doesn't teach them finger computing. However, many have become very proficient at it. I finds we things and new ways their parents. It's developed from the 'how many fingers am I holding up' method used by parents to get a young child to learn his age. This discovery and efficient use of ones digits to determine digits is a small christian schools teach that example of the order in God's creation. Do you think if we had been created with eleven fingers our number system would have been based on eleven rather than ten numerals? I do.

Just as a child discovers that math class I am amazed at how math class I am amazed at how fast some of them can add, subtract and even multiply using their fingers. No, our school atted him have some wonderful digits, God's work is perfect.

Lost Maples is one of Bandera County's natural treasures

Located in western Bandera County on the Sabinal River, five miles north of Vanderpool on Ranch Road 187, the Lost Maples State Natural Area was named for strands of bigtooth maple trees. The park is a combination of steep, rugged limestone canyons, springs, plateau grasslands, wooded slopes, and clear springs. The canyon has been a natural refuge for thousands of years, sheltering a unique combination of rare or isolated plants and animals including bigtooth maple trees, American smoke tree, Guadalupe bass, greenthroated darter, the Texas salamander, the barking frog. and the Texas cliff frog. Tourists flock to the area in the spring to exclaim over the many wildflowers and new growth, while summer visitors grow to love the peaceful paths and trails.

It was designated a National Natural Landmark by the Heritage Conservation and Reclamation Service in 1980. Even before that, the land belonged to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. They purchased it in 1973 with plans of preserving and protecting the scenic, natural resource.

The day use area includes 25 picnic sites, parking spaces, and restroom.

Some 30 general camping areas are designed for RV and trailer use. They include electrical hook-ups; a dump station; and restroom and shower facilities. Eight primitive camping areas are available where no vehicles are permitted, offering backpackers a rustic experience. All camping requires reservations, which must be made by calling (512) 389-8900.

The park's headquarters are open from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Friday through Sunday. Entrance permits are $5 per person per day and are good until 10 p.m. There is no charge for senior citizens born prior to Sept. 1, 1930 who wish to use the park during daytime hours. General camping with water and electric is $14 per night, plus entrance fee: a maximum of 8 people and 2 vehicles are allowed per site. Primitive backpack camping is $8 per night plus entrance fee; a maximum of 6 people per site. Reservations are recommended, as campsites and facilities are limited. For more information about the park. call (830) 966-3413; to reserve campsites, call (512) 389-8900.

The staging area near the trailhead has 20 parking spaces and the park has 10.5 miles of trails. Activities include picnicking, camping, hiking, nature walks, bird watching, and

The canyon has been a refuge for more than exotic plant and animal life during its long past. Native Americans such as: Anache, Upan Apache, and Comanches roamed the area well into the 19th century.

The park is on the margin of the Edwards Plateau, and has a maximum relief of about 450 feet. High canyon walls fall down into the Sabinal River and its tributaries. The enclosure protects the park from drying winds and high summer temperatures.

Upland plateaus are mostly open grasslands with scattered clumps of live oak. Upper slopes are dense woodlands of ashe juniper, Jacey oak, Texas oak, Texas ash and black cherry. The canyon bottom supports sycamore, pecan, oaks, hackberry, maple, walnuts, and button bush. Populations of the American smoke tree also occur in this area. along with common witchhazel, and sycamore-leaf snowbell delights spring visitors with its graceful white blossoms.

Springs in the park host three secretive amphibians: the unique Texas salamander; the scarce barking frog; and the Texas cliff rog. These same streams are also home to Guadalupe bass and the greenthroated darter. The Guadalupe bass is the only native Texas game fish found exclusively within the borders of the Lone Star State. Bass fishing within the park is catch-and-release. A fishing license is required to fish at the two stocked ponds in the park. It is a one-mile white-tall deer armadillo bobcat opossi racoon, grey fox, rock squirrel, fox squirrel, mountain lion. Russian boar, and lavelina Wildlife sightings are a frequent and delight ful thrill for Lost Maples visitors.

The undisputed 'champ' of the park, how ever, remains the bigtooth maple. As the climate has become botter and driver recently the Texas maples were restricted to sheltered canyon pockets like the park. The brilliance of the maples' flashy fall color depends on weather conditions in

Bulletin Office located in historic George Hay House

The George Hay house, current office of the Bandera Bulletin, has served as a dwelling place, office, business, jail and school location in many different ways through the decades.

George Hay was born in Erskin, Renfrewshire, in Scotland on March 17, 1836. His family came to America in 1841 aboard the ship Tyrean. The family came to Bandera County in 1954 where the cypress trees meant work making shingles and furniture.

Hav moved to what was known as the Hay Home from 1855-1925 and is still called that today

In 1922, J. Marvin Hunter published "Ploneer History of Bandera County" and interviewed George Hay. Hay recalled the early days in Bandera, forming friendships with Charles de Montel Amasa Clark and August Klappenbach.

"Klappenbach afterwards built the first house in Bandera where he kept a store and post office. This house is still standing and forms one end of my residence. It was built in 1855, and was constructed of cypress lumber sawed at the mill here. the carpenter work being done by John Dugosh, the father of Kasper and Coustian Dugosh.

When Bandera County was organized in 1856, Hay served as a deputy clerk under the first County Clerk, James P. P.

Hay held many jobs and positions, and had a large family before he died in

From the time Hay bought the house. it has had a varied history. Bits and pieces of it have served as stores, offices and living quarters for many people in Bandera for 75 years.

At the time the house was built, it faced southeast, facing the Hay and Carmichael store- now Love's Antiques- and the Medina River. The building's trademark rock arches, visible in many vintage pictures, were not added until after Hay had passed away in 1935. They were made of the old rock wall that fenced the property.

Hay's home only formed a part of a building-- the area right from the middle door. The chamber on the far left, currently Bulletin Editor and Publisher Frank Shubert's office was used as a courthouse and secure storage area whose barred windows made it look like a jail.

The middle portion of the building. currently the main office and recention area was a one-room school house with eight students. One of them was Lon

Hay's residence came next, in the area currently occupied by Managing Editor Chris Seggerman. The final portion of the house was separate from the rest, joined to the main portion of the building by a fireplace. It housed a combined drug store and post office for many years. Only the fireplace has survived.

After Hay's death, the home kept its separate compartments as apartments.

The George Hay house, located off of Highway 16, has had many owners and occupants since the 1850's.

Mrs. Stella Robison owned the building for several years, renting out the extragrooms and living on the property. The Bandera County Chamber of Commerce had their offices on the left side of the Hay house from 1989 to 1994. Patricia Moore remembers it as a neat old building" that was "very centrally located. Back At the Ranch dress shop occupied the building immediately after the Chamber of Commerce. Cybill Bruney first owned it, selling high quality western clothing. She added carpet and gave the roof its current coat of red

Everyone knows that Bandera is the Cowboy Capital of the World from the late Toots Mansfield, who fevolutionized the sport of call roping to Cally O' Blean should be sport of call roping to Cally O' Blean should be sport of call roping to Cally O' Blean should be sh sing with partner, Jake Barnes. Bandera has baseded a number of champion cowpoikes.

But what is it about Bandera County that has turned out so many legendary cowboys? Ray (Whatron, a drampion calf roper who was on the professional cruit for 18 years, said the atmosphere so compared to the compared of bright of the compared of bright of the compared of bright of the compared of t beliefs. There were a lot of other guys I knew who were good cowboys. Thes said. The guys I traveled with like Ray Whatton and felix Billings would always go to the roping peris together, prac-ticed hard and helped each other out. We didn't try to cut each other's throats out there. Ferhaps that is why we did so well.

to play at the Cabaret and showed up drunk and couldn't carry a tune. He was booed off the stage."

Because it is the Cowboy Capital of the World, people know old country music. "They don't care how famous you are, what you play had better be good, or don't come," advised Arky Blue, who is respected enough as musician to be featured in a couple of C & W videos by relative youngsters. like George Strait.

Local people will tell you they enjoy the night life in Bandera because they know they will be safe. Bandera has no street crime and rowdiness is not tolerated in its public places.

The men will act like gentlemen and will protect you," a local woman explained. "It's not like going out in the city.

"Everyone treats me nice here," she said. "There's plenty of good music everywhere you go and a lot more than most anyplace else."

Smith said he had heard about Bandera while living in San Antonio. He said he came up one time during Hunters Weekend in November and "I was hooked. I've been coming back ever since."

Musician Gary Wright said he came to Bandera 15 years ago, when there were few places for musicians to play. Wright said musicians can "make some money in Bandera" and he said the town is a "great place to be." "I came here from Ruidoso NM which has a racetrack like Bandera used to," he said. "This is a real tourist-oriented town and everyone comes here to have a good time."

"It's great to play here because it's more fun to play for people who are having fun, like the crowds here."

Cabaret Cafe and Dance Hall owner Thurman Love said he is thrilled to be in Bandera re-establishing one of its premier nightspots. The Cabaret has brought in such performers as Robert Earl Keen, Junior Brown, Darrell McCall, Johnny Bush, Steve Earle, Chris LeDoux, Guy Clark and Johnny Rodriguez, and others. We're trying to put this place back on the map," Love said. "There was a time when this was the premier place for country musicians to play. We've done a lot of work to the facility, and we're happy to be in Bandera. It's a great place to live and to raise your

"I think it's really amazing how much we have here. There are as many things to do for night life as there are to do with your family."

One of the newest spots to hit on Bandera's Main Street is the open air

Main Street Stage at the corner of Cedar and Main. The Stage features local musicians, but always welcomes visitors to step up to the microphone with a real Country band to back them

Also available for after dark fun is Sleepy's, a more modern lounge, but nun with the same bent for Bandera hospitality that you will find at the other watering holes.

On the Western end of Main Street is the Longhorn Saloon, a popular local hangout that often spices up their regular activities with special events like chili cookoffs

At the other end of town, at 204 Main, just west of the bridge over the Medina River, is the Fool Moon Cafe and Coffeehouse, a place where you can find nouveau cuisine prepared with good health in mind and listen to a wide variety of live music while enjoying the new dinner menu. With a menu featuring smoothles, espresso and lattes, it's a little more California than Texas; and a fun place to spend

Pay a visit to Medina Lake, Bandera's bounty of water!

The deep and exceptionally clear Medina Lake is a great place to boat, ski, and fish. But you might have to do a little hunting to find the right spot as most of the lake is surrounded by residences in the Lakehills and Mico communities.

Skiing and boating is best in the middle sections of the lake while fishing is best in the coves and just off the "points" -- the area in front of the hills that project into the

Medina Lake Itself is an irrigation take and hence the lake level is not constant, but with the good spring rains this year, the lake was flowing over the spillway in May and the lake level will most likely remain high enough through the summer for water

Most of the activity on the lake involves a boat, hence there are five boat ramps on the Lakehills side and two on the Mico side.

To launch a boat on Medina Lake, there are two places in Mico. Red Cove (612-2715) and Joe's Place Marina and Campsite (612-3775). Bob's Cove (751-9923). Goat Hill Camp (612-2072), and the Bandera County Boat Ramp are in Lakehills; Pop's Place (535-4366) in Pipe Creek; and at Wharton's Dock at the end of Lakeshore Road south of Bandera.

Fishing and boating facilities are available at Thousand Trails in Lakehills. Thousand Trails is a membership RV camp (751-2444 visitors can usually walk on the top of the dam to enjoy the view, though access to the dam itself may be restricted at times. The dam is privately owned by the Bexar-Medina-Atascosa Water Improvement District and is located in Medina County.

To get to the dam, take FM 1283 south from Pipe Creek and go past Park Road 37 and Lakehills and keeping curving and going up and hills until you reach the Medina Lake Hill Top Market on the right, which is a store with picnic supplies. Turn right and continue for a little more than two miles, passing through the burg of Mico.

You'll know you've reached the dam when you see a large fence and gate structure on the right when the road curves hard to the left. If you cross a bridge that just barely goes over the river, you've gone too far. (Look right and you'll see the dam itself.)

You can walk across the top of the dam most days. It opens in the morning and closes before the sun goes down.

Upcoming events in the Medina Lake area include the St. Victor's Chapel Parish

Two other communities touch Medina Lake: Wharton's Dock and Pipe Creek.

The Wharton's Dock area is along the northwest edge of Medina Lake. There are businesses and a Bantist church there. The main subdivision in the area is the Lakeshore subdivision. You reach Wharton's Dock by going south on State Highway 173 from Bandera and traveling on Lakeshore Drive (also called Wharton's Dock Road). At the end of the road is an old fishing camp called Wharton's Dock. There is boat ramp that can be used to launch a boat into the Medina River which flows into Medina Lake.

Pine Creek is north of the lake, but parts. of community are on the very north edge of the lake. There is a fishing and RV camp in southern Pipe Creek and a new RV resort off FM 1283. Pipe Creek has a Presbyterian. Baptist and non-denominational church.

The MLBA has established an answering service for persons with questions about the area. Persons can call (830)751-9904 and leave a message. An answer will be returned within 72 hours.

Medina Lake offers a host of activities at all times of the year. Folks from all over flock to fishing events hosted by various local organizations.

Step out into Bandera's active night life

2001 Fall Visitors Guide

Hill Country artists like Rodney Hayden make frequent appearances at Bandera's own Cabaret Cafe and Dance Hall.

The village of Bandera may be around 1,000 in residential population, but it's the Cowboy Capital of the World and that means the boots go scootin' when the sun goes down.

Country and Western music and dances like the Cotton-eyed Joe, twostep and waltz are as much a part of the cowboy heritage as having a cold 'adult beverage after a long hot day of riding and roping.

On just about any evening, when twilight arrives, so do the dancers and music lovers at Bandera's many saloons and clubs.

Some are air-conditioned and some are not. Some have house bands and bring in the occasional marquee headliner, and some rely on the steady stream of pickers, grinners and singer/songwriters who seem materialize around dusk in this special Western haven

One of the oldest and most traditional Texas honky-tonks is the basement digs of Arky Blue's Silver Dollar

Gary Wright and the Roadkill Band are on the stage a couple of nights a week, and anyone who knows the Country and Western music history will want to bring their autograph book to hear the Roadkill Band. who've spent years on the road play ing with legends of the music business, and are in semi-retirement in one of the few places they feel they can call home

From the music of Merle Haggard to Jimmy Buffett, there will be classic progressive and crossover tunes spilling out of Arky Blue's when Roadkill is at the mic.

If sitting in the cool evening air, listening to an acoustic guitar and an unamplified voice are more to your liking, drop by The Forge, a former working blacksmith shop on Bandera's Main Street. You'll know it by the hitching post with a sign admonishing drivers to leave room for the horses.

for children of early Polish settlers, and other Catholics, and is a recorded Texas Historic Landmark. St. Joseph's School (1920) is now a parish hall, but this hipped-roof symmetrical two-story rock structure was designed from older plans of a Bandera public school and therefore looks older than it actually is.

An early day school principal, A.K. Briggs, lived in the Briggs' English-style House (1920). The Montague House (1880) was built for ludge and Mrs. Charles Montague, Jr. and they raised 12 children there. The Carmichael Home (1890) was built by H.H. Carmichael.

At the corner of 11th and Hackberry Streets is Bandera United Methodist Church. The original frame building was later replaced by a stone structure that half since been enlarged to its present architectural plan. It is a recorded Texas Historic Landmark and United Methodist Church national historic site.

Further down 11th Street is Bandera Middle School campus at 11th and 1 Cherry Streets

On Main Street, between Hackberry and Pecan Streets, Bandera County Library was built in 1934 as a WPA prolect of the Great Depression era. It was substantially remodeled in the 1970s. Bandera County Courthouse, directly across Main Street from the library, was built in 1890. Designed by B.E. Trester, Ir., work was started by Ed Braden and Son of San Antonio, and was completed by E. Huffmeyer, a local merchant and contractor. Stone for the building was quarried locally and laid by itinerant Russian stonemasons, Bandera County Courthouse is a Texas Historic Landmark and is in the National Register.

First Baptist Church Is located at 13th and Pecan. The entire block was bought in 1883 and given to the church by F.L. Hicks in 1884. The old Church was completed in 1908 and later replaced by the present structure

Frontier Times Museum, 506 13th Street, was built in 1933 by frontier journalist-historian I. Marvin Hunter to house collections of Texana. It is maintained by Frontier Times Museum, Inc.,, a nonprofit institution, and is a recorded Texas Historic Landmark,

The William J. Davenport House, 1506 Pecan Street, was built in 1910 and today is the home of Esther's Antiques. A wood vernacular with classical elements, the two story washerboard frame house has a gable projecting bay on the side, and a two-tier portal with simple

Bandera Cemetery is located at 13th Street and Hwy. 173. St. Christopher's Episcopal Church, Hwy. 173, is located across from the cemetery (1950-53)... Designed by architect Henry Steinborner, the buildings were the inspiration of the late Charles and Star Heimsath. Grace Lutheran Church is further down 173, across from the Bandera

Entering Bandera from the east via State Hwy. 16, one of the first historic buildings is the impressive Schmidtke Callahan House at the intersection of Cypress and 13th Streets, currently the home of McMullan Insurance. The house was built in 1870 by James Henry White of Georgia, for Charles F. Schmidtke, an early-day merchant, sawmill and gristmill operator. Eventually the property changed hands and in 1929 the owner of the property, J.C. Callahan built a store near the house. The Callahan Store remained in business until 1958 when J.C died. The property stayed in the Callahan family until 1979, when I.C's descendants sold the property to Gill Savings. Gill tore down the old store and restored the house to its original condition. The Schmidtke Callahan House is a recorded Texas Historic

Taking a left on 12th Street off Cypress, visitors can see four historic buildings. The old Bandera jail was built in 1881. Designed by Alfred Giles, an English architect from San Antonio, it was built by James A. Courtney. Prisonets' initials scratched into the stone walls are still visible. The building now holds the offices of Springhills Water Management District. It is a recorded Texas Historical Landmark and on the National Register of Historic Places. Adjacent to the old jall building is Bandera's old courthouse building. Built by Henry White in 1865 as a store it was-purchased in 1877 by Bandera County, and used as a courthouse for a time. It now houses an office of the justice of the peace

The Carmithael and Hay Store, built In 1886, (also by Henry White) is a limestone structure that operated as a general store and is now Loves Antique Mall. Next to it is the Fred Thalmann Marker (1949), a pecan tree on the comer of Maple and Main Streets. The small park was dedicated to Thalmann, an early leader in the local wool industry. His mother, Louise Maudsley Thalmann, and his grandmother were founders and teachers at Mrs. Maudsley's School, across from Bandera United Methodist

Great Hill Country Pumpkin Patch brings the fall alive in Bandera

Want to really experience the beau- let children experience the hill country tiful Bandera County Hill Country? Then and for families to take part in events don't miss Love Creek Orchard's Great Hill Country Pumpkin Patch! Held on select weekends and week days each October, this event is a must for families with small children. Take a hayride, play in the giant hay maze, paint a pumpkin, pet farm animals, build a scare crow or go on an apple orchard

That's not all! Enjoy stories told by the well-known Haile Family, winners of the Texas Story Telling Olympics or play an instrument in the Great Hill Country Symphony

Admission is $4.00 for adults and $3.00 for children (toddlers-to 12 years old). Infants are free.

The great Hill Country Pumpkin Patch began about 9 years ago in Love Creek Orchard's Pick-Your-Own Park in Devine. Five years ago the event was moved to Love Creek's Medina Orchard to take advantage of the large apple orchard planted there. Since that time the event has grown to include new activities each year. Our goal is to together. All events, including planned games are included in the entry fee. You can ride on the havride as often as you like or build as many scarecrows as you want. The only additional charges are for food you wish to eat or a $1.00 charge for a small pumpkin to paint. The paints are free. Pumpkins of all sizes are for sale as well as other fall items. You can even have a fresh wreath made for fall or the christmas

The Pumpkin Patch is opened for the public four days each week in October beginning on October 13 - 14. October 16 -17 and October 20 -21.

October 22-23 and October 27-30. Gates are open from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Only two orchard tours are done during the day and that is at

Welcome to the Cowboy Capital of the World: Bandera!

Bandera County, situated in one of the most beautiful areas of Texas, provides a taste of the Old West set amid the spectacular Hill Country.

Bandera County was created and organized from Bexar and Uvalde counties in 1856 and named for the Bandera Mountains in the

Its blend of native American, Mexican, Polish and Old West cultures have combined to create the region's unique ambiance.

Many battles between Apache and Comanche peoples, and the Spanish conquistadors took place at Bandera Pass, 12 miles north of Bandera on Hwy, 173.

Legend has it that for years a red "bandera," (Spanish for Rag or banner), flew at Bandera Pass to define the boundary between Spanish and Native American territories.

A cypress shingle mill was created in Bandera in 1853 to take advantage of the abundant cypress trees along the banks of the Medina River, and in 1855, 16 Polish families settled in Bandera, to staff the mill.

Bandera has been named the "Cowboy Capital of the World" since the time when it was a staging area for the great cattle drives of the late 1800's.

During the Great Depression of the 1930s, a local rancher began to host "dudes," the beginning of the county's flourishing dude ranch industry. In keeping with the area's cowboy history, rodeos small and large are held throughout the year.

Bandera Downs Appraisal Summary should not have been totalled.

The lead story of the Bandera Bulletin of the August 22 issue contains a factual error in both the headline of the story and the story itself. The appraisal value of the Bandera Downs properly is not $1,505,000 as reported. According to Clinton Sayers, who prepared the appraisal, those figures represent separate tracts of land and should not be totalled. The Bulletin apologies for this error and the inconvenience caused to our readers. For more details on the property appraisal, see story at the top of page one.

It finally rained on Sunday, and a little last Tuesday, I was never really close to the rain growing up on the edge of a city. If anything we regarded the rain as an inconvenience. The rain only came in sudden thunders are sold to the rain as an inconvenience of the rain only came in the fall and spring. The one time I remember getting out of school early due to weather was because of the rain. During my Freshman year of high school, they cut the last period—PE. in my case—short to let the busses get students back before the flooding really got bad. I felt sort of cheated because

Ten years ago, this house, located at the corner of 13th Avenue and Cedar, along with other buildings of historical importance, were slated to receive historical markers. However, the markers almost became part of history themselves until the markers were found this year, according to Banders Mayor Linda Stein. Those owning historic homes may contact the city to see if they can be designated as historic landmarks. Why Back Pain Sufferers Sleep Better On Air!

"Since using a Select Comfort mattress, I wake up more refresbed, without any stiffness in my mid-back and lower back. This is the reason why. I am very pleased with your product and I continually recommend Select Comfort to my patients, friends and family."

—Di-William M., Consobooken, 1

 The SELECT COMFORT* mattress; It's not just a better mattress, but a better way to sleep. Even back pain sufferers can sleep more comfortably!

The Select Comfort mattress doesn't rely on springs or water, but on a cushion of air.

Air gently contours to your body's shape, helping to reduce uncomfortable pressure points, and tests show it also helps to more properly support your back and spine.

The Mattress with Easy Push Button Firmness Control!

Select Comfort mattresses comfortably contour to your body, more properly support your back and spine, and help to reduce pressure points.

create uncomfortable pressur points and provide uneven support over time.

TRY IT FOR 30 NIGHTS!

We're so sure you'll sleep better on air, you can take up to 1 months to decide, or your money back. You've got to sleep on it to believe it!

Cherry Coffeecake

This recipe was given to me by my mother-in-law when I first married more than 44 years ago. I've made it many times—it's so easy. Now my daughter makes it. It must be good because all three of us, through the years, have won local contests with this recipe.

What's Cooking?

Have an old favorige family recipe? Send it, along with a few words on what makes it so special, and a photograph of yourself, to Hometown Recipes, 341 Gool Springs Blvd., Suite 400, Franklin, TN 37067. Include your name, address, and phone number: Those whose recipes we publish will receive an American Profile T-shirt. Glorny we cut return any assersing.

I stick margarine, softened

I cup sugar

2 cups flour

2 teaspoons baking powder
2 21-ounce cans cherry ple filling

Topping

I cup flour

I cup sugar

I cup sugar

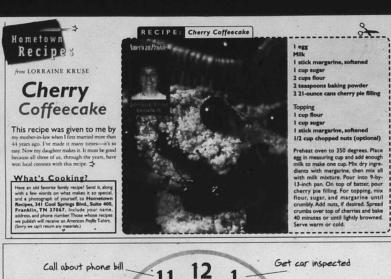

I stick margarine, softened

1/2 cup chopped nuts (optional)

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Place egg in measuring cup and add enough milk to make one cup. Plix dry ingredients with margarine, then mix all with milk mixture. Pour into 9-by-13-inch pan. On top of batter, pour cherry ple filling. For toppling, mix flour, sugar, and margarine until crumbly. Add nuts, if desired. Spread crumbs over top of cherries and bake 40 minutes or until lightly browned. Serve warm or cold.

Turn Old Trash Into Cold Cash

You could be much richer than you think, By J.B. Fox out your cast It could be worth $1,000. You might be sitting on a fortune without even knowing it. Yes, if you haven't sorted through your junk lately, it's time. Old items in your attic. garage, basement or dresser

If you don't know throwing it out could be like tearing up good money!

drawers could be worth a great deal of money to collectors eager to pay you a surprising amount

What do you have that could be worth a thousand dollars? Barbie dolls, G.I. Joes, baseball gloves, fishing tackle, marbles, cap guns, Pez dispensers, cigar boxes, tin cans, canning jars, typewriters, musical instruments, watches, costume jewelry, Hawaiian shirts, electric trains, radios, arrowheads, autographs, cast iron cookware, movie posters, fans, Hot Wheels, pedal cars, rugs, shot guns, fountain pens, and plastic models - each of these items can bring as much as $1,000 or more

"Not all junk is valuable," explains Dr. Tony Hyman. one of America's top authorities on collectibles and host of the CBS News "What's it Worth?" If you have collectibles you want to get into the hands of buyers that want them the most, and will pay the best, this book is for you.

Where do you find a buyer that is going to pay you cash for your items? Smart insiders use Dr. Hyman's book Trash or Treasure, Guide To Buyers: How & Where to Easily Sell Collectibles, Antiques & Other Treasures Found Around Your House & Neighborhood, the only-book designed to help amateurs confidently find qualified buyers to sell items through the mail.

This book has one purpose: to make money for its readers," declares Dr. Hyman, a coveted guest on many major television shows, including, Oprab, Donahue, OVC, Home & Garden, PM Magazine and Missing Reward.

It's important that you reach fair and knowledgeable buyers willing to pay top dollar for your items. This money making book gives you access to over 1,200 reputable buyers and over 2,200 categories of colmuch as $10,000 lectible items (many will amaze you) that buyers want.

You don't have to read the whole book," explains Dr. Hyman, "the first 20 pages teaches you what to do, how to do it and what to say. The rest of the book introduces you to select, qualified buyers. Look up what you have in the easy to use alphabetical index, and you are on your way to putting money in your pocket." It's that easy!

Every buyer in Trash or Treasure has passed Dr. Hyman's qualifications for honesty and expertise before being listed.

Anita Gold, a syndicated columnist on collectibles, says Trash or Treasure can make you rich. It's better than a lottery ticket, because you can't lose with this book. Clean up by cleaning out your 'junk' and turn it into cash with Hyman's book. This book has put millions of dollars in seller's pockets."

Hyman recalls a radio listener. Gloria, who called about a stoneware crock a local antique dealer had offered $50 for. Hyman's response was 'Before you accept the offer talk to the expert on stoneware crocks in my book.* Weeks later Gloria reported she contacted the buyer, Richard Hume, in Trash-or Treasure. Gloria was shocked! Hume sent her a cashier's check for $4,700.

The local dealer wasn't trying to cheat her. "No one person can be an expert in all 2,200 plus categories of collectibles listed in Trash or Treasure," explains Dr. Hyman. Today people think selling through auction means top dollars. Using Internet auction services is no guarantee to get the best price. explains. "Sellers often don't know what they have and as a result they list their item incorrectly and don't get the best price.* Trash or Freasure saves you the heartache of selling below fair value.

Trash or Treasure reader. Shay Perry, was going to sell an old doll for $50 at a yard sale. Shay contacted Madalaine Selfridge, a doll buyer in Trash or Treasure and discovered her doll was worth $500!

Today's booming economy means high prices for collectibles. Dr. Hyman explains, "This is the time to sell. There is no better time to check out the prices of items you have been keeping.

"The collectible industry constantly changes Some items that were worthless vesterday are today's hot new collectibles," claims Dr. Hyman. Trasb or Treasure is updated with every printing to keep you current with new trends in this multi-billion dollar market and gives you the top qualified buyers.

"Remember, things do not have to be old or expensive to be worth money," says Dr. Hyman. Learn how to tell the difference between trash or treasure and make

Dr. Hyman has been a guest on over 2,000 radio and TV shows and claims he can find something of value in nearly any home. Several TV stations met the challenge. Most recently, Channel 9 in New York picked a New Jersey home for him to evaluate. He accepted with a smile. Dr. Hyman walked in and promptly found a stack of old boat show brochures worth $200 on top of a desk in the attic. Hyman explains. This is a great example of old paper being valuable and needing to be checked by an expert. Many people throw away thousands of dollars!

In another home Dr. Hyman found a figurine bought at a yard sale for 25 cents that he helped the owner sell for $4,000! The talk show host was amazed. The home owner was delighted!

People have quit their jobs thanks to Trash or Treasure. Some report making over $200,000 a year buying your mistakes at yard and estate sales.

So how much is your junk really worth? Do you have any of these items in your home?

pocket knives . toys & dolls . fishing tackle salt/pepper shakers • cigar boxes • perfume bottles cookie jars · china · phonograph records · maps electric trains • playing cards • magazines lunch boxes . photographs

You don't have to buy an armload of expensive reference books and wade through thousands of pages of information. Just let Dr. Hyman direct you to the appropriate dealer and you're on your way.

When you order the just published 640-page 9th Edition of Trash Or Treasure, you'll also get The World's Most Accurate Antiques & Collectibles & Other Treasures Price Guide To Over 5,000 Items plus you get a pad of Sell-A-Grams to use in getting quick responses in the mail from dealers.

To get all three publications by mail, send your check for $29.95 plus $4.50 p&h to Publishers Choice*. Box 4174. Dept. FD50-AD. Huntington Station, NY 11746. (California and New York residents please add sales tax.) To charge your order indicate Visa*, Mastercard*, Discover* or Amex* and include your account number and expiration date and amount of your order.

To order toll free by phone, call.. 1-800-789-0113.

Get Involved IN YOUR Child's Education

Children whose parents get involved in their education do better in school Plenty of research supports this Parental involvement is such an important factor that the National PTA is urging Congress to find funding for programs that help more parents ner involve I however. They are ready and willing to get teachers and pureurs who have successfully gotten involved as well as the National PTA

Communication is key Talk to your child's teacher or teachers several times each year, in person or on the phone. Traditional parentreacher conferences are fine, but most teachers say conversations in between also are necessary Many parents don't need the extra push. Good teachers are glad to take the time to address parents' concerns. "If a parent is not involved in their child's education but aren't communicating with teachers, they're doing the always sure of the best way to do it. The follow-child a great disservice," says Timothy Tyler, a longtime teacher in Orlando, Fla.

"Even if parents think things are fine, they should be talking, because that parent needs to realize the child he or she sees at home may not be the same child I see at school. I learn things from them I have no other way of knowing about the child, and they learn things."

Volunteer at your child's school. Whether it's heading up a fund-raiser or simply offering to help your child's teacher staple test papers together. being around lets you assess how things are going. Teachers always need help and appreciate in

Familiarize yourself with your child's homework and ask to see completed worknot to correct or criticize, but simply so you'll have some idea what he or she is studying. A child may struggle with homework because it persons new material or concepts not adequarely covered in school. If there are challenges, be parient and clarify specific problems with your child's teacher

Discuss report cards and parent-teacher conferences with your child. Ask how he or she would rate themselves on the various subjects. Where improvement is needed, ask for a commitment from your child. Monitor your child's progress by asking to see test scores and completed assignations.

Don't overlook the importance of social development. Difficulties with friends can affect your child's performance in the classroom

Listen to your child. Even little guys are aware of their strength, and weaknesses, both physically and academically. Six down and initiate a conversation with your child about school. If he expresses negative feelings abour a subject, chances are he is having trouble with it and needs help.

Brings THE TOWN Home

Volunteers put a flag on each veteran's grave at the Redden, Okla., cemetery.

Maudie Joe Wesley would never miss Memorial Day in Redden, Okla., even when she had to trek from Michigan for the annual reunion and cemetery cleanup. Now that the spry 77-year-old Choctaw woman las moved to nearby Durant, she only has to drive 30 miles. This is always a special time for all my family and friends," says Wesley, who brings coolers of food to share and donates money for cemetery upkeep. "This land and the people are special, and we have to take care of what's left." Like many southeastern Oklahoma natives, Wesley is a member of the Choctaw Nation, a people devoted to both family and land.

Established in 1912, the Redden Cemetery and the adjoining Redden schoolhouse-now used only for community or family gatherings—are about all that's left of the town, an unincorporated area outside of Stringtown (pop. 379). Years of unpredictable weather and diminishing crop revenues forced many to leave their farms for jobs in Oklahoma City and elsewhere.

The town comes back together each Memorial Day. however. More than 100 volunteers carefully remove hundreds of plastic and silk flowers from around the cemetery and hand clean the arrangements, some of which are decades old. After a porluck lunch, volunteers return the clean flowers to the gravesites, making sure every marker has flowers and every veteran's grave is honored with an American flag.

Most are related in some way to three or four families who settled the area more than 100 years ago. But some-Betty and T.J. Carter among them-are relatively new to Redden and have forged powerful ties to the cemetery. The two find comfort for their grief in caring for the grave of their 44-year old daughter, Katharine, who died two years ago from a sudden illness. Her grave is close to the family's Organizer Sue Shaw.

-summer farm in southeastern Oklahoma where Katharine played as a child. "Somehow, taking care of this old cemetery, and especially Katharine's grave, helps all of us take care of ourselves," Betry Carter says of the 500-mile annual trip from their home in Stratford, Texas. "This little community gives a lot to families like us, and the only way we know how to thank them is by helping others and keeping Redden Cemetery beautiful."

Mrs. Carter has become friends with a Redden woman who also lost a child.

The community credits Sue Shaw and Kathy Milton with keeping the annual gathering alive. Shaw's mother, Grace Hampton, started the cemetery cleanup shortly after the end of World War II when Redden still supported a school, a local score, and a bustling farming community. Unlike many cemeteries. plots are free, so upkeep depends on donations and volunteers. "We have to do the work ourselves, or it just won't get done," Shaw says, "But we have a good time working and visiting together. A lot of our kin only get a chance to visit once a year, so we make the most of it."

Because the cemetery has no formal plan and limited records, Shaw and Milton have spent years plotting the grounds and researching who is buried in each of several unmarked gravestones scattered throughout the cemetery. The annual cleanup lets them gather information from volunteers who share family history. But Redden isn't an exclusive community. Volun-trees say newcomers are welcome, since there's plenty. of land left to bury a loved one in the old cemetery. "If they're willing to help us," Shaw says, "we're happy to welcome them to our special family." $$

Parents

Achievemen

Parents at Dennis C. Wooton Elementary School in Hazard, Ky., (pop. 5,540) have a permanent hall pass. Indeed, youngsters here are upt to see Morn or Dud tutoring, filing paperwork, or keeping order in the classroom.

These dedicated parents appear to be making the grade; not only have they helped to create a safe, secure, educational environment, but student test scores are on the rise

"This is a model school for parental involvement," says Nancy Price, parent liaison for the Kentucky Department of Education. Price often refers other parents and educators to Dennis Wooton to observe the phenomenon firsthand. "I have not found another school that is so highly thought of by the community."

Parental involvement equals student achievement, most parents. This, Price suggests, may when be attributed to "invisible barriers." "Most of our parents aren't four-parents year college educated," she explains. "You get out of school, you get a job. So we look up to teachers as mentors. We think, Who am I to go into her class room? It's very intimidating. On teachers the other hand, teachers think, You know more about your child than I ent approached her.

As the tone-setter, a principal can help alleviate those fears. Last

November, Nadine Vannarsdall

Dennis C. Wooton's principal, was

- do. Who am I to try to tell you? Discuss real issues, like the curriculum.
 - Don't use acronyms to name organizations and programs.
 - · Make the school appear friendly.
 - · Honor every child visibly on the wall.

"This is why I bring my child to school here." Vannarsdall recalls. She admits keeping tables clean is not exactly radicalbut when it's the principal wielding the dishrag, it does become something of a povelty.

Vannarsdall doesn't sperid all her days on cleanup duty, but her zeal to get things dore at the small school she shepherds has helped initiate a soll-up-your-sleeves attitude. As a former teacher and the mother of three, Vannarsdall was aware of invisible barriers between parents and teachers when she became principal four years ago. So she devised ways to make herself and her school more approachable.

"It wasn't something we did by accident," Vannarsdall says. "We set out to say, 'Okay, how can we get the parents. involved? We make a continuous effort to do it, and then educators agree, yet schools across the country struggle to lure at the end of the year we sit down and say, 'Okay, what went well? Where did we get a lot of parents in?"

Practical adjustments were made: Parent volunteer meetings" became simply "parent meetings" and were held at a neutral location such as a local restaurant or library igstead of at school; they colorcoded send-home sheets, so parents quickly could distinguish teacher communication from student homework; and they began producing a monthly calendar of activities, events, and volunteer needs. Her efforts are paying off. A recent Volunteer Day arrested more than 100; some 350 signed up for an informational seminar; and volunteer hours accumulated by the end of last school year totaled more than 2,000-unusually high for a school of 460.

"We try to do everything in a parent language," says Vannarsdall, who invites mothers and fathers to call her by her first name. "Acronyms and jargon scare some people off."

Vannarsdall also encouraged teachers to paper the walls with rotating displays of student work.

"That's how you know parental involvement is going on in that school," Price says, "If it's stark, dark; and clean, parents don't feel welcome. Here, every child is welcomed and every child is honored. It doesn't matter who you are, you're on the wall."

The new principal also looked at new ways parents could help. She appreciated their hosting bake sales and coordinating field trips, but Vanarsdall also wants them to discuss curriculum issues with teachers. They also copy, file, help with administrative tasks, rutor children, and help teachers keep order in classrooms.

"The parents are as involved as the teachers and principal," Price says. "It's a very consensus-building school."

A home away from home

Jimmy Caudill, who volunteers regularly in arhletics and academics, appreciates such a formula. The "good environment, good surroundings, and good people" helped him feel welcome when his son, now in third grade, began school at Dennis Wooton, he says.

His wife, Lisa, also values the open-door policy. "If my child's sick, I don't have to worry: I know they'll call me," she says. "And I can walk into this school at any time and check on him. You just go into the office and you're never asked a question when it comes to your child. And if I call the school. they'll connect me right straight to his room to his teacher to see how he's doing."

Principal Nadine Vannarsdall's roll-up-your-sleeves attitude has helped bring parents and teachers together.

Charles Lee Colwell, the PTA president whose younger daughter is a student at the school, is just as enthusiastic. "This school has got the best name of being family oriented than any other in the county," he says, "Our teachers real-have had to work from copied pages.

ly care and that makes a difference." So do the parents. The PTA recently everv raised $32,000 to buy safer, more accessible playground equipment. Last year, they responded to teacher requests and bought 44 classroom computers. The association even purchased math books for second-graders who otherwise would

"We try to work with the teachers in the classroom to ensure that they have all the extra stuff they might have to buy out of their own pockets if money was not available," says Colwell, who lives two doors down from the school.

The on-site Family Resource Youth Service Center (FRYSC), established nine years ago through a state grant, also has belied stir parent involvement. Bea Madden, the center's director, holds monthly workshops about issues such as drug addiction and parentchild communication. She even offers early morning. pre- and after-school childcare, and General Educational Development (GED) training for parents pursuing diplomas. This year, a full-time nurse also will be on honored."

"Here. staff to administer vaccinations, medical everv exams, and medication. child is welcomed

"They've created in a school setting a home_away from home for children where they feel safe and secure," Price says. "Their role is to contribute to srudent achievement; that's why they're here. The center brings together all the parties-parents, students, teachers-so child is that everyone's focusing together."

Madden uses periodic surveys to identify the most pressing family needs. Recent results led her to offer summer childcare and snow-day care for the children of working parents. She even arranged transportation and lodging for a homeless family found living in a van. "There's no way they could do all this without a FRYSC," Price says. "That's your glue in a school."

'He had done so much better'

If the resource center is the "glue," then Anne Bolling is the honey Bolling, who works with Madden as volunteer coordinator, became involved when her great-grandson entered kindergarten several years ago. Though he and his parents eventually left the area, Bolling remained. As she sees it, she'd acquired a whole new set of grandchildren to look after.

"I turned 67 in March, but I don't feel 67 in here because being around children keeps you young at heart," she says.

She also knows she's doing some good. After praying for guidance, she singled out a struggling child for one-on-one rutoring. Soon, his once-failing scores had increased to 80; later, he made 100 on a test.

The two remained friends beyond the semester "No matter where he'd see me, he'd come put his arms around me-cause I'm a toucher, you know-and hug me and say, 'How are you, Granny?' I can truthfully say he had done so much berrer."

This is, of course, the ultimate objective in all the warm-hearted interaction: to produce well-adjusted. better-educated students

"It's our job to help raise successful, independent, responsible adults." Vannarsdall says.

Price adds: "We base everything on state assessment. That's life; you have to be assessed. Parental involvement helps produce better test scores. And it's made a difference at this school. Scores have gone up."

To the children themselves, the bottom-line is a hir simpler. Immy Caudill Ir. loves that his father currers another little boy. "It makes me happy that my friend gets to learn new stuff. And," he adds, his grin widening, "I heard that Dad and him (have) fun." $$

It features formations such as cave drapery, soda straws, and rimstone dams: A contest was held in 1939 to name the cavern, but a small boy said, 'This cave is too pretty to same,' resulting in its non-nature.

WYOMING-The 1,645-acre Curt Gowdy WYUPINIS—The 1,645-acre Curt Gowdy State Park, near Cheyenne, is named for the Cheyenne native who became a famous sports announcer. Curt Gowdy announced Super Bowk, Olympic Games, and NCAA basketball champi-onthips, along with his record 12 World Series and two decades as host of television's The Americas Sportman. Gowdy was named National Sports-caster of the Your three times.

The small amount of rain that falls on Wyoming's Red Deiert never ranches a body of water. The desert is inside a basis formed by a split in the Continental Divide from which there is no natural drainage. So the annual nine inches of rain in the area between Rawlins and Rock Springs simply soaks into the brick-red soil or evaporates.

Pharmacias Bob Roll and Walter Zimmerman in 1947.

During the post WWII construction boom of the late 1940s, Pharmacist Walter R. Zimmerman, Jr. owned the only pharmacy in Austintown, Ohio. I was Walter's pharmacy apprentice.

Walter and I often heard complaints from cement workers with painful, cracked fingers and hands. So, we started mixing different combinations of herbal ingredients, hoping to create a formula that would effectively treat damaged skin.

We finally hit upon the right ingredients and quantities. We called our discovery "Cement Workers Lotion", and compounded one bottle at a time. Before long, we were doing this many times a day because the cement worken loved the product.

LIFE INTERRUPTS OUR PLANS

Then came the Korean War, and I went off to the service for 4 years, followed by Pharmacy College. Although I was a trained pharmacist, my lowe of horses eventually led me to develop a line of veterinary products that are among America's best sellers.

Walter and I had often talked about trying to distribute "Cement Workers Lotion" nationally, but the idea was set aside and eventually forgotten for many years.

NEVER FORGET A DREAM

Walter later retired to Arizona. Then, in 1994, he returned to visit me at my manufacturing facility in Ohio.

"Bob," Walter said, in a voice so stern it caught me off guard, "do you think you can find a way to produce and market "Cement Workers Lotion" after all these years?"

I hope Walter is pleased with what has happened. You see, Walter Zimmerman passed away shortly before the first bottle came off the line. In honor of my mentor, I named the product "Zim's Crack Creme". Since then, we have produced millions of bottles of Zim's Crack Creme original Liquid Herbal Formula, and recently added a Creamy Daytime Formula that comes in a tube.

Could you give me an update on the life of Margaret Truman Daniel? I heard her husband died, and I haven't seen a new book from her in sometime.

-Shirley W., Pennsylvania

Margaret Truman, daughter of President Harry S. Truman, was born Feb. 17, 1924, in Independence, Mo. Truman was married to Clifton Daniel, a former editor for the New York Times who passed away last year, for 43 years. They had four sons and several grandchildren. Daniel, who lives in New York, is an author and editor of a number of books. including a popular series of murder mysteries set in Washington. D.C. The most current installment in this series, Marder in Havana, hit stores in July. Other recent titles include Munder at the Library of Congress, and Murder in Foggy Bottom.

September 1998, four months after he died from cancer, Eddie Rabbitt was inducted into the Songwriters Hall of Fame. His widow, Janine, who lives in Nashville, Tenn., with children Tom and Demelza, accepted the award. It was wonderful that he got the recognition," says Bill Rehrig, Rabbitt's tour manager and fiddle player for 20 years. The New York-born and New Jersey-raised Rabbitt was known for his smooth country-pop voice, but he was also a prolific and talented songwriter. He wrote the 1970 Elvis Presley hit Kentucky Rain. Q Would you give me some highlights of Roma Downey's life and career? She's one of my favorite actresses.

-Earl W., lowa

Roma Downey can be seen weekly in Touched by an Angel on CBS. Downey, 41, was born in Northern Ireland and earned a bachelor's degree at Brighton Art College in England. She then attended the London Drama Studio. Downey toured the United States with Dublin, Ireland's Abbey Players in a production of The Planbor of the Western World and was nominated for the Helen Haves Best Actress Award in 1991. Before her Angel role, she was probably best known for her portrayal of Jackie Kennedy in the miniseries A Woman Named Jackie. Film credits include The Last Word and Devlin. In 1999, she released Healing Angel, a spoken-word and Celtic music album. She lives in Utah, where her series is filmed, and has a young daughter.

Robert Duvall is one of my favorite actors. What's next for him professionally? -Annie S., Florida

Robert Duvall is currently in Argentina shooting a film called Assassination Tanco. Duvall, 70, not only appears in the movie but is the producer, writer, and director. Francis Ford Coppola serves as executive producer on the film. Since making his movie debut as Boo Radley in the 1963 film classic To Kill a Mackinglind, Duvall has appeared in more than 60 films. In 1983, he won a best actor Oscar for his starring role in Tender Mercies. The San Diego-born actor also has starred in Ile, the popular miniseries Longone Dove, and HBO's Stalin, winning Golden Globe Awards for his performances in the latter two. Duvall lives on a Revolutionary War-era farmhouse estate in rural Virginia.

see me lose weight so quickly!

After that, everything happened quickly. I weighed myself every two days and each time I saw that I was still losing weight! Furthermore, my clothes were starting to really be too big. Two weeks later, I had reached 154 pounds. My husband couldn't believe his eyes. He saw me eat normally every day and yet he could see the weight loss for himself! I showed him my "secret" and he thought it was just extraordinary.

The third week. I lost no less than 13 pounds!

That's the week when I lost the most weight. I couldn't get over it. What's more, because I wasn't on a diet. I was still in great shape! I wasn't tired from losing all that weight. Quite the opposite. I felt invigorated!

"I continued to follow the weightloss plan steadily. The hardest part was those last few pounds. But after only 6 weeks. I had reached the weight that I wanted-that is, 120 pounds. I had lost 54 pounds in a month and a half.

For me, this was a miracle!

The first person to be thrilled with these results was my husband. He's taken a renewed romantic interest in me... He often takes me in his arms and shows me how much he loves my body. He's at least as proud of my accomplishments as I am.

As far as I'm concerned, I've overcome a hardship and regained a certain zest for life. I often catch myself humming happily when I'm working around the house. It's been quite a long time since that's happened to me!

And even more surprising is the fact that I haven't regained a single ounce since starting the weight-loss plan. My weight has stabilized at what really is my ideal weight of 120 pounds. And I can still eat whatever I want without any danger of gaining the weight back.

It's possible for you to lose 8 to 10 pounds per week!

By following the simple instructions for the weight-loss plan, just as I did, you will start to lose weight immediately. You could lose 8 to 10 pounds per week, easily, just until you attain your ideal weight. And you won't gain the weight back afterwards, because your weight will have reached its equilibrium. You'll remain thin, and no one will believe you ever had any problem with your weight before. You'll be proud of your figure and you'll see how that improves your overall mood. You'll be more joyful, more sure of yourself- like you're ready to climb mountains!

And you won't suffer from any of the "snacking emergencies" that are the number one enemy of people obsessed with dieting. There's really a new life that begins when you're thin.

Chantal Legrand

Here are the 16 plants that make you lose weight.

"some people have lost 13 pounds the first week"

Question: How can some plants help people lose weight while they still eat normally? Answer: Recent experiments have shown that the extract of the 16 plants, when combined together, can reverse the effect of calories. In ner words, instead of transforming calories into fat, the calories are instead consumed and eliminated by natural means. This combination of plant extracts constitutes a weight-loss plan that facilitates what is probably the fastest weight loss ever observed from an entirely natural treatment. Question: Who should use this 16-plant cht-loss plan? Answer: Anyone who has a real weight problem - 10 pounds or more to lose - and who has tried to lose weight with diets or who hasn't received stable results with medication or other

The plan is also suitable for anyone who cannot — or does not want to — stop eating normally Question: Do people lose weight quickly? Answer: In principle, yes, very quickly. In the first 2 or 3 weeks, you can obtain significant weight loss. Very often, people lose 9 to 13 pounds in the first week.

Question: How does the plan work? Does it require a lot of willpower?

Answer: The complete weight-loss plan consists of two vials of plant macerat. Before each meal, mix one drop of extract for every 2 pounds you want to lose in a large glass of water. For example, if you are 5'3", you ideal weight is 110 pounds. If you weigh 140 pounds and you want to lose 30 pounds, drink 15 drops of each vial with a large glass of water before breakfast,

As you'll see, unlike other methods or diets you might have tried, you can continue to eat normally. There are no restrictions, and because of this, failure to achieve and maintain your desired weight is practically impossible. In effect, this weight-loss plan requires - No special effort - No dietino

- No strenuous exercise Question: What plants are used?

Answer: The weight-loss plant is composed of the extracts of 16 different plants, each with their own specific effects. In other words, each facts different parts of the body

Some are diuretics while others, such as cardamom, act on the body's reserves of stored fat, transforming them into energizing sugars. Question: What evidence proves that I'll maintain my ideal weight after having lost the excess pounds?

Answer: As you've seen for yourself, as soon as you stop a diet or stop taking weight-loss me-dication, the lost pounds come back very quickly. But with this weight-loss plan, the process is reversed. Not only will you lose weight, but you'll gently change your metabolism. Any worries about regaining lost weight evaporate when you realize that your body's ability to process and transform calories. You'll have the metabolis of one of those people who can eat all they want without gaining an ounce.

If you have 10, 20, 30 or even 40 pounds to lose, you can be assured of reaching your ideal with this revolutionary weight loss plan. You'll have a balanced metabolism, a figure you're proud of, and a new sense of happiness with life. All this is guaranteed, or you have nothing to pay. WEIGHT LOSS GUARANTEED (or money back): If you don't lose between 20lbs and 30lbs within 30 days after receipt, return the vials with the plant extracts - even if they are empty - for a prompt and full refund of your order. No questions. No conditions.

IMPORTANT: During this introductory offer our supply is limited. The laboratory producing this weight-loss plan based on 16 plant extracts will take at least three weeks for the next delivery. Orders will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. To avoid waiting periods send us your Controlling clutter is an ongoing process. . Limit the number of toys that can be out at and children need to help because the home belones to the whole family. Even the smallest . Designate toy pickup and put-away times. child can begin to learn to pick up his or her own toys and put them away.

Any of the following suggestions will help you initiate a clutter-control mindset in your kids and make home a better place to be for everyone

. When your children get a new game or toy, help them decide where to store it. Involving them in such decisions also helps remind them to put it away when they're not using it.

. Put a laundry basket in each child's closet.

. Buy assorted sizes of clear plastic boxes for kids to categorize and store their belongings and use rolling plastic containers to store toys under Individual bins can keep smaller toys more organized.

. Mount hooks at child level, so they can hang hars, jackets, pajamas, etc. . Use self-sealing plastic bags to store marbles, action figures, small video game carrridges, doll clothes, and much more.

. Avoid toy boxes and trunks. Small items sift to the bottom, and you have to empty the whole box or trunk to find them.

· Tape pictures on a preschooler's dresser drawers of whatever is in it-underwear, shorts, socks, jeans, and shirts-so your child won't have to go through drawers, throwing clothes on the floor, in search of something to wear

. Designate one place in your house where your child can keep a creative (and oftenrimes messy) project going.

. Keep a clean, plastic dustran handy to scoop up multipiece toys.

. Specify where in the house it's okay to eat. . Keep an attractive basket with a lid to hold a few favorite toys in the

Chantal Legrand reveals:

How I lost 54 pounds without dieting or medication in less than 6 weeks!

(and since I haven't gained a single ounce back!)

Everyone in my family tends to gain weight easily. And I'm certainly no exception to that rule!

I left my parents' home at the age of 22 and moved into a studio apartment near work. As I was living alone for the first time, I paid close attention to what I was eating. Especially because of the effects of my mother's good cooking were starting to appear on my figure! At home, I made light meals along the lines of yogurt, apples and grains. From time to time, I'd make a treat, such as when friends came over for dinner. Still, I was able to maintain my ideal weight. The tendency to gain weight got hold of me! I got married at 25, and was expecting my first child a year later... I was always hungry and so, to soothe my conscience. I'd say "Go ahead. you're eating for two now!" So I'd cook elaborate meals for my husband and, because he came home for lunch during the week, we were having two large meals a day. Of course, after eating at that pace,

I began to gain weight! Even after my child was born. I continued to gain instead of losing weight -- at a rate of about 2 pounds each month. This turn of events didn't put me in a particularly good mood, and my husband kept telling me "Just eat less if gaining weight upsets you so much." But how can someone resist such delicious good food? I couldn't persuade myself to cut back. And because I was staying at home to care for my little girl, I was constantly tempted to snack between meals. A cookie here, a bit of cheese there. And I continued to gain weight.

Then I started trying everything, except...

Discouraged, I started trying all the tricks, appetite suppressants, creams, diets and medications. Fads came and went and I had spent a fortune with no result. Sometimes I managed to lose 5-6 pounds, but after having stopped. I would gain back what I had lost, and sometimes even more. The situation was almost comical. The situation stopped being funny when I reached the shocking weight of 174 pounds (I'm 5'2")-more than pleasantly plump. I was depressed and I didn't know how to lose the excess weight that was spoiling my life... I wanted to try this famous weight-loss plan that everyone is talking about...

I had read surprising articles in many newspapers about a plan that really helped people lose weight who hadn't had any success before. I read the story of a young woman in whom I recognized a little bit of myself. Just like me, she had gained a lot of weight during and after pregnancy. But thanks to this plan, she managed to lose 35 pounds in 4 weeks However, as I was pretty skeptical of all these kinds of weight-loss plans and treatments, I only half-believed that this plan would work. In any event, I wasn't risking anything by trying the plan, because I would be refunded if I didn't get the results I wanted.

So I ordered the weight-loss plan. I was so surprised when I received the package! It was as if this plant extracts weight-loss plan was created especially for me! I could lose weight while still eating the way I wanted. Fantastic! I couldn't see myself following a strict diet while cooking normally for my family. I had some trouble believing - it seemed really too good to be true!

After the first day, recognize myself. I lost 2 pounds!

The next day I started the 16-plant weight-loss plan. It was on my daughter's birthday -she was two years old-and we had invited some friends over for lunch. I had prepared a delicious meal and, for dessert, a huge cream cake. I wasn't about to deprive myself of all that! So I ate along with the others, and yet, when I weighed myself the next day on the bathroom scale. I had lost 2 pounds! It was unbelievable! And very encouraging!

The way my weight loss corresponded to the woman's story in the newspaper article was very surprising! She had said that she lost 8 to 10 pounds per week, on average, and that was the case for me!

Already 9 pounds in one short week

I was stunned to see how I'd lost weight so quickly. So I followed the weight-loss plan very carefully... It was very simple: every morning, afternoon and evening, I took the amount indicated of plant macerat before each meal, and then I ate normally and went about my normal daily routine

The pounds started to melt away and in one week. Flost more than 9 pounds. And even better, because I didn't have to change my habits, I could eat anything I wanted.

My husband was thrilled to

THE Blue Hole of Oasis

Santa Rosa, N.M., once a popular resting stop along famous Route 66, still has a liquid jewel hidden amid the patches of sagebrush and dry being hills visible from Interstate 40.

Locals and divers know the town of 2,744 people for its Blue Hole-a 90-foot-deep natural spring filled with Mother Nature's clearest, bluest water. Seen from sandstone rocks above or up from its watery depths. the turquoise water lures with near perfect diving conditions. When undisturbed, the visibility is more than 80 feet from the surface

The artesian well also provides 3,000 gallons of water a minute to farmers and ranchers.

The "City of Natural Lakes" has several other water holes as well, says David Deleado, a local historian

Many of the 15 lakes are on private lands, such as Rock Lake, one of the deepest water holes in the country (possibly 500 feer). Perch Lake, on public lands, has an old airplane sunk in it for dive-training purposes.

But Campos says Blue Hole is the most popular, since its superior clarity makes it a safer diving hole

Si Minton, owner of New Mexico Scuba Center in Albuquerque, N.M., takes all his students there for their certification. "Its constant temperature and clarity make it an ideal place to test for certification." Minton says.

Crowds grow in the summer, though, when swimmers join divers. "You can have hundreds of people in the water at the same time." Minton says.

Blue Hole is roughly 60 feet across at the surface, widening to about 130 feet at about 90feet deep. The hole is actually 250 feet with underwater caverns. But about 25 years ago, the town grated off Blue Hole at 90 feet as a safety precaution for untrained divers.

Divers and swimmers aren't the only ones who enjoy the clear water. "People have thrown their favorite goldfish in, and they've grown up in there. There's also some carp," Minton

"At certain times of the year, hundreds of crawdads make a home. But it's pretty void of plant life," he says.

Campos, who also owns Joe's Bar and Gaill, a local eatery, wants to use increased fees to improve the park with a picnic area and dive shop to compete with manmade lakes in nearby states.

Just as Blue Hole now attracts divers, it once attracted travelers from Route 66 who just wanted to rest and picnic after hours of . driving, Delgado says.

Santa Rosa was well-known as an oatis in the desert," he adds, "and pulling off of Route 66 to enjoy our lakes was just the most welcome R and R you could have."

"I like sheep," Jami says. "They're animals of routine. Once you teach them, you can control them with your hands ... and they don't kick."

Getting ready

The Missouri State Fair caps a four-month show sea son for Jami and her family. Between weekly washings and grooming required by competition, the sheep live sheltered lives in shaded lean-tos and clean straw. The Parsonses enter local fairs or shows three times a week. so by the state fair finale the animals know the fouring clamoring into the trailer on cue.

Tending the animals is a family affair during the school year. Donnie feeds before work, and Jami and Kenton help vaccinate, dock tails, and trim hooves after school and on weekends.

"But when school's out, we do the chores," Jami says. She and Kenton feed the lambs a high-protein diet and walk them daily in a 1-mile loop down their lane, across the road, and to a neighbor's yard

Jami's interest in sheep carries on a family tradition, of sorts; her father, as a child, adopted an orphaned lamb. Parsy Jane, from his father's flock. "We were together a lot." Donnie recalls. "I could turn her loose, and she'd follow me amund "

Jami also took to animals at a young age, and, at 5, chose to show the gentle lambs rather than unruly pigs or large steers. Walking her lamb around the show ring thrilled her as a kinderpartner

"I was too young to understand what was really going on," lami says with a smile "I thought I wan every time"

"She'd come out of the ring saying, 'I won! I won! Can you believe it?" her mother recalls "I'd just say No Loan't

But young Jami eventually began winning in "lead line" competitions, where contestants are judged on their own poise and control in the ring. their lamb's characteristics and appearance, and their show outfit, which must be made of wool. Jami's mother sewed her competition apparel.

Now, her bedroom shelves and walls are lined with 28 trophies and 27 plaques. Since Jami's first win in 1990, she's won the 1994 Junior Division Sho-Me Lead Line: the state fair's 4-H 1997 Sheep Showmanship; the 1998 Champion Dorset Wether and Market Lamb; and the 1999 Champion Dorset Ram. She's also placed in numerous lead line events and judging competitions.

"Iami's a pretry outstanding young lady. She sets goals and does what she needs to get there," says Don Nicholson, a 4-H extension agent, "She's successful because of her hard work and being in the right place and right time."

At the fair

Once they arrive at the state fair, the Parsonses initially skip the Coliseum, the majestic brick-and-wood arena that has landmarked the fair since 1904. They drive past Lefty's Country Skiller and concessions advertising lemon drinks and corn dogs, and circle up with two dozen Future Farmers of America and 4-H families for a week of camaraderie. Fourteen years ago, Margarett Syatek of Seguin. Texas, joined a drive to offer pet adoption services in her hometown, and that was a stroke of lock for the homeless pers in Guadalupe County

More than a decade of efforts by Syatek and other volunteers finally produced a shelter that has since found new homes for thousands of unwanted dogs and cats.

Her lifetone love of animals caused Systek in 1987 to respond to a flier inviting people to an organizational meeting of the Guadalupe County Humane Society. She was soon beloing write the bylaws and get a nonprofit charter. Then she led the group's drive to raise money to build an animal shelter.

"I've never been afraid to ask for money." Svatek says. Donations flowed in slowly at first, but Syatek Rept asking and working at fund-raising events such as garage sales, rummage sales, raffles, and "Casino Night."

"That's our biggest fund-raiser." Syatek says of Casino Night. Businesses and individuals donate prizes that are then auctioned off to buyers who've won their "money" at casino-style games.

Margarett Systek's hard work has helped thousands of animals find loving homes.

Syarek persevered through one fund-raiser after another for nearly 10 years until people began asking how much the Humane Society needed to bank before building the shelter. "It's always been a struggle and it was a lot of years, but I never did get discouraged." Syatek says. The (Swatek)-actually became the contractor on the building, "asy Peggy McKanna, Humane Society treasurer. It was a remarkable effort. When the shelter opened, it was paid for.

The Guadalipee County Humane Society Shelter opened in June 1997, and McKanna recalls being concerned Swatek was overloading henefd as director. But she just got better and better, and she hash't alkan a penny of pay.

In the first three years, the shelter has received 2,184 animals and found new homes for 1,295 of them—an adoption rate of 89 percent. We're awfully proud of that," McKanna says.

People dropping off dogs and cass, as well as those adopting them, are charged fees. But adoption fees, go primarily for veterinary services—vaccinations, spaying, and neutring.

"When people come in looking for a dog or a car, we ask a lot of questions, Swatek says. We listen to the people when they tell us what they want, what their situation is at home, what they have in the way of children, and we try to be in cane with that to make a good march. We want that dog or that cat to be a lifetime continitment.

David Blaine thawed out.

O How is magician David Blaine doing since performing his ice stunt? -Mae P., Texas

Believe it or not. David Blaine is fine. After being encased in a block of ice for three days, he emerged unscathed Blaine, 27, is single, lives in New York, and currently is researching for his next trick while preparing for his upcoming television special. He's also writing a book about his life. Born in Brooklyn, N.Y., he discovered magic at 3 and began-performing professionally when he was about 16. He's had three specials on ABC and, until the ice trick, was perhaps best known for burying himself for a week in a glass coffin immersed in water.

Q Tara Lipinski is one of my favorite skaters, but I haven't heard anything about her in a long time. Can you give me some information? -Annie H., Indiana

Two months after her Olympic victory in 1998, Tara Lipinski announced she was turning professional. Bur Lirinski, 19, had to forgo competitions in 2000 due to surgery to remove scar tissue from her hip and to repair a mouth injury. Seven weeks after surgery. Lipinski skated in Stars on for broadcast on relevision earlier this year. Despite her youth and because of it. Lipinski has broken records. She became the youngest female to win an Olympic-gold medal, breaking Sonia Henie's 70-year-old world record by two months, when she won the gold at age 15 in 1998. Lipinski set another record in 1997 by becoming the youngest Gold-medalist Tara Lipinski. world champion figure skater. She also is the youngest U.S. National Ladies Figure Skating champion. In 1996, she was the first skater to successfully do a triple loop-triple loop combination in competition. In addition to going pro, Lipinski has launched an acting career, appearing in television shows such as Early Edition. Touched by an Angel. and The Young and the Restless.

O I recently saw Jane Kaczmarek on a talk show. She's great, I heard her husband is on The West Wing. Who is he?

-leannette N., Louisiana

Jane Kaczmarek is married to Brad Whitford, who plays Josh Lyman on The West Wing. Kaczmarek stars as the no-nonsense mom in Malcolm in the Middle. She graduated from the Universiry of Wisconsin and received a graduate degree in drama from Yale. Besides Malcolm in the Middle. Kaczmarek also has been a series regular on Equal Justice and Hometown. Her film credits include Pleasantville. The Chamber, and Vice Versa. Whitford is a Juilliard-trained actor. He has a bachelor's degree in theater and English literature from Weslevan University, Ironically, Whitford also starred in the Broadway production of The West Wing and creator Aaron Sorkin's A Few Good Men. Film credits include The Muse and Biomtennial Man. He also has guest-starred in ER. The X Files, and NYPD Blue. Married since 1992, Kaczmarek and Whitford have a daughter and son and live in Los Angeles.

O I saw a young man by the name of Michael Junior give a concert on PBS. It was a wonderful program. Please tell me all you can about him.

-Shirley C., Massachusetts

-Michael Junior is a big talent in a small package. The 15year-old singer is from Belgium and cites Mario Lanza, Elvis Presley, and Helmut Lotti as his early influences. Appropriately, it was the latter singer who helped launch his career, Junior met Lotti, also from Belgium, backstage during a concert to ask for an autographed picture. While there, the gutsy youngster began to sing a Lotti specialty, Tiritomba, and won Lotti over with his phenomenal voice. Taking lunior under his wing, Lotti invited the youngster to sing the duet Panis Angelicus with him on his CD and at a 1998 Christmas concert in the Forest National in Belgium. Junior says his hobbies include swimming, cycling, and playing guitar, but singing is his passion. Junior released his first solo album, Dreamland, in 1999.

Eggs, land, stocks and bonds

FINANCIAL Focus

When you were growing up did your mother ever tell you not to put all your eggs in one beaket? At the time she was probably speaking literally, however, now that your colder this wise advice should be considered again.

What are your major assets? Is it your house, land, retirement account, savings account at the bank. The next time you at the bank. The next time you stand. Does any one of them all up and see where you stand. Does any one of them far outweigh what would be considered prudent for 'one investments, and make no mistake, land is an investment and an asset which should be considered.

In my opinion, there are three significant types of investments we can own. The form of the considered.

In my opinion, there are three significant types of investments we can own. The considered will country, this has been a pretty good investments are can be a significant in the s tages. Since land here does not generate much of an income, it is priced mainly from demand. People want to own a part of the hill country. Is this demand going to Continue? Probably. Should you have all your assets tied up in land the probably should you have all your assets tied up in land the probably. The other two types of investments are stocks and bonds. Stocks from high quality companies such as Exxon. Johnson & Johnson, Walder of the probably should be a stock from the probably companies such as Exxon. Johnson & Johnson, Walder of the probable of the probable their stock.

The third type of investment in their stock.

The third type of investment are bonds. There are many kinds of bonds. Quality bonds are, like stocks and land, truly valuable investments. Bonds should be an important part of an investment portfolio for several reasons. First, they which does not change over the life of the bond. Second, and maybe most importantly, they can act as a buffer or safety belt for your other investments.

ments. If we were ever to experience had economic times for an extended period, bonds might be your only asset with positive gains.

When there is a economic slowdown, interest rates will probably fall. They can fall significantly and stay down for an extended period. Bond prices go up when interest rates fall a fall significantly and stay down for an extended period. Bond prices go up when interest rates fall a bond prices go up when interest rates fall a bond prices. The significantly and stock prices. An investment in stocks can grow wealth, an investment in stocks can grow wealth, an investment in stocks can grow wealth, an investment in stocks a prospective client. They have a prospective client. They have a prospective client. They have stood work in the stock goes down, but never think about their land values. Even if they lost all their stock (to do this the company would essentially have to go broke), it would be insignificant to their total net worth. If their land values are the stock goes down, but never think about their land values. Even if they lost all their stock (to do this the company would essentially have to go broke), it would be insignificant to their total net worth. If their land percent, that would result in a $50,000 net loss or more. Don't yet me wrong here. I think land is a great place for part of your money. But owner-ship does not come without risks or disadvantages. One of the major differences between stock and bond ownership is that you really don't know the value of your land until you sell it. With stocks and bonds you get telling you exactly what it is worth. At any time, you can call or go on the internet and find out what your stock or bond is worth. Is this a good thing? Yes it is. But like my prospective clients above, it can cause you to worry. When you invest in quality stocks and bonds you must have faith that over time they do well. It has not to be a support of the contains all three of the above. Salmon PINWHEEL Appetizers

This recipe is very special to me because each time I prepare it for entertaining, I get great compliments on it. And the pinwheels are gone in a flash.

What's Cooking?

Have an old favorite family recipe? Send it, along and a photograph of yourself, to Hometown Recipes, 341 Cool Springs Blvd., Suite 400, Franklin, TN 37067. Include your name, address, and phone number. Those whose recipes we publish will receive an American Profile T-shirt. orry, we can't recurn any materials.

I 15-ounce can salmon or and deboned

2 cups cooked salmon, flaked

I 8-ounce package of cream

cheese, softened

1/4 teaspoon cumin I teaspoon cilantro

2 tablespoons fresh parsley,

4 tablespoons mild or hot salsa 8 8-inch flour tortillas

Fresh dill (optional)

Drain canned salmon and remove skin and bones. In a small bowl. combine salmon, cream cheese, cumin, cilantro, parsley, and salsa, Mix well. Spread about 2 tablespoons of the mixture over each tortilla. Roll up each tortilla tightly and wrap individually with clear plastic wrap. Refrigerate two to three hours. Slice each tortilla into bite-size pieces. (To prevent tortilla from flattening roll it as you slice.) Garnish with dill, if desired. Makes about 48 appetizers.

Turn Your TV into an Aquarium! the ULTIMATE AQUARIUM video

Revive Rusty Lawn Furniture

Give new life to old lawn furniture, revitalize an old plant stand to fill with colorful geraniums; or recycle a weather-beaten, wrought-iron table and chairs with a quick, spraypainted face-lift

You can complete this weekend project easily and inexpensively, even if you're a first-time do-itvourselfer, by cleaning and deglossing the metal surface, priming any rusty spots, and spraying on the topcoar

You'll need these tools and materials: a drop cloth, rags, sandpaper, wire brush, and scrap wood or a board. Buy three paint products: a liquid deglosser to clean and dull the old finish to help the new topcoat bond to the old surface, a metal primer to cover rusty areas to prevent chipping, and a topcoat of tough high-gloss enamel spray paint. This winning combination protects and preserves metal surfaces for years to come.

Work outdoors or in a well-ventilated area. Set the furniture on scrap wood on top of a drop cloth so it raises the piece slightly, allowing spray paint to completely cover the bottom of the furniture. Plan the project so you can follow the recommended drying time noted on the can. Spray paint dries quickly, so plan to do more than one application in an afternoon. You'll get the best results by applying several light applications of paint instead of one heavy coat that tends to cause drip marks.

First, use a wire brush to remove loose and flaking paint. Scrape the brush back and forth over all areas where the paint finish is loose. Use sandpaper to lightly sand the rusty rough areas where the paint has peeled or blistered. Wash off any caked dirt or grease with soap and water and let dry.

Next, apply a liquid deglosser (about $5 a quart), which cleans and dulls old surfaces. Moisten a soft rag and wipe over the surface no larger than a 2-foot square at a time. Apply sparingly, keep cloth moistened, and change the wiping rag frequently.

Then spray rust or bare metal spots with a rustinhibiting metal primer (about $3.50 a can).

Finally, apply the topcoat of protective enamel (about $3.50 a can). Shake the can for one minute after the mixing ball begins to rattle and frequently shake during use. Hold the can upright about 12 to 16 inches from the surface and spray. Move the can in a steady back-and-forth motion parallel to the surface you are painting and overlap each stroke. For professional results, keep the can the same distance from the surface and in motion while spraying. $

Gene and Katie Hamilton are the authors of 14 home improvement books, including their latest, Plumbing for Dummies.

Burn those CALORIES

by JYL STEINBACK

Intense, continuous, and regular exercise programs are great for weight loss or overall health improvement, but you don't have to pump iron or sweat to aerobics to burn calories. Enough activity can be worked into your daily routine to benefit your

Burning calories is as easy as sleeping or reading, as productive as washing windows or planting flowers, as gratifying as flying a kite or coaching your kid's soccer team, and as simple as walking from point A to point B. All physical activity (even sitting or sleeping) burns calories-just get moving. Sure, the more intense and the longer the duration, the more you burn. But any exercise contributes to weight loss or management, muscle building, increased metabolism, improved self-esteem and body image, and stress reduction.

Although your weight, workout intensity, and performance efficiency affect the number of calories burned, any activity is worth the effort. Before adding up those numbers, take these facts into consideration:

A calorie is a measure of energy expenditure. One pound of fat stores 3,500 calories. To lose a pound of far a week. you need to burn an extra 500 calories a day.

Sitting on the bench does not count. Although you may be burning minimal calories just sirring (about 1-1.5 calories per minute), your energy expenditure multiplies when you start movings

Weight counts. The more you weigh, the more you burn. While a person weighing 125 to 174 pounds burns 52 calories in 10 minutes walking 4 mph, a person weighing 250 pounds or more will burn 102 calories performing the same activity. Most calorie-burning charts are based on the average 150pound person. If you weigh less, you'll burn less; if you weigh more, you'll burn more. Focus on moving, not on counting, and you'll benefit even more.

Watering Your Garden AND Plants

Watering your flower or vegetable garden needn't carve deeply into your time or water bill. Conserve both by taking a few

Test your soil. This will tell you what your pH (acid and alkaline) levels are and what nutrients are present. Proper pH and nutrient levels help a plant maintain good health, lessening its susceptibility to disease, and, in turn, equipping it to handle weather stressors.

Group plants with similar growing needs. Putting all of your thirsty plants together enables you to water only those plants that need it.

Safeguard your plants. Hot summer winds can dry out soil quickly, so place them in a protected area

Time your watering. Water in the early morning or late afternoon to reduce evaporation. Try to water on a nonwindy day to aypid losing up to 50 percent of the water you are applying. Avoid runoff by giving the water enough time to soak into the soil. Moisture is lost every time the soil is ultivated, so keep this to a minimum.

Water only when your plants show signs of stress. Watering deeply, 6 to 8 inches, encourages deeper root growth, allowing the plant to better handle dry spells. Leaves sometimes wilt in the afternoon heat, which is normal. However, if that same plant remains wilted in the morning, then watering is necessary. Many times we water unnecessarily because of misread signs. Mulch your garden. Use a 3- to 4-inch layer of grass clippings, shredded newspaper, or wood chips to reduce the soil's temperature and retain moisture, extending the time between waterings. Mulching also cuts down on weed growth that can rob soil of much-needed moisture.

Use a soaker hose. Instead of watering from overhead using a conventional hose, try a soaker hose with perforations along the entire length. You place this hose on the ground, alongside your plants, where the water seeps out slowly and only

Keep your plants healthy. A healthy plant can handle the stresses of heat and drought. Watering in the early morning allows the leaves time to dry, avoiding fungus diseases. Place plants according to their cultural needs. Planting a shade lover in the sun requires more water for its survival.

by MARIE HOEFFNER Dean Folkvord Sows, Grows, AND Doughs it

When Dean Folkvord decided his family wheat farm should "sow it, grow it, and dough it," neighbors questioned his sanity. A decade later, Wheat Montana Farms and Bakery has proved it has the right ingredients for success.

Folkword wanted the 13,500-acre wheat farm to do more than grow grain. He dreamed of baking breads and pastries, opening an outlet store with products fresh off the farm, and a deli just five miles from the farm near the Missouri River headwaters town of Three Forks, Mont. (pop. 1,728).

"People thought we'd lost it," he says with a wide grin. "In retrospect, it was the best mistake we ever made." Wheat Montana's location at a busy interchange 30 miles north of Bozeman provides a lor of traffic. Patrons are intrigued by the shop's signature silo at the entrance. "We try to keep the farm scene alive from the moment you see us on the highway to the moment you finish your meal." Folkword explains. Customers can small through the silo into the deli, pullarp a tractor seat stool to enjoy a pastry, then browse around the short full of emin products. "People buy into the farm-to-market concept," Folkword adds. The idea for Wheat Montana began to germinate after Folkword's parents bought the farm and he graduated from Montana State University with an agriculture-business degree. The Folkwords and a business partner purchased a Bozeman bakery in 1987, then planted hard white spring wheat. This variety produces sweeter, lighter bread that's still 100 percent whole wheat.

In 1990, the Folkwords bought out their partner and branded several varieties of specialty wheat. Wheat Montana Farms and Bakery was born.

Dean's wife, Hope, serves as the company's accountant and at the deli counter. Dale Folkword, Dean's 63-year-old father, manages the farm. Dean's mother, Frances, doles out bread samples and recipes in supermarkets. Dean's daughters, Hillary, 14, and Haylee, 8, help whenever they can.

The high quality wheat and grains are harvested and shipped to the "Wheat Plex"-adjacent to the delicleaned and packaged for small bakeries or specialty wheat users.

ground into flour for baking, or baked into bread, bagels, and buns. The flour sells . in more than 500 procesy stores today.

Dean Folkword credits their success to "bullheadedness. We're not particular & smart people. But we're lucky, and we watch what our competitors are doing. We're persistent and we persevere," he says.

lack Rochford, a Three Forks bank president, describes Folkvord as productive, industrious, and bright.

"You'd look a long ways to find someone with a work ethic greater," he says. And pion bareback rider, bull rider, and wrestler.

he cites Folkword's achievements as a cham-Also an auctioneer, Folkword was state livestock auctioneer champion. He won Montana's annual Country Music Showdown, a music competition, singing Fie Ban Everywhere, an auctioneer song. He's written music recorded by country singers, including Patry Loveless' popular Can't Stop Myself From Loving You. In 1995. Wheat Montana earned a spot in The Guinnet: Book of World Records.

setting the record for "field to loaf," taking standing wheat and making it into 13 (a baker's dozen) loaves of bread at the farm. Wheat Montana placed 13 loaves on the judges' table in 8 minutes and 13 seconds, beating the previous record by 4 minutes. The ever-changing market means Wheat Montana needs new, unique concepts such as a miniature fresh flour mill where shoppers can grind their own grain. The business is still growing as fast as Wheat Montana grain. Folkword now hopes to franchise the Wheat Montana bakery-deli nationwide, with stores already scheduled to open in Kalispell and Bozeman.

They'll soon be doughing it throughout Montana, if all goes well. 3

Is it true that pop star Jessica Simpson is a former Christian music singer? —Jolene D., Texas

Simpson, 20, first developed her singing skills in a Baptist church where her father, a psychologist, served as a youth minister. Then, while attending church camp, Simpson delivered an a cappella version of Auxtrig Grans for a camp guest who owned a gospel music label. Simpson signed with the label, but it soon folded, she then his the Christian Youth Conference circuit, singing inspirational, upbest:

BACK TO SCHOOL IN MEDINA

A NOTE FROM MR. MOCZYGEMBA

Mr. Randy Moczygemba. Superintendent of Medina Independent School District, is looking forward to the new school year which officially begins on Monday. August 13, 2001, at 8:00 a.m. While the majority of things remain basically the same at Medina ISD. there are a few major changes that students, parents, and faculty will recognize immediately. At the secondary campus, Mr. Ross Hord, the new principal, will probably be the most obvious change. However, beneath the books, behind the walls, and above the ceilings lie many other new and section. Mr.

A Thought for the Week by John M. Grimes

So much of what we hear about sor body is usually exaggerated. To repeat it only adds further exaggeration. Mark Twain said that "A lie can travel around the world while the truth is still lacing up

A wit once wise-cracked, "Nothing is opened more by mistake than the mouth." It was meant in jest but it also has a serious mean ing. For instance, can anyone honestly say he has never said the wrong thing at the wrong time? Hardly. When a faux-paus like that wrong thing at the wrong time? Hardly, When a laux-paus like that happens, one regrets it. An unthinking alip of the tongue can happen to anyone. It is understandable, however, an outright lie, especially an untrue or unconfirmed rumor spaken behind the bash of the configuration of the bash of the configuration of the conf

In behalf of the family of Curtis A. Bird, Sr., I wish to express our sincere thanks for all of the warm and loving gestures made by our community, friends, and clergy during his time of illness and passing. Having all of you there with your prayers and concern kept Curt alive. Your final tributes when he joined Our Lord

I would especially like to thank all of our friends at St. Christopher's Episcopal Church as well as the congregation and clergy of the Episcopal Church in Kerrville for including Curtis on the Prayer list throughout his illness. Thank you Father Don Lee and Father Matt Rowe for the beautiful service, the hospital and home visits and most of all your prayers.

To all of the medical staff that watched with guarding eyes over Curtis for the past three years, especially all of the nursing staff and doctors at the VA. Hospital in Kerryille during the last eight months of his life, as well as all of the friends he made while he was there, we thank you.

We thank all of the staff at Grimes Funeral Home for everything they did, especially John "Hutch" Hutchinson, who did such a marvelous job. All of the little extras mean so much. We appreciate it.

We the family, wish to express our sincere thanks to all of you for your cards, letters, calls, food, contributions to the Building Fund at St. Christopher's and all of the beautiful floral tributes. A special thanks goes to Mary at Books and Blooms for going that extra mile down Wharton's Dock Road in the heat of the day to deliver the flowers to our home before

But, most of all, Curt and I want to thank all of you who took the time from your busy lives to visit him while he was in the hospital and when he was able to be at home for a weekend throughout all those months. He

Bandera Mayor attends conference

Mayor, Linda C. Stein was in Wichita Falls, July 19-21, to attend the 36th Annual Institute for Mayors, Councilmembers and Commissioners. The threeand Commissioners. The three-glay meeting provided an oppor-tunity for city elected officials to voluntarily enhance their knowledge of city government and sharpen their leadership skills. In addition, the Institute offered Mayor Stein an opportu-nity to visit with elected officials from across Texas to learn bow other cities are coping with sim-

Ihr challenges

During this event, Institute and the service of information and tendes were offered a number of seasons on topics such as technology, media relations, health, care, derspulation and city charters. Mayor Stein earnied over twenty four confining education hours of credit in City Council legal, financial and Legalities in General Law Cites, That is a member of the Texas Municipal League.

Seafood Stew

Men can help women in the kitchen and enjoy it. I like to doctor recipes to my own specifications, by trying this and that. I also like using vegetables I grow in the garden.

This is an easy and tasty stew, and the recipe can be doubled for a large group.

Kasten's recipe uon first place in the 2000 Minnesota Renaissance Festival. .

- I tablespoon extra virgin olive oil medium onion
- 2 garlic cloves 2 6 1/2-ounce cans chopped clams.
- 6-ounce can white crab
- (or imitation crab) 6-ounce can shrimp
- I 10 3/4-ounce can condensed tomato soup
- I 2-ounce jar pimentos, undrained 1 1/2 cups hot water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- Pepper, to taste 1/4 teaspoon dried basil
- 1/4 teaspoon dried oregano 1/4 cup fresh parsley
- Parmesan cheese (optional)

Heat oil in a large saucepan. Chop onion and press or mince garlic. Add these to saucepan, cover, and cook over low heat about 15 minutes. Drain and rinse crab and shrimp. Stir clams and liquid, crab, shrimp, tomato soup, pimentos and liquid, water, salt, and pepper into onion mixture. Crush basil and oregano and chop I parsley. Add to seafood mixture. Cook I covered over low heat for 10 minutes. I Sprinkle with Parmesan cheese, if desired. I Makes four 1 1/2-cup servings.

Red tomatoes, yellow squash. green broccoli, blueberries-this rainbow of color leads to the best possible por of gold: your good health.

"Color, color, color is the rule to live by," says Gloria Stables, director of the National Cancer Institute's 5 a Day for Better Health program, which encourages Americans to eat five or more servings of fruits and vegetables daily. "The more reds, oranges, greens, yellows, and blues you see on the plate, the more health-promoting properties you are getting."

Colorful fruits and vegetables contain essential nutrients and vitamins that improve health, help you feel more energetic, and may reduce your risk of cancer, heart disease, and diabetes.

Many contain antioxidants, which can slow age-related diseases. These diseases result when the body burns oxygen, causing cells to form byproducts called "free radicals," which travel through cells, damaging them, and contributing to aging and other health problems.

Antioxidants, which protect cells by neutralizing the free radicals, occur both naturally in the body or are consumed through diet. Follow this palette of color to better health:

Reds Deep reds or bright pinks found in strawberries and cherries add a powerful antioxidant called lycopene to your daily diet. Lycopene also is found in tomatoes, red and pink grapefruit, watermelon, and guava and may reduce the risk of selected cancers, including prostate cancer.

Greens Your mother said. "Eat your greens." but do you know why? Spinach, collards, kale, and broccoli have antioxidants that protect eves and keep retinas strong. Cabbage, Brussels sprouts, cauliflower, and turnips may reduce the risk of cancerous rumors.

■ Oranges Sweet potatoes, mangoes, carrots, and apricors contain beta carotene, an antioxidant that enhances the immune system. The orange group also is rich in vitamins C and E. Folate, a key cell-building nutrient usually found in leafy greens, also can be found in orange fruits and vegerables and is a vitamin B that may help prevent some birth defects.

WYellows Bright vellows contain many of the same perks as the orange group. Pineapple is rich with vitamin C, manganese, and the natural enzyme bromelain, which aids digestion. Corn, pears, and squash are high in fiber.

Blues/Purples The pigment in plums, eggplant, and blueberries help defend against harmful carcinogens. Blueberries, in particular, are rich in vitamin C and high in fiber and porassium.

Eating Right For Your Irritable Colon

Nobody knows the pain and misery of IBS better than author. Heather Van Vorous. An IBS sufferer since age nine, she went undiagnosed for six long years because her doctor insisted the problem was 'all in her head'. (Sound familiar) Over the course of 20 years, she learned how to control her symptoms through diet, discovering which foods she could and couldn't eat. Then, using her knowledge of gourmet cooking, she created Eating for IBS, a fabulous book explaining how you can replace harmful "trigger foods" with safer yet delicious choices.

Indulge Yourself... And Still Eat Right!

Eating right is not about deprivation. According to the author, just the opposite is true. You don't have to give un an ounce of flavor at home or at your favorite restaurant. In simple, easy-to-read language, this lifechanging book shows you how to avoid foods that over-stimulate your colonand eat foods that soothe and regulate it. You get invaluable information and strategies on eating out at restaurants; choosing the right fast foods: what to do when you travel; how to stock your kitchen; nutritional supplements and pills; handling fiber; coffee, alcohol and other beverages. And you'll find over 175 easy-to-prepare recipes for pizza, banana French toast, mapleglazed salmon, peppermint fudge cake, cinnamop walnut tart, and more. As Van Vorous sums it up. "The only reason I am able to lead a normal life is because I follow the dietary advice in this brook!

What Is IBS? Do you frequently suffer from abdominal pain? Do certain foods make them worse? If any of these symptoms sound familiar, you may have Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS), If you do, you're not alone. Although often misupderstood and misdiagnosed by doctors, an estimated 15 to 20 percent of all Americans have IBS, a chronic, functional disorder of the gastrointestinal tract. IBS sufferers have highly sensitive, over-reactive colons prone to irregular contractions, resulting in abdominal cramps, gas, and bloating. At present, there is no known cure, but you can control the symptoms-virtually eliminating the problem—thanks to the ground-breaking new book, Eating For IBS.

What Readers Are Saving...

"This book ... might be a wake-up call for a lot of doctors who still insist 'it's all in your head.' It offers a wealth of hone and help for all of us ... I can now go out to lunch or dinner or shopping anytime I want and not have to worry about finding restrooms. Thanks for changing the quality of my life for the better. -Nan Robertson, IRS sufferer

"This book is an incredible piece of work. I think it's great to have this kind of information in everyday language rather than in medical wobbledywook and to have concrete suggestions. I have not found that the medical community is knowledgeable at all in nutrition, and was also not helped by a certified dietician." -Clarby Schwartz, Dicerative Colitis sufferer

How Have Two Pharmacists Helped Millions Get Relief From Dry, Painful Cracked Skin?

ANSWER: CRACKGreme

IS THERE ANYTHING WORSE THAN DRY.

IS THERE ANY THING WI CRACKED SKIN? If you or someone you care about has dry, cracked, even thickened skin, you know how painful it can be—and few products bring relief as quickly and completely as Zim's Crack Creme.

INSPIRED BY CEMENT

Walter and I often neare compliants from Center Workers, with painful, cracked fingers and hands. So, we started mixing different combinations of herbal ingredients, hoping to create a formula that would effectively treat damaged skin.

We finally hit upon the right ingredients and quantities. We called our discovery "Cement Workers Lotion", and compounded one bottle at a time. Before long, we were doing this many times a day because the cement workers loved the product.

Then came the Korean War, and I went off to the service for 4 years, followed by Pharmacy College, Although I was a trained pharmacsic, my love of hobses eventually led me to develop a line of veterinary products that are among America's best sellers.

Walter and I had often talked about trying to distribute "Cement Workers Lotion," nationally, but the idea was set aside and eventually forgotten for many years.

NEVER FORGET A DREAM Walter later retired to Arizona. Then, in 1994, he returned to visit me at my manufacturing facility in Ohio.

"Bob," Walter said, in a voice so stern it caught me off guard "do you think you can find a way to produce and market "Cement Workers Lotion" after all these years?"

I hope Walter is pleased with what has happened. You see.

For nearly 75 years, Donald Grant of Addison, ter of hours is far tastier than an identical ear which has been refrigerated overnight or Maine, has practiced the pleasures of preserving a bountiful harvest. Having grown up for several days and then cooked. It's that simple. on a working farm, he still is "putting by" enough fruits and vegetables each harvest season to supply family and friends with homegrown delectables until next spring

Grant sums up his efforts with wry humor: "It's nothing special that you'd find on you've got nothing else." At this time of year, home gardeners are indeed smiling at a bountiful harvest-gobbling up fruits, vegetables, and herbs that often taste better than anything most restaurants or supermarkets can offer. Why?

Because, as any food specialist will tell you, the time between harvest and consumption is critical. An ear of corn that goes from stalk to boiling pot to table in a mat-

"I'd do whatever's easiest," recommends farmer Grant, who at 75 claims he hasn't "got time to fool with a lot of recipes and all that."

Storage methods These five preserving methods are the most common. In all cases, the best results toes, however, they first need to be blanched—which means partial cooking to stop the are guaranteed by the shortest time between harvest and preservation procedures.

Freezing-This isn't for everyone, or for all produce. Freezing can ruin many fruits and vegetables, such as tomatoes and greens, turning the thawed version into a gloppy mess. But for produce such as corn, peppers, peas, beans, or tornatoes intended for stews and sauces, it's perfect, and almost as easy as just tossing them in the freezer. Almost.

All items should be well protected from "freezer burn," which can make any frozen food taste like the inside of a freezer. Always use locking bags or containers intended for use in a freezer, minimize the amount of air in the container, and date and label all containers. Beans, broccoli, peas, cauliflower, olcra, and Brussels amurs all freeze well. Unlike corn, peppers and roma

The nutritional value of homegrown food also is closely tied to freshness. Vitamins, usually in their most potent and available form upon harvesting. Within hours of pickminerals, proteins, carbohydrates, and all the other goodies we need to stay healthy are the menus of fancy restaurants in New York City, but it does taste pretty good when ing a cucumber or green beans, chemical changes are taking place, and most of these reduce the vegetable's nutritional value.

How then do we preserve the taste and nutritional value of our hard-earned kets and roadside stands offer freshly picked fruits and produce.

growth of decay enzymes. This entails a quick dip into boiling water for about two minutes, then chilling in ice water. Drip dry the vegetables and pop them into a container and freezer. Don't skip the blanching or they turn rubbery when thawed

Drying-For longtime harvest preservers like farmer Grant, dried produce is among the best ways to save food. "Once they're dry, you can save them just about indefinitely," he says of classic dried legumes such as pinto, kidney, and soldier beans, and black-eyed peas.

The same drying principles also can be applied to many fruits and vegetables, especially plums, apples, grapes, pears, and even tomatoes. The hox summer sun does the best job on these items. Lay them out well separated on trays, preferably where they'll get the sun and good ventilation all day. For soggy items such as romatoes, gen tly squeeze out or blot up some of the water before drying. Turn all items Canning-Last but not least is straightforward canning, a process perfected bring in drying produce during the night.

Cold storing-In the northernmost regions, this approach works yearround. Farther south, you may have to wait until late fall to try it. A cool, dark, and dry room in a cellar is an easy place to keep root yegetables such as carrots, potatoes, beets, turnips, and parsnips. Winter squash, apples, and tomatoes also are good candidates. When the room's average temperature is between 35 and 55 degrees, storage can begin. Some produce requires special treatment. For instance, carrots keep best if they're laid and buried in dry, fine sand (not salty beach sand). Beets sleep well under a blanket of dry peat moss. Tomatoes will last more than the average four weeks if they are wrapped green in uncolored newspaper.

Check regularly for ripening. Winter squash is happiest when not in physical contact with other winter squash. Parsnips, rutabagas, and turnips can be packed in a dry version of the soil in which they grew. Or better yet, if you live in an area of light to moderate snows, cut the tops, mulch them heavily against ground freeze, and leave them in the ground, pulling them as needed. Pickling-Most any vegetable benefits from pickling, but the No. 1 pickling candidate is the cucumber. Use small 3- to 5-inch cukes to keep the flavor rich and the work minimal. Then choose any recipe you like. Despite thousands of pickling recipes to choose from, most require various amounts of cooking. I prefer convenience, so I stick with either coldpacking my cucumbers or canning them without cooking. Preparations are the same for both methods.

After picking and washing your cucumbers, which should be pickling variety, not a salad variety, soak them overnight in the refrigerator in a bath of ice water. This removes any bitter taste. Then boil the water/vinegar/pickling salt in a ratio of 3 quarts/1 quart/1 cup. Use only pickling salt and pure white or cider vinegar. Then prepare plenty of fresh dill, a few garlic cloves, maybe a cayenne pepper, or other spices of your choice.

For cold-packed pickles, combine the cucumbers, hot brine, and spices in a dish with a cover, let cool, and put in the back of the refrigerator for three or four weeks. Then enjoy some of the snappiest, tastiest pickles you've ever had. To can pickles, put the cucumbers in canning jars, add the boiling brine, seal, and let sit in a cool dark closet for six to eight weeks. Then open these jars throughout the winter and count your blessings as a home gardener. Lots of other vegetables can be pickled. Cabbage becomes sauerkraut, romatoes and aroles become churney, affid asparagus becomes absolute heaven when subjected to various pickling processes. Do them all, if you can.

at least once a day and store in a dry place after they turn brittle. Always by French scientist Nicolas Appert in 1810. It hasn't changed much since then. First, cook the produce while simultaneously sterilizing the canning jars. All canning jars today (Mason, Kerr, Ball, etc.) are sold with strict instructions on sterilizing. To prevent food poisoning, follow the instructions. Then, put the cooked product in the jars, seal them, and cook them some more.

Alternatively, you can "raw pack" many fruits and some vegetables. This skips the first cooking step, but includes sterilizing and the second cooking. Beyond the five basics of food storage lies another sea of possible preservarion rechniques. Smoking and salting can be used for both meats and some vegetables, while iams and iellies are confined to fruits and some spicy vegetables. (Ever had garlic jelly or cayenne jam?) Making wine is a way to preserve grape, apple, blueberry, and a host of other juices.

And the list goes on. 3

control to sko. It hasn t been the same since.

This cennury-old community (pop. 6,768) still balances its ranching heritage with a booming ski culture, struggling to keep agriculture alive in "Ski Town USA." As land values soar and beef priess sour, innovative programs aim to keep ranchers on their land.

"Ranching and mining are truly the heritage of this area," says Dean Vogelaar, who has been active

Ilm Stanko, a third-generation rancher, still ra in preserving Steamboat's ranching. "They play a very significant tole in what Steamboat is all about."

After Feing new houses gobble up more and more acres, Rouxt County voters in 1996 sided a new property tax to buy ranchers' development rights and keep hel and open. Third generation cattleman Jim Stanko recently took advantage of the program. Instead of selling his 600 acres of windswept meadow for millions to developers, he put part in a conservation easterner, which prevents houses from ever being built there, but allows him to keep narching the land.

Skiers hitting the slopes in Steamboat Springs provide a new market for ranchers.

"My oeighborhood that I grew up in, there were 10 ranches," he says. "I'm the only one left out of 10." With help from private land trusts and state and federal agencies, the county pays ranchers for their right to build on part of their land. Such and trusts have saved 33,000 acres around Steamboat from development.

And some ranchers eye Steamboat Ski & Resort Corp., as a potential ally. Yampa Valley Beef sells 50,000 pounds of local beef a year to area restaurants, including the resort. Sheep farmers may market lambs the same way. And Routt County Woolens makes local wool into specialty blankets for tourists.

Meanwhile, the county formed a Community Agriculture Alliance to help ranchers adapt to the changing economy by marketing to the ski resort. "I think this community has been very nuch a model for success because of its ability to work together," says extension agent C.J. Mucklow, who helped set up the alliance and the conservation easement program.

Ranchers capitalizing on the resort is a turnaround for Steambour, where the ski area aggressively markets the town's Western image. Cowboys and skiers are featured equally in brochures. Olympian Billy Kidd, the resorts director of sking, is fafficiate for earning turns with little but his trademark Seeson visible above the powder. And the resort hosts events like the Cowboy Downhill, where ruden riders swan their bornoos for skie.

"People have been ranching since the early 1900s. As a resort, that's kind of tied in to who we are as a community," says Mike Lane, spokesman for the resort.

A festive cattle drive ran down Lincoln Avenue last Independence Day, but it's been decades since the last real drive. The Tread of Pioneers Museum does offer both a look at how early settlers lived and area skiing history.

Comboys and skiers still come together at the annual Winter Carnival Howelten started as a celebration and a way to introduce competitive sking. Ski races and jump competitions dominate, but the high school band marphes downown on cross-country skis, and ranchers on horseback still tug children on skis in the Norwegian game of "skiptings."

When Howelsen first came to town, he was a lone skier among ranchers. Now, the town boasts a million skier days a year, with more Olympians hailing from here than any other U.S. city.

But like skijorers, they're following in the path of the ranchers who came before them. Steamboat is changing, but it's determined to hold on to its Western heritage—with skiers on one end of a rope and ranchers on the other.

cultures. Early records include Egyptians as well as the middle ages. Europe and Asia, specifically China and Japan are rich in quilting history. Patchwork, as we know it, became common in the early mid 1700s around 1725 to 1750. Most people did not have scrap material then so most of the guilts and patterns belonged to select wealthler families. It was around that time period that the word "quilting" became a noun instead of a verb Since fabric was delicate, most guilts did not survive, so much of the information about early quilts came from estate lists and diaries. THE PERFECT HILL COUNTRY GETAWAY.

The Texas International Apple Festival, the Hill Country Volkssportsverein, Inc (AVA 023,TVA 009) and New Balance Shoes are proud to announce cosponsorship of the 14th Annual Apple Festival 10K Walk to be held on Saturday, July 28, in Medina, the Apple Capital of Texas. This popular event is held each year during the annual Texas International Apple Festival.

Apple Fest 2001

Volkssporting is a noncompetitive sport and welcomes all age groups. An adult must accompany children under the age of 12. Pets are welcome but must be kept on a leash. Every participant must carry a validated start card for this event and must stop at the checkpoints.

The walk will begin at the Medina School on Bobcat Lane and will take us out of the town of Medina and through "Orchard Park of Medina" a 396-acre subdivision located just outside of town where wildlife is abundant. The trail is a 1.5 and suitable for most strollers. A portion of the trall is on an unimproved road and may pose some problem to small-wheeled strollers. The route is not recommended for wheelchairs. Participants may complete the event twice in one day on one start card. A shorter distance along paved roads will be available for those unable to complete the 10K route. Participants may start anytime between 7 a.m. and 11 a.m. All participants must finish by 2 p.m. on the day of the event. Water and fresh, crisp apples will be available at the Start/Finish and at the checkpoints.

There will be no "A" award for this event. "B" awards will be available for various fees: IVV credit only is $2.00. Walkers who are not participating for awards or credit may walk free but donations will be accepted to help defray the event

This event counts toward the acquisition of IVV achievement awards. Bring your IVV books or purchase them at the event. New Walker Packets will also be available for purchase.

The admission gate for the 14th Annual Texas International Apple Festival is only a short distance from the start/finish point. The first 150 paid participants will receive a free pass to the festival. For walk information, call John Bohnert at 830-995-2421.

overgraze a pasture-it is long-term serious damage

But, the land had some happy surprises. The Adams and Paul Barwick, Field Representative for the Conservancy's San Antonio area, agree that the land is 'a botanical treasure.' 'We realized one day how special a place Love Creek was when Benny Simpson and Lynn Lowery [two of the state's top native-plant experts] showed up and asked to collect some plants. They explained what the various plants were and eventually we became interested that this was an incredibly special place.

Relic flora-plants that are relics of the ice age, maybe from 10,000 years ago: relics of a continuous hardwood forest the ice-age trees, like the Big Tooth Maples, left from when the ice receded, Baxter explained. The spring-water-cooled canyons-a special cooler micro-climate preserved in these canyons rare large trees like the Chinquapin Oak, Linden or Basswood. Escarpment Chev, and Big Tooth Maple-and rare birds, the Golden Cheek Warbler and Black-capped

There are seven plants that [have been found on the propertyl that grow nowhere else in the world:

ship Conservatory property in the Hill

Tall prairie grasses are appearing. too, grasses that are virtually extinct in Bandera County, but once 'dragged on the horses' bellies." Baxter explained. Perennial grasses native to the county, like Indian Grass, Big and Little Bluestern, Long Tom, and Bushy Beard Bluestem. All of these highly-nutritious, drought-tolerant and tall grasses can be seen green and growing despite the drought, today on the Adams' land. It is clear that their efforts at reseeding, periodic controlled burns and removal of nonnative plants like Ashe Juniper (Cedar) have returned benefits.

'We wanted to get the tall grasses back in," explained Baxter. The spread of the grasses is terribly slow the ninefoot tall Bluestern took five years after planting. But once the pastures fill with the those tall clump grasses, you can graze a startling number of animals in those pastures.

The Conservancy plans to eventually provide on-site education and work with other private landowners in the area 'to promote wildlife management, natural resource stewardship and demonstration of alternative land management practices,* the staff

'We want to team with school districts," Barwick said. "But, we don't have an outreach coordinator as yet. We are primarily focused on paying down the debt Ifrom the purchasel right now." He explained that the Conservancy plans to place a land steward for the property that could live on or near it and hire an outreach coordinator. He said that he and his agency would be enhancing the habi tats on the property and actively maintaining and improving the property through, in part, controlled burning and removal of Ashe Junipers. The Love Creek Nature Preserve offers the best habitat for the 'target species' or rare species found only in the region. There is no better habitat for those species," he said, 'and we want to educate others about what we have

Becoming an active part of the community is high on the Conservancy's list. In fact, one of the first actions they took after the purchase was to sign on as a sponsor of the Apple Festivall

Apple scupture scheduled for dedication

The year was 1990 when Medina Texas Development Corporation contracted sculptor Jim Justice to carve a glant apple from native limestone for the front entrance of the festival grounds in Medina. This project was completed with funds donated by individuals, local, state and even international corporations.

The large limestone rock was located on a ranch in Medina and donated for the project. It took Jim Justice four years to complete the apple. The apple project was designed to honor the apple growers in the Texas Hill Country and to provide a place for local tourists to have their picture taken while visiting the Apple Capital of Texas.

The large sculpture will be dedicated just prior to the opening of the festival on July 28. The ceremony will be held at 8: 45 a.m. at the entrance to the festival grounds. The plaque that will be dedicated lists the names of those individuals that donated funds for the project. They are: Mr. and Mrs. G. Baxter Adams; Mr. and Mrs. H.M. Adams, Sr.; Mr. and Mrs. H.M. Adams, Jr.; Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Brown; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Courtney; Mr. and Mrs., Paul Garrison, III; Mrs. Sara Jane Hatfleld Smith; Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hicks; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hubble: Ms. Dorfs Norton: Mr. Ferrel Plokin: Mr. and Mrs. Bill Weber: Mr. John Wedgeworth Granite Consulting Corp.; San Antonio Explosives; S.W. This assures us better care of the land than we could ever have arranged otherwise," Baxter said.

About 20 years ago, prior to the oil industry collapse, the Adams left their Yorktown cattle ranch near Goliad. "We wanted out of Houston and we foresaw a calamity coming in the oil industry-the axe fell in geology," Baxter, a former oil-industry geologist explained. They bought about 1,800 acres of over-grazed, or "rock garden" land as Carol calls it. of the Love Creek Ranch, about 9 miles west of Medina on Highway 337, from an absentee landowner. The Adams planned to graze and mature their F-2 mother cows

But," they almost starved," Carol explained. 'We were down to the poorest of poor grasses and the land was grown up in cedar; so we tried to restore the pastures. Baxter said. "We gravitated to controlled burns after watching others-the county agents (Soil Conservation Service) and the neighbors pitched in and helped. We cut the junipers and let them fall as Billy Griffin, [National Resource Conservation Service County Agent], recommended. We crawled up under the dead cedars and saw that Little Bluestem grasses were shooting

"We have spent 20 years restor ing the land," the Adams sald.

The extent of damage was surprising. I thought that resting the land for three to five years was sufficient: but, once the damage is done, it could take 30 to 50 years!" Baxter said. "You can't believe how damaging it is to
