Avoid these common investment mistakes

You may think that the fate of your investments probably hinges on the whims of the market. But that's not strictly the case. By avoiding some common mistakes, you can go a long way toward increasing your chances for long-term

Of course, everyone makes investments that, for one rea-son or another, just don't work out. You may not be able to prevent that type of "mistake." But there are plenty of steps you can take to avoid signifi-cant errors. Consider these

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK by John M. Grimes

History is the biography of mankind. Just as names make news, history is about people. Records of ancient, medieval and modern times are not primarily about events that took place.

about events that took place.

They are about things people did, how they reacted, and how they responded. The Old. Testament is more than just the relating of events. It is more than the writings of flebrers poets and prophets. It is the story of people. It is the history of God's dealings with his people. It is this Rememon said: "There is properly no history, only biography."

Today as history is being written it is not about governments, it is about enational leaders. It is not the records of wars and connectes it is about endiers and civilines.

wars and conquests; it is about soldiers and civilians. The birth and death rates are not cold statistical charts; it is the lives of human beings.

Does it not make sense that if we are to understand the must do so on the basis of the personal interaction of mer with their environment, and each other, and with God?...

usilifications include (list) and also serving as Building Inspector for the City or 3 years on a volunteer basis. Based on my job performance and ability to rork well with the residents of Bandera I was appointed interim City idministrator. During my tenure as City Administrator, many projects were seeloped and implemented, with everyone of them focused on improving the uality of life here in Bandera. Our tourist base continues to grow generating outh needed revenue for city services or thout fair representation is achieved y all. Listed below are accomplishments of my tenure:

- New water lines and fire plugs on Main Street.

 2. Enlarged Dallas Street water storage tank and remodeled water plant.

 3. Installed new street lights on Main Street.

 4. Built and completed the downtown park and restrooms.

 6. Installed new drainage at the Post Office using City personal saving your tax dollars.

 7. Cleaned the drainage ditches and installed new culverts where needed from a first Street.

 8. Horoganized to Main Street.

 8. Horoganized how the truck which is baddy needed to lower our fire insurance rates and to protect our homes and property.

Proposed projects for the city include:

1. Replace the balance of old water lines on the east side of Main Strad add additional fire plays.

2. Stdr planning on the resurfacing and paving of all the streets in of 3. Design a master plan for our future water needs.

4. Resolve internal issues within our city government and promote te throughout city departments.

Low-Voltage lights are safe alternative outdoors

Installing low-voltage lights around a deck or along a sidewalk is an inexpensive and easy way to add security, brighten a path, and beautify there is virtually no risk of shock, and children and pets should be safe your home. These 12-volt lights are attached to a transformer, which converts the 120-volt electricity used inside your home to a lower level for outdoor use.

'Although it's not necessary to comply with local electrical codes or hire a professional electrician when installing low-voltage yard lights, it is important to take a few safety precautions when working with outdoor electricity.

o Protect outdoor outlets. Buy a plastic cover at a hardware store to mount over the outlet. It should have two inserts for a ground fault circuit interrupter and a duplex receptacle. The cover keeps moisture from penetrating the electrical connection.

o If your light fixtures are likely to be trampled by pets or children, reinforce the fixtures. Although it's usually not necessary, you can use a section of fence post or pipe, driven into the ground and covered with the fixture's riser stem, to protect your path'lights.

o Keep fixtures at least five feet from the edge of a swimming pool or pond. Most outdoor lights are not for use under water. Check the manufacturer's safety guidelines before putting lights in a pool.

Antique roses show growth in wisdom

While they may have been overlooked due to modern hybrids, antique roses are as wonderful and indispensable a part of today's garden as they have been for eons.

Antique roses provide many fentastic qualities-color. fragrance and form -and best of all, they improve all landscape values without burdening one's maintenance budget, as many gardeners will readily admit.

The rose was a fixture in the gardens of the past long before hybridization. Early rose growers were able to keep that pale and hearty quality of the rose which seems to have been lost in those modern hybrids which have been grown for their flashy blooms. Unlike modern roses, which require a lot of attention, antique roses do not need all of the fertilizing, spraying or nurturing required by their descendants.

Some antique rose varieties prefer only a little pruning. And as those found in attitique cemeteries and abandoned homesites have shown, many have survived without care from human hands

Antique roses have an inherent beauty of form, a trait which does not fade, tends to be more muted and pastel than modern hybrids, but many collectors develop a Musks. Further crosses in more modern times created endured in spire of years of peelect preference for the softer hues. Many antique rose vari eties display handsome foliage, while others set attractive hips in the fall. This makes antique roses especially useful as landscape plants. The unforgettable "true rose" fragrances live in their undiluted form in antique roses.

The antique rose is the ultimate antique; unlike a painting or a piece of furniture, the antique rose is a living testament to history and to man's quest for beauty.

The rose has been the gueen of flowers through the ages, yet where did it originate? Some roses are native to the United States, but the mallority come from Europe and the Orient, Species roses, occurring naturally in temperate zones, were long ago cross-pollinated by nature and later by man to bring about new varieties. In the late 1700's and early 1800's, European botanists explored the world in search of new plants of garden value and discovered roses in China and the Far East which bloomed year round (Chinas and Teas). From crosses between the Oriental and European

As roses became increasingly popular in this century, Hybrid Teas replaced nearly every other class because of their beautiful bud form and unusual colors. But interest in antique roses is experiencing a renaissance today, as and Damasks) come the Noisetttes, Bourbons, Americans search out antique roses in historic cemeteries and abandoned homesites where the plants have

How likely is it that yo How likely is it that your company's matching contri-butions could be cut? Nobody can say for sure. While it's true that some big companies have either cut or suspended their matching funds in recent months, it's far from clear that "downsizing" 401(k) contributions will become a national trend. Companies know that reducing their money in the short term—but at a cost to employee morale and loyalty.

Consequently, you may not have to worry about not have to worry about contributing enough to your 401(k) to even earn the match, you also won't have to worry about it being cut. But keep this including the world was a contributing away from 'free money. And that's not a good move.

So, assuming you are putting away enough in your 401(k) to earn your, amployer's match, and your match gets cut or suspended, what should you do?
The answer depends, in part, on just how the match was being awarded. Some companies make their 401(k) matches in cash, giving you a free rein to invest the money among the various options in your 401(k) plan. Other businesses pany stock.

If your match was being made in cash, you'll wan to consider how your 401(k) oddlars are being allocated, to buy growth stocks within your 401(k)? Growth-and-inchme stocks? Bonds? Mency market whicles? Or were you spreading out the egories? Whatever you were doing with your wantch, its disappearance or reduction will adappear the your 401(k) portfolio. Therefore, 401(k) portfolio. Therefore, 401(k) portfolio. Therefore, 101(k) portfolio. Therefore, match.
You also may want to review your 401(k) holdings

if your employer's match had been made in company stock. Should you compensate for the loss by voluntarily putting more of your 401(k) dollars into company stock? Not necessarily. It's generally a good idea to stock? Not necessarily it's generally a good idea to dollar with the stock of your company - even if it's your own. Instead, look at how your company stock fit in to your 401(k). Was this stock a growth vehicle? If so, do you need to replace it by growth accounts? Again, you need to look at your entire 401(k) picture, and take action accordingly.

Obviously, you'd prefer not to lose all or part of your employer's 401(k) would not not not good the property of the property not to lose all or party your employer's 401(k) match. But if it happens, minimize the

BOND 2002 vs. RACETRACK

The Racetrack controversy should not be an issue when considering your position in the upcoming May 18 Bond Election. Please don't confuse past grievances with whether or not we should spend monies on ensuring we are sending or not we should spend monies on enaring we are sensing our children to a safe and healthy environment where they spend almost one third of their day. Voting for Bond Proposition #1 upgrades ALL BISD campuses to meet construction, health, and handicap standards.

Grievances with certain members of the school board can be handled the same way as with any elected office - in the voting booth. There has been significant board turnover in the last several years. And remember, school board proposed actions are decided by a MAJORITY vote from the school board members, not by one or two board members. So don't forget to vote for your preferred candidates in the May 4th school Board election.

The Bond Facilities Committee has been working very hard the voting booth on May 18. Whether you vote 'FOR' or 'AGAINST' these propositions is up to you. But please choose your position based on facts relating to the bond

THE RACE TRACK-AGAIN

Bandera Downs property failed by large majorities in 1996 and 2000.
In the last 18 months since the failed September 2000 election, the BISD Board has purposely stalled and procrastinated, arrogantly refusing to sell the property, placing road blocks of minimum price and onerous use restrictions on its sale. "To market does not mean to sell" per one trustee.

In March 2002, the Board passed a resolution which, although preventing use of this May bond election money on the track property, leaves intact its rights to utilize the property after 2002, using funds from any source, including a future facilities bond election.

In the coming weeks, before the scheduled May 18 bond election, the Board majority through several facility committee members will be beating the drums for voters approval. If, during the period the Board has not gone on public record for absolute sale of the track property, at current market price and without use restrictions, the public, on the basis of the Board's hypocrisy, will reject the bond issue, notwithstanding the valiant efforts of

BULLETIN MANAGING FDITOR

On April 8, members of the 2002 Bond planning committee met to decide how to sell the Bond package they had labored over to the voting public.

The fuse is real short and the necessity of prioritizing is important. said Dan Anderson, noting the group four weeks to accomplish their. Superintendent. Renaulticas and the superintendent and the su

Superintendent Renee
Schulze led the meeting, explaining she was there to provide information to? the committee, as well as the limits of what school employees could and could not do.
Schulze said she could pract facts but not endorse opinions.

"Can we put on here, 'Vote yes for the bond? No. we can't," Schulze said. GETTING A SLOGAN

GETTING A SLOGAN
The committee discussed the need for a simple slogan, one that could be placed on signs and buttons. They discussed many slogans, including furest in our children's future with today's decision, among others.

Susan D'Spain pointed out that a shorter slogan could be read more queekly by passing cars.

The National Parks Confered Association, for the second year in a row, has listed Big Bend National Park as among threatened national parks. The reason: Air pollution and the reduced flow of the Rio Grande.

On a good day visibility in the 80,0000-acre park is increasingly more common, pollution miles. But on a bad day.

The problem primarily is pollution from coal-fired power plants in Mexico, but studies have shown that the U.S. cources also have some culpability.

Back to conventional wisdom: Don't look for the problem to get any better any time soon.

The Bandera Bulletin Women Are Impressive!

Office Manager, Cleo Geils, and Classified Manager, Zulema Trejo, are the colorful inks that make this hometown newspaper read all over!!

The Bandera Bulletin once ran an April Fool's story Faxed, neatly typed and handwritten. where women agreed with "A woman's place was in the kitchen," and left their jobs, creating chaos by where. If the ladies at the Bandera Bulletin followed suit, the business would lose 50 percent of its workforce, causing unknown difficulty.

"I'd literally go stark raving mad if not for Cleo and Zule," said Managing Editor Chris Seggerman.

What job demands the memory of a reconnaissance squadron, the strategic ability of a general and the pegotiating abilities of a U.N. diplomat? Zule Trejo might have some insight in that question. Now, imagpublisher, managing editor, and all the advertising designing material that goes into each issue of the paper, as well * All this knowledge gives Zule an edge in dealing many levels.*

as wrangling those people into order. Cleo Geils can tell that-story

When customers walk into the Bulletin office at 126 Highway 16 South, the first friendly face to greet them will likely belong to Zulema Trejo. The office has received calls for Julie. Lilly, Jewell and "that lady..." but the name on everyone's lips should be Zule.

Zule, who graduated from Bandera High School in 1998, came to the Bulletin in the summer of 2001. She has proved herself invaluable ever since.

The Bulletin carries on a tradition of the Bandera newspaper business: From the publisher on down, everyone does a little bit of everything. Zule does a lot of everything.

Besides secretarial work like answering the phones, taking messages and tending to the paper-hungry fax 'some big shoes to fill." machine, Zule also does the typesetting. For every page a reader of the Bulletin sees, there may be anywhere from five to twenty sheets of paper behind it. They come from everywhere and in every condition:

Computers these days can read some cleanly typed and printed information, but all the rest flows through shutting down stores, banks and restaurants every- Quie's fingers. Zule has also taken on some of the production work, which includes designing and laying out ads using the same program the whole newspaper is produced in.

Many businesses have also heard from Zule when ine keeping records of that job... and the jobs of the she makes sales calls, sometimes for the very ads she's Cleo keeps the books on a little newspaper with a lot of accounts, over 300 by the latest count. Editors tend to concentrate on copy and good stories, but advertising and the money behind those ads make all that pos-

Cleo often makes all that possible. On a press day, her statement "I don't see the such-and-such ad!" might make editors groan with sudden layout changes, but keeps the bottom line of profit intact.

"Cleo keeps us straight," said Bulletin Publisher Frank Shubert. "To say that Cleo is an asset to this company is no small understatement."

In managing the office, Cleo keeps things running smoothly in terms of office supplies and food supplies. If the coffee can ran empty on a Monday morning, screams of panic and frustration might come from the office... but that's never happened.

In keeping the books, Cleo uses spreadsheets and other data-intensive computer programs, including one that keeps track of Bulletin subscribers, both in and out of the county and the state

Cleo also helps the paper by gathering news from Medina for the Medina Highlights column, which has grown in size from a small feature to almost filling a section by herself at times. Cleo took a break from her column for a bit, but she's returned to writing it to bring news to the people of Medina.

"I never know who's calling for Cleo," Seggerman

"She not only gets calls from national advertising agencies, but people who've just opened up a store in Medina. When she takes a vacation, we've all got

The ladies of The Bandera Bulletin keep a hectic business running smoothly. Elinabeth Batto started in banking in 1973, over 28 years ago, and has been with Bandera Bank since 1986. "I started off as Vice President/Cashier and that's the position I hold today," said Batto. "It's very exciting because banking moves very rapidly these days and there's never a dull moment." She says that she likes the people and enjoys most working with some of the counts that have been with the bank for a long time. "Banking regulations have changed a lot over the years and I enjoy helping people through these new challenges, " said Batto. "And, that's when you feel like you've done a good day's work!" Donna is married to R. L. Alexander and resides in Pipe Creek. "I enjoy the convenience of working locally and the every day challenge banking presents working with the public," said Alexander.

Jadie J. Morris has been with Bandera Bank for over nine years as a Bookkeeper and Teller. "I am married to Spencer Morris and have two childrep, Brent and Tiffany," said Morris. I enjoy working with one of the best bank crews you could ask for. I really like making each customer feel impor-tant and appreciated, she added.

The women of Bandera Bank are (L-R) Elizabeth Batto, Diana Gaspar, Sylvia Terry, La Rue Browning, Wendy Guerra, Jadie Morris, Terry West, Megan Martinez, Andrea Fair, Donna Alexander and Judy Dunn. They offer over 81 years of combined Bandera Bank experience to help you with all of your banking needs.

Judy Dunn has worked for the Bank since 1979. Terry grew up in Kingsville for over five years as assistant cashier. She is married and has two children and one granddaughter. What does Judy think that is the best thing about working at Bandera Bank? "I enjoy the people I work with," she says.

Wendy Guerra has worked at Bandera Bank for almost five years. She is the Loan Processor and has recently been promoted to Assistant Cashier. She has been happily married to Rick Guerra for 18 years. She has nine, and has lived in Pipe Creek for 13 years. She thoroughly enjoys her work. which she says is very challenging. 2002 Women In Business Special

The purpose of the Cider Mill was *: have a location to retail their apples as vell as a place to develop their line of apple goodies. Genig Strickland was hired in 1990 as Marketing Manager Genie worked with Carol and Carol's daughter Anne to develop a line of apple outters, jellies, sauces, jams and syrups as well as goods and a mail order catalog. Sandy Parker joined the team as Bakery and Production Manager in 1992 and she, along with Leann Williams and Lee Gonzales are the masterminds behind the over fifty different items made from

The really fun part of this business," says Carol dams. "is that one thing lead to ten and we are constantly adding new prodructs or services to our company." The Cider Mill and Country Store is managed by Phila Kauth with creative input from Barbara Kolom and Sandi Gladdin. Marilyn Ashley heads the weekend staff with assistance from Candace and Charlsey Monzygemba, Jenna LeStourgeon and Shannon Haines.

Since Love Creek became the first commercial apple orchard in Texas, word of their success spread and the people came. It became only natural to add a restaurant to the Cider Mill to accommodate the many tourists that visited the store. Staffed by executive chef Barry Barbour, creative input is provided by Mary The Cider Mill's Patio Cafe is well known for its quality hamburgers, deli sand-wiches and homemade the hot spot for first rate steak, salmon and grilled

Now that's a big pie! In January, Baxter and Carol Adams, owners of Love Creek Orchards in Medina unveiled its prototype 10 pound Texas Lone Star Apple Pie. "Everyone thought our five pound pies were big, so we decided to Texas-Size it!" said Love Creek's Marketing Manager, Genie Strickland. The business and it's famous apple pies were featured on the Food Channel's Emeril Lagassi's Food Finds in January of 2002 and the program aired again in March. Orders poured in to Love Creek and some customer comments were hilarlous, "Where's my pie?" asked one anxious consumer. "I'm sitting here with a gallon of ice cream and a spoon!"

Percentage of growth in students are based on annual calculations

Tve received some calls about the BISD Enrollment By Campus for the Past Nine Years, which we included on Page 6 of our Spring 2002 this in the mail last week. The questions are about why the Percent of Growth figures in the last column don't total the 57.4 percent we state. If you add those figures, you get widen a ceutral accounting of our total percentage growth. They simply compare percentage arowth from the prior current years figures in our percentage calculations. We excluded, them because the current year numbers only provide a naemal sale with the current years figures in our percentage calculations. We excluded them because the current years figures in our percentage calculations. We excluded them because the current years figures in our percentage calculations.
