bank Community Building.

BMS VALENTINE COURT -- The Bandera Middle School sixth grade Valentine's Court included front: Nicole Griffin, Kyla Kowalski, Jennifer Wilson, Taylor Williamson; Back: Matt Poitert, Synlyn Dodd, Brett Hicks and Colton Sells.

Retired teachers meeting here

There will be a regular meeting of the Retired Teachers Association of Texas, Bandera County Unit on Wednesday, March 12 at the Silver Sage Corral.

Guest speaker will be a representative of the TRS health care plan.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Winter Texans say they had a good time at their party

Dear Editor:
Thanks for the Winter Texans Party!

To everyone involved (you know who you are) thanks for a real fun evening. This is our second trip to Bandera and you folks really make us Northerners feel welcome. We recommend Bandera to all we meet.

Thanks to those who prepared and served the delicious meal, to the Cabaret, and, to those who provided the entertainment. It was a real treat to just sit back and watch a whole lot of people having a wonderful time. Thanks for the gift certificates from all the businesses. Last but not least, thanks to our RV park hosts Lou and Shermalee Mack for the free tickets and a wonderful place to stay.

God bless Texas.

Monte and Marlene Van Muteren

Get involved

Dear Editor:
I appreciate Mr. Ott's letter on the expenditures of the Medina I.S.D. The tax payers of the district can appreciate his accounting of the funds collected and so wisely spent and invested for the future.

Taxpayers, please get involved with your school districts and help them solve the exploding growth rate and be supportive.

Good teachers and administrators are at a premium with present pay scales. They deserve the citizens of tomorrow. Let's not waste a mind or lose a student.

It's time to change the law

Dear Editor:
I have been following an abuse case, hoping to help the abused. This is another animal abuse case, not a child, wife, or elderly person.

Of course there are hundreds of these sad cases also. Meanness abounds. In this abuse case the animal was returned to the abuser owner, I guess due to pressure of laws concerning ownership. Isn't it time to change these laws of ownership to include a clause of protection if abuse is shown?

Well, yes it is.

Appreciates The Bulletin in Africa

Dear Editor:
I am writing to renew my subscription to The Bandera Bulletin.

Although I now live in southern Africa where my husband is the American Ambassador, I continue to appreciate and enjoy news about my home town friends in Bandera.

Will speak up

Dear Editor:
As reported in The Bandera Bulletin, I spoke up during school board deliberations at their last meeting. The president of the board told me if I said one more word I would have to leave. The details of the altercation are not important; what's at issue here is the denial of a citizen's constitutional rights of free speech.

The school board allows "patrons" to speak only during the time allotted on the agenda, usually prior to any substantive discussions about issues of concern to taxpayers. Speaking at any other time will, in my experience, result in being cut off by the board president.

Now I realize that the board agendas are lengthy, and continuous disruptions by the public could interfere with the work of the board, but the first amendments rights of a citizen may not be infringed.

I will continue to speak whenever what I have to say is relevant to the discussion at hand. I will try not to be frivolous or tedious, but I will speak out.

I found it interesting that, just prior to the incident, Miss Regina Montague gave a very moving reading of her composition about the cost and value of liberty. Her description of the National Cemetery at Arlington, and what it revealed to her about sacrifice, is a lesson and reminder to us all. I believe it was George Washington who said that eternal vigilance is the price of liberty, and we should all be very quick to protest any diminution of rights granted by our beloved constitution.

Why note beauty?

Dear Editor:
I am puzzled: Why was it necessary for Staff Writer, Cyndi Wright, to describe the new Bandera policewoman as "the tall, pretty blond?" Would a new policeman be described as "a tall, handsome blond?"

In reading the interview I came to the conclusion that Shannon Robles will be an excellent addition to the Bandera police force. Will this be because she is a "tall, pretty blond" or because she is a dedicated police officer? We have enough emphasis on "beauty" without it extending into law enforcement.

I look forward to reading more about Shannon's contributions to the Bandera community.

March Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

Wow, just now when I filled in the heading of this column I realized that I wrote my first column titled March Moments two years ago. And it was my first column for this paper.

I wrote it about two guys who were riding their bicycles from someplace to someplace else - I can't remember all the details now - and they were passing through Bandera.

Carolyn decided that was the title of my column and so it has been ever since. Let me tell you, if I had known I would be writing a regular column I would have chosen a name that didn't have to be changed every time the month changes. Once, the column went to press with the wrong month on it, and countless times one or the other of us has caught it before it goes to press.

Oh well, it keeps us on our toes!

The first annual Cowboy Classic 5K Fun Run/Walk happened on Saturday morning, and people came from all over to take part. It was really neat to see serious runners (one guy ran the course once before the race started!), the kids, parents pushing baby strollers, and one man who brought his dogs.

Quite awesome to one who considers reading a good book the ultimate sport. No really, I manage to get exercise (but not by running!)

The city council elections are coming up and I do not want to see a rerun of last year's fiasco when only 68, yes you read it right, only 68 people actually managed to drag themselves out and vote for the people who are going to decide how you live!

Come on city residents! How long does it take to vote - five minutes?

CAROLYN'S CORNER

BY CAROLYN B. EDWARDS, EDITOR

Well, it's Friday afternoon and I haven't got one single brilliant idea about what to write about for this column, so I guess we will just go with the old stream of consciousness flow and see what washes up 400 words later.

• I was gratified by the response to last week's column on the erosion of our common language. Most of the response was positive. Apparently many of you share my concern about the growing "separateness" that seems to be everywhere in America today.

There also seems to be a related movement to take offense at any thing and every thing, with a generous slinging of accusations of racism to top it all off. Folks, it has about reached the point that you have to be a certified German-American to buy sauerkraut at the grocery store. Anyone else eating pickled cabbage might be accused of committing a racist slur.

• A Christian woman friend of mine called to express her concern about some classes she is taking over at UTSA. For her sociology class, she was required to cover some events taking place on campus for women's history month. Needless to say, the events were not the kinds of activities she would spend time at normally. What to do?

Maybe she can come up with some creative options to present to the professor. Christian women have history, too.

• I see in this week's Basic Bandera that Peggy Tobin names her trees. We have three pecan trees in the front yard named Shadrach, Meshach and Abednego. Daniel stands alone in the lion's den of the back yard. We also enjoy Justin's Bush and Jerome's Rose.

• Cyndi and I went to a newspaper design seminar in Austin Thursday. We picked up a few pointers in how to improve the look of our paper and you may notice some of them in this issue. We will be doing a little more cleaning up and polishing as we go along. Let us know how we're looking.

The whole point of good newspaper design, said the seminar director, is to make the paper easy to read.

So we will be working on doing just that for you.

• I don't know if it is the spring weather or a response to my column a couple of weeks ago encouraging letters to the editor, but we sure have been getting a lot of them lately. If you don't see yours in this issue, just be patient, we will try to get to all of them as soon as we can.

Mayor's Memo....

by Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan

Riding off in all directions!

When people ask me what kind of community Bandera is, I usually reply that it is a peaceful city nestled in a horseshoe bend of the Medina River. It is a community of good people who love to do their own thing and therein lies the problem. We love to get on our horse and ride off in all directions. Then we wonder why we get very little accomplished. Oh, this is not only between city, county and school, but all the associations and volunteer organizations.

There is hope though, and I am beginning to see it in some of the meetings I have been attending lately. Imagine, if you will, the present county judge, the previous county judge, commissioners, mayor, council members, representatives from our school systems, representatives from our many churches, our newspapers and business people interested in our community all meeting for the common good of all. It just might be that we are all going to get on our horses and focus on riding in the same direction. Miracles do happen.

In the meantime, and after some 10 months of fighting brush fires, it looks as if the city may be able to get on its horse and all ride in the same direction, too. For those of you who are wondering why some of the city staff have been to see you and ask questions, let me put your mind at ease. We are underway towards working for a grant to help defray the cost of repairing the infrastructure (water, waste water, storm drains and streets) and one of the requirements is to determine by survey if we are a rich (only in natural beauty), moderate (average income) or poor (below average income). Most of us that live here know the answer as shown by salaries of those who work in our city. We ask your cooperation in helping us to carry this out. It will benefit each and every one of you.

And at the end of the month (March 23-27) there will be engineers from Leak Busters checking all the lines in our water system for leaks. Stopping these leaks could mean a large savings in our costs of water. Again I would ask you to show them our wonderful Bandera friendliness as they go about their tasks.

We are also getting much closer to having a city administrator on board. I hope that we will be able to take care of most of the brush fires in a much more efficient and speedy manner.

Yes, things are beginning to happen (did I hear a "it's about time" uttered?).

Come on down to our regular city council meeting which will be held Monday night, March 10 at 7 p.m. at the City Municipal Building, 503 Main Street.

See you there.

BASIC BANDERA

The sign in front of the Car Wash [illegible] Bandera. But [illegible] area rug, shall we say—or purply-pink wildflowers blooming in [illegible] the Exxon on Main Street. Dorothy Mattiza, please identify. We didn't get out of the car the other day for a detailed look.

Also—though the tufted titmice have been looking away with their Johnny-One-Note song for some days, just now the cardinals have tuned up with their assertive singing. A sure sign of spring. Soon one dominant male will have vanquished the several others who have been coming in for seeds and taken possession of the house-yard for the breeding season. June Osborn says a head-cardinal-in-charge needs about five acres for his domestic domain and jealously guards his boundaries.

There was a scorpion on the cold tile floor under the birdseed tub when we moved it the other morning. What a miserable damp place to have been hibernating all winter if that is what he was doing. He was ready for battle when we blew his cover. Another sign of spring.

The transplanted bigtooth maple trees by the front porch are showing fat buds—so soon after dropping their red leaves just before Christmas. We call these two trees, now taller than adjoining oaks and junipers after twenty years, Scott and Kelly because as tiny saplings they came from the river bank out at the Mayan.

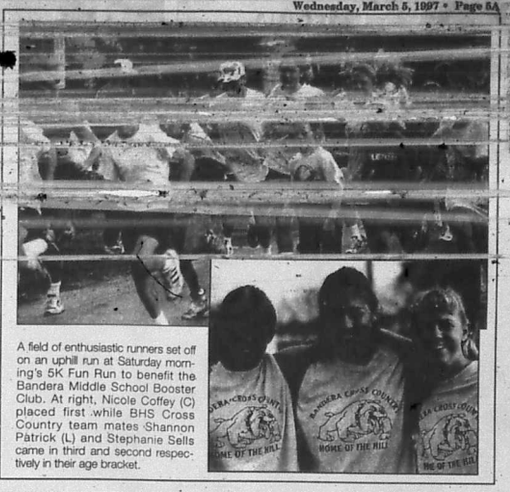
The occurrence of the maples in random places around the county other than the head of the Sabinal would indicate that were it not for browsing animals in increasing numbers, we might enjoy these delightful trees almost everywhere. But deer have been exploding in population since the old days, and we all know that too many pastures have been "goated out." It would be interesting to observe [illegible] happen if there [illegible]

There is one lone maple on the cliff across the river from our [illegible] property. It shines out like a bright beacon in the fall through the [illegible] goat has been able to reach its sugar-sweet leaves.

You will remember the reports that early settlers in the Sabinal thought the native maples could be tapped for syrup like their northern counterparts. But the trees couldn't take it. They died after one bucketful was withdrawn.

So now, after these spring fever musing, how about an abrupt non sequitur of aphorisms we've noted in reading and listening lately? Incidentally, the one-liner in last week's paper by Raleigh Moses was wonderfully repeatable, referring to speeding on the road: "I'd rather arrive home thirty minutes late than get to hell thirty years early."

Legion luncheon coming up



for Bandera's best

The Bandera American Legion Unit 157 will host [illegible] cheon on Thursday, March 13 from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m., at the American Legion Hall, located at Cypress and 12th Streets in Bandera.

Two kinds of soup and over 20 different salads with iced tea or coffee will be served for only $4 per person. Homemade desserts will be available for 50 cents each. Take out orders will also be available.

Proceeds from this luncheon will help send girls from Bandera and Medina High Schools to Bluebonnet Girls State in June.

Last year's representatives were Regina Montague and Sara Erfurt. The girls are selected by the school on the basis of academics and other qualifications.

A field of enthusiastic runners set off on an uphill run at Saturday morning's 5K Fun Run to benefit the Bandera Middle School Booster Club. At right, Nicole Coffey (C) placed first while BHS Cross Country team mates Shannon Patrick (L) and Stephanie Sells came in third and second respectively in their age bracket.

Demos meet

On Feb. 20, the Bandera County Democratic Club met at the Bandera Bank Community Building. Guest speaker was Regina Montague, a senior at Bandera High School, who attended the inauguration of President Bill Clinton as a delegate to the Presidential Inauguration Youth Conference.

Regina returned from Washington D.C. with a lot of pictures and wonderful memories which were articulately shared with the club members. One of the highlights of her trip was the visit to the United States Holocaust Memorial Museum.

The next Bandera County Democratic Club meeting will be March 20,1997 at 7 p.m. at the Bandera Bank Community Building.

BMS VALENTINE COURT -- The Bandera Middle School sixth grade Valentine's Court included front: Nicole Griffin, Kyla Kowalski, Jennifer Wilson, Taylor Williamson. Back: Matt Foster, Synjyn Dodd, Brett Hicks and Colton Sells.

Retired teachers meeting here

There will be a regular meeting of the Retired Teachers Association of Texas, Bandera County Unit on Wednesday, March 12 at the Silver Sage Corral.

Guest speaker will be a representative of the TRS health care plan.

All members, both active and retired, of the Teacher Retirement System of Texas are invited to attend.

Meningitis strikes local day care

Parents urged to take precautions

Dr. James Womack confirmed on Tuesday that a local four-year-old [illegible] he is asking any parent whose child attends Noah's Ark Day Care Center at Grace Lutheran Church, or anybody who has [illegible] the day care center and the church's Sunday school classes, to seek preventative medical treatment immediately.

This plea applies to anyone who has been in the building since Feb. 26, 1997.

"We've got to get them medicine so that they will not run the risk of contracting the disease," Womack said. "You or your child could catch it, it is a potentially fatal and very serious disease."

Anyone who has been in the building since Feb. 26, 1997 should seek medical advice.

People are being urged to contact Womack at the Bandera Family Practice at 796-7713, the Bandera Medical Clinic at 796-3048, or their private physician as soon as possible if they feel they or their child may be in danger.

People who qualify may receive the medicine free of charge.

Sheriff's Report

During the week of Feb. 25-March 3, 1997, the Bandera County Sheriff's Department answered 104 calls for service.

Those included six calls for domestic disturbances.

Deputy Postert was sent to check on a lady who lived alone when her home health care nurse could not get her to answer the door. It turned out the woman was in the hospital.

Arrested by the Sheriff's Department were:

Shane Hall, 21, of Bandera charged with failure to appear.

Shawn Davison, 19, of Brownwood on a court order.

Heath Herring, 32, of Pipe Creek, charged with assault by contact.

Bobbi Campbell, 23, of Bandera on a court order.

James Fitzgerald, 18, of Medina, charged with public intoxication.

Terry Linthicum, 31, of Bandera, charged with public intoxication.

Michael Lozano, 38, of San Antonio on a warrant.

Arrested by Department of Public Safety officers were:

Larry Talbott, 41, San Antonio, charged with public intoxication.

Fernando Pedraza, 20, of San Antonio, charged on three warrants.

Arrested on a warrant from JP Pct. 3 was Randy Wenzel, 27, or San Antonio.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

BUSTED--Dale Keith hands a dollar to John Conlee Friday evening at The Cabaret during the singing of Conlee's hit song "Busted." Conlee donates the cash from his fans to Feed the Children organization headquartered in Oklahoma City.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 24 calls for service, arrested two persons, and issued 8 citations for the week of Feb. 25-March 2, 1997. Calls for service included nine assist other agencies, one public assist, two suspicious circumstances, one accident, three alarms, one assault, one natural death, one theft by check, two civil matters, one animal call, one criminal mischief and one theft.

Terry Quinn, 34, of B[illegible] was arrested for [illegible] warrant out of Jasper County, Missouri.

Oscar Martinez, 42, of Medina was arrested for public intoxication.

Illegal aliens make a wrong move

On Feb. 25 Deputy James Johnson stopped a van near Medina. While talking to the driver and a passenger who had exited the vehicle, another passenger drove off with the van. A short chase ensued. The vehicle was again stopped by Johnson and further investigation revealed eight illegal aliens in the van.

The aliens were taken into custody and turned over to INS.

The two men who were originally talking to the deputy ran off when the van left.

They were apprehended the next morning when they made the mistake of going to Deputy Mike Bolton's house. They were taken into custody and turned over to INS.

Tourism Talks

Ben Nolen

Over the last couple of weeks, I've covered the two primary excuses, not reasons, why individuals and/or businesses don't join or support the Chamber of Commerce. In my enthusiasm to cover these two, I almost overlooked a dingy little gremlin which seems to represent a number of folks in Bandera County. He shows his green-eyed countenance every time some disgruntled local vocalizes, "I'm not ever going to join the Chamber because Ol' Joe or Ol' Jill are officers,"—sometimes even if Ol' Joe or Ol' Jill's spouses are officers. In some instances, it seems this excuse is used to cover the entire family tree. Now let's be real. Few of us, myself included, are totally enamored of all the folks we work with, go to church with, are members of the same social/civic clubs and/or do business with. In all these instances we come up with some type of workable program which we, consciously or unconsciously, can live and work with. We do this for our common good, for the good of our business and the good of our community.

Any organization is only as good as its officers and members. As we all know, total agreement and compatibility are not prerequisites in any organization. So why should it be so with the Chamber of Commerce? We all have the same goals...to grow and prosper in our community, Bandera County. If this is not the case, maybe some folks should consider moving to San Antonio or Houston. As the old saying goes, "if you want the job done right, do it yourself." If you don't like the way things are being done—jump in and change them. Standing along the sidelines and throwing verbal rocks, just because you disagree, is no way to get the job done.

The Chamber is a nonprofit organization depending totally on dues from memberships and various fund raisers to pay the way. If it wasn't for some fantastic volunteers and a couple of great ladies working long hours for minimum pay, Bandera County would be in a world of hurt. The Chamber operates on an annual budget of approximately $50,000. Of this 50 thousand, between $10 and $12,000 comes from membership, approximately $35,000 is raised at the annual Hunters Barbecue and the remaining balance has to be paid for with fund-raisers or contributions. This, as you can see, is cutting it pretty close.

The Chamber promotes tourism. Tourism is our second largest industry. We all benefit from tourism dollars. So why not be a part? The primary recipient of returns due to any of your efforts is you. Your involvement will promote progress—even if you are working with someone you wouldn't consider taking home to meet Mom.

CCRA seeks county help to improve Mansfield Park arena

Harlan also asked for improvement of the announcers box.

Commissioners asked Harlan to come back to the court with a detailed plan and estimate.

In other business, the court:

• Heard a report from County Tax Assessor Collector Jean Stevens that the Appraisal Review Board had reduced the appraisal of KRRT TV by $500,410. Because of the reduction, the county will need to refund $2,117.24 to KRRT TV.

• Heard from County Treasurer Kay Welch that an engineering report cleared the structural stability of the Old Courthouse on 12th St. "The support beams are fine," said Welch. Cracks that recently appeared in the building are probably due to the natural erosion and shifting of the soil. Welch said there is a leak in the roof that may lead to damage of the heat and air unit and the ceiling.

• Agreed to form a committee to update the county's personnel policy manual.

• Adopted a resolution supporting two pieces of legislation giving the county some control to stop annexation across county lines. "If we don't stop them this session," said Commissioner James Mormando, "San Antonio will be in Bandera County before the next legislative session."

• Heard information about a deferred compensation plan for county employees.

• Tabled a decision on accepting a bid for law enforcement liability coverage.

• Received a report from Ernie Reich, Constable Pct. 2 on solid waste enforcement actions taken. To date, approximately 72,300 pounds, or 36.155 tons of solid waste have been removed. That includes 25.5 tons in vehicles. Other types of solid waste in the process of being cleaned up include a burned mobile home, assorted litter, a mini-land fill, sewage, and dumped oil.

Darden will not run

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Long-time city councilmember Dorothy Darden has announced that she will not seek re-election in the upcoming race for three spots.

"I've been on the council since 1989 and I appreciate everybody who supported me and I wish the council lots of luck," Darden said. "I have enjoyed being on the council and leave with mixed emotions."

Although Darden said she does not want to point fingers at anybody serving on the council now, she did say she hopes that anybody who runs for the council does not do so because they have a personal agenda.

"I encourage you to get involved with your government, there are very important changes and improvements that are about to be made by the council," she said. "Level headed, thinking people with no personal agenda are needed to help with the decisions Bandera is going to move, either forward or backward, it is going to move."

Darden encourages everybody to come to the council meetings, and to vote in the upcoming election.

"If you don't feel qualified to be on the council, at least please vote," she said. "Then come to the council meetings and be heard."

Darden and her late husband Sam have been known throughout the community for many contributions.

"Good luck and may God be with you who will be serving on the council," she said. "It has been fun, as well as hard work, and I will miss it."

The election for the three open seats is May 3, with the deadline for filing on March 19.

So far, three people have officially thrown their hats into the ring. They are Bill Bryce, Mike Holan and Horst Pallaske.

Applications can be picked up at City Hall, 503 Main Street.

KEEPING IT CLEAN--Jenny Robinson and Optimist President Bill Hayes help clean up Sandidge Park on a Wednesday afternoon. The BMS Student Council members like Robinson regularly clean up the local children's park.

Recollections of the past...

from The Bulletin, July 20, 1978

Melvin King of the Bandera Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 urged all users of water in the district to curtail the use of water as Bandera suffered a critical water shortage.

"The district will be in real trouble if we do not receive rain within the next 30 days," King said.

Water levels had dropped to a critical low and all wells were being manned continuously to keep them from sucking air and destroying the pumps.

Less than a month later, on August 2, a record flood would sweep through Bandera, causing millions of dollars worth of damage.

Improvements top $4.7 mil

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Bandera County Capital Improvements Committee presented county commissioners with a $4.7 million menu of proposed projects to bring the county into the next century. The projects address problems arising out of rapid and continuing growth in the county.

The committee's report includes a new law enforcement center and jail, a new courthouse annex, remodeling of the existing jail and improvements in the courthouse that would correct Americans with Disabilities Act deficiencies, including an elevator.

The committee looked at previous studies for capital improvement needs for the county and found no comprehensive plan had ever been acted upon, committee chairman Kathryn Thompson told Commissioners Court Wednesday, Feb. 26. The committee's conclusions were based upon demographic and facility studies conducted by architects Wayne Gondeck and Harry Wagner, additional studies conducted by the committee, and information provided by the county's elected officials and staff.

Thompson said the committee was a conservative group that looked for ways the county could provide adequate services in a cost effective manner.

"It will be more costly if the county continues to operate under a crisis response plan instead of a long-range plan," said Thompson.

The estimated cost of the new law enforcement center recommended by the committee is $3.1 million. The committee report states that studies indicate "that housing prisoners in out-of-county jails will cost approximately $16 million over the next 20 years." Housing prisoners in a new jail would cost $11 million, including the capital improvement cost, saving the county $5 million over 20 years.

The county currently has a contract with Kerr County to house prisoners when the population at the local jail goes over the permitted number.

At the committee's urging, county commissioners scheduled a workshop to go over the report in more detail on Saturday, March 20 beginning at 9 a.m. at the courthouse.

"In our opinion, the facility needs of the county should be addressed very soon," the report states. "Further delays will only increase the ultimate cost to taxpayers because of inflation and increased building costs."

Members of the committee include Thompson, Bill Weber, Hal Buxton, Janet Cave, Don Cody, Gary Johnston, Barbara Mazurek, Mary Jo Schaffer, Peggy Tobin, Hull Youngblood and County Judge Richard Evans.

PUBLISHED WRITERS--Jenny McPhail, Daniel Duckworth and Michael Mahar work on pages for The Fifty Great State Scrapbook. The Hill Country Elementary fourth graders are contributing to the Texas section of the book. For more, see page 8A.

City kicks off community policing program

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Bandera's Police Chief Lynn Holt has initiated the first of what he says will be many new programs under the community policing grant the city recently received.

According to Holt, the idea of the grant is to put more police officers on the street in community policing.

The new program is designed to give city residents who leave their homes some sense of security while they are gone.

"The program is for people who are going to be out of town for awhile, and want us to keep an eye on their house," said Chuck Casey, the part-time officer hired under the grant.

The police department is asking anyone who wants to take part in the program to simply fill out a form and bring it by the police department, or turn it in to an individual city police officer. Do not turn in the form to the city offices.

"During regular patrols we will do extra drive-by security checks for that home," Casey explained. "We will stop by the house, get out of the vehicle and check windows and doors, and make sure the house is secure."

Casey said the service is not a house-sitting or pet care business.

"This is part of the community policing that we want to start in Bandera," the new officer said. "We want to dispel the rumors that police officers are overbearing and aggressive. We are here as a public service."

Casey said that he hopes the new program will lower the number of burglaries in the town.

"This should cut down on burglaries," he said. "It puts the officer in the position of being in the neighborhoods. Each house checked is surrounded by four to five other houses, so the officer can effectively check five houses at one time. It gives the neighbors a sense of security, also."

However, Casey warned, if a resident sees someone walking around a home where the owner is out of town, they should immediately call the sheriff's office at 796-3771. If it is a police officer doing a security check, the officer can let the sheriff's dispatcher know by radio.

"This is the first of many programs to come out of the community policing program made possible by the federal grant," Chief Holt said. "I hope that we give people a greater sense of well-being when they are away from their personal property."

Holt said that the program does not guarantee a home will not get ripped off while the owners are away.

"We know it can happen," he said. "We want to assure the public that they will receive confidentiality in this matter. That is why we insist that they turn the form into the police department. When you are gone, the less people who know, the better."

FOR THE FORM, SEE p. 2A

TNRCC resets BMA hearing

The Texas Natural Resource Commission continued the hearing to amend the water rights permit held by Bexar Medina Atascosa Water District that was originally scheduled for Feb. 5. A new hearing has been rescheduled on March 19 in Austin.

Additional time was granted to the parties involved to allow time for settlement negotiations with the help of the Commission's Office of Alternative Dispute Resolution (ADRO).

The TNRCC will consider BMA's motion for a new order at its public meeting on Wednesday, March 19 at 1 p.m. in Room 201S of Building E at 12100 N. IH 35 in Austin.

During the meeting, the commission will take oral arguments concerning the matter from those persons designated as parties to the proceedings. That includes Bandera County and LAMCOS, the Lake Medina Conservation Society.

Crabb wins 5K

A New Jersey man ran away with the first place overall spot in the first annual Cowboy Classic 5K Fun Run/Walk held on Saturday in the city of Bandera.

Chuck Crabb had a time of 14:33, and ran the first mile in four minutes. The course was varied, covering streets, a steep hill up to the Silver Spur, through the city park, and back to the Bandera Middle School football stadium.

Crabb said he was in Kerrville with his wife and kids visiting his parents when he heard of the race.

Crabb's wife, Kathy, took first place in the women's 36-40 age group with a time of 23:09.

Shawn Morrison took first place overall in the women's division with a time of 22:06.

The Bandera County Capital Improvements Committee presented county commissioners with a $4.7 million menu of proposed projects to bring the county into the next century. The projects address problems arising out of rapid and continuing growth in the county.

The committee's report includes a new law enforcement center and jail, a new courthouse annex, remodeling of the existing jail and improvements in the courthouse that would correct Americans with Disabilities Act deficiencies, including an elevator.

The committee looked at previous studies for capital improvement needs for the county and found no comprehensive plan had ever been acted upon, committee chairman Kathryn Thompson told Commissioners Court Wednesday, Feb. 26. The committee's conclusions were based upon demographic and facility studies conducted by architects Wayne Gondeck and Barry Wagner, additional studies conducted by the committee, and information provided by the county's elected officials and staff.

Thompson said the committee was a conservative group that looked for ways the county could provide adequate services in a cost effective manner.

"It will be more costly if the county continues to operate under a crisis response plan instead of a long-range plan," said Thompson.

The estimated cost of the new law enforcement center recommended by the committee is $3.1 million. The committee report states that studies indicate "that housing prisoners in out-of-county jails will cost approximately $16 million over the next 20 years." Housing prisoners in a new jail would cost $11 million, including the capital improvement cost, saving the county $5 million over 20 years.

The county currently has a contract with Kerr County to house prisoners when the population at the local jail goes over the permitted number.

At the committee's urging, county commissioners scheduled a workshop to go over the report in more detail on Saturday, March 20 beginning at 9 a.m. at the courthouse.

"In our opinion, the facility needs of the county should be addressed very soon," the report states. "Further delays will only increase the ultimate cost to taxpayers because of inflation and increased building costs."

Members of the committee include Thompson, Bill Weber, Hal Buxton, Janet Cave, Don Cody, Gary Johnston, Barbara Mazurek, Mary Jo Schaffer, Peggy Tobin, Hull Youngblood and County Judge Richard Evans.

City kicks off community policing program

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Bandera's Police Chief Lynn Holt has initiated the first of what he says will be many new programs under the community policing grant the city recently received.

According to Holt, the idea of the grant is to put more police officers on the street in community policing.

The new program is designed to give city residents who leave their homes some sense of security while they are gone.

"The program is for people who are going to be out of town for awhile, and want us to keep an eye on their house," said Chuck Casey, the part-time officer hired under the grant.

The police department is asking anyone who wants to take part in the program to simply fill out a form and bring it by the police department, or turn it in to an individual city police officer. Do not turn in the form to the city offices.

"During regular patrols we will do extra drive-by security checks for that home," Casey explained. "We will stop by the house, get out of the vehicle and check windows and doors, and make sure the house is secure."

Casey said the service is not a house-sitting or pet care business.

"This is part of the community policing that we want to start in Bandera," the new officer said. "We want to dispel the rumors that police officers are overbearing and aggressive. We are here as a public service."

Casey said that he hopes the new program will lower the number of burglaries in the town.

"This should cut down on burglaries," he said. "It puts the officer in the position of being in the neighborhoods. Each house checked is surrounded by four to five other houses, so the officer can effectively check five houses at one time. It gives the neighbors a sense of security, also."

However, Casey warned, if a resident sees someone walking around a home where the owner is out of town, they should immediately call the sheriff's office at 796-3771. If it is a police officer doing a security check, the officer can let the sheriff's dispatcher know by radio.

"This is the first of many programs to come out of the community policing program made possible by the federal grant," Chief Holt said. "I hope that we give people a greater sense of well-being when they are away from their personal property."

Holt said that the program does not guarantee a home will not get ripped off while the owners are away.

"We know it can happen," he said. "We want to assure the public that they will receive confidentiality in this matter. That is why we insist that they turn the form into the police department. When you are gone, the less people who know, the better."

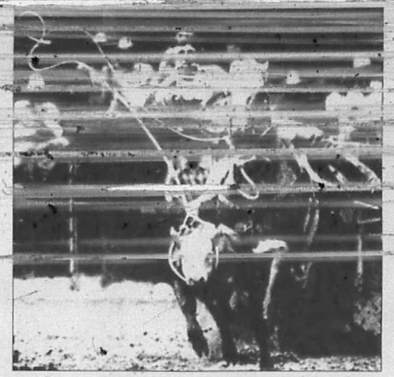
The road to the future brings many challenges for today's young people as they prepare to graduate and be equipped with the skills they need to clear the hurdles.



In fact, Texas public schools are ensuring there are no limits on learning for almost a million Texas school children. The opportunities for learning are endless. You can do this by visiting your public schools during Texas Public Schools Week, March 3-7.

As we all know, education is the key to the future—it is the link to a successful and productive life. It is also everyone's business. That's why it is important for the parents, families and citizens of Bandera County to take time out this week to visit your local public schools and get involved in making a difference in the lives of children.

No other country in the world has emphasized education and lifelong learning with greater results than the United States. Education is a big business across our nation, throughout Texas and certainly in Bandera County, where the public school system is the number one employer.

Another reason for you to visit our schools, but you've received a special invitation during Texas Public Schools Week. Take time during this special week to check up on your investments, and ensure there are no limits on learning in your community.

Todd Whitewood shows off his championship style at the national collegiate rodeo finals in 1980. He'll be reprising his skills in a champions match roping event Saturday at Mansfield Park.

National champs face off at C.O.W. benefit Saturday

Two of Bandera County's own national rodeo champions face off in a match roping exhibition contest at Saturday's C.O.W. Benefit at Mansfield Park. Former national high school rodeo champion Clay Billings of Tarpley and former national collegiate rodeo champion Todd Whitewood of Bandera are joining a large group of friends to help out little Charles Owen Weaver.

Weaver, who was practically born a cowboy according to his parents, Trish Montague and Owen Weaver, was injured in an accident last November. The two-day benefit this weekend will help defray medical expenses for Weaver.

Billings and Whitewood will have their match roping contest around 2 p.m. Saturday afternoon following a team roping event that begins at 11 a.m.

"We will be roping six or eight calves apiece," said Billings. The winner will be the cowboy with the least amount of total time at the end of the match.

Professional rodeo cowboys are roping and tying their calves at around 8 seconds. How fast does Billings think he will be?

"Well, I haven't been roping for about eight years now, so I'll be glad to see 10, 11 or 12 seconds," said Billings. In those twelve seconds, Billings will have to leave the chute, rope the calf, dismount, run to the calf, flip the calf on it's side and tie three of its legs together.

In 1975, Billings won the tie-down calf roping championship at the Medina FFA Rodeo. Several months later, he won the national high school rodeo championship in Gallup, N.M.

Whitewood began appearing in Bandera County rodeos when he was eight. In 1980 he captured the national collegiate calf roping championship in Bozeman, Montana riding for Sam Houston State University.

Over the Back Fence

Hi ya'll What beautiful weather! This past weekend was so nice, Kay and I decided to take the entire weekend off and just play. It was so nice not to work all weekend and is the first time in a long time that we have done so.

During the past week we got 2 to 2 and 1/2 inches of rain and we have heard the Lake is on the rise. We are very thankful for the rain we received, and will welcome more if it comes our way. With fishing time coming, the more water in the Lake, the better.

Well here it is another week and our column for last week is still lost between our fax machine and the Bulletin's fax machine! So we will just put this addendum in front and see if we can get this through without losing it all again.

When this comes out Traci and Teri Harrison will be old ladies of 21. February 18 was their birthday. We could try to give them a birthday spanking, but the two could gang up on us and whoop up on us instead. Anyhow, we wish them a very happy birthday as they pass this milestone in their lives.

We heard from Cathy Willis the other day. She wanted to pass along a cheer. Cathy was taking Miles to a Valentine Day dance the other night when she found more mud than her car could conquer. Miles was all duded up with shirt and tie to go win some hearts, but he got out and tried to push the car out of the mud. Now, Miles is a pretty good size young man, but the car was stuck tight. As they labored, many cars went by. One even stopped and backed up to see what was going on, then drove off without a word. No one offered to help. Finally a young couple who's name Cathy was unable to get, stopped and pulled her car out. Cathy and Miles want to extend their sincere thanks to this anonymous couple for their help! Afterward, Miles was ready to go home and forget the dance, but Mom said, "No way!" After cleaning up, back home, Miles went to the dance. No word yet whether he won any hearts!

We have some foolish Peach trees putting on their shows already. The Mesquite trees have not given their go ahead yet, though. So spring has not sprung just yet.

We have been talking about the fire system for the Medina Lake VFD for a couple of months. We are already getting checks in the mail and handed to us. We have been scolded for not putting enough information in our article. Well, here, hopefully is all the information needed. The fee is $24.00 and covers from January 1, 1997 through December 31, 1997. The mailing address is MLVFD, P.O. Box 451; Lakehills, Texas 78063. If we left anything out, please call us! Thanks for everyone's support of our organizations.

We better go get to work. When ya'll look for us we will be right here, over the back fence.

Lady Bulldogs start season off with win against Poteet

Despite almost gale-like winds, the Bandera Lady Bulldogs took a first-game win over Poteet on Tuesday, Feb. 18. The varsity girls won 9-2.

"It was very windy, but we did okay," Coach Darcy Rogers said.

The Poteet ladies walked the Bandera team 10 times and the Lady 'Dogs stole 27 bases in the contest.

Shawna Nihart racked up an RBI, and the girls had four singles and no errors.

On Saturday, Feb. 22, the Lady 'Dogs met up with Clemons and Boerne, taking a loss 15-5 to Clemons, but pulling off a 15-10 win over the Boerne Greyhounds.

Against Clemons, the girls racked up a lot of errors.

"We had a lot of errors and they took advantage of that," Rogers said. "They were pretty solid."

Later, against Boerne the tide turned, and the girls were able to take advantage of Boerne errors.

In the Clemons game, the girls had seven total hits.

Against Boerne, the Lady Bulldogs had three hits. The Greyhounds changed pitchers in the fifth inning, and the new pitcher allowed six players to walk.

Saddle bronc Desert Shield gives Dan Etbauer event title

Dan Etbauer said the last time he saw Desert Shield, the horse was just starting his career as a saddle bronc.

My how times have changed.

Etbauer, a nine-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier, rode the bronc for 80 points to win his event title at the $103,521 Arizona Stock Show and Rodeo, Jan. 4-5 in Phoenix. He earned $1,993.

Etbauer said he didn't know much about the all-grown-up Desert Shield.

"I'd been on him a long time ago and he wasn't anything like he is now," he said. "He's good. He's really good. He definitely does his part."

His brothers Billy Etbauer, the two-time and reigning world champion saddle bronc rider from Red Heights, S.D., and Robert Etbauer, a two-time world champion from Goodwell, Okla., tied for sixth place in Phoenix with their 74-point rides.

Dan Etbauer, who finished the 1996 season ranked third in the world saddle bronc riding standings with $139,476, said he hopes this is his year to win a world title. In 1995 he entered the National Finals Rodeo leading the world standings before eventually finishing second to three-time world champ Dan Mortensen of Manhattan, Mont.

"I'll go make the best rides I can and let everything else take care of itself," he said.

Tea, ropers Bobby Hurley, a two-time world champion from Ceres, Calif., and Cody Cowden, a three-time NFR qualifier from Le Grand, Calif., kicked off the new year with a bang. They each earned $5,509 by winning Phoenix's three-round average title in 18.0 seconds.

Tri-Star winners

Flying L team takes it to Austin

The Flying L basketball team won first place in the Kerrville City Basketball League. They will advance to the state tournament on March 14, 15 and 16 in Austin. Back row: Sean French, John Junker, Joe Romo, Mark Fuller. Front row: Jerry Davis, Bubba Havis, David Shackleford. Not pictured: Carl Worley and Greg Prescott.

Well here it is another week and our column for last week is still lost between our fax machine and the Bulletin's fax machine! So we will just put this addendum in front and see if we can get this through without losing it all again.

When this comes out Traci and Teri Harrison will be old ladies of 21. February 18 was their birthday. We could try to give them a birthday spanking, but the two could gang up on us and whoop up on us instead. Anyhow, we wish them a very happy birthday as they pass this milestone in their lives.

We heard from Cathy Willis the other day. She wanted to pass along a cheer. Cathy was taking Miles to a Valentine Day dance the other night when she found more mud than her car could conquer. Miles was all duded up with shirt and tie to go win some hearts, but he got out and tried to push the car out of the mud. Now, Miles is a pretty good size young man, but the car was stuck tight. As they labored, many cars went by. One even stopped and backed up to see what was going on, then drove off without a word. No one offered to help. Finally a young couple who's name Cathy was unable to get, stopped and pulled her car out. Cathy and Miles want to extend their sincere thanks to this anonymous couple for their help! Afterward, Miles was ready to go home and forget the dance, but Mom said, "No way!" After cleaning up back home, Miles went to the dance. No word yet whether he won any hearts!

We have some foolish Peach trees putting on their shows already. The Mesquite trees have not given their go ahead yet, though. So spring has not sprung just yet.

We have been talking about the fee system for the Medina Lake VFD for a couple of months. We are already getting checks in the mail and handed to us. We have been scolded for not putting enough information in our article. Well, here, hopefully is all the information needed. The fee is $24.00 and covers from January 1, 1997 through December 31, 1997. The mailing address is ML VFD; P.O. Box 451; Lakehills, Texas 78063. If we left anything out, please call us! Thanks for everyone's support of our organizations.

We better go get to work. When ya'll look for us we will be right here, over the back fence.

Lady Bulldogs start season off with win against Poteet

Despite almost gale-like winds, the Bandera Lady Bulldogs took a first-game win over Poteet on Tuesday, Feb. 18. The varsity girls won 9-2.

"It was very windy, but we did okay," Coach Darcy Rogers said.

The Poteet ladies walked the Bandera team 10 times and the Lady 'Dogs stole 27 bases in the contest.

Shawna Nihart racked up an RBI, and the girls had four singles and no errors.

On Saturday, Feb. 22, the Lady 'Dogs met up with Clemons and Boerne, taking a loss 15-5 to Clemons, but pulling off a 15-10 win over the Boerne Greyhounds.

Against Clemons, the girls racked up a lot of errors.

"We had a lot of errors and they took advantage of that," Rogers said. "They were pretty solid."

Later, against Boerne the tide turned, and the girls were able to take advantage of Boerne errors.

In the Clemons game, the girls had seven total hits.

Against Boerne, the Lady Bulldogs had three hits. The Greyhounds changed pitchers in the fifth inning, and the new pitcher allowed six players to walk.

That amount will include entry, green and eart fees, an Alsatian-flavored lunch and a chance to win both skill and attendance prizes.

Although Allen & Allen has been a major sponsor of many Santa Rosa tournaments in past years, this is the first title sponsorship for the firm headed by former professional football player and NFL official Pat Knight.

Allen & Allen is making a donation of $5,000 to the hospital for title sponsorship.

Kinderclassic Tournament approaching

Saddle bronc Desert Shield gives Dan Etbauer event title

Dan Etbauer said the last time he saw Desert Shield, the horse was just starting his career as a saddle bronc.

My how times have changed.

Etbauer, a nine-time National Finals Rodeo qualifier, rode the bronc for 80 points to win his event title at the $103,521 Arizona Stock Show and Rodeo, Jan. 4-5 in Phoenix. He earned $1,993.

Etbauer said he didn't know much about the all-grown-up Desert Shield.

"I'd been on him a long time ago and he wasn't anything like he is now," he said. "He's good. He's really good. He definitely does his part."

His brothers Billy Etbauer, the two-time and reigning world champion saddle bronc rider from Red Heights, S.D., and Robert Etbauer, a two-time world champion from Goodwell, Okla., tied for sixth place in Phoenix with their 74-point rides.

Dan Etbauer, who finished the 1996 season ranked third in the world saddle bronc riding standings with $139,476, said he hopes this is his year to win a world title. In 1995 he entered the National Finals Rodeo leading the world standings before eventually finishing second to three-time world champ Dan Mortensen of Manhattan, Mont.

"I'll go make the best rides I can and let everything else take care of itself," he said.

Tea, ropers Bobby Hurley, a two-time world champion from Ceres, Calif., and Cody Cowden, a three-time NFR qualifier from Le Grand, Calif., kicked off the new year with a bang. They each earned $5,509 by winning Phoenix's three-round average title in 18.0 seconds.

Tri-Star winners

Winners of the Optimist Club Tri-Star Basketball contest were: L-R: Samantha Kidd, 9-10; Justin Bridges, 11-12; and Matt Buck, 7-8. For a list of other winners, see Sports Shorts.

TARPLEY

Well, as usual, we surely have had some changeable weather lately. Heavy frost three mornings, colder weather, and 2 and 3/10 inches of rain this Wednesday night with more in some places.

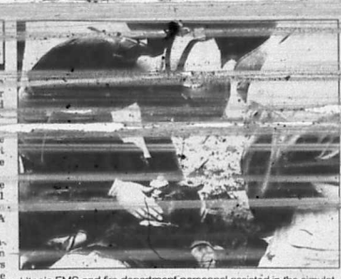
• Brother Don Spencer's family, Julie and Bob Shearhart of Medina and Philip and Christina Spencer of Bandera assisted in serving his annual church appreciation dinner on Feb. 16.

• Visitors for the occasion were Kimberly Smith of Roundrock, Ryan Pope of Medina and Kevin Schrock of Tarpley. Kevin is making his home with his Uncle and Aunt, Vern and Jolyn Schrock and attending Medina School. Kevin celebrated a birthday recently.

• Marie Hood was hostess at the Feb. 20 Rio Hondo Extension Club meeting attended by 12 members and guests. The group welcomed guests Sharon Armand and Lori Clark, both newcomers to Rio Hondo.

A club offering was collected for Baskets and Bunnies, an Easter Basket project sponsored by Kay Welch of Bandera.

Pat Wilkie, manager of the Gunsight Ranch Nursery and daughter-in-law of the owner Dorothy Mattiza, presented a slide program on native trees and plants.



Idabelle Parr will be the hostess for the March 20 meeting which includes luncheon in Uvalde and a tour of the local Mohair Warehouse. All women residents of Rio Hondo are cordially invited to attend the meetings and the special events sponsored by the club.

• This is a sad day for me to write these words in loving memory of my friend and my pal, Elsie Marie Perkins. Elsie attended the little one room school house near Pipe Creek in the bend of the creek, where a lot of us attended. The little school called "Happy Hollow" consolidated with the lower school at Pipe Creek and moved near Pipe Creek Cemetery, where we then all attended for several years.

Elsie was a brilliant student excelling in math and all her work—finishing the 10th grade in 1928. Our graduation motto "Where there's a will, there's a way" and she surely had that will! She finished high school at Bandera, then went on to San Antonio to work 18 years at Fox Photo Co. and several years at Goodyear Tire Co. Then there were many good years of enjoying fishing at Rockport, watching the deer and wild game, and finding the many birds at her country home. Her Bible was read each day with thankfulness to be as well as she was in observing others in their afflictions she'd say, never complaining of her long battle against leukemia. This June 26 she would have celebrated 61 years of happy marriage to Wayne! The words of Cole Porter seem appropriate for her life: "I'll walk beside you through the passing years, through days of clouds and sunshine, joys and tears. And when the great call comes, the sunset gleams, I'll walk beside you to the land of dreams."

Well, as usual, we surely have had some changeable weather lately. Heavy frost three mornings, colder weather, and 2 and 3/10 inches of rain this Wednesday night with more in some places.

• Brother Don Spencer's family, Julie and Bob Shearhart of Medina and Philip and Christina Spencer of Bandera assisted in serving his annual church appreciation dinner on Feb. 16.

• Visitors for the occasion were Kimberly Smith of Roundrock, Ryan Pope of Medina and Kevin Schrock of Tarpley. Kevin is making his home with his Uncle and Aunt, Vern and Jolyn Schrock and attending Medina School. Kevin celebrated a birthday recently.

• Marie Hood was hostess at the Feb. 20 Rio Hondo Extension Club meeting attended by 12 members and guests. The group welcomed guests Sharon Armand and Lori Clark, both newcomers to Rio Hondo.

A club offering was collected for Baskets and Bunnies, an Easter Basket project sponsored by Kay Welch of Bandera.

Pat Wilkie, manager of the Gunsight Ranch Nursery and daughter-in-law of the owner Dorothy Mattiza, presented a slide program on native trees and plants.

Idabelle Farr will be the hostess for the March 20 meeting which includes luncheon in Uvalde and a tour of the local Mohair Warehouse. All women residents of Rio Hondo are cordially invited to attend the meetings and the special events sponsored by the club.

• This is a sad day for me to write these words in loving memory of my friend and my pal, Elsie Marie Perkins. Elsie attended the little one room school house near Pipe Creek in the bend of the creek, where a lot of us attended. The little school called "Happy Hollow" consolidated with the lower school at Pipe Creek and moved near Pipe Creek Cemetery, where we then all attended for several years.

Elsie was a brilliant student excelling in math and all her work—finishing the 10th grade in 1928. Our graduation motto "Where there's a will, there's a way" and she surely had that will! She finished high school at Bandera, then went on to San Antonio to work 18 years at Fox Photo Co. and several years at Goodyear Tire Co. Then there were many good years of enjoying fishing at Rockport, watching the deer and wild game, and finding the many birds at her country home. Her Bible was read each day with thankfulness to be as well as she was in observing others in their afflictions she'd say, never complaining of her long battle against leukemia. This June 26 she would have celebrated 61 years of happy marriage to Wayne! The words of Cole Porter seem appropriate for her life: "I'll walk beside you through the passing years, through days of clouds and sunshine, joys and tears. And when the great call comes, the sunset gleams, I'll walk beside you to the land of dreams."

Citizens aided Pipe Creek Little League growth

Dear Editor:

I felt the need to recognize four individuals for their generous support of the Pipe Creek/Lakehills community.

Thirteen years ago J.B. Edwards of Edwards Ranch Realty sold to Pipe Creek/Lakehills Friends of Baseball the land for the only Little League field we have for only a fraction of what he could have sold it for normally. He also has paid for all water and electricity to this field for the past 13 years.

My good friend Eddie Leibold donated valuable highway frontage property for the Leibold Senior League Field. He also plans to donate more for a future, much-needed Little League field adjacent to the Senior League Field. In addition, he has spent many, many hours of labor on building Leibold Field.

Ed Quest, who owns "An Honest Repair Shop" in Pipe Creek, has repaired and maintained many mowers, weed eaters, etc. for us at no cost.

Finally, my gratitude to Bill Araiza who has spent countless hours on every phase of the field construction. Most recently he constructed the complicated electronics of our scoreboards.

There are others who, through the years, have greatly helped the youth of Bandera County through the baseball program: the Mansfield's, Larry Upton, the Schneider's, the Lico's, the Flack's, the Schindler's, the Pike's, and many more.

When you see these people around town, let them know we acknowledge their efforts.

Was he going 30?

Dear Editor:

I noted with interest Daphne Camden's "Idiot Drivers are everywhere." If you don't have enough of them on your streets, please, please, please, don't move to Bandera. We have more than enough of them now.

Her letter reminded me of an incident during Thanksgiving Week, 1929. I was traveling to Baylor with three with three of my professors Dr. W.T. Gook, Chemistry; Dr. J.E. Hawkins, German, and Dr. S.R. Spencer, Physics, after a turkey hunt on the ranch of Lucius and Annie Hicks at Tarpley. There were no paved roads in Bandera County then; the best were of gravel, with the turns not banked. Dr. Hawkins, who was driving, took a turn too fast, and we almost tipped over. When the car had righted itself, Dr. Gook reached over and tapped Dr. Hawkins on the shoulder, and said, "Hawkins, if it is just the same to you, I would rather get home 30 minutes late than get to Hell 30 years early."

Destroying the garden

Dear Editor:

When Homo sapiens were tuned loose upon the earth, they had been placed into a Garden of Eden. But, they didn't have sense enough to realize it. And, wasted no time in concentrating their efforts toward turning it into the Hell of a place.

After the founding fathers of the United States of America had won their freedom from England, they knew they had been placed into a Garden of Eden. And, they wasted no time in trying to protect it, by creating the most brilliant piece of legislation that ever came from human minds: "The Constitution of the United States of America."

Unfortunately, they were unable to pass their wisdom and foresight down through the generations of their descendants who are destroying everything the founding fathers stood for. And, turning their Garden of Eden into one hell of a place.

Dear Editor:

It is with great pleasure that I renew my subscription to The Bandera Bulletin. The articles are well written and the photographs are good. Naturally my favorite is your editorial comment each week. I turn to it first. Bungy's column really keeps me aware of what is going on. And The Bulletin has graduated to a two section paper! Can I expect it to become a daily?

Congratulations for a job well done.

They miss Mazie

Dear Editor:

Over the past few years; since my dear friends Mazie and Arlo Todd moved to Bandera, I have had the opportunity to read your newspaper. And I must compliment you on the outstanding features and quality of your publication.

Of particular interest was your July 29 edition that featured the work the Bandera Chamber of Commerce had selected Mazie Todd as their Citizen of the Year for her hard work and dedication to the community. I was elated and envious of Bandera simultaneously for capturing the possession and love of a very special South Carolinian—Mazie Hughes Todd.

I have known Mazie for many years and have treasured her friendship. She is one of the most genuine, caring people that I have ever known. So, it comes as no surprise that her works and talents would warrant exceptional recognition.

I can only compliment your community leaders for having the heart and pride of South Carolina (Mazie Todd) and appreciating it.

Thank you for highlighting Mazie's achievements. It has made South Carolina's loss a little bit easier for the multitude of friends and loving family members that sorely miss Mazie and Arlo. For now we know that Texans really love and appreciate Carolina Sunshine.

And we sent you our very best in the person of Mazie Todd.

February Moments

by Cyndi Wright - staff writer

Well, I did it. I broke down and allowed my teenage son to buy one of those new CD's that I have been strongly cautioned, etc." He did buy it with his own money, however.

I know there are people out there who really believe that censoring music, TV, movies, books, etc... for children is an advisable way to go. I don't agree.

My 13-year-old has read all the John Grisham novels, most of the Michael Crichton novels, and other books that some would think contain subjects too mature for his age. I have read those books, too, and they do contain graphic material.

But I don't believe that allowing him to watch, read or listen to stuff that is readily available is going to cause him to grow up into a monster, or a suicide. I do believe that any youngster that wants to do something bad enough will find a way to do it, regardless of what the rules around the house are.

Additionally, he is smart enough to read and listen to all kinds of trash without having it affect his basic character. If he isn't, then censoring his intake at this late date won't help.

That doesn't mean I'm going to allow my child to do drugs, smoke cigarettes, drink alcohol, rent triple X rated movies, or anything else along those lines. I tell him, "when you're 18, you can do what you like."

But if he is going to watch certain TV shows, read certain books, listen to certain music, then I want him to do it in my home, where I can also watch, read and listen to it, and be there when he needs to talk about what he has seen or heard.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Over in central Europe there are two ethnic groups of people who have been living next to one another for many hundreds of years. Let's call them the Duds and the Dittos.

Now the Duds and the Dittos never have gotten along. They have, in fact, been killing each other off for a few centuries now and the only progress made over the years has been in the terribleness of the weapons used in that fight.

They focused on their differences, among which were their languages and their religion. Most Duds were Catholic and most Dittos were Lutheran.

About a hundred and twenty years ago, economic conditions in Dudland and Dittoplace got kind of rough, so a lot of Duds and Dittos decided to leave their homeland and move to south Texas.

They were not happy to find themselves living next door to people they would have been killing back home, but they decided to make the best of it.

They sent their little Duds and Dittos to school together. First thing you know, little Catholic Dud boys were falling in love with little Lutheran Ditto girls and vice versa.

They discovered that when you fall in love, it's helpful to be able to communicate. So they began to speak a new and common language, English.

In less than a generation, Dud families had Ditto in-laws sitting at the Sunday dinner table. They discovered that when they bowed their head to pray, they all acknowledged the same God.

Running through the house were a couple of Dud/Ditto kids who were destined to grow up to join the Episcopal church--or become Baptists!

They decided to quit thinking of themselves as Duds and Dittos, or even Dud-Americans or Ditto-Americans. They just settled for plain old unhyphenated American and they prayed in English so everyone would understand that God wasn't being asked to strike down the Ditto son-in-law as he ate mama's noodle soup.

They also discussed the strange ways of the Baptists and the Episcopalians, in a vain attempt to ward off the future.

Meanwhile, back in Europe, the Duds and Dittos are still killing one another.

Why?

Because they still speak different languages. They still can't understand one another.

There is a disturbing trend in America today to erode the common language. How long before all of us Dud- and Ditto-descendants go back to killing one another because we can't communicate?

Welfare reform under assault

by Congressman Lamar Smith

The goal of welfare reform has been to end a system that hurts people. No one can argue with a straight face that welfare has been good to recipients—immigrants or native-born—who've become trapped in a web of government dependency for generations.

Last year Congress responded to the wishes of the American people and put an end to the widespread use and abuse of our welfare system by non-citizens. The welfare and immigration reforms reinforced a century-old law—that immigrants must be self-sufficient and not a financial burden to the country that invited them in.

Now the president wants to disregard this long precedent and, as my colleague, Rep. Clay Shaw has said, replace it with a policy that "raised taxes so he can increase welfare spending for people who are not American citizens."

Specifically, the president's budget proposal would take $10 billion out of the pockets of American taxpayers to give benefit to non-citizens with family members who have promised to take care of them. The taxpayers who are being asked to pick up the tab should know that 30 percent of all elderly recipients of Supplemental Security Income, a form of welfare, are non-citizens. And the median income is $38,000 for immigrant families with at least one member receiving SSI.

One of most disturbing trends of the 1980s and 90s was the explosive growth in welfare use by immigrants. The number of non-citizens applying for SSI has increased by an average of 50 percent each year as the news spread beyond our borders that America was a free retirement home.

It once was accepted wisdom that non-citizens used welfare less often than citizens. New research by professor George Borjas of Harvard University has revealed that a non-citizen household is now 50 percent more likely to receive some form of welfare than a citizen household.

The president's budget proposal would take $10 billion out of the pockets of American taxpayers to give benefit to non-citizens with family members who have promised to take care of them.

Even if immigrants cannot provide for themselves and are not yet eligible to become a citizens, there is no need and no precedent to look first to the taxpayers to provide for them.

In most cases, immigrants gain admission to the United States through a family member who is already here. That family sponsor signed an affidavit of support promising to provide for the immigrant's need until they can take care of themselves. Immigrants, who were never supposed to receive public benefits, should turn to their sponsors for support.

Immigrants should not be allowed to set aside the condition of their entry into the United States that they not become public charges. And family members who are sponsors should fulfill their obligations of sponsorship. America is getting tough on deadbeats who refuse to pay child support. That same standard should apply to deadbeat sponsors.

Congressman Lamar Smith represents Bandera County in the U.S. Congress.

Top country star John Conlee will perform at The Cabaret Friday.

He's just a common man

with an uncommon talent

Fans can look forward to an hour or more of John Conlee's biggest hits when the country star comes on stage Friday night at The Cabaret. "We concentrate on our hits and play as many of them as possible, but we try to play some of the newer things for the fans, too," Conlee said.

Conlee had his first hit, "Rose Colored Glasses," in 1978. "It's hard to believe we've been at this for 20 years," said Conlee.

Lead guitarist Steve Seckler has been with Conlee "since day one." The rest of the band has been together for a couple of years or so.

Becoming a country star was not exactly a part of Conlee's childhood dreams. "Actually, this is my fourth career," he said. "We started out farming, which we still do. Then I got into the funeral profession. I'm a licensed undertaker in Tennessee. Then I spent nine years in radio and that led me to Nashville."

But music had always been a hobby to Conlee, who started singing, playing and writing songs when he was 8 or 9. "After I got to Nashville, it turned into my career."

Overall, there have been 29 single releases throughout the years with 26 of them charting in the top 20 or better. Eight of those 26 have reached the coveted No. 1 spot on the national country charts.

Ironically, Conlee's first release, "Back Side of Thirty," went nowhere fast. But after the success of "Rose Colored Glasses" the song was re-released and went on to become a no. 1 record.

The Academy of Country Music's best male vocalist of 1979 regrets that his busy schedule keeps him from doing as much song-writing as he would like. "I had more time before my career took off," said Conlee. "But I'm working at getting back to more song writing."

Conlee doesn't hesitate to help out where help is needed.

Because of his farming heritage, Conlee was the first music star to raise his voice in support of the American farmer. His first farm benefit show was in January of 1985. Six months later one of his midwest concerts established the farmers' legal defense fund.

"The idea was to save the family farm; at this point we're on our way to losing it," said Conlee. "The land will fall into the hands of fewer and fewer big corporations; and we all know that corporations don't care about conservation, soil or chemical abuses in farming.

"Family-owned land is intended to be handed down. For that reason alone, the family farm is more ecological."

Sometime after his hit "Busted" went to the top, Conlee's fans began tossing dollar bills on the stage as he sang the song.

"It was funny at first," Conlee recalls, "but when we added it up, we didn't know what to do with the money."

Conlee got in touch with the Feed the Children organization in Oklahoma City and offered to send them the money.

So far, Conlee's generous fans have donated over $109,000.

Was he going 30?

Dear Editor:

I noted with interest Daphne Camden's "Idiot Drivers are everywhere." If you don't have enough of them we could export some to Bandera.

Her letter reminded me of an incident during Thanksgiving Week, 1929. I was traveling to Baylor with three with three of my professors Dr.W.T. Gook, Chemistry; Dr. J.E. Hawkins, German, and Dr. S.R. Spencer, Physics, after a turkey hunt on the ranch of Lucius and Annie Hicks at Tarpley. There were no paved roads in Bandera County then; the best were of gravel, with the turns not banked. Dr. Hawkins, who was driving, took a turn too fast, and we almost tipped over. When the car had righted itself, Dr. Gook reached over and tapped Dr. Hawkins on the shoulder, and said, "Hawkins, if it is just the same to you, I would rather get home 30 minutes late than get to Hell 30 years early."

Loves The Bulletin

Dear Editor:

It is with great pleasure that I renew my subscription to The Bandera Bulletin. The articles are well written and the photographs are good. Naturally my favorite is your editorial comment each week. I turn to it first. Bungy's column really keeps me aware of what is going on. And The Bulletin has graduated to a two section paper! Can I expect it to become a daily?

Congratulations for a job well done.

They miss Mazie

Dear Editor:

Over the past few years; since my dear friends Mazie and Arlo Todd moved to Bandera, I have had the opportunity to read your newspaper. And I must compliment you on the outstanding features and quality of your publication.

Of particular interest was your Jan. 29 edition that featured the news that the Bandera Chamber of Commerce had selected Mazie Todd as their Citizen of the Year for her hard work and dedication to the community. I was elated and envious of Bandera simultaneously for capturing the possession and love of a very special South Carolinian—Mazie Hughes Todd.

I have known Mazie for many years and have treasured her friendship. She is one of the most dedicated and capable people that I have ever known. So, it comes as no surprise that her works and talents would warrant exceptional recognition. I can only compliment your community leaders for having the heart and pride of South Carolina (Mazie Todd) and appreciating it.

Thank you for highlighting Mazie's achievements. It has made South Carolina's loss a little bit easier for the multitude of friends and loving family members that sorely miss Mazie and Arlo. For now we know that Texans really love and appreciate Carolina Sunshine, because we sent you our very best in the person of Mazie Todd.

Destroying the garden

Dear Editor:

When Homo sapiens were tuned loose upon the earth, they had been placed into a Garden of Eden. But, they didn't have sense enough to realize it. And, wasted no time in concentrating their efforts toward turning it into the Hell of a place.

After the founding fathers of the United States of America had won their freedom from England, they knew they had been placed into a Garden of Eden. And, they wasted no time in trying to protect it, by creating the most brilliant piece of legislation that ever came from human minds: "The Constitution of the United States of America."

Unfortunately, they were unable to pass their wisdom and foresight down through the generations of their descendants who are destroying everything the founding fathers stood for. And, turning their Garden of Eden into one hell of a plâce.

February Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

Well, I did it. I broke down and allowed my teenage son to buy one of those new CD's that [illegible] Buy it with his own money, however.

I know there are people out there who really believe that censoring music, TV, movies, books, etc., for children is an advisable way to go. I don't agree.

My 13-year-old has read all the John Grisham novels, most of the Michael Crichton novels, and other books that some would think contain subjects too mature for his age. I have read those books, too, and they do contain graphic material.

But I don't believe that allowing him to watch, read or listen to stuff that is readily available is going to cause him to grow up into a monster, or a suicide. I do believe that any youngster that wants to do something bad enough will find a way to do it, regardless of what the rules around the house are.

[illegible] Hopefully, he is smart and healthy enough to read and listen to all kinds of trash without having it affect his basic character. If he isn't, then censoring his intake at this late date won't help.

That doesn't mean I'm going to allow my child to do drugs, smoke cigarettes, drink alcohol, rent triple X rated movies, or anything else along those lines. I tell him, "when you're 18, you can do what you like."

But if he is going to watch certain TV shows, read certain books, listen to certain music, then I want him to do it in my home, where I can also watch, read and listen to it, and be there when he needs to talk about what he has seen or heard.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Over in central Europe there are two ethnic groups of people who have been living next to one another for many hundreds of years. Let's call them the Duds and the Dittos.

Now the Duds and the Dittos never have gotten along. They have, in fact, been killing each other off for a few centuries now and the only progress made over the years has been in the terribleness of the weapons used in that fight.

They focused on their differences, among which were their languages and their religion. Most Duds were Catholic and most Dittos were Lutheran.

About a hundred and twenty years ago, economic conditions in Dudland and Dittoplace got kind of rough, so a lot of Duds and Dittos decided to leave their homeland and move to south Texas.

They were not happy to find themselves living next door to people they would have been killing back home, but they decided to make the best of it.

They sent their little Duds and Dittos to school together. First thing you know, little Catholic Dud boys were falling in love with little Lutheran Ditto girls and vice versa.

They discovered that when you fall in love, it's helpful to be able to communicate. So they began to speak a new and common language, English.

In less than a generation, Dud families had Ditto in-laws sitting at the Sunday dinner table. They discovered that when they bowed their head to pray, they all acknowledged the same God.

Running through the house were a couple of Dud/Ditto kids who were destined to grow up to join the Episcopal church–or become Baptists!

They decided to quit thinking of themselves as Duds and Dittos, or even Dud-Americans or Ditto-Americans. They just settled for plain old unhyphenated American and they prayed in English so everyone would understand that God wasn't being asked to strike down the Ditto son-in-law as he ate mama's noodle soup.

They also discussed the strange ways of the Baptists and the Episcopalians, in a vain attempt to ward off the future.

Meanwhile, back in Europe, the Duds and Dittos are still killing one another.

Why?

Because they still speak different languages. They still can't understand one another.

There is a disturbing trend in America today to erode the common language. How long before all of us Dud- and Ditto-descendants go back to killing one another because we can't communicate?

Welfare reform under assault

by Congressman Lamar Smith

The president's budget proposal would take $10 billion out of the pockets of American taxpayers to give benefit to non-citizens with family members who have promised to take care of them.

The goal of welfare reform has been to end a system that hurts people. No one can argue with a straight face that welfare has been good to recipients—immigrants or native-born—who've become trapped in a web of government dependency for generations.

Last year Congress responded to the wishes of the American people and put an end to the widespread use and abuse of our welfare system by non-citizens. The welfare and immigration reforms reinforced a century-old law—that immigrants must be self-sufficient and not a financial burden to the country that invited them in.

Now the president wants to disregard this long precedent and, as my colleague, Rep. Clay Shaw has said, replace it with a policy that "raised taxes so he can increase welfare spending for people who are not American citizens."

Specifically, the president's budget proposal would take $10 billion out of the pockets of American taxpayers to give benefit to non-citizens with family members who have promised to take care of them. The taxpayers who are being asked to pick up the tab should know that 30 percent of all elderly recipients of Supplemental Security Income, a form of welfare, are non-citizens. And the median income is $38,000 for immigrant families with at least one member receiving SSI.

One of most disturbing trends of the 1980s and 90s was the explosive growth in welfare use by immigrants. The number of non-citizens applying for SSI has increased by an average of 50 percent each year as the news spread beyond our borders that America was a free retirement home.

It once was accepted wisdom that non-citizens used welfare less often than citizens. New research by professor George Borjas of Harvard University has revealed that a non-citizen household is now 50 percent more likely to receive some form of welfare than a citizen household.

Even if immigrants cannot provide for themselves and are not yet eligible to become a citizens, there is no need and no precedent to look first to the taxpayers to provide for them.

In most cases, immigrants gain admission to the United States through a family member who is already here. That family sponsor signed an affidavit of support promising to provide for the immigrant's need until they can take care of themselves. Immigrants, who were never supposed to receive public benefits, should turn to their sponsors for support.

Immigrants should not be allowed to set aside the condition of their entry into the United States that they not become public charges. And family members who are sponsors should fulfill their obligations of sponsorship. America is getting tough on deadbeats who refuse to pay child support. That same standard should apply to deadbeat sponsors.

Congressman Lamar Smith represents Bandera County in the U.S. Congress.

Recollections of the Past...

from The Bulletin, June 9, 1978

Winners of the Doane Scholarships included Connie Buxkemper, Mark Eden, Leslie Robbins, Corwin Snyder, Patricia Godkin, Jeff Persyn, Mary Kalka, Karen Newcomer, Terre Morris and Donna Williams.

At the Mayan Dude Ranch, the guests included popular Japanese country and western recording artist Keiichi Teramoto. Mr. Teramoto, better known as "Kelly" had over 15 gold records. He entertained the Mayan guests for the barbecue and Irish night. Only in Bandera!

Top country star John Conlee will perform at The Cabaret Friday.

He's just a common man

with an uncommon talent

Fans can look forward to an hour or more of John Conlee's biggest hits when the country star comes on stage Friday night at The Cabaret. "We concentrate on our hits and play as many of them as possible, but we try to play some of the newer things for the fans, too," Conlee said.

Conlee had his first hit, "Rose Colored Glasses," in 1978. "It's hard to believe we've been at this for 20 years," said Conlee.

Lead guitarist Steve Seckler has been with Conlee "since day one." The rest of the band has been together for a couple of years or so.

Becoming a country star was not exactly a part of Conlee's childhood dreams. "Actually, this is my fourth career," he said. "We started out farming, which we still do. Then I got into the funeral profession. I'm a licensed undertaker in Tennessee. Then I spent nine years in radio and that led me to Nashville."

But music had always been a hobby to Conlee, who started singing, playing and writing songs when he was 8 or 9. "After I got to Nashville, it turned into my career."

Overall, there have been 29 single releases throughout the years with 26 of them charting in the top 20 or better. Eight of those 26 have reached the coveted No. 1 spot on the national country charts.

Ironically, Conlee's first release, "Back Side of Thirty," went nowhere fast. But after the success of "Rose Colored Glasses" the song was re-released and went on to become a no. 1 record.

The Academy of Country Music's best male vocalist of 1979 regrets that his busy schedule keeps him from doing as much song-writing as he would like. "I had more time before my career took off," said Conlee. "But I'm working at getting back to more song writing."

Conlee doesn't hesitate to help out where help is needed.

Because of his farming heritage, Conlee was the first music star to raise his voice in support of the American farmer. His first farm benefit show was in January of 1985. Six months later one of his midwest concerts established the farmers' legal defense fund.

"The idea was to save the family farm; at this point we're on our way to losing it," said Conlee. "The land will fall into the hands of fewer and fewer big corporations, and we all know that corporations don't care about conservation, soil or chemical abuses in farming.

"Family-owned land is intended to be handed down. For that reason alone, the family farm is more ecological."

Sometime after his hit "Busted" went to the top, Conlee's fans began tossing dollar bills on the stage as he sang the song.

"It was funny at first," Conlee recalls, "but when we added it up, we didn't know what to do with the money."

Conlee got in touch with the Feed the Children organization in Oklahoma City and offered to send them the money.

So far, Conlee's generous fans have donated over $109,000.

Basic Bandera

Sunny weekends coming in to break the [illegible] others already taken, grow taller and darker than their counterparts.

460-4420 make taking walks on the wild side—as wild as a side can get around here—pleasant breaks in the indoor routine.

By summer, the weeds and cockleburs will make passage for man or beast difficult. The backdrop for the scene is The Cave, not really a cave, but a deep declivity in the ledge, a dank hiding place.

Years ago, it was indeed a hiding place for the sheep suffering from the torture of screwworms. Newcomers to these here hills don't realize what a nightmare the constant threat of screw-worm infestation used to be for ranchers then still trying to make a living from the land.

"Blow flies" would lay their eggs in any wound or abrasion of any animal, especially newborns, and the hatched larvae would actually eat away the life of an unfortunate creature.

It was the job of every rancher to ride out daily searching for "wormies", always hidden away in their misery under brush piles—or on our place in The Cave. We have a vivid picture of neighbor Lon Elam on his old "gotched-eared" horse, plodding along with rifle and bottle of White King tied to his saddle. White King was some awful acrid stuff used to daub wounds and kill worms.

We only walked the pasture every afternoon in those days, not admiring the view as we now do, but searching for sick animals. And there was always at least one.

Now The Cave is but a scenic landmark to be looked forward to seeing on the sunny walk. The two horses are the only livestock the Thirty Acres can support or we dare to have. And this year, they're standing up in the corral whinnying for hay.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

"Give us the fortitude to endure the things which can not be changed, and the courage to change the things which should be changed and the wisdom to know one from the other." - Oliver J. Hart.

Today, perhaps more than at any other time, it takes a lot of courage to bear witness to our beliefs, to avoid compromise when we know it is wrong, and to stand resolutely by our convictions when conscience says we must. It take courage at times to agree. And it takes courage to disagree when disagree we must. When we know we should do that which is right, and we don't have the courage to do it, it shows a lack of trust in God. It shows we don't realize He is the source and supplier for courage to face any disconcerting reality of life.

There is no substitute for courage. Nor is there a substitute for a trust in God. Would it not seem when you have the one, you have the other?

accurately the severity of the injuries, and treating the most critically injured first.

All of the patients were accounted for, triaged and transported to either the "hospital" or the medical helicopters within 52 minutes.

"That is an excellent time," said Carolyn Rutherford, Bandera County EMS Training Coordinator. "It shows that we had patient care there immediately."

Like last year, the emergency personnel experienced problems with communication and organization.

"I saw a problem with communication," said Bandera Fire Chief Tommy Adams, who drew the unenviable position of Incident Commander. The IC is the first emergency responder on the scene and must take charge of the disaster and run the show. The different responding departments drew numbers to see who would go in first.

"Overall it went very well, and we always learn something," Adams said.

Rutherford pointed out that everything was controlled at the initial staging area, or the spot chosen for the emergency responders to congregate, but once everyone left for the scene, things got slightly chaotic.

"We needed to have a staging area at the scene," she said, "and we need to have some visual way of identifying who is in charge."

At a little league field in Pipe Creek last year, the county EMT's had their first disaster drill, and only EMS participated. This year, the sheriff's department, civil defense, and several fire departments took advantage of the specialized training.

"Last year's was good for a first one and good for EMS," Rutherford said. "This one was good for the whole county. We had a lot of people that got a lot out of it."

Ralph Dresser of the Lakehills EMS chapter, and Kim Wood, Lake Shore VFD fire fighter, examine a "patient" at Sunday's disaster drill in Medina. The drill tested the readiness of Bandera County's emergency personnel.

Busbee's Barbecue employee Jason Arredondo shows the container of enzymes that each restaurant is required to have and use for diluting grease in the city drains. The five-gallon container of enzymes costs approximately $200.

The boat ramp at the park had been under the supervision of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department but their contract has expired.

"This should increase our revenue," said Alanis.

Mohair Council moves to new location

The Mohair Council of America has changed its office location in San Angelo to the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association building at 233 West Twohig Street to help ease future budget requirements and to strengthen overall industry support, according to an announcement by Lanny Leinweber of Mountain Home, council president.

Money down the city drain

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

A bill of over $7,000 for degreaser has Bandera city councilmen and citizens asking questions.

The bill covers the purchase of degreaser since October.

"Degreaser is supposed to break down any solids that come into our lift stations and manholes," Director of Public Works Mike Cardenas said.

The substance is purchased from five different sources, and according to Cardenas, about $2,978 of the $7,505. 88 goes to the sewer plant. The rest is used to unclog city drains.

And restaurants in the city may be part of the problem.

"The manholes behind the restaurants get checked every Monday and Friday," Cardenas explained. "They are the ones who will be putting out more grease than anyone. If we are going to have problems, it's going to be there."

Section 9 of the Bandera City Sewer Use Ordinance states that no person may discharge into public sewers any substance that may deposit grease or oil in the sewer lines in such a manner as to clog the sewers.

In addition, in Section 11, the city may charge a fee if the problem gets to be too much.

Cardenas said that all the restaurants, including those on Main Street and at the Bandera Village shopping center, have grease traps, but that the traps do not stop all the grease from flowing down the drains.

"All of them are supposed to be injecting enzymes into the drains," Cardenas said. "I checked out the restaurants the other day and they all had the enzymes."

Merely possessing the container of enzymes does not guarantee that the restaurant workers are using it, however.

The public works director said that if the problem and the bills keep mounting up, restaurant owners may be forced to install mechanical injectors that cost about $250 and automatically dispense the grease-eating

Disaster drill tests county emergency response personnel

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Bandera County volunteer emergency services were put to the test Sunday afternoon when a tornado touched down at a boy scout camp in a simulated disaster drill located at Tuff Texas Outdoors on FM 337 outside of Medina.

Eleven agencies responded to the scene, including the Medina Volunteer Fire Department, Bandera EMS and Bandera Volunteer Fire Department, Pipe Creek EMS and Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Department, Lake Shore Volunteer Fire Department, Lakehills EMS, Civil Defense, Utopia EMS and Utopia Volunteer Fire Department, and host Medina EMS. Sheriff's Deputy Doyle Brooks also took part in the drill.

As the responding units approached the disaster, the volunteers were met with dramatically injured patients scattered over a wide area.

Like last year's drill, many of the EMTs were heard to remark that the "moulage," or material used to simulate wounds, was very realistic.

The responders were timed and assessed, as they treated and triaged 15 patients. Triage means deciding quickly and

C.O.W. Benefit for Charlie Weaver

Friends, family and sponsors invite everyone out to Mansfield Park in Bandera and the Hill Country Youth Exhibition Center on Hwy. 27S this weekend, March 1-2, to help out a little cowboy. A benefit to help defray medical expenses of Charles Owen Weaver of Bandera will kick off at 11 a.m. Saturday morning at the Hill Country covered arena outside of Kerrville with a team roping contest.

That will be followed by a contest of champions, a match roping exhibition between former national calf roping champions Todd Whitewood and Clay Billings. That event should take place around 2 p.m.

The champions' bout will be followed by an open team roping contest.

At Mansfield Park, a barbecue dinner will be served at 5 p.m. Plates will be $5 for adults and $3 for children.

A dance begins at 7 p.m.

There will also be a quilt raffle and a wall-hanging auction and an auction of spurs made by Lopez Bros. Silversmith of Bandera.

The books open at 9 a.m. for the team roping contest.

Action will continue on Sunday at Hill Country Exhibition Center with an exhibition barrel race event from 11 a.m. to 12:30, followed by a open 3-D barrel race at 1 p.m.

For more information about the activities, call Frank Montague at (210) 796-8391.

The 5-year-old Weaver was injured in a riding accident Nov. 16, 1996.

Ice storms and pruning spread oak wilt by beetles

Recent and impending ice storms across Texas could increase the spread of oak wilt disease in Texas trees, plant pathologists at Texas A&M University warn"

"Significant damage in the way of broken limbs and branches have resulted from recent ice storms," said Dr. David Appel, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station plant pathologist. "This damage may be increased by the pruning activities needed to remove branches."

Oak wilt, which spreads about 75 feet a year from injured trees, is deadly for red and live oaks. Beetles, which have touched fungal mats from infected trees, are attracted to sap that begins to flow from tree wounds.

The disease is particularly prevalent in those counties on or adjacent to the Edward's Plateau where serious ice damage has occurred, Appel noted.

"The most dangerous time for oak wilt transmission occurs from February through June because spores are being produced then on fungal mats that form on diseased red oaks," explained Dr. Jeral Johnson, Texas Agricultural Extension Service plant pathologist.

Award winning Christian band to perform at Community Assembly of God weekend

Bandera's own Jordan Family Band recently [illegible] Volunteer of the Year award from the Brownwood State School.

[illegible] spreading their message through song.

[illegible] and heard at the Ryan Youth Center as part of the Community Assembly of God's weekend program featuring Dr. Howard Norrish.

For four years, the family has traveled from Bandera to Brownwood once every three months to conduct a Christian concert, puppet show, and to lead in the Sunday worship services on campus.

The Jordans make the long day trips at their own expense. Both the parents and the children have established "pen pal" relationships with a number of the students.

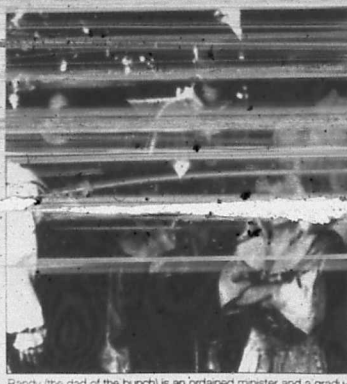
Welcome Christian Center is also an aftercare ministry. They have opened their doors to several different individuals over the past several years. Some of these were homeless, others were individuals who had been in trouble with the law, served time, and were looking for a fresh start.

The Welcome Christian Center is home base for one other thing, as well. Every Sunday for the past five years, the Jordans have ministered spiritual and physical food to a "congregation" of over 100 street people under a bridge in San Antonio. They share with the people a warm meal, a Christian concert, and sometimes clothes, blankets and toiletries.

[illegible] spot in their hearts for the Brownwood campus.

Each year the Texas Youth Corrections facility nominates an outstanding religious volunteer group for the state award.

[illegible] Jordans will be featured in concert, tonight and again at the Ryan Youth Center at 6 p.m. on Friday night.



The Bandera Assembly of God Church is presenting the youth-geared concert in conjunction with a message from pastor Dr. Howard Norrish called "You've Got One Life - Use It or Lose It."

On Saturday night at 7 p.m. at the church, Norrish will speak on "Miracles Under a Crescent Moon," a talk about spreading the Christian word in Islamic countries.

"It's a very exciting topic," Pastor Bryan Basden said. "A missionary in an Arab country can witness to the Islamic people around him for years, and see very little result, but during the time of the Gulf War there were staggering results."

During the Saturday night talk, visitors can make donations to a church-supported missionary of their choice.

On Sunday morning, the topic will be "How Churches Can Be Involved in Supporting Missionaries."

Randy (the dad of the bunch) is an ordained minister and a graduate of International Bible College in San Antonio with a Bachelor of Theology, and has been spreading the gospel for 16 years. His family includes Kay, his wife, and his five children. Gabriel is the oldest son, Sarah is the oldest daughter, Jared is the youngest son, Anniah is the middle daughter, and Lydia is the youngest. Together they make up the Jordan Family Band.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Koonins, of Sweeney, announced the birth of Brett Andre on Dec. 11, 1996 at Columbia Woman's Hospital in Houston. Brett weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

[illegible] and Mrs. Telvy Robbins of [illegible] and Mrs. A.J. de la Houssaye III of Lafayette, La. Great grandmothers are Mrs. A.J. de la Houssaye, Jr. of [illegible] of Dallas, Ga.

Brett was welcomed home by big brother Alec, and big sister, Kara.

BREAKING GROUND — Will Clark and Zane Rasmussen, in front, and Monica Johnson and Meghann Smith, in back, helped break ground on Sunday for a new building at the Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church that will house, among other things, their new Sunday School classes.

Pipe Creek church breaks ground for new building

The congregation of Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church has broken ground for the construction of an educational building and fellowship hall which will include classrooms, a library, a nursery, kitchen facilities, offices, and a multi-purpose room. The building should be completed in June.

This building is the culmination of a dream that began in 1985 when the church was established, a spokesperson said. As the church experienced growth, a major building campaign was initiated to erect a multi-purpose building.

To symbolize the four corners of the new building, members of the building/finance committees stood at these locations during the ground breaking, while the church family created the borders. The children of the congregation represented the door that they will pay for with their Kans for Kids project.

Honored guests included architect Joe Cucolo, general contractor Carlon Keller, Bandera Bank president Ken Finley, and charter member Sue McRae. The Rev. Linda Woodard delivered the blessing.

Brown graduates

Army Pvt. Alexander J. Brown has graduated from One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Knox, Radcliff, Ky.

Brown is the son of John A. Brown of Pipe Creek. He is a 1996 graduate of John Marshall High School in San Antonio.

Speller takes it to San Antonio

Benjamin Fudge

Benjamin Fudge, a 7th-grader at Medina School, will represent his school at the San Antonio Express-News Regional Spelling Bee to be held on Saturday, March 22 at McAllister Auditorium in San Antonio. He will be competing against students from districts served by the Express News. The winner of the regional contest will compete at the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C.

Benjamin qualified for the region contest by winning the local spelling bee held Feb. 11 at the Medina School auditorium. Runner-up was Elizabeth Dabney, a 6th grader, and third place went to Wyatt Lautzenheiser, a 5th grader. Fudge correctly spelled the word "allegory" to break the tie for first place.

Benjamin's parents are Darrell and Jolene Fudge.

Award winning Christian band to perform at Community Assembly of God weekend

Bandera's own Jordan Family Band recently received the Youth Volunteer of the Year award from the Brownwood State School.

The Jordans use their talents to minister to others by spreading their message through song.

[illegible] and heard at the Ryan Youth Center as part of the Community Assembly of God's weekend program featuring Dr. Howard Norrish.

For four years the family has traveled from their home in Bandera to Brownwood once every active months to conduct a Christian concert, puppet show, and to lead in the Sunday worship services on campus.

The Jordans make the long day trips at their own expense. Both the parents and the children have established "pen pal" relationships with a number of the students.

Welcome Christian Center is also an aftercare ministry. They have opened their doors to several different individuals over the past several years. Some of these were homeless, others were individuals who had been in trouble with the law, served time, and were looking for a fresh start.

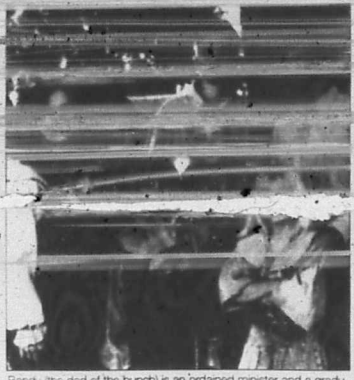
The Welcome Christian Center is home base for one other thing, as well. Every Sunday for the past five years, the Jordans have ministered spiritual and physical food to a "congregation" of over 100 street people under a bridge in San Antonio. They share with the people a warm meal, a Christian concert, and sometimes clothes, blankets and toiletries.

With so much to [illegible] the Jordans busy at the Welcome Christian Center, it is truly amazing that they find the time to so faithfully make the journey to Brownwood every three months."

[illegible] spot in their hearts for the Brownwood campus.

Each year the Texas Youth Corrections facility nominates an outstanding religious volunteer group for the state award.

[illegible] Jordans' ministry [illegible] Ryan Youth Center at 6 p.m. on Friday night.



The Bandera Assembly of God Church is presenting the youth-geared concert in conjunction with a mission trip visiting Pastor Norrish called "You've Got One Life...Use It or Lose It."

On Saturday night at 7 p.m. at the church, Norrish will speak on "Miracles Under a Crescent Moon," a talk about spreading the Christian word in Islamic countries.

"It's a very exciting topic," Pastor Bryan Basden said. "A missionary in an Arab country can witness to the Islamic people around him for years, and see very little result, but during the time of the Gulf War there were staggering results."

During the Saturday night talk, visitors can make donations to a church-supported missionary of their choice.

On Sunday morning, the topic will be "How Churches Can Be Involved in Supporting Missionaries."

Randy (the dad of the bunch) is an ordained minister and a graduate of International Bible College in San Antonio with a Bachelor of Theology, and has been spreading the gospel for 16 years. His family includes Kay, his wife, and his five children. Gabriel is the oldest son, Sarah is the oldest daughter, Jared is the youngest son, Annah is the middle daughter, and Lydia is the youngest. Together they make up the Jordan Family Band.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Robbins, of Sweeney, announced the [illegible] of Brett Andre on Dec. 11, 1996 at Columbia Woman's Hospital in Houston. Brett weighed six pounds, 11 ounces.

[illegible] and Mrs. Telvy Robbins of [illegible] and Mrs. de la Houssaye III of Lafayette, La. Great grandmothers are Mrs. A.J. de la Houssaye, Jr. of [illegible] and Mrs. [illegible] of Dallas, La.

Brett was welcomed home by big brother Alec, and big sister, Kara.

BREAKING GROUND — Will Clark and Zane Rasmussen, in front, and Monica Johnson and Meghann Smith, in back, helped break ground on Sunday for a new building at the Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church that will house, among other things, their new Sunday School classes.

Pipe Creek church breaks ground for new building

The congregation of Pipe Creek Presbyterian Church has broken ground for the construction of an educational building and fellowship hall which will include classrooms, a library, a nursery, kitchen facilities, offices, and a multi-purpose room. The building should be completed in June.

This building is the culmination of a dream that began in 1985 when the church was established, a spokesperson said. As the church experienced growth, a major building campaign was initiated to erect a multi-purpose building.

To symbolize the four corners of the new building, members of the building/finance committee stood at these locations during the ground breaking, while the church family created the borders. The children of the congregation represented the door that they will pay for with their Kans for Kids project.

Honored guests included architect Joe Cucolo, general contractor Carlon Keller, Bandera Bank president Ken Finley, and charter member Sue McRae. The Rev. Linda Woodard delivered the blessing.

Brown graduates

Army Pvt. Alexander J. Brown has graduated from One Station Unit Training (OSUT) at Fort Knox, Radcliff, Ky.

Brown is the son of John A. Brown of Pipe Creek. He is a 1996 graduate of John Marshall High School in San Antonio.

Speller takes it to San Antonio

Benjamin Fudge

Benjamin Fudge, a 7th-grader at Medina School, will represent his school at the San Antonio Express-News Regional Spelling Bee to be held on Saturday, March 22 at McAllister Auditorium in San Antonio. He will be competing against students from districts served by the Express News. The winner of the regional contest will compete at the National Spelling Bee in Washington, D.C.

Benjamin qualified for the region contest by winning the local spelling bee held Feb. 11 at the Medina School auditorium. Runner-up was Elizabeth Dabney, a 6th grader; and third place went to Wyatt Lautzenheiser, a 5th grader. Fudge correctly spelled the word "allegory" to break the tie for first place.

Benjamin's parents are Darrell and Jolene Fudge.

Racing and rodeo

Gulf Greyhound Park will feature exhibition greyhound races as the annual stampede begins the world's largest rodeo, the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo.

Beginning Friday, Feb. 14, rodeo goers can enjoy exciting greyhound races at the Gulf Greyhound Park attraction, located just outside the Astrohall. The races will feature three greyhounds racing on a straight-away track. Race fans can join "Lucky Dog" as he cheers on his favorite racer. And catch the "surprise" race featuring Gulf Greyhound Park's future stars.

Pace fans (21 years and older) will also have the opportunity to pick up a Mystery Betting Voucher Coupon that could be worth $5,000. The voucher is redeemable at the track and the $5,000 Mystery Voucher is guaranteed to be given away.

Rodeo and race fans can catch the Gulf Greyhound Park racing attraction at the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo Feb. 14 through March 2. Show times are 10:30 a.m., 11:30 a.m., 12:30 p.m., 2:30 p.m., 3:30 p.m., 4:30 p.m., 5:30 p.m. and 6:30 p.m. everyday.

Winter run lucrative for cowboys

The 1996 National Finals Rodeo is barely in the books, but the 1997 season began nearly two months ago and there's little time to rest for those who would like to earn a trip to Las Vegas next December.

The first top five rodeo of the season in terms of total prize money is the National Western Rodeo, Jan. 15-26 in Denver. Last year it had a purse total of $394,059. And with that kind of payoff up for grabs, nearly all of the 1996 National Western Rodeo event champions are scheduled to compete there again this year.

They include 1996 World Champion Team Ropers Steve Purcella (header), 30, of Hereford, Texas, and Steve Northcott (heeler), 27, of Odessa, Texas; 1996 World Champion Barrel Racer Kristie Peterson of Elbert, Colo.; saddle bronc rider Glen O'Neill, 23, of Calgary, Alberta; bull rider Mark Cain, 27, of Atoka, Calif.; calf roper Bill Melaney, 26, of Wolf Creek, Mont.; and steer wrestler Mark Waltz, 36, of Coolidge, Ariz.

Among the other competitors scheduled to compete in Denver is six-time all-around world champion Ty Murray of Stephenville, Texas. Murray injured his shoulder while competing at a bull riding event in April and did not return to competition for the rest of the 1996 season. He missed the bulk of the 1995 campaign as well with a knee injury.

The "winter run" as it is known to cowboys can be a very lucrative time. Last year Billy Etbauer won the saddle bronc title at rodeos in Fort Worth, San Antonio, Tucson, Houston and Jackson, Miss., to earn a whopping total of $43,363 in about six weeks. He went on to become the 1996 world champion.

Among the top 10 rodeos included in the winter run are the Southwestern Exposition & Livestock Show, Jan. 17 through Feb. 2 in Fort Worth; the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, Feb. 1-6; and the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo, Feb. 14 through March 2.

Winter run lucrative for cowboys

The 1996 National Finals Rodeo is barely in the books, but the 1997 season began nearly two months ago and there's little time to rest for those who would like to earn a trip to Las Vegas next December.

The first top five rodeo of the season in terms of total prize money is the National Western Rodeo, Jan. 15-26 in Denver. Last year it had a purse total of $394,059. And with that kind of payoff up for grabs, nearly all of the 1996 National Western Rodeo event champions are scheduled to compete there again this year.

They include 1996 World Champion Team Ropers Steve Purcella (header), 30, of Hereford, Texas, and Steve Northcott (heeler), 27, of Odessa, Texas; 1996 World Champion Barrel Racer Kristie Peterson of Elbert, Colo.; saddle bronc rider Glen O'Neill, 23, of Calgary, Alberta; bull rider Mark Cain, 27, of Atoka, Calif.; calf roper Bill Melaney, 26, of Wolf Creek, Mont.; and steer wrestler Mark Wiltz, 36, of Coolidge, Ariz.

Among the other competitors scheduled to compete in Denver is six-time all-around world champion Ty Murray of Stephenville, Texas. Murray injured his shoulder while competing at a bull riding event in April and did not return to competition for the rest of the 1996 season. He missed the bulk of the 1995 campaign as well with a knee injury.

The "winter run" as it is known to cowboys can be a very lucrative time. Last year Billy Etbauer won the saddle bronc title at rodeos in Fort Worth, San Antonio, Tucson, Houston and Jackson, Miss., to earn a whopping total of $43,363 in about six weeks. He went on to become the 1996 world champion.

Among the top 10 rodeos included in the winter run are the Southwestern Exposition & Livestock Show, Jan. 17 through Feb. 2 in Fort Worth; the San Antonio Stock Show & Rodeo, Feb. 1-6; and the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo, Feb. 14 through March 2.

Academic decathalon team competing in SAC meet

Rudy Espinosa spread Valentine's cheer among the noontime diners at El Jacalito's Mexican Restaurant on Valentine's Day.

High School students, coached by Marilyn Wiles and Mary Welch, will participate in the 1997 Texas Academic Decathlon, hosted by San Antonio College. Bandera High School students participating are Daryl Koerth, Justin Stade, Crystal Philips, Elisha Blankenship, Jeremy Stiffler, Fred Jennings, Eric Brown and Stephen Slaboda.

They will compete with 200 high school students from 20 high schools in the small school division throughout the state.

The exciting, free Super Quiz, hosted by "Quizmaster" Bob Guthrie of WOAI on Saturday, Feb. 22 from 2:45 to 5 p.m. in the SAC gymnasium.

The Super Quiz climaxes an intense series of essay, speech and interview competitions and seven written comprehensive exams in a variety of subjects. Hundreds of friends and families with posters and banners will cheer on their teams. Scholarships totaling $7,425 will be awarded to first, second and individual statewide.

"The Decathlon is a scholastic competition for ninth through twelfth grade students designed to encourage and recognize outstanding performance in school pursuits that require intellectual rather than physical superiority," said SAC reading professor and event coordinator Sylvia Ybarra.

Texas high schools fielding teams to compete in the Academic Decathlon are Aubrey, Bandera, Brady, R.G. Cole, Crockett, Dalhart, Denver, Diboll, Frisco, Goliad, Vista, Lake Travis, Pittsburg, Randolph, Refugio, Sinton, Somerset and Westwood.

The original academic competition began in 1968 and is now conducted worldwide. In the twelve times Texas teams have competed since 1984, they won the national competition eight times, placed second two times, and third two times.

For more information about the Texas Academic Decathlon at San Antonio College, or to volunteer to help, call Sylvia Ybarra at 733-2406.

License renewal requires social security number

Beginning Feb. 3 anyone applying for a Texas driver license will be required to show proof of his or her Social Security number before the license will be issued. Those seeking to renew their drivers license in person or requesting a duplicate license also need proof of their SSN.

The new requirement does not apply to individuals renewing by mail or applying for a DPS-issued ID card.

The DPS has been requesting the SSN on a voluntary basis since 1992. A provision in the Social Security Act allows a state to use the SSN for driver license identification purposes. Changes made to the Family Code during the 74th Legislature require agencies issuing licenses to obtain the SSN to assist in locating persons delinquent in paying child support.

The SSN will not appear on the drivers license itself and will be made available only to DPS for identification purposes and the Child Support Division of the State Attorney General's Office.

"In addition to assisting in the collection of delinquent child support, we think this new law will make it more difficult for an individual to fraudulently obtain a drivers license," Col. Dudley M. Thomas, Director of the DPS, said. "This will help reduce crimes that depend on fake identification, such as hot check cases, and will also make it more difficult for minors to obtain licenses with fraudulent birth dates."

To meet the SSN requirement, an applicant may present a federal Social Security card, income tax documents, U.S. passport (if SSN is included), W-2 form, pay stub, government-issued health insurance card, pilot's license, Veterans Administration benefits card or employer ID card that has the SSN on it.

Metal Social Security cards or types sold at flea markets will not be accepted.

Federal law has required applicants for commercial driver license to show proof of SSNs since 1990. In October 2000 federal immigration law will go into effect mandating that all states capture SSNs for all drivers license and ID cards.

To apply for an SSN or to replace a lost Social Security card, call the Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. or leave a message after those hours.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

Years ago, one of the joys of the week was getting to go to the Dixie Dude Ranch for Sunday dinner. Everybody sat at the big, long tables in the Cowboy style dining room and big platters of fried chicken, real mashed potatoes and gravy, and fresh vegetables were put in the middle for a family-style serve-yourself meal. It was a real Bandera tradition.

And now, it's back. Only make sure you call in for reservations one week in advance. Take a look at their great old western looking cabins, too. A neat way to while away a Sunday after noon.

Did you know this past week was Random Acts of Kindness Week? What a nice idea.

It's really something when someone goes all out to add to the Cowboy Capital flavor. The latest is Cowboy Country Sales and Service in the Bandera Northeast on Hwy. 16.

He's built hitching posts in front and they figure out your tires for you—wearing spurs. I love it!

The new This N That Shop is right next to them. They have some interesting items and their prices are cheaper than yard sales!

Lloyd Mays Auction is holding their next one at the Pipe Creek Civic Center at 7 p.m. on Feb. 28. They've built up quite a nice business with lots of good antiques and collectibles. Auctions are always fun to go to, but remember, don't scratch your nose unless you mean it!

Then, there's the Neiman Marcus of Bandera—Western Flair next to the Post Office. They've got such beautiful stuff, it purt-near took my breath away. They're shipping gorgeous creations all over the U.S., and it's mainly ordered by tourists who were walking along Main Street and happened in. See why we need those boardwalks!

If we ever tend to think Bandera is growing out of its traditions, well it's not. Two children recently have had big medical problems and a fire has been lit under the community. The spaghetti dinner for Michelle Dexter at Bandera High School was a grand success, serving nearly 700 well-wishers. Another benefit will be held for her at the Cabaret soon, too.

Then, Charles Owen Weaver, that brave little cowpoke, is getting a benefit rodeo out at Mansfield Park on March 1-2. It takes a tremendous amount of volunteers to run a rodeo and lots of equipment and livestock. So it sure makes your heart fill up when you think of all the great giving there still is in Ol' Bandera.

And, by the way, the annual Sweetheart Dance to benefit the American Cancer Society last Wednesday at the Cabaret was a big success, too, with over 700 dancers showing up to scoot around to all those wonderful local bands who donated their time and energies.

2nd Annual Kinderclassic

The second annual Alsatian Kinderklassic Golf Tournament, benefiting Santa Rosa Children's Hospital, will be played in Castroville on Friday, March 21.

Some 250 golfers are expected to participate in this affair sponsored by KKYX Radio and Allen & Allen Hardware and Lumber Co.

The tournament features two Florida scrambles with shotgun starts at 7:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. Entry fee is a donation of $50 ($60 after March 14) to the hospital.

That amount will include entry, green and cart fees, an Alsatian-flavored lunch and a chance to win both skill and attendance prizes.

Although Allen & Allen has been a major sponsor of many Santa Rosa tournaments in past years, this is the first title sponsorship for the firm headed by former professional football player and NFL official Pat Knight.

Allen & Allen is making a donation of $5,000 to the hospital for title sponsorship.

Bulldogs end season with win over Lytle, loss to Hondo Owls

Senior starter Nate Moehring blocks a Pirate shot, with help from #33 Kurt Law, in the Bulldog win over the Lytle Pirates last Tuesday in Bandera. The Bulldogs have started baseball and the varsity boys will play T.M.I. at T.M.I. on Feb. 22.

In District 26-3A boys basketball action, the host Bandera Bulldogs upended the visiting Lytle Pirates 75-59 on Tuesday night at Bulldog Gym.

Bandera (5-20 overall, 2-9 in district) had four players score in the double figures to smash any hopes for Lytle. Kevin Ohnheiser led the Bulldogs with 20 points, Nate Moehring lit up 17 points, while Jason Garcia and Tim Gard each added 11 points.

On Valentine's night, the Bulldogs traveled to Hondo and lost 43-37.

"It was a tight ball game, with very low scoring," Coach Steve Kidd said. "Neither team shot well from the field."

From a tied score at the end of the third, Hondo made seven out of eight free throws to pull ahead for the win.

Ohnheiser led the team with 10 points, followed by Kurt Law and Moehring with five each.

Wrestling wins approval in UIL

Pending approval by the State Board of Education, wrestling will be sanctioned as a UIL activity beginning with the 1998-99 school year, league officials announced last month.

The UIL Legislative Council voted last October to place the issue on a referendum ballot to member school districts, stipulating that if it received a majority vote in any one conference, wrestling would be added as a UIL sport. It passed only in Conference 5A, by a margin of 132-75.

"The staff looks forward to developing a plan to incorporate this exciting and fast-growing sport into our slate of activities," said Dr. Charles Breithaupt, UIL Athletic Director. "We feel that boys and girls in the state will benefit greatly from wrestling."

Should approval be given, the UIL athletic staff will work with the Legislative Council to develop a plan to add wrestling.

Murray will sit out at least six months

Bad luck keeps beating up on Ty Murray.

The six-time world all-around champion from Stephenville, Texas is expected to be out of competition for six months due to a dislocated right shoulder he suffered this weekend in the second round of a bull-riding event in St. Louis, Mo.

He has doctor released out of the Houston Livestock Show & Rodeo Feb. 14 through March 2, as well as other remaining rodeos he had entered.

The injury occurred when Murray, 27, landed on the elbow of his riding (right) arm after he was bucked off of the bull he was riding. He had returned to competition in January after a nine-month layoff from a torn ligament in his left shoulder. He was also sidelined for most of 1995 with a knee injury he suffered that summer.

Murray competes in bull riding, saddle bronc riding in the PRCA.

"It is a bad deal," he said. "I was really looking forward to getting back to riding, but it's a tough sport. I went injury free for the first seven years of my professional career, then to have a run of bad luck like that, there is nothing I can do about it."

Murray said he will undergo surgery the first week of March.

Lady 'Cats lose bi-district bid against Comstock 54-35

The Medina Lady Bobcats ended their playoff run on Thursday with a 54-35 loss to, Comstock at Southwest Texas Junior College.

Medina dug a hole early with a 16-8 disadvantage after the first period of play and a 14-point deficit (28-14) going into the locker room at half-time. The Lady Bobcats played pretty much even with Comstock in the second half.

"They were scoring mainly off their press," Medina Coach Richard Mims said. "They were picking up points off our turnovers. We had quite a few turnovers. No team has hurt has hurt us on the press like they did. They were quick and executed it well."

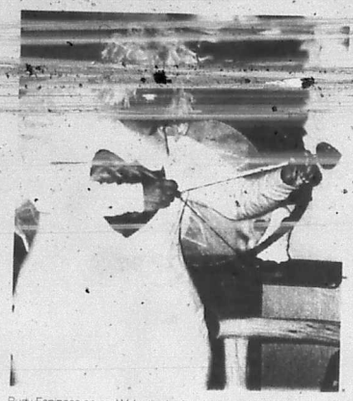
Comstock continued its relentless full court press in the second half, forcing too many turnovers for Median to mount a comeback. Having several Lady Bobcats under the weather did not help Medina's chances.

"We weren't really sharp," Mims said. "This whole week I've had several girls who were sick. I hate to give that as an excuse, but we weren't well."

Jennifer Reed led the Lady Bobcats in scoring with 13 points while adding seven rebounds and five blocked shots. Megan Mills tallied 12 points and grabbed six boards, Nikki Rainey added eight points and pulled down a team-high 10 rebounds. Sherri Lautzenheiser added two points.

Medina finishes the season with a 17-8 record and its first playoff appearance since 1968.

"We feel like we're on the upswing and ready to come back next season," Mims said. "I'm really proud of the girls."



Picked to win

Medina's Cully Doyle, has been rated to win the 3200M run this season by Texas Track & Field. Doyle has the best time for runners coming back.

Academic decathalon team competing in SAC meet

High School students, coached by Marilyn Wiles and Mary Welch, will participate in the 1997 Texas Academic Decathlon, hosted by San Antonio College. Bandera High School students participating are Daryl Koerth, Justin Stade, Crystal Phillips, Elisha Blankenship, Jeremy Stiffler, Fred Jennings, Eric Brown and Stephen Slaboda.

They will compete with 200 high school students from 20 high schools in the small school division throughout the state.

The exciting, free Super Quiz, hosted by "Quizmaster" Bob Guthrie of WOAI on Saturday, Feb. 22 from 2:45 to 5 p.m. in the SAC gymnasium.

The Super Quiz climaxes and intense series of essay, speech and interview competitions and seven written comprehensive exams in a variety of subjects. Hundreds of friends and families with posters and banners will cheer on their teams. Scholarships totaling $7,425 will be awarded to first, second and individual statewide.

"The Decathlon is a scholastic competition for ninth through twelfth grade students designed to encourage and recognize outstanding performance in school pursuits that require intellectual rather than physical superiority," said SAC reading professor and event coordinator Sylvia Ybarra.

Texas high schools fielding teams to compete in the Academic Decathlon are Aubrey, Bandera, Brady, R.G. Cole, Crockett, Dalhart, Denver, Diboll, Frisco, Goliad, Vista, Lake Travis, Pittsburg, Randolph, Refugio, Sinton, Somerset and Westwood.

The original academic [illegible] 1968 and is now conducted worldwide. In the twelve times Texas teams have competed since 1984, they won the national competition eight times, placed second two times, and third two times.

For more information about the Texas Academic Decathlon at San Antonio College, or to volunteer to help, call Sylvia Ybarra at 733-2406.

License renewal requires social security number

Beginning Feb. 3 anyone applying for a Texas driver license will be required to show proof of his or her Social Security number before the license will be issued. Those seeking to renew their drivers license in person or requesting a duplicate license also need proof of their SSN.

The new requirement does not apply to individuals renewing by mail or applying for a DPS-issued ID card.

The DPS has been requesting the SSN on a voluntary basis since 1992. A provision in the Social Security Act allows a state to use the SSN for driver license identification purposes. Changes made to the Family Code during the 74th Legislature require agencies issuing licenses to obtain the SSN to assist in locating persons delinquent in paying child support.

The SSN will not appear on the drivers license itself and will be made available only to DPS for identification purposes and the Child Support Division of the State Attorney General's Office.

"In addition to assisting in the collection of delinquent child support, we think this new law will make it more difficult for an individual to fraudulently obtain a drivers license," Col. Dudley M. Thomas, Director of the DPS, said. "This will help reduce crimes that depend on fake identification, such as hot check cases, and will also make it more difficult for minors to obtain licenses with fraudulent birth dates."

To meet the SSN requirement, an applicant may present a federal Social Security card, income tax documents, U.S. passport (if SSN is included), W-2 form, pay stub, government-issued health insurance card, pilot's license, Veterans Administration benefits card or employer ID card that has the SSN on it.

Metal Social Security cards or types sold at flea markets will not be accepted.

Federal law has required applicants for commercial driver license to show proof of SSNs since 1990. In October 2000 federal immigration law will go into effect mandating that all states capture SSNs for all drivers license and ID cards.

To apply for an SSN or to replace a lost Social Security card, call the Social Security Administration at 1-800-772-1213 from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. or leave a message after those hours.

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

Years ago, one of the joys of the week was getting to go to the Dixie Dude Ranch for Sunday dinner. Everybody sat at the big, long tables in the Cowboy style dining room and big platters of fried chicken, real mashed potatoes and gravy, and fresh vegetables were put in the middle for a family-style serve-yourself meal. It was a real Bandera tradition.

And now, it's back. Only make sure you call in for reservations one week in advance. Take a look at their great old western looking cabins, too. A neat way to while away a Sunday afternoon.

Did you know this past week was Random Acts of Kindness Week? What a nice idea.

It's really something when someone goes all out to add to the Cowboy Capital flavor. The latest is Cowboy Country Sales and Service in the Bandera Northpoint on Hwy. 16.

He's built hitching posts in front and they figure out your tires for you—wearing spurs. I love it!

The new This N That Shop is right next to them. They have some interesting items and their prices are cheaper than yard sales!

Lloyd Mays Auction is holding their next one at the Pipe Creek Civic Center at 7 p.m. on Feb. 28. They've built up quite a-nice business with lots of good antiques and collectibles. Auctions are always fun to go to, but remember, don't scratch your nose unless you mean it!

Then, there's the Neiman Marcus of Bandera—Western Flair next to the Post Office. They've got such beautiful stuff, it purt-near took my breath away. They're shipping gorgeous creations all over the U.S., and it's mainly ordered by tourists who were walking along Main Street and happened in. See why we need those boardwalks!

If we ever tend to think Bandera is growing out of its traditions, well it's not. Two children recently have had big medical problems and a fire has been lit under the community. The spaghetti dinner for Michelle Dexter at Bandera High School was a grand success, serving nearly 700 well-wishers. Another benefit will be held for her at the Cabaret soon, too.

Then, Charles Owen Weaver, that brave little cowpoke, is getting a benefit rodeo out at Mansfield Park on March 1-2. It takes a tremendous amount of volunteers to run a rodeo and lots of equipment and livestock. So it sure makes your heart fill up when you think of all the great giving there still is in Ol' Bandera.

And, by the way, the annual Sweetheart Dance to benefit the American Cancer Society last Wednesday at the Cabaret was a big success, too, with over 700 dancers showing up to scoot around to all those wonderful local bands who donated their time and energies.

Bulldogs end season with win over Lytle, loss to Hondo Owls

Senior starter Nate Moehring blocks a Pirate shot, with help from #33 Kurt Law, in the Bulldog win over the Lytle Pirates last Tuesday in Bandera. The Bulldogs have started baseball and the varsity boys will play T.M.I. at T.M.I. on Feb. 22.

In District 26-3A boys basketball action, the host Bandera Bulldogs upended the visiting Lytle Pirates 75-59 on Tuesday night at Bulldog Gym.

Bandera (5-20 overall, 2-9 in district) had four players score in the double figures to smash any hopes for Lytle. Kevin Ohnheiser led the Bulldogs with 20 points, Nate Moehring lit up 17 points, while Jason Garcia and Tim Gard each added 11 points.

On Valentine's night, the Bulldogs traveled to Hondo and lost 43-37.

"It was a tight ball game, with very low scoring," Coach Steve Kidd said. "Neither team shot well from the field."

From a tied score at the end of the third, Hondo made seven out of eight free throws to pull ahead for the win.

Ohnheiser led the team with 10 points, followed by Kurt Law and Moehring with five each.

Wrestling wins approval in UIL

Pending approval by the State Board of Education, wrestling will be sanctioned as a UIL activity beginning with the 1998-99 school year, league officials announced last month.

The UIL Legislative Council voted last October to place the issue on a referendum ballot to member school districts, stipulating that if it received a majority vote in any one conference, wrestling would be added as a UIL sport. It passed only in Conference 5A, by a margin of 132-75.

Business tax renditions due to county appraisers

In accordance with state law, owners of business personal property with county appraisal districts by April 15. [illegible] as of Jan. 1, 1997.

"While state law requires business owners and operators to render their property [illegible] property owner—including homeowners, farmers and ranchers—may also list their property with county appraisal districts, State Comptroller John Sharp said.

"Property owners who render are in a better position to exercise their rights as taxpayers," Sharp noted. They are assured that [illegible] their property will [illegible] as the law requires.

If the tax collector cannot deliver a tax bill because of an incorrect or old address, the property owner is responsible for paying the taxes, plus late payment penalties, Sharp added.

State law requires anyone who owns or manages income-producing personal property on Jan. 1 to render with the local appraisal district.

"For example, businesses must report their inventories, furniture and fixtures, machinery and equipment and other tangible personal property to the [illegible] appraisal district," Sharp said. "Appraisal districts use the reports to set business property values. When a business goods, decedent [illegible] his or her property, the chief appraiser estimates the value."

Sharp also announced that property owners who lost property damaged by a storm, flood or fire last year may file a special decreased value report that could lower their final tax bills. Property owners may file the decreased value report after the property is in condition on Jan. 1, 1997.

[illegible] extension for additional time through April 30 if the owners can demonstrate good cause. The chief appraiser must grant owners of property regulated by the Public Utility Commission or the Railroad Commission an extension to April 30 to file the reports and may extend the deadline another 15 days if the owners request it in writing and show good cause.

On the renditions, property owners can record their opinions of their property's value. By stating their opinion, appraisal districts send them a notice before placing a higher value on their property. This notice allows property owners time to get [illegible] to protest the appraisal if they believe that the appraisal district's value is too high.

If more than one property owner renders property, the property appraises a property, the property owner should render in each appraisal district office. Taxpayers may contact the county appraisal district office for the rendition forms.

Foster parents sought

Child Protective Services will train prospective Hill Country foster care and adoptive parents to care for abused and neglected children seeking temporary or permanent care in classes starting Feb. 20 in Boerne.

Training will run from 6:30 to 9:30 for seven consecutive Thursday evenings.

Wentworth appointed to energy council

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock on Monday announced he has appointed State Sen. Jeff Wentworth and Sen. Eddie Lucio to the Energy Council, an organization that formulates recommendation for energy policy.

Wentworth, R-San Antonio, fills the vacancy left by the retirement of former Sen. Bill Sims. Wentworth serves Bandera County.

Lucio, D-Brownsville, was named to the council's executive committee. He is replacing former Sen. John Montford, who retired from the Legislature last year to become chancellor of Texas Tech University.

Lucio and Wentworth are among seven Texas senators on the council.

The Energy Council is made up of representatives from nine states in the southern United States. The efforts by Texas members are coordinated through the council's Irving office.

College do's and don'ts

Before applying to any selective college, John Lind, vice president for enrollment management at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, says college-bound students should consider these college search do's and don'ts:

1) Do begin well ahead of time. Make a point to keep a calendar of all application deadlines, since they vary from school to school. Then work toward completing applications well in advance.

2) Do carefully assess your needs. It is important for you to understand what type of environment is best suited to you.

3) Do apply to schools you would be willing to attend. A "safety" school is no good if you really would not go there anyway.

4) Do visit as many schools that interest you as possible. A campus visit is an important time to establish a "feel" for a campus.

5) Don't assume that where your parents went or your friends are going is necessarily a good place for you.

6) Do understand that your college application is a presentation of you. Be sure it is accurate, complete and timely.

7) Do view your college search as a long-term investment decision.

8) Do have fun in the process.

It all adds up!

Business tax renditions due to county appraiser

...as of Jan. 1, 1997.

"While state law requires business owners and ... property owner—including homeowners, farmers and ranchers—may also list their property with county appraisal districts," State Comptroller John Sharp said.

"Property owners who render are in a better position to exercise their rights as taxpayers," Sharp noted. "They are ... that the appraisal district has ... their property with ... county appraisal district."

If the tax collector cannot deliver a tax bill because of an incorrect or old address, the property owner is responsible for paying the taxes, plus late payment penalties, Sharp added.

State law requires anyone who owns or manages income-producing personal property on Jan. 1 to render with the local appraisal district.

"For example, businesses must report their inventories, furnitures and fixtures, machinery and equipment and other tangible personal property by filing state property tax renditions," Sharp said.

"Appraisal districts use the reports to set business property values. When a business ... his or her property, the chief appraiser estimates the value."

Sharp also announced that property owners who had property damaged by a storm, flood or fire last year may file a special decreased value report that could lower their final tax bills. Property owners may file the decreased value report for additional time through April 30 if the owners can demonstrate good cause. The chief appraiser ... grant owners of property regulated by the Public Utility Commission or the Railroad Commission an extension to April 30 to file the reports and may extend the deadline another 15 days if the owners request it in writing and show good cause.

On the renditions, property owners can record their opinions of their property's value. By stating their opinion ... appraisal districts send them a notice ... before ... a higher value on the property. This notice allows property owners time to get information ... of protest the appraisal if they believe that the appraisal district's value is too high.

If more than one ... appraises a property, the property owner should render in each appraisal district office. Taxpayers may contact the county appraisal district office for the rendition forms.

Foster parents sought

Child Protective Services will train prospective Hill Country foster care and adoptive parents to care for abused and neglected children seeking temporary or permanent care in classes starting Feb. 20 in Boerne.

If you have an interest in becoming a foster or adoptive parent and were unable to attend recent informational meetings on the topic, please contact Sherry Cowell in Kerrville at 257-0244.

Training will run from 6:30 to 9:30 for seven consecutive Thursday evenings.

Wentworth appointed to energy council

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock on Monday announced he has appointed State Sen. Jeff Wentworth and Sen. Eddie Lucio to the Energy Council, an organization that formulates recommendation for energy policy.

Wentworth, R-San Antonio, fills the vacancy left by the retirement of former Sen. Bill Sims. Wentworth serves Bandera County.

Lucio, D-Brownsville, was named to the council's executive committee. He is replacing former Sen. John Montford, who retired from the Legislature last year to become chancellor of Texas Tech University.

Lucio and Wentworth are among seven Texas senators on the council.

The Energy Council is made up of representatives from nine states in the southern United States. The efforts by Texas members are coordinated through the council's Irving office.

College do's and don'ts

Before applying to any selective college, John Lind, vice president for enrollment management at Southwestern University in Georgetown, Texas, says college-bound students should consider these college search do's and don'ts:

1) Do begin well ahead of time. Make a point to keep a calendar of all application deadlines, since they vary from school to school. Then work toward completing applications well in advance.

2) Do carefully assess your needs. It is important for you to understand what type of environment is best suited to you.

3) Do apply to schools you would be willing to attend. A "safety" school is no good if you really would not go there anyway.

4) Do visit as many schools that interest you as possible. A campus visit is an important time to establish a "feel" for a campus.

5) Don't assume that where your parents went or your friends are going is necessarily a good place for you.

6) Do understand that your college application is a presentation of you. Be sure it is accurate, complete and timely.

7) Do view your college search as a long-term investment decision.

8) Do have fun in the process.

It all adds up!

Salado Quilt Show features two locations, many quilts

Plans are underway for the Second Annual Salado Quilt Show. This year's show runs from Feb. 28 through March 1. As a result of last year's overwhelming interest, the show has expanded with quilts being shown at two locations along Main Street. Quilts of all sizes, shapes, designs and ages will be displayed in the Meadows Auditorium of the Salado Civic Center and The Clan Hall of the Central Texas Area Museum.

The Salado Village Artists will conduct a live quilting demonstration throughout the show at the Salado Art Center. The quilt will be auctioned at the close of the show on Sunday. The event is sponsored by the Salado Chamber of Commerce.

A new addition to this year's show will be quilt blocks. Blocks provide an abundance of ideas for quilt makers and collectors. The quilt blocks will be voted on by a committee with winners being recognized during the show. Quilts will be judged and voted on by viewers and various category awards will be given at the close of the show.

Terri Ellis, American Quilter Society Certified Appraiser, will be available during the show for information about quilts. Visitors are encouraged to bring quilts to the show for her evaluation. Ellis will perform a written appraisal on request for $25.

Limited space is available for anyone interested in having a quilt or quilt block displayed at this year's show. Contact the Salado Chamber of Commerce at 817-947-5040, P.O. Box 81, Salado, Texas 76571.

Admission to the show is $3 for adults, with children 12 and under admitted free.

Salado is located along I-35 just south of Temple and less than an hour's drive from Waco to the north and Austin to the south.

Menzies resigns from the top mohair post

After serving nearly three years as executive director of the Mohair Council of America, Duery Menzies announced that he would step down on Jan. 23 to pursue other interests. His resignation is effective April 30.

Menzies, formerly of Fredericksburg, when hired told council officials that he would work three years. That time is up on May 1.

Lanny Leinweber of Mountain Home, the council's newly elected president, said a search for Menzies' successor would begin next month. Menzies has agreed to stay through May or June if the search for his replacement is not complete. He did not reveal his future plans, but will continue to maintain ranching interests in Menard County.

Despite slow demand for mohair fiber in the marketplace and low prices, Menzies said the 31-year-old organization has certain strengths to carry it through hard times.

"You (members) and your ideas are the strength of this industry," he said. "The second strength is the employees you have working for you."

Leinweber said the executive director manages the day-to-day operation of the council which conducts mohair market and promotion programs on an international basis. It also conducts educational programs and provides scholarships and assistance to students of the country's leading textile and fashion design institutes.

Persons interested in applying for the executive director's position should send resumes to the Mohair Council, P.O. Box 5337, San Angelo, Texas, 76902. Menzies' successor should have a knowledge of mohair production and the Angora goat industry, having an understanding of the fashion industry and have knowledge about international trade and be able to make routine trips to Europe, the Far East and the United Kingdom.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

The most revered early leaders of our country were largely responsible for the freedom, and secure lifestyle that we enjoy. They had to deal with many conflicts and crises, both national and international, but managed to win victories for our people. They were religious men who relied on God's guidance for every major decision they were called upon to make at one time or another. George Washington was one of these leaders. . .perhaps the most revered. . .

We would do very well to follow their example. . .to seek God's guidance for the major decisions that we all have to make at one time or another; as well as to thank Him for our blessings.

As we honor George Washington on his birthday, let us also honor the great early leaders of our great country and do the best we can to emulate them in our daily lives.

Medina

We failed to mention the 69th anniversary of Audrey and Carl Blackstock on Feb. 4 and at the Valentine party given at the Baptist church they won the prize of being married the longest! Congratulations. Young people could learn something from you two on "how to make it last."

• Tense Norton and her daughter and year-old grandson, Anita and Connor Bechtel, recently paid a visit to relatives in the area coming from California. Eugene and Ruth Keese of Kerrville and Eva Jean Keese and Kay and Pam Keese of Medina were some of the relatives visited by them.

• Plan ahead to attend the next garden club meeting on Mar. 13 and listen to the guest speaker, Billy Walker of Bandera do a program on "Bluebirds." He's hoping to have nesting boxes available and will tell everyone where and how to place them. Those birds were facing extinction on the east coast until so many took an active interest luring them back and providing nesting places for them.

• Speaking of gardening, do many of you notice the nice colorful arrangement placed at the Oak Rest Cemetery entrance as you pass by or enter into the cemetery? Well, Lu Stokes is the sole lady responsible for that and she manages to change the arrangement with the seasons and never says a word or complains about younger ones not offering to take the task over. Just to let you know, Lu, we all appreciate you immensely. She even gets King to help mow occasionally and that's really going the extra mile. Thanks, Lu.

• Rumor has it that Sissy Garrison is looking for a baby sitter, come fall. Paul III is walking around with a big grin on his face and Casey is thinking of moving in with John if it turns out to be a whole litter. This sounds as if it could turn into a daytime soap. Hmmmm?

• After that horrible photo that the editor put in the paper last week of me I am going to Costa Rica for a face lift (I hear it is the cheapest place to go for one) and perhaps liposuction of the body also, while I'm at it.

Tourism Talks...

[illegible] promised you some numbers [illegible] Bandera County and how the County compares with other tourist centers in the Hill Country. We have to go back a [illegible] our exact figures. The 1995 figures show travel/tourism expenditures in Bandera County totaled $34.81 million, that's $34,810,000.00. In fact, out of the 254 Texas counties, Bandera ranked 80th. Bandera county is only six places and 6.8 percent below Gillespie County which includes Fredericksburg, one of the major tourism hot spots in the Hill Country. Although agriculture is still the number one revenue producer for the county, tourism is running a very close second and closing the gap.

If you read The Bulletin last week you may have come across the article, "County Sales Tax Rebate Totals 'Continue to Decline." If you didn't take the time to read all the article and crunch some of the numbers it read all "gloom and doom." To quote "The City of Bandera received $24,487.79 this period, which is a 52.65 percent increase over the same period last year. Bandera County received $24,899.68 for the period, a 10.25 percent decrease for the same period last year." Sounds bad for the county doesn't it? Not really! Even though there was a 10.25 percent decrease in the county, it amounts to only $1,550.00 as compared to 52.65 percent, or $8,446 increase in the city of Bandera. This amounts to an overall plus of $6,896. To take this a step farther this $6,896 amounts to approximately 8.75 percent (Bandera sales tax) of the total dollars spent. By using our 5th grade math, we can see that the remaining 91.25% comes out to a plus $62,926 for the overall county.

If we truly consider this a decline—Bandera County can live and prosper on "declines."

This dollar increase shows [illegible] our continued promotion of tourism is working. Due to '96 drought [illegible] affected [illegible] tourism, it affected everything, [illegible] tions Bandera not only stayed on the plus side, but gained ground.

[illegible] to pass along. Last week an old friend of many years came into my office and sheepishly said "I think you're writing your column directly at me." That definitely was not the case. As he continued on, "you know that I retired and went into the RV repair business just to have something to do. When I started there just wasn't much RV work in Bandera County. That was back in the 80's. Now I have more business than I can take care of and I never seem to have any time off. Even though I agree with the column, why should I join the Chamber? I don't want any more business."

It was at that point I had to put in my two bits worth. "When you [illegible] Winter Texans considered [illegible] a destination? How much promotion was done to attract the RV market?" I answered my own questions, [illegible] Chamber and the C.V.B. which with years of marketing, has created this market."

I found out later he immediately joined the Chamber and offered to help with the upcoming "Winter Texan Appreciation Party." Thanks a bunch, Hal!

You don't need to join for the sole purpose of gaining more business, but to say thanks for the progress and for the continual promotion in the tourism market. This will apply to a lot of folks in a lot of markets. Again—if the shoe fits, wear it.

the couple to build an RVers dream park.

The Stagecoach RV Park currently has 31 spacious spots with 19 more being added. A recreation hall is under construction and will feature many activities, a fireplace, plus laundry, showers and kitchen facilities.

The original property was seven acres, and the Reddens purchased seven more adjoining acres which include a pond. They plan to stock it with fish and make a fishing hole of it.

"We looked at a lot of parks and one of the things we liked about this one was the roomy lots," Julie claimed. "Of course, we like Bandera, that was the number one reason."

The park used to be the Lazy Oaks RV Park.

The new owners say that RVers are wonderful people.

"Ninety-nine percent of RVers are nice people," Mike said. "They are happy people."

The renovations are costing the couple a pretty penny, but they say it is worth it.

"If you are going to do something, do it right," Julie stated. "Everything here is first class."

All of the work - the landscaping and building - is being done by local people. That includes the cozy, cedar building that houses the office and where folks can find free coffee and donuts, and the daily San Antonio paper.

"We believe in giving back to the community," she said.

And having something look right, is important to the Reddens.

"This is one of the first things people see when they come to Bandera," Mike said, "so we want it to look nice."

On March 29 the park will have its grand opening, and everybody is invited. Live music, a barbecue, and entertainment is just some of what is planned. The new rec center will be open and ready for inspection.

"We are just trying to have a nice, friendly place you can call home," Julie said.

For more information, call the Reddens at 796-4339.

Letters to the Editor

Statistical averages can mislead us

Dear Editor:

This correspondence is in reference to the Feb. 5 issue of The Bandera Bulletin "Check the Figures" written by Tom Nate of Medina As Superintendent of Medina ISD, I agree with Mr. Nate on one aspect of his letter when he urged local tax payers to attend board meetings and to understand school finance.

The first issue which I need to address is how Medina ISD is able to "overspend $731,559." With a property tax rate of $1.05 per $100 valuation, Medina ISD has one of the lowest rates in the state. In fact, Medina ISD tax rate, when compared-to other Texas school districts, is in the bottom 3%, which leaves more than 97% of the school districts in the state possessing rates above Medina's. The average school tax rate is $1.42. Thus, in essence, Medina ISD manages its finances exceedingly well to be able to spend $7,809 per student at an extremely low tax rate.

In contrast to previous school years, the 1995-96 district report ing $7,809 per student; what the profile does not indicate is that this large amount is due to approximately $700,000 of the annual budget being designated to construction, non-operating expenditures. Because of the school board and business manager's expertise in handling district funds, Medina is in an admirable position to be able to pay for construction without having to pass a bond issue, as indicated by the fact that our $1.05 tax rate is 100% M&O (maintenance & operation), with a $0.00 I&S (interest & sinking) tax rate. When construction costs are subtracted, our operational expenditures per student compare well to other districts.

In reference to salaries at Medina ISD, the facts are stated here. Medina ISD pays state base, whereas Bandera ISD pays $500 above base for teachers with bachelor's degrees and $1,000 above for masters.

Medina ISD's average teacher salary is above that of Bandera teacher in Medina has more years of experience than the average teacher in Bandera." In addition, though individual campus principals in Medina have lower salaries than principals in Bandera, the average administrative salary for Medina is higher. The reason is because the average salary of $41,704 for Medina is the average for two campus head principals, since Medina has no assistant principals. On the contrary, the average Bandera salary of $38,786 is for campus head principals and all assistant principals. These averages do not include central office administrative salaries.

In conclusion, Medina ISD is doing a superb job of providing a quality education to the students of Medina ISD, thanks to the school board, faculty, and community. The support and conscientiousness of all of these people results in a quality school district with above average annual academic ratings, a well below average tax rate, and a financially strong reputation.

Gary D. Ott
Medina ISD Superintendent

Lost Iron

When old Fort Territt, at the head of the North Llano river, was being built in 1858, supplies were hauled there from San Antonio, the main route passing through Bandera Pass.

Jack Farrell was a government teamster and had charge of a wagon train hauling these supplies to Ft. Territt, and on one occasion while making the trip over this route the roads were very heavy from recent rains, and when he reached Bandera Pass the road was so boggy he had to unload a cargo of bar iron that was being taken to the frontier post to be used in making horseshoes and for other blacksmith work. They intended to get the iron on a later trip but when they returned the iron could not be located. It may be there to this day.

Harder to count blessings at 70 mph

Dear Editor:

I was in the insurance field for 27 years. Many times I heard responsible drivers exclaim about high premiums only to have an accident that generated thousands in claims the same year.

An accident is a sudden unforeseen happening! At 70 miles an hour it can be a very bad happening. Two cars on a road like Hwy. 16 with no median approach each other and one makes a mistake. Does the fact that one is a responsible driver help?

One person on a cell phone, putting on makeup, reading, lighting a cigarette, or looking into the back seat to speak to a passenger and 200 yards flash by in one second as they meet at 70 m.p.h.

Take a calculator and see how little time you save at 70 instead of 60. Also, how often have you passed a car at San Antonio Ranch only to have that car pull alongside you at one of the lights in the Helotes area?

Instead of counting driveways on Hwy. 16, count your blessings that you live in the Bandera/Pipe Creek area. Instead of minutes, consider a lifetime as a cripple.

Water law all wet?

Dear Editor:

Citizens of Texas at last seem to be turning their interest to water. The well-written report by our editor of The Bulletin, Feb. 12, Page 8A, called attention to the prime concern of the Texas Legislature agenda and touched some exposed nerves.

A new state official, having authority equal to the Lord Himself, will be created. This official will be known as "watermaster", if Senate Bill 1, sponsored by Senator J.E. "Buster" Brown, manages passage in both houses.

Studies of various water problems have cost the area citizens $2,000,000 in the past seven or so years, and the problems have increased considerably. The fear is that the "watermaster" will not solve any problem either. (His only intellectual requirements for the job seemingly rests on his ability to write citations and drive a Crown Victoria, if he should live in Bandera County.)

Maybe the sponsors of SB #1 can manage some nice grants to the BMA and the dozen or so other water study groups, too.

Harry B. Harris
Bandera, Texas

ed. note: Actually, the watermaster program has been in place for some time in South Texas. SB 1 proposes to expand the program and give the watermaster law enforement powers.

February Moments

by Cyndi Wright, staff writer

Isn't winter over yet??? I am not comfortable flying [illegible] getting goosebumps!

I was surprised and heartened by the response to last week's column. I found out that there are many mothers out there who suffer from GMS. And some single dads, too!

If you were a fan of Erma Bombeck, and I was a huge one, you won't want to miss reading "Forever Erma," a compilation of some of her favorite columns. At the end is several moving tributes (I cried) from her family and friends. She had such a wonderful sense of humor about being a mother, and an imperfect one at that.

Just like me!

Occasionally, when I have written some irreverent thing about my child I get letters from these "perfect" mothers (unsigned, of course!) who tell me that children are a wonderful, miraculous gift and that I am being so callous toward my child.

Oh, get a life! If you can't have a sense of humor toward these miraculous gifts that will give you gray hair and a martyr complex before you are 35, then I feel sorry for your children growing up in such a humorless, frigid atmosphere.

My child, as you know, is now a rotten teenager, and the war stories I have heard and poohpoohed (oh, my child will NEVER be like that) are true. Sorry to have to be the one to break the news to all the new mothers out there! Enjoy the terrible twos! They are a minicourse to be stored away for future use. They are nothing compared to the angst of adolescence!

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Every once in awhile we get a letter to the editor that says something along the lines of "you probably won't print this because I know you don't agree with what I have to say."

The letters to the editor section is one of the best read most popular sections of the paper, but don't ever think that the letters printed on this page necessarily express the feelings of anyone on the staff of The Bulletin.

These letters reflect the thoughts and opinions of the letter writers, and quite often those opinions don't come anywhere near ours.

That's why the title at the top of this page is "Opinion."

We like for the letters section to communicate a broad range of ideas on various subjects. Not everyone is going to agree with us about everything we say on this page, so the letters allow different voices from the community to be heard.

We generally print every letter we receive, unless, of course the letter is not signed, or has no address or phone number so that we can verify who sent it.

Occasionally, we get a letter from someone who says, "Do not change a single word of this letter." Those letters, too, usually go into our unprinted letter file. We always reserve the right to edit letters for various reasons. Sometimes letter writers make statements that would get the newspaper sued if we print them. Sometimes the language in the letter doesn't fit our standards of "suitable for family reading." (We hope that those colorful writers just feel better after writing to us!)

Most often, letters get edited and cut because they are too long. When you write a letter to the editor, keep to one subject and keep it short. We set a maximum of 300 words (anything longer, we don't have time to read), but usually a good writer can make his point in much less than that. When we have to edit a letter, we sincerely try to preserve the writer's main idea, but it would be preferable if the writer did that editing himself before he puts the letter in an envelope.

We welcome your views on anything you read in the paper, or see in the community. And you don't have to be angry to write a letter to the editor.

Letters that focus on the positive, relate a local story, or find humor in a situation are all welcome.

Write us sometime!

Keep water flowing in Texas' future

by State Senator J.E. "Buster" Brown and Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock

Water is the lifeblood of our existence, but it is something we tend to take for granted when Mother Nature's been generous. Texans assume water will flow from the tap when they prepare to make a pot of coffee, wash their hands, take a bath, or simply get a cool drink on a warm day.

With the state's population expected to explode over the next 50 years, increasing strains on diminishing supplies, the future holds no guarantee that water will always be readily available in Texas. Heightened environmental concerns and the high costs and red tape necessary for new supplies have made water planning and management difficult. And until recent years, planning from a statewide perspective has proven an exercise in futility.

Not that state water officials and some lawmakers haven't tried. In 1957, the Legislature created the Texas Water Development Board and gave it the authority to develop a state plan. Eleven years later, the TWDB submitted the first plan to the Legislature, but no action was taken. Subsequent plans were submitted to legislators four times between 1984 and 1992, and the results were the same. No action.

We are 40 years behind the times, and we cannot afford to wait any longer. The potential for future crises has been more than evident during the drought still lingering today. Rain or shine, however, experts now warn that without changes in state water policy no area of the state will be immune from water shortage by 2050. It is imperative for Texas to have a comprehensive statewide plan in effect by the turn of the century. Senate Bill 1, which was introduced January 22, will lay the foundation for that plan while providing a diverse blend of strategies to meet future demands.

The legislation proposes action in several general policy areas: drought response management, water management, marketing and transfers, surface and groundwater supplies, financial assistance to local governments and small communities and data collection and dissemination. Texas is a diverse state, and solutions that are appropriate for one region may not be suitable for another. Water availability, economics, geography and environmental issues will determine how policies should be structured for specific areas. With an emphasis on coordination at the local level, we feel Senate Bill1 will provide small cities and towns with a " toolbox" of possible approaches to meet their own unique needs.

Drought management preparedness is an integral part of the legislation, with state assistance possible to local governments that initiate drought response plans. Conservation is one of the most crucial parts of water management, and this is reflected in the bill. The bill envisions a statewide network to coordinate the exchange of information among basins in the state for nearly a century. More than 80 agreements are in effect now.

Even though complacency often sets in when drought gives way to good rains, Texans still take their water very seriously. As a result, there will be many diverse opinions as the debate unfolds, but we must remain committed to finding common ground. That is the nature of compromise—but there is no compromise with nature. Studies show that by 2010 about 15 percent of projected urban demands in Texas will go unmet without reasonable measures in place. As a consequence, the Texas economy stands to lose between $25 billion to $40 billion annually.

Every Texas resident has a stake in this legislation. Regional cooperation is necessary. We want to hear from all walks of life, from farmers and ranchers, business people, local officials, environmentalists and individual Texans. A unified front is necessary to overcome barriers and to raise the public awareness about the need for a coordinated state plan. The bill seeks to reinforce the belief that clean, abundant water should be a guarantee in Texas—not an uncertain luxury.

As Ben Franklin said, "You don't know the worth of water until the well is dry."

Let's not let Texas wells go dry.

Basic Bandera

This week, we had planned to [illegible] Peggy Tabb, [illegible] 460-4420 [illegible] cheering for the fat inch of rain received over the hill country and congratulating the TV weather fellers for being right for once. Now we may worry for those [illegible] coming off the Pacific to keep Texas alive, we proceed to the question on the minds of many—staying alive on Hwy. 16.

Because we're late getting the weekly words in to our editor, we have a chance to make immediate comment on a letter in the Feb. 12 Bulletin insisting on the value to commuters, time-wise, of the 70 m.p.h. speed limit posted last fall on local highways.

It's true that most of the working populace out here has to work in San Antonio, Kerrville, or even Hondo, with only a few who can operate on-line or build cedar furniture in the barn able to make a living right here. We all know that raising livestock can be only a hobby or an excuse for an ag. exemption on property taxes.

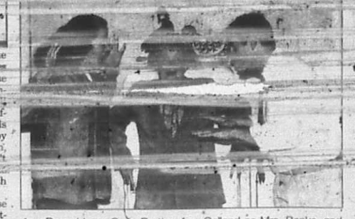
Younger members of this columnist's family are still commuting to the city to work or school. The Geologist made the daily trip into downtown San Antonio back in the forties and fifties when old Sweet Sixteen wound around like the road to Medina, and was never late to work. For the twenty-five years after 1970, he drove the improved road at 55 and was never late to work, getting up at the same time as ever and ferrying kids to school in Bandera before hitting the main road to downtown.

Driving fast is fun and gives one an illusory sense of power and control, but driving fast does not necessarily save time. We can't think of any political connections we have at the moment to help in thinking about this; but we do know The Geologist, who can do arithmetical calculations in his head and on paper. He has come up with the following figures:

Let's say you are driving the approximately 10 miles from the yellow light at Pipe Creek to the beginning of the divided four-lane just past Park Road 37. At 70 mph you are going one and 17 hundredth miles per minute versus only one mile per minute at 60. You therefore save one and 7 tenths minutes driving ten miles at the higher rate of speed, assuming of course that you don't hit a deer, don't come up suddenly on a bicycle rider in the middle of the lane, nor have to stop for the school bus.

Meeting none of the above-mentioned obstacles—or all the possible others—you can save three and 4 tenths minutes driving 20 miles at 70 or six and 8 tenths minutes driving 40 miles. (Wow! Almost seven extra minutes watching the Today Show in the kitchen!) But:

There are those mean-spirited citizens with kids in car seats who won't enjoy the comparative safety of turning on to 16 at a yellow caution light. They have the selfish idea that they deserve to be able to enter the highway from their ranch roads or country roads without undue [illegible] from the creek or around the difficult curve. Those craven souls may not be able to see the zippy little car in time to pull back in, and the zippy little car won't avoid a hideous collision. Crash bang. EMS! Air Life?



We're all very impatient these days and cutting it too close getting to work and getting to the post-office and back. Why? Didn't we decide to come to the country to escape at least some of the frenetic rush to the city? Don't we need, despite pressures, to collect our thoughts and save our souls?

Our sane friend, The Geologist, says he used to savor the hour's drive into SA every morning, aware of the morning mist over the Geronimo hills—and the drive back seeing the sunset over Town Mountain and Quihi Pass. He wasn't constantly being tail-gated by sassy little cars or harassed by pickups illegally zooming past on right shoulder. Now he is.

Robles keeps family tradition

City police officer Shannon Robles will work with D.A.R.E. officer Mike Bolton to reach and teach Bandera's youth.

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

Shannon Robles, the new full-[illegible] says that working in law enforcement is in her blood.

"I've wanted to be a police officer all my life," she explained.

The tall, pretty blond has multiple family members in law enforcement, including her father, a former New York State police officer, and relatives in the F.B.I., and Las Vegas Police Department.

"Seeing my father in uniform, seeing how sharp he was and how effective he was contributed to my decision," Robles said. "Also, it was knowing that as an officer you have the opportunity to present law enforcement to people in a positive manner."

Her husband Roger is a vice detective with the San Antonio Police Department. The couple have two children, and currently live in Helotes, although they are building a house in Pipe Creek.

Robles has been a police officer for six years, having graduated from Alamo Area Council of Government Police Academy in 1990.

The new officer will work in community policing, a relatively new area for officers that she says there is a need for.

"People have lost some respect over the years for law enforcement," Robles said, citing the Rodney King beating as an example.

"We need to let people know of the positive aspects. Police officers need to be positive role models."

In her capacity with the Bandera Police Department, Robles will concern herself with working with the public in family violence, domestic circumstances, and many facets of life, including children and the aged.

Although Robles feels that men and women both contribute equally to a well-functioning police department, she says women have a special role.

"There is a need for women," she explained. "They can see both sides, and they have a motherly instinct to work with children. As a woman, I think we are a little more sensitive to many situations, such as domestic violence. Law enforcement has become more open to hiring women."

"Police officers need to be positive role models."
--Shannon Robles

Robles definition of community policing includes being an effective law enforcement agent and also a community relations officer.

"It's going out into the public and promoting a positive relationship between the law enforcement community and the general public," she said.

Her goals include looking after senior citizens and children.

"I plan to incorporate a sense of security for the elderly and to show the young adults there are other venues, as far as being able to go out and do positive things for the community."

To that end, Robles is working closely with sheriff's deputy and D.A.R.E. Officer Mike Bolton. Soon she will attend a class called G.R.E.A.T. sponsored by the Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau.

The acronym stands for Gang Resistance Education and Training, and Robles plans to work with the Bandera Middle School students.

"I want to reach the children and let them know there are alternatives other than drinking and drugs," she said.

Some Good News for the Members of Bandera Electric Cooperative, Inc.

With the most recent cost-of-living index showing a steady annual increase for goods and services of approximately 3 percent, it's comforting to know that the price of some things are going down.

Last October, Bandera Electric Cooperative's board of directors selected one of three new wholesale rate options offered by its wholesale supplier of electricity, the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA), which became effective January 1, 1997. The selection of this new wholesale rate has already resulted in a savings of $193,175.64 on the cooperative's January power bill. This savings is being passed on directly to the members of Bandera Electric, as will all others that will be received in the future. The savings on each member's monthly electric bill is reflected in the reduced power cost recovery factor (PCRF). The December 1996 PCRF was .0418 and this January's was reduced to .0283, primarily as a result of the LCRA rate option which was selected by Bandera Electric Cooperative's board of directors.

BE MY VALENTINE--Amanda Miller and Jimmy Monroe, students at Alkek Elementary entertain Clark House resident Gertrude Reavis during a recent visit for Valentine's Day.

County looking at legality of right-of-way signs

COUNTY If you own a business in Bandera County, you might think that placing a sign in a road right-of-way would be the ideal place to advertise your location and services. You would be wrong.

The placement of a business sign in a county road right-of-way brought residents of Rio Hondo Subdivision off of FM 470 to Commissioners Court Wednesday to share their concerns about the appearance of their subdivision.

Central to their concerns was a sign erected by the Yellow Rose Ranch near the intersection of FM 470 and Rio Hondo Road.

"We're concerned about how the entrance to our subdivision looks," said Rio Hondo Homeowners Association secretary Louise Dorang.

The sign, which is approximately 2x3 feet in size, advertises the guest ranch owned by John Roncagalli. The sign is placed outside a ranch fence and parallel to Rio Hondo Road.

There is some question as to whether the sign is on private property or on state or county right-of-way.

"It will probably require a survey to determine whose property the sign is on," said Pct. 4 Commissioner Nancy Thompson. Thompson said that it is possible that the sign could be on state highway right-of-way from FM 470. But because the Rio Hondo Road became a county road before the current 60-foot right-of-way requirement for county roads became effective, the sign may be on private property, even though it is outside a ranch fence.

Some Rio Hondo residents are worried that the business sign may be a bad sign for the future.

"We bought in the area for the privacy and solitude," said property owner Monty Montgomery. "Now a commercial venture has set up here."

Other homeowners said they were looking at the future, wondering if the Yellow Rose sign would attract the signs of other businesses to the location.

Rio Hondo resident Jake Allen said that he thought the sign was attractive and it looked like the Yellow Rose was going to be a very quiet concern.

County Judge Richard Evans told the citizens that the state law says a person cannot put a sign in a public right-of-way without the permission of the state. All such signs are illegal.

County Auditor Tommy Tomlinson informed the court that the county could not be financially responsible to pay for a survey in this case.

The Rio Hondo homeowners did not express any enthusiasm for paying for a survey if one should prove necessary.

The Commissioners Court voted to try to determine whose property the sign is on and then get a written opinion from County Attorney Kerry Schneider regarding the matter.

"We are listening to the people and looking at the situation and the law. We will address this according to the law," said Thompson.

Commissioners look at litter law definition

COUNTY [illegible] Grady Desmukes asked Bandera County Commissioners for a determination of the definition of a public highway during the county's regular session Wednesday, Feb. 12.

Desmukes has been asked by litter abatement law enforcement officer Larry Foraker to [illegible] the litter law should not be applicable to him.

Constable Ernie Reich said the definition of a public highway is the key to applying the law to the public for vehicular traffic."

The litter law is applicable to trash and litter that are visible from a public place or within 50-feet of a public highway, said Foraker.

The court voted to get a written opinion from County Attorney Kerry Schneider on the definition as it applies to Desmukes' easement before taking any further action.

In other business, the court:

• Approved the 1997 Service Contract between Bandera County and the Bandera County Convention and Visitors Bureau.

• Approved the purchase of [illegible] the request of the Lakehills EMS Support Team, three road easements located in Avalon Ranch that join the EMS helipport to March 12.

• Accepted for county maintenance the roads in Deer Field Subdivision in Pct. 2 as requested by Randall Courtney.

• Refused to grant use of the Lakehills Courthouse Annex to [illegible]

• Accepted a bid from TMS Electrical for $410 for the installation of additional lighting over the judge's bench in the courtroom. The work will be funded with money from the courthouse security fund.

• Approved an engineering study of the structural stability of the Old County Courthouse building on Twelfth St. which houses Justice of the Peace offices on the first floor and the County Treasurer's office upstairs. The building, which is over 100 years old, has developed cracks and loose flooring in recent weeks. A preliminary laser survey showed no immediate danger, but the engineer recommended a more complete survey. The additional study of the ceiling joists and floor beams will cost $2100. Funding for the study will come from very limited surplus funds. "We're between a rock and hard place," said County Judge Richard Evans. "A familiar position for us." The continuing drought may be contributing to shifting foundations of old buildings in Bandera County. The county court has just recently been informed of widening cracks in the walls of the Old Jail Building, housing the offices of Springhills Water Management District.

Explosion forces repair of 30-year-old courthouse heating/cooling units

COUNTY An explosion in the heating system at the Bandera County Courthouse in late January forced County Commissioners to part with more of the county's limited funds during their regular session Wednesday, Feb. 12. And the age of the system convinced commissioners to approve extensive repairs.

"I think we need to bite the bullet and go for the whole package because of the safety factor," said Commissioner Jim Mormando. Mormando recommended the court accept a bid for a little over $4,000 to repair not only the defective heat source but an adjoining unit and the air conditioning coils as well.

The two furnaces were installed over 30 years ago and the wind had been blowing the pilot light out on one of the units, allowing gas to accumulate.

The Bandera County Courthouse was rocked by a mini-explosion on Tuesday, Jan. 28, when the faulty gas heater in the ceiling of the ground floor blew up.

The $4,000 repair bill will just about wipe out the county's contingency fund, said County Judge Richard Evans.

When asked if courthouse employees are safe, Executive Assistant Doyle Haner replied that the faulty unit has been turned off.

Mormando pointed out that heating season is just about over and the repairs could be budgeted for in next year's budget.

Haner said that during a recent cold spell employees brought space heaters to work and the fuses blew.

Reflecting on tight county finances, Mormando said, "This poses a real dilemma...because we cannot afford any damage to this courthouse."

"We were lucky this time," said Evans.

Commissioners debated whether to just repair the faulty unit or repair both units, and also replace the air conditioning coils. The cost of the labor to lower the units from the ceiling encouraged the court to opt for more extensive repairs while the elderly units were down.

cials," said Welch. In fact, two of the officials concerned, commissioner Bud Thompson and county judge Ray Mauer have died.

For 1997, Welch will be adjusting the elected officials' March paychecks to reflect a retro-active withholding of the proper taxes from each paycheck.

Classifying the travel allowance as income may also require some adjustments to the current county budget to allow for the correct amount of FICA, retirement and unemployment insurance to be withheld. That should add up to about $3,000 additional dollars for the year, said Welch.

County auditor Tommy Tomlinson recommended that those adjustments be made at a later date, since sufficient money to cover the unforeseen expense may become available as the county moves further into the budget year.

Welch said the IRS audit was fairly pleasant. "They were not coming to hang anybody, just to let people know what the rules are," said Welch, "and they were targeting the Hill Country area this year."

Other than the travel allowance discrepancy, the county treasurer's office had to send out some W9's, which record taxpayer ID numbers, to a few vendors that were not on file, to fully meet the IRS standards.

IRS audit taps county purse

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Bandera County had to come up with $4,108 in an already tight budget to cover both the employer and employee contributions for FICA and Medicare for last year following an audit by the IRS recently.

County Treasurer Kay Welch delivered the bad news to county commissioners at their regular session Wednesday, Feb. 12.

IRS auditor Todd Weidner was running a 1099 compliance audit on the county when he questioned the way the county was reporting travel expenses for some county elected officials.

The county had been paying the travel allowance as a vendor check to reimburse the officials for travel expenses, which showed up on the county's 1099 reports. According to Weidner, that was an improper handling of the travel allowances.

"Because the county has a non-accountable plan, the payments have to be reported as income," said Welch.

The county judge and each commissioner gets $400 a month for travel allowance; county extension agent Warren Thigpen gets $450; county extension Jana Osbourne gets $400; the county clerk gets $75 and the treasure and the tax assessor-collector each get $85 per month.

An accountable plan would require mileage and other records to be turned in for reimbursement, but none of the elected officials turn in records, explained Welch.

Because the audit came late in the tax year, the county had to pay both the employer and the employee portions of the FICA and Medicare fees.

"The county's outside auditor, Keith Neffendorf, advised that it would be almost impossible to collect from the individual offi-

Winter Texans bring economic boost to Bandera County

An ark of an RV park

by Cyndi Wright

Looking for something to do with the kids on a Saturday afternoon that is fun and inexpensive? How about a trip to an exotic petting zoo?

Mike and Julie Redden, owners of the recently-opened Stagecoach RV Park on Hwy. 16 south of Bandera, have installed a petting zoo featuring such animals as fallow deer, llamas, miniature donkeys and pygmy goats.

The animals are friendly and love attention, the Reddens say.

"Especially the deer, they will love you to death," Julie said.

The Reddens are old hands at exotic animals, having bred and raised them for 15 years before retiring and deciding to travel.

Jean Clarkston, winter Texan from Michigan, enjoys the petting zoo at Stagecoach RV Park on Hwy. 16.

The two sold their home and business and became full-time RVers, before deciding to open their own RV Park in the Texas Hill Country.

"It's hard to find a park that is really nice," Mike said. "We wanted to have a park that we would want to go to."

Party time

The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce, along with area campground owners, hosts the 6th Annual Winter Texan Appreciation Party at the Cabaret Club, Wednesday, Feb. 26, at 6:30 p.m.

Plenty of food, music and door prizes let winter visitors know how much they are appreciated in Bandera County.

Registered guests at the following campgrounds will be given free tickets courtesy of their campground owner: Cowboy Capital RV, Jellystone RV, Riverside RV, Stagecoach RV, Skyline Ranch RV, Farm Country RV, and 5C Ranch RV.

Others wishing to attend may purchase tickets in advance at the Bandera Chamber of Commerce office for $4.00. Tickets at the door will be $5.00.

"Come out and get acquainted with our winter visitors," said a chamber spokesperson.

Holiday shoppers, winter Texans bring local sales tax rebates up

After several months of declining sales tax rebates, the holiday season brought rebate totals up for Bandera County retailers. The state comptroller delivered a total of $260.8 million in monthly sales tax payments to 1,088 Texas cities and 117 counties and noted that the December shopping season was indeed a busy one for many Texas retailers.

Bandera County received $23,530.94 in rebates for February, a 31.76 percent increase over the same period last year. That indicates a 12.24 percent improvement in 1997 payments to date for the county over 1996 payments for the same period.

This month's payments to Texas cities and counties include sales taxes collected by monthly filers at the height of holiday shopping in December and reported to the comptroller in January, plus quarterly returns for sales in October, November and December, and all yearly filings for 1996. The late fall and early winter collections include sales to winter Texans who spend the cold season in Bandera County.

"The holiday shopping spirit was clearly evident across Texas, as retailers around the state rang up increased sales which surpassed earlier expectations," State Comptroller John Sharp said.

Rebates for the city of Bandera also continued on the upswing, with a net payment this period of $35,779.59 to the city. That is a 64.99 percent increase over the payment for the same period last year. Payments to date for 1997 show a 59.74 percent increase over the same period last year.

Statewide, rebates to Texas counties were up 8.3 percent over February 1996 allocations.

San Antonio sales tax allocations for February was $13.1 million, up 12.3 percent over the February 1996 payment of $11.6 million. Year-to-date, San Antonio has received an 8.7 percent increase in local sales tax payments.

Bandera's Baskets and Bunnies provides plenty of Easter joy

Joy and Bandera's Baskets and Bunnies is busy getting ready to make traditional Easter baskets for Bandera County's less fortunate children.

Baskets and Bunnies was a way to honor her mother, who passed away in 1979.

"As a child, I remember my mother making baskets for families in need," Welch said. "Our goal this year is to make 100 baskets."

Last year, 100 baskets were made with the help of 15-20 volunteers.

The traditional Easter baskets contain colors, coloring book, bubbles, toys, a book and candy. Also included is either a stuffed animal, fashion doll, car or truck.

"The candy and some small prizes are put in plastic eggs, so the kids can enjoy playing hide and seek," Welch explained.

Volunteers from various clubs, as well as individuals, have joined the project. Helpers will be assembling the baskets on Thursday, March 6 at the Silevr Sage Corral. Helping Hands and other volunteers will assist in the distribution of the baskets throughout the county.

Welch says one of the beautiful things about Baskets and Bunnies is its simplicity.

"There is no red tape and no paperwork," she said. "There are no qualifications, like a certain income level. They just have to be in need, or maybe having a hard time right now."

Baskets and Bunnies donation jars can be found all over Bandera, and Welch says that every little bit helps.

Jars are at Shoe Biz, Gingerbread House, Two Sisters Candy Ranch, Hair Unlimited, Country Accents, Lost Valley Resort and Pro Shop, Janett's Western Wear, Busbee's BBQ, Braun Drug and the Cabaret.

"If someone knows of someone in need, they can call me," Welch said. "This project has grown because the people of Bandera County care."

To donate time or money, or to recommend someone for a basket, call Welch at 460-7458.

BRINGING JOY - Brittney Coffey, 7, and Charlene Johnstone, 8, hope to make sure that every child in Bandera County has a happy Easter by contributing to the Baskets and Bunnies donation jar. Brittney's parents are Patricia and Lester Coffey, while Charlene's parents are Lori Johnstone and Charlie Cole, all of Bandera.

Over the Back Fence

Hi y'all! Well the cold dreary weather is still with us. Now the Wildlife boat preparing for getting out on the lake (what's left of it) and doing their thing. We hear the fishing is decent out there if you stay clear of the [illegible] can take cold and, we can take wet, but combined wet and cold and dreary get us down. We about froze [illegible] worming in our shirt. Things [illegible] can't complain too much about the heat in the summer.

Friday will be Valentine's Day. Have you gotten something for your love? We usually forget till the last minute. Maybe we can get into Heather's print shop program and fix up something. Or maybe a rose bush to plant out in the yard.

• Friday we went to the funeral for a very good friend and past County Judge, Ray Mauer. The standing room only church service and endless procession was one testimony to how folks felt about Ray. We still cannot believe he is gone, as he was always an ageless person. He should be here always. Our deepest sympathies to Iris, David, Sandy and all the rest of the family.

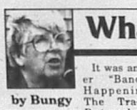
• We are going to speak to the ladies auxiliary for MLVFD, along with Ronnie Smith, President, about our fee system. We have been getting quite a few checks coming even before sending out our letters. The ladies have some questions to ask so they can campaign for our cause.

• Spring must not be too far away, as Kenie and Louis are [illegible] seen in years.

Well, this being a slow news week and loads of work calling us means we have to sign off now. We hope you all have a rosy Valentine's and we will be looking for you over the back fence.

Celts meeting

The United Celtic Society will hold its first organizational meeting on Feb. 15, 1997, at the Fiesta Park Days Inn, 11790 West IH 10 in San Antonio, at 8 p.m. The Society is being established to promote, preserve and proliferate the customs, traditions and heritage of the Celtic People.



It is the intent of the society to accomplish their purpose by being a kind of Chamber of Commerce for existing Celtic societies and to establish some new ones.

The convenor of this group is Drum Major Edgar T. Macintyre, former Chieftain of the United Scottish Society.

Valentine's Anniversary Party
REMEMBER...
MARK and HELEN HOPE TO SEE ALL OF YOU THERE!

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

It was another "Bandera Happening." The Trading Post reached its 50 year mark and threw itself a grand party Saturday. Ranch Radio had their sound truck out in front, broadcasting their afternoon show from "The Cowboy Capital." Inside, Linda Allen and the Roadrunners were wowing the crowds of local and tourist well-wishers. In fact, the locals all came dressed up in their smartest western duds—ready for this party, and they were even dancing down the aisle, between the clothes racks! There were lots of good eats and refreshments, too. Here's to another 50 years, y'all!

Have you been out to see the "Waldorf Astoria" of Bandera yet? I'm talking about "Abundare Ranch" which was the old Stein Ranch, which is now an elegant bed and breakfast. You drive through big stone gates, down through rolling pasture land, where zebras cavort on one side, and buffalo and exotic antelope run and play on the other. Then, you come upon the big old 1902 plantation looking ranch house, with all kinds of cabins and out-buildings with suites, rooms and bunk houses. They can sleep around 40! All the furniture in the main house is antique and polished until it shines. There's even a grand piano. The breakfast room is curved at one end, with millions of bowed windows. Give them a call and go out and take a look. It's a real pleasure.

• The American Legion has a whole new face lift, and is it spiffy. Every Wednesday from 4-10 p.m. they are open to the public for games, cards, dominoes and fun. It's a very casual friendly place to go.

• I think I'm going to have to stop writing this column, because the Chamber of Commerce is doing such a good job with their newsletter! By the way, they get at least 30 requests a month for deer leases, either daily or yearly. So all of you with any times not filled, better give them a call and let them know. And you don't have to be a Chamber member for them to list your ranch, either!

• Have you seen the neat job the stagecoach RV Park is doing with the authentic re-built Kelly Scott stage coach and the cute petting farm? It really gives a boost to Hwy. 16.

• Lots of fun places in Bandera to shop for that special Valentine's surprise. Especially The Two Sisters Candy Ranch in the middle of Main Street. Yum, yum!

• There is a gal who has a Himalayan cat that she taught to eat with a fork. She puts a spoon or fork on it's paw with a Velcro bracelet and it hops up on a chair and commences to dig in! All her family has grown up and moved away, so she got lonely for a dinner companion! Oh!, Brother!

Bulldog's teams bow out of district competition

Although the Bandera varsity Lady Bulldogs took a victory from Ingram 57-47 Friday night, it wasn't enough to get them into the playoffs.

The Lady 'Dogs missed the playoffs by one game.

April Koehler was the high scorer in the contest with 16 points, followed by Carrie Pease with 11 points and Krystal Upchurch with 10.

Koehler led the team in rebounds with 14, while Heidi Hicks had eight and Katie Jennings contributed five.

Hicks, Koehler, and Jennings each had three steals.

The girls finished the season 17-12 overall and 8-4 in district.

The varsity boys lost their last contest of the season against Ingram 73-63 on Friday night at home.

Ingram was on top at the end of each quarter.

Senior starter Nate Moehring was the leading scorer for the boys with 20 points, and 12 rebounds.

Tim Gard scored 16 points, Kevin Ohnheiser added 10 points, Jimmy Stimmel had eight, Kurt Law had five and Jason Garcia had four points.

Law stepped up with seven rebounds, while Jeremy Leland had three assists.

"The team played very hard throughout the game," Coach Steve Kidd said. "Ingram hit four 3-point shots in the first quarter to build a 26-10 lead."

Although the Bulldogs cut the lead to seven in the fourth quarter, the coach said they couldn't get any closer.

Bandera's Baskets and Bunnies provides plenty of Easter joy

BRINGING JOY: Brittney Coffey, 7, and Charlene Johnstone, 8, hope to make sure that every child in Bandera County has a happy Easter by contributing to the Baskets and Bunnies donation jar. Brittney's parents are Patricia and Lester Coffey, while Charlene's parents are Lori Johnstone and Charlie Cole, all of Bandera.

...ney and Bandera's Baskets and Bunnies is busy getting ready to make traditional Easter baskets for Bandera County's less fortunate children.

Baskets and Bunnies was ... a way to honor her mother, who passed away in 1979.

"As a child, I remember my mother making baskets for families in need," Welch said. "Our goal this year is to make 100 baskets."

Last year, 100 baskets were made with the help of 15-20 volunteers.

The traditional Easter baskets contain colors, coloring book, bubbles, toys, a book and candy. Also included is either a stuffed animal, fashion doll, car or truck.

"The candy and some small prizes are put in plastic eggs, so the kids can enjoy playing hide and seek," Welch explained.

Volunteers from various clubs, as well as individuals, have joined the project. Helpers will be assembling the baskets on Thursday, March 6 at the Silevr Sage Corral. Helping Hands and other volunteers will assist in the distribution of the baskets throughout the county.

Welch says one of the beautiful things about Baskets and Bunnies is its simplicity.

"There is no red tape and no paperwork," she said. "There are no qualifications, like a certain income level. They just have to be in need, or maybe having a hard time right now."

Baskets and Bunnies donation jars can be found all over Bandera, and Welch says that every little bit helps.

Jars are at Shoe Biz, Gingerbread House, Two Sisters Candy Ranch, Hair Unlimited, Country Accents, Lost Valley Resort and Pro Shop, Janett's Western Wear, Busbee's BBQ, Braun Drug and the Cabaret.

"If someone knows of someone in need, they can call me," Welch said. "This project has grown because the people of Bandera County care."

To donate time or money, or to recommend someone for a basket, call Welch at 460-7458.

• Friday we went to the funeral for a very good friend and past County Judge, Ray Mauer. The standing room only church service and endless procession was one testimony to how folks felt about Ray. • We are going to speak to the ladies auxiliary for MLVFD, along with Ronnie Smith, President, about our fee system. We have been getting quite a few checks coming even before sending out our letters. The ladies have some questions to ask so they can campaign for our cause.

Country great John Conlee

Country star John Conlee will perform on stage at the Cabaret on Friday, Feb. 28. Pre-event tickets are now on sale at the Bandera club.

There's money to be made by BMA with 8 foot increase in Medina Lake spillway

WATER Blackwell recently presented a report to the board of the Bexar Medina Atascosa Water District realize over $3 million a year in profits by acting on suggestions in the report. Those suggestions included the raising of the spillway by approximately 8 feet, an homeowners.

According to a story in the Jan. 30 issue of the Devine News, the report included the dam stability study performed at the request of the TNRCC, the Bureau of Reclamation technical report evaluating the overall BMA system; the installation of monitoring of the canal metering system sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board, the Public 83-566 project involving the Natural Resource Conservation Service; the Medina Lake Water Balance Study co-sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board,

Metropolitan Water District, the Medina County Water Plan Study being co-sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board and the Trans-Texas Study Group; and the analysis of the possible raising of the Medina Dam spillway with the Bureau of Reclamation.

The dam stability study was Commission (now TNRCC) as a result of two conflicting studies done in the late 1980s and early 1990s. One study was the result of interest by the Edwards Underground Water District in buying Medina Lake water. Very conservative engineering assumptions led to a report that noted several potential flaws in the BMA dams, as well as possible multi-million dollar improvements and modifications needed to the structure.

The conclusions in an earlier study, conducted by Prodek Inc., a company which had negotiated to build hydroelectric generating Dam, conflicted with the EUWD's study.

The Texas Water Commission [illegible] engineering analysis relying upon actual data, not engineering assumptions. Blackwell's analysis was completed in 1993 and found the BMA dams "structurally and hydrologically

But Blackwell told the directors that the question must be kept in mind by any dam owner is not "if the dam fails," but "when will the dam fail." Over time, any structure which is not properly maintained is subject to failure, and as time goes on, the probability of failure due to lack of maintenance also increases, Blackwell told the directors.

Blackwell's report also addressed the BMA's consideration of a plan to raise the spillway at the Medina Lake Dam approximately 8 feet. Raising the spillway height will provide additional storage capacity in would allow BMA to capture those rainfall events when they occur.

Blackwell told the directors that "an improved Medina Dam and big lake valves plus a higher dam and more storage will generate $280,000" for BMA yearly.

Blackwell encouraged the replacement of the 80-year-old valves at Medina Dam. "The Holland Dam below Cotulla collapsed Jan. 1, 1997, and it could happen to Medina Lake if we don't repair the dam," said Blackwell.

Total costs of the various studies since 1990 have been approximately $2 million.

Water bill at the top of legislative list

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Texas Senate continues to work on Senate Bill 1, sponsored by Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown which may produce the most significant changes to Texas water law in decades.

Continuing drought conditions through-out most of the state have put water among the top priorities under consideration by the State Legislature this session.

"So far we're not seeing any change in the right of capture," said Springhills Water Management District General Manager Cameron Cornett in talking about the proposed legislation.

The right of capture has been a cornerstone of Texas water law that gives the owner of the land rights to use the water under his land as long as that use is not wasteful.

SWMD directors have sent a resolution to Bandera County's representatives in Austin expressing their support of keeping the right of capture laws.

Doing away with the right of capture laws could lead to a separation of water-rights from property, just as mineral rights are separate. That might mean that property could be sold while the water rights were retained by the previous owner.

In current Texas water law, separate laws regulate ground (or underground) water and surface water. The state holds the rights to all surface water. The land owner holds the rights to underground water.

SB 1 as it is currently worded will give the watermaster program some teeth, said Cornett. The bill would give the watermaster the authority to issue field citations for violations. The watermaster is a state official who oversees surface water use and permit applications, inspects dams and levies as well as other regulatory duties.

Cornett said that SWMD sees some cause for concern in a trend in the senate bill toward regional management of water programs, possibly doing away with local water districts and the loss of local control.

"The state seems concerned that despite their classification years ago as critical water areas, some counties did not create water districts," said Cornett. In the new legislation, "critical water areas" will be re-classified as "priority groundwater areas."

The proposed legislation requires local water management districts to develop a water management plan.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department expressed their pleasure at being included in a drought planning and monitoring committee in the proposed legislation.

"Historically, Texas water planning has seldom given serious attention to environmental water needs," said a TPWD newsletter. "We have an opportunity to create a new, more conservation-based water policy."

The State Task Force on Texas Nature Tourism reports that tourism is the third largest industry in the state, worth about $23 billion per year, and nature tourism is the fastest growing segment of the tourism industry. "Water for healthy ecosystems is a key factor in maintaining the growth of jobs and dollars from Texas nature tourism," says TPWD.

Since returning to England, they were watching TV one evening and a tour documentary came on. Lo and behold, it featured that big city Bandera, Texas. It showed our Main Street and told about the stores and the many holiday (dude) ranches in the area. The Sauters had to tell friends who saw the program that they knew people from Bandera!

Leibold ranch honored in Austin ceremony

Eddie and Dewitt Leibold of Lakehills recently received a certificate inducting their ranch into the Texas Department of Ariculture's Family Land Heritage Program. The ranch, L Cinco Land, Ltd., has been operated by the family for over 100 years.

The ranch, located on FM 1283, was established in 1892 by Eddie Leibold's great-grandfather, Jon Leibold, who was descended from immigrants from Alsace who settled in Castroville, Texas.

"My great-grandfather was an oxen freighter running between Indianola (on the Texas coast) and San Saba (in Central Texas)," said Eddie Leibold, who reports he learned a lot about his family history while researching the background of his land for the heritage program.

Jon Leibold raised cattle and Percheron horses for farming on the land, building for his family a homestead which still stands on the property.

"My grandfather, E.H. Leibold, added angora goats," said Leibold.

"We still run cattle and have added Spanish goats and continue to farm the fields," said Leibold.

WATER Blackwell recently presented a report to the board of the Bexar Metropolitan Water District, the Medina County Water Plan Study being co-sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board and Trans-Texas Water Study Group, and the analysis of the possible raising of the Medina Dam spillway with the Bureau of Reclamation.

The dam stability study was performed by the engineering firm of Espey, Huston and Associates, Inc. (EHA), under the direction of the Texas Water Commission (now TNRCC) as a result of two conflicting studies done in the late 1980s and early 1990s. One study was the result of interest by the Edwards Underground Water District in buying Medina Lake water. Very conservative engineering assumptions led to a report that noted several potential flaws in the BMA dams, as well as possible multi-million dollar improvements and modifications needed to the structure.

The conclusions in an earlier study, conducted by Prodek Inc., a company which had negotiated to build hydroelectric generating dams, conflicted with the EUWD's study.

The Texas Water Commission engineering analysis relying upon actual data, not engineering assumptions, Blackwell's analysis was completed in 1993 and found the BMA dams "structurally and hydrologically sound."

But Blackwell told the directors that the question to be kept in mind by any dam owner is not "if the dam fails," but "when will the dam fail." Over time, any structure which is not properly maintained is subject to failure, and as time goes on, the probability of failure due to lack of maintenance increases, Blackwell told the directors.

Blackwell's report also addressed the BMA's consideration of a plan to raise the spillway at the Medina Lake Dam approximately 8 feet. Raising the spillway height will provide additional storage capacity in 50,000 acre-feet of water.

According to the Devine News article, while rainfall in the Medina Lake may not support increased annual diversions at those levels, historical rainfall events which have resulted in water overflowing the spillway at the dam indicate that the would allow BMA to capture those rainfall events when they occur.

Blackwell told the directors that "an improved Medina Dam and big lake valves plus a higher dam and more storage will generate $280,000" for BMA yearly.

Blackwell encouraged the replacement of the 80-year-old valves at Medina Dam. "The Holland Dam below Cotulla collapsed Jan. 1, 1997, and it could happen to Medina Lake if we don't repair the dam," said Blackwell.

Total costs of the various studies since 1990 have been approximately $2 million.

homeowners.

According to a story in the Jan. 30 issue of the Devine News, the report included the dam stability study performed at the request of the TNRCC, the Bureau of Reclamation technical report evaluating the overall BMA system; the installation of monitoring of the canal metering system sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board, the Public 83-566 project involving the Natural Resource Conservation Service; the Medina Lake Water Balance Study co-sponsored by the Texas Water Development Board,

Water bill at the top of legislative list

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

The Texas Senate continues to work on Senate Bill 1, sponsored by Sen. J.E. "Buster" Brown which may produce the most significant changes to Texas water law in decades.

Continuing drought conditions through-out most of the state have put water among the top priorities under consideration by the State Legislature this session.

"So far we're not seeing any change in the right of capture," said Springhills Water Management District General Manager Cameron Cornett in talking about the proposed legislation.

The right of capture has been a cornerstone of Texas water law that gives the owner of the land rights to use the water under his land as long as that use is not wasteful.

SWMD directors have sent a resolution to Bandera County's representatives in Austin expressing their support of keeping the right of capture laws.

Doing away with the right of capture laws could lead to a separation of water rights from property, just as mineral rights are separate. That might mean that property could be sold while the water rights were retained by the previous owner.

In current Texas water law, separate laws regulate ground (or underground) water and surface water. The state holds the rights to all surface water. The land owner holds the rights to underground water.

SB 1 as it is currently worded will give the watermaster program some teeth, said Cornett. The bill would give the watermaster the authority to issue field citations for violations. The watermaster is a state official who oversees surface water use and permit applications, inspects dams and levies as well as other regulatory duties.

Cornett said that SWMD sees some cause for concern in a trend in the senate bill toward regional management of water programs, possibly doing away with local water districts and the loss of local control.

"The state seems concerned that despite their classification years ago as critical water areas, some counties did not create water districts," said Cornett. In the new legislation, "critical water areas" will be re-classified as "priority groundwater areas."

The proposed legislation requires local water management districts to develop a water management plan.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department expressed their pleasure at being included in a drought planning and monitoring committee in the proposed legislation.

"Historically, Texas water planning has seldom given serious attention to environmental water needs," said a TPWD newsletter. "We have an opportunity to create a new, more conservation-based water policy."

The State Task Force on Texas Nature Tourism reports that tourism is the third largest industry in the state, worth about $23 billion per year, and nature tourism is the fastest growing segment of the tourism industry. "Water for healthy ecosystems is a key factor in maintaining the growth of jobs and dollars from Texas nature tourism," says TPWD.

Mike Avallone and Kim Wood of the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department have returned after spending the weekend of Feb. 1-2 attending the first half of Fire Fighter I training at Refugio, Texas. Mike and Kim can hardly wait until mid-March when they return for the final training and receive their certificates.

The military vets and retirees of the area will have a meeting Thursday, Feb. 13 at 7 p.m. at the Firehouse. It is hoped that a place and time for future meetings will be decided.

• A special membership meeting has been called for the Lakeshore Volunteer Fire Department for Saturday, Feb. 15 at 2 p.m. This could very well be one of the most important meetings for the department this year. Please attend if at all possible.

• The ladies of the area who meet for lunch one Wednesday a month are no longer the No Name Club. They will be called the Once-a-Month Lunch Bunch. Their next get together is scheduled for Feb. 19 at the Dragon Garden in Bandera. All women of the area are welcome to attend.

• The Lake Medina Shores Property Owners Association will have their general membership meeting on Saturday, Feb. 15 at 10 a.m. at the pavilion.

• Recently, the wife and I received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Sauter from Leicester, England. We met on one of our visits to Las Vegas while investing in one of the slot machines at the Riviera Hotel and Casino.

Since returning to England, they were watching TV one evening and a tour documentary came on. Lo and behold, it featured that big city Bandera, Texas. It showed our Main Street and told about the stores and the many holiday (dude) ranches in the area. The Sauters had to tell friends who saw the program that they knew people from Bandera!

Agriculture Commissioner Rick Perry honors Eddie and DeWitt Leibold of L Cinco Land, Ltd. in Bandera County. The ranch has been operated by the family for 100 years or more and was inducted into the Texas Department of Agriculture's Family Land Heritage Program at a Jan. 24 ceremony in Austin.

Leibold ranch honored in Austin ceremony

Eddie and Dewitt Leibold of Lakehills recently received a certificate inducting their ranch into the Texas Department of Ariculture's Family Land Heritage Program. The ranch, L Cinco Land, Ltd., has been operated by the family for over 100 years.

The ranch, located on FM 1283, was established in 1892 by Eddie Leibold's great-grandfather, Jon Leibold, who was descended from immigrants from Alsace who settled in Castroville, Texas.

"My great-grandfather was an oxen freighter running between Indianola (on the Texas coast) and San Saba (in Central Texas)," said Eddie Leibold, who reports he learned a lot about his family history while researching the backgroud of his land for the heritage program.

Jon Leibold raised cattle and Percheron horses for farming on the land, building for his family a homestead which still stands on the property.

"My grandfather, E.H. Leibold, added angora goats," said Leibold.

"We still run cattle and have added Spanish goats and continue to farm the fields," said Leibold.

It's time for that Oak Wilt Alert to go out again. Just a reminder from now until fall summer is the worst time to prune all oak trees since the spores that can cause new disease are forming now through spring on the Spanish or black jack trees that died last year from oak wilt.

That little sap-feeding beetle that carries the oak wilt fungus is most active in warm weather, therefore any open wound on a healthy tree allows the fungus to invade it and will spread from tree to tree through the root system. So beware.

The oak wilt hotline number is 589-7124.

• The maple trees will be going on sale this week at Love Creek.

• The Oak Rest Cemetery Assoc. will be conducting their annual meeting Feb. 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Garden Center. Your presence is important.

• The t-shirt designs are due by May 5 for the Apple Festival. Let's come up with some great designs for this 10th year.

• Sue Tracy will be the guest speaker on Feb. 13 for the Native Plant Society at 7 p.m. at St. Christophers Episcopal Church in Bandera. The subject will be native ferns of the Texas Hill Country. There will be slides and a display of 9-10 different species native to this region along with how to find, propagate and cultivate them.

• Velma and Perry Casburn returned this week from the Sam Houston trail ride. They took motor home and horses to rendezvous with old friends as they rode from Montgomery, Texas. Perry's family were instrumental in starting that trail ride 42 years ago.

• Doris Jack is back home after a visit with her daughter.

• Clifford Flach is home and improving after his surgery.

Corky Craddock is still in Sid Peterson.

• The old classic car group will be making their annual excursion through this region on Saturday and will be downtown. Might check it out. They love to talk about their cars.

• Don't forget, it's time to put up your martin houses. Those little scouts should be zooming around by this weekend.

Ferns topic for Native Plant

Ferns only grow in moist grottos and tropical rain forests. Right?

Wrong.

Across Texas, a total of 125 species of native ferns are now known (a number exceeded in the United States only by Florida). Surprisingly, the dry Trans-Pecos region boasts the greatest number of ferns, but the Edwards Plateau is not far behind, with at least 35 known species.

These ferns will be the topic of the upcoming meeting of the Native Plant Society on Thursday, Feb. 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church.

Featured speaker will be Susan Tracy of Medina, whose presentation titled "Ferns of the Texas Hill Country" will cover general history and unique characteristics of these ancient plants, as well as specific information on our native ferns. Using slides and plant specimens, she will explain where to look for ferns, how to identify a few common species, how to propagate them, and how to use them in the garden.

The purpose of the Native Plant Society of Texas, a non-profit membership organization, is to promote the conservation, research and utilization of the native flora of Texas, through education, outreach and example. The Bandera chapter meets monthly, featuring diverse programs and field trips. The meetings are open to the public.

Inquiries about membership or local meetings may be made by contacting Doris Uhl, Bandera Chapter president, at 510-6726.

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Great columnist: Betty Lobo

We're quickly approaching Valentine's Day—time for [illegible] and generous volunteers of the Silver Sage Corral.

What better time to schedule our "Valentines for Volunteers dance, socialize and enjoy the great music. The Combo is comprised of The Doc Meador Combo, Doc Beidele, and Bubba Montague. I hope these guys realize that they're very much a part of our volunteer group and we hope to see them at the Tea, p.m. We hereby issue an invitation to this celebration not only to our volunteers, but to everyone in the community who would like to come meet, hug or shake hands with the group of people who are responsible for making the Silver Sage Corral the thriving center of activity that it is today. Without these wonderful folks, we could not offer the many services and activities that play such a vital roll in our community: transportation, meals on wheels, meals at the center, information and assistance for the elderly, classes such as exercise, dancing, singing (the Melodiers), weaving, Spanish classes, ceramics, oil painting, quilting, crochet, penmanship, bridge, etc. Hope to see everyone Friday.

Participation keeps growing at our Second Sunday Socials featuring the Doc Meador Combo. Over 40 fun-loving folks gathered this past Sunday to on March 25 at 2 p.m.

Another "volunteer," who may not realize she is one, is Bandera's own Bungy Hartshorn. Bungy provides impromptu entertainment for our various functions. Do you know anyone else who would have the energy to perform a hula dance, tap dance, Indian dance, or sing a Mexican song at 7 in the morning? We luv ya, Bungy.

We were all saddened by the loss of one of Bandera County's leading citizens who was also a member of the Board of Directors of the Silver Sage, former Judge Ray Mauer. Ray suffered a heart attack on Monday evening, Feb. 3, and never regained consciousness. We extend our deepest sympathy to his wife, Iris, sons, David and Mike, and daughter, Melinda. He will be greatly missed.

TRIAD meeting: Thursday, Feb. 13 at 2 p.m.

G.E.D. testing continues

G.E.D. Testing continues at Bandera High School on Saturday, Feb. 22 from 8:30 to noon.

It's time for that Oak Wilt Alert to go out again. Just a reminder from now until fall summer is the worst time to prune all oak trees since the spores that can cause new disease are forming now through spring on the Spanish or blackjack trees that died last year from oak wilt.

That little sap-feeding beetle that carries the oak wilt fungus is most active in warm weather, therefore any open wound on a healthy tree allows the fungus to invade it and will spread from tree to tree through the root system. So beware.

The oak wilt hotline number is 589-7124.

• The maple trees will be going on sale this week at Love Creek.

• The Oak Rest Cemetery Assoc. will be conducting their annual meeting Feb. 27 at 7:30 p.m. at the Garden Center. Your presence is important.

• Sue Tracy will be the guest speaker on Feb. 13 for the Native Plant Society at 7 p.m. at St. Christophers Episcopal Church in Bandera. The subject will be native ferns of the Texas Hill Country. There will be slides and a display of 9-10 different species native to this region along with how to find, propagate and cultivate them.

• Velma and Perry Casburn returned this week from the Sam Houston trail ride. They took motor home and horses to rendezvous with old friends as they rode from Montgomery, Texas. Perry's family were instrumental in starting that trail ride 42 years ago.

• Doris Jack is back home after a visit with her daughter.

• Clifford Flach is home and improving after his surgery.

Corky Craddock is still in Sid Peterson.

• The old classic car group will be making their annual excursion through this region on Saturday and will be downtown. Might check it out. They love to talk about their cars.

• Don't forget, it's time to put up your martin houses. Those little scouts should be zooming around by this weekend.

• Thanks for the encouraging words from those of you who contacted me. I appreciate it. Your input is vital. E-mail address: cherryK @ hctc.net. FAX # 589-2440 or call 589-7223.

Happy Valentine's day, Angelina and Kayla.

Palette knife artist to vist BCAG

The Bandera County Art Group will have as their demonstrator this month Barry Shadrock, who will complete a palette knife painting of a Texas landscape for the group. Shadrock is a protégé of Dalhart Windberg, and will possibly have a workshop at a later time.

"He will demonstrate his method of painting roses with a palette knife," a spokesperson described, "and he plans to complete his picture in one session. We are honored to have a painter of his caliber to do a demonstration for us."

The meeting is open to everyone, non-members included.

"If you are interested in art, you will be welcome," the spokesperson said.

The meeting will be at 1 p.m. on Monday, Feb. 17 at the Bandera Bank Community Room.

Ferns topic for Native Plant

Ferns only grow in moist grottos and tropical rain forests. Right?

Wrong.

Across Texas, a total of 125 species of native ferns are now known (a number exceeded in the United States only by Florida). Surprisingly, the dry Trans-Pecos region boasts the greatest number of ferns, but the Edwards Plateau is not far behind, with at least 35 known species.

These ferns will be the topic of the upcoming meeting of the Native Plant Society on Thursday, Feb. 13 at 7 p.m. at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church.

Featured speaker will be Susan Tracy of Medina, whose presentation titled "Ferns of the Texas Hill Country" will cover general history and unique characteristics of these ancient plants, as well as specific information on our native ferns. Using slides and plant specimens, she will explain where to look for ferns, how to identify a few common species, how to propagate them, and how to use them in the garden.

The purpose of the Native Plant Society of Texas, a non-profit membership organization, is to promote the conservation, research and utilization of the native flora of Texas, through education, outreach and example. The Bandera chapter meets monthly, featuring diverse programs and field trips. The meetings are open to the public.

Inquiries about membership or local meetings may be made by contacting Doris Uhl, Bandera Chapter president, at 510-6796.

Responsible drivers can easily handle 70 mph limit

Dear Editor:

places, it has a third passing lane. If you count the entrances not used which lead into pastures, you might count 210 or more. (you can't count Pipe Creek, where the speed limit is reduced). Where is the accident data? If 1995 data is used, it's inaccurate because the speed limit wasn't increased until March 1996. Is the 1996 data available?

Drunk drivers, inattentive drivers, and drivers not considering hazardous conditions (fog, ice, and rain) cause accidents. Safe drivers use good judgment, observe warning signs, and know when to slow down.

Let's keep it 70, and consider extending the 70 speed limit into Bexar County to Helotes. If you agree, contact your state representative and the Texas Dept. of Transportation in San Antonio.

Elizabeth Wood
Pipe Creek

will probably be reduced due to the influence of a few people in Bandera County with political connections.

Apparently they think that they speak for all Bandera County Citizens. Wrong! They don't speak for me or countless other people who drive safely at 70 to and from their work places everyday. When the speed limit is reduced, we will be forced to leave earlier, spend more time on the road driving slower, or break the law and risk citations.

I've been told Hwy 16 South is too narrow, it's not a rural highway because it has more than 210 entrances on it, and the accident rate is high. Hwy 16 south has 3 and 4 driving lanes from Bandera Creek to Pipe Creek. South of Pipe Creek it has 2 lanes, but has shoulders wide enough to drive on, and in many

Editorial Comments

I guess the time has come for me to admit something that will probably be frowned upon by many of you.

I am a terrible speller.

There, I've said it. Now I can move on to the rest of my confession.

I am also a terrible typist. I'm not sure if I've ever typed a letter correctly on the first try. Usually, I'm lucky if I get it right on the second or third try.

Now, I'm not trying to make excuses for myself. I'm just trying to explain why I'm so glad that I have a computer with spell check and delete keys.

Before I had a computer, I would have to type a letter, then use correction fluid to cover my mistakes, then type the letter again. Sometimes I would have to do this several times before I got a letter typed correctly.

Now I can type a letter, spell check it, and print it out. Then I can proofread it and make any corrections I need to before printing it out again.

I'm sure my boss is glad that I have a computer, too. I'm sure he's tired of seeing me with correction fluid all over my hands and clothes.

I'm also sure he's glad that I have a computer because I'm not sure how he would have managed to get his letters typed if I didn't have a computer.

I'm not sure how I managed to get my letters typed before I had a computer, either.

I'm just glad I have one now.

Fine Arts Club commemorates 50 years

Fine Arts Club past presidents really did take the club down memory lane at their 50th anniversary gathering Feb. 4. Grace Kitzman from 1955-1957, Dorothy Ann Roberts 1961-1963, Meleese Rugh 1963-1965, Dorothy Darden 1966-1968, Mapel Cowan 1978-1980, Donna Alexander 1982-1984, Cindy McMullan 1984-1986, Trina Sandidge 1986-1988, Patsy D'Spain 1988-1991, Helen Edwards 1991-1993, Pat Toalson 1993-1995 and Carmen Boyington 1995-1997 relived memories from their administrations.

Bob Cowan, Bandera mayor, welcomed the group to present day life in Bandera. Meleese Rugh led the program and shared her memories. Each past president told us about what the club was like while she was president. There was a time when hat and gloves were the proper attire to attend Fine Arts Club meetings. If it was a night meeting, then long formal gowns were worn.

The group has presented plays and book reviews, hosted special speakers, such as John Connolly, Governor of Texas and Jim Dawson weather man.

A lot of years—50 years to be exact—passed in about 50 minutes. Hostess chairperson for the meeting was Patsy Muller.

Carvers on display in Kerrville

Kerr County Carvers will present wood carvings in all forms—chip carving, relief carving, in the round and whittling—from Feb. 2 to March 3, 1997 in the Grand Hall of Schreiner College's William Logan Library. The carvings in the exhibit represent the work of approximately 15 of the members.

Established in Sept. 1993 by the Rev. Wayne Jarvis to foster and promote wood carving, teach the craft, and participate in exhibits and fairs, the organization meets at the Dietert Claim on the first and third Monday of each month at 7 p.m. Visitors are welcomed.

For more information, please call Wayne Jarvis at 895-3681.

Fine Arts Club meetings could be very formal affairs, but Margaret Evans recalled a Fine Arts Club meeting when everyone dressed in the latest fashion craze--a sack dress. Evans took the name literally and sewed up this frock to lead the fashion parade.

On behalf of Michelle, the Dexter family, and Grace Lutheran Church, I want to thank all of the people throughout the county for your loving support at the Benefit Fund Raiser Monday.

• The many students, athletes, and people who pre-sold tickets;

• The people who prepared, set up, helped serve and cleaned up after the meal;

• The people who helped with tickets and publicity;

• The coaches and the staff of the Ranch Radio Station who played the Celebrity Basketball Game and all who helped with that;

• To the many people who helped in other different ways;

• The Bandera Independent School District for allowing us to use the facilities;

• For the many personal donations;

• And, most especially, all who came and supported the event, we give you our thanks and praise.

Special thanks to all of you who came and waited in line at the Blood Drive. It was really a success.

If you missed this opportunity and would still like to help, another Fund Raiser is being planned on April 7. And contributions for Michelle's Benefit can be made at Norwest and Bandera Banks.

Again, thanks to each of you for your participation and cooperation.

Our desires always far outreach reality around here.

For example, I got to thinking about what we women want for our special Valentine.

And of course what we want is perfection!

We want firm hard muscles we can count individually as they ripple away. But we also want soft sensitivity.

We want tall, dark and handsome. But we also want humility. No one who thinks they are God's gift to women need apply.

We want to be swept off of our feet with passion. But we don't want our hair messed up. After all, we just spent a small fortune at the beauty shop getting it to look just the way we want it.

We want a take-charge kind of guy--one who will let us do what we want.

We want a man who will know why we are angry or crying or not in the mood, without our having to explain it to him, because of course, WE really don't know why we are angry or sad or whatever...but that's no reason for HIM not to know!

We want a man with plenty of money in the bank, but who doesn't think money is important.

We want a man who can laugh at himself, but would never think of laughing at us!

Especially on a bad hair morning.

We want a man who would ride to our rescue, slaying monsters and villians along the way, shedding blood, sweat and tears on our behalf. We want him to swim those oceans and climb those mountains for us. And when he comes home, we want him to throw a load of laundry into the machine, get the meat sauce cooking for the pasta and change the baby.

We don't mind if from time to time he likes to watch Arnold Willis Stallone Van Damme splatter blood and guts across the big screen.

But he should also be the kind of guy who doesn't mind joining us while watching a real chick movie like The Piano, eating popcorn and crying on the couch.

We want undying eternal love...at least for a couple of hours!

We want a man who is tough enough to hold our hand--in public!

We want a man who will let us shop. And shop. And shop.

We want a man who needs God and isn't ashamed to admit it, even to his beer-drinking buddies.

Yes, that's the kind of man we want.

But we will be happy to settle for...

YOU!

Blood drive success

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Bandera High School Student Council, I would like to thank all the donors for their overwhelming support of our replacement blood drive for Michelle Dexter. I apologize for any inconvenience the wait may have caused any of you. Knowing this community and how it comes together to help in these types of situations, I should have anticipated such a great response and requested more stations and staff from the South Texas Blood and Tissue Center.

A total of 56 pints of blood were donated in Michelle's name, which will be of great service to everyone. Thank you all again for your kindness and patience.

Save the world

Dear Editor:

I'm a cub scout. People throw trash everywhere. I help pick up the trash. Polluting is bad for the environment. People put trash in the water too. The trash kills the fish that means sharks die. Then the things that sharks eat would be something like a thousand of them.

Austin Alleman
Age 9 1/2

I think that people should stop littering and polluting. Because they mess up the world you know the world could be beautiful if people would not trash it out. Some of the trash could be recycled and used again. But people do not want to do that. They think that the world should be all trashed out and all "yucky" but I don't think that the world should be trashed out. Some people think they should kill the trees but the trees are the ones that help us live.

Elizabeth Wilson
Age 9 1/2

I think people should stop polluting by smoking. And people should stop catching fish just for the fun of it or catching birds like doves and killing them for the sport. And please don't leave your faucet running when you brush and turn on the water and then put your brush under the water and then turn the water off and put your toothpaste on the brush and then start brushing your teeth and then turn on the water to rinse your brush and then to rinse your mouth and then turn the water off. That is the right way to save water so please try to brush your teeth the right way and save water too. Because it is just a better way of making the world more beautiful.

Bianca Lopez
9 years old

I think I could make the earth a better place by picking up trash and recycle it. If people leave the water running they would be wasting it they would not be able to wash clothes or take a bath or shower. I would stop wasting water, stop littering and don't waste food anymore. Stop fishing for sport because that could be another fishes food.

Tara Stacy
9 and 1/2

I would like to make the world a better place by wasting less and using more, but I need to stop my brother from leaving the water on when he brushes his teeth.

I think I will get a piece of paper and count off every time he turns the water off and at the end of each week I will get Dakota (my brother) to show it to mom.

Dakota likes to make mom proud of him.

I am 8 years old and Dakota is 6.

Meagan Day

I want to make a difference. We should pick up trash on the highway. And we shouldn't litter the land, we should pick up.

Kids can help with clean up. I pick up trash everyday at our place. The highways are bad enough.

We have to help in the world. Everybody can help. We need to recycle our trash. Don't throw it on the highways.

An interesting picture

Dear Editor:

An interesting picture of expenditures in 41 school districts in our local area reveals some great savings in the Bandera School District and great loss to taxpayers in the Medina School District.

Our county's greatest asset is its children and the education they receive at an average cost or benchmark per student cost.

Bandera ISD, with 2177 students, spent $5,030 per student to accomplish the same basic results as Medina with 321 students spending $7,809 per student.

The average dollars per student spent in the 41 reported school districts is $5,530.

Bandera ISD in reality saved the district $1,088,500. Congratulations, the administration did a tremendous job.

Medina ISD with the same benchmark figures overspent $731,559.

I would hope the taxpayers of the Medina School District take notice and attend the local board meetings and understand why this great difference in the same county where the same basic conditions exist. There may be a good answer and maybe not.

Bandera teacher's salary average is $27,043, Medina's is $28,945. Bandera administrator's salary average is $38,786, Medina's is $41,704. Bandera's tax rate is 1.555, Medina's is 1.05.

Cost constraint is the administration's responsibility. This county is witnessing the greatest growth ever. The flood is coming from the south and east of the county.

Better get your finger in the dike, Medina ISD. Costs can be brought in line. Don't wait for the flood.

Recollections of the Past...

Early Bandera settlers

In the early spring of 1853, A.M. Milstead, Thomas Odem, and P.D. Saner, with their families, came to Bandera County and camped on the Medina River, where they engaged in making cypress shingles.

Mrs. Rees and her sons, Sidney, Alphonsus and Alonzo, and a daughter arrived about this same time.

The Witt family was also among early Bandera settlers.

In the fall of 1853, Charles de Montel established a horse powered saw mill which provided employment for a number of men.

A company formed by de Montel, surveyor John James and John H. Herndon platted the townsite of Bandera.

Amasa Clark arrived in the county then.

In 1854 a company of Mormons settled here.

Question: Has Kerrville mind- pathetic Routier trial as "suburban Dallas" or a "coutroom near Dallas"? Of course our neighbor suffers from time to time with its own homegrown scandals and horrors. So perhaps it was OK not to be associated in the national mind with someone else's scandal and horror.

A science lab teacher, being interviewed opined that his young students are most interested in experiments which involve something blowing up, the higher and harder the better. Does this explain the top ratings of the current crop of cop shows? Invariably, the climax is reached with the spectacular demolition of cars, houses, office building, boats, planes, everything?

It used to be that the filmmakers concentrated on doing away with automobiles. There fridge? (Well, cleaning the fridge still does not fall in the category of unbounded joy, but aren't daily chores pretty wonderful, after all?)

After days of it, we have definitely come to the opinion that, generally speaking, television is not the "wasteland" an old-time FCC executive called it—but a Toxic Waste Dump. Jenny Jones looks like a rosy-cheeked Midwestern heartlander. How can she entertain all the scumdregs of humanity sitting in those rows on her stage, laughing as though their tragedy were really comedy. Does her mother know?

Speaking of laundry, here's a laundry list of small observations made while watching too much television:

The word has been handed down from On High, wherever that is, that all male anchors, reporters and interviewees must now wear bright blue shirts, preferably with bright red ties. When did they all rush out to acquire their new uniforms? Gone are the jarring geometric-patterned ties of a few months ago. Long gone are the wild abstract-patterns Rush is still trying to peddle. Only superguru like Louis Rukeyser and Jim Lehrer can get by with wearing dull blue.

No! Wait! Space aliens and volcanoes are going to blow up everything! Now!

Lastly, it was sort of wryly amusing that Bill Clinton had to compete for attention with the latest OJ jury verdict as he mounted the podium for his State of the Union speech. At least, the networks didn't blow up Congress for dramatic effect, and Secretary of Agriculture Dan Glickman is not president this week. He was the "designated survivor," you know.

P.S. What was Hillary so ticked off about the other evening in the house gallery? No adoring looks toward the president in the style of Nancy, Barbara, or even Betty and Rosalynn. Was she fuming about the advantages being gained by space aliens? or Al Gore?

Responsible drivers can easily handle 70 mph limit

Dear Editor:

will probably be reduced due to the influence of a few people in Bandera County with political connections.

Apparently they think that they speak for all Bandera County Citizens. Wrong! They don't speak for me or countless other people who drive safely at 70 to and from their work places everyday. When the speed limit is reduced, we will be forced to leave earlier, spend more time on the road driving slower, or break the law and risk citations.

I've been told Hwy 16 South is too narrow, it's not a rural highway because it has more than 210 entrances on it, and the accident rate is high. Hwy 16 south has 3 and 4 driving lanes from Bandera Creek to Pipe Creek. South of Pipe Creek it has 2 lanes, but has shoulders wide enough to drive on, and in many places, it has a third passing [illegible] count the entrances not used which lead into pastures, you might count 210 or more, (you can't count Pipe Creek, where the speed limit is reduced) Where is the accident data? If 1995 data is used, it's inaccurate because the speed limit wasn't increased until March 1996. Is the 1996 data available?

Drunk drivers, inattentive drivers, and drivers not considering hazardous conditions (fog, ice, and rain) cause accidents. Safe drivers use good judgment, observe warning signs, and know when to slow down.

Let's keep it 70, and consider extending the 70 speed limit into Bexar County to Helotes. If you agree, contact your state representative and the Texas Dept. of Transportation in San Antonio.

Blood drive success

Dear Editor:

On behalf of the Bandera High School Student Council, I would like to thank all the donors for their overwhelming support of our replacement blood drive for Michelle Dexter. I apologize for any inconvenience the wait may have caused any of you. Knowing this community and how it comes together to help in these types of situations, I should have anticipated such a great response and requested more stations and staff from the South Texas Blood and Tissue Center.

A total of 56 pints of blood were donated in Michelle's name, which will be of great service to everyone. Thank you all again for your kindness and patience.

Save the world

Dear Editor:

I'm a cub scout. People throw trash everywhere. I help pick up the trash. Polluting is bad for the environment. People put trash in the water too. The trash kills the fish that means sharks die. Then the things that sharks eat would be something like a thousand of them.

Austin Alleman
Age 9 1/2.

I think that people should stop littering and polluting. Because they mess up the world you know the world could be beautiful if people would not trash it out. Some of the trash could be recycled and used again. But people do not want to do that. They think that the world should be all trashed out and all "yucky" but I don't think that the world should be trashed out. Some people think they should kill the trees but the trees are the ones that help us live.

Elizabeth Wilson
Age 9 1/2

I think people should stop polluting by smoking. And people should stop catching fish just for the fun of it or catching birds like doves and killing them for the sport. And please don't leave the water running when you brush and turn on the water and then put your brush under the water and then turn the water off and put your toothpaste on the brush and then start brushing your teeth and then turn on the water to rinse your brush and then to rinse your mouth and then turn the water off. That is the right way to save water so please try to brush your teeth the right way and save water too. Because it is just a better way of making the world more beautiful.

Bianca Lopez.
9 years old.

I think I could make the earth a better place by picking up trash and recycle it. If people leave the water running they would be wasting it they would not be able to wash clothes or take a bath or shower. I would stop wasting water, stop littering and don't waste food anymore. Stop fishing for sport because that could be another fishes food.

Tara Stacy
9 and 1/2

I would like to make the world a better place by wasting less and using more, but I need to stop my brother from leaving the water on when he brushes his teeth.

I think I will get a piece of paper and count off every time he turns the water off and at the end of each week I will get Dakota (my brother) to show it to mom.

Dakota likes to make mom proud of him.

I am 8 years old and Dakota is 6.

Meagan Day

I want to make a difference. We should pick up trash on the highway. And we shouldn't litter the land, we should pick up.

Kids can help with clean up. I pick up trash everyday at our place. The highways are bad enough.

We have to help in the world. Everybody can help. We need to recycle our trash. Don't throw it on the highways.

Mitch Waltisperger

February Moments

by Cyndi Wright

I suppose the time has come for me to admit something that I suffer from Guilty Mother Syndrome.

It's a terrible burden, and I hope that you never have to experience it.

It was at its worst today. I used to get up every morning before my child and make him a big breakfast - you know, get his day started right. This year, he is a teenager. I figured out that if I don't get up first, I can sleep an extra thirty minutes. He should be able to get himself up and make his own breakfast, right?

Bad mom, bad, bad mom!

Then I started stressing that I wasn't spending enough time with him. They say the teen years are when things start happening that a parent needs to be around for. I spent most of some quality time together when I got home from work. When I called him, he seemed really enthused.

Five minutes later he called back and announced he was going to spend the night with Randy.

Bad son, bad, bad son!

Parenting doesn't come with a guidebook or a manual. It's like some people have a natural instinct and others stumble along. I fit into the second category. If he is happy, I am happy. If he is depressed, I figure it's my fault. Co-dependent you say?

Nope, Guilty Mother Syndrome!

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Our desires always far outreach reality around here.

For example, I got to thinking about what we women want for our special Valentine.

And of course what we want is perfection!

We want firm hard muscles we can count individually as they ripple away. But we also want soft sensitivity.

We want tall, dark and handsome. But we also want humility. No one who thinks they are God's gift to women need apply.

We want to be swept off of our feet with passion. But we don't want our hair messed up. After all, we just spent a small fortune at the beauty shop getting it to look just the way we want it.

We want a take-charge kind of guy--one who will let us do what we want.

We want a man who will know why we are angry or crying or not in the mood, without our having to explain it to him, because of course, WE really don't know why we are angry or sad or whatever...but that's no reason for HIM not to know!

We want a man with plenty of money in the bank, but who doesn't think money is important.

We want a man who can laugh at himself, but would never think of laughing at us! Especially on a bad hair morning.

We want a man who would ride to our rescue, slaying monsters and villians along the way, shedding blood, sweat and tears on our behalf. We want him to swim those oceans and climb those mountains for us. And when he comes home, we want him to throw a load of laundry into the machine, get the meat sauce cooking for the pasta and change the baby.

We don't mind if from time to time he likes to watch Arnold Willis Stallone Van Damme splatter blood and guts across the big screen.

But he should also be the kind of guy who doesn't mind joining us while watching a real chick movie like The Piano, eating popcorn and crying on the couch.

We want undying eternal love...at least for a couple of hours!

We want a man who is tough enough to hold our hand--in public!

We want a man who will let us shop. And shop. And shop.

We want a man who needs God and isn't ashamed to admit it, even to his beer-drinking buddies.

Yes, that's the kind of man we want.

But we will be happy to settle for...

YOU!

Fine Arts Club commemorates 50 years

Fine Arts Club meetings could be very formal affairs, but Margaret Evans recalled a Fine Arts Club meeting when everyone dressed in the latest fashion craze--a sack dress. Evans took the name literally and sewed up this frock to lead the fashion parade.

Fine Arts Club past presidents really did take the club down memory lane at their 50th anniversary gathering Feb. 4. Grace Kitzman from 1955-1957, Dorothy Ann Roberts 1961-1963, Meleese Rugh 1963-1965, Dorothy Darden 1966-1968, Mapel Cowan 1978-1980, Donna Alexander 1982-1984, Cindy McMullan 1984-1986, Trina Sandidge 1986-1988, Patsy D'Spain 1988-1991, Helen Edwards 1991-1993, Pat Toalson 1993-1995 and Carmen Boyington 1995-1997 relived memories from their administrations.

Bob Cowan, Bandera mayor, welcomed the group to present day life in Bandera. Meleese Rugh led the program and shared her memories. Each past president told us about what the club was like while she was president. There was a time when hat and gloves were the proper attire to attend Fine Arts Club meetings. If it was a night meeting, then long formal gowns were worn.

The group has presented plays and book reviews, hosted special speakers, such as John Connolly, Governor of Texas and Jim Dawson-weather man.

A lot of years--50 years to be exact--passed in about 50 minutes. Hostess chairperson for the meeting was Patsy Muller.

Carvers on display in Kerrville

Kerr County Carvers will present wood carvings in all forms—chip carving, relief carving, in the round and whittling—from Feb. 2 to March 3, 1997 in the Grand Hall of Schreiner College's William Logan Library. The carvings in the exhibit represent the work of approximately 15 of the members.

Established in Sept. 1993 by the Rev. Wayne Jarvis to foster and promote wood carving, teach the craft, and participate in exhibits and fairs, the organization meets at the Dietert Claim on the first and third Monday of each month at 7 p.m. Visitors are welcomed.

On behalf of Michelle, the Dexter family, and Grace Lutheran Church, I want to thank all of the people throughout the county for your loving support at the Benefit Fund Raiser Monday.

• The many students, athletes, and people who pre-sold tickets;

• The people who helped with tickets and publicity;

• The coaches and the staff of the Ranch Radio Station who played the Celebrity Basketball Game and all who helped with that;

• To the many people who helped in other different ways;

• The Bandera Independent School District for allowing us to use the facilities;

• And, most especially, all who came and supported the event, we give you our thanks and praise.

Special thanks to all of you who came and waited in line at the Blood Drive. It was really a success.

If you missed this opportunity and would still like to help, another Fund Raiser is being planned on April 7. And contributions for Michelle's Benefit can be made at Norwest and Bandera Banks.

Again, thanks to each of you for your participation and cooperation.

NEW COP - Chuck Casey is the new part-time community policing officer in Bandera. He plans to work closely with residents and businesses.

Lee Ann Peterson, 19, of Bandera walked away from this wreck with minor injuries after she lost control of a Camaro on Hwy. 46, about 5 miles west of Boerne. According to police reports, Peterson hit a guard rail, which sent the car flying into the cedar Friday morning, Feb. 7.

Tourism Talks

Ben Nolen

Last week I touched briefly on the primary comeback of those not wanting to commit time, money or energy to the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce. This well-worn retort, "What has the Chamber ever done for me," is an excuse, not a legitimate reason.

I mentioned a second cliché, not as predominate these days, but even though moss covered and stale, it's still hanging around. I'm sure you've heard, "Everything that's done by the Chamber is to benefit the dude ranches."

A couple of decades ago the folks singing this song were pretty much in tune. Back then there were at least two dude ranch owners on the board of directors. There were no RV parks or state parks in this area. There was no apple industry.

Only the Cabaret and the Silver Dollar offered consistent "after-dark entertainment," and you could count our restaurants and accommodations facilities on one hand. Let's face it, the dude ranches were the only game in town.

These days it ain't so! With the inception of the Convention and Visitors Bureau in 1989, the Chamber no longer experienced the power of the dude ranches. Officers and directors of the Chamber now represent the entire business structure of our county.

To come up with a more realistic idea of how these folks think and work, let's take a quick look at how they put beans on the table. The president, Russell Hevenor, owns and runs a lumber yard. The vice president is a retired lady advertising media executive. The directors include an interior designer, a graphics and publishing company owner, a bank officer, two owners of apparel shops, a grocery store owner, a heating and air conditioning service and sales company owner and an antique shop owner. These folks, all of them, are small businesses and do their damnedest to promote small business in our community.

Rather than continuing to be critical of the dude ranches, I sincerely feel they need a pat on the back. They generate a tremendous amount of revenue in bed tax which is used totally to promote the county. Many of them make time for their guests to come into town. Some even furnish the transportation from the ranch to Bandera. The downtown businesses and the dude ranches now have the best working relationship ever...or at least since I've been around.

From the initial awkward stumbling steps in the beginning to the long sure stride of today, the Chamber is turning in a great job for the businesses of Bandera County.

I'll have some numbers for you next week concerning dollars spent and time expended.

Sheriff's Report

During the week of Feb. 3 through Feb. 9, 1997, the Sheriff's Department answered 83 calls for service. Among these were 11 suspicious circumstances and six assist EMS.

Arrested by the Sheriff's Department were:

Jesse Rodriguez, 17, of Bandera for possession or marijuana.

James Cassel, 24, of Bandera on warrants.

Gilbert Galvan, 40 of Giddings, on two felony warrants.

Steven Brasher, 37, of Pipe Creek, charged with possession of marijuana and DWI.

Sheila Childress, 38, of Lakehills, charged with no liability insurance, driving without a license and a traffic warrant.

Louis Thaler, 62, of Pipe Creek, charged with public intoxication.

Paul Ecke, 35, of Bandera, charged with driving with suspended license.

David Chasteen, 31, Pipe Creek, charged with theft.

Arrested by JP Pct. 3 was John Garrett, 34, Bandera, charged with operation of an unregistered vehicle and issuance of a bad check.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

Chief's Blotter

The Bandera Police Department answered 26 calls for service, arrested four persons and issued nine citations for the week of Feb. 3, 1997 through Feb. 9, 1997. Calls for service included five assist other agencies, four public assist, one suspicious circumstance, four accidents, three criminal mischief, one theft, two alarms, one animal call, one gas drive off, one natural death, one attempt to locate, one forgery, and one domestic dispute.

Scott McCloud, 20, of Bandera was arrested for outstanding warrants from Justice of the Peace, Pct. 1.

John Sorenson, 30, of Bandera, was arrested for outstanding warrants issued by Bandera County.

Helen Nicolson, 45, of Kerrville, was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

Abraham Lincoln was a great man and patriot. Three factors stood out in Lincoln's life and contributed to his greatness.

The first was his moral character. Lincoln believed that he lived in a universe controlled by moral law. To him it was stupid and hideous that men should attempt to break that moral law. He believed that he, the nation of which he was a part, and all the individuals in the world were under the control of moral forces which they could defy only at their peril.

The second factor in his makeup was his sound common sense. Lincoln believed that the principles and policies which worked in the management of a grocery store at New Salem, the post office over which he had presided, and the little farm his father owned, could be made to work in Washington in handling of a nation.

The third outstanding factor of his life was his unusual spiritual insight. He could see straight into the hearts of men. He had a childlike dependence upon God. Every situation, no matter how secular it might appear, was to him a spiritual situation.

— Lincoln was a man of great ability, but his overpowering genius lay in his penetrating insight into spiritual truth.

will accomplish street work to alleviate flooding and cleaning [illegible] ditches.

[illegible] Maple and Hackberry between [illegible] and 10th Streets.

In the second contract, Welch has set his sights on the flooding that occurs when it rains around Cottonwood and 12th Streets.

"In my opinion, this work should be contracted out," [illegible] stated. "The city should furnish all materials and machinery."

The council unanimously agreed to go out on bids for the two contracts.

The city council members shortened the list of candidates for the position of city manager to five.

They are: Jack Caffall, Bandera; Don Reddout, Grey Forest; Thomas Donaldson, Llano; Cindy Lent, Lago Vista; and Ray Hohstadtl, Denver City.

The candidates will be invited to Bandera for interviews starting Monday, March 6.

Council members rejected an [illegible] Commissioner's Court to utilize the city meeting room for their twice-monthly meeting.

Council member Dorothy Darden was the only one to vote for the measure. Johnny Pina [illegible] voted against the measure after noting it would be hard to carry on regular city business in the same room as the commissioners court meetings, which begin at 10 a.m.

In an agreement with the county dating back to when the city offices were built on land leased by the city from the county, the city is required to provide a 20' X 50' space for county use until the year 2029.

In other business:

• Bandera Middle School coach Larry Dunn approached the council to notify them of the [illegible] Athletic Booster Club.

The Cowboy Capital Classic 5K run/walk is scheduled for 9 a.m. on Saturday, March 1, 1997 at the Bandera Football Stadium. The route will take participants through the back [illegible] park, and back up through the city to the stadium.

The entry fee is $15 and awards will be presented to winners in different age groups. T-shirt will also be part of the package.

For more information, call Carol Teich at 796-6203, or mail your entry fee to: Cowboy Capital Classic, Bandera I.S.D. Business Office, Box 727, Bandera, Texas 78003.

Council members approved the run/walk.

• Diane Myers was approved as the permanent part-time municipal clerk for the city.

• The council approved a janitorial contract with Ellsworth Janitorial Service to clean the city offices on a trial basis. The company will charge a one-time introduction fee of $100, followed by $80 every two weeks.

• City utilities secretary Gay Campbell was approved as a temporary check signer until the city hires a new city secretary/treasurer.

4 directors' spots up for water district election

The Springhills Water Management District board of directors will hold a called meeting Thursday, Feb. 13 for the purpose of discussing the May 3 election. The meeting begins at 7 p.m. at the water district office in the Old Jail Building on Twelfth St.

The district will be holding an election for four uncompensated positions on its Board of Directors on Saturday, May 3, 1997.

Current directors whose terms expire are Randy Roberts (Pct. 1), Ronald Basinger (Pct. 2), Jerry Sides (Pct. 3) and Phil Becker (Pct. 4)

Board president Ron Basinger told The Bulletin that he is not real sure at this time whether or not he will run for re-election. "I had some goals that I wanted to accomplish and we are very close to reaching those goals," said Basinger.

Medina well driller Sides said that he will definitely run for re-election.

Roberts and Becker had not replied at press time.

Applications for a place on the ballot may be obtained from the offices of Springhills Water Management District at 202 Twelfth Street, Bandera.

Applications will be accepted at the District offices until 5 p.m. on March 19, 1997.

The water district's primary role involves overseeing the quality of water in Bandera County. It collects data from a number of monitor wells to check water levels as well as water quality. The district also regularly checks water quality at numerous surface water locations throughout the county. The district provides water testing for citizens, water conservation education, and representation to the state legislature on water matters effecting Bandera County.

• The TNRCC hearing set for Wednesday, Feb. 5 in Austin for the purpose of consideration of a change in BMA's permit for use of Medina Lake water was postponed.

County sales tax rebate totals continue decline

The State Comptroller of Public Accounts delivered a total of $139 million in January sales tax payments to 1,085 Texas cities and 117 counties.

The city of Bandera received $24,487.79 this period, which is a 52.65 percent increase over the same period last year.

Bandera County received $13,899.68 for the period, a 10.25 percent decrease from the same period last year.

"The first sales tax rebates to cities and counties for 1997 are virtually the same as rebates for the same period in 1996, as the recent burgeoning growth of the Texas economy appears to be leveling off somewhat," Comptroller John Sharp said.

The San Antonio sales tax allocation for January was $7 million, up 2.7 percent over the January 1996 payment of $6.9 million.

This month's payments to Texas cities and counties include sales taxes collected by monthly filers in November at the start of the holiday shopping season, and reported to the Comptroller in December.

TABC touts the Cow

Purple Cow and Rev's Down Under owner Jeff Landow recently received a commendation from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission after the Purple Cow successfully passed the Minor Sting Operation test. In the operation, minors were sent into local bars, attempting to purchase alcohol. "We don't believe in underage drinking," Landow said. "I won't tolerate it." In the letter, TABC officials said, "They (Purple Cow employees) were conscientious in observing the minor, and firm in requesting proof of age. They confidently denied the sale."

It's Lola Palooza Mardi Gras Bash 97!

Pancakes and tacos aren't all you get at the Silver Sage for breakfast the first Friday of each month. Sometimes you get Bandera's irrepressible and multi-talented Bungy providing the entertainment. If you are a senior citizen, you can get in on the fun by contacting the Silver Sage Corral at 796-4999. Programs at the senior center are not limited to senior citizens.

Council members approved the [illegible] Commissioner's Court to utilize the city meeting room for their twice-monthly meeting.

Councilmember Dorothy Darden was the only one to vote for the measure. Johnny Pina [illegible] Tommy Kindla voted against the measure after noting it would be hard to carry on regular city business in the same room as the commissioners court meetings, which begin at 10 a.m.

In an agreement with the county dating back to when the city offices were built on land leased by the city from the county, the city is required to provide a 20' X 50' space for county use until the year 2029.

In other business:

Council members approved the run/walk.

• Diane Myers was approved as the permanent part-time municipal clerk for the city.

• The council approved a janitorial contract with Ellsworth Janitorial Service to clean the city offices on a trial basis. The company will charge a one-time introduction fee of $100, followed by $80 every two weeks.

• City utilities secretary Gay Campbell was approved as a temporary check signer until the city hires a new city secretary/treasurer.

4 directors' spots up for water district election

The Springhills Water Management District board of directors will hold a called meeting Thursday, Feb. 13 for the purpose of discussing the May 3 election. The meeting begins at 7 p.m. at the water district office in the Old Jail Building on Twelfth St.

The district will be holding an election for four uncompensated positions on its Board of Directors on Saturday, May 3, 1997.

Current directors whose terms expire are Randy Roberts (Pct. 1), Ronald Basinger (Pct. 2), Jerry Sides (Pct. 3) and Phil Becker (Pct. 4)

Board president Ron Basinger told The Bulletin that he is not real sure at this time whether or not he will run for re-election. "I had some goals that I wanted to accomplish and we are very close to reaching those goals," said Basinger.

Medina well driller Sides said that he will definitely run for re-election.

Roberts and Becker had not replied at press time.

Applications for a place on the ballot may be obtained from the offices of Springhills Water Management District at 202 Twelfth Street, Bandera.

Applications will be accepted at the District offices until 5 p.m. on March 19, 1997.

The water district's primary role involves overseeing the quality of water in Bandera County. It collects data from a number of monitor wells to check water levels as well as water quality. The district also regularly checks water quality at numerous surface water locations throughout the county. The district provides water testing for citizens, water conservation education, and representation to the state legislature on water matters effecting Bandera County.

• The TNRCC hearing set for Wednesday, Feb. 5 in Austin for the purpose of consideration of a change in BMA's permit for use of Medina Lake water was postponed.

County sales tax rebate totals continue decline

The State Comptroller of Public Accounts delivered a total of $139 million in January sales tax payments to 1,085 Texas cities and 117 counties.

The city of Bandera received $24,487.79 this period, which is a 52.65 percent increase over the same period last year.

Bandera County received $13,899.68 for the period, a 10.25 percent decrease from the same period last year.

"The first sales tax rebates to cities and counties for 1997 are virtually the same as rebates for the same period in 1996, as the recent burgeoning growth of the Texas economy appears to be leveling off somewhat," Comptroller John Sharp said.

The San Antonio sales tax allocation for January was $7 million, up 2.7 percent over the January 1996 payment of $6.9 million.

This month's payments to Texas cities and counties include sales taxes collected by monthly filers in November at the start of the holiday shopping season, and reported to the Comptroller in December.

TABC touts the Cow

Purple Cow and Rev's Down Under owner Jeff Landow recently received a commendation from the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission after the Purple Cow successfully passed the Minor Sting Operation test. In the operation, minors were sent into local bars, attempting to purchase alcohol. "We don't believe in underage drinking," Landow said. "I won't tolerate it." In the letter, TABC officials said, "They (Purple Cow employees) were conscientious in observing the minor, and firm in requesting proof of age. They confidently denied the sale."

Who you gonna call? Leakbusters!

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

If citizens of Bandera see strange men in their yards with their ears pressed to the water meter in the near future, they probably are not burglars.

That's because the city council approved a proposal by LCRA and Texas A&M University to make use of a low-cost leak detection program the groups offer rural communities.

The leak detection program, called Leakbusters for short, is a community partnership program that offers upper level engineering graduate students a chance to get out in the field and obtain real experience, while giving the community an inexpensive study of their water infrastructure and its problems.

The students work under the direction of faculty.

The study, which will take approximately 50 hours to complete, will cost the city about $3,000.

"The amount of water we will save as a result of this will more than make up for the cost," Mayor Bob Cowan said.

During the study, technicians will check every house, main and fire hydrant in town. They pinpoint problem areas by tracking sound waves produced from water leaks, and summarize the results in a written report that the council can use as a guideline for repairs.

"We are very proud of our leak detection program," said Mike Tomme, manager of water and wastewater operations for LCRA. "I would urge you to come out and watch the technicians in the field."

An added bonus is that the team will train Director of Public Works Mike Cardenas in the use of leak-detection equipment the city already owns.

Residents can expect to see a notice in their March billing advising them of the study.

In other matters, councilman Walter Welch asked the council to approve going out for bids on two contracts that

County mourns Mauer

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Bandera County mourned the loss of former County Judge Ray Mauer following his death Wednesday, Feb. 5 of a heart attack. Mauer, 75, had served as county judge for two full terms, from January 1987 to December of 1994. In 1996, he willingly agreed to serve as interim judge following the retirement of Judge Roger Raser. Mauer served for four and a half months until the election of Richard Evans.

County employees who worked with Mauer "thought a lot of him," said secretary Marsha Short. "We felt like he was looking out for us."

Mauer had worked hard during his tenure to modernize the operation of the courthouse and the county staff. He improved working conditions, developed personnel policy, improved insurance and retirement plans and wages.

"He always had an open door policy," explained Short. "He had a good rapport with the people."

Mauer improved the juvenile probation program, was actively involved in the Drug and Alcohol Council and served as county director of the EMS during a sometimes tempestuous period in that organization's history.

County employees recall that Mauer diligently attended meetings of the Alamo Area Council of Governments and the South Texas Judge's Association, bringing back information, ideas and grants to help Bandera County.

"He was a pleasure to work with," said County Clerk Bernice Bates. "He was a big advocate of modernization. We came into the computer age under his direction."

Mauer, an Air Force veteran and a licensed pilot, was a driving force behind an attempt to establish a county airport for Bandera. He believed the airport would attract businesses and jobs to the area. It was one of the few goals he had for Bandera County that he failed to accomplish.

Soft-spoken and even-tempered, Mauer spent much of his time in community service.

The Lakehills community benefited by his leadership and active participation in the American Legion, the Volunteer Fire Department and many other organizations.

Hundreds of friends, family and associates bid a sad farewell to one of Bandera County's best citizens Friday, Jan. 7 at services conducted at the Lakehills United Methodist Church. "Ray Mauer was a peacemaker," said his pastor, the Rev. Bill Stegemueller. "He had the unique ability to get a group of people to listen to each other to resolve their differences."

Allen, Blue headline Valentine's Dance

The Bandera Chapter of the American Cancer Society is sponsoring a Valentine's Dance at The Cabaret in Bandera tonight, Feb. 12 at 7 p.m.

The cost is $5, and for the price, partygoers will get to experience some of the best in local talent.

Donating their musical expertise will be Linda Allen and the Roadrunners, Arkey Blue and the Blue Cowboys, featuring Carol Livingston and Kathie Timm, Gary Wright and the Roadkill Band, and Delton Sturgis and the Ruff House Band.

Linda Allen

Door prizes donated by local business and people will be given out, and an auction, featuring items also donated, is slated for the evening.

The Bandera Chapter of the ACS has been in existence for over 40 years. Currently, Pat Toalson serves as president, and Peggy Araiza is vice president. Dorothy Darden is treasurer, and Mary LeStourgeon is secretary.

"We raise money to be used for research, educational purposes, like the Great American Smokout, we help people with supplies, we support programs and drive people to their treatments," Darden said.

The money raised by such a function as the dance Wednesday gets sent to the state American Cancer Society.

"We get a monthly report showing how much of it comes back to Bandera," Darden explained. "Over a year's time we will get back what we make, and more."

Last year the event was held at The Bella Union, and according to Darden was very popular.

"It was overflowing," she said. "We are hoping that this year will be as good."

The event raised over $3,000 last year.

The Carbaret is donating the building and Books-N-Bloom are donating the decorations.

830 Area Code goes into effect July 4 weekend

Bandera County telephone users will get their new area code, 830, on the Fourth of July.

The 210 area code in Texas will be split into three area codes with the addition of two new codes during the Fourth of July weekend. The San Antonio Metropolitan area will keep the 210 number. A northern region that encircles San Antonio and extends west to include Bandera, Kerrville and Fredericksburg will get a new 830 area code.

A southern region that extends to the Valley will be assigned 956.

Telephone customers currently served in the 210 area will not notice the technical switchover being completed by local telephone company employees during the three-day Fourth of July weekend. Beginning on Monday, July 7 at 12:01 a.m., customers in all three areas will have a three-month grace period to adjust to the change and still make calls using their old dialing habits.

Customers are encouraged to immediately begin sharing their new numbers with home and business contacts, so that callers can dial the numbers using the new area codes.

The grace period extends for three months. On Monday, Oct. 6, 1997 mandatory dialing will begin and callers will be required to dial the new area codes. For another 60 days, callers who forget to use the new area codes will get a recorded intercept message reminding them to dial the appropriate code.

A three-way split is also scheduled for the Memorial Day weekend in the 817 area around Fort Worth.

The implementation of the new area codes will not change the local calling scope. Most local calls may be made using only seven digits, when callers are dialing within the same area code. A local call made to a location that is switched to a different area code may be completed by dialing ten digits. Local calls can continue to be made without dialing "1" first or incurring a toll charge.

Artist carves a niche for himself

Rex Foster

The Downright Texas Art Gallery in Comfort will be hosting a one-man show featuring the rare talent of Rex Foster on Feb. 8 from 2 to 6 p.m.

Foster's bone and fossil ivory creations transcend even the outer perimeters of mainstream jewelry. Each and every piece is original, hand-crafted and like no other in this world.

Foster uses all organic materials including bones, fossil ivory, hooves and horns, with the philosophy of presenting them in a simple and beautiful way "before they go back to dust, as we all ultimately must."

His genius for "singing over the bones" or bringing the ancient bones to life, is experiential. Foster creates a fluid connection to worlds often clouded by cars, computers and technological breakdowns. Imagine the tusk of a 100,000 year-old woolly mammoth, smoothed, shaped, embedded in hammered silver and within continuos reach of your fingertips.

"It's a natural transitory dance," says Foster, "like dancing with the grandfathers. Some look into it, and they tell me it's like coming home."

Foster is also a well-known musician, writing, recording and performing his music with the same simple and beautiful style with which he presents his jewelry. Those close enough to the stage will recognize Foster's pieces on Emmy Lou Harris, Jerry Jeff Walker, Merle Haggard, Pam Tillis, Peter Rowan and Gary Morris. Those who remember will note that Hondo Crouch was also a fan.

Foster is a native of Comfort, where he makes his home with his wife, Kelly, and their daughter, Rachel.

The collection presented at Foster's show on Feb. 8 will remain in the gallery for a limited time only. The Downright Texas Gallery is situated at Cypress Creek Landing.

Firehouse tacos filled with goodies

It's Saturday morning, and your mouth is watering for a good beef fajita with home-made pico-de-gallo.

Where to go for something a little different?

Well, on the second and fourth Saturday of every month, you might consider the Bandera Volunteer Fire Department.

In an effort to raise much-needed funds, the fire fighters are putting on their chefs aprons and cooking up a storm.

"The tacos are packed full of meat with homemade pico-de-gallo stuffed with huge chunks of tomatoes, onions and other good stuff," fire fighter Mike Holan said. "We make it ourselves."

The department has already had two of the taco fundraisers and raised $530 on the first one, and $603 on the second one.

"This last Saturday we sold 80-100 pounds of meat," Holan said. "The people really seem to love the tacos."

The money raised in the ventures will pay for sending fire fighters to school, upgrading the trucks and other projects.

"We are going to try and make this our fundraising effort," Holan said.

The tacos go on sale at 10:30 a.m. and continue until all the meat is gone.

Shrove Tuesday celebration

The Men of St. Christopher's Episcopal Church will serve the annual Shrove Tuesday pancake supper on Feb. 11 from 5 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. Adults $3.50, children half price. All the sausage and pancakes you can eat!

Historic cave next for Pathfinders

The Selma Pathfinders will have a Walk Under Texas at Longhorns Caverns on Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 22 and 23.

Longhorn Cavern, located in Backbone Ridge, a huge piece of Ellenburger Limestone, was formed by a shallow sea over 450 million years ago. Through the following years this limestone was subject to great upheavals, climate variations, and the rise and fall of three more shallow seas. Longhorn Cavern is evidence of these great changes.

In recent history, the cavern was used as a Confederate stronghold where gunpowder was secretly manufactured during the Civil War. It was also rumored to have been a hideout by desperadoes, including legendary Texas outlaw Sam Bass.

Longhorn Cavern was dedicated a State Park in 1932 and a Registered Natural Landmark by the Department of Interior in 1971.

What's Rustlin'

I think San [illegible] is finally waking up to the fact that Bandera is the "Character Capital of the World!" We have so many of our [illegible] pictures all over.

Our own Bob Berg hit the San Antonio Express with his wonderful silver smithed belt buckles for the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo. They are so intricate and beautifully made that big rodeos all over the world get his buckles. His shop, Silverdales, is in the old Sears Building up on 12th Street. Stop by and wander around. They've got gorgeous jewelry. Lots of cowboy clothes, bronzes and lots of neat stuff. They've got a huge booth at the Stock Show right now. He'll also decorate your favorite saddle with silver conchos too!

Then, Werner Lindig, of black bear shooting fame, had a neat article in the same paper. All about how he is the guiding force behind the Grace Lutheran Churches exotic game night. By the way, they said the bear chili was the best they've ever eaten! Watch out chili cook-off, here he comes!

And then, our own Stefani Ball, Cowboy Capital Trail Ride Queen, waving, smiling and looking so pretty in the Stock Show and Rodeo parade in San Antonio. They had over 4,000 horse riders to choose from, but they chose her! Must mean a great future's in store.

• Did any of our local homing pigeon raisers and racers go to South Africa recently? They had an international 340-mile homing pigeon race. The prize? $1,000,000- that's one million dollars! You'd sure listen to Dr. on WOAI, to make sure you

• We got an invitation to an anniversary party out at the [illegible] Mark and Helen Hults. They were married there, and I don't think I'll ever forget what a happy wedding it was. They were having such a good time the actual ceremony, everytime they'd look at each other, they'd start laughing. It was wonderful! Happy anniversary, and glad you're still having fun!

• Patricia Moore at the Chamber of Commerce has this great idea for a future "Visitor's Center" for Bandera. A "Hands-On Children's Cowboy Museum," where kids can rope and ride a "bucking bull" (slow of course), they can see movies of "ropin', ridin' and bobbin' up their tails." Then the docents would be our rodeo champs or Kelly Scott building a wagon, Scooter Fries horse showing and all kinds of cowboy stuff. It's the best idea for Bandera that's come down the trail in a long time!

I still think that a board walk going down the entire length of Main Street, would tie the "North to the South, the new to the old" and all the businesses would have a shot at the tourist trade—not just the first block. Then another one going out the Bandera Village would help them out there. All our tourists love to walk—let's help them!

• Silver Sage has their taco breakfast this Friday and their Sunday Social, complete with live danceable music on Sunday, of course!

• And don't forget "Firehouse Fajitas" Saturday!

• The Annual Valentine Sweet Heart Dance is this coming next Wednesday at the Cabaret. It's always fun with loads of locals just like the Silver Sage Annual Dance. Old times!

Scout Troop 144 of Pipe Creek set up camp at the Freeze-O-Ree on the Leibold Ranch in Lakehills.

Cold fun for scouts at Freeze-O-Ree

Jan. 17-19, 185 Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and their adult leaders from Bandera, Lake Hills, Pipe Creek and other hill country areas faced near freezing conditions to participate in the Broken Arrow District's 1997 Winter Rendezvous at the Leibold Ranch in Lakehills.

This event, known as a "Freeze-O-Ree, tested the Scout's camping skills, fitness, and teamwork. Contest events included: blindfolded tent pitching, the Zuni fire surprise, tomahawk throwing, the log lift, fly casting, and a chariot race.

Scouts were also judged on a campsite health and safety inspection and pioneering projects constructed from poles and ropes.

Participating in the event was Cub Pack 146 of Bandera. Cub Master is Harvey Raab. Also present was Scout Troop 144 from Pipe Creek under the leadership of Scout Master Chuck Hoehne.

The next event area Scouts will be participating in is the South Texas Scout Expo on Saturday, March 8 at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio. The public is welcome to attend this event and see Boy Scouting in action.

"The Broken Arrow District serves Boy Scouts in Bandera, Kendall, Kerr, and Medina counties. For more information about how your son can join in the Boy Scouts or America, and get in on the fun, contact the Alamo Area Council, BSA at 1-800-940-2721," said District Executive Chris Linzza.

Over the Back Fence

Hi y'all! Has spring sprung or are we in for more cold weather? The Ground Hog didn't see his shadow so spring is supposed to be right around the corner. The Channel 5 weather guesser's dog didn't see his shadow until later in the day, so what does that indicate? One thing for sure, we won't put away the coats and heaters yet. We will wait for the Easter freeze and the mesquites to tell us it's spring.

We took Kay and went for a drive Sunday after church. We saw some real evidence of the growth in other counties as there were houses where there was once only cattle over in Medina County. It seems everyone in Houston and San Antonio want to come share what we have enjoyed all our lives. We have traveled all over Texas and haven't found anywhere we would rather live and work. Now all these new folks are finding out our secret.

This new growth tends to put a strain on our services offered by the county. The commissioners are having to think of ways to stretch the resources available to care for the needs of all this new growth. Our Volunteer Fire Departments find themselves with the task of protecting all the new structures and population.

This new population must see the needs in our various volunteer organizations and come in and help to cover these areas. In our VFD alone there is a need for help taking care of the buildings and equipment. On the clerical side, we need someone to help set up the voluntary fee system.

This might be an opportunity for you to help your community while keeping busy. Some of us wish we had more time to put in on our chosen volunteer organization.

We have received many calls about how to send your fee check to the MLVFD. Fee System. So here is the address again: MLVFD, P.O. Box 451, Lakehills, Texas 78063.

We hope our database will be finished soon and we can get our notice letters out. This is another place we could use some help—folding and sorting. We have received notes from property owners from all over who have read of our program in this paper and sent in their checks. Keep up the good work, guys!

• The country suffered a great loss in the death of Frank Tejeda last week. We have long admired this congressman as he fought for the common man and woman in our legislative areas. His passing leaves a great void.

• The latest word we have on Mary Biederman is that she is out of ICU but is having problems taking food. This is no way to lose weight, Mary! We hope to to see her home soon. It's not the same without her giving us a hard time when we meet at the Post Office or the Ice House.

• Well, we have rambled on long enough and the editor is probably wondering where this is, so we will look for all of you over the back fence.

Rodeo Chev. to donate money for Dexter fund

Rodeo Chevrolet general manager Earl Floyd announced today that the car dealership will contribute $100 from every car sold in the month of February to a fund to help defray the medical costs of local teen Michelle Dexter, who was burned in a fire at her home Dec. 26.

"Michelle used to work for us," Floyd said. "She's a real deserving child. She's exceptional. We want to see her get well, and we know finances are a consideration."

Dexter is currently recuperating at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

Buffs lose to Eagles

Tuesday, Jan. 28, found the Leakey Eagles in the Utopia gym to finish the first round of district play.

The varsity Lady Buffaloes played one of their best games of the season, almost knocking off district leader Leakey. After a slow start, the girls picked it up on both ends of the court.

At half-time the score was 22-23, and the game stayed that close until the last minute of the game.

Lady Bulldogs edged by Devine; cruise past Somerset

Girls take third place spot in district action

JUMP BALL - Lady Bulldog Heidi Hicks starts her last home game against Somerset Friday night.

The Bandera Lady Bulldogs were nosed out by Devine in a District 26-3A contest in Devine last Tuesday 53-49. After trailing by as many as 11 points in the first half, the Lady 'Dogs climbed back into the contest and briefly took the lead with about three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. However, Devine was able to retake the lead and hold on for the win.

Senior post player Heidi Hicks played a near flawless game, going eight for eight from the floor en route to racking up 22 points and pulling down 12 rebounds. Katie Jennings added 10 points to the Bandera scoring effort.

Lady Bulldog Coach Pam Owens pointed out just how close the game was when she reviewed the game statistics: "Both teams shot 19 out of 43 from the field. The difference was that they hit four more free throws than we did." (11 of 25 for Bandera and 15 of 26 for Devine).

On Friday, the Lady 'Dogs ended their home schedule for the season with a convincing 68-49 win over Somerset. Every starter for Bandera ended the game in the double figures.

Senior Heidi Hicks playing her last home game for the Lady Bulldogs led all scorers with 19 points as well as grabbing 20 rebounds. Sophomore post player Krystal Upchurch poured in 13 points and seven rebounds, sophomore Breanne Hicks contributed 12 points and 13 rebounds. Sophomore guards Carrie Pease and Katie Jennings added 11 and 10 points respectively.

Bandera increased their nine point lead at the end of the third to a decisive margin with a 24-point fourth quarter.

"Everyone played very well tonight," Owens said. "We really had things clicking on all cylinders and we looked great."

The win put Bandera at 7-4 in the district with one game left to play. The Lady 'Dogs currently sit in third place in the district behind first place Devine and only one game behind second place Medina Valley. Bandera travels to Ingram Friday night for an 8 p.m. contest to wrap up the regular season.

Somerset snatches win from boys, Bulldogs move into last district spot

The Bandera Bulldogs came up against Somerset on Jan. 31, and took a 61-49 loss.

"It was a very close game for three quarters," Coach Steve Kidd said. "The team played very well in the first half."

Somerset led at the end of the first 20-14, but the 'Dogs had closed the gap by the end of the second, when the score was tied 30-30. Bandera led at the end of the third 38-37.

"We did an outstanding job of scoring off of Somerset's press," Kidd said. "We handled their quickness very well in the first half."

Jimmy Stimmel led the team in scoring with 20 points, followed by Nate Moehring with 12, and Kurt Law and Kevin Ohnheiser with six each. Thad Dubose contributed two as did Jason Garcia.

Moehring led the team in rebounds with 13, followed by Stimmel with seven, and Law with six. Moehring, Garcia and Stimmel each stepped up with two steals, while Garcia and Jeremy Leland each chipped in five assists.

"Jimmy Stimmel and Kurt Law gave an outstanding effort during the game," Kidd said.

Law was recently brought to varsity from the junior varsity squad.

Sea Campers have fun while learning about world

Sea Camp offers kids a hands-on marine biology experience along the Texas coast or the Caribbean. Hundreds of youngsters will come face to face with endangered sea turtles, cruise aboard a Texas A&M University at Galveston (TAMUG) marine research vessel, and have fun while learning to appreciate and conserve the natural world. Youths from all over the world have taken advantage of this opportunity to learn about the ocean since Sea Camp began in 1986.

During the week-long camp, Sea Campers will live on the TAMUG campus in Pelican Island. Each day the young explorers will investigate the rich coastal habitat of Galveston Bay while using scientific sampling techniques to study marine animals such as fish, shrimp, and crabs. Collecting oysters from a commercial oyster reef brings the realms of science and industry together to give campers a more complete picture of the importance of this environment.

Campers will also tour the Kemp's ridley sea turtle research facility in Galveston as well as learn about a variety of marine mammals that inhabit the Gulf of Mexico. Marine life, such as birds and coastal plants, are observed as the youths investigate local beaches, and salt marshes.

"There's no better way to learn about a salt marsh than to stand in it, listen to its sounds, see its critters and birds, feel its soft muddy bottom, and smell its unique aroma," said Dr. Judy Wern, Sea Camp Director.

What's Rustlin'

I think San Antonio and the [illegible] is finally waking up to the fact that Bandera is the "Character Capital of the World!" We have so many of our [illegible] appearing in [illegible] pictures all over.

Our own Bob Berg hit the San Antonio Express with his wonderful silver smithed belt buckles for the San Antonio Stock Show and Rodeo. They are so intricate and beautifully made that big rodeos all over the world get his buckles. His shop, Silverdales, is in the old Sears Building up on 12th Street. Stop by and wander around. They've got gorgeous jewelry. Lots of cowboy clothes, bronzes and lots of neat stuff. They've got a huge booth at the Stock Show right now. He'll also decorate your favorite saddle with silver conchos too!

Then, Werner Lindig, of black bear shooting fame, had a neat article in the same paper. All about how he is the guiding force behind the Grace Lutheran Churches exotic game night. By the way, they said the bear chili was the best they've ever eaten! Watch out chili cook-off, here he comes!

And then, our own Stefani Ball, Cowboy Capital Trail Ride Queen, waving, smiling and looking so pretty in the Stock Show and Rodeo parade in San Antonio. They had over 4,000 horse riders to choose from, but they chose her! Must mean a great future's in store.

• Did any of our local homing pigeon raisers and racers go to South Africa recently? They had an international 340-mile homing pigeon race. The prize? $1,000,000- that's one million dollars! You'd sure listen to Dr. on, WOAI, to make sure you

• We got an invitation to an anniversary party out at the [illegible] Union to the [illegible] Mark and Helen Hults. They were married there, and I don't think I'll ever forget what a happy wedding it was. They were having such a good time [illegible] the actual ceremony, everytime they'd look at each other, they'd start laughing. It was wonderful! Happy anniversary, and glad you're still having fun!

• Patricia Moore at the Chamber of Commerce has this great idea for a future "Visitor's Center" for Bandera. A "Hands-On Children's Cowboy Museum," where kids can rope and ride a "bucking bull" (slow of course), they can see movies of "ropin', ridin' and bobbin' up their tails." Then the docents would be our rodeo champs or Kelly Scott building a wagon, Scooter Fries horse showing and all kinds of cowboy stuff. It's the best idea for Bandera that's come down the trail in a long time!

I still think that a board walk going down the entire length of Main Street, would tie the "North to the South, the new to the old" and all the businesses would have a shot at the tourist trade—not just the first block. Then another one going out the Bandera Village would help them out there. All our tourists love to walk—let's help them!

• Silver Sage has their taco breakfast this Friday and their Sunday Social, complete with live danceable music on Sunday, of course!

• And don't forget "Firehouse Fajitas" Saturday!

• The Annual Valentine Sweet Heart Dance is this coming next Wednesday at the Cabaret. It's always fun with loads of locals just like the Silver Sage Annual Dance. Old times!

Scout Troop 144 of Pipe Creek set up camp at the Freeze-O-Ree on the Leibold Ranch in Lakehills.

Cold fun for scouts at Freeze-O-Ree

Jan. 17-19, 185 Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts, and their adult leaders from Bandera, Lake Hills, Pipe Creek and other hill country areas faced near freezing conditions to participate in the Broken Arrow District's 1997 Winter Rendezvous at the Leibold Ranch in Lakehills.

Over the Back Fence

Marion Heisler
612-2509

Hi y'all! Has spring sprung or are we in for more cold weather? The Ground Hog didn't see his shadow so spring is supposed to be right around the corner. The Channel 5 weather guesser's dog didn't see his shadow until later in the day, so what does that indicate? One thing for sure, we won't put away the coats and heaters yet. We will wait for the Easter freeze and the mesquites to tell us it's spring.

We took Kay and went for a drive Sunday after church. We saw some real evidence of the growth in other counties as there were houses where there was once only cattle over in Medina County. It seems everyone in Houston and San Antonio want to come share what we have enjoyed all our lives. We have traveled all over Texas and haven't found anywhere we would rather live and work. Now all these new folks are finding out our secret.

This new growth tends to put a strain on our services offered by the county. The commissioners are having to think of ways to stretch the resources available to care for the needs of all this new growth. Our Volunteer Fire Departments find themselves with the tasks of protecting all the new structures and population.

This new population must see the needs in our various volunteer organizations and come in and help to cover those areas. In our VFD alone there is a need for help taking care of the buildings and equipment. On the clerical side, we need someone to help set up the voluntary fee system.

This might be an opportunity for you to help your community while keeping busy. Some of us wish we had more time to put in on our chosen volunteer organization.

We have received many calls about how to send your fee check to the MLVFD. Fee System. So here is the address again: MLVFD, P.O. Box 451, Lakehills, Texas 78063.

We hope our database will be finished soon and we can get our notice letters out. This is another place we could use some help—folding and sorting. We have received notes from property owners from all over who have read of our program in this paper and sent in their checks. Keep up the good work, guys!

• The country suffered a great loss in the death of Frank Tejeda last week. We have long admired this congressman as he fought for the common man and woman in our legislative areas. His passing leaves a great void.

• The latest word we have on Mary Biederman is that she is out of ICU but is having problems taking food. This is no way to lose weight, Mary! We hope to to see her home soon. It's not the same without her giving us a hard time when we meet at the Post Office or the Ice House.

• Well, we have rambled on long enough and the editor is probably wondering where this is, so we will look for all of you over the back fence.

Rodeo Chev. to donate money for Dexter fund

Rodeo Chevrolet general manager Earl Floyd announced today that the car dealership will contribute $100 from every car sold in the month of February to a fund to help defray the medical costs of local teen Michelle Dexter, who was burned in a fire at her home Dec. 26.

"Michelle used to work for us," Floyd said. "She's a real deserving child. She's exceptional. We want to see her get well, and we know finances are a consideration."

Dexter is currently recuperating at Brooks Army Medical Center in San Antonio.

Buffs lose to Eagles

Tuesday, Jan. 28, found the Leakey Eagles in the Utopia gym to finish the first round of district play.

The varsity Lady Buffaloes played one of their best games of the season, almost knocking off district leader Leakey. After a slow start, the girls picked it up on both ends of the court.

At half-time the score was 22-23, and the game stayed that close until the last minute of the game.

Lady Bulldogs edged by Devine; cruise past Somerset

Girls take third place spot in district action

JUMP BALL - Lady Bulldog Heidi Hicks starts her last home game against Somerset Friday night.

The Bandera Lady Bulldogs were nosed out by Devine in a District 26-3A contest in Devine last Tuesday 53-49. After trailing by as many as 11 points in the first half, the Lady 'Dogs climbed back into the contest and briefly took the lead with about three minutes remaining in the fourth quarter. However, Devine was able to retake the lead and hold on for the win.

Senior post player Heidi Hicks played a near flawless game, going eight for eight from the floor en route to racking up 22 points and pulling down 12 rebounds. Katie Jennings added 10 points to the Bandera scoring effort.

Lady Bulldog Coach Pam Owens pointed out just how close the game was when she reviewed the game statistics: "Both teams shot 19 out of 43 from the field. The difference was that they hit four more free throws than we did." (11 of 25 for Bandera and 15 of 26 for Devine).

On Friday, the Lady 'Dogs ended their home schedule for the season with a convincing 68-49 win over Somerset. Every starter for Bandera ended the game in the double figures.

Senior Heidi Hicks playing her last home game for the Lady Bulldogs led all scorers with 19 points as well as grabbing 20 rebounds. Sophomore post player Krystal Upchurch poured in 13 points and seven rebounds, sophomore Breanne Hicks contributed 12 points and 13 rebounds. Sophomore guards Carrie Pease and Katie Jennings added 11 and 10 points respectively.

Bandera increased their nine point lead at the end of the third to a decisive margin with a 24-12 point fourth quarter.

"Everyone played very well tonight," Owens said. "We really had things clicking on all cylinders and we looked great."

The win put Bandera at 7-4 in the district with one game left to play. The Lady 'Dogs currently sit in third place in the district behind first place Devine and only one game behind second place Medina Valley. Bandera travels to Ingram Friday night for an 8 p.m. contest to wrap up the regular season.

Somerset snatches win from boys, Bulldogs move into last district spot

The Bandera Bulldogs came up against Somerset on Jan. 31, and took a 61-49 loss.

"It was a very close game for three quarters," Coach Steve Kidd said. "The team played very well in the first half."

Somerset led at the end of the first 20-14, but the 'Dogs had closed the gap by the end of the second, when the score was tied 30-30. Bandera led at the end of the third 38-37.

"We did an outstanding job of scoring off of Somerset's press," Kidd said. "We handled their quickness very well in the first half."

Jimmy Stimmel led the team in scoring with 20 points, followed by Nate Moehring with 12, and Kurt Law and Kevin Ohnheiser with six each. Thad Dubose contributed two as did Jason Garcia.

Moehring led the team in rebounds with 13, followed by Stimmel with seven, and Law with six. Moehring, Garcia and Stimmel each stepped up with two steals, while Garcia and Jeremy Leland each chipped in five assists.

"Jimmy Stimmel and Kurt Law gave an outstanding effort during the game," Kidd said.

Law was recently brought up to varsity from the junior varsity squad.

Sea Campers have fun while learning about world

Sea Camp offers kids a hands-on marine biology experience along the Texas coast or the Caribbean. Hundreds of youngsters will come face to face with endangered sea turtles, cruise aboard a Texas A&M University at Galveston (TAMUG) marine research vessel, and have fun while learning to appreciate and conserve the natural world.

Youths from all over the world have taken advantage of this opportunity to learn about the ocean since Sea Camp began in 1986.

During the week-long camp, Sea Campers will live on the TAMUG campus n Pelican Island. Each day the young explorers will investigate the rich coastal habitat of Galveston Bay while using scientific sampling techniques to study marine animals such as fish, shrimp, and crabs. Collecting oysters from a commercial oyster reef brings the realms of science and industry together to give campers a more complete picture of the importance of this environment.

Campers will also tour the Kemp's ridley sea turtle research facility in Galveston as well as learn about a variety of marine mammals that inhabit the Gulf of Mexico. Marine life, such as birds and coastal plants, are observed as the youths investigate local beaches, and salt marshes.

"There's no better way to learn about a salt marsh than to stand in it, listen to its sounds, see its critters and birds, feel its soft muddy bottom, and smell its unique aroma," said Dr Judy Wern, Sea Camp Director.

A Main Street diamond turns to gold...

Diamond T Trading Post celebrates 50 years of western wear sales in Bandera

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

"This was just supposed to be a jumping off point," says Elaine Small, "but 50 years later, we're still here." Small, owner of the Diamond T Trading Post on Bandera's Main Street is celebrating its fiftieth year of business this month.

Small and her soldier husband, A.B., came to Bandera in 1947 from San Antonio, their last station after the war. They established the western wear business in a frame building on Hwy. 16 near where Gay Guilott's real estate business is today. Later the operation moved into what is now the OST location and then next door to the present site.

The young couple had been married about two and a half years at the time.

As the years passed, the Small's had two sons, William and John. William is a lawyer practicing in Houston and John lives with his family in Moscow, Russia, where he is the vice-president of European sales for a California building firm.

Through the years in Bandera, Elaine and her late husband took an active part of the community.

"A.B. helped get the Chamber of Commerce started, he was in the Optimists, he worked with the Boy Scouts," said the diminutive shop keeper.

Why did they settle in Bandera? "Well, he was from Mississippi and I was from New York," Small laughed. "I wouldn't live in Mississippi and he wouldn't live in New York, so we compromised."

"We've watched Bandera grow," reminisced Small. "Lost Valley had just opened in 1946 and Flying L was just beginning. The Frontier Hotel opened in '48.

"We were here for the first Stompede. J.M. Hunter suggested the name, from the Stampede in Calgary, Canada.

"The Tourist Association wrote President Truman asking for a Cowboy Holiday. If he wouldn't grant it, they said that Bandera would secede from the Union and declare the 'Free State of Bandera,' and that's where that saying came from," recalls Small.

Diamond T Trading Post owner Elaine Small says keeping the customers happy is the key to business success.

Small says one of her biggest frustrations is that business owners have no say in how the city is run.

"Although we own property in the city, if we don't live within the city limits, we have no vote and can't hold office," said Small.

Small credits her business success and longevity to customer service. "It's important to do the best you can to satisfy customers," said Small. Most of Small's customers are visitors and vacationers, but many are local Banderans. "We have people who have been coming here for 20 or 30 years." The Diamond T even handles mail order requests from customers who can't get back to shop in person.

Levi jeans were $3.29 a pair and advertised they were "guaranteed to shrink" when the Diamond T opened in 1947.

"The styles have changed, but we started with western wear and that's what we still do," said Small.

The original Trading Post was a simple frame building on Hwy. 16.

A Main Street diamond turns to gold...

Diamond T Trading Post celebrates 50 years of western wear sales in Bandera

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

"This was just supposed to be a jumping off point," says Elaine Small, "but 50 years later, we're still here." Small, owner of the Diamond T Trading Post on Bandera's Main Street is celebrating its fiftieth year of business this month.

Small and her soldier husband, A.B., came to Bandera in 1947 from San Antonio, their last station after the war. They established the western wear business in a frame building on Hwy. 16 near where Gay Guilott's real estate business is today. Later the operation moved into what is now the OST location and then next door to the present site.

The young couple had been married about two and a half years at the time.

As the years passed, the Small's had two sons, William and John. William is a lawyer practicing in Houston and John lives with his family in Moscow, Russia, where he is the vice-president of European sales for a California building firm.

Through the years in Bandera, Elaine and her late husband took an active part of the community.

"A.B. helped get the Chamber of Commerce started, he was in the Optimists, he worked with the Boy Scouts," said the diminutive shop keeper.

Why did they settle in Bandera? "Well, he was from Mississippi and I was from New York," Small laughed. "I wouldn't live in Mississippi and he wouldn't live in New York, so we compromised."

Diamond T Trading Post owner Elaine Small says keeping the customers happy is the key to business success.

"We've watched Bandera grow," reminisced Small. "Lost Valley had just opened in 1946 and Flying L was just beginning. The Frontier Hotel opened in '48.

"We were here for the first Stompede. J.M. Hunter suggested the name, from the Stampede in Calgary, Canada.

"The Tourist Association wrote President Truman asking for a Cowboy Holiday. If he wouldn't grant it, they said that Bandera would secede from the Union and declare the 'Free State of Bandera,' and that's where that saying came from," recalls Small.

Small says one of her biggest frustrations is that business owners have no say in how the city is run.

"Although we own property in the city, if we don't live within the city limits, we have no vote and can't hold office," said Small.

Small credits her business success and longevity to customer service. "It's important to do the best you can to satisfy customers," said Small. Most of Small's customers are visitors and vacationers, but many are local Banderans. "We have people who have been coming here for 20 or 30 years." The Diamond T even handles mail order requests from customers who can't get back to shop in person.

Levi jeans were $3.29 a pair and advertised they were "guaranteed to shrink" when the Diamond T opened in 1947.

"The styles have changed, but we started with western wear and that's what we still do," said Small.

The original Trading Post was a simple frame building on Hwy. 16.

The conference will be held Jan. [illegible] Foundation and will be held June 5-8 in San Antonio.

During the seminar, 270 future leaders from schools throughout central and south Texas will hear from leaders in business, government, education, and the professions, allowing them to leave the seminar with a better understanding of the American economic system and the democratic process.

• Courtney McFadin, sophomore, exhibited a second place Stockshow on Sunday, Feb. 2. She is the daughter of John and Jessie McFadin of Utopia.

• The attendance percentage [illegible] school officials this week. This means the average daily attendance was 96.9 percent of enrolled students. While this is good, it still falls short of the 98 percent desired by the state.

That percentage will determine the amount of funding received by the school district from the state.

Guest columnist: Bette Lehe

[illegible] looks like we're having an early spring thaw. The Silver Sage is bustling with activity again.

We have a defensive driving course, sponsored by AARP, scheduled for March 3 and 4, [illegible] This course can be used for insurance discounts only, not ticket dismissal. If interested, you may sign up here at the Center or call 796-4969. The cost is $8 and is offered to drivers 50 years of age and over.

Please join us this Friday, Feb. 7 from 7-9 a.m. for our Pancake & Taco Breakfast. Sometimes we have entertainment surprises provided by Bungy. It's always fun to see what she'll come up with next.

Sunday, Feb. 9 at 2 p.m., we'll have our Second Sunday Social featuring the Doc Meador Combo. A new member has joined the Combo, Bubba Montague, who plays bass. For those who haven't had the pleasure of hearing this group, it also features Doc Meador and Steve Forest on the fiddle, Bob Bendele on guitar and Clarence Adamietz on the keyboard. They create some beautiful sounds, playing a combination of country, western and the oldies. Y'all come!

We're getting lots of favorable [illegible] Wheels recipients. Everyone [illegible] provided by Bitsy "Gene's Restaurant. It's always good to hear how much these meals are appreciated.

We recently received some interesting information from the government concerning long term care for Medicaid recipients. The 104th Congress passed a new health insurance law which creates three new crimes related to health care. One of these laws makes it a crime to "knowingly and willfully dispose of assets (including any transfer of trust) in order to become eligible for Medicaid." So, for those who are contemplating long term care for yourselves or a relative, be sure to check these new laws. The penalties range from 1 to 20 years imprisonment as well as monetary fines. Honesty in health care matters and health insurance matters are more important than ever.

• Courtney McFadin, sophomore, exhibited a second place Stockshow on Sunday, Feb. 2. She is the daughter of John and Jessie McFadin of Utopia.

• The attendance percentage [illegible] school officials this week. This means the average daily attendance was 96.9 percent of enrolled students. While this is good, it still falls short of the 98 percent desired by the state.

"We would like to encourage students to improve this percentage for the second semester, since the yearly percentage will have a direct impact on the report card the school will receive for this academic year," stated a school spokesperson. That percentage will determine the amount of funding received by the school district from the state.

Letters to the Editor

Thank God for our wonderful volunteers

Dear Editor:

As I sit here at my computer [illegible] for dedicated people like the people of Bandera County who unselfishly take time out of their life, giving, sharing, risking life and limb for people they don't even know or haven't met. Especially I thank the good people of the Bandera and Pipe Creek Volunteer Fire Departments that I have a home to sleep in tonight.

Let me explain. Members of my family had each gone their own way for the day and I had just returned home from an overnight retreat. It was about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when I noticed a strange set of dually truck tracks going across my back yard, so I set out to find out why. As I followed, I then noticed truck tracks all over the field next to the house in the area.

Earlier in the afternoon, a welder's spark quickly ignited a large field next to our house where the wind rapidly blew the flames directly toward our house. I'm sure if I or any of my family would have been home, we would have panicked.

According to the neighbors, volunteers from both Bandera and Pipe Creek Fire Department and a whole fleet of fire fighting equipment had converged to put out the fire.

We were not even home. We did not know anything had happened. We were not here to meet them and thank them, and yet people who do not even know us and whom we do not know, pitched in the save our home [illegible] what you are all about. In are understatement. We thank you from the bottom of our heart.

Since we moved here two and one half years ago, we have found this is, typical of this area—neighbors pitching in to help neighbors. People helping people, even if you don't know who they are. Too often, their efforts are not appreciated until after they are needed.

I thank God for each one of those who unselfishly give of themselves for the good of others. God bless them.

Idiot drivers are everywhere

Dear Editor:

I would like to comment on the irresponsibility of adults, and I use the term lightly, behind the wheel of a car. For example, last Monday morning I was taking my grandson to school and on the way home was turning into my street, had my left turn signal on mind you, and two, not just one, but two idiots in vehicles passed me like I wasn't even there! If I'd not been watching they would've plowed right into me.

I'm so tired of people out here driving like maniacs, and we wonder why our teenagers have no respect for the road. They watch their parents and I'm sorry to say, what an example they set.

I think, as adults, you people out there who have no more respect for others than to ride our bumpers, pass when you're not supposed to, and go faster than law allows, should either go and take a defensive driving course (an extended one) or get off the road. No wonder we have so many accidents.

Charles de Montel, founder of Bandera

Charles de Montel, one of the founders of Bandera, came to Texas when it was a Republic. The engineer became an explorer, rancher, soldier and colonizer.

He surveyed land from San Antonio westward to the Rio Grande and up to the Llano River.

The entrepreneur was born in Konigsburg, German in 1812 and arrived in Texas in 1837.

In 1844 de Montel joined empressario Henri Castro in his colonization movement as an aide, guide and surveyor. He was one of a company of 27 men who rode out of San Antonio with Castro at the head and was present at the founding of Castroville on Sept. 3, 1844.

In 1852, de Montel joined John James of San Antonio in a joint venture to develop 15,000 acres of land along the Medina River. The pair selected the townsite of Bandera in 1853.

Mayor's Memo...

by Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan

Time to fix up, clean up and move forward

Wow- wasn't that a neat, new police car that just passed? Clean, clear white with blue decals—same color as the Bandera Bulldogs. Wonder where it's from? Hey, it says Bandera. Don't tell me that our little city of Bandera finally has something that isn't worn out, beat up and ready for the junk yard!

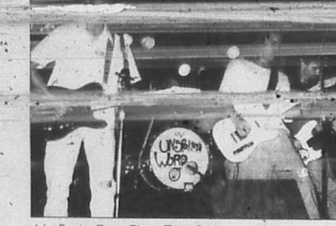
Yes, the City of Bandera finally does have a new up-to-date police car. I think we can look on the car with pride as visitors see it and form a good impression of Bandera. It is a start. Now if we can instill some pride in other areas. We just might become that clean, peaceful little hill country village, a place where living is even more delightful, a village that tourists (our big dollar income) come to visit and enjoy even more than they already do.

For some years now, I have walked around town from time to time, sometimes with Maple, sometimes by myself. I usually carry a plastic sack to carry the aluminum cans that I pick up as I walk. I am amazed how fast those critters grow—faster than rabbits. I am well aware that much of the trash, including cans, is brought in by thoughtless visitors. But I also think that as we begin to clean up our city, i.e., remove trash from streets, dispose of junk cars, fill potholes and caved off pavement edges, etc. that our visitors will also begin to take the hint and place their trash in the proper receptacles instead of chunking the stuff out of the car window.

And maybe we can start fixing up our own places. Many of you have already done so and I commend you. It is amazing what a little paint can do, repairing a broken fence, removing unwanted growth. Of course, I am one to be talking. My old frame house needs a tremendous amount of tender loving care in the form of repairs. I want to do a complete remodeling of the entire structure and as a consequence, I have let many needed items go unrepaired.

I think our city is much the same way. Maybe we keep putting off minor repairs thinking that all will be taken care of as we get into major overhaul of our water, waste water, storm drains and streets. We should pay attention to the ants eating the elephant, i.e., one bit at a time.

Council member Walter Welch wants us to start letting some contracts for repairing some of our more obvious areas. One of these is the crossing on 12th Street and Mulberry. Everytime it rains, we could stock that pond with fish. I think council member Welch is on the right track and we should pursue it A.S.A.P. if not sooner.



Of course, there are other areas that some of you may feel are just as bad. Hang in there. Once we take the initial bite, I think the progress will snowball and we can reach that ultimate goal of having all our streets and street drains working properly and efficiently.

In the meantime we are very close to getting our city administrator in place. We have had over 60 applicants which means our council has its work cut out in selecting the one for the job. I look forward not only to having the administrator in place, but gradually reducing all the "brush" fires we seem to have had. Then we can get on with the prime goal, namely Water, Waste Water, Storm Drainage and Streets.

Our next council meeting is Monday, Feb. 10, 1997 at 7 p.m. in City of Bandera Municipal Building. See you there.

Hard work goes into search for fame and fortune

Jake Frazier, Roger Rizner, Tybor Cook and John Montague work hard for the success of their band, Unspoken Word.

I ran off to Dallas this weekend on a spur of the moment decision to [illegible] I'd never seen it at night and got a gorgeous skyline. The city was nothing like what I had expected. Did quite a bit of exploring, and except for the actual downtown part (which looked much like most big cities do downtown, except cleaner) it turned out to be one of the prettier cities I've visited.

On Sunday morning, we had breakfast at a cafe in the Deep Ellum part of town. It was obvious that a lot of partying had gone on there the night before, but the streets were deserted on Sunday. Although it was clear that this is a funky part of town (lots of tattoo parlors, body piercing joints, and heavy metal bars that you couldn't see into) some of the murals on the walls were astounding.

One looked like you could just walk right up the steps and recline gracefully among the animals.

[illegible] technology at the cafe I've ever tasted.

A highlight was seeing the "grassy knoll." I've seen it countless times on TV, of course, but I could not visit Dallas without experiencing the actual place. It may sound funny, but I felt a sense of history and tragedy as we passed down the fateful route JFK took that day.

On Saturday afternoon we played Trivial Pursuit.

Did you know that Pearl Buck submitted The Good Earth 14 times before a publisher accepted it? Or that Michael Jordan was cut from his 10th grade basketball team?

It just goes to show that believing in yourself, and perseverance, are what make the great ones great.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Do you ever see someone wheelbarrowing the big bucks down to the bank because they had an idea for some new product that suddenly everybody wants? You say to yourself, "Hey, I could have thought of that!"

It happens to me all the time. An in fact, in a couple of cases, I DID think of that. First. But I figured NOBODY would spend money on such a stupid idea.

A flashlight designed to be held in your mouth with the on-off switch also mouth operated. My idea. Saw it in a catalog recently.

Chia pets.

That was my idea. I swear!

But who would have thought that even one of those green-bodied sheep would find a home? I didn't think even my mother would buy one just to make me feel better.

Now, every major holiday, I see anxious gift buyers pushing one another out of the way to get that very special Chia for their loved one.

Now I hear that someone has profited from yet another of my brilliant ideas: Boyfriend in a box.

The B-in-a-B sells for $14.95 and includes a picture suitable for framing (along with a wallet size shot), a brief bio, a big stack of pink phone messages to post around the office, a couple of love notes and a touching "I'm sorry" note to show his sensitive side.

There are six Mr. Rights to choose from including a doctor, a fireman, a musician and a muscle man.

It's such an obvious solution for us busy women who get really irritated by those busy bodies and nosy relatives who always want to know, "Are you seeing anyone?"

I don't know how many times I thought a faux boyfriend would be just the thing to have around the house. I just didn't realize that I could get $15 each for the idea.

I mean, I didn't think my mother would buy one of these either.

• Did you see the chain saw artist at work on the Main St. sidewalk in front of Western Flair? He had the chips flying as he carved fish, bears and eagles Friday afternoon. Sidewalk artists would be a lot of fun to see regularly around here.

• We often encourage you folks to express your gratitude to others but we don't expect it for ourselves. So we were surprised and delighted last week to receive a nice thank you meal from Linda up at The Cabaret. We really enjoyed those shrimp kabobs and the bubbling apple pie!

Basic Bandera

Of course nobody would have enjoyed an icy commute to San Antonio when the latest Arctic front came in this past week, but it was not good that we felt only a dry north wind. That little chain of tanks just beyond Camp Verde on Hwy. 173 toward Kerrville is holding water these days, making one think the drought/drouth has been eased. But you wanna know something? It hasn't! Don't waste water!

Life rocks along though, as we proceed in our hopeful ignorance. And we love getting all the calls and cards people are so kind to send, reporting on observations of the Hill Country scene.

Ginny Brient invested in a special feeder and the recommended niger thistle seed for her door yard and reports eager flocks of American goldfinches zeroing in on their favorite fare. We put out some thistle last year which was inhaled by the usual sparrows before goldfinches strayed out from town to find it. Do you think that Bandera town has a greater goldfinch population than surrounding countryside venues anyway?

Robin Shaw saw a bluebird up by Medina not too long ago. Are bluebirds usually here in winter? The map in the bird book indicates we're right on the line of "winter" and "year-round" range for eastern bluebirds. Bandera is, you know, right on the dividing land between lots of things—wet and dry, green and brown, redneck and sophisticated, sin and virtue, to mix up just a few adjectives and nouns!

Dorothy Mattiza says that the very first Edwards Plateau anenomes have popped up in her pasture, those low growing little wind flowers which are the harbingers of spring. There are two kinds here—the more common "Anemone heterophylla" and the rare "Anemone edwardsiana," found only in the Hill Country. It would seem that these little fellers responded more to the warm days we've had than to the fierce morning lows coming around every so often. According to botany writer Marshall Enquist, a casual observer might confuse these plants, but that "a close look will quickly separate the two." Yeah, sure.

A lady we are quite anxious to talk with at length is Velma Stevens Castle, who called recently saying that she was born in Bandera County in 1908 and remembers vividly having been taken as a child to hear famed evangelist Policarpo Rodriguez preach. The late Edith Edwards also had clear memories of Mr. Polly, who forsook the Catholic Church to work as a Methodist circuit rider after building Polly's Chapel on his ranch on Privilege Creek. Miss Edith recalled sitting in the bed of her father's wagon at the outdoor service held by Mr. Polly. His sermon lasted two or three hours, she said, with the children in the wagon nodding off to nap on the quilts spread on the floorboards before the final hymn woke them up.

Geologist Robert Pavlovic of Houston called to say he was in Bandera briefly trying to relocate an actual igneous dike he had discovered years ago doing surface exploration in the area. An igneous dike, geologist Allen Hatley will tell you, is a visible intrusion of the base granite which lies beneath all the layers of limestone on which we live and breathe and have our being above Fredericksburg in the Llano Uplift, the greatest indication being the famous Enchanted Rock. Our outcrop is only a little bump somewhere along the river. Don't get excited. There ain't no San Saba Silver Mine around here! Or is there?

Conlee at Cabaret

Country great John Conlee will perform at The Cabaret on Friday, Feb. 28. Pre-event tickets are now on sale.

Conlee is known for such hits as Lady Lay Down, Friday Night Blues and Back Side of Thirty.

Music Gallery, all in San Antonio, and The Cow Hop in [illegible] late nighters. KISS Radio will play Unspoken Word during the Texas Tracks program on Mondays at midnight.

Band members claim they aren't looking to be rich.

"We hope someday to make a comfortable living with the band," Cook said.

And Montague said that ideal may become a reality.

"It's getting closer and closer," he said. "We are playing more and more lately."

It took the band six weeks to make the CD.

"A lot of bands think it would be fun to go into the studio, but it's a lot of work," Montague said.

The CD is sold for $10 at the band's performances, and can also be found at Hogwild Records in San Antonio. The group also plans to initiate a mailing list so fans will always know where they are playing.

On Feb. 15, Unspoken Word can be seen and heard at Rev's Down Under in Bandera at their CD release party.

The rest of the band's dates for February include: The Music Gallery on St. Mary's Street on Feb. 7; The Cow Hop in College Station on Feb. 8; Rev's on Feb. 15; The White Rabbit on Feb. 21; Sneaker's on Feb. 24; and the Music Gallery on Feb. 28.

For a special treat, Unspoken Word will play at the C.O.W. benefit on March 1 at 10:30. The benefit is to raise funds to help defray medical costs incurred when five-year-old local boy Charlie Weaver was injured falling from a horse.

Charles de Montel, founder of Bandera

Charles de Montel, one of the founders of Bandera, came to Texas when it was a Republic. The engineer became an explorer, rancher, soldier and colonizer.

He surveyed land from San Antonio westward to the Rio Grande and up to the Llano River.

The entrepreneur was born in Konigsburg, German in 1812 and arrived in Texas in 1837.

In 1844 de Montel joined empressario Henri Castro in his colonization movement as an aide, guide and surveyor. He was one of a company of 27 men who rode out of San Antonio with Castro at the head and was present at the founding of Castroville on Sept. 3, 1844.

In 1852, de Montel joined John James of San Antonio in a joint venture to develop 15,000 acres of land along the Medina River. The pair selected the townsite of Bandera in 1853.

I ran off to Dallas this weekend on a spur of the moment. [illegible] the Dallas night and what a gorgeous skyline. The city was nothing like what I had expected. Did quite a bit of exploring, and except for the actual downtown part (which looked much like most big cities do downtown, except cleaner) it turned out to be one of the prettier cities I've visited.

On Sunday morning, we had breakfast at a cafe in the Deep Ellum part of town. It was obvious that a lot of partying had gone on there the night before, but the streets were deserted on Sunday. Although it was clear that this is a funky part of town (lots of tattoo parlors, body piercing joints, and heavy metal bars that you couldn't see into) some of the murals on the walls were astounding.

One looked like you could just walk right up the steps and recline gracefully among the [illegible] animals.

[illegible] at the cafe I've ever tasted.

A highlight was seeing the "grassy knoll." I've seen it countless times on TV, of course, but I could not visit Dallas without experiencing the actual place. It may sound funny, but I felt a sense of history and tragedy as we passed down the fateful route JFK took that day.

On Saturday afternoon we played Trivial Pursuit.

Did you know that Pearl Buck submitted The Good Earth 14 times, before a publisher accepted it? Or that Michael Jordan was cut from his 10th grade basketball team?

It just goes to show that believing in yourself, and perseverance, are what make the great ones great.

Carolyn's Corner

by Carolyn B. Edwards, Editor

Do you ever see someone wheelbarrowing the big bucks down to the bank because they had an idea for some new product that suddenly everybody wants? You say to yourself, "Hey, I could have thought of that!"

It happens to me all the time. An in fact, in a couple of cases, I DID think of that. First. But I figured NOBODY would spend money on such a stupid idea.

A flashlight designed to be held in your mouth with the on-off switch also mouth operated. My idea. Saw it in a catalog recently.

Chia pets.

That was my idea. I swear!

But who would have thought that even one of those green-bodied sheep would find a home? I didn't think even my mother would buy one just to make me feel better.

Now, every major holiday, I see anxious gift buyers pushing one another out of the way to get that very special Chia for their loved one.

Now I hear that someone has profited from yet another of my brilliant ideas: Boyfriend in a box.

The B-in-a-B sells for $14.95 and includes a picture suitable for framing (along with a wallet size shot), a brief bio, a big stack of pink phone messages to post around the office, a couple of love notes and a touching "I'm sorry" note to show his sensitive side.

There are six Mr. Rights to choose from including a doctor, a fireman, a musician and a muscle man.

It's such an obvious solution for us busy women who get really irritated by those busy bodies and nosy relatives who always want to know, "Are you seeing anyone?"

I don't know how many times I thought a faux boyfriend would be just the thing to have around the house. I just didn't realize that I could get $15 each for the idea.

I mean, I didn't think my mother would buy one of these either.

• Did you see the chain saw artist at work on the Main St. sidewalk in front of Western Flair? He had the chips flying as he carved fish, bears and eagles Friday afternoon. Sidewalk artists would be a lot of fun to see regularly around here.

• We often encourage you folks to express your gratitude to others but we don't expect it for ourselves. So we were surprised and delighted last week to receive a nice thank you meal from Linda up at The Cabaret. We really enjoyed those shrimp kabobs and the bubbling apple pie!

Mayor's Memo...

by Bandera Mayor Bob Cowan

Time to fix up, clean up and move forward

Wow- wasn't that a neat, new police car that just passed? Clean, clear white with blue decals—same color as the Bandera Bulldogs. Wonder where it's from? Hey, it says Bandera. Don't tell me that our little city of Bandera finally has something that isn't worn out, beat up and ready for the junk yard!

Yes, the City of Bandera finally does have a new up-to-date police car. I think we can look on the car with pride as visitors see it and form a good impression of Bandera. It is a start. Now if we can instill some pride in other areas. We just might become that clean, peaceful little hill country village, a place where living is even more delightful, a village that tourists (our big dollar income) come to visit and enjoy even more than they already do.

For some years now, I have walked around town from time to time, sometimes with Maple, sometimes by myself. I usually carry a plastic sack to carry the aluminum cans that I pick up as I walk. I am amazed how fast those critters grow—faster than rabbits. I am well aware that much of the trash, including cans, is brought in by thoughtless visitors. But I also think that as we begin to clean up our city, i.e., remove trash from streets, dispose of junk cars, fill potholes and caved off pavement edges, etc. that our visitors will also begin to take the hint and place their trash in the proper receptacles instead of chunking the stuff out of the car window.

And maybe we can start fixing up our own places. Many of you have, already done so and I commend you. It is amazing what a little paint can do, repairing a broken fence, removing unwanted growth. Of course, I am one to be talking. My old frame house needs a tremendous amount of tender loving care in the form of repairs. I want to do a complete remodeling of the entire structure and as a consequence, I have let many needed items go unrepaired.

I think our city is much the same way. Maybe we keep putting off minor repairs thinking that all will be taken care of as we get into major overhaul of our water, waste water, storm drains and streets. We should pay attention to the ants eating the elephant, i.e., one bit at a time.

Council member Walter Welch wants us to start letting some contracts for repairing some of our more obvious areas. One of these is the crossing on 12th Street and Mulberry. Everytime it rains, we could stock that pond with fish. I think council member Welch is on the right track and we should pursue it A.S.A.P. if not sooner.

Of course, there are other areas that some of you may feel are just as bad. Hang in there. Once we take the initial bite, I think the progress will snowball and we can reach that ultimate goal of having all our streets and street drains working properly and efficiently.

In the meantime we are very close to getting our city administrator in place. We have had over 60 applicants which means our council has its work cut out in selecting the one for the job. I look forward not only to having the administrator in place, but gradually reducing all the "brush" fires we seem to have had. Then we can get on with the prime goal, namely Water, Waste Water, Storm Drainage and Streets.

Our next council meeting is Monday, Feb. 10, 1997 at 7 p.m. in City of Bandera Municipal Building. See you there.

Hard work goes into search for fame and fortune

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

[illegible] dream of making it big in the musical world, and it seems like a life of fun and fame.

But four young men from Bandera, who have formed a band that has acquired quite a following, say it's actually a lot of hard work.

The band Unspoken Word has played together for two years, and has just recently cut a CD.

The band is comprised of Tybor Cook, guitar and vocals, John Montague, guitar and vocals, Roger Rizner, drums, and Jake Frazier, bass guitar.

They don't like to put a label on the type of music they play, but it's a mixture of offbeat rock-n-roll.

Montague can lay claim to having some pretty well-known musicians in his family. His grandfathers were local musicians Jimmy Russell and Frank Montague, most recently of the Sheriff's Posse band. He says Cook taught him how to play guitar.

"I started writing songs when I was 18," Montague said. "After Tybor taught me guitar it was all downhill from there."

Cook has been playing for eight years. His father, Van, and he are also in a band called Delta Blue that has a large local following.

"I initially started this band because the music I was writing didn't fit the style of Delta Blue," Cook explained.

Like Montague, Cook has a musical family with his father, and a grandfather, being musicians.

Cook and Rizner had a garage band when they were students at Bandera High School.

"All of the previous bands evolved into Delta Blue," Cook said. "I'm more or less going back to my roots. We (Unspoken Word) play the kind of stuff I've been listening to ever since I've been listening to music."

Rizner hopes the band will make it big.

"I would like to someday make a living at it and be a professional musician," he said.

Currently, all the band members except Cook hold full-time jobs not in the music field.

Frazier, a one-time drum major for Bandera High School, is a gifted musician, his bandmates claim.

"He can play any instrument," Montague said. "You give it to him and in an hour he will play you a song."

Probably the band member with the most experience playing in groups, Frazier replaced an original bass player who left the band without warning just days before they were scheduled to begin their studio time.

Unspoken Word can be seen at any number of venues including Rock Island, Sneakers, The Music Gallery, all in San Antonio, and The Cow Hop in College Station on occasion. On late nights, KISS Radio will play Unspoken Word during the Texas Tracks program on Mondays at midnight.

Band members claim they aren't looking to be rich.

"We hope someday to make a comfortable living with the band," Cook said.

And Montague said that ideal may become a reality.

"It's getting closer and closer," he said. "We are playing more and more lately."

It took the band six weeks to make the CD.

"A lot of bands think it would be fun to go into the studio, but it's a lot of work," Montague said.

The CD is sold for $10 at the band's performances, and can also be found at Hogwild Records in San Antonio. The group also plans to initiate a mailing list so fans will always know where they are playing.

On Feb. 15, Unspoken Word can be seen and heard at Rev's Down Under in Bandera at their CD release party.

The rest of the band's dates for February include: The Music Gallery on St. Mary's Street on Feb. 7; The Cow Hop in College Station on Feb. 8; Rev's on Feb. 15; The White Rabbit on Feb. 21; Sneaker's on Feb. 24; and the Music Gallery on Feb. 28.

For a special treat, Unspoken Word will play at the C.O.W. benefit on March 1 at 10:30. The benefit is to raise funds to help defray medical costs incurred when five-year-old local boy Charlie Weaver was injured falling from a horse.

Of course nobody would have enjoyed an icy commute to San Antonio when the latest Arctic front came in this past week, but it was not good that we felt only a dry north wind. That little chain of tanks just beyond Camp Verde on Hwy. 173 toward Kerrville is holding water these days, making one think the drought/drouth has been eased. But you wanna know something? It hasn't! Don't waste water!

Life rocks along though, as we proceed in our hopeful ignorance. And we love getting all the calls and cards people are so kind to send, reporting on observations of the Hill Country scene.

Ginny Brient invested in a special feeder and the recommended niger thistle seed for her door yard and reports eager flocks of American goldfinches zeroing in on their favorite fare. We put out some thistle last year which was inhaled by the usual sparrows before goldfinches strayed out from town to find it. Do you think that Bandera town has a greater goldfinch population than surrounding countryside venues anyway?

Robin Shaw saw a bluebird up by Medina not too long ago. Are bluebirds usually here in winter? The map in the bird book indicates we're right on the line of "winter" and "year-round" range for eastern bluebirds. Bandera is, you know, right on the dividing land between lots of things—wet and dry, green and brown, redneck and sophisticated, sin and virtue, to mix up just a few adjectives and nouns!

Dorothy Mattiza says that the very first Edwards Plateau anenomes have popped up in her pasture, those low growing little wind flowers which are the harbingers of spring. There are two kinds here—the more common "Anemone heterophylla" and the rare "Anemone edwardsiana," found only in the Hill Country. It would seem that these little fellers responded more to the warm days we've had than to the fierce morning lows coming around every so often. According to botany writer Marshall Enquist, a casual observer might confuse these plants, but that "a close look will quickly separate the two." Yeah, sure.

A lady we are quite anxious to talk with at length is Velma Stevens Castle, who called recently saying that she was born in Bandera County in 1908 and remembers vividly having been taken as a child to hear famed evangelist Policarpo Rodriguez preach. The late Edith Edwards also had clear memories of Mr. Polly, who forsook the Catholic Church to work as a Methodist circuit rider after building Polly's Chapel on his ranch on Privilege Creek. Miss Edith recalled sitting in the bed of her father's wagon at the outdoor service held by Mr. Polly. His sermon lasted two or three hours, she said, with the children in the wagon nodding off to nap on the quilts spread on the floorboards before the final hymn woke them up.

Geologist Robert Pavlovic of Houston called to say he was in Bandera briefly trying to relocate an actual igneous dike he had discovered years ago doing surface exploration in the area. An igneous dike, geologist Allen Hatley will tell you, is a visible intrusion of the base granite which lies beneath all the layers of limestone on which we live and breathe and have our being above Frederickburg in the Llano Uplift, the greatest indication being the famous Enchanted Rock. Our outcrop is only a little bump somewhere along the river. Don't get excited. There ain't no San Saba Silver Mine around here! Or is there?

Two year terms held by Dorothy Darden and Johnny Pina are up for election, and an unexpired term currently held by Curtis Wilson is up.

Potential candidates can file starting on Feb. 17, 1997, with the deadline for filing falling on March 19. Applications can be picked up at the Bandera City Offices, 503 Main Street, Bandera.

The city of Bandera is governed by a five member unpaid council led by a mayor. The city is currently looking for a city administrator to conduct the day-to-day operations of the city.

Council members include Dorothy Darden, Johnny Pina, Walter Welch, Curtis Wilson and Tom Kindla.

Kendall County officer charged

A Kendall County deputy has been charged with two counts of assault with bodily injury after an incident that occurred in a local saloon on April 1, 1996.

Texas Ranger John Martin filed the charges against Michael Bryan Ratterree, 34, in county court last week.

According to the charges, Ratterree allegedly caused a minor abrasion to Leonora Anne Earnshaw's back, and a laceration to the scalp of Ernest Charles Huron, Jr. in what witnesses have described as a fight in the Purple Cow Saloon in Bandera.

Ratterree was arraigned on Tuesday, Feb. 4, 1997 in Bandera County Court.

Minor Stings operation nets nine in Bandera County

A recent sting operation conducted by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission in Bandera County found a little over half of the businesses checked willing to sell alcoholic beverages to minors, reported a story by Sara Solis in the Uvalde Leader News recently.

The operation, known as Minor Stings, uses minors who volunteer to assist the TABC.

The minors are photographed before and after the sting as proof that they did indeed look their age.

Of 17 locations hit in the recent operation in Bandera County, nine sold alcohol to a 17-year old girl, said TABC agent Doug Postert, who grew up in the Bandera area and attended Bandera High School.

"The minors are instructed not to try to deceive anyone," Postert said, "If they're asked how old they are, they're to tell them their correct age and if they're asked for ID, they're to show their ID."

During the sting, an undercover agent accompanies the minor into the establishment to serve as a witness, as well as to ensure the minor's safety.

While an individual who sells alcohol to minors is criminally responsible, the establishment employing the individual is also responsible, according to the law, Postert said.

Postert said the purpose of the sting program is to make the public aware of the problems of selling alcohol to minors and to enforce the law.

"I don't make the laws, I just enforce them," he said, but added, "I feel like I'm doing something of value for the community."

Postert reported that about 50 percent of the locations the TABC tries will sell to minors, so the result of the Bandera operation was standard.

Rabies vaccine air drop in progress

West-Central Texas portion of Texas Department of Health Oral Rabies Vaccination Program (ORVP) the program officially began Wednesday, Jan. 29.

The airdrop of the baits are a part of a continuing attempt to contain a gray fox rabies epizootic (epidemic in animals) which began in Val Verde County in 1988 and has spread to 48 counties in West and Central Texas.

Some 1.1 million baits containing a rabies vaccine manufactured by Rhone-Merieux, Inc., will be dropped from three bright yellow Twin Otter planes from the Ontario (Canada) Ministry of Natural Resources to immunize foxes against rabies.

The West-Central Texas drop zone includes portions of the following counties: Bandera, Bexar, Blanco, Borden, Brewster, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Jones, Kendall, Upton and Zavala and others.

West-Central Texas airdrop follows completion of similar airdrop of 1.5 million baits over 21,000 square acres miles (29 counties) in South Texas (from Alice International Airport) to immunize coyotes.

Nicole Brazeal, 30, of Pflugerville, charged with burglary of a habitation and unlicensed use of a motor vehicle.

Arrested by the Department of Public Safety was Tasha Isbell, 19, of Hondo on traffic warrants.

will include a regional antique [illegible] market on March 7-9.

"People can play and win [illegible] stalls," Jimenez said.

A Texas Casino Days with play money, and a carnival are [illegible] purchase tickets for raffles of awards.

"Our whole concept is to have a regional family fair," the new owner said.

Jimenez also intends to hold a Bandera Folklife Festival on the opening weekend, and future concerts at the defunct racing facility.

"It will help Bandera get some business up here," Allan said. "He (Jimenez) wants to have a [illegible] Bandera is the perfect place."

Jimenez is retired from the [illegible] where he was in charge of the electronics of six naval ships. He has had experience in festivals in areas like the [illegible] and for logistics and the safety factor," Jimenez said.

Anyone interested in renting space as a vendor at the upcoming Regional Antique, Collectible, Arts & Crafts Flea Market should call 210-432-8110.

The race track ceased operations as a Class 2 racetrack in June of 1995 and the property was immediately offered for sale.

"[illegible] head, jump in the pit stuff," he said. There will be some country and western concerts and [illegible] concerts."

Jimenez does have plans to [illegible] Bandera Downs as a Class 2 Racetrack facility.

"Mainly right now, Bandera Downs will be available for [illegible] ties," he said.

According to Jimenez, all events at the racetrack will be nonprofit.

"The Bandera School District will always get a minimum of 10 percent from what we pull in," he said, adding that the Kiwanis Club and the American Cancer Society would also be beneficiaries.

COS are now opposing this latest attempt for a change in their water use permit by BMA.

LAMCOS contends the Commission is without jurisdiction to grant the requested relief under the facts and law applicable to this matter.

LAMCOS' reply to BMA's application to the Commission says that changes in the application would require public notice, and cannot be made on the basis that public notice was given for the 1993 permit change application.

According to the reply written by LAMCOS' lawyer, Frank R. Booth, "the applicant's motion circumvents the Commission's rules."

The Office of the Public Interest Counsel at the TNRCC also opposes granting the change in the permit. The OPIC recommends that "the Commissioners not issue an order without requiring the applicant to submit a revised application and comply with notice requirements."

BMA contends that it has entered into a long-term contract to provide water for municipal or industrial purposes to Bexar Metropolitan Water District and previously provided evidence supports the diversion of 19,974 acre feet for municipal use.

BMA's new request for a permit change deletes the reservation of 5,000 acre feet annually for possible sale and use within Bandera County. That reservation was included in the first permit change request granted by TNRCC in 1993.

Tourism Talks

Ben Nolen

I've been in and out, round and about the Bandera County Chamber of Commerce and the Bandera County Convention and Visitors Bureau since 1981. Over those 15 plus years a lot of progress has been made in our county and community. However, there are still a couple of old well-worn and tattered cliches which continue to hang around.

The first: "what has the Chamber ever done for me" has more lives than a box car full of cats.

A good, and quite recent example of what the Chamber has "done for you" was the Cowboy Christmas. This event, started back in 1983, was a quick couple of days in December with the primary theme of "Shop Bandera."

This past December the Cowboy Christmas Committee, headed by Mazie Todd, expanded the weekend event to the whole month of December. Activities such as the Mounted Western Fashion Show, the Road-E-O, the Christmas Parade and various other events kept visitors in our area for the whole month of December. Naturally, the longer they're here, the more they spend.

Another county promotion is the annual Winter Texan Party. As everyone knows, the Winter Texan has became an important part of the economic base in Bandera County. Homer Stevens, co-owner of the Farm Country Club, chairs the committee handling this event. He is consistently doing a great job to persuade more and more of the "Winter Texans" to visit our local businesses. This party is not a fund raiser for the Chamber, but a "hearty handshakin', how ya been doing, glad to have you back" from the merchants and business people of Bandera County. Basically a welcome from you and folks like you.

I could ramble on and on about the "Chamber doing for you," and quite possibly will in the weeks to come. Let's open our eyes and see past this tattered old cliché and realize the Chamber is a dynamic force in our community, one which has earned the respect of our local businesses.

Why not pitch in, yes you, with your time or supportive membership. Believe it or not, there are some businesses which derive an enormous amount of their income from visitors, but have never been members of the Chamber. If the shoe fits—wear it, but support those who support you and your business.

Oh yes, I said there were two cliches...I'll get to number two next week.

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

When was the last time you took "time off" to do nothing but think-reflect? Nothing to do but let the mind roam, sometimes without conscious direction.

There is a story told about a famous publisher of a well-known magazine. One of his junior editors had swung his office chair around, propped his heels on the window sill and was gazing out into space. The publisher stepped behind him, place a hand on his shoulder and said quietly, "Don't let me disturb you. I just wanted to tell you the most important thing you can do is just what you are doing now. Never forget the value of taking ten minutes out to think."

All of us are so stressed these days. Our days are filled with phones, meetings, chores to be done and responsibilities to be taken care of.

Our lives are so filled with doing things that too often we give immediate matters shallow judgment and future problems little thought at all.

I'm all for taking a little "time off". . .Maybe we'd all be farther ahead if we took time off from getting ahead and gave more time to thinking ahead.

Time nears for filing in May city council election

CITY Three seats on the Bandera city council will be up for grabs in the upcoming May 3 election.

Two year terms held by Dorothy Darden and Johnny Pina are up for election, and an unexpired term currently held by Curtis Wilson is up.

Potential candidates can file starting on Feb. 17, 1997, with the deadline for filing falling on March 19. Applications can be picked up at the Bandera City Offices, 503 Main Street, Bandera.

The city of Bandera is governed by a five member unpaid council led by a mayor. The city is currently looking for a city administrator to conduct the day-to-day operations of the city.

Council members include Dorothy Darden, Johnny Pina, Walter Welch, Curtis Wilson and Tom Kindla.

Kendall County officer charged

A Kendall County deputy has been charged with two counts of assault with bodily injury after an incident that occurred in a local saloon on April 1, 1996.

Texas Ranger John Martin filed the charges against Michael Bryan Ratterree, 34, in county court last week.

According to the charges, Ratterree allegedly caused a minor abrasion to Leonora Anne Earnshaw's back, and a laceration to the scalp of Ernest Charles Huron, Jr. in what witnesses have described as a fight in the Purple Cow Saloon in Bandera.

Ratterree was arraigned on Tuesday, Feb. 4, 1997 in Bandera County Court.

Minor Stings operation nets nine in Bandera County

A recent sting operation conducted by the Texas Alcoholic Beverage Commission in Bandera County found a little over half of the businesses checked willing to sell alcoholic beverages to minors, reported a story by Sara Solis in the Uvalde Leader News recently.

The operation, known as Minor Stings, uses minors who volunteer to assist the TABC.

The minors are photographed before and after the sting as proof that they did indeed look their age.

Of 17 locations hit in the recent operation in Bandera County, nine sold alcohol to a 17-year old girl, said TABC agent Doug Postert, who grew up in the Bandera area and attended Bandera High School.

"The minors are instructed not to try to deceive anyone," Postert said, "If they're asked how old they are, they're to tell them their correct age and if they're asked for ID, they're to show their ID."

During the sting, an undercover agent accompanies the minor into the establishment to serve as a witness, as well as to ensure the minor's safety.

While an individual who sells alcohol to minors is criminally responsible, the establishment employing the individual is also responsible, according to the law, Postert said.

Postert said the purpose of the sting program is to make the public aware of the problems of selling alcohol to minors and to enforce the law.

"I don't make the laws, I just enforce them," he said, but added, "I feel like I'm doing something of value for the community."

Postert reported that about 50 percent of the locations the TABC tries will sell to minors, so the result of the Bandera operation was standard.

Rabies vaccine air drop in progress

West-Central Texas portion of Texas Department of Health Oral Rabies Vaccination Program (ORVP) the program officially began Wednesday, Jan. 29.

The airdrop of the baits are a part of a continuing attempt to contain a gray fox rabies epizootic (epidemic in animals) which began in Val Verde County in 1988 and has spread to 48 counties in West and Central Texas.

Some 1.1 million baits containing a rabies vaccine manufactured by Rhone-Merieuz, Inc., will be dropped from three bright yellow Twin Otter planes from the Ontario (Canada) Ministry of Natural Resources to immunize foxes against rabies.

The West-Central Texas drop zone includes portions of the following counties; Bandera, Bexar, Blanco, Borden, Brewster, Brown, Burnet, Callahan, Jones, Kendall, Upton and Zavala and others.

West-Central Texas airdrop follows completion of similar airdrop of 1.5 million baits over 21,000 square acres miles (29 counties) in South Texas (from Alice International Airport) to immunize coyotes.

Nicole Brazeal, 30, of Pflugerville, charged with burglary of a habitation and unlicensed use of a motor vehicle.

Arrested by the Department of Public Safety was Tasha Isbell, 19, of Hondo on traffic warrants.

The jail log is presented as a public service by area law enforcement and The Bandera Bulletin. It is important to note that because an individual is arrested or indicted for a crime, or is present at a crime scene, or is identified as a suspect in any printed report in no way indicates that person is guilty of a criminal offense. Guilt or innocence must be determined by a court of law.

COS are now opposing this latest attempt for a change in their water use permit by BMA.

LAMCOS contends the Commission is without jurisdiction to grant the requested relief under the facts and law applicable to this matter.

LAMCOS' reply to BMA's application to the Commission says that changes in the application would require public notice, and cannot be made on the basis that public notice was given for the 1993 permit change application.

According to the reply written by LAMCOS' lawyer, Frank R. Booth, "the applicant's motion circumvents the Commission's rules."

The Office of the Public Interest Counsel at the TNRCC also opposes granting the change in the permit. The OPIC recommends that "the Commissioners not issue an order without requiring the applicant to submit a revised application and comply with notice requirements."

BMA contends that it has entered into a long-term contract to provide water for municipal or industrial purposes to Bexar Metropolitan Water District and previously provided evidence supports the diversion of 19,974 acre feet for municipal use.

BMA's new request for a permit change deletes the reservation of 5,000 acre feet annually for possible sale and use within Bandera County. That reservation was included in the first permit change request granted by TNRCC in 1993.

Beleaguered Bandera Downs has found new life in the form of a San Antonio entrepreneur named Roch Jimenez.

"We've signed the contracts," said Tarpley resident Bill Allan, Jr., one of Bandera Down's owners. "It starts out as a lease and then goes into a purchase."

Allan seemed pleased with the announcement.

"The reason we are selling is because we want to pay off all the debts," he explained. "Had we gone into bankruptcy nobody would have gotten anything."

Currently, the debts owed equal $270,454.72 in taxes to the Bandera Independent School District and $27,976.34 in taxes to Bandera County. Other debts, such as horsemen's fees, are over $521,000. The total amount owed to various taxing entities, individuals and others amounts to over $1,000,000.

The lease/purchase deal has been working for three months, according to Allan.

Jimenez, who is in negotiations to sign the lease/purchase contract, has big plans for the facility, and will move on them right away. According to him, he will sign later this week.

Megan Tracy was the junior division winner in the Horse Showmanship Class of the Bandera Junior Livestock Show held Jan. 19 at Mansfield Park Arena. Showmanship is a performance class, judged on the exhibitor's ability to fit and show a horse at halter, and is not judged on the conformation of the horse. Sponsor of the junior division was the Horseman's General Store of Bandera.

Feb. 10 fund raiser for Dexter

Grace Lutheran Church is sponsoring a benefit to help Michelle Dexter's family with her medical expenses. Dexter was seriously burned in an accident in December. The fund raiser will include a spaghetti dinner, a bake sale, a silent auction and a celebrity/coaches basketball game.

On Monday, Feb. 10, beginning at 5 p.m., an all-you-can eat spaghetti dinner will be served at the Bandera High School Cafeteria.

Dinner will be served until 8 p.m. with to-go plates available. Cost will be $5-adults, $3.50 for children 12 and under, under 2 free.

"We will also be having a bake sale and a silent auction held during the dinner. The results from the silent auction will be given during half-time of the basketball game," said pastor Glenn Moehring.

The staff at the Ranch Radio Station in Kerrville will be playing the Bandera coaches in a basketball game. Admission to the game is free with a dinner purchase. Admission to the game alone will cost $2 for adults and $1 for students.

"We have had a lot of wonderful donations for the silent auction-- but there is always room for more," said Moehring. "If you can donate any items please contact Jody or Terry Patrick at 460-8535. For those who would donate baked goods for the bake sale, please contact Rhonda Hurley at 796-4645."

Pre-sale tickets are available from the students in the athletic department at Bandera High School or can be purchased the night of the dinner.

"It should be a fun night for all, so please come and join us," said Moehring.

Dexter is recovering at BAMC Burn Unit in San Antonio and is expected to return home soon.

Blood drive Friday

Make a lifesaving difference by giving the precious "gift of life" at the Bandera High School Blood Drive, Friday, Feb. 7 from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. in the Band Hall. The drive is being held as a replacement blood drive for classmate Michelle Dexter, a recent burn victim.

Donors must be 17 to 72 years of age, weigh at least 110 pounds and be in good general health to give. Donors should eat plenty of iron-rich food such as fresh fruits and vegetables prior to donating. For more information contact Bandera High School at 796-3753.

TNRCC hears arguments to change BMA permit

Request has legal problems, says LAMCOS

by Carolyn B. Edwards
Bulletin Editor

Representatives from LAMCOS (Lake Medina Conservation Society) and Bandera County are in Austin today for a public hearing at the Texas Natural Resource Conservation Commission. The hearing is for the purpose of changing the water use permit held by Bexar Medina Atascosa Water Control and Improvement District (BMA). Results of the hearing may have a bearing on water rights for Bandera County.

BMA, which controls the water in Medina Lake, is requesting that their water use permit be changed to allow 19,974 acre feet of water per year to be allocated for municipal use. BMA's current permit allows the annual diversion of 66,000 acre feet of Medina Lake water, of which 65,830 acre feet are allocated for irrigation use.

In February of 1993, BMA received approval from the TNRCC to amend their permit to add municipal and industrial uses to their existing authorization.

Bandera County and LAMCOS appealed the Commission's order and in August of 1996, Judge Paul Davis, in District Court in Travis County, issued a final judgment reversing the order. Judge Davis' decision stated that the application, commissions order and the certificate of adjudication must show a specific quantity of water allocated to each beneficial use. That is why BMA's current application for change includes the 19,974 acre foot specification for municipal use.

Sales tax fund right on track

by Cyndi Wright
Staff Writer

With four months left to go to complete one full year of collecting the half percent sales tax initiated by the former Bandera city council, predictions that the amount would be close to $100,000 are right on track.

As of January 1997, the city has collected $77,198.11 on the economic development tax.

Currently the money, which can only be spent on certain items, is being held in a interest accruing savings account.

Another provision of the tax is that it must be administered by a corporation. That corporation, consisting of seven members, has met twice. The board members are Melvin King, John Jenschke, Denise Griffin, Sally Rodriguez, Neal Dalton, Joe Davis and Bob Cowan.

According to Melvin King, president, the board has received a preliminary set of by-laws and will meet again in a couple of weeks to firm those up.

"There has been some articles of incorporation developed and they have to be approved," King said. "We have to have a meeting with an engineer and a lawyer. It will be in February."

The tax, as defined under the Development Corporation Act of 1979, can be used for street, water and sewer facilities and maintenance and operating costs associated with such projects. It can also be expended for streets, roads and drainage, and related improvements.

Cities must establish a corporation to administer the sales and use tax fund. The corporation must hold at least one public hearing on the proposed project that will be funded by the tax before the revenues are spent.

"It's quite possible that we will see some projects done in the year 1997," King said. "We are going to prioritize on projects and find out exactly what we can use it for."

The sales tax shifts part of the local tax burden to non-property taxpayers who shop in the city.

Former council member Jeanette Bridges predicted in the July 10, 1995 city council meeting that the sales tax could bring in $100,550.32 in sales revenue tax to the city in one year.

At a special election held on Nov. 7, 1995, city residents passed the measure allowing for the increased sales tax and checks started arriving to the city in June 1996.

The first check in June was for $8,801.88. August saw the largest check for $13,354.90.

JAZZING UP THE GYM — In a combination effort between Norwest Banks of Texas, Bandera, the Medina Athletic Booster Club and the Medina Texas Development Corporation, the Medina School gym is now home to a brand new scoreboard. Norwest Bank donated the scoreboard, while the Medina Texas Development Corp. donated the roster panels. "We want to show our commitment to all the communities in the Bandera area," said Norwest Bank director Sully Woodland. Front Row: Corky Crowther, vice-president of the Booster Club, Lawanna Sides, Booster Club; Faye Hubble, president of the Booster Club, and Rick Ingram, Medina School athletic director. Back Row: Gary Ott, MISD superintendent, and Sully Woodland, Norwest Bank director.

Important Notice to TCI of Texas Customers

In our continuing effort to provide more choice in the programming and pricing we offer, customers will see a separate, optional tier in March called the Variety Package. AMC, Discovery and USA will be moved from the Expanded Basic Tier to the Variety Package. This restructuring will not increase the total monthly bill. The monthly price for Expanded Basic will be reduced by $2.56 to a new monthly rate of $9.53. The monthly charge for Variety Package, will be $2.56.

Additionally, you may have noticed that other changes were made to your channel line-up on or about December 31, 1996. We did this to make certain offerings more appealing to a broader base of customers. Specifically, we moved TBS from channel 32 to channel 16, Lifetime moved from channel 16 to channel 32, Discovery moved from channel 31 to channel 17, AMC moved from channel 17 to channel 24 to replace WGN, Disney moved from channel 39 to channel 27, TNT moved from channel 27 to channel 29. The History Channel was added to channel 30 to replace WGN. Animal Planet was added to channel 31, Court TV moved from channel 43 to channel 38, The learning Channel moved from channel 42 to channel 40, CNBC moved from channel 40 to channel 43, Home & Garden TV was added to channel 42 and MSNBC moved from channel 38 to channel 45.

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

Just heard a great story about one of our "younguns" who is a participant at the Center. Sally Lewis, who recently celebrated her 90th birthday, was taken to Hondo by Delores Green, another participant.

While leaving Wal-Mart, Sally was pushing her shopping cart to the car when a lady walked up and asked her if she could use some help. Sally replied, "No thanks, my mother will help me." Sally is a perfect example of the benefits from keeping your mind and body active. She exercises several times a week at the Center, writes poetry and keeps everyone smiling.

The Silver Sage is the proud owner of a new refrigerator, freezer and double oven for our kitchen. These purchases were made possible through donations from many generous citizens of our county.

We're so excited about them, we want everyone to come in to take a look. Big thank yous to board members Judy Rodriguez and Mary Garcia for helping with the selection and purchase of these items and to their husbands Greg and Joel, also Jack Mackey and Ken Clark, for helping with the installation.

Also, a great big thank you to Neil Peterson for the donation of a new kitchen cabinet.

So many people to thank and so little time. Our deepest gratitude to Gladys Nielsen, a regular at the Center, and her nephew, Don Meyer, for the donation of Plexiglas tops for our dining tables. Three cheers for Alberta Clark, Betty Studstill and Judy Rodriguez for stitching up the beautiful tablecloths for the dining tables. This place is beginning to look really sharp.

Another humongous thank you to Laurie Neff for the donation of display furniture and gift items from her shop which is no longer in business.

All of these things represent the kind of community spirit that make it possible for the Silver Sage to function successfully. I hope the Center is still here and going strong when Laurie's young children have become senior citizens.

Judy Goodenough reports that the Melodiers will be performing at the Clark House on Feb. 4 and in Kerrville at the Veterans Hospital Nursing Wing on Feb. 10 at 10 a.m. as part of the program the American Legion Auxiliary will be giving that day.

Songs for these performances include romantic songs about girls and old love songs. We here at the Center have the privilege of hearing the Melodiers rehearse every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m.

What better way to get in the mood for Valentines?

Please mark your calendars: Pancakes & Taco Breakfast on Friday, Feb. 7 from 7 to 9 a.m. and the Second Sunday Social with Doc Meador and Combo on Sunday, Feb. 9 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Uvalde County, next door, has experienced a tremendous number of positive rabid animals. In the past 12 months the positives [illegible] one bat [illegible] five fox [illegible] one bat and one bat [illegible] Since Uvalde County is only [illegible] Bandera and considering foxes travel great distances, please see that your pets, including horses are given a rabies vaccination annually.

Hypothermia - Even the not-so-cold can kill

Although snow is rare in the south, cold winter weather may consist of freezing rain, sleet and ice, all of which can pose the potential dangerous health threat of hypothermia.

If the body's central (or core) temperature dips to or below 95 degrees F, a person's health may be affected. This condition is referred to medically as hypothermia. The normal body temperature for most people is 98.6 degrees F. When the body temperature drops to between 90 and 95 degrees F, a person is considered to be experiencing mild hypothermia, says Dr. Katherine M. Jew, a certified internal medicine physician and geriatrics specialist at the Scott & White Sante Fe Center for General Internal Medicine Clinic in Temple.

"If a person's body temperature dips to between 86 and 89 degrees F, moderate hypothermia is the term for the condition, and if the temperature falls to less than 86 degrees F, the person is in a severe hypothermic state," Jew said.

A person in mild hypothermic state will still be able to shiver to increase his body heat production.

A person experiencing moderate hypothermia will not longer be able to generate enough body heat; his heart rate falls; shivering slows and muscles stiffen; mental alertness decreases; low blood pressure and heart arrhythmias occur; and breathing and coughing abilities decrease.

A severely hypothermic person will appear stiff and cold, and he may even appear to be deceased. However, a person can recover from severe hypothermia if timely emergency care is received.

People who are at increased risk for hypothermia are those who participate in outdoor activities, such as hiking, hunting, and camping. The homeless are at increased risk, since they don't have adequate protection against the cold.

Another high risk group is the elderly.

"Although the elderly prefer the same environmental temperature as younger people, they do not adjust well to rapid temperature drops and have a more difficult time maintaining their body temperature," Jew explained.

In addition, bone-chilling cold is not necessary for elderly people's body temperatures to drop to hypothermic levels, and death can result in only a few hours.

What to do when hypothermia occurs

- Remove any wet clothing
- Wrap the person in warm blankets
- Get the person to an emergency room. Hypothermia is a medical emergency and should be treated as such.

Prevention

- Follow an adequate diet which includes enough calories to produce the necessary body heat.
- Avoid alcohol and other drugs which predispose people to hypothermia.
- Wear sufficiently warm clothing to prevent body heat loss (layered clothing, woolens, gloves, caps, scarves, etc.)
- Be sure that living quarters are well insulated and heated.
- Keep extra blankets in your car in case you are stranded while traveling.
- Exercise regularly.
- Obtain good medical care for other illnesses and conditions.

Come Out And Have Some Fun

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

How happy are you right now: 5 on a scale of 10? 7 maybe? Had a great day yesterday; so up in the 9 to 10 zone?

Most likely, you think that winning the lottery would push you from, say, a 7 to a Super -10 on the happiness scale, and most likely you would be right. . .But studies of actual jackpot winners show that you'll soon be back to your customary 7, as the novelty of new money wears off (and you start worrying about losing it.) It has been claimed that some winners who quit their jobs, moved to a new neighborhood and cut themselves off from old friends actually wound up less happy than they were before.

Dr. David G. Meyers, author of "The Pursuit of Happiness: Who is Happy-and Why" (1992) stresses that happiness is often relative. . ."I felt bad because I had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet." To a great degree, happiness lies in who we choose to compare ourself to. One can look " up the ladder" at seeming glamourous 10s and feel envious, or walk through a hospital and count your blessings.

It has been said that staying happy is something of a struggle for most of us. . .But couldn't it be said that this isn't necessarily a bad thing for our species? . . .For it's the restless quest to recapture past happiness (where are those 10s of yesterday?) that often keeps us struggling, changing, trying to adapt to those inevitable new challenges the world poses.....

Silver Sage Corral

796-4969

Guest columnist: Betty Lebo

Just heard a great story about one of our "younguns" who is a participant at the Center. Sally Lewis, who recently celebrated her 90th birthday, was taken to Hondo by Delores Green, another participant.

While leaving Wal-Mart, Sally was pushing her shopping cart to the car when a lady walked up and asked her if she could use some help. Sally replied, "No thanks, my mother will help me." Sally is a perfect example of the benefits from keeping your mind and body active. She exercises several times a week at the Center, writes poetry and keeps everyone smiling.

The Silver Sage is the proud owner of a new refrigerator, freezer and double oven for our kitchen. These purchases were made possible through donations from many generous citizens of our county.

We're so excited about them, we want everyone to come in to take a look. Big thank yous to board members Judy Rodriguez and Mary Garcia for helping with the selection and purchase of these items and to their husbands Greg and Joel, also Jack Mackey and Ken Clark, for helping with the installation.

Also, a great big thank you to Neil Peterson for the donation of a new kitchen cabinet.

So many people to thank and so little time. Our deepest gratitude to Gladys Nielsen, a regular at the Center, and her nephew, Don Meyer, for the donation of Plexiglas tops for our dining tables. Three cheers for Alberta Clark, Betty Studstill and Judy Rodriguez for stitching up the beautiful tablecloths for the dining tables. This place is beginning to look really sharp.

Another humongous thank you to Laurie Neff for the donation of display furniture and gift items from her shop which is no longer in business.

All of these things represent the kind of community spirit that make it possible for the Silver Sage to function successfully. I hope the Center is still here and going strong when Laurie's young children have become senior citizens."

Judy Goodenough reports that the Melodiers will be performing at the Clark House on Feb. 4 and in Kerrville at the Veterans Hospital Nursing Wing on Feb. 10 at 10 a.m. as part of the program the American Legion Auxiliary will be giving that day.

Songs for these performances include romantic songs about girls and old love songs. We here at the Center have the privilege of hearing the Melodiers rehearse every Tuesday morning at 10 a.m.

What better way to get in the mood for Valentines?

Please mark your calendars: Pancakes & Taco Breakfast on Friday, Feb. 7 from 7 to 9 a.m. and the Second Sunday Social with Doc Meador and Combo on Sunday, Feb. 9 from 2 to 4 p.m.

Hypothermia - Even the not-so-cold can kill

Although snow is rare in the south, cold winter weather may consist of freezing rain, sleet and ice, all of which can pose the potential dangerous health threat of hypothermia.

If the body's central (or core) temperature dips to or below 95 degrees F, a person's health may be affected. This condition is referred to medically as hypothermia. The normal body temperature for most people is 98.6 degrees F. When the body temperature drops to between 90 and 95 degrees F, a person is considered to be experiencing mild hypothermia, says Dr. Katherine M. Jew, a certified internal medicine physician and geriatrics specialist at the Scott & White Sante Fe Center General Internal Medicine Clinic in Temple.

"If a person's body temperature dips to between 86 and 89 degrees F, moderate hypothermia is the term for the condition, and if the temperature falls to less than 86 degrees F, the person is in a severe hypothermic state," Jew said.

A person in mild hypothermic state will still be able to shiver to increase his body heat production.

A person experiencing moderate hypothermia will not longer be able to generate enough body heat; his heart rate falls; shivering stops and muscles stiffen; mental alertness decreases; low blood pressure and heart arrhythmias occur; and breathing and coughing abilities decrease.

A severely hypothermic person will appear stiff and cold, and he may even appear to be deceased. However, a person can recover from severe hypothermia if timely emergency care is received.

People who are at increased risk for hypothermia are those who participate in outdoor activities, such as hiking, hunting, and camping. The homeless are at increased risk, since they don't have adequate protection against the cold.

Another high risk group is the elderly.

"Although the elderly prefer the same environmental temperature as younger people, they do not adjust well to rapid temperature drops and have a more difficult time maintaining their body temperature," Jew explained.

In addition, bone-chilling cold is not necessary for elderly people's body temperatures to drop to hypothermic levels, and death can result in only a few hours.

What to do when hypothermia occurs

- Remove any wet clothing
- Wrap the person in warm blankets
- Get the person to an emergency room. Hypothermia is a medical emergency and should be treated as such.

Prevention

- Follow an adequate diet which includes enough calories to produce the necessary body heat.
- Avoid alcohol and other drugs which predispose people to hypothermia.
- Wear sufficiently warm clothing to prevent body heat loss (layered clothing, woolens, gloves, caps, scarves, etc.)
- Be sure that living quarters are well insulated and heated.
- Keep extra blankets in your car in case you are stranded while traveling.
- Exercise regularly.
- Obtain good medical care for other illnesses and conditions.

Come Out And Have Some Fun

A Thought For The Week

by John M. Grimes

How happy are you right now: 5 on a scale of 10? 7 maybe? Had a great day yesterday; so up in the 9 to 10 zone?

Most likely, you think that winning the lottery would push you from, say, a 7 to a Super 10 on the happiness scale, and most likely you would be right. . .But studies of actual jackpot winners show that you'll soon be back to your customary 7, as the novelty of new money wears off and you start worrying about losing it.) It has been claimed that some winners who quit their jobs, moved to a new neighborhood and cut themselves off from old friends actually wound up less happy than they were before.

Dr. David G. Meyers, author of "The Pursuit of Happiness: Who is Happy-and Why" (1992) stresses that happiness is often relative. . ."I felt bad because I had no shoes, until I met a man who had no feet." To a great degree, happiness lies in who we choose to compare ourself to. One can look " up the ladder" at seeming glamourous 10s and feel envious, or walk through a hospital and count your blessings.

It has been said that staying happy is something of a struggle for most of us. . .But couldn't it be said that this isn't necessarily a bad thing for our species? . . .For it's the restless quest to recapture past happiness (where are those 10s of yesterday?) that often keeps us struggling, changing, trying to adapt to those inevitable new challenges the world poses.....

What's Rustlin'

by Bungy

The Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association is trainy'lin and well, and booming. They put out a newsletter now that keeps everyone up to date on rodeo happenings. The CCRA Rodeo Queen is Terri Turner, title and was also runner-up at the Miss Rodeo America contest in Las Vegas. That's a lot of publicity for ye olde Bandera!

They are always looking for new members because it takes a lot of volunteers to put on a professional rodeo.

• The economic development committee met recently at Lost Valley and it was really exciting to see over 30 concerned citizens working to pull the county together economically, historically and developmentally.

There were county commissioners, city council members, the judge, the mayor, the sheriff, dude ranch owners, RV resort owners, business persons and more—all wanting to keep Bandera friendly while it grows! Don't miss the next meeting, especially y'all in the outlying areas. Let's all pull together! The committee will meet again on Tuesday, Feb. 18 at 5 p.m. at Lost Valley.

• Our celebrity of the week is Joe Walters, auctioneer extraordinaire. There was a great picture of him in the highway department magazine, his tie rope clenched in his teeth, his lasso spinning overhead, the wind in his face as he chases down a little doggie. Hollywood, here he comes!

• Country Depot, that great re-sale shop, has moved up to historic 11th St. to the Old Bank Building on 11th and Cedar. They have a great collection of antiques and cowboy memorabilia in the downstairs area.

• Did anyone happen to notice how many gals were winners in our recent Junior Livestock Show? Pretty soon, we'll have to call Bandera the Cowgirl Capital of the World, especially with the Cowboy Museum and the Cowgirl Hall of Fame. Yee-haw!

• Remember the second and fourth Tuesday of each month is Fajitas for the Firehouse in Bandera. Mighty delicioso!

• We have nothing to complain about when it comes to our short cold spell. In 1894, the Medina River froze over and a few years later, a rancher lost 300 goats due to a cold winter. I hope, that when this world tilts, we end up in the tropics!

• I don't know how many volgirls and others keep going the way they're going with their horsemanship skills!

• Did you realize that there is approximately one septic tank a day going into the ground in our unteers have spent how many

Hooray for perseverance.

• The Farm recently put on a brisket barbecue for a San Antonio grocery story. They fed approximately 1500 people. I'd had their two large pits loaded with briskets, are on top of the other. What a great job. I thought Homer and Kathy Stevens had retired!

Chamber Gala...

The Chamber of Commerce Gala held Thursday, Jan. 23 at Lost Valley Resort Ranch was a special evening. Top, Chamber President Russell Hevenor thanks out-going president Laurie Neff for her service. Center: Citizen of the Year Mazie Todd thanks all of her Cowboy Christmas volunteers. Below, Bungy and Larry Hartshorn got a cake in recognition of their wedding anniversary.

Environmental workshop offered

Registration is currently under way for the Teacher's Conservation Institute, a week-long summer workshop for teachers interested in environmental education.

The Institute provides hands-on practical exercises to supplement classroom curricula and student projects for teachers of any subject from kindergarten through 12th grade, as well as education administrators, youth program leaders, nature center employees, science coordinators and librarians. Three hours of graduate credit will be available.

For a free brochure or more information on the workshops, contact the Texas Forestry Association at (409) 632-TREE.

Pain may be eliminated for millions

SPECIAL)-- A drug that is exciting researchers in the treatment of pain has been formulated into a new product known as "Arthur Itis," and is being called a "Medical Miracle" by some, in the treatment of debilitating conditions such as arthritis, bursitis, rheumatism, painful muscle aches, joint aches, simple backache, bruises, and more. Although the mechanism of action is unclear, experiments indicate that Arthur Itis, relieves pain by first selectively attracting, and then destroying the messenger chemical which carries pain sensations to the brain, thus eliminating pain in the affected area. Arthur Itis, is available immediately without a prescription in an odorless, greaseless, non-staining cream or new easy applicator liquid form. Arthur Itis, is guaranteed to work or your money back.

Hi, y'all! The Super Bowl is over for another year. We will try not to have any withdrawal symptoms after a long season of football. The Packers did a good job in winning the big game. They were our favorites after the Cowboys.

We were glad to see Doris Kesler out on the driveway of D&H again. She has been down with the flu for several months. Sometimes it takes a while to get over those bugs that go around.

We understand Mary Biederman is still on the hospital. She has been having a very hard time for a long time. We hope she can be back out here giving us a very hard time very soon.

We will set a very special milestone this Friday, Jan. 31. For the first time in 20 years we will not have a teen-ager in our house. Heather turns twenty on Friday, breaking the long string of teenage years we have gone through. This is probably an all right thing except it makes us older. Anyway, happy birthday, Heather! We hope you survive leaving your teens behind!

Another birthday this month was Paul Minor. Paul will never tell us his true age for some reason. His mom says he's old enough to know better, but still doesn't. So happy birthday, whichever one it is, Paul!

We have been watching the news about all the trail riders headed for the stock show and rodeo. We also see on the weather cast that they have done the usual job of bringing in a cold front and rain. We can put up with the front as long as we get some measurable rain! Everything is still very dry and our water levels are dropping steadily. If we don't get any more rain this spring we will really have to work on our water conservation skills.

• Calling all kids between 7 and 17! The Jr. Fire Fighters of the Medina Lake VFD will meet Thursday, Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will be at the #1 fire station at FR 37 and 5th Street. All new members need to bring a parent to sign the application and such. The Juniors will be learning fire safety, how the fire fighting equipment works, how to work together as a team and how to do community service projects. This program can help our kids learn how to serve their community. Such a program can't be all bad because we were the first junior member of the Helotes VFD and now we are the chief of this fine VFD. We hope to see you and your junior there.

• Well, since the help didn't show up this morning for various reasons, Ray and I have to split ourselves and go in two different directions. So keep warm and dry and we will be looking for you over the back fence.

Farm Bureau Week proclaimed Feb. 3-7

County Judge Richard Evans signed a proclamation designating Feb. 3-7 as "Farm Bureau Membership Week" in Bandera County.

The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members, according to Barbara Mazurek of Utopia, president of the Bandera County Farm Bureau.

Bonnie Naumann of Medina is chairman of the membership committee.

The St. Stanislaus Catholic Church Youth Group would like to extend their grateful thanks to all those who supported their Winterfest Polish Sausage Luncheon. God has blessed our community with an abundance of caring and generous people. Due to the overwhelming turnout, we experienced some shortages and delays, for which we are both apologetic and thankful. We appreciate the patience and understanding exhibited by our faithful customers, and we look forward to making next years event bigger and better for everyone. Thanks again and God Bless you all.

Lady Bulldogs remain tied for second place spot

The Bandera Lady Bulldogs ended the week just like they started after a week of upsets in District 26-3A girls basketball action - in a three-way tie for second place.

The Lady 'Dogs were upset last Tuesday night in Hondo. But with Lytle's upset of Ingram also on Tuesday and Bandera's big win over Medina Valley Friday night, the Lady 'Dogs moved back into that same three-way tie by the time last week's action ended.

Hondo knocked off Bandera 53-44 and dropped the Lady 'Dogs to 5-3 in district and 14-11 overall. Sophomore post player Breanne Hicks led Bandera with 11 points and six rebounds. Sophomore point guard Carrie Pease added nine points.

Coach Pam Owens credited the loss on "too many turnovers and we just played very sluggishly."

However, it was a different story on Friday night.

After dropping a close contest to Medina Valley in Castroville in the first round, the Lady 'Dogs trounced the Panthers 75-53.

Every player scored for Bandera and they used a 29-point explosion in the second quarter to pull away from Medina Valley.

Leading the charge for the 'Dogs were junior post player April Koehler who had 15 points and 13 rebounds, Breanne Hicks with 14 points and 11 rebounds, sophomore post Krystal Upchurch with 14 points and six rebounds, and senior post player Heidi Hicks who pulled down 10 rebounds of her own.

The win moved Bandera's record to 6-3 in district and 15-11 overall.

On Friday, the Lady 'Dogs will host Somerset at 8 p.m. in Bandera.

Lady Bulldog Krystal Upchurch wrestles for the rebound in the win against Medina Valley.

Bulldogs take two losses

The Bandera varsity Bulldogs lost a close match against Hondo on Tuesday, Jan. 21, and the coach attributed the loss to missed free throws.

"We played well, but missed free throws down the third and fourth, and they made theirs," Coach Steve Kidd said of the 61-56 loss.

Jason Garcia stepped up and made four three-pointers, and was two in two on free throws during the game.

"Jason played a very good game," Kidd said.

The Bulldogs led the Owls in the first two quarters 19-10 and 30-28, but slipped behind in the second half.

Garcia was the leading scorer, making 14 points, followed by Nate Moehring with 13. Kevin Ohnheiser put in 10 points, while Tim Gard and Jimmy Stimmel each added seven points. Thad DuBose scored three points and Opie Mayfield scored two.

Moehring was the leading rebounder with 13, followed by Ohnheiser with 10, and Stimmel with six.

Garcia had six assists, and Stimmel had four.

The Owls were 23 of 26 for free throws, while the Bulldogs were 13 in 28.

Foul trouble and injuries are being blamed for a loss against Medina Valley on Friday, Jan. 24. Although, the Bulldogs led in the second quarter, the final score was 53-41.

"Nate got in foul trouble in the third quarter and had to sit," Kidd said. "Nobody stepped up to play."

Moehring was the lead scorer and rebounder in the game with 21 points and 11 rebounds.

Marcus Cantu was out with a sprained ankle and Jason Garcia hurt his knee and missed the second half.

Anglers chance to meet the pros

Fish can take a breather on Saturday, Feb. 8. Instead of being on the water, fishing pros and enthusiasts will be at Academy Sports & Outdoors stores for "Meet the Pro," a day-long fishing clinic.

Academy Sports and Outdoors will host more than 135 of the top fishing pros and manufacturers representatives from all over the country in 30 stores.

At "Meet the Pro," customers can trade fishing tips with top local and national fishing pros in stores from 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 8. The pros will sign autographs and offer advice.

Top anglers and manufacturers representatives will be appearing in the San Antonio area stores - Billy Murray, Ron Franklin, Jim Frieble, Darren Wolf and Ronnie Logan will be appearing at the store located at 2727 N.E. Loop 410 at Perrin Beitel. Bobby Murray, Jay Watkins and Debra Hengst will be featured at the store located at 7555 N.W. Loop 410 at Military Drive.

"This is the chance of a lifetime for anglers to gain a world of fishing knowledge as they buddy up with their favorite pros in their own backyard," said Darren Whitehead, fishing buyer for Academy Sports and Outdoors.

Anglers can pick up a schedule of local "Meet the Pro" appearances at Academy stores.

Customers can also register for the "Meet the Pro Sweepstakes" at the event. Prizes include a 14-foot Jon boat with a trailer and motor, a fishing trip for two with country western star Tracy Byrd, and a $500 angler shopping spree.

The Chamber of Commerce Gala held Thursday, Jan. 23 at Lost Valley Resort Ranch was a special evening. Top, Chamber President Russell Hevenor thanks out-going president Laurie Neff for her service. Center: Citizen of the Year Mazie Todd thanks all of her Cowboy Christmas volunteers. Below, Bungy and Larry Hartshorn got a a cake in recognition of their wedding anniversary.

The Cowboy Capital Rodeo Association is training line had well, and booming. They put out a newsletter now that keeps everyone up to date on rodeo happenings. The CCRA Rodeo Queen is Terri Turner, title and was also runner-up at the Miss Rodeo America contest in Las Vegas. That's a lot of publicity for ye olde Bandera!

They are always looking for new members because it takes a lot of volunteers to put on a professional rodeo.

• The economic development committee met recently at Lost Valley and it was really exciting to see over 30 concerned citizens working to pull the county together economically, historically and developmentally.

There were county commissioners, city council members, the judge, the mayor, the sheriff, dude ranch owners, RV resort owners, business persons and more—all wanting to keep Bandera friendly while it grows! Don't miss the next meeting, especially y'all in the outlying areas. Let's all pull together! The committee will meet again on Tuesday, Feb. 18 at 5 p.m. at Lost Valley.

Hi, y'all! The Super Bowl is over for another year. We will try not to have any withdrawal symptoms after a long season of football. The Packers did a good job in winning the big game. They were our favorites after the Cowboys.

We were glad to see Doris Kesler out on the driveway of D&H again. She has been down with the flu for several months. Sometimes it takes a while to get over those bugs that go around.

We understand Mary Biederman is still on the hospital. She has been having a very hard time for a long time. We hope she can be back out here giving us a very hard time very soon.

We will set a very special milestone this Friday, Jan. 31. For the first time in 20 years we will not have a teen-ager in our house. Heather turns twenty on Friday, breaking the long string of teenage years we have gone through. This is probably an all right thing except it makes us older. Anyway, happy birthday, Heather! We hope you survive leaving your teens behind!

Another birthday this month was Paul Minor. Paul will never tell us his true age for some reason. His mom says he's old enough to know better, but still doesn't. So happy birthday, whichever one it is, Paul!

We have been watching the news about all the trail riders headed for the stock show and rodeo. We also see on the weather cast that they have done the usual job of bringing in a cold front and rain. We can put up with the front as long as we get some measurable rain! Everything is still very dry and our water levels are dropping steadily. If we don't get any more rain this spring we will really have to work on our water conservation skills.

• Calling all kids between 7 and 17! The Jr. Fire Fighters of the Medina Lake VFD will meet Thursday, Feb. 6 at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will be at the #1 fire station at FR 37 and 5th Street. All new members need to bring a parent to sign the application and sucff. The Juniors will be learning fire safety, how the fire fighting equipment works, how to work together as a team and how to do community service projects. This program can help our kids learn how to serve their community. Such a program can't be all bad because we were the first junior member of the Helotes VFD and now we are the chief of this fine VFD. We hope to see you and your junior there.

• Well, since the help didn't show up this morning for various reasons, Ray and I have to split ourselves and go in two different directions. So keep warm and dry and we will be looking for you over the back fence.

Farm Bureau Week proclaimed Feb. 3-7

County Judge Richard Evans signed a proclamation designating Feb. 3-7 as "Farm Bureau Membership Week" in Bandera County.

The week is part of a statewide observance during which county Farm Bureaus will make a special effort to enroll new members, according to Barbara Mazurek of Utopia, president of the Bandera County Farm Bureau.

Bonnie Naumann of Medina is chairman of the membership committee.

The St. Stanislaus Catholic Church Youth Group would like to extend their grateful thanks to all those who supported their Winterfest Polish Sausage Luncheon. God has blessed our community with an abundance of caring and generous people. Due to the overwhelming turnout, we experienced some shortages and delays, for which we are both apologetic and thankful. We appreciate the patience and understanding exhibited by our faithful customers, and we look forward to making next years event bigger and better for everyone. Thanks again and God Bless you all.

Anglers chance to meet the pros

Fish can take a breather on Saturday, Feb. 8. Instead of being on the water, fishing pros and enthusiasts will be at Academy Sports & Outdoors stores for "Meet the Pro," a day-long fishing clinic.

Academy Sports and Outdoors will host more than 135 of the top fishing pros and manufacturers representatives from all over the country in 30 stores.

At "Meet the Pro," customers can trade fishing tips with top local and national fishing pros in stores from 10 a.m.-6 p.m., Saturday, Feb. 8. The pros will sign autographs and offer advice.

Top anglers and manufacturers representatives will be appearing in the San Antonio area stores. Billy Murray, Ron Franklin, Jim Frieble, Darren Wolf and Ronnie Logan will be appearing at the store located at 2727 N.E. Loop 410 at Perrin-Beitel. Bobby Murray, Jay Watkins and Debra Hengist will be featured at the store located at 7555 N.W. Loop 410 at Military Drive.

"This is the chance of a lifetime for anglers to gain a world of fishing knowledge as they buddy up with their favorite pros in their own backyard," said Darren Whitehead, fishing buyer for Academy Sports and Outdoors.

Anglers can pick up a schedule of local "Meet the Pro" appearances at Academy stores.

Customers can also register for the "Meet the Pro Sweepstakes" at the event. Prizes include a 14-foot Jon boat with a trailer and motor, a fishing trip for two with country western star Tracy Byrd, and a $500 angler shopping spree.
